AFL, CIO of Michigan Move Toward Merger in Harmony

Manager Thinks Kidnaped Racer Won't Be Hurt

Seizure of Juan Fangio Seen as Rebel Move to Disrupt Car Races

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Argentine auto racing champion Juan Fangio's manager said today he believed Cuban rebels who kidnaped Fangio would release him shortly.

Rebel gunmen snatched Fangio from the lobby of a hotel in the heart of Havana yesterday in an apparent attempt to disrupt Cuba's Gran Premio auto races today and embarrass President Fulgencio Batista.

Extra police guards were put on the other 24 drivers—including nine Americans. But some of the drivers grumbled about police protection. Said one:

"We all had been surrounded by swarms of police ever since arriving here, but the moment police protection is needed none is available."

As embarrassed police searched for Fangio's abductors, the champion's manager, Marcelo Giambertone, said he believed the rebels would not harm Fangio and would release him soon after the race. He said he had not made contact with the rebels.

Giambertone said it was his belief the rebels would feel satisfied with having created alarm and difficulties in the Gran Premio if they kept Fangio prisoner until after the race.

Newspapers which had been predicting a crowd of 250,000 would attend the races dropped that figure today to 80,000.

Many Cubans were expected to

About 800,000 Will Make Up United Group

Constitution Scheduled to Be Adopted Today at Grand Rapids Parley

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A special convention representing AFL and CIO labor unions moved with apparent harmony today toward adoption of a pact to set up a united labor movement in Michigan.

The merged state labor organization will be the "Michigan State AFL-CIO" made up of about 800,000 members.

R. J. Thomas, representing the national AFL-CIO, told the opening session of the convention "this is a momentous occasion." He said the united labor movement "will bring together all liberal and progressive forces to curb the forces of reaction."

Thomas is former national president of the United Auto Workers Union.

Adoption of the new organization's constitution later today will pave the way for election of officers and completion of formal merger action tomorrow.

AFL - CIO President George Meany ordered the convention as a test of the national labor organization's authority to force merger on the state level.

Meany singled out Michigan as a guinea pig among a few states which have been slow to effect voluntary mergers after the AFL Michigan Federation of Labor (MFL) defied his orders. The MFL voted to boycott the merger convention.

Registering delegates yesterday ignored a hotel headquarters picket line. AFL-CIO men called the picket line an "attempt to embarrass us."

Conducts Ceremony at Social Service Center on West Lawrence

The center is housed in a large building that was originally a grocery warehouse. It contains a retail store for items rebuilt by the men, dormitories, work shops, a barber shop, a laundry, a cafeteria, kitchen, chapel, clothing dispensary, medical facilities and offices.

The center is designed for the rehabilitation of men who have lost the habit of regular employment.

The dedication was made by Commissioner Claude E. Bates, Salvation Army territorial commander.

Mayor William W. Donaldson brought greetings from the city. Ralph Keeling, chairman of the army's local advisory board, spoke as did Col. Earl Crawford, Mrs. Clyde Cox, wife of Brig. Cox, who was ill, and Capt Magnus A. Michelsen.

Manager of the new center is Maj. Ernest Alder.

Says Michigan Lags in Highway Program

Michigan is lagging behind in its federal highway program at a time when federal funds spent here would be "a giant step forward in solving our current unemployment situation," Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) charged today.

Broomfield said the state has built up a "staggering backlog" of $139,000,000 in federal interstate highway funds apportioned by Congress but as yet uncommitted by the State Highway Department for specific expressways.

"The President has urged a pick-up in new road construction as one of the steps necessary to pull us out of the present business slump," said Broomfield. "In Michigan there are millions of dollars available that could be injected into the construction business, which certainly would be a big help."

Broomfield flatly blamed State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie for slow planning.

In a letter to the highway commissioner, Broomfield said he was "frankly shocked" at the "mediocre performance Michigan has shown in taking advantage of federal funds for new expressways and highways."

The Royal Oak Congressman cited figures released by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, showing that Michigan had obligated only 61 per cent of its interstate highway funds for the last fiscal year, compared

Attorney Labels Schwartz 'Liar'

Denies Payoff Charges Before Solons Probing FCC Decisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman A. Whiteside, Miami lawyer, denounced Bernard Schwartz as "an unmitigated liar" today for having connected him with a television channel applicant and for suggesting he passed money to a Federal Communications Commission member.

Whiteside, testifying under oath before a special House investigating subcommittee, accused Schwartz, dismissed committee counsel, of withholding information from the group.

He said Schwartz knew there was a long record of loan transactions between Whiteside and Richard A. Mack going back five years

Schwartz told the committee earlier in its hearing that Whiteside had turned over at least $2,650 to Mack. Schwartz raised a question whether this was intended to influence Mack's vote in the contest for Miami TV Channel 10. Both Mack and Whiteside had described the money as loans, Schwartz added.

Whiteside said Schwartz had further testified Whiteside was employed as an attorney by National Airlines or its subsidiary, Public Service Television, Inc., which won the contest for the Miami channel.

Whiteside said Schwartz knew this "was untrue prior to the time he gave his testimony."

Claims Reds Carry Terrifying Weapons

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev says Soviet troops are being armed with "the most terrifying weapons of all time" but "all we want is peace."

The Soviet Communist boss told a Kremlin reception observing the 40th anniversary of the Soviet army last night that the Soviet Union's main aim was to "live without fear and in friendship."

Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky told the gathering that Soviet armed forces are equipped with the "most modern military techniques." He praised commanders who rose from the ranks and said 86 per cent of the army's leaders are members of the Communist Party or the Young Communist League.

Argentina Elects Frondizi

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Gaunt, bespectacled Arturo Frondizi, a left-wing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory.

Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-roader Ricardo Balbin in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed way behind.

Both are attorneys and represent left and right wings of the Radical party — a conservative group despite its name.

Balbin ran for president against Peron in 1952 and Frondizi was No. 2 man on the ticket.

But Frondizi's intransigent Radical party collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum this time. His backers ranged from Communists to labor to Peronists and Fascist splinter parties.

With more than eight million Argentines voting, unofficial figures early today gave Frondizi 1,434,773 votes, Balbin 892,133.

During his campaign Frondizi pledged amnesty for all Peronists and that "includes everybody." But he never specifically included Peron, which raised speculation whether Frondizi would let the banished dictator come back.

Last night Frondizi said the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics.

From his refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the implied support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

Peron claimed the election did not really represent the majority view because Peronists were banned from campaigning or run-

Matthew 6:34. "Therefore do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day."

Several years ago I read an article by an educator who said that if we must worry, we should learn how to worry effectively. That is, we should so organize and control our worries that they might add to the success of living.

Worries can be divided into two classifications. First, we have the surface anxieties, such as worry about the weather on the day of the picnic, or worry about business cares, getting our work done on time, or how to be popular, how to be successful in love, or how to avoid sickness, poverty, and accident.

There are other worries, however, of a more hidden kind. They are difficult to get at. There may be some deep-seated fear, or sense of guilt, or dread of life itself, that haunts the victim with an awful sense of uncertainty and foreboding that he himself cannot define.

Whether our worries are the surface anxieties or the deeper fears, let me suggest three simple principles of procedure in overcoming them.

Worry is a stimulus to endeavor, and a challenge to amend our ways. Sometimes I think we overdo the peace of mind philosophy. There are many things we ought to worry about — sin, selfishness, war, intemperance, indecency, poverty, and irreligion. God bless those who worry enough about life to make it better than it now is.

In the second place plan an intelligent course of action with which to meet the worry promptly and effectively. Much of our anxiety may be the result of incompetence — our feeling of inability to handle a situation. We may not know how to cook, or manage our money, or carry on a conversation, or do our work right.

Many classes and training schools exist by which we could correct these deficiencies. Once we gain skill in a given field our anxiety disappears. If we are the victims of deeper fears, whereby the nature of our anxiety is hidden from us, then the thing to do is to go to a skilled psychiatrist or religious counsellor who can identify the cause of our trouble and help us remove it.

Owners Must Register by Saturday

Boat Forms Available

Area boat owners lining up to get their auto license plates can also take care of another deadline.

The forms for boat registration under the new state law have arrived, and are available at secretary of state offices and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Cars must have the new plates by midnight Friday, and the deadline for boat registration is Saturday

Only boats exempted from registration under the law are those operated by the U.S. government, those solely propelled by muscular power, and those under 16 feet which are not temporarily or permanently equipped with a motor

The application form with a $2 registration fee must be sent to the secretary of state's office in Lansing, and a registration number will be sent to the boat owner.

The registration number program portion of the law has been eyed by officials as one way of cutting down on reckless boat operation on the state's many lakes.

The registration number, in three-inch high numerals on the bow, will give residents a chance to identify troublesome boats.

Included in the information to be furnished on the registration form is the summer mooring location, the make of craft, its length, type of propulsion, and whether it is a cruiser, fishing boat, runabout, or sail boat.

Forms must be notarized and it is the responsibility of the individual boat owner to mail the registration to Lansing.

Persons operating boats on the lakes after Saturday without the registration number will be violating the law, and subject to fine of $100 or imprisonment of 90 days.

Boats registered with the U.S. Coast Guard will receive numbers identical to their coast guard identification number

BACK TO NORMAL — Bright, warm sunshine over the weekend put Southern Florida in the tourist business once more. Scenes like this at Miami Beach had been missing during the recent cold weather. Miami Beach lifeguards estimated Sunday's crowd at 35,000, "the biggest this season." Hotels, airlines, railroads and beaches all felt the sudden surge of visitors. Miami Beach hotelmen said reservations during the last few days gave hope of making up for tourist trade lost earlier.

Police Hunting Missing Bride

New York Woman, 29, Disappears 5½ Hours Before Wedding

NEW YORK (INS)—New York City Police are on a cellar-to-roof search of all buildings in the area where a young woman disappeared shortly before she was to be married Saturday.

Pretty Irene Arzedi, 29, vanished 5½ hours before she was to have married a childhood sweetheart, Joseph Pinto, 30.

Miss Arzedi was last seen at 10:30 a.m. Saturday as she left a drug store near her home. The two-block area ordered searched was the route she would have taken to go home.

She was to have married at 4 p.m.

Inspector Michael Sabatino put the emergency squad on the investigation after a 13 - state missing persons alarm was issued. An earlier less intensive search of the neighborhood was made by detectives, but they found no trace of the woman.

Police reported today that two mysterious telephone calls have been made to Miss Arzedi's residence since she disappeared.

Irene's brother, Carlo, 28, answered the telephone both times. He told police that on both occasions he heard a man talking to someone else. When he spoke, he said, the caller hung up.

Joseph and Irene attended church together at 8 a.m. Saturday. They met briefly again at 10:30, police said, as Irene entered the drug store to buy bobby pins and cold cream.

The drug store owner, William Scannapieco, is the last person who reported seeing her.

The young woman's parents, Louis, 60, and Anna, 55, were so upset by her disappearance that a doctor ordered them to bed.

Sentenced to Life for Killing City Man

James Witherspoon, 56, of 130 Wessen St. was sentenced today to life in prison for killing another Pontiac man in a dice game argument last November.

The mandatory sentence, to be served in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, was handed down this morning by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Doty.

A jury returned a guilty of first-degree murder verdict Feb. 13 following a 2½-day trial.

Witherspoon shot Joseph Wright, 37, of 46 Lull St. Nov. 18 three times with a .38-caliber revolver in a shoeshine parlor at 92 Bagley St. The shooting was the aftermath of a dice game at which the the two men fought over a $5 bill.

Does more rain occur over the ocean at night or in the daytime?

Rain is more likely to occur from clouds above the oceans at night. This is contrary to the situation on land, where most of the rain is experienced during daylight hours.

Water does not absorb heat from the sun's rays as readily as does land. The earth heats up in the daytime, and the heart thermos which rise produce clouds, and these clouds, as they rise, produce rain.

The process over the sea is often the reverse, especially if cold winds move in over the water at night. The warmer water, and warmer air just above it, will often rise and produce rain at night. So the general rule is, more rain over land by day and more rain over the sea by night.

Likens Present Law to '34 Car

Dow Chemical Chief Asks Overhaul of Tariff Policy

DETROIT — Comparing U.S. tariff and trade policies with a 1934 car, Dow Chemical Co. President Leland I. Doan today called for a complete overhaul.

"I do not advocate tariff schedules that will protect inefficiencies in American production," Doan told the Economic Club of Detroit, "but I do advocate schedules that will equalize production costs so American producers will have a more even break in the competition."

Referring to the 24-year-old Trade Agreements Act which Congress has been asked to extend for another five years, Doan said:

"The government is driving a 1934 automobile. We have been tinkering with and patched up this 1934 model tariff law all these long years and now we are being asked to put another set of retreads on it.

"For some reason which rather escapes me," said Doan, "this particular act is sort of a sacred cow with the proponents of lower tariffs. One is given the impression that if the act is not extended our whole foreign trade situation will be thrown into a state of chaos.

STATUS QUO

"Actually, failure to extend it would in no way nullify existing agreements. It would simply mean that until some other legislation were passed our present agreements and tariff schedules would remain status quo."

Doan asked: "Is it not now time we went shopping for a 1958 model?"

He said in 1929 U.S. exports accounted for 5 per cent of the gross national product and last year accounted for 4.2 per cent.

Trade, said Doan, is good only insofar as it benefits the parties involved and trade per se is not necessarily good because we have enough of everything.

Doan, whose company deals in considerable foreign chemical trade, recommended enlarging the present six-man Tariff Commission and making it responsible to Congress for all matters of foreign trade policy.

Under the chemical executive's plan, special provision would be made to prevent "dumping and other unfair" practices. He proposed a sliding scale tariff structure which would reward with lower duties countries which raise wages and living standards.

He said the present uniform duty "tends to encourage the sweatshop and place the high-wage producer at a disadvantage."

Left-Wing Frondizi Wins in Argentina

ning openly under their true colors.

"We Peronists. . . know what we want and march straight to its execution," the banished dictator said. "Each Peronist has his instructions and their leaders the directives to fulfill them."

Frondizi courted the Peronists openly during the campaign. He professed surprise when the Communists withdrew their candidates and threw their support to him and denied ever having any "direct or indirect" contact with the Reds.

Frondizi's party actually has political ideas somewhat like the liberal wing of the Democratic party in th United States—except for its staunch support of continued nationalization for Argentina's oil resources, a political sacred cow here.

In his first postelection interview, Frondizi said he welcomes foreign development of oil pipelines and refineries, but the government oil monopoly would continue to handle the exploration and drilling.

The Electorial College meets March 17 to elect Frondizi president formally. The new members of the federal House and Senate meet March 31, and Frondizi will be sworn in May 1.

Police reported only one outbreak of violence on election night. A group of Frondizi's celebrating backers clashed with Balbin supporters in downtown Buenos Aires. Two men went to the hospital with gun wounds.

heed rebel warnings to stay away from the race.

Police also kept close guard on world lightweight boxing champion Joe Brown who is staying at the Hotel Lincoln. Brown has just finished training for his 10-round nontitle bout Wednesday night against Cuban titlist Orlando Echevarria.

Authorities refused to discuss the Fangio case, but rebel leader Fidel Castro was quick to claim responsibility.

A rebel spokesman telephoned The Associated Press to confirm the abduction last night but would not say what would be done with Fangio.

Friends expressed doubt the champion was in any danger. they believed the rebels were holding him in an attempt to force cancellation of the auto races—slated to start at 2 p.m.—and thus give Batista an international black eye.

License Bureau Extending Hours to Meet Rush

Sale of 1958 license plates will begin a half-hour earlier this week in order to meet one of the heaviest last-minute rushes in years.

Willis M. Brewer, Pontiac branch manager for the Secretary of State, announced sales would begin at 8:30 a.m. and last through 5 p.m. at both the Pontiac office, 53 N. Parke St., and the Waterford Township branch in the township hall.

Thursday and Friday, Brewer said, both offices will remain open as long as there are customers waiting in line.

Deadline for driving on 1957 plates is midnight Friday.

THOUSANDS LEFT

"There are still thousands of motorists in this area who have not bought their 1958 plates," Brewer said. "I advise all drivers to buy their plates as soon as possible in order to avoid what promises to be a staggering last-minute rush towards the end of the week."

President of Local 19 of the Detroit Carpenters Union, McArthur is 33 and lives at 2300 Middlebelt Rd.

to a national average of 78 per cent. Twenty-two states lead Michigan in interstate funds for the current fiscal year, he said, while eight states are ready to spend money on their 1959 programs.

"This certainly is a sad reversal of status for our home state," said Broomfield. "For years, Michigan led the nation in its roads and highway network. Now we find ourselves in the position of trailing the field in the vital matter of new highway construction."

Michigan is no better off in its use of federal funds for primary, secondary and urban roads, said Broomfield. "Thirty states lead Michigan in the use of such funds for the 1958 fiscal year. Ten of these states are already into next year's program."

Congress has alloted interstate funds for each state through fiscal 1959. The funds are available after the bureau of roads has approved road plans drawn up by each state.

Broomfield noted that Mackie had not submitted plans to Washington for new Oakland County expressways, including the Detroit-Pontiac - Flint interstate highway scheduled for initial construction in 1960.

"If Michigan loses any portion of its federal funds, particularly in Oakland County, there are going to be some very serious repercussions, I am certain," Broomfield warned.

Shot Intruder, Policeman Says

'Saw Man With Club . . . Standing Over Bed'; Father-in-Law Dies

DETROIT (AP) — An off-duty policeman accused of fatally shooting his father-in-law Saturday night was in Receiving Hospital today suffering rom a skull fracture which police said apparently was dealt by a blow from the man he killed.

Patrolman William Payne said he awoke about 6:30 p.m. and saw a man with a club in his hands standing over his bed. He told officers he reached for his police revolver under his pillow and fired at Elmer L. Miller, 55, his father-in-law. Miller was killed.

Officers said Payne told them Miller struck him with a baseball bat as he slept.

Mrs. Payne said she and her stepfather had argued just prior to the shooting and that Miller had been drinking. She told police Miller wanted the Paynes to move from his home and that he suddenly grabbed a baseball bat and entered the bedroom.

Police quoted Payne as saying, "My head felt numb and I reached for my gun which I always keep in bed and I fired."

Many Sections of Nation Enjoy Spring Preview

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A preview of springlike weather appeared the outlook today in many parts of the country.

The fair and comparatively mild weather, a continuation of yesterday's conditions in many areas, was a welcome relief to many sections hit by a long stretch of cold and snow.

Some Northeast areas remained in the wintry belt. A storm from southeast Canada dumped more snow in parts of New York state and much of New England yesterday. Cold weather lingered in the snow-covered areas. Snowfall in some parts of New York measured more than 6 inches.

However, the warming trend, which yesterday sent temperatures into the 70s in parts of Nebraska and 70 in South Dakota, spread into the Northeast.

Readings were generally 10 to 15 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier from Kansas and Oklahoma northeastward across the southern Great Lakes region into New England.

Police were called to the scene by the boys' mother, Mrs. Peter Murray of suburban Ferrysburg.

The Day in Birmingham

Greyhound Bus Problem Heads Tonight's Agenda

BIRMINGHAM — Problems involving the Greyhound Bus Corp. and the AAA Cab Co. top the agenda for tonight's meeting of the Birmingham City Commission.

Edmond M. Brady, attorney for the Greyhound Corp., has stated that the firm desires to make an out-of-court settlement of the suit charging that its parking lot at Forest street and Hunter boulevard constitutes a nuisance.

He said the bus line is working on a sale of the local business to the Great Lakes Transit Co. and the future plans automatically will eliminate the problem.

"We are not interested in law suits, but rather in working out the situation to the satisfaction of all parties concerned," he said.

"We request that the commission establish time and place for a conference on the matter. At that time we will have representatives of both Greyhound and Great Lakes Transit present to discuss the problem with city officials."

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley will report tonight on the weekly inspections of the AAA Cab Company as requested last month by the commission.

He said that in his opinion, two more AAA cabs should be taken off the road.

One cab was removed from service voluntarily by the company when it was given a 60-day waiver on the Taxi Cab Board's revocation of its license. At that time the company agreed to submit the cabs to weekly inspection, while working out final details for the sale of the business.

A Birmingham school teacher was injured in a two-car crash this morning on Franklin road just north of 14-Mile road.

Miss Jean C. Gardiner, 39, of 3371 Westchester Way, Birmingham, was taken to William Beaumont Hospital for chest x-rays. Bloomfield Township Police said she also suffered severe cuts of her left eye.

The driver of the second car, Charles Mortensen, 49, of 7466 Franklin Ct., Franklin, was uninjured.

Miss Gardiner leaped from her auto about the time of the collision, police said, and was run over by the rear wheel of her car. She was unable to make a complete statement of how the crash occurred, they said.

Mrs. Sereck Fox

Service for Mrs. Sereck (Elizabeth) Fox, 85, of 329 Linden St., Birmingham, will be held tomorrow at the Welliver Funeral Home in Philadelphia. She died yesterday.

Her body will be taken today from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home to Philadelphia.

that AFL delegates representing 125,000 MFL members have registered for the special convention despite the boycott.

The MFL claims a membership of 300,000.

The MFL balked at merger with the 600,000-member Michigan CIO Council. MFL leaders said they feared the craft unions would be dominated by the big industrial unions.

McGavin reported that pre-convention caucuses last night approved merger recommendations. He predicted a new AFL-CIO state organization will go through as planned by Meany.

PICKETING HOTEL

Some 1,700 delegates registering yesterday at the Pantlind Hotel crossed one-man picket lines thrown up at the hotel's four entrances by the Grand Rapids Building Trades Council. The pickets—one at each entrance — carried signs accusing the hotel of being unfair to carpenters.

McGavin said there was no labor dispute at the hotel and he said the hotel management had given assurance that AFL-CIO labor would be employed on a projected $10,000 remodeling job.

Slated for election as top officers of the new organization are Gus Scholle (CIO) of Detroit, president; George Murphy (AFL) of Muskegon, vice president, and Barney Hopkins (CIO) of Detroit, secretary-treasurer.

Scholle is now president of the State CIO Council. Murphy is an international representative of the Allied Industrial Workers (AFL). Hopkins is now secretary-treasurer of the State CIO.

The constitution would authorize a salary of $12,500 for president, and $12,000 for each of the other officers.

Foxy Husband Invents 'Sox Box' Dispenser

EL RENO, Okla. (AP)—Bob Evans got tired of having to hunt around for his socks in the drawer, so he has come up with a gadget — "sox box."

It's a little wooden box that works like a candy machine except that socks come out of the bottom, and they're free. Evans designed the 16-inch long box to hang on a wall and the wife just rolls the socks up and loads the box from the top. Hubby gets a fresh pair from the bottom.

Police Take Gun From Youngster Near President

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A .22 caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight was confiscated by security police near the Paradise Valley Country Club yesterday while President Eisenhower played a round of golf.

Sheriff's Capt. Ralph Edmundson said the rifle was taken from two young boys spotted by alert Arizona highway patrolmen.

"The boys told us they had been out rabbit hunting and were heading home," Edmundson said. "But we couldn't afford to take any chances, so we confiscated the gun."

The boys were released after being questioned. The patrol said the rifle will be returned.

Van Horn Mute in Murder Case

To Be Tried in April on Charge of Slaying Waterford Housewife

Billy Ray VanHorn, 24, was returned to Oakland County Jail today after he stood mute to a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of a Waterford Township housewife last month.

Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick entered a plea of innocent for VanHorn when he was arraigned this morning.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said VanHorn's trial will be the first of the second court term beginning April 14.

VanHorn has admitted slaying Mrs. HazelMurdock, 39, in her home at 127 N. Josephine Ave. on Jan. 25 following a drinking spree. Her body was found beaten, strangled and stabbed on the kitchen floor by her husband, Drulard, 55, a self-employed carpenter.

VanHorn, an unemployed welder, confessed he went to the Murdock home to see Murdock and became enraged when Mrs. Murdock criticized him for having been drinking. The Murdocks had been seeking to halt his drinking.

First Aid Instructors Course Starts Here

A five night course for potential Red Cross first aid instructors will begin tomorrow night at the Oakland County chapter headquarters, 118 Franklin Rd., according to Mildred Bennett, chapter executive secretary.

The course, taught by Ralph S. Forman, first aid instructor trainer, will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and March 4 and 6. All five sessions must be attended in order to receive instructor certification.

Anyone who has a currently valid first aid advanced certificate is eligible to enroll. Those interested in enrolling in the course are requested to call the chapter house, Federal 4-3575, for reservations.

Story in Newspaper Preview to Death

VICI, Okla. (AP)—Vaughn White, 67, was the subject of a feature story in Sunday morning's Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman. It told how the retired Kingfisher, Okla., farmer had logged some 1,300 hours of flying time in four years spotting coyotes.

Sunday afternoon White and Troy Stewart Jr., 22 of Omega, Okla., were killed when White's plane plunged into a field and burned about 10 miles southeast of here.

A witness said the men were following a coyote at about 50 feet of altitude when the plane attempted a sharp turn and plummeted to the ground.

Teach Judo to Curb Juvenile Delinquency?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Judo is the gentle art of flipping a man off balance (tenderly), tossing him through the air (courteously), rendering him helpless or unconscious (temporarily), without losing one's temper or aplomb.

In judo, it is considered extremely bad taste to injure anyone seriously. You may throttle an adversary into unconsciousness, but it is not cricket if the unconsciousness becomes permanent. And a small girl may throw a man over her head, but if in so doing she breaks his neck, or acts sulky about it, she is not being sporting.

Obviously, learning judo is a good way to build self-confidence and influence bullies, and the thought immediately comes to mind—would this be effective in curbing juvenile delinquency: Giving the "good guys" judo lessons to combat the "bad guys' " knives?

The man to consult is Jerome Mackey, a recent Juilliard Music School graduate and struggling concert pianist who spends his free time teaching New York City children the art he began to learn from a Japanese when he was 11.

"I consider this very honestly to be a real answer," says Mackey.

"It's dangerous, however, to take a chance on teaching it to the wrong kind of kid. I've turned down plenty of applicants—the type I could tell right away had only malicious motives in mind."

Exactly how dangerous it could be is evidenced by Mackey's admission that "I know some things about judo I'm not going to teach anybody. They were taught me by a great Korean judoist and, frankly, it gives me a creepy feeling just to know them."

After some prodding, he told what they were: "I know different ways of killing a man so that his death could never be traced to me. He might drop dead six days after his last contact with me. By that time, the way things are going, I could be on another planet."

He looked down at his powerful hands. "I'll never teach that to anybody. But anyway, you can see why you have to be careful not to teach judo to anyone who's going to use the art indiscriminately."

Recent Hatchet Days Tremendous Success

Pontiac Hatchet days proved once again that if bargains exist the public will buy. The two day sale sponsored by the Downtown Merchants created more buying enthusiasm than has been seen in Pontiac in some little time.

True, the people were after the bargains.

Many of the merchants reported that the crowds and customers were by far greater than at any time since Christmas.

This activity engendered in the face of all the talk of recession is indicative that the public will respond when true values are available.

The customer likes a bargain.

This was more than demonstrated by this two day event. The over all optimism was a pleasant change for storekeeper, clerk and customer alike.

World Trade Just as Important as Missiles

Alarmists would have us believe that Sputniks and more Sputniks are all this country needs to survive. Some serious thought can dispel this theory if we will just stop a moment and analyze the operating procedures of a dictatorship.

Recently General Alfred M. Gruenther, former head of NATO, remarked that extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act is just as important a part of the defense effort as missile development and satellite launchings.

This is obviously true when you realize that the Soviet Union is equipped to shift rapidly from one area of offense in the cold war to another. Missiles or Sputniks may be the order of business one day, but trade or economic aid may be the next.

Competition with a dictatorship like the Soviet Union puts the United States in a very fast league. We must continue to be versatile enough to compete on all fronts of economic trade as well as the missile age.

It Isn't Fair to Squelch Paid TV Without Trial

An advertisement appeared in Monday's Pontiac PRESS for paid TV programs. This seems to be a controversial subject, although the full extent of the cannonading amazes most of the innocent bystanders.

Opponents seem strangely wrought up and at times they're distracted to the point of hysteria. No one is trying to ram this down the throats of the nation. No one is promoting it at the point of a pistol.

Its supporters are willing to "live and let live." All they ask is a trial.

What're the objections?

Can this be so wrong?

Apparently, the opponents of pay TV are suggesting present programs will be denied the listener unless he planks down heavy dough. Investigation indicates this isn't true. No one could get far advocating that the public voluntarily pay for something it could otherwise get free.

Zenith proposes a trial by bringing some first run movies and Broadway productions to the home. If you didn't want them, you wouldn't have to contribute a thin dime and you could dial programs that better hit your fancy.

If the people believe the paid programs are sufficiently superior to justify the purchase price, they'll pay and listen. If they don't, they can listen to an old favorite that wings its way into the living room for free.

You're the boss.

No one dictates.

When radio and television came along, no one tried to legislate them out of business without a trial. And so we believe this new idea is worthy of inspection. Let's give it a whirl. If it's no good, everyone will groan in unison and it will die a natural death. If it packs a wallop, those that want to pay can pay a small fee.

It doesn't seem fair to kill it without a chance. That isn't quite in conformance with long standing traditions of American sportsmanship.

The Man About Town

No Spare Parts

Newspaper Waxed Poetic on Incident 30 Years Ago

Adults: The principal trouble with children.

This is a personal anniversary. 'Twas 30 years ago tonight that my car skidded in front of a train at Holly and was wrecked. Since a Supreme Being gives special care to children and fools, I escaped with only a broken collar bone.

Quite contrary to my own feelings, many newspaper writers saw something funny in the episode, including which broke out at some length under the heading,

The Atchison, Kansas, Globe,

"The Sad, Sad Story About Joe," closing with this poetic effusion:

Joe saw the train,
But couldn't stop;
So they took car and driver
To the shop.
'Twas only just a week or two
Until the car was good as new:
But tho' they hunted high and low,
They couldn't find spare parts for Joe.

Today also is another anniversary. According to a clipping sent me by now living in Toledo, it was on Feb. 24, 1888, that he was taking his mother from Pontiac to Birmingham on a railroad hand car, driven by man-power in a pumping motion. She thought she heard a train coming, and jumped off and was run over by the hand car and killed.

Burney Regelman,

Right in the line suggested in this column, is the name of a top flight motel soon to be opened at Miami Beach.

Chief Pontiac

I have the figures directly from Game Chief of the Michigan Department of Conservation, that more deer are being killed by autos than ever before. This is especially true in Oakland and other counties in this area. Mr. Ruhl urges that we dim our lights when we see a deer in the highway at night, as the bright lights cause them to "freeze" in their tracks, instead of leaping out of danger.

A frank confession is made by

who always is urging us to drive carefully. A recent survey shows that U. S. drivers have an accident record only one-quarter that of other countries.

Some Florida gas stations vacuum the interior of your car, as well as wiping the windshield and windows, as a courtesy.

"Just Helping Stassen With His Grass Roots Campaign"

David Lawrence Says:

Russia Still Up to Her Old Tricks

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union, aggressor in Korea, is now trying to foment another war in that area. While talking glibly of an East-West conference, the Moscow regime may be laying plans for another Korean war—this time with the hope of crushing South Korea.

The stealing of a passenger plane inside the territory of the Korean Republic is a flagrant violation of the armistice. The move was engineered as a means of starting another Korean crisis. The Communists say they will release the prisoners if the South Koreans recognize the North Korean government. This is a cruel way to deal with human lives. It means indefinite imprisonment for the innocent South Koreans and Americans who were on the plane. It's an odd way to "reduce tension," which the Moscow regime constantly avows as its purpose.

The first step was taken a few weeks ago when Premier Chou En-lai of the Red Chinese regime in Peiping went to North Korea and arranged with the puppet government there to publicize a plan that would provide for the withdrawal of all "foreign troops" from both North and South Korea. This means, of course, that the Red Chinese troops would move back a few miles to the banks of the Yalu River while the U.N. troops presumably would get out of the Korean peninsula altogether. Then the attack could be resumed at any moment, and it would be difficult for the U.N. troops to be shipped back promptly.

The danger of war arises because the South Koreans will not hesitate to fight if there is the slightest evidence of military action by the Reds.

The Soviet government will be responsible for the second Korean war even as it was responsible for the first Korean war. The United States government holds the Moscow government to blame for aggression in Korea.

One document issued by the United States government through the Department of Defense on May 15, 1954, needs to be re-read at this time. It was issued in Washington during the foreign ministers' conference in Geneva at which "unification" of Korea under U.N. auspices was rejected by Red China and the Soviet Union. The American statement said in part:

"General Communist aggression in Korea began in 1950, but the preparations for it began north of the 38th parallel in 1945, when Russian occupation forces moved in.

"Among their first preoccupations was the creation of a North Korean Army. While they were directly occupying the country, they recruited, organized and equipped local forces. After those forces reached a degree of strength that could allow the Russians to remove their own occupation forces, they did so. But first they created a hand-picked, puppet regime controlled by Russian citizens of Korean ancestry.

"This puppet regime continues the military buildup with Russian help in materials and training personnel. When the North Korean army had reached a degree of strength which indicated it could conquer all of Korea, the Russians gave it the signal for the attack across the 38th parallel.

"And when this army failed to gain its objective despite its great initial superiority over defending forces, the Chinese came to its rescue, and Russia continued to give support in material, advisory personnel, antiaircraft units and strategic counsel to the Chinese and North Koreans. . . .

"Without that help, the Chinese with their inadequate industrial structure could not possibly have maintained effective military forces in Korea on their own resources."

Vyshinsky, Russian representative at the United Nations, arrogantly admitted in March 1953 to the U.N. General Assembly that the Soviet Union "continues" to supply arms to Red China in the Korean War.

Yet there are wishful-thinking Americans and organs of so-called "liberal" thought which would let bygones be bygones and give recognition to Red China and admit that regime to the Security Council of the United Nations.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Tapering Off' Is No Way to Break Cigarette Habit

A New Jersey reader says he has never seen the garage man who services the company's cars without a cigarette in his mouth.

DR. BRADY

The man never breathes fresh air, except, maybe, when he's asleep or in church. No wonder he's now under doctor's care for heart trouble — he has had two serious attacks in the past few months.

The reader goes on to describe the repulsive behavior of cigarette smokers.

"You sit down to enjoy a good meal and first thing you know one of them lights up a cigarette and blows the stinking smoke in your face and spoils your meal. The females are worse than the males. They make no apology when they scorch the top of a fine dresser or burn a hole in the hostess' tablecloth. . ."

So far, I can go along with you — and add to the indictment. The physiological, toxic and pathological effects of tobacco will be the subject of a piece soon to follow this one. Meanwhile let's hear from readers who have views or suggestions.

The New Jersey reader continues: "When I was a boy it was the fresh kids who smoked. We used to call cigarettes coffin nails. I am only 84. I quit smoking very early. Just quit. No tapering off. Regards, Doc. And a happy 1958!"

Everything this man says about smoking cigarettes makes sense, I think. Particularly true is the suggestion about quitting. That's the way to quit smoking. Just quit. If you try to "taper off," the odds are thirty to one that you'll fail miserably.

Of course, this doesn't mean you'll succeed in breaking the habit just because you quit abruptly. The fact that you are so addicted shows you to be wishy-washy, a person of weak character, undependable in the first place. You did not learn, or perhaps you were not taught in childhood and early youth, to say 'no.' All you learned was that you should do whatever the "fresh kids" did.

Years ago I recommended the use of a mouthwash of a very weak solution of silver nitrate in distilled water as an aid for the cigarette smoker trying to break the habit. Theoretically this made the smoke taste so bad that the smoker wouldn't like it. Practically, it proved unsatisfactory — as I should have foreseen.

Now I believe that the success or failure of any attempt to break the cigarette habit depends on the smoker's willpower and character.

Current Recession Subject for Many Readers' Letters

I'd like to know if people who write those letters think they're smarter than Walter Reuther and Gov. Williams or any Democrat. Why don't they take their places in office or keep their mouths shut?

That lady that signed her letter Factory Worker's Wife should have signed it Monkey on a String. I'll bet everything I have, which isn't very much as Ike has had me layed off for the last three years, that everytime the boss says jump, Factory Worker's Wife's husband jumps. Let Walter Reuther and Gov. Williams and all Democrats alone and let them do their jobs. I hope they raise union dues.

All you hear any more is people saying we always have a depression with a Republican administration, that all big business is owned by Republicans. It seems to me that with only two years until the presidential election if this were true, we would be having a boom to build up the party, rather than the recession we're having now. Could anyone answer this for me?

Baffled

Well thanks to T.T for getting unemployment corrected ahead of me. Back in Grover Cleveland's administration they had over three million unemployed and our population was only 65 million. Now our population is over 170 million with something over four million unemployed. Democrats are ridiculing Republicans for their failures. There's just one catch to this. We have had a Democrat-controlled Congress for 21 years out of 25. Now any eighth grader should know the President has to abide by decisions of Congress so Democrats should have the blame or praise, as a minority does not rule over a majority.

As for cars and other items not selling, one of the greatest obstacles is fear of a strike, which can be laid right on Reuther's doorstep. I've heard only one person say increased prices were the reason for not buying, but I've heard a large number blame the strike threat.

Maybe if we can hang on for six months or a year we can have both peace and prosperity once more. Some people should read "The Failure of Socialism" by William Henry Chamberlin.

Auto Worker

To the man who laid himself up treasures, how rich in good deeds are you? Are you looking for justification? Do you help the sick and poor, the less fortunate than you?

I admire a man who provides a good car, good home and clothes for his family. These consumers buying these products made your treasures, didn't they? The ones who have the most will be the first in line for their share of free handouts.

Come down off that stack of loot and live a little. Where there's faith, there's a will, and where there's a will, God provides a way.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Advocates Spanking When Needed

Consider the case of Tommy and Sue! Do you think their parents are doing right by them? Children should be taught the rules of fair play, not only on the baseball diamond but also when visiting in other peoples' homes. We professional psychologists do not urge parents to forego all corporal punishment, so get hep to modern child rearing principles.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-337: Tommy and Sue, aged 7 and 5 respectively, are the children of college graduate parents.

DR. CRANE

Recently the family was visiting friends of mine. Tommy and Sue climbed upon the piano seat and danced up and down thereon in their shoes.

Their parents ignored the situation entirely. Then Tommy and Sue decided they'd mount higher, so they crawled on top of the grand piano!

Still their parents did nothing to restrain them. When the children finally stood up with their shoes on and began walking on the polished top of the grand piano, my friend who owned the the piano finally protested.

"Stop that!" he said somewhat sharply. "Don't you know you will scratch that piano top?"

The children stood still and looked surprised. Their father then spoke up and said:

"Tell Mr. X that we don't talk like that to you children at home!"

Well, they should have talked to those kids like that at home and long ago!

And when mere talking will not deter a child from such obviously unsocial and stupid behavior, then a hairbrush or an old-fashioned peach tree switch is quite in order.

And I say this as a professional psychologist, as well as the father of five children.

In fact, I also spent five years as Research Psychologist with the National Research Council and the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., and I wrote my Ph.D. thesis on problems of typical children, so please take my counsel seriously when I tell you that psychology does not condone the complete omission of corporal punishment.

About 25 years ago, it is true, we had some sentimental "old maids" in psychology who tried to foist a non-restrictive type of training on youngsters.

They even rated magazine articles and fooled a lot of Americans into believing it was a horrible evidence of "horse and buggy" thinking to restrain a child or spank him.

But that frothy attitude was not shared by the scientific psychologists of the land.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

The rise in juvenile delinquency is partly due to this inane theory that children should not be curbed, restrained or punished.

And I'll admit that some parents formerly went to extremes in whipping youngsters. In general, too, we urge the "expressive" instead of the "repressive" method in child rearing.

But it is not always feasible or smart to omit punishment entirely. Use it discreetly, and you don't need to employ it often.

Thereafter, the rising pitch of mamma's voice indicates to the youngster that one more half-note higher, and there will be a spanking, so the child judiciously stops his naughtiness even without the laying on of hands!

Parents should train their children to harmonize with the sensible codes of the age in which they live. And those rules definitely veto letting children mar expensive furniture or convert a parlor into a playground.

God Almighty put more pain sensory cells in our skin than all other types, for He knew that pain is the quickest and most lasting deterrent to wrong behavior.

A snap with the fingers or a minor smack with a ruler or hairbrush, doesn't do any physical harm to a youngster, but it does improve his social acceptance in human society and hence helps assure him greater success in later life.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Macmillan Backs Foreign Secretary

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan threw cold water last night on talks that Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd is on the skids.

"I think Mr. Lloyd is a very good foreign secretary," Macmillan said in a television interview. "If he were not, I would have made a change. I do not intend to make a change under pressure."

A number of Macmillan' Conservative supporters and many Laborites have been calling for Lloyd's dismissal because he refused to be specific in House of Commons debate last week about what the British government is doing to bring about an East-West summit conference.

Rough on Reds, Says Fuentes

Choice for President in Guatemala Disclaims Despotic Desires

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
AP Staff Writer

Gen. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, Guatemala's president-elect, says he is going to be rough on Communists after he takes office next Sunday. He disclaims any desire to be a dictator.

About that pre-election talk of his being a 'Fascist-type" extreme rightist: 'Nothing to it, nothing at all," he says. "Let us say that I am right of center."

He said he is going to keep Guatemala's exiled hard core Communists out of Guatemala and "throw out any foreign Communists" he finds in the country. But those Guatemalans who fled when Communist-lining President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman was overthrown in 1954 "only because they collaborated with the Communists" will be allowed to come home.

Civil engineer, soldier, administrator, diplomat and politician in his 62 years, Ydigoras sprinkles his writings and speeches with historical references. Guatemalans who collaborated with Communists, for instance, are "no worse than the French who collaborated with the Germans because they had to eat."

He professes admiration for the United States, where his two children were educated, his two grandchildren born and where he is now visiting. He says U.S. aid to Guatemala of nearly 70 million dollars after the late President Carlos Castillo Armas overthrew Arbenz was necessary. He hope it continues.

Rails' Work Increases

NEW YORK — Railroads in the United States last year performed the equivalent of moving one ton of freight 3,887 miles for every man, woman, and child in the coutry. This compares with 3,796 ton-miles per capita in 1955 and 3,408 in 1954.

Security for You

Quiz: Census Bureau Can Help on Age

By Ray Henry

From Mrs. F. M. of Fountain City, Tenn.: "In a recent column, you mentioned that the United States Census Bureau probably could help a person establish his age for Social Security payments. I misplaced the address you gave. Please give it again."

Write to United States Census Bureau, Washington 25, D. C.

From D. L. of Kansas City: "Please let me know if I can draw Social Security? I worked under Social Security from 1937 to June 1957. I have my left hand amputated and also have silicosis. I'll be 50 years old Feb. 28th."

It's very possible that you'll be entitled to Social Security disability payments, but it depends on a medical determination of the degree of your disability. I suggest you immediately apply for payments.

From S. N. H. of Council Bluffs, Iowa: "I rent a house to a young couple and the rent totals $600 a year. Would it be possible for me to pay Social Security tax on this and claim it as self-employment income."

No. Rent of this sort is not self-employment income, but rather return on an investment which isn't covered by the Social Security law.

From Mrs. H. P. of Fall River, Mass.: "My husband was 72 in May 1957. He has been receiving $108.50 a month in Social Security since June and is still working full time. Is it true that there is no limit to his earnings? Does he have to report his Social Security for income tax purposes?"

Since your husband is past 72, he can make any amount of money and still receive a check each month. His Social Security is not subject to the Federal income tax.

From Mrs. M. W. of Pittsburgh, Pa.: "I've heard that a woman can collect Social Security while she's pregnant and for a short while after the baby is born. Is this right?

No.

From Miss G. T. R. of New York City: "For more than a year I've been doing housework for two different women. I work one day a week for each and make $7 a day. They don't report my pay for Social Security because they said I had to work on at least two days a week for each of them. Is this correct?"

No. You are under Social Security in each calendar quarter during which you're paid at least $50 by either one of the women. Each of them should make a quarterly report of your wages to the Internal Revenue Service. They may get report forms from any Internal Revenue Service office. If you don't have a Social Security card, you should get one immediately from the nearest Social Security office.

From A. H. of Denver, Colo.: "My father is 75 and collects $53 a month from Social Security. That's his only income. I've been taking care of him for 14 years, but now find it necessary to place him in a nursing home. Could he collect any other government benefits to help with this added expense?"

Your father may be entitled to old-age assistance from your local Department of Public Welfare. I suggest thatt you inquire immediately.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Negro Girl Goes Back to School

Starts Classes Afresh in New York City After Little Rock Expulsion

NEW YORK (AP) — Minnijean Brown goes to school today more than 1,000 miles from home.

The 16-year-old Negro girl, expelled from Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., begins classes today at the New Lincoln School, a private interracial institution.

The Manhattan school offered her a scholarship of $1,050 a year after her expulsion from Central High.

"My education is the important thing," the girl said on her arrival here.

Until a few months ago she spelled her name "Minnie Jean." She changed it to "Minnijean," she said, "when I became a celebrity."

One of nine Negro students attending Central High under the protection of federal troops, she was expelled after a series of racial incidents.

She acknowledged calling a white girl "white trash." She said the girl had stepped on her heels and called her names.

"It was the first time I ever really got mad enough to say anything like that. I just let go," she said.

She added: "This is all in the past. I'd like to forget it."

The plane which brought the girl and her mother Mrs. Imogene Brown was met by about 50 persons, members of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

READY TO RIDE — Karen Womack makes a last-minute adjustment before taking off for a gallop on her favorite mount in Phoenix, Ariz. The 18-year-old beauty will be Queen of the 1958 Rodeo which will be held in Phoenix, March 13-16.

Glue is important. If all the glue turned to dust, says the National Geographic Society, countless objects from pianos to supersonic planes would fall apart.

Bob Considine Says:

Wyatt Earp's Nephew Plays High Stakes

NEW YORK (INS)—People . . . places . . . things. . .

Virgil Earp, 79-year-old nephew of Wyatt Earp, played for high stakes a long time ago. When he was 16 he drew faster than a man who was getting fresh with his sister, back in Tombstone, Arizona, and killed him deader than a stone. Lately he's been engaged in equally risky work, appearing on "The $64,000 Question" as an expert on the West when it was willder.

He could use the money. His 79-year-old wife underwent major surgery in Sacramento a week ago, and things haven't been too good for Virgil either. He is a vigorous old guy whose hair stays not only on but black.

There could be a western series about Virgil, too, though it might be harder to believe than the ironclad law that the good cowboy can always shoot the gun out of the hand of the bad one.

Virgil says that in the days before the West succumbed to the fudge-burger there was no such thing as juvenile delinquency in the area, though the policy was a-life-for-a-life and there was little or no government as we know it today.

No bands of young hoodlums, he swears, no household robberies, and by and large a woman was safer in the Wild West of his youth than she'd be today in midtown Manhattan. The sudden perforation of the cad who tried to do his sister wrong, lo these six decades and more ago, perhaps highlights the then prevalent method of discouraging muggers.

Virgil, son of Newton Jasper Earp, brother of Wyatt, worked for the marshal's office at 18, then for his Uncle Wyatt in a bloodcurdling manhunt that lasted for years.

Seems that Uncle Morgan Earp was shot in the back and killed by a band of outlaws when he was 22. U. S. Marshal Wyatt Earp vowed vengeance for his brother's death. He arrested two of the killers, but the sheriff of Tombstone turned them free. Wyatt quit.

During the next five months he killed five of the killers. He went as far as Alaska, looking for a sixth, sent Virgil clean to China on a tip that a seventh was a teamster working for the U. S. government during the Boxer Rebellion.

Eventually, uncle and nephew traced the two hoods to a ranch outside Nogales, Mex., and killed them. Wyatt was hauled up on charges, pardoned, and offered another U. S. marshalship. Theodore Roosevelt wrote to Wyatt and offered him a job as his bodyguard. Wyatt turned down the post but successfully recommended Bat Masterson.

West Virginia's GOP 'Cleanup' Hits the Bottom

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The Republican state administration, which began sweeping out Democrats on the top floors of the statehouse last January, wielded the broom in the basement recently.

By accident officials stumbled upon cozy living quarters — a two room suite equipped with bed, desk, telephone, etc. — downstairs.

C.C. Miller, former custodian under the Democrats, said the furnishings were his. He explained that a few years ago his superiors thought it would be a good idea if he stayed at the statehouse in case of trouble at night.

GOP officials ordered Miller to pack up his belongings, but he still has his present job — with the Democratic state treasurer.

Boy, 14, Killed After Abduction

Another Youth Injured in California Kidnaping With Gangland Flavor

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—An East Los Angeles boy was shot to death and another was wounded after being kidnaped in gangland style, sheriff's deputies said today.

Gerald R. Delao, 14, was killed. George Rodriguez, 13, was wounded in the arm.

The shootings occurred in Soledad Canyon, 10 miles northeast of here, after the boys were dumped out of their abductors' car, officers said they were told.

Two youths were arrested in East Los Angeles for questioning. Dep. Sheriff Al Edsel said Lorenzo Castro, 18, and Ruben Ramos, 20, were booked on suspicion of murder, kidnaping an dattempted murder.

A motorist picked up the Rodriguez boy on the highway. The boy led officers to his companion's body.

Edsel said he was told that trouble developed among a number of youths Sunday afternoon in a theater where Castro was employed as an usher.

Officers said the Rodriguez boy told them the abductors forced them into a car, saying they were taking the boys for a ride; told them to get out when they reached the canyon road, then shot them.

"Randy got it real bad," Edsel quoted Rodriguez, "but they only hit me in the arm. I fell down and I guess they thought I was dead too."

"There has been bad blood brewing ever since a shooting in which Castro figured Feb. 7," Edsel said.

On that occasion Castro fired at Elias Alvarado, 17, as Alvarado ran from the theater after a woman's purse had been snatched. The bullet hit a crucifix hanging from from Alvarado's neck. The impact drove the crucifix in Alvarado's chest. He was not injured seriously. Castro was not held.

A Junior Editors Quiz About YOU

QUESTIONs Why do you yawn?

ANSWER: Yawning is something you do without thinking while breathing in. It is due to drowsiness or fatigue and is a sign that the body is ready for sleep. When a person is tired, he is not breathing in enough oxygen, and an organ in the brain called the hypothalamus causes him to yawn.

Yawning acts as kind of a warning system and tells you that you need better ventilation or exercise to get more oxygen into your body. Generally you will stop yawning if you take a cool drink, bathe your face in water or take a walk.

FOR YOU TO DO: Scientists can't explain it, but persons who see others yawn are likely to yawn too. Next time you yawn several times in a room full of people, see if anyone else yawns too.

A car driven by Norbert Wise, 36, of 3862 Florman St., Pontiac, crashed into a parked car on Maceday Lake road at 8 p.m. last night.

Peacemaker Visiting Paris

Envoy Murphy of U.S. Expected to Travel to Tunisia Tomorrow

PARIS (AP) — American envoy Robert Murphy arrived in Paris today for the next stage of his quest for settlement of the French-Tunisian dispute

After talks in London with the British member of the two-man "good offices" mission, Murphy flew to Paris to see Premier Felix Gaillard and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

The U.S. deputy undersecretary of state is expected to go on to Tunis tomorrow to see President Habib Bourguiba and members of his government.

Murphy will be followed to Paris shortly by his British colleague Harold Beeley, Foreign Office undersecretary of state. There was speculation that the Briton was remaining in London to serve as a link between Murphy and Tunisian diplomats there.

Tunisia' ambassador was withdrawn from Paris after the French bombing of the border village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef Feb. 8, the incident which produced the present tense crisis between France and her former North African protectorate.

The tension of the past several days in Tunisia was relaxed somewhat when Tunisian authorities issued permits for journalists to visit areas in the west of the country, near the Algerian border. The newsmen had been barred by an order two days ago.

The Tunisian information ministry claimed that the permits were required to keep track of correspondents' whereabouts. The officials denied they were trying to keep newsmen from areas where the French charge Algerian rebels are training or resting up.

About 25 countries are expected to be represented by nearly 3,000 exhibitors at the second Osaka Trade Fair in Japan, which will start in April. It is the largest trade fair in the Far East.

Potter Seeks End to Auto Excise Levy

Renews Tax Repeal Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) says he will renew efforts this week to persuade the Eisenhower administration to change its position on proposed repeal of the auto excise tax.

Potter, in a newsletter, said yesterday he will meet with Treasury Secretary Anderson. The White House reportedly is opposed to repeal, which is advocated by Michigan congressmen of both parties.

Said Potter: "This is one levy which the American people could and should do without." The excise tax imposes a 10 per cent assessment on auto purchases.

The senator contended the auto is a necessity rather than a luxury and said repeal on the tax would create new areas of taxable income for the government.

County Sharing in Ford Grant

$25,000 Will Enable Study of Government, Economy, Society

Oakland County will share in a $25,000 Ford Foundation grant enabling the creation of a study of social, economic and governmental growth in Southeastern Michigan.

The Supervisors Inter-County Committee, representing Oakland and five other counties in this section of the state, requested the $25,000 pre-project grant last December.

The grant underwrites the expense of forming the Southeastern Michigan Metropolitan Community Research Corporation.

A citizens' committee headed by William M. Day, president of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will organize the corporation and supervise other pre-project work.

"The program will produce a well-rounded study of all the relationships which affect the growth and development of the metropolitan area," Day said.

Burglars Victimize 2 More Churches

A rash of church burglaries noted in Pontiac during the past week continued over the weekend with two more.

The Lutheran Church of the Ascension, 96 Williams St., was entered Friday night and $20 stolen from a cash box.

The thieves smashed a window in a rear door to gain entrance.

Last night the All Saints Episcopal Church, 471 W. Pike St., was burglarized. How much money is missing has not yet been determined.

Dem, GOP Senators Split Over Inquiry Into UAW Strike at Kohler

WASHINGTON (AP)—The bipartisan Senate Rackets Committee meets behind closed doors today to thresh out a partisan row.

The dispute already has delayed at least until tomorrow the start of public hearings into actions of both sides in a four-year-old continuing strike involving the United Auto Workers and the Kohler Co.

The union and the Kohler, Wis., plumbing fixtures firm each has blamed the other for outbreaks of bitter violence in the strike, which has divided families and friends in the area. The plant has continued operating.

The Senate committee's four Republican and four Democratic members have split evenly over which side—and which witnesses—should have first chance to tell ts side of the case.

The inquiry was called primarily to investigate violence in the strike. Also at issue is a boycott the UAW has waged against the company's products. In the background is the UAW's traditional support of most Democratic candidates.

Main procedural issue before the committe is whether to start the rearings with testimony from UAW President Walter Reuther and Kohler's top officials, or to hear first the testimony of pro-company or pro-union witnesses, and who among these should testify first. The Republicans say they want to hear all complaining witnesses first.

Dear Abby....

You're Leading a Dog's Life

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for that LIVE AND LET LIVE couple who wrote you the secret of their happy marriage. My husband and I have the same arrangement. We come and go as we please, with whomever we choose, and come back when we feel like it with no questions asked.

ABBY

There is complete freedom in our home and no jealousy. I'm sure our marriage will last longer than those where both husband and wife are mentally unfaithful but have-not the courage to do anything about it.

Also Living and Letting Live

DEAR ALSO: I know another couple who live just like you do. They come and go as they please with no questions asked and neither feels guilty. They are "Tuffy" and "Taffy," my neighbor's springer spaniels. What's your excuse?

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law had a baby girl about the same time I had mine. She is always over here bragging about her little girl but I keep my mouth shut. She asks me what my baby weighs and after I tell her she picks up my baby and puts her on the scale to see if I am lying.

When she asked me what size shoe the baby wore and I told her, she took the shoe off to see if I was telling the truth. This has been going on 18 months and I am sick of it. How should I handle her?

FED UP

DEAR FED: Those who suspect others of lying and must have proof of everything are usually guilty of the very things they accuse others of. Remember this and keep your silence.

DEAR ABBY: What is the matter with people anyway? I am a bachelor by choice, age 47, and could have been married many times if I had wanted to. I am satisfied, but my friends don't leave me alone.

They are always inviting me for dinner and of course they have a girl for me to "look over." No matter where I go somebody is sure to say. "Oh, I have a girl for you!" What should I do?

HAPPY BACHELOR

DEAR HAPPY: Many a happy bachelor has been converted into a happier husband. Don't be a "shnook" — it doesn't cost anything to look!

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been begging me for a divorce for years, but we have five children and if I can stand him, he can stand me. He makes good money, but I never see his paycheck.

He runs with a no good crowd and sometimes stays out all night. He comes home smelling of the spirits and the truth ain't in him.

Some woman is bothering him with a claim that he married her one night. He says he knows her, very well but he can't remember marrying her. If he really married her, is he still married to me? I am trying to preserve our marriage.

NEEDING HELP

DEAR NEEDING HELP: You are putting up with a series of situations that are not only ridiculous but contrary to law in an effort to "preserve your marriage" (this is a marriage?).

Don't walk, RUN to your nearest Legal Aid Society. They will help you unsnarl your marital mess.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and have a date with a real sweet boy. I have never been kissed and I have a feeling he is going to try it.

"I was wondering if kissing just comes naturally or should I ask some girls how to go about it? Girls with some experience, I mean. I am afraid I won't know how to kiss and will be embarrassed. Please don't think this is too dumb to answer. I am very serious about it."

UNKISSED

DEAR UNKISSED: People have been kissing a long time without previous experience. When a mother duck shoves her little ducklings into the pond, they just swim.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HAROLD: Behave yourself. Baby, it's cold outside.

Chemise Overblouse Stars Feminine Look

Greatest silhouette change in a decade, the chemise, ushers in a whole new look for blouses as they continue to ride high in fashion popularity. Distinguished by its loosely drawn, yet tapered shape, the chemise overblouse has a distinctive 1958 flavor.

Decidedly soft and feminine in feeling, it avoids the severe mannish lines of the flapper era, from which it's a direct descendant.

RELAXED FEELING

Teamed with a fashionably narrow or pleated skirt for this season's important two-piece costume look, or worn with new unfitted suits, the chemise overblouse epitomizes the easy relaxed feeling of today's fashions.

Equally important are variations of the overblouse. The blouson look, modified this season to new slim proportions, is gently controlled by a band or drawstring at the waist or hipline.

The blouson is distinguished from the gently tapered chemise overblouse by soft fullness gathered at the waist or hips. Its fashionably rounded contours are especially effective when contrasted with a slim skirt.

MIDDY SPOTLIGHTED

The middy makes big news in everything from gay nautical prints to colorful floral patterns. Another overblouse fashion-stopper is the fitted tunic top. Its smartly belted lines over a slim skirt richly interpret the voguish two-piece look.

Although the overblouse plays the stellar role this season, the traditional tuck-in suit blouse and classic tuck-in shirt make a strong supporting cast.

The shirt is popular with the Italian or Ivy League collar and roll-up sleeves, and may be softened with feminine frills and French cuffs.

The rose, spring's favored flower, blossoms on this pure silk blouson overblouse. The double-breasted front closing with mother-of-pearl buttons, winged-away collar and yoke back all add up to glamour and comfort.

Bethany Groups Gather

Following the concert a social hour is to be held. Mrs. Leonard T. Lewis, Mrs. Gunnar Karlstrom, Mrs. W. Lloyd Kemp and Mrs. Max H. Fruhauf will assist at the tea table.

Chapter Plans Tuesday Vote

Election of officers will be the business at hand when Pontiac Area Chapter of International Council for Exceptional Children meets Tuesday at Mark Twain School.

Morning Meal Should Provide Essential Nutrients

Women Risk Health by Skipping Breakfast

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The National Food Conference which meets in Washington, D.C., will bring together leaders in education, medicine, nutrition and family living to discuss the key role of food in the national welfare.

Today I would like to bring you some of the observations of Elmo Roper, well known marketing consultant and a student of American eating habits for more than 20 years. Mr. Roper will be one of the speakers at this distinguished conclave. He has some important things to say to women and especially to mothers.

He has found that there is great deal of public interest in and knowledge about good nutrition, but that on the whole, American eating habits fall short of the knowledge.

His various studies show that women regard three good meals a day as essential for their husbands and children, but that less than half of them consider this necessary for themselves. This usually means that they skip breakfast.

Breakfast, he says, might well be called the neglected meal. For instance, one of Mr. Roper's surveys showed that about 70 per cent of both men and boys had an adequate breakfast — but here's the rub! Only about half of the women who prepared the breakfasts had a good one themselves, and only a little more than half of the teenage girls ate a real one. Fifteen per cent had nothing at all, or only a beverage.

A SERIOUS MATTER

When we consider that from one-fourth to one-third of our daily food needs should be satisfied at breakfast, skipping this meal becomes a serious matter. One of the worst things about it is the fact that the essential breakfast foods are not usually eaten at other meals.

What does this neglect of breakfast by mothers mean to the rest of the family? Well, in the first place it sets a poor example for the children. The mother in such an instance has a weak case when insisting that her teenage daughter eat a proper meal.

And, of course, the mother is apt to lack some of the elements essential to good nutrition, and therefore to fine health.

To quote Mr. Roper, "If I were to name one area as the single most dangerous spot in our health picture — from the standpoint of proper eating and good nutrition — it would be the neglect of breakfast by our teenage girls, the mothers of tomorrow."

This probably is true of women and their daughters in many countries and this is no doubt one of the most significant observations which will come from the National Food Conference and one which mothers and girls should take to heart.

Love is woman's best chance for happiness, for finding life warm and deeply satisfying. No career can make up for lack of this, no matter how successful or exciting it may be.

The love for a husband and children is the ideal one for a woman; but if she lacks this there are many other ways for loving and serving which feed this deep need in her. This is woman's forte and when she deserts it she is frustrated in an important way.

If she approaches life with a warmhearted attitude, she will find opportunities for love all about her. There always are people to be helped and encouraged in everyday life no matter where you live.

There are philanthropies and groups of children and young people, and the ill — all need your time and energy and, even more, your heart. Service which has personal contact is most valuable for those who are aided and for the woman herself.

THEY ARE GAMBLES

Marriage and love are gambles. Once you become wholly involved in matters of the heart with your family, your friends or others, you are living dangerously.

There is always the chance of loss through death. There is always the chance of having invested in the wrong person. There is always the chance of finding those you have helped unappreciative.

If you are loving someone or helping others for what you expect in return from them, you might as well give up loving altogether. We cannot have love or affection by demanding it.

In fact, demanding it is the fastest way to lose it. This is especially true in marriage. Nothing so quickly dulls demonstrativeness in a husband as the feeling that affection and attentiveness are demanded of him.

Practically everyone responds to a truly generous love. If a woman can forget herself and love with confidence, without suspicion or sensitiveness, because she is investing herself entirely in another, it will affect her marriage in a hundred subtle ways and wipe the slate clean of many of the mistakes which kill romance in marriage.

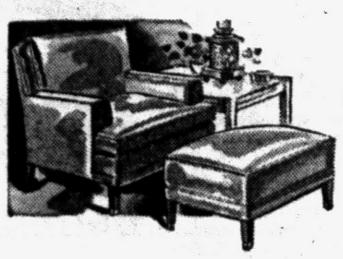

SOME INSURANCE

Besides this, such an investment is some insurance against hurt because the reward is certain; namely, the opportunity to live wholeheartedly. With this attitude it always will have been worthwhile, no matter what happens.

Help Child Cope With Witch Called 'Hate'

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

During World War II's upheavals, when my husband was overseas, my daughter and I found ourselves homeless and went to stay with a relative.

We were not wanted. My knowledge of this, plus other anxieties made me uncertain and uneasy. This in turn scared the child so that she became stubborn and disobedient. Though I saw her distress, I was too involved with my own to be able to do anything about it.

Then one day something occurred which roused me out of my self-centered discouragement.

The child had left the screen door open. Told to shut it, she ignored the order.

Flushed and furious, the relative sought me out to say, "Do I have to put up with a house full of flies because I was good enough to open it to you and this stubborn mule of a child?"

I said to the child, "Come on. Let's take a walk around the lake."

At the lake side we sat down. I said, "Hate is a witch. It behaves just like witches in fairy tales. It waves its hands in front of us and mutters spells that can change us from princesses into toads.

"It's in Cousin Jane and is making you and me do mean, stubborn things just as the witch made frogs jump out of the girl's mouth every time she spoke. Do you know what I'm talking about?"

The child said, "Yep."

STAYING PRINCESSES

I said, "All right. Now we know hate is a witch, we can refuse to become what it tells us to be. From here on, we're staying princesses instead of turning into a couple of toads.

"When Cousin Jane starts making you feel stubborn and mean, I'll wave my hands to remind you she's making Abracadabra. When you see me getting scared, you wave yours so that I can remember to stay myself."

Our deal worked. The child began to resist responding to the critical atmosphere. Soon afterwards, we were freed from the necessity of remaining in it.

Because hate is invisible, we think that children don't know about it.

We are mistaken. They know all about it. When we expose its power to alter our own identities, they are able to join us in resisting it. It's only when we pretend they haven't been enchanted by hating witches and wizards that they accept bad identities without resistance.

Youngsters Unwelcome at Wedding

Barring of Nieces Angers Mother of Bridegroom

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Does the bride's family have the right to tell the bridegroom's family whom they may invite to the wedding? To be specific, in making up the wedding list, I included the names of my three nieces of whom I am very fond. They are 9, 11 and 13 and very well-mannered.

"When my son gave the list to his fiancee's mother, she told him that she did not want any children at the wedding. So, in order to avoid any unpleasantness he removed their names from the list.

"I was furious when my son told me this and feel that even though they are giving the wedding, the bridegroom's family should certainly be permitted to invite whom they please. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

Answer: It does seem autocratic to bar your nieces but it may be that in the bride's family there are many children, not well-mannered, who would have to be invited if your nieces were.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle an argument my husband and I are having on the correct clothing for a man? I am under the impression that it is bad taste for a man to wear a colored shirt in the evening, except on very informal occasions.

"My husband insists that there is nothing wrong with a light blue shirt worn with a navy or gray suit for dress-up occasions. What do you have to say about this?"

Answer: I agree with you that most well-dressed men avoid colored shirts in the evening.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have invited both my mother and my husband's mother, along with several other members of the family, to dinner. I would like to know where the two mothers should be seated. Should his mother or my mother be seated at my husband's right?"

Answer: If you want to be formally correct, your husband should seat your mother on his right and his own mother on his left.

Actress Maria Schell Ponders Goals in Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Why am I struggling?" said Maria Schell, musingly. "Toward what am I running? What do I want so much?"

These questions today worry the 31-year-old Swiss-Viennese star, who is being acclaimed as perhaps the finest foreign actress to hit Hollywood since Greta Garbo.

She is like no ordinary movie star, and you sense this upon meeting her. She gives a feeling of fire under snow.

Maria is known as the "Blonde Angel" and, sometimes, as the "Blonde Demon." She has a peasant-lush body, horizon-blue eyes, and a face of startling innocence.

Equally startling is her firmness of purpose. She pursues her goal—perfection in acting—with a flaming zeal that makes easy-going performers who work with her feel a bit awed.

She is a kind of relentless fawn gifted—or afflicted—with the persistence of a bloodhound. As an acquaintance said: "Maria tries to deliver 1,000 per cent in anything she does—she gives to the last ounce."

Miss Schell is not aware of the danger that artists face who make almost a religion of their work—of being tagged as difficult or temperamental.

"The thing I am most afraid of is being misunderstood," she said. "Maybe it is my fault to be too intense. Some misunderstandings between myself and others may come from that."

Maria, who speaks five languages, left a convent at 15 and was acting at 16. She has made 21 films, including "The Last Bridge" and "Gervaise." In the first of five films she signed to do for M-G-M, "The Brothers Karamazov," she portrays Grushenka, the role once publicly coveted by another famous blonde, Marilyn Monroe.

She received $50 a week for her first stage role in Switzerland, and was raised to $110 for her second one.

"I was rich," she recalled. "I felt I could buy the world. And I could have then. Now I know I can't.

"I can earn hundreds of thousands of dollars now, and never be that rich again."

Miss Schell collects antiques, like Chinese and Japanese poetry. She enjoys solitude, and she and her husband, Horst Haechler, a young German director, recently bought a small estate near Munich.

"It is one not so large that it will give you too many sorrows and responsibilities while you are away," she said.

While Maria is inflexibly determined to achieve enduring greatness as an actress, she remarked almost wistfully:

"But acting is not a pure art, such as painting or writing, in which the artist depends only upon himself. We who act must be recognized while we live. Without an audience we do not exist."

"We have far too little time to live with art. Peace is art. Peace is when time doesn't matter as it passes by.

"That is what I want."

City Churches Purchase Property in Waterford

Sites for two Pontiac churches have been purchased in Waterford Township, due to overcrowded conditions in their present locations.

A new Central Methodist church costing some $700,000 will be erected on a 38-acre tract of land located on M59 near Elizabeth Lake Rd. The property is adjacent to the Isaac Crary Junior high school on Cass Lake Rd.

The Planning Committee chose the Waterford Township site because of the "hemmed-in" conditions of the downtown church, now located at Perry and East Huron streets. Studies for expansion on the present site were discarded as inadequate.

No definite building design has been approved. However, the architect of the National Methodist Board E. J. Fink is scheduled to make sketches of the Waterford Township site sometime Friday, according to pastor of the church, Dr. Milton H. Bank.

Tentative plans for the new church include a chapel, educational facilities for all age groups, religious dramatic rooms, as well as the sanctuary with seating capacity for 800 people.

7 ACRES PURCHASED

Members of the United Lutheran Church of the Ascension have purchased seven acres of property on Pontiac Lake road near Eason street, but are undecided whether to move their present church or build a completely new structure.

The twenty year old church is presently located on Williams street at Lorraine court, and has 500 members.

If the present church were moved, a large addition would be constructed and the present church remodeled.

Members are seriously considering this plan, according to the pastor, Rev. William LaFountain.

"Most of our congregation live in the Waterford Township area," Rev. Mr. LaFountain said, "and the present church realm is no longer ministering to a community," he added.

No date has been set for groundbreaking ceremonies for either of the new churches.

Former Commanders Honored by City DAV

Members of the Pontiac Disabled American Veterans, Memorial Chapter and Auxiliary No. 101, met recently at the Bemis-Olsen Post, 570 Oakland Ave., to honor past commanders of the chapter.

Honored were past commanders Bert McKinney, Anthony Renne, John Martin, Frank Stoner, Hazel McAleer, and Floyd Cremer, who acted as master of ceremonies for the event.

Frank Stoner, the immediate past commander, was presented the past commanders pin by Mrs. George Williams, present commander.

Bessemer Man's Body Found in Mississippi

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—A body found floating in this city's main harbor basin a week ago has been identified through FBI files as that of John Loncharte of Bessemer, Mich.

Police Chief E. E. Klein said he received the FBI files showing Longcharte was born in Bessemer July 29 of either 1902 or 1903.

Klein said his office is checking for possible foul play as the body had weights attached. A coroner's jury ruled death by drowning.

Fascists, Partisans Stage Rome Fights

ROME (AP)—World War II anti-Fascist partisans battled diehard Fascists yesterday in half a dozen small street fights.

The fights were touched off by Giovanni de Totto, a Parliament deputy from the Fascistic Italian Social Movement. He climbed the steps of the gleaming white Victor Emmanuel monument with a companion and gave the Fascist salute before 40,000 wartime partisans at a ceremony commemorating their war dead.

The partisans jumped them, beating De Totto so badly he was hospitalized for at least 25 days.

Nine police were seriously injured in quelling the subsequent street fights.

Germany was admitted to the League of Nations in 1926.

CONTRIBUTION FOR NEW BUILDING — Dr. Robert J. Bannow (left), chairman of the Pontiac Rotary Club's Crippled Children's Committee, is shown presenting a check for $1,000 to Lloyd C. McGee, president of the Oakland County Crippled Children's Society. The money will go toward the building of a new children's home on grounds adjacent to the Oakland County Infirmary. It was given in honor of club members who years ago started the movement to aid crippled children in the county.

Growing Orchids in Waterford Home Is Successful Hobby for Housewife

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

"Somebody said it couldn't be done"—and that challenge started Mrs. Edward Skotzke of Waterford Township on one of the most interesting ventures of her life.

She raises rare tropical orchids right in the living room of her neat home at 3345 Homestead Dr.—much to the amazement of friends, relatives and skeptical unbelievers.

Busy keeping house for her husband Ed and his deceased sister's children, Maureen, 15, Sharleen, 16, Dennis, 17, Pat, 18, and Roger, 19, Mrs. Skotzke decided to seek something different in the way of a hobby.

The result was an intensive course in orchid-raising. Careful study was necessary before she received her first plant and ventured forth.

When the bulbs arrived, they caused a flurry of kidding and wisecracks from friends and neighbors, but she wouldn't be discouraged.

Some three months later, a big bud burst into full bloom, and she was on her way. The scoffing declined as the buds grew.

After the first experience, Mrs. Skotzke discovered that better results could be obtained by more light, so a double, four-foot, cooled fluorescent light was installed directly above the plants.

By Christmas, two huge orchids dominated the house with their color and scent, then two more, measuring more than ten inches in diameter appeared.

"Anyone can raise orchids, anywhere—if they follow the rules," Mrs. Skotzke said.

She explained that room temperature, correct amount of moisture, and plain common sense are needed to grow orchids.

If a bloom is to be used for a corsage, it must be placed in water to "harden" for 12 hours after it has been cut.

Last week, Maureen and Sharleen each wore one of the big orchids to classes at Waterford Township high school.

Teachers as well as pupils were hard to convince that the lovely blooms were grown at home.

HOBBY GROWING

A new addition has been added to the orchid-raising hobby—that of growing miniature, or trapeze orchids. These bulbs are wired to a piece of hanging driftwood, which is kept moist all the time, and they feed entirely on the air.

Each of the seven tiny bulbs, now in the growing process, is expected to send out a spray with about 20 green miniature orchids, shooting in all directions.

"There is just no end to this fascinating hobby," Mrs. Skotzke said, and someday she hopes to sell freshly-cut corsages to customers as well as the friendly skeptics who haunted her in the early stages of her exciting project.

ORCHIDS IN FEBRUARY?—Raising orchids in her living room in Waterford Township, has proven a satisfying hobby to Mrs. Edward Stozke, 29, who is also the mother of five foster teenagers. Dennis Peters, 17, checks the room temperature for his young foster parent.

Former Residents of Pontiac

Campbell Brothers Carrying on Tradition

Two former Pontiac men now living in Jackson are writing a family success story by carrying their family name to executive positions in the Consumers Power Company, as their father did a generation ago.

JAMES H. CAMPBELL

James H. Campbell and Birum G. Campbell Jr., are the sons of the late Birum G. Campbell, who was division manager of the company in Pontiac for 26 years.

He came to Pontiac from Springfield, Ill., in 1917 to take the position which he held until his death in May, 1943.

Campbell, a highly respected Pontiac resident, connected for many years with many civic and fraternal organizations, saw both of his sons join the company before his death.

His eldest son, James, has been senior vice president of the firm since April, 1956.

He is presently responsible for electric and general operations including engineering and construction.

A graduate of Pontiac High School, he joined the company as power and lighting sales engineer in the Lansing Division following his graduation from Purdue University in 1933.

In 1939 he received an Alfred P. Sloan Fellowship which took him to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for a year of graduate study. He was in the army from 1942 to 1946 after which he rejoined the company.

He was sent to Jackson as assistant to the president in 1949, was elected as a vice president in 1950 and to the company's Board of Directors in 1952.

He is married and the father of three sons. His hobby is studying the history of the American Revolution.

Birum, Jr., was named vice president in general charge of marketing activities last month.

He followed his brother through

BIRUM CAMPBELL JR.

Pontiac High School and then attended the University of Michigan.

After joining the company sales department in Pontiac in 1939, he was called into Army service in 1941.

Returning to the firm in 1946 at Pontiac he became personnel and safety assistant of the Southeast Division and later served as personnel and safety supervisor, local manager at Royal Oak, and manager of the South Oakland District.

He went to Kalamazoo in 1951 and became division manager there in 1952.

He is married to the former Joan Brace, of Pontiac.

Churchill Grumbles Through Sicknesses

LONDON (INS) — In a crowded lifetime Sir Winston Churchill has grumbled his way through a stroke and several attacks of pneumonia with the irritated impatience of a busy man.

NEVER GOOD PATIENT

In the past he has never been a "good patient," and there are no indications that he has changed his attitude during his current bout with pneumonia in the south of France.

To Churchill, illness has always been just one more distraction which would be dealt with when he had the time.

His present doctors are lucky that Lady Churchill is on hand, for she is one of the few people who can talk him into following their orders.

VULNERABLE TO COLDS

Churchill has always been vulnerable to colds and chest complaints, and he had his first attack of pneumonia at the age of nine. The strain of the war years lowered his resistance and brought on a recurrence in early 1943 after the Casablanca Conference.

His comment on that illness was typical:

"The doctors . . . argued that I ought to quit work entirely. I would not agree to this. What should I have done all day?"

In late 1943 he had another attack of pneumonia which was cured by a newly discovered drug. Recalling the incident in his memoirs, Churchill wrote with immense satisfaction: "The intruders were repulsed."

In the summer of 1944 he was stricken again with pneumonia, but cut short his convalescence to confer with President Roosevelt the following month.

Despite his contempt for illness itself Churchill has always had tremendous respect for his doctors. He once introduced Lord Moran as "the man who saved my life."

In 1953 scheduled talks in Bermuda among Churchill, President Eisenhower and French Premier Rene Mayer were postponed to allow Churchill to have "a complete rest." Britain and the world accepted the explanation at that time.

It was not until two years later that the world learned he had really suffered a stroke and been partially paralyzed.

Churchill himself made the disclosure in a passing reference to the events of 1953 in the House of Commons. Almost casually he declared: "I was struck down by a very sudden illness which paralyzed me completely, physically."

Says Free World Security Shaky

Gaither Commission's Original Head Warns of Unprecedented Peril

ATLANTA (AP)—The original head of the commission which prepared the Gaither report on this nation's defenses says the security of America and the free world is in unprecedented peril.

H. Rowan Gaither Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Ford Foundation, told a meeting of the Fellows of the American Bar Foundation yesterday:

"Our security is in peril not because I believe a total nuclear war is imminent or inevitable, but because there are mounting political, economic and social forces, strongly abetted by the threat of nuclear extinction, which can disintegrate the fabric and will of free nations and enslave mankind."

Gaither gained prominence recently as first chairman of a presidential advisory commission which drew up a report on America's defense position. although the report is still classed as secret, much of its contents have leaked out.

REPLACED IN ILLNESS

Before the report was completed, Gaither, a San Francisco lawyer, became ill. He was replaced by two cochairmen, William C. Foster, vice president of Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp., and Robert C. Sprague, of the Sprague Electric Co.

The Ford Foundation official said that America, often complacent and overoptimistic, was guilty of self-deception in assuming that our superiority would go unchallenged.

Gaither said he did not doubt America's capability to meet the threat. "Nor do I doubt the will and willingness of the American people to employ their capabilities to these imperative ends if they understand the peril and what is required of them," he said.

Reciprocal Trade Measure Faces an Uncertain Future

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Free enterprise has been an American myth since the first Congress in 1789 passed the first tariff act to protect businessmen and farmers from the competition of foreign goods.

They've kept it a limited free enterprise system ever since by seeking—in addition to various other government benefits—even broader tariff protection. It's an old story. And it's being renewed now.

In 1934, Congress passed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act as part of the Roosevent New Deal effort to overcome the depression by getting world trade moving.

The act lets the President reduce the tariff on certain imports from other countries if they agree to do the same on certain imports from us. Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower all made it part of foreign policy.

This act has been passed or extended, 10 times. Each time some American business or farm groups, claiming they were hurt by the foreign competition here, fought it. But it's a two-way argument.

Other business groups have boosted their profits by being able to sell abroad. And exports far exceed imports. Last year American exports amounted to 19½ billion dollars; imports were 13 billion.

This year Eisenhower asked Congress to extend the act—which otherwise expires June 30—another five years. He'll be lucky if he gets it extended for two. He has run into tough opposition.

A vital question is: How strongly will Eisenhower fight for it? Aready there are signs of weakening. Secretary of Commerce Weeks, while making a vigorous pitch for the act, nevertheless said the administration is "certainly" willing to talk about changes or amendments.

President Flies to Phoenix With Mamie, Plays Golf

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—President Eisenhower returned to Washington today after escorting his wife to Phoenix for a vacation.

Eisenhower flew about 3,000 miles out of his way en route home from a 10-day Georgia vacation to bring Mrs Eisenhower for a visit at the secluded Maine Chance health and beauty resort near Phoenix.

Upon arriving, he hurried off for his first complete round of golf since last November.

After 18 holes in 75-degree temperature at Paradise Valley Country Club, he told Phoenix newspaper publisher Eugene C. Pulliam, a member of his foursome: "I haven't felt so good in six months as I do right now.

"And you know something, if I can persuade Mamie to stay out here for about two weeks, I'm going to do everything possible to rearrange my schedule so I can come back for a long four-day weekend of this wonderful sunshine"

Others in the foursome were White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and club pro Al Zimmerman. Hagerty, who told newsmen that Eisenhower "shot about 90," added that nothing definite has been decided about a return visit.

Looking ruddy and rested, the President waved his homburg at thousands who jammed alongside the airport's entrance wall, shouting greetings and waving welcome placards.

Thousands more saw the President drive off for the golf course in a hard-top convertible. Mrs. Eisenhower departed in her personal limousine for the swank desert resort.

U. S. Only Announces New Weapons Test

Japan Reports Soviet H-Bomb Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced a new Russian weapons test yesterday. Japanese scientists said the Soviets had exploded a hydrogen bomb in the Siberian Arctic.

An Atomic Energy Commission announcement said only that "the Soviets had conducted a weapons test" in Russian territory and that "the yield of the test was in the megaton range." A megaton is the explosive equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Somewhat later, Japan's Central Meteorological Observatory said its staff had calculated the blast occurred about 2,480 miles north-northwest of Japan. An observatory spokesman said in Tokyo the explosion was "rather big" and was believed "similar in size to a previous Russian test held last October."

The last AEC announcement of a Russian nuclear test came Dec. 28. The commission has announced detection of at least 27 such test explosions.

There may have been more tests than that. The AEC has said it would make announcements only when the tests involved circumstances of special interest.

Youth Fatally Shot by Friend

They Were Ransacking Apartment in Detroit; Found Shotgun

DETROIT (AP) — Police said a 15-year-old Detroit boy was fatally shot by his best friend as the two ransacked the apartment of a man arrested for drunkenness.

Thomas D. Loy died following a shotgun blast Saturday fired by 14-year-old James E. McAnalley, a mentally retarded fifth grader.

The body was found by Ethel McCabe, a landlady who went to check the apartment of Stanley Lawler after she heard that Lawler had been arrested for drunkenness.

Detective Lt. Glenn Coller of the homicide bureau said his men pieced together this story:

James and another boy, 15, had ransacked Lawler's apartment early Saturday looking for $200 allegedly left there when Lawler was arrested. They didn't find it and went bowling where they met Loy. Loy and McAnalley went back late in the afternoon for another search.

James said he found the shotgun in the bedroom and Loy shouted to him to put it down. As he did so it went off, killing Loy.

Coller said the boys became close friends when James and his mother moved into the apartment above the Loys three weeks ago.

Police Search for 'Fire-Ball'

Romeo Troopers Join in Hunt for Reported Phenomenon in Sky

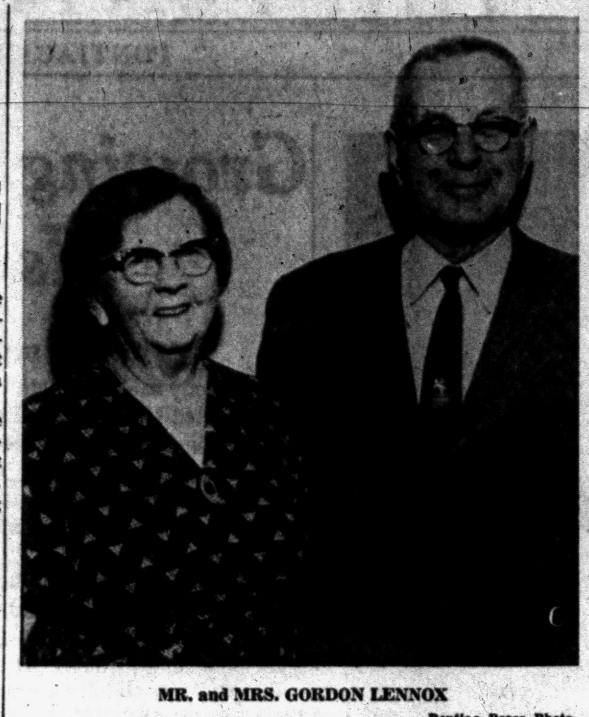

ROMEO — Scout cars from three Macomb County police departments scoured the countryside between 23 and 24 Mile roads last night looking for remains of a "big ball of fire."

First reports were that a plane had fallen and was burning. Other witnesses said the intermittant flashes between 10:30 and 11 p.m. looked like a glow from a welding torch.

Members of the Macomb County Sheriff's Department and Center Line and Romeo State Police Posts covered the area, searching for evidence of fire or a crash. They finally decided the light apparently had been caused by a falling meteor which broke up before landing.

The first report of the "Ball of fire" was sent out by Wayne Major Airport. Several newspapers said today they had received inquiries from observers who saw the strange phenomenon in the sky.

The search extended almost to the Detroit City limits before it was called off.

PTA Program Draws Crowd

Many Celebrate Joint Founders' Day in Orion High School

ORION TOWNSHIP — The joint Founders' Day program of the six Lake Orion Community Schools, held at the Lake Orion Community High School Saturday night, attracted a capacity crowd.

All members of the School Board, school administrators, 15 past local presidents and many residents with no pupils in the families joined in a tribute to the past and to the vision of action in today's PTAs and the youth groups they sponsor.

A. A. Reed, superintendent of schools, complimented parents for their interest shown through the PTA and urged them to continue their constructive work.

The history of six PTAs, written by Mrs. John Lessiter, cartooned by Thomas Dodds, and narrated by John Bixby and Mrs. Eugene Matheys was both factual and hilarious. It covered incidents from the beginning PTA in 1928, formed in the then new high school, to the newest group, the junior high PTA, formed in the same building 30 years later.

PRESENT CERTIFICATE

Mrs. Robert Sanford, past president of Proper School PTA and the East Oakland Area Council and a member of the organization committee for the Proper, Lake Orion High School and Lake Orion Junior High, was presented the first distinguished service certificate and pin given to an Orion PTA leader.

She accepted the award from Mrs. Paul Gallagher, president of Proper PTA, saying that it represented not only her effort but that of all PTA volunteers in the township.

Belprez Calls for Special Meeting

To Discuss Village's Police Protection

WOLVERINE LAKE—Police protection for Wolverine Lake Village will be discussed at a special meeting of the Common Council slated for 8 p.m. Friday at the village hall, 297 Glengary.

In calling the meeting, Village President George Belprez invited citizens to take part in the discussion.

The village now is being served by an emergency police force of six auxiliary policemen under the supervision of Belprez.

Also, if needed, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department will answer calls to the village, Belprez said.

The village president, acting under emergency powers, summoned the auxiliary policemen for duty after he was sworn in as a deputy sheriff.

This action followed a council meeting of Feb. 10 at which time Ted Robinson was relieved of duties as village chief of police. No one has been named to succeed him.

Wixom PTA Wondering

Mystery Cloaks Meeting

WIXOM — An air of mystery surrounds the next scheduled meeting of the Wixom Elementary School PTA.

Only one person knows what the program will be — and he's not telling.

The "man who knows," according to Wesley McAtee, Wixom PTA president, is Herbert R. Abrams, father vice president.

McAtee hastily adds that no one has a chance of finding out anything about the PTA program slated for Thursday, March 27. "Even I can't find out. Herb just won't talk," he says.

Abrams will reveal only that March 27 was Father's Night and that fathers will serve refreshments, greet the guests, and carry out duties normally performed by the mothers.

He steadfastly refuses to reveal the nature of the program. Constant pressure brought only one tidbit of information from Abrams: "Everyone should have a good time."

PTA officials hope that a mystery program will bring a large crowd to the meeting . . . but the curiosity is now bothering them.

Red and White Probable Colors at Northern High

Red will be the basic school color for Pontiac's second high school expected to be ready in the fall.

More than 1,000 students now attending Pontiac Central High School who will attend the new three-million-dollar school yesterday decided by a voice vote they wanted red to represent their school.

A second color of white will probably be added, according to Philip J. Wargelin, who was named principal of the new school Wednesday.

The students met with Wargelin, Pontiac Central's principal Francis W. Staley and a committee of six students they had delegated to represent them in the business of the new school.

The committee will meet in th future to suggest a motto, song and name for the school, similar to the Pontiac Central High School Chiefs.

The committee consists of Anita Bowers, Beverly Donato and Richard Bradshaw, all juniors and Stephen Toth, Bud Bihl and Karen McKinney, sophomores.

The new high school is now under construction on Arlene street between Madison and Perry street.

Waterford Eyes Road Proposal

Board to Debate Offer of $28,781 if Township Matches County Fund

Waterford Township officials have been notified by the Oakland County Road Commission that a sum of $28,781 has been set aside for local road construction if the township can match the figuure.

When the township board meets tonight, this subject will be the main item for discussion on the agenda, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

Last year only $10,000 was available for road construction in Waterford Township. Johnson said that the increase was due to the fact that the State Legislature has allocated more money this year than last for this project.

Other business up for action by board members will be the special street lighting district for which residents of the Oakwood Manor Subdivision have petitioned.

The hearing date will be set by the board tonight for the 86 lot assessments in the subdivision, which is located on Dixie highway near Silver Lake road.

Messy Thieves Dine in Waterford Home

Two thieves, apparently hungry and dirty, helped themselves to a free lunch in a Waterford township residence Saturday evening.

They broke into the Richard Tunny home, 4190 Dixie Highway, helped themselves to crackers and bologna, along with a half-gallon of milk, then smoked two cigarettes before leaving. They caused no damage other than dirty floors.

Tunny told Waterford Township police that he and his wife left home at about 9 p.m. and when they returned at 5 a.m., there was mud tracked all through the house and dirty fingerprints on the refrigerator and kitchen doors.

Two empty quart milk bottles were on the table and cracker crumbs were strewn on the kitchen floor.

It was evident that the intruders had prowled through the entire house but nothing of value was missing. They got in by finding a hidden key, Tunny said.

Howls of Protest Reversed the Ruling on Controversial Expense Account Line

(Here's an explanation of the Internal Revenue Service's stand on the controversial line 6(a), sixth in a series of eight articles designed to aid you in filing your tax return on 1957 income. Clip and save it for use in preparing your tax form.)

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Feature Writer

Last fall the word got out that the Internal Revenue Service was adding a new line to form 1040 for the reporting of job-connected travel expenses and money that taxpayers spent on expense accounts.

The idea was to crack down on taxpayers living high off expense acounts, but failing to treat this expense account money as income. Putting the new line 6(a) on the first page of form 1040 had one basic purpose: to bring right up to the front the total amount claimed as business expenses.

There has been a rule on the books since 1921 requiring that all money received on expense accounts be reported as income.

Money actually spent on job-connected expenses, of course, could be deducted.

The rule doesn't differentiate between the grocery clerk who get 30 cents trolley fare to take a box of groceries to Mrs. Jones' house, and the big executive who takes a trip around the world and chalks it off to business expenses.

But if the Internal Revenue Service was going to crack down, it had to get a report from everyone. Thus the official word was that anyone who had any sort of expense account would have to fill in the new line.

The news was greeted with howls of protest. The average taxpayer just didn't have the records to back up the required statements.

And his employers could foresee thousands of dollars spent in digging up those records.

A few weeks later the revenue service backed down. It acknowledged that the decision to add the new line had not been made public until 10 months of the tax year had been passed, and hence had a retroactive effect.

Taxpayers this year, the IRS decided, could treat those travel and reimbursed expenses, etc., for 1957 just as they had in the past.

But the announcement carried the warning that taxpayers should keep adequate records during 1958 so they'll be in a position to make an accounting next year.

This is what it means to you:

If in 1956 you were given $200 in expense account money by your employer and you didn't report it as income, you don't have to report anything you got in 1957 on an expense account. That's true whether you broke exactly even, or made a profit.

However, if you reported that $200 as income (which you should have), and then deducted what you actually spent for your employer, you should follow that same procedure this year.

Even though you aren't required to use line 6(a) this year, it may be to your advantage to do so.

The items to be included on this line are:

1. Out-of-town travel expenses. This means a trip away from the city where you normally work, and staying away at least overnight. The expenses can include the cost of transportation, meals and lodging, and such things as tips to the porter, baggage charges, cabs, hire of public stenographers etc.

You can't, however, include here any entertainment expenses or such personal expenses as getting your suit pressed.

2. Other transportation expenses. This would include the use of your own automobile around the city where you work while on business for your employer, or cab, subway or trolley fares while on this business.

3. Expenses of outside salesmen. This includes all necessary and ordinary expenses incurred by outside salesmen. It applies only to full-time salesmen who solicit business for their employers away from their employers' place of business.

4. Any other job-connected expenses incurred by you for which you are reimbursed by your employer. (Unlike the first three categories, in this group your expenses must not exceed the amount you received from your employer. If they do exceed your reimbursement, the additional expenses will have to be entered among itemized deductions on page 2 of form 1040 to lower your tax.)

Expenses in these four categories (remember the limit on category 4) may be deducted on line 6(a). However, any money your employer gave you during the year to take care of these expenses must be included as income in line 5.

Now if your expenses outrun your reimbursements, it obviously is to your advantage to list them.

A complete breakdown of allowable job-connected expenses must be attached to your form if you use line 6(a). You can either do it on a separate sheet of paper, or ask the IRS to send you a copy of form 2106, which is for that specific purpose.

One light year, a measurement used in astronomy, is about six million miles.

YPSILANTI (AP) — Willow Run Airport established new highs in aircraft movements and passengers handled last year and was rated the seventh busiest airport in the world.

Figures released by Airlines Terminal Corp., operators of the airport, yesterday show an increase of 19.7 per cent in aircraft movements over 1956.

More than three million passengers passed through Willow Run facilities in 1957, a half million more than in 1956.

ERRANT BASKETBALL — With seven of the 10 cagers from St. Frederick and St. Michael teams tangled in a welter of arms and legs, the ball slips away (at lower left) unnoticed. This unusual bit of action was snapped during a first half melee in the 35th meeting, Sunday, at PCH gym, between Rams and Shamrocks. Rams won, 48-39, after a 4th period splurge by Shamrocks collapsed with teams only two points apart. Identified players above include (6) Gary Dirker, St. Frederick; (16, dark shirt), Tom Dabbs and (8, dark shirt), Art Robak, St. Michael. Joe Keller, St. Frederick, is on the floor, under Dabbs.

Cork Bowlerama Champion

Mrs. Pat Donner Women's Titlist in Press Event

City Man Rolls 673; Drayton Woman Downs 1957 Winner

By CHUCK ABAIR

A Pontiac Motor employe and a little Drayton Plains woman who was outstanding when the pressure was the greatest are the 1958 Pontiac Press Bowlerama champions.

Richard Cork, a city resident who entered the tourney after his wife's urging, took top honors in the men's division while tiny left-hander Pat Donner was winning the women's crown in the finals held Saturday before a packed house at Huron Bowl.

Cork took home the big money ($475.50) by rolling a 615 series to go with his 58 handicap for a 673 total but Mrs. Donner caused the most excitement with a dramatic finish to overtake last year's winner, Donna Verhey, also of Drayton Plains, and win $250.

Needing 157 in her last game to better Mrs. Verhey's 631 1st squad total, Pat fired a 166 for a 641 total as the crowd cheered everytime she let one go.

She clinched the title by garnering two big strikes and 29 pins in the last frame to change places with Mrs. Verhey who won a year ago when Pat was runnerup.

Cork didn't have the pressure problem since he competed on the morning squad. His chief threats were a trio who wound up tied for 2nd with 665 totals. They were Carlton Memmer of Royal Oak, Jim Tinson and William Raymond, both of Pontiac. Each won $167.

Tinson's big 629 actual also enabled him to gain the runnerup trophy and a Bowlerama cigarette lighter as a repeat entry.

Morris Wideman's 660 total ranked him 5th one pin ahead of Joe Miceli. Wideman received $75 and Miceli $50. Wideman is from Pontiac and Miceli from Holly.

Despite finishing 12th, Bill Leigh was the outstanding actual kegler in the finals with games of 211-198-226 for 635. But he lacked a handicap due to his 206 average. Bill won $15 and a pair of bowling shoes.

A 123 game prevented Birmingham resident Frank Roosen from finishing high on the list but he still took home a high qualifier trophy, a bowling ball for the top actual qualifying series and a bowling bag for high actual game in qualifying.

Roosen had to beat out Rochester's Harold Hintz in a Saturday rolloff for the series award.

The diminutive Mrs. Donner dominated the women's loot. She had four prizes besides her big check. They included a handsome desk-calendar set which Cork also won, a high qualifier trophy, a bowling ball for top series in qualifying and a Bowlerama compact as a repeat entry.

Mrs. Verhey added $125 and a runnerup trophy to last year's laurels. Pretty blonde Dot Kummer of Pontiac had 617 for 3rd place and Doris Lanktree of Rochester was 4th with 612 to win $35. The latter also won a bowling bag for the best actual game in qualifying and some shoes for her 543 actual series in the finals.

The awards were presented at a post-tournament ceremony held at the 300 Lounge with Press Sports Editor Bruno Kearns serving as master of ceremonies. All 76 finalists took home at least $7.50.

OLDEST BOWLERS — Mrs. Anna Winters, 76, left, of Birmingham and Auburn Heights' Walter Carpenter, 79, were the oldest bowlers in the Bowlerama and received sets of bowling glasses for taking part. Carpenter also took home a bowling pin lamp for defeating Mrs. Winters in a rolloff during the Saturday finals as a large crowd cheered the pair on.

In Oldtimer Rolloff

Carpenter, 79, Wins Over Mrs. Winters, 76

It had nothing to do with the championship competition but one of the highlights of Saturday's Pontiac Press Bowlerama finals at Huron Bowl was the rolloff between oldtimers Anna Winters of Birmingham and Walter Carpenter of Auburn Heights.

Both had clinched sets of bowling glasses just for being the oldest entries but they failed to qualify for the finals.

Mrs. Winters, 76, was the oldest woman in the 2nd annual handicap tournament while Carpenter topped the men entries at 79.

Their one-game rolloff for an extra award was brought about when no husband - wife combination reached the championship session to compete for an attractive bowling pin lamp.

Although the actual rolloff was not much of a contest, the large crowd followed the pair all the way cheering everytime either threw a ball.

Carpenter's performance was good for an impressive 180 which gave him a 222 total. Mrs. Winters bettered her 64 average with a 72 to give her a 167 handicap total.

"I don't know if I can stand up long enough," was Carpenter's comment when asked to pose for a picture following the bowling. Mrs. Winters was all smiles and pleased that she had made many new friends by entering the Bowlerama.

Moore Averts Loss by Tying Score at 3-3

Canadien Bags Counter in Last Two Minutes of Sunday Clash

DETROIT (AP) — If good-will between nations were based on the outcome of hockey games, chances are Montreal would be pressuring Canada to recall its ambassador today.

Major blame for the crisis would go to the Detroit Red Wings who fought the Montreal Canadiens to a 3-3 tie last night, thus delaying their march to the National Hockey League championship. The Canadiens need a single point to clinch the title.

The other spoilers were the New York Rangers who tightened their hold on second place with a 4-2 triumph over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Canadiens, 37-13-9 in the standings, might have been worse off but for the efforts of Dickie Moore who dashed Detroit hopes for a 3-2 victory with a goal in the final two minutes.

Five of the markers were scored in the tension-packed first two periods when Detroit took the initiative on goals by Billy McNeill, Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio. Montreal scorers were Andre Pronovost and Claude Provost.

Tempers flared between opposing players. Veteran Maurice (Rocket) Richard was the evening's "bad man," spending time in the penalty box when Detroit got its first two goals.

Moore came through with the final tally after 26 minutes of scoreless playing, much of it in the relatively tame third period. Moore's marker was made off Henri Richard's rebound over prone goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Detroit slipped in its battle for second place, falling three points behind New York. The Wings now have a 24-25-9 season's mark.

Adams Files Protest

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings have filed an official protest with the National Hockey League over alleged favoritism toward a Montreal player by referee Red Storey last night.

Jack Adams, Red Wings general manager, accused Storey of shouting "look out, Doug, look out!" at Montreal's Doug Harvey as he was being pursued by Forbes Kennedy of Detroit.

Adams' protest called for an investigation into Storey's "directing the Montreal club" during the 3-3 tie game.

Trades Bring Age to Detroit

Will Tigers Benefit?

DETROIT (AP) — What have the Detroit Tigers picked up in trades with the Kansas City Athletics and Cleveland Indians?

Statistics indicate nothing but age.

Some writers have viewed the additions of Billy Martin's spirit and Jim Hegan's experience as just what a baseball doctor would order for the fourth-place Tigers.

Despite their seven-for-six swap with the Athletics last November, the Tigers were out only for one player—Martin. Once a firebrand with the New York Yankees, Martin was described as 'the take-charge guy we need."

Martin, who'll be 30 on May 16, hit ony .251 last season and drove in just 39 runs with New York and Kansas City. The Tigers plan to use him at shortstop, where he's a stranger. Heretofore he had been a second or third baseman.

Hegan is an 11-year veteran with the Indians. The 37-year-old catcher hit only .216 last season and his lifetime average is a mere .230.

He has a reputation as an expert in pitcher-handling. He has been catching such as Early Wynn, Bob Lemon, Herb Score and Mike Garcia of late. He also was Bob Feller's receiver.

Commenting on the two-for-two trade that gave the Tigers Hegan, Score said at the Indian camp in Tucson, Ariz.; Hegan "helped me plenty." The Tigers hope he's as much help to some of their scatter-armed flingers.

For the 37-year-old Hegan, the Tigers gave up 25-year-old J. W. Porter, who hit .250 as a part-time handyman last season and to who the Chicago White Sox gave $65,000 in 1950 for his signature. While he was used occasionally behind the bat, in the outfied or the infield, Porter never was used for long anywhere by Detroit.

Included in the Cleveland swap Detroit gave Hal Woodeshick, 25, for Hank Aguirre, 26. Both are left handed pitchers. Woodeshick had an 8-14 record at Charleston and Augusta, the latter in the Class A Sally League. Aguirre was 6-13 at San Diego in the Pacific League and 1-1 with Cleveland in the American.

In the Kansas City trade for Martin, Detroit gave up center fielder Bill Tuttle, 28, who hit exactly the same as Martin last year, .251, and is one of the fleetest outfielders in the business. He was a $10,000 bonus baby originally.

Besides Martin they got pitchers Tom Morgan, 27, Maurice McDermott, 30; catcher Charles (Tim) Thompson, a 33-year-old .204 hitter; Gus Zernial, 34-year-old slugger who got 27 home runs in averaging .236 last year, and infielder Louis Skizas, 26.

Savitt Regains National Tennis Title

NEW YORK (INS) — Dick Savitt won the national indoor singles tennis championship Sunday but Budge Patty thinks he lost it Saturday.

Savitt captured the indoor title for the first time since 1952 with a 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 12-10 victory over Patty yesterday at New York's Seventh Regiment Armory.

By the time the match was over Patty was exhausted. He had started out the day tired enough from having played 128 games of doubles and singles Saturday, including one set of 29-27.

"I didn't think I'd be able to walk out on the court," Patty said later. "But I didn't get tired until I started playing better. In the last four games, I knew I had it. Savitt was just too good."

Savitt defeated Donald Patterson, Japan's Kosei Kamo, Grant Golden and defending champion Kurt Nielsen of Denmark before facing Patty.

The South Orange, N.J., oil executive capitalized on his powerful ground strokes in the first two sets. A double fault by Savitt in the third set helped his Los Angeles opponent capture that one. The fourth set lasted 45 minutes and when it was finished, so was Patty.

The doubles were won by Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio, and Grant Golden of Evanston, Ill. They beat Sid Schwartz of New York and Nielsen, 6-0, 4-6, 6-3, 9-7.

The Senior title was taken by Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, who defeated Dr. Reginald Weir of New York, 6-1, 11-9. In the senior doubles, Berkeley Bell of Cresskill, N.J., and Edgar Nye of New York combined to down E. Jefferson Mendel and Ed Tarangill, both of Yonkers, N.Y., 6-4, 6-2.

Lansing Swimmers Edge Pontiac YMCA

Both ends of a dual swimming meet, Saturday, between Pontiac and Lansing YMCA squads, were taken by the Lansing athletes, 46-32 (preps) and 43-42 (juniors). Meet was held in the Pontiac "Y" pool.

Only two first were registered by Pontiac in the prep division and five in the junior. Chuck Ries won the diving and the medley relay team (McKinnon, Stuart Sivy, Rich Ries and Steve Sivy) won (57.4 for the 80-yard event). Tom Eley (40-yard freestyle, 20.8, pool record); Bill Borum (69.6 for 100-yard, freestyle); Phil Cashin (27.6 for 40-yard backstroke); Bruce Norvell (26.8 40-yard breaststroke); 160-yard medley relay (Cashin, Norvell, Velzy, Eley) 1:43.6, were junior winners.

Next meet for the Pontiac teams will be at Saginaw, on Saturday, March 1.

Hazel Park Eagles Win State Bowling Tourney

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP) — The Hazel Park Eagles are the new team champions of the Eagles state bowling tournament.

The Hazel Parkers edged Sunset Inn of Owosso, 3156-3110, in the annual event which ended yesterday.

Bob Snyder of Adrian led individual scorers with 701 and Bernie Sunde of Hazel Park was high in all events with 1,933.

Western's Murchison Bows

Delaney Wins AAU Mile

NEW YORK (INS) — Ireland's Ron Delany and Hungary's Istvan Rozsavolgyi form a mutual admiration society. But this week they'll admire from afar and it may save the indoor mile record from falling.

The mark almost fell Saturday in the second and last meeting of the two four-minute milers. Delany, reacting to a late burst by Rozy, poured on the coal and spun off the last quarter in :56.4 to win the National AAU indoor mile championship in 4:03.7 at Madison Square Garden.

That was just one-tenth of a second off the indoor record of 4:03.6 set by Denmark's Gunnar Nielsen.

Delany's victory margin in his 21st consecutive indoor mile win was 15 yards. He also became the first man in the 70-year history of the indoor AAU games to win the mile three years in a row.

Delany's showing won his recognition as the "outstanding performer" of the games. Rozy placed third in the voting behind Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan.

Yugoslavia's Velisa Mugosa won a dramatic three-mile battle with defending champion John Macy of Houston, triumphing by 20 yards in 13:54.2.

The 1,000-yard title, vacated by Pitt's Arnie Sowell, was won by Polish champion Zbigniew Orywal in 2:14.1. Villanova's Charley Jenkins won his third straight national 600 yards title in 1:13.3, beating Tom Murphy of Manhattan by four yards.

Ed Collymore of Villanova dethroned Ira Murchison of Western Michigan in the 60-yard dash, winning in 6.2.

The pole vault ended in a 15-foot tie between Bob Gutowski of Occidental and Don Bragg of the Shanahan C. C. of Philadelphia. Herm Wyatt of Santa Clara, Calif., won the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 7 inches.

Parry O'Brien won his sixth straight American indoor shot put title with a heave of 60 feet, 1¼ inches. Bob Backus bettered his own world record in the 35-pound weight throw with an effort of 65 feet, 4¼ inches.

Biggest Jinx Coming Up

W. Va. Eyes NCAA

NEW YORK (INS) — Just one game and one tournament stand between West Virginia's top-ranked Mountaineers and the school's biggest jinx—the NCAA's national collegiate basketball championship.

West Virginia has appeared in the post-season tourney the last three years but has never survived the first round, being defeated by LaSalle, Dartmouth and Canisius in the Eastern regionals.

Fred Schaus' five is expected to overcome the two obstacles and make it into the Eastern regionals at Madison Square Garden March 11. Their first opponent, and Schaus hopes not the last, will be Boston College or Manhattan or possibly Dartmouth.

The Mountaineers beat Pitt, 99-86, Saturday for their 22nd win in 23 games.

Kansas State continued its march toward the NCAA tourney Saturday with an 82-62 win over Mississippi. Kansas dropped out of contention by losing to Nebraska, 43-41, as Wilt Chamberlain was held to 18 points.

Oscar Robertson poured in 36 points to lead Cincinnati to a 86-71 win over Tulsa. That gave the spectacular sophomore 742 points for the season, breaking Jack Twyman's school record of 712.

Seattle's Elgin Baylor scored 32 as his team lost to NCAA-bound Idaho State, 71-68, in overtime. Only .04 of a percentage point separate Baylor from Robertson in the race for the individual scoring championship. Baylor is scoring at a rate of 33.76 points a game to Robertson's 33.72.

Spartans Beat Badgers, Meet Purdue Tonight

Boilermakers Hope to Use Home Court Edge to Fullest Extent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Big Ten basketball race, gradually turning into a schedule-maker's dream, reaches the showdown stage tonight when first place Michigan State invades runnerup Purdue.

A glance at the schedule indicates Michigan State (8-3), Purdue (7-4), Indiana (6-4) and Iowa (6-4) will put on a dog-eat-dog scramble before the season closes March 8.

After its battle with Purdue, Michigan State's remaining games are against Iowa and Indiana. And Purdue's slate reads: Indiana Saturday, Iowa next Monday.

However, chances are matters will not be settled completely until Michigan State and Indiana, defending co-champions, meet at East Lansing on the final day of the season.

All four contenders were victorious Saturday night. Michigan State trounced Wisconsin, 93-59; Iowa defeated Illinois, 83-79; Purdue ripped Minnesota, 88-79; and Indiana beat Ohio State, 88-83. Of the four, Indiana was the only team to win away from home. In a regionally televised matinee, Northwestern beat Michigan, 74-66, at Ann Arbor.

Aside from tonight's Michigan State - Purdue game, Michigan (4-6) will be at Indiana, Iowa at dangerous Northwestern (6-5), in fifth place, and Wisconsin moves in on Minnesota. The Badgers are in the cellar with a 3-8 record and the Gophers (4-8) are in nith place.

Purdue, predominately a team of juniors, hopes to use the home court advantage to its fullest extent against Michigan State. Except for that and the fact that the Boilermakers haven't won a title in 18 years, Michigan State appears to be the stronger team.

The Spartans have speed, defense, scoring power and rebounding strength to cope with any Big Ten team.

Last year the Spartans carried North Carolina to three overtimes before bowing to the Tarheels in th semifinals of the NCAA tournament. North Carolina went on to win the title.

Purdue has good height and speed but the Boilermakers' biggest asset is balance. Anyone of several players is capable of leading the team in scoring. Michigan State defeated Purdue earlier this season at East Lansing, 84-75.

Jones Sets AAU Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Hayes Jones, Eastern Michigan's 19-year-old sophomore sensation, took his place among the top hurdles in the country today and stamped himself as definite Olympic for the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

Jones scored his first major indoor victory in the hurdles Saturday night in Madison Square Garden when he won the National AAU championship in a record-breaking 7.1 seconds.

In the process, he licked Elias Gilbert of Winston Salem (NC) Teachers, who had won five of six previous hurdles races this season and had established himself as the No. 1 timber-topper in the nation.

"It was the biggest thrill I've experienced since I've been running," said Jones happily, recalling that in his only two previous indoor starts, both last year, he was second to Milt Campbell.

His mark, incidentally, was only one-tenth of a second off Campbell's world indoor record of 7 seconds flat. It knocked one second off the AAU record of 7.2, set 10 years ago by the great Harrison Dillard and since equalled by Jack Davis, Lee Calhoun and Charlie Pratt.

"I must admit I was nervous racing against Gilbert," said Jones. "He is a great hurdler, but I decided to give it all I had and got off to an explosive start."

Once he had a lead on Gilbert in the first 10 yards he held resolutely on, and the Winston Salem flash didn't gain a foot the rest of the way. Jones had a margin of about half a yard when he hit the tape.

"But I didn't really know if I won when we crossed the finish line," he laughed. "And I wouldn't have been disappointed if I lost."

Miss Stern pushed Carol to the five-game limit before bowing. The scores were 22-20, 18-21, 21-9, 19-21, 21-15.

Prior to her title victory, Miss Ryan defeated Mary Carter and Doris Chamelweski.

Rams Win 20th of Series, 48-39

Shamrocks' Rush Comes Too Late

By H. GUY MOATS

Up to the middle of the 4th period of Sunday's 35th clash between St. Frederick and St. Michael cagers, there was a chance that the Shamrocks might turn in another upset over the favored Rams. But after collecting seven straight free throws to shave the Rams' margin to two points, 33-31, the north siders' rush collapsed and Gene Wright's five sailed out to a nine-point lead and its 20th victory of the series, 48-39.

A large audience in PCH gymnasium witnessed this next-to-last tilt of the pre-tourney schedulers for both clubs. St. Michael will play Friday at Lamphere, Rams will be hosts to Ecorse St. Francis Xavier on Thursday.

Loss was Shamrock's 3th, leaving Bob Mineweaser's club with a 7-8 record. Freds have a 10-4 mark.

The battle was fairly close most of the way, with Rams in front from the start. Count at halftime was 21-17. The same margin separated the clubs in 2nd half scoring, 27-22. When the Shamrocks put on their big drive at the start of the finale, they trailed 32-24. Then, with Bob Mineweaser, game's top point-getter with 17, and Art Roback combining for seven points, while Rams' Steve Pocs sunk a charity toss, to rush the north siders to within two points at 33-31.

That was it, however, as Dick Nichols, Pocs, Tom Derocher and Phil Bieri bagged goals to move victory out of sight for Shamrocks.

Rams' all-around scoring balance, better than 30 per cent, with six players contributing, was too good to be offset by Shamrocks' less than 20 per cent shooting and scoring by only four players.

In the preliminary games, St. Michael grade team defeated the St. Frederick youngsters 17-11 and St. Frederick jayvees outlasted Shamrock reserves 37-32.

Koprince also moved into 4th in all-events with 1843.

Hit Truman 'Fear Campaign' as Fuel for Real Depression

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans accused former President Truman today of conducting a "fear" campaign they said could bring about an economic depression.

Truman's Saturday night broadside against the "economic misrule" he said had produced a Republican recession was assailed by leading GOP senators as a disservice to efforts to slow the business downturn and to lift employment.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said that this is not a period when "men who have been in high places can afford to ignore their responsibilities."

Citing income and employment statistics, Wiley said the ocuntry is not going to the dogs.

"But if the people are going to continue to be told that everything is haywire they are going to get in a mental condition where they will stop spending and then anything coud happen," he said. "What Harry Truman is doing is creating fear of the worst kind."

Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) agreed in a separate interview, while nearly a score of other Republicans issued weekend statements criticizing various parts of Truman's speech at a $100-a-plate dinner.

The statements used such words demagogic and reckles.

Truman said that the results of five years of Republican White House rule could be added up in five million or more unemployed, millions more working part time, increasing bankruptcies, neglected school programs, overcrowded colleges and hospitals and highways in need of rebuilding.

Adlai E. Stevenson, who spoke to one section of the doubleheader dinner said that five years of Republican rule had been "stained by heavy failure in many areas—the excesses of McCarthyism, the disintegration of our alliances, the loss of confidence in us abroad, the decay in our military position and now the decline in our economic vitality."

Truman implied that if the Democrats were returned to power, the country could be assured of prosperity.

Case said that if Truman really wants to see the countrys economy bolstered "he has shown a poor way of doing it."

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said in a separate interview that while Truman was in the White House "the Democrats didn't solve any of the same problems they are complaining about now."

Barber Marries Eager Couples Right in His Shop

HINTON, W. Va. (AP) — A. L. Neely, a barbershop operator, was clipping a customer's hair when two young men and their girl friends entered. They wanted to get married.

"Make it short," they said, referring to the wedding ceremony and not the haircut, after Neely offered to go with them to church. The four insisted the ceremony be performed right away.

Neely interrupted the haircut he was giving, picked up his Bible and pronounced the four husbands and wives.

Neely is an elder of the Primite Church at nearby Tunnel Hill.

Slate G. B. Shaw's Play for Filmland Production

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I'd call it big news that we are going to see George Bernard Shaw's great play "The Devil's Disciple" in motion pictures. You remember Hecht-Hill-Lancaster were all ready to film it when Sir Laurence Olivier stepped out of the role of manager. Well, he's in again.

But the big news is the casting of Kirk Douglas, who will play the title role originally set for Monty Clift, and his company, Bryna, will be associated with H-H-L in producing it. Burt Lancaster keeps his original role of General Burgoyne.

Producer Harold Hecht and director Alexander MacKendrick will meet this sensational (and I used the word "sensational" advisedly) cast in London in July.

Mrs. Bing Crosby—Kathy Grant to her movie fans—starts work before the camera next week, finishing up scenes on the motion picture she filmed in Spain last year, "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad," with Kermit Mathews.

An important new actor has been added to work with Kathy, 12-year-old Richard Eyer, the youngster who was so good in "Friendly Persuasion."

Why Columbia held up "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad" so long I don't know, but it's heading for the final stretch now, after a slight re-write job and you know the name of Kathy Grant is box office.

I really believe Barbara Hutton means it when she says she is through with marriage—I hope she means it. In all the years I have known her, I have never known her to do a mean thing, only to herself in choosing some of her husbands. She has always been searching, searching, searching for happiness.

Barbara told me that there is no thought of romance with the young men with whom she has announced herself lately. "I enjoy their company—it is as simple as that, and it is ridiculous to try to make a romance out of any of these boys.

Dean Martin's "ad libs" are funnier than the average comedian's staff of writers can whip up. This was proven the other day when Dean was talking long distance from Miami, where he's appearing at the Americana Hotel. I wanted to know if the Florida weather is as cold as the California reports had it.

"It's 80 here," said Dean. "It's terrible."

"What's terrible about 80?" I asked.

"It's 50 in the daytime and 30 at night," cracked the funny Mr. Martin.

The Venezuelan singer, Alfredo Sadel, who took everyone at MGM by storm, has been signed on a long term contract and it is the intention of the MGMers to develop him into another Mario Lanza.

When his agent, Wynn Rocamora, telephoned to him in Caracas that his test had been accepted, the young man said it was his birthday and this was the greatest birthday present he had ever had.

I played his record and I believe you will be hearing from this young man and "hearing" is what I mean.

Predict Tax Cut if Decline Stays

Republican Leaders See Economy Swinging Up Soon, However

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both the Eisenhower administration and Democratic leaders in Congress may swing into action with recovery measures—including tax cut proposals—if the economy doesn't pick up next month.

However, some Republican leaders professed to see signs that the economy is about to stage a comeback.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said "I would think so" when he was asked if it was the consensus of the Cabinet that a tax cut should be proposed if unemployment continues to rise next month.

But Mitchell said he expects unemployment to decline in March after reaching a peak of perhaps 4,600,000 or 4,700,000 jobless this month. Unemployment in January was reported as nearly 4½ million, or 5.8 per cent of the total civilian working force.

There already are signs the employment situation is improving, the labor secretary said in a television interview. But he said if the business lag should get worse the administration will "do whatever is necessary" to reverse the trend.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said that if things don't start looking better in March the Democrats in Congress will "move immediately into the breach" with legislation now being drafted. Mansfield didn't specifically mention tax reduction, but it is known Democratic congressional leaders are considering such action.

Administration economic officials have predicted a business upturn by midyear.

An expert in economics is a man who knows tomorrow why the things he predicted yesterday didn't happen today . . . "And now that you live in the country what do you miss the most?" "The last train." —Earl Wilson.

Radioisotopes Save U.S. Industry Millions

PARIS — At a recent conference of the United Nations Educational, Social, and Cultural Organization it was reported that 4,182 organizations throughout the world are licensed to possess and use radioisotopes, of which 1,667 are industrial concerns.

It was estimated that American concerns saved some $406,000,000 during 1957 through use of the isotopes, chiefly in process-control operations.

Grain Futures Weak, Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grain futures traded at about steady to weak prices in early dealings on the Board of Trade today. But the new crop soybeans ran up good gains at times.

The strongest demand was for the November soybeans and within a few minutes it was as much at 2½ cents ahead but it attracted fairly heavy selling at the peak and the advance was trimmed.

Trading in the other deliveries and the grains was moderate.

There was no export business reported from any sources.

CD Rescue Teams to Get Refresher

Pontiac Civil Defense rescue teams will go through a refresher course tomorrow at the Parks and Recreation Center, Featherstone Rd. and East Blvd.

Classes will be held in the morning and simulated rescue work in the afternoon, said Robert A. Stierer, assistant Civil Defense director.

The rescue teams, organized with voluntary city workers, also will train in the use of facilities on the city's new civil defense truck, partially financed by the federal government late last fall.

"Keeping our rescue teams at a high degree of proficiency is part of our readiness program to meet natural or military disasters," said Stierer.

Path of New Love Not So Smooth for Rossellini

NEW YORK (INS) — Columnist Dorothy Kilgallen reported in the New York Journal-American today that Italian film director Roberto Rossellini, recently separated from Ingrid Bergman, is having new romantic troubles.

Miss Kilgallen wrote that the Rossellini - Bergman marriage broke up so he could "wed his latest love, sloe-eyed Sonali Das Gupta, wife of Indian film director Hari Das Gupta." But, the columnist wrote, "this triangle has now become a quadrangle." She added:

"The young Bengali beauty appears to have fallen in love with Argentine director Hugo Fregonese, the former husband of actress Faith Domergue.

"Those who have seen Madame Das Gupta and Fregonese dancing and hand-holding in Paris are inclined to believe she has cast off the Rossellini spell."

Small Hope for 22 Lost

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (AP) — Little hope was held today for 22 men whose U.S. Navy radar plane disappeared in the North Atlantic Thursday. The plane was on a routine patrol from Argentia, Nfld., to the Azores. Poor visibility and high seas hampered search planes and ships.

Sluggish Stock Conditions Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were slightly lower in sluggish early trading today.

The business and economic background showed no radical change over the weekend. Auto production cutbacks were reported spreading and reduced steel buying by automakers was putting the lid on the steel industry's prospects for March. Buying of copper, lead and zinc was reported slow.

Radio Corp. was down a major fraction in fairly active dealings as it resumed its slide of the final minutes Friday when news came it had been indicted on charges of anti-trust law violations in regard to patents.

Lorillard, last week's most active stock, continued a favorite with a fractional rise.

An irregularly lower tone prevailed among the motors, steels, rails, chemicals, oils and aircrafts. Some copper shares bucked the trend, notably Kennecott which was ahead around a point in a follow-through to its Friday rise. Phelps Dodge gained a fraction.

GM Plans $100,000 Safe Driving Contest

DETROIT (INS) — General Motors Corp. announced today it is conducting a $100,000 slogan-writing contest on safer night driving as part of its nationwide "aim to live" campaign to lessen after dark accidents.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of GM, said 16 GM cars, 100 refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, washers, waste disposals and other appliances will be presented to winners.

Contestants have to write a night safety slogan on an official entry blank obtainable from GM dealers or some independent service stations and garages, Curtice said:

"We hope our contest will provide motorists with additional incentive to think constructively about making our streets and highways safer at night."

Reds Hold Back on 34 Prisoners of Stolen Plane

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North Korea stood pat today on its refusal to return a Korean National Airlines plane and its passengers unless South Korea agrees to negotiate with the Communists directly.

The U.N. Command in turn rejected a Communist proposal that U.N. troops get out of South Korea.

South Korea has refused to deal with the Communists on the ground the North Korea is an illegal regime.

The twin-engine civilian transport flew across the truce line Feb. 16 carrying 34 persons, including two American pilots. The U.N. Command is certain it was seized by Communists on board.

Just before the 90-minute meeting broke up, the chief North Korean delegate, Maj. Gen. Kang Sang Ho, told the U.N. representatives that the 34 persons on the Korean plane were "all safe."

Hanna Begins Brazil Project

Cleveland Firm Hopes to Tap Vast Reserves of Iron Ore

CLEVELAND (AP) — The M. A. Hanna Co. has taken a step toward tapping the vast iron ore reserves of Brazil.

The Cleveland firm, which shared in the recent development of Labrador iron ore, said yesterday it has acquired, through its subsidiary, Hanna Coal & Ore Corp., together with a New York investment group, the controlling interest in St. John d'el Rey Mining Co.

St. John d'el Rey is a 125-year-old British company which for many years has operated the largest gold mine in Brazil and has large holdings of high-grade iron ore reserves.

Hanna Co. declined to reveal specific details of the transaction or to say how much money was involved.

The firm said it plans to send to Brazil "immediately" a group equipped with large-scale prospecting and drilling equipment "to investigate the gold properties, to fully explore the iron ore reserves and to make detailed studies of the transportation of iron ore and dock facilities."

The properties, comprising an area of more than 100 square miles located some 200 miles north of Rio de Janeiro, could be brought into commercial production within three years "if suitable local arrangements can be made and if economic conditions warrant," Hanna Co. said.

The project was compared to the Labrador development, which required investment of nearly 300 million dollars to create mines, townsites, railroad and port facilities.

Senate Due to OK Higher Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to pass today a bill requested by President Eisenhower increasing the 275-billion-dollar national debt limit to 280 billion until June 30, 1959.

The House passed the bill overwhelmingly Jan. 23.

The measure has been held up in the Senate Finance Committee headed by Sen. Byrd (D-Va), an ardent advocate of a tight debt ceiling.

Byrd proposed that the increase be limited to three billion, but his committee voted 10-5 Thursday to approve the administration bill.

Byrd announced he would make no further fight on the floor.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, in asking for the increase, argued that he should have larger cash balances to work with and more flexibility in his financing arrangements.

Many Democratic senators have said more money is needed both for defense, to meet the Soviet scientific challenge, and for public works programs to combat the economic slump. Hence they will support the increase.

Keego Man Mute to Cruelty Charge

Standing mute today to a charge of cruelty to children was Frank Szumowski Jr., 25, of Keego Harbor.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge George B. Hartrick entered a plea of innocent for Szumowski, of 2066 Willow Beach Rd., at his arraignment this morning.

He is charged with beating his 10-year-old stepdaughter, Diane Dube, with a razor strop Feb. 7.

He is being held in the county jail pending his trial. No date has been set.

Fog May Have Caused 6 Deaths

Army Continues Probing Crash of Three Copters

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP)—Investigation continued today into the crash of three Army helicopters in blinding fog with death to six airmen. An Army officer said the pilots had no training or instruments to cope with fog.

The three helicopters slammed into a rocky hill 15 miles east of Red Bluff Saturday. There had been no collision.

Flying at 200 to 300 feet elevation, the copters encountered dense fogs and clouds "before they had a choice to avoid it," Col. Frank C. Forest reported. He is in charge of the Army investigation.

"It is a distinct possibility that the pilots got vertigo and lost their sense of direction and speed," Forest said. "That's what happens when fliers are not trained to operate under conditions of fog or dense cloudiness.

"There were no blind flying instruments on the helicopters and the fliers were not trained or equipped to cope with such conditions."

The copters were part of a flight of 21 being ferried from Ft. Riley, Kan., to Ft. Lewis, Wash. They are troop-carrying helicopters but had only crew members aboard at the time of the crashes.

Wreckage of two craft was strewn 200 yards below the top of the hillside. It caught fire and burned five of the six men killed. The third crashed copter did not break up and its three occupants were hurt only slightly.

A fourth helicopter was damaged slightly as it attempted to land near the crash scene.

None of the dead apparently was from Michigan.

WELL ROUNDED EDUCATION — The children attending Vista Mar school in Daly City, Calif., should receive a well-rounded education, if the shape of their school means anything. Containing 13 classrooms and 2 kindergartens, it is of glass and concrete block construction. The area inside the school will be a landscaped play yard. The circular building, left, background, will have mostly glass walls and serve as a multipurpose room for school activities and will be connected to the main building by a covered breezeway.

Economist Calls for $1,200 Car to Cure U.S.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (INS)—A $1,200 to $1,500 automobile is the recommendation of a Providence college economist as the prescription of the country's economic ills.

Rev. Charles Quirk, O. P., head of the college's economics department, told the Thomistic Institute of Industrial Relations, what the country needs is not a five-cent cigar, but an automobile in the $1,200 to $1,500 price range.

He declared:

"I believe that as the auto industry goes, so goes our country. We need that low priced car. The glamorized car of $3,500 is out of reach of ordinary people."

He expressed belief the automobile industry could produce a drastically cheaper car and still make money but that it would take an initial outlay of $2 billion to $3 billion for retooling, plus more money to overcome the sales pitch that built the demand for big cars.

"Public demand for low priced cars," he said, "would provide a real shot in the arm to employment ills in the automotive and allied industries.

County Moves 45 Youngsters

12-17 Age Group Taken From Children's Center to New Youth Home

Today was moving day for some 45 children as they left the Children's Center at 2050 Telegraph Rd. for Oakland County's new Youth Home on Cooley Lake road.

Opening of the new home, located on property adjacent to the Tuberculosis Sanitorium, brings to four the number of homes under the Juvenile Division of the county.

Some 125 children will remain at the original Children's Center (formerly called the Children's Home), 20 at Franklin House located at 52 Franklin Blvd., and 20 also at Boy's Ranch at Camp Oakland.

Moving into the new quarters at the Youth Home today were about 24 boys and 20 girls, ranging in age from 12 to 17.

Limiting the number of children here will permit closer supervision by four teachers among an administrative staff of 25, according to James W. Hunt, director of Children Services for Oakland County.

"This way we will be able to work more intently with the younsters who need our help," said Hunt. "At the center the number became so great we couldn't work this closely."

Wesley Johnson, formerly assistant superintendent of the Children's Center, will be head of the Youth Home, Hunt announced.

The home, originally planned for childhood TB cases, will have dormitories, classrooms, dining facilities, lounges and recreation rooms. It has a housing capacity of 65 children.

THE MAIL MUST GO THROUGH (?) — Reaching mailboxes isn't easy for most rural central New Yorkers as Nick Barita of Camillus, a suburb of Syracuse, can attest. This month's snowfall of 60.6 inches broke two records for the area — for a February and for any month. Rural mail carriers have been getting through, but it's been slow going as they battle the deep snow.

Playful Tots Bounced Right Out Window

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Jose Quintanilla heard his three small children romping and playing in an upstairs bedroom. The next thing he knew, Quintanilla said, all three were outside screaming.

He ran outside to find all three had fallen from the window onto a concrete sidewalk. The children apparently were bouncing on a bed and bounced right out the window. Esmeraldo, 4, and Jose, 3, were treated for head injuries. Noe, 2, was unhurt.

Breeder of Longhorn Cattle Tolerates No Joking About His Beloved Texas

BARKER, Tex. (AP)—Across the large brass belt buckle E. H. Marks wears is the word "Texas."

It's a good word for Marks because everything about the 76-year-old rancher is pure Texas. The spurs he straps to his beaten old brown boots, the gray Stetson he wears, his talk, and, above all, the herd of longhorn cattle he raises, all reflect his love of Texas.

Emil Henry Marks, owner of the Lh7 ranch here, has one of the world's largest private herds of longhorn cattle. The 144 longhorns that roam his 940-acre ranch, along with about 200 Brahman cattle, are a large part of Marks' cattle business.

HELPED MAKE TEXAS

"The longhorn cattle brought in the first money Texas ever had. They helped make this state," Marks said in his loud, throaty voice. He said he started raising the large, bony animals about 1923 "when I saw they were starting to die out."

Both Marks and his father have taken part in long cattle drives during the days when the longhorn was a main source of meat in the United States.

Marks maintains that if ranchers had taken as much care of the longhorns as they did their other cattle, the longhorn would still be popular.

"Longhorns were the only cattle we had years ago that could survive Texas droughts, heat and ticks," he said.

Marks built a log cabin museum next to his home several years ago when his house became filled with his collection of rocks, guns, trophies, iron kettles, hides, pictures, Indian relics, canes, and rocks.

IMPORTED BUILDER

The museum was built of logs imported from Colorado. When Marks could not find anyone who could build the log cabin for him, he paid a Colorado man $1,000 to come to Texas to put it together.

When Marks talks of Texas, his youth or his longhorn cattle, he breaks into poetry to express himself. More than 50 poems and his colorful stories have made him a popular after-dinner speaker. Most years he averages about 150 talks throughout the country.

His favorite poem is the "Code of the Cow Country." Marks has given away more than 5,000 copies to friends and those who enter his log cabin museum.

The code includes such advice as:

"Treat with respect all womankind, same as you would your sister."

"Take care of neighbors' strays you find, and don't call a cowboy 'mister.'

"Talk straight, shoot straight, an' never break your word to man or boss.

"Plumb always kill a rattlesnake, don't ride a sore-backed hoss."

DRAMATIC DELIVERY

When he starts reciting poetry, Marks becomes as dramatic as any Hollywood actor and his pale blue eyes get a faraway look. They are dead serious to him because they contain the rules under which he lives and they tell of the West he loves.

Marks always has spurs jingling on his boots. He says he wears them "because you can never tell when you'll have to ride a horse."

"And if I leave them in the house," he adds, "the grandkids will get them and I'll never find them."

Opium Making Thailand Rich

Efforts to Suppress Use of Drug All but Abandoned

BANGKOK (INS) — Once-promising efforts to outlaw opium-smoking in Thailand, headquarters of the SEATO alliance, have all but been abandoned.

The government is making too much money from the addicts.

So the practice continues around-the-clock, an entirely legal enterprise that feeds millions of dollars a year into Bangkok official coffers.

It also leads to scenes such as this correspondent saw in the nations capital:

A sickly sweet smell hung over the stall-like "divans," each with one or two opium addicts lying on their sides, their heads cushioned on hard, glazed porcelain cubes.

Some slept, shriveled inert forms while others puffed at the thick pipes or prepared their opium, twirling oily-looking globs of it on long needles over the chimneys of cocoanut oil lamps.

Glazed eyes looked about indifferently, a gentle sound of inhalations filled the air as smokers sucked the opium into their lungs in one deep breath, then slowly expelled satisfied breaths.

The extensive opium business is going full blast in Thailand, and will continue to pour more than $6 milion into the government annually.

Most addicts in Thailand are Chinese, usually laborers, samlor drivers, coolies and other hard-pressed Chinese who seek peace and escape in the fumes of the pipe.

A small metal tube of opium, prepared by the government, can be had for the equivalent of 50 cents, good for six pipesful—a fair ride into the clouds. Smaller packets can be bought by persons with meager funds.

Most of the opium comes from the northern border, from the Red Chinese province of Yunnan, where poppies are grown as part of a Communist attempt to win foreign currency and at the same time subvert free nations through the habit.

Thailand has long been the main route for smuggled opium to the ports and airlines of the outside world.

The maximum balance allowed a depositor in U.S. postal savings is $2,500.

Dondersitten Elephant!

SALZBURG, Austria (INS) — A traveling salesman drove into Salzburg, went through a red light and was stopped by an officer. He explained he was a bit distracted because an elephant had been sitting on his car. The policeman arrested him for drunken driving. It was all cleared up later. A circus owner confirmed that one of his elephants had indeed sat on the car — thought it was a stool, the trainer said — at a crossroads outside town.

Child Film Star in News Again

Television Presenting Both Old Movies and New Fairy Tale Show

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "Cocktail?"

The pencil-poised waiter in the swank Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel looked at the gorgeous, black-haired, smartly dressed, 29-year-old mother of three.

"No thank you." she said. But like many other waiters in her life, he couldn't resist breaking the aloof barrier and with a grin he said:

"A Shirley Temple maybe?"

Shirley Temple's face, which still wrinkles when she smiles, displayed those world-famous dimples as she said "No," and then she laughed:

"Usually waiters don't ask me if I'd like a Shirley Temple — as a gag they just bring me one."

Some strange things have happened in television but this season's return of Shirley Temple is the most astonishing of them all.

First in four old movies as the Shirley of yesterday — the blonde curlytop who was the world's most famous child, 13th highest paid person in the U. S. at the age of 9 in 1937 ($307,014) and 1934-to-1939 movie boxoffice champion.

And now, on NBC-TV, it is today's Shirley Temple — Mrs. Charles Black of Atherton, Calif.— as hostess, narrator and occasional actress on a 16-week, one-hour combination live and filmed TV fairytale series titled "Shirley Temple's Storybook."

As a tiny tot winning stardom in movies like "Little Miss Marker" and "Baby Take a Bow," I'll never forget how Shirley waited in front of the camera for two cues — the director's call for "Action" and her always present mother's words:

"Now sparkle, Shirley, sparkle!"

And how, in singing, dancing and acting roles, Shirley sparkled —a sparkle that won her fame, fortune, a special "baby" Oscar and $10,000 libel damages when a London news magazine claimed such talent was impossible in a child, that she really was "a 35-year-old midget with a 7-year-old daughter."

Did her mother's words to "sparkle" come rushing back to her in a flood of childhood memories when she faced the live TV cameras for the first time? Shirley said, "No, I was thinkng about my family at the TV set at home."

That means husband Charles Black of the Ampex Corp., whom she married in 1950; 10-year-old daughter Linda Susan by a previous marriage to actor John Agar; daughter Lori, 3½, and son Charles, almost 6.

"All talented," Shirley laughed. "We're quite a family. My husband is a whiz on the guitar. Charley loves to sing and Linda plays the piano. And I still play the drums." She played them as a kiddie but never in her films.

"The studio," she said, "thought it was too unladylike."

A shrewed mother who recognized Shirley's fantastic talents and a banker-father who managed her money started the little miss from Santa Monica, Calif., on a fabulous career as a film star in the darkest days of the nation's depression. Movies were just one source of income.

There were Shirley Temple dolls, now making a comeback along with Shirley, and a variety of about 30 other Shirley Temple named kiddie products. At her retirement in 1940 as a child actress, she reportedly had a bank account and trust funds totaling $2,000,000.

But fame, studio coddling and fan worship failed to leave their marks on Shirley, as they have on many other former kid stars.

Today's black-haired, grownup Shirley is as natural, modest and loveable as yesterday's blonde little curlytop.

TOMORROW: Shirley Temple plays "Headline Memories."

Mystery House Occupied Again; Furniture Falls

SEAFORD, N. Y. (AP) — The James Herrmann family is back in the six-room ranch home—and the bouncing bottle mystery has deepened.

During the presence last night of a reporter for Newsday, a Long Island daily newspaper, another porcelain figurine slammed itself against a desk, and a four-drawer dresser came crashing down.

After a two-day stay with relatives to get a rest, the Herrmanns — mother and mother and two children, James Jr. 12, and Lucille, 13 — returned to their Nassau County home Sunday.

Since Feb. 3, all types of bottles have blown their screw tops, and other objects have topped without apparent reason. Police investigations and scientific tests have turned up no elues.

Newsman David Kahn said he was having coffee with Herrmann, Mrs. Herrman was doing the dishes, and the children were in bed, when a porcelain figure flew off a table and struck the desk. As they were investigating that incident, a "low rumble" was heard, then a crash. The dresser in young James' room had crashed to the floor.

The Newsday reporter stayed overnight at the Herrmann residence but reported no further incidents.

Diamond Smuggling Booming in Africa

FREETOWN, West Africa — Sierra Leone, West Africa, where diamond smuggling has become big business, is a country of incongruities. Freetown reports tattered, dingy shorts worn with an Anthony Eden hat, a threadbare shirt and a gold wristwatch.

In the up-country one may see a brand new motorcar left to rot by the roadside. Something went wrong and the owner didn't bother to have it fixed just bought a new one.

It's a crazy country of illicit diamond digging which the police find it impossible to cope with in the jungle-like terrain.

A Mercedes - Benz — favorite car among wealthy diamond traders — may stand outside a mud hut. Rich Syrians call at villages laden with presents for the natives — to get them to go diamond digging.

Two Deputy Sheriffs Join in Marriage

TIPTON, Ind. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff John Axline and Deputy Sheriff Sandra Anne Grimme Axline were honeymooning today.

Sheriff Paul Grimme may have gained a son but lost a deputy as he gave his daughter in marriage yesterday. Axline serves on the Marion County sheriff's highway patrol at Indianapolis.

Mrs. Axline is a deputy on her father's staff here but has been working as a receptionist for an Indianapolis radio station. Her wedding gown was her deputy's uniform, complete with badge.

Clear Ice to Release Mississippi Traffic

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—Col. Charles B. Schweizer, Army district engineer said towboats have cleared a path through the 37-mile ice gorge on the Mississippi north from Cairo and river traffic can resume.

River levels are expected to return to normal as the ice moves downstream and releases the wall of water built up behind it.

Three towboats were trapped in the ice at one time last week and several others put in to shore to wait out the freeze.

Leona Gage Is Now Working as Showgirl

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Leona Gage, the "Miss Maryland" who told the big fib in the "Miss Universe" contest, is now working as just a showgal ($200-a-wk) in Las Vegas while getting her divorce from her home town husband. She paid $1,000 down on a $9,000-trailer where she and her children'll live. The trailer has no car to pull it, but when times are better, Leona hopes to have a car, too.

WILSON

Elsa Maxwell, the caviar-champagne doll, feasts in her dressing room on a corned beef sandwich, shot of scotch—and a dill pickle. Drew Pearson's office phoned James Roosevelt. Was it true that Mr. Truman was staying with him? Yes, it was. "Is it true that Mr. Truman is sick?" . . . "Yes." . . . "That's quite a story!" . . . "Yes," replied Roosevelt, "especially when you consider that Mr. Truman is a cat."

"Scratchy," the monkey I got my B. W. (Bourbon and Water) for Christmas, while very affectionate, is terrified of that Jayne Mansfield hot water bottle novelty and runs like crazy at the sight of it . . . Ingrid Bergman's new beau, Lars Schmidt, an esthetic-type, who speaks Oxfordian English and has "the whispering charm of Sweden," was once the wooer of an American producer's daughter. He recently said: "Ingrid and I get along wonderfully —but we are in no hurry."

Art of Growing Old

Charm of Mother's Rocking Chair Lends Stability to Later Life

(Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, engineer, author, efficiency expert and mother of 12 children, finds the rocking chair has its charms. At 80, the Mother Gilbreth of the book "Cheaper By the Dozen" takes time out for some words of wisdom on coping with the advancing years. She lives in Montclair, N.J.)

By LILLIAN M. GILBRETH

Last in Series

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP)— Rocking chairs have always attracted me.

As a child I loved to see my mother rocking gently, tatting away, humming a folk song to herself — listening to me, giving me a helping hand if I needed it.

I practiced my music lesson, worked at my crocheting, did my home work, enjoying her companionship. I loved to hear her repeat verses too, not only poetry but the dear old jingles that live on, year after year, though critics think very little of them. Like this:

"Old Granny Cricket's rocking chair,
"Creakity creak, creakity creak,
"Back and forth and here and there squeak."

So rocking chairs have never been a menace to me. Instead, a joy.

As for jobs—when one has been brought up in a family where there are always home jobs to be done, one does them as a matter of course. And becomes accustomed to looking for them if they aren't waiting to be seen to. They are, many of them, just chores—not very stimulating or interesting but giving one a feeling of competence and the pleasure of being needed.

It is important for a woman that she marries a man who feels as she does about work and wants her to work with him. She is fortunate if he has wide horizons and helps her to see more and more things needing to be done in the world. Especially if he believes each of us has fine areas of his life where jobs are to be found—being an adequate person, a useful member of a home and family, a good citizen, a worthwhile volunteer, a paid worker. Naturally one wants a job to demand skill and give satisfaction!

With the years, one should learn to live with oneself and with other people. One should learn one's limitations. Within these one should be able to keep physically fit, mentally alert, emotionally serene and socially adjusted. One should be able to enjoy without possessing and to recognize that many of the best things in life are "free" as far as money is concerned—like service, beauty, affection.

It helps to realize that time and energy are resources — just as money is a resource. If we have little of any of the three we have a challenging job to live—to work—and to be satisfied. But some brave souls seem to manage.

We are living in a time where "youth" seems the most desirable stage of existence—seems synonymous with strength, vitality, happiness. "Calendar age" has come to be a criterion of ability and of opportunities. But what are strength, vitality and happiness? And what about steadiness of purpose — interest — serenity of spirit? And have we more or less of these as the years pass by? We hear much of "beating the calendar." Does this mean keeping busy and useful in spite of growing older? Why not because of growing older?

Perhaps the poet was right when he said:

"Grow old along with me—

As long as we can remember the happiness of the past, enjoy the blessings of the present, look forward with confidence to the future we should be able to do the best we can with what we have. And we should be able to enjoy our rocking chairs—between the jobs we have found that need to be done — as among the good things of life.

Snake Venom Thief Receives Warning

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami's snake venom thief has 24 hours to return the goods or face the risk of prosecution.

That was the warning published in the Miami Herald today after $5,750 worth of poisonous venom disappeared from the Miami Serpentarium Friday.

The thief called the snake farm Saturday and said he wanted the venom to protect himself against snakebite. But he hung up before he could be warned the venom in its present state is useless as an antidote but could kill up to 600 persons.

Knowland Aims for Presidency

Won't Oppose Nixon in 1960, However, Says California Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Knowland of California has set his sights on the 1964—or possibly 1968—Republican presidential nomination.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader who is running this year for governor of California, practically took himself out of the 1960 presidential contest with a conditional endorsement of Vice President Nixon.

"If I am elected governor of California I expect to serve out my term," he said in an interview. "I think Dick Nixon is likely to be the presidential nominee and I would support him."

Knowland made it clear, however, he is not foreclosing the possibility that he himself would become a candidate for the 1960 nomination if anything should happen to eliminate Nixon from the race.

The Republican leader said he had no intention of "Sherman-izing" himself to the extent of saying he would not accept the nomination or would not serve if elected. He referred to the statement made after the Civil War by Gen. William T. Sherman.

Knowland said he has no present intention of entering any presidential primaries in 1960. Nixon is expected to enter that year's primaries and there has been speculation that he might be embarrassed by having another Californian as one of his opponents.

Nasser Pays First Visit to New Syrian Province

DAMASCUS, Arab Republic (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser paid his first visit to the Syrian province of his United Arab Republic today and received a tumultuous welcome from 100,000 of his new subjects.

Damascus radio's announcement of the surprise flight from Cairo brought crowds rushing to the building where Nasser was conferring with outgoing Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly. Both appeared on the balcony and waved.

"Long live Nasser our new president," the crowd chanted.

The Cairo press had been predicting that Kuwatly would arrive in Egypt at any moment to transfer power to Nasser. The Egyptian leader was thought to have changed signals for security reasons, visiting here to confer with Kuwatly on a cabinet for the new state.

Nasser didn't let Kuwatly know he was coming. No Syrian officials were on hand when he landed with Abdul Latif Boghdadi, speaker of the Egyptian National Assembly; Field Marshal Abdul Hakim Amer, commander in chief of the U.A.R. armed forces; and Anwar Elsadat, head of Egypt's single party, the National Union, which is replacing Syria's parties.

The group drove off to Kuwatly's home.

The Egyptians and Syrians voted almost unanimously Friday to join in the U.A.R., with Nasser having almost absolute power as president during a transition period of unspecified length.

Foreign governments continued to recognize the new Arab state. The latest were West Germany, Indonesia and Switzerland.

1,065 Pounds of Opium Seized in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Revenue agents today announced the seizure of 1,065 pounds of raw opium worth about a million dollars locally. It was the biggest dope haul in the British colony for many years.

The opium was discovered hidden inside bales of cotton waste aboard a truck on the Hong Kong Harbor ferry. The two Chinese in the truck were arrested but were believed to be minor figures in the ring.

Cadillac

The Decision That Needs No Explanation!

There are relatively few personal decisions a man can make that command the unanimous approval of his friends and acquaintances.

And among these is his choice of a Cadillac car.

For the things that inspire a man to Cadillac are simply too numerous to be overlooked.

Considered from a standpoint of its beauty—or its Fleetwood luxury—or its performance—or its craftsmanship—or its soundness of investment—Cadillac occupies a position entirely its own.

At the heart of this great goodness is, of course, Cadillac's experience in the creation of quality cars.

For more than half a century, Cadillac's sole concern in the manufacture of its products has been to make them as fine as automotive science would permit.

It is out of this unique constancy of purpose that has come Cadillac's international recognition as the Standard of the World.

We invite you to see, both in the showroom and on the highway, how brilliantly this latest Cadillac exemplifies all of these great traditions.

Whether you might choose the Sixty-Two Coupe or the Eldorado Brougham—you will find your decision beyond the realm of argument.
