City Teamster Probe Still On

14 Members Claim to Senate Investigators Union Dues Mishandled

The controversial affairs of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 are still "under consideration" by the Senate committee investigating irregularities in the labor-management field, it was learned today.

In March, a Detroit attorney, Louis W. Snyder, representing a 14-member group of local Teamsters, asked that a probe be made here.

The members sought an investigation into more than one million dollars in union dues they said were misused under the trusteeship reign of James R. Hoffa.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel for the Senate committee, has confirmed that "the matter is under consideration by the committee."

With the Washington spotlight likely to turn to Pontiac, 614 "acting president" Leaun Harrelson has insisted that his local "is the cleanest run local in the state." He said he would welcome an investigation.

2,500 at Dallas Forced to Flee Flood Danger

5,000 Also Quit Homes at Fort Worth as Rains Swell Texas Rivers

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — Some 2,500 Dallas residents have fled their flood-threatened homes, bringing the total number of evacuees in the rain plagued Dallas-Fort Worth area today to some 7,500 persons.

The Dallas residents were forced from their homes in southern portions of the the city last night as the Trinity River, rising at the rate of a foot an hour, mounted to 12 feet above its 40-foot flood stage.

Fort Worth authorities reported that the west fork of the Trinity continued to rise "inch by inch."

An estimated 5,000 persons have been forced to evacuate their homes in Fort Worth since Friday as heavy rains swelled the river.

More than 30 resorts along Lake Texoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border were under water and Oklahoma highway workers fought to save U.S. 70 from being destroyed by the lashing lake waters.

In eastern Oklahoma, a major flood crest of the Arkansas River was recorded at Muskogee. Flooding also occured in Northern Arkansas and Southern Missouri.

CLOSE DAM GATES

Flood precautions were taken at Mansfield Dam, 22 miles north of Austin, Tex., where three dam gates were closed to prevent spilling of the Colorado River along its route to the Gulf of Mexico.

Still most seriously hit by rampaging waters were Fort Worth and Dallas.

Many Dallas streets were closed and thousands of pieces of furniture were piled into Fort Worth's stock show arena as families left from their homes in low-lying areas.

Severe flooding was slated south of Dallas later in the week.

Officials in Fort Worth said that although the current flooding is not comparable to floods in 1949 in which serval persons lost their lives, "a larger area would be affected" as heavy rains continue to beset the region.

$25 Million Socked on Smokers, Drinkers

Approve New State Taxes

LANSING (AP) — Michigan legislators returned to hometown pursuits today after socking 25 million dollars in new taxes on smokers and drinkers, and embarking on a deficit spending course.

In a five months session that ended boisterously Saturday night, they appropriated $340,943,822 in state general funds to finance state government activities in the fiscal year starting July 1.

This was about five million dollars above general fund revenues anticipated by Gov. Williams, and 10 or more millions beyond those foreseen by some legislative financial experts.

The new taxes, earmarked for schools, were a four per cent excise levy on whisky, figured to bring in $7,400,000 a year, and a two cents a pack increase in the state cigarette tax.

5 CENTS A PACK

The cigarette provision, raising the state bite to five cents a package, is counted on for $17,500,000 a year.

Although all their important work is done, the lawmakers are subject to recall June 27-28 to act on vetoes and adjourn sine die.

Riot-Torn Haiti Installs New Pro-U. S. President

PORT AU PRINCE (AP)—Crisis-ridden Haiti had a new provisional president today, but tension still gripped the capital.

Armed police watched for any renewal of violence which killed or wounded scores over the weekend.

Daniel Fignole, 43-year-old mathematics professor and idol of Haiti's workers, was sworn in yesterday as some of the clashing elements temporarily set aside their differences in an attempt to avert all-out civil war.

DANIEL FIGNOLE

One of Fignole's first acts was to accept the resignation of Brig. Gen. Leon Cantave, army chief who had tried to rule the restive Negro republic since last Tuesday. Col. Antonio Kebreau, commander of the Southern Military District, was named to Cantave's post.

Cantave and Haiti's police chief, Col. Pierre Armand, who had threatened civil war in a bid to take over the army command, both stood at Fignole's side as he took the oath.

About 10,000 workers and peasants, massed around the presidential palace, went wild with joy when the inauguration took place. Some rolled in the streets. Others fired shots in the air.

Vigilantes armed with clubs and stones still ranged the streets, however, halting automobiles in search of arms.

About 200 Americans trapped in town by the latest crisis sought vainly to get out of Haiti. All airline service to and from the republic was still shut down.

It was impossible to establish just how many were killed or in-

Balmy Weather Due to Follow Showers

The weather man has predicted a few showers for today, but tonight is expected to be fair and rather cool with a low near 46.

Tomorrow will be warmer with a high near 70 degrees.

The outlook for Wednesday is fair, with little change in temperature.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 50. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 52.

Another Postal Cut?

Link Youth, 13, to Knife Attacks

Boy Who Stabbed Wife of Detroit Doctor Admits Slashing Girl, 17

DETROIT (INS) — A star high school athlete and honor student was to undergo further questioning by Detroit police today after the youth admitted stabbing a doctor's wife and a 17-year-old girl.

Police said they have also linked 13-year-old Robert Klucha to knife attacks on three other women.

ADMITS STABBINGS

According to detectives, young Klucha admitted stabbing Mrs. Bredau, 35, mother of three and wife of Dr. Frank N. Bredau Jr., senior resident surgeon at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Bredau was reported in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Mercy with a knife wound that collapsed her left lung.

ATTACKS GIRL

The boy, a husky, handsome lad also admitted stabbing Mary Saputo, 17, of Detroit. After this attack on Feb. 2, Robert left the girl helpless and seriously wounded in the street near 5990 Dickerson.

Detective Charles M. Vandenstockt of the youth bureau said there was evidence that Robert, a "model" youth, was linked to attacks on three other women. Two of the victims, he said, "tentatively, positively," identified Robert as their assailant.

Vandenstockt identified the attack victims as Eva M. Kushner, 25, and Helen Harbart, 21. Police were unable to locate the other victim, 24-year-old Lorrane Moilanen.

Highway Toll Hits 20 in State; 5 Others Drown

Tot Fatally Hurt in City; Two Rochester Children Die in Georgia

Six Oakland County residents, including a 25-month-old boy in Pontiac, were killed in weekend traffic accidents.

Michigan recorded 16 other traffic fatalities, and five persons drowned, as winter-weary residents turned to the highways and parks in large numbers.

Dead are:

Albert Byron Bigelow Sr., 49, of 858 Oakland Ave.

Bennie Thomas Powell Jr. 25 months, 74 Close St.

Robert D. Meyer, 23, of 2600 Pine Lake Rd., Orchard Lake.

George Harold Feldmann, 22, of 8258 Arlis St., Walled Lake.

Kay Judith Van Saw, of 4970 Winkler Mill Rd., Rochester.

Gary Thomas Van Saw, 18, same address.

Bigelow was killed when his car collided headon with a wrecker on M-59 about 100 feet east of Woodstock avenue, Waterford Township, at about 5:40 p.m. Saturday.

Anthony Grassi, 39, of 27 Edna St., the driver of the wrecker, said the front wheel brakes locked causing the truck to pull out over the center line.

Also injured in Bigelow's car were: Rose Marie Bigelow, 23; Margaret Bigelow, 1½; and Rose Marie Bigelow, 2½; all of Grand Rapids. They are at Pontiac General Hospital in satisfactory condition.

Bigelow was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Bennie Powell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie E. Powell, died early this morning at Pontiac General Hospital, twelve hours after he was struck by an auto in front of his home.

Driver Richard L. Beamer, 28, of 68 Florence St., told police he saw the child standing on the curb. The boy started across the street, he said.

He was the first Pontiac traffic fatality in seven months.

Meyer was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after his car struck a tree on W. Long Lake Road near Shallowbrook road, in Bloomfield Township, shorly before 9 p.m. Saturday.

Witness said he attempted to pass a car, then lost control of his car, hitting the tree.

Feldman was killed when his car skidded and hit another headon on Union Lake road at

Williams in Washington

WASHINGTON (INS) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams arrived in Washington today reportedly to urge Army Secretary Wilber Brucker to award the contract to build M48 tanks to the Chrysler Tank Arsenal in Detroit.

One report said the tanks may be built in Delaware. The governor said he could see politics behind this move. Williams said the contract would mean jobs for the next two years for about 1,200 or 1,500 Detroiters.

Killer Aims to Carve New Notch in His Six-Shooter . . . by Wayne D. Overholser

Gunlock — An Action-Packed Western Novel

Chapter I

I saw Joe Pardee die. It was like . . . But how can I tell what it was like? No man can tell how it would be if a great mountain disappeared within a few seconds, or if the sun that was in the sky one minute was not there the next. Joe had been that kind of man to me as long as I'd known him. I remember that last morning well, even little details that are not important.

When I left the bunkhouse, the sun was just coming up over the Cedar Hills to the east, the sky as blue as I had ever seen it. I washed in the cold water flowing out of the pipe into the horse trough, so cold that, even in early September, it shocked me awake.

I ran a wet hand through my hair, looked at the dark shadows that clung to the Cedar Hills, and then, turning, stared across Easter Valley to the Sangre de Cristo range that pricked the sky with granite peaks.

I was still standing there when Gene Dillingham, Joe's other rider, came out of the bunkhouse. He said, "Dreaming again, Will?"

"Guess so," I said.

He sloshed water on his face, shook his head, and muttered, "Must be ice in that spring." Then he looked at me. He had been on the Box P longer than I had. He was thirty-five, a big man who could ride anything and who had more cow savvy than anyone else I knew, virtues which were balanced by a sullen disposition and a mulish stubbornness that made him hard to get along with.

He and I both idolized Joe, but that was about all we had in common. He hated Joe's wife, Sarah, and claimed she was a drag on him because she was confined to a wheel chair by a back injury from a riding accident. It was a stupid reason for hating her, because nothing could be a drag on Joe. He did what he had to do regardless of anyone else's opinion or feelings, even his wife's.

Gene stared at me for a long moment, then wiped a sleeve across his face. "Good day for dying," he said, and swung around and strode toward the kitchen.

I followed him, thinking how like him those words were. It pleased him to see men die in front of Joe Pardee's gun. There had been many, right back to the year Joe had built a cabin on the East Fork of Easter Creek and started the Box P.

Today it would be another man, a young fellow named Al Beam. Maybe Beam hoped to cut a new notch on his gun; or maybe he had been hired by that raggle-taggle bunch of farmers camped in the cottonwood grove just above Carlton.

Joe was already seated at the table when Gene and I pulled back our chairs and sat down. He nodded and we nodded back, and he kept on eating. Maria, the Pardees' Mexican housekeeper, brought the coffeepot and filled our cups, plodded back to the stove, and returned with a platter of bacon and flapjacks.

A moment later Dogbone, the Ute kid who did the chores, slipped in and sat down and began to eat. He was eighteen, squat, heavy-featured and greasy-faced. He'd worked here since he was fourteen, and he had developed the same blind devotion to Sarah that Dillingham had for Joe.

Sarah did not come to the table for breakfast. She seldom did, although she had made a habit of eating supper with us. I thought she would be here this morning because she knew about Al Beam.

When we were done, Joe rose and wiped the back of a hand across his mouth.

"Saddle up for me, Dogbone," he said. "Wait a minute, Will."

The boy went out with Willingham. I waited, looking at Joe. He was forty-one last birthday, taller even than Gene Dillingham, but not as heavy. With his long bones, long muscles, and thin, dark face, Joe Pardee had been born with a perpetual-motion motor inside that kept driving him from sunup to sundown. It was his gun that had kept Easter Valley open range for the dozen ranches that were here. He never asked for advice; he never listened if anyone offered it.

I think it was this hard, one-direction drive more than anything else that had widened the gap between him and Sarah until the fire of their marriage had sputtered out so that now not even a spark of love remained.

I stood there, waiting for Joe to speak.

Finally he asked, "What have you heard about this fellow Beam?"

"Nothing," I said. "He's just a drifter, I guess.

"Saddle up," he said abruptly, and swung around and left the kitchen.

Sarah turned her face away as Joe stooped to kiss her. "You go ahead with this thing you're planning and I'll leave you," she had said.

As I crossed the yard to the corral, I wondered if that was what he had really meant to ask. The bright, slanted light on the Sangre de Cristos had lost the sharp tone of early sunrise. In spite of the increasing warmth, I shivered, and quickened my steps across the dusty yard.

I saddled my bay gelding and swung up. Dillingham had mounted and was waiting in front of the house. Dogbone stood there, holding the reins of Joe's horse. When I pulled up beside Dillingham, I saw Sarah in her wheel chair on the front porch.

Joe was looking down at her, completely baffled, an expression I seldom saw on his face. Suddenly it occurred to me that there was something queer about this morning, that it was like no other morning that had gone before.

I heard Sarah say very clearly: "You're destroying me, Joe. I know that doesn't make any difference to you, but you're destroying yourself, too. That should make some difference."

He laughed, that great booming laugh I had heard so many times, and said: "I'll never destroy myself, Sarah. And if you're being destroyed, it's you that's doing it, not me."

Sarah tipped her head back to look at Joe. She said: "I'm warning you. You can't go on killing men just to hold something that doesn't rightly belong to you. You go ahead with this thing you're planning, and I'll leave you."

He stooped to kiss her, but she turned her face away. He straightened and laughed again. "All right," he said. "You'd better leave. You know I've got to go on. I can't stand still and I can't go back."

He came off the porch, his face dour; crossing to his horse, he swung into the saddle. I don't think that either Joe or Sarah realized we had heard what they'd said.

We rode away at a gallop. Dogbone stood under the cottonwoods watching us, and Sarah was motionless in her chair, but Joe did not look back at either of them. Presently we slowed down to rock

Beck Decides He Won't Run

Announcement Hailed as Victory for Cleanup Forces in Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cleanup forces within the giant Teamsters Union have won a victory with Dave Beck's announcement he will not run for another term as its president.

Beck gave out word of his decision late Saturday, even as his opponents in the union leadership were setting in motion a drive aimed at forcing his ouster.

WIFE'S HEALTH

However, Beck, who has been charged by Senate rackets investigators with misusing more than $320,000 in Teamster funds, attributed his decision largely to his wife's health.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Committee hailed Beck's move as a "very progressive step toward the cleanup of conditions in the Teamsters Union." But he said Beck should have quit outright.

Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa was viewed today as probable king or kingmaker in the union if he escapes a bribery indictment unscathed.

HOLDS ALLEGIANCE

The aggressive leader of the Teamsters Midwest Conference was reliably reported to hold the allegiance of a substantial majority of the likely delegates to the union's convention in Miami next September.

The Eisenhower administration broadened its proposals for protection of labor welfare-pension funds today to cover all funds and to provide criminal penalties for stealing from them.

The broad new bill was presented to a Senate Labor subcommittee by Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

Mothers Set State Meet

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—About 300 members of the Blue Star Mothers of America, Inc., are scheduled to meet June 2 in Grand Rapids for the Michigan department's 15th convention. Mrs. Donald A. Hathaway of Big Ropids, state president, will direct the sessions. The organization, dedicated to helping hospitalized veterans, was formed at Flint in 1942 by mothers with sons in military service.

HELD IN MURDER — Ronald Marrone, right, 18-year-old sophomore at Fair Lawn, N. J., high school, leaves Boro Hall in Paramus, N. J. where he was charged with murder in the strangling of Ruth S. Zietler, pretty 15-year-old classmate, last May 17. With him is Fred C. Galda, assistant prosecutor.

Bible-Carrying Youth, 18, Held in Rape-Killing

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—An 18-year-old youth who always carries a Bible in his pocket was charged with murder yesterday in the rape-slaying of pretty Ruth Starr Zeitler.

Fred Galda, first assistant Bergen County prosecutor, said Ronald Marrone, a Fair Lawn High School sophomore, had dictated what Galda called a confession to the lovers' lane strangulation of his 15-year-old classmate.

Galda quoted the youth as repeating "I'm making this statement to God. I'm telling this to God" as he held tightly to his Bible.

Marrone read the statement carefully and signed it late last night, Galda said. He is scheduled to appear at a preliminary hearing June 7.

The youth was among more than 40 persons questioned since Ruth's semi-nude body was found in a wooden glen in Paramus last Thursday.

The girl, a pretty brunette, had left for afternoon classes at the high school May 17. She did not arrive for classes and never came home.

When her body was found, her white belt was knotted about her neck. Some of her clothing was rolled up in a ball nearby, and a wad of cleansing tissue was stuffed in her mouth.

An autopsy report said the girl had been raped.

Galda said Marrone had picked Ruth up in a car at 11:30 a. m. on the day of the murder, drove her to the deserted lovers' lane area and managed to return to classes by about 12:20 p. m.

While giving out only sketchy details on the information contained in Marrone's statement, Galda said there apparently was a struggle in the car. He said Marrone lifted the girl from the car, placed her on the ground, took her clothing from the vehicle and placed it alongside the body.

The youth then stuffed a tissue gag in the girl's mouth, Galda said.

Authorities said Marrone went to New York's Madison Square Garden on the night of the slaying to hear evangelist Billy Graham.

The dark, crew-cut youth was described as extremely devout by the Rev. William C. Brownson, pastor of the Second Reformed Church of Lodi. Brownson said the boy always carried the Bible in his pocket. Marrone was president of the young people's group of the church, a substitute Sunday school teacher and a member of the choir.

The youth is also a member of his high school's track team and has run the mile in 4:49.

The slain girl, known as Starr to her friends, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zeitler of Fair Lawn.

She will be buried in Fair Lawn today.

Galda said authorities were led to suspect Marrone because the youth did not take a customary ride in his car with another boy and girl before afternoon classes on the day of the slaying.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Is it true that hailstones sometimes get as big as oranges? What makes big hailstones and why does hail fall during a thunderstorm?

The answer to the first question is that hail does sometimes get as large as an orange, or larger. Many of the so-called tall tales one hears about big hailstones are probably closer to the truth than the listener realizes.

Hail is usually formed in thunderheads because these storm clouds contain very strong up-drafts and down-drafts. Rain droplets begin to fall, are caught by an up-draft and suddenly carried to an altitude where the temperature is below freezing. The rain droplets freeze into hail.

They fall again, picking up moisture as they reenter the rain area, but are sent aloft by another up-draft, where the moisture added since the first freeze is frozen to the center core. The process of fall and ascent is sometimes carried on several times, the hailstones growing larger with each trip upward.

The stronger the up-drafts in the thunderhead, the larger hail is likely to be, since strong winds are required to lift big hailstones. One can often break or cut "layers" of ice from core to outer shell.

Six Area Residents Killed on Highways

Citizen St., in Commerce Township.

He was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

Robert Medley Lofthouse, 31, of 1945 Sonona St., Pontiac, driver of the other car, was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital for lacerations.

A vacation trip to Florida ended in tragedy for the Rochester family, when their car collided with a truck about nine miles south of Madison, Georgia, yesterday.

Killed were Kay Judith Van Saw, 15, and her brother Gary Thomas, 18. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Van Saw, received serious injuries and are hospitalized at Athens, Ga.

Also killed in the multitude of weekend traffic accidents were Rosanne Durham, 11 of Ypsilanti; Robert Spain, 23, of Alpena; Edward W. Hanson, 15, and Wendy Smith, 5, both of Allegan; Harry N. Bishop 35, of Kalamazoo; and William Snyder, 59, of Coldwater.

Others killed in auto mishaps were: Chester Flowers, 39, of Muskegon; Wayne Joseph Demanny, 19, of Kalamazoo; Gale E. Ehlrs, 24, of Brighton; Stewart Plazier, 4, of Center Line; Ernest D. Ostrander, 36, his wife, Jean, 32, their son David, 9, and daughter Patricia 7, of Gaylord; and Richard T. Suck, of Flint.

Soloman S. Carlton, 68, of Mt. Morris, died Saturday in an accident as did Airman First Class Stanley Paprel, 21, stationed at Kinross Air Force Base at Sault Ste. Marie, and Airman Second Class Robert E. Crowder, 22, of Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda.

The five fatalities from drowning were: Richard Malott, 19, of Wayne; Richard Mannon, 21, of Bryan Ohio, who drowned in Coldwater Lake; a 22-month-old baby, Gregg R. Wilhelmsen, of Livonia; and two fishermen, Grant Taylor, 57, and Paul Cooper, 46, of Fruitport, whose bodies were recovered from Big Bay De Noc Saturday, after a 24-hour search.

Also dead from miscellaneous weekend accidents were: Sharron Koziarz, 12, of Hamtramck, who died Saturday of burns suffered Friday night when her dress caught on fire; and Mrs. Juliet Belander, 56, of Grosse Pointe, who died of injuries suffered Sunday when she tripped over toys in her living room and struck her head.

Did Boy Pull Alarm? No, Maybe Next Year

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)— Policeman Ralph Jones said he approached a group of boys to find out if any of them had turned in a false fire alarm.

He said that when he asked a 5-year-old if he had turned in the alarm, the boy replied:

"No sir. I'm too small to reach the lever. Maybe next year."

athon session ending Saturday night were a logical climax to a legislative meeting that from its start in January was destined to grapple with difficult tax spending and school aid questions.

Both were the consequence of determination by Senate Republican leaders who adopted as their No. 1 objective "hold the line" against new taxes — and in late weeks, against "major" new taxes.

TAXES LAG

As lagging sales tax receipts, the main source of finance support for schools, fell farther and farther behind, it became increasingly apparent that something would have to be done.

The edge was taken off the problem with the discovery two weeks ago that 24 million dollars in primary interest funds being held for next year could be shoved into the breach.

The taxes voted Saturday completed the solution by promising enough additional revenue, with that from existing sources, to support a 289-million-dollar aid plan for 1957-58.

Under the bill, the cash will be distributed according to a formula based on $190 a pupil and deductible millage of 2¾ for outstate districts, compared with the present 2½, and 2⅛ for Detroit.

Few of the legislature's other affirmative accomplishments stood out as important.

With Republican domination of both branches up against Democratic executive control, there was more killing of bills—mostly in the quiet of committee rooms — than there was passing of them.

GOT NOWHERE

Most of Gov. Williams' proposals got nowhere, including a corporation profits tax and a recommended 411 million dollar spending program.

The lawmakers voted themselves pensions, jumped hunting and fishing license fees two and one half million dollars and voted a $2 annual admission fee for state parks that Gov. Williams was expected to veto.

On the other hand, proposals were killed for a rise in the state sales tax, a corporation profits tax, minimum salaries for teachers, a $1.25 minimum wage law, county sale of automobile license plates and compulsory safety inspection of motor vehicles.

In the late session, some House members had time on their hands and nowhere to go.

Bored and tired they turned to other pursuits.

Some read, some slept with their heads on their desks and some played cards in adjoining committee rooms.

Rep. Homer Arnett, freshman Republican from Kalamazoo, led his wife, a former music teacher, to the piano at the front of the chamber.

LAWMAKERS SING

While she played, lawmakers joined in singing old standbys like "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Rep. Walter Nakkula (R-Gladwin), a former professional entertainer, lent his hearty baritone to the singing, then sat down to play honky-tonk duets with Mrs. Arnett.

Visitors in the gallery applauded.

At 7 p.m., big boxes of hamburgers were brought in. They disappeared in a flash.

It was nearly three hours later when Van Peursem called the House to order.

VOTE IN TAX

To the relief of the Republican leadership, all but Reps. George W. Sallade of Ann Arbor and Willard I. Bowerman of Lansing of the GOP insurgents went along with the majority and voted in the liquor and cigarette tax.

The action broke the logjam and the House moved on to a speedy adjournment. A happy cheer went up, and a firecracker or two popped in the capitol rotunda when Van Peursem slammed down his gavel at 11:30 p.m. to signal adjournment.

Members shook hands, wished each other well and headed for their cars in the capitol parking lot.

It had been a long day.

House GOP Leaders Plan Drive to Restore $300 Million of Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders agreed today to try to restore to the 1958 defense appropriation bill about 300 million dollars of the 2½ billion cut out by the Appropriations Committee.

The party's 30-member steering committee agreed to support amendments to spread the extra money through all three branches of the armed services.

The 300 million dollars represents about a fourth of the $1,200,000,000 which the President said ought to be put back in the bill in the interest of security.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican leader and chairman of the Policy Committee, said there was some sentiment for trying to restore more than 300 million dollars and some for seeking to put back less than that amount.

He said he expected most Republicans to support the amendments but added that some Democratic votes would be needed.

The amendments will be offered when the House starts considering the money allotments in the 33½-billion-dollar defense appropriation bill tomorrow. It debated the bill last Friday and set aside today's session for more discussion.

New Leader Heads Crisis-Ridden Haiti

jured over the weekend, when mobs ranged the streets storming the homes of presidential candidates and hurling rocks at passers-by.

After taking the oath, Fignole issued a proclamation promising quick "free and honest" elections. He assailed dictatorships and promised to restore law and order and preserve good relations with the United States.

PLANS ELECTIONS

At a news conference, he said he was forming a cabinet to work out means of re-establishing order and that every political candidate would have all rights protected in the election scheduled for June 16.

Fignole's appointment was agreed on by five groups—his own supporters, Cantave, Armand and two other of the 10 presidential candidates—Dr. Francois DuValier and Clement Jumelle.

Observers believe Fignole would win hands down in any honest popular vote. His hold on color-conscious Haiti's dark-skinned workers and peasants have given him a strong edge over his closest opponent, Dr. Louis Dejoie, wealthy planter and industrialist. Dejoie is a mulatto.

Fignole heads the fifth provisional regime to try to govern since last December, when strong man Paul E. Magloire was ousted for trying to prolong his term.

'Ferdinand the Bull' Creator Dies at 65

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — Robert Lawson, 65, prominent illustrator and artist and creator of the book, "Ferdinand the Bull," died of a heart attack last night at his home.

He was the holder of the Caldecott Medal for the most distinguished picture book of the year—1941—for children, and the Newberry Medal, received the same year, for the most distinguished writing.

Lawson, a native of New York, had been a resident of Westport for 35 years.

Golden Gate Is 20

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco today observed the 20th anniversary of one of its most important assets—the Golden Gate Bridge. Stretching 4,200 feet from tower to tower, the world's longest and highest single suspension bridge, has been crossed by more than 165 million vehicles since May 27, 1937.

The Day in Birmingham

Commissioners Expect Another Short Meeting

BIRMINGHAM — From all appearance another short meeting, the third in a row, may be in store for commissioners tonight. Leading item on the agenda is the approval of the special assessment district for the East Maple paving and a continuation of the hearing on vacating a section of Buckingham between the railroad tracks and Eton road.

Several communications and requests will include the Theodore H. Guething request replacement of a section of sewer and the John Chiera Co. regarding replatting of a part of the Indian Village subdivision.

Members of Birmingham Hi-12 Club will leave the Community House by bus at 6:30 p.m. tonight to hold its regular meeting at Camp Oakland.

The 14th annual convention of the National MOMS of America held at Cleveland last week saw a number of Oakland County residents elected to office. Headed by President Alta Scantland of Auburn Heights, the list also includes Mrs. Marjorie Estes of Birmingham, third vice-president and Mrs. Gertrude Cunningham, Birmingham, chaplain.

The group went on record as favoring the military budget as it stands with no cutback. Telegrams were sent voicing their desire to continue a full defense program "in order that we as a nation may remain strong and thus help deter threats of future wars."

The group pointed out that past history has proved the anger of military and defense cutbacks. They said the cost of lives and money in the past should be proof enough that cutbacks are undesireable and dangerous.

Birmingham police are investigating the breaking and entering at the home of the Rev. Harry O. Martin D. D. on Pleasant street over the weekend. The Martin family is on vacation.

Det. Lt. Merlin Holmquist said the method is similar to an entry into the Methodist Church sometime ago in that candles were used to light the way around the building. He added that two other homes and the Presbyterian Church had been entered recently, and expressed the belief that it is the work of juveniles.

OSCAR PERRINE NOE

A Detroiter, Oscar Perrine Noe, 62, died Saturday in Ontario.

He was a member of the Methodist Church of Detroit. He is survived by his wife Anna, two daughters Mrs. Doris Gonzales of Mexico City, Mrs. Beverly Nose of Japan and a son of Pontiac. Services will be at 1 p.m. tomorrow from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home with burial in White Chapel Cemetery.

ROBERT D. MEYER

Services will be tomorrow at 1 p.m. from Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. for Robert D. Meyer, 23, killed Saturday in an automobile accident on W. Long Lake road.

He was employed at the main office of the Community National Bank of Pontiac.

He was a member of the Episcopal Church of the Advent at Pine Lake. He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Meyer of 2600 Pine Lake Rd. and one brother William. The family requests donations to the Pine Lake Church Building Fund. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery Detroit.

Court to Consider Switch Yard Suit

A move to block the proposed $700,000 Grand Trunk switch yard in the north side of Pontiac was scheduled for airing today in Circuit Court.

The city and the railroad were to show cause before Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick why a temporary injunction preventing construction of the yard should not be issued.

The hearing is on a suit brought by a group of nine residents living in the vicinity of the proposed location near West Walton boulevard and Baldwin avenue.

The residents charge the yard would violate zoning, and be a nuisance to the neighborhood and a danger to school children. They want the city to be refrained from issuing a building permit.

Man, 64, Found Dead on Floor of Local Motel

Pontiac police report Frank Ranger, 64, of 22469 Maple Rd., Farmington, was found dead on the floor of the Park-Inn Motel, 973 Orchard Lake Ave., at 7 p.m. yesterday.

Ranger was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where it was determined he died of poisoning.

Detective Herbert C. Cooley reports he found a six-ounce bottle of garden spray in the motel room.

Americans Still Uneasy in Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Uneasiness persisted in Taipei's American colony today despite outward appearance of calm.

Normal life was shattered in the wake of Friday's anti-American riots. Many persons feared that only the continued presence of Nationalist troops prevented a fresh outbreak.

In addition to Taipei, four other Formosan cities where Americans live have now been put under martial law. They are Taichung, Tainan, Chiai and the port city of Kaohsiung.

The English-language China News condemned the riots as uncivilized and disgraceful to the Chinese people. But other Formosan newspapers continued to urge the Nationalist government to press for an agreement giving it jurisdiction over criminal offenses committed in off-duty hours by U. S. military personnel.

Americans hesitated to drive their cars, fearing an angry mob might materialize if they were involved in an accident.

The U. S. commissary and post exchange were reopened. But they had few customers, although Monday is usually a busy day.

Vice Adm. Stuart H. Ingersoll, commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet, broadcast a caution to the American colony.

"It is hoped that American military personnel will have the good sense not to go on sightseeing trips," he said. "The few restrictions still remaining on social activities and the use of cars after dark will be removed as soon as possible. You can help to bring this about by using good judgment and common sense in the meantime."

Boy, 3, Boards Airplane When Coast Is Clear

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Three-year-old Stevie Bradford of Evansville, Ind., decided he liked the looks of the Eastern Airlines passenger plane at the airport.

So, while his father Richard Bradford was visiting friends at a nearby flying service, Stevie calmly boarded the plane.

The big craft had taxied down the runway before the stewardess noticed Stevie was unattached to parents or friends. She notified the pilot, and the plane did an about-face and returned Stevie to his dad.

Girl, 8, Learns Obvious: Turtles Beat Rabbits

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP)—Linda Gill, an 8-year-old racing enthusiast, pitted Blackie, a turtle, against Hoppy Hop, a big gray rabbit, owned by Miss Gill's cousin Joan Roberts, 10.

Hoppy Hop hopped most of the way along a 10-foot course, then sat down and watched as Blackie inched across the finish line.

NEW APPETITE CONTROL TABLET FOR EASIER, FASTER REDUCING

Clinically tested and used by doctors with remarkable results on many patients in treatment of obesity. Works automatically to depress appetite. Lose weight you want to take off—safely, rapidly, more comfortably. Get positive results or money refunded.

Yes, now you can take off pound after pound of unwanted fat simply by taking a tiny TRIMET tablet that depresses your appetite so that you eat less. And you can do it without the physical and mental torture that otherwise accompanies cutting down on food.

Doctors who have tested the appetite control drug contained in these tablets report obese patients lost substantial amounts of weight — 10, 20, 30, even up to 40 pounds. And because of the convincing medical evidence we dare to make this ironclad guarantee:

You decide how much weight you want to lose. Then take TRIMET tablets as directed. They must produce the results you desire or YOU PAY NOTHING!

How Trimet Helps You Lose Weight Faster, Easier than Any Reducing Aid You've Ever Tried

Your doctor will tell you there is only one sure way to reduce and that is to limit your calorie intake. In plain English: eat less. Nobody has to tell you that takes a lot of will power if you find it hard to resist sweets, butter, gravy, rich desserts and other high calorie foods.

You've probably tried so-called reducing capsules, bulk producing pills, fad diets, exercise — in fact anything that promised to take off those unwanted pounds. As you know from sad experience, they did little or nothing for you.

Now here at long last, is a reducing aid that will really work for you — TRIMET, a tablet that attacks your problem according to a basic physiological principle essential to safe, rapid, effective reducing — APPETITE CONTROL.

TRIMET tablets contain no bulk producing ingredients, nothing to irritate your stomach, nothing to upset your normal routine of living. They do just one thing: control your appetite.

You take one tiny tablet — smaller than an aspirin — a half hour before meals. At mealtime, while you enjoy every mouthful, you quickly notice that your appetite does not seem to be so ravenous. Without hardly realizing it, you stop eating before you have consumed your usual quantity.

Within a short time, you'll discover that TRIMET makes it easier to cut down on fattening foods. You'll feel better, work better, sleep better while losing weight. And as you see the astonishing results day after day, you'll enjoy a renewed zest for life.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

This is it! A safe appetite depressant for overweight people who have despaired of ever finding anything that could help them reduce. We can't blame you for being a bit skeptical after so many past failures. But do give yourself one more opportunity. Start taking TRIMET tablets today. Let results convince you this is the product you have always dreamed about.

TRIMET must do more for you than any reducing aid you've ever used. You must agree TRIMET is the easiest, fastest, most effective appetite depressant you've ever tested, or you may return the unused portion and get a full refund.

MEDICAL PROOF!

Doctors prescribed the basic appetite control drug found in Trimet in varying doses for their obese patients. A few typical case histories as reported in medical journals:

Miss K. P. — Treated by other drugs and placed on a 1500 calorie diet. Complained of appetite and was switched to Phenylpropanolamine (the basic drug in Trimet). Four days after she had

Lost 8½ pounds

Mrs. R. S. — Weighed 178 lbs. on Jan. 4. Placed on 1600 calorie diet and treated with Thyroid and Pituiturin. On Jan. 23 complained of severe appetite. Switched to Phenylpropanolamine. Jan. 29 reported no appetite and weight as being 161 lbs.

Lost 17 pounds

Mrs. J. B. — Stated: "I have enormous appetite, eat all the time". Advised to take Phenolpropanolamine 20 minutes before each meal. No diet was prescribed. Started treatment April 12 and by June 23 had

Lost 20 pounds

These medical results prove that you, too, can lose weight safely, more easily, thanks to the appetite depressant effectiveness of TRIMET Tablets.

Racial Trial Begins in Southern Court

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Trial of two young white men charged with dynamiting Negro churches in a wave of terrorism last January opens today in Circuit Court.

Police said the bombings, part of a series of seven, and six shootings at city buses were intended to intimidate Negroes. They followed racial integration of city buses Dec. 21 on federal court order.

Velkoff, who teaches at Bloomfield Hills High School, was selected from more than 250 applicants. The institute will emphasize courses in chemistry, mathematics and physics.

Housekeeping's easier with a kitchen phone

Especially when you need to keep an eye on active youngsters and on the stove, too.

Today's efficient housewife knows that one phone in the house just isn't enough. Dashing from one end of the house to the other when you hear the phone ring is as outdated as the scrubbing board.

You can add telephones for your kitchen, bedside or basement for only about a dollar a month each, plus a nominal one-time-only charge for installation and color.

Select additional phones from eight smart decorator colors to blend or contrast with any room in your home. Egyptian Blue, Bermuda Beige, Persian Brown, French Ivory, Georgian Gray, Roman Red, Aztec Yellow and Venetian Green.

LIFE-GARD FLOATS

Life-Gard is a versatile fishing craft that can be set afloat easily and quickly in any stream or lake not accessible by boat . . . yet, when day is done, can be used as a super-soft air mattress for sleeping!

Now, for the first time, Life-Gard gives you a soft, low pressure float that still remains as rigid in water that it can hold a 250-pound load at the center without doubling up at the ends!

With the new Life-Gard float you can swim 8 to 10 feet at a stroke, or dive flat for an gliding ride of 30 to 40 feet. Swim for miles with no effort whatsoever!

You can tow your Life-Gard float behind a speed boat at 20 m.p.h., using a ski tow rope. Life-Gard offers you the thrill of your life the first time you use it . . . absolutely no skill required!

IT'S HERE! Introduced for the first time in the Pontiac area . . . the only rigid, low pressure float on the market! Life-Gard offers a brand new concept in high buoyancy, lightweight floats . . . and new thrills in swim-fun!

A full eight feet long . . . it's the perfect beach companion for youngsters and grownups alike! So soft you can sleep on it as an air mattress, yet so revolutionary in design that a 200 pound man can stand in the center and the Life-Gard will still remain flat on the water!

And, so important, too . . . Life-Gard is the safest thing afloat! Constructed with three individual buoyancy compartments, it cradles your body so perfectly that even in rough water a 40-degree tilt will not spill you out! So lightweight and soft that you eliminate all possibility of injury present in old fashioned wooden paddle boards. Guaranteed against weld separation, and permanently repairable.

Slurs Retracted by TV Network

ABC 'Regrets' Words by Gambler Against Los Angeles Officials

NEW YORK (AP)—TV interviewer Mike Wallace and the ABC network retracted statements that exgangster Mickey Cohen recently tossed at the Los Angeles police chief and others.

The gangster turned florist appeared on the Mike Wallace Interview May 19.

Last night Oliver Treyz, vice president in charge of ABC's television programs, went on the Wallace show and said the Cohen appearance created "something most unfortunate, unexpected and profoundly regrettable."

He said that because of the spontaneous nature of the show, the network has no "advance knowledge of what actually will be said during the program."

"Leonard Goldenson, our president," continued Treyz, "joins me most earnestly in stating that the American Broadcasting Co. retracts and withdraws in full all statements made . . . concerning the Los Angeles city government, and specifically Police Chief William H. Parker, Capt. James Hamilton of the department intelligence squad, former Mayor Fletcher Bowron and former Police Chief Clarence B. Horrall."

Wallace followed Treyz and said he "sincerely" joined in the statement.

Treyz said Cohen's remarks "in no way represented" the network's attitudes or beliefs. He said ABC "deeply regrets the wholly unjustified statements" made by Cohen.

The network said the program sponsor also joined in the retraction statement.

But Cohen scornfully spurned the retraction.

"Any retractions made by those spineless persons in regard to the television show I appeared on with Mike Wallace on ABC network does not go for me," said Cohen.

Seeks Item Veto Over Money Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of President Eisenhower's top fiscal officers set out today on a rugged assignment: Trying to persuade Congress to strengthen the President's veto power over money bills.

Like many presidents before him, Eisenhower wants authority to veto selected items in an appropriation bill without rejecting the whole bill.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Percival F. Brundage were designated to present the administration's case to a House Judiciary subcommittee considering a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize the item veto.

City Jaycees to Install Newly-Elected Officers

Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce members will gather tonight at the Rotunda Inn for the installation of their newly-elected officers and board of directors.

Our Life Depends Upon Our Good Soil

Of greater necessity in the Pontiac area than in most sections of our nation is some serious reflection on the preservation of the fertility of our soil.

This week has been designated by national farm organizations as Soil Stewardship Week. While of particular interest to rural residents, it also is dedicated as a period for city dwellers to ponder a little on the source of their living.

Much of the farm land in Oakland and surrounding counties has been under cultivation for 125 years or more. The average for the entire nation is 75 years. In much of our great western expanses it is less than 50 years.

Furthermore, during at least one-half of that 125 years the farmers of this area paid little attention to the renewal of the fertility they were sapping from our soil. They did not realize they were wearing it out.

Consequently, the continued and intensive cropping bled away the fertility in those few precious top inches that had been deposited there by rotting leaf mold and otherwise during the thousands of years since the glaciers brought down our subsoil and gullied out our lakes.

They also learned that a mixture of the rich black soil and marl deposits around our lakes with the weakened soil in the long cultivated fields would restore their vigor and productivity.

Crop rotation and the feeding of the soil by plowing under heavy leaf crops has made that soil return many fold its richness thus given back to it. A prominent Oakland County farmer tells me that plowing under his late season heavy crop of alfalfa means a boost in next year's crop of something else on the same field of at least 50 per cent.

So, when our farmers are saving a heritage for themselves, the rest of us should take pause and make some solemn reflection on the great interest we really have in that heritage.

In plain words, dirt is not simply dirty.

Good News for Europe

Recent major oil discoveries in the Sahara Desert have gladdened the hearts of European leaders.

Lands involved up to now include Algeria, French West Africa, French Equatorial Africa and Nigeria. France is planning to spend $600 million in the next three or four years and hopes that in time its African territories will supply most of its needs.

The crisis brought about by the closing of the Suez Canal has stimulated oil exploration. Europe's oil demand may yet be fully met from North Africa plus Middle East sources carried by pipeline to the Mediterranean.

Perhaps news of these discoveries and pipeline plans will have a restraining effect on Egypt's stubborn Nasser. He has repudiated his international obligations under both the U.N. Charter and the Convention of 1888 which guaranteed free use of the canal by all nations at all times.

A Task Well Done

In the welter of news attending the reopening of the Suez Canal, the man most responsible, 71 year old Lieut. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, has been overlooked.

Under his direction, 450 men from seven nations raised and removed obstructions of all kinds in a great feat of engineering skill. When U. S. Secretary General Hammarskjold appointed the former Chief of Engineers of the U.S. Army to this task last November, some thought it might be a year or more before the wrecks sunk by the Egyptians could be removed. But the first convoy went through late in March.

Gen. Wheeler also had the problem of dealing with Nasser whose political tactics delayed the opening. It was exasperating and tedious work and called for patience, diplomacy and determination as well as engineering skill.

The Man About Town

Well Qualified

New Boy Scout President Knows All Phases of Work

Rare: Communists who name their baby Ike.

Exceptionally well qualified to pilot the 15,000 Boy Scouts and others actively engaged in that work in the Pontiac area is recently chosen as president of Clinton Valley Council for the coming year. He lives near Farmington, and holds an executive position with a General Motors Division, with offices in their building in Detroit.

For 16 years Mr. Hunt has been commissioner of the council, and made a real job of it. Much of the credit for the great progress of Scouting here, both in membership and otherwise, stems from projects which he devised and diligently pursued to their successful conclusion. John has a wonderful family, consisting of his wife, three daughters and a son who of course has gone through Scouting.

With Memorial Day and July 4 coming one day closer to a weekend than last year,

Sheriff Frank W. Irons

looks for bigger traffic, and is preparing to keep it in order.

One clump of peonies with 115 blossoms and buds is reported by spreading glory in her Huron Gardens yard.

Mrs. Fletcher Fellman,

Writing me from his home in Flint,

Randall Arundsen

asks: "Is Oakland County going wild? I had to steer my car around deer at two widely separated points on the Dixie Highway northwest of Pontiac late the other night. Also saw a fox dart across in the rays of my headlights."

According to my reliable Pontiac Lake scout,

Gerry Manford,

the muskrat houses and blackbird nests have been flooded out by high water.

Always coaxing their roses to bloom real early are

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Malcolmson

of Drayton Plains. They have Talisman roses measuring five inches across.

"When my neighbors suggested that I plant a garden, they said nothing about weeds," phones of Cass Lake, "but I'm learning a lot by bitter experience."

Burchard Graham

Hearing a squeaking noise near his home on the banks of Silver Lake, found that it was coming from a frog being swallowed by a large garter snake. He liberated the hopper who jumped away, apparently unharmed.

Ambrose Richman

Words that tickle my failing heart come from

of Drayton Plains, who wishes the editorials and this column were on different pages, "so the members of our family would not tear it apart in fighting for a chance to read it."

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Showing Narrow Vision

WASHINGTON — It is not too soon to appraise the place in history that the Democratic-controlled Congress of today may achieve if it pursues its present course. It could become known as the Congress of narrow vision, the Congress without a heart and without a spirit — the Congress that strained at a gnat and swallowed a camel.

LAWRENCE

For the biggest concern of the world today is war. To prevent war the American people are willing to make money sacrifices now to avoid human sacrifices later on. The way to prevent war is to reach the hearts and minds of the people behind the Iron Curtain and to be adequately prepared on the military side. Armament costs us around $40 billion a year and is necessary to deter impulsive action by dictators. Yet propaganda to influence and persuade the peoples in Eastern Europe, Asia and Africa to withhold from dictators the power to make war is relatively inexpensive.

SPENDS BILLIONS

Soviet Russia today spends many billions a year on propaganda. America spends just a few millions. But the President's request for $144,000,000 for the U.S. Information Agency may, under proposals now pending in Congress, be cut down to $80,200,000. The myopic reason given for this is that the latter sum is more than the average spent by the U.S. Information Agency in the last few years. This is to say that the world has stood still, that the importance of reaching the hearts and minds of people behind the Iron Curtain and in the so-called "uncommitted" areas of the world can be averaged mathematically by looking backward instead of forward.

Actually, the situation in the Middle East, for example, has grown more, instead of less, complicated. Today the Soviet government influences, if it doesn't completely control, the press and radio of Egypt and Syria. These trouble areas can increase in number overnight. The United States, by means of the Eisenhower Doctrine, has built up its friendships and is making progress among some of the Arab states, but it costs money to carry on propaganda.

There are all sorts of self-appointed experts in America who have called attention to some examples of waste and inefficiency in the U.S. Information Agency. Certainly the American government is a novice in the art of propaganda. Mistakes have been inevitable. But they are the price of experience in an unfamiliar field.

DENIED OPPORTUNITIES

Judging by the statements made by the Democratic leaders in Congress, they have cut appropriations for the U.S. Information Agency to some extent because of a fear that American news services might be deprived of opportunities to sell their wares abroad. This is understandable materialism but at the same time it is short-sighted Americanism. For Soviet Russia doesn't permit the daily reports of the American news services to be printed behind the Iron Curtain.

Nor are there any radio broadcasting stations inside the United States that can reach behind the Iron Curtain without effective relays abroad. It takes a special kind of equipment and transmitters, located in strategic places around the world, to get the messages across to the peoples in vast areas of the globe where either the normal commercial channels are barred or media are unavailable through which to present news dispatches from outside the country.

The Soviets are spending billions—for documentary films, for participation in exhibits and fairs everywhere, for "cultural" exchanges. They send their ballet and other artistic groups to "neutral" lands but, when America tries to counter this with our jazz orchestras — which have recently won wide acclaim, especially in certain parts of Europe and in North Africa and in Southeast Asia —the critics in Congress ridicule it all as a "boondoggle." Thereupon the Democrats cut the U.S. Information Agency's budget to pieces, with the aid of an equally narrow-visioned segment of the Republican Party.

CHALLENGING IDEAS

The speakers for the Democratic Party in the last campaign used to talk a lot about the need for "challenging ideas" abroad and kept hammering away at the "mistakes" of our foreign policy. But success cannot be achieved by the State Department through diplomacy alone if the ground is not cultivated among peoples abroad by effective information programs telling continually about America's disinterested purposes and her true concern for the freedom and independence of all those peoples now enslaved.

The U.S. Information Agency's budget should have been doubled instead of being cut by almost 40 per cent.

Dr. Brady Says:

Sitting Is Our National Sin —Takes Big Toll After 45

Much of the trouble which uninformed and misinformed women have between 45 and 55 is due, as Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher, for many years adviser of women in Stanford University, said in her book Personal Hygiene for Women, published by Stanford University Press 30 years ago, is due—

DR. BRADY

"1. To a nervous letting-go of the woman's self-control, and acceptance of the inevitable incapacity:

2. To her muscular inactivity;

3. To social and family changes as much as to physical causes."

Now please don't ask whether I'd be so very active if I had hot flashes. If I had hot flashes, I'd consult a physician.

Dr. Mosher sandwiched the main cause of trouble in between minor causes. It is the popular American pastime—muscular inactivity.

If muscular inactivity is one of the causes of trouble for the middle-aged woman, as Dr. Mosher stated, then the best prophylactic against and remedy for such trouble is a reasonable amount of daily exercise.

WALK FOR HEALTH

For most women this would be the equivalent of from 3 to 6 miles of oxygen on the hoof—one to three brisk walks every day.

A woman should at least keep fit to stand and walk under her own power, without artificial support or aid.

Lucky the woman who has sufficient character and can afford to do her own housework. I have studied this subject for many years, and I am convinced that it is because the woman of 50 does all her own housework that she breezes through the menopause.

Walking—not strolling or lolling —is the ideal general exercise. If you can't afford to walk all the way or part way to and from office, plant, shop, school every day —it takes about an hour to walk three miles — perhaps you can afford to go to the Y or a gymnasium or athletic club two or three times a week.

AT LEAST, EXERCISE

The woman who does not engage in any of these activities should at least do a regular stint of setting-up exercises every day to combat the tendency to go flabby—such movements as those described and illustrated in The 7 Keys to Vite (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) or any similar calisthenics.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Press Readers Discuss Pontiac School Situation

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

What do you mean by saying things are more complicated because Louis Schimmel and Robert Oliver have competition? They are the ones who have complicated things. They spend $1.5 million building these multi-purpose rooms which we could have gotten along without. Now we have no money for the new high school which has been promised for 25 years. Any student in junior high school would have seen the high school built first. We do not need extra personnel of 404 to educate an extra 1,581 pupils.

William J. Kircher
2181 Kircher Ct.

Why is it with all the colleges and universities in Michigan that our school board has to go to other states to hire experts? Royal Oak didn't have to go beyond Pontiac when they needed a new superintendent.

When a man such as C. J. Cox resigns long before he has to retire it looks to me like he has had all he could take. It's a crime when Pontiac loses a man that has devoted the best years of his life to better our schools.

Architects alone have had a feast from Pontiac experimenting with round houses for all-purpose rooms. They even admitted they didn't think they would ever be built. But we paid well for all those blueprints to go into someone's wastebasket. As for Madison Junior High, did you ever go into it on a rainy day? You'd better keep your umbrella up after you get inside.

They don't mention the price we are going to pay for years to come to heat that school when they tell you the cost of building it.

Weather Topic of Discussion

Atomic bombs, H-bombs, fallout and what-have-you? None of these has a thing to do with the rain or the weather. Why are some people silly enough to keep suggesting it?

Engineer

Some people keep trying to insist there are no more tornadoes now than there used to be. There are many, many times as many.

Weather Student

The Press said we had 2.05 inches of rain the other weekend. That's more than half our normal supply for all of May. The seasons are becoming wetter than they used to be.

Brothers Ask City for Baseball Field

We live in the north end of Pontiac and we have a problem. Most of us kids like to play baseball. We went to the Wever diamond, but a neighbor has told us it's a softball diamond, which it is, and we shouldn't be playing baseball on it. We tried to make a diamond in the field on West Walton, but they're going to make a railroad yard out of it and we'll have no place to play. Jayce Park is the nearest place, but it's too far unless we have a car to get there. All of us kids would be very grateful if the city would provide some place for us to play baseball.

'Did 'No' Answer Solve Problem?'

An authoritative "no" answer echoed in the voting booths last week. Does denial of necessary public facilities benefit a tax community? Can a careless plan be supplemented by rejection of a better one? Did the voters know exactly what they voted for, or were they mere parrots? What now?

'Let's Investigate Supreme Court'

Congress needs another committee to investigate the Supreme Court. Seven more decisions like the last seven and the country will be turned over to Russia without a shot being fired. Where did the Presidents find these characters, and why has Congress approved and tolerated them?

Serves Country but Isn't Served

In answer to the letter saying it's a person's duty to serve the country, I think the writer missed the point of the original letter discussing discrimination. As an example, during World War II a Mexican soldier went into a cafe in the South and was refused service. When he stood to leave, two white men not in uniform beat him up. If it was his duty to serve the country, why wasn't he served in the cafe as others were? For doing his duty he was refused service and beaten up by men not even in service. Let's face the situation now and stop communism here in America.

'Why Free Men to Strike Again?'

One reads about little girls being murdered and molested, usually by someone who has done it before and has been turned loose. Those who are turning such people loose are guilty of assisting in the next crime and should be tried and found guilty. George Davis had molested two little girls, got only three years for it and then was let out in two years.

Aren't little girls worth anything to some people? Why did they use a stomach pump on him when he tried to commit suicide—more little girls they want to sacrifice?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Careless Waiters Hurt Business

Aunt Lelia emphasizes a point that needs widespread public attention. For many epidemics of flu and other intestinal upsets can be traced to unhygienic handlers of food. A ritzy restaurant can offend its patrons and thus neutralize its heavy advertising, by the common faults mentioned below.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-391: Lelia H., is my father's sister and lives in Ft. Wayne, Indiana.

Mrs. Crane and I stopped to visit her for a few hours as we were driving up to Michigan to see our boys in college.

Somehow our conversation veered around to railroads, and we mentioned the modernized coaches with reclining seats and other luxurious aids to train travel.

"But I have one complaint," Aunt Lelia said. "I was enjoying a train trip recently.

CRANE

"Then a waiter came through the coach with coffee and sandwiches. So I thought I'd buy some.

"However I changed my mind as soon as I saw him serve the woman just ahead of me.

"For he had a stack of paper cups. And he'd reach his greasy thumb or fingers far down inside each paper cup to pull it out.

"You know I am squeamish about dirt and germs, so I just couldn't enjoy any coffee mixed with grease and germs. For he would handle change and old paper money; then run his fingers right down inside the next cup."

When I went out to Davenport, Iowa, to address the national sales executives, I took a train.

I had already eaten before I embarked, but when the waiter came through the coach with sandwiches and coffee, I decided to patronize him.

But I like sugar in my coffee. And this fact queered the sale:

For this waiter had a cup full of plastic spoons, with their bowls up. And he would seize every spoon by the bowl end, inserting his thumb on the part that diners usually put in their mouths.

This failure to utilize modern sanitary hygiene is every bit as bad as the old-fashioned common drinking cup, shared by everybody.

Yet you will find many swanky restaurants where the waiters and waitresses are equally behind the times in respect to medical facts.

For instance, you will often see a waitress handle the money at the cash register; then go right back to serving food.

And she will lift a pat of butter with her contaminated fingers and place it on the butter plate. She will pick up bread with those same microbe-infested fingers.

She may carry three clean drinking glasses at once by inserting a thumb in one and a finger far down inside each of two others, thereby contaminating all of them.

Others will blow their noses right behind the counter and then use their virus-covered fingers to spread flu germs and other diseases to the customers.

There is an old adage that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

Salesmen should always remember that fact: Waitresses and waiters should be high class salesmen.

If a restaurant spends a lot of money trying to attract patrons, then it is very shortsighted for the waitress to rebuff those fastidious diners by violating the simple "horse sense" factors in sanitation.

You laymen expect us physicians and dentists to wash our hands between patients and to sterilize our needles before we give you shots.

Well, it is just as necessary that food purveyors likewise abide by similar rules of sanitation.

So I urge you restaurant owners to post this Case Record where everbody can see it.

For many flu epidemics and intestinal upsets are spread by unhygienic restaurant help, both in the kitchen as well as the dining room.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

2 Nations Begin Lakes Project

Ceremony to Mark Start of Efforts to Connect Ports With Seaway

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Top Canadian and American leaders meet at nearby Amherstburg, Ont., tomorrow to herald the inauguaration of the multimillion dollar Great Lakes connecting channels project.

A dynamite charge planted deep in the lower Detroit River will be set off by remote control to signal the start of the project which is expected to cost about $136,000,000 and take five years to complete.

Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker, representing the U. S., will be the principal speaker at the inaugural ceremonies. Paul J. J. Martin, Canadian minister of national health and welfare, will represent his country.

The celebration will feature a procession of various lake vessels past Amherstburg and a race between tug boats from Michigan and Ontario.

The purpose of the project is to widen and deepen shallow spots in the Detroit, St. Clair and St. Marys Rivers, Lake St. Clair and the Straits of Mackinac. It will connect western lake ports with the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The shallow spots now limit shiploading to a draft of 21 feet upbound and 25 feet downbound. The project will make it possible to load vessels bound either way to 26½ feet.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers designed and will supervise the project.

Star of Prize-Winning Movie Receives $12 a Month

Poverty Embitters Polish Actress

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
(For Hal Boyle)

PARIS (AP) — The leading actress of the Polish film that won second prize in the recent Cannes Film Festival will be paid $12 a month on her return to Poland—if she is lucky.

Teresa Izewska, blonde pride of Poland's young film industry said bitterly she also will have to borrow money for a taxicab from the Warsaw Airport to the student formitory where she lives.

She starred in "Kanal," story of a guerrilla unit trapped in a sewer during the Warsaw uprising of 1944, and was a sensational success in her first movie role.

"Yes, I am bitter and I want everybody to know it," said Miss Izewska in an interview at a reception in the Polish Embassy in Paris.

"Everybody tells me I am a great actress—that I have a great future. I smile at photographers and shake hands with thousands of people.

"But nobody knows that the government had to buy me a dress and a pair of shoes before I left Warsaw for Cannes—I could not have afford to buy them myself."

Miss Izewska, 5 foot 7 and 22, said she could be quoted "on everything I say."

"They can't do anything to me. I am their pride, starving as I practically am."

She made this statement between sips of champagne and bites of the Polish "for export only" sausage at a lavish party given in her honor in the embassy, known for the best fare in Paris diplomatic circles. Top personalities in the French movie world were invited. Many asked to pose for photographs with her.

"I wore this dress to practically every reception I've been to since I left Poland," she said. It is a white dress with a black print design. "I am ashamed of it, but you can write it anyway. Poland is a poor country and everybody knows it."

As a fourth year student at the Warsaw Drama School, Miss Izewska said, she receives a scholarship of 300 zloty a month — or about $12 at the official exchange rate.

"I understand they want to take away that scholarship because I have gone abroad and they think I am making money," she said. "But the government paid me nothing, although they sold the film to many countries. If I don't get the scholarship, I will have to sell my ring to live."

She pointed to a small gold-and-diamond ring on her finger.

Her first trip abroad was "wonderful, too wonderful to explain," she said. "Everything here is just for people — not for the masses like back home."

She added promptly she is not afraid to say anything "because they kept me for a week in a cellar three years ago just because of my father and they didn't change me even then." She did not elaborate on the "they" but apparently referred to Poland's security police during Stalinist years.

Audience of 18,500 Fills Garden

Graham Cites 'Tragic' Shortcomings in Marriage and Homes in America

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says "there is something desperately and tragically wrong with the American home today."

He attributes this to married couples' "breaking and forgetting" laws governing marriage as stated in the Bible.

Graham spoke on "Problems of the American Home" before another capacity crowd of 18,500 at Madison Square Garden last night.

The crowd brought to 208,200 the number of people who have heard him at the Garden and at Forest Hills in Queens, where Saturday night's meeting was held, since Graham's crusade opened here May 15.

Graham's staff reported 547 "decisions for Christ" last night, bringing the total for the crusade to date to 7,931.

His text was 11 Kings, 20th Chapter, First Verse — "Thus sayeth the Lord set thy house in order."

Graham said a successful marriage is based on three things — "physical attraction, mental affinity and spiritual oneness."

"Unless there is spiritual oneness," he declared, "your marriage is headed for the rocks."

"Marriage is a permanent relationship never to be broken. . . God never meant for man and wife to be apart," he said.

One essential to a happy home, he said, is "absolute fidelity." He pointed to adultery as one of the greatest sins and said you can commit it by "look, thought or act — and thousands are guilty."

To young women contemplating marriage he advised:

"Be sure you marry God's choice. If you'll wait for God's choice, He has just the right one."

"Be sure the person you marry is a Christian," he said. "If not, your house is headed for hell on earth."

Graham said a wife owes "unselfish service and unswerving loyalty" to her husband; and the husband, in turn, should love his wife and "remain a lover."

"There's not a problem of man and wife that can't be settled with them in prayer," he said.

Children should be taught to obey, a home should have discipline, and the father is responsible for administering it, Graham said. He admonished, "Don't discipline in anger," and he said, "The greatest principle of discipline is example."

One of his advices to husbands was: "Love your wife. It's a duty . . . don't be a tightwad . . . give her some money of her own . . . Don't be a roughneck . . . Be a gentleman."

Saying that God holds man "responsible as the spiritual head of the house," he added that it is man's duty to say grace and prayer and read the Bible.

And to fathers he said: "Take time with your children. They long for it. They'll soon be grown and gone."

Stars' Ex-Husband Weds German Girl

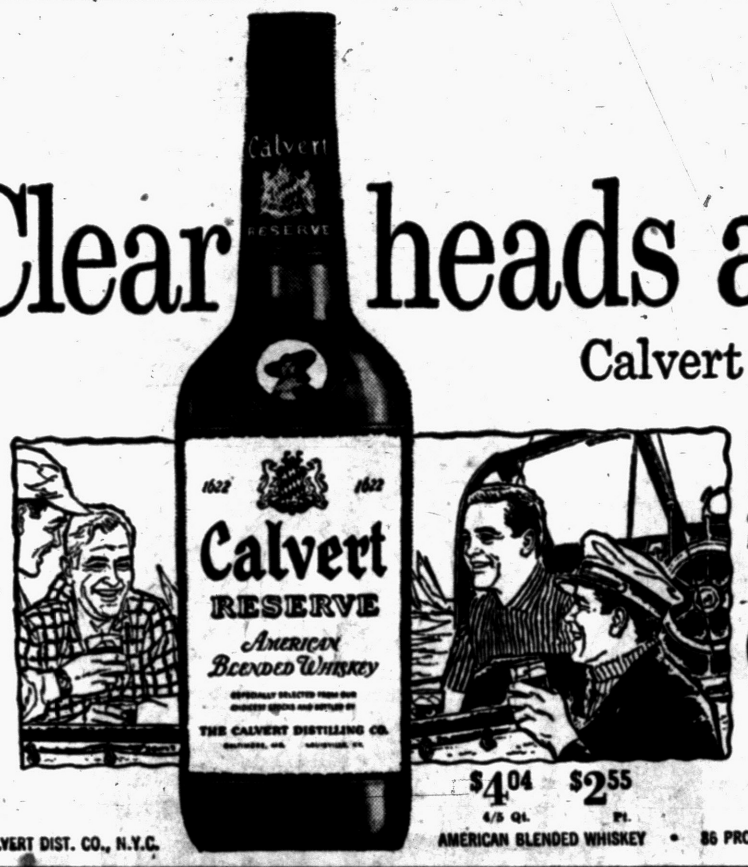

SHREWSBURY, N. J. (AP) —Teddy Stauffer of Acapulco, Mexico, former husband of movie actresses Hedy Lamarr and Faith Domergue, married Ute Weller of Hamburg, Germany, yesterday.

It was the fifth marriage for Stauffer, part owner of the Hotel Villa Vera in Acapulco. The bride is in charge of Pan American Airways' airline hostesses in Germany.

Movie actor Errol Flynn served as best man at the wedding, which was performed by Mayor J. Lester Rigby of New Shrewsbury at the estate of Alfred J. Lippman here.

Walkout Disrupts Subways in Paris

PARIS (AP) — A quick strike by station personnel disrupted the Paris subway system during the morning rush hour but most lines were reported back in operation within a short time.

Subway officials announced that all but two main lines were back in service within a few hours and functioning with only a slight let-up in normal service.

Some 1,500 stationmasters and controllers had walked off on a 24-hour strike demanding higher pay.

The bus system, functioning normally, was jammed during the two hours or so that the subway was out.

Stands Puzzle GOP Senator

Position of 27 States on Issue of School Aid Surprises Butler

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Butler (R-MD) says partial returns in his poll of governors on federal school aid indicates that "states with the most to gain under such a program are opposed to it."

At the same time, Butler said yesterday he finds that "states standing to lose the most are favorable." He called this a "strange phenomenon."

Butler is polling all 48 governors. He said he has received 27 replies so far, but he made public the views of only six of the state executives. He did not say whether he is for or against the proposed 1½-billion-dollar federal school construction bill.

Listed by Butler as supporting federal aid were Democratic Governors Averell Harriman of New York, George Leader of Pennsylvania and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan. Opposed, he said, were Republican Governors Victor Anderson of Nebraska and Milward Simpson of Wyoming, and Democratic Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia.

Butler said taxpayers in New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan would pay more toward a federal school aid program than their states would get back. In Nebraska, Wyoming and Virginia it would be the other way around, he added.

Scientists Develop Eight-Foot-Tall Slave Robot

Era of Mechanical Man Dawning?

CHICAGO (INS) — The atomic age may also be the age of the mechanical man.

Scientists at Argonne National Laboratory in Lemont, Ill., today have an electrically controlled "slave robot" capable of working in a "hot lab" where radioactive materials would be fatal to humans.

EIGHT FEET TALL

Called an electronic master-slave manipulator, the robot stands eight feet tall, weighs 2,000 pounds and stands on a 4 by 5 foot motorized cart.

It has arms four feet long which can perform all the necessary movements in handling radioactive materials and, equally important, which will be able to repair certain parts of its mechanism.

"We call him a slave robot," says Raymond Goertz, 42-year-old head of Argonne's remote control engineer diyision, "because he can only do what the operator orders him to do." Goertz added:

"But he's an expensive worker—it cost about $100,000 to build him."

ADVANCED ROBOT

Goertz is now working on a more advanced robot which will not be completed until 1960. It will be similar to the present robot except that some parts will be radio controlled.

"Eventually," says Goertz, "I hope to have a robot which will be entirely radio controlled. Then we will be able to give him more complicated orders as well as having him repeat certain movements with taped messages."

The present mechanized monster—which looks more like a giant photo enlarger instead of a human form—has seven independent actions: three to move forward, backward and sideward on the motorized car; three to move its arms in space, and one for grasping with its claw-like hands.

The robot's hands and arms are moved by an operator who manipulates an identical set of mechanical arms. Any movement in the master hand is duplicated by the robot.

It sees with television cameras mounted between two supporting columns and feels by means of a system which reflects the amount of force used by the robot's arms in moving an object.

The robot that goes to work in a radioactive laboratory will not only be a slave, he will be a prisoner in his cell for "life." Goertz explained:

"Shortly after the robot enters the lab, he will become contaminated by radioactive rays. He will have to stay inside the heavily-walled room until he becomes irreparably damaged or until we have no further use for him."

The assumption then is that the robot will be packed in heavily protected cans and buried in some deep, distant hole.

Road Construction to Halt for Holiday

LANSING (AP)—Construction projects on highways where traffic is being maintained will be suspended from noon, Wednesday, until the following Monday in an effort to help prevent traffic accidents over the Memorial Day weekend, the State Highway Department reported.

Projects on highways where temporary routes are being used, emergency work and construction on new locations will not be closed down.

State ferries are scheduled to leave Mackinaw City and St. Ignace on the hour over the holiday period and additional service will be provided if needed.

Weekly air service now links the Andaman Islands in Bay of Bengal with eastern India.

Columnist Can't Afford to Be Placid

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—One of the two drawbacks to being a daily columnist (the other is you have to sit down and write) is the fact you are always expected to be disturbed about something.

Bank clerks and department store buyers conceivably can wake up in the morning feeling bland as an unsalted soft-boiled egg and get by with it.

If the air is not too fresh and the traffic not too heavy, it is quite possible that they can squish through an entire day without feeling angry, happy, hipped or gypped. In fact, employers of most people rather like a mild man around the water cooler occasionally.

Not so the columnist. He should be "in tune with the times," and these are not times of coddled eggs and similar people.

To be tuneful, timewise, one should react more or less fiercely to the headlines on the front page, laugh raucously at the features in the second section, be intellectually suspicious of most best-sellers and every country but his own, turn properly skeptical at references to romance or religion, and get mad whenever possible to avoid inner hypertension.

POPULAR QUESTION

If there is time left over in the disturbed day of life's tunesmith, he can ponder the popular question, "Who was to blame for the miserable mess I am today—my mother or my father?"

Fortunately, a few non-neurotics in this fast age rebel at the whole idea of being constantly troubled. I know a proofreader for a publishing company, for instance, who can go through a whole day reading startling, lurid, thrilling copy and go home to dinner looking like Ed Wynn before the latter went Chayefsky.

He has revolted into a non-thinking state that is so blissful his wife is going through analysis to "temper down" to his level.

But most people cannot afford so carelessly to let down their fists or their wild enthusiasms. The thing is to arise for the fray, work up steam over the morning paper, charge vigorously to work prepared for fun or frenzy, and come home laden with enthusiasm or disgust so the little woman can get excited too.

After all, because of the limited scope of her wanderings, the housewife has little enough to get wrought up about, and after a dull day of equanimity it is considered only cricket that she be granted a little vicarious glee or despair.

YOUNGSTERS, TOO

The same goes, of course, for the children. More and more progressive schools are putting psychiatric studies into the curriculum; modern parents give the youngster his homework.

At times, it may be hard to get rolling on the peeves and pleasures of the day.

You wake up, say, and there's a soft wind blowing out of the south. Yesterday you got a raise, and your wife has been acting peculiarly sweet and intelligent for months.

It is Saturday and there is nothing on the docket but a visit to the ball park to see your team. Its 10-and-0 pitcher is hurling. There is a clean shirt in the drawer and, for breakfast, pancakes.

The paper says that a physical checkup reports Ike in great shape; the oil workers' strike is settled; hardly anybody was killed last night anywhere, and nobody under 40—whom you knew personally—died of a heart attack. The honeysuckle is out, and so are the kids. Life appears sweet.

VIVID IMAGINATION

In a case like this, the aggravated stomach and burning brain are slow to come by. It takes stern though supervision and vivid imagination, a pinch of bitter memory and perhaps a hum-over of the Gilbert and Sullivan ditty, "Things Are Seldom What They Seem"—but one who is genuinely in tune with life can usually manage, somehow, to liven (albeit louse) up his day.

So it is with column-writing. You wake up feeling fine. And now this . . .

A former member of Hawaiian royalty, Prince Jonah Kuhio Kalanianole, represented the Territory of Hawaii in congress from 1902 to 1922. He was listed as a Republican.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Rock Got the Knock but Roll Suffered

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The theater marquee proclaimed: "Don't Knock the Rock." But the "Rock" got knocked right off the screen.

An explosion in a power company conduit shut off power to a theater showing the rock 'n roll movie. Management had to refund 150 admissions, some to teenagers sitting through a second showing.

Ohio Turnpike Tolls to Go Up Tomorrow

CLEVELAND (AP) — Toll rates for passenger cars and light trucks on the Ohio Turnpike will go up an average of 16.44 per cent at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

The boost in charges is expected to produce about $1,166,000 more in revenue annually.

Under the new schedule of rates it will cost a motorist $3.50 to make the 241-mile trip from the Pennsylvania turnpike to the Indiana turnpike. The present charge is $3.

Passenger cars and trucks of two axles and up to 7,000 pounds in weight are affected by the rate revisions.

The present toll rate is 1.24 cents a mile, and the new rates will increase this by 2½ mills to 1.49 cents a mile, with the charges per trip rounded off to the nearest nickel, a Turnpike Commission spokesman explained.

Driver Pleads Guilty, Appeals His Sentence

Leslie Eugene Edwards, 35, of 851 Robinwood Ave., who demanded a jury trial when he was accused of drunk driving March 2, pleaded guilty to the charge Thursday, the date of the trial, and then appealed his sentence to Circuit Court.

Edwards was freed on a $200 bond pending the decision of the higher court June 16.

Edwards is appealing a $100 fine and $51 costs or 30 day jail sentence set by the Municipal Court. He was arrested March 2 by Officer Robert Beltz who was off duty and in his own auto at the time.

How to leave your family

a Deed instead of a Debt

Whether you are already paying on a mortgage or just undertaking the purchase of a home, there is an important question which you should face: would your wife and children have a home "free and clear" if something should happen to you?

The answer to this question is as near as your phone. Your Metropolitan Representative can work out a specific solution to fit your needs and your income.

For instance, a Metropolitan Mortgage Term Plan is designed to cover the usual type of home mortgage which decreases each year as payments on the principal are made. The face amount of the Mortgage Term Plan decreases in the same proportion, so that your level premium is relatively inexpensive.

A more satisfactory plan for many men is a Metropolitan Whole Life Policy. This is permanent insurance which not only assures that funds will be available for payment of the mortgage in the event of death, but also builds cash and loan values which may be used to take care of mortgage payments in the event of illness or emergency. Because the face value does not decrease, it can be used for continuing protection for you and your family after the mortgage is paid off.

Whatever plan your Metropolitan Representative suggests, you can be sure that it will be specifically designed to meet your present and future needs.

We suggest that you call him today and let him help you set the wheels in motion to help protect the continued ownership of your home by your family. He will welcome the opportunity to show that . . .

Metropolitan service is as local as Main Street . . . as close as your phone

Bob Considine Says:

New Gripsholm Recalls Great Ship

NEW YORK (INS)—The passing show:

The beautiful new MS Gripsholm of the Swedish American Line sits like a splendid white cloud at her New York pier, giving shipping buffs one of their great thrills.

She's a trim 23,190 tonner, cost $14,000,000 (privately financed), was designed by Swedish naval architects and built at the Ansaldo shipyard in Genoa.

Ten of her staterooms were designed by Count Sigvard Berndadotte, son of Sweden's King Gustaf Adolf. Gunnar Nordenson is her captain.

He remember another Gripsholm . . . "the great white mercy ship" that repatriated thousands of people from prison camps during World War II. (The original Gripsholm is now the North German Lloyd's MS Berlin.)

What scenes are associated with the name Gripsholm! The Japanese "thought police" who took over and reindoctrinated Japanese who had been interned here, in comparative luxury, and were being returned on the old Gripsholm to the rigors of the homeland.

And, at Goa, the bearded, skeletonized Americans who limped aboard, fresh from their prisons, to be returned home.

MAGNIFICENT BUFFET

Nordenson always saw to it that these poor derelicts were greeted with a magnificent buffet, a great long table filled not only with smorgasbord but turkeys, hams, baked beans, hot bread, great pitchers of milk . . . everything.

One day a man who must have dreamed of all those things for years, walked up to the groaning board in his rags, and, on his first day of freedom, ate himself to death.

Just 38 years ago today Lt. Comdr. A. C. Read, USN, 32-year-old Navy flier, brought a lumbering four-engine seaplane down on the waters of Lisbon harbor and taxied up to a quay to a tremendous reception. He and his crew had just completed the first trans-Atlantic flight.

Today, planes carrying almost 100 passengers, and big enough to carry Read's NC4 under the fuselage, will land in and take off without fanfare at Lisbon's magnificent airport—one of the world's greatest, by the way.

But there had to be a pioneer, and Albert Cushing Read was there when called upon. His ship was the survivor of three that took off from New York's Rockaway Beach on May 16, 1919.

They made it in a body as far as Newfoundland, the first stop. But the NC1 and NC3 dropped out on the long jump to Azores. One was rescued by a steamer, the other by one of the 60 destroyers the Navy had strung along the route of the intrepid fliers.

TEENAGE LINDY

Lindbergh was a teenager at the time, and Read became the man he most wanted to emulate.

Read later taught at the Naval War College, commanded the aircraft squadrons of the Atlantic fleet, commanded the Naval Air Station at Hampton roads, skippered the USS Wright and later the Saratoga, was in charge of training thousands of fliers at Pensacola during World War II. He was retired as a rear admiral in 1946, is now 70, and is living in Washington.

Somebody else winced when he saw the George M. Cohan story on TV. "I read with interest John David Griffin's note to you concerning Mickey Rooney's portrayal of Cohan.

"I watched and felt very bad, not for Mickey Rooney but the way Cohan was presented, which was certainly not the way we knew him. Regards—Jim Farley."

He Will Be Employed

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Benjamin D. Shedleski of Grand Rapids says he will construct a new building here to house the Battle Creek branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Ulster Talks Itself Up

BELFAST — "Make young people feel that they have a happy future in Ulster," urged Belfast's Deputy Lord Mayor, R. G. C. Kinahan, in offering a cure for the emigration that is robbing Northern Ireland of its youth. This can be done by secure home life and by clubs, he suggested. He said he saw no harm in having "rock'n roll" in the clubs if the organizations were founded with a strong religious background.

There are about 200,000 life insurance agents in the U. S.

Thousands Get 4-Day Holiday This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of Michigan workers will get a four-day holiday this week.

Memorial Day falls on Thursday. Many industries and some individual offices have announced they will be closed from Thursday through the weekend.

All Ford Motor Co. divisions and administrative offices will suspend operations for four days. Chrysler Corp. will idle its Dodge main, Dodge Truck and DeSoto plants.

General Motors will close Cadillac assembly, Turnstedt, Fisher Body, Detroit Diesel, Detroit Gear, Axle and Forge plants in Detroit; Chevrolet plants at Willow Run and Livonia, and Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Buick and Chevrolet plants outstate.

Post offices, as usual, will be shut throughout the state.

Detroit is planning a major Memorial Day parade with eight divisions of marchers and a display of military weapons. Dearborn, Royal Oak and Grosse Ile are among other communities planning parades.

Small Fish Bone Delays Plane Flight

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — A small fish bone delayed last night's Pan American plane from South Africa to New York.

Capt. Thomas Hurley of New York flew the plane into Johannesburg and was scheduled to take it out on the return flight last night. But Hurley complained of a sore throat on arrival and doctors found a small fish bone lodged at the side of his throat.

Surgeons removed the bone but Hurley can't fly for a few days. The airline is flying another pilot from London to move the 12 passengers.

Arsonist Confesses

Is Elvis Presley Going to Wed Yvonne Lime?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie starlet Yvonne Lime says published reports that she plans to marry Elvis Presley in Mexico this week have left her "all shook up."

"We are friends, but there is nothing to the story," the 20-year-old blonde said yesterday. She has been dating Presley regularly since last February after appearing with him in the picture "Loving You."

The marriage report, published in a Mexico City newspaper, was denied earlier by a spokesman for the rock 'n' roll singer.

How about their marrying sometime in the near future? Miss Lime replied with a smile: "It's a secret."

Doctors Committee Tells Coming Events

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—A public meeting at the Leonard Town Hall will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. A general report on what the Doctor's Committee has done will be given.

A doctor has been employed for the area but as yet his offices are not ready. Deadline for the office opening is July 1. The public has been invited to attend Tuesday's meeting.

The committee has slated a benefit auction at 1 p.m. June 15, to be held in Leonard. Officials announced that any articles for the auction will be welcome, and that keys for storage may be obtained from the Leonard Post Office.

AVONDALE HONOREES — Top academic awards in Avondale High School's 1957 graduating class are going to Rosemary Ann Savedge and Allen Jackie Pyle, Principal Rosco Crowell announced this week. Rosemary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones who live at 3149 Donald street, has been named valedictorian on the basis of her all "A" record in high school. Jackie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Pyle of 1904 June street, will be the salutatorian with a 3.7 average.

World Disarmament Main Topic

Adenauer, Dulles Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany begins formal talks with Secretary of State Dulles today to follow up his man-to-man conference yesterday with President Eisenhower.

World disarmament will probably figure as the main topic during his three-day stay.

Eisenhower and Dulles want to assure Adenauer that his government's views will be fully taken into account in any East-West disarmament plan.

Eisenhower, dressed in sports clothes, and Adenauer, in a conservative black suit, reviewed East-West problems informally at the President's Gettysburg farm yesterday.

Despite official secrecy, it was reported the Eisenhower-Adenauer talks would cover a seven-point agenda which includes: disarmament, German reunification, an assessment of Soviet policy, the pace of German rearmament, moves toward European political and economic unity, the Middle East, and Western European trade with Red China.

Nearly a dozen top German foreign policy experts led by Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano joined Adenauer in Washington yesterday.

Partly because of the approaching German elections, American officials from Eisenhower down were eager to demonstrate the confidence and trust they place in the 81-year-old German leader.

A ringing American reaffirmation of the policy of seeking German unity can be expected in the final communique summing up the talks.

H-Missiles Urged for Nuclear Subs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) urged today that the Navy get more funds and authority to speed development of "an intermediate range ballistic missile fired from ocean launching platforms."

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Jackson said the future weapon would be a 1,500-mile missile "with a hydrogen warhead" which "could be launched against strategic targets from submerged or surfaced nuclear-powered submarines."

The Navy already is fitting some submarines and cruisers with smaller guided missiles. It also is working on an IRBM on its own after having worked in cooperation with the Army on such a missile.

Satellites Eye Cut in Red Occupation

WARSAW (AP) — Warsaw Pact powers reportedly held a weekend parley in Budapest to discuss Soviet proposals for cutting occupation forces in Communist-bloc countries.

Informed sources said the meeting was inspired by the new Soviet peace offensive. The main topic apparently was Russia's offer to cut Red occupation forces if NATO powers slash their own troops in Western Europe.

Western observers believe the meeting also may have been prompted by indications from Washington that the United States is ready to advance new disarmament plans before the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee, which resumes meetings in London today.

Quiz Arson Suspect

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Police Monday planned further questioning of a 32-year-old man held for investigation of arson in a $2,500 fire at a two-story, frame apartment dwelling in Northwest Grand Rapids. Residents of the four-apartment building at 413 Lake Michigan Dr., were away when the flames were discovered Saturday, police said.

Heeds Warning of Hex

SARNIA, Ont. (AP) — When the shrunken head he got in South America disappeared from his private museum, Tuffy Truesdell advertised that it was hexed. The head was returned in the next mail.

MR. & MRS. WILLIAM JONES

Honeymooning in Cuba

Married in Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Before an altar decorated with white snapdragons, Georgia Ann Fisher rece became the bride of William Raymond Jones. The Rev. Waldo R. Hunt performed the 8 p.m. ceremony at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James George Fisher of 9375 Buckingham and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Jones of Nashville, Tenn.

Hilda Lea Fisher, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor while Vivian Jankowski of Utica served as bridesmaid. Best man was James Jones of Cleveland, Ohio, and groomsman was Michael Keller, also of Ohio.

A reception was held at the VFW Hall in Keego Harbor. The couple has left for a honeymoon in Florida and Cuba and will return to reside in Utica.

Bay County Judge OK'd by Governor

Gov. Williams over the weekend signed legislation creating a new circuit judgeship in Bay County.

However, a similar bill for Oakland County remained unsigned.

The new Bay County post will be filled by immediate appointment by the governor. The Oakland bill calls for the new judgeship to be filled initially at the November, 1958 election.

A third bill, calling for the election in 1958 of a new Saginaw County circuit judge also remained unsigned.

Scouts Elect Officers

ALMONT—The annual meeting of the Girl Scout association was held at the school last Monday evening. Mrs. Walter Paton was elected president for the ensuing year; Mrs. Fenner Harris, vice president; Mrs. Ruth Bird, secretary; and Mrs. James Rollo, treasurer.

Nab 17 in Two Gambling Raids

8 Pay Fines, 9 Plead Innocent After Arrests in Pontiac

Seventeen men were arrested by Pontiac Police vice squad members and charged with illegal gambling during two raids this weekend.

The first raid was Saturday about 4:30 a.m. at 26 W. Kennett Rd.

James Gaves, 62, of 26 W. Kennett Rd., charged with maintaining and operating an illegal gambling place, and Charlie Goolsby, 46, 416 N. Saginaw St., accused of bling, both pleded guilty before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan Saturday afternoon and paid $100 fines instead of 10 days in jail.

Five men also pleaded guilty to loitering in the illegal gambling place and paid $25 fines instead of five days in jail.

They were: Hiran W. Nelson, 55, of 26 W. Kennett Rd., William Gerald Forbes, 41, of 33 Rosshire Ct., Frank W. Skutnik, 35, of 776 St. Clair; Joe Gallardo, 35, of 26 W. Kennett Rd., and William A. Butler, 41, of 26 W. Kennett Rd.

SECOND RAID SUNDAY

The second raid, at 53½ Baldwin Ave., occurred at 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Three men, accused of aiding and abetting an illegal gambling place, demanded examination this morning when they appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum. They were freed on $200 bonds until trial June 12.

They were; Paul F. Palace, 51, of 15 W. Howard St.; Anton LaRosa, 40, of 584 E. Blvd. and Melvin Orville Springer, 39, of 447 E. Montcalm St.

Six of the seven men arrested in the second raid, accused of loitering in an illegal gambling place, pleaded innocent and were freed on $100 bonds by Judge McCallum until trial June 6.

They were: Jonah Davividson, 61, of 402 N. Saginaw St.; Alfred Gilbert Rose, 40, of 24 Cross St.; Harold Floyd Ogles, 29, of 53 E. Ypwilanti St.; James E. Beasley, 42, of 935 Argyle St.; Charlie Goolsby, 46, of 416 N. Saginaw St. and Leo Lawrence Cook, 60, of 98 Winder, Detroit.

Nathan Partney, 68, of 180 Riveria St., pleaded guilty and paid a $25 fine.

A-Test Put Off Again

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The first blast in the summer atomic test series was postponed last night for the 12th time. The fall-out peril was blamed—this time because wind was insufficient to drift radioactive contamination away from the test area.

OFFER CAREER CHALLENGE—Members of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers are pointing at the need for agricultural engineers, and a promising future, as June graduates this year ask "What next?" Above, Robert Alpers, chairman of the Michigan section of ASAE, and Dr. A. W. Farrall, head of the Agricultural Engineering Department at Michigan State University, plan the Golden Anniversary meeting for the group. More than 1,200 ASAE members from all over the world will gather June 23-26 on MSU Campus to celebrate the occasion.

Wixom Meeting Tonight

WIXOM—A special election committee will meet with the Wixom Charter Commission at 8 tonight to make plans for the registration of all citizens in the village.

The group will meet at Wixom Elementary School.

Registration is necessary for a special election to be held July 15, the day when Wixom voters approve or reject a charter which incorporates Wixom as a village.

Kenneth S. Rocker, chairman of the Charter Commission, said today that registration with Novi or Commerce Townships does not make a voter eligible for the charter election. All citizens must register in Wixom in order to vote on July 15.

The commission has appointed a special election committee, consisting of citizens from various sections of the area, to be in charge of the registration and to act as an election board.

Committee members are Mrs. Lillian Coe, Delbert Geyer, Mrs. Barbara Stadnik, Mrs. Jane Wahamaki, Avis Hopkins, Mrs. Shirley Tuck, Allyn Campion, Mrs. Lillian Byrd, and Mrs. Gertrude Enders.

Wixom voters will also elect a village president and a six-man village commission on the July 15 ballot. The president and commission will govern the village if the charter is approved.

Any Wixom citizen wishing to become a candidate for any elected position should obtain petition forms from Herbert R. Abrams, Charter Commission secretary, at the Wixom post office.

The proposed village charter is now in Lansing to be approved by Gov. Williams.

Kiwanians to Meet

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Kiwanis Club is observing Student Honor Night, at its regular meeting tonight at the Avon Pavilion. These guests will be a group of outstanding students of the senior class of Rochester High School.

The Royal Oak Club will also be guests.

Stassen Unveils Arms Cut Plan

Outlines U.S. Proposal to Western Delegates in London

LONDON (INS) — Harold Stassen outlined the new U.S. proposal for limited disarmament today in a 75-minute meetng with British, French and Canadian delegates.

The special disarmament adviser who returned to London from Washington conferred with his western allies before the midafternoon session with the Soviet Union in the U.N. disarmament subcommittee.

The separate talks were at the British foreign office.

He said further consultations with the western members of the subcommittee would be necessary before presenting the American proposals in the resumed U.N. meeting where he was scheduled to make a short general statement on America's current appraisal of the disarmament situation.

One newspaper reported a new Russian move that might torpedo the new disarmament plan, but the official opinion expressed publicly on both sides was cautiously optimistic.

Sergeant Regrets Setting Off Riots by Taipei Crowds

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Robert Reynolds, the Army master sergeant whose shooting of a Formosan "peeping tom" started a train of events that wrecked the U.S. Embassy in Taipei, was back in America today, enjoying the obscurity of a tourist.

Reynolds, 42, arrived yesterday with his wife, Clara, 37, and his 7-year-old daughter, Shirley.

"I'm sorry for what happened," he said in a terse prepared statement. "I was only doing what any man would do to protect his home and family."

Reynolds shot and killed a Chinese he caught watching his wife take a shower. The sergeant from Colora, Md., was courtmartialed and acquitted of manslaughter. Formosan crowds demonstrating before the U. S. Embassy in protest got out of control and wrecked both it and the U. S. Information Service building in Taipei.

Reynolds said on arriving here on a military air transport plane that he was beginning 30 days leave before reporting for duty at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Firemen Talk to Cubs; Awards Are Presented

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Boys of Cub Pack 134, in their recent monthly meeting here, heard Frank Ronk and Frederick Hemmingway from the Independence Volunteer Fire Dept. lecture, using a real fire truck to demonstrate.

Awards given included: Bear badge to Billy Jacobson and Wolf badges to Jimmy Russell, Steve Barnet, John Fink, Alden Farmer, Jimmy Jacobson and Roger Smith.

Salt is called the world's most plentiful mineral.

120 Americans to Die Thursday

CHICAGO (AP) — An estimated 120 Americans will die in traffic accidents Memorial Day, says the National Safety Council.

The council's estimate is for the 30-hour holiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday until midnight Thursday.

"Unless the extra dangers of holiday traffic are met with extra care and caution, we estimate that 120 persons will be killed on the highways in the holiday period," the council said.

"This compares with an immediate death toll of 75 for a non-holiday Thursday at this time of the year."

Marie Dionne Treated

MONTREAL (AP)—Marie Dionne is reported undergoing radium treatments in Hotel Dieu Hospital for a blood vessel tumor on one leg. A person close to the Dionne family said the ailment is an old one and the quintuplet's condition is not serious. Marie is expected to remain in the hospital another week or two.

Building Code May Be Altered

Waterford Board to Eye Change When Members Meet Tonight

When the Waterford Township Board meets at 7:30 tonight, they will discuss a change in the building code ordinance regarding footings, foundations and rat walls for garages.

At 9 p.m., engineers and lawyers will meet with the board and discuss the transfer of Joe Mancinelli's contract with the township, to the S. Weissman Excavating Co., of Detroit.

Mancinelli is unable to complete the contract with Waterford Township to construct a sewer in Sylvan Shores subdivision, near Voorheis road.

He started construction last fall and the township board gave him an extension in January to continue until May 31 due to adverse weather conditions.

The board also will discuss the possibility of constructing a building to house all township-owned cemetery equipment. It would be located in Crescent Hills Cemetery, on Hatchery road.

Rising Riches Reach $1,000 in Pot-O-Gold

Now is the time to get your entry mailed, because now that Pot-O-Gold is holding $1000 in store for some lucky winner, you can be sure there won't be too many others passing up the opportunity. And the more entries we receive, the more possibilities there are of someone finding the winning solution. Even if there's a winner for last week's puzzle, correct answers for this one will net you $100 plus $25 if you're a subscriber. You can't afford to miss the chance.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answers in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 51 must bear a Tuesday, June 4, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Helping Hands Aiding Victims of Kansas Storm

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Willard H. Strauss found some helping hands after his home was demolished by last Monday's tornado.

Strauss, his wife and their three children went to a hotel for shelter. His father-in-law John Harvey came from Van Meter, Iowa, to help and he stayed at the hotel too.

"When we checked out two days later the hotel said we owed nothing," Strauss said.

Some airline trainees saw the family eating breakfast at the hotel after the storm and quietly paid the Strauss' check.

Strauss owed his dentist $80. The dentist gave him a receipt, marking the bill "Paid in full."

Memorial Fireworks Planned at Walled Lake

A huge fireworks display, featuring "Battle in the Clouds," will climax a day of celebration Memorial Day, May 30, at Walled Lake Park.

Outing facilities at the "picnic wonderland" including twin picnic gardens, grove and baseball diamond, are all open to the public. Among park amusements are kiddie rides, water sports, the roller skating rink and a new thrill ride, "The Scrambler," said to be found only at Walled Lake.

Watermelons are grown commercially in 22 states.

Michigan Man Dies as Result of Tornado

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Arthur J. Frechette, an 80-year-od visitor from Munising, Mich., was the 39th person to die as the resut of the tornado which hit the south fringe of Kansas City a week ago tonight.

Frechette and his wife had come here to visit a daughter.

Mrs. Frechette, 66, hurt by the tornado, was schedued to undergo an operation today but her injuries were not considered critical.

Six victims still were considered in critical condition. More than 200 were injured.

Hollywood Headlines

Gertrude Lawrence Role Considered by Doris Day

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Doris Day has been offered the role of Gertrude Lawrence in "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A," the Richard Aldrich biography of our beloved Gertrude.

When I visited the set of "Teacher's Pet" I asked Doris if she'll accept it. She said, "I don't know. Gertrude Lawrence was an English woman and I am so very American, but I haven't turned it down and we are discussing it."

Doris is such a good actress she could play it and, moreover, she can sing and she could certainly put over Gertrude's well-remembered songs.

Mel Shavelson and Jack Rose, who are producing "Mrs. A," said that Bob Hope in "Beau James" was considered off-beat casting and they hope to get Doris.

The first spectacular to be made by Harry Ackerman's new company, Ticonderoga Productions, is a musical biography based on the life and songs of Jimmy McHugh.

Harry, who was formerly vice president of CBS, and his associate producer, Ed Conne, have been meeting every day with composer McHugh and the contracts are drawn up and ready for signing.

Harry says he plans to bring the spectacular to the screen in the fall. He'll use all big name singers, both men and women, to sing the tunes. Incidentally, he has just been elected president of the TV Academy of Arts and Sciences.

On June 5, Deborah Kerr with her husband, Tony Bartley, and their two little daughters sail on the Queen Mary for Paris, and if I were young Joan Seburg I'd be quaking in my boots.

Deborah is going over, of course, for "Bonjour Tristesse," the Francoise Sagan novel, in which Joan plays the lead and Deborah portrays the loving woman whom she drives to suicide.

Missy Seburg will again get Otto Preminger's loving direction in "Bonjour Tristesse" just as she did in her debut picture, "Joan of Arc."

Nevertheless, Deborah is a scene stealer deluxe. So with the relaxation of an ocean voyage, plus having the most sympathetic part in the film, she's dangerous.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Sheree North goes into the hospital Wednesday for an emergency operation whether she's finished with "Down Payment" or not at 20th.

It's a second child and first boy for pretty Barbara Lawrence and her husband, John Murphy.

SON FOR KORDAS

The new baby boy born to the Vincent Kordas in London has been named Alexander, after the late Sir Alexander Korda.

Carla Alberghetti was in a bad automobile accident, but she escaped with a cut lip and two stitches and she'll be okay for Anna Maria's opening at the Coconut Grove on Friday.

Patti Page and Charlie O'Curran sail for Europe in July for two months on that long-delayed honeymoon. Charlie's with Patti now in New York and she's just finished waxing a new album "East Side, West Side." Patti also does a spectacular, "The Big Record," next month.

The very inside story of the tooth cap Elvis Presley swallowed is that it took 100 X-rays and two days to finally locate it.

Bird Stowaway Found

VANCOUVER (AP) — A nearly-starved stowaway bird known as a tufted puffin was found trapped in air pipes of the German steamship Hammond II here. Now in the city museum, the bird is "eating furiously," says zoo Curator Alan Best.

FTC Hits Snag in Stamp Case

Silent on Its Complaints Against Trading Outfits for Illegal Practices

WASHINGTON (AP)—It appeared today that the Federal Trade Commission has run into snags in developing a case against major trading stamp companies on grounds of illegal business practices.

The commission won't say yes or no. But almost two months have passed since officials reported that tentative complaints had been drafted and laid before the commission for an expected prompt decision. Since then, there's been only silence.

Questioned whether the case has bogged down, Joseph E. Sheehy, director of the FTC Bureau of Litigation, said emphatically: "I have absolutely no comment at all."

An FTC information officer added this much: "All I can tell you is that the case is still at the staff level." Though contrary to the earlier word from FTC informants, this indicated the matter has not been shelved.

But it meant that the case has not cleared even the second of the three preliminary stages of a typical FTC action.

The steps are (1) a probe by the Investigation Bureau, (2) the drafting of a presumably court-tight complaint by Sheehy's bureau, specifying the charges, and (3) a decision by the five-member commission to issue the complaint. Thereafter come hearings, the trial examiner's findings, a commission ruling, and possibly a review or appeal.

Usually when a hitch develops, it means that Sheehy's bureau has detected weaknesses in the case and has asked the Bureau of Investigation to gather more material. This quite often happens.

But the delay has given the 600-million-dollar-a-year stamp industry reason to hope that its claims are holding up—that FTC cannot find anything illegal, improper or deceptive about the national pastime of saving stamps and cashing them in for premium merchandise.

Japan derives 60 per cent of its power for industry from coal and about 28 per cent from water power. The remainder is generated from natural gas and other petroleum products.

Attempt to Sail Ocean in Raft Ends in Failure

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The attempt of five men to sail by raft from Tahiti to Chile has ended in the sinking of their craft, the Tahiti-Nui.

The Chilean navy frigate Baquedano, which was towing the raft, picked up French explorer Eric de Bisschop and his crew of four and most of their equipment.

The 14x40-foot bamboo raft went down yesterday near the Juan Fernandez Islands, 400 miles from the Chilean coast, after a stormy sea broke the tow cable.

De Bisschop and his crew sailed last Nov. 6 from Tahiti, hoping to prove that Polynesians could have to duplicate in reverse the voyage of Thor Heyerdahl's Kon-Tiki from Peru to Tahiti in 1947.

A bad storm last week carried away the Tahiti-Nui's mast and several of her bamboo logs. Her radio appeal for help brought the frigate out to tow her.

6 Area Clubs Stage Colorful Garden Show

Pontiac Press Photos

Examples of different cut flowers were on display at the Garden Show Saturday at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan building. Six area garden clubs took part in the annual show.

Shown admiring a centerpiece arrangement, an entry in the garden show Saturday, is Mrs. Donald Hoyt of Maceday Lake.

"A penny saved is a penny earned" and the garden clubs will testify to that. This wishing well was an ingenious method of starting a fund for next year's garden show. Mrs. W. Ross Thompson of Eileen drive is shown making a wish and contributing to the project.

Young Home Is Setting for Shower

Sunday Affair Here Fetes Bride - to - Be Nancy Aldrich

Mrs. Manley Young, Kathie Young and Alice Bego entertained at a miscellaneous shower Sunday honoring bride-elect Nancy Aldrich. The Young residence on Cherokee road was the setting for the afternoon affair.

Nancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Kremer of Dwight avenue, will exchange vows with Theodore F. Cohassey June 22 at First Congregational Church. Theodore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cohassey of South Johnson avenue.

The tea table was covered with an Italian cutwork cloth and centered with a ceramic cart filled with red rosebuds. Matching colored tapers accented the centerpiece.

Guests attending included Mrs. Kremer, Mrs. Cohassey, Mrs. Robert Evans, Mrs. Aaron Fox, Mrs. Wilma Dickinson, Mrs. Anton Bego, Mrs. Robert Wright, Mrs. Jack Sprung, Mrs. James G. Aldrich, Joan Skelley, Gail MacLaren, Judy Cohassey and Marlene Crocker.

Judy Chaffee, Avery Findley Speak Vows

Judy Chaffee became the bride of Avery Findley in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Tom Malone in Emmanuel Baptist Church. Only members of the immediate families attended the May 18 wedding.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Barber of Lorberta lane. Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Findley of Porter street are Avery's parents.

Sharon Chaffee attended her sister as maid of honor. Jack Hutchings performed the duties of best man.

Party Fetes Mary Chase

Bride-elect Mary Chase was honoree at a miscellaneous shower held recently at the home of Mrs. Joe Wagley on Hammond street. Cohostesses with Mrs. Wagley were Mrs. Clayton Gillies, Mrs. John Lamont, Mrs. Raymond Coombe and Mrs. Bert Weddle.

Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rowley C. Chase of Oliver street, will become the bride of Clay Powers in a June 22 ceremony at First Methodist Church. Clay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Powers of LaSalle street.

The bride-elect chose this occasion to announce her bridal attendants. Mrs. Leslie Langford will serve her sister as matron of honor.

Other attendants will include her cousin, Mrs. Stanley Nancarrow of Chicago, and Ruth Jo Gilmore of Kalamazoo.

Church Circle Meets With Mrs. F. E. Oak

Mrs. Francis Oak opened her Lake Angelus road home for the recent meeting of Ruth Circle of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Speaker during the afternoon meeting was the Rev. Edward Auchard of Orchard Lake Community Presbyterian Church.

Married Saturday were June Nelson and Chandler Thomas Symons Jr. June is the daughter of Mrs. B. St. Peter Nelson of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Symons of Saginaw are his parents.

MRS. CHANDLER T. SYMONS JR.

June Nelson Speaks Vows

June Nelson became the bride of Chandler Thomas Symons Jr. in a 2 p.m. ceremony Saturday. The Rev. Lester Dobyns read the service in Christ Church Cranbrook.

June is the daughter of Mrs. B. St. Peter Nelson of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Symons of Saginaw are Chandler's parents.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown tailored in white French pique with a blouson back and empire bodice. The full skirt was simply detailed with four back pleats falling over the skirt and sweeping the floor.

Her headpiece was a bank of matching pique covered by a single circle of imported silk illusion, shoulder length. She carried a bouquet of majestic daisies.

The attendants wore white organdy dresses embroidered with blue cornflowers and caught at the waist by a velvet sash of the same shade. Their matching blue velvet headpieces were designed similar to the bride's.

SISTER TAKES PART

Mrs. Leonard Walton of Grosse Pointe was her sister's honor attendant. She carried an arrangement of white spray orchids with blue bachelor buttons.

Mrs. John McCullough of Detroit and Mrs. Marshall Morley of Saginaw were the bride's other attendants. Their flowers were yellow field daisies and blue bachelor buttons.

William Harbor served as best man. Seating the guests were Reed T. Draper of Saginaw and Arthur Hickey, also of Saginaw.

An afternoon dress of shell pink silk organza embroidered in white was the choice of Mrs. Nelson for her daughter's wedding. She wore a pink garden hat and a corsage of violets.

Mrs. Symons chose a gown of delft blue French batiste and a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the garden of the bride's home.

Nancy Beck Marries in New York

The bride is the daughter of Dr. Otto Beck of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Israel Brower of Brooklyn, N.Y., are Mitchell's parents.

Nancy is a graduate of Michigan State University, and Mitchell is a graduate of Yale University and the University of Chicago. The couple plans to reside in New York City.

Epsilon Rho Chapter Installs New Officers

Betty Soper was installed as president of Epsilon Rho Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, at the recent meeting held at the home of Mrs. M. A. Calbi on Linden road.

Also installed were Lillian Bullock, vice president; Mrs. Stanley Hester, secretary; Mrs. Charles Hoffman, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Orville McMorris, treasurer.

Statisticians estimate that illness and premature death in the United States result in an economic loss of more than $10 billion annually.

300 Attend Reception for Mrs. Charles Wait

Retiring Emerson School Principal Is Honored

Over three hundred guests attended the Sunday afternoon reception at Emerson School, honoring Mrs. Charles Wait, principal, who is retiring.

Receiving the guests during the afternoon, along with Mrs. Wait, were past presidents and executive board members of Emerson School PTA.

Mrs. Richard Dougherty, Mrs. Lloyd Wait, Mrs. Evelyn Woodworth, Mrs. Victor Demino, Mrs. Randolph Nelson, Mrs. Thomas Smith and Mrs. John Balch presided at the punch bowls during the affair.

Among guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Frank DuFrain, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Staley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cecil Cox, Dr. and Mrs. Dana Whitmer, Dr. Otto Hufziger, Mrs. William Mihalek, Mrs. Rudolph Kempf, Mrs. Harry King and Mr. and Mrs. William Wright.

Music during the reception was provided by Mrs. Lloyd Clancy. A distinguished service award was presented Mrs. Wait.

Mrs. Keith Mortimore of Melrose street is shown wrapping the gift presented to Mrs. Wait by the PTA. Members of the school system and the Pontiac Council of PTA attended the Sunday affair.

Mrs. Ruth Wait, retiring principal at Emerson school, was the honoree at a reception Sunday. She is shown here with J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of schools and guest at the affair. Mrs. Wait received a special award from the PTA and faculty in recognition of her work at the school.

When you're giving a party, keep your flower arrangements low. With lots of people circulating around tall vases are easily tipped over.

Shower Fetes Bride-elect

Bride-elect, Rose Marie Johnston was honoree at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. R. A. Conant in her home on Summit avenue.

Rose Marie, daughter of Mrs. Everett Johnston of North Johnson avenue, and the late Mr. Johnston, will become the bride of Bruce McColl June 29 at First Presbyterian Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison McColl of Edison street.

The bride-elect chose this occasion to anounce her bridal attendants. Carol Opland will serve as maid of honor. Catherine Johnston, sister of the bride-elect, and Katherine McClelland will be bridesmaids. Anne Louise Busse will serve as flower girl.

Sixteen guests attended the recent shower.

4 Basic Rules for Hair Health

Four basic rules for hair health are usually sufficient to prevent dandruff and other scalp disorders. These rules are:

Brush the hair 10 minutes each day with a clean brush.

Select a comb with smooth, rounded teeth so as not to injure the scalp.

Shampoo the hair regularly and thoroughly at least once a week.

Select a hair dressing if one is used, that is neither too drying nor too oily and greasy.

Soap 'Magic' Brings Health

Soap is one of the tools that the famous American doctor, Thomas D. Dooley, is using bring health and healing to the mountain people of Laos.

Never having seen soap, they stand open-mouthed at the lather it makes as if by magic.

And because it seems magical, like their own witchcraft, they use it willingly.

Lemon Pie Is Perfect for Dessert

By JANET ODELL

Lemon Meringue Pie is always a favorite dessert when it appears on restaurant menus. It is no less choice for home meals. Mrs. Robert Dorman gives us her pet recipe for the pie filling.

The mother of two children, Mrs. Dorman belongs to the Parent Guidance club. She is active in her church guild. Her hobbies are china painting and collecting antique china.

EXCELLENT LEMON PIE

By Mrs. Robert Dorman

2 lemons
1½ cups sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 eggs, separated
2 cups water
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 baked pie shell

Grate outside rind from lemons into a deep bowl. Add sugar and cornstarch. Mix thoroughly. Add well-beaten egg yolks. Beat thoroughly.

Add juice of the lemons, water and butter. Cook in double boiler until thick. Cool. Pour into baked pie shell. Beat egg whites stiff, add 3 tablespoons sugar. Cover lemon filling completely. Brown in hot oven.

Cotton Coats Look Pretty, Easy to Wash

Don't forget your coat when you're gathering up the laundry—because late spring and summer coat materials are so safely washable.

Cottons and blended coating fabrics take you smartly and comfortably right through the season's breezes.

Cotton hopsacking, for instance, combining threads of black, white, turquoise, and mauve blue. Or a new fabric that looks like an old-fashioned bedspread, in string-colored tones. Or smooth, fine cotton tweeds.

Wear them, suds them, and enjoy them!

Mrs. Hill Is Hostess

Mrs. Nelson Hill was hostess in her home on Draper avenue to members of the Queen Mary Section of Needlework Guild, for a recent luncheon. Mrs. Alex Joss assisted the hostess.

Following the business meeting, members spent the afternoon sewing.

For summer vacation, pack a washable gown and robe set, one that's quick drying. Ideal summer fabric choice is a mixture of dacron and cotton.

True Case Should Be Treated by Specialist

Acne Can Mar Personality as Well as Skin

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Real acne not only damages the complexion but can have an adverse effect on personality. The time when acne is most likely to appear is during teenage years, just when young men and women need most to have self-confidence.

The shyness which this sometimes creates may have far-reaching effects in adult life, long after the disease itself has died out. Along with possible scars, a negative approach to life may also linger.

Prevention is easier than cure, but today the picture is very hopeful even when the disease is acute. Drmatologists attack it from many different viewpoints and with varied weapons. A true case of acne should be treated by a skin specialist.

Let us understand just what happens to cause the almost universal complexion which most teenagers have in some form. During these years there is an excess of hormones which cause the little oil glands in the skin to be overactive.

This excess oil becomes mixed with dead cells and surface dirt, dries and plugs the pores. This process, if allowed to continue, causes blackheads.

CANNOT ESCAPE

The glands continue secreting oil but it cannot escape. This makes a perfect atmosphere for bacteria to thrive in. This infection results and pimples appear.

There are some things you can do which will probably prevent this trouble and in some instances may even cure a beginning case of acne.

WASH your face several times each day with soap and water. There are all sorts of face washings. By washing I mean that you should work a good lather into your face with a clean washcloth at least three times daily. After that rinse thoroughly. If you do this faithfully each day it will soften blackheads and remove excess oil.

It is also most important to keep your hands off your face. Many times a few pimples or blackheads have been promoted to a No. 1 case of acne by handling and squeezing.

In a recent issue of Today's Health (the American Medical Association magazine) Paul DeKruif, Ph.D., says, "there is no question that properly washing the skin, and then keeping the hands off it, improves and even arrests many cases of acne. But this alone, though indispensable, won't cure all acne."

We sometimes forget that our skin is a part of our body, not something which we wear and care for as we would some outer garment. It is true that our skin is constantly sloughing off dead cells, but we do not shed our outer coating all at one time.

We can lubricate our skin and put all of the creams imaginable on it, but our epidermis is dependent on our blood stream for its food, just as the rest of our body is.

Actually the food we eat is so much more important to us than we realize. There is no real beauty or health without adequate nutrition.

Many of the diseases which harass man have been found to be deficiency maladies, to say nothing of those minor hazards such as fatigue which can dull our days and put a damper on enthusiastic living.

Anemia which makes us tired and sometimes breathless is correlated with an inadequate supply of red blood corpuscles, or cells, with a resulting smaller-than-normal amount of hemoglobin. Hemoglobin carries oxygen to the tissues.

AMAZING THINGS

Our body works so hard to overcome disease and even to make up for our abuse. It does the most amazing things! It does seem that we could give it at least the weapon of fine nutrition to work with.

AND, fine nutrition is so easy to get. How fortunate we are to live where the elements of proper eating are available. This is not true all over the world.

You know, or should know by now, what you need for a well-balanced diet. The trouble is that you probably do not take it seriously and therefore wonder why you are tired, why you are not as good looking as you would like to be.

I have long held the theory that women will not work for health until they fear they may lose it, but that they will work for good looks. You have to do the same things to achieve either.

The best beauty routine you could have would be to eat as scientifically as possible—and this is not dreary. The food can be exciting and the results in beauty and even in increased personality are a modern adventure.

You are just plain old-fashioned if you do not take advantage of what is known today about scientific eating.

Tomorrow: "Eat Proteins, Fruit, Cut Fats for Good Nutrition."

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Warrant Sought in Killing of Scout

MUSKEGON (AP)—A first degree murder warrant was to be sought today against a former Muskegon handyman in the slaying of boy Scout Peter Gorham, Sheriff Arthur W. Davis said last night.

Davis said he would ask prosecutor Robert A. Cavanaugh for the murder warrant against Herman Barmore, 44, a New York parole violator, in the 1955 slaying of the 12-year-old Evanston, Ill., boy.

Barmore, alias Charles W. Ficher, currently is held in the Muskegon county jail on a morals charge involving a Muskegon juvenile.

Davis said Barmore has admitted slaying the Gorham boy, but claimed it was an accident. The sheriff said Barmore maintained he accidentally shot the Scout in a target-practicing session after he Muskegon area camp.

The boy's body was found six weeks after he disappeared while hiking. He had been shot through the head.

Would Lash Convicts

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — The Buganda Lukiko (parliament), claiming British administrators are too lenient with robbers, has recommended 30-year prison sentences, plus 24 lashes every six months for convicted robbers. The British governor of the Uganda protectorate must approve before it becomes law.

Lakes impounded by dams of the Tennessee Valley Authority have an estimated total shoreline of approximately 10,058 linear miles.

Price Index Increased

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit consumer price index increased 0.3 per cent from March to April, according to the U. S. Department of Labor. The April index for Detroit was 121.4, based on a 100 index for the 1947-49 average.

Earth's Destiny May Ride Into Space With Satellite

(What lies beyond the atmosphere? Is it cold? Or hot? Empty? Packed with meteors. These are only a few of the questions scientists hope to answer when they shoot the first meteor into space. Here is the first of three articles bringing up to the minute U.S. plans for this dramatic project.)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of your destiny lies within a brilliant metal ball that looks like a huge Christmas tree ornament.

It is stunningly beautiful.

Inside, it is being fitted with ingenious eyes, ears, fingers, breath voice and memory for a journey literally out of this world.

For this shiny sphere is to become a shooting star, a man-made moon circling the earth every 90 to 100 minutes.

It is going to be hurled hundreds of miles out into space by rockets reaching the never-before-attained speed of 18,000 miles an hour—five miles a second.

Our first messenger into space, it will learn facts which could greatly benefit your life, and your children's.

It will see our sun as man has never seen it . . . count meteors, the cosmic dust . . . tell us how empty, hot or cold space really is . . . report the thick rain of powerful cosmic rays . . .

It will help determine the exact shape of the earth . . . explore some mysteries of magnetism . . . aid in better prediction or control of weather.

It will be man's first step toward rocketing himself through space. It may turn up astounding discoveries yet undreamed of by wildest imagination.

But the Russians could do it first.

For Russia also is planning to shoot man-made moons around the earth. Our first one probably won't be fired until early next year.

No one outside Russia knows whether they are ahead of us — as yet they have announced no single detail of their progress.

Hanging out the satellite is a main and fascinating goal in the International Geophysical Year IGY which begins officially July 1.

Offhand, the blueprints look disarmingly simple.

"You put the satellite into an orbit. You prove it's there. You do something scientific with it," Dr. Hagen says.

Actually it involves a tremendous effort by hundreds of scientists, at a cost of millions of dollars.

The little moon is only the size of a bushel basket, weighs 20½ pounds, easy enough for a woman to lift with one hand.

But it must be shot to a speed that will counterbalance the earth's pull of gravity, so it swings about like a ball on the end of a string. Then it will stay up, in an elliptical orbit bringing it no closer than 200 miles from earth, nor farther than 1,200 to 1,500 miles away.

"If we miss the minimum speed by one foot per second, we fail," Dr. Hagen points out. "In this horse race, we must win on the nose."

The ball is a thin magnesium shell, given fantastically thin coatings on the outside of zinc, copper, silver, gold-two ounces of gold worth $70 — chromium, and aluminum. And a special outer invisible coating of silicon monoxide to help it get rid of excess heat and safeguard the delicate, insulated instrument inside.

Inside it, scientists are putting instruments to become the extensions and perfections of the senses of man in outer space.

The moon will rise up enclosed in the nose of a rocket 72 feet long, weighing 10 tons. It will be three rockets, firing off in stages.

The first and larger two fall away after doing their job. The last one must race the ball up to its maximum, and correct, speed and altitude, then shove it away with a spring mechanism.

For a while there will be two satellites, the ball itself and the four-foot-long third stage rocket Gradually they will drift apart.

But the glistening ball will chatter back to earth by radio telling-who knows what?

(Next: How satellites work — one nickel buys you a new look at the sun.)

POPULAR PASTIME—Although surrounded by food and music, Kate Sutton, of 77 Camley St., seems to rate the family telephone as the center of her attention. An eleventh grade student at Pontiac High School, she finds much of her leisure time spent in phone conversations.

Pontiac Press Photos

ROAD HAZARD — Completely unaware that he is "blocking traffic," Tom O'Brien, of 75 Hamilton St., sprawls comfortably across a doorway, obviously under the spell of teenage "phone fever." The tenth grader at Pontiac High School is typical of many who may interrupt their lengthy conversations long enough to run to the kitchen in search of another sandwich.

MERCY MISSION — Starting out early as young Florence Nightingales, "nurses" Susan O'Brien, 3, and Judy Gambale, 5, of Brooklyn, rush a patient patient, Susie's sick doll, to the "hospital." Check the procedure — they're even in step.

We All Suffer Mental Illness, Says Professor

ATLANTI CCITY, N. J. (AP) — Every person suffers some form of mental illness at some time during his life, Dr. Nathan W. Ackerman, associate clinical professor of psychiatry at Columbia University, said yesterday.

Dr. Ackerman told the National Conference of Jewish Communal Service that it is virtually impossible to prevent mental disease unless a "healthy formula" for human relations is found.

He warned that as a result of "our utter failure to face the challenge of human relations, we gamble with the risk of total destruction."

Human relations, Dr. Ackerman said, are in a state of turbulence today, thus explaining the "immense present-day preoccupation with psychiatry and mental hygiene."

Many Stay on Family Line for Hours

Should Teenagers Have Phones?

"Should teenagers have their own telephones, and if so, who should pay the costs?" This question was asked this week of four adults and four teenagers picked at random off the streets of Pontiac.

It is rapidly becoming evident that there are more teenagers nowadays vying for honors on the same old "family phone." What can be done to alleviate this problem?

Even limited time on the family phone usually means high phone bills. However, if teenagers had their own phones—not merely extensions—the family phone would certainly enjoy more freedom.

Mrs. C. K. Nauman, of 10420 Elizabeth Lake Rd., White Lake Township, stated, "Whether or not teenagers should have their own phones, would depend largely upon the individual family's finances.

"If the children were given allowances, then they should be expected to pay the phone bill out of it. However, I have three grandchildren which haven't reached their teens yet, so give me a few more years and I'll probably have a different opinion."

Mr. John D. O'Guin, of 102½ Washington St., said, "I don't see why teenagers shouldn't have their own telephones. After all, it's a free country, isn't it?

Whether or not they should pay their own bills should depend on whether or not their income or allowance is large enough.

Mrs. David J. Gallo, 36 Norton Ave., the mother of three, took a negative stand. "No, I definitely do not think teenagers should have their own phones.

Teenagers have too much freedom already. However, if they do have their own phones, I definitely think they should pay for both the installation and monthly bills."

MRS. NAUMAN

O'GUIN

Our first teenager, Jack Hendrickson, 18, of 2131 Galloway Rd., and a student at Pontiac High School, raised some interesting points. Jack smiled, "Well you know—progress brings on everything.

HENDRICKSON

MRS. GALLO

"Many teehagers have their own radios, TV sets, and cars.

Why not phones? As for the cost of installation and the monthly bills, they would have to be paid by the teenager just as he would buy his own car and pay for his own gas."

JANET CARLISLE

SUROWITZ

Mr. Louis Surowitz, of 74 N. Saginaw St., the father of two teenagers, one 15 and 17, said, "Yes, I definitely think teenagers should have their own phones. It would keep the family phone free.

"From my own experience, I would say a teenager ties up the phone from 15 to 30 minutes at a time. The phone should be given the teenager as a gift when he or she reaches a certain age, and the bills should be handled by the parents since most teenage allowances are not large enough."

Janet Carlisle, 18, of 86 N. Johnson Ave., a Pontiac High School student, hinted a note of idealism. She thought, "No, teenagers shouldn't have their own phones. It seems to me that a teenager could have a more profitable pastime than talking on the phone.

"I know I wouldn't want one, and I think these contests which give away free phones don't promote anything worth while. However, I do think the names of teenagers should be listed in the phone book, especially those who are living with foster or step parents."

DORITA CARLISLE

and also a student at Pontiac High, disagreed, "I think teenagers should have their own phones.

"It gives a teenager the chance to carry on a private conversation without people cutting in on the line or snoopy mothers listening in.

"However, if they're not willing to save up for a phone and pay the monthly bills, then they don't deserve one."

The last young man we interviewed, also a Pontiac high student, took the type of stand we had expected of the adults. David Martin, 16, of 428 Midway Ave., stated, "No, I don't think there is any need for teenagers to have their own phones.

"One phone in the family is enough, and teenagers should learn how to limit their conversations—especially girls who always talk too long. However if a teenager did get his own phone, he should be willing to pay all the costs involved."

U.S. Citizens Know Little About Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—Is it easy to get a divorce in Russia? What is the capital of Russia? What proportion of Russians are Communists? Who heads the Russian government?

Americans are strong on opinions but many are weak on facts concerning Russia, says a copyrighted story in the current McCall's magazine.

The magazine said it sponsored a poll of 500 men and 500 women in a sample designed to parallel the population by sex, geography, education and city size, and found:

Thirty out of 100 Americans, including 20 per cent of the college graduates interviewed, didn't know the capital of Russia. (Moscow).

Seven of 10 women can't name the head of the Russian government, Khrushchev or Bulganin would be an acceptable answer, the magazine says.

Half of those interviewed thought it easy to get a divorce in Russia "but this has not been true for many years," the article says.

It says the "picturesque fiction" that the Russian government encourages free love is still believed in every part of the country but "the fact is that the Communist party line is vigorously moral."

The magazine said approximately 3 per cent of the Russians are Communists, but that an estimate of 5 per cent or less was given by only 8 per cent of those polled.

Answers to other questions:

Do you believe American children should be taught the facts about communism in school? Yes, 70 per cent. No, 27 per cent.

Are there any free public schools in Russia? Yes, 39 per cent; no, 50 per cent. (The magazine said Russia has universal free public education.)

Is Russia preparing to attack us within two years? Yes, 32 per cent; no, 63 per cent.

Does Russia fear we will attack her? Yes, 29 per cent; no, 68 per cent.

If Russia attacked France or Britain, should the U. S. fight? Yes, 62 per cent; no, 34 per cent.

Soviets to Sign Hungarian Pact

Zhukov, Gromyko to OK Treaty About Stationing of Troops in Satellite

BUDAPEST (AP)—Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko arrived today to sign a pact on the future of Soviet forces "temporarily" stationed in Communist Hungary.

These are the troops who put down last fall's anti-Russian revolt.

Hungarian Foreign Ministry officials said the signing would take place later today and would be celebrated by a big reception tonight in Budapest's Parliament Building. Russian experts have been in Budapest working on the draft of the treaty since the end of last week.

Withdrawal of Russian troops was one of the chief demands of the Hungarian rebels. Premier Janos Kadar's government, which took office when the Russians intervened in the rebellion, hinted at first that the Soviet troops might be withdrawn "after order is restored."

But Minister of State Gyoergy Marosan ruled out any such hope March 24, saying: "Soviet troops will remain in Hungary as long as American troops are stationed in West Germany, Italy and elsewhere in Europe."

Russia in recent months has signed similar troop agreements with Poland, East Germany and Romania.

Blame Dense Fog for Ship Collision Near Mackinac

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A dense fog which blanketed the St. Marys river and the Straits of Mackinac was blamed yesterday for two collisions in which four Great Lakes freighters were damaged.

No personal injuries were reported in the collisions.

Coast Guard officials said the first crash occurred in the St. Marys river between the downbound Joliet and the upbound Verona. The collision left part of the Joliet's bow imbedded in the Verona which had about two feet of her bow stove in. Both vessels continued to proceed under their own power.

The Joliet is a 504-foot, 10,000-ton ore carrie owned by the Cleveland Cliffs Line and the Verona, owned by Inner Isakes Steamship Co. of Cleveland, is a 480-foot, 8,500-ton ore carrier.

Coast Guard officials said the second mishap involved the Henry Phipps and the B. F. Affleck. Both vessels are 590-feet and 12,000 tons and are owned by Pittsburgh Steamship Co. of Cleveland.

The officials said the vessels collided in the Straits of Mackinac, about a mile west of the new straits bridge, during a thick fog. The Phipps reported her left side badly dented. The Affleck suffered lesser damage.

Beauty Queen Marries Singer Bruce Yarnell

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Beauty queen Frances Chadwick, 6 feet 2 inches, married 22-year-old singer Bruce Yarnell, 6 feet 5½ inches, yesterday.

The bride, 19, of nearby Glendora, won the "Queen of Height" United States and Canada beauty contest last July at Vancouver, B.C.

The couple met at a dance of the Tip Toppers — a club for women 6 feet and up and men 6 feet 4 or over.

40 Bodies Found in Turkey Quakes

ISTANBUL (AP) — Rescue teams digging through the ruins of earthquake-shattered villages in northern Turkey today counted at least 40 killed and 70 injured.

Casualty reports mounted rapidly as searchers reached the area about 100 miles southeast of Istanbul where the quake struck yesterday.

Officials in Bolu province, which felt the brunt of the shock, estimated 40 dead. There were unconfirmed reports of scattered deaths in the adjoining provinces. At least 280 houses were destroyed.

Hardest hit by the quake, which also shook tourist-jammed Ankara and Istanbul, were villages south of the provincial capital of Bolu.

The quake struck at 8:33 a.m. yesterday. Shocks lasting for 10 seconds toppled houses and sent tile roofs crashing into the streets. Minarets came tumbling from building tops.

Found Guilty of Living in Unfit Residence

George Bok, 60, of 18 Millbourne Place, was found guilty of occupying a place unfit for human habitation by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Bok was fined $60, ordered to pay a $10 probation fee and placed on three months' probation. He was arrested April 29 on a warrant obtained by Charles Cohen, Pontiac health inspector.

WHITEWRIGHT, Tex. (AP)—Ed LaRoe's perfect Rotary Club attendance of 25½ years fell recently when an illness sent him to a hospital for two weeks.

Parents Get Look at Food Service

Food service employes of Waterford Township's two upper-grade schools are proud of their work and have a new way to prove it.

Periodically, parents and eighth grade pupils at Isaac Crary Junior High School are invited to participate in the lunch and noon hour activity program.

Only ninth grade students are served lunches regularly, and more than 500 plates of well-balanced food are handed out daily, according to Mrs. Shirley McCoy, Food Service director.

Purpose of inviting parents and eighth graders to the lunch is to show them that the school lunch room is not just a "filling station," but a place to acquire good eating habits as well as wholesome food.

BROAD OBJCTIVES

Through the combined efforts of principal, pupils, parents and food service personnel, the objectives have been broadened to include the promotion of health through nutrition, and the development of good behavior in group eating.

"For many eighth grade students, this is the first eating-away-from-home experience with children their own age," Mrs. McCoy said. "They learn responsibility in cleanliness, consideration for others and a sense of belonging to the group."

Of the 19 schools in the township, only Waterford Township High and Isaac Crary Junior High schools provide noon-day service.

The program operates as a non-profit activity with assistance from the federal government. "For this reason, we can offer a nutritious hot lunch to students for 30 cents and adults 35 cents," said Mrs. McCoy.

An average school lunch includes meat turnover, or meat loaf, mashed potatoes, gravy, carrots, tossed salad, biscuit, a brownie, milk or coffee.

"As far as we know, this is the only school in the county that sponsors a parent-participation program," Mrs. McCoy concluded.

Fish Mold Ideal for Tuna Salad

The molded salad, one of the most eye-catching to come to the table, is the answer for the hostess who wants a salad that's a conversation piece, yet one that requires little last minute preparation.

Mention molded salad and most people think of fruited gelatine. A favorite with children, this is but one of dozens of recipes falling into this category. There are molded vegetable salads, aspics and frozen fruit salads.

Whether you use large or individual molds for your salad is up to you. The large mold, attractively garnished, adds a striking note to the luncheon or supper buffet; while small molds are more easily served at a regular dinner or "plate" luncheon.

Tuna Ribbon Salad, can be the center of attraction if you mold it in a large fish-shaped mold. These fancy-shaped molds are now available at low, low prices. While the copper ones are most attractive, they are not necessary to a successful salad.

Tuna Ribbon Salad, while it has a gourmet touch, is simple to assemble. It's a salad in two parts. For the tuna layer, tuna, mayonnaise, chopped pickles and chopped pimiento are jelled with unflavored gelatine as the base. The cheese layer that tops it (it goes into the mold first) combines cottage cheese, sour cream and minced chives in gelatine. A tablespoon of vinegar gives it extra zip.

TUNA RIBBON SALAD

2 teaspoons unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons cold water
¼ cup boiling water
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons minced chives
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
½ teaspoon salt

Tuna Layer

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons cold water
¼ cup boiling water
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
2 cans (6½ ounces) tuna, drained, flaked
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ cup chopped pickles
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

For cheese layer: Soften gelatine in cold water; dissolve in boiling water. Add cheese and next 4 ingredients. Pour into loaf pan (8"x-4"x3") or fish mold; chill until firm.

Meanwhile, prepare tuna layer: Soften gelatine in cold water; dissolve in boiling water. Add vinegar and remaining ingredients. Pour over firm cheese layer; chill until firm. Unmold; slice. Serve on endive or lettuce; garnish with pickle fans, radish roses or parsley. Makes 8-10 servings.

NOTE: 1 can (1 pound) salmon, drained and flaked, may be substituted for tuna.

As a special garnish on the platter, make a few pickle fans:

Pickle Fans

Cut sweet or dill pickles into thin parallel slices almost to the length of each pickle. Spread carefully into a fan shape; then press the uncut end between the thumb and forefinger so the fan will hold its shape.

TUNA RIBBON SALAD—For the center of your buffet table try a Tuna Ribbon Salad in a fish mold. This salad has two layers: one is tuna, mayonnaise and chopped pickles in unflavored gelatin; the other, a cheese layer, has cottage cheese and sour cream. Salmon may be used instead of tuna.

Blade, Arm and English Are Pot Roast Cuts

The beef chuck is cut into three kinds of roasts—blade, arm, and English. The blade is the tenderest cut of chuck, because it comes from nearest the rib. The arm cut of chuck is sometimes called round bone. It is less tender than the blade, but it does give a little more meat for your money, says the M. S. U. Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. The English cut is easy to recognize by its square shape.

Whichever you choose, you'll find all three make flavorful pot roasts. All three can be tasty and tender if you use low temperature, moisture, and plenty of time for cooking.

Berry Pinwheels Are Brand New

Red, plump, juicy strawberries—what shall we do with them? For a new, delicious idea, let's have Strawberry Pinwheel Sandwiches! Cream cheese and strawberries make a delicate pink filling with just the proper daintiness to decorate a summertime refreshment tray. Rolled watercress sandwiches complement Strawberry Pinwheels in both flavor and color.

The summery, leisurely days are at hand — time to make up a tall pitcher of frosty iced coffee, fill a platter with these delightful little sandwiches and enjoy them out on the terrace. Really living, that's what it is!

Strawberry Pinwheel Sandwiches

Sugar
1 pkg. (3-oz.) cream cheese
3 tablespoons dairy sour cream
Sandwich bread

Wash and hull strawberries. Crush them slightly, sweeten to taste and drain. Mash cream cheese and whip with sour cream until fluffy. Add drained strawberries and mix gently.

Remove crusts from loaf of unsliced sandwich bread and cut 4 very thin lengthwise slices. Spread with strawberry mixture. Roll up firmly, starting at one narrow end and rolling to the other. Wrap each roll in foil and chill. Slice crosswise to serve. Makes about 4 dozen.

Salad With Rice Is Hearty Dish

Energy-giving rice forms the basis for a tuna-pineapple salad that provides many important food requirements. Delicious and healthful at the same time, we recommend it served with vegetable relishes, honey-fruit bread and coffee Bavarian cream.

Tuna Rice Tropical Salad

1 6½-ounce can white meat tuna, flaked (1⅓ cups)
1 9-ounce can pineapple tidbits, well-drained
2 cups cold cooked rice
¾ cup thinly sliced celery
½ cup sliced stuffed olives
¼ cup minced green pepper
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup mayonnaise

Toss together all ingredients except mayonnaise; chill thoroughly. Add mayonnaise and mix lightly with a fork. Serve on crisp salad greens garnished with parsley and additional pineapple. Yields 6 servings.

Chicken, Olives Plus Consomme Blend in Mousse

If you are partial to chicken, you night want to try this Chicken Mousse. Chopped olives and toasted almonds are the novelty note here. The base is condensed consomme.

Chicken Mousse

1½ tablespoons unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed consome, undiluted
¼ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash celery salt
2 teaspoons grated onion
1½ cups finely minced, cooked chicken
½ cup coarsely chopped stuffed olives
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup chopped, toasted almonds (optional)

Soften gelatine in cold water; dissolve in consomme which has been heated. Stir in vinegar and next 3 ingredients. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip until fluffy; fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into individual molds or 1-quart ring mold; chill until firm.

Unmold on lettuce; garnish with slices of olive and lemon. Serve with Cucumber Cream Sauce if desired. Makes 4-6 servings.

Blue Lake Green Beans Excellent Hot or Cold

The spring menu needs a new hat, in a manner of speaking. Here's one made of those particularly flavorful Blue Lake beans grown in the Pacific Northwest. They are a variety of stringless beans developed especially for canning.

There are 5 types canned: whole, sometimes referred to as jumble whole; whole Vertical, in which the beans are packed parallel to the sides of the can; French, sliced lengthwise and packed jumble fashion (sometimes called Julienne); cut, cut into standard lengths about 1½-inches; and Short Cut, in which not less than 75 per cent are less than ¾-inch in length and not more than 1 per cent are more than 1½-inch in length.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add vegetable liquid, dry salad dressing mix, vinegar and onion. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in beans, celery and radishes. Pour into individual molds or a 2-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on bed of crisp lettuce and mixed greens. Serve with sliced cold meats or poultry, if desired. Serves 10 to 12.

Cool and Clear Green Bean Salad

2 packages apple-flavored gelatin
2 cups hot water
Vegetable liquid and water to make 1½ cups
1 tablespoon old-fashioned French salad dressing mix
4 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 No. 303 can Blue Lake green beans
1 cup diced celery
1 cup finely sliced radishes
Lettuce and assorted greens

Confetti Green Beans

¼ cup minced onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 teaspoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 tablespoons soy sauce
1 No. 303 can Blue Lake variety green beans, undrained
1 4-ounce can pimientos, diced
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish
Cooked rice

In saucepan, saute onions in butter until tender — about 3-5 minutes. Stir in cornstarch, then ginger, soy sauce, beans plus liquid and pimientos. Cook over moderate flame, stirring until mixture thickens and clears. Add horseradish and mix well. Serve on hot, fluffy rice. Serves 4-6.

This Sandwich Makes a Meal

A sandwich according to the dictionary is "two slices of bread usually buttered and having a thin layer, as of meat or cheese, spread between them." But here's a recipe that adds an entirely new dimension to a sandwich. The sandwiches, in this case, ham salad on slices of enriched yeast-raised bread, are tucked into a rich cheese custard and baked to make a hot and hearty casserole.

You'll find it just the thing to serve for an easy-on-the-hostess Sunday night supper dish with a crisp green salad to complement it.

Baked Ham Sandwich Fondue

3 ham salad sandwiches on enriched yeast-raised white bread
1½ cups grated cheddar cheese
4 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons grated onion
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne

Trim the crusts from sandwiches. Cut sandwiches into four fingers. In a 1½-quart greased baking dish, arrange a layer of sandwich fingers; sprinkle with some grated cheese. Repeat until all the sandwiches and cheese are used. Combine eggs, milk, onion and seasonings; pour over the top of sandwich and cheese layers. Let stand ½ hour. Bake at 350 degrees about 1 hour until set. Serves 4 to 6.

Winning Way to Use Leftover Beef Roast

A variation of one of our favorite ways of using leftover meat.

Creole Beef and Broccoli

1 package (10 ounces) frozen broccoli spears
2 cups diced leftover roast beef
1 can (6 ounces) mushrooms
1 can (10¾ ounces) meatless tomato spaghetti sauce
Grated cheese

Cook broccoli according to package directions; drain and keep warm. Meanwhile mix roast beef, mushrooms (drained) and spaghetti sauce together in a saucepan; heat gently.

Arrange broccoli spears in bottom of baking dish—a heat-resistant glass pie plate that is 8½ by 1¼ inches deep is fine.

Spread meat and sauce mixture over broccoli; sprinkle with grated cheese. Put under broiler a few minutes to brown cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Serve over rice.

Curried Peaches Go Well With Meats

Easy and taste-intriguing fruit garnish for meat.

CURRIED PEACHES

4 to 8 drained canned peach halves
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon curry powder
Grated rind of one-half of a lemon or lime

Arrange peaches in shallow pan or on heavy aluminum foil with edges turned up to form a container. Blend butter and curry powder together; put a dollop of the mixture in the cavity of each peach half. Broil several inches from heat until hot through and tops are touched with brown.

Spoon any juices that have run down back into cavities; sprinkle with grated lemon rind. Serve hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings as a meat garnish.

Honor N. England Cooks

"Foods of Old New England" by Marjorie Mosser is a new cookbook just published by Doubleday and Company, Inc., Garden City, New York. It is a common-sense reference work that includes the many recipes that have made New England cooks justly famous. You will find Baked Beans, Clam Bisque, Quince Marmalade, Creamed Salt Codfish, Johnny Cake, Fish House Punch, to name just a few.

But this book is not just a compilation of scattered recipes, it is a complete cookbook with detailed recipes arranged in customary categories with tables of weights and measures, equivalents and cooking times. For those who enjoy good writing about good food, there are interesting notes by Kenneth Roberts.

Just one of the recipes in this book that will stand you in frequent good stead is Cheese Ring. It is a well-seasoned combination of cheese custard and enriched yeast-raised bread in a ring shape that can be filled with a bright green vegetable, seafood or meat.

CHEESE RING

6 eggs
2 cups milk
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 cups grated American cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Dash of paprika
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon onion juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

To slightly beaten eggs add milk and bread crumbs. Stir in butter, cheese and seasonings and pour into a buttered 8-inch ring mold. Place in pan of hot water and make at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serves 8.

. CHEESE VEGETABLE SCALLOP — Vegetables of the leftover variety can be turned into a delicious dish with an onion-cheese sauce featuring onion soup mix as one of the ingredients.

Medley of Vegetables Meet

The frugal homemaker must be of an inventive turn of mind seven days a week. One problem she seems to face rather regularly is what to do with "left-overs." It is inevitable that all the vegetables won't be eaten since the kiddies are rarely interested in "seconds" of things that are good for them.

But if you are resourceful, you can disguise these vegetable left-overs so deliciously that you'll certainly never have the problem of left-overs from the left-overs.

Try a Cheese-Vegetable Scallop. The vegetables: potatoes, carrots and peas are combined in a casserole. Then for the saucy touch that makes this dish a marvel of good taste—make an onion-cheese sauce with packaged onion soup mix.

It is so easy and saves you the tearful chore of preparing onions. Also the delicious stock in the soup mix permeates the sauce and adds a most distinctive note. When this sauce is thickened and bubbling hot, pour it over the vegetables in the casserole. Finally for the crowning touch, sprinkle the top with bread crumbs and grated cheese and bake until browned.

This is the type dish you'd be proud to serve company as well as family. Matter of fact, why not try it sometime for just that.

Cheese-Vegetable Scallop

1½ cups diced cooked potatoes
1 cup sliced cooked carrots
1 cup cooked peas
½ cup bread crumbs

In a 2-quart casserole, combine left-over vegetables. Pour onion-cheese sauce over vegetables. Combine bread crumbs and remaining cheese from sauce, then sprinkle over top of sauce and vegetables. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 20 to 25 minutes or until browned.

Onion-Cheese Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons onion soup mix
2 cups milk
1¼ cups grated sharp cheese

In saucepan, melt butter and remove from heat. Blend in flour and onion soup mix, then add milk. Return to a low heat and stir until thickened. Add ¾ cup grated cheese and stir until melted. The remaining cheese is for the top of the casserole.

Some Spices Found OK for Use in Ulcer Diet

The normally drab diets of ulcer sufferers may become more flavorful as a result of new research showing that various spices are not harmful to ulcers.

Cinnamon, allspice, mace, thyme, sage, paprika and caraway seed are permissible in the diets of those with active duodenal or gastric ulcers, according to an article in the American Journal of Gastroenterology. Dr. Max A. Schneider (Buffalo, N.Y.), Dr. Vincent DeLuca Jr. (Derby, Conn.) and Dr. Seymour J. Gray (Boston, Mass.) working at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital of the Harvard University Medical School in Boston reported the results of tests on 50 ulcer patients.

"One of the problems of diet therapy in peptic ulcer disease," the doctors explained, "is the impalatability of the diet with resultant lack of patient cooperation." They noted that, "Physicians have warned patients to avoid 'spices and highly seasoned foods' without objective evidence to support the effect of spices on the gastric mucosa and the healing time of the peptic ulcer."

Because of the new research, it is now hoped that the use of prescribed spices in diets for ulcer patients will speed recovery of the patients by overcoming the reluctance, and in some cases refusal, of patients to adhere to the usual bland ulcer diet.

The Boston tests consisted of feeding .05 to .9 grams of spices in capsules three times a day over periods of two weeks to five months. The average testing period was 40 days. The amount of spice used in each case was determined by the requirements of spiced recipes from the American Spice Trade Association's cookbook, "The A-B-C of Spice Cookery."

For example, four slices of cinnamon toast requires approximately .9 gram of cinnamon. The patients were thus given .9 gram of the spice three times daily.

As long as they were taken with food, the spices listed above caused no discomfort and did not alter the healing time of the ulcer craters, according to the researchers. However, as was expected, the seasonings tended to cause distress when the capsules were taken on an empty stomach between meals. During the tests the patients were maintained on the usual ulcer diet, interval feedings, antacids and antispasmodics.

In general, the doctors concluded, "From these studies it would appear that cinnamon, allspice, mace, thyme, sage, paprika and caraway seed administered with food do not exert a harmful effect on the stomach, and may be considered innocuous in the amounts used, although the number of patients studied with each spice is limited." At no time did the patients know which spice or the quantity they were receiving.

The tests also included black pepper, mustard, chili pepper, cloves and nutmeg. In several instances these resulted in discomfort to the patient. Their use is not advocated in diet therapy in peptic ulcer diseases.

The research was supported by grants from the American Spice Trade Association.

Cottage Cheese Stuffs Spuds

Oh some would call it "cottage."
While others call it "Dutch."
And some would name it "Schmierkase,"
By any name we like it—much.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that we must like cottage cheese, by any name, better and better all the time, because we're eating more and more of it: About one-third more than we ate just five short years ago.

If your own family is one that finds more ways to use more cottage cheese, probably you know better than anyone else just why you eat more of it. Maybe you like its fresh, springlike flavor. Maybe you like it because you know it's rich in proteins, vitamins and minerals but low in calories, good for that slim, trim silhouette. Maybe you like cottage cheese because it can be used in so many ways, either as a salad or in many cooked dishes.

Yes, in cooked dishes! For example, next time you serve baked potatoes, give them an extra spurt of interest with cottage cheese. Here's how:

Bake the potatoes until done and cut in half. Scoop the potatoes out of the half-shells and whip with cottage cheese, using one cup of cottage cheese to two large potatoes. Season with butter, salt, pepper and chopped chives. Refill the potato shells and bake until each half potato is nicely browned. Incidentally, most cooks like the large-curd cottage cheese best for cooking.

Baby Food Glazes Baked Spareribs

Fruit and spareribs have been going around together for years at the very best tables. Flavor contrast alone isn't behind this agreeable alliance; bright fruit colors cheer spareribs, make this hearty dish appealing to the eye and promptly to the appetite.

Yet why stop at basting spareribs with fruit? Indeed, why not tuck tempting fruit directly into the stuffing? Bother questions are answered by this new method with Baked Stuffed Spareribs, a dish sturdy enough for any man.

Ready-to-use junior fruit speeds up preparation of the stuffing and the fruitful glaze applied during baking.

Baked Stuffed Spareribs

¼ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup raisins, cut up (optional)
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup junior applesauce and apricots
3 cups toasted soft bread cubes (about ½ inch)
2 pounds lean spareribs (cut in 2 even pieces)

Cook celery and onion in butter or margarine until tender but not brown. Combine raisins, salt, applesauce and apricots, cooked onion and celery with the toasted bread cubes. Arrange stuffing between the 2 pieces of spareribs. Sew ends together to hold stuffing firmly in place.

Place in baking dish; bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 1¼ hours. Cover the meat with Apple-Apricot Glaze and continue baking 15 minutes longer or until meat is tender. Serves 6.

Apple-Apricot Glaze

Combine 2 tablespoons Applesauce and Apricots with 1 tablespoon brown sugar and ½ teaspoon salt. Blend well. Use as directed in Baked Stuffed Spareribs or to baste any roast of pork or baked shoulder chops.

Corn in Salad Is Surprise Feature

Canned corn and cabbage are budget-priced, so try combining them in an "Indian Cole Slaw."

Home economists at Iowa State College provide the recipe:

Add drained whole kernel corn, finely chopped onion, chopped green pepper and pimento to shredded chilled cabbage. Season to taste and combine with a tart French dressing.

Asparagus Takes to Varied Ways of Serving

May we call your attention to some epicurean ways to serve the freshly cooked green asparagus stalks?

1. Brown fine bread or cracker crumbs in butter and sprinkle over the hot drained stalks.

2. Dunk the hot drained stalks in melted butter and sprinkle with bits of crispy cooked bacon and canned pimiento.

3. Cut the drained stalks fine and reheat in a fine cream sauce made with chicken stock. Spoon into flaky pastry tart shells and garnish each with a slice of hard-cooked egg, a sprinkle of paprika and a caper-rolled anchovy.

4. Marinate the drained stalks in a dressing of olive oil, wine vinegar and prepared mustard. Serve with slices of tomato.

5. Melt some butter in a big skillet and add a layer of shredded rice cereal squares; sprinkle with garlic powder and brown lightly, stirring often. Remove from heat and stir in a good sprinkling of grated Romano or Parmesan cheese; the cheese should melt a little and stick to the cereal squares. Serve these tidbits with the hot drained asparagus stalks.

Orange and Grapefruit Star in Spring Desserts

Spring is in the air and hearts are light and gay. It's time to make a debonair dessert to match spirits with milady's new bonnet.

Oranges are important to these festive desserts. Valencias, the most perfect of all oranges, are especially suited for such uses. They're juicy and yet section and slice handily. It's wise to buy a lot of Valencias so you'll have them for juicing, family snacks and cooking. Their season is a nice long one—from March through June.

If you're feeling frivolous, make our foamy Orange Marshmallow Dessert. In need of a sturdier dessert but want a fresh flavor? The answer is our No-Bake Orange Rice Pudding. Grapefruit sections join oranges in a "Good 'n Easy" dessert. To the delicious juicy sections an orange syrup is added for extra flavor.

Orange Marshmallow Dessert

2 Valencia oranges
¼ pound (16) marshmallows
½ cup orange juice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Chill oranges before preparing. To section, cut off slice from top. Cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Then cut slice from bottom. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. Cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section; halve sections.

Add marshmallows to orange juice in saucepan. Place over low heat, stir in diced orange sections. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in whipped cream; spoon into dessert dishes. Chill until firm.

If desired, garnish with additional whipped cream and orange sections. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

No-Bake Orange Rice Pudding

4 Valencia oranges, sectioned
2 tablespoons slivered orange rind
⅓ cup sugar
1½ cups cold cooked rice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Chill oranges before preparing. To section, see above recipe. Combine orange rind, cut-up orange sections and sugar; let stand 15 minutes. Add rice; mix well. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into serving dish or spoon into individual dessert dishes. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Good'n Easy Dessert

2 grapefruit, sectioned
3 oranges, sectioned
⅓ cup sugar
⅓ cup water
2 tablespoons slivered orange rind

Chill grapefruit and oranges before preparing. Remove sections. Combine sugar, water and orange rind in saucepan; bring to a boil, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat; cool. When ready to serve, pour over grapefruit and orange sections. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Preparing a rice ring? Add chopped stuffed olives, slivered brown almonds or minced parsley to it.

Salad Chicory Found by Error

"Chicory roots, chicory roots," grumbled M. le Directeur as he surveyed the clutter in his cellar, "why can't the gardeners clear them out properly? Everybody knows they don't make good coffee!"

The year was 1846. Belgium was gripped in famine, and the director of the Brussels Botanical Garden had been experimenting for months. His eye came to rest on a root in a dark corner. Yes, no doubt about it, the chicory had sprouted, pushing up delicate white shoots.

The director prodded them with an inquiring finger, sniffed and tentatively bit off a small piece. His eyes lit up at the pungent, zestful flavor. "My," he said, "it's still not coffee, but what a wonderful salad this would make."

Soon the news spread and farmers around Brussels began growing witloof (white leaf), or endives from chicory roots. The leaves became a specialty dish fit for kings, but now, after more than a hundred years of experimentation in growing methods, an unusual winter vegetable which can be eaten either raw or cooked has been developed into a major export item from Belgium, served on countless American tables.

Growing endives today in Belgium is a highly specialized technique. Come September, farmers plant the chicory roots over a maze of hot water pipes. The fields are covered with a series of miniature quonset huts built over the plants and packed full of straw. Heat is turned on, and twenty days later, the endive shoots appear, ready for digging.

An extraordinary variety of plain and fancy dishes use endives as their basic ingredient. Uncooked and eaten with a variety of cheese stuffings, they make delicious appetizers. But cooked endive dishes are equally popular, such as for example Belgian endives sauteed with walnuts.

The lowly chicory has thus become an integral part of the fine art of cooking—another Belgian specialty, and all because of a root accidentally left in a horticulturist's cellar long ago.

Next time you make a Lemon Chiffon Pie, just put drained pineapple tidbits over the baked bottom crust before adding the lemon chiffon filling. Delicious!

Liver a Gourmet's Dish With Sour Cream Sauce

Full-flavored beef liver is high on the list of plentiful foods at this time of year and economy-minded homemakers make good use of this in meal planning. In addition to being economical and nutritious, beef liver has an old-fashioned, home-spun flavor that's hard to beat.

Because liver contains almost no waste, you can plan on four generous servings from one pound. Liver can be purchased unfrozen or frozen, depending on how soon it is to be used. Buy unfrozen liver slices at the meat counter. These slices should be stored in the refrigerator, loosely wrapped, and used within 24 hours.

Frozen liver slices are found in frozen food cases, packaged and branded. Be sure to choose a well-known, national brand which is the homemaker's guide to quality. You can keep the frozen liver in the home freezer for four months or more.

Beef liver is an excellent spring and summer entree because it is prepared so quickly. Liver can be pan-fried, braised, broiled or barbecued on a grill. Since browning enhances the rich flavor of liver, it is best when sliced thin rather than thick.

Here is another tip to remember in cooking liver. Liver is usually served with no trace of pink, but care should be taken not to overcook. Overcooking dries out the liver and it is ready to serve when fork tender.

The extra personal touch often makes a meal long remembered. Liver has always been popularly combined with bacon, tomatoes, and onions. A gourmet touch is given beef liver when you serve the well - browned liver slices with a tangy sour cream sauce. Here is a favorite recipe from the Martha Logan test kitchen.

Gourmet Liver

¼ cup flour
1 pound sliced beef liver
2 tablespoons fat
Salt and pepper
1 cup sour cream
1 cup mixed chopped green onions and green peppers

Spread flour in pie pan. Dip liver slices in flour. Brown in hot fat with the onion and green pepper. Season. Cook over low heat 5 to 10 minutes or until liver is tender. Serve on a warm platter. Pour sour cream into skillet. Stir and heat. Serve with liver. Serves 4-6.

Skyscraper Sandwiches Have 3 Pink Layers

To make Pink Skyscraper sandwiches, cut slices of enriched yeast-raised bread into a 1½-inch round, 1-inch round and ½-inch round. Spread the rounds with margarine or butter. Top the 1½-inch round with a slice of beet.

Cover with 1-inch bread round; spread with a little shrimp salad mixture. Top with ½-inch bread round and place a dab of pimiento cheese on it.

Spicy Finger Dessert

Valencia oranges from Florida always yield more than a quart of juice per five pounds of fruit. These juicy oranges are also excellent sliced or sectioned for salads. And try cinnamon orange sections as a dessert. Spear orange sections on toothpicks and roll the fruit in a mixture of granulated or confectioners' sugar and cinnamon.

Inaugurate Picnic Season Now

Pontiac Press Home Editor

We are apt to ignore the calendar which says that summer starts on June 21. In Michigan, we think the beginning of summer is on Decoration Day, the day we have our first official picnic of the year. Of course, we cross our fingers and hope it won't rain.

With Decoration Day coming on Thursday this year and many people having the entire weekend free, there should be lots of picnics. It is a good time to christen the new charcoal burner the family gave one another last Christmas. Remember to look for some of those new packages of charcoal briquets that make fire-building a cinch.

If you're looking for something new to barbecue, why not try leg of lamb. The only special equipment you'll need is a hinged toaster, a large one. You've used them in the smaller sizes for hamburgers or for toast.

Barbecue-Broiled Leg of Lamb

Order a day or two ahead. Ask your meat dealer to bone a leg of lamb, cutting it so that the meat will lie fairly flat. You may like to have the lower part or shank end cut into cubes for Skewered Lamb or for a stew.

A day or two before: Place lamb in a shallow pan or baking dish, flattening it out as best you can. Pour over it this savory mixture and allow to stand overnight or even for 2 days under refrigeration.

Lamb Marinade

½ cup olive or salad oil
1 cup dry red wine OR
¾ cup lemon juice and ¾ cup pineapple juice
Snipped leaves of:
2 or 3 sprigs of rosemary
2 or 3 sprigs of thyme
2 or 3 sprigs of marjoram, savory or oregano OR ½ teaspoon of powdered herbs
2 tablespoons each snipped parsley and chives
¼ teaspoon coarse-grind black pepper
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cloves garlic mashed with
1 teaspoon salt

Note: Turn the lamb occasionally or let the marinade run to one end of the dish and spoon it over the lamb.

When ready to cook, lift lamb from marinade and place on the basket . broiler. Flatten and shape, then lock the racks firmly in place.

Place over glowing coals and cook 45 minutes to one hour, depending upon the degree of heat. Turn frequently, basting from time to time with the marinade you have saved. A neat trick of showmanship (adds flavor too!) is to brush the lamb with a long stalk of celery, using the leaves as a swab, or with sprigs of fresh herbs such as rosemary.

The barbecue - broiled lamb should have a rich browned crust on the outside with the meat slightly pink and very juicy within. Warning—don't cook to the well-done stage.

SLICE LIKE STEAK

While sizzling hot, place on a roomy carving board, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Top it with a dollop of softened butter, and slice down through as you would a thick steak.

Should chicken be your choice to barbecue, be sure to serve it with a chef's salad. In that way you will get all the fresh vegetables you need. For a new treat in the drink line try serving cola drinks with whole cinnamon stick muddlers. Good and spicy.

Kabobs are easy to fix and to eat out of doors. If you use canned foods for the makings, the job of preparation is light. Canned frankfurters, spiced onions and dill pickle make a good combination. Another threesome is cubes of canned chopped ham loaf, little canned potatoes and canned pineapple chunks. Brush with butter and broil over the grill.

KEEP FOODS SAFE

Before we go on with any more recipes let's review our annual warning about the proper storing of picnic foods. Any egg and milk mixture can be dangerous if it is left at a lukewarm temperature.

Knowing that, you won't take custard filled cakes or eclairs on a picnic. You won't mix your chicken salad or your ham salad sandwich filling at home. You'll take the fixin's and combine them at the last minute. BEWARE AND TAKE CARE.

For those who think all picnics should have sandwiches here is a zesty filling of ham and cheese. Serve on buttered frankfurter buns. You can heat the sandwiches briefly at the picnic site until the cheese melts.

Cheese and Ham Spread

1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
½ cup finely chopped ham
¾ cup pickle relish
¼ cup cream

Mix ingredients in order given. To grind the ham and cheese in a food chopper use a medium blade. Delicious cold as a sandwich spread or spread on bread and broiled until cheese melts.

Of course you want dessert on a picnic. What could be better than a marble cake. Although the recipe suggests baking this cake in an angel food pan, there's no reason why you can't use a 9x13 pan and frost the cake right in the pan.

Cinnamon Marble Cake

1 package white cake mix
1 package yellow cake mix
1 tablespoon mild light molasses
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
Zippy Mocha Frosting
Chopped nuts

Grease well and line the bottom of a 10 x 4-inch tube cake pan (angel food cake pan). Preheat oven to moderate (350 degrees).

Make up a package of white cake mix according to the directions on the package and set aside. Make up a package of yellow cake mix in a separate bowl. Mix according to directions on the package, adding molasses and cinnamon at the same time liquid and eggs are added.

Place alternate heaping tablespoons of dark and light batters in the greased and paper-lined cake pan. Bake one hour or until done. Cool in the pan 10 minutes.

Invert on a wire cooling rack until almost cold. Remove from pan. Finish cooling. Frost top and sides with zippy mocha frosting. Sprinkle chopped nuts over the top. Yield: One 10-inch tube cake.

Zippy Mocha Frosting

3½ - 4 cups (1 lb. pkg.) sifted confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
3 tablespoons cocoa
2 teaspoons instant coffee
½ cup butter
4 to 8 tablespoons liquefied nonfat dry milk.

Sift together confectioners' sugar, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, cocoa and instant coffee. Cream butter until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in half of the sugar-spice mixture; blend well. Gradually stir in liquefied nonfat dry milk; mix until smooth and well blended. Add remaining sugar-spice mixture. Beat until fluffy.

Junior Editors Quiz on BUSY BEAVERS

QUESTION: Is the beaver really busy?

ANSWER: The beaver, a busy animal indeed, likes the comforts of home and is willing to work for them. With earth and sticks he dams a stream to provide his own private lake, and uses his sharp teeth to cut down trees as thick as 18 inches to provide material for his home and his meals.

When not busy at his amazing engineering projects, he likes to swim and dive. He can stay underwater for as long as two minutes.

The beaver eats the bark of willow, poplar and birch trees, along with buds, berries and leaves. He lays in a store of them underwater for use during the winter.

He is the largest American rodent, often measuring two feet from head to tail and weighing up to 35 pounds.

FOR YOU TO DO: Benny the Busy Beaver is hard at work building his private lake before the winter freeze sets in. Color his pelt a glossy brown and use your green and blue crayons for the woods and sky background.

(This idea won $10 for Gerald Therriault, York, Me. Send in yours. Tomorrow: Who were the mound builders? Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures).

Vaunted Hurlers Fail Milwaukee

Cubs Sweep Braves to 3rd

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What happened to Milwaukee's vaunted pitching staff? Manager Fred Haney hasn't seen a starter go nine innings since May 12. In the last five games, he has used no less than 18 pitchers.

Even the lowly Chicago Cubs roughed up the Braves over the weekend, taking three out of four including a sweep of a Sunday double header that dumped Milwaukee into third place.

With the exception of a six-inning tie game, called by rain, May 21, Milwaukee hasn't had a complete game since Lew Burdette beat St. Louis in the first game of a May 12 doubleheader.

And this from a staff that was generally accepted to be the class of the National League during spring training, a staff so deep that it could afford to farm out a promising youngster like Bob Trowbridge.

The facts show the Braves have only 10 complete games all season as compared to 10 by Cincinnati which was supposed to have no pitching staff at all. Warren Spahn hasn't gone the route since May 1 and Haney has been forced to call on Spahn and Burdette for relief.

Dick Drott, 20, a rookie who wasn't even on the Chicago Cubs' roster in spring training, set a club record Sunday by striking out 15 Braves for a 7-5 decision in the first game while Gene Conley failed Haney.

Juan Pizarro, a hot shot freshman, held the Cubs to four hits in eight innings of the second game but was knocked out in the ninth during a two-run rally that gave Chicago a 5-4 edge.

While the Braves were stumbling twice, Cincinnati even got a home run from its pitcher, Hal Jeffcoat, to beat St. Louis 7-6, despite a pair of homers by Stan Musial, including his eighth grand slam.

Brooklyn elbowed past Milwaukee into second place in the National League, two full games behind the Redlegs. The Dodgers trimmed the New York Giants 5-3 as Duke Snider reached the 1,500-hit club with his seventh homer of the year off Ruben Gomez. When the Giants kicked up their heels in the late innings, Clem Labine had to help Sandy Koufax out of trouble.

Pittsburgh spoiled plans to celebrate Curt Simmons' 100th major league victory when they chased the Phils' lefthander and went on to collect 20 hits for a 13-5 romp. Roberto Clemente led the party with four hits and drove in five runs as Roy Face won his first of the year. Rookie Don Cardell gave the Phils a split by taking the second 6-3 as they barely beat the 7 p.m. Sunday curfew in Philadelphia by five minutes.

Former Bengal Ned Garver Is 3-Hit Victor

Frank Lary to Pitch Against Cleveland in Detroit Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The dreams of the Detroit Tigers and their star hurler Duke Maas are being haunted by the Kansas City Athletics.

The Tigers lost their sixth straight game of the season to Kansas City yesterday as former Bengal pitcher Ned Garver humiliated his old teammates by hurling the A's to a 3-1 victory, with a 3-hit performance.

Maas was the losing pitcher. The young hurler has pitched eight games this season. He won six of them. Both of his losses were administered by Kansas City. The first came with Maas in a relief role.

Garver, whom the Tigers sent to the A's last December, and Maas matched pitches for the first five innings and it seemed as if Maas might be able to snap the Kansas City jinx.

But Gus Zernial stepped up to the plate in the sixth inning and walloped his ninth home run of the season to break a 1-1 tie. That was it for the Tigers.

Kansas City added an insurance marker in the eighth inning to close out the scoring.

Maas, who gave up only five hits, accounted for Detroit's lone tally in the fifth inning when he single home Ray Boone who had doubled.

The run came in after Lou Skizas hit a looping single to center and then scored on a double to right-center by Hal Smith.

Zernial's homer made it 2-1 in the sixth and the Athletics picked up their final run in the eighth on a double by Joe DeMaestri, an error by Boone and Milt Graff's sacrifice fly.

The Tigers return home today for a night game with the Cleveland Indians. Frank Lary (2-6) is scheduled to start for Detroit and Mike Garcia (1-1) for the Indians.

Besselink New Kansas Champ

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Al Besselink, a friendly heavyweight pro from Grossinger, N.Y. scored his first major victory of the year in the Kansas City Open Golf Tournament despite an unimpressive three-over-par 75 in the final round.

Besselink won the $2,800 first prize yesterday with a 72-hole total of 279, nine strokes under par at the Hillcrest Country Club. It was the best paying win for the 215-pound 6-4 New Yorker since his $10,000 victory in the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions in 1953.

George Bayer, long ball hitter from Los Angeles, and cagy little Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla. tied for second on scores of 282. Each picked up $1,650. Finsterwald shot his second straight 70. Bayer made the last round in 71.

Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex., the 1956 Kansas City Open winner, started the final 18 holes in second place, six strokes behind Besselink, but also soared to a 75 and finished sixth at 285 strokes.

White Sox Still Lead by 3 as Pierce Wins

By International News Service

The Chicago White Sox held their American League lead at three games by dividing a doubleheader with Cleveland as the Yanks also split a pair in Sunday action.

The Sox beat the Cleveland Indians, 1 to 0, in ten innings, as Billy Pierce won his seventh decision. The Indians won the nightcap, 4 to 3, on Ray Narleski's relief pitching. Washington twice blew six run leads against the New York Yankees but the Senators won the opener, 9 to 7, only to lose the afterpiece, 7 to 6.

Dean Stone and Ike Delock combined on a five-hitter as Boston crushed Baltimore, 9 to 0. The Red Sox also won the second game, 5 to 4, on Mickey Vernon's two-run homer. Kansas City defeated Detroit, 3 to 1, on Ned Garver's three-hit pitching.

The White Sox got Pierce his seventh win—tops in the majors—by scoring in the tenth after Bud Daley threw wildly on a pickoff try. Earl Battey hit one homer and Bubba Phillips hit two in the nightcap before Narleski arrived on the scene to stifle Chicago bats. Bob Keegan lost in relief.

Bud Byerly stopped the Yanks in the opener after they tied the score with six in the second. Rocky Bridges singled home the winning run for Washington off Tommy Byrne. The New Yorkers also recovered from a six-run deficit to tie the nightcap, then won it for Bob Grim on Yogi Berra's run producing fly in the ninth off Dick Hyde.

Two One-Hitters in City Softball

Wright, Perc McConner Whitewash Foes; Shaw's String at 26 Innings

A pair of one-hit shutouts, one of five-inning duration, spotlighted last night's four-game City League softball program at Beaudette and North Side parks.

Wilber Wright hurled a dazzling one-hitter on the North Side diamond as Eddie's Bar blanked Drive-In Cleaners, 8-0. Don Dubats got the lone safety, a 5th-inning single, and an error in the 2nd gave Drive-In its only other runner.

Shaw's Perc McConner turned in the other one-hitter as the Jewelers drubbed Stadium Inn, 11-0, in the abbreviated contest at Beaudette. The City League's 10-run rule was invoked, stopping play after five innings.

McConner's whitewash job ran to 26 the string of scoreless innings pitched by Shaw's mound staff this season. Whittkoph's single in the 2nd stanza was Stadium's lone hit and only the 2. 1 safety made against Jeweler pitching in four games.

A two-run rally in the 5th frame brought Pontiac State Hospital a 2-1 win over the Pontiac Police behind the three-hit hurling of Layton and the UAW-CIO Local 653 defeated Pontiac Select-a-Drink, 5-2, on a four-hit effort by Bantin.

Taking part in today's postponed 50-mile outboard marathon race on the Detroit river, is Pontiac's Scotty Drinkwater, 210 South Tilden. Scotty will be tuning up for an active season of outboard competition in this event, orginally set for Sunday. High winds made the course dangerous, and the race was set back to 10 a.m. today. The Pontiac man is one of some 200 entries.

Indiana Wins Big 10 Track Title

Bell Leads Hoosiers

EVANSTON, Ill., (INS)—Olympic champions Greg Bell of Indiana and Glenn Davis of Ohio State stole the show Saturday at the 57th annual Big Ten track and field meet, but neither runner was able to finish on top in any of the sprint events.

Bell scored 13 points in winning the broad jump and finishing second in the 100 and 220-yard dash events.

Davis racked up 15 points as he finished second in the broad jump, the 220-yard low hurdles and 120-yard high hurdles and was third in the 220-yard dash.

Bell's teammate, Willie May, was one of three double winners. May won both the 120-yard highs and the 220-yard lows and contributed 10 points to the Hoosiers' overall point total of 54. Ohio State third with 26 and Illinois fourth with 19.

Illinois' Al Urbanckus set a new conference mark in winning the high jump. The Illinois senior soared over the bar at six feet, eight and three-quarter inches. This bettered the old standard of six feet, 7¾ inches made by Dave Albritton of Ohio State in 1938.

Other double winners were Charles (Deacon) Jones of Iowa and Wilmer Fowler of Northwestern. Jones won the one mile event in 4:17 and came back to capture the two-mile race in 9:14.1.

Indiana's Harold Caffey gave the Hoosiers a victory in the mile relay. Caffey, running the anchor, caught Purdue's Dick Stillwagon 10 yards from the tape with a tremendous burst of speed.

Press 6th Invitational Golf Tourney Under Way

For the first time in the six years of The Pontiac Press Prep Invitational Golf tournament, there was a threat of rain, today. However the event got under way shortly after 9 a.m. with one of the strongest all-around fields in years, despite some late withdrawals.

Tourney is over a 18-hole route at Pontiac Municipal Course. Medal play, with five-man team totals, will determine the standings of the 15 schools in the list of entries. Among the early favorites were Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Royal Oak Dondero and Pontiac St. Frederick.

Defending champions Waterford, with a new coach in John Coleman, today suffered a hard blow in the loss of Ciel Charbaneau, only returning veteran of the championship squad. Press of other activities will keep Charbaneau out of the tourney, director of athletics Waldo Ashley of Waterford announced this morning.

Field of schools was cut today by the withdrawal of Southfield, because of faculty action last of the week. Southfield was the 2nd school to file late withdrawal Milford bowing out Saturday. Both expressed hopes of returning, however, for the 1958 tournament.

The big Press rotating trophy, a permanent plaque and gold medals go to the winning team. Tourney medalist, "A" medalist and the B-C medalist will also receive medals.

DeMarco Lacks Former Power

BOSTON (AP) — Has former welterweight champion Tony DeMarco lost the knockout touch in his campaign for another title shot?

When the chunky battler from Boston's North End was on his way up he was known strictly as a slugger. Even his supporters wouldn't give anything for his boxing skills.

DeMarco pounded Johnny Saxton into submission for a 14th round TKO to grab the title two years ago.

He rocked Carmen Basilio in the two technical knockout losses to the upstate New Yorker — the one that cost him his title and the later rematch.

Even in losing, DeMarco was regarded as one of the hardest punchers in the division.

No 1 ranked welter challenger, DeMarco posted his eighth straight decision Saturday night by hammering Walter Byars' midsection for a divided victory. Two officials voted for DeMarco and the third for a draw.

Pete Madelans Receives Achievement Award at OL All-Sports Banquet

Eighty-five athletes in six sports were honored last night at Orchard Lake St. Mary's annual spring all-sports banquet in the campus gymnasium.

Rev. John Rakoczy, St. Mary's athletic director, awarded varsity and reserve letters to Eaglet athletes in football, basketball, baseball, track, cross-country and golf.

Pete Madelans was presented the school's highest award—the "achievement award" — which goes annually to the student who best combines athletic and scholastic ability. Madelans was named to the All-Oakland County and All-Suburban Catholic League football and basketball teams in 1956-57.

Larry Charkowski won the free throw award, which is given each year to the boy who sinks the highest percentage of foul shots during the basketball season.

Guest speakers were Rolland Langerman, former track and cross-country coach at Walled Lake, and Joseph Grajewski, captain of St. Mary's Class C state basketball champions in 1933.

CIO Wins Behind Ricketts

Neil Ricketts outpitched DeWayne Sheffer yesterday as the UAW-CIO Local 594 defeated the Michigan Giants, 4-2, in a City League baseball game at Wisner Field.

The CIO took advantage of three errors and utilized some timely hitting to score all the runs it needed in the early stages of the contest. Hal Trott delivered a run-producing single in the 3rd inning and Owen Osborne's double in the 4th sent home another.

Back-to-back singles by Ernest Nelson and Chet Woodmore gave the Giants two runs in the 6th stanza and they loaded the bases in the 8th before a force play at home plate and an infield fly snuffed out a threatening rally.

Only two of the six runs scored were earned, both off Sheffer. The Giants outhit the Union club, 8 to 6.

Player Poll Shows
Dodgers Convinced — Will Tranfer to L. A.

BROOKLYN (AP) — A great majority of the Brooklyn players are convinced the Dodgers will move to Los Angeles, a player-by-player poll revealed today.

To avoid putting any of the players on the spot, the athletes were not asked to state whether they favored or opposed such a move but several privately voiced hope that the franchise be shifted to the West Coast. The Los Angeles lovers included some who live in the East, too.

The most surprising revelation was this. Not one of the players polled — a little more than half the team was approached — said he thought the Dodgers would remain in Brooklyn. A few, like captain Pee Wee Reese, Roy Campanella and Jim Gilliam, said they just didn't know.

Sal Maglie declared he didn't particularly care whether the Dodgers went or stayed, as long as he remained with them.

Other top stars of the club, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider, and Don Newcombe foresaw a shift to the West Coast.

"I really believe the Dodgers will move to Los Angeles", said Furillo. "Mind you, I don't know. I don't believe anyone does — unless it's Walter O'Malley (team president). And I doubt if even he does, right now. But judging from the attendance, I think O'Malley will go through with it. I don't think he's happy with those crowds of 8,000 to 9,000 that come to a night game".

Here is what the others had to say:

Duke Snider — "Yes, I think we'll move to Los Angeles. It may be next year or the year after. I don't know when. But it's got to come. All this talk must mean something".

Don Newcombe — "I say yes. Mr. O'Malley means business. And the sooner the politicians here realize it the better off they'll be. Mr. O'Malley doesn't fool around. He knows what he wants and he usually gets it".

Gino Cimoli — "Definitely yes. The Los Angeles offer is too good to turn down".

Don Zimmer — "I believe the club will move. There's too much said and written about it to make it just another wild rumor. The poor attendance at Ebbets Field hasn't helped the Brooklyn cause".

Carl Erskine — "I'm convinced we'll move out of Ebbets Field but I don't know where. Mr. O'Malley already has said the Dodgers won't play at Ebbets Field in 1959".

Junior Gilliam — "I just don't think . . . period. I got enough troubles worrying about getting my base hits let alone whether we're or not going to move to Los Angeles".

33 Qualify for '500' Classic

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Twenty-eight veterans and five newcomers well seasoned on the country's shorter tracks will be starters Thursday in the 41st 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis Motor speedway.

Time trials run off the last two weekends in a miserable mixture of rain and wind set up a familiar situation of postwar "tpps"—two Novi V8S facing 31 cars powered the old reliable Offenhauser engines.

The Novis, driven by old-timers Paul Russo and Tony Bettenhausen, demonstrated in the trials that they are the fastest cars in the field — but they've never won the race.

Rain which had repeatedly interrupted earlier trials was missing in the final session yesterday but gusts of wind up to 35 miles an hour made the running hazardous.

Battenhausen, former national champion from Tinley Park, Ill., turned in the day's best performance with a 10-mile run at 142.439 in his blue Novi. Russo, of Canoga Park, Calif., set the best speed of the trials at 144.817 in another wind-beaten run Saturday.

Both Russo and Bettenhausen will be starting for the 11th time and both will be gunning for their first victory. Sam Hanks of Pacific Palisades, Calif., who made the line-up Saturday at a brisk 142.812, will by trying for the 12th time to win the top share of the money.

There were 43 runs in yesterday's six-hour session, and nine drivers who tentatively made the lineup were "bumped" by others who turned in better times later in the day.

The victims who went too slow included Johnnie Parsons of Los Angeles, the 1950 winner, and rookie Jud Larson of Kansas City, who had the car in which Pat Flaherty of Chicago won last year's race. Jimmy Davies of Pacoima, Calif., a four-time starter, also failed to make the lineup.

Big Bill Cheesebourg of Tucson, Ariz., a newcomer who was "bumped" after his first qualification run, replaced veteran Cliff Griffith of Indianapolis in the Seal Line Special and made the day's second-best speed of 141.565.

Other first-time starters Thursday will include Don Edmonds, Anaheim, Calif., who also had to qualify twice, to make it stick; and earlier qualifiers Eddie Sachs, Allentown, Pa.; Mike Magill, Haddonfield, N. J., and Elmer George of Indianapolis, son-in-law of speedway owner Tony Hulman.

Other qualifiers yesterday were Eddie Russo, Hammond, Ind.; Marshall Teague, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Jimmy Daywalt, Indianapolis; Al Herman, Allentown, Pa.; Jim Rathmann, Miami; Johnnie Tolan, Norwalk, Calif.; Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore.

NEW LAKER COACH — Art Paddy, former head basketball coach at Bay City Central, will take over the football, basketball and track duties at West Bloomfield High School next season. Paddy resigned at Bay City last Friday.

Junior Softball Meeting

An important meeting concerning Junior and Little League softball in Waterford Township this summer will be held by the Waterford Township Recreation Department Tuesday night at the Community Center at 7:30. Prospective managers and coaches of Junior and Little League softball teams are urged to attend.

Eugene Goode Mibs Champ

Eugene Goode of Bagley School is the Pontiac City Marbles champion for 1957.

Goode, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goode, 334 South Boulevard, won the 10th annual City Marbles Tournament Saturday on the North Side Park softball field by defeating Dennis Kendall of Wever School in the championship finals. 1127 Meadowlawn, dropped three straight games to Goode in the best-of-5 series. The scores were 7-5, 7-2, 7-1.

Several hundred elementary school pupils under 12 years of age participated in the mibs tourney, sponsored by The Pontiac Press in cooperation with the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Eliminations began in April at all city grade schools and the champion or alternate from each school entered Saturday's finals, which were delayed a week by rain and wet grounds. George Roberts was in charge of the final play.

Only one champion was crowned this year, instead of two as in the past, and the circumference of the playing ring was narrowed fom 10 to 8 feet in diameter.

Trophies were awarded to Goode and Kendall by The Pontiac Press.

Cranbrook Sweeps Titles

An impressive victory in the league track meet and a dual tennis triumph overshadowed a baseball setback as Cranbrook clinched the Interstate League all-sports trophy on the final day of the spring schedule Saturday.

By winning the track and baseball crowns outright and tying for top honors in tennis, the Cranes compiled 14 of a possible 15 points towards the trophy in spring sports to finish with a total of 21 5-6. University School ranked 2nd with 16 1-3, Western Reserve had 16 1-6, Shady Side 11 2-3 and Nichols 9.

Cranbrook won seven of 14 events to dominate the track meet at Hudson, Ohio as Bob Waddell led all the individuals with 13½ points and teammates Gary Grikscheit and Capt. Ron Smith added 12 apiece. Crane Fred Lavery set a new league and school 880 record in a time of 2:03.3.

The baseballers backed into their championship as Nichols upset University while the Cranes were bowing to Shady Side, 11-3. Cranbrook blew a 3-1 lead in finishing 6-7 for the season. Chuck Grube had two doubles for the losers.

Singles triumphs by Bob Klein and Barry Smith sparked the net team to a 4-1 win and a tie for the top with Western Reserve, both with 3-0. Cranes won 10 and lost three all season.

Flint Riders Star in Scramble Races

Flint riders dominated the Pontiac Motorcycle Club's annual scramble races held Sunday before more than 1,000 spectators in a field at the corner of Auburn and Opdyke.

Flint cyclists, driving BSAs, took the 1st three positions in the heavyweight division. Tom Glass was the winner, followed by Norm Stanick and Jerry Reba.

Don McDonald of Battle Creek won the lightweight class, with Bu Raymond of Pontiac finishing 2nd and Bob Brown of Flint taking 3rd. All three drove Maico's.

Maples Set Two Relays Records

Compiling four first places, and setting two new meet records on the way, Birmingham High thinclads Saturday finished at the top, or very close to it, in the John Bos relays at Grand Rapids.

"As there is no formal championship in this meet" Kermit Ambrose, Maples' coach explained today, "we couldn't tell exactly where other teams stood. But we were either on top, or very near it, with 43 points."

Bill McFarlen's 12-foot vault was a new mark. The 2:33.8 medley relay time (Hunter, Macdanald, Kulow, Pew), was also a record. Other firsts were Bob Stephenson's wins in the high (5-9) and the 440 (53.4). Benn, Ingraham, Reilly, Boyd were 2nd in the two-mile relay; Evangelists, Kulow, Hall, Macdonald were 3rd in the 440-relay; Kulow 4th in broad jump; Berry 5th in 100 and 220.

Maples take part in the EML meet at Hazel Park, Wednesday and Thursday will send Stephenson, McFarlen and the medley relay team to Kalamazoo's meet of champions.

Philadelphia Golfer Strong Bidder

British Amateur Under Way

FORMBY, England, (AP)—Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, a Walker cup player who is bidding for a place on the 1958 U. S. cup team, played some superb golf today to eliminate Murray Vernon Jr., of Greenwich Conn., in an All-American first round match in the British Amateur golf championship.

McHale's victory came after two other early-starting Americans, Ford Hubbard Jr., of Houston, Tex., and Jacques Houdry of Ardmore, Pa., had been beaten by British opponents.

McHale went out in 33 without hitting a bad shot, but found himself only three up. He didn't lose a hole until the 15th, where his tee shot carried over the green, and closed out the match on the 16th.

McHale sank a 20-foot putt on the fourth green to take the lead and went two up on the next hole when Vernon, an incredibly slow player, three-putted. He made it three up with a six foot putt on the eighth.

Vernon won the 15th with a birdie two, but he drove out of bounds and then bunkered on the 16th.

The six-day match play event over the 6803-yard seaside Formby links looks as wide open as a booming mining town.

John C. Revolta, 22, son of American pro Johnny Revolta, is one of the younger American entries. This popular lad from Evanston, Ill., met Gordon Whitehead, a former English fishmonger, in one of today's first round matches over the par 35-37—72 layout.

The last American to win this title was Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Texas, who took it in 1955. Conrad now is a professional.

Last year's winner, John "Babyface" Beharrell, 19, from Birmingham, is defending his crown. Beharrell was the youngest player ever to win this title.

Flam Battles Belgian Star for 'Semi' Spot

PARIS (AP)—Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., today faced Philippe Washer of Belgium in one of the highlight matches as the French International Tennis Tournament swings into its final week.

The Flam-Washer match is for the right to enter the semifinals. Mervyn Rose of Australia met Robert Haillet of France in another quarter-final match.

Flam and Budge Patty must finish off their third round doubles match with Jean Borotra and Robert Abdesselam of France. This was interrupted yesterday by darkness with the Americans leading 6-0, 7-5.

OL St. Mary Ranks 2nd After 8-2 Win

Orchard Lake St. Mary took over sole possession of 2nd place and remained close on the heels of unbeaten Royal Oak St. Mary with an 8-2 Suburban Catholic victory over Center Line St. Clement Saturday.

A 6th run 5th inning made it easy for relief pitcher Gerald Mis to gain the triumph. Stan Koper paced the victors to their 5th win in six starts with two hits.

Pitt's basketball team traveled 8,600 miles last season.

Detroit Bowlers Win Team Title in WIBC Tourney

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Colonial Broach of Detroit is champion of the Woman's International Bowling Congress (WIBC).

The team's 2,881 score, bowled May 4, brought the championship back to Detroit after three years of monopoly by Chicago teams.

Team competition ended last night. Individual play ends tonight.

Anita Cantaline, a member of the Colonial Broach group, leads in all-events with 1,859. Eleanore Towles, Peoria, Ill., seems assured of taking the singles crown.

She has a 664. Nellie Vella and Jeannette Grzelak, Rockford, Ill., led in doubles with 1,218.

Colonial Broach, a machine and tool company, was followed in the championship division (750 averages and better) by Kitchens of Sara Lee, Chicago, 2,811; Loeber's Formaids, Chicago, 2,806; Pepsi Cola, Detroit, 2,776, and Speigel's, Chicago, 2,741.

The champions won $400 and the tourney's only medal. The WIBC will award a total of $109,584 in prize money to teams and individuals.

The Colonial Broach team includes Capt. Maxine Cruchon (614), Elvira Toepfer (569), Connie Powers (539), Ann Setlock (532) and Miss Cantaline, who rolled 627 for her team.

In other team competition, the final standings were:

Division Two (650-750 averages)—1. Johnnie's Flower Shop, Van Wert, Ohio, 2,408; 2. Wiedemann, Portsmouth, Ohio, 2,406; 3. Northfield Tap, Grand Rapids, Mich., 2,400; 4. Ben's Cleaner's Fairborn, Ohio, 2,398; 5. Smith Ambulance, Port Huron, Mich., 2,391.

Division Three (under 650 averages)—1. Ohio Women's Bowling Assn., Team No. 2, Medina, Ohio, 2,134; Miracle Lanes, Fort Recovery, Ohio, 2,129; 3. McCook No. 41, Dayton, Ohio, 2,122; 4. Plantation, Niagara Falls, N.Y., 2,113; 5. Dayton Women's Bowling Assn., Team No. 3, 2,112.

Ferndale Lady Rolls Keg Mark

Mrs. Aldred's Average of 220.8 in All Events Is World Record

FLINT (AP)—Fifteen years of bowling have paid off for Mrs. Dorothy Aldred, 42, of Ferndale.

Mrs. Aldred, who began bowling because her husband was a fan, rolled a record-toppling nine-game all-events total of 1988 to set a new world's record.

Mrs. Emma Phaler, Woman's International bowling Congress record keeper, said in Dayton, Ohio the 1988, a 220.8 average, shattered the previous record of 1911 set in 1935 by Marie Warmbier of Chicago in the WIBC tourney there.

Mrs. Aldred rolled the record-smashing series March 9-10 in the state tournament which closed this weekend at Flint. Her all-events total with handicap was 2096. She also topped both singles departments with 739 and 703.

Pontiac also gained some of the championship laurels at the state event as the doubles duo of Mildred Molter and Helen Aschenback finished 1st rolling 1316. Mrs. Molter was 8th in all-events with 1931 and Gen Bradley 9th in singles at 689.

Following are the final standings of the 31st annual women's state handicap bowling tournament which ended Sunday night. The prize pot was $41,365:

Shamrock Thinclads Bow at Mt. Clemens

Faltering in the final two events of the day after leading most of the way, the St. Michael track team dropped a 56-53 decision to Mt. Clemens St. Mary at Mt. Clemens yesterday.

The teams divided the 10 individual events but St. Mary's sweep of both relays meant the difference. Chuck Steinhelper, Chuck Brown, Dan Dropps, Pat Campbell and Dick Plourde won events for the Mikemen.

The Shamrock junior varsity team gained a split for the day with an easy 69-21 triumph as Bill Flannigan won three events.

U. of M. Tuition Hike to Take Effect in Fall

GAYLORD (AP) — The University of Michigan has announced a raise in tuition effective for the 1957-58 academic year.

The fee increase was announced here after approval by the university's Board of Regents.

The annual tuition was raised from $200 to $250, an increase of 25 per cent for undergraduate residents of Michigan. For out-of-state residents the tuition was raised from $470 to $600 a year, an increase of slightly more than 27 per cent.

President Harlan H. Hatcher of the university said the increases came as a result of some legislative pressure that students should help share the rising costs of education.

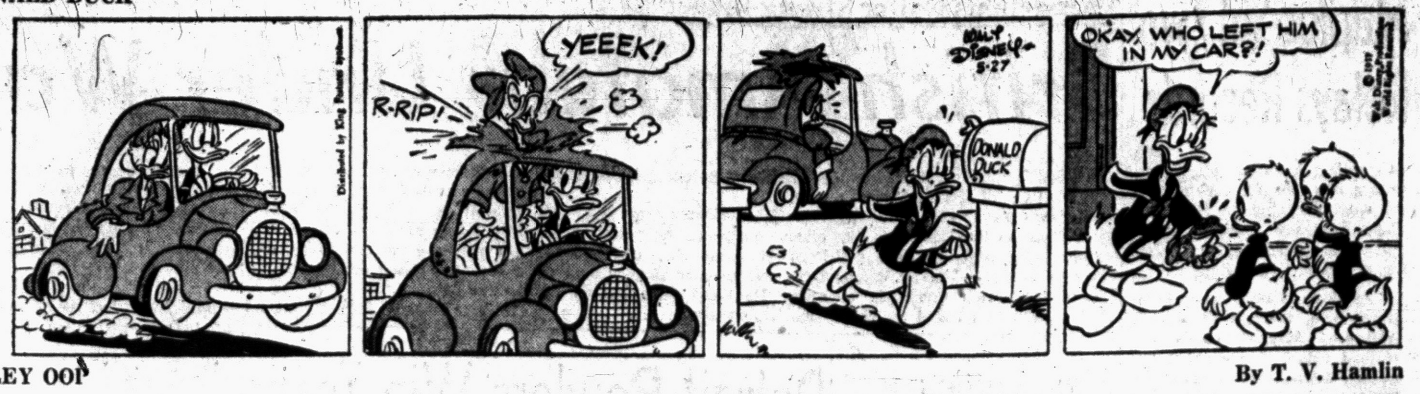

Newsprint shortage has delayed publication of all three La Paz, Bolivia, dailies.

Wheat Futures Slide Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures, which took heavy losses in the last two days last week, continued to move downward on the board of trade today although early losses were not heavy. Trading was fairly active.

Corn, oats and soybeans showed somewhat heavier losses in early dealing.

Indications for much improved weather in the wheat, corn and soybean growing areas caused selling in all pits, and particularly in corn. There also are indications export demand for wheat will be much smaller in the coming season.

Near the end of the first hour old style wheat was ¼ to ⅝ lower, July $2.02⅝, new style wheat was unchanged to ⅜ lower, July $2.03¼, corn was ⅜ to 1⅛ lower, July $1.31⅞, oats were ⅝ lower, July 65¾, rye was ⅝ to 1½ lower, July $1.21¼, soybeans were ⅝ lower, July $2.33½, and lard was 2 to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $12.37.

Lightning Strikes Man, Arm Partly Paralyzed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold D. Rees, 20, was hit by lightning last night as he stepped from a taxi at International Airport.

He was taken to Methodist Hospital, where doctors said his left arm was partially paralyzed but that he hadn't suffered any burns. His condition was reported fair.

A general grocery store carries about 3,000 different items.

Heavy Trading Boosts Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A burst of heavy trading pushed the stock market generally higher early today.

The high-speed ticker tape fell behind for three minutes in reporting the first wave of transactions. Then the pace quieted as opening prices were trimmed a bit.

Oils once again surged forward as they continued to ride on their good earnings reports and optimistic prospects made public recently. The aircrafts, however, were lower, resuming their recent trend.

The increasing prospect of some kind of disarmament agreement this year has not helped the aircrafts, Wall Street observers said.

Steel shares performed indifferently on mixed reports of increased output in Youngstown and Pittsburgh and lower production in Chicago. Motor issues were mixed as investors digested the lowered prediction of 1957 car production by Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors.

France Jolted by Assassination Sunday of Algerian Leader Emir Ali Chekkal

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) — One of France's closest Algerian friends was assassinated yesterday almost under the nose of President Rene Coty.

France and the European community of Algeria were profoundly shocked at the killing of Emir Ali Chekkal, 60-year-old vice president of the now defunct Algerian assembly.

Coupled with a new increase in rebel attacks across Algeria over the weekend, the assassination gave the already important Algerian question added weight in French politics as former Premier Rene Pleven continued his spadework toward nomination of a new premier.

A jobless Algerian plumber slipped through Chekkal's bodyguard as he left a Paris soccer stadium yesterday and fired a pistol slug into his back. Coty's limousine had passed the spot only seconds before and the stadium crowd for a time began a panic, believing the President had been the victim.

Last February, after Chekkal helped plead France's case in the Algerian question before the U.N. General Assembly, the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN) circulated tracts saying Chekkal had been condemned to death.

But the assassin, 27-year-old Mohamed Sadok, told police:

"I have no political connections and I take the responsibility for my act. For some time I had decided to take direct action and shoot down a Moslem personality who was a Francophile. I chose Chekkal because he was the last Moslem friend of France."

Sadok was nearly scalped by furious bystanders who pulled him to the pavement by the hair. Police grabbed him and restored order among the screaming crowd.

The assassin came from Bone, Algeria, four years ago.

Chekkal died a few minutes after reaching a hospital. President Coty went to the hospital and spent several minutes at the deathbed.

His assassination came as pressure was building up for some fresh approach to halt the 30-month-old rebellion in Algeria, which seems to have settled into a bloody war of attrition. The rebels are demanding independence while the French government still insists Algeria is a part of European France.

Coty commissioned Pleven last week to sound out political leaders on the formation of a cabinet to replace Socialist Premier Guy Mollet, who lost office in a no-confidence vote against his proposed new taxes to finance the fight against the Algerian rebels.

Crippled Woman Dies Beneath Rubble

Boston Building Collapses

BOSTON (AP)—A four-story brick building nearly a century old collapsed with a tremendous roar yesterday carrying a crippled woman to her death beneath tons of rubble.

The body of Mrs. Susan Johnson, 63, was found 17 hours after the building caved in. Rescue workers found her a bed at the street level. She had fallen from the fourth floor.

Three others in the building escaped death because they were asleep in the rear portions of the structure, which remained standing. When the front half of the building gave way, the three climbed onto the rear fire escape. They were rescued by firemen.

The three were Mrs. Johnson's son, Tholie, 43; Mrs. Victoria Monbleau, 63, and Mrs. Christine Weeks, 83.

Mayor John B. Hynes said "This tragedy is no surprise to me," and warned that some 2,000 other antiquated buildings in the city must be razed to prevent similar occurrances.

Glad School's Ending

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Prime, a Holstein cow at Oklahoma A&M's model farm here, is glad school is ending. In the past nine months, 5,000 grade school children have toured the farm. Each has tried his hand at milking the cow.

4 Lost in Cave Found Okay

EASTON, Pa. (INS)—Nationally known science writer John Pfeiffer, 42, and three boys lost in a cave near here since Sunday afternoon, today were led out of their cavernous prison "safe and well."

The explorers were found by State Police Cpl. John Hahn, who went into the cave with a rope and flashlights after one of the other searchers, Clinton Creitz of Raubsville, heard voices.

Pfeiffer, a resident of New Hope, Pa.; his son, Tony, 12, and two friends of the boy, Norman Ganter of Mechanicsville, and Chris Ingham of New Hope, both about 11, entered the cave at 2:30 Sunday.

Pfeiffer told rescuers that they planned to emerge at 4:30, but were unable to find their way out. He said he rationed what food they had and kept the group together to await rescuers.

The search was centered at the commercial cavern, named "Carpenter's Cave," after Pfeiffer's car was found nearby and the proprietor told police the group had entered but had not signed out. The cave is located at Raubsville, near Easton.

Pfeiffer and the youngsters came out with no apparent injury. They required no treatment and were reported ready to return home immediately.

The search was begun by troopers from Bethlehem, Easton, Quakertown and Trexlertown after Pfeiffer's wife, Naomi, became alarmed when he failed to return home Sunday night.

India Ponders Rossellini Visa Extension

NEW DELHI (AP)—A spokesman for India's Home Ministry said today the government is deliberating whether to extend the expired visa of Roberto Rossellini in view of reports linking the Italian movie producer romantically with a pretty Bengali scriptwriter.

She is married and the mother of two children. Her husband is said to have complained that Rosselini's presence in India is threatening to break up the marriage.

The spokesman said the ministry is conferring with Bombay officials because the scriptwriter, Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, lives in the city of Bombay. She occupies a room in the Taj Mahal Hotel near the one occupied by Rossellini.

Ministry officials were checking also with West Bengal officials because Hari Das Gupta, husband of the Indian woman, is working in Calcutta.

Rossellini has been making documentary films in India since his arrival last December. He is under contract with the government to produce them. Semiofficial sources in Bombay said the government had ordered a temporary suspension of work on the films. The word in New Delhi was that Home Ministry officials were taking up the subject with the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, under which Rossellini has been working.

Cub Scouts of Pack 66 Become Musicians

Cub Scouts of Pack 66 became musicians Saturday night when the last pack meeting of the school year was held at Lebaron school.

During the amateur musical, solos were performed by Douglas Duvall, Hawaiian guitar; Dennis Cox, trombone; Larry Westphal and Bobby Bennett, accordion.

Says Mutual Funds to Quadruple Assets

NEW YORK (INS) — A leading Wall Street broker forecast today that mutual funds and investment companies will quadruple their assets to pass $40 billion in the next decade.

The prediction was made by Arthur Wiesenberger, senior partner of the New York Stock Exchange firm bearing his name, in the 17th annual edition of "Investment Companies," the authoritative reference work in the field. Wiesberger also said he expects five million investors to be covered by mutual funds and investment companies by 1967.

Fiery Collision Wipes Out 2 Families

Crash Kills 11 in Illinois

BENSON, Ill. (AP) — Two cars carried four adults and seven children to their death Saturday and investigators studied the wreckage today to learn the cause of the fiery, high-speed crash.

Two families — one from Streator, Ill., the other from Bloomington, Ill. — were wiped out in the deadly pileup on Illinois Highway 116, about a mile west of Benson in north central Illinois.

State police said evidence indicated both cars were traveling in the same easterly direction on the straight, two-lane paved highway. There were no survivors and no witnesses to the crash.

Investigators also considered the possibility that a third car may have been involved, forcing the cars off the highway in an attempt to pass.

One car slammed into a tree and burst into flames, trapping a couple and their four children inside. The other car careened into a pole, killing its occupants—a couple and their three children.

Trapped and killed in the car that burned were: James Block, 27, Streator; his wife Vernie Mae, 24; and their children, Peggy, 4, Gloria, 3, Deborah, 2, and Jimmie, 3 months.

Occupants of the other car were: Dr. George C. von Steenberg, 37, a Bloomington, Ill., dentist; his wife Helen Nancy, 33; and their children, George Dennis, 11, Janice, 4, and Julie, 2.

National Safety Council officials said the toll of 11 dead in one crash was the highest fatality figure ever recorded on Illinois highways in their memory.

Twelve persons died in a two-car collision near Slayton, Minn., in 1940.

Torpedo Contract Awarded by Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy today announced award of a two-million-dollar contract for development of a new high-speed torpedo and guidance system designed to attack both submarines and surface ships.

The contract has been given to the Baltimore Ordnance Department of Westinghouse Electric Corp. Presumably the torpedo is intended for use by atomic-powered submarines.

The announcement contained little detail, other than that the torpedo "is to be capable of destroying submarines as well as surface vessels."

by the prize-winning western novelist

WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER

(Copyright 1956)

along at a steady ground-eating pace.

I glanced at Joe and saw that his face was a bleak as it had been when he'd stepped off the porch; then I looked ahead at the narrow road that followed the creek, twisting along between the twin rows of willows.

I was sick. I, Will Beeson, owed everything to Joe and Sarah Pardee. I had come to the Box P when I was a leggy kid with peach fuzz on my face, an empty belly and pockets that were equally empty. They had taken me in, had given me a job and a home, and I loved them both.

I wasn't like Gene Dillingham, who thought Joe was completely right and Sarah completely wrong. I wasn't like Dogbone either, who was as loyal to Sarah as a pet hound. I was somewhere between, wanting to help them and not knowing what to do.

When I first came to the Box P, Joe wasn't the aggressive driver he became later. He could stop and plan, and did so at times.

Now, looking back across the last seven years, I could not put my finger on the day the trouble began, or even why it had begun.

It seemed to me that Joe gradually became more domineering and intolerant, and that Sarah didn't laugh as much as she had. She spent more time doing things by herself: fishing and riding alone and working in her flower bed. Then she had her accident, and after that nothing was the same.

Chapter 2

I saw Carlton ahead of us, a sprawling cluster of houses just below the junction of the East and West forks of Easter Creek. South of town were the covered wagons, seven of them, belonging to farmers who had left the Arkansas River a week before and made the long pull up Easter Canyon to the valley. They couldn't settle here, and I'm sure they knew it, for Joe's reputation was known miles away. But they had come, staying close to their camp after Joe called on them. Then Al Beam had come and made his challenge.

Now, thinking about him, I decided there was no question about why he was here. A brash kid, he knew it would establish him in business if he killed Joe Pardee, but I figured it was more than that.

The farmers must have sent for him and paid him to kill Joe because none of them had either the guts or the gun skill to have any show against him.

I, Will Beeson, was confused by my own emotions, seeing some truth in Joe's stand and some in Sarah's. He had killed men to hold land which was not his, public domain that legally could be homesteaded. That was theory, any way you looked at it. Actually, farmers could not make a living even on the best land in the valley. It was too high, the growing season too short, the weather too uncertain.

On the other hand, Easter Valley was cattle country, the best. Joe proved that, every fall when we rounded up a herd of steers and drove to Cannon City or Leadville and sold at top prices. Joe was practical, all right. To him a gun was an expedient way of settling any question as difficult as this. As far as he was concerned, the law was on the wrong side.

There was nothing new about this issue. Still, it was vital to me because it had separated Joe and Sarah. Sarah would do exactly as she had said she would. She had no place to go, and no money; she'd starve, but she'd leave, and Dogbone and Maria would go with her.

If Sarah really loved Joe, she would believe in what he believed, or at least close her eyes to what she considered wrong. That was a wife's duty, it seemed to me. I had never been in love, but I thought I knew how it would be.

Many times I had mentally pictured the girl I would love. She was just like Sarah except that she was fifteen years younger and less inclined to have her own way. If she loved me, she would do anything for me just as I would for her.

Now the town was directly ahead of us, with a narrow bridge spanning the creek. Not a word had been spoken since we left the ranch. Kathy Morgan's house was to our right, the only house this side of the bridge.

Kathy's place, a white cottage with a picket fence, had always attracted men. She sold liquor and she had a poker table in her front room where men played every Saturday night until sunup. But I had ever been in her house.

Joe said: "You boys go on. If you see Beam, tell him I'll be along." He left us, turning toward Kathy's house.

Gene and I crossed the bridge, dismounted, and tied in front of the livery stable. Carlton wasn't much of a town. Art Delaney's General Store was across the street from us. There was a vacant lot next to it, then the hotel, another empty space, and the church.

On our side of the street was a blacksmith shop beside the livery stable; next to it was a vacant store and beyond that the schoolhouse. On to the west were a few houses, most of them small and plain.

That was Carlton, strung out along a single street that was often ankle-deep with dust, or deeper still with mud, without sidewalks or lawns or shade trees.

As long as cattle held the valley, the town would be no different. About twenty people made their homes there, living, either directly or indirectly, off the surrounding ranches.

Carlton would never be any bigger. Like a water-soaked sponge, the valley reached the saturation point and could not give a living to another man. If the valley could not grow, neither could the town.

As I stood beside Dillingham in front of the livery stable, I noticed five men sitting on the benches in front of the store, watching us while they pretended not to. They were strangers, farmers who owned the wagons in the grove. Though I hadn't seen them before, I knew who they were. A farmer in the cattle country always looks like a farmer. The difference between these and the ones who had come and gone was that the others had looked at Joe Pardee, and listened and left, while these men had looked and listened, and sent for Al Beam.

Suddenly I was mad. Because they had brought in Al Beam, they had caused the final break between Joe and Sarah Pardee.

Beam was not in sight. He was probably in the hotel waiting for Joe. My anger turned to fury as I thought about it. Joe was risking his life for all the other ranchers in the valley, but the "punkin rollers" who sat across the street were risking nothing except the money they had paid Al Beam. They were confident that, once Joe Pardee was dead, there would be no trouble. More wagons would grind up Easter Canyon until there wasn't a blade of grass left between the Cedar Hills and the Sangre de Cristo range.

I said, "Let's get them out of here, Gene."

He grinned. "I was thinking the same. I get a bellyache just lookin' at 'em."

We crossed the street, swaggering a little, I guess. None of them were armed. They got up, scared, but trying to hide it. One of them said: "No trouble now. We're just sitting here."

"Waiting to see the show?" I asked. "Hoping Al Beam will gun Joe Pardee down?"

"All we want is our legal right to—" one of them began.

"Legal right, the devil!" I didn't like him, I didn't like any of them. "Either way there'll be a killing, and you'll never get the blood off your hands."

Dillingham had no patience for talk. He motioned toward the grove. "Get! Pronto! You've got an hour to roll your wheels."

They stood there a moment, trying to hold their ground, perhaps not quite sure whether we were bluffing or not. But in the end they didn't have enough nerve to find out. They walked away and disappeared around the corner of the store, shoulders stooped.

"Yellow," Dillingham said in disgust.

I didn't say anything, but it seemed to me that two men with guns on their hips should be able to handle five who didn't. They were just showing a little common sense.

Beam came out of the store and stood looking at us, hands in his pants pockets as he rocked back and forth on his heels. He was young, with a coyote-sharp face and a pitiful hint of mustache that looked like a faint smudge across his upper lip. I noticed his pale blue eyes in particular. Though he appeared to be looking at me, he wasn't. His stare seemed to slip past me.

Considers Field Perfect for Gals

Actress Admits Part of Her Heart Belongs to Journalism

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—June Lockhart has an interesting idea.

'Why," she asks, "shouldn't there be a regular woman news commentator on television? A woman with a feeling and respect for news could give it a presentation that would interest everyone."

The next question, obviously, is why shouldn't June Lockhart try it?

She's willing — eager, in fact, to try it. An accomplished actress in the theater, movies and television, she confesses that for years a part of her heart has belonged to journalism. For three years she was a panelist on the NBC-TV news quiz show, "Who Said That?" She has written and worked for the publication "Guideposts." Last year she traveled with both presidential candidates as what she calls "a journalistic buff." She can list numerous other qualifications.

So why not give Miss Lockhart a try as a TV commentator?

But perhaps, a man suggested to her the other day, a woman lacks the authoritative presence to handle a regular TV news program.

"I don't believe it," she replied.

Perhaps a beautiful woman would distract an audience from concentrating on the news. Miss Lockhart, who is blonde, blue-eyed and beautiful, looked so crestfallen that the man immediately denied the validity of that argument.

Miss Lockhart has a lot of good ideas. While in New York from her California home she is trying to interest a TV network in her idea for a weekly program which would bring to life some of the details and vignettes of every-day living. A three-year-old's first exposure to kite flying, for instance. A puppy's first day at home. A bride's first day after she returns from her honeymoon.

Television certainly can use a woman with ideas as well as presence. Let's hope we see more of June Lockhart in the medium.

Benny Hooper Stars on National TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven-year-old Benny Hooper Jr. appeared on a national television show last night and got a big kick out of watching himself on an offstage monitor set.

The youngster seemed completely recovered from his 23½-hour ordeal at the bottom of a well at Manorville, N. Y., May 16-17.

Benny was interviewed on Steve Allen's NBC-TV show. The boy could scarcely pay attention to Allen after discovering the monitor screen.

Mickey Rooney Inks 5-Year TV Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Rooney has signed a five-year television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The network said yesterday it plans to star the actor in a "number" of 90-minute shows and have him make a return appearance in the Playhouse 90 series. A weekly show of his own is also planned.

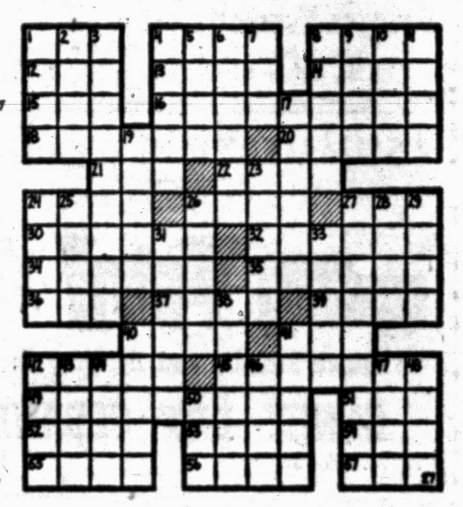

Financial terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Havana's Now Offering Gamblers' Guide Book

By EARL WILSON

HAVANA—Bingo's getting as big as Batista in Cuba.

But a "dream book"—a gamblers' guide—helps if you're playing bingo, roulette or the government lottery (sometimes mischievously spelled lootery).

Here in this "second Las Vegas," a nickel and dime player, found there's a bingo hour even at top gambling casinos where the high-rollers roll in from North and South America and also the Middle East. On a $2 card, they're winning up to $5,000 or a Cadillac or a trip to the U. S.

Bingo's very new at the casinos and is evidence of the gambling fever that'll increase when three new hotels open 1,250 rooms around Jan. 1.

As I dig the dream book, it's especially intended for the lottery, but if you're in a hurry to lose your money, you can use it on roulette.

Suppose you dream of a trip. You flip the pages of the book. You bet on 53 or 54. But roulette doesn't go that far. You bet on 8 (5 plus 3) or 9 (5 plus 4.)

The Cubans even have a number for Holy Week—and it paid off last Holy Week. When a photographer's studio caught fire, the photog didn't put out the fire—he ran for his dream book and bet. He lost.

He's Ambassador Now

Rankin Leads Bumpy Life During Years in Orient

By International News Service

Karl Lott Rankin was introduced to diplomatic life in the Far East just in time to be seized by the Japanese and interned for 22 months.

The present U. S. ambassador to Nationalist China was on his first trip to the Orient, heading for his new post in Manila in 1941 when Pearl Harbor shattered the uneasy peace. Before he could take over his new duties, he and his attractive wife found themselves in a Japanese prison camp.

This was not the last time that a war interfered just before Rankin could take over at a new post.

After spending the time from 1943 to 1949 at various posts in Europe and the Middle East, Rankin again headed for the Orient, bound this time for the south China city of Canton. The date was July 1949. Before he could arrive, the Chinese Communists swept through the city, and Rankin was assigned to Hong Kong instead.

NOT INTERNED

The only difference between this event and the one that preceded it eight years before was that Rankin managed to escape internment.

Since then, the Wisconsin foreign service officer has stayed in the Far East. In 1950, he was given the additional duties of charge d' affairs at the Nationalist Chinese capital of Taipei. In 1953, he was named by President Eisenhower as the ambassador to Chiang Kai-shek's government.

Rankin is a stocky, gray-haired and mustached 58-year-old who entered diplomacy, as did so many others at this time, after starting off to be something else.

The ambassador studied in Switzerland, Germany and at Princeton to be a civil engineer after a brief stint in the U.S. Navy during World War I.

In 1920 he entered relief work and was sent to Turkey. After that, he spent three years in Russia doing relief work.

Rankin returned to the U. S. to manage a real estate company in Linden, N. J., and, in 1927, gave it up to join the government — becoming an assistant trade commissioner at Prague.

He also served in Greece, Belgium, Luxembourg and Yugoslavia before he was assigned to Manila in December, 1941.

Rankin is a hardy man, who, with his wife, Pauline, enjoys entertaining visitors at his lovely home in the Taipei suburb of Grass Mountain, near the residence of Chiang Kai-shek.

His hobby is writing. He has had several articles published in national magazines.

Churchman to Leave Episcopal Diocese Post

DETROIT (AP) — The Rev. Canon Gordon Matthews will retire May 31 as executive secretary of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

A minister for 47 years, the 72-year-old churchman has been executive secretary of the diocese for 14 years. A successor will be named June 1.
