GMC Gets Big Fleet Order

Express Agency
Purchases 1,000
Delivery Trucks

Trend to Automatic Drive Cited by Head of Local Division

Largest single order for trucks in its history has been received by GMC Truck & Coach Div. here. The division will build 1,000 trucks equipped with hydramatic drive for Railway Express Agency. The order is to be completed by early next year.

Railway Express revealed in New York today that the huge order is part of 3,000 pickup and delivery trucks being purchased at a cost of nine and a half million dollars. In addition to the big share of work for GMC Truck, five other automotive plants have part of the work.

Cost of the 1,000 trucks to be built here was not revealed, but GMC Truck will build a third of the vehicles.

The order is proof that the era of automatic transmissions for trucks has arrived. Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the GMC Truck & Coach Division, said today.

Although sales percentages of GMC trucks with hydramatic have been increasing steadily over the past year, the Express agency purchase of such equipment not only comprises the largest truck fleet order in trucking history but places a confident stamp of approval in a sweeping manner on hydramatic for the economical operation of a great transportation agency, Monaghan said.

The transmission for the 1,000 trucks is the GMC 4-speed truck hydramatic, introduced to the trucking industry almost two years ago. Since then, GMC has offered an 8-speed hydramatic for medium duty trucks and a twin hydramatic for heavy duty units to round out the first and only complete line of hydramatic trucks.

"This truck is ideally suited for city delivery work, Monaghan said. "The automatic transmission assures a more economical and efficient operation, by cutting maintenance costs and eliminating any need for slow and wearisome gear shifting."

Railway Express Agency said truck-chassis equipment also will be supplied by the Fargo Motor Division (Dodge) of Chrysler Corp.; Ford Motor Co.; and International Harvester Co.

Truck bodies to complete the unit are being built by Gerstner-Slanger Co., Wooster, Ohio; York-Hoover Body Corp., York, Pa.; and Metropolitan Body Corp., International Harvester Co. subsidiary, Bridgeport, Conn.

30 Dead as Jet Fuel Tank Explodes at German Depot

BITBURG, Germany (U)—At least 30 persons were listed as dead today and five more believed missing in the explosion of a 120,000-gallon tank of American jet fuel. Investigators said they had ruled out sabotage.

There were no American casualties in the blast here in the French zone yesterday, near the Luxembourg border.

Weather to Remain Brisk in Pontiac

In a five-day forecast, the U. S. Weather Bureau says there will be continued brisk weather for the Pontiac area.

Temperatures are expected to average three to six degrees below the normal minimum of 50 maximum of 70. Saturday through Monday will turn a little cooler with little change thereafter.

Showers are expected Saturday night and Sunday and scattered showers by the middle of next week. Rainfall is expected to total about one-quarter of an inch. Saturday will be partly cloudy with a low of 32 to 36.

Downtown temperatures yesterday ranged from 39 in the early morning to a high of 63 at mid-afternoon.

This morning at 8 o'clock the mercury stood at 50 degrees, rising to 64 by 2 p.m.

Pollen count was down to zero today, and the County Health Department says it will be the last count of the year.

Leonard Blasts Gov. Williams' Road Program

STURGIS (U)—Donald S. Leonard, Republican nominee for governor, has accused Gov. G. Mennen Williams of failing to solve the state's highway problems.

Leonard, in campaign speeches in St. Joseph County yesterday, said Williams promised "to take Michigan out of the mud in 1948." "But in 1949 he balked at recommendations of the Good Roads Federation. In 1950 he refused to submit that program to a special legislative session and in 1951 he vetoed the good roads program," Leonard said.

Leonard charged Williams changed his stand only because this was an election year.

"In this election year, the governor suddenly has changed his tune to become the champion of good roads and advocate a proposed $500,000,000 bond issue for highway construction."

Dick Nixon's Brother Drafted for Oct. 13

YORK, Pa. (U)—York County Draft Board 174 reported today it has called Edward Calvert Nixon, 24, younger brother of Vice President Richard Nixon, for induction into the armed services Oct. 13.

The board said that Edward Nixon has transferred his address from York county to Whittier, Calif., and will probably report for induction there.

Nixon registered in York county in 1948 when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nixon lived at nearby Mages Mills. He graduated from West York high school and received college degrees from Duke University and North Carolina State University in geology.

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U)—Romeo Johnson lost a wallet containing $39 while working on a water main project two years ago. Working on a sewer project on the same street yesterday he saw a fellow worker uncover the wallet 15 feet from where he lost it. The money was all there, too.

President Sees 'Inaction' Unless GOP Is Winner

Warns Party Workers Against Split Between Executive—Congress

LOS ANGELES (UP)—President Eisenhower says he wants a Republican victory in the coming congressional elections to save the government from "deterioration, stagnation and inaction."

Speaking before 18,000 party workers in the Hollywood Bowl last night, Eisenhower said a Democratic Congress and a Republican White House would result in an "endless round of political maneuverings."

He urged the GOP campaigners to "go to work" to guarantee the administration a friendly Congress.

The chief executive was scheduled to speak briefly today before the American Federation of Labor convention—an admittedly hostile audience. The AFL has denounced the administration for "many crimes of omission and commission."

Eisenhower denounced anti-administration "peddlers" of "false fears" and predicted the Republicans will "ride forward over their gloom-filled talk and their cynical doubt."

In a fighting mood, the President sought to whip up enthusiasm for the Republican cause among the party faithful.

"We are determined to fulfill every commitment that we have made to the American people," he said.

"The conduct of government tends, under these conditions, to deteriorate into an endless round of political maneuverings, of stagnation and inaction—of half measures or no measures at all."

In his strongest appeal to date in the stepped-up party effort to elect a friendly Congress, the President called for a rekindling of the GOP campaign enthusiasm of 1952.

"I am convinced that the great majority of Americans think that we have done a good job," he said. "But the very confidence that they now have in our government has understandably diminished their constant and active participation in its affairs."

"It is our task to reactivate that participation. It is our task again to organize this great majority actively in our cause."

Dem Achievements Cited by Governor

IRON RIVER (U)—The Republicans are ignoring "evidences of progress all around you" when they charge there is a stalemate in Lansing, Gov. Williams said.

In a speech yesterday, the governor said that "the Republican candidate must have looked the other way when he crossed the Straits of Mackinac the other day. Or maybe he would call the rising piers and foundations of the world's largest bridge evidence of a stalemate at the Straits."

"The past few years," the governor said, "since we have had Democrats in Lansing to work for your interests, have been years of unparalleled progress. The evidences of progress are all around you—even my opponent could see them if he wanted to look."

Meanwhile the executive office at Lansing issued a statement in which the governor said somebody is trying to use Mayor Albert E. Cobo in the Republican campaign.

Engineer Averts Train Accident

Blame 12-Year-Old Boy for Near-Mishap After Putting Tie on Tracks

A train accident was averted yesterday near Oxford when a sharp-eyed engineer stopped his train after spotting a railroad tie which police said had been put across the tracks by a 12-year-old boy.

The 52-car Grand Trunk freight was northbound in the village limits to pick up gravel, when the engineer, Tom Emerson of 100 Miami, spotted the tie near Glaspie street.

Police said the 12-year-old had put the tie on the tracks while he was accompanying another lad, 15, to his home.

The force of the sudden stop hurled the train's conductor, E. Y. Shelton, of 18 Hartung Ct. the length of the caboose but did not injure him seriously, according to Bruce L. Miller, Pontiac train master.

Oxford Patrolman Harold Seitz collared the boys shortly after the near-accident. The pair were taken to their homes to await appearance in Oakland County Juvenile Court Sept. 24.

Seitz said the 12-year-old told him he could not move the tie from the tracks, after putting it there and the older boy did not attempt to help, so they continued on.

Silberman Says No Income Tax Paid on Excess

Maryland Sportsman Testifies in Detroit at Senate Hearing

DETROIT (U)—A one-time $2,600-a-year Federal Housing Administration employee, now a wealthy builder and sportsman, testified today he got approximately a million dollars more in FHA guaranteed loans than four housing projects cost him to build.

He is Saul Silberman of Baltimore. He testified before the Senate Banking Committee which is investigating FHA operations.

Silberman testified no income tax had been paid on the million dollar loan excess which he received in 1950 and 1951. But he acknowledged loans had been made to himself and race courses in which he is interested out of the excess funds.

Silberman testified Uplands, Inc., which he and Ralph DeChario owned, loaned the Randall Park Jockey Club, Inc., of Cleveland, Ohio, $304,335; the Painesville (Ohio) Racetrack, $20,000; and Tropical Race Course at Miami, $25,130.

In addition, Silberman acknowledged officers had borrowed $549,446, of which he got $311,000.

Silberman is president of the Randall, Painesville and Tropical racetracks and is also chairman of the executive committee of the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. He said the Browns never had made a loan from Uplands.

Committee Counsel William Simon acknowledged "there is absolutely nothing illegal" about income taxes not having been paid on the million dollar excess, but got from Silberman an acknowledgment that the money would have been taxable had it been distributed to stockholders and not held by the company.

Silberman interjected that he paid personal income taxes of $90,000 last year and that he is paying 4 per cent interest for (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Finds No Violence in Death of Infant

An autopsy today of a baby found abandoned July 19 in a deserted shack in Avon Township showed that no violence was connected with the baby's death.

Oakland County Prosecutor Fred C. Ziem stated that an examination of the exhumed body revealed that the baby girl was premature and was born dead. The mother was unattended at the time.

Dr. John J. Marra, pathologist at Pontiac General Hospital, performed the post-mortem this morning. The child's body was disinterred from Mt. Avon Cemetery on Ziem's order yesterday, so that exact cause of death might be determined.

Authorities are still searching for the child's mother, Ziem said.

Cultural Center Proposal Poses Planning Problems

"Would Pontiac support such a large cultural center, with the city being so close to Detroit?"

That was the first question asked by City Planner Henry Smith when asked his opinion of an outline for a 60-acre cultural center in the Pontiac High School section.

Other problems Smith thought might crop up in planning such a center:

"It would mean having to create a new zoning classification." (In the plan outlined by Harold L. Blackwood in Wednesday's Pontiac Press, residential and commercial zoning in the area bounded by Washington, Williams, Orchard Lake and Palmer street would be zoned institutional. There is now no such classification.)

"Too, people in the area might feel that what they might realize from the property would be somewhat less if it were classed otherwise."

Smith thought there also might be opposition to taking such a large section from city's residential and business lands.

From the files Smith drew a copy of the city's master plan.

Former 4-H Agent Describes Conditions in Mexico

"Agricultural methods in the Mexican village of Tepoztlan had gone unchanged for centuries. We introduced the miracle of the post-hole digger."

This was the condition of the Mexican village when Robert L. Lewis went there in 1948 as an agricultural advisor for the International Y. M. C. A.

In a talk before the local Rotary club here yesterday Lewis described his experiences while improving conditions there.

Previous to his Mexican assignment, Lewis was district leader of 4-H clubs for Oakland and Macomb counties, and county supervisor for the Farra Security Assn.

"Tepoztlan is a two hour drive from Mexico City. It's a place that had not seen a wheel before 1937," he said.

"The Mexicans are not a lazy people, as most Americans believe," Lewis stated. "In fact, they have no chance to be lazy... they have to struggle to survive."

Y. M. C. A. and missionary work was the forerunner of the present work of agricultural programs. The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. of Mexico saw the need for a school, hospital and improved living standards. Land was bought by the "Y" and space established for boys to learn improved methods of farming.

Lewis moved into the village with his family after three months study of the language in Mexico City.

"Still it took three more months in the village before we began to be understood," he explained.

In an effort to learn what the villagers were interested in, Lewis asked several of them what they would like to see done. Instead of shedding light on their desires "the citizens spent an hour telling us what they didn't like," he laughed.

"So we began going into the village and doing things without telling them about it," he continued.

"Soon the improvements were noticed and the villagers began coming to us to learn how they could do the same for themselves. This was what we wanted," Lewis explained.

League Program Points Up Sewage, Water Problems

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—The seriousness of the situation regarding Oakland County's water supply and sewage pollution problems were reiterated this week at a program at the Community House sponsored by the county council of the League of Women Voters.

T. Ledyard Blakeman, chairman of the Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission, outlined the overall problem and possible solutions to an adequate water supply.

Several acute sewage situations existing not only in the county but throughout the state, were pointed out by Donald Pierce, chief of the sewage and sewage treatment division of the Michigan Health Department.

He showed what had been done or was being started—as is the case in Birmingham—to alleviate such conditions.

Birmingham City Manager Donald C. Egbert again explained the proposed $2,740,000 Evergreen Interceptor sewer, which would permit Birmingham and surrounding municipalities to abate pollution of the upper Rouge Valley, as ordered by the Michigan water Resources Commission. Sewage would flow through the interceptor into the Detroit system for treatment.

Only holdout in the project which the County Board of Supervisors approved this week, is the City of Lathrup Village. Egbert said yesterday that the Lathrup City Council took no affirmative action at a Wednesday meeting.

The council agreed in principle, Egbert pointed out, but still questions Lathrup's share of the costs or the number of connection units.

"In computing the proportionate share of costs, one unit per vacant lot was designated," he continued. "But past experience shows that homes are not built that way. Some homes are constructed on one and a half lots and there are always some lots that remain vacant forever."

"The number of estimated units is materially in excess of the number they'll have, but this would also hold true in Southfield Township or Birmingham," said Egbert. In concluding Egbert said, "Because any delay will only mean additional costs, the district may have to go ahead without Lathrup, but their own engineer has advised them it was foolish to consider any other method."

Considerable discussion over use of the city's Shain Park took place this week when the City Commission met with Edwin Gage and Richard Freund, West Maple property owners who feel that their share in a special assessment for a proposed off-street parking lot does not conform with benefits they would receive.

The parking lot would be in the block bounded by Pierce, Merrill, Woodward and Brown. Sharing equally in the assessment district would be the city and benefitting property owners.

Lawmakers felt the commission should have the advice of the city attorney and the advantage of comments from others included in the district before determining the benefits. They did feel the men had some justification in their claim, however.

Regarding Shain Park, City Manager Donald C. Egbert said yesterday, "The commission is firm in being against a plan to use the park as a parking lot. They feel that citizens in general would not approve, and they are individuals, are of the same opinion."

An important consideration, he added, is that "Birmingham has to retain its character and charm if it is to maintain its values as a residential community."

An open house for the church school of the First Baptist Church will begin at 7:30 tonight. All parents, children and friends are invited to attend.

A goal of $186,338 has been set for the annual United Foundation Torch Drive campaign in this area. It was announced yesterday by John K. Stevenson, chairman of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Franklin drive.

The over-all goal of $13,250,000 was arrived at by the Metropolitan Board of the U.F.

Stevenson said this is the largest single cooperative effort in the community's history. The quota compares with last year's $152,715, with increases due partly to continued rise in area population and greater demands upon the 150 health and welfare agencies within the U.F.

The greatest increase is due to the inclusion of the Red Cross, in the Torch Drive for the first time.

Fall confirmation classes will begin tomorrow at St. James Episcopal Church, with ages 9 to 11 meeting at 10 a.m. Youngsters aged 12 to 16 will meet at 11 a.m. Adult classes start at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Autumn visitors to the gardens of Cranbrook House will find hundreds of flowers in bloom, many formal plantings and shrubs at their peak, and 40 acres of landscaped park just donning fall colors.

The gardens are open Saturdays from 2 to 5:30 and Sundays from 2 to 6:30 p.m. They are operated by the scholarship committees of Kingswood and Cranbrook Schools. A nominal admission fee is charged to benefit outstanding students needing scholarship assistance.

Members of Pembroke Manor subdivision association will again dance to the music of Bobby Dickerson at a party starting at 8:30 tonight at Bonnie Brook Country Club, Telegraph at 8 Mile roads.

Launching its fall program on Monday is the YMCA, which is already taking registrations for the YMCA play club which will meet Wednesday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Membership in the Y is a prerequisite for the group, which will make trips, hike, hear sports lectures, participate in sports activities and do craft work.

The Indian Guides, Gra Y, Jr. H-Y and H-YV will also get underway next week.

There was little idea of what health measures were. Pit toilets were introduced only after three years of effort.

Now there is a health program and nursery school. A trained nurse is part of the program and has delivered 1500 babies, losing only one, and has handled 15,000 clinic cases in the last five years.

The nursery school takes care of the younger children. They are charged one egg for each two days of attendance, Mr. Lewis explained. "It makes them feel a part of it," he added.

A playground and camp were built near the village as part of the parent - sponsored youth program. It was dedicated last year on the village meeting ground and playing field.

The camp, Lewis reports, is now the only organized camp in Mexico and in great demand.

According to Lewis, the idea behind the building of the camp was to get people to come into the area to see the improvement wrought under the advisement program.

Since it attracts a great number of people, from Mexico City, word of the progress of the community gets back to government officials. "The government has taken notice," Lewis said.

Lewis is on a leave of absence for further study at Cornell University.

He stated that his four years here were a real help in preparing for his work in Mexico.

Lewis graduated from Mississippi State College of Agriculture, and holds a masters degree from George Williams College in Chicago.

Nationalist Bombardment in 22nd Day at Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—Nationalist planes and warships today raided the China coast for the 22nd straight day as speculation mounted here that the fighting around Quemoy might spread.

Informed quarters said there were some indications that the hostilities touched off by a five-hour Communist bombardment of Quemoy Sept. 3 might mark active resumption of the civil war, all but dormant since 1949 when the Reds won the mainland.

company. He repeatedly insisted upon explaining his answers and at one point Chairman Capehart (R-Ind.) told him, "We have had more trouble with you than with any other witness."

Silberman told the committee he "resented these news stories" about a former FHA employee making "big windfall profits."

He added, "I left FHA 17 years ago, before 608 (authority for loans for rental property development) was even in the law."

He complained, "The committee got all the facts in executive session and is now after publicity to make a show."

On questioning by Capehart, Silberman conceded he had told the committee in executive session he wouldn't have built the four projects "if you couldn't have made money out of the mortgages."

Silberman testified that a loan for construction of Fairfax Gardens, Inc. in Baltimore lacked $16,000 of covering all costs. This, he said, was the only one of the four housing developments in which the loan did not exceed the costs.

Meade Heights, a housing development outside Ft. Meade, Md., was built by him, Silberman testified, on government land for which he pays a $750 yearly rental on a 75-year lease.

On Meade Heights, Silberman testified his FHA-insured loan totaled $295,000 more than costs. Each of the four corporations Silberman and Dechario formed to build the four projects was capitalized at $1,000. Both he and the committee agreed on this.

Yesterday Silberman said that on two of three projects FHA-guaranteed loans totaled $772,000 more than his costs, if salaries he and a partner paid themselves and profits on land they sold themselves were deleted.

As today's hearings opened U. S. marshals had orders to arrest Mrs. Ruth Stokes, of Detroit. She failed to appear yesterday. Chairman Capehart said she had been served a subpoena and was in contempt.

Mrs. Stokes was named by one witness as the person who arranged a $1,200 home improvement loan which her husband used to "pay me off" for a divorce.

The witness was Mildred Redmond, of Detroit, who said Mrs. Stokes charged her $200 she got out of the loan for arranging it.

Mrs. Stokes and a Jack Chiski of Detroit were among 12 missing 30 witnesses when the hearings got under way. Capehart threatened all with contempt, but ordered one arrest only after Chiski appeared belatedly and said he would be on hand today.

Board Resigns in Racial Row

Milford, Del., Schools Ordered Reopened by State Officials

DOVER, Del. (INS)—The town of Milford, Del., where public schools have been closed for a week in a segregation row, is also without a school board today.

Three remaining members of the board quit their posts last night when the State Board of Education ordered them to reopen the schools next Monday.

The schools were shut last Monday by the Milford board after threats of violence were received over the admission of 11 Negroes to Milford's high school. Previously, Negro pupils journeyed to a high school in Dover, 30 miles away.

The state board's decision rescinding the order of the Milford board was taken after a conference of members of both boards last night in the state capital.

The state board said the Milford officials failed to comply with its directive requiring local schools to submit plans for desegregation before they became effective.

The state board added that the opinions of State Attorney General H. Albert Young in connection with its directives on desegregation were unclear, and asked Gov. J. Caleb Boggs to seek an opinion from the State Supreme Court.

Young on Wednesday told the Milford board that its action in admitting the 11 Negro pupils not only was within the law, but was no more than it would have been forced to do if the parents of the Negro children had filed a court suit.

Howard B. Lynch, attorney for the Milford board, said the quitting members did not wish to take responsibility for reopening the schools. A fourth board member quit earlier this week.

Japanese Bitterly Mourn Victim of H-Bomb Tests

TOKYO (U)—Japan plunged into almost hysterical mourning today over the death last night of a 40-year-old fisherman who has become the nation's symbol of hatred and fear of atomic weapons.

Newspapers and radio broadcasts were virtually turned over to news of Aikichi Kuboyama's death. Much of the comment was anti-American, but not violently so.

A U.S.-educated Japanese newspaper editor said only the death of an Emperor could have commanded similar attention in the nation's press.

Kuboyama was one of 23 fishermen accidentally dusted by radioactive ash in U.S. H-bomb tests at Bikini March 1.

Japanese doctors said he died of jaundice resulting from radiation sickness and Japanese physicians who performed an autopsy fixed radiation sickness as the fundamental cause of death.

Attorney Backs New Court Site

Fred J. Harmer Takes Issue With Patterson on Present Location

Frederick J. Harmer, Lake Orion attorney, in a statement to the Press, takes exception of views expressed recently by Attorney C. K. Patterson relative to the site for the proposed new courthouse.

Harmer agrees that a new courthouse is urgently needed, but strongly objects to building again on the present site. His statement to the Press follows:

"I take exception to the courthouse views of C. K. Patterson recently published in your paper.

"The courthouse proposition is a matter of public concern of all the citizens of Oakland County, not just a few, including the lawyers."

"His views on transportation, in my opinion are a horse and buggy approach or analysis of present every day American living, without giving any consideration for the reasonable, visible Oakland County future."

"His views are based on the fact that there is no private land immediately adjacent for commercial development is, in my opinion, one of the best reasons for the site. This should be a place for the transaction of important public business, not a trading center."

"As to the title of the present site, he suggests that the fee is questionable. This has no real bearing upon the issue, but able counsel presented the matter of reverter."

"The highest judicial authority has spoken and the legal problem resolved: That an attempted assignment of a right of reverter before breach extinguished the right." (Oakland Co. vs. Mack.)

This has been settled Michigan law for 20 years. Does Mr. Patterson suggest that which is the law is not the law?

"The only point of agreement I have with Mr. Patterson is that the project is definitely needed, but in any event, building on the present site would be the height of folly."

"In arriving at my conclusion, I have tried to approach it without bias. I believe it is important and desirable to state that I have no interests in any of the lands, nor do I represent any such interested clients."

"Mr. Patterson is entitled to his opinion, whatever it might be, the same as any citizen, but his views are not the views of the lawyers of Oakland County. If these views are desirable, appropriate methods are available."

Governor to Visit Pontiac on Oct. 3

Gov.-G. Mennen Williams and Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor Philip A. Hart will be accompanied by Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee during visits to Pontiac and Hazel Park Oct. 3.

Democratic candidate for Congress Paul Sutton plus other state and county candidates will also be present at some of the get-togethers, according to County Chairman Willis M. Brewer.

On Oct. 4 Clement and Hart will continue the tour here. The complete schedule will be announced next week, said Brewer.

Wife Obliges With Bullet

DALLAS (UP)—A 29-year-old man told police from a hospital bed today that he had an obliging wife. He said he and his spouse had an argument that culminated in his handing her a loaded rifle and saying: "All right, shoot me."

She did.

He added, however, that he would want to await a complete pathological examination before making final judgment.

Some U.S. scientists have said Kuboyama's jaundice could have resulted from a hepatitis infection introduced through blood transfusions.

No U.S. doctors were allowed to examine carefully either Kuboyama or the other fishermen, all of whom are still under treatment here.

The United States has offered Japan one million dollars in damages for the 23 fishermen and for other losses resulting from the H-bomb tests. Japan is reported asking five to seven million dollars.

said the "possibility of sabotage" would be explored thoroughly. French Army engineers and German police ringed the burned out tank today.

It was the second worst explosion in West Germany since the war. A blast in July 1948, at the I.G. Farben chemical works in Ludwigshafen killed 307 persons.

Bitburg municipal officials said as part of the fire fighting demonstration, gasoline was poured on top of the tank's concrete roof and ignited. The fire fighting apparatus was supposed to put out the test blaze almost instantly, but instead the tank underneath exploded.

The officials speculated that the test fire had ignited fumes in the exhaust pipes of the tank.

The Bitburg officials said the demonstration was being staged by an international company engaged in NATO air base work, including the installation of fire extinguishing equipment. The tank farm is operated by a company of French soldiers under NATO auspices.

The explosion sent a column of black smoke nearly two miles into the air. Flames shot up 1,000 feet. The flames were brought under control three hours after the explosion but black smoke still drifted over the disaster area today.

The blackened, mangled bodies of the victims—many of them impossible to identify—were laid out in the Bitburg Athletic Hall. Mass funerals were arranged for Monday.

Bank Robbery Suspect Posed as Michigan Boy

An Associated Press story from Jersey City, N. J., Tuesday saying a boy arrested there in connection with a Philadelphia bank robbery was Jerry Roberts, of Grand Rapids, was incorrect. Police later discovered the boy arrested was not the Michigan boy, but was posing as him, carrying identification papers belonging to Jerry which he either had stolen or found. Jerry's father is Famous Roberts of 90 Oakland, Pontiac. Later police investigation shows that the younger Roberts has not been out of Michigan and was in no way connected with the crime.

Safety Director Fired by Board

James Johnson Ousted by Royal Oak Township Trustees

The Royal Oak Township board of trustees last night ousted James Johnson, 61, as commissioner of public safety by a vote of 5 to 1.

A retired police lieutenant and member of the Royal Oak (city) police force for 27 years, Johnson was hired as commissioner July, 1953 as a result of a recommendation growing out of a 1952 grand jury probe of township affairs.

"I'm going to make an issue of it. They gave no good reason for the firing."

"The whole thing stems from the grand jury investigation three years ago. The board wasn't happy because I wouldn't go along with them on dismissals of policemen. I saw no reason for the dismissals and wouldn't agree," he added.

Johnson said that members of the board requested him to fire two patrolmen who aided the grand jury investigation during 1951-52.

Trustee Eugene Beinke, who made the motion for dismissal, said, "Johnson hasn't shown leadership as commissioner of the police and fire departments."

Johnson's attorney, Herbert Burdick of Detroit challenged that the fired commissioner holds a "legally binding contract appointing him as commissioner until April, 1955."

However, board members contended that the "contract" is only an employee's card signed by Supervisor George S. Horkey and Clerk Sarah Bradford.

Trustee John Richardson, casting the only dissenting vote, said he previously was in favor of getting rid of Johnson.

"But I just learned that some of the board members have been trying to put pressure on Johnson to gain control of the police department and fire some policemen," Richardson said following the meeting.

Johnson said he had no objections to resigning "as long as I am given the opportunity of answering specific and formal charges."

His attorney said that no written charges were received prior to the dismissal. Burdick also said that no complaints were lodged against the police force since Johnson took his post July 6, 1953.

Johnson's attorney said he would disclose plans to fight the dismissal at a later date.

Pine Lake Pro Resigns Post

Ransom to Leave Area Club; Plans to Return to Texas Ranch.

Henry Ransom, golf professional at Pine Lake Country Club for the past two years, resigned the post last night. He tendered the resignation at a meeting of the club's board of directors.

Ransom, who took over the Pine Lake position after the death of long-time pro Jack Inkster, said that he has had several offers but has no definite plans as yet.

He and his family will move to their ranch near Bryan, Tex., early next month and Ransom will play in several tournaments in that area this winter.

Ransom has been active in golf for more than 20 years, and won the Tam O'Shanter "World" tournament in 1950. He was quarter-finalist in the 1953 National PGA tournament at Birmingham Country Club.

Oct. 11 Hearing Set for George Hormel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—George (Geordie) Hormel II, 26-year-old nightclub piano player and meat packing heir, faces a preliminary hearing on marijuana possession charges Oct. 11.

He was released on bail of $1,500 after arraignment in Municipal Court yesterday.

Hormel was arrested last Sunday. Police said they found 13 marijuana cigarettes in his car.

The young heir, former husband of actress Leslie Caron, told reporters: "I want it to be known that the allegations made against me shall be proven untrue. I feel a great injustice has been done to the family name and I intend to see the honor and integrity of my family vindicated."

The Reserve Officers Assn., of which Fleming is a member, met last night to organize a fund campaign. Kenneth Greenquist, a past Wisconsin state commander of the American Legion, pledged full support of Legion Post 310.

Indecision Plagues House Painter

ELIZABETH, N. J. (UP)—Alex Kalmanson, a house painter for 40 years, has had the most trouble with customers who didn't know what they wanted.

The 77-year-old painter, who learned his trade in Russia, first dabbled with brush and paint as a teenager in Odessa, on the Black Sea.

He came to America in 1904, settled here, and three years later opened his own contracting firm. Not only houses, but churches, schools, hospitals and industrial plants felt Kalmanson's talented brush.

Describing his customers both here and in Russia, he once said "some are good, some bad, and most are in the middle." It is a pleasure to work for somebody who knows what he wants, he said. But when a customer isn't quite sure, "then the trouble begins."

Baffling Sheppard Murder Case Going to Trial Soon

By JAMES CROSSLEY
NEA Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND (NEA) — Some time between 3:10 and 4 a. m. the morning of July 4, Marilyn Sheppard died horribly in the bedroom of her comfortable lakeside home at Bay Village.

It was an act of violence. Someone stood above her as she lay on her bed and landed 27 blows on her head, the storms of human emotion giving added strength to the clubber's arm.

Sometime in October the courts must turn their attention to this shocking incident. A jury will have to decide if her husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, was the one who launched the blows, as charged.

The case of Dr. Sam, as he has come to be known, has been the subject of debate in households from coast to coast — a murder mystery that has caught the imagination of the public.

At 5:30 a. m., two hours after Marilyn died, Bay Village Mayor J. Spencer Houk, a friend and neighbor of the Sheppards, got a phone call.

It was Dr. Sam. "For God's sake, Spence, get over here quick. I think they've killed Marilyn," he gasped.

When the mayor arrived at the home and his wife had peeked into the blood-spattered bedroom, he summoned the town's handful of police.

There were three phases of the case which made it so difficult that the suburb's police had to call for help, first from the county and later from the city of Cleveland. Finally, it was taken almost completely out of their hands.

It looked like an open and shut case of a home invaded by a psychopathic thug. But at the same time it gave evidence of being a domestic crime.

The things which were hard to explain and about which the trial will center are:

Dr. Sam's injuries.
The weapon used.
The motive.

Right from the start, the effort to solve the crime ran into the first of these.

Dr. Sam, exhausted and wet, his face swelling from bruises, was flopped on the floor hanging over a chair when Mayor Houk arrived. He was almost inarticulate but mumbled something about two intruders in the house.

Members of the Sheppard family are leading citizens in the town. His father, Dr. R. A. Sheppard, Dr. Sam and his two brothers, Dr. Richard and Dr. Steve, operate an osteopathic hospital in the village.

The brothers whisked Dr. Sam off to the hospital soon after they were summoned to the home.

This act heightened the controversy which developed over Dr. Sam's injuries. Once in the hospital, the family took the stand that physical well-being of a patient comes first in a hospital. Authorities were irritated because questioning was delayed and limited.

There is a debate as to the extent of the injuries. He was visibly battered on the right side of his face. The orthopedic collar Dr. Sam wore, familiar to the public, is a symbol of the conflict concerning his internal injuries. The family said, at the outset, that he had a broken neck. Medical examiners later said it wasn't true.

The task of justice will be made difficult by the very fact that he was injured. If an intruder didn't do it, who did?

The coroner, the local police and Mayor Houk found no evidence of a weapon that holiday morning. Puzzling also was a missing T-shirt which Dr. Sam had been wearing the night before at a dinner party, in his home with neighbors as guests.

The home and entire neighborhood have been raked over since in the hunt for the weapon and shirt. Conventional divers, skin divers and divers with mine detectors have gone over the lake bottom in vain.

The marks of the blows were so strange that it is even difficult to figure what kind of a bludgeon was used.

Cleveland police have centered their attention on a set of surgical wrenches, two of which were found in the trunk of Dr. Sam's Jaguar — with the keys to the trunk still in the lock.

Investigators think they can trace the weapon for a few minutes after the murder. Scientific instruments, they say, have shown a track of blood stains which dripped from the weapon, down the stairs into the basement where they contend it was washed in a tub.

The trail was carefully washed up later, they contend. They think the killer "wandered around like a chicken with his head cut off" then settled down to clear up fingerprints, blood and every evidence of human movement.

The doctor's story is a simple one, though vague in details. The guests can testify that the evening was spent watching a TV movie with an odd, prophetic title, "Strange Holiday."

Dr. Sam was asleep on the couch on the main floor when they departed after midnight. At the coroner's inquest, Dr. Sam said he dimly remembers his wife trying to rouse him to come to bed, then giving up and leaving him asleep downstairs.

Later, hearing her shouting, he dashed to the second floor only to be knocked out at the top of the steps — "clobbered," he said.

Coming to, he looked at his wife and found her dead. While checking his son, still sleeping quietly in his own room, he heard a noise downstairs. He says he then chased a tall, PORCH OF LAKESIDE HOME — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard points out for police the narrow beach where he says he struggled with a "tall, bushy-haired man" after his wife was slain. Dr. Sam was indicted for the murder a month after the crime took place.

bushy-haired man down the steps from the house to the lake beach. Again he was felled in a fight.

Regaining consciousness for the second time, this time lying half in the water, he says he climbed the steps and called Mayor Houk.

The weapon, if his story is true, would have been carted away by the intruder.

Equally important to weighing the case in the cause of justice will be the motive.

The prosecution thinks it has one in the admissions of Susan Hayes, 24-year-old former technician on the hospital staff. She has told them of a week of illicit romance with the doctor while he was in California early this year.

They have also linked him romantically with a number of other women. They claim the Sheppard marriage had been headed for the rocks for some time.

SYMBOL OF DEBATE—Wearing neck brace that became symbol of debate over his injuries, Dr. Sam tends one of his private patients.

science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but NOW, right NOW, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why . . .

counteracts hunger

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but all the recognized proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories, yet expands when it absorbs water, thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-calorie filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

fat goes fast

You'll be surprised at the fat you lost the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

Says Defense Up to Europe

Wilson Claims Nations Must Want Protection or U. S. Is Helpless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said yesterday there is nothing the United States can do "unless the people of Europe take a realistic look" and want to be protected from the Communist menace.

He commented in answer to news conference questions about the struggle to get agreements among Western nations on a plan to create a German armed force for the defense of Europe.

France has killed the original proposal for a European Defense Community. Nine Western powers meet in London next week to try to find a workable substitute.

Wilson said "I keep thinking every once in a while that it is their country over there (in Europe) and it would be wonderful if their age-old animosities could be healed." This comment was in answer to a question about the French-German question.

Wilson was asked if he believed Russia now has a droppable hydrogen bomb. He reverted to a position he has taken on other occasions—"I've said I think we talk too much about it (the H-bomb)—rattle it too much."

Wilson said he understands that the U. S. Army will have 19 divisions and not go under this strength in major combat units.

Reminded that the Army this week announced the return of the two remaining National Guard units to state control by November, leaving 17 regular Army divisions on the books, Wilson said he would have to "find out what the party line is" on the number of divisions. But he said he knew of no plans to drop below 19. That would be one less than the Army maintained during the Korean War.

He said that within the next 30 to 60 days the Pentagon will draft a comprehensive military reserve law that must be ready for action by Congress early at its next session, because the current Selective Service Act expires next June 30.

He said if the nation is going to meet its worldwide commitments it will have to have a trained, ready military reserve unless the United States takes the "dumb and expensive" course of greatly increasing the size of the regular army.

Wilson was asked if he had any new information on the artillery duel between the Chinese Reds on the mainland and the Nationalists on the Island of Quemoy. He said the Quemoy situation is a "troublesome matter but it doesn't seem to be heating up anymore."

Army Probing Former POWs

Possibly 50 Men Under Investigation for Actions in Prison Camps

NEW YORK (AP) — The Army is investigating a number of former Korean War prisoners to determine whether they should be charged with currying favor with the enemy while prisoners.

The number under investigation may run above 50. Army officials said yesterday that names of the men involved in the inquiry, ordered by the Pentagon, are being withheld. Details of the investigation were not revealed.

Some of those under investigation are stationed in the New York City area, at Ft. Devens, Mass., and Ft. Dix, N.J.

Some of the men involved have been discharged, Army sources said, adding that there is precedent for putting men back into uniform for trial if the charges are substantiated.

Names are being withheld to protect the men in case the suppositions prove unfounded, an Army spokesman said.

These three possibilities in each case were outlined: A man could be exonerated; he could be "boarded out" of the Army, which is equivalent to discharge; or he could be recommended for trial.

The investigators, according to Army sources, have brought many former prisoners of war to nearby installations as witnesses, to tell about the conduct of the suspected men while prisoners.

Drug Derived From Starfish Ovaries May Stop Cancer Cells From Dividing

(Editor's Note: From the ovaries of starfish, scientists have taken a chemical they think may sometimes help the constant search for a cancer cure. This is the fifth and last of a series of articles on research at a Massachusetts Marine Laboratory.)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
WOODS HOLE, Mass. (U)—New drugs to stop cancer are one prospect from scientific searchings in to that tiny but potent engine of life—the living cell.

The prospect is drugs which would prevent cancer cells from dividing and forming two new cancer cells. Cancer is bad because cancer cells keep dividing and dividing without control.

Chemicals which prevent some kinds of cell division are being produced here at the Marine Biological Laboratory by Dr. L. V. Heilbrunn, zoologist of the University of Pennsylvania.

They will be tested this winter to see what effect they have against cancer in mice. The chemicals come, oddly enough, from the ovaries of starfish, eelworms, turkeys and dogs. Ovaries are the storehouses of the eggs for new animal life.

The story concerns a main phase of Dr. Heilbrunn's researches — to learn what kind of engine is the living cell.

The interior of a cell is fluid, made of protoplasm. Studying cell division or splitting into new cells, Dr. Heilbrunn finds that a first step is for the cell to start clotting or gelling for a time.

The clotting is apparently caused by the release of calcium into the cell. This calcium is normally bound up in the cortex or outer ring structure of the cell.

And he finds that anything which can prevent the initial clotting action inside the cell will also halt or prevent cell division. Therein lies the cancer clue.

Cells, he reasons, are something like human blood in this clotting action initiated by calcium. One potent drug which thins the blood and acts as an anti-clotting agent is heparin. Heparin can also halt cell division, but the molecule of heparin is too large to enter inside many kinds of cells.

Then Dr. Heilbrunn discovered heparin-like chemicals in the ovaries of some kinds of fish. These substances also can prevent the initial clotting of a cell, and so halt cell division.

One such extract was obtained from the ovaries of starfish. The starfish must release its eggs into the sea water in order for them to start dividing and growing to form a new starfish. While the eggs are still in the ovary, some chemical acts to keep them from dividing.

This chemical was extracted from starfish ovaries. It will prevent cell division in the eggs of a sea worm, chaetopterus. But it does not have much effect in preventing division of cells of higher organisms, such as the mouse.

Yet Dr. Heilbrunn finds evidence of powerful anti-division chemicals in the ovaries of many, and perhaps all, animals.

So extracts are being made from the ovaries of chickens, dogs and turtles.

These will be tested against one form of cancer in mice, Ehrlich's ascites tumor, in which cancer cells grow in a mass of fluid. Heparin shows some little ability to stop these cancer cells from dividing. The extracts will be compared with heparin to see if one or more of them is better at throwing a monkey wrench into cancer cells.

The interior of a cell is a fantastically complex machinery to produce energy, get rid of wastes, and carry on special duties, such as being part of a nerve or muscle or brain or stomach.

Dr. Heilbrunn's approach to understanding this machinery is to consider it as essentially a colloidal solution—colloids being fine particles suspended in a fluid. Life and health of a cell depend, then, upon the chemical reactions taking place among the colloid particles, and these reactions must be understood in order to understand the workings of the cell.

High Schools Spotlight Their Class Elections

All Three Eye Football Wins

Parochial Pupils Order Senior Rings and Pins, PHS Band Plans Opener

St. Michael

The spotlight focused on senior activities this week as they plotted the Freshman Festival, welcome dance to be held on Sept. 24 at St. Michael's hall. In charge of the shindig are Pat Kucera, general chairman, Honor Duross, Jack O'Dea and Stan Haak.

Preliminary nominations for senior officers were held Monday.

Michaelites are also waiting for their class rings, which are expected to arrive sometime in November.

Co-editors and staff writers of the Michaelite, the school paper, were appointed this week.

Sharing the editorship are Honor Duross and Marjorie Allen. Staff writers are Fred West, Jack O'Dea, Jerry Steinheper, Ruth Bauer, Francis Hayes, Coleen McEnery, Mary Ann Meyer, Rebecca Vitolski, Bonita Moody, Judy Ohngren, Loretta Laulinger and Marcee Hill.

Our newly appointed correspondent, Marcee, was also made scribe for the Michigan Catholic.

Parishoners and students welcomed new additions to the high school teaching staff, Sisters Imelda, Chrysostom, and Vianney.

Everyone enjoyed several unexpected "walks" this week, as students were tested on their ability to carry out a successful fire drill.

In the sports department, the Shamrocks suffered a 26-7 loss at the hands of Avondale last Friday. The game was a non-league opener. Mike Clever made the only Shamrock touchdown. The Shamrock eleven hope to redeem themselves next Sunday when they meet St. Mary's of Orchard Lake.

St. Frederick

The main event at St. Fred's this week, according to correspondent Marlene Green, was the election of junior officers. Heading the class for the year will be President James Duren, 25 Putnam Ave., vice president, Ruth Schachern, secretary, and Treasurer David Jones.

Marlene reports that football spirits aren't dampened in the least by the Rams' loss last week. Everyone is rooting for the team with even more enthusiasm in hopes of changing the picture for their MARLENE game with St. Mary's of Royal Oak this Sunday.

The seniors ordered class rings this week. While boasts were shared by Daniel Wagner and Mark Peck of having the largest, most manly hands (size 11½), the girls were all admiring the small, dainty ones of Joan McMahon and Jean McHugh (size 4).

Pontiac High

Big Thing in the news this week for PHS students is the football game tonight with Waterford. Cheer leaders are warming up and the band is polishing instruments in preparation for the event.

Director Dale Harris and the band plan to resume traditional between-halves marching and salute the visiting team with the formation of WHS. They will also play "Saulte to Waterford."

VICKY An added feature will be a special greeting to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, new Pontiac school superintendent, with the band playing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" as Dr. Whitmer's name is spelled out.

Miss V. Fitch, the school librarian, announces 11 new library assistants for the semester. This brings the total to 31.

The Future Nurses Club held their first meeting of the fall semester recently with President Martha Dawson calling the meeting to order. An invitation to the club from Mrs. Grace Wulff, past head of the Tri-County Area Future Nurses, asked the club to send delegates to the Michigan State Conference at Cadillac, Oct. 9. Plans for initiation of new Future Nurses next week were also discussed.

The Pontiac High Camera Club held their first meeting Sept. 22. Ten new members were welcomed to the club by returning members and faculty advisors, Ben Menings and Arthur Tyrrell. The club plans to order pins this year. Topic for discussion at the next meeting will be "35-Millimeter Cameras."

Acclaim Girl, 3, Heroine for Warning About Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 3-year-old was acclaimed as a heroine yesterday for alertness that saved a neighbor's house.

As smoke poured from the adjoining home, Sharon Speer shouted to her mother, "There's a fire! Turn it off!"

Her mother did the next best thing—called the fire department. Firemen put out the blaze, which did minor damage.

'Lady of the Lamp' Began Nursing Plan Century Ago

WASHINGTON—Modern nursing is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

Until 1854, when Florence Nightingale took a staff of 38 young women volunteers to the Crimean warfront at Scutari, Turkey, care of the sick and wounded had been looked upon as a form of punishment for criminals or as a penance for members of religious groups. Nurses had little or no scientific training and knew nothing of sick room hygiene.

In England during the reign of Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth I, people entered hospitals as a last resort, merely to await death. They had no hope of being cured. Nurses often were fired for drunkenness or dishonesty, and patients had to bribe them to obtain food and care.

The daughter of well-to-do English parents, Miss Nightingale was named Florence, Italy, where she was born in 1820. Bored by social life, she began to visit hospitals in 1844, and was shocked by unsanitary conditions and the high death rate among patients. In 1850, she studied nursing at a hospital in Kaiserswerth, Germany, and later with the Sisters of St. Vincent de Paul in Paris. London was aroused in 1854 by reports of the suffering of sick and wounded British soldiers in the Crimea. Miss Nightingale escorted her recruits to Scutari. She fought army opposition and red tape to obtain improvement in sanitary conditions in the bare hospital barracks.

Under the care of her group, the death rate dropped from 42 per cent to 2.2 per cent within six months. Her night calls to soldiers' bedside earned her the affectionate nickname, "Lady of the Lamp."

After her return to London in 1856, Miss Nightingale published an 800-page document which led to sweeping reforms in army medical procedure. The report is still used in administration of military hospitals. Later, in 1860, Miss Nightingale established the first school of nursing at St. Thomas' Hospital, London.

In the United States, crude treatment of Civil War casualties spurred a demand for improvement in hospitals and nursing care.

Woman, 75, Endures Eight Hours in Coal Bin

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP)—Doctors today reported Mrs. Annie M. Regius, 75, suffered no outward injuries although she spent eight horror-filled hours wedged in the coal bin of her home.

Police said Mrs. Regius, who lives alone, stumbled and became lodged in the bin when she went to get some firewood from the cellar yesterday.

Her plight was discovered eight hours later by a neighbor who came to visit and heard the moans.

Wood of the horse chestnut tree is soft and light. It is well suited for making artificial limbs, wood enware, and toys.

Damages to $340 Car to Cost $550; Judge Gives Up

DETROIT (AP)—Traffic Referee Rollin D. Shull ruled it wasn't up to him to decide whether a $340 automobile could sustain $350 damages.

Jack Lichtig complained James Andrews ran a red light and did $550 damages to Lichtig's car. Shull asked what Lichtig's car cost when he bought it and got $340 for the answer, but Lichtig quickly added: "A garage says it'll take $550 to fix it up. That's all I know."

Shull fined Andrews $20 for reckless driving, ordered damages fixed in civil court proceedings.

Florida Bridges Cut U.S. 19 Travel Time

WASHINGTON—A recently completed 15-mile system of bridges over Florida's Tampa Bay is one of the longest open-water crossings in the world.

Costing 22 million dollars and four years' work, the bridges cut some 50 miles off the driving distance between St. Petersburg and south Florida cities, says the National Geographic Society. The central bridge is more than four miles long and carries traffic 150 feet above the main ship channel. It is the final link in U. S. Highway 19, which extends from Erie, Pa., to Miami, via Pittsburgh, Asheville, N. C., Atlanta and the Florida Gulf coast.

Bar Asks Action on Probe Arrests

Would Require Report to Courts of Persons Held Without Warrant

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The State Bar of Michigan has asked the Legislature to crack down on police agencies which arrest and hold persons for investigation without a warrant.

Saying the practice was statewide and virtually a "custom" in Wayne County, the bar asked for legislation requiring sheriffs and police agencies to report weekly to the courts a list of all persons detained without a warrant.

The convention also took a step beyond its 1953 endorsement of Fair Employment Practices (FEPC) legislation in principle. This time it urged the legislature to implement the principle with law, but it refused to endorse specific legislation without a poll of all 8,000 bar members.

Benjamin Marcus of Muskegon lost an attempt to reverse indirectly the bar's endorsement of the so-called "Michigan plan" for selecting judges.

Under this plan judges would be appointed by the governor from nominations by a lay-legal committee. At the end of each term, the voters would be asked to decide whether they wanted to re-elect them, without being offered opposing candidates.

William H. Wilmet of Pontiac said the proposal would be placed before the voters next spring and that the campaign would be financed by a group of "interested citizens." He refused to say who they were.

In another resolution the Bar asks that a committee be authorized to negotiate with representatives of "newspapers and other media of communication" for the establishment of a code of ethics on reporting of investigations, arrests and trials.

Harold Norris of Detroit, one of the sponsors, said the issue is one of reconciling the rights of free press and of fair trial.

News disseminating organizations, he said, present problems to the legal profession of publishing the statements of witnesses before trials, of refusing the confessions of criminals, of questioning jurors after verdicts are rendered.

William Colt Allen, of Birmingham, a commissioner, objected that "we would make progress quicker" if the matter were referred to the American Bar Association.

"I don't believe," he said, "that you want to say all of the press is wrong. You don't believe the press should be damned up one side and down the other."

Even a Loser Can Win

GAFFNEY S.C. (AP)—There are 20 categories of prizes in a beard growing contest for Gaffney's sesquicentennial anniversary celebration. The final classification: "Most pitifully scraggly beard."

'GOTTA' LIGHT?—"Heckle" gets a light for his cigarette from Sgt. Wayne G. Kelly, stationed in Japan with the 9th Marines. "Heckle," the crow, with his brother "Jeckyll" have been raised as pets by the Leathernecks.

Clark Gable in Hospital for Tests and Checkup

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Clark Gable was admitted to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital yesterday for what a hospital spokesman describes as a physical checkup.

The 53-year-old film star is in good condition the night supervisor of the nursing office said today. "He's just here for a few tests and a general checkup," she added, "like any other patient."

Trade Freedom Progress Made

Monetary Fund Tells of Free World's Gains in Past Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Monetary Fund has told its 57 member nations that the free world made significant progress in the past year toward a return to international freedom of money and trade.

And the organization stressed that it stands ready with its nine-billion-dollar resources to back member moves toward freeing their money and trade from protective restrictions, provided the members' economies are in good shape.

The fund's report was made public last night a few hours before today's first session of the annual meeting of governors of the fund, and its twin institution, the World Bank.

The meeting was virtually a free world conference of finance ministers and central bank directors, who form the governing boards of the two organizations.

Czechoslovakia, the only Iron Curtain member, has been suspended from the bank and may be ousted from the fund. Fund officials said the Czechs have not supplied the trade and payments information required of all members.

The fund and the bank were created 10 years ago to help nations work their way out of the ravages of war and depression.

Gloria DeHaven Strikes Gold on Gin Mill Circuit

By DONALD W. DeMANCHE
HOLLYWOOD (INS)—When the cry went up in the nation's movie capital that "there gold in them thar gin mills" trim little thrush Gloria DeHaven was one of the first to file a claim.

The blue-eyed, deeply tanned redhead, who looks more like a high school sophomore than mother of a 10-year-old daughter, frowned as she related how she got off to a rocky start in the cafe circuit.

"When I started in 1947 I wasn't really prepared. I mean I didn't have the right kind of material—it wasn't fresh enough. And I didn't know exactly what was expected of me."

Gloria learned fast. For the past seven years she has been on the go constantly, sandwiching in Hollywood musicals between night club engagements in Paris, New York, Miami and Las Vegas.

"Ah, Las Vegas," she laughed. "There's a real night club town. You know, that's the only place in the world where every entertainer is sure to be a hit... those audiences just won't let you miss."

In reference to the trend toward expensive, sexy gowns that have been used by some of the top resort entertainers, Gloria chuckled:

"It's the material in the act, not in the gown that you want. A sexy gown made of beads and fans and what not won't carry an act—but on the right gal it can sure help things along."

Song and dance gal Gloria rates New York as one of the toughest towns in the circuit. She recalled:

"New York is to darn competitive. Each little swank club and hotel is going all out to corner the trade. The result is that unless your act is super-terrific, a sensation, it folds—even though it may be a good act."

The other thing is that New York is a business town primarily and doesn't seem to have the holiday air that you find in Miami and Las Vegas.

Gloria classifies tourists along with diamonds, "as a girl's best friend"—a show girl that is.

She continued: "In Las Vegas there are shows going on at every major resort hotel. Instead of hotly competing with each other, the shows seem to act as entrees for all the other acts in town."

"People don't come to Las Vegas to see the 'best' shows. They come to see all the shows. That's why I say every entertainer is a hit in Las Vegas."

Gloria said she thought Miami has passed its hey day as a top night club stop.

"Miami's getting too commercial. You can do almost as well just by taking in Coney Island."

Moneywise, Gloria said, entertainers on the night club circuit seem to do a little better than by making one or two films a year.

She remarked: "Expenses on a night club junket are terrific, of course, so is the pay. But since you can deduct some expenses I think in the long run you can net more than if you restricted yourself to the movies."

Gloria, who broke in as a violinist with Bob Crosby and Jan Savitt, and who outgrew the part of "Becky" in the film "Tom Sawyer" because of a 10-month delay in shooting, does not see a conflict between her night club and film careers.

Gloria's late mother, Flora Parker DeHaven, and her dad, Carter DeHaven, were for many years a top song and dance vaudeville act.

"My mother and father were divorced when I was very young," she recalled, "but up until my mother's death four years ago we all got along very nicely."

Gloria, herself the victim of two unsuccessful marriages, said that her mother had a great concern for her daughter's career and Gloria attributes her success to her mother's influence.

A native of Los Angeles, Gloria began the hectic, busy life of an aspiring movie starlet shortly after the age of 12. She entered dramatic schools, played bit parts and then made a hit in "Best Foot Forward" to start her on her way.

She found her niche in the technical musical extravaganza where she shared feature roles with Frank Sinatra, Gene Kelly and George Murphy.

Gloria recently finished a film with Kelly and will have to cut short her night club tour to make another musical.

Nimrod Bags Gas Stove on Hunting Trip in State

GAGETOWN (AP)—Lee Russell bagged a new gas stove on a hunting trip. Russell found a balloon with a card attached, explaining it was one of many released in St. Louis, Mo., as an advertising stunt. The balloon that traveled farthest would bring a new gas stove to the finder. Russell, who lives in the Michigan Thumb, won.

BARBARA BEBOUT

Children's Home Psychologist

Barbara Bebout to Fill Post Recently Created by Board of Auditors

A woman who first became interested in people's adjustment problems while working as a secretary in Oakland County Circuit Court has been named the first full-time psychologist at the County Children's Home.

Barbara Bebout, 31, began her duties this week, according to William Moulton, home superintendent. The position was recently created by the County Board of Auditors, he explained.

The psychologist graduated from Rochester High School in 1940, then was employed in Circuit Court until May 1953.

She took several leaves from her court work to study at the University of Michigan obtaining a bachelor's degree in June 1952. Miss Bebout then was a graduate student assistant in clinical psychology at Wayne University and this summer worked on the staff of the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic.

Her work with children at the Home will primarily be designed to ready them for life outside.

The psychologist will work with the Home's school program by giving intelligence, personality development and academic achievement tests to help determine grade level and fields of study.

Mel Ferrers Sued in Child's Drowning

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Mel Ferrer and his wife have been sued for $60,000 damages because of the drowning of a child in their swimming pool.

John Lake Jr., 2, drowned in the pool at the Ferrers' home last Nov. 9. The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lake, allege that the Ferrers were negligent in not having the pool fenced.

The great bulk of the Mexican population is basically Indian with a slight mixture of European blood.

in Superior Court yesterday, that they had only recently moved into the neighborhood and did not know there was a swimming pool on the Ferrer property.

Adult Dance Classes to Start Here Soon

Registrations for adult dance classes are now being accepted by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept., John A. Streit, assistant director, announced today.

Plans call for classes in square dancing, novelty and round dancing and ballroom dancing.

The exact date these classes are to start depends on how soon class quotas are filled, Streit said. Present planning calls for the square dance class to start during late October or early November. The other two courses will probably take place in January.

Registration may be made by adult couples only, Streit stressed. The department may be contacted at FE 3-7131.

Square D Quiet, Police Stand By

Pickets Dwindle to 50;
Company Cool to New Union Peace Offer

DETROIT (INS)—Fewer pickets showed up at the strike-bound Square D plant this morning than at any time in the past two weeks. Only about 50 pickets shuffled quietly in front of the plant. The same force of 190 policemen that restored order yesterday was on hand again today.

Company negotiators indicated they would turn down a new peace proposal offered yesterday by striking Local 957, United Electrical Workers (Ind.). Nearly 500 pickets massed at the plant yesterday but for the first time in several days not a single clash between strikers and police developed.

In other Square D developments, Rep. Kit Clardy (R-Mich), chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee, laid the groundwork for a congressional investigation he predicts will uncover Communist colonizer's active in the strike.

Clardy subpoenaed James Petroff, 36-year-old picket arrested Tuesday with Communist literature, a pellet gun and Yugoslavian work papers.

Clardy said he is convinced Communist colonizer are fomenting violence in the strike.

Teamsters Union to Back Ferguson

LOS ANGELES (UP)—James R. Hoffa, chief of the AFL Teamsters Union in Michigan, has announced his union will support Sen. Homer R. Ferguson, Republican of Michigan, for re-election this fall.

Hoffa said yesterday he would urge the 32 Teamster locals in Michigan to support Ferguson because "we have always supported him, every time he runs we're with him."

"Ferguson is fair and a good senator," Hoffa said. "He's put a lot of war work in Michigan."

Hoffa said the union would support Ferguson despite the fact that the Democratic nominee for Ferguson's senate seat, Pat McNamara, comes from AFL union ranks in Detroit.

Plans Approved for High School

Lyon Township Board Will Accept Bids Oct. 6 for Building Contract

SOUTH LYON — Final plans for a high school unit have been approved by the board of education of the Lyon Township school district.

The high school building will be adjacent to the present 15-room elementary unit on the 27-acre school property. Bids from building contractors will be taken and opened at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 6 in the elementary school office of Supt. Frank Bartlett.

Completed plans call for eight general class rooms, administrative offices, library facilities, complete accommodations for all vocational departments, including commercial, agricultural, home making, science, shop and farm shop, cafeteria, and a multi-purpose room with shower and locker rooms for boys and girls.

Special music rooms for rehearsals and practice and an 800-seating capacity gymnasium are included. It is expected that the building will be available for use for the opening of school in September 1935.

The bonds of $540,000 to cover the cost of the building and a one-room addition to New Hudson School were sold this summer.

As soon as the building contract is awarded, construction will be started on the high school unit. The addition at the New Hudson School is under construction.

The Lyon Township school system currently has a record enrollment of 1208 students, an increase of 127 over last year's enrollment.

Discharge Ruled Out for Milford Dentist

MILFORD—Dr. Robert J. Lawrence, the dentist whose call to active Navy duty Milford residents fought unsuccessfully, has received a reply to his application for discharge.

Dr. Lawrence has informed his wife that his application for discharge, on the basis of the hardship on his wife and five children, has been refused.

Milford area residents rose in protest in June when the 36-year-old dentist, who has been adjudged "permanently disabled" by service doctors several times, was told to apply for a commission or be drafted.

He has a chronic bone infection, osteomyelitis, which has shortened one leg two inches, and caused him to have nine operations.

Two Area Men to Supervise Farm Census

Two men from the Pontiac area have been named as crew leaders to supervise in the 1934 agricultural census. It was announced today.

Fred J. Beckman, Route 1, Milford, and C. L. McBride of Utica, will leave Monday for a week's training in Detroit. It will be their responsibility to train and check the work of enumerators.

Beckman will direct crews who will canvass all farms in the west two-thirds of Oakland County. McBride will supervise enumerators canvassing in the east one-third of Oakland and west one-third of Macomb counties.

Actual census taking is scheduled to begin on Oct. 19.

Ex-Sandusky Official Innocent of Embezzling

SANDUSKY — A Circuit Court jury acquitted former Sandusky School Superintendent Harry C. Smith yesterday on a charge of embezzling $645.44 from the school system's petty cash fund.

Smith already is under sentence of 2½ to 5 years on a charge of defrauding the state of $145,000 in school aid payments. He has appealed the sentence to the State Supreme Court.

"LET ME TELL YOU WHAT O-JIB-WA BITTERS HAS DONE FOR ME. I AM A HOUSEWIFE AND SUFFERED FROM ARTHRITIS IN MY KNEES AND ANKLES SO BAD THAT I COULDN'T WALK WITHOUT A CANE. IT WAS PAINFUL TO DO ANYTHING THAT REQUIRED ME TO MOVE. I STARTED TO TAKE O-JIB-WA BITTERS, AND IN TWO WEEKS IT HELPED ME. THE PAIN AND STIFFNESS SLOWLY WENT AWAY, AND NOW IT DOESN'T BOTHER ME AT ALL. O-JIB-WA BITTERS CERTAINLY DOES WHAT THEY CLAIM FOR IT, AS IT PUT ME BACK ON MY FEET, AND BUILT UP MY STRENGTH BESIDES."

Flier and Civilian Wrest Controls From Hurt Pilot

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — A youthful Air Force flier and a civilian yesterday engaged in a dramatic struggle in the air to wrest control of a jet bomber from the dazed and badly injured pilot.

The plane finally was landed safely.

The four-jet B45 Tornado bomber had taken off from Norton Air Force Base on a test flight at 15,000 feet the cockpit canopy blew off, striking the pilot on the head.

The base spokesman said this followed:

The canopy cut a deep gash and left the pilot, Capt. Gerald E. Mann, 33, stunned and irrational. The co-pilot—Lt. Donald J. Rowley, 22, a recent Air Force flying school graduate making his third flight in this type of plane—tried to take over the bomber with his controls.

The pilot, with blood blinding him, fought to retain control. The bomber flew in great wavering circles as the two struggled for control.

8-Mile, U.S.-10 Progressing

Expect Work on Grade Separation to Be Done Next Year

An intricate tri-level traffic system at Woodward Ave. and Eight Mile Rd., called the heaviest traveled intersection in the world, is well underway and is expected to be completed by December 1935, Ferndale Police Chief Reginald H. Lemkie said today.

To expedite traffic during construction of the $3 million project, buildings on all four corners of the intersection are being torn down for added detours.

Excavation for an underpass on Eight Mile has already begun. An overpass, when work is finished, will facilitate traffic over Woodward. Center lanes will speed up right and left turns, now the main problem at the intersection, said Lemkie.

Yesterday's southbound traffic was backed up almost two miles as a result of closing one lane.

According to Lemkie the State Highway Dept. has metered 300,000 cars passing through the intersection every 24 hours. It metered 350,000 on a Sunday recently. The department calls the intersection the busiest in the world, said Lemkie.

The project which is costing Ferndale $300,000 also is being financed by Detroit, the state and federal governments.

Hospital Opening Set

FREMONT — Officials have set Nov. 7 as the tentative formal opening date of the new $250,000 Gerber Memorial Hospital. Dwight Austin, hospital administrator, said patients will be moved into the new building about two weeks later.

State Increases Fee on Tax Sale Record

The fee charged by the state to cover preparation and advertising of delinquent tax sale descriptions will increase from $1 to $1.50 on Oct. 1, according to Oakland County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks.

The state will take $1 from each fee assessed to pay for advertising the descriptions in a county newspaper, said Sparks, and the county will use the remaining 50 cents to finance costs of compiling the descriptions.

Persons buying delinquent property taxes in the next sale, scheduled for May 1935, will pay the $1.50 plus the back taxes he explained.

Sept. 12 Crash Injuries Fatal to Flat Rock Youth

DETROIT (U.P.)—David Duffett, 15, Flat Rock, died at Wyandotte General Hospital early today of injuries he suffered in a Sept. 12 traffic accident which killed his teenaged companion.

Darl Ritchie, 17, also of Flat Rock, died shortly after his car plunged into a ditch a mile north of his home. Duffett, a passenger, had been in a coma since the mishap.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lester Bell of Detroit, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Bethel, to Carl Avery. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Avery of Wolverine Lake Village.

Scottsville Feasts on Ox

SCOTTVILLE — The 18th annual Scottsville Fall Festival opened Thursday by serving more than 1,800 visitors with sandwiches "on the house" after an ox roast.

Funeral service for Col. Mendendorp will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Deputy Police Superintendent William Johnson placed a wreath on the casket after its arrival at Union Station as a tribute from the people of Grand Rapids. He acted for Mayor George Veldman.

The body was met by an honor guard of eight sergeants of Headquarters Company of the 128th Regiment of the Michigan National Guard in which Col. Mendendorp served many years.

A combat veteran of World War II, Col. Mendendorp was recalled to active duty in the Army four years ago and had been on duty in the Orient since last May.

His widow wept quietly at the station. Col. Mendendorp's death widowed her for a second time. Her first husband, Capt. Roger Keast, was killed in the Pacific Theater in World War II.

To Zonta Members

Mayor Donaldson Speaks

Mayor William Donaldson believes a positive attitude on the part of Pontiac citizens is the first step on the way to civic improvement.

He expressed his opinion to members of Zonta Club when he spoke on the Pontiac Foundation at Zonta's luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Waldron. According to the speaker, betterment of our community lies in abolishment of the feeling of defeat that occupied citizens' thoughts for so long, and in whole-hearted civic co-operation.

Optimistically, Mr. Donaldson pointed out that recent strides due to the right local thinking are very healthy signs. He said that small donations to the Pontiac Foundation have encouraged those who cannot help in a big way and have developed unselfish attitudes in those who can.

An open house for Dr. Dana Whitmer, new superintendent of Pontiac Public Schools was announced by Zonta Club along with a money making project for the future.

In her talk, Mrs. Drury said, "As women, we are in a unique place. History tells how women came to their new country and bore the hardships of settling it."

She pointed out that women have privileges here that they have no where else. She said that political responsibility must be an important part of a woman's education.

"Most of us," she continued, "cannot go on individually, but we can unite to become effective." The purpose of the league, according to the speaker, is to teach women how to vote. The league is a non-partisan organization and has members in 48 states, in Hawaii and Alaska and in the District of Columbia.

Music Lovers Preparing for Symphony

Orchestra Boasts Fine Leadership, Musicianship

By FLORA WAGER

The city of Pontiac is fortunate to have become the center for the Pontiac Symphony. The musicians in the symphony come from all of Oakland County as well as Pontiac, Royal Oak, Ferndale, Birmingham and Rochester all contribute players.

The personnel also draws from Clarkston, Waterford, Oxford and all outlying districts of Pontiac. Several professional musicians make the trip from Detroit each week for the love of playing in a symphony.

It is unusual for a new symphony to boast a conductor of the caliber of Francesco di Biagi. His excellent musicianship, his training and background, as well as his patience, make him outstanding in his field.

The Pontiac Symphony is unique in that professionals play side by side with the student members of the orchestra lending a helping hand. This is a wonderful opportunity for student musicians to get the benefit of the years of experience of the professional musicians.

The symphony serves its community in many ways. It is a community project in which all may serve or witness. It is an educational project in that the student musician is welcomed as well as the more mature player.

It is a recreational project in the outlets it creates for musicians who gain much satisfaction from cooperative playing necessary to ensemble work.

The symphony has a very cultural advantage in the gradual growth of appreciation of fine music for both players and audience.

There will be two family groups this year. James Vandarsal and his son, Stanley, both of whom play violin, come from Waterford. A new family of players will be Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Hinkel, violinist, daughter Sharon, flutist, and son Howard, cornetist.

The Hinkels will be making the trip from Rochester each Tuesday evening for rehearsals.

More players are needed in each section of the symphony. This is your symphony. So be on the lookout for prospective players and forward any names to Mrs. Paul Gorman, chairman of the recruitment committee.

The newly organized Women's Symphony Association is an active and rapidly growing group.

At an organizational meeting held Monday evening at Will-O-Way Playhouse, Jack Bosen was named President. James Vandarsal will serve as vice president; Charles Gadd, librarian; Stanley Vandarsal, assistant librarian and George Ekroth, stage manager. Taking care of attendance will be Celia Merrill Turner, Mary Cosgrove, Robert Peterson and Mr. Vandarsal.

LOIS FRANCES AXELROD

The Simon Axelrods of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Frances, to Charles K. Zamek, son of the Abraham Zameks of West Ironquois road. She attends Wayne University. A January wedding is planned.

3 Church Groups Meet

Three groups of First-Christian Church gathered for meetings Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Edgar Springer of Sashabaw road opened her home to Lydia Circle of CWF. A talk on stewardship was given by Lorna MacKellar and a book was reviewed by Mrs. John Appleton. "Many Needs and Many Ministries" was the theme of the program presented by Mrs. Harold Brown. Mrs. Springer was assisted by Mrs. Floyd Losee and Mrs. Marvin Addis.

"Different Types of Churches and People" was the theme of the program presented by Mrs. Allen Hersee when the Elizabeth Circle met in the Hallman street home of Mrs. Fred Ruby.

Plans for a Nov. 5 bazaar were completed. Mrs. Levi Geasler will be chairman, assisted by Mrs. Howard Reynolds and Mrs. Leona Hunter.

Allemanders Plan First Party Oct.

The opening of the fall square dance season was inaugurated by the officers of Allemanders with a meeting to plan the first party at Donelson School, Oct. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coad were hosts to the group which was headed by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Raymond. "Kick Off" will be the theme of the first dance.

Teach Boys Courtesy as They Grow

By EMILY POST

A mother asks: "Should teenage boys be taught to help seat the women members of the family, and then when we have a woman guest does one of the boys help seat her, or does my husband?"

It is important that boys be taught this courtesy while they are young so that in later life they will be able to make this gesture of politeness naturally. If there is one woman guest at table it would be more polite for your husband to seat her. But if there are two women guests, your husband seats the one on his right and your son might seat the other.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is there any rudeness in a guest's bringing her own washcloth, towel, and soap when staying with friends for several days? I don't see why anyone should feel hurt just because I prefer a certain kind of soap and a very soft washcloth and towel. I understand I was considered all out of order in doing this. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter.

The washcloth and soap was quite all right, but the towel was out of order and really a criticism of your hostess' linen.

Dear Mrs. Post: I live in a hotel as a permanent guest. Would you say that I might tip those who wait on me, such as the doorman, elevator man, the maid who does my rooms, less than every month when I pay my bill?

A permanent guest in a hotel is the same as in an apartment house and no apartment house occupant feels obliged to make the rounds once a month. A tip at Christmas and when you leave for your vacation (if you do) and a tip perhaps for an special service by someone, is sufficient.

High spot in a young wardrobe for fall is this dress in new sag-no-mor wool jersey. The little flower dot pattern is a cornflower blue on oxford jersey in a pretty coat style.

Maybe Girl Is Really First Fiddle

Reader Advised to Make Boy Like Her More Than Others

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like a boy very much—but he likes two other girls besides me. I don't like the idea of being third fiddle! Please tell me what to do."

Maybe you're first fiddle, and those other two girls are second and third.

What can a girl do in a case like yours but make every moment she has with the lad count? She can't force him to make a choice without running dangerous risks. She can't belittle her competition without appearing kitty-cat.

She can't act jealous without scaring him away. Your boy friend isn't a one-girl man at the moment. But he likes you or wouldn't bother to ask you to go out with him. See to it that he gets to know you better and like you more every date you have with him. He might then find that he can't be bothered with more than one fiddle.

"Dear Miss Woodward: Sue and I have gone together for three months and are now going steady. I am wondering if it wouldn't be proper for her to call me once in a while—or should I do all the calling on the phone?"

When you're going steady, it's different, I suppose. When Sue just can't wait to hear the sound of your voice, she could be excused for calling you up. But your going steady is new, and she'll need time to get used to the security of your new relationship.

She's probably been told that boys don't like girls to bother them with phone calls. Perhaps she's had an awkward moment with some boy's father. Perhaps she's not sure how you'd feel about her calling.

The bulk of the phoning is up to you. But if it will make your pride feel better, rest assured that Sue would love to call you often—if she dared!

"Dear Miss Woodward: Bill and I have been going to the show on Saturday nights for quite a few months. In the beginning he used to ask me early in the week, but now he waits until Friday. My family teasingly says he's taking it for granted that I'll go every Saturday with him. Should I accept his next invitation, or tell him I have another date for that night?"

What do you want to do to Bill? Upset the whole works? You have given Bill no reason to think you are "dating" anyone else or might have something else to do on a Saturday night. He counts on you now. But you can't exactly count on him, so if you want to date somebody else, make it a Friday. Reserve your Saturdays for Bill, until something other than pride tells you not to.

It's the place where my hard-working mother was happy, where her face was not anxious but smiling as on a day with the world shut out by a snow storm, we children sat around the glowing base burner in the sitting room, eating apples and cracking nuts, with my mother going about her work and pausing now and then to say, "Isn't it wonderful to be safe and warm and together?"

What will men of the future wear? Here's the French view of what the well-dressed man in the year 2000 may be wearing. The French contribution is based on the belief that man's desire for comfort will lead to creation of a suit that cuts down on bulk by fitting closely. Free movement is allowed through open pleats. The garment is made of worsted wool in a hazelnut color. The jacket is then inches shorter than today's business suit.

Scribe Ponders on How Others Feel About Home

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

"What does home mean to you?" asks a magazine editor, forwarding a little book containing 100 warm definitions of famous persons.

I read them all and now I wish I hadn't for I can't see what is left for me to say.

From Gene Autry (to whom home is the dream house he built with a right wing especially for his beloved horses) to Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (who says it means the house of her ancestors in which she was born and still lives) every one of the hundred, just as I'd have wanted to, paints a picture of a wonderful spot where cares drop away and love abounds.

Don Herold, the humorist, maintains that home has a sense of humor and is "an old shoe, a pillow, a snug rest, a retreat."

To me, home will always be the old home place in Missouri to which my grandfather came in a covered wagon from Kentucky and in which we lived for a while when I was a child. But it's more than a yard with an old oaken bucket and a fireplace with a huge backlog.

It's the place where my hard-working mother was happy, where her face was not anxious but smiling as on a day with the world shut out by a snow storm, we children sat around the glowing base burner in the sitting room, eating apples and cracking nuts, with my mother going about her work and pausing now and then to say, "Isn't it wonderful to be safe and warm and together?"

But while I think "Tributes to Home," a regular series in Perfect

Home Magazine, is a fine idea. I find myself wondering if anybody will ever improve on the old song, written more than 100 years ago by John Howard Payne. He said it all:

"Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam, 'Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.' A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there, Which sought through the world is ne'er met with elsewhere. 'An exile from home splendour dazzles in vain, 'Oh give me my lowly thatched cottage again: The birds singing gayly, that came at my call, 'Give me them, and that peace of mind dearer than all.' Child Needs Control of Action Only

Parents Must Not Alter Thoughts of Young People

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One night, some months before his son was born, Mr. D. was preparing a business report. His wife tuned in their radio to a popular crooner, who sang plaintively of the romantic suffering of a young man.

Mr. D., who was having real trouble with his business report, yelled, "Turn that guy off! Gosh, who writes that stuff anyway?"

Mrs. D. was wounded by this intrusion of a real feeling upon a phony one. She refused to kiss Mr. D. good night.

After David was born, he, too, felt unromantic emotions. If he was removed from a lamp cord that interested him, he felt anger. According, he would push at his mother—and she would get wounded again. So she would try to charm David into changing his unflattering anger into something else.

Kneeling beside him, she would croon, "Davey's not angry at Mommy. No, He loves her as big as the world. Tell Mommy you love her, darling..."

Gradually, he began to lose touch with what he felt himself. When he was told that he really didn't want to play with a friend his mother disapproved of, he believed her. Later, he believed he wanted piano lessons.

Still later, when he said goodbye to a girl who might have changed things, it was because he was sure that his feeling for her was "just the sex attraction" his mother said it was.

However, in his third year at college, he found his solution to a life ruled by somebody else's feelings. In alcohol, he found exactly the out he'd been looking for. Drunk, David could express unpleasant feelings all over the place without any obligation to control them.

The point of this column is that though we are entitled to control a child's action, we have no right whatever to manipulate his feelings. If he could get this distinction clear in our heads, fewer young people would be jamming psychiatrists' offices.

In the adult sense, small children are incapable of love. They want what they want, regardless. When they can't have it, they react with raw and primitive feelings.

We control the pushes and kicks; the feelings we leave alone, neither condemning or trying to change them. And, the child learns to control them.

Unfortunately for children, we civilized parents have little experience with raw and primitive feelings. We learn life from the radio crooner and movie tough guys. So when a small child faces us with these feelings, we are appalled.

We plead with him by moral platitudes that he doesn't understand, rather than by the simplicity of a firm hand restraining his kicking leg. Thus he is cheated out of his emotional evolution. He is also tricked out of self-control.

Avoid Rust Spots

Be careful where the family puts its clothes after using. Rust can discolor and harm most fabrics and cannot be bleached out without danger of damage. Clothes hung on nails, thrown in metal lockers or otherwise coming into contact with iron or steel will get rusty if moisture is present. Rust can be removed by using oxalic acid and commercial preparations before they are sent to the laundry, but the directions on rust-removing preparations should be followed carefully and the garment should be thoroughly rinsed several times in clean water.

Handy Hints Are Given for Homes

By HUBBARD COBB

If you find that your refrigerator is a trifle noisy, check it to see that it is perfectly level. Many types tend to be noisy unless they sit perfectly level on the floor.

It's not necessary to remove a window air conditioner at the end of the warm weather. A well made unit won't suffer from exposure to the weather during the winter and you'll find that it's a useful item for ventilating the room at various times.

If your basement walls have been coated with plaster, don't try applying any sort of waterproofing compound to the wall until you have removed all the plaster. There is no type of waterproofing compound that will work on plaster.

It's pretty difficult to properly apply Portland-cement paints with an ordinary paint brush. The best kind of brush to use is one with short stiff fiber bristles.

Aluminum ducts used for warm air heating systems should not be covered over with asbestos paper. It does, however, help to increase the insulating value of the ducts if they are kept clean on the outside as well as the inside.

Don't leave water-thinned paints where they might be subject to freezing weather for this will spoil the paint. Freezing won't harm an oil paint, however.

Casual styling of lace over silk tulle in a burst of fullness in back is more flattering than old poured-in look was.

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

When you have an office job and keep house as well, you look for all kinds of quick recipes. Mrs. Roland Hallquist has one for a cake called a Lazy Daisy Cake. Even the frosting is a quickie.

A fairly new resident of Pontiac, Mrs. Hallquist comes from the Copper Country. Her husband is new on the staff at Pontiac High this fall, and Mrs. Hallquist is an office worker. For leisure time activities she likes sewing and cards.

LAZY DAISY CAKE

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter dissolved in the hot milk

Beat eggs well until lemon-colored. Add the sugar gradually. Sift dry ingredients. Fold into egg and sugar. Fold in hot milk-butter mixture.

Use about 25 strokes to fold in the flour. The entire folding of dry ingredients and hot milk should take no longer than a minute.

Bake in an ungreased 8-inch square pan 25-30 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Remove from oven and let rest for a few minutes. Cover with quick frosting and let broil until brown and bubbly.

Quick Frosting

1/2 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons cream
1/4 cup coconut

Mix and heat in a saucepan until bubbly. Pour over cake and watch carefully while it broils. This bakes easily.

Italy's Dope Orgy Scandal Can't Compare to Another

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Italians are all worked up over their "scandal of the century," in which the mysterious death of a pretty Rome party girl was mush-roomed into a cabinet crisis.

Wilma Montesi's body was found on a beach 17 months ago. Police called it accidental drowning. It is now charged that she died in a dope orgy.

Piero Piccioni, jazz pianist son of Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni, has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter as one of those involved. The elder Piccioni has resigned.

The Communists are trying to topple the cabinet of Premier Mario Scelba on the allegation that it tried to hush up the circumstances of Wilma's death.

It's a scandal, all right. But it's small potatoes to one that broke in France 40 years ago, also involving a woman.

That was when the beautiful wife of Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux shot Gaston Calmette, editor of the Paris newspaper Figaro.

Caillaux was perhaps France's most brilliant man. But he had many weaknesses. He combined his official activities with big scale stock market manipulations and an uninhibited love life.

Also he persisted in confiding, in his love letters, details of his financial manipulations.

Caillaux first married at the turn of the century. At once, he fell in love with the wife of Jules Dupre, a civil servant. Caillaux and Mme. Dupre got divorced and married. Caillaux, true to form, then fell in love with Mme. Henriette Claretie, wife of Figaro's literary editor. They were married in 1912, when the second Mme. Caillaux finally consented to a divorce.

Early in 1914, Calmette, Figaro's editor, started attacking Caillaux, accusing him of all sorts of irregularities. He published a love letter Caillaux had written to his second wife, containing details of some of his financial machinations.

The third Mme. Caillaux was outraged—and she feared Calmette might have got hold of some of Caillaux's letters to her.

On March 16, 1914, beautiful Mme. Caillaux, robed in deep black and wearing black furs, visited Calmette in his office. She drew a little Browning automatic from her muff and shot him twice. He fell dead.

That broke a real scandal, involving high politics, financial manipulations, Caillaux's pro-German leanings, extra-marital love. It was nearly as big a sensation in the United States as it was in Europe.

Caillaux resigned to defend his wife, and won her acquittal in a trial which ended a few days before World War I started.

This marriage survived. Caillaux lived on, to be imprisoned as a traitor and sentenced to banishment from Paris, to make a comeback and serve as finance minister again after the war. He died in November, 1944. His wife had died in January, 1943.

Sniper's Bullet Misses U. S. Diplomat in Pusan

PUSAN, Korea (U) — A sniper today fired a small caliber bullet into the U.S. Consulate here, narrowly missing Vice Consul Gordon K. Mott, Lakewood, Ohio, as he worked in front of a third floor window.

Consul Charles B. Borell notified U.S. military police, who are investigating.

Mennonites get their name from that of Menno Simons, one-time Catholic priest, who was a leader in the sect.

Tired Policeman Finally Gets Rid of Horse, Wagon

BALTIMORE (U) — Patrolman John J. Bianca found an abandoned horse and wagon last night. Sometimes walking and sometimes riding, he took them to the police department's stables. Officers there said they'd take the horse but there was no room for the wagon.

Bianca decided to take the wagon to the police impounding lot. To make the job easier, he took the horse along to pull the wagon.

But the impounding lot also refused the wagon.

Stymied momentarily, the resourceful patrolman then headed for the Northeastern Police Station. He parked the wagon across the street from the station. Then he walked the horse to the stables and walked back alone to the station house.

"My feet hurt," Bianca said after his four-hour sojourn. "Everything hurts."

The Talcott St. Church at Hartford, Conn., was built in 1819 by Negroes who said they had "grown tired of sitting in the galleries of white people's churches."

Union Rivalries to Be Arbitrated

New AFL Plan Calls for Peaceful Settlement of Jurisdictional Rows

LOS ANGELES (U)—AFL officials said today a new plan for settling job right rivalries between AFL unions will go a long way toward aiding labor peace.

The plan, calling for arbitration of such disputes that cannot be settled through negotiation, was unanimously approved yesterday by AFL convention delegates.

Jurisdictional fights between unions, over which one's members should perform certain types of work have plagued the AFL for years. The convention's approving resolution said such strife has spurred much of the legislation restricting union practices.

Squabbles over work assignment have in the past often resulted in strikes and other labor troubles which employers have been powerless to settle.

The new plan leaves it entirely up to each AFL union on whether it will go along, but most of the AFL's 110 groups have indicated they will subscribe. Once they do they stand committed to follow the plan's procedures. All unresolved disputes would be put up to an arbitrator, or neutral, for a binding decision.

Most union officials regard the plan as one of a number of important steps taken recently by organized labor to provide machinery for peacefully settling disputes.

Nixon Banking on Ike's Appeal

Hopes Democrats and Independents Will Help Elect GOP Congress

INDIANAPOLIS (U)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon last night pinned Republican hopes of retaining control of Congress this fall on President Eisenhower's popularity among Democrats and independents.

In the final speech of a campaign swing through the crucial Midwest, Nixon called upon Democrats and Independents who helped elect Eisenhower in 1952 to vote for Republican congressional candidates.

"It's just as simple as that," he said. "If you're for President Eisenhower and his program, you vote Republican; if you're against him you vote Democratic."

Asked at a news conference on his arrival here about GOP chances for keeping control, Nixon replied in effect that the needed support from outside the party would be forthcoming and would keep Congress in Republican hands.

The vice president made no specific reference to the farm price and unemployment problems, on which Democrats count heavily in their campaign to take over control of the House and possibly the Senate as well.

He said the main issues in the Nov. 2 election could be summarized in four words—Korea, controls, communism and corruption.

Past Miss America to Wed on Nov. 13

LANCASTER, Pa. (U)—Evelyn Ay, who retired earlier this month as reigning "Miss America," will marry Ensign Carl Semper Jr. here Nov. 13.

Semper, a football player at Penn, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Semper, Montclair, N.J. He is presently stationed at Corpus Christi, Tex., in the Navy.

Florenz Ziegfeld Had Magic Touch of Blending Comics, Gorgeous Girls

By EDDIE CANTOR

Florenz Ziegfeld! No theatrical producer before or since has evidenced the extravagance, the good taste, and the magic touch of blending comedians and gorgeous girls in exactly the right proportions.

Glorifying the American girl was not merely a press agent's slogan. It was an actual process invented by the great Ziegfeld.

Ziegfeld always regarded his show as one big happy family—the most important family in the world. Anything, or anybody, else was secondary.

When Fanny Brice had to leave the "Follies" to await the birth of her first child, Ziggy sent her this wire: "How can you do this to me?" Later, when her second child was born, Ziegfeld wanted Fanny's husband to sign an agreement that there would be no more interruptions in the run of the "Follies" while it was on tour.

Will Rogers was the only comedian in the show who actually outdrew the show-girls. People came from near and far to see him. He had little education, but he was the smartest man I ever met. Rogers himself kidded about his schooling. He said to me once, "In school, I got to know more about 'McGuffey's Fourth Reader' than Mr. McGuffey did!"

Every time Will went on, in the wings, laughing as loud as the audience, would be stars like Bert Williams, Ann Pennington, Fanny Brice, W. C. Fields, and other greats that only a Ziegfeld could bring together.

Ziggy was surrounded by beautiful girls all his life, and married the most beautiful lady of them all—Billie Burke. Their courtship was one of the most fantastic ever—in or out of the theater. He once sent her an entire truckload of orchids. He also courted Billie's mother—sending her pink champagne, pressed duck, and all the other things I'd never heard of in that basement on the East Side.

Their famous marriage ended on July 23, 1932, when Ziegfeld died at the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Los Angeles, after a short illness. Those of us who worked with the Great Glorifier, and loved him, felt a deep personal loss. Ziegfeld, the magnificent—the irreplaceable!

Month's Air Travel More Than All 1940

WASHINGTON (U)—The nation's scheduled airlines, domestic and international, figure they now carry more passengers greater distances in a single month than they carried during all of 1940.

This estimate appeared today in a statement by Earl D. Johnson, president of the Air Transport Assn., the organization of scheduled airlines.

Johnson estimated that the scheduled airlines this year will carry 34 million passengers about 19 billion passenger miles.

This would be an increase over last year of 9.7 per cent in passengers, and 7.4 per cent in passenger-miles.

Pal Spots Former G.I's Helmet Liner, Returns It

RENSELAER, N. Y. (U.P.)—The past is catching up with a Korean War veteran, Joseph T. Correia.

Correia was wounded in September, 1952, and returned home. Recently a friend spotted Correia's helmet liner among some 10,000 shipped from California to a federal surplus warehouse here. He said he saw the "former soldier's" name tag on the liner. Obliging, warehouse officials turned it over to Correia.

U.S. Pushes International Atoms-for-Peace Agency

Ex-Envoy Kennedy Calls U.S. Diplomacy 'Inept'

PARIS (INS) — Former U. S. Ambassador to Britain Joseph P. Kennedy says that because of "inept diplomacy" America was blamed for collapse of the European army plan although it was originated by France.

Kennedy told International News Service in an interview that the time has come for America's European Allies to make up their own minds about their collective defense and German rearmament.

The former ambassador added that "we should certainly maintain an interest in Europe, but we should stop trying to run Europe's affairs."

"We have spent some 30 billion dollars trying to do so since the end of the war," Kennedy declared, "and we have done it so badly that we have less friends over here today than we had before we started telling them what they should do and how they should do it."

"Our diplomacy has been so inept under both administrations that we have allowed ourselves to be maneuvered into a position where we championed a plan advocated by the Europeans themselves, and then took the rap for attempting to force the rap on the Europeans."

"I am referring to the recently defeated European Defense Community treaty. This was a French plan. It was thought up by the French and sold. I think somewhat against his better judgment, to President Eisenhower when he was supreme commander of the Atlantic Pact forces over here."

"We wound up with most Frenchmen thinking the treaty was an American plan that Uncle Sam was trying to force down their throats."

"In fact, its defeat in the French Parliament was described in the press both here and at home as one of the worst setbacks in the history of American diplomacy.

"There surely is something wrong with American diplomacy when it allows Uncle Sam to get blamed for somebody else's defeated plan."

Kennedy warned that diplomatic tactics which "give the impression that we are trying to impose unwanted solutions" on the European nations have brought "big dividends to Communist propaganda."

Kennedy added that the U. S. has prodded its Allies so much to build up their armed forces that "the Communists have been able to convince a lot of Europeans that it is the U. S. and not Russia that is likely to precipitate war."

Kennedy and his wife came to Paris to receive from the French government the posthumous awards of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre for their son, Joseph Patrick Kennedy Jr.

The younger Kennedy, a Navy pilot, was killed during a wartime raid on German V-2 rocket sites on the French coast.

Detroit to Lose 2 Trolley Lines

Buses Slated This Fall on Michigan, Gratiot, Better Parking Pledged

DETROIT (INS) — In quick succession, Mayor Cobo announced yesterday that buses will replace streetcars on Michigan and Gratiot, and that he is seriously considering providing free municipal parking facilities in the downtown area.

Cobo said the switch to buses on Michigan and Gratiot probably will be made between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15. He said the buses are available and will take over as soon as the city is able to sell 100 streetcars now on the two lines.

The transition will not require any immediate street alterations, Cobo said, but the expenditure of two million dollars eventually will be necessary to remove rails and safety cones and resurface the streets.

On the subject of parking, the mayor said:

"Detroit is behind at least 10 years in its parking program. There is great need downtown for closed parking for all-day employees and free lots for shoppers remaining only a few hours."

Cobo said the cost to the city of providing free lots would be more than made up by an increase in assessed valuation which better parking would bring to the area.

Cobo cited the free parking facilities at Northland Center as an example of what the downtown area should have and said he envisions three or four shopping centers, patterned after Northland, in the area bounded by Vernor, the river, Hastings and the Lodge Expressway.

BATTLE CREEK — A warning system to alert 200 key points in the United States in three minutes in the event of an air attack has been devised by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. IT'S NOT TOO LATE—Youngsters can still enter their dogs in the city's Pooch Party slated for 2 p. m. tomorrow at Oakland Park. But Mary Jo Freeman, 8, (left) and her sister, Brenda Lee, 7, aren't worrying about deadlines because they have already entered their hounds—Boy, a 165-pound two-year-old English St. Bernard, and Flicka, an

'Reasonable' Delay Over Sen. McCarthy Will Not Be Opposed by Flanders

WASHINGTON — Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said today he would not protest if a decision is made on "reasonable" grounds to delay until after the election Senate action on his move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

It was announced yesterday that no decision would be made for at least several days on when to call the Senate back into session on the politically touchy question. There were signs of swelling sentiment among some senators campaigning for re-election to defer the session until after Nov. 2.

Flanders, in a telephone interview from his home in Springfield, Vt., said "I am disappointed" at the announcement of a further delay. Earlier, it had been widely rumored, without official confirmation, that the session might be set for next Wednesday.

Flanders said he supposed a storm of protest from within the ranks of Republican senators had much to do with the delay, and that he is now less confident of a pre-election vote on his resolution to censure McCarthy's conduct as tending to bring the Senate into disrepute.

"If senators who are running for re-election feel that way," he said, "I'm not going to run counter to their wishes. But there should be a private canvass by the leaders among all the incumbent senatorial candidates before they finally decide — both Republicans and Democrats. I think that will be done."

Flanders said he has not been in touch with Sen. Knowland of California or Johnson of Texas, the Republican and Democratic leaders, who have been authorized to call the Senate back into session on five days' notice.

Whatever their decision, he added, "I will not protest. But I hope it will be on grounds that reasonable men can accept."

The special committee set up by the Senate to consider Flanders' resolution scheduled another session today in an effort to complete by tonight its report, designed to serve as a guide to the Senate. The plan is to make the report public on Monday. Its tone is a closely guarded secret.

From several senators yesterday came word they had been told there would be no session to start next week. That led to speculation the session would begin Oct. 4, or else not until after Election Day.

Vice President Nixon, returning to the capital today from a Midwest campaign tour, seemed likely to be drawn into the discussion on timing of the session. He declined to discuss the matter yesterday.

Some Republicans were known to feel that a pre-election debate on McCarthy and his controversial investigative methods might arouse factional feeling within the party and, perhaps, cost GOP candidates votes in some areas.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) and others have protested that a vote during the heat of the election campaign would be prejudicial to McCarthy.

Five Appointed at City Hospital

Doctors Named to Staff of Pontiac General at Board Meeting

Five new appointments to the staff of Pontiac General Hospital were approved by the hospital Board of Trustees at its meeting last night.

In other action, the board rejected the request of an employee that she be given a total of three days off as death leave.

She was granted one death leave before her regular three days off began and believed she was entitled to two more death leave days after the regular time off, during which the funeral had taken place.

The board also approved a plan drawn up by an employee's committee calling for the awarding of pins and watches to employees at a yearly banquet.

A watch will be awarded after 25 years service. Beginning at the 10th year pins will be presented every five years.

Dulles Outlines Four-Point Plan

Expands Ike's Proposal in Speech Before the U. N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. —

The United States pushed new plans today to set up an international agency to foster peaceful use of atomic power, with or without Russian cooperation.

Secretary of State Dulles outlined the four-point proposal in a major U.S. policy speech in the ninth U.N. General Assembly yesterday afternoon.

Developing the ideas set forth in President Eisenhower's speech to the U.N. last December, the secretary called for:

1. Creation of an international agency to include "nations from all regions of the world." Dulles said it is hoped the agency will start work "as early as next year."
2. Holding of an international scientific conference under U.N. auspices next spring to consider the "whole vast subject" of the peaceful use of atomic power.

3. The opening in the United States early next year of a reactor training school "where students from abroad may learn the working principles of atomic energy with specific regard to its peace-time uses."
4. Invitations to a "substantial number" of foreign medical and surgical experts to work with atomic energy techniques in U.S. cancer hospitals.

Dulles's proposals brought immediate expressions of approval from many other U.N. members. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate, called for a quick meeting of the U.N. Steering Committee to put the proposed plan on the Assembly's agenda as an "important and urgent question."

The top-level U.N. executive group in a hurried session after Dulles spoke broke its five-day week plan and scheduled a meeting on the atomic plan for Saturday.

The 15-nation committee, which decides whether to include items in the agenda, includes the United States and Russia. Debate on the agenda item may show what position the Soviets intend to take in the later Assembly debate. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky declined to discuss the speech with reporters.

Dulles's speech disclosed that the Russians on Wednesday asked for new talks on President Eisenhower's original proposal. They had given it a cold shoulder in all previous talks. Dulles said the Soviets would talk about atoms for peace.

The U.S. secretary said the Soviet Union had in effect rejected the plan last April when it said substantially it could not agree to it unless the United States joined in a "paper ban" on use of atomic weapons.

"The United States remains ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union," Dulles told his intent audience. "But we shall no longer suspend our efforts to establish an international atomic agency. . . . I would like to make perfectly clear that our planning excludes no nation from participation in this great venture. As our proposals take shape, all nations interested in participating and willing to take on the responsibilities of membership will be welcome to join with us in the planning and execution of this program."

Britain's Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd said his country would join such a group.

Unofficially, it was said that all seven countries so far consulted by Dulles had agreed to come into the agency. Besides Britain they are France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Portugal and South Africa.

Hindu Women Awaiting Right to Seek Divorce

NEW DELHI — A revolutionary new divorce bill, giving Hindu women for the first time in their 5,000 years of recorded history the right to demand a divorce, needs only presidential signature to become Indian law.

The bill, passed by Parliament, raises the marriageable age for boys to 21 and for girls to 18. Present age limits are 14 for girls and 18 for boys.

The measure will enable a woman to demand a divorce on grounds of infidelity, cruelty, her husband's insanity or because he is suffering from an incurable disease.

The bill provides a one-year time delay between the application for a divorce and the actual decree. This was designed to provide time for attempts to bring estranged couples together again.

Tour of Greek Isles Ends in Engagement

ROME (U) — The recent royal tour of the Greek Isles had an engagement to its credit today — Princess Maria Pia, 20-year-old daughter of Italy's ex-King Umberto, and Prince Alexander of the exiled Yugoslav royal family. Announcing their betrothal last night, the administrator of affairs of the deposed Italian royal family said the young couple would be married in Portugal, probably in January. Maria Pia and Alexander were among the 100 or so royal guests who cruised through the Greek Islands recently with Greece's King Paul and Queen Frederika.

State Pilot Aloft Seconds After Chuting to Earth

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (U) — An Air Force pilot who parachuted from his disabled fighter plane yesterday had barely touched the ground before he was up in the air again. Lt. Gilbert McAdams bailed out of his plane shortly before it crashed in the desert and burned. A passing Air Force helicopter saw him floating to earth and followed him to the ground. The helicopter picked up McAdams within 90 seconds after he had landed and returned him to George Air Force Base.

McAdams is from Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. The helicopter rescuers were Capt. Chester E. Eckerman of San Angelo, Tex., pilot, and Lt. Lamar G. Tullos of Livingston, Tex., co-pilot.

Cop Takes Russian to Tell Off Soviets

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (U) — Motor-cycle patrolman Timothy O'Neill has started to study Russian so he can at least tell off Soviet citizens who go around speeding under protection of diplomatic immunity. Last week O'Neill gave a speeding ticket to the chauffeur for the Russian United Nations delegation but the charge was dismissed under the immunity courtesy. The Russians maintain an estate here for their delegation.

O'Neill attended beginner's Russian classes last night, given under the Glen Cove school board's adult education program. "If I can't ticket Russians who speed and run through stop signs, I can at least stop them and tell them that they should obey our traffic laws," O'Neill said.

Pope Disobeys Advice to Rest, Gives Address

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (U) — Despite his doctor's advice to rest, Pope Pius XII delivered a 15-minute address today to members of a world scientific congress. In a firm voice, he cautioned delegates to the 42-nation geophysics conference that the scientist may not be worthy of such a name if he does not elevate himself above technical problems. It was the Pope's third audience in three days, and the longest speech he has given since he began suffering from a minor ailment a week ago. Last Sunday he canceled an address scheduled to be given at a general audience and limited himself to greeting the pilgrims. Physicians have ascribed the ailment, marked by occasional return of the hiccup which weakened the pontiff last winter, to fatigue. They advised him to get more rest.

'White Christmas' Makes $100,000 for Irving Berlin

By PHILIP HATFIELD

NEW YORK (UPI)—We laughed when Irving Berlin sat down at the piano.

He was not agitated, nor did he blush.

With three fingers of his stumpy right hand, and one—occasionally a pair—from his left, he poked out a little ditty called "White Christmas."

"Now that is so simple. It may not sound like much," Mr. Berlin understated. "But it has made me more than $100,000 and is one of my very favorites."

So we can laugh at Irving's hump-pick piano technique. And Irving can laugh (as they say) all the way to the bank.

It was about this self-supporting young tune that Berlin was being interviewed in his pine-paneled office above Broadway, and the composer was delighted at the prospect of telling the story of its birth. Not a man to settle back, even at the age of 64, Berlin paced the foamy carpeting and began:

"You ask me to break down the song into the number of records and sheet music sales. Well, let me tell you, this isn't a song you can break down—it's a song that breaks it up." And he laughed too.

"White Christmas" has sold 18,000,000 records and been recorded by 80 to 85 different artists," its father beamed. "Crosby's record alone has sold 7,500,000 copies. In sheet music, it's sold three and a half million, and those are records from the book, honey, not press agent's figures."

Berlin—a scarcely-gray, animated, slick-groomed man—sat down and paused reflectively. "I wrote it in 1939, as one of a group of songs celebrating various holidays for the movie 'Holiday Inn.'"

"Much as I'd like to take a bow and say I anticipated its future success, I must admit I didn't. It was just one of the songs—maybe because it was so easy, comparatively, to write I didn't realize its potential. I wrote it in rather two brief sessions; and that's fast for a song. Some take a lot more work."

The first notion he had that he was a breadwinning child of counterpoint came at a music-briefing session for Bing Crosby, who was to star in "Holiday Inn."

"Bing is a very casual listener. Berlin remembers. "And I ran through the numbers without getting a word from him. Till I came to 'White Christmas. Suddenly he took his pipe out of his mouth and said, 'Irving, you don't have to worry about this one.'"

This was high praise indeed from the astute Mr. Crosby, a clairvoyant of the written note. He, too, has supported his sons nicely on Mr. Berlin's melodic offspring.

Since Irving began song-writing in 1907—his first was a gem called "Marie From Sunny Italy"—he has composed about 1,000 tunes and seen 750 published. The list includes some of his own favorites like "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "All Alone" and "Oh How I Hate To Get Up in the Morning." And some intriguing but obscure numbers like "I Can Always Find a Little Sunshine in the Y.M.C.A." "If That's Your Idea of a Wonderful Time, Take Me Home."

But his true loves are two—"God Bless America" because Berlin is a thorough-going, Russian-born U. S. patriot, and "White Christmas" because Berlin has a healthy respect for the public's taste and all the nice rewards it brings.

Irving and Paramount Pictures are shortly bringing out a new movie called "White Christmas" and featuring the song and the man Crosby. At which time sleighbells in the snow will become even more popular.

"As it," grins Berlin like a proud papa, "it needed a boost."

Institutions Take to Air in Education Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America's colleges and universities sometimes take to the air to carry out their educational programs.

Schools in 11 states operate 111 aircraft which log approximately 14,000 hours of flight time a year, according to an official report of the Aircraft Industries Association.

A nationwide survey revealed that planes are used by schools as part of their educational facilities for pilot training, air-mapping and photogrammetry and in crop-dusting on school farmlands.

Iowa Takes Shot at High-Ranked Spartans

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING, Mich. — Michigan State's "pony" backs will be off and running again Saturday.

Iowa has the first crack at trying to stop them in a nationally televised football game that will be the season's opener for both Big Ten schools.

Michigan State currently is ranked seventh in The Associated Press football poll. Iowa is unrated.

A look at the record shows why the Spartans from East Lansing are among the Top Ten.

Last year MSC won eight and lost one in the stiff Western Conference competition.

Purdue beat Michigan State in mid-season after a touchdown by MSC's LeRoy Bolden was called back because of a clipping penalty. But MSC was still conference co-champion and went on to win the Rose Bowl.

In 1951 and 1952 the Spartans went unbeaten. Their last previous defeat was by Maryland early in the 1950 season.

The secret of the Michigan State success all these years had been in the knack of developing platoons of "pony" backs who run like 60-yard dash men.

Last year, right-half Billy Wells, now with the pro Washington Redskins, scampered for two touchdowns against Iowa and passed for another for the 21-7 result.

Bolden, his long-time running mate at left half, is the main backfield threat. He scored three touchdowns last year against both Ohio State and Minnesota and was the leading yardage and point getter.

Bolden weighs only 169 pounds but is a speedster with the hitting power of a couple of tons of dynamite. MSC Coach Duffy Daugherty terms him "the best back in the country today."

Michigan State will throw at least three backfield combinations against Iowa and every other opponent. The Spartans figure on wearing them down with platoons of fresh players.

USC and Pittsburgh Meet in LA Tonight

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK — Southern California and Pittsburgh, two teams trying to relive past glories, tangle in Los Angeles tonight in an inter-sectional game which whets the appetite for the first full-scale weekend of the college football season.

Every section of the country swings into the "Hip-Hip-Hooray" spirit with the crescendo apparently to be reached at South Bend, Ind., tomorrow where Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, picked as the nation's best, make their debut against power-loaded Texas.

This battle, a headliner under any circumstances, packs particular interest because it introduces Notre Dame's new "Wonder Boy," 26-year-old Terry Brennan, as successor to Frank Leahy.

In tonight's Coast conflict, Southern Cal's Trojans rate a 10-point edge over Red Dawson's Pitt Panthers, who are known to be big and tough but of questionable striking strength.

Other games tonight have Arizona State at Tempe playing Brigham Young on the latter's field, Denver at Drake, Miami (Fla.) at Furman and Hampden-Sydney at Richmond. The visiting team is favored in each of these cases except the last, where the odds are on Richmond.

Sharing top attention with the South Bend game is the NCAA's nationally televised attraction of the week ending Michigan State's Rose Bowl champions against Iowa at Iowa City. This game hits the TV screens at 3:25 p.m. (EST). It's a virtual tossup.

In the principal inter-sectional conflicts, UCLA is a 20-point choice over Kansas at Lawrence, Illinois, the Big Ten favorite, is 10 points over Penn State at Champaign; Michigan is 14 over Washington at Seattle, and Duke rates a touchdown over Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Army opens its campaign at West Point, a one-sided favorite over South Carolina, and Navy is picked to roll over William & Mary at Annapolis. Syracuse faces Villanova.

You Be the Quarterback
By Warren Gae
Head Football Coach
Drake University

On the first play of the game, Illinois lost two yards on a pitch-out to its fast halfback around end. The score is 0-0, but Illinois is favored over a stubborn Penn State team by a touchdown.

Since the Illini are on their own 17, Penn State is playing a tough 6-3-2 defense against the Illinois wing-T (T formation with one halfback set a yard or so outside his end). It is second down and 12 for the Illini.

As Illinois quarterback rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4 for this situation:

IOWA SPARKPLUG—Quarterback Jerry Reichow (left) passes off to fullback George (Blinkey) Broeder, Hawkeye captain. They are standouts among a passel of good backs on the University of Iowa football squad this fall. Coach Forest Evgashevski says Reichow is the most improved man on the squad. Broeder led the Big Ten in punting and Iowa in ground gaining last season. Iowa meets Michigan State Sept. 25.

Eastern Pacer Takes Little Brown Jug Race

DELAWARE, O. (HNS) — Adios Harry, favorite of the favorites, today owns the 1954 little brown jug.

The eastern entry's astounding stamina and speed bested the second largest field of the world's speediest three-year-old pacers yesterday in Delaware before a record turnout of more than 42,000.

His native qualities coupled with the skill of his driver, Morry McDonald, netted him $26,345.84 of the $69,332.06 purse, richest in the nine-year history of the Grand Circuit climax for pacers.

He was the only one of the field to bag two heats in his division and then come back in the three-horse race-off and win the trophy over 2nd place Phantom Lady and 3rd place Queen's Adios.

Adios Harry was entered by J. Howard Lyons of Harrington, Del., who just this spring refused an offer of $75,000 for his champion.

One Perfect Expert

NEW YORK — Twelve picked Cleveland, four picked the New York Giants but only one of the experts polled during spring training by the Associated Press picked the right winners in both major league pennant races.

Ben Olan, chief of The Associated Press baseball statistical service, selected the Giants and the Indians.

Wolverines on Coast for Tilt With Huskies' 11

Baer Makes Trip, but Probably Won't Play in Season Opener

By JOHN BARBOUR

SEATTLE — Michigan's Wolverines, 38 strong, headed back to Seattle today from their resort hide-out in the country for their first practice at the University of Washington Stadium.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan will send his Wolverines against the Washington Huskies Saturday afternoon in the first Michigan football season opener away from home since 1948.

The Michigan party arrived yesterday and bussed to Gaffney's Lake wilderness resort, 19 miles from Seattle. They'll stay there tonight and Saturday night, returning to Ann Arbor Sunday by plane about 9 p.m. (EST).

Although it was doubted whether he would be able to play, fullback Fred Baer, the No. 2 man in that position, made the trip with the Wolverines. He has a pulled leg muscle.

The workout today was expected to be hard as Oosterbaan put a final keen edge on the Wolverines offensive attack. Most of the last week in Ann Arbor practice sessions was devoted to defense against Washington's aerial game.

Perhaps sensing this, Washington coach John Cherberg changed signals yesterday, driving his squad through a hard drill on ground plays. Cherberg tried new reserve fullback Stewart Cook to give him the feel of the new position he inherited from Mike Monroe, who will be out of the game because of injuries he received last week against Utah.

Cherberg was also having troubles with his line. Only one of these was considered serious. That was the center spot and it would probably not be known until kickoff time which of last week's starters, Pete Arrivey or Del Jensen would be chosen for the starting duties.

Grouse on Downward Trend, Reports Show

LANSING — Earlier reports that ruffed grouse are down were borne out today by a summary of reports by rural mail carriers.

The carriers, reporting the number of birds they saw on their regular rounds, saw fewer birds for the 3rd straight year in the Upper Peninsula. In the northern Lower Peninsula, the decline was less pronounced.

The birds are on the downward side of their 10-year cycle of abundance, game biologists have been reporting.

Long Winning String

Michigan State's longest football winning streak in history was 29 games — stretching from midway through the 1950 season to the midpoint in the 1953 season.

Earl Putnam, 305-pound rookie tackle, is the biggest man in the history of the New York football Giants.

Now . . . the BIG Johnson Sea-Horses Are QUIET!

HERE IS WELCOME NEWS!

Yes, this news will be welcome to folks who live on lakes and rivers, as well as those who go fishing and boating. For now Johnson Motors are building quiet motors in the big-motor class — those up to 25-horsepower. Johnson claims "kitten-purr quiet" for their big outboards.

These big motors have been silenced even more effectively than was the firm's little 5½-horsepower model, which last year won the National Noise Abatement Council's Certificate of Merit for noise reduction.

The suspension-drive construction which suppresses sound also contributes to riding comfort and to longer life of the boat itself. This is because of the absence of jarring vibrations formerly transmitted from the motor to the boat.

Pilots on Soft Ground as Season Wanes

By BEN PHILGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
With the coming of autumn it appears to be open season on managers in the major leagues.

Two changes already have been made at Baltimore and Chicago. Another one, at Washington, appears to be in the works for Monday.

There are strong indications that the Senators are going to either release Bucky Harris or kick him upstairs to the general manager's job and replace him with Charlie Dressen.

If Dressen, who led Brooklyn to two pennants in three seasons then quit last year in a battle over a long term contract, doesn't catch on at Washington the next best bet appears to be the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phils switched from Steve O'Neill to Terry Moore in mid-season after months of rumors and Moore has only a verbal understanding concerning next year. If the Phils edge out Cincinnati for fourth place he may keep his job.

His ball club made a move in that direction yesterday in the only playing action, winning a pair from Pittsburgh 7-6 and 4-2. The first game marked the completion of a contest started Aug. 15 and halted after eight innings because of the Sunday Pennsylvania curfew with the scored tied at 6-6.

Robin Roberts finished the suspended game for his 23rd triumph and his second in two days when Richie Ashburn singled and moved around to score the winning run in the last of the ninth.

In the regular game Stan Lopata put the Phils in front to stay on a 3-run homer in the first inning.

For a brief spell the Phillies thought they had moved within .0002 of fourth place. But an hour after the end of their second game, League President Warren Giles upheld a Cincinnati protest of a loss at Milwaukee Wednesday and ordered the game to resume today. Giles reversed his umpires who had called an interference play for the final out against the Redlegs. The action resumes with the Braves leading 3-1, two on for Cincinnati and two out in the ninth.

Left-Handed Passer Holds Hopes of Washington Club

SEATTLE (AP)—Washington will depend upon its air artillery to repel the invasion by Michigan tomorrow with southpaw Sandy Lederman in charge of the barrage detail.

Coach Johnny Chergerg's junior quarterback is a cool gunner. Against Utah last week he let the enemy swarm in while he picked out his receivers and tossed 33 forwards.

Lederman connected on 17 of these, one for a touchdown, and he spread the catching assignment among five targets—three ends and two backs. Washington won, 7-6.

Full impact of the offensive load falls this week on Lederman—and his sophomore understudy, Bob Cox—after Washington's chief running threat took to the bench with a knee injury. Hard-running Mike Monroe, whose galloping was expected to help Lederman's passes, is out for a month and perhaps the season.

Washington—crushed 50-0 by Michigan last year—opened its schedule this season with one of the greenest lines it has fielded in many seasons, and Chergerg was pleased with its performance. Standout of the Utah game was Dell Jensen, a junior college transfer from California.

New York Fireman Gets 2 Aces in Single Round

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Most golfers would be more than content with one hole-in-one in a lifetime. But John Figura, 45-year-old Yonkers fireman, today was the proud possessor of two in one round. Figura used his No. 7 iron to sink his tee shot on the 138-yard third and on the 172-yard 17th at the Sprain Lake public course yesterday. He also had a hole-in-one on the same third hole a year ago.

CASE—Pick Your Spot.
Key to Footwork—It's a saying with experienced bowlers that your skill can be only as good as your footwork. Here are some important points...

First important tip in that direction is to get set properly. The stride to the line must be unvarying in length, and it can be so only if your starting positions each time are identical. Just about all alleys have a line 15 feet back from the foul line, as shown in the sketch.

It is set back 15 feet because that is the normal stride for the average person who takes the standard four steps. Let this be the major point to remember in getting under way: Be painstaking about setting yourself. It will pay off and, it is worth the extra time you give it.

Notice how the ball is held—in the palm of the left hand, always.

Mikes and Rams Open SCL Play in Sunday Tilts

Shamrocks Go to OL, St. Frederick Meets St. Mary (RO)

Suburban Catholic League football competition gets under way Sunday, with both Pontiac parochial squads in action away from the city.

Defending co-champion St. Michael plays at Orchard Lake St. Mary in the afternoon, while St. Frederick goes to Royal Oak St. Mary Sunday night.

Other games send St. James to St. Rita and St. Benedict to St. Clement of Center Line.

St. Michael will throw a revamped backfield at the Eagles. Bobby Minewasser, 14-year-old freshman son of the Shamrocks' coach, will take over quarterback duties. Bob Anderson moved from quarter to right half and Bud Schwartz from full to left half, and Ron Elmy moves up to a starting fullback berth.

Mikes lost their opener, 26-7, to Avondale, while Sunday's game will open the Eagles' season. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

St. Frederick, which bowed to Marine City Holy Cross 19-12 in its 1st game, hopes to display an improved pass defense in its Sunday night game at Royal Oak. Holy Cross scored two TD's and set up another with passes.

Two Ram regulars are doubtful starters. Guard Mike Wells is still nursing a torn leg muscle and co-captain Don Cox, a halfback, is hampered by a "Charley horse." Heavy Landry will take over at guard and Dave Dumas at right half if the regulars aren't ready.

St. Mary (RO) lost to Madison, 19-0, in its opening game. Sunday's game is set for 8 p.m.

Avon Harriers Win

Avondale runners took 3 of the 1st 4 places Thursday to eke out a 27-29 cross country victory over Keego Harbor over a 2-mile course at Auburn Heights. Individual winner was Avondale's Mike Baggett in 11 minutes, 30 seconds.

Tribe Readies AL's Finest Mound Staff

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland will have 10 pitchers and the New York Giants 12 available for the 1954 World Series, but strength in number will mean little when the pennant-winners meet head-on next Wednesday.

For pitchers with the ability and experience of Bob Lemon, Early

Wynn, Mike Garcia, Bob Feller and Art Houtteman plus a vastly improved bullpen gave Manager Al Lopez the finest mound staff in many American League seasons.

Statistically, Cleveland holds the edge over New York in complete games, earned run averages and just about every comparable basis except shutouts, where the Giants have 16 to the Indians' 12.

Collectively, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia have racked up 64 of their club's 110 victories. Lemon has a 23-6 record, Wynn 22-11 and Garcia 19-8. Feller chipped in with 13 triumphs and Houtteman, shaking off a "hard luck" tag of long standing, won 15 games.

The Cleveland pitchers have gone the distance 75 times to New York's 44. Lemon, Wynn, Garcia, Hal Newhouse, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski all have earned run marks under 3.00.

The Giants have several top-flight pitchers of their own. Johnny Antonelli, with 21 victories and the Majors' best earned run average, 2.31, was one of the year's standouts. Ruben Gomez won 17 games and sage old Sal Maglie 14, several of them in key games.

There's no belittling New York's relief pitchers, either. Knuckleball Hoyt Wilhelm has won 12 games and Marv Grissom 10. Left-handers Don Liddle and Windy McCall also have shown flashes of brilliance.

With several long ball hitters on both sides, the gopher ball conceivably will play an important part in the outcome of the best-of-seven set. In this respect, Cleveland also has the advantage.

Garcia has been tagged for only four homers all season. Lemon has given up 10 and Wynn 21. For New York, Antonelli and Maglie have permitted 21 apiece and Gomez 20.

Certainly, sentiment will be riding with Feller, who at 35, will be seeking his first World Series victory. Bob had two chances in 1948, but lost both, one by a 1-0 count.

Not to be overlooked is the fact that Cleveland's hurlers piled up their awesome records against admittedly inferior opposition—the so-called "five club second division."

In the catching department, not much in the way of hitting is expected from Cleveland's Jim Hegann or New York's Wes Westrum. Both are fine defensive receivers.

West Virginia, Oklahoma, Texas Nearly Unanimous Picks in Conference Ratings

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—If West Virginia, Oklahoma and Texas don't win their conference championships this year, there'll be some very red faces among the football experts.

In addition to rating the first ten nationally in The Associated Press pre-season poll, the nation's sports writers and broadcasters were asked this year to rank the major conference teams in their regions. Those three were virtually unanimous choices.

West Virginia, in fact, corralled the first-place votes of all seven Southern Conference writers who cast ballots. Oklahoma drew 24 out of 25 first-place votes in the Big Seven area and Texas 15 out of 16 in the Southwest Conference. One other unanimous selection was Texas Tech in the Border Conference, but only four ballots were received from that sprawling league.

On the other hand, the writers foresaw close races in all the other major conferences, with as many as four teams figuring in some of the races. The winners in the balloting, figured on the usual 10-9-8 etc point basis were:

Southeastern: Mississippi, Atlantic Coast, Maryland; Big Ten, Michigan State; Missouri Valley, Oklahoma A&M; Skyline, Wyoming; Pacific Coast, UCLA. Cornell and Yale tied in points on four ballots from Ivy League territory, but Cornell drew two first-place votes and Yale and Harvard one each.

The line dissenters—or upset pickers—in the Big Seven and Southwest named Missouri and and Baylor as their No. 1 teams, but they listed Oklahoma—and Texas second. On the point scoring, Rice, with ten second-place votes, topped Baylor on the Southwest list. Missouri was the overwhelming choice as Big Seven runner-up with Colorado edging Kansas State for third.

Maryland, the 1953 national champion, drew first-place votes from 14 of 17 Atlantic Coast Conference experts and second from the other three. Duke had 3 firsts.

Big Ten followers also named four teams to participate in a close race.

Canadian Sets New Record in Catalina Swim

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Sturdy Tom Park, who comes from a Canadian family of champion swimmers, has broken the official record for the Catalina Channel swim and deposited titleholder Florence Chadwick.

Miss Chadwick, an indefatigable type, no doubt will try to regain the record.

Park, 31, a professional wrestler and service station attendant, avoided any advance publicity or announcement.

He simply went into the water at Catalina Island's Emerald Bay at 4:06 a.m. yesterday, struck out and reached the rocky Palos Verdes Peninsula on the Southern California mainland 13 hours, 25 minutes and 31 seconds later.

Park broke Miss Chadwick's official AAU record, set Sept. 21, 1952, by 22 minutes.

Thursday's College Football Delta (Miss) 35, Michigan 6; Southwestern Okla. 21, East Central Okla. 6; Mexico City Polytech 45, San Bernardino Valley 14.

Indians Shoot for AL Record Against Tigers

Open Season - Ending Series in Cleveland; Need 1 Win to Do It

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians were shooting for a new American League record in opening a season-ending set with the Detroit Tigers today.

The Tribe needs just one more victory to top the 1927 New York Yankees' mark of 110 for the season.

They have three games—all with the Tigers—to do it in. And the odds are heavy they'll more than make it.

For Detroit the prospects are dismal. Tigers must take the three game series and Boston must lose two of its four-game final series with Washington just for a 4th-place 1st-division tie.

Cleveland manager Al Lopez announced Early Wynn would start for the Indians today. Wynn has a 22-11 record. He will be opposed by the Tigers' Ted Gray, a left-hander, who has a 2-5 record.

Lopez said he plans to start Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia in the other two games of the series Saturday and Sunday.

Tiger manager Fred Hutchinson hasn't said who will follow Gray.

You Be the Quarterback

ANSWER

4. Punt. No! A touchdown favorite doesn't have to give up the ball here. Especially with a kick from regular punt formation.

3. Trap. Against a tough 6-3-2 defense, it would likely produce small yardage.

2. Quick kick. Excellent defense to quick kick against.

1. Pass down middle. Best choice. The 6-3-2 defense is weak against a pass with three deep receivers. With the Illinois favorites, you could afford to gamble with a pass which could go all the way.

People Mistake Gina's Name -- Not Her Frame

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I got all duded up in a dinner jacket for a lush champagne supper where Italian film star Gina Lollobrigida was the tastiest dish. 'Twas after the premier of "Bread, Love and Dreams"—and Gina whispered into my colonized ear some ways her name's been mispronounced here. Samples: "Lollo-liberace" and "Lollobraggadocio."

Red Skelton tells me a flustered woman fan asked: "Can I have your little boy for my autograph?"

Ed Wynn gave Mike Connolly his recipe for successful farming: "Rise early, work late, strike oil."

PAN MAIL: "I wish to complain about Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds smooching in public." So whatta you want 'em to do in public?

Sluggers back in school, Daddy's back at homework. Eve Arden's daughter, Connie, home from her first day in the first grade, was asked by her mother, "What did you learn?" As Army Archerd tells it, Connie replied, "Not much. I have to go back to-morrow."

Concerning a rumor that Frank Sinatra'll emote only, and not sing, in "Guys and Dolls," Director Joe Manckiewicz says, "That'd be carrying acting too far!"

Undercover News: Marilyn Monroe wore one pair of panties for the skirt-blowing scene last week, then got chilly and put on a second pair.

A movie usher asked a man down on his knees in the aisle what he was hunting. "A caramel," the man said. "All this fuss over a piece of candy!" exclaimed the usher. "Yes," said the man. "My teeth are in it."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Denise Dancel the French star showed up in a Dior gown in which she looked Jane Russellish. "That's Dior?" she was asked. "Yes!" she insisted. "Dior—last year."

Jerry Lewis, recovering from jaundice, will be well enough to start a movie and do TV next month. . . . Joe E. Lewis, starring at the Copa, co-stars with Johnnie Ray in the Latin 1/4 revue on the Colgate Comedy Hour Sunday. . . . Barbara Loden's the fall girl for some of Ernie Kovacs' many TV stunts. Janet Gaynor bought a home in Brazil. . . . Betsy von Furstenberg, back from Mexico, won't return to "Oh Men, Oh Women." . . . Mickey Cohen gets out of the can in December.

Spot news: Gary Cooper's over the measles. . . . Bella Darvi's latest is Peggy Lee's last, Brad Dexter. . . . "Miss Greece," who's a food fancier, was told by Jack Tirmann, "If you don't stop eating, in next year's contest you'll be Miss Greater Greece."

Earl's Pearl: "The best way to start a fire with two sticks is to make sure one of them is a match."—Quote.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "You know you're entering middle age the first time you sigh. What is this younger generation coming to?"—Charles Knouse, Osawatimie, Kans.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Singer Sunny Gale, working in Reno, says, "It's nice to be an entertainer here. Others arrive for a divorce; I'm here for an engagement." "One nice thing about money," notes Bill Lawrence. "The color never clashes with any outfit you're wearing." . . . That's earl, brother.

Farmer Jailed for Not Buying Buggy License

LAGRANGE, Ind. (INS)—A 49-year-old Amish farmer today faces the prospect of a long jail stay after being found guilty of not having license plates for his horse-powered buggy. Sam Bontrager, of near La-Grange, refused to buy registration plates for a non-motor vehicle as required by state law when buggies are used on public highways. The Amish farmer said the law was a violation of his religious freedom. Judge Donald H. Hunter studied the case several days then ruled the farmer must serve 15 days in the county jail. He also was fined $38 and has refused to pay the fine which could mean another 38 days at $1 per day.

New York State Ends Segregation of Indians

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP) — Indians and white children sat side by side in school yesterday as New York ended more than 100 years of segregation. The state said 1,535 Indian school children have moved out of the small, ramshackle schools in use since 1846 on seven reservations and into the public schools. The State Education Department said the idea had been in the works for many years and has no connection with the recent Supreme Court decision against segregation of whites and Negroes.

Boys in Bermudas Stun Chicago Coeds

CHICAGO (AP)—Some of the boys—not the girls—appeared at North Park Academy yesterday wearing Bermuda shorts. The girls, said Principal Clifford Swenson, never have attempted a similar stunt.

The boys were permitted to attend classes at the private school, said Swenson, who explained: "We have no regulations regarding dress for students or teachers. But, of course, we expect good judgment to be used."

The girls, Swenson added, "were interested. I guess they like to see the boys dress differently now and then."

Brothers 'Rocco' Will Probably Star Cary Grant

By LOUELLA G. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Cary Grant is wanted for "The Brothers Rico," a French novel, which William Goetz has just bought. My guess is that Bill will get Cary because he has worked with the producer on other pictures.

"The Brothers Rico," by Simone, was translated a few months ago and put on sale in this country.

Although in the book the locations are in France, they will be switched to Miami and Pennsylvania. Bill tells me it has a racketeer background, and that Robert Parrish will direct and Peter Viertel is doing the script.

Dennis Morgan, so slender he looks 10 years younger than he did 10 years ago, showed up on the Columbia lot to ink a contract that calls for him to make two pictures a year for Harry Cohn's movie factory.

Dennis' first is "The Gun That Won the West," which will be in Technicolor with Sam Katzman producing. It's an outdoor yarn by James Gordon based on the history of the Springfield rifle. In addition to the movie contract, Dennis will sing in Las Vegas after his picture is finished.

It took a bit of doing to get Audie Murphy to play the scene in his picture, "To Hell and Back," in which he receives his Medal of Honor from the U.S. government. Audie said he didn't want himself singled out because "To Hell and Back," now being filmed in Yakima, Wash., is the story of every dog-face.

I am glad to say Audie's wife, Pamela, joined him on location to spend the rest of the week with him. She took their older son, Terry, and Audie says this is the first real honeymoon they've ever had.

Just heard from Jeanne Crain from Paris and she says: "I must rush to tell you that I am happier about my role in 'Gentlemen Marry Brunettes' than I have ever been about any picture in my career."

"The script is wonderful, the music heavenly. My part is one of those nearly naughty, very glamorous jobs that this actress wishes would happen to her regularly every year for the next 50 years."

Apparently my good friend Jeanne got what she wanted and she should, because she's a good actress.

Those cute youngsters who played the honeymooners in "The High and the Mighty," I mean John Smith and Karen Sharpe, have a date to attend the premiere of "A Star Is Born" together. Who knows—this may turn into a romance and lead to a real honeymoon.

Things are "sharp" in more ways than one for John. He's going to report to Allied Artists the end of this week to play Raymond Massey's son in "John Brown's Raiders." He's just finished "We're No Angels" at Paramount.

Young Smith was just notified that he's in the first 10 in Modern Screen's popularity poll.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Pier Angeli is getting around. She was at the Captain's Table one night with Donald O'Connor, and the previous evening she was with Vic Rocco at the Bantam Cock.

Havis Davenport, "Miss Torso" in "Rear Window" (and believe me she deserves the title!) dining with Frank Sinatra a few evenings ago.

Robert Montgomery's old friends gave him a big welcome when he came home awaiting President Eisenhower. Bob has gone a long way since he was the top sophisticated comedian on the screen.

He's now a top TV producer and actor. It was the new Mrs. Montgomery's first visit to Hollywood since she married Bob.

You may expect an announcement any day of the engagement of Martha Vickers and Manuel Rojas, Argentine polo player who once was Rita Hayworth's boy friend.

Pretty Mary Cummings has joined her husband Bob in New York for a month of seeing shows. He's there doing TV.

Police Tickets Run Out, Chief Keeps It a Secret

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—Motorists who never had it so good had better watch their step here now. For the past 10 days no parking tickets have been handed out.

The reason, said Police Chief Earl F. McGill, as he went about tagging cars again was simple. He had run out of tickets but it was a top drawer secret and only a few people knew of his crisis.

Now, said the chief, he has an ample supply of tickets on hand.

Tastiest Coffee in Town Gets Flint Pair in a Jam

FLINT (AP)—Detectives said Mrs. Annie Mae Hill, 34, made the tastiest coffee in town—and it got her into trouble.

Officers said they paid 75 cents a cup for two cups of the coffee—charged with whisky—and arrested her and Richard Simpson, 24, who served them, on a charge of selling liquor without a license, a violation of the state liquor act.

Hal Boyle Says:

More Housewives in U. S. Running for Public Office

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U.P.)—There's something new in American politics today—housewives.

They may put fresh truth into the old saying that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world.

It takes, after all, only one hand to rock a cradle. That leaves any mother who wants to run for public office one hand free to shake mitts with the voters.

And a lot of young mothers across America are deciding the best way to improve their communities is to go into politics themselves.

Typical of this new breed of feminine politicians is Mrs. Helen Baker of New Canaan, Conn., who is making her debut as a candidate for state senator.

Mrs. Baker is 36, pretty, brown-haired, hazel-eyed. She has two sons, Geoffrey, 7, and Gene, 4, who now calls her "senator mama." She also has a theory that more and more local and state political offices should be held by housewives.

"This is particularly true in suburban areas," she said. "Since the war you have an entirely different set-up in the suburbs. They have been called dormitories for the cities, and to some extent that is true.

"Husbands spend a great part of their lives commuting from their homes to their jobs in the city. Their hearts are in one place, their minds in another.

"They simply don't have the time and energy to take part in community politics. Housewives do. Mechanical gadgets have given them more leisure. And it is important that they use this leftover energy in a constructive way. Social clubs and P.T.A. activities aren't enough."

Mrs. Baker, who always has had strong political views, is still rather surprised at finding herself running for office. A friend asked permission to put her name in nomination, promising, "Don't worry. Nothing will come of it." Then he phoned back and said "They nominated you."

She crept back into bed, lived on toast and tea for three days, then decided to get up and fight.

Old pros don't give her a chance. New Canaan, which advertises itself as "The Next Station to Heaven," is heavily Republican. Mrs. Baker is a Democrat. Her campaign fund is negligible.

But in the month since her nomination she has met or talked to some 4,000 voters at picnics, parties and luncheon gatherings of factory workers. Her friends also have organized what they call "Baker's Dozen Parties"—at which one lady invites in a dozen other housewives to hear the candidate.

"One audience the other morning consisted of 17 ladies," she said cheerfully, "plus 10 children, under 4 years of age."

Accompanied by a friend, she also calls on store merchants, buttonholes shoppers as they come out of supermarkets.

Her platform is very simple: "We don't have any burning issues," she said. "But our state constitution goes back to 1818, and the government does need streamlining. And I think we simply have to do something about getting better schools. What good is it to try to create a better world if you are going to leave it to a generation coming up that knows nothing? You have to begin with the children."

Mrs. Baker's husband, Bob, associate publisher of the magazine Art News, is a former lieutenant colonel who served on Gen. Eisenhower's staff during the last war.

He is helping his wife's campaign and is more optimistic over her chances than she is.

"The job pays only $600 for 2 years, and even if I win it will cost me money," said Mrs. Baker. "But if, as a result of my campaign, I can get even only 15 wives to take an active interest in local and state politics, I'll feel it was worthwhile."

She herself has been amazed to "discover how much unselfish idealism there is among many men in politics," dismayed to find that sometimes pledges of party support aren't always followed by performance.

"A number of people promised me all kinds of help when I first became a candidate," she said, laughing. "But when I go out campaigning now the two ladies who most often volunteer to act as baby sitters for me are both Republicans."

Win, lose or draw, the American political scene is going to have a lot more Mrs. Bakers.

Lou Groza, top place kicker of the Cleveland Browns, had his kicking foot injured in an elevator accident when a boy.

Bob Considine Says:

American Football Lively Game According to Reds

NEW YORK (HNS) — My gracious, I never knew what a wicked enterprise American college football is until I received the latest copy of Poprostu, published in Red Poland for university students.

How's this for a play-by-play account?

"Facing each other along a white line, two rows of barbarians dressed in huge steel helmets jump up and down. Suddenly, there is a whistle. With a wild scream such as was probably uttered by the first cave men when they crushed the heads of their enemies with stone axes, the two armored rows crush against each other. One can hear the breaking of bones, the dull thudding of steel helmets, and see how they crush the hands and feet of opponents.

"Again the shrill whistle. Twenty-one armored robots stretch their arms. The twenty-second lies on the ground like a corpse.

"OK, the man with the whistle shouts. 'Everything is OK. And take Jim off the field. Call a surgeon.'

Jim who? The author doesn't specify. He doesn't even use a by-line, this fellow who hates American football — an unusual rancor for a Pole, if my memory is clear as to bygone lineups of Notre Dame, Pitt and other U. S. grid giants.

Otto Graham and other astute quarterbacks will learn here and now that American football's motto is "brawn over brain." It says so right in Poprostu. Also, the popularity of football is much greater (in the U. S.) than that of baseball or rugby.

If I didn't know that Poprostu worships truth I'd say that's a pretty reckless statement. I don't know about baseball, but let's not give rugby in this country short shrift. There must be dozens of rugby players here.

Notre Dame takes more of a beating in Poprostu than it ever took on the field. But the writer doesn't spare the Harvards and Yales either. Seems the Harvards and Yales brought football to the U. S. in 1860, after seeing football (soccer) played abroad. But they "changed the noble game into a wild melee." As a consequence, when Princeton and Rutgers played the first intercollegiate match in 1869, "seven players had to be carried away from the battlefield with broken arms and legs."

That glowering old Imperialist, Coach Red Blaik of West Point, is quoted to support Poprostu's contention that American football is a lot more menacing than meets the eye. Red is made to say, "if it had not been for football, American youth would not be so well prepared for the great task of ruling the world."

The sheet praises All Cupp's parodies of backwoods football as "reflecting the reality of American universities." And adds:

"American universities serve only one purpose: 'To educate murderers, thoughtless robots, obedient tools of the monopolist clique.'

M.I.T., the University of Chicago, Amherst, etc., may consider closing their doors when they learn, 'The prestige of an American school is based not on its scholarly achievements but on the success of its football teams.'

We harvest from the article that old gridders Matthew, Ridgway and James Van Fleet are "criminals" and were the worst students at West Point. As for another old grider, "General Eisenhower, who had been the second worst student in his class, received his diploma thanks only to his 'good legs.' This was openly admitted by his biographer, John Gunther."

Notre Dame, "First in the National League," is driven to excesses on the field by secret incantations mumbled by Cardinal Spellman, Poprostu reveals. This announcement could possibly lead to scores of attractive offers to his eminence, from teams that never do as well in the "National League" as the Irish.

Our boy finishes strong, running in several directions. "The few examples and statements given here eloquently illustrate the degeneracy and depravity of 'sportsmen" — students of American universities. And could those 'supermen' with the brain of troglodytes, those armor-clad robots rule the world and impose their American style of life on nations with old and established cultures?

How comical and nonsensical are the insane dreams of those crusaders of dollars and Coca-Cola, paying god-like honors to an ostrich egg and diplomas acquired only with the help of one's legs.

Well, I'm convinced. No American college football for me this fall except on Friday nights, Saturdays and Thanksgiving.

Claims Coffee Price Is Not Due to Output

WASHINGTON (UP)—The high price of coffee has nothing to do with the laws of supply and demand.

An Agriculture Department report showed today that world coffee production this season exceeded consumption by 1,000,000 bags. This finding agreed with a Federal Trade Commission report of July 29 that said that supply and demand did not figure in the price boosts.

The FTC said the recent sharp coffee price increases resulted from coffee market speculation and "abnormal buying for inventory."

Worth Their Weight

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Hardy Cash and Mrs. Paul Shilling shared a room in the maternity ward of a hospital here. Names suggested for the babies ranged from "Ready" Cash to "Bright" Shilling.

Deaths Last Night

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward Kalisher, 67, for more than 15 years one of the top executives of the Columbia Broadcasting System, former New York newspaper and advertising man and associate director of the U. S. Office of War Information 1943-45. Born in Louisville.

CINCINNATI—Albert A. Annenberg, 57, operator of the Middletown, Ohio, News Agency and widely known in the business of circulating magazines and other publications.

MIAMI, Fla.—Theodore L. Leibold, 60, retired commercial artist who moved to Miami in 1935 after an art career in New York, Chicago and Cincinnati.

More than 30 kinds of ducks winter in North Carolina.

Mexico City Installs More Traffic Lights

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The city fathers are adding more stop-and-go lights at street intersections throughout the Mexican capital because visiting motorists find the old system of swinging red lanterns at night too confusing.

Between 750 and 1,000 traffic lights will go up at busy intersections. At present, such lights are used only on major streets, and on comparatively few corners on those. At other intersections in the downtown area, the traffic is guided by policemen who swing red lanterns at night. Most local drivers understand the signals but tourists often are baffled.

Birds Nest in Bag

PORTLAND, Me. (UP)—Mrs. Agnes Alberti went back to drying her laundry indoors when sparrows built a nest in her clothespin bag after she left it hanging on the drying reel in her yard. She refused to disturb the homemakers.
