Oakland Family Found Dead in Cabin

Lovesick Youth Held in Slaying of Girl Friend

JACKSON (AP) — A 17-year-old lovesick youth, known to his neighbors as a perfect gentleman, is held as the gun slayer of a girl chum, 16.

"If I couldn't have her, no one else would either..." Police attributed that sobbed-out explanation today to John Hixon, June high school graduate, in the Labor Day weekend lover's lane shooting of pretty, brown-haired Carilyn Waldron.

Carilyn, high school senior and one of four children of a factory worker, was found dead yesterday morning in a scenic spot of the Waterloo State Recreation Area near here.

On a hill stands a large cross. This is the scene for Easter Sunday services.

Carilyn had been shot twice with a rifle, once in the head and also in the back.

A motorist found the body a few feet off a road.

TELLS OF REJECTION

Detroit police, who picked up Hixon later in the day, said he told of a spat with Carilyn and her rejection of him.

Homicide Detective Charles Schlachter quoted Hixon as admitting the shooting. He had given her a ring and she had returned it, he said.

The maximum penalty for murder is life imprisonment. Hixon probably will be arraigned on murder charges today.

Police said there was no evidence Carilyn was sexually molested. Hixon was returned here last night from Detroit.

He and Carilyn had a date Sunday night. They drove in Hixon's cream and blue car to the park area.

Detective Sgt. Marvin Krans of the state police said the youth told of Carilyn's wish to break off their relationship.

Krans said Hixon admitted turning his rifle on Carilyn as she left the car to walk along a woods trail and firing at her after remarking, "Okay, if that's the way you want it."

Police said Hixon fled in his car, driving the 70 miles to Detroit, where he spent the rest of the night in an all-night movie house. He was arrested when he went to his parked car in the downtown district. Police had found the car earlier.

BECAME HYSTERICAL

At Detroit headquarters Hixon, 5-feet-8 and with closely cropped blond hair, became hysterical at one time facing newspaper photographers.

"Why don't you guys get the h--- out of here," he screamed. Hixon, who lives with his mother, Mrs. Camilla S. Hixon, lost his father a few years ago through death. His father, Charles Hixon, was a hotel maintenance man.

At his home Hixon has three rifles and two shotguns. Since his high school graduation he has worked as a theater usher.

Carilyn's family said the girl recently told her twin sister, Marilyn, that she felt she had to "break off" with Hixon.

The father, Arthur Waldron, 39, spoke well of young Hixon.

"He really seemed nice," Waldron said. "The only thing I had against him was that he was a little too young to be getting serious."

Of Carilyn's death the father exclaimed: "It can't be possible. It just doesn't seem real to me."

The mother, Helen, 33, went into seclusion. The other children in the family are Ronald, 14, and Gail, 5.

Storm Swamps Boat, 3 Drown, 1 Saves Self

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP) — Police recovered the bodies of three persons who drowned when their 23-foot sail boat was swamped during a storm yesterday.

Dr. Peter Fisher, 40, head of the English department at Royal Military College here; Capt. R.J. Hefferon, 34, Detroit, and his wife, Marjorie, 30, Newburgh, N.Y., went down in the vessel off nearby Wolfe Island.

Hefferon had been assigned to Kingston from the Sands Proving Grounds, Albuquerque, N. M. Nancy Mosier of Wolfe Island was the only survivor. She swam to shore after the boat sank.

Michigan Deaths Low Despite High U.S. Toll

Chilly Weather Cuts State Fatalities to Total of Only 16

Traffic 403
Drownings 110
Miscellaneous 85
Total 595

By The Associated Press
The traffic death toll for the nation's extended Labor Day weekend, with final figures still to be compiled, appeared headed today for the preholiday estimate of 420.

A sharp rise in deaths on the highways in the closing hours of the 78-hour holiday period shot the total close to the prediction made last week by the National Safety Council.

Michigan, however, counted a toll of only 9 lives lost in traffic over the long weekend. Authorities had feared it might be much higher.

A year ago, 17 were killed in Labor Day holiday traffic. Only last weekend, 20 died on state highways.

State Police said Michigan's chilly, windy weather apparently cut down the usual crush of weekend travelers this year.

Overall, Michigan's Labor Day celebration this year claimed 16 lives, including 4 drowned. Other fatal accidents included a youth killed when he was thrown from a carnival ride and an auto race driver killed in a county fair crash.

FEW TRAFFIC JAMS

Contrary to expectations, there were few traffic jams as motorists headed home from the holiday Monday night. Some two million cars had been expected to crowd highways between 6 p.m. and midnight. But only two deaths were reported in Monday crashes.

The holiday fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday.

An estimated 30 million cars were on the nation's highways yesterday, the windup of summer's last long holiday.

The final traffic toll may surpass the estimate. But it did not appear likely it would reach the 1957 Labor Day holiday total of 445 or the record high toll for a Labor Day period of 461 in 1951.

However, the over-all accident death toll may equal the count of 636 for last year's three-day Labor Day period, but below the record high for the holiday of 659 in 1951.

In the country's three major summer holiday periods—Memorial Day, Independence Day and Labor Day—more than 1,140

HOPES FOR DELAY
School Supt. Virgil Blossom, in a prepared statement he read last night at a news conference, said that if the board had gone ahead with plans to open the schools Sept. 8, it might have damaged chances of getting the Supreme Court to uphold the board's requested integration delay.

The issue before the high court now is whether the school board can delay its integration program for 2½ years as U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lewley of Hope, Ark., ruled.

A series of conflicting lower court rulings brought the issue to the nation's highest court.

Blossom declined to say what the board would do if the court ordered a resumption of integration.

Asked what would happen if the governor closed the school, he replied, "The board would be bound by state law."

Warmer Weather Forecast as Frost Nips Michigan

The weatherman says it will warm up tonight and tomorrow, with scattered showers likely. The expected low tonight will be near 57 and tomorrow's high around 78.

It looked like an early winter this morning as temperatures dropped below freezing in parts of Michigan.

Grand Marais in the Upper Peninsula was the coldest spot in the state with a chilly 23 overnight.

Cooler than normal temperatures are predicted for the Great Lakes Region during September with precipitation exceeding the normal rainfall.

Pontiac's low of 45 between 5 and 7 a.m. was only one degree above the city's all-time low for the date set in 1885. At 1 p.m. the thermometer registered 67.

Red Boats Sunk by Nationalists

Biggest Naval Action in 11 Days Reported Off Quemoy Islands

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists claimed their warships early today sank 11 Communist torpedo boats and probably a 12th trying to break up a convoy to embattle Quemoy Island.

It was the biggest naval action reported in the 11 days since the Communists stepped up their attack on the Nationalist-held offshore islands.

Earlier, the Nationalists announced their artillery on Quemoy in firing throughout Sunday night sank three Communist gunboats and eight motorized junks in a flotilla near Amoy, the Communist island port blockaded by the Nationalist islands.

Despite the naval success claimed by the Nationalists, the torpedo boat attack forced the troop carrier to return to the Pescadore Islands without unloading 370 troops destined for Quemoy. Only 30 of the reinforcements made it ashore.

During and after the naval engagement, the Red shore batteries pounded Quemoy with renewed fury. Between midnight and early afternoon nearly 2,800 shells were poured on the island, the Defense Ministry said, and a 100-shell barrage was dumped on tiny Tatan islet 2½ miles south of Amoy.

The combined artillery and sea attack crumpled after the quietest day in the Formosa Strait since the Reds began their heavy attack Aug. 23. The Communist shore guns fired only 457 shells yesterday.

The small, fast boats struck just as troops from a Nationalist landing ship were being unloaded into small boats six miles offshore. Four Nationalist warships intercepted the Communist attackers.

The ministry said one Nationalist warship was slightly damaged and there were 10 Nationalist casualties.

Meanwhile, the first elements of about 1,000 U.S. Marines arrived in Formosa for amphibious maneuvers with the Nationalists beginning Friday or Saturday. The 3rd Marine Division from Okinawa and some units of Air Group 11 from Japan will take part.

Accused Gamblers Due for Arraignment Today

Five persons, including Deputy City Treasurer LaRue E. Gullett, were scheduled to be arraigned at 2 p.m. today in an alleged Pontiac gambling syndicate.

The five are expected to be charged with conspiracy to violate Michigan's gambling laws. Conviction could result in five-year prison sentences and $2,500 fines for each.

Caught in late Friday afternoon raids by State Police racket squad detectives were Gullett, 41, of 301 Dick Ave., his wife, Gladys J., 35, Basil W. Burke, 59, of 29 Salmer Ave., James "Chinaboy" Pruzor, 54, of 4 S. Saginaw St., and Charles D. "Whitney" Apley, 44, of 29 Salmer Ave.

George F. Taylor, chief assistant Oakland County prosecutor, prepared warrants against the five this morning as Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem held a secret meeting in his office with Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and several officers involved in the raids.

All Ziem would say about the conference was that Straley came in to see him and that the raids "were touched upon" in the discussions.

Straley's name entered accounts on the raids when it was revealed that he had intervened in 1952 for Burke's parole from prison, where he was serving a 1½ year sentence for gambling conspiracy.

LI Carl W. Robinson, State Police detective who directed a squad of some 20 law enforcement officers, said the alleged ring did an estimated $1,000,000 in booking horse racing bets.

The alleged syndicate, which police believe Burke headed in this area, was linked yesterday with a nationwide race result service controlled by the Mafia.

Vacation Tragedy Takes Couple, Twin Boys, 10

Autopsy Set for Today in Death of Groovers Near Clear Lake

An autopsy is being held today in an attempt to discover what killed a Brandon Township family of four vacationing in Montmorency County.

Maurice Groover, 49; his wife, Josephine, 47; and their 10-year-old twin sons, Carl and Paul, were found dead yesterday in a cottage nine miles north of Atlanta near Clear Lake.

Authorities said at first that the four appeared to have been asphyxiated by gas fumes from a bottle gas stove in the cottage.

Early this morning investigators at the State Police Post in Alpena disclosed that the problem was finding how the gas leaked into the three-room cottage.

"The stove was turned off when we found the family and as yet I don't believe any point of leakage has been discovered," said State Trooper Dean Rye.

The Groover family, who lived on a farm at 641 Hurd Rd., were lifetime residents of the county.

Maurice Groover was born in Pontiac and moved to his present address when he was 10 years old with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Groover, now of 19 Mechanic St., Oxford.

His wife was the former Josephine Johnson, of Pontiac. Their two sons attended the Oxford Elementary School.

According to relatives the family arrived at the cottage, owned by a friend, on Aug. 17.

Authorities theorized the family died shortly after arriving because their suitcases were not unpacked and groceries they had brought along were still in bags.

Groover's father suffered a heart attack and was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital on Aug. 24. The Groover family was expected to be back from their vacation that night or the next day.

When they didn't return, Groover's brother-in-law, Donald Francis, of 58 Dennison St., Oxford, asked Montmorency County Sheriff's Department to check on them.

Francis is a detective for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Montmorency County officials mistook another cottage in the area for the one the Groovers were inhabiting, a relative said.

Neighbors told deputies that the occupants had left for home on Aug. 24 but were driving up to see the Mackinac Bridge before going home.

Teamster in Probe Will Tell His Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold J. Gibbons gets a chance today to tell how he climbed to the top echelon of the Teamsters Union and became boss of the nation's affairs in the St. Louis area.

Gibbons, 47-year-old right-hand man to Teamster President James R. Hoffa, was called by the Senate Rackets Committee, which has been investigating alleged Teamster tieups with hoodlums and charges of Teamster violence in labor disputes.

Previous witnesses have testified that Gibbons, top vice president of the giant truck union, bought one local union outright, directed violence in strikes, and rigged his election as president of the joint council ruling a score of Teamster locals in the St. Louis area.

St. Louis Detective Capt. Thomas L. Moran described Gibbons to the committee last week as a cop-hating associate of underworld characters.

Moran told of beatings, arson and bombings in Gibbons-connected strikes in St. Louis.

The committee has charged that former officials of St. Louis Teamster Local 688 literally sold it to Gibbons in 1949 for $78,410, and that he paid off the old officers with union funds under the guise of severance pay.

Other witnesses have testified that, as Teamster trustee for St. Louis locals, Gibbons used the votes of seven hand-picked officers from a carnival workers' local in Tampa, Fla., to give him a 76-70 victory as president of the Teamster Joint Council in the St. Louis area.

Decision to Await Supreme Court Ruling Arouses Faubus' Ire

Little Rock High School Postpones Opening

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The school board of this racially troubled city, in a show of good faith with the U.S. Supreme Court, has put off Central High School's opening date.

The board announced last night that it would delay opening the city's four high schools from Sept. 8 to Sept. 15.

RULING DUE SEPT. 11

The Supreme Court is expected to rule Sept. 11 or shortly afterwards on whether Central High School, the focal point of the racial struggle here, must continue an integration program that spawned violence and unrest last year.

There had been speculation that schools would open on a segregated basis before the court ruled.

The school board's action, which it said it took to demonstrate its good faith to the high court, apparently quashed any efforts to circumvent a final ruling.

It roused the ire of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who declared: "They (the board members) never have displayed any real inclination to listen to the will of the people of the school district, or any reason-

Watkins Hills May Get Lights

Waterford Board Sure to Approve Request if No Objectors Show Up

If no objections appear at a hearing held today, the Waterford Township board will establish a special street lighting district in the Watkins Hills Subdivision at tonight's regular meeting.

There will be 35 lots assessed in the subdivision located at Baybrook drive from Watkins Lake road to Terrell street. Petitions for the street lighting installations had been presented at the August 18 meeting.

In other business, board members will take action on construction bids for the blacktopping of Fremont street from Dixie highway to Walton Boulevard.

The Oakland County Road Commission received and has approved the $10,000 project and it is now up for the township board's approval. Each governmental unit pays one-half of the cost of the blacktopping.

The township board will consider a request for additional school crossing guards necessary because of increased enrollment and the opening of two new schools in the district.

The board of education and the township split the cost of hiring the traffic guards.

search, thinking they had located the Groovers.

Later in the week when the area family still failed to show up, the sheriff's officers and Conservation Station at Atlanta, some 30 miles east of Gaylord, were again alerted.

During the search that followed conservation agents Jack Huntly and Louis Schultz located the cottage and found all four dead, it was reported.

State Troopers were immediately called in. Troopers said the four were all lying with their heads toward doors. It appeared that they made an attempt to get out of the cabin.

The father and both sons were found in pajamas. Mrs. Groover was wearing slacks, shoes, and a blouse and had evidently rolled off a couch in the front of the cabin, troopers stated.

Authorities described the cabin as containing one long room with a kitchen at one end and living room at the other, and two bedrooms on either side in the rear.

One of the boys was in bed. The father and his other son were on the floor near the stove in the rear.

The cottage was of cement block construction. Troopers said that there were few cottages in the general area and no close neighbors.

The Groovers lived on a 160-acre farm owned by George Bass, a local man who owns several farms in the county.

Groover worked on his farm and several others in the area. He had remained there after his parents sold the farm to Bass and moved to Oxford a number of years ago, relatives said.

Florida Battens for Gale as Ella Lashes Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Ella whistled up the center of Cuba today, about 350 miles south southeast of Miami. Winds of 60 miles an hour were forecast for the Florida Straits.

Flash flooding was expected in central and western Cuba as Ella extended its gale force winds outward 150 miles to the north and 50 miles to the south.

Gale warnings were in effect from Palm Beach, and Fort Myers, Fla. southward to the Florida Keys and Florida Straits.

Walter Davis, Miami Weather Bureau forecaster, warned that winds would increase to 30 to 40 m.p.h. today and probably reach velocities of 50 to 60 miles an hour in squalls in the Straits.

Reports from Cuba indicated Ella broke up some while passing through the mountainous sections of eastern Cuba.

This is the region where rebel Fidel Castro and his men have been fighting the Cuban government.

Highest winds were estimated in the morning advisory at 75 miles an hour in squalls in a small area near Ella's center.

The season's third hurricane was about 50 miles west of Camaguey, Cuba, and 300 miles southeast of Key West.

There was a touch of autumn in the air in the Eastern third of the country and in the Pacific Northwest today.

It was below freezing in Michigan's Upper Peninsula as the cool Canadian air fanned across the north central and Great Lakes region. Some of the chilly air seeped from the Northeast into parts of the Southeast.

Between the two cool air masses covering the Northeast and Pacific Northwest, the warming trend of the past two days continued. Thunderstorms erupted from Kansas into West Central Illinois during the night. Wind gusts up to nearly 50 m.p.h. lashed at Russell, Kan. and rain pelted Fort Smith, Ark.

Recover Several Bodies

Military Transport Plane Crashes in Pacific Ocean

AGANA, Guam (UPI) — A C124 Globemaster with 18 persons aboard crashed in the Pacific to-day about 50 miles west of Guam. Fragmentary reports indicated at least several persons aboard the plane were killed.

The four-engine Military Air Transport Service (MATS) plane was en route to the Far East at the time of the crash. It went down after taking off from Guam for the Philippines.

U. S. Navy destroyers reported to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, that they had recovered some bodies from the sea. The destroyers did not say how many were recovered.

An Air Force spokesman said "some debris was sighted" in the area by Air Force and Navy search units.

A spokesman at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., said the plane is "one of ours." He said it left Travis "four or five days ago."

Information at Travis was that the plane carried seven crewmen and 12 passengers.

In Washington, an Air Force spokesman said the plane was based at Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, N. M.

ELLA KEEPS ON MOVE — Map shows probable continuing west-northwest course of Hurricane Ella, center of which was located 50 miles west of Camaguey, Cuba, and 300 miles southeast of Key West, Fla., today. For Third Successive Night

Race Riots Plague London

LONDON (AP) — Race rioters rampaged through London's Notting Hill district last night for the third successive night.

It was early morning before police with big Alsatian dogs cleared the streets of the mob of more than 2,000 whites, most of them teenagers.

The rioters systematically smashed windows of Negro homes. The embattled residents retaliated by hurling bottles from their roofs. One homemade gasoline bomb also was thrown down, but the fire was put out quickly.

One white man was stabbed in the shoulder. Scores of other persons had minor injuries.

Police arrested 34 persons, bringing to 57 the total arrested in London since racial disturbances broke out again Saturday night.

In the neighboring Paddington district, gangs of white youths wrecked a cafe frequented by Negroes.

Britain's racial friction stems from competition — for housing, jobs and girls — between native-born poor whites and the swelling tide of colored immigrants from the West Indies and other areas of the Commonwealth.

Nottingham also had weekend race violence. There a mob of 1,000 whites moved on the city's colored quarter Sunday night but police patrols drove them off. Five of the rioters were sentenced to three months in prison and 19 were fined.

Home Secretary Richard A. Butler was reported satisfied that the police could handle the situation. But he ordered a special report on the riots.

A social worker in Notting Hill said the rampaging teenagers "are just looking for excitement."

U.S. to Propose Space Program

Lodge to Reveal in U.N. Plans for International Cooperation in Field

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States will propose in the United Nations in a few weeks a program for international cooperation in the field of outer space.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. representative to the U.N., announced today the program will be presented at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Without going into any details of the U.S. plan, Lodge said in an address prepared for the annual national convention of the American Legion: "No matter what happens, study and exploration of outer space will go on and will take man where no human being has gone before. This will affect every man, woman and child in the world—and can be to their great benefit."

Lodge added that the United States will continue efforts to reach agreements, consistent with national security, in an effort to increase prospects that outer space will not be used for military purposes.

"But even as we work for such agreements, an important start must be made now in opening this new realm for the benefit of all mankind," he added.

"The United Nations, therefore, should immediately consider what it can do in this field; what outer space projects for peaceful purposes can be undertaken under U.N. auspices; and what sort of organization the U.N. can build so that the nations will work together in outer space."

Lodge said the United States wants to see outer space used to enrich the lives of all persons living on this planet.

"We trust that our proposal will get the support of other nations and that, together, we can move forward toward this goal with the courage and vision of our early pioneers," he said.

Lodge said new space knowledge can be applied usefully to medicine, communications, transportation and many other fields, including knowledge of the weather.

He added that progress in this field will be faster, cheaper and more efficient if all nations concerned agree to work together.

"Some practical program for international cooperation in the scientific and peaceful study and exploration of outer space must be set up," he said.

Lodge also predicted anew attempt undoubtedly will be made again in the next few weeks to admit Communist China to the U.N.

He said the United States, which has blocked such moves on more than 30 previous occasions, "will undoubtedly deal with it successfully."

Gasoline Strike Ends

Pick Segregationist to Head S. Africa

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) — Hendrik Frensch Verwoerd, chief architect and executive of South Africa's policy of white supremacy and segregation, became the nation's prime minister today.

He succeeded the late Johannes G. Strijdom.

Verwoerd was chosen by a parliamentary caucus of the National party after two ballots. The decision of the National party to turn the reins of government over to an uncompromising advocate of apartheid — segregation — apparently means that the party is determined to pursue its rigid policy of racial segregation.

Verwoerd is the youngest of three possible candidates for the post. The other two were Charles R. Swart and Theophilus E. Danges.

Strijdom died Aug. 24 and was buried at Pretoria Saturday after a state funeral.

Iceland, British Sailors Battle

Coast Guard Attempts to Seize English Boat in Fishing Dispute

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — A hand-to-hand battle between British trawlermen and Icelandic coastguardsmen took place on the seas off Iceland's east coast today.

An official statement, broadcast by the government-owned radio, gave the Icelandic people a graphic account of the fight.

It said a rough battle ensued when an Iceland gunboat's crew attempted to seize the British trawler Northern Foam. The British frigate Eastbourne steamed to the trawler's side and took the Icelanders off, the radio said.

All this happened 300 miles from Reykjavik in the waters off the fishing village of Balatangi. It is the first reported violent contact in the nearly two-day old fishing dispute between Iceland and Britain.

The British Embassy here said the Eastbourne was awaiting specific instructions what to do with the captured Icelandic coastguardsmen.

The Icelandic coast guard emphasized that its men were unarmed.

The government-owned radio said in its midday broadcast that six Icelanders went aboard the British trawlermen armed with Northern Foam unarmed. But, it said, the Icelanders were met by British trawlermen armed with cutlasses.

The Icelanders overpowered the trawlermen and resistance ceased, the radio said.

When the coastguardsmen were trying to take the trawler into port, the British frigate Eastbourne sailed into the fray.

"The Eastbourne put men on the trawler," said the radio, "and captured the Icelanders."

"The British navy then took the captured Icelanders on board the Eastbourne," the radio said.

On Sept. 1, Iceland extended its fishing limit from 4 to 12 miles. This is what the controversy with Britain is about.

Foreign Minister Gudmundur Gudmundsson said Iceland had protested to London the "use of force by the British navy."

In a broadcast to his north Atlantic island said he had ordered Iceland's ambassador in Paris to report the incident to NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak.

Private talks arranged by Spaak broke down in Paris last Friday after Iceland rejected a proposal to share foreigners' catch and extend its territorial waters only six miles to seaward.

British Prime Minister Macmillan offered Sunday to resume these talks but added the dispute might be handed to the U.N. General Assembly meeting Sept. 16.

Feeling ran high against Britain among the 162,000 citizens of the Virginia-sized island. An armed guard was posted at the home of British Ambassador Andrew Gilchrist as a precaution.

British fishermen have been casting their nets in the cold waters off Iceland for decades and claim it is a traditional right.

They say Iceland has no legal right to extend its territorial boundary beyond the four miles it claimed until last Sunday midnight.

Iceland contended the wider zone was necessary both to protect the fish spawning grounds and to preserve a large enough share of the catch for Icelandic fishermen, the economic backbone of the nation.

Report Two Break-Ins in Waterford Township

Two Waterford Township buildings were broken into sometime last night, according to Waterford Township Police.

Approximately $58 was taken from a desk drawer in a gas station at 4805 Dixie Hwy., according to Kenneth Bellefeuille, owner. Entrance was gained after breaking a window.

A home owned by Charles Warner at 2220 Marston St., was ransacked and thieves stole an undetermined number of items. A basement window had been smashed.

Children Enter Contests at State Fair Today

DETROIT (AP) — Children have their day at the Michigan State Fair today with pie eating for the boys and pony tail hairdo contests for the girls highlighting the program.

Judging also gets under way for horses, cattle, sheep and swine.

Despite chilly winds, attendance yesterday exceeded that on Labor Day a year ago with 135,853 going through the gates compared with 121,861 in 1957.

Attendance for the first four days this year was 412,304 against 401,556 in the same period last year.

An auto plant worker walked off with virtually every blue ribbon possible in the waterfowl judging yesterday. He is Linus G. Winter, of suburban Romulus.

The Day in Birmingham

Holiday Weekend Brings Only 1 Injury Accident

BIRMINGHAM—Bloomfield Hills had the only injury auto accident in this area over the Labor Day weekend.

A three-car collision yesterday afternoon at Long Lake road and Woodward avenue, it sent two Detroit men to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

They were Eugene Polk, 40, who was treated for head injuries, and John Skinner, 61, a passenger in Polk's car, who is at the hospital with facial injuries.

Polk is being held at the Oakland County Jail on a charge of reckless driving, according to Bloomfield Hills Police.

They said his auto struck a car driven by Frank Lewis, 23, of Detroit, shoving it into a third vehicle driven by Walter Rajiwski, 41, also of Detroit.

The latter two cars were stopped on Woodward, waiting for the traffic signal to change, police said.

On the agenda of tonight's City Commission meeting will be a hearing of the Brookside alley.

A proposal for concrete paving of the alley has drawn objections from residents who use it. Several plans have been presented, ranging from a $6,500 concrete surfacing to a sealcoat treatment which would cost $500.

Property owners involved have expressed their approval of a 12-foot pavement at $820. This would include a sub-base of crushed rock with a final sealcoat toppling.

Confirmation of the special assessment rolls for the Bates and Henrietta street sidewalks also will be considered by commissioners.

Graduating with the September class of Harper Hospital School of Nursing will be Ruth Yeomans, of 2216 Northlawn Ave., Birmingham. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Yeomans.

Ruling Sought in Integration

Judge Pressed to Order Virginia Schools Admit Negro Students

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Attorneys for 30 Negro children come into court in this northern Virginia city today to press Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan for a ruling that their clients should be admitted to Arlington County white schools on Thursday.

The Arlington desegregation suit finally reached its showdown phase after days of speculation and uncertainty regarding the status of Bryan's 1957 desegregation order applying to five of the children. The order was later stayed by appeals.

The hearing today may resolve into a court test of the amended Virginia Pupil Placement Act under which the State Placement Board rejected the 30 Negro applications for admission to white schools a week ago.

The Arlington school board is expected to tell Bryan it has done all it can in complying with his order and the Negroes will go to Negro schools unless he rules otherwise. The children have been interviewed by the state placement unit and their applications turned down.

The board has also indicated it will assign the children to white schools if Bryan so orders.

At Norfolk, Federal Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman will hear arguments tomorrow night from attorneys representing eight Negro children who have been denied transfer to white schools. The board previously reported to Hoffman it plans to assign 17 other Negro children to white schools but asked the jurist to give it until September 1959 to carry out the assignments.

British Trawlers Enter Area

Defy Iceland's Sea Limit

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI)—British fishing trawlers defied Iceland's new 12-mile limit today but the Icelandic coast guard used cameras instead of guns against the vessels entering disputed waters.

The extension of Iceland's coastal limits from four miles to 12 miles went into effect at midnight and trawler convoys under protection of four British naval frigates crossed the line immediately, backed by a "freedom of the seas" declaration in London.

Six Icelandic coast guard vessels and a seaplane went out to enforce the new limit but officials in Reykjavik said there would be no shooting. They said sooner or later the British trawlers will be forced to take shelter in Icelandic ports to escape winter gales and skippers whose boats have been photographed will be arrested.

"Time is working for Iceland," one official said. "Britain cannot win by these tactics nor by any others."

Reports that Soviet submarines were "observing" off the Icelandic coast could not be confirmed. The Soviets have backed Iceland in the dispute with Britain.

(The British Broadcasting Corporation said armed British and Icelandic ships made contact this morning but no incidents occurred.)

(An Icelandic gunboat, the Eglia, steamed up to a British trawler inside the 12-mile zone, circled the trawler, and then hove to nearby. The British frigate Russell rushed to the scene and the Icelandic vessel retired without incident.)

The lone Catalina seaplane of the Icelandic coast guard circled over the British vessel today but merely kept them under observation.

TRAFFIC JAM — Motorists on the Valley Highway north of Denver recently had an additional traffic problem to cope with as a caravan of elephants from Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus arrived in Denver. Cars were lined up bumper for bumper for half a mile behind the lumbering elephants, who moved at a leisurely pace.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Rita, a 150-pound chimpanzee, broke out of her cage at a zoo crowded with Labor Day visitors and knocked the stuffings out of her owner.

"When I saw her I chased her," said Les Lindvig, 42, operator of the small zoo. "With all those people there, something had to be done."

But the 5-year-old chimpanzee was too much for Lindvig. "I was like putty in her hands," he said. "She dragged me all over the ground."

Lindvig grabbed a pop bottle and slugged her across the face. It broke. He grabbed another, and then Rita cowered. He forced her back into the cage. Sheriff's deputies had to shoot the animal, valued by Lindvig at about $800. "I'm no hero," said Lindvig. "I'm still scared."

Foreign Correspondents Fired Upon by Red Boats

(AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards and AP Photographer Fred Waters were in a group of 18 foreign correspondents going to Quemoy when Communist torpedo boats intercepted their convoy early today. This is Edwards' account of the battle.)

By FORREST EDWARDS

MAKUNG, Pescadores (AP) — Fred Waters and I were halfway down the landing nets, handing down our gear to the men in the small boat below, when the first shell broke near us at about 12:40 this morning.

The small landing boat broke away from our landing ship and Waters and I were left dangling there. We climbed back up on deck.

Eight foreign correspondents and six Chinese reporters and about 30 troops were already in our small boat and another one being loaded on the other side of our landing ship.

Our convoy consisted of our landing ship carrying 400 men to reinforce Quemoy and several escort patrol boats. We had been fighting rough seas all the way and dropped anchor six miles off shore to get into the small boats when the Communists attacked.

The Red torpedo boats kept up a running battle with our flotilla for an hour and 10 minutes. We took evasive action and tried to pick up the men in the small boats, but we could not find them in the darkness. Officers on our ship said they thought the small boats would be able to make it to shore.

There were no hits on our landing ship, an LSM (landing ship medium), but the Reds fired many rounds across our bow and aft.

This morning as we headed back to the Pescadores (about 80 miles southeast of Quemoy) we had a 20-minute submarine alert. For about an hour before the naval battle, we could see heavy Communist shelling of Quemoy from shore batteries.

and James Bell, Time, Inc.; Greg McGregor, New York Times; Bruce Russell, Reuters; Charles Smith, United Press International; Larry Miller and Al Cramer, Pacific Stars and Stripes; and Alfred Smular, Paris-Match.

In addition to Waters and me, correspondents who were forced to return to the Pescadores were Fran Robertson, London Daily Telegraph; Peter Kalisher and Wade Bingham, Columbia Broadcasting System; Francis Lara, Agence France Press; Norman Williams, United Press International; Frank Huntley, American Broadcasting Co.; Rembert James Copley News Service; and Berttram Jones, London Daily Express.

This morning one of the Nationalist escort patrol boats was brought into the Pescadores under tow. It had been hit and damaged in the battle. I counted three wounded.

The correspondents who made it into the small boats and headed for Quemoy were John Dominus

Legion Will Go to Work Today

Tackling Serious Side of National Convention in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—After a week-end of parading and merry-making, the American Legion moves into the serious aspects of its 40th annual national convention today.

Some 3,000 delegates, in three days of business sessions in the Chicago Stadium, are to pass on some 600 resolutions ranging from child welfare to "Americanism."

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy speaks tonight at the annual National Commander's Dinner.

An all-day parade along Michigan Avenue by some 50,000 marchers, units of all military services and their massed colors, decorative floats and about 8,000 musicians featured the Labor Day activities.

An estimated 500,000 persons dressed in coats or heavy sweaters watched the parade in chilly 60-degree temperature.

In one prepared resolution, the Legion will be asked to reject a proposal for a general pension for all World War I veterans in favor of an increase in present nonservice disability pension rates and relaxation of outside income restriction governing such pension.

In a prepared address, Ross L. Malone, president of the American Bar Assn., asked for Legion backing for the bar's "campaign to increase the effectiveness of our courts by removing the selection of the judges of state courts from the arena of partisan politics."

Malone told the convention judicial reform plans have been adopted in Missouri, California and Alaska and are in various stages of consideration in Illinois, Kansas, Ohio, Oregon, West Virginia and Iowa.

He said that "in contributing to the removal of the state courts from partisan politics you will be increasing the confidence of our citizens in their courts and thereby making another contribution to the maintenance of our representative form of government."
