Holiday Death Toll Already Mounting Slowly

Ford Declines to Participate in Contract Talk

Turns Down Reuther Invitation to Sit In on Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II today declined Walter Reuther's invitation to join in the contract talks between the Ford Motor Co. and Reuther's CIO United Auto Workers.

At the same time Ford, company president, said it would be an "unforgiveable error" if the 140,000 Ford employes were not given an opportunity to learn all details of what he called the "prosperity partnership package" offer.

The offer included an opportunity for Ford workers to buy company stock at half price, interest-free loans during layoff periods, some wage boosts and other benefits. The UAW called the offer "phony" and rejected it shortly after it was placed on the bargaining table Thursday.

Ford said he felt his attendance at a meeting of the union's national Ford conference this afternoon would serve "no useful purpose.

Reuther, who also heads the CIO, extended the invitation in a telegram last night after a UAW International Executive Board meeting.

He asked Ford to attend a meeting of the union's national Ford Council so that "there can be no question as to whether the Ford workers will accept or reject the Ford proposals and whether they will strike in support of their own demands."

The Ford council meeting was called after union negotiators Thursday rejected a five-year, half-billion-dollar contract "package" from Ford. The Ford offer ignored union demands for a guaranteed annual wage.

Although union negotiators were bitter in their denunciation of the Ford package, Reuther said in his telegram that the final decision to accept or reject the offer "is one which only Ford workers can make."

Three European Milers Break 4-Minute Time

LONDON (AP) — Laszlo Tabori of Hungary, and Chris Chataway and Brain Hewson of Britain all ran the mile under four minutes today. Babori won in 3:59.

Chataway, a London brewer, was timed in 3:59 and Hewson of the Royal Air Force ran it in 3:59.8.

The race was an invitation international mile event held as part of the British games at White City Stadium. A crowd of 25,000 was in the stands despite a raw, overcast day.

The track was heavy and the temperature was about 50.

The race marked the first time in foot-racing history three men ever ran under the four-minute mark in one race. Only once before, in fact, have two men been under the coveted time in one race.

That was in the duel between Roger Bannister, first man to achieve the long-sought four-minute mile, and John Landy, the current world record holder, in the British Empire games last August.

Bannister won that race in 3:58.8, with Landy trailing in 3:59.6. Until then, the only sub four-minute miles were Bannister's first cracking of the mythical barrier in 3:59.4 and Landy's record of 3:58.

Nation Salutes War Dead Over Memorial Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans began the Memorial Day weekend today.

In many places across the land, in many ways, they will pause to salute those who died in battle. Some will march. In Newark, N. J., the annual Memorial Day parade Monday will honor Albert Woolson, 108-year-old survivor of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Some will sing. In the spectacular Hollywood Bowl, 700 musicians and vocalists will join in a premiere of "The Requiem," by Hector Berlioz, in a three-faith service.

Most will pray—en masse in churches, in family groups, beside a grave, or in the quet privacy of a room once occupied by a boy.

In the Arlington National Cemetery near the nation's capital, Vice President Nixon will place a wreath at the marble tomb of the Unknown Soldier Monday morning, then deliver an address.

The scene will be mirrored across the nation, at the Little Arlington National Cemetery, in Keokuk, Iowa; in the national cemetery at Ft. Bragg, N.C., wherever heroes lie.

Rumor Folsom Replaces Hobby

Treasury Aide Seen Taking Over Health, Welfare Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marion B. Folsom, undersecretary of the Treasury, was reported "virtually certain" to be nominated soon to replace Oveta Culp Hobby as secretary of health, education and welfare.

Folson, a 61-year-old tax specialist and native of McRae, Ga., also declined comment.

At the White House, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Mrs. Hobby had not handed in her resignation and "there is nothing before us" to indicate Folsom has been chosen as her successor.

Recently Mrs. Hobby has been under fire in some quarters for the way the Salk vaccine situation has been handled. But President Eisenhower recently gave her a vote of confidence.

The Pontiac Press will publish but one edition, at noon, Monday in order that its employes may join in observance of Memorial Day. Regular editions will be resumed Tuesday.

Repeat Highway Safety Warning

Only Few Non-Injury Accidents Reported as Holiday Starts

Warnings by police were repeated today as thousands of motorists began jamming Michigan and Oakland County highways during the long Memorial Day weekend.

Although traffic was reported still relatively light at noon today, State Police and Oakland County Sheriff's department predicted cars would flood the highways later in the day.

Only a few minor accidents had been reported with no injuries. Pontiac Police, which had ordered every available patrolman and police reserve on duty during the 78-hour period, reported no accidents within the city thus far.

CONTINUE CAMPAIGN

Meanwhile, the county's dynamic campaign, headed by the Oakland County Chapter of the Red Cross, continued its effort to stem possible deaths and injuries due to traffic accidents here.

An airplane also is flying around the county observing congested highway spots and relaying the "trouble spots" to a main dispatch center atop Bald Mountain.

Police, advising drivers to keep alert and drive slowly, warned motorists not to drive after drinking.

District Alerted for Tornadoes This Afternoon

DETROIT (AP)—A tornado alert covering Michigan southeast of a line running from the northeastern corner of Indiana to Bay City, was issued at noon by the Detroit Weather Bureau.

The Lansing Weather Bureau warned Clinton, Saginaw and Shiawassee counties at the same time to be on the alert for possible tornadoes within the next hour.

Northwestern Ohio also was warned of "possibly a few tornadoes."

When the warnings came, one tornado already had torn through Eaton County and bounced into a Kalamazoo County community. Only one injury report and none of deaths, however, had come from the twister hit.

The Detroit Weather Bureau said heavy thunderstorms with winds up to 50 or 55 miles an hour would be fairly general throughout lower Michigan in the afternoon. The tornado danger should be past by 5 p.m. Severe thunderstorms are expected until 9 p.m.

The tornado tore through Eaton County around 10:30 a.m. today, knocking down trees and barns, but Sheriff Everett Peck said there had been only one injury report and none of deaths.

Peck said the twister roared along M43 east of Grand Ledge, M100 south of Grand Ledge and then dipped into an area northwest of Bellevue.

Peck said the tornado's path was approximately 100 feet wide.

Grand Ledge is 10 miles west of Lansing.

The tornado apparently followed a course to the southwest and hit again in the Woods Lake Community of Kalamazoo County, midway between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

Henry Crane, a farmer living five miles northwest of Charlotte, suffered compound fractures of both legs when his barn blew down on him.

The Ormand Wirth home in the outskirts of Grand Ledge was moved four inches off its foundation, but the stone, ranch type house was not knocked down.

A boat being hauled on a trailer was picked off and blown into a field in Grand Ledge.

Runaway Van Kills 7 in West

Truck, Trailer Careen Down Frisco Hill as Brakes Fail

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Four official investigations were in progress today with the aim of determining the exact cause of the runaway crash of a huge moving van.

The van, a ten-ton truck and trailer loaded with furniture, careened down one of San Francisco's steepest hills on Clay street from Nob Hill to Chinatown yesterday, killing seven persons.

The big vehicle smashed light standards and parking meters like toothpicks and it ploughed along the sidewalk and smashed to a stop against a building, bursting into flames as its fuel tank exploded. Damage was estimated at at least $100,000.

The driver, William McCandless, 50, of Davenport, Ia., rode to his death in the cab of the runaway van, fighting to control it as it reached a speed estimated at 80 miles an hour.

FIVE OTHERS KILLED

Six other men and a woman met death in a stroke of fate as they were hurled aside like rag dolls by the racing van.

The bodies of the victims were strewn along the sidewalk of the narrow street less than a block from the Hall of Justice and the city morgue where they were taken for identification.

The official investigations were started by the district attorney the police department, the coroner's office and the Interstate Commerce Commission which licenses such vehicles. The van was operated by McCandless for the Mayflower Van and Storage Co. of Indianapolis.

42 Dead So Far Across Nation; State Counts 5

National Safety Council Estimates 360 Traffic Fatalities for Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The count of deaths in accidents rose slowly today while millions got started on their long Memorial Day weekend.

Since 6 p.m. Friday fatalities numbered 32 in traffic, 5 drownings and 5 in the miscellaneous class. The total at 10 a.m. EST was 42.

The first holiday of the warm season is expected to put millions of cars on the roads. Rain in areas in the central section of the United States may have held down the traffic volume in the early part of the day at least.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 360 persons will lose their lives in traffic accidents during the 78-hour holiday period ending at midnight Monday.

The record traffic death toll for a three-day Memorial Day holiday was 363 in 1952.

The council has estimated that 40 million motor vehicles will be on the highways during the holiday weekend and urged extreme caution.

President Eisenhower also urged all Americans to "take maximum care for safe driving" over the weekend and during the rest of the summer.

There were 362 persons killed in traffic mishaps in the three-day holiday last year. Ninety-three others drowned and 84 were killed in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 539.

A survey by The Associated Press, in a non-holiday 78-hour period, showed 294 traffic fatalities, 58 drownings and 94 deaths from miscellaneous accidents.

Four persons died in Michigan traffic accidents in opening hours of the long weekend, which authorities predicted would lure a record 2,675,000 automobiles to the state highways despite scattered showers and thunderstorms.

National Guardsmen were called out to help State Police keep congested traffic lines moving and at the same time try to keep highway deaths under the 19 registered over last Memorial Day.

Besides the highway toll, the holiday observance also had claimed one life by drowning.

Cooler Weather, Showers Seen for Pontiac Area

Cooler temperatures will follow, with a low of 54-57 due tonight and a high of from 62 to 68 expected Sunday. Cloudy skies will accompany the cooler weather.

Thursday's high point was 83, in downtown Pontiac, and the mercury had dropped to 68 before 8 a.m. today. The mercury stood at 69 at 2 p.m.

Deputies, Firemen Drag Lake for Drowning Victim

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies and Orion Township firemen were dragging Lake Orion today in an attempt to recover the body of a drowning victim.

The victim was tentatively identified as Bet Young, about 45, of Lake Orion. Young and an unidentified companion were cruising in a motorboat on the north side of the lake. Young fell into the lake after the boat had slowed down.

The body was believed to be in 60 feet of water, about 150 yards off the north shore.

Pastor Praises Newspaper Crime Reporting

EDITOR'S NOTE: The minister of one of America's oldest churches, the First Church in Boston (Unitarian), which dates from 1630, long felt that newspapers should keep crime news brief and bury it on inside pages. But now he has changed his mind and here he tells why.)

By REV. DUNCAN HOWLETT
Written for the United Press

Every now and then someone gets up and bewails the reporting of crime by the newspapers. I have often done so myself. Sometimes in recent months I have felt physically ill after reading the morning paper.

Murders, robberies, beatings, corruption, vandalism—the list is endless. Then, like the others, I have cried:

"Why do the newspapers print such stuff? Why don't they give us something uplifting once in a while?"

But I have changed my mind. I'm glad they print it—all of it. Sure, it nauseates me. Sure it makes me want to flee from it all. Sure, I'd rather read sweetness and light. But as a member of American society, I can't escape the fact of crime not until it is brought to a stop.

The constant reporting of crime on the front pages of America's newspapers is like the beating of the tom-toms of doom in our ears. The beating is increasing in tempo. It grows louder and more ominous. Something has to be done. We know that it has. We know it because the newspapers din it into our ears until we can hardly stand it. If we do nothing, it will be because we really didn't care.

"MEDEA" HELPS

The importance of crime reporting became clear to me through the reading of an ancient Greek drama of Euripides, "The Medea." This enabled me to see my own times in perspective and so to appreciate the significance of crime reporting today.

There has been a very perceptible stiffening of public opinion on crime in recent months. Why? Because people have read about all the crime they want to in the newspapers.

There has been an increasing respect for the policeman—a respect which detective stories, movies and comics have been slowly eating away during the present generation. Why? Because the newspapers are regularly reporting the bravery with which the police have been meeting the recent rise in crimes of violence.

If the newspapers did as we asked them to, and relegated all crime news to brief notes at the bottom of an inside page, most of us would hardly be aware of the danger we face today.

DEMOCRATIC WAY

Since we live in a democracy in which the voice of the people can be heard, let the newspapers continue to fling the crimes of the city and the nation into our teeth.

Let them spread before us the crimes of our people until we rouse ourselves and demand both the effective treatment of those who are now criminals and also the development of programs and techniques designed to dry up crime at its source.

All this is now beginning to happen, and it is happening because the newspapers have beat upon the public conscience with factual reports of what is actually going on until the public conscience at last is beginning to wake.

Kalamazoo Police Say Weekenders May Find Missing 8-Year-Old

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Police searching for 8-year-old Jeannie Singleton pinned their hopes today on alertness of holiday weekenders and others who will be out in the countryside.

Newspapers and radio stations are urging all who expected to be in rural surroundings of Kalamazoo to keep a watch and take time to check their immediate vicinity for any trace of the missing child.

Jeannie vanished last Monday en route home from school. Upward of a thousand persons have searched for her daily without finding a trace or clue.

Police Chief Sherwin Heywood said it now is planned to excavate a sand pit not far from Jeannie's home. He said there had been reports of a landslide taking place in the pit Monday, but he leans with other authorities to the theory that the child likely was abducted by a sex deviate.

Most searchers have abandoned hope of finding the child, daughter of a truck driver, alive. Heywood said: "We are proceeding now on the assumption we're looking for a body."

Jilted Suitor Arrested After Hurling Bottles

Abet A. Asocar, 37, of 60 Pleasant View Dr., was able to explain fully to Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum today why he smashed 30 full bottles of beer, leaving one block of Sagniaw street littered with glass and liquid.

Asocar, arrested by Patrolman James L. Ockerman about 2 a.m. today, pleaded guilty to a disorderly charge and was fined $100 and sentenced to five day in the Oakland County Jail.

"I was walking on my beat," said Ockerman, "when I heard something like bombs exploding. Then I saw this man, walking slowly and tossing the beer bottles in the air."

Ockerman placed him under arrest just as Asocar was reaching into the large bag which contained the bottles.

"Wait a minute officer, I'll go quietly," Ockerman quoted Asocar as saying, "but I've got one more bottle," which he hurled over the officers head.

Asocar explained he had been disgruntled because his girl friend jilted him shortly before.

The claim was based on yesterday's 6:51 a.m. birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Saulters Jr., at Baptist Memorial Hospital.

The "census clock" at the U.S. Census Bureau, Commerce Dept., Washington, yesterday flashed blue lights to signal the nation's population reached 165-million at 6:51:51 a.m. CST.

"Oh, is that so," the father commented when reporters told him.

Four Surviving Quints 21 Today

Famed Sisters Reunited for Event, Transfer of Million in Trust Fund

Last minute arrangements enabled Annette, Cecile and Yvonne, who have been studying in Montreal, to join the fourth sister, Marie, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, at the family home at nearby Callander. The other quintuplet, Emilie, died last August.

The three girls were driven here from Montreal during the night by their younger brother, Oliva, Jr., who is with the Royal Canadian Air Force at St. Hubert, near Montreal.

The parents and Marie had considered going to Montreal for the birthday observance but abandoned the idea.

The father said:

"There won't be much of a birthday celebration today. The girls will be too busy looking after their business."

He referred to the transfer to the girls of the money in their trust fund, worth nearly a million dollars.

Making It Easier to Take Fatal Step

Heretofore couples seeking licenses mingled along a marble top counter without any privavy. Yesterday finishing touches were put on 17 booths designed to give each couple some privacy. The booths consist of panels attached to the marriage license counter by aluminum frames. Although the booths are open, the panels are soundproofed so voices are muffled.

"We're trying to make the job of getting a marriage license as painless as possible," explained County Clerk Edward J. Barrett.

Hensel Resigns Post as Army Assistant

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Struve Hensel, a high official under Democratic and Republican administrations, is returning to private life next month with President Eisenhower's thanks.

The White House yesterday announced Hensel's resignation as assistant secretary of defense, effective June 30. The 53-year-old New York lawyer said in a letter to the President that he lacks "sufficient individual capital resources to continue longer . . ."

Trucking Tieup Seen Continuing

Teamster Head Terms Offer Unacceptable in Tenth Day

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Hope for an early end to a trucking industry tieup in 11 western states dimmed today with the collapse of negotiations between truck operators and the AFL Teamsters Union.

The strike and the retaliatory employers lockout entered its 10th day today as the economic stranglehold gripped the western third of the nation.

Before the negotiators broke off three days of discussion last night the truck owners submitted a new offer, but Frank Brewster, president of the Western Conference of Teamsters, termed it unacceptable.

He agreed to submit the offer to the union membership, but said he would not recommend its acceptance.

The operators offered long-haul drivers a wage increase of 8 cents an hour now and 8 additional cents for each of the next two years.

The union is demanding 10, 8 and 8.

The owners offered Southern California local drivers a total of 27 cents over the next three years, plus one more paid holiday.

The new offer contained no pension plan or "hot cargo" clause, both of which the union originally asked for. However, it did embody an expanded contribution to the health and welfare fund.

Boy Survives Fall Under 1-Ton Roller

LEEK, England (AP) — Nine-year-old Derek Hulme was run over by a one-ton concrete roller and escaped without a bruise.

Derek was riding on the shafts of the horse-drawn roller on a farm field when he fell off.

The massive concrete cylinder pressed him into the soft rain-soaked ground. When he was picked up, a perfect impression of his body remained.

Despite Derek's protests that he was not hurt, he was rushed to a local hospital for X-rays.

Police Holding Youth for Slaying Minister

BAY CITY (AP)—Shotgun wounds today proved fatal to a woman minister as police held a 20-year-old youth who they said admitted shooting her because "she double-crossed me and told the girls not to go out with me."

Mrs. Theresa Austin, 59, pastor of the Pentecostal Church at Prescott, died in a Bay City Hospital of a shotgun blast that struck her down on her porch yesterday.

Held in Ogemaw County Jail at Prescott, 50 miles north of Bay City, is Albert Bowen, 20, of Prescott, one-time communicant at Mrs. Austin's church.

Mrs. Austin was shot in the head when she stepped onto her porch to investigate a car that drove up the side drive of her home.

Center Line Boy Gets Dog Back After 10 Months

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—For 10 months Sniffles, a black and white mongrel dog of indeterminate age, lived on the town in Sault Ste. Marie.

In the interval he was a well-watched but never-caught dog.

Bobby, his 5-year-old sister Molly, and his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lawson, came to Saut Ste. Marie with Sniffles on a vacation last July. Sniffles got lost.

A week or so later Bobby, with his mother's help, wrote a pleading letter to the Sault Ste. Marie News, enclosing a picture of Sniffles. The newspaper published the letter and the picture.

The following day Mrs. Paul Wilson, wife of the executive vice president of the First National Bank, saw the dog. But it shied away from her as she tried to catch it.

From then on Sniffles became a familiar sight around town. He ate with an anti-aircraft battalion or with the fellows at the coal dock. But he couldn't be caught.

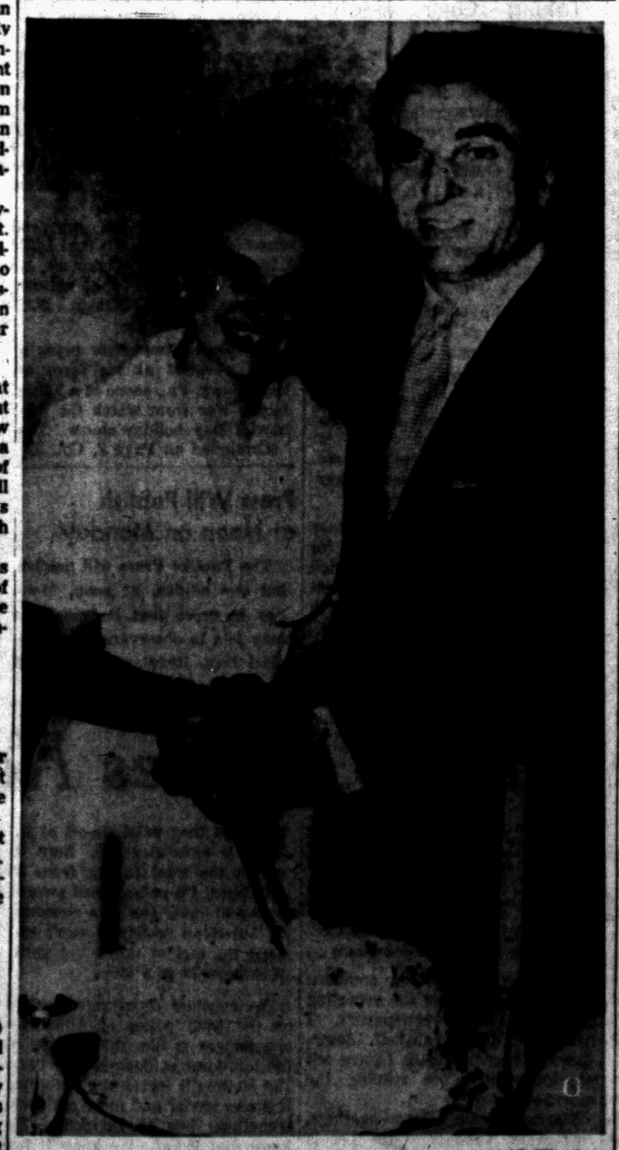

The Lawsons made a trip here but Sniffles chose that weekend to be absent. They came back again yesterday.

Sniffles was living in an abandoned house. The grownups walked in and Sniffles ran. Then Bobby tried it alone. Sniffles got the scent and bounded into Bobby's arms.

Say Chiang Unwilling to Talk With Reds

TAIPEI (INS)—Foreign Minister George Yeh emphatically denied today that Nationalist China has ever agreed to any form of cease-fire talks involving the Chinese Communists.

The Nationalist official, at a Taipei news conference, quoted an old Chinese proverb to emphasize his point, saying any such talks would be negotiating with "a tiger for its very skin."

Yeh declared that much more is needed than a mere published statement to prove sincerity and good faith on the part of the Chinese Communists. He referred to recent reports saying Red China was willing to negotiate regarding the tense situation between the Nationalists and the Communists in the Formosa Strait.

Woman to Be Charged in Husband's Killing

MUSKEGON (UP) — Muskegon County Prosecutor Robert A. Cavanaugh said today he'll probably authorize a murder warrant against Mrs. Ida Mae Moore for the death of her husband.

Mrs. Moore's husband, Rufus, 23, died yesterday of knife wounds he suffered May 22. Mrs. Moore contends her husband was wounded when they were trying some antics they had seen in a home movie. Police said Moore told them before he died that he was stabbed during an argument.

Social Security Changes Sought

Sen. Potter Introduces Bill to Cut Retirement Age for Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) has introduced a bill to reduce from 65 to 60 years the age at which wives and widows may qualify for old age and survivors benefits. His measure also would provide disability benefits under the Social Security law.

Potter's move gave him a jump on House Democratic leaders who had planned to bring up the same general sort of proposal in June.

"Statistics have shown that in this country a man generally marries a woman several years younger than himself," Potter told the Senate.

In event the disabled person receives workmen's compensation benefits, the amount of Social Security payments would be reduced.

Payment would be figured on the same formula as old age benefits.

The Democratic proposal in the House, still in the talking stage, would provide also for retirement of women workers at an earlier age than men, possibly 60 or 62.

Under present law a retired worker gets a 50 per cent addition to his old age payment if his wife also is 65. If a woman has children she gets benefits as long as they are under 18, then nothing until she is 65.

One aim of the Democratic plan could be offsetting any political advantage the Republicans gained from a general liberalization of Social Security payments last year. Potter's bill might grab part of the credit for the GOP.

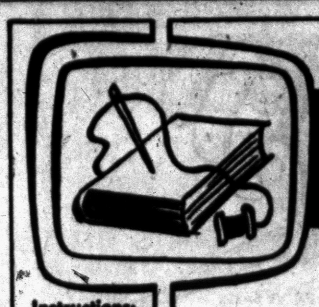

Man Averts Crash by Stricken Driver

As Fradkin sprinted alongside the car its driver Hubert L. Weiss, 72, of Los Angeles, collapsed. His foot jammed against the accelerator and the car gained speed.

Fradkin steered the car away from oncoming traffic, made a desperate lunge halfway through the driver's open window and turned off the ignition. When police reached the scene Weiss was dead, apparently of a heart attack.

It takes more than 100,000 union-management contracts to set the wages and other conditions of employment for 15 million workers in the United States.

Wants Curb Service

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Within a few hours after a woman reported that someone stole her radio, police proudly phoned her that they had caught the thief and recovered the radio. But it took a lot of arguing to get the woman to stop at the station for it. She told the detective in charge: "I didn't bring it up here, and I can't see why I have to carry it back home."

Heart Research Lost in Theft of Recorder Tapes

NEW YORK (AP)—The person who stole Dr. Arthur Briskier's tape recorder: Keep the machine but please return the tape, which represents 10 years of work in recording unusual heart sounds.

The New York County Medical Society said in an appeal last night:

"An unsuspecting burglar may be the cause of a serious setback in the worldwide battle against heart disease. Ten years of intensive work in cardiovascular research may be whisked into oblivon if the person. . . . carelessly destroys or discards the tapes."

The recorder and tapes disappeared from Briskier's Park Avenue office early in the week. Said the doctor:

"I have the sounds of very unusual conditions, some of which I may never hear again."

On the four reels were the sounds of rheumatic hearts, hypersensitive hearts, blue-baby hearts, heart beats of unborn children and hearts with defective valves.

State House Approves Trunkline Highway Bill

Common sense and a bipartisan coalition have triumphed on the State highway front.

After a long and bitter fight the House at Lansing has voted 60 to 46 to send the Senate approved Coleman bill to Gov. WILLIAMS without change. He already has indicated that he would sign it.

This is the bill which only recently was forced out of the House roads committee by a coalition of younger members of both parties. It also is the legislation this newspaper has believed from the outset offers the best means of solving Michigan's serious highway problem.

As it goes to the Governor's desk, the Coleman bill assures the State a $35,000,000 a year highway construction program. This is to be financed by a 1.5 cent increase in the present 4.5 cent state gasoline tax and a 10 per cent increase in truck license fees.

Most of the fighting over the bill centered on the allocation formula. This gives the State 75 per cent of the additional revenue for trunkline construction and divides the remaining 25 per cent between the cities and counties. we believe this is a just and wise formula.

Now, happily, the State that put the world on wheels and keeps it there can look ahead with confidence as far as highways are concerned.

It is to be hoped, however, that the coalition will make every effort to round up enough votes to give the bill immediate effect. As it now stands it won't become operative until October, a fact which would cost the State $13,000,000 in additional gas tax revenue.

Let's forget the long fight over the allocation formula. Let's get on with the work of building these long needed new roads.

Dulles and Adenauer Reject Neutralization

Any hopes Russia may have had for neutralization of West Germany or a reunited Germany must be fading rapidly.

It is unlikely there should be any other result after the stands taken by Secretary of State DULLES and Germany's Chancellor ADENAUER.

With special White House authorization, Mr. DULLES set forth our government's position to clear up uncertainty left by a Presidential press conference statement. In the presence of West Germany's Ambassador KREKELER, the Secretary emphasized that neutrality isn't applicable either to West Germany or a reunited Germany.

★ ★ ★

As for Chancellor ADENAUER, he is sparing no effort to make every one understand that his country wants no part of any neutralization plan. To this end he has called home his ambassadors to Washington, London and Paris. His purpose is to impress on them their duty to make clear at all times that the BONN government is not interested in neutralization.

★ ★ ★

Also of great interest to us and other free nations, the Chancellor participation in West European defense.

Puerto Rico's Progress

If some symbol of its economic progress were needed, Puerto Rico has it in its just dedicated $15,000,000 airport at San Juan.

This great new facility meets a long felt need born of the Caribbean area's rapidly expanding air traffic. Dedication ceremonies were marked by the presence of Congressmen and flights over the airport by Army, Navy and Air Force jet fighters and bombers.

Under construction is a modern four lane highway which eventually will link the new airport with the business section of the capital city. Other evidence of expanding economic activity is the fact that since 1948, due to low taxes, more than 300 new industries have been established on the island.

This has meant greater employment opportunities for people who not so long ago had to be content with substandard living conditions.

8 Men Get Credit for New Michigan Road Law

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—When the awards for the 1955 legislative session are being passed around, a Medal of Honor with palms should go to the little band which pushed through the new arterial highway program.

• • •

The medal should be awarded for giving Michigan a big boost toward highway progress. The palms are for beating one of the most powerful lobbies in Michigan—the county road commissions.

EIGHT NOMINATED

So the following are nominated for the awards: Gov. Williams, Sens. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) and Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), Reps. Thomas M. Burns (R-Saginaw), Richard G. Smith (R-Bay City), John J. McCune (R-East Lansing) and Ed Carey (D-Detroit), and J. C. McMonagle, director of planning for the State Highway Department.

• • •

Many men labored long and hard to put across the program, but had it not been for these few it woud not have succeeded.

To measure the size of the battle and the victory, one must realize that the average legislator bows to no pressure group any more than he does to the county road commissions?

In both Wayne County and upstate, these tightly knit little political organizations swing a tremendous weight themselves and, in addition, usually are able to spur the courthouse politicians and the local party committees into action when they need help.

• • •

The fight in the Legislature was but another round in a long battle which the county road boys usually have won—the fight over sharing state gasoline and license taxes.

TAKE THE MAJORITY

At present, these lads and their city brethren take the majority of the state-collected revenues for themselves and give the state the minority portion.

• • •

But they were beaten this time by a group determined for once to see that the state got enough money to break the traffic bottlenecks of Michigan with a unified, planned system of major four-lane divided highways.

Actually, the rural areas and northern Michigan are not as badly hurt as they think they are because the special funds raised under the new program will relieve other state funds to be used on less important roads.

But the county road commissions were fighting for the principle that they are boss, that they decide how the money is to be divided and that no one can disobey with impunity.

• • •

CREDIT FOR NICHOLS

Nichols was so anxious to get more highways that he would have settled for any kind of a program—and to that extent his contribution was less than the others. But credit Nichols with keeping the program alive, with prodding and arguing and maneuvering to keep the issue on the floor where it could be passed.

• • •

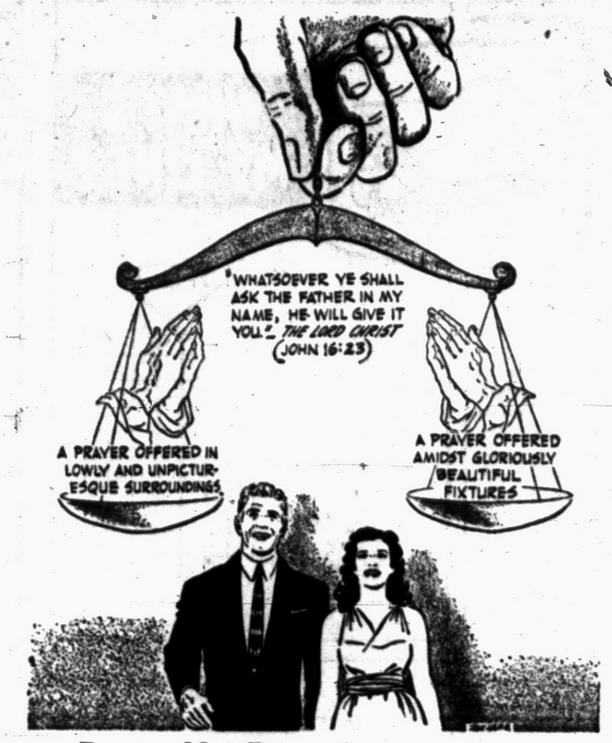

Credit McMonagle with providing the facts and figures, the ammunition for the fighting crew. In fact, if it had not been for McMonagle it is doubtful if either the governor or the other leaders would have known there was a ready-made plan which could be adopted.

Credit Gov. Williams with starting the whole scrap—and making it such a political issue that the Rpublicans felt bound to get action.

Credit Carey, whose ability to hold the House Democrats in line against Wayne County pressure was only matched by his shrewd floor tactics.

• • •

Pentecost Sunday Marks Origin of Christian Church

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, May 29, is known by two names: Pentecost and Whitsunday. By either name it is a great day in the Christian calendar, for it is the day the Holy Spirit came upon the Apostles and the Christian Church began.

Pentecost is actually the name of a Jewish festival, which comes 50 days after Passover. And the Apostles were Jews; it was on the day of Pentecost that they were gathered together in Jerusalem when suddenly, accordingly to the second chapter of The Acts, "there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind," tongues of flame appeared over the head of each Apostle, "and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost."

The immediate result of this experience was that these Apostles, who had been timid and disorganized since the death of Jesus, all at once became bold and purposeful. They hurried to the Temple and there began to preach about their Risen Lord, with such effect that 3,000 people were converted and baptized that same day. For this reason, the day is often called the "birthday of the Church."

ORIGIN OF "WHITSUNDAY"

The explanations are given for the origin of the term, "Whitsunday." Some say that in ancient times this was one of the tradational days for mass baptism, and that the persons being baptized all wore white robes. From this fact came "white Sunday," which in time was shortened to Whitsunday.

The other interpretation is more interesting, but probably not true. It is that the word "whit" was the Anglo-Saxon word for "spirit" and that the literal meaning of Whitsunday is therefore "Spirit Sunday."

An old English poem says:
This day Whitsunday is called
For wit and wisdom sevenfold
Was given to the Apostles on

• • •

The observance of Pentecost goes back to the earliest years of the Christian era, and so do some of the customs connected with the day. Centuries ago people used to shoot fire from the church roof to represent the tongues of flame, or let doves (the traditional symbol of the Holy Spirit) loose in the church during services.

In old Russia they decorated the church with young birch trees, the idea being that in order to receive the Holy Spirit one must shed as many tears for his sins as there are dewdrops on the birch bough.

PASCHAL CANDLE

In Roman Catholic, and some other churches, an unusually large candle is installed near the altar on the day before Easter, removed on Ascension Day, and brought back for a last appearance on Pentecost. It is called the "Paschal" Candle, because it is used during the Paschal season—the 50 days following Easter. The term "paschal" is derived, with some intermediate steps, from the Jewish word for Passover. (Some form of this word is used to denote the Easter Season in every language except English and German).

The Paschal candle is a very ancient accessory of the Easter season. It is referred to in writings as early as the Fourth Century, and even then it was not new.

This huge candle, ornamented with five grains of incense representing the five wounds of Jesus, is blessed on Easter Eve and then lighted with newly blessed fire. In mediaeval times parishes competed with one another to see which could construct the largest Paschal candle, and some of them were gigantic.

The old custom was to melt these tremendous candles down after Pentecost and make them into smaller tapers for the funerals of the poor.

Fast Action of Waterford Fire Department Saves House, Garages From Grass Fire

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the leiter is critical in its nature.

If it hadn't been for the fast action of the Waterford Fire Department last Saturday, considerable damage could have been done.

A grass fire started from a lighted cigarette which was carelessly thrown on the ground where there was a terrific amount of dry leaves. It looked hopeless to save two garages and a house, but the Waterford Fire Department was on the scene in about three minutes from the time of the phone call.

Splendid service, I call it.

Soviets Agree to Big 4; Tito-Red Talk Bad News

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

THE GOOD

1. Soviet Russia formally accepted the proposal of the Western Allies for a Big Four meeting "at the summit." Details of the meeting, first of its kind in 10 years, will be worked out later. The possibility was mentioned that President Eisenhower and the other big four chiefs of government might meet July 18.

• • •

The United States will insist that the meeting be limited to a few days. The foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia will be left to negotiate on specific issues later.

2. There were strong indications that any attempt to swing Italy away from loyal cooperation with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would fail. Considerable anxiety was felt over Italian policy after the election of leftist-tinger Giovanni Gronchi as president.

Gronchi favors a policy of "coexistence" with Soviet Russia. But the dispatches from Rome suggested that the danger of an Italian swing to the left was now remote. The Italian Communists continued to lose strength. They have ben losing their grip on labor unions in northern and central Italy for several months. This week they lost an important union election in southern Italy.

• • •

3. The National Assembly, lower house of the French Parliament, approved by a vote of 404 to 210 a motion to revise the constitution of the Fourth Republic. It was the first step toward strengthening the authority of French Prime Ministers and ending the series of cabinet crises which had weakened France ever since the end of World War II.

THE BAD

1. Allied leaders were agreed that whatever happened as the result of the visit of Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev to President Tito of Yugoslavia, it would not be favorable to the West. Tito has said that he will continue to cooperate with the Allies. But the Allies felt better while Tito was still feuding with the Soviet bloc of nations.

• • •

2. Terrorism in French North Africa reached the crisis level The French government sent reinforcements by air, sea and highway to help combat terrorists in Algeria. It was reported that France might even withdraw about 10,000 of the troops it now keeps under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization command in order to strengthen its North African forces.

3. American-supported Premier Ngo Dinh Diem of the state of Southern Viet Nam in Indochina delivered an ultimatum to the rebel leaders who threaten to plunge the country into open civil war. Diem demanded that they surrender by tomorrow (Saturday).

Whatever the result of the ultimatum, the situation in Viet Nam continued to get progressively worse. The danger intensified that the country might fall into the hands of the North Viet Ham Communists.

Jesus Was Too Big a Man to Quibble About Details of Food, Dress or Ritual

Jesus said we should feed the hungry, heal the sick, avoid prejudices and treat our neighbors as we'd like them to deal with us. Jesus thought big, so he didn't stoop to petty details. He never vetoed a single food item on the menu or rouge for women and didn't even say girls must wear hats in church.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-342: Rev. Kenneth G., aged 29, is a talented clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, I am puzzled," he began our chat while I was addressing the International Disciples of Christ convention at Miami a few months ago.

"One branch of the Christian Church has run an advertisement in the Miami Herald today washing its hands of any connection with us.

"And it cites as its reasons, the fact that we baptize by sprinkling as well as immersion.

"It also abhors our having church suppers, etc. It seems odd to me that at this late date in Christian development, churches still make a serious issue over trivial differences in ritual.

"Do you think Jesus would approve of such attempts to emphasize the minor differences between his various Christian sects?"

JESUS THOUGHT BIG

Jesus was not a sissified personality who quibbled over dust on the alter or excessive ritual.

When he was criticized because his disciples ate without previously washing their hands, he tartly replied:

"Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man."

And when he was again challenged because they plucked some wheat on the Sabbath and threshed it between their palms to eat, Jesus knocked the entire main prop from under the ritualized religion of his day by adding:

"The Sabbath was made for man; not man for the Sabbath."

Then he climaxed his indictment of the cluttering ritual of churches with this sentence, which should jolt picayune members of all modern churches:

"But in vain they do worship me," Jesus said, "teaching for doctrines the commandments of men."

READ YOUR BIBLE

Most of the ritual of the churches has been added by men who lived during the 19 centuries

go back to the New Testament and read what Jesus actually said. You should be delighted at his emphasis on purely major issues like the Golden Rule, abolishing prejudice, etc.

He did not stoop to quibbling over forms of baptism or types of food that were approved or disapproved on the church menu.

He didn't say whether women should wear hats or omit them in church or forego lipstick and rouge.

Intervening clergymen, sometimes with almost a misanthrope attitude toward human relations, injected those petty taboos about dress and food and other minor items of ritual.

JESUS LIKED PARTIES

Jesus was a fundamentalist in that he stressed basic moral concepts. He enjoyed wholesome fun and houseparties at the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus.

Although some churches still veto dinners, Jesus started the first church picnic when he fed the 5,000 after his open air sermon.

Jesus also initiated the Easter sunrise breakfast when he called the fishermen to shore and had a broiled fish breakfast awaiting them.

Jesus believed in advertising, too, which is why he sent the 70 ahead of him, two by two to recruit the crowds.

Jesus was the greatest applied psychologist of all time, so he was not distracted by picayune details.

Followers of Christ must think big and act big! Read the Bible for further proof.

'Pleasant Surprise to See Press Quote Optometrist'

In the three years that I have been in Pontiac and reading the Press, I was pleasantly surprised today on page four to see an article quoting an optometrist, Dr. Sheffington, who happens to be the national director of the Optometric Extension Program.

This group has been running a continuius monthly study course for optometrists for the past 30 years and is responsible for the progress optometry has made.

Reason for this note is that newspapers generally quote the medical profession but hardly give any space to optometrists on matters concerning vision.

Plodding Elephant May See Taxpayer on Donkey

The political parties are beginning their big 1956 election talk. The GOP elephants are being groomed in readiness to wear their fine political regalia and start their trumpet blowing to persuade taxpayers too much. Yet governthe coming big political circus.

It seems at present that the elephants are dragging their feet and moving in circles on the home front. One half million postal employes are waiting for a long-delayed pay raise while the only thing our Congressmen can agree upon is to disagree.

The bill has been turned down twice because it would cost the taxpayers to omuch. Yet government employes are compelled to pay high taxes and living costs without discounts, the same as any other taxpayer. We do not hear anything said about the increased cost of the recent 50 per cent pay increase for all Congressmen.

The taxpayer is becoming disgusted with the way the elephant is slowing up traffic with delaying double talk about building new super highways to handle the large number of automobiles now being put on our dangerous, obsolete roads. We have progressive, constructive men building automobiles. Why can't our politicians get busy and meet the need that arises from this automobile production.

Many dissatisfied taxpayers are thinking of riding donkeys to the polls, for at least a donkey is a laboring man's friend.

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Cant find such small mills for grinding wheat, etc., as you suggested for home use . . . (Mrs. T. P. S.)

Answer—In the pamphlet Wheat to Eat, for which send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, (please name the pamphlet in writing and sign your request) I give the name and address of two companies that supply hand-operated mills suitable for the purpose. The mills sell for $6.25 and $8.50. Probably the demand is not large enough for retailers to stock them.

The calcium and D as you suggest in your Tetany pamphlet eliminated the muscular cramps I used to get in the night and also stopped my hands and feet from falling asleep, so to speak. I was a skeptic, but now I want your famous Pocket Encyclopedia . . . (M. W.)

Answer—Thank you. Anyone who suffers painful leg cramps, pamphlet "Relief for Allergy." Speaking as an old geezer I want to tell you I read your column regularly, and find it both interesting and informative. Much success to you. (G. W. H.)

Answer—It's reassuring to find a reader who doesn't take umbrage at the names I call unidentified persons. The allergy pamphlet is available to anyone who provides stamped, self-addressed envelope. One subject to allergy should study also Little Lesson 26, The Calcium Shortage, for which inclose 25c in addition. Faulty calcium metabolism is a primary cause of allergic sensitivity, I believe.

Please send me any tracts you have on exercises and proper breathing. I have just turned 80, but believe my breathing could be improved. (Mrs. H. H. E.)

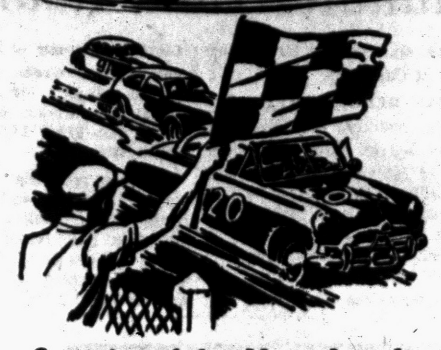

Answer — Send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 21, How to Breathe, and practice the belly breathing exercises as directed therein. Do it regularly not less than twice daily, not more than four times a day. Also, if you live where it is safe to do so, go out and walk, at a comfortable pace, a mile or two, twice a day.

One eye is brown, the other blue. Very shy among people, afraid they'll make fun . . is there any kind of eye-glasses that makes the difference less noticeable . . .? (H. M.)

Answer—Possibly tinted lenses would do so, but these should be worn only on the oculist's advice. All eyes are brown. The irises of albinos have no pigment. "Blue" eyes have the least pigment.

Grain Stored in Skyscraper

Lofty Saginaw Elevator Second in Michigan, 12 Stories High

SAGINAW (UP) — The No. 1 grain terminal for the rich Saginaw Valley's wheat, corn and oats crop is a "skyscraper" equal to many a city office building.

* * *

The Saginaw Grain Co., a mammoth 36-silo structure, stands as tall as a 12-story building, holds a million and one-half bushels of grain, and contains a volume of gigantic equipment. It looms like a Paul Bunyan among ordinary mortals.

The 5-year-old elevator is the second largest in the state and has made this city a leading grain market. Organized by Michigan Bean Co., Frutchey Bean Co., Charles Wolohan Inc. and Wickes Corp. in 1950, it since has become a division of Wickes Corp. and is managed by Robert Wolohan.

The elevator is equipped to unload 24 railroad cars a day and can fill twice as many for export in the same amount of time. It handles corn, wheat, barley, rye, oats and soybeans from individual farmers, smaller elevators and the Federal Commodity Credit Corp.

12 MORE ADDED

Originally 24 silo-type storage bins were built but 12 more were added in 1953 when bumper crops flooded the elevators.

Wolohan said grain brought into the elevator is sampled at a weighing station and conveyed by belt to the top of the 105-foot silos.

* * *

It is weighed, cleaned and dried in a workhouse above the silos. Scales capable of handling 150,000 pounds weigh the grain and it is cleaned by a washer which can wash as much as 1,000 bushels of wheat per hour.

If the grain must be dried, a gas dryer which blows hot air through a machine does the job. It can dry 1,000 bushels of wheat in an hour.

Corn is detoured through 1 of 2 sheilers and processed at the rate of 1,200 bushels per hour. Cobs are directed into a corn crib burner which fries them into a fine ash.

Wolohan said the elevator still is over-taxed on occasion and shipping facilities are planned for the future. The U.S. Corps of Engineers is surveying a 400-foot wharf in the Saginaw River and a loading tower from the elevator to the dock.

Resents Comic Card With Smoky Scene

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP) — Burt Ashman, assistant to the president at the Pennsylvania College for Women, took one look at a new greeting card in the campus bookstore and banned it.

The "get well" card, titled "High Noon, Pittsburg, Pa.," showed a half-dozen pair of eyes peering out of a solid black background. A message read "From (Koff) Pittsburg."

"It isn't the least bit amusing," said Ashman. "Furthermore, it's downright seditious. Not only do they malign us but they add insult to injury by spelling Pittsburgh wrong. It's high time people stopped thinking of Pittsburgh as the Smoky City."

1905 PHS Graduates Hold Reunion

Held at the West Huron street residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic L. Ward, (the hostess is the former Marguerite Wisner, an '05 graduate) the evening included dinner, followed by an informal social gathering.

The class can boast several illustrious classmates among its total of 32, of which there are over 20 still living.

One of the most distinguished members was Col. Elmore B. Gray of the U.S. Army. A graduate of and one-time teacher at West Point, he numbered among his students Omar Bradley and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

GREETINGS SENT

Several members sent letters of greetings which were read before the group. One bore the signature of Harry McBride of Washington, D.C., who has been ambassador to Spain and head of the National Museum of Art in Washington.

Another came from Talbot Smith, night telegraph editor of a San Diego newspaper; still others came from Rena Anderson, a retired teacher now living in Portland, Ore. and Thomas Turk, president of a steel company in Muncie, Ind.

Another highlight was the poem read by Innez Crill James, an original work honoring each of the class members.

SPECIAL GUEST

A special guest was Dr. J. P. Everett, 1903 high school principal, who traveled from Kalamazoo to join with the 22 others present.

Among the guests who congregated to reminisce about old times were Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Randall (Mildred Crill) of Birmingham; Dr. and Mrs. William S. James (Innez Crill) of Ann Arbor, and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Pearl (Della Colvin) of Highland.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCullough (Elsie Fink) of Farmington, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Morris of Cass City.

PONTIAC REPRESENTED

Pontiac residents who were present included Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Seeley of Oakland avenue; Mr. and Mrs. William Backenstose of Oriole road; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Adams (Mamie Bergo) of Chandler avenue, and Laura Efferts of Orchard Lake avenue.

Completing the Pontiac list are Clara Nusbaumer of North Saginaw street; Grace Heitsch of School street; Mrs. Verne Fangboner McCall of Lorraine court and Ethel Lighterness of Front street.

The class notes that it is through the "enthusiastic and skillful direction of Miss Laura Efferts that the class has remained closely united and has enjoyed several reunions, climaxed by the Golden Anniversary reunion."

MRS. WILLIAM CARTER

Patricia McKellar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hegwood of East Pike street, became the bride of William Carter at 10 o'clock this morning in St. Vincent de Paul Church. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson of East Longfellow avenue.

Patricia McKellar Weds William Carter Today

A ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over satin was worn by Patricia McKellar as she approached the altar of St. Vincent de Paul Church this morning to exchange nuptial vows with William Carter.

The 10 o'clock ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with bouquets of white carnations and gladioli.

The bride wore a single strand of pearls and a headpiece of nylon tulle trimmed with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was composed of white carnations and stephanotis in colonial design.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hegwood of East Pike street and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson of East Longfellow avenue.

MATRON OF HONOR

Mrs. Dwaine Church, sister of the bride, wore a mint green lace over satin gown with matching stole for her duties as matron of honor. She wore a single strand of pearls and a headpiece composed of tiny flowers. Her bouquet was composed of white carnations centered with pin roses.

Warrennetta Hamlin was a bridesmaid wearing a pink gown like the matron of honor's. She also wore a strand of pearls and carried an identical bouquet.

Kathleen Hegwood, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a blue organdy dress with nylon tulle and floral headpiece. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Duane Snyder was best man and seating the guests were Duane Church, brother-in-law of the bride; Lloyd Bray, cousin of the bridegroom, and Donald Racine.

NORTHERN TRIP

Mom Pays for the Sins of Youngster

Neighbor Ignores Since Her Child Damaged Garden

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "A neighbor of mine, who also belongs to the same club that I do, flew into a terrible rage not long ago over something my youngster had done to her garden, and hasn't spoken to me since.

"Whenever I see her she turns her face in the opposite direction and completely ignores me.

"I think she is acting very childish over the whole thing. My problem is this: A meeting of our club is to be held in two weeks at her house and I don't know what to do about going.

"Would it be proper for me to go to her house under the circumstances, or would it be best to stay away?"

Answer: If you like her and have bee nfriends and don't want to spiol it, I think you should go and tell her again how sorry you are about the damage your child did to her garden.

To stay away would only widen the rift. On the other hand, if you prefer to cease being friends with her, then don't go.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please answer the following two questions on table manners which came up in our homemaking class the other day:

(1) When eating soup, is it proper to tip the soup bowl in order to get the last mouthful of soup? (2) When conveying food to the mouth, should the fork be brought to the mouth with the tines up or down?

Answer: (1) It is entirely proper to lift it from the front and tip it away from you. (2) If you are spearing something with the fork in the left hand the tines are down; if you are lifting something with the right hand, the tines are up.

Dear Mrs. Post: When both parents are deceased, who is considered the nominal head of the family—the oldest member of the family regardless of sex, or the oldest male members of the family.

I would like this information in connection with my wedding invitations.

French Gals Are Smartly Trousered

Designers Offering Variety of Slacks, Toreador Pants

PARIS (INS) — French girls have some new ways of "wearing the pants" in the family.

Paris designers are offering a wide variety of slacks, toreador pants and shorts for girls to choose according to personality and figure. And for spring and summer there is news in colors, fabrics and styles.

This year Parisian shorts are longer, reaching almost to the knees. Genevieve Fath shows very chic ones of white tennis flannel with a fine black stripe. Worn with a man-styled blazer of matching flannel, they are perfect for the sporty girl with a streamlined figure.

The most feminine way to "wear the pants" appears in a cotton play suit printed with small flowers. The strict shirt top is worn with pantalettes ending below the knees in a pleated frill. Occasionally the pants can be covered with a plain-colored wrap-around skirt.

Dior uses gray mattress ticking for long, tapering slacks. Fath offers sporty trousers of lemon-colored fine corduroy or of a ribbed cotton ottoman with narrow gray and white stripes.

No Season Is Known by Chapman

Ceil's Party Frock Charming in Silk, Taffeta, Shantung

The knowing hand of Ceil Chapman can be easily traced in this fugure enhancing model that is so right for summer parties.

In shantung, glazed or other novelty cotton, its lines are best pronounced, for the standing face-framing collar, the cupped detail on the bosom and its voluminous skirt, flared with inverted pleats, call for fabric that has a natural stiffness.

The skirt, however, should be further emphasized with petticoats. Since Ceil Chapman designs know no season, you will very likely want to make it for fall in taffeta, peau de soie or any of the rich heavy silks.

Luncheon to Follow Sailing Races

A 1 p.m. cooperative luncheon for members and their families will follow the morning sailing race at the Pontiac Yacht Club on Memorial Day, at the clubhouse on Cass Lake.

At this time new and associate members will be introduced. A second race will be run in the afternoon.

Last Sunday was the start of the "Early Bird" series of races. Competition among the sailors has been heightened through the addition of several new lightnings added to the fleet this season.

Cottons, always big news in spring and summer, this year are more varied and colorful than ever before. There are many new weaves resembling silks, satins, tweeds, and there even are metallics.

Rocky Road of Love Is So Normal

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

True love doesn't run smooth. And how can it? Love is a relationship between two individuals who are rarely exactly alike.

Each has a personality with very definite moods, reactions, and attitudes. The play of one personality upon the other is what causes the ruckuses.

And just as the disposition of one will have its high and its low moments, depending on circumstances, the weather and the general atmosphere, so will the relationship.

Perhaps one personality can snap the other out of a low-pressure area. Perhaps one in an excess of self-confidence will take the other for granted, and wilt the other's self-assurance.

If one insists on dominating the other all the time there's bound to be trouble.

It's the friction of two personalities actually (though they are in love) that keeps romance uping and downing. It's almost too much to ask that it should run smoothly.

Yet, smooth, constant pleasantness is what most girls want and expect in their romances. Never mind that they have moods and their boy friends have moods.

Nothing is supposed to mar the even tenor of their days. And when they spot ripples on the surface they begin to get nervous.

Just as this girl is. She writes: "Dear Miss Woodward: We've had lots of fun together for a whole year, but for the past two months I've had the feeling that every time we're together we grow farther apart.

We try to talk over our problems, but I know we're really keeping things from each other. What can I do to get his interest again?

I would hate to lose him, but maybe it would be best for both of us to find new friends. What do you think?"

Any relationship like yours has its fast and furious spurts, then its calming down and tapering-off moments. And it's really the variety that keeps things interesting.

Were the snow to fall every day in the year we'd soon get pretty fed up with that white stuff.

Were the sun to shine brilliantly all the time and never hide its head behind a cloud we'd all be tired of it.

It's the contrast that makes the seasons fascinating. It's the variety in a relationship that keeps it from getting dull.

You've had the fun of feeling very close and discussing your problems with your boy friend. You've had a perfect orgy of talking about your own personal selves. But a constant diet of that is heavy.

You're due for a light-hearted, skim-the-surface period when neither of you know exactly what the other is thinking. It can do you no harm.

That phase will pass, too. You've already reached the point where you've had enough. You want to probe deep again, so why not get started? Can't you dig up a problem you can hash over with him.

Can't you get close to him of your own accord? You can adopt a new attitude with him that is contagious.

You can talk up an intimacy, a dependence, a real congeniality that will convice him you really are close. He's bound to react to that and let you know he feels close to you.

Up and down it goes. The normal progress of a romance. Don't let it frighten you. Ride with the tide.

* * *

In this case it's nothing to worry about. It's the normal beginning of a new romance. But here's what she writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going steady with him for a month now and the only flaw in my romance is that I see entirely too much of him.

* * *

I'm afraid my yen for him is going to be ruined! You see, I really am in love with him and I'd like to keep our romance smooth, but there are times when I feel like being with the girls—and he insists on coming over to my house.

What should I do? Break up with him, or keep on as I have been doing?"

The first month of a new romance is full of a driving urge to get acquainted. There's so much to find out about the person you adore.

* * *

Every moment spent apart is so much time wasted. Every moment spent with anyone else is a frustrating division of attention.

If he's crazy about you, you can't blame him for wanting to be with you as much as possible. After all, you've only been special to each other for a month so far. It's too soon to start complaining.

GET OFF TO GOOD START

You act as though going steady with a new boy were an everyday occurrence, and everything should go on exactly as before. But you have to give time and very special attention to getting such a new relationship off to a good start.

You really have to devote yourself to it. It comes first, and other things have to slide—for a while.

Soon enough the exploratory stage will be over, and you can get your going steady on a practical basis.

So many dates a week. So many afternoons after school. With the rest of your time to yourself to spend as you please—either alone at home or with the girls.

That schedule will come with time.

At the risk of hearing you howl, I can't resist saying that if your yen shows signs of waning after just one month of him, it doesn't now and never did cut into you very deeply.

It should grow as you know him better and see him more. It's too soon for a "down" in your love.

Shutterbug's Specialty Paid Off

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Wise enough to know that, in this age of specialization, just simple photography isn't enough, Ethel looked around until she found a specialty which interested her.

HER SUCCESS STORY

Ethel is a group photographer. Here's how it happened:

"I've always enjoyed taking group pictures," she writes. "It began with my son's Boy Scout group and my daughter's Brownie groups.

"I could always manage to get the group relaxed and unstiff. With practice, the individual faces got better, clearer and more recognizable.

"It was a challenge, but in time I got so I could do it.

"I was hired, now and then, to take special group pictures. My husband's company had a picnic, and I took pictures of the various departments.

"The company paid for them and used the shots in their company magazine. It made a nice profit because many people wanted to buy extra prints for themselves.

"Now I do work for some of the schools, the nearby college, and for fraternities and sororities. My prices are modest, but I do good work, if I say so myself.

The best thing about it," Ethel continues, "is the way business grows and really snowballs.

After the work I did for my husband's company, I made up samples and showed them to other factories and offices in town.

I got quite a few commissions. The word got around and in short order business developed.

A NEW CONTACT

"The woman's club has just asked me to do a special job for them, during garden-show week.

From this contact, I'll probably get more club work. It usually happens that way, one person tells another about my business.

Dr. D. A. Poling Attacks Movies

Christian Herald Editor Assails 'Prodigal Son,' Hollywood Picture

By Religious News Service

NEW YORK — Movies such as "The Prodigal Son" raise the question whether the Bible "has become for Hollywood a cover-up for suggestion and debauchery," according to Dr. Daniel A. Poling.

Dr. Poling voices this concern in an editorial scheduled for the July issue of Christian Herald, of which he is editor.

"Considering the immortal words of the Prodigal Son and the Holy One who spoke them, that picture is a perversion of the scriptural story and, to tens of millions who hold the parable to be sacred, it is blasphemy.

"We simply will not be silent in the face of a growing deluge of evil on the screen."

The editorial will be published in support of an article in a later issue of the magazine, "Look What Hollywood's Doing to Your Bible," by J. C. Furnas.

Kansas College recently learned that 800 of the 3,848 men students on its campus are married.

Confident Living

You, Too, Can Call Upon Reserve Strength in Need

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

William James was one of the greatest men America has ever known. Doctor, anatomist, teacher, psychologist, philosopher—he was all these, and the reference books tell us that his "fascinating style and his broad culture and cosmopolitan outlook made him the most influential American thinker of his day."

This brilliant Harvard professor died forty-five years ago, but one of his many discoveries about human nature is important to all of us today. Everyone knows that there is both fatigue of the mind and fatigue of the soul. We meet them as we struggle with the difficulties of life and they seem to throw up a block beyond which we cannot go, so we become discouraged and give up. This experience is what James called meeting the first conscious barrier of fatigue.

DR. PEALE

But, William James also said that if we will project our faith and our energy beyond this first conscious barrier of fatigue we come into an area where our fatigue drops away and we have what he calls "a second wind, or a new birth of power."

He tells us that we can push beyond this first barrier of fatigue when we practice extra faith. And he goes on to say that there are even second and third barriers of fatigue and that the people who do the great things in life are those who pass beyond these barriers.

The great opera star, Enrico Caruso, was an example of this. One day he was so sick he just didn't know how he would manage to get out of bed for a performance that night. He lay in bed until half past seven when they came to him and said, "Signor Caruso, you must go to the opera house."

PREPARES FOR CURTAIN TIME

He pulled himself up from his bed, in agony and almost blinded by pain. They took him to the opera house and dressed him as he reclined on his couch in the dressing room there. At eight-fifteen, the caller came and announced, "Signor Caruso, you must go on stage."

As he stood in the wings, awaiting his cue, he pulled himself together, and by an act of will and faith plunged his mind and his soul past those barriers of fatigue, rushed onto the stage and gave one of the greatest singing performances of his career. He had found strength within himself to overcome his difficulties.

And another great man, Charles A. Lindbergh, writes in his book, "The Spirit of St. Louis," about his desperate fight against sleep as he crossed the Atlantic on his history-making flight. He longed for just one delicious moment in which he might close his eyes and relax. But he knew that, if he gave way to sleep, this would mean certain death. So he drove himself past these fatigue barriers and, he reports, he seemed to sense the prsenc of another self, a new personality.

LEAVE FATIGUE BEHIND

General Lindberg, like Caruso and James, learned that resident in each of us there is a glorious undefeated personality which we can bring into play when we drive beyond these earlier barriers of fatigue.

• • •

When you're tired, discouraged, defeated and about to say, "I'm licked," that's the time to really pray and believe inner power will be released to bring you through that barrier beyond which you can find reserve assets of strength to overcome all your difficulties.

A Letter To Our NON-CATHOLIC Neighbors

Our families live amicably next door to each other and often become lifetime friends. Our sons fight side by side on every battlefield. We work together in the same shops and factories... root for the same baseball teams... do business with one another in a spirit of mutual trust every day.

In these and other phases of everyday life, there is a close association which promotes understanding and respect. But in religion... where this close association does not exist... there is often a regrettable lack of understanding and a corresponding absence of good-will.

Many people, for instance, have all sorts of false ideas about Catholics and the Catholic Church. They actually believe that Catholics worship statues... that many sordid things happen behind convent walls ... that Catholics do not believe in the Bible... that Catholic teaching is pure superstition and the Mass nothing but mumbo-jumbo.

All non-Catholics, of course, do not believe such things. But enough of these false rumors are in circulation to cause some sincere and intelligent non-Catholics to look upon the Catholic Church with suspicion, and to reject Catholic truth without even troubling to investigate it.

It is for this reason that the Knights of Columbus, a society of Catholic laymen, publishes advertisements like this explaining what Catholics really believe. We want our non-Catholic friends and neighbors to understand us and our Faith, even if they do not wish to join us. We want them to know the Catholic Church as it really is... not as it is so often misrepresented to be.

It is also important to you personally, however, to inquire into the teaching of the Catholic Church. For unless you do, you cannot know whether the Catholic Church is or is not the Church established by Jesus Christ for your salvation. You cannot intelligently accept or reject Catholic teaching until you investigate it and know what it really is.

A distinguished Catholic author has written "A Letter to a Friend Not of My Faith." This letter has been published in the form of a pamphlet which can be read in a few minutes... and which gives a remarkably clear and beautiful explanation of Catholic beliefs, worship and history. More importantly, it gives a blue print of Christian living which will deeply move you whether you accept or reject the Catholic viewpoint.

Free

This highly interesting pamphlet is well worth the few minutes it will take you to read it. We will be glad to send you a copy free, on request. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. KC-23.

First Arab Refugees Arrive in Country

Gratitude and friendship on the part of an American photographer have brought to the U. S. Jacob and Rose Marto and their four young daughters.

Last week the Martos were among the 900,000 refugees living in deprivation in an Arab displaced persons camp in the Middle East. Today they are on their way to a new life in Portland, Ore., where they will be greeted by Rupert Leach, the commercial photographer responsible for bringing them here.

In providing the government-required assurances, Mr. Leach has undertaken to guarantee Marto a job, housing for the Marto family, and a further guarantee that they will not become public financial charges. Moreover, he is paying the cost of transporting them across the country by train.

The story of Leach's friendship with the Martos began eight years ago when he went to Jordon on a photography assignment.

Without Marto's help, Leach later said, his mission would have been a failure.

Gravel-Breaking Ceremonies Slated

A Gravel - Breaking Ceremony will be held at the Covert Methodist Church, 2775 Pontiac Lake Rd. Sunday at 4 p.m. Dr. Glenn Drye, assistant to the bishop, will be the speaker.

A 24x24 structure with full basement will be added to the present church. The extra seating space will accommodate 108 more people for the worship services.

Covert Methodist Church was begun as a mission Sunday School in 1931. The first meeting place was the kindergarten room of the Covert School. Worship Service was started in October 1933 with the Rev. John Roberson, a ministerial student, as pastor.

Later the services were held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Wheeler and continued there until the present church was built in 1937.

The church was moved on to a basement in 1944. Soon more space was needed and the addition was planned.

The Rev. Charles S. Maher is the present pastor. He will preach Sunday morning on "Where Are the Dead?"

He is a graduate of Pontiac High School, Northwestern College in Minneapolis and Detroit Bible Institute.

13 Young People to Be Confirmed Sunday Morning

Thirteen young people will be received into Communicant membership Sunday at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Joslyn at Fourth Streets, by rite of confirmation, Sunday at 10:45 a. m.

Those to be confirmed are: Ronald Gardner, James Cottrill, Gerald Kandt, Donald Mann, Richard Toth, Lawrence Goffar, Perry Buhl, Sandra Tinson, Carolyn Colbeth, Brenda Voynar, Elaine Clauson, Billie Jane Frisch, and Janet Lichvar.

The Rev. Geo. Mahder, pastor of the congregation, has picked Matthew ch. 7, vs. 13-14 as the confirmation sermon text, and has titled his sermon "Broad-way, or Strait-way?"

The choir, under the direction of Paul McMichael, will sing "A Hymn of Glory Let Us Sing."

A new adult confirmation class is now starting and will meet every Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Beginning June 5, morning worship services will be held twice Sunday morning, one at 8 a. m., and the other at 10:45 a. m. Bible Class and Sunday School time will remain the same, starting at 9:30 and running to 10:30 a. m.

Police Visit Schools to Give Plain Facts

By Religious News Service

DETROIT—Uniformed police officers are addressing high school assemblies here in an effort to give youngsters the plain facts about juvenile hoodlumism.

The program was started after Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins met with Msgr. Carroll F. Deady, superintendent of parochial schools, and Arthur L. McGrath, assistant superintendent of public schools.

The meeting grew out of a planned gang fight which was nipped in the bud recently.

The officers, Commissioner Piggins said, will explain to the pupils what it means to be a good citizen, what it means to have a police record and how important it is to cooperate with the police.

In each of the record production years of 1952 and 1953 nearly twice as much food was grown as in 1934, with 4,000,000 fewer farmers doing the job on 84,000,000 more acres.

Vivian Scott, Graduate of Local High School to Play June 5

In May 1949, she was graduated from the Juilliard School of Music where she had studied with Rosina Lhevinne.

A John Hay Whitney Fellowship enabled her to study in Europe. This winter she has been studying with Carl Friedburg in New York.

Vivian presented a recital in Town Hall, New York City March 2. This was made possible by Jugg Inc. which gives assistance to young talented artists.

Catholic Churches to Hold 'Youth Night'

By Religious News Service

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — A "Youth Night" will be held at Roman Catholic Churches here every Monday of the coming school year.

Adult leaders will be trained this summer to conduct religious, cultural, recreational and entertainment programs. The first "Youth Night" will be Aug. 22.

Purpose of the citywide effort is to provide the young people with enjoyable and wholesome activities, let them meet Catholic leaders, and encourage them to resist secular trends that violate Catholic standards of modesty, culture and morality.

Oakland Area Communities Prepare to Honor War Dead

Tribute will be paid the war dead Monday in traditional Memorial Day services throughout Oakland and surrounding counties.

Parades, speeches and the decoration of graves are planned in almost every community, honoring those who fell in the Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II, and the Korean conflict.

Lt. Gov. Philip Hart will be the featured speaker at Rochester's observance of the holiday. He will speak at ceremonies following the parade, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. The program will be held at Mount Avon Cemetery.

Members of all the veteran organizations will march, along with four bands, two from Rochester, one from Troy and one from Avondale high schools.

Lake Orion

Imlay Church Plans Addition

$16,500 Unit Approved by Board of Trustees at First Congregational

IMLAY CITY—Plans for a $16,500 church school unit were approved this week by the Board of Trustees of the First Congregational Church here.

The building, in the form of an addition to the present parish house, would be 37 x 31 feet in size.

Plans call for a basement to be divided into six classrooms for Sunday School instruction, and a large room on the main floor to serve as a hall for social activities or church programs.

The building will extend to the south of the parish house and will conform to its architecture, officials said.

Construction will start soon after school closes. During the school year the parish house has been used by the two second grades.

Officer Stops Runaway Auto

Oak Park Motorist Collapses at Wheel After Insulin Shot

OAK PARK (INS) — A serious tragedy was averted in Oak Park last night when a police officer jumped into a runaway auto and brought it under control.

Patrolman Donald Nagel was cruising on Nine Mile road near Coolidge when he saw a car with a man slumped over the wheel crash through a wooden guard rail in a parking lot and careen onto the busy highway.

Nagel parked his car, jumped into the runaway auto and brought it under control.

Physicians said the driver of the car, Paul L. Smith, 32, of Oak Park, had collapsed as a result of an insulin shot he had received two hours earlier.

Milford MSC Freshman Wins Garden Scholarship

MILFORD—David Longfield of Milford, a freshman at Michigan State College has won the Milford Garden Club scholarship award for the second time.

Four applicants from Milford High School were considered by the Garden Club committee, and David was selected because of his "excellent record" after one year in college.

Fund Chairman Mrs. John Jackson explained that the award may be given to a previous winner only if he has won the $250 award the preceding year.

"This does not mean that David will receive the award all during his four years," Mrs. Jackson said.

CAREFUL SCREENING

"We had hoped that a girl from the 4-H group would quality this year, but after careful screening of all applicants, David again was the winner."

The group judges by a point system, and applicants must have interests in horticulture and animal husbandry or a related subject.

Money for the scholarship fund was raised through the garden club's annual card party, given this spring.

In a report to Erwin Johnson, principal at Milford High, from the dean at Michigan State College, Longfellow was lauded for his outstanding academic record during his first year there. He had better than a B average, and is majoring in agriculture.

The four students who came close to meeting the qualifications were Tom Sandford, Crystal Lavidiere, Judy Vanderhoff; and James Callahan who was graduated in 1952 but is an outstanding applicant.

Milford Plans to Sell Tract

119 Acres Open for Bid in Village; Will Hold Strips Along Streets

MILFORD — Village President Bartlett Smith met with officials of the Huron-Clinton-Metropolitan Authority Wednesday to discuss the sale of 119 acres of land, released for bids recently by the Conservation Department.

The tract of land is between South Milford road and South Hill road in the village of Milford.

Commission members hope to reserve 33 feet on the site's east line so that Mill street may be widened and extended to the village limits. They also propose to reserve the corner at General Motors and South Milford road so that it may be widened, making a safer and better approach into the village of Milford.

P. K. McWethy told secretary of the authority Smith that the authority will not ask for bids on the land until the Council has had time to present plans for definite use of the land, and detailing how the Council plans to re-zone that area.

The authority commissioners will meet again with village officials at the park office on June 9.

Will Ask Dismissal of Suit Against Two

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—Maurice Merritt, attorney for Royal Oak Township, said today he will ask for a hearing in Oakland County Circuit Court for dismissal of a suit against 2 of 3 Royal Oak Township policemen charged with false arrest.

James P. Howard filed the $100,000 damage suit Feb. 17 against Lt. Edward A. Wilson, Capt. John Skidmore and Lt. William Ware, after he had been held overnight by police for questioning in the beating of Carver School Board Secretary Loretta Baker.

Merritt said that he will ask the hearing for dismissal of charges against Skidmore and Ware, on the grounds that at no time did either of the two police officers have any contact with Howard. He said he would make the request Tuesday.

Combined Disk-Drag-Drill Boon for Wheat Farmers

By UNITED PRESS

From the wheat fields of the west comes a farm implement which promises to be a time-saver in Michigan wheat and oat planting operations.

The implement is actually three implements wrapped into one. It's a combination disk-drag-drill which attaches directly behind the plow and enables a farmer to dispense with the usually tedious task of preparing a field for planting.

Farmers in the western wheat belt have been using the unit successfully for some time and at least one of the single-operation planters has been tried in Michigan, at the farm of Homer Rodeheaver near Richland.

Rodeheaver said he was sold on the implement after drilling 20 acres of oats in about 15 hours, one third of the time it would have taken him to complete the planting had he plowed, disked, dragged and drilled in separate operations.

The unit consists of a clodbuster in front of the drill, double disks below the drill and a series of packing wheels behind the drill. It is being manufactured commercially to sell for about $400.

Herefords Get Brighton Home

Fisher Farm Manager Sees Hi-Point Tradition Carried to New Locale

ROMEO (AP)—An expert close to the scene predicts the tradition of breeding blooded Hereford cattle, started at the Hi-Point farm near Romeo, will live on in a new location.

Allen Rush, manager of the internationally known Hi-Point for 25 years, speaks with authority on the subject.

Industrialist Edward F. Fisher sold the 2,500-acre farm and disposed of 600 head of blooded Herefords last fall to make way for a Ford Motor Co. proving grounds in Macomb County.

Fisher, however, recently purchased a 1,000-acre spread near Brighton in Livingston County. Rush said the Hi-Point name has been transferred to the new farm.

TWO TRIPS WEEKLY

Rush, putting the finishing touches on a new home near Mount Clemens, travels to the new Fisher farm twice weekly to act in an advisory capacity.

* * *

He says Fisher has 75 head of registered Herefords at the new Hi-Point.

Foundation for the new Brighton herd, Rush reports, will be Tr Zato Heir 282d, the prize Hereford bull which brought $85,500 last year at the Romeo sale.

Fisher has re-acquired a one-third interest in the bull for the new herd.

MEMORIAL DAY

General John A. Logan, issued an order, closing it with these words: "Let no ravages of time testify to coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided Republic.".

While this order was issued in 1868 it is as fresh as if he had placed it our hands today. We stand on the sidelines as men march proudly behind waving flags, we shall listen to an address which stirs our very soul, go to the resting place of men, place a wreath on the green coverlet of those we have loved, telling them, "We have not forgotten."

On May 30th time stands still, we live again in the shadow of our great—the mother who shielded and inspired us, the father who gave us strength and sturdy character, son or brother who paid the supreme price for a free and undivided Republic. Memorial Day has deep significance for all of us; we'll observe it fittingly.

Marilyn Monroe's Veep Proves a Wise Gamble

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—When Marilyn Monroe first met Milton H. Green—the brilliant photographer who's now her Veep—her mouth flew open . . . and she wasn't posing.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Why, you're just a boy!" she exclaimed.

He's only 33 now—he was 31 then—and in the portraits he took of her for Look, he saw her also as a lady. "I thought she looked very chic," he has said since.

He didn't ask her to take off as much as possible. He spoke to her of the good taste of exuding sex appeal while covered. His pet portrait shows her in a black terry cloth robe—just her blond head and bare legs protruding.

★ ★ ★ ★

Impressed by the boyish, pipe-smoking, open-collared Milton and his attractive wife Amy, and their passion for good taste, Marilyn chose him as vice-president of "Marilyn Monroe Productions" last fall—and it appears now that she gambled wisely.

There was much sniping at the time.

MILT AND MARILYN
. . . he saw her as a lady.

But Marilyn seems about to make a new and better deal with 20th Century-Fox . . . thanks to the fortitude she got from the Greenes.

Milton's always been an individualist. At Textile High School on 14th St., he flunked advertising—and also photography—because he rebelled against some of the rules.

★ ★ ★ ★

"It reticulated"—came out with a lot of lines across it—"and I thought it was a wonderful design. The teachers only considered that I'd put a plate on a radiator when I shouldn't have."

★ ★ ★ ★

He photographed a statue of the nude Venus.

"That's ridiculous," protested young Milton.

He went away from there—to Abraham Lincoln High School, then, won a scholarship to Pratt Institute—and eventually became head of his own small advertising agency as well as a $50,000-a-year photographer for Look with a personal contract with Mrs. Fleur Cowles.

Through MM Productions, Marilyn hopes to feather her nest for her later years.

"A lot of actresses are forced to do pictures they shouldn't because they need money," Greene says. "She's established a corporation which one day could be worth a lot of money. She may have hit oil or uranium in 10 years, and she should own valuable real estate and be producing pictures and perhaps working with other actors and actresses."

★ ★ ★ ★

What's a meeting of Marilyn Monroe Productions like?

It was on Milton's birthday and he was being "surprised" at his studio with a party given by Amy.

Marilyn and Jay Kantor were under orders to keep Milton at the meeting 'til 6:30 but they almost ran out of business to discuss.

"I've got to go," Greene would say, and Kantor would cough and say, "There's one more thing I wanted to bring up . . . now what was it?"

The surprise was a success and Marilyn was overjoyed. She said it was the first surprise party she ever participated in.

★ ★ ★ ★

Her Veep has thriftily allowed her to use his studio for her offices. Under the name of Milton H. Greene, Photographer, on the door, was added Marilyn Monroe Productions.

Gun Powder Still Packs Wallop After 174 Years

YORKTOWN, Va (AP) — Edward B. Jelks proved that a cask of ancient British stuff he unearthed still packed a wallop.

Archeologist Jelks sprinkled some of it on the ground touched a match to it and was rewarded by a satisfactory "whoosh." It was gunpowder and the bronze bound cask marked British ordnance indicated it was at least 174 years old. It was probably left after the Revolutionary War Surrender of Lord Cornwallis.

Sixty-five per cent of the buildings in Okinawa, scene of the last big battle of World War II, have been rebuilt.

Last Union Vet to Sit One Out on Memorial Day

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Albert Woolson, 108, last surviving member of the Civil War Union Army, will break a long-standing tradition Monday when he "sits out" Memorial Day.

The old soldier's daughter Mrs. John Kobus said it will be the first Memorial Day in her memory that Woolson hasn't been personally feted or a parade marcher. However, at Newark, N.J., the annual Memorial Day parade will be dedicated to him Monday.

"We're keeping him pretty quiet these days," Mrs. Kobus said. Monday will be just another "quiet day at home" for Woolson, she said.

Woolson was hospitalized twice this spring with lung congestion but has made almost a complete recovery. He is up every day and the past two Saturdays he visited the family's lake cottage about 38 miles from here. His appetite is fine.

"He's feeling very good," Mrs. Kobus said.

Club Women to Switzerland

Head for 2nd Session of Annual Convention in Geneva

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three hundred and forty-two women are on their way overseas today for the first international session of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The General Federation, world's largest organization of women with 11 million members in the United States and 33 foreign countries, is holding its first double-session convention.

Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, Jerseyville, Ill., General Federation president, recessed the first session last night after four days of meetings to reconvene May 31 for two days in Geneva, Switzerland.

This is the first time that a major women's organization has held a convention with sessions in this country and in another on such a large scale.

In Geneva the delegates will be joined by several hundred women representatives of affiliated clubs in Britain, Western European countries, the Middle East and Africa.

At sessions last night that more or less ended the convention in Philadelphia—except for a few get-togethers of lesser importance today—Secretary of Labor Mitchell told the women the Eisenhower administration had given equal job opportunities, regardless of race or religion, to those working under federal contracts.

Woman Mayor Names Husband New Mayoress

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. John Bonham was named mayor of St. Pancras last night and threw the Council into a tizzy by naming her husband mayoress.

What's more, Mrs. Bonham, who served as a councillor before her appointment, is going to see that her spouse is addressed as "mayoress."

There has never been a male mayoress in St. Pancras before and the local solons felt that the ceremonial insignia—a snappy gold and diamond pendant—might look a trifle odd on a husky, balding six-footer.

* * *

Councillor Fred Powell, leader of the Council, suggested a better title might have been "mayor's consort," but Mrs. Bonham would have none of it.

And what does John Bonham, writer and broadcaster, think about it?

"As long as people don't start addressing letters to me as Mrs. John Bonham, I shan't mind," he said.

Pennsylvania Child Dies After Salk Shot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania has recorded its first polio death among a half million schoolchildren inoculated with the Salk vaccine.

Philadelphia General Hospital disclosed that 8-year-old Pamela Erlichman, daughter of a Levittown, Pa., physician, died Wednesday night of bulbar polio. She received the vaccine May 2.

Pamela's parents, Dr. and Mrs. I. Fulton Erlichman, expressed complete faith in the serum and said their only other child, James, 6, would get his second Salk shot when the inoculation program is resumed.

The vaccine used in Pennsylvania was manufactured by Wyeth Laboratories, Inc.

New Tornadoes Hit Wheat Belt

Residents of Shattered Town Duck Again From Menacing Twisters

UDALL, Kan. (AP)—New tornadoes hopping around Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma sent some jittery residents ducking for cover again last night as the rebuilding of this flattened town began.

The third straight day of tornado activity which has left at least 114 dead and more than 700 injured in four states was accompanied by severe thunderstorms, heavy rain and hail in some areas.

A rash of menacing twisters broke out but there were no reported deaths or serious injuries. Most of the property damage was minor. Many funnels failed to hit the ground.

* * *

The first new building—a 40x80-foot frame structure to serve as a government and communications center — went up yesterday in Udall, where at least 73 were killed and more than 269 were injured by a tornado Wednesday night.

Relief help poured into the community. Workers from surrounding towns and representatives of relief agencies teamed up with the National Guard.

* * *

An estimated 500 persons were still missing here but it is believed many of these might be living with other people.

The tornado-battered part of Blackwell, Okla., where 18 were killed and more than 500 injured Wednesday night, was hit by flood waters yesterday.

The Chikaskia River that loops the city north and east crested 3½ feet above flood stage, blocking highways in the stricken northeast section. About 15 lowland families were evacuated.

Although James Smithson, founder of the Smithsonian Institution, was English and never visited the United States, he left his fortune in trust to this country.

Thief to Eat Shortcake as Consolation Award

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Every Friday 75-year-old Samuel Bodian makes a trip to the bank. He gets several hundred dollars for a knitting mill where he works, puts it in a brown paper bag and always follows the same route back.

Yesterday, a thief, apparently familiar with Bodian's routine, waylaid him, grabbed the bag and fled.

Bodian told police, however, that he had made the trip to the bank four hours early yesterday. The second trip, he said, was to get some strawberries and that's what was in the bag.

Salk Vaccine Potent After Heat Exposure

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's Salk polio vaccine, unused because of a dispute over additional testing, is still potent despite exposure to 95-degree temperatures after a refrigeration unit failed.

Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel, city health commissioner, said yesterday he was advised by Parke, Davis & Co., of Detroit, manufacturers of the vaccine, that although there was some loss of potency, the vaccine is still above minimum standards.

The 28,000 cubic centimeters of vaccine, enough for the first round shots for the city's 28,000 eligible first and second-graders, has not been used because Krumbiegel wants to run his own safety check in a small, pilot program.

Impose Curfew in Cameroons

French Police Clamp Tight Controls on Area After Rioting

PARIS (AP) — France clamped a tight police grip on its Central African trust territory of the Cameroons last night after five days of demonstrations and clashes in which nine persons died.

Reports reaching Paris from the territory, which France administers for the U.N., said at least 80 persons were wounded. Many others have been arrested.

Authorities imposed a curfew throughout the area, located just below Africa's West Coast hump. The cause of the disorders, which began Sunday in Douala, a port city of some 100,000, was not clear.

* * *

The Cameroon trouble came as French officials mapped urgent moves to cope with spreading terrorist activities in France's North African possessions — particularly Algeria and Morocco.

Nationalist bands were roaming the Algerian mountains, defying French troops, and terrorists were striking down victims even in the heart of the big cities of both Algeria and Morocco.

Trailmobile built the first freight trailer for motor vehicles in 1912. It was a pygmy by today's trailer standards, carrying only 1,000 pounds of goods.

Pegs Hopes on Lake Superior

Iron Trade Bets Billion on Low-Grade Ores

NEW YORK (AP)—The iron ore industry is betting a stack of blue chips — nearly a billion dollars worth—on the Lake Superior region as the continuing primary source of supply for the nation's steel mills, executives said this week at the 63rd general meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

* * *

The rich, open-pit ores of Mesabi and other ranges in the Superior district are facing depletion but a transition to taconite and jasper ores already is taking place.

It is on development of these lower grade taconite and jasper ores that the big companies have placed their billion-dollar bet.

The stakes are high, not only to the companies and the Lake Superior region directly involved but to the nation as well. A continuing safe source of supply for the strategic steel industry ranks paramount in national defense.

BLUE CHIP BETS

The Erie Mining Co. has a 300 million dollar program under way on taconite at Aurora, Minn., and the Reserve Mining Co. has an estimated 200 million dollars earmarked for development of taconite plants at Babbitt and Silver Bay, Minn.

* * *

The Babbitt plant will get into production this October with a rated capacity of three million tons annually. Plans call for its eventual boosting to 10 million annual tons.

* * *

The United States Steel Corp. has two pilot taconite plants in operation near Virginia, Minn.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., in conjunction with the Ford Motor Co., has a jasper plant already in production at Humboldt, Mich. Another jasper plant is under way at Republic, Mich. It will go into operation in early 1956 with eventual capacity of two million tons. The Cleveland-Cliffs investment will go eventually to more than 100 million dollars.

* * *

The Cleveland-Cliffs and Ford operation at Humboldt shipped 150,000 tons of processed jasper ores last year and tonnage will be increased greatly this year.

BIG YEAR SEEN

A spokesman for the Lake Superior Iron Ore Assn. said about 400,000 tons of low grade ore were shipped last year from the district. Tonnages shipped in 1955 will probably go over a million.

* * *

The Humboldt jasper ore averages about 35 per cent iron while the Minnesota taconite is about 25 to 29 per cent. An oil flotation process is used on the jasper ore to separate the iron from waste rock. A magnetic process is used on taconite, however, to extract the pulverized iron.

Concentrated pellets, ranging up to 62 per cent iron, are shipped to the steel companies. These shipments are higher in iron content than even the rich open-pit ores on which the fame of Mesabi and other ranges are founded.

SNIPERSCOPE — The new sniperscope is demonstrated in this Army photo taken at Ft. Belvoir, Va. It is an improved model of the electronic infrared device which permits the soldier to aim in the dark. It has a longer range, more rugged construction and a more accurate aiming device than the World War II model. It's shown above on an M-1 rifle.

Takes Outside Job to Support Orchard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If you're planning to retire to South Florida and let one of those pretty avocado or lime orchards support you, a veteran newspaperman and amateur truck farmer advises: "Don't."

Steve Trumbell, a Miami Herald reporter, told his readers that he bought 30 acres of land with that idea 21 years ago. He's been working at the newspaper business ever since to support the place," he said. His avocado and lime grove returned $834.81 last year, he said, but $500 of that was from rent on 10 acres of the land.

"There have been years of some profits," he said, "but never enough that would have made the place a living."

Police Hold Couple Planning Big Night

BOSTON (AP)—A 48-year-old man and his wife are going to have a second chance to decide if they still want to blow their life savings of $6,000 in a single night's celebration.

The couple, both paper cutters, were locked up last night "for their own good," police said.

They were picked up last night by police after they were reported flashing large sums of money in the Charlestown section.

Police Lt. Michael F. O'Brien said the couple told him they had determined to spend their life savings last night on one grand blow out. He did not disclose their names.

Shots for Poison Ivy?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The department of dermatology of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School reveals it is working on a vaccine for the prevention of poison ivy. Scientists have prepared for a six-week test of the serum and are calling for students from the university to take part in the trials.

Brazil boasts the largest stadium in the world, Maracana, which seats more than 150,000 spectators.

Rotarians Give Dulles Honorary Membership

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — John Foster Dulles has been made an honorary member of the Watertown Rotary Club.

The secretary of state was given a diamond-studded Rotary pin and a membership card yesterday when he stopped at nearby Dexter en route to his home on Main Duck Island in Lake Ontario.

The Rev. Harold H. Niles, president of the club, said Dulles had spread the Rotary ideal of "service above self."

Eddie Denies Rumors

Stanky's Managerial Life With Cards May Be Through; Walker Candidate

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Is fiery Eddie Stanky out as St. Louis Cardinal manager?

A tidal wave of rumors here and in Rochester, N.Y., say that the former New York Giant infielder is out and that Harry Walker, manager of the Rochester farm club, is in.

* * *

But Eddie said last night:

* * *

Bill Walsingham, Redbird vice president, also denied that Stanky was about to make his departure.

The rumors began here several days ago as the club ended a brief, but bad, road trip in which they dropped six of seven games and Eddie reportedly displayed some temper.

The rumors got into print yesterday when J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News, said in a copyrighted story that Stanky's tenure as Redbird pilot is "nearing the end of the road."

The man who has the answer —August A. Busch, president of the ball club and of Anheuser-Busch, the club's owner—could not be reached, but sportswriters here considered it significant that Busch has not come to Stanky's defense as he did last July during another hot spot in his managerial career.

In Rochester, George Beahon, sports columnist for the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, said last night he learned positively that Walker would replace Stanky within 48 hours.

Speaking of the rumors, Stanky said:

* * *

"People have been wrong before; I'm not going to let a little rumor disturb me. I thought it was agreed that this was a young club, that it might take two weeks, two months or longer for it to hit its best stride."

* * *

He said he hasn't discussed the team's problems with club officials since the team started the recent road trip to Cincinnati and Chicago. The Cardinals moved into fifth place last night with a 7-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

'Miracle' Catch by Tuttle, Hunch by Bucky Bring Win

DETROIT (AP)—A "miracle" and a hunch carried the Detroit Tigers to a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox last night.

The "miracle" was an almost incredible catch made by centerfielder Bill Tuttle in the 9th inning.

The hunch was a last-minute decision by manager Bucky Harris to use catcher Frank House instead of Bob Wilson.

But let's take them one by one.

The hunch—before the game, Harris noticed that a strong wind was blowing out toward right field. He wanted to take advantage of it, if possible.

As Hoeft went out to warm up, Harris told him, "I'm going to use House tonight because of the strong wind. He'll probably hit a home run for you."

House, who hadn't played in 10 days, and whose batting average was only .197, slammed a home run in the 5th inning to account for the only run of the game.

The "miracle" — and House's homer would have been useless had it not been for the "miracle" catch made by Tuttle. Here's the picture:

Jim Brideweser opened the 9th with a single, and was sacrificed to 2nd. He represented the tying run.

The next batter, Jim Rivera, lashed a savage line drive to centerfield, the ball kept rising up, up, up. It looked like a certain triple and, if it bounced right, an inside-the-park home run.

But Tuttle turned and raced toward the 415-foot sign in centerfield, never looking back. Then, at the last second, he stuck up his glove and hauled down the ball.

Zauchin Blasts Near-Record 10 Runs Batted In

Sox Rookie From Royal Oak Hits 3 Homers and a Double

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams is helping the Boston Red Sox just sitting on the bench says Norm Zauchin after driving in 10 runs with three homers and a double.

Zauchin credited Williams with invaluable tips last night after he went on a batting spree against Washington that brought him within one of the American League record for RBI's in a single game. Boston won 16-0.

"It's great to have Williams around," Zauchin beamed in the dressing room. "While he's been working out I've talked to him about hitting—little things, but they've helped."

Williams, the 36-year old left-handed slugger, sat on the bench for the first time last night only hours after he'd been switched to the active list from the restricted list by American League headquarters. Manager Mike Higgins decided to use him in a pinch hitting role if the occasion arose but Zauchin had things well in hand.

Zauchin, who had batted .214 and connected for only one home run in 24 games earlier this season, belted a two-run homer in the first inning, a grand slam in the second, a one-run double in the fourth and a three-run blast in the fifth.

The 23-year old, 220 pound first baseman who hit .289 for Louisville last season, had a chance to better the AL mark of 11 RBIs held jointly by Tony Lazzeri of New York and Rudy York of the Red Sox.

But in the seventh inning he struck out on relief pitcher Pedro Ramos' curve ball.

"Just before I struck out," Zauchin recalls, "Williams told me to go up there and look for the fast ball. But I went for the curve. When I went back out to first base I told the umpire (Ed Rommel):

"'I wish I had that first pitch back again. It was the fast ball Williams told me to hit.'"

The game was only the seventh —including two exhibitions — the big righthander had played at Fenway Park. Most of his playing has been on the road.

"I know I'm not a .220 hitter and at the same time I'm not a .300 hitter, either. But I feel I can hit .280 and if so I should be able to stick in the majors for 10 years."

Nashua Choice for Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Nashua, a horse with a pronounced penchant to run just enough and no more to win when he can, meets a gang of eight hoping he might cut it too fine in the 79th running of the Preakness today.

Some of the trainers themselves were wondering why they and others had entries against the formidable Nashua except that so far he has run away from nobody.

Nashua's eight opponents in the mile and three sixteenths Preakness aren't a really distinguished lot, but neither are they pigs so if he gets to fooling around he could be taken although reigning an odds-on choice.

Auburn 9 Trips Union Club 6-1

Auburn's Merchants, trimmed Thursday by GMC, bounced back Friday night at Wisner Field with a 6-1 victory over CIO 584, in men's Class A city league baseball.

Hud Johnson hurled for Auburn, limiting CIO to three hits, singles. He struck out eight and walked two. Johnson yielded CIO's only run in the 3rd inning on a walk and two straight singles.

Edison Griffin was charged with the loss. Merchants tagged him for eight hits, 4 in the three-run 3rd inning. They scored a run in the 1st and added another in the 7th. Griffin fanned 11 and walked two.

Robinson Keeps Yankee Homer Formula Going

Bombers Stretch Lead in AL to 3 Games With Win Over Orioles

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How about that crafty old Casey Stengel? He's got himself pitching troubles, so what's he do but get his guys to belt homers and score their runs early to give the New York Yankees a three-game lead in the American League.

Casey's had only 16 complete games from his pitching staff in the 38 contests so far. And so when Bob Turley, who had five complete games, failed a second time to make it six on May 20, the Professor worked out the new formula.

The Yanks were a half-game out of first on May 20. Since then, they've scored first-inning runs in nine straight games and hit 11 home runs to win eight times.

It was the same formula last night. They rocked Baltimore for four runs in the first and Whitey Ford coasted home for his sixth victory, 6-2.

Without the first-inning support, Ford might not have claimed his fifth complete game. The Orioles got one run back in the first, and another on Chuck Diering's homer in the second.

Eddie Robinson put the power in the opening surge, tagging loser Erv Palica for a three-run homer. It was the fourth homer in the nine-game stretch for Robinson, and three have come with two men on base.

The Yanks moved up a half-game with the victory as Cleveland was rained out at Kansas City. Third place Chicago dropped a 1-0 game to Detroit and Billy Hoeft while Boston clobbered Washington 16-0 to take fifth place as rookie Norb Zauchin batted in 10 runs with three homers—one a grand slam.

A three-run 10th extended Philadelphia's streak with Herm Wehmeier the winner after Andy Seminick's two-run homer tied it in the ninth.

Eaglet 9 Captures Extra-Inning Test

A bases-loaded walk in the 8th inning enabled Orchard Lake St. Mary, Suburban Catholic League baseball champion, to nose out Detroit St. Andrew, 3-2 in the 1st contest of the Catholic League divisional playoffs. Game was played at Northwestern in Detroit.

Hicks and Crocker Share Halfway Lead

By JACK SAYLOR

Marlene Bauer, who has been playing golf for 18 of her 21 years, set a new competitive record for Forest Lake Country Club course Friday. But it was still Betty Hicks, joined by Fay Crocker, pacing the field at the half-way point in the Wolverine Ladies Open golf tournament.

Miss Hicks, Palm Springs, Calif. veteran tacked a 38-38—76 to her 1st round 72 for a 36-hole total of 148. Joining her atop the field for the $5,000 tourney was Fay Crocker, with 36-38—74—148.

Miss Bauer, who plays out of the Sarasota (Fla.) Bay Country Club, matched her Thursday score of 35 on the front nine and conquered the long back nine with a 3-under par 36 for a 71.

It equalled the practice round which established a course record last Wednesday.

Strong winds and 80-plus temperatures sent some of the scores soaring, but Marlene was steady and consistent. She was hitting nearly every green in regulation figures and incurred her only bogie on the 5th hole, while stroking in birdies on the 1st, 9th, 10th 11th and 18th holes.

Miss Bauer's record card:

Par Out	534	344	445—36
Bauer Out	434	354	446—35
Par In	345	435	445—36—72
Bauer In	436	435	446—36—71

"I've always been a slow starter in tournaments," Marlene reported. "My short game improved a lot from yesterday." She had taken 45 strokes on the back nine Thursday and her 80-71—151 vaulted her from 6th place after the 1st round into 3rd.

Betty Dodd and Peggy Kirk Bell are still tied for 2nd, 2 strokes back of Misses Hicks and Crocker. Each booked 36-41—77 Friday.

Miss Hicks, who registered 5 birdies Thursday, waited until the 16th hole to bag one Friday, but she added another on 18 to salvage a tie for the lead.

She survived a one-stroke penalty on the par-3, 14th hole when her tee shot went in a water hazard. She chipped on and rammed in a 25-foot putt for a bogie 4.

Miss Crocker, the 36-year-old South American champion, played an exceptionally steady round in tying Miss Hicks for the lead. The personable Uruguaynian has an interesting background in golf.

Her grandfather introduced the game to Uruguay and her father was 27-time champion in that country. Miss Crocker, herself, has been the Uruguynian titlist 20 times and won the Argentine championship 14 times.

Wiffi had a one-over 37 on the scoring well, retained the lead among the amateur entries with a 37-39—76 for 152, one stroke back of Miss Bauer. Another shot back at 153 are Joyce Ziske, Mary Lena Faulk and Carol Bowman, all professionals.

Miss Ziske, the newcomer to the proette tour from Wisconsin, matched Marlene's 35 on the front nine, but ran into 3 bogies on the back for 42 and 77.

Wiffi had a one-over 37 on the front, but scrambled for a par 39 on the back.

Back of Wiffi among the amateurs was Pat Devany of Grosse Ile with 159 (81 Friday) and Pine Lake's Sally Sharp at 163. She slipped to 86 after her fine 1st round 77.

The Birmingham High School senior couldn't get the putts to drop for her, although she played well from tee to green.

Miss Bauer and Miss Crocker were the only sub-par shooters. Only other player to equal par was Mrs. Bowman. The Oakland, Calif., pro had 37-38—75. Most of the players saw their scores rise, but few were as luckless as Bonnie Randolph.

Time after time Bonnie saw putts die on the lip or curl around the hole. She hit rock bottom on the 485-yard, dog-leg 13th hole.

After having trouble in the trees and rough, she sent an approach over the green and chipped far past the hole. She finally 3-putted the green, rimming the cup from just one foot on her 2nd try. She carded a horrendous 9, yet still came in with 37-42—79.

Trailer-traveling partners Mickey Wright and Bev Hanson also spent an unhappy afternoon on the back nine. Mickey took 47 after playing the front in 36 and Miss Hanson zoomed to 49 after a 1st nine 37.

Friday's crowd was placed between 2,500 and 3,000 with the largest turnouts likely today and for Sunday's 18-hole windup. Pairings were revised for the final rounds, but the starting time remains at 11:30 a.m.

CO-LEADERS — A pair of 148s today held the top spot in the 72-hole Wolverine Ladies Open golf tourney at Forest Lake's handsome country club. Tourney, which ends its 4-day run Sunday, was paced yesterday by diminutive (above, right) Betty Hicks (Palm Springs Calif.) and Fay Crocker (above) of Uruguay. Fay fired a 74 (36-38) to go with her 1st day's 74, while Betty carded 76 (38-38). She had 72 the 1st day. Betty had just putted out on the 6th green, above, and Fay hit a fine approach to No. 3 green in Friday's round.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bill Vukovich, who has an excellent chance Monday to become the first driver to win three straight 500-mile auto races, explained his strategy today.

* * *

"I just stick my foot in it and go," said Vukovich, a one-time grape picker who has made a fortune at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. He owns two garages and now competes only in the big race here.

Monday Bill will drive a blue car carrying No. 4, owned by Lindsey Hopkins of Miami. It's a year newer than the car in which he won over $150,000 for himself and Vukovich is well satisfied with the Hopkins Special, largely because Keck loaned Hopkins his two master mechanics, Jim Travers and Frank Coon. It's a Kurtis-Kraft with Offenhauser 270-cubic inc, four-cylinder engine, a special speedway car called a "roadster" in racing circles because the driver sits to the right of center.

Pitcher Loses Despite 1-Hitter

Bruce Dryer pitched a regulation no-hitter Friday night at Township Park in Drayton, but when the 7th inning was completed, his Richardson's Dairy mates hadn't gotten him any runs.

Ken Spears of Gidley Electric yielded 4 hits, but matched Dryer's shutout. In the top of the 8th Gidley's Gruenwall legged out a triple and slid home with the game's only run on Spear's infield tap.

Dryer fanned 6 in losing the heartbreaking 1-hitter, while Spears whiffed 7. The victory kept the surprising Gidleymen in a 1st place tie with Dick & Wes in the Waterford Softball League.

Dick and Wes rounded out Friday's twin bill by downing Sylvan Center, 9-2, on Mike Meyers' 4-hitter. Harold Horn hit a homer in the 6th with 1 on. There are no games Monday, but a double bill is slated Tuesday with Waterford Lions playing Gidley at 7 p.m. and Richardson's facing Drayton Drug at 8:30.

Because of the impending holiday, Forest Lake CC will observe National Golf Day a little in advance. Sunday afternoon a table will be set up with uniformed Red Cross people in charge, to handle entries for the "Beat Babe" contest. Mrs. Ford Brooks, chairman.

Penn Staters, Jaspers Engage in Big Struggle

Manhattan Qualifies 15 in Finals Today; Lions Get 11

NEW YORK (AP)—Penn State and Manhattan, the two titans of Eastern track, were locked in a mighty struggle today as the ICAA championships moved into the finals.

The powerful Jaspers, who saw their two-year streak broken by Penn State last year, have 15 qualifiers in the 16 varsity events, while Chick Werner's Nittany Lions have 11. No other team appeared to have a chance.

This was rated a tossup before the trials got under way yesterday and nothing happened to change the complexion of the meet. Both teams suffered disappointments.

Penn State was struck a real blow when John Moran pulled up lame in the 440 trial. He is the leadoff man on Werner's mile relay team, a potential second-place finisher.

"I had no one else to put in, so we had to scratch," said Werner.

It was suggested that he could pull defending champion Art Pollard from the 100, and send him into action in the relay.

"Nope," he answered, "I don't play the game that way."

Werner apparently thought that to pull a last-minute switch like this would be unsportsmanlike. It probably would, but more than one coach has done it in the past.

UM Top-Rated to Beat Field in Big 10 Test

Qualify 11 for Today's Track Finals; 2 Owen's Marks Bettered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michigan's mighty men, strong in both the field and fleet-of-foot departments, were odds-on choices today to take the 55th annual Big Ten track championship.

In yesterday's preliminaries, which saw two of fabulous Jesse Owens' 20-year-old records beaten and another tied, the Wolverines qualified 11 men in 6 events for today's finals. Michigan has more than adequate strength in the other seven events to end Illinois' four-year reign in the annual cinder carnival.

Indiana qualified six, Iowa and Ohio State five, Illinois and Michigan State four, Minnesota and Northwestern three, and Wisconsin and Purdue two each.

Owens' records in both the 220-yard low hurdles and the 220-yard dash were bettered in the preliminaries, and his 100-yard dash mark was tied twice—but the coaches decided against recognizing the efforts because of heavy winds which aided the runners.

Northwestern's Jim Golliday, aided by a 5.7 mph wind, streaked around one curve to pace the 220-yard dash in 20.9 seconds, two-tenths under Owens' recognized mark of 21.1. Then Iowa's Les Stevens made the straightaway 220-yard low hurdles in 22.5, a tenth under Owens' 22.6.

Running in separate heats, Golliday and Minnesota's Harry Nash were clocked in 9.4 for the century, matching the record of the famed "Ebony Antelope" who was voted the outstanding track athlete of the half century for his feats in the Olympics and for Ohio State. Golliday had a 4.8 MPH wind helping him in the 100-yard dash, and Nash was aided by a 5.4 breeze.

Officials said they felt the instruments were inaccurate, and that the wind was much higher than recorded.

In the only event completed yesterday, Jerry Helgeson of Minnesota won the discus with a heave of 159 feet 6¾ inches. Ralph Fessenden of Illinois, defending 440-yard champ, qualified handily with a 48.5 effort—but it was matched by Indiana's Don Ward to set the stage for a great quarter-mile duel today.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

SATURDAY, MAY 28, 1955 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN FIFTEEN

ROCHESTER CONTEMPORARY — Located at 807 Fifth St., Rochester, this contemporary designed home built of California redwood and Krag stone fits on a long, narrow lot with plenty of room for lawns and backyard. An open plan home was selected by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Curran with a living and dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms and bathrooms and bathroom plus a full basement.

Your Neighbor's House

City Lot Size Invites Contemporary

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

What do you do with a city lot measuring 46.8 by 140 feet?

Well-meaning friends told young Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Curran that it was true that the property was in a fine location, in a well-established neighborhood, but what home design would look right on such a narrow site?

Today the same people are exclaiming over the long, rectangular open-plan contemporary built of Krag Stone and California redwood for vertical siding. They also comment on the amount of lawn surrounding the house and the generous backyard rimmed in cedar posts.

The Currans chose a three bedroom, living and dining room, kitchen and large bathroom plan. They also have a full-basement with a spacious recreation room now taking shape.

CARPORT CONVERTIBLE

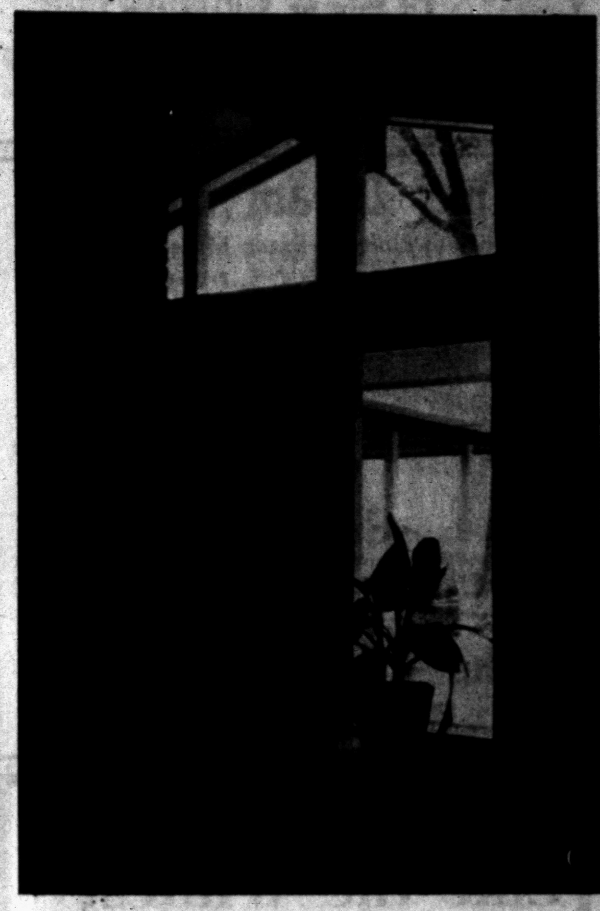

A carport is placed on the front side of the house which can in the future be converted to a screened-in porch or a glassed-in activity room.

Conversation piece of the front entrance is the group of clerestory windows placed over the front door which serve as an invitation to natural illumination as well as give an architectural note of interest to the house. A long window extending from the floor to the natural ceiling level is flanked with green plants. A closet for callers' coats is located, too, at the front door.

USES EARTH TONES

Mrs. Curran has selected the same beige, brown and other earth tones for the complete home color scheme. True greens, turquoise with accents of yellow-gold and pumpkin provide accessory notes.

ULTIMATE IN STORAGE

A central hallway leads to the bedroom wing and the walls offer the maximum of closet and storage areas. One recessed cabinet holds the telephone and a bookcase.

Young daughter, Heather Sue, has a pink bedroom with upper walls and ceiling done in pink and white dotted paper. One wall is papered in a country scene and cork tile has been used for this floor.

The den, the third bedroom, is beige in wall color and has a built-in bookcase which is high enough to allow furniture placement below. Tiny natural pine shutters frame these windows. A divan in gold and brown metallic tweed has pillows for contrast in brown, beige, turquoise and pumpkin.

The bathroom is finished in yellow tile with one wall papered in a brown and beige grass cloth. A built-in dressing table has linen closets beneath and the shower and tub are recessed.

J. P. Leak of Rochester was the builder of the Curran home.

Check Illumination Before Signing on Dotted Line

"Let there be light!" seems to have been the first command given in the building of our universe, but apparently few home builders and interior decorators ever read the account of that project. The result is that most of our homes are so poorly lighted there may be some justification for the man who prefers to spend his evenings out with his cronies among the bright lights.

"The total cost of all fixtures built into the average new home today amounts to the absurdly low figure of $25," says the American Home Lighting Institute.

The ladies, bless them, and their love for table lamps may be partly to blame for that. This writer, for example, is about reconciled to going through life with a slightly tilted neck from trying to read under a decorative lamp.

CHECK LIGHTING

"Before you buy a home," advises the lighting institute, "check the absence or presence of lighting fixtures and you'll probably save both money and headaches."

One reason many new homes have no fixtures in living, dining and bedrooms is that builders often take orders for their houses in a handsomely furnished model home. The decorator, displaying the wares of the furniture stores, places a number of attractive table and floor lamps around—bedside lamps and boudoir lamps—and the buyer doesn't realize that the light is not going to be thrown in with the house deal.

Because of the way families live nowadays, with youngsters doing their school work while the television set is going full blast, with lights left on in playroom, breezeway and garage, and floodlights in the yard, a modern house needs more current for lighting alone than was needed for all purposes a few years ago.

RULE-OF-THUMB

An old rule-of-thumb standard for room lighting called for three watts per square foot of floor area. Experts now figure that homes should have six or seven watts per square foot, while stores and offices can run as high as 20. Statisticians for Kennecott Copper figure that house wiring has become obsolete in more than 34 million homes in this country.

Of course, portable lamps are essential to most decorative schemes, but they are primarily designed to provide pools of light. A combination of portable lamps and downlight from fixtures is needed for good vision.

Cove lights and other forms of periphery illumination can be used to diffuse light throughout a room without causing direct glare. Some people prefer cove lights on two opposite walls rather than around all four sides of a room. However it is usually considered impractical to use coves on walls that are more than 18 feet apart. As room dimensions increase, there is an increasing sense of darkness in the center of the ceiling in contrast to the higher brightness near the coves.

Furniture Size Is Important

Wife of Detroit Builder Emphasizes Scale in Selection

"The wrong size and type of furniture can spoil all of the carefully worked out effects of a builder's house design and leave the buyer dissatisfied with his new home," Mrs. Joseph O. Busch, wife of the Vice President of the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit, warns.

Mrs. Busch recommends that four 'fundamentals' always should be kept in mind when buying furniture.

1. The size. Furniture should be in harmony with the size and design of the room it is to be used in.

2. The "eye appeal." Furniture should be chosen with a view to making it an integral part of the house, rather than the central motif with the house acting only as a framework.

3. The arrangement. The accent should be on composite groups of furniture which complement, not clash, with each other.

4. The color. This should harmonize with the interior of the home itself. A room's proportions can be changed and improved by the skillfull use of color in furniture and drapes.

"Although home owners are not expected to be professional decorators, they can make their homes much more attractive and livable if they observe those four fundamentals," Mrs. Busch concluded.

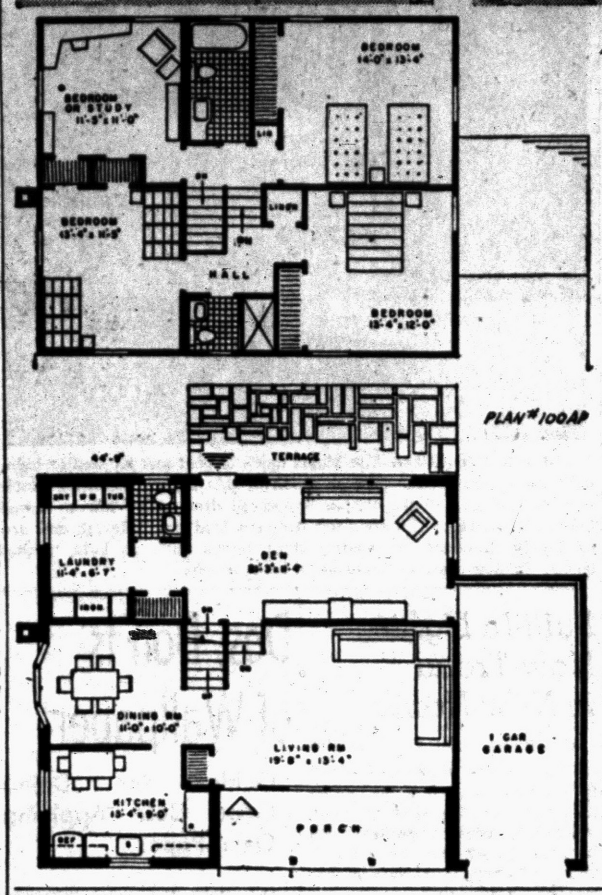

Mr. Busch, who has been building on the East Side of Detroit for the past twenty-five years, is often assisted by his wife in counseling with new home buyers regarding their interior decorations.

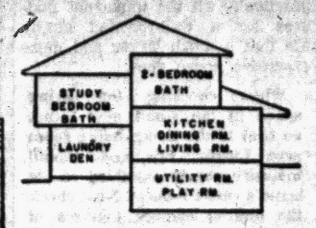

A million young families have started in the farming business since World War II.

Two-story split level is the architect's description for this five-level house. It occupies as small an area as a cottage, yet contains nine good size rooms, two baths, extra lavatory, plus a basement utility room with work bench space and a spacious basement game room. You enter this house from a covered porch at the living room level. Four steps below is a den or all-purpose room with laundry and lavatory adjoining. Rear terrace opens from the den. Eight steps up from the living room are a study-bedroom, bathroom and master bedroom. Five steps up from this level are two more bedrooms and a bath with stall shower. This is Plan 100AP by Samuel Paul, architect, 89-51 164th St., Jamaica 32, N. Y. The house covers an area of only 1,050 square feet with 920 square feet on upper floors.

Careful Checking of Deeds Reveals Interesting Facts

"Here's luck and happiness in your new home," said a guest at a housewarming party as he hoisted a cocktail glass. "May your floors never squeak and your roof never leak."

Assembled neighbors and friends of the family joined in the toast. But the moment they took the first sip of their cocktails, the house no longer belonged to the host.

There was a clause in his deed specifying that if this property ever should be used for the "manufacture, sale or consumption of intoxicating liquor, the title to said premises shall immediately and without notice or demand revert to the seller."

That's about the quickest way to drink yourself out of house and home that we ever heard of.

The story was told by George F. Anderson of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards. "That's a vicious condition in a deed," he explained, "and buyers should be on the lookout against it."

NO ONE OWNS LAND

When you buy real estate, it is not like buying groceries, or even an automobile. Lawyers say that no one actually owns land. What you own is a title to a piece of land together with whatever may be on that land. This right is contained in a deed.

And there are two main steps in buying real estate. One is signing of a binding legal contract to buy it. The next is the actual taking of title. These two steps may be separated by a month or more in order to get all legal details worked out to make a foolproof deal.

Apparently our cocktail-serving home buyer had never read the deed to his property. Most certainly that anti-drinking clause or "restrictive covenant" as lawyers call it, was not mentioned in the contract of sale, or the buyer might not have signed it. Furthermore, if he had noticed that clause in the deed, he could have gotten out of any contract which had not mentioned such a restriction.

PITFALLS IN SALES

There are a lot of pitfalls in real estate contracts of sale. You are not the only person who may be baffled by them. More than 2,000 lawyers, specializing in real estate, recently pondered these technicalities at the Home Title Guaranty Co. symposium for attorneys in New York's Town Hall.

An expert, Milton R. Friedman, read a thesis devoted to the troubles people get into by signing contracts hastily. He emphasized the importance of having every pertinent detail mentioned in the contract.

"A contract of sale," he said, "is a rather final instrument. If something is not in the contract when it is signed, it is not apt to get into the deal later.

"Of course," he told the lawyers, "You can always ask for things," but after a contract is signed, your asking has no power behind it.

Among the many details you should have in a contract, Friedman cited mortgage terms, such as a right to pay off a mortgage ahead of time, "grace clauses" to allow enough time to pay interest and taxes before a loan may be called, cancellation of leases and who should pay for any compensation involved to get tenants out.

Getting actual possession of a house can be another problem that should be foreseen in your contract. You may be buying the property, but can you move in?

Friedman recited a court case in which the man who sold his house refused to get out until after title had closed. The man who was buying the house insisted that the seller should be out before title closing.

The court held that the man selling the house could stay there until the price had been paid and that the man buying the house could not break his contract merely on the possibility that the seller might break his word about getting out.

If more than 2,000 lawyers can worry about such things, home buyers and home sellers should read and understand what they sign.

Small House Has Built-In Bigness Today

If it's wisely planned, today's small house of quality offers practically all the important features for a well-rounded family life that a much larger and more expensive house does.

When checking the living space in the small new home, go first to the living-dining room area. Ideally, this area should measure nearly one-third of the home's entire footage. Next check the built-in storage features of living-dining room. They should be so placed around the room that extra bookcases and cabinets are unnecsary.

The small house can have built-out bigness, too. Best example of this is the outdoor extension of the living-dining room by means of a tiled terrace. The terrace can serve as an outdoor room through spring, summer and a good part of the fall.

BLACK AND GOLD—The Midas touch of gold and jet spatter highlight the creamy white lacquer finish of this chest. Gleaming black accents are seen in the simple sculptured draw-pulls. Mirror frame has platform base. Double-sized drawers lend new interest and are extremely practical for storing large things such as hats, pocket books. Shallow drawers are ideal for belts, scarfs.

Built-In Lights Now Trend in New Home

A definite trend is developing toward built-in lighting fixtures. In addition to cove lights, either fluorescent or incandescent, built-ins include recessed spotlights and floodlights, window or valance lights, wall lights and various decorative accent lights.

Textures and colors of fabrics, murals and patterned wallpapers and carpets can be emphasized by proper lighting.

Tricks of the stage electricians have been borrowed in a new form of modulated switch now on the market. Operating on the rheostat principle, this form of light control can give you any degree of brightness desired from any number of lamps up to 360 watts. You merely turn a dial the way you make a radio play louder or softer.

These light control switches are as easy to install as an ordinary 'on-and-off' switch. Each contains a separate 3-ampere fuse.

Outdoor Terraces Perfect for Picnics

Now's the time to get going on that barbecue pit you've always wanted for your outdoor terrace. You and your family can build it over a weekend.

Plan so that it will take advantage of the shade tree at one end of your terrace. No one wants to cook in the hot sun.

Provide for enough storage space in it; you can keep the cooking utensils there all summer. Surface the brick or cement block with a handsome yet practical material which can stand a lot of use. Tile won't stain, it's easy to clean and it's fireproof, too. If yours is a quarry tile terrace, you're already familiar with its weatherproof qualities.

Curiosity Fatal

BUTTE, Mont. (UP) — A 16-pound female bobcat on his front porch greeted Carl A. Newquist when he arrived home for lunch. He dashed into the house, emerged with a .12 gauge shotgun and one blast ended the wild cat's curiosity about city life.

Dos, Don'ts of Wallpaper

Guides for Doing Good Job Applying Own Paper

DO. . .take the exact measurements of a room, including size of windows, doors, fireplaces, etc., and let your dealer figure out how much wallpaper will be needed.

DO. . .prepare the wall properly by filling in cracks, sandpapering any roughness and applying a "sizing" to a freshly-plastered or painted wall.

DO. . .get the first strip of paper straight by using a plumb line and starting at a doorway, except when a room has a fireplace, in which case center the first strip of paper above the fireplace.

DO. . .make a neat job around electric switch plates by turning off the current, removing the plates and papering over the openings, cutting out spaces slightly smaller than the areas covered by the plates.

DO. . .remember that wallpaper may be purchased untrimmed, trimmed, with paste already on the back and with many special new features—so be sure to follow directions that come with the particular kind you buy.

* * *

DON'T. . .forget that you can buy an inexpensive seam roller or caster for smoothing down the seams between stripe for a tight joint.

DON'T. . .fail to learn whether the wallpaper you purchase can be washed or cleaned and, if so, how.

Bathroom Idea

The all-tiled modern bathroom can be cleaned without effort in a matter of minutes. Because the tile's ceramic body is water proof and impervious to staining, only a quick swish with a damp cloth or mop is necessary. Some homemakers have even thought of the idea of using a small shower hose to spray the entire room at one time, following with a dry cloth to polish up the tiles.

Built-Ins Add to Storage Space

Here are four ideas for clever built-ins that will add extra space to your home and make it a better place in which to live:

First, make use of the hallway leading to the bedroom area. Line one side with a long storage unit; it can include a pull-out desk, drawers, bookshelves, even space for extra linen.

Third, install drawers or shelves in closets that are too small to be practical for hanging clothes. Fourth, when dividing a too-large room into two, make the partition wide enough for convenient built-in storage.

Kitchen Chores Can Be Cut

New Wax Preparation Helps Keep Surfaces Clean

No matter how attractive your kitchen, you will not want to linger in it during the summer.

One of the best ways to telescope into minutes the hours usually spent with cleaning chores is with a dirt-prevention program and also the shelving of expendable accessories that require frequent polishing or laundering.

Take down your kitchen curtains and leave the windows open to the summer breezes. Put away your copper and brass accessories that are not in regular use for cooking.

A quick and easy method of kitchen care, whether it be summer or winter, is with wax, which will provide a hard, dry, soil-resistant film that will not only make painted woodwork and enamel surfaces easier to keep clean but will also protect them from stains and wear.

There is now available in most grocery and hardware stores a wax especially designed for kitchen use. A creamy white emulsion which is a blend of wax and solvents, this new product can be used to remove the greasy cooking films which are always a problem for the homemaker who takes pride in keeping her kitchen immaculate.

Work counters, sink tops and metal surfaces also may be treated to an application of the wax to reduce cleaning chores.

You will also find it much easier to have a sparkling kitchen if you eliminate as many fried foods as possible during the summer. They are not particularly palatable or healthful in hot weather, anyway, and the smoke they create makes it much harder to have a bright, shining kitchen.

And why not use paper napkins to eliminate laundry chores and plastic mats for your table?

Daylight With Privacy

When a new house blossoms up on the vacant lot next door, you can still maintain complete privacy in your own home without sacrificing daylight. Replace the translucent glass block panels. The glass block will admit plenty of daylight while protecting the interior of your home from outside view.

Plate Glass Brightens Nook

Solves Lighting as Well as Space Problem

Plate Glass, in one or another of its forms, can dispel the shadows of an old-fashioned breakfast nook and make it the center of modernity in the kitchen.

That's the opinion of June Cabot, home arts consultant for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, who says that all too frequently the breakfast nook is a cramped and crowded area separated from the kitchen by a partition which denies light to one side or the other.

Both the problem of lighting and the appearance of crowding can be reduced either by installing a panel of plate glass mirror or hanging a decoratively framed mirror on the back wall of the nook. The mirror will make the most of any available light, and by reflecting the surface of the table will make the nook appear twice as roomy.

An additional sense of lightness and freedom is gained by replacing the table—usually a wooden rectangle fastened to the wall and standing on one leg—with an eating surface of transparent plate glass. The glass opens the entire area to view, making it seem as uncluttered as possible.

Patterned glass, also, can add to breakfast nook modernization by replacing the former wooden or masonry partition. The glass separates kitchen from nook as effectively as before, but occupies less space and allows sunlight and artificial lighting to pass freely from one area to the other.

Transparent plate glass and plate mirrors can now do an especially satisfactory job of brightening and expanding the home, Miss Cabot said, thanks to a new "twin grinding" process which produces highly parallel, ultra-precision glass surfaces.

Farmers placed 425,000,000 bushels of 1954 wheat under price support through the end of January 1955, representing 43.8 per cent of last year's production.

Modern Air Conditioners Tops in Decor

Formerly unadorned and designed only to make us forgetful of soaring temperatures, air conditioners today are decorative as well as utilitarian. Several of the outstanding new models have been styled to harmonize with the smartest decor.

One new group of window type units, manufactured by a company which also makes some of our most beautifully designed high fidelity and television sets, may be ordered in several decorator hues to harmonize with the color plan of the room.

These are the window type air conditioners and the custom color is in the frame around the grille. The available colors are green, yellow, pink and ivory pastel shades, each of which blends nicely with the light blue color of the air conditioner itself.

Several models are year-around units and may be switched from cooling in the summer to providing enough heat to take the chill off a room in the spring or fall.

More than 10 per cent of the nation's output of finished steel is used in Detroit.

Wood Preservative Mixed With Paints

A— With stain, yes; with paint, no. Stain and the preservative both penetrate wood, and in combined solution are often used to treat shingles, siding and the like. On the other hand, paint mixed with preservative inhibits penetration of the preservative. For best results, apply preservative (or buy treated lumber), then paint.

Chimes Bid Caller Welcome

When a well-known poet a few years ago made a list of the ten most beautiful words in the English language, he decided on these: dawn, hush, lullaby, murmuring, tranquil, mist, luminous, chimes, golden, melody.

Homeowners and builders of today are in perfect agreement on one of those words—chimes. In the past few years some 15 million door chimes have been placed in new or existing homes to provide a musical welcome at the door.

* * *

It's hard to believe, now, that the chimes, standard equipment today in all kinds of homes, was an expensive luxury only 20 years ago. It was about 1938 that an alert manufacturer—who believed in the theory that it is more profitable in the long run to charge low prices than to charge high prices—found a mass market for chimes. He developed new engineering and mass production techniques that made them low in price.

"The revolution at the doorway," evident in today's widespread use of chimes, indicates that all kinds of people—not just poets—are in agreement that the sound of the chime is more restful, warm, and pleasant, than the jangling sound of the buzzer, or the cold and impersonal knock at the door.

The U.S. public and private debt rose about 26 million dollars in 1954 to 709 million dollars.

SERVER-CHINA DECK—Designed for both limited budgets and reduced living space, this combination offers the ultimate in organized storage space. The server has one shelf and is equipped with brass holders for different sized plates. The hinged doors have simple wood handles and without the deck, the server is at home in any room. The china deck has one adjustable glass shelf, sliding glass doors and a glass top. The wood is Phillippine mahogany in either tanguille or a harvest finish.

House Painting Is Possible on the Installment Plan

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Do you know that you can buy paint—or have painting done—and pay for it monthly, out of your income? If you are aware of this fact, you're in a small and select company. A recent survey conducted by the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Assn. showed that only 19% of the people interviewed knew that paint and painting could be purchased on a deferred payment plan.

Yet it's a simple matter to make such an arrangement. There are several means of doing it.

One of the most widely used methods is made possible by FHA's Title I. Under this provision, the Federal Housing Administration insures loans for home improvements which are made by banks, savings and loan companies or other financial institutions. Such home improvement loans may run as high as $2,500. The money may be paid directly to the borrower or to approved dealers. In other words, you can get your financial aid either from your lending agency or through your paint dealer or painting contractor.

ELIGIBILITY

How can you tell whether you're eligible to become a borrower? The answer is that you can apply for a loan, if you own the property which is to be improved. If you are not the holder of the title in fee, you must have an equity interest in the property under an instrument of trust or a purchase contract. Or, you must have a lease with a fixed term that expires not less than six calendar months after the loan matures.

You must, of course, be able to repay your loan in monthly installments—within 36 months or less. If you live in the country and are dependent upon your crops for your income, you can sometimes arrange to repay your loan at seasonal intervals.

What's an "approved dealer?" He's a dealer in building materials—and that includes paint, of course—who has filed an application with—and has been approved by—an insured lending institution. When he is thus established, he can finance sales under FHA's Title I. Once he is approved, the lending institution will supply him with the necessary forms which would include: (1) credit application, (2) note, (3) completion certificate and (4) gross charge and discount tables.

By contacting such an approved dealer and filling out the necessary forms, an eligible borrower can make arrangements for monthly payments without going near a lending institution.

As you plan an extensive repainting project for your home—one which you wish to pay for over a period of months—it's a good idea to contact your paint dealer and painting contractor. They can help you with the arrangements which will make the paying part of the project as easy on your pocketbook as the attractive new paint job will be easy on your eyes. If you so wish, your loan can be sufficient to cover both the paint and the painting.

Fire Extinguishers Are Different Types

Q—I understand that all types of fire extinguishers will not do for all types of fires. Is this correct, and if so which extinguishers should be used for what?

A—Soda-acid or water-type extinguishers will do for fires of wood, paper or rubbish. Foam extinguishers will put out those fires, but will also extinguish fires in grease, oil, kerosene, gasoline and paint. Carbon tetrachloride extinguishers are best for electrical fires and small fires that result from the ignition of flammable liquids.

Convenient Glass Bars

Use glass towel bars in the garage and cellar as a storage place for cleaning cloths and oily rags. The glass is impervious to moisture damage and it can be cleaned merely by wiping with a damp cloth. Kimble glass bars come in varying sizes, complete with chrome fittings and screws for installation. Prices range from 19 cents to $1.19, depending upon size.

Basements Do Have Problems

Suggestions Offered to Help Homeowner Keep Dry

DO. . .determine first whether water actually is coming into the basement from the outside or is merely condensation.

DO. . .remember that the great enemy of condensation is air circulation, which means that well-placed fans can work wonders in most cases, although a dehumidifier may be necessary when the moisture content of air is excessive.

DO. . .look for these causes of wet basements: outside soil graded the wrong way; defective roof gutters and downspouts; inadequate means of carrying water away from the house; leakage alongside utility pipes entering the house below ground level; cracks in walls or floors; openings in window frame joints.

DO. . .use a commercial waterproofing compound on the inside of the basement after you have corrected the cause of the trouble.

DO. . .carry rainwater away from the foundation by attaching clay piping to the downspouts and extending it into dry wells, sewers or lower ground.

DON'T . . . forget that waterproofing the foundation from the outside — necessary in extreme cases—is a major job usually requiring professional assistance.

DON'T. . .apply any inside waterproofing material until you have read the directions carefully.

DON'T. . .overlook the possibility of underground springs, inadequate sewers or some other neighborhood cause rather then individual problem.

Rock Lining Guards Against Heater Corrosion

"Get a new one," unfortunately, may be the only answer. The cause frequently is that the galvanized lining of the tank has corroded to the point where it leaks—and when that happens there'll be no more hot water until the unit is replaced.

For areas where the water is even mildly corrosive, water heaters with rock, viterous enamel, copper or Monel metal linings are recommended by the Coleman Heating Institute of Wichita, Kans.

The newest tank of this sort is one that is lined with a combination of vitreous enamel—also called a glass lining—and rock. The vitreous-rock lining won't rust and won't corrode.

Vitreous enamel transfers heat rapidly and is used on the part of the lining where the water is heated. Rock lining is used on all other surfaces of the lining. It is more durable than the brittle vitreous enamel, and it also withstands shipping strains and absorbs fluctuating pressures in the tank.

Changes in pressure can crackle an all-glass lining by making it contract and expand.

Valley Flashing Seals Roof Against Weather

A watertight roof is a home's first line of defense against the weather. Vital to the job of weather protection expected of a sound roof is proper installation of flashing at all junctions and breaks, before the asphalt shingles ar laid.

Flashing is material that seals vulnerable roof areas against leakage, for example the valley where two roof slopes meet at an angle. The flashing generally used for valleys is 90-pound mineral-surfaced asphalt roll roofing, in a neutral color or one that matches the asphalt shingle color.

An 18-inch wide strip of roll roofing is centered lengthwise in the valley and land with mineral surface down. A second strip, 36 inches wide, is laid centered over the first strip, with the mineral surface up, and nailed in place.

The shingles used on the body of the roof cover most of the flashing and complete its sealing job.

Michigan's Swan City Is Reborn

East Jordan Abandons Its Death Bed to Become Healthy, Busy Community

EAST JORDAN (UP)—The city of East Jordan, once a thriving lumbering town that almost went out of existence when its Charlevoix County forests were depleted, is staging a two-day celebration of its rebirth this weekend.

* * *

The community of less than 3,000 persons planned to entertain nearly 10,000 guests at its first annual two-day Swan City Festival.

Marshall Sayles, secretary of the East Jordan Businessmen's Association, said the festival will be the only large community-sponsored event in northern Michigan during the Memorial Day weekend.

"This means more to East Jordan businessmen than just a festival," Sayles said. "We've really got something to celebrate. It wasn't so long ago that we thought East Jordan had just about lost its little spot on the map."

FACED GRIM FATE

When the lumbering business died, East Jordan almost met the fate of so many other former lumbering towns in Michigan.

It was left with little means of self-support after the wood was cut. Small local factories were unable to offer enough employment, and high school graduates, attracted by big city pay, left home before the ink on their diplomas was dry.

The town's financial situation hit bottom three years ago when 23 families left for the big city. There were seven empty business buildings on main street.

The distraught merchants quickly formed the East Jordan Businessmen's Association to attract tourists and new trade. The group first landed a new auto parts manufacturing company. Production started in 1953, and the firm is now expanding to employ more men.

* * *

MARKETS EXPANDED

The 1,400 farmer-members of the Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery last year produced 2,000,000 pounds of butter, which was sold throughout the Eastern states.

The public school hopes to built 16 new classrooms, and the city recently completed a $210,000 sewage disposal plant. Two new motels and many new tourist cottages have sprung up along M66 on the western edge of Lake Charlevoix.

Today and Sunday the citizens of the Swan City are showing their thanks with a 50-unit parade complete with four beauty queens, street dancing, boat races sponsored by the Top O' Michigan Outboard Racing Club, and conducted tours of Sportsman's Park, home of 30 white swans and nearly 200 ducks and Canadian geese.

FREE BOAT RIDES

There are also free boat rides from East Jordan's new city dock, which has helped boom interest in small pleasure boats.

"In two years, East Jordan has seen about $2,000,000 worth of new commercial and private construction," Sayles says.

"But the thing we are most happy about is the fact that the 23 families that once moved away from a dying town are back with us again."

Britain Fears Rail Walkout

Eden, Advisers Seeking Ways to Avert Chaos If Strike Materializes

LONDON (AP)—Buoyed by their smashing electoral triumph, Prime Minister Eden and his key Conservative ministers sought ways today to avert the chaos expected to follow a threatened nationwide rail strike.

Even as the last results of Thursday's election were being counted, thousands of Britons rushed by train from London and other cities to the seashore for their annual three-day Whitsun weekend. The holidaying families ignored the prospect that the nationalized rail lines may be operating only a skeleton service after midnight tonight.

* * *

Eden's government faces the task of keeping essential supplies moving and somehow easing the confusion when these people try to get back to their homes and jobs Monday night.

* * *

In thanking the nation for the votes which confirmed him in office with a tripled majority in the House of Commons, Eden warned last night that "industrial disputes . . . are already causing us great concern."

* * *

In addition to the threatened rail strike, a sputtering dockside walkout that has slowed cargo handling in four of Britain's biggest ports for a week was still going on.

But the possibility of a rail tieup was far more serious. It was called by a union of locomotive engineers and firemen to enforce demands for pay raises to preserve their traditional differentials over less skilled workers.

College Seniors Urging Boycott of Shivers Talk

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The president of the student body at the University of Southern California has sent 3,000 letters to fellow seniors urging that they boycott their own graduation instead of listening to Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas.

Bill Van Alystyne said the letters point out that it is not necessary for seniors to attend the graduation ceremonies in order to receive their diplomas.

* * *

"Many of us still feel that Gov. Shivers does not represent our best interests and ideals," he said. "A substantial part of our mailing costs of about $100 is being defrayed by a number of faculty members who wish to remain anonymous."

University President Fred D. Fagg has rebuked the student senate for urging that Gov. Shivers be replaced as the speaker.

Passport Demanded for Einstein Friend

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is under a federal court order to issue a passport to Dr. Otto Nathan, a close friend of the late Albert Einstein and executor of the scientist's estate.

In handing down the order yesterday, Dist. Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut said, "I am of the opinion the State Department has evaded" a March 16 court directive to schedule a passport hearing for Nathan.

Nathan, a New York University professor who has held several government posts, once was told by the State Department of allegations that he was a Communist party member in his native Germany. But Nathan later filed an affidavit denying this.

Girl Survives Train Ordeal

14-Year-Old Uninjured After Freight Starts Up With Her Under It

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Little Nancy Thomas, shaken but unscathed, vowed today she would never crawl under a freight train again.

The 14-year-old Columbus girl was released from White Cross Hospital last night, apparently not seriously hurt, after she was run over by a freight train and lived to tell about it.

* * *

"It was a miracle I didn't get killed," Nancy told officials at the hospital where she was taken to be X-rayed. Hospital attendants said she required no treatment.

The girl, taking her customary "short cut" to school, had just started crawling under a standing freight train when the wheels began to move.

She shifted her body between the tracks and lay there until the freight cars passed over her.

Nancy's mother, Mrs. Lloyd Thomas, said Nancy and her friends usually cross the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks each day as a shortcut to school. If a train is standing on the tracks, the boys climb over, the girls go under, Mrs. Thomas said.

2 14-Year-Olds Take Own Lives With Gunshots

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police said two 14-year-old boys shot themselves to death yesterday. One was playing "Russian roulette."

Sgt. Louis Calcaterra identified the boys as Frank J. Higgins and John Baggly. Although their homes are directly in back of each other, police said there appeared to be no connection between the shootings.

Two playmates of the Higgins boy told police he took them to his room, produced a revolver from a suitcase and invited them to play "Russian roulette." When they refused, they said, he put a bullet in the cylinder, spun it and fired once. He was pronounced dead at City Hospital.

Police quoted the note as saying the boy admired another neighbor youth, Danny Donovan, as "a symbol of something I never had—happiness and real life."

Tornado Weather Conditions Move Off

Fearful residents of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma once more ducked for cover last night while funnel-shaped clouds whipped around the Plains states

Walled Lake Girl Hurt in Accident

Mrs. Mildred DeJohn, 17, of Walled Lake, was reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding early today struck a tree on Commerce road near Union Lake road.

Mrs. DeJohn, riding with her husband, Thomas E., 28, sustained a broken right leg and face cuts.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies quoted DeJohn as saying he fell asleep at the wheel. DeJohn was treated for minor cuts and bruises. The car, headed east on Commerce, careened off the left side of the road and rammel the tree headon about 50 feet from the shoulder.

Funeral Slated Tuesday for Ex-AP News Editor

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Funeral service for Theodore E. Applegate, new bureau director for the New York Central Railroad, will be held at the Presbyterian Church of Pleasantville Tuesday.

Applegate, 51, suffered a fatal heart attack Thursday.

He joined the railroad staff in 1951 after 26 years with the Associated Press. He formerly was news editor in the AP's Detroit bureau.

Williams Buries Hatchet on Party Loyalty Oath

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, one of those who demanded party loyalty oaths from Southern delegates during the 1952 Democratic National Convention, has buried the hatchet.

"The party loyalty issue is a dead duck as far as I am concerned," he told an interviewer yesterday. "I'll assume that delegates to the next Democratic convention are Democrats or they wouldn't be there."

ANOTHER AID TO THE PARALYZED — Marv Pulliam, completely paralyzed polio victim from Los Angeles, Calif., uses his "substitute arm" which enables him to use an electric typewriter, feed himself, drink from a glass and do other things previously impossible. Friends at North American Aviation worked eight months on the project with the approval of management. The device, called a "Sabre Arm," is hydraulically operated and soon will be offered for manufacture on a non-profit basis so that others may benefit from it.

Legal Ruling Only Hurdle Remaining for Construction of State Toll Road

The only hurdle between marketing of bonds and acquisition of right-of-way for the proposed 113-mile Rockwood - Saginaw turnpike is a legal determination approving validity of the Michigan Turnpike Authority (MTA) act, according to Otis Hardy, MTA administrative head.

A suit brought in Washtenaw County Circuit Court by the city of Dearborn is expected to provide the necessary legal ruling. It will probably reach the State Supreme Court sometime this fall, said Hardy.

ACT FREES STATE

The act specifically frees the state from liability should the road fail to pay for itself, he stated. "The only assurance financial houses who buy the bonds will have of getting back their money is our traffic engineers' report the road will take in enough tolls to pay for itself."

The route has been designed to do the least amount of property damage and still carry the necessary traffic volume, he asserted.

The four-lane divided highway will take 39 months to build. Each lane will be 24-feet wide. The outside shoulders will be 10-feet wide and the inside shoulders next to the center strip 8 feet.

An extra lane will be added allowing motorists to drive off at each of the six combined gasoline - restaurant facilities. The grassed, center strip will be 40-feet wide.

"We will put up $600,000 worth of fence to assure motorists they can travel the road without fear of obstacles and make certain vehicles only enter the turnpike at toll stations," said Hardy.

"The road will take 15,000,000 vehicles off parallel state, federal and county roads during its first year of operation."

300 FEET WIDE

The right-of-way will be 300 feet wide, except in certain built-up areas where it will be 200 feet.

"For example, the right-of-way past the Foxcroft residential area at W. Maple and Telegraph Rds. will be only 200 feet," Hardy stated.

Property values along a turnpike route are increased not decreased, Hardy declared. Values are particularly enhanced in areas surrounding interchanges, he said. One interchange is planned just south of Pontiac and another to the northeast.

Each of the six gas stations along the route will be owned by a different company and the MTA will receive a percentage of profits.

"Wherever we hit a public utility or drainage system we must relocate it at our expense," Hardy explained.

Pontiac Business Institute Pupils Form Fraternity

Convicted of Assault

George A. Smith, 26, of 1201 Collier, Pontiac Twp., yesterday was convicted of felonious assault by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury.

Judge H. Russel Holland set sentencing for June 6. Smith was accused of attacking two Pontiac policemen with a 12-gauge shotgun last Oct. 16.

Police Promise They'll Recover Hedy's Lost Gems

HOUSTON, (AP)—The case of Hedy LaMarr's missing jewels "will be cleared up one of these days," city police said last night.

* * *

Police Lt. H. B. Short added that the initial phase of the investigation of the $50,000 gem theft reported Tuesday night by the actress had been completed.

* * *

Detective B. B. Squyres completed yesterday the job of administering lie detector tests to Miss LaMarr, her husband, oilman W. Howard Lee and four servants.

* * *

Squyers said the tests on Miss LaMarr were inconclusive because she was upset but there was no plan to ask her to take another test. He added that the polygraph showed Lee and the four servants told the truth when they said they knew nothing of the jewels whereabouts.

* * *

Police were notified of the case Wednesday by an insurance adjuster. Miss LaMarr said insurance covered about $39,500 of the jewels.

Ward's Sets Week's Output at 198,373

DETROIT (AP) — Car and truck output in U.S. factories this week will total 198,373 units, Ward's Automotive Report said today.

The agency counted 176,743 cars and 30,630 trucks in the total. Last week 176,441 cars and 31,646 trucks were built. In the comparable 1954 week 119,004 cars and 22,162 trucks were assembled.

* * *

Ward's put this week's Canadian output at 8,724 cars and 2,302 trucks. Last week dominion plants built 11,058 cars and 2,791 trucks. In the comparable 1954 week 6,418 cars and 1,149 trucks were completed.

* * *

The stasistical service estimated May output in U.S. plants will total 722,000 cars and 129,000 trucks. It added that by the weekend 3,577,255 cars will have been built this year. That figure was not reached in the industry's record year of 1950 until sometime in July.

Ann Arbor Fisherman Drowns in Huron River

Police said he had been fishing with friends and decided to take a swim. He disappeared in 12 feet of water.

The body was recovered.

The harvest of muskrats in the United States yearly is more than six times that of any other furbearer. The most muskrats are trapped in Louisiana.

UM Regents Thank Vaccine Worker

TRAVERSE CITY (UP) — The University of Michigan Board of Regents yesterday passed a resolution extending their "deep and sincere appreciation" to Thomas Francis Jr., director of the polio evaluation center at the school.

The regents lauded Francis' "distinguished service to the university and the world" and thanked him for services performed on behalf of the school.

The regents also approved a grant of $80,000 from the Civil Aeronautics Administration for improvements at Willow Run Airport.

The funds will be combined with a grant of $40,000 from the state Department of Aeronautics and a similar amount from Willow Run rentals to finance a $160,000 project at the airport.

* * *

In other action, the regents approved $121,117.83 in gifts and grants, including $15,000 from the Education Television and Radio Center at Ann Arbor for production of a series of TV programs entitled, "Challenge to Foreign Policy."

Jury Finds Army Officer Guilty in Rape-Slaying

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (INS) — Army Capt. Marcus Bluth, found guilty of second degree manslaughter in the death of a beautiful blonde Polish war bride, today made plans to appeal the verdict.

An all-male jury returned the finding last night after deliberating less than three hours. They recommended a sentence of 12 months in jail and a fine of $400 for the 41-year-old former judge advocate at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville.

The bespectacled Bluth was charged with the rape-slaying of 32-year-old Mrs. Tereza Meighen last Nov. 26 while she was unconscious from drinking.

Two Surviving Triplets Given Good Chances

PORT HURON (AP)—Two surviving babies of triplet boys born Thursday night to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Briggs of Port Huron were given good chances of surviving today.

False Advertising Brings Stiff Penalties to Pair

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Fella in H'wood got 180 days and $1,000 fine for false TV advertising: another got 90 days and a $500 rap.

Walt Disney has a new TV character a-borning: about a boy, his horse and a British butler.

Bob Hope, who certainly deserves it, is due for a tremendous defense department citation for his endless troop entertaining. Only fly in this commendable anointment came after other stars learned it was in the works and — jealously — are trying to hop aboard the laurels wagon.

"Farewell to Arms" on "Climax" was a pared-down and tepid remake of the old Hemingway tale, suffering in the necessary comparison to the Helen Hayes-Gray Cooper movie.

Its basic pathos needed more detail of characterization than was posible in the compressed less-than-an-hour TV dramatization and Diana Lynn didn't dig beyond the shallow edge of the fine role.

CBS-TV is cooking up a modern "Mikado" with Bing Crosby, Helen Traubel and Jack Benny.

Polio Program to Start Again

Surgeon General Says Stalled Shots May Get Under Way Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The stalled antipolio inoculation program showed signs today of getting set to roll again, perhaps next week.

* * *

U.S. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele, in a burst of optimism, said late yesterday the program may yet reach its immediate goal —completion of second shots of the Salk vaccine for nine million schoolchildren before the late summer peak of the polio season. A third "booster" shot also is contemplated, but this would not come until seven months later.

* * *

Scheele said at a news conference it appeared "quite certain" that some vaccine supplies—held back for nearly three weeks for extra safety checks — would be released next week. He said Public Health Service approval of further supplies would follow "progressively thereafter."

* * *

Acceptance by six vaccine manufacturers of tighter production and testing standards cleared the way for resumption of the mass immunization of first and second-graders. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is paying for the shots.

* * *

The revised standards, mostly technical in nature, were described by Dr. James Shanno as providing for more heat to kill any live virus, and for "more frequent testing, more sensitive testing" than has been the requirement up to now.

Clare Boothe Luce Back in U. S. for Vacation

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, U. S. ambassador to Italy, arrived today from Rome for a vacation and again denied rumors she would leave her present post for a new governmental position.

Mrs. Luce, who was accompanied by her husband, Henry Luce, the editor, said she expected to remain here at least a month.

Find Boy Murdered, Stuffed Into Sewer

DETROIT (INS)—The body of a four-year-old boy was found stuffed in a Detroit sewer early today.

Police said the youngster, Eric Carter, had been beaten to death by his mother, Mrs. Lila Carter, and his two sisters, Mattie Belle Brown 16, and Dollie Carter, 15. Detectives said the woman and two girls confessed the crime after long questioning.

The boy was first reported kidnaped and police spent a frantic day and night searching for him before they decided the story was a hoax and began questioning the mother and her daughters.

The only explanation for the beating, which was inflicted last Thursday, was given by Mattie, who said:

"He was crying, whimpering and causing a lot of trouble all the time. We beat him to keep him quiet."

The body was found 10 feet below ground in a sewer pipe in an alley. Eric was one of seven children in the Carter family. His father and Mrs. Carter have been separated for more than two years.

Salesman Claims Abandoned Boy Left in Chicago

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ostler turned Kenny over to juvenile authorities in Chicago Wednesday, saying that the boy's mother had left him with them a month ago and never came back. The Ostlers have three small children.

More than three dozen persons have offered to adopt Kenny after seeing a picture in the papers of his tousled blond hair, large blue eyes and said expression.

* * *

Kenneth Casey Sr., of Springfield, yesterday sought through his attorney and Springfield police to establish his claim to Kenny. Police Chief Silver Suarez said Casey recognized the child from a newspaper photograph. He said the child's mother Barbara took Kenny and left their Springfield home in March.

Meanwhile, Kenny remains in St. Vincent's Infant and Maternity Hospital in Chicago. His mother has not been found.

ROK to Cite Army Wife for Aid to Mother-in-Law

Army Chief of Staff General Chun Il Kown said the conduct of Ai Kyong Kim, 23, wife of a second lieutenant, "should be a pattern for all soldiers' wives."

That Wasn't Nice

CARLSBAD, N. M. (UP)—A district judge sentenced Mrs. Myrtle McCool, a witness in a land partition suit, to 48 hours in jail yesterday for sticking her tongue out at an attorney during the hearing.

Prisoner of Chinese Moved to Peiping

SWEA CITY, Iowa (AP)—The parents of Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., who has been a prisoner of the Chinese Communist since the Korean War, had new hope today that he and three pals may be home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Fischer Sr. based their hopes on a letter they received from their son.

The letter said their son and the other three fliers had been moved from Mukden in Manchuria to Peiping, Red Chinese capital, and life is a bit rosier than when they were in prison.

Television Receiver Becomes Necessity

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The California Legislature recognizes television as a "necessity."

Sen. Richard Richards (D-Los Angeles) said the taking away of a television set works a "hardship" on a family.

Margaret Truman Shares Trip Home With Public

By RAY KOHN

Miss Truman was in a New York CBS-TV studio, substituting for Edward R. Murrow on his program Person to Person.

The half hour was short on politics, but packed with the informality of a family gathering.

From their porch the elder Trumans wandered through their 89-year-old house—the dining room, the living room, parlor and Mr. Truman's den. The camera peeped into the kitchen and Miss Truman talked with a woman identified only as Vietta, who was banking brownies and who was a member of the White House kitchen staff.

When his daughter asked what kind of manual work he did around the house, her father replied: "I do an immense amount of it from a rocking chair."

"Well, the fence had to be put up to keep the American propensities from collecting souvenirs and tearing the house down," said Mr. Truman.

Mrs. Truman told about finding a lady picking her prize tulips, and about the throngs of sightseers who appear almost daily.

"We had a funny experience the other night," she said. "Dad and I went over to see your cousin across the street and there were so many out here in front of the house we couldn't come home.

"We had to spend most of the evening on the front porch all by ourselves because our cousins weren't home."

Over 1,800 Expected for MSC Alumni Event

EAST LANSING (UP)—Michigan State College's centennial year class reunion June 3-4 will attract more than 1,800 alumni, MSC officials said today.

Past graduates will be honored at a special luncheon on Saturday, June 4, when 19 centennial awards will be made, Starr Keesler, director of alumni relations, said.

SPINNING DREAMS — Terrance Kilburn, as Sam Slater, tells Hannah (Mary Ellen Kay) his plans in "Slater's Dream" to be on Cavalcade of America, Tuesday, over ABC-TV. From boyhood memories of cotton mills in England, young Slater reconstructs one of the world's complicated machines, the cotton spinner. The English monopoly is broken and America enters the textile trade.

Three Ways to Recognize a Swindler!

1. He offers you something for nothing or a lot for a little. You should know better, but the temptation is great.
2. He flatters you by "letting you in on the ground floor" of a project so lucrative it has to be kept secret. Naturally!
3. He can't stress urgency enough. His deal is the opportunity of a lifetime, so sign now or you'll always regret it.
