Marine Battalion Pulling Out From Lebanon

$390,000 Allocated for City Airport

Rebels' Leader Salam Cheers 'Symbolic Step'

He Emphasizes Move Falls Short of Demands for Full Withdrawal

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — United States is withdrawing one battalion of Marines from Lebanon at once.

Sweating Leathernecks of the 2nd Battalion of the 2nd Division began moving their heavy equipment to the beach shortly after the announcement today. They will begin leaving early tomorrow.

Saeb Salam, rebel leader in Beirut, said he welcomed "this symbolic step" but emphasized it fell short of rebel demands for a complete withdrawal.

The 2nd Battalion was the first U.S. unit to land July 15 at the request of President Camille Chamoun, who feared a pro-Nasser uprising similar to the one that overthrew the government of Iraq July 14.

Adm. James L. Holloway, commander of the 15,000 U.S. Marines and troops in Lebanon, announced the withdrawal. He indicated this was the beginning of the pullout of U.S. forces.

The American action was obviously intended to influence the debate on the Middle East beginning tomorrow in an emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly.

Congress Aims at Adjournment

But Target Is Elusive as Both Houses Press Action on Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress, struggling for an ever-elusive adjournment, votes today on a score of measures ranging from sales tax cuts to razing of a Washington city fish market.

The Senate made some headway yesterday by sending to the White House a four-year extension of the reciprocal trade law and plowing part way through an excise (sales) tax revision bill.

But though the senators began their session at 10 a.m. EDT and didn't quit until 10:58 p.m., they bogged down during the evening in a round of democratic criticism of treatment of Adm. Hyman G. Rickover and quit without acting on the tax bill.

Called into session at 11 a.m. today, an hour earlier than usual, the Senate planned to vote on the excise bill which would adjust levies ranging from theater admissions to garbage disposals.

It hoped to complete action on both this and another plump tax measure designed to plug scores of technical loopholes in the internal revenue code.

The next big measure awaiting Senate action was a $1,500,000,000 space-age education bill providing 22,000 four-year federal scholarships for bright students.

The House was also considering a score of minor bills including one to allow razing of Washington's Municipal Fish and Farmers Market to make way for a new bridge and freeway.

The House program was set back a day by the death Sunday night of Rep. William E. McVey (R-Ill.) who succumbed to a heart attack. The House, according to its custom, put off all business Monday to eulogize the departed member.

With a number of major issues still unsettled, hopes of the lawmakers to quit this weekend have just about disappeared.

Dulles Scouting Ground Today

Ike to Address U.N. Assembly?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles scouts the ground today for a possible appearance by President Eisenhower at an emergency meeting of the United Nations General Assembly.

By nightfall, Dulles is expected to signal Eisenhower from New York whether to come ahead for a major address outlining American proposals for easing tensions in the Middle East. Eisenhower will probably follow his advice.

At present, most of Eisenhower's top aides, including Dulles, favor Eisenhower's appearance to give maximum impact to the American proposals.

At the United Nations in New York, Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd are meeting today to coordinate their strategy for the debate opening tomorrow.

Some U.N. diplomats said the prospect of a Soviet attempt to gain recognition for Red China at the emergency assembly appeared to be dimming.

The Soviet Union will probably launch its usual verbal attack on Nationalist China but will hold back on a challenge to the Nationalist Chinese credentials until the regular Assembly session opening Sept. 16, these diplomats said.

A Middle East policy speech has been prepared for Eisenhower, based on a sweeping review of economic-political measures the U. S. government will advocate.

But if Dulles discovers last minute hazards, he is reported ready to recommend that Eisen-

Humidity Will Drop After Rain Tonight

Thundershowers and a little cooler is the forecast for tonight with the low about 62-66. Today's calm to 10-mile-an-hour winds will become northerly at 10-20 miles an hour tonight.

Fair and less humid with a high of 80-84 is the outlook for tomorrow. Thursday will be partly cloudy and warmer with a few thundershowers likely.

Sixty-six was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 86 at 1 p.m.

County Conventions Set to Elect State Delegates

Delegates from Oakland County to state Republican and Democratic conventions later this month will be elected tomorrow and Thursday night in Pontiac at county conventions.

Republicans will fill the supervisors' room in the County Office Building Wednesday night beginning at 8, with the Democrats taking over the same place Thursday night.

Republicans will select 141 delegates to the Aug. 30 state convention in Grand Rapids, while the Democrats will elect 114 for their Aug. 23 conclave in the same city.

Party nominees from the Aug. 5 primary are expected to attend the Wednesday and Thursday night affairs here.

Another order of business for both conventions will be the election of convention chairmen who will serve also as chairman of their respective party state delegations.

Highlighting a long list of speakers at the Republican county convention will be Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, nominee for a second term in the State Senate.

County Democrats will hear John B. Swainson, nominee for lieutenant governor, and former state senator from Detroit.

Arthur G. Elliott Jr., GOP county chairman, and Carlos G. Richardson, Democratic county chairman, announced that both county conventions would be open to the public.

Election Forecast—VanWagoner Says:

We'll Gain in County

Anti-Republican administration trends on national and state levels will be the force behind Democrats capturing a number of Oakland County offices this fall, Murray D. Van Wagoner, former Michigan governor, said today.

He was asked by The Pontiac Press for his views on the county and state political races this year.

"It will be how the voters feel about the national foreign policy and unemployment situation which will sweep the Democrats into some of the county offices," declared Van Wagoner, now a Detroit consulting engineer living in Birmingham.

He declined pointing out which of the six elected county positions he believed would go Democratic in the November election.

The Broomfield versus Leslie H. Hudson fight for the 18th Congressional District post was likened to a "horse race that can go either way" by Van Wagoner, 60, of 3890 Oakland Dr.

"It will be close," he said. "We have a good candidate in Les Hudson. But Broomfield has the experience gained as an incumbent, while Hudson still has several years of legislative experience behind him also."

MURRAY D. VAN WAGONER

The one-time state highway commissioner considered Philip A. Hart, candidate for Michigan Senator, as the "spearhead" behind the Democrats hanging on to the post of governor and lieutenant governor, and winning the second Michigan Senate seat from the Republicans.

Here, too, Van Wagoner forecast a "close race" — between Hart, former lieutenant governor, and Sen. Charles E. Potter.

"I naturally believe Hart will win," he said. "He is well-liked. And here again I see the national trends sweeping him into office."

In the governor's race, Van Wagoner said Gov. Williams "is as strong as he ever has been."

Van Wagoner predicted that John B. Swainson, former state senator from Detroit, would defeat Brown, past state representative from Royal Oak.

Ziem Believes Balky Witness Handled Check

Disclose $1,700 Note Cashed, but Not by Herman Kierdorf

By PETE LOCHBILER

Oakland County investigators pressed the questioning today of a balky witness believed to have handled the $1,700 check which Herman Kierdorf got from the sale of his Teamster Cadillac.

It was disclosed yesterday that the check was cashed, but not by Herman, an ex-convict and former Teamster official who is the object of a nationwide search in connection with the arson death of his nephew, Frank.

The witness, Myron D. Weiss, 54, of 4058 Duane St., Detroit, apparently got the check from Herman before the latter dropped out of sight Aug. 4, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said yesterday.

Despite repeated questioning, Weiss, a butcher, "has given us almost no information and refuses to take a lie detector test," said Ziem.

The fact that the check was cashed in Detroit scotched hopes that it would turn up elsewhere and provide a clue to the whereabouts of the missing man, a former business agent of Teamster Joint Council 43 in Detroit.

Ziem announced yesterday that the search for Herman had been assigned to State Police Capt. Jack Warner, commander of the Southeastern Michigan District. Warner said the search would get "number one priority."

In other developments today, Atty. Gen. Paul Adams was threatened with the loss of the only live suspect he has in custody in the Flint arson attack that fatally burned Frank Kierdorf.

Genesee County Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth ordered a habeas corpus hearing on detention of Jack Thompson, fellow business agent with the victim at Flint Teamster Local 332. The hearing is at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Adams and Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke must show how Thompson is connected with the arson at a dry cleaning pickup station, or the man will be freed.

Thompson, 41, is being held on suspicion of arson. Adams said investigators are convinced Thompson, Frank Kierdorf, 56, and Herman Kierdorf, 67, set fire to the pickup station Aug. 3 and Frank suffered his burns when the fire broke out prematurely.

They believe the pilot light on an automatic heater ignited inflammable liquid which the trio had spread about the premises.

Adams left his Lansing headquarters today for Flint in the company of Solicitor General Samuel J. Torina.

After conferring with O'Rourke and other investigators in Flint, they were expected to travel on to Pontiac, arriving here "sometime this afternoon," Ziem said.

The purpose of the trip was not

Shape of Things to Come

Fantastic Future

(Ever since he discovered he has a past, man has enjoyed imaginative flights into the future. This is the first of four articles by Associated Press special writers on the shape of things to come in various fields.)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

It won't be tomorrow, or even 10 years from now. But someday—

Pills revive your faulty memory. A quick swallow saves you the embarrassment of not being able to remember someone's name, or that foreign language you learned in college.

Or they give you an immediate grasp of all the details of a business venture, or help your son collect an "A" on his school exam.

For special occasions, there are forgettery pills, to banish or dull the memory of some painful or tragic event.

Other special drugs stimulate your imagination for creative work, aid your concentration, or produce moods by prescription.

Drugs cure or prevent mental illness, by correcting chemical faults within the brain or body. Brain research has fathomed mysteries of the chemical-electrical workings of the brain and its faculties.

CANCER CONQUERED

Cancer no longer holds any terrors. Some drugs kill or melt away malignant cells. Other drugs halt cancerous growth, preventing them from ever getting worse or dangerous, so people live out healthy normal lives.

Average lifespan now is 100 years of healthy, robust, vigorous life. Some old-times are still having a ball at nearly 150.

Heart disease is conquered. Medical scientists can tell you how to eat and live to prevent coronary heart attacks.

Biological breakthroughs also make it possible for you to get a new heart, glands, skin, kidneys or lungs when your own organs became damaged or worn out.

WHAT'S TOOTH DECAY

Living tissues from healthy persons killed in accidents can be transplanted to live in your own body. Some people prefer purely mechanical new hearts, placed in their chests, operating on pocket batteries.

Report Union Rank and File 'Organized' to Oust Hoffa

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said last night a rank-and-file drive to oust James R. Hoffa as international president of the Teamsters has been reported under way throughout the nation.

The Times said a spokesman here for the dissident group charged Hoffa with violating the Teamsters constitution and the U.S. District Court order under which he assumed provisional office.

The spokesman said the charges will be presented to the three monitors whose duty, under the court order, is to bring financial responsibility and democratic procedures to the 1,500,000-member union.

The spokesman said that rank-and-file opposition to Hoffa is now "organized and everybody in it knows who the others are." No figures on numerical strength were given.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the Senate Rackets Committee gave Hoffa a chance to reply today to testimony linking him with gangster elements.

Hoffa denied today he is afraid to throw the hoodlums and officials with criminal records out of his union.

"I'm not frightened by anybody," the bouncy Hoffa roared. "I do not frighten easily."

Grant to Provide Control Tower, Safety System

Federal Funds Brighten Hopes for Commercial Service Here Soon

Federal funds for a new control tower and navigation equipment for air safety have been earmarked for Pontiac Municipal Airport, Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) announced today in Washington, D. C.

Totaling $390,000, the funds are in addition to this year's annual federal grant already approved for local construction, Broomfield in-

Broomfield said an extra $110,000 has been set aside for construction of a control tower, while $280,000 will be available under another program for installation of a high-frequency, radio-radar navagation aid called a vortex unit.

HAILED LOCALLY

Local officials, who watched their requests for construction funds pared down earlier this year, hailed the announcement.

"The additional tower funds mean that the construction program will be much better off than expected," said Homer Hoskins, air port manager.

"I am certain that the new equipment will mean increased air traffic for Pontiac, with the possibility of commercial use of the airport in the near future," said Broomfield.

PETITIONS FOR SERVICE

North Central Airlines has petitioned the Civil Aeronautics Administration for permission to bring commercial service to Pontiac Airport.

The allocations have been made by the CAA Broomfield said.

The vortex unit is part of a new CAA program to coordinate military and civilian airways navigation with an eye to increased safety.

It is probable that it can be utilized locally to help guide regularly-scheduled incoming air traffic. However, it was not expected that this could be finally determined until after a CAA survey to decide the installation site.

Michigan Aeronautics Commission (MAC) said the CAA is spotting vortex units along established airways throughout Michigan and the nation.

Primarily, the units are designed to aid through traffic, the officials said, although they are also adaptable for local usage in most instances.

AID FIXING LOCATION

The vortex units aid pilots in determining their exact location at night and during bad weather. When emergency landings are advisable during bad weather, beams

Election Forecast—Dondero Cites:

Best Public Service

"Our elected Republican officials have given residents the best of service for many years without public scandal," veteran Oakland County Republican George A. Dondero said today.

The former Oakland County representative who served Congress for 24 years was asked his opinion on the coming state and local political races this year by The Pontiac Press.

Non-committal on the outcome of most political races, Dondero, 74-year-old practicing Royal Oak attorney, was emphatic about the battle for his old seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"Bill Bromfield (present county congressman) is entitled to be re-elected. He has worked as no other man could for the people of Oakland County," Dondero declared.

"Besides," he added, "he has 10 years of legislative experience behind him."

GEORGE A. DONDERO

Dondero strongly supported Republican policies from the President on down to the last county office.

"All I can tell the American people is that they are not at war now and haven't been for six or seven years, and it's not probable they will be," Dondero said.

He viewed any possible switch in the politics of the county government this way. "If there was anything wrong with what our officials were giving the people in the way of service, that would be a different story."

Dondero said the campaign for lieutenant governor—between Donald A. Brown, Republican and Democrat John B. Swainson—will depend on how the state goes."

Dondero wouldn't comment on whether Gov. Williams' opponent, Paul D. Bagwell, was "the man" to put a Republican in the governor's mansion in Lansing.

Pontiac General Gets Transcript on Sullenberger

A 448-page transcript of Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger's hearing was delivered yesterday to Pontiac General Hospital.

Copies were being distributed today to members of the Board of Trustees, said Harold B. Euler, trustee temporarily coordinating the hospital's administration.

Willis M. Brewer, board chairman, has estimated board members will need "about two weeks" to study the transcript before making a decision.

The hearing was on Dr. Sullenberger's appeal for the board to override a recommendation by the hospital's medical staff that he be permanently dropped from the hospital's roster.

The surgeon, temporarily ousted from the hospital on the staff's recommendation last Nov. 13, asked for the hearing after his Circuit Court suit for reinstatement and $250,000 damages was dismissed.

Marine Battalion Leaving Lebanon

tect the government of King Hussein.

Holloway's statement said the 2nd Battalion of the 2nd Marines —the 1,700-man force that first arrived in Beirut July 15—will begin re-embarking from Beirut beaches at 7 a.m. tomorrow.

Recalling a promise by President Eisenhower that the U. S. forces would remain only so long as desired and needed, the statement said: "Admiral Holloway, after discussions with President Chamoun and the chief of the Lebanese armed forces, Gen. Fuad Shehab, agreed with Lebanese authorities that there has been a material improvement in the internal and external security situation of Lebanon."

The Marines were rushed to Lebanon by units of the U. S. 6th Fleet after pro-Nasser rebels overthrew King Faisal in neighboring Iraq and proclaimed a republic. The U. S. government feared that the Lebanese regime — embroiled for nearly three months with an indecisive rebellion by forces seeking to oust Chamoun—would be the next to fall to the wave of Nasserism.

From the first, the Soviet Union and Nasser demanded the American withdrawal and charged the United States with aggression. And inside Lebanon demands for the American pullout mounted after the election of Gen. Shehab July 31 as a nonpolitical, compromise choice to succeed Chamoun.

The general is scheduled to take office Sept. 24. It was assumed that a good portion of the American forces would remain until then.

The American forces have taken no part in the fighting between the government forces and the rebels, but their presence exerted a restraining influence on both sides and perhaps expedited the election of Shehab. Although rebel leaders repeatedly demanded the American withdrawal, they ordered their followers to avoid clashes with the Americans.

In Jordan, a military court sentenced 12 Jordanians and a Syrian to death for smuggling in arms from Syria to be used in a plot to overthrow King Hussein. Ten others got death sentences which were commuted to life imprisonment, and two defendants were given 5-year prison sentences.

In Cairo, the newspaper Al Ahram reported that Crown Prince Faisal, the premier of Saudi Arabia, would visit Nasser after the U. N. Assembly session on the Middle East. Observers in the U.A.R. capital predicted that the visit would result in close ties between the Saudi government and the U.A.R., perhaps even federation of the two countries.

Pontiac Man Arraigned in '59 Dodge Picture Extortion Plan

A Pontiac man, who police said threatened to turn over pictures of a 1959 Dodge to General Motors, yesterday waived examination on a charge of larceny from a building when arraigned before Bloomfield Hills Justice of the Peace Alva J. Richardson.

Bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court was James Crain, 25, of 55 Parkdale St.

Crain is charged with stealing five photographs of the 1959 Dodge from the New Center Studios, 70 E. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills, Aug. 1.

Police said Crain called the owner of the firm, Charles Carson, and threatened to turn the pictures over to General Motors if he wasn't paid $2,000.

Crain was arrested after detectives took the license number of his car when he went to pick up "payoff" money police told Carson to leave at a spot in Bloomfield Township.

SPECULATION ON HIS RETIREMENT—Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors Corporation, is causing a lot of speculation in business circles as to whether he will retire this year. Curtice reaches his 65th birthday anniversary Friday of this week, normal retirement age for GM presidents. The decision is one to be made by GM directors.

Strike Not Far Off, UAW Leader Warns

DETROIT (AP)—A strike in the auto industry is threatened soon by one union source if there is no early settlement in United Auto Workers contract negotiations.

Ken Bannon, director of the Ford UAW bargaining team, spoke in such terms Monday. He did not name a date nor specify which of the Big Three auto makers might be struck.

"If there isn't a settlement, there will be a strike soon," Bannon said.

For more than two months there have been no labor contracts in the Big Three. The UAW and Ford, Chrysler and General Motors have been unable to agree on terms.

The union's directorate deferred strike authorization action over the weekend. President Walter Reuther said this was done to give the companies another chance to reach a settlement.

Curtice Is 65 Friday; Silent on Future Plans

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)— A one-time accountant, who became president of the world's largest industrial corporation is causing a lot of speculation in business circles right now.

Industrialists generally are wondering whether Harlow H. Curtice, 11th president of General Motors will retire this year. Curtice reaches his 65th birthday anniversary Friday of this week. That's normal retirement age for GM presidents, great and small.

Curtice may know whether he is to relinquish one of the biggest jobs in industry this year. Some close associates may know. But neither Curtice nor any of his associates will talk about his plans.

They say the decision is one to be made only by GM's directors. The board met about a week ago but Curtice's retirement was not mentioned. That was not unusual. Curtice was not yet 65. The board usually acts after its executives reach the retirement age.

Some Curtice associates predict he will be continued in office for another year — possibly longer. They say the directors make the rules and can change them as they choose.

Should Curtice remain in office for more than a few weeks beyond his 65th birthday he would become the first GM president to do so. GM does not consider anybody indispensable; it has boasted it always has talent for any position.

But there is some unfinished business the board might like Curtice to handle. Most important probably is the writing of a new contract with GM's approximately 300,000 hourly-rated workers.

General Motors has been named as a possible target of the United Auto Workers Union in strike action planned should differences be unresolved when 1959 cars are ready for production.

Curtice will go into GM records as one of the corporation's great executives. His philosophy has been: "General Motors must always lead."

He led GM into its biggest year and sponsored some of its broadest expansion. Under his direction General Motors in 1955 became the first corporation in the world to make more than a billion dollars in net profits.

Only a year earlier, in the face of a somewhat shaky economy, Curtice announced that GM planned to spend a billion dollars on plant expansion during the year ahead. Later he added another billion to the total projected outlay.

Nobody ever has questioned that Curtice's pronouncement contributed substantially to the restoration of confidence that made 1955 probably the biggest year in American industrial history.

Curtice, with only a business-school education, answered a classified advertisement in a Flint newspaper and got a bookkeeper's post with GM's AC Spark Plug Division. That was in 1914. Within the year, at 21 years of age, he was AC's comptroller. At 36 he was its president.

Later as general manager of GM's Buick Division he pulled it out of a slump. In 1948 as the postwar market got rolling Curtice was made an executive vice president of General Motors.

He became president of General Motors in 1953 following Charles E. Wilson, who resigned the post to become defense secretary.

Thinks Witness Handled Check

disclosed. Adams took charge of the case last week and has announced his intention to stay in it, despite some unconfirmed reports that some state police officials were dissatisfied with hs conduct of it.

Adams and State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs dismissed these reports yesterday as "unfounded."

Before leaving Lansing, Adams said that the possibility of a grand jury investigation of the arson "has been discussed." He added, though, that no move in that direction is "in mind at this time."

Details of how the check was cashed were outlined in this form by Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry:

After selling the 1956 black Cadillac at a Royal Oak lot, on Monday, Aug. 4, Kierdorf gave the check to Weiss. On Tuesday, Weiss passed it on to William Kenealy, Herman's foster son.

Kenealy tried unsuccessfully to cash it, then on Wednesday gave it to Benjamin Okum, who Barry said owns a business near the National Meat Foundation, run by Kenealy and Jack Kierdorf, Herman's son, at 15351 Livernois Ave., Detroit.

Okum added his endorsement to Herman's and took the check to the Bank of the Commonwealth branch at Woodrow Wilson and W. Davison in Highland Park, where it was certified Thursday. Then he cashed it the same day at a branch of the same bank on Livernois and Santa Maria.

Okum, of 17363 Woodingham, Detroit, gave the $1,700 to Kenealy, who used $400 of it to pay off current bills at the meat store and gave the remaining $1,300 to Jack Kierdorf.

Jack says he has the money and is holding it for his father in "a kind of trust," Barry said.

With the exception of Weiss, Ziem said, all the persons involved in the long transaction have agreed to the part they played in it. Weiss, though, will not make any statement about the check, Ziem said.

A butcher at the meat store, Weiss has been described as the last known person to see Herman.

He is identified as the man who drove Kierdorf away from the Royal Oak lot in a green and white stationwagon after sale of the Cadillac. The stationwagon has been examined but provided no clues, state police said.

The Woodrow Wilson bank is the one at which the used car lot has an account.

Ziem said that authorities had known since Thursday that the check was cashed, but had held up announcing it until Okum made his statement. That was yesterday.

Warner apparently had not been told about the check, because after being assigned to search for Herman, he considered it as a possible lead.

Authorities figured that if Herman ran short of money, he would cash the check and betray his whereabouts.

Another lead remains, but Warner believed that it was "slender."

A heart victim, Herman is known to use nitro-glycerine heart pills. If he purchases some somewhere, authorities may learn about it.

However, Warner warned, nitro-glycerine is not a narcotic and its "use is very common." In addition, Herman may be able to purchase pills without a prescription, Warner added.

Warner, who returned to duty yesterday from a week's vacation, spent most of the day catching up with the hundreds of details that developed since Frank Kierdorf staggered into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Aug. 4 with burns covering 85 per cent of his body.

Herman visited Frank that day at the hospital and, to all outward appearances, persuaded him to tell how he had been taken for a ride by two gunmen who doused him with gasoline and ignited it.

Police now believe this story had been prepared in advance by the two men. Allowed to go free Aug. 4 because he had "cooperated with authorities," Herman disappeared.

He is sought on the technical charge of possessing a silencer for a pistol.

Authorities say there is insufficient evidence to charge Herman with arson and Warner believes that as far as the search is concerned, the silencer charge is sufficient to cause authorities across the nation to be on the lookout for the missing man.

One official, however, has suggested that Herman could be charged with murder, since his nephew was fatally injured while committing a felony.

The official is Torina, who is well-versed in criminal law, whereas Adams admittedly is not. This was suggested as one reason why Adams has Torina with him today.

Fog Closes Down 2 Chicago Airports

CHICAGO (UPI) — Zero-zero fog closed down Chicago's two major airports today and reduced motor traffic throughout the metropolitan area to a foot-by-foot crawl.

The Weather Bureau reported that bad fog conditions prevailed as far west as Rockford, Ill., and had hampered normal community services in northern Indiana east to the Goshen-South Bend area.

All flights from Midway and O'Hare international airports were canceled at midnight, when the visibility began dropping rapidly below the safety point.

Motorists were held to five miles an hour on many of the main traffic arteries leading to the loop during the morning rush, but police reported few accidents as a result of the London-type blanket.

The Chicago Transit Authority reported that many of its buses were as much as an hour behind schedule and elevated trains were on caution schedules.

He said the use of broad powers by his predecessor, Dave Beck, led to Beck's fall from power. Beck was convicted of misuse of union funds.

"I don't propose to act tough," Hoffa replied, "I will follow the constitution."

Major Portion of U.S. Gripped by Heat Wave

By The Associated Press

Seasonably hot weather clung to a major part of the country today although a little relief appeared on the way for some Northern areas.

High humidity added to the discomfort in broad areas from east of the Continental Divide as warm and moist air from the Gulf of Mexico covered the region.

Although showers and thunderstorms broke out across many sections during the night, no major storms were reported in the early morning. Thunderstorms extended from northeastern Missouri eastward to the lower Ohio Valley and a few also were reported in Georgia and eastern Alabama.

Approval Given to Highway Plan

Little Opposition for Northwestern Route Voiced at Hearing

General approval of plans for revamping and extending Northwestern Highway through Oakland County was expressed Monday afternoon at a public hearing on the project, conducted by the State Highway Department in the gymnasium of Southfield High School.

Some 350 citizens and public officials attended. Highway officials had anticipated an attendance of some 1,000 to 1,200, judging from early reaction to the plans, and the attendance alone seemed to be an indication that much of the earlier opposition has dissolved.

Plans for the highway call for extension of John C. Lodge expressway along James Couzens Highway as an overhead expressway in Detroit and into Oakland County; and

Extension of the highway along present right-of-way to M59 just north of Highland. Construction of the portion from Eight Mile to Telegraph Road would be undertaken first and would use up the $25 million bond issue sold two years ago for the project.

Joseph Wilbur, state highway engineer who presided, said bids on the first section probably could not be asked before 1960 and the work would require about two and a half years to complete. He said no estimate of the date for work beyond Telegraph Road could be given at this time.

Major questions raised to the over-all plan came from officials and residents of Commerce and Highland Township. Thomas G. Tiley, Commerce Township supervisor, said he recalled the $25 million bond issue was originally advertised to finance the entire route, rather than the first section as now planned. He expressed concern as to how long it will take to reach his township with the extension. "We have no objections to the present plan," he said, "but the road will not help us until it gets to us."

Officials who expressed approval of the plan included Sol O. Lomferson, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission; Donald Swanson, mayor of Southfield City; Roy Goodspeed, Ferndale city engineer; Frank Stephenson, Farmington supervisor; Don R. MacDonald, chairman of the Oakland supervisors roads and bridges committee; H. M. Thatcher, W. Bloomfield Township supervisor; and Supervisor Louis F. Oldenberg, of Highland Township.

A member of the audience questioned whether Detroit Common Council had approved the plan for the overhead route in Detroit. The chairman said formal approval of the council had not yet been received, but it was expected as the council's engineering advisory committee had approved the plan.

Some opposition had been reported earlier to the overhead plan of the road by businessmen along the route.

Yesterday's hearing was not concerned with the portion south of Oakland County, however.

Some questions were raised over the interchange just inside Oakland County, with the contention that a rerouting of streets there could eliminate one of these. The plan calls for nine interchanges (exits and entrances) on the route between Eight Mile and M 59, and 30 bridges to separate crossings of other main roads. From Eight Mile to Orchard Lake road the limited access highway will be paralleled with service roads to carry local traffic.

A half mile of the expressway will be elevated in Oakland County, and the remainder will be at ground level.

Britons Wildly Acclaim Arrival of U.S. 'Nautilus'

PORTLAND, England (UPI) — The nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus, pride of the United States Navy, glided into port in triumph today at the end of a trail-blazing undersea journey across the top of the world.

The craft crossed the breakwater into Portland Harbor at 1:20 p.m. (8:20 a.m. EST).

As it hove into view, every ship in this channel harbor screamed a welcome with sirens, horns and whistles. Thousands of persons cheered from shore.

The arrival of the ship and its 116 men who conquered the undersea secrets of the north pole overshadowed even the homecoming of Princess Margaret after a royal tour of Canada.

The Nautilus' skipper, Cmdr. William R. Anderson, 37, had returned from the United States and was flown out to the submarine by helicopter when it was seven miles from shore.

There, alongside the shambles lightship of Portland Bill, the Nautilus crew got its first cheer from lonely lightkeepers.

Ashore, Lord Selkirk, first lord of the admiralty, and a gathering of gold-braided British admirals joined U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney in a formal welcome.

Whitney brought with him the presidential unit citation for each of the Nautilus crewmen and bags of mail and telegrams of congratuaation.

Special buses brought in Britons from the countryside to join the cheering along the coal dock of Portland Naval Base, a British submarine depot.

All ships displayed flags and bunting. It was the biggest welcome Britain had given American servicemen since World War II.

Whitney presented the blue and gold presidential citation to the crew in a shipboard ceremony.

The Nautilus will be here until 8 a.m. Monday. Then it will return to the United States.

The Day in Birmingham

Commissioners Delay Paving Action 3 Weeks

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham City Commission last night voted a three-week delay before acting on establishment of a special assessment district for the paving of Brookside street alley.

The postponement was made to enable City Manager L. R. Gare and Engineer Grover Serenbetz to study suggestions made by residents of the area during a public hearing at the Commission meeting.

Cost of the project, estimated at $6,500, would be shared by 15 property owners. While none voiced strong objections, they did ask if a less expensive resurfacing could be found.

The alley is used by Ravine and Brookside street residents carries only light traffic.

In other business, the Commission reversed its decision on the parking ban on the south side of East Lincoln avenue following objections by residents there. Parking still is prohibited on the north side of the street, however, it was pointed out.

On the Graefield road paving, commissioners over-rode objections and approved the special assessment district.

Property owners will have three years to pay their $6,215 share of the $7,650 project. The city will pay the balance.

Several persons protested the assessment claiming they do not use the street and should not be asked to pay for it.

The senior high group of the Eton Park Teen Center will sponsor a dance Thursday at the center. The junior high group will hold its dance the following night. Both will be semi-formal affairs for boys and girls.

She died Sunday at her home after a long illness.

A former French teacher, Mrs. Brassard was the wife of a retired Detroit painting contractor.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. H. M. Evans and Miss Dora F., both of Birmingham, two brothers and a sister.

See Fantastic Future, but It'll Take Time

Tooth decay is only a memory.

For a vacation, you debate a rocket ride to the new hotel resort on the rim of a crater on the moon, or staying awhile at either the Hotel Satellite or Hotel Orbiter, the plush, rival space-platforms circling the earth.

The beautiful view of the stars and galaxies from there is simply breath-taking, worth the trip itself, everyone says.

This thought prompts you to look at your newspaper, delivered electronically to your home, to check the latest position of the spaceship expedition to Alpha Centauri, the nearest star to our own sun. Traveling at nearly the speed of light, it's been gone four years now, and is getting close to the star.

Will the expedition find new planets, peopled with creatures like us, there or farther out?

Mr. Harris lands in his back yard next door in his strap-on helicopter, which just brought him from the Dallas Rocket port. Three hours ago he was in Antarctica watching the Olympic winter games. He sped home by rocket plane.

You yourself watched the Olympics over worldwide TV, whose signal bounced off an earth satellite hung 22,000 miles out in space.

You'd prefer to put your feet up and watch the new hit show in London tonight on TV. But you'll probably have to take the half-hour ride over there with your wife — she's been restless about "never getting out of this house and never going any place."

DRIVE AND NAP

Housework is no challenge. An electronic brain really runs the house. You set the controls or program the night before.

Then it automatically wakes each family member with music at his desired hour; adjusts lights, temperature and air-conditioning, through day and night, even automatically signals the automatic controls to cook dinner. (incidently, these synthetic steaks are getting to taste like the real McCoy).

Superhighways are automatically regulated too. An electronic highway guide takes over control of your car and you can nap as you breeze along.

There are electronic exercising machines to help keep you physically fit. But doctors are urging you to get out into the fresh air more, for games or hiking, to use muscles under your own power.

It's far easier to plan outdoor activities. Weather predictions are almost 100 per cent accurate for storms, including tornadoes, are steered away or killed in infancy through the new science of weather control.

The whole world has abundant electric power to run industries and even farms. It comes from controlled H-fusion, and from direct tapping of the power of the sun. Your work week is 10 to 20 hours, depending on your own choice. Some like to keep busy.

Abundance is banishing tensions and you see no threat of war now. Social psychologists gave us insight into what makes people and groups tick, how to help them get along together.

Some writers call this the Golden Age of Knowledge.

Others are saying, you haven't seen anything yet.

Tomorrow, man's fate — uniformity?

Pontiac Man Held in Havana

Calls Himself Rebel, Arrested in Kidnaping of Club Manager

An ex-GI from Pontiac, Edward W. Keehn, 20, is one of two men reported to have been arrested in Havana by Cuban Police in connection with the kidnaping last week of Mario Merendi, manager of Havana's American Club.

Keehn, who formerly lived with his mother at 183 Pingree Ave., and another ex-GI, Dean L. Gleaves, of Alma, Colo., described themselves as rebel recruits.

They were driving Merendi's car when police picked them up yesterday in Camaguey. The men said they rented the car from an unidentified third party for $25 under the impression it was a taxicab.

Keehn was listed by the Pontiac Recruiting Station as having enlisted in the Army on February 5, 1957 for a period of three years.

Local recruiters said they didn't know how he could already be an ex-GI unless he had been given a medical discharge. Keehn's mother, Mrs. Edith M. Keehn, reached this morning, would make no comment on her son's activities.

Keehn and Gleaves denied they were the men who kidnaped Merendi on the steps of the American Club Wednesday and left him, bound and gagged, beside a road near Matanzas about 24 hours later. They also denied taking $400 and a watch from the club manager.

They told interrogators they were on the way to Santiago to join the rebels hiding out in the hills of eastern Cuba.

U.S. and Cuban authorities are checking the stories told by the two men, in the belief they may prove the existence of a ring which is recruiting American exsoldiers for service with the rebels.

A half dozen Americans are believed to be serving with the rebels, as instructors in mountain and jungle warfare.

Government Assigns $390,000 for Airport from the vortex help pilots "home in" at emergency landing fields.

According to MAC officials the new construction grant will not affect the $140,000 in available federal building funds which were allocated for Pontiac Municipal Airport in Lansing in June.

The state has promised to match the $140,000 with $70,000 in state funds and another $70,000 in matching funds is expected to be budgeted by the city.

Broomfield did not announce whether the new $112,000 grant would have to be matched locally and by the state in order to become available.

He said that the CAA plans to finance 23 new control towers throughout the nation in 1958-59 and Pontiac's is one of them.

Originally, Pontiac requested $200,000 in federal funds for construction of a new terminal and tower and development of the terminal area. A cutback in national funds resulted in only $140,000 being allocated.

The state legislature then trimmed its allocation, but the MAC dipped into its reserves in order to provide enough state matching money to attract the $140,000.

Through federal funds allocated early this year, the airport is also improving fencing, lighting and taxiways.

Back to School

Here Are Tips on Making First Day a Happy One

Parents, as well as children, need preparation and advice for the day when a child enters school for the first time. It is a time of apprehension and adjustment for both.

Here are some valuable tips for parents, suggested by Columbia professors Ernest G. Osborne, Roma Gans, Emma D. Sheehy, Millie C. Almy, and by Dr. Abel A. Hanson, general secretary of Teachers College and for many years a superintendant of schools:

The youngster should be prepared for his first days at school by permitting him to spend some time in the school building and in the classroom, if possible.

Parents should make sure that the youngsters have been protected against various diseases because they will be more exposed to contagion than ever before.

Parents should get to know the teacher and principal and should invite the teacher to their home socially, but they should avoid being a nuisance.

Parents might play games at home in which they pretend they are in school to familiarize the child with the school's routine. This will help children to know what to expect when they actually enter school.

In the beginning, parents should be less concerned about the "three R's" and more concerned about their child learning to live with other children.

Parents should help their children to get to know some of the children who will be in their class before they start school.

Parents should remember that most children like school and they should approach their children's entering school for the first time with enthusiasm.

Parents should join the Parent-Teacher Assn. or a school-sponsored child study group and be an active participant in the activities of these organizations.

Mothers should be aware that the time of their child's entering school may be more difficult for her than it is for the child.

Parents should never threaten a child with school by saying "You will be sorry you weren't good at home when you see how awful it is in school," or other similar warnings.

Don't expect the child to come home with a large store of knowledge, because the emphasis at first is on helping children to feel the school is friendly in many ways.

Children may come home from school fatigued and cranky and parents should be prepared for this.

Medical preparations take only a small part of the castor oil supply.

Wage Dispute Shuts Canadian Steel Plant

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Canada's largest steel plant stopped production today in a wage dispute between the Steel Co. of Canada and 7,500 workers at Stelco's Hamilton plant.

A strike voted last Wednesday by the local members of the United Steelworkers went into full effect during the night after an inconclusive six-hour meeting of company and union representatives. Another meeting was scheduled today. Union officials said they hoped it would produce a settlement.

The strikers are seeking a settlement similar to a 1956 package deal which gave them a 33-cent-an-hour increase. They contend the raise is justified by increased production, higher company prices and profits and a need for more consumer spending power to stem the recession.

The company, which usually sets the line for Canada's other steel producers, said increases would be inflationary and the steelworkers were the best paid in Canadian industry. Under the contract which expired March 31 the basic hourly pay rate was $1.73½ and the average was $2.56.

Stelco offered a two-year extension of the existing contract with some improvements in a group insurance plan.

4,900 Picnic Grounds

WASHINGTON — The United States Forest Service maintains 4,900 camp and picnic grounds in the national forests throughout the country.

Commission to OK Traffic Bureau Change

City commissioners plan tonight to vote in favor of placing control of the Traffic Violations Bureau in the hands of the Municipal Court.

It was one of the recommendations of the Public Administration Service that the violations bureau be separated from the police department, which now controls it. Commissioners have agreed informally that the move would be a good one.

They have decided to leave details of the switch up to City Manager Walter K. Willman and administrative and judicial officials. The final plans, however, will be subject to commission approval.

Although details of the move have not yet been decided upon, commissioners plan to go on record as favoring the move tonight.

Also up for consideration will be a plan to fence in portions of Terry Lake for the protection of small children. A treacherous dropoff claimed the life of one small tot this year.

Commissioners are also considering erection of railings along the Dawson Mill Pond dam in Beaudette Park as a safety measure.

Two reports on neighborhood rezoning are expected from the Planning Commission, and two petitions for rezoning are scheduled.

Ready for acceptance are estimated costs for constructing a small sanitary sewer on the north side of Montcalm street at Lakeside street. The assessed cost is estimated at $215; city cost, $1,522; and cost for a 20-foot lot, $60.

Tot Promoting Greek as New Texas Language

DALLAS (AP) — Nicky, a 2-year-old Greek orphan, arrived from Athens a couple of weeks ago to become the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Taylor.

His new parents sent Nicky to spend part of each day at a nursery for toddlers, figuring he gradually would learn to speak a few words of English.

It hasn't worked out that way. Mrs. Lulah Stevens, who runs the nursery, says the other children are learning Greek.

Actress Ann Miller to Wed Texas Oilman

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Ann Miller says that she and Texas oilman Bill Moss plan to be married soon.

She said Moss will continue to live in Dallas and she will commute from there to Hollywood to continue her film career.

She was divorced in 1947 from her first husband, Reese Llewellyn Milner, heir to an iron foundry fortune. Moss' first wife was actress Jane Withers.

When Aggression Is Indirect

In a cold war, perhaps the best way to stop your antagonist's indirect aggression against you is to become equally good at aggressing indirectly against him.

The atomic submarine Nautilus, having charted a new "Northwest Passage" under the North Pole has put the United States in it's strongest position in recent years. It shows that this is no time to sell America short.

This recent exploit is America's answer to the Sputnik. This points the way for the use of this new route by nuclear cargo submarines between the major oceans of the world.

Apparently the Russians have only one creed, power and military strength. We are now in a much stronger position and the Russians should know this.

Our stand at the Special U.N. General Assembly meeting on the Middle East should be firm. We know that the Soviet Union will label America as an aggressor. It must be brought out plainly that our troops in the Middle East are not an indication of aggression.

Not only were we invited to come in, but our forces have engaged in no combat, have taken no territory, and overthrown no government.

Our positiveness in stopping aggression must be made clear. We responded to CAMILLE CHAMOU'S call not because of internal revolt, but because infiltrating outside forces under control of President NASSER of the United Arab Republic.

This, and the subtle Russian efforts such as they used in softening up Czechoslovakia in 1945-47 by various kinds of penetration that paved the way for the Communist coup in February 1948 must be resisted.

We cannot easily persuade the world of our good intentions in the Middle East if we stop without pointing out the perils of intervention by others. To be persuasive, our case on this point must be strong.

Direct aggression must be stopped.

Every shred of evidence we or anybody else has must be mustered before the United Nations. We cannot hope to sell the world, and especially the many small nations, on the dangers of indirect aggression if we do not make our stand clear.

The Nautilus should serve notice that we are prepared for any eventuality.

"A MAN who has marital troubles can't play a good game of golf," says a psychologist. Maybe so, but no one has heard a man explain a high score by saying, "My wife nagged me into the nineties."

Jordan's Position Shaky

The relentless sands of time are running out on the fate of 23-year-old King HUSSEIN and his country.

Stirred up by Cairo broadcasts which call for assassination of the pro-West, strongly anti-Communist monarch, HUSSEIN is supported only by the Bedouin Tribesmen in his army and protected by British troops in Jordan. It is ironical that pressured into ordering the British to leave in 1956, HUSSEIN has had to ask for their protection against NASSER et al.

The whipped up outcry charges that Jordan is plotting with Israel against the Arab world. One-third of the two million people in Jordan are embittered Palestine Arab refugees and are easily aroused by such talk.

As an independent country, Jordan is doomed. While it had the support of Saudi Arabia and Iraq, there was some hope for survival of this 35-year-old kingdom, part of the Ottoman Empire. But it is an isolated and poor country with no resources and no support. To the north is Syria, part of NASSER'S United Arab Republic, on the east and south lie Iran and the desert sands of Saudi Arabia. Israel is its western boundary.

Main source of Jordan's income was the $38 million subsidy provided by Britain. When that country withdrew, Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia promised to make up the sum. That hasn't been done.

Should Jordan's regime fall, Israel in self defense would feel impelled to take that part of Palestine which Jordan annexed after the 1948-49 war. Fear of Israel's efficient army may for a time restrain Hussein's enemies.

The Man About Town

Parks Are Safe

State Law Has Protective Clause Covering Them All

Racket: What many people have—and they're not all tennis players.

With the most state parks of any of Michigan's 83 counties, Oakland County need have no fear of their value being lessened by the sale of any part of any of them. There is a state law that no portion of any park can be sold, unless it is to make it more beneficial to the public.

Some local fear has been engendered by the proposition to sell 93 acres of the 58,000-acre Porcupine Mountains park in the Northern Peninsula to a copper mining corporation. This is the largest state park in our nation, and Michigan's most wonderful natural sanctuary.

Former Pontiac resident,

Gerald Warrener,

who has lived at Ontonagon on the edge of this park for the past 32 years, tells me that the project will not injure the park one little bit. The mining would be done under the adjacent waters of Lake Superior or along its rocky shore which has no value to the park, which stands to gain by the use of the proceeds for its further development.

The principal objection to the grant by conservation lovers is that it might establish a precedent that would work injury to other parks, but such a condition is evidently prohibited by law.

That snakes are cannibals was discovered by

of Silver Lake, who killed a 30-inch garter snake in the act of swallowing another about 10 inches long, going down head first.

If the lakes in the Pontiac area are below their usual level, they are only following the pattern set by the Great Lakes. I have it from

Norman Billings,

Chief of the Water Resources Commission, that both Lakes Michigan and Huron had the smallest spring rise this year in the 98 years that records have been kept.

The Stowaway

David Lawrence Says:

Iraq Recognized for Convenience

WASHINGTON — Did the United States, by according diplomatic recognition to the new government in Iraq, give its approval to the murder of the King and the installation of a successor regime by military force?

Nikita Khrushchev thinks it did. But the Department of State emphatically disagrees.

LAWRENCE

Khrushchev deliberately misconstrued America's action in recognizing the new government in Iraq. He wrote in his last letter to President Eisenhower:

"Now the United States and other Western powers have recognized the republican government of Iraq. Consequently, you and your allies have admitted that the Iraqi people had the right to change the existing regime. Thus, your assertions about some kind of an indirect aggression have no foundation."

ACTION OF PEOPLE

But the United States has never said that the people of any country do not have the right to change their own government by revolution. What it has said repeatedly — and what Khrushchev conveniently ignores — is that it must be the action of the people in setting up a government and not some foreign government furnishing men, arms and ammunition for the purpose of aiding a faction whose leaders have been hired for the purpose by that same foreign government.

The United States has taken note of the record of the monitored broadcasts of the radio stations in Baghdad controlled by the new Iraqi government and has compared it with what was being said by the same station under the preceding regime.

It reveals that the incoming government on several occasions has been far more interested in expressing hostility toward the West than in expounding domestic issues. Moscow, by its immediate extension of recognition the very same week the Iraq revolution occurred, showed that it did not have to wait to find out if it had an ally. The Soviet government knew, because its agents were in on the deal from the beginning.

MATTER OF CONVENIENCE

The State Department nevertheless decided to resume diplomatic representation in Baghdad as a matter of convenience in gathering information first-hand and to afford the new regime a chance to prove by its deeds and its broadcasts that it is not antagonistic to the West. Also, America asked for and obtained assurances that international obligations would be honored.

Recognition can, of course, be withdrawn at any moment that American lives and property should be jeopardized in Iraq. For the uniform action of the Western allies in extending recognition to the Baghdad regime was simply a decision based on the exigencies of the moment.

It implies neither approval nor disapproval of the existing government. It's a policy of "wait and see." If, in time, the Iraq government proves to be a tool of Moscow and a disturber of the peace in the Middle East, the people of Iraq may be appealing for Western military assistance in their struggle against domination by Cairo and Moscow. In that event, the whole "recognition" picture would change overnight.

The case of Iraq differs from that of Red China. In the latter instance, serious international aspects are involved — virtually a state of war in the Far East. There is an armistice in Korea which has been repeatedly violated by the Peiping government in moving additional planes into North Korea. American military forces are still stationed in Korea to carry out a United Nations directive. A U.N. resolution has denounced Red China's government as an "aggressor."

If a principle of moral force is swept aside — as would be the case if Red China were given American recognition — aggression would be rewarded, instead of being punished, and the cause of world peace would suffer a setback.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Keep Temperature at 68 and Avoid Over-Dry Air

From Massachusetts comes this letter, dated June 23, '58. I have received scores of similar complaints in the past year or two.

"Since he's moved into an air-conditioned office building a year ago, my husband's head is continually stuffed up and it is so difficult for him to breathe that he has to use a nasal spray several times a day.

DR. BRADY

"Worse, he can't sleep — wakes before dawn because of the discomfort of not being able to breathe. Isn't there something that will relieve such a condition?"

In the first place, the man's trouble may be unrelated to air conditioning. The attempt to control temperature, humidity and motion of the indoor atmosphere favorably affects the comfort, health and efficiency of every occupant of the house or building if it is properly designed and managed—otherwise, unfavorably.

At the same time there is a disposition on the part of people accustomed to living most of the time in over-heated, dried out, stagnant air to find fault with well conditioned atmosphere and regard it as responsible for many acute and chronic respiratory diseases.

I would advise the lady to take her husband by the hand and lead him firmly but gently to the office of a physician for a proper examination. Has he a collapsed lung? Chronic sinusitis? Nasal polypus? Emphysema? It is childish to continue monkeying with sprays and nostrums instead of consulting a physician.

BEST BUILT-IN

Air conditioning for homes, offices or stores should be built in when the building is erected. Installing air-conditioning systems is much more expensive.

Whatever faults the method of air conditioning in the building where the correspondent's husband works may have, I believe the use of a thermostat to regulate the temperature of his room or house at 68 or lower at night, and evaporating tanks on the radiators, to evaporate at least two gallons of water in each room each 24 hours when the place is artificially heated, would counteract the unpleasant effects of the faulty air conditioning in the office building.

Incidentally, the best way to condition the air of a bedroom, living room, office or other small space is to keep the temperature from going above 68 and keep one or more windows wide open and fitted with screen or screens of unbleached muslin.

Air conditioning in any circumstance should be automatic, not autocratic.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Lack of Library Facilities Discouraging to Readers

The primary function of a fire station is to house firemen and engines, correct? It seems to me our downtown fire house, as old fashioned as it is, fulfills this need.

The primary function of a library is to dispense books and information. Any library patron can testify to the inadequacies of our present library. Newcomers to our town have been appalled by the lack of library facilities in a town of our size. There is no place to put the few new books in our library, and there is no place to park.

Our library, despite its inadequacies, is a wonderful place to visit and our family is delighted to know they'll be moving to new headquarters.

However, I do hope they won't hide all the books back of the desk like they do in many new libraries. There are many readers who just like to browse!

Family Grateful for Protection

In the nine years that we have lived on Pontiac Trail in Orchard Lake, we have seen more than a dozen horrible accidents that resulted in maiming or death in front of our home. We have lost count of the minor accidents, but they all were attributable to one thing—excessive speed!

Two of our small daughters were critically injured in an automobile accident and will be scarred the rest of their lives. Thus, we have intimate knowledge of the pain and heartbreak of an accident — not to mention the medical expense.

There are places on Pontiac Trail and Commerce road where 35 miles an hour is too much speed when the pavement is wet.

The driver who is obeying the law does not have to fear a speed trap.

We are fortunate to have an outstanding police department. They are prompt, efficient, courteous and kind. Our family is grateful to them for their protection of our lives and property.

Two-Barreled Protection Against A-Death Studied

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — The possibility of a double-barreled protection against death from atomic bomb radiation was reported today.

The promising preventive — described as having achieved dramatic results in protecting mice from radiation death — consists of combining the wonder drug streptomycin with bone marrow cells both given by injection.

Researchers Howard H. Vogel Jr. and Donn L. Jordan of the Atomic Energy Commissioner's Argonne National Laboratory told about it in a report to the first International Congress on Radiation Research. The congress, attended by some 700 scientists from both sides of the Iron Curtain, is being held on the campus of the University of Vermont.

Explaining that symptoms of acute radiation sickness in mammals result primarily from injury to the gastro-intestinal and to the blood-forming system, the scientists said the dual treatment appears to work this way:

The streptomycin controls generalized bacterial infections during the period of intestinal damage and thus prevents the early death usually seen in mice after exposure to heavy doses of atomic neutrons.

Then, by the 10th day after exposure, when streptomycin alone no longer offers protection, the bone marrow takes over, stimulating the blood-producing system.

The researchers said that when each of the materials was used individually, only limited protection was achieved.

However, when the two were combined there was "a dramatic protection from death."

"Fewer than 15 per cent of the neutron-irradiated mice receiving this dual treatment died within the acute 30-day period," they said, "whereas the radiation dose caused death to from 90 to 100 per cent of the untreated control mice."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Reveals Big Flaw in Kinsey Report

Mabel's case brings out one of the most serious flaws in the Kinsey report on women. For every experienced doctor realizes that a patient's opinion is not necessarily a fact. Later evidence may cause such a patient to reverse his earlier opinion.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Y - 386: Mabel J., aged 27, has been married for 7 years.

"Dr. Crane, my husband is a very successful chemist," she began, "and we have been very happy.

DR. CRANE

"We have two little boys, the oldest of whom has been in kindergarten this past year.

"I've been active in the PTA and Sunday school and thought our home life was perfect till a month ago.

"One morning about 10:15 a.m. my husband drove up to our house and rushed in crying, 'Where is he? Where is he?'

"I thought he was indulging in some kind of joke, though he ran into the bedroom, jerked upon the closet door, peered under the bed and then ran back to his car and drove away.

"The next day, about 3:45 in the afternoon, he suddenly stopped out in front and again ran through the house, exclaiming 'Where is he?'

"Well, this has gone on for about a month. Dr. Crane, I wonder if my husband is losing his mind? Should I insist that he consult a psychiatrist?"

Mabel's husband simply holds a false notion about the sexual ardor of women.

He has absorbed an erroneous idea that wives are just as erotic as husbands. That is NOT true, despite some of the weird claims of women surveyed for the Kinsey report.

Many women will protest that they are as ardent as the average male, which is the chief error in the Kinsey data.

For their OPINIONS are not facts and should not be cited as such.

To show specifically what I mean consider the different gastric appetite of the average wife versus her husband.

She may be quite satisfied with 2,500 calories of food, though her husband may demand 3,500 or even more.

Would you say such a wife has just as great a gastric hunger as her husband? Certainly not!

But notice what would happen if such a wife were started on a 7-course dinner and after consuming the appetizer, plus the soup, she was then stopped from complete indulgence in the meal.

At the end of the day her total caloric intake might be only 750 calories.

If she were then interviewed by a Kinsey reporter, she would doubtless claim, and in all honesty, that she had a greater gastric hunger than her husband.

She might even swear that she was higher geared in the gastric realm than the average male.

But that would be only her OPINION and actually a falsehood. Her hunger is still only 2,500 calories compared to the male's 3,500.

But her gastric starvation simply makes her THINK she is possessed of a greater gastric desire than her mate.

See that she is completely satisfied at the table three times a day and she'll definitely show she is NOT as hungry for food as is the male.

Well, by the same token, women's erotic hunger is decidedly less than that of the male.

But if she is likewise frustrated and unsatisfied, she can still misconstrue her erotic hunger as being as great as that of her husband's.

It isn't. And every woman who sends for the booklet below can soon prove that women, when properly satisfied, do NOT have the erotic desire of their mates.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Contrary to complaint of many sports fans that the baseball season starts too early and lasts too long, the Major Leagues have announced that the 1959 schedule will start earlier and finish later.

The National League will open April 9th and the American League will start April 10th and run the season through 171 days next year.

Most likely this will mean an earlier training camp and exhibition season and after the regular campaign ends September 27, 1959 the poor sports fan will have the delirious task of flicking his television sets between the World Series and the football "game-of-the-week" in mid-October.

It would seem that the Majors would realize that stuffing too much baseball down the throats of the average sports fan is like eating beans for three meals a day for thirty days.

By September, as evidenced by an Associated Press poll, except in cities where a team is still in pennant contention, baseball is pushed out of the sports pages by football across the country.

And actually, only the World Series saves baseball as far as headline attention goes. It's hardly worth the cost of the baseballs to open the gates for five or six hundred fans, which is often the crowd noted at the end of box scores late in the season.

DOUBLEHEADERS ARE MARATHONS

Even the length of the games themselves aren't helping the situation by such marathons as Sunday at Briggs Stadium when the Tigers and the White Sox started at 1:30 and finished seven hours and eight minutes later at 8.38 p.m.

A crowd of 21,000 watched the first pitch and just about 10,000 were left when the winning run scored in the bottom of the 12th.

For the out-of-town fan this would mean starting out for Briggs Stadium about 11:00 a.m. and getting home about 10:00 p.m.

Sitting for the most part of 11 hours makes the fan thankful for one thing—the 7th inning stretch to get the blood circulating again.

Today, spectator sports have to concede the great boom in participation sports. More people are playing golf and tennis, the beaches are crowded, there are more boaters, water skiers, skin divers plus a dozen and more other summer activities.

When baseball decides to plan its schedule to allow the sports fan time to once again become spectator and participant, giving him time to get home and play nine holes, it will regain some of its diminishing returns.

Since the Lions will have to share Briggs Stadium with the Tigers a little longer next year, how about a different type doubleheader?

Let the Tigers play the Indians in the first attraction, and after a half-hour break to re-line the field, we'll watch the Lions and the Browns.

Silly? Who says so!

Victory Over Braves Has Pirate Fans Talking to Themselves

'Fever?'—Pittsburgh Has Got It

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Goodness gracious."

That was the Pirate fan talking to himself as he left Forbes Field last night.

That's frequently a sign of a baseball ailment called pennant fever. The onset is apt to be particularly violent in places where it hasn't been seen for a long time, like in Pittsburgh.

The Pirates had just stopped a 9th inning rally to defeat the Milwaukee Braves 6-4 and whittle the National League lead down to six games.

Pittsburgh and San Francisco are tied for second now and Pirate fans are dazzled.

However, manager Danny Murtaugh doesn't have the fever, at least not yet. He may get a touch of it after tonight should the Pirates repeat over the Braves.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia split a pair in the only other NL games scheduled. The Redlegs won the completion of a June 1 suspended game 12-11 in 13 innings. The Phils won the regulation game 5-4 in 10 innings.

"We're not talking pennant," Murtaugh said in the clubhouse. "We'll take our games day by day. Milwaukee has a terrific ball club."

A season record crowd of 38,938, second largest for a night game in the history of Forbes Field, roared, cheered and sweated it out with the Pirates.

They let out a big yell as Joe Adcock's fly ended the ninth-inning Braves' rally at three runs.

One of the fans, Joe L. Brown, the club's general manager, went to the dressing room to congratulate winning pitcher Bob Friend and others. He had to wait. Bob's teammates had the same idea.

"Gee, I felt good tonight," Friend said. My fast ball was going good. I felt strong."

Friend, who had a 4-hit shutout going to the eighth inning, earned his 15th victory of the season. He has lost 12.

The loser, Warren Spahn, only other National League pitcher who has 15 triumphs, wasn't as talkative as Friend. He sat glumly at his locker, as did the rest of the Braves, studying his eighth defeat.

Manager Fred Haney dressed quickly. He wanted to get away from the gloomy atmosphere. He talked as he fixed his tie.

"We couldn't get enough runs. Friend pitched quite a ball game."

The red-hot Pirates, winners in 16 of their last 21 games, close out the two-game series with the Braves tonight and then go on the road for a swing through the West.

Pirate officials are looking for an even bigger crowd tonight. The whole town seems steamed up with the idea the Bucs have a chance. This is the vital series.

A throwing error by losing reliever Dick Farrell enabled Frank Robinson to scoot home from first with the tie-breaking run for the Reds in the opener. The game was tied 11-all with Cincinnati at bat in the ninth when the Sunday curfew fell in June. Joe Nuxhall won it in relief.

A walk, fielder's choice and Willie Jones' single gave the nightcap to the Phils after Ed Bailey's two-run homer had tied it 4-all in the ninth for the Reds. Willard Schmidt lost it in relief while Don Cardwell (2-0) went all the way for his second victory over the Reds.

NO HELP WANTED — Gail Harris and Charley Lau (12) run into each other as they attempt to catch a pop foul off the bat of Roger Maris of Kansas City in their game at Briggs Stadium yesterday. No help was needed from the fans, but Harris dropped the ball after getting bumped by Lau. The Tigers won the game, 3-2.

48,309 See Colts' Intra-Squad Game

BALTIMORE (AP)—A crowd of 48,309 football fans turned out Monday night to watch the annual Baltimore Colts' intra-squad game won in the closing minutes on a 9-yard touchdown run by Jack Call.

Call scored with 3 minutes and 19 seconds to play to give the Whites a 10-7 victory over the Blues in a battle featuring good defensive play by both teams.

Burton Wins Qualifying

Bada Ready to Defend City Golf Championship

It looks like Paul Bada is ready to make a stout defense of his City Medal Play Golf Championship this weekend at Pontiac Municipal course.

While 54 other local golfers were trying to qualify last Saturday over Municipal's tricky layout, Bada, exempt from qualifying, was breezing around the 5,689-yard layout just for practice.

All the sharp-shooting redhead did was fire a sizzling three-under-par 66, three strokes better than the leading qualifiers, to let his challengers know that he's set and waiting for them.

A. K. Burton captured medalist honors in a sudden-death playoff with Bob Gaines after the two players finished their regulation 18-hole rounds with par 69s.

Burton ended the playoff on the north side's 292-yard 1st hole with a par four as Gaines slipped to a bogey five. Burton's scorecard read 34-35, the same as par, while Gaines shot 36-33.

Twenty-two others also made the grade in Saturday's trials with Butler Cooper and Bob Anderson deadlocking for 3rd place at 70.

The 24 qualifiers will join past champions and other exempt shotmakers this Saturday and Sunday for the city's annual 36-hole title chase.

Bada won the City crown for the 2nd time a year ago at Municipal, beating Publinx champ Mike Andonian and MSU golfer Jack Reynolds in a playoff.

Bunning Breaks 'No-Hit Jinx'

SPORTS

Tiger Pitcher Wins 1st Game Since July 20

Jim Gets Help in 9th From Aguirre to Gain 3-2 Decision

DETROIT (UPI)—It took better than three weeks but slim Jim Bunning finally won his first game since throwing the Major Leagues' only no-hitter of the season, beating Kansas City 3-2.

A "jinx" has surrounded tossing a no-hit game and Bunning surely was counted as one of the victims. He almost didn't make it again due to Frank House's home run.

Home run pitches were a source of irritation for the lanky right hander last year when he set a club record for gopher balls while winning 20 games. He's thrown 20 this season or one every 7.1 innings.

Prior to his July 20 no-hitter against the Boston Red Sox, Bunning held a 2-0 lead over New York and lost 3-2 on Jerry Lumpe's three-run homer.

Then, in his first start after the no-hitter, he held a 5-0 lead over the Yanks until homers by Marv Throneberry and Yogi Berra wiped out the margin and New York went on to win.

Facing the Red Sox in his next start, Detroit gave Bunning a 4-0 lead. Ted Williams erased it with a grand slammer. Against Baltimore he led 5-0 until Willy Miranda belted a solo homer — his first in two seasons—and Gus Triandos walloped a grand slam.

Bunning tried again last week against Cleveland and was losing 1-0 when rain forced postponement of the game.

Bunning was cruising behind a 3-0 lead yesterday, had struck out eight, walked only two and yielded only four singles going into the ninth.

He got dangerous slugger Bob Cerv on a fly. But Hector Lopez doubled off the left field wall. Bunning retired Hal Smith on a long fly and then came ex-Tiger Frank House.

House rifled a shot into the right field stands and Bunning stalked the mound in disgust. He lost his poise, as he has after every homer, and walked pinch hitter Whitey Herzog. Bill Norman motioned in Hank Aguirre who got pinch hitter Harry Chiti on a fly to Al Kaline to preserve the victory.

Bunning himself drove in what proved to be the winning run when the Tigers did all their scoring off Bob Grim with two down in the fourth.

2nd Place in AL Deadlocked

Chisox, Bosox Tied

By The Associated Press

Now that the big guns of his Chicago White Sox pitching staff have begn to fire, Al Lopez may yet extend his amazing record of never finishing worse than second as a manager.

Lopez hasn't much else to shoot for in his 11th year as a skipper. His usual hopes of swiping the American League pennant from the New York Yankees were junked long ago, when aces Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan and a trade-bolstered staff misfired.

Nice guy Al was last two months ago, seven games shy of second, 14 back of the leading Yankees. Pierce, a 20-game winner in 1956 and 1957, was 4-5. Donovan was 2-7.

Now the White Sox have squeezed into a second place tie with Boston — with Donovan winning six in a row and Pierce winning eight of 11 in that climb from the cellar.

Pierce pulled the White Sox even with Boston last night, winning 3-1 at Cleveland while the Red Sox lost 6-3 at Washington. It left the White Sox 15 games behind New York, however, despite Baltimore's 3-2 and 9-3 sweep over the Yankees in a day-night doubleheader.

Pierce (12-8) gave up seven hits, walked but one and struck out seven. He had a two-hit shutout until the seventh, when ex-teammate Minnie Minoso slammed his 16th home run. Minoso, who also doubled, was the only injun with an extra-base hit off the little southpaw, who now has beaten every club in league in his turnabout.

The Orioles scored five runs in the nightcap first, three unearned, off loser Johnny Kucks (7-5) and rolled as ex-Yankee Gene Woodling went 5-for-5 and drove in three runs, one with a homer. Johnson (4-7) struck out five and retired 10 of the last 11 he faced in his first complete game since June 6. He blanked the Yanks after Mickey Mantle's two-run, fifth-inning homer.

It was the Mick's 32nd, keeping Pace with Boston's Jack Jensen and Washington's Roy Sievers for the AL lead. Jensen and Sievers matched two-run shots in the fourth inning, but Sievers added a winning RBI single in the fifth off loser Bill Monbouquette. Jim Lemon hit his 24th homer for the Senators. Reliever Vito Valentinetti won his first start of the season, with the mop up help of Dick Hyde.

Homers Play Part in Avon Loop Play

Home runs by Macurek and Linkler led Nike to an 18-4 victory over Parkdale Nazarene in the Avondale Church League yesterday. Joe McGuinnis hit one for Parkdale.

In other games, Elmwood Methodist defeated Lake Orion RLDS, 4-2 with Gary Acker hitting a two run homer for the winners.

United Presbyterian blasted Pontiac RLDS, 15-6 and Avondale Baptist took a 7-0 forfeit from Stone Baptist.

Feaster Wins on TKO

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jimmy Feaster of Las Vegas scored a technical knockout over Kid Centella of New Orleans in the eighth round of their scheduled 10-rounder last night. Each weighed 137½.

Darkness Halts Little Leaguers; Try Again Today

Birmingham, Michigan's top team, and the Elyria nine, Ohio champion, battled to a 5-5 tie last night in the Little League regional baseball tourney at Ypsilanti, then had to quit because of darkness. They were scheduled to resume action today.

Birmingham took an early lead, Monday, with a first-inning tally. Then the Ohioans squared the count in the third, moved ahead 3-1 on a two-run fourth frame, and added a run in the top of the fifth. The Michigan boys tied it up with two runs in the fifth and one in the sixth. Both scored in the eighth for the 5-5 knot.

Tom Angell's two homers, good for three runs, marked Birmingham's hitting.

Record 264 Wins at Milwaukee

Cary Ends Golf Drought

By the Associated Press

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Cary Middlecoff was at a loss today to explain his mastery of the back nine at the Tripoli Golf Club, a mastery that earned him the $5,300 first prize in the $35,000, 72-hole Milwaukee Open Golf tournament.

The 37-year-old ex-dentist from Memphis, Tenn., who now plays out of Hollywood, Fla., posted a tournament record 16-under-par 264 yesterday.

He shot a 35-32—67 in the final round on Tripoli's par 35-35—70 layout to eclipse by one stroke the tournament standard he shared with Ed Furgol. Middlecoff won the first Milwaukee Open in 1955 while Furgol won the following year, both with 265s.

Middlecoff, in ending a personal 26-month major tournament victory drought, played Tripoli's back nine as though he owned it. He finished 17-under-par there, in marked contrast to the front nine where he was one-over.

"I can't explain it," he said, "except to say I am not a very good starter, usually. They tell me 15 of the 18 birdies I shot during the tourney were on the back nine."

Second place and $3,400 went to Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., who scored 266.

Rosburg, a 31-year-old pro who uses a baseball grip, has pocketed more than $23,000 in official and unofficial prize money in the last 3½ months without winning a tournament.

Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., who was one stroke behind Middlecoff on the 66th-hole only to fade and be passed by Rosburg, was third with a 267. He won $2,200.

Middlecoff's victory — his first major triumph since 1956 when he won the U.S. Open — rocketed his official earnings in 11 years as a pro to more than $250,000. It also put him in ninth place in the race for a position on the U.S. Ryder Cup team, which is scheduled to play the British team next October.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "I'm Fine With One Club, Lousy With Another!"

DIAGNOIS: The Swing's the Thing.

TREATMENT: Even in these days of matched sets, you still hear golfers say there are one or two clubs in their bag that they "just can't do anything with." For instance, a player will beam with confidence when he takes out the five-iron; but if his shot calls for a three-iron, he he takes on a frustrated look.

This has to be a mental problem. Maybe once in 1,000 sets, one of the clubs will be out of balance with the rest. No more than that. So if you think you have that 1,000th set, get your pro to put your clubs on his scale and check their balance.

I'm pretty sure you'll find it's you and not the club. So then go out and practice with the club you've been avoiding. Get it in your head that if you had been swinging it with the same confident swing you used for your favorite club, the results would have been the same.

Would Continue Rose Bowl Pact

Big Ten Interested in a New Agreement

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Harold B. Tukey, Michigan State University faculty representative, today indicated the Big Ten is interested in continuing its Rose Bowl pact with the West Coast.

The Pacific Coast Conference over the weekend voted its own dissolution and announced it would terminate its Rose Bowl agreement with the Big Ten after the Jan. 1, 1960 game.

"My guess is that there might be some folks out on the West Coast who will come up with some kind of working agreement to take the place of the Rose Bowl pact," Tukey said. "Some of the minds out there are very interested in the Rose Bowl and it certainly won't die out."

Tukey, who said he was not surprised by the PCC decision to disband and cancel the Rose Bowl agreement, said any proposal made by interested West Coast parties "would be taken under advisement by the Big Ten."

Whatever proposal is made, Tukey warned, the Big Ten would take its time deciding what to do about it.

"Some Big Ten schools are in favor of post season games and some aren't," he said. "When and if something is presented, the Big Ten will consider it — but it will be very slow, very deliberate and carefully worked out. I don't think it will be automatic that the Big Ten will accept any proposal presented to it."

The Big Ten has won 11 and lost one game against PCC teams since the Rose Bowl pact went into effect in 1947. The majority Big Ten schools have repeatedly voted to continue their participation in the post-season classic since the pact was first approved.

Muncey Plans to Race Again

'I Just Have to,' Says Pilot of Wrecked Gold Cup Boat

SEATTLE (AP) — Bill Muncey, who has been in the cockpit of two disintegrating giant speedboats in less than a year, said Monday, "I'll race again — and win that Gold Cup three straight times."

"I just have to," the nervy young driver added from his hospital bed. Attendants said he would be released later in the day.

Muncey, who escaped with only bruises and minor cuts on a leg and toe, was gunning for an unprecedented third straight victory in Sunday's 51st running of the Gold Cup race.

Disaster overtook him during the second heat when his defending champion Miss Thriftway lost a rudder in a first turn jamup and rammed a 40-foot Coast Guard picket boat. Both sank. Five Coast Guard men also were hurt, none seriously.

Muncey had a narrow brush with death last autumn when the original Miss Thriftway flipped on the Ohio River during a race at Madison, Ind., and was wrecked. He was hospitalized for a fortnight.

Flesher Shuts Out Drug 9 at Drayton

Arlo Flesher ended the Waterford Softball League's regular season schedule on a high note last night by pitching a three-hit shutout as Nonne's Drive-In scored a 1-0 American loop victory over Drayton Drug.

Flesher had to work eight innings to do it, however, and he often hurled his way out of trouble. Dominic Tenuta's single in the bottom of the 8th stanza tallied Steve Ryeson from 2nd base with the winning run.

In Monday's other American division finale, league champion Sno-Bol defeated Lakeland Pharmacy, 5-1, behind the steady eight-hit pitching of Doug Hall. Four runs in the 4th clinched the verdict with Hall and Merlin Jones each driving home a pair.

Close Softball Games Played

A pair of closely fought exhibition softball games were played among city league teams yesterday with Birmingham nipping Elks 2-1 and Lakeside Royals topping, CIO 3-1.

The Elks got only three hits, two by Grant, while Birmingham managed only four hits. The winning run came in the bottom of the 7th on three walks and a single by Myman.

CIO outhit Lakeside six hits to four but the Royals bunched three of them in the 4th inning for two runs. Simmons got two hits and scored twice for the Royals.

Middies' Grid Outlook Bright for '58 Season

BOSTON (AP) — Navy Athletic Director Slade Cutter predicted Monday the Middies will finish the 1958 football season with as good a team as last year's Lambert Trophy winners.

"We've lost seven starters from the 1957 team and we're going to feel it early in the season," Cutter told writers at a luncheon. "But by the end of the season we should have as good a team as last year."

The 1957 team posted a 9-1-1 record, including a victory over Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Rote Probable Choice at QB for Lions

Detroit Squad in Good Shape for Collegians

Showing in '57 Title Chase May Gain Tobin Starting Assignment

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

If it's true that one good turn deserves another, then Tobin Rote will probably get the honor of starting at quarterback for the Detroit Lions against the College All-Stars Friday night.

Coach George Wilson, however, says he may not make his final decision as to whether Rote or Bobby Layne will start until gametime.

Rote was hero of the late season surge in guiding the Lions to the World Championship last year after Layne was put out of action with an ankle injury.

The big Texan from Rice came to Detroit in the trade which sent Don McIlhenny Ollie Spencer and Jim Salsbury to the Green Bay Packers last year.

When Layne was hurt early in December, the responsibility of keeping the Lions in the title chase fell on Rote's shoulders and he proved he could handle the task in spectacular fashion.

He guided the team through the big playoff game at San Francisco by hitting for four touchdowns with 12 of 19 passes and then climaxed the season by guiding the Lions to a 59-14 route of the Browns in the championship.

Once a member of the College All-Star team, Rote thus may have earned the honor of getting his first pro assignment against the collegians.

Meanwhile the Lions have slacked down on heavy work and are devoting more time to classroom sessions.

All hands will be in top physical condition for the game including Gene Cronin and Harley Sewell who have been ill for the past week.

"We'll go into the game in good shape," said Wilson, "and I hope we come out of it without injuries."

The Lions leave for Chicago early Thursday and will hold a workout under the lights that night.

Graham Plans Wide Open Attack

No 'Muscling' for All-Stars

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, fully aware they cannot "outmuscle" the Detroit Lions, are expected to employ a wide open game when the two teams clash in Soldier Field Friday night.

"You can't run through these guys," says All-Star head coach Otto Graham. And Graham should know. For years he passed the Cleveland Browns to numbers of professional championships.

"We'll play a wide open game and try to win that way, added Graham. "You can't outmuscle your competition in pro football."

The All-Stars will be at least two-touchdown underdogs for this 25th annual midsummer classic which will be broadcast and telecast nationally by ABC beginning at 8:30 p.m.

It's not often the All-Stars measure the pros but every now and then a team comes up which refuses to lose. The All-Stars have won seven and lost 15. Two games ended in ties.

"Desire is the important thing," says Graham who is satisfied with his team's general attitude.

"They've worked hard and haven't grumbled."

The 1958 edition of the All-Stars has size, speed and a taste of what to expect. Last week, Graham and his assistants took their squad to the Chicago Bear training camp for a scrimmage. The Bears won 24-7 but the Stars made a good showing in the second half.

The All-Stars have a rugged line which averages 234 pounds from tackle to tackle including such stalwarts as center Dan Currie of Michigan State, tackle Lou Michaels of Kentucky, linebacker Chuck Howley of West Virginia, center Neil Habig of Purdue and tackle Alex Karras of Iowa.

All Star backs also have size in addition to speed. The illustrious list includes Jim Pace of Michigan, Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State, Larry Krutko of West Virginia, Billy Atkins of Auburn, Bobby Mitchell and Ray Nitschke of Illinois, Clendon Thomas of Oklahoma, Bobby Joe Conrad of Texas A&M, Michael Sommeer of George Washington and so on.

At the all-important key position of quarterback, Graham has Ray Brown of Mississippi, King Hill of Rice, Tom Forrestal of Navy and Jim Ninowski of Michigan State.

Their receivers include Rod Hanson of Illinois, Ben Preston of Auburn, Ed Cooke of Maryland, Tom Schulte of East Kentucky State, Fred Dugan of Dayton, Bob Jewett of Michigan State, Jim Gibbons of Iowa and James Phillips of Auburn.

The last time the All-Stars won was in 1955 when Notre Dame's Ralph Guglielmi enginered a 30-27 triumph over Cleveland. If either Brown, Hill, Forrestal or Ninowski can match the work of Guglielmi, the Lions might get surprised.

Hills Golfer Winner of District Honors in Tourney at Western

Buddy used up 33 holes to chalk up his double win. He was one over par for the route.

Pete defeated Chuck Newton of Barton Hills, 5-4 in the semifinals.

'Telling Off' Umps Costly for Cooper

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Walker Cooper, the former St. Louis Cardinal catcher who now manages the Indianapolis Indians, was fined $50; and suspended for three days by President Ed Doherty of the American Assn. Monday.

The charge was "foul and abusive language" to Umpire Dan O'Toole in the course of Indianapolis' 3-2 victory over Omaha Friday night.

Cooper told off the umpire after pitcher Frank Barnes of Omaha hit two Indianapolis batters and narrowly missed Indian pitcher Don Rudolph. The Indianapolis manager contended O'Toole warned Barnes twice and under a league ruling should have evicted him the second time and fined him $100.

Danger Lurks on Algerian Roads

'Hiker Safest in Rebel Truck

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP) —A rickety truck creaked to a halt at a French road control post at Biskra about 120 miles south of here. Its Moslem driver lazily stepped out to give his name.

"That's your safest ride," whispered a French sentry to an American hitchhiker. "It's a rebel supply truck. We have to let some of them go. In this way the rebels don't mine the roads and our own trucks can travel in safety too."

Hitchhiking through rebel infested eastern Algeria is easy but not necessarily safe.

All you have to do is wait at road control posts where every vehicle—civilian or military—has to register.

Along the road north—past the famous El Kantara Canyon—lie remnants of trucks burned by the rebels. Broken telephone poles clutter the roadside.

Homes along the road are battered, destroyed by the rebels. On the ruins, the French have painted huge signs saying, "The rebellion means death and destruction. Rally to victorious France."

Here and there, new villages have been erected by the French. Moslems live in them under military guard.

"The rebels kill everybody — the French and Moslems alike," said a Moslem motorist. "They don't care who travels here. They shoot without asking."

"This war will continue," said another. "We can fight for a long time. Independence must come."

And a Moslem truck driver told about the woman he saw.

"She just looked out of her window after a grenade blew up and they shot her between the eyes. Mother of five children."

"Who shot her, the French or the rebels?" the American asked.

"The French don't shoot civilians, monsieur."

"The French come and get you at night," said another Moslem motorist. "Then they attach these electric wires to your wrist and ask questions. This does not leave any marks."

"There were two grenades here today," said a Moslem taxi driver in Constantine, the end of the hitchhiking journey. "All victims were Moslems. There is reason for killing French soldiers. It's war. But why do they kill our women and children, monsieur?"

Season's 2nd Storm Swirling in Atlantic

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP) —The season's second tropical storm, Becky, swirled far out in the Atlantic today. It posed no immediate threat to land.

In its 5 a. m. advisory, the San Juan Weather Bureau placed the storm about 1,200 miles east of San Juan moving west-northwest at 17 m.p.h.

Movement during the next 12 hours was expected to be toward the west-northwest at the same speed or slightly slower.

Highest winds were estimated at 55 m.p.h.

Vessels in the path of the storm were advised to use caution.

The North American beaver, once near extinction, is believed making a comeback in many areas.

Group Carries Good-Will Gifts

Waterford Man Taking Eight Youths to Alaska

When Edward Kuhn of Waterford Township and his group of eight small boys disembark from a boat in Juneau, Alaska sometime next week, they will be welcomed at the dock by the governor of America's newest state.

The young "ambassadors" left Detroit at 9 a. m. yesterday, by train, loaded down with good-will gifts from Michigan to be presented to Alaskan officials, in honor of the new state.

One of the prized gifts from Detroit Mayor Miriani, is a gold-plated key to the city. Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard added an antique model reproduction of the first Ford car, and General Motors and Chrysler contributed scale models of the newest automobiles.

Each year, Kuhn, who is a teacher at Detroit Redford High School, takes a group of boys on an 8,000-mile planned trip to Alaska — carrying on an idea promoted by George E. Buchanan of Detroit 35 years ago.

The youngsters from 7 to 12 years of age, must earn one-third of the $350 trip money before they are eligible to go. Their parents may pay the balance. Boys over 12 years old pay $550.

Kuhn's group will be the first from Michigan to welcome Alaska to the United States, he said.

Along the way, the boys will be met at the train and feted by Kiwanis and Rotary clubs of various states and provinces.

At Vancouver, they will board the S. S. Princess Louise which will take them directly to the capitol of Alaska. They will return just in time for school. school.

Beauty Queen, DiMaggio 'Not' Eying Marriage

SMITHFIELD, Va. (AP)—Beauty queen Marian McKnight of Manning, S.C., says ex-New York Yankee slugger Joe DiMaggio is "a very charming and a very wonderful man" but "we are not thinking of marriage."

This was Miss America of 1957's reply to reporters' queries after she saw the former baseball great off at Norfolk's Municipal Airport last night.

The pair were in a group spending the weekend at the farm near here of V. G. Monette, owner of a food supply firm.

Blonde Miss McKnight said her arrival with DiMaggio at Norfolk on a plane from New York Saturday was a coincidence. She said there is no romance between her and DiMaggio, an ex-husband of movie queen Marilyn Monroe. She insisted most of her attention is for her studies at UCLA and that "I'm not interested in latching on to anyone right now."

She said she and DiMaggio met in 1956 and that they had not seen each other again until their encounter in New York.

Miss McKnight said she will work in public relations for the Monette firm, which supplies food to the armed forces, when she graduates from UCLA.

Navy Blimp Back From Arctic Trip

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—The Navy blimp ZPG2 arrived at its home base today after a scientific mission to the arctic designed to test the usefulness of such lighter-than-air craft in research in polar areas.

During its voyage it visited a 45-square-mile floating island of ice only 600 miles from the North Pole. American government scientists use the island as an observation post.

The 343-foot craft carried about 15 men during most of its trip.

Iowa has a larger proportion of area in farm land than any other state.

Grain Traders Ignore Report

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market appeared to have ignored somewhat the bearish government crop report and prices held within a steady to slightly easier range in early dealings today on the board of trade.

Dealers said the estimates of yield by the Department of Agriculture came as no surprise to anyone and that the figures essentially were in line with previous private reports.

A small amount of mill buying steadied wheat prices against some hedge selling and scattered liquidation but trade all around was not more than moderate.

Wheat was ⅛ to ⅝ cent a bushel higher near the end of the first hour, September $1.84½; corn ¼ higher to ½ lower, September $1.26⅜; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September 63⅛; rye ⅝ higher to ¼ lower, September $1.25; soybeans unchanged to ¼ lower, September $2.23⅞; lard unchanged to 5 cents a hundred lbs. lower, September $12.77.

About 1¼ million bushels of corn were sold for export overnight through the government subsidy program on bids of 13 to 20 cents a bushel..

'Shooting Star' Display to Fill Oakland Skies

According to a local astrono . . a quick glance at the northern sky late tonight will offer area residents a real fireworks display — weather permitting.

According to Mrs. Ela Archer, of 112 Aldelaide St., a current display of meteors and meteorites will reach its maximum tonight.

The best time is expected to be shortly after midnight. Mrs. Archer, a member of the Northwest Detroit Society for Astronomers and an ex-chairman of its meteor study group, said this "shooting star" display is known as the "Perseids."

It takes place once a year in August and the period of most activity this year extends from August 10 to 14.

"I have counted as many as 60 meteors of varying colors in an hour's time during the maximum period," she asserted today.

She warned area residents not to be alarmed if they see bright objects in the northern skies tonight. It's not an attack from outer space, just our yearly meteor shower.

Market Yields Bit of Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gave a little ground in early trading today.

Changes were mostly in small fractions, with losses outnumbering gains about two to one.

Schenley was an early feature with a gain of between 1 and 2 points. The company won at least a tentative victory in an industry fight when the Senate acted on an excise tax revision bill last night. The Senate defeated a move to strike from the bill a provision benefitting whisky distillers.

Trading was active at the start with the ticker running late for about two minutes. Turnover then slackened considerably.

Some Wall Street observers said caution could be expected in the market for two reasons — the high point which the averages have reached, and the slow trend toward tighter money.

Group action was not outstanding. Steels and motors were mostly off a shade. Rubbers and oils were up some.

UP fractions were American Motors, Goodrich, U.S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Johns Manville.

Mobs Start Blazes During India Rioting

BOMBAY (AP)—Mobs set fire to 12 police stations and seven post offices in Ahmedabad today in language riots.

Police fired 64 tear gas shells and charged with their truncheons.

The mobs also set up barricades on main roads, tore up lamp posts, stoned stores and beat up bus drivers, halting the city's bus services.

The rioters want the Gujerati-speaking area of Bombay state made into a separate state with Ahmedabad as its capital. Leftist parties are backing them. Prime Minister Nehru opposed the drawing of state lines along language division.

Tariff Bill Goes to Ike After 72-18 Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Compromise legislation to extend the reciprocal trade program for four years was ready today for President Eisenhower's signature. Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks called the bill "the best yet."

The program, started 24 years ago, permits the United States to negotiate agreements to cut tariffs on imports in return for similar concessions from other nations on American goods they admit.

CLOSE TO IKE'S PLAN

As finally passed by the Senate yesterday 72-18, the compromse comes pretty close to what the President wanted. Its central provisions are these:

The program will be extended four years, a longer extension period than ever before. Eisenhower asked for five years.

The measure gives the President authority to cut tariffs up to 20 per cent. Eisenhower asked for 25 per cent.

In one key provision, Congress is given the power to override, by a two-thirds vote, a presidential decision to reject a Tariff Commission recommendation for import quotas or higher duties intended to protect a home industry. Up to now, the President has been free to act on such recommendations without any congressional veto.

The administration did not fight this provision in the bill, presumably on the theory that a two-thirds vote usually is hard to muster.

In final passage, 40 Democratic senators and 32 Republicans voted for the compromse. Six Democrats and 12 Republicans voted against it.

SECURITY SAFEGUARD

Eisenhower has called the reciprocal trade program essential to U.S. prosperity and an important factor in maintaining free world security.

But for the past six months the extension bill has stirred opposition from those segments of American industry that claimed tariff cutting was destroying them by letting cheaply made foreign products compete with theirs.

Examples of these industries are pottery, textiles, fine glassware, bicycles, and certain branches of the coal and oil industry.

3 Youths Held in Burglaries

Empty Gas Tank Brings End to Crime Spree by Detroit Juveniles

An empty gas tank last night brought an abrupt end to a burglary spree of three Detroit juveniles.

The boys, two 15-year-olds and a 16-year-old, were arrested at Haggerty Rd. and Pontiac Trail, Commerce Township, by State Police Troopers Harold Wade and Wilbur Rykert.

An estimated $600 worth of stolen sporting goods was found in their possession.

The youths had stolen a car from Detroit shortly after midnight. They drove to Brighton where they broke into the Rosenbrook Sporting Goods Store, 201 E. Grand River Ave., they said.

On their return trip they ran out of gas at Haggerty and Pontiac Trail and asked a man delivering newspapers for a lift into Walled Lake.

A private policeman checked their car while they went for gas. He found the loot and called State Police at the Pontiac Post.

Troopers plan to turn the boys over to Detroit authorities today.

First Americans Leaving Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The first Americans began leaving Jordan today at the State Department's suggestion.

The wife and son of a U.S. Embassy officer left for Lebanon. The officer declined to allow the use of his name or their destination after Beirut.

An American spokesman said 26 families of other embassy employees have asked permission to leave. The State Department said last Saturday that all American dependents who had no compelling reason for remaining in Jordan should consider leaving. The American community in Jordan totals about 250, including families of businessmen.

Profits of Burroughs Reported 50 Pct. Down

DETROIT (AP) — Half-year profits of Burroughs Corp. in 1958 fell off more than 50 per cent from the first six months of last year.

Burroughs today reported its consolidated, worldwide net income at $2,603,827 for the first six months of this year, or 43 cents a share.

This compared to $5,811,713 or 96 cents a share for the first six months of last year.

Burroughs said its second quarter net this year was $1,503,413. The first quarter net was $1,100,414.

Delay Purchase of Fire Truck

Table Action on Bids at Waterford Pending Study by Board

Waterford Township firemen's spirits were slightly dampened at last night's meeting, when board members tabled action on a fire truck committee's recommendations for the purchase of a new truck.

Six bids had been opened at a township board meeting, July 28, and a five-man committee of experienced firemen were appointed by the board to make recommendations for board action.

A field survey of 14 different fire departments' equipment in Michigan had been made, after many hours of intensive study by the fire group.

Their recommendation was for the purchase of a truck from the American LaFrance Company of New York, for $11,412. The lowest bid was from the Pirsch Company for $10,000.

Board members said that they were confused by the more than $1,000 difference, and needed more time to check the comparative costs of the 4-page detailed report submitted by the fire truck committee.

In other business, the awarding of construction bids for a 3,600-foot water main from Lincolnshire ave. down Cass Lake Rd. to the Venice-of-the-Lakes subdivision also was tabled.

Clerk James Seeterlin was authorized to ask the low bidder, the Utilities Installation Company of Clawson, for an extension of its bid of $29,885, as the township cannot act before the Municipal Finance Commission studies the application in early September.

Board members have authorized that a total sum of $150 be paid to titleholders of the Sylvan Shores pumping station site, located in a corner of the subdivision's private park.

All recording fees, revenue stamp fees, and title insurance costs, plus attorney's fees, due township engineers Johnson & Anderson will be charged to the Sylvan Shores Sewer fund account.

Industrial Firm Sale Pending

Syndicate in New York Makes Offer for Stock of American Forging

Negotiations for sale of the American Forging & Socket Company to a New York industrial syndicate have been started, according to an announcement by the American Forging office here. The deal is expected to be completed if a sufficient portion of the stock is made available to the prospective purchasers.

The American Forging office announces that it has received an offer from United Industrial Syndicate, Inc., New York, to purchase the outstanding common stock of the corporation for $9 a share.

Stockholders are being notified of the details of this offer, and the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit has been named escrow agent.

Stockholders desiring to take advantage of the offer have been requested to deposit their stock with the escrow agent on or before Sept. 30.

The United Industrial Syndicate, Inc. presently operates a number of companies throughout the United States and Canada, manufacturing widely diversified products.

President Awaits Advice of Dulles

hower stay at his White House desk while Dulles delivers the speech as head of the U. S. delegation.

The planned timing of an Eisenhower appearance has been kept a closely guarded secret. The prospect is, however, that it would be either at the opening session tomorrow or Thursday, depending on how fast U.N. diplomats start their work.

Partly because of Eisenhower's possible appearance, the White House and State Department have drawn unusually tight secrecy wraps around specific proposals the U. S. will put forward.

These are reported to include such suggestions as:

1. A United Nations-supervised Middle East economic foundation to improve living standards in the region.

2. Creation of a special U. N. force which would rush to any country threatened by outside attack or subversion.

3. Setting up a U. N. commission to monitor broadcasts aimed at inciting troubles.

4. Support for U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's plan to increase U.N. truce observers in the area, including Lebanon and Jordan.

The American plan of action will be coupled, authorities said, with denunciations of "indirect aggression" the Soviet Union has fomented in the region.

State Department experts saw little prospect that Premier Nikita Khrushchev would suddenly fly from Moscow to New York for a face-to-face meeting with Eisenhower on the Middle East crisis.

Authorities planning Eisenhower's trip emphasized he would appear only for a one-shot speech, then return to the White House, leaving Dulles to lead the American delegation.

City Teamster Head Sues in Land Deal

Pontiac Teamster President Leaun Harrelson has accused a former secretary-treasurer of Local 614 of withholding Harrelson's share of profits from a Waterford Township land transaction.

Harrelson, once a Pontiac state representative, filed suit yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court charging Louis C. Linteau with paying him but $300 of what he believes should be a $6,000 share from the reported $17,000 profit.

Harrelson, as well as Linteau who went to prison in 1954 for his part in a $100,000 shakedown conspiracy of area builders, was questioned last week in the Frank Kierdorf case.

Besides Linteau, Harrelson named Linteau's wife; his mother, Pearl Harrison of Romeo, and two associates of the White Brothers Real Estate, 5660 Dixie Highway, Waterford, as defendants.

He said he was approached back in 1954 to go in with Linteau and Joseph Polina, maintenance superintendent with Motorcar Trasport Co. here, to purchase the land known now as the Northridge Subdivision.

ENTERED 3-WAY DEAL

The suit shows that Harrelson entered into the three-way deal by paying $833 with the understanding he would receive one-third of any profits.

Polina, not named as a defendant in the new suit, was indicted in April of 1957 along with Linteau in an alleged racket involving GI home loans for another development in Waterford Township.

Harrelson further charges in his suit that Linteau bought the land and transferred the title to his mother and wife, Marceline.

This land speculation partnership produced "upwards to $17,000" profit, Harrelson claims, of which he was paid only $300, with Linteau saying the total would be $600.

Judge Clark J. Adams granted a restraining order preventing Donald E. and Robert C. White of the real estate firm from destroying records of the transaction.

Harrelson, of 26 Delaware Dr., asked the court to have the defendants pay him his share after an accounting of the records.

Vegas Night Spot Stops Revealing Bare Bosoms

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—There will be no more bare bosoms in the chorus line of the El Rancho Vegas. But there is still cleavage in the ranks of hotel owners.

Beldon Katleman, the hotel's principal owner, capitulated yesterday to pressure from civic and church leaders and ordered a five-girl chorus line into more modest costumes. They've been dancing nude above the waist.

The trend towrd nudity in hotel shows started last October when one hotel imported a burlesque production. Resort owners immediately split on the issue and the controversy spread throughout the community. Two major hotels still feature dancing girls naked from the waist up.

Katleman wired Las Vegas clergymen: "It behooves every person connected with entertainment to reconsider their standards of show production . . . Perhaps our decision will start the tide in another direction."

Finds His Beer Truck, Someone Refreshed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It was hot here and Oliver Coulter couldn't find his beer truck after making a delivery.

It was found an hour later, five blocks away, with 25 thirst-quenching cases missing.

Estimate Skull's Age

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan anthropologists say a skeleton found buried on a farm near Berrien Springs last week is at least 2,500 years old. The skeleton, along with Indian relics, was found by George Kimmel Jr., while digging a basement.

16 From Area Enlist in Marines During July

A total of 16 men from the Oakland County area enlisted in the U.S. Marines through the Marine Corps Recruiting Substation in Pontiac, during the month of July it has been announced.

Four of the new enlistees were from Pontiac. They were: Ronald J. Cantor, of 643 E. Madison St.; Robert E. Randall, of 657 E. Pike St.; Robert L. Morrow, of 201 Willard St.; and Harold L. Paul, of 61 N. Roselawn St.

Others from nearby areas were: Donald R. Corey, Richard L. Freeland, and Robert G. Poynter, all of Auburn Heights; James V. Powell, of Waterford Township; and Ross A. Fockler, of Keego Harbor.

Also among the enlistees were: Gary W. Martin, of Clarkston; James E. Smith, of Lake Orion; Michael E. Lewis, of Oxford; and Frederick V. Liestman, of Leonard.

Rounding out the list of area enlistees were: Edward W. Filhart, of Ortonville; Michael R. Arvidson, of Milford; and Ralph E. Leach, of Utica.

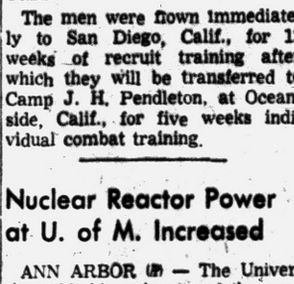
The men were flown immediately to San Diego, Calif., for 12 weeks of recruit training after which they will be transferred to Camp J. H. Pendleton, at Oceanside, Calif., for five weeks individual combat training.

Nuclear Reactor Power at U. of M. Increased

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan increased the power level of its Ford nuclear reactor tenfold yesterday. It is now operating at one million watts.

A university spokesman said the power boost made the Ann Arbor reactor the highest powered reactor at any American university. He said authorization for the step-up came from the Atomic Energy Commission after a lengthy series of reactor and control system calibrations.

The reactor's purpose, he said, is to provide an intense source of nutrom and gamma radiation for research, to supply radioactive isotopes, primarily those with short half lives, and training scientists and engineers in reactor technology.



Tries to Prove TV Versatile

Subjects on Education Must Be Translated to Suit Medium

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This column was written by the director of public affairs, CBS News, who is producer of "The Search.")

By IRVING GITLIN

NEW YORK (AP)—More than anything else, "The Search" is a try—a try that proved television capable of tackling potentially difficult subjects and translating them into interesting, entertaining, understandable and informative reports to an immense audience.

We feel "The Search" accomplished more than just setting one more precedent in a precedent setting industry. It has helped to establish thoughtful, carefully documented public affairs programming as an integral part of the network program schedule.

Even more important, "The Search" in its own way has served to focus increased attention on television's expanding responsibility to inform its audience on subjects of vital national interest. This is especially true today, with the country's added emphasis on the need for science and learning.

Only a series prepared with care and minute attention to factual detail could help accomplish this aim, We believe "The Search" fits this description. So do quite a few others. Among its many honors, "The Search" was bestowed the George Foster Peabody Award, the Sylvania Award, and a Freedom Foundations medal.

"The Search" resulted from a search on our part to find a way of discharging our keenly felt responsibility in the field of educational television. The series has been filmed directly on the campuses of America's leading universities and was produced with their cooperation.

Each program takes the national television audience into a different American university for a penetrating glimpse at one of that institution's most important research projects.

Our cameras have ranged from California to Maryland to Arkansas to Minnesota, and points between.

Those of us who have had a hand in creating "The Search" like to feel that it has proved the people of this country vitally interested in what is taking place in our institutions of higher learning.
