For 4-H Fair

Parade Starts Events

The long green and white line marched up Saginaw Street yesterday, punctuated here and there by music and covered with smiles.

In spirit, it took the hearts of Oakland County 4-H youngsters right to the fairground at the corner of Walton and Perry.

There the annual 4-H Fair began today, eliminating a year of work by some 1,300 county youngsters who are entering their projects in competition for the coveted ribbons and chance to represent the county at the Michigan State 4-H Fair.

The 4-Hers beckoned the spectators who lined the street to "Come to the Fair."

Their welcome went out to all and was represented by the parade theme, "Hands Extended."

WINS FIRST PRIZE
The Ro-Hi Club broadened the scope of that offer and took first prize with its float entitled "Hands Extended to World Peace."

The green and white unit featured a large revolving globe. Behind it were five youngsters in costumes of other lands surrounded by the flags of several nations.

Bloomfield 4-Hers placed second with their float depicting "4-H Extends a Hand for Larger Service."

Steps bearing the motto led up to the 4-H insignia. On the four corners of the pyramid were senior members of the club reaching out in the traditional sign of friendship.

The board last month asked that a wide median strip be constructed and that the pavement be expanded to three lanes in each direction, rather than two.

In their resolution, they noted that the accident rate on the arterial highway is rapidly increasing.

Their first appeal was to S. J. Levine, district traffic engineer, late in June.

Highway department representatives then suggested that a steel barrier be installed up the median to prevent head-on collisions, that Telegraph be widened north of Maple to provide better transition from three to two lanes and that some 87 no-left-turn signs be installed immediately at intersections along the strip.

BOARD DECISION
A month later, the township board decided to contact Mackie and Gov. Romney.

Mackie's reply released to day indicated Telegraph Road "did not have a sufficiently high priority to place it in the Second Five-Year Plan" covering the period through June 30, 1967.

The department, he noted, is short of funds and expects to clear up only approximately 45 per cent of the state's needs within the next three years.

Mackie said all projects are considered on a strict priority basis. Meanwhile, the township's request will be kept on file.

"They haven't even put up the no-left-turn signs," Township Clerk Mrs. Deloris V. Little said today.

Two flagbearers carried the American and 4-H standards before the float and junior members of the club followed it on foot adding the phrase "Friendship and Peace" to the theme.

The hands of time were extended on the third-place float, offered by the members of the East-Orion Club. The next unit, entitled "Time for Peace through 4-H," featured (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Telegraph Improvement Is at Least 3 Years Away

Telegraph Road in Bloomfield Township will not be improved for at least three years.

Township officials have received the word from State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie in reply to a petition from the township board.

The board last month asked that a wide median strip be constructed and that the pavement be expanded to three lanes in each direction, rather than two.

In their resolution, they noted that the accident rate on the arterial highway is rapidly increasing.

Deadlock Over Troop Position Cyprus Threat

Menaces U. N. Peace as Turkish Jets Still Fly Reconnaissance

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A deadlock between Turkey and Cyprus about Greek Cypriot troop dispositions on the northwest coast today menaced the peace restored shakily under U.N. auspices.

Turkish jets maintained reconnaissance flights.

Premier Ismet Inonu's Ankara administration was reported continuing military preparations to back up its demand that Greek Cypriot forces give up three Turkish Cypriot villages they have occupied since last Wednesday, and withdraw from their encirclement of the port of Kokkina.

Cyprus Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou declared the Greek Cypriot forces will never withdraw in the Kokkina area.

"Greek Cypriots are ready to die to the last man or win," Kyprianou told newsmen before flying to Athens for consultation with Greek government about the latest crisis.

U. N. Secretary-General U. Thant has said Turkey accepted unconditionally the appeal for a cease-fire, but Western diplomats in Ankara said it is insisting strongly that the coastal area be cleared of Greek Cypriot troops before the truce can be fully accepted.

U. N. TROOPS
These sources said the only compromise Turkey might be persuaded to accept would be for the captured villages to be turned over to U.N. troops instead of reoccupied by Turkish Cypriot forces.

Refugees massed around Kokkina could then return to their homes under U.N. protection.

U. N. headquarters said Turkish planes flew over an area south of the village of Alevga, near the scene of recent fighting, for 25 minutes this morning but did not open fire.

Only a few isolated gunshots were heard during the night as both Greek and Turkish Cypriots observed the truce, the U.N. said.

At the order of Secretary-General U. Thant, the U.N. police force mobilized its limited manpower to prevent another outbreak.

Barry Explanation Called Step Toward Party Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican senators see in Sen. Barry Goldwater's explanation of his words on extremism a step toward party unity for the presidential campaign.

"This is a step consistent with making it possible for all groups in the party to support him," Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire said yesterday of the GOP presidential nominee.

"This conciliatory attitude is more important than the state-meat itself."

Goldwater offered his explanation in a letter to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In it, the Arizona senator explained what he had intended to convey with his acceptance speech declaration that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice... moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Goldwater said he would paraphrase those remarks to read "wholehearted devotion to liberty is unassailable and... halfhearted devotion to justice is indefensible."

GOOD SYMPTOM

Cotton called the explanation "a good symptom that Barry is beginning to accept the responsibilities of a nominated candidate."

Goldwater carries his effort to unify his party to Hershey, Pa., tomorrow for a summit meeting of Republican leaders.

All told, 38 of them, including 14 governors are to be on hand. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will address them at a luncheon meeting after the Republicans talk about party unity and strategy in closed-door sessions.

Goldwater will meet Saturday in Washington with the 50 Republican state chairmen and with finance chairmen.

Highest Mark Announced to Drive Trustees

55 Agencies Served by Fund in Pontiac, Neighbor Townships

Asking again for communitywide support, the Pontiac Area United Fund has announced a record goal of $815,500 for its 1964 campaign.

Bruce J. Annett, general chairman of this year's fund-raising effort, announced the mark yesterday at a luncheon for United Fund trustees at the Waldron Hotel.

The 1964 total is 5 per cent higher than last year's goal. In 1963, the UF target was $776,700.

"The higher goal is realistic and can be reached by everyone working just a little harder," Annett said.

"We hope to raise more money for the many in the Pontiac area who use the services of United Fund's 55 agencies," the Pontiac leader added.

AREAS COVERED

The 1964 annual solicitation, the 16th planned by Pontiac Area United Fund, will cover Pontiac, Brandon, Oxford, Independence, Orion, Pontiac and Waterford townships.

Annett announced that Charles Brown, division manager of Consumers Power, will lead industrial collection volunteers. This unit provides the bulk of UF contributions.

Divisional goals will be announced prior to the kickoff of the Oct. 13-Nov. 6 campaign.

Jack C. Brannack, coowner and secretary-treasurer of the J. L. Van Wagener Agency, Inc., is in charge of commercial collections.

OTHER CHAIRMEN

Mrs. Merrill Petrie is heading the Women's division, while John A. Riley, advertising director of The Pontiac Press, is advance gifts chairman.

Donald J. Frey, new Pontiac UF director, said the higher goal is needed to meet increasing service demands of the 55 agencies which the Pontiac area fund supports.

Will Fight Kennedy Bid

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Any move by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to obtain the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator from New York state will be challenged in the courts, forces of Rep. Samuel S. Stratton said today.

Stratton is an undeclared candidate for the nomination.

George Palmer, Schenectady County Democratic chairman and a top strategist in the Stratton camp, said he would ask the state courts to block a Kennedy nomination if the attorney general announced his candidacy.

Palmer said he would hold that Kennedy did not meet the residency qualifications for nomination.

Boating Death Still Probed

Detectives continuing their investigation into the death of Alan Akler on Cass Lake were in Lansing today checking boat registrations of a number of craft that have been on the lake this summer.

The list of more than 100 is a compilation of those recorded by motor deputies as routine procedure.

At the Secretary of State's Office, records will enable detectives Harry Jones of the Sheriff's Office and Ned Seeth of the state police to eliminate all but inbound boats.

Witnesses have told police that it was a large inbound boat that killed Akler when it passed over him Aug. 3 and sped away from the scene.

The remaining registration numbers of inbound boats will be checked against those whose owners have already been questioned. If the owner of craft on the list has not been questioned he will be contacted by police.

$2,600 REWARDS

Since Akler met his death while swimming in a marked off area, rewards totaling $2,600 have been offered for the arrest and conviction of one or more of the guilty parties.

Three or four young men are believed to have been in the hit-and-run craft when it struck Akler.

Sheriff Frank Irons has promised the full protection of his department to anyone who comes forward with information leading to the arrest of the responsible parties.

Irons said he would meet "any time, any place" with persons having information.

Rain Will Continue Through Evening

Scattered thunder showers arriving early this morning will continue throughout the evening.

Skies will clear with temperatures cool, the low about 58 to 63 tonight.

Partly cloudy and cooler is the forecast for tomorrow, the high in the mid 70s. Fair and cool is the outlook for Thursday.

The low recording prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 66. At 2 p.m. the reading was 70.

Thunderstorms from early morning until 1 p.m. measured .46 of an inch. Rainfall was heavier in surrounding areas. Gordon Haupt of the Oakland County Drain Commission office said.

Girl Breaks Boy's Ferris Wheel Record

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Pretty Patricia Jones ended her marathon ferris wheel ride at 10:55 a.m. today, after 40 continuous hours of spinning at the rate of six revolutions per minute.

The 16-year-old, brown-eyed Sidney High School junior was obviously weary, but happy at setting what she claims as a record on the county fair contraption.

There to greet her as she stepped off the wheel, her legs a bit wobbly, was 15-year-old Chuck Rodgers of Botkins who set a record of 25 hours, 6 minutes at the Shelby County Fair last week.

He offered his congratulations, and then the wheel operator, Franklin Massey, presented her a bouquet of roses.

"I'm tired," was about all Patricia could say before she headed home for bed. She got on the wheel at 6:55 p.m. Sunday, spent the nights wrapped up in a blanket but getting very little sleep.

At the rate of travel on the wheel of about 7 1/2 miles per hour, fair attendants figured Patricia had traveled about 300 miles without going anywhere.

Emergency Amendment

City Will Change Sizes of 2 Precincts

Pontiac voting Precinct No. 23 will be bigger after tonight's City Commission meeting, and Precinct No. 24 smaller. Commissioners are slated to act on an emergency amendment to the city's precinct ordinance. The amendment would divide precincts in accordance with the state's apportionment and districting plan.

The boundary line between legislative districts 62 and 63 is East Boulevard, which runs through Precinct 24.

The effect of this would be that some voters in Precinct 24 would vote for one set of candidates for state legislature and some would have to vote for another set, depending on which legislative district they reside in.

The ordinance up for action would move the eastern boundary of Precinct 23 to East Boulevard. It now follows Francis.

CHANGES

Thus, voters living between Francis and East Boulevard would vote for one set of candidates for state legislature and some would have to vote for another set, depending on which legislative district they reside in.

Restaurateur Vows He'll Never Integrate

ATLANTA (AP)—Lester Maddox, operator of a segregated restaurant, continued resistance to federal court orders today with the declaration, "We're not going to ever integrate."

Maddox, denied a stay in federal court orders yesterday in Washington by Justice Hugo Black of the Supreme Court, placed his boxes of ex-handled outside his restaurant when it opened at 11 a.m.

Two Negro youths had entered half an hour earlier but left when told the restaurant did not open until 11 a.m. They said they would return but did not come back after the opening.

Maddox also placed a fully dressed manikin on a bench in front of the restaurant. As news-men watched, he turned the manikin over, stabbed it in the back and said:

"This manikin represents what has happened to the American free enterprise system. It has been stabbed in the back."

He told newsmen: "Agitators will be fools to come out here."

LAST SUPPER

The cafeteria-style Pickrick Restaurant was crowded with customers after it opened. Maddox told some of those entering:

"Eat all you can. It may be the last supper."

Asked by newsmen if he would go to jail, he said he did not know. He said "it had become a law in this country to disobey the law if a person doesn't believe in it."

He said if his restaurant is forced to close, 44 Negro employees and 23 white workers, including himself and family, would lose their jobs.

BARRY HEADQUARTERS

"If it is closed I will make this headquarters for the Americans for Goldwater for President," he said.

In Washington Monday, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black turned down requests by the restaurant owner and an Atlanta motel for an order staying effectiveness of a decision that the act's public accommodations section is constitutional.

These were the first court tests of the act.

Romney in 'Capital Prior to 'Summit'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George W. Romney was in Washington today for regional economic discussions before his trip to Hershey, Pa., for tomorrow's Republican summit meeting.

Romney, here for the second time in less than a week, is taking part in a series of meetings aimed at obtaining more research and development contracts for the Midwest—including Michigan.

But it's the stop at Hershey that is expected to attract most of the public interest on his trip.

Most of those attending the summit conference already have endorsed Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy, but Romney will have with him all-out backing of the Arizona senator.

Bus, Truck Crash; 1 Dead, Several Hurt

WILLOW HILL, Pa. (AP)—A Greyhound bus and a loaded truck crashed on the Pennsylvania Turnpike today, killing one person aboard the bus and injuring several others.

In other business, commissioners will be asked to hear a report from Homer D. Hoskins, manager of Pontiac Municipal Airport, on the amounts of city, state and federal funds spent to ward improving the airport since its establishment.

Commissioners will also get copies of the recent survey of aviation facilities for Oakland County by Leigh-Fisher Associates, Inc.

FUTURE EXPANSION

This is in connection with the possibility of future expansion of the airport by a joint city-county authority, which has been under study for two years.

Commissioners will also be asked to okay expenditures to cover the city's share of new traffic signals being installed on West Huron at Williams and Webster streets.

The commission is also scheduled to get seven recommendations for improvement regarding zoning requests. Two zoning ordinances will be up for final adoption tonight.

Stated for presentation are cost estimates for proposed public improvements on projects—on parts of Baldwin, Whittemore, Cottage, Emery and Balboa Place.

The bus careened against the rail and came to a stop in the left lane.

break of fighting along Cyprus' northwest coast.

SCOUTING MISSION

Turkey said it would send its jets on scouting missions until the U.N. troops can enforce the truce and Greek Cypriots withdraw from positions they captured in the last six days.

The Turkish Air Force began its retaliation raids after the Greek Cypriots opened a drive Aug. 5 on the only remaining Turkish Cypriot coastal strip.

The Cyprus government charges that Turkish troops and armaments were being landed at the Turkish Cypriot fishing village of Kokkina.

The crisis left the government of Cyprus badly split, possibly impairing the political strength of Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president. Rightists and leftists in the cabinet exchanged angry words over whether to count on Greece or the Soviet Union for help, informants said.

BOTH DISAPPOINTED

Both factions were disappointed by the less than wholehearted support they received from Greece and the Soviet Union.

In Athens, Greek Premier George Papandreu indicated Monday night he does not look forward to a war over Cyprus with Turkey, Greece's eastern Mediterranean partner in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Welcoming the cease-fire, Papandreu said:

"The Greek government repeats the assurance that it will support peace and will contribute to achieving a peaceful and just solution of the Cyprus problem."

In Ankara, a Turkish government spokesman accused Makarios of trying to push Greece into a war with Turkey, but he added:

"It will be my purpose to take fullest possible advantage of this opportunity by exerting every effort toward constructive peace keeping arrangements in all areas of the island." He gave no indication of any new measures the United Nations might be planning.

The U.N. force on Cyprus numbers almost 6,000 officers and men, but it couldn't prevent Greek Cypriots from attacking Turkish Cypriot villages on the northwest coast last week. Turkey says these attacks prompted its air raids.

No Conditions on Cease-Fire

Thant Pledges U.N. Try to Keep Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Monday night Turkey and Cyprus have accepted a cease-fire without conditions. He pledged that the United Nations would exert every effort to keep the peace on Cyprus.

Thant's statements were made in a report to U.N. Security Council members, circulated shortly after the Turkish and Cyprus governments announced they would enforce a cease-fire. The Turks declared, however, that they would continue reconnaissance flights over Cyprus until Greek Cypriot forces withdrew to positions they occupied Aug. 5.

In his statement, Thant said: "It is gratifying and encouraging that both governments have responded positively and without conditions."

"These decisions of the two governments now afford an opportunity for definitely ending the fighting and relaxing tension in Cyprus."

TRY TO AVOID

"As far as we know the Greek government wants to avoid any conflict with Turkey. We do not want it. But if there is a war, Makarios will bear the sole responsibility."

Greece took the view that Monday's attack by two Turkish F4M jets on the town of Polis may have been the result of a delay in transmission of orders to some Turkish air bases.

The Greek Cypriots claimed 10 persons were wounded when the jets strafed the village square. A Turkish government spokesman denied the report.

UNIT AWARDS

The Bloomfield walking unit placed second and Oak Hill third.

Judges for the event were Stanley Rogel of the Michigan State Fair; Lynn Dunbar, a teacher at Barsum Junior High School in Birmingham; and Mrs. E. A. Reimert of The Pontiac Press.

James Carey of Troy, chairman of the cooperative extension committee in the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, was parade marshal. Also in an open car was Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

Making their first public appearance as 1964 4-H king and queen were Tim Phillips and Janet Lessiter of the East Orion Club.

Interpersed among the 4-H units were clowns, ponies, tractors and other vehicles.

Music was provided by a Lake Orion High School Band and the Detroit Edison Co. callope.

LBJ Gets Poverty Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to President John F. Kennedy today the $497.5 million anti-poverty bill designed to give work to idle youth and to help low-income families get off relief.

Completing congressional action, the Senate accepted House amendments to the original Senate version even though some were disliked by sponsors of the bill. The Senate action was by voice vote.

Enactment of the bill was a major victory for Johnson who had given the legislation highest priority in the closing days of the session.

It was opposed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

The money figures in the bill are authorizations.

VOTE NECESSARY

Congress must vote appropriations in a supplemental bill if the program is to get started this fall.

Sargent Shriver, who is expected to be named to administer the program, has estimated it should reach 600,000 persons directly in the first year and up to 7 million families through community action projects.

Before passing the bill Saturday, the House put into it what some senators called a disturbing loyalty oath and governors' provisions over some projects.

But Senate sponsors decided against making any fight over these points.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said that "while we don't like some parts of it, we're going to take the House bill in order to get moving on this program."

Okay Exploring of Costs for Underground Lots

BIRMINGHAM — The city administration last night was authorized by the City Commission to explore the cost of underground parking in the Shain Park area as part of an over-all study on parking facilities.

Commissioner David Brick requested the study, saying "It is possible that in 20 years we may be 'sorry we do not have underground parking.'"

Other commissioners agreed that this should be investigated when a study is made on structural parking facilities.

Brick limited his proposal to that area under Shain Park and immediately south of it, where there is now a surface parking lot.

"This is an area we want to keep attractive," Brick said. "This may be the answer."

Brick added that federal aid might be used to cut costs since the underground facility could be used as a civil defense shelter.

WALKIE-TALKIES

The purchase of two walkie-talkies for patrolmen walking beats in the downtown area at night was approved by the commission.

The cost of the Motorola equipment is $1,722.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said the portable radio would keep the two officers on the beat.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipinger said final reinforced steel work on the drain enclosure, at Perry and Water and south of Orchard Lake, should be installed within a week and the river diverted through it.

Roadbed preparation of West Wide Track is in an advanced stage, Neipinger reported, and actual paving operations should closely follow completion of the drain.

End of the labor dispute came yesterday when members of the 500-man Reinforced Steel Workers Local 426 of Detroit, affiliated with the Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers Union accepted a two-year contract.

BOOSTS WAGES

Local 426 business agent Regis O'Brien said the agreement boosts base wages from $4.10 an hour to $4.48, with another 25 cents hourly to be added next May.

Besides new pension and vacation provisions, "It gives us a lot more say on safety and working conditions," said O'Brien, "and one contract covering all 34 counties of our jurisdiction instead of the two we had before."

The union strike against contractors affected heavy building projects throughout Southeast Michigan where pouring of concrete around reinforcing steel was involved.

Among them was the $30-million southeast Macomb County drain program which had already been delayed almost two months over another strike, and a new General Motors plant at Saginaw.

The master gave his position as that of 2,000 miles northwest of Honolulu, headed for Japan.

The Coast Guard gave the St. Nicholas the names of six other ships in the area that might have a doctor aboard, but none was within 500 miles. The Coast Guard also suggested to the master he put in at the nearest naval base, Midway Island, if possible.

Delay Is Over on Wide Track

Striking Steelworkers Accept New Contract

Last major hurdle to clearing West Wide Track was passed yesterday when striking reinforced steelworkers voted to accept a new contract.

Their eight-day walkout had halted completion of the Clinton River Drain enclosure which in turn delayed paving on the final portion of Wide Track, from Orchard Lake Avenue south to Saginaw.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipinger said final reinforced steel work on the drain enclosure, at Perry and Water and south of Orchard Lake, should be installed within a week and the river diverted through it.

Roadbed preparation of West Wide Track is in an advanced stage, Neipinger reported, and actual paving operations should closely follow completion of the drain.

Redwood on Its Own in Life Fight

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Forest rangers said "now it's up to the tree," as they fought to save a massive, 20-century-old redwood from a fire smoldering within its trunk.

The tree, which towers to a height of 200 feet in Sequoia National Forest, was hit twice by lightning last week.

Since then, fire has nagged at the trunk 150 feet from the ground, marked by an outpouring of smoke but rarely showing flames.

"We've done all we can to save her," said Gene Sadler, foreman of the Milo forestry station. "Now we can only watch to see if the tree will resist the fire by itself."

"HOLDS ITS OWN"

"At present, it seems to be holding its own."

Since lightning first struck the tree last Tuesday, as many as 50 men have tried to stop the fire, aided by a helicopter, a pumper truck and a bulldozer.

Because of the height of the fire, the pumper couldn't put it out. Ten loads of chemicals dropped from the helicopter went off the foliage above the fire like water off a duck's back.

A ranger described the burning redwood as "a female seed tree and parent of most of the redwoods in the area" — about 150 miles north of Los Angeles in the Sierra foothills.

Tell of Knifings by Crewman

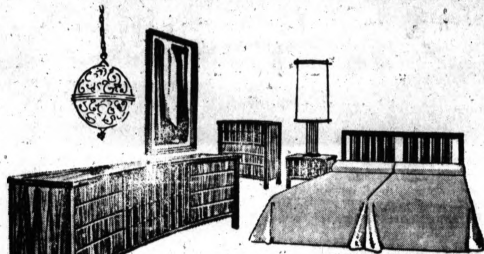

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A ship in mid-Pacific radioed the Coast Guard Monday night that her boatman had stabbed one crewman to death and injured another man who they slept and was terrorizing the rest of the crew with a knife.

The ship was identified as the St. Nicholas, which the Coast Guard said was of Lebanese registry.

The master gave his position as that of 2,000 miles northwest of Honolulu, headed for Japan.

The Coast Guard gave the St. Nicholas the names of six other ships in the area that might have a doctor aboard, but none was within 500 miles. The Coast Guard also suggested to the master he put in at the nearest naval base, Midway Island, if possible.

Report Murder Weapon Still Sought

Autopsy on Rights Trio Remains Secret

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The results of an official state autopsy on the bodies of three slain civil rights workers remained a closely guarded secret today, one week after the badly decomposed remains were found buried under a 20-foot earthen dam.

Neshoba County Attorney W. Rayford Jones said a summary of the autopsy report "probably" would be made public eventually but declined to set a tentative date.

The FBI continued its painstaking investigation into the deaths of the three young men whose bodies were found last Tuesday on a farm four miles from Philadelphia, Miss.

The FBI steadfastly has refused to comment on the progress of the investigation or on a weekend statement by President Johnson that an early break in the case was expected.

There were reports that failure to find a murder weapon was holding up arrests.

NOT RECEIVED

Cornor Cecil Jackson said at Philadelphia he had not received the autopsy report but would reconvene the coroner's jury and "try to reach a verdict" as soon as the report comes in. He said he didn't know the reason for the delay.

Jones said he was still awaiting results of laboratory tests made by the FBI before releasing the autopsy.

The FBI issued its usual "no comment" to this, but reliable sources said there was no direct connection between the lab tests and the autopsy.

BEATINGS UNMENTIONED

An earlier, unofficial report said the state autopsy would show all three workers were shot but it made no mention of beatings.

Dr. David M. Spain, a New York physician who examined the body of James Chaney, 22-year-old Meridian, Miss., Negro, after it was released to the family said he found evidence of a severe beating, probably with a blunt instrument or a chain.

He also performed a second, private autopsy on the body of Michael Schwerner, 24, of Brooklyn, but found nothing to indicate Schwerner was beaten before he was shot.

Only the official autopsy was performed on Andrew Goodman, 20, of New York City, the third victim in the sensational case.

The three had been taking part in a Negro voter registration campaign when they were dropped from sight June 21.

They were in the Philadelphia area to investigate the burning of a Negro church. The Council of Federated Organizations (COFO), sponsors of

USE 'SCHOOL-MOBILE'

A spokesman said a bus would be used as a "school-mobile" in the area until a permanent site could be found.

COFO also disclosed plans to hold a mass demonstration at Philadelphia or Meridian soon to protest the slayings.

About 100 Negro and white civil rights workers demonstrated yesterday in Greenville.

The group gathered in front of the local post office to sing freedom songs and listen to speeches. They carried signs saying: "No More Bombings and Murders."

The arrests late Monday came through clues uncovered by Detective Sgts. Donald Coleman and Lee Coty while investigating an unrelated crime.

Held without bond were J. W. Rich, 21, Wayne M. Chessman, 21, and Elmer Kato, 19, all of Jacksonville.

They are charged with the March 23rd death of 35-year-old Mrs. Johnnie Mae Chappell. She was fatally shot in the stomach while searching for a lost wallet along U.S. 1. Several blocks away, police were then trying to quell riots.

SIGNED STATEMENT

Coleman and Coty said Rich signed a statement saying he fired the fatal shot from a passing car. The officers said Chessman signed a statement saying he was in the car at the time.

A 22-caliber revolver, believed to be the death weapon, has been found, police said.

Racial unrest reached a violent stage here during spring demonstrations by Negroes demanding integration.

Rioting, resulting in shootings, stabbings and property damage, broke out two days after Jacksonville Mayor Haydon Burns, now Democratic nominee for governor, deputized 496 firemen to aid the city's 500 policemen to keep the peace.

At that time, Burns said in a televised speech that Negroes did not have the right "to force their presence" at hotels, restaurants and other businesses.

Racial tension eventually eased through the appointment of a biracial committee. Mrs. Chappell's death at the height of demonstrations was the only fatality.

Jail 3 Men in Florida Shooting

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)

Three white men were jailed on murder charges today while police sought a fourth in the fatal shooting of a Negro woman during race riots last March.

HOW OLD-FASHIONED IS THE MILKING STOOL?

Modern dairy farms are a far cry from the days of the milk pail and the three legged stool. Today, cows enter milking parlors or stanchions where automatic milking machines do the work. Yet, in another sense, the old milk stool is far from old-fashioned, because those three legs symbolize the three major aspects of today's dairy industry. (1) The farmer who produces the milk, (2) the cooperative which markets the milk for the farmer, (3) the dairy which processes and delivers the milk to you. Cooperatives are owned and operated by the dairy farmers they serve. They give these farmers a strong voice in the marketing of their products. They also provide many special services and guarantees which an individual farmer, working alone, could not provide himself. The result of this united effort is a more stable market for the dairy farmer and, for you, an uninterrupted supply of wholesome fresh milk. Thanks to the three-way cooperation among farmers, cooperatives and dairies.

Paraders Become Competitors

4-H Fair Features Exhibits Today

Oakland County's 4-H'ers continued their march today, but instead of trooping through downtown Pontiac, they paraded into the 4-H fairgrounds with their exhibits.

Yesterday, floats, walking units and other 4-H eye-catchers paced down Saginaw street, pleasing the sideline viewers.

With their signs and shouts, the participants urged everyone to attend the fair, which opened at 10 a.m. today on the county fairgrounds, off Perry just south of Walton.

From 1 to 6 p.m. today, home economic judging will highlight the activities.

The best of the year in the areas of photography, horticulture, poultry and rabbits will also be set up and on display, along with the general exhibits.

KING AND QUEEN

Tonight, beginning at 7 p.m., a half-hour of music will precede coronation of this year's 4-H king and queen, the dress review and the traditional freckles contest.

Visitors by the thousands are expected to pass through the stables, guestsets and dormitory at the fairgrounds during the next five days until the annual event comes to a close with the horse club event at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Tomorrow will feature beef judging and beef showmanship, as well as swine, vegetable and flower identification competition.

Highlighting the evening activities will be a tractor operator's contest and demonstration and senior beef showmanship.

FLAG CEREMONY

Thursday, like other fair days, will begin with the 7:30 a.m. flag-raising ceremony.

Demonstrations and competition will follow in the morning in sheep and western halter categories. Dog obedience will also be illustrated Thursday, in the afternoon and evening.

Livestock will be sold in the evening's closing event at 8 p.m.

At 9 a.m. Saturday, horse auction classes will raise the dust of the recently expanded showing. Exhibits will be released beginning at 1 p.m.

Annually the fair is the high-point of the year-long activities for some 2,000 4-H'ers in the county.

Reigning over this year's fair will be the new king and queen, Tim Phillips, 17, and Janet Leslier, 18, both officers of the East Orion 4-H Club.

Keego Curfew to Be Enforced

Complaints Increase on Teen-Ager Parties

KEEGO HARBOR — The police department has issued a warning to teen-agers — it is going to crack down on the city's curfew ordinance.

Chief Kenneth Sisk said police are receiving an increasing number of complaints about youngsters running around and partying at night.

He quoted three sections of the code which provide that it is "unlawful for any minor under the age of 17 years to loiter, idle, wander, stroll or play" on streets or other public grounds between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Youngsters can, however, be in the street with a parent or if an emergency arises.

"Parents and guardians are held responsible for the youngsters under the ordinance."

Minors charged with violating the code will be dealt with in Juvenile Court, and adults will be tried for a misdemeanor.

New Pastor Is Appointed for Church in Orion Twp.

ORION TWP. — Very Rev. Magr. Arthur M. Karey, vice chancellor of the Detroit archdiocese, has been appointed pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Magr. Karey, chairman of the archdiocese's building committee, will fill the vacancy left by the recent death of Rev. R. Vincent Myrick. Father Myrick died Aug. 2, after leading the church for six years.

Former assistant chancellor of the Detroit archdiocese, Magr. Karey completed graduate study in canon law at Latarean University, Rome, from 1952 to 1957.

Prior to that he was assistant at St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church, Detroit, and in 1952 appointed as notary in the chancery office of the Archdiocese Tribunal office.

Magr. Karey, 46, was also chaplain at the Catholic Youth Organization camp in Carsonville in 1952 and earlier was assistant at St. Lawrence Catholic Church, Detroit, and St. Francis Xavier, Ecorse.

He was born in Detroit and was ordained in 1944 after completing theological studies.

The new pastor will begin his duties at St. Joseph's Thursday.

Promote Patrolman to Rochester Post

ROCHESTER — Raymond Russell, patrolman with the Rochester Police Department for the last 15 years, is the new police sergeant effective yesterday.

Russell will take over the former duties of Police Chief Robert Werth, who replaced Samuel Howlett in July.

Working on the 3-11 p.m. shift, he will run the department in the absence of Chief Werth and supervise the force's six patrolmen.

Russell is the father of five children and lives with his wife, Winifred, at 657 Harrison.

Parade Pacer — The Ro-Hi Club float, picked first among the eight in yesterday's annual 4-H Fair parade up Saginaw Street, expressed the special need of outgoing friendship in today's world. The green and white float exemplified the parade's theme, "Hands Extended to World Peace."

No Sabre Jet for Playground

MILFORD — The village park is no place for a Sabre jet, village councilmen decided last night.

Offered the airplane for the park now under development, councilmen decided to stick with the more traditional playground equipment.

Gordon Nesler of 188 Shelley, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration employee, suggested a decommissioned Air Force plane could be obtained for local youngsters.

However, the city has a master plan for the park which utilizes most of the area. Councilmen also cited potential maintenance and safety hazard problems in declining the offer.

They accepted the resignation of Harry Mead, village attorney for 15 years, and appointed Gene Scholz of Walled Lake to replace him.

ON SEPT. 1

The resignation, which Mead said he filed to concentrate on his private practice, will be effective Sept. 1.

Milford's new zoning board of appeals will hold its organizational meeting tonight at 7:30 in the village office.

Members recently appointed by the council are Albert Agnew, Donald Farley, James Benson, Dennis Boyle and Sanford Burton.

Boat Explodes; Man Escapes Serious Injury

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — A Mount Clemens man escaped serious injury last night when his boat exploded, burned and sank in Lake St. Clair.

Donald L. Wellman, 31, was returning alone from a fishing trip when his 26-foot boat exploded at 8:10 p.m. about one-half mile from the mouth of the Clinton River.

Wellman was tossed against the side of his boat by the impact, but recovered and jumped into the water.

He was rescued by Lawrence More of Ulica who was driving a boat near the accident scene.

Wellman suffered minor bruises to his left shoulder. The boat burned and sank in six feet of water. Macomb County Sheriff's Deputies said the boat would be recovered today.

BLAST CAUSE

Deputies said the cause of the explosion was a voltage regulator that stuck and overcharged the battery, causing it to explode. The battery explosion ignited oil that was seeping from a leaking filter, deputies said.

Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Parks Attendance at 1,309,000

Combined attendance at the four largest Huron-Clinton Metropolitan parks exceeded 1,309,000 persons in July, Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the authority, announced today.

Helping achieve the new record was the opening of Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, near Rochester, Ulica and Romeo, which had over 237,000 visitors during a 26-day period from July 6 through July 31.

Also a major factor was that Metropolitan Beach along Lake St. Clair near Mount Clemens turned in record-breaking attendance with over 448,000 visitors and topped the previous high of 378,000 persons set in July of 1961.

Despite these gains, both Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville turned in their lowest park attendance in a seven-year period.

Kensington Metropolitan Park had 370,000 visitors last month compared to the 1958 record high of 483,000 and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park had 237,000 visitors last month compared to a high of over 348,000 established in July of 1961.

Recreation and service facilities at most Huron-Clinton parks received increased usage. Some of the July highlights are as follows, with 1964 figures preceding 1963 totals:

METROPOLITAN BEACH near Mount Clemens — July Use — Swimming Pool — 45,800; Par 3 golf — 8,110 compared to 7,617 in 1963; Roller Skating — 2,640 compared to 2,421 in 1963; Marina usage — 3,459 compared to 2,859 in 1963; Boats launched — 4,129 compared to 4,049 in 1963; Tennis Courts — 1,244 compared to 1,012. Attendance — 448,000 compared to 333,600.

STONY CREEK METROPOLITAN PARK near Rochester, Ulica and Romeo. Boating permits totaled 740, with estimated launchings at 3,000 for the month of July, and fishing has received favorable attention.

Over 8,000 persons visited the Nature Center and a good share of these or more hiking the nature trails.

Coin-operated locker rentals were 3,800 at Baypoint Beach were swimming and sunning were the main activity.

Estimated picnicking exceeded 56,000 persons despite incomplete facilities. Attendance of over 237,000 exceeded even the most optimistic estimates of park officials for the first month of operation.

KENSINGTON METROPOLITAN PARK near Milford, — July Use — Golfers were 6,800 compared to 6,000 in 1963. Boat rentals were 7,200 compared to 5,300 in 1963. Nature Center visitors were 11,900 compared to 11,300 in 1963.

MSU Hosts Meeting of Farm Leaders

EAST LANSING (AP) — More than 2,500 agricultural cooperative leaders from 39 states and six countries were assembled at Michigan State University today for what is billed as the nation's largest annual meeting on farm business.

It was the 36th annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation (AIC), also attracted by leaders from farm cooperatives, business, education and government.

The convention, held at a different last year, was held at the University of Michigan last year.

The new Clarkston Community Schools' budget is $125,000 over the one for the fiscal year that ended June 30.

FOOT ODOR?

New aerosol spray checks perspiration. Keeps feet odor-free 24 hours!

Medical scientists have developed a new aerosol spray that checks perspiration... stops foot odor 24 hours and cools and dries hot, sweaty feet. It's Mennen's Foot Deodorant with triple-action effectiveness to:

1. Kill odor-causing germs on contact with a continuous-acting antiseptic that keeps working all day, all night.
2. Instantly check the flow of perspiration that breeds odor-causing germs—helping block the return of foot odor.
3. Cool, soothe and refresh your hot, tired feet making them dry and comfortable.

Faster, more effective relief Because Mennen Foot Deodorant

OFFER FRIENDSHIP — Second-place winner among parade floats yesterday was the one constructed by Bloomfield 4-H Club members. Ahead of it were two youths carrying the American and 4-H flags. The float was followed by a walking unit continuing the theme with the phrase "for Friendship and Peace." The 20-minute parade heralded the opening of the 4-H Fair, which will run through Saturday.

MARCHES ON — The third-place float of the East Orion 4-H Club also followed an international theme, neatly wrapping it up in a clock and timely suggestion. Club members join forces for their parade entry, then submit individual projects for consideration at the 4-H Fair on Perry near Walton.

Staebler Sees Hope for Medicare Plan

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich., said in a speech Monday there still is a chance that Congress will pass a Medicare program during its present session.

Staebler, a Democratic candidate for governor, said that passage of such legislation "remains one of the unfulfilled commitments of the Democratic party" to senior citizens.

He spoke at a joint meeting of the UAW Senior Citizens Council and the Detroit Metropolitan Council of Senior Citizens at Solidarity House, headquarters of the United Auto Workers union.

"Three-quarters of the 18 million Americans over age 65 either have no private health insurance or inadequate protection," Staebler said.

LONG-TIME FOES

Staebler said that Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the Republican nominee for president, and Gov. George Romney, seeking a second term on the GOP ticket, "have long been opponents of the Medicare program under Social Security."

"Romney, as you may recall, said that he was opposed to the Social Security approach for Medicare," Staebler continued. "He promised on May 21, 1962, that he would produce a better program."

"Well, he has had two years to work on it, but the only thing he has produced for our senior citizens is a lien proposal which would have taken them into the grave."

Russian Sees Chance for Better Relations With Bonn

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the government newspaper Izvestia and son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev, says there is a chance for better relations between West Germany and the Soviet Union.

"It seems to us that Bonn is at a crossroads," Adzhubei reported Monday after a visit to West Germany.

"What forces, what currents and tendencies will gain the upper hand — prudence or recklessness? We cannot decide, and this does not depend on us," he said.

Adzhubei met with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard to explore the possibility of a visit to Bonn by Khrushchev.

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese prosecution demanded today eight to ten months imprisonment for four men accused of organizing the 1960 demonstration against James C. Hagerty, press secretary to former U.S. President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The demonstration forced cancellation of a visit to Japan by Eisenhower and the resignation of then Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi.

The prosecution charged the defendants with "responsibility for undermining Japan's international trust in disregard of laws."

The defendants are being tried at the Tokyo district court. The prosecution said they organized the violent demonstration at Tokyo's Haneda International Airport when Hagerty arrived to arrange Eisenhower's visit. Nearly 8,000 leftist students and labor unionists participated, trapping Hagerty in his automobile for 80 minutes.

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer predicted today U.S.-Japanese relations would experience "a relatively stormy period the next three or four months" but that it would not harm ties between the two allies.

Reischauer told the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan the differences would revolve around Japan's trade with Communist nations, negotiations on a new North Pacific fisheries agreement and an agreement to allow Japanese airliners to fly out of New York.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India is awaiting an answer from Pakistan on a U.N. proposal to establish a 1,000-yard-wide no-man's-land on the Kashmir cease-fire line.

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told the ruling Congress party Monday that India had accepted the U.N. idea as a way of preventing shooting incidents along the frontier.

Chavan said there had been 341 incidents in the last seven months. He did not give any casualty figures.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) —

The U.S. Navy transport Core is expected here Thursday carrying an undisclosed number of helicopters for U.S. forces in Thailand, American military sources said today.

The sources said the shipment, reportedly composed of 134 type helicopters, is part of a major buildup of American military equipment in Thailand over the past few weeks.

The move followed a Communist offensive in neighboring Laos.

Half the U.S. income is spent for food, shelter and clothing.

Lion Makes Escape

No 'Stuntman's Holiday'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In the movies, when a mountain lion sneaks up behind the hero's stuntman, the stuntman turns as the lion leaps and throttles him with his bare hands.

But what does the stuntman do when a real-life lion sneaks up?

"Naturally, I called the police," said stuntman Irv Berniker.

Berniker spotted a snarling mountain lion on a ledge 15 yards above and behind him yesterday as he stood in the back yard of his home in the Santa Monica Mountains.

Berniker told police he'd battled a mountain lion on television last week, but "wasn't about to fool around with the real thing."

Police said the animal escaped into the hills.

Youth Betterment Plan Marks Fiftieth Year

Commemorating the 50th anniversary of the birth of the movement, 2,000 teen-agers enrolled in 75 clubs this week display their skills and handwork at the Oakland County 4-H Fair.

The week-long spectacle began with a parade yesterday and winds up Saturday with action classes for horses and contest events.

In between will be prize competition in the 65 different project divisions embracing domestic science, animal husbandry, agriculture and self-improvement.

This year's 4-H enrollment marks an increase of 500 over a year ago, tangible evidence of the social significance attained by the youth-development agency.

The continuing program is under the administrative direction of the National Land Grant Universities, themselves conceived during the administration of President ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Its legal entity was established in 1914 with the passage of the Smith-Lever Act appropriating Federal funds for the Cooperative Extension Service, of which 4-H is a part.

It is symbolic of Head, Heart, Hand and Health—as fine a group concept, both physical and spiritual, as we can envision.

Well-Deserved Honors for a Grand Old Man

A great American yesterday observed his 90th birthday—surpassing by a score of years the Biblical life span of "three score and ten."

Herbert Hoover, the Nation's 31st President, observed his milestone at a luncheon with a quartet of friends and a family dinner at which he presided, as congratulatory cables, telegrams and letters poured in from around the world.

The date was made memorable for the nonagenarian by proclamations of President Johnson and the Governors of 15 states designating it as HERBERT HOOVER DAY.

Although the oldest living ex-President has been beset by a number of recent illnesses, his physician says the health of the illustrious man is good for one of his years.

In a statement issued for the occasion, Mr. Hoover said that "among us there are greater freedoms for the individual man and woman than in any other Nation."

We reverently salute our exemplary countryman on his long span of life and for his outstanding service not only to America but to many foreign countries.

Pursuit of Science No Cure for Tedium

A good case against over-specialization in science has been made by two University of Michigan researchers.

After a five-year study involving 1,311 scientists and engineers they found that people who spent full time in technical work were less effective and creative than those who spent part of their time on entirely different tasks (but still within their fields), such as administration or teaching.

"There was a hint," they concluded, "that excessive dedication was not healthy and that all work and no diversity was making Jack a dull scientist."

There may be meat for thought here for more than just scientists or employers of scientists.

It will be no news to successful company presidents, most of whom are Jacks of all the trades within their particular trade.

What it amounts to is that an occasional vacation AT work, in the form of a new challenge, can be as important as the annual one away from it.

Smart is the boss who presents these challenges to his workers. On the way up is the man who creates them for himself.

Picking of VP Open to Criticism

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American government, though a work of genius, still has points that are open to criticism.

One is the system for picking vice presidential nominees.

It has come to be assumed that if the presidential nominee of a party wants to decide the choice of his running mate, he can do it.

The argument runs: A president is responsible for his administration, so it is only right that he pick his own team, certainly his No. 2 man.

But is it fair? Is it democratic for one man to make the decision which could be fateful for the country? You can get an argument here.

THE DECIDING VOICE
No one doubts that President Johnson's will will be the deciding one when the Democrats round out their ticket at Atlantic City this month.

Similarly, it was Harry Goldwater who did the deciding for the Republican convention at San Francisco, when the vice presidential choice was William E. Miller.

And everybody knows how singlehandedly John F. Kennedy picked Lyndon B. Johnson to run with him in 1960.

A man running for a presidential nomination has it tough. He frequently has to go through great campaign agonies in a drive for votes—and spend a lot of money.

LOOK GOOD TO NOMINEE
But to become the vice presidential nominee nowadays, a man doesn't have to do anything but look to one other man—the presidential nominee.

It hasn't always been this way. The nation's founding fathers set up a system whereby the runner-up for president became the vice president. That system was junked with the growth of political parties.

And it hasn't always been the case even in recent years that the presidential nominee had the whole say-so on the vice presidential pick. In 1956 Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, left the selection up to the convention.

But for the most part, the presidential nominees more and more have called the vice presidential shots.

GAVE BLESSING TO NIXON
In 1952, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower gave his blessing to Richard M. Nixon for second place on his Republican ticket. He stuck with Nixon again in 1956.

In 1952 John Nance Garner, loser to Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination, was handed the vice presidential nomination.

Later Garner criticized Roosevelt's third term plans. Roosevelt dropped him and picked Henry A. Wallace for his running mate. Then, in 1944 FDR let Wallace go and in the end, it was Harry S. Truman who was vice president when Roosevelt died.

Instantane after instance could be cited of the chance, sometimes almost whimsical, ways in which vice presidents have been chosen.

Yet, eight men picked for vice president for one reason or another—sometimes by one man alone—have succeeded to the most powerful office in the land, not through merit but because the president died.

Prayer Ban Hassle Rekindled

WASHINGTON—Justice William J. Brennan Jr. of the Supreme Court has, unwittingly perhaps, stirred up more controversy on the so-called prayer decisions of the high court.

Mr. Brennan, in an address in New York City to the conferees of chief justices of the states, deplored the criticism which has been leveled at the court, and said:

"Criticism which is falsely premised, hostile, evasive and destructive hardly serves noble ends."

Brennan said that lawyers have a duty "to correct those whose attacks are founded upon exaggerated and distorted notions of what a court has done."

He added:

"To take a specific and current example, lawyers as well as laymen are fully entitled to voice their disagreement with our court's recent decisions concerning prayer in the public schools."

But when such criticism departs completely from what the court actually held and said in those cases, and accuses the court of having deceived the removal of all vestiges of religion from our public life—of chaplains from the armed services, opening prayers for legislative sessions, "In God We Trust" on the coins—when the criticism is directed at this wholly distorted version of the court's decisions, I suggest that it is irresponsible criticism."

CONTRADICTORY NATURE
It is the contradictory nature of the utterances of members of the Supreme Court itself which really puzzles the public.

Justice Black, for example, who wrote the majority opinion in June 1962, in the case which prohibited New York State from directing public school children to recite a particular prayer, did not deal with the question of other forms of religious exercises, voluntary or otherwise, but merely put in a footnote which said:

"There is of course nothing in the decision reached here that is inconsistent with the fact that schoolchildren and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contain references to the Deity or by singing officially espoused anthems which include the composer's professions of faith in a supreme being, or with the fact that there are many manifestations in our public life of belief in God."

"Such patriotic or ceremonial occasions bear no true resemblance to the unquestioned religious exercise that the state of New York has sponsored in this instance."

But the American people were given an entirely different definition in a "concurring opinion" filed in the same case by a member of the majority, Justice Douglas, who wrote:

"It is customary in deciding a constitutional question to treat it in its narrowest form. Yet at times the setting of the question gives it a form and content which no abstract treatment could give."

"The point for decision is whether the government can constitutionally finance a religious exercise."

Bob Considine Says:

Decision to Use A-Bombs Is Still Point of Argument

NEW YORK—These are days of commemorating our national shame, according to the propaganda mills of our enemies and, extraordinarily, some of our friends.

Over the past week, the anniversaries of Hiroshima and Nagasaki were solemnly observed in Japan.

We killed or wounded half a million Japanese.

The acts snuffed out World War II before it could enter a ghastly phase which would have meant Allied invasion of the Japanese homeland and, had the emperor so ruled, resistance which would have caused untold deaths and agonies.

Use of the A-bomb entailed a period of soul-searching still being engaged in within the American conscience.

The sure knowledge that it was the better way of doing things in the worst of possible alternatives is still disputed.

MILITARY CRITICS
Among those who continue to question the hard command decision made by President Truman are a number of old U.S. Army Air Force hands. Notably the immortal Gen. Toey Spaatz.

They still believe Japan was on the ropes and ready to surrender under the weight of conventional high explosives and, worse, fire bombs.

Three more weeks would have brought the Japanese to their knees without the controversial

Gen. Marshall issued the order which held up the final assembly of a third atomic bomb.

In his directive he suggested it would be wise to see how the Japanese reacted to the first two.

The third bomb's target was, surprisingly enough, Tokyo. The Japanese capital was largely in ruins at the time from conventional fire bombing, but it still held about 4 million people.

"Our system at the federal and state levels is presently honey-combed with such financing. Nevertheless I think it is an unconstitutional undertaking whatever form it takes."

This contradiction between two justices who voted for the majority decision has led to a fear that in later cases the Supreme Court might ban the use of the name of the Deity in governmental documents and ceremonies and end the employment of chaplains in governmental services.

Considine

They dispatched a little group to Washington to implore that the bomb never be used. President Truman and Gen. George C. Marshall, who were running the war at that time, were in Potsdam.

The nuclear physicists were shunted through the Pentagon to the office of one of Marshall's deputies and found him completely unimpressed.

He remained so even after the physicists suggested that it might be a good idea to tell the Japanese people that we were in possession of such a destructive bomb and perhaps our description of it would cause them to quit the war then and there.

The people of Hiroshima were told by U.S. leaflet propaganda that they had in store for them if Japan did not surrender. But no one seemed to comprehend as the B29 and its lethal load drummed high over the city at 8:15 a.m. Aug. 6, 1945.

HELD UP ASSEMBLY
Gen. Marshall issued the order which held up the final assembly of a third atomic bomb.

In his directive he suggested it would be wise to see how the Japanese reacted to the first two.

The third bomb's target was, surprisingly enough, Tokyo. The Japanese capital was largely in ruins at the time from conventional fire bombing, but it still held about 4 million people.

The plan was to drop it on the darkest night following the Nagasaki bomb, set its fuse for detonation at 10,000 feet, and create a light that would scald and appall an area holding perhaps 15 million Japanese.

Complains of Magazines Sold at Store

Although I have lived in New York City where just about anything is sold on a newsstand, I still am shocked to find a storekeeper who thinks it's all right to sell and make a profit from perverted sex magazines and Communist propaganda.

A Waterford Township store had six such sheets displayed where junior high school students could help themselves. This is bad enough, but I also noticed a magazine named for and about a Communist satellite country, published in New York by the U.S.S.R. and expounding the virtues of life in their country.

The store manager said he "didn't know" the Communist magazine was on his shelf and that he wasn't going to censor anyone's reading anyway. Have we become afraid to stand up for what we believe is right and decent and patriotic?

Let's teach youngsters to recognize this stuff as trash and propaganda. Juvenile delinquency and communism don't have a chance with a well-informed and alert community.

Most residents will agree that we don't need this novel-type siren in Pontiac and especially at 2 o'clock in the morning. The City Commission ought to pass a new antinoise ordinance and enforce it.

May Pass Congress This Month

Bill Makes Individual Own Mail Censor

By BERT MILLS

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NEA)—Obscenity in the mails is a growing problem, and Congress may pass this month a bill to "protect postal patrons from morally offensive mail."

Legislation to make every man his own censor is already half way through Congress. House passage of the proposal by Rep. Glenn Cunningham (R-Neb.) was voted overwhelmingly, 335 to 19, despite the opposition of the Post Office Department and the Department of Justice.

The landslide vote in the House is rather misleading. The bill was called up under a suspension of the rules, thus limiting debate and forbidding all amendments.

It is probably true that many representatives expected the Senate would kill the bill anyway, and the safe course was to vote against it.

Proponents now believe that by accepting a couple of softening amendments, Senate passage can be attained before adjournment.

If cleared by Congress, the President would be in a difficult position. To veto would lead to charges he favored salacious material in the mailbox.

ALL HAVE RECEIVED

Chances are that most people have received one or more sales letters they regarded as salacious. A typical reaction is to ask why the post office did not ban such objectionable material.

Answer is that our Constitution guarantees freedom of speech. Courts have leaned over backwards to preserve that right. The post office tried to ban "Lady Chatterley's Lover" from the mails. The courts ruled it was literature instead of obscenity, and therefore legal mail.

The post office does not want any new censorship powers. It has troubles enough delivering a constantly rising volume of mail without attempting to decide what is obscene and what is not. Different people have different standards on what is smutty.

OWN DECISION

Under the bill passed by the House, the post office would gain no new censorship powers. The individual recipient of mail would decide what is "morally offensive" to him.

He would then advise the post office that he wishes his name removed from the mailing list of the sender.

The post office would then serve notice on the sender that no more mail is to be addressed to the complaining individual.

If such notice went unheeded and the complaining individual received a second letter from the same source, the post office would issue a complaint against the mailer.

COURT ORDER

If investigation proved that the mailer had indeed ignored the initial notice and failed to remove the complainant's name from his mailing list, the post office would refer the matter to the Justice Department, which would have the power to gain a court order to force the removal of the individual's name from the mailing list.

It will be noted that at no point would the post office or the Justice Department decide on the merits of the claim that a letter was "morally offensive."

This decision would be left to each individual, and of course people would disagree. Ninety-nine out of 100 names on a list

Whites Eying School Boycott

Protest NY Board's Racial Balance Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The Parents and Taxpayers coordinating council has considered calling a white boycott of public schools on opening day, Sept. 14. The boycott would protest the board of education's plan to improve racial balance in schools by transferring some 25,000 white and Negro children from neighborhood schools.

The council sponsored a march on City Hall last March 12 to demonstrate its stand for neighborhood schools. A crowd estimated at 10,000 to 15,000, nearly all whites, marched in rain and snow.

Civil rights leaders staged boycotts Feb. 3 and March 15 for faster and more widespread moves to improve racial balance in schools.

HALF ENROLLMENT

In the first, nearly half the public school enrollment was absent. In the second, about one quarter was absent. Normal absenteeism is about 10 per cent.

There are 1,037,000 pupils in the public school system. About 596,000 are white, 264,000 Negroes and 177,000 Puerto Ricans.

The PAT council met Monday night and one of its leaders, Frederick M. Reuss, declared:

"That this development is necessary is a very sad commentary on the state of affairs in our city."

REFUSE TO LISTEN

"Mayor Robert F. Wagner and his political cronies, by refusing to listen to the voice of the people or to consult with representatives of the majority of the people, have made it necessary for PAT to take this step."

might not object but a single objector could get off the list.

LISTS RENTED

One of the problems raised by the prospective law is that most mailing lists are rented. A magazine, for example, may have a million subscribers.

This list of names and addresses is a valuable asset. The magazine can profit by letting another concern use its list, for a fee.

Reputable concerns are extremely careful with their lists. They will not sell or loan their lists to just any purchaser. They may agree to run off a set of envelopes for a specific company in a noncompetitive field, at a price.

Usually, they refuse to let the list get out of their own office lest it be copied and used for purposes not approved by the list owner.

ABUSES OCCUR

Nevertheless, abuses do occur. Unscrupulous list brokers may sell a list to a smut merchant. Or an obscenity peddler may develop his own list by advertising a free offer.

It is literally true that a perfectly reputable person may find his name on the mailing list of a disreputable concern which is selling sex or something worse.

Innocent children who "sent away" for an innocuous folder may find their name on a list to receive printed material unfit even for adult eyes. Parents may not even know that the plain envelope addressed to their teen-ager contains obscene matter.

Rep. Cunningham has stated the case for his bill this way: "You cannot come into my home unless I invite you. Neither shall you dump trash into my home through the mailbox."

Dem Questions Levin's Dual Role

A dissident Democrat has added his voice to Republicans demanding that County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin give up his post while he campaigns for the State Senate.

The call for Levin's resignation came yesterday from Howard A. Stites, 1988 Stanley, a Pontiac precinct delegate and candidate for Oakland County drain commissioner.

He questioned whether Levin in cash "do justice to the post of county chairman while involved in a primary fight."

Too, Stites wondered if Levin set up the 15th Senate District — in which he is running — during bipartisan reapportionment talks earlier this year.

"After I announced as a candidate I would have preferred to resign so I could concentrate full time on my campaign," commented Levin.

Viet Nam Resolve Shows U.S. Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed the congressional resolution supporting his actions in Southeast Asia and says he hopes it is read around the world as it states plainly "where America stands."

"To any armed attack upon our forces," said the President, "we shall reply."

"To any in Southeast Asia who ask our help in defending their freedom, we shall give it."

With military and congressional leaders grouped around him, Johnson signed the joint resolution Monday with a couple dozen pens in the East Room of the White House.

QUICK PASSAGE

Noting its quick and almost unanimous passage in both houses of Congress, Johnson remarked, "The unanimity of the Congress reflects the unanimity of the country."

Johnson recalled he had asked for the resolution approving his actions after ordering American naval forces last Tuesday to send air strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases in retaliation for attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"This resolution," he added, "confirms and reinforces powers of the presidency. I pledge to all Americans to use these powers with all the wisdom and judgment God grants to me."

With passage of the resolution, he said, "our course is clearly known in every land."

AMERICAN STAND

"There can be no mistake, no miscalculation, of where American stands or what this generation of Americans stands for."

He said in Southeast Asia "there is nothing we covet, nothing we seek. Our one desire, our one determination, is that the people of Southeast Asia be left in peace to work out their own destinies in their own way."

The President repeated his unity theme in a White House luncheon with 200 businessmen.

"The last 10 days," he said, "have reminded us anew of just how vital our unity has come to be. Far away — and near at home — grim and grave challenges have confronted us.

HOW DIFFERENT

"How different America's response might have been, how different America's role might be, if we were today a nation divided by struggles of class or strife between capital and labor."

Seeks Aid at Lieutenant Governors' Confab

Lesinski Wants to Stop Thwarting of Court's Districting Rule

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski is seeking to organize opposition at the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors next week to efforts aimed at thwarting the U.S. Supreme Court's legislative apportionment decision.

In a letter to Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of Texas, copies of which went to all other lieutenant governors, Lesinski said "the last and best hope for survival of our state governments" was the ruling that legislatures must be apportioned on a strict population basis.

Smith is chief spokesman for supporters of a proposed constitutional amendment to allow one house of a bicameral legislature to be districted on factors other than population.

Lesinski, vice chairman of the conference, said he also opposes an Ohio-backed resolution urging Congress to stall the effect of the court decision through its own legislative powers.

CONCERN

"My concern is not in inventing way to avoid the impact of the decision but to see it followed and enforced," Lesinski said in his letter.

Lesinski, a Democrat, said he feels the "unrepresentative character" of state government has tended to weaken and discredit it, adding that "legislatures dominated by an anachronistic minority have too long arrogantly denied the rights and needs of the majority."

He said he feels the most urgent problem in American politics today is "to find institutions and techniques suitable to an urban society in a technological age."

He told Smith, Michigan has reapportioned its legislature in compliance with the U.S. court ruling and has "made the transition orderly with the fullness of knowledge that our state will not only survive, but indeed prosper anew."

Lesinski said he would urge that the conference, to be held in New York City, recommend "immediate compliance" by states with the court's interpretation of the U.S. Constitution.

He founded the Donner Foundation and was an official of the American Security Council, privately-financed anti-Communist groups.

QUESTION: How was the earth formed?
ANSWER: The story of the creation of the earth and mankind is told with great beauty and dignity in the first chapter of that wonderful book, the Bible.

Scientists have made discoveries about the earth which may seem to conflict with some parts of the Bible story. But many Christians, including many who are scientists, find that they can accept scientific findings and the words of the Bible as well.

We illustrate a theory about the origin of the solar system which many astronomers agree on at present. This starts (1) with large clouds of gaseous solar or cosmic material revolving in a clockwise direction, and parts of this condensing or drawing together.

That in the center became the sun, but it was much larger than the sun is now. Astronomers speak of it as the "proto-sun," proto meaning first. This was before the sun had started to glow.

As other groups of material drew together, there was a proto-Jupiter, a proto-Earth, etc. Proto-Earth was some 500 times bigger than now.

But then the sun grew hot and sent out rays which swept off the outer gaseous envelopes of the planets, leaving the harder parts intact—and so we have earth instead of proto-Earth.

FOR YOU TO DO: Find out how large the earth is and how far it is from the sun.

Phony 'Ex-Colonel' Charged

DAV Bilked by Check Fraud

CHICAGO (UPI) — Investigators today looked into a wide-ranging fraud scheme by which they charged a phony "ex-colonel" swindled the nationwide Disabled American Veterans (DAV) out of more than $2 million.

Harold Sager, 45, a New York native who operated out of Chicago as a solicitor for the veterans group, was charged with withholding profits from the sale of donated material from brassiers to soybean plants.

Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark capped a six-month investigation by announcing Sager's arrest yesterday. Clark said the alleged scheme "was one of the most and most miserable rackets I have ever witnessed."

"He was defrauding men who had been injured and disabled in the defense of their country and their widows and orphans who, in a great many cases, are in desperate need of help," Clark said.

The attorney general said more than 100 transactions of the group had been uncovered and "there are thousands more left to be checked."

His staff members said the amount of the alleged swindle may greatly exceed the $2-million mark after further investigation.

MANY STATES
"His operations extended from coast to coast, through a great many states," Clark said.

The complaint against Sager charged him with soliciting donations to the DAV under the alias of Col. Harold S.

McClintock. Among the donations which went through Sager, state attorneys said, were 200,000 brassiers and a like number of lipsticks, two soybean plants, spark plugs and office equipment.

Clark said the Borden Co. alone donated $851,000 worth of property to the DAV through Sager, of which the veterans organization received only $250,000.

He said the property was located in New York, Michigan, California, Ohio, Kansas, Wisconsin, Oregon, Iowa, Illinois, Oklahoma and Texas.

ASK COOPERATION
Federal authorities and the attorneys general of other states have been asked to cooperate in the investigation, Clark said.

Douglas H. McGarrity, national commander of the DAV, said Sager's contract with the group had been terminated.

"DAV and its national service program will be able to carry on its activity as originally planned and budgeted as a result of the helpful and prompt action of the Illinois attorney general," McGarrity said.

Sager was released on $2,000 bond. He was enjoined from making any further solicitations on behalf of the DAV or any other charitable group and was charged specifically under a recently passed Illinois law regulating solicitations and collection of charitable funds.

The DAV, with 215,000 active members across the nation, has four basic programs for raising funds, including solicitation.

Another program is the mailing to car owners throughout the country of "idento-lags," or miniature license plates.

Court Upholds Estes' Guilt

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The mail fraud and conspiracy conviction of Billy Sol Estes has been upheld by a federal appeals court.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Monday that the trial judge was right in overruling defense motions for a verdict of innocent because of insufficient evidence.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomson, who called Estes "the perpetrator of one of the most significant swindles" had sentenced Estes to 15 years.

Estes was convicted on 14 counts charging fraud and conspiracy in arranging with farmers for mortgages on nonexisted fertilizer tanks.

About $24 million was involved in the transactions. The prosecution said Estes sold the mortgages to finance companies.

Actress Anne Bancroft Weds Comedy Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Anne Bancroft, winner of Hollywood's Academy Award and two Broadway Tony awards, has married Mel Brooks, 36-year-old comedy writer.

The marriage, the second for both Miss Bancroft and Brooks, took place at City Hall last Wednesday. But Miss Bancroft used her real name — Anna Maria Italiano — and the marriage wasn't revealed until last night.

LOOKING AT FILM — Dr. Sam Sheppard — he had corrected after his stay in prison for the murder of his first wife.

Dr. Sam Okay After Back Operation

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was reported resting comfortably today following an operation for a back ailment a doctor said resulted from a scuffle Sheppard had in prison six months ago.

Sheppard underwent a 90-minute operation for a slipped disc Monday at Brentwood Hospital in suburban Warrensville Heights and should be hospitalized a week or 10 days.

"It was a rather large disc but everything went well," said Dr. Theodore F. Classen, hospital chief of staff. He and an orthopedic surgeon removed about a half inch of Sheppard's spinal cord, the doctor said.

Sheppard, described by doctors as having been in pain for some time because of the condition, entered the hospital Sunday. X rays revealed a rupture on the right side of his body.

FREE ON BOND
He is now free on bond from Ohio Penitentiary. A federal judge ruled last month that Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated in his 1954 trial in Cleveland. The former Bay Village osteopath was convicted of second-degree murder in the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The state has appealed the federal court order and a hearing is set for October.

Dr. Classen mentioned the prison scuffle but Sheppard declined to comment on it.

Voter Apathy Plagues Politicos, Baffles Sociologists

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a three-part series on the American voter written by United Press International columnist Harry Ferguson.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are about 113 million persons eligible to vote for president in November.

The law of averages says 43.4 million will stay away from the polls for various reasons, but chiefly because they don't think it makes any difference whether Republicans or Democrats are in power.

The political indifference and inertia of Americans is a scandal of the free world.

In such democratic nations as Britain, Italy, Austria and West Germany, more than 80 per cent of the electorate votes. In 1960 the figure for the United States was 65 per cent, and in the 1962 congressional elections it dropped to 48 per cent.

Persistent refusal of people to help choose a president excites the curiosity of sociologists and drives politicians almost out of their minds. The politicians organize "get out the vote" drives, but the percentage of nonvoters remains stubbornly stable over the years.

UNDER MICROSCOPE
Students of human behavior in increasing numbers are putting the American voter under microscope and some general conclusions are beginning to emerge.

The stand-out fact seems to be that the average American is not basically a political animal. Frenchmen, for instance, are. The sidewalks of Paris buzz with political talk and gossip night and day.

The saloons of America are more likely to buzz with speculation as to whether the Philadelphia Phillies can go all the way, and what did Willie Mays do yesterday?

Every survey hammers home this fact: the average American dislikes political controversy, and prefers to discuss presidential campaigns with people with whom he agrees.

He is reluctant to sign any paper or petition which he thinks might involve him in a political fight. Example:

Martin Sures and Ronald Silver, two Chicagoans living in Washington, D.C., decided to make a survey to determine how much people knew about their Constitution and federal government.

They copied the Bill of Rights in longhand, rang 101 doorbells and asked people to sign their "petition."

Result: 15 persons recognized the document as the Bill of Rights and signed it. Seventeen recognized it but refused to sign. Twenty-one didn't recognize it but signed anyway. Fifty-eight didn't recognize it and refused to sign.

EXHAUSTIVE STUDY

The most exhaustive study of the American electorate has been made by the survey research center of the University of Michigan and published by Angus Campbell and his collaborators under the title "The Voter Decides."

From it and other studies emerges this picture of the average American voter:

• The odds are three to two that he will be a Democrat. But the Republican will be much more faithful about voting, working and spending.

• Each party has a hard core of voters that cannot be alienated. In any given election, 22 per cent of those voting will go Democratic and 13 per cent Republican.

They have never voted any other way and never intend to. It is only a slight exaggeration to say that you could put up a ticket of Khrushchev and the devil and these people would go right down the line for it.

With them, it's the party, not the candidate.

• In between those two extremes are the great mass of people who elect and defeat presidential candidates. Most of them lean toward one party or the other, but they have no hesitancy in crossing the lines into the other camp.

Sometimes millions of them don't make up their minds until a week or so before election (Truman's victory over Dewey in 1948).

• One of the persistent myths of politics is that huge units of voters can be delivered intact to a candidate — the Catholic vote, the Jewish vote, the labor vote, the Negro vote, the farm vote.

Any candidate who counts on that happening is signing his own death warrant. Labor leaders may expect their followers to support Lyndon Johnson, but experience teaches that many will go for Barry Goldwater.

EDUCATED ESTIMATES

The Catholics did not elect John F. Kennedy in 1960. The most educated estimates are that he got somewhere between 68 and 73 per cent of the Catholic vote, but that alone would not have insured his victory.

• Young people are likely to vote the same way their parents do, but the time comes when most of them revolt and start thinking for themselves.

Some people support the candidate they think will do the most for their social status. They carefully find out who their social superiors are supporting and then go along.

(Tomorrow: The candidates — what sways the voters.)

Kennedy Kin Buried Today

BOSTON (AP) — The Kennedy family pays tribute today to Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, 98-year-old matriarch of the clan who died Saturday.

Among her 27 grandchildren were the late President John F. Kennedy, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Another grandson, the Rev. John F. Fitzgerald of St. Jude's Church in Norfolk, Mass., was to sing the Solemn Requiem Mass at St. Brendan's Roman Catholic Church.

Burial was to be in St. Joseph's Cemetery in West Roxbury.

The attorney general flew to Boston for the funeral and also to confer with doctors at New England Baptist Hospital where Sen. Kennedy is being treated for a broken back.

Try for Return to Prison Pals May Be Foiled

GRiffin, Ga. (AP) — Police say a 67-year-old man may have run into a stumbling block in his plan to return to Georgia State Prison.

Officers said Walter K. Vickers tossed a rock through a post office window in a bid for another prison term. They said he told them most of his friends are in prison and prison life is easier than on the outside.

Records show Vickers was in Georgia State Prison from 1959 until this year. However, damaging a post office is a federal offense.

Vickers could wind up in a federal prison without his friends after all.

Approach 120 Million Tons

Steel Output Aims at Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas F. Patton, chairman of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said today 1964 steel production might approach 120 million tons, a record high.

The tonnage had been mentioned in trade circles as possible, but Patton was the first ranking industry leader to cite it.

In May, Patton, who also is board chairman of Republic Steel Corp., third largest steel producer, predicted that input output could reach 117 million tons, matching the record set in 1955.

The new appraisal fell into a pattern of successively brightening estimates by steel executives since early in the year.

CENTURY TWO

Patton's comment came in a statement announcing industry plans for "Century Two" observances starting Sept. 14.

The first commercial heat of steel in the United States was made in a small experimental plant at Wyandotte, Mich., in September 1864.

To commemorate the event, a "Century Two" steel industry symbol will be created, fashioned through melting metal samples from 150 production plants in the United States, Canada and Latin America into a single ingot of stainless steel.

View Is Optimistic of Joint Disability

Middle-aged and elderly readers have been chiding me for my teachings about joint disability almost from the day I, Brady, commenced this column. The old parties resented particularly my insistence that "exposure" to "cold and damp," as Dr. Osler had expressed it, has nothing to do with joint disability or the tendency thereto.

It might have put an early end to my newspaper career, too, but for the timely invention of "arthritis." This bit of hokum was timely in more than one respect.

In the first place, it took a million indignant readers off my neck — they discovered their trouble was "arthritis."

The new disease, like so many other modern departures, had a scientific name, like sinusitis, neuritis, laryngitis, bursitis and other exclusive or fashionable ailments, and it sounded and indeed was more expensive.

Now if you think I think I know more than most doctors do about chronic joint disability, whatever you please to call it, you're quite right. I do — I mean I do think so. I believe insidiously developing joint disability of long standing (a year or more), not obviously of traumatic origin (sprain, strain or other injury) is degeneration of joint tissues, just as arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) is physical degeneration of the tissues of the artery wall, and pyorrhea alveolaris is degeneration of the jaw tissues — bone, muscle, tooth socket lining, mucous membrane, everything.

PRIMARY CAUSE
Further, I believe that the primary cause of joint degeneration (which I call rheumatism, not rheumatoid) is nutritional deficiency, malnutrition, that is, through the years from early childhood up to the present moment.

So, in the booklet, "Chronic Joint Disability," I tell you how to combat, retard, arrest and maybe reverse the degeneration process and relieve or cure the rheumatism. For the booklet send me 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Having thus defined rheumatism, I have the audacity to challenge any physician who makes the phony diagnosis of "chronic arthritis" in any case to define chronic arthritis in writing. No medical authority has done so to date, to the best of my knowledge.

For that matter I beg to remind you that no cure for so-called chronic "arthritis" has been discovered and the few authorities who tell the truth about it concede that pain-killers such as aspirin, give as much relief in cases of chronic joint disability as any of the costly "miracle medicines."

MORE OPTIMISTIC

Far from being pessimistic about chronic joint disability, as the initiated may infer, I am more optimistic than the majority of doctors — my optimism comes mainly from the reports I have received from hundreds of persons with rheumatism who have followed the regimen I prescribe in the booklet. I say "prescribe" — but please keep clearly in mind, I prescribe, no medicine, only the essentials of good nutrition. (Copyright, 1964)

Barry's Wife Enters Clinic for Checkup

A spokesman said Mrs. Goldwater entered the clinic Sunday for a medical checkup. The clinic wouldn't release any further information.

'Russia Not Set to Go to Moon'

Earth Orbit Is Limit, Say 2 Cosmonauts

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonauts Pavel Popovich and Andrian Nikolayev indicated today Russian manned spacecraft are not yet ready to venture beyond orbits of the earth.

The two space pilots dropped the hint in an interview with the Communist party paper Pravda marking the second anniversary of their paired flight around the earth.

The Pravda correspondent asked: "Recently the foreign press has said much about plans for new manned flights into space, especially to the moon. What can you say about this?"

Nikolayev expressed confidence that manned flights eventually would be made deep into space. But he added, "Not all orbits around the earth have been explored and evidently more flights will be made in the near cosmos and simultaneously reconnaissance will continue in outer space."

TOUCH OF SPECULATION
A series of articles in the Soviet press touched off speculation about impending manned launches.

Nikolayev charged that American military elements are pressing "to seize the moon in order to impose their will from there on the peoples of the world."

The nation's white population increased 4.8 per cent, to 166 million and the nonwhite 7.7 per cent, to 22 million between April 1960 and July 1963.

The U.S. ranks first among producers, followed by Canada in the world's paper and pulp production.

Seek Better Coffee House Take

Beatniks Form 'Bread' Line

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a union is what some bearded beatniks and long-tressed girls are trying to form at Greenwich Village "basket houses."

"Basket houses" are coffee houses where they pass the basket to collect tips for the entertainers, who are not on the payroll.

A dozen or so waitresses, guitarists, dishwashers, poets, cooks and folk singers have started a union and gone on strike for more money.

The bearded, sandaled pickets were an added attraction Monday night and early today on McDougall street.

'LIVING WAGE'

"On strike for a living wage," read one sign.

Their leader, James Alvey, 21, who sports a beard and looks like a Biblical figure, said:

"If we can get the bodies, man, and if we can keep them from getting too hungry before Thursday or Friday, we'll get them the bread."

"Bread" is not bread. It's money.

Alvey, a guitarist-folk singer, is president of Local 212, Coffee House Employees Guild. It was formed Friday by employees of the Basement, the Why Not and the Cafe Manzini.

NO COMMENT

Harry Cropper, proprietor of all three, declined comment.

One union member explained that they choose No. 212 because No. 1 sounds too young and inexperienced and 212 is the New York City telephone code.

The new union, Alvey said, will take in "waitresses, the kitchen help and the doormen, as well as the singers, musicians and poets." It has no contacts with any established union.

The target is the half-dozen nonalcoholic "basket houses" that have sprung up in the village in recent years.

The new union is asking that when the basket collection does not total $5 on a weekday night or $7.50 on a weekend night, the management make up the difference.

It wants 90 cents an hour for waitresses, with two 15-minute breaks, $1 an hour for doormen and 75 cents an hour for kitchen help.

The pickets said waitresses sometimes work for tips alone, kitchen help gets as little as $2 a night plus a meal, and doormen sometimes get $5 a night.

Cong to Fire Only at Viets With GIs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist Viet Cong guerrillas have been ordered to fire only on South Vietnamese units accompanied by Americans, said Red leaflets handed out in hamlets just northwest of Saigon today.

Government officials scoffed at the handbills and said they appeared designed to create dissension between Vietnamese soldiers and their U.S. advisers.

SAIGON returned to a measure of normal today after the recent increase in tension because of incidents in the Gulf of Tonkin.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor underscored the relaxation by making courtesy calls on the Vietnamese-American Friendship Association and the USO Club.

The capital seemed generally unperturbed despite continuation of a night curfew imposed last week and the government's announcement Monday that air raid shelters would soon be built.

The new civil defense measures are partly intended to get the generally indifferent Saigonese more interested in the government's war efforts.

The price of gold — an indicator of public confidence in the government — dropped today after skyrocketing the past week. Hoarders kept gold off the market in anticipation of a further crisis. Rumors also circulated about the possibility of another government coup.

Desert Living Test for New Astronauts

RENO, Nev. (AP) — America's newest astronauts face the 130-degree Nevada desert today, fortified with a sample of what the clever desert cook can whip up if he can catch it first.

The 14 Gemini space trainees, who will camp out two full days beginning Wednesday, with nothing but water and a standard survival kit, are being taught at Stead Air Force Base how to forage for food.

Monday they were given tidbits of fried caterpillars and insects.

Accord Near on Move to Delay Reapportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders are reported near agreement on a compromise proposal that would direct, but not compel, courts to go along on ordering reapportionment of state legislatures on a population basis.

The compromise would substitute for a proposal by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to stay all court-ordered reapportionment until after state legislatures have had two sessions to consider the matter.

Dirksen's proposal, which he hopes to attach to the foreign aid authorization bill, would delay court-ordered reapportionment by from two to four years. In the meantime, efforts would be pressed to nullify the Supreme Court ruling requiring population to be the basis of apportionment in both houses of state legislatures.

Dirksen's proposal, opposed by President Johnson, brought the threat of a filibuster by liberals that could delay adjournment of Congress.

COMPROMISE PLAN

The compromise, worked out in four days of conferences participated in by Solicitor General Archibald Cox, would direct lower federal courts to take into account all legitimate difficulties surrounding reapportionment in any case.

It also would direct courts to consider: Giving adequate time to carry out orders, the difficulty of drawing new boundary lines and the nearness of regular elections.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Myrl E. Alexander, 55, a retired 30-year veteran of the Bureau of Prisons, will succeed retiring director James V. Bennett on Aug. 28.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced Monday the appointment of Alexander, now a professor of sociology at Southern Illinois University and director of the Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Correction.

A native of Dayton, Ohio, Alexander retired from the bureau as assistant director in September 1961.

Kennedy said that Bennett, who reaches the government's mandatory retirement age of 70 on Aug. 28, would stay on indefinitely as a consultant.

60 Peace Corpsmen Will Train at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sixty Peace Corps volunteers will be trained at Michigan State University for community development work in Chile, the university has announced.

The nine-week training program will begin here Aug. 30.

An estimated $10 million will be spent this year by American business firms to advertise register and vote campaigns, the advertising Council reports.

California Court Okays Naming of Salinger to Clair Engle Post

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California State Supreme Court has upheld the interim appointment of former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger to the U.S. Senate.

The court yesterday rejected without comment a request by former Hollywood film actor George Murphy, Salinger's Republican opponent for the seat in November, that Salinger's appointment be annulled.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown appointed Salinger, the Democratic nominee, to fill the seat vacated by the recent death of Clair Engle, D-Calif.

Murphy contends the appointment was not legal.

While this action took place in California, a Senate elections subcommittee in Washington heard arguments on the legality of the appointment.

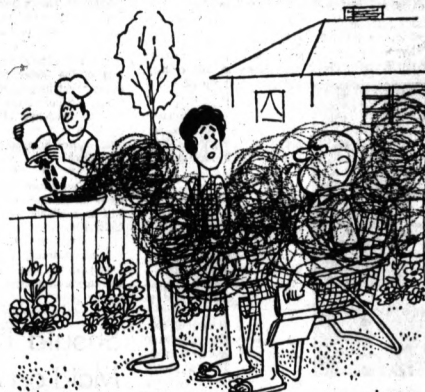

LAW REQUIREMENT

"California law says the governor has to appoint an elector who has lived in the state one year prior to the next election," Murphy testified before the subcommittee yesterday.

"He (Salinger) has not," Murphy added.

California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, told the subcommittee the appointment was legal.

"A state does not have the right to add or subtract from the United States Constitution's qualifications for a candidate," Mosk said.

"If he had a gas-fired barbecue he could live better for less with Consumers Power natural gas service — and we could live better, too!"

Should Tip
Maid on All
Hotel Stays

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When staying just one night in a hotel, is it necessary to tip the chambermaid? If so, how much should she be given?

A: The chambermaid is given a tip whether you stay one night or several.

For an overnight stay in a first-class hotel, she is given 50 cents; in a small inexpensive hotel 25 cents.

Q: I received an invitation to a reception that is being given for a recent bride and her husband. The invitation reads: "To meet Mr. and Mrs. John Jones."

I know the bride and groom quite well as do most of the guests who have been invited to this reception.

Wasn't the wording strange considering everyone has already met the bride and groom?

A: "To meet" is the correct as well as conventional wording for an invitation to a reception being given in honor of someone whether the guest of honor is a stranger or intimate friend of those being invited.

Q: When serving food that does not require a knife, is it necessary to include one in the table setting?

My sister tells me that a properly set table should include knives whether or not they are to be used.

A: Even though a knife is not necessary, it should be included in your place setting to give it a balanced look.

Q: Would it be proper to invite our family doctor and his wife to our daughter's wedding? We do not know the doctor or his wife socially, but he has been exceptionally kind to us and has taken care of our daughter since she was a baby.

My husband seems to think it would be presumptuous for us to invite them.

A: As you do not know the doctor or his wife socially, I agree with your husband that it would be presumptuous to invite them to your daughter's wedding.

WOMEN'S SECTION
Modesty Becomes Idiocy
if It Blocks Needed Surgery

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband was raised in a family where modesty was the 11th commandment.

About a year ago, he developed a hernia which kept getting worse.

After begging him to see a doctor, he finally went. The doctor said he needed an operation right away.

When my husband found out there would be a surgical nurse there, he said he would rather die than have the operation.

He went to four other doctors and they all told him the same thing, and none of them could promise him that a nurse wouldn't have any part in caring for him.

My husband said nurses are okay for women and children, but not for a man with a hernia.

This was the first time he had been to a doctor since he took his physical for World War II. He is worrying me sick. Can you help me?

MODEST'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Modesty is one thing — idiocy is another. Ask one of those four doctors to assure your husband that nurses couldn't care less about a patient's body.

And he should cut out the foolishness and head for the hospital.

DEAR ABBY: I would like some information on how long a person should wait after the death of her husband (whom she loved dearly) before calling a gentleman friend who asked her to ring him up as soon as she felt like it.

PROPER IN PENSACOLA

DEAR PROPER: Just long enough so that she won't feel guilty when she dials.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when another couple you know quite well calls you up and says they "might" be over?

Sometimes they show up and sometimes they don't. There have been times when we would have gone someplace ourselves, but we stayed home waiting for them.

DEAR D. and S.: Next time they call, tell them you want to know definitely if they plan to come because you "might not" be home.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the topless bathing suits?

DEAR DALE: I think they're tops — for boys!

Gladioli Deck Church for Recent Wedding

The Bethany Baptist church was decked with palms and gladioli for the recent vows of Elizabeth K. Bissell of Florence Avenue and Ralph W. Ale.

Jamek Hannum of Elizabeth Lake Road escorted the bride at the ceremony performed by Dr. Emil Kontz. Her parents are Thomas T. Bissell of Greenwood, Scotland, and the late Mrs. Bissell.

ATTENDANTS

With honor matron, Mrs. Roger Feest, were Mary Lou Laurack and Gloria Maddock attending as bridesmaids.

MRS. RALPH W. ALE

Elizabeth Lamphere was flower girl and Michael Richards ringbearer. The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Harry Ale of North Telegraph Road and the late Mr. Ale, had Albert Bouford for best man. Seating some 200 guests were Robert Laurack with Bruce Richards of Midland.

The couple left for a northern Michigan honeymoon after the reception in the CAL Building.

Stains Off
Bake Dishes

To remove brown stains from glass baking dishes, put three tablespoons of baking soda into each dish and fill with water.

Soak for a few minutes and then wash. If the stains are stubborn, rub with a damp cloth dipped in soda.

Do not scour with coarse abrasives, as they may break the surface and weaken the glass.

Can Be Removed

To remove a "cooked on" residue of permanent plastic starch, wipe an electric iron (after disconnecting and letting it cool) with rubbing alcohol.

Follow up by sudsing it off, then wipe with a clean damp cloth before re-use.

This two-piece oversized houndstooth check is in versatile wool. The Chelsea collared overblouse has a snap closing with a three-button dickey. The flat surface fabric is the perfect foil for the slim skirt. By Sue Brett, it retails for about $30.

Marilyn Webber of Beechgrove Road works now toward her future goal of becoming a nurse by doing volunteer work at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. This 17-year-old has given some 90 hours of her spare time making patients more comfortable and assisting the hospital staff.

An Outstanding Teen-Ager

Nurse of the Future

(This fourth in a number of articles on outstanding area teen-agers concerns Marilyn Webber, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Webber of Beechgrove Road, Waterford Township.)

By JEANMARIE ELKINS
White is in the future for Marilyn Webber. Not the traditional pure white of a bridal gown but the efficient and comforting white of a nursing uniform.

This St. Michael High School senior works toward that nursing goal as a member of the American Red Cross Youth Volunteers program at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and the St. Joseph's Auxiliary.

As a volunteer worker she helps throughout the hospital—making beds, assisting with the baths, working in the admitting office and making patients more comfortable.

Marilyn estimates she has put in more than 90 hours of volunteer work and has a pin for over 50 hours of work.

WITH VOLUNTEERS

She works with the Youth Volunteers each Tuesday and Friday and is called by the hospital when she is needed for other work, sometimes as many as seven days a week.

Youth Volunteer work began for Marilyn this summer. She is going into her second year of auxiliary work.

This attractive, long-haired teen-ager is a former junior leader at the YMCA. Carrying a B average, she is a member of the chorale, future nurses, school paper, Sodality, library assistants, Confraternity of Christian Doctrine and Catholic Students Mission Crusade groups.

Her major hobbies are tennis, reading and her French poeils, "Buttons," who got his name "because everyone said he had eyes like two small, round, black buttons."

BRIDAL GOWN

That traditional pure white of the bridal gown is in the future for Marilyn. But it is in the distant future.

Marilyn would like to go to college, take a nursing course, and then travel and work for at least a year after college.

SHERROD-GIDCUMB

Carolyn Jean Gidcumb became Mrs. John Wesley Sherrod in a recent ceremony performed by Rev. Loy Barber and Robert Nance in the First Social Brethren Church. Their parents are the Chalmers F. Gidcumb, Cherrydown Avenue, and the Don Sherrods, Harrisburg, Ill. A jeweled train held the bride's illusion veil, complementing her gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace. Attendants included Patricia, Jacqueline, and Cynthia Gidcumb, Alice Franzel, Carolyn Lingle, Candice Vaughn, Jonathan Vaughn, J. D. Drake, Lloyd Berry, Benjamin Drake and Ronald Morris.

BILLINGSLEY-FLAKE

Wed recently in Our Lady of Refuge Church were Nora Jean Flake and Clifford Charles Billingsley. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Eugene Flake, Keego Harbor, the late Mr. Flake and Mrs. Marjorie Billingsley of Keego Harbor. Attendants were Mrs. Eugene Fournier, Christine and Pauline Fournier; Charles Lewis, George Anderson, John Flonta; and Lorrie Couss and Jeff Lewis. The bride wore a silk organza and Chantilly lace floor length gown with lace, pearl and sequin trim. Following the reception in the VFW Hall, Keego Harbor, the couple left for a northern honeymoon.

SKIBOWSKI-SHARPE

Wed Saturday in St. John's Episcopal Church, Royal Oak, were Kathleen Anne Sharpe, daughter of the Richard Sharpes, Royal Oak, and David Lee Skibowski, son of the Frederick Skibowskis of Oxford. Hand-applied lace accented the bride's sheath gown and chapel train of white silk organza over tulle to worn with illusion veil. She held a nosegay of white daisies. Attendants were Linda Miller, Carol Ann Sander, Mary Ellen Pauls and Debbie Skibowski; Norman Williams, Richard Sharpe, Fred Skibowski and Gerald Hight. Kim Mosser was flowergirl and Scott Smith carried the rings.

BOOTH-WELFARE

At Mackinac Island for their honeymoon this week are the Daniel Ward Booths (Betty Kaye Welfare) wed recently in St. Mark Lutheran Church, Union Lake, with Rev. William C. Grafe officiating. A silk illusion veil with pearl tulle and gown of Alencon lace over white peau satin, fashioned an ensemble for the daughter of the Edwin J. Welfare of Walled Lake. Attendants were Mrs. Richard Welfare, Mary Keenan and Susan Rourke. The bridegroom, son of the R. Starr Booths of Union Lake, had for best man, Richard Welfare and ushers, James Booth and John Alex.

PETTINARO-WELLS

Nola Gay Wells and Howard William Pettinaro of Jordan Street spoke vows to Rev. Jack Giguere, Saturday, in the Clarkson Methodist Church. Their parents are the Gordon M. Wells of Southbush Road, Independence Township and the Emilio Pettinaro of Layland, W. Va. Wearing white peau satin and illusion veil, the bride held her maternal grandmother's white gift Bible topped with a white orchid and Stephanotis. Attendants were Mrs. Carl Sallee Jr., Mrs. Vincent McKoun, Lynda Reed; Franklin Pettinaro, Carl Sallee Jr., Robert Charbonneau, Karen Pettinaro and Michael Langmaid were flower girl and ring-bearer.

Needlework Kit Crewelwork Picture

Everybody is wild about crewelwork! You hear about it everywhere you go. Why don't you try it? It's easy—and here's a beginner's kit to prove it.

The basic crewel stitches are all here in a design that will be your pride to frame when you have finished it. The design is stamped on imported oyster linen and the kit includes wool in beautiful colors: two shades of pink and red; two shades of blue; two shades of old yellow; beige and three shades of green. All are lovely soft colors that will blend with your home decor.

The motif itself is a most unusual one, charmingly curved. You will also receive instructions, crewel needle, color key and stitch chart in this Needlework Kit 15A—all for $2.

The word crewel means wool and crewelwork is an old form of embroidery art dating from the time of the Tudors. Great ladies learned to embroider in this fashion, it was part of their education.

Why don't you amaze your friends with this piece of fine embroidery? The stitches are simple and large and the yarn is easy to handle. The design is sophisticated enough for the accomplished needlewoman too.

You could use this for a pillow top by backing it with a piece of velvet in one of the crewel colors. This would make a wonderful gift.

To order Needlework Kit 15A fill out the coupon and send it with a $2 check or money order for each kit desired (no stamps please) to Needlework Kit Service at address given.

Last Three Performances

Festival Draws to Close

The month-long Meadow Brook Music Festival will draw to a close this week as the three final performances are presented in the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial pavilion. Soloist for the Thursday and Friday concerts will be Leonard Pennario, piano virtuoso.

Launching his formal music career at the age of 12, Pennario developed a mastery well known in this country, Europe and the Far East.

He has played with every major concert orchestra, performed for Dwight D. Eisenhower at the White House and produced many long-playing records.

Pennario has an impressive list of both classical and popular compositions to his credit.

Sixteen thrilling final concert of the series Saturday evening will include Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" (K. 525), Beethoven's Symphony No. 8 in F major and the Shostakovich Symphony No. 5 in D minor.

Extra seats have been added to the pavilion and tickets will be available at Oakland University.

Plans are already under way to extend the series of concerts to six weeks next year.

Lettuce Kept Crisp by Paper Towels

Leftover lettuce? Keep it crisp and tasty, even when repeated refrigerator door openings in hot weather tend to wilt it.

Dampen a square of two-ply paper towels and wrap lettuce before putting it in the crisper bin. Today's greens will be fresh for tomorrow's salad.

Should Tip Maid on All Hotel Stays

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: When staying just one night in a hotel, is it necessary to tip the chambermaid? If so, how much should she be given?

A: The chambermaid is given a tip whether you stay one night or several.
For an overnight stay in a first-class hotel, she is given 50 cents; in a small inexpensive hotel 25 cents.

Q: I received an invitation to a reception that is being given for a recent bride and her husband. The invitation reads: "To meet Mr. and Mrs. John Jones."

I know the bride and groom quite well as do most of the guests who have been invited to this reception.

Wasn't the wording strange considering everyone has already met the bride and groom?

A: "To meet" is the correct as well as conventional wording for an invitation to a reception being given in honor of someone whether the guest of honor is a stranger or intimate friend of those being invited.

Q: When serving food that does not require a knife, is it necessary to include one in the table setting?

My sister tells me that a properly set table should include knives whether or not they are to be used.

A: Even though a knife is not necessary, it should be included in your place setting to give it a balanced look.

Q: Would it be proper to invite our family doctor and his wife to our daughter's wedding? We do not know the doctor or his wife socially, but he has been exceptionally kind to us and has taken care of our daughter since she was a baby.

My husband seems to think it would be presumptuous for us to invite them.

A: As you do not know the doctor or his wife socially, I agree with your husband that it would be presumptuous to invite them to your daughter's wedding.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Modesty Becomes Idiocy if It Blocks Needed Surgery

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband was raised in a family where modesty was the 11th commandment.

About a year ago, he developed a hernia which kept getting worse.

After begging him to see a doctor, he finally went. The doctor said he needed an operation right away.

When my husband found out there would be a surgical nurse there, he said he would rather die than have the operation.

He went to four other doctors and they all told him the same thing, and none of them could promise him that a nurse wouldn't have any part in caring for him.

My husband said nurses are okay for women and children, but not for a man with a hernia.

This was the first time he had been to a doctor since he took his physical for World War II. He is worrying me sick. Can you help me?

MODEST'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Modesty is one thing — idiocy is another. Ask one of those four doctors to assure your husband that nurses couldn't care less about a patient's body.

And he should cut out the foolishness and head for the hospital.

DEAR ABBY: I would like some information on how long a person should wait after the death of her husband (whom she loved dearly) before calling a gentleman friend who asked her to ring him up as soon as she felt like it.

PROPER IN PENSACOLA

DEAR PROPER: Just long enough so that she won't feel guilty when she dials.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when another couple you know quite well calls you up and says they "might" be over?

Sometimes they show up and sometimes they don't. There have been times when we would have gone someplace ourselves, but we stayed home waiting for them.

D. and S.

DEAR D. and S.: Next time they call, tell them you want to know definitely if they plan to come because you "might not" be home.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the topless bathing suits?

DALE
DEAR DALE: I think they're tops — for boys!

MRS. J. B. SHINKLE

The W. W. Hortons of Davisburg announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriett, to Rodney Romain, son of the Roger Romain of Saginaw. The bride-elect is a senior at Saginaw General Hospital School of Nursing.

HARRIETT HORTON

Gladioli Deck Church for Recent Wedding

The Bethany Baptist church was decked with palms and gladioli for the recent vows of Elizabeth K. Bissell of Florence Avenue and Ralph W. Ale.

James Hannum of Elizabeth Lake Road escorted the bride at the ceremony performed by Dr. Emil Kontz. Her parents are Thomas T. Bissell of Greencreek, Scotland, and the late Mrs. Bissell.

ATTENDANTS

With honor matron, Mrs. Roger Feet, were Mary Lou Laurack and Gloria Maddock attending as bridesmaids.

Stains Off Bake Dishes

To remove brown stains from glass baking dishes, put three tablespoons of baking soda into each dish and fill with water.

Soak for a few minutes and then wash. If the stains are stubborn, rub with a damp cloth dipped in soda.

Starch on Iron Can Be Removed

To remove a "cooked-on" residue of permanent plastic starch, wipe an electric iron (after disconnecting and letting it cool) with rubbing alcohol.

Follow up by sucking it off, then wipe with a clean damp cloth before re-use.

This two-piece oversized houndstooth check is in versatile wool. The Chelsea collared over-b blouse has a snap dickey with a three-button closing. The flat surface fabric is the perfect foil for the slim skirt. By Sue Brett, it retails for about $30.

Marilyn Webber of Beechgrove Road works now toward her future goal of becoming a nurse by doing volunteer work at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. This 17-year-old has given some 90 hours of her spare time making patients more comfortable and assisting the hospital staff.

An Outstanding Teen-Ager

Nurse of the Future

(This fourth in a number of articles on outstanding area teen-agers concerns Marilyn Webber, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Webber of Beechgrove Road, Waterford Township.)

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

White is in the future for Marilyn Webber. Not the traditional pure white of a bridal gown but the efficient and comforting white of a nursing uniform.

This St. Michael High School senior works toward that nursing goal as a member of the American Red Cross Youth Volunteers program at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and the St. Joseph's Auxiliary.

As a volunteer worker she helps throughout the hospital—making beds, assisting with the baths, working in the admitting office and making patients more comfortable.

Marilyn estimates she has put in more than 90 hours of volunteer work and has a pin for over 50 hours of work.

WITH VOLUNTEERS

She works with the Youth Volunteers each Tuesday and Friday and is called by the hospital when she is needed for other work, sometimes as many as seven days a week.

Youth Volunteer work began for Marilyn this summer. She is going into her second year of auxiliary work.

This attractive, long-haired teen-ager is a former Junior leader at the YMCA. Carrying a B average, she is a member of the chorus, future nurses, school paper, Sodality, library assistants, Contraternity of Christian Doctrine and Catholic Students Mission Crusade groups.

Her major hobbies are tennis, reading and her French poodle, "Buttons," who got his name "because everyone said he had eyes like two small, round, black buttons."

BRIDAL GOWN

That traditional pure white of the bridal gown is in the future for Marilyn. But it is in the distant future.

Marilyn would like to go to college, take a nursing course, and then travel and work for at least a year after college.

A long line of people stretches into Marilyn's future. A line of hospital patients who will be needing not only her medical knowledge but the comfort and reassurance and personal attention that only a nurse can give to who is ill. Her life will be to help others.

MRS. J. B. SHINKLE

Bride's Uncle and Father Perform Rite

The John Bradford Shinkles (Virginia Lee Hart) left for a trip in northern Michigan after their recent wedding and reception in the Walled Lake Methodist Church.

Daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Ellis A. Hart of Walled Lake, the bride appeared in lace-appliqued white nylon organza over tulle, styled with cathedral train.

A Swedish tiara of pearls and crystal secured her silk illusion veil. Her bouquet was a crescent of phalaenopsis orchids and Stephanotis. From Durand were Terri Turner, honor maid, and bridesmaids, Nancy Summers and Jeannette Johnson along with Mrs. Floyd E. Hart of Flint and Janet Shinkle of Temperance.

The bridegroom, son of the John E. Shinkles of Temperance, had Jerry Salter of Temperance for best man at the ceremony performed by the bride's father, assisted by her uncle, Rev. Paul T. Hart. Seating some 350 guests were Floyd E. Hart, Alex Bragdon, Monroe; Robert Yeager, Durand and Robert Farrington, Maumee, Ohio. The bride attended Central Michigan University and her husband was a former student at Michigan State University.

Engaged Pair Plan Fall Vows

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oyler of Battle Creek announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann Ramsey, to Lowell G. Redick, son of the Charles R. Redicks of Court Drive. The couple plan fall vows.

SHERROD-GIDCOMB

Carolyn Jean Gidcomb became Mrs. John Wesley Sherrod in a recent ceremony performed by Rev. Loy Barger and Robert Nance in the First Social Brethren Church. Their parents are the Chalmers F. Gidcombs, Cherryland Avenue, and the Dan Sherrods, Harrisburg, Ill. A jeweled tiara held the bride's illusion veil, complementing her gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace. Attendees included Patricia, Jacqueline and Cynthia Gidcomb, Alice Franzel, Carolyn Lingle, Candice Vaughn, Jonathan Vaughn, J. D. Drake, Lloyd Berry, Benjamin Drake and Ronald Morris.

BILLINGSLEY-FLAKE

Wed recently in Our Lady of Refuge Church were Nora Jean Flake and Clifford Charles Billingsley. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Clyde Flake, Keego Harbor, the late Mr. Flake and Mrs. Marjorie Billingsley of Keego Harbor. Attendees were Mrs. Eugene Fournier, Christine and Pauline Fournier; Charles Lewis, George Anderson, John Flotto; and Lorrie Coult and Jeff Lewis. The bride wore a silk organza and Chantilly lace, floor length gown with lace, pearl and sequin trim. Following the reception in the VFW Hall, Keego Harbor, the couple left for a northern honeymoon.

SKIBOWSKI-SHARPE

Wed Saturday in St. John's Episcopal Church, Royal Oak, were Kathleen Anne Sharpe, daughter of the Richard Sharpe, Royal Oak, and David Lee Skibowski, son of the Frederick Skibowski of Oxford. Hand-applied lace accented the bride's sheath gown and chapel train of white silk organza over tulle, to worn with illusion veil. She held a nosegay of white daisies. Attendees were Linda Miller, Carol Ann Sander, Mary Ellen Pauls and Debbie Skibowski; Norman Williams, Richard Sharpe, Fred Skibowski and Gerald Hight. Kim Mosser was flowergirl and Scott Smith carried the rings.

BOOTH-WELFARE

At Mackinac Island for their honeymoon this week are the Daniel Ward Booths (Betty Kaye Welfare) wed recently in St. Mark Lutheran Church, Union Lake, with Rev. William C. Grafe officiating. A silk illusion veil with pearl tiara and gown of Alencon lace over white peau satin, fashioned an ensemble for the daughter of the Erwin J. Wel-fares of Walled Lake. Attendees were Mrs. Richard Welfare, Mary Keenan and Susan Rourke. The bridegroom, son of the R. Starr Booths of Union Lake, had for best man, Richard Welfare and ushers, James Booth and John Alex.

PETTINARO-WELLS

Nola Gay Wells and Howard William Pettinaro of Jordan Street spoke vows to Rev. Jack Giguere, Saturday, in the Clarkson Methodist Church. Their parents are the Gordon M. Wells of Sashabaw Road, Independence Township and the Emilio Pettinaros of Layland, W. Va. Wearing white peau satin and illusion veil, the bride held her maternal grandmother's white gift Bible topped with a white orchid and Stephanotis. Attendees were Mrs. Carl Sallee Jr., Mrs. Vincent McKeown, Lynda Reed; Franklin Pettinaro, Carl Sallee Jr., Robert Charboneau. Karen Pettinaro and Michael Langmaid were flower girl and ring-bearer.

Needlework Kit

Crewelwork Picture

Everybody is wild about crewelwork! You hear about it everywhere you go. Why don't you try it? It's easy—and here's a beginner's kit to prove it.

The basic crewel stitches are all here in a design that you will be proud to frame when you have finished it. The design is stamped on imported oyster linen and the kit includes wool in beautiful colors: two shades of pink and red; two shades of blue; two shades of old yellow; beige and three shades of green. All are lovely soft colors that will

Pre-Nuptial Events Set

Sharon Thornton's attendants for her marriage Saturday to Jerome Michael Austrey will honor her at a spinsters dinner Wednesday in Kingsley Inn.

They are Marilyn Madama and Pamela Scherer, Royal Oak; Ruth Ann Fisher, Ann Arbor; Janet Norfz, Birmingham and Mrs. Charles Godman, Orchard Lake.

Mrs. Charles Hooverson of Douglas Court honored the bride-elect at a dessert and surprise shower Monday evening. Some 35 guests brought gifts blend with your home decoration.

The motif itself is a most unusual one, charmingly curved. You will also receive instructions, crewel needle color key and stitch chart in this Needlework Kit 15A—all for $2.

The word crewel means wool and crewelwork is an old form of embroidery art dating from the time of the Tudors. Great ladies learned to embroider in this fashion. It was part of their education.

Why don't you amaze your friends with this piece of fine embroidery? The stitches are simple and large and the yarn is easy to handle. The design is sophisticated enough for the accomplished needlewoman too.

You could use this for a pillow top by backing it with a piece of velvet in one of the crewel colors. This would make a wonderful gift. To order Needlework Kit 15A fill out the coupon and send it with a $2 check or money order for each kit desired (no stamps please) to Needlework Kit Service at address given.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

When your baby begins to creep he may rebel a bit at the playpen but there will still be times when you'll want baby to stay put. How to keep your scotch-sour happy after he's had a taste of freedom? These tips may be helpful:

- Time element. If you reserve pen times for baby's most contented times, he probably won't resent it.
- Toy trickery. A few different toys for each session help keep baby's "housing development" an interesting place to come home to. A covered auspicious with a Gerber Teething Biscuit inside adds a nice surprise.
- Position counts. By placing the pen where baby can watch your comings and goings, he won't feel neglected.

Mom of the matter. A baby with crawl privileges needs protein to help develop those muscles he's using more and more. Gerber Strained Meats provide protein values in the smoothest form that ever summoned up a baby's smile.

Made from special cuts selected by Armour, these quality meats are low in fat for easy digestibility... great on true-meat flavors for ready acceptability. 9 varieties... 5 Junior meats for tots with teeth.

Safety measures for fourwalkers. Creepers make a bedtime for bright objects so be sure to scan the floor for pins, buttons, etc. Iron and toaster cords should not be left a-dangle. Floor fans or heaters are a hazard.

Sunny-side up for creepers, lap-sitters or high-chair heroes and heroines. Gerber Strained Eggs are bright as a splash of sunshine... have a delicate, fresh egg flavor and creamy, custard-like texture that's hard to beat for downright delightful eating. As for nourishment, Gerber Eggs are high in vitamin A, rich in iron and a good source of protein. Gerber's Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

Latest Victims: 3 in One Family

Old Refrigerators Lure Children to Doom

By RUSSELL LANE
CHICAGO (AP) — Last winter, Leamond L. Fuweli, 20, bought a new refrigerator and put the old refrigerator on the back porch of his apartment. Because he has three children, aged 3 to 7, he tied the door shut with plastic-coated clotheslines.

Last Friday, three small children of George Hartman, 30, who lives in the basement apartment beneath the Fuweli, climbed into the old box. The door closed, the children died.

An epilogue to the short lives of Cynthia Hartman, 4, and her brothers, Joseph, 5, and Marty, 6, was written Monday. An inquest jury ruled that they died accidentally.

ROPE VANISHED

The inquiry established no evidence as to what happened to the rope Fuweli tied around the old refrigerator. Probably, at some time during the month the appliance sat on the back porch, someone needed the line for something else.

A Mass of the Angels will be said for the youngsters Wednesday and they will be buried in Queen of Heaven Cemetery. Friends of the grieving parents will help pay for the funeral through collections now being made.

Hartman is a clerk in the cheese department of a downtown food market. He and his wife, Eileen, moved into the basement flat after their house burned last year and their possessions were destroyed. They have one child left to them, Eileen, 5 weeks old.

The deaths pointed up a problem that affects children everywhere in the nation. It has not been solved despite federal legislation requiring push-out doors on refrigerators made since 1958, and state laws requiring that doors be removed from discarded refrigerators.

Fuweli's refrigerator had not been discarded. It was just idle, and stored on his property.

DOZENS DIE

Each year, a dozen or more children die of suffocation in idle refrigerators. In 1962, the toll reached a high of 35.

The death-trap problem first became a widespread concern in the 1930s when old ice boxes were being discarded as the electric refrigerator was winning acceptance.

It surged again after World War II when resumption of civilian appliance manufacturing spurred a slough-off of over-age electric coolers.

Woman's Quick Move Saves French Children

LE LAVANDOU, France (U.A.) — A 23-year-old summer camp leader jammed on the brakes of a bus carrying 40 children last night after the driver died of a heart attack.

Monique Bardet was sitting close to the driver, Victor Pellet, when Pellet collapsed. The bus clipped three cars before Miss Bardet pushed the driver's foot from the accelerator and put on the emergency brake.

Per capita consumption of paper products in the U.S. last year reached a record 459 pounds.

'The 'A' Student'

By LIDA W. PYLES

The courtroom was crowded and far too warm when the jury ended its deliberation over the fate of Arthur Lane, charged with embezzlement.

Someone should open a window, I thought. Then I realized I was not in a school room and the dignified gentleman behind the "desk" at the front of the place was not a teacher. He was a judge.

For more than three decades I had been principal of the village school.

During this time I had applied bandages and discipline and I had acted as a judge and policeman as well.

I had given encouragement and advice. I still kept track of my former students through local papers, wedding invitations and birth announcements.

CHARACTER WITNESS
But now I had reentered the life of Arthur Lane, one of my former students, in a way that I had never acted before.

I had been summoned to appear as a character witness for him in criminal court. Since graduation from college, Arthur had worked in a local bank.

I had heard the testimony and I had told the court how he had been such a bright student — straight A's — as long as he had been in my school. I could hardly believe this young man had embezzled money.

BRING IN VERDICT
But now the jury of 10 men and two women, who also had listened, were bringing in a verdict.

I hoped they would give Arthur benefit of doubt, but it was hard to doubt the facts and figures the prosecutor had presented.

Arthur came in, accompanied by his lawyer and a sheriff's deputy. I glanced at him. It was just as I remembered the eager, bright-eyed boy I had known in school.

I recalled him as a pupil in sixth grade, when he came to me with his report card, showing straight A's. He was very excited, and his shrill voice piped:

PROMISE ON GRADES
"Gee, Miss Eden! Do you know what?"

"No, Arthur," I said, "I don't know what."

"Mother promised me a dollar for each A on my report card!"

I continued to smile. "And what are you going to do with all your money?" I asked.

SAVED MONEY
"I'm going to buy a bicycle. I've already saved the money I earned by doing odd jobs and now I'll get $12 more."

I looked at the card which he held up to my eyes. "But there are 18 A's on the card, Arthur. Haven't you learned to count?"

His dark brown eyes looked straight into mine and he shook his head. "No, Miss Eden. Only 12 of the A's count."

The judge was rapping his gavel and I broke off my thoughts. The courtroom grew quiet.

ASKS FOR VERDICT
The jury had been seated and the judge turned toward the box. "Have the ladies and gentlemen of the jury reached a verdict?" he asked.

A tall, rangy man, a salesman for a wholesale feed concern, rose to his feet. He clutched a folded paper in his right hand.

"Yes, your honor," he said. "We have reached a verdict."

I glanced at Arthur who was leaning forward, his arms resting on the table in front of him. I saw the lawyer pat his arm, as if to steady him. But neither Arthur nor the lawyer took his eyes off the jury.

ALL THE HELP
"Poor boy," I thought, "I've helped him all I can."

I was afraid I had not helped him enough. Even though I told what an intelligent youth he had been, and how he made straight A's to earn money for a new bicycle.

"Will you please read your verdict?" the judge asked the foreman.

The tall salesman unfolded the paper, adjusted his glasses and cleared his throat. Then he read in a loud, clear voice:

THE DECISION

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Arthur Lane, guilty of embezzlement as charged."

There was a faint stir in the courtroom. The judge turned his eyes toward the spectators, rapped his gavel gently and the room grew silent again.

While the jury was polled I recalled the rest of the conversation I had had with Arthur so many years ago.

"Why doesn't your mother count all of your A's, Arthur?" I had asked him.

DOESN'T CARE

"You see, Miss Eden," Arthur explained, "there are six A's for department. Mother said she didn't care about me being good. She only wanted me to be smart."

Arthur Lane had been smart. Too smart for his own welfare.

And as a result he hadn't learned to count the things that really counted.

(The end)

Says LBJ Told of Raid Too Early

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Texas Republican congressman has renewed his complaint that President Johnson announced prematurely the U.S. air raids against North Vietnamese torpedo boat bases, citing an account given by the commander of the attack task force.

Rep. Ed Foreman, who was booed by Democrats when he made the charge originally last week on the House floor, said the details given by Rear Adm. Robert B. Moore indicated that "the Pentagon came up with an excuse for the President when he got himself in a bind."

Johnson's timing, the Texan said, was "the height of international military irresponsibility."

The controversy centered on the fact that Johnson told the American people in a broadcast on the Tuesday night of the attack that the operation was being executed at that time—10:37 p.m. EST.

A later Defense Department summary of the raids reported that the U.S. planes did not reach their Red targets until 12:15 a.m. EST, Wednesday.

NO DETECTION?

Moore told newsmen yesterday that he did not believe the U.S. planes had been detected by North Viet Nam radar at the time Johnson made the public disclosure.

The admiral also said he didn't believe the President's announcement gave the Reds any useful advance warning. He said the air strike would have been successful even if the North Vietnamese had had three days' advance warning.

His account seemed to conflict with a warning statement made by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in response to Foreman's claim.

McNamara said that when Johnson spoke, the U.S. planes had been in the air for about an hour and that the North Viet Nam Communists by then had "received indications of the attack."

The President's announcement, McNamara also said, did not give enough time for the Reds to move their PT boat fleet to safety.

McNamara also said it was desirable for the Communist world to understand that the attack was, in Johnson's description, "limited and fitting."

AIDS MILLAGE DRIVE — Joe McGee (center), owner of Richardson's Farm Dairy, 3414 W. Huron, Waterford Township, is one of several Waterford businessmen displaying a poster promoting an affirmative vote on the police-fire millage proposal in the primary election. Fireman George Howard and patrolman Terry Cranston sold McGee on the poster after explaining the needs of their respective departments.

Back Waterford Millage Vote

Police, Firemen Push for Funds

Waterford Township police and firemen have launched a communitywide campaign in behalf of the millage issue in the Sept. 1 election to bolster both departments.

Off-duty firemen and police officers plan to blanket the township between now and the election with literature explaining the need for voted millage.

Posters calling for a "yes" vote already have been placed in several township business establishments and the door-to-door leg work is under way.

Sought in the primary election is approval for a two-mill levy over 10 years, one mill for the police department and one mill for the fire department.

Based on an average assessed valuation of about $2,800 per township residence, the 2-mill proposal, if passed, would mean an increase in taxes of about $13 annually for the average home owner.

FIGURE OBTAINED
This figure is obtained by multiplying the average assessed valuation by the 2.20 equalizing factor and then multiplying by two (mills).

Purpose of the millage issue on the ballot is to strengthen both departments which have not expanded in proportion to the township's growth.

A total of 16 police officers and 18 firemen presently are on the payroll. Both departments have auxiliary units.

The millage proposal, if approved, would increase the police department to 44 men at the end of 10 years and double the fire department personnel to 36.

In addition, it would provide three new fire stations to supplement the three existing stations and provide adequate equipment.

It also would provide a new police station and garage as well as new police equipment.

The two mills would yield $194,000 in revenue the first year of the program. A revenue increase is projected each year of the 10-year period due to increased valuation of the township.

FIRE CHIEF LEWIS GOFF said the improvements hinging on passage of the millage proposal are necessary for adequate fire protection.

HE POINTED OUT that in 1959 the Michigan Inspection Bureau recommended that three additional stations be built and equipped to meet the township's rapidly expanding population.

The newest of the three existing stations was built 11 years ago.

New sites are recommended in the Williams - Lotus lakes area, Pleasant Lake area on Elizabeth Lake Road and in the area of Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake roads.

Police Chief William Stokes points out that only 12 of his 16 men are available for patrol duty in the approximate 36-square mile township.

THREE ON PATROL
With days off, this results in just three officers for each eight-hour shift.

On the midnight shift, one of the three officers is required to work the desk and radio in the station. Civilian clerks handle this task on the other two shifts.

Stokes added that national surveys recommend one police officer for each 1,000 population. Waterford's population exceeds 50,000.

Both the fire and police departments are supported by the township's general fund which derives one third of its revenue from property taxes and the other two thirds from other sources such as sales tax, intangible tax, liquor licenses and building permits.

With their full dependency on the general fund for support, the two service departments have been unable to set aside funds for expansion.

Tax-Free Agencies Paying Too Much?

Salaries of Foundation Officers Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Small Business Committee, said Monday that Benson Ford received $15,000 from 1960 to 1962 for three days work as a trustee of the Ford Foundation.

Patman cited this Ford payment, and other examples as he questioned whether tax-exempt foundations are paying their officers too much.

Patman, presiding over a hearing into the tax exemptions of charitable foundations, said 11 foundations pay their officers, directors and trustees totaled annual salaries of $3.4 million.

He then discussed in detail the salaries of one, the Ford Foundation, which pays its trustees an annual salary of $5,000 a year, no matter how many days they work.

PRESSING NEEDS

"What is the justification for these payments...in view of the pressing needs of many charitable organizations?" he asked.

Bertrand M. Harding, acting commissioner of internal revenue, agreed that $5,000 for a day's work is more than usual compensation, but he said most of the Ford trustees, working more days, get an average of $500 a day.

"Five hundred dollars a day is not an unreasonable compensation for men like these," Harding said.

"But this is for charity," Patman said.

ADVICE WORTH IT

"I am sure," Harding said, "that their advice more than compensates for their salaries."

Patman listed total payments to officers, directors and trustees of 11 foundations during the last fiscal year which they reported to the committee. The list included the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich., which he said paid $16,400.

IN NEW YORK, THE FORD FOUNDATION RELEASED THIS STATEMENT:

"The compensation the foundation paid its trustees and officers in 1963 represents less than three-tenths of one percent of the $477 million the foundation committed to colleges, universities, and other philanthropic purposes that year."

"All foundation trustees receive an honorarium of $5,000 annually for their services."

Dead Polish Leader

Viewed by Thousands

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Thousands of Poles lined up along a five-mile route today for a glimpse of the casket of President Aleksander Zawadzki, who died Friday of cancer at the age of 65.

The crowds were in addition to more than 100,000 who viewed Zawadzki's body during the three days it lay in state.

Guardsmen to Rescue

SEATTLE (AP) — Although it handled 105 cases over the weekend, the 13th Coast Guard District coasted into some unguarded moments.

Hurrying to investigate a "body" bobbing in the surf at Depoe Bay, Ore., Coast Guardsmen found a seal.

Some 10 miles south of Newport, Ore., two elderly women picked the wrong spot to dig for clams.

Mrs. Josephine Bruening, 76, got stuck in the mud. The Coast Guard pulled her out.

Little 'Smeller' Sewer Dweller

SEATTLE (AP) — The smell was too much for workmen building a sewage-treatment plant yesterday.

A service tunnel connecting two areas of the subterranean plant was abandoned.

Authorities said they hoped the cause of all the fuss would slip out voluntarily.

It was an unnatural place for a skunk to sack out.

The worst of it was the animal was resting in the best place to spread his message — the aeration gallery.

"We knew he was there before we saw him," grumbled one workman.

For New York Senate Seat

Kennedy Won't Run Without Wagner's OK

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he would not consider running for U.S. senator from New York without Mayor Robert F. Wagner's "express approval."

A few minutes after Kennedy made that statement Monday, Wagner said:

"If he is available, he is the type of person who would make an exceptionally fine candidate. I am sure that he would win."

"I have a high regard for him as a friend and as a public servant."

Asked whether his remarks constituted an endorsement, Wagner said:

"I think I've made a pretty strong statement already."

Wagner said he would not say more until he had talked with Kennedy. Kennedy visited Wagner last week. No further meeting has been announced.

The Democratic nominee will face Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Kennedy, here Monday to speak at the convention of the American Bar Association, was asked by newsmen about the Senate race.

One of his replies was: "Under no circumstances would I ever have considered, or would I now consider, coming into the state of New York against the wishes of the mayor."

Wagner is generally considered the top Democrat in New York.

Democratic state chairman William H. McKeon said he would "certainly encourage" Kennedy's candidacy. He said the attorney general would "make an excellent candidate."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, who has wide backing upstate for the Democratic nomination for senator, said Wagner assured him Monday night that he "had certainly not endorsed... Kennedy and did not intend to endorse any candidate" before the nominating convention Sept. 1.

"The mayor felt strongly," Stratton said through a spokesman, "that a successful candidate in New York State should have broad support within the party and should be chosen by the delegates to the state convention."

Stratton claims party support in 40 of the state's 62 counties, mostly in relatively small upstate counties.

Shortly before his statement, Stratton said he would not withdraw because of what he called the "fury of press comments" on Kennedy.

Stratton said: "The attorney general has already removed himself from the race and I take him at his word." This may have been a reference to a declaration by Kennedy last June when he declined to run for the office.

At that time, President Johnson had not ruled out Kennedy and other Cabinet members as possible vice presidential candidates.

Keating says he has not made up his mind whether to seek a second term, but he is generally considered to be a candidate.

Keating says if he does run, he will run independent of the national ticket unless Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater changes some of his views. The state Republican organization is supporting both Goldwater and Keating.

27 to Ride Bus in 'Togetherness' Trip to New York World Fair

'SKOKIE, ILL. (AP) — The Fitzgeralds, all 10 of them, are going to the New York World's Fair next week. They're taking along 17 friends.

The group — 17 children and 10 parents — has chartered a bus that will deliver them to the fair Aug. 18 and bring them home 10 days later.

"Even if we don't see the fair, this bus trip is going to be worth it," said Dotie Fitzgerald, whose eight children, 8 to 22 years old, are going along.

"We're going away as friends," she said with a laugh.

"but I don't know how we're going to come back."

"It's going to be a riot."

Mrs. Fitzgerald said the five families, all neighbors, began discussing the trip last winter.

"We knew this might be the last chance our children will have to all get together. Two of them are in college now."

Mrs. Fitzgerald said her husband and another of the fairgoers, Edward J. Steinbach, made arrangements for the 38-passenger bus they will ride to a mid-Manhattan motel. The motel, she noted, has a swimming pool and a laundromat.

"We kind of thought it wouldn't work in the beginning, but it did," said Mrs. Steinbach, who is taking her three children on the trip.

HARDLY WAIT
"Everybody is looking forward to it. The children can hardly wait."

The couples ready sure the bus trip would be in style and comfort. On board will be a television set, ice cooler, beer, liquor, soft drinks, popcorn, cold cuts, 100 pieces of fried chicken and bread.

"We're going to stop for dinner," said another traveler, Howard Gill Jr. of Wilmette.

"These are just snacks," Mrs. Gill and her two youngsters also are going along.

"Once in New York, the families will be on their own. A group of 20 have arranged to watch a Chicago Cubs-New York Mets baseball game; others have plans for sight-seeing, play-going and rounds of golf."

"The kids will spend a lot of time at the fair," said Gill. "But I don't know how much the old folks can take of it."

The Jerry Novak family, four more, are in the group.

"It will be a wild time," said Mrs. Jerry Whiston, who is bringing her husband and two daughters.

"This is going to be togetherness."

Erhard Vows No Force to Tear Up Berlin Wall

BONN, Germany (AP) — With the approach of the third anniversary of the Berlin Wall, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany pledged today not to use force to knock down the barrier.

Erhard said his government and its allies stood by their promise to safeguard the freedom of West Berlin. But he said West Germany will not let itself be drawn into any use of violence, such as the Communist side repeatedly imputes to it.

Nikita Eyes 'Capitalism' for Produce

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev disclosed today that he is thinking of eliminating some middlemen to get fresh agricultural produce to the cities.

In a talk with farm officials of the Tatar Republic in the Crimea, Khrushchev said the Kremlin will let truck farmers go into business for themselves and sell their produce in their own shops.

"The farm will supply vegetables directly from the field or store. Of course, the collective farms will sell vegetables and potatoes at prices set by the state," he said.

Khrushchev indicated the produce-to-consumer method might solve the problem of supplying cities with fresh produce.

SHORTAGES
Most large Soviet cities are plagued with shortages of fresh fruits and vegetables caused by inefficient distribution.

The Soviet press frequently complains about shortages. One newspaper recently reported that a truck driver with a load of fresh vegetables had driven 100 miles around Moscow looking for a receiving point to accept his cargo.

"At the present time nobody calculates the demand for vegetables," said Khrushchev.

Khrushchev warned collective and state farm directors against price gouging. He said prices in the farmers' shops would probably be a little lower than in ordinary stores because the cost of middlemen's services would be eliminated.

King of Characters

Hermit Harasses Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — This is the Boulevard — the position of character emeritus of Hollywood Boulevard u n questionably belongs to Peter the Hermit. For as long as most inhabitants can remember, his spindly legged, pigeon - breasted figure has been a part of the local scene.
White - garbed, waspish, searching consciences like a crotchety Gandhi, he makes his periodic appearance to awaken the populace to such dangers as war and girdles.

His tirades against the folly of warfare are eloquent. And he has been known to whom passing ladies on the backside with his staff, then deliver a lecture on the ill effects from confining the body with elastic devices.

LONG-TIME HERMIT
For many years Peter was truly a hermit and lived in shacks in the Hollywood hills, sharing the company of goats, sheep and other creatures. Now he inhabits a room north of the Hollywood Freeway on Inver Avenue. The mailbox reveals his full name: Peter Howard.

He was in his room one morning when a visitor paid a call. He wore his usual freshly washed white duck pants, open-neck sweatshirt. He looks doggedly patriarchal with his flowing tangle and profuse beard. He claims to have forgotten his age. "I'm ageless," he explained.

Peter related that he had been born in Limerick, Ireland, had gone to sea as a lad, had studied the faiths of the world and had come to Hollywood because of the great promise it held.

But his encounter with Hollywood appears to have helped encourage his career as a hermit.

"I never call it Hollywood," he snorted. "I call it Follywood. The movies could have become the coming church, the universal language. But that promise wasn't realized."

RUINS HOMES
"Follywood! It has ruined more homes than siege guns. The movies show nothing but war, crime and sex. Follywood never gave anything to anybody. All the movie makers do is fool the people."

He has a small income, but his needs are small. "I'm a vegetarian; I need very little," he explained. "Thank God I haven't got grabies nor dollars."

Frick Plans to Hold Job Through 1965

Angels' Move Backed by AL; Milwaukee Officials Queried

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's major leagues held a joint meeting Tuesday assured that Ford Frick will remain commissioner through the 1965 season and that selection of his successor will proceed in orderly fashion.

Frick, 60, announced last Wednesday he would not seek a new term and would step down from his $75,000-a-year post when his successor is named.

Following a meeting of the major league Executive Council Frick agreed, however, to stay on the job through the 1965 World Series.

The council decision to ask Frick to remain and his acceptance figures to shut off any unauthorized speculation as to the identity of the next baseball czar.

A committee consisting of Frick and Presidents Warren Giles of the National League and Joe Cronin of the American League will prepare a report on the functions of the job "in the light of changing times."

Until that report is presented at the December baseball meetings, nobody is authorized to screen any candidates for the position.

POSSIBLE CZAR

Top candidates for the job at present are Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, legal counsel of the Players Association; Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., former Vice President Richard Nixon, and Supreme Court Justice Byron (Whizzer) White and Cronin.

Neither the American nor National League meetings Monday provided announcements of any magnitude.

The American League approved the Los Angeles Angels move to Anaheim, Calif., beginning in 1966. The action was a formal vote since American President Bob Reynolds signed a 35-year plan last Saturday for the club to play in a new stadium to be built about 25 miles from Chavez Ravine.

The National League interrupted its meeting when Giles, with Milwaukee in mind, asked if any club desired to request consent to transfer its franchise. When Giles received no response and in view of rumors that the Milwaukee Braves are headed for Atlanta, he asked Braves' representatives if they had any request to make. The answer was "No."

Giles then asked if Milwaukee has been or is considering a transfer. The Milwaukee representatives replied that because of many factors to be considered they were unable to evaluate fully their position until a later date.

PENSION PLAN

The National League approved an umpire pension plan which had been orally agreed upon in New York July 6.

An umpire will receive $300 a year for each year of active service after his retirement. Retirement age is 55, but it is not mandatory.

The major league television committee announced plans have been completed for Monday night baseball telecasts next year. John Fetzer, president of The Detroit Tigers, heads the committee.

The majors will offer a nationally televised night game every Monday night, with no blackout areas.

Two games will be scheduled every Monday night, the first to be televised and the second as a standby in case of adverse weather.

Midland Squad Duels Columbus in Tournament

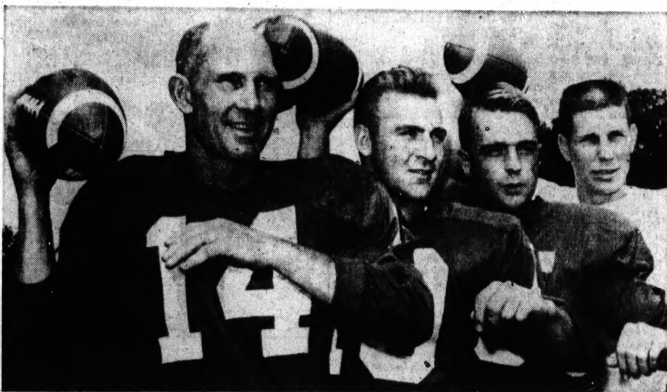

GROSSE POINTE WOODS (AP) — Undefeated Midland, Mich., (1-0) and Columbus, Ohio, (2-0) will meet today in the winners' bracket of the Ohio Valley Regional Babe Ruth League Baseball Tournament.

Host city Grosse Pointe Woods meets Indiana in the losers' bracket. Both teams have 21 records.

Jameson, Wis., and Markham, Ill., were ousted from the double-elimination tournament Monday.

Lions Greet Hilgenberg by Changing His Duties

Wally Hilgenberg, the only draft pick of the Detroit Lions who made the 1964 College All-Star team, worked out for the first time Monday with his new professional teammates.

Hilgenberg, a 6-foot-3, 225-pound guard and linebacker from Iowa, was Detroit's No. 4 pick in last year's draft of collegiate players. Coach George Wilson said he would use Hilgenberg at guard.

"Wally's best position is linebacker, but we're stockpiled at that position while we have few offensive guards," he said.

Wilson reported that the Lions suffered no injuries during Saturday night's opening exhibition game in Charlotte, N.C. against the Washington Redskins.

The Green Bay Packers, shocked by their first loss in 25 exhibition games, have made some wholesale changes in rookie personnel while the Chicago Bears are having some second thoughts about their narrow victory over the College All-Stars.

The Packers, second in the Western Conference last year after two years as the National Football League champions, were knocked off by the St.

Louis Cardinals 20-7 in New Orleans last weekend. It broke a string of 24 straight exhibition victories for the mighty Packers.

"You don't bolster your team when you're at the bottom," Coach Vince Lombardi said. "You do it when you're at the top."

SIX GONE

And, while not at the top but hoping to regain it, he promptly cut six rookies and welcomed five others from the All-Star team to the Packers training camp at Green Bay.

Taking part in their first drill with the Packers Monday after playing in the All-Star game were tackle Lloyd Voss of Nebraska, center Ken Bowman of Wisconsin, halfback Duke Carlisle of Texas, quarterback Dennis Clardie of Nebraska and linebacker Tommy Crutcher of Texas Christian.

Trimmed from the team that will play the New York Giants Saturday were center guard Dave Crossan of Maryland, defensive back Beau Carter of Fresno State, back Gary Kroner of Wisconsin, and Tom O'Grady of Northwestern, defensive back Larry Hunter from Grambling and offensive back Joe Scarpati from North Carolina State.

Chicago Bears owner — Coach George Halas, meanwhile, is trying to get the look at his second stringers he couldn't afford in the tight 25-17 victory over the All-Stars in Chicago last weekend.

The Bears were so hard-pressed against the college boys they couldn't work in many of their substitutes, and Halas has indicated he'll use them this week against Washington.

ANOTHER CUT

The Pittsburgh Steelers trimmed five men from their roster in Kingston, R.I., half-back Martin Agnew of University of the South, tackle T. W. Alley of William and Mary, tackle Charlie Harris of Tennessee A&M, tackle Dick Mills of Pittsburgh and linebacker Bob Rowley of Virginia.

Baltimore asked waivers on Journeyman fullback Bob Galters, a New Mexico State product who failed to get into a game last year.

The major injury reported from the weekend action was a torn cartilage in the left knee of Los Angeles Rams' rookie John Mims, who started at end against Dallas.

Jones also is being bypassed by former champion Floyd Patterson. As a result, he is taking on Tony Longi, a 6-foot-5 beller from Hollywood, Fla., in a television bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Alongi, 24, is ranked 10th. He has ambitions to climb higher and would like to do so in an expense Friday. If this happens, Jones' case will be ruined.

"I'm not taking him lightly," said Jones, a 27-year-old ex-soldier from New York. "Maybe being the No. 1 won't help me get the title shot but I don't intend to blow it by getting careless. I'm in good shape."

Koskowitz said Monday that Jones was supposed to meet Patterson in Stockholm but that Eddie Machen got the shot instead. Patterson won.

"In view of that we don't have much hope of getting Patterson into the ring with Doug," said Koskowitz.

He made the remark shortly after Teddy Brenner, shortstop for the Yankees, said he was calling Patterson on an offer of $35,000 to meet the Jones-Alongi winner in a Garden non-television fight Oct. 2. That will be the Garden's first boxing date after the present television contract expires.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Linebacker Bob Koval of Detroit was placed on waivers Monday by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

Yanks Have 10-0 Edge in Series

By The Associated Press — The Chicago White Sox will have baseball's big yardstick — the law of averages — going for them today when they open Phase II of the American League's three-way pennant stretch at Yankee Stadium.

The White Sox will be looking for their first 1964 victory over New York but their 0-10 nose-division against the Yankees doesn't show up in the league standings.

Chicago, having shrugged off the Yankee hex while building a fat 67-34 bulge against the rest of the league in second place, 12 percentage points behind front-running Baltimore and two points up on New York.

The Sox can't ignore the Yankees for the next four games, beginning with a day-night doubleheader today. But Al Lopez, who pays less heed to the law of averages than to his pitching staff's 2.79 earned run average, believes the defending champions are ready to be taken.

PATENTED KICK

"After losing so many close games to them," the ever-optimistic Chicago pilot said Monday, "I feel the pendulum is about to swing the other way." If he turns out to be correct, the Yankees may need more than their patented September finishing kick to get back in the race.

Lopez will send Joe Horlen, 3-7, 2.17 ERA, against the Yankees' Ralph Terry, 5-3, in this afternoon's opener. Juan Pizarro, the league's No. 1 southpaw with a 14-6 mark and 2.14 ERA, opposes New York's Jim Bouton, 12-9, at night.

The Chicago sharpshooters will face a Yankee team beset by injuries to its key men, Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle, Ford, who shut out the White Sox in each of three previous series, has a painful hip injury and will not pitch. The veteran left-hander has strained ligaments and a calcium deposit in his right hip.

Mantle, who sat out the final two games of last weekend's unsuccessful series with Baltimore — the Orioles took three of four games at the Stadium — due to a pulled groin muscle, is a question mark. If he plays, Mantle will be fighting an 4-for-16 batting slump.

After the White Sox leave town, the Yankees have a three-game series at Baltimore and a four-game visit to Chicago.

The Orioles, meanwhile, have an opportunity to widen their lead in a three-game series against Boston, beginning Tuesday night at Baltimore. Rookie sensation Wally Bunker, 12-3, will pitch for the league leaders against the Red Sox' Bob Feller, 5-4. Detroit, working on a seven-game winning streak, visits Minnesota; Cleveland is at Los Angeles and Washington at Kansas City.

There were no AL games scheduled Monday.

NYU Plans Grid Return

NEW YORK (UPI) — Football is making a timid return to one of the country's biggest schools, and all indications point to a continued revival of the sport at other Eastern colleges.

New York University, at one time a national power and the home base of all-time great Ken Strong, announced Monday a night would play its first football game this season since 1962, when it deserted the autumn madness as a losing cause.

A one-game schedule should not arouse strong emotion at a school that once drew crowds of 70,000 to a three-game series at Yankee Stadium, but when N.Y.U. meets Georgetown at Kehoe Field in Washington on Nov. 21, it could mark the start of something big.

Top Female Keglers in Huron Bowl Meet

By JERE CRAIG

Bowling isn't just a man's game and 96 women intend to prove it this week at Huron Bowl; and there will be at least one youngster who has high hopes of showing what the juniors can do.

That will be Cheryl Pointer, 13-year-old daughter of Shirley Pointer, a leading women bowler in the area — who will be competing on the 7:30 p. m. squad in Thursday's Pro-Am event that precedes the Professional Women Bowlers' Association Open.

The PWBA Tournament will run Friday-Sunday and has 88 of the leading female pros in the country plus eight top area amateurs competing for $6,300 in prize money.

A field of 96 amateurs also has been lined up for the Pro-Am in which the pros team with them to vie for $900 in prize money. Only the amateur (bowling with a 100 per cent handicap) will receive any Pro-Am tournament money.

TOPS FIELD

The teen-age Miss Pointer has reason for her high hopes. Out of some 150 who attempted to qualify at Huron Bowl, she led the way with a 719 total.

A 168-pin handicap figured into that total. A repeat of her 551 actual qualifying score, plus the handicap, plus a good showing by her pro partner should put Cheryl among the leaders Thursday.

None of the juniors are eligible for the cash prizes; but the experience of bowling with a pro partner can be invaluable and do well would be a big psychological boost.

She doesn't know who her pro partner will be, although she has hopes for either LeVerne Carter or Ann Setlock, both of whom are on the same squad. The pairings will be made that night.

There also will be 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. squads. Tickets for both Pro-Am and the Open Tournament are on sale at Howe's Lanes, Airway Lanes and Huron Bowl.

They are priced at $1 per evening session and 75 cents for afternoon events.

Dearborn's Troy Ruttman Quits Automobile Racing

DETROIT (AP) — Troy Ruttman, youngest driver ever to win the Indianapolis 500-mile classic, said Monday night that he is retiring from racing because "I want to walk out of it alive with my head up."

Ruttman, who won the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis in 1952 at the age of 22, said his retirement "was not a hasty decision."

He said he felt racing had been good to him but "every time I sit down in a race car death is sitting right beside me."

Ruttman, 34, of suburban Dearborn, has been a racing driver since he was 13. He has been injured seriously several times and narrowly escaped death in this year's Indianapolis 500 in which one of his closest friends, Detroit Eddie Sachs, was killed.

NEXT TO SACHS

Ruttman, recalled he was running alongside Sachs when the fatal crash occurred. "That started the thinking," he said.

"It takes a lot of courage to race, but it takes more courage to quit," Ruttman added.

In discussing his retirement, Ruttman referred to "the A-B-C's of racing — ability, brains and courage." He said:

"I don't think anybody who knows anything about racing would question that I have the courage. . . I'm not a coward."

Ruttman said he didn't want to criticize "the sport that's been so kind to me, but in the last couple of years there has been more emphasis on speed and more needless and tragic accidents."

He attributed the increase in accidents to "the total emphasis on speed and the inexperience of some drivers."

Ruttman, who owns a motorcycle shop in Dearborn, said he "was turning the sport over to younger men."

RANKED NO. 1 — Doug Jones (above) said it's flattering to be ranked as the No. 1 heavyweight contender but indicated it's worse as much as a Japanese railway ticket on the New York subway.

Doug Jones' Camp 'Advises' WBA

NEW YORK (AP) — "The WBA can show there's some reason for their existence if they order Cassius Clay to make his first defense, against Doug Jones, the No. 1 contender. If he doesn't, then they should vacate the title."

So said Alex Koskowitz, who is not exactly neutral in this particular case. Koskowitz is the manager of Jones, the heavyweight who last an unpopular decision 18 months ago to Clay before the latter dethroned Sonny Liston as heavyweight king.

Clay has signed for a return fight with Liston despite the disapproval of the World Boxing Association, the New York Athletic Commission and most boxing bodies of the world.

Webster Holds Putt-Putt Lead

Sixteen-year-old Tom Webster of Waterford Township held a six-stroke lead as the Pontiac Press Carriers Putt-Putt tournament moved into the second round today at the course on Dixie Highway.

Webster, a member of the Press' carriers for a year, carded a 54-hole score of 111.

Holding down the runnerup spot at 117 were Charles Mutz and Ken Bronzel.

The field of 82 was cut in half for today's round, and the low 13 scorers today will move into the third round tomorrow.

The low six scorers after Wednesday's round will play the final 54 holes Thursday, with the winner moving into a match with the Putt-Putt Suburban Open champion August 18.

SF Giants 'Stand' for 2-1 Beating

By The Associated Press

Life with the San Francisco Giants certainly hasn't been a bowl of cherries recently. The latest problem, however, concerns some missing strawberries.

Neither Tom Haller nor Orlando Cepeda bore that mark of a sliding base runner as both were thrown out at home plate trying to score standing up in the Giants' 2-1 loss at St. Louis Monday night.

The defeat dropped the Giants three games behind National League leading Philadelphia Phillies and left San Francisco Manager Al Dark in an awkward position.

Immediately after the game, Dark, who has been under fire, was asked if there would be any fines.

"I never announce fines," he said softly, apparently trying to restrain his anger. "That would have to come from somebody else. You saw the same game I did."

Here's what everyone saw:

In the fifth, with the Giants trailing 2-0, Haller led off with a single. Two outs later, Harve Kuenn singled him to second. Hal Lanier then popped a single to right, Haller lumbering to the plate to find catcher Tim McCarver holding Mike Shannon's peg.

The Giants pulled to within one run in the seventh on Jim Ray Hart's homer and mounted another threat in the eighth when Cepeda and Hart singled with two out. Haller then singled to left field and Cepeda came barreling home from second.

This time McCarver was waiting with Lou Brock's peg.

Only one other game was played in either league, the Cincinnati Reds belting the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2.

The Reds made quick work of it, the first four men hitting safely against Joe Moeller and producing three runs — more than enough to win behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Purkey.

The first-place Phillies, who now enjoy the biggest lead of the season, got back in action Sunday at Chicago, sending Ray Culp, 8-7, against the Cubs' Dick Ellsworth, 12-13. The Giants will start Bob Hendley, 9-7, against the Cardinals' Curt Simmons, 12-8, in a nightcap.

Elsewhere, it'll be Los Angeles at Cincinnati, Houston at Milwaukee and New York at Pittsburgh.

Strong Bat Attack Leads to Triumph

Bud & Lou unloaded a 12-hit attack in rolling to a 13-7 triumph over Pontiac State Hospital in the opening game of the National Softball League's lower-bracket playoffs.

In the upper bracket of the International playoffs, Motorcar Transport knocked the Pontiac Merchants into the losers bracket, 11-8.

State Hospital and Bud & Lou will move into the second game of the two-game knockout series tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Beaumont. A win for Bud & Lou would end the series. A loss would force a third game.

Motorcar will take on Local 883 in the second game tonight at 7 at Northside, with the loser moving into a tilt with the Merchants tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Northside.

Bud & Lou rolled up a 4-0 lead in the opening inning without a base hit. Four walks, a wild pitch, two hit batters and an error produced the tallies.

The winners collected three more markers in the second and three in the third to put the game on ice.

Bill Carie paced the attack with three hits in five trips. Frank August, Bucky Pointer and Norm Ausleybrook picked up two outstays each.

Center fielder Ernest Virgil banged out two singles and a double for the losers.

The Merchants' out-hit Motorcar, 10 to 7, but committed five errors, two in Motorcar's five-run fifth inning.

Dick Fitzgerald and Corky Elam collected two singles apiece for the winners. Jim Fitz rapped out a pair of doubles and a single for the Merchants.

Late Uprising in 'A' Playoff Causes Upset

Defending Champion Battles for Survival Against PBI Tonight

The Clippers captured a tense 5-4 duel from Huron-Airway last night at Jayces Park, knocking the defending city champion into the losers' bracket of the city Class A baseball playoffs.

Huron-Airway, which easily finished first during the regular season with a 163 record, now must meet Pontiac Business Institute at 8 p.m. today with the loser dropping out of the double-elimination tournament.

The Clippers' victory ended a five-game H-A winning streak and was sweet revenge for the 2-4 shelving they absorbed from it July 14th.

Huron-Airway took a 3-0 lead at the start and appeared a winner with the league's top pitcher Don Sackett on the mound.

However, two infield errors in the fourth allowed the Clippers to plate two runs; and back-to-back leadoff singles by Rick Foster and Warren Stephens chased Sackett in the fifth.

GO AHEAD

A fielder's choice tied the score, 3-3; and after two strikeouts, reliever Steve Wilson lost his control, walking two and hitting another to force in two more runs.

The winners southpaw reliever Don Glowatz in the sixth, was touched for Bob Rabaja's second, run-scoring triple of the night but stopped H-A's attack after that to post the victory — the first in four tries for the Clippers against Huron-Airway this season.

Both teams left 19 runners on base with the losers having men in scoring position in every inning except the third. The Clippers left the bases loaded in the two innings they tallied.

The winners now will meet Cranbrook tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in a bid to reach the city championship best-of-five series.

Flint Driver Tops at Monza Track

Flint's Jack Will compiled the most points in a two-weekend competition at Pontiac's Monza Speedway to capture the first prize Sunday in his B-Limited cart.

Two Pontiac drivers led their divisions but did not have enough points to offset the Flint driver's winning total.

Dick Harroun led the stock tie class and John Wesson paced the B-stock racers.

Competition will continue this Sunday for another two-weekend prize. There were more than 50 entries last Sunday.

The Monza Speedway will be open through November.

TORCH BEARER — Japanese student Yoshinori Sakai, 19, in training near his home in Miyoshi, Japan, will carry the Olympic torch in Tokyo's Olympic Stadium to inaugurate the 1964 games in October. Sakai, born near Hiroshima the day the atomic bomb was dropped — Aug. 6, 1945 — will carry the torch on the final leg of the journey to Tokyo.

Ex-Phillie Moves Around

Demeter Likes Outfield

DETROIT (AP)—After more than 100 games as a member of the Detroit Tigers, Don Demeter still wishes he was the team's regular centerfielder.

When he was acquired in the trade that sent pitcher Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos to the Philadelphia Phillies, Demeter was tabbed immediately as the Detroit centerfielder by manager Charlie Dressen.

The Tigers figured they had made quite a catch since Demeter had led the Phillies in runs batted in for two of the last three seasons, including 1963, and hit more than 20 homers in each of the campaigns.

But things just didn't seem to go right for the Tigers in the first half of the season and Demeter found himself playing all of the outfield positions.

PLAYS FIRST

Later, when Norm Cash's hitting continued sour, Demeter found himself playing first base. He is now the regular first sacker when the Tigers face a left-handed pitcher.

"Sure, I still prefer to play center," Demeter said recently. "I was happy when I heard the Tigers were going to play me there mainly because I had been playing five positions with the Phillies."

"I still think I can do better playing at one position because knowing you have that position sewed up gives you a little more confidence at the plate."

"But don't get me wrong," he continued. "I'm happy to be playing no matter where it is." Demeter's feelings toward playing center are understandable when one considers that he has not committed an error in the outfield in 209 games, a major league record.

"I still think I can do better playing at one position because knowing you have that position sewed up gives you a little more confidence at the plate."

SECOND IN RBI
The records show that Demeter has appeared actively in 98 games for the Tigers. But the records do not tell how many of these appearances were pinch-hitting roles or two or three-inning stints late in the game. Despite the fact that six other Tigers have more appearances at the plate, Demeter has still delivered enough times to rank second on the team in RBI's with 52. Only Cash, with 62, has more.

His 14 home runs put him in third place behind Dick McAuliffe's 20 and Cash's 18. Hank Aguirre will be out to try to continue the Tigers seven-game winning streak when he takes the mound against the Minnesota Twins at Minneapolis tonight. The Tigers hold an 8-4 edge over the Twins in the first dozen meetings.

Young Skater Overcomes Bout With Anemia

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Darlene Edwards of Erie, Pa., capped a comeback from a bout with anemia by winning the junior girls free-style title Monday night in the 1964 North American Amateur Roller Skating Championships.

Darlene, who won juvenile national championships in 1959, 1960 and 1961, was stricken with anemia in 1962 and had to quit skating. After recovering, she returned to skating this year.

Results in the meet which last through Aug. 15:

Junior girls free-style — Darlene Edwards, Erie, Pa.; Linda Hawthorne, Long Beach, Calif.; Janet Campana, Walham, Mass.

Juvenile Boys' free-style — Vincent Cardin, Memphis, Tenn.; Jeffrey Phillips, Dayton, Ohio; Dean Brown, Memphis, Tenn.

Local Tankers Win Events

Steve Yedlin and Hugh Wilder of the Pontiac Swim Club both took first-place honors over the weekend at Detroit's Brennan Pool in the Water Wonderland Meet — the largest outdoor swim meet in the state.

Yedlin, a 13-year-old, edged five older boys in taking the 100-meter freestyle for 13- to 14-year-old boys. His time was 1:01.3.

Wilder won the boys' 15- to 17-year-old 100-meter backstroke in 1:06.3. He also was second in the 100-meter butterfly and seventh in the 200-meter freestyle.

John Mason of the Pontiac squad had a fourth-place finish in the 100-meter backstroke, a fifth in the 100-meter freestyle, and a sixth in the 100-meter butterfly stroke.

Two local relay teams also showed well in their age groups. Jeff Bisanz, Mason and Steve and Frank Yedlin comprised the 13-14 boys relay squad that took seventh in the 400-meter medley and sixth in the 400-meter freestyle relays.

Among the boys 10-and-under relay squads, PSC's entry took seventh in the 400-meter medley and sixth in the 200-meter freestyle relay. The team was Chris Schridel, Doug Featherstone, and Jim and Jeff Dauw.

Pontiac Kiwanis 9 Wins at Saginaw

Pontiac Northside Kiwanis Class E champions won two district games at Saginaw yesterday defeating the Saginaw Jays, 5-4; and the Drayton Daisies from Waterford Township, 7-5.

Jim Burton was the winning pitcher in relief in both games. Tony DeLaRosa had four-for-seven in the twin bill.

Roger Miller tripled home the tying and winning runs and scored the insurance marker in the second contest. He had a single, also, and four runs batted in.

The team will play in Jackson at 1 p.m. Thursday in regional competition. The winner of that game will advance to the state semifinals next week at Jackson.

Covered Up Dempsey Roars Like Caged Lion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Dempsey wants out. And when the old Manassa Mauler grows at the doctors who are keeping him cooped up in his apartment room, wife Deanna Dempsey enters the "cage" like a tiger-tamer and says: "Now—Jack—be nice."

"Be nice —," says Jack, simmering down like a small boy explaining a pique. "They tell me I gotta stay here in this room another week — and I want to bust out here right now."

Shapely Deanna assures the former world heavyweight champion the doctors know best and he should be delighted with their latest report on his rapid improvement.

The report was made last night by doctors Max Eil, a specialist in internal medicine, and David Bloom, Jack's longtime friend and physician.

HEART STRAIN
The report said 69-year-old Dempsey was "80 per cent" recovered from the "very mild heart strain" caused by acute bronchitis in July.

Although the report didn't say so, friends suspect Jack may have tried to combine cigars and bronchitis and that the explosive coughing reaction may have put a bit of a strain on the "ticker."

In their report, Dr. Eil said that after a little more convalescence, "Jack will be himself again. He is responding excellently to bed-rest and salt-poor diet."

Track Record Set

by Yank in Norway

OLSO, Norway (UPI) — Sprinter Mike Larabee of Ventura, Calif., set a new Bisset Stadium track record Monday in the 400-meter dash when he was clocked in 56.6 seconds during an international competition.

Fred Hansen also smashed the previous Bisset pole vault standard with 16-4 1/2 feet. However, he failed to better his world record vault of 17-5 set in a recent meet against Russia.

Boxing 'Backlashes' Hit by Californian

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Speaking of backlashes," said attorney Sol Silverman of San Francisco, "there's a powerful sentiment among business men and professional men now whipping out against those who are trying to bury boxing."

Silverman, chairman of the California committee for safeguards in the mitt sport, declared that thousands of our "thinking men" are becoming disgusted and somewhat alarmed at anti-boxing campaigns that could "indirectly penalize and handicap American youth for the sins of racketeers."

Instead of teaching our healthily combative boys in high schools and colleges to settle their disputes in a manly fashion with their fists, Silverman said, would-be reformers are carelessly pushing young people toward knives, clubs and guns, and the juvenile delinquency that thrives on those weapons.

SOME DANGEROUS

The medium-sized, dark-haired 64-year-old attorney admitted that there is "a certain amount of danger" connected with amateur or professional boxing; but certainly not any more danger than sports like football, auto-racing, horse-racing, skiing and bob-sledding.

On Sept. 14, Silverman will meet with his seven sub-committees at the Helms Athletic Foundation headquarters in Los Angeles, he said; and he will get their reports.

From those reports, he explained, he will make a final report to Governor Edmund Pat Brown.

That report will suggest what California's attitude should be toward professional boxing and toward a federal commission to assist the state commissions in governing the sport, Sol emphasized.

Biracial Chicago Program

College Students Tutoring Negro Youths

CHICAGO (AP) — For 300 ambitious Negro high school students from Chicago's vast South Side, summer vacation doesn't mean a lull.

The students, at one time potential dropouts, are being tutored on hot summer days by a biracial group of enthusiastic college students, who also are giving up summer vacations.

The tutoring, conducted in community centers, churches and in students' homes, is part of a program known as the Student Woodlawn Area Project, or SWAP. It is one of the most successful among 60 volunteer tutoring projects in the Chicago area.

Similar projects exist in New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Milwaukee and many other cities in the North.

LACK COMMUNICATION

"Our students are intelligent," explains Ann Cook, 24, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., and a leader of SWAP. "But they and their formal schoolteachers simply cannot communicate with each other."

Under the SWAP program, tutor and pupil meet each other as individuals, Miss Cook said in an interview Sunday.

"It's an emotional experience for both," she said.

"The students receive their lessons near their homes and get to meet and know a white person. And the white tutor gets to visit a Negro area and learn what the problems are."

CLOSE CONTACT

"Usually it's the students' first close contact with whites, and the whites' first contact with Negroes," Miss Cook said.

To further the students' burgeoning hopes, SWAP has developed a college counseling committee which teaches them how to take multiple-choice tests and offers advice about scholarships and fellowships.

SWAP maintains a library of about 5,000 books. All are donated, but more are needed.

Rounding out the summer program is a series of special activities popular with the students. These include a chess club, modern dance, drama and art groups, and especially arranged and supervised sports activities for boys and girls.

Migrant Fruit Picker

Held in Postal Theft

MANISTEE (AP)—A migrant fruit picker was held today in connection with Monday's $500 robbery of the nearby Bear Lake post office.

State Police said Raul Flores, 26, of San Antonio, Tex., was arrested Monday night on U.S. 31 north of Manistee as he was to pick tomatoes.

Dummy's ten of diamonds held the first trick. Trick two went to South's jack of clubs, whereupon South led his six of hearts.

East was in with the queen and shifted to the queen of spades. South ducked, whereupon West overtook with the king and led back the suit.

East's 10 was allowed to hold the third spade trick and East continued with the eight.

This allowed South to make a trick with his side spot and two spades, one heart, two diamonds and three clubs added up to eight tricks for declarer.

How many defensive errors can you spot and what was the key error?

How about the opening lead? Unfortunately, but you can't always guess the best opening.

How about the queen of spades shift? Unfortunately, but not really an error. East wasn't looking at all the cards.

What about the eight of spades lead? A decided error, but at that point South could make the hand against any return.

Suppose a diamond return. South simply cashes the ace of diamonds, ace of hearts and ace-king of clubs. Then he throws East in with the last club and East is compelled to lead a spade to South.

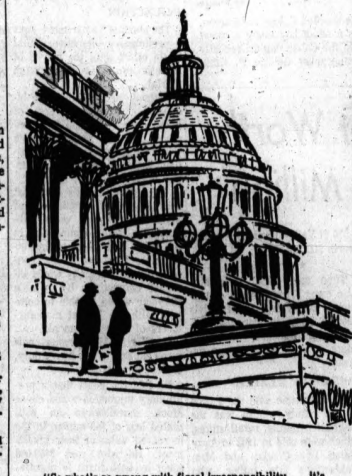

Should the hand have been beaten at 10? Yes! West should have played the three of spades, not the king on the first spade lead. Then, if East either continued with a low spade or shifted to a diamond, South would have had no play for his contract.

FUN for PAY

Bill Olsen's job is as much a Barrel of Fun as the name of the ride he is testing. The Barrel is grandfather of Coney Island rides.

Parachute jump came to Coney Island after 1939 World's Fair. Olsen and ride operator go up for inspection.

How would you like to spend your time taking in all the rides at Coney Island? Imagine being able to do the works from Ferris wheel and roller coaster to loop-the-loop and steeplechase, getting on and off the rides whenever you want and never have to wait in line for a seat.

Bill Olsen of Brooklyn can and does this very thing. Not only that, he gets paid for it!

This has been going on for 25 years now. As part of his job as New York City elevator inspector, he must inspect and license each of the rides in Steeplechase Park in the vast Coney Island amusement area. Half of each year is spent almost exclusively in Coney Island.

He begins testing the rides in late February. Older rides receive rigid safety inspections. New rides are overloaded with sacks of potatoes to determine capacity and at the same time the weight is distributed unevenly to determine the safety limits. Olsen uses potatoes instead of sand or sawdust so that spillage, when it occurs, will not foul machinery.

During the season, Olsen goes from ride to ride, peering at mechanical equipment and checking safety gear. His ears are attuned sharply to the sound of each ride and like an orchestra conductor, he listens for discordant sounds. He claims, without boasting, to be able to hear a matchstick click under the roller coaster wheels.

When he hears an unusual noise, he immediately stops the ride, checks for the flaw and orders an adjustment.

And that is how one man makes a living—to him it is a job, albeit an important one. To thousands of kids, Olsen is an object of envy. Imagine, being able to take in all those rides . . . for free!

On inspection-licensing ride, Olsen ignores away and dip of "Paratrooper," concentrating on drive connection and safety provisions.

Coney Island's giant Ferris wheel comes under scrutiny.

Cyclone roller coaster is most famous of all Coney Island rides. In an emergency, it can be halted at many points along its steep route.

Meador Defines Real War:
Must Rate Bob Hope Tour

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"The new" Vaughn Meador speaks so shatteringly truthful words about Viet Nam in his act at the Cafe Au GoGo, in Greenwich Village.

"It isn't really much of a war," Meador says. "You know how you can tell a real good war? Bob Hope comes around a lot."

Although of course avoiding mention of the Kennedys, Meador says a comedian, or humorist, must discuss politics today. "You know how Sen. Goldwater celebrated Brotherhood Week. He invited his brother to lunch." "Why did the Republicans fight for the nomination just to have the distinction of losing? It's like a kid dreaming of being a major league baseball player and winding up with the N.Y. Mets." He didn't spare President Johnson, whose speeches, he says, "are 100 per cent incoherent... but you know he means what he says."

As for Ethel Merman and Ernie Borgnine: "It isn't at the divorce stage yet... It's just the first two out of three falls."

Frank Sinatra, en route to Rome, stopped here to pick up husky Jilly Rizzo, prop. of Jilly's and Mr. J's night clubs, and take him along to be in charge of "the Sinatra security," protesting Frank from the Italian photos, the paparazzi, while Frank's filming "Von Ryan Express." It could be a bloody war, just bought a handsome Abyssinian: two of her cats have died in N.Y.

Utah Voters
Go to Polls
in Primary

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Utah voters went to the polls today to nominate candidates for senator, governor and a variety of lesser state offices.

The primary turnout was expected to approach the record 196,000 votes cast in 1956. A volatile campaign for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination was credited with sparking voter interest.

Both senatorial candidates, Rep. Sherburne P. Lloyd, R-Utah, and Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, call themselves conservatives. But they have differed sharply on the meaning of conservatism and questioned each other's personal qualifications.

The winner will oppose Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah. Moss has no primary opposition. Neither did the four candidates for Utah's two U.S. House of Representatives seats.

TWO CONTESTS

There were contests for both the Democratic and Republican nominations for governor, Gov. George D. Clyde, a Republican, is not seeking reelection.

Wilkinson, 65, who resigned early this year as president of Brigham Young University, has singled out Lloyd's vote for the civil rights bill, a "police state" which he said is "indiscriminately enforced."

Lloyd, 50, has countered that he is a "constructive conservative," standing between "those who run from the federal government and those who run in blind trust toward it."

In the gubernatorial races, the Democrats are attorney Calvin L. Hampton, 51, and Ernest H. Dean, 50, speaker of the 1963 Utah House of Representatives.

The Republican candidates are D. James Cannon, director of the Utah Tourist and Publicity Council, and Mitchell Mellett, former Utah GOP national committeeman.

Uneasy Driver Flees;
No Surprise to Rider

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Airmen Joseph J. Root Jr. of nearby Stewart Air Force Base, told police Monday it didn't surprise him when the driver who gave him a ride Sunday night jumped out of the car and ran.

Root recognized the driver, too. The man gave him a ride a week earlier and robbed him of $42.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan researchers have begun excavating Indian mounds near Grand Rapids which, they said, date back to about 100 B.C. to 100 A.D.

Researchers reported finding marine shells from the Atlantic or Florida coast and a piece of mica or insulating from North Carolina. The shells were cut to serve as liquid containers and the mica probably was used as a mirror, they said.

Evince Only Passing Interest

War Cries Barely Stir Problem-Plagued Russia

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN
MOSCOW (U. S. —) The Soviet Union's preoccupation with its own affairs has barely been ruffled by the far-off echoes of shots and war cries in Asia and the Mediterranean.

For the first time in the history of the Cold War, the Kremlin virtually has taken a seat on the sidelines for the double-header crisis in Viet Nam and Cyprus.

In sharp contrast with its tactics in past international flare-ups, the Soviet Union has evinced only passing interest in the present conflicts.

The American air attack on Communist Vietnamese naval bases last week drew a mild statement of rebuke from the Russians.

While giving token support to the North Viet Nam and Communist Chinese cause in Asia, Premier Khrushchev withheld any threats to involve the Soviet Union until the dust had settled and the danger of further explosions had passed.

CYPRUS SITUATION

With a similar air of near detachment, the Soviet premier dispatched telegrams to Greek and Turkish leaders and to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant following Turkish air attacks on Greek Cypriot positions.

Although Russia has adopted a pro-Greek position in the dispute, Khrushchev's message to Prime Minister Ismet Inonu of Turkey was couched in moderate terms even contained a flattering reference to the Turkish leader's "great experience in matters of state."

The Soviet party organ Pravda published Khrushchev's messages on the Cyprus conflict in a front page box yesterday, together with a brief outline of the situation on Cyprus.

Red headlines and the bulk of its column space were reserved for an editorial announcing the calling of a showdown world Communist party conference to deal with the Soviet-Chinese split.

News Analysis

The whole second page was devoted to the text of Khrushchev's exchange of agricultural shop talk with collective farmers in the caucuses.

Reports on the aftermath of the Viet Nam clash were relegated to the party daily's back page.

The appearance of equanimity in world crises seems connected with Soviet concern for pressing domestic and Communist-bloc problems.

Peking's virtual domination of Asia's Communist movement has been grudgingly accepted by the realistic Soviet premier.

UNDERLYING MOTIVE

This is believed to be the underlying motive for the recent Soviet move to extricate itself from its cochairman's role in peacekeeping machinery for Laos in Indochina.

A Moscow intention to wash its hands of any responsibility for the worsening situation in Southeast Asia also is reported to have been communicated to President Johnson in recent months through various emissaries.

The condemnation of the American attack on Viet Nam was regarded by diplomats here as the minimum required to forestall any future Chinese charges of disloyalty to fraternal Communist nations in times of need.

Soviet policy in the Cyprus problem has been described by Western diplomats as aimed at prolonging tensions as long as possible by encouraging Archbishop Makarios' defiance of the NATO allies' proposals for a solution.

Without becoming overtly involved in the Mediterranean island's difficulties, the Russians have advocated, from a safe distance, a hands-off policy of letting the Greek and Turkish Cypriots settle their own quarrels.

Western diplomats speculated that this approach was a calculated design for putting off indefinitely a settlement of the age-old Greek-Turkish blood feud on Cyprus.

Motions Filed in Hoffa Trial

CHICAGO (AP) — Motions for acquittal or a new trial were filed Monday by attorneys for Teamster President James R. Hoffa and six others convicted on mail fraud and conspiracy charges.

The motions were filed before Judge Richard B. Austin of U.S. District Court, who presided over the three-month trial which ended last month.

Listed in the appeal were 56 alleged reasons for acquittal. A ruling on the motions is expected by Monday when the men are scheduled to be sentenced.

GUILTY VERDICTS

GUILTY verdicts were returned against Hoffa and the others for allegedly defrauding the Teamster pension fund.

The union leader was found guilty on three counts of fraud and one of conspiracy. The maximum sentence he faces is 20 years in prison and a $15,000 fine.

$10,000 Increase Seen for Cost of '65 Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The inauguration of the President of the United States Jan. 26, 1965, is expected to cost $65,000, which is $10,000 more than the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy cost in 1961.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee for the Inauguration, told newsmen Monday the extra $10,000 was recommended because labor and lumber costs are up.

TIMES CHANGE. SO DO JOBS.

New methods, new machines are always being developed. That's what makes progress. One result is that many jobs are replaced—and many won't even exist in a few years.

But another result of progress is opportunity. Those same new methods and machines will create new and different jobs. These are the jobs of tomorrow.

You won't get tomorrow's jobs with yesterday's skills

New abilities, new knowledge will be needed. The men who will get these better-paying jobs will have to be qualified. That's where you come in. You can re-train—learn a new skill—and earn a better living. If you begin now.

Re-training takes more than wishful thinking. You have to make a move. And your smartest move is to see the local office of your state employment service this week.

Parade Starts Events

The long green and white line marched up Saginaw Street yesterday, punctuated here and there by music and covered with smiles.

In spirit, it took the hearts of Oakland County 4-H youngsters right to the fairground at the corner of Walton and Perry.

There the annual 4-H Fair began today, climaxing a year of work by some 1,300 county youngsters who are entering their projects in competition for the coveted ribbons and chance to represent the county at the Michigan State 4-H Fair.

The 4-Hers beckoned the spectators who lined the street to "Come to the Fair."

Girl Is Going Around With a Big Wheel

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — It started out as a typical county fair. Livestock judging, baton twirling, band concerts, cotton candy and amusement rides.

Then a 15-year-old boy climbed onto the 60-foot high ferris wheel last Thursday, and this northwestern Ohio community's fair hasn't been the same since.

His achievement didn't last long.

Sunday night, Patricia Jones, a 15-year-old Sidney high school junior with brown eyes and brown hair, got onto the same wheel. And she's still going around — and around — and around.

BREAK RECORD

Patricia's aim was to break Chuck's record and maybe go five hours more. She broke that record at 8:55 last night. And now she hopes to last out until midnight for a ride of 54 hours.

Troop Disposition Cyprus Peace Threat

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A deadlock between Turkey and Cyprus about Greek Cypriot troop dispositions on the northwest coast today menaced the peace restored shakily under U.N. auspices.

Turkish jets maintained reconnaissance flights.

Premier Ismet Inonu's Ankara administration was reported continuing military preparations to back up its demand that Greek Cypriot forces give up three Turkish Cypriot villages they have occupied since last Wednesday, and withdraw from their encirclement of the port of Kokkina.

Cyprus Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou declared the Greek Cypriot forces will never withdraw in the Kokkina area.

"Greek Cypriots are ready to die to the last man or win," Kyprianou told newsmen before flying to Athens for consultation with Greek government about the latest crisis.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has said Turkey accepted unconditionally the appeal for a cease-fire, but Western diplomats in Ankara said it is insisting strongly that the coastal area be cleared of Greek Cypriot troops before the truce can be fully accepted.

U.N. TROOPS

Those sources said the only compromise Turkey might be persuaded to accept would be for the captured villages to be turned over to U.N. troops instead of reoccupied by Turkish Cypriot forces. Unarmed Turks and refugees massed around Kokkina could then return to their homes under U.N. protection.

U.N. headquarters said Turkish planes flew over an area south of the village of Aleyra, near the scene of recent fighting, for 25 minutes this morning but did not open fire.

Only a few isolated gunshots were heard during the night as both Greek and Turkish Cypriots observed the truce, the U.N. said.

At the order of Secretary-General U Thant, the U.N. police force mobilized its limited manpower to prevent another outbreak of fighting along Cyprus northwest coast.

Barry's Explanation Called Unity Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Senators see in Sen. Barry Goldwater's explanation of his words on extremism a step toward party unity for the presidential campaign.

"This is a step consistent with making it possible for all groups in the party to support him," Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire said yesterday of the GOP's presidential nominee.

"This conciliatory attitude is more important than the statement itself."

Goldwater offered his explanation in a letter to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In it, the Arizona senator explained what he had intended to convey with his acceptance speech declaration that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice... moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Goldwater said he would paraphrase these remarks to read "wholehearted devotion to liberty is unsalable and... half-hearted devotion to justice is indefensible."

But it's the stop at Hershey that is expected to attract most of the public interest on his trip.

Most of those attending the summit conference already have endorsed Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy, but Romney will be among the minority who have thus far withheld all-out backing of the Arizona senator.

Goldwater carries his effort to unify his party to Hershey, Pa., tomorrow for a summit meeting of Republican leaders.

All told, 38 of them, including 14 governors are to be on hand.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will address them at a luncheon meeting after the Republicans talk about party unity and strategy in closed-door sessions.

SATURDAY MEETING

Goldwater will meet Saturday in Washington with the 50 Republican state chairmen and with finance chairman.

Republican National Chairman Dean Burch said over-all plans for the campaign and the budget will be put before the state leaders at that session.

New York's two Republican senators welcomed Goldwater's explanation of the extremism declaration, but neither Kenneth B. Keating nor Jacob K. Javits budged from their position of refusing, at least for the present, to support Goldwater.

"I hope he now denounces the John Birch Society," said Javits.

Highest Mark Announced to Drive Trustees

55 Agencies Served by Fund in Pontiac, Neighbor Townships

Asking again for communitywide support, the Pontiac Area United Fund has announced a record goal of $815,500 for its 1964 campaign.

Bruck J. Annett, general chairman of this year's fund-raising effort, announced the mark yesterday at a luncheon for United Fund trustees at the Waldron Hotel.

The 1964 total is 5 per cent higher than last year's goal. In 1963, the UF target was $776,700.

"The higher goal is realistic and can be reached by everyone working just a little harder," Annett said.

"We hope to raise more money for the many in the Pontiac area who use the services of United Fund's 55 agencies," the Pontiac leader added.

AREAS COVERED

The 1964 annual solicitation, the 16th planned by Pontiac Area United Fund, will cover Pontiac, Brandon, Oxford, Independence, Orion, Pontiac and Waterford townships.

Annett announced that Charles Brown, division manager of Consumers Power, will lead industrial collection volunteers. This unit provides the bulk of UF contributions.

Divisional goals will be announced prior to the kickoff of the Oct. 13-Nov. 6 campaign.

Jack C. Brannack, coowner and secretary-treasurer of the J. L. Van Wagner Agency, Inc., is in charge of commercial collections.

OTHER CHAIRMEN

Mrs. Merrill Petrie is heading the Women's division, while John A. Riley, advertising director of The Pontiac Press, is advance gifts chairman.

Donald J. Frey, new Pontiac UF director, said the higher goal is needed to meet increasing service demands of the 55 agencies which the Pontiac area fund supports.

TEMPLETON PROSECUTOR Experience — Integrity

City Will Change Sizes of 2 Precincts

Pontiac voting Precinct No. 23 will be bigger after tonight's City Commission meeting, and Precinct No. 24 smaller.

Commissioners are slated to act on an emergency amendment to the city's precinct ordinance. The amendment would divide precincts in accordance with the state's apportionment and districting plan.

The boundary line between legislative districts 62 and 63 is East Boulevard, which runs through Precinct 24.

The effect of this would be that some voters in Precinct 24 would vote for one set of candidates for state legislature and some would have to vote for another set, depending on which legislative district they reside in.

The ordinance up for action would move the eastern boundary of Precinct 23 to East Boulevard. It now follows Francis.

Thus, voters living between Francis and East Boulevard

(now in Precinct 24) will be in Precinct 23 upon passage of tonight's amendment.

Both precincts are in Pontiac's sixth district and are bounded on the north by Mount Clemens and Featherstone and the south by Auburn.

The change must be made before the Sept. 1 statewide primary.

Similar problems involving only a handful of voters in Precincts 26, 27 and 29 may also be covered in the document up for adoption tonight.

NEED VOTE

However, these precinct boundaries cannot be changed without changing city district boundaries and district boundaries can be changed only by a public vote.

Therefore, city officials expect to merely notify these affected voters by mail that they will be voting somewhere other than their normal polling place in the September primary and November general elections.

In other business, commissioners are slated to hear a report from Homer D. Hoskins, manager of Pontiac Municipal Airport, on the amounts of city, state and federal funds spent to ward improving the airport since its establishment.

Commissioners will also accept copies of the recent survey of aviation facilities for Oakland County by Leigh Fisher Associates, Inc.

FUTURE EXPANSION

This is in connection with the possibility of future expansion and maintenance of the airport by a joint city-county authority, which has been under study for two years.

Commissioners will also be asked to approve expenditures to cover the city's share of new traffic signals being installed on West Huron at Williams and Webster streets.

The commission is also scheduled to get seven recommendations from the city planning commission regarding zoning requests. Two zoning ordinances will be up for final adoption tonight.

Slated for presentation are cost estimates for proposed public improvement projects on parts of Baldwin, Whittemore, Cottage, Emery and Balboa Place.

A three-judge federal court in Atlanta heard both sides uphold the constitutionality of the act's public accommodations section. Maddox and Rolleston both appealed to the supreme court.

Showdown Possible in Rights Test Case

ATLANTA (AP) — The stage is set today for a possible showdown between civil rights forces and an adamant Atlanta restaurant owner who was denied more time before he must begin serving Negroes under the new Civil Rights Act.

In Washington Monday, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black turned down requests by the restaurant owner and an Atlanta motel for an order staying effectiveness of a decision that the act's public accommodations section is constitutional. These were the first court tests of the act.

In a three-page memorandum issued in connection with his refusal, Black said, "A judicial restraint of the enforcement of one of the most important sections of the Civil Rights Act would, in my judgment, be unjustifiable."

FURTHER ATTEMPT

This left segregationist Lester Maddox, who says his Pickrick Restaurant positively will not integrate, faced with the possibility of closing the restaurant in the face of expected further integration attempts.

On the other hand, Moreton Rolleston, head of the Heart of

He said that doctors told him the situation is "making a good deal of improvement."

Atlanta Motel Corp., said he would comply with the court order.

"We will never integrate," Maddox said. "Pickrick will never integrate."

"We are just really hurt that our government will tell us that we no longer can be free as Americans and no longer can we select our customers," he said after learning of Black's decision.

"It's slavery of the first order. It shows complete, utter disregard for the United States Constitution."

Maddox said he would make a final decision today on the several courses of action he says are open to him.

"I can turn them away; just lock my doors, lock them to tonight and not open up tomorrow; sell my business; or I can turn it into a private club if I want to face my conscience after surrendering to this tyranny I am faced with and my country is faced with."

Civil rights groups said they had no specific plans to make another attempt to integrate Maddox's restaurant today.

"But that doesn't mean that someone won't try it on his own," said a spokesman for the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee.

BROUGHT SUIT

Three Negroes brought suit against Maddox's restaurant last month. They were turned away from the federal government later joined the suit. Rolleston's group also brought suit.

A three-judge federal court in Atlanta heard both sides uphold the constitutionality of the act's public accommodations section. Maddox and Rolleston both appealed to the supreme court.

Decision to Come on Kennedy Back

BOSTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today an announcement will be made within 48 hours whether surgery is necessary on his brother's back.

The attorney general conferred with doctors at New England Baptist Hospital where his nephew, brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is confined with a broken back suffered in a plane crash June 19.

Youth Betterment Plan Marks Fiftieth Year

Commemorating the 50th anniversary of the birth of the movement, 2,000 teen-agers enrolled in 75 clubs this week display their skills and handiwork at the Oakland County 4-H Fair.

The week-long spectacle began with a parade yesterday and winds up Saturday with action classes for horses and contest events.

In between will be prize competition in the 65 different project divisions embracing domestic science, animal husbandry, agriculture and self-improvement.

This year's 4-H enrollment marks an increase of 500 over a year ago, tangible evidence of the social significance attained by the youth-development agency.

The continuing program is under the administrative direction of the National's land grant universities, themselves conceived during the administration of President ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Its legal entity was established in 1914 with the passage of the Smith-Lever Act appropriating Federal funds for the Co-operative Extension Service, of which 4-H is a part.

It is symbolic of Head, Heart, Hand and Health—as fine a group concept, both physical and spiritual, as we can envision.

Well-Deserved Honors for a Grand Old Man

A great American yesterday observed his 90th birthday—surpassing by a score of years the Biblical life span of "three score and ten."

Herbert Hoover, the Nation's 31st President, observed his milestone at a luncheon with a quartet of friends and a family dinner at which he presided, as congratulatory cables, telegrams and letters poured in from around the world.

The date was made memorable for the nonagenarian by proclamations of President JOHNSON and the Governors of 15 states designating it as HERBERT HOOVER DAY.

Although the oldest living ex-President has been beset by a number of recent illnesses, his physician says the health of the illustrious man is good for one of his years.

In a statement issued for the occasion, Mr. Hoover said that "among us there are greater freedoms for the individual man and woman than in any other Nation."

We reverently salute our exemplary countryman on his long span of life and for his outstanding service not only to America but to many foreign countries.

Pursuit of Science No Cure for Tedium

A good case against over-specialization in science has been made by two University of Michigan researchers.

After a five-year study involving 1,311 scientists and engineers they found that people who spent full time in technical work were less effective and creative than those who spent part of their time on entirely different tasks (but still within their fields), such as administration or teaching.

"There was a hint," they concluded, "that excessive dedication was not healthy and that all work and no diversity was making Jack a dull scientist."

There may be meat for thought here for more than just scientists or employers of scientists.

It will be no news to successful company presidents, most of whom are Jacks of all the trades within their particular trade.

What it amounts to is that an occasional vacation AT work, in the form of a new challenge, can be as important as the annual one away from it.

Smart is the boss who presents these challenges to his workers. On the way up is the man who creates them for himself.

Picking of VP Open to Criticism

By J. W. DAVIS
WASHINGTON — The American government, though a work of genius, still has points to open to criticism.

One is the system for picking vice presidential nominees.

It has come to be assumed that if the presidential nominee of a party wants to decide the choice of his running mate, he can do it.

The argument runs: A president is responsible for his administration, so it is only right that he pick his own team, certainly his No. 2 man.

But is it fair? Is it democratic for one man to make the decision, which could be fateful for the country? You can get an argument here.

THE DECIDING VOICE
No one doubts that President Johnson's voice will be the deciding one when the Democrats round out their ticket at Atlantic City this month.

Similarly, it was Barry Goldwater who did the deciding for the Republican convention at San Francisco, when the vice presidential choice was William E. Miller.

And everybody knows how singlehandedly John F. Kennedy picked Lyndon B. Johnson to run with him in 1960.

A man running for a presidential nomination has it tough. He frequently has to go through great campaign agencies in a drive for votes—and spend a lot of money.

LOOK GOOD TO NOMINEE
But to become the vice presidential nominee nowadays, a man doesn't have to do anything but look to one other man—the presidential nominee.

It hasn't always been this way. The nation's founding fathers set up a system whereby the runner-up for president became the vice president. That system was junked with the growth of political parties.

And it hasn't always been the case even in recent years that the presidential nominee had the whole say-so on the vice presidential pick. In 1956 Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, left the selection up to the convention.

But for the most part, the presidential nominees more and more have called the vice presidential shots.

GAVE BLESSING TO NIXON
In 1952, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower gave his blessing to Richard M. Nixon for second place on his Republican ticket. He stuck with Nixon again in 1956.

In 1952 John Nance Garner, loser to Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination, was handed the vice presidential nomination.

Later Garner criticized Roosevelt's third term plans. Roosevelt dropped him and picked Henry A. Wallace for his running mate. Then, in 1944 FDR let Wallace go and in the end, it was Harry S. Truman who was vice president when Roosevelt died.

Instances after instance could be cited of the chancy, sometimes almost whimsical, ways in which vice presidents have been chosen.

Yet, eight men picked for vice president for one reason or another—sometimes by one man alone—have succeeded to the most powerful office in the land, not through merit but because the president died.

Prayer Ban Hassle Rekindled

WASHINGTON — Justice William J. Brennan Jr. of the Supreme Court has, unwittingly perhaps, stirred up more controversy on the so-called prayer decisions of the high court.

Mr. Brennan, in an address in New York City to the conferees of chief justices of the states, deplored the criticism which has been leveled at the court, and said:

"Criticism which is falsely premised, hostile, erosive and destructive hardly serves noble ends."

Brennan said that lawyers have a duty "to correct those whose attacks are founded upon exaggerated and distorted notions of what a court has done."

He added: "To take a specific and current example, lawyers as well as laymen are fully entitled to voice their disagreement with our court's recent decisions concerning prayer in the public schools."

But when such criticism departs completely from the court actually held and said in those cases, and accuses the court of having decreed the removal of all vestiges of religion from our public life—of chaplains from the armed services, opening prayers from legislative sessions, "In God We Trust" from the coins—when the criticism is directed at this wholly distorted version of the court's decisions, I suggest that it is irresponsible criticism."

CONTRADICTIONARY NATURE
It is the contradictory nature of the utterances of members of the Supreme Court itself which really puzzles the public.

Justice Black, for example, who wrote the majority opinion in June 1962, in the case which prohibited New York State from directing public school children to recite a particular prayer, did not deal with the question of other forms of religious exercises, voluntary or otherwise, but merely put in a footnote which said:

"There is of course nothing in the decision reached here that is inconsistent with the fact that schoolchildren and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contain references to the Deity or by singing officially espoused anthems which include the composer's professions of faith in a supreme being, or with the fact that there are many manifestations in our public life of belief in God."

"Such patriotic or ceremonial occasions bear no true resemblance to the unquestioned religious exercise that the state of New York has sponsored in this instance."

But the American people were given an entirely different definition in a "concurring opinion" filed in the same case by a member of the majority, Justice Douglas, who wrote:

"It is customary in deciding a constitutional question to treat it in its narrowest form. Yet at times the setting of the question gives it a form and content which no abstract treatment could give."

"The point for decision is whether the government can constitutionally finance a religious exercise."

Bob Considine Says:

Decision to Use A-Bombs Is Still Point of Argument

NEW YORK—These are days of commemorating our national shame, according to the propaganda mills of our enemies and, extraordinarily, some of our friends.

Over the past week, the anniversaries of Hiroshima and Nagasaki were solemnly observed in Japan.

The acts snuffed out World War II before it could enter a ghastly phase which would have meant Allied invasion of the Japanese homeland and, had the emperor so ruled, resistance which would have caused untold deaths and agonies.

Use of the A-bomb entailed a period of soul-searching still being engaged in within the American conscience.

The sure knowledge that it was the better way of doing things in the worse of possible alternatives is still disputed.

MILITARY CRITICS
Among those who continue to question the hard command decision made by President Truman are a number of old U.S. Army Air Force hands. Notably the immortal Gen. Toey Spaatz.

They still believe Japan was on the ropes and ready to surrender under the weight of conventional high explosives and, worse, fire bombs.

Three more weeks would have brought the Japanese to their knees without the controversial

"Our system at the federal and state levels is presently honey-combed with such financing. Nevertheless I think it is an unconstitutional undertaking whatever form it takes."

This contradiction between two justices who voted for the majority decision has led to a fear that in later cases the Supreme Court might ban the use of the name of the Deity in governmental documents and ceremonies and end the employment of chaplains in governmental services.

use of the nuclear weapons, Spaatz once told me.

Sixty members of the international team of physicists and engineers who put the first test bomb together and detonated it early on the morning of July 16, 1945, at Alamogordo, N. M., then made a remarkable effort to prevent a prototype of that test bomb from being dropped on human beings.

NOT IMPRESSED
They dispatched a little group to Washington to implore that the bomb never be used. President Truman and Gen. George C. Marshall, who were running the war at that time, were in Potsdam.

The nuclear physicists were shocked by the Pentagon to the office of one of Marshall's deputies and found him completely unimpressed.

He remained so even after the physicists suggested that it might be a good idea to tell the Japanese people that we were in possession of such a destructive bomb and perhaps our description of it would cause them to quit the war then and there.

The people of Hiroshima were told by U.S. leaflet propaganda what they had in store for them if Japan did not surrender. But no one seemed to comprehend as the B29 and its lethal load drummed high over the city at 8:15 a.m. Aug. 6, 1945.

HELD UP ASSEMBLY
Gen. Marshall issued the order which held up the final assembly of a third atomic bomb.

In his directive he suggested it would be wise to see how the Japanese reacted to the first two.

The third bomb's target was, surprisingly enough, Tokyo. The Japanese capital was largely in ruins at the time from conventional fire bombing, but it still held about 4 million people.

The plan was to drop it on the darkest night following the Nagasaki bomb, set its fuse for detonation at 10,000 feet and create a light that would scald and appall an area holding perhaps 15 million Japanese.

S. Olshansky calls the so-called right wing extremists "dedicated, patriotic Americans." Certainly they are dedicated and undoubtedly they are patriotic. The trouble with them is that their vision is about as wide as a thin slice of pie.

Long nourished on a diet of Westbrook Pegler, John T. Flynn and Fulton Lewis Jr., they have lost all sense of balance and proportion. They have little understanding of the world's problems and even less patience for seeking realistic solutions.

Complains of Magazines Sold at Store

Although I have lived in New York City where just about anything is sold on a newsstand, I still am shocked to find a storekeeper who thinks it's all right to sell and make a profit from perverted sex magazines and Communist propaganda.

A Waterford Township store had six such sheets displayed where junior high school students could help themselves. This is bad enough, but I also noticed a magazine named for and about a Communist satellite country, published in New York by the U.S.S.R. and expounding the virtues of life in their country.

The store manager said he "didn't know" the Communist magazine was on his shelf and that he wasn't going to censor anyone's reading anyway. Have we become afraid to stand up for what we believe is right and decent and patriotic?

Let's teach youngsters to recognize this stuff as trash and propaganda. Juvenile delinquency and communism don't have a chance with a well-informed and alert community.

When is someone going to do something about that red ambulance with the "whooping" siren? These still, summer nights you can hear it all over the city. This siren is senseless, bewildering and downright disturbing. I saw an elderly driver almost lose control of his car at Telegraph and Voorhees when this ambulance crept up from behind and caught him off guard.

Most residents will agree that we don't need this novelty siren in Pontiac and especially at 2 o'clock in the morning. The City Commission ought to pass a new antinoise ordinance and enforce it.

'Viet Nam Resolve Shows U.S. Unity'

BEHIND THE PRESIDENT—With Johnson as he signed the resolution backing his action in Viet Nam are (from left) Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla.; Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.; Rep. Charles Halleck, R-Ind.; Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill.; House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass.; and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed the congressional resolution supporting his actions in Southeast Asia and says he hopes it is read around the world as it states plainly "where America stands."

"To any armed attack upon our forces," said the President, "we shall reply."

To any in Southeast Asia who ask our help in defending their freedom, we shall give it."

With military and congressional leaders grouped around him, Johnson signed the joint resolution Monday with a couple dozen pens in the East Room of the White House.

QUICK PASSAGE

Noting its quick and almost unanimous passage in both houses of Congress, Johnson remarked, "The unanimity of the Congress reflects the unanimity of the country."

Johnson recalled he had asked for the resolution approving his actions after ordering American naval forces last Tuesday to send air strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases in retaliation for attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"This resolution," he added, "confirms and reinforces powers of the presidency. I pledge to all Americans to use these powers with all the wisdom and judgment God grants to me."

With passage of the resolution, he said, "our course is clearly known in every land."

AMERICAN STAND

"There can be no mistake, no miscalculation, of where America stands or what this generation of Americans stands for."

He said in Southeast Asia "there is nothing we covet, nothing we seek. Our one desire, our one determination, is that the people of Southeast Asia be left in peace to work out their own destinies in their own way."

The President repeated his unity theme in a White House luncheon with 200 businessmen.

"The last 10 days," he said, "have reminded us anew of just how vital our unity has come to be. Far away — and near at home — grim and grave challenges have confronted us."

HOW DIFFERENT

"How different America's response might have been, how different America's role might be, if we were today a nation divided by struggles of class or strife between capital and labor."

Relay Box Trouble Stalls Nimbus Shot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Trouble in an Agena relay box has been blamed for a delay of at least a week in the launch of the storm-tracking Nimbus weather satellite, says the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The launch, originally set for Friday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., was delayed when a relay box had to be replaced, thus necessitating another systems validation and retest, a spokesman said.

The delay first was set at 24 hours or more, but NASA extended it.

Dem Questions Levin's Dual Role

A dissident Democrat has added his voice to Republicans demanding that County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin give up his post while he campaigns for the State Senate.

The call for Levin's resignation came yesterday from Howard A. Stiles, 1968 Stanley, a Pontiac precinct delegate and candidate for Oakland County drain commissioner.

He questioned whether Levin can "do justice to the post of county chairman while involved in a primary fight."

Too, Stiles wondered if Levin set up the 15th Senate District — in which he is running — during bipartisan reapportionment talks earlier this year.

"After I announced as a candidate I would have preferred to resign so I could concentrate full time on my campaign," commented Levin.

RANK AND FILE

"However, rank and file party workers and executive committee members, because of many important pending projects, indictated I should continue as county chairman."

Levin added that the final districting was based on State Supreme Court decisions which differed from a Democrat-Republican plan discussed this spring.

The 33-year-old Berkley attorney last month was the object of an attack by County GOP Chairman Charles L. Lyle who criticized his dual political position.

U. of M. Physicists at Moscow Conference

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Five University of Michigan nuclear physicists are in Moscow this week, participating in the International Conference on high energy physics. About 450 scientists from throughout the world are meeting with 200 Russian scientists at the conference.

Army Copter Crash Hurts 4 Crewmen

BLACKSTONE, Va. (AP) — An Army helicopter crashed in a hay field near this town Monday night, injuring four crewmen, one critically.

Authorities at nearby Camp Pickett, where all four men were temporarily stationed, said the H-21 cargo-type craft had engine trouble while flying at 400 feet in dense fog.

Injured critically was Spc. 4c William E. Hendricks, 22, of New Castle, Pa. He was taken to the hospital at Ft. Lee, Va.

Ex-Phillie Moves Around

Demeter Likes Outfield

DETROIT (AP)—After more than 100 games as a member of the Detroit Tigers, Don Demeter still wishes he was the team's regular centerfielder.

When he was acquired in the trade that sent pitcher Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos to the Philadelphia Phillies, Demeter was tabbed immediately as the Detroit centerfielder by manager Charlie Dressen.

The Tigers figured they had made quite a catch since Demeter had led the Phillies in runs batted in for two of the last three seasons, including 1963, and hit more than 20 homers in each of the campaigns.

But things just didn't seem to go right for the Tigers in the first half of the season and Demeter found himself playing all of the outfield positions.

PLAYS FIRST

Later, when Norm Cash's hitting continued sour, Demeter found himself playing first base. He is now the regular first sacker when the Tigers face a left-handed pitcher.

"Sure, I still prefer to play center," Demeter said recently. "I was happy when I heard the Tigers were going to play me there mainly because I had been playing five positions with the Phillies."

"I still think I can do better playing at one position because knowing you have that position secured gives you a little more confidence at the plate."

"But don't get me wrong," he continued. "I'm happy to be playing no matter where it is."

Demeter's feelings toward playing center are understandable when one considers that he has not committed an error in the outfield in 309 games, a major league record.

Unless Dressen changes his mind about platooning him and Cash, it doesn't look like the lanky Demeter will match his home run and runs batted in totals of 22 and 83, respectively, of last season.

SECOND IN RBI

The records show that Demeter has appeared actively in 98 games for the Tigers. But the records do not tell how many of these appearances were pinch-hitting roles or two or three-inning stunts late in the game.

Despite the fact that six other Tigers have more appearances at the plate, Demeter has still delivered enough times to rank second on the team in RBI's with 52. Only Cash, with 62, has more.

His 14 home runs put him in third place behind Dick McAuliffe's 20 and Cash's 18.

Bank Aquino will be out to try to continue the Tigers seven-game winning streak when he takes the mound against the Minnesota Twins at Minneapolis tonight. The Tigers hold an 8-4 edge over the Twins in the first dozen meetings.

Senior, Junior Golf Play

Kroll, Shannon Deadlock

Ted Kroll of Franklin Hills, Ford and Tommy Shannon of Orchard Lake shared first place with their senior partners in the Seniors' tournament yesterday at Detroit Golf Club.

Shannon, playing with Taylor

Paisley of Franklin Hills, Ford and Broock and A. O. Thalacker, both of Bloomfield Hills, carded a best-ball 58 to the Kroll and his group.

Playing with Kroll were Roy Sarason of Krollwood, Art Sarason of Franklin Hills and Myron (Pat) Patterson of Detroit Golf Club.

In the pro division, host professional Walter Burkemeier fired a two-under-par 71 to take the top spot. Reggie Myles of Walnut Hills was second with a 70. In the pro division, Myles teamed with Chick Rutan for a best-ball 66.

John Grace, 16, of Detroit Golf Club captured the Junior District championship at Country Club of Detroit with a 1-up victory over 17-year-old Bill Whealan of Gowanee.

Grady Harwell, 17, of Gowanee, son of Detroit Tigers' announcer-Ernie Harwell, won the first flight with a 2 up decision over John Rakolta of Western.

In Junior District girls competition, Pat Miller, 17, of Beach Grove fired an 87 to lead the field. Bonnie Laurer, 13, of Edgewood was second with an 82.

Hickory Hills Ace

Jack Whitson of Detroit aced the No. 3, 236-yard hole at Hickory Hills Golf Course, Saturday. Whitson used a 2-iron for his ace and carded a 94 for the round.

Local Tankers Win Events

Steve Yedlin and Hugh Wilder of the Pontiac Swim Club both took first-place honors over the weekend at Detroit's Bremen Pool in the Water Wonderland Meet — the largest outdoor swim meet in the state.

Yedlin, a 13-year-old, edged five older boys in taking the 100-meter freestyle for 13- to 14-year-old boys. His time was 1:01.2.

Wilder won the boys' 15- to 17-year-old 100-meter backstroke in 1:06.3. He also was second in the 100-meter butterfly and seventh in the 200-meter freestyle.

John Mason of the Pontiac squad had a fourth-place finish in the 100-meter backstroke, a fifth in the 100-meter freestyle, and a sixth in the 100-meter butterfly stroke.

Two local relay teams also showed well in their age groups. Jeff Bisant, Mason and Steve and Frank Yedlin comprised the 13-14 boys relay squad that took seventh in the 400-meter medley and sixth in the 400-meter freestyle relay. The team was Chris Schridel, Doug Featherstone, and Jim and Jeff Dauw.

Among the boys 10-and-under relay squads, PSC's entry took seventh in the 200-meter medley and sixth in the 200-meter freestyle relay. The team was Chris Schridel, Doug Featherstone, and Jim and Jeff Dauw.

Pontiac Kiwanis 9 Wins at Saginaw

Pontiac Northside Kiwanis Class E champions won two district games at Saginaw yesterday defeating the Saginaw Jays, 5-4; and the Dayton Daisies from Waterford Township, 7-5.

Jim Burton was the winning pitcher in relief in both games. Tony DeLarosa had four-for-seven in the twin bill.

Roger Miller tripled home the tying and winning runs and scored the insurance marker in the second contest. He had a single, also, and four runs batted in.

The team will play in Jackson the No. 3, 236-yard hole at Hickory Hills Golf Course, Saturday. Whitson used a 2-iron for his ace and carded a 94 for the round.

Covered Up Dempsey Roars Like Caged Lion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Dempsey wants out.

And when the old Manassa Mauler grows at the doctors who are keeping him cooped up in his apartment room, wife Deanna Dempsey enters the "cage" like a tiger-tamer and says: "Now—Jack—be nice."

"Be nice —," says Jack, simmering down like a small boy explaining a peeve. "They tell me I gotta stay here in this room another week — and I want to bust outta here right now."

Shapely Deanna assures the former world heavyweight champion the doctors know best and he should be delighted with their latest report on his rapid improvement.

The report was made last night by doctors Max Ell, a specialist in internal medicine, and David Bloom, Jack's long-time friend and physician.

HEART STRAIN

The report said 69-year-old Dempsey was "80 per cent" recovered from the "very mild heart strain" caused by acute bronchitis in July.

Although the report didn't say so, friends suspect Jack may have tried to combine cigars and bronchitis and that the explosive coughing reaction may have put a bit of a strain on the "ticker."

In their report, Dr. Ell said that after a little more convalescence, "Jack will be himself again. He is responding excellently to bed-rest and salt-poor diet."

Track Record Set

by Yank in Norway

OLSO, Norway (UPI) — Sprinter Mike Larabee of Ventura, Calif., set a new Bislet Stadium track record Monday in the 400-meter dash when he was clocked in 45.6 seconds during an international competition.

Fred Hansen also smashed the previous Bislet pole vault standard with 16-4½ effort. However, he failed to better his world record vault of 17-5 set in a recent meet against Russia.

Boxing 'Backlashes' Hit by Californian

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Speaking of backlashes," said attorney Sol Silverman of San Francisco, "there's a powerful sentiment among business men and professional men now whipping out against those who are trying to bury boxing."

Silverman, chairman of the California committee for safe guards in the mitt sport, declared that thousands of our "thinking men" are becoming disgusted and somewhat alarmed at anti-boxing campaigns that could "indirectly penalize and handicap American youth for the sins of racketeers."
