U.S. Asks Other Nations to Help End Laos Fighting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has asked several friendly governments to use their influence with Communist China in an effort to halt the fighting and save the battered neutrality of Laos.

Top U.S. policymakers, meanwhile, have started working out possible new moves by the United States in Southeast Asia if the situation there continues to deteriorate.

BISHOP C. K. MYERS

Clergyman Is Elected as Bishop

DETROIT (AP)—The Rev. Dr. C. Kilmer Myers, who has specialized in mission work in metropolitan slum areas, Friday was elected suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

Dr. Myers, elected on the third ballot at St. John's Episcopal Church, will succeed the Rt. Rev. Robert L. De Witt, newly elected bishop of Pennsylvania.

The new Michigan bishop, now director of Urban Training Center for the Christian Mission in Chicago, has written several books on New York slums. Before going to Chicago last year, he worked with three struggling lower East Side missions in New York.

INNER CITY AREA

Dr. Myers is expected to take charge of church work in Detroit's inner city area on the fringes of the downtown section. He received 117 votes from delegates and 235 from laymen on the third ballot. A total of 101 clergy votes and 184 lay votes were required for election.

Second in the balloting was the Rev. James B. Shannon, of Cambridge, Mass., a former Detroit investment banker. He polled 53 clergy votes and 45 lay votes on the final ballot.

Signal Snag on Mayor's Visit to City

Mayor Exchange Day got off to a confusing start in Pontiac this morning.

First, there was no visiting mayor. Then, there were almost two.

City officials and civic leaders were waiting for Harvey MacDonald, mayor of Union City, in the lobby of City Hall at 11 a.m. as planned.

But there was no MacDonald. A few quick phone calls resulted in a report that "the mayor and his wife" were touring Pontiac Motor Division.

City Manager John F. Reineck and Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Manager Max Adams, who is chairman of Michigan Week activities in Pontiac, sent word to get the visiting mayor to City Hall.

Mayor PRO-TEM — In a few moments, MacDonald arrived on the scene accompanied by Russell Brandt — not his wife, but Union City Mayor Pro-TEM.

They were escorted into City Hall by two Pontiac patrolmen who "found them" at South Saginaw and Prospect.

Neither MacDonald nor Brandt had been near Pontiac Motor.

Bedubbed by all the construction detours around the civic center and unable to find any natives who could give them foolproof directions to City Hall, the two visitors finally stopped and called the Police Department for help, they said.

WRONG CITY — At about the same time it was learned that the "mayor and his wife" at Pontiac Motor, were from Carson City and were visiting Lake Orion.

The request for their appearance at City Hall was promptly canceled. MacDonald and Brandt were officially welcomed by Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson, Reineck, Adams and Earl Krepps, assistant manager of the chamber.

A quick tour of City Hall followed. Then the group left for GMC Truck & Coach Division for lunch and a tour of the plant.

At about the same time it was learned that the "mayor and his wife" at Pontiac Motor, were from Carson City and were visiting Lake Orion.

Backers Hope for Later Shift in GOP Race

Ambassador Not on Ballot; Campaigners Seek to Defeat Barry

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California Draft Lodge for President Committee threw its support today to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the California Republican presidential primary race — but only in the hope of eventually getting Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge nominated.

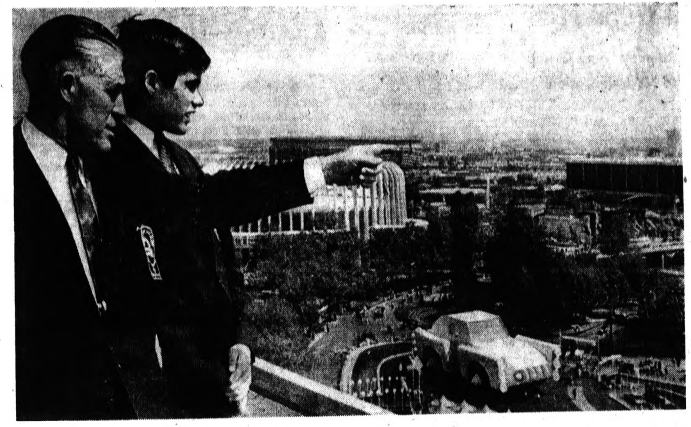

"In the California primary on June 2 there are two states of delegates on the ballot," said a statement read at a news conference by attorney Jack W. Crumley of San Diego, committee cochairman.

"The first is favorable to Gov. Rockefeller and the second is favorable to Sen. (Barry W.) Goldwater.

"We have studied the makeup of these two states of delegates. We are convinced that the Rockefeller slate, which includes such men as Sen. (Thomas) Kuchel (of California), Goodwin Knight and George Christopher closely parallels the moderate Republican philosophy of Ambassador Lodge.

"We do not have the same conviction about the Goldwater slate. We are also convinced that when and if the California delegates are released by the winner of the primary, there would be substantially more second-choice support for Rockefeller Lodge in the Goldwater slate than in the Goldwater slate."

CRUMLEY SAYS — Crumley said the group will act in California exactly as it has in other states — doing everything in its power to guarantee the election of the delegate slate offering the most eventual support to Lodge.

LBJ Asks $125 Million to Aid Viet War Step-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress today for an extra $125 million to help step up the war against communism in South Viet Nam.

The money will go into increased support of both military and civil operations of the Vietnamese.

In a special message, Johnson spelled out the needs and the intentions.

He said that "By our words and deeds to a decade of determined effort, we are pledged before the world to stand with the free people of Viet Nam."

And he said two major changes have dictated the necessity for increasing financial help to Viet Nam: "First, the Viet Cong guerrillas, under orders from their Communist masters in the North, have intensified terrorist actions against the peaceful people of South Viet Nam. This increased terrorism requires increased response."

NEW GOVERNMENT — "Second, a new government under Prime Minister Khanh has come to power, bringing new energy and leadership and new hope for effective action.

Sun and Storms Will Fight It Out

For the next five days thunderstorms will be competing with high temperatures for weather headlines.

The weatherman predicts that the storms will win today, tomorrow and the end of the week. One-half to three-fourths of an inch of rain is expected.

In a preview showdown Saturday we had .15 inches of precipitation.

When that yellow sun shows up, temperatures will average about 7 degrees above the normal high of 70 and low of 51.

The low before 8 a.m. today was 53, by 2 p.m. the temperature had risen to 62.

Overtake Case on Secret Mike

High Court Reverses N.Y. Dope Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court overturned today a narcotics conviction in which evidence was obtained by use of a hidden microphone.

The conviction was that of Winston Massiah in New York. Massiah, a codefendant, Jesse Colson, pleaded innocent to narcotics charges and were released on bail.

Massiah's counsel said Colson then decided to cooperate with investigators and a customs agent put an electronic transmitter in Colson's car.

Colson invited Massiah to take a ride in the car. The agent, in another car, was aided by the electronic device to pick up the conversation between Colson and Massiah.

At Massiah's trial in U.S. District Court, the agent testified to statements by Massiah. Colson was not called to testify and did not appear at the trial.

9 Risk Factors Endanger Your Heart

(EDITOR'S NOTE—A prize-winning science writer and a nationally known heart specialist have teamed up to tell you what positive action you can take without much trouble to fend off or fight down a heart attack or stroke. This is the first of 12 articles condensed from their new book, "Your Heart Has Nine Lives.")

By ALTON BLAKESLEE and JEREMIAH STAMLER, M.D.

Every hour the roster lengthens, name by name. Stouffer... Jones... Baker... Wendt... Sullivan... McFadden... Radcliffe... Cohen... only 31 to 60 years old... each dead of a heart attack.

None died from either a bug, bullet or bomb.

Each had lived his way into a premature heart attack. By habit or choice, each had run certain risks that raised his chances of being stricken.

His seemingly sudden heart attack had been building up to crisis for years. COULD REDUCE Yet — had he known and had he acted — each could have reduced any of nine risk factors which, by all we know, make a man more susceptible to a heart attack far too early in life.

He could have acted... and you still can.

Control one of the nine risk factors, and you take a step to boost your chances for longer life. Control them all, and then in a sense your heart has nine lives. In a month or a few months time you can reduce your risks.

Each day, on the average, heart disease kills 1,400 Americans, and cerebral brain strokes take another 500 lives.

LIFE A MINUTE — In total, the toll is more than a life a minute, and uncounted hundreds of thousands are crippled every year.

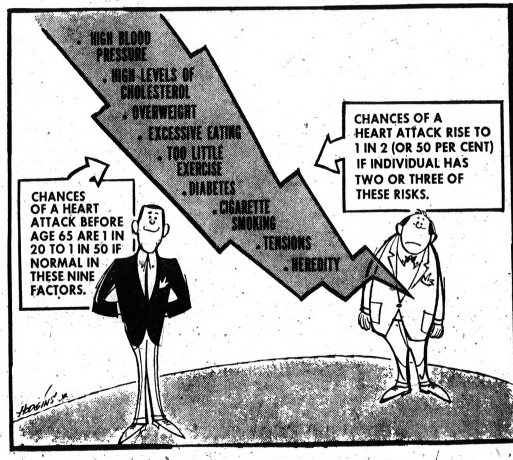

We know the name of the killer.

It is atherosclerosis, the hardening and thickening, clogging and narrowing of the vital arteries carrying nourishing blood to the muscle tissue of your heart, and to the cells of your brain demanding life-sustaining oxygen.

Your heart is the sturdiest, toughest muscle of your body. In our epidemic of heart disease, thousands of hearts are still which are actually too good, too sound, to die prematurely.

BASIC CAUSE — The basic cause is interference with the heart's own supply lines or arteries from atherosclerosis, a kind of biological rust.

Michigan Day at World's Fair

Romney Leads Group to NY Celebration

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan Week, when nearly everybody in the state can become a Chamber of Commerce, was getting national exposure today at the World's Fair.

Gov. George W. Romney led a delegation of several hundred business and industrial leaders and educators to the Fair for Michigan Day festivities.

The Michigan delegation arrived by auto, train and plane to boost the state and its Michigan Week theme: "Michigan: Great in Resources and Opportunities."

Romney touted the state's horn on the network television show "Today," then began a hectic schedule at the fairgrounds.

Bands from the University of Michigan and Michigan State and singers from the University of Detroit were to add musical zest.

STATE'S BEAUTIES

Also appearing on behalf of the Wolverine state was actress Julie Harris, a former Grosse Pointe resident. Michigan's various festival queens also were here.

"This is the biggest day we have had," said Thomas Herbert, assistant chief of protocol.

Ralph Swan, executive secretary of Michigan Week, estimated that $10,000 was spent to make today's show a bellringer.

Romney's schedule included two breakfast appearances. He went first to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel for a get-together arranged by representatives of Michigan colleges and universities.

BREAKFAST

Then the governor breakfasted at the Top of the Fair. This was sponsored by the University of Michigan.

Romney was to make stops at the General Motors exhibit and the United States pavilion, where New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was official host.

Romney planned to speak there and again in the afternoon at the Michigan Village.

He will officiate at the program for the lighting of the Tower of Light before heading back to Lansing tonight.

Back in Michigan, meanwhile, the mayors of cities and hamlets swapped jobs for the day, a highlight of Government Day.

Sunday was Spiritual Foundations Day and an appropriate service was conducted on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing.

projects and programs open to the parents.

Some have planned assembly programs with a Michigan Week theme, or have scheduled field trips to farms and factories for a first-hand look at Michigan enterprises.

Still more activities scheduled by the schools include study projects on the state's history, song sessions, a tulip festival saluting western Michigan, and even breakfast programs.

The breakfasts, featuring Michigan food products, are scheduled both for the Drayton Plains and Burt schools.

Corn meal, apple juice, eggs, wheat bread and maple syrup are some of the products to be served.

Many of the school activities are open to the public. Parents are particularly invited to attend.

DRAYTON PLAINS

An example of a full-scale program with parents invited to attend is that planned at Drayton Plains School for various days this week.

Kindergarten youngsters, after visiting a farm, will make butter and serve it to their parents with crackers all day Thursday.

Third graders at the school tomorrow afternoon will demonstrate some of the new mathematics processes they have learned this week.

A concert and songfest Thursday at 1 p.m. featuring Michigan songs is the entertainment category beginning band students at the school have chosen for their parents.

BULLETIN BOARD

First graders have prepared a bulletin board display, the second graders will read for their parents; fourth graders are planning the breakfast Thursday at 9 a.m. and the fifth graders have studied logging in the state's history and will make travel posters illustrating good vacation spots.

Fourth graders at Lambert School will prepare story charts in Michigan industry.

One chart will trace a tree through various stages of processing to its conversion in to a piece of furniture.

Waterford Village School sixth graders will present a pageant of Michigan's pre-Civil War days with the emphasis on the part played by the French in the state's early development.

TOUR CAPITOL

Both fourth grade classes at Pontiac Lake School will tour the Capitol in Lansing. They will be accompanied by their teachers and a group of parents.

Another special Michigan Week activity in the schools will be the pageant on the state's history presented by fourth graders at Montclair School in a series of tableaux.

Michigan Week also will be observed by the Waterford-Drayton Rotary Club at the organization's 50th annual Michigan Week banquet tomorrow at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Jay Zee, featured speaker at the dinner program at the Community Activities building, will be discussing "An Adventure Into Hypnosis." Dr. Don O. Tatroe will be discussing "Hypnosis."

Entertainment at the banquet will feature selections by the Waterford Civic Chorus and organist William Terry. The banquet is open to the public.

9 Risk Factors Endanger Your Heart

medical detective work, that atherosclerosis really is due to a conspiracy of factors.

There is no one single cause, but rather a constellation of causes. Now we know the chief suspects in this deadly syndrome.

Look at the roll call:

- High blood pressure.
- High levels of cholesterol, a particularly dangerous fatty material, in the bloodstream.

- Overweight.

- Excessive eating, especially of certain types of fats and cholesterol.

- Too little exercise and physical activity.

- Diabetes.

- Excessive cigarette smoking.

- Tensions and stresses.

- Heredity.

If you are beset by any one of them, your risk of a premature heart attack is boosted two to six times above the risk of the person free from such a burden.

With a combination of factors, your risk is far higher.

LESS CHANCE

A man's chances of having a heart attack before age 65 are only about 1 in 20 to 1 in 50 if he has normal weight, normal blood pressure, average or low levels of blood cholesterol, no diabetes, is not a heavy cigarette smoker, is moderately active, has a normal electrocardiogram, and has no damage to his kidneys or thyroid gland.

His chances rise to 1 in 2—or 50 per cent—if he is beset by two or three of the syndicate members, such as high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, or obesity.

These odds are not drawn from a hat. They are based upon what actually happened to apparently healthy middle-aged men who lived with one or more of these risk factors.

But you are not helpless. You can do something about each of these risks. You can plan to enjoy a long life.

WITH DIET

With diet, or diet combined with drugs, you can control high blood pressure and diabetes, reducing their dangers.

The cigarette smoker who quits his habit finds his risk falling toward that of the non-smoker.

SOLID BASE

We have, now, a very solid foundation of scientific knowledge from which to fight back against the toll of premature heart attacks and strokes, especially among the middle-aged.

We have strong prospects of saving hundreds of thousands of lives, and adding 10 to 20 more years to our lives.

Take careful account of these primary factors:

Coronary heart disease today is our leading killer, and the toll is increasing.

The very FIRST attacks are fatal to almost 40 per cent of victims, either immediately or 20 per cent die in the FIRST HOUR.

HIGH RISKS

Millions of us live with dangerously high risks.

There is no germ or bug that causes heart attacks.

Its causes involve the way we've been living.

Heart disease has risen to tragic prominence at a time when so many Americans are enjoying the "good life" and prosperity.

The thought is inescapable that somehow this epidemic is fundamentally due to aspects of our new modern way of life.

Some experts call it the "disease of prosperity" and blame it particularly upon the ABUSE of our prosperity.

CUSTOMS CHANGE

Our life habits and customs have changed remarkably in the last 40 to 50 years, and we've heartily welcomed most of them.

But many of these new habits and boons are associated with our high rate of premature death from heart attacks.

The heart plague flourishes in those countries, like ours, where modern urban industrial life is most developed, where the changes from a rural agricultural society—in habits of eating, exercising, working, smoking, and other ways—have been most profound.

But we can do something about it, a very great deal.

None of these steps can hurt us in any way. Rather you will very likely feel better and be healthier. They do not call for the rigors of any Spartan existence—far from it.

The time to begin is now, whether you are 20 or 40, a young man or woman, husband or wife, or parents of young children whose lives might be lengthened by 20 to 30 years because of habits being formed and followed now.

Honor Cranbrook Developers

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Three educators who helped develop Cranbrook as it is today were presented with Founders Medals during 60th anniversary ceremonies at the educational center yesterday.

Honored were Dr. Robert T. Hatt, Cranbrook Institute of Science director; Miss Malja Grottel, head of Cranbrook Academy of Art's ceramics department; and Dr. William S. Casey, former Brookside School Cranbrook music instructor.

Harry S. Booth, executive director of the Cranbrook Foundation, presented the medals during a morning service at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Many of the day's ceremonies were held at the church, the first major gift of Cranbrook's founders, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth.

Funds Below Anticipation?

County Tax Base Altered by Decision

Oakland County school districts and units of local government sharing the annual 15-mill county tax levy are likely to receive slightly less than they anticipated this year.

The State Tax Commission has recommended about a $5-million reduction in what the county proposed as its tax base.

The figure would be reduced to $2,308,684,000 if the State Board of Equalization accepts the commission's recommendation.

The county's equalized valuation, or tax base, still would be up $108 million over last year.

But the amount of taxes that could be collected on the new figure would be about $100,000 less than what was anticipated for this year.

AMOUNT SHARED

The statutory 15-mill county tax levy would produce $34.6 million to be shared by 30 school districts, 22 townships, Oakland Schools (special education) and county government.

The County Tax Allocation Board today set preliminary rates for dividing the 15 mills among all participating units.

Subject to change between now and May 28, the rates are 5.44 mills for county government, 12 mills for Oakland Schools, and 9.44 mills for school districts, less whatever is allocated to townships.

Where school districts lie within cities, the schools would get all of the 9.44 mills.

SAME LAST YEAR

Preliminary rates set for participating townships were the same as last year. They varied from 1.38 to 1 mill.

If finally adopted, the rates would give school districts 27 mills less than last year. They still would average about $500,000 more due to the increased tax base.

County government would receive $12 million in taxes toward a proposed $18.4 million budget that consequently would have to be pared to $17 million.

The county's budget for the current year is $16 million.

USE OF FUNDS

Secretary member of the county board of auditors, Robert Lilly, told the allocation board that the proposed increase of $2.4 million was needed mainly to finance improved methods of care and treatment for juvenile court wards at the Children's Village, hospitalization of more welfare patients, mostly elderly persons, and for a new South Oakland Health Center, which he said has been needed for at least 10 years.

School administrators termed the tentative increase in the county's share of the 15 mills, "a raid" on their allocation.

They said, if the county needs more mills it should ask voters to approve a special millage above the 15 mills.

In most instances, school districts receive a special voted millage in addition to their share of the 15 mills.

Lilly said the county is unable to stir voter sympathy as school districts have done through children.

DISCUSS REDUCTION

The County Board of Supervisors' equalization committee is scheduled to meet Wednesday, to discuss the State Tax Commission's recommended reduction in the proposed tax base.

The committee could recommend opposing any reduction before the State Board of Equalization which ultimately must determine the county's tax base by May 28, according to County Equalization Director Edwin Sage.

IRS Issues Warning on 1964 Tax Status

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) said today it would ask businessmen to tell their employees about the possibility that not enough money would be withheld from their paychecks to cover income taxes due next April 15.

The federal tax agency plans to mail out notices to some 4½ million companies next Friday, urging that employees be advised to review their tax status for 1964.

Many companies have indicated they already are doing this, an IRS spokesman said.

Payroll withholding may not be sufficient to cover tax liability this year because of the recently enacted $11.5 billion tax cut.

While everyone received a "substantial" reduction in taxes, it may not seem so to some taxpayers, when they file their returns next spring unless they act now to correct the situation.

TAXES WITHHELD

Starting last March 5, the rate at which taxes are withheld from wages dropped four points—from 18 down to 14 per cent. But the tax rates themselves—the rates at which taxpayers must finally pay—did not drop so fast.

Congress wrote the law so that tax rates would fall in two stages, not reaching the bottom until 1965.

Although two out of three taxpayers will continue to receive refunds, "some taxpayers may shift from the refund category to balance due, and others may owe larger balances than before," the IRS says.

Burma Pulls Big Bills Out of Circulation

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's military government has taken a further step toward the country's wealthier citizens, ordering the withdrawal of all 50 and 100-kyat bills from circulation.

The government decree yesterday said the action was in reprisal for attempts by the government's wealthy foreign and domestic opponents to sabotage its socialist program.

The two denominations comprise roughly half the money in circulation. Fifty kyats are worth about $10.

Persons in possession of these notes will be allowed to change up to 500 kyats ($100) into smaller denominations, but anything above the limit will be kept by the government until it is satisfied the money was earned honestly.

The government said large amounts had been withdrawn from nationalized banks to cause a panic among Burma's working class.

In Rangoon, many persons were vainly trying to change the big bills.

VTC Tells Plans to Expand in State

BERKLEY (AP) — The Vigilance Tax Committee, foe of city income taxes on nonresidents, announced Sunday a plan to expand statewide.

Mayor George Kuhn, chairman, said he will appear in Saginaw Tuesday and at Flint May 28 in an effort to recruit followers. He said he will have a statewide speaking tour in hopes of setting up 100 chapters in cities and towns.

VTC, composed of Detroit suburban officials, also proposes that no local income taxes be imposed without a vote of the people.

Voters to Hear Candidates for Orion School Board

LAKE ORION — Voters of the Lake Orion Community School District will be able to learn the platforms of each of the board candidates at a "Town Hall" meeting tomorrow.

"Know Your School Board Candidates" will be the theme of the session at 7:45 p.m. in the Lake Orion Junior High School. Sponsor is the Lake Orion Area PTA Council.

Each of the office-seekers will be confronted with five questions, after being introduced by Dr. Carl Anderson, director of field services for Eastern Michigan University.

The questions the candidates will be asked to answer are:

- What are your principal motives for becoming a school board candidate?
- What is your basic responsibility to children and youth, parents, non-parents, local, state and national government?
- Do you have some definite ideas on education which you believe can assist in the improvement of our schools?
- How do you think our schools should be financed in order to secure equality of educational opportunity for all children?

The schools superintendent has been called "chief executive officer of the board of education." What does this title mean to you and what do you believe should be the ideal working relationship between the board and the superintendent?

All registered voters in the district have been urged to attend the meeting and meet those vying for the two open four-year board terms.

They are incumbent trustees Mary Parker and James Basigkow; Donald J. Campbell, 1210 Bald Mountain, Orion Township; Robert Hauxwell Jr., 3093 Indianwood, Orion Township; Howard Willis, 4390 Rohr, Gingerville; and Gene Sura, 1151 Abseguami, Orion Township.

PTA Group to Install Officers

A mass installation of PTA officers is planned for the meeting of Oakland County Council of PTA's at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Douglass Houghton School, 3090 Elizabeth Lake.

Mrs. Charles Neldret of Pontiac, past president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, will install the officers.

New officers of PTA's are especially urged to attend as Mrs. Neldret, drawing on her extensive PTA background, will offer hints and helps for incoming officers.

Council officers to be installed for the coming year include Mrs. J. E. Frankenfield, president; Mrs. Kenneth Pawley, first vice-president; John Waldo, second vice-president; Mrs. R. H. Stock, recording secretary; Mrs. F. Dwane Hammond, corresponding secretary; Chester Murphy, treasurer; and Mrs. Stanley Krause, historian.

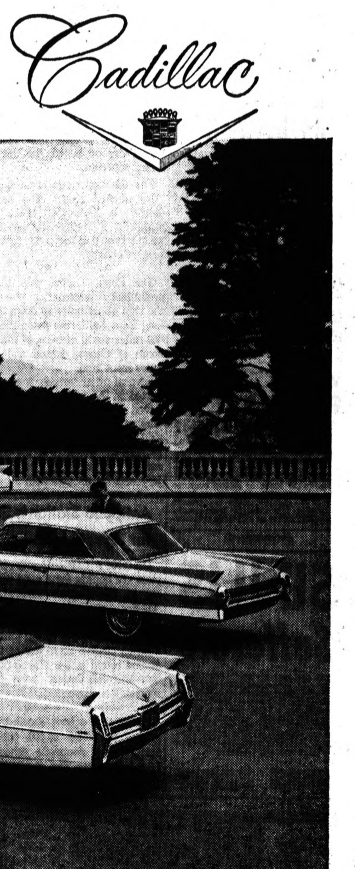

Oakland County Council includes PTA's in the school districts of Waterford, Clarkston, Brandon, West Bloomfield, Dublin and Lyon.

Millage Vote Today in Farmington Twp.

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Voters here today are considering a 2-mill levy for their police and fire departments.

The 10-year increase in millage would provide for the addition of seven officers to the police department and expansion of equipment and buildings for the fire department.

About $2,000,000 is spent to screen each newly-developed insecticide that reaches the market for use, a Michigan State University entomologist said. Only about one of each 2,000 developed reaches the market.

U.S. Agency Vetoes Army OK of Ole Miss Damage Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

CIVIL RIGHTS - DAMAGES: The Army has proposed paying $66,913 to the University of Mississippi for damages caused by federal troops, but the U.S. comptroller general's office has rejected the recommendation which followed a claim from the university.

The damages were caused by federal troops sent in after the 1962 enrollment of Negro student James Meredith.

A spokesman for the comptroller general's office said Sunday if the university wishes to press its claim it will have to go to the U.S. Court of Claims or to a federal district court.

The claims arose as a result of deployment of more than 20,000 regular Army and federalized National Guard troops at the university to end rioting that erupted after Meredith was taken to the campus to be enrolled. The university claimed the troops were tenants and liable for damages.

POVERTY: Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver contends the United States can end poverty in 10 years if Congress passes the administration's antipoverty program.

The program can reach and aid 7 million American families in its first year alone, said Shriver, named by President Johnson to head the war on poverty program.

In an interview "Sunday on ABC's radio and television show 'Issues and Answers,'" Shriver made light of Republican criticism that the pending bill would make him a czar with too much power.

"I have no intention of being a czar," he said. "I know what happened to the czars."

VIET NAM: Total U.S. casualties in South Viet Nam, killed, wounded and missing, stand at slightly more than 1,100 since this country stepped up its activity there in 1961, according to official Pentagon figures.

The record shows that 131 U.S. personnel died from action by "hostile forces," with another 98 dead from accidents or other noncombat causes. It shows 867 wounded or injured, with nine missing.

During the same period, casualties among South Vietnamese troops reached more than 41,800, on the basis of estimates made in Saigon.

PERSONNEL: Government departments and agencies, under the prodding of President Johnson, have again lowered their personnel ceilings.

The White House said the new move will cut an additional 8,665 jobs by the end of the year.

Johnson previously said personnel ceilings would be reduced by 6,526 by the end of the year. Thus, 15,191 positions will be eliminated in the budget submitted to Congress in January.

VENEZUELA FIRE — A huge ball of flame billows above the Montana Paints factory in Caracas, Venezuela, Saturday, at the peak of the worst fire in the city's history. This plant and three others were destroyed, with damage estimated at about $10 million. Investigators suspected sabotage by a pro-Communist terrorist group.

'Captivated' at Fair; Boy Gone 11 Days

NEW YORK (AP) — Dominick Tucci's run of the World's Fair ended yesterday after 11 days and nights. He thought it was a shame. He had planned to spend the summer there.

When Dominick, 12, left his Long Island home, he had hinted that he was bound for the fair. And that's where they found him, still the object of a 17-state police alert.

Somewhat disheveled, but well-fed, Dominick was reunited with his parents, five sisters and a brother.

"I got away from seven cops, and a woman had to catch me," he said.

The woman, Naomi Sallod, works at the fairgrounds and recognized him from newspaper pictures.

DAILY SEARCH

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benito Tucci, had gone to the fair in Flushing Meadow, Queens, every day to look for him, but with no luck.

Dominick started his safari by sneaking aboard a Long Island Railroad train at Port Washington, his hometown.

He climbed a fence to get into the fair. He said he was thrown out a couple of times, but just climbed back again.

SLEPT WELL

For sleeping, Dominick secluded himself in several pavilions, including one with a shipboard setting complete with lifeboat.

Was he afraid at night? "There's nothing to be afraid of," said Dominick. "The place is crawling with cops."

Once, he said, a World's Fair policeman saw him at a food stand and called, "Dominick."

"I didn't turn around," the boy said. "Then he came up and asked me if my name was Dominick. I said No."

IRISH NAME

When asked his name by policemen, Dominick said he told them "Patrick Murphy."

He said he planned to stay at the fair until this fall and then "go upstate when the fair closed."

Was he glad he had been discovered? "I don't know," he said. "I'm a little homesick. I guess I'm glad."

Dominick's father is a bricklayer. His mother, Lillian, said of her oldest son, "He's adventurous, but not a bad boy."

SEVENTH GRADER

Dominick, a seventh grader at St. Peter's parochial school in Port Washington, is a Roman Catholic.

He said he ate hamburgers almost every day.

"I ate chow mein on Friday," he said.

It Seems to Me . . .

Forecast by Auto Executives Offers Encouragement to All

A current conversation with two top automotive executives left me speechless. But very happily so. S. E. KNUDSEN, boss of Chevrolet and former Pontiac Motor general manager, asserted in no uncertain terms that business would continue at extremely high levels right on through 1965. (Yes, 1965.)

LYNN A. TOWNSEND, Chrysler boss, agreed.

This is the most extended forecast yet, and it's very significant because of the character, ability and standing of the two individuals. Both of these men are "rugged individualists" in the sense that they are perfectly willing to speak out and are not dependent upon fellow associates. Many really capable executives are always guarded in their remarks and usually hedge opinions with qualifying reservations.

Around the first of the year when top automotive men freely predicted a banner period in 1964, the pronouncements were accepted in some quarters with private doubts. But these forecasts have actually been exceeded. However, it remains for Messrs. KNUDSEN and TOWNSEND to speak of 1965 even before we reached the half-way mark in 1964.

Talk from unimpeachable sources like these is doubly welcome when you're just completing a newspaper expansion of your own in Pontiac that runs $1.5 million. This struggling business on West Huron Street can't draw on the GM or Chrysler exchequers, and everything comes through toil and travail plus "sweat and tears." Hence, this authoritative optimism strikes a very receptive and responsive chord.

New construction and expansion in America are going forward at a steady and consistent rate. New homes and apartments are dotting the Nation. Especially, do we see a very heartening amount right here in Oakland County. The City of Pontiac is becoming "completely built" but Waterford and surrounding areas witness incredible progress. Also, "cottages" around our 400 lakes are steadily converted into permanent residences or are replaced by year 'round dwellings.

New businesses are springing up in almost every sector of the land and existing firms are enlarging with added plant facilities. The happy pronouncement from the two unquestioned administrators spells out the best possible news in our area.

Deserves Thanks . . .

This whole area is deeply indebted to Waterford's Representative, LLOYD ANDERSON, for his yeoman work during the final days of the current Michigan budget.

Oakland University absolutely must have additional classrooms for incoming students. An item for $2.5 million covering a new building was scheduled in the presentation but somewhere along the financial line it was deleted.

This was tragic.

Oakland U. couldn't have handled the students by the fall of 1965 when this was scheduled to be completed. The whole educational program would have suffered a smashing setback. But Representative Anderson plunged into the matter effectively and this imperative classroom facility was saved.

The "line item" is less spectacular but is important and Mr. ANDERSON took care of that at the same time. Every year Oakland University assumes an increasingly important role in the cultural and economic progress of this sector.

Unlikely Nominee . . .

Let's discount most of this talk about ROBERT McNAMARA as the Democratic nominee for Vice President.

Too many factors shout "no." Primarily, I don't think he'd accept it. His responsibilities and contributions to the Nation are greater right where he is. Of course Johnson's death during the next four years would alter the entire picture in a dramatic and sensational way. But the President's health seems remarkably good.

Also, the Michigander has never been completely established as a rip-roaring Democrat. At best he's a "neutral" and many insist he was an unofficial Republican. Politicians invariably want dyed-in-the-wool party members for all top jobs. EISENHOWER was an exception when he was picked, for the kingpins in each party lean strongly to old-line cohorts who have graced the official party label for years—and a lifetime is preferable.

That's understandable.

McNamara is more capable than any man suggested. He really "has it." But all too often that's secondary.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

One-sixth of all the people that have ever been born are alive today. Astounding! . . . Advance reports from the Benton Harbor Fruit Market say Michigan strawberries will be one of the finest crops in memory. Weather conditions have been ideal. Real volume is reached June 7-12. Michigan growers aim at big sales in eight adjoining states. . . . Three of the hardest words in the world to pronounce: "I was wrong." . . . London authorities say forgery is declining as the old-time champs are dying out. Ballpoint pens are the easiest to imitate.

Trusted scouts advise that Lorraine (Lori) Shorey ranks as one of the very attractive girls in the area. . . . Vandalism cost New York schools $1 million last year and beginning now authorities are going to crack noggins together, sue parents for the whole damage and toss the doers to the dogs. . . . TV's Hillbillies are supposed to have gained four million listeners. Bob Hope lost half of this total and "Bonanza" gained a million. . . . Overheard: "He gets 303 shaves

New Egypt

Le Monde (Paris)
Gen. Charles de Gaulle may sponsor a settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

For the first time since the revolution of 1952 Nasser's Egypt, after a long period of arbitrary rule, seems to have committed itself to the course of constitutional stability. The notable changes that have occurred in this area during the past few days underline the desire of that country's leaders to liquidate the remains of an abnormal situation and to mobilize all its national energies.

In spite of everything, it is undeniable that the Egyptian regime is liberalizing itself. The disappearance of all organized opposition and Nasser's increased prestige at home and abroad justify a certain optimism in respect to the development of public and private liberty. Even if the economic and social reforms have not produced all the hoped-for results, normalization of the relations of the U. A. R. with the other Arab states and with the foreign powers has given rise to understandable satisfaction among Egyptians.

However, the extent to which Nasser's Egypt succeeds in raising the living standard of its people while respecting the citizen's fundamental private rights will determine the degree to which it can function as a pilot state in the eyes of the whole Arab world, always assuming that these improved living standards go side by side with the re-establishment and maintenance of peace in the region.

Remember when school parking lots were designed for bicycles instead of cars?

South Viet Nam

The Jenmin Jih-pao (Chinese Communist Party)
U. S. imperialism has fallen flat on its face in South Viet Nam in both tactics and strategy and in both the military and political fields.

The decisive factor in war is man and the role played by man in a war is determined by its nature. The "special warfare" which U. S. imperialism launched in South Viet Nam is an unjust war of aggression, while South Viet Nam's armed struggle is a just revolutionary war. All unjust wars inevitably meet with the opposition of the people; whereas all just wars enjoy their support.

The White House and the Pentagon have all the time been complaining of the low morale of the South Viet Nam puppet troops. They fail to understand that the junior officers and the rank and file of the puppet troops are by no means willing to die for U. S. imperialism or to slaughter their fellow countrymen and strangers the people's forces in South Viet Nam by setting up "strategic hamlets."

They fail to understand that such atrocities can only enrage the South Vietnamese people and make more and more people join the anti-U. S. struggle, thereby bolstering the armed strength of the people.

Bob Considine Says:

Envoy to Russia Explains Great Thaw Taking Place

WASHINGTON — With little fanfare, Sen. Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson's Subcommittee on National Security Staffing and Operations has been doing valuable work dipping into the problems encountered by American ambassadors and the support the State Department gives them in the field.

A recent witness before the Jackson subcommittee was Foy D. Kohler, ambassador to the Court of Nikita Khrushchev, one of the top (and toughest) jobs in career diplomacy.

The ambassador reported on The Great Thaw.

"I should say generally speaking it is a straightforward relationship even when you disagree," Kohler said.

"You just lay it on the line with a 'Here it is' attitude for the most part," Jackson asked him.

PLEASANT ENOUGH

"Right. And for the most part, it is a pleasant enough relationship."

The Washington Democrat asked the ambassador about the accessibility of Russian leaders.

Ambassador Kohler replied that they were easy enough to get to, but getting the "feel" of their state of mind was a tricky business.

"An illustration would be the question of the relationship between Moscow and Peking during the past couple years I've been there," he said.

FAMILY MATTER

"Officially, you could not get a Soviet leader to discuss this problem. He would say it was a family matter, and so forth."

"Unofficially, on social occasions and in private conversations you could get indications well in advance of anything published of their great and growing concern about this problem."

He called the Russians "tough bargainers," told how President Johnson and Secretary Rusk instructed him on what to do and say, and how much leeway they allow.

All is still not peaches and cream, he reported.

"We are still 'the head of the imperialist camp,'" he said.

"However, the more acrimonious comment these days has been directed toward the Chinese Communists, and this has caused a letup in the amount of attack on us. Peking is now the 'warmonger.'"

Pontiac needs a law requiring multiple-dwelling home owners to provide off-street parking for tenants. At a house on North Sanford Street five cars are parked where parking is available so home owners must park one-half block or more from their homes.

People renting apartments are making profit at the expense of other taxpayers on the block. I haven't parked near my home for two weeks and am thoroughly enraged.

Is there something we can do?

More Acclaimed Ex-Volunteer Firemen

Walled Lake had a fire department of which it could be proud. They were loyal, hard-working, fine men. Much of their equipment was purchased with association funds and many hours were spent on money-raising projects. But their morale was broken to the point where they had no alternative but to resign.

Walled Lake Resident

A lot of mean and unfair things have been said about the ex-Walled Lake Fire Fighters Association. The Press stated that a group of these men sat and watched a fire burn recently, but said nothing about some who were fighting that fire, or some who were told "If we need your help we'll let you know." These men bought one of the trucks that helped put out that fire and worked months fixing it so it could be used.

It has been stated that two were suspended for being agitators and troublemakers, but no one mentioned that one was named "Fireman of the Year" a year ago.

They purchased "Rescue Amb." a life-size dummy used for demonstrating mouth-to-mouth resuscitation along with various other equipment.

'Society Should Learn About Epilepsy'

Some misunderstanding has been generated about epilepsy and its effects. A great deal of this can be attributed to "spectacular" television drama and the Jack Ruby murder trial. Such publicity tends to negate the great scientific advancements in recent years. Our society now has the opportunity to become informed.

Dr. Samuel Livingston will show films about epilepsy on May 21, 8 p.m., the auditorium, Community Concourse, Northland. Dr. Livingston is author of a number of books and has managed the cases of 15,000 epileptic patients. Give those who happen to have epilepsy the benefit of your understanding.

Citizens Remark on Waterford Officials

Since when is attempting to protect our property and our rights considered petty troublemaking? This sounds like Waterford Trustee John Coleman's reaction to anyone who disagrees with him. Lake Oakland Heights' residents ask no more consideration or service than other Waterford Township citizens, but they don't want to be stepped on either.

Letter writer "Ashamed" obviously doesn't know much about this water tank business and apparently hasn't attended a meeting and seen the "big two" lower the gavel on complaining citizens. Lake Oakland Heights' residents fighting for their rights can join me in the higher classification.

Proud

Hurrah for "Disgusted" who wrote about Waterford's city officials and the methods they've used in obtaining a water system. Where is the money coming from to finance this? As "Disgusted" indicated, contracts are being broken throughout Waterford.

Perhaps this water system is good, but the people should have a say about it. It seems our officials are no longer interested in the fact that they were elected to represent the people. Trustee John Coleman enjoys his lordly position. If a spectator questions them he'll get verbally laid flat. Perhaps Coleman and the new supervisor regard the township as their own personal property.

U.S. Opens Confab With Red Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Romania open important economic and political talks today.

The conferences are expected to last 10 to 14 days and could mark the start of a new phase in this country's relations with the Communist nation.

Details of the agenda are kept secret but the State Department said they will deal primarily with economic subjects.

EARLY DAYS

This is the first time since the early days of communism in Eastern Europe that the United States has invited a top-level delegation from one of the Soviet bloc countries for discussions in Washington.

Officials said the invitation was in accordance with the Johnson administration policy to treat different Communist nations differently, in recognition of their differing behavior.

'They Never Lifted a Hand'

By CHARLES L. WEST

NEW YORK (AP) — Could you stand at your window and watch or hear a screaming woman vainly fight a knife-wielding killer for 35 minutes and never lift a hand to dial police?

Thirty-eight of Kitty Genovese's neighbors in New Gardens, Queens, did the night of last March 13.

Could you crowd around the glass doors or the stairwell of an office building and watch a nude young woman pleading for help as she fought off an alleged rapist? And never move to save her?

Forty people along East Tremont Avenue in the Bronx did in mid afternoon two weeks ago today.

STAND ON SHORE

Could you stand on the shore and watch two 10-year-old boys drown and the lone man who tried to save them almost lose his own life and never shove out in a boat to help?

Ten did at Atlantic City, N.J., 11 days ago.

They only watched. "Any of us could have been one of those people," said Dr. Smiley Blanton, a psychiatrist who with the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, cofounded the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry Clinic, a nondenominational clinic, here.

30 SECONDS

"The difference is, in most of us it lasts for only 30 seconds." The unwillingness of the public to become involved caused New York City police to print a pamphlet, "Law and Order is a Two-Way Street," two years ago. In reissuing it after the Genovese slaying, Asst. Police Commissioner Walter Arm said:

"This tendency to shy away from reporting crimes is a common one."

Asked why, he replied: "The whys are very deep in the minds of those who shy away. The most common answer we get is that they do not want to get involved. The tendency to mind your own business tends to be prevalent."

CALL POLICE

"We don't ask for direct intervention. All we ask is a quick call to police."

Dr. Esther Rotham, a psychologist and principal of New York City's only public school for emotionally disturbed girls, said "There has always been this element of apathy among us."

The three recent shocking examples set off a search to understand why man can be this way.

The New York Times sent a reporter to Austin Street in New Gardens to ask Miss Genovese's neighbors why they did not help.

"I don't know," the reporter was told again and again.

STAY OUT OF IT

"I didn't want to get involved," some said.

The New York Journal-American sent a reporter on a similar mission to the 500 block of East Tremont Avenue and he found a "street of no remorse."

Whatever explanations were offered reeked of rationalization.

Both reporters described neighborhoods eager to forget; anxious to return to the routine of life and commerce; resentful of the intrusion of public attention.

2 REASONS

Dr. Blanton listed two reasons why people didn't help:

—The innate problem of hate, resentment, savagery and brutality which is in all of us. You only have to look at what Germany did during the war to realize how much hate there is in the unconscious mind of many people. Only through the grace of God can we overcome that."

"There must have been something in the situation that inhibited these people; they didn't want to get involved."

Commissioner Arm said that in the Genovese case "some people said they thought it was a domestic quarrel and they didn't want to get involved. Some said they thought the girl was drunk and yelling."

NO EXPLANATIONS

Most of the witnesses in the Bronx case were passersby and detectives got no explanations, Arm added.

LINK REPORTED

Dr. Rothman thought "there are many reasons. One, particularly, is an unawareness on the part of the people who are watching of the danger involved in an unconscious denial or refusal to recognize the danger. It is a defense mechanism."

"If you are alone, you would be more likely to act. When you see a group of people watching, if they're not doing something, you think then maybe the danger doesn't exist."

"There is also a viciousness in experiencing this, a fascination, even though it's horrible, there is a sadistic enjoyment."

LINK REPORTED

Dr. Rothman spoke of the closeness—like steps of a stairway—between apathy and actual encouragement of violence.

Recently, two potential suicides—from a building in Albany, N.Y., and from the superstructure of the Brooklyn Bridge—attracted crowds who taunted them to jump.

"The people who stand there and say 'Jump! jump!' are not too different from those who only stand and watch and don't act in a helpful way," Dr. Rothman said.

We deal in nothing but happy money!

(and happy people come with it)

Happy money is money that nourishes and grows. That makes happy people. And the 100,000 members of Oakland County's 76 credit unions are most happy people! They usually collect much higher dividends on savings than anyone else... with most members currently earning 4% or better!

That kind of interest usually applies only to limited, longer-term accounts at other savings institutions. While much saving (outside credit unions) is in low-interest, or even no-interest savings, checking and Christmas Club accounts.

Not so with credit union members. They enjoy high returns, flexible-convenient savings, plus a bonus dividend in the form of life insurance to match their savings... at no extra cost!

These are just a few reasons why credit unions have so many happy people. People who are the credit union. For they—the members—own it. They run it. They tailor its policies and its services solely to meet members' needs... not to make a profit. That's why there's more incentive to save. Why it's a safe, sound investment.

Mother Says Fugitive Killed 2 Children

GADSDEN, Ala. (UPI) — A young mother told police yesterday that one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals strangled her two children with a diaper last year in Tennessee.

Mrs. Alma Matthews said that afterward, Sammy Earl Ammons, described by police as a free-spending ladies' man, weighted the bodies of her children with a rock and threw them in a septic tank as she looked on.

The bodies of John Reed, 2, and his sister, Rose Marie, 4, were found Sept. 2, 1963 in the septic tank about 10 miles east of Crossville, Tenn. Crossville is about 60 miles east of Knoxville.

Mrs. Matthews, 21, identified herself as a half-sister of Ammons' wife.

In a statement to Floyd County Sheriff Joe Adams, Mrs. Matthews told him on Saturday that Ammons' story that the children died naturally was true.

REVERSED HERSELF

In another statement given to Adams yesterday, Mrs. Matthews reversed herself and told the story of the strangling. Adams came here from Rome, Ga., to question her.

Ammons and his wife, who were captured last Friday, waived extradition to Tennessee and will be returned today to Crossville.

Mrs. Matthews was arrested by officials here shortly after Ammons was captured in Rome. She also has waived extradition to Tennessee.

Ammons told police after his capture that the children died of natural causes in May 1963 and that he helped Mrs. Matthews dispose of their bodies in the septic tank.

Mrs. Matthews said yesterday that Ammons and his wife, Barbara, "started telling me my babies would be better off dead... they were sick and crazy."

She said Ammons drove her and the two children to an area near Walden Lake, Tenn., and that Ammons "took my babies out of my arms to an old well, put a diaper around their necks and tied a rock to them and put them in the well."

Police said the "well" actually was a septic tank.

"I tried to jump in the well but (Ammons) grabbed me and told me it was all over now and that they were better off," she said in the statement.

HELD TO STORY

Adams said he confronted Ammons and his wife with the statement, but they held to the story that the children died of natural deaths.

Adams said Tennessee authorities had not decided what action to take regarding the deaths of the children, and would hold the three on numerous forgery charges already filed against Ammons. Adams said Mrs. Matthews admitted helping to cash forged checks for the couple.

Ammons and his wife were captured in Rome, Ga., Friday night after they drove there from Gadsden and cashed a forged check in a supermarket. Ammons tried to escape but was captured near the Alabama line.

BODIES FOUND

The bodies of the children were found Sept. 2, 1963, stuffed in the septic tank 10 miles east of Crossville. An autopsy report said the children were strangled with a diaper and the bodies tied together, weighted with a large rock and dumped in the tank.

Hope to Open Wall in Berlin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin looks forward to the day when the Berlin Wall may be opened once again for visits from West to East Berliners.

Brandt said yesterday night talks between leaders from West Germany and West Berlin have progressed to a point where it will be possible to again open negotiations with the East German government.

Appearing on a television interview (Face the Nation—CBS), Brandt said the visits were a success when first tried last Christmas.

He said it was only after the wall had again been closed that a controversy erupted in West Germany.

Brandt said the West should take minor steps to alleviate "the unnatural division" existing in Germany.

FEAR RETALIATION

He also voiced hope the Soviets would not retaliate against Berlin in the event of a crisis over U.S. flights over Cuba and said politicians and military leaders in West Germany would like a share in western nuclear strategy.

100,000 in Mock U.S. War

NEEDLES, Calif. (UPI) — Around 100,000 U.S. troops were engaged in mock battle today in a "war" between the fictional nations of Colonia and Nezona.

Operation Desert Strike began officially yesterday when Nezona "declared war" on Colonia in a dispute over rights to Colorado River water.

Although the war games dispute is fictional, it parallels a real dispute of long-standing between the water-hungry states of California, Arizona and Nevada the three states that encompass the desert strike battlegrounds.

Only Saturday, the federal government placed a mandatory 10 per cent reduction in the amount of water all users of Colorado River water can take. Reason for the cutback: two consecutive dry years.

Prior to official declaration of war, Colonia forces "seized" the eastern approaches to the Parker and Davis dams as a "political move" to forestall Nezona forces.

DECLARED WAR

In declaring war, Nezona Prime Minister Jacob L. Deviers said Colonia Prime Minister Nathan B. Twining "admitted the cold-blooded Colonial aggression... without even consultation with Nezona or with the organization of Western States."

"He has falsely alleged that I refused to receive his envoy," the war message continued. "This is untrue."

"No such envoy came, yet the Colonial prime minister has the effrontery to appeal to the Security Council of the Organization of Western States and to claim that Colonia wished, and I quote, 'peace and a return of organization of western states authority within the militarized zone.'"

"Who can believe him when peace and Organization of Western States authority were completely cast aside by Colonia on the admission of its own prime minister? ... With deep regret, I must announce that as a consequence of Colonial aggression, a state of war now exists."

THREE CASUALTIES

The exercise indirectly claimed three casualties late Friday night when one soldier was killed and two others injured critically in a truck-train accident.

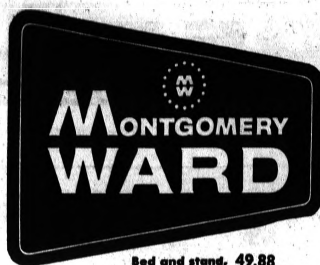

The truck crashed into a stopped Santa Fe freight train a mile east of the desert town of Newberry.

Mystery of Healing Proves Potent on Pacific Islands

By RUTH MONTGOMERY HONOLULU — Having trouble with your neighbor? Chances are he's a Hoaka, a person born on the second day of the month. As any native Hawaiian can tell you, such a one is bound to be a trouble-maker.

Are you experiencing love problems? RUTH MONTGOMERY Come to Hawaii! MONTGOMERY and seek out a Kahuna. He can chant over a lock of her hair, mix a potion of herbs, perhaps teach you a secret word, and your beloved will be yours — if you believe.

The Kahunas were the priests of old Hawaii. As the doctors, teachers and oracles of the Polynesian race, they interpreted dreams, prophesied events to come, cured illnesses and broken bones by means of herbs, and prepared love potions which could heal the heart.

Anyone who has read Max Freedom Long's fascinating book, "The Secret Science Behind Miracles," cannot escape a hankering to come to these enchanted Pacific islands and study the ancient lore which is fast disappearing amid a wealth of skyscrapers and night clubs.

I began my own quest in Tahiti, and at the tip end of the island of Moorea I talked with a nurse who had been trained in modern medicine. At the village hospital where she worked, an elderly patient refused to have his broken leg placed in a cast and pulley. Instead he sent for a Kahuna, who applied a poultice of herbs. The next morning the old gentleman strolled out of the hospital without a limp.

BROKEN ARM

A week later the nurse broke her arm, the day before she planned to fly to America on vacation. A bit sheepishly she too sought out the Kahuna, who applied a poultice. By the next day her arm appeared as sound as ever. During her stay in America she began to wonder whether she had merely imagined the broken arm, so she went to the hospital for an X-ray. The break was there, all right, but cleanly knitted.

In Hawaii I sought out William Mullahey, director of Central and South Pacific operations for Pan American Airways.

"Bill Mullahey," everyone told me, "is the best-informed man alive on everything in the Pacific area. If anyone can find you a Kahuna, Bill can."

Mullahey was game to try. Our first stop was the Kawaihau Congregational Church whose rector, the Rev. Abraham Akaka, is of pure Hawaiian stock, and a top religious leader of Honolulu.

DEVOUT CHRISTIAN

Rev. Akaka is a devout Christian, but he is wise enough to know that some of the ancient lore of his people cannot be explained by modern science. Pressed to talk about Kahunas, he recalled that when his uncle was a boy he had fallen while playing in the Nuuanu Stream, struck a rock and ran a penknife through his hand.

With the blade still projecting through his palm, he ran to his mother, who immediately marched him back to the rock and began praying that whatever transgression the boy had committed would be forgiven.

She then removed the penknife, and no blood flowed from the flawlessly healed wound.

Mullahey and I next flew to the island of Maui to continue our quest for an authentic Kahuna. After discreet enquiry we met with 73-year-old David Kaloa Kahoohele, a patriarch of lower Nahiku who is a recognized authority on old Hawaiian lore.

INTEREST GENUINE

At last satisfied that my interest was genuine, he admitted that he himself is a Kahuna who was taught the ancient secrets by his grandmother. He has often seen visions, he said, and has healed by prayers, incantations and herb potions.

Kahoohele has a number of sons, each of whom is prospering in the neighboring islands.

All are too busy making money in the approved American fashion to have time for mysticism or Kahuna lore.

When I remarked that it would be a pity for the secrets entrusted to him by his grandmother to die with him, a gentle smile warmed his creased brown face as he replied:

TO GRANDSON

"Ah, but I have a grandchild who shows the gift for it. He will one day make a fine Kahuna."

As Bill and I rose to catch our flying machine back to so-called civilization, I consulted the sweet old gentleman about the best cure for my burlesque. Without even reaching for his medicine bag of herbs and poultices, he said softly:

"Just pray. Thank God over and over, not just once, but many times each day for his blessings."

Small Car Driver Hits Hippo Hauler

MADISON TOWNSHIP, N. J. (AP) —Theodore C. Sari was doubly overmatched when his small European car rammed into the rear of a truck on Route 9 Sunday.

The truck was carrying a hippopotamus. Neither the hippo nor the truck driver, Cyril Gorr, 58, Deland, Fla., was injured.

Sari, 48, Old Bridge, was in fair condition.

The hippo, bound for a circus, weighed 1,600 pounds — about the same weight as Sari's automobile.

Wallace Is Not Regarded as Joke in Maryland Primary

By JULES LOH

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—When the Maryland Democratic primary campaign opened, Sen. Daniel Brewster, D-Md., said his opponent was nothing more than "a dangerous joke."

Whatever Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace may seem to his foes, few of them, including Brewster, actually regard him as a joke.

Indeed as Tuesday, day of reckoning, approaches, a half-dozen Senate colleagues have come to Maryland to help Brewster, and the senator has completely reversed his campaign strategy.

Having referred to Wallace initially as "an outside agitator" who traffics in "half-truths and outright lies," Brewster suddenly switched and declared that Wallace, after all, was a visitor in the state and should be treated courteously.

"What has infuriated my opposition in Wisconsin, Indiana and now Maryland," Wallace said in an interview, "is that they have portrayed me as a bigot and racist and some sort of dope, and it has backfired on 'em."

"Folks just aren't fooled by someone who calls another man a bigot in the name of tolerance. And if I'm a racist, so are the thousands who have voted for me. But you know that's not the case."

That point is one Wallace has been trying to establish for years.

In 1956, when he was a member of the platform committee at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, Wallace said:

"The South must let the world know that racial segregation is the only sane, sensible and non-hypocritical way in which our people can live in harmony together. The propaganda that has been purposely disseminated to the effect that those who believe in segregation are anti-Negro is a downright lie."

ADDS POSTSCRIPT

The words could have come from any one of his campaign speeches in Maryland, Wisconsin or Indiana. But now he adds a postscript:

"I've discovered in these trips North that there are many millions of segregationists in the United States. Of course they don't call themselves segregationists, but they segregate. The only real difference between them and the people of Alabama is that down there we preach and practice the same thing."

He delights in pricking the conscience of the North.

"Oh yes, yes," he will say, "segregation is immoral and sinful—but isn't it strange the preachers didn't discover it until the Supreme Court told them about it in 1954?"

Is this Wallace's purpose, merely to find satisfaction in what he considers Yankee hypocrisy, or to find justification beyond the borders of Alabama for his own beliefs? If not, just what is George Wallace up to? Some close friends of Wallace say he definitely has fleeting visions of the White House. When asked, Wallace doesn't deny it outright. The most he will say is "I have no illusions about the difficulty of a Southern governor being elected president." Others feel his main aim is to perpetuate himself in office in Alabama. Wallace does deny this; he says that at this time he has no aspirations beyond completing his present term.

African Leader to Visit LBJ at White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—King Mwambutsa IV of Burundi will call on President Johnson tomorrow at the White House.

The African ruler, who is in this country to visit the World's Fair, also will meet Secretary of State Dean Rusk and be a guest at a lunch given by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

Plainly no other governor in Alabama's history has enjoyed the popularity Wallace now owns at home. His slate of unpledged electors swept the state winning 29-1 or better in at least 10 counties.

Many expect that Wallace, in his second year of a four-year term, will run in 1968 for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Lister Hill.

COMMON BELIEF

But most believe Wallace is up to exactly what he says he is up to.

"I'm trying to impress and inform the President and the attorney general that they had better be aware of an undercurrent of resentment over the trend toward more centralized government, and take it into consideration at the national convention this fall."

In Maryland, whose northern border is the Mason-Dixon Line and whose Eastern Shore region seethes with the racial tensions of Cambridge, Wallace's evangelism is falling on many eager ears.

By contrast with Indiana and Wisconsin, where people would side up and whisper their support, many Marylanders have been openly wearing his campaign buttons and displaying his bumper stickers. Instead of the usual fare of hostile audiences day after day, Wallace has met with cheering sympathizers and the change has given him fresh vigor.

Maryland Democratic Chairman Harry Troth Gross predicts Wallace will get about 25 per cent of Tuesday's vote—Less than either of the other primaries he has entered. Other observers say it will be closer to 40 per cent.

Wallace won't make a prediction. But it is an open secret that many of his aides sense an actual victory, not a symbolic one.

HIS MASTER'S DOG — Emergency police manage to subdue the 70-pound German Shepherd companion of Richard Kraft, 30, who fainted near Bronx Park in New York City last night. The dog refused to permit anyone near Kraft and had to be dragged off. Kraft, who suffers fainting spells, was taken to a hospital, then released. He and his dog were reunited at home.

To Mark Court Decision

Day-Long Rallies Set

NEW YORK (UPI) — Day-long demonstrations in support of school integration, highlighted by a rally at city hall, were planned here today by civil rights advocates to mark the 10th anniversary of the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision.

Negro students were to be transported to five predominantly white schools for "study-ins" with the approval of the Board of Education.

Demonstrators also planned to picket another school and the offices of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and stage a second rally at school board offices in Brooklyn.

Thousands of persons participated in "Freedom Sunday" parades yesterday—the actual anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision of May 17, 1954, declaring school segregation unconstitutional.

Further demonstrations were planned today in other cities in New York state, including Albany, Buffalo, Utica, Jamestown, Lockport, Rochester and Geneva.

TICKET SCHOOL
Members of junior branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) planned to picket a predominantly Negro public school in Albany.

Originally, the demonstrations were planned to protest the failure of Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner to take speedy action on school integration.

The recommendations drew praise from most civil rights leaders. Bayard Rustin, a leader of last summer's march on Washington and at today's demonstrations, termed them "comprehensive and far-reaching toward a meaningful program of integrated educational excellence."

Rustin said he hoped for a turnout of more than 15,000 persons at the city hall rally to one-up the estimated 15,000 who demonstrated there on March 23 to oppose bus transporting of students out of their neighborhoods to cope with racial imbalance.

HOPE FOR MORE
"I hope to have more than 5,000 people, and if I do not, I must frankly admit to you,

I shall consider it a failure," Rustin said yesterday.

James Farmer, national director of CORE, and Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, were to address the 4 p.m. rally at city hall.

Yesterday, New York was one of some 200 cities throughout the nation observing "Freedom Sunday" to mark the Supreme Court decision.

An estimated 6,000 persons marched yesterday in parades sponsored by the Harlem Parents Committee and the Protestant Council of New York.

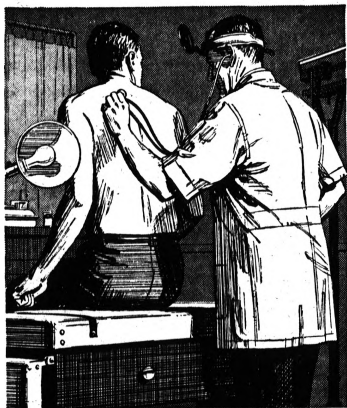

The marches climaxed at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine for a "service of witness."

Leaflets were passed out during the service urging attendance at this afternoon's city hall rally.

The marchers carried placards praising the Supreme Court decision and urging its full implementation.

Farmer addressed a Harlem rally last night and predicted that within 10 years the public accommodations issue would no longer be controversial in any of the states, "including Alabama and Mississippi."

For Not Aiding Dog

Readers Rap Bus Driver

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I read

those letters from readers stating that you were wrong to say that the bus driver should have stopped and tried to help the dog he hit, I couldn't believe my eyes.

Then we find out there is a LAW in Indiana which prohibits a school bus driver from stopping on the highway even if he hits an animal.

What if he hits a child? He would have to stop then, wouldn't he? Or would he just go right on, and report the incident only after having delivered his bus load of children to their destinations?

No wonder there is so much inhumanity today! I don't care what the LAW says, Abby, don't you back down one inch.

You were right, and the whole State of Indiana is wrong to let a law like that stay on its books.

NOT FROM INDIANA

DEAR ABBY: I have never before written to a newspaper columnist, but I cannot sleep unless I write this letter.

How could anyone answer to his own conscience if he hits a poor defenseless dog and doesn't stop to see if the dog is dead or alive, or to give him some aid?

An injured dog on the highway would surely be struck again and again by oncoming vehicles if not removed. Dogs feel pain just as humans do. If this is the law, perhaps we can look forward to future laws which will not only disregard the feelings of animals, but people.

Phooey on progress! DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE

DEAR ABBY: I checked and you were right, it IS against the law in Indiana for a school bus driver to stop on the highway if he hits an animal.

The law of various states are often confusing. For example, I was driving through a section posted "RANGE AREA-WATCH FOR LIVE-STOCK" and a cow wandered out in front of me.

I hit her broadside. My car was badly damaged and I was lucky I wasn't killed.

I saw a lawyer, expecting to recover damages for my car. After all, I was on the highway where I was supposed to be, and the cow had no business there.

I found out that I not only couldn't collect a dime, but I was being sued by the farmer for the loss of his cow.

If Invited, You Don't Pay the Bill

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Recently a couple I have known for quite a few years came to this city on business.

I went to their hotel one evening to visit them and invited them to dinner.

They said they had already made reservations (at a very swank place) and asked me to go along with them, which I did.

I would like to know if I should have paid the bill. I might add that the prices at this particular restaurant were much more than I could afford.

A: When these friends told you that they had a table reservation at a specific restaurant and invited you to go along with them, they automatically became your hosts and you their guest and the payment of the bill was up to them.

Q: My boy friend's parents will soon celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. He and his two sisters have planned a surprise anniversary party for them and I have been invited.

This will be my first meeting with his parents and I am anxious to do the right thing. Would it be proper for me to bring a present to the party?

I do not want to seem as though I am trying to buy their approval.

A: Never having met his parents, you will not be expected, in fact it would be in rather questionable taste, to take a present to them.

Q: Having been utterly grief-stricken at the unexpected passing of my mother two months ago, I did nothing to acknowledge flowers or messages sent to me.

There was no one else in the family who could do it. Is it now too late to write such notes?

A: It is not too late, even now, to write thank-you notes to those who sent flowers or wrote notes of sympathy.

Your friends will surely understand and forgive your delay in not having written sooner.

Q: My parents will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary shortly and we, their children, are going to give a reception for them.

We would like to know if gold lettering may be used on the invitations?

I think it would be very suitable on this occasion but my sister says it would be in bad taste and the conventional black ink should be used.

A: Gold lettering on invitations to a 50th wedding anniversary is permissible, but black ink is in best taste.

New Slips No Longer Mistakes

A slip need no longer be a social error.

The lingerie designers have considered just about every aspect of the undercover story and have come up with most of the answers.

Among the half slips that give a little is the side-wrapped version, like the side-wrapped skirt — wonderful for the miss with a thick hip or thigh problem.

UNDER PLEATS

It is also ideally worn under pleated, or deeply-gored skirts. After all, why wear a skirt with plenty of action room if the underskirt restricts movement?

A frustrating problem to the devotee of the dinner gown in the long skirt slip that limits movement to mincing strides, spoiling all the fun when the lively dance music strikes up.

Very often formal wear designers stitched in their own slips.

PRESENT PROBLEMS

But these sometimes present problems, especially when the underslip does not hold up as well as the dress itself in drycleaning.

Now the lingerie makers are inundating the market with knee-slips, ankle-length with knee-high slits up the back of the skirt or with deep pleats in the sides.

Kitchen Reigns at Shower

Mrs. Charles D. Welden honored Sally Elizabeth Maier at a luncheon Saturday in the Fox and Hounds Inn, preceded ing a kitchen shower in Mrs. Welden's home on Illinois Avenue.

The June bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Edward Maier of Illinois Avenue attended the affair with Mrs. Frank E. Bonner of Bow Lane Drive, mother of future bridegroom, William Nelson Bonner.

From out-of-town were Mrs. Louis Schimmel Jr. of Royal Oak; Marilyn Jackson, Rochester; Mary Ward, Berkeley and Mrs. J. Reitz of Taylor.

August vows are planned by Leonore Blum, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leon Blum, Terre Haute, Ind. and Dr. Murray Hausner, son of the Benjamin Hausners of Oneida Road. They are alumni of Northwestern University and of the University of Virginia, respectively, and live in San Francisco.

Moms to Honor Own Children With Banquet

A "mother-daughter-son" banquet will be held this Thursday in the Moose Hall by Welcome Rebekah Lodge 246.

The announcement was made by Mrs. John Hocking at the group's recent meeting in the Pythian hall.

A guest from Hamilton, Ontario, Mrs. Ethel Taylor, was present. Mae Thingstad reported on the district meeting in Highland which she attended with Rosa Schaffer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lawton Galloway, Mrs. William Council and Mrs. Vernon McFarland.

Don't Use Soap

Don't use soap on fruit or beverage stains. If heat is applied later, the alkali in the soap may set the stains.

Two Groups Set Meetings

Two extension groups are planning gatherings this week. The Professional Homemakers Extension study group will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Clarkston home of Mrs. James O. Skaggs.

Dinner in Frankenmuth and a tour of the town is set for the Thursday meeting of the Crescent Circle Extension group.

Junior Club Holds Meeting

Constance Rightmire and Douglas Edwards contributed to the program at the Saturday meeting of the Pontiac Junior Musicians.

The meeting, at which the annual scrapbook collection was conducted, took place in the Mohawk Road home of Susan Garfield.

The annual presentation of awards will be held at the June picnic which will climax the group's season of activity. Julie Denham was a guest.

Portable Tidiness

Shred dry slivers of facial soap on a food grater, and scoop the bits into a plastic pill vial.

Carry this in your handbag, so you will always be equipped to wash your hands and face en route — even when a public rest room has run out of soap.

Botsford Inn Scene for Reception

Historic Botsford Inn, Farmington, was the setting for a reception following the vows of Julie Ann Becker and Jack L. Fredrick in the Redford Presbyterian Church, Detroit.

Rev. Donald Wilmoth, associate pastor, officiated at the Saturday evening ceremony.

ROSE HEADPIECE

She donned a bouffant veil of silk illusion, caught by a satin rose and carried, cascading orchids and Stephanotis.

With Catherine, Tierney of Detroit, honor attendant, were bridesmaids Nancy Wood of Detroit and Christine Miller of South Lyon.

Richard Fredrick of Kingston, N.Y., formerly of Pontiac, was best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Judson Fredricks of Rowley Drive.

BROTHERS

also James Clancy and Michael Rogers.

The couple, both graduates of Oakland University, will make their home in Royal Oak after a brief honeymoon.

With her street-length dress of white silk chiffon over taffeta, the bride wore a veil of illusion and a Swedish tiara of seed pearls. She carried roses and carnations.

A New Device Is Very Nice

A handy device to own when you're cooking, laundering, or "doing" the dishes is a canister with a built-in automatic measuring device.

This dispenses soap, detergent, or dry food in ¼, ½, ¾, and full cup quantities.

Carole Lynne Bane exchanged vows with Pfc. Larry Dean Bennett in an afternoon ceremony Saturday in the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church.

Her parents are the Clarence H. Banes of West Walton Boulevard. The bridegroom who is stationed at the Montrose Beach Park Nike Base in Chicago, is the son of the Ray Bennetts of Lanman Street.

With her gown of white Rochelle lace over satin, Miss Bane wore a silk pillbox and short bluish veil.

White roses centered her bouquet of blue-tinged white carnations.

Mrs. Arthur Boynton attended the bride at the family ceremony performed by Rev. Dennis Dusek. Raymond Bennett was best man for his brother.

After the reception in the V.F.W. Hall in Drayton Plains, the couple will leave for a brief honeymoon in northern Michigan.

For Tough Cheese

If the cheese in your macaroni dish gets tough try cooking it at a low temperature — about 325 or 350 degrees Fahrenheit.

After their marriage and reception Friday in the Christ Lutheran Church, the James Ritchie Pattisons (Karen Lee Morse) left for a honeymoon in the New England States.

A gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Morse of Hickory Lane featured a bouffant tiered skirt with sequined lace border.

An illusion veil with pearl tiara and cascade of white carnations, chrysanthemums and Stephanotis completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Roy Powers was honor matron and Mrs. Donald Harroun attended her cousin as bridesmaid.

Laurie Wagoner and John Pattison were flower girl and ring bearer at the evening ceremony performed by Rev. Wayne Peterson.

John Pattison of Oak Park assisted his brother as best man. Their parents are the Orlo R. Pattisons of Highland Park, Donald Harroun, Kenneth and Charles Murnan comprised the usher list.

The newlyweds will live in Pontiac.

Reception in Forest Lake Country Club followed the vows of Edna Kay Witherspoon and C. Terrance Kelly Saturday in St. Owen's Church on Franklin Road.

Daughter of the George E. Witherspoons of Dakota Circle, Wing Lake, the bride chose an Empire gown of white silk organza over taffeta.

Imported Swiss motifs accented the bodice and controlled skirt, styled with cathedral train. Her veil was French illusion. White roses and lilies of the valley rested on her white maids.

SISTER ATTENDED

With Linda Witherspoon, her sister's maid of honor, were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. G. A. Godwin of Indianapolis, and Detroiters, Jean Blanton and Gerri Leonard, who were bridesmaids.

Rev. Patrick Kelly of Indianapolis officiated at his brother's wedding. They are the sons of the Robert Kellys of Indianapolis.

Jack Kane of Cleveland was best man. The bride's brother Patrick ushered with Michael Hardin and Larry Pagel, both of Indianapolis.

COLLEGES

The bride attended Marion College, also the University of Detroit. Mr. Kelly is a graduate of Butler University where he received his master's degree.

A home in Birmingham awaits the couple on their return from a honeymoon in New Orleans.

Verna Bradley Receives Gifts

Verna Kathryn Bradley was honored Saturday at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Kathryn Allen on West Pike Street. Mrs. Allen's daughter, Mrs. Robert Hastings, was co-hostess.

This completes a series of showers for the fiancée of Wesley A. Sebastian, son of the Rudolph Sebastians of East Beverly Avenue.

The James L. Bradleys of Hamilton Street are the parents of the June bride-elect.

Caveman Had Right Idea

Know why the caveman used his love's hair as a handle to pull her by?

He wanted her to go with him, yes. But hair is one of the strongest animal fibers. A woman's head of hair can support the equivalent of five tons of weight without pulling from the roots.

So, one way to take a lady from one place to another, drag her by the hair — but at your own risk.

Housewife Needs Raise to Cover Costs

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: I'm tired of being called incompetent. Please tell me approximately how much I, as a wife, should be allowed out of a $200-a-month take-home pay, for the following items per week:

Food for husband, myself and four children aged six, four, two and three months; maid, $11; cleaning which averages about $4 a week; household supplies; miscellaneous such as papers, drugs, liquor, gardener, cigarettes, baby sitters, etc.

I say $50 a week can't always do it, as my husband likes steak once a week, martinis at night. We rent for $140 a month and pay off a car, some furniture and probably too many other bills as we are just beginning to acquire possessions. The children eat many a hot dog, drink powdered milk. But it's all going somewhere.

Mrs. J.D.C., New Orleans

Dear Mrs. C.: I think you need a raise. However, even $900 a month goes fast in a family with four children. So see how you come out with an allowance of $75 a week instead of the $50 you're now getting. For instance: Food, $39 (moderate cost scale); maid, $11; cleaning, $4; household supplies, $5; miscellaneous, $16. Total, $75.

Of course, if you literally must stay within a $50 weekly allowance in order to meet payments on car and furniture, insurance, savings, taxes, et al, then it's pretty obvious from the items you list where you could start cutting down. And I don't mean the food budget.

What you have to decide is whether you and your husband prefer the hassles over money along with the little luxuries in life, or whether you'd rather cut the grass yourselves, do your own baby sitting, skip the martinis, put the clothes in the washing machine instead of sending them out for cleaning, and get a good night's rest.

Dear Miss Feeley: I have a teen-age daughter who is a junior in high school. We live in an above-average neighborhood in the suburbs. My problem is what is a fair allotment of our budget for clothes for a teen-ager.

My husband makes about $25,000 a year. We are all adequately insured with a good insurance program and have a fair savings account, plus a good retirement program.

In another year, my daughter will be going to college, and for this reason I would like to get her satisfied on a fair clothing allotment. Any information you are able to give me will certainly be appreciated.

D. B., Chicago

Dear Mrs. B.: The simplest way to start figuring is on the basis of averages. On your husband's income of $25,000, a normal 10 per cent or about $240 a month for clothing and upkeep for the family is basic.

How much of that sum should be allotted to each member depends on the particular circumstances: your husband's needs in relation to his business, your own, and your daughter's.

Spending habits indicate that a high school girl requires from $200 to $250 to outfit herself in preparation for the school year. Of course there are replacements to be expected and emergency needs from time to time.

However, your income and financial stability justify allotment for the family above that of the average.

I'd say you would not be out of line to allow your daughter $600 to $700 for year's entire clothing costs. Set the overall family allowance at $2,800.

You can expect an increase in your daughter's clothing cost when she goes to college, so be prepared for it.

Shopping for her freshman year—before she actually gets there—will probably run about $400 to $450. Thereafter her expenses will largely be governed by life as it is led in that particular college.

(You can get Mary Feeley's handy Budget Leaflet by writing to her in care of The Pontiac Press, Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

N.Y. Teens Hold Junior Prom on Train

NEW YORK (AP)—In a baggage car of the train jam-packed youngsters wriggled, twisted and shouted to the Beatle-type whumping of a drum and three guitars.

In the refreshment car, where the fare for railroad patrons normally consists of Scotch, rye and bourbon at $1 a shot, three boys handed out box lunches and cans of soda pop by the hundreds.

In three coaches boys and girls streamed endlessly up and down the aisles throughout the train.

Another baggage car had been set aside for dancing, but the boys turned off the ceiling lights and converted it into a kissing car.

CAUSE TO WONDER

As the train meandered through eastern Long Island Saturday night and Sunday morning, many a resident near the tracks must have wondered at the cause of so much cacophony on wheels.

It was a high school junior prom, suburban type. Nearly 300 boys and girls rocked and rolled at the prom-on-wheels, staged by the Junior Class of Island Trees High School at Levittown, a few miles east of New York City.

The bash began at 8 p.m. when the youngsters and 11 teacher-chaperons boarded a six-car special at nearby Bethpage.

It ended at 1 a.m. Sunday at Bethpage after a trip to eastern Long Island which was shortened somewhat at the request of the chaperons. By about midnight they felt the kids were getting a little too rambunctious.

'TRAINDANCE'

The price for the rail trip, formally termed a "traindance," was $3 per person. During the school year the juniors had sold candy to raise money for refreshments, music and incidental expenses. They collected $800.

AP Photos

PARTY ROLLS ON—Hand-clapping and guitar-twanging boys and girls attending a junior prom fill coach seats normally occupied by commuters from Long Island to New York City. Nearly 300 teen-agers and 11 teacherchaperons were aboard the six-car Long Island Special for the five-hour round trip prom staged by Island Trees High School of Levittown, N.Y. Greater supervision was afforded those attending the inexpensive rolling prom.

On the train each person got a box lunch containing two sandwiches, a container of potato salad, two slices of pickle and a sweet roll or piece of cake.

Twelve hundred cans of soda pop were available and barely sufficed.

Faculty and parents supported the train prom for several reasons. The youngsters could, and did, wear the most informal of attire—jeans, canvas shoes, etc.

It was relatively inexpensive, enabling anyone who desired to go.

NO LIQUOR

Perhaps the chief reason, however, was that it afforded greater supervision, and the late hour of conclusion cut down the number of boys and girls heading for taverns or elsewhere. Formal proms usually end about 11 p.m.

The youngsters had been warned that if any brought liquor aboard, he would be put off the train at Riverhead, a city near the eastern end of the island, and his parents notified to come get him.

"We've been checking very carefully," said Lloyd Wells, the class adviser, after the trip had been under way awhile. "We haven't found any drinking."

As soon as they boarded the train, a crowd began dancing in the first baggage car.

The students kicked up their heels throughout the night. Eventually, the smooching began to grow more popular in the coaches as well as in the second baggage car. The chaperons did little or nothing except to order the train turned around before the scheduled destination.

It didn't seem to matter to the students. They professed to have had a ball.

And what of faculty adviser Wells?

The median family income in 648 counties in the nation is less than $3,000 a year, a Federal study has disclosed.

Ask Mail Aid For Children

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., proposed yesterday a nationwide "adopt by mail" program for Americans to help underprivileged children in Appalachia and other poverty areas.

Keating said in a television broadcast from New York stations that similar programs had been set up for Americans to help children in foreign countries and the same idea would work at home.

Under the program, which Keating said he had proposed to administration officials, persons would send clothing or other assistance to individual children they had agreed to help.

Mandy Fumes Over Protest

SUNNYSIDE, England (AP)—Mandy Rice-Davies, the 19-year-old blonde who figured in the Profumo scandal, is indignant over a protest march against her night club act at this coal mining town.

"I could sue those demonstrators," Mandy fumed. "They better remember I'm a member of Equity before making remarks about me."

Air Pocket Saves Boy After Boat's Swamped

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Several minutes after a boat occupied by two men and a boy was swamped on a lake here Sunday, it was feared the youngster had drowned.

C. E. Lubojacky heard a faint cry of help, and the boat was towed to shallow water. Lubojacky found his son, Stephen, 5, entangled in cables in an air pocket under the dashboard and unhurt 45 minutes after the swamping.

"Why are these people complaining?" asked Mandy. "What happened in the past is over."

After Death of Old-Time Bolshevik

Ponder Successor for Top Soviet Post

MOSCOW (AP)—A new shift in the Soviet Union's top command likely will result from the death of Otto Kuusinen, Finnish member of the Communist party's 12-man presidium and one of the last old Bolsheviks.

Kuusinen, 82, was appointed to the presidium at Premier Khrushchev's bidding after the ouster of Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich in 1957. His death from cancer of the liver was announced Sunday.

He was one of the last direct links of the party leadership with Lenin.

There was speculation that Khrushchev, visiting in Egypt, and First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, visiting in Tokyo, would speed home to take part in the appointment of Kuusinen's successor.

UNION LEADER

Frequently mentioned is Viktor Grishin, a candidate member of the presidium and head of the trade unions.

Kuusinen's death also could provide Khrushchev with an opportunity of replacing two all-time members of the presidium—Frol Kozlov, 54, incapacitated by a stroke, and Nikolai Shvernik, 76.

Khrushchev, 70, returned to Cairo Sunday, tired and strained after a hectic four-day tour in the 100-degree heat of upper Egypt, 430 miles south of Cairo. The tumultuous reception he received at every stop in Egypt undoubtedly added to the pressure.

After his fatigue, he canceled a visit to a steel mill today and an officers' dinner tonight but planned to go ahead with scheduled talks with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

BODY IN STATE

Kuusinen's body lay in state in the Hall of Columns of the House of Trade Unions, the same place where Stalin lay. He was to be buried Tuesday in Red Square.

Kuusinen was born in Finland when it was part of the Russian empire. He headed a puppet Soviet government during the Russian invasion of Finland in 1939-40 and was denounced by the Finns as a traitor.

Kuusinen had first fled to Moscow in 1930 when the Communist party was outlawed in Finland. He became a leading Soviet Communist the next year. His daughter, Hertta Kuusinen-Laine, is one of Finland's leading Communists.

The holder of three Orders of Lenin, Kuusinen had been a member of the Soviet Party's central committee since Feb. 21, 1941. He served briefly on the presidium under Stalin.

Tibet's Ex-Head at India Capital for Week's Visit

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Dalai Lama, exiled ruler of Tibet, arrived in New Delhi today on a week's visit amid speculation that he may go to Buddhist countries soon to seek support for his Communist-ruled people.

The Buddha incarnate, as his followers believe him to be, will call on Indian President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan today and Prime Minister Nehru on Friday.

Nehru granted political asylum to the Dalai Lama in 1959 after the Chinese Communists overran Tibet. One condition set by Nehru was that the Dalai Lama would not engage in any political activity.

Marv Carlisle gives his gloves a hard time

(and helps keep good times in Michigan)

Marv Carlisle, a telephone lineman with Michigan Bell, helps to provide our state with the telephone service today's growing economy requires. In the course of his work, the gloves he wears on the job take quite a beating.

Those gloves were made right here in Michigan, by Michigan men and women.

Gloves for telephone workers like Marv mean jobs for other workers in our state. But gloves are only one item on a long list of products and services Michigan Bell and Western Electric Company, the Bell System's supply division, buy each year from Michigan suppliers.

Last year, for example, the "shopping list" for purchases in Michigan totaled more than $57,000,000—money that circulated throughout our state, helping to keep Michigan prosperous.

COLUMBUS

QUESTION: What was Columbus' real name?

ANSWER: Columbus was born in Genoa, Italy, in 1451, and the Italian or "real" version of his name is Cristoforo Colombo. However, names are often different in different languages: for example, John is Juan in Spanish.

Since this explorer was famous in so many different places, there are many versions of his name. The Latin form of his name was "Columbus," and since Latin was a kind of international language among learned people, writers in England called him "Columbus" and so he has remained to the English-speaking world. In Spain, Columbus was known as "Cristobal Colon."

People often think that Columbus' big idea was the prove the earth was round, but this was not so; many geographers of the time already realized this, as we can see from the map in the picture, based on a globe made before the great voyage.

Columbus realized that the Eastern countries bent around the curve of the earth, but he greatly overestimated the size of Asia, imagining the rich spice islands of the East to lie just a short sailing distance west from Spain.

He planned to found a great trading city somewhere in these islands, as suggested by our artist. It sounded good—but the unknown American continent was in the way.

FOR YOU TO DO: Most of the old charts had color and this one would look more interesting if you put red or orange in a strip around the black land and colored the sea blue.

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP) — Frog-hopping today is more lucrative than when Mark Twain immortalized the unusual sport 99 years ago.

A timber-legged frog named Rusty jumped a $1,000 distance Sunday in the Calaveras County Jumping Frog Jubilee and broke a 10-year-old frog leap record.

Rusty stretched his regulation three hops into 17 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Report U.S. to Pour $15 Million Into Argentina to Stop Reds

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Reports circulated today that the United States will pump $15 million military aid into Argentina against the prospect that neighboring Chile will elect a Communist-backed government in September.

An informed U.S. source said the United States is making Argentina the chief beneficiary of military aid in Latin America as the "best bet for strengthening the hemispheric defense system against the threat of communism."

Some Argentine opposition congressmen said the new U.S. mutual assistance agreement, which earmarks $55 million for Latin America, calls for $15 million for Argentina.

Moscow-aligned Marxist Salvador Allende is the front-running candidate in Chile's Sept. 4 presidential election.

PARIS (AP)—Maurice Thorez, boss of the French Communist party for 34 years has resigned as secretary-general and moved up to the honorary post of president.

Thorez, 64, who has a bad heart, was succeeded by Waldeck Rochet, 59, a Moscow-trained moderate and specialist in agriculture.

Rochet was jumped over Jacques Duclos, long considered the party's No. 2 man and its real director.

The reshuffle in the leadership was announced Sunday at the party's 17th congress. Just before the changes were revealed the congress endorsed Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call for a world conference of Communist parties to deal with the split with Red China.

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Foreign capitalists will be asked on a "selective and discriminating" basis to help India move down the road to socialism.

The ruling Congress party's policy-making All India Committee, at a party conference Sunday, endorsed increased state control of business and industry while at the same time encouraging foreign nations and capitalists to finance attacks on the nation's economic chaos.

The conference overruled the objection of former Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, who said "They will take us over."

It's suicidal to import foreign capital."

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—

Brig. Bahadur Namgyal, former head of the Bhutanese army, was executed by a firing squad Sunday for being involved in the assassination April 5 of Premier Jigme Dorji. The Indian government, which handles Bhutan's foreign af-airs, has said it believed Peking was behind the assassination. Dorji was an outspoken anti-Communist who feared Red Chinese were infiltrating his country from neighboring Tibet.

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A grave the Colombian army had kept open for the country's most wanted bandit chieftain, the desperate man named Tarzan, has been filled.

Government troops killed Tarzan, whose real name was Luis Noe Lombana Ororio, in a gun battle Saturday.

Tarzan had been blamed for killing more than 60 peasants in years of terrorizing Tolima State.

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson encountered boos and heckling as he unveiled his proposal for a new Canadian flag before a Royal Canadian Legion convention Sunday night.

Pearson proposes to replace Canada's Red Ensign, which has the British Union Jack in the upper left-hand corner, with a maple leaf design as part of his program to counter separatist, anti-British sentiment in French-speaking Quebec Province.

cause he appealed to it to spare the lives of three Africans sentenced to death.

The letter, handed to Than Friday by M. I. Botha, South Africa's ambassador to the U.N., has just been made public.

It accused Than of acting "without absolute impartiality and of intervening in the judicial processes of a U.N. member" on the basis of false premises and with insufficient knowledge of the case.

LONDON (AP)—Hoax letter sent in the name of the Beatles to British teen-age girls have police worried.

Girls all over Britain are receiving letters offering them such things as movie roles with the singing quartet or dates with the popular entertainers.

Police said some of the letter writing may be harmless pranks but they feared it might also lead to graft, seduction, kidnapping and vice.

Pola Negri Recalls Old Beau

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Marlon Brando? Richard Burton? Never! Clark Gable was the closest but not even he had what Rudy had."

Pola Negri was speaking of Rudolph Valentino, the great love of her life.

Miss Negri, still every inch the movie star, reposed in her Beverly Wilshire suite. Her hair is still jet black, her eyes as big as ever and on her left hand was a diamond as large as a flashlight bulb.

The setting was exotic as she poured the French champagne. She's well off, now.

she recalls, "but I have good investments in San Antonio, Tex. I will not lose this one." She's in town for a Walt Disney movie, in which she plays a wealthy and eccentric jewel fancier.

In the old days, her fiery temperament used to melt directors and producers but she asked for only one change in the script, "which called for her to have a Siamese cat."

"I suggested that we use a cheetah instead — and Walt loved the idea. You know, I always had a cheetah around the house in the old days."

RODE HORSEBACK
She looked out the window to a busy Beverly Hills street where land sells for $10,000 a front foot.

"Rudy and I used to ride horseback there — and don't you know we'd feed them together."

Valentino, the greatest screen lover of silent days, died in 1926. Women, by the thousands, screamed, fainted and rioted at his funeral.

"He and I were to be married the following week," Pola says.

"He had mysticism," says Pola.

"I have never gotten over his death."

3 HUSBANDS
She had three husbands, all titled—from count to prince. Rudy was untitled.

"But he was the king to me—and women all over the world," says Pola.

"The screen will never see his equal again. He didn't just thrill women. He hypnotized them. He had virility, sex appeal, intelligence, charm, good looks and something that no actor ever had before—or since."

And that extra something may explain the unique devotion that Valentino holds to this day among the feminine fans of 40 years ago.

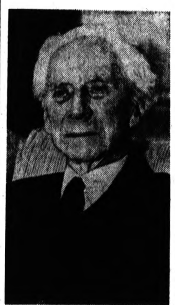

"He had mysticism," says Pola.

Michigan's Gentle Amish Fight for Their Way of Education

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A relatively obscure religious sect in Michigan faces a legal battle which may all but force sect members to abandon a way of life dating back before the turn of the century or leave Michigan. AP Writer Gene Schroeder went to the Michigan Amish settlement near Camden for an in depth story on a way of life little known by the average American except up in today's fast paced living. Schroeder's hard-to-obtain story brings home all facets of the Michigan Amish.)

By GENE SCHROEDER
CAMDEN (AP) — The Amish, a gentle folk who cling to the traditions of centuries past, have come into sharp conflict with the rules and regulations of the modern-day world in this tiny farming community.

Eleven Amish fathers of 52 schoolchildren are charged with violation of Michigan's compulsory school attendance laws, although the children have attended classes in a pair of one-room schoolhouses.

In an appearance before Justice of the Peace Alfred Wagner last October, all of the parents pleaded innocent and asked for a jury trial, now scheduled to begin May 21.

Hillsdale County Prosecutor James Parker says a heavy criminal case load took priority and prevented setting a trial date sooner. He points out that the charge against the Amish fathers is a misdemeanor, thus no more serious than a traffic violation.

NOT CERTIFIED
The conflict revolves around the fact that a pair of Amish teen-agers, Jerome Delgrange, 19, and Ruth Graber, 17, who have been teaching classes in the two tiny schools. Since neither went beyond the eighth grade — as is the Amish custom — neither has been certified by the state.

Thus, in the view of the prosecution, the 52 Amish children are in effect not attending school at all.

Tillers of the soil who believe in the supremacy of the Bible, the Amish pay taxes for the support of public schools as well as their own. Wherever possible, they spurn such modern conveniences as electric lights and automobiles, preferring to use horse-drawn carriages and oil lamps.

"We ride in automobiles when it becomes necessary — but we don't own any," explained Noah Schwartz, 58, bearded patriarch of the Camden Amish community who has been elected spokesman for the embattled parents.

GERMAN ACCENT
Schwartz took time off from chores on his 200-acre farm to discuss the school situation in a milkshed interview. His soft-spoken German accent reflected the historical Pennsylvania Dutch background of the Amish people, although Schwartz and his family came to Michigan from Bowling Green, Mo., about five years ago to escape the summer heat.

"It was pretty hot there. Some times we were threshing when it was 100 in the shade," he recalled. "But we had no school troubles."

For a time, the Amish children attended the Camden-Frontier public schools. But the parents — fearing the youngsters were being exposed to worldly temptations — soon purchased two one-room schoolhouses and had them moved onto Amish farms. At times, non-Amish certified teachers handled the classes, but none have been available recently.

ABOVE AVERAGE
One of these was Mrs. Eva Hakes of Jonesville, who told The Associated Press she found the Amish children very advanced of the average public school children in town schools.

Mrs. Hakes believes most rural school children are very advanced for their ages because the young ones learn from hearing the older ones recite.

Speaking of the Amish, Mrs. Hakes said:

"The children are workers. They come to school to learn. They study just as hard at school as they do their chores at home."

NO TROUBLES
"They are happy children. There are no emotionally disturbed children. They do not have the cares and troubles at home that some non-Amish children do."

All of the children speak German very well, she said, and even second graders read German.

"They have spelling several times a week in German," she said, "and they sing beautifully — also in German."

Schwartz wrote a letter last month to Walter Hilday, Hillsdale county intermediate school superintendent, explaining the Amish parents are seeking — and would be glad to interview — a teacher who meets the state's requirements and also speaks German.

Schwartz said he attended the old-fashioned public schools as a child himself.

"They were satisfactory then — and if we had country schools like we used to have it would still be all right to send our children to them," he declared.

"But we object to the fact that movies are shown in classrooms now, exposing our children to wrongs they shouldn't see."

Schwartz feels automobiles are to blame for much of the modern problems with children. "Without cars, they stay out of trouble better," said Schwartz, who has eight children, five of school age. "Cars are dangerous things. Of course, even horses can be dangerous, but at least they don't go 30 miles an hour."

BARN BUILDING
As Schwartz spoke, about a dozen men were hard at work erecting a new barn about 50 yards behind his house. Many of them were Amish neighbors, displaying the traditionally friendly characteristic of helping each other when needed.

Living a typical Amish day, Schwartz starts working on his farm about 5 a.m., and may not call it a day until 9 p.m. He has 16 horses and a colt, hogs and chickens. He raises corn, oats, hay and wheat, all of which is consumed on the farm except some wheat.

The first Amish family moved into the rolling farmland of the Camden area in 1956. There are still fewer than 20 such families in the community, most from either Missouri or Ohio.

All are instantly recognizable. Known as the plainest of the plain people, the Amish have retained dress styles dating back nearly 300 years — broad-brimmed pancake hats for the men and bonnets or white caps tied at the neck for the women.

HOMEMADE CLOTHES
Amishmen wear homemade out clothes with hooks and eyes instead of buttons, while the women are garbed in ankle-length dresses, usually of pale blue.

One Amish authority has explained that the dress peculiarities are part of the religious sect's effort to follow the Divine injunction: "Be not conformed to this world."

Beards are worn by the men, according to Schwartz, "because we believe Christ wore a beard."

The Amish, an offshoot of the Mennonites, generally are more conservative in their mode of living. Before migrating to America, the sect suffered as heretics under the church. Some were burned at the stake, others were placed in sacks and tossed into rivers.

PERSECUTION
Michigan's Amish believe the school conflict is a continuation of this religious persecution. In a formal statement titled

"Articles of Protest," the Amish said: "After living peacefully on Michigan soil for many years, we are now subjected to unprecedented treatment which threatens our whole way of life."

Schwartz and his 10 codefendants will be represented by two prominent attorneys who have donated their services. They are Albert Dimmers of Hillsdale, a former state legislator, and Maxwell Badgley of Jackson.

Immediate past president of the Michigan State Bar Association.

The 11 cases will be tried one at a time, with the first defendant scheduled to be Henry Delgrange Jr., father of 14 children. Dimmers said he is prepared to take the case all the way to the United States Supreme Court if necessary, because it involves a basic constitutional issue of freedom of religion. Schwartz says simply: "If I have to go to jail, I guess I'll go to jail."

Wide-Open Contest Seen for GOP Nomination

By JACK BELL
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Assessing Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's Oregon victory, Republican governors agreed generally today that the contest for the GOP presidential nomination remains wide open.

Some of the seven state chief executives who responded to invitations to comment on their party's political situation indicated they think the June 3 California primary may be a decisive factor in determining the nominee.

Rockefeller, who won Oregon's 18 convention votes in that state's balloting Friday, faces Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the last significant primary before the party convention opens here July 13.

Gov. John Anderson of Kansas, chairman of the National Governors' Conference, said the Oregon primary in which Rockefeller topped U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, "shows the Republican nominee in San Francisco is not settled yet."

"If Rockefeller can win the California primary, he is going to be in a position to have something to say about the nominee, if there is no move to make him the nominee himself," Anderson said.

"Goldwater certainly is leading in delegates but I don't think it's in the bag."

Goldwater placed third in Oregon with Richard M. Nixon fourth.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said the Oregon results will increase the importance of the California primary outcome.

"If Goldwater wins in California," Smylie said, "it is likely that he will be nominated on the first ballot. If it looks like that is what is going to happen, it would be smart for the Idaho delegation to go along with him."

Gov. John H. Reed of Maine said Rockefeller's Oregon victory was "a tribute to his determination and his genuine appeal to the rank and file voters. 'It is also a demonstration,' Reed said, 'that Republicans want a moderate presidential candidate and one with proven ability as a vote-getter. The results certainly have boosted Gov. Rockefeller's stock and will make him a top contender at San Francisco."

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island said Rockefeller's Oregon victory had saved the New Yorker's candidacy.

"If he had lost this primary, it would have made his future pretty bleak," Chafee said. "By winning it, he remains one of the strong contenders."

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who has said he would accept a genuine draft for the presidential nomination but doesn't expect that to happen, said Rockefeller deserved to win in Oregon.

Scranton, whose name was on the ballot, finished last behind Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, among six contenders in the balloting.

"My hat is off to Gov. Rockefeller," Scranton said. "He campaigned long and worked very hard."

LITTLE CHANGE
Gov. Archie Gubbrud of South Dakota, who has said he leans toward Goldwater but heads an uncommitted delegate slate in his state's June 2 primary, said he didn't think the Oregon results changed the standing of the candidates.

"I don't see any more significance in the Oregon primary than in any of the others," Gubbrud said. "It just happens to be the most recent and that's the one we talk about."

Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, scheduled to become temporary chairman of the July convention, said the results of his state's primary enhance Rockefeller's chances for the nomination. He said that, among other things, they proved the New York governor could win by hard campaigning.

S. Vietnamese Don't Like Curfew Idea

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Feature News Analyst
SAIGON DEBATE: One of the big problems of American advisers in South Viet Nam is getting their advice accepted.

A prime example of how good advice has gone unheeded is the repeated prodding for the government to establish a strict curfew in critical areas of the countryside.

Since Viet Cong guerrillas move mostly at night, it could be most helpful.

Such a curfew has been imposed in some parts of the vital Mekong River Delta region, but not strictly enough to be truly effective.

The Vietnamese say they fear strict enforcement would turn the population completely against them. Reply the Americans: "That's a chance we have to take."

TOUGH BRITISH: Look for a toughening of the British stand against Yemeni efforts to force them out of Aden and the Arabian peninsula.

Political sources in London believe that the British public is in no mood to see its soldiers pushed around, ill-treated or killed unnecessarily.

Equally, the government is determined to maintain the base which guards the lifeline for oil from the Persian gulf.

The upshot is that Britain can be expected to throw in all the force necessary to hold the area with a minimum of casualties and to ignore Arab shouts of imperialism.

SPANISH MINERS: Spanish coal mines are among the few in Europe which have not been nationalized.

But now the government is reported thinking of nationalization as the only answer to strikes which flared in Asturias in the spring of 1962, in 1963 and again this year.

Chief problem is said to be the reluctance of mining firms to modernize equipment for taking out the largely low-grade brown Spanish coal.

The 42,095 miners in Asturias represent only a fraction of Spain's total of 9 million workers.

But the government fears the consequences if the strike should spread to nearby industrial areas, particularly Bilbao.

ELECTION STRAWS: The outcome of four British by-elections last week gave both the Conservatives and the Laborites something to crow about as straws in the wind for next fall's general elections.

The Conservatives won a three-contested parliamentary seat to Labor's one. But the Laborites could point to a 6.25 per cent swing in their favor in over-all figures.

The results put some drama back into a race which has seemed a walkaway for the labor ticket.

Even so, a continuation of the percentages would give labor an 80-seat majority in the new parliament.

Detroit Officer Shot to Death
 Wife Is Being Held as Killing Suspect

DETROIT (AP) — A veteran police officer's wife allegedly shot and killed him early Sunday with the gun he gave her to protect herself from harm.

Detective Lt. Sebastian Elfrid said Mrs. Jean Beresford, 52, admitted shooting Inspector Oliver Beresford, 51, at their home when he threatened her after drinking.

Beresford, a policeman since 1937, was shot in the neck and chest. Mrs. Beresford was held for investigation of murder.

The Beresfords, married 28 years, had two sons, John 25, and Dennis, 21. Police said the sons were away when the shooting took place.

EIGHT CITATIONS
 During his police career Beresford had been cited eight times.

Lt. Elfrid said Mrs. Beresford told him her husband became violent and forced his way into her bedroom when she fled from him. She fired four shots from a 32-caliber revolver she kept under the mattress, Elfrid said. He said she identified the gun as one her husband had given her to protect herself when he was away from home.

Elfrid said Mrs. Beresford called police herself after the shooting.

donesian ambassador to Britain B. M. Dah left London for home last week.

Informed sources say that in the present state of strained relations between the two countries, it will be a long time before his successor is named.

Snoring No Joke if it Keeps You Awake

If you are a snorer, you are not the victim; your roommate is. Snoring is the subject of many jokes but the humor drains out of all of them in the middle of an otherwise peaceful night. Let it be said to the credit of the snorer that his snoring is purely involuntary, although how he manages to sleep through all that racket remains one of life's unsolved mysteries.

Basically the cause of snoring is vibration of the soft palate and uvula. The underlying causes are many.

Lucky is the person who is married to a snorer for whom a correctible cause can be found.

Such causes include enlarged tonsils and adenoids; a swollen uvula (usually associated with a throat infection); nasal obstruction (due to allergy, infection, a nasal polyp or a deviated nasal septum); falling asleep without removing poorly fitted dental plates — a bad practice at best; excessive smoking or drinking which results in a chronically inflamed throat; and, in some persons, old age, which may result in relaxation of the facial muscles and thus facilitate snoring.

FIRST STEP
The first step in treatment is for the snorer to have a thorough checkup to discover the cause of his snoring and correction of any contributory factors found.

Operation for the removal of the uvula and part of the soft palate should never be done.

Unfortunately, in many snorers no obvious cause can be found and the treatment then boils down to devices applied to the snorer or his captive audience.

The government has granted patents to over 300 "snore stoppers."

CLEAR FIELD
If any one of them was as good as it was alleged to be, it would have a clear field.

None of them are very effective so perhaps the ultimate solution is ear plugs for the real victim.

Q—Is there anything you can take for a Pseudomonas infection?

A—If you have such an infection the chances are you have been taking penicillin or a related antibiotic.

Pseudomonas germs are common in our environment but usually cannot gain a foothold in the body unless antibiotics have suppressed other germs that are normally present.

Infection with this organism may occur in the skin, bones, joints, eyes, ears, sinuses, heart, brain, bladder and lungs.

If the infection is localized, irrigation with 1 per cent acetic acid may be all that is needed. For more persistent infections, nitrofurazone or such antibiotics as polymyxin, colistin, streptomycin, neomycin and tetracycline may be effective if they can be brought into contact with the infection.

Astronomers Say Sun Has 'Cool Region'

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Astronomers today announced the discovery of a "cool" region inside the corona of the sun.

They estimated the region had a temperature of 20,000 degrees Fahrenheit compared with 3 million degrees in the rest of the corona. Scientists generally have believed the corona to be of nearly uniform temperature.

Existence of the region was reported to a meeting of the International Committee on Space Research in a paper presented by Drs. Armin J. Deutsch of the Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories in Pasadena, Calif., and Guglielmo Righini of the Arcetri Observatory in Florence.

They said the "cool" region, possibly clouds of ionized calcium, was spotted on a photograph of the corona's spectrum taken from an airplane flying at 38,000 feet over Canada during the total eclipse last July.

The corona is an irregularly luminous envelope surrounding the sun. It can be seen and studied only during a total eclipse.

Extracurricular Activities: Success Key

By LESLIE J. NASON E.D.

The reward for extra effort in school or on the job, is more than money or grades.

The student who does more than the required minimum for his habits which may some day gain him a promotion. This fact of education is not being given proper emphasis.

When I ask employers to suggest improvements in education I often receive the response, "Encourage more students to form the habit of going the 'extra mile.' This trait seems to be lacking in many newcomers to our organization."

Since developing this attitude is a part of a child's education which is seldom included in school curricula, it must, therefore, get attention in the home.

Every opportunity should be grasped which will help fix the habit of giving something extra. When no job for volunteer for community service.

Reading to the blind, helping the crippled and feeding patients in nursing homes bring immediate satisfaction that is pay enough. The training gained and openings to future paid jobs are unearned bonuses.

At 15, Jack volunteered to assist a recreation department swimming instructor. He did a good job and learned a lot about children and about teaching swimming. He was eventually employed as a teacher's summer helping to earn his way through college.

THE EXTRA MILE

Jack continued throughout this time to go the extra mile. He helped organize and handle all city swimming meets. As a teacher he continued the habit of going the extra mile.

He is now vice principal in a large junior high. He is on his way up the ladder since he is continually called upon to help in organizing programs for the underprivileged and programs for teacher-training.

It all started when he decided to work as a volunteer.

Jane volunteered her services at a day nursery during the summer between her junior and senior high school years.

The description of her volunteer service in a letter of recommendation was the vital element that turned the tide and gained her entrance to the college of her choice.

On the basis of her grades alone, Jane would have just been accepted.

Volunteer community service has helped many students solve the dilemma of "No job, without experience" and "How can I get experience without a job?"

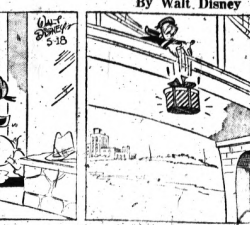

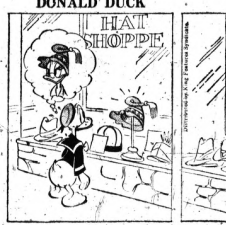

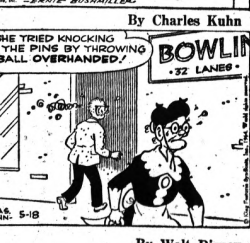

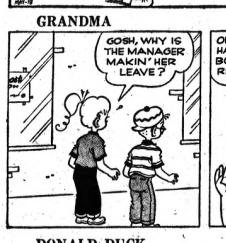

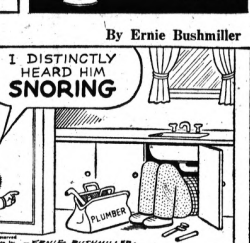

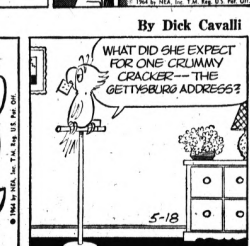

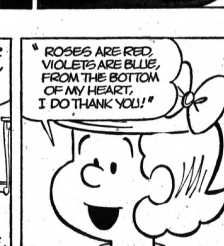

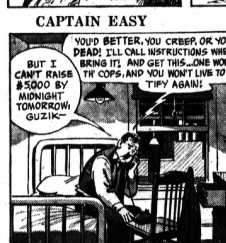

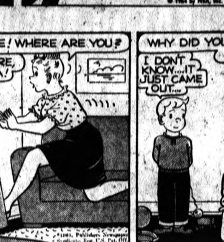

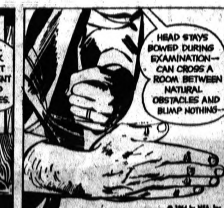

Although it carries no pay it is a job and a source of recommendation. The work must, of course, be done in a manner that deserve recommendation. Again the extra mile.

Students interested in volunteer community service should contact their local YMCA, YWCA, Recreation Department or their Community Volunteer Office if such exists in their vicinity.

It may be listed in the classified section of the telephone directory under Social Service. If this fails, go right to Volunteer Bureau of the United Community Fund Councils of America, Inc., 345 East 46th St., New York 17, N.Y. and ask for a directory of the volunteer bureaus.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. He will answer questions of widest interest in his column.)

The Charity Challenge Cup is a world-wide competition in which the contestants play regular duplicate hands selected by various British experts. The hands are all taken from actual competition, but they are selected for general interest. JACOBY and almost anything is likely to happen.

When today's hand was played in a match between British and German teams, both South players reached three no-trump. The nine of clubs was opened at both tables.

One South player ducked the first club and made his contract, the other took the first club and went down six tricks after the unusual series of plays.

He led a spade to dummy's ace and led the nine of diamonds for a finesse. West decided against a club continuation and shifted to the deuce of hearts.

Recess Over for High Court

Many Major Cases
Awaiting Decisions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court returns to the bench today from its last recess of the term with 50 cases, many of major significance, awaiting decision.

Since the past two weeks have been available for opinion writing, the justices were expected to dispose of a large amount of pending business.

Before handing down decisions and orders today, the high court planned ceremonies to admit several hundred attorneys to practice.

The court has under advisement a series of cases challenging convictions of sit-in demonstrators and another series on the composition of state legislatures, which are said to be set up in favor of rural over city voters.

The court also has taken a new look at school desegregation through the grade-a-year plan in Atlanta and the situation in Prince Edward County, Virginia, where public schools have been closed since 1959.

OBSCENITY TEST

Another question was whether the court would revise its 1958 obscenity test for books and movies.

Other issues:

- Does the 5th Amendment privilege against self-incrimination apply to state as well as federal proceedings?

- Does Congress have power to take away the citizenship of a native-born American who serves in a foreign army?

- Is it constitutional for federal law to withhold passports from members of groups ordered to register as Communists?

- May confessions be used in state criminal trials if police have refused to allow a suspect to talk to an attorney?

UAW Meetings to Set Specific 'Big 3' Demands

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers leaders open meetings here Wednesday to tailor the union's broad bargaining goals into specific demands for General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The UAW's national convention in March set the broad outlines for bargaining on contracts to replace those expiring midnight Aug. 31 at the Big Three automakers and Oct. 15 at American Motors Corp.

The union's separate GM, Ford and Chrysler councils will meet for two or three days this week to adapt the outlines for company-by-company talks.

Negotiations tentatively are scheduled to start June 30 at GM, July 1 at Ford and July 2 at Chrysler.

High among the UAW's list of higher benefits. The union's broad program also calls for improved wages and fringe benefits.

Michigan Definitely Rates as 'Paradise for Vacationers'

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of five stories enumerating the varied wonders of our great State of Michigan. During the remainder of Michigan Week, other stories on the state will appear in The Pontiac Press.)

By BOB SINCLAIR
Bottle Creek Enquirer and News
If any state in the Union ever had the right to call itself a "vacationer's paradise," that state is Michigan.

There is so much to see, so much to do, so much to simply stand back and savor with delight and awe, that Michiganders themselves can never get away from their home state.

No matter what they want out of a vacation, no matter what kind of a vacation they want, they need never cross the state line to find it.

Michigan's motto, translated from the Latin, says it succinctly:

"If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you."

At that, the mountains under the picture, Michigan has not one but two "pleasant peninsulas," each with its own particular brand of charm and beauty and recreational opportunities.

When a state has this kind of magnetism for its own residents who might be expected to be a little blasé about it, there is little wonder Michigan attracts millions of visitors each year from all over the nation.

ENDS AND MEANS
And what other state can make this claim: Michigan not only embraces some of the country's greatest tourist attractions, but it also provides the means to come see them—automobiles. (From Detroit, naturally, the automotive capital of the world.)

And the tourists come. Oh, how they come. Last year, for instance, they spent $777 million here. They don't have to sleep on the ground, either, unless they chose to, which a great many did, since Michigan has the finest camping system in the country.

There are 2,500 motels, 800 hotels and 3,000 resorts welcoming visitors with open doors.

What's to see and do in Michigan? Blushing with modesty, we'll quickly and briefly touch on some of the highlights.

GREAT ATTRIBUTE
Michigan is unique in many ways, with perhaps one of its greatest attributes its possession of both metropolitan and rural living advantages.

There are few states with as much fertile farmland, while, at the same time, few states can boast a city as large and important in national and international commerce as world-famous Detroit.

Yet Michigan isn't all farmland and metropolis, either. Far, far from it. There are very few places wilder than some of Michigan's forest areas, which comprise five national forests with more varieties of trees than any other state can claim, and an acreage of state-owned forest and land is second highest in the country.

Michigan is blessed with the greatest fresh water coast in the world, washed by four of the five Great Lakes, and more than 11,000 inland lakes, not to mention innumerable rivers and streams such as the famed Au Sable and the Manistee. (We are not described as the "Water Wonderland" for nothing.)

SOME FOR ALL
Speaking of the outdoors, like to fish? In Michigan you can catch everything from trout to muskies, with mouth-watering smelt and lakies in between—something for everybody.

And hunting? You name it, Michigan has it. Our state contains more big game than any other, ranging from elk and black bear to one of the country's largest deer herds. (Of course, we also have one of the few remaining herds of great-antlered moose but you'd better forget about hunting them.)

Michigan is a great small game state, too. Everything from pheasants to rabbits and back again. All told, we point out humbly, our state regularly sells more hunting and fishing licenses than any other.

Like winter sports? Believe it or not, Michigan has 85 ski resorts—85! (We find it hard to believe ourselves.) And one of them, at Iron Mountain, boasts the world's highest man-made ski jump.

OUR MOUNTAINS
Yes, we said Iron Mountain. We have mountains—lots of them, like the Porcupine, the Keweenaw range and the Hurons.

They may not match the majesty of some of the Western peaks, but by golly, they LOOK big! You can also find the world's fastest and longest man-made toboggan run at Grayling.

Michigan may be officially tagged an "industrial state," but look at this: It has more state parks than any other state, including Porcupine Mountain State Park, the nation's largest.

And you'll never have any trouble reaching them, either. Michigan's highway network is recognized as second to none.

TERRIFIC ROADS
From Detroit to the Upper Peninsula, the roads are terrific. And along the way you'll find 113 roadside parks and 1,800 roadside picnic sites for your enjoyment.

Much of the romance of early Michigan is preserved today, not only in our vast expanse of verdant forests and tumbling streams and crashing waterfalls, which remain as they were centuries ago, but also on the names of a great many of our cities and geographical features.

Names like Pontiac, Tecumseh, Ishpeming, Negaunee and Wyandotte, all cities, and the Tittabawassee River, Tahquamenon Falls, Kitchi-Ti-Ki-Pi Spring, all bear witness to the starring role played by the colorful American Indian in the heritage of Michigan.

Even the name Michigan itself is a modification of the Indian word "Michigamaw," or "Great Water."

THREE TRIBES
Three great tribes, the Ottawa, was, the Potawatomi and the Ojibwas, roamed our forests and paddled across our lakes long before Columbus discovered America.

Many of our major cities, including Detroit, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, originally were Indian villages. Many of our great highways were laid out along what were once Indian trails.

Perhaps the most popular and widely known tribute to the American Indian anywhere is Longfellow's "The Song of Hiawatha," which immortalized the legends of the Chippewas and other tribes in upper Michigan.

Today some 6,500 Indians are counted in Michigan's census, chiefly in settlements scattered over the state.

Yes, no matter what you want to see, no matter what you want to do, Michigan has the facilities for it. Our central location, which has been a major industrial advantage for decades, also makes Michigan an ideal tourist spot.

Of course, it isn't really fair to stand Michigan alongside any other state in the union and start comparing.

We have no inclination to make anyone feel inferior. We certainly have no need to bolster our own self-confidence. We merely felt we should attempt to place things in their proper perspective.

Beware of Extras on Insurance Policies

To all would-be auto insurance changers: Woe is mine, for I am grossly undone! I was overwhelmed by promises of cheaper rates, trip planning services and scores of other extra gimmicks. I fell for the lures and changed insurance companies.

Save yourself the woes and embarrassment of cancellation. Pay the extra rates of the well-established companies, forget the frills and be assured of protection when you need it.

Lary Gets Chance to Emulate Tigers' Hurling of Sunday

Northern Dancer Convinces Skeptics

Outpaces Field in Preakness

Triple Crown Nearer for Canadian Colt

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — "He won't jump over the Empire State Building," Jockey Bill Hartack answered when asked if there is anything Northern Dancer can't do.

"He will do anything in a race that you want him to," Hartack said.

On that, even combative Hartack couldn't get an argument. Northern Dancer convinced his skeptics—and there were more of them than believers—in winning the Preakness Saturday by 2½ lengths. Even Bill Shoemaker was convinced.

"The best horse won, that's all," admitted the Shoe, who had swapped horses a month before the Kentucky Derby. He gave up Northern Dancer for Hill Rise, on which he finished second in the Derby and third in the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico.

HE'S CONFIDENT

To those still scratching for a reason to pick against Northern Dancer, Hartack warned "I don't have any doubts about the horse going a mile and a half." This was in reference to the distance of the Belmont June 6 at Aqueduct. The odds are 10 to 1 against Northern Dancer capturing that last leg of the triple crown for 3-year-olds. But that's right down his alley.

The bettors in both the Derby and Preakness sent the Canadian horse off second choice to Hill Rise. His backers profited at $8.80 in the Derby and $6.20 in the Preakness.

Tigers Send Horton to Syracuse Farm

DETROIT (AP) — A disappointing start after a sensational spring training showing prompted the Detroit Tigers Sunday to send outfielder Willie Horton to Syracuse of the International League on option. At the same time, the Tigers recalled right-handed pitcher Jack Hamilton from the Syracuse club where he posted a 3-2 record, including two shutouts.

Horton, who led the Tigers with five home runs and 16 runs batted in during the spring, was hitting only .167, with no homers and eight runs batted in.

Crane Netters Triumph

Cranbrook defeated Nichols school in tennis 4-1 and need to defeat University School of Cleveland next week to finish with a 3-1 record and a tie for the league title.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jimmy Clark of Scotland, world's fastest commuter, and American Bobby Marshall will lead four former winners across the starting-line for the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race on Memorial Day.

First Place Positions in Publinx Still Intact

Publix teams from Rochester GC and Sylvan Glen held first place in the divisional standings of the weekly Michigan Public Links league as result of yesterday's play.

Rochester No. 2 team defeated Highland Hills, 21-1, with Jay Law firing a 3-under 69. In the same Red Division, Romeo and Moreys' No. 1 team battled to a 11-1 tie as Charles Barker had a 71 for Moreys and Smith a 75 to pace Romeo.

In the White Division, Sylvan Glen won over Northwood, 14-0. Rochester No. 1 team defeated Bald Mountain, 14-0.

Moore 2nd in Detroit Keg Event

DETROIT — Sal Timpa of Detroit edged Pontiac's Monroe Moore by 14 pins in the final match last night at Harbor Lanes to wrap up the Greater Detroit Master's championship. Timpa rolled 638 in the final four-game match and Moore tallied 624.

It was the third match between the two. Timpa dominated Moore on Saturday night, knocking him into the losers bracket in the double-elimination tournament, but Moore came back on Sunday to set the stage for the final match.

With second place in the tournament, Moore won the honor of representing Detroit at the Master's Championship in St. Paul next spring.

Clippers Set Tryouts

The Clippers Class A baseball team will hold tryouts tomorrow on the south diamond at Columbia-Joslyn field from 5 p.m. until dark.

Pontiac Business Institute's Class A baseball team will practice at Jayco No. 2 Tuesday at 5 p.m. and Thursday at 5 p.m.

George Strickland joined the conversation after Hemus was ousted. Tiger catcher Bill Freehan waits for play to resume. Detroit won the game, 3-1, and grabbed the nightcap, 4-1, to break even with the Tribe in the four-game set.

The Scot farmer hopped a plane to Mallory Park, England, and won the Guard's Trophy race there Sunday, setting a lap record on the winding course. Clark will compete in the Dutch Grand Prix next weekend before flying back to Indianapolis.

Sixteen cars qualified on the 2½-mile oval track Saturday and five made the line-up Sunday. The field so far has averaged 153.1 miles an hour. Parrell Jones, last year's winner of the $500,000 race, captured the pole position then at a record 151.1 average.

The 33 fastest cars in the trials will start the race. The qualifications continue next Saturday and Sunday.

Rodger Ward, 43, of Indianapolis, twice winner of the 500 and no worse than fourth in the last five races, qualified at 156.4 Saturday to make the first echelon an all-year-engine and all-Ford line.

Troy Ruttman of Dearborn, Mich., the 1962 winner, made the line-up Sunday in a conventional Offenhauser roadster at 151.3. Eddie Sachs of Detroit, who hit the wall in a practice run Saturday, came back in the repaired Halibrand-Ford and had Sunday's best speed at 151.4.

State Meet Next for PCH Thinclads

If the state's Class A track teams divide up the points in this Saturday's state track championships like they did in the regionals, there will be a host of favorites for the crown.

Pontiac Central established itself a possible threat by winning the Livonia regional last Saturday. Seashell also stayed in contention with a first place at Thurston.

Avondale and Romeo ran 1-2 in Class B at Fitzgerald and Cranbrook captured the "B" title at Thurston.

River Rouge ran away with the "B" regional at Livonia and remains at "string favorite" to add the state championship.

Eight records were broken or tied at Livonia as PCH totaled 47 points to 34 for Farmington. Seashell finished ahead of Ecorse, 48-34; Mt. Clemens topped Roseville, 48-46; at Fitzgerald; and host Pershing edged Detroit Eastern, 46-41; in other meets that indicate close competition.

RECORD TIED

Otis Newkirk was a double winner for PCH. The speedy Chief tied the 220 mark with a 23.0 and won the 100 in 10.1.

Les Hanspard cracked the meet pole vault record for Central.

Michigan State in a double-header Saturday, Michigan won its cross state rival for another game today, with hopes of padding its 14-4 game lead.

The Wolverines took first with 6-3 and 4-1 victories over MSU at Ann Arbor while Ohio State dumped the previous leader, Minnesota, 4-3 and 3-2. Michigan now is 9-1, Minnesota is 8-3 and MSU fell to 6-6, in seventh place.

The first game was a slugfest, with Michigan rapping out 16 hits and the Spartans 12. In the seven-inning nightcap, Michigan righthander Bill Wahl held MSU to five hits and picked up his fourth straight Big Ten victory.

Michigan second baseman Tom Lasilo hit 5 for 8 in the two games.

TITANS WIN
Detroit scored twice after two were out in the ninth inning and pushed its season record to 17-4 with a 4-3 triumph over Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. Notre Dame now is 13-11.

Tom Engel hit the game-winning single after a walk, a single by Harry Brinsden and a Notre Dame error.

Western Michigan also kept winning, dumping Miami of Ohio 4-1 in a Mid-American Conference game behind Mike Boeddy's four-hitter. The Broncos now are 16-3 overall and 7-2 in the conference. Miami is 2-7 in the MAC.

First baseman Dan Reeves drove in three Bronco runs with a double and a single.
Wayne State stayed in second place in the President's Athletic Conference by sweeping a doubleheader from Thiel, Pa., 9-3 and 9-0. Wayne's Jerry Flora reached base in all his eight appearances at the plate, four times on walks and four on singles.

Central Michigan was Eastern Illinois' victim twice, losing 9-8 and 2-1.

Olivet's game at Adrian was rained out.

Giants' Confidence in Rookie Pays Off

By The Associated Press
Ron Herbel is nearedighted and Jack Fisher is beginning to see the light.

Herbel is one of the young pitchers the San Francisco Giants were counting on when they let Fisher go to the New York Mets in the National League's "Help the Poor" draft last fall.

Manager Alvin Dark gave the rookie right-hander his first major league start in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader against Fisher and the Mets but had Herbel known he'd only get two hits from his teammates, he might have declined the opportunity.

MOMENT OF CONFUSION — Not really, but umpire Augie Donatelli might well be saying "What's going on here?" as he approaches the play. The head and arm at top and banded hand at left belong to Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco who is nearing second base on a steal. first and Orlando Cepeda in the second. Pitching for the Giants, it might have been good enough to win but hurling for the Mets . . . not a chance.

STOLE SECOND
Cepeda, who slugged a three-run homer to back up Bob Hendley's three-hitter for a 6-0 first game victory, did the damage. He stole second following his single, moved to third on a fly ball and scored when Fisher unhooked a wild pitch. It was the only mistake the ex-Giant hurler made, but it was enough to beat him.

Herbel, who began wearing glasses in spring training, surrendered seven hits to Casey Stengel's runless wonders and pitched out of numerous jams.

While the Giants were sweeping, three other National League

Did you know that the famous Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day race was not always a 500-mile event? Back in 1916, five years after the "500" was started, the president of the Indianapolis Speedway cut the distance to 300 miles because he felt a 500-mile race was too long to hold spectator interest!

Clerk Finds

Honesty to Be Risky

LONDON (AP) — Nursing a knot on his head, Ried Erio expressed doubt today that honesty is always the best policy.

Erio, 36, clerks in a delicatessen at suburban Burnt Oak. A customer entered the shop, bought a bottle of lemonade, paid for it, tucked the bottle under his arm and departed, leaving a well-filled billfold on the counter.

Erio picked up the billfold and rushed after the absent-minded customer.

"As I reached the door I saw him going up the road," said the clerk, "so I chased after him."

"Hey, you," he shouted and tapped the customer on the back.

The man turned, swung the lemonade bottle and popped Erio on the top of his head. Then the customer walked away.

The disillusioned clerk went back to the delicatessen and called the police. He told his story and handed over the wallet.

POOR REWARD

"A poor reward for a good deed," said a police spokesman. "Apparently the customer thought he was being attacked."

The police said they expected no difficulty in locating the owner of the wallet. Erio he wouldn't bring charges, "I'll just charge it to experience."

Pick City Optometrist for Health Care Group

A practicing optometrist for 20 years, Dr. F. Milton Hathaway of 98 E. Iroquois has been appointed to the consulting committee of the Governor's Action Committee on Health Care.

Dr. Hathaway, with offices in the Community National Bank Building, is immediate past president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Lemmon Slays Virna Lisi — in Gotham Shot of Movie

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — To our fascinating megalopolis, there'll soon be added a kooky new street scene . . . Jack Lemmon, Terry-Thomas and the Italian sexpot Virna Lisi on a terrace overlooking 52nd St. and 6th Ave., filming part of a movie called, "How to Murder Your Wife."

WILSON

So if you're around mid-Manhattan and look up at a terrace and think you're seeing Jack Lemmon there with a blonde beauty, it could be!

"That's what I like about New York . . . everybody running every place . . . so frenetic," gorgeous Miss Lisi just told me.

"Rome is too relaxed . . . so many slushes. When a pretty girl goes down the street there, the men put two fingers to their lips and wheehee. But in New York, the men are rushing so, they keep their eyes straight ahead and not even look!"

Lemmon arrived here full of sleep from L.A. just in time to attend a big party Georgia Brown gave at the Rainbow Grill saluting the Dudley Moore group opening there. I asked him what he and Miss Lisi'll be doing on that terrace. He candidly answered:

"I'll be throwing her into a concrete mixer."

Sounds like an interesting little summer ahead.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Sammy Davis Jr. introduced Sidney Poitier and Harry Belafonte from the Copa audience and said, "I was supposed to have Sidney's role in 'Lilies of the Field' — but how would I explain to my rabbi about being with all these nuns?" . . . Richard Burdick Lisi to supper at a little-known West Side French restaurant . . . Millionaire Huntington Hartford visited the Fair's Transportation and Travel pavilion — and had to borrow 50 cents to buy a souvenir.

Producer Ray Stark's talking to Connie Francis' MGM bosses about her heading a touring company of "Funny Girl" . . . Paris papers report Charlie Chaplin wants Swiss citizenship . . . N. Y. City footballer Y. A. Little will endorse football helmets that'll be called "Yat's Hats."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Being positive is the act of being mistaken at the top of one's voice." — Ambrose Bierce

EARL'S PEARLS: There is often a difference between good sound reason and reasons that sound good.

Jazz star Eddie Condon, recovering from surgery, says, "I don't know what they use to put you out in the operating room, but whatever it is, I'm taking a fifth of it home." . . . That's all, brother.

Waterford Twp. Schools Schedule Tribute to State

Michigan Week will be observed in all 24 Waterford Township elementary schools, beginning today. In addition to the display of special bulletin board material, many schools will have special projects and programs open to the parents.

Some have planned assembly programs with a Michigan Week theme, or have scheduled field trips to farms and factories for a first-hand look at Michigan enterprise.

Still more activities scheduled by the schools include study projects on the state's history, song sessions, a tulip festival saluting western Michigan, and even breakfast programs.

The breakfasts, featuring Michigan food products, are scheduled both for the Drayton Plains and Burt schools.

Corn meal, apple juice, eggs, wheat bread and maple syrup are some of the products to be served.

Many of the school activities are open to the public. Parents are particularly invited to attend.

DRAYTON PLAINS

An example of a full-scale program with parents invited to attend is that planned at Drayton Plains School for various days this week.

Kindergarten youngsters, after visiting a farm, will make butter and serve it to their parents with crackers all day Thursday.

Third graders at the school tomorrow afternoon will demonstrate some of the new mathematics processes they have learned this year.

A concert and songfest Thursday at 1 p.m. featuring Michigan songs is the entertainment category beginning band students at the school have chosen for their parents.

BULLETIN BOARD

First graders have prepared a bulletin board display, the second graders will read for their parents; fourth graders are planning the breakfast Thursday at 9 a.m. and the fifth graders have studied logging in the state's history and will make travel posters illustrating good vacation spots.

FOURTH GRADERS

Fourth graders at Lambert School will prepare story charts in Michigan industry.

INNER CITY AREA

Dr. Myers is expected to take charge of church work in Detroit's inner city area on the fringes of the downtown section.

He received 117 votes from delegates and 235 from laymen on the third ballot. A total of 101 clergy votes and 184 lay votes were required for election.

Second in the balloting was the Rev. James B. Shannon, of Cambridge, Mass., a former Detroit investment banker. He polled 53 clergy votes and 45 lay votes on the final ballot.

Other nominees were the Rev. William S. Logan, executive director of program for the Michigan diocese; the Rev. Henri Stipes, field director in Atlanta, Ga., for the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity; and the Venerable Charles D. Braimwood, of 2088 Piro Lake, Detroit, Mich., diocesan archdeacon.

Dr. Myers, who lost two recent bishop elections in New York and Pennsylvania, will work under Michigan's bishop, the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich.

City Gets New Mayor — for Today

Pontiac, where a new mayor was elected only three weeks ago, had another new mayor today.

Harvey MacDonald, mayor of Union City, arrived at City Hall at 11 a.m. to begin Mayor's Exchange Day observances locally.

At the same time, Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. traveled to Union City, northwest of Coldwater in Branch County.

MacDonald was greeted by Mayor Pro-Tem Leslie H. Hudson; City Manager John F. Reineck; Max Adams, chairman of Michigan Week activities for Pontiac, and other city officials and civic leaders.

Following the initial reception, MacDonald toured the GMC Truck & Coach Division plant.

SERVICE CENTER

After a luncheon at GMCTC, MacDonald met with county officials and toured the Oakland County Service Center on Telegraph Road.

From there, he was off on a tour of city facilities, major industrial plants and Pontiac's urban renewal project areas.

The day's events were to be concluded at the Mayor's Exchange Day dinner at the City Club at 6 p.m.

Area communities exchanging mayors or village presidents are Birmingham-Coldwater; Farmington — Reed City; Holly-Marine City; Keweenaw — Waterford; Lake Orion — Carson City; and Milford — Grosse Pointe Woods.

Others are Novi — Columbiaville; Ortonville — Tekonsha; Oxford — Shepherd; Rochester — North Adams; South Lyon — Merrill; Troy — Woodland; Walled Lake — Center Line; Wixom — Clair Shores; and Wolverine Lake — Niles.

U. S. Leaders Hold Secret Talks; New Asia Crisis Is Feared

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The command post of neutralist Gen. Kong Le on the eastern edge of the strategic Plain des Jarres fell to the Communists today, Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma reported.

The neutralist prince told newsmen the situation was "still critical" at Muong Phanh, the village 100 miles northeast of Vientiane that Kong Le used as headquarters for his 7,000-man neutralist army.

Souvanna said pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops and North Vietnamese soldiers overran Kong Le's command post after two days of heavy shelling and bitter fighting. No estimate of casualties was available.

Military sources said Kong Le was in the general vicinity of Muong Phanh but had retreated southward to set up a new defense perimeter.

The renewed Communist drive has stirred concern in Washington that another Southeast Asian crisis was developing. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and President Johnson held urgent talks on the situation yesterday.

Rusk, who conferred with Johnson yesterday, held an unusual series of meetings with ambassadors of the Soviet Union, Britain and other countries that have a direct interest in the situation.

OUTSIDE SUPPORT

Rusk's purpose was to get support in Moscow, London and elsewhere for efforts to put an end to the Communist drive, and save the Geneva agreement which neutralized Laos and stopped the use of Laotian territory for supplying Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

Romney Leads Delegates to Michigan Day at Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan Week, when nearly everybody in the state can become a Chamber of Commerce, was getting national exposure today at the World's Fair.

Gov. George W. Romney led a delegation of several hundred business and industrial leaders and educators to the Fair for Michigan Day festivities.

The Michigan delegation arrived by auto, train and plane to boost the state and its Michigan Week theme. "Michigan: Great in Resources and Opportunities."

Romney touted the state's birth on the network television show "Today," then began a hectic schedule at the fairgrounds.

Bands from the University of Michigan and Michigan State and singers from the University of Detroit were to add musical zest.

STATE'S BEAUTIES

Also appearing on behalf of the Wolverine state was actress Julie Harris, a former Grosse Pointe resident. Michigan's various festival queens also were here.

"This is the biggest day we have had," said Thelma Herbert, assistant chief of protocol.

Ralph Swan, executive secretary of Michigan Week, estimated that $10,000 was spent to make today's show a bellringer.

Romney's schedule included two breakfast appearances. He went first to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel for a get-together arranged by representatives of Michigan colleges and universities.

BREAKFAST

Then the governor breakfasted at the Top of the Fair. This was sponsored by the University of Michigan.

Romney was to make stops at the General Motors exhibit and the United States pavilion, where New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was official host.

Romney planned to speak there and again in the afternoon at the Beilign Village.

He will officiate at the program for the lighting of the Tower of Light before heading back to Lansing tonight.

Back in Michigan, meanwhile, the mayors of cities and hamlets swapped jobs for the day, a highlight of Government Day.

Sunday was Spiritual Foundations Day and an appropriate service was conducted on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee approved today $5.2 billion for space programs and $5.4 billion for veterans' programs.

The appropriations are included in a $13,318,965,000 omnibus money bill that provides financing for 25 miscellaneous government agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Major reductions were in funds sought for additional federal personnel. The total is 6.5 per cent less than President Johnson requested.

The committee voted an additional $25,000 for expenses of Mrs. John F. Kennedy arising from a deluge of mail expressing sympathy over the assassination of the late president.

Another new item in the bill is $400,000 to carry out the 1964 presidential transition law which provides expenses and office help for presidents-elect between the time of their election in November and their inauguration in January.

Johnson had requested $600,000. The $5.3 billion recommended for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was $245 million less than the President requested. An additional cut of a billion dollars was recommended by Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., long a foe of some space programs.

NEW GOVERNMENT

"Second, a new government under Prime Minister Khanh has come to power, bringing new energy and leadership and new hope for effective action.

"I share with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge the conviction that this new government can mount a successful campaign against the Communists."

Step-Up Needs $125 Million, Congress Told

Funds Will Increase Support of Civil and Military Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for an extra $125 million to help step up the war against communism in South Viet Nam.

The money will go into increased support of both military and civil operations of the Vietnamese.

In a special message, Johnson spelled out the needs and the intentions.

He said that "By our words and deeds to a decade of de-

And he said two major changes have dictated the necessity for increasing financial help to Viet Nam:

"First, the Viet Cong guerrillas, under orders from their Communist masters in the North, have intensified terrorist attacks against the peaceful people of South Viet Nam. This increased terrorist requires increased response.

NEW GOVERNMENT

Raid Indicates Cong Offensive

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — A series of hit-and-run attacks on government forces indicated today that the communist Viet Cong has started a rainy season offensive.

The South Viet Nam government announced that Communist guerrillas attacked five government outposts and sank a landing craft in weekend action leaving as many as 46 Vietnamese soldiers dead or missing.

The synchronized attacks followed Thursday's Communist ambush near Saigon in which 54 government troops were killed.

There were no reports of Viet Cong losses in the weekend attacks, or casualties among the more than 15,000 U.S. advisers aiding the Vietnamese in the guerrilla war.

Vietnamese officials and their American advisers have been anticipating stepped-up guerrilla activities to coincide with the beginning of the rainy season.

SEAS OF MUD

During the four-month season, heavy rains turn mud paddies into seas of mud which give an advantage to the kind of hit-and-run tactics used by the Viet Cong.

A battalion of Viet Cong launched coordinated raids before dawn on the five outposts Saturday, killing 17 Vietnamese soldiers and leaving 10 missing.

The other Communist action sank a Vietnamese landing craft in a river in the same area, about 50 miles west of Saigon. At least 9 and possibly 10 government troops were killed.

The government launched a pursuit operation after the raids, but the relief force was unable to find any trace of the attackers.

NEAR BORDER

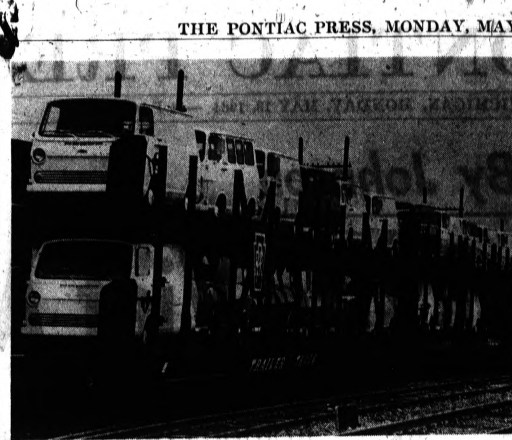

U.S. advisers at the government stronghold of Tan An said the Viet Cong may have slipped across the border from neutral Cambodia. The raided villages are only four miles from Cambodian territory.

South Viet Nam and Cambodia have exchanged charges over alleged border violations, and a Cambodian complaint on the matter will be taken up tomorrow by the United Nations Security Council in New York.

The Cambodian government in Phnom Penh today denied reports that it cooperated with the Viet Cong and permitted guerrillas to cross the border for refuge from pursuing Vietnamese forces.

Cambodian sources also claimed that 50 "Free Cambodia" rebels coming from South Viet Nam attacked a provincial border outpost at Prey Kham on a week ago and killed one Cambodian.

The Viet Cong attacks Saturday started shortly after midnight with simultaneous assaults on two posts. Then the Reds pulled back and hit the other posts one by one. The fighting continued until dawn when the guerrillas slipped away.

Both fourth grade classes at Pontiac Lake School will tour the Capitol in Lansing. They will be accompanied by their teachers and a group of parents.

Another special Michigan Week activity in the schools will be the pageant, on the state's history presented by fourth graders at Monticello School in a series of tableaux.

Michigan Week also will be observed by the Waterford-Drayton Rotary Club at the organization's sixth annual Michigan Week Banquet tomorrow at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Jay Zee, featured speaker at the dinner program at the Community Activities building, will discuss "An Adventure into Hypnotism." Dr. Don O. Tatroe will be toastmaster.

Entertainment at the banquet will feature selections by the Waterford Civic Chorus and organist William Terry.

The banquet is open to the public.

There is no one single cause, but rather a constellation of causes. Now we know the chief suspects in this deadly syndicate.

Look at the roll call:

- High levels of cholesterol, a particularly dangerous fatty material, in the bloodstream.
- Overweight.
- Excessive eating, especially of certain types of fats and cholesterol.
- Too little exercise and physical activity.
- Diabetes.
- Excessive cigarette smoking.
- Tensions and stresses.
- Heredity.

If you are beset by any one of them, your risk of a premature heart attack is boosted two to six times above the risk of the person free from such a burden. With a combination of factors, your risk is far higher.

LESS CHANCE

A man's chances of having a heart attack before age 65 are about 1 in 10 to 1 in 50 if he has normal weight, normal blood pressure, average or low levels of blood cholesterol, no diabetes, is not a heavy cigarette smoker, is moderately active, has a normal electrocardiogram, and has no damage to his kidneys or thyroid gland.

His chances rise to 1 in 2 to 1 in 50 per cent—if he is being shadowed by two or three of the syndicate members, such as high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, or obesity.

These odds are not drawn from a hat. They are based upon what actually happened to apparently healthy middle-aged men who lived with one or more of these risk factors.

But you are not helpless. You can do something about each of these risks. You can plan to enjoy a longer life.

WITH DIET

With diet, or diet combined with drugs, you can control high blood pressure and diabetes, reducing their dangers.

The cigarette smoker who quits his habit finds his risk falling toward that of the nonsmoker.

The obese man who reduces begins paying the standard rate for his life insurance, instead of an extra fee.

The amount of cholesterol in the bloodstream can be reduced through moderate changes in what we eat.

SOLID BASE

We have, now, a very solid foundation of scientific knowledge from which to fight back against the toll of premature heart-attacks and strokes, especially among the middle-aged.

We have strong prospects of saving hundreds of thousands of lives, and adding 10 to 20 more years to our lives.

Take careful account of these primary factors:

Ordinary heart disease today is our leading killer, and the toll is increasing.

The very FIRST attacks are fatal to almost 40 per cent of victims, either immediately or 20 per cent die in the FIRST HOUR.

HIGH RISKS

Millions of us live with dangerously high risks.

There is no germ or bug that causes heart attacks.

Its causes involve the way we've been living.

Heart disease has risen to tragic prominence at a time when so many Americans are enjoying the "good life" and prosperity.

The thought is inescapable that somehow this epidemic is fundamentally due to aspects of our new modern way of life. Some experts call it the "disease of prosperity" and blame it particularly upon the ABUSE of our prosperity.

CUSTOMS CHANGE

Our life habits and customs have changed remarkably in the last 40 to 50 years, and we've heartily welcomed most of them.

But many of these new habits and boons are associated with our high rate of premature death from heart attacks.

The heart plague flourishes in those countries, like ours, where modern urban industrial life is most developed, where the changes from a rural agricultural society—in habits of eating, exercising, working, smoking, and other ways—have been most profound.

But we can do something about it. A very great deal. None of these steps can hurt us in any way. Rather you will very likely feel better and be healthier. They do not call for the rigors of any Spartan existence—far from it.

The time to begin is now, whether you are 20 or 40, a young man or woman, husband or wife, or parents of young children whose lives might be lengthened by 20 to 30 years because of habits being formed and followed now.

Press for Rights Bill OK

Clerics March on Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — Protestant clergymen from every state march in a "silent, prayerful procession" to Capitol Hill today, beginning of the Senate's 11th week of debate on the civil rights bill.

The demonstration, sponsored by the National Council of Churches' Commission on Religion and Race, was designed to press for passage of the measure, stalled by Southern oratory through 57 sessions.

An hour before the Senate is gavelled into its 58th meeting on the House-passed bill, the clergymen assemble in the Lutheran Church of the Reformation, two blocks east of the Capitol, for a worship service led by the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, dean of the National Cathedral.

En route to the Capitol, the churchmen pause to pray for justice at the Supreme Court building, marking the 10th anniversary of the 1954 Supreme Court school desegregation decision.

As debate by Southerners opposing the bill dragged on last week, there was more talk of trying for cloture—getting two-thirds of the senators present and voting to approve a curb on further speeches.

They planned to pray on the Senate steps and then seek out every senator to appeal for enactment of the civil rights bill.

CLOTURE STRUGGLE

Within the Capitol, meanwhile, there is almost continual jockeying for debate-limiting cloture.

Much of what happens depends on the outcome of Democratic and Republican party huddles tomorrow, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said.

That's when both groups get a look at 70 amendments worked out by the Senate leadership and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The package, aimed at making the bill more acceptable to undecided senators, is being offered by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

As debate by Southerners opposing the bill dragged on last week, there was more talk of trying for cloture—getting two-thirds of the senators present and voting to approve a curb on further speeches.

Honor Cranbrook Developers

Honored were Dr. Robert T. Matt, Cranbrook Institute of Science director; Miss Malja Grottel, head of Cranbrook Academy of Arts ceramics department; and Dr. William S. Casey, former Brookside School Cranbrook music instructor.

Henry S. Booth, executive director of the Cranbrook Foundation, presented the medals during a morning service at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Many of the day's ceremonies were held at the church, the first major gift of Cranbrook's founders, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth.

Dr. Hatt, institute of science director since 1935, was cited for leading the effort which developed the unit into "an outstanding small school of international reputation."

Dr. Casey, made it an educational pace setter.

PREVIOUS HISTORY

The 62-year-old biologist was educated at the University of Michigan and Columbia University. He was assistant curator of mammals at the American Museum of Natural History before coming to Cranbrook.

Dr. Hatt is a fellow of the London Zoological Society, the New York Zoological Society, the American Museum of Natural History, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Rochester Museum of Arts and Science.

Miss Grottel, creator of "outstanding pots," has headed Cranbrook's ceramics department since 1939.

A native of Helsinki, Finland, she has received numerous awards.

Miss Grottel

He also was the state-appointed member of the county's Social Welfare Board from 1939 to 1953.

Before heading the new department, Mr. Burt served locally with the Economic Recovery Administration (ERA) during the Depression.

He was a member of the Pontiac Elks Club and the Oakland County Boat Club.

Funeral service will be 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Donaldson-Johns Funeral Home with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Surviving are his wife, Mae; a son, George W. Burt of Orchard Lake; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Reed of Warren; and five grandchildren.

Correction on Name

in UAW Local Contest

Raymond Norman and Don Johnson are the two candidates vying for the presidency of Fisher Body UAW Local 596 in a runoff election Wednesday.

for her work as a ceramist. She is represented in museums throughout the country, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

ELEMENTARY MUSIC

Dr. Casey, at Brookside from 1939 to 1961, integrated music into the entire elementary curriculum.

The program he started now includes daily acceptance in every class, a DR. CASEY chapel choir of 30 members, instrumental lessons in small groups from 4th through 6th grades and string and wind orchestras which give concerts for parents and friends.

Educated at Ohio State University and the University of Michigan, Dr. Casey now teaches music at Ball State Teachers College in Muncie, Ind.

Funds Below Anticipation?

County Tax Base Altered by Decision

Oakland County school districts and units of local government sharing the annual 15-mill county tax levy are likely to receive slightly less than they anticipated this year.

The State Tax Commission has recommended about a $5-million reduction in what the county proposed as its tax base.

The figure would be reduced to $2,386,684,000 if the State Board of Equalization accepts the commission's recommendation.

The county's equalized valuation, or tax base, still would be up $108 million over last year.

But the amount of taxes that could be collected on the new figure would be about $100,000 less than what was anticipated for this year.

AMOUNT SHARED

The statutory 15-mill county tax levy would produce $4.6 million to be shared by 30 school districts, 22 townships, Oakland Schools (special education) and county government.

The County Tax Allocation Board was meeting today to set preliminary rates for dividing the 15 mills among all participating units.

Tentatively the rates are 5.44 mills for county government, 12.44 mills for Oakland Schools, 9.44 mills for school districts, less whatever is allocated to townships.

Where school districts lie within cities, the schools would get all of the 9.44 mills.

SAME LAST YEAR

Tentative rates set for participating townships were the same as last year. They varied from 1.38 to 1 mill.

If finally adopted, the tentative rates would give school districts .27 mills less than last year. They still would receive about $500,000 more due to the increased tax base.

County government would receive $12 million in taxes to ward a proposed $18.4 million budget that consequently would have to be pared to $17 million.

The county's budget for the current year is $16 million.

USE OF FUNDS

Secretary member of the county board of auditors, Robert Lilly, told the allocation board that the proposed increase of $2.4 million was needed mainly to finance improved methods of care and treatment for juvenile court wards at the Children's Village, hospitalization of more welfare patients, mostly elderly persons, and for a new South Oakland Health Center, which he said has been needed for at least 10 years.

School administrators termed the tentative increase in the county's share of the 15 mills, "a raid" on their allocation.

They said, if the county needs more mills it should ask voters to approve a special millage above the 15 mills.

In most instances, school districts receive a special voted millage in addition to their share of the 15 mills.

Lilly said the county is unable to stir voter sympathy as school districts have done through elections.

DISCUSS REDUCTION

The County Board of Supervisors' equalization committee is scheduled to meet Wednesday to discuss the State Tax Commission's recommended reduction in the proposed tax base.

The committee could recommend opposing any reduction before the State Board of Equalization which ultimately must determine the county's tax base by May 28, according to County Equalization Director Edwin Sage.

For Not Aiding Dog

Readers Rap Bus Driver

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: When I read all those letters from readers stating that you were wrong to say that the bus driver should have stopped and tried to help the dog he hit, I couldn't believe my eyes.

Then we find out there is a LAW in Indiana which prohibits a school bus driver from stopping on the highway even if he hits an animal. What if he hits a child? He would have to stop then, wouldn't he? Or would he just go right on, and report the incident only after having delivered his bus load of children to their destinations?

No wonder there is so much inhumanity today! I don't care what the LAW says, Abby, don't you back down one inch. You were right, and the whole State of Indiana is wrong to let a law like that stay on its books.

NOT FROM INDIANA

DEAR ABBY: I have never before written to a newspaper columnist, but I cannot sleep unless I write this letter. How could anyone answer to his own conscience if he hits a poor defenseless dog and doesn't stop to see if the dog is dead or alive, or to give him some aid?

An injured dog on the highway would surely be struck again and again by oncoming vehicles if not removed. Dogs feel pain just as humans do. If this is the law, perhaps we can look forward to future laws which will not only disregard the feelings of animals, but people. Phooey on progress! DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE

DEAR ABBY: I checked and you were right. It IS against the law in Indiana for a school bus driver to stop on the highway if he hits an animal.

The law of various states are often confusing. For example, I was driving through a section posted "RANGE AREA-WATCH FOR LIVE-STOCK" and a cow wandered out in front of me.

I hit her broadside. My car was badly damaged and I was lucky I wasn't killed.

I saw a lawyer, expecting to recover damages for my car. After all, I was on the highway where I was supposed to be, and the cow had no business there.

I found out that I not only couldn't collect a dime, but I was being sued by the farmer for the loss of his cow.

If Invited, You Don't Pay the Bill

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Recently a couple I have known for quite a few years came to this city on business.

I went to their hotel one evening to visit them and invited them to dinner.

They said they had already made reservations (at a very swank place) and asked me to go along with them, which I did.

I would like to know if I should have paid the bill. I might add that the prices at this particular restaurant were much more than I could afford.

A: When these friends told you that they had a table reservation at a specific restaurant and invited you to go along with them, they automatically became your hosts and your guest and the payment of the bill was up to them.

Q: My boy friend's parents will soon celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. He and his two sisters have planned a surprise anniversary party for them and I have been invited.

This will be my first meeting with his parents and I am anxious to do the right thing. Would it be proper for me to bring a present to the party?

I do not want to seem as though I am trying to buy their approval.

A: Never having met his parents, you will not be expected, in fact it would be in rather questionable taste, to take a present to them.

Q: Having been utterly grief-stricken at the unexpected passing of my mother two months ago, I did nothing to acknowledge flowers or messages sent to me.

There was no one else in the family who could do it. Is it now too late to write such notes?

A: It is not too late, even now, to write thank-you notes to those who sent flowers or wrote notes of sympathy.

Your friends will surely understand and forgive your delay in not having written sooner.

Q: My parents will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary shortly and we, their children, are going to give a reception for them.

We would like to know if gold lettering may be used on the invitations?

I think it would be very suitable on this occasion, but my sister says it would be in bad taste and the conventional black ink should be used.

New Slips No Longer Mistakes

A slip need no longer be a social error.

The lingerie designers have considered just about every aspect of the undercover story and have come up with most of the answers.

Among the half slips that give a little is a side-wrapped version, like the side-wrapped skirt—wonderful for the miss with a thick hip or thigh problem.

UNDER PLEATS

It is also ideally worn under pleated, or deeply - gored skirts. After all, why wear a skirt with plenty of action room if the underskirt restricts movement?

A frustrating problem to the devotee of the dinner gown in the long skirt slip that limits movement to mincing strides, spoiling all the fun when the lively dance music strikes up.

Very often formal wear designers stitched in their own slips.

PRESENT PROBLEMS

But these sometimes present problems, especially when the underslip does not hold up as well as the dress itself in drycleaning.

Now the lingerie makers are inundating the market with action slips, ankle-length with knee-high slits up the back of the skirt or with deep pleats in the sides.

Writers to Meet

Mrs. L. S. Martz of Wing Lake will open her home on Tuesday to the Detroit Women Writers Club for a cooperative luncheon and poetry workshop. Mrs. L. C. Dibble of Birmingham is chairman for the day.

Botsford Inn Scene for Reception

Historic Botsford Inn, Farmington, was the setting for a reception following the vows of Julie Ann Becker and Jack L. Fredrick in the Redford Presbyterian Church, Detroit.

The usher list included the bride's brothers, Stephen and Martin Becker, of Rochester,

Rev. Donal Wilmut, associate pastor, officiated at the Saturday evening ceremony.

ROSE HEADPIECE

She donned a bouffant veil of silk illusion caught by a satin rose and carried cascading orchids and Stephanotis.

With Catherine Tierney of Detroit, honor attendant, were bridesmaids Nancy Wood of Detroit and Christine Miller of South Lyon.

BROTHERS

also James Clancy and Michael Rogers.

The couple, both graduates of Oakland University, will make their home in Royal Oak after a brief honeymoon.

Julie Ann Becker, daughter of the Donald D. Beckers of Rochester and Jack L. Fredrick, son of the Judson Fredricks of Rowley Drive, were wed Saturday in the Redford Presbyterian Church, Detroit.
