MRS. ELIZA BEAUMONT TAYLOR

Oldest Resident Celebrates 109th Birthday in Highland

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Mrs. Eliza Beaumont Taylor, believed to be Michigan's oldest resident, is celebrating her 109th birthday today at her Highland Township home on 250 Center St.

And the fact that friends are stopping by to congratulate this Oakland County pioneer lady on the occasion doesn't appear to bother her a bit. She's amazingly spry and alert for one her age.

Every day Eliza gets up, dresses and eats a hearty breakfast. In fact, she has gained 10 pounds since her 108th birthday and claims that she "never had it so good."

The reason, she says, is that her grandniece, Mrs. Olive Clark, with whom she makes her home, is the "best cook in the country" and takes expert care of the little woman who was born during the 1849 Gold Rush days.

When the area around Highland was nothing but uninhabited wilderness and virgin timber, Eliza's folks received one of the first federal land grants and settled down in a tiny log cabin on the edge of White Lake.

KNEW HARDHIPS

As the youngest of nine children, Eliza knew the hardships of having to melt snow for drinking and bathing . . . of cooking meals in an open fireplace . . . and plugging up cracks in the drafty cabin to keep the wind and snow from coming through.

Eliza said her father used to encourage his daughters to go to square dances, the main form of activity a hundred years ago, saying "a good square dance is better than a kissing bee any day."

There were corn husking, taffy pulls and snow parties, but mostly life involved a lot of hard work for young folks of early Michigan days, Mrs. Taylor said.

As the children grew up, the Beaumont family sold part of their homestead and made a summer resort on the beautiful lake. A big

Snow Flurries, Continued Cold on Wednesday

A few snow flurries and continued cold temperatures is the forecast for tonight and tomorrow. The low tonight will be a little higher, about 14 degrees. Tomorrow's high will hit near 23.

The Weather Bureau said today the persistence of such abnormally cold weather so early in the season exceeds any record since 1871. The Bureau started keeping records in 1872.

During the 18- day period since the cold wave swept in, Nov. 27, only on four days — Dec. 2 through 5 — did the temperature climb above freezing in downtown Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The Weather Bureau said the only day with normal Pontiac temperatures was Dec. 4. The average temperatures have been 12 degrees below normal.

Five above was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 20 at 2 p.m.

NATO Leaders Reject Soviet Berlin Pressure

Foreign Minister Meet Opens With Squabble Between U.S., France

PARIS (AP) — The foreign ministers of the Atlantic Pact countries today rejected Soviet pressure on Berlin.

But bitter disputes over other issues divided some of the Allies.

The annual meeting of the 15 NATO foreign ministers opened with (1) Britain and France screaming at each other about trade discrimination; (2) United States and France quarreling openly about military policy; and (3) Greece, Turkey and Britain disputing over Cyprus.

Amid all the wrangling, a certain amount of unanimity appeared to be emerging over Berlin.

The ministers also agreed to advise the Soviet Union that the Western powers are ready to negotiate at a high level for a general settlement of the problems of Europe.

These would include reunification of Germany with Berlin as its capital, European security measures and disarmament questions.

A Norwegian diplomat reported that this agreement may not be reflected in the NATO declaration on Berlin, but he said it certainly would be conveyed to the Soviets when the United States, Britain and France formally answer Moscow's recent note proposing that West Berlin be made a demilitarized free city.

The Western Big Three reportedly were drafting a reply to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Nov. 27 note. His note called for an end to the four-power occupation of Berlin, turning West Berlin into a Communist-surrounded, demilitarized free city within six months.

The reply, informants said, would reject the Soviet proposal outright and suggest the time had come for a fresh look at the situation in Germany and central Europe.

Among the key points in the draft was a reminder that Moscow has not responded to the Big Three proposal Sept. 30 to begin work at an expert level on German reunification, with a summit meeting the eventual goal.

Moscow repeatedly has refused to discuss reunification, saying the Communist East German regime must arrange this with West Germany.

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak said it was very likely that the ministers would discuss various plans to separate troops facing each other along the Iron Curtain, including the Rapacki plan for a central European zone free of nuclear weapons.

Reuther and Romney to Serve on COMEF

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has announced the composition of the 100-man committee on Michigan's Economic Future (COMEF) which will strive to advance the state's economic status. Serving side by side in the group will be Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers chief, and George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.

The committee was assembled by William M. Day, president of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., whom the governor named committee chairman earlier this year. It includes a 30-man board of directors and a 70-man advisory council.

Day said yesterday the body's immediate attention would be focused on opportunities offered by the scheduled spring opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, mining, electronics, missiles and tourism.

He noted that all of his selections had agreed to work on the project and said he hoped to call the first meeting of the board of directors early in January.

Williams, vacationing in Florida, issued a statement through his office which pointed out that COMEF represents all types of business, labor and all shades of social and political opinion.

The statement added:

"The aim of COMEF is a very practical one. In order to choose the proper tactical moves for the economic development of the state . . . Michigan business, government, industry and labor must formulate a sound strategy.

"This strategy must be based upon an intelligent and carefully drawn picture of state and national economic trends.

"I am confident the outstanding group Day has assembled will be able to draw such a picture."

Private Plane Down; 5 Executives Die

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R. I. (AP)—Seven men, including five executives of a New Jersey concern, were killed Monday when their company-owned plane crashed in a swamp during a snowstorm.

The pilot, copilot and five executives of the Johnson & Johnson Co. of New Brunswick, N. J., were en route from Linden, N. J., to Boston.

The businessmen were headed for the Gloucester, Mass., firm of LePage's, a manufacturing division of Johnson & Johnson, makers of medical supplies.

The plane was last heard from at 9:30 a.m. when the pilot reported one of the two engines dead over Franklin, Mass., about 25 miles south of Boston.

A National Guard helicopter spotted the wreckage in the woodland swamp some time later — when the storm passed and the sun came out.

Record System Called Weak

Critic Turns in Report on Police Methods to George Eastman

A voluminous report criticizing the Pontiac Police Dept. records system had been made to Public Safety Director George D. Eastman by a California police captain.

Capt. R. T. Sherry of the Berkeley (Calif) Police Dept. turned over his findings to Eastman after completing an exhaustive two-week study of city police records.

Many of the records, he said, are nothing but meaningless paper work.

"I counted more than 265 separate forms used, many of them without purpose," Capt. Sherry said.

"Pontiac police use more forms than the Los Angeles Police Dept."

Sherry has been working in the records section of the Berkeley Police Dept. since he joined it 27 years ago. The Berkeley force is nationally known as a model small-town police department.

For his services, Capt. Sherry received $750 plus expenses.

A lack of centralization is the basic weakness in the Pontiac system, according to Sherry's report.

During his survey, he found that the department uses 13 different sets of fingerprint files. "Only one is needed," he said.

He also criticized the fact that records pertaining to a case might be found in any one of several offices.

Detectives should not be allowed to mark their cases "cleared" or "closed" as they do in Pontiac, Sherry said.

"Of some 400 cases I found in the detective bureau, 48 per cent were marked 'cleared.' The national average is only 24 per cent," Capt. Sherry said.

★ ★ ★

Because the records are confused, any information taken from them on the city's crime rate is doubtful, Capt. Sherry said.

★ ★ ★

Sherry left extensive recommendations behind for a centralized records bureau. It would take at least six months to install and make it operative, he estimated.

The present records setup was also criticized in last year's Public Administration Service report on the Pontiac Police Dept.

Pontiac Area C. of C. Elects 5 Directors

Five new directors were elected to the Board of Directors of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce in balloting among Chamber members concluded yesterday.

Elected were Bernard W. Crandell, public relations director of GMC Truck & Coach Division; William J. Dean of Dean Brothers; F. Milton Hathaway, an optometrist; Leonard T. Lewis of the Lewis Furniture Corp., and Leslie R. Ware of the Universal Oil Seal Co., Inc.

All five men were chosen to serve three-year terms on the 15-member Board of Directors of the Chamber. Their terms will expire Dec. 31, 1961.

Capistrano in Danger

FIRE SWEEPS ON — A fireman leaps away from a spear of flame that swept suddenly toward him as he fought a roaring brush fire in the Hot Springs canyon near San Juan Capistrano, Calif. yesterday. Flames were visible in Los Angeles, 60 miles away.

California Blaze Levels Cabins Near Capistrano

Marines, Soldiers Join Desperate Fight to Get Inferno Under Control

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif.—A gigantic brush fire that has blackened nearly 40,000 acres and destroyed 18 homes raged out of control today toward a populated area.

Hundreds of firemen including Marines and soldiers from nearby bases, were massed fighting ahead of the blaze.

Diminishing winds helped the fire fighters during the night. The fire is now controlled around half of its 70-mile perimeter.

Earlier strong desert winds whipped the flames toward the sea and to within five miles of the historic mission town of San Juan Capistrano.

The huge blaze, the second large brush fire in southern California in two weeks, broke out Sunday and, pushed along by 40-mile-an-hour winds, spread quickly through the tinder-dry canyons and mountains in Cleveland National Forest.

Walls of flame 40 and 50 feet high cut a swath through the brush and small tree-covered canyons and steep mountain-sides to San Juan Hot Springs about 10 miles north of this historic mission town and destroyed 17 summer cabins.

★ ★ ★

All residents in the burned area had been evacuated. No injuries have been reported.

A black pall of smoke 4,000 feet thick rose from the fire and spread out in the sky, drifting northward and west toward Los Angeles 70 miles away.

The smoke pall blotted out the sun, and debris carried along with it was dumped in quantity over areas as far north as Long Beach and Los Angelees.

Report on Pontiac Vice Exaggerated, Says Glynn

Former Pontiac mayor and city commissioner J. H. Patrick Glynn commented today on recent reports on vice in Pontiac.

"It is the duty of every citizen to stamp out vice and corruption, wherever it may occur.

"However, the recent exaggerated publication of vice conditions in Pontiac, is a very serious reflection on our city government, our fine police department, the judicial department (which is one of the best in the country), The Press, and upon the integrity of our many fine churches.

"Reading the articles would lead one to believe that Pontiac is a den of iniquity, which is not so.

"New industry would and will not locate in Pontiac, and bring its families into such an environment.

"Our citizens are numbered among the finest in the United States and respected as such.

"We build the finest motor cars, trucks, and buses in the world.

"Let's help build Pontiac up — not tear it down."

The Green Empress

Angus Goes Back to Meet Some of His Passengers

By ELIZABETH CADELL

THE STORY: Angus Graham, invalided out of the Navy, is amused at being hired by Sir Claud as a "liaison officer" for the simple job of courier on a superlative luxury bus tour in Europe. He's filling in for his friend, Wax Sealing. The driver is Perdy Brewer.

Chapter 2

They were moving. With the silence and steadiness of a ship leaving the quay, they were making their way through the streets, heading toward the Channel and the ferry on which the Green Empress would cross to France.

★ ★ ★

The journey had begun.

Nothing, Angus found, had been left out. A mirror, strategically placed, gave him a view of the passengers seated behind him.

He could observe them, identify them, and soon it would be his duty to move among them down the spacious central corridor to make his first contact with them.

IMPRESSIVE NAMES

With mounting interest, he let his eyes roam over his charges. They were studying the small printed passenger lists that had been placed on each seat.

Angus glanced down his own plan and read the names upon it. They sounded impressive.

Mr. F. Brewer.

Mr Angus Graham
1 Lord Lorrimer
2 Mr Lionel Yule
3 The Hon Angela Clunes
4 Mrs Zoller
5 Mr E. Zoller
6 Miss C. Seton
7 Mr Stanton Holt
8 Sir Maurice Tarrant Bt.
9 Mrs Denby-Warre
10 Admiral Sir Rodney Peterson

Angus studied them. He had no difficulty in recognizing Lord Lorrimer, at whose house he had been, during his Naval days, a frequent guest.

He did not think that Lord Lorrimer would recognize him, for on the occasions on which his son's Naval friends had held parties at the house, he and his wife had tactfully absented themselves.

Mr. Zoller was also easy to recognize, for he appeared regularly in the newspapers, his donations to charity, though generous, were not given without publicity.

The Admiral was vaguely familiar. Angus groped in his mind to discover where he had seen him before. The occasion came back to him, and he moved his gaze to Angela Clunes, daughter of Lord Lorrimer and sister of the gay —often too gay—Oliver Clunes.

She was looking out of the window, and he could see only her profile. She seemed prettier than he remembered, but his memory of her, he admitted, was hazy.

LITTLE TOO FAIR

Studying her, he decided that she was a little too fair. He preferred black, glossy hair and round black eyes. He could see, from this angle, little resemblance to her brother.

His eyes went to the man seated in front of her, her father's secretary, Lionel Yule. He and she would make a handsome pair, he mused, if ever they made a pair. On the whole, he hoped that they wouldn't, for at a first glance, he felt that he would award Mr. Yule more marks for deportment than for charm.

From the frequent glances he was giving over his shoulder, it was easy to see that Angela occupied a large part of his mind, but Angus hoped that she would look further before making a choice.

Perhaps, he reflected, she would marry Yule out of kindness. Women were like that. Take his own case, nobody had shown any great eagerness to marry him when he had a good, steady job as Naval lieutenant, but put him in a rugger accident and get him thrown out on his ear, and women flocked. Kind, but mistaken.

On an impulse, he rose and stepped into the main part of the coach. It was not the scheduled time for his tour of the passengers, but he had a strong desire to hear as well as see them, to interview rather than view.

Torch Frees Truck-Train Crash Victim

COUNTY EMPLOYE CRITICALLY INJURED—A cutting torch was needed to free Donald W. Chambers, 30, of 79 Denison St., Oxford, from this smashed Oakland County Road Commission truck which was struck yesterday afternoon by a Grand Trunk freight train in Avon Township. He was reported in "very critical" condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. Engineer Leo A. Martell, 51, of 85 Dwight St., Pontiac, told sheriff's deputies he didn't see the truck until an instant before the collision because his vision was blocked by a hill. The collision occurred at an Avon road crossing just east of Livernois road.

Hint to Husbands

Remember, Most Women Love Touch of Luxury

By JANET ODELL

There are hundreds of gifts in local stores that will gladden the feminine heart, come Christmas. You might remember that most women love luxury, regardless of what they say. This article is slanted at husbands.

By all means buy your wife a beautiful lounging robe or housecoat. But shun the floating chiffon and the sweeping skirts unless you have a retinue of servants to do the work. Women who get breakfast in a housecoat don't want to trail chiffon sleeves in the oatmeal.

They'll be delighted with nylon quilted dusters or pretty housecoats made of a charming rosebud print. You might add a pair of warm slippers.

Most women like something for their homes. A nest of hand-lacquered Oriental tables for that vacant spot next to the sofa may put the little woman in a delighted trace. If she entertains this club and that, she'll love having an electric coffee maker that makes 24 cups of coffee at once.

Bracelets are more popular than they have been for many years. We saw some that were delicately made in an intricate design and set with stones. Wrap up an amusing pin for her suit; little bugs or roosters have mother-of-pearl bodies.

★ ★ ★

If she is interested in art, present her with a copy of Aline B. Saarinen's "The Proud Possessors." Mrs. Saarinen is the wife of Eero Saarinen, the widely known Bloomfield Hills architect.

Should her interests lie in the field of cooking, you'll really impress her with a copy of Life's Picture Cookbook with its separate file of recipes. (It's expensive.)

If none of the above strikes your fancy for your wife, go to the bank and acquire some of that nice, crisp, green folding stuff. Then she can go on a shopping spree after Christmas.

Security Office Very Poor Risk

Most Heads of Russian Police Have Come to Some Bad End

TAIPEI (AP)—President Chaing Kai-shek and other Nationalist Chinese leaders were reported to have conferred today on reports that Mao Tze-tung is vacating the post of chairman—or president—of the Chinese Communist government.

The reports, originating from underground sources in whom full trust is placed here, had it that Mao would not be renominated for election as government chairman at the meeting to be held at Peiping in January.

Nationalist leaders have accepted the report as authentic.

There was no particular surprise caused by the fact that the reported decision was not publicly announced at the close Monday of the party Central Committee conference in Hankow.

This is taken here to indicate: That the party has still to decide how to break the news so that it will not appear that Mao, who will retain his post as party leader, is being downgraded.

Also, the party wants to educate special groups to the idea of Mao stepping out before springing the news on the people.

The general belief among Nationalists is that the 65-year-old Mao, founder of the Chinese Communist revolution, is on the way out to retirement.

There is speculation that Marshal Chu Teh, 72-year-old soldier turned politician, would succeed Mao.

Growing opposition to Mao's program is regarded as a main factor in the predicted replacement.

Communist press reports admit opposition to the program, that has uprooted the traditional pattern of Chinese family life.

Under this program, the people are herded into working communes where they live in dormitories. Children are raised by the state.

The official Nationalist Central Daily News said it was obvious that Moscow must have applied pressure for a change of government leadership at Peiping.

As Frost Bites at Florida Crops

Warm Belt Heads East

By United Press International

A warming trend surging out of the plains today promised at least a temporary break in a record December cold wave gripping the East.

The warmer weather, boosting readings an average of 10 to 15 degrees in its path, was expected to reach into the East today, although it may arrive too late to prevent damage to northern Florida's citrus and vegetable crops.

Overnight readings again plunged to near or below zero in the Great Lakes region and the Northeast, with below freezing weather ranging southward through the Ohio Valley into the Gulf Coast states.

Atlanta, Ga., had an early morning reading of 25 degrees while Kansas City in the warmer belt recorded a 27-degree temperature at the same time.

The intense cold in the southland reached into northern Florida for the second night, threatening to frost crops in the area.

Snow flurries swirled across the Great Lakes region during the night and into parts of the Ohio Valley and New England, with the heaviest snow falling in western New York.

The weather bureau at Buffalo, N. Y., warned of a 5-to-10-inch snow accumulation in the area with poor visibility due to blowing and drifting snow. Speed limits were cut from 60 to 35 miles an hour on the New York Thruway south of Buffalo to the Pennsylvania border and in the Niagara and Tonawanda sections.

Light snow also hit western Pennsylvania, along with high winds which piled up drifts and made driving hazardous. Another inch of snow was expected in the Erie area which last week was hit by a 25-to-30-inch accumulation.

In contrast to the rest of the nation, California was experiencing a record warm, dry December.

SEARCH FOR KNIFE — A small knife, which State Police detectives believe could have been the murder weapon in the 1955 slaying of 7-year-old Detroit school girl Barbara Gaca, was the object of a search yesterday by these three Army men using a mine detector in a field near the Walled Lake Amusement Park. The three, attached to an ordinance unit at Fort Wayne, also were seeking a pistol with which Walter H. Budry, 25, of Berkley, admitted beating a cleaning shop clerk last Tuesday. Neither gun nor knife have been found.

Fail to Find Knife or Pistol

Berkley Assaulter to Face Sanity Tests

Two Pontiac psychiatrists and a psychologist will examine a Berkley man who has confessed attacking a woman cleaning-shop clerk, and who is the latest suspect in the unsolved Barbara Gaca slaying in 1955.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer yesterday granted the appointment of a sanity commission to examine Walter H. Budry, 25, a dairy worker who has denied any part in the Gaca case.

Appointed were Drs. Ivan A. LaCore and L. Jerome Fink, psychiatrists, and Dr. Caesar Weston, a psychologist.

If the examinations are complete by then, it is expected a hearing on the findings will be held before) Judge Beer next Monday afternoon.

Budry was arrested a week ago, several hours after he admittedly slugged Mrs. Marguerite Baker, 37, of Ferndale with a pistol butt and threatened to kill her after tying her up with twine.

Army personnel from Fort Wayne, using a mine detector over a field cleared of snow and weeds by a flame thrower, failed after an all-day search Monday to uncover the pistol and small hunting knife of Budry's. Detectives believe the knife is similar to the one which killed the 7-year-old Detroit school girl.

Searchers combed a field off 13-Mile road south of the Walled Lake Amusement Park and came up with nothing but trash.

Detective Jack D. Woolley of the Redford State Police Post said Budry's family has consented to a search of Budry's room at 3665 Oakshire Rd. this morning.

Budry, a part-time free-lance photographer, will be released from the county jail to accompany the detectives. Such a search had been refused earlier by Budry's Detroit attorney, William D. Brusstar.

Brusstar yesterday filed a request for the sanity commission with Judge Beer after he said Budry would stand mute on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm in the beating of Mrs. Baker.

Judge Beer entered a plea of innocent for him and ordered his bond held at $20,000.

Woolley said Budry will be taken back to the Redford post for questioning following the search of his room.

A check of pay records of the Brown Creamery Co., 538 W. Seven Mile Rd., Royal Oak, showed that Budry had worked and had been paid for the week of March 18-26, 1955, Woolley said.

Barbara Gaca was abducted from a Detroit street corner March 24. Her body was found a week later in a dump in West Bloomfield Township.

"We're checking now what day during that week Budry must have had off," Woolley said. "It might have been March 24 or another day."

Police say Budry has admitted he has an urge to attack women, but says he has never harmed young girls.

Find Couple Dead in Motel

Jackson Pair Staying in Same Room Where Similar Case Occured

BLUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Police are investigating the deaths of a middleaged Jackson couple whose bodies were found yesterday in the same motel room in which an elderly Horton couple died nearly a year ago.

Horton is about 15 miles southwest of Jackson.

Yesterday's dead were identified as Richard Munger, 54, of 4307 Donnelly Rd., Jackson, and his wife, about the same age. Coroner J. R. LeCroy said cause of death was asphyxiation by carbon monoxide gas.

The Mungers were found in room No. 6 of Fred's Motel. They had been dead several hours when found.

Both Mungers were clad in night dress. Munger lay on a bed and his wife had fallen between his bed and her's.

LeCroy said the heater was still burning and a bathroom window was down from the top about three inches. The bathroom door was open.

The heater burns liquefied petroleum gas from a tank.

The Mungers checked into the court Sunday night.

An autopsy is being performed.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spink of Horton, were found in room No. 6 Jan. 23 after they had checked in the previous night. Spink was 72 and his wife 62.

The heater was burning and the windows were closed when their bodies were found. Carbon monoxide poisoning was listed as the cause of the Spinks' deaths.

All-Star Kell to Work on Tiger Broadcasts

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Detroit all-star third baseman George Kell was named today to replace the late Mel Ott as a Tiger radio-TV announcer with Van Patrick.

The 36-year-old Kell, a Tiger regular from 1946 to 1952, batted over .300 every season in a Detroit uniform.

Five New Adult Courses to Be Offered in January

BIRMINGHAM — Five new courses described by Dr. Richard Featherstone, curriculum coordinator, as the most outstanding yet offered, will be sponsored by the Liberal Arts Adult Education Course of the Birmingham School District next month. Each will be two-hour weekly sessions for 10 weeks.

Starting Jan. 13 will be "The Film—Evolution of a New Art." The course will trace the history and development of motion pictures as an international art form.

"The Age of Enlightment" will start Jan. 14, providing a study of the ideas of David Hume who touched off a philosophical revolution not yet concluded.

A study of religions, including the prehistoric cultures, will be given in "The First Cause of All Things," starting Jan. 22. Film strips and slides and a discussion group are included in the course.

"Aesthetics in Your Flower Garden" will deal with all types of gardening and plants. Classes open Jan. 27.

The normal personality and human behavior will be explained in the class on "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," scheduled to begin Jan. 28.

Enrollment is now being accepted at the adult education office in the Hill Building.

Public necessity was declared for the Lake Park storm sewer project at last night's city commission meeting. Engineering plans and assessment district details were authorized.

City Manager L. R. Gare was instructed to prepare plans for a driveway around the Lincoln access to Fairway drive. He also was asked to prepare easements for the installation of sewer and water lines along the street.

Defective wiring in the attic of the A. Rose home, 1192 Atkinson Rd., Bloomfield Township, caused extensive fire damage last night.

Firemen said the home and a considerable amount of furniture were burned. But no estimate has ye been made by the fire department.

Baldwin Public Library, in answer to many requests, has prepared a list of Christmas greetings in several foreign languages.

Miss Jeanne Lloyd, city librarian, said the greetings include Russian and Japanese.

The library will observe regular hours Christmas week, except for Dec. 24 when it will close at noon, and Christmas day.

Laura L. Hyland

Service for Laura L. Hyland, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hyland, 636 Frank St., will be at 2 p.m. Thursday from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery.

The child died yesterday in St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac, after an illness of only one day.

Beside her parents, she is survived by a sister, Judith Lynn, two brothers, William A. and Dennis E.; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hyland, all of Birmingham.

Walpole Island Indians May Get Big Yule Present

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (UPI)—The 1,200 Indians who live on Walpole Island in the St. Clair River Flats hope for haste from the Canadian government so their Christmas will be merry.

Canada is completing negotiations with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for a new shipping channel that would cut through Squirrel Island and eliminate an "s" curve around Harsens Island in the flats.

Squirrel Island is part of the Indian reservation and the Walpole Indians will be paid $200,000 for giving up land for the shipping channel.

They plan to put $100,000 in a trust fund for their Indian activities and distribute the other $100,000 per capita bases—$82.50 per person.

If the government can cut red tape, each Walpole Indian will have the money in time for Christmas.

The only time some married couples aren't arguing is when he's apologizing . . . A man's middle-aged when he'd rather have a Dictaphone machine than a secretary. —Earl Wilson.

Deaths Elsewhere

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Prof. Wolfgang Pauli, Nobel prize-winning Swiss physicist, died in a hospital here Monday after an emergency operation for a stomach ailment. He was 58.

* * *

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Alexander Cruikshank, who practiced medicine 41 years in Detroit, died yesterday at a nursing home here. He was 87.

* * *

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — Dr. Tillman Sogge, 55, Lutheran leader and educator, died Monday of a heart attack. He was chairman of a joint union committee for three Lutheran churches, former government economist and chairman of two departments at St. Olaf College, Northfield.

Hit 50,000 Mark

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Division Ford Motor Co. says it has produced its 50,000th four-passenger Thunderbird. The car was introduced Feb. 14. Ford said "the retail value of all four-passenger Thunderbirds represents the addition of nearly a quarter billion dollars to the national economy."

Accused Man Denies Stepmother's Death

ST. JOHNS (AP) — Vincent Hengesbach, charged with murder of his 63-year-old stepmother, took the stand for the first time yesterday as his trial entered its third week.

Hengesbach, 53, testified he had no knowledge of the death of Mrs. Joseph Hengesbach. Her battered body was found Sept. 8 in a corn field behind the rural Westphalia home the pair shared.

Police believe she was beaten to death the weekend of Aug. 30-31. Hengesbach testified he was in Lansing at that time.

Under defense questioning, Hengesbach said he and his stepmother had spoken little to each other since a 1954 disagreement over crop planting.

He said he saw nothing unusual in her absence since "she often visited relatives for extended periods of time."

She was reported missing Sept. 7 by her sister-in-law.

Report Feild Joining Philip Hart's Staff

LANSING (AP) — John G. Feild will resign as executive director of the State Fair Employment Practices Commission to join the staff of U. S. Sen.-elect Philip A. Hart, it was reported today.

Feild has been with the commission since its creation three years ago. The commission meets tomorrow in Lansing and is expected to accept his resignation at that time.

Hart, retiring lieutenant governor, yesterday confirmed reports that he had picked a Washington man to serve as his administrative assistant in Washington. He refused comment on the Feild report.

The administrative assistant job went to William B. Welsh, who for the last two years has been a researcher for the Democratic National Committee. He previously spent four years on the staff of former U.S. Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York.

GOP, Dem Legislators to Discuss Deadlock

LANSING (AP) — A special house Democratic committee will meet with its Republican counterpart Wednesday afternoon at the state house to discuss possible solutions to the 55-55 house deadlock produced by the Nov. 4 election.

The committees were designated by recent party caucuses.

House Minority Leader Louis Mezzano of Wakefield heads the Democratic committee. Speaker George M. Van Peursem of Zeeland leads the Republican contingent.

Mate Released, Wife Sought in Fraud Case

DETROIT (AP) — The husband of Mrs. Pauline Milhorn was released on $5,000 bond yesterday as a search for her continued in a reputed $100,000 fraud investigation.

Milhorn, 35, was freed by court order pending action on a writ for his release. Police said he had been deceptive while taking a lie detector examination.

Mrs. Milhorn, 250-pound office secretary of a real estate company, has been sought since Friday. The company, F. and E. Sales Corp., ays it has a shortage of $100,000 in its accounts. Mrs. Milhorn is charged with specific embezzlement of $557.

Detective Sgt. Edward Boggs said that Milhorn, an unemployed landscaper, was decptive under the test when asked whether he had talked with his wife since she disappeared Friday. He had said he last saw her when he drove her to work from their Garden City home.

Boy, Six, Runs Away, Dies From Exposure

MERRICK, N.Y. (AP) — The temperature was below freezing when 6-year-old Tommy Donahue ran away from home after a scold from his father.

★ ★ ★

A widespread, two-day search for the boy ended Monday in tragedy. Tommy's body was found along a road embankment. He had died of exposure. There was no evidence of foul play.

★ ★ ★

The boy's mother had refused food from the time Tommy left their Masapequa home Saturday. He had been scolded for mischief by his father Vincent.

"I wonder," he asked, "if you'd be so good as to keep this dispatch case under lock and key."

He bent over Lord Lorrimer in what he hoped was the correct steward manner, and wondered whether it would be in order to ask how Oliver's wedding had gone off.

WAY TO FORGET PAST

It had taken place last week, and Angus had found an excuse for refusing to be best man and for going to the wedding. He could forget the past more easily, he found, by avoiding Naval occasions.

Confining himself to a routine inquiry regarding Lord Lorrimer's comfort, he found that he had a few moments to wait for a reply.

Lord Lorrimer's mind was far away. Presently his lean, handsome, youthful face came round to Angus's, and he made a visible effort to recall himself to the present.

"Oh. Oh yes, thank you. I'm very comfortable, thanks—as usual. This is my seventh Empress trip, you know."

Mr. Yule was also comfortable, but he was not communicative. He seemed to wish to remind Angus that he, too, was not doing the trip for fun, he was on duty.

"I wonder," he asked, "if you'd be so good as to keep this dispatch case under lock and key? It has some rather important papers in it. I shall need them from time to time, but I would prefer not to keep them in this locker."

Angus, placing the case in the cupboard at the rear of the coach, went back to assure Mr. Yule that the matter would have his undivided attention throughout the journey.

And so, he thought as he bent over her, would Angela Clunes. A near view of her was a heady experience. Alabaster skin, a mouth soft and pink and curved, and the stimulating surprise of eyes not blue, to match her fairness, but dark brown velvet.

WOULDN'T SHRINK

Like that irritating heroine of Galsworthy's, Angus recalled, who spent the entire book shrinking — but this girl didn't look as though she would shrink from anything.

Her glance had a directness he liked, and her manner combined qualities not often found together: liveliness and a certain dignity. Remembering her brother's infrequent and by no means complimentary references to her in recent years, Angus marveled at the blindness of his friend.

Yes, she was comfortable. Yes, thank you, she could manage the window very well; open that way, shut that way; thank you. No, this wasn't her first Empress trip; it was her second, but surely he remembered that she was Oliver Clunes' sister?

Wasn't it extraordinary, after all these years, that they should meet like this? Wasn't it awfully—

At this point, the chair in front began a slow but inexorable semicircle. The back of the seat gave place to the front of Mr. Yule, from whose eyes a cold and suspicious glare pierced Angus' pleasant absorption.

Straightening, he went on to Mrs. Zollar, making a mental note that he must find out as soon as possible how much right Mr. Yule had to break up meetings.

He found Mrs. Zoller, at close range, less overpowering than he had anticipated. She was about forty; he had already taken in frankly dyed hair, flashing jewels and a generous exhibition of snowy bosom, but on approaching her, he found her large face placid and good-tempered.

She raised blank, china-blue eyes and studied him with the open and unabashed scrutiny she had been giving her fellow passengers, and spoke in a voice with a strong German accent.

"You are new?"

"I'm deputizing for somebody who was taken ill. Is this your first Empress trip?"

She gave a chuckle.

"My first? It is the fourth. He"—a wave of her hand indicated her husband, who was sitting behind her — "comes by this way because it is comfortable, and he wishes, when he travels, to sleep all the time.

"Always, he sleeps. But he has not come for pleasure, it is only business. Who is this who is ill?"

"Mr. Sealing."

"Ah. Him I know. Tell him kind regards from me, please."

"I will." Angus left her and turned to her husband, to find that Mr. Zoller had begun as he meant to go on, by sleeping.

That finished one aisle; now for the other. Beginning at the back, Angus approached the Admiral and saw that the years had made him more like the popular conception of a sea dog than ever; bluff, ruddy, keen-eyed, amply proportioned.

He gave Angus a puzzled look and seemed about to speak, when the chair in front did a smart semi-circle and brought his sister, Mrs. Denby-Warre, to face them.

Ice Jams Ships in St. Lawrence

Pile-Up Near Montreal Bars 19 Ocean Vessels, Traps 11 Downstream

MONTREAL (AP) — Ice was piling up rapidly last night in a jam across the St. Lawrence River just downstream from Montreal Island, presenting a fresh barrier for 19 salt water ships caught above it.

It added new complications to plans of the Department of Transport to get a total of 33 ocean freighters on their way to the Atlantic, 800 miles distant.

The new jam, three miles long, was growing steadily off Cape St. Michel as ice pans flowed out of LaPrairie basin off Montreal and rafted up.

The icebreaker d'Iberville is to do battle with the jam, but first she must turn her attention to 11 vessels stuck at Lanorale, 30 miles downstream from Montreal.

These have been trapped since last week, when ice clutched them as they gambled on a downstream dash from Montreal. The d'Iberville's master hoped to reach them late today "if we get a break from the weatherman."

Three vessels were freed yesterday from Lake St. Peter, a swelling in the St. Lawrence, and made a short spurt downstream to shelter in Trois-Rivieres. They are the British freighter Sunkirk and Norco, and the Liberian Alimarie.

The Consuelo, another British-er, worked out of a trap near Trois-Rivieres and headed for the ocean.

She may be the only one of the ships trapped upstream to reach home by Christmas. Freighters out of Montreal make the overseas trip in about 10 days.

Ice conditions in the St. Lawrence River estuary below Quebec City were not expected to halt her, although they stopped the newly built destroyer Gatineau yesterday.

Tucker Investors May Get Return

Attorney Believes Part of Bankrupt Auto Firm Estate Recoverable

CHICAGO (AP)—The 35,000 investors in the Tucker automobile, a postwar dream that failed, may ge a return on their money.

The revolutionary rear-engine, torpedo-shaped auto came almost to the point of production when the designer, Preston T. Tucker, and the Tucker Corp., were forced into bankruptcy in 1949.

Norman H. Nachman, attorney for the bankrupt estate of Tucker, who died two years ago, filed an annual report in U.S. District Court saying he believes nearly 4½ million dollars is recoverable.

He told Judge Michael L. Igoe, such collections are contingent upon successful suits against 1,500 dealership franchise holders throughout the country who signed pledges totaling $3,900,000 to Tucker, and a claim for a $600,000 tax refund against the federal government.

★ ★ ★

The way for action to collect the franchise pledges was paved by a U.S. Court of Appeals decision June 25 rejecting efforts by two would-be Tucker dealers who sought to get back franchise money they paid Tucker. The appeals court held the franchise signers are liable for the amounts they pledged.

Return of stock investment funds probably would amount only to a fraction of franchise and tax refund collections.

There are creditors who have first claim on assets, and it appears likely a certain amount of legal cost of franchise collection suits would be borne by the estate.

Judge Igoe approved annual service fees today of $15,000 to Nachman and $8,500 to Nathan Yorke as trustee in bankruptcy.

The only asset of the Tucker estate at present is a subsidiary, Aircooled Motors, Syracuse, N.Y., which Nachman said lost money this year making helicopter engines.

Diamond Salt Denies Antitrust Violation

ST. CLAIR (AP) — The Diamond Crystal Salt Co. of St. Clair says it sees no justification for a charge that it has violated antitrust laws in acquiring a Kentucky firm.

The Federal Trade Commission has charged a violation in Diamond Crystal's acquisition in 1957 of the Jefferson Island Salt Co. of Louisville.

Charles F. Moore, president of Diamond Crystal, said yesterday the FTC complaint was a complete surprise to him. He said there was nothing illegal in his company's action and that he could see no justification in the complaint.

Moore said that after his company's acquisition of Jefferson Island his firm accounted for less than 11 per cent of the dry salt business.

Mayor Declares War on Big Cars in Los Angeles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles has declared war on America's big car industry.

Deserbing big cars as the No. 1 air pollution problem in Los Angeles, Poulson told a news conference yesterday he has canceled his order for a Cadillac and will buy a small American Motors Rambler for his official city automobile.

Poulson said numerous speakers representing national organizations, including the American Cancer Society, mentioned smog as a detriment to health.

The mayor said he also made a speech, as president of the U.S. conference of mayors, describing air pollution as a "killer."

Poulson accused the automobile industry of a public be-damned attitude.

Sentence Mother of One for Passing Bad Check

A Royal Oak mother of one child, who told police she cashed a worthless $40 check to help out her landlords, yesterday was sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer to the Detroit House of Correction for a term of from six months to 14 years.

Mrs. Nancy J. Steenbergh, 24, of 403 Windemer Ave., pleaded guilty Dec. 1 to uttering and publishing in passing the worthless check Nov. 6.

More than 900,000 acres of public land still remain under control of the Texas Land Office.

Little Rock's Election Shows Brighter Side

At least three of the six successful candidates in Little Rock's school board election want the schools kept open.

Although all six profess to be segregationists, three, an advertising executive, an executive director of an industrial company and a contractor, were actively opposed by Gov. FAUBUS. Two others whom he didn't like either came close to winning. The Governor's chief complaint was that they held moderate views on school segregation.

★ ★ ★

Just before the election HARRY S. ASHMORE, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette and a Pulitzer prize winner for his editorials on moderation and patience on the question of segregation, was very pessimistic about the outcome. In a Madison election day speech he said that moderates in Little Rock "have lost at every turn" and that Gov. FABAUS "was in the saddle."

★ ★ ★

One of the new school board members perhaps exaggerated a bit when he foresaw the voting as the "beginning of the end of Gov. Faubus' political empire founded on misrepresentation and bigotry."

In any case it shows that there are many reasonable people in Little Rock and that prospects for a settlement are a little brighter.

Moon Missile Success Very Important to Us

We are spending millions of dollars to blaze a path across some 225,000 miles of frigid space to a small world we know comparatively little about.

Why? First, and foremost, Russia.

Second, the moon, our nearest neighbor in the universe has fascinated man for centuries. We have peered at it through telescopes, theorized about its geography and pondered the possibility of living on it.

We have even sent moonwards a "seeing eye" missile called Pioneer, and while it beeped back invaluable information about outer space, it fell far short of its goal. But the moon still keeps many of its secrets hidden.

★ ★ ★

Now the United States is trying again to fire an instrument-laden missile completely around the moon. This is a tremendous job, since it involves so many factors.

One of the problems which affects a missile's flight is the force of gravity of sun, earth and moon. Earth's gravity is so strong that the missile must achieve fantastic speed to break through gravity "barrier." In space, earth's pull slows it down until it reaches the point where moon's gravity is strong enough to draw it in. Sun's gravity must also be considered.

★ ★ ★

Trajectory, which moon missile is expected to follow, must be under ideal conditions. Firing takes place when the planes of moon's orbit and missile's orbit most nearly coincide.

★ ★ ★

Since the moon orbits around the spinning earth at about 2,287 m.p.h., firing a missile at it is like shooting a bird in flight from a moving boat. The missile must be directed toward a point some 137,000 miles ahead of the moon's position at time of launching so that the two will meet at the end of the missile's two and a half day journey through outer space.

★ ★ ★

Why do we want to succeed?

First, a beat on Russia. Secondly, a successful moon missile is a first step toward manned space travel. It will relay back valuable information on the geophysicial conditions and obtain a rough electronic picture of the moon's opposite face, which has always been hidden from our sight.

Day after day in the colony of ice fishers on that lake, she gets a good catch. Many times the men have no luck, but must be content to watch Mrs. Davey pull them out. With the same kind of bait, she gets them when others fail.

And she admits no connection with that other Davey (Jones), whose locker is supposed to be down where the fish congregate. With her, they come to the surface looking to be hooked.

David Lawrence Says:

4 Political Parties Big Possibility

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Four political parties, instead of just two, may be in the field in the 1960 presidential campaign. It seems likely that there will be a bolt not only from the Democratic Party but also from the Republican Party.

The so-called "liberals" are threatening to drive the conservatives out of the Democratic Party. Likewise, this week the first signs are manifest that those Republicans in Congress who like to call themselves "liberal," in imitation of their Democratic Party brethren, are about to split the Republican Party.

If the only function the Republican Party is to serve hereafter is to be an imitation of the northern "liberal" faction of the Democratic Party, then millions of conservative Republicans will be found ready to join a new party.

The controversy which has just started over the selection of a leader of the Republicans in the Senate can have far-reaching consequences. If it means that the Republican Party is no longer to be a conservative institution, but merely a copy of the Democratic Party in the North, then there will be no channel for the expression of conservative doctrines under the regular Republican auspices.

The situation in the Democratic Party is much further developed toward a dissolution. Almost every political visitor who comes to Washington from the southland concedes that there is trouble brewing.

The story seems to be that the regularly nominated and elected Democrats in Congress will, take no active part in the bolt, but will attend the next national convention as Democratic Party delegates. Among the rank and file, on the other hand, there is already much discussion about "write-in" votes and the placing of the names of independent electors on the presidential ballot.

The southern conservatives would like nothing better than to have a chance to join with northern conservatives in forming a new political party in America. Such a union, however, seems for the present out of the question so long as the Republicans insist on a federalized system of government which deprives the states of their right to control their own public schools and educational processes.

If the Republican Party concept of the "civil rights" issue is to remain the same as that of the northern Democrats, then there is little chance for a national coalition of conservatives to be formed.

The outlook, therefore, would seem to be for a break-up of the two major political parties into four blocs for an indefinite period. Temporary alliances may ensue on specific issues in Congress, but, in a presidential race, it is conceivable that many states would vote for independent electors.

★ ★ ★

There is always the chance, under such circumstances, that a presidential election might be thrown into the House of Representatives for decesion, as the Constitution provides when no candidate gets a majority of the electoral votes.

The Country Parson

"It seems we all want to be superior—which sometimes keeps us from seeing the best in others."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Baking Soda, Magnesium Disturb Body's 'Balance'

From time to time readers ask whether eggshell, baked or dried in the oven and powdered, is a good source of calcium for those who do not get enough calcium from their refined diet to maintain vite, that is, normal nutrition.

DR. BRADY

Eggshell is practically pure calcium, carbonate and so is an excellent source of calcium for child or adult.

Other natural forms of calcium carbonate are chalk, oyster shell, coral, marble, slaked lime, bone and limestone. Only eggshell and oyster shell, baked and powdered, are suitable for medicinal and nutritional use without chemical treatment.

Lime water is the best form of calcium for medicinal use as an anti-acid. Clear, freshly prepared lime water is made by adding a lump of unslaked lime (live), lime the size of a walnut, to 2 quarts of boiled water (preferably rain water, melted snow, distilled or filtered water) in an earthen jar. Stir well and let it stand an hour or longer. Pour off the clear upper liquid without disturbing the whitish sediment in the bottom of the crock. The clear liquid is lime water (liquor calcis).

GOOD REMEDY

Infants or adults who have excessive nausea and vomiting may retain teaspoonful doses of milk and lime water, equal parts, when nothing else will remain in the stomach.

In the pamphlet Yankee Stomach, which deals with hyperacidity, hunger pains, uneasiness from fullness after eating (or perhaps I should say after eating in a hurry, overeating or gulping food insufficiently masticated), bloating by gas etc. (for FREE copy send stamped, self-addressed envelope), I tell also about an extraordinarily effective antacid which is convenient to carry in purse or pocket, agreeable in taste, and less likely than any other antacid to disturb the normal acid-base balance in the blood.

The main objection to the use of soda (sodium bicarbonate, baking soda, saleratus) to relieve hyperacidity in the stomach is that it disturbs the acid-base balance in blood and tissues.

A serious objection to too much magnesium habitually or frequently, whether it be magnesium sulfate (Epsom salts), magnesium hydroxide (milk of magnesia) or magnesium oxide or magnesium carbonate in antacid powders, is that it interferes with normal calcium metabolism.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Child Should Be Told of Adoption

Mary is a very fortunate girl. But her parents have felt ill at ease about telling her the facts, just because they were never prepared for such specific situations in school and college. So scrapbook this case or mail it to families where it will apply.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A - 402: Mary R., aged 12, is a very attractive 7th grader.

"Dr. Crane, she presents a problem to her mother and me," one of my medical colleagues began.

"For we adopted her when she was just a baby. But we have never told her of that fact.

"Mother now insists that we should inform Mary and has said it is my duty. But I tell her that mothers are closer to children than are dads, so she should tell Mary.

DR. CRANE

"She replies that I have far more education and since this is a delicate situation, then I should be able to do it more diplomatically.

"Actually, neither one of us knows what to say. Yet we realize Mary should be told, for somebody else may upset her happiness by rudely telling her she is a foster child.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, what is the best psychological plan for handling this serious matter deftly?"

Well, the best one I have ever been able to evolve consists of having her daddy draw Mary upon the arm of his chair or upon his knee after dinner, as he says:

"Mary, I want to tell you a wonderful story. And what makes it all the more exciting is the fact it is true, too.

"Fifteen years ago I met the most wonderful, charming and virtuous young woman I had ever seen in all my life.

"And I fell madly in love with her. It was your Mother. Luckily, she fell in love with me, too, so we got married.

"Now please notice that we were total strangers up till that chance encounter. We were not of any blood kinship whatever.

★ ★ ★

"But we have felt closer to each other ever since we chose one another, than we have felt to our own brothers and sisters, with whom we grew up as children.

"And we were very happy except for one thing. We wanted a baby girl. One morning as I was making my rounds at the hospital, I happened to visit the baby ward.

"There I saw you as a cute baby. And I fell in love with you just as I had with Mother three years earlier. So I picked you to be my daughter, just as I had selected Mother to be my wife.

"Neither of you is of any blood kinship to me. Nor are you two of blood kinship to each other.

"But we are all held together by the strongest bond on earth, namely, love and voluntary affection."

BUOY UP MORALE

That explanation helps banish the usual feeling that springs up in foster children to the effect they don't have quite the inside track or are not quite admitted into the inner sanctum.

★ ★ ★

Actually, they are truly members of the inner sactum if they and their parents love and respect each other!

Indeed, adopted children are often more truly the offspring of their foster parents than would be the case if they were actual flesh-and-blood offspring, for they KNOW they were voluntarily selected and chosen by love and desire.

It is wise, however, to inform your foster child of his adoption as soon as he asks, "Mommy, where did I come from?"

And that query generally comes about the age of 3 or 4 years. So welcome it, instead of being fearful about it! For it is a double advantage to be an adopted child.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Commends PCHS Actors for Work in 'The Bad Seed'

I want to commend the young people in the high school play, "The Bad Seed," for the wonderful acting they did. I want to let everyone know what wonderful work our young people are doing. The acting was superb, and each one put all he had in his role. It made me feel as if I were attending a play on Broadway. And hats off to the wonderful directing by Mr. Errington. Keep up the good work. Pontiac should be very proud of its young people. God bless them.

Mrs. Donald McIntosh

Are 'Good Citizens' the Law Breakers?

I, too, wonder what to do to be a good citizen. We're decent people and have never been in any trouble, but from the experience I've seen and know about, I'd say if you did everything illegal (such as run prostitute houses, bootleg liquor, etc.) you'd be in good standing with the police department and won't be bothered by police.

Add Complaints About Directory

We too have a Ulysses, or better useless, telephone number, along with a telephone book which you cannot read. We can call only five other places and Pontiac can call 11. Do they have to pay more? No.

Disgusted

I certainly agree with Squinty. The print is so fine it's hardly readable. As for the misspelling of December, it's hard to believe a concern so meticulous as the telephone company would do such a thing. It bothers me enough that if they were a competitive company, I'd have the Bell system removed from my house.

'Writer Doesn't Understand It'

That gentleman that tried to look down his nose at "Finlandia" simply is an amateur musician. The big-wigs and those with fine musical appreciation understand "Finlandia" completely.

★ ★ ★

I should advise the writer of that letter that it just doesn't happen to appeal to the mine run music lover. In the middle of "Finlandia" is an exquisite aria of melodic charm and simplicity that quite captivates the average individual. That writer should hear it. I grant what goes before and after is absolutely lost on all but the intelligentsia.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't written for the "average man" or even the "average high school bandsman." Calling it "trite" would be like saying Hamlet was over-written.

Two Comment on School Fire

There should have been automatic sprinklers in the school that burned. They would have saved every single life and paid for themselves in the insurance premiums they would have saved.

Let's keep a billion dollars home instead of sending it off to the seven seas and put fire escapes on every school in the land. It is time we looked after the U.S. people first, and especially our little children.

'United States Debt Makes Me Shudder'

The United States' debt makes me shudder. When I was young the U.S. debt was slightly over a billion dollars. I hoped the government would soon pay this off. What's happened? It has increased 280 times with no end in sight. The interest on this debt is seven times the amount of the entire debt when I was a youngster.

★ ★ ★

Divided equally among our population, every man, woman and child would owe $1,600. This surely is serious and getting worse.

★ ★ ★

I can't do much myself, but if all of us would insist that our politicians and government officials practice economy and use common sense, the situation would improve. If this isn't done, matters will get worse and it will be a cause of destruction to civilization. It calls for deep though, earnest prayer and well considered action by all of us.

Animal Letter Prompts Others

In reply to Animal Lover's letter, please do not delay in calling the Humane Society and report the matter. All calls are strictly confidential. I've called them more than once and received prompt attention. A person who treats an animal in the way you describe should be severely punished.

Lover of Animals

I'm just a saddle horse. My master rides me in the nice weather and enjoys himself. I try to please him, but I can't understand why he's so cruel to me.

★ ★ ★

In the late fall, freezing rains fall on my back and chill me to the bone. Cold winds and snows almost freeze me. My master has a big barn and plenty of room for me, but he takes me back to a field and shuts me in without any protection.

★ ★ ★

He has a barn full of hay that he sells to more fortunate animals than I, but I have to paw the snow to find food. I hope he thinks of me every time he sits down to his food and goes into his warm bed. I wonder how he can expect mercy from his Master when he shows me none.

Army Defends Use of Animal in Space Test

'Missile Monkey Died for Good Purpose'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — An Army spokesman has said that the first primate shot into space, a squirrel monkey, rode to his death to provide for man valuable information about the effects of space travel on living organisms.

★ ★ ★

"Little Old Reliable," a vigorous specimen of his breed, rode 1,700 miles in the nose cone of a Jupiter missile and apparently died after the cone plunged into the South Atlantic Saturday.

Ships and planes searched the target area for hours but could find no trace of the cone.

But the Army said the experiment was successful because instruments fastened to the monkey's body sent back proof that long periods of weightlessness are only a little harmful to living creatures.

Despite the scientific importance of the monkey test, militant animal lover groups lodged stern protests. The reaction was not as violent as it was last year when the Russians sent up a dog, however.

Britain's Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said it "views with grave concern and apprehension that monkeys or even any other animal should be used in these experiments."

A representative of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said, "We are very hopeful that they will be able to use inanimate objects for testing conditions in outer space so that live animals will not be necessary."

Early next year scientists hope to place mice and more monkeys into space, this time in satellites.

Ike's Budget to Be 80 Billion

GOP Leaders Predict Balanced Spending After Presidential Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders predicted after a conference with President Eisenhower Monday that the administration will send Congress a balanced budget calling for spending about 80 billion dollars next year.

Spending of that size would compare with an estimated $79,200,000,000 in the fiscal year which started July 1.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) gave newsmen the new 80-billion-dollar estimate after he and other GOP leaders had conferred with Eisenhower more than 2½ hours on the administration's 1959 legislative program.

Bridges' estimate appeared to dash Eisenhower's hopes for a general reduction in spending. But Bridges predicted that the budget Eisenhower will send to Congress next month will be balanced.

Prospects in the current fiscal year are for a deficit of about 12 billion dollars.

Bridges is chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. He said that of the 80-billion-dollar estimated total for the new year, the administration goal is to keep defense spending at about this year's calculated level—$40,800,000,000.

But Bridges added there has been no final decision in that field. He said military outlay may in the long run total about one billion dollars more than this year.

Rabbi Supports Crime Coverage in Newspapers

NEW YORK (AP) — If stories of crime and violence are good enough for the Bible, they're good enough for daily newspapers, says Rabbi Joseph H. Lookstein.

Rabbi Lookstein, speaking at a city conference of newspapermen and clergymen, cited biblical stories dealing with violence and insisted that modern newspapers must report the news, both bad and good.

His comments were made after several clergymen complained about the prominence given by newspapers to crime stories. Some of the speakers asked that equal space be given acts of goodness.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner called the meeting to discuss the effects of mass media on juvenile delinquency.

Stricken Girl Who Weighed 14 Lbs. Dies

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Everybody was the friend of the tiny girl who clung devotedly to life against overwhelming odds.

Wanda Sue Hardy of Vine Grove was 16, but she never weighed more than 20 pounds. She was only 40 inches tall and weighed only 14 pounds when she died.

★ ★ ★

Wanda Sue was stricken with whooping cough when she was 10 months old. She went blind in one eye, and by the time she was 3 she could scarcely see. She stopped gaining weight.

But she never lost her delight in life—in her family and in the big doll house her father built for her in the back yard.

"It's a rarely seen situation," a physician who attempted to restore her sight through surgery said.

★ ★ ★

"She could have a congenital defect in the growth process, or a blood vessel may have burst in her brain when she had whooping cough."

Newspapers reported her story in 1953, and toys poured in to the dark-haired child. But the struggle put a severe strain on her parents—emotionally and financially.

★ ★ ★

Wanda Sue was in hospitals several times. Her mother suffered a nervous breakdown. Her father James Hardy sold the family home to finance care and was ready to sell a second when his coworkers at Ft. Knox made up a fund to provide for expenses.

Wanda Sue's small store of strength ebbed during recent months, but she kept up her interest to the end.

GM Develops New Diesel

Lightweight Engine Will Power Passenger and Freight Trains Abroad

CHICAGO (AP) — Production of a new type diesel locomotive designed especially for small railroads outside Europe and North America has been announced by General Motors Corp.'s Electro-Motive Division.

N. C. Dezendorf, general manager of the division, in suburban LaGrange, said the locomotive, an extremely lightweight and flexible power source, is capable of handling both passenger and freight trains economically.

The new type locomotive extends the economic possibility of dieselization to small railroads in Asia, Africa and South America principally, Dezendorf said. He said railroads in these countries now operate some 50,000 old and costly steam locomotives, chiefly because up to now there has been no diesel motive power of weight, size and horsepower suitable for such rail lines at operating costs they could afford.

Another new type diesel locomotive introduced by the division is one which Dezendorf said is aimed at aiding railroads in the United States to materially speed up the movement of high tonnage freight trains.

Ambulance Speed Criticized by Doctor

CHICAGO (AP) — The speeding ambulance injures or kills more people than it saves, a noted surgeon contends.

Dr. Preston A. Wade, chairman of the American College of Surgeons Committee on trauma and clinical surgery professor at Cornell University Medical School, said ambulance drivers speed because they enjoy being "privileged drivers."

"A study of ambulance calls of Flint, Mich., has shown that in not a single instance of ambulance calls was there any evidence that speed changed the outcome of the case," Wade said.

★ ★ ★

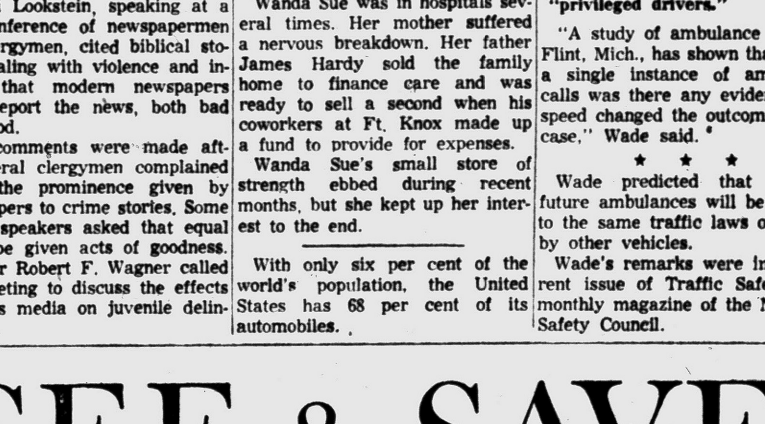

Wade predicted that in the future ambulances will be subject to the same traffic laws observed by other vehicles.

Wade's remarks were in a current issue of Traffic Safety, the monthly magazine of the National Safety Council.

Coya's Husband Asked to Testify

'Come Home' Letter Enters Probe Requested by Congresswoman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Andy Knutson was summoned to testify today about his "come home" plea to his wife, Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn), who later lost her bid for a third term.

Knutson was called by a special House committee which Mrs. Knutson asked to investigate her complaint that a malicious conspiracy involving her husband was primarily responsible for her defeat by Republican nominee Odin Langen. Langen has denied any connection with Andy Knutson's effort to get his wife to come home.

A handwriting expert testified Monday that the 'come home" letter had been written by a man backing Langen.

Walter Surrey, attorney for Mrs. Knutson, said the May 4 letter, headed "Press Release From Andy Knutson," was not actually signed by Knutson but that a typed copy of the letter was signed by Knutson.

★ ★ ★

Charles A. Appel, Washington handwriting expert, said the May 4 letter asking Mrs. Knutson to quit politics and come home was written in longhand by Maurice O. Nelson, Fosston, Minn., lawyer. Nelson was chairman of a volunteer committee for Langen and also was a lawyer for Andy Knutson.

In Fosston, Nelson said, "I never wrote the letter, never planned it or suggested it, never counseled Andy Knutson about writing it and had nothing whatever to do with its preparation or publication."

★ ★ ★

Several committee members said they did not understand the purpose of testimony about the letter since Knutson had signed his name to a copy and permitted the letter to be given to the press.

But Surrey contended Knutson was trapped into issuing the letter, did not know who was back of it, and later sought to make amends.

The Knutsons have not been living together, but Knutson has been staying in this area for several weeks. He operates a small hotel in Oklee, Minn.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kutson said she does not know whether she will formally contest Langen's election when the new Congress convenes Jan. 7.

Poison Drink Kills Girl, Blinds Youth

WEST NEWBURY, Mass. (AP) —State police disclosed today one girl died, one youth was blinded and two other youths were seriously ill from drinking antifreeze in the mistaken belief it was wine.

★ ★ ★

Carol Curry, 17, daughter of former Police Chief and Mrs. Buell Curry of West Newbury, died Monday night at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, of what state police said was the effects of the antifreeze.

They said Richard Keller, 17, Merrimack, lost his sight after drinking the poisonous liquid at a party attended by some 28 young men and women at the Curry residence Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

It could not be determined immediately if the loss of sight was permanent or temporary.

Also seriously affected by the antifreeze were Gene Trafton, 17, and Thomas Bergeron, 16, both of West Newbury. They were hospitalized.

The jug of antifreeze was found in the basement of the Curry home during the party. None of the others took a drink.

Woman Saved Hours After Wreck in Snow

MORRIS, Ill. (AP) — No one saw the auto skid, slam into a snow bank, then topple upside down into an eight-foot ditch.

And no one heard the feeble cries of Mrs. Loretta Dunn, who struggled vainly to free herself from the wreckage.

★ ★ ★

The thermometer read 10 degrees below zero and Mrs. Dunn, 56, was wearing only a cloth coat and no gloves.

The minutes following the accident at 10 p.m. Sunday stretched into hours. Still no one came.

At dawn, Arthur Tortter, 33, driving his milk delivery route, spotted the wheels of Mrs. Dunn's car in the ditch. He rushed over. Mrs. Dunn was conscious, he said, but then lapsed into a faint.

★ ★ ★

Doctors at Morris Hospital said she was suffering from shock and exposure, possible fracture of both legs and partially frozen fingers, feet and face.

Mrs. Dunn, told police that she lost control of the car when an oncoming truck splashed mud and snow on her windshield, blinding her vision.

Her condition was reported fair. Doctors said she will not lose any fingers or toes.

AN OLD SWEDISH CUSTOM — On St. Lucia's Day, the eldest daughter of a Swedish household serves early-morning coffee and buns to members of the family. She wears a crown of green leaves and white candles.

Yuletide Food Customs Enrich American Life

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Santa's driving up to your house with a sleighful of Christmas fancies — and they're all good enough to eat.

What's St. Nick up to?

He's making his own survey of America's Christmas food customs. No other country has such a rich and varied heritage and he has an unusual opportunity to see the traditions families follow, the old-time recipes they treasure, and what they cook up.

A parade of holiday cookies comes first. There are the spicy honey cookies called Lebkuchen, and there are two other cookie "musts" in families of German background as well as in many other American families who have acquired a taste for them. Pfeffernusse are those hard little cakes of mysterious flavor that often call for the fastinating addition of black pepper. Springerle are flavored with anise, stamped out with a wooden mold holding a dozen or more designs, and improved by age.

St. Nick wouldn't think of vying with America's one-and-only Mrs. Rombauer, so it's all right with him if you use her "Joy of Cooking" (Bobbs-Merrill) for these and other wonderful Christmas-cookie rules.

What's this? Families of French descent know it's a Buche de Noel, a sponge-cake roll decorated to resemble a Yule log, to be served at midnight on Christmas Eve.

That "bark" and those "knots" are made with chocolate butter cream. Santa's baking doesn't hold a candle to France's Tante Marie, so he advises you to look into Charlotte Turgeon's "Tante Marie's French Pastry" (Oxford) for the recipe.

★ ★ ★

On St. Lucia's Day (Dec. 13) in Sweden the eldest daughter in a household, wearing a crown of green leaves and white candles, serves early-morning coffee and buns to the members of her family.

In Swedish communities in the United States, pageants sometimes honor the day. Chances are that St. Nick will stop off at one of them because he knows where the coffee is likely to be fragrant, strong and hot!

Swedish - American Christmas food customs also often embrace lutfisk — cod fish left unboned and dried. After a soaking, the fish is boiled and served with a sauce as a prelude to Christmas dinner's main course.

★ ★ ★

What's Christmas without eel or squid? At least that's what many Italian-American families say and serve one of them for supper on Christmas Eve. Utterly delicious Italian coffee cake — rich with raisins, citron and peel — is also favored in Italian and other knowing families at Christmas time.

No chance of St. Nick leaving Cape Cod out on his travels! He's particularly fond of Suspiros, a cookie made of meringue and almonds. He finds it offered to him with a glass of wine at holiday time by Portuguese families around Provincetown.

Youngsters who grow up learning something of Danish customs never forget to remind their parents to serve rice pudding with a single almond in it on Christmas Eve. The child who finds the almond in his portion receives an extra present.

★ ★ ★

Fruit cakes are something extra-special if there's a Canadian around. The tops of the cakes are covered with a thick layer of marzipan (almond paste) and then a thin white frosting goes over.

St. Nick, chubby and fat, knows this holiday custom adds calories, but he's of the firm opinion that Christmas is no time for weight-watching.

GOP Not Likely to Compromise

Cooper Says Bridges Peace Plan Doomed in Senate Control Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky today predicted rejection of a peace offer by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire in a brewing battle over Republican leadership in the Senate.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, voiced hope something can be worked out to avoid splitting Senate Republicans, whose strength has been cut to 34 by the Democratic election sweep last month.

★ ★ ★

But Cooper pledged a "no compromise" fight.

Cooper is one of 10 Republican senators who voted unanimously Monday to offer their own candidates for GOP floor leader and four other party leadership posts, including the one Bridges holds.

The 10, who claim additional support in the Senate, are strong backers of Eisenhower foreign policy. Most consider themselves liberals, although leaders of the insurgent group backed away from any such tag for their movement.

★ ★ ★

Bridges, the senior Senate Republican, is backing Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to succeed retiring Sen. William F. Knowland of California as Republican floor leader.

Like Knowland, Bridges frequently has differed with the Eisenhower administration on some phases of its foreign policy. Dirksen, regarded as a conservative, has in recent years been a backer of much of President Eisenhower's foreign policies.

13 Million Houses Built

NEW YORK — Since the end of World War II 13,000,000 new apartments, ranch houses, and other residential buildings have been constructed, bringing the nation's total housing floor space to 50 billion square feet, an area about the size of Delaware.

Youth Confesses Slaying Woman, Four Children; Says, 'I Just Flipped'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Thomas Pendergast stared at the lanky, pimply-faced youth who had just confessed slaying Pendergast's wife and four children.

"Why did you do it?" he screamed. "They were all I had in the world."

Young Carl Eder slumped in his chair at the police station. His mouth opened and shut several times but no sound came out. Finally he blurted: "I . . . I didn't want to, Tom."

★ ★ ★

The meeting between Pendergast and the 16-year-old runaway New York youth he had befriended came Monday night after Eder had been captured in a beach community a few miles north of San Diego.

Police had been looking for him since Friday when the bodies of Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, and her four children were found in their home. The mother had been shot, the children slashed and stabbed with a knife.

★ ★ ★

The 6-foot-3 teenager, whose description had been widely broadcast, was recognized by a resident of Mission Beach and arrested by an off-duty policeman and a lifeguard. After a brief show of defiance the boy started crying and admitted he was Eder and that he had killed Mrs. Pendergast and the children.

"I just flipped," his captors quoted him as saying.

★ ★ ★

At the San Diego police station, officers said they got a detailed confession from the youth Pendergast picked up as a hitchhiker six weeks ago and took into his home because he felt sorry for him.

They said Eder told them he became angry because one of the children, Diane, 4, was making a lot of noise. He stormed into the bedroom and threw the girl on the floor, cutting her head.

Mrs. Pendergast rushed up, took the child into the bathroom to bandage her and told Eder to call a doctor. Instead, the youth got a pistol from the garage and came back and shot the mother.

He killed Diane and her brother Allen, 2, by cutting their throats with a hunting knife. And when David, 9, and Tom, 6, came home from school he killed them the same way.

★ ★ ★

He was waiting outside when Pendergast came home from his job as an aircraft worker and forced him to drive him toward San Diego before the father had a chance to enter the house and find out what had happened.

He left Pendergast at a service station in San Diego. About the man who had befriended him, he said: "I didn't want to kill him. He's been real good to me."

Eder said he had been sleeping in a ballroom closed for the winter since Friday. He was spotted while walking on the boardwalk near the ballroom.

★ ★ ★

The San Diego Union telephoned Eder's parents in Irondequoit, N. Y., a suburb of Rochester, and reported in a copyrighted story that his father Karl Eder said he never wanted to see the boy again.

"I'm glad they got him," the father said. "I don't want to see that boy no more. I don't want to see him ever again."

And the youth's grandmother Mrs. Martha Sadra told the Union's reporter, 'The only thing I wish is that they hadn't found him alive."

Young Eder showed little emotion until he was confronted by Pendergast at the police station. Then the grief-stricken father screamed at him: "Why, oh, why: My little Diane ... My little Allen .. My little Tom .. My little David .. Why?"

Eder flushed, his jaw dropped and tears streamed from his eyes.

Drivers Need Glasses

DETROIT — About 20 per cent of today's drivers need glasses to relieve eye fatigue because one eye is weaker than the other, and less than 10 per cent fail to meet minimum standards of side viison, according to ophthalmologists. Good side vision is considered a vital factor in preventing traffic accidents at intersections.

Indio Is Capital of Date Country

WASHINGTON — Midway between Palm Springs and the Salton Sea is Indio, date capital of the New World and home of the National Date Festival. The fruit was successfully introduced into the United States in 1900, and the Coachella Valley proved the ideal spot for its cultivation.

Refreshment stands sell date candy, date ice cream, and date milk shakes. Falling dates rattle the roofs of motor lodges set amid the palms.

★ ★ ★

The valley also produces seedless grapes, early cantaloupes, and pink grapefruit. The dessert can grow crops 12 months a year where there is water for irrigation. Land prices near some towns have gone up from $35 an acre to $4,000 in the past few years.

Alarm Slow, Address Wrong

Delay Was Tragic Factor in Chicago School Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — A delay in sounding a fire alarm and a mix-up in street addresses are cited by Chicago's fire commissioner as two of the direct causes of the deaths of 89 pupils and three nuns in the Our Lady of the Angels School fire.

Had fire fighters reached the school as little as three minutes earlier, Robert J. Quinn told a coroner's jury investigating the Dec. 1 fire, there might have been no lives lost.

★ ★ ★

Firemen were able to save 160 children, he added. Many of the victims were trapped in their second-floor rooms by heavy, black smoke.

Quinn said that there were "definite discrepancies" as to when the alarm was sounded.

"There were three persons inside the school building who knew of the fire and did not give an alarm immediately," he declared.

He apparently referred to the testimony of Miss Pearl Tristano, 24, a fifth grade teacher, who said she and one of her pupils smelled smoke between 2:35 and 2:40 p.m. She notified a teacher in an adjoining room. The teacher hunted unsuccessfully for the mother superior.

Miss Tristano said she sounded the school alarm, but only after she had led her class out in fire drill formation. The school alarm does not ring in the Fire Department office.

When a telephoned alarm did come at 2:42 p.m., said Quinn, the address given was that of the rectory, half a block from the burning school. Firemen had to waste precious moments, he said, asking where the blaze actually was.

Asked why the Fire Department did not sound an extra alarm as soon as it knew a school was afire, Quinn answered: "It's a good suggestion, but in a case like this, if he had sent 500 companies on the first alarm, it wouldn't have done much good.

"In fire fighting you win or lose in the first few minutes."

Operates on Sun's Rays

'Solar Sail' Can Power Space Vehicle

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—A group of scientists at the oLs Alamos laboratory say they have devised a space vehicle which can be operated on power from the sun.

The scientists said their "solar sail" could operate on the force of the sun's rays hitting a thin sail—much as a sailboat uses the wind—and could travel indefinitely in the vacuum of space.

★ ★ ★

They said the vehicle could be built in 18 months.

The ship would include a large flat circular sail, made of thin plastic, and a payload of almost equal weight, attached to its center.

★ ★ ★

Cotter said the ship could be thrust into orbit by a missile. The sail would open after it left the rocket, and the sun's constant pressure would increase the orbit.

After several months, the vehicle would get far enough away from earth to go into planetary orbit and navigate in space.

Cotter said the Atomic Energy Commission or a similar federal agency would have to approve the project.

Air Force Base Battles Snow

$300,000 of Equipment Keeps Runways Spick-and-Span for Jets

KINROSS (AP) — When snow comes, and there have been 16 inches since Thanksgiving weekend, Kinross Air Force Base rolls out an estimated $300,000 worth of equipment and does battle on the ground — against the snow.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-seven civilians and airmen use 28 different pieces of equipment to keep runways, roads and parking areas free of ice and snow at the mammoth air base at which F102A all-weather jet interceptors are on 24-hour defense alert.

Ice-covered runways not only would delay quick operations, but would be extremely dangerous. With clean runways a Kinross F102A pilot normally can become airborne inside of five minutes.

Snow cleaning gets top priority and Lt. Thomas A. Gildersleeve, of Oscoda, has been named Snow Removal Officer to see the job done, and always in a hurry.

★ ★ ★

Whenever snow exceeds half an inch and temperatures fall below 26 degrees ice forms quickly on runways and roads. Maneuvering on either becomes tricky and dangerous.

Lt. Gildersleeve's fleet of machines includes conventional equipment such as scrapers and rotary plows and bulldozers, plus what is known hereabout as the Dart.

The Dart is an enormous and speedy machine with dual snow blowers that toss the fluff almost 300 feet to avoid dangerous banks near runways.

★ ★ ★

Several varieties of chemicals are utilized to cut ice, such as salt and calcium chloride and commercial types of melters, the latter used primarily on ramps and runways as it does not deteriorate magnesium in the F102A's as does salt.

Capitol Flags Shifted, but Never Lowered

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Old Glory will be shifted soon from one of two special positions atop the Capitol—but it will wave on without interruption, day and night.

★ ★ ★

Workmen remodeling the east front of the building have erected a new flagpole jutting from the base of the dome just above the pole that has to come down. The shift may come this week.

Once the east front extension is done, probably in September 1960, the flag will go back to its time-honored place on the east portico, J. George Stewart, Capitol architect, said today.

★ ★ ★

Two flags—one on the east side and one on the west side—fly night and day over the Capitol.

It is the only instance where Congress has decreed an exception to the regulation that the U.S. flag must come down at sundown.

13 Wright Marines to Honor 1st Flight

KITTY HAWK, N.C. (AP) — Thirteen Marines named Wright will arrive here by helicopter Wednesday to pay homage to two Wrights, Orville and Wilbur, who made the first successful powered flight 55 years ago.

None of the Marines are related to Orville and Wilbur. They will form an honor guard and render full military honors to the two brothers.

The Kill Devil Hills Memorial Society, in cooperation with the National Park Service and the Air Force Assn., is sponsor of the annual event. Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) will speak.

1st Cheese Accidental

ADEN—According to an ancient legend the first cheese was made accidentally by an intinerant Arabian merchant who put milk into a pouch when he set out on a desert journey. The pouch was a sheep's stomach and the rennet in the lining, combined with the heat of the sun, caused the milk to separate into curd and whey. Records indicate cheese was used as a food more than 4,000 years ago.

State Troopers Treated to Kingly Meal by Chef

West Bloomfield PTA Sponsoring a 'Fun Night'

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The West Bloomfield PTA will stage a "Fun Night" at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school gymnasium.

Activities to interest all members have been arranged, Mrs Jean Waters, chairman, has announced. "For energetic people there will be volley ball and badminton. For those who want to take it easy there will be bumper pool, ping pong and table hockey," she noted.

It has been suggested by Mrs. Waters that everyone wear comfortable play clothes, gym shoes and sweat socks for the evening. Casual clothes will permit everyone to join in the sports and group games, she said.

The PTA executive board is asking all members to bring a small, new toy to be hung on the Christmas tree. These will be given to a local social welfare agency, to be included in Christmas food baskets for the needy.

After a period of active sports, everyone will gather around an indoor "campfire" in the cafeteria for group singing. Mrs. Barksdale Armistead and Mrs. Fred Blackmore will serve refreshments.

Walled Lake Elects Eastern Star Officers

WALLED LAKE — Leaders of the Walled Lake Order of Eastern Star 508 for 1958-59 are Lowell Deadman and Phyllis Schwartz, worthy patron and worthy matron respectively.

Other officers recently elected to the chapter are: Martha Williams, associate matron; Julius Kindel, associate patron; Lillian Byrd, secretary and Flossie Eno, treasurer.

Jack G. Beach Elected to Firefighting Post

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Independence Township Firefighters' Assn. has elected Jack G. Beach, 62 Madison St., Clarkston, president for the coming year.

Other newly elected officers, also from Clarkston, are Bill Wilson, 6530 Waldon Rd., vice president and Bill Allen, 41 Buffalo, secretary-treasurer.

Children Make Yule Cookies at Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — One of the major highlights of the special Christmas season program for kindergarten pupils at Twin Beach Elementary School this year is the opportunity to make yuletide cookies.

These cookies will be served to the youngsters' parents at the annual Christmas tea, which will be held twice in the multi-purpose room of the school, first at 10 a.m for parents of the morning group and again at 2 p.m. for parents of the afternoon class.

An excited group of youngsters filed into the class room this morning dressed in freshly clean aprons. They washed their hands again and busily set to the pleasant task of making the goodies. The teacher, Mrs. William Makowsky prepared the large batch of dough with much assistance, then the children happily rolled it and cut the cookies with their favorite shaped utensils. The cookies were later baked by the teacher.

The program is planned each year "to give the children a true spirit of Christmas through music, stories, finger plays and art work activities," Mrs. Makowsky stated. "This all helps the children to develop the motor and muscle skills essential for their future schooling."

Milford Seeks Town Manager

26 Applicants Reduced to 3 for Village Post Paying $6,500 a Year

MILFORD — Twenty-six applications for the $6,500 job as village manager have been reduced to three. The council is making plans today for interviews Sunday. This was the main item on the agenda at last night's council meeting.

★ ★ ★

Because of the rapid population growth of Milford, the council had placed the proposition of a manager-type government on a special election ballot and voters approved the issue.

Since then council members have been seeking the right man to fill the position.

★ ★ ★

In other business, several local automobile dealers explained the pros and cons of leasing police cars every six months rather than outright purchase every year.

Members of the council will weigh the merits of such a deal this week, and also consider purchase of an additional car for the police department.

The village plumbing, electrical, and heating inspectors presented a report on their activities and made recommendations for improving the building department's operation.

Transatlantic Group Fetes 100 Children

ROYAL OAK — Santa Claus greeted 100 children of the Trans-Atlantic Brides and Parents Assn. of Royal Oak, at the group's annual Christmas party held in the Oddfellows Hall, Hazel Park, Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Each child received a gift from the cheery old gentleman. The youngsters were then treated to a dancing show, put on by the Premiere Music and Dance School of Royal Oak.

About 50 adults also were on hand. Refreshments were served.

Tax Deadline Is Jan. 19

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The Jan. 19 deadline for paying personal and property taxes will not be extended, Mrs. Kathrine Copple, township clerk, has announced. After that date, a 4 per cent penalty will be charged, according to state law, she added.

STATE POLICE BANQUET — Once each year, during the Christmas season, the proprietors of the Peerless Cafe in Romeo, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vanoff, center, entertain State Police officers and men at a banquet in the couple's restaurant. The annual affair which took place yesterday was highlighted by the presentation of a card table and chairs, the gift of the Romeo post. Sgt. Wilmer J. Moilanen, right, made the presentation. Another guest of honor was Lt. Charles H. Mulick, former Pontiac post commander, now an assistant district commander in Detroit.

Petitions for Voting on Race Track Ready

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A representative of the Shelby Homeowners Council said today that "we feel we have more than enough signatures to force a referendum vote on the proposed rezoning of the Curtiss-Wright Corp. for auto racing.

The petitions to bring the issue to a vote must be turned into the Shelby Township offices by the deadline of 4 p. m. Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Township voters favored the rezoning of the 675-acre tract in an advisory election Nov. 4 by a 2 to 1 majority. A special meeting of the township zoning board followed Nov. 12 in which members favored amending the rezoning law to permit auto racing on the Curtiss-Wright property.

The Shelby Township Board gave its unanimous approval the same evening.

With a month to act between publication of the proposed rezoning amendment and its formal adoption, a group of Shelby Township residents began circulating petitions to force township officials to bring the issue to a referendum vote.

The anti-race track group has been meeting once a week during the past month and have scheduled another session tonight at 8 o'clock in the kindergarten of the Wiley Elementary School in Utica.

Information pertinent to the race track will be discussed including such subjects as taxes, policing, traffic, real estate values and mortgages, a council spokesman said today.

A movie about the Indianapolis Speedway will be shown.

★ ★ ★

The property in question is located between Van Dyke, Mound, 22 and 23 Mile roads. It already has a 2½-mile track built between 1926-28 by the Packard Motor Car Co., former owners of the facility.

★ ★ ★

The Utica Division of the Curtiss-Wright Corp. has extensive plans for development of the property to provide for major auto races of Indianapolis or championship cars, stock and sports cars.

Axford Glee Club Program Tonight

OXFORD — The Daniel Axford Glee Club will present its annual Christmas program at 7:30 tonight in the multi-purpose room of the Axford Elementary School. The theme is to be "Joseph and the Nativity," with Joseph Perenti narrating as "Joseph."

★ ★ ★

Duets will include a carol sung by Janice Ludwig and Benny Irwin, and "Star of the East" presented by Wilma Green and Janice Ludwig. David Gensley will sing "Oh Come Little Children" as a solo.

The instrumental department of the school will participate in the program, accompanying the singers in one Christmas carol and two other numbers, under the direction of instructor John Grose. Mrs. Ardis Koonce will direct the glee club.

Holstein Official to Retire

H. W. Norton Jr., former executive secretary of The Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America and since 1953 chairman of the Holstein Research Committee — will retire Dec. 31. The announcement was made by association President Scott Meyer following a regular meeting of the board of directors at the national Holstein organization's Brattleboro, Vt. headquarters.

Lapeer 'Muck Day' to Be Held Thursday

LAPEER — The annual "Muck Day," sponsored by the Lapeer and St. Clair County Cooperative Extension Service and the Imlay City Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday. The all day event will be held in the American Legion Building on M53, south of Imlay City, and will start promptly at 10 a.m.

★ ★ ★

R. S. Lincoln, Lapeer County extension director stated that "an outstanding program has been arranged." Speakers will include John Carew, Michigan State University extension specialist in horticulture, who will discuss "Crop Varieties, new and old," Gordon Guyer, assistant professor of entomology MSU will talk on "Insect Control," with special emphasis on new developments in onion maggot control and a control program for the Carrot Rust fly.

The Carrot Rust fly was found in the Imlay City area this season. Dr. Ray Hutson, head of the entomology department has stated that it has been more than 20 years since he last saw this insect in Michigan.

"Soil Management and Weed Control" will be discussed by Robert Lucas, extension specialist in soils at MSU.

W. Smith Greig, extension specialist in agricultural economics, will talk on the topic "Marketing Trends and Techniques. Also appearing on the program will be Theodore Herman, pure foods and drug inspector, who will discuss the Miller Law and Albert Festerling, farm labor placement supervisor from Saginaw, talking on "The Farm Labor Situation.

At noon, a complementary luncheon will be served by the Imlay City Chamber of Commerce. Francis Johnson, Chairman of the Rural-Urban Committee will be in charge.

A "Muck Day" Committee composed of Fred Hoeksema, Chairman, Richard Balabon Alvin Jager, Harold Schonfeld, Jack Schonfeld, and Henry Ettema, all of Imlay City were in charge of planning the event.

4 to 5 Elections Due in Oak Park

City Primary and Bond Issue Up in February, Others Follow

OAK PARK — Voters in Oak Park may be asked to go to the polls four or five times between January and June next year, it was announced today by Mrs. Louise Shaw, city clerk.

Up for consideration in February will be the city primary election. On Feb. 16 voters will be asked for a third time to approve a $306,000 bond issue to expand municipal public safety department facilities and the city hall.

The same bond issue was defeated in the August primary and in the November general election.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. James Pepper said that voters will be asked to renew a three-mill school operating tax at the polls March 16.

Sometime in April there will be an election of councilmen and a mayor, Mrs. Shaw said.

School board members will be elected sometime between February and June, and a proposed bond issue for construction of 30 additional class rooms at the Clinton School will be up for approval during the same period, according to Dr. Pepper.

William Schroeder, business manager for the board of education, said that the three-mill school operating tax now in effect will expire next year, and if voters do not approve continuation the school district will lose $270,000.

Bloomfield High Gives Yule Concert Thursday

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Bloomfield High School will present its annual Christmas concert Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the school gym.

The choir, under the direction of Clarence Luchtman will present the choral entertainment, and the band under the direction of Wayne Tilton will provide the instrumental accompaniment.

Some of the selections will be "On This Good Christmas Morn," "A Joyous Christmas Song," "What Child Is This" and a medley of favorite Christmas music by the Jills.

Tickets may be acquired at the door or from choir and band members.

County Calendar

FOUR TOWNS—Den Mothers and committee members of Cub Scout Pack No 67, have made plans for a Christmas program to be held tomorrow evening at the Four Towns Methodist Church.

FOUR TOWNS—On Sunday the Four Towns Methodist church will have a Men's Breakfast at the church at 8 a.m. At 11 a.m. will be the Christmas Cantata and at 7:30 p.m. will be the annual Sunday School Christmas program. The Elizabeth Russell Guild meeting will be held Friday in the form of a Christmas party.

LAPEER—Next meeting of the Lapeer County Farm Bureau Women will be held Friday at the Center Building in Lapeer. Members will please bring a 25-cent gift and there will be a silver collection for Suncrest Hospital, which is a Lapeer County Convalescent Hospital or Home. Hostesses will be Mrs. J. Dietrich and Mrs. A. Ferrett.

Peerless Cafe Gives Dinner

Holiday Banquet for Police Has Been Going for Seven Years

ROMEO—The Peerless Cafe here was open yesterday, but only to very special customers.

Owners Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vanoff were hosts at their annual banquet for officers and men of the Michigan State Police.

For seven successive years, the Vanoffs have entertained the men of the Romeo post, others who have been stationed at the local post in years past and officers from Detroit — and occasionally some from as far away as Lansing.

"We do it in all good will for Christmas," Vanoff said. "We get to know the boys pretty well when they come in here day after day for their meals, and we like to do something nice in return for their patronage."

MAKE IT A 'MUST'

The "boys" look forward to this taste-tempting meal and their annual return visit to Romeo. The menu is the same year after year, and if they are available, the troopers make this banquet a "must" on their list of appointments.

Some men grab only a few hours' sleep if they've been on the midninght shift the night before. But heavy-eyed or not, they all appear at this special celebration in their honor.

The cafe is usually closed on Monday, but when this event is scheduled, Vanoff opens up before dawn to prepare the food designed to tempt any gourmet's appetite.

ROASTS WHOLE LAMB

His menu features a whole roast lamb, a 27-pound turkey and all the trimmings, baked ham, Waldorf salad and relishes. To top off the meal, Mrs. Vanoff baked four kinds of pie — apple, cherry, pumpkin and mince—and her special melt-in-your-mouth Christmas cookies.

★ ★ ★

When the meal was over, every plate was clean. Then Sgt. Wilmer J. Moilanen, commander of the Romeo post, called the Vanoffs out of the kitchen to present them with a card table and chairs from the "boys" at the local post.

Among the 40 distinguished guests present at the banquet were Sgt. Paul Frederick, former Romeo post commander; Lt. Charles H. Mulick, former Pontiac post commander, now assistant district commander, Detroit; and Romeo Police Chief Edgar Welsch.

Others were Detective Lt. Howard A. Whaley, Detroit; Sgt. Max McCall, Center Line post commander; Lt. Jack Davies, assistant district commander, Bay City; and Rex Glidden, Michigan State Conservation Officer of Macomb County.

Vanoff, now a grandfather of 63, says he expects no favors in return for the meal and that he likes to roast the lamb particularly for his friends.

USES NO RECIPE

"I can compete with any chef in the country in cooking lamb," he said, "but I can't give out the recipe because I season it to taste."

★ ★ ★

Born in Macedonia, Vanoff came to the United States from Canada in 1924.

"I've always been a cook—nothing else. I moved to Romeo in 1938, and I had three restaurants in Detroit from 1924 to 1948 when I opened my place here," the smiling restauranteur said.

He beamed as he greeted his old friends, and after the meal, they all let out their belts another notch and said, "See you soon, Louie."

East Highland Group Plans Party for Children

HIGHLAND — All children in the East Highland area have been invited to attend a Christmas party at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, it has been announced by Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell, chairman of the affair.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by the East Highland Improvement Assn., the party will be held in the organization's hall on M59 at Duck Lake Rd.

Santa Claus will distribute presents to children under 12 years of age, and special entertainment has been scheduled for the evening, Mrs. Mitchell said.

Southfield Assessment Issue

Drain Meeting Is Called

SOUTHFIELD — The Eight-Mile Road Storm Drain Special Assessment District Taxpayers' Assn. is calling a mass meeting on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Lederle Elementary School on Nine Mile road.

The association is protesting the assessment for the Eight-Mile drain as "confiscatory." The average home-owner in the area who is now paying approximately $172 per year in city and county taxes is being assessed by the county an additional $460 per year for the next 30 years.

Stanley E. Veighey, publicity chairman for the newly-formed organization, said he hopes there will be at least 2,000 residents at the meeting.

Forms are being printed asking information on assessed valuation of property, and on school, county and city taxes. These will be circulated to residents in the affected area. Veighey said petitions already circulated, asking support for a court hearing on the assessment, have received 100 per cent support.

Veighey added that a finance committee is being set up to take care of contributions which are being received to cover the cost of legal advice on the proposed court hearing on the assessment.

Driver Exonerated in Boy's Bike Death

ROMEO — Betty Lou Alward, 18, of Washington was completely exonerated yesterday in Macomb County Prosecutor's office in the death of James G. Eldred, 12, of Romeo.

She was driving the car which hit the bicycle James was riding home from the basketball game Friday night. The youth died Sunday night in St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac, of head injuries suffered in the accident.

Leonard School Gives Yule Concert

LEONARD—The Leonard School Christmas program, scheduled to start at 8 p.m. Thursday, will feature grade one through six singing several Christmas carols and a vocal ensemble in a presentation of "Carol of the Shepherds" and "Pat-Pan." The event will take place in the all-purpose room of the school.

A group of fifth and sixth graders will sing "The Rocking Carol" and Arnold Syler will be featured in a vocal rendition of "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." Mike Schusler and Joyce Sutherby will join in singing "Star of the East."

An instrumental group comprised of 50 seventh and eighth graders of the Oxford Area Junior High School will perform together for the first time as a full band. The musicians are lead by John Grose, junior high band director.

Young Diabetics Life Prolonged

Doctor Says Combined Use of Antibiotics and Insulin Responsible

ANN ARBOR — The combined use of insulin and antibiotics has resulted in a spectacular increase in the length of life of young diabetics, Dr. E. T. Bell told members of the Michigan Pathological Society yesterday.

Speaking at the third annual Carl V. Weller lecture, Dr. Bell reviewed 46 years experience in the Department of Pathology at the University of Minnesota, where he is now emeritus professor of pathology. The lecture was entitled, "The Clinical Course and Pathological Anatomy of Diabetes Mellitus."

Dr. Bell also found a definite but less pronounced increase in the life span of older diabetics. In reviewing 2217 cases, he discovered that diabetes is chiefly a disease of persons past middle life.

Only nine per cent of diabetics develop the disease before the age of 30, and only 16 per cent before the age of 40. At the present time about one-third of the younger diabetics survive over 20 years of disease. Only 18 of the 2,217 diabetics survived over 30 years.

Today, a diabetic under good medical care seldom dies of acidosis or infection, Dr. Bell pointed out, but after 10 to 25 years of diabetes the great majority die of some form of arteriosclerosis.

In young diabetics the kidneys are most frequently involved, while in older diabetics the vascular lesions are usually in the arteries of the heart or the lower limbs.

He found the incidence of coronary artery disease about 50 per cent greater in diabetics.

The Carl V. Weller lectures were established by the Michigan Pathological Society in 1956 to honor the late Dr. Weller, chairman of the Department of Pathology of the School of Medicine of the University of Michigan for many years and former distinguished editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Pathology.

Tower of London Guards Threaten Strike Over Rent

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Mail reported today that the "Beefeaters" who guard the Tower of London are considering a strike which would be in effect the first "mutiny" in the history of the oldest military garrison in existence.

The newspaper said the Yeomen's Union, which speaks for the colorfully-uniformed sentries, have threatened to boycott certain ceremonial functions if the government goes ahead with plans to raise the nominal 70-cent-a-week rent they pay for their quarters in the tower.

The ceremonies the Beefeaters are threatening to shun include such events as church parades and other functions outside the tower—extra duties which the guards customarily perform in return for their low rent.

The Mail described the threatened boycott as "in effect, a strike on certain duties."

Man Feared Drowned as Fishing Boats Collide

HOUGHTON (AP) — A fisherman was lost and feared drowned in the Lake Superior collision of two fishing boats yesterday. One of the boats sank.

Walter Wirenius, 44, of Chassell, who had been aboard the sunken boat, was lost. A companion, Charles Kumpala of Eagle Harbor, was rescued by the five-man crew of the other boat.

A 28-foot plywood tug operated by Wirenius and Kumpala collided with a steelhulled fishing boat about 1,000 yards off Gay, a town on the eastern shore of the Keweenaw Peninsula.

Carolers to Raise Funds for Cause in Marquette

MARQUETTE (AP) — On the night before Christmas Eve the sound of caroling will mean something very particular in Marquette.

Carolers will be out singing Dec. 23 in behalf of the future of retarded children.

More than 350 persons have volunteered to carol in a fund-raising project to support a special school for retarded youngsters. The goal is $4,500. Churches and civic groups are supporting the project.

Carolers, in groups of five, will sing in neighborhoods. Residents are to be asked to turn on porch-lights.

A class for retarded children is conducted here.

Research May Link Genetics to Cancer

UPTON, N.Y. (AP) — A pathologist prominent in atomic research expressed hope today that the relation of genetics to cancer would be made clear by work done at a new hospital here designed to fight cancer with atoms.

In a speech prepared for ceremonies dedicating the medical research center of the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven National Laboratory, Dr. Shields Warren said: "Radiation, even in small amounts, is an effective means of causing genetic change. The role genetics play in cancer is still obscure. Perhaps medical genetics may receive a useful stimulus and the relation to cancer clarified by work done here."

★ ★ ★

Genetics is a branch of biology which deals with heredity and variations among related organisms largely in their evolutionary aspects.

Warren is professor of pathology at Harvard University Medical School and was the first director of the AEC's Division of Biology and Medicine, serving from 1947 to 1952.

NEW STATE POLICE POST — This is the new home of troopers attached to the Pontiac State Police Post. Located at 1295 N. Telegraph Rd., the new building replaces the old post at 2905 Dixie Highway. The moving operation began Saturday and was completed yesterday, with all personnel pitching in. The tri-level structure cost $61,000.

New State Police Post in Full Operation Today

A brighter day dawned for the 27-man staff at the Pontiac State Police Post today as troopers began their first full day of operation in the newly-constructed post.

Moving operations began Saturday, and Monday afternoon troopers began taking their first calls at the new building at 1295 N. Telegraph Rd., about a half-mile south of U.S. 10 in Waterford Township.

The old post, at 2905 Dixie Highway, was vacated after nearly six years of use. The building was a reconverted house that the staff moved into in March, 1953.

The new $61,000 tri-level building of brick and wood frame construction has been in the planning stage since the spring of 1957 when the State Legislature appropriated funds for its construction.

The actual construction began last June 2 and was officially finished Nov. 3.

★ ★ ★

The building has a flat roof, fluorescent lights in all offices, and is heated by a forced hot water system with zone control.

The first level, inaccessable from the outside, contains a squad room, supply storeroom, locker room and confiscated property room.

The second level, actually the main floor, has all the various offices and main desk in the front of the building as well as a furnace room and garage wash rack for patrol cars at the rear of the building.

The dormitory quarters for troopers living at the post are situated on the third level. About five troopers live there at present, but the quarters can easily accommodate 11 men.

Aside from completely new and modern facilities tailor-made to the staff's needs, the greatest advantage the new building offers is more space. A good example are the dormitory quarters. The old post could house only about eight men.

SGT. LORENZ AHLGRIM
New Post Commander

Largely responsible for the new post is Lt. Charles Mulick, who was transferred to the Redford Post last week.

Stepping into Mulick's command was Sgt. Lorenz "Mike" Ahlgrim, who has supervised the moving operation and worked around the clock getting the new post set up for its first day of operation.

JEREMY CHRISTMAS — A Yuletide Story — BY WALT SCOTT

Admitted Murderer Called Mentally Sick

ITHACA (AP) — Mental illness is ascribed by a psychiatrist to 15-year-old Paul Rondeau who police say has admitted killing a neighbor girl.

Dr. Norman Westlund of the Saginaw County Children's Center made the report yesterday to Probate Court of Gratiot County. However, a further test, at a clinic in Detroit, was ordered by Judge Mildred Taft.

★ ★ ★

Police say Paul, a grade school pupil at St. Louis, has admitted it was he who went into a neighbor's home and shot and killed 12-year-old Caroll Ann Risk Dec. 1 because of "an urge to kill."

Christmas Tree Prices Rise 10 Pct. This Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Price tags on Christmas trees this year will run up to ten per cent higher than last season, a survey by United Press International has shown.

Wholesale prices are up nearly $1 a bundle—usually five trees—because of short supply and higher labor costs. Bad weather has curtailed tree cutting and a tree moth infestation in Canada is expected to create quarantine problems at U.S. import points.

A third of the 40 million trees sold annually come from Canadian forests.

3 States Refuse Water Appeal

Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio Don't Want Illinois to Draw on Lake

LANSING (AP) — Illinois officials met firm refusal yesterday in their efforts to dissuade three Great Lakes states from their opposition to diversion of Lake Michigan water to three Chicago suburbs.

"We told them we would not withdraw our protest to the project unless there is a possibility of a solution to the whole diversion problem of the Great Lakes state," said Nicholas V. Olds, assistant attorney for Michigan.

Ohio and Pennsylvania joined Michigan in blocking construction of an $18,750,000 water pipeline by the Elmhurst-Villa Park-Lombard water commission. Blyth & Co., Chicago bonding house, has held up sale of bonds on the project until it receives assurance other states will not oppose it.

Elmhurst, Villa Park and Lombard, communities west of Chicago, propose to take up to 60 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"These cities depend on ground water from wells that is rapidly being depleted," said Clarence Klassen, chief sanitary engineer for Illinois. "Lake Michigan is the only real source of water there is."

Kim Novak Same Blithe Spirit, but Richer

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Kim Novak bounced out onto her snow-blanketed terrace in her bare feet. She was wearing very little, indeed, except a large fat grin.

As she leaned precariously over the railing for a glimpse of the East River, her toes turned an odd shade of purple, but Kim didn't care.

"Oh, I love purple," she cried. "And I love snow, and I love New York. And Christmas is coming and it's wonderful to be here!"

Miss Novak has not changed. Three years ago, when we last interviewed her, she behaved like a blithe spirit with her head in the clouds and her feet firmly planted on foam rubber pillows. Today she is the same blithe spirit, only wealthier.

"Oh, money," she sighed, when the term came up. "I am not even aware of it. I know money is fine, but if you know how much something costs it takes the thrill away. So I just act like an ostrich—if I see something I want, I don't ask the price, because then my conscience would hurt."

★ ★ ★

She would prefer to live in a sort of little-girl dream world. "Which is unrealistic, but I can't help it . . .

"I like soft things. Candlelight, a fireplace, music, snow — you know, those things. And I can't bear saccharine people, but I like soft, kind people."

In the competitive movie-making business, people of this ilk would seem hard to come by. Kim disagrees. "It depends on what you want from people. I think, if you're soft to people, you get softness back—whatever business you're in.

"You know, I hate the word 'professional.' It sounds so hard, so technical. I try always to think of my business as though it were amateur theater; there's a spirit, a love, about amateur theater that seems good to me.

"A woman writer once did an article about me, and called me 'the most unprofessional girl in Hollywood.' She thought she was being insulting—but I loved it."

★ ★ ★

The penthouse apartment she has rented in New York, where she'll spend the next five weeks while she premiers one film ("Bell, Book and Candle") and shoots another ("Middle of the Night") is typical of Novakian decor. It has a huge fireplace. Fat purple pillows in front of it. Candles everywhere. And a large kitchen so she can cook.

"I never go out unless I have to," she said. "I love a home."

"I was trained in school, not to be an actress, but to be a perfect housewife. I love acting, but you can't fight what you are. In the sense that having a home and children is the great fulfillment of every woman's life, I guess that is my life's ambition."

At 25, she apparently is not particularly close to achieving this goal.

"According to the papers, my love life is now—and always has been—fantastic." Kim hugged her knees and leaned her chin on them. "But obviously, considering that I am still single and uncommitted, my love life is very inadequate.

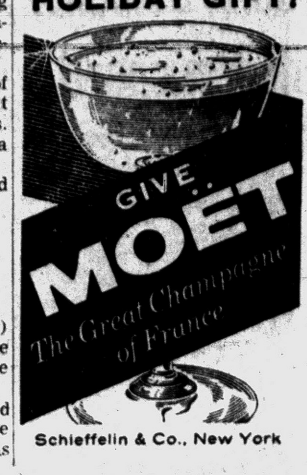

"I have come close a couple of times, but now I'm glad it didn't work out. I'm a fatalist, I guess. I think when the time is right, a man will walk in some day."

5 Beers Impair Driving Ability

7 Scientists Say Law Too Lenient in Defining Intoxication

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — A group of seven research scientists believe the law is too lenient in defining intoxication in connection with drunken driving.

The scientists said they believed driving ability was impaired at a blood-alcohol concentration much lower than the 15-hundredths per cent now permitted under the law.

The scientists' recommendation, which concluded a three-day symposium on alcohol and road traffic at Indiana University, said:

"As a result of the material presented . . . it is the opinion of this committee that a blood-alcohol concentration of five-hundredths per cent will definitely impair the driving ability of some individuals and, as the blood-alcohol concentration increases, a progressively higher proposition of such individuals are so affected that at a blood-alcohol concentration of 10 hundredths per cent all individuals are definitely impaired."

A blood-alcohol concentration of 10 hundredths per cent is the equivalent of five beers.

Motorized Beds Leave Patients Few Problems

BOULDER, Colo (UPI) — Patients in the new Boulder Sanitarium drew window curtains, washed up or shaved, made toast and poured their orange juice, and turned on radios this morning—without getting out of bed.

Each patient has a motorized bed, flanked by a cabinet which contains a small refrigerator, a pull-down sink, outlets for shavers and other electric gadgets.

A push-button panel will adjust the bed to seven different positions, open window drapes, turn on or off any light in the room, turn on or off a radio, television set, public address system—or as a last resort, summon a nurse.

★ ★ ★

The self-help rooms, by saving nursing care and space, paid for themselves, according to hospital administraotr Harvey C. Hartman. The $1,400,000, 89-bed hospital was dedicated yesterday.

Utah's first territorial capitol at Fillmore is now a museum. It attracts 10,000 visitors annually.

POWER PLANT

Your future and the future of America will be shaped by the kind of power generated in the college classroom. Never has our need for great ideas been so pressing as it is today.

Yet the very core of our brainpower plant—the college classroom—is seriously threatened. For a depressingly low salary scale is driving gifted teachers into other fields. And crowded classroom conditions are steadily growing worse.

It's time to put a stop to this nonsense. Won't you help the college of your choice now? Help it keep a qualified faculty and expand its facilities. The returns will be greater than you think.

Visitor Should Take Hint

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: How can a visitor be hurried when she stays past our meal time? I'm referring to the usual situation of only one chop apiece for the family and no extras of anything. Moreover, I'm not sure that the visitor would stay even if invited. But the problem is how to get her to go!"

Answer: You might say frankly, "I'm sorry but I have to begin getting dinner ready, will you come into the kitchen with me?" The chances are certainly in favor of her saying she didn't know it was so late and taking her leave.

If, on the other hand, she goes into the kitchen with you and does not leave fairly soon, you could say, "I am sorry I can't ask you to stay tonight but you see we have a very meager dinner."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a young unmarried woman in the early thirties. I would like to order some stationery for general use but am not sure how it should be marked. Would it be proper to have my name printed in full across the top of the paper? If not, will you please tell me how it should correctly be marked?"

Answer: For general use, Miss Mary Anne Smith with your full address beneath would be entirely proper. But for invitations, acceptances and regrets and other social notes, having your paper marked M.A.S. would be in best taste. Or, if you prefer, it would be in equally good taste to use just your street address, without the city.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have recently bought a set of steak knives which have solid stainless steel cutting blades and beautiful rosewood handles. I've been wondering about their use. Is it proper to set my table with sterling silver forks and spoons and use these unmatching knives instead of the ones matching my silver? Or are they an extra?"

Answer: It would be entirely proper to substitute them for your silver knives whenever serving steak.

Vivid Hues, Soft Lines Accent Holiday Wools

Waistlines and hemlines have climbed for the holiday season ahead. Wool is a favored fabric for these holiday fashions as it offers both soft draping and clear, luscious colors. At left is an all-wool knit by Ann Fogarty in burning pink. It is cut into a high-waisted leggy silhouette and has a laced chiffon tie high above the waist. The all-wool jersey cocktail dress, right, is by Jeanne Campbell. It is in a deep blue and emphasizes the high waist with a flowing self-tie belt.

And Copped Him for a Husband

She Interviewed Gregory Peck

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Sometimes it pays to be a girl reporter, says Veronique Peck, who met her famous husband Gregory while interviewing him for a Paris newspaper.

"It was the longest interview on record," says the dynamic and strictly French Veronique. "Now I have Gregory and two beautiful babies, and I do not worry about headline hunting any more.

★ ★ ★

"I do not worry about the women who write mash notes to my husband either, or even about the beautiful stars to whom he makes hot love on the screen. Sometimes I give him pointers to improve his technique. I think he appreciates this."

SHE OUTSHINES THEM

One look at Veronique explains why she does not worry about the blandishments of other women. In the quiet, comfortable Peck home in Brentwood, surrounded by French Normandy antiques, the young Mrs. Peck is beautiful even when she is attired in slacks and shirt, with her short blonde hair as tousled as a little boy's.

★ ★ ★

Though she looks like a femme fatale, Veronique has the philosophy of a good French wife.

"I like to make a good home, a solid home," says this glamorous housewife. "Here we have great privacy, for Hollywood has become the quietest town in the world. People stay at home."

★ ★ ★

Veronique and Peck were married in 1955, after Peck's divorce from his first wife. The young bride inherited a ready-made family—Gregory's three sons by the first marriage: Jonathan, 14, Stephen, 12, and Carey Paul, 10.

The family group now has been increased by two: Anthony, 2, and Cecilia, 6 months old.

LOVE FOR ALL

The three elder boys are devoted to their stepmother, and she lavishes love, advice and French lessons on them. With her own two babies, she behaves like a modern and strictly streamlined mother complete with coos and kisses and frequent remarks such as:

"Did you ever see such a sweet and good baby? Or one so beautiful?"

★ ★ ★

In January the Peck family — Mom, Pop, the two babies, a secretary, a French nursemaid and a French cook—will enplane for Australia, where Peck will co-star with Ava Gardner and Fred Astaire in a movie version of the best-selling novel, "On the Beach." They will be on location in Melbourne for at least four months — and Veronique intends to do it in comfort.

★ ★ ★

Veronique designs her own clothes and has them executed by her own dressmaker, but she has no aspirations to become a professional designer. She says:

"I have the greatest career any woman could ever want — that of a wife and mother. I believe this is a full time job worthy of the best talents a woman has."

Mailmen, Housewives Continue Verbal Battle of the Sexes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Please print this in defense of married women on the Postman's Route. After I moved into a new neighborhood, the postman kept asking for a drink of water (you'd give a dog a drink of water!) and also for the use of my telephone. Then I found out he only lived around the corner from me. There are two sides to every story."

ABBY

MARRIED WOMAN

"DEAR ABBY: It was nice of you to stick up for the women, but I was a postman, and believe me, there were plenty of married ladies on my route who were never too busy or too tired in the morning to invite me in." RANG TWICE

"DEAR ABBY: That 'Postman' who wrote that all the women on his route were after him sounded as phony as a three-dollar bill. 'Postman' is the traditional Canadian-British designation. In America we call them 'carriers' or 'mailmen' and it's a long time since the Redcoats left Pennsylvania. Another thing, Abby, the Postal Department has regulations for the behavior of their employes and if anyone pulled any tricks resembling what Postman claims, he'd be out before he could say 'Civil Service'. It used to be the 'milkman' and the 'iceman'—now it's the postman. I've toted a mailbag for 30 years now and I can say that our housewives are a clean and moral lot." TABELLARIUS

"DEAR ABBY: I belong to a card club. I took pity on a woman because she's widowed and her social life is limited and she hinted many times she'd like to join our club. We took her in and all the other members have been on my neck ever since. The reason is this newcomer complains constantly about the smoke. She fans herself with a newspaper all during the game, gives the smokers dirty looks and asks how we can stand such a 'filthy habit?' What can we do with 'Mrs. Nudnick'?" CARD PLAYER

DEAR CARD: Since you sponsored "Mrs. Nudnick" out of the kindness of your heart, tell her, privately, that she'll either have to put up with the smoke without complaints, or take up solitaire.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: A certain boy at school kept pestering me for a date so I went out with him just to get rid of him. He has a reputation for being fast and he sure lived up to it. I let him know he couldn't get a thing off me, but according to the stories going around school, my name is mud. What can a girl do about a boy who makes up dirty lies about her? I want to clear my name." MUD

DEAR MUD: You can avoid this boy (and his kind) like small pox, and charge it off to experience.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO PETE: Be generous — while you're able. Love is like money. You can't take it with you.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DOOMED:" Everyone has a problem. Those living in the cellar have to watch out for rats. Those in penthouses have to watch out for pigeons. Cheer up!

Cream and Cranberries Mix in Dessert-Salad

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In the mail the other day we received a recipe for a luscious sounding frozen cranberry salad or dessert. It should go well with any poultry.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Steve Karpovck of Drayton Plains sent us this colorful recipe. She says lack of a car makes her hibernate, but she doesn't mind at all. She enjoys homemaking, especially trying out new recipes.

FROZEN CRANBERRY SLICES
By Mrs. Steve Karpovck

1 can (No. 2) crushed pineapple, drained
1 can whole cranberry sauce
1 cup commercial sour cream
¼ cup coarsely chopped pecans

Make this the day before you serve it. Set temperature control of refrigerator at coldest setting. Thoroughly combine all ingredients. Turn into ice cube tray. Freeze until just firm. Then reset temperature control.

At serving time, if mixture is too firm, remove a few minutes ahead to warm up a bit. Cut into slices to serve. Makes 8-10 servings.

Relax, Ladies! It's Fun Time

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Dear Ladies:

We know you're all in a rush trying to get ready for these fast approaching holidays — but, dear ladies — please, we beg of you — relax.

You still have seven and a half shopping days until Christmas — and many stores are open in the evenings.

On Christmas morning, we should hate to think of your opening gifts with the family looking like you had come down through the chimney instead of Santa.

To avoid this unavoidable Christmas "rush" may we offer a few suggestions?

Sit down — over a hot cup of morning coffee perhaps, and list what you still have to do — there's nothing like that old list to help organize you and your thoughts.

JUST DO IT!

Then — once you have your trusty list well in hand . . . go and do what you have to do . . . actually, we have found that once you know exactly what you have to get done, it doesn't take half as long as you might think.

Besides the "organizing" — get into the Christmas spirit — play carols — sing them along with the radio as you drive to the store — (no one can hear you in the car you know and it really raises the spirits). We guarantee you will find your chores much more fun and not half as nerve racking if you are in Christmas mood.

And then when evening comes and the children rush in — maybe with snowy feet — and your husband comes home, probably tired, sit down and enjoy the holidays together . . . reading Christmas stories in front of the fire — or watching TV — can be more relaxing and restful than you might think . . .

After all Christmas does come just once a year and it really can be one of the most delightful happy times of year — with family members home from school or other far away places. And the spirit of giving — not just gifts — should and can be a wonderful spirit.

So, ladies — relax — and enjoy the holidays.

Diet for Teenagers . . .

Parents—Play Smart and Plan Those Meals

By RUTH WEST

Here are some do's and don'ts for parents about shopping, meal planning and food preparation:

Do keep the refrigerator and pantry stocked with low-calorie nibblings — also low-calorie drinks, such as the new decolorized soft drinks, fruits canned in sweet but sugarless syrup, sugarless gelatins and instant puddings, hard-boiled eggs, low-calorie cookies.

Do serve a first course to take the edge off your youngster's appetite: hot soup, fruit, or salad.

Do invest in an electric blender: For Slim-Jim cream sauce, mayonnaise, hollandaise and for thick, rich-looking, low-calorie drinks.

★ ★ ★

Do help your youngster cope with the problem of school lunches. If he eats at the school cafeteria, make it your business at the next PTA meeting to urge more high protein foods, like cottage cheese, lean meats without gravy, plain hard-boiled eggs; more fresh fruit and salads; rye crackers, as well as bread and butter; skim milk as well as whole milk; the new sugarless sodas and ginger ales.

★ ★ ★

Do concentrate on big-scale vegetables—artichokes, asparagus, big baked potatoes; carrots, cooked whole. Remember that a quartered cabbage looks like lots more than the same number of calories' worth of creamed spinach.

LOTS OF MEAT

Do serve big meats: Half broilers, chops with the bone, steaks, lobster in the shell.

Do get sugarless jam or jelly for toast or waffles or muffins. Keep an assortment of these sweet fruit spreads on the table in attractive jam pots. If they're there, your weight-watchers will often use them instead of butter, or with cottage cheese.

★ ★ ★

Do cut down on the amount of fat you use in all cooking. You'll find amazingly often that the dish tastes just as good. And you'll actually be feeding your family better.

Do figure how to get those four groups into your teenager daily, for the fewest calories—by serving the high-protein, no fat hollandaise and mayonnaise daily, and keeping all forms of edible, fat-free milk products always on hand.

SUCCESS SECRET

Do realize that substitution, not deprivation, is the secret of success in weight control.

Do try and find space in your house or apartment, or somewhere in the building, for your youngster's physical activities: A room to entertain and have fun in. He needs a private place to which he can invite his friends.

Do encourage as many active evenings as possible, rather than listening to radio, or watching TV. Encourage bowling, skating, dancing, table tennis. (Yes, I know it costs money.)

Do realize that the family can help most by playing together.

★ ★ ★

Do take your own cue from your teen's likes and dislikes, his daily routine—in planning activities, as well as in planning his eating.

★ ★ ★

Do be relaxed, friendly, and on the ball. Accept the fact that this is a long-range program.

Do treat your teenagers as a grownup. Treat him just as you would a friend who was interested in shedding a few pounds. The way this improves the home climate is nothing short of sensational.

Do ask yourself this question: "Are my youngster's eating habits copied from those of his parents?"

Do put yourself in your youngster's shoes, and realize that nobody was ever scolded into an intelligent eating pattern.

A FEW DON'TS

Don't tempt your youngster with your wonderful (but fattening!) dishes. Never catch yourself saying: "Oh, just this once won't hurt!"

Don't nag about what your youngster eats. Just make it easy for him to eat low-calorie dishes by having them around.

Don't talk about his diet to your friends or discuss it in front of the rest of the family.

Don't make a "thing" of it when your youngster makes a pig of himself. (Who of us doesn't, now and then?)

Don't fence your youngster in. Encourage him in his desire to become independent and self-reliant in planning his eating—and his leisure.

If you have a good doctor that your boy or girl likes, pay the bills for needed weight and skin-care checkups — and be glad about it. The right doctor can make the difference between success and failure in these two projects so vital to your youngster's happiness.

★ ★ ★

Don't forget — it takes the heat off you if the doctor is giving your youngster weekly inspiration and doing the "policing" job on his eating program.

Housecoat Styles Are New, Novel

Shoulder yokes are especially newsworthy in this season's brunchcoat and duster fashions. Many are deep rounded yokes of the "Bertha" manner. These yokes encourage shirred full back treatments and raglan sleeves. Brushed fringe, rick-rack braid in an accent color, novelty stitching or embroidery, or piping often accent the yoke line. This year, embroidery effects are popular. Other yokes are done bib fashion, either in an accent-color corduroy or a pleated solid color yoke.

Collars are more dramatic than ever. The great collar is especially good. It can be an exaggerated Peter Pan or Buster Brown collar. Others have deep V's in back. Scarf and necktie collars look new and typify the trend that interprets Ivy League in the newer British schoolboy tailoring.

Yes, there's a heap of styling in these popularly priced housecoats. Whether you prefer the new loosefitting lines, or slimming princess styles, you'll find a host of pretty-pretty or classic tailored styles in colors that flatter your complexion and compliment your figure.

Bethune School Program Staged

"Around the World at Christmas" was the theme of the Bethune School Christmas program held this afternoon. Robert Stasiuk directed activities.

The sixth grade class opened the program presenting the Christmas story, followed by caroling with 600 voices.

The Junior Glee Club sang "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" with Valerie Graves as Rudolph, and the Senior Glee Club closed the program by offering "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

Flora Shelly Group Meets for Dinner

Flora Shelly group of First Presbyterian Church gathered Friday at the home of Mrs. Allan Monroe of Cherokee road for a Christmas dinner meeting.

Mrs. W. E. VanRiper and Mrs. Daisy Benedict assisted.

Also taking part was Adah Shelly. Laura Cobb told the story of Christ's birth. Carol singing was led by Mrs. Olive Lord.

Making their home in Los Angeles, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wayne Hair. The couple was married in Salinas, Calif., Nov. 29.

The bride, the former Norma Jean Passage, is the daughter of former Pontiac residents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Passage of Niles, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Q. Hair of Salinas, Calif.

Olga Canales was matron of honor. Richard Canales served as best man. Ushers included Gary Anderson and William Shockey.

Don't Type Friends

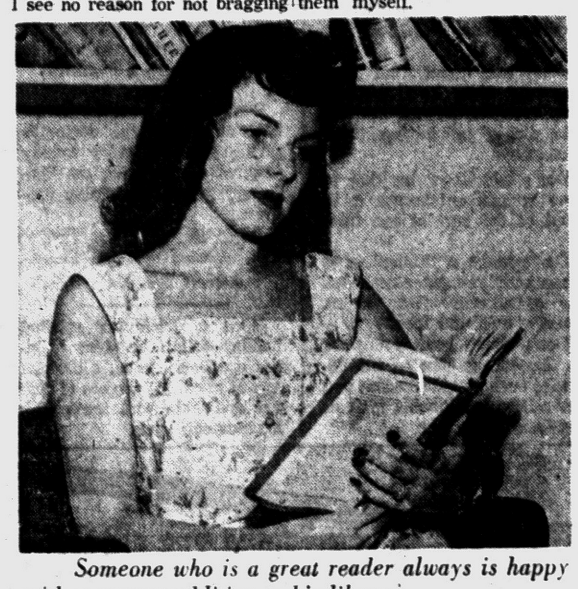

Giving RIGHT Gift Is Important

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

"He is very fond of making things he doesn't want, and then giving them to people who have no use for them."

—Anthonay Hope

I see no reason for not bragging about our selection of gifts for others. Unless we think them attractive why should we give them to anyone anyway? I am never modest about mine. Sometimes I like them so well I want to keep them myself.

Someone who is a great reader always is happy with a proper addition to his library.

Of course the trick is to find something the poor, helpless recipient of the gift also will like. In some cases this is easy and you are safe — for instance, if a friend has some avid interest or a fascinating hobby.

Someone who is a great reader always is happy with a proper addition to his library. Collectors always are delighted with an item to add to the shelf or the cabinet. Many handcrafts demand expensive materials or tools. Some help along this line will be welcome.

Some persons would like to take instruction in a sport, or a course of dancing or music, or some study but feel they cannot afford it.

Then, of course, there are many people who do not have such decided tastes or interests. THESE are our problem friends and those with whom we are most likely to make mistakes. Perhaps the greatest error we can make is to type them. Perhaps life already has typed them or they themselves have done so.

Do not pay too much attention to this. Often the serious, erudite individual is flattered by the gift of a humorous book and the plain, severely-tailored woman may get a kick out of some very feminine item of lingerie. The woman on a diet may love a box of candy. Although she may "hate" you for sending it to tempt her, she will love you because you indicate with your gift that she does not need to diet.

I do think it is a mistake to think of those we know as certain types. This blinds us to many things they might really like best.

Tomorrow: "Last Minute Christmas Suggestions."

Court Rules on NLRB Case

U.S. District Court Has Power to Set Aside Labor Board Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled that a U. S. District Court may set aside a National Labor Relations Board certification of a union as bargaining representative.

Justice Whittaker delivered the 7-2 decision. Justice Brennan wrote a dissenting opinion which Justice Frankfurter joined.

The high tribunal ruled on an NLRB appeal in a case affecting the Buffalo section, Westinghouse Engineers Assn., Engineers and Scientists of America.

★ ★ ★

The board on June 21, 1956, certified the association as bargaining agent for a group of 233 professional employes and nine nonprofessional workers at the Cheektowaga, N. Y. plant of the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

William Kyne, president of the Buffalo section, then sued in U.S. District Court here to have the certification set aside.

★ ★ ★

Kyne contended the board should have ordered a separate election to determine whether professional engineering employes desired to be included with the nonprofessional employes in the bargaining unit. The District Court agreed with Kyne and its decision was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals here.

Appealing to the high tribunal, the board contended Congress did not give a District Court authority to review such board proceedings.

SPCA Stoolie Will Attempt Mongrel Snatch

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — After successfully avoiding doped meatballs, photographers, the Soviety for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and people in general, a wayward mongrel will now face "Blackberry."

Blackberry is a Doberman pinscher who earns his keep as a stool pigeon for the SPCA.

The mongrel in question is wanted by the SPCA, which thinks it can find the dog a better home than is available on the big grassy circle that divides noisy Route 1.

It all started seven weeks ago, when the animal was abandoned by its master at the traffic circle. The reddish-brown mutt attracted considerable attention for six weeks—fruitlessly waiting for its master to return.

★ ★ ★

Nobody could catch the dog and he didn't eat drugged meatballs which would have made him slow enough to be caught. He took to the woods.

An SPCA representative said that the Doberman will seek out the mongrel, which is now hiding in woods about five miles from the traffic circle.

It's Blue Pajamas for Dogs This Year

SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP) — A pop-eyed resident called police to report he saw a dog wearing blue pajamas.

Mrs. Cybil Jailer later turned up to claim the animal.

She told police the dog had run off just before bedtime.

Hal Boyle Says:

Bing Crosby's Wife Is Leading a Triple Life

NEW YORK (AP)—Life holds a triple challenge these days for Kathryn Grant, the young wife of singer Bing Crosby.

It has given her three roles to play—all at the same time. She is a busy mother, a busy actress, and she is busy studying physiology because she wants to get a degree as a registered nurse.

★ ★ ★

Although she is a bit reluctant to discuss it, she is quite serious in her ambition to learn nursing, and often rises at 5:30 a. m. in order to have free time in the morning for her studies.

"A nurse learns discipline, and how to give service with her hands," she said. "This is a very satisfying feeling. I think it will be a big help to me in my domestic life."

The Texas-born beauty came here for public appearances preliminary to the release of her 17th film, which was shot in Spain.

★ ★ ★

Even wearing a black chemise dress and with her dark hair drawn back into "a severe chignon"—her words — Kathryn still looks startlingly young. She still feels her youthful look is something of a burden in her professional career.

"It's hard to chart a course for yourself," she said frankly. "It's hard to know honestly whether you're good or not, or what your real possibilities are.

"This is the real handicap — the round face," she added, grimacing. "My husband says I can't get away yet with playing a well-kept broad. Actually, I'm a hag of 25.

"But I hope my career will grow. Each day is a new challenge, and takes a new answer."

Her visit here left Kathryn — she doesn't like to be called Kathy—homesick for Crosby and their 4-month-old son, Harry Lillis Crosby Jr.

"We call him 'Tex' or 'Little Mouse' or 'Little Man,' " she said. "Bing calls him 'Little Drunk' because of the expression he gets after finishing his bottle. He just sits there contemplating his navel."

Miss Grant's marriage to the celebrated crooner was regarded as a real Cinderella romance by movie fans, but she doesn't like to break the privacy of her present home life.

"So many people ask me what Bing is really like," she murmured smiling, "and I'm so happy I'd like to talk about him more than he perhaps would want me to.

"Actually Bing is exactly the kind of person most people think he is.

"He is a heavenly father. He sings incessantly around the house, and he loves to sing to the baby.

"Church means a great deal to him. It does to both of us."

She said that her husband liked the idea of her wanting to be a nurse—"or anything else I have my heart set on.

"It has paid off already. When Bing's mother had a cataract operation, I sat with her and held her hand all through it. I was there beside her when she went to sleep, and when she woke up."

In meeting the problems of her triple life—as wife, actress and student nurse—Kathryn says she likes to remember two sayings of her own mother:

"Do the best you can.

"You can do anything you have to."

Then she added: "Happiness is an elusive term, but I feel I am a woman fulfilled."

YOUR FUTURE IS GREAT IN A GROWING AMERICA

ELECTRONICS Nearly 40% of all the electronic products that will be in use ten years from now have not yet been invented! The industry now employs 75,000—and the number should double by 1965.

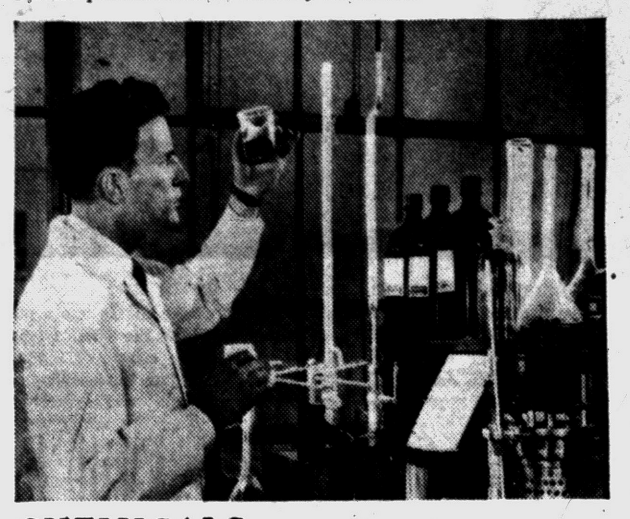

NUCLEAR ENERGY Already 36,000 people are employed in nuclear research and development. Nuclear energy is now supplying power for ships and electric plants. Future possibilities are virtually unlimited.

TRANSPORTATION The Jet Age promises faster and more comfortable travel. With more leisure time, our growing population demands increased mobility. Result: thousands of new opportunities

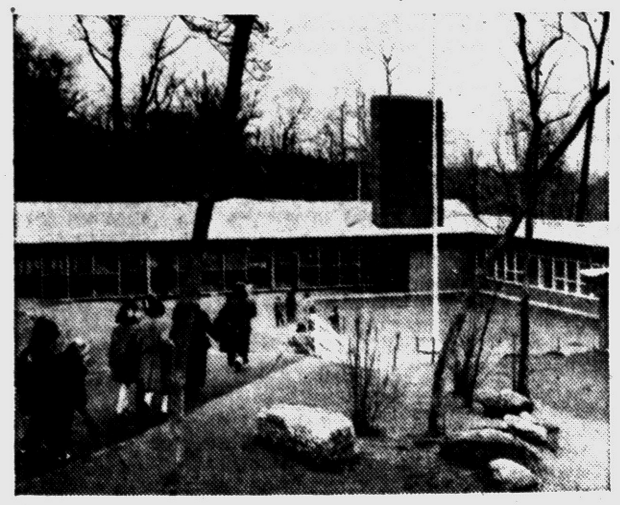

HEALTH There are an ever-increasing number of opportunities in research, development and production. In the field of antibiotics alone, roughly 30,000 people are employed. 50% more should be required by 1970.

CHEMICALS New products and processes account for the phenomenal growth in this field. Today there are more than 800,000 workers in chemicals and related industries. By 1970, there will be twice as many!

COMMUNICATIONS As our nation grows, the demands made upon communications grow proportionately. For example, the radio and television industries will soon need double the 85,000 people now connected with it.

EDUCATION Our national teaching staff should be increased by 200,000 now. And the giant school-building program now beginning will offer new jobs to many thousands of construction workers.

PACKAGED FOODS The trend today is to labor-saving packaged—mainly frozen—foods. Needed to man this relatively new industry will be more than 50,000 more workers in the near future.

CONSTRUCTION Record-breaking highway and home construction programs are now getting under way. America's 3 million construction workers will benefit and more workers will be required.

7 BIG REASONS FOR CONFIDENCE IN AMERICA'S FUTURE

1. MORE PEOPLE—Four million babies yearly. U. S. population has doubled in last 50 years! And our prosperity curve has always followed our population curve.

2. MORE JOBS—Though employment in some areas has fallen off, there are 15 million more jobs than in 1939—and there will be 22 million more in 1975 than today.

3. MORE INCOME—Family income after taxes is at an all-time high of $5300—is expected to pass $7000 by 1975.

4. MORE PRODUCTION—U. S. production doubles every 20 years. We will require millions more people to make, sell and distribute our products.

5. MORE SAVINGS—Individual savings are at highest level ever—$340 billion—a record amount that is now available for spending.

6. MORE RESEARCH—$10 billion spent each year will pay off in more jobs, better living, whole new industries.

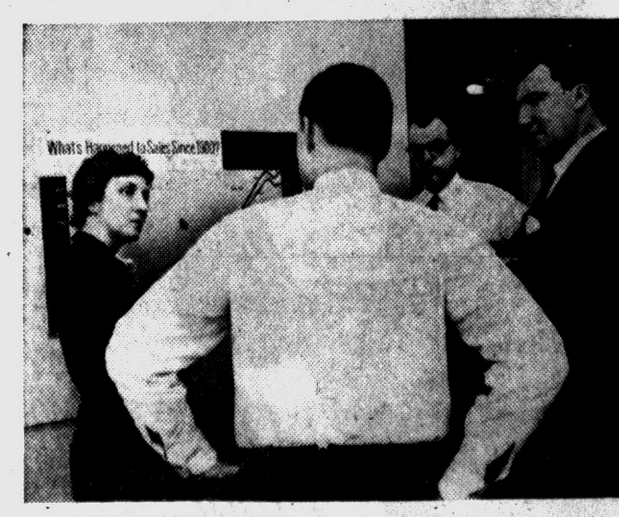

7. MORE NEEDS—In the next few years we will need more than $500 billion worth of schools, highways, homes, durable equipment. Meeting these needs will create new opportunities for everyone.

* * *

Add them up and you have the makings of another big upswing. Wise planners, builders and buyers will act now to get ready for it.

MARKETING The tremendous task of distributing the vast and ever-increasing output of our factories has become ever more important. Nearly a million people are helping to do this now. Marketing includes sales, consumer research, product and package design, advertising and public relations. All need new talents and skills every year.

Cincinnati Retains AP Lead, Kentucky 2nd

K-State Quintet Remains Third in Weekly Poll

N.C. State Now 4th; Michigan State Tied for 11th

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati, Kentucky and Kansas State kept on winning basketball games last week and held their 1-2-3 positions in the second weekly Associated Press ranking poll. But the ballots of 105 sports writers and broadcasters made it a lot closer contest for first place than it was a week ago.

Cincinnati's Bearcats, who have maintained a 96-point scoring average while winning their first three games this season, edged out Kentucky by just one first place vote and 28 points. It was Cincinnati 40 firsts and 938 points, on the usual basis of 10 points for each first, nine for second, etc., and Kentucky 39 and 901. The balloting for second place made most of the difference.

In the first weekly AP poll Cincinnati was ahead of Kentucky 38-30 in first places and 834-695 in points. Kansas State held third place with 741 points.

West Virginia, fourth a week ago, suffered a setback Saturday after winning its first five games and dropped to seventh, barely beating out Mississippi State for that spot. North Carolina State and Tennessee moved up one notch to fourth and fifth and Northwestern, idle last week, jumped from tenth to sixth as Kansas and St. Louis were knocked out of the first ten.

★ ★ ★

Xavier of Ohio, winner of the National Invitation Tournament last spring and of four straight this year, and North Carolina, an 83-61 winner over Virginia last week before the Cavaliers sprang their big upset, took over ninth and tenth places.

Bradley and Michigan State each drew 123 points in the voting to tie for 11th place.

The top ten teams with won-lost records through Saturday, Dec. 13, in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1.	Cincinnati (40) (3-0)	938
2.	Kentucky (39) (5-0)	910
3.	Kansas State (9) (4-0)	741
4.	N.C. State (5) (4-0)	456
5.	Tennessee (4-0)	431
6.	Northwestern (2) (3-0)	309
7.	West Virginia (4) (3-1)	284
8.	Miss. State (2) (5-0)	275
9.	Xavier, Ohio (4-0)	203
10.	North Carolina (1) (2-0)	135

Brigham Young Jolts K-Staters, 77-68

Kentucky Wins in Overtime

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

By The Associated Press

Kansas State, much to its chagrin, found out "you can't win 'em all." But undefeated Kentucky breathed a sigh of relief today after surviving a close call.

Kansas State, No. 3 in this week's Associated Press poll, dropped from collegiate basketball's unbeaten ranks last night with a 77-68 jolting at the hands of Brigham Young at Provo, Utah.

Meanwhile, second-ranked Kentucky was extended to overtime at Lexington. It was the Wildcats' sixth straight victory.

★ ★ ★

K-State played most of the game without their 6-8 stalwart, Bob Boozer. He wrenched a trick left knee in both halves and was used only about 10 minutes over-all, scoring eight points.

BYU, in gaining its fourth victory in five starts, was sparked by sophomore Gary Earnest, who scored 28 points. The Cougars pulled away to a 16-point lead midway in the second half after Boozer was forced out for the second time.

Earest disorganized the K-State attack with his ball-hawking tactics and sank seven straight free throws to seal the verdict.

Kentucky had to win the hard way after trailing by three points with three seconds to play in regulation time. Benny Coffman drove in for a three-point play and sent the game into overtime.

Adolph Rupp's Cats tallied four points on a basket by Johnny Cox and Dick Parsons' pair of free throws and then staved off the Terps, whose record is 1-3.

Charlie McNeil of Maryland topped the scorers with 21 points. Cox was high for Kentucky with 18.

Eighth-ranked Mississippi State was the only other member of the top 10 to see action last night. Bailey Howell produced 38 points as the Maroons romped over Arkansas State 98-71 for their sixth straight triumph.

★ ★ ★

In the Big Ten, Illinois built up a 16-1 lead and coasted to a 68-46 victory over Iowa State; Wisconsin led all the way in downing Missouri 68-60; and Purdue broke loose in the second half to turn back College of the Pacific 78-62 as Lean Wilson netted 26.

Seattle, No. 16 who seemingly has not missed Elgin Baylor in the early going, overwhelmed Portland State 85-36 for its fifth in a row.

★ ★ ★

In other games, Duke won its first in four outings with a 68-61 conquest of South Carolina; sophomore Bill Shinn caged 32 points to pace Davidson to a 98-71 lacing of Washington & Lee; Nebraska bowled over Texas Tech 54-46 for its fourth win at home; Marquette outclassed Drake 79-63 for its fifth victory in six starts; LSU hit consistently from the free throw line to humble Texas 52-47; and Rice handed Tulane its first setback in five games 60-51.

ICE RINK A DREAM?

Is an artificial ice rink for the city of Pontiac just a day-dream?

Instead of hibernating in the winter, people are now taking the attitude more and more that they might as well learn to live with the snow and ice. As result winter sports are booming.

Hockey is sprouting rapidly in communities all over Oakland County, and some sort of artificial rink may eventually become as common as the baseball diamond.

An artificial rink is a $100,000 project, and it would probably never be a complete self-sustaining enterprise.

★ ★ ★

Three communities, Oak Park, Royal Oak and Birmingham have artificial rinks.

The Birmingham rink built in 1955 has 85 x 185 feet of frozen surface. Cost of building the rink was $100,000 plus $80,000 for the building.

"Operational costs run about $20,000 a year," said Birmingham recreation director Bob Girardin, "and we carry a full 7-day program of open skating, hockey clinics, rentals, teenage classes and figure skating classes."

★ ★ ★

"The rink sustains itself about one-third, or about $8,000 in revenue a year," said Girardin, "but our overall recreation program is based on a one-third return. Swimming has the biggest financial returns."

Pontiac, a city four times the population of Birmingham, could probably sustain a rink to a higher percentage of return, with good supervision and without some of the elaborate costs which went into the Birmingham rink.

Girardin feels the building on the Birmingham rink could have been constructed for better multi-purpose activities thereby increasing self-sustaining revenue.

Midland's new ice rink is converted into a roller-rink in the summer to help with sustaining costs, and its shelter has multi-purpose arrangements.

SURPRISED BROWNS

The word is—the Cleveland Browns were so sure that Pat Summerall would miss that 49-yard field goal Sunday, they made little effort to block it.

★ ★ ★

Instead, the Brown linemen appeared to be moving out to help with the blocking for their running back figuring the ball would be short.

Even pictures of the game showed many of the Browns moving laterally as if to take blocking assignments. Since Summerall missed a 30-yard attempt earlier, the 49-yarder in the snow looked almost impossible, so they may have thought.

SPORTS

New York Is Jumping

CAUSE FOR EXCITEMENT — New York Giant kicking specialist Pat Summerall, shown relaxing with his wife, Kathy, is a big reason New York fans are jumping these days. His 49-yard field goal, depicted in Associated Press photo, put the Giants into a playoff Sunday with Cleveland for the NFL Eastern Division title. An overflow crowd of enthusiastic rooters is expected to jam Yankee Stadium.

Giants' Success Has Changed Blase Attitude

Fans Storming Ticket Windows Seeking Seats for Sunday's Title Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)— Maybe it's time to destroy a weary legend — that New York is a blase, take-it-in-stride sports town.

The weather outside was subfreezing yesterday. Remnants of Sunday's snow lingered on shady sidewalks. In the suburbs, a thin white blanket covered all. The thermometer edged into the high 20s — and then down again.

Football tickets were the hottest item in town, tougher to get than ducats for "My Fair Lady" or "Music Man." The football tickets entitled the bearer to sit in the vast concrete caverns of Yankee Stadium on Sunday to see the New York Giants play the Cleveland Browns for a third time.

Long, chilled lines of fans had stormed the Stadium ticket windows until almost midnight Sunday after the Giants' 13-10 victory had set up a tie and a playoff for the Eastern Conference championship in the National Football League.

Police will tell you there were no jaded, victory-sated, blase citizens in the wild-eyed throng they had to keep in line.

The Giants' chief downtown ticket outlet at Grand Central Station attracted winding queues of buyers. Season ticket holders jammed the lobby of the Columbus Circle Building where the Giants' office is located. You had to wait your turn for an elevator ride to their 16th floor office and then stand in line for a chance to pick up an order.

All this without a major New York daily newspaper publishing. All have been shut down for several days due to a strike of delivery men.

★ ★ ★

Sports writers from wire services and New Jersey and other suburban areas that still are publishing had to stand in line with the rest to get their stories. Bob Daley, the Giants' publicity director, manned one of the ticket windows, dispensing both information and pasteboads.

Even the Giants' coach, Jim Lee Howell, was pressed into service by the Mara family which has owned the New York football franchise since the league was organized.

Only the players had a day off. All but Andy Robustelli, right defensive end, whose sports shops in Connecticut also serve as ticket outlets.

★ ★ ★

Howell was so pleased with the Giants' play that he also declared Tuesday a holiday. Workouts for Sunday's game will start Wednesday. The Browns will practice in Cleveland as they did last week.

A backlog of season ticket holders, all of whom are expected to pick up their playoff tickets, and the booming sale practically wiped the racks clear. They had little but obstructed view tickets to sell at Yankee Stadium in late afternoon. Of course, the 14,000 bleacher seats and standing room will go on sale the day of the game.

Television fans across the nation will see the game on CBS-2 p.m., EST - with New York blacked out.

Bowl Teams Starting to Drill Harder

From Our Wire Services

Teams playing the holiday bowl games are starting to get down to serious business now with the wind-ups to another big college football season approaching fast.

At Iowa City, coach Forest Evashevski sent his Hawks through a one-hour indoor drill Monday the last before the 44-man squad departs tomorrow for the West Coast and the Rose Bowl game against California. Quarterback Randy Duncan announced yesterday he will begin six months of training with the National Guard in mid-February.

Oklahoma has spent several days viewing films of Orange Bowl foe Syracuse and will rehearse against Orange plays today. Syracuse completed two weeks of indoor work yesterday and will move to Raleigh, N.C. in order to go outside starting tomorrow.

National champion Louisiana State returned to practice Monday for its Sugar Bowl date with Clemson stressing fundamentals, conditioning and punting. Clemson coach Frank Howard ran his squad through a 3rd straight workout Monday on a soggy field concentrating on defense.

Mississippi, set for the Gator Bowl against Florida, scrimmaged with emphasis on defense yesterday ignoring a Sunday snow and cool weather. Florida had its first regular workout in two weeks in a limited contact session. More heavy work was planned today with a contact scrimmage Wednesday.

Cotton Bowl-bound Air Force Academy held a 90-minute conditioning session Monday and will repeat tomorrow and Friday. Its opponent, Texas Christian, wore pads for the first time since starting bowl practice working against the Flyer's plays.

Holiday Bowl opponents Northeastern Oklahoma and Arizona State scheduled intensive workouts today. Northeastern canceled a drill due to a rainstorm yesterday but Arizona hit the field.

SCL in Final Pre-Holiday Round

OLSM at Home Wednesday

By H. GUY MOATS

Starting with Monday's St. Rita—St. Clement game at Center Line, and Wednesday's cage setto at Orchard Lake St. Mary, area parochials have embarked on their final round prior to the holidays.

The Center Line club surprised St. Rita, last night, with a 43-31 victory, the Clements' first of the season. Roy Leo's 16 points topped the scoring, but his efforts went for naught as his club was the loser for the 2nd time.

Eaglets, so far unbeaten (3-0) oppose the St. Clement club, playing its 2nd game in three days. Orchard Lakers are heavy favorites. A preliminary at 7 p.m. will precede the varsity encounter at 8:15 o'clock.

Farmington OLS is at RO St. Mary in another area parochial contest tonight.

Three contests are scheduled for Friday, none however, on the home front. After Friday's affairs, all Suburban Catholic League quintets will be idle until Jan. 6. OL St. Mary will not resume action until Jan. 9, to permit squad members to spend Christmas and New Year holidays at their homes. St. Mary is a boarding school, and many players live at considerable distance from this section.

Friday's games are:

St. Frederick (3-0) at St. Benedict (2-0)

St. Michael (0-2) at Highland Park St. Rita (1-1).

Ferndale St. James (1-1) at RO St. Mary.

Eaglets probably will start tomorrow's game with the same roster that has opened all games, so far. They include captain Chet Wlodkowski and Don Duszynski at the forwards; Bill Votruba at center, Mike Wiktor and Glenn Hass at guards. Barring a few colds, the entire squad was reported in sharp condition.

Rev. Carl Gentner St. Clement athletic director, said this morning the sophomore studded five probably would name 6-foot George Meyernik, a soph, at the pivot; senior Bob Weber and soph Bob Fortin, forwards and senior Ed Bleitch and sophomore Ron Van Hulle, one of five athlete brothers, at the guards.

Waterford Leaders Stretch Loop Wins

White Swan and Lytel-Colegrove, teams in the Class A division of the Waterford Recreation Basketball league, last night stretched their season wins to two each.

Swans, trailing at halftime, 19-18, jumped to the lead after intermission, to go on and defeat Johnson-Anderson, 47-35. Harry Dearborn's 13 and Denny McConkey's 11 led the winners. Doug Treasis had 10 for losers.

Lytel-Colegrove rolled over Lakeland Pharmacy, 86-40, with Chuck Gillis (24) and Joe Humphrey (21) setting the hot scoring pace. Bob Mitchell (12) and Jim Attard (10) helped. Al Serra had 17, Harry Elehl 12 for losers.

Two Class B and one Class A games are on tonight's schedule.

MONDAY'S FIGHTS

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Willie Greene, 156, Providence stopped Johnny Saxton, 151½, New York, 3.

Room for More

4 Teams in Hockey Loop

Four teams are entered in the Inter-Lakes junior hockey League sponsored by the Walled Lake junior chamber of commerce.

At a meeting held last night it was announced that there were still some spots open on the four teams and room for other 16-man squads of boys 10 to 14.

The Walled Lake team coached by Hugh Freeman has several openings. He can be contacted at Walled Lake junior high.

Wayne Anderson, coach of the Wolverine Lake team has a full complement of 16 boys, but there are openings on the Lower Straits Lake and Long Lake-Union Lake teams by calling Vic Schauer at EM 3-4296 or Al Ivey, MA 4-3258.

★ ★ ★

Another meeting Monday Dec. 22 at 8:00 p.m. in the Walled Lake Junior high gym will be held for adults and non-registered youngsters. Play begins Dec. 27.

Hey PCH! Look Who's First in Prep Ratings

Flint Central, the defending champions of the Saginaw Valley Conference, is perched atop the basketball writers' class A prep basketball ratings in Michigan after waltzing to three impressive victories.

The Indians of coach Joe Dowdy started the season by walloping Lansing Eastern 72-42, rolled over Bay City Handy 61-55 and last Friday night whipped a rough Bay City Central team, 72-60.

Pontiac Central with three wins in as many starts held 5th place in the rating behind another SVC school, Flint Northern, also 3-0, which is in third place.

Ironically, the big game of the week will take place at Pontiac Central Friday night when the Chiefs play host to top ranked Flint Central.

Berkley of the Inter-Lakes conference, holding a win over a strong Fordson quintet, is in 10th place.

★ ★ ★

In class B ranks, Sault Ste. Marie and East Lansing, two perennial powers, are again on top. Rochester, which just received notice that it will participate in class A tournament this year, was given a spot in B ranks.

Another county team, Troy, is in 7th place. Last year the Colts finished 4th in the state ratings.

Imlay City with 33 straight regular season victories took the position right behind Onstead in class C. Highland Park St. Ben, one of the top 10 last year, is back in the ratings as is Pontiac St. Fred also of the same league.

Two Lakeside Teams Win City Games

Two Lakeside teams, K of C, Fields Landscaping, Central Christian and Griff's Grill were city basketball winners last night.

The Class A Lakeside Royals dumped Shaw's Jewelers 69-64 led by John Jackson with 18 while the "D" team blasted Jefferson 56-30 featuring 14 for Charles Brown. Dave Diehm hooped 28 and Dick Ayling 21 in defeat for Shaw's.

K of C edged Sports Shop 66-64 in the best game on the slate as Hal Trott hit 22. Felix Brooks of the losers garnered 25. Fields also won a two-pointer nipping Booth Homes 62-60 topped by Jerry Hill's 17.

Griff's had the easy time walloping Rex's Standard 70-25 backed by a balanced attack. Ray Smith was virtually a one-man team for Central Christian scoring 29 in a 35-29 win over Lee's Sales & Service.

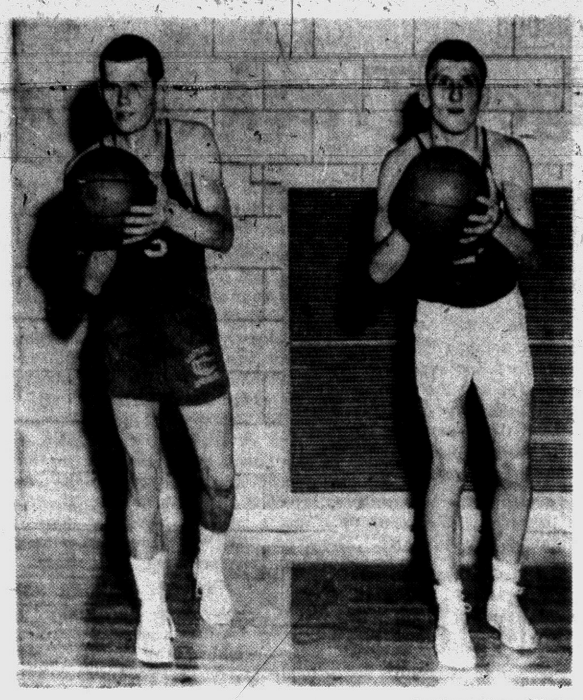

GMC-YMCA Loop Has One-Sided Contests

One-sided games were the rule instead of the exception in the GMC-YMCA basketball league last night.

Hasse's drubbed the Blue Chips 50-40 with Bob Wisdom and Wa... Warden combining for 31 of the points, Jim Bushman meshed 16 as the Bulldogs whipped the Court Jesters 35-20 and Earl Kitchen's 16 almost matched the road Runners in a 47-13 Falcon triumph—their 3rd in a row.

Engineering downed Tech Club 33-28 in the other game featuring a 20-point effort by Dave Proper. The schedule resumes Dec. 29.

AIM AT AVONDALE — Setting their sights on the baskets at Avondale High tonight will be Rochester starters Bruce Ennis, left, and Gene Hohf. Ennis has been the Falcons 2nd leading scorer with 40 points in four straight tonight. Avondale takes a 1-1 record against its neighboring rival.

Falcon, Avon Clash Features Area Schedule

Oxford at Clarkston; Maples vs. Southfield, Waterford Away

By CHUCK ABAIR

Some scatered interesting games of the non-league variety headline tonight's final Tuesday basketball program for prep teams until after the Holiday season.

The annual Rochester-Avondale clash, Oxford at Clarkston, Birmingham at Southfield, Waterford at Dearborn Fordson and Ferndale at Berkley feature a 17-game schedule.

Rochester rates much stronger on paper on the basis of its far superior personnel and a perfect 4-0 record but the Falcons will be only a slim favorite on the Avondale court.

Anything is likely to happen when such formidable foes get together. Rochester has dominated the past games between the schools but has been pushed hard on most occasions. The Falcons won 40-30 and 50-43 last winter.

Coach Gene Konley has such boys as Gene Lothery and Chuck Ebersole back who helped spark the sweep a year ago. Lothery is currently the leading point-getter with 55. Gary Acker tops Avon with 27 for a 1-1 slate.

 The game at Clarkston will serve as an excellent tuneup for both schools. Clarkston, 2-1, will be prepping for a big Friday invasion by Northville while Oxford, 1-2, meets chief foe Ortonville Friday.

Oxford is going all out for a big year in an attempt to shake the losing doldrums of recent years. It has one of the sectors top performers thus far in Doug Stott. He has 55 points in three games.

Newcomers Bill Powell and John Parks have led the Wolves.

Birmingham will be making only its 2nd appearance. The other was last-minute triumph over Royal Oak Dondero. Southfield is 2-1.

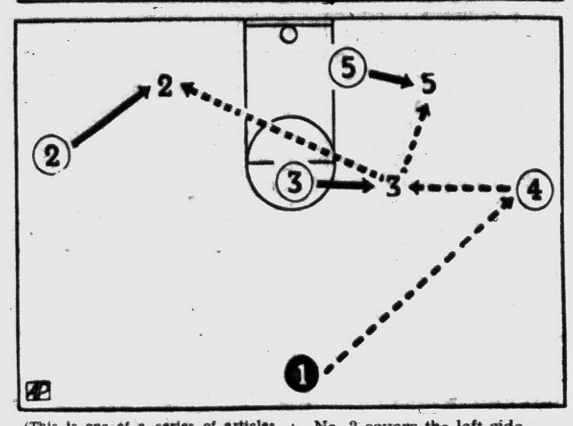

Waterford, which lost a heartbreaker at Southfield last Friday with an upset in its grasp, will be on the road again seeking its initial victory for the 3rd time.

Berkley will put an unbeaten mark on the line and will have the advantage of three games under its belt to Ferndale's one—a loss to Southfield.

Flint Northern at Lansing Sexton, Grosse Pointe at Mt. Clemens and Lapeer's 1st home game against Flint Kearsley will be other Class A games.

Troy hosts Lakeview, Van Dyke travels to Center Line, Warren is at Clawson, Brighton goes to Flint Mandeville, Wyandotte Schaffer is guest of Clarenceville, Lakeville is at North Branch, Farmington Our Lady of Sorrow at Royal Oak St. Mary, Royal Oak Shrine meets mighty Ausin and Oak Park invades L'Anse Creuse in other action.

How to Beat A Zone Defense

(This is one of a series of articles explaining basketball plays to use against the zone defense.)

By BUNNY LEVITT

Written for AP Newsfeatures

Beating all types of zone defenses is what every high school and college basketball coach would like to see his boys do. Of course, this takes a lot of planning.

A 1-3-1 offense is a good one to use against almost any zone. By 1-3-1 we would have a man, let's call him No. 5, stationed to the right of the basket just outside the foul line.

No. 2, 3 and 4 would take starting spots across the court in back of the foul line. No. 1 would start the play from well out by passing to No. 4 near the right sideline.

No. 4 then passes the ball to No. 3 who has moved to his right. No. 3 then pivots towards the basket but passes to No. 2 or No. 5. After 3 has received the ball from No. 4, players 2, 3 and 5 form a triangle. Originally, 2, 3 and 5 were well spread out away from the zone defense. No. 2 usually has an opening on this type of play and should be the team's best shooter from outside.

★ ★ ★

Rebound assignments for this setup would be:

No. 2 covers the left side.

No. 5 takes the right side.

No. 3 takes the front of the basket.

No. 4 covers the foul line.

No. 1 must be a good guard to prevent the fast break should the opposition break up the play or gain possession on the rebound.

Rooney Insists Pittsburgh Will Keep Steelers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The president of the Pittsburgh Steelers has repeated his intention of keeping the club's National Football League franchise here despite a drop in attendance for home games.

Art Rooney last night branded "absolutely untrue" a story a Pittsburgh sports writer said was printed in a Miami newspaper that Rooney might transfer the franchise to the Florida city.

Reports that the Steelers might move to other cities have been frequent in recent years. Rooney has denied them all.

"We're doing business at the same old stand," he asserted, adding:

"We have a winning team and a top coach now, and I feel sure the fans will support them. My one hope is that the weatherman treats us better in 1959."

'Boom Boom' in NHL Top Spot

MONTREAL (AP) — Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion, the Montreal Canadiens' out-spoken wingman with a blistering shot, took over undisputed possession of the National Hockey League's scoring lead during the past week with three goals and assisted in two other tallies.

Geoffrion's production, which included the hat trick, gave him 17 goals and 22 assists for 39 points, two more than Andy Bathgate, the New York Rangers' smoothie who shared the lead with the Montreal ace last week.

Five points back, with 32, is Detroit ace Gordie Howe. The Red Wings' veteran right-winger counted once for the 400th goal of his NHL career in regular season play, and came up with three assists.

The scoring leaders:

Arizin in 2nd Spot Among NBA Scorers

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia's Paul Arizin, a two-time National Basketball Assn. scoring champion, has moved into second place behind Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks in the point-production parade.

Arizin, who won the title in 1951-52 and 1956-57, has accounted for 638 points in 25 games for a 25.5 average. The Warriors' jump-shooting specialist also ranks fifth in the all-time scoring standings with 9,909 points.

Figures released by the league today show that Pettit retained his lead with 684 points in 24 games. The 6-9 ace, the scoring champion in 1955-56, boasts the best average with 28.5 points per game.

Yank Hurlers Top AL; Tiger Staff Is Third

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees pitching staff, headed by Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, again topped the American League in performance the past season.

Official league statistics released today show the Yankee staff posted a 3.22 earned run average far ahead of second place Baltimore's 3.40. Ford, the chunky southpaw, led all individuals with a 2.01 mark.

★ ★ ★

Detroit was third with a 3.59 average, followed by Chicago's 3.61, Cleveland's 3.73; Boston's 3.92, Kansas City's 4.15 and Washington's 4.53.

Trailing Ford among the individual leaders were southpaw Billy Pierce of Chicago with 2.68, southpaw Jack Harshman of Baltimore with 2.90, right-hander Frank Lary of Detroit with 2.91, left-hander Billy O'Dell of Baltimore with 2.97, right-hander Turley with 2.98 and right-hander Cal McLish of Cleveland with 2.99.

Turley was the league's only 20-game winner with a 21-7 record and a .750 percentage — tops among pitchers who worked 154 or more innings. Second to Turley in victories was Pierce with 17.

Despite his great record, Turley again led the loop in walks with 128, only two of which were intentional.

★ ★ ★

Turley, Pierce and Lary tied for most complete games with 19, while Ford was tops in shutouts with seven. Turley had six.

Washington's Pete Ramos, fast-balling right-hander, faced the most batsmen, 1,015, allowed the most hits, 277, the most homers, 38, the most runs, 133, and started the most games, 37. Lary pitched the most innings, 260.

★ ★ ★

Chicago right hander Early Wynn was tops with 179 strikeouts and upped his career total to 6,037.

Two no-hit games were recorded. Jim Bunning, Detroit right-hander, accomplished the feat against Boston, July 20; and Baltimore right-hander Hoyt Wilhelm, a National League castoff, came through against the Yankees exactly two months later.

Calhoun Tames 'Tiger' Jones

CLEVELAND (AP) — Middleweight Rory Calhoun can absorb plenty of punishment and still be dangerous. Ask Ralph "Tiger" Jones.

Calhoun, cut near both eyes in the early rounds of a 10-round bout with Jones last night, kept hammering away and earned a unanimous decision. The victory avenged a loss to Jones in Madison Square Garden last month.

★ ★ ★

Larry Atkins, promoter of the scrap, said he had offered Carmen Basilio $15,000 to meet the winner. However, the former welterweight and middleweight champion did not say whether he would accept the match.

The 24-year-old Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., staggered Jones in the sixth, seventh and 10th rounds, although he had trouble seeing because of the cuts.

3 State Puck Teams Blasted by Alumni

DENVER (UPI) — Three Michigan hockey squads have been termed unsportsmanlike for refusing to play the Denver University hockey team.

The blast at Michigan, Michigan State and Michigan Tech came in a resolution by the Big Ten Club of Colorado yesterday.

The club, made up of former members of colleges and universities in the Big 10 conference, drafted the resolution asking the three Michigan schools and Minnesota to schedule hockey games with the Denver squad immediately.

Erdelatz Denies Offer by 49ers

Navy Mentor Evades Reaction to Coaching Job if Offered Him

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — "I give you my word of honor," said Navy football coach Eddie Erdelatz, "they have not contacted me" about being coach of the San Francisco 49ers.

★ ★ ★

The successful Navy mentor's name has been bandied about for the San Francisco job which 49er coach Frankie Albert has quit.

What if he is offered the job? Erdetatz wouldn't say what his reaction would be.

"I don't want to get involved in anything," he said, so I don't want to say any more about it. The less I say in a situation like this the better off I am."

★ ★ ★

Erdelatz has been coach at the Naval Academy nine years, a span in which his teams have won 50 games, lost 26 and tied 8.

Both Erdelatz and his wife are from California where he was an assistant coach of the professional 49ers before coming to Navy.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

A great many bowlers have a mistaken idea about when they should release the ball. Some feel they should let go as the forward swing reaches the bottom of its arc and is closest to the alley's surface. Others feel they should throw it way out on the alley bed.

Actually, the ball should be released as the armswing starts up. The ball should be sent out over the foul line with the fingers supplying the lifting motion. This finger lift also provides the necessary stuff which makes the ball hook when it nears the pins.

If the ball is released at the bottom of the arc, it will strike the approach before it crosses the foul line. It should never touch the approach, but should be sent out and over the foul line with the lifting motion of the fingers. It can land anywhere from a few inches to a couple of feet beyond the foul line.

After releasing the ball, continue your armswing to a perfect follow-through, such as that shown in the drawing.

New Lease on Life for Tulsa Baseball

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Professional baseball in Tulsa got a new lease on life last night.

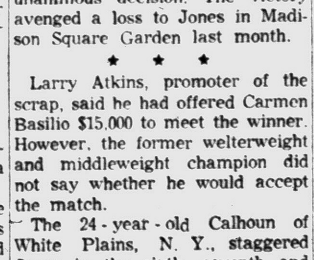

Grayle Howlett, owner of the Tulsa Oiler franchise of the Class AA Texas League, said he had reached agreement with the Tulsa Fair Board under which he will have use of Texas League park rent free for three years.

★ ★ ★

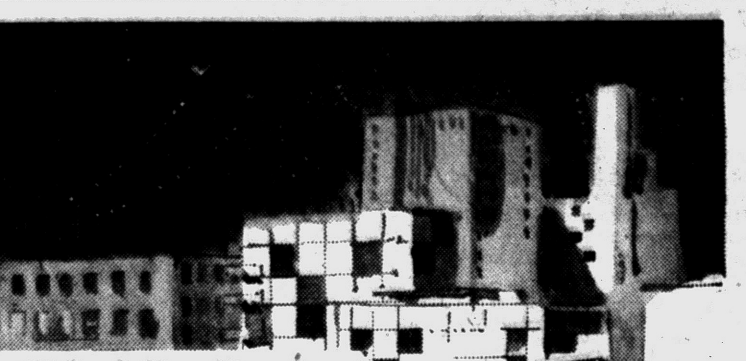

In return, Howlett said, he must finance repairs to the stands. Fire officials recently condemned part of them as unsafe.

Funds to Restore Island Further

Detroit Firm Gets Mackinac Bid

LANSING (AP) — A spread of 45 separated two bidders on a $75,000 bond offering by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

As a result, Watling, Lerchen & Co., of Detroit, rather than Stifel Nicolaus Co. of Chicago, will furnish the money for second stage improvements intended eventually to make the Michigan tourist lure rival Williamsburg, Va.

The commission, which started fixing up Fort Mackinac last spring and installed a museum, plans with the added money to further dress up the historic site.

Dioramas using mannikins and colorful 18th century costumes are to be placed in the fort and associated buildings to help the visitor visualize typical pioneer scenes.

Both the bidders yesterday offered 5¼ per cent on a 15-year revenue bond issue, and offered to buy at par. But the Detroit firm, in addition, offered a 45 premium.

H. E. Potter, representing Watling, Lerchen & Co., figured that over their lives the bonds, assuming they go to maturity, would return total interest of $57,376.

The bonds are callable, subject to premium payments graduated downward with the elapse of time.

★ ★ ★

Last summer, Stifel Nicolaus, as the only bidder, bought $50,000 in commission bonds to get the improvement program started.

Through charge of fees authorized by the 1958 legislature, the commission, between June 15 and Sept. 30, took in $54,322 in Fort Mackinac admissions.

Because first issue bonds were dated Aug. 1, 1958, restrictions on handling of income provided in the bond resolution did not become effective until that date.

The commission authorized the National Bank of Detroit, where its bond reserve funds are on deposit, to invest $13,750 in one-year U.S. Treasury certificates paying about 3¾ per cent interest.

It decided to buy a newspaper clipping service estimated to cost not more than $100 a year.

After the bond sale, Potter described the commission's security as a "real good" bond "lucrative for individuals" although not attractive to most financial institutions.

James P. Dunnigan of West Branch, commission vice chairman, and Dr. Alfred H. Whittaker of Grosse Pointe, a commission member, promptly expressed interest in buying a few of the bonds for themselves.

Orders Hike in State Pay

7 Per Cent Boost Goes to 32,250; Increase Will Cost $11 Million

LANSING (AP)—A seven per cent pay increase was ordered by the Civil Service Commission today for some 32,250 state employes.

The increase, effective next July 5, will cost about $11,200,000 a year with the state paying $8,650,000 and federal sources the rest.

By law, the legislature, already faced with the state's growing debt, must include any pay boost authorized by the commission in its 1959-60 budget.

Its only alternative in reducing costs is to cut the number of state employes.

The commission also authorized additional pay raises for an unspecified number of employes in the highest and lowest pay brackets, with the total cost not to exceed $250,000.

The increase will be the first for state employes since July 1957, when they got an identical seven per cent boost costing 11 million dollars.

Last year the commission rejected any increase.

The commission based its action on a survey of 337 private employers in the state by the Civil Service department's research and survey division.

It is figured the seven per cent increase will bring state employes in line with salaries paid for comparable positions in private industry and take account of a cost of living rise.

Talkative Suspect Mute in Court

A Kentucky man who talked himself into an arrest for armed robbery yesterday stood mute to the charge when arraigned before Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Miguel H. Adkins is accused of holding up Tom's Market, 888 Orchard Lake Ave., and taking $956 from the store safe while armed with a sawed-off shotgun and a .22-caliber rifle.

While hitchhiking, Adkins, although he wasn't aware of it, was picked up by an off-duty Detroit patrolman who, after hearing Adkins boast how easy a robbery was, arrested him.

Adkins was returned to the Oakland County jail yesterday following his arraignment at which time he asked for a court-appointed attorney to defend him.

State Dentists Named

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Michigan dentists have been elected to various posts by the American Dental Assn. Dr. Walter C. McBridge Detroit was elected a member of the Council of Journalism. Dr. J. L. Champagne of Detroit was named a member of the Council on Dental Education, and Dr. Floyd D. Ostrander was elected a member of the Council on Dental Therapeutics.

State Committee Adds 4 Building Specialists

LANSING (AP) — Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has named four construction specialists to his highway industry committee.

The committee advises the commissioner on construction standards and roadbuilding problems.

The new appointees: Darwin Grow, 48, of Lansing; Walter S. Kutchins, 38, of Lansing; John J. McMahon, 48, of Grosse Pointe Farms; and Edmund B. Raff, 39, of Lansing. The four will serve three-year terms.

★ ★ ★

They replace these four members whose one-year terms expired; John R. Snell of Haslett, Wilbur C. Wright of Williamstown, Varnum B. Steinbaugh of Detroit; and Leet M. Denton of Grosse Pointe.

Building Publications Deny FTC Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Associated Construction Publications, of Detroit, and its 15 member publishers of construction industry trade papers have denied Federal Trade Commission charges of illegally combining to restrain trade and monopolize the advertising of construction equipment makers.

The publishers and the association denied all accusations in the FTC complaint lodged last Oct. 21.

They were acused of:

1. Limiting membership to one publication in any given area and allocating territories;
2. Agreeing on prices and discounts for advertising space;
3. Using the association to get advertising for themselves and divert it from competitors.

The publishers' reply yesterday said there are more than 35 regional construction publications in the country and denied that their 15 journals accounted for 90 per cent of the advertising placed.

All the publishers asked dismissal of the complaint.

Stop Discounts for State Cars

Ask Michigan Employes to Baby Autos, Since They Have to Last

LANSING (AP) — State employes today were under orders to baby the 2,500 state-owned cars as they would their own.

State Controller James W. Miller sent out the directive yesterday in confirming that the state won't be buying any new cars "in the immediate foreseeable future."

The state declared a moratorium on new car purchases when auto companies announced they would no longer allow special discounts to states on new car purchases. The automakers complained two states had used "objectionable" practices in disposing of their cars for resale.

Miller estimated Michigan would be forced to boost its yearly new car budget about $500,000—or $500 a car—if the policy were carried out.

The Assn. of State Purchasing Agents, he said, plans to confer with the auto firms in an effort to "modify or rescind" the new policy.

"But we don't expect anything definite on that till February or March," he said.

Meanwhile, he told agency heads in his directive, "It becomes more important than ever to make prudent use of every car and observe all rules of good maintenance."

Miller also warned state employes of "drastic action" against anyone who uses a state car for personal affairs.

'Polly Wants . . .'

NORWICH, England (UPI) — The local theater company advertised today for an OLD parrot to play a role in "Treasure Island." "No young parrots need apply, since the young ones only peck at strangers' ears and repeat everything they hear," said production manager Gerald Batty

January Trial Set for Berkley Youth

HILLSDALE (AP) — Patrick Flannery, 18-year-old Hillsdale College freshman, has been bound over to the January term of circuit court for trial in the slaying of his roommate, Thomas Neitling, 21.

The Berkley youth, charged with first degree murder, appeared for examination yesterday and then was remanded to jail without bond.

Neitling, an upperclassman from Tecumseh, was beaten to death in the room he shared with Flannery. Police said Flannery admitted he beat Neitling with a gun while the latter slept but could not explain his action.

Says Upward Trend to Continue

Detroit Board Optimistic

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Board of Commerce today predicted the economic upward trend will last at least through the first six months of the new year.

John R. Stewart, board statistician, said a survey of economists' reports indicated that business activity will not reach the 1955-57 boom levels but that in some phases there may be all-time highs.

Stewart forecast automobile production of 5,760,000 as against the 4,500,000 of this year, or a 28 per cent increase. This would be larger than the most optimistic predictions from the car industry itself.

State Favors Pontiac Loop

City Manager to Ask Commission Go-Ahead at Meeting Tonight

A proposed new loop highway circling downtown Pontiac, envisioned in a futuristic transportation study of the city, has met with the approval of Michigan State Highway Dept. planners.

City Manager Walter K. Willman announced the approval this morning as he readied his recommendation to the City Commission tonight that highway department plans, based partially on the city study, be approved.

Willman said state planners went along almost entirely with proposed route locations of the $17,000 Barton Transportation Study, with the exception of re-locations of Huron street and Orchard Lake avenue.

"But I'm not worried about these," said Willman. "There two changes probably will be subject to further study by highway planners."

★ ★ ★

He said what pleased him most was that state planners had pinned down the proposed perimeter route around the downtown section just as Barton experts located it.

"There were no major disagreements with the Barton recommendations by the highway department," Willman remarked.

He is expected to ask city commissioners' approval at their meeting this evening. Commissioners, who have had the state plans for several weeks, are expected to flash the green light so that Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie may take the plan under study.

The Barton study, released in June, makes recommendations for arterial roads, state trunkline redesignations, and a loop system to relieve downtown traffic congestion.

Masonic Council Installs Officers

Pontiac Council No. 3, Royal and Select Masters, has installed Robert A. Brown as its new thrice illustrious master.

★ ★ ★

Other officers installed were Leland Dennis, deputy master; Keith Agy, principal conductor; Loring Downs, recorder; Stanley Kipp, treasurer; James Householder, chaplain, and Howard Lenegan, marshal.

Also installed were Garnet Roberts, captain of the guard; Norman Lowe and Albert Klugler, stewards, and David Neal, sentinel.

Moms in Prison Get Help Playing Santa Claus

CHICAGO (AP) — Santa Claus will bring toys to children of the 51 mothers who are among the inmates at the State Reformatory for Women.

The Salvation Army, for the first time on an experimental basis, has stepped in to help imprisoned mothers play Santa to children 12 and under.

Representatives of the Salvation Army visited the prison at Dwight over the weekend with samples of 14 different toys. Mothers could choose which they wanted, sign the tags and supply addresses of their youngsters. The 51 women have a total of 110 children, from 6 months to 12 years old.

The Army plans to provide the toys, wrap and mail them. No one would know what place they came from.

They would be, to the child's knowledge, "to my darling angel, from mother," as one woman signed her tag.

Miriani Lashes Back at Mayor

Says Blaming Big Cars for Los Angeles Smog 'Silly to Say the Least'

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's Mayor Louis Miriani fumed yesterday over Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson's assertion that big car exhausts are the main cause of smog in the City of Angels and movie stars.

Describing big cars as the No. 1 air pollution problem in Los Angeles, Poulson announced in Washington yesterday he had canceled his Cadillac order and would buy an American Motors Rambler. He said he hoped others would follow suit.

"The whole thing is silly, to say the least," fired back Miriani today. "Suggesting a boycott of larger cars is almost as fantastic as if Detroit and the Middle West boycotted movies and television shows out of Los Angeles to preserve the public eyesight.

The Motor City's mayor suggested that Los Angeles' air pollution trouble "is more geographic than anything else," adding:

"If they would move the mountains and let the ocean breezes come in, it would end the smog trouble. But we all like mountains."

Miriani conceded, however, that autos unquestionably contribute to smog. He told Poulson in a telegram, however: "Please don't boycott Detroit's automobiles, because they are the strength and backbone of the nation. You need the prosperity which comes from the sale of automobiles just as much as we do."

Drop Midget Track Plan

Plans for a midget auto race track in Waterford Township have been abandoned by promoter J. E. Buckberrough, of 870 Menominee St., due to a change made in the racing ordinance by the Township Board last night.

The Board raised the annual license of $2,500 to $5,000 in order to better regulate all types of racing of powered vehicles in the township.

Buckberrough had requested the Board's approval last week for a midget track for children 4 to 15 years old. It would have been located on M59 near Elizabeth Lake road.

Although he had plans and specifications with him last night for the proposed track, Buckberrough did not submit them to the board because he said the increased fee prohibited construction in the township.

Contracts totaling $15,695 for a new fire truck and apparatus were awarded. The Peter Pirsch Co. of Wisconsin received a contract of $10,531 for fire equipment. Eddie Steele of Keego Harbor will supply the chassis at a cost of $5,164.

The Board authorized $9,789 as back payment to the township's Firefighters Association. The money includes fire-run payments from July, 1957, through May, 1958.

Although each man receives $3 a run, or a maximum of $24 per fire run, all of the volunteers donate their salaries back into the Firefighters Association for equipment and betterment of the organization, according to assistant fire chief Lewis Goff.

The Board also approved payment of $12,249 to the Venice of the Lakes Installation Co. for extension of a water main to the subdivision. The money is an advance from the township general fund until bond proceeds money has been received.

A request from Recreation Director Thomas Belton regarding the establishment of a park planning commission was discussed and will be considered as a next-year project during budget planning time, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

Expressway Extension Opens to Traffic Today

LANSING (AP) — A 3.1 mile section of the Edsel Ford Expressway in Detroit opens to traffic today.

Built at an estimated cost of $22,582,646, the section runs from Mt. Elliott east to a temporary connection with Harper Ave.

★ ★ ★

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, Detroit Mayor Louis Miriani and Wayne County Road Commission Chairman William Kreger will participate in ribbon-cutting ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

The new section brings the completed segment of the expressway to 10.63 miles. When fully completed, it will run easterly to Port Huron and westerly to the U.S. 12 Interstate Expressway.

Pontiac School Bonds Sold

$2 Million Construction Issue Awarded to First of Michigan Corp.

A $2 million general obligation bond issue to finance the Pontiac School District's construction program was sold last night in a special meeting at the Board of Education offices, 40 Patterson St.

★ ★ ★

The sale was awarded to the low bidder, the First of Michigan Corp. at an average interest rate of 3.55 per cent for the bond issue's lifetime.

The bond issue is the first long-term loan made by Pontiac schools since voters approved extra millage for school construction and operation in 1954.

Running for 25 years, the bonds will be paid off through the extra millage until 1964 when the millage ends. No plans are formulated for financing after that.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Dana Whitmer, superintendent of schools, said that the bonds will be paid off after 1964 "with whatever revenues the school district has available."

Goldfine Makes Innocent Plea

Issue Involves Records That Revenue Service Says Were Incomplete

BOSTON (UPI) — Industrialist Bernard Goldfine and his secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, pleaded innocent today to charges of criminal contempt for failing to surrender business records to the Internal Revenue Service.

★ ★ ★

Goldfine and Miss Paperman made their pleas before Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. The hearing on the contempt charges began immediately with an opening statement by U.S. Attorney Anthony Julian.

Today's court action grew out of difficulty encountered by tax agents when they sought to check financial records of five Goldfine textile firms.

The records originally were turned over to the internal revenue service but given back to Goldfine to compile his tax returns. Last week Wyzanski ordered the records returned to the tax agents.

★ ★ ★

He ordered today's appearance when Julian reported the tax records returned by Goldfine and Miss Paperman were incomplete.

Queen's Proclamation Read by Town Crier

One Man's Voice Soars Over 5th Avenue Traffic

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — The roar of Fifth Avenue's traffic got some pretty sharp competition today from the voice of one man.

Will Cruttenden, Town Crier of Hastings, England, signaled the opening of the British Travel Association's new headquarters here by bellowing out a proclamation of Queen Elizabeth II in a voice loud enough to make even taxi drivers stop honking their horns.

He explained that he cries, but never shouts.

"It comes from way down here," he said, pointing to his abdomen.

For 10 years, Cruttenden has been Town Crier of his home town. It's a job that goes all the way back to 1205—the oldest town criership in Britain.

The tasks have changed somewhat through the centuries, but the requirements are the same—a voice that can be heard distinctly up to a fifth of a mile away in fog or sunshine every day of the year and sometimes at night.

In old days, the Town Crier's chores included lashing felons at the whipping post, warning neighbors to stay away from residents with contagious diseases, calling recruits to the navy and keeping the waters of the Bourne River free from pollution.

★ ★ ★

The basic reason for a Town Crier back in the 13th Century was to serve as a walking newspaper, announcing all the latest occurrences.

Today, Cruttenden's main task is to walk the streets of the seaside port of Hastings announcing various entertainments and civic events on a 6- to 8-mile daily beat.

He also calls out the names of lost children and dogs and once notified a woman in swimming that her house was on fire.

★ ★ ★

"The main qualification is to have a loud voice," he said in an interview. "I've never lost my voice yet. I trained on English beer, and that has kept me in good voice. I guess you could say, however, that I got my basic training as a sergeant in the British Army."

Cruttenden has several occupational hazards with which to contend. The worst are barking dogs and smart alecs who follow him around imitating him.

He has the same treatment for both.

"I ignore them," he said.

There is another hazard, created by the 20th Century—traffic.

"I try to keep out of busy streets," Cruttenden said. "I can't beat the traffic noises for very long. My voice is like an old creaking gate when I compete with traffic for very long, even on Fifth Avenue."

What Does Ike Consider Big Government Spending?

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How high is up? Or, what's President Eisenhower's idea of big spending?

On Nov. 5 — at a news conference the day after the Republicans' election disaster—he protested against what he called the big spenders among the Democrats.

He told the newsmen his last two years in the White House would be devoted to economy.

★ ★ ★

But government spending under his administration has been going up steadily since 1956 and this year is running at a record peacetime high of nearly 80 billion dollars.

And the deficit—the difference between what the government gets in revenue and its expenses—will be about 12 billion dollars, according to official estimates.

★ ★ ★

One of the main reasons for the deficit, of course, was the recession, which reduced individual and corporate income and thus meant a drop in tax revenues.

But Monday, after a White House conference with Eisenhower on his programs for next year, congressional Republican leaders came away figuring that spending next year will be around 80 billion again.

★ ★ ★

But they said Eisenhowgr is determined to balance the budget—meaning, to make spending no greater than revenue—if possible, and may do so. It's quite an if, especially with no indication of any move to boost taxes.

But the GOP leaders challenged heavy spenders in Congress to go along with the balance.

This repeated Republican tactic —of referring to big spenders in Congress while Eisenhower's administration keeps spending at a peacetime high—is beginning to look thin and sound monotonous.

It's just a hope and a guess that Eisenhower can spend 80 billion and balance the budget too.

★ ★ ★

If the economy continues its upward movement next year, the government should get more revenue than this year. But, even so, will it be enough to match the outgo?

Charge Merger Is Monopoly

Trade Commission to Hear Complaint Against Diamond Crystal Salt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diamond Crystal Salt Co., St. Clair, Mich., has been charged by the Federal Trade Commission with illegally acquiring a major competitor, Jefferson Island Salt Co., Louisville, Ky.

The Commission complaint said the merger in January 1957 may lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in the violation of the Clayton Antitrust Law.

A hearing was scheduled Feb. 24 in Detroit.

The commission said Diamond was the fourth largest producer of dry salt in 1955, and the third largest producer of evaporated salt. Jefferson Island ranked sixth in dry salt output and third in rock salt production.

Substantial competition existed between Jefferson and Diamond east of the Mississippi before the acquisition, the trade commission said, especially in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The complaint said that as a result of the merger, Diamond's share of dry salt sales in that nine-state area jumped from 3.6 per cent to 25 per cent. Diamond and two competitors now control more than 90 per cent of the dry salt market in the area, the agency estimated.

Arson Attempt Investigated

Blame Vandals for Tossing Fire Pot Into Orion Market

Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. detectives today were investigating a reported arson attempt at an Orion Township grocery store.

Mrs. Rose Martin of 1261 Beach Dr., Lake Orion, told deputies someone had thrown a lighted fire pot into her store.

★ ★ ★

Detectives believed it was done by vandals.

Her store, the Marwood Market, at 4301 Baldwin Rd., was damaged considerably by black soot given off by the burner.

Detectives said someone apparently had taken a fire pot from a nearby road construction project Sunday night or early Monday morning and had then thrown it through the front door window of the market.

★ ★ ★

The pot burned until it ran out of fuel, but failed to ignite any nearby grocery items.

Mrs. Martin told police she has no enemies and that she couldn't think of any reason why someone would do this.

Royal Oaker Arraigned on Coed Assault Charge

EAST LANSING (UPI) — A Michigan State University junior from Royal Oak was free on $3,000 bond today after standing mute on a charge of attempted rape of a university coed.

★ ★ ★

The student, Robert D. Wright, 23, furnished the bond when arraigned before Lansing Township Justice George Hutter yesterday.

Police charge Wright with attempted assault of an 18-year-old coed in East Lansing city park last Thursday.

New Production Record Reported by Chevrolet

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet Motor Division reported today a new production record of 45,305 passenger car assemblies last week.

The previous industry record for a week's car output was 44,920 cars made by Chevrolet in the week ended Dec. 14, 1957.

Chevrolet's combined car and truck output of 54,268 units last week also topped the previous record mark of 53,630 units made in the week ended Nov. 23, 1957.

Edward N. Cole, Chevrolet general manager, said all assembly plants are operating on a six-day schedule again this week. Production schedules, he said, are being set to meet what he termed "the heaviest dealer demand for cars since the record year of 1955."

Says Rambler Sales May Double in '59

NEW YORK (AP) — George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., predicted today that sales of the small-sized Rambler in the 1959 fiscal year would be approximately double the 1958 volume.

Romney said Rambler sales, based on actual orders for the first quarter and dealer projections for the second quarter of the 1959 fiscal year, are running about 140 per cent above the first six months of fiscal 1958.

His remarks were made in a speech prepared for delivery before the New York Society of Security Analysts.

★ ★ ★

Romney said the auto industry's Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — face some major basic problems if they enter the small car field with U.S.-built autos. He said such a move would "create additional problems for their big car programs as a result of the competition from their own smaller cars."

Talks Resume Today in Chrysler Strike

DETROIT (AP) — After a day's lapse, negotiators headed back to talks today in a 15-day-old Chrysler strike which has idled more than 40,000 auto workers.

There were no negotiations yesterday in the crippling walkouts of 7,100 Dodge main plant employes over a work rates dispute. A settlement had been believed near the day before but it feel through.

President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers Union, whose Local 3 is on strike, was reported considering entry into the negotiations.

Dodge main strikers walked out Dec. 2 charging an unfair production speedup, denied by management. Later layoffs blamed on parts shortages made many more thousands idle.

U.S. Firms Weigh Further Expansion in Europe

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—American firms who have invested four billion dollars in Europe are weighing today the pros and cons of further expansion there.

In three weeks six European nations will take the first step in the long process that someday will eliminate trade barriers among them. Gradually, a common tariff and import rules against the products of the rest of the world will be adopted by the Common Market.

★ ★ ★

The six nations are France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Americans operating within the Common Market area hope to share in the new benefits. Already there are many benefits for them: lower labor costs, increasing productivity, and a fast expanding market in Western Europe for consumer goods.

U. S. exports have been falling this year, although some now see a turn in the tide. In the first nine months this year, for example, our exports to France were 32 per cent lower than in 1957, to West Germany 24 per cent lower.

What this can mean to American manufacturers is pointed out thus by David Rockefeller, vice chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York: "Many products, particularly in machinery lines, that we have been exporting may well have to be produced abroad in the future if we are to retain our foreign markets."

An analysis of the European Common Market by the Management consultant firm of Booze, Allen & Hamilton International, Ltd., of Zurich, Switzerland, and Washington, D. C., shows that most U. S. corporations now operating there favor full ownership of their facilities.

★ ★ ★

The benefits U. S. plants in the six nations have include these:

1. Between 1954 and 1956 labor productivity rose at an annual rate of 4 per cent in Holland, 8 per cent in France and Belgium, while only 2 per cent a year in the United States. (It's done better than that here this year.)

2. Average rates of all workers in 1957 ranged from 47 cents an hour in the Netherlands to 72 cents in France, according to a University of Wisconsin study, compared with $2.24 an hour in the United States.

★ ★ ★

3. European consumer demand has been growing rapidly. The Zurich firm expects this to increase rapidly as the Common Market stimulates production.

In a study of production costs in the European Common Market, the National Industrial Conference Board today says that of 38 products produced there by American firms for which it got cost data, 68 per cent show lower output unit costs than for the same product made here by the same firms. In 10 of the cases the unit costs were from 85 to 94 per cent cheaper.

Material costs there were lower than here for 13 of the products, higher for 14, and about the same for 11.

The consultant firm adds one word of caution: as the six nations slowly meet their current needs, they may come to limit American investment opportunities in the Common Market.

Mart Moderate in Early Trade

NEW YORK (AP)— The stock market was moderately higher in active trading early today.

Leading stocks rose fractions to about a point. There were scattered losers and a number of stocks were unchanged.

★ ★ ★

The market rose from the start in heavy dealings which caused a six-minute delay period in the ticker tape.

American Motors, which soared 3⅝ as yesterday's most active stock, again was outstandings in active and added another fraction. President George Romney is scheduled to speak in New York and more good news about this firm is anticipated.

The major steel shares did little or nothing despite the fact that the industry operating rate is scheduled to rise to the highest level in more than a year.

★ ★ ★

Modest gains were shown by selected aircrafts, electronics, chemicals, oils and nonferrous metals.

Raytheon, which received a big Army contract, advanced more than a point. Lorillard continued lower, dropping a point as profit taking continued on this year's sustained rise.

Moderate gains were scored by Harvester, International Nickel, Union Carbide, American Cyanamid, Texas Co., International Telephone and General Electric.

Jobless Man Shoots Wife, Kills Himself

COLDWATER (AP) — A jobless carpenter was shot and fatally wounded at his home yesterday and his wife was wounded.

City police said that Bert Morris, 55, apparently shot his wife, Helen, 49, and then turned the gun on himself. Divorce proceedings were pending between the two, police said.

Morris, shot in the chest, died last night in Community Health Center. Mrs. Morris was shot in the shoulder and head but was expected to recover.

'Good Deed' Brings Probation on Larceny

DETROIT (AP) — A man whose witnessing of a slaying led to his arrest on a larceny charge was placed on one year's probation yesterday in Recorder's (criminal) Court.

He is Antonio Iacovacci, 44, of Detroit. He was charged with stealing an outboard motor from a car.

Police had been looking for Iacovacci for 10 days when he intervened in a man's slaying of a woman with an axe at a bus stop. Iacovacci got a cut hand, his name and picture in newspapers — and landed in jail.

Clift Register, 40, of 10517 Fanwood St., Royal Oak Township, is awaiting trial on first degree murder charges in the slaying of his wife, Louise, 38. Police said he admitted the slaying.

Iacovacci had told police at the scene that he was a Marine judo expert.

Name Red Hickey Coach for 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Howard (Red) Hickey is the new head coach of the San Francisco 49ers.

The owners of the National Football League club announced today Hickey, present 49er offense coach, is being signed to succeed Frank Albert who resigned last week.

A University of Arkansas star, Hickey captained the Razorbacks in his senior year and played here in the East-West Shrine game. Pittsburgh drafted him. Then the Los Angeles Rams bought him.

After service in the Navy, Hickey played end for the Rams from 1941 through 1948, then was a Los Angeles assistant coach from 1949 to 1954 when he was hired as an aide by the late Norman (Red) Strader, head coach for the 49ers.

He's Persistent!

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A letter to Santa Claus was opened at the post office. It made a list of not unusual requests, and concluded with: "I hope I get most of these things. If not I will try again next year."

What Confidence!

NEWTON, Iowa (UPI)—When police recovered a car stolen by three teenagers yesterday, the senior member of the trio, aged 15, was teaching his two younger companions to drive.

Fair Demand for Rye, Wheat

CHICAGO (AP)—Rye and the nearby wheat contracts attracted fair demand in early activity today on the Board of Trade and prices were firm. Other grains and soybeans shifted within narrow ranges from previous close without showing much trend either way.

Brokers said the wheat buying, particularly, appeared to include some short-covering since notices of intention to deliver December commitments have been generally accepted. Trading in December contracts will expire Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was ¾ cent a bushel higher to ½ lower near the end of the first hour, December $1.94¼; corn unchanged to ⅜ higher, December old type contract $1.13¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher December 65½; rye ⅜ to 1½ higher, December $1.32¼; soybeans ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, January $2.17.

Box Company Merger Now Up to Stockholders

WATERLOO, Iowa — Stockholders of Central Fiber Products Co. will be asked to vote on a proposal to merge with two other companies to form one of the largest box manufacturing companies in the United States.

Three of the company's 40 plants are in Iowa.

J. K. Limbert, vice president of the firm's produce supplies division here, made the announcement yesterday in a statement released by W. D. P. Carey of Hutchinson, Kan., president.

The proposal is to merge with American Box Board Co., Grand Rapids, Mich., and the Ohio Box Board Co. or Rittmen, Ohio.

There was no indication how soon the merger plans will be submitted to the stockholders.

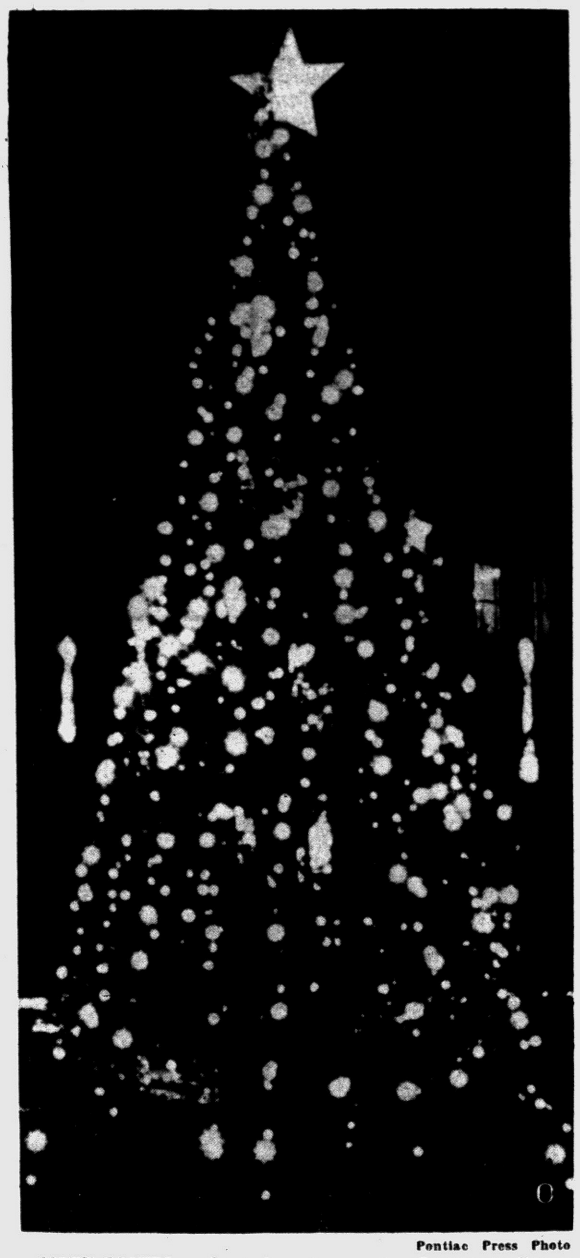

Holly Man Sentenced

For cashing an income tax refund check belonging to his employer, Duane F. Peterson, 26, of 1055 Kurtz Rd., Holly Township, yesterday was sentenced to from 1 to 14 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson by Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

News in Brief

Walter Steil, owner of the Pure Gas Station at 1106 Oakley Park Rd., Commerce Township, reported to Oakland County sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone took $370 cash from an unlocked cash register at his station while he was outside servicing an auto.

Carl A. Bohn, 26, of 6497 Shimmons Dr., pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge Monday before Independence Township Justice William H. Stamp and paid a fine of $40 plus $10 costs.

MORE LIGHTS — Several weeks ago the Consumers Power Co. installed four experimental fluorescent street lights at Oakland avenue and Saginaw street, making it the most brightly illuminated corner in Pontiac. Through efforts of the Downtown Merchants Association and the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, 350 new lights of a more diversified color range have been added to the intersection. They appear on this huge 60-foot Christmas tree, which will greet shoppers throughout the holiday season.

France Stands Alone in Stubborn Fight Against Free Trade Plan

PARIS (AP)—France appeared today to be backed into a tight corner in her stubborn fight against the British plan to turn Western Europe into a free trade area.

France wants to keep British competition out of the Common Market, which goes into operation Jan. 1 with France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg as members.

★ ★ ★

Britain threatened a trade war Monday if the Common Market is not expanded to include the 11 other West European nations of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation.

The possibility of a trade war apparently cost France the full support of her Common Market partners.

After nearly 14 hours of negotiations, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville admitted in substance, "France is isolated."

★ ★ ★

Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, beamed to reporters. "We are 100 per cent satisfied," he said. "We've got just what we wanted."

The Common Market institutes its first 10 per cent tariff cutback Jan. 1. The six will also increase import quotas among themselves by an over-all figure of 20 per cent and quotas on each individual item will be at least 3 per cent of the national production of the item during 1958.

Earlier this month, the six agreed to extend the tariff cutback to most of their OEEC partners and the 20 per cent over-all quota figure to the other 11 European nations. The 3 per cent stipulation was not contained in the Common Market offer.

★ ★ ★

Britain offered Monday to match the Common Market offer and threw in the 3 per cent rule for good measure.

The negotiators agreed to study possible compromises and meet again Jan. 15 to discuss a free trade area. Informants said that meanwhile, as a stopgap peace measure, at least some of the concessions offered by the Common Market members would take effect Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

The Common Market, formally known as the European Economic Community, is designed to achieve a higher standard of living for the 170 million persons in the six nations by removing all internal trade barriers while keeping a uniform barrier against other nations. The target for achievement of this is 12 to 15 years.

Led by Britain and the Scandinavian countries, other West European nations fear their trade with the six nations would be lost and West Europe would be split in two economically. They want a free trade area of all 17 OEEC nations to remove internal barriers while keeping separate national barriers against trade from outside West Europe.

The French fear that letting the British, and indirectly the rest of the British Commonwealth, into their markets would hurt their own high-price industries. Therefore, Paris prefers the smaller six-nation group.

As OEEC members, the 17 countries are pledged not to discriminate against each other's trade. Under her OEEC commitments, France was to have freed 75 per cent of her trade from quota restrictions by mid-December.

Couve de Murville said Monday France would only reach 40 per cent. But he said France would meet its Common Market commitments in full.

Canada Must Decide on Buying U.S. Jets

OTTAWA Ont. (AP) — Is the Canadian government prepared to have U.S. planes take over the Canadian air force's defense job in Canada?

★ ★ ★

This is one of the factors the government will consider early next year when it will decide whether to order the sleek new CF105 Arrow, a supersonic jet interceptor, into production.

Questions have been raised about the wisdom of pouring a tremendous amount of money into a fighter plane at a time when missiles are coming to the fore.

★ ★ ★

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has estimated that 100 Arrows would cost around 900 million dollars.

More than 10 per cent of this fiscal year's $1,686,000,000 defense budget has been spent on Arrow development. Tremendous sums have also been spent in past years.

Canada is the partner of the United States in the North American Air Defense Command, (NORAD).

Only One Child Badly Hurt

Bridgeport Gives Thanks on Near Train-Tragedy

SAGINAW (AP) — A grateful community gave thanks today for the limited harm from its near tragic schoolbus-train collision.

"We feel mighty lucky," said White, 48 of whose youngsters were periled.

Before the eyes of anguished witnesses a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train bore down yesterday on the school bus, stalled on the tracks.

With breaks grinding, the slowing 41-car freight smashed into the front end of the bus, knocking it off the tracks.

★ ★ ★

But of the 20 injured pupils, only 6-year-old Edward Adams was badly hurt.

Edward, who suffered a skull fracture, was reported in poor condition today at St. Luke's Hospital.

He was the only one to be retained in the Hospital.

The collision was on the suburban Bridgeport crossing. The children are pupils in the Bridgeport community schools.

Hours later, the bus driver, Russell Knisley, 58, still was in a shaken condition atv his home.

★ ★ ★

Knisley and a gasoline station man, Joe Bunka, the latter waving a red rug, had raced down the railway tracks trying to flag the oncoming train.

Charles O. McKendree, 55, of Saginaw, ngineer of th diesel-driven Toledo to Detroit train, said he saw the stalled bus in time to apply emergency brakes. The train had just rouned a curve.

The accounts of witnesses, including children on the bus, were graphic.

at Thayer, 13, fell to the floor of the bus when the train hit it.

"It was awful," at said. "Some of the kids saw the train coming and started screaming."

Before leaving the bus to run toward the train, Knisley ordered the children to stay inside. He said he felt they would be in more danger around the tracks.

Union Move Awaited in Booth Paper Strike

LANSING (UPI) — International Typographical Union President Elmer Brown said today he was awaiting reports from his negotiators in the Booth Newspaper strike before any new moves are planned.

On the other side, James E. Sauter, chief negotiator for Booth Newspapers, Inc., said he had no idea when contract talks would be resumed in an effort to end the newspaper strikes in eight Michigan cities.

Booth's offer, made last Friday here, was rejected by strikers in Jackson, Saginaw, Bay City and Flint but approved in Muskegon, Kalamazoo and Ann Arbor. There was no offer to printers and apprentices in the two Booth papers in Grand Rapids.

Thor Set to Go in California

New Missile Base Ready to Fire

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A 10,000-mile-an-hour Thor missile is waiting on a launching pad today for the signal that will blast it hundreds of miles out over the Pacific.

The launching will be the first from the Air Force's new missile base here on the California coast 150 miles north of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

The exact time of the firing is secret. It could be today. It might be later.

When it does come, the blastoff of this intermediate range (1,500 mile) ballistic missile will give notice to the world that Vandenberg Air Force Base is ready for business.

The first shot is expected to be little more than a test of new launching and tracking facilities. Soon thereafter the Air Force will try to throw 1,300-pound satellites into orbit around the poles of the earth—perhaps as often as once a month.

Some of the satellites will carry mice and perhaps a monkey. The air force will try to bring the animals back to earth in recoverable capsules.

The idea is to develop techniques to insure man's safety when he first ventures into space, perhaps late next year, from the Atlas and Titan launch pads now under construction on this 64,000-acre base.

Insofar as the public is concerned, Vandenberg's activity will be similar to that at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Missiles and satellites will take flight from both. Vandenberg, however, is primarily a base to train personnel for operation of missiles under combat conditions. Canaveral is chiefly a research and development base.

Some research and development work will take place at Vandenberg too.

If you have been searching for the "one" income to make your retirement dreams come true, then don't pass up this money maker! Located near growing shopping center and offering owner's apartment that would also be appropriate for dental office or other service. Home consists of 11½ rooms, six and one-half for the owner, five for tenant. Every room a sparkler and offering many items not too often found in other apartment houses, such as a fireplace and home type atmosphere. Home is heated with hot water heat affording the owner the minimum in the heating department. Tenant's apartment is renting for $85 per month and owner's apartment would easily rent for $115. We hope we have told you enough about the home to warrant your immediate inspection! No matter how well we describe the home on paper, we could never match the actual inspection, SO PUT IT ON YOUR MUST LIST AND LET ONE OF OUR COURTEOUS SALESMEN SHOW YOU THROUGH. $18,950 with reasonable terms.

Tulsa Ad Gets Results From 200 Miles Away

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A gold bracelet was lost in Tulsa by Mrs. C. C. Rogers who gave up hope of having it returned, but she advertised in a newspaper anyway.

★ ★ ★

Three days later she received a telephone call from a town 200 miles away. The caller told her she had read of its loss in the Tulsa paper.

Star Plays Nun on Steel Hour

Makes Rare Television Appearance Over CBS Wednesday Night

Helen Hayes, first lady of the American theater, will make one of her rare television appearances Wednesday, Dec. 17 when she stars in "The United States Steel Hour" presentation of "One Red Rose for Christmas" (CBS television network 10:00 to 11:00 p.m.). The play will be shown on tape in order to permit Miss Hayes to appear, simultaneously, on Broadway in Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet."

Adapted for television by Leonard Moran from the novelette by Paul Horgan, "One Red Rose for Christmas" features Ruth White, Ruth McDevitt, Joseph Sweeney, Patty Duke and Brook Seawell. Tom Donovan directs.

In this sensitive and deeply moving drama, Miss Hayes plays the role of Reverend Mother Seraphim, director of a Catholic home for little girls. A woman of practical intelligence and perseverance, she has nevertheless grown cold to the children because of the burden of her administrative duties.

When shortly before the Christmas holidays Kathy (Patty Duke), an impulsive and strange little girl, accidentally starts a fire which destroys a portion of the home and indirectly causes the death of one of the nuns, Mother Seraphim is faced with a severe test as she struggles to feel forgiveness.

Helen Hayes has been on the stage for more than half a century, appearing on Broadway for the first time at the age of nine, with comedian Lew Fields in the musical "Old Dutch."

She played with John Drew and William Gillette, and lent young innocence to Sir James M. Barrie's plays, "Dear Brutus" and "What Every Woman Knows." She has starred in roles of many moods — the tragic grandeur of "Mary of Scotland," the dougnty pluck of "Victoria Regina," the light comedy of "Happy Birthday." In last season's "Time Remembered," she was Jean Anouilh's mad duchess to the tip of her tilted tiara.

It was during the '20s that Miss Hayes met and married her husband, the late Charles MacArthur, who was not only a gifted playwright ("The Front Page," among others), but a gaily practical prankster. At first meeting, at a party, he offered Miss Hayes peanuts, saying "I wish they were emeralds."

Many years later, when he was with the Army in India during World War II, he sent his wife a bag of emeralds with the words — time remembered — "I wish they were peanuts."

During their courtship — she was playing in "Coquette" — there was a tiff. To make up, MacArthur milled onstage in a mob scene. Dazed by his loved one's expressions of astonishment, welcome and forgiveness, he forgot to exit with the crowd, and found himself alone with her in the flush of the footlights. The mob had to rewrite a hasty return appearance to get him off the stage.

The long run of "Coquette" ended in 1929 when Miss Hayes, expecting a child, was forced to withdraw from the play. The baby — in producer Jed Harris' famous phrase, the "act of God" that closed the play — was Mary MacArthur, who was not quite 20 when she died of polio, in 1949.

In the theater, Miss Hayes has been as active offstage as she has been onstage, or many years, she has been president of the American Theater Wing, and of the American National Theater and Academy.

Her son, James MacArthur, seems determined to establish a family tradition; he is pursuing a motion-picture acting career, undiscouraged by the presence of two Oscars in the MacArthur family (one won by his father for the screenplay of "The Scoundrel," and the other by his mother for her acting in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," a film also scripted by Charles MacArthur).

In any recital of her many accomplishments, however brief, Miss Hayes frequently seems too good to be true, which is unfortunate, and entirely the fault of her biographers. Her brilliance as an actress is apparent to all who have experienced the delight of seeing her emote.

Personally, she is a plainly magnificent human being who enjoys mouthing the harmonica, roller skating, and having her coffee in the kitchen. The record indicates that anyone who meets her falls in love.

There is no doubt that Helen Hayes is the First Lady of the American theater.

Lady Mary Montagu, a noted English authoress in 1700, refused to look at herself in a mirror for 11 years. And she was a beauty.

Male Bardot Reveals Secret of His Success

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Gene Barry, the male Brigitte Bardot, had all the lasses leering at him—and I was amazed, for I knew him before his sex appeal had been discovered.

WILSON

"Didn't Mae West teach you to love?" I asked the handsome star of the "Bat Masterson" TV show.

I remembered him playing Mae's leading man in "Catherine Was Great" about 15 years ago . . . dimly I could see him singing at "Mother Kelly's" and at the old Lord Tarleton in Miami Beach . . . getting a job as Milton Berle's TV straight man . . . all on the way up.

'Old Mae taught me!" he laughed. "Old Mae didn't have to teach me. I was 21—she was 57—old enough to be my grandmother. A man just looks at a woman and treats her as a woman, that's all. My wife, whom you might meet, if she ever gets here, could tell you . . ."

His wife, Betty, known as Julie Carlson when she was acting, sure enough arrived.

"She always walks onto a set when I'm doing a love scene," he said.

"Sure," smiled Betty, "with these pretty little cherubic 18-year-old girls in his arms during the day, I'd better be there to go home with him at night."

"She's been a wonderful partner." He patted her hand. "She never once told me to go out and get a better job."

"Yes, but to this day, I can't eat hamburger," she winced.

Need 4-Cent Stamp on Foreign Cards

Acting Postmaster Robert C. Miller today warned residents to remember to put four cents postage on all Christmas cards, sealed or unsealed, which are being sent to any foreign country, including Canada.

Miller said the Pontiac office has received "bags full of mail" containing cards lacking one cents worth of postage because residents have the misunderstanding that unsealed cards, especially to Canada, only require a three-cent stamp.

Cards lacking sufficient postage but having the sender's return address will be returned to the sender. Those without return addresses cannot be forwarded and must be destroyed, he explained.

U.S. Envoy Car Stoned in Iraq

Movements of Rountree in Baghdad Kept Secret After Mob Incident

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI)—American officials today clamped a secrecy ban on the Baghdad movements of Assistant Secretary of State William C. Rountree to forestall mob demonstrations against him.

Rountree, touring the Middle East on a fact-finding mission, was whisked to safety unharmed yesterday when a mob stoned his automobile and shattered the windshield. No one was hurt.

(Reports reachinng other mideast capitals from Baghdad said an extremely tense situation existed in Iraq and that a Communist attempt to take over the government could be expected at any time.)

The attack on Rountree occurred as he was returning from a courtesy call at the palace of the soveriegnty council to the U.S. embassy four miles away. A stone shattered the windshield on the driver's side of the car but did not go through it.

Rountree's car also was stoned when he left the airport on his arrival here from Cairo. Demonstrations flared in the Baghdad streets soon afterward with demonstrators shouting "Rountree Go Home." They also carried placards reading: "Don't Soil Our Land, You Courier of Conspiracies."

Stealing of Deer Lands 2 in Jail for Christmas

A Pontiac boy and his Orion Township friend will spend Christmas in the Oakland County Jail because they stole a deer from a parked car in Pontiac.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer yesterday sentenced Jerry L. McKee, 18, of 198 W. Walton Blvd., to six months in jail, and Charles R. Edson, 20, of 3524 Waldon Rd., Orion Township, to four months. Both jail sentences are part of three years probation the judge ordered. The youths also were ordered to pay $100 court costs.

McKee and Edson pleaded guilty Dec. 1 to stealing a four-point buck deer from the trunk of a car parked in front of 223 Parkdale Ave.

New York Paper Strike Negotiations Bog Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators, deadlocked in disagreement, try again today to end the continuing shutdown of nine major New York daily newspapers.

Joseph F. Finnegan, top national mediator, meets again with the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union and the Publishers Assn. of New York City against a backdrop of pessimism and mounting losses on both sides.

The publishers association said after Monday's talks: "There was no effort on the part of the union to come back to the bargaining table as an alternative to shutting down the press of the world's greatest metropolitan area."

About 116,000,000 of the nation's population have some form of health insurance.

Q. I just moved to town and in the process broke my glasses. I have the pieces of glass. Is that enough to make a new pair of lenses, or will I have to get in touch with my optometrist in the other city?

A. If you have a piece the size of your fingernail, then the power can be determined. However, if your glasses are over a year old, it might be a good idea to have your eyes examined first before the glasses are fixed.

Q. How long does it take to put a pair of contact lenses in the eye?

A. The average person can sterilize, clean, and insert his contact lenses in about twenty seconds. So actually you wouldn't have to get out of bed too early.

Q. Sometimes my son will complain of headaches and sometimes he tells me of blurry vision but other times he has no troubles. How can I tell if he needs glasses?

A. The most sincere parents cannot take the place of a professional eye examination. Often the things you describe are due to growing up; however it could be his eyes. See your family optometrist and find out for sure.

Medical Care for Aged Is Hot Issue

Doctors, Unions Disagree

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Two experts in the art of influencing congressional legislation have again squared off for a fight before Congress next year on a plan to add a medical care program for the aged to the Social Security system.

The two—the American Medical Assn. and the AFL-CIO—exchanged fight blows this year over the plan when it came before the House Ways and Means Committee for consideration.

At issue is a legislative proposal, introduced in the House late in 1957 zy Rep. Aimee Forand (R-RI).

Under it, a health insurance plan would be added to Social Security and would cover the cost of certain hospital, nursing home and surgical services for persons receiving old-age disability and survivors payments and for persons still working who would be eligible for payments if they stopped working.

To pay the cost of the plan, persons covered by the Social Security system would have their wages taxed in the same fashion that wages are now taxed to provide other Social Security benefits.

Almost immediately after Forand proposed the legislation, the AFL-CIO gave it full backing.

The AMA followed shortly with a bitter attack on the proposal. The president of the AMA in a personal letter to the AMA's nearly 200,000 members, said the plan could bankrupt the entire Social Security program and would eventually destroy private health insurance.

Thus, the fighting lines were drawn quickly.

In mid-1958, the House Ways and Means Committee held hearings on changes in the Social Security system, including Forand's proposal.

The AMA officials appearing before the committee called the Forand proposal "unwise, unnecessary and not in the public interest."

They said the members of the profession look with suspicion and fear upon legislation such as the Medical Care Plan. And, they said, it would stifle and destroy the energetic and imaginative free-enterprise medical programs now in progress.

The AFL-CIO praised Forand's proposal because "only a minority of persons aged 65 and over have any health insurance protection today. We are sure that the commercial (insurance) companies would by now have developed new programs for the aged if they could or were going to."

Despite the talk, no proposal was referred to the House of Representatives for consideration by the Ways and Means Committee. But, it did say it was very much aware of the problems faced by the aged in paying for hospital services and nursing home services.

And, it asked the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to conduct a study of medical plans for the aged and to report the results before Feb. 1 next year.

The Welfare Department is now making the study, but no public announcement has been made of any early findings.

It's a cinch that as soon as the report is given to the committee and is made public the AFL-CIO and the AMA will begin hammering at anything the Welfare Department says with which they disagree.

Whether anything in the ways of legislation will result next year from the activity, no one can say. It's unlikely that anything will result before mid-year since Congress will be busy with a loaded schedule until then.
