HOUSTON (AP) — Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White, still in good shape and remarkably alert, soared past the halfway point of their record space ride today as medical monitors maintained a close watch on their condition.

The space twins reached the midpoint of the planned four-day trip at 11:14 a.m. (EST) as their Gemini 4 spacecraft sailed more than 100 miles above the United States at the end of orbit 31.

At that time, they had been in space for 48 hours, 58 minutes. They are to return to earth just after noon Monday.

"There is absolutely no decrease in their alertness. They are in excellent condition," the mission control center at Houston reported. The Gemini 4 spacecraft was reported performing exceptionally well.

McDivitt reported a slight dryness in the throat as a result of the pure oxygen atmosphere in the cabin, but that was expected. Eye irritation, which the astronauts reported earlier because of the oxygen had cleared up.

ONE COMPLAINT

McDivitt had one complaint. He said he wasn't getting enough exercise and asked the ground control if he could use a stretch cord more often to stimulate his leg, arm and back muscles.

★ ★ ★

He was given the okay.

"We're in good shape up here," command pilot McDivitt reported to the ground this morning. He added, however, that he was a "trifle weary" and during the night he had his best sleep yet.

White, who provided the main excitement of the planned four-day flight by taking a 20 minute excursion in space Thursday, was asleep at the time the report was made.

★ ★ ★

John Hodge, a mission control center flight director, reported this morning that the astronauts spent a "very uneventful night. We did what we were supposed

Ohio Girl Is Miss U.S.A.; Once Wanted to Be a Nun

Statuesque Sue Ann Downey, 20, of Columbus, Ohio, won the crown last night over 14 other finalists in the field of 47 and will represent this country in next month's Miss Universe pageant.

Michigan's entry in the contest, Susan Pill of 2401 E. Hammond Lake, who was a semi-finalist, failed to place among the five finalists. Miss Pill was Pontiac's Junior Miss, Romeo's Peach Queen and Miss Michigan State Fair in 1963.

First runner-up, and Sue's stand-in, is Jane Nelson, who as a voice major at Arizona State University represented that state. She lives in Tularosa, N.M., and was a finalist in last fall's Miss America Pageant as Miss New Mexico.

Judy Baldwin of Clovis, N.M., was second runner-up. The youngest entrant, Julie Andrus, 18, of Mayfield, Ky., was third. Blonde Dianna Batts, a secretary at the Pentagon in Washington from Falls Church, Va., was fourth.

★ ★ ★

"I'm elated. I don't believe it. It seems so, so impossible," said the shapely 35-24-35, 5-foot-8 Ohio State University coed. "It's the most marvelous thing that has ever happened to me."

She won $5,000 in cash, a $5,000 personal appearance contract, and a mink coat, among other prizes.

"This is — well, it's beyond dreams. When I was a child, I wanted to be a nun. Now most important to me is being a good wife and mother."

Give OAS Aid Voice —Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators have expressed mixed reaction to Sen. J. W. Fulbright's proposal to assign the Organization of American States a major voice in channeling U.S. Military assistance to Latin America.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, offered the proposal as an amendment to the two-year, $3.35-billion annual foreign aid authorization bill on which the Senate will resume debate Monday.

It would require that the $55 million available for military assistance to Latin-American countries be furnished to the maximum extent feasible according to joint plans approved by the OAS.

This would include plans dealing with internal security defense.

In addition, it would authorize the use of up to $25 million of the funds for an inter-American military force under OAS control.

ADMINISTRATION SILENT

There was no immediate reaction from the administration, but Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., a senior member of Fulbright's committee, said he thought the amendment "has a great deal of good in it."

"I like the idea," Sen. Hohn Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said in a separate interview.

Johnson Urges Drive to Bring True Equality

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has called for a new civil rights effort to achieve true equality for the American Negro — "not just equality as a right and a theory."

Johnson, delivering the commencement address last night at predominantly Negro Howard University, said the great majority of Negro Americans "still are another nation."

"Despite the court orders and the laws, the victories and speeches for them the walls are rising and the gulf is widening," the President said.

Citing statistics on employment and income to show that Negroes, in some ways, are faring worse today than 5 or 10 years ago, Johnson said this represented an "American failure."

The President, who took the occasion to announce plans for a special White House conference next fall to explore such problems, said:

"It is not enough to open the gates of opportunity. All our citizens must have the ability to walk through those gates.

MORE PROFOUND

"This is the next and the more profound stage of the battle for civil rights.

"We seek not just freedom but opportunity — not just legal equity but human ability — not just equality as a right and a theory, but equality as a fact and a result."

Johnson, applauded frequently, spoke of seeking justice for the Negro and said:

"I pledge this will be a chief goal of my administration, and of my program next year, and in years to come. I hope it will be part of the program of all America."

Move Likely to Be Blocked

California Senate Divides State

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— California's embattled Senate, fighting reapportionment like the '49ers beat off gold mining claim jumpers, has acted to split the nation's most populous state in two.

★ ★ ★

But the State Assembly, Gov. Edmund G. Brown — and maybe the Congress of the United States — all appeared ready to head the move off at the pass.

Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, a Republican from the San Francisco Bay area community of San Mateo, offered his plan as an answer to a federal court order for the rural-dominated Senate to reapportion itself by July 1.

A northern Californian, Dolwig reacted in anger, frontier fashion to an order that would turn the legislative upper house over to populous counties — particularly those in the southern part of the state.

But the Assembly, dominated by Southern California, was certain to turn the plan down.

MOVE BLASTED

"We're one state, one California," snapped Assemblyman Don Allen, D - Los Angeles, whose assembly committee would have to approve the legislation.

Gov. Brown has spoken similarly in the past.

The Senate voted 27-12 last night for a constitutional amendment dividing the state at the Techachapi Mountains. A 22-16 vote sent a companion bill to the Assembly. Pending is a resolution asking Congress to approve the separation.

★ ★ ★

The southern state would have a population of 10.3 million — the third largest in the nation. It would consist of Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial counties.

Victims Shot in Back During Bank Holdup

Large Posse Presses Search for Robber in Nebraska, Colorado

BIG SPRINGS, Neb. (AP) —Scores of peace officers prowled over muddy roads in a slow, steady rain today seeking some trace of the icy-calm killer who shot four bank employes in the back yesterday, killing three and wounding the fourth.

Road blocks were removed after the state patrol and sheriffs' officers completed a house-by-house, farm-by-farm search of a wide area in western Nebraska and eastern Colorado, but the huge posse continued to check out leads, none of them fruitful.

★ ★ ★

Rain started about 4 p.m. yesterday, dumping about 3½ inches on the area and turning many side roads into muddy trails. The rains continued today.

Planes which were used at the start of the manhunt were grounded by rain and poor visibility today.

There was still no trace of the killer.

Troy Firm Had Part in Gemini 4 Launch

An area business firm played an integral part in launching the epic Gemini 4 space flight Thursday.

Sperry Rand Corp's. Vickers, Inc. Division furnished two hydraulic motor pumps on the Titan II booster that put James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White into orbit.

Both motor pumps are among the 54 components named as "critical" to the success of the mission by The Martin Co.'s Denver Division that builds the Gemini booster.

Martin's "critical parts" program was set up after long and careful evaluation of the great number of components that make up the launch vehicle.

Each part so designated was then marked for special procedures and handling, from its manufacture right on through its installation on the booster.

At Denver, for instance, each part marked with the red-lettered "CRITICAL PART" sticker or tag undergoes special inspection procedures, is kept in locked storage and moved in locked carts; it may be handled only by a limited number of trained personnel.

Vickers motor pumps on the Titan II-Gemini launch vehicle are used for the vital pre-flight check-out operations that determine whether all systems are "go."

"CRITICAL PART"—A technician installs a Vickers motor pump on the second stage of the Titan II launch vehicle. A second motor pump is also used on the first stage of the booster. Both are used in vital preflight check-out of the vehicle's operating systems.

Golfer's Ace Is Fourth in Tournament History

GRAND BLANC — Archie Dadian, 31, of Milwaukee picked up the first piece of loot in the $100,000 Buick Open purse today after rapping his three-wood tee shot into the cup on the 204-yard third hole at Warwick Hills for a hole-in-one.

Dadian's ace, the sixth one on the pro golf tour this season, brought him a 1965 Buick Riviera, valued at $5,800. The hole-in-one was the fourth in Buick Open History.

Dadian began the day nine strokes off the lead. The third round of the 72-hole tournament began this morning with Julius Boros holding a two-stroke edge over the 72-man field with a five-under-par 139.

Defending champion Tony Lema pulled even with Boros when he birdied the second hole after Boros had bogyed the first. Lema teed off at 12:10 p.m. with Miller Barber and George Archer.

Sense Trouble in Sudan City

CAIRO (AP) — Unconfirmed reports reaching here today said Khartoum Airport was closed down and trouble appeared to be brewing in the capital of Sudan.

Cairo Airport said it lost radio communication with the airport at Khartoum. Airport officials noted the loss of radio contact could be due to a strike rather than political tension, however.

Word of the airport closing reached here after reports from the Sudan that four army officers, including one general, had been arrested there in an alleged attempt to stage a coup d'etat.

Unconfirmed reports said the authorities had seized a supply of arms designed for a coup and more arrests were expected.

NO TELEPHONES

Telephone communication between Cairo and Khartoum also was reported out of order but this is a fairly regular occurrence.

A story from Khartoum Friday said the caretaker regime of Premier Sir el Khatim el Khalifa had resigned to make way for a new government but was asked to stay on until next Tuesday by the State Supreme Council.

Sudan's first constituent assembly meets then. The dispatch said the Umma — Nation — party and the National United party were expected at that time to form a coalition government.

Earlier this year, Khalifa tried to solve a political crisis by forming a cabinet with Communist participation. He was balked by the Nation, the National United and the Moslem Brothers parties, all on the right.

Trailer Park Action Slated in Waterford

Waterford Township Board members Monday night will decide whether to rezone a 40-acre parcel on Pontiac Lake Road west of Airport for a trailer park.

The controversial matter is expected to draw a large group to the meeting.

Rezoning from single family residential to residential trailer park is sought.

Also up for rezoning consideration at the meeting is a parcel on Hatchery from commercial to manufacturing, and the proposed Lake Oakland Shores subdivision from recreational to single family residential.

★ ★ ★

In other action Monday, the board will act on a proposed amendment to the township carnival ordinance that would specify mechanical inspection of carnival rides.

A public hearing on a proposed special assessment street lighting district at VanCampen and Seeden is slated for 7:30.

Hodge said the astronauts appeared to be as alert as if they had only been in space for five minutes instead of more than 47 hours.

He reported spacecraft conditions were excellent and there was nothing in sight that could cause an early termination of the mission.

Hodge said he was impressed with the "enthusiasm and the awareness and awakeness with which they're answering questions on what they're doing and how they're doing it."

S. Viet Troops Strike Back With Aid of U.S. Copters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government forces, badly battered by Viet Cong ambushes in recent days, struck back with the aid of armed U.S. helicopters and claimed today they killed 48 Communist guerrillas in a single action Friday.

Six Reds were captured and eight others taken as suspects in the operation near Vinh Long, 55 miles southwest of Saigon. Vietnamese units continued to comb the area Saturday with the support o armored and artillery units.

Four government soldiers reportedly were killed and four others were wounded along with a U.S. Army adviser in Friday's clash. The adviser was struck in the left arm by hand grenade fragments. He was not injured seriously.

NOT AS FORTUNATE

Government forces were not as fortunate in another engagement Friday. They reportedly killed five Viet Cong, but suffered 18 dead, 2 wounded and 32 missing themselves after a Communist battalion attacked three hamlets 265 miles northeast of Saigon.

This brought to 299 the toll of government forces killed, wounded or missing in action in the last three days.

The high toll and pronouncements by a high U.S. military spokesman and a Communist Chinese propaganda organ underscored that the long awaited Viet Cong monsoon offensive had begun.

The shop is owned by Donald Hicks of 7689 Detroit, Commerce Township.

The fire started in a can of thinner, while three workers were in the building.

Bank Suspect Wants Lawyer Prior to Plea

A 47-year-old maid, charged with holding up a Grand Rapids bank May 25, has appeared in Federal Court to request a court-appointed attorney before entering a plea.

Hazel V. Foster was arrested at the Commerce Township home, where she worked as a housekeeper, less than 24 hours after the holdup of the Burton Heights branch of Central Bank.

Charged with the holdup by the FBI and the district attorney's office, Mrs. Foster appeared before Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr in Grand Rapids.

She requested that the court appoint an attorney for her. She is under $10,000 bond pending her arraignment at a later date.

Mrs. Foster also faces a federal charge in Detroit of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with a bad check charge.

Heads Quiz on Killing of Louisiana Negro

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Six bullets were fired Friday night into the home of a chief investigator of the terrorist murder of a Negro deputy sheriff.

★ ★ ★

The unknown gunner, shooting from a car as it swung around a circular drive in front of the house, put two bullets within a few feet of Chief Deputy Doyle Holliday and his wife.

★ ★ ★

Holliday, who heads the Bogalusa branch of the Washington Parish Sheriff's Department, raced from the house and emptied his revolver at the fleeing auto.

"Perhaps one of the shots did some damage but I am not sure," said Holliday, who is white.

AT 11 P.M.

It happened at about 11 p.m. Holliday had just arrived home after a long day of helping direct the search for evidence in the O'Neal Moore murder case.

The deputy, who lives about seven miles west of here, declined to speculate on why the shots were fired into his home. Roadblocks thrown up in the area immediately after the shooting were later taken down.

★ ★ ★

State and FBI agents made plaster casts of the tire tracks in the driveway and extracted bullets for laboratory examination.

Fifty state troopers, dozens of FBI agents and local officers were concentrated on seeking evidence in the killing of Deputy Moore, the first Negro deputy ever hired by the department.

SHOT IN HEAD

Moore was shot in the head with a high-powered rifle Wednesday night as he drove a squad car along a highway, seven miles north of Bogalusa.

His squad car partner, Deputy Creed Rogers, also a Negro, was wounded by a buckshot blast.

Civil rights leaders in Bogalusa said picketing of downtown stores would continue. The picket lines, which have come under attack by white men several times, back equal job opportunity demands.

Bogalusa has seen intermittent racial turmoil since a drive opened for desegregation of public facilities.

SAW ATTACK

A high school football coach, D. R. (Scrappy) Fornea of nearby Varnado, disclosed that he saw the nightrider attack in which Moore was slain.

It was believed that at least three men were involved in the attack, made from a pickup truck. One white man —Ernest R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa — has been charged with murder.

Fornea, coach at Varnado High, said he had just moved his car into his garage for the night and was standing outside in his bare feet when he saw the squad car, trailed by a pickup truck, pass by.

"The first shot was a real bang," he said. "It sounded greater than an M1" (an Army rifle).

Fornea said there was a flurry of shots, he could not say how many. The squad car veered off the pavement and rammed a tree. The coach ran to the scene.

Hubert Says LBJ Keeps Him Posted

By JACK BELL

Humphrey disclosed some of the details of this relationship in an interview in which he said he believes that if he ever should be projected into the presidency he would be fully informed on every aspect of national policy.

"I think the people of America have the right to expect of their vice president that he be fully informed, that there be no surprises that can come to him or any information that he didn't know about," Humphrey said. "I try to fulfill that obligation."

The vice president said Johnson designated members of the Cabinet to keep him informed on foreign and national security matters. He added he has had "wholehearted cooperation" on that score.

TEAMWORK

He said Johnson designated him as coordinator on legislative measures and notified Cabinet members to work through the vice president.

This goes beyond the role Johnson himself filled as a vice president. Johnson said in an April 1963 interview that he participated in legislative matters "only to the extent that the President requests me to, and that the leaders may desire me to."

In this job, Humphrey said he prepares a weekly written report for the President on the status of every piece of administration legislation. This sets forth the number of hearings held, who has testified on the particular measure, what the trend of the testimony was and "Who do I need to talk to to get it out of the full committee, if there's any delay."

Library Gift Fund Drive Is Over $11,000 Mark

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The $11,000 mark has been topped in the Bloomfield Township Public Library gift fund drive.

The library opened Oct. 20, 1964, in temporary quarters at the Chateau Devon Building near the southwest corner of Long Lake and Telegraph.

With those added through the fund drive, the book collection at the library now totals approximately 19,000 volumes, including books owned by the library and those on long-term loan from the Michigan State Library.

COST $5 EACH

Mrs. Roehm noted that with the cost of the cataloging and processing; new books for general circulation average out to about $5 each.

"Reference books, scientific and technical items and many art books cost far more," she said.

It is the latter category of expensive books that the fund drive is helping the library to acquire.

As a result of the gift program, the library has been able to buy several juvenile and adult encyclopedia sets, many atlases and gazetteers, a variety of biographical reference books and a number of volumes on art, interior design and architecture.

No Senate Bid, Says Williams

Denies Story in Dems' Official Publication

WASHINGTON (AP)— Former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams denied yesterday that he plans to run for the U.S. Senate seat of Democrat Patrick V. McNamara in 1966.

The report came from "The Democrat," official publication of the Democratic National Committee.

The newspaper said Williams had "announced his intent" to run for Senate in 1966.

"There is no basis in fact" for the statement, said Williams in a letter to National Democratic Chairman John W. Bailey.

★ ★ ★

Now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, Williams added: "As a matter of fact I have no specific plans for next year beyond continuing in my present post except I have repeatedly said I would not be a candidate against Sen. Patrick McNamara, whom I wholeheartedly support."

DECLINED COMMENT

McNamara's office declined comment. The senator has said he would seek reelection.

A spokesman for the Democratic publication said the "candidacy" of Williams "was a mistake, and we'll correct it in the next issue."

3 Incumbents Implicated

Court Scandal Deepens in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —A weary old man— a former member of the Oklahoma Supreme Court—stunned a federal court Friday by implicating three present members of the high state court in a bribery scandal.

The witness, N.S. Corn, 81 and in failing health, testified at the perjury trial of former Oklahoma City Mayor O. A. Cargill Sr., 80, that Cargill helped for 20 years to finance his election campaigns in return for his vote on the high court.

Corn, who at one point told presiding Dist. Court Judge Roy W. Harper, St. Louis, "I violated my oath and I ruined myself completely, disgraced my family, disappointed my friends," said Cargill told him that five other justices on the nine-member court also had been "taken care of."

He identified them as Chief Justice Harry L. S. Halley, Denver Davison and W. H. Blackbird, and two former members of the court, Earl Welch and N. B. Johnson.

WAS REMOVED

Welch resigned from the bench after being convicted of income tax evasion. Johnson was removed by the Senate on charges of accepting bribes.

Cargill is accused of lying to a federal grand jury when he said he did not know of bribes paid to the Supreme Court.

★

Corn appeared near exhaustion at the end of five hours on the stand. For four hours he was cross-examined by chief defense counsel Percy Foreman, Houston, Tex.

Foreman brought out that in 12 cases involving Cargill before the Supreme Court that Corn did not vote for Cargill's clients in all instances.

'DIDN'T CALL ME'

"He didn't call me on those cases, or he called me and told me that he had the same kind of a deal with the other side and I voted the way I wanted to," Corn replied.

Corn said he meant attorneys opposing Cargill when he said "the other side."

The aging ex-justice, who last December completed five months of an 18-month federal prison term for income tax evasion, said Cargill paid him $4,500 while he was on the bench.

Earlier in the trial, which will resume Monday, Hugh Carroll testified he had paid Corn $150,000 to see that Carroll's firm, Selected Investments Corp., received favorable decisions. Corn said he paid $7,500 each to Welch and Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Corn said he kept the residue of the money from Carroll in an office filing cabinet, at home in a buried fruit jar and in an old pair of shoes in a municipal golf club locker.

Where Saving Is A Habit

Says Public Is Misled by Romney

LANSING (UPI) — State Sen. Edward J. Robinson, D-Dearborn, yesterday accused Gov. George Romney of "misleading the people of Michigan" by his budget.

"To pass Gov. Romney's budget at the $788-million level would be irresponsible and perhaps illegal," Robinson said, "because he has completely failed to meet the accurate costs of performing state services at an adequate level for the next fiscal year."

Robinson's reaction came after hints Romney might veto items in the appropriations bills that already provide for expenditures of $58 million over Romney's recommendations.

Robinson said the recommendations were a "long way from meeting the needs of the state."

★ ★ ★

Robinson also pointed to two 19th century Michigan Supreme Court decisions that held accumulation of tax funds for the future to be "contrary to our system."

BIG SURPLUS

"These rulings of 1878 and 1886 held that governments do not exist to create surpluses and if a surplus does exist, the government should either cut taxes or increase services," Robinson said.

Romney experts estimate the state will have about a $120 million surplus by the close of the fiscal year June 30.

"I agree with the governor's contention that the proposed level of spending would wipe out the surplus in fiscal 1966-67, but I strongly disagree with his demand for immediate tax reform to maintain fiscal integrity.

★ ★ ★

"A hurried tax program would not be in the best interests of fiscal integrity and responsibility," he said.

A Junior Editors Quiz About CROCODILIANS

QUESTION: What is the difference between an alligator and a crocodile?

ANSWER: If there was such a thing as an ugliness contest between an alligator and a crocodile, as our artist has imagined, Billy, the little judge, would be justified in calling it a draw. They belong to that group of reptiles called "crocodilians."

Their ancestry goes very far back. They are relatives of the ancient dinosaurs. It is interesting to speculate why these creatures, who like to swim in warm, sluggish rivers and marshes, survived, while the active land-roving dinosaurs became completely extinct.

Perhaps the crocodilians managed to move to warmer waters as the climate grew colder, for they are only found in tropical or subtropical climates.

The American crocodile is also smaller and more agile than the American alligator and prefers more brackish water.

Both are vicious animals, but are not regarded as being as dangerous to man as are the larger crocodilians of Africa and Asia.

State Airman Among Dead in Plane Crash

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP) — Lt. Anthony Scheriff of Escanaba, Mich., has been identified as the copilot of an Air Force plane which crashed near Walker Air Force Base Thursday night, killing all five crew members.

State Allocated Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan was allocated $303,662 in federal funds Friday for development of outdoor recreation facilities. The grant, announced by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, requires matching funds. It was the first allocation under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act.

Evacuation at Dunkirk Is Marked

DUNKIRK, France (AP) — Bagpipes whined through the streets of this once destroyed city today as nearly 300 British veterans marched to the beaches, scene of their evacuation 25 years ago.

★ ★ ★

The First Royal Scots band led the parade on the second day of ceremonies marking the 25th anniversary of the rescue of the 350,000-man British Expeditionary Force by 1,000 small British boats in World War II.

About 20 of the original vessels, which made an anniversary crossing yesterday, sailed past the beach of officials laid wreaths at a war memorial.

WOMAN WEEPS

From one window, an aged French woman drew back the curtains and wept.

Through the reconstructed city, which was ablaze 25 years ago, the veterans marched over the canal to the nearest stretch of beach where low tide revealed the remains of a ship which did not return home 25 years ago.

Along the beach-side walk they went, past gaily painted beach cabins, to the simply memorial to the heroes of 1940. Many British families followed along, gathering around the memorial for ceremonies in the presence of the mayors of Dunkirk, Dover and Ramsgate, high military officers and other officials.

Orbiter Walks on Air to Thrill Americans

With their planned four-day history-making excursion into outer space more than half completed, Astronauts EDWARD WHITE and JAMES MCDIVITT have already covered themselves with glory.

In the lighthearted manner of one walking his dog, Maj. WHITE left the Gemini 4 and trod space for 20 minutes, the while indulging in special small talk with his co-voyager.

But that was just the icing on the interstellar cake that reflected the astounding progress of a methodically-paced program of space exploration on the part of American scientists, technicians and astronauts.

It has dramatically erased the edge in space technology and performance that from the outset the Russians have held over the United States.

★ ★ ★

We salute the intrepid pair of spacemen on their magnificent feat and all who had a hand in making it possible.

Variety Spice of Life for Seasoned Shoppers

Want to buy a toothbrush? Simple? Bah!

What KIND of toothbrush?

Straight, angle or curved?

Or, let's say you need an automobile tire.

Nylon, rayon or polyester?

Two-ply, four-ply or radial-ply?

Regular tread, rain tread or snow tread? Or spiked?

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

And so it goes — cars, shirts, floor wax, soup, detergents or bread. You name it, they complicate it.

Like the guy said as he sorted big and little potatoes — it ain't the work, it's the decisions.

Industry Casts Cash as Bait for Top Grads

This no longer necessarily means that he's a baseball bonus baby. He can now be a college senior with nothing more to offer than mere academic excellence, above-average intelligence and the good judgment to have chosen a field that is valuable to business and industry.

If he has these simple requirements, he can be sure that industry is knocking at the campus gates to sign him up.

To make the transaction attractive to the grade A college grad, industry is using practical bait — money. And more of it than ever before.

While the financial inducements offered the standout business prospect are not in the same league with the fantastic contracts shoved at budding baseball stars, they are enough to cause the young man's dad to consider hanging himself for having been born as soon as he was.

★ ★ ★

Only one small cloud dims the sunshine of this happy economic climate. Personnel people report that now and then a young genius lets the brisk competition for his services go to his head as well as his pocketbook.

Don't let it, son. You'll be surprised how merely mortal you become if you don't deliver. And a big head is no help on the way to a big job.

Just be glad for the chance and do your best to prove the company was as smart as you are.

GOP Wrangling Over Battle Plan

BY WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans, anything but united during the 1964 presidential campaign, still are wrangling among themselves as they seek a battle plan for the 1966 congressional elections.

Striving to write a record and point up issues they can aim at the Democrats next year, Republican leaders are planning a series of declarations that will spell out the GOP position.

In effect, they will overhaul the party platform adopted 11 months ago at a national convention dominated by conservative allies of Barry Goldwater.

The Republican Coordinating Committee, an outfit of party leaders including Goldwater, already has set in motion a study of major problems facing the nation.

★ ★ ★

And now, a leading House Republican says there also will be a declaration of GOP principles next year from the party's members of Congress, at least those on his side of the Capitol.

ON TOP OF ISSUES

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin said it will seek to keep the platform on top of changing issues as Republicans prepare for the 1966 congressional elections.

But there is fresh evidence of GOP disagreement, not only on issues but on how best to dramatize them.

One sample came when House Republicans decided to send four of their number to Paris to seek the reasons for trouble in the Atlantic alliance.

★ ★ ★

That took Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen by surprise. He criticized the idea, saying foreign policy is President Johnson's affair. Later, Dirksen dropped his complaint and said he had no objection to a fact-finding mission.

TO REDEEMN PLEDGES

Another turned up when Republicans in the House issued a report declaring they have introduced legislation to redeem 45 of the 50 pledges made in the 1964 platform.

Laird said the 140 House Republicans expect no major legislative victories, but are writing a record for 1966 with the bills they sponsor.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York promptly took issue with the report, which was little more than a statistician's account of the number of the bills introduced by Republicans on subjects covered by the platform.

★ ★ ★

Speaking for himself and Rep. F. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts, Reid said he did not agree with parts of the platform, and took the same position on the report.

THREE OF TOPICS

Reid said civil rights, aid to education and foreign affairs were three of the topics he had in mind.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater often had said much the same thing, when liberal and moderate Republicans criticized his campaign views.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God." Matthew 5, 9

Since the goal of the United Nations is world peace and brotherhood, it has taken and will continue to take the power of many faiths to achieve and sustain it. Across the street from that imposing edifice is The Church Center of the United Nations, a visible witness that Christians are concerned and working for a world of love, justice and law.

Although the Methodists provided the impetus and initial financial support for acquiring the land and constructing the building, the center is interdenominational. It is used by all Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations for information and education on the Christian concern for world order.

Church groups and individuals from all over the world engage there in seminars and briefings, and to get to know other peoples from other cultures throughout the world. Between 15 and 20 thousand people participated last year. The Church Center offers service, information, fellowship and worship (in its Chapel on the first floor) to all who are dedicated to the establishment of a just and durable peace.

Days of All Faiths:

Goodness Differs From Holiness

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Some people are good; some are holy. There is a difference. You can be good without being holy. There are many agnostics, and even atheists, who keep the Ten Commandments, obey the civil laws and perform acts of charity and kindness. But you can't be holy without being good — although holy people think of themselves as being really very bad. St. Paul, for example, thought of himself being the chief of sinners (I Timothy 1:15) and said he was "wretched." (Romans vii:24)

The difference is in their standards. The man who is simply morally and ethically good measures himself by the requirements of human society. And it isn't too hard to live up to man's laws. In fact, most of us manage it fairly well. Most people have no criminal record. The world is full of what are called "nice guys."

But the holy man measures himself against the perfection of God, and although he is constantly being good and doing good, he knows that under God's blazing light the best he can be and do does not look like much.

St. Margaret, Queen of Scotland back in the 11th century, was a holy woman. She did many good things for the people of her country, for which she earned their gratitude. But behind all she did for them there was just Margaret herself, showing them what she could of God's concern for them, and that is what brought her their love and wonder. That is what made her a saint.

St. Andrew is the patron saint of Scotland, though he was not a Scot at all, and, in spite of legend, probably never even saw Scotland. St. Margaret was not Scottish either, but she did spend her life in Scotland and did much for the country. There would seem to be more reason why she should be the Scots' patron.

Margaret was born in Hungary in 1045, but she was the daughter of the rightful King of England, who had been overthrown by the famous Canute and forced to flee the country.

Canute died when Margaret was nine and her uncle, Edward the Confessor, became King. Since Edward had no heirs, everyone assumed that Margaret's little brother Edgar would be the next king, and Margaret and her brother and sister were brought back to England.

But things did not work out as expected. William the Conqueror invaded England and made himself king. So, for their safety, the royal family had to be secreted out of the country. By this time Margaret was twenty-one. Headed for France, they were driven northward by a storm and shipwrecked on the rocky shores of Scotland. And from here on the story is a happy one. Margaret married Malcolm, the Scottish King, and though they "lived happily ever after," that is certainly not the end of the tale.

Margaret lost no time in importing a Christian priest into pagan Scotland. Very shortly she had converted the King and had the nobility saying Christian prayers.

Religion as such was not, however, Margaret's only concern. She cared about the total life of her people. She taught tapestry-weaving to the ladies of the Court. She taught the noble ladies and gentlemen to eat from plates instead of from the bare table.

★ ★ ★

She started schools. She looked after the sick and the poor, and enlisted the Court ladies in the care of the wounded. She gave her own money and persuaded others to donate to the poor.

Because travel was so dangerous in those days, she built little groups of guest houses where wayfarers might spend their nights in the security of one another's company.

She paid the ransom for prisoners of war that were brought in and sent them home to their families.

Margaret may not be Scotland's patron, but it would be difficult to find another saint who ever did so much for the country.

On this day in history:

★ ★ ★

In 1950, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled unanimously that segregation practices in Southern railroad dining cars and in two Southern universities were invalid.

★ ★ ★

In 1963, British War Secretary John Profumo resigned after admitting he had lied to Parliament in denying "impropriety" with British call girl Christine Keeler.

Correction to Quotation of Franklin D. Roosevelt

Two recent letters quoted a statement by ex-President Roosevelt. According to the Chicago Tribune, Franklin Delano Roosevelt said in 1936, "And while I am speaking to you now, I promise you this: I have said it before, but I shall say it again and again, your sons will never be sent to fight on any foreign soil!"

★ ★ ★

This statement wasn't followed by any qualification, such as "unless we are attacked."

Comments on Urban Renewal Program

The Pontiac Urban Renewal Program continues or expands at "no cost" as they get additional credit for the some $2.8 million the taxpayers owe the County for the Clinton River Drain. This may all be free to the city bureaucrats but it is very costly for the taxpayers and citizens.

★ ★ ★

It would be interesting to see a comparative analysis of the "urban renewal" carried on by Pontiac Motors on the north side of the town as opposed to the government in the heart of the city. Pontiac Motors should be congratulated for a well-executed and progressive addition to the City's economy and plan, all done without government coercion, with profit to land owners, and no expense to taxpayers. For those who still believe in a free economy this is a good comparison of the results of private enterprise versus the effects of the coercive power of the government.

Says Aid Needs Proper Administration

The Anti-Poverty bill is necessary and would be fine if administered properly. If the statistics I read are correct, there won't be much of the money allotted for the program left to really help the poor people but there will be a lot of well-filled pockets among the administrators. There should be a law enacted to prohibit our elected officials from pressuring committees to hire friends and relatives to high-paying jobs with no regard to their ability or fitness. Some areas are making better use of their allotments by hiring people who would be recipients of aid.

Comments on Death of Detroit Citizen

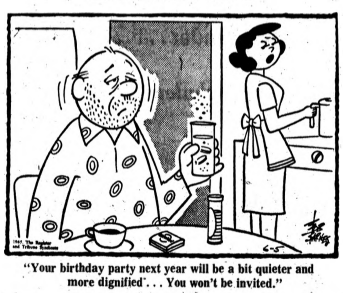

Recently a great American was relegated to the Detroit City Morgue freezer for ten days, although he had identification on him at the time and had prominent descendants within a stone's throw of where he was, including police officials.

Donald F. Peacock was Michigan Department Commander of Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War and was a GAR. He was acclaimed over the Nation. He was born, lived and died in Detroit, was Captain of the Salvation Army, etc. He dropped dead on the street. Think, taxpayer, what the future holds for you and yours.

Adlai Has Quip for Viet Coup

WASHINGTON (NEA) — To observers in Saigon, the recently attempted coup against the South Vietnamese government — quashed by Premier Phan Huy Quat before it even got started — was old hat stuff.

Elsewhere the reaction was pretty much the same.

"Let Saigons be Saigons."

Returning to the Senate after a ten-week convalescence from a lung operation, Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., was given a standing ovation by his colleagues.

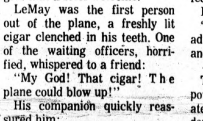

Minority leader Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., recalled that the last time he saw Russell was when the pair had adjoining rooms at Washington's Walter Reed Hospital.

"While we were there," said Dirksen, "we solved all the problems of the world. We not only discussed Medicare — we lived it."

★ ★ ★

Gen. Curtis LeMay, who recently retired as Air Force chief of staff, was respected by everyone at the Pentagon as a tough, dedicated soldier. Few people dared to question him.

On an overseas trip, LeMay once touched down at a western

LeMay was the first person out of the plane, a freshly lit cigar clenched in his teeth. One of the waiting officers, horrified, whispered to a friend:

"My God! That cigar! The plane could blow up!"

His companion quickly reassured him:

★ ★ ★

Things got rather badly entangled recently when White House press secretary George Reedy was laying down rules for reporters attending an important background briefing.

"You can only quote an 'administration source'," said Reedy. "This means you can't say that Mr. Blank (the real source) believes thus and so or regards the situation this way or that."

A reporter interjected:

"Can we write that an administration source says Mr. Blank feels thus and so?"

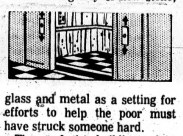

Replied Reedy:

"No, you can only say that an administration source feels thus and so."

★ ★ ★

The offices where the war on poverty is being fought are situated in a brand new building in downtown Washington.

The incongruity of new stone, glass and metal as a setting for efforts to help the poor must have struck someone hard.

Three of the building's four elevators are now lined with shabby, scarred plywood and wallboard and look like nothing so much as traveling shanties.

BIG SNIP — Nancy Switzer, 18, of Wichita, Kan., holds a 44-inch braid of hair she lost in her first haircut in 12 years. Nancy said long hair is a tradition in her family and that her father was against the snipping. She decided to have it cut because hair would be too much trouble at an upcoming summer camp.

Aid Walking Safety, Waterford Is Urged

In action aimed at providing greater walking safety for schoolchildren, the Waterford Township Board of Education has called for construction of two overpasses and installation of walkways in seven areas.

The proposed overpasses would be on Elizabeth Lake Road at Stringham School and on Scott Lake Road at Osage to serve pupils at Leggett and a new school planned on Bird.

Cost of the overpasses would be about $15,000 each to be shared equally by the school system and Waterford Township.

The proposal to build the over passes, as well as a school board request that the township begin installing walkways, will be referred to the Township Board for its consideration.

Gravel walkways are proposed in the following heavy traffic count areas:

Others are Scott Lake Road, Dixie to Elizabeth Lake Road; Elizabeth Lake Road, Roslyn to Stringham School; and Pontiac Lake Road, Alhi to M59.

In other business the school board authorized purchase of two lots adjacent to Covert School for a maximum price of $3,500 and approved the hiring of 16 new teachers.

It also went on record as favoring that Walled Lake Schools annex the Dublin School district in White Lake Township.

★ ★ ★

A committee formed by order of the State Department of Public Instruction is seeking opinions of adjoining school systems on how to upgrade districts such as Dublin, which lacks a high school.

DATA PROCESSING

The board also heard a report on the Waterford school system's data processing program from director Nicholas Menghini.

★ ★ ★

A total of 271 students will be enrolled in the program this fall, Menghini said.

Siamese Twins Weaken, Die in Texas Hospital

★ ★ ★

Surgeons had said earlier that both the 3-month-old sisters, Dulce and Ruth Pantaleon, could not survive an operation to separate them because they shared a five-chambered heart.

Until they weakened and died at Texas Children's Hospital, however, there had been hope they could live coupled together, joined from chest to abdomen.

★ ★ ★

They were the daughters of Silvio Pantaleon, a farmer, and his wife. The parents live in the village of Bayamon, near Fajardo in Puerto Rico.

Osteopath Reaffirms Stand on State Aid

Dr. Benjamin F. Dickinson of Pontiac, president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS), has reaffirmed his group's position on state aid for the proposed college of osteopathic medicine to be built here.

Dr. Dickinson, a practicing surgeon at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, said the professional association wants to make its position clear and that "we are seeking assistance from the state on the annual costs of operation and maintenance."

Senate Bill 681, which includes an amendment calling for the appropriation of state funds to study the proposed college is now under consideration in the House.

However, an earlier bill which would have provided state aid for operation and maintenance of the college was killed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

DICKINSON

Dr. Dickinson said that the osteopathic profession has committed itself to raising the funds required for construction, which he said is in the tradition of the profession.

CONTRIBUTIONS

"We have contributed millions of dollars over the years to build the osteopathic hospitals in the state," he said, "and the association now contributes over $150,000 annually to the training of osteopathic physicians in colleges out-of-state.

"We are not only proud of this tradition, but we are equally proud that through the establishment of this college we are giving to the people of this state needed medical facilities to train additional physicians and surgeons."

According to the U.S. surgeon general's report, Michigan needs no less than two additional medical schools to meet the health care needs of its people.

PROPORTIONATELY FEWER

Dr. Dickinson pointed out that with an increase in population, Michigan has proportionately fewer physicians today than it had 10 years ago, and that 58 of the state's 83 counties have fewer than one physician for every 1,000 people.

The national shortage of physicians, according to Dr. Dickinson, is being masked by the increasing numbers of foreign-trained physicians being licensed to practice.

"The shortage of family physicians is increasingly severe," Dr. Dickinson said.

TRADITIONAL ROLE

"On the other hand, the osteopathic profession traditionally has been one of family physicians, with more than 75 per cent of our membership practicing in this area.

"In addition, 50 per cent of all osteopathic physicians on the national level practice in communities of less than 25,000 people.

"All we ask is that the state assume the responsibility for the annual costs of operation and maintenance."

★ ★ ★

The MAOPS president stated that, in asking this, the profession is requesting less than any other medical college in Michigan and that it is seeking a portion of state appropriations that have been granted for many years to the training of other professions such as lawyers, engineers, architects, veterinarians, allopathic physicians, dentists and educators.

Kansas Crash Takes 7 Lives

ROSALIA, Kan. (AP) —Seven persons including five children, died Friday night in a two-car collision during a heavy rainstorm five miles east of this south central Kansas community, 35 miles east of Wichita.

The Kansas Highway Patrol identified the dead in one car as Lyle Edward Jackson of San Diego, Calif.; his wife, Bonnie, 25; and three sons, Mark, 2, Mike, 4½, and a 1-year-old boy.

Two children also died in the other car, Scott Dewell, 10, and his sister, Krista Ann Dewell, 1. Their parents, Dr. Halburt L. Dewell, 33, of Eureka, Kan., and his wife, Joyce, 33, were injured.

Injured and sole survivor in the Jackson car was Mrs. Jackson's mother, Vivian Propst.

PULLING TRAILER

The patrol said the Jackson car was pulling a trailer and was eastbound on U.S. 54 when it skidded sideways and was struck at the door on the driver's side by the Dewell car.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Color fatigue.

NEEDED: Bright red and bright yellow paper or cards, a white sheet of paper, and good daylight.

DO THIS: Look steadily at the red paper for two minutes, never taking your eyes away. Then look quickly at the white. The white paper will look bluish-green. Stare at the yellow paper the same way, then look at the white, and a blue color will be seen.

HERE'S WHY: One theory of color vision assumes there are three types of retinal cones in the eye. One type is very sensitive to red, one to green, one to blue. By staring at the red paper in bright light, the red sensitive cones become fatigued and do not function properly for some time. The white paper reflects all colors from its surface, but appears bluish-green because the red sensitive cones are tired.

A collection of the "Science or You" experiments is in book form and sold in better bookstores. It is called Science Circus.

Ike Is at West Point for Reunion

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has returned to the ancient bluff above the Hudson River, for a reunion of West Point's most famous group, the class of 1915.

The five-star general arrived Friday and embarks today on reunion ceremonies with 64 fellow-classmen who have shared in 50 years of war and peace.

★ ★ ★

Highlight of the reunion's first day for "the class the stars fell on" is a late afternoon cocktail party, followed by the alumni dinner and dance. The class appellation derives from the fact that 59 of the 164 graduates of 1915 became general officers.

The only other five-star general among them is Omar N. Bradley, also expected for the June Week reunion at the U.S. Military Academy.

Eisenhower's sojourn here will extend over Sunday, the 21st anniversary of World War II's D-Day landings in France, which he directed as supreme Allied commander on June 6.

Stage Star Has Role in New Series

Julie Harris to Be in Another TV Western

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Devotees of the theater hiked their eyebrows a few notches earlier this year when Julie Harris turned up playing in a television Western.

THOMAS

Last time it was "Rawhide." Now the distinguished star is in "Laredo," a new NBC series Thursday nights at 8:30, East and West. The show stars Neville Brand, Peter Brown, Phil Carey and William Smith as former outlaws who turn Texas Rangers in the 1870s.

* * *

"This is an interesting role for me, far different from the one I did on 'Rawhide'," explained Miss Harris. "So I don't think I'm going to get typed."

She has starred on television with such memorable performances as Queen Victoria and Florence Nightingale and in "Ethan Frome" and "Little Moon of Alban." All were live or on tape, and she has eschewed filmed television. Until now.

LIKES WESTERNS

The secret seems to be that she is nutty for Westerns. This is something that harks back to her childhood.

"Oh, I used to love to see Western movies," she recalled. "Henry Fonda, how great he was in 'My Darling Clementine.' And 'Ox Bow Incident.' Gary Cooper in 'The Plainsman.' 'Stage Coach.'

* * *

"And Errol Flynn!"

The thought of Errol Flynn sent her into rhapsodies.

"There was a Western he did — I can't even remember the name of it," she said. "Miriam Hopkins played a dance hall girl and her name was Julie. I saw the movie three or four times, just so I could have the thrill of hearing Erroll Flynn say, 'Julie'."

No chance of Julie hanging around to play in "Bonanza," "Gunsmoke," "The Virginian," and the rest of the television horse operas. She is returning to the East to prepare for her next play. It will be a musicalized "Dream Girl" to be produced by the sure-fire team of Feuer and Martin — "Guys and Dolls," "How to Succeed in Business," etc.

"I've been studying singing for the past five years," Miss Harris explained. "I've done songs in plays before, but this is the first time I've tackled a musical. I hope I'm up to it."

Maybe she can return and play a dance hall girl some day. That seems to be the only way Hollywood can lure her.

Man Is Bound Over in Fatal Tot-Beating

DETROIT (AP) — Albert Turner, 26 of Taylor Township was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court Friday on a charge of first-degree murder in the beating of a 2-year-old girl.

* * *

* * *

Turner and Miss Beckman were arrested May 28th in Bowling Green, Ky. The child was found slain in Taylor Township May 9.

Busy Building Houses Rebels

It is a narrow, glass-fronted building of reinforced concrete and aluminum trim in the heart of the commercial district, strung out along Calle — street — el Conde.

El Conde, or the count, starts at a large, palm-lined square called Independence Park and pokes a narrow, shop-lined corridor 11 blocks eastward to the Ozama River.

BLOODY DEMONSTRATIONS

The street has been the scene of numerous spectacular and bloody anti anyone-in-power demonstrations since dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo was gunned down four years ago.

You'd think any agitator in his right senses would select a long, broad avenue with many escape alternatives for his business — not a cattle chute, which, in times of trouble, is what El Conde resembles.

★ ★ ★

The predilection of Dominicans for this street is perhaps indicative of Dominican determination. Determination is high on the list of values one finds inside the Copello Building. It ranks with confusion.

★ ★ ★

The main entrance, a swinging panel of thick glass and aluminum, is guarded by several people in various types of civilian and semimilitary garb, all armed with carbines and rifles. A lasting impression is the number of people, even a few women, carrying rifles, carbines and revolvers.

SWEEP IN

Persons on all kinds of missions sweep in and up and down the five floors. The single elevator appears to operate on whim most of the time. Since it would seem unrevolutionary to use it, all but the aged walk. There are few of these about.

The old folks usually come to inquire about a missing relative or friend.

One ministry — the presidency — operates out of the Copello Building, but it sometimes seems the entire rebel constitutionalist government is based there. It isn't clear just how the rebels came upon this location.

★ ★ ★

As president of the constitutionalist regime, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, 32, has his offices on the fourth floor but is seldom there. He personally checks each one of the rebel command posts every day. He hustles from floor to floor carrying a carbine.

HAS TEMPER

Caamano's short, stocky 5 foot 9, 190-lb frame, almost always is draped in tan slacks and short-sleeved shirt. His hair is thinning. He also has a black moustache and a temper. He doesn't seem particularly relaxed in his job. His English is fair but he tries not to speak it. But when Hector Aristy, his top aide, slips on some translation, Caamano quietly corrects him.

Across town, amid more affluence and bureaucratic order, sits the other of the two Dominican governments — the civil-military junta.

The difference in the majority of the people in and around these governments — their appearance, age, outlook and attitude — is practically the story of the Dominican conflict and of possibly every Latin-American revolutionary movement.

Fundamentally, it is the story of the haves and the have-nots, in the old and the young, the contented and the restless — with the usually abundant exceptions where the characters one would expect to find in one cast are in the other.

'Born Yesterday' Star in Hospital, Lawyer Reveals

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Judy Holliday, 41, star of "Born Yesterday," and "Bells Are Ringing," is in Mount Sinai Hospital, her attorney says.

★ ★ ★

Arnold R. Krakower, the attorney, said last night the blonde actress has been in the hospital since May 26. He would not discuss the nature of her illness.

★ ★ ★

She last appeared on the Broadway stage two years ago in "Hot Spot," a short-lived musical about the Peace Corps.

In 1960, she had to cancel her appearance in a stage biography of actress Laurette Taylor when she underwent surgery for a nonmalignant tumor of the throat.

Sukarno to Shun Birthday Limelight

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno said today he will go into hiding for two days to celebrate his birthday.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

"I will hide somewhere in Indonesia on Sunday and Monday," Sukarno said. He added he wants to avoid the public ceremonies that will be held for the occasion of his birthday.

★

During the past few years Sukarno had arranged to spend his birthday in a foreign country.

Ask Hopefuls to Air Views at Meeting

The eight candidates for a single four-year Waterford Township school board term at stake in the June 14 election have been invited to speak at Tuesday's meeting of the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC).

Candidates will have the opportunity to discuss their backgrounds and present views on school policy at the 8 p.m. meeting at Pierce Junior High School.

The incumbent, Frederick Poole, a 10-year veteran on the board, is not seeking re-election.

Another feature of Tuesday's meeting will be the showing of the film, "Mechanized Death," produced to promote safer driving conditions.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be the last held by the GWCC until September.

Annual Convention for State Barbers

★ ★ ★

Donald Sturdevant, 930 Tyrone, is convention chairman.

County Unit Allocates Tax Rates on Monday

The Oakland County Tax Allocation Board will meet Monday at 9 a.m. to set tax rates for the county, school districts and townships.

★ ★ ★

A preliminary apportionment of the total 15-mill allocation to the three governmental units was established May 17.

Hospital Unit Installs Chief

Robert DeCleere, controller of Pontiac General Hospital, has been installed as president of the Eastern Michigan Chapter, American Association of Hospital Accountants.

Other officers include Thomas J. Boyd Jr., Lakeside General Hospital, president-elect, and Sister Mary Charle., business manager of New Providence Hospital, secretary-treasurer.

The group has 150 members in 85 hospitals and health agencies in Oakland and four neighboring counties.

Garden Ceremony Unites Couple in New Jersey

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Their parents are the Abraham Lightdales of Jersey City, N.J. and the Donald H. Pulleyblanks of Motorway Drive.

A three-tired tulle veil complemented the bride's floor-length gown of embroidered white organdy. She carried white Shasta daisies and English ivy.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

On the esquire side, were Silvio Gaggi of Detroit, best man and the ushers, Milton Carney, New York City; Paul Weber, Gobles, Mich. and Bruce Pulleyblank.

The couple was graduated from the University of Michigan and will reside in Philadelphia where he is a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania.

Ellen Frances Lightdale, daughter of the Abraham Lightdales of Jersey City, N. J. and Ronald William Pulleyblank, son of the Donald H. Pulleyblanks of Motorway Drive, were wed recently in a garden setting at Mayfair Farms Inn, West Orange, N. J.

Mrs. C. Richard Kistner was installed for a two-year term as president of Kappa Chi Alpha sorority at a banquet, Wednesday, in K-Falls Restaurant.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Henke was appointed chairman for the children's picnic July 7 in Marshbanks Park.

Scholarship for School Aid

Mrs. Virginia Hereford, a school social worker for the Pontiac Board of Education, is one of 25 individuals in school, police and community work to receive a scholarship for summer study.

★ ★ ★

She will attend a workshop on human relations provided by the Edgar DeWitt Jones scholarship fund of the Detroit Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of this workshop from June 28 through July 23 is to provide intensive periods of study on methods and techniques that help meet and deal more effectively with problems of intergroup tensions.

Since the inauguration of this program, 591 scholarships have been given.

Pontiac Press Photo

Mrs. Orville Johnston, West Kennett Road and Mrs. Robert E. LaMar, Putnam Street are busy addressing invitations for Lincoln Junior High PTSA. The group is honoring assistant principal, Ralph S. Forman, at a reception Thursday from 7-9 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Cultural Aids Project Continues

They heard reports from other volunteers who have been working for a year on the one-to-one relationship with elementary school children.

★ ★ ★

There are 38 volunteers helping in various schools of the area.

NEED MORE

Many more volunteers are needed to implement this program which gives special help to youngsters in grade school.

In addition, the children are taken on trips and picnics. Mrs. A. J. Levin of Franklin entertained the group at a picnic on Monday. She is the originator of CAP in this area.

★ ★

★ ★

Anyone interested in becoming part of this program may contact Mrs. Levin or Mr. Van Koughnett. You need not be a teacher nor a college graduate.

No More Room!

Oakland University's Meadow Brook Ball has probably set an all-time international record.

Checks for $100 are being returned.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson's residence is one of the few private homes on the globe that can comfortably receive 400 or more guests at the same time with pleasant accommodations for everyone.

Now this has been taxed.

Proceeds from the Meadow Brook Ball go into scholarships and cochairmen Mrs. William T. Gossett and Mrs. R. J. Williams are currently in tears as they regretfully and sorrowfully send back good coin of the realm.

More than a dozen checks have been returned already and others will follow. Proceeds have passed the $45,000 mark.

Mrs. Wilson personally bears all the huge expenses of staffing the residence, while the William T. Gossetts and the Community National Bank pay the balance.

Newlyweds at Home

Returned from a northern honeymoon are the Michael Wallace Chisholms (Linda Irene Sundberg) who were wed recently in the First Baptist Church of Birmingham.

Their parents are the Kenneth Sundbergs and the Wallace Chisholms, all of Troy.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Lincoln Group Will Honor Ralph Forman

Lincoln Junior High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association will honor Ralph S. Forman at a reception Thursday evening.

Mr. Forman, assistant principal of the school for the past 13 years, is retiring. He has been at Lincoln for 23 years.

★ ★ ★

In addition to his teaching duties, Mr. Forman has been associated for more than 25 years with the Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council.

He has also done extensive work with the American Red Cross, Oakland County chapter. For the past five years he has been on the executive board.

It's Proper to Do This for Hostess

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I asked a young man (with the hostess's permission) to go with me to a party at her house. It was the first time the hostess had met him.

I of course introduced him to her and as other guests arrived, I introduced him to them.

I was told that it was the hostess's place to introduce guests in her house and that I should have let her do the "honors." Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A: No, you were quite right. In fact, unless your hostess is very adept at remembering names, it was quite likely that you saved her from the embarrassment of introducing a guest whose name she had forgotten.

EX-GOVERMENT OFFICIALS

Q: Is the title "The Honorable" a lifetime one once it has been bestowed on a man?

In the case of a former government official who, while in the service of the government, was addressed as "The Hon. John Doe," is he, after his return to private life, still correctly addressed as The Honorable, or is he addressed as Mr.?

A: High government officials are correctly addressed as The Honorable even after their return to private life.

★ ★ ★

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I sure get a kick out of your column. I don't suppose you really write all of it yourself. You probably have a staff of writers. And that picture of you is a lulu! How old is it? I'll bet you're a fat old maid taking out her frustrations by telling other people how to run their lives.

ABBY

You get a letter with just one side of the story and you hand out advice like you knew all the answers. I'm a 31-year-old bachelor. And if that's your picture, and it's not 20 years old, I might even ask you to marry me. (How would you like to live in Salt Lake City:)

WOODY

DEAR WOODY: I don't have any writers, so I'll take all the credit for what is printed here. (And all the blame, too.) I don't give advice, I express an opinion. To give advice one must know both sides, but I do the best I can with the facts I have, and if I am able to help, I'm happy.

The picture is mine, and it's comparatively recent. Salt Lake City would be fine with me, but I'm 15 years older than you, and very much married, so I won't hold you to your offer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 years old and just had the most bewildering proposal of marriage. He's a young man I've known a long time, but I never dreamed he was thinking of me as "wife material."

He said he would marry me if I got my nose fixed. Now, I do have a big nose, but I accepted it as part of me, and it goes with my face, so I never considered getting it fixed. Frankly, I don't think it would make that much difference. It's not as though my nose stands between men and my being a perfect beauty.

This young man would make good husband, but I wonder if I should take his proposal under consideration.

MISS S.

DEAR MISS S.: If your nose has never bothered you and you've never considered getting it "fixed", tell the young man that your nose goes where you go. And if he doesn't want you, nose and all, heaven knows he's not for you.

DEAR ABBY: Can you answer a few very simple questions for me? I am the mother of four children and this is very important to me. What is the correct definition of "common - law marriage"? Where is it recognized? What does "community property" mean? Is that the same all over?

Exactly what is the legal definition of "bigamy"? And finally, what does "extradite" mean? I thank you.

GETTING NERVOUS

DEAR GETTING: You don't need a dictionary — you need a lawyer. I suggest you get one immediately. It's his business to keep a confidence, so don't be afraid to tell him the truth.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Poor Dad," whose college freshman son borrows his neckties, to count his blessings. When sonny gets to his second year, he'll probably do his best to sever those "family ties" you advised him to strengthen.

My son, now a sophomore, wears a beard, seldom gets a haircut, dresses in jeans, sweaters and boots. And as a point of honor — NEVER wears a tie.

The day he borrows his Dad's ties will be the day we'll all sigh, "Thank heavens he's back to normal!

Orchestra Association Looks to the Future

Plans to enlarge the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra were discussed at the recent annual membership meeting.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. William Furlong of Silver Sands Drive opened their home for the meeting.

★ ★ ★

In keeping with its growth as an integral part of the community and to assure a sound future, the membership adopted a revised and more comprehensive constitution.

An innovation is the new family concert committee in addition to the Women's Association of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

During the 1965-66 season, there will be five regular evening concerts and two Sunday afternoon family concerts.

Dr. Duane Bigsby was re-elected president; Richard Zimmerman, first vice president; Mrs. Furlong, secretary and Ralph Strang, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

New members of the board of directors are Philip E. Rowston and Mrs. Joseph Bennett.

Dr. George Harkless is chairman of the board of directors.

Zeta Etas Close Year

Zeta Eta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority closed its club year at the installation dinner Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ferd Strohmeyer on Dill Road.

Taking office were Mrs. Jack Barker, president; Mrs. Clifford Wilcox, vice president; Mrs. Byron Barnes, recording secretary; Mrs. William J. Yates, corresponding secretary and Mrs. John Ward, treasurer.

A door and a window on one wall was the problem here, as it so often is. By marrying the two with fabric, one composition emerged which not only gave the room added height, but also made "wall space" for the love seat. The imaginative color scheme of amethyst and teal blue is carried out in fabrics of Celanese contemporary fibers, which are well suited to this tropical room because of their tolerance for sun and resistance to mildew. The Fortrel sheer used for the Austrian blinds is aptly named Gossamer and gently repeats the blues and lavenders of the valance the hangings.

In Decorating Room

Select Focal Point of Interest

NEW YORK — That basic rule of decorating — give a room a center of interest on which the eye can focus immediately — need not require the use of a large piece of furniture or a fireplace.

As ordinary a room feature as a window, an unusual wall, or even a simple built-in cabinet can become a focal point if the area has been treated with style and originality.

★ ★ ★

Too, such eye-catchers as an out-of-the-ordinary collection of glass, or a screen decorated with a collection of prints can lift a room straight out of the commonplace.

Add just a touch of ingenuity and a room can become the decorative fingerprint of its inhabitant's taste and personality.

NOT COSTLY

Such "individualisms" need not be costly. For example, to create architectural interest in a room of quite ordinary size and shape, one dweller hung three paneled wood doors, mounted floor to ceiling, behind a sofa.

★ ★ ★

The paneled moldings of the doors were painted a color to contrast with the wall. Pictures and wall light fixtures, hung in the paneled recesses, gave the room an architectural "lift."

★ ★ ★

The entire wall was built out a few inches to provide storage for television, books and even a folding game table while at the same time hiding the pedestrian window-radiator set-up. The fronts of the "cabinets" were inexpensive fruitwood shutters.

In another home, Decorator Paul Krauss created a gracious dining room in an area so tiny that the one possible focus of interest was the floor-to-ceiling window.

WOOL DRAPERIES

Wool, in an airy basket-weave pattern, was chosen by Decorator Krauss for the drapery fabric.

To add width and height — and drama — to the window, he "framed" the draperies in a lambrequin, covered with a green bamboo-patterned wallpaper.

The same green bamboo pattern, this time in a sheer cotton, was used for napkins at the table; the crisp cloth for the table was in butter yellow batiste.

★ ★

REPEAT PATTERN

Another device to create importance for a window is to repeat the pattern of a drapery fabric in other areas in the room.

James Childs Morse, New York decorator, recently made "repeats" into a stunning model room. Wall covering and drapery were of the same print, a bold traditional pattern.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Morse emphasized the print further by employing it as window shade cloth and as the upholstery for the sofa in the dramatic room.

Hot Chicken Salad Made Souffle Style

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Even in warm weather, hot foods are acceptable. This interesting luncheon dish is one that should be prepared ahead of time which makes it ideal for the busy homemaker and hostess.

★ ★ ★

It is another of the recipes submitted by volunteers in the last United Fund campaign. Mrs. Russell See is our cook today.

HOT CHICKEN SALAD SOUFFLE
By Mrs. Russell See

6 slices white bread
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup mayonnaise
3 beaten eggs
½ cup chopped green pepper (optional)
2 cups diced cooked chicken
½ cup chopped celery
dash of pepper
¾ teaspoon salt
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1½ cups milk

Trim crusts from remaining bread and arrange on top of chicken mixture. Beat eggs, add milk and pour over all.

Bride Elect Has a Party

Frosted doll cakes marked places for some 25 guests at a bridal shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Harold Boughner on Bataan Drive.

★ ★ ★

The honoree, Joan Carol Springer, is the daughter of the Howard A. Springers of Birmingham. Her fiance is Thomas J. Goddard, son of the Roscoe W. Goddards of Prairie Lawn Avenue.

Beautify Safety

If you apply non-skid strips to the bathtub as a precaution for the elderly, choose these for decorative appeal. Self-adhesive treads now come in a wide range of popular bathroom colors. The permanent kind stays put on the tub bottom through daily scrubbings.

Husband Changes Fast

Platonic Male, Worried

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE V-465: Opal R., aged 37, is the worried wife whose husband had suddenly become a drunkard and a reckless auto driver.

DR. CRANE

So she wanted me to have a visit with Walter, which I did.

Walter was evasive and belligerent at first, for platonic males are embarrassed to discuss their problem, even with us medics.

SYMPTOMS

However, Walter's "syndrome" (group of typical symptoms) was as apparent as the standard five symptoms of acute appendicitis.

★ ★ ★

All I had to do was bolster his ego a bit and then let him burst out with is confession.

"Dr. Crane," he admitted, "our marriage has been platonic for almost a year.

"And for a couple of years before that, I had difficulty becoming ardent with reference to my wife.

"That was one reason why I became such a devoted Boy Scout Master, for this kept me away from home many nights.

"And I could thus justify my lack of romantic ardor on the ground that the hikes with the boys had exhausted me.

★ ★ ★

"But after our two sons finished high school, I panicked. Lacking any solution, I finally consulted a genito-urinary specialist.

"He told me I was simply organically deficient so he started giving me hormones by hypodermic.

"But after three months, I was no better, so I just decided it was the end!

"And, Dr. Crane, that's a terrible frame of mind for a man to be in!

"So I'd fluctuate between periods of depression or moodiness in which I even considered swallowing a bottle of sleeping pills, followed by a desire to kill myself.

"Then I started drinking to get away from my problems—and also distract Opal's attention from my real difficulty.

"For I dreaded to tell her the truth, fearing she'd be disgusted with me.

"At times I figured, since I didn't have the nerve to swallow an overdose of the sleeping pills and check out that way, that I'd drive my car at breakneck speed, hoping a front tire would blow out.

"Then, if I was killed, I figured it would be fate. Dr. Crane, do you have any other solution?"

ANXIETY CAUSES IMPOTENCE

Fear is a product of the brain or cerebral cortex.

And in psychology we stress the axiom that you cannot cerebrate and emote at the same time without having one or the other of these opposing processes inhibit its rival.

As soon as a husband grows sacred about his erotic vigor, he begins to watch his behavior next time.

And you wives are largely to blame, for you dare not remain the passive partner in love-making, at least after you have been married 10 years!

A smart wife, as Opal proved to be, can banish impotence in her husband in one night, so send for the booklet "How to Prevent a Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Vangie Hare is ordinarily a Birmingham housewife. But in the St. Dunstan's performance of "Damn Yankees" she is Lola, the devil's little helper. "Damn Yankees" is being produced tonight, Sunday and Thursday through Saturday in the Greek Theater on Lone Pine Road. Tickets are available at Grinnell's in Birmingham.

Not a Nice Kitty

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Betty Schofield was awarded $5,000 here when she brought suit against a veterinarian on a charge that he returned to her someone else's cat instead of her own. She said the strange feline bit her twice.

Polly's Pointers

Don't Cut Corners

DEAR POLLY — When sewing, use a different color thread than used on the rest of the garment to re-enforce corners and curves. When clipping them you will not cut through that stitching.

I used to forget to save the labels needed to accompany coupons for special offers on various items. Now I remove the labels when I buy a can or box of anything and replace the manufacturer's label with my own home-made one so I am always prepared for these money-saving offers.

—Mrs. E. S. B.

DEAR POLLY — I wound my clothesline in an oblong shape, stuffed it in an old nylon stocking and tied the end of the stocking in a knot. I put this in the washer with my shag rugs and the line came out clean and free of tangles. Mrs. W. D.

DEAR POLLY — My husband has very broad shoulders and the shoulder line of his coats and jackets used to hang far over the edge of coat hangers, causing ridges to appear in the fabrics.

I solved this by using old newspapers to extend the proper length and breadth of the hanger. Fold a section of the newspaper in half lengthwise.

Place the hanger in the center of this paper with the top edge of the hanger (not the hook) even with the folded edge of the newspaper. Fold the paper over the wire to form a triangle and fasten with gummed tape. The newspaper may be covered with more decorative paper or fabric and be used for a long time.—

Mrs. E. M.

DEAR POLLY — I enjoy the Pointers and only wish I had time to use more of them. That may sound funny when so many are time savers, but my neighbors do not give me a chance to get my work done with or without the benefit of good hints.

One or the other of a group of them stop by for coffee as soon as their children are off to school and then they spend the morning. By the time I clear away the coffee cups it is time to start lunch for my little ones and the beds may be still unmade.

They all know I am at home so I have to answer the bell. If any of the other girls have had this problem I wish they would tell me what they did.

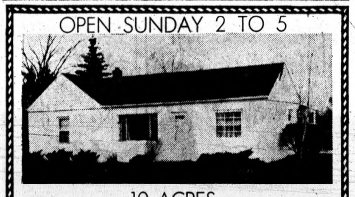

The Richard Chappells of Starr Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Mary, to Gary Lynn Norris, son of Mrs. Lyle Norris of Lansing and the late Mr. Norris. FACTS ABOUT PHARMACY
by HOWARD L. DELL
Your Neighborhood Pharmacist
TAKE AS DIRECTED
We were talking with our family physician the other day, and the subject of our conversation turned to the little labels you see on your prescription. "Sometimes I wonder," the doctor said, "if people know how important it is to follow those directions—particularly to take all the medication."
So often, he said, a patient will come to him for help, receive a prescription, have it filled by the pharmacist, take a little medicine, get some relief—and then let the bottle or box lie in the medicine cabinet. With a bacterial infection, this half-medication is not only false economy—it's asking for trouble. Just because you can't feel the pain any longer or see the inflammation doesn't mean that you have given you doctor's prescription a chance to do its full work for you. Infection can be deep-seated. Half-measures only give the infection time for a counter-attack.
Next time your pharmacist and physician team up to help you—get on the team yourself . . . follow their advice to the letter.

Some players just refuse to follow suit with an honor when they hold a low card in that suit. Once in a while this habit is going to cost a valuable trick.

JACOBY

If North and South had bid to three no trump or if West had opened a low diamond, there would be no story. Three no-trump is there in top cards but without the jack of diamonds opening South would have had no play for four hearts.

East won the first trick with his king of diamonds after the deuce was played from dummy and South automatically dropped his four spot. East returned a diamond and South won with his queen. Had South had just taken time to think, he would have dropped the queen of diamonds under East's king and eventually would have made two diamond tricks by the simple expedient of finessing against West's ten.

However, South had hung on to his queen and now there was no normal way to get to dummy's ace of diamonds.

South drew three rounds of trumps. West discarded the five of diamonds to tell his partner that South did not hold it.

South played his ace of spades and West gave the contract right back. He hung on to his king. South's next play was to cash the ace of clubs and then he led a second spade. West was in with the king and led out the king of clubs.

South recovered from his bad play at trick one. He decided that West did not hold any more spades and discarded one spade loser on the king of clubs, whereupon West had to lead to dummy in either diamonds or clubs and allow South to get rid of his other spade loser.

Drowns in State Lake

Chemical Blast Leaves Man Dead, Woman Hurt

WYANDOTTE (UPI)—A laboratory technician was killed and a janitress injured yesterday in an explosion which leveled the Pennsalt Chemicals Corp.'s East Plant which extends from the southern section of Wyandotte into Riverview.

The victim was Arthur Kryk, 39, Wyandotte. He was in the small one-story building used for testing ammonia samples at the time of the blast.

Nancy Zyjewski, 59, also of Wyandotte, was admitted to Wyandotte General Hospital with a back injury. Hospital spokesmen said she was in fair condition.

Mrs. Zyjewski also was in the ammonia testing building at the time of the blast, which police said was due to the seepage of hydrogen into the small laboratory.

SET FIRE

The explosion leveled the laboratory building and set fire to the adjoining corner of a two-story plant where ammonia is produced.

Kryk, a Pennsalt employe for 14 years, was dead on arrival at the hospital. He is survived by his wife, Donna, a 13-year-old daughter and an 8-year-old son.

Riverview Fire Chief Jack Shoup said ammonia fumes apparently had been leaking into the building and "something static or a spark, perhaps from the light switch, touched off the explosion."

Company officials said damage to their property amounted to less than $75,000.

ADMIRE AWARD PIN — Looking over the pins they received last night at the Pioneer Girls' 25th Anniversary Banquet and Encampment at First Baptist Church are Alice Vaught (left) of 1584 Stirling and Carol Minnich of 24 Lorraine. Carol was given her Wing Guide and Explorer appointments. Alice received her Wing Guide, Wing Counselor and Wing Explorer awards. These are the highest given to a Pioneer Girl.

Present Awards, Wing Appointments

Pioneer Girls Mark 25th Birthday

More than 100 girls and their pals attended the 25th Anniversary Banquet and Encampment for Pioneer Girls at First Baptist Church last night. Mrs. Arthur Luck, director of Pioneer Girls, presided.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Eugenia Stepleton brought the message on "Twenty-Five Years With Pioneer Girls." This included the history of the group at First Baptist.

Music was provided by a vocal trio composed of Sandra Clark, Janet Shaw and Cheryl Shelton.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of Wing Appointments to two Explorer girls. Florine Mansfield, Eastern Area Field representative for Pioneer Girls, presented the awards.

RECEIVE AWARDS

Alice and Carol are the second and third girls in the Pontiac area earning Wing appointments. Alice is the fourth girl in the United States to have earned all three. Carol is the 10th girl in the United States to have earned two Wing appointments.

Both girls are high school seniors. Alice attends Pontiac Northern and Carol, Pontiac Central. Carol is a member of the National Honor Society and Alice has been nominated for membership.

According to Mrs. Luck, girls must earn the Bronze, Silver and Gold Keys in order to be eligible for a Wing appointment.

To earn the Wing Explorer appointment it is necessary to complete at least 20 achievements. They must be earned in five majors.

★ ★ ★

A major consists of four or more achievements in the same field. The girl must earn one Bible major. The other four are determined by the girl.

★ ★ ★

The Wing Guide appointment is centered around leadership. A minimum of 18 achievements is necessary. Twelve in leadership and three in the Bible field are required, with the other four achievements elective.

WORK WITH JUNIORS

★ ★ ★

A term as counselor in training at Pioneer Girl Camp Cherith is required for the Wing Counselor appointment. Achievements for this honor include work in the leadership, arts, Bible and outdoor life groups.

The girl also must specialize in two of the five different fields — crafts, sports, water front, campcraft and nature. A minimum of 19 achievements is required.

To earn appointments Carol completed 40 achievements plus other requirements, and Alice completed 42 achievements and other requirements.

★ ★ ★

Foremost in all this work is that the girl show forth a vital Christian testimony, and a potential for leadership and Christian service, Mrs. Luck said.

★ ★ ★

Pioneer Girls, an organization in several Pontiac area churches, is similar to Girl Scouts with emphasis on Christian education along with crafts, sewing, cooking and memorizing Bible verses.

There are some 80,000 girls across the United States belonging to the organization.

MOVING IN — Holding services in the new building at Crescent Lake and Tubbs, Waterford Township are members of the Drayton congregation of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The building of contemporary architecture was designed by John H. Ross. Smith and Smith did the construction work. A covered entrance is at the side of the building. There are no steps to climb. Elder Dale C. Fishwild is pastor.

Members in New Building

The Drayton congregation of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints moved into the new church this week even though the interior is not completely finished.

* * *

It was just a year ago that ground was broken on the five-acre site at Crescent Lake and Tubbs, Waterford Township.

The exterior and portions of the interior are of rough textured gray-beige brick. The nave seating more than 250 is mostly paneled in pine with fruitwood finish.

* * *

A sky light symbolic of the revelation of God is above the chancel area. The south wall of the building, a part of youth fellowship hall, is of glass. This room will accommodate an additional 110 persons when doors are opened.

The educational wing housing the children's department is on the ground floor and the adult division on the second level, adjacent to the kitchen. The cry room and pastor's study are also on this floor.

The building site will provide ample room for parking, baseball diamond, recreation and picnic areas.

ORGANIZED IN 1956

The Drayton Mission was organized Jan. 8, 1956 with 78 charter members. The group was composed of people who attended the Pontiac church but live in the Waterford Township area.

* * *

Services were held in Williams Lake School for 11 months.

For the past seven years members have met in the Mc-Vittie School for worship. The present membership is over 200.

Sunday services begin with Sunday School at 9:15 a.m. Worship is at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Prayer service is at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

* * *

Men of the church have given evenings and Saturdays to work on the building.

The kitchen is still incomplete, tile needs to be laid, and pews purchased, but there's an air of peace and quiet in the simplicity of furnishings and color conducive to worship.

* * *

Elder Dale C. Fishwild, pastor, was assisted on the building committee by Vern Sumner, James MacDonald, Robert Coats, Fred Root and Roland Curtis.

* * *

Evangelist Eaton, a graduate of Northern Baptist Theological Seminary in Chicago, served as pastor of First Baptist Church in Three Rivers and Galilee Baptist Church in Seattle, Wash., before entering the field of evangelism.

* * *

He had also directed a youth program at Emmanuel Church. Special music is planned for every night at the tent services.

Confirmation Service Set for St. Paul

St. Paul Lutheran Church will observe the sacred festival of Pentecost by receiving 12 young people into communicant membership through the rite of confirmation

* * *

The ceremonies are the result of two years of intensive instruction in the teachings and traditions of the Lutheran Church.

* * *

Classes of instruction for young people are held on Saturday mornings from September to June, using Luther's Small Catechism for a text book.

The Senior Choir will enter the sancturary singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" as the processional. The young confirmands will follow and sit in the first two rows of pews in front of the pulpit.

Pastor Maurice Shackell will deliver the message, "What It means to be a Devout Christian." The young people will kneel under a floral arch to receive the confirmation blessing.

* * *

Pastor and Mrs. Shackell will visit the new confirmands and their families during the afternoon.

I want to be thoroughly used up when I die, for the harder I work, the more I live. Life is no brief candle for me. It is a sort of splendid torch which I have got hold of for the moment, and I want to make it burn as brightly as possible before handing it on to future generations. — George Bernard Shaw.

World Assembly to Meet June 22

How lay members can become more effective in Christian witness both in the church and in the world will be a central concern of the World Assembly of the Church of the Brethren when it convenes June 22 to 27 at Ocean Grove, N.J.

Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Blackwell of the local church, will join in the proceedings of the 179th recorded annual conference.

Moderator of the conference will be the Rev. Dr. A. Stauffer Curry of Elgin, Ill., denominational director of family life education and men's fellowship.

The Methodist camp meeting grounds along the Atlantic seaboard will be the site of the Brethren conference for the sixth time.

A peak attendance of 10,000 Brethren from local churches throughout the nation and from overseas is expected, Pastor Blackwell said.

I have been driven many times to my knees, by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. My own wisdom, and that of all about me seemed insufficient for that day.—Abraham Lincoln.

Legal Assistance Offered at Five Chicago Churches

At five churches in Greater Chicago, people with legal problems who cannot afford a lawyer are getting help.

With high commendation from the Chicago Bar Association, the Legal Advice Clinic, sponsored by the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, provides free of charge the advice and counsel of volunteer lawyers to all those asking assistance.

Since the program was initiated late last year, a total of 50 lawyers is participating and two new clinics are being planned.

Once a week, the facilities of the five churches in the city's depressed areas are available from 6:30 to 8 p.m. for interviews. Many people, says the report, involved in difficulties they don't understand, don't know where to turn.

When warranted, these clients — between five and ten each week — are referred to the proper authority. Individual appointments are often made for them and red tape cut for those who are easily baffled by bureaucracy.

REALLY CARE

In addition to the legal assistance to all requesting it, the clinics also fill "the need of a one who really cares about him person simply to talk to someand his difficulties," says the report.

★ ★ ★

For the volunteer lawyer, too, there is a need to "pierce social barriers and get to know people in other groups in the community while fulfilling their professional responsibility to see that every person receives proper legal advice regardless of his ability to pay for it."

John M. Ferren, Esq. is chairman of the council's Legal Advice Clinic Committee, which drew up the report.

Fresh Peace Team Trying for Settlement in Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The stalemated Dominican civil war marked its sixth week today with a fresh peace team of the Organization of American States trying to win a political settlement.

Six previous major efforts to negotiate an agreement ended in failure, including those by Washington, the OAS, the United Nations and the Vatican.

* * *

There were reports that the new, three-nation mission, authorized Wednesday by a special OAS conference, brought from Washington a plan for a swift OAS-supervised election. But OAS and U. S. government sources only would say that the election was one of a number of possible compromise solutions under consideration.

An OAS trusteeship followed by an election, and a coalition provisional government were other possibilities.

REJECTED FORMULA

The Dominican rebels already have rejected an election formula proposed by the civilian-military junta. The rebels demanded restoration of the 1963 constitution and creation of a new government before an election.

The new OAS peace effort was launched Friday when its commission met with Msgr. Emanuele Clarizio, the papal nuncio, and with U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett. The Vatican's representative was one of the first to attempt to mediate the conflict.

* * *

The remaining 2,000 U. S. Marines, of an original leatherneck force of 6,000, prepared, meanwhile, to leave the Dominican Republic over the weekend.

IN OAS FORCE

The rest of the U.S. force, 12,500 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division and 700 Air Force personnel, have been integrated into the newly formed inter-American force under formal control of the OAS.

* * *

At Santiago, a city about 100 miles north of the Dominican capital, informed sources said another OAS group, which is investigating alleged violations of human rights in the Dominican Republic, would visit Santiago, San Francisco de Maroris, Puerto Plata and Moca, all in the northern area.

Rebels have claimed that in these areas, soldiers loyal to the junta have repressed civilians favoring the rebels.

The inquiry by the Inter-American Committee on Human Rights was ordered by the OAS after Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, head of the rebel regime, charged junta forces with violations.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Ruben, Brache, the rebels' U.N. representative, said Friday he was forwarding to the organization the names and addresses of 800 persons he claimed the junta executed.

Movie Beauty Says Nudity Not All That Meets the Eye

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — In this nudity age, Mary Ann Mobley, the former Miss America, is getting ahead in movies by keeping her clothes on . . . she primly refuses even to pose in a swim suit.

WILSON

"But swim suit pictures are so tame now that they're considered prehistoric," I told Miss Mobley.

"That's all right with me," she retorted. "I never have posed in a swim suit. I had to appear in a swim suit at the 1958 Miss America Pageant . . . but Miss America never poses in a swim suit after she's been elected. That's the rule and I live up to it."

"Don't people keep telling you 'You've got to sex it up, baby'?" I asked.

"Yes, but MGM just gave me a new 5-year two-picture-a-year contract so maybe these people are wrong."

"But we should do one that's undressed for the European market."

"Why not surprise the Europeans?" she says. "If they're so accustomed to undressed pictures, it would be very intriguing for them to see a picture with no nudity at all."

* * *

Mary Ann, telling me this at the Hilton Hotel Kismet Lounge recently, just as she was taking off for the Cannes Film Festival—without a bikini!—said, "Another reason I don't do the cheesecake pictures is, I hate the word 'starlet' and that's about the quickest way for you to get that term applied to you."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

The screen credits for "The Great Race" include a dedication to Laurel and Hardy, idols of producer Blake Edwards . . . Though Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh have been divorced for years, her "Ship of Fools" contract was signed "Vivien Leigh Olivier."

Dixie Baptists Close Confab

Move to Moderation Sketched for Group

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

* * *

It sketched a freshly moderating course for the big, predominantly white Southern church body, revising some past positions, and projecting it more strongly into contemporary social concerns.

The convention signaled a shift from "reactionary, negative thinking and introspection to a fresh outlook and spirit," said Dr. Dehoney of Jackson, Tenn., newly elected to a second term.

PROGRESSIVE MATURITY

"The actions taken here indicate a progressive maturity among Southern Baptists as they face the challenges of a lost world and assume a greater responsibility for the great social issues which confront it."

On its final day, the assembly of a record 16,086 "messengers" added some tempering approaches to questions raised.

* * *

They rejected a motion to ban from Baptist bookstores a book by biblical scholar Ralph Elliott, "The Message of Genesis," which stirred a furor at their convention three years ago.

They turned down another proposal that they condemn the new federal aid-to-education program as a breach of church-state separation, despite oratorical appeals to Baptist sensitivities on the matter that they do so.

Rebel Hostages in Congo May Still Be Alive

LOEPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Hopes rose slightly Friday for about 50 rebel-held white hostages as Congolese troops hacked their way through jungle searching for them.

According to a number of reports received in Leopoldville in the last few days, there is no confirmation that the 50 or so remaining hostages have been slaughtered.

The hostages are the remainder of about 109 persons held by fleeing rebel warriors.

Forty-three have been reported massacred and 11 have been rescued.

While the mercenary-led government troops were inching slowly through the jungle, army reconnaissance planes were trying to spot rebel movements from the air.

Home Of Richard Straights On Bradway Boulevard, Bloomfield Township, Framed By Large Shade Trees

Paneled Family Room Once a Porch

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

"We enjoy our home," said Mrs. Richard O. Straight of Bradway Boulevard, Bloomfield Township, speaking of the charming gray two-story framed with towering shade trees.

★ ★ ★

Recently, with their family of four children, Jeff, 19, Sue, 17, and the twins, Bob and Janie, 11, growing up, the Straights felt the need for a family room so they enclosed and added to a porch adjoining the living room.

CHANGE PAINTINGS

"This way," said Mrs. Straight, "we can change the paintings to suit our mood and not put any nail holes in the paneling."

★ ★ ★

SERVING TABLE

Acting as a serving table is a burled black-walnut commode, a wedding gift from Mr. Straight's great - grandfather to his bride. The commode has a top and backsplash of red marble.

"Most of the pieces," said Mrs. Straight, "belonged to my grandmother or my husband's grandmother.

★ ★ ★

"I think the fun part of antiques is when they have actually belonged to someone in the family."

STYLIZED BUT DIFFERENT: While this contemporary ranch has the basic lines of other homes of its type, it gains individually from a number of exterior features, including a front-and-center chimney that also separates the dining room and living room.

HILLTOP REALTY

New and Used Homes

673-5234

FLOOR PLANS: Generous closet space is distributed throughout every part of this three-bedroom ranch house, meeting the constant demand from home owners for more and larger closets; there's even a closet in the covered rear porch.

Exterior Features Provide Ranch Home Individuality

The long, low, sleek lines of a contemporary ranch get the deluxe treatment in the latest House of the Week.

The basic plan of this house is rectangular, with a minimum of the jogs and offsets that add to building costs.

But note the exterior features that provide individuality.

There's a decorative chimney that gives character to the front of the house, yet serves the practical purposes of acting as a room divider and permitting a two-way fireplace for the dining room and the sunken living room.

There are plastic domes set into the roof over the dining room for a dramatic touch as well as light infiltration.

BLOCK GRILL

And there's a large roof overhang protecting the front entrance with 5' of cover.

★ ★ ★

From the foyer, one can move into any of these sections (the living room-dining room, three-bedroom wing or family room-kitchen-laundry, without crossing either of the other two.

One step down from the foyer is the living room.

It has a large bow window and the previously-mentioned fireplace set into the visible chimney.

★ ★ ★

FAMILY ROOM-KITCHEN

Straight ahead from the foyer is a combination family room-kitchen — 26' of open service and living space.

All of the women's conferences on housing have uncovered the requirement of having some family living going on during the food-preparation period.

★ ★ ★

Double sliding glass doors at this point lead to a rear terrace and give a full view of the garden or rear lawn.

On the other side is a breakfast area, then the kitchen appliances and then the excellent service arrangement.

★ ★ ★

Here are a covered porch and a closet, a laundry-mud room with a lavatory, a stairway to the basement and an entry to the garage.

THREE BEDROOMS

The master bedroom has its own bath, while the very large hall bathroom has a linen closet inside of it as well as outside.

Ever come out of a tub or shower soaking wet and find no towel in its accustomed place on a rod or rack?

★ ★ ★

That would not be a problem here—IF somebody remembers to keep clean towels in the inside closet. Having the two baths back to back, by the way, reduces plumbing costs.

And, in this case, the baths act as a sound buffer between the main bedroom and the family room.

The foyer and two closets perform the same function between the living room and the other bedrooms

★ ★ ★

There is no question that if you want the one-floor conveniences of a long ranch house, with its absence of stair-climbing to the bedrooms, you need a fairly sizable plot.

Design H-86 is 75'2" long if you want a one-car garage. A 83'1" for a two-car garage. A look at the floor plan shows that, either way, there is plenty of storage space and room for a work bench.

The living area of the house totals 1,510 square feet, not including the garage.

H-86 STATISTICS

Design H-86 is a contemporary ranch with a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, mud room, laundry, three bedrooms and a lavatory, with a living area of 1510 square feet. Sliding glass doors in the family room permit passage to a rear terrace. The over-all di- 24'6" if a one-car garage mensions are 75'2" by is built, increasing to 83'1" by 24'6" for a two-car garage. Entrance to the basement is down a stairway near the rear door and close to a covered porch.

Subflooring Must Be Dry

For best results a subfloor of softwood boards surfaced one or both sides, 25/32-inch thick, is recommended. Species: hemlock, fir, pine, spruce. The boards should be no wider than 6 inches, nailed with two nails to the board on each bearing, with a spacing of ⅛ inch to ¼ inch.

The subfloor should be securely nailed. It should be thoroughly dry, preferably kiln-dried, and not contain more than 14 per cent moisture content.

Here Are Four Ways to Redo Your Attic

Solve your home's population explosion. If you have an attic, consider its potential as: an apartment to be rented; a study room for the kids; a home office; or a family recreation room.

★ ★ ★

By using prefinished hardboard panels, available in a variety of woodgrains and colors, you can convert an attic into an attractive living or office area with minimum fuss or expense.

Since woodgrained panels are ready for use when installed, decorating chores are eliminated.

★ ★ ★

LOW COST

These modern home improvement panels, obtained at low cost from lumber and building supply dealers, may be installed over existing walls or directly to framing lumber.

Matching metal or wood moldings and nails make installation simple for either the professional or amateur craftsman.

If you plan a floor of linoleum or other composition, you'd be wise to put down a hardboard underlayment first, as this reduces wear on the floor covering and assures longer life.

★ ★ ★

Built-ins may be constructed by covering simple wood framework with decorative or utility hardboards. Concord points out that ease of working hardboards and their durability and easy maintenance make them top buys for families wanting "to do something" with empty attic space.

Add New Sparkle to Your Home

Tulips or daffodils are not due to appear in gardens until late April and May, but your florist has them now. They will stay fresh for almost a week if you observe proper care.

★ ★ ★

The minute the flowers arrive put them in water. Two or three inches is sufficient. Cut stems diagonally so they won't stand flat on the bottom of the vase, for they can't absorb water that way.

The amateur floor-layer should make sure that all sleepers are tightly in place before fastening on the sub and finish floor. Loose sleepers may cause annoying squeaks in the finish floor.

Sorting Baskets Will Speed-Up Laundry Chore

To speed the dull chore of doing the wash, an Idea Center advises at least three sorting baskets — for whites, colored items and "special."

★ ★ ★

If space allows, add baskets for wash-and-wear, washable wool and decorator or brightly colored items.

An excellent arrangement is to have six plastic clothes baskets lined up on shelves, three on top and three on bottom.

★ ★ ★

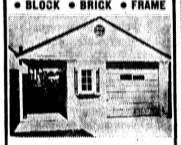

Another idea offered by the Center, supervised by laundry specialists, is to use a set of bins or drawers to sort clothes.

Plan Ahead Before You Install Piping

In building a new home, families like to provide as many conveniences as possible for comfortable, pleasant living. Not every prospective home owner, though, can afford to have every convenience at the time his new home is built.

But by planning ahead, certain things can be added later at a greatly reduced cost. For example, it is possible to save a good deal of money later by having the plumbing contractor "stub-in" piping when the house is built — to provide for future water needs as the family and finances increase.

Stubbing-in is easily accomplished by the plumbing contractor. In a family room, for instance, the home owner may anticipate the need for hot and cold water outlets, but be unable to afford installing a sink or drinking fountain.

In such a case, the contractor will install the proper piping at the location of future fixtures, and cap it.

When the house is finished, these capped pipes will be concealed by the walls of the room, and the home owner provided with plans indicating their exact location.

ADDED FIXTURES

In the years that follow, when it is decided to have the added fixtures installed, the homeowner saves in two ways.

First, remodeling costs are held down. Walls are opened at exactly the place where the sealed piping is located. This reduces the cost of plastering or new paneling.

Second, because the piping is already there, the contractor can install and adjust fixtures quickly. This provides a savings in labor charges.

* * *

Such savings can make it economical to bring a host of conveniences to many rooms in a house. Preplanning and stubbing-in for a laundry room, powder room, bedroom lavatory or even a patio sink will mean added convenience at minimal cost.

Homeowners, Investigate Financing Plans

Wise homeowners always investigate home improvement loans before they start. There are a number of ways to finance a home improvement project.

The right way depends on the cost of the job, the monthly payment desired, and the amount of money still owed on the existing house.

Most home improvement plans require nothing down as an initial payment, but plans vary considerably in other terms.

It is as intelligent to shop around for the best financing arrangement available as it is to devote time and thought to the structural changes you plan for your home.

Private Pools on Increase

More than 75,000 new swimming pools will be built in 1965. About three-fourths of these will be privately owned residential pools.

* * *

The most popular type of pool being built today, the recirculating type, has a pump to recirculate water from the pool through a filter adding chlorine or fluorine.

The water is then returned to the pool. Fresh water is added when lost by evaporation, splashing and backwashing the filters.

Good filtration equipment is particularly important since it assures the bathers of clean circulating waters free of sand, dirt, organic matter and safe from harmful bacteria.

* * *

Also important is the pool's drainage system and piping which should be of top quality material to assure long life and low maintenance.

Cast iron soil pipe has long been a favorite material for swimming pool drains.

It is also recommended for scum gutter drainage overflow drains and for recirculating lines to and from the filters.

* * *

Using quality materials, not only for the piping and drainage system, but also for the pool itself will assure the pool owner of many years of fun and relaxation free from extra maintenance and repair headaches.

Begin Now to Line-Up Projects

Need a new family room or kitchen? And, shelving and storage cabinets . . . have you enough of these?

* * *

How about that second bath the family needs. Where's the workshop you want?

Let's assume that your number one project is a family room. You have the space for it (basement, attic or garage) and also you know how you want it to look, and how much it will probably cost.

The first step is, line up your financing. There are several ways to do it, by savings and loan companies or commercial banks.

* * *

Also available are two types of FHA Loans: Title I, which allows you up to $3,500 and five years to pay; and Title II 203 (k), which allows up to $10,000 and ten years to pay.

ADVICE

Where to go for advice? Your local building materials dealer is a good starter. He can suggest available financing plans that will fit your needs and provide you with helpful literature and decorating schemes. He can also give you free estimates.

He can also handle the contracting — or get in touch with a reliable firm for you.

Another starting point is your local remodeling contractor or home improvement specialist. Check your Yellow Pages and local newspapers for other leads.

* * *

Get at least two or three bids on your job before you sign any contract. Like anything else these days, before you buy, shop around.

Lowest bids are not always best bets.

That low bidder may be basing his price on cheaper and inferior materials and hurry-up-and-get done workmanship, both of which you can do without.

Don't Try to Tint Latex With Oil

* * *

Use colors designed for latex paints.

Or, ask your paint dealer — there are universal colors suitable for both latex and alkyd finishes.

New Designs in Education

Education in the round could be the way to describe two of the nation's newest school designs, one already in operation in New Jersey and the other to be built in Wisconsin, since both are completely circular in shape.

Each school presented new problems in materials and construction due to its unique shape, and each school district turned to hydronics — modern hot water type heating — to solve its temperature control problems.

To provide even protection against winter cold and to save space, the heating system in these schools had to fit smoothly against the curved outside walls.

Hydronics turned the trick easily, because water is completely flexible and flows around corners as easily as it does in a straight line.

* * *

Hydronic systems in these unusual schools will also save the taxpayer's money, because they can use whichever fuel is most economical locally without decreasing efficiency.

Another advantage of hydronics for this application is that not only can hot water be used for heating, but chilled water can be used for cooling as well in a properly designed system.

New Vanitories More Attractive than Plain Sinks

Many of the vinyl papers you can buy also have a matching fabric you can order . . . make your own shower curtains by using an inexpensive clear shower curtain for a liner.

There are many new vanitories on the market, which are certainly more attractive than the plain wash basin and will further enhance your bathroom.

Besides adding a decorative touch, they provide extra storage space for drugs, makeup and towels.

Select an attractively framed mirror or take an antique picture frame and have a mirror set into it.

* * *

Lighting, too, plays an important role in remodeling any room in the house.

And last but not least, colorful towels to match the colors in the wallpaper add the finishing touch to your new decorating scheme.

Be sure the final sanding of a hardwood floor leaves it in such condition that no sanding marks will show through or be brought out by the application of the floor finish.

Boiler Has Long Life

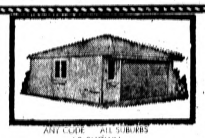

One of the largest single investments made in the home is for the heating system.

Although the original cost may be slightly higher than for other systems, a hydronic (forced circulation hot water) heating system will last up to twice as long as others.

Southfield Displays Winning Formula for Tournament Victory

Old Pro Boros Takes Buick Lead

Ex-Champion Scrambles to Two-Stroke Margin

By FLETCHER SPEARS

The 45-year-old Florida pro carved out a two-under-par 69 over tough Warwick Hills here yesterday, giving him a 36-hole total of 139 and a two-stroke lead in the $100,000 Buick Open.

And the way the veteran shotmaker played reminded observers of the 1963 Buick tournament, when Boros grabbed the lead at the halfway mark and went on to wrap up the title with a record-setting score of 274 for the 72-hole route.

Seven players were bunched at 141 behind Boros as the third round opened this morning over the 7,280-yard course for the 72 pros remaining after the cut-off yesterday.

★ ★ ★

SUB PLAYS

All alone at 142 was Jack Montgomery, a 27-year-old pro from Texas, who made it into the tournament when Art Wall Jr. showed up with a lame back.

Five players were deadlocked at 143, three at 144 and five at 145.

Sharing the 145 spot were Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper.

Boros, playing out of Mid Pines, N.C., continued to display his mastery around the greens in his bid to become the only player to win the Buick Open twice.

SAME STORY

It was much the same story yesterday as the players continued to battle for the $20,000 first prize.

Julius, who has won $13,268.75 on the tour this year, collected four birdies and a pair of bogeys, one of the birdies coming on the 171-yard, par-3 eighth when he holed a 50-foot bunker shot.

Playing the back nine first, Boros ran in putts of 15 feet at No. 13 and two feet at No. 14 for birdies and his other came on the sixth hole when he laid a nine-iron within 10 feet of the cup and rolled it in.

Veterans also recall that 1963 was a big year for Boros. After winning the Buick title, he went on to capture the U.S. Open championship and was named the PGA's Player of the Year.

Nicklaus posted his 71 and left immediately in his plane for his home in Columbus, Ohio. He was expected to return late last night or early this morning.

SCORES EAGLE

In his 71, Jack collected an eagle, two birdies and three bogies. His eagle came on the Area Golfers on Sidelines at Warwick

GRAND BLANC — The 12 Michigan players in the 8th annual Buick Open found themselves looking in after the 36-hole cutdown yesterday.

All felt the blow of the PGA ax that trimmed the 144-man field to 72. The cutoff came at 150, six over par.

Detroiter Walter Burkemo and Ted Kroll of Franklin Hills posted 152s along with Thom Rosely of Linden over the 7,280-yard Warwick hills course.

Kroll, leading money winner on the PAG tour in 1956, fired a 75 in the opening round Thursday, but he messed up a pair of wood shots on the first hole in yesterday's round and went on to card a 43 for the nine and 77 for the day.

★ ★ ★

Burkemo, 1953 PGA champion, also ran into trouble yesterday in shooting a 78 after an opening round 74.

OPEN CHAMP

Tom Draper of Birmingham, one of two amateurs in the field (the other, Greg Pitzer of Los Angeles, missed the cut), fell by the wayside with a 158.

Bill Mattson, Shenandoah Country Club pro, grabbed a spot in the tourney when Californian Joe Kirkwood Jr. withdrew; but he couldn't master Warwick and carded a 157.

Phil Wiechman of Holland, who fired a 290 to lead the state pros in the tourney last year, slipped to an 80 yesterday after an opening 75 for a 155 total.

The other state pros out of action were John Dalrymple of St. Clair Shores (160); Gene Bone, Pontiac (158); John Barmun, Grand Rapids (157); Nick Berklich Jr., Grand Blanc (163); Glenn Stuard, Grand Rapids (153); and Larry Tomasino, Ann Arbor (163).

CLEVELAND (AP)— Mickey Lolich, manager Charlie Dressen's stopper, has his work cut out this evening when the Detroit Tigers try to even a three-game series against the Cleveland Indians.

Lolich 7-2 has halted four Detroit losing streaks this year with key victories when things looked darkest.

The Indians knocked out Hank Aguirre Friday night on their way to a come-from-behind 7-6 victory. The key blow was a two-run pinch-hit single by Joe Azcue in the eighth.

NEMESIS

Lolich, who is 2-2 lifetime against the Indians, will take on an old Tiger killer, southpaw Jack Kralick 1-4 who boasts an 8-3 lifetime mark against Detroit.

Azcue's hit followed a couple of walks and came off reliever Larry Sherry, who took the loss.

Terry was touched by Al Kaline's ninth homer of the year in the first with Norm Cash aboard. But rookie Pedro Gonzalez erased Detroit's edge with a three-run homer in the third, his first in the majors.

★ ★ ★

Aguirre handed the Indians another run in the fourth. Max Alvis singled, took second on a bunt and scored when Aguirre fired an attempted pickoff throw into centerfield.

PINCH HIT

The Tigers got three runs in the fifth for a 5-4 lead. Bill Freehan walked, Ray Oyler, subbing for injured Dick Mac-Aulife at shortstop, bunted safely, and Freehan scored on Gates Brown's pinch double. Both Oyler and Brown came home on Cash's single.

Each team scored in the seventh, when Sonny Siebert came in to relieve Terry. Oyler singled, was sacrificed to second, and scored on two straight passed balls.

In the Indians' half, Dick Howser doubled and scored on two ground outs.

★ ★ ★

Tiger officials said McAuliffe had a bruised ring finger on his left hand, but would be back in the lineup either today or Sunday.

Little Tom Rolfe Belmont Favorite

The mighty mite from the Powhatan Stable of Raymond Guest lost his chance to sweep the classics by finishing third in the Kentucky Derby five weeks ago.

Eight 3-year-olds compete in the mile and one-half classic with Tom Rolfe, towered over by his rivals, the 6-5 favorite to grab the lion's share of the golden diadem.

None of the young horses ever has raced over the Belmont Stakes distance and the thoroughbred who proves best at the task proudly struts off the track with a winner's purse of $104,160 to his credit.

CHALLENGERS

Ready to challenge Tom Rolfe for that rich purse were arch rival Dapper Dan, Hail To All, Solari, La Cima, First Family, Happy Gondolier and Bold Bidder who races coupled in the betting with Dapper Dan.

Dapper Dan, owned by Ogden Phipps, was second in the Kentucky Derby, a head behind Lucky Debonair who was injured during the Preakness and temporarily retired. The stretch running colt also was second in the Preakness, failing by a head to overtake Tom Rolfe.

Aussie Runner Cracks 5,000 Meter Record

Clarke Also Betters Own 3-Mile Mark in California Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Distance runner Ron Clarke of Australia rewrote track record books last winter and now he's done it again — in the 5,000 meter and the three miles.

Clarke shattered his own world mark at 5,000 meters with a brilliant 13:25.8 Friday night in the transplanted Compton Invitational, and en route broke his own mark at three miles in 13:00.4.

★ ★ ★

To the delight of 12,160 fans in Memorial Coliseum — who had spent a pretty boring, chilly evening until the 5,000 — the 28-year-old, 163-pound 6-footer made a shambles of his old marks — 13:33.6 at Auckland, N.Z. last Feb. 1, for 5,000 meters, and 13:07.6 for three miles at Dec. 3, 1964, at Melbourne.

TOP ATHLETE

Snell won the mile in 3:56.4, shy of his world standard of 3:54.1, and ran into a furious challenge from veteran Jim Grelle and Jim Ryun, the 18-year-old schoolboy from Wichita, Kan.

Snell won by inches as both he and Grelle were clocked at 3:56.4. Ryun's challenging 3:56.8 was the best of his life.

★ ★ ★

Where Snell encountered human opposition, Clarke ran against the clock after the first mile. Neville Scott of New Zealand was second in 13:59.0 and Dave Ellis of Toronto, third in 14:03.6.

Blue Jays Fly Past PNH in Finale, 12-0

By JERE CRAIG

Timely hitting, fine defensive work and excellent pitching led Southfield's Blue Jays past Pontiac Northern's over-anxious Huskies last night in the Pontiac Invitational High School Baseball Tournament finals.

The Southfield nine backed Dale Hayes four-hit shutout hurling with a 10-hit attack for a 12-0 victory, the fourth straight time a southern Oakland County entry has won the crown.

Pontiac Press Photo

MVP HONORS—Southfield's Ted Simmons last night became the first non-senior to win Most Valuable Player laurels in annual Pontiac Invitational High School Baseball Tournament at Jaycee Park. The sophomore catcher displayed outstanding field leadership in all four of his team's wins.

The Blue Jays scored twice in the opening inning when the Huskies' infield defense messed up a double play grounder that would have ended the inning.

★ ★ ★

Continued misplays by the PNH defenders, key hitting led by third baseman Dennis Gadwa and a sound defense of their own helped keep the pressure on and add to the score.

The Blue Jays scored off three Northern hurlers and in every inning but the fifth for the most lopsided title game triumph in the four-year tournament.

Meanwhile, right-hander Hayes, a junior, limited PNH to two hits until the seventh inning. Two singles and a hit batter then allowed the only Huskie runner to reach third base.

Hayes then retired the final batter on a force out to complete a remarkable tournament pitching feat. In 18 and a third innings, he won three games, yielded no runs, allowed only two runners as far as third base, walked only four and was touched for 10 hits. He fanned 17 in the tournament.

MOST VALUABLE

However, he settled for runner-up honors with PNH's Larry Frye in the most valuable player balloting behind teammate Ted Simmons, a left-handed hitting sophomore catcher.

The good-looking receiver had a .384 tournament batting average with two triples and a double among his five hits. He stole three bases, scored three runs, drove in three, walked three times and didn't strike out.

★ ★ ★

His aggressive play behind the plate was a key factor in his selection by the judges. He threw out four runners in the four Southfield victories, two of them in last night's title game.

Frye, a tall right-handed junior pitcher-third baseman, had an impressive record on the mound for the battling Huskies. He won three games and struck out 34 in 19 and two-thirds innings.

Although allowing nine runs, he was charged with only one earned run and permitted just 10 hits. Five throwing errors hurt his chances; however; and three of them came in last night's loss.

★ ★ ★

Other impressive ball players in the tournament were first baseman Keith Deaton of PNH and center fielder Mike Deleo of Southfield. Walled Lake's Don Rickard, Kimball's Bob Wlodek, PCH's Gary Richardson and Milford's Dave Moilanen — all pitchers — were others who made more than one good showing.

Coach Lefty Bryant inserted all 18 Southfield varsity players into the championship game and 11 figured in the scoring or hitting. The Blue Jays finished with a 12-4 mark over-all, and their first tournament championship.

★ ★ ★

Coach Arnie Wilson and the Huskies ended with 13-4, the Inter-Lakes League title and second place in the tournament. PNH also was runner-up in 1962.

Americans Hold 2-0 Edge Over Canada

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Arthur Ashe Jr., breezed to a straight set victory over Keith Carpenter Friday to send the United States into a commanding 2-0 lead over Canada in Davis Cup zone competition after Gene Scott of the U.S. beat Harry Fauquier earlier in the day.

Ashe, No. 3 ranked American amateur and the Nation's leading Negro tennis player, knocked off Carpenter, of Montreal, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1. It took him just a little over an hour to score an impressive victory that had Carpenter on the defensive throughout.

Scott had opened the day with a 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 triumph over Fauquier, who comes from Toronto.

With both Ashe and Scott triumphant, the United States now needs only an expected victory in Saturday's doubles to clinch the decision and advance to the next round at Dallas, Tex., scheduled July 31 - Aug. 2.

The U.S. team is without Dennis Ralston, the No. 1 amateur in the nation, who was suspended for failing to complete a tournament appearance in Texas. However he will be eligible later.

Ashe, the first Negro ever to play on a Davis Cup team, never lost his service in a brilliant all-around display.

Ed Mathews Helps Braves

By United Press International

Eddie Mathews is showing the Milwaukee Braves the truth of that old baseball axiom that sometimes the best trades are the ones which aren't made.

Mathews was a forlorn old man of 33 toting a .233 batting average when the 1964 season ended and General Manager Johnny McHale of the Braves tried to peddle him to just about anybody who'd listen.

No one would listen then but they're listenin' now because Mathews is making one of the really surprising comebacks of the 1965 campaign with 12 homers, a .272 batting average and a deluge of game-winning hits that are keeping the Braves in the National League pennant race.

BIGGEST HIT

Mathews delivered the most important hit of the Braves' season so far Friday night when his 12th homer of the season with two on and one out in the ninth inning gave Milwaukee a 5-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The victory moved the Braves to within four games of the front-running Dodgers whereas a loss would have dropped them six games behind.

Wade Blasingame singled to start the Braves' winning rally with one out in the ninth and Felipe Alou also singled before Mathews hammered the 457th homer of his career deep into the right field seats at Milwaukee.

The drive gave Blasingame his fourth straight win and sixth of the season. Blasingame, a $100,000 bonus pitcher who didn't get into the Braves' starting rotation until they sent Warren Spahn to the New York Mets, went the route with an eight-hitter embellished with seven strikeouts.

The Cincinnati Reds downed the San Francisco Giants 4-2, the New York Mets edge out the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1, the Houston Astros defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2, and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs 6-0 in other NL games.

Johnny Edwards smashed a three-run homer in the second inning to pave the way for Cincinnati's Joey Jay to win his fourth game of the season.

Jay tired in the fifth inning and Joe Nuxhall and Bill McCool worked the final four frames for the Reds. Willie McCovey hit his 13th homer and Jay Alou had two hits for the Giants.

Jack Fisher scattered eight hits to score his fifth win and extend the Mets' winning streak to four games. Bill Mazeroski singled after a double by Donn Clendenon to give the Pirates a 1-0 lead in the second inning but the Mets tied the score on Charley Smith's triple in the sixth.

Chris Cannizzaro tallied the winning run for the Mets in the seventh when second baseman Mazeroski dropped the ball on a force play.

* * *

World Series hero Bob Gibson pitched a five-hitter for the Cardinals but two of the hits were homers — one a two-run blow by Walt Bond in the sixth and the other a three-run blast by .191-hitting Ron Brand in the ninth.

Jim Bunning pitched a five-hitter and struck out seven in gaining his third shutout of the year for the Phillies. Wes Covington hit a two-run homer and Johnny Callison had a double and a triple for the Phillies.

Prep Jumper Goes 6-10 in Record Leap

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill McClellon, 17-year-old junior at DeWitt Clinton High School, set a national schoolboy outdoor record in the high jump at Randalls Island Friday night by leaping 6 feet, 10 inches.

The mark was set in the New York City public school track and field championships.

Walter Maugham of New Castle, Pa., set the previous outdoor record of 6-9¾ in 1956. Richard Jones of 1956. Richard Jones of Bakersfield, Calif. equalled it in 1962 as did Ed Hanks of San Diego in 1964.

McClellon also holds the national schoolboy indoor mark for the high jump of 6-10¼.

N.Y., Hawks Deal Players

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers hope they got some quality for quantity in a four-for-two National Hockey League trade with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Rangers gave up defenseman Tracy Pratt and forwards Dave Richardson, Dick Meissner and Mel Pearson for forwards Ray Cullen and John McKenzie. Cullen was named the most valuable rookie in the American League last season.

"We got two men while giving up four who didn't figure in our plans," said Emile Francis, general manager of the Rangers.

Waterford Ace Hurls 2-Hitter

Two-hit pitching by Dick McCoy carried Howes' Lanes to a 3-0 decision over Huron Bowl last night in Waterford Township softball action.

* * *

The winners scored one run in the third and the final two in the fifth. Ron Francis paced the attack with three hits in three trips.

In a second game, Richardson Dairy romped to a 12-2 triumph over Midget Bar in a game called after six innings under the 10-run rule.

Janic Hirn banged out three hits, one a home run, and Chuck Young and Jerry Thomas clipped in with three hits apiece.

Thomas went the distance, fanning five and scattering five hits.

Action in the Pontiac Class A baseball league resumes tomorrow at Jaycee Park with M & G Collision scheduled to meet Cranbrook at 7:30.

Chicago Wins, 2-0

Yankees Dazzled by Knuckler

By The Associated Press

Fisher, the ace Chicago reliever who employs the elusive knuckleball rather than a zinging fast ball, held the New York Yankees to one hit over the final six innings before the White Sox finally pulled out a 2-0 decision in 15 innings Friday night.

* * *

It was the longest pitching stint of the season for the 28-year-old right-hander, who has made seven consecutive appearances and 15 2-3 innings in which he has not allowed an earned run and gave him a 5-0 record with an eye-popping 1.59 ERA.

And if that doesn't really prove his effectiveness, the White Sox have won 17 of the 25 games in which he's appeared.

Fisher, however, had to share honors with teammate Danny Cater, who came to the plate in the 15th, hitless in his last 18 at bats and promptly drilled a homer that broke up the scoreless battle.

DROP BACK

The loss dropped the defending American League champion Yankees 11½ games behind front-running Minnesota — the farthest they've been behind all season. The Twins remained 1½ games up on the White Sox by belting Washington 9-5.

Elsewhere, Cleveland edged Detroit 7-6 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Baltimore 4-3. The Boston-Kansas City game was rained out.

Cater broke up the scoreless tie between the White Sox and the Yankees with a line shot to right field off Pete Mikkelsen. Floyd Robinson provided the other Chicago run with another homer, also to right.

Joe Horlen started for the White Sox and Bill Stafford for the Yankees. Horlen, who shut out the Yankees on six hits a week ago, checked them on six again, struck out seven and walked only one in nine innings. Stafford went 10 innings, allowing six hits while striking out four and walking two.

Jimmie Hall stroked three hits for the Twins and turned in some daring base running while Gerry Fosnow ended the Senators' come-from-behind hopes with 2 2-3 innings of hitless relief.

STRETCHER HIT

Hall circled the bases for an inside-the-park homer in the fourth inning, then stretched a hit into a double in the seventh and scored from second base when Rich Rollins was safe on an error.

Bob Allison also homered for Minnesota while Woodie Held hit a three-run shot for Washington that chased Jim Katt and brought on Fosnow.

* * *

Baltimore catcher Johnny Orsino, whose throwing error helped the Angels to their second run in the third inning, opened the door for two more in the fifth when he let the third strike to winning pitcher Marcelino Lopez get by him for a past ball.

Singles by Jose Cardenal, Albie Pearson and Jim Fregosi then singled to bring in the runs that proved decisive.

Cutoff Mark 150 Strokes

par-5, 507-yard 13th hole where he laid his one-iron second shot four feet from the cup and canned it.

* * *

Palmer was also having putting problems and he walked off the 18th green disgusted after three-putting from 25 feet.

Spray, the 24-year-old rookie from Iowa who led after an opening-round 68, picked up a 73 in a bid for his first paycheck on the tour.

Player turned in a 68 yesterday, sharing low round honors with Jacky Cupit and George Archer, to go with his opening-round 75 putting him in excellent position to challenge Boros during the final rounds today and tomorrow.

LITTLER SHARP

Littler, 34-year-old Californian and former U.S. Open champ, has been quietly putting together a solid game and he turned in a 73 for a halfway total of 143.

* * *

Montgomery had a 73 Thursday and a 70 yesterday for 143 and he shows no signs of cracking under the pressure of the big names.

The cutoff came at 150, the highest cutoff point on the tour this year, attesting perhaps to the difficulty the pros are having with the Warwick course.

Teeoffs are at 9 this morning and tomorrow.

Among those who felt the ax during the cutoff were U. S. Open champion Ken Venturi and Bruce Crampton of Australia, who won the '500' Festival in indianapolis last week.

Venturi, still troubled by a circulation ailment in his hands, came in with a 155 and Crampton was two strokes away from making the cut at 152.

Lady Pros Find Golf Problems on New Links

After playing on flat, seasoned courses for nine weeks, some of them found the rolling hills and new greens at the Hunting Creek Country Club a real nemisis Friday.

Miss Whiteworth's nearest competitor, Mickey Wright, was more direct. "Those greens really bug me," she said, after touring the course in 71.

NEW ASTRO—Slugging first baseman Jim Gentile was sold by the Kansas City Athletics to the Houston Astros for $100,000 yesterday and minor league pitcher Jesse Hickman. The A's will get another player to be named later.

Athletics Deal Diamond Jim to Houston 9

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Diamond Jim Gentile, whose 10 home runs this season tied him for the American League lead, was traded Friday by the Kansas City Athletics to the Houston Astros for minor league pitcher Jesse Hickman, another player to be named later and $100,000.

A's general manager Hank Peters said the trade was in keeping with the team's youth movement and would also provide money to sign players at the major league draft meetings next week.

First baseman Gentile, who was 31 Thursday, will rejoin Paul Richards and Lum Harris who guided him to his best major league season in 1961 at Baltimore when he hit .302 with 46 home runs and 141 runs batted in.

Hickman, who was scheduled to join the A's in time for Friday night's game with Boston, had a 3-1 mark and 0.64 earned run average with Oklahoma City of the Pacific Coast League. He had walked 15 batters and struck out 63 in 42 innings.

Peters said the last place Athletics talked with all nine other American League teams about possible deals for Gentile "but there wasn't any interest in giving us what we thought we should get in return."

Pro Grid Loops Bare Plans for Expansion

NEW YORK (AP)—The old established National Football League and the brash young American Football League are now engaged in a tidy little tussle that may produce no losers—just winners.

Armed with millions and millions of dollars in television money, and immense public interest, both the 14-team NFL and eight-team AFL have announced plans to expand and share the wealth.

If there are any potential losers, they are only the many cities that have made bids for franchises and won't get them.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has recommended his league add two teams by 1967. Houston is almost certain to be one of them. Boston, Miami and New Orleans are likely contenders for the other spot.

Houston and Boston currently have teams in the AFL, but that doesn't seem to faze Rozelle.

"I have not given extensive thought to that," he said. "I have no feelings about those cities in particular."

NEXT YEAR

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss, when informed of the NFL move, said he'd thought about it much longer and might expand sooner, perhaps putting two new teams on the field by 1966.

The NFL is firmly entrenched in Philadelphia and Chicago, but Foss isn't concerned.

Atlanta has been pressing for an AFL franchise for some time and is apparently a bit miffed with the NFL. This dates back to the time the city was passed over in favor of St. Louis when the Cardinal franchise was shifted from Chicago.

Houston appears headed for an NFL franchise because of

Detects Retardation

Sees Passage of Infant-Test Bill

A bill which would require physicians to administer a simple test to detect mental retardation in infants is expected to be passed by the State Legislature this year.

Rep. Robert J. Slingerland, D-Lake Orion, the sponsor of the House-approved bill, said he hoped the Senate would pass the measure sometime this month.

If the legislation is passed, doctors will be required to administer a phenylektonuria (PKU) test to infants shortly after birth, before the child is dischared from the hospital.

STATE TO PAY

Slingerland's bill provides that the state would pay the cost of the test — 40 cents per baby.

Based on the 174,000 births in Michigan last year, between 15 and 20 youths could have been affected, the legislator said.

UNDER CONSIDERATION

★ ★ ★

There is also a Senate version of this bill, Slingerland said, with the only different provision being that a doctor could charge the parents for performing the test.

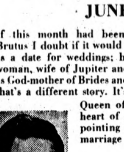

★ ★ ★

The legislator noted that amendments to both bills which would permit an exception to the test on religious grounds have been defeated.

Reflections

JUNE

If this month had been named for Junice Brutus I doubt if it would have been as popular as a date for weddings; but Juno, a beautiful woman, wife of Jupiter and Queen of the Gods, as God-mother of Brides and Grooms — well that's a different story. It's nice to imagine the Queen of the Gods touching her scepter to the heart of each bride, leading her, inspiring her, pointing out steps to favor the success of the marriage — it is indeed a lovely thought.

J. L. VOORHEES

M. E. SIPLE

Thousands of people choose June as a wedding date. The Goddess of all living things, leaves, blossoms, grass, bulbs, eggs, in a nest, gorgeous rainbows, showers and gentle breezes are part of June. It is a time when all Nature builds color, song, scent, rippling streams and quick growth of desert plants and their seeds to reproduce themselves and to feed a million animals. June is an ideal time to start a new life, send down new roots for a stronger America.

Washington Briefs

Secretary of Army Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes is reported to have resigned effective June 30. Undersecretary Stanley R. Resor apparently stands near the top among prospective successors.

It was learned Friday that Ailes, an attorney who joined the Defense Department four years ago, submitted his resignation to President Johnson last Tuesday.

* * *

A native of Romney, W.Va., Ailes practiced law in Washington before his appointment as undersecretary of the Army by President John F. Kennedy. He became Army secretary in January 1964.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze says the administration's military pay raise bill has the long-range advantage of providing annual review with pay adjustments.

In an interview Friday, Nitze also emphasized its "variable reenlistment bonus" which would permit the secretary of defense to provide bonuses of more than $6,000 for some men.

* * *

Nitze's comments followed by two days a blast by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, who called the administration measure "disgracefully inadequate."

Rivers has introduced a bill to hike military pay by 10.7 per cent in one step. The administration bill calls for an initial rise of 4.3 per cent with annual review and adjustment according to economic changes.

* * *

Erhard and Johnson agreed to seek new ways to end the division of Germany and to resist weakening of the Atlantic alliance. Their joint communique also called for better relations with Communist Eastern Europe.

Erhard flew back to Germany after the day of meetings.

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Kenneth L. Olschefsky, 13, injured last Saturday when his bike was struck by a car, died Friday in a Royal Oak Hospital. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Olschefsky of Hazel Park.

Alert Astronauts Pass Halfway Point of Mara[illegible] Space Ride

HOUSTON (AP) — Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White, II still in good shape and remarkably alert, passed the halfway point of their marathon space ride today as medical monitors maintained a close watch on their condition.

America's newest heroes, who cracked the U.S. space endurance record last night reached the midpoint of their planned four day trip at 11:14 a.m. EST today as their Gemini 4 space ship zipped high over the United States on orbit No. 32.

"We're in good shape up here," command pilot McDivitt reported to the ground this morning. He added, however, that he was a "trifle weary" and during the night he had his best sleep yet.

White, who provided the main excitement of the planned four-day flight by taking a 20 minute excursion in space Thursday, was asleep at the time the report was made.

John Hodge, a mission control center flight director, reported this morning that the astronauts spent a "very uneventful night. We did what we were supposed to do following the flight plan, gathering medical data, eating, drinking, sleeping and performing experiments."

Hodge said the astronauts appeared to be as alert as if they had only been in space for five minutes instead of more than 47 hours.

He reported spacecraft conditions were excellent and there was nothing in sight that could cause an early termination of the mission.

Hodge said he was impressed with the "enthusiasm and the awareness and awakeness with which they're answering questions on what they're doing and how they're doing it."

★ ★ ★

During the morning the astronauts took turns taking pictures of prominent earth points which might be used as reference points to guide Project Apollo

SUSAN PILL

Ohio Girl Is Miss U.S.A.; Once Wanted to Be a Nun

Statuesque Sue Ann Downey, 20, of Columbus, Ohio, won the crown last night over 14 other finalists in the field of 47 and will represent this country in next month's Miss Universe pageant.

Michigan's entry in the contest, Susan Pill of 2401 E. Hammond Lake, who was a semi-finalist, failed to place among the five finalists. Miss Pill was Pontiac's Junior Miss, Romeo's Peach Queen and Miss Michigan State Fair in 1963.

First runner-up, and Sue's stand-in, is Jane Nelson, who as a voice major at Arizona State University represented that state. She lives in Tularosa, N.M., and was a finalist in last fall's Miss America Pageant as Miss New Mexico.

Judy Baldwin of Clovis, N.M., was second runner-up. The youngest entrant, Julie Andrus, 18, of Mayfield, Ky., was third. Blonde Dianna Batts, a secretary at the Pentagon in Washington from Falls Church, Va., was fourth.

★ ★ ★

"I'm elated. I don't believe it. It seems so, so impossible," said the shapely 35-24-35, 5-foot-8 Ohio State University coed. "It's the most marvelous thing that has ever happened to me."

She won $5,000 in cash, a $5,000 personal appearance contract, and a mink coat, among other prizes.

"This is — well, its's beyond dreams. When I was a child, I wanted to be a nun. Now most important to me is being a good wife and mother."

Give OAS Aid Voice —Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators have expressed mixed reaction to Sen. J. W. Fulbright's proposal to assign the Organization of American States a major voice in channeling U.S. Military assistance to Latin America.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, offered the proposal as an amendment to the two-year, $3.35-billion annual foreign aid authorization bill on which the Senate will resume debate Monday.

It would require that the $55 million available for military assistance to Latin-American countries be furnished to the maximum extent feasible according to joint plans approved by the OAS.

This would include plans dealing with internal security defense.

★ ★ ★

In addition, it would authorize the use of up to $25 million of the funds for an inter-American military force under OAS control.

ADMINISTRATION SILENT

There was no immediate reaction from the administration, but Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., a senior member of Fulbright's committee, said he thought the amendment "has a great deal of good in it."

"I like the idea," Sen. Hohn Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said in a separate interview.

Cites Figures to Show Growing Negro Gap in Howard U. Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson has called for a new civil rights effort to achieve true equality for the American Negro — "not just equality as a right and a theory."

Johnson, delivering the commencement address last night at predominantly Negro Howard University, said the great majority of Negro Americans "still are another nation."

"Despite the court orders and the laws, the victories and speeches for them the walls are rising and the gulf is widening," the President said.

Citing statistics on employment and income to show that Negroes, in some ways, are faring worse today than 5 or 10 years ago, Johnson said this represented an "American failure."

The President, who took the occasion to announce plans for a special White House conference next fall to explore such problems, said:

"It is not enough to open the gates of opportunity. All our citizens must have the ability to walk through those gates.

MORE PROFOUND

"This is the next and the more profound stage of the battle for civil rights.

"We seek not just freedom but opportunity — not just legal equity but human ability — not just equality as a right and a theory, but equality as a fact and a result."

Johnson, applauded frequently, spoke of seeking justice for the Negro and said:

"I pledge this will be a chief goal of my administration, and of my program next year, and in years to come. I hope it will be part of the program of all America."

Victims Shot in Back During Bank Holdup

Large Posse Presses Search for Robber in Nebraska, Colorado

BIG SPRINGS, Neb (AP). Scores of peace officers prowled over muddy roads in a slow, steady rain today seeking some trace of the icy-calm killer who shot four bank employes in the back yesterday, killing three and wounding the fourth.

Road blocks were removed after the state patrol and sheriffs' officers completed a house-by-house, farm-by-farm search of a wide area in western Nebraska and eastern Colorado, but the huge posse continued to check out leads, none of them fruitful.

Rain started about 4 p.m. yesterday, dumping about 3½ inches on the area and turning many side roads into muddy trails. The rains continued today.

Planes which were used at the start of the manhunt were grounded by rain and poor visibility today.

There was still no trace of the killer.

★ ★ ★

IN BANK

Late yesterday Sheriff Stahr, a 6-foot-4 man in a wide-brim Western hat, made his headquarters in the bank.

The 510 residents of this village astride the Denver-to-North Platte highway 10 miles north of the Colorado border were

Move Likely to Be Blocked

California Senate Divides State

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— California's embattled Senate, fighting reapportionment like the '49ers beat off gold mining claim jumpers, has acted to split the nation's most populous state in two.

★ ★ ★

But the State Assembly, Gov. Edmund G. Brown — and maybe the Congress of the United States — all appeared ready to head the move off at the pass.

Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, a Republican from the San Francisco Bay area community of San Mateo, offered his plan as an answer to a federal court order for the rural-dominated Senate to reapportion itself by July 1.

A northern Californian, Dolwig reacted in anger, frontier fashion to an order that would turn the legislative upper house over to populous counties — particularly those in the southern part of the state.

★ ★ ★

But the Assembly, dominated by Southern California, was certain to turn the plan down.

MOVE BLASTED

"We're one state, one California," snapped Assemblyman Don Allen, D - Los Angeles, whose assembly committee would have to approve the legislation.

Gov. Brown has spoken similarly in the past.

The Senate voted 27-12 last night for a constitutional amendment dividing the state at the Techachapi Mountains. A 22-16 vote sent a companion bill to the Assembly. Pending is a resolution asking Congress to approve the separation.

The southern state would have a population of 10.3 million — the third largest in the nation. It would consist of Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial counties.

The northern state, which would have 7.8 million people, would have 51 counties.

One senator said "there are two different worlds in California."

Troy Firm Had Part in Gemini 4 Launch

An area business firm played an integral part in launching the epic Gemini 4 space flight Thursday.

Sperry Rand Corp's. Vickers, Inc. Division furnished two hydraulic motor pumps on the Titan II booster that put James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White into orbit.

Both motor pumps are among the 54 components named as "critical" to the success of the mission by The Martin Co.'s Denver Division that builds the Gemini booster.

Martin's "critical parts" program was set up after long and careful evaluation of the great number of components that make up the launch vehicle.

Each part so designated was then marked for special procedures and handling, from its manufacture right on through its installation on the booster.

At Denver, for instance, each part marked with the red-lettered "CRITICAL PART" sticker or tag undergoes special inspection procedures, is kept in locked storage and moved in locked carts; it may be handled only by a limited number of trained personnel.

"CRITICAL PART"—A technician installs a Vickers motor pump on the second stage of the Titan II launch vehicle. A second motor pump is also used on the first stage of the booster. Both are used in vital preflight check-out of the vehicle's operating systems.

No Senate Bid, Says Williams

Denies Story in Dems' Official Publication

WASHINGTON (AP)— Former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams denied yesterday that he plans to run for the U.S. Senate seat of Democrat Patrick V. McNamara in 1966.

The newspaper said Williams had "announced his intent" to run for Senate in 1966.

"There is no basis in fact" for the statement, said Williams in a letter to National Democratic Chairman John W. Bailey.

★ ★ ★

Now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, Williams added: "As a matter of fact I have no specific plans for next year beyond continuing in my present post except I have repeatedly said I would not be a candidate against Sen. Patrick McNamara, whom I wholeheartedly support."

Sense Trouble in Sudan City

CAIRO (AP) — unconfirmed reports reaching here today said Khartoum Airport was closed down and trouble appeared to be brewing in the capital of Sudan.

Cairo Airport said it lost radio communication with the airport at Khartoum. Airport officials noted the loss of radio contact could be due to a strike rather than political tension, however.

* * *

Word of the airport closing reached here after reports from the Sudan that four army officers, including one general, had been arrested there in an alleged attempt to stage a coup d'etat.

Unconfirmed reports said the authorities had seized a supply of arms designed for a coup and more arrests were expected.

NO TELEPHONES

Telephone communication between Cairo and Khartoum also was reported out of order but this is a fairly regular occurrence.

A story from Khartoum Friday said the caretaker regime of Premier Sir el Khatim el Khalifa had resigned to make way for a new government but was asked to stay on until next Tuesday by the State Supreme Council.

Sudan's first constituent assembly meets then. The dispatch said the Umma — Nation — party and the National United party were expected at that time to form a coalition government.

Earlier this year, Khalifa tried to solve a political crisis by forming a cabinet with Communist participation. He was balked by the Nation, the National United and the Moslem Brothers parties, all on the right.

NEW BRANCH BANK—The Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank opened a new branch on Maple east of Lahser yesterday offering complete banking service. The area has been served by temporary offices of the bank while the new building was under construction.

Marathon Space Ride Half Over

AMONG TARGETS

Among the photographic targets were Point Jiguera and Point Aguilla, both in Puerto Rico; El Dorado airport at Bogota, Colombia; Point Loma Lighthouse, San Diego, Calif.; Lake Titicaca and Lake de Poopa in Bolivia, and the junction of the Blue Nile and the White Nile in Africa.

During the night White slept through a routine medical examination and had to be awakened in the 27th orbit for the exam.

* * *

White suffered no apparent aftereffects from the 20-minute excursion he made outside the capsule shortly after Thursday's launching from Cape Kennedy.

ANY SIGNS

But no American has spent as much time orbiting the earth and the medics were on the alert for any sign of physical or mental deterioration that might result from long exposure to the hostile, weightless environment.

If there is trouble — and it may not show up until after they return to earth Monday— it could affect the whole future of American manned space flight.

The astronauts reported seeing another satellite whirling through the heavens yesterday and trackers today were trying to determine which one it might have been.

* * *

McDivitt said that during the 19th orbit he sighted an orbiting object "with big arms sticking out." He took movies, but the glaring sun prevented him identifying it or estimating its distance from the Gemini 4.

SPECULATION

There was some speculation it was the Pegasus 2 meteoroid detection satellite launched May 25 from Cape Kennedy.

S. Viet Troops Strike Back With Aid of U.S. Copters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government forces, badly battered by Viet Cong ambushes in recent days, struck back with the aid of armed U.S. helicopters and claimed today they killed 48 Communist guerrillas in a single action Friday.

* * *

Six Reds were captured and eight others taken as suspects in the operation near Vinh Long, 55 miles southwest of Saigon. Vietnamese units continued to comb the area Saturday with the support o armored and artillery units.

Four government soldiers reportedly were killed and four others were wounded along with a U.S. Army adviser in Friday's clash. The adviser was struck in the left arm by hand grenade fragments. He was not injured seriously.

NOT AS FORTUNATE

Government forces were not as fortunate in another engagement Friday. They reportedly killed five Viet Cong, but suffered 18 dead, 2 wounded and 32 missing themselves after a Communist battalion attacked three hamlets 265 miles northeast of Saigon.

This brought to 299 the toll of government forces killed, wounded or missing in action in the last three days.

* * *

The high toll and pronouncements by a high U.S. military spokesman and a Communist Chinese propaganda organ underscored that the long awaited Viet Cong monsoon offensive had begun.

The U.S. spokesman said in Saigon Friday that "the important battle of the summer of 1965 has just been joined. Events have been such that we are moving into an important period of the war."

'GLORIOUS PAGE'

The New China News Agency described the Viet Cong offensive as "a glorious page in the annals of the liberation war in South Viet Nam, a brilliant page in a people's war. The advent of the monsoon is throwing the U.S. aggressors into still greater panic. A bigger defeat is in store for them."

Twenty A4 Skyhawks, supported by eight F8 Crusaders from the carrier Bon Hommpe Richard, blasted the Ben Thuy port facilities at Vinh about 160 miles south of Hanoi.

Pilots said they hit an offshore wharf with missiles and damaged a coal yard and warehouses in the raid. An antiaircraft site was blasted with a direct bomb hit, the spokesman reported.

Lawmen Hunt Killer

"I have no idea why he shot them," said County Atty. Robert Richards. "They didn't resist when he told them to lay down on their stomachs."

FIRED 8 TIMES

The gunman fired eight times as the four lay on the floor of the Farmers State Bank. Three died instantly. The fourth was critically wounded.

Killed was Andreas Kjeldgaard, 77, president of the bank; Glenn Hendricksen, 59, the cashier; and Lois Ann Hothan, 35, bookkeeper.

Franklin Kjeldgaard, 25, nephew of Andreas, was taken to a Denver hospital with wounds in the neck and back. The hospital said today he was in critical condition.

* * *

It was noon when the gunman drove up to the little red-brick bank on Main Street. A deputy sheriff said many of the town's residents were on the street at the time.

DAILY TRIP

He said the killer was about 35, and wore his hair crew-cut. He was neatly dressed in a dark suit.

* * *

ASKED ABOUT LOAN

The man first asked about obtaining a loan. Then he pulled a pistol and ordered the four victims to lie on the floor, face down.

HAZEL V. FOSTER

Bank Suspect WantsLawyer Prior to Plea

A 47-year-old maid, charged with holding up a Grand Rapids bank May 25, has appeared in Federal Court to request a court-appointed attorney before entering a plea.

Hazel V. Foster was arrested at the Commerce Township home, where she worked as a housekeeper, less than 24 hours after the holdup of the Burton Heights branch of Central Bank.

Charged with the holdup by the FBI and the district attorney's office, Mrs. Foster appeared before Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr in Grand Rapids.

She requested that the court appoint an attorney for her. She is under $10,000 bond pending her arraignment at a later date.

* * *

Mrs. Foster also faces a federal charge in Detroit of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with a bad check charge.

Shots Narrowly Miss Prober

Heads Quiz on Killing of Louisiana Negro

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Six bullets were fired Friday night into the home of a chief investigator of the terrorist murder of a Negro deputy sheriff.

The unknown gunner, shooting from a car as it swung around a circular drive in front of the house, put two bullets within a few feet of Chief Deputy Doyle Holliday and his wife.

* * *

Holliday, who heads the Bogalusa branch of the Washington Parish Sheriff's Department, raced from the house and emptied his revolver at the fleeing auto.

"Perhaps one of the shots did some damage but I am not sure," said Holliday, who is white.

AT 11 P.M.

It happened at about 11 p.m. Holliday had just arrived home after a long day of helping direct the search for evidence in the O'Neal Moore murder case.

The deputy, who lives about seven miles west of here, declined to speculate on why the shots were fired into his home. Roadblocks thrown up in the area immediately after the shooting were later taken down.

* * *

State and FBI agents made plaster casts of the tire tracks in the driveway and extracted bullets for laboratory examination.

Fifty state troopers, dozens of FBI agents and local officers were concentrated on seeking evidence in the killing of Deputy Moore, the first Negro deputy ever hired by the department.

SHOT IN HEAD

Moore was shot in the head with a high-powered rifle Wednesday night as he drove a squad car along a highway, seven miles north of Bogalusa.

His squad car partner, Deputy Creed Rogers, also a Negro, was wounded by a buckshot blast.

* * *

Civil rights leaders in Bogalusa said picketing of downtown stores would continue. The picket lines, which have come under attack by white men several times, back equal job opportunity demands.

Bogalusa has seen intermittent racial turmoil since a drive opened for desegregation of public facilities.

SAW ATTACK

A high school football coach, D. R. (Scrappy) Fornea of nearby Varnado, disclosed that he saw the nightrider attack in which Moore was slain.

It was believed that at least three men were involved in the attack, made from a pickup truck. One white man —Ernest R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa — has been charged with murder.

* * *

Fornea, coach at Varnado High, said he had just moved his car into his garage for the night and was standing outside in his bare feet when he saw the squad car, trailed by a pickup truck, pass by.

"The first shot was a real bang," he said. "It sounded greater than an M1." (The M1 greater than an M1" (an Army rifle).

* * *

Fornea said there was a flurry of shots, he could not say how many. The squad car veered off the pavement and rammed a tree. The coach ran to the scene.

Library Gift Fund Drive Is Over $11,000 Mark

The library opened Oct. 20, 1964, in temporary quarters at the Chateau Devon Building near the southwest corner of Long Lake and Telegraph.

With those added through the fund drive, the book collection at the library now totals approximately 19,000 volumes, including books owned by the library and those on long-term loan from the Michigan State Library.

COST $5 EACH

Mrs. Roehm noted that with the cost of the cataloging and processing, new books for general circulation average out to about $5 each.

"Reference books, scientific and technical items and many art books cost far more," she said.

It is the latter category of expensive books that the fund drive is helping the library to acquire.

As a result of the gift program, the library has been able to buy several juvenile and adult encyclopedia sets, many atlasas and gazetteers, a variety of biographical reference books and a number of volumes on art, interior design and architecture.

Tornadoes killed one person near Shamrock, Tex. Two twisters struck south central and eastern Kansas causing $100,000 damage at Haven, Kan. Blinding rain on U.S. 54 near El Dorado, Kan., was blamed for a seven-fatality accident.

Kansas Gov. William H. Avery authorized the national guard to help evacuate residents along the east branch of the Walnut River near El Dorado. Flooding was also expected along the Cottonwood and Neosho rivers.

British Airline Beats Strike

LONDON (AP)—British European Airways used makeshift arrangements today to overcome a baggage porters strike and resumed flights to the European continent.

The wildcat strike had shut down BEA operations for 24 hours, stranding thousands of Whitsun (pentecost) holiday travelers.

The airline said the porters and other ground staff who joined the strike were all dismissed and would be rehired only if they agreed to submit future grievances to arbitration.

Get Tax Break, Car Buyer Told

Solon Publishes Price Guide for Purchaser

WASHINGTON (UPD) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, advised new car buyers today to insist on a tax break when they trade in the family buggy.

To help the buyer, Vanik inserted into the Congressional Record his version of a "new-car purchaser's guide" which he said contains information on car prices never before disclosed.

The congressman said that by looking at the chart the prospective customer can calculate how much the dealer paid for that fancy item in the showroom.

For instance, the Vanik price list shows that one model of the Ford Mustang, with a suggested retail price of $2,178, cost the dealer $1,740 last month. Both prices are factory charges in May of 1965 and do not include taxes, transportation and extra accessories.

* * *

It was inspired by recent House approval of a $4.8 billion reduction in federal sales taxes which the Senate also is expected to pass in a few weeks.

This tax package includes a cut in the excise tax on new cars from 10 per cent to 7 per cent, retroactive to last May 15.

Vanik is concerned that the cut on new autos might not be passed on to the customer.

It's Proper to Do This for Hostess

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I asked a young man (with the hostess's permission) to go with me to a party at her house. It was the first time the hostess had met him.

I of course introduced him to her and as other guests arrived, I introduced him to them.

I was told that it was the hostess's place to introduce guests in her house and that I should have let her do the "honors." Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A: No, you were quite right. In fact, unless your hostess is very adept at remembering names, it was quite likely that you saved her from the embarrassment of introducing a guest whose name she had forgotten.

EX-GOVERMENT OFFICIALS

Q: Is the title "The Honorable" a lifetime one once it has been bestowed on a man?

In the case of a former government official who, while in the service of the government, was addressed as "The Hon. John Doe," is he, after his return to private life, still correctly addressed as The Honorable, or is he addressed as Mr.?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I sure get a kick out of your column. I don't suppose you really write all of it yourself. You probably have a staff of writers. And that picture of you is a lulu! How old is it? I'll bet you're a fat old maid taking out her frustrations by telling other people how to run their lives.

ABBY

You get a letter with just one side of the story and you hand out advice like you knew all the answers. I'm a 31-year-old bachelor. And if that's your picture, and it's not 20 years old, I might even ask you to marry me. (How would you like to live in Salt Lake City:)

WOODY

DEAR WOODY: I don't have any writers, so I'll take all the credit for what is printed here. (And all the blame, too.) I don't give advice, I express an opinion. To give advice one must know both sides, but I do the best I can with the facts I have, and if I am able to help, I'm happy.

The picture is mine, and it's comparatively recent. Salt Lake City would be fine with me, but I'm 15 years older than you, and very much married, so I won't hold you to your offer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 years old and just had the most bewildering proposal of marriage. He's a young man I've known a long time, but I never dreamed he was thinking of me as "wife material."

He said he would marry me if I got ny nose fixed. Now, I do have a big nose, but I accepted it as part of me, and it goes with my face, so I never considered getting it fixed. Frankly, I don't think it would make that much difference. It's not as though my nose stands between men and my being a perfect beauty.

This young man would make good husband, but I wonder if I should take his proposal under consideration.

MISS S.

DEAR MISS S.: If your nose has never bothered you and you've never considered getting it "fixed", tell the young man that your nose goes where you go. And if he doesn't want you, nose and all, heaven knows he's not for you.

DEAR ABBY: Can you answer a few very simple questions for me? I am the mother of four children and this is very important to me. What is the correct definition of "common-law marriage"? Where is it recognized? What does "community property" mean? Is that the same all over?

Exactly what is the legal definition of "bigamy"? And finally, what does "extradite" mean? I thank you.

GETTING NERVOUS

The day he borrows his Dad's ties will be the day we'll all sigh, "Thank heavens he's back to normal!

Fresh Peace Team Trying for Settlement in Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The stalemated Dominican civil war marked its sixth week today with a fresh peace team of the Organization of American States trying to win a political settlement.

Six previous major efforts to negotiate an agreement ended in failure, including those by Washington, the OAS, the United Nations and the Vatican.

There were reports that the new, three-nation mission, authorized Wednesday by a special OAS conference, brought from Washington a plan for a swift OAS-supervised election. But OAS and U. S. government sources only would say that the election was one of a number of possible compromise solutions under consideration.

An OAS trusteeship followed by an election, and a coalition provisional government were other possibilities.

REJECTED FORMULA

The Dominican rebels already have rejected an election formula proposed by the civilian-military junta. The rebels demanded restoration of the 1963 constitution and creation of a new government before an election.

The new OAS peace effort was launched Friday when its commission met with Msgr. Emanuele Clarizio, the papal nuncio, and with U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett. The Vatican's representative was one of the first to attempt to mediate the conflict.

The remaining 2,000 U. S. Marines, of an original leatherneck force of 6,000, prepared, meanwhile, to leave the Dominican Republic over the weekend.

IN OAS FORCE

The rest of the U.S. force, 12,500 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division and 700 Air Force personnel, have been integrated into the newly formed inter-American force under formal control of the OAS.

★ ★ ★

At Santiago, a city about 100 miles north of the Dominican capital, informed sources said another OAS group, which is investigating alleged violations of human rights in the Dominican Republic, would visit Santiago, San Francisco de Maroris, Puerto Plata and Moca, all in the northern area.

Rebels have claimed that in these areas, soldiers loyal to the junta have repressed civilians favoring the rebels.

The inquiry by the Inter-American Committee on Human Rights was ordered by the OAS after Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, head of the rebel regime, charged junta forces with violations.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Ruben, Brache, the rebels' U.N. representative, said Friday he was forwarding to the organization the names and addresses of 800 persons he claimed the junta executed.

Movie Beauty Says Nudity Not All That Meets the Eye

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — In this nudity age, Mary Ann Mobley, the former Miss America, is getting ahead in movies by keeping her clothes on . . . she primly refuses even to pose in a swim suit.

WILSON

"But swim suit pictures are so tame now that they're considered prehistoric," I told Miss Mobley.

"That's all right with me," she retorted. "I never have posed in a swim suit. I had to appear in a swim suit at the 1958 Miss America Pageant . . . but Miss America never poses in a swim suit after she's been elected. That's the rule and I live up to it."

"Don't people keep telling you 'You've got to sex it up, baby'?" I asked.

"Yes, but MGM just gave me a new 5-year two-picture-a-year contract so maybe these people are wrong."

"But we should do one that's undressed for the European market."

"Why not surprise the Europeans?" she says. "If they're so accustomed to undressed pictures, it would be very intriguing for them to see a picture with no nudity at all."

★ ★ ★

Mary Ann, telling me this at the Hilton Hotel Kismet Lounge recently, just as she was taking off for the Cannes Film Festival—without a bikini!—said, "Another reason I don't do the cheesecake pictures is, I hate the word 'starlet' and that's about the quickest way for you to get that term applied to you."

Dixie Baptists Close Confab

Move to Moderation Sketched for Group

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

★ ★ ★

It sketched a freshly moderating course for the big, predominantly white Southern church body, revising some past positions, and projecting it more strongly into contemporary social concerns.

The convention signaled a shift from "reactionary, negative thinking and introspection to a fresh outlook and spirit," said Dr. Dehoney of Jackson, Tenn., newly elected to a second term.

PROGRESSIVE MATURITY

"The actions taken here indicate a progressive maturity among Southern Baptists as they face the challenges of a lost world and assume a greater responsibility for the great social issues which confront it."

On its final day, the assembly of a record 16,086 "messengers" added some tempering approaches to questions raised.

★ ★ ★

They rejected a motion to ban from Baptist bookstores a book by biblical scholar Ralph Elliott, "The Message of Genesis," which stirred a furor at their convention three years ago.

They turned down another proposal that they condemn the new federal aid-to-education program as a breach of church-state separation, despite oratorical appeals to Baptist sensitivities on the matter that they do so.

Rebel Hostages in Congo May Still Be Alive

LOEPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Hopes rose slightly Friday for about 50 rebel-held white hostages as Congolese troops hacked their way through jungle searching for them.

According to a number of reports received in Leopoldville in the last few days, there is no confirmation that the 50 or so remaining hostages have been slaughtered.

The hostages are the remainder of about 109 persons held by fleeing rebel warriors.

Forty-three have been reported massacred and 11 have been rescued.

While the mercenary-led government troops were inching slowly through the jungle, army reconnaissance planes were trying to spot rebel movements from the air.

Detects Retardation

Sees Passage of Infant-Test Bill

A bill which would require physicians to administer a simple test to detect mental retardation in infants is expected to be passed by the State Legislature this year.

Rep. Robert J. Slingerland, D-Lake Orion, the sponsor of the House-approved bill, said he hoped the Senate would pass the measure sometime this month.

If the legislation is passed, doctors will be required to administer a phenylektonuria (PKU) test to infants shortly after birth, before the child is dischared from the hospital.

STATE TO PAY

Slingerland's bill provides that the state would pay the cost of the test — 40 cents per baby.

Of the 213 hospitals in the state with maternity wards, 65 now administer this test on a routine basis, Slingerland said.

Based on the 174,000 births in Michigan last year, between 15 and 20 youths could have been affected, the legislator said.

UNDER CONSIDERATION

Slingerlend's bill was passed in the House by a 97-1 vote. It is currently under consideration in the Senate.

★ ★ ★ ★

There is also a Senate version of this bill, Slingerland said, with the only different provision being that a doctor could charge the parents for performing the test.

★ ★ ★ ★

JUNE

If this month had been named for Junice Brutus I doubt if it would have been as popular as a date for weddings; but Juno, a beautiful woman, wife of Jupiter and Queen of the Gods, as God-mother of Brides and Grooms — well that's a different story. It's nice to imagine the Queen of the Gods touching her scepter to the heart of each bride, leading her, inspiring her, pointing out steps to favor the success of the marriage — it is indeed a lovely thought.

J. L. VOORHEES

M. E. SIPLE

Thousands of people choose June as a wedding date. The Goddess of all living things, leaves, blossoms, grass, bulbs, eggs, in a nest, gorgeous rainbows, showers and gentle breezes are part of June. It is a time when all Nature builds color, song, scent, rippling streams and quick growth of desert plants and their seeds to reproduce themselves and to feed a million animals. June is an ideal time to start a new life, send down new roots for a stronger America.
