Key to School Closing Is Safety of Children

By PAT MCCARTY

When bad weather strikes, schools superintendents begin making decisions earlier in the day than normal. Predawn tours of their districts usually are in order before they decide whether schools will be closed on a stormy day.

The central factor in their deliberations is the safety of the children in their districts.

Man Quizzed After Latest Strangling

CINCINNATI (UPI) — An 81-year-old spinster was slain in her apartment building today, apparently the sixth victim of the Cincinnati strangler. Police picked up a 29-year-old ex-convict for questioning.

The victim had been strangled with a white stocking less than two hours after she had attended morning church services, police said. The stocking-slaying matched the pattern of five other killings here in the past 12 months.

About four hours later, police announced they picked up for questioning a man who had been convicted of assault. He was booked on a technical charge of parole violation.

Rural school district superintendents face a difficult situation.

ROADS ARE KEY

"Out of 8,500 pupils, we're transporting 7,000 over 52 square miles," Walled Lake Schools Supt. George Garver said. "We have to make sure the roads are safe enough to carry the buses."

Heavy snowfall at night will cause superintendents and schools transportation supervisors. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Scranton Plans Romney Push

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan's Gov. Romney headed today for the Republican governors' conference in Colorado Springs, Colo., where Gov. William W. Scranton plans to seek support for Romney for the 1968 presidential nomination.

Romney, in New York yesterday told newsmen he hadn't made up his mind about running for the presidency yet.

Scranton was quoted by the Washington Post as saying now is the time for Romney to begin his campaign.

Scranton added, however, that Romney "never asked me for my support and I've never pledged it to him."

to the conference with the avowed goal of getting "as many Republican governors as possible to say, at least privately, 'We're for George Romney — at least until he proves to us he can't do the job."

NO HURRY

An Associated Press survey of opinion among 34 Republican governors and governors-elect in advance of the opening of the conference today showed that the bulk of those polled appeared — at least publicly — to be in no hurry to climb aboard any Romney bandwagon.

Most of them took a wait-and-see attitude in the survey. While Romney said he hadn't made up his mind, he seemed to some observers to be already on the 1968 campaign trail when he lashed out at the Johnson administration.

He said he had no confidence in what it said about Vietnam. The "whole facts" on Viet Nam, Romney said, are not available in the United States.

NOT AVAILABLE

He told the news conference he might have to visit Japan, the Philippines, England, France and Germany before he made specific proposals on Viet Nam.

Other countries have had "more experience with this sort of warfare than we've ever had," he said.

He pointed out that the Filipinos and the British have dealt successfully with guerrilla problems in Southeast Asia.

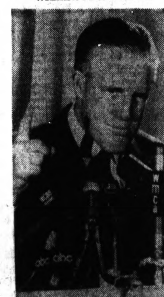

The Washington Post dispatch from Harrisburg, Pa., said Scranton believes Romney ought to ask — and deserves to receive — private commitments of support from the governors and that he could get such pledges from at least 14 of his 24 fellow Republican governors if he asked for them.

Scranton, who failed in a last-minute challenge against Barry Goldwater at the 1964 GOP convention, told the Post:

"As much behind-the-scenes cementation by the governors as possible is needed if we're going to prevent what happened in 1964."

County Version of Airport Deal Going to Board

Point of Disagreement Is City's Request for Retention of Hangars

Acceptance of the City of Pontiac's offer, with one exception, for the transfer of ownership of Pontiac Municipal Airport to Oakland County will be recommended Wednesday to the County Board of Supervisors.

The recommendation came at a joint meeting today of three supervisors' committees, ways and means, buildings and grounds and aviation.

Joint committee agreement was reached on the provisions that the county deed to the city its parking lot at Huron and Saginaw and its building at 1 Lafayette and nearby parking area.

Also agreed at the joint committee meeting was the provision that the county be allowed to occupy rent-free the property at 1 Lafayette until Dec. 31, 1968.

The point of disagreement was the provision of the city's offer calling for retention of ownership by the city of 50 T-hangers at the airport during the period the county continues to occupy the 1 Lafayette building. This (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

U.S. Raids Hit; Rusk in Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of B52 bombers struck Communist positions in South Viet Nam today in three raids that ranged from near Saigon to the northern edge of the country.

As the bombers flew in from their Guam base U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Saigon and discussed chances of a prolonged phase in American bombing raids over North Viet Nam.

"We can't just stop half the war," Rusk told newsmen. "They've got to stop their half of it."

In one raid on the North yesterday, U.S. fighter-bombers were attacked by Communist MIG interceptors only six miles northeast of the center of Hanoi.

The MIGs fired heat-seeking air-to-air missiles but failed to score hits, a U.S. spokesman said.

He reported, however, that one U.S. plane was shot down by Communist ground fire over North Viet Nam and two more were shot down in South Viet Nam.

Ground action in South Viet Nam continued light with both the U.S. and Vietnamese military commands reporting only minor engagements.

Two of the contacts were close to Saigon where allied forces are embarked on a new campaign to clear the Viet Cong from jungle bases from which they mount terror attacks on the capital.

Area May Get Plenty of Snow Tomorrow

Wintery weather is on its way to the Pontiac area for a return engagement.

Cloudy and colder with a chance of several inches of snow accumulating through tomorrow is the prediction.

The day by day forecast looks like this:

TODAY — Cloudy, colder with steady or slowly falling temperatures. Cloudy, colder tonight with several inches of snow mixed with rain in the extreme south portions. Low 30 to 35.

SATURDAY — Cloudy, windy and cool with intermittent snow in the north and near Lake Michigan, and mixed snow and rain in the south portion. Westerly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

SUNDAY — Cloudy, windy and colder with snow flurries.

A new high for the day was set yesterday when the thermometer at The Pontiac Press registered 63. The previous high for Dec. 8 in the last 94 years was 60 in 1946.

Proposed City Budget to Be Presented

By L. GARY THORNE
A lean preliminary budget for calendar year 1967 will be formally presented Tuesday — 13 days late — to the City Commission.

Totaling $9.2 million, the proposed budget — which should have been presented by Dec. 1 — generally reflects the city's austere financial condition.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the preliminary budget was informally presented to the commission before the charter budget deadline of Dec. 1.

However, the bulky document will be presented Tuesday because there was no meeting this week as commissioners were attending a Las Vegas, Nev. convention.

Although city officials won't speculate until the tax base is set in the late spring, the proposed budget would not appear to forecast any hike in city taxes.

EXCLUSIONS NOTABLE

The proposed budget, balanced only after severe belt-tightening by department heads, is noteworthy for what it does not include.

It does not, for example, incorporate any pay hikes for city employees, although negotiations have begun with four separate employee groups.

The proposed budget generally holds the proverbial line on 1967 municipal spending, keeping it on a par with the current year. Actually, the $7.5-million general fund expenditures proposed for next year are slightly under $86,776, the general fund budgeted for 1966.

At least in the preliminary 1967 budget, city officials project only a slight $5-million hike in the city's tax base. Of course, this projection could change before the final equalized valuation is set on May 30.

Traditionally, the budget adopted the first of the year — the charter stipulates by Feb. 1 — is only a tentative projection of the year's revenues and expenditures. The annual appropriation ordinance usually is revised after the tax base is known at midyear.

Meantime, Pontiac taxpayers can expect to pay nearly the same amount of taxes in 1967 as they did this year — $17.78 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

The projected $5-million jump in the city's tax base, which would put the city's equalized value at $406,000,000, is the same figure projected for the current year's budget. The latter ended up with an actual tax base of $401,047,416.

NO PERSONNEL ADDED

The general fund, long at the charter limitation of 10 mills, gains $10,000 for each million-dollar hike in the equalized valuation, or $50,000 for a $5-million increase.

In addition to not including almost certain pay hikes, the proposed new budget does not add any new personnel to the hardestpressed police and fire departments.

The police department budget is up $55,435 over the current one, according to the proposed budget, but most of the increase ($38,623) is projected to pay for

Smart Gifts for Home Say Merry Christmas

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third in a nine-part series on shopping tips for Christmas gift buying.)

By JEANNE NELSON

Gifts for the home are always a nice way of saying "Merry Christmas." This year's selection places the emphasis on elegance.

Choose the "Pleur de Bal" with its fragrant scent of Jasmine. Made of artificial flowers in green, pink and orange combinations, it hangs from wide velvet streamers. About $10.

Tote shelves with their traditional gold designs are another idea for the bath. One comes with two tiers and a towel shelf below. This runs at about $12.

Nothing is quite so luxurious as a pair of 100 per cent down pillows. With blue or pink striped covers, these 21-3/4-inch pillows run $39.98 for the pair.

For use in any room are decorative brass trivets. Sizes and shapes differ for a designer look at $3.50 each.

Unpainted pine bookcases are ideal for a child's room. Sanded smooth, they contain five roomy shelves for children's books and treasures. The price is $11.88.

For early Americans lovers there is a maple finished radio styled to look like a wall shelf with drawers. Priced at $74.95, it can be hung on the wall or placed on a flat surface.

Hand painted apothecary jars lend themselves to the colonial mood. Sets including coffee, tea and sugar jars are $14.95. For another $6.50, the cookie jar is available.

For the "extra" bath there are brass guest towel holders to add elegance at party time. Their price of $11.95 puts them in the luxury class.

Ship Toll 235 Dead, Missing

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — minute passengers may have been aboard.

Shipping officials revised the toll in the sinking of the ferry Heraklion to 235 dead or missing today and expressed fear that a number of unlisted, last-minute passengers may have been aboard.

Hope was fading that there would be more survivors than the 46 brought in by darkness Thursday. Thursday night, 49 survivors were reported, but the Ministry of Merchant Marine said three of those were later found to be bodies.

Rescue ships kept up their search, and at noon the Marine Ministry said 37 bodies had been recovered and placed in a morgue in Piraeus for identification.

The sea was littered with debris and thousands of oranges from the Heraklion's cargo.

AT LAST MINUTE

Officials directing the search from Piraeus, the port of Athens, said many persons may have boarded the ferry at the last minute and paid their fare after the ship got under way from the island of Crete. They said naval students from Canaan, on Crete, often ride without being recorded on passenger lists and some other unlisted persons travel on the ferry free.

A second Greek ship sank today in another Aegean storm far south of the scene of the Heraklion disaster. The small freighter Aghia Barbera went down between Rhodes and Cyprus, but all 16 crewmen were picked up by passing ships.

The 8,900-ton Heraklion sank swiftly in a boiling storm at 2 a.m. Thursday, halfway on an overnight crossing from Crete to Piraeus with 206 passengers listed aboard and 73 in the crew.

Crewmen told rescuers trucks and cars, torn from their lashings as the 17-year-old ship tossed in the storm, smashed loading doors that had been weakened by waves. They said a 16-ton refrigerator trailer battered open a bulk door and the Aegean Sea, whipped up by 75- to 100-mile winds, poured in.

Chief Mate Nikos Theodorakis, 33, said he ran below deck after the alarm sounded.

"Water was already pouring in," he said. "Automobiles were piled up to one side of the ship in the forward quarter, heaving of the ship had snapped their retaining stays."

It was on the following day, the state claims, that the 50-year-old retired Army colonel, Frederick W. Bryant of Royal Oak, secretary, and Ferdinand Gaensbauer of Pontiac, treasurer.

fire departments is generally true of the rest of the city's general fund and special millage departments.

The budget, as proposed, does allow for the hiring of replacement persons for some existing vacancies, such as added personnel for the engineering department which now has only 13 persons, down from 27 people last year.

Also, the proposed budget provides for filling a vacancy in the purchasing department and the library.

Those funds, outside of the general fund, supported by special service charges, are separate, earmarked millage, do show increases in the budgets. Most of these hikes are met through projected increases in revenue.

Estimated revenue for the city's sewage disposal system is $813,500, up $80,000 over 1966, according to the proposed budget.

The balanced revenue and appropriations for the water department are up $222,000 over 1966 in the preliminary budget, while the sanitation budget is up $75,000 over the 1966 budget of $602,555.

Included in the proposed sanitation budget for 1967, which is supported by a separate earmarked millage, are expenditures totaling $181,000 for the new sanitary landfill site on Collier.

City officials plan to prepare the landfill site for an early 1968 use. Proposed expenditures include $5,000 for a greenbelt, $10,000 for fencing and $86,000 for a building and utilities.

The city can levy up to two mills for sanitation purposes. About 11½ mills were levied this year. The final levy for 1967 will be determined both by the revenue needed and the tax base.

Also dependent on the revenue needed and the size of the tax base is the annual levy for bonded indebtedness.

Pontiac has two bond issues outstanding. Pontiac General Hospital bonds and sewerage treatment plant bonds. The proposed budget pegs payments on these issues in 1967 at $390,000, which is the same budgeted this year.

Receiving the proposed budget Tuesday, the City Commission will likely set a public hearing date for some time in January. The budget must be adopted in the form of an annual appropriation ordinance by Feb. 1.

Two bandits held up Frank's Food Mart, 2701 Elizabeth Lake Road, Waterford Township, last night and escaped with about $950 in cash.

The robbery occurred shortly before 10 p.m., according to township police.

Owner Frank Soda told police he was alone in the store at the time.

Soda said he had locked the store, but reopened it when he saw two men motoring to him on the pretense they wanted to buy something.

Shortly after entering the store, one of the men pointed a revolver at Soda. The accomplice opened the cash register, taking the bills and leaving behind checks and change.

RECEIVED CALL

Soda told police he had received a telephone call at 9:30 p.m. from a man who wanted to know if he (Soda) could deliver groceries to him.

Soda said he couldn't since he was alone in the store.

The man then asked Soda what time the store would close. Soda told him 10 o'clock.

The bandits were described as 25 to 30 years old.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — Coast Guard investigators today probed an 18-inch crack in a deck plate of the freighter which survived a vicious storm that sank a sister ship.

Coast Guard Cmdr. Robert P. Chirnsie and Lt. Richard J. Akridge Jr. were assigned to study the Townsend's damage.

The fractured deck plate was discovered after the 802-foot Townsend sank the storm that sank the Daniel J. Morrell in Lake Huron Nov. 29, with 28 crewmen killed.

The Townsend, last vessel to report having been in contact with the Morrell, is anchored at Sault Ste. Marie for the winter. Its sailing papers were lifted by the Coast Guard after its captain reported the split deck steel.

Meanwhile, the lone survivor of the Morrell disaster sued Bethlehem Steel Corp. Thursday for $150,000.

condemnation powers of state agencies which would be involved, was returned to the House for consideration of amendments made in Senate committees.

Adopting a measure identical to one passed earlier by the Senate, House members gave themselves the choice of using state-owned autos or continuing to receive a mileage allowance for use of their own cars.

Rejected by the House today was a compulsory motor vehicle inspection bill that would have cost drivers $2.25 per car per year.

The auto inspection bill, which has bounced around the Legislature in one form or another for several years, would have permitted the Department of State Police to establish regulations and set up inspection stations.

Rep. William Copeland, D-Wyandotte, said State Police estimated it would have cost the state $75,000 for the rest of this fiscal year and $1.2 million for the next.

By 1969-70, he said, the program should pay for itself through the inspection fees.

Cheyz Trial Hears a Key Witness

By JIM LONG

The Circuit Court bribery trial of White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz was adjourned yesterday until Tuesday when a prosecution witness granted immunity by the Oakland County grand jury, returns to testify.

The witness, Richard H. Hanson, spent all yesterday afternoon recalling incidents involving him, Cheyz and Mrs. Estel la Dawson.

Cheyz is charged with conspiring with Hanson in a $3,000 bribe to use his influence as supervisor to have a parcel of property rezoned to permit Mrs. Dawson to construct apartments. The rezoning was never approved.

The allegations were leveled in April by grand juror Philip Pratt, who granted Hanson immunity from the charges.

Hanson, 35, of 2771 North Lake, Waterford Township, is a technical writer with the Waterford Township engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson, Inc., Oakland County grand jury, returns to testify.

DISCUSSION
He testified that Mrs. Dawson was first discussed by him and Cheyz following a meeting late last year of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

"The usual greetings were exchanged," said Hanson. "I asked how things were going and he said not too well, and explained by telling me the high cost of being a supervisor."

Hanson said that Cheyz asked him if he was in any position, to do outside work and told him about Mrs. Dawson.

"He asked me what I could do for her," said Hanson, "and I told him I could prepare advertising for her brochures."

"He asked me how much I would charge her. I did some fast calculating and said about $3,000."

"I also told him that if I got the job and $3,000 I would give him $1,000."

Hanson said he couldn't recall if Cheyz said anything after that.

Two or three weeks later, according to Hanson, he was contacted by Mrs. Dawson, and a meeting arranged where he outlined the services he would provide.

LUNCH TOGETHER

Hanson said that he and Cheyz had lunch together frequently because of their long friendship. On one of these occasions, after Cheyz had once told him that the County Coordinating Zoning Committee had refused to recommend the rezoning, Hanson said he asked if he thought the property could be rezoned and Cheyz said yes.

"I was concerned at that time if there was going to be any job," said Hanson.

Hanson said Cheyz later told him that "If I collected the money he would take care of the rezoning."

"There was a question if we could trust Mrs. Dawson," said Hanson.

BEFORE AND AFTER
Hanson said that Cheyz told him this could be overcome by getting $1,500 before the rezoning and $1,500 later.

"He said he would contact Mrs. Dawson again and that I could expect to hear from her."

According to Hanson, Cheyz

later gave him some instructions to give to Mrs. Dawson.

The instructions, according to Hanson, included "verifying the fact that the rezoning had been a bled, telling her that he (Cheyz) could get it rezoned, and that she must provide a set of plans with a mortgage stamp."

NO CONTACT

Before the trial was concluded for the day, Hanson told assistant Prosecutor James Roberts that he had never contacted any printers about the advertising.

Hanson was arrested Feb. 11 by two grand jury investigators minutes after a meeting with Mrs. Dawson where she gave him $500 cash and a $1,000 check.

Report Says Secret Police Bugged Tito

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The government told Parliament today the secret police once bugged the office apartment of President Tito.

This was part of a voluminous report on abuses of the secret police, controlled by ousted Vice President Alexander Rankovic, which the government submitted to Parliament.

However, the government proposed and the Parliament agreed that Rankovic and his group should not be criminally prosecuted because of humanitarian reasons, and because of his merits in the past.

Rankovic and his group were purged from the Communist party earlier this year. He was accused of forming a group with the aim of taking over power.

MICROPHONES

The report said the group controlled telephones and installed microphones in offices and apartments. It said Tito's residence in the Belgrade suburb of Jedinj and his office in the government palace were covered with eavesdropping devices.

Lines of Premier Petar Stambolic, Edvard Kardelj, president of Parliament, and other high officials, including army leaders, also were bugged, the report said.

It stressed the group around Rankovic used its position "to spread doubts in the efficiency of the democratic system and self-management."

The report said all these abuses were possible because Rankovic enjoyed full confidence.

The secret police also interfered in all fields of activities, the report said, infiltrated the Foreign Ministry with the aim to dominate it and tried "to link to itself certain army people."

The report said the secret police tried also to control the administration and the Communist party.

Vote Size Seen as Key in Utica

UTICA — School officials are hopeful of good turnout for their bond issue vote tomorrow.

They feel, based on past surveys, that a good turnout will mean acceptance of the district's $15.5-million building program and the additional 6 mills needed to run it. There are 14,000 registered voters in the district.

Just this week all elementary school children were put on full-day sessions with the opening of the J. V. Messmore Elementary School and the relief of crowded conditions at West Utica.

The Rose Kidd Elementary school, last of four new schools to open, is scheduled for occupancy Jan. 15.

Utica educators expect it to be filled and then some, as with the next three years about 7,000 additional students are expected in the district.

ROOM SHORTAGE

Schools Supt. Philip Runkel said, "It will mean a shortage of 112 elementary classrooms, 64 junior high classrooms and 25 senior high classrooms by 1969. We must begin construction now if we are to meet these needs."

Since the district now levies 6.8 mills to pay off previous bond issues, it expects to take advantage of the new state school bond loan fund to limit its bond payment levy to 7 mills.

In other words, the district feels the new building might be accomplished on an increase of 12 mills or about $2.30 a year on a home worth $20,000.

The six mills needed to operate the new facilities are asked for a period of five years. District officials say that tax would amount to an increase of 45 a month on a home worth $20,000.

All property owners who have registered may vote on both the bonding and millage proposals. Registered nonproperty owners may vote on the millage proposal only.

Oakland Twp. Tax Bills Due

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Residents here are due for something of a shock come the early part of next week.

At that time Treasurer Robert Barkham will put the 1966 county and school tax bills in the mail. The jump from last year is expected to cause some spectacular head scratching by taxpayers.

Due to an increased township equalization factor from 2.29 last year to 2.38 this year, residents can expect to pay $25.34 more per $1,000 assessed valuation, he said.

Mrs. Lucy M. Alt, clerk, said there has been better than a 1-mill raise in the tax levy in part of the township.

Rochester schools will get an additional 5 mill and that added to the county's 5 mill for special education and .11 mills for debt retirement makes the difference from last year.

BIG JUMP

Nevertheless the big jump is due to the equalization factor, she feels.

Oakland Township assesses about $4,000 on a $20,000 home, so owners of such a home can expect a tax bill of $447.48 this year as opposed to last year's $346.12, Mrs. Alt said.

Water Group Picks President

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — John Vis, 7139 Locklin, was elected president of Union Lake Shores Association, Inc., at the group's annual meeting.

William Maybee was named vice president; Mrs. Raymond Olson, secretary; and Mrs. Louis Sparring, treasurer.

The group is composed of 12 local associations around the lake.

BIG BLAZE — More than 100 tons of hay and a 10-stall milking parlor go up in smoke yesterday in a barn fire at the Charles Hough dairy farm, 7430 37 Mile. Bruce Township. Some of the firemen, called from four area departments, remained at the scene this morning to prevent further damage. Cause of the fire was thought to be faulty electrical wiring, according to fire officials.

Job-Training Center for Retarded Slated

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The township has been designated as the site of a second work training center for mentally retarded young adults.

Conducted by the New Horizons of Oakland County, the new sheltered workshop will be located at 35100 Grand River and will serve southwestern Oakland County.

The center is expected to be in operation about Jan. 1 with 20 to 25 trainees, according to J. Lyle Winslow, president of the nonprofit organization.

New Horizons' main objective is to provide vocational training for mentally retarded young people who are capable of acquiring sufficient skills to meet minimal requirements of industry.

The new center will have one-third more space than the existing center in Royal Oak with a capacity to employ about 40 trainees.

Glen Smith, executive director, has asked individuals, groups and industry to help equip the new center.

His needs include work benches and tables, storage bins, balance scales, a drill press, a fork lift, hand carts, a stake or panel truck, general office equipment, book

Avon Twp. School in Carol Program

AVON TOWNSHIP — The vocal music classes of West Junior High School will present carols from around the world at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the school.

Bernard Lesley will direct the group in a new carol "The Angel and the Shepherd," written by West's principal, Frank Richardson.

The Bell-Ringers from University Presbyterian Church, a band ensemble directed by Ward T. Price and Gerald Pakkala, Oakland University student, will be featured with the 100-voice group.

Avondale OKs Bonds for School

The Avondale Board of Education has voted to underwrite $30,000 worth of revenue bonds which will be used to construct a high school field house.

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission had earlier refused the bond sale on the basis that payment would be strictly from gate receipts.

Lawrence Sharer, principal of the Auburn Heights Junior High School, was named as the new administrative assistant to Schools Supt. John W. Dickey. His job will be largely concerned with obtaining federal funds to aid the district, Dickey said.

Sharer will also handle special and adult education, summer programs and driver training courses.

His appointment, effective Jan. 30, leaves a vacancy at the junior high.

Less-Urban Communities Beefing Up Master Plans

The comprehensive master plan — often thought the tool of the big city — is soon to become a meaningful device for less urbanized communities north of Pontiac.

Some communities are beefing up their planning efforts, while at least one — Lake Orion — is just getting started. Nevertheless, planning, it appears, has taken on a new importance.

Two separate movements toward complete planning in Orion and Oxford Townships took place recently.

The Village Council of Lake Orion, having just sent its new charter to Lansing for approval, recently adopted an ordinance to set up a planning commission with powers over the zoning of land.

The Oxford Township Planning Commission has voted to recommend application for federal funds with which to acquire a master plan for the area.

STARTED IN 1962

The Village of Oxford started its master plan in 1962.

Orion Township, meanwhile, has had a planning commission for two years, and made application last June for federal money to set up a master plan of the area.

Lake Orion Village President Wallace C. Crane hailed the move by his village as a big step forward.

"Despite the near saturation of building in the village now, the future will require plans for rebuilding. Such a board could recommend wisely any future annexation or townshipwide incorporation moves," he said.

KEY OBJECTIVE

He believed creation of the new commission would be a help to Lake Orion's economy. A building inspector, guided by such a commission, can in working with the assessor keep the village up-to-date in assessed valuation, he said.

One of the main objectives of the new group, he continued, would be the writing of a zoning ordinance "that has some sense to it."

Nine men including Crane will serve on the planning board. They will include an administrative official appointed by the president, an elected member of the council, and six others appointed by the president and subject to the approval of the council.

The appointments will be announced at the Dec. 19 meeting, according to Crane.

The Oxford Township Planning Commission has recommended that the township Board hire Development Planning Co. of Pontiac to make application for the master planning grant under Federal Act 701.

Cost of the plan has been estimated at between $18,000 and $25,000.

While no action has been taken, the possibility is present that the four boards might work jointly under a regional planning commission.

Sewer problems and the disposal of sewage are common to the four areas.

Countywide Lapeer Water Plan Sought

IMLAY CITY — The Lapeer County Planning Commission was asked last night to establish a countywide plan for the distribution of Detroit water.

The request was made by the Lapeer County Utilities Authority at its organizational meeting here.

The authority elected Harvey Weatherwax, Imlay City village manager, as chairman. Howard Stone, Mayfield Township supervisor, was named vice chairman; Verne Messer, Almont village clerk, secretary; and Robert Tripp, Lapeer Township supervisor, treasurer.

The townships of Hadley and Oregon with the village of Columbiaville applied for membership in the nine-unit authority. Their applications will be voted on separately by the governing bodies of the other nine units.

Lapeer County Bank and Trust Co. was named as depository for authority funds.

Each member has at this point been assessed $25, the money being used for the printing of the authority's articles of incorporation.

Joint Christmas Party

DAVISBURG — Austin Chapter No. 396, Order of the Eastern Star, and Austin Lodge No. 4, F&AM, will hold a Christmas party tomorrow at the Masonic Temple. A cooperative supper at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by a visit from Santa Claus.

City Maps Antipollution Campaign

In a major move against area water pollution, the Pontiac City Commission at a recent meeting envisioned a long-range $7.5 million program to separate drain and storm sewage in the northern section of the City.

In order to comply with a directive of the State Water Resources Commission aimed at solution of local pollution problems, the City Fathers authorized expenditures of $12,000 for a blueprint for elimination of pollution of three small lakes within the municipality.

Primary target is Osmun Lake, where $45,000 would be initially spent to provide a storm drain to handle the segregated waste resulting from Fisher Body Plant's planned separation of its combined internal sewer system.

However, for the lake to realize maximum benefit from the Fisher Body project, an outlay of $300,000 by the City for area sewer separation would eventually be called for. Source of money for such purpose would be the surplus of the sewage disposal fund.

We commend the City Commission on its progressive outlook toward combating on a local level one of the growing threats facing the Nation — the pollution of nature's vital resources.

Jurist Stirred by Recent Store Tragedy

A thoughtful communication to the editor reflects a somber outlook on public responsibility in the area of law enforcement and concern for the fate of individuals beset by violence.

Citing the recent case of a Detroit department store employee who hesitatingly attempted to apprehend an escaping shoplifter and was stabbed to death while hundreds looked on, the writer sees the apathy evidenced as a typical example of America's deteriorating social consciousness.

On the other hand, he points to the victim's instinctive reaction on the side of law and order and considers it worthy of public recognition and indeed of material compensation for his family.

Our correspondent, an Oak Park municipal judge, points out that there exist unpublicized groups whose interest lies in recognizing and rewarding the heroism of policemen and firemen where it surpasses the call of duty. He suggests that a similar appreciation be given to civilians who display comparable courage and sense of public responsibility.

The PRESS is in hearty accord with the sentiments expressed by this member of the judiciary and passes them on to its readers for serious consideration.

Train Children to Escape From Home Fires

Can something helpful be done about the tragic fate of children whose lives are sacrificed in home fires?

Yes, we think there can be. The answer lies in giving children rudimentary fire drill for escaping their burning homes, similar to programs regularly observed in schools.

Pointing out that dwelling fires annually claim the lives of 2,000 children and that a child is 200 times more likely to be trapped in a home fire than at school, Today's Health magazine offers these safety tips:

- Together, parents and children should map out two separate escape routes from each room — a main route and an alternate. Main exits are usually doors; alternates, windows.
- A portable ladder (aluminum) should be available for escape from upper windows.

Strange Stillness at the White House

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — There has been a strange development in President Johnson which may have gone unnoticed because, while he may seem to be talking as much as ever, he really isn't.

He has been talking in news conferences for months here in Washington or in Texas or elsewhere but that is scattered talk on a variety of subjects, not detailed and not in any sense full explanations on serious subjects.

He has not been making sustained speeches or explanations as he did in his early White House days. As a result he has become more remote from the people.

And as a result of that his popularity and the public's confidence in him have sagged. For example, it has been a long time since he took the airways to talk to the nation about Viet Nam.

All that has been coming out of Texas about the economy so far is a jumble. He will, of course, have plenty of time and opportunity to be clear and specific about this in January in his budget and economic and State of the Union messages.

Meanwhile, a rather puzzled public waits. That he is losing ground with the public was illustrated in two public opinion polls published this week by George Gallup and Louis Harris.

The latest Gallup poll, which at the beginning of 1966 showed 63 per cent approving the way Johnson did his job, showed only 48 per cent did, although this was a 4 point increase from October.

Gallup attributed the downward trend to disenchantment with the "Great Society" and the course of the war in Viet Nam. In the latest survey 43 per cent said they approved Johnson's handling of the war, 40 per cent didn't.

But the Harris poll was even gloomier. Harris found only 42 per cent approved Johnson's handling of the war, a 7 point drop since his trip to the Manila conference in October.

Harris also found only 35 per cent approved his handling of the economy, a 34 per cent drop in a year. An earlier Harris survey had Johnson trailing Republican George Romney, recently elected to a third term as Michigan's governor, in pairings for the presidency.

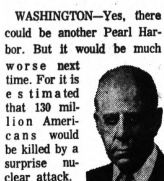

FILLING THE VACUUM
For months he let the critics of the war, like two Democratic senators, J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Wayne Morse of Oregon, fill the vacuum of public information without saying much himself except scattered statements.
If he wants to be reelected he will have to make big changes.

'There's A Card In Here From Washington, Says: 'Get Well Quick'.'

David Lawrence Says:

Another Pearl Harbor Possible

WASHINGTON—Yes, there could be another Pearl Harbor. But it would be much worse next time. For it is estimated that 130 million Americans would be killed by a surprise nuclear attack.

This is why there is so much discussion now in military circles about what is called the "Nike-X" system of antimissile missiles. This, with certain other defensive measures, would be expected to cut the deaths to something like 60 million, and thereby save 70 million lives.

But there are as yet no antimissile defenses in the United States, and reliance is being placed entirely on the plan to use an avalanche of missiles to retaliate with such intensity that 100 million people in the enemy country could be killed and the economy destroyed.

The argument continues, however, as to whether the deterrent is adequate. The U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff are on record unanimously in favor of "Nike-X."

Without mentioning this phase of the problem, Secretary of Defense McNamara — after a long discussion with President Johnson — this week issued to the press a memorandum designed to allay any public apprehension as to the effectiveness of America's missile strength.

FELT IT NECESSARY
It is evident the administration felt it necessary to take public note of reports that the Soviets are rapidly increasing their missile strength.

These reports began to filter out about three weeks ago from western Europe and the Pentagon. They indicated that America's lead of 4 to 1 in intercontinental ballistic missiles was rapidly diminishing and that perhaps by 1970 the Soviet Union would catch up with the United States.

Also, the Russians were reported already to be deploying an antimissile system of their own around Moscow, Leningrad and other cities.

In his statement this week, Secretary McNamara conceded that U. S. Intelligence agencies had underestimated the number of intercontinental ballistic missiles that the Soviets would have in place by the middle of 1968 and in subsequent years. But he insisted that this country could still deal a crushing counter-blow to any attacking enemy.

UNANSWERED QUESTION
The great unanswered question is whether an irresponsible government in Moscow or Peking will take this into account.

The irresponsible elements in Tokyo certainly didn't think things through when they ordered the attack on the United States on Dec. 7, 1941.

It is necessary, therefore, to make sure that the people of every large country possessing nuclear weapons are kept fully informed of the dangers of a nuclear war, so that they may exercise a restraining hand and prevent any more Pearl Harbors.

Bob Considine Says:

U.S. Is Not Butting In on S. Viet Constitution

SAIGON—South Viet Nam's National Constitutional Assembly, elected and seated in September, has until March 27, 1967, to draft a new constitution for this tortured land.

It works earnestly each day on a task that would discourage most men. It is blueprinting a democracy to be run by civilians, and doing this in the face of war, military dictatorship, pestilence and international pessimism that anything good would come of it.

The only contribution the United States is making to this noble experiment, whose success or failure will crown or curse our involvement here, is its good wishes.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge does not show up at assembly sessions to shape the embryo constitution in the image and likeness of the document put together by certain of his ancestors after the American Revolution. We send only an observer, a young, New York-born, Yale-trained member of the embassy staff, John Negroponte. It would be unthinkable of him to offer a suggestion.

We are maintaining what the State Department calls a "low silhouette" in this delicate matter. We don't want to risk being accused of meddling or Big Brothering this gestation period.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS
So far, everything that has happened in the assembly hall, which the colonial French built as an opera house, has exceeded our expectations.

The 117 members have produced an impressive organization of civil servants to run the operation, have formed separate but essentially compatible voting blocs which could become political parties, have had few squabbles and an attendance record that would put our own Congress to shame.

There have been no filibusters. Speeches are finished in five minutes and are limited to three on any one subject.

There appears to be emerging from the daily discussions and statements of principle a type of leadership which we could place our confidence in when victory has been achieved and the bulk of our forces takes its leave.

It all seems too good to be true. But it is happening here, big as life.

Hypocrisy

Pravda, Moscow

Under cover of hypocritical phrases on peace in Manila another step has been taken along the road of continuing and escalating American imperialism in the area of Indochina. The Manila gathering clearly mirrored the subterfuge which the U. S. ruling quarters are resorting to in their main effort to avoid defeat in Viet Nam and to strengthen their positions in the international arena.

Voice of the People:

Several Express Views on Closing Area Schools

In answer to "Eighty-Two Years Old" who wanted to know why they close the schools at the first snow-fall, I came from the coldest spot in the Upper Peninsula where the temperature once reached 65 degrees below zero. I waded waist-deep snow to school and braved the below zero temperatures. More power to the boys and girls who don't have to bear the hardships I did.

I am not richer, poorer or better educated, so let the children stay home. It isn't wading the snow that will hurt them but the amount of traffic we have. I'll keep my youngsters home if their safety warrants it, even if they miss a few nouns or pronouns and arithmetic problems.

NOT QUITE EIGHTY-TWO

In regard to schools closing when it snows a few inches, in 1900 you could put on your boots and walk down the middle of the road if you wanted to. When children start to school now there are no walks and they sometimes live 10 or 12 miles from the school.

I drove a school bus all day on ice that had been rained on, so when they say no school because of ice, snow, fog, etc., I say "Thank God, maybe no child, driver or innocent bystander will be hurt."

A BUS DRIVER

Regarding schools closing, children today are from six to ten miles from their schools in most places. Buses should be kept off the roads in bad weather because each driver is responsible for 40 to 60 young lives.

Why is Mr. Whitmer so willing to endanger all these lives, as well as the teachers and bus drivers? On Nov. 23, Pontiac schools were the only ones open.

35-YEAR-OLD MOTHER OF FOUR

Has anyone considered the danger of leaving Pontiac schools open in poor weather such as we had December 5? Driving and walking were hazardous and serious accidents could occur under such conditions.

Those who did risk having an accident wasted their time. Classes were so small that teachers could not continue with regular assignments.

Why was Pontiac the only school system open? Why is it that Pontiac schools have only been closed once since 1947? The Pontiac school system is open more days than any other system in this area. Certainly we could afford to close the schools for a day or two to avoid these hazards.

Question and Answer

Students who have to go home from school after 4:30 because of practice, meetings, etc., must pay adult bus fare of 30 cents instead of the 15-cent student rate. Why should they pay more just because they have extra-curricular activities? This policy should be changed.

SEVERAL STUDENTS

REPLY

After talking with Pontiac Transit Company manager and the assistant City manager, we learned this is a long established policy agreed on by the bus company, the City and the schools. All those concerned feel this helps to get students home right after school and discourages them from hanging around the schools or downtown. There are legitimate reasons for staying late, of course, but special permits for those students would present too many complications for the bus company, which already has more than its share of problems.

Lasting Reminders

Atlanta Journal

Political campaigns come and go but political campaign signs oftentimes come and stay.

They are left tacked up on telephone poles or tree trunks or most anything else that doesn't move with the rains and the winds finally put them on the ground. Then they stay there it seems like forever.

And political signs are not the only things that stay up on the landscape. There are all sorts of advertising signs that are unattractive or unproductive.

And, to be fair about it, there are some interesting signs, too.

But the unattractive ones are sometimes around in such numbers that they become a blot on the outdoor scene.

More Readers Discuss Behavior of Youth

I ride the bus after school. Before grown-ups complain, they should think of the teen-agers first. What children hear, see and do at home, they repeat in public. If these acts are shameful, don't blame the teen-agers, blame the parents.

ARCHIE MASON
665 S. PADDOCK

My hat is off to the person who wrote about the conduct of the Negro school children. I am an ex-bus driver because of this conduct. When a school has to keep police on duty to try and control these students, it surely is a disgrace to the many fine Negro people we have in Pontiac.

EX-BUS DRIVER

To "Concerned Citizen," I can't speak for all white people because we also have people in our race who act and talk like those of your race. They can't see the harm they are doing to their own race by their actions. I agree, there are a lot of fine Negro people, but for their color, but for their ability to get the most out of life without hurting others in the process. Until all people quit hollering "equal rights" and start practicing what they preach, humanity will never improve.

ANOTHER REAL CONCERNED CITIZEN

Three cheers for "A Concerned Citizen!" It's unfortunate that others who feel as he does do nothing to try to curb the antics and activities of those who are so severely damaging the image of the Negro race. I am not a Negro, but I am a Christian, which makes me a brother to every man. I am concerned for those of any oppressed group or nation hope to survive.

Sit-ins, demonstrations, marches, black power nor white power can ever hope to surmount the obstacles that present themselves whenever progress tries to initiate a needed change. Only by patience, perseverance, love and the help of God whose great love created us all equal in His sight can any oppressed group or nation hope to survive.

ANOTHER CONCERNED CITIZEN

I commend "A Concerned Citizen" for the forthright letter concerning the shameful conduct of some of our Negro children on buses and in stores. I too have been concerned, and have spoken to several of these students personally about their actions affect our race as a whole. Perhaps, if parents would follow their children at times and find out what they are doing, the situation could be remedied.

ANOTHER CONCERNED CITIZEN

At 3:15 p.m., a bus is waiting to bring Pontiac Northern students home. Pontiac Central students have to walk downtown and wait until 4:00 p.m. or later. If they miss that bus, it's a 45-minute wait. I have called Mr. Staley, the principal, and he did all he could. I have also called the bus company.

If "Concerned Citizen" wasn't so busy being ashamed of being a Negro, she would know that these children have no other way home.

Thirty days in jail would stop the roughnecks. I am proud of the majority of students at Pontiac Central.

'Numerous Activities Are Offered Teens'

I have read statements in this column from teen-agers complaining about the lack of activities available to them. Recently, a similar statement was signed by four adults who want to start a club for teens who have no place to go.

Clubs and organizations which offer activities designed to enrich the moral and/or physical well-being of teen-agers as well as to provide stimulating and enjoyable association, are: H-Y; Tri-H-Y and their junior affiliates; Deloitte; Job's Daughters; Boy Scouts; Boy Fellowship; Baptist Youth Fellowship, etc.; Boy Explorer, Sea and Girl Scouts; Pontiac Swim Club; Pontiac Weight Lifting Club; Squares; Circle K; YMCA; YWCA; Junior Achievement; Pontiac City Baseball and other recreation department activities; school clubs such as Future Nurses, Future Teachers, etc.

With these and many other activities available, it would seem that the only teens who have no place to go are the ones who are just too lazy to get up and put on one foot ahead of the other.

Viet Vet Pilot Turns Teacher

SAIGON (AP)—Capt. Ralph J. Beardsley, 33, of Almont, Mich., has flown 100 missions over North Viet Nam, dropped an estimated 800,000 pounds of ordnance in less than five months, and now he's going home to teach students how the job is done.

The Air Force, which rotates fliers after 100 combat missions over the Communist North, is sending Beardsley to McConnell Air Force Base, Kan., where he will be a combat crew training instructor, teaching Southeast Asia-bound F105 pilots the tactics they will employ and the combat conditions they will face.

Beardsley, who was flight leader on 24 of his missions, had his airplane hit only once and was a small wing puncture caused by small arms fire. "It caused no trouble and only left a hole smaller than a quarter," he said. "I feel very fortunate that that's the only ground fire that hit me. When you dive into a target right through the flak, you just have to hope and trust to luck that none hits you."

Chrysler Bid to Get Rid of Dealer Halted

CHICAGO (AP)—Chrysler Corp. was barred Thursday by a federal judge from using what he called an "unfair and arbitrary" sales quota to terminate a dealer's franchise in Wheaton, Ill.

Judge Hubert L. Will of U. S. District Court enjoined Chrysler from ending the franchise of J. A. Madson Motor Sales Inc. He concluded that the termination was not Madson's performance but Chrysler's "desire to establish a new, large dealership" in Wheaton.

The judge ruled that the sales quota "is an arbitrary, unfair and coercive standard of adequate performance." He said it would enable Chrysler to cancel up to one-half of its dealerships at any time. Quotas vary from dealer to dealer.

The stockholders of Madson Motors filed suit in November 1965 against Chrysler after receiving a notice of franchise termination.

TRADE RESTRAINT

The suit charged that Chrysler attempted to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Chrysler asked the court to determine the loss to Madson if the franchise were not maintained. Judge Will said it would be impossible to calculate the monetary damages Madson would sustain.

Madson Motors is owned by Clarence Madson, Joseph Zwierzycki, Joseph D'Ziak and Guy Ashmore.

Great Lakes Level Expected to Drop

DETROIT (UPI)—The levels of Lakes Superior, Huron and Michigan are expected to fall two to three inches during the next month. The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers said today.

The drops are part of the normal fall-winter pattern, the engineers said. Lake Erie, however, is expected to remain at the same level.

The report said Superior would undergo the biggest drop, three inches. It fell two inches in the last month. Michigan and Huron are both expected to drop two inches. Both are currently one inch above what they were one month ago.

Motor Cortex 'More Basic Than Thought'

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — The motor cortex, major center in the brain for all skilled, voluntary movements, is a more elementary structure than anyone has suspected, according to new evidence.

It's more like manual steering than power steering, says a doctor studying it.

Rather than guiding movement, the motor cortex determines only how much force will be applied, reported Dr. Edward V. Evars of the National Institute of Mental Health in Bethesda, Md.

Messages in the motor cortex are coded in terms of force, which means the guidance system is probably located in higher brain centers.

Dr. Evars reported his research to an international conference of neurophysiologists at Columbia University in New York. It has important implications for restoring the use of paralyzed muscles.

The poinsettia, popular Christmas flower, was named after Dr. Joel Poinsett.

Real Wallop in Irish Coffee

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — Alcohol can produce more than one kind of aberration. The man who sees pink elephants may also be exposing himself to the same hazards faced by those exposed to the atomic bomb.

And if he really wants to live dangerously, Irish coffee is just the thing, for coffee and alcohol are synergists; that is, mixed together, they are several times more potent than when used alone.

Shoppers Warned of Thieves

Some simple precautions by Pontiac area residents and shoppers during the Christmas season can assure them of a merrier holiday, Pontiac police advised today.

Detective Capt. Charles W. Gale placed particular emphasis on locking of car doors and even securing of gift packages in the trunk.

"Packages in an automobile in plain view of anyone passing by invite a larceny," Gale said.

"Even at homes, we've had reports of windows broken to steal presents placed under trees and within easy reach of the window."

Gale also cautioned women to keep purses firmly in their

CROWDED STORES

"In a crowded store, a thief can be gone with a purse before a woman realizes it's missing," he said.

Shoplifting, an annual Christmas headache for busy merchants, will be the target of increased patrols in the stores.

"We've been advised that some of our off-duty personnel will be working in stores," Gale commented.

"In addition, private security guards will patrol businesses."

Multiple Births Averted by Drug

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — A new fertility drug that enables previously barren women to have children reportedly does not present complications of multiple births that often attend fertility therapy.

Doctors at New York's Mount Sinai Hospital said tests with the drug, Clomid, have been encouraging. The Food and Drug Administration has issued an "approval letter" signifying a green light on all but minor considerations.

Freeze Drought Key

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — The oncoming winter freeze may "lock up" the six-year drought for another year in parts of northeastern United States.

Some states—Maine, Vermont, northern New Hampshire and parts of West Virginia—received enough rainfall this autumn to relieve the long drought, said Henry Barksdale, hydrologist with the U.S. Geological Survey.

Yet other states such as Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York are still suffering from depleted water supplies.

Is no rain falls before winter sets in, these areas may have to face the drought extended through the winter into next spring. When the ground freezes, any additional water is unable to seep or percolate through the soil to recharge the underground supply of water that feeds streams, rivers, wells and reservoirs.

Autumn is the season during which considerable amounts of rainwater are usually stored under the ground, explained Mr. Barksdale. This brief period of replenishment occurs after the growing season of plants, and before the winter freeze sets in.

VITAL LIQUID

The northeastern drought has taught people many lessons in water use and conservation. More attention is being paid to the sources of fresh water, to storage areas, and to distributing and use of this vital liquid in industry, agriculture and cities.

Director of Peace Corps Advises Men on Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Hood Vaughn, in a speech yes- Peace Corps, acting in the face terday at Utah State University of "increased pressure," is ad- in Logan, took sharp issue with vising corpsmen on how best to the policy of some local draft cope with local draft boards that boards, declaring that corps call them up from overseas for men were "second to no other military service."

Peace Corps Director Jack in Viet Nam.

Aid Cut Tragic --Road Group

LANSING (AP) — The recent $34 million cut in federal highway aid for Michigan will cause "a tragic setback to highway safety programs," the Michigan Good Roads Federation told congressmen Thursday.

Richard W. Walker, the federation's executive director, said he sent protest telegrams to Michigan Sens. Philip Hart and Robert Griffin.

Efforts to overcome traffic congestion and unsafe roads already were inadequate, he said. The federation has been campaigning for a boost in state highway taxes which it estimated would cost the average deferrals, four are facing call-Michigan motorist about $15 a up, and 21 are in an "unresolved" category.

"I am ready to dispute anyone on that point, including 4,000 draft boards if it comes to that," Vaughn said.

"Perhaps I am loading the question, but I believe that if I could ask our young men in combat a single question about the Peace Corps, it would be this:

"If it were in your power to defer, for two years, a qualified man whose service elsewhere might in some very small way lessen the chances of this kind of thing happening again... would you do so?"

"I believe the answer would be yes," Vaughn said.

To date, only Philip J. Wagner, 24, of Felton, Calif., a Peace Corps volunteer in Peru, has been inducted.

Ten others have been granted military deferments, four are facing call-Michigan motorist about $15 a up, and 21 are in an "unresolved" category.

GRAND (?) OPENING—Parents and children turned out to attend the opening of the new Hoover School in Bettendorf, Iowa, yesterday, despite a sea of mud surrounding the structure. Although the classrooms and a crushed rock roadway were completed, landscaping of the surrounding area is obviously and sadly lacking.

'Male-Pattern Baldness Still Incurable'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If you're one of America's molting millions who dreams of a miracle cure, forget it. Despite what you may hear, there's still no way to prevent baldness.

This comes from Dr. Arthur C. Curtis, chairman of the department of dermatology at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Curtis, attending the national convention of the American Academy of Dermatology, says the type of baldness known as "male pattern baldness" is inherited and until there is some way to control the genetic factor that causes baldness, there is no chance for a "cure."

But if your hair falls out in patches instead of in a distinguishable pattern — such as receding temples — take heart. This type of baldness is almost always caused by an emotional upset and cures itself when the emotional problem has been solved, he says.

FALSE AUTHORITY

"This is the type of baldness that responds to 'treatment' by scalp specialists who pass themselves off as authorities. The fact is, of course, that the condition would have gone away of its own accord."

Dr. Curtis says the belief that dandruff and hair loss are related is a misconception. He says dandruff is a young man's condition and usually disappears as a man ages.

"As to ethnic relationship, Negroes are less prone to baldness than the white race," said Dr. Curtis. "Among whites, there is not much difference."

The theory that "dirty hair is healthy hair" also is a misconception. "The truth is, dermatologists feel the best way to take care of your hair is to keep the hair and scalp clean," he said.

Dr. Curtis said there is no doubt that hair is becoming less necessary to man and "chances are that centuries from now, men and women will be hairless."

Asks Advice From Connor

Businessman, 12, Goes to Top

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small businessman from Rhode Island, aged 12, went right to the top with his perplexing business problem. He got some guidance today from Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor.

The problem, as Jimmy Halpin of Johnston, R.I., related in a letter to the secretary, is twofold:

1. Some neighborhood kids are bothering him and his partner in this business venture.

2. The partners rent a garage as their headquarters from the grandmother of the kids bothering them.

Connor said national cases involving restraint of trade usually are handled by the Justice Department but in this case local action is indicated.

The secretary said he hesitated to recommend anything specific without more facts but suggested the kids' grandmother might be able to apply sufficient restraint, perhaps "paddles applied to the seat of the pants."

"My name is Jimmy Halpin, I am twelve yrs. old," the lad began his letter in his own handwriting and pretty much his variety of spelling. "I am president of two small co's: 1. Cherry Hill Paper Waste Co. 2. Cherry Hill Gardeners Co. The first co is a co in which my friend Roland Audet and I collect old newspapers, magazines and books. This co is in an old month, and we have insurance for 30 cents a month.

"The second co is a co Roland and I dreamed up. We take care of gardens and lawns. These companies give us about $10 a month. So far in the paper co, we made $36.75 in three months. We have booklets keeping track of the amount made, (papers, or money) also of the happenings. We have been robbed three times and the town police fixed that.

"My problem is how do I keep the kids around the neighborhood from bothering us, when it (the land and garage) belongs to their grandmother?"

"Dear sir,

"I don't know if I am righting to the right department or not.

If I am not writing to the correct one. Please mail to the write one."

Connor said his position is to try to settle as many problems as possible at the local level before turning to the federal government as "there are wisdom, intelligence, ingenuity and appropriately sized paddles to be found there."

In the case of the neighborhood kids, Connor wrote, "I suggest that their grandmother may have to apply restraints instead of the federal government. Sometimes this is done effectively with paddles applied to the seat of the pants but I have no recommendation to make without having more of the facts."

Pair Seized in Teen Death

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials have seized a man and wife for interstate flight to avoid prosecution for the murder and dismembering of a Tennessee teenager.

Held under $75,000 bond were Alfred W. Recor, 34, of Springfield, Mass., and his wife, Helen, 20. They were arrested Thursday in a North Michigan Avenue office building where they worked as janitors.

A warrant issued in Jasper, Tenn., accused them of murder in the slaying of Maureen B. Cordell of Chattanooga. The 15-year-old girl's dismembered body was found in a duffel bag Nov. 4 near Jasper, where she had disappeared July 2.

Whirlpool's Wash 'n Wear-Permanent Press cycle gives clothes the special care that garment manufacturers recommend. First, they're washed with vigorous, gentle or extra-slow agitation. At the end of the washing period, half the wash water is drained away, then the tub fills again with cold water. More agitation follows for thorough tempering of the water temperature. This entire sequence is repeated twice to provide a gradual cooling that helps restore natural resistance to wrinkling, all automatically.

Clothing manufacturers recommend tumble drying for Permanent Press and tumble drying they get in the RCA WHIRLPOOL dryer with the Wash 'n Wear-Permanent Press cycle. The drum is over 20% larger to treat your clothes better... lets you dry bigger loads. First, gentle tumbling action dries the garments in thermostatically controlled heated air, then 10 minutes of cooling and room-temperature fluffing at cycle's end help restore the garments' original contour, retains the creases and pleats automatically, so there's really no ironing needed.

Shortage of Labor Arbitrators Worries U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jobs that pay up to $150 a day plus expenses are going begging, and federal officials are worried about it.

But don't hasten to apply for the job of labor arbitrator unless you have wisdom, patience, and a working knowledge of economics, the law, industrial technology, psychology and labor-management relations.

Plus plenty of "just plain common sense," adds Morris L. Myers, general counsel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Labor arbitrators, the court of last resort in more than 90 per cent of all collective bargaining contracts, get involved in everything from refereeing a grievance over a fist fight to a delicate contract interpretation involving hundreds of thousands of dollars.

BITTERLY OPPOSES

And they have to try to keep both union and company officials happy while doing it.

While organized labor bitterly opposes compulsory arbitration laws to settle contract negotiation disputes, most unions warmly embrace arbitration as a means of settling grievances once a contract is signed.

The latter is called "voluntary arbitration," meaning "you agree to be bound by the arbitrator's ruling."

The arbitrator's word is law in settling a grievance. The government's only role is suggesting arbitrators upon request.

Although arbitrators are not federal employees, Myers keeps a roster of 1,000 experienced men around the country and the American Arbitration Association—a private group—lists another 2,000.

But even the best of qualifications doesn't guarantee an arbitrator a job. "The most difficult thing is to get both sides to agree on the man they want," Myers said.

Myers sends names of arbitrators, along with biographical Air Force Commendation Medal sketches, to both sides in a dispute. Picking the man for the job sometimes takes on the aspects of selecting a jury for a trial, with each side entitled to remove names of individuals unacceptable to them. Sometimes a whole new panel has to be sent out.

"Neither party wants to select a man they think might be psychologically prejudiced against them," said Myers. "And if the parties won't take him, there isn't much point in him getting on our roster."

SPLIT COST

Last year, Myers sent out 4,255 panels of arbitrators in 5,854 cases, but about half the disputes were settled before a binding ruling became necessary.

The union and the company split the cost of the arbitrators' services, which averaged $475 per case in fees and expenses for an average three days work. Few of the arbitrators work at it full-time. Many are college professors, but prior practical labor-management experience is almost essential.

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Camera fans planning a vacation abroad in 1967 can get helpful guidance from their local travel agent in selecting a particular area and a favorable time for interesting pictures.

Some cities have a historic fiesta or carnival week; others have annual music, opera or religious festivals.

A question of special interest to shutterbugs is whether to travel with an organized tour or whether it is more rewarding to go independently.

The matter was discussed with Eric de Meyenburg of Switzerland, head of Gateway Holidays, an American firm which organizes world-wide tours.

"When a camera fan goes with a group," I pointed out, "he cannot stop whenever he spots a pictorial opportunity. And if the group is sightseeing, he can't extend the time scheduled for that spot until he has exhausted its picture possibilities, can he?"

POSSIBILITIES

"No one can exhaust the photographic possibilities of a scenic spot," de Meyenburg countered.

"A few minutes after a photographer has put his camera away, satisfied with what he's shot, new elements of drama, lighting or human interest might appear on the scene. Picture taking can go on endlessly.

"Most Americans on escorted tours carry cameras... it's for in advance, except for incidental."

advantages for a photo fan, especially if it's a first visit to an area.

"There's freedom from troublesome travel details which an individual encounters.

DETAILS WORKED OUT

For instance, there's the selecting and making reservations at first-class hotels in different cities and countries for specific dates; hauling, handling and transferring baggage at all stops; choosing good restaurants in each city and ordering their specialties; dispensing tips for these services; hurdling the language barriers and clearing customs formalities at border points.

"Our bus tours have expert drivers who know the roads because they are natives. A photo fan can concentrate on the countryside because he's not at the wheel. There are rest and picture stops to break up the driving.

"We know each city's attractions," de Meyenburg continued, "and have the best local guides ready for personalized sightseeing. A photo fan can record the sights and can return to places of special interest—later, if there's free time, or in the future.

"The group itself can be beneficial for a photo hobbyist. A beginner gets advice from other fans and they discuss cameras, picture-taking viewpoints and problems with equipment, exposure or flash.

"Finally," de Meyenburg concluded, "it's an advantage to plan a trip according to your budget and know that it's paid for in advance, except for incidental."

Patent System Reforms Urged

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — President Johnson today released a report urging sweeping changes in the procedures of the Patent Office.

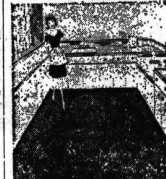

His commission on patent policy, after a year's study, recommended the first basic changes in patent law in 130 years.

These include: When conflict arises between two inventors of the same device, the first to file with the office would receive the patent.

This would eliminate consideration of the dates of "conception," and "reduction to practice," currently important in contested patents, and eliminate some legal proceedings.

Inventors could fill preliminary applications, documents with "minimal requirements" that could be drawn up by a person with little knowledge of patent law and procedure.

The Fall Awards Assembly Breaks Groves Tradition

By LEESA MATTHEWS
Tradition was broken at Groves High School last week at the Fall Awards Assembly.
The assembly took the place of the usual Sports Banquet for boys in fall varsity sports.

Since the first senior class in '61 there has been an evening banquet following which speeches were delivered and awards presented to the members of the football and cross-country teams.

The change was instituted so that in addition to players' parents the student body might be present for the awards.

Certificates of participation in football and cross-country, plus the varsity sport new to Groves this year, soccer, were presented along with varsity letters.

PARENTS AWARD

A Parents Award was given in each sport also.

The Parents Award is given to a senior boy who has participated in his sport for two years, shown leadership qualities in it, and maintained a 2.0 or over average.

The other members of the team vote on who is to receive the award.

Bob Muma was given the award in football, Randy Fischer in cross-country, and in soccer, Stan Tracey.

Greg Harbage, Student Council president, launched the assembly, introducing the coaches.

who gave certificates and letters to team members.
Harold Newcomb presented the Parents Awards to the three Groves students.
There will be later sports banquets or assemblies, depending on the success of this first assembly for team members of other Groves varsity sports.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THEY LOVE YOU, THEY LOVE YOU NOT: Psychoanalysts have a big, fat $25 word that gives the clue to how they feel about you—ambivalent or, translated, loving-hating. This is revealed in observations just released through Stanford University's Counseling and Testing Center by its director, Dr. John D. Black. He states: "The adult population over age 40 or so reacts youth... confronted with the increasingly frequent and concerning reminders of the passing of time—of lost opportunities, of approaching obsolescence: the bifocals, tightening girdles, dentures, the painful glances at that unflattering bathroom mirror... Old adults, he says, kid themselves into believing that youth is a joyous, carefree play time—forgetting the "anxiety, doubts and fears, the loneliness" that are the badge of being young in any period. He concludes that the "generation gap," always present, is more dangerous now than ever—it's wide and full of tension... both generations having their underlying anxieties, which make it easy for them to misperceive, envy and resent each other." In a refreshing switch, he lays down "Ten Commandments for Parents Over 30"—rules for them to obey: 1. Don't sneeringly label youth's taste "junk." 2. Listen to young adults' music. 3. Read their books. 4. Ask questions—sensible ones—and listen to what youth has to answer. 5. Don't condemn all young people because of the acts of a few. 6. Realize impatience is natural to youth (frequently, to oldsters too). 7. Stop criticizing trivial things with stereotyped reactions—long hair isn't necessarily dirty, bare feet don't make a bum. 8. Be careful not to dictate the decisions youth should make itself. 9. Don't threaten by withholding money. 10. Above all, create the feeling that home is a sanctuary, where youth—no matter how things are going—will be accepted, respected and loved. (Hey, maybe parents should read this column!)

YOUTH REVOLT HITS BRAZILIAN AIRWAVES: Youth's ferment is puzzling parents in Brazil, too—where in one short year, the musical mop-top, Roberto Carlos, has set the television wave-lengths jangling. He has become the pop singing idol of millions of restive young senators and senators. He's 23 and features a Brazilian rhythm of rock 'n' roll on his big-time Saturday night show that showcases youth, singing and guitar playing. Roberto's known as a "good boy" and a smart businessman, with 85 factories turning out his "jalousie" jeans and shirts. There's no rumor yet of his touring America, but he's a symptom in Brazil of the same worldwide youth movement that looks to you and models itself on you. Half of the country's 85 million people are less than 20, and Roberto gives this half identity and an outlet... under circumstances where a strict government and parents sometimes arrest youth for offenses like growing hair covering their collars and sentence them—to the barber chair.

SOME FAME, FAV, TUFF, GROOVY, NEW ITEMS: Remember those summer painted knees? Don't throw away the cosmetic paints you dabbed on the designs with, girls—you can switch them, this winter, to coloring rouge-and-eye shadow earrings right onto the lobes of your ears. Got an urge for a jiffy pin-up? Try burlap for a bulletin board... outfit named Hallman has just devised a novel version made of cartoon-decorated, stuff-mounted burlap that you slap against the wall and it sticks, to festoon with thumbtacked reminders. Great mustache walkout ends—students who walked out of Grand Rapids, Mich., classes recently because of ban against furry upper lips, forsook the support of picketing parents and returned to school. Kilts kill girls in Paris—big new fashion rage is for a real kilt sewn in the Scottish Highlands (often worn with sweater—a la U.S. college girls' costumes of 20 years ago). Will European guys seize this chance to steal back their masculine garb from girls? No, because two yards of plaid kill a girl cutely—while seven yards are needed for a guy!

Turnabout Fair Play? Students Rate Profs

By PHILIP WERDELL
NEW YORK—(NEA)—When John Smith received a copy of his grades for the semester he found, to his intense dismay, that he had flunked all of his courses.

Not so unusual, you'd say? It is when you know that John Smith happens to be a college teacher and the courses he failed are the ones he teaches.

This new wrinkle in student-faculty relations is called a "teacher evaluation program" and it's being practiced at more than 200 colleges.

Predictably, some teachers don't like the idea at all. "This interesting but peculiar travesty," grumps Milton Goldberg, professor of literature at Antioch College, "insists upon an obligation of the teaching faculty to be judged by their intellectual subordinates."

STUDENTS IMMATURE
Other teachers, who perhaps have been stung by a rough evaluation, say students are immature and rate teachers in the same spirit with which they elect campus beauty queens.

But the casual student is gushing and cussing about courses being replaced by sophisticated questionnaires that allow a computer to diagnose teaching ailments.

These evaluations, say the proponents, provide data for teachers who want to improve. Teachers have the chance to determine what students think of a course.

MORE TIME
And the critical, comments in evaluations often pressure professors who are more concerned with research than teaching to spend more time preparing for their classes.

At schools like Antioch, where student participation is encouraged, the surveys are by the administration and the results are used by deans to encourage better teaching.

At more traditional schools such as Harvard, students conduct the polls and publish the results.

They take the polls with or without the approval of the administration and depend upon student pressure to bring about change.

DON'T SIGN UP
Pressure comes when students don't sign up for a course because of bad reviews.

Why do students feel the need to rate professors? "Poor and uninspired teachers are plentiful and no one type or moderator campus report

size of institution has a corner on the market," the Danforth Foundation reports.

Often, potential faculty members feel that scholarship is more important than teaching.

NO GUARANTEE
But telling a teacher that his performance is a dud does not guarantee that he will improve.

"Surveys can be very meaningful only if you ask the questions sufficiently precisely," says Peter Armacost, a representative of the American Association of Colleges who works with students in constructing new rating plans.

A good questionnaire should inspire faculty confidence in the poll, he says, adding that such a survey is likely to influence teaching performance whether the effort is administratively supported or not.

The successful efforts are quite sophisticated.

MANY QUESTIONS
At the University of North Carolina, the student government collects information on IBM cards.

They can be processed rapidly and they allow the asking of many questions so that a professor can be rated in many areas of performance.

Even when such sophisticated questions are posed, the results can still be inaccurate.

Because filling out the questionnaire is voluntary, there is no assurance that a cross-section has been polled.

Nautical Theme Launches Show for Birmingham Unit

By MADELEINE DOEREN
'Anchors Aweigh!' symbolizing travel at Christmastide and 'First Day Out' charted the course for the 27th Christmas

Show for Birmingham branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.
Other provocative classification titles were 'Aho!' Hospitality Abroad' showing Christmas tables of foreign lands and 'Lo, the Seagull' for the one-day event, Thursday, in the Birmingham Community House.

The show titled "Around the World on a Tinselled Sail" presented six full tables, 27 flower arrangements and a group of small tables.

BLUE RIBBON

Among the Christmas tables was Mrs. Thomas Fitzpatrick's formal dinner setting using white crystal, pink and white china, pink carnations and green ribbons. It won a blue ribbon.

Amber crystal in swan pattern, red candles and matching roses in an antique chest were arranged by Mrs. Elmore F. Wollering on a cloth of printed tapestry.

Mrs. Hobart D. Andrae's table done in red with blue and white china and red carnations was awarded a red ribbon.

Among some six small tables was Mrs. William B. Grabendike's black Japanese table with avocado green leather top and yellow mats. A saki bottle and cups in white china contrasted with lime green Fuji chrysanthemums in a low Oriental container.

The New England hospitality table was done by Mrs. Lett R. Eis.

Among hostesses for the show were Mrs. C. C. Pitchford, Mrs. E. Robert Leeder, Mrs. Robert Bingham and Mrs. Arnett B. Griesinger.

Proceeds from the Christmas commissary will aid the branch scholarship fund.

on the century-old red fringed cloth from England are Mrs. Richard F. Baird of Robinhood Court (from left) who handled publicity, with Mrs. Richard M. Kaltz of Birmingham who was general chairman.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Tell Them About Condition

Some Things Can't Wait

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I are both seniors at the University of Colorado. We were planning to get married right after graduation in June, but we eloped in October. When we went home for a week - end we told our parents.

ABBY

They said we should keep it a secret, announce our engagement at Christmas, and have a big church wedding like we planned in June.

Well, I think I'm pregnant, so I doubt if we can wait that long, but what can I do? Mother so wanted me to have a June wedding. How can I tell her?

SECRET BRIDE

DEAR SECRET: Tell her that a June wedding is for the birds because you have a date with a stork around that time. She'll understand.

DEAR ABBY: It is ever advisable or forgivable to tell your sister that her husband is cheating on her?

She loves him dearly, and they have a lovely home, a beautiful family and status in the community. He was a woman-chaser before their marriage, and apparently he hasn't completely settled down yet.

If my sister knew her husband was chasing around she would leave him and break up her home, causing much heartbreak for herself, her husband, and the children.

And yet, knowing what I do, it is so hard for me to remain silent. The kind of women he runs with could cause untold misery at home. (Disease, I mean). I haven't discussed this with my husband or anyone—except you. What would you do in my place?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: I would confide what I believe to be true to my husband, and let HIM speak to my sister's husband. Under no circumstances would I tell my sister.

Troubled? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Local Singers to Give Concert for Musicale

The annual Christmas program of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale will take place Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in Central Methodist Church.

The chorus will present the many "faces" of Christmas.

There will be early church music, familiar carols and songs stressing the family festivities of the season.

The chorus is directed by Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer with Mrs. Walter Schmitz accompanying.

Mrs. Gaensbauer earned her degree at Columbia Teachers College and has worked with Lowell Beveridge, Fred Waring and Robert Shaw in the conducting field.

Mrs. Schmitz studied at Marygrove and Baldwin - Wallace College and has been a pupil of Ben Detsen Netorg, Carl Schluer, Albert Riemschneider and Mark Wessel.

Assisting with the program will be Pontiac Central High School students: Marsha Goldman, harpist; Jackie Washington, soprano and Tyler Schmitz, French horn.

SOLOISTS

Members of the chorus who will do individual vocal parts are: Mrs. Eugene A. Danielson, Mrs. John S. LaMonte, Mrs. Floyd Warczak, Mrs. Andre DeWilde, Mrs. LaVerne G. Cox, Mrs. Fred L. Puskas, Mrs. Ronald G. Norman, Mrs. O. L. Smith, Mrs. LaVon Ryden and Mrs. M. Pelton, flutist.

Mrs. Max G. Shane assisted by Mrs. Dennis M. Steiner, Mrs. Willis D. Leturgy, Mrs. Eugene C. Carey Jr. and Mrs. Fred L. Puskas are in charge of stage properties.

Admission is without charge and the public is invited to attend.

Tickets will be on sale at this time for the "Fashion in Harmony" scholarship benefit to be presented in February.

Mrs. Vernon Schneider of North Williamsbury Road adjusts a bird on her figure of St. Francis of Assisi, patron saint of nature, symbolizing conservation, one of the main objectives of the WNFGA. For this exhibit at the Christmas show staged by Birmingham branch in the Community House, Thursday, she used dyed burlap, paper, cotton and Styrofoam.

ACE Collects Presents for Lapeer School

The annual yuletide tea for members and guests of the Pontiac Association for Childhood Education (ACE) took place Thursday at Wever School.

Highlighting the event was the yearly ingathering of gifts for residents of the Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Students of Pontiac elementary schools were largely responsible for the contributions.

Association president, Mrs. Terry Cantrell, presented the articles to Probate Judge Donald Adams for distribution.

In accepting the gifts, Judge Adams said, "I would again express to you our great appreciation for your efforts in behalf of the children and tell you that your offerings bring enjoyment not only during the Christmas season but throughout the whole year."

"Many of these children do not have relatives able to provide them with the little extras that mean so much to all children, and particularly the handicapped."

Christmas carols were presented by the Wever honor choir led by Mrs. Melvin Boersma. Mrs. William Sturgeon and Mrs. Alyce Hagood were in charge of the program.

Others working on arrangements were Mesdames Elwin Hodges, Walter Sheffield, Robert Dixon, Ronald Turner, Zetalla Rabb, and Thomas Thompson.

Wever principal, Arthur Bell, Mrs. Byford Laur and members of the school staff served as hospitality committee.

Set Alarm for Teen on Dates

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: We are the parents of a 16-year-old daughter. She has a "curfew" but we find we usually sit up and wait for her, leaving us exhausted the next day.

Do you think it's necessary for us to do this? My husband says he couldn't go to sleep in any case until she's safely home. — Sleepless

Dear Sleepless: I just recently learned of the best solution I've heard to this problem. The parents set an alarm clock about 20 minutes later than their daughter's curfew, and put it close to their bedroom door. They go to sleep at their usual bedtime and when their daughter comes in, she slips into their room and turns off the alarm.

If it goes off, the parents know she is not home on time even allowing the extra 20 minutes for emergencies, and the father gets up and takes whatever steps he thinks are necessary to find her. This system lets them go to sleep without worrying, as they know that all is well unless the alarm goes off.

Women's Auxiliary Puts Children First at Yule

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

While the Birmingham Jaycees have been busy decorating the city's downtown area with colored lights, evergreen ropes, and Christmas designs, the Women's Auxiliary of the group has steeped itself in other yuletide projects.

Believing in the premise that Christmas is for children, the auxiliary has made special plans for this year's annual children's party.

Organized by Mrs. Philip Kirk of Sheridan Road, the party will be held Dec. 17 in the Birmingham Community House.

Planning the party for the preschool and elementary age children of the Jaycee members, Mrs. Kirk has been assisted by Mrs. Ronald Milner of Woodbank Drive.

Santa Claus Robert Stevenson will meet with the children, show cartoons to them, make sure they have a good supply of candy canes, and check to make sure that all Dec. 25 North Pole lists and letters have been prepared by the youngsters.

Another of the Auxiliary's Christmas projects has been the sale of seasonal cards.

This sale has been organized to benefit one of the Jaycee's special interest projects, the Michigan Association of Emotionally Disturbed Children.

Mrs. Charles Alexander has chartered the drive for the Association and the Jaycees in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area.

In addition to their other Christmas projects, the Auxiliary has been putting the culinary skills of members to work in preparing special Christmas cookies for local nursing homes. Among those arranging for the baking of butterballs, nut sticks, and decorated sugar cookies is Mrs. Carl Meyers of Birmingham.

Annual Gala for Lawyers

Plans are being made by the Oakland County Bar Association for their second annual Christmas dinner dance.

The event is scheduled for Thursday at Forest Lake Country Club with a social hour at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8 p.m. Ken Davis and Company will furnish the music.

Herbert H. Gordon is chairman for the occasion.

Princess Margaret of Britain hangs on to her hat, a creation of velvet and nylon ribbons with a bow at the peak, as she arrives at London's Heathrow Airport today. She returned from Straffordshire where she attended the Student's Union Ball at Keele University.

Polly's Pointers

What's Your Opinion

DEAR POLLY — Several of my friends and I have the same problem which we call, "Who goes first?" Our husbands take us out once a week. None of us have more than one bathroom as we live in small homes.

The husbands all persist in taking their showers first but we say the wives should go first because they have so much more to do to get ready and it is no wonder they complain about us taking so long. We think we are right. What do the other girls think? — MRS. A. E. H.

DEAR MRS. A.E.H. and friends — We will let the other girls settle the question of the order of taking showers, but I have a strong feeling that a lot of them are going to think how lucky you all are that your husbands take you out once a week. — POLLY die that using mayonnaise will bring out the sheen in the hair. Just rub it in before you shampoo, not too much but just enough to go through the hair. This will really make it shine.

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Ed-

— PAM

DEAR GIRLS — I was advised that this is now a very popular method. Some girls who have their hair "done" by a hairdresser rub the mayonnaise in just before leaving home and then it is ready to be washed out. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Daily brushing of the hair, morning and night with a clean, soft and lustrous. — GEORGIA

Help Your Coed Decorate Dorm This Christmas

Colorful room accessories are ideal Christmas gifts for the girl whose current home is a basically decorated dorm room.

Wastebaskets, bulletin boards, and desk sets decorated with gay coordinated fabrics are sure to brighten the premises.

If you're handy along do-it-yourself lines, the National Cotton Council suggests you get these items in untrimmed versions and decorate them yourself with eye-catching cotton fabrics.

Look in piece goods departments for bright remnants in vivid flowers, checks, polka dots or bold plaids. Get enough fabric to trim two or more items for a coordinated set.

You can use a picture frame, for the bulletin board. Cover the frame's cardboard mat with a printed cotton, using a household glue to apply. Use the same print to cover a wastebasket. Before covering, spray-paint the interior of the basket with a color that goes with the printed fabric.

Special for Dads

Even a clumsy new father can change baby safely by placing the infant on a special plastic mat made with inflatable bumper sides. Deflate the bumpers and the mat too can be washed.

Two Units Slate Gala for Yule

Holiday parties are planned Tuesday by the Kappa Delta Alumnae Association of South Oakland County.

The afternoon group will be served a luncheon in the home of Mrs. George F. Miles of Bloomfield Village at 12:30 p.m. Assisting her will be Mrs. Robert Anthony, Mrs. Lyle Abel and Mrs. John H. Leonard.

Members will exchange Christmas gifts as has been their custom. This year some members have purchased Christmas gifts for the children at Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

EVENING GROUP

The evening group will exchange Christmas tree ornaments at the home of Mrs. George F. Heine Jr. of Westover Drive, West Bloomfield Township at 8:00 p.m. Members will bring canned goods for needy families.

Cohostesses will be Mrs. William C. Rachwal and Mr. John Stone.

Mrs. Ward Is Guest Speaker

A program entitled "Self Esteem" was given by Mrs. John Ward at the recent meeting of Zeta Eta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

The group met in the home of Mrs. A. Byron Barnes of Motorway Drive for the event. Plans for a Christmas party were discussed. It will take place Dec. 20 in the home of Mrs. Dennis Lowes.

See Slides of Holy Land

A combination business and dinner meeting took place Thursday in Airway Lanes for members of the Teachers Exchange Club.

Slides of the Holy Land were shown by Mrs. John Borsvold to 20 members and two guests, Mrs. Russell Morley of Warren and Emma Goodrich of Birmingham.

Mrs. Ralph Gardner presided. Hostesses were Mesdames William E. Lewis, Margaret Creley and Borsvold.

WOODWARD AT SQUARE LAKE ROAD

This Blame Belongs to Spineless Husband

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: — he even buys his sister's party snacks — and excuses this by saying that they share the same "blood line." Our two boys and I have to do without, though incomes than we do. But because they belong to my husband's blood line . . .

ANSWER: It sounds as though he were in the pure-bred cattle-raising business.

What do you want me to say about these female in-laws of yours? That they're bad girls no yours? That they're bad girls not to let your husband belong to his family? Well, I'm not going to . . .

Because if you're tired of female possessiveness, I'm more tired of masculine weakness that allows itself to be possessed.

And that your indignation is directed to these two greedy women instead of at the man who indulges their greediness is just another depressing indication of this country's insistence on holding women responsible for all male shortcomings.

So I make the point that, precisely as these female in-laws of yours completely bypass your husband's adult male existence, so do you. You jump right over it to hold these two women guilty of his unmanly behavior.

My goodness, your husband is a person — a grown-up man. He's not a bone for three women to growl and squabble over as though he had no life, no vitality, no power of his own to choose and decide where his loyalty belongs. I'm not going to criticize these two women.

If your husband didn't want them to hold on to him, their hold on him would have long since been ended.

I do have something to say to you about your own two boys.

Because their weak father cannot stand up to the consequences of his marriage and fatherhood, he's not going to be able to teach his sons responsibility for their actions. So you'd better get wise to your eagerness to exonerate the male sex from responsibility for its behavior.

It's going to be a great temptation to you to blame other people for your boys' mistakes exactly as you're passing the buck for their father's weakness to his mother and sister.

Such exoneration is a form of contempt for male capacity. While it's understandable in your case, it's indulgence that can encourage your boys to be as evasive as their father.

Others who entertained at showers were Mrs. Elden Huff of Highland; also Mrs. William Erskine and Mrs. Jay Souder in the Souder's home.

Rosalie Lippert and Mrs. Thomas Shamblin were hostesses at a shower in the latter's home on Seymour Lake Road.

Lacemakers Must Disagree

PARIS (AP) — When Lucie Baines Johnson and Patrick J. Nugent were married last Aug. 6, the lacemakers of Alencon wricked up their ears when they heard that her wedding dress had "white rosepoint Alencon appliques."

The dress was only a pale reflection of true Alencon lace," said one expert in the lace center.

Local officials decided that Lucie Baines might like to have some of the genuine article. They called at the U.S. Embassy today with a square of Alencon lace to be sent to President Johnson's youngest daughter.

The square shows the coat of arms of the City of Alencon. The intricate pattern took 250 hours of hand work.

You might use a festive-looking green and white striped sheet. Trim the edges with green cotton ball fringe, just bastening in place.

Do Parents Buy Toys for Children?

Are toys becoming a seasonal symbol for mommy and daddy? This seems to be the case, although a veteran in the toy buying and merchandising field believes something can be salvaged from the whole mercenary mess.

Ernest Thauer (pronounced Tower) is head buyer and executive vice president of toys for a store that makes every man happy he has a child to buy for—FAO Schwarz, New York. Adults have been known to borrow a child during the holidays just for an excuse to wander through the store on Fifth Avenue.

Thauer is fortunate. He does not need an excuse for his daytime indulgence in playthings. He was born "to be in toys," growing up in an area in Bavaria known for its wooden items.

He has been in the business end of toys for 40 years and as a parent sympathizes with the pressures of meeting Santa's orders.

Comparing today and yesterday, Thauer says he feels parents today buy a toy whether the child will like it or not. Many toys, he adds, don't appeal to the child because they lack color and are too cumbersome. This especially is true of many wooden toys promoted as "educational."

"I believe," he explains, "that every toy that is a good toy is educational. To be a good toy it must be attractive and make the child want to play with it often."

To get the most for their money in a toy, Thauer advises parents to consider play value and safety. In stuffed toys, he says, check to see that the eyes are anchored, the fill nonflammable and that metal toys have no sharp corners. The Schwartz policy, aside from selling inventive, often expensive toys, is to sell nothing that would injure a child.

Generally, Thauer's experience has been that people have been buying more quality in toys and play equipment. This is good, he feels, since no one "should buy a toy for price alone, especially if it is an item to last longer than the unwrapping."

This, parents know, is not always easy. There are more toys on the market because of discount stores and television promotion. "There is a lot of low-end merchandise," according to Thauer.

There also are more good toys sold KD (knocked down) and this means a lower price

Symphony to Get Grant

A Kresge Foundation grant totaling $200,000 has been awarded to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, it was announced by Robert B. Semple, Symphony president.

Under terms of the grant, the Foundation plans to give the Symphony $40,000 annually over a five-year period starting in 1967.

"The Kresge Foundation has given the Symphony flexibility in utilizing the gift," Semple said. "The funds may be used, for example, to finance the appearance in Detroit of a greater number of the world's noted musical personalities and even to introduce a new and special series of concerts."

"The grant will be of direct and vital assistance in reaching a larger and more diverse audience in our recently expanded, near year-round operation," he said.

NEW PROGRAMS

Symphony officials are now developing exploratory programs that will be financed largely by the Kresge Foundation grant.

In announcing the gift, Semple said, "We are deeply grateful to the Kresge Foundation and are fortunate that the trustees recognize and encourage in this way the growing cultural aspirations found in today's Detroit."

"It will mean accelerated growth for us and an even closer rapport between the Orchestra and its public," William H. Baldwin, president of the Kresge Foundation, said. "As one of the nation's outstanding orchestras, the Detroit Symphony is a vital cultural asset and an effective force for good in the community."

"The Kresge Foundation is pleased to participate in the Orchestra's forward-looking program. It is our hope that the grant will serve to assist the Symphony in realizing its goals of even higher excellence and greater service to the citizens of the Detroit area."

Marching Band Hosts Concert

Pontiac Central High School Marching Band will host Eastern, Jefferson and Washington Jr. Highs Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. for the annual Area Band Concert. The program will take place in the gym.

The PCHS Brass Choir will play Christmas music before the concert. There will be no admission charge.

Make Dishmats

Hot dish mats may be made from everyday use by covering a heavy piece of cardboard with aluminum foil. Also, you can have round ones, squares, oblongs or any shape that you wish.

Curtains Stay

When rinsing plastic curtains in clear warm water, add several drops of mineral oil. This helps to keep them soft and pliable. Do this after they have been cleaned with soap and water.

College Lockstep System Discouraging to Students

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

Pressures on students continue to mount. They must have high grades to get into college.

DR. NASON

They must have passing grades to stay there. And the male students know they may be subject to immediate military service if they aren't in the upper portion of their classes.

"Three out of every 10 people in the U.S.," said Dr. Allen, "will attend school this fall, yet most of them won't be given a chance to learn at their own rate of speed. They will be lockstepped into the traditional conformity of the grade system."

With the present grading systems, every class must have a low quarter regardless of how carefully the freshmen are selected.

Recognizing this, a few colleges are eliminating grades, except Pass or Fail, for their freshmen classes. But this does not solve the problem for their remaining years of college.

The necessity for high grades discourages students from attempting courses, which because of their difficulty or newness, might result in low grades.

Mount Holyoke College allows any sophomore, junior or senior, after a consultation with the instructor concerned to elect a course outside his major department on a Pass-Fail basis. Privilege is limited to one course in any semester and a total of 12 credits. A student's work is treated exactly like that of regularly enrolled students except for the final grade of Pass or "F." A Pass is not counted in computing a student's cumulative grade average.

Another innovation designed to lower the pressure of grades has been adopted by Haverford College (Pa.) The registrar of the college will no longer prepare a class rank list. Inquiries will be answered with a statement that the college has abandoned numerical ranking.

France Facing Test on NATO

Major Report Slated on East-West Ties

PARIS (U) — France's intentions toward political cooperation with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be put to a sharp test next week.

President Charles de Gaulle, in cutting most of his ties with the military side of NATO, continued to keep a full-fledged representative in the political council.

Just how much cooperation on political matters the NATO allies can expect should become reasonably clear during the annual ministerial review meeting of the alliance starting Wednesday.

The meeting is expected to produce a major report on what the alliance plans to do about East-West relations. Members of the NATO Permanent Council were instructed at a June ministerial meeting in Brussels, Belgium, to prepare the report for this meeting.

France has shown hesitancy in spadeswork on the report, expressing doubt whether NATO should play any role in the matter.

If Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville fails to endorse the report, or bows out of discussion of it, it would indicate that France's attitude toward NATO as even a purely political body has grown extremely negative.

It would perhaps signal a break with the NATO treaty itself. De Gaulle stopped short of this when he divorced France from the alliance's integrated military side.

NATO has devised a mechanism to permit France to participate in political activities while remaining out of military discussions. Her 14 partners have set up a defense planning committee that handles about four-fifths of NATO's vital business as a defensive machine.

This committee meets the first day of the ministerial session. The two following days will be devoted to political discussions.

Suicide Scale Is Developed in California

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — How likely are you to take your own life? There's a nine-point scale in the works that will tell you.

If you keep threatening suicide, but didn't do it when you had the chance you don't rate very high on the scale.

All suicide attempts and threats can be placed on a nine-point "lethality" scale and rated for seriousness, the head of the federal suicide prevention program proposed.

Dr. Edwin S. Shneidman, chief of the Center for Studies of Suicide Prevention, said the new lethality index, developed in California, measures the strength of an individual's drive toward self-destruction.

A threat or attempt alone will not reveal how intensely the suicidal impulse is felt, Dr. Shneidman told delegates attending the surgeon general's conference with state mental health authorities.

One woman, he said, slashed her wrists to ribbons while in the presence of her physician husband — a sure sign she wanted to be saved.

Yale Receives $35-Million Art Gift

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Philanthropist Paul Mellon has given Yale University one of the world's outstanding private art collections, a $35-million body of British works he gathered over the last 15 years.

Along with the collection of 17th-, 18th- and 19th-century paintings, watercolors, drawings and books, Mellon also presented his alma mater funds to build a gallery and library where they can be displayed. The building's cost is estimated at between $6 million and $8 million.

The gifts were announced Thursday by Kingman Brewster Jr., president of Yale. Mellon, a member of the class of 1929, was not present for the announcement of the donation.

He said in a statement, however, that "New Haven's geographical position near the center of our eastern 'megapolis,' near the other outstanding educational centers and near New York, itself a great center of the arts, makes it ideally situated for access by the general public." 66 Constables, and 55 Gainsboroughs.

GREATEST COLLECTION

The collection, regarded by the university as the greatest body of British art outside Britain, is composed of 1,000 oil paintings, 3,000 watercolors, prints and drawings and 4,000 rare books.

The oils and watercolors are representative of what is known as the golden age of British painting from 1687 to 1851 and includes 29 Hogarths, 35 Turner

Private dealers estimated the worth of the collection at $35 million.

Mellon, 58, is president of the National Gallery of Art in Washington. His father, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the Treasury under three presidents, gave the gallery to the nation as a $70-million gift over 30 years ago.

INTEREST IN ART

It is estimated that the Mellon family, which made its money in banking in Pittsburgh, has given more than $300 million to artistic and cultural causes.

Mellon's interest in art began while he studied at Cambridge University in England, after leaving Yale. His first purchases were books illustrating English life and sports in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Amelia Bloomer's publication, the Lily, started in 1849, was the first to be published by and for women.

Two Convicts in New Roles

Lifers to Give Kidneys to Arkansas Women

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Two convicts, who say they have nothing to lose and nothing to gain except self-respect, are donating kidneys to two women, so they can give hope for life to others.

They are Bill Watson, 34, and Ben Crippen, 35, both serving life sentences in the Arkansas State Prison.

"Both of us have got more time than we can do," Watson said Thursday. "We've got nothing to lose. This is about the only way we can help somebody."

Surgeons at the University of Arkansas Medical Center at Little Rock transplant a kidney today from Watson to Doris Ratliff, 38, of Fayetteville, Ark.

DONATES LATER

Crippen is scheduled to donate one of his kidneys in about two weeks to Lillie Lewis, 46, of Earle, Ark.

Both Mrs. Ratliff and Mrs. Lewis had their diseased kidneys removed, and life has been sustained with an artificial kidney. Their chances of receiving a successful transplant are slightly better than 50 per cent, according to Dr. William J. Flanigan, a member of a kidney transplant team at the medical center that has had nine successful transplants out of 15.

In an interview at the medical center, where they are not under guard, Watson and Crippen said they approached the operations with some anxiety, but felt the benefits would be great.

"A person has to keep his self-respect all the time," Watson said. "The penitentiary is no place to keep it. When someone helps for help, you try to help."

'LOT OF WRONG'

"I've done an awful lot of wrong," Crippen said. "When you can help, you do it. I think I'll be giving Mrs. Lewis the best Christmas present I can."

The two say they expect no leniency from prison authorities because of their donations.

At that point in the interview, Debbie Thomas, 12, of North Little Rock, who underwent a transplant from her mother three months ago, walked into the room with Flanigan.

"That's the reason we're here," said Watson. "Isn't it wonderful and unbelievable that she's so bouncy and healthy."

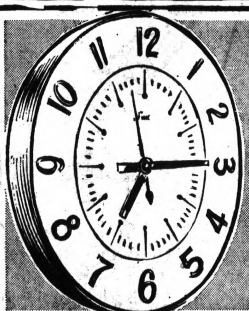

"It's a great thing to see people come into this hospital who had been told time and again that they have no chance and then know they can live."

Jayne Says Son's Condition Improved

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Zoltan Hargitay is in serious condition, but his mother, actress Jayne Mansfield, says he is improved.

The boy, 6, was mauled by a lion Nov. 28 at a Thousand Oaks animal compound, underwent two operations and then contracted spinal meningitis.

Miss Mansfield said Thursday her son was better and able to eat some solid foods, but Consejo Valley Community Hospital spokesman said Zoltan is still in serious condition.

Coronary Heart Ills in Men 'at Epidemic Proportions'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Is the rate of coronary heart disease among men now at "epidemic" proportions? Yes, said a scientific team after studying the heart arteries of thousands of women.

It was not as roundabout a way to answering the question as it seems, since it is a question which has long failed to get a direct answer that was beyond dispute and controversy.

Previous studies were of male heart arteries, to measure the degree of "hardening" which is the primary cause of coronary heart disease and of heart attacks.

Female arteries have been largely ignored in this regard because up to about 40 years of age they are much less subject to "hardening" and in consequence women are much less given to coronary heart disease.

Dr. Henry M. Parrish and his associates of the University of Missouri, Columbia, proceeded on the premise that if there was truly an "epidemic" it would have to affect women as well as men.

And notably after the menopause when the natural but ill-understood protection against artery-hardening for females ceases.

Arteries cannot be properly measured for "hardening" in living persons, so the team worked instead with the precisely kept autopsy records of the hospital Yale University's Medical School operates in New Haven, Conn.

Over a 25-year period the rate of coronary heart disease in women 40 years old or older increased from 8.58 per 100 autopsies to 21.07 per 100 autopsies.

But this did not satisfy the scientists who are specialists in epidemiology. The deceased came from the general hospital population and, statistically, such a population is not representative of the population at large.

STUDIED RECORDS

They then studied the autopsy records of women who had been killed in automobile accidents, as passengers, not as drivers, and of women who had died of cancers in sites that do not affect arteries. Their heart arteries were taken to be representative of female arteries generally. Many more of them were entirely free of "hardening" at the beginning of the 25-year period than at its end.

All this means the "epidemic" of coronary heart disease among men is "real" rather than merely "apparent," the scientists reported to the American Medical Association.

Kilts have been a customary Scottish garb for centuries.

NEW ATTACK BOMBER — The A-7D Corsair II, a light attack bomber developed and built by LTV Aerospace Corp., Dallas, Tex., has been added to the Air Force's stable of aircraft. The Department of De-

Saga of Death for Viet Cong Related

EDITOR'S NOTE — Pieced together from captured documents, personal papers and conversations, here is how one young Viet Cong guerrilla — fictionally named Le Van Dong — met death.

By JOHN NANCE

WAR ZONE C, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong reconnaissance squad had its orders:

"Follow and watch the enemy (Americans) until tonight. . . . Learn how they are situated. . . ."

"Cut new trails of approach — keep them hidden."

Le Van Dong — in his mid-twenties and wearing a floppy blue hat — was among the 15 or 20 Viet Cong men who spread out and picked their way in two and three through the thick jungle of War Zone C.

The zone in Tay Ninh province, along the Cambodian border, had been their sanctuary for years. It held the headquarters of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong. At least three regiments of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were reported to be based there.

DEEP PUSH

Now the Americans had pushed deep into the zone in the largest U.S. operation of the war. More than 25,000 troops with powerful air and artillery support were splitting the zone's dense jungle.

One of the spearhead battalions — the 1st of the 18th Infantry, 1st Infantry Division — had swarmed by helicopters into an egg-shaped clearing. Tall trees towered at the edges and the jungle grew thick up to the clearing.

A Viet Cong regiment was reported in the area, trying to make it back to its base along the Cambodian border.

The American encampment would be difficult to defend and the U.S. generals knew it.

"THIS'LL BE IT"

"This is the kind of place the VC like to hit," said Maj. Gen. William Depoy, commander of the 1st Infantry Division. "If we get action anywhere, this'll be it."

The division's deputy commander, Brig. Gen. James Hollingsworth, agreed. "I look for us to get a real scrap right here," he said.

One company and two platoons moved out to search the area around the camp.

Le Van Dong and the Viet Cong squad, from their hiding places, had counted the helicopters coming in. They knew where to go and that there was a large force.

Dong and another man crawled under low-hanging bamboo and slipped from tree to tree.

TRAVEL LIGHT

Dong traveled light. In addition to his blue hat he wore an olive green shirt, black trousers and "Ho Chi Minh" sandals made from old tires.

On his U.S.-type pistol belt were tied a battered canteen and a new, nylon hammock-pouch.

In a cloth sack Dong carried a plastic bag rigged as a gas mask and ammunition for his old French-model bolt-action rifle. A bayonet with foot-long blade jutted from the muzzle.

BUZZ OF SAWS

The two men edging closer to the clearing could hear the buzz of chain saws and the roar of explosives as GIs cleared trees.

The perimeter was thinly manned and Dong and his partner reached the middle of the defense line. The clearing was faintly visible through the jungle. Soon they would see where the artillery and mortars were placed and where the command tents were set up.

They stepped past vacant bunkers and across trees and brush flattened by the GIs' clear lanes of fire.

Dong was about 10 yards ahead when the second man tripped over a wire stretched taut across the ground. There was a pop and whoosh. A trip flare shot into the air.

BOTH MEN FREEZE

Both men froze.

Only 20 yards away Spec. 4 Espirion Contreras of Devine, Tex., a squad leader with Alpha Company, was sitting beside his bunker with his shirt off. His M16 automatic rifle leaned against a tree.

He heard the whoosh and then he spotted Dong and the other man.

"We just stared at each other," Contreras recalled. "I remember he had on this funny hat and I didn't know whether to shoot him or what."

But in a second I realized it was up. I grabbed my M16 and cut loose. The first guy (Dong) dove behind a mound of dirt, but the second guy was hit. I fired the whole clip. The guy dropped his rifle, which they never do, so he must have been hurt bad. Then he dragged himself off into the brush.

Dong hugged the ground. This was totally unexpected. They had wandered right into the Americans.

CODED NAME

"Please give my best wishes to (three coded names) and all of the people in your unit," the letter ended. It was signed "your sister, 2 Anh (a coded name)." said a sergeant. "His wife and kid look nice. She sure has a pretty smile."

Three GIs dug a hole and placed Dong's body into it. They removed his wristwatch that had been smashed and was stopped at 3:02 p.m.

At almost the same time a few hundred yards north, Charlie Company killed two other members of the enemy patrol.

ORDERS FOR PATROL

One carried a paper filled with small, neat handwriting in red ink. It was dated that day and carried orders for the patrol.

"Be at the site of the American encampment at 2:30 p.m.," it said. "Follow and watch the enemy in each area until tonight. . . . This is the ideal situation for us."

Word of the captured orders reached the men near Dong's buried body later.

"Well, this guy was on time," said one. "But I guess he wouldn't call it the ideal situation."

School Sues Detroit Airport

DETROIT (AP) — A $2-million damage suit has been filed by a Catholic high school objecting to the noise at the Detroit City Airport.

Constant noise and vibration from aircraft landing and taking off interferes with instruction of students, and therefore DeLaSalle Collegiate High School is unable to enlarge the school to accommodate more students, the suit complained.

The boys' school also charged that the airport violated Federal Aviation Agency rules by failing to control planes using the airport for pleasure only.

Some planes fly over the school at altitudes below 500 feet, and this is trespassing, the school said in its suit, filed in Wayne County Circuit Court. DeLaSalle is a one-story modern classroom building with a large dormitory building, is about 300 feet from the airport property.

DONALD LARRY

Detroit Youth Arrested in Store Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — A 20-year-old Detroit youth has been charged with the fatal knifing of a clerk in a downtown department store crowded with Christmas shoppers.

A first-degree murder charge was filed Thursday against Donald Larry, an unemployed 20-year-old, after two of three witnesses identified him in a police lineup. The third witness fainted when she saw Larry.

Larry was accused of killing 30-year-old William Fredericks of Royal Oak Nov. 30 by stabbing him four times while scores of shoppers stood by.

Fredericks and a woman store detective had seized a shop-lifter who was escaping with a suede coat stolen from the second-floor men's department of the J. L. Hudson store. The suspect yanked away, pulled a knife and stabbed Fredericks three times in the abdomen and once in the chest.

EX-CONVICT

Police said Larry is an ex-convict with a lengthy criminal record, including nine arrests as a juvenile and three convictions as an adult.

In 1963, police said, he was placed on two years probation and ordered to serve the first six months in jail for car theft.

Larry denied stabbing Fredericks and pleaded innocent when arraigned before Recorder's Judge William Girvan. He was remanded to the Wayne County jail to await examination Dec. 16.

Inspector Albert Schwaller, head of the homicide bureau, said Larry was arrested on a tip.

OFFERED $10,000

Hudson's has offered $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

Since the slaying, Police Commissioner Ray Girardin has waived a 101-year ban on the employment of Detroit policemen as private guards, and several officers have assumed such duty in downtown stores during their days off.

'Aspirin Can Help Lessen Sunburn'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Aspirin can help prevent or lessen sunburn, two dermatologists report.

J. Graham Smith and W. Stacey Miller of the University of North Carolina said aspirin taken 30 minutes before exposure to the sun and periodically afterward reduced skin inflammation.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Saddle Block Anesthesia Now Preferred

Q — I am expecting my first baby in January. My doctor uses the saddle block anesthesia for all his deliveries. Friends have advised against this method. What are its advantages and disadvantages?

A — You have an up-to-date doctor. Many doctors now prefer saddle block anesthesia in which the anesthetic is injected into the spinal canal.

The advantages are that it permits the mother to remain awake and cooperate in delivering her baby; she can also see the baby the moment it is held up by the heels to start its breathing.

When this method was first used, it was often followed by a headache for a day or two but this rarely happens with the improved technique and when it does, it can be controlled with rest and pain-killers.

The giving of saddle block anesthesia must be carefully timed.

When given too soon, it may stop the contractions of the uterus and slow the labor. When given too late it does no good.

OTHER CHOICE

Furthermore, under some conditions — twins, breech delivery or a rapidly falling blood pressure, to name a few — some other type of anesthesia would be preferred.

Q — My sister's husband has leukemia — white spots on his legs. He had them as a boy and they didn't get any bigger but now they are appearing on his trunk. His doctor says there is no cure for it. Is it hereditary?

A — Please! Let's not confuse leukemia, which is a serious blood disease, with vitiligo, white patches on the skin.

There is no evidence that vitiligo is hereditary; the cause is unknown.

EXPOSED TO SUN

Patches that are not ordinarily visible may become conspicuous by contrast when exposure to the sun causes tanning of the surrounding skin.

Masking stains and artificial suntan preparations have been used for this condition.

Tattooing of the involved area with gold salts may be the treatment of choice if the patches are not too large.

Methoxsalen or trioxsalen taken by mouth over a long period may be helpful but these drugs must be used only under close medical supervision and the results, when good, are transient.

Some persons have found that large doses of vitamin C taken for 10 to 12 months is beneficial but this procedure is still experimental.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By LUCRECE BEALE

(Synopsis: Santa tells Billy that before he can slay the giant he must free the moon which Goko has sealed in a box. Tweedledees searches for the magic words that will unseal the box.)

CHAPTER FIVE

A Santa Land Breakfast

Patrick Tweedledees sat on the floor in Santa's living room. He was surrounded by stacks of books and scraps of paper on which strange words were written.

Tweedledees had been in Santa Land longer than anyone — except Santa, of course, who had been there forever.

Because he had been there so long it was natural that he knew a great deal about his cus-pocus, abradadabra, mumbo-jumbo, and other magic words that could cast or break a spell.

He had been studying charms and voodoo and hoodoo and the incantations of all the sorcerers he had ever heard of for three days and three nights.

Still he hadn't found the magic formula that would release the moon from the box in which Goko the giant had locked it.

GROWING IMPATIENT

Santa was growing impatient. Christmas would soon be here and the giant had vowed to snatch Santa, too, out of the sky when he drove his sleigh on Christmas Eve.

"Give me time," said Tweedledees huffily. "This is a very difficult assignment. It can't be done in a minute, you know, but I am on the right track."

He sniffed importantly and reached for still another book from the piles on the chairs and tables around him.

Santa went to his desk. He rummaged around in the bottom drawer until he found a little red skull cap with a long gold tassel. He set the cap on Tweedledees' head.

THINKING CAP

"Try my thinking cap," he said.

"Are you suggesting that I have not been thinking?" growled Tweedledees.

"Not at all," replied Santa. "But the thinking cap may help you think. I often use it when I am trying to think of new toys for Christmas. It's been a very big help."

"Hmmp," grunted Tweedledees. He tossed the gold tassel out of his eyes but he kept the cap on.

Mrs. Claus came in from the kitchen and announced that breakfast was served.

"But, my dear," said Santa looking at her in amazement. "We just had breakfast."

"You mean YOU just had breakfast," retorted Mrs. Claus. "What about this boy? He looks like he hasn't had anything to eat for goodness knows how long!"

Billy was overjoyed. He had been standing there all this time watching Patrick Tweedledees think.

It had been a very hard thing to do because he was dizzy with hunger. His stomach kept growling for food but he himself was too polite to say anything.

He had been sent to bed with no dinner the night before and he hadn't had lunch before that because the teacher at school had made him stand in the corner for telling giant stories.

He took off his coat and dropped it on the floor beside Tweedledees.

Tweedledees tried on Santa's thinking cap.

"I could eat a little, I guess," he said politely. He followed Mrs. Claus into the kitchen and sat down to breakfast.

There were backseat cakes stacked two feet tall and sausages long as baseball bats and ostrich eggs big as footballs. And that wasn't all.

There were things no one else would dream of serving for breakfast. Deepdish apple pie and coconut layer cake with orange filling and seven different kinds of ice cream.

Billy had a helping of everything and several helpings of some things. Mrs. Claus beamed.

MAGIC WORDS

She said she wished she always had a boy around the house to feed because it made cooking so worth while.

She was frying another batch of ostrich eggs when Tweedledees burst into the kitchen.

His thinking cap was all askew and his spectacles hung on the tip of his nose.

He handed Billy a thin green book and shouted, "I've found it! The magic words! They are in this Wizard's Handbook!"

Billy stared at the book in astonishment. It was his own school spelling book!

Bountiful for Yule Season

New Books for Movie Lovers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — For that tidy minority of book collectors who specialize in movie subjects, this Christmas season offers the chance for a bountiful harvest.

Whereas movie books used to trickle out of publishing houses, they now come in a flood. The man who knows as comedian Ken Murray, who may have the most extensive private collection of film volumes.

"Now I'm running out of shelf space, not to mention money," says Murray of his specialized bibliophilia. He started collecting many years ago when he was a movie-struck vaudevillian. That was when he began taking his home movies of stars he met; the results of that hobby can be seen in his nostalgic featurettes that sometimes follow NBC movies.

Some prizes of Murray's book collection are a 1916 biography of D.W. Griffith by his wife; a 1923 book on Wallace Reid by his mother; "My Trip Abroad" (1922) by Charlie Chaplin; "Confessions of an Actor" (1928) by John Barrymore. Other biographies include those of Marie Dressler, Lillian Gish, Vernon and Irene Castle, Jeanne Eagels, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Adolph Menjou, Edward Arnold, Harold Lloyd, right down to Linda Christian and Hedy LaMarr.

MOST ARE TRASH

"Most of the books are trash, but they are ideal for research," said Murray. Best of the books, he feels are "Good-night, Sweet Prince," the Barrymore biography by Gene Powder; Bosley Crowther's books on MGM and Louis B. Mayer; and the early film history, "A Million and One Nights" by Terry Ramsaye.

Here are some of the new books on movie subjects for the Christmas buyer (some are offered at reduced prices preholiday):

"Double Exposure" (Dellacorte, $15) by Roddy McDowall. Portraits by the actor-photographer with word pictures written by celebrities about other celebrities. The coffee-table book of the season.

"All Talking, All Singing, All Dancing" (Citadel, $10) by John Springer. A disjointed but fascinating view of the lush, lavish era of the movie musical.

"HOW SWEET"

"How Sweet It Was" (Shorecrest, $12.50) by Arthur Shulman and Roger Youman. A compendium of television history, profusely illustrated.

"Meeting Mrs. Jenkins" (Morrow, $2.95) by Richard Burton. A reprint of the actor's magazine article of his courtship of Elizabeth Taylor with the scandal expised. Written with surprising skill.

"Bogie" (New American Library, $4.95) by Joe Hyams. The official Bogart biography, with introduction by Lauren Bacall. An affectionate portrait.

"The films of W.C. Fields" (Citadel, $7.95) by Donald Descher. Plots and stills from all the comedian's movies.

TOSSES POSIES

"Five Women I Love" (Doubleday, $4.95) by Bob Hope. Skinnose tosses posies to the girls who went on his last Viet Nam trip.

"Horror" (MacMillan, $6.95) by Drake Douglas. A study, with photographs, of the scare films. An ideal gift for your favorite ghoulfriend.

History Points to Rhodesia Curb Failure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The history of sanctions in international affairs offers no comfort to those seeking to overthrow the Rhodesian rebel regime of Ian Smith by such mandatory economic penalties. They never have worked.

Since the days before 1914 — when war and reprisals were considered legal sanctions — there has been no evidence that any delinquent nation has been forced by punitive economic measures alone to change its ways. In some cases the sanctions have boomeranged.

The United Nations has never voted mandatory sanctions against any country. The League of Nations invoked such penalties only once.

Outside these world organizations, numerous efforts have been made by individual countries and by alliances to take coercive measures short of war against those they considered wrongdoers. Such measures go far back in history and include papal interdictions and excommunications of rulers.

STILL IN POWER

One example in recent times is the trade embargo against Cuba by the United States and some of its Latin-American neighbors. This was lifted at the overthrow of the Communist regime of Fidel Castro. But he is still in power, even though the Cuban people undoubtedly have felt an economic pinch.

A companion case is Castro's decision to cut off the water supply of the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo. The United States established its own water facilities on the base.

The United Nations has voted punitive measures in several cases. But they have been in the form of recommendations to the member nations and therefore do not qualify as sanctions under generally accepted legal definitions.

In one such case, the assembly in 1946 called on all its members to withdraw their ambassadors or ministers from Madrid until the Spanish people ousted Generalissimo Francisco Franco and set up a government of their own choosing. Only three countries complied, and the following year the assembly refused to reaffirm its recommendations.

Both the assembly and the Security Council have recommended limitations on trade with Rhodesia and South Africa — the latter because of its racial policies — but study groups report little or no results. Business is booming in South Africa despite repeated U.N. condemnations.

Last May 23 the council rejected an African resolution calling for an economic embargo against Rhodesia to be backed by a British sea and air blockade. The vote was 6-1 with 8 abstentions. This was three votes short of the nine needed for approval.

The one instance in which the League of Nations voted sanctions came in 1935 after Italy's invasion of Ethiopia. In separate votes, the League assembly ordered an arms embargo, a financial ban and a boycott of all imports from Italy. The sanctions did not include an oil embargo, and they failed to halt Italy's operation. The next year Italy announced the annexation of Ethiopia and the league canceled its sanctions.

Play Up Civic Role of S. Viets--General

SAIGON, South Viet Nam home that the effort in Viet (AP) — Gen. William C. West-Nam is largely an American moreland wants his public relations officers to play up to the South Vietnamese role in civic action.

The top U.S. military chief in Viet Nam put it this way:

"Wherever possible, in home town news stories, general releases, or discussions with newsmen, full credit should be accorded to the Vietnamese revolutionary development efforts and to Vietnamese individuals involved in them.

FREQUENT ASSERTION
"Only thus can we hope to dispel the frequent assertion at

Westmoreland encouraged "internal credit for U.S. ingenuity and effort" but said: "It is important that outside publicity given to civic actions stress the cooperative, or joint aspects of nation building."

The American commander also stressed that he wants U.S. servicemen indoctrinated to sell civic action and revolutionary development to newsmen and the folks at home.

"It should be a goal of each component's command information program to indoctrinate our servicemen that they will 'talk up' civic action and revolutionary development, not only when talking to newsmen, but in their letters and on their return to the United States," Westmoreland's memo said.

"CONTINUING CONCERN"
The four-star general said, "It is a matter of continuing concern" that the task of nation building "falls to receive the public attention that is accorded to combat actions in Viet Nam."

The United States has been shouldering a bigger and bigger role in pacification work. Sources said one aim of publicizing Vietnamese activities is to spur their contribution to the effort.

Revolutionary development, a term coined by the Saigon government, encompasses a range of activities intended to make Viet Nam a viable nation politically, economically and socially.

As Westmoreland put it, revolutionary development includes "not only building modern power sources and industrial plants, but improving living conditions and work methods for all of the people."

He said his commanders should insure that each U.S. serviceman "is aware of the contributions he can make to this important task."

SANTA SWEATS — Used to the frigid temperatures of the North Pole and appropriately dressed for the snowy yule season, Santa is quite comfortable in Buffalo, N.Y., yesterday. Down his merry, smiling face, perspiration poured as the temperature reached 66 degrees. Santa would like to trade his furs for a pair of Bermuda shorts.

Countdown to Death Ends in Arrest of Florida Man

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)

Lamka's roommate, John Kirchheimer, 21, stood by helplessly.

The gunman had knocked on the door of the apartment shared by Lamka and Kirchheimer at 4 a.m. EST yesterday.

Sleepily, Kirchheimer answered the knock. The caller was John Clark, 25, a casual acquaintance.

"ABOUT A SLUG"
"I want to see you about a slug," Clark said.

"How was I to know he meant a bullet?" Kirchheimer asked. "So I opened the door and right away I regretted it."

Kirchheimer said Clark wanted him and Lamka to help beat up a man who had been beating Clark's girlfriend.

"I told him no," said Kirchheimer, "but he pulled out the bullet and told Jim: 'Kneel down, I'm going to shoot you.'"

Kirchheimer listened, horrified, as Clark counted above his kneeling friend.

At "zero," the .38-caliber pistol cracked and Lamka crumpled to the carpet.

Kirchheimer said he begged Clark to let him call a doctor. Then, terrified, he fled.

COLLAPSES ON FLOOR

"I ran out the door to the diner up the street, and a short time later, Jim came in all bloody and collapsed on the floor," Kirchheimer said.

Police later arrested Clark without resistance about two blocks from the scene. "He had been drinking heavily and he was thoroughly confused," said Police Sgt. Ralph Lichtenberger.

Clark, a salesman, was jailed on a charge of assault with intent to commit first-degree murder.

Lamka of Canton, Ohio, was reported in satisfactory condition after surgery. Doctors said the bullet entered his left temple and came out just behind his left ear.

Berries of the bitter-sweet plant are poisonous.

Hearing Slated on Judge-Elect

LANSING (AP) — The State Court of Appeals Thursday issued a temporary injunction prohibiting Donald R. Freeman of Flint from taking office as a newly elected Genesee County circuit judge.

Appeals Court Judges John H. Gillis, Thomas G. Kavanagh and Timothy C. Quinn ordered a Dec. 19 hearing for Freeman to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

The request was brought before the court Thursday by Robert Haines, Fay Wexler Taylor and Robert Abram, all of Flint.

They asked the court to prohibit appropriate officials from administering the oath of office to Freeman until a final decision could be made on issues raised in their complaint.

The complaint, filed by Detroit attorneys Sheldon Otis and David Rosenthal, charged that Freeman "lacks qualifications or mental competency to entitle him to assume the office of circuit judge for Genesee County."

Ike Can Still Think of Golf

WASHINGTON (AP) — His pending gallbladder operation doesn't keep hospitalized former President Dwight D. Eisenhower from thinking about golf.

Eisenhower joked with newsmen as he entered Walter Reed Army Hospital Thursday that doctors think one of his gallstones "is shaped like a golf ball — although one without dimples."

And he said he hopes to be playing golf by the end of February — and "I'd like to be chipping (even) before then."

STILL HAS FISH FRIDAYS — A giant black sea bass at Los Angeles Marineland gets ready to enjoy his favorite dish — fish. A school of anchovies are conveniently placed in the tank. Every day is a meatless day to him, regardless of church rulings.

Pentagon Buildup Plans Foresaw Far Bloodier War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States expected a far bloodier Viet Nam war, it was learned today.

Indications are the Pentagon prepared for the worst, anticipating perhaps 10,000 dead this year and five times as many wounded.

Casualties have been much lower although still running into staggering numbers — over 4,600 killed and 30,000 wounded the past 11 months.

A top source said that when the Pentagon began planning the big military buildup in Southeast Asia, statistical studies were conducted which projected U.S. losses at 200 casualties per day per 100,000 men.

PAST EXPERIENCE

The figure, derived from experience in World War II and the Korean conflict, was needed to determine possible replacement and medical demands.

Simply stated, the computerized calculation showed the United States could expect for each 100,000 men in Viet Nam to sustain daily 10 combat deaths, 50 wounded and 140 "nonhostile" casualties resulting from accident, disease or other causes.

Actual figures have averaged 3 killed, 14 wounded and 75 non-hostile losses per day per 100,000 men, this source said.

Averages are rather meaningless, however, when it comes to describing the toll of life due to the war.

SINCE JAN. 1

Defense Department statistics show that since Jan. 1, 4,639 Americans have been killed in Viet Nam, running the count since Jan. 1, 1961, to 6,236 as of last Saturday.

This does not include 1,436 men who have died in plane and helicopter accidents, and from disease or other causes not attributable to enemy action.

The 35,538 wounded and 6,236 killed the past six years form a ratio of better than 5 to 1.

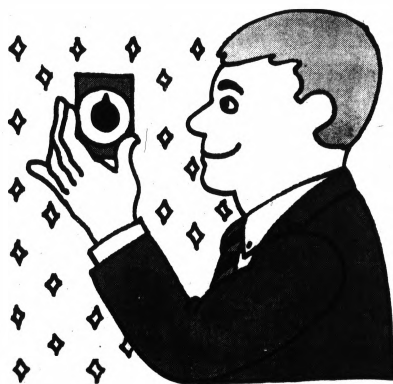

A different view of Pentagon figures also shows the ratio of American combat deaths to wounded running much lower proportionately than during World War II the ratio was over 2 to 1: 232,000 killed, 670,800 wounded.

The major difference accounting for Viet Nam's fewer dead than wounded perhaps lies in the nature of today's military operations. Viet Nam, in contrast with Korea and World War II, is a hit-and-run type conflict with no fixed fronts and few sustained battles.

More servicemen also recover from wounds in Viet Nam than was the case in the world wars and Korea.

If your furnace can't face another winter, consider the heartwarming advantages of electric heat

We've got some good news for you about replacing your tired old furnace. It's easier and faster when the switch is to electric heat.

And if you choose electric heat, you get an extra bonus—a guarantee from Edison.

Here's how the guarantee works: We'll come out and tell you how much it'll cost to heat your home with electricity. Then your monthly bills may be lower, but they won't be one penny higher than we say. We guarantee it.

But some of the nicest things about electric heat are the things you don't get: no flame, no soot, no chimney or flue. You do get even, clean heat.

There are many different kinds of electric heating systems available. So you can be sure of getting one that best fits your modernizing plans—big or small. Choose from drop-in floor units, wall units, ceiling panels or baseboard units; all give you room-by-room temperature control.

Or choose from two types of central electric heating systems—forced-air or hydronic. Either system can be tailored to give you comfortable "zone" temperature control.

Just call us. We'll give you all the heartwarming details. OK?

Was Ice Enough to Close Schools?

Monday was not a typical wintry day. But was it bad enough to close schools?

Secondary roads were icy slick, for sure. Main roads were much less hazardous.

In some districts, schools closed. In others, classes were held as usual.

School officials in Pontiac and Waterford Township decided to hold classes and to provide bus service even if on an irregular basis.

Announcements were made to this effect.

WENT WELL

In Pontiac, things went well. But in Waterford Township, none of the buses traveled their routes.

Feeling the roads were too hazardous to transport students, Waterford Township drivers left buses in the garage.

Consequently, almost 50 percent of the district's 17,000 students were absent from school Monday.

Later the same day, drivers were told if they wanted to work for the district they would have to accept the administration's decisions.

ADVICE CONSIDERED

Drivers also were told their advice would be considered on questionable wintry days if they were willing to get up early enough.

"In my 12 years of making these decisions, I've probably been wrong more than I've been right," said Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe. "It's hard to make a right decision (on whether to close schools)."

On questionable days, school officials in Waterford Township contact police departments, the weather bureau and the road commission and drive the roads themselves, when feasible, according to Tatroe.

This procedure begins at 4:30 a.m.

DECISION REACHED

The advice received is considered and then a decision is reached, said Tatroe.

A quick decision is necessary in order for radio station to relay information to students and parents.

"Once having made a decision, it's rather important we don't confuse people and change our minds," said Tatroe.

"You can't make a decision when the kids are out there waiting for the buses," he asserted.

STAY ON MAIN ROADS

Tatroe said he and the bus supervisor had agreed Monday that buses should stay on the main roads.

Learning the drivers had refused to drive their buses, Tatroe went to the garage. However, by the time he arrived, they had left.

"In effect what they did was strike for a day," said Tatroe. "Apparently a handful of the drivers made the decision not to drive and told the others."

Two alternatives presently being considered by Waterford Township school officials to cope with future similar situations are an emergency routing system for buses and starting classes later in the morning.

FEARS POLLUTION—Mrs. Mary Ann Beatty of Raytown, Mo., was impressed by her chaperone's worries about air pollution and began wearing a gas mask as she drives to and from work in Kansas City, Mo. "I still feel a little self-conscious," she says, "but this air pollution can make us all sick."

Mother Says Son Innocent

State Man Is Hunted
in November Slayings

DETROIT (UPI) — It was the voice of a worried mother. A tired voice.

"I don't believe my son is a murderer," Mrs. Leslie Walker waited at her home in the Detroit suburb of Lincoln Park and hoped her words would reach the son she has not heard from since Nov. 18, the son who is sought for questioning about two killings.

Robert Lee Gawne, 27, is the object of a nationwide search by state and federal authorities in the mysterious slayings of Mrs. Janet Stewart, 23, near Dry Ridge, Ky., and Eileen Marie Alex, 19, near South Bend, Ind.

Both women were killed within days of each other last month. Both were from suburban Detroit.

IN WYOMING

Police said Gawne and Tom Banks, 23, were in Wyoming earlier this week but may have fled to Mexico.

Mrs. Walker's words were aimed at Gawne:

"I want him to hear me, wherever he is. I want him to give himself up because I don't believe he's involved in either one of the murders."

"He's not the type of boy who would do a thing like this. I want him to turn himself in. 'Maybe he is in one of the cars that belonged to one of the girls. I don't know. But there's a difference between car theft and murder."

Bolt Cuts Power

THREE RIVERS (AP) — Lightning struck a 69,000-volt transmission line at a substation west of Three Rivers Thursday and the community was without power for 30 seconds. Michigan Gas and Electric Co. officials said they were not sure the power failure resulted from the lightning.

Lake Michigan Study to Court

Bar Bigger Drain-Off by Chicago, It Asks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A recommendation that Chicago be enjoined from taking any more water than it now takes from Lake Michigan was regarded today as a qualified victory for Michigan and five other Great Lakes states.

The suggestion was contained in a 574-page report filed with the U. S. Supreme Court Thursday by Albert Maris, a special master appointed by the court to investigate the diversion problem.

Maris, a retired federal judge from Philadelphia, conducted hearings from 1959 to 1963, compiling a 30,000-page transcript in the process. He also inspected rivers and harbors, and industrial complexes on Lakes Superior, Michigan, Huron and Erie.

Chicago had sought to increase its diversion of Lake Michigan water by 1,000 cubic feet a second over its present 3,200 cubic feet a second, contending it needed more water to handle increased sewage.

LOWER LEVELS
Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York objected, saying the increased diversion would lower levels of the interconnected lakes and affect shipping.

The six states also asked the Supreme Court to order Chicago to return waste water to Lake Michigan after treating its sewage, rather than sending it into the Mississippi River drainage system.

In his recommendation, Maris said Chicago should be permitted to continue discharging its sewage waste into the Chicago River, but not into the Mississippi River system.

GOP Governors Go to Work Building for Presidential Bid

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Republican governors, demanding a party role in the selection of the next president, went to work today to build an organization that could propel one of them into the GOP presidential nomination.

Their potential leaders were not saying which one — although Michigan's Gov. George Romney clearly is the front runner among them, as he is in the public opinion polls.

SEES NO DISSENSION
House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said there would be no dissension between Republicans on Capitol Hill and in the statehouses.

"I am tired of reading how we are going to fly off into all kinds of collision courses," Ford said in a speech prepared for the association's first formal session.

At an afternoon meeting the governors are expected to elect a chairman to succeed retiring Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho. Ford said Republicans in Congress are not going to use their increased numbers for obstruction. He promised a positive, meaningful minority program — and offered the governors a chance to help shape it.

TAX SHARING
He said GOP congressional leaders will propose next year a system of state and federal tax sharing, and Social Security increases tied to cost-of-living factors.

Asking the governors for their ideas, Ford said, "We all subscribe as Republicans to the theory that all wisdom does not repose in Washington."

"If we all hang together in said Love.

success as well as we did in adversity, we are not going the way of the Whigs," he said. "We are going the way of Abraham Lincoln and Dwight D. Eisenhower."

The House minority leader said he would like to see the governors accorded a bigger role in the Republican Policy Coordinating Committee, the party's top policy-making council.

OFFERS RESOLUTION
The governors were looking for the same thing, Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington offered a resolution seeking to increase from five to seven the number of gubernatorial seats on the coordinating group.

That would be generally in line with the increase in GOP gubernatorial numbers — up from 17 to at least 25 as a result of the Nov. 8 election. One race, that in Georgia, still is contested.

Chafee and Love were early arrivals for the two-day meeting in this mountain resort. Other governors and governors-elect, with Romney among them, scheduled arrivals today.

An Associated Press survey of GOP gubernatorial opinion showed signs of cautious support of Romney and some for Richard M. Nixon for the 1968 nomination.

NO SIGN OF BANDWAGON
But there was no sign of a governors' bandwagon for Romney.

"I'm not committed to any one candidate at the moment," said Love.

Wagner's Kin Force Behind a Met Opera

By MILES A. SMITH

NEW YORK — The late Wieland Wagner, famed for producing his ancestor's operas at Bayreuth, was the creative force behind the Metropolitan Opera's new production of Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin," and naturally has formed it in the abstract Bayreuth style.

He had completed the designs for the conceived the designs before his death last October. The actual stage direction was carried through by Peter Lehmann, his assistant.

The result, as presented Thursday night, is close to a concert version with costumes, for the sets have been undisplayed and the action has been so muted that it has a tableau effect.

Yet for those not bound by tradition, the opera gains in musical intensity what it loses in visual impression.

IN FINE FORM

Sendor Konya, in the title role, Walter Berry as Telramund and Christa Ludwig as Ortrud were in fine form, but Ingrid Bjoner was less impressive as Elsa. The part of King Henry was to have been performed by Jerome Hines, but he became ill and was replaced by John Macurdy. Sherrill Milnes was the Herald. The conducting, by Karl Boehm, was in the proper Wagnerian spirit.

The simplified sets resemble huge stained glass abstractions. The famous swan boat is merely symbolized by a painted swan on a backdrop. The lighting was kept in low key for most of the scenes.

City Building in Slow Season

The winter season settled on building activity in Pontiac last month, according to the statistics compiled by City Building Inspector Robert M. Gerds.

He reported that 66 building permits were issued in November for construction valued at $177,274, compared to 112 permits and $2.5 million in October.

There were nine permits issued for new family dwellings, construction worth $57,000, compared to four permits in October and construction valued at $63,600.

Seventeen permits were issued in November for residential alterations and repairs, construction valued at $25,294; three permits for new commercial buildings valued at $38,710; and 13 permits for residential garages valued at $16,700.

For 11 months in 1966, there have been 1,263 permits issued for construction valued at $10,431,478, compared to 1,365 and $8,575,962 during the same period in 1965.

Bus Usage Shows Drop

Patronage of local buses dropped last month compared to the previous month.

According to bus company figures, Pontiac Transit Corp. buses transported 66,796 passengers in November for a revenue of $14,525.

November's business compared to 69,383 passengers and revenue of $15,057 in October.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOLIVIA

QUESTION: Why does Bolivia have two capitals?

ANSWER: The country now called Bolivia was very important to the Spaniards, who had conquered South America, for silver had been discovered there. In 1824, the famous liberator Simon Bolivar won an important victory over the Spaniards. He helped the people of what was then called Upper Peru to establish an independent country, which they, in gratitude, renamed Bolivia.

One of Bolivar's generals, Antonio Jose de Sucre, was elected as Bolivia's first president, and his name was given to the city which was the seat of the government.

Another city had been founded by the Spaniards in 1548—La Ciudad de Nuestra Senora de La Paz. After throwing off the Spaniards, Bolivians called this city La Paz.

It was better situated than Sucre to be the seat of the government because of its excellent transportation facilities and it grew to be the center of Bolivia's life.

So in 1898, all government offices except the Supreme Court were moved to La Paz, which became the actual capital.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can find out what makes Lake Titicaca, near La Paz, so distinctive?

New Gauge Is Egg-sact

By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON — A government scientist has invented something called a "backscatter gauge" which works like this:

A "beta-energy emitter" fires beta energy at an object; part of the energy bounces back and is measured by a "Geiger-Mueller tube"; the amount of reflected energy is then recorded by a counter.

Now we will all take turns guessing what this instrument is used for.

You, sir, over there in the green suit. Would you start us off?

A new weapon for Viet Nam? It doesn't kill the North Vietnamese? It merely makes them homesick?

No, sir, I'm afraid you're on the wrong track.

How about the lady there in the mini-skirt and snowboots? Would you like to take a guess?

WRONG AGAIN

No, madam, it isn't a machine to keep elephants from bumping into each other when they are marching single-file.

Anyone else? The gentleman back there with the packages under his arm. How's that again?

An instrument that determines whether an egg is likely to break before you are ready to cook it for breakfast?

STAGGERING

Permit me now to confront you with a rather staggering figure. In 1965, more than 1,800,000,000 eggs were accidentally broken. Give or take a couple of omelets.

That, of course, is only a fraction of the 60,140,000,000 eggs that were deliberately broken. Nevertheless, it is a helluva lot of eggs.

The hope is that poultry breeders can start using beta energy to see which hens lay eggs with thin, fragile shells and which produce shells that are thick and rugged.

Then, by the process of elimination, they eventually reach the point where all eggs have a high degree of break-resistance. Which would be a cause for rejoicing.

CAN BE OVERDONE

They should be careful, however, that they not overdo it. Over a period of time, selec-

Seasickness Kills British Scientist

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — A British naval scientist died of seasickness, a doctor testified at an inquest Thursday night on Gerald Rogers, 41, a senior scientific officer.

The coroner ruled that Rogers, who was doing one day's duty aboard the frigate HMS Wakeful, died from natural causes. Medical testimony was that he ruptured his gallbladder and that his death was the direct result of seasickness.

The last similar case reported was in America in 1919, said surgeon Lt. Cmdr. Henry Black.

Book-Personality: New Match Game

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Do you have a friend whose whole world turns dark when his television set is on the blink?

Why let him sit there in lonely despair? There is a remedy for his condition. It is an old-fashioned remedy called reading. It has helped people pass the time in pleasure and self-profit for centuries.

So, until the television repairman can call, brighten your friend's plight by sending him a book for Christmas. He may be so grateful he will remember you in his will.

ALL IN FUN
But what book to send him? It is very important to send the right book to the right person.

For example, and all in fun, here is a suggested list for people we all know or have heard about:

"Keep Your Mouth Closed, Dear" — Joe Valachi, the singing mobster.

"Confessions of a Dilettante" — Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

"The Moment of Wonder" — Ho Chi Minh.

"The Last Gentleman" — Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Animal Drugs to Be Studied

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Animals are going to be assured of the same safety and efficacy of drugs as man when the National Academy of Sciences evaluates the effectiveness of approximately 1,100 veterinary drugs introduced between 1938 and 1962.

Prior to the Kefauver-Harris drug amendment of 1962, drugs had only to be safe. Now their ability to do what manufacturers say they will do must also be proved, and nothing in the amendment limits this requirement to drugs intended for human use.

At the request of Food and Drug Administration Commissioner James L. Goddard, the academy agreed to make the tests, first classifying drugs in broad categories from clearly effective to clearly ineffective and then seeking additional data on those falling in between.

East Lansing Firm Picks New Exec

EAST LANSING (AP) — Appointment of Thomas Matthews as vice president in charge of broadcast operations for Panax Corp. of East Lansing was announced Thursday by Panax President John McGoff. Matthews succeeds Philip Munson, who resigned to devote full time to his duties as president of Metrocom Inc., which operates radio station WGMZ-GM in Flint and recently purchased WAPC AM-FM, River Head, N. Y., and WPAC AM-FM, Patchogue, N. Y.

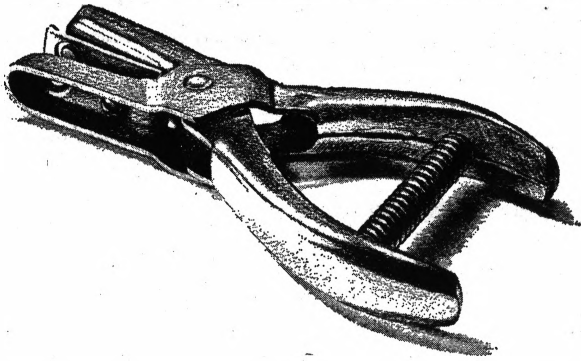

Matthews has been regional manager of Panax broadcast facilities in Missouri since 1963. These facilities include KFEQ-TV and KFEQ-AM in St. Joseph, and KLIK-AM in Jefferson City. Prior to coming to Panax, Matthews was general manager of WNEM-TV in Bay City.

'Ugly' Scenes Not Wanted

LONDON (AP) — English tennis players stood warned today to keep their tempers on the court or take up another sport. Judge Carl Aarvold, president of the English Lawn Tennis Association, told the association's annual meeting Thursday.

"Players must realize that ugly scenes are neither effective nor amusing. If they want to get their teeth into other players or officials they had better take up another game."

Colts Must 'Shoot Works' at Packers

West Division Title at Stake for Green Bay

John Unitas Troubled by Shoulder, Is Key to Big Clash

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Unitas and the Baltimore Colts, ranked by four straight defeats by Green Bay, are primed for one big shoot-the-works effort Saturday against the favored Packers, who can clinch the Western Conference title of the National Football League with a win or tie.

Green Bay, which has been working out all week in seclusion in Gathersburg, Md., is in the driver's seat with a two-game lead and two games to play.

Bart Starr has been having a fantastic year with his pinpoint passing and low interception percentage. Unitas, the old master, has been having trouble with a sore shoulder and is off his usual super pace. But John usually rises to the occasion.

The long-awaited rematch will be beamed across the nation on network (CBS) television, starting at 3:15 p.m., EST.

The Colts squirmed all winter after losing that sudden death playoff game at Green Bay, complaining that Don Chandler's controversial field goal that tied the score was not good. A recent television film was cited as evidence in their favor.

CASHED IN
Green Bay has been sitting back quietly, having cashed their 1965 winning checks long ago, but there is evidence that the Colts' complaints have not gone unnoticed in Packersland. The leather will be popping Saturday.

Baltimore psyched up so high for the first game that with the Packers, Sept. 10 it was almost a crusade. The bottom fell out for the Colts when Leroy Catey and Bob Jeter intercepted passes by Unitas and ran them back for touchdowns on the way to a decisive 24-3 victory.

With Starr having an exceptional year and the sturdy Packers pass defense leading the league, Green Bay is only one step away from winning its fifth conference crown in eight years under Coach Vince Lombardi. Eddy, a senior from Lafayette, Calif., did not play in the Irish's 10-10 tie with No. 2 Michigan State. He led the Irish in scoring with 10 touchdowns, rushing with 553 yards in 70 carries for a 7.1 average, in average kickoff returns for four for 183 yards and four touchdowns, and was third in pass receiving with 15 catches for 123 yards.

With Starr having an exceptional year and the sturdy Packers pass defense leading the league, Green Bay is only one step away from winning its fifth conference crown in eight years under Coach Vince Lombardi.

The Colts have been inconsistent with Unitas having shoulder trouble. They went into a two-game losing tailspin against Detroit and Los Angeles and practically dropped out of the race. Unitas saved them last week with a last-quarter bomb to Raymond Berry and a thinly sliced 21-16 edge over Chicago.

Baltimore's offensive line, which played indifferently for two weeks, came to life against the Bears. The defense seemed to spruce up with the return from retirement of 42-year-old Gino Marchetti as a part time defensive tackle.

"We use Gino on goal line stands and as a replacement for Billy Ray Smith and Fred Miller," said Coach Don Shula at Thursday's workout. "All in all, we are the healthiest now that we have been in many weeks."

The Green Bay-Baltimore game is Saturday's only pro football action. The rest of the National League and the American League swing into action Sunday.

St. Louis, trailing first place Dallas by one game in the Eastern race with two remaining, plays at Atlanta while the Cowboys entertain Washington. The Cardinals and Dallas are heavy favorites. Elsewhere, Pittsburgh visits New York, Minnesota is at Detroit, Cleveland plays at Philadelphia and San Francisco hosts Chicago.

RANGERS CHECK GORDIE — New York Rangers' defenseman Arnie Brown (4) checks Detroit Red Wings' Gordie Howe (9) as Howe, playing in his 1,500 game stretching over 20 years, waits for a pass that failed to come in a game last night in Detroit. Also keeping an eye out for the pass is N.Y. goalie Ed Giacomin. New York won, 4-2.

Red Wings Decked, 4-2

DETROIT (AP) — When the Detroit Red Wings are losing, they can't even win a fight. New York slammed the Wings 4-2 for Detroit's eighth loss in nine starts and Orlando Kurtenbach decked Bert Marshall with a powerful right hand Thursday night.

The two collided, shoved a bit, and the gloves came off. "I got him the first two punches, but my arms were out so far as I could reach and I just grazed him," Marshall said afterward, removing a chunk of ice from his swollen lip. "Then he got me."

Marshall pressed the ice against the lip, festooned with fresh stitches. "I guess a tooth came right through," he mumbled.

"We were very bad defensively in the second period," said Red Wing Manager Sid Abel.

and he wasn't referring to Marshall's failure to duck. "We got all disorganized," Abel said.

WINNING SHOT

The second period was when Don Marshall scored his 12th goal of the season and Earl Ingarfield pumped in what turned out to be the winner.

Marshall caught the Red Wings out of position, took a pass from Bob Nevin and came in from the right wing on Roger Crozier. Crozier came out to block the shot and got a piece of it, but the puck bounced in. Ingarfield made it 3-1 when he broke in from left wing and fired into the cage, catching the corner behind Crozier.

"We came back in the third period, then they got another bad goal," Abel said.

Ted Hampson took a pass from Gordie Howe and snugged a shot into the net from close in to make it 3-2 in the third period. But less than two minutes later Rod Gilbert caught the Wings out of position and blasted in a shot from the right wing after coming in alone on Crozier.

Harry Howell scored the first goal with a long, screened shot that zipped by Crozier. Howe got even less than a minute later, however. He took a pass and skated around in front of the net, waiting for an opening, then fired, beating Ed Giacomin cleanly.

Detroit outshot the Rangers 36-28.

"We had the chances to score and didn't score and they didn't seem to have any trouble scoring," said Abel.

Chicago beat Boston 9-2 in the other NHL action. The victories left Chicago and the Rangers tied for first place with 20 points each. Detroit is mired in the cellar with 12 points, four behind Boston.

Doug Moles scored two goals and had another apparent score nullified by the final buzzer. Stan Mikita connected for his 12th goal and picked up three assists. Moles put the puck in the net as the buzzer ended the game and referee Vern Buffey awarded him a goal. Buffey later reversed his decision.

Saturday the Red Wings are at Montreal and Chicago at Toronto.

Yankees' New GM Dealing

NEW YORK (AP) — Lee MacPhail, working feverishly over the shattered New York Yankees, continues to operate at his favorite market place — the National League.

The New Yankee general manager shipped Roger Maris and his $75,000 salary tag to St. Louis for third baseman Charley Smith Thursday.

It was MacPhail's second deal since being hired to help rebuild the Yankees, who finished the 1966 season mired in the American League cellar for the first time in 42 years. Ten days ago he swapped third baseman Cleo Boyer to Atlanta for outfielder Bill Robinson.

It was MacPhail, then working for Baltimore, who engineered the biggest inter-league trade of 1965 when he dealt three players to Cincinnati for Frank Robinson.

THIRD SACKER

MacPhail can hardly expect the same kind of instant success for the Maris swap that Robinson brought to Baltimore. Smith is a journeyman third baseman who carries a lifetime batting average of .243.

But the deal does open up the

Bowlers Have 'Last Chance'

Are you one of the 18,000 bowlers in the Pontiac area with an average between 107 and 207? Are you going to bowl three games Sunday somewhere just for kicks?

Wouldn't you like to have fun competing in a tournament and taking a chance on winning one of a couple hundred prizes? Couldn't you use a little extra cash for Christmas?

There are a lot more questions posed for bowlers of any average, but there's only one answer: which must come first and that is — Sunday is the last chance to try to qualify for the Pontiac Open Bowling Tournament.

Any bowler regardless of average can win the title of Pontiac Open Champion, and squads at four sites will be going most of the day for those who will be trying to hit the qualifying target score of 600 or better.

When Jim Sawyer, a 160 average bowler entered the tournament in 1965, little did he realize he would walk off with the top prize. Sawyer is back to defend his title, and he qualified last week after trying for the second time to hit 600.

Sawyer and possibly 300 bowlers who reach the semifinals Sunday morning December 18th will be shooting for one of the top guaranteed prizes starting with $800.

From the Huron Bowl in the semifinals, the top percentage of bowlers will then move to 300 Bowl for the Actual's Invitation and the Pontiac Open Finals.

To qualify for an invitation to the Actual's, a bowler must enter the Pontiac Open. The top actual scores and the top average entries then are invited to this prestige portion of the tournament, which nets the winner a handsome trophy and $50.

Fog, rain and spring-like temperatures closed almost all ski areas in Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas for the week-end.

Rams Host WOLL

League Test Early for St. Fred

The Rams of St. Frederick are getting an early exposure to the heat of a basketball championship race.

The Rams are 2-1 in Macomb Parochial League play, a half-game back of leaders Mount Clemens Holy Cross and St. Michael, and they'll be trying to stay close to the spot when they play host to defending champion Waterford Our Lady of Lakes this evening at Madison Junior High School.

The Rams, a young team headed by new coach Mike Boyle, were impressive in the opener despite losing 57-56 in overtime to St. Michael, and since, they have turned in impressive victories over St. Rose and Richmond St. Augustine.

Coach Mike Boyle and the Lakers have lost only to nonconference foe Orchard Lake St. Mary in three outings, and if the Rams can handle the likes of WOLL, watch out.

Two other Macomb games have St. Michael visiting St. Rose and Anchor Bay Catholic at Richmond St. Augustine.

LITTLE TROUBLE

The Mikemen chewed up AB Catholic in their latest outing and should have little trouble with winless St. Rose.

The Mikemen could have a hold on the league title by Christmas if things go well.

After St. Rose, the Mikemen meet Holy Cross and St. Augustine and then visit WOLL. The trip to WOLL is the key game. A win there, providing they haven't faltered against lesser opposition, would put the Mikemen in the driver's seat.

The Eagles of Orchard Lake St. Mary, sharing the lead in the Northwest Parochial League with Ferndale St. James at 2-0, journey to Royal Oak this evening to take on RO St. Mary.

Two other Northwest outings have Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows at Ferndale St. James and St. Francis de Sales at Detroit St. Rita.

Duke Travels West to Try UCLA Ace

By The Associated Press

Can Lew Alcindor do it again for UCLA against Duke tonight? The 7-foot-4 inch sophomore, hailed as the greatest player in present day college basketball, made an awesome varsity debut by scoring 56 points against Southern California last Saturday. Whether he can do it again against the tougher Blue Devils from the Atlantic Coast Conference remains to be seen.

"We're not conceding UCLA anything," said Vic Bubas, Duke coach, before the Blue Devils left Durham, N.C., for the game at Pauley Pavilion on the UCLA campus in Los Angeles.

"I think we've got a chance. I know they're a great ball club, but we've got some pretty good players and we're sure going to try to win. I think we've got a chance."

The Blue Devils, seventh-ranked nationally to the top-ranked Bruins in The Associated Press poll, would clearly love to repeat their two victories over UCLA last season.

The Duke triumphs by 82-66 and 94-75 last December when UCLA came East, started the Bruins on the downward path that cost them the national championship.

Duke was upset by Virginia Tech last Friday, but came back on Saturday to beat Michigan. "If we had lost to Michigan it would have been bad," Bubas said. "I think we're mentally ready for UCLA now."

Meantime Johnny Wooden, UCLA coach, reported Alcindor would be up for the Blue Devils, although his right calf swelled somewhat after receiving an unintentional kick in the Bruins' 105-90 conquest of Southern California.

"He still doesn't maneuver well under the basket, but that will come in time," Wooden said of his star. Nevertheless, in the Bruins' Alcindor's play "the most impressive performance by a sophomore I have ever seen. It was awesome."

The impending battles of Duke and UCLA tonight and Saturday overshadowed the score little Pan-American College game Texas Western Thursday night before the national champions pulled it out 67-45 at El Paso.

Close behind Clark in the three game scoring totals is Jon Blocker of Pontiac, a junior with 44 points.

OU Swimmers to Face DIT

Oakland University swimmers, with an 0-1 record, face DIT Saturday afternoon in the Warren Fitzgerald High School's pool.

Victory Gained by Fitzgerald

McCormick went 58.2 in the butterfly and won the 400 freestyle.

Other double winners for Fitzgerald were Ron Miller and Ed Anderson. Anderson set a school record in the 200 freestyle in 1:53.8.

MG's OCTAGON SPIRIT MAKES IT A PLEASURE TO HEAD FOR THE HILLS

You don't have to be a ski buff to appreciate the winter handling of the MG marque. The MGB proved it handsomely—by winning the Monte Carlo Rally GT category, 2700 punishing miles—much of it over mountain snow and ice—from Oslo to Monte Carlo. A competition-proven 1798 c.c. engine, positive rack and pinion steering, non-fade disc brakes, and firm suspension make the MGB a car that "keeps its feet on the ground", free of the vicious tricks which careless design can permit. MGB is a car you can trust. And one you can drive in comfort: an efficient heater, tight roll-up windows, bucket seats in English leather, and a snug convertible top. Winter or summer, MGB is easy on the eyes. Easy on the wallet, too. Practically maintenance free, and up to 30 miles a gallon. Test drive an MGB and prove to yourself that in sun or snow, the octagon spirit makes going a pleasure.

Warriors Pad Division Lead

Barry Hits 50 Points in 124-106 Win

By The Associated Press

Rick Barry's one-man point-making performance kept the Western Division a one-team show Thursday night.

The sophomore forward, a runaway scoring leader in the National Basketball Association, pumped in 50 points as he led the San Francisco Warriors to a 124-106 victory over the St. Louis Hawks in Phoenix, Ariz.

The triumph increased the Warriors' lead to 5 1/2 games over the Hawks and left San Francisco the only team in the division over .500 at 18-9. The Hawks missed a chance at the break even point and fell from second to third in the West at 11-13.

In the only other game, Chicago pulled away to a 132-120 decision over Baltimore behind Bob Boozer, Guy Rodgers and Jerry Sloan in a struggle between the last-place clubs in each division.

BIG LEAD

Barry, who hit 57 points earlier this season, scored his 1,000th point early in the first half as the Warriors built a 69-44 halftime bulge.

Maris Latest Trade of New Yankees' GM in Big Ten

Yankees' outfield picture quite a bit. "We want to make a fresh start," said New York Manager Ralph Houk. "With two fine young outfielders, Steve Whitaker and Bill Robinson, vying for jobs, we want to give them a chance."

It was an open secret that the Yankees were ready to unload Maris, who only five years ago broke Babe Ruth's record for home runs when he hit 61 in a 162-game season.

"I wasn't at all surprised," the slugging outfielder said after being told of the deal. "I rather expected it. In fact, I expected to be traded ever since 1962."

Smith, who has played for the Los Angeles Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies, Chicago White Sox and New York Mets as well as St. Louis, wasn't nearly as composed.

"I'll be darned," he exclaimed.

HIGH SALARY

After his record-shattering season, he rocketed into baseball's higher salary class but his production slipped noticeably. He hit 33 homers in 1962, 23 in 1963 and 26 in 1964.

He was crippled by injuries through most of 1965, appearing in just 46 games and hitting only eight homers. He underwent surgery for the removal of bone chips at the base of his right hand after the season and played in 119 games last season, managing only 13 homers.

The Cardinals feel that Maris can come back for them just as Orlando Cepeda did last year after they acquired him from San Francisco. Cepeda, considered washed up by many baseball men, batted .301 for the Cards after being traded for pitcher Ray Sadecki, who won only six games.

"Roger will give us the extra power we've been looking for in our line-up," said St. Louis General Manager Bob Howsam.

"Not only is he a fine hitter but he's also a good outfielder and, if necessary, has the ability to come off the bench cold as a pinch hitter."

Smith, who with pitcher Al Jackson was traded by the Mets for Ken Boyer last winter, figures to be the front runner in the battle to replace Ken's brother, Clete, as the Yankee third baseman.

State Reports County Traffic Death Inquiry

LANSING (AP) — The attorney general's office said yesterday it has made a routine inquiry into the handling of charges arising from a traffic death in Oakland County, but "There is no course of action to overrule."

Karen L. Arvidson, 19, of Farmington was killed Dec. 21, 1965, in a two-car crash in Southfield.

Dr. William D. Sharpe, 51, of Lathrup Village has pleaded "no contest" to a charge of reckless driving.

The case is pending before Southfield Municipal Judge Clarence A. Reid Jr.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan said the girl's father asked state officials to look into handling of the case by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson because he thought the prosecutor's office might accept a reduced charge of reckless driving, rather than a charge of manslaughter.

INQUIRY COMPLETED
"We completed our inquiry last week," Cohan said. "The prosecutor's office now is deciding what course of action to take."

Cohan said the request for an inquiry was among many received routinely from citizens and "As the chief law enforcement officers of the state, we check into them all."

Miss Arvidson was a passenger in a car which collided head-on with a car police said was driven by Sharpe.

Woman Gets New Blood in Rare Surgery

BOSTON (AP)—Doctors at St. Elizabeth Hospital have exchanged the blood of a young mother in an operation rare for adults.

Carol Desroches, 22, was brought to the hospital Thursday night suffering from acute hepatitis, or inflammation of the liver.

A four-doctor team performed the operation in which the woman's blood was drained and fresh blood substituted for it. Mrs. Desroches was reported in fair condition.

A spokesman said the operation had been performed only once before on an adult at the hospital—on an intern in November 1965. The same four-doctor team performed that operation.

The operation is not uncommon for newborn babies whose blood is incompatible with their mothers, they said.

Supervisor Panel OKs Farmington Annexation

The boundaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday recommended that annexation of a 657-acre parcel in Farmington Township by the City of Farmington take effect next Thursday.

Consideration of this recommendation is slated for the final 1966 meeting of the board of supervisors Wednesday.

The annexation was approved by voters Nov. 8 in both the city and the portion of the township affected.

City voters favored the proposal 2,399 to 495 and the township tally was 77 to 67.

The newly annexed parcel is bounded by Gill on the east, 9th Mile and the curve of the I-96 Expressway on the south, Halsted on the west and Grand River on the north.

RESIDENTIAL AREA
It is mainly a residential area and contains Woodcroft subdivision and a new development known as Chatham Hills.
