Greeks Halt Turk Food, Water

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—Greek Cypriots lightened a food and water embargo on Turkish Cypriot villages today, threatening the shaky Cyprus peace.

Gen. K. S. Thimayya, commander of the United Nations force on Cyprus, said he felt the current cease-fire is "only a breath" and predicted new fighting ahead.

"Unless the Greeks stop their economic squeeze which is increasing generally throughout the island," Thimayya said the cease-fire will not last long.

Furthermore, he said, the U.N. Security Council resolution calling for an increase in U.N. peace-making troops in the battle areas of Cyprus is useless.

"That's what annoys me," he said. "Resolutions are passed without them having the foggiest idea of what is happening on the ground."

Loot Perilous, Police Warn in Avon Theft

A warning was issued today to the persons who stole a container of the element sodium from an Avon Township school. The chemical can be extremely dangerous if handled improperly, warned the sheriff's department.

Detective Alphonse Anderson said the soft, silvery white substance would react violently, causing an explosion, if placed in water.

The container of sodium was reported stolen yesterday from West Junior High School, 560 Perch. It was taken from the science supply room.

Anderson said about a pound of the chemical was in the container, filled with kerosene. The sodium was used in laboratory experiments.

With water, it forms sodium hydroxide and hydrogen gas, Anderson said. This produces a large amount of heat, which can ignite the gas.

UAW Orders Strike Votes

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union has ordered all of its General Motors Corp. units to take strike votes before the end of the month.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the union's GM department, ordered the vote last night.

A telegram to all local units said:

"As of today, Aug. 12, General Motors Corp. has made no movement at the national level. It has not indicated any date at which the union may expect counterproposals.

In view of the shortness of time remaining, it is essential that all local unions and units schedule strike votes to be completed prior to Aug. 31."

EXPIRE AUG. 31

The UAW contracts with GM, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. expire Aug. 31.

Top-level negotiations resumed today between contract bargainers for Chrysler and the UAW.

Nonunion issues were mullied over yesterday by subcommittees for both sides.

In other talks, the UAW renewed its bid to persuade General Motors to cut down on the amount of work which is farmed out to smaller companies.

Gap Reported Narrowed Between Romney, Barry

Governor Still Stops Short of Endorsement

Calls Summit Helpful; Cites Clarifications of Goldwater Positions

IONIA (AP) — Gov. Romney and Sen. Barry Goldwater have apparently moved closer to agreement on fundamental issues, but Romney still is not flatly endorsing Goldwater for president.

"I'm not going to vote for anybody else," Romney said last night when the Associated Press asked if he'd cast his presidential ballot for Goldwater.

But otherwise he would not go beyond the 118-word statement he issued yesterday upon his return from the Republican summit meeting at Hershey, Pa.

"Our Republican party has made its decisions for the current campaign," said Romney's statement.

"It has adopted its platform. It has nominated its candidates. Sen. Goldwater and Rep. Miller are our Republican candidates. I accept these decisions."

HELPFUL TO ROMNEY

"The conference at Hershey was helpful."

"Sen. Goldwater did much to clarify his public positions of foreign affairs, extremism and civil rights. He welcomed diversity of Republican viewpoint. He emphasized his intentions that his campaign will avoid racism and extremism support."

But Romney's statement stopped short of an endorsement.

And while it said Goldwater "did much" to clarify his views, it did not say if he did enough to satisfy Romney.

NOT SATISFIED

Since before the GOP national convention Romney has said he was not satisfied with some Goldwater positions.

"You see what I've said and see what he says and then compare them," Romney said yesterday when asked if he was satisfied with Goldwater's positions as a result of the Hershey meeting.

In a speech at the summit meeting, Goldwater said he would uphold the Civil Rights Act if he were president and said he seeks no extremist support, two key points as far as Romney is concerned.

Romney wrote his statement as he flew in a private plane from Hershey to Lansing.

Summit Builds GOP Unity, but Cracks Are Still Evident

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Many Republican leaders saw today in Sen. Barry Goldwater's unity manifesto a stride toward party solidarity — but some cracks still showed on the foundation the GOP presidential nominee is out to build.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sounded the unity keynote with a warm endorsement of Goldwater and vice presidential nominee William E. Miller, and a promise to do all he can to help elect them.

"Any uncertainties I may have felt as to the fitness, adequacy and quality of the political program they will offer to the United States in the 1964 campaign have been resolved," the former president said.

Goldwater acknowledged Eisenhower was among the architects of the detailed position paper he delivered yesterday to a four-hour closed-door meeting of three dozen GOP governors and other party chiefs from 36 states.

The nominee and the former president talked for two hours a week ago at Eisenhower's farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

KEY PASSAGE

In a key passage of the unity declaration, Goldwater told the Republican leaders: "I seek the support of no extremist — of the left or the right."

Eisenhower, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other party leaders joined in praising that statement.

"He has repudiated character assassins, vigilantes, Communists and any group such as the Ku Klux Klan that would attempt to control localities through terror, threat or other Goldwater told a news conference he has vigorously opposed "damaging, effeminate and very stupid statements" by Robert Welch, the society's founder. But he said the society itself is on no subversive list.

Poking Contest Held by Foes

Romney, Staebler in Backstage Encounter

IONIA (AP)—The first "debate" between the two leading candidates for governor erupted backstage last night at the Ionia Free Fair — traditional starting place for Michigan election campaigns.

In an accidental encounter that lasted no more than four minutes, Gov. Romney and his Democratic foe, Neil Staebler, argued economics heatedly — but to no decision.

The governor applied the finger-poking technique which has become a Romney campaign trademark, but Staebler stood his ground.

"You will notice I was poking him right back," the Democratic candidate said to newsmen afterward.

A handful of reporters and campaign aides were the only witnesses to the exchange, which occurred after Staebler wound up a brief speech to several hundred persons.

WAITS IN WINGS

Romney, waiting in the wings to be introduced, shook hands with Staebler when the congressman walked off the outdoor stage, then issued the challenge.

Romney claimed that Staebler had erred in telling the audience that Michigan's economic recovery in recent years was the "result of policies of the Kennedy and Johnson administration."

"The facts are that Michigan's economic condition is not a result of what they've done down in Washington," declared the governor, poking Staebler's chest with a forefinger.

"The President was a right when he said in a Detroit appearance in late June that the nation's economy depends on Michigan."

"THAT'S NUTS!"

"You want to say it all comes from Washington—that's nuts!"

Replied Staebler: "The nation's prosperity is the major factor in Michigan."

"Eighty-five per cent of the cars made here are sold elsewhere, so it depends on national prosperity for Michigan to have jobs."

Judge Grants Injunction to Halt New Dixie Party

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A state judge has banned operations of the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, formed by civil rights leaders to seek ouster of the all-white regular Democrats from the national convention.

At almost the same time that Chancery Judge Stokes Robertson Jr. issued his injunction yesterday, a suit was filed in federal court asking that 16 state laws designed to hinder civil rights activities be struck down.

The two actions weren't directly connected. But both were seen as part of the continuing struggle on one hand by the state to maintain the status quo and on the other hand by Negroes to win civil rights including recognition from the national Democratic party.

Lawrence Guyot, chairman of the Freedom Democrats executive committee, said attorneys were considering action to counter the injunction.

State Atty. Gen. Jot T. Patterson, a Democrat, obtained the injunction.

Patterson, along with Gov. Paul B. Johnson and other state officials, was named a defendant in the federal court action.

DECLINE COMMENT

Guyot declined to say if officers of the Freedom Democrats would obey the injunction ordering them to cease activity for the group.

A floor battle over the issue at the Democratic National Convention, which begins Aug. 24 at Atlantic City, N.J., is virtually assured. At least eight state Democratic delegations have called for support of the predominantly Negro Freedom Democrats.

Patterson's suit said it was filed for "the preservation of order and the protection of the public."

Summer's Back! Mercury Will Hit 70s on Friday

A sunny, summer day with temperatures in the mid-70s is predicted for tomorrow. Clear and cool, the low about 48 to 54 is the forecast for tonight.

There's a chance of showers and warmer temperatures Saturday.

West to northwesterly morning winds at 10 to 20 miles will become southeasterly tomorrow.

The mercury dipped to 47 at 5 a.m. in downtown Pontiac today, then rose to 64 at 2 p.m.

Sales Up GM Registrations

A 22.1 per cent increase in the sale of Pontiacs helped give General Motors a total of 2,173,179 registrations and 52.39 per cent of the total market in the first six months of 1964, the R. L. Polk Co., statisticians for the industry, reported today.

Pontiac's gain over the first half of 1963 helped GM show a net gain of 10 per cent in the first six months of 1964.

Chrysler got 12.99 per cent of the registrations for a gain of 1.6 per cent, while Ford slipped .17 points in total sales to 24.98 per cent.

Chevrolet continued to hold its own as No. 1 in the domestic market with 1,165,195, an increase of 3.6 per cent.

Ford was second in the first half of the year with 831,223 registrations, an increase of 7.5 per cent, according to Polk.

OTHER PLACERS

Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Buick occupied the third, fourth and fifth spots in total registrations, with Plymouth No. 6 for the first half of the year.

Volkswagen was the No. 1 import with 147,743, a gain of 21 per cent. In second place was MG, with 11,567 registrations in the first six months.

Second Night of Violence Hits 2 New Jersey Cities

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Youths armed with gasoline bombs, bottles, rocks and bricks rioted in a multi-racial neighborhood of Elizabeth and smashed car and store windows in a Negro district of Paterson Wednesday night and early today.

Helmeted policemen with nightsticks restored order in both cities early today. It was the second night in a row in which violence broke out in the two northern New Jersey cities about 30 miles apart.

Elizabeth police tore into a crowd of young Negroes shortly before 2 a.m., subduing some of the youths with sticks, firing into the air, and making arrests. The brief battle followed a bombing of at least three police cars with bottles, near misses on several motorcycle police, a flaming gas bomb that lit up an intersection and the explosion of firecrackers.

Elizabeth hospitals reported treating eight persons for minor injuries. About a half-dozen Negroes and whites were injured in Paterson, but none was hospitalized.

ARRESTS

Sixteen adults and two juveniles, mostly Negroes, were arrested as disorderly persons in Elizabeth.

Twenty-three Negroes, including six juveniles, were arrested in Paterson. One woman, arrested as she allegedly prepared to throw a garbage can through a window, was charged with inciting a riot.

Paterson Police Chief John O'Brien estimated that between 200 and 300 store windows were broken in the Fourth Ward. A flaming gasoline bomb struck a bus, but caused little damage. Two newspapermen — photographer Mel Finkelshtein and reporter Mike Pearl of the New York Journal-American — suffered cuts and bruises when a brick flew through their car window in Paterson.

150 POLICEMEN

Some 150 policemen scoured halls and alleys in the Negro district for hit-and-run bands of youths who hurled empty wine bottles.

Paterson Mayor Frank X. Graves, at the scene, said he would decide today whether to impose a curfew for the coming weekend. Bottles narrowly missed him on several occasions.

Graves called the disturbances "more of a racial outburst" than those of Tuesday night.

In Elizabeth, the brief riot climaxed a tense night in which an estimated 500 Negroes and whites congregated at one point near the Pioneer homes, a low-income project.

BOMBS FLEW

Gasoline bombs flew from atop and behind the project, and exploded in the street. Store windows were smashed.

Acting Police Chief Michael D. Roy told the crowd to seek spokesmen who could meet with city officials to discuss grievances.

Restless Negroes milled around First street near the housing project. A throng of whites filled one side of Magnolia street, the beginning of a white neighborhood. Occasionally a bottle splashed from the darkness, glittered in the light of a street lamp and smashed on the pavement.

Hamlin to Head Association of County Officials

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, yesterday was named a director of the National Association of County Officials at the organization's annual conference in Washington, D.C.

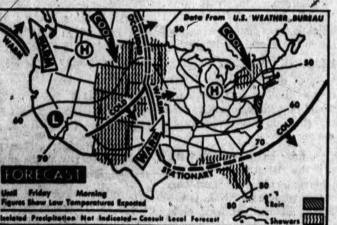

Hamlin, who represents the City of Farmington on the board, served on the executive committee for the 29th annual conference, which was held Aug. 9-12 at the Sheraton Park Hotel.

Fifteen other supervisors and several county officials attended the meeting.

Plan to Trap Cong Fizzles

SAIGON, Viet Nam (U) — Government efforts to trap 2,000 more Viet Cong guerrillas through one of the war's biggest airborne operations appeared to day to have fizzled.

A regiment of Vietnamese troops—ferried by 16 helicopters yesterday into jungle positions 30 miles northwest of Saigon against ground fire that killed a U.S. pilot—found the Red enemy had fled.

The troops located two Communist camps, both vacant and burned, tunnels, booby traps and old emplacements. They found several rifles and the bodies of four guerrillas. The rest had taken off.

Viet Cong agents in the past week distributed leaflets saying the guerrillas would no longer fight government troops as such, but would attack only those units accompanied by U.S. advisers.

The withdrawal could have been intended to contribute to this effort to drive a psychological wedge between the Vietnamese soldiers and their American allies.

NOT BELIEVED

But no one in authority believes the Viet Cong intend to cut down the scope of their operations.

And a Viet Cong attack on a fortified hamlet near Phan Thiet, a coastal town 100 miles east of Saigon, reinforced that belief.

The government announced 10 of the defenders were wounded and 9 missing.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor combined an inspection tour and shuttle diplomacy on a flying visit to four communities in the 2nd Corps area north of Saigon, an area which could be among the first targets of any invasion from North Viet Nam.

Chinese Troops Maneuvering on N. Viet Border

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced today it is conducting "large-scale military maneuvers" in provinces facing North Viet Nam and Nationalist China.

Peking radio, in a Japanese language broadcast monitored in Tokyo, left no doubt the exercises were connected with the Gulf of Tonkin crisis and the U.S. air strike at North Viet Nam Aug. 5.

The broadcast noted that the announcement was being issued a month immediately after Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi announced that Communist China "would stand beside North Viet Nam in repelling any aggressor."

Chen Yi's pledge was made in a letter sent to Communist Vietnamese Foreign Minister Xuan Thuy and broadcast Wednesday by Peking's New China News Agency.

DESCRIBE ACTION

Peking radio said "thousands of men in high spirits underwent such military drills as shooting, throwing grenades, handling of explosives and crossing rivers" in Kwangtung and Fukien provinces and Luichow peninsula.

Standbys Said Ready

automatic stations in different orbits with the help of a single rocket," the broadcast said.

It said means of maneuvering in space have been worked out.

"The Soviet Sputniks and automatic stations are blazing the trail for men to the moon and other planets," it said.

TWIN FLIGHT

Nikolayev and Popovich made the world's first twin space flight, when they blasted into orbit in August 1962 with separate rockets.

The "standbys" were not identified, but presumably were the men who were tagged for the flights should experts decide that Nikolayev and Popovich were unfit for the historic feat.

The report followed reports from European monitoring stations of signals and voices on the audio wave length generally used by the Soviets during launches.

Pontiac Sales Up GM Registrations

Polk said new car registrations for the first half of the year set a new high. The January-June count of 4,148,126 marked the first time that four million cars had been registered in a six-month period.

The old mark of 3,827,419 was set in the first half of 1963. Industry sources said the 4-million-plus registrations should convince all doubters that this will be an 8-million-car year.

Cloudy Skies, Winds Stall State Launching

COPPER HARBOR (AP) — Cloudy skies and winds opposed against the second ARBUS high altitude rocket launching Wednesday. The launching was postponed until 11 a.m. Friday.

An Aug. 5 ARBUS launching was a success, instruments containing data were recovered after the rocket's payload fell near Munising.

85 African Youths Found in Buried Hut

MASERU, Basutoland (AP) — Eighty-five bodies of African youths trapped in a hut which collapsed under a heavy weight of snow in the Maluti Mountains have been found by herders, the South African Press Association reported today.

The Africans were attending a tribal initiation ceremony when the hut collapsed during the district's heaviest snowfall, last June. The bodies were found last night in a thaw set in.

HORSE HUG — Lindy, one of three horses given to Camp Oakland by the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater last night, gets a hug from Louise Hack, a resident of Girls' Ranch at the camp near Oxford. Cella Merrill Turner, director of the Bloomfield Township dramatic trade school, gave up the pet horses because of new construction planned for adjoining property where the horses had been housed.

No Operation for T. Kennedy

Excellent Progress Reported by Doctor

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy is making a rapid recovery from his plane crash-broken back and no operation will be required, a team of doctors announced today.

Dr. Herbert D. Adams, surgeon in chief of New England Baptist Hospital, said that Kennedy is making excellent progress, a really remarkable recovery and no surgery is indicated.

However, he said Kennedy will have to spend a total of six months in the Stryker frame in which he is immobilized.

About a month after that which would be sometime in January — Kennedy can "return to active, adult activity," said Dr. George Hammond, an orthopedic surgeon who is part of the team treating the senator.

NEWS CONFERENCE

The announcement was made at a news conference which the senator's wife, Joan, attended. She said Kennedy has kept very busy and hasn't complained at all about being confined.

Dr. Adams said that recent X rays of Kennedy's back, injured in a plane crash June 19 in East-Hamilton, show "an excellent realignment of the fracture and positive evidence of healing."

"All of his nerve reflexes have returned to normal, all muscle functions are normal and on the present regular program of exercises and physiotherapy," he is gaining strength rapidly," he said.

Kennedy has recovered from all other injuries he suffered in the crash, the doctor said.

Unity Boosted at GOP Confab

(Continued From Page One) A declaration should be "reassuring to Republicans from one end of the country to the other. I said I would support the national ticket," said Rockefeller. Barry Goldwater is the presidential candidate and Bill Miller is the vice presidential candidate.

NOT ERASED

But the New York governor indicated all his reservations have not been erased.

He reminded newsmen that he spent five months as a candidate for the nomination, campaigning against Goldwater and discussing the senator's views.

"I refer you to the record," he said.

NOT TALKATIVE

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton was host for the Hershey meeting, but he wasn't a very talkative one when it was over.

"Both the approach made and the feeling engendered was very good," he said.

One governor who had withheld his support — John H. Reed of Maine — was quoted as saying he's now behind the ticket.

William Avery, running for governor of Kansas, said Reed told the summit session his reservations have been dispelled and he'll now 100 per cent behind the ticket.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Goldwater told a news conference his unity drive is three weeks ahead of schedule.

He said the party is as solid now as he had hoped it would be by Sept. 1.

"We now have, I believe, only two senators and a few congressmen on the reluctant list," he said.

STAND UNCHANGED

They were not at the Hershey session, and neither indicated their stand has changed.

Keating did say Goldwater's reputation of extremist support will be "helpful to him and the country."

Birmingham Area News

Bloomfield Hills Rejects Larger Commerce Zone

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission moved to retain the present limits of the commercial area in its first ruling under the zoning ordinance passed March 6.

Commissioners had been asked to approve rezoning a parcel on East Long Lake to allow construction of a new office building for Minoru Yamasaki.

The Birmingham architect had been supported by the city planning commission in seeking a zone change from multiple residence to office. The site at 109 E. Long Lake is slightly less than three acres.

In denying the request unanimously, commissioners noted that the city's master plan calls for a peripheral route to clear traffic congestion at Woodward and Long Lake and to encompass the commercial area.

The commercial district should not be extended beyond that barrier, they said.

Commissioners also denied a request for rezoning a portion of a lot on Longwood Drive.

The Wajlin Corp., owner of the property, had sought the change from single-family to multiple residence to conform with the rest of the lot.

This change also had been recommended by the planning commission, but city commissioners again stuck to the new zoning ordinance.

They rejected the plan for Hidden Valley Subdivision, following the recommendation of city planners.

Residents of the neighboring Glenhome Estates Subdivision objected to the access route by the developer and no other route was suggested.

William S. Lorimer of Birmingham had proposed access and egress on a road to be constructed north and then northeast from a turnaround at the end of West Valley.

80 U.S. Students Depart Cuba for Home

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Some 80 American students, who visited Cuba in defiance of a U.S. State Department ban, left Wednesday night for the United States, Havana radio said today.

A broadcast heard here did not say which route the students would use in flying to their homes. They were in Cuba about two months.

'Freedom Fixers' Credited With Freeing British Thief

LONDON (AP)—An underworld syndicate known as the Freedom Fixers was credited today with whisking Charles Frederick Wilson out of prison and adding another footnote to the great train robbery.

Wilson, 32, ex-bookmaker, married and the father of three daughters, was the most wanted man in Britain; sought across the nation and in many parts of the world through the Interpol police network.

Police clamped a close watch on British ports and air terminals, visited scores of addresses and combed through the known haunts of the man, who may have the secret of $6 million in his possession.

Wilson was sentenced to 30 years in jail last April when he stood trial with 11 other men for staging the biggest cash grab in history—the raid on the Glasgow-London mail train one year and five days ago. The robbers got away with $7,280,000. Only $840,000 has been recovered.

INQUIRY LAUNCHED
At Winson Green Prison in Birmingham where Wilson had served less than four months of his term, an inquiry was launched into the escape. The probe was ordered by Home Secretary Henry Brooke.

London newspapers said Wilson had been spirited to freedom by the "Freedom Fixers," a group of jailbreaking artists. Part of the mail train booty was said to have been used to buy their special talents at a price estimated to be between $140,000 and $230,000.

Wilson's getaway was organized with the same military precision as the raid on the train.

It is thought to have taken no more than 10 minutes.

SCALE WALL
The gang moved in at 3 a.m. Wednesday, scaling the prison wall with a ladder. They moved through the jail grounds to cell block B and, using duplicate keys, went almost unchallenged to Wilson's cell. A prison officer, Bill Nicholls, 50, who surprised them, was knocked out.

Some legislators have been angered by the ease with which the gang pulled off the escape. Said Capt. Henry Kerby, Conservative member of Parliament: "The escape is grotesque. How much more of this harlequinade must the public put up with."

Home Secretary Brooke flew back to London from a vacation in the Channel Islands Wednesday night to take charge of inquiries.

Wilson's blonde wife and children left home six weeks ago. Their whereabouts are unknown to authorities.

2-Car Crash Kills 7 in Missouri

MEXICO, Mo. (U)—A two-car smashup on the outskirts of Mexico took seven lives last night, including those of an expectant mother and an infant daughter riding with her.

Dead are Mrs. Doris Jane Karhoff, 19, of Mexico, her daughter, Sue, 1, and five men in the other car:

Walter M. Stevenson, 18, Arkadelphia, Ark.

Robert M. Evans, 28, Bay Springs, Miss.

Ronald R. Blackledge, about 19, Montrose, Miss.

Robert D. Kiestler, 17, Robstown, Tex.

D. L. Kiestler, 26, of Cleyis, N.M., a brother of Robert Kiestler.

All of the men were employed by the Great Plains Construction Co. which is laying a pipeline through the Mexico area.

Troopers said Mrs. Karhoff apparently had pulled off on the right shoulder of Missouri 22 a half mile west of the city and the other car crossed over and struck her car head on.

Russia Cutting Student Job Training

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is retreating from its much heralded system of combining education with work experience.

The government announced Wednesday that the amount of on-the-job training in factories and on farms is being cut.

This means the 11-year system of primary and secondary education is being reduced to 10 years as it was prior to 1954. The change was announced by the government newspaper Izvestia and is to become effective Sept. 1.

The 11-year system and the vocational training program were a pet project of Premier Khrushchev. All students, even if they wanted to be scientists or doctors, had to participate in farm or factory work under the program.

LONDON (AP) — Lady Mitcheison refuses to be a lady. "I will not take the title," she said, "I don't want it and I won't have it."

She automatically received the title when her husband, Gilbert Mitcheison, 74, was made a life peer last month.

Before he was ennobled, Lord Mitcheison was a Labor member of the House of Commons. His wife, Naomi, is a successful writer.

Lady Mitcheison feels so strongly about it that she took the following advertisement in the personal column of the Times of London.

"I, Naomi Mitcheison, still wish to be called Naomi Mitcheison."

BOMBAY, India (AP) — India's spreading food shortage has triggered a noisy brawl in the Maharashtra State Assembly.

Opposition members started it by shouting and thumping their desks during Wednesday's session. Tempers became short and fist fighting broke out. Guards had to restore order and two of them were injured.

The speaker had refused to grant an opposition request that the assembly adjourn in sympathy with a workers' strike against rocketing food prices.

The strike involves nearly 750,000 workers in the state and has immobilized all of Bombay's 7,000 taxis and 2,000 state-run buses.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The government of Malaysia issued today an order banning Indonesian citizens from entering or remaining in Malaysian territorial waters.

The order will be effective Aug. 21 and came only 12 hours after another government order proclaimed territorial waters around the Malaysian mainland and Singapore to be a "security area."

T'M MAD, DOLLING—Zsa Zsa Gabor stands on the location of her swimming pool, filled in with sand by the City of Los Angeles. The house burned down in 1961, and the city ruled the remains of the house and the pool were a hazard and had them filled in. Zsa Zsa wants to rebuild and now threatens to sue the city.

Zsa Zsa Fighting City Hall

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm a Hungarian freedom fighter," shouted Zsa Zsa Gabor, "and I'm going to fight."

Looking beautifully ferocious, Zsa Zsa stormed the City Hall Wednesday.

Why, she demanded, had the city torn down her three chimneys and filled her Olympic-size swimming pool with sand?

"They didn't tell me about it," said Zsa Zsa. "I was in Europe."

SMALL REMAINS
The chimneys and pool were all that remained of her $11-million hilltop mansion in the plush Bel Air section of Los Angeles after a disastrous brush fire swept the area in 1961.

The City Department of Building and Safety said it had given Zsa Zsa three orders since last February to have her property cleared. The pool and chimneys "endangered life and property," said the city.

"I have hired architect Paul Williams to design a new house for me," Zsa Zsa told the Building and Safety Commission. "We were going to use the chimneys and pool."

But the city, after granting the extensions, let a $2,780 contract to have the property cleared last Tuesday.

"They did it in two hours," said Zsa Zsa. "I wish I got paid $2,800 for two hours work."

She said the city owes her $20,000 and added that she was going to sue.

LATE LAWYER
She was even mad at her lawyer, Paul Caruso, when he showed up late.

"I've been acting as my own lawyer, and I'm a better lawyer than you are," she told him.

Later, she told newsmen: "I worked hard for what I have. I lost $11 million when that house burned, and it wasn't insured. I had paid the city $500,000 in taxes on that property, and not a single fireman showed up when it was burning. Not one."

"I'm not going to let them do this to me now — even if I have to start studying law to stop them.

of my Hungarian mind."

Next inning: Caruso and the city. Date: indefinite.

GOP Unity Meeting Falls Short of Hopes

Some progress in unifying the GOP national front was made in the Hershey, Pa. conclave of 14 Republican governors and key party figures that brought total attendance to 38.

In the balance, particularly, hung the attitudes of the governors of two of the Nation's key states toward all-out support of the GOLDWATER-MILLER ticket.

Both New York's Nelson A. Rockefeller and Michigan's George W. Romney left one foot dangling from the band wagon as ambiguity, so far as Goldwater was concerned, couched their avowals of Republican support.

GOLDWATER followers, however, saw a slight move on the part of the holdouts toward his side—if not an "extreme" one.

Not so coy in support of the GOP presidential nominee was his former bitter convention opponent, Pennsylvania Gov. WILLIAM W. SCRANTON, who presided at the harmony meeting. His endorsement and support of GOLDWATER was unqualified, as was that of Gen. IRE EISENHOWER, who saw all gaps between the party's philosophy and GOLDWATER's now bridged.

Prior to the meeting, Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire had hailed Goldwater's "conciliatory attitude" as exemplified in a letter to Richard M. Nixon in clarification of the controversial "extremism" declaration in the nominee's acceptance speech.

It would seem that party dissidents are overly preoccupied with the nuances of the GOLDWATER semantics and philosophy. We suggest that if they are really serious about a Republican victory in November, it is time they shed their academic robes and got "suited up" for a united, fight-to-the-finish effort.

'Shame Wall' Marks Third Anniversary

It was three years ago today that the Berlin wall went up.

Beginning as a barbed wire fence, it soon took form as a 28-mile, four-foot wall of concrete blocks topped by barbed wire.

The wall was erected to stop the mass exodus of East Germans, 16,000 of whom registered at West Berlin centers in the preceding fortnight.

Thereafter, East Germans would require special new permits to enter West Berlin. West German foreigners and Allied military personnel could cross the border as usual. West Berliners were verboten.

The partition was to remain in effect until "the conclusion of a German Peace Treaty."

East Germany had been bleeding to death before the wall went up. Approximately 200,000 East Germans, embracing the lifeblood of the professional and skilled classes, had fled to West Germany in 1961 alone before the wall was built.

Neither the East or West likes to observe the anniversary of the wall of Separation. To the West, it is a symbol of failure to act in crisis. To the East, it is admission of weakness. Nowhere else in the world is there such visible evidence of the failure of communism.

For both reasons, West Berliners call it the SCHANMAUER — the shame wall.

"Why does many an American spend more money than he makes?" asks a banker. "Probably because he likes to live and also to live it up a little at infrequent intervals."

Politicians Great at Adjustment

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (U)—One of the marvels of politics is the way politicians can adjust to situations.

Take this Republican unity meeting today at Hershey, Pa. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, sent out the invitations to Republican governors and gubernatorial nominees.

And the host is Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Just a few weeks ago, Scranton was doing his best to keep the presidential nomination away from Goldwater.

He went about the country saying Goldwater should be rejected, that "we need in the White House a leader who thinks clearly, who doesn't shoot from the hip."

ANOTHER ILLUSTRATION

For another illustration of how a politician can rise above strong words, look at Goldwater himself.

"Having opposed civil rights until this year, let him make an issue of it. I'll just repeat back to him the thousands of words he has spoken."

"Lyndon Johnson is the biggest faker in the United States. He's the phoniest individual that ever came around."

Before the month was out, Goldwater and Johnson sat down in the White House and talked about the civil rights issue, how to keep from inflaming racial passions.

'WE'RE GOOD FRIENDS'

Goldwater told newsmen the atmosphere at the meeting was good, "we're good friends. We're old political friends."

One of the classic examples of a politician sidestepping a heat-of-the-moment remark came in February 1961, when Wendell L. Willkie was questioned by a Senate committee.

Willkie had run against Franklin D. Roosevelt for president the year before and had declared that, "On the basis of Roosevelt's past performance with pledges to the people, you may expect that we will be at war by April 1961, if he is elected."

Willkie was asked at the committee hearing, "Do you still agree that might be the case?" He replied: "It might be. It was a bit of campaign oratory."

POLITICAL FLEXIBILITY

To cap this discussion of political flexibility, there is a story that former Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas tells.

A Congressman's friend told him, "Jim, I've just come back from your district and Bill Jones is going to run against you."

"Well, I'm not surprised," the congressman said. "He is a dirty skunk and there is no good in him."

"And furthermore," the friend said, "Charlie Smith is going to help him run."

"They're two of a kind," the congressman reacted. "Scoundrels, both of them."

ADMITTED TEASING

Then the friend broke down and admitted he had been teasing. He had made up the whole story, that, in fact, Bill and Charlie were both strong for the congressman's reelection.

Reproachfully, the congressman told his caller, "Now look what you've done. You've made me say ugly things about two of the finest, sweetest characters who ever lived."

Untouched by Human Hands

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Summit Won't Alter Race

WASHINGTON—The political world "will little note nor long remember" what was said in the addresses at Hershey, Pa., by the leading Republicans who gathered there yesterday to present an image of party unity.

For the semantics of what is or is not LAWRENCE party harmony can have little bearing on the deep-seated feelings which have been stirred up in fundamental questions among the voters of all parties throughout the country.

It matters little, for instance, whether Sen. Goldwater failed to repudiate the John Birch Society in its entirety—as Gov. Rockefeller urged—or whether the Arizona senator was right in limiting himself to sharp criticism of Robert Welch, head of that same society.

It is of little relevance, moreover, whether Goldwater's statement that, if elected, he would rely on Gen. Eisenhower and other competent military advisers is accepted as sufficient by capricious critics, or whether, in order to be elected, he must reaffirm every day from the houseposts that he believes—as he does—in the doctrine of civilian supremacy over the military.

Somehow the contest over Goldwater's ambiguous words in recent speeches or statements has seemed to provide opportunities for sniping attacks that are coming regularly now from the Democrats, who have merely picked up what some of the so-called Republican "liberals" said about their opponents during the San Francisco convention.

The simple fact is that Republicans are still fighting Republicans in New York State, for example, and show little signs of ending their internecine warfare.

HIDE GRIEVANCES

In the South, on the other hand, Democratic members of Congress who have been opposed to the basic principles of their own party for decades tactfully go off to Europe instead of attending the Democratic National Convention and carrying their grievances before television screens.

Theoretically, a member of Congress who has been elected on the Republican ticket has a moral obligation to support his party from top to bottom.

If he wants to become an "independent," he can find plenty of precedent for doing so—only he cannot consistently run under the label of his own party in a state and yet fail to give full support to his party ticket nationally.

It is believed that eventually both Sens. Keating and Javits of New York will be found supporting the national ticket and that the present controversy will prove to be much ado about nothing.

SMOKE SCREEN

A lot of the debate over "principles" is a smoke screen that hides deep resentments occasioned by the failure of a particular faction to win at the Republican National Convention.

When it comes to principles, it is difficult to find much difference between what Sen. Goldwater is saying today and what the platform of the party itself proclaimed at San Francisco.

But even if Goldwater had denounced every member of the John Birch Society, it wouldn't have satisfied his critics, who seem to be anxious to pin the label of "extremism" on the Arizona senator no matter how often he reaffirms that he favors the United Nations and that he favors peace by strength and is opposed to appeasement because it leads to war.

Some of this type of criticism comes, of course, from Democrats against Republicans.

President Johnson, for instance, in a speech on the same day as the Hershey convention was held, said that it had never been "the policy of any American president to systematically place in hazard the life of this nation by threatening nuclear war." This left an inference in the minds of many people that Goldwater had somehow done so.

And so the battle of words between parties goes on, which is understandable.

But the battle inside the Republican party, which also seems to be continuing, somehow doesn't make sense.

Voice of the People:

'Area Lakes' No Longer Relaxing, Peaceful

At one time going to the lake meant peace and relaxation, but now one is faced with constant noise, water spray, and water skiers covering too wide a swath on too small a lake.

Some of us still try fishing for relaxation and most of us have conceded to fishing early in the morning and late at night, but when speedboats start shortly after sunrise and continue pulling skiers and raising havoc until 9:30 or 10 o'clock at night we haven't a chance. There's nothing more hair raising than to be in a small anchored boat and watch a red and green light bearing down on you. At that time of night one can't possibly read his number so he's free to try another night.

We've had two bad accidents in the county recently and unless something is done this type of recklessness is bound to get worse.

'Auto Insurance Should Be Mandatory'

Michigan should have a law requiring every automobile to be covered by liability and property damage insurance before it may be licensed. Further, if said insurance should be canceled the secretary of state should be notified and the automobile's license tags picked up.

In the last five years my wife and I have been hit while attempting to make left turns or just waiting for a traffic signal. On four occasions none of the drivers had insurance. Our only reasonable recourse has been to have their driver's licenses revoked when the damage was over $100 which is of little satisfaction when the repair bill was over $400 on one occasion.

How do others feel about this?

'Too Busy to Enjoy Beauty of Rainbow'

In reply to "Just Wondering," the rainbow is still there. We Americans are just too busy to look for it. Just a short time ago I was traveling to Detroit and a rainbow appeared — the same as when I was a child.

At times it seems we are too busy to enjoy some of the beauty that God has placed around us. God doesn't change — man does.

TAKE TIME TO LOOK

'Road's New Name Could Be Worse'

This is for all those who are so disappointed with the name of "Wide Track Drive" for our new perimeter road. There is nothing so bad that it couldn't be worse. Just suppose that instead of manufacturing cars in our fair city we manufactured beer cans. With the limited imagination of our city fathers, perimeter road would now be called "Pop-Top" Trail.

Parent Criticizes Movies at Drive-Ins

Some drive-in theaters have shown trash all summer. My five children beg to go to the drive-in, but it is difficult to find one with decent entertainment. We did manage to go twice this summer to see "Flippers" and "Thomassina," and the theater was jam packed. What else do these theaters need to prove what type of entertainment we want? What can we do to convince them? They advertise free admission for children, free playgrounds, circus train, etc., right under the labels "sex, cheap trash, riots, sex mystery, adult entertainment."

SAVING AND SAVED — Christine Murphy, 3, puts her head down on 10-month-old German shepherd who saved her this week when she ran into the path of a car.

Her dog followed, grabbed her by the seat of the pants and pulled her to safety as the girl's mother, Mrs. Roger Murphy of Portland, Ore., looked on from a distance.

Nik Hints at New Agriculture Shakeup

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev hinted today that another shakeup of Russia's agricultural bureaucracy is in the offing.

to create administrative departments in the Soviet republics responsible for major agricultural products.

In a speech published today,

Khrushchev explained that "we cannot remain in the situation where there is no one who answers for the production of grain, meat, milk and other production and who could combine all scientific and production work."

He made the remarks yesterday to farm workers in the Kuznetskaya District of the Kazakhstan virgin lands.

The premier said his proposal would be discussed at a plenary meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee in November.

ACTIVE PART

Khrushchev, without going into detail, said the new organs would take a more active part in guiding Soviet farms in choosing seed varieties, livestock breeding, and in mastering the latest in farming techniques.

The plan appeared to be a continuation of Khrushchev's persistent efforts toward agricultural efficiency.

It also seemed designed to narrow areas of responsibility and pinpoint blame for failures.

Italian President Said in Improved Condition

ROME (AP)—The condition of Italian President Antonio Segni continued to improve today.

Doctors said the 73-year-old chief of state, stricken last Friday with a cerebral stroke, had rested the entire night without needing oxygen.

'Hanoi Hannah' Is Viet Tokyo Rose

TOKYO (AP)—To the American GI in South Viet Nam, the female radio commentator who beams siren calls from the Communist North is "Hanoi Hannah."

To the Red regime in Hanoi she is "Autumn Scent," star propagandist of North Viet Nam radio.

Her daily English-language broadcasts to Americans in Communist-threatened South Viet Nam are like those of other women propagandists who have played on the morale of lonely soldiers far away from home.

A recent example of Hanoi Hannah's propaganda came after last week's retaliatory U.S. air strike against North Viet Nam's torpedo boat bases.

NEVER RETURNED

She said eight U.S. planes "were never returned to their base" and seven pilots were killed. The United States has reported two missing aircraft.

Hanoi Hannah spoke in her broadcast about Everett Alvarez Jr., of San Jose, Calif., one of the two U.S. pilots missing in the raid. North Viet Nam has said Alvarez is its prisoner.

"Just ponder a while," she said.

"A 26-year-old youth, Alvarez has a wife and a family. Not long ago he still lived with his family in California. Before the stealthy attack, he was in Hong Kong, enjoying the pleasures in night clubs or drinking bars.

NOW PRISONER

"Dispatched to the gulf of North Viet Nam and driven to commit crimes against our country, he is now our prisoner."

"You see, the lives of American youths, officers and men alike, are merely pawns, in the hands of the blood-thirsty militarists. Their fate is really uncertain.

"Alvarez, however, is much luckier than seven of his comrades, because he still has the chance of meeting his wife again one day when Washington shows its willingness to stop all acts of aggression and provocations against the democratic Republic of Viet Nam."

Hannah's technique recalled the World War II broadcasts of Tokyo Rose and Berlin's Axis Sally.

Some Food Groups Go Well Together

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Some years ago, there were numerous queries concerning "food combinations." Many credulous customers of that era followed a diet fad which was marketed by a diet leader who regarded the combination of protein and starch, for example, as incompatible or in effect "poisonous."

It never occurred to the master salesman or his innocent customers that the Creator combined protein and starch in the staff of life — wheat.

Certain food combinations are more appetizing than others and probably more digestible. Thus bread and milk or meat and potato or a hot dog and a roll go well together, but meat and milk do not.

There is a physiological reason for this. The gastric juice secreted in the stomach at the taste of meat is similar to that secreted at the taste of bread; and the juice secreted at the taste of milk is similar to that secreted at the taste of bread; but the meat juice and milk juice are dissimilar in character.

Something like red, white, and blue. Red and white go well together, so do blue and white; but not red and blue. That is, not in my judgment. What do you think?

Calcium and vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin, go well together. In fact one without the other is never quite effective in physiology, in nutrition, or in therapeutics, that is the prevention or treatment of disease.

This does not necessarily mean that every meal, meal, or dose of calcium must include enough vitamin D to insure good assimilation and utilization of the calcium in the body.

A good daily ration or even a larger ration once or twice a week will suffice, as a rule, but it is simpler to take calcium and D combined if the purpose is to correct calcium deficiency. In most instances this is the purpose, for the ordinary diet of Americans is generally lacking in calcium.

Facing Court, Maddox Won't Integrate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Lester Maddox says he is going to try to keep his restaurant open and segregated until another showdown with the federal government next Wednesday.

That is the date set for Maddox to show cause why he should not be held in civil contempt of a federal court order requiring him to serve Negroes at his Pickrick Restaurant.

"I am not in contempt and there is certainly no basis" for the charge, he told newsmen Wednesday night shortly after he was served with the order.

The restaurant operator contended Negroes who sought service Tuesday were turned away by a crowd of white bystanders and Negro employees.

RIGHTS ACT

Tuesday, Aug. 11, was the date set for compliance with the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act by a three-judge federal court in a ruling issued July 22.

Justice Hugo L. Black of the U.S. Supreme Court turned down a request to delay the effectiveness of the ruling and the stage was set for Tuesday's test.

Negroes tried without success to eat in the restaurant and Maddox said the establishment would remain segregated.

A Justice Department attorney, St. John Barrett, arrived from Washington and conferred with U.S. Atty. Charles L. Goodson. A short time later U.S. Dist. Judge Frank A. Hooper signed the show-cause order at his home on a motion by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Hooper was one of the three judges who issued the July 22 ruling. The motion he signed said that on Aug. 11 the Pickrick Restaurant and Maddox "did refuse to admit certain Negro persons, namely Albert T. Sampson, Albert Lee Dunn, Barbara Pace Suarez and Charles Edward Wells Sr. to the premises of the Pickrick Restaurant upon the same basis and under the same conditions that non-Negro members of the general public were and are admitted."

In addition, the motion contended that Maddox and the restaurant failed and refused to serve the Negroes in the same manner as patrons of other races are served.

Seek Missing Angler

FENWICK (AP)—State Police skin divers searched nearby Hammell Lake today for a man whose capsized boat was found Wednesday. The man, Leon O. Crawford, 45, of Fenwick, reportedly went fishing at the lake.

Falls Kills Grawn Man

GRAWN (AP)—Walter Beeman, 74, of Grawn was killed Wednesday when he fell off the front of his truck while spreading gravel near a cottage on Green Lake in Grand Traverse County.

Tradition Wins Out on Inaugural Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tradition has won out, so once again next January the President will ride down Pennsylvania avenue, "the avenue of presidents," after his inauguration.

District Republican Chairman Carl Shipley proposed the parade be switched to "very majestic" Constitution avenue. He said that avenue "shows a Washington everyone can be proud of" while Pennsylvania avenue has some "rather unromantic architecture."

But, meeting Wednesday, the district officials who plan the inaugural turned Shipley down. It would cost $100,000 — mostly to "bird-proof" trees, resurface streets and provide extra comfort stations — to make the change, the planners said.

Church Exec Expires

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Hanford H. Closson, 63, associated general secretary of the division of national missions of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church since 1961, died Tuesday.

One of the first English handbills produced by William printed advertisements was a Caxton in 1480.

'Wise Guy'

By STEVE APRIL

I can tell you this — some days it don't pay to get out of the sack. Like today.

I'm in advertising. Not exactly the fancy Madison Avenue end, I handle distribution. Like, if you want to cover the town, door to door, with free samples or a leaflet, you hire me and in turn I hire a bunch of stiffs, mostly guys down and on the way out.

I pay the minimum hourly rate and while I avoid outright bumps and wimos, I have to watch 'em like a hawk or they'll goof off. In fact, sometimes I give 'em a good "executive" punch in the belly if they set up.

It's that kind of job. I pay the men off at the end of each day as they usually need eating money.

Most of these slobes are mental flyweights. Sometimes I work a minor racket. At the end of the day, while paying, I tell 'em, "It's not my idea, but you fellows have to join the union. There's a 50-cent initiation fee."

PETTY ANGLE

All right, that may sound like a petty angle, but as I often have 60 men working, it means $30 for me — not a bad day's extra money.

You can see I had a lot of things going for me, and these poor slobes — most of them — didn't have enough sense, or enough gumption to realize what was happening. I had a real soft racket.

Now and then I run up against a wise guy who refuses to kick-back, and believe you me, he don't work again! Which is what happened yesterday.

He was a moon-faced fellow, about 32, his clothes okay but on the tacky side. Said his name was James. He was a good worker and fast. When we knocked off for lunch my hard luck started — either in the greasy joint where I ate, or maybe later when I was buying cigarettes, somebody slipped me a counterfeit dollar.

REAL BUM JOB

I wouldn't have been hooked if I wasn't keeping an eye on my little stiffs.

This bill was a real bum job, not even printed evenly. It was sloppy even for queer money.

So I'm stuck and it was such a cockeyed bill it would be tough passing it on.

Comes 6 p.m. and I'm paying off $10 per man, collecting my 50 cents "dues" from each man until I come to James.

WANTS RECEIPT

He says, "Wait up, before you deduct anything from my pay, I want a receipt from this alleged union."

"What's the matter, don't you trust me?"

"Oh I trust you as far as I can throw you. I like to have things proper. Let me see a receipt and I'll pay the half buck."

"Suppose I tell you I'm supposed to deduct $2 for withholding tax?" I ask. On the real stupid ones I sometimes pull that, but it's risky.

GO AHEAD

"If you're supposed to deduct it, go ahead, but give me a tax receipt," this James says calmly.

"Don't bother showing up tomorrow," I tell him, "or you might get a knuckle lunch for a receipt!"

James sort of pulls himself up and he's a lot bigger than I thought.

He says, "I'll show up tomorrow and if you don't hire me, I'll see what the city labor board has to say about it!"

TROUBLEMAKER

"Troublemaker, hey?"

"Nope, but I don't like being stepped on. Pay me."

I gave him a $5 bill and then quickly counted out five $1 bills, including the counterfeit buck.

I said, "Blow, but fast, before I lose my temper."

WANTED TO LAUGH

The dope shoves the money in his pocket and walks away. I wanted to laugh, served him right for being such a wise guy. He was too clever to pay my 50-cent cut, so now he's out a dollar.

This morning I glance at the usual line of stiffs waiting to be hired, ready to hear James give me some lip about the phony bill so I can laugh in his moon face.

The clown isn't in line. But I see a guy he was friendly with and ask, "Where's your fat-faced pal who gave me a hard time yesterday?"

KNEW BETTER

"Yeah, that was his handle. Guess he knew better than to show up."

"He came into some money, enough for him to take the bus to California where he lives. He's lucky, some jerk slipped him what looked like a phony one buck bill yesterday."

"But James, he sees right away that the bill is good but one of these freaks — came off the press in Washington cockeyed. Would you believe it, coin collectors pay as high as $400 for a freak bill!"

"That's what James got for it and . . . Hey boss, you sick? You look like you're in pain."

Boy's Venture Ends in Death

Charitable Floridians
Send His Body Home

MIAMI (UPI) — Eleven-year-old Ramon Gutierrez, a Tom Sawyer marked for tragedy, flies home today in a new white suit and a coffin given by friends he never knew.

First, a Requiem Mass was scheduled at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church here for the Mexican-American runaway who froze to death trapped in a railroad refrigerator car during a 12-day trip from California.

Ramsey was said last night at a funeral home for dark-haired Ramon, who had an impish smile and a boy's unquenchable determination to venture.

Agriculture inspectors found Ramon's body huddled among boxes of honeydew melons Monday when they opened the carload of fruit that had been sealed near Woodlands, Calif., where the boy's family lives.

Ramon tried but failed to claw his way out of the heavy car, and medical examiners said he probably died during the first day or two of the 4,000-mile trip through 13 states.

FADED SHIRT

Ramon was found in a faded sport shirt and patched jeans. His bereaved parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otilio Gutierrez, poor Mexican fruit pickers with four other children, told authorities they could not pay for the boy's return to be buried at home.

But the story of the boy moved Floridians, from a newspaper peddler named Gerald Rothbard to Mrs. David Gay of Ocala, Fla., who sent $10 with the message: "The boy should be buried at home."

Rothbard started a collection at his news stand that spread to street cleaners and policemen in Miami.

One radio station reported it had collected $465 by last night to save Ramon from a grave in Potter's Field.

Scout Does a Good Deed —Saves Child

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Fearingly, Ann Haase picked her limp 20-month-old daughter, Eileen, up from the cement where she had fallen. "I panicked," Mrs. Haase said.

Then I saw Scott Westervelt riding by on his bicycle and knew he was a Boy Scout," she screamed for help.

Scott, 15, dropped his bike in the street and took the baby. "It wasn't moving. I laid her on the driveway and began giving her mouth to mouth resuscitation like I learned at the Scouts. She began breathing," he said.

Eileen, who had fallen Monday, was treated at a hospital and released. At the hospital, Mrs. Haase remembered she had left a ham in the oven. Scott hurried to the Haase home and turned the oven off.

Saugatuck Main Street Unhappy; Claim Youths Hurt Business

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The Michigan resort area of Saugatuck has been a haven for summer vacationers across the Midwest. It also is a gathering place for college students. What is life like in Saugatuck for permanent inhabitants? The following article tells you.)

By VERNE BERRY
Kalamazoo Gazette Staff Writer

SAUGATUCK (AP)—Summer-time, and the pace of life is easy in Saugatuck.

Yachts ride at anchor offshore in Kalamazoo Lake while another hundred or so pleasure craft chafe at docks along the village's waterfront.

The Island Queen, a stern-wheeler paddleboat, sets off for an upriver cruise with eight or 10 passengers.

STREETS QUIET

Few cars are moving over the hot blacktop streets, except for an occasional swimming party packing blankets and coolers into cars for an outing at Oval Beach on Lake Michigan.

Bars scattered throughout the village are dark and quiet with only a few "regulars" passing for a midafternoon beer.

Resort operators and motel owners check their reservations and find solid bookings for the Fourth of July holiday weekend and almost every other weekend for the summer season.

But not everyone is happy about it.

ROTTEN BUSINESS

Antique dealers' report business is "rotten."

Resort owners report that the "full" bookings are not like the old days. They are for the weekend only, not a week or two weeks, not for a family but for two or three young men or women.

The weekday pace is slow and relaxed, just like six or seven years ago.

FOUR INTO TOWN

Thousands of "college-age" young people pour into town from as far away as Lansing, Jackson, Grand Rapids, Benton Harbor and Kalamazoo.

They move in throngs up and down the main street making driving impossible. Hundreds more crowd into the bars that will permit them to enter. Others head toward the beaches with food, refreshments and guitars for parties and "hootenannies."

Biggest attraction for the youths is a hot combo playing solid music for the numerous hybrid dances that rock'n'roll spawned. More than 600 dancers and onlookers can push into the dance spot, and do every Friday and Saturday night.

Villagers report they are well-behaved for the most part.

SOME FIGHTING

But fights break out, occasionally, and police officers are taxed to keep all of the young people under control. State Police, Allegan County Sheriff's Department and special officers are on duty every weekend.

Saugatuck police report that beer drinking on the street is a common offense, and the village recently passed a law prohibiting sleeping in parked cars.

Resort and antique shop owners are bitterly critical of the weekend influx. They call them the "college kids," but admit that many of the youths taking part in the street gatherings and public beer drinking parties are young local residents.

The shop owners claim that business couldn't be worse. But two other businessmen surveyed the ready-made market and opened a "hootenanny" place in a waterfront warehouse and a teen-age dance place just outside of town.

DRIVEN AWAY

"It used to be that a family could come for a weekend or a week at a downtown hotel here. They spent money in town.

"Not any more. The kids have driven them away. The kids pour into town Friday at dusk, take up every available room and stay until late Sunday afternoon. When the bars let out Friday and Saturday night they line the streets, fight and shout catcalls at the few older people brave enough to be out.

"The college kids come with a few dollars in their pockets, just enough for beer. They park their cars on sidestreets to sleep in them if they can't afford a room. They don't spend a cent except for beer," the dealer said.

Richard Hoffman, former Saugatuck mayor and operator of the Island Queen, says that "the town was filled with people last Sunday, and I didn't have a single passenger for a cruise."

Hoffman says that part of the problem is that Saugatuck is not equipped to handle such large crowds, young or old, and that the problem will keep growing along with the population.

He sees Saugatuck as a natural recreation center for western Michigan, and local citizens and officials should start planning for growth in that direction.

The places catering to youths report business is up 25 per cent over last year, and all indications are that it will go beyond that.

But main street is unhappy, with antique, souvenir and clothing shops reporting trade has fallen off as much as 40 per cent.

Seeks to Isolate Cities

Cong Wins Hamlets

EDITOR'S NOTE—Col. Ray Cromley, Newspaper Enterprise Association's military analyst, has just returned from South Viet Nam. He begins today a series of reports on what he learned.)

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—We can win the military war in South Viet Nam and lose the country.

This is the conviction I have brought back with me after an intensive tour of the war-torn land which included 120 interviews with tough fighting Viet Cong, Vietnamese, American military and political officers, and village and hamlet chiefs.

I spent two weeks getting these first-hand views in critical areas of the country.

The crucial problem is this: I've gone into hamlet after hamlet and asked where the young men are. I've been told they're with the Viet Cong.

The Viet Cong strategy is to take over the countryside and isolate the cities. In a few areas south of Saigon they have already done this.

CONTROLS CAPITALS

The South Viet Nam government controls the provincial and district capitals and narrow strips along major highways. The government can clear main roads every morning. The Communists come back at night.

In the hamlets, where most of the people of South Viet Nam live, the Communists have almost a monopoly on propaganda and politics. In the vacuum, the Red propaganda line wins.

Government political parties have little membership outside of Saigon and a few major cities. In many parts of the south, local officials have no real contact with the people except to collect taxes or round up conscripts for the army.

The ruling South Viet Nam government group in Saigon is military. All province governors are military men except one. The provinces are divided into districts, which are headed by military officers. Most of South Viet Nam's people are farmers. They are suspicious of military men.

WEAK GOVERNMENT

Village and hamlet government is weak. By a highly selective process of killing or intimidating the small number of effective village and hamlet chiefs, the Viet Cong have made local government even weaker.

In districts I visited where local officials are weak, corrupt or indifferent, farmers don't cooperate with the government and the local militiamen won't fight. These districts are widespread.

In other districts I've seen, where the Saigon government has sent in strong, graft-busting officials, the citizens sabotage the Communists and the local militiamen fight. But there are few of these districts.

The importance of men and arms brought down from North Viet Nam for use in the war in the south has been seriously underestimated by U.S. military authorities.

EXCELLENT EFFECT

Because of the importance of this traffic, the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam naval facilities (which came while I was traveling on the remote Viet Nam-Cambodia border) had an excellent effect on the Vietnamese.

It showed that the U.S. meant business. Many Vietnamese had begun to doubt our determination.

The U.S. action was dramatic and positive. But the war still has to be won in the south. We're not winning.

The situation is far from hopeless. High and low Vietnamese officials, army officers and private citizens—speaking with amazing candor—have outlined at length for me the mistakes they and their colleagues are making, why these mistakes are being made and what they propose to do about them.

They were harsher on themselves than any people I've ever talked to.

Woman Mortgages Home to Aid Couple

LONDON (AP) — Anna Scott has mortgaged her home to help a neighboring couple fly to Australia to be near their critically ill daughter.

Joan Arnold, daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Alecy, emigrated to Australia two years ago.

Today she is reported to be gravely ill in Brisbane with a brain tumor, and Brisbane doctors have indicated she may not have long to live.

Neighbors and neighborhood merchants collected $1,120 to help pay for the trip. The Aleys drew out their savings but they still needed $1,400.

Then Mrs. Scott stepped in putting up her home as security. She got a $1,400 loan from a bank.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Joseph Lynch, Fordham University seismologist, today reported a fairly sharp earthquake at an undetermined location about 4,500 miles from New York. It registered on the university seismograph at 8:49 p.m. yesterday.

Goldwater Turns the Tables, Calls LBJ Order Impulsive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says President Johnson has shot down one campaign issue — the charge Goldwater is trigger-happy.

The Republican presidential nominee said the orders to the 7th Fleet in last week's North Vietnamese crisis could have been interpreted to mean the President was authorizing the use of nuclear arms.

The administration fired back with a statement from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that "Sen. Goldwater's interpretation is both unjustified and irresponsible."

The controversy began Wednesday at Goldwater's press conference at Hershey, Pa., where Republican leaders had gathered for a unity summit conference.

Goldwater also said he was far from satisfied with the President's actions in Southeast Asia and added "if the President will continue to listen to me, take my advice, we'll have less trouble."

In a New York speech to the American Bar Association Wednesday, Johnson said the U.S. course in Southeast Asia will not be diverted by political attacks at home. He said it has never been the policy of an American president "to systematically place in hazard the life of this nation by threatening nuclear war."

The Arizona senator, who had stirred a controversy over suggestions that NATO commanders should have more "leeway" in use of weapons, was asked at his news conference about charges he is trigger-happy with tactical nuclear power.

Said Goldwater: "I think the President has somewhat moved it (the charge) by impulsive action no one has condemned, by telling subordinate commanders to use any weapons necessary, which pretty much removes any criticism of what he could make of what I supposedly have stood for."

He replied: "Our orders to the commanders are to continue their patrols, to protect themselves against aggression on the high seas with whatever force is necessary."

A reporter asked Goldwater, "could you amplify the remarks you made? Do you mean that the President has given field commanders the right to use any weapons including atomic weapons?"

"I would suggest you read his admonition to the commander of the 7th Fleet in which he said to use any weapons," Goldwater said. "I think I know what he means."

MORE SAY-SO — "But I also know what I meant when I said that the supreme commander of NATO should have more say-so in the choice of tactical nuclear weapons.

"It's not to give him the ICBM, the IRBM, it's merely tactical weapons and I imagine that these people — though I don't know — in the Pacific have the right to use these weapons if the commander feels it's necessary."

The reporter pressed on, asking "Do you feel President Johnson has given these Pacific commanders the right to use low yield?"

But Goldwater interrupted, saying "I'm only quoting his admonition to his commander. I don't know what went on in his orders. I haven't seen the orders, but I read the papers and if you say any weapons necessary the public mind can imagine a lot of things."

CALLED UNREASONABLE — In retort, the administration contended that would be an unreasonable interpretation.

The statement issued by the State Department under the names of Rusk and McNamara said:

"The President gave no authorization for the use of any nuclear weapons in the course of the episode in the Gulf of Tonkin, and he made no statement which could reasonably be interpreted to suggest that any such authorization had been given."

"Sen. Goldwater's interpretation is both unjustified and irresponsible."

After commenting he was far from satisfied with the President's actions last week in Southeast Asia, Goldwater was asked what he would do.

Districting Move May Clear Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders have worked out a compromise on a legislative reapportionment amendment and hope it clears the way for

Red Rebels Order Yank Consul Expelled

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The United States sent aid and advice to the Congo government at Leopoldville today, but the American consul at Stanleyville, 775 miles up-river, was under expulsion orders by Communist-led rebels.

G. Mennen Williams, U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs, was due in Leopoldville today to discuss increased American assistance with Premier Moise Tshombe.

Four U.S. Air Force C130 "Heracles" transports also were due today on a flight from Ft. Bragg, N.C., with 104 men, including 40 paratroopers whose sole mission is to protect the planes.

The C130s will be at the disposal of U.S. Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley for helping the Congolese government move troops and supplies to fight the rebels, who now claim they control more than half the country.

In Washington yesterday, under-secretary of State W. Averell Harriman told the House foreign affairs subcommittee on Africa that the United States intends to increase both military and economic assistance to Tshombe.

AID TOTAL

U.S. economic aid to the Congo since independence in 1960 has totaled more than a third of a billion dollars.

Rebels loyal to Peking-trained General Simba, one of several self-designated political heirs of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba, drove Central government troops out of Stanleyville last week.

Book Reveals Diplomat Role

Diplomat Among Warriors

By ROBERT MURPHY

By CORENNA ALDRICH, Seldom has there been more truth in the maxim "Don't judge a book by its cover" than with "Diplomat Among Warriors."

Written by a man with the unimposing name of Robert Murphy and summarized on the book jacket, as "The unique world of a Foreign Service expert," the cover shows little to indicate the adventure and intrigue of Mr. Murphy's saga.

A career diplomat enlisted as a secret agent by FDR, Murphy since that time has dealt directly with the greatest powers in the world.

Until his retirement in 1959, his assignments placed him on the inside of many of history's most intensely guarded rendezvous and enabled him to help direct decisions which will affect the world for generations to come.

From his first assignment by Roosevelt in 1940 to find order in the chaos of France after the German invasion—Mr. Murphy proceeded to the diplomatic problems of Allied invasions in Africa and Italy, and later found himself involved with surrender and occupation of Germany.

ON DUTY

He was on duty during major conferences of the "Big Three" at Potsdam, Tehran and Yalta.

His postwar activities included appointment as ambassador to Japan, negotiation of the Korean armistice and membership in the U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

It seems almost incredible that one man could have experienced firsthand so many of the century's most portentous historical events.

To his great credit as a writer is the manner in which he enlivens intricate details of these events. He re-creates the initial excitement and suspense of situations already relegated to history books.

Almost anyone who enjoys reading at all will find "Diplomat Among Warriors" a thoroughly stimulating book.

PLAN INFORMATION CENTER — Mrs. Montra M. Gilbert (left), chairman of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club, goes over list of volunteers who will operate Oakland County's new Heart Information Center with Mrs. Pell Hollingshead, chairman of volunteer committees. Operated under the auspices of the Michigan Heart Association, the center will be located at 296 Hunter, Birmingham. It is scheduled to open Sept. 14.

Set Opening of Unit for Heart Education

A new Oakland County Information Center for the Michigan Heart Association is scheduled to open Sept. 14 at 296 Hunter, Birmingham.

The center will be the first Heart Education office in Eastern States operated entirely by volunteers.

It will be carefully studied by other affiliates of the American Heart Association, Haver said.

The center will be operated by five volunteer committees headed by Mrs. Pell Hollingshead, 489 Argyle, Birmingham.

Lending a big assist will be the Business and Professional Women's Club of Pontiac.

1964 PROJECT
Mrs. Montra M. Gilbert, 151 Orchard Lake, club chairman, said the club's 1964 civic project will consist of helping both the information center and the Heart Association, a Pontiac United Fund agency.

The center will be located in a bright red, air-conditioned cottage office two blocks north of Maple.

Volunteers are attending weekly classes learning to answer questions about heart disease, to promote and schedule lectures and to guide needy patients and their families to agencies that can give financial help.

The classes will be repeated in September.

Washington News Roundup

Asks Hold on Vote Results Until Polls Close

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., has asked Congress to ban publication or release of national election results until after all the polls have closed.

And, in a similar move, Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., is asking Congress to go on record as opposed to broadcast of electronic vote projection this year until all voting has ended.

In introducing his bill Wednesday, Prouty cited the section of the Constitution that gives Congress authority over the conduct of national elections for president, vice president and members of Congress.

Salinger made his proposal in the form of a concurrent resolution that would express Congress' views but would have no binding effect.

Because of the large number of electoral votes in Eastern states where the polls close first, Prouty said, it is sometimes possible to determine a presidential election before Western voters have a chance to ballot.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State Thomas C. Mann said Wednesday that U.S. government aid to Latin America was a record $1.23 billion in the fiscal year that ended June 30.

Included, said Mann, are Alliance for Progress credits, those of the Import-Export Bank and the Social Progress Trust Fund, the Food for Peace plan and the Peace Corps.

Mann is head of the U.S. alliance agency and is President Johnson's special assistant on hemisphere matters.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress passed Wednesday and sent to President Johnson an appropriation of $210.3 million to pay congressional salaries and expenses.

Some congressmen said the language of the bill is aimed at greater public surveillance of congressional expenses.

Separate Senate and House action was by voice vote. The President is expected to sign the measure into law.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first ladies of the United States and Canada, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Lester B. Pearson, will participate Aug. 20 in ceremonies establishing the summer home of the late President Franklin D.

Roosevelt as an international park.

It was at Campobello, in New Brunswick, Canada, that Roosevelt was stricken with polio, permanently crippling him.

The former Roosevelt property was donated to the Canadian and U.S. governments.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee refused Wednesday to approve a $12-million appropriation as the United States' contribution to a multination program to preserve the ancient Arab Republic's ancient Nubian temples.

The committee said it has no quarrel with the project to save the temples — they will be swept away by flooding of the Aswan Dam unless moved. But it told the Senate that Egyptian currency acquired by the United States through the sale of surplus agricultural products should be used.

The House also has refused to vote the appropriation. The dam is being built with Soviet aid.

Course Set Up to Help Students Adjust to College

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Eager freshmen will flock to the nation's college and university campuses again this fall. For too many, the experience will prove more of a shock than they expected.

Many will fail to survive the pitfalls awaiting them behind the ivied college walls, despite high school achievement and monthly checks from home.

Two Purdue University educators at the University's Baker Memorial Center set out eight years ago to learn why so many high school graduates falter in college.

This inquiry into the nation's college dropout problem was begun by Prof. Robert F. Schwarz, 41, the center's director, and Prof. Howard D. J. Murdock, 45, who teaches chemistry.

2-WEEK COURSE

Schwarz and Murdock set up a two-week course for Michigan City area college-bound graduates in the summer of 1956, calling it, "How to study in college."

The new course was advertised through a direct mail campaign and attracted only mild newspaper publicity. They had hoped 35 students would sign up. When Schwarz got to class that summer evening, he was greeted by 75.

Schwarz and Murdock feel the quandary facing many students entering college is the abrupt adjustment they must make, both social and academic.

As Murdock put it: "The freshman must conform to the 'they' instead of 'me'. No longer is Mom around to prod him to his books. His college instructors are not likely to remind him an assignment is due or even urge him to do it. The job of acquiring a college education, he will find, is his."

BREEZY LANGUAGE

In their course, Schwarz and Murdock employ a straightforward approach to the would-be college freshmen, often with the breezy language the youngsters understand and even gimmicks to make their points.

Schwarz likes to set an alarm clock on his lectern and set it to interrupt his lecture.

It startles the class when it goes off. "There is no substitute," he will then tell them, "for daily preparation. You'll never hear an alarm clock again without remembering this."

Their "How to study in college" course teaches the psychology of learning and the skills of acquiring knowledge and keeping it.

ILL-TRAINED

"Most of us are ill-trained in the art of learning," Schwarz said. "In fact, the training in skills we use appears to be conversely related to their importance in everyday life."

A child may spend most of his formative years learning how to write and, in subsequent order, how to read and articulate ideas.

"We spend practically no time learning how to listen," Schwarz said, "while in the classroom, a student spends 45 per cent of his time listening, only 30 per cent reading, 15 per cent writing and 10 per cent speaking.

"When you listen to a professor, don't try to form arguments to what he says or waste time trying to trap him — just listen for facts. If he is a poor lecturer, learn to ignore his faulty speech habits or his ramblings."

DEvised SYSTEM

Schwarz and Murdock have devised a system which boils down to what psychologists call

"programmed learning." The student must set up his own rewards. He must read for questions and the reward is in finding the answers.

"Don't read a lengthy assignment," Schwarz advises, "and then set back, sigh, and shut the book. Go back immediately and review the material, seeking the answers as you go."

Other study tips:

Planning — "Make out a weekly study schedule and stick to it. It is important that you allow one hour weekly just to plan the week's work."

Conditions — "Don't use your desk for anything but studying. No letter-writing, radio or picture of the girl back home."

$10 PER CLASS

Motivation — "If you're thinking about cutting a class, remember it will cost you, or Dad, $10 for every class period. If you cut, you have just set fire to a $10 bill."

Do the professors recommend "cramming" before exams?

"If you haven't done anything else, you'd better do it. But it is the least effective in the learning process."

Murdock contends the entering college freshman is scared stiff inside, despite today's ultrasophisticated teen-agers.

"We have learned it is entirely possible to bring about a change in the attitude of these freshmen when we arm them with information they need and can use and when we help them recognize and identify the real problems of college adjustments. We try to help by giving them a few real tools to bolster their confidence, to live up to their potential," Murdock says.

FIRST SURVEY

The first survey of the course's long-range results will be this fall in Indiana. One hundred Purdue students who took it will be questioned on how they feel it has helped them.

But the professors already have numerous testimonials.

Among their favorite is the student who wrote:

"I believe the course is of little value as I did not use any of it in college. I admit if I had, I would have better grades."

And another student who may not have heeded their help, was to write them later: "I found the course (sic) very helpful."

Turk Firm Buys Local Product

A small portion of Uncle Sam's foreign aid money will be returned to the local economy next month when Progressive Welder & Machine Co., 915 Oakland, ships a $22,345 electrical resistance seam welder to a Turkish automotive firm.

The welder was purchased with money provided by a $70-million loan granted by the State Department's Agency for International Development (AID).

The money was earmarked for purchase of commodities and equipment needed for Turkey's industrial and agricultural development. All of it is to be spent in the United States.

Donald F. Hunt, export director for Progressive, said he learned of the Turkish firm's need for the welder through a list of items needed by foreign companies which is published weekly by the State Department.

Hunt then submitted a bid on the equipment and negotiated directly with the Turkish firm.

3-TON WELDER

The three-ton welder, which will be used in the fabrication of fuel tanks for utility vehicles, is now under construction at the local plant.

Shipment from New York is scheduled for Sept. 23, Hunt said.

The local firm, which employs over 150 industrial workers, does a sizable volume of business with foreign countries.

American firms are currently exporting AID-financed commodities and equipment at the rate of $1 billion a year, the State Department reports.

Arizona Town Hit by Flood

Hospital Evacuated After Heavy Rainfall

WINSLLOW, Ariz. (AP) — Flood waters, the aftermath of a brief but violent rainstorm, swept across this northern Arizona community Wednesday night, forcing evacuation of a hospital and isolating a large residential section.

Seventeen patients in the Winslow Memorial Hospital were evacuated by National Guard troops as the flood waters rushed through the lower floor.

Hospital officials said the high waters also had blocked the sewage outlets, causing a dangerous sanitary problem.

Police Lt. George Rockwell said it was the worst flood he had seen in 22 years at Winslow, a town of 9,000 on the edge of the Navajo Indian Reservation.

"We're having hell at this time," he said.

FAMILIES EVACUATE

Rockwell said 20 families were evacuated from the flood-soaked, southside residential area and spent the night in the armory.

Water was 13 feet deep in the underpass that bisects the community.

Merchants used sacks of flour as dykes against the flood in the downtown section.

Despite the makeshift dykes, a newsmen for the Winslow Daily Mail said about one-half of the business establishments suffered water damage.

HOMES HARD-HIT

Three homes in the hard-hit southside district cracked and sank deep into the mud.

Witnesses said about 100 homes were damaged by the flood, with water five to six feet deep.

Large sections of sidewalks about three inches of rain fell on Winslow in less than an hour late Tuesday afternoon. Runoff from nearby hills then rolled into the lowlands where Winslow is located, sending the flood waters higher.

PHONE CALLS

Rockwell said, "We received at least 1,000 telephone calls at the police station from persons whose homes were either flooded or threatened. One said his furniture was floating out the door."

Traffic was slowed on busy U.S. 66, which passes through Winslow, Arizona 65 to the south was blocked.

Authorities said the worst was over and that flood waters should recede today unless more rain fell.

Rainstorms also hit the southern section of the state, causing brief flooding in the downtown sections of Florence and Casa Grande, about 60 miles from Phoenix.

Rescued Miners Now Nearly Forgotten a Year After Cave-In

(EDITOR'S NOTE—A year ago today one of the great human interest stories began when Henry Thorne, David Fellin and Louis Bova were trapped 300 feet underground after a coal mine cave-in. James V. Lamb, who covered the drama throughout, tells what has happened since to the two who eventually were rescued—Fellin and Thorne.)

By JAMES V. LAMB
HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—A year ago today the roof of the Oneida No. 2 hard coal mine near here gave way 300 feet underground, trapping David Fellin, Henry Thorne and Louis Bova.

Fourteen days later Fellin and Thorne were hoisted to safety through a newly drilled 30-inch shaft as people around the world waited anxiously for every development.

What has life been like for Fellin, 38, of nearby Scranton and Thorne, 39, of Hazleton since the glare of the limelight passed?

Friends say the two seldom speak of the event now. And only rarely do they see each other.

OUT OF MIND

Thorne says he seldom thinks of the ordeal, adding: "It's pretty well kept out of my mind." Fellin says the experience may have sobered him some but has not changed him basically.

"Have I changed? No, I don't think so," he said before starting a vacation trip. "I was just a pick-and-shovel man before, and I'm still a pick-and-shovel man." Right after the rescue, Fellin and Thorne appeared on television, told their stories nationwide in print, and made many speaking engagements. Gradually the invitations to speak tapered off. Cards and letters, once a flood, became a trickle.

WENT BACK

Although both had vowed never to return to the mines again, both eventually went back for a while. Thorne also worked as a bartender, and now he's a construction worker. Fellin drives a bus.

The mine site, about a mile from Fellin's home, is quiet now, in marked contrast to the frenzied round-the-clock activity of rescuers and the almost constant roar of the giant drill that reached the men a year ago.

There is still some rubbish left by hundreds of visitors who came to watch the rescue. A tiny hoist shack has collapsed and is now a pile of splinters and weathered boards. Muddy water fills low spots in the area. Throughout the rescue, Fellin and Thorne's spirits never wavered. They laughed, joked and even sang over a microphone lowered through a six-inch shaft. That shaft was their lifeline. Through it came food, water and clothing.

CAME UP JOKING

When they finally were whisked to safety early Aug. 27 they came up joking and singing all the way.

During the past year Fellin, a part owner of the mine, was often called to court as the state explored ways to recover Bova's body. Eventually it was decided to close the mine forever, leaving Bova buried. Plans call for a memorial to Bova to be erected there.

"I'd like to keep my end of the bargain and recover Bova's body," said Fellin recently, "but I don't have any money, so how can I go about it?"

GM Plans to Put Smog Cutter on Cars

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—General Motors said yesterday it plans to build a new air injection smog controlling system into its automobiles starting with 1966 models.

Harry Barr, GM vice president, told the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board the new smog control system is scheduled to be available in first 1966 models delivered in the fall of 1965.

Donald Jensen, the board's executive officer, said Ford would announce a similar air injection system for its 1966 models at a board hearing.

Chrysler is proposing a revised carburetor and distributor system.

The auto manufacturers and representatives of exhaust emission control devices were scheduled to appear during a day-long hearing.

FIRST TESTIMONY

Barr, in charge of GM's engineering staff, testified first. He said the new air injection system will be designed as an integral part of the car's engine.

He said it consists of several modifications in basic engine design plus injection of air directly into the exhaust port very close to the exhaust valves.

An engine-driven pump supplies the air. The air goes through small tubes and is aimed at the hot exhaust valve. "By injecting the air at this point, it mixes with hot exhaust gases as they discharge from the engine cylinders," Barr said.

He said unburned hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide are oxidized into carbon dioxide and water vapor.

Closet Cost Closes Case

PUEBLO, Colo. (U)—A Pueblo District Court jury agreed with the president of the Colorado Board of Education that $5,000 is too much to pay for a clothes closet, and granted him a divorce yesterday.

Alva B. Adams Jr., 48, a Pueblo banker, had sued his wife of 19 years, Loretta, for divorce on grounds of mental cruelty.

He testified that he spent $5,000 to build a ground floor closet in their home. His wife didn't like it and ordered it redone. It cost another $1,500. "I'm probably the only man in town who has a $6,500 closet," Adams lamented.

60 Cambodians Held; Subversion Suspects

BANGKOK, Thailand (U)—Police are holding more than 60 Cambodians and searching for about 40 more suspected of subversive activities in Thailand. Police Director General Prasert Ruchirawong said today.

The roundup, which started Tuesday, includes nine Buddhist monks who, Prasert charged, were agents.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

2 Dems Bother LBJ on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two self-described liberal Democrats are proving to be twin headaches for President Johnson on the foreign policy front.

Yet Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska insist that Johnson is performing generally as "a great president" and that they will campaign heartily for his reelection.

It's just that they oppose his policy in Southeast Asia and many aspects of his foreign aid program.

They cast the only "no" votes last Friday when the Senate passed a resolution giving bipartisan backing for Johnson's military actions in the Gulf of Tonkin and other steps to defend South Viet Nam.

WHITTLED AID BILL

They were in the forefront of the fight Tuesday when the Senate whittled $216.7 million off the foreign aid bill and adopted an amendment raising interest rates on development loans abroad which the administration insists will hamstring the program.

On Viet Nam, Morse and Gruening have argued in speech after speech in the Senate that the United States cannot win a war in Asia, especially without support from allies and without more of a will to win on the part of the South Vietnamese. They contend the issues should be settled at the conference table.

On foreign aid, they insist that their aim is to improve the program—not wreck it—by eliminating waste, channeling aid into projects which benefit the people, and cutting out military aid to dictators and countries which want to maintain armed forces in excess of their needs. "We came to our conclusions independently," said Gruening, 74, a native New Yorker, Harvard Medical School graduate and long-time Eastern newspaperman.

He speaks with a soft voice that is difficult to hear in the Senate chamber.

Morse, 63, and a native of Madison, Wis., on the other hand, has a booming voice and can speak for hours at a time, with or without a prepared text.

A former lawyer and dean of the University of Oregon law school and an experienced mediator of labor disputes, Morse has clashed, through the years, with Republican and Democratic presidents alike.

Morse first came to the Senate in 1945 as a Republican, then became an independent, and later switched to the Democratic party.

LEADS FIGHT

He led the fight against foreign aid authorization this year, as he did last year when heavy cuts were voted in the Senate.

It was his amendment which brought the $216.7 million cut Tuesday, and he was coauthor of the proposal boosting loan interest rates.

"But I can't vote for the bill," he told a reporter. "It hasn't been cut deep enough. And it lacks many, many reforms which I will fight for next year."

Gruening differed with Morse on this point.

"I shall vote for the bill because we have improved it substantially," he said. "But it is still far too high and still too much of a vehicle for waste and mismanagement."

SHOPPING CENTER — This five-story shopping center at Maybee roads, Independence Township, will be completed in about a month.

Market Center Complete Soon

Store Will Open in Independence Twp.

A Food Town supermarket and four smaller stores are under construction at Sasabaw and Maybee roads, Independence Township.

Completion of the shopping center is scheduled for mid-September.

The locally owned center will provide 18,000 square feet of shopping area in the five stores and parking for 125 cars. The site is approximately three acres.

Three of the smaller units already are leased for a drug store, beauty salon and dry cleaning business.

The new Food Town store will be the fourth in this area.

It will feature ultramodern building design and the latest in food merchandising equipment.

Pastures Passe for Feeding Cows

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Picturesque as it is to see serene cows munching away in green pastures, pasture is becoming less and less important as a source of direct feed in modern farming, according to Prof. Sam Slack of the Department of Animal Husbandry at Cornell University.

One of the most noteworthy trends in dairy cattle feeding in the past ten years, Dr. Slack says, has been the shift from pasture to dry-lot feeding or supplemental feeding of roughage, with pasture.

He says that pasture furnishes less than 15 per cent of the food consumed by cows in Dairy Herd Improvement Association herds now as compared to 20 to 25 per cent a few years ago.

Glass House Secure From Rock-Throwers

ERICK, Okla. (AP) — It would be nothing short of disastrous to toss any rocks toward the glass house occupied by honey bees on the Olin Wilhelm Honey Farm.

Wilhelm built the observation hive as an attraction for tourists, school groups and neighbors.

Women Outsmart Men at DePauw University

Greencastle, Ind. (AP) — It's happened again. For the 19th straight year the coeds at DePauw University have outpointed their fellow male students in the grade department.

The girls finished with a 2.74 figure out of a possible four points and the men trailed with a 2.52 average, for the first semester of the 1963-64 academic year. As for straight A reports, 20 were earned by women and 12 by men.

During the last several weeks, her fanatical Lumpa followers have been charging government troops. Nearly 500 lives were lost in the battles and the government ordered her brought in dead or alive. Two days ago she surrendered.

In her broadcast, she told her followers to announce their surrender by putting large white circles outside their villages.

"The government and I," she said, "want to settle our troubles peacefully."

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — Alice Lenshina, surrendered leader of a rampaging African religious sect, broadcast an appeal to her followers Wednesday night to lay down their spears. She said the government has guaranteed her safety.

Told to Forget His Old Debt

JOHNSON, Kan. (AP) — Ora Carter of Larkin, Kan., was headed home from a school house dance when he passed through Johnson.

He stopped at a stable to get feed for his horse and since there was no attendant he fed the animal and forgot about paying for the feed.

Carter stopped in Johnson again recently and recalled that he still owed Lee Williams a feed bill.

He found Ira Williams, Lee's son, who told him to forget the 30-year-old debt.

Wedding Gift for College

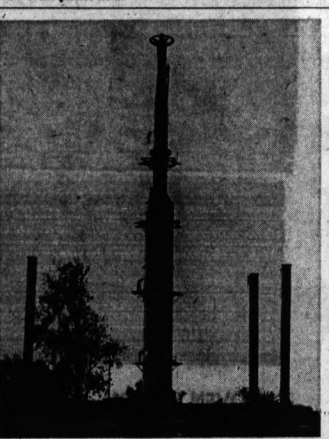

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Williams College of Williamstown, Mass., is more than $1 million richer today because a divorced woman remarried.

The woman, former wife of Halford R. Clark, an alumnus of Williams, received 8,000 shares of Eastman-Kodak stock in the 1967 divorce settlement.

Clark, son of a former director of the camera company, stipulated in the settlement that if she remarried, the value of the stock be turned over to Williams.

Clark died in 1959. His former wife remarried last year.

The value of the stock as of the day she remarried—$1,048,175—was awarded the college yesterday by a State Supreme Court justice here.

CAPE WATERFOOT — Resembling an intercontinental missile on the launching pad at Cape Kennedy is this 125-foot construction boom at the site of a proposed water tower in Waterford Township. The boom is being used for construction of the 1.5-million-gallon tower at North Cass Lake Road and Shaddick. Completion is slated for late November.

'1984' Will Be Performed

A group of high school and college players sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department will present the first of three performances of "1984" tonight at Waterford Kettering High School.

The George Orwell play deals with life in a big brother society.

Tonight's performance and an intermission night, also at Kettering, will begin at 8 p.m. A third performance is scheduled for 9 p.m. August 21 at the Pontiac Mall.

Heading the cast are Dennis Bejin, Judy Gould and Bob Pleznac.

The play will be staged on a twin turntable. There will be six complete scene changes.

Smirnoff—filtered through a "mountain" of charcoal

What makes Smirnoff so crystal clear, uniquely smooth, remarkably free of taste or odor? Every drop is filtered through 14,000 pounds of activated charcoal. That's why it's dryer in a Martini, smoother on the rocks, mixes with anything that pours. And... it leaves you breathless.

Showers Predicted for Fall Brides

By MADELEINE DOEREN

Showers are predicted for the early fall bride whose first year of keeping house is a happy combination of the pleasurable and the practical.

New on the party scene is the four-seasons shower which takes some of the 'irk' out of work for the hostess.

The guests may exercise some of their ingenuity as the work is shared by the well-wishers. With a few modifications, the idea might even be adapted to a house-warming gala.

The hostess or party organizer divides the guests into four groups and assigns each group a season. Their gifts are in keeping with that season.

If the guest list is long as in the case of business or church associates of the future bride, each group could be asked to bring a food course for each season.

For example, spring, green salads; summer, open-face flower-sandwiches; autumn, fruit harvest compote, and winter, ice-capped (whipped cream) demitasse and petit-fours.

The spring group could bring a card file of tried-and-proven housekeeping short cuts with special emphasis on spring cleaning.

RECIPE BOX

A recipe file box of quick, cool, summer menus and easy recipes taped to file cards (or typed) is popular.

Another appropriate seasonal gift is a fall layaway box of plastic sweater bags, rolls of magic mending tape and pine mothproofers-deodorizers, ready to store clean summer knits.

A winter gift might be a company-size casserole with a recipe for an easy dish serving eight or 10.

The four-seasons centerpiece, too, is adaptable to several occasions.

COMBINATIONS

It combines a natural long-needle pine branch with outrageously large, colorful tissue paper flowers, taped to bottles or cans of pine oil cleaner or similar workaday cleansers wrapped in green paper for the stems.

The Society of American Florists suggests a novel floral centerpiece that will make the early fall shower stunning and memorable to the future bride as well as the guests. Fresh-cut daisies, carnations, freesias and ferns trimmed short, spill out over the sides of a low wicker basket.

A watering can, brimming with flowers, hung with nylon wire from a ceiling fixture, directly over the table, will appear suspended in mid air. Strips of floral "nylon rain" inserted into the can's spout will give the illusion of water spraying the flowers below.

The basket, or the can, are equally effective on the refreshment table, mantel, tea-cart or on the gift table. The honoree takes them home when the party is over.

FAVORS

The baskets may hold handfuls of the flowers formed into nosegays as favors for the guests.

Still another variation of the basic idea, is to place only daisies in the sprinkling can instead of a basketful of flowers below it, plant a row of different colored sweetheart roses in clay pots.

As a final touch, insert a single rose in miniature glass, tube and rest them on the napkins as favors.

To make the alternate centerpiece, line the clay pots with foil and fill with pre-saturated foam flower holders cut to proper size. Insert about six roses with foliage wired together. Then cover each pot with peat moss. Paint the can to harmonize with the color scheme.

BRIDE CENTERPIECE

A refreshing change from the ordinary is the bride centerpiece. It is inexpensive and simple to make. Cut a sheet of plain construction paper (15x26) into half circle with 15-inch radius; twist into cone shape and secure with tape, or staple. Cover with bridal gift-wrap paper.

A half circle cut with a five-inch radius from the same type paper, forms a cone for the cape.

For the head, place a three-inch styrofoam ball on the cape. Paste on fringed hair and eyes cut from black paper. The tiara is a one-inch wide strip of paper. Staple the veil made by gathering a small piece of white net to the tiara.

Add a tiny nosegay, place on dolly; ring with appropriate flowers and let the bride reign over the assortment of candies and chocolates for dessert.

POPCORN HAT

Perky enough for teens, chic enough for their older sisters, soon to become brides, the wide-brimmed popcorn garden hat is an imaginative party centerpiece.

A light sugar syrup coats the popcorn so it can be molded into the desired shape. Press some of the coated mixture into a small, well-greased bowl to form the crown and then remove it at once.

Draw a 10-inch circle on heavy-duty aluminum foil to form the brim pattern and press the remaining glazed popcorn onto it. By lifting the foil at each corner before the hat shape is set and slipping one hand underneath, you can ripple the brim with the other hand.

Once the hat is set, fold the excess foil beneath the brim.

MINIATURE VERSIONS

Miniature versions of the gay chapeau could make place-card holders and the party-goers can munch on them later in case the hostess or honoree would preserve the centerpiece for another occasion.

Popcorn could be made into a sombrero or western hat for a young cowboy's birthday party. An elegant popcorn top hat could cause quite a stir at a dinner party for prom-goers or, come next winter, a New Year's Eve celebration for teens.

Two quarts unsalted popped corn are needed for a hat six inches high and 10 inches in diameter.

An alternate for this fresh-as-a-daisy centerpiece for summer entertaining could be asters, bittersweet, wheat, berried shrub foliage, cockscomb and chrysanthemums for fall festivities.

She's 'only a paper bride' but she's dainty and demure, presiding over an assortment of chocolate wafers and candies to be served as dessert when shower presents are opened.

Wide of brim and decked with cotton flowers is this garden hat of glazed popcorn for a bridal shower centerpiece. Shaped like a sombrero or western hat, it could cause a stir at a 'cowboy's' birthday party. Still another version could go 'high hat' at a New Year's Eve celebration for teens.

DEAR ABBY: I once read a letter in your column back in 1963 which I thought was so inspiring that I cut it out.

It was signed "VERY POOR" and I wish you would print it again because I read it every day and it has helped me more than medicine.

God Bless you.

FAITHFUL READER

DEAR FAITHFUL: Thank heaven for a good filing system. Here it is: DEAR ABBY: I've been reading the 'problems' sent to your column, and I hope you print this because it might do a lot of people some good. I'm in a charity hospital with arthritis, T.B., heart trouble, and I am gradually losing my eyesight. I'm only 39 but I can't remember being free from pain in 22 years.

If I could wake up one morning feeling good again I would not care if the neighbors dogs barked. ABBY

If their kids made noise, or even if my wife (if I had one) flirted with another man.

What I am trying to say, Abby, is, if a person can get up in the morning and go to work on his own two legs, he should get down on his knees and thank God, for without health, you have nothing.

Even if you are rich.

It was one of three designed for the camp to raise money for the home for underprivileged children. They can be ordered by writing Camp Oakland, P.O. Box 9, 530 East Drahtner Road, Oxford.

"MEEK AND MILD": Here is the quote you were searching for to illustrate how, after maturity, you achieved a better relationship with your father even though he neglected you during your boyhood.

"He drew a circle that shut me out—
Heretic, rebel, a thing to flout.
But Love and I had the wit to win:
We drew a circle that took him in."
(Edwin Markham)

Youth Chorale Visits

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

The Stockholm Youth Chorale visited Cranbrook Tuesday. They are traveling under the sponsorship of Youth for Understanding, teen-age exchange program in Ann Arbor and the Swedish Central Committee for Exchange between Schools.

The 50 members have been selected from junior colleges around Stockholm and their young conductor, Karl-Fredrik Jehrlander comes from the city of Osterund. The manager of the group, Thor Gunnarsson, teaches in Stockholm.

While giving concerts in many cities throughout Michigan the only Detroit appearance was Sunday in St. James Methodist Church. Several appearances were made on radio and TV.

School met the students and gave them a vivid picture of the various Cranbrook institutions. He spoke of the late Elton Sorenson and Carl Miles who were the principal builders of this great cultural center.

At the Institute of Science the chorale group's own countryman, Dr. Torsten Althin, met them and gave them insight on the work there.

Following the tour a "picnic" box luncheon was served. This was a novelty to the young people and was provided through the courtesy of Shelia Ehrling, Consul and Mrs. Edward Johansson and Mesdames Lester Colman, Leroy Dahlberg, Glen Carlson, Alfred Hopkins and Gunnar Karlstrom.

Assisting as hostesses were Jane Carlson who had just arrived home from a visit with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Fell Jr. in Kokomo, Ind. She brought with her Jeffie and Jimmy, the two young sons of the Fells.

Another hostess was Adrienne Andreese, returned Sunday after a visit in Canada with the Andreases' former Bloomfield Hills neighbors, the Robert W. Budds.

In the chorale group was Gun Nordenskjold who has previously visited in Bloomfield Hills with the George Russells. Gun attended school in Tours, France, together with Mary-Love Russell in 1960.

Since then, there have been visits by the young Russells, Mary-Love and George Jr., in the Nordenskjold home in Gavle. Gun spent Christmas holidays in the Russell home in 1961, while visiting in this country.

Contests Planned by Fashionettes

The Fashionette Club met Tuesday night in the Adah Shelly library for their weekly gathering.

Mrs. Keith Wilson, Mrs. Eugene Schmanky and Mrs. Margaret May were received into the club. The group also made plans for an elimination and a losers contest. The latter contest will be made up of the losers in the elimination contest.

Polly's Pointers

Melon's the Answer

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — During summer when one of the children needs more liquids than I can get him to take, I buy a watermelon which he will gladly eat. The child not only gets the fluid needed but he loves the treat.

DEAR POLLY — Flatten a large cardboard carton to make a good doormat outside of the tent when camping.

A canopy of heavy plastic attached above the doorway, slanted down and away from the tent, makes it possible to use a table close to the tent even when it rains.

When camping and it rains, we have found a large piece of oilcloth extremely helpful. The oilcloth should be large enough to cover the floor of the tent.

It keeps seeping water off the sleeping gear, is much easier to walk on than plastic and cleans easily. —BETTY AND FRANK

DEAR POLLY — Put your laundry basket in the trunk of the car before you go market. Place the filled grocery sacks in the basket.

They will not tip or spill, on the trip home.

Fasten a strip of adhesive tape near the top of your child's drinking glass. This makes the glass easier to hold and there will be fewer spills.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

In Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley: I am 36. My husband is 41. We have one son 14. We seem to manage well enough as far as expenses, but there just doesn't seem to be much, if any left for savings.

My husband does maintenance work and some weeks has a lot of overtime. He gets a time and a half for the overtime (over 40 hours), and it occasionally he works on Sunday he gets double time, and triple time for holidays.

But the amount we can always count on (for 48 hours) is $130.50 before deductions. Our mortgage payment, taxes and insurance included, is $111 per month. We have a car payment of $40 per month.

Could you please help me set up some sort of plan whereby we could save something each week? Thank you so much.

Mrs. R.B. Rockford, Ill.
Dear Mrs. B.: Figuring your husband's take home pay at $112.50, I can see that your surviving expenses pretty well eat up the whole amount.

With housing at $111 a month; food, say, at $95 a month; that car loan at $40; plus household operating costs, clothing, medical costs, the expense of operating the car, insurance premiums, job expenses, etc., you just about come out even.

But why in the world can't you put every dollar of your husband's overtime pay in a savings account? Double and triple time earnings can run up fast and you won't even feel the pinch.

Just get into the habit of banking that overtime without even thinking twice about how you might spend it.

Of course, regular planned savings are always the most dependable, and a few extra dollars can almost always be squeezed out of the slimmest budget. The trick is to take out a certain amount for savings the very first thing — even if it's only a couple of dollars a week.

AFTER SAVINGS

Then work with what you have AFTER savings. The most logical categories to raid are "car operation," "food" and "miscellaneous" expenses.

Make up your mind to watch your car expenses as carefully as if you had to lay out cash each time you use the car. You'll be surprised how many short hops you can eliminate. Watch what you spend on gifts and knickknacks.

Pass up a bargain in clothing if you don't really need it. Let your meal-planning be guided by that week's "specials" at the supermarket. Never overlook a chance to save a dime as well as a dollar.

Dear Miss Feeley: Being left a widow with two children, I collect social security for my children and myself.

If I should remarry, is there a "trial" of any length of time, so that if the marriage did not work out I could get a divorce and collect social security from my first husband's account again?

I know my children will collect until the age of 18.

MRS. B.C., McDonald, Pa.

Dear Mrs. C.: If a second marriage didn't work and you get a divorce, you'd be out of luck all around. Social security rulings don't provide for a "trial" marriage.

However, if the second husband should die within one year after the day of your marriage to him, and he were not fully insured at his death, you could then claim a widow's benefits on your first husband's social security account.

Or, if the second marriage were absolutely void under the state law, or there should be a court decree annulling the marriage effective from the date the marriage took place, you could claim the original social security benefits again.

If, however, the state law granted you permanent alimony upon the annulment, you could NOT claim social security benefits from your first husband's account.

Invite In Husband's Man Friend

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Is there any impropriety in a woman asking a man to come into the house when her husband is not at home? The other evening a man friend of my husband's, who has been to our house several times before, came to see him.

He was not at home at the time, but I asked him to come in. My husband thinks I was wrong to have asked him in while I was alone in the apartment.

I think it was only common courtesy to ask him in and I fail to see anything wrong in it.

A: I agree with you that courtesy required that you ask a friend to come in and unless your husband, either with or without cause, is excessively jealous, I don't see why he thought there was anything wrong in your doing so.

Q: Does a secretary rise when her employer introduces her to a man, or a woman, who comes into the office?

A: If the employer casually says to the visitor, "This is Miss Jones," she smiles her acknowledgement of the introduction without rising, but if the visitor comes toward her desk extending his, or her, hand, she should rise to take it.

Who pays for what at the wedding? The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Expenses," answers this question in detail.

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed, envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Teen-Agers Have Old Fashioned Virtues

Gilbert Youth Research Inc. The more often I make these surveys on what young people think, the more often am I struck by the persistence of old fashioned virtues in today's teen-age generation.

More than ever I am convinced that the horror stories which keep cropping up about youthful misbehavior are typical not of any broad segment of young people but of special groups whose outlook has been warped in one way or another.

Our latest survey is a case in point. It deals with the simple subject of friendships.

CYNICAL, SHALLOW

Reading some articles and fictional works about high school age youngsters, you'd think they have become cynical, shallow and self-centered in their personal relationships.

If that is a fact, it certainly has escaped my interviewers. Eighty-four per cent of the youths we talked to say they make friends easily, 35 per cent assert they have more than six good friends of the same sex, and 25 per cent say they have six or more of the opposite sex.

Much more significant are the qualities they look for in friends.

Whether the friend-seekers are boys or girls, what they have in mind primarily are such qualities as a warm personality, trustworthiness and a sense of humor.

The matter of good looks is hardly mentioned by youngsters in connection with friends of their own sex, and is a distinct also-ran with those considering friends of the opposite sex.

Another little regarded fact is over-all popularity. But cheerfulness, good grooming, intelligence and good manners are highly regarded.

School is where most of the teen-agers find their friends. Parties, home neighborhoods and clubs are other important sources.

QUALITY OF FRIENDSHIP

"To have a truly warm personality, one must have all the other virtues," Rodger F. Payne, 16, Detroit.

"You need a sense of humor to succeed in this world, and people who have it are fun to hang around with," Charles Clark, 16, Phoenix.

"Friends should be intelligent enough to know what the other one is talking about," Danny Jennings, 16, Orange, Tex.

"I like to have fun and I can't if the other girl is frowning all the time," Joyce Levy, 16, Atlanta, Ga.

IMPORTANT

"Cleanliness and neatness are most important because they show the inner self and good physical hygiene," Brenda Sue Lynch, 20, Terra Haute Ind.

"I like good manners in a boy because it makes me feel we are adults," Sharon Headly, 15, Beaver Falls, Pa.

"I cannot date a boy more than twice if he isn't intelligent because we have nothing to talk about," Carol Katz, 15, Bayside, N.Y.

gent because we have nothing to talk about," Carol Katz, 15, Bayside, N.Y.

"A friend is someone you can confide in, someone to share your joys and sorrows with, and who will keep the secrets just between you two," Laura Johnson, 13, Brooklyn, N.Y.

More Girls Than Fellows

DELAND, Fla. (U) — Girls are more interested in agricultural careers than boys in Volusia County.

County Agent Ralph Townsend advised the County Commission that there were two girl applicants and no boy applicants for the two scholarships offered annually by the commission to agricultural students at state schools.

The scholarships amount to $600 each.

Spiced Plums Make a Relish

There's a whole rainbow of hues in the currently plentiful supply of plums — gleaming yellow ovals, rich reds, plump purples and gay greens.

Top ranking varieties now-days, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, are Santa Rosa, Italian and Green gage.

The Santa Rosa — by far the leading variety for fresh use — is a large, conical, purplish-crimson plum, originally from Japan. Italian plums, sometimes called Italian prunes, also are purple favorites, though darker.

Spiced Plums
12 medium size plums
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup water
¼ to ½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Remove the pits and place plums in sauce pan. Dissolve cornstarch in water and add sugar, depending upon desired sweetness. Add salt and allspice. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens and has boiled 3 minutes.

Stir in lemon juice and grated lemon rind. Pour hot sauce over pitted plums. Serve warm or chilled as a relish. Yield: 6 servings.

Fish Croquettes Get Coating of Diced Almonds

Fish croquettes have long been a stand-by for Friday diners. They receive a crunchy coating of ground almonds in "Almond Toasted Croquettes," a fish-and-vegetable specialty you'll probably be serving often. Almonds also add a glamorous touch to a lemon-butter sauce for broiled fish.

Almond Toasted Croquettes
1 cup roasted diced almonds
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1½ cups milk
1½ cups cooked green peas
1½ cups cooked flaked fish
Salt
Pepper
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup salad oil

Put almonds through food chopper, using fine blade. Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour. Add milk and cook and stir until thickened. Stir in peas and fish; season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill in square pan.

Cut into squares of desired size for serving. Dip in egg-coat with ground almonds, then brush with oil.

Bake in 450-degree (very hot) oven about 20 minutes or until crisp and browned. Makes 6 servings.

Pineapple and Tuna

Make Hawaiian Filling

If you can't get to Hawaii this year, console yourself with this exotic tuna sandwich.

Blend together ¼ cup real mayonnaise and 2 teaspoons lemon or lime juice. Add 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, ¼ cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons drained crushed pineapple, ½ teaspoon curry powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Peaches Starred in New Recipes

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Southern peaches suffered from a disastrous spring freeze, but Michigan peaches promise to be abundant. As if to make up for the shortage of early fruit, our local (that is, western Michigan) crop is slightly ahead of schedule.

From now until late September, one variety after another ripens.

Peaches, like corn, are rapidly cooked in ice water soon after picking. This hydrocooling allows growers to leave peaches on the tree longer than they used to. The fruit is more nearly tree-ripened than in the past.

Peachy puffs are filled with peach ice cream and fresh peaches. By sprinkling ascorbic acid powder over the fresh fruit, you can prepare the slices early without their turning dark.

Peachy Puffs

¼ cup boiling water
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 eggs
2 tablespoons ascorbic acid powder
2 tablespoons sugar
4 fresh peaches (2 cups sliced)
1 pint peach ice cream
Ready whipped cream

Bring water, butter and salt to a boil. Add flour all at once. Beat over low heat until mixture leaves sides of pan and forms a compact ball. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition, until smooth.

Drop 8 mounds of batter three inches apart on greased cookie sheet, swirling tops of each mound. Bake in a hot oven 450 degrees 20 minutes; reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake about 20 minutes longer.

Remove from baking sheet and cool on cake rack. Meanwhile, mix ascorbic acid powder and sugar together. Peel and slice peaches into sugar mixture; toss well to coat each slice. Refrigerate peaches.

At serving time, slice tops off cream puffs. Place a scoop of peach ice cream in each puff; cover with sliced peaches. Replace tops and garnish with ready whipped cream. Makes 8 peach puffs.

Fresh peach compote is a simple yet sophisticated dessert. The French often serve fruit compotes. Almond flavoring is a natural with peaches.

Fresh Peach Compote

6 firm, ripe fresh peaches
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
1 cup water
1-16 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pure almond extract

Wash and peel peaches. Cut in half and remove pits. Combine the next 4 ingredients in a 1-quart saucepan. Bring to boiling point and boil 1 to 2 minutes.

Add peaches, cover and cook 6 to 8 minutes or until peaches are tender, but yet hold their shape. Add almond extract and cool peaches in the syrup. Chill and serve as dessert. Yield: 6 servings.

Fat Free Fresh Peach Ice Cream

2 cups peeled crushed fresh peaches (about 5 medium size)
1 cup sugar
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon ascorbic acid powder
¼ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Whip instant milk and water in 2-quart bowl with rotary beater or electric mixer until soft peaks form. Fold whipped milk into peach mixture. Pour into two 1-quart ice trays. Freeze.

When frozen, turn mixture into 2-quart bowl and beat until melted. Return to ice trays and refreeze. Makes 1½ quarts or 3 servings.

1 cup instant non-fat dry milk
1 cup ice water

Crush peaches smooth. Add sugar, lemon juice, ascorbic acid powder, vanilla and almond extract. Stir to dissolve sugar.

Whip instant milk and water in 2-quart bowl with rotary beater or electric mixer until soft peaks form. Fold whipped milk into peach mixture. Pour into two 1-quart ice trays. Freeze.

When frozen, turn mixture into 2-quart bowl and beat until melted. Return to ice trays and refreeze. Makes 1½ quarts or 3 servings.

Flaming peaches make an elegant and easy dessert. In this recipe they are given the zesty flavor of American blue cheese.

Flaming Peaches

2 fresh peach halves per person
1 teaspoon crumbled American blue cheese per peach half
1 teaspoon brandy per peach half

Broil peach halves 4-5 inches from broiler for 2 minutes. Remove and add blue cheese to center of peach. Place 2 peach halves in each dessert bowl. Pour brandy over peaches and ignite. Serve flaming.

Zesty Salad Serves Six

For your summer eating pleasure, here's "Zesty Avocado Salad." Thin strips of California avocado on lettuce are drizzled with a perky chilled dressing for this warm-weather appetizer. It would be ideal for a luncheon party accompanied by hot rolls and, for dessert, a lemon snow.

Zesty Avocado Salad

1 cup salad oil
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup grated onion
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire
1½ teaspoon dry mustard
3 avocados
Lettuce

In mixing bowl, combine all ingredients except avocados and lettuce. Beat with rotary beater until well blended. Refrigerate several hours.

Just before serving, cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds and skin. Place cut-sides down on board and slice lengthwise into thin strips.

Arrange strips fan-shape on lettuce on 6 salad plates. Drizzle with dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Blend Raisins in Dip

While on blender or beat until fluffy 1 cup creamy cottage cheese, 1½ cup each California raisins and apricot preserves, 1 teaspoon curry powder and enough milk to thin slightly. It's a treat on dark rye or pumpkin-nickel served with lemon ice tea.

Ham and Eggs Go High Style a la Benedict

A sophisticated brunch served at midnight or high noon calls for a refinement of the recipe, and the service of the usual ham and eggs. Eggs Benedict, and the family's best silver service meet the requirements. A white linen tablecloth and yellow roses in a silver bowl seem just right for the desired atmosphere.

EGGS BENEDICT

Place slices of baked ham on buttered toasted English muffin halves. Top with poached eggs. Spoon Hollandaise Sauce generously over each serving.

To Make Hollandaise Sauce:

1 stick (½ cup) butter or margarine, melted
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Few grains cayenne pepper
3 tablespoons hot water

Place egg yolks into top of double boiler. Beat until smooth, but not fluffy. Stir in lemon juice, cayenne pepper, and butter. Add hot water. Set mixture over hot, but not boiling, water so that water does not touch bottom of bowl holding sauce. Stir and cook until thick, about 4 or 5 minutes. Makes ½ cup sauce.

NOTE: This sauce may be served immediately, or it may be reheated over hot water.

Bacon to Top Corn

Simple and good: heat canned cream-style or whole-kernel corn and top with crispy cooked bacon in strips or crumbled. Delicious with scrambled eggs for weekday lunch or a Sunday brunch.

Pink Tropical Sherbet Is Season Spanning Treat

That essential essence of springtime, the flawless red strawberry, is captured in a cool dessert for all seasons, Tropical Sherbet. Ripe berries, sunny lemons and pineapple blend flavors in this creamy frozen dessert featuring convenience foods from the freezer and pantry shelf.

The deep pink color and sweet-tart flavor comes concentrated in a can of frozen strawberry-lemon punch. Crushed pineapple adds texture interest and swirls in around and through it all is the creamy smoothness of whipped evaporated milk.

One of the special delights of this cool sherbet is its ease of preparation. The doubly concentrated milk solids in evaporated milk capture tiny air bubbles as they whip to a light and fluffy mixture.

Fold in the flavorings and your special sherbet is ready for the freezer to firm up without additional fuss.

Tropical Sherbet
1 tall can evaporated milk (1½ cups)
1 can (9 oz.) crushed pineapple
1 can (6 oz.) frozen strawberry-lemon punch, thawed
1 cup sugar

Turn evaporated milk into an ice cube tray; chill in freezer until partially frozen. Meanwhile, drain pineapple, saving liquid. Whip evaporated milk in large bowl of electric mixer at highest speed until stiff.

Slowly blend in pineapple liquid and thawed undrained strawberry-lemon punch. Fold in pineapple and sugar.

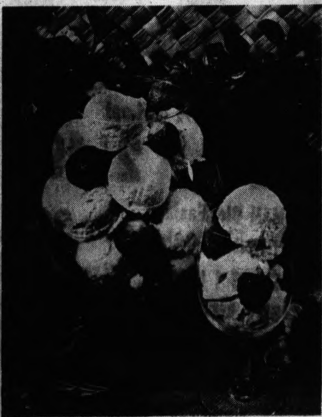

Turn into two ice cube trays and freeze until firm, 2 to 3 hours. Makes approximately 2 quarts (10 to 12 servings).

Fishing for a Sauce?

Try Tabasco One

Cold poached fish makes a delightful summer meal, and it needs a tasty, tangy sauce to enhance its delicacy. Curry Mayonnaise, spiced with Tabasco, the zesty liquid red pepper seasoning, gives superb flavor contrast.

Combine 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon curry powder, ¼ teaspoon Tabasco and ¼ cup lemon juice; blend until smooth and chill. Serve with salmon or halibut steaks, and striped bass.

TROPICAL SHERBET — The lively color and fresh fruit flavor of strawberries lingers in creamy tropical sherbet — a refreshing frozen dessert that knows no season.

Serve Franks as Party Food

For a child's birthday celebration, hot dogs provide nourishing food that the youngsters will accept enthusiastically. They're simple to prepare and are time-savers for the mothers. Hot dogs are especially festive if a circus theme is used for the decorations.

For added fun, try "Pin the Bun on the Hot Dog" as a variation on a favorite game. Introduce a game from ancient Sparta by dangling franks at the end of a string. With their hands behind their backs, the children try to bite the franks as they do apples on a string at Halloween.

Franks are a natural for the high school crowd. Provide bowls of interesting relishes — chopped onions, small green peppers, sliced tomatoes, hot chili con carne — for make-your-own sandwiches, and watch the spirit of adventurous eating at work.

Or serve a "giant" hot dog by placing a heated foot-long bologna in a loaf of French bread. Cut into individual servings and pass hot chili sauce around.

Invitations can read, "Hot dog! We're having a party..." Cut paper franks out of orange or brown construction paper and string them as table or wall decorations.

As a touch of silliness, schedule a "Balance-a-Frank-on-a-Spoon" race with the contestants being forced to start again whenever the frank slips from the spoon. Have a hot dog eating contest, but only if you're amply prepared for the young set's unlimited capacity for franks.

Yoghurt Gives Smooth Taste to Gelatin

New strawberry-banana flavor or gelatin, the latest fresh fruit flavor combination, combined with yoghurt, provides a most unusual, light, and delicate dessert. This simple variation on a theme can be garnished with fresh sliced bananas and bright red strawberries to make it doubly appetizing.

Another new gelatin flavor duet, pineapple-grapefruit flavor gelatin, is a perfect base for a wide variety of shimmering desserts and appetizing fruit salads. You'll find this new two-in-one flavor is compatible with fresh, frozen or canned fruits, so you can create any number of refreshing molded desserts.

Strawberry-Banana Yoghurt Whip
1 package (3 oz.) strawberry-banana flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
½ pint yoghurt
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Add yoghurt and beat with rotary beater until mixture is light and fluffy. Pour into serving dishes. Chill until firm. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Crisp Cookies Chilled First in Juice Cans

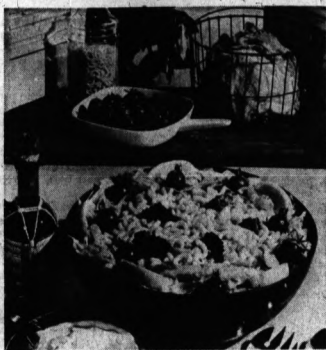

Wonderful way to use those leftover egg whites!

Mace Crisps
1½ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon mace
1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 egg whites
1 cup medium-fine chopped pecans
Into a mixing bowl sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, mace and sugar. With a pastry blender, cut in the butter until particles are fine. Add egg whites; stir to mix thoroughly; stir in pecans.

Pack dough tightly into 3 empty 6-ounce frozen fruit concentrate cans; cover tops tightly with plastic wrap, chill a few hours or overnight — until very firm.

Remove bottoms of cans and use to push out dough. Slice about ¼ inch thick; place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheets; if necessary, flatten with heel of hand to make very thin and even.

Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until browned — 8 to 10 minutes. Makes about 6 dozen.

Summertime fruits and vegetables make colorful containers for a variety of delicious salads, and adding flaked canned salmon provides extra nutrition as well as flavor and color. Lemons, avocados, or small eggplant may also be used in the same way, and garnished with that extra original touch which makes a meal memorable.

Coffee Jelly a Slimmer

An envelope of unflavored gelatin containing only 28 calories, goes into a wide variety of diet favorites including Coffee Jelly. Mix together in a saucepan 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin, 2 tablespoons instant coffee, noncaloric sweetener equivalent to ¼ cup sugar, and ½ teaspoon salt. Add ½ cup water and place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin and sugar are dissolved.

Remove from heat, add 1½ cups water, and turn into 4 dessert dishes. Chill until firm. Makes 4 servings, 7 calories per serving.

pineapple
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon curry powder
3 tablespoons chopped walnuts
3 tablespoons shredded coconut
Score banana skin in half lengthwise. Pull back skin from upper section and carefully remove the banana. Rub the inside of the banana skin with juice of half the lemon, curl back upper section, and fasten with wooden pick.

Chop the bananas and mix with juice of the remaining half lemon, the pineapple, mayonnaise, curry powder and walnuts. Fill banana "boats," and sprinkle with shredded coconut. Serves 4.

Cracker Cookies

No cookies in the house for the youngsters? Cream together butter or margarine with light brown sugar; add milk. Spread the mixture over graham crackers and broil. Let the crackers cool to re-crisp.

Dieter's Friend Is Chicken

Broiled chicken is one of the best low-calorie ways with the bird. To give variety to this dish, try sprinkling the chicken with herbs — each provides the meat with a different character. Use chopped rosemary, thyme, parsley flakes, or tarragon to taste. Or rub the skin with a cut clove of garlic.

Diced simmered chicken meat is the basis for wonderful low-calorie dishes. Buy the economical two- or three-to-the-bag birds, cook at one time, and store the diced meat in the freezer.

Freeze the chicken promptly; don't let it stand at room temperature. Use only special freezer wrapping materials or containers, for the low temperature of a freezer tends to draw moisture from foods unless they are packed in these moisture-proof packaging materials.

Chicken salads are a delight all the summer long. The chicken may combine with fresh or canned fruit — pineapple, oranges, or seedless grapes.

Fresh raw vegetables are perfection with chicken salad, too. Try the meat with diced celery, cucumber, onions, chopped green pepper or tomato. Or use the salad as stuffing for tomato shells, cucumber boats, or green peppers.

For a great low-calorie salad dressing, combine in a blender 1 cup (8 ounces) creamed cottage cheese, ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate (thawed and undiluted), 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon ginger, and a dash of salt. Blend until smooth and creamy. Or beat at high speed of electric mixer until smooth. Yield: Approximately 1 cup, 20 calories per tablespoon.

Oil Barbecue Grill

To keep barbecued foods from sticking, brush the hot grill lightly with pure vegetable oil just before placing the food on it. Makes it so much easier to clean too.

Soup Mix in Nibbles

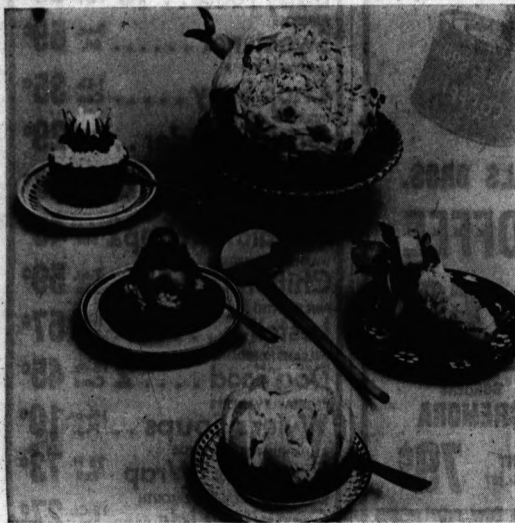

Here's an idea your party guests will clamor for... Peanut Party Mix. The spunky flavor comes from a can of wonderful, all-purpose onion dry soup mix.

Combine 1 can (1½ ounces) onion dry soup mix and ¼ cup melted butter or margarine. Thoroughly mix with 2 cups bite-size shredded rice cereal, 2 cups bite-size crisp cereal, and ½ cup peanuts. Place in shallow baking pan.

Bake at 250 degrees for 15 minutes. Stir; bake additional 15 minutes. Makes 4 delicious cups.

Cranberry and Cheese

For a delightful topping for fruit salads, blend until smooth one-half cup each of cranberry sauce, mayonnaise, and sour cream. Mix well with one-half cup of crumbled American blue cheese, for a dressing that's colorful as well as flavorful.

SALMON SALADS—In rear, a hollowed-out cabbage is filled with a delicately flavored salmon-cabbage salad. The container is gaily decorated with carrot "flowers." "Flowers." Counter-clockwise from the cabbage: a green pepper cup is filled with cottage cheese-salmon salad topped with water cross and a radish rose; broiled cherry tomato balances atop a halved tomato filled with egg-salmon salad; next, an orange is cut into eighths and filled with a scrumptious fruit-salmon salad, topped with a green grape. And finally, a banana skin holds a banana-salmon salad sprinkled with shredded coconut.

Return chicken to skillet and spoon onions over; sprinkle with salt and paprika. Cover and cook very slowly until tender—30 minutes or longer. Remove chicken; keep warm placed on brown paper to drain.

Vegetables Go With Cheese

Here are some delicious ideas for preparing vegetables when time is short and the weather is hot. These simple dishes are made party-perfect with the addition of zesty American blue cheese.

American blue cheese is a specialty cheese that can be found in your local grocery store at a budget price. Its tangy flavor blends well with almost all vegetables. If over-wrapped in air-tight material it will keep up to three months in the refrigerator.

Peas a la Blue Cheese

Heat one package frozen peas until done. Drain. Melt 1/4 cup butter and stir in 1/4 cup crumbled American blue cheese. Pour over hot peas, stirring lightly to blend. Sprinkle with dash of celery seed and serve. Makes 4-6 servings.

Melon, Cream in New Dessert

The honeydew melon can be served in the same manner as cantaloupe. A beautiful garnish for a wedge of honeydew is sweet red cherries with stems on and a slice of lime.

For a light refreshing dessert, circles or wedges of honeydew (rind removed) topped with pineapple, lemon or lime sherbet or quarters of honeydew filled with blueberries topped with sour cream.

Use kabocha melon and berries as garnish for the salad plate or swizzle in a tall cool drink.

Summer Melon Dessert

12 graham crackers, crushed
2 cups honeydew melon cubes, chilled
1 tablespoon lime juice
1 pint whipping cream, whipped

Combine graham crackers, melon cubes and lime juice; chill thoroughly. Fold lightly into whipped cream and serve in sherbet glasses immediately. Garnish with fresh fruit. Makes 6 servings.

Use Buttermilk in Dressing for Peach Slaw

An unusual cole slaw dressing plus golden canned cling peach slices turn "Peachy Buttermilk Slaw" into a springtime salad par excellence. Part of the peach syrup is used in the dressing with buttermilk and seasonings to give it a perkiness worthy of the season.

Peachy Buttermilk Slaw

1 can (1 lb.) cling peach slices
3 cups shredded cabbage
1/4 cup chopped cucumber
1/4 cup green pepper strips
1/4 cup buttermilk or dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon instant minced onion
1 tablespoon vinegar

Drain peaches, reserving 1/4 cup syrup. In a bowl combine peaches, cabbage, cucumber and green pepper. Blend peach syrup with all remaining ingredients. Pour over cabbage mixture; toss gently.

Chill at least 30 minutes; toss again before serving. Makes 5 servings.

Hearty Dish Uses Pork, Spaghetti

The full flavor of pork makes it a perfect choice for combination dishes in which the meat, vegetables and possibly a cereal, such as noodles, spaghetti or macaroni, are used.

Parishian dinner is a combination of browned boneless economy pork shoulder, cooked spaghetti, tomatoes, baby lima beans and mushrooms with onion and celery for extra zest. The flavors blend delightfully and the dish may be prepared in advance and reheated for a party. It is even better the second day.

This dish takes about two hours to prepare and calls for a large kettle or deep baking pan. The recipe provides 16 generous servings for a crowd of hearty eaters, and leftovers may be frozen for a later feast.

Parishian Dinner
5 pounds pork shoulder large stalks celery
5 pounds onions
1 1/2 cups shortening
1/4 pound spaghetti
1 can (No. 2) mushrooms

Cheese, Wine, Bacon

For patio nibbling treats, mix one cup of crumbled American blue cheese with one cup cream cheese. Add two teaspoons minced onion, one-half cup sour cream, two tablespoons white wine, a pinch of garlic powder, and four strips of crisp, crumbled bacon. Mix all the ingredients together and chill. Serve with chips or crackers.

(stems and ends)
2 cans (No. 2) lima beans
2 cans (No. 2 1/2) tomatoes
2 tablespoons salt
Cut up celery and onions. Fry until transparent in 1/4 cup shortening in a heavy kettle tightly covered. Cut up the pork into small pieces. Fry in 1/4 cup shortening until well browned. Cover and cook slowly until thoroughly done. This will take about 1 1/2 hours.

Boil spaghetti in 3 quarts salted water for 20 minutes. Add pork, onions and celery. Add mushrooms, lima beans, and tomatoes with their liquids. Season well. Simmer or bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 1/2 hours.

Serve on toast or cook down and serve on platter.

4-H Fair Activities

Youngsters Parade Parade Ribbons

Horses, cattle, and poultry shared the spotlight with 4-H's fun and flowers in yesterday's activities at the Oakland County 4-H fair.

Youngsters paraded their ribbons for a while, then attached them to the products chosen good enough to deserve one of the many awards distributed.

One of the highlights of the day was the jumping competition, with a small 10-year-old girl walked away with top honors.

Donna Homrich, a member of the Troy Mustangs club, won first place in the junior jumping and horsemanship contest, as well as second in the English pleasure riding.

She was also awarded championship ribbon in horsemanship, for being tops in all divisions, and reserve championship in pleasure.

SHARES GLORY

Sharing the glory with her was 5-year-old Rockette, who she rode to win the honors.

Cathy Shimick was second winner in the English open jumping competition, junior division.

In the senior class, open to riders 14 and older, Nona Coppen of the North Oakland Club placed first and Kathy Ebbert of the Rochester Trailblazers was second.

Following is a list of categories judged yesterday and the winners:

GREEN THUMB WINNER—Claudia Long, a 11-year-old member of the Milford 4-H Club, raised her sinia well enough to win a blue ribbon, as well as a spot among the competitors who will go on to the state fair this year. Hers is one of many flowers being exhibited at the 4-H fairgrounds through Saturday.

MSU Prof Is Asked to Aid Poverty War

EAST LANSING (AP) — A Michigan State University professor who founded his own "peace corps" to help culturally deprived children through school has been enlisted in the administration's war on poverty.

He is Dr. David Gottlieb, a 33-year-old soft-spoken dynamo who believes dropouts can be detected and helped in early elementary school.

He founded the student education corps at MSU to supplement with voluntary student help the work of harassed teachers, who often do not have the time to devote to students with particular problems.

STAFF CAMPS

The MSU professor of sociology, anthropology and education has been asked to help train persons to staff youth camps and training centers for dropouts and to assist in developing research programs related to the antipoverty program's proposed job corps.

Gottlieb has served as a consultant to the President's Task Force on Poverty, the group which developed the antipoverty program.

He terms the $947.5 million "war" a call to the nation's behavioral scientists to become involved directly in social problems after "sitting on the sidelines observing and doing research that may or may not be related to the problems as they actually exist."

His MSU program, run and coordinated entirely by students, has sent teams of students to answer requests for help in almost any field from schools within about a 100-mile radius of the East Lansing campus.

Requests for help have come from greater distances, he said, but time and the class loads of the 200 volunteer students limited the distance they could travel.

Inquiries about the program have come from as far away as the University of London and the University of California at Berkeley.

One Peace Corps official called it "the most exciting thing I have seen."

One of the crucial needs of the antipoverty program, Gottlieb said, will be to help youths who have left school and cannot return. Prospects are favorable, he added, that both dropouts and "throwouts" will use the chance to resume their education and learn job skills.

"DON'T LIKE IT" "For whatever reasons they left school," he said, "once these kids experience the outside world they don't like it. They have had a hard time finding jobs, and their employment has been either sporadic or nonexistent."

Winners of the competition will reign over the 32nd annual Peach Festival here Labor Day weekend.

Mrs. Margaret A. Kaiser, is contest chairman, assisted by Mrs. Louis Wolf, in charge of entries.

The preceding agricultural verbiage will project through the microphone at the Romeo Peach Queen contest, where entrants are known only by the name of a peach.

Twelve contestants completed the required registration before deadline, and are now preparing for their debut at the Romeo Community Center, 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Towns and cities represented in the contest will be Oxford, Rochester, Orionville, Utica, Aram, Algonac, Flint, Lapeer, Pontiac, and Romeo. Also participating will be a Miss Waterford Township and Miss Metropolitan Beach.

To be eligible to compete for the coveted crown, contestants must already be beauty queens in their own communities.

"STREETS OF PARIS" The annual event will follow a "Streets of Paris" theme this year, as girls parade on stage to organ music provided by the Tempo Music Center.

Master of ceremonies will be Richard McLean, assistant Macomb County prosecutor.

During the judging, the girls will appear on stage in both street wear and formal gowns. They will be faced with ques-

Volunteers Still Needed for Paint Creek Cleanup

Volunteers are still being sought to aid in the Paint Creek face-lifting job Saturday, "Operation Clean-Up," an attempt to restore Paint Creek to its original picturesque state, will start at 8 a.m.

Workers are especially needed in two critical areas, John O'Donnell, project chairman pointed out yesterday.

He urged those desiring to assist to report to the Tienken Road Bridge, on West Tienken west of Avon Township's North Hill Shopping Center, or to the Oakland Township Hall in Goodison.

Tomorrow night, O'Donnell and the five area chairmen will meet to finalize plans for the next day's work.

TEAM CAPTAINS

Team captains and the areas in which they will supervise work are:

Irvine Unger, Lake Orion; John Lesstler, Orion Township; C. H. Williams, Oakland Township (from Clarkson to Dutton road); Ed Alward, Avon Township (from Dutton to Tienken); and James McCurdy, Rochester (from Tienken to Yates Cider Mill).

Officials of the State Conservation Department, Boy Scouts, the American Red Cross and the County Health Department have joined area farmers and residents interested in making the stream suitable for recreational purposes again.

"This is the first volunteer effort by the community," O'Donnell said, urging help with the project.

SIGNIFICANT ROLE

The State Conservation Department has played an especially significant role.

To Enlarge Schools in Farmington

Contracts Awarded on Additions

FARMINGTON — The board of education yesterday awarded contracts for two secondary school additions which will provide room for 1,340 more students by the fall of 1965.

General contractor for additions to North Farmington High School and East Junior High will be Hickson-Costigan Inc., Detroit. The firm's $814,840 bid was the lowest of five.

The mechanical contract was awarded to Evans Plumbing and Heating Co. of Southfield for $219,850. The firm was the lowest of 12 bidders.

With the 24-room addition planned for 3-year-old North Farmington High School, the unit will be able to accommodate 1,590 rather than 970 students.

A similar addition at East Junior High School will increase its capacity from 810 to 1,530. The building will begin its second year of operation this fall.

START SOON Schools Supt. Gerald V. Harrison said he expected construction of the two additions to begin almost immediately.

"We must have occupancy by September 1965," he said.

Electrical and equipment bids on the project are being studied and contracts are expected to be awarded at the board's next meeting.

The board has decided to reject all bids on a new maintenance building which were received in July.

EXCEED ALLOTMENT All bids exceeded the $60,000 allotment for the building, Harrison said. He noted the lowest was $70,866.

School architect J. MacDonald Jacob of Royal Oak is to revise specifications to keep the bids within the board's budget.

Site for the building is on the north side of 10 Mile, just east of Middle Belt.

A new step in the salary schedule for administrators with sixth-grade degrees has been approved. The educational specialist degree approximates 30 hours of study beyond the masters.

START AT $8,647 Under the new step an 11-month administrative employee who has no previous experience can start at $8,647. Eight annual increases of approximately $400 will give him a maximum of $11,577.

The new category provides a starting salary of $9,433 for the administrator who works 12 months a year. A maximum of $12,630 is reached in seven steps of about $500 a year.

Creation of the new step amounts to a $400 raise for 11-month administrators who qualify and $500 salary increase for those who work 12 months.

The next meeting of the school board will be Aug. 31 because of the vacation schedules of trustees.

Chaplain Play Stuns Bishop

DETROIT (AP) — The Rev. Malcolm Boyd, Wayne State University's playwright Episcopal chaplain apparently has a gotten review from his bishop.

Without naming Boyd, the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Detroit diocese, said in a news circular published by the Cathedral Church of St. Paul:

"A newspaper article informed us that a play on racial prejudice, written by a clergyman, was banned because of its profanity by the radio station of a great university."

Boyd's play was banned at the Michigan State University TV station recently for alleged use of profanity.

"Since the clergyman preaches high and sensitive standards in race relations, it astounds me that his standards in language are so low," wrote Bishop Emrich.

"Rejecting the sin that divides man from man, it is astonishing he is willing to offend men by accepting the vulgarity and profanity of the modern avant-garde stage."

REFUGEE YOUTHS AT PLAY—Stripped to the waist, these Cuban refugee youths in Miami, Fla., play basketball under the broil-

Find Homes for Exiled Children

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Cuban parents have sent thousands of children to the United States to escape Communist indoctrination. The following article reports on their American adjustment.)

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Mama, don't you know me any more? I'm Juan."

"It had been three years since Juan's mother sent him to the United States to escape Communist indoctrination in Cuba. He was 13 then."

His mother, who had arrived from Cuba by way of Mexico to join him, crushed him in embrace when she finally recognized him in crowded Miami International Airport.

Another Cuban mother, reunited with her twin sons, shook her head and said, "They have grown so much, I am a little afraid." They were 12 when left Cuba three years ago.

RECENT INCIDENTS

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Bryan O. Walsh, Miami director of Catholic Welfare Service and a leader in finding foster care for unaccompanied Cuban children, related these recent incidents. He said such drama occurs frequently in this child-emigre movement, one of the largest in American history.

One Cuban boy, 8 years old when he left home, became so attached to his American foster parents that he wanted to remain with them when his mother arrived three years later. He asked social workers to "get a little foster boy for my mother so I can stay here."

More than 16,000 unaccompanied children have arrived in Miami since late 1960.

These temporary "orphans in exile" and more than 80,000 other Cuban children, who are with their parents, have scattered throughout the United States.

BORN IN EXILE

Thousands have reached adulthood in exile. Other thousands, born in exile, are American citizens.

"A young Cuban generation is growing up with Americans, and adjusting quickly," a social worker observed.

When plane service between the United States and Cuba stopped in October 1962, the migration slackened. But children still arrive almost daily, most of them now with their parents. Nearly all come in small boats, a hazardous escape route.

Some 2,500 children remain under foster care. Since Cubans are predominantly Roman Catholic, the Catholic Welfare Service handles most of their cases. Children's Service Bureau, a nondenominational public agency, sees after Protestant children. The Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society finds homes for Jewish emigres.

YOUNG REFUGEES

Some of the young refugees live in foster homes. Others, such as 700 in Miami, are under group care. They are kept busy with sports, music, games and work to ward off homesickness.

Among the largest concentrations are 160 in Yakima, Wash., and 158 in Albuquerque, N.M. In Helena, Mont., 40 boys were reported living in a former governor's mansion.

Among other cities with large numbers of the children are New York City, Boston, New Orleans, San Francisco, St. Louis and San Antonio, Tex.

U. of M. Chief to Chair White House Confab

WASHINGTON (AP)—University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher was to preside today at a White House meeting aimed at encouraging study by state universities of problems affecting their regions.

President Johnson called the meeting of a group of state university presidents. Michigan State University President John A. Hannah and Wayne State University President Clarence Hilberry also were invited.

When an Englishman made the first Gin & Tonic, did he use Gordon's?

Undoubtedly. A retired Army Colonel, vividly recalling the heat of India, created the first Gin & Tonic nearly 75 years ago. Gordon's had already been firmly established as a favored English gin for more than a century, so it is fair to assume the Colonel used Gordon's. Since then, gin-drinkers have found Gordon's the indispensable ingredient in a host of summer drinks, from Tom Collines to Orange Blossoms. Not to mention the cocktail-for-all-seasons, the glorious Gordon's martini. Hot enough for you? Tell the man "Gordon's," the biggest-selling gin in England, America, the world.

Junior Editors Quiz on SOUND

QUESTION: How can sound travel through air?

ANSWER: In the top picture, Jerry has tossed a stone into a pond. Little ripples are traveling outward from where the stone struck. One ripple after another moves out in all directions.

Sound travels through the air in similar waves, only in this case it is air instead of water through which the waves travel. When Jerry yells to a friend (below), his voice acts like the stone and starts sound waves which in this case move away from him.

The drawn symbols of radiating waves show us they are there, even if we can't see them (instruments such as oscilloscopes, however, will make the effect of sound waves visible).

Think of the top of one of these up-and-down shapes as if it were the top of an ocean wave. Then realize that the sound waves coming from Jerry will have a particular wave length (distance between wave crests), amplitude (height of crests) and frequency (speed of the moving crests).

When these waves enter the ear of Jerry's friend Tom, they start Tom's eardrum vibrating in just the same way, which carries the message to Tom's brain, so he knows exactly what Jerry is yelling about.

FOR YOU TO DO: Fix an alarm clock so that it starts ringing and put your hand on the clock. You will feel the bell vibrating. These are the vibrations which start the sound waves which wake you up in the morning.

Officer Will Retire; Sank First Jap Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Vice Adm. Elton W. Grenfell, the first American to sink a Japanese warship in World War II, will retire Sept. 1.

Grenfell, now Atlantic submarine force commander at Norfolk, Va., was a lieutenant commander in charge of the submarine Gudgeon when she went out on the first patrol after Pearl Harbor.

Early in 1942, while returning submerged, the Gudgeon sighted a Japanese submarine on the surface. Some of its crew were in bathing trunks.

"We let him have three torpedoes and down he went," said Grenfell.

The world's highest average annual rainfall—471.6 inches—is at Mt. Waialeale, Hawaii.

Red Wall Still Depressing, Permanent W. Berlin Sight

BERLIN (AP) — It began three years ago today with a few strands of barbed wire being dragged across the streets of downtown Berlin.

Now the Red wall dividing the city is a massive, bloodstained death trap with a depressing air of permanence.

The Communist regime began to build the wall after more than 3 million East Germans had fled to the West. The refugees were pouring over the open frontier at the rate of 2,000 a day.

Then it was just a question of crossing the street or taking a subway ride.

The wall blocked 377 streets, and the subway stopped running between East and West. The escape hatch was closed.

The eight crossing points kept open for foreigners and West Germans are strongly guarded.

RISK LIVES

Daring East Germans are still risking their lives to escape, but now they come over mostly in ones or twos.

At least 53 have been killed and 34 injured in attempts to breach the wall. Another 53 died on the 800-mile frontier between East and West Germany.

Nearly 20,000 East Germans have escaped since the wall was built—an amazing number considering the formidable obstacles.

Whole rows of houses have been demolished to clear a field of fire for the guards. Apartment blocks on the border have been evacuated and windows bricked up.

ESTIMATE COST

Western experts estimate that $3.5 million worth of concrete and barbed wire have been used on the wall and on barricades around West Berlin. The waste of man-hours has been enormous.

West police have counted 232 trenches and dugouts and 165 watchtowers around the 101-mile city limits. In these, more than 10,000 East German soldiers keep constant armed watch, with orders to shoot refugees.

West police say the Red guards have used their weapons 833 times. West police have observed the arrest of 1,798 persons, apparently planning to escape.

There may have been many more victims out of sight inside Communist territory. Security controls around Berlin begin many miles from the border.

LEAVE A CRIME

Planning to leave East Germany without official permission is a crime. A West Berlin refugee group calculates that prison terms totaling 12,000 years have been handed down by Communist courts for planning or helping escape.

Not all the Red guards enjoy their work. Since the wall, 1,638 of them have deserted to the West. Many of the young men who escape say they boiled to avoid being conscripted for duty at the wall.

The controlled East German press, including soldiers' magazines, is continually trying to bolster morale and alertness by the border guards. They are told the wall was a necessary defense against a Fascist invasion and that their countrymen who try to cross it are traitors.

But it is obvious that many escapes have been made only because guards have looked the other way, or deliberately aimed wide.

USED TO WALL

The Berliners have become used to the wall, without accepting it. The economic blow of the loss of 60,000 East Germans who used to work in the Western sectors has been overcome.

Most West Berliners are prosperous. The immediate threat of a Communist takeover has receded.

But medical experts say the human misery caused by the wall is a heavy psychological burden on the Berliners. They call it "wall sickness" and say it is partly responsible for the high suicide rate on both sides of the wall.

Executive Succumbs

NEW YORK (AP) — William L. Less II, chairman of the board of the E. W. Bliss Co. of Canton, Ohio, and the Borne Chemical Co., died Wednesday.

ALERT GUARDS — East German Vopos stand atop the Berlin Wall, heavily armed and waiting for possible East German escapees. At least 53 persons have been killed trying to escape the barrier.

Special Crippled Mice Aid Muscular Dystrophy Fight

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP) —

A strain of dystrophic mice produced by artificial insemination offers the newest hope of solving one of man's toughest disease riddles — muscular dystrophy.

This was reported yesterday by scientists at Bar Harbor's Jackson Laboratory for Hereditary Research.

The Jackson scientists said the artificial insemination technique provides a new and sure way of producing plentiful supplies of mice having a form of muscular dystrophy closely resembling the malady in humans.

They told a group of scientists attending a special course in medical genetics that dystrophic mice have been bred at Jackson since 1954, when the malady first showed up as a mutation.

IMPOSSIBILITY

But they said that until recently it was impossible to produce litters in which all the mice would have the ailment because dystrophic mice cannot breed naturally.

The only way of producing offspring having the disease was to take ovaries from female dystrophic mice, transplant them to normal females and let the latter mate with normal males. However, from such matings only half the litter would be crippled mice.

The new technique is to take sperm from dystrophic males and artificially inseminate dystrophic females. This results in all-dystrophic litters of offspring.

OPENED WAY

The researchers said this now has opened the way to testing various drugs as possible means of preventing the disease, at least in mice, because of this fact:

Muscle tissue from mice of these litters can be studied in embryonic and early postnatal stages with full assurance that the muscle tissue is potentially dystrophic.

Thus, drugs can be administered within 24 to 48 hours after birth before any signs of disease have developed and with assurance it will develop if the drug does not prevent it or temper it.

So far, none of the drugs tried, including cortisone and vitamins, has proved preventive.

But the researchers indicated avenues are open to trying various other materials — and to learning new things about the disease process itself.

MILLION MICE

Aside from the dystrophic mice, the scientists related, the Jackson laboratory breeds approximately a million normal and abnormal mice a year for genetics research in more than 25 nations.

Secret Serviceman to Serve 6 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan has halted the conviction of Secret Service Agent Ebrahim Bolden as clearing the integrity of the U.S. Secret Service.

Bolden, the first Negro ever assigned to guard a U.S. president, was convicted and sentenced to six years in prison Wednesday of trying to sell government evidence in a counterfeiting case for $50,000.

He had charged that the government framed him because he planned to tell the Warren commission about laxity and drunkenness among Secret Service agents assigned to guard President Kennedy in 1961.

"The verdict completely rejects the outrageous charges made by the defendant and confirms the public's belief in the absolute integrity of the U.S. Secret Service," Hanrahan told newsmen.

MADE APOLOGY

He said it was to Bolden's credit that he "apologized for the charges he made against the Secret Service and the government in general."

Bolden, 29, made his apology in a tearful plea for mercy after his conviction was announced and before sentencing in U.S. District Court by Judge Joseph Sam Perry.

"If, during the period since my arrest, I made any statement that might have indicated I disrespected the United States government," said Bolden, "I still believe the United States government is the fairest and most important institution in the world today."

He added that such statements were made because "of the pressure I was under at the time."

TEARS IN EYES

Bolden wiped tears from his eyes as he stood before Judge Perry.

"I want you to take into consideration that I do have a wife and three children, and I am their sole support. I am asking for mercy—please have mercy—in the name of God, have mercy," he sobbed.

When Bolden finished, Judge Perry said it was the first sign of penitence he had seen.

"Unfortunately, you took the stand here and, in my judgment, committed perjury. This compounded the crime already committed," the judge said.

GIVES SENTENCE

Judge Perry then sentenced Bolden to 6 years. He could have sentenced him to 25 years in prison and fined him $15,000 plus three times the amount of the $50,000 payment sought, a total of $165,000.

It was the second trial for Bolden, with the first ending in a hung jury.

He was convicted on three counts of attempted sale of Secret Service documents, obstruction of justice and conspiracy.

He was found guilty of trying to sell a government file on May 12 to Joseph Spagnoli, alleged head of a counterfeiting ring.

Counterfeiter Nabbed

$744,000 in Bogus Bills

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Secret Service has $744,000 in crisp new bills—all counterfeit.

The bundled bills were found yesterday in a Hartford warehouse where the Secret Service said Stanley Frederick Withe Jr. had been storing them in two foot lockers.

Withe, arrested on counterfeiting charges Tuesday at his home in Berkeley, Calif., printed almost $1 million in bogus $10 and $20 bills last year while operating a job printing business in Unionville, Conn., the Secret Service said.

He moved to California with his wife and two children earlier this year after his shop went into bankruptcy and its equipment was sold at auction.

At least $12,000 in counterfeit bills were found when Withe was arrested, agents said, and another $500 had been passed in the last two weeks in the San Francisco area.

Special Agent Robert R. Hastings said the counterfeiting job was "not too hot," but the bills were passable.

2 Hanged in England

Despise Foes to Law

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—

Two young men were hanged today for murder as opposition to Britain's capital punishment law increased.

The men were Peter Anthony Allen, 21, and Gwynne Owen Evans, 24, dairymen sentenced to death for the murder of John Alan West, 53, a laundry van driver, during a robbery.

There is a world pearl shortage, according to Japanese spokesmen for the industry. The demand is far exceeding the supply. Japanese imports to the United States alone have increased 300 per cent since 1955.

2 Playoffs Decided in City Loop Action

Two playoffs came to a close and a third moved to the semi-final round in Pontiac softball action last night.

Buckner Finance knocked off Lytell-Colegrove, 13-3, to take the International League's lower-bracket playoff and Bud & Lou captured the lower-bracket title in the National loop with a forfeit decision over Pontiac State Hospital.

Motorcar Transport advanced to the finals of the upper bracket of the International loop with a 10-5 triumph over Local No. 633.

Pontiac Merchants will take on Local 633 tonight at 7 at Northside, with the winner moving into the finals against Motor car tomorrow night at 7.

Buckner collected only eight hits but took advantage of six Lytell-Colegrove errors to end the game via the 10-run rule after five frames.

The winners scored twice in the opening frame and broke the game open with five in the second. Bill Green and Bob Champagne led the attack with two hits apiece.

Motorcar scored five times in the third and added five more in the fourth in handing the union squad its first defeat in the two-game knockout series.

Left fielder Corky Elam tripled home two runs in the third and singled home another in the fourth. Dick Fitzgerald also collected two hits and winning pitcher Gary Achenbach rapped out a pair of singles.

The forfeit victory for Bud & Lou was its second in the playoff series. Pontiac State Hospital had advanced to the finals via a forfeit decision.

Qualifying Set in City Meet

Men's Medal Play to Start Saturday

Area golfers will launch their bid for the Pontiac City Men's championship with an 18-hole qualifying round Saturday at Pontiac Municipal Course.

Course manager L. C. Barner said 30 players have signed up for the qualifying round. "We expect to have more than 100 by Saturday," he said.

The low 30 scorers in the qualifying round will join former city champions for the 36-hole finals Saturday and Sunday, August 22 and 23. The players will play 18 holes each day.

Starting times for the qualifying are available in the 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. period. Barner said golfers desiring to make reservations for starting times could do so by calling the course, PE 5-1702, or by signing up at the club house.

Among the former champions, exempt from qualifying, who are entered in the tourney are defending titlist Lou Mittelfeld of Rochester, six-time winner Mike Andonian and Paul Bada, winner in 1964 and 1967.

Cranbrook Catcher Connects

In several ways Dale Bosley is typical of the Cranbrook entry's season in the city men's Class A baseball League.

The Bloomfield Hills nine has made its presence felt most emphatically in the closing weeks of the season and catcher Bosley was a prime factor in last night's 7-3 victory over the Clippers.

He connected for a grand slam home run with two out in the bottom of the fifth inning that broke a 3-3 tie and gave Cranbrook its seventh win in its last eight starts.

More important, the triumph put his team into the city's final best-of-five championship round against a foe yet undetermined.

Bosley, who has caught every game for Cranbrook this season, equalled his previous hit total and surpassed his season's runs batted in mark with his key blow last night.

key single in a victory over CIO No. 594. Bosley had three rbi's in Cranbrook's 18 games up to last night.

Similarly, the team won only four of its first 12 starts before beginning a late season drive that carried it into the playoffs in the final week of play.

Right-hander John Billeston benefited from Bosley's memorable hit last night. He was touched for three second-inning markers — two on a homer by losing hurler Bob Tuck — but held the Clippers hitless and scoreless in the final four innings.

The losers now will meet Sunday the winner of tonight's Huron-Airway-Pontiac Business Institute 8 o'clock contest at Jaycee Park.

Auburn Squad in State Play

A 3-1 win over the Waterford Township Firefighters yesterday made the Auburn Heights Boys' Club Pontiac's third entry in today's state regional playoffs at Jackson.

The city junior baseball Class D representative had good clutch pitching from Lynn Thorpe and Roger Hayward since it was out, 7-4, by the losers.

Hayward had a home run, triple and accounted for all three runs by the boys' club. He moved from first base to the mound in the last inning to strike out the last batter with the tying run on second base.

Right-fielder Dale Manning had three singles for the Firefighters.

Illinois Favored in Big Ten Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois, with two lettermen fortifying each position and some eager sophomores ready to battle for their jobs, is favored to repeat as Big Ten football champion this season.

Of the 44-man Illinois Rose Bowl-winning squad, 33 return, including co-captain All-American center-linebacker Dick Butkus.

The line looks firm with few losses from tackle to tackle. Four lettermen and three promising sophomores soften the loss of the starting ends.

The attacking backfield can be geared to such performers as Jim Grabowski, Sam Price, Dick Kee, Tony Parola and junior quarterback Fred Custardo.

Coach Pete Elliott lost three-fourths of an outstanding defensive backfield, and rebuilding it appears to be the main problem.

Michigan, Michigan State and Ohio State must be regarded the main challengers of Illinois supremacy. Indiana, Northwestern and Wisconsin are listed as the top spoilers. Iowa, Minnesota and Purdue appear to be strugglers trying to keep up with the pace.

Indiana has won only two conference games since 1961, but could be the big surprise of 1964. The Hoosiers have 28 of their first 33 men returning. They include fullback Tom Nowatzke, the Big Ten rushing leader last season; junior halfbacks Don Dilly and Trent Walters and junior end Bill Malinichak who figures to play with passer Rich Rader to make one of the league's better aerial threats.

If Coach Phil Dickens can tighten his pass defense, the Hoosiers could aim for the first division.

Pete Elliott's brother, Bump, at Michigan, could field a winner. Bob Timberlake is as good as any quarterback in the conference, and with seven lettermen at end, he has plenty of targets.

There will be more speed in the backfield with John Rower, Dorie Reid, and Dick Rindfuss.

Michigan State lost four speedy backs and may be the slowest Spartan team in years.

Quarterback Steve Juday is fit and Dick Proebstle can spell him. Defense, especially in the backfield, again could be MSU's main forte.

Ohio State was jolted when grades kayoed junior halfback Bob Scott and sophomore sensation Bennie Blocker. But Coach Woody Hayes still has Tom Barrington, who played all backfield positions last year, and the makings of a rugged defensive unit.

Northwestern under new coach Alex Agase is switching to a straight T offense, rallying around passing ace Tom Myers. Casimir Banaszek, 6-3 sophomore end, is bound to become Myers No. 1 battery mate.

Wisconsin will have fair over all speed and good ends, especially on offense with Jim Jones. Top running backs are Carl Silvestri, fullback Ralph Kurek and sophomores Tom Jankowski and Kim Wood.

There is supposed to be quarterback trouble, but this has been coach Milt Bruhn's yearly lament.

This season he has lefty Hal Brandt and sophomore Chuck Burt fighting for the No. 1 job.

Purdue's biggest task is replacing running-passing quarterback Ron DiGravio. Fullback also is a looming problem and

Southern Cal Rates High on Pacific 8

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—There will be two new entries in the Athletic Association of Western Universities this season, but a pair of oldtimers are given the best chance at making the Rose Bowl.

The AAWU's Big Six became the Pacific Eight as of July 1 with the admission of Oregon and Oregon State.

The new members are expected to upgrade the level of football in the conference generally, but for 1964 at least, Southern California and Washington rate as favorites.

Stanford is given a dark-horse shot at the title, with UCLA, California and Washington State expected to join the two Oregon teams among the also-rans.

Should Douglas fail, the Huskies would go with either Jim Sampson, a one-year letterman, or Jiri Santoris, a highly touted transfer from Glendale, Calif., Junior College.

TRIO GONE

Southern California lost three of the West Coast's top performers by graduation in quarterback Pete Beathard, end Hal Bedsole and halfback Willie Brown, but still figure to be tough.

Craig Fertig, who saw a lot of action last year, will replace Beathard at quarterback.

Biggest gap for the Trojans to fill will be a linebacker, where all three 1963 starters—including All-America Damon Boone—have been graduated.

Coach John Ralston starts his second year at Stanford with 21 lettermen returning, including such standouts as halfback Dick Ragsdale, and Bob Howard, 261-pound tackle. Bob Nichols and junior quarterback Dick Berg.

Speedy Larry Zeno and passer Steve Sindell will alternate in directing Bill Barnes' UCLA team, which slumped to a 2-8 record last season after years as a coast power.

Bob Berry, who led the nation's college passers last year with 16 touchdown tosses, is back at the helm of Oregon's offense. But the Ducks will sorely miss the multi-talented Mel Renfro.

For Oregon State, the accent will very definitely be on a wide-open attack. Quarterbacks Gordon Queen and Paul Brothers, two proficient passers, complement a solid running game around returning halfbacks Benner Washington and Charley Shaw.

California is basing its conference hopes on the powerful right arm of Craig Morton, rated with the best passers in college football.

New Fishing Law Aids Handicapped

Fishing has always been considered excellent therapy for troubled mankind, and a new state law helps some of Michigan's disabled veterans and its mentally retarded or afflicted individuals.

Under the law, the Conservation Department can issue free fishing permits to disabled veterans who are residents of state or federal veteran facilities.

The veterans can fish as individuals, but leaders of mental patient groups must themselves have valid resident fishing licenses.

Permits are available from conservation officers and area offices of the department.

Michigan State Basketball Set for Afternoons

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State University will switch to Saturday afternoon basketball this winter, Athletic Director Biggie Munn said Wednesday.

Six home Saturday games will start at 2:30 p.m. Munn said, while the remaining four weekday home contests will begin at the usual 8 p.m.

Coach Ferdy Anderson's Spartans, fourth in the Big Ten race this past season, will have a 23-game schedule that includes an appearance at the Los Angeles holiday classic Dec. 28-30.

Other squads entering in the meet are defending NCAA champion UCLA, Southern California, Washington, Arizona, Iowa and Minnesota.

Three Hit Twin Double

HAZEL PARK (AP)—Three men who described themselves as "brothers from Jackson" hit the largest twin double payoff of the season Wednesday night at the Hazel Park Harness Raceway. They won $16,393 by picking the 4-3-7-1 winners of the last four races.

'Lots of Problems'—Daugherty

MSU Invites 79 to Early Drills

EAST LANSING (AP)—Seventy-nine football players—almost half of them sophomores—have been invited to early Michigan State University varsity football drills.

"There are lots of problems and much work to be done," head coach Duffy Daugherty said of the group. "The large number of newcomers pretty well indicates the kind of squad it is."

Drills start Sept. 1. The squad includes 19 juniors and 22 sophomores.

By far the best spot on the team is quarterback—with the deepest material in years, Daugherty said. Ten men will work there—including four lettermen. They are captain Charley Migyanka on defense and Steve Juday, Dick Probstle and Dave McCormick on offense.

EIGHT SOPHS

The greenest spots in Spartan Stadium will be at end—where eight sophomores will try out. Next are the halfback positions, where seven newcomers are listed.

Worst off, the coach said, are fullback and tackle. The only letterman fullback is Lou Bobich—a defensive performer and kicking specialist. And Larry Rush is the lone letter-wearer at tackle, Daugherty said.

By positions, there are 13 ends, 15 tackles, 13 guards, eight

'Hungry' Pros Bid for St. Paul Prize

ST. PAUL (AP)—With most of the top money winners absent, some of the hungry golfers on the touring pro circuit tee off today in quest of the $11,500 first money in the St. Paul Open.

Somewhat more golf-like weather was forecast, with a high in the mid-60s and some sunshine after cold, gloomy weather for the time-up rounds. Rex Baxter Jr., of Amarillo, Tex., fired a 67 for the best round in Wednesday's pro-amateur tournament.

Long Course Looms for Carling Open

The long hitters on the professional golf tour may have an advantage but the sentimental favorite will be Ben Hogan when the $200,000 Carling World Open starts Aug. 27 at Oakland Hills.

Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus were tabbed as the pros to beat by host pro Al Watrous, who discussed the course and the tournament with newsmen yesterday at Oakland Hills.

"The shape the course is in will be an advantage to the long hitters," the 63-year-old Watrous said.

"We've been pouring 500,000 gallons of water a day on the fairways along with a mixture of nitrogen, so the course should be green and play long when the pros arrive."

LOWER PAR

The pros will tour the rolling layout at a length of 6,997 yards and par has been lowered from 72 to 70.

"And if some of the pros hit the ball the way I do," Watrous said with a smile, "they will be playing a par 76."

Watrous said that the pros who are short off the tee will find themselves using woods for their second shots into the rolling, well-trapped greens.

Speaking of Hogan, Watrous said he "may be the all-time great in my book."

He plays a good game from tee to green and he should do it this time... same as he did in 1951."

Watrous was referring to Hogan's dramatic finish in the 1951 National Open when he fired a course record 67 (since equalled by other golfers) on the final round to win the tourney with a 287 score.

It was after that victory that Hogan uttered his classic remark on how Oakland Hills must be played. He told observers that the way to defeat the course, known as one of the most difficult in the world, was not to try to overwhelm it, but to "romance it into submission."

IN TOP SHAPE

"The Monster" will be in top shape when Hogan joins the rest of the 155-man field in a bid for the $35,900 top prize.

"Being soft, the course may be a help to Hogan's legs," Watrous said.

"He may not be the best putter, but he will hold his own. And the fellow who wins there will have to putt steady... have less three-putt greens than the rest of the field.

"They will sink few long putts. You don't charge a putt here. You play 'em close."

The greens will be an equalizer for Hogan and some others who are not among the long hitters, Watrous said.

Luck Needed for Irish Unit

Parseghian in First Year at ND Helm

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ara Parseghian hopes for a winning season in his "freshman year" at Notre Dame, but the new coach of the Fighting Irish could use a bit of Leprechaun's luck to produce a winning season.

"I told the players we were freshmen together," Parseghian said in a pre-season press conference. "Me as a coach and they as players to me, because until our spring practice, they were only names to me. And after 20 days of spring practice, it's difficult to evaluate our talent."

Parseghian said flatly he would platoon as much as the new substitution rule allows. He feared the situation where a quick turnover could catch him with only part of his offensive team on the field in possession of the ball or part of his defensive team in action when the other team has possession.

"I have been an advocate of platoon football," he said. "There's enough of a gimmick in this rule that it could be disastrous."

KC Guard to Miss Tilt

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Starting guard Bud Budde, a former Michigan State player, will miss the Kansas City Chiefs' pre-season American Football League game against the Buffalo Bills Friday. Budde has a boil on the instep of his right foot, coach Hank Stram said Wednesday.

Coach Jo Jo White of the Milwaukee Braves played 877 major league games.

White was with the Giants until the end of the 1958 season when he was found expendable and traded to the Cardinals for pitchers Don Chouteau and Sam Jones. White is the only one still in the majors, a fixture with the Cardinals and currently the hottest hitter in the league.

The 36-year-old left-handed swinger extended his hitting streak to 20 games against the Giants — tying the majors' top mark for the season. During that stretch he has hit at a .432 clip, raising his average from .273 to .310.

White collected a double in the first inning, drove in the Cardinals' first run in a four-run third inning rally with a single, then triggered the winning two-run uprising in the seventh with another single.

While the Phillies and Giants continued their team struggle, Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers added to his laurels by posting his 18th victory with a 4-1, five-hit victory over Cincinnati. In other games, Milwaukee whipped Houston 5-1 and Pittsburgh ended the New York Mets 5-4.

MOVED AHEAD

Trailing 2-1 after Ron Santo's homer had put the Cubs out front, the Phillies moved ahead to stay in the eighth when John Briggs stroked a pinch-hit single, Richie Allen walked and Wes Covington tagged Larry Jackson for a homer.

The Phillies added two runs in the ninth on Bobby Wine's single and they proved decisive when the Cubs scored twice in their half before Jack Baldschun pitched out of the jam. It was the Phillies' fifth straight victory.

Koufax, now 18-5, had a shut-out until the seventh when Deron Johnson homered for the Reds. The Dodgers put it out of reach early against Jim O'Toole, 12-5, scoring twice in the

Some of the top athletes entered in the meet include:

Jim Oliphant, formerly of Western Michigan University, who has high jumped over 6 feet 10 inches; Dennis Lee of WMU, who has broad jumped over 25 feet and Dick Otzman, Grand Rapids Junior College, who has leaped over 23 feet.

Dave Mutchler, former Michigan State University shotputter now coach at Bowling, who has gone over 54½ feet and Larry Gay, Houghton, who has tossed the shot over 50 feet.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — One Michigan player was a winner but another was a loser Wednesday in USCA National Junior Girls Golf Tournament.

Janice Elias of Grand Rapids scored a 2 and 1 victory over Constance Hirschman of York, Pa., in the first round of match play.

Cynthia Hill of South Haven dropped a 1 up decision to Roberta Albers of Temple Terrace, Fla.

Rival NL Pilot Picks Phillies in Flag Race

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bob Kennedy, exercising a baseball manager's inalienable right to change his mind, now thinks that the Philadelphia Phillies are the "team to beat" for the National League pennant.

Kennedy doesn't nurse hopes that his Chicago Cubs are the team to do it. That, he said, is up to the San Francisco Giants, the club picked by Kennedy in the early stages of the campaign.

The Cubs are 5-7 against the Phillies and 4-10 versus the Phils. Kennedy believes he has seen enough of each rival to reassess his original views.

"The Phils are definitely the team to beat now," Kennedy said, relaxing after a late-inning loss to Gene Mauch's scramblers.

"They're all confidence. They are hanging in there all the time, and their pitching is showing up a lot better than the Giants'."

"They've fought off the big challenges from everybody else and they're still leading the league."

Naturally, Kennedy said, the Phillies just don't have it over the Giants "on paper" and "maybe not player for player."

But he added, searching for a word, "They have a certain something about them — maybe it's because they're hungrier for a pennant than the logical picks are right now."

As for Phillies players, Kennedy's vote for most valuable goes to Richie Allen, the rookie third baseman.

Former Teammate Tumbles SF Giants

By The Associated Press
The San Francisco Giants, tripping over former teammate, Bill White, have taken the first big tumble in the National League pennant scramble.

White, the slugging first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, slammed three hits and triggered two rallies in a 6-4 victory over the second-place Giants Wednesday night that opened a big gap between the leading pennant contenders.

The defeat, coupled with Philadelphia's 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs, gave the first-place Phillies a four-game lead — the largest margin either team has enjoyed in the season-long struggle for the top spot.

White was with the Giants until the end of the 1958 season when he was found expendable and traded to the Cardinals for pitchers Don Chouteau and Sam Jones. White is the only one still in the majors, a fixture with the Cardinals and currently the hottest hitter in the league.

Koufax, now 18-5, had a shut-out until the seventh when Deron Johnson homered for the Reds. The Dodgers put it out of reach early against Jim O'Toole, 12-5, scoring twice in the second on a single by Tommy Davis, an error, John Roseboro's single and Johnson's fumble of an attempted pickoff.

Eddie Mathews got the job done for the Braves, drilling a homer, double and two singles in support of Tony Cloninger, who balanced his record at 11-11. Cloninger had a five-hit shut-out until Dave Roberts produced the Houston run with a two-out homer in the ninth.

Dennis Ribant, making his first major league start for the Mets after being acquired in a trade with the Braves, was tagged for a solo homer by Willie Stargell in the fourth and a three-run shot by Jerry Lynch in the fifth and that proved decisive for the Pirates.

Rights Has Potential of Being Gut Issue in 1964

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the final article in a three-part series on the American voter written by United Press International newsmen Harry Ferguson.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—When politicians assemble to devise strategy for a presidential election, the first question is: "What's the gut issue?"

A gut issue is one that lifts the voters out of their lethargy to the polls. It almost always is something that hits directly at the home, the family or the pocketbook.

Tariffs, for instance, are seldom gut issues because the voter cannot relate them directly to the welfare of his family and himself although they may affect his job and income.

Putting fluoride in drinking water, however, is almost always a gut issue in local elections because it involves something that comes into the home and the stomach.

When a presidential candidate can exploit a gut issue, he wins by a landslide.

DID IT IN '32
Franklin D. Roosevelt did it in 1932 when the gut issue was 30 million persons unemployed and millions underfed.

Dwight D. Eisenhower did it in 1952 when the casualty lists from the Korean War involved enough American families to make Ike's pledge "I shall go to Korea" the most powerful force in the campaign.

Civil rights has the potential of being a gut issue this year.

Both Democrats and Republicans are eying it warily because at this stage they cannot say for sure which way the tide of votes is going to run.

CONTINUING VIOLENCE
The general assumption is that Sen. Barry Goldwater's position will be improved if there is continuing violence similar to that in Harlem and Rochester, N.Y.

Supporters of President Johnson, including some Negro leaders, are working desperately to head off more

What makes civil rights such a worrisome thing to the politicians is that they know there is a big "silent vote"—people who have strong convictions but are keeping their mouths shut.

In the South, they can be persons who favor integration on a gradual basis. In the North, they can be people who pay lip service to integration, but vote the other way when it appears a Negro family is about to move into the neighborhood.

UNANSWERED POLLS
No political poll can reflect the opinion of persons who refuse to answer questions.

Both parties over the years have acquired built-in issues.

The Republicans always accuse the Democrats of being the "war party" because Democratlic administrations were in power when the United States entered the Korean War and both world wars.

Democrats accuse the Republicans of being "the party of depressions" because Herbert Hoover was president when the economy collapsed in 1929.

LITTLE INFLUENCE
There isn't much evidence that these contentions are issues that excite the voters, who are inclined to worry about today and tomorrow rather than all our yesterdays.

The fact is that most of the noise about issues is made by professional politicians rather than the electorate.

In 1954, for instance, Samuel Stouffer found that less than 1 per cent of the persons interviewed were worried about the activities of the American Communist party although that was a year in which Sen. Joe McCarthy was in hot pursuit of persons in government whom he considered subversive.

Issues are formally set forth in party platforms, but frequently the most crucial ones pop up in the middle of a campaign.

AIDED CAUSE
Theodore H. White writes in "The Making of the President" that an instant decision by John F. Kennedy about the arrest of the Rev. Martin Luther King went far toward winning the 1960 election.

King was arrested in Atlanta for refusing to leave a table in a restaurant, was sentenced to four months of hard labor and taken to the state penitentiary.

Harris Wofford, a Kennedy aide, saw this as an opportunity to win Negro votes and suggested that the candidate telephone Mrs. King in Georgia.

Not only did Kennedy telephone her, but Bobby Kennedy got in touch with the judge in Georgia and persuaded him to release King on bail pending appeal.

SWITCHED TO JFK.
King's father, a Baptist minister, already had announced his support of Richard Nixon, but he switched to Kennedy because "This man has wiped the tears from my daughter-in-law's eyes."

A million pamphlets were printed in various parts of the country by the Kennedy forces and on the Sunday before election were distributed outside Negro churches.

White believes Kennedy carried Illinois, Michigan and South Carolina largely as a result of his intervention in the King case.

Every presidential election brings on a whispering campaign in which derogatory and scurrilous rumors are launched by each side about the opposing candidate and his family.

OUT IN OPEN
There was a time when such things were brought out into the open, and one of them was when Grover Cleveland assumed responsibility for an illegitimate child.

The Republicans moved in fast with this song: "Ma, ma, where's my pa? Gone to the White House. Ha, ha, ha."

Boy Kills Brother in Rifle Accident

CHARLEVOIX (AP)—A 12-year-old boy shot and killed his 9-year-old brother Wednesday as the two played with a hunting rifle at their home near East Jordan.

Charlevoix County Prosecutor James D. Stackus said the shooting of Charles Walden by his brother Timothy was an accident. The boys' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walden.

Sheriff's deputies said Charles died almost instantly after he was showing the gun to his brother when it went off.

HERE, NEW IDEAS ARE BORN ANYTIME

Take that light in the window. How often will you find a pride of bankers working late, working out a new idea about how to make loans to people, for example? □ Look at it this way. Like other banks, The Commonwealth takes deposits and makes loans and does all the things you'd expect from a bank. □ So the best way for us to become more successful than other banks is to develop some very good ideas about doing all those banking jobs in a little better way. □ There's been a light in the window quite often lately.

New Part Big Switch for Actor

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Three years ago Max Von Sydow had been signed to portray Jesus in "The Greatest Story Ever Told" and was reminded of H. B. Warner, whose career was almost halted after playing the same role in "King of Kings."

THOMAS "Then," the Swedish actor told me in Stockholm, "I should insist on playing a gunfighter in a Western immediately afterward."

Having completed his year's work in "The Greatest Story Ever Told," Von Sydow is back in Hollywood appearing in a Western.

"Not really a Western," he remarked. "It's more of a modern story against a Western background. And I don't carry a gun, although I do get shot at."

FRENCHMAN DIRECTS

Von Sydow is appearing with Yvette Mimieux, Efram Zimbalist Jr. and Gilbert Roland in "The Reward," the first American film directed by Frenchman Serge Bourguignon ("Sundays and Cybele."

With his penchant for realism, the director insisted on shooting in Death Valley in midsummer, when the place lives up to its name.

But Von Sydow had nary a complaint.

"The temperature got up to 126 in the shade—in the 140s in the sun," he reported, "but it didn't bother me a bit. I couldn't get enough of the heat."

"How many cold winters, how many foggy winters, how many sunless winters have I known in Sweden! I felt it my duty to my countrymen to get as much sun as I could. And, after all, we were not '40ers but '60ers. We had air conditioning and other things the pioneers did not enjoy."

shine as I could. And, after all, we were not '40ers but '60ers. We had air conditioning and other things the pioneers did not enjoy."

THREE GREATS

The actor now has worked for three great directors—the American George Stevens, the Frenchman Bourguignon, and Swedish Ingmar Bergman, with whom he first achieved fame. He was asked to compare them.

"All three are perfectionists," said Von Sydow. "Bourguignon is a many-take man; he will continue shooting a scene until he is satisfied. Stevens is a many-angle man—he shoots fewer takes but from every angle, so you do the scene as many times."

"Bergman is equally painstaking, but he cannot afford to use as much film. It would be interesting to see how he would operate in a different situation."

CHANGE OF ROLE—Max Von Sydow, Swedish actor who portrayed Jesus in "The Greatest Story Ever Told," is back in Hollywood working on a Western, "The Reward," with actress Yvette Mimieux providing the love interest. Part of the picture was filmed in Death Valley this summer, with temperatures rising to 126 in the shade.

Calls U.S. 'Dumping Ground'

Dodd Cites Flood of Surplus Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., charged today that a "roaring stream" of surplus small arms from Communist nations was flooding the United States.

Dodd said the United States was the dumping ground for "75 per cent of the world's surplus military weapons."

He disclosed that a plan to import all of Russia's surplus of small arms, now stockpiled in Bulgaria, was quickly blocked by the State Department about a year ago.

Dodd's accusations were made in conjunction with the release of an interim report on three years of investigation by the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee into mail order purchases of firearms.

"Untold millions of mail order arms, virtually all of them surplus, are being peddled to all comers at a time of great national tension," Dodd said.

RELIABLE ESTIMATES

Dodd said reliable estimates placed the import of small surplus weapons as between 5 million and 7 million pieces.

He warned that extremists on all sides have urged their followers to arm themselves; para-military groups have stockpiled weapons, and black nationalist Malcolm X has warned that his people "are prepared for a small civil war."

Dodd bitterly denounced opponents of a bill providing some control over the purchase of weapons.

He blamed a "small but loud and well organized hard-core minority," and said there were "almost hysterical attempts" to kill the bill.

DEAD FOR NOW

The Senate Commerce Committee failed to act on the bill, Dodd said it was dead for this session.

The Connecticut senator said he planned to ask Congress at the start of the next session for a full investigation of the firearms problem and promised to "identify and expose the activities of the powerful lobbyists who have successfully stopped gun legislation from being passed in every Congress."

Dodd said he wanted to find out why the United States was the dumping ground for the surplus weapons of the world, and why extremist groups are able

Huskies Bound for South Pole

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)

Twenty huskies from Greenland, stranded in Copenhagen when a Swiss Antarctic expedition that expected to take them to the South Pole went bankrupt last August, may yet get to their destination.

After months of haggling over their food bill of thousands of francs at the Copenhagen zoo, and with the Danish government threatening to have them destroyed unless the sum was paid, the animals were handed on to a Norwegian Antarctic expedition.

Swiss and Danish Animal Societies contributed to their food bill; but individual dog lovers who offered them homes had to be discouraged because a spokesman said, "Huskies are almost wild animals and can be handled only by experts. Furthermore, the sort of climate they are used to can only be found on the heights of the Jungfrau-joch."

'Flying Dog' Strikes, Nips at Housewife

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — "You never know which way your accident is coming from," sighed Mrs. Delores Forward, as the doctor took stitches in her legs.

Mrs. Forward was walking along the sidewalk when she was hit by a "flying" dog, after a car hit the dog and threw it 40 feet through the air.

The impact knocked her down, but what was worse the dog took some nips and then ran off.

Goat Treated to $85 Dinner

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)

Mrs. Edward Maloney treated one of the friendly goats at Lollipop Farm to an $85 dinner—indiscreetly.

She and her husband had stopped at the Farm with their children, Gail, 3, and Tommy, 1. A straw purse over her arm held money in an unsealed bank-deposit envelope.

Another couple, seeing the goat munching the hills, pulled some from the animal's mouth, but not until he had eaten $85 worth of them.

Once Faced Bleak, Brief Future

Boy Survives Delicate Heart Surgery

CHICAGO (AP) — "I'm okay" smiling, little Radovan Mijatov told his nurses today.

And everything finally seems okay for the 7-year-old Yugoslavian boy who once faced what appeared to be a bleak and pitifully brief future.

Several months ago the boy was unable to walk, play or go to school. His days seemed numbered. He was the victim of a "blue baby" congenital heart condition which prevented sufficient blood from reaching his lungs.

But Radovan's father, Dimitrije, 41, had heard of Dr. Willis Potts, a pioneer "blue baby" heart surgeon at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. So Dimitrije sold his paprika crop and livestock to finance a 36-day freighter voyage across the Atlantic.

surgeons or the hospital or finance their passage back home.

"Dr. Potts" — as Dimitrije pronounces the surgeon's name — performed successful delicate heart surgery on Radovan July 9 and then informed him the entire surgical team was donating in.

Dimitrije, who left his wife and 4-year-old daughter in Yugoslavia, moved in with his brother who operates a small grocery store on Chicago's North Side. He visits his son at the hospital each day.

The boy suffered a setback earlier this month and surgeons performed a second operation to halt fluid that was draining into his chest.

FEELS OKAY

But now, Radovan, who has learned a few English words during his nearly 30 weeks in the hospital, feels okay and sur-

"I guess that Friday the 13th falls on Thursday for me also," groaned West. "No matter how well I play, my partner is always around to ruin things for me."

West had opened the king of spades and continued with the nine. East ruffed and returned the seven of diamonds.

South played the deuce and West ruffed, but that closed matters for the defense. South drew two rounds of trumps, ruffed out his own losing club and took the proven diamond finesse.

"What did I do wrong?" mumbled East. "You wanted me to ruff that spade and return a diamond didn't you?"

"I sure did," said West. "But couldn't you have led the right diamond, not just any diamond?"

Strapless Gets Very Technical

The book contains a series of humorous essays on some uncommon engineering problems, and, complete with diagrams, tells its stories in strict engineering terms.

The author, Charles Slem, sums up this "stress analysis" by saying: "As effective as the strapless evening gown is in attracting attention, it presents tremendous engineering problems to the structural engineer." In other words, the "stress" provides strain.

Identical Twins Have Identical Problems

LANSING, Michigan (AP) — Bonnie and Connie Shaw, identical twins, seem to present identical problems to their dentist. Last year the girls had abscessed teeth removed, the same tooth in each case.

When Mrs. Richard Shaw took her children back to the dentist each had one cavity, again in the same tooth.

PLACES AND PEOPLE

Burton Wins Earl's Award for Top NY Performance

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Richard Burton, Liz Taylor, four children, four pedigreed dogs, and a cat, are due in Hollywood for a few days stay en route to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico for a rest . . . and think Burton and Liz should be commended for their charities, press cooperation and exemplary conduct during their New York stay. (I know I'll get some angry letters for this.)

Burton is no longer a headline-maker but a headline.

"The Night of the Iguana" is breaking movie records as "Hamlet" set stage records.

He was lionized at three parties marking the close of "Hamlet"—at the Volcan, at Roma Di Notte, at Dawson's Pub . . . and then came: Dinner at Adlai Stevenson's.

Just before that, young Michael Wilding, 11, having been secretly coached by Liz and Philip Burton, surprised Burton by doing a reading from "Twelfth Night."

I didn't mean to omit Liz's contribution to the New York stay. The night of the poetry-reading when she interrupted herself to say "I screwed that up!" will live in the memory of people who like their poetry-readers to sound human.

Frank Sinatra outwitted the Rome paparazzi arriving there to do "Von Ryan's Express." He chartered a jet from Geneva to Rome then helicoptered to the Villa, Sinatra ducking the hordes of photographers . . . Ed Sullivan gave to Mayo's for a checkup . . . "It was a big mistake!" are still Ethel Merman's only words to close friends about the splitup with Ernie Borgnine.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Broadway miracle: Christopher Spooner, young son of Patrick Spooner, British Chamber of Commerce official, was near "Oliver!" at intermission time when an "Oliver!" manager asked if he was English ("British!" he replied), and if he sang. Shortly thereafter he was auditioned and signed as the newest "Oliver."

EARL'S PEARLS: "Extremism," says Joe E. Lewis, should be practiced in moderation. (The Mail Syndicate, Inc.)

Romney, Barry Seen Closing Gap

Governor Still Stops Short of Endorsement

Calls Summit Helpful;
Cites Clarifications of Goldwater Positions

IONIA (AP) — Gov. Romney and Sen. Barry Goldwater have apparently moved closer to agreement on fundamental issues, but Romney still is not flatly endorsing Goldwater for president.

"I'm not going to vote for anybody else," Romney said last night when the Associated Press asked if he'd cast his presidential ballot for Goldwater.

But otherwise he would not go beyond the 118-word statement he issued yesterday upon his return from the Republican summit meeting at Hershey, Pa.

"Our Republican party has made its decisions for the current campaign," said Romney's statement.

"It has adopted its platform. It has nominated its candidates. Sen. Goldwater and Rep. Miller are our Republican candidates. I accept these decisions.

HELPFUL TO ROMNEY
"The conference at Hershey was helpful.

"Sen. Goldwater did much to clarify his public positions of foreign affairs, extremism and civil rights. He welcomed diversity of Republican viewpoint. He emphasized his intentions that his campaign will avoid racism and extremism support."

But Romney's statement stopped short of an endorsement.

And while it said Goldwater "did much" to clarify his views, it did not say if he did enough to satisfy Romney.

NOT SATISFIED
Since before the GOP national convention Romney has said he was not satisfied with some Goldwater positions.

"You see what I've said and see what he says and then compare them," Romney said yesterday when asked if he were satisfied with Goldwater's positions as a result of the Hershey meeting.

In a speech at the summit meeting, Goldwater said he would uphold the Civil Rights Act if he were president and said he seeks no extremist support, two key points as far as Romney is concerned.

Romney wrote his statement as he flew in a private plane from Hershey to Lansing.

EARLIER VIEWS
It concluded with a reiteration of his earlier statements that state and local party machinery would cooperate with Goldwater forces and that Michigan Republicans would campaign on the state administration's record.

With water, it forms sodium hydroxide and hydrogen gas, Anderson said. This produces a large amount of heat, which can ignite the gas.

Summit Builds GOP Unity, but Cracks Are Still Evident

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Many Republican leaders saw today in Sen. Barry Goldwater's unity manifesto a stride toward party solidarity — but some cracks still showed on the foundation of Goldwater's presidential nominee is out to build.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower sounded the unity keynote with a warm endorsement of Goldwater and vice presidential nominee William E. Miller, and a promise to do all he can to help elect them.

"Any uncertainties I may have felt as to the fitness, adequacy and quality of the political program they will offer to the United States in the 1964 campaign have been resolved," the former president said.

Goldwater acknowledged Eisenhower was among the architects of the detailed position paper he delivered yesterday to a four-hour closed-door meeting of three dozen GOP governors and other party chieftains from 28 states.

The nominee and the former president talked for two hours a week ago at Eisenhower's farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

KEY PASSAGE
In a key passage of the unity declaration, Goldwater told the Republican leaders: "I seek the support of no extremist — of the left or the right."

Eisenhower, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other party leaders joined in praising that statement.

"He has repudiated character assassinations, vigilantes, Communists and any group such as the Ku Klux Klan that would attempt to control localities through threat, or other lawless means," the former president said.

Rockefeller said that repudiation, along with other Goldwater pledges, should help the ticket.

ADDS BIRCHERS
But the New York governor said he would have added the John Birch Society to the disavowal list.

Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Buick occupied the third, fourth and fifth spots in total registrations, with Plymouth No. 6 for the first half of the year.

Volkswagen was the No. 1 import with 147,745, a gain of 21 per cent. In second place was MG, with 11,567 registrations in the first six months.

Chevrolet continued to hold its own as No. 1

Goldwater told a news conference he has vigorously opposed "damaging, ridiculous and very stupid statements" by Robert Welch, the society's founder. But he said the society itself is on no subversive list.

Rockefeller said the Goldwater declaration should be "reassuring to Republicans from one end of the country to the other."

"I said I would support the national ticket," said Rockefeller. Barry Goldwater is the presidential candidate and Bill Miller is the vice presidential candidate.

NOT ERASED
But the New York governor indicated all his reservations have not been erased.

He reminded newsmen that he spent five months as a candidate for the nomination, campaigning against Goldwater and discussing the senator's views.

"I refer you to the record," he said.

"I believe in party unity but not at the expense of fundamental principles," the governor said.

Poking Contest Held by Foes

Romney, Staebler in Backstage Encounter

IONIA (AP) — The first "debate" between the two leading candidates for governor erupted backstage last night at the Ionia Free Fair — traditional starting place for Michigan election campaigns.

In an accidental encounter that lasted no more than four minutes, Gov. Romney and his Democratic foe, Neil Staebler, argued economics heatedly — but to no decision.

The governor applied the finger-poking technique which has become a Romney campaign trademark, but Staebler stood his ground.

"You will notice I was poking him right back," the Democratic candidate said to newsmen afterward.

A handful of reporters and campaign aides were the only witnesses to the exchange, which occurred after Staebler wound up a brief speech to several hundred persons.

WAITS IN WINGS
Romney, waiting in the wings to be introduced, shook hands with Staebler when the congressman walked off the outdoor stage, then issued the challenge.

Romney claimed that Staebler had erred in telling the audience that Michigan's economic recovery in recent years was the "result of policies of the Kennedy and Johnson administration."

"The facts are that Michigan's economic condition is not a result of what they've done down in Washington," declared the governor, poking Staebler's chest with a forefinger.

"The President was a right when he said in a Detroit appearance in late June that the nation's economy depends on Michigan."

"THAT'S NUTS!"
"You want to say it all comes from Washington—that's nuts!"

Replied Staebler: "The nation's prosperity is the major factor in Michigan."

"Eighty-five per cent of the cars made here are sold elsewhere, so it depends on national prosperity for Michigan to have jobs."

"These things are all interrelated. The nation's economy does not start in Michigan."

Staebler said afterward he thought President Johnson had given "the standard compliment he gives to any of the 50 states."

Precarious Balance

Cyprus Peace Chances Slim

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Chances for peace on Cyprus were so precariously balanced today that U.N. officials feared an insult shouted across no-man's land could shatter the truce.

And in Nicosia, emboldened Turkish Cypriots have been screaming insults across the sandbagged "green line" that divides them from the Greek Cypriot sector.

The Turkish Cypriot minority appears convinced the threat of renewed Turkish air strikes restrains Greek Cypriots from any ground attack.

Turkey called off its reconnaissance flights over the island

Wednesday in response to a U.N. appeal, but warned it would not hesitate to strike if the cease-fire collapses.

In the northwest corner of the island Turk Cypriots named the tiny pocket of Kokkina, into which they were driven by Greek Cypriots before the week-end cease fire.

RING OF STEEL

Despite the aerial threat, the Nicosia government is maintaining a ring of steel around Kokkina. U.N. volunteers fear renewed clashes.

Greek Cypriots vented their rage and frustration Wednesday by turning angrily on the United States and Britain, whom they accuse of siding with Turkey in the dispute.

Parliament President Glafos Clerides drew shouts of approval when he cried that the time for talk was past. Only outright self-determination, under United Nations shelter, would satisfy the island's 400,000 Greek Cypriots, he said.

UNBELIEVABLE
Blasting the Turkish air attacks, Clerides said "nobody can believe the responsibility rests solely with Turkey."

"Nobody can believe that Turkey would dare launch such attacks, with NATO planes, without the consent of these two countries—the United States and Great Britain."

Shortly before Clerides spoke about 100 demonstrators had marched past the British Information Office to the U.S. Embassy, where the gates were closed and the shutters drawn.

An offshoot of the anti-American can campaign was the refusal of the Greek Cypriots to accept from the United States 2,000 pints of blood plasma flown here at the request of Archbishop Makarios, the Greek Cypriot president.

Some Nicosia papers charged that the plasma was so old its use could be fatal.

Warn Thieves: Loot Perilous

A warning was issued today to the persons who stole a container of the element sodium from an Avon Township school. The chemical can be extremely dangerous if handled improperly, warned the sheriff's department.

Detective Alphonse Anderson said the soft, silvery white substance would react violently, causing an explosion, if placed in water.

The container of sodium was reported stolen yesterday from West Junior High School, 500 Perch. It was taken from the science supply room.

Anderson said about a pound of the chemical was in the container, filled with kerosene. The sodium was used in laboratory experiments.

With water, it forms sodium hydroxide and hydrogen gas, Anderson said. This produces a large amount of heat, which can ignite the gas.

Sales Up GM Registrations

A 22.1 per cent increase in the sale of Pontiacs helped give General Motors a total of 2,173,179 registrations and 52.39 per cent of the total market in the first six months of 1964, the R. L. Polk Co., statisticians for the industry, reported today.

Pontiac's gain over the first half of 1962 helped GM show a net gain of .10 per cent in the first six months of 1963.

Chrysler got 12.99 per cent of the registrations for a gain of 1.6 per cent, while Ford slipped .17 points in total sales to 21.88 per cent.

In the domestic market with 1,165,195, an increase of 3.5 per cent.

Ford was second in the first half of the year with 831,323 registrations, an increase of 7.5 per cent, according to Polk.

OTHER PLACERS
Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Buick occupied the third, fourth and fifth spots in total registrations, with Plymouth No. 6 for the first half of the year.

Volkswagen was the No. 1 import with 147,745, a gain of 21 per cent. In second place was MG, with 11,567 registrations in the first six months.

Horror Stories About Youths Not Typical

Teen-Agers Have Old Fashioned Virtues

Gilbert Youth Research Inc. The more often I make these surveys on what young people think, the more often am I struck by the persistence of old fashioned virtues in today's teen-age generation.

More than ever I am convinced that the horror stories which keep cropping up about youthful misbehavior are typical not of any broad segment of young people but of special groups whose outlook has been warped in one way or another.

Our latest survey is a case in point. It deals with the simple subject of friendships.

CYNICAL, SHALLOW

Reading some articles and fictional works about high school age youngsters, you'd think they have become cynical, shallow and self-centered in their personal relationships.

If that is a fact, it certainly has escaped my interviewers.

Eighty-four per cent of the youths we talked to say they make friends easily, 38 per cent assert they have more than six good friends of the same sex, and 25 per cent say they have six or more of the opposite sex.

Much more significant are the qualities they look for in friends.

Whether the friend-seekers are boys or girls, what they have in mind primarily are such qualities as a warm personality, trustworthiness and a sense of humor.

The matter of good looks is hardly mentioned by youngsters in connection with friends of their own sex, and is a distinct also-ran with those considering friends of the opposite sex.

Another little regarded factor is over-all popularity. But cheerfulness, good grooming, intelligence and good manners all are highly regarded.

School is where most of the teen-agers find their friends. Parties, home neighborhoods and clubs are other important sources.

QUALITY OF FRIENDSHIP

"To have a truly warm personality, one must have all the other virtues." Rodger F. Payne, 16, Detroit.

"You need a sense of humor to succeed in this world, and people who have it are fun to hang around with." Charles Clark, 16, Phoenix.

"Friends should be intelligent enough to know what the other one is talking about." Danny Jennings, 16, Orange, Tex.

"I like to have fun and I can't if the other girl is frowning all the time." Joyce Levy, 16, Atlanta, Ga.

IMPORTANT

"Cleanliness and neatness are most important because they show the inner self and good physical hygiene." Brenda Sue Lynch, 20, Terra Haute Ind.

"I like good manners in a boy because it makes me feel we are adults." Sharon Headly, 15, Beaver Falls, Pa.

"I cannot date a boy more than twice if he isn't intelligent because we have nothing to talk about." Carole Katz, 15, Bayside, N.Y.

gent because we have nothing to talk about." Carole Katz, 15, Bayside, N.Y.

More Girls Than Fellows

DELAND, Fla. (U) — Girls are more interested in agricultural careers than boys in Volusia County.

County Agent Ralph Townsend advised the County Commission that there were two girl applicants and no boy applicants for the two scholarships offered annually by the commission to agricultural students at state schools.

The scholarships amount to $600 each.
