

U.S. Confirms 'No Trial' Report

Bills to End Air Strike Are Shaped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., overhauled his proposal for ending the 18-day airline strike today and said the Senate should pass it as soon as possible.

Republicans were at work on a strike-stopping bill of their own, raising the possibility that a dispute over the proper course to take might delay the first phase of congressional action.

Morse, who first proposed a bill that would have the government run the airlines while the contract dispute is settled, scrapped that for another which would pave the way for a back-to-work order and set up a mediation panel to seek a permanent settlement.

At the Labor Department, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said negotiations were stalemated and that there was virtually no chance of agreement as long as emergency legislation was being seriously discussed in Congress.

"Everybody is going to wait to see what kind of a shoe is dropped up there," Reynolds said after another fruitless round of talks with the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and negotiators for United, Eastern, National, Northwest and Trans World airlines.

Morse said he will seek action today in the Senate Education and Labor Committee when it meets in executive session.

Green Berets' Training Chief on Lost Plane

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr., commander of the Army's Special Warfare Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C. was aboard the twin-engine DC3 aircraft missing in flight between San Francisco and Honolulu, his mother said today.

His mother, widow of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell of Pacific war fame, confirmed at her Carmel home that he was on the plane.

At the Presidio of San Francisco, it was learned Stilwell had been invited by a long-time personal friend, Hal Grimes, to make the flight. Grimes was piloting the missing plane.

A massive search for the plane is under way about 500 miles west of San Francisco.

Mrs. Stilwell said her son went on the flight as copilot. He has a pilot's license and was working to obtain his instrument rating.

ROBERT C. STELTER

Positions Are Filled in Sales Management

The promotion of Robert C. Stelter to the position of general sales manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division was announced today by Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager.

He succeeds Richard C. Woodhouse, who is retiring under provisions of the General Motors retirement program after serving the division for more than 35 years.

Werner also announced the promotion of Edward F. Lewis, former coach sales manager, and Thomas L. Harris, former central regional sales manager, to two newly created positions.

Lewis is promoted to retail sales manager for coaches and trucks. In addition to directing coach sales activities he now will also be responsible for the division's retail and fleet truck sales functions.

Harris is promoted to the new post of executive assistant to the general sales manager. He will report to Stelter and direct activities of the truck distribution, organization and analysis, office management and business management departments.

SALES DIRECTOR
Stelter, former truck sales manager, will direct truck and coach sales operations as general sales manager.

A graduate of General Motors Institute at Flint, he joined GMC Truck & Coach Division's truck sales organization in 1945. He worked up from clerk to district manager and then left the organization briefly to manage a GMC Truck dealership in Des Moines.

After returning to the division, he held successive positions of

Reds Maul Marines, Execute 6 Captives

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops ambushed a Marine company and executed at least six wounded Leatherneck captives, American survivors said today.

"It was darn near a massacre," said Cpl. Raymond L. Powell, 22, Kansas City, Mo., after remnants of India Company — part of the Marine task force engaged in Operation Hastings near the North Vietnamese border — fought their way out of the jungle trap late today.

The battered company literally stacked its dead in a jungle clearing littered with blood-soaked bandages and the discarded boots of the dead and wounded.

Another survivor, a radio operator with his stomach laid open by mortar fire, said the North Vietnamese ambushers walked along a trail of captured, wounded Marines and shot in the head any Leatherneck they suspected of being alive.

An estimated company of North Vietnamese troops ambushed India Company of the 5th Marine Regiment yesterday on a jungled hillside a short distance from the demilitarized zone separating the two Viet Nams.

First they pinned the Americans down with automatic fire and then drove them back, forcing the Marines to leave their wounded.

Twelve hours later when the Marines fought their way back to the wounded they discovered the massacre.

Powell told UPI correspondent Robert Kaylor, who joined the company in the last hours of its ordeal, that India Company's second platoon came running to the rescue.

"Then they got hit, too," Powell said. "That's when mortars started coming in on us."

The fighting was some of the fiercest so far in the 11-day-old Operation Hastings in which 600 Communists are known dead and another 658 are listed as "probable" kills.

White House Corroborates Ho Statement

Hanoi Leader Replies to Network on Plans for American Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today it had word Saturday that the North Vietnamese government did not intend to bring captured American airmen to trial in the near future.

In a cable to the Columbia Broadcasting System yesterday, North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh said there is "No trial in view" for the captured airmen.

On Thursday, CBS had sent a message to the North Vietnamese leader asking whether he had decided to place the airmen on trial. The four-word cable was Ho's reply.

A White House spokesman said today the Ho Chi Minh message "confirms information we had" Saturday about (North Vietnamese) intentions.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said word reached President Johnson through diplomatic sources, while the President was touring the Midwest yesterday, "which is consistent with what the Columbia Broadcasting System" was told yesterday.

"We aren't exactly sure what this means," Moyers told reporters. "We are watching it very closely and beyond that I cannot go."

"This statement of uncertainty was in answer to a question whether the White House now is satisfied there will be no trials at any time.

Moyers declined to identify the diplomatic sources through which the White House received its information.

The State Department withheld comment on the cable.

The Hanoi government had indicated earlier that the captured pilots would be tried as war criminals.

The Pentagon says about 45 Americans are captives in North Viet Nam and contends they should be treated as prisoners of war.

Pontiac Div. Announces Record Sales

General Sales Manager
Thomas L. King said sales totaled 25,051 units for the July 11-20 period.

The previous record for the period was set in 1965 when 19,999 new cars were sold, 25 per cent less than the recent pace.

The gains at Pontiac Motor Division were instrumental in the over-all increase in car sales for General Motors Corp. the second 10 days of July.

GM, which supplies more than 50 per cent of the market, said Saturday its sales totaled 121,188 passenger cars during the period, compared with 114,036 the same 10 days last year.

AMC DECLINES
Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. also reported increased car sales for the period, while American Motors Corp. said its sales declined.

Ford, Chrysler and AMC reported their figures Friday. GM noted there were nine selling days in the 1966 period compared with only eight last year.

Golfer Lema Dies in Plane Crash

LANSING, Ill. (AP) — Tony Lema, the delightful Champagne Kid whose quick wit and flashing smile had charmed the golfing millions of two continents, died as he had lived—on the golf course.

Lema, 32, his wife, Betty, and two others were killed last night when their light plane plunged into the manicured turf of a golf course straddling the Indiana-Illinois border, a course where Lema was to have played a one-day tournament today.

The other victims were Mrs. Doris Mullen of Joliet, Ill., the pilot, and Dr. George Bard of Kankakee, Ill., the copilot.

The plane was en route to Joliet from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had played in the Professional Golfers Association Championship yesterday. It crashed and burst into flames on the Lansing Sportsman's Club course.

A witness, Louks Campagna, said the low-flying plane swerved to avoid a group of people standing near the club house, the engines died, then started and died again, and the plane plunged to the ground, digging up a furrow near the seventh green before bursting into flames.

A HERO
"The pilot was a hero," he said. "The plane swerved to the left—if it didn't a lot of people would have been hurt."

Lema was born in Oakland Calif., and grew up and played on the municipal courses in and around the San Francisco area in 1962.

He spent 13 months as an assistant pro in the San Francisco area after leaving service, took a job as head pro in Elko, Nev., then joined the professional tour in 1967.

OU's Senior Coeds Will Try Key Plan

Late-hour privileges will become a key issue to senior coeds living on the Oakland University campus this fall. Under an experimental program, senior coeds and those 21 years of age and over will be given keys for admittance to dormitories after closing hours.

Female students normally are required to be in their residence halls by midnight during the week. They can stay out until 2 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Beginning this fall, all those who have celebrated their 21st birthdays and are in good standing with the university can apply for key privileges. Senior women under 21 must have permission from their parents to obtain a key.

Girls who check out a key can return to their residence halls anytime between midnight and 8 the next morning.

KEEP STANDARDS

They still will be expected to maintain the standards and live within the regulations of the university, according to Dean of Women Patricia Houz.

The coeds themselves will decide when they want to stay out later than closing hours and they will be required to indicate where they can be reached, she said.

As an example, Miss Houz said the keys would be handy for coeds attending programs in Detroit—"so they won't have to break their necks getting back."

The experiment, which came out of a request made by coeds last year, follows a study made of similar programs at other colleges throughout the nation.

The university last year began allowing all students over 21 to live off-campus housing if they so desired.

OWN HOURS

Miss Houz noted that the coed living in an apartment keeps her own hours and is not restricted by the university. "By the time a girl is a senior, she is mature enough to use judgment," Miss Houz said.

Falling Bricks Hurt City Boys

Two small Pontiac boys were injured late this morning when they were buried beneath face brick which toppled off the front of their terrace apartment home.

Ronald D. Christie, 5, and his 4-year-old brother, Ralph R. were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The extent of their injuries was not immediately determined.

The boys' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Christie, 266 S. East Blvd.

The 11-40 a.m. accident occurred as the children were playing in front of their home, one of the units in the East Boulevard Terraces which extend from Whittemore nearly to Osmon on the west side of the street.

Pontiac firemen said there reportedly was no explosion before the bricks fell off the building, according to a neighbor.

The new Department of Housing and Urban Development will be initially responsible for 30 government programs.

Fire Killer Permitted to Ask New Trial

Convicted more than a year ago of deliberately setting a fire that killed his wife and six children, Harry M. Belcher of Ferndale this morning was granted permission to seek a new trial.

Belcher, 34, was found guilty of first degree murder by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in April, 1965.

He was only charged with the death of his wife, Catherine.

The family perished in their Ferndale home Jan. 25, 1965.

The children ranged in age from 2 to 9. Belcher was charged 10 days later, following an investigation of the blaze.

He denied throughout the investigation and trial that he started the fire.

Belcher's attorney Jerome K. Barry of Pontiac, in asking for the new trial, claims that 13 legal errors were committed during the trial.

Barry was appointed by the court to appeal the case. John McIntosh of Ferndale died while preparing for another trial.

Bill Would End U.S. Executions

Hart Asks Abolition in All Federal Crimes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart introduces today a bill to abolish the death penalty for federal crimes and substitute life imprisonment.

"The death penalty is a symbol of a dying order of vengeance and death," the Michigan Democrat said, adding that there is no evidence that capital punishment deters crime.

The bill would not affect capital punishment under state laws. But Hart said 13 states already have abolished the death penalty and he hoped his bill would encourage other states to do so.

He also said 72 nations have eliminated executions either by law or custom, with Great Britain "the most recent and impressive example."

"INEFFECTIVE" "The death penalty is ineffective in deterring crime," Hart said in a prepared Senate speech. "It discriminates against the poor and friendless. And the mistakes, few but inevitable, which are made in its application are irretrievable."

Federal law carries the death penalty for such crimes as kidnapping, espionage, treason, aircraft piracy, train robbery and assassination. Military personnel can be executed for aiding the enemy, cowardice, desertion, sedition and spying.

In addition, the District of Columbia, run by federal law, has capital punishment for rape and murder.

Hart, in urging abolishment of the death penalty in these cases, cited a mass of statistics that he said had convinced him capital punishment is ineffective in deterring crime.

Listed as joining him in sponsoring the bill were Sen. Kenneth E. Burke, D-N.D.; Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.; Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.; Maurice B. Neuberger, D-Ore.; William Proxmire, D-Wis.; and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

Rating Unfair, Says Court Race Hopeful

A Probate Court candidate who scored second in the ratings of the Oakland Citizens League has filed a protest with the organization because the brother-in-law of the preferred candidate is a member of the rating committee.

Protesting the committee's "sense of propriety and judgment" is Burton R. Shifman, a municipal judge in Oak Park for 10 years, and one of five candidates seeking the probate seat.

The committee gave the top rating to Eugene A. Moore, son of Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore, and the brother-in-law of Birmingham attorney Walter R. Denison, who is on the committee that interviews and then rates election candidates.

Telegrams asking for another interview by an "impartial committee" were sent by Shifman to Richard J. Wallace, league president and Basil E. Brown, chairman of the interviewing committee.

Wallace said this morning that he had not received his telegram but would probably consult with board directors on the matter when he did. Brown is on vacation.

NOT PRESENT Denison was not present at Shifman's interview, "but I understand he was when at least two other probate candidates were," Shifman said this morning.

"It doesn't make any difference if he was there or not," Shifman said. "He still decided on the ratings."

Shifman received a rating of 93, while Moore was scored at 94.

"The league provides a necessary service in rating candidates, and I have no argument with them," said Shifman, "but to protect their integrity, I feel that another interview is needed."

The interview, he said, represents 75 per cent of the scoring.

Piggins Opening Wayne Bet Probe

DETROIT (AP) — Circuit Judge Edward Piggins, with just five weeks to go as Wayne County grand juror, today began an investigation of alleged gambling by Detroit and county employees in the City-County Building.

Joseph R. Sanson, administrative officer in the county treasurer's office, said Saturday gambling in the building was so widespread he had warned employees they would be fired if caught making bets.

He served in that capacity until 1946. In that year he was promoted to the position of parts and service training manager in the truck organization.

A year later he was transferred to the coach sales staff as a sales representative in Michigan and Indiana.

In 1953 he was promoted to the post of central regional sales manager. He served in that capacity until becoming assistant general coach sales manager in 1959 and coach sales manager in 1964.

Bronson Sued by Election foe

Campaign Charges Hit Prosecutor, Aide

A lawsuit was filed today against Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, a circuit judge candidate, accusing him of deceptive advertising and a member of his staff of tearing down another candidate's campaign poster.

The complainant, Bernard S. Kahn of Farmington Township, one of 22 candidates seeking nomination for three positions on the bench, claims Bronson's campaign material gives the impression that he is an incumbent.

Kahn also contends that one of his signs, a 3 by 7 foot banner was removed last night from a trailer at 10 Mile and Coolidge by an assistant prosecutor.

He said the trailer was kept under surveillance because the banner had been torn down on a number of occasions.

The assistant prosecutor also identified responsible was not identified in the complaint.

A hearing has been scheduled for 9 a.m. Thursday before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Kahn is asking that the court restrain Bronson from using signs that indicate he is an incumbent and from damaging or removing the signs of other candidates.

Trustee Quits Primary Race in Waterford

E. Frank Richardson, 39-year-old Waterford Township trustee, withdrew today from the Aug. 2 primary in which he sought the Republican nomination for township supervisor.

However, Richardson's name will remain on the ballot since the deadline for filing nominating petitions — was the final day for candidates to officially withdraw from races.

Richardson, an insurance agent for the Michigan Mutual Liability Co., cited business reasons for bowing out of the race.

He said he felt if he did become supervisor, it would mean he would have to sacrifice his insurance business altogether.

"For many reasons, I feel sorry about bowing out," said Richardson of 3133 Coventry. "I thought, at first, I could make some kind of arrangement."

SERVE AS TRUSTEE Richardson will continue to serve as trustee. His term expires in 1968. Richardson's withdrawal clears the way for three-time former township supervisor Elmer R. Johnson, 62, of 3230 Seabald, the only other Republican candidate for supervisor.

Johnson will face the Democratic winner, either incumbent Mrs. Dorothy W. Olson, 55, of 3599 Shoals or Gerald R. McLeod, 38, of 1409 Merry.

Benton Works Feature of October Art Festival

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Arts Festival this October will be highlighted by a public showing of the works of the "grand old man of American art," Thomas Hart Benton.

Benton, 76, is regarded as the foremost painter of American life in the South.

He was responsible for almost singlehandedly reviving the art of mural painting in this country after World War I.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Bender, general chairman of the festival, have announced the appointment of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Newberg as chairman of the Thomas Hart Benton exhibition.

This year's art festival, "Festival 10" is being sponsored by the Bloomfield Art Association and coincides with the association's 10th anniversary.

SPECIAL EVENTS A week-long schedule of special events will be held at the Birmingham Art Center during "Festival 10" week, Oct. 1-8, and displays and demonstrations are slated for the daytime hours throughout downtown Birmingham.

Patrons of "Festival 10" will have an opportunity to view the Benton works on Friday, Sept. 30, at a black tie dinner before the gallery is opened to the public on Oct. 1 at the Birmingham Art Center.

The vote was 26-0.

Besides bringing in used cars, the measure goes beyond the bill passed unanimously by the Senate last month in assuring that all cars, buses and trucks are covered.

The bill also contains a strengthened version of a separate tire safety bill passed by the Senate March 29.

The auto safety measure, together with the companion highway safety bill approved last week by the public works committee, may come to the House floor as soon as the first week in August.

The Johnson administration is understood to be pushing the legislation to assure its early enactment into law.

It Seems to Me . . .

Antics of Ho Chi Minh Could End Everything

Either Viet Nam was bluffing, sending up a trial balloon or temporarily went berserk.

The tentative suggestion that they might try American airmen as criminals suggests a combination of all three of these dubious mental antics. If HO CHI MINH wants to sound the death knell for that section of Southeastern Asia, this was all he needed to do. ARTHUR GOLDBERG, our UN Ambassador, declares "there will be disastrous consequences." U THANT and HAROLD WILSON of Great Britain are talking to the Communists, urging common sense.

This "war" proceeds under international regulations and that expressly and directly prohibits this suggested action. If they ever defy that, the American people will arise in righteous wrath and indignation that will never be appeased by shrewdly calculated bombing and needle point attacks.

People will demand the works.

"World" opinion won't count.

Already Congressional leaders from both parties have asserted themselves in no uncertain terms. These significant messages should be conveyed to the other side.

It was almost impossible to believe the Viet Nam strategists were seriously considering such a suicidal move and yet that was their own declaration.

This probably constitutes the "strangest" war in all the annals of history. How it will be viewed in the light of a century hence, depends entirely on the outcome — but up to the present moment it will rank as a pretty dizzy project with hundreds of wonderful, magnificent American boys sacrificed on the altar of "well, we think this is the thing to do."

But uncertainty will be dispelled if these people try and execute any of our air corps prisoners of war.

"Economize," Sez He

This Washington situation becomes a bigger enigma.

Now our President takes half a hundred members of Congress aside and orders them to "economize." This message comes from the most profligate and freehanded spender of all times.

What gives?
Are voters' protests producing?

As a matter of fact, Congress actually has added millions and millions to the President's tax demands. And they set all time records just by themselves. The President told his handpicked assembly that if they didn't desist, he'd order a tax increase this year.

With an election in the fall, this is about as likely as sending Miss America to the moon. But it shows the head man is disturbed and alarmed.

Good!

Brighter Chances

Governor GEORGE ROMNEY's chances for landing the Presidential nomination seem appreciably brighter. Two of his strongest opponents lifted themselves from the race. NELSON ROCKEFELLER's announcement caught New York state southsayers napping and so did SCANTON's in Pennsylvania.

There wasn't any equivocation in either case. This leaves Richard Nixon and our Governor as the outstanding possibilities as of even moment — but with the assurance that a host of favorite sons will arise ere long.

Further, his recent meetings around the Country with Governors and other national dignitaries have added to his stature.

And in Conclusion

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

U.S. movies are shooting 14 westerns in Italy and four in Spain. Hollywood claims a dismal three. Labor costs have been driving much movie business outside the country.

In the past 65 years, Japanese boys have increased 4 1/2 inches in height, due to improved living standards. Overheard: "I think they should be called the Down-Jones averages." Amsterdam traffic is so snarled by the huge number of cars, they're thinking of closing certain streets to private automobiles and buses.

Overheard: "One political advantage in drafting 19-year olds — they're too young to vote against you." George Raft has been in 105 movies and has been killed 87 times. He has only survived 18 times. If you should be bitten by a fox, bat or skunk, see a physician immediately, especially if you were deliberately attacked. They're probably rabid. That tunnel between England and France is getting nearer and nearer. It will cost more than half a billion dollars.

Hunting ranks 17th among sports in accidents per 100,000 participants. Football, baseball, horseback riding, skiing, boating, swimming and others rank far ahead. Venice is sinking into the sea at the rate of 15 inches a century. That isn't very fast, but time always continues to pass, and pass—and pass. SEEDS OF A WHIRLWIND

David Lawrence Says:

Fulbright off Base on Criticism

WASHINGTON — Once in a while it is a good thing to reread certain articles of the Constitution of the United States, and even senators need to do it occasionally lest by their public utterances they mislead people at home and abroad.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Democrat, who is chairman of the foreign relations committee, has just made a speech in which he says, in effect, that President Johnson is making "an irrevocable national commitment" in Asia "without the consent or even the knowledge of the Senate."

This has drawn an emphatic rebuttal from the White House, which declares that the President has kept Congress fully informed of his policies.

The Constitution says that the president "shall have power by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur."

This doesn't mean that the president must allow senators to participate in the negotiation of treaties or agreements with foreign governments or that Congress can formulate foreign policy.

NOT INTENTION
It does mean that the president can make "policy" and doesn't have to get the consent of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or of Congress to order our Air Force to repel an attack from an enemy country, especially one that may come in the middle of the night.

Indeed, the principle of the Monroe Doctrine was a commitment to a "policy" initiated in 1823, but it was never submitted to the Senate for ratification until 1946, when 21 republics in this hemisphere joined in a pact approving the doctrine.

The Constitution gives Congress the right "to declare war," which means the president is then authorized to order military operations against another country. Congress can also recognize by resolution "a state of war" already begun.

But nothing in the Constitution prevents the chief executive from acting on his own judgment when an emergency develops.

Sen. Fulbright criticizes what he calls an "Asian doctrine" as if this is designed as a parallel to the Monroe Doctrine, which originally placed the task of defense against aggression in this hemisphere solely on the shoulders of the United States.

The opposite is true. The United States is ready to assist on the financial, economic and military side but hopes its allies in Asia will soon increase in number and cooperate in all respects so as to resist aggression, just as the Monroe Doctrine has been broadened to include other countries in this hemisphere as allies.

President Johnson put the real situation in these words in a speech on July 12:

"Americans entered this century believing that our security had no foundation outside our own continent. Twice we mistook our sheltered position for safety. Twice we were wrong."

"If we are wise now, we will not repeat our mistakes of the past. We will not retreat from the obligations of freedom and security in Asia."

Bob Considine Says:

Columnist Claims Public Disenchanted With LBJ

NEW YORK — In his piece in the current Saturday Evening Post, Stewart Alsop writes that President Johnson is in deep trouble.

The American people do not like him any more, Alsop says, after what must have been a heart-to-heart talk with the American people.

They don't quite know why they don't like him, Alsop notes. Apparently this phenomenon reminded "an old associate and admirer" of LBJ of the venerable verse:

I do not like thee, Dr. Fell;
The reason why I cannot tell;
But this I know, and know full well,
I do not like thee, Dr. Fell.

Some pretty hard charges are brought against the President: He doesn't win the war. He doesn't end it. His daughter goes with fellows who are not war heroes. He is "cordially detested" by White House photographers for wanting to be photographed on his "good side."

PRESS CONFERENCE
"He has just about killed the live televised press conference," Alsop wrote in a piece which was current and choice on the newscasts as LBJ was giving a varied and informative live televised press conference. "Thus," the writer concludes, "he has become to most people a distant and unlovable figure."

The vague, half-comprehended antagonism to LBJ can be traced, it seems to me, in part at least, to the public's cherished memories of things of the immediate past.

The Kennedys were unique as a White House attraction: gay, sophisticated, intellectual, witty, newsworthy, photogenic, chic.

The Johnsons are much more like the family down the street, or the folks next door.

BETTER HITTER
Lou Gehrig was a much better hitter in 1953 than Babe Ruth was, but not nearly as popular as the entrancing Babe.

Fight fans never quite forgave Gene Tunney for beating their idol, Jack Dempsey. Twice.

I look for Dr. Lyndon B. Fell to survive, and cure the patient.

Anti-American Attitude Offends Citizen Abroad

I'm presently living and working as a fruit picker in Kibbutz Dalia in Israel. We have a large group of Swiss, Japanese and Israelis, and myself, a lone American. I have recently lived in France with a French family and traveled extensively in Europe.

I have heard many opinions about America. Too many are uncomplimentary, uninformed and unfair. Signs on walls and sidewalks say "Yankee Go Home," "Halt Yankee Imperialism," "U.S. Get Out of Viet Nam," etc. The latest and most piercing was at a Scouting Jamboree where were built imitations of many kinds of villages, including an American Indian village. On top of one of the teepees was this legend: "Yankee, take your hands off Viet Nam and do not do the same as you did to the Indians."

So much that I hear follows this same line. Why don't we go home—with our dollars especially? Why should we continue to support countries which vilify and ridicule us? I can think of many good uses for the tax dollars I pay, right there at home. The Jewish people are encouraging their people in foreign nations to get out of those nations that don't respect them. We could take a lesson here.

Funny thing—I've never read a sign that says "Yankee dollar go home."

An Aggrieved Citizen Lists His Grievances

I am a tired American — tired of our elected and appointed officials breaking the laws they themselves make; tired of a Governor who vetoes bills that would help the people who need help most, and then approves big raises for members of the legislature; tired of divorce court judges who violate men's constitutional right to equal justice; tired of police officers who break the laws they are supposed to enforce; tired of our men and boys being killed in Viet Nam when we have the power to wipe that little country off the map; and tired of my tax dollars going to support swastika-wearing youths in our colleges so they can evade the draft.

Is this America today?

'Rangers Ruined Wildwood Park Holiday'

Our family has camped in some of the best parks in the State and we have always had the highest regard for the Park Rangers until, at Wildwood Park, north of Pontiac, we could not enjoy a week of camping because of the harassment of the Rangers and their embarrassing behavior toward us. They literally breathed down our necks every minute we were there and threatened us every time we did anything.

'Grown-Ups Need to Learn Sportsmanship'

I don't think Little League baseball is so good for boys. I watched an All-Star game recently. The manager played all his favorites and left the rest sitting in the dugout. Near the end of the game, with no runs scored, he finally played one of these not-good-enough boys, who brought in three runs, their team's final score for the game.

I think the grown-ups need to be taught good sportsmanship, not the children.

Question and Answer

That billboard "Vote Loud and Clear" for someone for circuit court judge—is it grammatical? Isn't "loudly and clearly" indicated? And how do you vote "loud" or "loudly"? I thought the ballot was a quiet orderly procedure behind a curtain. Should you storm into the place and holler and yell as you vote for Mr. So-and-So? How do you vote "clear" or "clearly"?
CONFUSED

REPLY

It is grammatical. Both "loud" and "clear" can be adverbs, according to Webster's Unabridged, though purists prefer "loudly" and "clearly." Undoubtedly, "Vote Loud and Clear" was intended as a figure of speech.

Freezing Remedy

The New York Daily News

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson spelled out his long-awaited plans for the rescue of his nation's tottering economy. His economic medicines, as listed to a packed House of Commons, are as bitter as any Briton ever has had to swallow.

Wages, Wilson insisted grimly, will have to be frozen for six months and perhaps longer. The same for prices and for dividends. Wilson's own Labor Party protested the wage-freeze announcement, but odds are that the decree will stand. The cold facts: British wages in the past year rose 8%, but England's labor force, traditional defender of featherbedding practices, raised its productivity only 1% in that time.

congratulate him and wish his country all good fortune.

'Oh, I See' . . .

The Christian Science Monitor

One of the most promising efforts to help the man "so far down the ladder he can't even see the first rung," is a privately operated program known as Opportunities Industrialization Center (OIC or "Oh, I see"). These self-help centers, run by Negroes for Negroes, are spreading across America. A recent count shows projects coming along in 32 cities, each one modeled on the original Opportunities Industrialization Center in Philadelphia.

OIC was founded in 1964 by a Negro Baptist minister, Louis H. Sullivan. "This program," says Mr. Sullivan, "is succeeding because it represents the first time in American life that a people's movement has gained the support of the partnership between industry, labor, philanthropy, and government."

Said one participant, "We don't want welfare, we want jobs!" And another, "For the first time, they make you realize that you are somebody."

Working with those who lack motivation, education, skill, and training, OIC provides them with all these in order that they may become self-supporting. In Philadelphia, where one-third of its trainees had been on relief, it chalked up an 80 per cent job-placement record.

Despite the obvious challenges this program is the best hope yet of getting people off welfare rolls, giving them genuine hope for their own future and that of their children, and bringing them a new sense of dignity and worth. It could also conceivably prove decisive in avoiding racial strife and violence in the cities.

Race Peace Returns to Brooklyn Area

NEW YORK (AP) — Racial peace has returned to the East New York section of Brooklyn. The area was quiet Sunday night and Saturday night after almost a week of nightly racial turmoil.

Three days of peacemaking efforts by public and private agencies ended Sunday. Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Aaron E. Koota said he would meet today with Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary to seek information on "what criminal responsi-

Cleveland Eyes End to Rioting

2nd Night of Quiet; Biracial Talks Held

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — White and Negro leaders looked today for ways to prevent a new outbreak of racial violence in Cleveland's East Side slums, wracked with a week of sniping and incendiary fires before order was restored.

Police and National Guardsmen, helped by a heavy rain, maintained the peace for the second straight night, prompting Police Chief Richard R. Wagner to say: "We are not prophesying or predicting but we are hoping the riots are over."

The rioting, which began last Monday night, left 4 dead, nearly 50 injured and heavy property damage.

As the unrest abated, white and Negro leaders got together over the weekend and formed a broader base of understanding in an effort to deal with some of the problems at the root of the violence.

RIGHT DIRECTION
Baxter Hill, president of the Cleveland chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, called the new group "a step in the right direction."

"There will be peace in the Negro community now," he predicted, "but we expect some positive effort soon to solve the problems of rat infestation, of litter and garbage and of unemployment in the Negro areas."

7 Dems Seek Faubus Seat

Arkansas Vote Near

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A grueling two-month campaign ends Tuesday as seven men vie for the Democratic nomination for Arkansas governor in a primary in which the administration of Gov. Orval E. Faubus has been an issue.

Winthrop Rockefeller, brother of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination and is expected to be the man the GOP picks to oppose the Democratic winner in the November.

With Faubus not a candidate for the first time since 1964, a runoff between the top two Democratic candidates seems assured. A candidate would need more than 50 per cent of the vote to escape a runoff Aug. 9. Polls reportedly show no candidate has more than 25 per cent.

About 400,000 of the state's 687,631 registered voters are expected to vote with about an eighth of the anticipated turnout voting in the GOP primary.

DEFEATED ROCKEFELLER

Faubus, who defeated Rockefeller two years ago in the state's first real interparty fight since Reconstruction, said he would not take part in the primary and he has made no public utterances for any candidate.

However, Rockefeller and some Democratic candidates for governor have sought to make use of some incidents that occurred in this Faubus term.

These include the building of a new Faubus home at his Visit Is Success for 28 Have-Not Negro Children

HOUGHTON (AP) — Twenty-eight culturally-deprived Negro children between ages 9 and 15 returned to Grand Rapids Sunday after a visit labeled here as a big success.

The boys and girls lived for two weeks with temporary dads and mothers and their children. In each case, there was a host boy or girl of about the same age as the guest.

The experiment was sponsored by the Houghton-Hancock Council of Churches committee. The Rev. Norman Riding, Michigan Tech camp Lutheran minister, acted as negotiator. The experiment was the first of its type in the Michigan copper country. Among other activities, the children toured copper mines and swam in Lake Superior.

home town of Huntsville, with estimates of its cost ranging from the governor's $70,000 to the GOP's $250,000; the granting by state officials of some $2.5 million in secret pay raises — which later were rescinded — for highway department employees, and substantial increases in auto insurance rates by state officials, also late rescinded.

The big question has been whether the political organization that has backed Faubus for most of his 12 years in office is behind any candidate in this race.

MACHINE BACKING

Several candidates have charged that Frank Holt of Little Rock, a 55-year-old former attorney general and State Supreme Court justice, has machine backing. Holt has denied the charge.

Candidates Jim Johnson of Conway, Sam Boyce of Newport and Kenneth Sulzer of Osceola have broadened the machine talk to include Dale Alford, 50, an eye surgeon from Little Rock, and Brooks Hays, 67, a former congressman and adviser to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson. They say the machine is backing Alford and Hays in case Holt can't win.

DESERT REFRESHMENT—Jean Pierre Marquand, French adventurer who is walking across California's blistering-hot Death Valley because he considers it a challenge, gets a soft drink from Colette Reumont, a high school teacher who is a member of his support party—meeting him at designated points. He has completed about half of the 100-mile trek.

Man Is Burned in Boat Blast

ALLEGAN (UPI) — Clair Rawlison, 45, of Otsego remained in serious condition today with second-degree burns suffered yesterday when the motor on his 15-foot cabin cruiser exploded.

Rawlison said he started out in the cruiser on Dumont Lake but the engine quit about 100 yards offshore.

He said the explosion occurred when he attempted to restart the engine.

He jumped overboard and swam to shore where he was taken to the Allegan Health Center and hospitalized.

The boat was recovered but suffered extensive damage.

Death Valley Hiker Faces Crucial Test

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — The 100-mile hike of French adventurer Jean Pierre Marquand across Death Valley entered its most torrid, trying section today—across the dry, shimmering valley floor.

Marquand, 28, who said he is hiking to prove there is still adventure in America, walked out of the rugged, dry Panamint Mountains yesterday, saying he was feeling fine.

Marquand entered the hottest portion of the valley, planning to hike from Shorty's Well through the area of salt pools and the jagged pinnacles of Devil's Golf Course to Furnace Creek and the sand dunes at Stove Pipe Wells.

With the first half of the hike behind him, Marquand said, "I was certain I could make the first 50 miles, but as for the final half of the hike, I do not know."

So far, Marquand has encountered heat ranging from 100 degrees up to 130—with worse to come.

He intended to be in the low portion of the valley—almost 280 feet below sea level at Badwater—tomorrow and Wednesday.

During this part of the trek, park rangers said, they can keep an eye on Marquand as he marches along with his back pack, carrying his umbrella.

Is There a Law Against It?

Neighbor Mad for Chimes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: We recently purchased a very nice home in what we thought was a quiet, refined neighborhood. Shortly after moving in, we discovered that our next door neighbor had decorated the trees in her yard, as well as her porch, with "wind chimes."

They are little brass bells, ceramic discs, wooden clankers and glass do-dads—supposedly "musical" noise makers.

The slightest little breeze sets these things knocking against each other and creating the damndest clanging, ringing, tingling racket you have ever heard.

Now we don't want to make enemies of our neighbors right off the bat, but we would like them to know that we do not care for this kind of racket. Or is that music?

ANTI-CHIMES

DEAR ANTI: One man's racket is another man's Rachmaninoff. Invite her over for coffee and ask her if she read DEAR ABBY today.

Card Player Objects to TV Noise

By ELIZABETH L. POST Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening we went to a friend's house for dinner and bridge. We were put at a table with our host and hostess.

After a few hands our host turned on the television and watched the ball game while we continued to play. My husband and I thought this was incredibly rude, and have been wondering ever since what we could have done about it—Mrs. N.T.

Dear Mrs. T.: It certainly was incredibly rude! The only thing that you could have done would be to say, "I just can't concentrate with that ball game going on so let's either watch it or play cards."

Maybe you don't like baseball, but anything would be better than playing bridge under the circumstances!

Rule, Leave Enough Margin for Profit

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

It looks as if the craftsman who sets up his workshop at home is coming back onto the American scene.

I get a heartening number of letters from all around the country, saying "I want to start a business of my own." Maybe the yen is to make and market ceramics, or rugs, or hand-woven fabrics, or jewelry, or some novelty item.

And maybe it's a woman instead of a man who is determined to risk the venture. I say this is heartening because it's possible for the craftsman to make some kind of living with his talents — plus his hard work and a willingness to familiarize himself with the basics of marketing. Also, handicrafts have always added a richness and flavor to their own particular era.

But let me dampen your enthusiasm a little — just enough to find out whether your high hopes for your own business will wilt under the realities of commerce.

Some of these realities have been spelled out by Allen Webb, Chairman of the Board of American Craftsmen's Council. Mrs. Webb says:

"The reason so many small businesses go bankrupt every year in this country is that people start with a glorious dream that all they need to do is open a shop and they will make a living for themselves. This couldn't be more fallacious."

She emphasizes the fact that, basically, the craftsman should make a profit about twice the amount of his costs. And in setting the price for any article, costs must include overhead, rent, light, heat, materials, packaging, shipping and accounting — and the craftsman's own labor.

Since Mrs. Webb is familiar with the everyday problems of craftsmen all over the country, she advises that labor should be estimated by the hour — which may vary anywhere from $1.25 an hour up to $5, depending on the efficiency of operation and amount of production.

"Do not try to run your own shop yourself," she urges. "Get an agent." If husband or wife or grown children can take over as agent or salesman, all the better, because the commission money stays in the family. But sometimes it proves wiser to enlist the salesmanship of some body who is not emotionally involved, and can evaluate the worth of a product on the current market.

Choosing an agent to market your wares calls for some thought. You might know, or know of, some salesman who handles other lines of merchandise and has an established outlet to commercial outlets you'd like to tap. Or, you might ask your local Chamber of Commerce for suggestions along this line.

Whether you want retail outlets, or prefer to sell your handicrafts right in your own workshop, you need to find out what you can about marketing. See what your local library has in the way of books or pamphlets on how to launch a product and how to keep it going.

If you expect to make a living from your labors, you have to become a real pro as to pricing, selling, and bookkeeping.

Speaking of pricing — that's a tough one for the beginner. Every detail must be gone over before a price is set. It usually is wise to have an accountant do the figuring for you and suggest a price at which you will make a reasonable profit.

Developing your own business through your own special talents can be an exhilarating adventure. But never forget that it's still a business if it's going to pay. Treat it like one, and expect some headaches as well as rewards.

Transparent Tape

DEAR POLLY — My nine-foot picture window requires three pairs of draperies. I buy transparent tape that is sticky on both sides and place it at the back edge of a panel, the full length, and then overlap the side hem of the next drapery panel. There are no gaps.

Being transparent the tape cannot be seen. I like this better than the pins (which I used to use) and which were suggested by one of the readers. — MRS. G. R. W.

DEAR GIRLS — One good idea often brings forth another. No two like to do everything the same way, so we can take our choice. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To have a convenient place to hang Venetian blinds after they have been washed, drive two six-inch spikes into the wood on the outer side of the basement stairwell so they are at about eye level when standing on one of the lower steps.

After the blinds have dripped a while it is very easy to reach all the slats to dry them by merely going up and down a couple of steps. — ALICE

DEAR POLLY — My husband always picks out the black walnuts that I often use in cakes and candy. He puts the picked-out nut meats in a colander and shakes them around to sift out the fine bits of shell. This makes it easier to pick over the nut meats to be sure all the bits of shell are removed. — RETA

DEAR POLLY — My elderly mother kept misplacing her identification cards so I typed the information on a card, covered it with plastic wrap, made a nylon net bag into which I put the card and hand-stitched the bag to the lining of her purse. — MRS. A. M. G.

DEAR POLLY — For people who paint number pictures, I find that if you hold a magnifying glass in the left hand and the paint brush in the right, one can paint much faster and keep within the squares much better. — MRS. S. T. Sr.

Humidifier Will Preserve Antiques

Antique-hunting has become such a popular pastime that it might well be included on a list of America's favorite sports.

Especially during the warm weather months, antique-hunters swarm into country villages, farm auctions, and second-hand shops looking for a "find."

The prize may be a Chipendale chest worth thousands of dollars or a simply-designed cane-back chair for $5.

What happens when the treasure is brought home is another matter. Too often, improper care — and especially inadequate indoor humidity — can destroy the beauty and charm of an irreplaceable piece.

"Just because a piece of furniture has come through a hundred or more years in excellent condition doesn't mean that it can survive without damage in the modern home," explained Burton Shaffer, a humidification engineer.

HARMFUL ATMOSPHERE "Many people don't realize that the 'climate' inside today's homes can be harmful not only to precious antiques, but to all other furnishings as well," he said.

Shaffer is executive vice president of Hamilton Humid-Aire, Chicago, a company that specializes in solving household and commercial humidity problems.

He noted that while antique-hunting reaches a peak in the warm weather months, the cold-weather months are the most dangerous for antiques. This is because, when the heat inside the house is turned on, the heating process lowers the relative humidity of the air. As the inside air becomes dry, it seeks to regain a moisture balance by drawing water from everything it touches.

Just like a sponge, this dry air soaks up moisture from the furniture, carpeting, draperies, walls, woodwork, book-bindings, and even from your skin and mucous membranes.

"The natural moisture content of wood is from 5 to 8 per cent," Shaffer said, which makes furniture quite susceptible to warping, cracking, and buckling as the moisture is drawn out. Veneers can peel. Joints become loose. Finishes craze and crack."

While furniture polishes may help preserve the surface finish, no polish can deal with the pervasive damage that dry air can cause. The only remedy is that of restoring proper humidity levels by using a humidifier in your home.

Insuring proper humidity in the home is one of several basic precautions which will help keep antiques in prime condition.

Others include keeping them out of direct, strong sunlight, never placing them near windows or doors which may be left open and keeping them away from sources of direct heat.

This Is Time to Please Husband, Dad

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: One 17-year-old boy wants to work as a caddy at our golf club this summer as several of his friends will, too.

But my husband says no son of his is going to do manual labor for anyone. I should tell you that he was born and reared in a well-to-do English family. After his father's death, his mother married an American who made him work in a gas station at the age of 16.

Just the same I think our ambitious youngster should be allowed to take this job as part of the experience of growing up.

ANSWER: Understanding his father's hurt is also part of the experience of growing up. So what I suggest is that you encourage him to locate a job tutoring some younger boy who failed in a school subject this past term — some job that won't irritate the wound from which your husband still suffers.

Deep hurt tends to make all of us unreasonable. If we're deeply hurt, for instance, by the death of someone we loved, we may have to sell the house he died in. We may have to sell it at a loss. This is very unreasonable of us but there it is. Rationally speaking, the house is still as habitable as it ever was, only not for us.

The pain connected with it makes it uninhabitable exactly as the humiliation connected with manual labor makes it objectionable to your husband.

Besides, he's struggling with British class nonsense. Although it's nice of you to be so free, so American, so in favor of manual labor, you didn't have a step-father — a foreign step-father — who sent you out to operate a gas pump in order to humiliate you at the age of 16.

So I think it would be even nicer if you could forget how glorious it is to be free, American and fond of manual labor in order to consider, not the youngster of 14 but your husband when he was a boy of 16.

I think that some awareness of the pain and loneliness that has made manual labor so offensive to his father would be one million times better experience for your son than lugging strangers' golf clubs around this summer. I think it would be fine if you both stopped admiring yourself for your admiration of manual labor long enough to look at this man who is your husband and father — and say, "O.K. As we love you very much, we do not want to hurt you."

Newswomen Reelect Slate of Officers

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — The Michigan Women's Press Club ended its annual meeting Sunday with the election of officers for the coming year.

The entire panel of incumbent officers was reelected at the three-day meeting. Mrs. Louise Leismar, of the Detroit News, was elected to a second term as president of the group.

Others elected were Mrs. Arys Derrick, St. Joseph, vice president; Marian Grattan, Jackson Citizen-Patriot, second vice president; Mrs. Noreen Murphy, Owosso Argus, secretary and Mrs. Dorothy Magee, Macomb Daily as treasurer.

Life membership in the club was awarded to Mrs. Magee and Esther Way, Saginaw News. Both have completed 25 years service in newspaper work.

Bathing Suit Needs Swim

It is important to remember that a bathing suit must always have its own "swim" — through soap or detergent suds — after every trip to the beach or pool.

Too keep a suit in good condition — and also good shape — every trace of mineral-laden water, sand, body oil, and suntan lotion must be washed out.

After laundering, finger-press bar sections to ease them back to shape. Cover-ups should also be included in the suds-session.

Plan Fall Vows

The engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Gary Alan Hood has been announced by the Earl W. Drivers of Fort Wayne, Ind. He is the son of the Curtis H. Hoods of Mariner Road.

The couple plans October vows. He attends Michigan Christian College where she is a graduate.

Today there are thousands of different sizes, styles, and colors in cotton sheets.

Rites Read by Uncle of Bride

A garden reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the Saturday afternoon marriage of Karen Sue Poet and George Heichel of Orchard Lake Road in Auburn Heights Free Methodist Church.

The bride's uncle, Rev. E. E. Walling of Flint performed the ceremony.

A street-length dress of white taffeta and lace was worn by the daughter of the Glenn L. Poets of St. Clair Drive.

Her flowers were a cascade arrangement of camellias and yellow rose buds.

Patricia and Ronald Koehn were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

Attending the bride were honor maid, Marilyn Schmidt, and bridesmaid, Kathleen Walling.

Dale Crittenden was best man and Bud Boulton ushered.

Auto Footstool for Short Legs

WINTERSET, Iowa (U) — J. C. Moore, retired newspaperman, is a 6-footer who likes to push back the front seat of his car as far as it will go. When his wife complained of being unable to touch the floor with her feet, he built a little automobile footstool for her use.

It was such a success that he made several as gifts for their friends. Now he has a patent on the footstool — and a new hobby.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Asthma Is More Than an Allergy Disease

Although asthma has long been recognized as an allergic disease, other factors appear to play a part in its cause.

Their exact role is not altogether clear. For example, emotional stress, although rarely if ever the sole cause, may trigger an attack and long continued emotional stress may aggravate what would otherwise be a mild case.

Some asthmatic persons appear to have a defect of their heat-regulating mechanism.

The surface temperature of their palms is lower than that of normal persons and after immersion in cold water the temperature returns to the pre-immersion level more slowly.

This may account for the fact that a sudden cold spell often precipitates asthmatic attacks in these persons.

DUST LEVEL
Another possibility is that, with the onset of cold weather, indoor heating units are turned on and the dust level of the indoor air is increased.

If this is in truth a factor it would be helpful to have a thorough fall cleaning instead of, or in addition to, the customary spring cleaning.

Besides soot and lint, house dust often contains a variety of molds.

One of these, Candida albicans, has been found to be especially bad for asthmatics.

OF NO USE
Treatment with the antifungal agents used against thrush are,

however, of no use in the treatment of asthmatic attacks from this cause.

A recent study conducted in Iowa has suggested that some germ or virus present in asthmatics may be transmitted from person to person as a result of prolonged close contact.

For example, some persons who had no previous allergies developed them after 10 to 30 years with a marital partner who was asthmatic.

Furthermore, asthma was found to develop more frequently in children when the mother, with whom contact is closer, was asthmatic than when the father was afflicted.

MORE COMMON

It was also more common in the siblings who occupied the same bed than in those who slept in separate beds.

A treatment for asthmatic attacks that has recently become very popular is inhalation through the mouth of isopropyl alcohol and similar drugs in an aerosol.

One puff usually gives relief within 30 seconds but, when it doesn't, more harm than good is likely to result from taking a series of puffs at short intervals.

Therefore, if you are using an aerosol for your asthma, be sure to follow the instructions on the label.

School Bus Stolen, Used by Vandals

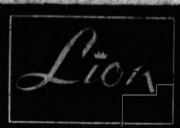

WYOMING (AP) — Wyoming police are seeking a thief who stole a school bus and used it as a weapon of vandalism and destruction at Lamar Park.

Officers said the bus was stolen from the Christian School early yesterday. The bus was driven across the park and crashed into a fort wall at Fort Lamar.

The bus shattered the fort wall and rammed into a pile of bleachers, according to police.

Powell Due in Court on Jury Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. had another date in the State Supreme Court today concerning the $162,000 he owes a Harlem widow for defamation of character.

Two criminal and one civil contempt charge hang over the Negro Democratic congressman from Harlem.

MONTGOMERY CLIFT

Funeral Service Is Set for Actor

NEW YORK (AP) — A funeral service will be held Tuesday for actor Montgomery Clift.

Clift, 45, was stricken Saturday with a coronary caused by hardening of the arteries. He died in his Manhattan apartment.

Born in Omaha, Neb., Clift started his acting career at age 13 in an amateur production in Sarasota, Fla. A year later he was on Broadway in "Fly Away Home" starring Thomas Mitchell. In all, Clift appeared in 13 Broadway plays.

The slender, darkly handsome actor picked his roles on both stage and screen, once saying: "I don't have a big urge to act. I can't play something I'm not interested in. And if I'm not interested, how can I expect an audience to be?"

JUST AN ACTOR

Another time he said, "I'm trying to be an actor. Not a movie star, just an actor."

Clift shunned the glamour of Hollywood, staying there only long enough to make pictures.

Among the 10 movies in which he starred he was nominated for an Academy Award in "The Search" ("From Here to Eternity"), "A Place in the Sun." However, he never won an award.

In 1961, Clift was offered a major role in "Judgment at Nuremberg" which carried a $300,000 salary. Clift turned it down for a part in the picture depicting a Jewish concentration camp inmate. He refused the $100,000 salary for that part for fear it would affect his usual $300,000-per-movie fee.

Clift, who never married, is survived by his mother, Ethel Clift New York City; a brother, Brooks of Atlanta, Ga., and a sister, Ethel McGinnis of Austin, Tex.

Killer of Trio Sought in N. C.

TUXEDO, N.C. (UPI) — Detectives looked today for some clue that could lead to a killer who bludgeoned two businessmen and a woman and arranged their bodies lying face-up in a semicircle in a woodland clearing.

Two dozen investigators from the Henderson County Sheriff's Office, the Hendersonville police department and the State Bureau of Investigation were assigned to the case after the bodies were found Friday. There were no suspects.

"We're about where we were when we started," said FBI agent G. M. Satterfield. "We have a few leads, but there has been no big change."

The woman was identified by relatives as Mrs. Louise Davis Shumate of Asheville, N.C.

The men were Vernon Shipman and Charles Walter Glass, both 40.

BOTH BACHELORS

They were bachelors and partners in a Hendersonville, N.C. music store.

They were last seen alive July 17, a Sunday, but were not reported missing until last Wednesday.

Civil Rights Not an Issue in Race—Griffin

By the Associated Press

Republican U. S. Senator Robert Griffin said Sunday that civil rights, in his opinion, will not be an issue in the fall's U. S. Senate election.

"That is not say civil rights isn't a problem," Griffin said at a GOP women's tea in Detroit. "because it is still a serious one. As an issue, however I think if you look at my record, you'll see what I mean."

Griffin said he had voted in favor of every civil rights bill in the last 10 years.

Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, a contender for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination, voiced concern in Detroit Sunday over the type of campaign his opponent, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, may wage in the closing week of the fight for the nomination.

"In the next few days there will be a lot of frantic campaigning," Williams told a crowd at a downtown park. "There will also be a lot of wild and irrational charges," he said, "and they won't be made by me."

Both Williams and Cavanagh are planning intensive use of radio and television advertising in the last few days of the campaign.

Cavanagh is planning two hour-long statewide shows to climax his campaign.

Fisherman's Catch Is Valuable and Hot

HUMBOLDT, Kan. (AP) — Postal Clerk Earl Smith took a fishing vacation at Buffalo Lake near Chanute, Kan. He fished out two clock radios, a transistor radio, a table model FM radio and a flashlight.

The items were tentatively identified as loot taken from a general store at Mildred, Kan., a few days earlier.

Record Cargo Through Soo So Far in '66

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Aided by favorable weather conditions, ships have hauled more cargo through the Soo Locks this year than ever before.

C. A. Aune, chief locks engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, said vessels carried 45,286,477 tons of cargo through the locks by July 20. This was compared with 39,189,102 tons at the same point of 1965.

Increases mainly were in grain and iron ore, Aune said.

The speedy flow of cargo was attributed in part to good weather. The Coast Guard said no vessels have been grounded near the locks this year. Last year, by the end of July, several ships had lost time from transport when they went aground.

A Coast Guard spokesman said vessels have been halted only four or five times by fog on approaches to the locks.

Meanwhile, the $40 million project to build a new Poe Lock is reported on schedule, despite two strikes earlier at the construction site. Completion is scheduled for all 1967.

According to the latest estimate, U.S. auto travel in 1965 reached about $80 billion vehicle miles, five per cent more than in 1964.

Astronauts Reunited With Families

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The record-breaking Gemini 10 astronaut flew home today for a happy reunion with their families and to finish describing for officials details of three days in space.

Also on hand were several Navy Cmdr. John W. Young fellow astronauts.

The spacemen arrived about four hours late at Ellington Air Force Base, near the Manned Spacecraft Center. A plane sent to Cape Kennedy to fly them home developed an oil leak on the way to Florida, and another had to be dispatched from Huntsville, Ala.

Collins' three children, Kathy, 7, Mike, 5, and Ann, 4, were at home asleep.

Young after a big hug from his wife, turned to his two children, Andy, 8, and John, 7, and said: "What are you doing up so late?"

Young and Collins splashed back to earth Thursday after scoring the world's first dual rendezvous with two satellites, even though they faced a critical fuel shortage in their tiny space ship.

Collins took two excursions outside the vehicle—a space stand during which he spent nearly an hour standing in his seat taking pictures, and a walk that lasted about half an hour.

3 Terms in Washington

Former Governor Dies

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Arthur B. Langlie, former Republican governor of Washington, died Sunday. He would have been 66 today.

Langlie, the only man to serve three terms as governor of this state, returned to Seattle last year from New York where he spent eight years as president and then board chairman of the McCall Publishing Co.

He had a heart attack in 1961 and had been in failing health since then. Death was due to a heart ailment, leukemia and complications.

He had just been reelected to a second term as mayor of Seattle when he was urged to run for governor in 1940. He ran and won.

During World War II, Langlie left the governor's office to serve as a Navy lieutenant.

LAW DEGREE

Langlie was born in Lanesboro, Minn., one of three sons of Norwegian immigrants. He grew up in Bremerton, Wash., earned a law degree at the University of Washington and began practice in Seattle.

Probe Slated in Mine Blast

Explosion Claimed
7 in West Virginia

MOUNT HOPE, W. Va. (AP)—"The explosion was almost impossible to describe. It knocked me off my feet. We were lucky to get out, but when the mine reopened, I'll be there."

With those words, Hugh Garrett, 50, described the underground gas explosion at the Siltic mine of New River Co. that killed seven miners here Saturday.

Two miners, one is serious condition remain in Oak Hill Hospital near this small southern West Virginia community.

An investigation of the cause of the explosion begins today with United Mine Workers' company, federal and state representatives participating.

OFFICIAL PROBE

After the underground investigation, an official hearing will be conducted, and if all is satisfactory, the mine will be reopened.

Several rescue workers were overcome by smoke and noxious fumes Saturday but were released after hospital treatment.

Some 20 other miners were working below at the time of the explosion. Most of them ran for the surface while others nearer the blast barricaded themselves against falling slate and fumes and the escaped.

Wives and children of many miners and other relatives waited nearly six hours outside the mine entrance.

When the report was received of the last five who perished, several women became hysterical and had to be pulled away.

House Takes Up the Controversial Rights Bill Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House takes up a highly controversial civil rights bill today with its members in an uneasy mood due to racial violence in some Northern cities.

The bill would arm the government with several new weapons to combat racial discrimination, but nearly all the controversy surrounds a proposal aimed at improving housing opportunities for Negroes.

Although it is much milder than the outright ban on discrimination in housing the administration requested, and would leave most individuals toward residential homes been bitterly attacked, particularly in the North.

A quick test comes when the House votes after an hour's debate whether it actually wants to consider the bill.

If it does, a week of debate is in prospect.

This is the first of the five civil rights bills Congress has considered in the last 10 years that would have a major impact on the North.

As a result it has much less support than its predecessors.

Further clouding its chances is widespread confusion among members over the actual effect of the housing provision, adopted as a compromise by the judiciary committee.

Aimed mainly at real estate agents, builders and others in the business of selling or renting housing, the provision exempts home owners if they engage in a discriminatory real estate transaction in a year.

Its author, Rep. Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., says a real estate agent acting on behalf of an exempt owner also would be exempt.

But many others, including Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, real estate lobbyists and civil rights leaders, disagree.

They say the language is unclear, that a home owner appears to be exempt only if he sells or rents his house himself without using an agent, and that agents are not exempt under any circumstances.

Mathias is willing to have clarifying language added to carry out his intent, but civil rights groups oppose such a change as further weakening of an already watered-down provision.

Also facing heavy attack is a provision added by the committee to create a fair housing board, patterned on the National Labor Relations Board, to receive and investigate housing complaints and issue orders prohibiting discrimination.

The months of wrangling over the housing provision has obscured other provisions of the bill, dealing with jury selection, school desegregation and protection of Negroes' rights.

The bill would set up a new procedure for selecting federal jurors to insure against discrimination added by the attorney general to seek federal action against state jury systems proven to be discriminatory and investigate housing

Dorothy, Ella

New Storms No Threat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Dorothy, which started out as the season's fourth tropical storm, thrashed Atlantic waters with top winds of 75 miles an hour today while Ella, still a poorly organized tropical storm, developed far to the south.

Weather forecasters said neither posed an immediate threat to any land area.

Dorothy remained almost stationary about 1,200 miles east of Bermuda. She was expected to move slowly to the west-northwest.

The Miami Weather Bureau said Dorothy's gales extended 325 miles to the north and 225 miles south of the center.

Chief forecaster Gordon Dunn said Dorothy was born unusually far to the north.

ELLA DEVELOPES

Ella developed in the south-east of the Lesser Antilles.

Her center was reported by the San Juan Weather Bureau about 800 miles east-southeast of San Juan.

Ella's top winds—50 miles an hour in squalls—moved west-northwest at about 20 miles an hour.

Forecasters said she likely would turn to the northwest and slow down.

The weather bureau warned small craft in the northern Windward and Leeward islands to remain in port.

Entertainer's Admission Crimps Wife's Criticism

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—That charming, handsome Frenchman, Jean Pierre Aumont, has discovered a technique for working with his wife Marisa Pavan in their supper club act at the Plaza Persian Room, so that they will not be trying to kill each other at bedtime around 3 a.m.

"When I come off the floor," Aumont informed me, "I always say, 'Darling, I am sorry I've been so badly and made so many mistakes tonight. I did a very bad show.'"

"I take the words right out of her mouth before she has a chance to utter them," he added cunningly.

"Do you ever quarrel so much you can't do a show?" I asked.

"We are much too hammy for that. We want to go on," Aumont confessed.

This very attractive couple, which separated, discussed divorce, then got back together, began doing a safe act together last year in Chicago. The acclim to him was gratifying and the money is good, too. The other night they decided to take their children, Patrick, 6, and Jean-Claude, 9, to see their act.

Patrick went to sleep at the table and, when finally wakened, insisted on fumbling with his sunglasses when mother sang to him. Daddy tried to shake hands with Patrick.

"He wouldn't shake hands," Aumont said. "I guess he thought, 'Daddy is being so silly. Why does he want to shake hands with me when he kissed me just a half hour ago?'"

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIANS

QUESTION: Why didn't American Indians have mustaches and beards?

ANSWER: American Indians, belonging to the Mongoloid racial group, have less hair on their faces than the heavily bearded white men.

It's not true, however, that they have no hair at all on upper lip and chin.

The fashion of most Indian tribes was for bare faces, which showed their sharp, rugged features and gave them a more warlike look.

It also made it easier to apply war paint, something very important to an Indian.

Most Indians carefully plucked out the coarse hair on their faces, one hair at a time, often using sharp shells as tweezers.

Not all Indian tribes plucked their faces bare. We show men from two tribes which were among the exceptions to the fashion.

A young man from the fierce Yaqui of Mexico has pushed aside his ceremonial mask, showing a handsome mustache.

Below, right, is a chief of the Tlingit tribe, living in the Pacific Northwest. His mustache is grayed with age.

Elders of this tribe, and young men as well, often wore beards. Our pictures are based on the beautiful and authoritative Indian paintings of W. Langdon Kihn.

FOR YOU TO DO: Paint the faces like Injun chiefs on the warpath. Use red water color or food color.

Electrodes Help a Deaf Man to 'Hear'

By Science Service
CHICAGO — A deaf person has been able to "hear" as a result of direct electrical excitation of auditory nerve fibers. But what he can hear may not make much sense so far.

An editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association is more optimistic about the possibility of an artificial sense organ, however, than the investigator himself.

There have been many hope-raising reports that the deaf can hear through the use of electric wires, but they "heard" only buzzes, noises or ratchety sounds in most cases.

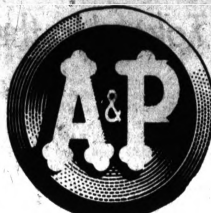

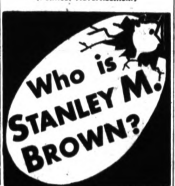

A 53-page report in the Archives of Otolaryngology (July) by Dr. F. Blair Simmons of Stanford University School of Medicine, Palo Alto, Calif., concerns a 60-year-old, totally deaf volunteer who had six small electrodes permanently placed in the auditory nerve.

The man's descriptions of acoustic sensations, caused by electrical stimuli as small as one microampere, were studied for 18 months.

Although speech - modulated stimuli were not understood, they were unerringly recognized as speech, mainly by rhythm and loudness cues.

Sometimes these inadequate cues allowed the deaf man to make surprisingly close guesses about what was actually being said.

U. N. Security Council Will Air Israeli Raid on Syria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council meets today to discuss the Israeli air raid on the Syrian project to divert waters of the Jordan.

Syria and Israel each filed complaints against each other. Syrian Ambassador George J. Tomeh and Israeli Ambassador Michael S. Comay were to speak first in the council debate.

Comay wrote the council that the raid was meant to show Syria how gravely Israel viewed "continual Syrian violence." He blamed Syria for four land-mine explosions in Israel that had killed two Israelis in the 24 hours before the raid.

Comay had previously accused Syria of being "the source, training ground, principal supplier and main support of a vicious terrorist organization known as El-Fatah (Conquest) and El-Asefa (Storm), organized to penetrate into Israeli territory and carry out acts of terrorism and sabotage."

Tomeh, in a letter to the council, denied that the mines were planted by infiltrators from Syria. He said Syria could not "be held responsible for the activities of El-Fatah and El-Asefa." He declared that the Israeli planes had hit mechanical equipment, destroyed bulldozers and killed a woman.

The Syrian ambassador said the planes struck "the area in which an economic development plan of vital importance to Syria and neighboring countries is taking place."

He went on: "Israeli officials have made no secret that they will prevent the execution of this plan by force. The Israeli authorities, actively engaged as they are in usurping the Arab waters of the Jordan river, are determined to prevent any Arab country from proceeding to good use of its waters."

The Arab river-development scheme is a reaction to a similar Israeli scheme. In 1964, Israel started piping Jordan water to the Negev Desert and warned that she would "act for the preservation of her vital rights" if the Arab countries took "unilateral and illegal measures."

An Arab League summit meeting in Alexandria then called for "immediate work on projects for the exploitation of the waters of the River Jordan and its tributaries."

The Jordanian delegation has announced that it will introduce a resolution to condemn the air attack. In the council's last Palestine debate, in 1964, a Moroccan resolution to condemn an Israeli air raid on Syria failed to get the nine votes necessary for adoption, and the Soviet Union vetoed a British-U.S. resolution deploring "the renewal of military action on the Israeli-Syria" line.

The Soviet Union still stands with Syria.

Rights Chief's Viet Views Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd B. McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, disagreed Sunday night with Urban League Executive Director Whitney Young's report from Saigon that the morale of the 60,000 Negro servicemen in South Viet Nam is high and the majority of them "felt it was right" to be there.

"I haven't been to Viet Nam," McKissick said. "I don't know what they told him. But I can only speak upon what I know from the soldiers that I have talked to, and their moral isn't that high."

"They cite the fact that there are a tremendous amount of forces in Viet Nam and that the black soldiers are in combat duty while the white soldiers are in supporting duty behind the lines."

Young, who writes a weekly column for The Pontiac Press, said only a small minority of Negro civil rights leaders had taken a position against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam. But McKissick commented: "A small minority of civil rights leaders could very well mean a majority of black people." He pointed out that his organization had come out for U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam.

Computer models of body systems, such as the heart, kidney and lungs are "living" more rapidly than life itself.

Mathematical descriptions of various body systems are fed into analog and digital computers at the University of Mississippi School of Medicine.

The machines compute the complex relationships between the systems components and analyze the ways in which their functions are controlled.

The studies by Dr. Arthur C. Guyton, Dr. Howard T. Milhorn Jr. and Thomas Coleman of the University's medical center were described by Dr. Guyton at a scientific computing symposium here sponsored by the International Business Machines Corporation.

Dr. Guyton is chairman of the Medical School's department of physiology and biophysics.

BODY MODELS

Dr. Guyton is using IBM 1620 and 7090 computers to help simulate "real life" models of bodily mechanisms.

These models operate many times faster than do the actual functions in life, in order to speed his results.

LOOKING AHEAD TO 1970: Now that political passions have cooled somewhat in the Dominican Republic, there is growing acclaim for Provisional President Hector Garcia Godoy who, through nine long months, helped to bridge the gap between inflamed leftists and rightists.

He also helped to arrange the June 1 presidential elections that returned the country to constitutional government.

Garcia Godoy stepped down July 1 to be replaced by elected President Joaquin Balaguer.

Now he has been appointed ambassador to the U.S. and there is growing speculation he will be an official presidential candidate in elections scheduled for 1970.

Under the Dominican Constitution Balaguer may not succeed himself.

DISCONTENT IN BURMA: Burmese President Gen. Ne Win's government is becoming concerned over public discontent with failure to deal with graft and corruption in Burma.

Usually strictly controlled Burmese newspapers recently have published reports of great amounts of food and other scarce consumer goods rotting in government warehouses because of poor storage facilities.

The results were widespread resentment among the Burmese public and orders from high-ranking officials to subordinates to check corruption or face a general housecleaning.

RED CHINA VISITS DEFERRED: Filipino journalists invited to all-expense paid tours of Communist China have received hints from their go-betweens that their trips might have to be deferred until later this year.

Manila observers suspect the change may have something to do with the purge reportedly taking place on the China mainland.

PARIS VS. BONN: French officials are optimistic about an early agreement with the Bonn government on terms for French forces to remain in West Germany.

They predict substantial progress at the next NATO permanent council session July 27.

Euromart Nations Unite on Farm Policy

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The six Common Market nations moved closer to a unified economy today after agreeing to operate their agricultures with a single farm policy.

The Euromart ministers wound up three days of bargaining at 5 a.m. yesterday signing an accord on prices and subsidy arrangements for fruits, vegetables, dairy products and sugar.

The package deal involving these controversial commodities has been in dispute for months. The six agreed on a policy for grains and cereals in 1964.

The agreement improved prospects for the Kennedy Round of tariff reduction negotiations in Geneva.

'NOT IDEAL'

"It is not ideal," France's agriculture minister, Edgar Faure, told newsmen, "but it was better to accept the deal than to continue negotiations for many more months."

Agreement was held up by a last-minute dispute between Italy and Holland. Italy, the Common Market's major producer of fruit and vegetables, wanted automatic rebates paid out of the common fund to protect it against imports of fresh and canned fruits and juices from the United States and other countries.

Holland contended such a move would result in a price war in fruits and vegetables.

The ministers finally agreed that the governments would be permitted to pay export rebates for these commodities. The rebates would be increased if import taxes were charged on foreign markets. They decided to review the system of export rebates after July 1, 1969.

INDEMNITIES ALLOWED

Governments will be allowed to pay fruit growers indemnities up to 90 per cent in case of surpluses. The common farm fund would cover such losses up to $60 million a year.

The six partners also agreed on production quotas for sugar and a guaranteed price of $17 per 220 pounds.

They agreed to set the milk price in the community at $9.75 per 220 pounds of milk with a 3.7 per cent fat content.

Until now the Common Market negotiating team at the Kennedy Round talks in Geneva have had incomplete directives mainly covering industrial products.

More LBJ Opposition Is Likely in Senate

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's sharp reply to Sen. J. W. Fulbright's speech questioning the President's Asian aims may harden senatorial foreign policy dissent.

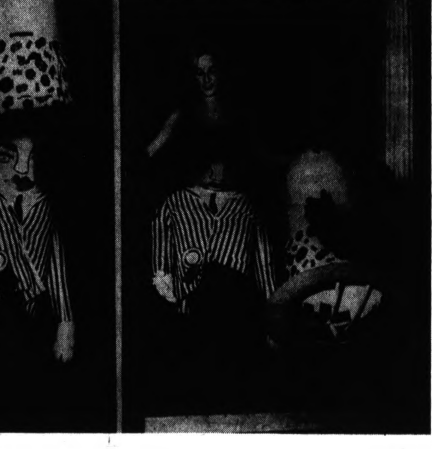

If Johnson found it difficult to follow the foreign relations committee chairman's reasoning — as White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers reported — Fulbright's colleagues got the point the Arkansas Democrat was making Friday in a Senate speech.

This point was that the Johnson administration appears to be heading toward the export of the Great Society to non-Communist countries in Asia while it policies that continent against aggression.

If any such doctrine is in the making, Fulbright and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed the Senate ought to be taken in on the ground floor while the construction work is going on.

Moyers' assertion that Johnson has gone out of his way to try to involve the Senate in the development of his policies "falls short of senatorial desires. The old complaint prevails that senators always are invited to the crash landings and almost never to the takeoffs."

Fulbright made the point that statements by executive department officials have a way of

On that occasion at the dawn of human history when some inventive individual discovered that by blowing into an animal horn he could make a sound louder than his own voice, little did he imagine that his invention would evolve into the durable bugle, an instrument which has signaled countless military charges and retreats, and awakened millions of grumbling soldiers and Boy Scouts in the dark hours of early morning.

Like the bugle, the Want Ad is a durable invention which has signaled quick, low cost action for millions of advertisers ever since newspapers were born. If you need an inexpensive way to communicate a message to the public, use a Want Ad. Forty million North Americans do it every year.

Wonderful Antidote

Physical activity is a wonderful antidote for nervous tensions.

The habit of planning the day's activity is basic to school success. The confidence a child develops that his body will respond to his commands can carry over into a confidence that his mind will also follow his desires in the matter of study.

Goldwater Disagrees

'68 Romney-Javits Ticket Boosted

By United Press International
Michigan Gov. George Romney may not be talking about his possibilities as the 1968 Republican presidential candidate, but other Republicans certainly are.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said yesterday he believes many people are beginning to think a Romney-Javits Republican ticket could win the 1968 presidential election.

The New York Republican discussed his possibilities and those of Romney in a television program recorded for New York stations.

"I think my possibilities remain to be made," Javits said.

He said a Romney-Javits ticket would be dependent on the outcome of the elections of 1966 which will project the personalities to be reckoned with in 1968.

Landon AGREES
Another favorable comment on Romney's chances came from a former Republican presidential nominee, former Kansas Gov. Alf M. Landon, who received the nomination in 1936.

Landon said Saturday that Romney "has mastered the art of being elected and the art of being able to govern."

"He came out with a program in Michigan that was popular with both Democrats and Republicans."

A dissenting note came yesterday from the GOP's 1964 standard bearer, Barry M. Goldwater.

In a television interview, Goldwater said he had found "no great interest" among party members in deciding a presidential candidate now.

NIXON INTEREST

Whatever interest there is appears to center on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Goldwater said.

Commenting on the recent suggestions of a Romney-Javits ticket, Goldwater said neither of them supported him in 1964.

Romney's chances of gaining the Republican nomination are often discussed but the oft-repeated comment of "Wait until after the 1966 elections," is still prevalent throughout the discussions.

Men Are Prime Sleepwalkers

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Sleepwalking is predominantly a male disorder.

Apparently women, even in their sleep, would just rather not go — if they can't go by car or cab.

Only about one in every three paper clips is used to clip papers together.

The rest are lost, twisted and thrown away, or used as makeshift screwdrivers or to clean fingernails, typewriters or pipes.

In less sedate offices, of course, they are also fired with rubber bands at passing stenographers.

The foods you choose may show how smart you are. People with a high IQ are reported to have a fondness for grapefruit, celery and olives. But if they take their olives only in martinis, they're not so very smart.

ONE VEHICLE

Here's a statistic that may surprise you: In about half of all fatal traffic accidents only a single vehicle is involved.

No wonder it is hard to keep a cool head. Scientists have figured that to duplicate the human brain they'd have to build a machine as big as a football field and 60 stories tall. And to keep this mechanical noggin from becoming overheated, they'd require water equal to the amount that flows over Niagara Falls.

Quotable notables: "Every man past 50 who has never owned a Rolls-Royce owes it to himself to buy one" — John O'Hara.

Changing medicine: Druggists now fill more than 750 million prescriptions a year for ailing Americans. More than 70 per cent are for drug products introduced since 1950.

Small consolation: Baldness affects up to 80 per cent of men, and if you are among the nine out of 10 victims in whom it is hereditary, there isn't much hope of regaining your hair. But at least you can pin the blame on your ancestors.

No sweat: It is sometimes said that if you are afraid of dogs they are more likely to bite you. This is absolutely true of mosquitoes. Fear makes you perspire, and perspiration increases your "attractiveness" to mosquitoes.

History lesson: Can you name the first U.S. president who campaigned by telephone? He was William McKinley, who in 1896 phoned campaign managers in 38 states from his home in Canton, Ohio.

Worth remembering: "Only two things in life are certain — death and taxes — and it is too bad that they don't come in that order."

Reputation Safe

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) —

The Milwaukee area has a beer-brewing reputation to uphold, and the firefighters in suburban Germantown have a fire station to support.

The department's 50th annual fund-raising picnic Sunday was evidently a success. Germantown fire officials said crowds at the polka-dancing, carnival affair drank about 4,000 gallons of beer.

Wrapup at OU Next Weekend

Close Matches in Oakland County Tennis Tourney

The stage is set for what promises to be the most exciting tennis tournament in the history of the Oakland County Tennis Tournament next week on the courts at Oakland University.

In the preliminary rounds of the seventh annual tourney over the weekend, the field of 74 singles entrants in three divisions was pared to 28, while the doubles list was sliced from 32 to 12.

Semifinals in the men's singles are set for next Friday, while semifinals in other events are slated for Saturday. Finals will be Sunday.

The hottest battles are shaping up in the men's singles action where 16 from a starting field of 48 will return next week to see who wears the 1966 crown.

Chuck Crampton of Pontiac, defending champion in the men's singles, isn't entered, and runner-up Leon Hibbs of Pontiac, who drew a bye in the first two rounds, faces a strong challenge from Harvey Burdick of Pontiac.

EASY WIN
Burdick turned back Bruce Gould of Birmingham in his first match, 6-4, 6-1, and triumphed Ken Steinman of Detroit in the second round, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2. He'll meet Hibbs at 10:15 a.m. Saturday.

Other singles matches in that bracket find Dick Mineweaver of Pontiac meeting Ray Shearer of Farmington; Bruce Bigler of Pontiac dueling Marvin Moran of Union Lake; and John Toroni of Union Lake meeting Pat Crane.

In the opposite bracket of the men's singles, Ralph Alee, 1966 champion, takes on Paul E. Young of Birmingham.

Young, 27, a graduate of Vanderbilt University, put on an impressive performance Saturday as he eased by Mark Griffiths (6-0, 6-0) of Clarkson and Jim Long (6-2, 6-3) of Northville.

Other third-round matches in the bracket find Kim Beattie of Clarkson meeting Jay Byles of Pontiac; Bill Peterson of Oakland University dueling Mark Erickson; and Tom Bullard of Clarkson meeting the 1965 junior singles champion Rick Watson, of Rochester.

Watson drew a bye in the first round and retired Jim Davis, chemistry instructor at Oakland University, 6-1, 6-1 in the second round.

In the junior singles, Watson drew a couple of byes and he'll meet the winner of the Mike Dougherty-Craig Tuohy match Saturday at 3:15.

Other junior matches on the Saturday slate will find Tom Shreman of Pontiac meeting

Tom Bullard of Clarkson; Mark Erickson of Clarkson taking on Steve Hunt of Rochester; Kim Beattie of Clarkson meeting John Durham; and Norbert Parent versus John Gulascik.

The junior doubles has been narrowed to four teams and Long and Parent will start defending their title in a Saturday match against Jim Hopkins and Tuohy.

The other junior doubles' match finds Erickson and Dougherty meeting Shreman and VanGulder.

Hibbs, who won the men's doubles last year, with Crampton this year, is teamed with Peterson this year and the two will take on Byles and Watkins in a quarter-final match Saturday.

Runner-up in the men's doubles last year, Alee and Mineweaver, will face Don Crawford and Tom Smith, while the smooth pair of Young and Shearer take on Long and Parent.

In the other doubles' match, the father-son team of Dan and Jerry Murphy meet Gould and Watson.

Lema One of Most Colorful Golf Pros

Fans Thrilled to Flamboyant Tony's Antics

Brilliant Career Is Shortened by Death in Plane Crash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Champagne Tony Lema, killed in a private plane crash Sunday, was one of the most colorful professional golfers ever to play the game.

Loose and wise-cracking, he had a dash of the famous Walter Hagen, whose flamboyant antics thrilled galleries and shocked staid country clubs in the 1920s.

Tall and good-looking, Lema was a matinee idol type who fascinated women fans and delighted his fellow pros.

After winning the British Open in 1964, one of his most successful years, he appeared at the Professional Golfers Association championship at Columbus, Ohio, where the first man he encountered was an old boyhood friend, Ken Venturi, who had just won the U.S. Open.

"Oh, you must be the chap who said that American event," he said, flicking cigarette ashes from a gold holder.

"Just a gift from the former King of England," he told the boys in the locker room. The cigarette holder actually had been presented to him by the Duke of Windsor, a golf enthusiast, in France.

Lema became most famous for his habit of serving champagne to the newspaper writers and television commentators after each victory.

IT FLOWED

It started in 1962 at the Orange County Open in California. Tony saw the newspaper men drinking beer in the pressroom and he said: "Follow, if I win this tournament, we'll all have champagne."

Tony won. Champagne flowed.

Everytime he won a tournament after that — and he had 12 victories in his successful and tragically short career — he bought champagne for the pressroom.

Lema was unlike the majority of the current new breed of golfers, most of whom went to college, had high-pressure publicity men and were tattered shoes and fleecy sweaters.

Born in Oakland, Calif., he grew up and played on the municipal courses until he joined the Marines in 1952.

After leaving the service, he spent 13 months as an assistant pro in the San Francisco area and then took a head pro job in Elko, Nev., before taking to the tour in 1957.

FOUR WINS

His first five years were lean ones — he never won more than $12,000 a year — but the trend turned in 1962. He won four tournaments that year and was (Continued on Page C-4, Col. 8)

of German Open Title

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Robert Stanton of Sydney, Australia won the German Open Golf Championship Sunday. He put together a six-under-par 66 and a 71 for the final two rounds for a 72-hole total of 274.

Ross Newdick of New Zealand who led with 138 after Saturday's second round, finished second at 279.

TRADE MARK—Champagne was the trade mark of Tony Lema's golf victories. He and his wife Betty died last night in a crash of a private plane near Lansing, Ill. Two others, including the pilot Mrs. Doris Muller of Joliet, Ill., were also killed in the crash. Lema was en route from Akron where he took part in the PGA to Lansing, Ill. where he was scheduled to play golf today.

Tigers, Tribe Exchange '700th Time' Victories

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers for the 700th time Sunday as they won their first game of a double-header 3-0.

For revenge, the Tigers beat the Indians for the 700th time, winning the nightcap 2-1.

After playing each other for more than 90 years the teams are now even in their series.

The Tigers scored only two runs in 19 innings Sunday but managed to eke out a victory on a run-scoring single by Mickey Stanley in the 10th inning of the second game.

Joe Arcie hit a home run and drove home another run with a single in the first game to lead the scoring for the Indians.

Max Alvis started the scoring with a double with two out in the second to score Chico Salas, who had singled. Arcie followed with his run — scoring single, giving the Indians a 2-0 lead.

The Cuban catcher made it 3-0 when he led off the fifth inning.

After leaving the service, he spent 13 months as an assistant pro in the San Francisco area and then took a head pro job in Elko, Nev., before taking to the tour in 1957.

PGA 'Beanpole' Moves to Top

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Al Geiberger, the new PGA champion, doesn't have the colorful personality traits of golfing heroes Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

But they may have to make room at the top for this gangling beanpole who has to munch on peanut butter and jelly sandwiches to keep his game going.

Geiberger left the Palmers, the Nicklauses, the Palmers and Billy Caspers in his wake Sunday when he managed to master the gigantic Firestone course and win the PGA's Golden Anniversary tournament by four strokes over Dudley Wyson.

The victory, Geiberger's first major championship, was no fluke. The 28-year-old Southern California graduate shot an identical 280 for 72 holes last year to beat nearly the same field and win the American Golf Classic at the same 72-hole yard with a demanding par 70.

"Anytime you win a major championship it has to be a longshot," said Geiberger who always seems to be smiling.

GOING BACK
"Some of my friends thought I had a good chance because they kept saying 'You can win it because you're going back to your own track' in reference to my victory last year."

"I'm glad they were right," said Geiberger, who was presented with a three-pound loaf of peanut butter and a loaf of bread when he took his seat in the press tent.

Geiberger, who appears to be loose and unassuming on the golf course, says he is highly nervous — so much so that he burns energy so fast that he must get something in his stomach.

"So I started carrying peanut butter and jelly sandwiches in my bag. I ate one third of a sandwich on the ninth hole and another third on the 14th. I think my caddy ate the other third."

I guess champagne is better than peanut butter for you guys," he joked.

"Did you ever carry a tuna sandwich in your bag and then forget to eat it?" asked Geiberger. "My golf bag would seem like a garbage can."

Sam Snead, who led the tournament after 36 holes, had a final round of 73 and tied for sixth along with Palmer, Doug Sanders, Julius Boros and Jack Cupit.

County Thinclads Jaycee Qualifiers

4 in National Junior Track Finals

Four area thinclads earned berths in the National Junior Track and Field Championships next month by winning individual titles in the State Jaycee meet Saturday at Middleton.

All competed in the senior division.

Bill Tipton took the high jump in 14.7 and lows in 19.6. Levene Miller was first in the long jump with a leap of 22.2

and Ron Shortt captured the pole vault at 12 feet.

Mike Laney tossed the shot 57-2 1/2 to qualify for the national. The quartet participated under the colors of the Pontiac-Waterford Jaycees.

Miller also took a pair of seconds in the high jump and low hurdles. Bill Hollis was second in the 880 and Steve Dube was runner-up in the 440. Only the winners in the senior division qualified for the national Aug. 25-27.

In the intermediate division, Bill Penon took first in the low hurdles and was third in the highs. Jon Costello was second in the mile.

STATE CHAMPS
Shortt, from Farmington, and Pontiac Central's Tipton both set Class A records in the state high school meet last spring.

Lantry, from Oxford, took the Class B shot put crown.

The other double winner in the senior division was Charles Robinson of Ecorse. He won the 100 in 10.1 and the 220 in 23.4.

Robinson also is state Class A dash champion.

Other senior division winners high jump, 6-3; Mike Murdoch, Detroit, 880 in 2:00.5; and Calvin Watkins, Detroit, mile in 4:39.

Big Program in Sunday's Amateur Day

City Rec Teams Play
14 Exhibition Games
at Jaycee Park

Among the 14 exhibition games played Sunday in the city's annual Amateur Day Baseball Program at Jaycee Park were two All-Star teams participating and they made it rough for the respective league leaders.

The Class D (oldest boys) all stars held the once-beaten Police Officials' Association to a 7-7 tie; and in the men's exhibition, the honor team prevailed, 10-9, over the R. T. Clippers.

In T-Ball results, the Optimist Tigers thumped the Wild Katz, 15-7, and the White Sox trimmed the Optimist Mets, 22-5.

The Wiget scores included Optimist 14, Auburn Heights Boys' Club Sportsmen 3, Anderson Sales and Service 11, the Hornets 4; Yellow Cab 7, Columbia Avenue RA 0; and Malkin Cubs 4, Spartan Dodge 2.

Ken Jaster of Yellow Cab tossed a no-hitter for the shut-out while Ken Johnson of Malkin had a home run in its win. Class F

Class F games ended Pontiac Merchants 11, AHBC Preps 5; Talbot Construction 11, Yankees 7; Clarkston Cubs 7, Lakeland 2; and AHBC Sportsmen 4, Most 3.

Clarkston's Mike Turk allowed one hit and teammate Eric Johnson rapped a home run.

The "E" title finished with the House of Barbers drubbing McDonald's Drive-In, 14-0, and the Fraternal Order of Police edging AHBC's Patriots, 5-3.

Darryl McComer of the haircutters yielded three hits and the policeman's Viv Quince two.

The D contest was the post-police team rally twice to tie the All Stars, the last time coming on a two-run sixth inning that saw Rick Rhoney's lead-off single the only hit. It was his third of the game.

Big innings featured the men's game. The All Stars posted a three-run first and five-run second for a quick 8-1 lead over the Clippers. But the Clippers matched the two outbursts with five in the fourth and three in the fifth.

The Stars then rallied to win it with single markers in the sixth and seventh. Jerry Hill's sacrifice fly tied the score and Mike Marcum drove in the winner with a safety.

Dramatic Decathlon Crowns Track Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two world records were broken and three American marks fell, but a pair of weary decathlon men, the evening climaxed the drama.

Track and field stars in the two-day Los Angeles Times International Games were plentiful Saturday and Sunday.

John Pennel set a world pole vault mark of 17 feet, 6 1/4 inches; Australian distance phenomenon Ron Clark was a double winner at 5,000 and 10,000 meters; Jim Ryan won the half-mile, and the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team capped a second off the world record.

But as the sun set on the rim of Memorial Coliseum Sunday night, 25,000 of the 34,150 attending remained. Russ Rode and Bill Toomey, after consecutive afternoons of exertion in 90-degree heat, faced the concluding 500 meters with a possible world decathlon mark in sight.

PENDING RECORD

Toomey holds the pending mark of 8,234 points, set in Salt Lake, Kan., earlier this month. He broke, fast and set the pace.

As the track announcer called the lap times, the crowd stood to cheer the struggling runners to the tape. Toomey crossed the finish line and collapsed into the arms of teammates. Hodge followed.

Both had come just short of the needed times, but Hodge, who missed by only 8 seconds, was the winner with 8,230 points, and was voted the meet's outstanding performer. Toomey trailed with 8,219.

The only world mark to be broken Sunday was the 1,600-meter relay standard. The U.S. team of Bob Frey, Lee Evans, Tommie Smith and Theron Lewis, clocked a 2:58.5, eclipsing the 3:00.7 run by the American team in the 1964 Olympics.

Smith, who returned to competition after a leg injury, won the 200 meters in 20.5 seconds, setting an incredible 43.8, 400-meter leg in the relay.

Ryan ran a record-breaking 1:51.3 mile last weekend in Berkeley, Calif., but was unenthusiastic about his half-mile time of 1:46.2 and 800-meter clocking of 1:45.5 Sunday.

Pennel, whose world record was set Saturday, said he has adopted a cerebral approach to pole vaulting. "On the way down the runway, I concentrated on driving those last five steps. Then the way up I concentrated on kicking my legs right."

The three American marks were set Saturday before 27,846. Triple jumper Art Watker of Los Angeles hopped, stepped and jumped 54-11, exceeding the 54-7 1/4 he registered a week before in Berkeley.

The happiest skiers amid the pink snow were the women, reported chalet manager Lindsay Salmon. "It matches their ski clothes," he said.

PIT JOY — John Pennel leaps with joy in the pole vaulters' pit at Los Angeles Coliseum where he cracked the world record in clearing the bar at 17 feet 6 1/4 inches on his third try of Saturday's International Games where he was substituted when Russia announced two weeks ago it would not compete against the U.S.

German Fans Follow Team

Semifinals Scheduled in World Soccer

LONDON (AP) — West Germany and Russia were set to fight out the first semifinal of the World Soccer Cup today — and everything pointed to a tough match between two teams who like to play it hard.

The other semifinal is between England and Portugal Tuesday night.

An army of about 10,000 German fans was expected to converge on Liverpool to cheer on their team. The German supporters have steadily grown in numbers as Uwe Seeler and his squad have reached the round of four with the help of victories over Switzerland, Spain and Uruguay.

The Russians have run into injury problems. Albert Shesternev has a strained shoulder and was rated a doubtful starter.

STRONG RESERVES

The Russians usually boast strong reserves. But if Shesternev were sidelined their defense could have a hard job holding the German thrusts.

West German Manager Helmut Schoen was not announcing his line-up until to London. But he could well keep the team that hammered Uruguay 4-0 last Saturday.

Rain fell in England during the last 24 hours, and tonight's game could be the first of the tournament to be played on a heavy field.

Tonight's game, the spotlight will shift to London's Wembley Stadium. England and Portugal will play there Tuesday for a place in the final.

Sailing Hosts at Cass Lake Finish 2nd

Cass Lake Yacht Club members were the gracious hosts over the weekend in their invitational catamaran regatta.

Club entrants settled for second place in both events with teen-ager Mark Smith of Connecticut grabbing first place in Class B (shearwater and B-Lion catamarans). Ro Redner was second.

Jim Morrison of Cass Lake another teen-age entrant, was the runner-up in Class A, the smaller aqueduct and catfish boats. B. Thiesens won the event.

Gene Treutter (fourth) and Chuck Cartwright (fifth) both raced in the larger class and were the only Cass Lakers among the top five. North American champion Ed Stack was well down the list.

Dutch Netter Scores Victory Over Aussie

HILVERSUM, The Netherlands (UPI) — Tom Okker of Holland defeated Bob Hewitt of Australia 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, to capture the men's singles title of the Dutch International Lawn Tennis Championships.

The women's crown went to Ametie Van Zyl of South Africa, who bested Tudy Groenman of Holland, 6-3, 6-1.

Homer Fever Brings Tresh's Smile Back

By United Press International
Tom Tresh is still hitting less, but he's beginning to enjoy it more.

The 27-year-old Yankees outfielder is experiencing his worst season in professional baseball with only a .219 batting average to date, but he has caught the home run fever this past week and the smiles are starting to come back.

Tresh, who blasted 26 homers and batted .279 last year, unloaded a grand slam homer in the opener and a pinch-hit homer in the nightcap Sunday to spark the New York Yankees to a 9-1, 4-1 doubleheader sweep of the California Angels.

The twin blasts by the talented switch-hitter gave him five homers in his last eight games despite the fact he has managed only eight hits in his last 45 official at-bats.

Tresh's grand-slammer in the opener, his second in the majors, broke open the contest in the fifth inning while his pinch-hit blast in the nightcap tied the game at 1-1 in the sixth inning.

His second round-tripper of the day was his 12th of the season and gave him a career total of 106.

In other American League action, Washington swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-2 and 4-2. Minnesota topped Boston 4-2; and Chicago blanked Baltimore 4-0.

SIXTH PLACE

Tresh's grand slam and additional homers by Mickey Madole and Joe Pepitone made the victory an easy one for Mel Stottlemyre in the opener.

Mantle's homer, his 20th of the season, was the 43rd of his career and tied him with Lou Gehrig for sixth place on the all-time list.

Jake Gibbs singled home the winning run in the seventh inning of the nightcap to give reliever Dooley Womack his third victory against three losses. Dean Chance suffered his 12th setback against seven victories. Jim Fregoso had a homer for the Angels.

The Senators unloaded six homers in their doubleheader sweep of the Athletics as they moved out of 10th place.

Bob Savereen, Don Lock, Ken McMullen and Fred Valentine blasted round-trippers to help Peter Richter to his ninth victory in the opener while Ken Harrelson belted a three-run pinch homer and Paul Casanova added a solo blast in the nightcap.

Casanova's smash broke a 4-4 tie in the nightcap and sparked a three-run winning rally that, handed reliever Casey Cox his third victory.

Cesar Tovar's second home run of the year with Earl Batley aboard in the third inning powered the Twins to victory over the Red Sox. The blast enabled Jim Perry to gain his fifth victory of the season although he needed relief help from Al Worthington in the seventh.

Waterford's best wasn't good enough Sunday and Farmington captured the District 18 League, American Legion Baseball title to qualify for the regional playoffs in Utica.

Jack McCloud and Dick Miceli, Waterford's ace moundmen, tossed almost identical shutouts to defeat Clarkston twice, 7-0 and 5-0, but still finished one game behind Farmington.

The champions dunned Milford in a twinbill, 4-0 and 7-1, with a powerful hitting attack. Home runs decided both games for Farmington.

OTHER SCORES

Southfield finished third, one game behind Waterford, when it was spied by Troy, 4-3, before taking the nightcap, 6-1. Walled Lake tied Milford for fourth place by gaining a split with Berkeley.

Walled Lake blanked Berkeley, 7-0, but lost a 5-0 decision — only the third win for Berkeley all season.

McCloud allowed one hit, struck out 10 and walked three against Clarkston. Teammate Miceli matched him except for permitting four walks. Each had key hits in the other's behalf.

Miceli cracked a two-run triple in the opener, and McCloud delivered two hits after finishing his mound duties, Jay Nash and Ron Grioux each drove in two runs in the nightcap, and Nash had two hits in the first game.

14 STRIKEOUTS

For Farmington, Rick Krumm tossed a one-hitter and struck out 14 as the team clinched a tie for the title. Himespach and A. Misch hit homers to provide all the runs.

Milford led, 1-0, against Jerry Turner in the nightcap before Jerry Tinkle, Chris Norton and Mike Peters connected for circuit cuts in the second inning to propel Farmington to the sixth championship. Turner tossed a three-hitter.

Tom Berkert of Southfield kept Troy from also tying for fourth place by pitching a 6-1 victory.

Softball Odds Win Pair in Township Rec

The Waterford Township Recreation Department men's softball league all-stars game Saturday night at Dayton Plains saw the Odds defeat the Evens twice.

The odd-number-teams' representatives held on for a 3-2 first-game victory, then rapped 15 hits for a 12-5 nightcap conquest.

Jerry Thomas and Don Welchert split the mound duties in the opener. Welchert survived a two-run final-inning outburst to save Thomas' win.

Dick Cooper's three hits helped Max Jarrett get the win in the concluding game.

Third Circuit Win for Jack Brabham

ZANDVOORT, Netherlands (AP) — Jack Brabham virtually won the world driving championship Sunday after a 6-year absence when he outlasted Jimmy Clark in the Dutch Grand Prix.

The veteran Australian, winning his third straight circuit victory, added nine points for a total of 30 in the first five of nine events counting toward the title. He also won the British and French classics.

The 40-year-old Brabham, who won the world championship in 1959 and in 1960, finished ahead of Graham Hill of England by 20 in the first five of nine events counting toward the title. He also won the British and French classics.

Two teams tied for sixth place among the 24 duos entered in the three-day tournament.

Donna Caponi of Pilmore, Calif., and Judy Touriameke of North Key Largo, Fla., caught up with Louise Suggs of Atlanta and Mickey Wright of Dallas. They scored 67-68-67 — 199, winning $4,000 as a team in the first best — ball tournament on the women's pro circuit in eight years.

Miss Ehret, of Danbury, Conn., and Miss Kimball, of Dallas, Tex., started the day with a three — stroke lead, after having moved out of a first-round tie for second place into first place on Saturday.

Miss Ehret shot five of the team's six birdies, including two putts on the back nine. A fierce battle for second place ended in a tie.

REPEAT SCORE

Veterans Clifford Ann Reed of Alexandria, La., and Margie Masters of Victoria, Australia, repeated their second — round performance to move out of third place, scoring 67-69-69 — 205.

Tied with them were Gail Davis of Youngstown, Ohio, and Sandra Haynie of Ft. Worth, Tex., who let their second-round edge slip slightly by shooting 68-67-70 — 205. Each team won $2,500.

Although it is done in one continuous smooth action, the armstroke in the front crawl has several parts. The basic parts of the series are: positioning arm, the pull, the push, and the recovery.

The arm is placed in the water at near full extension with the hand flat (1R). For easy explanation, let's start with the right arm. As it enters the water, the left arm comes out of the water and is brought forward in the recovery (1L).

As the left arm is lifted (2L), the body rolls to the right and the right arm naturally drops to a position several inches below the water (2R).

As soon as you can get across, then it is time for you to have someone time you with a stop watch and record the time somewhere. It is not so important to know how fast you can swim across but to keep a continuous record of your progress.

No Encore Seen of Chrysler Win

BRI STOL, Tenn. (AP) — The Chrysler Motor Co. has ended a four-year, seven-race string of Ford victories at the Bristol International Speedway, and the question now is what they can do for an encore.

Chrysler announced last week it will withdraw from stock car racing next year, and Paul Goldsmith's Volunteer 500 victory Sunday with a Plymouth here apparently didn't change any minds on that score.

So where do they go from here? For Goldsmith, who builds aircraft engines in Munster, Ind., when he's not racing, life would go on pretty much the same.

He will "quite definitely" stick with Plymouth the rest of this season and next season as well, with or without factory help.

He saw little in Sunday's race to make him switch cars. His main competition came from another Plymouth — Richard Petty's.

STRONG FINISH

Petty led all but 164 laps of the 500-lap race, but Goldsmith played his characteristic car-saving game until the last 80 laps.

Then he simply cut his lap times by half a second, and passed the Petty Plymouth on lap 496.

As Goldsmith sees it, he won with a Plymouth not because he got paid to drive it, but because the car was fast and durable. Why change?

Then, too, the Chrysler withdrawal will be far from a racing boycott. Chrysler racing director Ronnie Householder terms it "lesser factory participation."

"We want to take the money we now spend supporting specific drivers and use that money to lower the cost of some of our so-called exotic racing machinery," he said.

Householder stresses that this machinery will be available to everybody who wants it.

TWO LENGTHS

Petty, still ailing from a whiplash injury suffered recently in Maine, gave over his Plymouth to Jim Paschal on the 376th lap Sunday and after that Goldsmith steadily closed in. At the end he was a mere two car-lengths in front.

The victory was worth $5,500 to Goldsmith. Petty picked up $2,925. David Pearson was third in a Dodge Charger, winning $2,125, and Paul Lewis fourth in another Plymouth, pocketing $1,200.

Goldsmith's time for the 250-mile race was 3:12:24, an average speed of 77.962 m.p.h.

Golf Victory for Teen-Ager

BARRINGTON, Ill. (AP) — In a sub-par 25-hole duel that should be recorded as a historic one in the 66-year history of the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament, teen-ager Peggy Conley pulled a major upset by defeating Barbara Fay Boddie, the 1964-65 winner, 2 and 1.

Over the rolling Barrington Hills Country Club course, Miss Conley, 19, of Spokane, Wash., an art student at the University of Washington, was seven under the regulation for the distance of her match. Mrs. Boddie, daughter of a golf pro and wife of his assistant, was six under par.

Peggy was the national junior champion in 1964 and a member of the Curtis Cup team this year.

Argument Is Favorite Persuader

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — No matter how successful bribery or threats may be in getting action, most people prefer to use a safer technique of persuasion — argument — according to a Wisconsin study of 800 students.

Of all the methods people use in getting others to do what they want, the favorite is a kind of impersonal appeal to reality, said Dr. Gerald Marwell, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

Such impersonal arguments take the form of: "This is the way the world is," or more specifically, "If you study hard, you will get into a good college."

People are not anxious to bring in personal references, trying to collect on an obligation puts an individual back into debt himself.

Dr. Marwell and his coworkers, Dr. David R. Schmitt, gave their subjects 16 choices in all, including promises, threats, reminding people of obligations, appeals to altruism, friendliness and appeals to morality.

ASKED TO CHOOSE

They were asked to choose which approach they would use in handling four different situations: A parent encouraging his son to study harder, a salesman promoting encyclopedias, an employer asking for a promotion and a student hoping for a little tutoring from his smart roommate.

Threats basically are not used, or at least the students said that they would not normally use them. Offers of gifts or rewards were only slightly more favored, except in the family situation.

Women in the study seemed to feel that offers of reward were not the way to handle children, that this approach was not good for their moral education.

Half of the women thought rewards would work, but refused the technique anyway.

Also in the roommate situation, the students rejected bribery as a violation of friendship, but would often select ingratitude or extra friendliness as a method of getting the roommate's help.

Big Computer Aids Weather Forecast Data

By Science Service
WASHINGTON—Local weather forecasts throughout the United States are now being made on the basis of improved wind and temperature predictions calculated by a giant computer.

The computer is using the most sophisticated model of the atmosphere yet devised for routine calculation to make the improved forecasts.

The mathematical model of the atmosphere computes predictions for seven levels from the surface up to 53,000 feet, compared to only three levels for the previous forecast model.

The improved predictions are of particular benefit to jet flights. The complex combination of equations was developed by Dr. Frederick G. Shuman, director of the U. S. Weather Bureau's National Meteorological Center in Suitland, Md.

The Center is the central forecasting facility of the Environmental Sciences Service Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce.

The NMC uses computers to prepare general weather predictions for the entire Northern Hemisphere. Local weather forecasts are based on the large-scale predictions.

Everything Ducky for Ducks

DEMAREST, N.J. (AP)—The ducks of Demarest are sitting pretty. They have all that any duck would want, plus their own bank account.

The ducks haven't always had it so good. In fact, when they first were noticed in Demarest their food situation was critical.

But under the leadership of former Mayor Donald Rogers, the Society for the Preservation of Pesticide Ducks was formed to see that the birds got food, particularly during the winter.

When the society's request for funds was turned down by the city council—the group asked for private contributions. Members even went door to door seeking the $400 a year necessary.

The council continued to refuse to allot money to feed the ducks until this year when the city fathers set aside $300. Since this is shy of the total needed, more private fund raising will be done.

The ducks became a problem five years ago when people began leaving birds near a stream in the North Jersey suburban community.

Nobody knows why the ducks were left, but one theory is that someone left one that was an unwanted pet and others followed the lead.

No one seems to object to using tax money to feed ducks, and, as city employee Ed Miller says, "That's the only way they're going to get food."

Another who approves of the food program is 15-year-old Mary Halloran. "There's not much recreation around here, especially for the little kids. They get a big kick out of coming here and feeding the birds."

Mayor Joe Rinkistala doesn't voice any objections, except to say: "I'm not a duck fancier, except when it's on a platter with gravy and potatoes."

Quake Data Is the Target

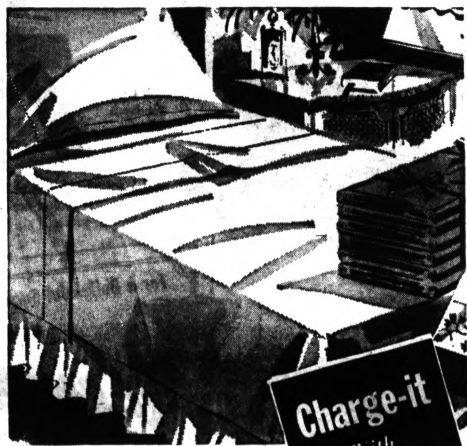

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — A new generation of instruments is being created to help reduce future casualties caused by earthquakes.

New arrays of equipment for measuring the amount of tilting and strain of rocks and to keep tabs on the rumblings deep inside the earth could predict when an earthquake might hit certain areas, reported Drs. Frank Press and W. F. Bruce of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge.

Legislators Get Word

Capitol Service Bureau Shuns Politics

LANSING (UP)—If you received a letter from your state representative or senator lately and it said, in effect, "reflect me," chances are it did not come through normal legislative channels in the capitol.

The Legislative Service Bureau — the research arm of and general errand boy to the legislative process — is sticking closely to a joint House-Senate rule that says:

“Legislative duplicating equipment shall be used for official business only; the use thereof for reproduction of personal or party campaign material of any nature is strictly prohibited.”

Complained one Democrat: “We used to get this mailed without any trouble when the Republicans were in charge.”

NONPARTISAN APPROACH

But Bureau Director Donald Hoenshell is taking a strictly nonpartisan approach; he's turning away anyone requesting mailings that might violate the rule.

“I even turned away the speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit once — and that's kind of hard to do,” said Hoenshell, who was hired after the Democrats took over and started to revamp the process and procedures.

“I've turned away many legislators in the last few weeks,” he said, as the primary election approached and lawmakers started making more and more contact with the voters in their districts in any way they could.

“I've had to turn away members of both parties,” he said. “In 99 per cent of the cases I've just cited the rule, and they've been reasonable about it.”

A FEW GET ANGRY

“There've been a few legislators who've been angry and said something like, ‘I'll have your job — when I come back next year,’” Hoenshell added.

“But if we allowed this bureau to be turned into a servant for either party, it would become useless,” he said.

As a result of the bureau's refusal to handle political mailings some lawmakers' secretaries have been working overtime typing up address labels.

“Sometimes the mailings include a nonpolitical or nonpersonal letter that says the legislator is enclosing something else,” Hoenshell said. “We're not terribly concerned about what that something else is.”

“Our only concern is that our facilities not be used to reproduce it or put it in the envelope,” he added.

H-Bomb Heightened Outer Space Lights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Still shining faintly in the skies high above the earth are ghostly relics of long-past H-bomb explosions.

They contribute a bit to the dim light, just barely visible to the human eye on the blackest nights, which scientists call airglow.

Astronomers have been observing and puzzling over airglow since the early 1900s, long before anybody dreamed of nuclear explosions. The H-bomb did not create airglow, but it did add a new component.

Not until the space age came along was it possible to locate airglow in the sky and identify some of its constituents.

Photographs taken by astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan aboard the Gemini 9 spacecraft in June are helping scientists of the Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) to understand a little better this mysterious spectral glow which few human beings have ever seen.

UNSEEN BY DAY

By day airglow is completely swamped by sunlight. Even after dark it can be observed only on moonless nights in regions remote from the lights of cities.

Airglow, according to the Naval Laboratory, is about as bright as white paper illuminated by a candle 100 feet away.

In 1965 NRL rocket scientists established for the first time that most airglow emanates from regions 45 to 60 miles above the earth.

The energy that lights it comes from the sun's ultraviolet radiation which is absorbed by molecules and atoms of the atmosphere in daytime.

The NRL scientists found green and red airglow released by energized oxygen atoms, yellow airglow from sodium atoms, and infrared light from hydroxyl radicals (molecules of OH).

The invisible infrared airglow is so intense that, if our eyes could see it, night would never fall completely on earth, and “we would have perpetual twilight.”

Rain, Lightning Sweep N. Ohio

Two Struck by Bolts During Violent Storms

By the Associated Press

Heavy rain and severe lightning swept across northern Ohio Sunday night as widely scattered thunderstorms developed over the nation.

Two persons were struck by lightning during the violent Ohio storms, but both survived.

One, a golfer, was struck on a suburban Cleveland course. The other, a teen-age girl on a picnic, was struck at Port Clinton. “The girl was listed in fair condition at a Port Clinton hospital.

TWO INCHES

Two inches of rain was reported at Port Clinton, Cleveland and just under two inches at Hopkins Airport.

Some storm damage was reported on Cleveland's East Side. Numerous power blackouts were reported in Cleveland Heights, Shaker Heights, Lakewood and University Heights.

Lightning struck the radio tower of WRWR-FM at Port Clinton, putting the station off the air for half an hour. Authorities also reported a barn destroyed by the lightning in Port Clinton.

Elsewhere, almost an inch of rain fell at Tucson, Ariz., when a thunderstorm swept through that city Sunday night.

IN PANHANDLE

More than three quarters of an inch was reported at the Texas Panhandle town of Dalhart.

Earlier in the day some six inches of rain fell in an hour and a quarter in Cashion, Okla., and about five inches in Luther and Wellston.

A tornado watch was issued by the Weather Bureau Sunday for portions of North Dakota, west central Minnesota and north central and northeastern South Dakota. No sightings were reported.

Reservists Left Camp on Rock-Hunting Trip

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP) — Searchers first found the abandoned jeep. Then, four miles away, they found the body of Army Lt. Arthur Rowland Jr. The search continued today for Army Spec. 4 Jeffrey Cullimore, 24, missing with Rowland for more than a week in the desolate area near Death Valley, about 40 miles from Ft. Irwin.

Rowland, also 24, of Monrovia, Calif., died of exposure and dehydration, Army officials said. Cullimore of Bountiful, Utah, and Rowland had been attending Reserve training camp at Irwin.

The Army said the two men apparently had left camp — taking canteens of water — to go on a rock-hunting trip. No canteens were found with Rowland's body.

SLIM CHANCES

Searchers Sunday covered a 10-mile radius from the abandoned jeep without finding a trace of Cullimore. His survival chances were considered slim in the 110-degree-plus heat — unless he stumbled onto one of the few springs in the area.

Rowland's widow, Edwina, 17, was under sedation at Irwin, officials said. Cullimore's father was with the searchers.

The Morse Code was invented by Alfred Vail, a co-worker of Samuel Morse on the telegraph.

State Weekend Road Toll Is 28

By The Associated Press
The motorcycle carrying two 17-year-old boys was clipping along divided U. S. 31 expressway in Muskegon. Suddenly, the auto ahead of the youngsters swerved to the side.

When it did, the two saw another car going the wrong way on the highway and coming straight at them. It was the last thing they saw.

The head-on collision Sunday killed Jeffrey Lyle Fraser and Larry French, both of Fruitport, and seriously injured the 22-year-old driver of the car.

"The boys never had a chance," said a city policeman.

AMONG SIX
The two were among six persons fatally injured in motorcycle mishaps in Michigan during the weekend as the state's traffic death toll soared to 28.

There were four drownings. The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Other traffic victims:
Alice Frances Williams, 55, of Crystal, Sunday in a two-car smashup at an intersection in Evergreen Township, Montcalm County.

Dennis Zuidema, 16, of Hopkins, when the vehicle in which he was riding struck a bridge abutment west of Dor in Allegan County Sunday.

Mary Olivier, about 20, of Machine City, when the car in which she was a passenger went out of control on U.S. 31 south of Alanson in Emmet County Sunday and rolled over several times.

George Daniel Wiles, 73, and Lida Grace Steenburg, 67, both of Vestaburg, who were struck by a car while standing along Vestaburg Road at M46 in Montcalm County Sunday.

Edward Mucha, 19, of Detroit and 16-year-old Roger Plouffe of East Detroit, when their car failed to stop at an intersection Saturday in East Detroit and struck a house.

Airman 2.C. Gary Winston Simmons, 22, of Kingsport, Tenn., who was stationed at K.

I. Sawyer Air Force Base at Marquette, when the car in which he was riding ran off a rural road two miles south of Marquette Sunday and rolled over.

In White Lake Twp.

Pit Suit Eyed

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The prospect of a renewal of operations at the old Kehoe gravel pit on Ormond Road has moved a group of area property owners to threaten legal action against the pit operators.

Arleigh Hess, 3485 Ormond, president of the White Lake Citizens League, said that the league would seek a court injunction if necessary to halt mining activity in the pit.

The pit, located on the east side of Ormond Road one mile north of M59, is presently under study by the Township Board.

The study is primarily concerned with the effect renewed mining would have on the level of White Lake. Results of the investigation are expected to be announced at the board's meeting Aug. 16.

A decision on an operating permit for the pit may also be made at that time.

HAZARDS LISTED

Hess said that the pit's reopening would bring noise, traffic and dust to the area, creating safety and health hazards and depressing property values.

Ormond Road, he noted, would be ruined by the heavy truck traffic attending the pit.

The league, he said, had been advised that a gravel mining project of from 10 to 15 years duration has been planned for the site.

A township ordinance prohibits mining more than 10 acres of the land at a time and specifies that it must be restored before operations continue.

NOT COMPLIED WITH

Hess maintained that this law has not been complied with in the past.

The pit is located on an 82-acre site of which 40 acres are now excavated and unrestored, he said.

There is no reason to suspect he continued, that future operators will pay any closer attention to the ordinance or that township officers will try any harder to enforce it.

In fact, he warned, the pit would no doubt double in size should operations be allowed to resume.

NOW IN OPERATION

Six gravel pits now are operating in White Lake Township, according to Hess. The Ormond Road pit has been abandoned for the last three years.

The league will discuss the gravel pit problem further at its meeting Friday at 8 p.m. at the White Lake Township Hall.

Water Charges Refuted

TROY—The City Commission will receive a report from the Oakland County Health Department tonight refuting statements from residents in a subdivision that their water is contaminated and in short supply.

City Manager Paul York said today that the health department conducted the investigation after the city received complaints from home owners in the Charnwood Hills area, east of Adams and south of South Boulevard.

The study, according to York, revealed that there are five homes in the district that have inadequate water well supplies, but that the problem can be corrected by deeping them 20 to 30 feet.

This would be a temporary solution, said York, since the area will be receiving Detroit water, probably by next spring.

The question of contaminated water arose two weeks ago when subdivision residents appeared before the commission to find out what progress was being made regarding their petitions for Detroit water.

WANTED PRIORITY

"They wanted their project to receive priority," said York.

He explained that this would be difficult since engineering plans for Charnwood are part of a whole district scheduled to receive Detroit water.

"Since there is no public health hazard, an advanced priority isn't justified," said York. One of the residents who complained of the water shortage is Raymond N. Kreucher, 2190 Charnwood.

OUTSIDE BATH

"We have to ship out the kids, like dirty wash, to the homes of friends and relatives, where they can bathe," he said.

Kreucher, an engineer, said deep excavations for the construction of the 1-75 expressway in 1964 diverted the course

Filming 'Sand Pebbles' Steve: Life at Top Not All Roses

By BOB THOMAS

Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Steve McQueen's hooded eyes seemed more at half-mast than usual. "I don't mind telling you, I'm beat," he said. "The thing I'd like most to do right now is go to sleep for 20 hours."

Instead, he was faced with an afternoon's strenuous work on "The Sand Pebbles," which has turned into more of a career for him than a movie. The film is now in its third month of overtime. While that means "golden hours" of added salary for him, he claims he will see little or none of it.

"I'm just working for the government now," he said. "Not that I mind paying taxes. This is a great country, and I'm proud to be part of it. But does Uncle Sam really need all that money?"

McQueen's fatigue was more than that of the usual weariness of a star at the tag end of a long film. He spent five months in Taiwan and Hong Kong, working a seven-day week. His time off consisted of one Sunday.

deals with the film studios. Yet the whole thing isn't as munificent as it seems, he said.

"If I work on a salary, that's a 70-30 deal — 70 per cent for the government, 30 for me," he commented.

"On a corporation basis it's 52-48. But that's just the beginning. I've also got agents to pay, and press agents, a business office, etc."

"It doesn't seem quite right to be paying so much in taxes when I've only got five or six years to make big money. Oh, maybe I'll be really lucky and be another Jimmy Stewart — last 20 years or more. But it isn't likely. Three bad pictures and they start giving me smaller dressing rooms."

Upon his return to the Fox lot, he was stricken by the bug that afflicted most of the company members. He hasn't recovered yet. If he can hold on for another fortnight, he'll be finished with "The Sand Pebbles."

And then?

"I'm not going to load my wife and two kids into the camper, fill up the gas tanks and head north," he resolved. "I'm not going to stop until I get to Alaska. And I won't come back until the money runs out."

McQueen disputes what he terms the common notion "that the work of a movie star consists of putting on some powder and making faces in front of a camera." His present assignment disproves that.

Yet he also admits to an uncommon amount of luck.

"I've done pretty well, considering I'm not the movie-star type," he remarked. "I'm not pretty by any means, and I'm not that much of an actor. I should have been a character actor, but somehow it didn't turn out that way."

NATO Aides Meet on Military Goals

PARIS (U) — North Atlantic alliance defense ministers went into session today to set long range goals for their military forces.

The one-day secret meeting on plans for the coming five years was held in the headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the outskirts of Paris.

The defense ministers are to formulate estimates of what forces are expected to be available

Sight Project Proposed

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) — Dr. George Mallison of Western Michigan University, yesterday proposed a $1 billion federal program over a 10-year period to aid the blind.

Dr. Mallison, dean of WMU's school of graduate studies, addressed the 40th convention of the American Association for Workers for the Blind.

Such a program, he said, could conceivably bring forth

"substitute sight," rather than substitute for sight.

"It is hypothesized that the artificial eye with substitute sight may be less 'blue sky' than may have been previously surmised," he said.

The need for seeking to find substitute sight is evidenced by the 90 million Americans who have eye trouble, 3.5 million of them with serious conditions and 300,000 totally blind, he said.

Delaware Files Suit

Ask Electoral Change

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. David P. Buckson of Delaware has asked the Supreme Court to mix one state's meat with another state's poison and apply its one-man, one-vote mandate to presidential elections.

Buckson wants the court to nullify the winner-take-all system of counting presidential electoral votes—a system which multiplies the importance of the heavily populated states.

Congress has been shadow boxing for years with constitutional amendment proposals to change the present electoral college system of electing presidents.

However, congressional opinion has never jelled on any one plan to produce the necessary two-thirds vote of the House and Senate to send it out for the required approval of three-fourths of the state legislatures.

TOTAL VOTE

The total electoral vote for each state ranges from three for the five smallest states, including Delaware—to 38 for California and 43 for New York. The Constitution provides only that the electors shall be chosen in each state "in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct."

In the early years of the republic, the legislators themselves sometimes named electors and it was common for electors to be elected by districts so that a state's electoral vote could be divided.

Gradually, all states shifted to the general ticket system by which the presidential candidate winning a plurality of a state's popular vote gets all the electoral votes.

Rarely, in this century, has a state's electoral vote been split.

LBJ REQUEST

President Johnson asked Congress this year to lock the winner-take-all system into the Constitution.

Many Democrats favor this proposed constitutional amendment because their big city strongholds help them carry the populous states with the big blocs of electoral votes.

The Delaware lawsuit filed in the Supreme Court last week runs directly counter to the Johnson proposal.

It asks the court to knock out the winner-take-all system on grounds that it magnifies the votes of residents of the big states and ignores the minority vote in all states.

Counting the minority vote would require the election of presidential electors by districts, a system favored by many Republicans, or splitting the electoral vote of each state in proportion to the popular vote.

NECTARINES MAKE SUMMER MEATS MEMORABLE

That little something extra...

Whether it's something you wear, something for the house or something you eat, that little something extra counts for a lot if it improves the appearance of your attire, your home or your menus.

The "extra something" that distinguishes each of the main dishes pictured above is that fabulous summer fruit from California—fresh nectarines. In all four recipes, popular meats acquire fetching new flavor bonuses the nectarine way. Chicken, lamb, beef and ham go into the cooking business with one of man's oldest fruits, and the resulting culinary dividends make wonderful warm-weather eating.

There's certainly nothing wrong with steaks, hamburgers and hot dogs as main attractions at patio or backyard meals. But this new quartet of eye-opening entrees enlarges your outdoor dining repertoire and at the same time glamorizes favorite meats.

Busy homemakers find cooking with fresh nectarines a breeze. A real convenience fruit, there's no need to remove the skins for most recipes. They are fuzzless, and their lovely red and gold hue brings a sunny touch to foods. Nectarines from California dress up an array of main dishes, salads and desserts. And of course, they are ideal summertime out-of-hand eating.

Ginger Nectarine Chicken

Baked in foil with fragrant seasonings

- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons seasoned salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 6 servings frying chicken (about 3 lbs. legs and thighs or quarters)
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons chopped candied ginger
- 1/3 cup water
- 3 large fresh nectarines
- 1 green pepper

Combine flour, salt and paprika; coat chicken in mixture. Heat butter in large skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Cut one 22 x 18-inch piece of heavy duty foil or 6 squares 12 inches each. Place all chicken side by side on large piece of foil, or 1 serving on each square. Add to butter in skillet brown sugar, soy sauce, ginger and water; bring to boil, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Spoon sauce over chicken. Fold ends and sides of foil over chicken, envelope-style, to form tight seal. Place in shallow pan; bake in 425-degree (hot) oven 35 to 45 minutes or until fork-tender. Cut nectarines into slices and green pepper into rings. Open foil and arrange nectarines and green pepper over chicken. Fold foil loosely; bake about 5 minutes longer or until nectarines are warm. Serve in foil in basket or on serving plates as you wish. Makes 6 servings.

Gilded Lamb Blocks

Nectarine sauce gilds a hearty dish

- 4 lamb blocks or double-thick shoulder lamb chops (about 3 lbs.)

- Salt
- Pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 2 or 3 fresh nectarines
- 1 1/2 cups beef stock or 2 bouillon cubes and 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 1/2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon summer savory
- 1/4 cup water

Hot mashed potatoes or noodles

Season lamb blocks with salt and pepper. Heat butter in large skillet; add meat and brown on both sides. Reduce heat; cook uncovered 50 minutes or until tender, turning several times. Meanwhile, cut enough nectarines into chunks to measure 1 1/2 cups. Remove lamb from skillet; keep hot. Drain all but 3 tablespoons fat from skillet. Add beef stock; bring to boil, stirring to loosen brown particles from bottom of skillet. Mix flour with savory; blend in water. Stir into skillet; cook, stirring until mixture is thickened and comes to boil. Mix in nectarines; heat through. Spoon mashed potatoes onto serving platter; arrange lamb over potatoes. Pour nectarines and sauce over all. Makes 4 servings.

Bubbly Beef-Nectarine Patty

Jumbo fruitburger for beef buffs

- 2 or 3 fresh nectarines
- 2 or 3 slices white bread
- 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
- 3 tablespoons sliced green onion
- 1 egg
- 1 can (2 oz.) mushroom pieces, drained
- 2 tablespoons bottled barbecue sauce
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 for (5 oz.) pasteurized blue cheese spread

Finely chop enough nectarines to measure 1 cup; save remainder for garnish. Crumb bread finely to measure 1 cup. Combine chopped nectarines, crumbs, beef, onion, egg, mushroom pieces, barbecue sauce and salt; mix lightly but well. Shape into 8-inch round flat patty. (An inverted 8-inch round cake pan makes a good base for shaping.) Place patty on rack in broiler pan; broil several inches from heat 6 to 8 minutes, or until top is well browned. Turn with wide spatula; continue broiling until cooked as desired. Spread top of meat with blue cheese spread; return to broiler just until topping is hot and bubbly. Transfer to serving plate. Slice remaining nectarine and garnish top. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Nectarine-Glazed Ham

Nectarine and syrup sorcery applied to ham

- 1 center cut slice cook-before-eating ham, about 1 1/2 inches thick
- 3 to 5 ripe fresh nectarines
- 1/3 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- Dash salt
- Dash nutmeg
- Hot cooked rice

Snip or slash edges of ham with scissors or knife to keep it from curling. Place in shallow baking pan; cover. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 1 hour. Meanwhile, peel and coarsely grate or very finely chop enough nectarines to measure 1 cup; mix in saucepan with syrup, lemon rind, salt and nutmeg. Bring to boil; reduce heat and boil gently 8 to 10 minutes. If you wish, whirl in blender or press through sieve for a smooth glaze. When ham has baked 1 hour, remove cover; turn ham and spread top with about 1/3rd of nectarine mixture. Set oven thermostat for broiling; broil ham several inches from heat about 5 minutes. Repeat spreading and broiling twice to use all of nectarine mixture and obtain good glaze. Place ham on warm platter. Cut several nectarine slices and arrange over top for garnish if desired. Surround ham with rice. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

The finesse is an attempt to make a low card do the work of a higher one due to a favorable position. The simple finesse is taken against one adverse card, the double finesse against two and the "deep sea finesse" against several. Every 3 of 4 makes simple finesses; some make double finesses; only a few know or try the deep sea finesse.

Youth Is Marching to Back Viet Policy

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Willie Hunter is a 17-year-old Negro who is demonstrating his support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam by hiking from Georgia to Washington.

The high school student says he is not a member of any civil rights groups.

He plans overnight stops with friends along Interstate 85 through South Carolina and North Carolina to the nation's capital.

He rode a bus from his Atlanta, Ga., home to the South Carolina line to start his long hike yesterday.

Hunter spent last night with friends in Greenville.

Two Cubans Return

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana Radio, monitored here, said two scientists who lived for three days in an inflated chamber on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico, returned safely to the surface recently.

Atomic Energy Commission is planning to build a $200-million proton accelerator on a 3,000-acre site that will take six to eight years to construct. The site has not yet been selected.

Viet Conflict 'Unwinnable'

Schlesinger Critical of 'Americanization'

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., a former presidential assistant, says that increased "Americanization" of the war in Viet Nam could make the conflict "unwinnable."

In an article in Look magazine, released Sunday, Schlesinger said:

"The more we Americanize the war — by increasing our military presence, by summoning Saigon leaders, like van Loan, to conferences in an American state, by transforming the local war in Viet Nam into a global test between American and China — the more we made the war unwinnable."

The bitter fact is that the war in Viet Nam can never be won as a war of white men against Asians."</

Warden Quells Disturbance

Four Drunk Trustees Start Indiana Turmoil

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Warden Ward Lane almost single-handedly quelled a disturbance by four intoxicated trustees at the Indiana State Prison last night after he was hit in the face and his shirt torn. Several fires were started.

"It was just four drunks raising Cain," Lane said of the near-three-hour trouble.

However, 11 state policemen, sheriff's deputies and Michigan City policemen were called in to back up prison guards.

Lane said one of the four, Charles Saline, sentenced from Evansville, Ind., to 2½ years for burglary, was injured when he thrust his fist through a window. He was hospitalized.

The three others were placed in solitary confinement.

24 WATCHED
Lane said the four men, who reportedly had been drinking a concoction called raisin cake, started a fight in the bakery and dining hall while about 26 other trustee maintenance men on a cleanup detail watched. All but the four left when the warden entered.

The four ran outside into a fenced-in area. Lane went inside the area alone to talk to them.

He said LaVerne Nelson, sentenced from Marion, Ind., to 10 years for safe burglary, hit him and tore his shirt.

It was then that Saline cut his fist. He was taken to the prison hospital and the three others surrendered to the police force.

FIRES SET
Fires were set during the disturbance in a second-floor storeroom and a cannery area, with flames burning through the ceiling of the adjoining dining room.

Michigan City firemen extinguished the flames.

No damage estimates were made and Warden Lane said he was not certain who started the fires.

Says State Visitor

Speck 'Normal, Polite'

HANCOCK (UPI) — A Coast Guard officer, who visited Richard Speck in a hospital here, said today the accused mass killer appeared "very normal, very polite."

Lt. David Freeborn, Coast Guard group commander here, said he paid two courtesy calls on Speck while the tattooed seaman was hospitalized in early May for an emergency appendectomy.

"All I knew him as was a sailor off a ship," Freeborn said.

Speck was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital May 3 from the Great Lakes on boat C. B. Randall.

Freeborn said Speck "certainly" appeared rational and was "very normal, very polite."

NO TROUBLES

He said during one 20-minute conversation and another shorter visit Speck mentioned no troubles except his appendicitis attack.

Rowboat Crew Missing at Sea

LONDON (UPI) — Lloyds of London has asked ships in the North Atlantic to watch for the rowboat "Puffin" and its two-man British crew. The Puffin, launched 48 days ago 400 miles at sea, left the United States May 21.

Britons John Houre and David Johnson set out to row the tiny craft across the Atlantic to England.

The Lloyd's alert was issued after Houre's parents became concerned over lack of reports on the "Puffin."

PICTURESQUE HARBOR SAVED—Fears that a new harbor would cause razing of picturesque "Fishtown" at Leland died as efforts of residents saved the artist-tourist attraction. Ground-breaking Saturday for an $800,000 harbor at this community off Lake Michigan left the old harbor as is. Both small boat skippers and artists can be happy. The new harbor will provide a needed small craft facility between Frankfort and Charlevoix.

Italy's Fanfani Off for Poland

ROME (AP) — Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani left by plane today for Warsaw, Poland, to discuss Viet Nam, the rival military alliances in Europe and the chances for disarmament with Poland's Communist government.

Estero, a Foreign Ministry publication, outlined the topics expected to be discussed by Fanfani and Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki.

Estero noted that Poland was one of three countries on the Viet Nam control commission set up by the 1964 Geneva Conference. The publication said, "The Polish government showed at every moment that it aimed at containing and settling the conflict in Southeast Asia."

LONG TALK
Fanfani had a long talk on July 9 with Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, who came here to explain to Pope Paul VI and the Italian government the reasons of the United States for stepping up the air war against North Viet Nam.

He asked Speck if he needed money.

"As I remember he said he had money to get back to Chicago and catch his ship," Freeborn said.

Speck did rejoin the Randall's crew but returned here June 23 to visit John Laakaniemi, 28, an attractive nurse he met at St. Joseph's Hospital while recuperating from his operation.

Miss Laakaniemi described Speck as a brilliant, gentle man who changed between his hospitalization and his June visit.

When he returned, she said, "he had a natter in him."

Miami Teen Sneezing Again

MIAMI (UPI) — A Miami teenager may have to face an electrical shock device today in an attempt to halt a relapse of sneezes that continued for five months earlier in the year.

John Clark began sneezing again yesterday and will see Dr. Malcolm Kushner today to find out what can be done about it.

Kushner helped end her 184-day seizure last month by using a device called an "upercat conditioner" which gave June an electrical jolt each time she sneezed.

Kushner said the relapse is "nothing to worry about" and said recurrence in such a situation is common.

"We'll just have to give her another treatment if necessary," he said.

Her current sneezes were coming about once every five to 10 minutes. "They're medium ones," she said, "but they're dry like the bad ones."

A "wet" sneeze, doctors said, is one of the common-cold variety, but June's "dry" sneezes are a symptom of her unusual malady.

Group of Scientists Urges Lasting Ties

LONDON (AP) — A group of scientists who helped organize the International Geophysical Year and the International Years of the Quiet Sun appealed today to governments and scientists to make such cooperation permanent.

A letter to the Times of London was signed by two Russians, four Americans, one Briton, one Belgian and one Italian. It was headed: "Scientists of the world unite."

They outlined the background of the two-year study during the International Years of the Quiet Sun, which ended last Dec. 31. It included close cooperation by scientists from 71 countries studying the sun and earth under conditions of minimum solar activity.

It formed a complementary exercise to the even greater scientific cooperative project of seven years ago, the International Geophysical Year.

"Men of science of every nation have been brought together in a spirit of friendly understanding and cooperation which has known no barriers of nationality, race, color, religious or political opinion," the letter said.

"These worldwide cooperative scientific projects have shown conclusively that, however many and serious are the political problems that trouble the human race, it is possible for all the nations of the world to work closely together in great enterprises for the common good."

Signers of the letter included V. Belousov, Soviet geophysical committee, Academy of Sciences; Lloyd V. Berkner, director of the Southwest Center for Advanced Studies at Dallas, Texas; W. J. G. Beynon, Department of Physics, University of Wales, Aberystwyth; Sydney Chapman, High Altitude Observatory, Boulder, Colo.; J. Coulomb, National Center of Space Studies, Paris; G. Laclavere, director of the National Geographic Institute, Paris; Homer E. Newell, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Washington, D.C.; M. Nicolet, Royal Meteorological Institute, Brussels; Martin A. Pomerantz, Bartol Research Foundation, Swarthmore, Pa.; N. V. Pashkov, director of the Institute of Terrestrial Magnetism and Radio Wave Propagation, Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R.; and G. India Debate on Violence Gets Violent

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Wild shouting erupted in Parliament today and for the first time in India's 19 years of independence, the speaker was forced to adjourn the House in an effort to regain control.

The disorder began during debate on riots and strikes in the northern state of Uttar Pradesh. The government rural said police fired tear gas today to break up angry mobs of demonstrators in Lucknow, the state's capital.

Leftist members of Parliament tried to introduce a censure motion against Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government, charging it with inability to maintain law and order in Uttar Pradesh.

Home Minister Gulzari Lal Nanda was accused of lying when he said the situation was under control. When the speaker of the lower House, Hukam Singh, disallowed the censure motion, shouts of "Shame!" went up.

HOOR RECESS
"Today," the speaker said, "history is being made in this House for an hour."

The Lucknow violence stems from a two-week strike by state government employees demanding a higher cost of living allowance. Students are demonstrating in support of their demands and the strike has spread to other cities in the state, paralyzing government machinery.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's whirlwind "Meet the People" weekend trip to the Midwest is just a sample of what is going to be a fast and furious political pace in the weeks ahead.

The Chief Executive's flying visit to Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky was avowed "nonpolitical" — he even included a stray Republican or two in his entourage — but his style and the grueling pace he set were reminiscent of the barnstorming days of the 1964 campaign.

After 13 hours and nine speeches Saturday, Johnson was weary but exhilarated, as he always is when he comes in contact with friendly crowds. And crowds there were — an estimated 100,000 persons saw and heard him in the three states.

He ignored sticky 90-degree heat and, toward the end of the day, a light drizzle to deliver impromptu speeches to the throngs that gathered to see him. Time and again he plunged into the crowds to "press the flesh."

He has said, only half-jokingly, that he may visit all 50 states before November elections. Whether he does or not, it is certain that he will see and speak to a great many Americans before Nov. 8 rolls around.

MEET THE PEOPLE

"I think a part of the President's job is to go out into the country, to meet the people, to talk to them, and to exchange viewpoints with them," Johnson told a news conference last week, adding, "I will take advantage of every opportunity to go out into the country to discuss our program, our convictions, and to tell them what we stand for, and ask for their support."

This year's effort probably won't match that of 1964 for sheer scope — he was running nationwide for the Presidency then — but he is campaigning in selected states and congressional districts now — but there'll be a close family resemblance.

For one thing, Johnson is not about to give up his evangelistic style, nor will he attempt to fizzle over the touchy Viet Nam issue.

As he neared the end of his hectic Saturday, he opened up with his heaviest artillery on the critics of his Viet Nam policy, accusing them of blindness toward Communist aggression and atrocities.

CRITIC NEARBY

At Vincennes, Ind., with one of those critics, Sen. Vance Harke, D-Ind., sitting on the plane for a nearby, Johnson charged that men who are exercising their right to dissent against U.S. actions have ignored Red transgressions in Southeast Asia.

The growing warmth of the crowds as he got deep into the heart of small town America — Lawrenceville, Ill., Jeffersonville, Ind. — seemed to inspire him to go out.

"When they (the Viet Cong) bombed one of our barracks in the city of night and killed our men at 2 in the morning, the only speeches I heard the next day were against our government."

"They bombed and injured some of our American boys in South Viet Nam today, and I doubt that you will hear many speeches in this country... I doubt that you will see any columns written... I doubt that your commentators will lecture them for the number of bombs they dropped on that hospital."

"I just wonder why they're so anxious to get us to stop bombing to protect our men and they never say a word about stopping them (the Communists) from infiltrating and killing our men," Johnson said.

LBJ Speeds Up Political Pace

'Meet the People' Trip Similar to 1964 Style

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's whirlwind "Meet the People" weekend trip to the Midwest is just a sample of what is going to be a fast and furious political pace in the weeks ahead.

The Chief Executive's flying visit to Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky was avowed "nonpolitical" — he even included a stray Republican or two in his entourage — but his style and the grueling pace he set were reminiscent of the barnstorming days of the 1964 campaign.

After 13 hours and nine speeches Saturday, Johnson was weary but exhilarated, as he always is when he comes in contact with friendly crowds. And crowds there were — an estimated 100,000 persons saw and heard him in the three states.

Red Chinese Say Mao Took 9-Mile Swim

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist Chinese Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, 72, is feeling so well he recently took a nine-mile swim down the Yangtze River, Peking radio claimed today.

The broadcast appeared aimed at dispelling recent rumors Mao was in poor health.

It said Mao led 5,000 persons in a swim across the Yangtze as part of a physical fitness campaign.

Later, according to the claim, a grinning Mao again immersed himself in the water and began swimming.

Stroking his way through the water with the current, Mao occasionally turned over on his back and looked up at the sky.

TAUGHT GIRL

The broadcast said the aging leader taught one girl to swim on her back en route.

The Red Chinese broadcast said Mao, in "splendid" health, churned down the Yangtze for 65 minutes before boarding a launch to rest.

Luci Urged to Cut Down Hectic Pace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The hectic pace of a White House bride-to-be is leaving its mark on Luci Johnson — and her mother is urging her to slow down and get more rest before the big day, now less than two weeks away.

Luci accompanied her father, the President, to services at Church yesterday, even though she appeared weary from her strenuous round of prewedding activities.

As she walked down a long flight of steps at the church, with her father firmly gripping her arm, she seemed pale and fatigued.

But, like most 19-year-olds, Luci made a quick recovery.

She later attended Mass at a Roman Catholic church and then went to a party for one of her bridesmaids.

"MORE SLEEP"

"Her mother says she needs more sleep, because of her steady round of activities over the last few days," said Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary.

Otherwise, she said, Luci is in good health.

AUTOBAHN TRAGEDY — Twenty-eight Belgian schoolchildren, their driver and two teachers were killed today when their bus crashed off a bridge at Idstein, Germany, and plunged to a road below. Nine children were reported seriously injured. The bus, carrying the 40 persons home from a summer camp, broke through the bridge side, somersaulted and crashed on its roof.

Congress Shapes Bills to End Airline Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., overhauled his proposal for ending the 18-day airline strike today and said the Senate should pass it as soon as possible.

Republicans were at work on a strike-stopping bill of their own, raising the possibility that a dispute over the proper course to take might delay the first phase of congressional action.

Morse, who first proposed a bill that would have the government run the airlines while the contract dispute is settled, scrapped that for another which would pave the way for a back-to-work order and set up a mediation panel to seek a permanent settlement.

At the Labor Department, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said negotiations were stalemated and that there was virtually no chance of agreement as long as emergency legislation was being seriously discussed in Congress.

"Everybody is going to wait to see what kind of a shoe is dropped up there," Reynolds said after another fruitless round of talks with the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and negotiators for United, Eastern, National, Northwest and Trans World airlines.

Morse said he will seek action today in the Senate Education and Labor Committee when it meets in executive session.

3 Promotions at GM Truck

Positions Are Filled in Sales Management

The promotion of Robert C. Stetler to the position of general sales manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division was announced today by Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager.

He succeeds Richard C. Woodhouse, who is retiring under provisions of the General Motors retirement program after serving the division for more than 36 years.

Werner also announced the promotions of Edward F. Harris, former central regional sales manager, to two newly created positions.

Lewis is promoted to retail sales manager for coaches and trucks. In addition to directing coach sales activities he now will also be responsible for the division's retail and fleet truck sales functions.

Harris is promoted to the new post of executive assistant to the general sales manager. He will report to Stetler and direct activities of the truck distribution, organization and analysis.

N. Viets Fade Into Jungles After Big Fight

Cong Strike on Fringe of Saigon, Downing Jet, Hitting Outposts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Vietnamese army regulars faded into the jungles near North Viet Nam's border today after mauling a U.S. Marine company in a blazing weekend fight.

But the Viet Cong struck on the fringes of Saigon, blasting down a U.S. Air Force F100 jet fighter and attacking a string of government outposts.

Guerrilla ground fire brought down the jet 20 miles outside Saigon but U.S. military officials said the pilot ejected and was recovered safely.

It was the 118th U.S. Air Force plane lost in the South. Hours earlier, the Viet Cong hit nine South Vietnamese outposts in a crescent south of the capital with machine gun and mortar fire.

ATTACKED CAMP — They also attacked a camp for Communist defectors 26 miles to the south, then withdrew after wounding several former comrades.

The wave of hit-and-run attacks south of Saigon was a Communist response to the large-scale ground and air operations elsewhere in the country by American, Korean and South Vietnamese troops.

In the far north just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines continued to press into the rugged hills and deep jungles where 698 North Vietnamese regulars have been reported killed in an 11-day sweep.

Pontiac Div. Announces Record Sales

Pontiac Motor Division announced today a record sale of Pontiacs and Tempests for the middle 10 days this month.

General Sales Manager Thomas L. King said sales totaled 25,031 units for the July 11-20 period.

The previous record for the period was set in 1965 when 19,999 new cars were sold, 25 per cent less than the recent pace.

The gains at Pontiac Motor Division were instrumental in the over-all increase in car sales for General Motors Corp. the second 10 days of July.

GM, which supplies more than 50 per cent of the market, said Saturday its sales totaled 121,188 passenger cars during the period, compared with 114,436 the same 10 days last year.

AMC DECLINES — Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. also reported increased car sales for the period, while American Motors Corp. said its sales declined.

Ford, Chrysler and AMC reported their figures Friday. GM noted there were nine selling days in the 1966 period compared with only eight last year.

DEATH ON GOLF COURSE — The wreckage of the light plane that crashed and burst into flames at Lansing, Ill. Sportsman's Golf Club, killing professional golfer Tony Lema, his wife and two others, lies in a water hazard near the course's seventh green. The plane was en route to Joliet, Ill. from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had just completed play in the PGA Tournament.

Plane Crash Kills Lema

LANSING, ILL. (AP) — Tony Lema, the delightful Champagne Kid whose quick wit and flashing smile had charmed the golfing millions of two continents, died as he had lived — on a golf course.

Lema, 32, his wife, Betty, and two others were killed last night when their light plane

British Open, played that year at craggy old St. Andrews. He had never before played the course, nor had he ever used the smaller British ball, nor did he even practice.

Loose and relaxed, he took a 73 on the opening round, then set his jaw, barged into the lead and held off a closing challenge by Nicklaus to win the tournament, one of the most prestigious in the world.

He also won the $50,000 World Series of Golf in 1964. His earnings soared to $101,816.62 in 1965 and he won the Carling World and his second straight Buick Open.

plunged into the manicured turf of a golf course straddling the Indiana-Illinois border, a course where Lema was to have played a one-day tournament today.

The other victims were Mrs. Doris Mallen of Joliet, Ill., the pilot, and Dr. George Bard of Kankakee, Ill., the copilot.

The plane was en route to Joliet from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had played in the Professional Golfers Association Championship yesterday. It crashed and burst into flames on the Lansing Sportsman's Club course.

A witness, Loukas Campagna, said the low-flying plane swerved to avoid a group of people standing near the club house, the engines died, then started and died again, and the plane plunged to the ground, digging up a furrow near the seventh green before bursting into flames.

A HERO — "The pilot was a hero," he said. "The plane swerved to the left—if it didn't a lot of people would have been hurt."

Lema was born in Oakland, Calif., and grew up and played on the municipal courses in and around the San Francisco area until he joined the Marines in 1952.

He spent 13 months as an assistant pro in the San Francisco area after leaving service, took a job as head pro in Elko, Nev., then joined the professional tour in 1957.

He was fourth on the money winning list in 1963 and skyrocketed to golf's upper echelon in 1964. That year he captured the Bing Crosby, the Thunderbird and Buick opens and the hearts of the British.

Speck Case Ready to Go to Grand Jury

CHICAGO (AP) — Evidence the state will use in its case against Richard Speck, accused of strangling and stabbing eight nurses, was scheduled to be presented to the Cook County grand jury today.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward said yesterday, "We anticipate the presentation of this case to the grand jury Monday."

Speck, 24, is confined to the city jail hospital where he has been since his arrest July 17. His condition was reported yesterday as satisfactory.

Speck is charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davy, 22, who police believe was the first of the eight nurses killed when an intruder forced his way July 14 into the South Side townhouse where the nurses lived.

Green Beret Training Chief Missing on Plane in Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Search planes fanned over the Pacific today between here and Honolulu for a missing DC3 with four persons aboard, including Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr., the man in charge of training the Army's Green Berets.

The presence of Stilwell, son of famed World War II commander "Vinegar" Joe Stilwell, on the plane was confirmed early today by his mother at her home in Carmel, Calif.

His Statement Says 'No Trial in View' for Gls

Harriman Cautions Hanoi About Taking Action Against Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department withheld comment today on a cable from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to the Columbia Broadcasting System declaring there is "no trial in view" for captured American airmen.

CBS had sent a message Thursday to the North Vietnamese leader asking whether he had decided to place the airmen on trial.

Ho's four-word reply, in English was received yesterday.

The Hanoi government had indicated earlier that the captured pilots would be tried as war criminals.

The Pentagon says about 45 Americans are captives in North Viet Nam and contends they should be treated as prisoners of war.

ISSUES WARNING — Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman again cautioned Hanoi yesterday against going through with threats to try the Americans, but declined to predict what sanctions the United States might impose. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Rating Unfair, Says Court Race Hopeful

A Probate Court candidate who scored second in the ratings of the Oakland Citizens League has filed a protest with the organization because the brother-in-law of the preferred candidate is a member of the rating committee.

Protesting the committee's "sense of propriety and judgment" is Burton R. Shifman, a municipal judge in Oak Park for 10 years, and one of five candidates seeking the probate seat.

The committee gave the top rating to Eugene A. Moore, son of Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore, and the brother-in-law of Birmingham attorney Walter R. Denison, who is on the committee that interviews and then rates election candidates.

Telegrams asking for another interview by an "impartial committee" were sent by Shifman to Richard J. Wallace, league president and Basil E. Brown, chairman of the interviewing committee.

Wallace said this morning that he had not received his telegram, but would probably consult with board directors on the matter when he did. Brown is on vacation.

NOT PRESENT — Denison was not present at Shifman's interview, "but I understand he was when at least two other probate candidates were," Shifman said this morning.

"It doesn't make any difference if he was or was not," Shifman said. "He still decided on the ratings."

Shifman received a rating of 93, while Moore was scored at 94.

"The league provides a necessary service in rating candidates, and I have no argument with them," said Shifman, "but to protect their integrity, I feel that another interview is needed."

The interview, he said, represents 75 per cent of the scoring.

OU's Senior Coeds Will Try Key Plan

Late-hour privileges will become a key issue to senior coeds living on the Oakland University campus this fall. Under an experimental program, senior coeds and those 21 years of age and over will be given keys for admittance to dormitories after closing hours.

Female students normally are required to be in their residence halls by midnight during the week. They can stay out until 2 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Beginning this fall, all those who have celebrated their 21st birthdays and are in good standing with the university can apply for key privileges. Senior women under 21 must have permission from their parents to obtain a key.

Girls who check out a key can return to their residence halls anytime between midnight and 8 the next morning.

KEEP STANDARDS

They still will be expected to maintain the standards and live within the regulations of the university, according to Dean of Women Patricia Houtz.

The coeds themselves will decide when they want to stay out later than closing hours and they will be required to indicate where they can be reached, she said.

As an example, Miss Houtz said the keys would be handy for coeds attending programs in Detroit—"so they won't have to break their necks getting back."

The experiment, which came out of a request made by coeds last year, follows a study made of similar programs at other colleges throughout the nation.

The university last year began allowing all students over 21 to live in off-campus housing if they so desired.

OWN HOUSES

Miss Houtz noted that the coed living in an apartment keeps her own hours and is not restricted by the university.

"By the time a girl is a senior, she is mature enough to use judgment," Miss Houtz said.

Bill Would End U.S. Executions

Hart Asks Abolition in All Federal Crimes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart introduces today a bill to abolish the death penalty for federal crimes and substitute life imprisonment.

"The death penalty is a symbol of a dying order of vengeance and death," the Michigan Democrat said, adding that there is no evidence that capital punishment deters crime.

The bill would not affect capital punishment under state laws. But Hart said 13 states already have abolished the death penalty and he hoped his bill would encourage other states to do so.

He also said 72 nations have eliminated executions either by law or custom, with Great Britain "the most recent and impressive example."

'INEFFECTIVE'

"The death penalty is ineffective in deterring crime," Hart said in a prepared Senate speech. "It discriminates against the poor and friendless. And the mistakes, few but inevitable, which are made in its application are irrevocable."

Federal law carries the death penalty for such crimes as kidnapping, espionage, treason, aircraft piracy, train robbery and assassination. Military personnel can be executed for aiding the enemy, cowardice, desertion, sedition and spying.

In addition, the federal law, which carries the death penalty for rape and murder.

Hart, in urging abolishment of the death penalty in these cases, cited a mass of statistics that he said had convinced him capital punishment is ineffective in deterring crime.

Listed as joining him in sponsoring the bill were Sens. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D.; Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill.; Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.; Maurice B. Neuberger, D-Ore.; William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

New Group Takes Reins in Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A new government took control today of this politically and economically shattered nation with Lt. Gen Suharto, the army strongman, in firm control.

The new government led President Sukarno in an even more isolated position, cut off almost completely from any real power. The new 29-member cabinet replaces one of 100 members that Sukarno easily manipulated.

Suharto 46, made himself chairman of the new cabinet and defense minister and kept his post as army chief.

He kept the two civilians he named shortly after assuming power in March in office.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik was named to take charge of political affairs.

FINANCE HEAD

Sultan Hamengku Buwono remains as minister in charge of economy and finance.

Suharto also heads a new five-man presidium with Malik, Buwono, First Minister Idrus (chairman of People's welfare and Samsul Harjawan, minister of industry and development.

Suharto let it be known that all ministers with business must first take it to the presidium. The presidium will then pass it on to Suharto and he will act on it if necessary.

This new order blocks ministers from going directly to Sukarno as they did in the past.

NEWS CONF

Suharto made the announcement of the new cabinet at a news conference two hours before Sukarno was to do so.

The new cabinet contains 12 military men but Suharto told newsmen not to say it was dominated by the military.

Suharto repeatedly referred to his mandate from congress which gives him a wide range of authority.

He is clear that he is in firm command of the new government and that Sukarno will remain a figurehead.

States would invoke if the trials were held.

Harriman, appearing on a Washington television program, also indicated that Hanoi has shown no willingness to exchange the U.S. airmen in the north for several hundred North Vietnamese prisoners held in the south.

But the ambassador, who heads U.S. efforts in behalf of the American prisoners, said, "There has been some movement" in efforts to free some 80 GIs held by Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said yesterday in Chicago that Hanoi would violate its own promise for safe treatment of prisoners if it does try the U.S. airmen.

DISPLAYS LEAFLET

Pucinski displayed a leaflet printed in both English and Vietnamese and signed "South Viet Nam Liberation Army."

"Obviously, you are a prisoner of war. You have no rights and no responsibilities to observe the code of conduct of the U.S. Army," the leaflet said in part.

"The South Viet Nam National Liberation Front is struggling for national independence, having justice and applying a humane, lenient policy towards prisoners of war: no killing, no beating, no humiliating prisoners of war."

Pucinski apparently based his conclusion on the official U.S. policy that Hanoi controls and directs the operations of the National Liberation Front, or Viet Cong as it generally is known.

'NO DOUBT'

Thus, he said, "There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that Hanoi will commit a monumental violation of its own code for treatment of prisoners of war if it attempts to prosecute or otherwise punish our American soldiers."

'Let Gibraltar Be Province'

British Proposal Made in Hassle With Spain

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government has proposed turning Britain's colony of Gibraltar into a province, as part of new live-and-let-live arrangements with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spain.

But diplomatic officials, reporting this today, stressed Franco's claim to sovereignty over the historic rock remains totally unacceptable to the British.

In secret exchanges with Spain on Gibraltar's disputed future, the British have put forward a series of proposals portrayed as a compromise offer. Informants outlined these highlights of the British plan:

- To rid the rock of the stigma of colonialism it would be regarded as a sort of British Province. Its ruling authority would be more like a council of aldermen under a mayor than a cabinet topped by a premier.
- The Spanish government would be free to set up a mission under an agent-general in Gibraltar to protect its national interests and to work with the local authority in such matters as combating smugglers, frontier and customs control, economic cooperation.
- The British would pull down the 58-year-old wall which separates the so-called neutral zone between Gibraltar and Spanish territory — provided the Spanish quit their strict control of traffic flowing from the rock into their land.
- The British would give facilities to use the British-run airport in the neutral zone, but with no rights to share in its control.

A foreign office spokesman refused to confirm or deny the accuracy of these reported proposals which, the informants said, are under formal Spanish study.

Thant Arrives in Moscow to Discuss Viet

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations arrived today to discuss with Soviet leaders the Viet Nam problem and his own continuation in office.

Pravda, the Communist party paper, welcomed him with front-page praise for his work, suggesting this country will support him for another five-year term as head of the U.N. secretary.

But there was no hint that anything new on Viet Nam would come out of Thant's four-day visit. The Soviet Union has gone to great pains to keep publicly clear of any peace efforts, explaining that Hanoi has not asked for them.

A small group of Soviet officials, on hand to greet Thant as he arrived, was led by First Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov.

Benton Works Feature of October Art Festival

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Arts Festival this October will be highlighted by a public showing of the works of "the grand old man of American art," Thomas Hart Benton.

Benton, 76, is regarded as the foremost painter of American life in the South.

He was responsible for almost singlehandedly reviving the art of mural painting in this country after World War I.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Benton, general chairman of the festival, have announced the appointment of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Newburg as chairman of the Thomas Hart Benton exhibition.

"This year's art festival, 'Festival 10' is being sponsored by the Bloomfield Art Association and coincides with the association's 10th anniversary.

A week-long schedule of special events will be held at the Birmingham Art Center during "Festival 10" week, Oct. 1-8, and displays and demonstrations are slated for the daytime.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Besides bringing in used cars, the measure goes beyond the bill passed unanimously by the Senate last month in assuring that all cars, buses and trucks are covered.

Howard Benedict at Cape Kennedy, standing in front of a giant missile tracking device, is wearing the splash suit required of all personnel in the launching area.

Attention Earth People! We have just received another message from Howard Benedict.

Every time something takes place or takes off from Cape Kennedy, we hear about it from Howard Benedict. And so do you.

Benedict is the chief aerospace writer for The Associated Press, and one of the chief reasons why our reports of the space program, from the first Alan Shepard flight in the Freedom 7 to the latest space feat, have been so complete and so authoritative.

In seven years, Benedict has witnessed more than 1200 countdowns and spent countless hours with every expert in the space program. He's as much up on the subject as anyone can be who hasn't been up in space.

Howard Benedict, of course, is just one of the many skilled AP reporters, writers, researchers and photographers covering the field. There are dozens of them, and they're all there just to make sure that we get all the news from space. Just so we can get it all to the earth people, our readers.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Asthma Is More Than an Allergy Disease

Although asthma has long been recognized as an allergic disease, other factors appear to play a part in its cause.

Their exact role is not altogether clear. For example, emotional stress, although rarely if ever the sole cause, may trigger an attack and long continued emotional stress may aggravate what would otherwise be a mild case.

Some asthmatic persons appear to have a defect of their heat-regulating mechanism.

The surface temperature of their palms is lower than that of normal persons and after immersion in cold water the temperature returns to the pre-immersion level more slowly.

This may account for the fact that a sudden cold spell often precipitates asthmatic attacks in these persons.

DUST LEVEL. Another possibility is that, with the onset of cold weather, indoor heating units are turned on and the dust level of the indoor air is increased.

If this is in truth a factor it would be helpful to have a thorough fall cleaning instead of, or in addition to, the customary spring cleaning.

Besides soot and lint, house dust often contains a variety of molds.

One of these, Candida albicans, the mold that causes thrush, has been found to be especially bad for asthmatics.

OF NO USE

Treatment with the antifungal agents used against thrush are,

however, of no use in the treatment of asthmatic attacks from this cause.

A recent study conducted in Iowa has suggested that some germ or virus present in asthmatics may be transmitted from person to person as a result of prolonged close contact.

For example, some persons who had no previous allergies developed them after 10 to 30 years with a marital partner who was asthmatic.

Furthermore, asthma was found to develop more frequently in children when the mother, with whom contact is closer, was asthmatic than when the father was afflicted.

MORE COMMON

It was also more common in siblings who occupied the same bed than in those who slept in separate beds.

A treatment for asthmatic attacks that has recently become very popular is inhalation through the mouth of isoproterenol and similar drugs in an aerosol.

One puff usually gives relief within 30 seconds but, when it doesn't, more harm than good is likely to result from taking a series of puffs at short intervals.

Therefore, if you are using an aerosol for your asthma, be sure to follow the instructions on the label.

Sing to S. America

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 98-member Frankford High School choir has left on a 36-concert tour of South America. The choir boys and girls raised $55,000 toward the $92,000 cost of the 23-day trip.

School Bus Stolen, Used by Vandals

WYOMING (AP) — Wyoming police are seeking a thief who stole a school bus and used it as a weapon of vandalism and destruction at Lamar Park.

Officers said the bus was stolen from the Christian School early yesterday. The bus was driven across the park and crashed into a fort wall at Fort Lamar.

The bus shattered the fort wall and rammed into a pile of bleachers, according to police.
