

'Fiscal Crisis in Pontiac?' I Don't Believe It'

At the request of The Pontiac Press, city resident Louis H. Schimmel, one of the outstanding bond consultants in the United States, has submitted the following opinion on the current financial situation of the city of Pontiac:

Criticism has been leveled at former Commissioners and Managers for depleting a city surplus of over one million dollars in 1956 to less than twelve thousand dollars in 1963. One gets the impression that this was incompetent management and a squandering of city funds. The story of that surplus is the care of the city's financial problem.

Since the depression of the 1930's, Pontiac taxpayers have made a fetish of pay-as-you-go policies. They have a phobia about debt and bonds and interest. Their lack of understanding about the use of credits has been reflected in the attitude of the City Commissioners. A false notion persists that it is a disgrace to borrow money and a sin to pay interest.

In 1950, Pontiac was faced with the difficult problem of catching up on many municipal needs which had been neglected during war years, when federal restrictions made it impossible to provide normal peace time services and facilities.

The accomplishment in meeting these needs is one of the bright spots in the history of this city. The city built a new library, a new City Hall, new fire stations and a headquarters for the Police Department. The hospital was modernized and its capacity doubled. Off-street parking lots were provided. Miles of sewers were constructed which empty into a new sewage disposal plant large enough to take care of the needs of the entire city. The solution to the water problem was resolved.

About thirty million dollars worth of improvements were built in the 1950's. Most of these were financed by capital funds raised annually in the budget, plus the use of surplus funds accumulated in prior years.

Now some contend the city should not have decreased its surplus to an amount where funds at the end of the budget year are not sufficient to pay the operating expenses for the first six months of the next year. The budget year runs from January 1st to December 31st, but the city does not collect taxes until July 1st, or six months after the beginning of the budget year. Money, however, must come to meet payrolls and buy materials when the city is without income from its current tax levy. For a long time, Pontiac has (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

3rd Renewal Project Is Eyed for College

The City Commission last night agreed to petition the federal government for a third urban renewal project to make land available for a proposed osteopathic college, if Pontiac is chosen as the site for the school. A decision on the site is scheduled to be made Sept. 19 by the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS).

Cool, Cloudy, Wet—It Could Be Autumn

Cooler temperatures are creeping in on the Pontiac area as days become shorter and nights longer.

The weatherman is giving lawns a chance for a comeback as he brings showers and cloudy skies to the area.

Temperatures will drop to a low of near 55 for the next five days and rise to highs of about 74.

Showers predicted for tonight will end tomorrow and reappear over the weekend.

Fifty-four was the low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The 2 p.m. reading was 62.

Area Students Begin Classes

Record Attendance Expected by Officials

Pontiac area public and parochial school students in record numbers began their annual trek back to classrooms this morning. Half-day sessions greeted grades 1-4 today and will tomorrow in Pontiac public schools, while orientation for new students in higher grades is scheduled for tomorrow.

A total enrollment of 22,450, up from last year's 21,483, is projected this year for Pontiac public schools, while parochial schools expect moderate or no increases in enrollments.

Most of the public school increase will be in the senior high grades. Enrollment in high school classes will jump from 3,395 to 3,739 pupils, according to estimates based on the annual school census.

Waterford Township public schools anticipate an increase in enrollment of about 1,000 pupils in 1963-64, from 14,975 last year to 14,975 this year.

Parochial students in Pontiac and Waterford Township also reopened the school year today. Students reported for the first time today.

Students reported for half-day classes this week at Pontiac St. Michael with the first full day falling on Monday. St. Frederick pupils will see their first full day of classes on Friday. Half-day classes began this morning.

St. Benedict School and Our Lady of the Lakes, both in Waterford Township, go into full operation tomorrow and Monday respectively. Students reported for the first time today.

Pontiac school officials plan the first full day of classes on Friday for all grades except kindergarten, which does not get under way until Monday.

Waterford Township public schools opened this morning for a full day for seventh graders in junior high and 10-12 grades in senior high schools. In addition, ninth graders at Ketterling High School started today.

Other junior high school students will report for classes tomorrow.

Wallace Bows to Government; Negroes Enroll

Birmingham Protests Broken Up by Police as Whites Boycott

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace bowed to the federal government for the second time in three months today, and white public schools in Alabama admitted Negro students for the first time below the college level.

Club-swinging policemen broke up segregationist demonstrations at two schools in Birmingham, and white parents kept their students away from classes in droves in an apparent start of a boycott.

Wallace, however, did not hit a hand to halt the start of desegregation at a white elementary school in Birmingham and the state's largest high school at Mobile.

He remained in bed at the executive mansion in Montgomery, 90 miles away, while the color barriers tumbled here and in Mobile.

It was reported he had a "change of heart" during the night, after sending 200 of his state troopers to Birmingham to make another defiant stand, but Wallace denied this.

"I am determined to resist the efforts to take over our schools. I realize we are against powerful forces," he said.

He did not disclose how he would do this nor did he announce his next battleground.

S. Viet Nam Ignores JFK; Wants Cash Not Criticism

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The government of South Viet Nam has turned a deaf ear to President Kennedy's pledge of aid in the anti-Communist war, he said yesterday in a public support for President Ngo Dinh Diem and his domestic policies.

The Saigon stand was considered a blow to a solution of the deteriorating U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

U.S. officials in Washington privately voiced disappointment over the negative reaction to Kennedy's plea for reforms.

The Saigon stand was considered a blow to a solution of the deteriorating U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

The American President appealed to the Vietnamese government Monday to rally public support by changes in policy "and perhaps in personnel."

He apparently had in mind Diem's brother-adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

The Vietnamese government spokesman noted that "Kennedy said the United States should not withdraw its support of Viet Nam, and that is heartening."

U.S. military and other aid to Viet Nam is running $500 million a year.

Tax Levy Action Delayed

The City Commission last night delayed action on setting the city's 1963 tax levy pending the settlement of five property assessment appeals by the State Tax Commission.

The tax commission, according to City Manager William A. Ewart, "will be in Pontiac in about a week to settle the remaining appeals."

Zurich-to-Geneva Trip Ends After Takeoff; American Aboard

DUERRENAESCH, Switzerland (AP) — A Swissair twin-jet airliner exploded in the air today shortly after taking off from Zurich and crashed in flames, killing all the 80 persons aboard.

The tremendous impact of the crash scattered parts of the French-built Caravelle and human remains over a square mile.

The plane had been bound for Geneva and Rome. It narrowly missed Duerrnaesch, situated between two small lakes about 35 miles west of Zurich, and exploded a huge crater in the earth just west of the village.

The worst air disaster in Swiss history, the crash took the lives of 74 passengers and six crew members. It was the first major air tragedy in Switzerland since World War II.

Swissair authorities announced one American, named Glauner, was among the eight foreigners who perished. They did not have his first name or home town.

All the 86 other passengers and the crew were Swiss nationals. Among them were 44 persons from a single village, Humlikon. Making up a quarter of Humlikon's population, they were flying to Geneva on a trip organized by a farming cooperative.

Ford Expects Big '64 Year

BY DICK HANSON
COLORADO SPRINGS — If favorable economic conditions persist, new car sales in 1964 will top the 7-million mark for the third year in a row, according to Lee A. Iacocca, vice president of Ford Motor Co. and head of Ford Division.

Speaking at a press preview of the '64 Ford line here, Iacocca based his optimistic forecast on four factors:

● Rapid population growth, especially in the 15- to 24-age group, which buys more cars than any other segment of the population.

● Strong used car sales.

● Growth of multiple-car families. From 1953 to 1962 the number of spending units in the United States owning two or more cars increased from 2.3 million to 11.3 million.

● The rising scrapage rate. Last year, he said, the industry sold 7 million cars and scrapped almost 5 million, a new record.

Airport Master Plan Okayed

By DICK SAUNDERS
City commissioners last night unanimously approved a master plan outlining some $9,000,000 in future development of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The plan must now be approved by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics and the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) before it can be used as a working tool.

To successfully carry out all improvements outlined in the plan, the city would have to purchase some 450 acres of surrounding property.

Included in the 450 acres are about 100 homes, an elementary school, a church and 100 vacant land parcels to be purchased. Aviation easements would be needed over 73 additional parcels.

This easement consists of regular payment of a fee by the city to home owners who agree to allow planes to be flown over their property. In essence, the owners "sell" air space above their properties.

This is essential in runway approach areas.

The total land cost is estimated at $6.6 million, including the easements and funds for acquisition—costs, purchase adjustments and contingencies.

If all proposed development projects are completed in the future, the estimated $9-million cost would be split three ways.

The city would pay $2,965,128. The federal government would pay $4,532,400. The state's share would be $631,250.

These figures include all proposed construction and purchases of land by fee and by aviation easement.

However, to complete the proposed development program, it would be necessary to close a portion of Hatchery Road and relocate part of Williams Lake Road.

Pro-Castroites Shoot 2

From Our News Wires
CARACAS, Venezuela—Armed pro-Castro terrorists shot and seriously wounded two national guardsmen today in an apparent attempt to assassinate Army Capt. Hansen Zamora.
It was the 15th straight day of terrorism in the campaign against the government by the underground Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN).

In Maracaibo, meanwhile, armed gunmen raided the judicial police headquarters and escaped with 11 tommyguns, a pistol and five revolvers and $2,000 in cash. The raid was carried out by seven heavily armed terrorists who held detectives at bay while they escaped.
Unconfirmed reports from the interior said FALN members twice bombed American oil companies' pipelines in the Anzoategui (northeastern) coastal region.

The new assaults came as heavily armed police ended their search of central university grounds for the gunmen who yesterday tried a daring raid on air force headquarters in downtown Caracas.
Four terrorists, apparently bent on stealing the paratrooper guard's submachine guns, shot up the headquarters Tuesday, killing a guard and wounding a passerby. One terrorist was reported wounded.

Atlantis Society Given Little Hope for House

BIRMINGHAM — Interest in a plan of a cultural group to preserve a century-old home in the downtown area was expressed by the City Commission last night, but it gave little hope in following through with the proposal.
The Atlantis Society, a 3-month-old organization with membership of 100 families, is seeking to maintain the property at 288 Townsend and use it for offices if the city buys it.
The building is one of several on the block immediately south of Shahn Park that the city has not yet acquired for the construction of a municipal parking lot.
The question of condemning the buildings, in order that the entire block could be used for parking, has been discussed by the commission in the past, but no action has been taken.
Garvin Bowden Jr., chairman of the society, was told by the commission that the city could not condemn the property for the purpose of parking and then turn around and lease it to the organization.
The commission, however, did instruct City Attorney James Howell to explore the possibilities of condemning the building for use as a historical site.
Bowden said his organization would approach the owner of the building to discuss its purchase. The commission suggested that the building might be moved to another site if condemnation proceedings for use as a parking lot should ever be carried out.
This, however, would defeat the purpose of the society's plan to have office space for a proposed 5,000-foot north-south runway and taxiways. The proposed location for these is at the west end of the existing east-west runway.

This location is also the major difference between the final plan approved last night and the preliminary plan outlined in The Press a year ago.

At that time, it was felt the north-south runway would be located at the east end of the airport, approximately parallel to Airport Road.

WOULD CROSS

It would cross both Hatchery Road and a portion of Williams Lake Road that curves to the east at Gale Road. The north-south runway is 150 feet wide.

Other recommended projects are:

- Construction of a future 1,000 by 100-foot, east-west visual flight rules runway north of the present airport property line.
- Extension of the existing east-west (5,300-foot) runway east 900 feet for a total runway length of 6,200 feet.
- Expansion of both the north hangar area and south terminal area.

Airport Manager Homer Hoskins emphasized that the proposed improvements are not being planned to accommodate large jet aircraft.

He said the 6,200-foot east-west runway and the 5,000-foot north-south runway "will accommodate the French two-engine Caravelle and the new Boeing 727, which is less than half the size of the Boeing 707 jet."

"These aircraft are used for short haul travel and local airline service," Hoskins noted. "Further, we don't expect them to be used here for at least five years."

SUGGESTS PROGRAM

The plan suggests a development program broken into eight phases to complete all proposed expansion and improvements.

Approval by the City Commission last night doesn't mean the city will start spending $3.5 million to improve the airport.

It does mean the city accepts the plan as a logical blueprint to follow in future years if and when local funds become available for airport improvements.

City officials, in fact, have indicated they would like the city to finance part of future improvements as a city-county air facility.

The county, meanwhile, is considering a survey of present airport facilities in the county and airport needs for the future.

The purchase of land in approaches to the east-west runway and extension of the runway to 6,200 feet would qualify it for installation of an instrument landing system (ILS) and approach lighting system (ALS).

Under the present federal program, the initial installation, furnishing and maintaining of ILS and ALS systems is paid by the FAA.

The existing north-south runway, presently used for small aircraft, would be abandoned and converted into a taxiway when the new north-south runway is finished.

The plan has been two years in the making. It was prepared by Robert G. Peckham, of Lansing, the city's airport consulting engineer.

Ex-McCarthy Aide, Roy Cohn, Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy M. Cohn was indicted today by a federal grand jury, charged with conspiring to obstruct justice and commit perjury.
Indicted with Cohn, former aide to the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy and former Asst. U.S. Attorney, was Murray E. Gottesman, also an attorney.
Both were accused of testifying falsely before the grand jury.

"The committee finds the balance of risks weighed in favor of the treaty," the report asserted.

It is possible, by testing underground, that the Soviet Union will slowly erase the technological lead the United States possesses in some critical areas of nuclear development.

"But it is equally true, as the hearings indicated, that this gap could be closed much more rapidly if unrestricted testing were continued."

It added that the treaty would slow the rate and significantly increase the expense of Soviet weapons progress by confining tests to the underground area where the U.S. has a broad advantage.

"In that light," the report continued, "now would seem to be a good time to stop."

The report, approved by a 16-1 committee vote last week, will be the basis of debate starting on the Senate floor next Monday.

In Birmingham under overcast skies, and two Negro teenagers were registered for classes at Murphy High School in Mobile. Birmingham police, wearing helmets and armed with carbines, rifles and shotguns, were out in force at the three schools where five Negroes were scheduled to begin classes under a federal court order.
Mobile also started integration under court orders, but the enrollment of the two students passed quietly with none of the uproar or emotion that accompanied the start of classes here.

Violence flared briefly at the Graymont School at Ramsey High in this steel city which was rocked in May by violent Negro civil rights demonstrations.

Four white men and one Negro were arrested. One of the white men was bloodied by a policeman's nightstick when he tried to charge a police barricade.

White attendance at Graymont and Ramsey declined sharply. At West End High School, the third school here scheduled to admit Negroes, there was a bustle of activity inside; but by 11 a.m. (Pontiac time) two Negroes had not arrived.

2 New Judges to Be Sworn In

With at least one State Supreme Court Justice on hand to witness the event, attorneys Philip Pratt of Pontiac and James S. Thorne of Royal Oak will be sworn in Friday at Oakland County's sixth and seventh Circuit Court judges.

Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Zien will preside at the 3 p.m. ceremony. It will mark the first public use of the newly completed supervisors' auditorium connected to the west wing of the county courthouse.

Michigan Supreme Court Justice Michael G. O'Hara is scheduled to speak. One of his colleagues on the high court, Theodore Souris, may also attend.

Pratt, 38, and Thorne, 44, will be administered the oath of office by County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy.

NAMED IN JUNE

The two men were named June 28 to fill the two new judicial positions by Gov. George Romney. Their appointments begin Friday, the effective date of the bill passed last spring by the State Legislature to create the posts.

They will serve as appointed judges until the November 1964 general election.

Friday's ceremony, sponsored by the County Bar Association, will be opened by bar association president Thomas J. Dillon. Ferris attorney William R. Beasley will introduce the new judges.

The new jurists will be presented their judicial robes by partners in their respective law firms. In Pratt's case, it will be Clarence Smith of Smith, Pratt and Mulligan. With Thorne, it will be Gilbert H. Davis of Davis and Thorne.

Four of the county's present five circuit judges will be in attendance, including Zien, William J. Beer, Stanton G. Dondoro and Arthur E. Moore. Judge Clark J. Adams is on vacation.

After the ceremony, Thorne will use the new auditorium as his courtroom pending availability of other facilities. Pratt's courtroom will be temporarily in the space now occupied on the courthouse's second floor by the jury assembly room.

Pratt later will move his offices to the area now occupied by the Veterans Affairs department in the west wing until the jury assembly area is remodeled into a courtroom.

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have claimed 1,151 lives in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll on this date last year was 1,028.

Two other actions concerning the proposed parking lot were taken by the commission.

A $2,000 contract was awarded to the R. E. Ekin Excavating Co., 7188 Wedgworth, Union Lake, to wreck four houses and two garages that the city now owns on the parking site.
The firm was the lowest of five bidders. The high bidder asked nearly $3,000 more.
The commission also approved the parking meter arrangements and established the terms of parking. There will be two, four- and 12-hour parking meters in the 94 car lot.

N-Treaty Okay Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee assured the Senate today that the "balance of risks" is in favor of ratification of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

In a formal report recommending approval of the ban on all atmospheric, underwater and outer space testing, the committee said U.S. strategic capability is such the United States on any scale would assure the devastation of the Soviet Union in a retaliatory blow.

"The committee finds the balance of risks weighed in favor of the treaty," the report asserted.

It is possible, by testing underground, that the Soviet Union will slowly erase the technological lead the United States possesses in some critical areas of nuclear development.

"But it is equally true, as the hearings indicated, that this gap could be closed much more rapidly if unrestricted testing were continued."

Detroit to Face Circuit Court in Auto Homicide

Eugene G. Divita of Detroit, charged with negligent homicide in the auto crash death of a Bloomfield Township man about to be married, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday.

Bound over by West Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dieterle, 29-year-old Divita will be arraigned in Circuit Court Monday.

He was charged in connection with a July 29 accident in which Raymond F. Zehnder, 21, of 6041 Golfview was killed.

Police said Zehnder's car hit a tree when he swerved to avoid Divita while the latter was making a U-turn on Long Lake Road in the township.

The accident happened Zehnder was with his fiancée, Betty Aggins, 23, of 32 Murphy. Pontiac, on a last-minute errand before their wedding. She was injured in the crash.

Police said the youngest boy broke into the Robert L. Biggers home at 305 Lakewood and ransacked it, maliciously destroying drapes, bedding and clothing with a machete.

A portable television set, transistor radio, camera, a telephone, watches and revolvers were stolen from the house, according to police.

Plane Crash Kills Eighty

Four minutes before, officials reported they had lost contact with the Caravelle.

Farmers in the village of Bevil, eight miles northeast of Duerenne, said they saw a glowing fire moving at great speed through the morning mist, accompanied by a loud roaring sound.

Duerenne villagers said they heard an explosion, looked up and saw the blazing plane coming down over their houses. Some said the big craft grazed the roof of two farm buildings before smashing into the earth and disintegrating.

The plane damaged the village's main power line, tore off the roof of a barn and destroyed the upper part of the home of Heinrich Leinhard, 75, who was having breakfast in his kitchen. He escaped injury.

A small textile factory, where 80 workers had started their morning shift, remained undamaged. The plane hit 200 yards from it.

'Fiscal Crisis Here? I Don't Believe It'

nanced the first six months by using money which it accumulated from prior budgets. Since 1956 the surplus has been diminishing and it reached the vanishing point in 1962. It is now proposed that the city create surplus so it can operate those six months without collecting taxes or borrowing. This is not a sound solution. It is dangerous and is a weak excuse for failing "to come to grips" with the basic problems of revising an outmoded city charter and putting the fiscal year and the tax year on the same timetable. In the interest of focusing attention on the real problem, it is a good thing that the million dollar surplus has been spent. In view of what has happened at the City Hall, the past year, one wonders whether it would have been wise to keep a million dollar surplus for this city commission to spend.

We are told that we face a financial crisis.

I don't believe it. However, if a crisis does exist, it presents a splendid opportunity to adjust the fiscal policies of the city, so that this year's tax can be used to pay this year's expenses. This makes sense, whereas going back to the old policy simply means that we will accumulate surpluses from last year's taxes to pay some of this year's expenses, so that we can use some of next year's expenses.

Recently, the legality of levying taxes in one year to create a surplus to use in future years has been challenged. It is dangerous and eventually brings trouble. Misuse of the city's surplus by the Mitchell administration in the 1930's brought financial chaos and laws that took a decade to correct. The only reason that anyone advocates the reestablishment of surplus-fund financing is to avoid borrowing for six months, or, because it seems to difficult to update an antiquated City Charter.

You do not have to look beyond our own city to understand the solution which is suggested here. Years ago, the School District of Pontiac brought its tax year and budget year into balance. July is the beginning of the budget year for all School Districts in Michigan. Pontiac is one of the few school districts in the state that collects its taxes in July. Pontiac School District never has to borrow money for operating purposes. Most school districts, however, collect their taxes in January, six months after the budget year has started.

They are in the same difficulty in which the Pontiac city government finds itself. But school districts all over the state freely borrow at

Yugoslavia, Albania Clash Frequently at Tense Border

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the fascinating frontiers in today's world is that separating Yugoslavia and Albania. Yugoslavia leans to the Moscow brand of Communism while Albania follows Peking. This is a report from that frontier, written by a reporter who two years ago became one of the few Western newsmen allowed to enter Albania.

By CARL E. BUCHALLA
PRISTINA, Yugoslavia (AP) — In daytime, heat waves shimmer over the treeless mountains on the border between Yugoslavia and Albania, deep in the south of the Balkans. Occasionally, the silence is broken by the call of a shepherd or the cry of a hawk.

At night, the story land awakens with military watchfulness that sometimes means death to those who try to cross the border. Soldiers patrol both sides. Occasionally a flare catches overhead, lighting the no man's land. On some nights rifle shots or the chatter of a machine gun pierce the stillness.

"In 1962, our authorities apprehended 415 agents and spies," a recent official Yugoslav statement says. "Of the total, 34 were armed terrorists of the Albanian security police."

Another official report in Belgrade tells of more than 600 severe border incidents involving Albanians and Yugoslavs in the past few years.

GUARDS SHOOT

Last June 28 an agent "armed and equipped by the Albanian authorities" was shot by Yugoslav border guards as he tried to cross the border. Another man was arrested.

The Yugoslav government protested to the Albanians over the "subversive and espionage activities of the Albanian government against Yugoslavia."

Only a week before that incident, the Albanian government had announced that a group of American and Yugoslav agents had been convicted in the city of Kukes, a few miles from the border. Three were reported sentenced to death. No names were given.

Radio Tirana asserted the condemned had been in contact with American agents who once parachuted into Albania to organize an uprising against the Stalinist regime of President Enver Hoxha and were operating in Yugoslavia against Albania.

Incidents on the border started in 1949 when Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito broke with Stalin. Hoxha, a loyal follower of Stalin, became Tito's most bitter enemy.

BITTERNESS GROWS

The recent rapprochement between Tito and Khrushchev and Hoxha's adherence to the Chinese Communists have enflamed the bitterness.

Even without ideological differences the border area is a natural trouble spot. About 60,000 Albanians live on the Yugoslav side. This is about one-third as much as the population of Albania.

These Albanians, who, like the residents of Albania, call themselves Skopetars, have their own republic—the autonomous district of Kosovo and Metohia, or "Kosmet" for short.

The Kosmet is the most underdeveloped region of Yugoslavia. Tito's government is increasing efforts to develop resources, build plants and roads and fight illiteracy.

Pristina, capital of Kosmet, a town of 40,000. It already shows some result of this policy. New apartment houses and modern buildings contrast with old mosques and minarets.

THE LANGUAGE

The official language, Skopetars, is taught in schools, broadcast by radio. Pristina and used for the daily newspaper Rilindja.

Albania charges that the Yugoslav Skopetars are oppressed by Tito. "Even the Albanians do not believe that," an official in Pristina said. "They know we live much better and have more freedom than they have under Hoxha."

In recent years hundreds of Albanians fled to Yugoslavia.

"Now Hoxha's guards have tightened the border, so only an occasional refugee gets across," an official said.

The aged custodian of the cloister church close to the border said:

"Only the other day a woman from Pogradec got across here. Things are very bad over there, worse than two years ago. Now they have ration cards — bread, meat and sugar are rationed."

BARBED WIRE

Two years ago this correspondent saw the border from the Albanian side. There a restricted zone is set off with watchtowers, barbed wire and patrols along more important sectors of the 300-mile border.

The Yugoslav side has no barbed wire, no restricted zone and only an occasional patrol. An official explained: "None of us wants to go over there or to plan a military attack to overthrow the Hoxha government."

Such charges are rejected in Belgrade, where an official said: "Probably it would take us less than a week to conquer the whole of Albania and free those oppressed people. But such a move, an aggression, contradicts entirely the Yugoslav policy of peaceful coexistence. We would never give up this policy."

Hare: 'Are Petitions Legal?'

From Our News Wires
LANSING (AP) — A question of legality has been raised by Secretary of State James Hare concerning the anticity income tax petitions delivered here Saturday by the Vigilance Tax Committee.

Hare said he has asked for an attorney general's ruling on whether he may legally accept the petitions, containing some 200,000 names, before they were filed with the clerks of counties where they were circulated.

"There is a grave question in my mind as to whether I may receive these petitions for filing," said Hare.

He said the constitution requires that initiatory and referendum petitions must be filed with county clerks, who then must forward them to the secretary of state's office.

A court ruling also indicates that the secretary of state has no right to receive referendum petitions from any other source, Hare added.

He asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley for a "prompt answer" so the matter can be settled before the legislature begins a special session a week from today.

The Vigilance Tax Committee, an organization of officials from Detroit-area suburban communities, has battled for more than a year to have Detroit's 1 per cent income tax nullified, particularly as it applies to non-residents.

ARMORED DELIVERY
George Kuhn, mayor of Berkeley and chairman of the committee, delivered the petitions to the capitol in an armored car Saturday.

The petitions are designed to force the legislature to consider a law preventing cities from levying income taxes without voter sanction and from levying them on nonresidents under any conditions.

Some 210,000 names would be required to force the proposal before the legislature. If not enacted this session or in 1964, the issue would go on the ballot next November.

Kuhn today accused Detroit officials of supporting delaying tactics designed to prevent speedy consideration of the petition drive.

"We believe that this is a delaying tactic being pushed by Detroit to prevent action on the petitions during the special session of the legislature which starts Sept. 11," Kuhn said.

"Normally, the secretary of state without fanfare audits, analyzes and certifies petitions to the legislature," he added. "The so-called requirement that we file the petitions with the county clerks is an optional choice under the present constitution."

Kuhn said that "regardless of the red tape we are now encountering, the citizens of the state will eventually get the opportunity to vote on local income taxes."

Protests Made in Train Hearing
A proposal to discontinue Beeline rail passenger service drew scattered objections in the first part of a public hearing yesterday in Saginaw.

Official protests were registered by municipal attorneys for Leeper, Saginaw and Bay City, and representatives of some rail unions.

Reportedly, no private citizens appeared during the hearing before Michigan Public Service Commission examiners, but 70 written objections were filed.

Oscar Steinhardt, assistant passenger sales manager of the Detroit New York Central Railroad office, said further operation of the twice-daily service will result in a loss of $50,000 yearly.

Less than a dozen passengers regularly ride the self-propelled rail car, Steinhardt said, besides occasional student and youth groups on an excursion.

The hearing reopens Friday morning at the City-County Building in Detroit. No officials of Oakland County communities on the Beeline route say they will dispute ending the service.

Teamsters 'Win' in Company Vote
WALLED LAKE — The Teamsters Union declared itself unofficial winner in an election at Wallied Lake Manufacturing Co. today.

The election was held to determine the bargaining agent for company employees.

The tally reported by the Teamsters gave them 11 votes and the Carpenters Union six. There was one "no" vote.

The election was conducted by the National Labor Relations Board, which will announce official results at a later date.

Housing Law Sought

Area-State News

LANSING (AP) — A strong "open occupancy" law and revision of the search-and-seizure provision of the new constitution were demanded today by the Civil Liberties Committee of the State Bar of Michigan.

In an annual report prepared for the state bar convention later this month, the committee also indicated it believes the new Michigan civil rights commission will not have enough power unless new laws are passed.

It called on the legislature to enact new laws to eliminate discrimination in housing, employment, education and public accommodations as a means of implementing the civil rights commission.

"Discrimination in housing is one of our most persistent and serious problems," said the committee.

... The state, by its control over licensed brokers and salesmen, can effectively and substantially reduce discrimination in that field.

To this end, it recommended support of legislation similar to a Senate bill, defeated in the 1963 session, which would have enabled the state to revoke real estate licenses for discriminatory practices.

The committee's position on search and seizure was unchanged from a year ago, when it refused to endorse the civil rights provision of the new constitution because of it.

ILLEGAL ARRESTS
In explaining its reasons, the committee said a "serious situation" involving illegal arrests and illegal searches by Detroit police still exists, but that such activities decreased between 1960 and 1961.

The decrease in such cases from 21,535 in 1960 to 18,437 in 1961, said the committee, "can be attributed to the efforts of Detroit police commissioner George Edwards in establishing police procedures that are more consistent with the standards of constitutional law."

Police in Michigan, the committee report said, need more training in the matter of constitutional law on arrests, searches and seizure, and should "place less reliance on confessions and more on police investigation."

CONGREGATION MOVING — This one-story brick and glass building is the first permanent home of St. Augustine Lutheran Church, Troy. Dedication services for the building will be conducted Sunday. Church members have been meeting at Troy High School since 1961.

St. Augustine Evangelical

Troy Church to Be Dedicated

TROY — Dedication of the new St. Augustine Evangelical Church building will be observed with a special festival service at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Church officials, celebrants and the congregation will enter the church in procession for the ceremony.

The dedication may be repeated in the future if current plans for a larger church are realized.

The new $105,000 structure at 18½-Mile Road and Livernois is actually a multipurpose building designed for possible use as a parochial school, explained the church's pastor, Rev. John R. Monson.

It could serve as the first unit of a larger building on the 10-acre site, he said.

The church can accommodate 160, with overflow seating available for 140.

Within the beige brick and glass exterior, the sanctuary has paneled fixtures and exposed ceiling beams of walnut. A four-foot suspended Christ, the King cross dominates the chancel furnishings.

Rev. Edwin Weber, pastor of St. John Lutheran at Fraser and first vice president of the Michigan District, Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, is guest preacher for the dedication service.

Liturgist will be Rev. Paul Heinicke, executive secretary of the Michigan District. Adult choir of Our Shepherd Lutheran Church, Birmingham, will perform the choral part of the service.

VESPER SERVICE
A 7:30 p.m. vesper service will feature Rev. Ronald Starenko, of Faith Lutheran Church, Livonia, as guest preacher. Rev. Monson will be liturgist. The children's choir of Our Shepherd Church will be guests.

The mission congregation has been holding services since 1961 at Troy High School. The charter membership of 67 has grown to 105.

Church Sets Celebration
The annual homecoming and Harvest Home Services will be celebrated at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Sunday at the Addison Township Community Church.

The missionary workers of DePaul will be in charge at both worship periods. A pot luck dinner is slated for 12:30 p.m. in the Arnold auditorium. The church is located at 3020 Lakeville.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Meet in Rose Bowl

Estimates placed the crowd at only slightly less than the 71,000 who attended Labor Day services.

Communism 'There to Stay'

State Girl Impressed by Cuba

DETROIT (U) — A Michigan girl who visited Cuba despite State Department protests says "It doesn't hurt to take a first-hand look at communism."

Patricia Ann Sopiak, 23, of New Boston, contended yesterday that the U.S. government ban on visiting Cuba is a violation of individual rights.

"I wanted to see what the revolution was like," she said on arrival at Detroit after a two-month trip to the island with about 80 other American students. "I had read a lot about it."

The State Department issued a letter saying the students' passports were "tentatively withheld" because of the trip.

"President Kennedy made a statement in Berlin about how important is the right to travel freely," she said. "The government's position is hypocritical if they want to penalize us for taking this trip."

Patricia wants to "speak as much as possible" about the trip — about how people live in Cuba and about visits with the families of Cuban students. She took pictures during her trip.

Part of what she will say is that Cuba's Communist regime "is there to stay. The Socialist revolution and the leaders are supported by a majority of the people."

BRAVE MAN

She described Premier Fidel Castro as "a tremendously brave man and a definitely warm person. I saw him when he was very relaxed, playing ping-pong. He played some of our students and won every game."

On the U.S. government's rule against visiting Cuba, Patricia said, "I hope to go to Washington and protest. But right now I am anxious to get home and relax. And I want to get a job... I'm broke. I don't want to ask my parents for money."

Miss Sopiak lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Metro Sopiak. She attended the University of Michigan on a scholarship for three years, and hopes to get her degree from either the U. of M. or Wayne State University next spring.

It wasn't anything particular in her studies or pressure from extra curricular groups that influenced her to visit Cuba, Miss Sopiak said.

"The only satisfactory way to see what the Cuban revolution was all about was to go and evaluate it for myself," she said.

"There have been a lot of contradictory things written about it," she added.

'BETTER FOOD'

The student group went to Czechoslovakia and from there to Cuba. When in Havana, the group stayed in the Havana Riviera Hotel — the Havana Hilton before Castro nationalized everything — and, "We had better food than the ordinary Cubans," Miss Sopiak said.

Miss Sopiak said her group visited schools, hospitals, factories, houses and crop fields, and saw "a phenomenal increase in education and health care."

"The leaders are honestly trying to raise living standards, and I had a very definite feeling that the people were not oppressed," she said.

"There are people who don't like Fidel and they aren't scared to tell you so. As long as you agree with the goals of the revolution, you can criticize any part of it," Miss Sopiak added.

"The Cubans are really anxious to have Americans see their country," she said. "They keep saying over and over again they have nothing to hide."

Couple Quarantined on Hungary Visit

VIENNA, Austria (U) — A Lincoln Park, Mich., couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Szasz, are among 300 guests quarantined in a Budapest, Hungary, hotel because a hotel employee is suffering from smallpox, the Hungarian news agency said yesterday.

The news agency MTI said a chambermaid had a mild case and there was hope for quick recovery. It said no other cases of smallpox have been discovered in Hungary, and a mass inoculation program would not be required.

There was no indication whether Hungarian authorities might modify the quarantine at the Hotel Royal, originally set for 21 days.

NY Weighing Teacher Strike

NEW YORK (U) — Officials are considering asking for a court injunction against a possible strike by New York City teachers on the opening day of school Monday.

"We will disobey it," said Charles Cogen, president of the United Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO.

Cogen said, however, the union had discounted the possibility of the board of education obtaining an injunction.

His statements came after a negotiating session with the board early today.

The union bargains for all 43,000 teachers in the city's public school system, but only 21,000 are union members.

Cogen repeated his threat that the teachers would strike Monday if no agreement on a new contract, including a wage increase, is reached. More than a million pupils would be affected.

Corporation counsel Leo Larkin, the city's top legal officer, said last night the board of education had been in touch with his office about the possibility of seeking an injunction.

Asked if an injunction would be sought, Larkin would say only that the city would not act to obtain one before tomorrow.

Should the world's greatest gin

be lavished in a gin-and-tonic?

In a word, YES!

To make the world's tangiest gin-and-tonic, you need the world's driest, smoothest gin.

This gin is taken through a costly extra step to remove sweetness and perfumery. A step that endows it with a dry flavor, a smooth taste.

So, when you think of gin-and-tonic, think of Seagram's.

The gin worthy of the words "Extra Dry."

Reader Interest Continues on City Commission Act

Each night of the Stierer hearing the commission and Mr. Ewart go home in more disgrace. Now that the public is getting wise to this whole farce, someone comes up with the suggestion for a moratorium to avoid blackening the city's name. Well, the commissioners have thought of that before they made all their silly accusations.

Mr. Stierer also has a name he'd like to keep from being blackened, and I say phooey on the moratorium. No one expects this disgraceful hearing to change anything, but the public has a right to know just what kind of nonsense is being conducted by the commission. And Mr. Stierer has a right to the public defense against it.

The whole mess is another blot on the city's reputation, but if that's what it takes to get the voters to wake up and put more responsible, capable men in office, it's well worth it.

Authorities agree that the best way to have an honest and effective police department is to keep it completely separated from politics and elected officials.

The Pontiac Police Department's budget has been cut by the City Commission for the last two years. Yet this same group has constantly demanded more and better protection for certain areas of the city. A very neat trick. A constant battle has been going on for the last six years by certain elected commissioners to dictate to the chief of police.

The people of Pontiac voted for our city manager and saw to it that the police department came under the city manager, not the commission. Let's keep it that way.

Being property owners, we'd like a few questions cleared up: Is City Commissioner Bottom a high school graduate? Does Henry City have a "Suicide Squad" to patrol Wessen and Bagley? Has City Attorney Ewart ever had anything to do with running the city?

The picture of Milton Henry sleeping at the hearing of Mr. Stierer proves that The Press doesn't allow its personnel to sleep on the job.

As an amateur photo fan I'd say that was a pretty good shot.

Some years ago, William Haggerty called himself "The Prince of Peace" and prophesied that the city would encounter turmoil that continued year by year. His vision is becoming more and more a reality with the Stierer disorder and now Mr. Stierer and Mr. Koren. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has the correct and best solution to this chaotic mockery.

We urgently need modification of the charter. Now is the interval for reasonable cooperation and peace.

Voter Is Against Change in City Charter
A petition is being circulated to change the voting procedures for city commissioners. The petition suggests that elections should be done by the whole city instead of the district itself.

I believe their obligation is to represent their district and their district should elect them. Pontiac has its own ideas to keep the control in the hands of a strong, influential, biased group of Pontiac citizens.

If a district has two candidates for commissioner and prefers one and the city prefers the other, then this district has no voice at all.

State Needs Campaign to Educate Drivers
Everyone is alarmed over the rising number of deaths on our highways and rightly so. The legislature will pass more laws, which 50 per cent of the people won't understand and 90 per cent won't obey.

We need an educational program with driving suggestions and strict re-examination on drivers and vehicle inspection. I believe 65 to 75 per cent of the vehicles and drivers would be removed for the following reasons: Mechanical—faulty brakes, steering, lights, slick tires; Driver—poor eyesight, poor reflexes, ignorance of laws and rules of the road.

It doesn't make sense to spend millions for roads when our drivers don't have the knowledge or ability to use them. How about a campaign to educate drivers?

David Teel's Decision Most Understandable

DAVID S. TEEL, assistant city manager, is leaving.

Well, wouldn't you? Can you expect a man in his spot to remain here and covet an ultimate promotion to Mr. STIERER's place? From the inside he has been watching the hatchmen at work.

Would you want to stay?

The name of a proud, prosperous and thriving community is being dragged through the slime to the humiliation of citizens who are normally proud of their community — citizens who mind their own business — and who wish an inept City Commission could do the same.

TEEL

Mr. Teel has seen enough. No wonder he leaves.

He seeks peace, safety, encouragement and cooperation from friendly hands and friendly faces. He wants a normal spot where ability and application are recognized — and appreciated. He can find it in hundreds of cities — yes thousands — clear across the Nation.

Why stay in Pontiac? Would you remain when the commission was hammering your boss into submission so it can throw him to the wolves and then reach down and handle the chief of police?

Would you?

Nuclear Ship Savannah Not to Be Counted Out

An $82-million investment in a nuclear-powered merchant ship has lain lifeless at a Galveston, Tex., pier — at a $30,000 monthly cost to the government for housekeeping — since her complement of 29 especially-trained engineers went on strike last May.

First of its kind, she was proposed in 1955 by President Eisenhower as part of his "atoms for peace" program.

The Savannah, launched in 1959, was to be a showboat carrying the Stars and Stripes to the great ports of the free world and the forerunner of a fleet calculated to raise the U.S. merchant marine from the present state of anemia to its former preeminence.

But the sailing has been far from smooth for the graceful vessel capable of cruising indefinitely at 20 knots on a three-year store of fuel.

Mixing a marine metaphor, there are many detractors who call the Savannah a white elephant. In addition to the inflated cost, they point to a profusion of misadventures that have beset her — ranging from the reactor, heart of the ship, all the way to the telephone system.

The striking engineers say it is an inferior ship and an engineering monstrosity.

Defenders of the "grayhound of the seas," however, counter with her record of 30,000 miles without major mishap as she visited 11 major U. S. ports, and the claim that she is the safest ship on the seas.

As for the excessive cost, maritime officials contend that the cost of any pilot navigational project is inevitably disproportionate; and that as result of construction and operating lessons learned, they can now design a nuclear power plant costing half as much as the Savannah's and weighing a third to a quarter as much.

The Government has cancelled its contract with State Marine Lines, operator of the ship, and plans to recruit and train another engineering crew. Within six months, the Savannah should again be at sea.

Although there may be much to condemn about the revolutionary ship, it might be well for disciples of despair who see it as an atomic abomination to reflect on the ultimate outgrowth of "Fulton's Folly."

The art of conversation has long been dead. It was talked to death.

Storm Gathering in Congo Politics

By DENNIS NEEDLE

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula is trying to steer the Congo around a gathering storm of unrest.

This former Belgian colony is economically in a bad way. There is runaway inflation. Graft and corruption undermine the administration.

Adoula, nevertheless, has slowly achieved a degree of stability unprecedented since independence in 1960.

Parliamentary elections, probably early next year, throw a question mark over the future.

This is a major reason why the United States and some other nations oppose withdrawal of United Nations forces.

SHORT OF MONEY

The U.N. Congo operation is desperately short of money and Secretary-General U. Thant wants to pull out 7,700 U.N. troops by the end of this year.

They would hand over to Gen. Joseph Mobutu's 30,000-strong Congolese Army the task of maintaining order.

These soldiers range from well-disciplined paracommandos to troops in the back country quick to resort to looting and banditry when given the opportunity.

A retraining scheme is under way. A handful of Belgian officers are back as instructors. More are promised. Mobutu and 200 of his crack paracommandos are on a course in Israel.

But it seems likely that several months must elapse before the army can be relied upon to keep the peace through a country the size of Western Europe.

Belgian diplomatic officials express concern for the safety of 40,000 Belgian civilians at election time. In all, 70,000 whites are in the Congo, the rest being mainly Greeks and Portuguese. Before independence, there were 120,000.

Adoula is widely respected, moderate and generally pro-Western, though he lacks dynamism and is a crowd-puller.

TOUGH POLITICIAN

Victor Nendaka, chief of the security police, is a tough, ambitious politician and probably the only man who can give an order in Leopoldville and have it obeyed throughout the Congo.

Mobutu, head of the army, is thought to be politically unambitious, but probably ready to throw his forces behind Adoula if opposition elements tried to oust him undemocratically.

Others in the Binza group are Justin Bomboko, resilient and politically astute minister of justice; Albert Ndele, governor of the national bank; Damien Kandole, secretary-general of the ministry of interior.

There was a time when the Binza subgroup, virtually ran the Congo with Adoula as their front man. But Adoula's mounting popularity has given the prime minister at least an equal voice in government decisions.

Ranged against Adoula is a loose collection of nationalist parties loyal in theory to the memory of Patrice Lumumba, first prime minister. Christopher Gbenye is the Congo's most prominent Lumumbist.

The Soviet Union's 115-man embassy is politically active and is suspected by Westerners of giving Lumumbists financial backing. Every member of the mission speaks French.

Internal rivalries have splintered Lumumba's old party. They failed last week to exploit a threatened strike by civil servants.

It Takes Two To Scale The Heights

David Lawrence Says:

Integration Meets Practical Test

WASHINGTON—A single news story on page 27 of the New York Times yesterday morning revealed — more than anything else could — what the "marches on Washington" and the emotional pleas for nondiscrimination as between the races really mean to those Americans who see a difference between the abstract theory of equal rights and its practice in the everyday life of the nation.

For the fears of many white people that "integration" in the public schools or LAWRENCE at eating places or in apartment houses might lead to intermarriage of the races were confirmed by the news that the first Negro girl to enter and graduate from the University of Georgia had disclosed her marriage to a White Southern student whom she met on the campus.

The couple was secretly married in the spring of this year and are expecting a baby in December. They now have moved to New York City. The husband is quoted as saying that he first saw the young Negro girl in the fall of 1962 at a coffee shop at the university. He said: "There was only one seat-across from Charlayne — and I sat there. We were seen together from then on around the school and in my car, but you couldn't really call it dating because there is nothing much to do in Athens (the Georgia city in which the university is located)."

The young wife is quoted as follows in telling of their life after they were secretly married:

"We'd go to Atlanta together. At that time some of the theaters and restaurants had been integrated in Atlanta and the city was fairly sophisticated."

The husband quoted his father as having said after learning about the marriage: "This is the end of the world."

ILLEGAL IN PLACES

Some states prohibit intermarriage of the races, and the Supreme Court of the United States has not yet declared these statutes invalid.

Theoretically, based on recent decisions, the court has no choice but to declare such laws unconstitutional.

Logically, there could be demonstrations against such laws, and these might at least serve the purpose of showing the difference between the concept of equal rights in the abstract and the actual exercise of such rights in family life.

Not many of those parents —

white or Negro—who favor equal rights in theory would be happy to see their children intermarry.

But the "sophisticated" theorists might argue that even this prejudice can be and will be overcome in time and that such interracial marriages will soon become commonplace and the barriers of public feeling will gradually be let down.

Some of the professors of ethnology, among whom there has long been a dispute concerning the I.Q. or intelligence quotient, of Negroes in comparison with whites, would have an opportunity to argue that mixing of the races will be helpful to the Negroes and that in due time the integration of the races will increase the capabilities of the Negroes to hold better jobs.

Regardless of the theories involved in the equal rights crusade, hypocrisy is rampant in America.

Many people who brush aside the argument of Southerners as to the dangers and risks of promoting social contacts between Negro and white youngsters—in schools, in eating places and in housing projects — are not being realistic.

Russ Economic Pressure Aimed at Commie Control

By BORIS BOSKOVIC

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's tour of Yugoslavia has convinced many here that Moscow has changed its strategy for dominating the Communist world.

In every speech, Khrushchev insistently argued the necessity and advantages of economic cooperation among Communist countries.

Students of Communist affairs believe a primary goal of Khrushchev's visit was to draw Yugoslavia into closer economic ties with the Soviet Union and other countries of the Eastern bloc.

In Stalin's day, Moscow controlled its satellites and other Communist parties by tough discipline. The situation has greatly changed in the past few years.

Yugoslavia escaped from Moscow's orbit in 1948, the only Communist nation to do so up until Stalin's death.

Since then, Albania and Asian Communist nations led by Red China have adopted independent and anti-Soviet lines. Signs of disobedience also have recently appeared in Rumania.

REGAIN CONTROL

Observers now believe Moscow is trying to regain control through subtle economic means.

The idea is to dominate Comecon, the Communist answer to the European Common Market. By centralized planning of production, Moscow could impose its will and ultimately wreck the economic independence of its members. This idea is behind Roman's discontent. It resented being assigned to a largely agricultural role in Comecon.

If one country under Comecon's so-called "socialistic division of labor" specializes in a certain product or line of products, it will become fully dependent upon the Soviet Union and its neighbors for those items it does not produce. Export possibilities to the West also would be appreciably diminished with the curtailment of variety in goods produced.

The loss of economic independence would mean the restoration of Moscow's political domination.

sade, hypocrisy is rampant in America.

Many people who brush aside the argument of Southerners as to the dangers and risks of promoting social contacts between Negro and white youngsters—in schools, in eating places and in housing projects — are not being realistic.

The real issue has always been and still is integration of the races. Many a preacher and many a politician who today fervently acclaims integration at heart if the question of intermarriage of his own children ever were raised.

More than 100 years ago said frankly in his public speeches that he did not favor intermarriage of Negroes and whites. Has human nature changed since then?

New Laws

The Bloomington (Ill.) Pantograph

Only mistaken sentimentality could object strenuously to two new Illinois laws.

They provide: 1. The birth of a second illegitimate child to a woman receiving public aid for the first one automatically brands the home as not suitable to the child's welfare; 2. The second illegitimate birth is grounds for taking away the child because of her unfitness.

We understand this to mean that such a mother would stand to lose both children and her aid to dependent children relief checks.

Earlier there were two opposing views on this situation. One was that the availability of relief checks was an incentive to have additional illegitimate children, or at least to be careless about whether they arrived. The other was that the mother's sin should not deprive the child of needed help.

Purpose of the new laws is to reconcile both views.

There may be some sentimentality about taking a child away from its mother, but surely the word mother in its good sense is meant to indicate more than the simple animal function of reproduction.

A child taken from its "home" under the new laws may not have an upbringing equal to that of one growing up in a normal family. Yet who will argue that it will be worse off than in the world conditions which would be the alternative?

Smoke Going Up

The Milwaukee Journal

The tobacco industry keeps wailing that cigarettes are being taxed ever more burdensomely and unjustly. It makes no difference. States go right on taxing them even more heavily. Smokers go right on consuming them at least as heavily. The industry goes right on flourishing.

Wisconsin's was the 16th cigarette tax rate to go up again this year. It is one of ten that have hit the top state rate of 5 cents a pack in the last three years, for a total of 13 such states. The top rate anywhere is in New York City, where 4 cents is now added on locally to the 5 cents state rate.

Six states have newly moved up to the 5 cents and 7 cents brackets, and 30 states now levy at least that much. Congressmen, who levy the taxes for the District of Columbia and buy a lot of their own cigarettes there, conveniently keep the district rate at 2 cents, though the district is badly strapped for funds.

At Bronx Zoo

Police Trap Thwarts Holdup

NEW YORK (UPI) — The ice cream vendor carried a revolver under his white jacket. The street cleaner pushed a container on wheels with a shotgun inside. The taxi driver wore a bulletproof vest, and the animal keepers conferred by walkie-talkie radio.

To the casual eye, there was nothing out of the ordinary in the scene at the Bronx Zoo up until 11:05 a.m. yesterday. The zoo's bucolic areas were quieter than usual, on a blustery day following the Labor Day weekend. A few youngsters played with geese and rabbits in the children's zoo section.

But at 11:05, the peaceful atmosphere was shattered and the zoo became a jungle setting for human violence.

In a gun battle lasting five minutes and 75 shots, three would-be bandits lost out in their attempt on a $50,000 bundle of holiday receipts. They were ambushed by the ice cream vendors, street cleaners, animal keepers — and other disguised members of a 50-man platoon of policemen.

ONE DEAD

The zoo battle left one bandit dead and another critically wounded. A third was captured after a futile escape attempt in the getaway car.

The police trap, one of the most elaborate ever staged in the city, was organized after detectives received a tip that a zoo truck carrying cash receipts would be held up.

The tip — reportedly given by underworld foes of the three holdup men — was confirmed last Friday when detectives saw three men driving around the southeast corner of the zoo apparently casing the area.

Police were told the holdup was slated for yesterday, when the panel truck carrying receipts from concessionaries was to make its routine journey from the zoo to a bank.

The disguised detectives waited as the truck drove up to the Buffalo field near one of the main exits.

The driver, wearing a khaki zoo uniform, was detective Kenneth Ford. Another detective, Philip Dennehy, sat next to him and four others crouched in the back. All wore armored vests.

At 11:05, two men stepped out of the trees with guns drawn.

FIRE POINT-BLANK

"They said to us 'This is a stickup. Get your hands up and get off that truck,'" Ford said. "The man on my side fired point-blank at me. I could hear bullets whiz by."

"I ducked low and jumped down. We all piled out of the truck and the battle was on. I managed to get off six shots. They headed for the road right where more of our men were waiting behind the rocks. We all blasted away."

"Everything was over in a matter of seconds, but it seemed like a long time to me."

Killed was the bandit who fired the opening shot, 24-year-old former convict Harry Potak. Richard Messina, 26, fell critically wounded. Their getaway driver, Michael Viggiano, 27, managed to reach the car and get through the exit, but was stopped three blocks away by a "taxi" carrying detectives.

The truck actually carried only a "nominal" amount of cash, police said.

Official Resigns Ann Arbor Post

ANN ARBOR (AP)—City Human Relations Commission Coordinator Mrs. Lauri Talayco quit last night and said she will join those campaigning for a fair housing ordinance with teeth in it.

The Ann Arbor Area Fair Housing Association last night canceled plans for a third, overnight sit-in at City Hall, saying the council had taken a "first step toward a meaningful ordinance."

Members of the association were arrested last week during the second sit-in. Pickets were on hand for last night's council meeting for the 14th consecutive meeting. About 130 persons picketed last night.

The council received petitions with 75 names calling for an advisory citizens' vote before final action is taken on any open occupancy ordinance.

In announcing her resignation after three years in her city post, Mrs. Talayco said past and present human relations remedies "only serve to drive the real problems of discrimination below the surface."

Junior Editors Quiz on ISLANDS

QUESTION: Why the name Iceland since it grows green grass, and Greenland since it's covered with ice?

ANSWER: In 982 the Norse chieftain Eric the Red landed on the southwest coast of Greenland and decided to establish a colony. He returned to Iceland and invented the name "Greenland" to tempt settlers to come to the new country.

In those days the climate was warmer and there were a few places where it was possible to farm, but it grew cold again in the 1300s and the Norse colony vanished.

Nowadays there is still a little grass on the extreme southern coast where some warmth is brought by a current from the Gulf Stream, but the great part of the country is covered by an enormous ice sheet.

If "Greenland" is the wrong name for this very cold country, "Iceland" is the right name for the island which lies to the east for Iceland has enormous patches of snow and many glaciers of ice. This is due to moist climate with low temperature.

There are also many volcanoes and hot springs. The southwestern coast is warmed by Gulf Stream currents, and here there are fine farms and fishing centers as well as a modern city, Reykjavik.

Iceland is a country of strange contrasts between boiling hot springs, black lava and white glaciers.

FOR YOU TO DO: Trace the course of the Gulf Stream on a map or in an atlas, and find out which countries it flows by. Wherever it goes, this "river in the ocean" affects the climate, making it gentler and warmer.

Police Plan Questioning in Pill Overdose

VENICE, Italy (UPI) — Police planned to question ex-Queen Alexandra of Yugoslavia today about her near-fatal overdose of barbiturates.

The 42-year-old Greek-born Alexandra regained consciousness yesterday morning for the first time since she was discovered Sunday night in a coma by her son, Prince Alexander.

Prof. Ignazio Muner, director of the hospital where she is being treated, said Alexandra was "out of danger" but will have to remain under observation for at least several days.

Ex-King Peter of Yugoslavia spent most of last night and a good part of yesterday at his wife's bedside. The exiled king, who married Alexandra in London in 1944, has said they will go on a vacation once she has recovered sufficiently.

Friends of the former queen, now known officially as Princess Alexandra of Greece, said she took 16 sleeping pills.

CORE Director Free on Bond

PLAQUEMINE, La. (UPI) — James B. Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality returned to New York today, free on $300 bond. Farmer and seven other Negroes were convicted yesterday of leading Louisiana's most sustained racial demonstrations.

Farmer was found guilty of disturbing the peace and obstructing streets and sidewalks in demonstrations Aug. 19.

He was ordered to pay a $100 fine on each count or serve 30 days in jail on each.

Similar convictions were returned against seven other Negro leaders. One defendant, Helen Louise Davis, was acquitted. Charges against Gerald Harris were dropped when he proved he was 16 years old and a juvenile.

Six cases were not heard and the court adjourned indefinitely without saying when it would hear them.

Criminal charges were filed against a retired U.S. Army captain, Tolbert Harris, and Lene Mae Dorsey. State trooper Stanley Baker arrested Harris as he left the court after being found guilty of obstructing a public street.

Baker said Harris hit him with a rock Sunday night during a Plaquemine demonstration.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Dreams Come in Color, Black and White

Do you dream in black and white or colorful colors?

Scientific observers at the University of Chicago sleep laboratories have found that you may do either, and that they can control this and other aspects of dreaming by giving their subjects certain hormones.

When they give pituitary extract, the subjects had pleasant dreams that were easily remembered and BRANDSTADT came complete with a full range of color.

When they gave adrenal extract the dreams were frightening, hard to remember, and colorless.

To another question: Do animals talk in our dreams? I can give a personal answer. Animals that I have enjoyed as pets do talk, and I believe that this indicates that anything that we are capable of imagining may appear to us as a reality when we dream.

The blind have also been found to dream. The only difference is that if they were born blind they dream only of the world as they know it.

In their dreams they hear, touch, taste, and smell but have no visual images.

In those who become blind after their visual sense has been well developed, visual images become less and less a part of their dreams as time goes on.

NEEDED FOR SLEEP

One of the important discoveries that has been made about dreaming is that it appears to be not only inevitable, but also a necessary accompaniment of sleep.

When sleeping subjects were awakened every time rapid eye movements indicated that they were starting to dream, it was possible to insure that they had a truly dreamless night.

This was found to increase the number of times the subject would start to dream as though the mind was not going to take these interruptions without a protest.

When this prevention of dreaming was persisted in for several nights the subjects became edgy, jittery and had great difficulty concentrating.

At this point they were allowed to dream uninterrupted.

The length of time spent in dreaming was found to be twice what it had normally been. This was true for several nights.

Other subjects were awakened the same number of times as the first group had been, but at times when they were not dreaming. They did not become upset and, when allowed to sleep without interruption, the length of their dreams was not increased.

This would seem to indicate that dreaming, in some way not yet known, helps us to maintain our balance and get the most good from our sleep.

557 Die in Traffic Over Long Weekend

CHICAGO (U) —Traffic accidents in the nation during the extended Labor Day weekend killed 557 persons, a record for the holiday.

The death toll topped the previous high of 501 set last year. It also equaled the number of highway deaths reported during the four-day Independence Day celebration, which was a record for the holiday period.

California led all states in the Labor Day holiday traffic deaths with 61.

The nation's traffic deaths from Jan. 1 to Aug. 1 totaled 22,330, a record for the period and an average of about 110 a day.

Ancient Elephant Found
 AREZZO, Italy (UPI) — Highway construction workers yesterday dug up the bones of a prehistoric elephant which experts estimated had died over 1 million years ago.

GI Sentenced in Fight Death of West German

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — A U.S. Army court martial yesterday sentenced Spec. 4 James Michael Smith, 20, of Longview, Wash., to one year in prison and a bad conduct discharge for assault and involuntary manslaughter in the death of a 19-year-old West German.

Smith pleaded guilty to fatally punching young Harold Volzmann in the stomach during a brawl in a Frankfurt park last July 10.

The case had stirred a controversy in West Germany after the Frankfurt city prosecutor first announced he intended to try Smith before a West German court — a procedure now possible under the U.S. — West German status of forces agreement that took effect July 1.

The prosecutor later waived jurisdiction to U.S. Army legal authorities.

Class Boycott Set in Chicago

Parents Plan Protest on Mobile Room Use

CHICAGO (U) — A boycott of classes at a South Side elementary school where mobile classrooms are being installed is planned by a group of parents today as the city's public school fall semester opens.

Two Negro youths were arrested yesterday at the Guggenheim School ground where the mobile classrooms are being installed after they chained themselves to police cars. They were charged with disorderly conduct and interfering with police duties.

About a score of adults picketed the site, in a predominantly Negro neighborhood. About 20 children staged a sit-down in the Guggenheim School yard.

Demonstrators contend that the portable rooms add to de facto segregation by enlarging accommodations in schools in Negro neighborhoods. They said that overcrowding could be avoided by transferring Negro children out of their neighborhoods to schools in white districts.

The president of a group planning the boycott said it would continue until the mobile classroom units taken from the 73rd Street and Lowe Avenue to the Guggenheim School are removed. They were removed from the Lowe Avenue district after violence erupted during demonstrations and protests from civil rights groups.

The president, Mrs. Rosie Simpson, said two other elementary schools near the Guggenheim School would be picketed, but no immediate boycott was planned.

Mobile units also have been moved to one of the schools, the Westworth. Both the Guggenheim and Westworth student bodies are virtually all Negro.

Children who stay away from classes at Guggenheim School, Mrs. Simpson said, will attend "freedom schools." These would be private classes held in churches and taught by volunteers.

Riot-Hit Prison Moves to Cut Its Population

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Moves were under way today to reduce the population of Georgia's maximum security prison in the wake of a riot that injured about 35 and caused $25,000 damage.

Prison director Fred Hallford said Tuesday's violence points to a need for additional room in the prison system.

"I think the rioting underscores the long recognized need for additional facilities," Hallford said on arrival at the prison from Atlanta.

Hallford and Warden R. P. Balkcom said they had been unable to determine any direct cause for the riot which broke out immediately after breakfast. The rioting involved about 2,000 of the more than 3,000 inmates.

FLARED ANEW Violence flared anew Tuesday night in a cell block housing about 120 inmates, but guards broke up the demonstrations with tear gas.

Hallford said the prison, built about 20 years ago, can safely care for about 2,000 inmates. It now holds 3,081.

The rioting broke out first in the Negro section of the prison and then spread to the portion housing white inmates.

Hallford and Balkcom said they had investigated reports that the Negro convicts began the uprising as a racial demonstration protesting segregation. But Hallford said, "There are absolutely no racial overtones connected with the rioting."

Housewife Regrets It

Don't Sign in a Hurry!

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: We had a little damage to our roof (rain and high winds) and the insurance company man said to get an "estimate" on the cost of repairing it.

ABBY

I asked around, and a neighbor gave me the number of a roofing company. A man came right out, looked at the roof, and said it would cost $200 to fix it.

I told him it sounded fair to me, but I'd talk to my husband. Then I signed something, but was in too big a hurry to read all of it. I only wanted an estimate, Abby.

The next morning at 8 o'clock I heard pounding and hammering on my roof. Three men were up there working. I told the head man I had only signed for an "estimate," but he showed me where I had signed a CONTRACT.

They were finished in three hours and demanded their $200.

I was dumbfounded. I had to go to the bank and draw out the money because the contract said CASH.

My husband said I was a moron. Abby, I'm sick. Can people do business this way and get away with it?

SICK
DEAR SICK: Yes, and they specialize in people who are in too big a hurry to read something, but sign it anyway.

My advice to you (tho a little late) and to others, is to sign nothing without having first talked it over with your husband and/or a lawyer.

P. S. I hope you reported the "roofing company" to the Better Business Bureau.

DEAR ABBY: Somewhere along the line I've lost control of my 7-year-old son. I've had complaints from Tommy's schoolteachers, the neighbors and now our dentist refuses to see him again.

I had Tommy to the dentist and it took him from 1:30 until 3:30 to fill one tooth. The boy screamed so loudly the dentist clamped his hand over his mouth, and Tommy bit him.

The dental assistant came out and told me to please find another dentist next time.

She suggested that I give him tranquilizers (for a seven-year-old) or take him to a psychiatrist.

I admit he is hard to handle, but do you think he is a case for a psychiatrist?

HIS MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I don't know, but the only way to find out is to take him to one.

DEAR ABBY: My wife tells me that in some states there is a law stating if a couple has been married 25 years or more, they cannot get a divorce unless they both submit to mental examinations. Is this fact? If so, in which states?

RUTH'S HUSBAND
DEAR HUSBAND: There is no such law, but I think there ought to be.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's new booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

City Teacher Travels in Russia

By MADELEINE G. DOEREN
"If you don't like sour cream, just don't go to Russia," suggests Mrs. Ira J. Davis Jr., recently returned from five weeks in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

"They use it on most everything," she continued. "It floats on your bowl of borscht (beet soup). There's a dollop on a dish of berries or peaches. It's served with baked potatoes and a yogurt-like version tops your morning cereal."

With 40 other teachers and 85 students from all over the United States, Mrs. Davis participated in a 10-week summer Slavic Language Institute at Indiana University and in the U.S.S.R.

The institute was conducted under the auspices of the National Defense Education Act.

The night flight by jet from New York City refused at Copenhagen, permitting a quick tour of the famous airport, then on to Moscow. After customs the group boarded a small two-motor jet for Leningrad after an hour's wait in extreme heat.

UNUSUAL BREAKFAST

Excellent accommodations at the Hotel Astoria in Leningrad only required adjustment to an unusual breakfast menu of bread, cheese, cold and watery boiled eggs, buns and beverage.

In the 10 days assigned to Leningrad, the Americans visited the famous Hermitage (former Winter Palace), attended a Russian wedding in the Wedding Palace and saw a Russian movie.

A huge display of fireworks for the Navy Day parade drew large crowds.

At the Memorial Cemetery, the large common graves of 63,000 civilians who died of starvation during World War II were seen.

Films of Leningrad wartime highlights were viewed at the famous Museum of the Revolution. Lenin's former home and Peter and Paul's Fortress were visited and the group attended a performance of "The Idiot" in play form.

Telephone Is No Place for Guessing Games

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Will you please print something in your column in regard to those who start their telephone conversations by saying, "Hello, Jane, guess who this is?"

She is on very friendly terms with her stepmother and often stays with her father and stepmother. Would it be proper to invite both the bride's mother and stepmother to the shower?

A: Unless you know that they are on friendly terms, it will be best to ask the bride-to-be's mother if she has any objection to her ex-husband's wife's presence at the shower, and be guided by what she says.

Q: When a guest brings a box of candy or other present to the hostess, shouldn't it be handed to her directly and not put down on a table without comment?

A tour of Peter's Palace with its gardens and 142 fountains was followed by an evening at the opera to see "Prince Igor" and a drive past homes of famous authors.

Ballet performances and Russian folk dancing added variety to the week of Aug. 6, spent visiting a Russian school with 540 pupils. There were also a rugby game and trips to factories and pickling plants.

The Russian cuisine offered meat balls with rice, stuffed cabbage rolls, hard bread, very few salads and no cold milk to drink.

As ambassadors of good will, the Americans were constantly besieged with such questions as "Why does America, and especially the Pentagon want war?" and "What Russian papers are sold in the States?"

The itinerary included three days each at Tbilisi, Tiflis, Yerevan and Moscow, with two weeks in Moscow.

Mrs. Davis and her husband, who is safety supervisor for the Oakland County Road Commission, live on Jefferson Street with their children, Debra Joy, 10, and Joseph Mark, 9.

An alumna of Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., Mrs. Davis received her master's degree in speech and education at Michigan State University in 1959. She continued her study of Russian on a government scholarship at Northwestern University in 1961.

She begins her 9th year as a speech teacher at Madison Junior High School this fall, and instructs a class in Russian for junior high students.

The Russians welcomed the Americans to their country and were rightly proud of their cathedrals, steel mills, coal mines. The climate resembles Canadian weather.

A recent newspaper cartoon in Russia suggested that "Americans should stir their coffee a little longer, as since the Cuban situation, there is a sugar shortage here."

Relaxing among her souvenirs from a recent language seminar in Russia is Mrs. Ira J. Davis Jr. of Jefferson Street. A peasant-woman tea cozy sits prominently beside a balalaika as Mrs. Davis looks up a word in her Russian dictionary.

DOWNTOWN AND DRAYTON PLAINS

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice Farmer:
"Please tell the college girls (who are on a limited budget) how to extend our clothing wardrobe."

Shirley

Dear Shirley:
This isn't a new idea but one that many of us don't think about. It is an idea that can be used for any age and has countless possibilities.

It's almost magic, the way you can transform a simple sheath dress to one that will be romantically feminine for dates and dancing.

● Make a separate over-skirt out of unembroidered organza, chiffon, or any dreamy fabric. The skirt should be very, very regular skirt, slide fastener closing and all.

● Cover the waistband with a contrasting velvet ribbon and large tailored bow, or a velvet ribbon that ties in a soft bow at the front and falls in streamer ties. This is really a double duty dress and your own imagination as to colors that are becoming to you, will make it your own original.

"I have found an easy, fool-proof way of marking the spot for buttons. After the buttonholes have been made and the garment is finished, fold garment so that the two front edges are together (not lapped over the way it will be worn).

"Place a pin through the corner of each buttonhole, (the corner or end of buttonhole which is closest to the front edge of garment). Place a pin or thread mark where the pin went through to the opposite front and your buttonholes will be the correct distance from the finished edge of garment as well as being perfectly spaced."

Mrs. F. Gunter, Fort Worth, Texas is this week's winner of a TAILOR TRIX pressing board.

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I often have trouble with the fit of a boat neckline. When the dress fits perfectly otherwise, there seems to be too much material between the sleeves so the neckling won't lie flat. I adjusted one dress by taking tucks at the neckline, but how do I cover up these unsightly alterations?"

Mrs. E.S.

Dear Mrs. E.S.:

This is a problem many of us have. You must make a small tuck in your pattern BEFORE you cut out your garment. This tuck should not be more than one-fourth inch wide, and about three inches deep.

It's always best to make a simple bodice before cutting into your good fabric if you are uncertain about the fit of any neckline.

As to correcting a neckline after the garment has been cut, you will have to try to think of some way to make this dart decorative detail. It could be made on the right side of your fabric, perhaps making two or three smaller darts and arranging them in a sunburst design.

You could also make a small embroidered arrow at the end of each dart which would also make it more decorative. Good luck!

Helpful Hint

MRS. C.L.H. SAYS: When cutting slippery fabrics such as silk organza, chiffon, and taffeta, use your table pads with the FELT SIDE UP. (If you don't have table pads, you may also keep fabric from slipping by laying a sheet over your table before cutting.)

R.H. Smiths Honeymoon in the East

A honeymoon in New England followed the recent vows of Wilma Dammron and Raymond H. Smith, performed by Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer at Grace Lutheran Church.

The daughter of Mrs. Patton Willis of South Anderson Street chose a nylon chiffon over taffeta gown with a fitted bodice and pleated taffeta cummerbund trimmed with Alencon lace and detachable chapel train.

She carried white roses, carnations and Stephanotis.

Honor maid Brenda Dammron, sister of the bride and Linda Butler both wore apricot sheath dresses in nylon chiffon over taffeta with an overskirt.

They carried gladiolus. The son of Dr. Donald S. Smith of Stoneleigh Street, chose Jack R. Welch as best man with Dr. Donald S. Smith Jr. and A. G. Dammron as ushers.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the church parlor.

The couple will reside in Columbus, Ohio, where the bridegroom attends Ohio State University.

Why Grow Old? By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Remember your friends and how wonderful they have been to you.

Remember those little courtesies and kindnesses which came your way from the most unexpected sources; from people in all walks of life, people you do not know intimately.

Forget the small insults you may have received from others. Either we deserved them or the person delivering them is not worth worrying about.

Remember the glad times and forget the sad times, unless the sad times added timber and depth to your life.

Remember the compliment and forget the gripe. Remember the laughs and forget the tears.

Remember the dream and forget the disappointment. Remember the exercise and forget the car.

Remember your interests and forget your birthdays. Remember the smile and forget the frown.

Remember the scales and you can forget the pounds. Remember your posture and you can forget the slump.

Remember skim milk, lean meat, fresh vegetables and fruits, eggs, cottage cheese and whole grain products, and forget pastries, gravy, fried foods and in-between-meal snacks. (I sneaked up on you with this one).

MOST OF ALL, REMEMBER life and forget yourself!

Cause of Skin Cancer Is Linked With Sunlight

There are several converging lines of evidence that the ultraviolet rays in sunlight are an important factor in producing certain types of skin cancer. Studies show:

● About 90 per cent of skin cancer is found on exposed areas, principally the face.

● Skin cancer is rare in Negroes who are protected by their pigmentation.

● In the United States, there is more skin cancer in the Southern states, where there is more sunshine.

● Skin cancer can be produced in mice 100 per cent of the time by using ultraviolet light.

A single overexposure to the sun—one severe sunburn—cannot cause cancer although it may cause scarring or pigmentary changes. It takes long years of being outdoors—as in the case of a cowboy, an athlete, a sailor, or a sun worshiper—to produce any danger of skin cancer from sunlight.

Planning Eases Christmas Gift Expenses

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Let me be the first to say, in 1963, that there's still plenty of time to do your Christmas shopping! In fact, that's just why I'm bringing up the subject. Those of you who were somewhat soured by post-Christmas bills last January may be happy to discover that they aren't entirely necessary. Here's your chance to find out.

MARY FEELEY

I'm not suggesting that you spend any more or any less this Christmas than in previous years. I simply say: make out your gift list now. Allocate the usual sum to each gift. Then as you pick and choose during the intervening months, stick to these amounts.

SPREAD EXPENSES

You'll be spreading the entire expense load over a comfortable period of time, instead of building up to one big break-down in January. Your budget can assimilate in small doses what it may not be able to swallow in one gulp.

I grant you that certain Christmas merchandise doesn't arrive in the stores until later in the season. But there are always items you normally buy that don't depend on special Christmas packaging.

While you are on vacation, or if you're planning a trip soon, you may come across interesting gift ideas you can pounce on as opportunity offers. Just keep your eyes open and your mind receptive.

Or it's quite possible that in wandering through the stores, something will strike you as just the answer for the two or three people who are invariably difficult to shop for. How much more satisfactory to shop because you want to than because you have to. You're more apt to buy wisely, too, when you shop leisurely from the standpoint of both individual tastes and money.

SET UP CHECK LIST

In order to adopt this be-kin-to-the-budget plan, note these points:

(1) Shop only with specific people in mind. It's not a bargain if you never find anybody to give the particular gift to. Don't just pile up "gift ideas" in the closet. On that basis, most of them will remain there long after Christmas. As you put away each selected gift, hang a name tag on it.

(2) If you do buy things in far-away places, consider how appropriate they will still appear, minus the romantic setting, in the months to come.

Sometimes impulse shopping can betray you.

(3) Keep a record as you shop, to see how your over-all gift buying is coming along. This won't burden you with too much paper work, as you'll be doing it bit by bit over a period of time.

(4) Don't fret about not yet being "in a Christmas shopping mood." Your ability to pay the bills as you go will provide enough excitement! Look forward to the real joy of Christmas: having time to savor the season, the community's indoor and outdoor decorations, convivial gatherings, errands of good will. When your mind is centered on price tags at the last minute, how can you really hear the church bells?

(5) Save the fun of wrapping the presents till the last reasonable moment. This will be your reward for good behavior and put you in the proper mood for the celebration to come.

On Jan. 2, 1964, when you gaze at the small number of bills — since, of course, being human, you did do some last minute shopping — you can sit back and say: "Now wasn't that the nicest Christmas ever."

(You can obtain Mary Feeley's budget suggestion leaflet by sending a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to her in care of The Pontiac Press.

Let 'em Eat Cake

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—If there is a youngster in the house who cannot wait to get a taste of the cake you are baking, use a little of the batter to make a cupcake and give it to him for a snack. This will satisfy him until dessert time.

The small aluminum plates that frozen meat pies come in make nice-size pans in which to make individual cakes for children's parties. Grease, fill with batter and bake like cupcakes.

Decorate to suit the occasion. Each child can have a cake with a candle to blow out at a birthday party.—MRS. M. H.

DEAR POLLY—When your baby has outgrown the "lap pad" stage, cut a deep half circle out of one of the short ends of the pads, add ties and you have a large waterproof bib. I also use them for my 3-year-old.—MRS. H. H. H.

DEAR POLLY—If you are doubtful about the number of birthday candles to put on a cake, place them in the form of a question mark and you will please the honored guest.—MRS. E. L.

DEAR POLLY—To prevent my sewing machine from "crawling" due to vibration while I am sewing, I bought two pairs of rubber crutch tips and placed them on the legs of my sewing machine cabinet. Now no matter at what speed I sew, my machine stays where I want it.—MRS. H. L. M.

DEAR POLLY—An ordinary spring type roller shade makes a handy curtain on storage shelves in the basement or tool shed. It stays in place and when you want to get at the shelf, you just roll it out of the way as you would the shade at a window.—E. R.

DEAR POLLY—When I bring in our newspaper, our little two-year-old always fusses to have it. Lately I have been re-rolling the previous day's paper and putting a rubber band around it like the newsboy does. When I bring in the newspaper I now give her one just like it and she is happy and content with her own paper while we read ours in peace.—A. M. C.

DEAR POLLY—I have a question. How do you clean parchment lampshades? I know they cannot be washed because of the paper content. —Mrs. D. S.

GIRLS and Mrs. D. S. — Most of the present day lampshades are really more paper than parchment. I have cleaned mine with a cloth dipped in skimmed milk and squeezed as dry as possible. Wipe but do not rub with the milk-dampened cloth. Some shades with a high glossy finish can stand wiping with a water-dampened cloth. Do not wet the paper tape, top and bottom, or you will be in a real mess. In any case, always try a spot first. While we are on the subject of lampshades, may I urge you to always remove the cellophane that comes wrapped around many shades?

Rather than protecting it, you are ruining the shade by leaving the cellophane on. Dirt can sit through in streaks and the shade may warp or shrink if left covered. —POLLY

Tuna Is Leading Canned Fish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Only 60 years ago tuna fish had little or no commercial value and fishermen who caught them threw them back into the sea.

When the Pacific sardine grew scarce an enterprising packer took a chance on canning 700 cases of tuna. Success was immediate and tuna has been a favorite food of Americans ever since.

About 10 or 12 years ago American fishing fleets caught all the tuna we needed. Then the demand increased and we called on Japanese fishermen for help. Now about 40 per cent of all tuna packed by American canners is caught by Japanese fishermen.

It is probably the most frequently served canned fish in the United States today.

It's economical; it contains animal protein of superior quality; it's easy to prepare; and it lends itself to an infinite number of recipes.

Canned tuna is listed as one of the plentiful foods for September. This is the time to stock up for the winter. Many stores will feature tuna at special prices.

No need to give up spaghetti just because you can't have a meat sauce and you're tired of tomato or cheese sauce. Tuna spaghetti sauce is a welcome change.

Tuna Spaghetti

1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 can (3 ounces) whole mushrooms

1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) tomatoes

1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce

1 bay leaf

3 cans (6½ to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained

¼ cup sliced pimiento - stuffed olives

12 ounces spaghetti

¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Saute onion and garlic in hot oil until golden. Stir in undrained mushrooms, tomatoes, tomato sauce and bay leaf.

Cover and simmer 1½ hours or until thickened. Stir occasionally. Mix in tuna and olives; simmer 10 minutes longer.

Meanwhile, cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain. Pour tuna sauce over spaghetti; sprinkle with cheese.

Cabbage leaves stuffed with tuna are another unusual main dish. This is a top-of-the-stove dish.

Tuna Stuffed Cabbage

1 medium head cabbage

1 package (8 ounces) long grain and wild rice mix

2 cans (6½ to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked

1 medium onion, sliced

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 can (1 pound, 3 ounces) tomatoes

¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate

¼ teaspoon pepper

Cover cabbage with boiling water; let stand 15 minutes. Drain and remove 8 leaves.

Cook rice according to package directions, using ½ of the herb-mixture in rice package and reserving the remainder for tomato sauce.

Mix tuna with cooked rice; divide among eight cabbage leaves. Roll up leaves, tucking in ends to secure filling.

Saute onion lightly in butter; stir in remaining herb mixture, tomatoes, Worcestershire sauce, monosodium glutamate and pepper. Place cabbage rolls in tomato sauce; cover and let simmer 1 hour. Makes 8 servings.

Crazy about pizza? Make it with tuna instead of the usual sausage.

Tuna Pizza

2 cans tuna (6½ or 7 oz. each)

¼ cup chopped onion

3 tablespoons butter, melted

1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce

1 can (8 oz.) tomato paste

1 teaspoon crushed oregano

¼ teaspoon salt

Dash pepper

1 pkg. hot roll mix

¼ cup sliced stuffed green olives

½ pound sliced cheese

Drain tuna. Flake. Cook onion in butter until tender. Add tomato sauce, tomato paste and seasonings; bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes.

Prepare hot roll mix as directed. Divide in half; roll in 2 circles about 9 inches in diameter. Place each circle on a well-greased baking sheet and fold over ¼ inch of the outside edge to form a rim.

Cover each circle with ½ of the sauce, tuna and olives. Arrange slices of cheese on top. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, for 20 minutes or until crust is brown. Serves 6.

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup water 5 minutes. Dissolve over hot water; cool slightly. Mix dissolved gelatin, wine, 2 tablespoons water, mayonnaise, vinegar, grated onion, paprika, salt and pepper. Chill.

When mixture begins to thicken, fold in tuna and celery. Pour into 4 oiled individual molds or custard cups. Chill until firm.

Peel and chill 2 large tomatoes. Cut crosswise in halves. Line 4 individual salad plates with crisp leaves of iceberg lettuce. Place a tomato half, cut side up, on each plate.

Ruby Cranberry Juice and Sauce Fit Into Summer

This summer try adding some epicurean touches to your dinner menu. Start by selecting the best picnic site around whether it be the patio, balcony, backyard or a rustic roadside table... just make it special.

Now plan to do something special to everyday picnic items. Take hamburgers, for example. Before pan-frying, mix cranberry juice cocktail with the ground meat. They'll now taste like the juiciest steak you've ever had. This is all you do to make...

Hamburgers Delish
1 lb. ground chuck or hamburger
1 teaspoon onion salt
1/4 cup cranberry juice cocktail
Mix above ingredients lightly with a fork. Shape into 4-6 patties and broil or pan-broil over medium heat until cooked to desired doneness.

Roll liverwurst goes gourmet when centered in a colorful cranberry juice-gelatin loaf. The loaf is as easy as the simplest gelatin salad recipe. Refreshing, too.

Cranberry Pate Loaf
2 tablespoons gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup boiling water
1 1/2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice
2 8-ounce rolls liverwurst
Soften gelatin in cold water; add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add cranberry juice, sugar and lemon juice. Pour 1/4-inch of gelatin in 8x8x2 loaf pan. Chill in refrigerator until partially set.

Mold liverwurst rolls together to form several flattened rolls that will fit in loaf pan leaving about 1/4-inch space surrounding roll. Place one of these rolls on top of partially set gelatin. Pour in another 1/4-inch of gelatin and allow to set. Continue in this way until loaf pan is filled.

Corned Beef Hash With Cranberry Sauce
1 1-lb. can (2 cups) corned beef hash
3 tablespoons fat or salad oil
4 thin slices jellied cranberry sauce
Cut corned beef hash into 4 slices. Brown on one side in fat or salad oil; turn. Place 1 slice cranberry sauce on each cake. Sauté 5 minutes longer on until browned on under side. Serves 4.

Cranberry Iced Tea
Mix cranberry juice cocktail and strong tea with ice cubes for a refreshing beverage.
Cranberry Patio Cooler
1 pint (2 cups) cranberry juice cocktail
1 (8-oz.) can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
2 cups water
2 (7 ounces each) bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage (7-Up)
Mix cranberry juice, lemonade and water in large pitcher. Just before serving add lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Serve over ice. Makes about 14 (1/2 cup) servings.

Cranberry Punch
1 large can (46 oz.) pineapple grapefruit fruit juice
1 quart cranberry juice cocktail
2 bottles (7 ounce each) lemon-lime carbonated beverage (7-Up)
1 lemon, thinly sliced (seeds removed)
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1/4 cup honey
Combine all ingredients and heat gently for 15 minutes. Remove spices and lemon. Add another 1/4 cup honey if more sweetness is desired. Serve hot in punch cups. Or cool and serve over ice. Makes about 3 quarts or 16 (1/2 cup) servings.

Cranberry Fruit Punch
1 quart cranberry juice cocktail
Juice of 2 lemons
2 cups orange juice
2 quarts gingerale
Mix juices and pour into punch bowl over ice. Add gingerale just before serving. Makes about 3 1/2 quarts or 24 (1/2 cup) servings.

Marinate Food Then Grill It

A hint of the Orient is captured in the marinade.

Chamoy Shrimp Mushrooms
1 pound fresh-frozen shrimp
(14-16)

1/2 pound fresh medium size mushrooms

Marinade
1/2 cup champagne vinegar
1 fresh lemon, squeezed
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup oil
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 clove garlic, crushed
1 small piece of crystallized ginger.

Combine ingredients except garlic and ginger in blender or beater. Add garlic and cut ginger.

Put marinade in wide mouth quart jar or deep bowl. Add shrimp that have been removed from shell, deveined and cleaned. Add mushrooms that have been washed and stem removed.

Shake or stir marinade over the shrimp and mushrooms. Let stand for several hours in refrigerator.

Thread shrimp and mushrooms on separate wood or metal skewers. Grill 10-12 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Grilled Carrots May Be Sliced or Left Whole

Barbecued Carrots in Consomme and Wine Sauce

3 medium carrots, peeled
1/2 cup minced onion
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup undiluted canned consomme
1/2 cup dry white table wine

Leave carrots whole or cut into crosswise slices, as you prefer.

Place on large sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil and fold sides up slightly to make a container.

Sprinkle carrots with minced onion, garlic salt, salt and pepper. Combine consomme and wine and pour over carrots.

Wrap foil tightly to make a sealed packet and place on grill over hot coals. Cooked sliced carrots approximately 20 minutes and whole carrots 25-30 minutes, or just till tender, turning once while cooking. Makes 4-5 servings.

When you are broiling a ham steak indoors or over the outdoor grill, be sure to slash the fat around the edges of the meat to prevent the ham from curling during cooking.

Plentiful 'Olives Enhance a Sauce

Here's a sauce that couldn't be much easier to make and yet tastes so distinctive. Just mix chopped ripe olives, melted butter, lemon juice and capers. That's all you do for "Olive-Caper Sauce." Serve this gourmet sauce over asparagus or cauliflower for a dish fit for a king.

Ripe olives add a touch of elegance to so many salads and casserole dishes as well as a relish bowl. If you roll olives in a little olive or salad oil, they'll retain their rich glossiness. With picnic time here, don't forget to put a can of pitted or unpitted ripe olives in the picnic basket.

Olive-Caper Sauce

1/2 cup ripe olives
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped capers
Cooked asparagus, cauliflower or green beans
Chop olives. Melt butter; add olives, lemon juice and capers. Serve immediately over cooked vegetables.

Makes 2/3 cup.

Delicious and different: thin strips of preserved ginger added to curried chicken.

Eat 'Skewers' and All

Cover drained, canned button mushrooms and pitted ripe olives with French dressing; let stand several hours. Drain and thread on edible skewers made of thin carrot sticks, alternating with fresh radish halves and green pepper squares. Blend mayonnaise with French dressing until of dip consistency and serve on tray with appetizers.

Syria, Israel Vow Border Cease Fire

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

Syria and Israel pledged to maintain a ceasefire on their uneasy border after the Soviet Union vetoed Tuesday a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning Syria in the slaying Aug. 18 of two Israeli farmers on the frontier.

The U.S.-British resolution won the support of eight members of the Security Council. Morocco, an Arab League member, and the Soviet Union voted against it. Venezuela abstained.

Council President Jacinto Castel Barja of the Philippines appealed to the Syrians and the Israelis to maintain the cease fire they promised the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization after the shootings. He also asked them to exchange prisoners.

Calling the 6-1 vote a moral condemnation of Syria, Israel's U.N. delegate, Michael Comay, pledged continuation of the cease fire. He said his government would welcome the return of prisoners.

Salah El-Dine Tarazi, the Syrian representative, also promised to cooperate with the U.N. truce chief, Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, in maintaining the cease fire. He argued strenuously for the council to force Israel to take up any disputes with the Mixed Armistice Commission. Israel has been boycotting the commission.

American Cities Crack Down on Crooked Policemen

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Staff Writer

In Denver, the scandal involved half a hundred policemen; in Chicago it was 10; in Burlington, Vt., it was 11.

The job of ferreting out policemen accused of turning into thieves instead of turning them in has been slow and difficult.

Last to join the list is Kansas City, Mo., where five policemen are charged with burglaries that netted less than $5,000. And Nassau County, Long Island, N.Y., and now is on the staff of Northwestern University.

Kansas City's police force still is undergoing a thorough self-search. In Denver, Chicago and Burlington time and effort have healed the scars and there is evidence that some good has come out of the problem.

CHICAGO — "The progress which has been made during the past 3½ years has been phenomenal," says Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission. "A very solid foundation has been laid upon which to build for the future. The commission feels that the law enforcement structure in Chicago at the present time indeed is encouraging."

WORKING WELL

DENVER — "There is lots of work to be done, but things seem to be working out well," says James Slavin, the police chief hired after the wholesale arrests of policemen in 1961. Slavin resigned immediately after a change made in the Denver city administration.

BURLINGTON — "We've come up with some mighty good men," since hiring practices were tightened, says Police Chief Arthur J. Caron. He credits salary increases and more supervisory personnel for a new attitude in his department.

The police scandals in the four cities had remarkably similar patterns.

In Denver a patrolman was arrested in August 1960 on a charge of rifling the safe in a downtown cafe. Several more policemen were arrested in the next few months. A special investigator was appointed by the governor and in September 1961 more than 20 policemen were arrested in a single day. In all 50 policemen and ex-policemen were arrested and suspended. Thirty-two were convicted, five were acquitted, charges were dismissed against one and two still are waiting for verdicts.

Police chief James E. Childers, saying worry over the scandal had affected his health.

LOOKOUTS — In Chicago, Richard Morrison, 23, a burglar, told the state attorney in 1959 "my cop pals acted as lookouts." Ten policemen were charged with burglary or conspiracy or both. Orlando W. Wilson, a professor of criminology, was brought from California to head the department and he completely reorganized it.

SPECIAL REPORT

The Burlington case broke in late 1961. It, too, involved burglaries by department members. Five policemen were arrested over a five-month period and six others resigned. Chief Caron took over the 51-man department after the investigation.

In Kansas City, a 24-year-old patrolman directed attention to himself last July by discovering and reporting too many burglaries. Within six days, four more state attorneys general, The attorney general was investigating charges of five police officials of police brutality and laxity in enforcement of liquor and gambling laws. In Nassau County, Long Island, seven county police officers were indicted Aug. 13 after an investigation of the looting of four stores of goods valued at $10,000. A police inspector was sent back to a desk job and a deputy inspector became a captain. Two lieutenants and five sergeants were transferred to other assignments. Two policemen are under suspension and the girl friends of seven officers indicted are charged with receiving stolen property. In adjoining Suffolk County, half a dozen policemen have been in trouble within the past three years and some of the cases still are pending.

In Chicago, Wilson instituted a series of drastic reforms, including the establishment of an internal investigations division "which charges of five police officials of police brutality and laxity in en-

Father Broods on Son's Death; Kills Wife, Self

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit father, brooding over the death of a son, shot and killed his wife yesterday and then killed himself, police said.

Police were called to the Bernard Lipka home where they found Mrs. Donna Lipka, 33, dead on a living room couch, with a bullet in her head.

The body of Bernard Lipka, 36, was found shot through the head, lying on top of a small pistol in the basement.

Five children were home at the time of the shooting. A sixth child was found at a home next door.

Neighbors told police that Lipka had been brooding over the Aug. 1, 1962 death of a son, Michael, then 6, who was struck and killed by an automobile while riding a bicycle near his home.

Faint Comet Seen Near Sun

1st Such Detection Reported by Center

GREENBELT, Md. (AP) — The Goddard Space Flight Center said yesterday that a faint comet has been discovered near the sun.

The center, a part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said faint comets never before have been detected because the tremendous brilliance of the sun's visible disc prevented ground observation of the space near the sun where such comets brighten sufficiently to become visible.

"When the moon passed in front of the sun this summer, observations became possible to within a few degrees of the sun," a Goddard spokesman said. "Some scientists have theorized that there are many such faint comets as yet unseen to observers."

MAY BE IMPORTANT — "If this is correct, the discovery will be an important contribution to the understanding of the comets and their role in formation of the solar system."

The center added that since total eclipses of the sun are infrequent, satellites and sounding rockets equipped with instruments to "occult" or shade the solar disc might be used in future research programs to photograph possible comets.

Dossin made seven camera plate exposures of the comet from a hilltop at Pleasant Pond, Maine, during 60 seconds of total eclipse darkness. He used a blue-green filter on the lens to bring out the light of the carbon molecules in the comet.

The comet's position in the sky was calculated from two available references, the center of the moon and the star Beta Geminorum.

Dossin, 36, is working at Goddard under a fellowship from the National Academy of Sciences.

26 Negroes Integrate in Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — A bomb scare which emptied a high school for 18 minutes marred the otherwise peaceful desegregation of public and parochial schools yesterday in this proud old Southern seaport.

Eleven Negroes attended classes with whites in four public schools and 18 Negro pupils sat side-by-side with whites in four Catholic schools.

It was the first school desegregation in South Carolina below the college level. Charleston's public schools were desegregated by a federal court order, the Catholic schools voluntarily.

A 15-year-old Negro girl who enrolled at Rivers High School, the school threatened by a telephone bomb scare, summed up her part in the historic lowering of racial barriers in this city where the civil war's first shot was fired:

"I had a wonderful day," said Millicent Brown, daughter of J. Arthur Brown, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

"The students were very friendly," she said. "I heard no bad comments at all. All of the students and teachers went out of their way to be helpful."

The girl said she was not perturbed by the bomb scare which prompted the immediate emptying of the school located near the downtown section of the city.

Her father, who brought her to school and met her when classes were dismissed, said, "I figure if anybody is going to harm you, they won't be courteous enough to warn you."

At 11:07 a.m., the school nurse at Rivers picked up a telephone and listened to what she described as "a young male voice" say a bomb was set to explode in the school.

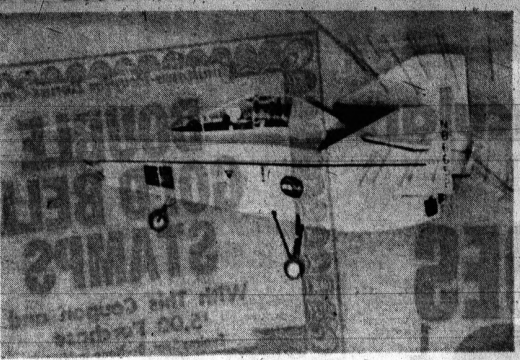

Bells rang immediately and the students filed out of the school in orderly fashion. Firemen and police searched lockers, closets and desks without finding anything explosive. Students then returned to classes.

Ira Wilson Dairy Co. Takes Foremost Routes

DETROIT (AP) — Ira Wilson & Sons Dairy Co. has taken over Foremost dairies, which discontinued Detroit-area service Sunday, the Wilson firm announced yesterday. Wilson said it has assumed ice cream and milk packaging operations and distribution systems of Foremost. Foremost halted Detroit-area operations because they had been unprofitable for several years, a spokesman said.

Truck Rams Car, Kills 1

PLAINWELL (AP) — A truck rammed a car at a Plainwell intersection yesterday, killing the car's driver, Clinton S. Miller, 49, of Shelbyville.

NO WINGS — With space agency pilot Milton O. Thompson at the controls, the M2 "bathtub" space vehicle, planned to return men from outer space flights, glides over the desert toward a successful landing at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The craft was towed to 13,000 feet, then cut loose for the glide to earth.

Bathtub Space Craft

M2 Glides to Success

By RALPH DIGHTON

Associated Press Science Writer

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — A strange craft that looks like a bathtub and is designed to return men from space flew successfully yesterday.

It was quite a trick, as it has no wings.

The 20 x 30 foot vehicle was twice towed to 13,000 feet by a bomber and each time space agency pilot Milton O. Thompson glided it in for a landing.

It's able to glide because its broad rounded underurface provides "lift" like an airplane's wings.

The craft, called the M2 because it is the second of several shapes tested as possible atmospheric re-entry vehicles, had a rounded nose and a square stern. It is controlled by twin fins at the stern.

Thompson, 36, recently assigned to the X15 rocket plane and upcoming X20 Dyna-Soar programs, has been testing the M2 for some time. This was the first public flight.

But Thompson spiraled it down for a smooth landing after a three-minute flight. The craft has a window on the underside of the nose for downward vision.

Engineers estimated the M2 was going 80 miles an hour when its tricycle landing wheels hit the dry lake bed landing strip.

Thompson, known to be nerveless, joked over the air-to-ground radio.

Asked at a news conference with a conventional aircraft, Thompson grinned, shrugged, and said, "It's a little sensitive."

Since 1914, no Chinese officials—whether war lords, Nationalists, or Communists—have recognized the McMahon line as the border between India and Tibet.

Ball, Pakistanis Air Red China

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI)—U. S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball met with military and foreign affairs experts today for detailed briefings on Pakistan's attitude toward Red China.

The American troubleshooter conferred for more than two hours with Pakistani Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, and then met with Army Commander Gen. Mohammed Musa and Air Force Chief Marshal Asghar Khan. He was lunching with President Mohammad Ayub Khan later.

United States and Pakistan over the latter's growing flirtation with Communist China. He came here at the behest of President Kennedy.

The undersecretary conferred with Ayub for 35 minutes yesterday, and delivered a message from Kennedy.

Contents of Kennedy's letter were not disclosed.

American sources said, however, the United States feels that Pakistan's increasing ties with Red China could seriously affect U.S. - Pakistan relations. The sources said Washington wants to be sure Pakistan still views its military pacts with the West in the same light as when it joined them.

The United States and Pakistan are allies in the Southeast Asia - Treaty Organization (SEATO), and also are linked by the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO). Both alliances were formed to block Communist penetration of Asia and the Near East.

As an outgrowth of the alliances, Pakistan has received massive military and economic assistance from the United States.

Ball's treatment by the Pakistanis was polite, but cool. The atmosphere was clouded further by the presence of a Red Chinese mission discussing trade and cultural matters with Pakistani officials.

Pakistan's newspapers have been criticizing the United States for several weeks, charging that Washington is trying to use aid to influence Pakistan's foreign policy.

"Instead of trying to intimidate the Pakistan government, American leaders should seriously try to understand Pakistan's point of view, which is not that of an adversary but of a friend deeply wronged," the Pakistan Times said in an editorial yesterday.

President Kennedy sent Ball to Pakistan because of growing concern in Washington over the Ayub government's increasing contacts with the Red Chinese regime and its failure to settle the Kashmir dispute with India.

But Veteran Actress Gets Last Laugh

Bette Davis Irked by Hollywood's Decision Makers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "Oh, they simply kill me," said Bette Davis with a wicked glint in her eye. They in this case were the shadowy giants of the movie industry who decide what pictures will or will not be made. They determine which stars will be hired and their judgments can be harsh—and often wrong.

"They couldn't understand the success of Joan's (Crawford) and my picture, 'Baby Jane,'" Bette continued. "I had to be a freak. After all, it was a strange story, and it was made by a maverick, Robert Aldrich, at a funny little studio with a four-week schedule."

"Even after 'Baby Jane,' Ralph Nelson was crazy to have me to do 'Lilies of the Field' and he flew to New York to try to talk United Artists into it. No, they would not go for it. I wasn't box office. 'Baby Jane' was a freak. Haw!"

PLANS TWINS

Bette can afford the last laugh. Her old boss, J. L. Warner, brought her back to Burbank to star in two of the juiciest parts any actress has had recently. She plays twin sisters in "Dead Ringer," one murdering the other. Bette's comment: "If this picture is a success, then and only then will they admit that I had made it. After all, this one is being filmed on a major lot with a good budget and an eight-week schedule. It's respectable."

"Oh, if they would only learn! It's still names that sell movies. Names that have established a reputation with the public by past performances. Those are the ones who sell tickets, not the so-called names who are used in pictures after picture even though they controlled.

Parents Protest Race Imbalance

Negroes to Enroll Children in Schools

MALVERNE, N.Y. (AP) — Racial imbalance in the public schools of this Long Island community will be challenged today by Negro parents seeking to enroll their children in two predominantly white schools.

"Another group will picket the predominantly Negro Woodfield Road school in an effort to discourage parents from enrolling their children there," a Negro spokesman said.

The two mostly white schools are the Lindner Place and Davison Avenue schools of the Malverne-Lakeview District. The school board has ruled that no child is to be admitted to any school other than the one to which he is assigned. Civil rights leaders said the board had hired guards to enforce the decision.

ORDER SERVED

Bayard De Noie, school board president, and Lewis Bejarano, a board member, were served Tuesday night with an order to show cause in State Supreme Court today why they should not institute a desegregation order of Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education.

Dr. Allen ordered the board in June to end racial imbalance by bussing Negroes from Woodfield Road to the other two schools.

The board submitted an alternate plan to reduce the percentage of Negroes in the Woodfield Road school from 81 per cent to 41 per cent and to increase Negro enrollment in the two other elementary schools.

A State Supreme Court order has temporarily blocked the board's plan. A hearing will be held on Sept. 13.

Involved in the dispute are two organizations — the United Committee for Action Now, the civil rights group, and the Malverne Taxpayers and Parents Association, which opposes any plan which would destroy the neighborhood school concept.

Charles W. Reardon, head of the Parent-Taxpayers, has accused Commissioner Allen of favoring "career racists and knuckling under to political pressure from professional lobbyists."

Officers of the Woodfield Road school PTA resigned in a body Tuesday to protest the school board's failure to carry out Allen's order.

can't draw flies at the box office."

Another puzzle for Bette is the emphasis on location pictures. "Why all this emphasis on real locales?" she asked. "To get reality? Nonsense. Acting is not reality; it is something larger than life. You can do it better inside a studio where conditions are controlled."

"In 18 years at Warner Brothers I never went on location and played everything from a Welsh schoolteacher ('The Corn') to the Queen of England ('Elizabeth and Essex')."

Another matter that drew the Davis wrath: ruinous costs of certain epics.

"It's absolutely scandalous to allow immense costs on a single scene I never went on location and played everything from a Welsh schoolteacher ('The Corn') to the Queen of England ('Elizabeth and Essex')."

That includes beautiful sets and clothes and a lot of tedious work with the split screen.

"No picture nowadays should cost more than that, with rare exceptions."

HOOTENANNY — A two-hour hootenanny was staged last night to welcome new students to Oakland University. The Zamarrin, professional folk singers, were on of the groups that performed to a standing-room-only audience in the Gold Room of Oakland Center. The hootenanny was originally scheduled outdoors, but threat of rain moved it inside.

Wind Mars Boardwalk Pageantry

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — The 52 Miss America contestants paraded three miles along the boardwalk last night into the teeth of a 20-mile-an-hour wind and met it tooth for tooth by smiling all the way.

The colorful kickoff parade of floats in the 37th annual Miss America pageant was marred by the stiff wind, which dropped the temperature several degrees from a 7 p.m. EST reading of 73 degrees, plus thick humidity and a disappointing crowd of 150,000.

Parade officials had predicted a quarter-million, and blamed the lesser turnout on the weather.

But the wind had its moments, particularly when it sent the white taffeta-and-nylon balloons of 18-year-old blonde Miss South Dakota, Heather Paterson, fluttering out behind her float like a pennant and exposing her legs to a cheering line of spectators.

U.S. Cruiser Visits

in Sweden for 5 Days

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The U.S. cruiser Newport News was due here today for a five-day visit.

The 21,000-ton vessel, with a crew of 1,500 men and officers, was to be welcomed in the Stockholm harbor by the Swedish coastal fleet. It was the first visit here for the battleship.

Stockpile Rein Sought by JFK

Senate Unit Expected to Ask Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee is expected to ask Congress to give President Kennedy tighter rein over the $8.9-billion national stockpile within the next two weeks.

A spokesman for chairman Stuart Symington of the Senate Stockpile Investigating subcommittee said legislative recommendations are expected next week — certainly within two weeks.

The Missouri Democrat directed a 10-month probe of the nation's three separate stockpile programs aimed at supplying U.S. industry in the event of a war.

Reports have been circulating that Republicans on the subcommittee regard as an attempt by the Democratic majority to smear prominent Eisenhower administration figures who were involved in the stockpile inquiry.

The Republicans who appeared before the subcommittee included former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, former Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, and Arthur Flemming, former head of the Defense Mobilization Office and later Health, Education and Welfare Secretary in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Symington has been meeting with administration officials to discuss legislation for trimming the main strategic stockpile of an estimated half-billion dollars worth of surplus materials.

Present laws give Congress authority for disposing of stockpile excesses. It provides that limited surpluses can be sold only six months after enactment of a congressional resolution.

Symington is expected to propose a bill permitting the President to sell surpluses after giving a 60-day notice. The sale, however, would remain subject to congressional veto.

Township governments serve approximately 22 per cent of the nearly 40 million inhabitants, or population.

Even Coleslaw Goes Into This Sandwich

There's lively flavor in this Salami - Coleslaw Sandwich. Allow three slices of rye/bread per serving.

Spread 1-3 of the bread slices with mustard. Top them with cotto salami slices, then with pickle slices. Spread next 1-3 of bread slices with mayonnaise or

Special Care Is Taken With Vienna Sausages

Canned Vienna sausages are prepared by blending finely ground beef and pork with spices, says the American Meat Institute. These ingredients are then formed into long links which are placed in large smoke ovens. Warm smoke from hardwood aroma to the meat and gently cooks it.

The links are then cut into tiny open-end sausages. They are then packed in water or mild brine for further processing in cans about four ounces in size. The product is also available in a barbecue sauce. Vienna sausages are especially handy for sandwiches, snack trays and casseroles.

You'll Enjoy Fruit of Summer Later-

Use a jar of this jam right away, but store some to brighten a winter meal.

Plum Jam
4 pounds fresh plums
1/2 cup water
1 box (1 1/2 ounces) powdered pectin
8 cups sugar
Wash plums, remove pits and chop. Place in a deep 6-quart kettle with water. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Remove cover, add powdered pectin, and bring to a rapid boil, stirring rapidly all the while.

Add sugar and bring to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Skim off foam and continue skimming for 5 minutes (to cool slightly).

Different Fried Eggs

Want those fried eggs to taste different? Brown a tablespoon of butter, mix in a half-teaspoon of vinegar and pour over two fried eggs.

Nature Freezes Food in Very Slow Process

We may think that the freezing preservation of fish is a modern development. Actually, fish have been frozen for centuries in Norway, Sweden and Iceland where the frozen fish were important articles of commerce.

But the early versions of frozen fish were "weather-frozen"—that is, frozen by cold blasts of air or packed in snow. This was a slow process in comparison to today's quick-freezing methods which freeze the fish almost instantly at sub-zero temperatures, thus keeping the fresh flavor, nutrient value and tender texture virtually unchanged.

If poached eggs have to wait before they are served, keep them in lukewarm water.

Quick Relish Fine Served on Meat

For the hostess who likes to serve something a little different with the meat course.

Garden Fresh Relish
4 unpeeled tomatoes, chopped coarsely
2 onions, chopped coarsely
2 green peppers, chopped coarsely
1/2 head cabbage, shredded

2 teaspoons mixed pickling spices
1 teaspoon horseradish
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup vinegar

Put tomatoes, onions, peppers and cabbage in large saucepan. Tie spices in cheesecloth; drop wedges and serve in a cream in sauce.

Ingredients and pour over vegetables, stirring until well mixed. Bring to boil and simmer about 20 minutes or until vegetables are done.

High-Paying 'Idiocy' Replaces Graciousness

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Phyllis Diller, who dresses to look like an ostrich on a three-day binge, is perhaps the only woman in America with five children who also wears white, blue and rose-colored contact lenses.

"My goal is to be a gracious woman," she remarked. "But I decided that if I was to be an idiot broad, I might as well make it pay."

Miss Diller certainly has made hope to make a half million." Then, she is confident, she will go on to a million, two million, quip, she has become a reigning queen of the night club circuit.

"But progress is mathematical," she declared during a rest between her frantic nightly chores.

Saudi Arabia Charges Egyptian Raid

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Saudi Arabia charged today that Egyptian Air Force planes bombed and strafed a Saudi Arabian village near the frontier of strife-torn Yemen.

A Saudi Defense Ministry statement broadcast by Mecca Radio said two Soviet-built bombers attacked the village of Fouja Tuesday, but there were no casualties. It said a nearby U.N. truce team picked up bomb and rocket fragments as evidence.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Faulty wing brakes probably caused the plane crash that killed 73 persons, including the 18-member U.S. figure skating team, in February 1961, the Belgian Ministry of Communications said Tuesday.

The figure skaters, en route to world championships, were among 49 Americans killed when the Boeing 707 of Belgian Sabena Airlines crashed at Brussels Airport.

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Ex-King Peter II of Yugoslavia rushed from Paris to his estranged wife's hospital bedside and visited her twice Tuesday.

His wife, Princess Alexandra of Greece, 42, regained consciousness for the first time since taking an overdose of sleeping pills Sunday and whispered "I'm glad to be alive." She was reported out of danger.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A South Korean army court-martial indefinitely postponed today the trial of former Premier Yoo-chan (Tiger) Song, 47, confined to a hospital and suffering from high blood pressure.

The Korean war hero, a retired lieutenant general, has been indicted on charges of illegally ex-here. "There is no point in being impatient." A good standup lady comic is a rarity in show business, and Miss Diller is currently the most successful in the field.

Eight years ago, Phyllis, then 37, was just another working housewife—she had a radio writing job—who got a big kick out of entertaining other women with her zany antics.

HUSBAND URGES

Her husband, Sherwood, kept urging her to turn professional. She did finally—with considerable qualms.

"I had to give up a $100 a week job, an expense account, and a car to become an unemployed comic," she said.

She landed a $60-a-week job in a San Francisco club with an outlandish act in which she set about stuffing a turkey—through the back.

"It took me years to work up to $10 a week," she said. Rigorously self-disciplined, she makes up most of her own material.

"I write around the clock," she said. "I used to sit on the floor and cry when I couldn't think of something new and funny. Now I write like I breathe." Phyllis travels most of the year.

Sometimes she brings along the kids, who range in age from 13 to 22. On one such trip, the family including their talking mynah bird, Mason Woolworth Crestwood III, had 47 pieces of luggage.

Phyllis believes success lies in self-dependence, energy and positive thinking.

"Energy is psychic, mental," she said. "All the energy in the world is available to you if you learn how to use it. You have to learn how to turn it on and off like electricity."

"Never let people cover you with negative thoughts, can't do it thoughts, or it is impossible thoughts. All you need is yourself. Right away you're in trouble if you need help and turn to others."

Miss Diller doesn't worry about an improvident old age. She has a land investment program. "I have a piece of land in Idaho 40 miles long and one inch wide," she said. "I use it now to store string."

Farmers' Group May Hold Out

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — A decision was expected today on whether the National Farmers Organization (NFO) will begin a new holding action on various farm products.

President Oren Lee Staley of the NFO indicated such an action might affect whole milk, feed and sorghum grains or livestock.

The NFO executive committee conferred all day yesterday with out deciding on the action.

In an earlier withholding action the NFO failed to reach its goal of obtaining an agreement on livestock purchases. There were indications that members were divided on whether to try another.

Backers of the action hope that by withholding products from market farmers can get processors of agricultural products to sign contracts for livestock and other commodities.

Pro Cutdown Hits QB's

By The Associated Press
Lee Grosscup got the ax and Sandy Stephens got a second chance.
The two quarterbacks were the key figures in separate professional football maneuvers in the United States and Canada Tuesday. Grosscup was dropped in a mandatory cut by the National and American Football Leagues, and Stephens was claimed for the Calgary Stampeders.

Grosscup, a former reserve quarterback for the New York Giants and Minnesota Vikings of the NFL, was lopped off the roster of the rebuilding New York Jets of the American Football League.

Stephens, All-American at Minnesota in 1961, was claimed on waivers by Toronto of the Canadian Football League with the waiver price of $350 going to Montreal, the team that suspended him last week.

Otherwise, veteran linemen and a flock of rookies were the chief targets of the parring knives as the NFL cut to 40 players and the AFL to 33.

The articulate Grosscup, an outstanding passer in his college days at Utah, came to the Giants in 1959 as their top draft choice. He spent three seasons with the Giants, almost all of it on his own special folding camp chair.

GOOD PAY
Grosscup, reported to receive about $14,000 a year, rarely made it into a game, and trotted on the field with a baseball cap on his head, the folding chair in one arm and a telephone headset in the other. The headset was used to communicate with spotters during the game.
He was traded to Minnesota a year ago, released by the Vikings and signed by the New York Titans, forerunner of the Jets. He had a brief, outstanding career with the AFL team before being sidelined by a knee injury. His release could mean the end of his professional career.

Stephens was one of the most widely sought players in the country when he signed a three-year, no-cut contract, reportedly for $70,000, with the Montreal Alouettes in 1962.

He was unimpressive in his rookie season with the Alouettes and lack-lustre in the Al's first two games this season. He was benched for being overweight two weeks ago, suspended last week and placed on waivers Tuesday.

Toronto immediately grabbed him at the waiver price of $350. Toronto General Manager Lew Hayman said the Argos will not have to purchase Stephens' salary from Montreal, which the Al's previously had agreed to pick up.
"We have no obligations at all as far as his previous arrangements were with the Montreal team," Hayman said. "We will simply deal with him as we would any newcomer."

VETERANS CUT

Among top players placed on option by the NFL teams were tackle Gene Gossage of the New York Giants and end Hugh McInnis Dallas, each in his fourth year, and veteran end Steve Jucker of Washington, in his sixth year in the league.

NFL champion Green Bay traded guard Ed Blaine, a second year man, to Philadelphia for a draft choice and placed former St. Louis

Grand Rapids
Ousted, 4-2,
on Late Blow

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Defending champion Wichita Dreamers defeated Grand Rapids, 4-2 last night to advance to the finals of the National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament against Ponchatoula, La.
Ponchatoula edged Fairbanks, Alaska, 2-1 in the first semifinal game.

The final game is scheduled tonight.
A $10,000 prize is at stake in the tournament's 63rd game. Thirty-two teams from throughout the country started the double-elimination playoff on Aug. 16.

Krause Men's Champ

Pine Lake Crowns Five

Five club champions were crowned in their respective divisions at Pine Lake over the weekend with the battle for the Director's Cup going into an 18 hole playoff next Sunday.

Jim Krause took the men's championship for the first time posting rounds of 79-75-71—225 for 54 holes.

Four strokes behind was Dick Griffith, with 229 followed by Dr. Ollie Strong at 238, Leigh Tushy at 241 and Bud Rozema at 243.

Wayne Edwards at 159 for 36 holes is the new senior's champ with defending champion Ed Miesel at 162 and Lou Conroy at 163.

In junior play, the boys' title was won by Tom Hopkins with an 86 and the girls' division was taken by Kathy Shanahan with 88. Edwards and Tim Claggett are presently tied at 145 for the Director's Cup award and they will meet in 18 holes next Sunday.

Club titles were also settled elsewhere in the area Labor Day.

At Birmingham Country Club, Dr. John Slinger won the championship by defeating Elmer Ellstrom 2 and 1, while at Oakland Hills youthful Fred Ewald, Duke University sophomore fell to Hunter McDonald, 4 and 3.

Ewald is a former Bloomfield Hills High School golfer.
At Edgewood Country Club, George Clark dethroned defending champion, Mike Serenian in 36 holes with a 2 and 1 triumph.

Clark won four straight holes after being 2-down at the 12th.

Chuck Koscis won the Red Run championship for the 6th time in defeating Lloyd Martz on an extra nine holes, 36 to 37, and Dr. Joe Gadow won the Meadowbrook finale by defeating George Lakotish, 1 up in 37 holes.

No's. 13, 19 Big for Yankees, LA

NEW YORK (AP)—Time is running out for the St. Louis Cardinals in their quest to overtake the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.
The clock has just about stopped for the third-place San Francisco Giants, and the Chicago White Sox, runners-up to pace-setting New York in the American League.

The magic number for the Yankees is 13. For the Dodgers it's 19. Here's what it would take to make their leads disappear:
If the White Sox win all 24 remaining games, it would give them 102 victories. The Yanks need to win only 13 of 23 to make it 103.

If the Cards win all of their 24 games, their winning total at season's end would be 102. The Dodgers have 24 games left and would have to collect 19 victories to eliminate St. Louis.
If the Giants win all 23 on their schedule it would put their total at 98. The Dodgers would have to win only 15 to eliminate the defending NL champions.

Record Set in Press Derby

A fisherman who became a two-time winner and a new record high-lighted this year's Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby which ended at noon yesterday.

Frank Dennis, 397 Scott Lake Rd., took first place in the bluegill division for the second time in three years. His entry weighed 1 pound, 3 ounces.

A 5-pound, 3-ounce rainbow caught at Lakeville Lake by Otto W. Millebrandt, 3070 Grant, Avon Township, broke the record for its class. The former mark was 3 pounds, 4 ounces.

Carl H. Betz, 3615 Covert, won a $50 bond with a 11-pound, 9-ounce northern pike and William H. McKinney, 11 Pleasant, Oxford, entered the heaviest black fish, a 6-pound, 10-ounce fish. He also will receive a $50 bond.

Only in the pike division did entries fail to reach the average of 14 pounds recorded by winners in the Derby's 23 years.

Dennis, a dedicated bluegill fisherman, actually took three bluegills within a half hour on Silver Lake that would have won first place. He had two others that weighed a pound apiece.

Betz was trying out a new minnow bucket, a Father's Day gift, when he caught his large pike just after dawn while fishing Deer Lake. This lake yielded a Derby pike division winner two years ago.

Millebrandt was fishing deep with nightcrawlers for bass when he caught his record rainbow.

A brother was silenced when McKinney hooked his giant bass while fishing Tan Lake. Dick McKinney, who was with William, had been bragging about the bass fishing "back home in Massachusetts."

"His mouth dropped open when mine shot out of the water for the first time," said William. He caught the bass on a flatfish.

HEAVIEST PIKE — Carl H. Betz, 3615 Covert, won a $50 savings bond for entering the largest northern pike in the annual Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby which ended at noon yesterday. The 11-pound, 9-ounce pike was caught at Deer Lake.

DERBY RECORD — This 6-pound, 3-ounce rainbow set a Derby record for its division. Otto W. Millebrandt, 3070 Grant, Avon Township, took the rainbow from Lakeville Lake and will receive a $25 bond.

BASS WINNER — A $50 bond was awarded to William H. McKinney, 11 Pleasant, Oxford, for this 6-pound, 10-ounce largemouth bass. It was caught in Tan Lake and topped the black bass division.

Deer Permits About Ready

Michigan hunters should find applications for antlerless deer shooting permits at their local sporting license dealers by the middle of this month, according to the Conservation Department.

They will have through Oct. 10 to postmark applications which will come in the new form of this fall.

punch cards to cut handling costs. Later in the month, cards will be run through automatic processing machines to "draw" successful applications for over-subscribed areas.

The department expects to receive about 250,000 applications

'Fiscal Crisis in Pontiac?' I Don't Believe It

At the request of The Pontiac Press, city resident Louis H. Schimmel, one of the outstanding bond consultants in the United States, has submitted the following opinion on the current financial situation of the city of Pontiac:

Criticism has been leveled at former Commissioners and Managers for depleting a city surplus of over one million dollars in 1956 to less than twelve thousand dollars in 1963. One gets the impression that this was incompetent management and a squandering of city funds. The story of that surplus is the core of the city's financial problem.

Since the depression of the 1930's, Pontiac taxpayers have made a fetish of pay-as-you-go policies. They have a phobia about debt and bonds and interest. Their lack of understanding about the use of credit has been reflected in the attitudes of the City Commissioners. A false notion persists that it is a disgrace to borrow money and a sin to pay interest.

In 1960, Pontiac was faced with the difficult problem of catching up on many municipal needs which had been neglected during war years, when federal restrictions made it impossible to provide normal peacetime services and facilities.

The accomplishment in meeting those needs is one of the bright spots in the history of this city. The city built a new library, a new City Hall, new fire stations and a headquarters for the Police Department. The airport was enlarged. The hospital was modernized and its capacity doubled. Off-street parking lots were provided. Miles of sewers were constructed which empty into a new sewage disposal plant large enough to take care of the needs of the entire city. The solution to the water problem was resolved.

About thirty million dollars worth of improvements were built in the 1950's. Most of these were financed by capital funds raised annually in the budget, plus the use of surplus funds accumulated in prior years.

Now some contend the city should not have decreased its surplus to an amount where funds at the end of the budget year are not sufficient to pay the operating expenses for the first six months of the next year. The budget year runs from January 1st to December 31st, but the city does not collect taxes until July 1st, or six months after the beginning of the budget year. Money, however, must come to meet payrolls and buy materials when the city is without income from its current tax levy.

Plan Approved for Expanding Pontiac Airport

By DICK SAUNDERS

City Commissioners last night unanimously approved a master plan outlining some $9,088,800 in future development of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The plan must now be approved by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics and the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) before it can be used as a working tool. To successfully carry out all the improvements outlined in the plan, the city would have to purchase some 450 acres of surrounding property.

Ford Expects Big '64 Year

Press Preview Set for Pike's Peak Climb

By DICK HANSON
COLORADO SPRINGS—If favorable economic conditions persist, new car sales in 1964 will top the 7-million mark for the third year in a row, according to Lee A. Iacocca, vice president of Ford Motor Co. and head of Ford Division.

Speaking at a press preview of the '64 Ford line here, Iacocca based his optimistic forecast on four factors:

- Rapid population growth, especially in the 15 to 24-age group, which buys more cars than any other segment of the population.
- Strong used car sales.
- Growth of multiple-car families. From 1953 to 1962 the number of spending units in the United States owning two or more cars increased from 2.9 million to 11.3 million.
- The rising scrapage rate. Last year, he said, the industry sold 7 million cars and scrapped almost 5 million, a new record.

OTHER FACTORS

He also listed record truck sales and accelerated highway construction as indications of a boom automotive market next year.

While details of the '64 Ford's engineering and styling are the secret of Ford executives until later today, advance indications point to a new look expressing visually the concept of total performance.

Tomorrow, 200 newsmen expected to find out for themselves when they drive the new Fords up to the Pike's Peak summit.

Negroes Enroll in Birmingham; Crowd Protests

Demonstrators Break Through Police Lines as Brothers Register

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)

Two Negro brothers entered school with white children today, and brief disorders broke out at the elementary school where they registered.

Dwight and Floyd Armstrong, accompanied by four Negro men, entered the Graymont grammar school through a side door. They enrolled and 10 minutes later left by the same door.

This easement consists of regular payment of a fee by the city to home owners who agree to allow planes to be flown over their property. In essence, the owners "sell" airspace above their properties.

This is essential in runways approach areas.

The total land cost is estimated at $6.6 million, including the easements and funds for acquisition costs, purchase adjustments and contingencies.

If all proposed development projects are completed in the future, the estimated $9 million cost would be split three ways.

The city would pay $3,905,150. The federal government would pay $4,555,400. The state's share would be $631,250.

These figures include all proposed construction and purchase of land by fee and by aviation easement.

ROAD CHANGES
However, to complete the proposed development program, it would be necessary to close a portion of Hatchery Road and relocate part of Williams Lake Road.

The cost estimates do not include any road relocation.

Students Return to Classes

Pontiac area public and parochial school students in record numbers began their annual trek back to classrooms this morning.

Half-day sessions greeted grades 1-6 today and will tomorrow in Pontiac public schools, while orientation for new students in higher grades is scheduled for tomorrow.

A total enrollment of 22,630, up from last year's 21,483, is projected this year for Pontiac public schools, while parochial schools expect moderate or no increases in enrollments.

Most of the public school increase will be in the senior high grades. Enrollment in high school classes will jump from 3,395 to 3,739 pupils, according to estimates based on the annual school census.

Waterford Township public schools anticipate an increase in enrollment of about 1,000 pupils, jumping from 13,967 last year to 14,973 this year.

Parochial students in Pontiac and Waterford Township also reopened the school year today.

Students report for half-day classes this week at Pontiac St. Michael with the first full day falling on Monday, St. Frederick pupils will see their first full day of classes on Friday. Half-day classes began this morning.

St. Benedict School and Our Lady of the Lakes, both in Waterford Township, go into full operation tomorrow and Monday respectively. Students reported for the first time today.

Pontiac school officials plan the first full day of classes on Friday for all grades except kindergarten, which does not get under way until Monday.

Waterford Township public schools opened this morning for a full day for seventh graders in junior high and 10-12 grades in senior high schools. In addition, ninth graders at Kettering High School started today.

The remaining grades, including kindergarten, report Friday for a full day of school, according to Waterford Township public school officials.

IDENTIFICATION — New faces dotted classrooms throughout Pontiac this morning with the start of the 1963-64 school year. Mrs. Faith Jarrett, teacher at Emerson School, solved the problem by handing out name cards to all her young pupils.

3rd Renewal Project Requested for School

The City Commission last night agreed to petition the federal government for a third urban renewal project to make land available for a proposed osteopathic college, if Pontiac is chosen as the site for the school.

A decision on the site is scheduled to be made Sept. 19 by the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS).

Pontiac, Detroit and Lansing are reportedly top contenders for the proposed $30-million college.

Last night's resolution was passed in view of recent offers of free land for the school by Detroit and Lansing.

It had been requested by Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, which plans to present

Viet Chief Deaf on JFK's Plea

Welcome U.S. Aid, but Not Criticisms

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The government of South Viet Nam has turned a deaf ear to President Kennedy's plea for reforms to rally public support for President Ngo Dinh Diem and with the war against Communist guerrillas.

While a government spokesman welcomed Kennedy's pledge of continued U.S. aid in the anti-Communist war, he said yesterday the President's criticism of Diem's domestic policies was "quite wrong" and "based on inadequate information."

U.S. officials in Washington privately voiced disappointment over the negative reaction to Kennedy's plea for reforms.

The Saigon stand was considered a blow to a solution of deteriorating U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

Responsibility

He apparently had in mind Diem's brother-adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Washington believes Nhu was responsible for the anti-Buddhist crackdown Aug. 21 when martial law was imposed in South Viet Nam. A Roman Catholic, Diem has denied Buddhist charges of religious discrimination.

The Vietnamese government spokesman noted that "Kennedy said the United States should not withdraw its support of Viet Nam, and that is heartening."

U.S. military and other aid to Viet Nam is running $500 million a year.

Washington reacted sharply to a story published in Saigon that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had plotted to overthrow Diem government with the help of dissidents in South Viet Nam.

None Survive Worst Air Crash in Switzerland

Zurich-to-Geneva Trip Ends After Takeoff; One American Killed

DUERRENAESCH, Switzerland (AP) — A Swissair twin-jet airliner exploded in the air today shortly after taking off from Zurich and crashed in flames, killing all the 80 persons aboard.

The tremendous impact of the crash scattered parts of the French-built Caravelle and human remains over a square mile.

The plane had been bound for Geneva and Rome. It narrowly missed Duernaesch, situated between two small lakes about 30 miles west of Zurich, and slashed a huge crater in the earth just west of the village.

The worst air disaster in Swiss history, the crash took the lives of 74 passengers and six crew members. It was the first major air tragedy in Switzerland since World War II.

Swiss authorities announced one American, named Glaumer, was among the eight foreigners who perished. They did not have his first name or home town.

All the 66 other passengers and the crew were Swiss nationals. Among them were 44 persons from a single village, Humlikon. Making up a quarter of Humlikon's population, they were flying to Geneva on a trip organized by a farming cooperative.

LOST CONTACT
The disaster struck at 7:20 a.m. Four minutes before, officials reported they had lost contact with the Caravelle.

Farmers in the village of Bettwil, eight miles northeast of Duernaesch, said they saw a glowing fire moving at great speed through the morning mist, accompanied by a loud roaring sound.

Duerrenesch villagers said they heard an explosion, looked up and saw (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

City Delays Action on Tax Levy Setup

The City Commission last night delayed action on setting the city's 1963 tax levy pending the settlement of five property assessment appeals by the State Tax Commission.

The tax commission, according to City Attorney William A. Ewart, "will be in Pontiac in a week to settle the remaining appeals."

Commissioners, on hearing this last night, decided to hold off on the tax amendment until the appeals are settled and the tax base is final.

A public hearing was completed, however, on the proposed $4.48-million tax levy, to be raised by a tax rate of $16.10 per $1,000 of assessed property value. No objections were voiced.

The amount to be raised by taxes is essentially the same as proposed in June.

COUNT DOWN — Teacher Mrs. Norman Kuipala, 416 W. Iroquois, counts off the final seconds this morning before opening the door at Emerson School for the start of another school year. Pupils in grades 1-6 reported to day for the first session of the new year. Half-day classes were planned for today and tomorrow with the first full day of classes set for Friday.

Latin Terrorists Hunted

By PAUL FINCH
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Police searched over Central University today looking for pro-Castro students believed to have been involved in a bloody, daring raid on air force headquarters in downtown Caracas.

Four terrorists, apparently bent on stealing the passport guards' submachine guns, shot up the headquarters, killing a guard and wounding a passerby. One terrorist was reported wounded.

Police traced the terrorists' getaway car, driven by a woman, to the university campus. They seized two students and a cache of arms in a dormitory for foreign students.

Officials said the raid was staged by members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), a Communist organization trying to topple President Romulo Betancourt before the presidential election in November.

Pontiac Okays Airport Plan

a proposed 5,000-foot north-south runway and taxiways. The proposed location for this is at the west end of the existing east-west runway.

This location is also the major difference between the final plan approved last night and the preliminary plan outlined in The Press a year ago.

At that time, it was felt the north-south runway would be located at the east end of the airport, approximately parallel to Airport Road.

WOULD CROSS

It would cross both Hatcher Road and a portion of Williams Lake Road that curves to the east at Gate Road. The north-south runway is 150 feet wide.

Other recommended projects are:

- Construction of a future 4,000 by 100-foot, east-west visual flight rules runway north of the present airport property line.
- Extension of the existing east-west (5,300-foot) runway east 90 feet for a total runway length of 6,200 feet.
- Expansion of both the north hangar area and south terminal area.

Airport Manager Homer Hoskins emphasized that the proposed improvements are not being planned to accommodate large jet aircraft.

He said the 6,200-foot east-west runway and the 5,000-foot north-south runway "will accommodate the French two-engine Caravelle and the new Boeing 727, which is less than half the size of the Boeing 707 jet."

"These aircraft are used for short haul travel and local air line service," Hoskins noted. "Further, we don't expect them to be used here for at least five years."

SUGGESTS PROGRAM

The plan suggests a development program broken into eight phases to complete all proposed expansion and improvements.

Approval by the City Commission last night doesn't mean the city will start spending $3.9 million to improve the airport.

It does mean the city accepts the plan as a logical blueprint to follow in future years and when local funds become available for airport improvements.

City officials, in fact, have indicated they would like the county to finance part of future improvements as a city-county joint facility.

The county, meanwhile, is considering a survey of present airport facilities in the county and airport needs for the future.

The purchase of land in approaches to the east-west runway and extension of the runway to 6,200 feet would qualify it for installation of an instrument landing system (ILS) and approach lighting system (ALS).

PAID BY FAA

Under the present federal program, the initial installation, furnishing and maintaining of ILS and ALS systems is paid by the FAA.

The existing northeast-south, 2,400-foot runway would be retained for small aircraft.

The existing north-south runway, presently used for small aircraft, would be abandoned and converted into a taxiway when the new north-south runway is finished.

The plan has been two years in the making. It was prepared by Robert G. Peckham, of Lansing, the city's airport consulting engineer.

21 Planes Search for Missing Bomber

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Twenty-one aircraft flew over the jungle-covered mountains north of here today in search of a fighter-bomber missing for two days with three U.S. Air Force men aboard.

The plane, a two-engine B26, disappeared Monday after completing strafing and bombing passes against a Communist guerrilla target 300 miles north of here.

Betancourt says Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba sponsors the terrorists.

ORDERS SEARCH

Interior Minister Manuel Mantilla ordered a complete search of the university. Because it enjoys traditional rights of autonomy, the university has become a sanctuary for Communists.

Guards had been posted outside the campus to prevent terrorists from retreating to its safety. Police obtained warrants to enter the grounds and began a thorough search of every building.

In other acts blamed on the FALN, gunmen robbed a Caracas real estate office of about $4,000 Tuesday and terrorists set fire to a cultural center in Maracaibo, the oil center in western Venezuela.

Police at Barcelona, 150 miles southeast of Caracas, arrested a high school student and accused him of leading a band that dynamited three American-owned oil pipelines in the past two weeks.

SEE SETBACK

The outlawed Venezuelan Communist party and the fellow-traveling Movement of the Revolutionary Left, suffered a political setback where the need for unity to defeat Raul Leoni, presidential candidate of Betancourt's Democratic Action party.

Barred from running their own state, they had sought to convince the party of the need for unity to defeat Raul Leoni, presidential candidate of Betancourt's Democratic Action party.

Smoke Grenades and Stones Hurlled by Reds

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist border guards threw stones and smoke grenades at American military police on duty in a tiny East German sector "island" inside East Germany last night, an Army spokesman said today.

The grenades fell short of their mark but one MP was hit in the shoulder by a stone, the spokesman said.

The incident occurred on the border of Steinsteden, a 26-acre hamlet of 39 houses one mile inside East Germany.

American military police have been stationed there since the Berlin wall was built. They are down in by helicopter.

An MP patrol making the rounds of the barbed wire barriers erected by the Communists to keep refugees from escaping the tiny piece of free territory was attacked at 8:30 p.m.

The Red border guards were patrolling outside the barbed wire as the MPs walked along inside.

A Communist police officer threw two smoke bombs at the MPs but they fell short of the barbed wire and fell in Red territory, the spokesman said.

Five other Communist guards stood the Americans.

After the incident, American patrols were suspended for four hours.

American officials could give no reason for the Communist attack.

Barge Breaks Loose; Coast Guard Searches

OSCODA (AP) — A 132-foot barge broke loose from its tug on Lake Huron four miles off Oscoda today and the Coast Guard began a search for it as a menace to navigation.

The barge tore loose in 6-knot winds and 3-foot waves. The tug was towing it to Alpena.

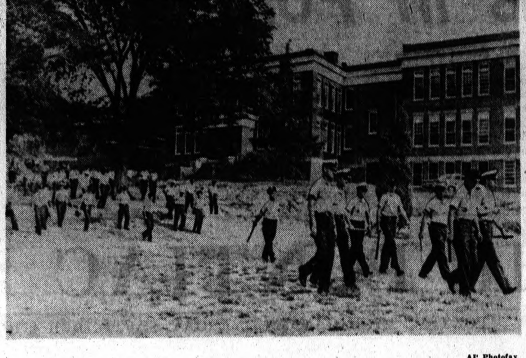

They recovered the lost in a swampy area near the Biggers home where they found it wrapped in a sleeping bag bearing the name and address of one of the boys involved, police said.

Fiscal Crisis Here? I Don't Believe It needed the first six months by using money which it accumulated from prior budgets. Since 1956 the surplus has been diminishing and it reached the vanishing point in 1963. It is now proposed that the city create surpluses so it can operate those six months without collecting taxes or borrowing. This is not a sound solution. It is dangerous and is a weak excuse for failing "to come to grips" with the basic problems of revising an outmoded city charter and putting the fiscal year and the tax year on the same timetable. In the interest of focusing attention on the real problem, it is a good thing that the million-dollar surplus has been spent. In view of what has happened at the City Hall in the past year, one wonders whether it would have been wise to keep a million dollar surplus for this city commission to spend.

We are told that we face a financial crisis.

2 New Judges to Be Sworn In

With at least one State Supreme Court Justice on hand to witness the event, attorneys Philip Pratt of Pontiac and James S. Thiburn of Royal Oak will be sworn in Friday as Oakland County's sixth and seventh Circuit Court judges.

Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem will preside at the 3 p.m. ceremony. It will mark the first public use of the newly completed supervisors' auditorium connected to the west wing of the county courthouse.

Michigan Supreme Court Justice Michael G. O'Hara is scheduled to speak. One of his colleagues on the high court, Theodore Souris, may also attend.

NAMED IN JUNE

The two men were named June 28 to fill the two new judicial positions by Gov. George Romney. Their appointments begin Friday, the effective date of the bill passed last spring by the State Legislature to create the posts.

They will serve as appointed judges until the November 1964 general election.

Friday's ceremony, sponsored by the County Bar Association, will be opened by bar association president Thomas J. Dillon. Fennel attorney William B. Bessey will introduce the new judges.

The new jurists will be presented their judicial robes by partners in their respective law firms. In Pratt's case, it will be Clarence Smith of Smith, Pratt and Cullen. With Thiburn, it will be Gilbert H. Davis of Davis and Thiburn.

Four of the county's present five circuit judges will be in attendance, including Ziem, William J. Beer, Stanton G. Dondoro and Arthur E. Moore. Judge Clark J. Adams is on vacation.

After the ceremony, Thiburn will use the new auditorium as his courtroom pending availability of other facilities. Pratt's courtroom will be temporarily in the space now occupied on the courthouse's second floor by the jury assembly room.

Pratt later will move his offices to the area now occupied by the Veterans Affairs department in the west wing until the jury assembly room is remodeled into a courtroom.

Atlantis Society Given Little Hope for House

BIRMINGHAM — Interest in a plan of a cultural group to preserve a century-old home in the downtown area was expressed by the City Commission last night, but it gave little hope in following through with the proposal.

The Atlantis Society, a 3-month-old organization with the membership of 140 families, is seeking to maintain the property at 288 Townsend and use it for offices if the city buys it.

However, the building is one of several on the block immediately south of Shain Park that the city has not yet acquired for the construction of a municipal parking lot.

The question of condemning the buildings, in order that the entire block could be used for parking, has been discussed by the commission in the past, but no action has been taken.

Garvin Bowden Jr., chairman of the society, was told by the commission that the city could not condemn the property for the purpose of parking and then turn around and lease it to the organization.

The commission, however, did instruct City Attorney James Howlett to explore the possibilities of condemning the building for use as a historical site.

Bowden said his organization would approach the owner of the building to discuss its purchase. The commission suggested that the building might be moved to another site if condemnation proceedings for use as a parking lot should ever be carried out.

This, however, would defeat the purpose of the society's plan to have office space for nonprofit community organizations in the heart of the city, according to Bowden.

The presence on the block of the one house in question would mean the loss of about seven parking spaces, Bowden said.

Two other actions concerning the proposed parking lot were taken by the commission.

A $2,000 contract was awarded to the R. Eldkins Excavating Co., 7188 Westwood, Union Lake, to wreck four houses and two garages that city now owns.

The firm was the lowest of five bidders. The high bidder asked nearly $3,000 more.

The commission also approved the parking meter arrangements and established the terms of parking. There will be two, four- and 12-hour parking meters in the 94 car lot.

Europe Unifier Succumbs at 77

METZ, France (AP) — Robert Schuman, 77, often called the father of European unity, died today after a long illness.

Schuman laid out the plan for the European Coal and Steel pool, a production and marketing organization linking France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

The same countries later formed the Common Market, or the European Economic Community. The same is the European Community unit hope the Common Market will develop into a Europe welded together politically as well as economically.

Schuman became seriously ill last month and received the final rites of the Catholic Church. He was suffering from a stroke and respiratory trouble.

Death came at Schuman's estate near this city in eastern France.

An asstic bachelor, Schuman became premier of France in the early years of the unstable Fourth Republic established after World War II. He served as premier for about seven months, beginning in late 1947, and again for only three days in late 1948. Later he was foreign minister for more than four years.

'Fiscal Crisis Here? I Don't Believe It'

I don't believe it. However, if a crisis does exist, it presents a splendid opportunity to adjust the fiscal policies of the city, so that this year's tax can be used to pay this year's expenses. This makes sense, whereas going back to the old policy simply means that we will accumulate surpluses from last year's taxes to pay some of this year's expenses, so that we can use some of next year's taxes to pay some of next year's expenses.

Recently, the legality of levying taxes in one year to create a surplus to use in future years has been challenged. It is dangerous and eventually brings trouble. Misuse of the city's surplus by the Mitchell administration in the 1930's brought financial chaos and lawsuits that took a decade to correct. The only reason that anyone advocates the reestablishment of surplus fund financing is to avoid borrowing for six months, or, because it seems to difficult to update an antiquated City Charter.

You do not have to look beyond our own city to understand the solution which is suggested here. Years ago, the School District of Pontiac brought its tax year and budget year into balance. July is the beginning of the budget year for all School Districts in Michigan. Pontiac is one of the few school districts in the state that collects its taxes in July. Pontiac School District never has to borrow money for operating purposes. Most school districts, however, collect their taxes in January, six months after the budget year has started.

They are in the same difficult position as the Pontiac city government finds itself. But school districts all over the state freely borrow at the beginning of each year against their January taxes, in order to finance their first six months before taxes are collected. Last year, over 900 school districts and cities borrowed more than one hundred million dollars on short term notes.

Many of these municipalities reinvest part of their loans at higher interest rates with the result that the net interest cost on short term borrowing is zero. Pontiac could do the same. Better yet, by charter amendment, the tax year and the budget year could be made to run concurrently and, thus, avoid any borrowing.

There is no disgrace about borrowing money when it is needed, and it is not a sin to pay interest. We can't have payless paydays. The judicious use of credit and borrowing money are indispensable parts of our economy. They are essential to the orderly operation of government as they are to private corporations.

It is not hard to imagine what to build surpluses again for the purpose of maintaining an outmoded method of financing the operations of city government. The opportunity to accomplish long overdue changes is here. The comedy that is now playing in the city commission chambers has brought disgrace to the city and disgust to all citizens who have an interest in a better Pontiac. It is indeed time to change the actors and policies at the City Hall.

TEX THE BICYCLIST

'Tex the Bicyclist' Pays Pontiac a Visit

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

A 45-year-old man known only as "Tex the Bicyclist" pedaled his delapidated bike up Huron Street yesterday and almost stopped traffic by his unusual appearance.

His heard made him look like a character actor from Gunsmoke. A big box crammed full of winter clothing, tools and precious little food, was topped by an old sleeping bag.

"Tex" claims he has gone through four different bicycles traveling more than 1 million miles in the last ten years. On the way, he has sharpened hundreds of knives, mowers, saws and eked out a living doing odd jobs around yards.

What makes a man want to keep on the go? People, beautiful country and wanderlust.

"On a bike, you see all sorts of wonderful sights that you'd miss in a dog-nabbed automobile," he commented.

Just traveling along with the breeze, Tex has had the thrill of no taxation, no responsibilities except for his own welfare, and the anticipation of meeting new people at the next place he stops. When it looks like rain, Tex seeks cover in the local jail for the night.

He recalls that the first four years of his cycling, he would pick up money that was lost or thrown out of cars.

"One year I picked up $50 just along the highway, but now you can't even find a penny," he declared.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—Syria and Israel pledged to maintain a ceasefire on their uneasy border after the Soviet Union vetoed Tuesday a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning Syria in the slaying Aug. 19 of two Israeli farmers on the frontier.

The U.S.-British resolution won the support of eight members of the Security Council, Morocco, an Arab League member, and the Soviet Union vetoed against it. Venezuela abstained.

Council President Jacinto Castel Borja of the Philippines appealed to the Syrians and the Israelis to maintain the cease fire they promised the U.N. Truce Supervisory Organization after the shootings. He also asked them to exchange prisoners.

Calling the 8-2 vote a moral condemnation of Syria, Israel's U.N. delegate, Michael Comay, pledged continuation of the cease fire. He said his government would welcome the return of prisoners.

Salah El-Dine Tarazi, the Syrian representative, also promised to cooperate with the U.N. truce chief, Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, in maintaining the cease fire. He argued strenuously for the council to force Israel to take up any disputes with the Mixed Armistice Commission. Israel has been boycotting the commission.
