Doctor Says Extended Rest Period Will Insure Complete Recovery

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower cheerfully resigned himself today to a long period of recovery which may keep him out of the White House for the remainder of the year.

And the prospects that he will retire at the end of his present term were heightened by expert medical opinion that it is impossible to say now whether he will be "physically able" to run for re-election in 1956.

While progress from his heart attack of Sept. 24 has been satisfactory, and his morale is high, he has agreed to a decision of his doctors to keep him at Fitzsimons Army Hospital for about another month.

These things became clear as the aftermath of a Sunday news conference at Lehigh Air Force Base. Dr. Paul Dudley White, noted Boston heart specialist, speaking for himself and the President's bedside doctors, said:

1. The President will not fly to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., for at least four weeks and maybe not until the end of five more weeks.
2. Eisenhower is not "100 per cent" out of danger and it still is "too early to say" whether he will have "a complete recovery," but he has passed the period when complications normally would occur.
3. He thinks it should be "close to the first of the year" before the President goes back to the White House.
4. The President is "happy" at the hospital and will need a bit of work—such as his conference next Tuesday with Secretary of State Dulles—to keep him from "bubbling over" and to "protect" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Polio Vaccine to Be Released

Serum for Kindergarten, First Grade Promised, Monroe Announces

Enough Salk polio vaccine will be released within the next two weeks to give first polio prevention shots to all kindergarten and first grade children in Oakland County, Dr. John D. Monroe, director of the Oakland County Health Dept., announced today.

The Michigan Health Department has released 13,000 doses of the Salk vaccine and 18,000 more doses are promised by the end of this week, Dr. Monroe said.

Blue cards containing instructions for procuring the vaccine will be distributed to kindergarten and first grade students through the schools on Oct. 24.

Parents will fill in the child's name, age and school, whether they wish the child inoculated, and the doctor's name if a private physician is to give the inoculation. These cards will determine how much vaccine is to be released to the private physician or to clinics administering the vaccine.

As soon as adequate supplies of vaccine are available, vaccination of all children through nine years of age will be started, where parents give consent, Dr. Monroe said.

Those children who received some polio shots and still have not completed the inoculation series will be given the opportunity to get final shots as soon as vaccine is available.

Records will be kept of every dose of the vaccine administered, to serve as a method of evaluating the effect of the vaccine in preventing paralytic polio. Further planning for administering the vaccine will depend on the State Health Department, which controls release of the Salk serum.

In the 1954 Michigan "field" trials, only three paralytic polio cases occurred among 36,000 children inoculated with the Salk vaccine. In a similar number who received no vaccine, 37 such cases occurred. Of 125,000 inoculated in Michigan in 1955, only seven cases of paralytic polio developed up to Oct. 4. It was not established that all these had had the complete series of inoculations.

Answer Questions About President

Faure Is Ordered to Push Moroccan Reform Plans

PARIS (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure was under orders today to push ahead rapidly with his Moroccan reform program. But there was no immediate indication of decisive new government action.

By a surprising 477-140 vote, the Assembly early yesterday approved Faure's plan for home rule in the violence-ridden North African protectorate.

The debate before the vote made clear, however, that many of the deputies will be out for the Premier's scalp if he doesn't press on quickly with the promised reforms.

Such a withdrawal of support could come in the Assembly debate on Algeria, beginning tomorrow.

Only the initial step in the Premier's program — the retirement of Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa — has been carried out.

The Assembly's resolution called for the immediate formation of the planned regency council to take over the Sultan's powers and then of a representative Moroccan government to negotiate for more power from France.

Formation of the regency has been stalled by the refusal of the French resident general, Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour, to appoint Si Bekkal, former pasha of Sefrou, to it as the representative of ex-Sultan Mohammed Ben Yusuf. Si Bekkal is bitterly opposed by French colonists in Morocco fighting any concessions to the nationalists. The nationalists say the ex-Sultan's representative must be named.

The colonists kept up their fight today with a 24-hour general strike to demonstrate their opposition. The stoppage was expected to be most effective in Casablanca, the big commercial capital of the protectorate.

In the Rif Mountains of north-east Morocco, meanwhile, some 8,000 French and native troops fanned out in an attempt to encircle several hundred armed rebel tribesmen harassing French posts and roads in the pocket near the border with Spanish Morocco.

part by another returning POW, SS Gen. Hans Baur, Hitler's personal pilot.

Baur told newsmen at Camp Friedland in West Germany he was in the bunker April 30, the day of the suicides.

"I went into Hitler's apartment in the bunker to get my last orders," he said. "Hitler said goodbye to me then, remarking that he would now take his own life since the military situation had become hopeless."

Baur said he learned when he returned two hours later that the two had killed themselves, but he did not actually see the bodies.

Linge and Baur may be summoned to testify before a Berchtesgaden court which is expected to rule this month whether Hitler is dead. He has never been declared legally dead.

The aides' stories were substantially the same as had been reconstructed by Western investigators years ago. But the West had to wait 10 years to get their accounts first hand.

Linge said the Russians brought him back to Berlin in 1946 to reconstruct for them exactly what happened in the bunker. He was closely questioned for many days after his capture in 1945, he said. But the Russians never gave out his story and allowed doubts over Hitler's fate to circulate.

The holding, six-foot Linge, now 43, said he personally procured 50 gallons of gasoline to burn the two bodies, but more were required. Other points in his account:

Threat Keeps Rioters Quiet

Indiana Governor May Impose Martial Law in Wake of Labor Violence

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. George N. Craig's threat of full martial law kept riot-swept New Castle quiet today, but National Guard patrols fanned out to keep an eye on other struck Perfect Circle Corp. plants.

Thirty-two guardsmen with a jeep appeared at the home plant of the Piston Ring Co., at Hagerstown, 11 miles east of New Castle, and a jeepload of troops watched two Perfect Circle plants at Richmond, near the Ohio border.

Gov. Craig, who had ordered the guard into New Castle by overseas telephone from a fishing boat off the Bahamas, returned Sunday.

He was the only one who spoke in a 20-minute conference with management, the CIO United Auto Workers and New Castle officials. He got promises of a truce until a second conference today.

Meanwhile, federal mediators got negotiators to agree to meet in an Indianapolis hotel at 2 p.m. EST today instead of Tuesday afternoon, as arranged last week.

Lt. Gov. Harold W. Handley, who helped disperse a rioting crowd of sympathizers at New Castle last Wednesday, didn't attend Craig's Sunday conference. Handley, whose Republican faction has long been at odds with Craig, said he wasn't invited.

Atty. Gen. Edwin K. Steers, who accompanied Handley to New Castle, attended the Sunday conference but said Craig hadn't consulted him on legal aspects of the guard callup.

"After the conference, Steers said: 'I am completely amazed.' He did not elaborate.

The governor got from Ralph R. Teetor, president of the firm, the promise that there would be no attempt to open the foundry at 7:45 a.m. as the company had planned.

Also in the bunker was propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels and his wife and six children. Goebbels and his wife ended their lives with a pistol and the children were put to death by injections given by an SS doctor.

Being valet to Hitler was no picnic. The Fuehrer's nerves were bad and he needed frequent injections to steady himself. He began talking suicide 10 days before he shot himself.

Eva Braun put on a "courageous display" when the time came to end her life.

Linge said the Soviets convicted him in 1950 of helping Hitler to power. In prison his weight dropped from 198 pounds to 110 but is now back to 182.

Secretary Addresses Legion

Dulles Sees Public Opinion Forcing German Unification

MIAMI (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles predicted today that world public opinion will compel Russia to permit unification of Germany and free the eastern European satellites.

His talk highlighted the opening of the American Legion convention which found the nation's largest veterans organization boasting over passage of a reserve training law and hungering for more of the same.

Outgoing national Commander Seaborn P. Collins of Las Cruces, N.M., told a dinner party of state commanders last night that congressional passage this year of a national security training law was a victory in the Legion's 31-year fight for a strong citizen reserve. He added:

"While the law may not perfectly suit you and me as legionnaires, it is significant in that for the first time Congress has recognized the need for a strong reserve."

Collins predicted that if the voluntary phase of the reserve training program should fail, Congress will come around, perhaps by next session, to seeing eye-to-eye with the legion on the need for a compulsory reserve program.

Dulles told the convention that "The recent liberation of Austria came about primarily because world opinion" demanded it. He said that East Germany and the Soviet satellites will be freed in the same way.

He also declared:

1. "Soviet Communist doctrine has persistently taught retreat and zigzag as a tactic of conquest. So we cannot tell whether what is now going on marks a genuine change of purpose or whether it is merely a maneuver."

2. The United States cannot now disarm as it did after World War I and II "unless we can be sure that others are doing the same."

3. Communist China "until now" has lived "by the sword." He warned however, "but perhaps they are now beginning to see that persistence in the use of force will surely bring disaster."

4. The Soviet Union advocates "neutrality" for other nations but is not neutral itself. By neutrality, the Soviets "mean that each nation should have the weakness which is inevitable when each depends on itself alone."

5. The U. S. "does not believe in practicing neutrality" which today "is an obsolete conception."

6. Peace is the goal which the United States "devoutly" seeks but this country does not seek "peace at any price."

7. The United States hopes that the Soviet rulers will accept President Eisenhower's "open sky" plan for deterring surprise aggression through aerial inspection. "If they do, in good spirit, then we can confidently move on to international" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Summer Returning for Brief Local Stay

Eighty degree weather is expected for tomorrow according to the U. S. Weather Bureau

Today's high in Pontiac is due to be between 75 and 79 degrees. Tonight the mercury may go down to 51.

Downtown today's low before 8 a.m. was 54 degrees. The thermometer registered 74 at 1 p.m.

Publication of his account brought a flood of telegrams to Linge, Baur said, offering "large sums" for his story. During the interview he held back most details, saying he hoped to write a book or magazine articles.

"When the Fuehrer wanted anything at night, it was my Helms who would come running," Baur said. "He will really be able to tell something."

Football Traffic Flows Smoothly

Grand River Crossing Staffed by Policemen During Rush Hours

Traffic flow was "considerably better" through the Pontiac Trail-Grand River intersection before and after last Saturday's football games than it was the previous week, Lyon Township Supervisor William K. Smith said today.

The Pontiac Press urged action to relieve the situation last week after a large-scale bottleneck occurred when Michigan played Michigan State Oct. 3 at Ann Arbor.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department and State Police promised to assign more men to keep cars moving through the key intersection.

"Both Lansing bound traffic and autos traveling to Ann Arbor may have backed up a little at times Saturday," said Smith, "but no real bottleneck developed at any time."

The police agencies "certainly did all that could be done," Smith said.

"On Oct. 3 I think officials failed to recognize that because both teams were playing in Ann Arbor the number of cars continuing on Grand River past Pontiac Trail was considerably less than when games are scheduled in both cities," he added.

Roads of County Don Fall Colors; Tours Readied

Traditionally beautiful Oakland County has donned a colorful fall raincoat of varnished leaves, and many area residents as well as visitors from adjacent cities are touring the back roads for glimpses of the autumn foliage.

The second in a series of automobile tours designed to display some of the best of these rainbow roads is running in today's Press, on page 19.

Others will follow during the next few days, complete with maps to avoid traffic congestion and possible confusion.

Dies After Hog Attack

STATESBORO, Ga. (AP) — N. B. Nemith, 77, died last night of injuries suffered on his farm Thursday when he was attacked by three hogs.

Publication of his account brought a flood of telegrams to Linge, Baur said, offering "large sums" for his story. During the interview he held back most details, saying he hoped to write a book or magazine articles.

Workers to Seek Goal of $562,175 for 55 Agencies

Head Robert Critchfield, Nina Foch to Speak to 4,000 Volunteers

Starting tomorrow, residents of Pontiac plus Waterford and Pontiac Townships will be asked to open their purses and help make it possible for 55 voluntary health, welfare and child-care agencies to operate in 1956.

The annual Pontiac Area United Fund drive will open with a goal of $562,175, largest in its history.

Some 350 volunteer workers are expected to attend a kick-off breakfast at 7:45 a.m. in Devon Gables, Telegraph and W. Long Lake Rds.

Nina Foch, television, stand and movie personality, will be a featured guest.

The goal this year represents a 6.9 per cent increase over last year's $525,523 figure.

More than 4,000 volunteers, headed by Campaign Manager Robert M. Critchfield, will start soliciting for funds after the breakfast.

"Upon their success," Critchfield stated, "the future of the Pontiac area child-care agencies, youth recreation organizations and social welfare services."

Included in the 1956 goal are operating-fund requests of the 13 Community Chest agencies plus the American Red Cross, American Cancer Society, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Clinic, Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic, Oakland County YMCA and West Bloomfield Community Chest.

New in the UF this year is the Waterford Community Activities, Inc.

Volunteer solicitors will attempt to reach every home and business place in the 36-square-mile area. Fund-raising setups have been organized in all industries.

The drive is slated for completion Nov. 3. A mid-point report luncheon will be held Oct. 19.

The Pontiac Manufacturers' Assn. will pick up the tab for tomorrow's breakfast.

Harriman Sees No Duty to Support Adlai in '56

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman says he has "no obligation" to support Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination next year, despite past statements in Stevenson's favor.

At the same time, he said he himself is not and has not been a candidate for the nomination. He commented, however, that he does not believe a man of his age — he will be 64 next month — is too old to be president.

Harriman talked about the presidential nomination yesterday in answer to questions on a TV program.

"After saying he has no obligation to support Stevenson, he said he and the 1952 Democratic candidate 'understand each other fully.'"

Asked if he felt "morally bound by what you have said in the past," Harriman replied:

"No, not at all morally bound. I have said I was for Adlai but I never said I was going to support him at the convention."

Harriman, who bid for the presidential nomination at the 1952 convention, added, "It is not for me to say at this time whom I would support next year."

TO DECIDE

He said he hopes to be part of the New York convention delegation and "we'll decide together whom to support."

Harriman's claim that he is still free to choose his candidate came after a weekend visit from former President Truman. Like Harriman, Truman in the past had said he favored Stevenson, but at a news conference in Albany, N.Y., declared he was neutral.

Upon arrival at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel here yesterday, Truman reiterated:

"I made it clear up there (in Albany) that I am as neutral as a man could possibly be in my position. I said it in Albany and I'll say it now: I'm making no choice until the convention. I'll back the nominee."

In his Albany statement Truman had also said that Harriman has "all the qualifications" to make a good president. If he were a voter in New York State Truman said, he would be for Harriman.

5 Fishermen Bag Swimming Deer in Lake St. Clair

DETROIT (AP) — Five men went fishing in Lake St. Clair yesterday and landed a buck.

The men came across the seven-point deer about seven miles out in the lake—an exceptional distance for a deer to swim.

After considerable maneuvering, they pulled their cruiser alongside the animal. One of the fishermen tossed a noose around the deer's head, the others tied its legs before hauling it aboard. Then they lugged it to a Coast Guard station on Belle Isle where keepers from the island's zoo picked it up, apparently none the worse for the long swim.

To Receive Bids on Expressway

Grading, Drain Work on County Highway Will Be Let

The low bidder will be determined Oct. 19 in Lansing for a contract to construct 5 1/2 miles of grading and drainage structures in preparation for paving the new Farmington-Brighton Expressway between Ten and Twelve Mile Roads in Oakland County.

Completion date for the project is Aug. 31, 1956.

Low bidders on two bridge projects on the expressway also will be decided the same day.

One will carry Ten Mile Road over the expressway about two miles west of Farmington. The structure will be of reinforced concrete and steel, about 246 feet long, with a clear roadway varying in width from 46 to 60 feet and with two sidewalks.

The other bridge will take Novi Road over the expressway about a quarter mile north of Novi. Also of steel and concrete, it will be 244 feet long with a 48-foot-wide clear roadway and sidewalks. Completion date on both bridge jobs is July 15, 1956.

Both projects include construction and removal of temporary roads to carry traffic while the spans are going up.

measures to reduce and control the instruments of death."

GENEVA SPIRIT CITED

Dulles, who addressed his audience as "fellow legionnaires," opened his speech with a discussion of patriotism and then went into "the spirit of Geneva."

He said: "Today, it is Soviet policy to appear friendly and to mingle with all the world. Perhaps the Russians have a proper like ours which says, 'If you can't lick 'em, join 'em.'"

"However, the Russians as 'joiners,' create new problems—for us and also for them."

"Within the Soviet bloc, people increasingly show that they expect for themselves some of the advances which they see so lavishly bestowed on others (by Russia). Such pressures could gradually transform the Soviet area into a reformed segment of the society of nations."

On the other hand, Dulles said, in the free world "some doors which used to be closed are now open, or at least ajar."

He added solemnly "this occurs before anyone can surely know the real purpose of the Soviet 'new look.'"

The secretary said the problem posed for the United States is that plans must be made to meet either sincere or insincere Russian overtures.

But, he added, "on the other hand" the United States must not make assumptions which would "expose us to what could be mortal danger."

On disarmament, Dulles said "The Soviet Union itself, in Korea, helped to teach us that disarmament, if it may prove to be one-sided, does not produce peace."

Dulles said one of the principles of the United States is that military force "should not be used aggressively to achieve national goals." He cited recent friction with Red China as an example of U. S. restraint in the use of power.

ARMEN FREED

"Recently," he declared, "we were gravely provoked by the Chinese Communists who retained and imprisoned 15 of our fliers in violation of the Korean armistice agreement."

"We had the power to take prompt and overwhelming reprisals. We did not do so, but relied upon the United Nations to bring moral pressures into play."

"Now all 15 are free and home."

"We hope that the Chinese Communists will accept for themselves this 'renunciation of force' principle."

Dramatic Heart Massage Fails 2-Year-Old Boy

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Kim Lee West, the two-year-old whose heart stopped for 20 minutes and survived following a dramatic heart massage operation, died yesterday when mucous and fluid congested his lungs.

The boy was found with no pulse when an emergency ambulance crew was called to his house Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Warren West, Kim's parents, said he choked on a food morsel.

Butterworth Hospital attendants were failing in a bid to keep him alive when Dr. John E. Summers, a chest surgeon, happened to pass by on the way to another operation.

He quickly used stimulating drugs, and when that failed, made an incision into the boy's chest. He massaged his heart with his fingers and moments later the boy's heart began beating.

Another incision was made in the throat to let in oxygen through tubes. Plasma and whole blood was injected into his circulatory system.

Kim was described in "fair" condition following the emergency surgery, but relapsed yesterday and died.

his heart from the effects of his overactive brain."

The President, who will observe his 65th birthday next Friday, met with Vice President Nixon yesterday for the second day in a row, and they set up a schedule for Cabinet members and other top executives to begin visiting Eisenhower.

The 42-year-old Nixon, one of the men frequently mentioned in speculation over possible GOP candidates if Eisenhower bows out, found the chief executive in a gay mood when he visited him with Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief deputy.

The President was decked out in a loud bow tie of red and white figures on a dark green background, clipped to the collar of his gold-colored pajamas.

"The President said that he and his morning nurse had been planning that as a surprise for Mrs. Eisenhower for the last three days," Nixon told reporters.

Nixon said the President showed a "vital interest" in national and international problems and specified "several subjects" he wanted to talk to Cabinet members about. He didn't name them.

And Nixon told a Saturday night news conference "there was no discussion of the future as far as political problems were concerned" in his private talk with the President earlier in the afternoon.

WILL HE RUN?

Personal friends of Eisenhower say they expect him to have the biggest voice in the selection of his successor as GOP nominee. They have insisted from the time of his seizure that he will not run again.

The decision to keep the President at the hospital here instead of flying him to Gettysburg sooner was due to a number of factors, among them, the desire to avoid taking him to his plane on a stretcher.

"The President, I might add," Dr. White told the news conference, "accepted this program gracefully, and asked us not to rush his treatment—which we do not intend to do anyway."

"He does not wish to have to be carried onto the plane, even if by doing so he might get away from here earlier."

Dr. White said that sometimes early moving of a patient "may be a little hazardous."

"I might add that the President is used to his doctors and nurses here," the physician continued. "He is happy—some excellent countryside with very nice views all around him, and we hope he may do a little painting a bit later."

The President is sufficiently improved, his doctors say, to have his bed rolled out on the porch near his eighth-floor room to get what White described as "a magnificent view of the Rockies."

One of the reasons for keeping the President here, White said, is that it will be "quieter" for him to be "away from more temptations to get into things too deeply" than would be the case in the East.

The miniature house, owned by the General Motors Truck and Coach Division fire department, is now in its second year of use. Embodiment illustrations of 22 separate fire dangers in a typical home, it is wired to show the fires which may result from careless actions.

In one scene in the house, a man is shown smoking a cigarette in bed. When he goes to sleep, the cigarette drops from his hand and the bed catches fire.

Wilson May Miss Paris Auto Exhibit

PARIS (U)—Charles E. Wilson, who was president of General Motors before he became American defense secretary, looked longingly from the doors of the Palais de Chaillot today.

Wilson is here to attend the three-day meeting of the defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"I hope," he said a bit wistfully, "that the sessions end about an hour earlier one of these days. Maybe then I'll have a chance to visit the Grand Palais."

The Grand Palais, a bit further up the banks of the Seine, is the scene of the Paris auto show, which opened last Thursday for a 10-day run. One of the biggest stands there was set up by General Motors.

They're Honest About Ike's Illness Reports

NEW YORK (INS)—The Pressing Show—President Eisenhower's heartening recovery is in sharp contrast to Woodrow Wilson's. When Secret Service Chief Col. Ed Starling finally got around to writing about the troubles he had with Wilson, he made a lot of people shiver.

Wilson took up automobile sight-seeing trips as a primary hobby after he suffered the stroke that benched him for most of his last months in office. He insisted that the speed of his top-down touring car be kept to 15 miles an hour no matter on which busy road he chose to ride that day. This was okay with Starling except for one thing: Wilson couldn't abide anybody's passing him.

"Chase that fellow!" he'd order Starling whenever somebody would chug past the slow-moving Presidential car. Starling's men would give chase, flag down the startled driver of the offending car and haul him out—on Wilson's orders.

"I'm going to have myself appointed a justice of the peace so I can fine those fellows," Wilson once told Starling.

Wilson was so fond of one particular car and his daily rides in it that he became indignant when it had to be put in the garage for a check-up. In a pique he ordered a horse drawn Victoria for his outing and insisted that Starling's men ride in electric autos behind him.

Wilson's condition was not told to the American people. Eisenhower's is many times daily.

WILL IKE RUN? Will Ike run again?

I've been lucky enough to be around with him off and on for ten years but I have no inside information. I don't think anybody has. But a guess would be that bit by bit he'll take command again—most of it—concentrating mainly on mending the toppled fences of East-West relations. When he feels he has done this, I think he'll say that the job ought to go to a younger man, retire to Gettysburg and stay on call for any future emergency.

Once during the war, while flying the Atlantic to North Africa with a great Air Transport Command pilot named Barney Bridges, a cigar-chewing fellow out of Oklahoma, we passed over a majestically plunging old freighter. It must have been making a good eight knots. We were doing about 280.

"Gee," said Barney, looking down from 12,000. "wouldn't it be wonderful to cross an ocean on one of those." Barney had lost track of the number of times he had flown the Atlantic. He had never been on a ship in his life.

Well, if Barney's still around, let him hear this: Things are getting better all the time for passengers on cargo ships. The American President Lines is spending $200,000,000 on a replacement program aimed at making this nation what it was a century ago in the ocean cargo business. Symbolic of the big investment will be the sailing from New York on October 15 of the S. S. President Jackson, first of the new ones.

This fourth in a long line of President Jacksons will carry the usual 12 passengers, but this time they can roam about in a spacious, glass-enclosed lounge and observation area located above the bridge and affording the view comparable only to that on Olympus. The 12 will have special areas for card playing, dancing, writing, deck sports and for preparing and serving refreshments. There's even an elevator, a special dining room, radio and telephone in each state-room, moving pictures and, when close enough, TV.

Capt. Bligh never had anything thing like it. Nor did Capt. Bridges.

Traveling Kefauver Praises Far East Aid

TOKYO 9—U.S. Sen. Estes Kefauver said today he thought America's big Far Eastern aid program needs "reappraisal" in some countries, but is generally "well handled."

The Tennessee Democrat, nearing the end of a seven-nation Far Eastern tour, said the balance between economic and military funds should be examined in particular cases.

"But on the whole I would say the money is well received, well used and handled by good personnel," he said in an interview before flying to Korea.

He reported he will have "a good many recommendations" to make to the Senate Armed Services Committee when he returns to Washington.

He was briefed on the military situation for nearly two hours today by Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, Far East commander, and his aides.

Minor Blaze Terrifies 1,000 in Gotham Hotel

NEW YORK 9—A smoky fire in the subbasement of the Hotel New Yorker last night alarmed more than 1,000 guests, many of whom came running to the lobby in night clothes.

Two wedding receptions in the hotel were broken up by the fire scare.

The blaze broke out in a pile of rubbish at the base of a pipe duct which carried the billowing smoke to the top of the 42-story.

$300,000 Processing Plant Now in Full Swing

New System Begins in Holly

Sand and Gravel Co. Increases Production With Procedure

HOLLY — Today commencing at top operation is the new $300,000 processing plant of the Holly Sand and Gravel Company. It increases production to 400 tons of sand and gravel per hour.

Located on Grange Hall Road the plant has been in operation a few years, a division of J.P. Burroughs and Son, Inc., of Flint. The plant triples its former production by the opening of the new processing system.

The new equipment was first opened for a test run last month, and several minor adjustments were made in order to convert it into what is claimed to be the most modern sand and gravel system in Michigan.

The process includes crushing, washing, screening and separating the raw material, of which there is almost an unlimited supply in the 160-acre hilly tract owned by the company.

In the process five grades of stone and gravel are turned out, also two grades of sand. This is used in new building construction in many southeastern Michigan cities, also in highway and other work.

The new processing plant makes possible the correct blending of the various sizes, in order to meet the most rigid specifications of the architects and road engineers.

The great amount of water required for the production of washed gravel and sand is supplied at the Holly plant from a well that was sunk to a depth of over 300 feet and furnishes 500 gallons per minute. As a reserve supply, a large water storage pool has been created.

Charles A. Fellows, president of the Burroughs Company, says the plant extension makes possible a much larger supply of the high grade aggregate gravel required in the transit-mix system of handling gravel and cement, now coming into quite general use.

Romeo Spurs Drive for School Uniforms

ROMEO — The drive to raise funds to purchase new uniforms for the Romeo High School band has been renewed with added vigor.

The Student Council, under the direction of high school instructor Robert Hutton, is sponsoring the drive. Projects were staged to raise funds last year, and one has already added $351.07 to the total since the opening of school in September.

The town was mapped out into sections and 40 persons conducted a sale of candy bars. An added feature was music provided by members of the band riding on a tractor-drawn hayrack.

This project and contributions added to the money raised last year bring the total to $1,536.16. The goal is $5,000, according to band director E. C. Ojala.

Milford Women to Model

Literary Club Prepares Husband's Night Show

By KERA HEINTZELMAN Press Milford Correspondent

MILFORD—One of the first Fur Fashion Shows ever to be presented in the Huron Valley area will be held Wednesday at the Highland School auditorium.

Sponsored by the Monday Literary Club, an evening of solid entertainment has been planned.

This is the Annual "Husband's Night" for Milford's oldest women's organization, and a movie especially geared for men will be shown.

Beginning at eight o'clock there will be card-playing, with accommodations for over 400 people.

At nine, a fur company of Blissfield, (Mich.) will show more than $60,000 worth of fur garments. This is the same display that was presented to Vice-president and Mrs. Richard Nixon, and at Governor G. Mennen Williams' recent conference at the Grand Hotel at Mackinac Island.

Along with the showing of the furs, will be a display of fabrics and garments by a woolen mills company, also of Blissfield.

LOCAL WOMEN MODEL

Eight local women will assist six professional models in showing the elegant furs. They are: Mrs. Eddie Murdock, Letty Richardson, Eleanor See, Bernice Price, Elaine Wagner, Greta Melzer, Dorothy Sheller and Caroline Foster.

Dancing exhibitions including the Can-Can, an Assyrian tribal dance, an African native dance, a Rumba, the Charleston and a "Mink Mannequin Ballet" will be presented.

One of the high spots of the evening will be a showing of a colored movie, "The Romance of Furs." The picture will include trapping scenes and will follow the progress of a pelt from the time it is swimming around in an icy stream, until it is being stitched into a garment.

Eighty women of the club are preparing cakes for refreshments, and to conclude the evening, an expensive mink scarf will be given as door prize.

General chairman for the affair is Mrs. Frank Torrence, with Mrs. H. A. Miller assisting.

Profits from the fashion show will be used in the student exchange program, Blood Bank and many other worth while community projects, according to Mrs. Thurman Ruggles, president.

Metamora to Discuss Proposal for School

Four architects will be present to present plans for a proposed high school to be built in the area. The probable cost will be discussed and tax rates given.

School board members from all interested districts, and residents are invited.

Utica to Settle Check Distribution Oct. 18

UTICA—City officials are still astray today about the distribution of the General Motors check for $1,481 given the city for payment of expenses during the recent water pollution.

Checks were sent to claimants without benefit of formal council action. The biggest furor was created by the $500 check issued to George Albrecht, head of the water board. Townspeople questioned the amount. Albrecht explained the amount as retribution for time lost from his job while the water was bad.

The council held a special meeting and asked Albrecht to return all or part of the check. Mayor Donald Havel expressed the opinion that the whole affair was handled too informally, and also asked Albrecht to return the check.

Albrecht refused. A city council meeting is set for Oct. 18 to discuss the matter.

HONORED FOR SERVICE — Duncan McVean (right) is congratulated by Lyle Saum at a banquet for McVean at Pontiac State Hospital Saturday evening. Storekeeper for the hospital, McVean was honored for 50 years of service. Saum is president of the hospital employees club.

Duncan McVean Honored for 50 Years at Hospital

A man who has devoted his life to the hospital, began working at the Pontiac State Hospital Saturday night with a banquet attended by 250 employees and friends.

Duncan McVean, head storekeeper for the hospital, began working at the hospital only 20 years ago, but still in high school in the year 1905.

Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, reviewed the growth of the hospital, and said that McVean came to the hospital only 20 years after the opening of the hospital which was then called Eastern Michigan Asylum.

McVean remembers when in 1911 the hospital's name was changed to Pontiac State Hospital during a great mental hygiene movement. Since that time McVean has seen the hospital grow physically and with pride has watched medical students come from all parts of the world to receive the kind of training the hospital affords.

Speaking briefly was Dr. William H. Marbach, pastor of First Presbyterian Church. Marbach praised McVean for his fidelity to state, community—to his home and to his church.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Gerald Bax. Mrs. Davy Gilpin, former supervisor of women, related early hospital experiences.

Lyle Saum, president of the employees club, introduced special guests attending including Mrs. McVean and their two children, Duncan Edward and Robert.

World of Silent Efficiency Lies Before Us

By PHYLLIS BATTLELLE
NEW YORK (INS) — To its bounty of conveniences, New York City has just added an operator-less elevator that not only rides with superhuman smoothness — but talks to you graciously on the way.

Unlike the conversation of the average elevator (human), however, it wastes no words on chitchat.

It does not ask how you like the weather or fill you in on the exploits of its children. It just states facts. "Going down," it remarks when going down, and "Press the floor button, please," it urges when you enter.

Of course, if you pull any funny stuff, like stopping at mid-floor to kiss a girl, it is likely to nag — "The car has stopped because the red emergency button has been pressed; if the emergency has passed, pull the button out" — but that is your own fault.

You leave this elevator alone, and it is electronically guaranteed to give you a safe, almost silent, ride.

This remarkable irritation-saver, installed in a Park avenue building as an experiment, opens up a whole new field of gracious living.

NO MORE SMALL TALK
It hints of a great day coming when small talk will be ruled out, at least during business hours, and a man's best friend will be his neighborhood robot.

Visualize, for example, that fulfilling moment when a body will be able to step into an electronically operated taxi, tell it where he wants to go, and drop the conversation right there. (New York cab drivers are good and true blue, but violently vocal.)

The cab with the el brain conceivably might reply "Thank you" when advised where to go, and it could blurt out "Pardon the delay" in a traffic jam, for the trend in electronics is toward politeness; but that's where the dialogue would end.

No swearing, advice or haggling over tips. In fact, no tips, which is a tasty prospect in itself.

It is obvious that maitre d'hôtels in the fancier joints around town could be dispensed with and never be missed once the engineers get to work. Picture the velvet rope at the entrance and listen to the voice issuing from its braided innards with the stock answers:

"Do you have a reservation?"
"Have a seat at the bar, please."
"Sorry, the Club Room is filled tonight." Things like that, in a curt and unassailable voice.

HIDDEN SCALES

The new operator-less elevator is able to judge whether or not it has a passenger by "weighing" itself with a hidden scale. Just so, the electronic maitre d' presumably could judge whether to admit a party simply by the weight of his wallet, or the heaviness of her perfume.

There are other ways in which city life could move more smoothly and rapidly . . .

Electronic bartenders could serve your whisky without prying into why you want it. Electronic doormen would be polite all year round and not just in Christmas season.

Electronic waiters would never bring yams when you ordered mashed, and electronic salesgirls would never be surly.

Ah, ahead of us lies a world full of wonder, silent and efficient and polite. Shangri-la — with a laboratory guarantee.

Journalism Aids Democratic Idea

University Dean Says Opportunity Now Exists in All Media

MADISON, Wis. (INS) — The Dean of Northwestern University's Journalism school states that Journalism is the most important profession from the standpoint of the successful functioning of American Democracy.

Dean Kenneth E. Olson of the Medill School of Journalism told 500 high school students and their teacher-advisers at the Wisconsin high school editors' conference in Madison that Journalism offers many opportunities for great public service.

The editor said that there are more job opportunities in all fields of Journalism than ever before. He added:

"New media of communication are adding to the demand.

"Most schools of journalism this past June had four to five times as many jobs as they had graduates available."

MUST KNOW WORLD

Dean Olson cautioned, however, that editors and publishers are demanding better educated journalists. He explained:

"The world with which our newspapers, magazines, radio and TV must deal has grown so much more complicated that it is necessary for the journalist to know about the world we live in.

"He needs a very broad liberal education plus a sound professional training."

Olson concluded that "There are opportunities for you, if you will get the necessary preparation."

Airport Might Be Lost for Want of a Plane

LANSING (U) — For want of an airplane the air terminal may be lost.

Lansing officials stated that plans for a $500,000 new terminal at the Capital City Airport appear to be stymied by their inability to borrow a 10-15 passenger plane to take the city, state and Chamber of Commerce officials on a tour of facilities in other cities.

The architects said they could go no further with plans until the State Building Division approves. The Building Division said, it must have approval from the State Aeronautics Commission. The commission said it wants to look at other terminals before it takes action.

Officials said plans should be ready to submit to the Legislature when it meets in January — and that at least 60 days are needed to prepare plans.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U-P)—Howie Fox, 34, who pitched for three major league baseball clubs, was stabbed to death after he ejected three young men from his tavern in the early morning hours yesterday.

Two college students and another man were booked by police. Charges were being prepared today. Witnesses said Fox was stabbed three times in front of his tavern and died crawling toward the door. His bartender Hubert Callahan, 47, was critically slashed.

Booked for investigation of murder and assault on murder was John J. Strickland, 20, a San Antonio College student. Booked as material witnesses were Jack G. Allen, 21, also a student at the college, and Martin Belto, 27.

CUT BY FOX
Strickland had a severe cut over his right eye—caused, he told police, when he was struck by Fox with what looked to him like a miniature baseball bat.

All three made statements to police.

Officers pieced together this story: After the fight in front of the tavern, Strickland's companions took him to City-County Hospital, where several stitches were taken above the eye. Then he went to a downtown hotel.

Later in the day, he left and police found bloody clothing in the room. Strickland then returned with his companions and a hotel clerk told them they were wanted by police. They went to the city jail.

The 6-foot-3, 195-pound hurler pitched for Cincinnati in 1944 through 1946 and again from 1948 through 1951. He was with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1952 and the Baltimore Orioles in 1954. The past season he pitched for the San Antonio Missions, A Baltimore farm club, and had three wins in eight assignments. His best year was 1950 when he won 11 and lost 8.

She Sells Paintings at Art Parties

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some time ago, I suggested that any of my readers who have interesting home activities might write and tell me the details.

Today I received one of the most interesting letters I've ever read. It comes from Mrs. Margie Kasen, in Cranford, N. J.

Here is what she writes:

"For some time, I have been wondering if you would like to hear about my hobby, which has become quite profitable during the past year.

"Before my marriage to an American GI, I was a village schoolteacher in a little school on the outskirts of Sherwood Forest, England. My favorite subject was art. When I was not teaching it, I was studying it.

"When I came to the States, my art had to be put in the background, for I had three children in three years.

"But as the diaper-changing phase began to taper off, I had more time and began painting murals for the children on the doors and walls of their bedroom.

"When our children started to school, I painted pictures to decorate the kindergarten room and later to illustrate geography lessons, etc. Also, when asked for prizes for the school square dance, I again painted pictures—clowns, too, for the school circus.

"Paintings became useful for all kinds of occasions—baby shower gifts, house gifts, birthday gifts, Christmas and anniversary presents—and they were all greatly appreciated.

"How to make my hobby pay off was my next idea. Murals were out of the question, as my painting time is usually from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and 9 to midnight.

"One evening, after spending a most enjoyable time at a plastic party demonstration in a neighbor's home, I decided to paint a collection of watercolor and poster color pictures and have my own art party. One and a half years later, in October 1954, I was ready.

"I had 80 paintings, framed, numbered and priced. They ranged from 50 cents for miniatures to five dollars. I had paintings of cowboys, ballerinas, crinoline ladies and my favorite flowers from Sherwood Forest.

MANY ORDERS

"Then I invited friends in to see my work. One party led to another. I had four in that one month, which resulted in orders that kept me busy until two days before Christmas!

"Each party starts off with an art class. Everyone has to draw something, and a prize is given for the best. We conclude each party with a musical quiz, a song-fest or an impromptu concert.

"Sometimes I'm asked why I don't just supply gift stores with my pictures, but I prefer giving my art parties. I make more friends and find it far more rewarding!"

Holy Land Visitor Speaks at Harvest Home Banquet

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Sun-red sumac, purple tinged vines of wild grape, cattails, cornstalks and pumpkins decorated the banquet hall of First Methodist Church for the 65th annual Harvest Home Banquet, Friday.

The 500 friends and guests were seated at tables centered with yellow and green toy size wooden wheelbarrows filled with gourds, grapes, peppers and persimmons. Yellow candles lent a warm, golden glow.

Individual programs were enclosed in yellow paper wheelbarrows on which harvest fruits were hand colored.

Jennette Church, general chairman, gave a word of welcome, thanked those who had worked with her on banquet arrangements, and introduced the toastmaster, the Rev. Keith Colby of the Elmwood Methodist Church.

"When traveling in the Holy Land, it isn't what you see, but what you feel," said Dr. Chester A. McPheeters, minister of Metropolitan Methodist Church, Detroit, who gave the main address.

TRAVELED ABROAD

Dr. and Mrs. McPheeters spent the summer visiting Europe and the Holy Land.

Dr. McPheeters said that as they left the airport and were being driven into Jerusalem, the cab driver remarked, "You are on the road to Samaria." All the Bible stories of Jesus on the road that he had been taught in Sunday School and had read came rushing to his mind.

He went on to tell about Israel today. Before and during World War II millions of Jews had been exterminated in Germany, including the family of the present Israeli president. At first, Yitzhak Ben-Zvi hated the Germans and vowed vengeance. But he discovered that hatred and bitterness hurt no one but himself; it poisoned his own soul.

Changing his thinking, Yitzhak Ben-Zvi gave up his hatred and has dedicated his life to building Israel into a Jewish state that will be an example for all the world.

Perc Carr, who directed community singing had everyone vocalizing on old time rounds and spirited songs. Maxine Murphy was accompanist.

The Boys' Ensemble of Pontiac High School gave several selections and Herbert Hoffman, minister of music, sang several solos.

PASTOR IN CHARGE

The highlight of the evening was the Harvest with the Rev. Paul R. Havens, who has been pastor 12 years, in charge.

Throughout the past year Sunday School classes and church organizations have worked to present offerings at the Harvest Banquet.

The gifts were brought in unique ways. Several boys, dressed in work clothes came pushing a wheelbarrow full of hay, plus a bag of money. They carried a sign "It Ain't All Hay."

Some brought their gifts in baskets of fruit. One class presented a small tree loaded with one, five and twenty dollar bills.

An adult group that has been serving fish dinners, presented a plate of fish to the pastor along with the profits.

A class of girls came in singing "Bringing in the Sheaves," and offered a bag of silver dollars.

It was disclosed that Mrs. John Rawley has attended this banquet for 30 consecutive years.

The Rev. Mr. Havens pronounced the benediction.

Assisting Miss Church as chairmen of committees were Allen Elliott, Mrs. Clayton Rule, program; Mrs. Fred Manes, publicity; Howard Crawford, tickets; Guy Emery, decorations and Pere Carr, Perc Parsons and Harry Going, gifts.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service served the dinner.

Mrs. Kenneth Long of West Iroquois road is helpfully directing Bill Graves (left) of Dick avenue to the fish pond at Webster School Fall Fun Frolic. Twins, Dale and Diane Cheal of Newberry street are asking lots of questions since this is their first school fair. The fish pond is the product of Mrs. Gordon Keiller's room.

Big White Elephant March to Start Webster Festival

Fall Fun Festival week at Webster School begins tomorrow afternoon with a White Elephant march. No gift is too small nor too insignificant to be used on this yearly project.

Inasmuch as some of the objects of PTA are to promote the welfare of youth and to bring into closer relationship the home and the school that the parents may cooperate in the united effort to further the child's training, members of the Webster PTA board feel that a fair is the project to which everyone can contribute efforts and talent.

Mrs. Kenneth Long, finance chairman, is handling arrangements for the affair and each room has chosen its own project and advertised it by posters and bulletin board displays.

Beginning with a smorgasbord, visitors will have a full evening of entertainment. Because of the amount of work involved, four rooms are co-operating with the dinner arrangements. Serving on the committee are Mrs. Keith Gowen, Mrs. Matt Grahek, Mrs. David DuVal and Mrs. Roy Corwin Jr. The smorgasbord will be served from five until seven o'clock.

CARTOON THEATER

A new feature of the Webster Fair is the cartoon theater arranged by Emma Spears' fifth grade and their room mother, Mrs. Benjamin Blagier. Games have proven to be such a popular concession that a wide variety are included in this evening of fun.

A dart game is sponsored by Mrs. Norman Feet for Mrs. Arthur O'Neill's room and Mrs. Kenneth Madsen is planning them for Geraldine Doerfer's third grade room.

Mrs. Elmer Jewell chose games for Mrs. James Paulin's third grade room and D. G. Hamilton is handling the activities for Mrs. Donald Hinkley's fifth graders. Mrs. Allen Hawke is chairman for Carol Charles' third grade room.

A grab bag has been planned by Mrs. John Patterson and Mrs. J.R. Jenkins is arranging a beauty shop. Visitors may purchase a bag of popcorn made in Mrs. Carl Robinson's sixth grade room by Mrs. Robinson Bromel; ride a playground tractor being sponsored by David Weatheroll's sixth grade with Mrs. Thurlie Allen as chairman or enjoy a pony ride planned by Mrs. D. B. Eames for the second grade room.

By H. GUY MOATS
ANN ARBOR—While a sellout crowd of some 97,239 watched in the stands at University of Michigan's huge football amphitheater Saturday afternoon, a highly-regarded West Point Army Eleven went down to a surprising 26-2 defeat.

Army's big club moved into the stadium a slight favorite over the Wolverines because of a high-scoring record this fall, and because Michigan had never before won a game in the long series with the Cadets.

But this was the day.

And out of the contest arose a new, shining star on the Wolverine roster.

For tall, 175-pound Terry Barr, personally set the Cadets down, by his two touchdowns. The second took all the hopes away from the West Point crew by the very brilliance and audacity of it.

Barr had grabbed a pass from Jim Maddock in the 1st period, after an Army fumble on the 45.

Terry took the ball to the one, and then went over for the tally.

Near the midpoint of the 2nd period Barr took a long punt by Army's Vince Barta, on his own 18, skirted, dodged and outran the Army for a TD. Michigan's alert players quickly set up the necessary blocks to break Barr past midfield. From there he was on his own.

At the Army 40 Terry slanted sharply toward the middle of the field. Barta, the safety man, came up to meet him, but Terry swung-hipped by and bolted for the goal line and the counter. The play covered 82 yards.

Army never had the same drive after that play.

Michigan scored twice in the final period, for good measure. Army collected its two points in the waning minutes of the game when 3rd string quarterback Johnny Greenwood was downed back of the goal on an attempted pass play.

U. of M.'s last TDs were made by Ed Shannon from the one, and by Jimmy Pace after a recovered Army fumble on the 22. Pace went four yards around end.

Army suffered from a bad case of fumbleitis. And the virus hit the Wolverines, too. In the 3rd period at one time the ball changed hands four times in succession, with "M" finally ending the comedy of errors with its 3rd touchdown. Army fumbled nine times, Michigan three. Michigan recovered eight Army bobbles, Army two of the UM miscues.

While he was not called on to do much more than average duty, early in the game, Michigan's brilliant All-America candidate, Ron Kramer, went out on the runback by Barr in the 2nd period. He was bruised in a hard block on an Army tackler, helping clear the way for Barr's 82-yard dash.

West Coast 11 Rocked by MSU for 38-14 Loss

State Breezes to an Easy Win After a 26 Point Halftime Edge

EAST LANSING (U)—Macklin Stadium was the scene of a flashback to the old days of football glory Saturday when Michigan State was fielding unbeaten teams and building up for the Rose Bowl.

Undergraduates on the sidelines had a gay time telling a bell every time the Spartans scored against Stanford. The starting team, sparked by the pinpoint passing of quarterback Earl Morrill, looked like a championship outfit while running up a 38-14 lead by the half.

Substitutes of the 2nd and 3rd squads and the sophomore hopefuls romped during the 2nd half and helped to build to the final 38-14 margin.

The crowd of 47,586, attracted by the 1st home show of the MSU season, appeared to enjoy it thoroughly.

So a good time was had by all except the disappointed Stanford crew that had hoped to take two in a row from Big Ten teams.

Michigan State breakout into the high scoring bracket also helped add zest to the next one coming up—meeting here with unbeaten Notre Dame.

Michigan State jumped on four Stanford fumbles and drove three of them 71, 50 and 40 yards for scores. The scouting report had warned against Stanford passing, but the defenders made it appear an empty threat as only 15 throws were completed for 24 yards.

The three MSU quarterbacks completed seven of eight tries between them for 191 yards. Morrill hit four for four, including his 50-yard scoring pass to end John Lewis.

The rushing statistics were even at 269 yards. Clarence Peaks, with a 90-yard run and two touchdowns, was the big gun of the MSU ground attack. Morrill and fullback Jerry Plantus and Don Gilbert were the others sharing in the Spartan scoring.

A total of 13 backs took turns hugging the ball and coach Duffy Daugherty was able to sweep his bench and put all 46 players into the action.

KRAMER LEAVES—All-America candidate Ron Kramer's spotlighted No. 87 was out of action Saturday at Ann Arbor for most of the Army game. Ron suffered some bruised ribs in a terrific block on an Army tackler, while helping break Terry Barr off on his 82-yard TD sprint in the 2nd period. Kramer (shown leaving the field) will miss this weekend's game, Coach Benny Oosterbaan said today.

BARR RAMBLES—Terry Barr (41), right, Michigan's surprise star in the startling 26-2 victory over Army, Saturday, showed some of the stuff in this kickoff runback that later broke the hearts of the Cadets. He galloped back with the aid of such blocking as that shown by the two unidentified Wolverines above. The Army player is (86) Don Satterfield, an end.

Hubert Sparks Crane Victory

Cranbrook 'Quarter' Scores 3 Touchdowns in Win at Flint

Led by quarterback Pete Hubert who scored three touchdowns, Cranbrook High School's football team defeated Flint Tech Saturday night at Flint, 28-14. It was Cranbrook's 2nd triumph in three starts.

Hubert scored the opening tally in the 1st quarter on a one-yard plunge and chalked up the next TD on an eight-yard end run. Then halfback Herb Stanton produced the game's most sensational play by returning the 2nd-half kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown. Hubert's even-yard end run scored the 4th TD for the Cranes in the 3rd quarter.

Jerry Hudson tallied both touchdowns for Tech in the 1st and 4th periods in identical fashion. He scooped up fumbles in the Cranbrook backfield for TD runs of 28 and 10 yards.

Cranbrook's soccer team shut out Sarnia of Ontario Friday at Sarnia, 2-0. Bruce McCaul and Jim Maas booted the goals in the 2nd and 4th periods respectively.

Cassady Takes Scoring Lead

CHICAGO (U)—Howard Cassady, Ohio State's All-America halfback, has taken over the lead in the Big Ten scoring race.

Cassady scored a pair of touchdowns against Illinois Saturday to run his point total to 30 and climb past Michigan's Ron Kramer.

Kramer, injured in the Army game, was shut out and slipped to 2nd place with 25 points. The point totals are for all games played.

Michigan State's Jerry Plantus scored a touchdown and added two extra points against Stanford to take over 3rd place with 23 points.

Moving up among the top eight were Minnesota's Dick Borstad who scored two touchdowns against Northwestern and Ohio State's Fred Kriss who scored one touchdown and added three extra points to give him 13 points good for 8th place.

Skating Meet Dates Planned for February

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (U)—Sites and dates for next year's annual North American outdoor and indoor speed skating championships have been set by the Northern New York Speed Skating Assn.

They will be held at Saranac Lake on Feb. 11 and 12 and at Lake Placid on Feb. 25 and 26 respectively.

First for Frank!

Stranahan Finally Achieves Pro Golf Victory With Stroke Win Over Wall

BALTIMORE (U)—Frank Stranahan, who explained he became a professional golfer because it "means more" than playing as an amateur, clinched a $3,000 check today to prove his point.

The 33-year-old strong boy from Toledo, Ohio, picked up this little convincer yesterday as the victor's booty in the $17,500 Eastern Open over Baltimore's municipal Mt. Pleasant course.

He couldn't have chosen a more dramatic spot for his initial victory as a pro after years of successful campaigning in the amateur ranks.

It was the last tournament on the 1955 trail mapped out by the Professional Golfers' Assn. and Frank didn't clinch it until he dropped his final putt in the 72-hole event.

That stroke gave him a one-under-par 71 for the last round and 280 for the route, enabling him to finish one ahead of Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa.

"Ah, it's wonderful," said Frank. Besides winning the world amateur four times and a flock of other amateur titles, he had actually beaten the pros in four open tournaments dating back to the 1945 Durham Open.

But he remained an amateur until a year ago, and this was his first successful bid for cash that went with a crown.

"Playing as a pro means more to me because I know I'm out there every day trying to beat the best there is," he said.

"As an amateur you may play in an open tournament with the pros, but you are not really competing with them. You know you don't have to beat them, that you just have to beat the other amateurs to win."

"But when you are a pro yourself, believe me, it makes all the difference in the world. Then you know it's going to be tough because there are at least 50 really good players up against you every time you go out there."

Stranahan, son of a wealthy industrialist, got a big hand from the gallery of about 4,000 when he dropped a putt of about 18 inches for his victory.

Texas Aggies to Get Test Against Strong TCU Squad

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (U)—Paul (Bear) Bryant came to Texas A&M from Kentucky under a six-year contract charged with the responsibility of rebuilding Aggie football fortunes.

Knowing Bryant's propensity for resurrecting football fame, through his work at Maryland and Kentucky, Aggie followers said "Old Bear" will have us up there in three years.

It now looks like Bryant may be a year early. In his first season, his thinly manned Aggies won only one game although giving everybody they met a tough afternoon except Texas Tech in the opening game.

Now, this is his second season and his sophomore-studded team has won three out of four, including among its victims Louisiana State, the outfit that gave highly rated Georgia Tech such a battle last week and played Rice to a tie the week before. The Aggies whipped LSU 28-0.

Dover Hill Cocker Wins at Detroit

Dover Hill's Chief of Staff, 10-month old silver buff cocker spaniel, won the puppy sweepstakes of the American Spaniel Club show held Saturday in Detroit at the Fort Wayne Hotel.

The dog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Caughill of 1061 Dover Rd., competed against 10 other dogs in his class and came out on top bringing a silver service to his owner. Just last month, Chief of Staff won two variety dog shows in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

'Fumbleitis' Helps Wolverines to 26-2 Win Over Army; Oklahoma Extends String to 22

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Monday's football wash, and who left the soap on the football?

Fumbles, fumbles everywhere but none more butter-fingered than Army, which saw the ball squirt loose nine times against Michigan with the Wolverines recovering eight in their 26-2 victory. . . . But it wasn't just the football which was slippery at Ann Arbor. . . . Michigan's Terry Barr caught a punt on his 15 and squirmed 85 yards to one of his two touchdowns. . . . It was a pleasant triumph for the Wolverines, who had never beaten an Army team while losing five straight games. . . . Army is the only rival holding a series edge over Michigan—not even Notre Dame has it—and the Wolverines don't like it.

Speaking of streaks, Oklahoma's winning skein was lengthened to 22 on its 20-0 rout of Texas and there appears no chance of breaking it this year. . . . On an opposite note, luckless Pennsylvania, beaten by Princeton 7-0, now has gone 16 games without a victory and has suffered 12 straight defeats. . . . Alabama, once the scourge of nine games without a win. . . . But of all the stars which have fallen on Alabama, none perhaps left a greater impact than Texas Christian's Jim Swink, who rolled up 139 yards and three touchdowns in TCU's 21-0 victory. . . . Swink now has scored 62 points and run up 484 yards in four games.

At Cambridge, Mass., the score should have read DeGraaf 20, Harvard 7. . . . Quarterback Billy DeGraaf scored all of Cornell's points, three touchdowns and both extra points. . . . He had a rival for one-man-gang honors in Dennis (The Menace) McGill of Yale who personally scored four touchdowns in the 46-14 rout of Columbia. . . . George Welsh had a hand in all of Navy's 21-0 triumph over Pitt. . . . He ran over for one, passed for a second and set up the third. . . . A familiar phrase now with the return of one-planet football: Navy is unbeaten, untied and unscored on.

A couple of third-stringers came off the bench to grab headlines. . . . At Evanston, Ill., Dick Borstad, a sophomore fullback, brought back memories of Bronko Nagurski and Jack Manders as he bullied Minnesota to an 18-7 victory over Northwestern. . . . And at Philadelphia, Princeton was scoreless until it took the blanket off a long-legged newcomer named Tommy Morris, a third-string tailback, who immediately led the Tigers to their lone touchdown. . . . Two of the day's fanciest plays were nullified by the whistle. . . . In the Penn game, Penn's Alex DeLuca streaked 85 yards to an apparent touchdown with a fumble when the play was called back because of a clipping penalty. . . . Georgia Tech's Jimmy Thompson had an 85-yard punt return cut back by an out-of-bounds call in the LSU game, won by Tech 7-0.

Oklahoma's enemies must feel sometimes they are seeing not just double but in triplicate. . . . Bob Burris, who scored a touchdown Saturday, is the third of his clan to play with the Sooners. . . . What happened to the football players at Stillwater, Okla., in the Wichita Aggies game was nothing compared with what happened to the spectators. . . . A 15-minute brawl over the goal posts followed Wichita's 14-7 victory and no real football fan was in style unless he wore a black eye. . . . Oklahoma insisted on wooden goal posts in the Texas game at Dallas so its supporters could chop up the wood for souvenirs. . . . You can have your Hopalong Cassidy and Dennis the Menaces for appropriate football handles, but our favorite grabbed a punt at Bluefield, W.Va., and ran it back 99 yards, longest run of the day, to help West Virginia to a 47-12 triumph over VMI. . . . The player's name: Jack Nail paid $16.10 for $2 as he splashed through the slop to earn $100,425 of the Belmont Futurity purse totalling $125,125. The Garden State will be worth about $275,000, the winner netting some $155,000, while the Pimlico Futurity gross will hit around $80,000 with about $70,000 to the winner.

If Nail could cop the next two big ones, he will earn more than $325,000 in five weeks, and break the 2-year-old money winning record of $277,132 made in 1953 by Hasty Road.

Nail was almost unknown before he went to the post Saturday for only the fifth race of his career. In four previous starts, two in the spring, and two this fall, all were down the Widener straight course at Belmont. So, Hedley Woodhouse rode him down the chute for the fifth time, proving at least that he's a champion on that strip.

Fourteen of the 15 starters Saturday are eligible for the Garden State, as well as the Pimlico Futurity. It seems certain that most of these, plus some additions, will have another try at Nail. He was best of all on a straightaway in the mud, but how will he be at a distance around two turns at Garden State and Pimlico?

Ralph (Tiger) Jones, 7th ranking middleweight contender from Yonkers, N.Y., takes on Al Andrews, Superior, Wis., in the Wednesday night radio-TV bout (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) out of the Dimer Key Auditorium in Miami.

To Keep Going Nail Wins Futurity Stakes at Belmont

NEW YORK (U)—Mrs. Anson A. Bigelow's Nail, who jumped right into the 2-year-old championship picture with all four feet Saturday when he won the rich Futurity at Belmont Park, can run his earnings to record proportions if he has the stuff champs are made of.

Trainer G. P. "Maje" Odom will aim Nail for the world's richest stakes, the Garden State, a mile and one-sixteenth test for 2-year-olds at Garden State Park, New Jersey, Oct. 29.

Nail also is eligible for the Pimlico Futurity, at the same route, Nov. 19. No decision will be made about this until after Garden State.

Eaglets Victors in 3rd Straight League Contest

St. Mary's 11 Tramples Rita's 31-6 in Sunday Tilt at Hazel Park

Orchard Lake St. Mary's championship-minded Eaglets powered to an easy 31-6 victory over St. Rita in a Suburban Catholic League football game Sunday afternoon at Hazel Park. It was the 3rd straight win for the Eaglets.

Gerry Leszczynski, hard-running fullback, opened the scoring for the unbeaten St. Mary's 11 with a three-yard run around end. Pete Madelans placekicked the only successful conversion of the game.

St. Mary's 2nd touchdown came early in the 2nd quarter on a pass from quarterback Ted Kopacki to Stan Majewski which covered 80 yards. St. Rita scored its lone TD in the same stanza on an 18-yard gallop by Chet Laabs.

Eaglets went right to work in the 3rd period, scoring twice to put the game out of reach. Paul Frankowiak pitched a 28-yard aerial to Madelans for the 1st TD and Len Mallat plunged across from two yards out to complete a 47-yard drive.

St. Mary's final touchdown was scored in the 4th quarter. Dennis Mutrynowski intercepted a St. Rita pass on the loser's 33-yard line and raced all the way to paydirt. Fernside St. James downed St. Mary of Royal Oak, 26-6, in a Suburban Catholic League tilt yesterday at Royal Oak.

Few Top College 11s Left in U.S. Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The show is just starting, folks, but for most of the nation's college football teams it ended almost before it began.

Perhaps eight teams still were in the running for the mythical national championship today with the season only one third completed. This is the earliest mass exodus from contention in years.

For the likes of Army and UCLA, disappointment came early. Both were rated potential champions before the season started. But now they're in the back seat. UCLA still can win the Pacific Coast Conference title and play in the Rose Bowl, of course, but it is eliminated from consideration for the national crown because of its defeat by Maryland two weeks ago.

The big boy on the Coast right now is Washington, which has won four games without a defeat, including a stunning 7-0 conquest Saturday over Southern California — the club that was supposed to give UCLA a battle for the title.

The Huskies still must meet UCLA Nov. 15. That one could settle the Rose Bowl question. As for Army, the Cadets had to swallow a particularly bitter pill when they dropped a 26-2 decision to Michigan. Never before in the five meetings before the two schools had the Wolverines whipped the Cadets.

Furthermore, there was a strong suspicion that if Army was invited to a bowl game, it would follow Navy's lead and accept. The West Point brass had high hopes for this club. The most distressing fact, from the Army viewpoint, is that the team did everything to help Michigan by fumbling nine times.

Ron Kramer, Michigan's top end, got bruised in the Army game and won't play against Northwestern this Saturday and he'll be missed. Luckily, Northwestern is about the weakest team on the remainder of the schedule for Michigan, rated as the outfit to beat in the Big Ten.

Besides Washington and Michigan, the teams still in the running for the national crown include Navy, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Maryland, Duke and Georgia Tech. Navy and Notre Dame share one distinction. They are the only major teams in the land that haven't been scored on. The Middies — pending the clash against Army Nov. 26 — nailed down the Eastern title with their 21-0 victory over Pitt Saturday.

Notre Dame, of course, now is very much in contention. Its 14-0 victory over Miami — a team that had been pointing for the game for two seasons — proved that. And quarterback Paul Hornung can handle himself with the best.

Oklahoma ran its winning streak to 22 games Saturday by downing Texas 20-0. The Sooners have left their toughest foes behind.

Maryland, No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, and Duke, the two behemoths of the Atlantic Coast Conference, don't meet. Both would like to get to the Orange Bowl New Year's Day, and if they both go undefeated, the conference will select the team by vote. Maryland probably would get the bid since Duke played there last Jan. 1.

The Terps won their fourth straight by smothering Wake Forest 28-7, while Duke clubbed William and Mary 47-7. Maryland tangles with North Carolina this week. Duke has a toughie in Ohio State. The Buckeyes walloped Illinois 27-12.

Georgia Tech, the class of the Southeastern Conference, had its troubles eking out a 7-0 victory over Louisiana Tech. Its big test will come two weeks hence against Duke.

Europe's Ribot Awaits Invitation

PARIS (U)—Unbeaten Ribot awaited an invitation today to compete in the Washington D.C. International at Laurel, Md., Nov. 11 as the result of his victory in Longchamps' Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, Europe's richest horse race.

The 3-year-old Italian-owned colt, racing in the silks of the Marquis Incisa Della Rocchetta, chalked up his eighth successive victory, five this year, in winning the mile and one-half event yesterday.

The stake carried a value of $123,000 with Ribot earning $87,328.

EAST LANSING—Norm Masters, veteran Michigan State tackle, rates the 1954 Notre Dame line as the toughest he has worked against.

SETS MSU TALLY—Clarence (Hi) Peaks (above, State's initial touchdown in 38-14 win over Stanford arrow) smashes from the five to the one to set up Saturday. Jerry Planutis scored.

Otto, the Spark!

Graham Sets Off Late 87-Yard March That Gives Browns Win Over Eagles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The champion Cleveland Browns can be mighty thankful for their powers of persuasion that enticed Otto Graham out of retirement for another year in the National Football League.

Graham, who had planned to retire this year after leading the Browns to nine straight division titles, sparked an 87-yard touchdown march in the final minutes yesterday to defeat Philadelphia's touted Eagles 21-17.

The victory gave Cleveland a 2-1 record and raised them to a four-way tie for first place in the Eastern Division with Washington, Pittsburgh and the surprising Chicago Cardinals.

In a radical shift of the balance of power in the Western Division, Los Angeles shares the lead with the frisky Baltimore Colts by virtue of a 17-10 decision over the winless Detroit Lions. The defending Western titlists now occupy the cellar with the Chicago Bears. Baltimore defeated Green Bay's Packers 24-20 Saturday night and, like the Rams, sports a spotless 3-0 record.

In Sunday's other action, the Pittsburgh Steelers handed the disappointing New York Giants their third straight defeat 30-23; the San Francisco 49ers got on winning ways with a 20-19 triumph over the Bears, and the Chicago Cardinals handed the Washington Redskins their first defeat, 24-10.

With the Browns trailing 17-14 on their own 33-yard line and 4 minutes and 13 seconds left, Graham started a touchdown march which included a fourth-down pass to Dante Lavelli for 14 yards on the Eagles 44. A 35-yard run by Otto, a 2-yard pitchout and his 5-yard scoring pass to Lavelli gave the Browns the winning touchdown. Graham also accounted for the other Cleveland touchdowns, scoring one and passing for the other.

Washington opened the scoring against the Cardinals with a field goal by Vic Janowicz after Ron Marcinak stole the ball from Frank Bernardi on the Cardinal 13. But the Cards went ahead seven minutes later on an 8-yard pass from Lamar McHan to Gern Nagler after Jim Psaltis recovered a Redskins fumble. Although the 'Skins outpassed the Cardinals 189 yards to 45, the tough Chicago forward wall held firm when it counted. Washington crossed the goal line only once, a 1-yard buck by Janowicz.

In a desperate bid for a tie, the Giants recovered a Steeler fumble in the waning minutes but could not score. After trailing 17-16, quarterback Jimmy Finks pulled the Steelers ahead in the last quarter by means of two 51-yard pass completions that set up two touchdowns.
