County Budget Okayed 75-1

Supervisor Says Approval Now Is Premature

Notes State Altering Equalization, Meaning Figures Will Change

A more "business-like approach" of preparing of county budgets was called for today as the Oakland County Board of Supervisors turned over its proposed 1960 budget of $13,997,018 to the Tax Allocation Board.

Supervisors approved the record-high budget without any discussion of any appropriated items.

Rather, some echoed the suggestion of Royal Oak Supervisor Howard K. Kelley who criticized the present budget preparations as "putting the cart before the horse."

"How can we approve a budget without even knowing what our equalized valuation and tax rate is going to be?" he asked.

With this in mind, Kelley moved that the supervisors refer to its Legislative Committee possible changes in the law which would permit counties to revamp preparation of budgets "so we can get a little business-like approach."

ONE DISSENTER

Supervisors approved the idea and then approved by a 75-1 roll call vote the tentative budget for tax allocation purposes only. Roy F. Goodspeed, Ferndale supervisor, cast the lone dissenting vote.

Goodspeed said after the meeting that he believed the county was "padding" the budget and "asking for too large a share" of the 15-mill taxing limitation.

The budget, which the Board of Auditors takes two months to prepare, will require 6.45 of the 15 mills to raise $11,796,018 from taxes to meet next year's operating expenses, Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, told supervisors.

This, Moore said, was determined on the county's 1958 state equalized valuation of $1,808,669,000.

However, this figure will fluctuate up or down this year as the state is currently working on new equalization figures.

"Why wouldn't it be more efficient and feasible," Kelley then questioned, "to wait until these figures are out before the new budget is prepared?"

★ ★ ★

As it is now, Moore pointed out, counties must alter their preliminary budgets between the time when the new equalized values are released and when the Board of Supervisors gives final approval to the budget in September.

DENIES IT'S INFLATED

Moore denied Kelley's charge that the proposed 1960 budget "is inflated." Kelley said further it should be trimmed now and not in September.

"If anything," Moore said, "this

It'll Get Warmer but Showers May Dampen Fun

Cloudy, warmer with possible scattered showers and thundershowers is the weather outlook for this area tonight. The low tonight will average 44 to 50 degrees. Tomorrow's high will be near 70.

In an extended forecast, the U.S. Weather Bureau has predicted temperatures will average 6 to 8 degrees above the normal 62 high and normal 42 low for the next five days.

Showers are expected again Saturday.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 38. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 52.

Judge Bemoans Kidnaping

Says Abductors Sinned Against Mississippi; He Fears Consequences

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP) — A Circuit Court judge said today the kidnaping of a Negro prisoner charged with raping a pregnant white woman "has opened the flood gates of hate and hell" on the people of Mississippi.

Prosecuting Attorney William Stewart asked for a continuance of the trial because "we have no defendant."

Parker and his abductors were objects of a two-state search led by special teams of FBI agents.

"A fair trial has been denied this man," Judge Dale said. "I believe had he been tried, the record would have brought a kinder feeling toward the people of Mississippi."

"I do not know now what to expect," Dale said, "what laws will be passed against us."

Mississippi has been sinned against, he said, by the action of the raiders in dragging Parker from his jail cell.

PRAYER INTONED

About 50 or 60 spectators were on hand when a Methodist minister intoned a prayer opening the Circuit Court's term.

7 Must Switch Position to Pass Vet Fund Bill

Failure to Act Tonight Could Bring Stoppage of Welfare, Pay Checks

LANSING (AP)—Tension in the Capitol hit its highest pitch in years today as the state skidded toward the brink of financial disaster that would ruin its credit across the nation.

The focus was on 23 senators—18 Republicans and 5 Democrats — who have withheld support from a plan for emergency state treasury relief.

The question was whether the necessary seven would switch their position on cashing veterans trust fund securities when the Legislature returned at 8 p. m.

Action expected tonight was on a motion to reconsider the earlier unfavorable vote. Such a motion would need a majority of those voting on it to carry.

If it succeeded, a second passage roll call could be taken—immediately or in a day or two.

Unless the bill is reconsidered tonight, it would take 22 votes to revive it.

State Treasurer Sanford Brown has said he will lack funds to make a four-million-dollar poor relief payment to counties on Thursday unless the lawmakers do something—tonight or in the next two or three days.

A week from Thursday, the treasury will have to delay a five-million-dollar payroll for 32,000 state employes, he said.

The Democratic organization took off the kid gloves over the weekend in dealing with five Democratic senators who strayed from the party line by opposing the trust fund bill last Thursday.

The State Central Committee called on them to honor the "clear and unequivocal" position taken by the Democratic State Convention in February in favor of trust fund utilization.

Party workers in their districts were instructed to call them to account.

The five bolters were Sens. Raymond D. Dzendzel and Stanley F. Rozycki of Detroit, Garland B. Lane of Flint, William E. Miron of Escanaba, and Philip Rahol of Iron Mountain.

Meanwhile, two GOP Senate leaders who were joined by only two other Republicans in support of the trust fund bill on its first

Mystery Photos Part of Promotion for Value Days

Surprises and terrific buys are in store for area residents who take advantage of the Downtown Pontiac Spring Value Days coming up this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

The eventful selling days are being sponsored by the Downtown Merchants' Assn., with George Richman, owner of Wiggs Colony Shop, 24 W. Huron St., as chairman.

One of the special features will be pictures run in the Pontiac Press today, tomorrow and Wednesday. If the person circled in each photo can identify himself, he will win a $10 gift certificate.

Mystery shoppers will roam through crowds starting Thursday handing out 600 gift certificates to lucky shoppers. The certificates will range from $1 to $10 in value.

Mystery customers will also hand out valuable awards to courteous clerks, and chastisement notes to those who aren't courteous.

Most stores will offer free parking and pay bus fare for customers.

In Downtown Royal Oak

No-Cost Parking Planned for Mall

(This is the second of a two-part series showing how Royal Oak businessmen are redeveloping that city's downtown shopping district to revitalize the area and reverse the trend of decline in shopping downtown.)

BY PETE LOCHBILER

Two financial considerations lie at the heart of the Royal Oak Chamber of Commerce plan to turn downtown Royal Oak into a shopping mall.

The first is that parking should be free to attract as many customers as possible.

The second is that the business district itself, not the whole city, should pay the $2,610,000 construction costs.

CITY HALL SYMPATHETIC

Since public parking and vast changes in the downtown street system are controlled by city government, the chamber turned to City Hall and found a highly sympathetic ear.

With an ever-practical eye carefully watching property tax revenues, city officials realized that a prosperous downtown would result in a prosperous city.

The Royal Oak City Commission gladly gave approval, in principal, to the chamber's Central Business District Redevelopment Plan and a special mayor's committee of business and professional men was appointed to study it.

The mayor's committee held conferences with property owners and store building operators last year and with the help of the city administration was able to trim the cost of the project.

It appeared that nearly everyone agreed that the municipal parking should be free, if somehow this could be arranged legally.

★ ★ ★

"Free parking would, of course, attract a few more shoppers who want to save a nickel," explained Roland Powers, Chamber president.

"But more importantly it would attract a lot more shoppers who don't like to worry about whether their parking meters are about to expire.

"It's no fun to shop when you have to rush around in a hurry in order to get back to your car in time to avoid a parking ticket.

FEEL AT EASE

"It's no fun to get a parking ticket while shopping, either. That makes the shopper feel like a criminal and certainly discourages him from coming back taking a chance on a ticket again.

"We want our shoppers to feel at ease, to have lots of time to browse around, to visit a couple of extra stores if they want, to drop in somewhere for a bite to eat without having to run back to the parking lot first to put another nickel in the meter."

But if the proposed parking system were not to be financed through parking meters, another method had to be found and Royal Oak turned to Lansing for help in the answer.

Rep. William Hayward (R-Royal Oak) and other Oakland County legislators have asked for legislation permitting the city to pay off the parking lot on a special assessment basis.

This includes the $220,000 which the city still owes in revenue bonds for existing parking lots, a debt which merchants have agreed to shoulder if it will mean the end to parking meters.

The measure has passed the House and is now up before the Senate, with Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County) as one of its champions.

It is generally agreed that the merchants should also bear the cost of land purchase and construction involved in raising the total number of parking spaces from 1,306 to 3,404.

A tentative list of special assessments shows that sometimes

County Traffic Claims 3 Lives

Weekend Accidents Kill 2 Men; Third Is Victim of Earlier Crash

Two persons died in Oakland County traffic accidents this weekend and a third succumbed Sunday to injuries received in a smashup a week before.

Dead are David Huling, 54, of 2390 Auburn Rd., Utica; Cass Milo, 34, of 4622 Mandalay Rd., Royal Oak, and Robert Steinert, 32, of 712 Lewis Rd., Royal Oak.

A father of four, Milo was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital shortly after his auto smashed into the rear of another car on Woodward avenue at 14-Mile road at about 12:50 a.m. Sunday, said Royal Oak Police.

Police said a car driven by Mrs. June Seidel, 32, of 400 Pilgrim Rd., Birmingham, was waiting for a traffic light to change facing north on Woodward.

The Milo car struck her auto and knocked it 140 feet across the intersection into a tree, officers said. She is at William Beaumont Hospital in fair condition with spinal injuries.

Huling was killed instantly when his auto collided headon with another car which was swerving to avoid a dog running across John R road in Troy.

The other driver, Arlie G. Compeau, 17, of 902 E. 14-Mile Rd., Royal Oak, told police a large dog ran in front of his southbound car and he swerved to miss it but failed to pull out of the path of Huling's oncoming car in time.

Compeau was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for minor injuries and released. He was not held by police.

A passenger in his car, Howard Griffin, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffin of 4630 Rochester Rd., Royal Oak, is in satisfactory condition today with head and back injuries.

Huling, the father of one son, worked for the GMC Chevrolet Division in Flint. The accident occurred at midnight Saturday.

Steinert died at 11:15 a.m. yesterday after remaining on the critical list at William Beaumont Hospital with head and internal injuries suffered in an accident April 19.

The Steinert car rammed into the rear of one driven by Frank Dirkse, 47, of 617 Florence Rd., Royal Oak, who was stopped at Washington and Lincoln roads, Royal Oak, waiting for a traffic light to change.

Royal Oak police said Dirkse and three passengers were treated for minor injuries and released from William Beaumont Hospital. The smashup occurred at 2:55 a.m.

The two Royal Oak accidents brought that city's total to five traffic fatalities so far this year.

City Group Wants to Boost Business

Merchants to Protest Property Tax

The Downtown Merchants Assn. (DMA) will initiate a drive tomorrow to improve Michigan's business and industrial climate.

The association is kicking off a protest against personal property taxation that it hopes will sweep the state.

A meeting of retailers has been scheduled for 10 a.m. at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce at which petitions calling for tax adjustments will be distributed.

The petitions are aimed at the State Senate and they call for a study to end tax inequities that the DMA says exist under present state tax laws.

The meeting is sponsored by the DMA's Personal Property Tax Committee and culminates about two months of planning with the Michigan Retailers Assn.

Copies of the committee's petition will be circulated to chambers of commerce and retail boards throughout the state, said Richard O. Cook, assistant executive vice president of the state retailers agency.

Cook indicated that a statewide movement may result, not only on the part of retailers but also in behalf of industry and farms, which also pay a portion of local personal property taxes.

The DMA petition branded the personal property tax as "an ever-increasing burden" on businessmen, "highly inequitable and grossly unfair."

The tax bears "little or no relation" to profits, the DMA said, and "is a major deterrent to the growth and expansion of business and industry."

Since the tax is based on estimates of value by local assessing boards, and assessing methods vary from community to community, the personal property tax results in unfair competition in many instances, the DMA indicated.

He said the DMA wants the Senate to appoint a special committee to trim the tax to the point where it is "equitable."

Businessmen, local representatives and tax experts should be on the committee, said Pattison.

The personal property tax is largely based on assessments on inventory, or (in the case of retailers) on the goods that each store has on hand for sale.

"No other group has to pay such a high tax on its tools of trade as the retailers," he asserted.

One Pontiac businessman, who planned to sign the petition, described his feeling this way:

"A lawyer is not taxed for education and experience, which is his stock-in-trade. Why should we be taxed for our stock-in-trade, that is, for the retail goods we stock for the public?"

★ ★ ★

Pattison said that the proposed state income tax was only "coincidentally" related to the DMA drive against personal property taxes.

"But the governor's proposal takes a double crack at merchants, in a way," he said. "It is a proposal for even more taxes at a time when inequities exist in the old tax."

In Pontiac, the personal property tax levy accounts for almost half the annual local tax collection,

Royal Oak Shopping Mall Would Have Free Parking

these assessments would be big. For instance, a large downtown office building would have to pay $100,000 and a large department store $90,000.

But so popular is the redevelopment plan that both concerns have expressed willingness to meet their shares of the cost, Powers said.

PEOPLE BEHIND PLAN

The people of Royal Oak have expressed approval of the redevelopment plan, too.

Before the permissive legislation went to Lansing, the people had to vote on it first, and it passed by a good majority.

Voters also approved a charter amendment that would let the businessmen pay off special assessment bonds over a 20-year period, instead of in 10 years, as the charter previously required.

Besides final passage of the legislation, there are still several steps to be taken before the shopping mall can become a reality.

For one, a taxpayer's suit is necessary to test the new legislation in court, and it is expected that this will have to go all the way to a successful test in the State Supreme Court before bond buyers would be satisfied that their investments are legally protected.

But while the test case is in court, the city will be able to proceed with hearings on the project, said Bruce W. Love, assistant city manager.

First it will hold hearings on the city's intention to make the many changes necessary to expedite the plan, then there will be hearings on the individual assessments on the downtown properties.

NO OUTSIDE HELP

Powers is proud of the fact that Royal Oak is proceeding with downtown improvement under a plan that will be financed by the businessmen themselves, with no outside financial help.

This is the recommendation of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, he points out, but few cities have been able to live up to it.

But as a safeguard, the city is investigating the possibility of federal assistance under both the old urban renewal act and the new one up before Congress at present.

The redevelopment plan hasn't met any major snags so far, largely because it has such popular support.

If all continues to go well, by late 1960 Royal Oak could be one of the first Michigan cities to have actually taken the necessary steps to revitalize its downtown area, thanks to the farsightedness of its downtown businessmen.

test also pointed their finger at five Democrats.

Sens. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair, GOP majority leader and author of the pending treasury relief plan, and Lynn O. Francis of Midland, floor leader, said enough Republican votes would be supplied to pass the bill if Democrats closed ranks.

★ ★ ★

Republicans outnumber Democrats in the Senate 22-12. Passage of the bill requires 18 affirmative votes. It mustered 11 last week, four from Republicans and seven from Democrats.

★ ★ ★

If Michigan skips a payroll or defaults on poor relief it's likely to happen on a day when the state treasury cash balances exceed 100 million dollars.

★ ★ ★

A biweekly payroll comes to about five million dollars, the monthly direct relief obligation to less than four millions.

★ ★ ★

The answer is complex. For a long time, many lawmakers said in effect: "Phooey. It couldn't."

Some don't have the situation too clear yet but they are not the ones who talked most about it.

In short, the answer is because the 100-million-dollar-plus all will have strings attached.

Bloody Weekend Pushes April Toll Higher

EAST LANSING (AP)—The bloody weekend on state highways pushed fatalities for April to 106.

The State Police report covered the period ended at midnight Sunday. The corresponding fatality total last year April 1-26 was 77, or 29 fewer.

★ ★ ★

Orin Lucas, police traffic analyst, said that in this type of comparison "we're running up against three successive yearly reductions. It makes it rough, with more cars and travel, to cut any further."

★ ★ ★

In April 1955, deaths totaled 160, in April 1956, 140 and in April 1958 they reached 118 as the state successfully pushed its long range traffic safety campaign.

Mrs. Campbell Dies in Pontiac at 101

Prior to coming to Pontiac three years ago, she made her home in Cleveland, Ohio, where she was a member of the Congregational Church.

Besides her daughter, she leaves a grandson, Robert Tripp, who serves with a mission in Lima, Peru; and two granddaughters, Mrs. Robert Lewin of Rye, N.Y., and Mrs. Marshall Adams of Greeley, Colo.

The body was taken at noon today to the Saxton Funeral Home in Lakewood, Ohio, for service at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, with burial in Lakewood Park Cemetery, Rocky River, Ohio. Arrangements were by Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

Searchers Fail to Find 2 Women

State Police Capt. C. L. Walker said the latest search had been to make sure "that nothing was overlooked." He said that only a few secondary roads near Jackson's Mill remained to be checked.

Plane Crash-Lands; Troy Pilot, 4 Safe

Lt. Cmdr. D. R. McGillivray of 2758 Pine Hill Dr., Troy, was landing the P2V Neptune bomber from a routine training flight when the two tires blew.

It was the third incident of its kind in Michigan within a 24-hour period between Friday and Saturday nights.

At first the naval station reported the plane's landing gear cracked and the ship caught fire. However, in a later report the station said only the tires were blown and the first reports were in error.

At Grand Rapids Friday night two Capital Airlines planes had similar experiences. One came down on a blown tire and the other blew its four main tires on landing. None of the more than 100 passengers was hurt.

City Merchants Plan to Protest Tax but almost 90 per cent of it is based on industrial assessments.

The personal property tax on commercial properties amounts only to about five per cent of the Complaints about the personal property tax coincide with a general movement throughout the state to value personal property higher in assessments.

Whereas in some cities personal property is valued as low as only 35 per cent of its true market value, in Pontiac this percentage is around 80 per cent.

The percentage has been gradually raised in the past few years here and elsewhere, to comply with a new policy of higher values set by the Michigan State Tax Commission.

Where local assessing units have not complied, the values are usually jacked up anyway by the Tax Commission when it arrives at its state equalized values.

There have been sharp complaints from merchants in many of these cities, said Cook.

"In one Michigan city, personal property values quadrupled this year as a result of the tax commission's policy," said Cook.

'Maintain Faith,' Armenians Told

Rev. Souren Papakhian Addresses 150 Holding Memorial Rite

"Maintain your faith in God, and meantime give thanks that you live in a free and independent country now," 150 Pontiac Armenians were told during a memorial program this weekend.

The advice to remain steadfast came from Rev. Souren Papakhian, pastor of St. Sarkis Armenian Apostolic Church in Detroit.

It came as the Pontiac Armenians renewed pledges to continue their crusade to rid their ancestral homeland from joint Soviet-Turkish rule.

Saturday was set aside in Pontiac as Armenian Memorial Day and a program of national mourning was held in the Armenian Hall, 223 Ferry Ave. The program coincided with the 44th anniversary of the Turkish massacre of more than 1½ million Armenians in 1915.

Among the speakers were Mayor Philip E. Rowston and City Commissioner Robert A. Landry.

Way Cleared for Kierdorf's Prison Appeal

★ ★ ★

Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. said he and Kierdorf's attorney, Eric E. Zisman, appeared before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams last Thursday to iron out a concise statement of facts which must accompany Kierdorf's appeal to the State Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

It is expected, Barry said, that this statement of the facts surrounding the crime, application for leave to appeal, and Barry's answer to the application would be filed today with the Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

Kierdorf, former aide to Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa, was sentenced last November by Judge Adams after a jury convicted him of owning a pistol silencer which he turned over to a neighbor shortly after learning his nephew Frank had been hospitalized for burns.

7 Airmen Off on Atlantic Trip

Southfield Man Among Group Trying to Cross Ocean in Small Craft

An Air Force sergeant from Southfield and six companions successfully launched their two small deisel-powered craft from Lowescroft, England Saturday and are sailing the high seas today, bound for Miami, Fla.

T.Sgt. Jack E. Little, 28, son of Mrs. William Sternberger of 24316 Gleneyrie, Southfield, has been in the Air Force for 12 years.

Sgt. Little's wife, Mary, 25, arrived in Southfield Friday after a flight from England with their three children, Sharon, 6; Jack, 5; and Velvet, 3.

Mrs. Little said her husband decided to make the unique Atlantic crossing as an unusual experience. She said the trip should take about 40 days.

After the family is reunited the Littles will move to Shaw Air Force Base in South Carolina where the sergeant will be stationed. He is a field maintenance man.

The adventurers, all on leave from the U.S. Air Force, plan to sail their 45-foot boats to Miami, Fla., via Lisbon, Portugal; the Canary Islands, Puerto Rico, and the West Indies.

ALBANY — The State Health Commissioner reported that there was no longer any practical objection to the fluoridation of the New York City water system.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe made public a study of the water systems of twenty major American cities that fluoridate their water to help reduce the chances that children will develop cavities in their teeth.

"From a public health viewpoint, on the basis of the information submitted in this report, I see no difficulty that can't be overcome by standard engineering practices in extending this program to New York City," Dr. Hilleboe declared.

County Budget Given Approval

is a deflated budget. The budget isn't as big now as it should be. Some departments got less than what they need."

The county will need .83 more of the 15 mills than its 1958 share of $5.62 for every $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

Moore, who has been preparing budgets for the county since 1930, admitted the present system was not perfect.

"Sure, it would be a lot easier if we knew what our state equalized valuation is going to be before setting up the budget," he said.

Rather than suggest a change in the present set up, Moore said he favored restoring back to the Board of Auditors more authority like it used to have in budget preparations.

"Now it has to go from committee to committee," he said.

The charge of "padding" county budgets was not new to supervisors. This was the major complaint of the Oakland County Taxpayers' League who, in a law suit filed three years ago, said it was in this way that the county was able to accumulate surpluses to build its new courthouse.

Kelley, however, said this morning he had no intention of dragging back this charge.

"My only reference to an inflated budget," he explained, "was that too many departments were asking for too much, with the auditors knowing very well this likely could not be given in the long run because of what the Tax Allocation Board is likely to do."

Few supervisors expect that the county will be successful in gaining 6.45 of the 15 mills as the townships and school districts of the county are expected to ask increased shares of the limitation when the allocation board meets next month.

The recommended budget is $1,711,295 higher than the current 1959 operating budget of $12,285,723.

PAY HIKE INCLUDED

As in the case of this year's budget, welfare and hospitalization costs are the major contributing factor in the increase.

The 1960 plan includes four per cent pay raises for some 1,200 county employes who haven't had a pay raise in three years, Moore said.

Nothing can be done with Kelley's suggestion this year, according to John G. Semann, Berkley supervisor in charge of the Legislative Committee. However, he promised it could be made a part of the county's 1960 legislative program.

Simply, Kelley's suggestion would require that the state set equalized valuations for counties, tentative tax rates be set up by the Tax Allocation Board, and then budgets prepared to fit these rates.

Burglars Fail in Tries to Rob 2 Warehouses

Attempts by burglars to break into the warehouses of two downtown Pontiac stores over the weekend were unsuccessful.

Monroe Osmun of 100 Ogemaw Rd. reported to police that someone tore away boards over the door of his store's warehouse but failed to get into the building.

He is the owner of Osmun's Men's Wear Store, 51 N. Saginaw St.

One lone fish won the "most" title for Tom Whaley, 13, of 470 Catalpa St. in the 12 to 13-year-old group.

The under-12 group saw Scott Cameron, 11, of 710 Suffield Rd. win the size title with his 15½-inch catch. Jane Adams, 9, of 31750 Eastlady Dr. took top honors for girls with a 3½-inch carp. Jane's three fish also gave her first-place for girls in the "most fish caught" division.

Stephen Webb, 9, of 1095 Puritan Rd. caught four fish to win the boys "most fish" division.

John Cummings, 10, of 989 Kennesaw St. tied six-feet of line on a four-foot limb to win first place for unusual equipment.

Jenelle Severry, 11, of 31725 Eastlady Rd., used a forked branch and two lines. She won the girl's unusual equipment prize but caught no fish.

A petition signed by 281 residents protesting the proposed widening and repaving of Lincoln avenue from Pierce street to Southfield road has been received by city commissioners.

Also up for discussion is an agreement to permit the City of Troy to use Birmingham water hydrants in the area east of Adams and north of Derby roads.

Commissioners also will begin the long series of discussions on the 1959 budget tonight.

At the American Institute of Architects Meeting held in Washington D.C. Saturday, two Birmingham architectural firms were among the five to win first honor awards.

Minoru Yamasaki & Associates was cited for its design of the McGregor Memorial Community Conference Center at Wayne State University and the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School in Wayne.

Burglars Steal Sums From Auto Sales Firm

The intruders also broke into a cabinet and took $25 and an undetermined amount of change from cigarette and soft drink vending machines.

Cancerous Tumor Cut Out of Avery

CHICAGO (AP)—Doctors say a tumor removed from Sewell L. Avery was cancerous, but that the 85-year-old former chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co. is making satisfactory progress.

★ ★ ★

The tumor was removed from Avery's colon Wednesday. A spokesman at Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital said a biopsy indicated the cancer was localized with no evidence of spreading.

★ ★ ★

Plane Carries Crippled Children to Safe Landing

Aboard with the children were Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, leader of the pilgrimage: 17 nuns and 11 other adults.

A spokesman for Irish Airlines said a Trans-World Airline plane would be diverted to Gander to pick up 48 of the passengers, and another plane chartered in New York would go to Gander for the remainder.

Sermon Doesn't Carry as Far as Choir Loft

MIAMI, Okla. (AP)—The Rev. J. C. Harris was preaching at the First Methodist Church Sunday when a loud noise and vibration was heard behind the choir loft.

Rev. Harris continued unruffled. The congregation, including Ottawa County Sheriff Ben Standley, soon forgot it.

After the sermon Deacon Clyde Barkett said he had caught a burglar rifling purses of choir members. He tussled with the man, falling down two flights of stairs. The burglar escaped with about $350.

$9 to $14 Million More by 1970

State Faces Rising Prison Expenses

(A national organization has estimated that Michigan must spend 9 to 14 million dollars more a year by 1970 to cope with its mounting prison costs. What is this problem and what can be done about it? This is the first of a series of four articles suggesting a solution.)

LANSING — Michigan's prisons appear to be operated economically, but the rising tide of prison commitments is threatening to swamp the state's corrections system and force the taxpayers to heavy additional expenditures in the next 10 years unless vigorous action is taken now.

That is the summary of an extensive survey of the Michigan corrections system made over the past 18 months by the National Probation and Parole Association for its state affiliate, the Michigan Crime and Delinquency Council.

The Council, composed of citizens interested in improved corrections at savings to the taxpayers, said the survey showed that Michigan is sending more men to prison than comparable states and keeps them in prison longer than many states.

If this continues, the Council said, the state will be forced to build another major prison or a series of small prisons at a cost of 15 to 29 million dollars, plus at laest 1 million dollars additional a year for operating costs.

★ ★ ★

But, the Council said, this is only part of the huge burden facing the state. It is estimated the state loses about $3,400 per inmate per year in operating costs, institutional depreciation, the expense of keeping inmates' dependents on some form of public relief, and the loss of taxes normally paid by men at work in society.

The survey indicated that if Michigan pursues its present policies its 1959 prison population of about 10,138 will climb to 10,600 by 1960 and to 12,980 by 1970.

Such a prison load would cost the state almost $45 million a year, compared to this year's cost of slightly more than $35 million.

(Next: Why is Michigan's prison population mushrooming?)

Movie Camera Convicts Drunk Drivers

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The Tucson Police Department is in the movie business, but the department's "film stars" don't get paid. Usually they wind up paying.

The department began making movies of persons arrested for drunk driving last summer. So far 36 films have been made.

The films have helped obtain 32 convictions for drunken driving. The remaining cases are awaiting final action.

Police Lt. Kenneth C. Yeazel is director, cameraman and sound engineer. The camera is focused on the hallway, sound equipment is adjusted, floodlights turned on and the film is rolled as the suspected drunken driver comes "onstage."

★ ★ ★

The script seldom varies. The driver is asked to pronounce: Methodist, Episcopal and electricity.

If he gets by those tongue-twisters, he is given a run-through on: "Around the rugged rock the ragged rascal ran."

To spice things a bit, the suspect is asked to walk a straight line, close his eyes and touch the tip of his nose with his finger and pick a few coins off the floor.

Although the films are admissable as courtroom evidence, none has been shown in court. "The need hasn't arisen," said Yeazel.

He explined that attorneys for the 36 drivers filmed by police were given "sneak previews." In each case, he said, none of the attorneys pleaded innocent for their clients.

Four Persons Hurt in Three-Car Crash

A three-car accident on M59 at Elizabeth Lake road resulted in injuries to four persons at 10 p.m. Saturday, according to Waterford Township police.

C. W. Martin, 28, of 49 Clark St., told police he was driving west on Elizabeth Lake road an as he approached the intersection the traffic light turned amber while he attempted to make a left turn onto M59.

He was hit by cars driven by Judith Hruska, 17, of 700 Cass Lake Rd., Waterford Township, and Mark Duffield, 56, 19916 Sunnyslope Dr., Birmingham.

Duffield's wife Elizabeth, 49, a passenger, was also injured.

All four people were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Martin was in fair condition with upper jaw and skull fracture, and Mr. and Mrs. Duffield wer in satisfactory condition today. Miss Hruska was treated and released Saturday.

Waterford Home Fire Blamed on Bad Stove

A defective stove pipe was believed the source of a fire at the home of Mrs. Margaret Berkley of 1595 Tilden St., Waterford Township at 9 p.m. Saturday.

The fire started around a pipe from the living room stove and firemen estimated damage at $1,600 to the $4,000 frame home.

Penguins Stand Three Feet Tall

To Get 'Em Back Alive From Antarctic Means Football Tactics

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (UPI)—Catching penguins and bringing them back alive involves some of the elements of football, wrestling and ice hockey.

The dignified bird who most nearly symbolizes the Antarctica in the minds of people throughout the world, loses most of its native reserve when pursued by would-be captors. The result is a free-for-all in the snow.

In a penguin roundup near this U. S. Navy airbase 890 miles from the South Pole some 30 penguins of the emperor species were captured.

The emperor penguin, weighing as much as 90 pounds and standing three feet tall, is one of the largest of birds. Usually quiet and passive, the emperor becomes very aggressive when provoked.

Jack Marks of the Portland, Ore. zoo wanted to take several of the big birds back home to go with about 30 smaller adelie penguins which he had caught without too much trouble soon after his arrival in Antarctica.

The emperor is not seen in any great numbers in this area of Antarctica, and Marks had to wait several weeks before the penguins appeared.

Most of the emperor breeding grounds, or rookeries, are inaccessible, and only five have been found on this continent, the size of the United States and Europe combined.

Marks, who ventured to the South Polar regions last year on a similar mission, was armed with 20 canvas bags like strait jackets, two crates with air holes punched in the sides and two long steel rods with bands of steel on the ends.

The emperors, aptly named because of their regal bearing and almost immaculate "white tie and tails" appearance, were gathered in groups of four or five near the waters of the Ross Sea.

Penguins are very deceptive. They look awkward waddling over the ice, but they surprise the unwary with speed and some can outdistance a man over the snow.

The emperors sensed something was wrong and began to move a little faster from the encircling band of humans. Their speed quickened and after attempting to escape on foot, they fell forward on their white chests and propelled themselves face down across the ice with their flippers.

Marks put the bags on the two steel rings at the end of the rods and tried to place them over the penguins' heads. The birds squirmed and shrieked and became very belligerent, but the straight jackets were applied and the emperors were turned over on their backs, none the worse for wear.

Marks, who is in his 50s, had to bring down several of the penguins with flying tackles. He ran the risk of injury from their long, narrow pointed beaks.

The birds were loaded onto the helicopter and the single-engined Otter, almost crowding out the passengers. The occupants had to suffer the fishy smell of the penguins and their barks of protest all the way back to this air base.

There, they were placed in a makeshift cage to await air-shipment to Portland, 8,000 miles away.

Ready for Service in Late Summer

Ike's New Jet Modern, Modest

SEATTLE (AP)—In three days a gleaming silver and orange 600-mile-an-hour jet will be turned over to the Air Force—the first of three identical planes for the President and other high officials.

All secrecy wraps were taken off today and newsmen were allowed through the VC137, as it is designated, for the first time.

What's it like?

★ ★ ★

Big, powerful, fast, safe, modern and equipped with the latest electronic and communications devices.

Basically, it's a Boeing Commercial 707 with designed interior for special government missions. The President will use the four-engine jet for long flights. But the fleet of three will be at the service of other high government and military men.

The VC137s—none has been given a name—are less plush than the President's five-year-old, propeller-driven Columbine III.

The administration wanted it that way.

"We were given some guidance in the matter," said A. I. Ostlund, tanker-transport systems manager for the Boeing Airplane Co., at a briefing session.

The first of the 5½-million-dollar VC137s to be delivered to the Military Air Transport Service Thursday will be followed by the second near the end of May and the third late in June.

It probably will be toward the close of summer, however, before tests and shakedown flights are finished and the planes go into service.

The size of the plane extends half the length of a football field and is nearly as wide. To be precise, 144½ feet long and 130 feet 10 inches from wingtip to wingtip.

To the left after entering through the forward door is the cockpit in the nose with a maze of dials, instruments, controls and warning horns, bells and lights. There are seats for the pilot, co-pilot, flight engineer and navigator, and spare seat for a third pilot.

Behind the cockpit is a 15-foot section containing a galley, lavatory, coat closet and communications facilities. Here are the latest in radio-telephone and radioteletype equipment, enabling the President and key officials to keep in touch with Washington from any part of the world.

Next comes a 10-foot forward seating section with eight seats.

Then the President's, or VIP, section — most luxurious in the plane.

To the rear is the largest seating section, 32 feet, with 28 seats in double rows.

Farthest aft is an 18-foot section holding three stainless steel galleys, more coat closets, two lavatories and the rear entry door.

The average width in all compartments is 10 feet; the overhead height 8 feet.

All walls are of cream plastic with a silk screen pattern portraying buildings and landmarks from all parts of the world. Drapes are beige. All materials are fireproof.

Every safety factor possible was built into the plane. The latest in radar, warning systems, four JT3C6 Pratt & Whitney jet turbines each with a thrust of more than 10,000 pounds, individual lifevests, liferafts, communications and the like. Tail and wingtips are bright fluorescent orange for high visibility.

Speed will cut down the time aloft. Transcontinental trips for example will be reduced from 8½ to 5 hours. Capitals of Europe can be reached in 6-7 hours.

Several crews already have been trained to fly the three VC137s, among them the President's personal pilot, Col. William G. Draper.

Horse Revives Bygone Days for New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP)—People along Sixth Avenue Sunday night stopped and gaped at a rare sight — a runaway horse and a hansom cab.

The cab, which usually carries couples on leisurely trips through Central Park, was drawn by a 14-year-old gray horse named George.

★ ★ ★

George was waiting for passengers at a park entrance when he was startled by a car backfire and went clattering down the avenue, leaving his driver behind.

The empty cab was smashed as George bolted between two parked cars George was caught some distance away, shaken but unhurt.

Short Sentences Abet Repeat of Sex Offense

★ ★ ★

A second offender was found guilty on a morals charge with young children and was given 30 days in jail. How can a court of law or a judge return to society such a man?

★ ★ ★

The chances are this man is sick. A repeat performance is a definite possibility and yet after 30 days this man will be free. Immoral acts with young children may lead to ravishing struggles and possibly death.

★ ★ ★

Why, then, continue to subject our youngsters to this shocking experience? Our Army, Navy and Marine Corps discharge from the service known sex offenders, so as not to jeopardize remaining members.

Is it not practical to give our children this same protection?

Import Quota Decision Questionable Measure

The Administration's decision to impose compulsory quotas on crude oil is a victory for special interests, particularly independent Texas oil companies which produce more than 40 per cent of the Nation's crude output.

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower explained there was need to encourage domestic exploration (in addition to the 27½ per cent depletion write-off) in order to build up domestic oil reserves for national defense. But the American Petroleum Institute announces that oil reserves are at an all time high. Almost simultaneously with the limiting of oil imports and in the face of this glut comes a price rise in gasoline.

★ ★ ★

The national defense argument for controls doesn't stand examination. Canada has been included in the curbs but the flow through its pipelines to the United States wouldn't likely be in any more danger of interruption than our own. Canada and the U.S. are considered as one unit for defense.

If the idea is to assure sufficient petroleum in the U. S. for future emergencies, the wiser course would seem to be to keep our oil in the ground and increase, rather than reduce oil imports.

Emphasis too has been placed on the effect the quotas will have in our relations with such oil producing countries as Canada and Venezuela. But the American consumer also is affected by higher prices due to shutting off cheaper foreign oil.

It's pretty hard to accept the argument that oil quotas have a defense value.

U.S.-Polish Relations Are Quietly Improving

For the first time since World War II and without fanfare Poland will establish a consular office in the United States next month. It will be in Chicago and this country's will open in Poznan at the same time.

★ ★ ★

The United States will exhibit at the Poznan fair for the third time, (this year in a permanent pavilion) and for the second year Poland will have displays at the New York trade fair in May. In addition, Poland plans its largest showing for Chicago's International Fair in July when a Polish ship is expected to come up the St. Lawrence waterway as a highlight of the fair's opening.

★ ★ ★

Our Polish language magazine Ameryka, edited by the U.S. Information Service, has distributed 32,000 copies in Poland and that country is planning a like distribution of its magazine Polska in the United States. There also have been exchanges of visiting groups including farmers, miners, home builders, physicians, public health workers and trade missions.

Though Poland's Premier Gomulka, sitting under Russian guns, mouths the Moscow line in foreign policy, in domestic matters he follows a much more independent course, similar to Yugoslavia's Tito.

★ ★ ★

Since the Gomulka Government came to power in Poland, relations between our two countries have improved steadily and without any formal exchange agreement. Our loans to Poland and that government's purchase of America's surplus foods have helped both the economy and the people and tend to lessen Moscow's influence.

Our Oak Is Best

And It Still Grows in Profitable Quantities

Golden egg: What was laid by the goose the Detroit Tigers are killing.

who has worked up millions of feet of it. Oak trees originally covered most of the county, in white, red, black and other varieties.

It was the primary building material for our forefathers. Although our primeval forests are practically exhausted, local saw mills now are turning out a substantial quantity. It still grows well in our few remaining woodlots.

Mr. Downes says that our red oak always has been the foundation for a finish that has never been matched, and now is in demand more than ever before.

Within the Pontiac city limits a good quantity of red oak was lumbered off in comparatively recent years. In 1916 such a forest on the present site of Northern High School produced over 250,000 feet.

Well, What Offspring Could We Expect?

David Lawrence Says:

Southern Dems Give Ike Reprieve

WASHINGTON—The biggest piece of news in the political arena since the congressional election last November is the way a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats can line up to keep the Senate almost evenly divided and force passage of remedial legislation or compromises on radical proposals.

LAWRENCE

The two-thirds majority won by the Democrats at the polls last autumn, which was counted on to override any presidential veto, has vanished. Eisenhower's power on basic economic issues has, in effect, been restored.

Only two northern Democrats—Senators Lausche of Ohio and Dodd of Connecticut—stood with the Republicans, while only two Republicans—Senators Javits of New York and Langer of North Dakota—deserted the otherwise solid front that was presented last week by 32 Republicans in making it possible, with the addition of 15 southern votes, for the Senate to adopt a "bill of rights" to protect the members of labor unions in America.

The particular amendment that was passed may yet be further changed by other amendments in conference between the two houses, but the die has been cast—the Senate has gone on record not only against the practices of corruption that have victimized union members and led to a misuse of their dues money, but against the coercive threats inside and outside of labor union meetings that have abused the "civil rights" of many workers.

Congress, due to the heroic battle waged by Senator John McClellan, Democrat, head of the Senate Rackets Committee, is apparently awake now to the perils of the labor union monopoly.

The danger is in many respects worse today than it was when the corporations had a stranglehold on American business before Congress began to pass strong laws banning concerted "restraints of trade" and "trusts."

SPENT MILLIONS

What makes so significant the adoption of the original "bill of rights" amendment to the labor-reform bill by a 47-46 vote of the Senate is that last November many millions of dollars were spent by the union forces to elect a large number of northern Democrats and generally to fight Republicans. Today the Republicans from the North again have as their allies the conservative Democrats from the South.

Incidentally, the labor union chieftains do not seem to worry about the fact that, under the compulsory-union privileges hitherto granted them by federal law, the right of free speech and the right of free association have been in many cases taken from American citizens.

The labor bosses, applying the same sort of argument about alleged interference in union affairs, spent many millions of dollars last year in campaign propaganda distorting the "right to work" principle into an alleged hostility to labor unionism itself.

The revelations by the Senate Rackets Committee have shown the American people how monopoly power in the handling of labor union affairs can aid the gangsters to get control of the unions.

It is a weak rebuttal to say that the addition of a "bill of rights" amendment may endanger the passage of any antiracketeering bill at all at this session.

If the Congress is going to be intimidated by such pressures, the sooner the American people know the facts, the more effectively they can prepare to defeat at the next election those senators and representatives who will have stood in the way of remedial legislation.

For this reform is intended to preserve the "civil rights" of workers against the flagrant abuses that have arisen under the various forms of compulsory unionization that now prevail in America.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Just Can't Compare Milk, Alcohol Nutrition-Wise

At least a hundred readers sent me clippings from their newspapers telling of the opinion expressed by a "researcher in arthritis and related diseases" that alcohol is better than milk in the diet of oldsters.

Some readers seemed as pleased as Punch — they dislike and resent my teetotalism. Most readers asked me to compare the nutritional value of alcohol with that of milk.

DR. BRADY

That would be comparing the food value of Grade A pasteurized homegenized mahogany finish birch sawdust with that of wheat, rice, oats or corn.

The striking feature of all these newspaper reports of the researcher's opinion of alcohol was that he was called a "medical scientist," a "specialist in bone disease," a "specialist in arthritis" and "assistant director of the metabolic unit for research in arthritis and allied diseases."

★ ★ ★

It appears that the researcher decided that milk, the best food source of calcium, is not good food for adults, despite the advice of medical and nutrition authorities and arbitrarily asserted that liquor would be better than milk for oldsters.

DID NOT EXPLAIN

The "medical scientist," if one can take the newspaper stories seriously, gave no reason or explanation for his view. But then, who am I to question the pronouncement of a "medical scientist?"

The pronouncement by the "bone specialist" will probably get into the weekly and monthly magazines presently and that will make it "scientific." Thereafter alcohol addicts can cite it to justify indulgence.

When I was a doctor in Penn Yan I learned how funny medical science was. I bought the latest edition of Hare's Practical Therapeutics and found that the eminent author declared that "Alcohol never acts as a true stimulant . . . on the contrary its dominant influence is depressant." But on the next page the author stated that "The chief uses of alcohol are as a rapid stimulant in cardiac failure . . . fainting, snake-bite, surgical shock . . ."

Small Business Man Getting Smaller

'Took 19 Years but We Did It'

It took 19 years to shake the GOP control out of Kansas City but we finally did it. In 1940 our party was embarrassed by a man of bad name and the Republicans took over. They lasted 19 years but they've been tossed out now and Kansas City will stay Democratic forever.

Automation is taking on new significance in employment circles and it must be studied and solutions suggested or the unemployed ranks will get bigger for many years.

'Think of People on Fixed Incomes'

A person wrote that the increased sales tax would help his budget, but what of the fixed incomes, like Social Security? They pay taxes right along with you with a lot less to pay with. If my son didn't pick up the tab sometimes, I'd be in real trouble, and I have more than most.

If wages go up, taking prices with them, let them pay the tax increase. The person who wrote workers are pricing themselves out of work has something.

The only ones who profit by increased wages is the Government, where it's tossed in the air and blows away. Increase in wages only goes to promote war and who wants to profit by blood of a brother?

'Debt Not So Big, but Gap Is Wide'

Michigan is one of the wealthiest states in the entire nation. A 100 million dollar debt isn't great at all. It's just a question of getting those prize fighters in Lansing to agree on the method of paying it. Our resources are huge. Someone ought to send Williams on a speaking tour to the tip of South Africa and then knock the heads of the Dems and Republicans together. Everything would be settled.

What can I say to you, my love . . . I have not said before To reassure you that I am. . . Your own forevermore? . . . I kissed your hands, you lips, your cheeks . . . I held you in my arms . . . And told you I admire you . . . For all your living charms . . . And then I made my vow to God . . . That I would cherish you . . . To honor and obey you, dear . . . And never be untrue . . . I know that you believe me but . . . Sometimes I wish that I . . . Could think of sweeter things to say . . . As time is pasing by . . . I long to reassure you, dear . . . Each moment, night and day . . . You are my one, my only one . . . In every wondrous way.

The Country Parson

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Teens' Giggling Upsets Father

Notice the faux pas which sent Stella and Della into hysterical giggles; But a somewhat similar situation occurs when the boss tells a joke. His employes may almost split their sides. Why? Because there are two standard reasons for giggles, and the twins mentioned today demonstrate both of them.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

"For whenever we have company, the girls often start giggling at the table. "And it gets worse, so they cannot stop. Their daddy has sent them away from the table several times because of this fault.

DR. CRANE

"I have reprimanded the girls, too, but they say they just can't help it.

"Any trivial accident will do it. Last night, for example, we had two young men for dinner from my husband's office.

★ ★ ★

SAFETY VALVES

Human beings are like a steam boiler. Both need safety valves to let off excess steam.

And young people, especially girls, are noted for giggling. This is simply an emotional outlet for the surplus energy that is generated by exciting social situations.

Two young, unmarried men will naturally raise the emotional "pressure" in girls like Stella and Della.

In fact, this is a very common effect of mixed audiences. The professional public speaker soon learns that the audience will laugh almost twice as loudly if it is a mixed group.

He can tell the very same joke to a woman's audience or to a male audience and obtain a definite amount of laughter, as measured in decibels or by an applause meter.

But mix the two sexes and his joke will be much more hilarious in the laughter it produces. That is an axiom of public platform psychology.

Why? Because there is intermstimulation of a subconscious sort that builds up emotional excitement as soon as the two sexes are present.

So any joke or faux pas by a boy at the dinner table, will set off a disproportionate amount of giggling and laughter on the part of Stella and Della.

'GIGGLE' TEST

Try the "giggle" test when any young person is on the phone. Just count the number of times he (or she) giggles during the 5-minute period.

★ ★ ★

And you can instantly decide whether the party at the other end of the circuit is his grandmother or a girl friend! Even a mature married man will suddenly start laughing unduly when an attractive woman is on the other end of the line.

For this excessive laughter is a universal trait of both men and women in exciting social situations.

Older folks do it for two reasons. They not only giggle from excitement but also because they subconsciously realize it is good diplomacy to "Yes" the other person along by such gayety.

Notice, for example, how hilarious the office force gets when the boss tells a joke:

Obviously, the more energy a person has, the more he will need these outlets. That's why teenagers giggle far more than their parents.

Channel this extra energy in more constructive fashion and the giggling will be reduced. See tomorrow's follow-up.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Hypnosis Lops Off Half Ton of Fat

NEW YORK (AP) — A doctor using hypnosis reports he helped 42 overweight women take off a half ton of fat.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Lawrence B. Winkelstein of Mount Vernon, N.Y., made the report in the May 1 issue of the New York State Journal of Medicine.

★ ★ ★

He said most of the women had had no success with other weight-control measures. At the end of the 14-week hypnosis period the women showed weight losses from 9¼ to 58½ pounds, he said.

Zsa Zsa Hasn't as Yet Made Up Mind on Hal

PARIS (AP) — Actress Zsa Zsa Gabor denied today that she and millionaire Hal Hayes are secretly married.

★ ★ ★

"Hal is a wonderful man—but it is so difficult to be married to someone that I have not been able yet to make my mind up," she said on her arrival by plane with Hayes from New York.

A rumor had circulated in New York that the couple were married in Connecticut Saturday.

During a three-week European visit, Miss Gabor and Hayes will attend the opening of the Cannes Film Festival and will visit various west European capitals.

Bob Considine Moans:

Eye-Catching Secretary Scoops Castro Coup

NEW YORK — Had an exclusive interview with Dr. Fidel Castro after his speech at the Overseas Press Club. It was quite a coup. Gave the 1,500 other reporters at the luncheon the slip with an elaborate excuse about a sick grandmother and was rushed to Room 1721 at the Statler Hilton, the secret meeting place far from the madding swarm. His top men arranged the whole scoop.

It was an atmosphere in which the rebel leader could talk. He could let his beard down, so to speak. There was a bottle of bourbon handy, a key in the door, and it was on the other side of the hotel from his own heavily guarded and noisy suite.

There was one minor flaw in the interview. It might not have proved to be much of an obstacle to some fellows I've known through the years but I found it a real stumper. Castro didn't show up.

A thing like that cuts down on the length of interviews, you've got to admit. You get very few cabled admonitions from the home office to "downhold" on the length of the story. Nobody can say, later, "That bum's on Castro's payroll," or "Why does that creep suspect the greatest Latin American leader since Simon Bolivar?"

It was an even shorter interview than one I had years ago with Mayor Frank Hague. Hague was cooking up a racing bill for New Jersey and was being very coy about giving information on same. A friend of mine who professed to be as close to Hague as his derby took me to hizzoner's box at Belmont Park, pledging that Hague was aching to give me, and only me, the full story.

Ten paces short of the box my friend, who was so intimate with Hague, stopped dead in his tracks, took off his hat, held it on his chest, and coughed apologetically.

"Mr. Mayor," he said, passing the brim through nervous fingers, "I want you should meet Bob Considine."

"No," he said.

Well, that was another exclusive interview to chalk up for the old memoirs. But the three hour and 13 minute affair without Castro was equally vivid. He could have gotten off some real dingers during that time. had planned to ask him what's left for him, what he wants now, why he kicked the chaplains out of his army, why Marxism is taught in his new military schools, why he suppresses press freedom and freedom of assembly, why he doesn't shave, what he plans to do about his own depression and unemployment, why he overruled his own courts and condemned the acquitted Cuban fliers, and will Sinatra play him in the movies?

Questions like that would have given him a chance to quit double-talking.

Now we'll never know. The colorful doctor got a better offer and anyone who was at the luncheon for him would agree. He gave his guards the slip and spent the afternoon with his attractive secretary.

Marvin Stone, former Far Eastern chief of International News Service, now back in school scrutinizing ways of interpreting the sciences into basic English, relays a legendary adventure involving Prof. Norbert Wiener of M.I.T. The distinguished mathematician stopped a colleague one day on the campus and spoke for 10 minutes about the abstract problem of random numbers. The colleague had an appointment, excused himself, and started off.

"Say," Prof. Wiener called after him, "which direction was I walking in when I met you?"

"You were coming from that way, from the faculty club."

"Good," the wizard beamed. "That means I've already had my lunch."

Cosmopolitan East Air Prevails Through Moscow

(Preston Grover of the Associated Press has lived for years in great cities, east and west, such as Washington, Berlin, Bombay, Paris . . . Now he has become the AP chief of bureau in Moscow and views that city in perspective.)

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—This is a great cosmopolitan city as are London, Paris and New York—but it is cosmopolitan east, instead of cosmopolitan west.

If you are a westerner freshly arrived from the West, you sense the difference the moment you walk into one of the great tourist hotels, such as the National, or the even more touristy Ukrainia or Leningradskaya.

Most of the people in the hotels are Russians, just as in Paris hotels most of the people are French. The Russians look relatively western, different, of course, but no more different from Americans or English than the French are different from Americans or English.

Thereafter the change is sharp. In the Hotel Crillon in Paris you see foreign faces but they tend to be American, English, German, North African or Middle East.

There are, of course, Englishmen, Americans, Germans and French at the National or Ukrainia, but mostly they are eastern—Mongolian, Chinese, Korean and an occasional Indonesian.

These oriental people speak Russian. They speak it with strange accents even a foreigner can detect. That is no surprise. It always shook me to hear French spoken easily by Negros in Paris. They were from the French territorial in Africa. But they spoke French with the same spinnet-like resonance in their voices that is heard in Negroes from Alabama.

BEST HOTEL MENU

As to hotel menus. I have never seen anything to match that at the Hotel National. The National is not exactly the Waldorf-Astoria of Moscow. It is far less luxurious but it is internationally known. The menu there is printed in Russian, with translations in English, French, German—and Chinese.

There is one familiar note. Most of the orchestras in cafes and hotels play American popular music.

The differences, however, are greater between the west and this eastern cosmopolitan capital. I left Paris on Palm Sunday. The night before, there had been a flood of automobiles leaving the city for the Easter holidays.

I mean a flood, bumper to bumper in three outgoing lanes. I knew that on Sunday night many of them would come crowding back, bumper to bumper, three lanes wide, creeping along yard at a time because of the congestion.

Coming to Moscow we flew along the large highway running west from the city. At an hour when the incoming roads into Paris, London and New York would have been jammed with automobiles there was, on the Moscow highway, perhaps one automobile or bus to every 300 yards no more.

★ ★ ★

What was more, the fields were covered with snow and the ponds frozen over. The plane from Paris had flown northward across Copenhagen and from there turned eastward. That is the route which has to be followed by foreign lines coming into Russia from the west. Otherwise they would be flying over parts of Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Poland, and it is not comfortable to fly over those territories these days.

SHARP CONTRAST

The land in Northern France was green, and even in Denmark, much farther north, there was no snow. But the moment we flew over Riga, the old Latvian city which now is incorporated in the Soviet Union, we hit snow and ice.

Also we flew at a lower level, which permitted seeing another sharp contrast. As you fly from Paris westward into the Normandy or Brittany country, you see a church steeple in every four or five square miles. They are everywhere. From the plane window you can always see a half dozen or so churches and cathedrals built up during the past five or six hundred years.

Coming into Moscow from Riga I saw few signs of churches. Part of the reason is that churches in this country, even in the days when they built churches, didn't have steeples or domes quite so prominent as in the west. Just sometimes. But on the flight in from Riga I saw only one building that clearly had been a church. It was about 15 minutes—call it 60 or 70 miles—to the west. There were many villages, but no steeples.

Foods tend to be a bit heavy here, but you can have grilled meats, partridge, chicken. Somehow it all seems to be tougher. But they have one great delicacy of all places, caviar

This correspondent has eaten a variety of food ranging from fried grasshoppers in India to frogs' legs in France. They don't match caviar. And the West must accept it, caviar was invented by Popov, or at least developed to its present fine quality by Popov.

Did you ever use a phrase book to help you out in a foreign country? I bought one printed in Moscow to help English speakers, since my Russian has not attained in a few weeks the fine proficiency it may have later.

The book had a long list of things I could ask about, and some I would really want to get. But it also had at least as many more things that I would not want to bother with, certainly not while traveling.

With this phrase book you can ask for salted sprats or a portion of white whale, pickled mushrooms, or even gray mullet in oil.

My great ambition however, is to go up to the huge department store opposite the Kremlin, called Gum, pronounced goom, and ask quietly:

Seven Drowned in Yacht Mishap

Family Boating Party at Puget Sound Ends in Tragic Capsizing

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Six persons were drowned and a seventh was missing and presumed killed in the sudden capsizing of a 43-foot yacht in Puget Sound yesterday.

Five members of the family boating party were rescued by other pleasure craft and a Navy helicopter.

The motor yacht "Lois Ann" went under so quickly that five persons were trapped in the cabin. Their bodies were recovered after the overturned vessel was towed to shore.

The dead were Fritz Tayet, 44, principal of Mason Junior High School, Tacoma; his wife; their three-month-old daughter, Janna Lynn; Lois Ann Johnson, 13, for whom the yacht was named; Reuben Torgerson, 70, and Mrs. Torgerson. Tayet's father, Martin, 81, was missing and presumed drowned.

Rescued from the sinking craft were the skipper, Walter A. Johnson, uncle of the dead Johnson child; his wife, Solvid, a sister of Tayet and daughter of the missing man; the Johnson's son, Rolf, 16; Rodney Tayet, 2, and Janet Wick, 16.

All are residents of Tacoma.

May Be Trouble in Berlin May 27

Sec. Brucker Cautions Reds U.S. Won't Yield to Force in Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said today that the free world may still expect trouble around Berlin May 27. That was the deadline originally set by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for ending the postwar agreement on control of the former German capital.

★ ★ ★

Brucker cautioned the Soviets that "anyone who fails to heed or misconstrues" President Eisenhower's declaration that the United States will not yield to force or threats in the German crisis "is in for a terrific shock."

★ ★ ★

He made his remarks in an airport news conference upon his return from 19 days in Europe.

Brucker termed a "master stroke" the sending of a C130 cargo plane into Berlin earlier this month at a higher altitude than the flying level of older craft normally used in supplying the divided city.

Brucker said he assumes Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy "sent the C130 into Berlin to demonstrate that we would not be put into a funnel or forced to travel in lower space than we have a right to travel."

The Soviets protested, contending such runs are limited to 10,000 feet and below. The United States rejected that contention and protested buzzing of the C130 by Soviet fighters.

Brucker said that the U.S. Army force in West Berlin, consisting of two battle groups of the 6th Infantry Division, and other Allied forces have "no idea of flinching under pressure in Berlin."

Brucker described the morale of American forces as the "highest possible," saying that no officer, no enlisted man and no family member of any American service man has applied for transfer.

Four Hijackers of Cuban Plane Ask for Asylum

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Four Cubans will try today to persuade Uncle Sam to let them stay in this country as political refugees, even though they hijacked an airliner to get here.

★ ★ ★

The two men and two women reached U.S. soil by using pistols to persuade a Cubana Airlines crew to fly from Varadero Beach, Cuba, to Key West instead of Havana.

★ ★ ★

The Viscount turbojet landed safely at Key West Saturday night with its load of 20 persons. The hijackers unloaded their guns, tossed souvenir cartridges to the other passengers and surrendered to immigration authorities.

★ ★ ★

Ceferino Rodriguez Diaz, 55, and his son, Sidofredo, 29, diverted the plane with guns slipped to them by Sidofredo's wife, Maria, and foster sister, Margarita Mendoze Cutino.

★ ★ ★

The elder Rodriguez said he retired last May as an army major after 33 years service.

"In Cuba now it has become a crime to have been in the military," he told newsmen.

Midland Block Hit by $1 Million Blaze

The pre-dawn blaze, spreading swiftly, destroyed the block-long Sears, Roebuck & Co. department store on main street and other establishments.

Walls collapsed and one fireman was slightly injured.

Fifty firemen, including men and equipment from Bay City and Saginaw, fought the blaze for four hours.

With the entire front of Sears Roebuck aflame at one time, a witness said the windows were "lighted up like pumpkins."

Midland's industrial plants, which make this a "chemical city," were not endangered.

The cause of the fire was not determined. An explosion in the department store at 2:45 a.m. led to its discovery. Paints and varnishes fed the flames.

Taking precautions in the emergency, the Consumers Power Co. cut off electrical service in the area to protect firemen in event of collapse of high tension wires. Tenants were evacuated from nearby dwellings.

KNOCK DOWN WALLS

After the fire was brought under control, wreckers knocked down dangerously sagging walls.

The injured fireman, Orin Brown of Midland, was hurt when a section of wall collapsed. Debris showered on him. He was treated for a back injury at Midland Hospital and released.

Firemen said they found no evidence of arson. The fire was in the same block where a Christmas-season blaze caused considerable damage last year.

Besides the Sears Roebuck damage, there was loss at the Midland Paper Co., a distributing firm, and a boat sales and service agency as well as professional offices and a taxicab office and mortuary.

Accounting records of Sears Roebuck were destroyed. However, a safe with the payroll and personnel records was saved. Company officials said the 55 employes thus would get their pay on schedule this week.

Midland's main fire station is almost straight across the street from the burned-out block.

Firemen were on the scene within moments of the report of the explosion. But the flames spread so swiftly firemen were unable to cope with them.

Businessmen Urged to Sell Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower today appealed to the nation's businessmen to spread the gospel of mutual aid among the free nations to prevent what he called the catastrophe of Soviet domination.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower addressed 4,000 businessmen and their guests at the opening of the 47th annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He told them this country has no choice but to push the foreign aid program, for which he has asked $3,900,000,000 in the year starting July 1.

Dam Blasted Open Near Caseville

CASEVILLE (AP) — A dynamite blast tore a 13-foot gap in a four-foot dyke on the farm of William Horton near Rush Lake in northwest Huron County Sunday.

Water from the lake, a marshy body of 1,500 acres, flooded about 1,000 acres of farmland in this northern thumb area.

Sheriff McErritt K. McBride described the dynamiting as the latest development in a long controversy between two factions in the area six miles northeast of Caseville. He said one group wants Rush Lake drained for farming and the other wants the lake level kept high for hunting and fishing.

The sheriff said he had no clues as to the identity of the dynamiters.

'Boared' Florida Golfer Slices 'Hog in One'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Golfer W. E. Jackson, 29, got a hog in one yesterday. He brought home the bacon to prove it.

A 200-pound boar came out of the woods near a miniature golf course and charged Jackson and a companion. Jackson swung with a No. 9 iron. One blow did it.

Urges Business to Political Fight

'We're Up to Our Necks in It, We'd Better Swim,' Says C. of C. Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Businessmen must plunge into the political arena to battle for a sound dollar and free markets, the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said today.

"We must quit thinking of politics as a dirty word," William A. McDonnell said in the keynote address opening the chamber's 47th annual meeting here.

★ ★ ★

"Any businessman who insists that he is not interested in politics is like a drowning man who says he's not interested in water," McDonnell declared. "We are in it up to our necks and we had better learn how to swim and to swim effectively."

More than 4,000 delegates, observers and guests were expected during the meeting, which continues through Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The chamber has supported Eisenhower's stand for economy in government, though it has insisted even greater savings should be made.

The dollar has lost 52 cents of its purchasing power in the past 20 years, he said, and continued: "If we keep on going as we have been, we will have a 35-cent dollar 10 years from now and a 25-cent dollar in another 10 years, and a 10-cent dollar a little further down the line."

But Backs Macmillan Idea

Nikita Rejects Ike's Plan

LONDON (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev's weekend notes to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan were intended to drive a wedge between the Western allies, diplomatic sources said today.

Khrushchev in effect rejected a U.S. plan for step-by-step limitation on nuclear tests, while pointedly accepting previously-secret Macmillan proposal for a limit on inspection trips to suspected test sites.

★ ★ ★

The Macmillan proposal, advanced tentatively to Khrushchev while the Prime Minister was in Moscow recently, is known to have found no favor with Eisenhower.

The Khrushchev notes were the latest development in a systematic propaganda campaign to exploit differences between the Western allies.

Father Denies Pouring Coffee on Daughter

ATLANTA (AP) — A 41-year-old unemployed father of seven today denied that he poured a pot of boiling coffee over his 9-year-old daughter.

"Good gracious alive, I couldn't do such a thing," said Joseph Clarence Lane from his jail cell. "What kind of a father would I be to burn one of my babies." He is charged with suspicion of assault and battery.

Betty Ann Lane, suffering first and second degree burns over the left side of her body, said her father poured the boiling coffee over her last night as she cowered behind a stove.

She said he then locked her and a smaller brother in the bathroom but they smashed the door and ran to the home of a neighbor.

Boy Is Electrocuted While Taking a Bath

Joseph Wickenheiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wickenheiser, was dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital.

He was taking a bath in the Wickenheiser bathroom which was being remodeled when he grabbed a bare wire. The Wickenheiser's have eight other children.

Two Wallets Found but Money Missing

Two persons had their missing wallets returned over the weekend but not the money inside.

Roger Vella of 609 S. Paddock St. reported to Pontiac Police Saturday that he'd lost his wallet containing $50 and miscellaneous papers at a local car wash. The wallet was found later but not the $50.

Indians Hang On to Their Lands

Palm Springs Trying To Buy Property but U.S. Steps Into Deal

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Despite an outward appearance of well being, Palm Springs, which bills itself as "America's most fabulous desert resort," has a wolf at its doorstep.

Although unnoticed until recently, the wolf has patiently been waiting out its quarry since 1891 when the U.S. Congress passed the Indian Relief Act granting some 31,000 acres of land in and about the present city limits to a diminishing band of Aqua Caliente Indians.

In the years following the grant, sharp-eyed developers correctly guessed that makers of million-dollar movies and their prima donnas sooner or later would want to escape the hustle of Hollywood.

So they began grabbing up property for rambling resort hotels and palmshaded plazas.

Some of the property they bought outright and the rest they confidently leased from tribal holdings. They acted on the then immutable principle that Indian lands could be leased indefinitely but never sold.

Things went smoothly until 1949, when, following a series of Federal and Supreme Court decisions, the government's Bureau of Indian Affairs embarked on a program of alloting individual parcels of the land to tribal members, and just last year, of selling outright lands formerly held in trust.

Aware of the consequences, Palm Springs acted quickly. In February 1956, the city put a $125,000 bond issue before the voters to buy back from the Indians a long hallowed landmark—DeMuth Park.

The measure failed to pass, however, and recently the grassy triangle, located at the intersection of the city's three major thoroughfares, was sold to the City National Bank of Beverly Hills for $310,000 for use as a parking lot and the site for a row of smart shops.

In the same election, the voters authorized $400,000 in bonds to be sold for the purchase of land currently leased by the Palm Springs Municipal airport. But the Indians, perhaps realizing that the property is now appraised at four times that amount, snubbed the offer.

This lease expires in 1961.

At this point, the Bureau of Indian Affairs stepped in again, suggesting that the reservation be divided into equal sections and distributed to individual members of the tribe for disposal as they see fit.

The city and the Aqua Caliente council agreed to this idea and it was submitted to Congress for its approval.

But just before the session adjourned, the House Committee on Indian Affairs tabled the bill "without prejudice" until sometime this year.

What comes next?

Evangelist Hopes Thief Will Learn From Loot

TONKAWA, Okla. (AP)—The Rev. Ted Fix, a traveling evangelist, hopes the thief who broke into his car at least takes note of some of the items he took.

Among the things taken were Fix's collection of sermon material, a number of religious books and eight Bibles.

Hal Boyle Says:

Alice-in-Wonderland Invades Adult World

NEW YORK (AP)—Everybody she ever had known before had been kind to her.

Suddenly it happened. She did something new.

Then things were different.

When she had bought things before she had had a long time to make up her mind. Mr. Kelly at the candy store had always been grumphy and rough. He was old, the children young, and both knew their inevitable facts of life and had adjusted to them.

★ ★ ★

One day she walked a different way. The big kind-handed policeman wasn't there. And she could not see Mr. Kelly's candy store at all.

She walked block after block. She was happy, and the people who looked at her seemed to be the same way.

Some of them stepped up to question her, but then, as if embarrassed, they hesitated and walked away. And she walked on alone, humming to herself.

She looked into the windows as she walked. For a while they did not interest her, except they were strange and new, and although she felt sleepy she didn't want to take a nap.

★ ★ ★

There were fabric windows and windows full of strange foreign expressions with bulging eyes and men's pants hanging in the window and small shops with paper books. And then, all at once, there she was, the miracle of her.

There were other children in the window, and mother had a hand diped out maternally. But the one that wore the dress the little girl liked had seemed, for a moment, to stray away and stood by herself, a separate child with a dress apart.

But the little girl had been in this store before, and she knew where these things were for sale. And the sun was still high in the sky and she was not yet afraid.

She knew what she wanted, and there was a dress like the one she wanted on a model there on the floor. She went into the store, stepped up boldly, and said: "That's the one I want."

The saleslady, pleased at a quick sale, asked: "What size?"

"I'm more than five and not yet six—and half past me," said the little girl proudly.

★ ★ ★

"Well, you dear thing," said the saleslady, giving a vague look of appreciation and goodwill as she stabbed at a stack of dresses that would fit the girl.

The child took the dress, held it up to herself, and said, "I like it."

She started to walk away.

The saleslady looked around for the child's mother and murmured: "Whom shall I charge this to please?"

"Mmmy," said the girl.

"Yes, dear, of course," said the saleslady. "Where is your mommy?" she looked around dutifully.

"Home."

"Home?"

"Yes."

The saleslady looked at her incredulously and said: "You don't mean to say that you came here without your mother, and without money you expect to . . . ."

★ ★ ★

"You're not trying to tell me you need money and mommy both!" she said.

Government, Education, Industry

Lansing's Economy Has 3 Pillars

By BIRT DARLING
Staff Writer, Lansing State Journal

LANSING — Michigan's capital city, now in its centennial year, had to weather some serious crises in the past 100 years before it became firmly planted on its state government-state university-industry bases.

These bases now provide Lansing with an economy unique in Michigan, almost unique in the nation; but they weren't always there.

State government, which now provides employment for an estimated 5,000 in Lansing, was here even before Lansing. The capital was removed from Detroit to Lansing in 1847. A village grew up around it, but the village wasn't important enough to be incorporated until 1859.

Michigan State University, in adjoining East Lansing, is considered an important part of the Lansing economic scene. It almost became the agricultural school of the University of Michigan, and would have except for the Michigan State Agricultural Society.

The Society, having lobbied vigorously in Lansing, liked the idea of having the agricultural college nearby and 676 acres in the woods near Lansing were chosen for the site of what started out in 1855 as Michigan Agricultural College.

19,597 STUDENTS

Today, Michigan State boasts 19,597 enrolled students on its campus and is ranked 10th in enrollment among institutions of higher learning in the United States.

The city had industry of a sort before it had the state capital or Michigan Agricultural College. James Seymour of Rochester, N. Y., and Flushing, Mich., who owned large tracts where Lansing now stands, lobbied mightily in the legislative halls in Detroit for relocation of the capital to these tracts. He induced a few hardy pioneers to move in and build a dam and a mill, so that he could tell the Legislature there was already a "community" on the Grand River in the Ingham County wilderness.

Seymour had influential friends. The scheme worked.

It was not until arrival of the railroads in the 1860s, however, that industry worthy of the name moved in. Bement and Sons, out of Ohio, made agricultural implements. In Lansing, they went a step farther and made small gasoline engines for multifold farm uses.

An experimenter with gasoline engines was Ransom Eli Olds, a young man whose father owned a gasoline engine shop of no great dimensions. The upshot of this experimentation was the Olds Motor Car Company in 1897, but Lansing soon lost this promising new industry when Olds moved his operation to Detroit.

Fire severely damaged the Detroit plant in 1901. Lansing businessmen sniffed a second chance, bought up the abandoned county fairgrounds on the south side of the city — and propelled Lansing into the new automotive age.

Reo Motor Car Co. emerged in 1907 — R. E. Olds' second automotive venture — and Motor Wheel Corp. came along a few years later as a result of a merger of smaller supplier firms. Reo, now a division of White Motor Co., abandoned the passenger car field in the early 1930s, and now confines itself to military and civilian trucks.

Olds Motor Car Co. became Oldsmobile Division of General Motors Corp. in 1908, continuing to expand on the old fairgrounds site. Fisher Body Division was a later unit there.

FORGING CENTER

Along with the automotive industry came the forging plants. Lansing rapidly became a leader in this field and to this day is one of the nation's leading forging centers.

Starting its second century as a city, Lansing is confident of future growth. Its citizens feel this attitude is justified in view of the crises already surmounted and the prospects for further industrial expansion.

Insects 1st Creatures in Air, but Information on Them Uncertain

WASHINGTON—Several decades ago, it was thought that a deer fly could buzz along at 820 miles an hour. The belief still is popular, despite studies of muscle weight and efficiency that show such a speed to be impossible.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, according to aerodynamic principles, a bumblebee shouldn't be able to fly at all.

Some insects are especially effective at distance flights. The familiar orange-and-black Monarch butterfly apparently has flown the Atlantic Ocean, and desert locusts fly hundreds of miles, says National Geographic.

It is generally accepted that they developed from lobes on the back, making insects the only animals to have mastered the air without sacrificing a pair of limbs.

Doubtless insects were destined to fly when the first tall plants appeared in prehistoric swamps. They climbed the plants and then, as the lobes developed, began gliding to the ground.

Their rudimentary wings vibrated. This promoted muscular changes that enabled the insect itself to initiate the vibrations.

Insects were alone in the skies for perhaps 100 million years after they learned how to fly, when birds and bats took to the air, they ate and otherwise eliminated the less efficient species of insect flyers.

The survivers flourished mightily because of their special ability to find food, homes, and protection. It is easy for a tiny insect to seek out a new place to live.

Two acres are needed to support a horse or a cow, for instance, but eight million insects can live comfortably in the same area.

About 39 per cent of the deaths and 35 per cent of the injuries resulting from motor vehicle accidents occur on Saturdays and Sundays.

JOIN IN THE TANGLE TOWNS GAME!

Vignettes of History

The Dutch influence so prominent in the development of portions of Michigan, is strongly in evidence around Holland and Zeeland, and spreading into Kalamazoo and Kent Counties, where thousands of persons of Netherlands stock make up a substantial part of the population. These skilled craftsmen and agricultural workers helped build western Michigan industries — furniture, poultry-producing, farming. One of the most beautiful and happiest expressions of the Dutch influence is in the annual "Tulpen Feest" held each May in Holland. This community becomes for a time the showplace of Michigan. The festival encompasses many events symbolical of the Dutch influence and attracts thousands of visitors from all over the country. (These vignettes do not necessarily relate to the daily puzzles.)

Teacher Need Easing Slightly

Critical Fields Gaining, Over-All Shortage Still About 135,000

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's teacher shortage is easing somewhat in the critical fields of science, mathematics and foreign languages, the National Education Assn. reported today.

★ ★ ★

In its annual survey, the NEA found that the over-all shortage would be about 135,000 teachers, the same as last fall. It acknowledged its figures were based on an ideal situation, and that there will be a teacher in every classroom when school opens next fall.

The survey did not give a state-by-state breakdown. However, a spot check by The Associated Press last winter indicated that the states suffering the most are California, Michigan, Texas, New Jersey, New York and Ohio.

★ ★ ★

The NEA said the nation's public schools will need 227,500 new teachers next September, broken down this way:

94,500 to replace those leaving the field.

33,000 to serve increased enrollment.

30,000 to relieve over-crowding and eliminate half-day sessions.

20,000 to provide instruction and services not now provided.

50,000 to replace unprepared or unqualified teachers.

If only 92,500 members of the class of '59 take teaching jobs, where are the other 135,000 coming from?

The big majority—probably in excess of 90,000—will be college graduates of previous years.

The one big bar to staffing every classroom with a qualified teacher, Maul said, is the low scale of teachers' salaries.

"If teachers' salaries were competitive with other fields open to college graduates," he said, "we would soon have all the teachers we need. If we could make teaching financially attractive, our teacher shortage would evaporate overnight."

Elias Howe, a Massachusetts machine operator, spent five years in his off-time to invent the sewing machine. That was in 1846.

Wagon Train, Ho! Louisville Next on Trail

ST. MARY'S, Kan. (AP) — Refreshed by a day and a half of rest, the 22 members of the Oregon wagon train hit the trail again today.

Their next camp will be at Louisville, 17 miles farther along the old Oregon Trail. The wagon train is retracing the trail from Independence, Mo., to Independence, Ore., in observance of Oregon's centennial.

The travelers had a free dinner Saturday, and a basket social and four gallons of ice cream Sunday. Clothes were cleaned and laundered free.

About 5,000 persons visited the camp Sunday. A church service was held, with two bales of hay and a cross made of sticks serving as the pulpit.

Body of Woman Found

COURTWRIGHT, Ont. (AP)—The body of Mrs. Beatrice Sliva, 47, of Port Huron, washed ashore four miles north of here Sunday on the Canadian side of the St. Clair River. Mrs. Sliva had been missing since Feb. 5.

State Board Fines Owners of 2 Bars

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has fined two owners of Pontiac area establishments and dismissed charges against a third.

Valeria Ferguson, owner of the Wayside Bar, 25013 John R Rd., Madison Heights, was fined $150 for selling alcoholic beverages to a minor and allowing the minor to consume them at the bar.

A seven-day suspension of her license ordered by the commission was suspended due to the mature appearance of the minor and the fact that his age was checked previous to the sale.

Bobbie L. Allen, Darrel D. Allen, Jack J. Onesian, and Carney J. Onesian, owners of the Twelve High Bar, 28670 Northwestern Highway, Southfield, were fined $50 for allowing gambling on the premises.

All fines are due and effective May 11.

A charge of selling to a minor against Kevin J. Ritter, owner of Ritter's Farm Market, 3225 W. Huron St., Waterford Township, has been dropped by the commission.

An adult migratory grasshopper can eat its own weight in green range forage in 16 hours. In contrast, a mature, 1,000-pound cow requires 7.6 days to eat her own weight in green forage.

Cancer Society Has Real Need for Old Linens

When you know how much every Cancer Committee needs old linens for surgical dressings, you'll surely want to start saving them to contribute to your local group.

Nothing makes as comfortable a dressing as old sheets, pillowcases, men's underwear, and similar materials which have grown softer and more absorbent with long use and repeated washings.

To prepare them for donations, wash in very hot soap or detergent suds and rinse well. Pressing with a hot iron also helps to sanitize used materials.

Dear Abby . . .

Strategic Time to Dish It Out and Dicker for New Set-Up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I'm just an average woman and have been married to a man who is good to me but is very careful with his money. I've been saving for a good set of dishes. I've wanted this certain pattern ever since I was married but we couldn't afford them.

ABBY

"My husband's mother has all kinds of money. She KNEW what dishes I liked. But she sent me an enormous set for our anniversary (good dishes they were) thereby killing my chances of ever owning the dishes I wanted. I am just sick over this. My husband says we can't hurt his mother's feelings by exchanging them and besides she visits often and would know. Have a solution, Abby?"

WRONG DISHES

DEAR WRONG: Ask your mother-in-law (respectfully) if she'd have any objections to your exchanging the dishes for the ones you wanted. If she is mean enough to object, go ahead and buy the dishes you've saved for anyway. You've earned this luxury.

"DEAR ABBY: My, how you women do stick together! There is nothing that keeps these pregnant women working in public except their unwillingness to let go of the almighty dollar. I noted also that you approve of pregnant women on the dance floor. You are doing your best to push good taste further into limbo. Please stop! Sincerely," CARL

DEAR CARL: Come out of the ages. The days when pregnaht women had to hide until nightfall have long gone. If a pregnant woman must work, let her work. If she feels like dancing, let her dance. 'Infanticipation' is nothing to be ashamed of. How do you think YOU got here?

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: There appeared in your column a letter from a Mrs. G. L. in which she raked you over the coals for misspelling the word 'TATTOO.' (You spelled it 'TATOO.) In HER letter criticizing YOUR spelling, she misspelled 'MISSPELLED' (She spelled it MISPELLED.) Whose error was this? Yours, hers or the printer's?" VETA

Tape Saves Plastic

When sewing plastic, avoid unnecessary holes by using cellophane tape instead of pins or basting stitches. And use a soft pencil to mark cutting lines—which can be washed off later with soap or detergent suds.

Dust can dim the light in your reflectors, bowls and lamp bulbs home. Make a point to clean lamp for most efficient light.

when Careful Dan cleans his topcoat

Better let Careful Dan freshen up that topcoat before he wears it again. It's always a pleasant surprise to see the way our careful craftsmen give new life to tired topcoats. Try it on, it looks just like it left the men's store. Besides, we mothproof his topcoat and return it with a $500 moth insurance policy — both FREE. But be sure we clean his coat because other cleaning removes the moth protection.

Suggest He Give the Pin to a Friend

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A old friend of mine gave me a pin which was his mother's (his mother passed away recently). It isn't the kind of pin that I would have much use for. I think it is more suitable for an elderly woman.

"There is just such a person who was very close to his mother who I'm sure would appreciate it much more and it would be a nice remembrance of her for this friend to have. I would like to suggest this to him but hesitate to do so for fear of hurting his feelings. What do you advise?"

Answer: Unless he is a very sensitive person, I don't think it will hurt his feeling if you tell him how much you appreciate his wanting you to have his mother's pin but that you know "Mrs. A." would love to have it and would have much more use for it than you. This will be better than your accepting it now and then let him discover later that you rarely if ever wear it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I plan to be married soon and both my fiance and my brother, who is going to give me away, are officers in the army. They both would like to wear their uniforms for the wedding but the best man and the ushers are not in the army and would be wearing civilian clothes. Would it be proper to mix the military and civilian clothes in this manner?"

Answer: While it looks better to have all the men dressed alike in either military or civilian clothes, it will be quite proper for your fiance and brother to wear their uniforms even though the best man and ushers have to wear civilian clothes.

"Dear Mrs. Post: How should the professional cards of a dentist be engraved, and how the personal cards that include his wife?"

Answer: Professional cards would be engraved John Henry Smith followed by the letters of his degree, and his personal cards Dr. and Mrs. John Henry Smith.

First 5 Pounds

Beware of Those Nibbles

Over she goes to touch the toes. It looks difficult but you should be able to do this Spring Makeover exercise.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There are two facts which I believe will be helpful to those women who constantly fight the battle of the bulges. Many women who gain easily find the scales going up and down periodically like a seesaw. If these women are the least bit careless, they gain from five to 10 pounds in between zippings! Of course the smart thing is never to allow a greater gain than five pounds before attacking the enemy, EXTRA POUNDS.

Make it a point to keep your weight at the ideal for you for several months. If you will do this, you will find that you can get away with some splurges in food without gaining immediately. There is a scientific basis for this. Your weight becomes stabilized. Naturally you cannot take this too far or go haywire with the theory.

THEY NIBBLE!

Then, too, many women who have too many pounds really do not eat large meals, but they do nibble during the day and sometimes even during the evening. They may eat very small bits of this or that at these times and probably would be astonished if they know how many calories they consume in this way.

A couple of cookies, a portion of cream cheese mix left over from a party spread on four crackers, two dozen salted nuts, one scoop of ice cream and one or two other little (?) nibbles—and soon you have close to 1,000 calories.

This is the seventh day of my Nine-Day Reducing Diet and those of you who have been following it must be feeling pretty pleased with yourselves. BUT—don't give in now. You have just two more days to go.

Breakfast
One egg poached or broiled
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
Black coffee

Luncheon
1 portion salmon
Celery sticks
One-half cup steamed carrots
One-half grapefruit

Dinner
Minute or club steak (small)
One-half cup string beans
One-half cup squash
One glass skimmed milk
Orange slices

Here is today's exercise. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor at your sides. Raise both legs up and continue on over until your feet are touching the floor behind your head. Slowly return legs to the floor. (Knees stiff throughout exercise.)

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my 9-Day Diet Booklet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Nine Day Diet Gives You A Quick Loss of 5 to 10 Pounds."

Panama Looks for Invaders

Small Band Claims Castro Blessing but He Denies It

PANAMA (AP) — Government troops today pushed a search for 30 revolutionary invaders believed still at large on an isolated stretch of Panama's Caribbean coast. Three members of the force were captured and three others were reported drowned in the landing.

Authorities said the captives named Roberto Arias, husband of British ballerina Margot Fonteyn, as their chief. Arias, ex-ambassador to Britain, escaped to the Brazilian embassy Friday night and was given asylum.

The band of 35 men and a woman nurse landed Friday night on Playa Colorado (Red Beach), about 60 miles northeast of Panama City, after sailing from Batabano, Cuba.

Two of those captured were Cubans. The third was Panamanian.

★ ★ ★

The field commander of the landing force was Enrique Morales Brid, son of Panama's Chief Justice Ricardo Morales. He was one of those drowned in the landing attempt.

★ ★ ★

People in the invasion area said the invaders told them they came from Cuba with Fidel Castro's blessing.

Castro, in Montreal, denied any knowledge of the invasion and said his revolutionary forces had strict orders against having anything to do with such adventures.

Greeks, Irish, Chinese Hail Italian Festival

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Greek-born Mayor George Christopher read the proclamation, Chinese children applauded and Irish cops stood at attention Sunday as San Francisco opened its first Italian festival.

Mayor Christopher read the document in Washington Square in the North Beach section.

Standing beneath Benjamin Franklin's statue, the Mayor spoke in English. Supervisor A. J. Zirpoli spoke in Italian as did acting Italian Consul General Plinio Mazzarini.

Shotgun Blasts Hit 6 Negroes in Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Six Negro teen-agers walking home from a store were wounded Sunday night when hit by shotgun pellets reportedly fired by white boys from two speeding automobiles.

Police said the Negro boys told them three separate blasts were fired from the cars as they whipped through the Negro neighborhood.

Struck in the stomach and seriously wounded were Samuel Clark Jr., 15, and Carlton Washington, 16. Both were hospitalized.

Less seriously wounded were Forrest Black, 15; Willy Dickerson, 17; Floyd Reynolds, 17, and Billy Miekleburg, 16, who live near each other in the middle-class East End neighborhood.

★ ★ ★

The injured boys said they could not identify the white boys and had no idea why they were shot at.

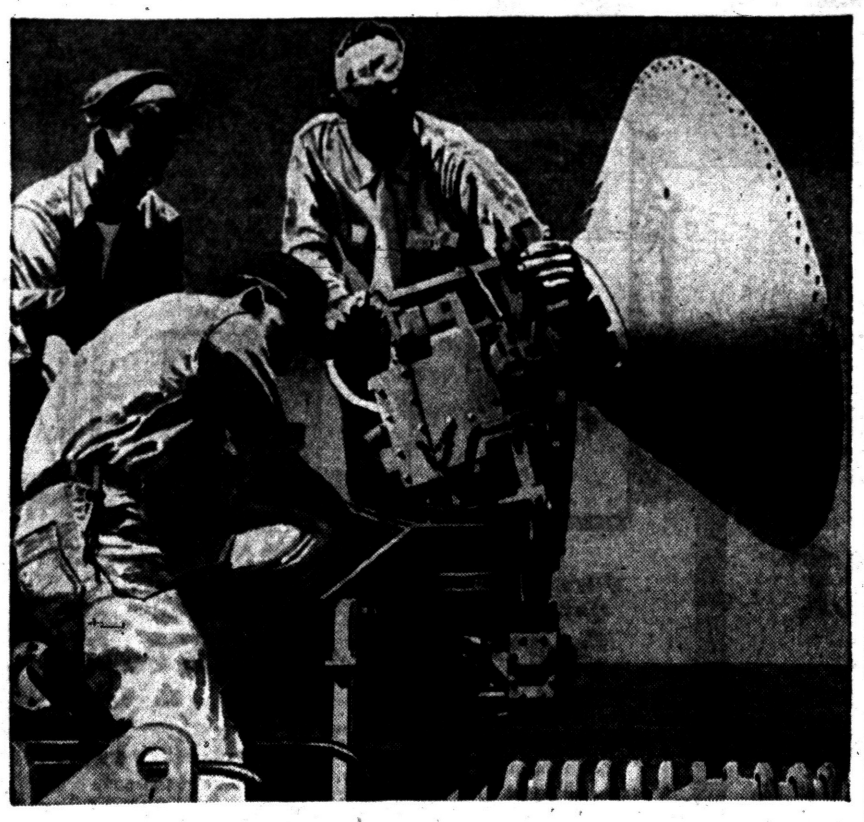

When the Butterfield stage left Tipton, Mo., on Sept. 16, 1858, bound for San Francisco, it was carrying the first great overland mail delivery in U. S. history.

THE TWO LIVES OF THE TELEPHONE MAN

IN YOUR HOME

Here is the Telephone Man. He is in your living room, installing a trim red extension phone to match your new draperies and chair covers. This afternoon he will be down the street, advising newlywed Mrs. Smith about where to put her new kitchen phone. Tomorrow if you glance upward as you drive past the new housing development, you will see the Telephone Man atop a pole installing the cables that will bring phone service to a new community.

IN NATIONAL DEFENSE

Here, too, is the Telephone Man. He is aboard a cruiser at sea, instructing naval technicians in maintaining their fire-control radar. Next month may find him on an arid stretch of New Mexican desert, working with his soldering iron on a missile launching pad. The month after—who knows—undersea in a sub perhaps or high overhead in a B58 jet bomber. The Telephone Man is a member of the Western Electric Field Engineering Force—the unit that looks after Bell-installed military equipment.

You see the Telephone Man everywhere. Keeping your telephone service the best in the world is a big job. But today the Telephone Man also has the vital task of helping to make our nation safe from aggression.

Franklin Aphorisms No Match for Reds

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — While the Eisenhower administration is "spouting aphorisms from Poor Richard's Almanac," the Communists have maintained the initiative in the cold war, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) said Sunday.

"It is time for a dynamic leadership in this nation which will call the shots," he told a Natrona County Democratic rally.

Humphrey said the Republicans have done little to quell the Communist menace. He termed the Eisenhower administration a "caretaker government, a mark-time government, a do-as-little-as-you-can sort of government."

Humphrey was introduced by Sen. Gale McGee, a freshman Democrat previously on the faculty of the University of Wyoming.

"If Sen. Humphrey were in the White House, America would be an exciting and wonderful place in which to live," said McGee.

A hill in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains of New Mexico is called the Palo Flechado, which, translated from Spanish, means "tree shot with arrows." The name comes from an old Taos Indian custom of hunters' shooting their remaining arrows into a tre after a successful buffalo hunt.

Injured Man Hauled 420 Feet After Cave Fall

CASTLETON, England (AP) — Rescuers spent 12 hours Sunday hauling John Keens, 21, through narrow, twisting passages from a rock shelf 420 feet underground.

Keens had entered the cave with a party of explorers. A rope broke and he tumbled 15 feet onto a shelf on the brink of a chasm, breaking an ankle. By the time he was brought out, he was also suffering from exhaustion.

M87 Resurfacing Up for Bid in Saginaw

A resurfacing project of M87 will be one of eight state highway construction projects which have been scheduled for letting May 20, in Saginaw, the department announced today.

The highway work will be carried out in both Oakland and Genesee Counties.

Up for bid is construction on 4.1 miles of the highway between Holly and Fenton. The project calls for 20- and 30-foot bituminous aggregate surfacing of M87 to be completed by Aug. 31.

For many years, lettings have been held only at Saginaw and Escanaba but they are now also scheduled for Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie and Grand Rapids.

Hypnosis No Serum of Truth, Says Doctor

Cider Potent Stuff

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Maybe it's a good thing nobody got to drink any of that 150 gallons of apple cider stored in a rural fruit market near here. The cider exploded and started a fire that did $5,000 damage.

600 Area Scouts Display Talents at Annual Show

Pontiac Press Photo

Boys Present Exhibits at Waterford CAI Center

The big gymnasium in the Waterford Township CAI Building was the hub of scouting activity in the Manito District all day Saturday. More than 600 boys from northern Oakland County presented their annual scouting show.

Representing some 2,400 Cub, Explorer, Sea and Boy Scouts, the show drew hundreds of spectators from all parts of the county from the time the doors opened at 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.

A helpful, cheerful Boy Scout was stationed at the main entrance of the CAI Building opening and closing the doors for parents and friends visiting the show.

Inside, there was a carnival atmosphere mixed with the aroma of fresh popcorn, hot dogs and coffee. Excited Cub Scouts darted from one booth to another. Boy Scouts nonchalantly looked over each other's displays and older Explorer Scouts showed genuine interest in the more-adult projects.

Under the supervision of Clarkston Scoutmaster Jack Frost, boys in Troop 126 began assembling strong limbs from trees, early in the morning and by noon the sturdy tower had been completed for show-visitors.

Tiny race cars running down a ramp (Pine Wood Derby) won first place for Clarkston's Cub Scout pack 134 in exhibit competition. A variety handicraft display by Pontiac Lake School Pack 34 placed second, and the Waterford Township Fire Department's Cub Pack 31, received third place with a leathercraft demonstration.

DEN MOTHERS HELP

Den mothers dressed in neat navy and gold uniforms worked with Cub Scouts on various projects as did more than 200 Scoutmasters in the 35 booths set up in the gym.

All types of demonstrations were in progress, along with outstanding achievements made by the boys during the last year.

Another award winning demonstration, Hi-Fi equipment built by Explorers of Rochester's post 40, attracted many visitors during the day. The boys have constructed 212 tuners, amplifiers and other electrical gadgets, which were available for close inspection.

According to Explorer Scout Dick Miller of Squadron 34 at the Pontiac Airport, his group is learning all about flying, engine mechanics plane construction and the intricacies of weather conditions. Director Frank Hickock has made arrangements with Flight-Line officials for the boys to make periodic training flights.

The group also had a hunter safety section. Scoutmaster Charles Brucker explained that before a scout is awarded this badge, he must pass a rigid outdoor field test prepared by Charles Curtis of the National Rifle Assn.

FORESTRY EXHIBIT

Adjoining the hunter safety booth was a dramatic forestry exhibit set up by Troop 120 of Waterford Township. Beautiful thick woods surrounding a tiny model house was next to the display showing "what one match could do." The house had been burned, all the trees gone, leaving nothing but barren waste.

Scoutmaster Paul McMichael said that his troop had helped the State Conservation Department transplant more than 2,000 trees and added that the boy's slogan is "It's a Tree Country."

One of the most colorful exhibits was the Fly Tying project by Waterford Township Troop 31, which won the third place award. Every conceivable type of lure to attract fish was being made and sold at cost to visitors.

In the dining room of the CAI Building Troop 40 of Rochester had set up an elaborate camping scene complete with a "fire" going full force. Scientific ways of cooking food outdoors were being demonstrated.

LASHING TOWER — Boy Scouts David Brown, Philip Huntley, Joe Duckering and Dennis Tash demonstrated how to construct a tower made from strong tree limbs and rope, at the annual "Scout-O-Rama," held in Waterford Township Saturday. One of the towers on display reached a height of more than 25 feet after it was completed by the boys.

LAPEER — A 51-year-old Flint man was electrocuted Saturday when he backed his well-drilling truck up so that the boom hit a high-powered line on Genesee road, three miles west of here.

Lapeer County sheriff's deputies said William C. Hazard was dead when they arrived on the scene.

The body was discovered by Richard Green who lives at 4802 Genesee Rd. He told police he heard the truck motor running for a long time and went out to investigate. He saw the victim lying beside the truck and called for an ambulance.

Area Troopers Probe Weekend Burglaries

★ ★ ★

A revolver, 20-gauge shotgun and a chain-saw were stolen from the Paul Faulker Jr. home, 8200 34-Mile Rd. in Bruce Township between 3 and 9 p.m. yesterday, troopers said.

★ ★ ★

Thieves broke into a model home owned by Odilon Houtekeir, in a new subdivision at Dequindre and 24-Mile roads in Shelby Township sometime Saturday night.

Senate's Labor Reform Measure Spelled Out by Many Answers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is a question-and-answer explanation of the Senate-approved labor reform bill:

Q. What is the purpose of the bill?

A. To protect union funds from racketeers and guarantee Democratic procedures, including secret ballot elections, to rank-and-file members.

Q. How would dues money be safeguarded?

A. Unions must report in detail on their assets and liabilities, salaries and expense payments to any employe getting more than $10,000 a year and loans to union officers and businessmen. The secretary of labor would have the power to investigate the accuracy of these reports. Jail terms for embezzlement and false reports are provided.

Q. What are the union election provisions?

A. Standards are established to guarantee secret-ballot elections of union leaders at least every five years in international unions and at least every three years in local unions. Members' rights to nominate and vote on candidates without reprisals or interference is guaranteed. Bona-fide candidates would have equal access to lists of members' names and addresses. It would be illegal to use union funds to pay anyone's campaign expenses.

Q. Is there a "bill of rights" for rank-and-file members?

A. Yes. The reform measure includes a modified version of the "bill of rights" introduced by Sen. John L. McClellan. It guarantees freedom of speech and assembly and equal rights subject only to "reasonable" union rules. It also protects union members' right to sue the organization or its officers provided those filing suits exhaust intra-union remedies first and are not acting for management. It guards against unjust dues increases and "kangaroo court" disciplinary measures.

Q. Are employers covered by the law?

A. Yes. They must report payments to or dealings with labor-management "middlemen" and on funds spent to advise workers about unions or obtain information about union activities. The boss also must report on payments or loans to labor leaders.

Q. How would the law be enforced?

A. The secretary of labor would be chief enforcing officer. Union members charging violation of the "bill of rights" could seek remedies in federal district court. Fines up to $10,000 and prison terms ranging from one to 20 years could be imposed for other violations.

Q. How would labor leaders be affected?

A. Union leaders would be required to file full reports on their financial transactions and stockholdings—or those of their wives and children—which might create conflicts of interest. Officers must be bonded. They would be legally regarded as trustees of union treasuries. Persons convicted of felonies would be barred from holding union office within five years of serving a prison term. Corrupt officers could be removed by secret ballot vote if no union recall machinery exists.

ALL UNIONS?

Q. Are all unions included?

A. No. Unions of federal, state and local government employes are exempt from the requirements. The secretary of labor may exempt small unions or provide simplified reporting forms for them.

Q. Would this bill replace the Taft-Hartley Act?

A. No. It supplements and in a few cases revises Taft-Hartley.

Q. How would the bill affect picketing?

A. "Shakedown" picketing—designed to extort money from employers—is banned. Picketing to organize workers or obtain recognition would be barred if the employer already had recognized another union or a labor board representation election had been held within the previous nine months. This condition would be waived if the union doing the picketing could prove it represented a majority of the workers.

Q. What are the so-called "sweeteners" for organized labor?

A. This refers to provisions strongly backed by unions. The two main ones would allow contractors to sign union contracts before actually hiring construction workers and give fired economic strikers the right to vote in labor board elections. The latter would repeal what labor calls a "union-busting" provision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Q. Is there anything in the bill that would affect the teamsters more than other unions?

A. Yes. The bill would forbid unions to enter into "hot cargo" contracts with trucklines and other common carriers. Hot cargo clauses, which allow workers to refuse to handle "unfair" goods of struck or non-union firms, are a traditional teamster organizing weapon.

Q. Will the AFL-CIO fight the bill or support it?

A. The labor federation has not yet taken a stand. Indications are that it will back the bill but criticize some of its provisions.

Q. What's the outlook for House passage of the bill?

A. It's too early to tell since the House Labor Committee is still conducting hearings. Some congressmen are prepared to demand more restrictive curbs on picketing and boycotts, however.

Lawrence Welk Has Deep Moral Convictions

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

HOLLYWOOD — Lawrence Welk is as old-fashioned as strawberry shortcake with biscuits and no glace, but he is not as strait-laced as people say.

"I don't morally disapprove of drinking or anything like that. It's a free society and people can say anything they want to—I don't mind. But I don't like them saying things like that too much." Welk smiled. Wistfully.

"Both my wife and myself like wine, but unfortunately I can't drink it. The condition of my stomach was always sickly, from the time I was about 11 years old. I can't eat any roughage, raw vegetables, fried things. About all I eat are steaks and milks."

He frowned thoughtfully.

"I guess a nut would probably kill me."

Welk is a patient man, a gentle man, a thoroughly rich, and deservedly so, man. He does not get irritated ("not with MY spastic colon") with writers who call him a prude and a square.

"Everybody wants to be what they call 'sophisticated.' If that means writing things, or playing music that's on the shady side—well, my upbringing just won't let me.

"Even years ago, when the boys would put in something a little smutty or that had a double meaning, I'd make them take it out! times more than 1,000 are piled up

"When they said, 'Why are you so hard? I had only one explanation: I don't feel comfortable about it, and I don't think the audience does either.

"You know, I think the very same people who go to a night club and laugh at things that are foul or off-the-beam go home and say, deep in their hearts, that wasn't very funny humor."

Asked "Why, then, did they laugh?" Welk shook his head.

"When other people were laughing, they were afraid not to laugh. That is too bad. But that is so."

★ ★ ★

Despite the fact he had only a partial grade school education, came from a family that could only afford a 10-cent weekly allowance, and has been so busy making music he hasn't had time to read—Lawrence Welk is a thoughtful man.

NOT ENOUGH TIME

"I have a great concern for the people who come to see me, after one of our television programs, and ask for autographs." (Somewhere outside his ABC "Dodge Dancing Party" studio.) "I can't sign for all of them, or I'd never get any sleep.

"But when I leave, the faces flash through my mind—the ones that I missed."

This statement may reek of egotism; yet it's a false impression.

Welk is a man dedicated—not to himself. He considers Lawrence Welk only an instrument, like a tricycle or a TV screen, for serving and pleasing the American family.

"Not having had much schooling, I can't explain very well how I feel," he says. "Only I've gone through a long, long life of being backward and timid. Of feeling like I'm not up to par with the other person. I felt I wasn't quite as good as somebody with an education. I'm better now, but it's still a struggle to get over the hill."

This big man — physically, financially and morally—has worked strenuously since he was 10. Now he has "a great longing for hunting and fishing and golf." But he won't retire.

"As long as the people want the show, I must play. And I can't let down the Dodge folks who have given us a big reputation."

Tells Success Secret

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Thomas B. Keisker, 70, revealed after retiring as Shelby County deputy sheriff that he even resorted to meowing like a cat in order to get a door opened so he could serve a warrant.

Homicide has become a less frequent crime in the U. S. The rate was 6.1 per 100,000 population in 1946-47 and 4.8 in 1955-56, a decline of one-fifth.

Space-Age Preservatives Include Canned Missiles

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (NEA)—The U.S. Army has followed up the success it achieved in packaging World War II field rations with a startling canned space-age plan.

But unlike the famed compressed, vacuum sealed dinners, the latest product is likely to bring more complaints from enemy troops than the GIs. It's a guided missile.

An elaborate variation of the commercial canning process is the system used to pack the Army's Nike-Hercules guided missile for shipment to troops in the United States and overseas.

The packaging is carried out in Charlotte at the Douglas Aircraft Company's huge Nike assembly plant where more than 2,000 workers are engaged in manufacturing the new supersonic ground-to-air plane killer.

Douglas engineers explain that the unique technique completely protects the missiles from hard bumps that they might receive while being shipped to Hercules air defense sites in Chicago, Washington, D.C.; Philadelphia, New York, Los Angeles, Greenland and Formosa.

It also enables anti-aircraft crews to store the missiles for long periods of time without worrying about damage from rust and corrosion.

Here's how it works:

At one end of the enormous plant are several rows of long, white steel drums. The drums lie on their sides with the open ends facing the nearby missile assembly line.

CAREFULLY PACKED

The finished nose cone and main assembly of each Hercules are carried separately by a special conveyor system to one of the drums. Workers gently lift the instrument-packed nose cone and place it within the larger section which in turn is pushed inside the drum on two movable metal tracks.

The missile is held inside the drums by two large metal ring which completely encircle it. Each ring is hooked to four strong springs that are attached to the top and bottom of the drum.

An example of its effectiveness was accidently demonstrated recently when one of the drums toppled six feet to the ground without causing damage to the missile inside. The drums are manufactured by the Food Machinery Co. in Lakeland, Fla.

Waterford Board Tonight to Get Citizen Requests

Several Waterford Township residents are expected at tonight's Waterford Township Board meeting for various business reasons, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

Home builder Samuel Block has protested water supply assessments on seven lots in his Lorraine Manor subdivision on Walton boulevard.

A request for sidewalks to newly-constructed school buildings on Hatchery road will be presented by Leslie Powell of 2336 Georgeland St., Drayton Plains.

Thomas Ballock of 1762 Solvay St. would like to have the township request the Oakland County Road Commission to prohibit traffic to the Drayton fishing site down Solvay street. He says there are more direct routes to the site and a traffic hazard has developed on Solvay.

The Board is expected to discuss the appointment of a member to the Township Zoning Board to replace Lewis Ruelle who resigned from the seven-man board recently.

Vandals Wreck School

DETROIT (UPI)—Vandals broke into the Gordonier Elementary School in Romulus Township over the weekend tearing apart five rooms.

Damage to the school was estimated at $2,000. School janitor John Haidynaik said the vandals scattered books and supplies and wrecked chairs, desks and other equipment.

He said the school had been vandalized before but "never anything like this."

These Little Guppies Work for Their Food

Joline Johnson, 14, a student at Onondaga Valley Academy, has taught guppy fish in her aquarium to jump a fence for their food.

Movie makers expect to make about 25 fewer feature-length movies this year than the 378 they turned out last year. It would be the first production decline in three years.

59ers Decide on Homesteads

Pick Isolated Spot Which Will Be Called 'New Michigan'

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's 59ers finally are camped in the Alaskan land from which they intend to hew a farm community called New Michigan.

Word of this came today to the Detroit News from Edward (Shorty) Bradley, a trapper who mapped out a route for crossing the ice of the Susitna River.

The 59ers, who left Detroit 53 days ago, got five trailers, two camp wagons, three trucks, three autos, a tractor, farm implements, household appliances, a big tent and a sizable store of supplies westward across the ice.

Fearful of the treacherous spring ice they left their largest trailer behind on the east side of the river. It is at Talkeetna, to which the 59ers were transported by flatcars from Anchorage, and will serve as an across-the-river base.

Homesteaders on the west side of the river will be isolated in a week or so when the Susitna's ice breaks up and the river becomes a wide and treacherous, rushing stream.

Except for Bradley and two previous homesteaders the wild, virgin lands to the west of the Susitna are uninhabited, but they also are level and fertile.

The 59ers set up camp on the west side of the river along a mine road that runs westward toward the huge Alaskan mountain range and Mt. McKinley, highest peak in North America.

The lands they plan to homestead and to which they'll have to hack their own road are three miles west of the river and five miles south of the mine trail.

Signals to the west side have been arranged for emergencies.

All Is Now Over for Discoverer II

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's Discoverer II satellite has plunged back into the earth's atmosphere and presumably burned up from friction after two weeks in orbit, the Defense Department said early today.

A spokesman for the department's Advanced Research Projects Agency said he was notified by the Cambridge, Mass., Observatory that the 1,600-pound satellite had fallen into the earth's dense air.

The spokesman said he did not know at what time or location the re-entry took place.

So What if Tigers Lost—They Gained ½ Game

Sunday Results: 16 Hits, 4 Walks and 4-3 Defeat

Bengals Leave 15 Men Stranded as Athletics Sweep Series

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

So what if the Tigers lost another game yesterday!

★ ★ ★

Tiger fans will be happy to note that their favorite team picked up a half game on the league leading Cleveland Indians who dropped a double-header to the Chicago White Sox and also a half game on the New York Yankees who lost twice to Baltimore.

★ ★ ★

It was the Tigers' good fortune that the schedule was in their favor, having them playing only one game yesterday.

★ ★ ★

(This bit of sarcasm is offered for the expressed purpose of giving die-hard Tiger fans hope that all is not lost. Now the Tigers are only 8½ games behind.)

From Our Wire Services

After dropping a three-game series in Kansas City to stretch their losing streak to six and 12 of 13 starts, the Bengals have only to face the fact that the Baltimore Orioles will be in town tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Despite 16 base hits and four walks, the Tigers were unable to capture the right side of a 4-3 decision with the Athletics yesterday. They left 15 men on base.

★ ★ ★

Kansas City took an 8-7 victory Saturday night when the A's snuffed a Detroit rally in the ninth inning.

Once again, Detroit had the tying and winning runs on base in the ninth, but got only one run. Bob Grim took credit for the Kansas City win, but needed relief from Bud Daley in the ninth inning when the Tigers looked like they might get tough.

The deciding hit for Kansas City was an inside-the-park home run with two men on by Bob Cerv in the third inning. Cerv's drive was lost in the fog by centerfielder Harvey Kuenn and hit the base of the center field fence, 421 feet away.

The A's other run came in the second when Roger Maris was hit by a pitched ball. Cerv singled and Frank House singled to send Maris home.

★ ★ ★

Detroit scored in the first inning for the third day in a row. Eddie Yost opened with a single, but was forced by Frank Bolling who scored on Kuenn's double when Bill Tuttle fell while fielding the ball in centerfield.

Kuenn's single, a fielding error by Grim and Al Kaline's single picked up the second Tiger run in the fourth.

Then in the ninth, Kuenn again led off with a single, Gail Harris fanned and Kaline flied out. But Larry Doby blooped a single to center and Rocky Bridges singled to load the bases.

Daley went in to pitch for the Athletics and walked pinchhitter Johnny Groth to force in Kuenn. Daley then fanned another pinchhitter, Red Wilson, to end the game.

Orioles Sweep Series Against Bombers

Where's Yanks?--In 2nd Division!

By United Press International

Paul Richards says the sky is the limit for his Baltimore Orioles and who's going to argue with him after a weekend sweep that has the New York Yankees off to their worst start in five years?

Richards had a right to crow a bit Sunday because his Orioles swept a double-header from the Yankees, 5-4 and 3-2, and thus dumped the world champions into the second division. With seven losses in 13 games, the Yankees have made their poorest start since 1954 — when they failed to win the American League pennant.

The Orioles themselves are tied with the Chicago White Sox for second place one game behind the Cleveland Indians. The White Sox cooled off the Indians Sunday by beating them, 6-5 and 5-2, as Early Wynn and Billy Pierce doubled in spades as pitching and hitting heroes.

The Orioles, who won a three-game series at Yankee Stadium for the first time in their history, pushed over two runs in the ninth inning to take the first game and then got a dazzling knuckleball performance from Hoyt Wilhelm in the nightcap. Along the way, Richards also managed to "out-think" Casey Stengel by tossing 20 players into the opener and also bunting on the wet grass after a 16-minute interruption caused by rain.

The Washington Senators shaded the Boston Red Sox, 2-1 in the other American League game.

The Los Angeles Dodgers took over first place with a 17-11 win over the St. Louis Cardinals, the Cincinnati Reds outslugged the Milwaukee Braves, 11-10, the San Francisco Giants beat the Chicago Cubs, 3-2, and the Philadelphia Phillies bounced back from a 9-2 loss to down the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-5, in National League activity.

Jim Finigan tied the opener with a ninth-inning pinch single and Brooks Robinson then singled home the decisive run to beat Whitey Ford in relief. Wilhelm was the whole show in the nightcap, limiting the Yankees to five hits and striking out eight while scoring his second straight win.

Wilhelm's knucklers were working so well that Baltimore catcher Gus Triandos tied an American League record by being charged with four passed balls.

Wynn doubled with the bases filled during a six-run third inning rally and Gerry Staley's four shutout innings of relief preserved big Early's 251st big league win. Then Pierce pitched an eight-hitter, doubled home two runs and scored himself after a ninth-inning triple to win the second game almost single-handedly.

Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon hit homers for the Senators and Bill Fischer scattered nine Boston hits. Fischer, who pitched 10 shutout innings against the Yankees last Wednesday, didn't yield the Red Sox' run until the ninth when Jackie Jensen doubled and scored on a two-out single by Bill Renna.

The Dodgers soared into first place for the first time as a Los Angeles entry by scoring four runs in both the eighth and ninth innings. Charlie Neal went 5-for-5, Carl Furillo had four hits and Gil Hodges drove in five runs with three hits to pace the 20-hit attack. The home crowd booed the Cardinals derisively in the last two innings.

The Reds, who hadn't beaten Warren Spahn for almost two years until Saturday, did it for the second time in 24 hours when Johnny Temple doubled in the ninth and scored on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly. Spahn, now 51-17 with Cincinnati over the years, struck out the side to end a threat in the seventh but yielded a game-tying homer to Frank Thomas in the eighth. Fourteen pitchers, eight Reds and six Braves, saw action.

Jackie Brandt's seventh-inning homer was the decisive blow for the Giants who beat fireballer Glen Hobbie. Jack Sanford pitched a four-hitter and fanned four in winning his third game in four decisions for the Giants.

Dick Groat's first grand slam in the Majors led the Pirates to their opening win but then Dave Philley and Willie Jones homered to gain the Phillies a split. Vern Law pitched a three-hitter for Pittsburgh in the opener and Jack Meyer picked up the win for Philadelphia in the second game.

Detroiters Champs as ABC Ends

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—They were tearing down the lanes and tearing up the record books today at the American Bowling Congress headquarters.

The 72-day meet closed yesterday with the Pfeiffers Beer of Detroit and that team captain, Ed Lubanski, accounting for two all-time marks.

The Pfeiffers bowled a 3,243 total which replaced the 3,234 scored by the Birk Brothers team of Chicago in 1938 and which had been the highest team total in the 56-year-history of ABC tournaments until the Pfeiffers went on their strike spree.

Lubanski wrote his name in the new record book with a 2,116 all-events score which replaced the previous high of 2,088 rolled by Jim Spaulding of Louisville, Ky., at Fort Worth, Tex., in 1957.

Several team records were set at the 1959 ABC. There were 10 series over 3,100 which supplants the old mark of six such scores bowled at Syracuse in 1958. Thirty teams managed to go over the 3,000 total mark, bettering the old record of 25 set at Fort Worth in 1957.

Even more important to the huge field of bowlers who traveled here from all parts of the country, including Hawaii, Alaska and Saudi Arabia, are the low in-the-money totals.

The unofficial totals, with little chance of any major change are:

Open team division, 2,746; booster teams, 2,659; doubles, 1,091; singles, 555 and all-events, 1,721. This means all scores rolled over these figures will share in the $385,977 ABC prize fund.

High individual games rolled were three 289 scores. Elmore Brodhage of St. Louis, Robert Orth of Kenosha, Wis., and Allan Post of Las Vegas, Nev., rolled the 289 single games. The best team game was a 1,176 by the Pfeiffers.

Meanwhile, at Buffalo, the WIBC had its biggest excitement yet as Katie Gesaman of Canton, Ohio rolled a 266 game and 680 series for the highest scores since the event started while rolling in doubles. She and her partner took 3rd in the only major weekend change.

Al Andressi, a 22-year-old Rochester, N. Y. cab driver, moved into 4th place yesterday in Petersen Classic. His eight-game total was 1645. Chevy Chase Chevrolet of Washington held its lead in the National Duckpin tourney at Baltimore despite strong bids by Maryland entries.

Terry Grosslight of Michigan captured the all-events and singles championships in the weekend's annual Big Ten keg meet.

He hit 622 in singles and 1739 for nine games. Michigan State's Joe Zambrano and Dick Pricco won doubles with 1142. Minnesota took team honors with 2697 followed by Illinois with 2685.

Final standings:

Open team: Pfeiffer Beer, Detroit, 3,243; Old Fitzgerald, Chicago, 3,202; Budweiser Beer, St. Louis, 3,185; Hamm's Beer, Minneapolis, 3,162, and Pacific Pumps, Tulsa, Okla., 3,143.

Singles: Ed Lubanski, Detroit, 764; Fred Potter, Erie, Pa., 760; Bill Pace, St. Louis, 743; Don Schmidt, Lansdale, Pa., 736, and Jack Reuther, Wheeling, W.Va., 727.

Doubles: Gil Fischbach and Barney Vehige, St. Louis, 1,372; Anthony Malone and Ray Smith, Erie, Pa., 1,366; Duke Mc Grew and Roy Belcher, Los Angeles, 1,343; Glenn and Bob Gersch, Chicago, 1,314, and Grove Smith and Jim Todd, Los Angeles, 1,314.

All-events: Ed Lubanski, Detroit, 2,116; Fred Potter, Erie, Pa., 2,048; Fred Easterwood, Los Angeles, 1,993; Gene Vetrone, Newark, N.J., 1,961; and James Aiani, River Grove, Ill., 1,950.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

DIAGNOSIS: Wrong technique.

Treatment: The simple explosion shot will take you safely out of almost any sand trap situation. The technique is simple but effective.

1. Take a slightly open stance, meaning that the right foot is advanced about three inches ahead of the left.

2. Settle your feet down into the sand to insure firm footing.

3. Pick out a spot in the sand about two inches behind the ball. Your clubhead should enter the sand there on the downswing. Keep your eye on the spot.

4-25

4. Take a normal swing of about three-quarters maximum power. Hit on through and under the ball, taking a divot of sand about the size of your hand.

5. Keep the head in place, with the eye riveted on the spot you picked out for the clubhead to enter the sand. This is the basic sand shot.

City, Clarkston Keglers Win Tourney Honors

Phyllis Shaul and Gerald Weber are the 1959 Elks Mixed Doubles champions and 61-year-old Leo Roy is the Howe's Lanes Singles titlist after several weekends of heated competition in both tournaments.

The Shaul-Weber duo sat back and watched a 1322 rolled the previous week stand up as the Elks event concluded Saturday and Sunday.

Biggest threat was posed by M. and J. McCasey of Ferndale with 1309 for 3rd place. Shaul and Weber are from Pontiac, as is the runnerup team of Mary and Charles Oshust.

Lou Koprince, whose brother Jay was on the 4th place team, turned in the outstanding individual performance of the tourney Saturday but he and Millie Anderson failed to make the top 5 due to a slim handicap.

Big Lou rolled 707 for the only 700 of the season in tournament or league play at the Lodge 810 alleys.

One other Ferndale team finished on the board making 12th. Port Huron gained the 10th and 13th slots and Ann Arbor No. 14. All competed Saturday and Sunday.

The pins really took a beating in the two-day Howe's windup as Ortonville's Ray Ball had to be satisfied with 2nd after leading all the way with 942.

Roy, who has been bowling only two years, took the crown with a 960 handicap total.

Other last round standouts were Bill Horton of Milford and Gene Shell of Drayton Plains.

Horton fired the meet's high actual game of 258 and also took handicap honors with 297. George Cross hit a 257 actual in the windup. He is from Flint.

Horton finished 4th and Shell 6th. The latter's 830 was the best actual series of the annual Clarkston feature.

The Michigan State Men's and Moose State came up with new leaders. Coca Cola of Monroe now heads the Men's teams with 3292. Frank Weir and Leo Schnerstine of Ann Arbor hit 1423 to head the pack in Moose doubles.

Wall's 4-Putt Green Costly

Souchak Tops at Las Vegas

By The Associated Press

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Hefty Mike Souchak was probably the happiest guy in golf today, and he had about $22,000 to justify his delight.

Leading the delegation on to the Colonial Invitational at Fort Worth, Tex., the 30-year-old pride of Durham, N.C., by way of Grossinger, N.Y., was the new king of the seventh annual Tournament of Champions. The victory brought him a $10,000 purse — the biggest of his career—and he had about 12 grand more coming besides.

Not the least bit distressed, and richer by $5,000 himself, was sportsman Art Wall Jr., who made a gallant charge at the pace-setting Souchak and missed by only two strokes.

A horrendous experience on the 14th green at the Desert Inn Country Club yesterday cost slender Arthur any chance of winning.

Hope for Sellout at Indianapolis

Farb's hopes skyrocketed yesterday when 3,500 fans turned out to see the two fighters in a double header workout at the Fairgrounds Coliseum, where the bout will be staged.

Both boxers will return to heavy drills today then begin tapering off tomorrow.

The champion sparred three rounds yesterday and then London, who is training at Municipal Gardens, climbed into the same ring for three rounds with his sparring opponents.

London, former British heavyweight champion, is a 10-1 underdog in current betting.

Hunt Is On for Derby Choice

Tuesday Trials May Give Clue as to Favorite

Field of 18 to Race Tomorrow for Warmup to Saturday Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The hunt continues for a sure-fire favorite in Saturday's wide-open Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. But the Derby trial tomorrow with a probable field of 18 should provide some clues.

Eighteen trainers indicate they want one last look at their colts in the one-mile derby trial. How they do in the trial may determine whether they go to the post for the 85th running of the derby.

There are at least 21 sophomores still in the running for America's mile-and-a-quarter classic, pointing up the fact the derby is still anybody's race.

The trial will include some of the more respected three-year-olds in America. And should 18 start, the race probably would be broken up into two divisions—for the first time in its history.

★ ★ ★

First landing, the two-year-old champ, heads the probable starters in the trial. Also included are Dunce, second to Tomy Lee in the Blue Grass Stakes; Troilus, Flamingo Winner; Our Dad, third in the Wood Memorial but showing a powerful drive in the stretch, and Santa Anita Derby winner Finnegan. Monk's Hood and Royal Orbit, second and third in the Santa Anita Derby, also are contenders.

Sword Dancer, fresh from Saturday's stepping stone purse victory; Blue Grass champ Tomy Lee; Atoll and Quantrell probably will wait out the week without competition before going in the Derby.

On-And-On, seeking an unprecedented third straight Derby victory for Calumet, remains a very doubtful starter after finishing fourth in the stepping stone. Trainer Jimmy Jones said a back ailment may have recurred.

Makes History at Drake Relays

Jones Double Victor

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

By The Associated Press

Michigan's track and field stars brought home a sizable slice of the spoils from the weekend's Penn and Drake Relays.

Murchison beat the famed Bobby Morrow in the special 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds. Jones won both the high hurdles and university-college 120-yard dash, becoming the first man in the relays' 50-year history to win both.

At Penn, Michigan won the two-mile relay and Eeles Landstrom won the pole vault at 14-feet-7 while teammate Mamon Gibson was second at 14-4.

Michigan's Ergas Leeps was third in the AAU invitation half mile, the Wolverines were fifth in the college mile relay, and Pete Stanger of Michigan was fifth in the high hurdles.

Wind, which prevented records on straightaway events, kept Jones from making official marks. His time in the 100 was 9.5 while he ran the 120-yard hurdles in 13.7.

Despite two defeats for Morrow, Texas athletes dominated the Drake titles to become strong candidates for future NCAA, AAU, Pan-American and Olympic honors. They figured strongly in the re-writing of 13 meet records.

★ ★ ★

The University of Texas won three relay events, setting two records. East Texas State added a pair of new marks in the college division.

Included among the other marks were a 3:17.8 sprint medley by Illinois and Glenn Davis' 46.5 time in the Special AAU 440. The Illinois feat bettered the American standard.

Michigan's relay triumph prevented Penn State from becoming only the 3rd team in 65 years to win four of the eight Penn major events. Pitt in 1939 and the Wolverines in '45 turned the trick previously.

★ ★ ★

The Nittany Lions, who had not won a single crown since 1951, missed another good chance for a 4th big win when the starter, fell on the 1st turn in the sprint medley.

★ ★ ★

Abilene Christian was the only other team to take more than one event gaining honors in the quarter and half-mile races. Abilene was upset by Villanova in the mile.

Winston-Salem broke the NCAA record for the shuttle hurdles relay with a 57.5 clocking sparked by Elias Gilbert—a double winner in individual competition.

Cranbrook Held Hitless; Orion Top Local Entry at Marysville Relays

Pontiac Central dropped its 1st baseball game of the season while Cranbrook ran into a no-hit performance Saturday afternoon.

In track, Lake Orion paced three local entries by finishing 6th in the Marysville Relays. Ecore won with 66 1/5 points.

PCH won 4-2 and then bowed 9-7 in a doubleheader with Bay City at Wisner Field. Dave Jones hurled all the way in the opener and delivered a key single. Dave Tiltman was the nightcap loser in relief.

Central blew leads of 5-2 and 7-3 in the loss with Jones returning in a relief role to do well until he tired. The Chiefs are now 3-1 in Saginaw Valley play.

Mel Thomas fired the no-hitter at Cranbrook for Flint Central and also smashed a home run. Tom Demrick took the defeat, the Cranes' 2nd in five starts.

Orion had 20½ points at Marysville getting a big lift from pole vaulter Doug Gawne. He shared that title with champion Ecorse's Curt Smith at 11 feet, 3 inches. Brown City and Romeo had eight points apiece. Pat Emrich of Imlay City won the shot put with a heave of 48 feet, 6 inches.

The PCH linescores:

Bay City	010	001	0—2	5
Central	000	301	x—4	5

Piotrowski and Rebinack, Jones and Skelly.

Bay City	200	131	2—9	13
Central	302	200	0—7	8

Jones Acclaimed Best

DES MOINES (AP) — Hurdler-sprinter Hayes Jones, 20-year-old junior at Eastern Michigan, has won acclaim as the outstanding athlete of the 50th annual Drake Relays.

In a vote of newsmen who covered the 13-record blasting, biggest in the meet's history, Jones edged out senior Eddy Southern of Texas by one point in the balloting.

MSU 9 Gets Better of 'M'

Gophers, Illini Share Lead

By the Associated Press

The Gophers, aiming for their third title in four years, opened the season by trouncing Ohio State and then followed up with a double triumph over Indiana Saturday, 15-1 and 3-2.

Illinois knocked off Wisconsin in its opener and then measured Northwestern 6-2 and 5-4.

Every other team in the league was rapped with at least one defeat. Northwestern, Purdue and Iowa failed to crash the win column.

In the only three-game series of the weekend, Michigan State took two from Michigan. The Spartans beat their state rivals 3-2 Friday, took a 17-12 decision in Saturday's first game but dropped the nightcap 2-1.

Wisconsin took a pair from Purdue Saturday 13-8 and 11-5 and Ohio State dropped Iowa twice 9-8 and 7-2.

Nicklaus Beats Errors, Andrews for Golf Crown

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Youth, one of the principal advantages Jack Nicklaus held in his North and South amateur golf tournament finals match with Gene Andrews also worked to the disadvantage of the youngster from Columbus, Ohio. The inexperience of youth was responsible for numerous mistakes that almost cost Jack the title.

Jack rolled in a six-foot putt for a par four on the last green to gain the victory. The Ohioan was 3 up after winning the first hole in the afternoon. Then he lost four of the next five holes and had to come from behind.

State to Need New Revenue Next Year, Says Tax Expert

LANSING (AP) — Michigan must have substantial new tax revenue in the next fiscal year merely to maintain its present "standard of living," a legislative tax expert said today.

Otherwise, he said, the state debt likely will soar to 178 million dollars, or considerably more.

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the House Taxation Committee, made the appraisal after a series of conferences with government experts on the state's financial condition.

He also concluded that:

1. Because of obligations yet to be fulfilled, expanded spending in some fields can't be avoided.

2. A tax program can't be drawn up until the Legislature estimates state government expenses for the 1959-60 fiscal year starting July 1.

3. "Strong arm pressure groups" and "certain lobbyists" stand in the way of a tax prgoram "acceptable to the people and beneficial to the state as a whole."

Conlin estimated state spending this year will total about 379½ million dollars, about 86 millions above anticipated income. Coupled with a 21 million dollar deficit carried over from last year, the debt will rise to 107 millions by July 1 — about three millions less than estimates earlier this year.

SEE DEBT MOUNTING

By maintaining the current spending level, he said, debts would mount to more than 178 million next year, barring utilization of the 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund.

However, Conlin added, the legislature is committed to providing funds not included in the current budget. These include six million dollars in additional support for Wayne State University, a 10-million-dollar pay raise for state employes decreed by the State Civil Service Commission and 10 million dollars more for state school aid, assuming no change in the $190 per pupil formula, to take care of an expected 70,000 enrollment increase.

There are other possibilities, including a proposed boost in state contributions to welfare costs, a capital outlay program financed by the general fund and a $1,250,000 yearly appropriation to help support needy veterans if the trust fund is utilized.

Once the legislature sets a spending program, Conlin said, it can get to work on a tax program.

"There is no question in my mind but that there will be a long and bitter quarrel over taxes unless there is a general feeling that the problem must be approached calmly and with open minds," he said, but added:

"I have little hope that this will be the attitude in view of some of the activity already under way."

Conlin struck out at "certain lobbyists" who, he said, "misrepresented facts" in attacks on all income tax proposals.

Unfortunately, he said, the legislature can't be "insulated" against these and other pressure groups.

Boy Tells of Coaching in Club Baking Contest

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — A home economist judging a boys' club baking contest asked an 8-year-old how he prepared a recipe when he was too young to read most of it.

★ ★ ★

No Trace of Bradley

CHARLEVOIX (AP)—A Bradley Transportation Lines cruiser, equipped with electronic devices to examine lake bottoms, failed to find a trace of the sunken freighter Carl D. Bradley yesterday. The search was resumed after a 24-hour halt due to bad weather on upper Lake Michigan. An aerial search over north Fox Island also failed to turn up any new evidence.

ONE OF A SERIES

ANSWER:... JUST ABOUT A PENNY! In spite of greatly increased costs of production and moderate rate increases, you can still buy a big full-page newspaper ad, to run in every daily in the U. S., for about a penny a copy. And an advertiser can continue to plan future newspaper campaigns secure in the knowledge that any cost increase will be moderate and will not disrupt his budget. That's why so many use newspapers.

Kennedy Thinks Ike Will Sign

Doesn't See How He Can Decline as Labor Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said today he does not see how President Eisenhower could decline to approve the Senate-passed Labor regulation bill.

The bill, passed 90-1 by the Senate Saturday, went through that body without inclusion of several provisions the administration has insisted are needed for effective labor legislation.

Among these are provisions which would limit sharply organizational picketing, ban all secondary boycotts, and let state agencies handle labor cases in which the National Labor Relations Board refuses to take jurisdiction. There is no forum now for handling such cases.

Kennedy, author of the bill, resisted strong efforts in the nine days of Senate floor debate to write all three of these points into the bill. He contended that they either were unworkable or would harm legitimate union interests.

Kennedy said he was confident the measure would be recognized as a strong, effective measure to clean up many abuses in unions.

HEARINGS IN HOUSE

The Senate finally did accept a compromise section aimed at some organizational picketing, but in a much less drastic form than the administration asked.

The House has been holding hearings on similar legislation, but is not expected to act on it before June or July.

Traditionally, the House has been apt to write somewhat stronger labor legislation than the Senate. But this year, backers of the Kennedy bill in the House contend they have the votes to put it through in much the same shape as the Senate version.

How State Solons Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Senators Patrick McNamara and Philip Hart of Michigan voted together on the Kennedy labor regulation bill Saturday. Both voted "aye" in its 90-1 final approval by the Senate. Both voted "aye" on the substitute 'bill of rights' amendment which was passed 77-14. Both voted "nay" on the amendment to give states the right to ban strikes in public service industries; this was rejected 64-27.

Two Pontiac Markets Scene of Burglaries

Someone broke the front window of the Kennett Market at 50 E. Kennett Rd. and reached through the glass to take 10 bottles of wine from a window display, it was reported to Pontiac Police over the weekend.

But Mao Still Top Man

China Has New President

TOKYO (AP) — Liu Shao-chi, hatchet-faced theoretician of the Communist party, moved up today to the presidency of Red China. Peiping radio called him a "leader second only to Mao Tze-tung."

Chou En-Lai was re-named premier.

Mao relinquished the presidency to free himself for his more important duties as chairman of the Chinese Communist party. Choice of Liu, a 61-year-old Hunanese, strengthened his position as Mao's heir-apparent.

Peiping radio indicated, however, that Liu was not unopposed early this month when the party command chose him to be chairman—or president—of the government, which under Mao had been a largely ceremonial post. It said that he "had the support of a large segment of party members," suggesting the choice was not unanimous.

Mme. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of republican China, and veteran revolutionary Tung Pi-yu were named vice chairmen, succeeding Marshal Chu Teh who had held the job alone.

Chu, old crony of Mao and former warlord governor of Yunnan province, had been expected to succeed Mao in the presidency. Instead, the 72-year-old marshal got Liu's old job as chairman of the important Standing Committee of the National People's Congress, the Red Chinese parliament.

Though Mao gave up the presidency, he remains Red China's undisputed boss as chairman of the Communist Central Committee. He undoubtedly personally chose Liu for the presidency in an apparent effort to groom him for the leadership of the party, where Liu already holds the No. 2 position.

PRESIDENT LIU SHAO-CHI

The party leadership's choices were put before the People's Congress today. The nominations were unopposed, and the 1,157-member Congress went through the formality of voting.

Sixteen persons were nominated as vice chairmen of the Congress standing committee. They included the self-exiled Dalai Lama and the puppet Panchen Lama, his successor on the throne of Tibet. Despite the Dalai Lama's statements that he fled from Tibet voluntarily, the Red Chinese still hope to get him to come back and head a collaborating government.

Born of poor peasant parents, Liu first gained prominence as a labor organizer and underground worker. He is widely known as a Communist theorist and as an organizer. Though he has spent some time in the Soviet Union, he is not considered more pro-Soviet than other members of the Peiping hierarchy.

Berths at Toronto After Seaway Run

Dutch Ship Races In First

TORONTO (AP)—A Dutch freighter churned in to Toronto Harbor today and became the first ocean ship ever to berth here.

The Prins Willem George Frederik tied up at 4:44 a.m. EST, completing the 350-mile run from Montreal after being the first ocean ship to enter the newly opened St. Lawrence Seaway Saturday.

She sped from Montreal to Kingston, Ont., in just under 30 hours, slicing the old seaway times by as much as two days. After hustling through the 135 miles of canals, locks and channels, the Dutch freighter staged a bow-to-bow race with the Prins Johan Willem Friso for the honor of being the first ship in Toronto.

Both ships are owned by The Netherlands Oranje Line which had been waiting, working and planning for the seaway opening weekend for months.

The winning captain was Steve Aaldijk. Ships of six nations were in the race to Toronto.

The Grace Line's Santa Regina is the biggest ship to enter the seaway since it opened Saturday and the first of U. S. registry.

Her captain hoped to be the first to reach Chicago, but he may need plenty of home stretch fury.

FRISCO LEADS

Some 10 hours ahead is the Dutch Prins Johan Willem Friso, 2,338 tons and also Chicago-bound.

The Friso escaped most of the traffic snarls that bedeviled the 14th place American ship.

After passing through the Snell and Eisenhower locks near Massena, N. Y., the Santa Regina faced one more of the seaway's seven locks and the Welland Canal between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

Once in the clear on the Great Lakes, the Santa Regina hopes to overtake the smaller Friso.

The new 476-million-dollar waterway brings true the centuries-old dream of opening the great heartland of the continent to direct ocean trade with foreign ports.

The long gray line of freighters waiting at Montreal to enter the Seaway created such a jam that only slightly more than half of the 24 slated to start through the lock system on opening day made the grade. The Santa Regina and others back in the pack got started more than nine hours late and could make only 80 miles the first day.

OFFICERS COMPLAIN

But officers of the larger ships complained of inexperienced seaway pilots, lack of pilings and bumper guards in the lower locks and approaches and a tedious "do it yourself" system of moving ships along by ropes through the locks.

Many of the bigger ships and quite a few of the small ones lost some of their gala opening day paint trim in bumping against unprotected concrete walls.

State Court Backs Faubus School Plan

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The constitutionality of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' school closing law, regarded as his last major defense against integration of Little Rock public high schools, was upheld today by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

In a 4-3 decision, the court held the Faubus-sponsored legislation does not violate the federal Constitution. Rather, it held, the issue falls within a sphere which allows the court judical discretion in dealing with state police powers.

★ ★ ★

But the law still has a major legal hurdler. Its constitutionality will be put to the test before a three-judge federal court here a week from today.

Housing Still Sore Point

Michigan Bias Lessening

EAST LANSING (AP)—Racial discrimination in Michigan was described as lessening today by Dr. John A. Hannah, Michigan State University president.

But housing remains a major problem, said Hannah. The MSU educator made his observations after studying a preliminary report from the Michigan Civil Rights Committee.

The group, headed by former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, stems from President Eisenhower's Commission on Civil Rights which has probed into race prejudice on a state and national level. Hannah is chairman of the commission.

"Michigan is in pretty good shape," Hannah said. "The national study involves three areas — voting, education and housing. We have no voting problem here and only scattered trouble in education. Housing is Michigan's problem."

The committee's preliminary studerstanding, more tolerance and dy reportedly shows a better uncommon sense among citizens of Michigan. Minority groups are using more reasoning and less militancy, it contends.

Hannah said the Michigan group's study will continue through August before a final report is submitted to the President. Other preliminary findings included:

Disclosure that 50 Negro families who had moved into white neighborhoods in Kalamazoo were accepted slowly.

Availability of a large reserve of qualified Negro teachers who are unable to find employment. A committee member said 55 superintendents from school boards through the state gave flimsy excuses for not hiring Negro teachers.

Gov. Williams said he would ask for a copy of the report to boost legislative support of a Democratic bill to stiffen Michigan's Civil Rights laws.

"The report seems to confirm the position taken by the 18 states which gathered in Detroit on Jan. 30 for a conference on Civil Rights —that we in the North have a lot of work to do before we have this ugly problem licked," he said.

The measure, now in the House State Affairs Committee, would enlarge the powers of the Fair Employment Practices Commission to cover discrimination in housing, education and public accommodations as well as employment.

The prototype of Boeing's 707 —first U.S. jetliner to be in commercial service—was first test-flown July 15, 1954. Since then, it has accupulated more than 1,000 hours of flight time.

Road Deaths Highest of Year

17 Die Over Weekend, Making It Michigan's Worst of '59

By The Associated Press

Fourteen deaths the previous weekend had been Michigan's high for 1959.

The 17th death reported was that of Roger Bruchay Jr., 21, of Roseville. Bruchay was the driver of a car that crashed with another near Selfridge Air Force Base outside Mount Clemens Saturday. Three others died at the scene:

Suzan Brew, 20; Gary W. Seamans, 19; and Melvin Charbeneau Jr., 23, all of Mount Clemens.

A Detroit mother and her 21-month-old son were among eight dying in Sunday accidents. So were a Muskegon mother of five and a Royal Oak father of four.

Mrs. Katherine Estlund, 25, of Muskegon, a mother of five, was killed Sunday in the collision of her car and a girl friend's at an intersection in Muskegon Township.

A father of four, Cass Milo, 34, of Royal Oak, was killed when his car rammed the rear of one waiting for a traffic light in suburban Detroit.

David Huling, 54, of Utica, was killed Sunday in the Detroit suburb of Troy when another driver swerved to miss a dog and collided head-on with Huling.

Daniel Capitan, 18, of Detroit, was killed Sunday when struck from the rear as he pushed a stalled car. George M. Campbell, 44, of Detroit, was arrested on a charge of felonious driving.

Donald Gillespie, 18, of Detroit, died Sunday when a car he was riding in went off a road in Center Line, outside Detroit, and hit a tree.

Mrs. Virginia Brown, 41, of Saginaw, was killed Saturday when her car skidded on a curve and was struck broadside by an oncoming auto. The smashup occurred in St. Charles Township, about 20 miles southwest of Saginaw.

Mrs. Ida La Fleur of West Bloomfield Township, was struck and killed by a car Saturday at a Detroit intersection.

Mrs. Lena Phillips, 59, of Vicksburg, was killed when her car plunged into a ditch near Three Rivers.

William Ashley Strickland, 21, of Niles, was injured fatally Saturday when his car went off M40 and struck a tree near Dowagiac.

Mrs. Nellie Jefferson, 33, of Detroit, and her 21-month-old son (name unavailable) were killed Sunday when the car in which they were riding and another auto collided in Romulus Township.

George H. Allen, 60, of Detroit, was killed Sunday when his car and another collided about 8 miles south of West Branch in Ogemaw County.

Man Sleeps as Burglar Takes Money in Wallet

He discovered the theft upon waking up Saturday.

Norway has an area of 124,556 square miles. Its peninsula-like country extends to the Arctic Ocean.

STARRING TRIO — Gary Cooper, Maria Schell and Karl Malden star in "The Hanging Tree," the story of a runaway doctor from the East who settles in Montana and treats a blind girl living there. The technicolor movie is playing now through Thursday at the Blue Sky Drive In.

Hollywood Headlines

Emmy Bid Lands Role as Film Star for Phyllis

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — So pleased is MGM over Phyllis Kirk being the first actress to win an Emmy nomination for the studio (they've had hundreds of Oscar contenders) that Phyllis is being given the biggest movie role she's ever had.

She is the first star set by Pan Berman for "The Bixby Girls," story of a Texas family and the loves and heartaches of two beautiful daughters who cut capers in Dallas and Fort Worth in the 1920s.

Of course, Phyllis' Emmy nomination is for her work in "The Thin Man" TV series in the category of "best actress in a dramatic series." You might say this is Miss Kirk's big year — she's in love, you know, with the beatnik idol, Mort Sahl.

I have just heard that author James Michener, with whom I had several pleasant conversations in Honolulu, is arriving here to talk to Burl Ives about Michener's story, "Leetag, the Legend," to be filmed in Tahiti.

Burl's attorney Edward Schofield, and Leroy Prinz will coproduce the movie for Burl's own Morea Productions.

He won an Academy Award as best supporting actor in "The Big Country," but Burl gets the full star treatment in "Leetag," which will be made as soon as he finishes "Our Man In Havana."

NINA FOCH BACK

When love flew out the window for Nina Foch she flew back to movieland and is now back in business. After getting her divorce from James Lipton she decided that her place is in Hollywood, and apparently Hollywood agrees with her, for she's just been signed for a top part with Natalie Wood and James ("Maverick") Garner in "Cash McCall" at Warners.

She will wear stunning clothes in "Cash" and has an ardent romance with him.

Previous to that she completed a role in "Spartacus" with Kirk Douglas. She's a good actress and we all welcome her back.

A close friend of Francisco "Baby" Pignatari, Jorge Guinle, told me you could have knocked him over with a feather when someone telephoned him from Rio to say that "Baby" is marrying Ana Marie de Carvalho, 18-year-old beauty from Bahia, early next month.

Shirley MacLaine, who was so excited over her trip to Europe and the Cannes Film Festival, has canceled. Work will keep her home.

Vic Damone has included some swing numbers in his program at the Flamingo. Heretofore he sang only ballads. The many people in Las Vegas for the Golf Tournament gave him a big welcome.

Buddy Bregman, who went to Palm Springs over the weekend with the Milton Sperlings and the Dean Martins, has been working hard on a pilot film for a new Buddy Bergman TV show, "Music Box."

Two blonde bears, scrounging for food in the garbage near a Rainy Lake, Ontario, resort, have a strange appetite. They will eat only potato peelings which have been doused with gasoline preparatory to burning.

Theft Drags On

They stole his service station credit card. So far he's received bills totaling $475. They took $500 in cash from him at the time of the robbery.

The late W. C. Handy, composer of "The St. Louis Blues," said that a real blues song has 12 bars — the "C" seventh after the first four bars, and the "F" chord to follow. Swing steps up the 12 bars of the blues to 24 or 32 bars.

U.S. Inflation Turns Them Away

Swiss Bankers Investing in Europe

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — In the fabulous world of high finance Swiss bankers today have an almost legendary aura akin to that of the Rothschilds in the Napoleonic area and the Medica in the post-Renaissance centuries.

Their activities in the U.S. stock markets are watched as closely as the Swiss bank secrecy law permits.

But today, Swiss bankers say, they are turning their attention from New York to the buying of European corporate shares. And Americans here also see a flow of U.S. private investment money into Europe, a flow they think will pick up speed.

Part of this is because prices of top U.S. stocks have soared so high. But the Swiss fear further inflation caused by the U.S. Treasury deficit and the continuing rise in wage scales (even during the recession). In this case, Swiss bankers say they'll buy U.S. stocks again as a hedge against the possible further weakening of the purchasing power of the dollar.

But as of now they think European stocks the better buy. They hold that a short time back these shares were underpriced and a bargain.

Two years ago they began buying West German stocks, liking the great industrial strides there and the marked financial stability.

A few months ago they began buying French and Italian shares. Both nations have been putting their finances in order. Both have been making notable industrial progress. And the De Gaulle regime has inspired confidence in French government stability.

★ ★ ★

A leading Swiss banker estimates that the French people have around one billion dollars worth of deposits in Swiss banks, invested in many forms. Much of this is now going into French stocks. And some of the French holdings here are now flowing back to France because of the French investors growing faith in his own government.

Along with the Swiss banks, Swiss investment companies (like our mutual funds) are getting a play here of late. They set up funds to buy shares in particular countries.

The Swiss have been international bankers for a long time. But it was in the 20's they got their big push. In the politically and financially turbulent days after World War I, investors regarded Switzerland as one of the few safe places for money.

The worldwide recession of the 30's and the trends toward fascism or socialism strengthened this feeling. Traditional Swiss neutrality made the land a haven for fugitive money during World War II.

★ ★ ★

The great inflationary surge after the war that undermined many currencies, and the shaky governments of some countries, sent still more money into Switzerland, where the currency was strong and stable. Switzerland became a world center for the exchange of currencies, and still is.

For a time it was rivalled only by the big U.S. banking system. Now the English financial market is coming back strong.

Another reason for banking and investment here is the law that gives depositors anonymity. For many Europeans this is a convenient and tempting cloak to hide them from their own tax collectors, either for income or inheritance levies. Tax evasion is a science in some nearby countries.

The Swiss say they see no reason for giving up a good thing and don't intend to change their banking laws or investment ways despite American frowns.

Your Own Castle, Free! Providing, of Course . . .

KRONACH, Germany (UPI) — Want an 800-year-old German castle? The people of Kronach have one waiting for you—providing you will spend $71,000 to rebuild it and $6,000 a year to keep it up.

Rosenberg Castle, on a hill overlooking this small Franconian town, is slowly falling apart. The town council complains that it doesn't have enough money to repair it.

They are willing to give the moldering building to anyone who will give it the treatment due a national monument.

Smoke-Filled Room Outlawed Years Ago

Town records reveal this resolution passed on Dec. 6, 1830:

"That the selectmen (town councilmen) procure as much stove pipe and put up same in the conference room as they may think necessary to prevent smoke in the room."

The oldest part of New York City's Manhattan Island, where the Dutch first settled, now has a value of $15 million an acre. Roughly, that is the neighborhood where Wall Street and shipping circles are located.

Warn Castro of Assassins

Goes to Houston Today on Final U.S. Stop; Then to Argentina

From Our News Wires

MONTREAL — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro left by plane today only a few minutes after police received a message from authorities in New York saying that two men were on their way here to assassinate him.

He flies to Argentina, completing a North American tour during which police said he took almost minute-to-minute chances on being assassinated.

The bearded Cuban revolutionary leader left Dorval Airport for Houston, Tex., where he plans to spend a maximum of two hours there before flying on to Buenos Aires to attend an economic conference before returning to Havana.

Texans threw out plans for a barbecue for the visiting Cuban prime minister and instead lined up 150 bluechipped citizens to shake hands with him at a luncheon.

A federal man with a double-barrelled shotgun rode herd over more than 100 armed police and sheriff's officers who fanned out over the Houston International Airport as a security measure.

There was not enough time to hold the planned barbecue, welcoming committee officials said.

Castro arrived three hours late in Montreal yesterday afternoon and, mainly because he insisted on shaking hands with hundreds of Montrealers who made him feel "as if I'm in Havana," kept running late.

The Cuban leader was assigned guards by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, a force which he said he hopes to copy in Cuba, and other police units, but he moved away from his guards whenever he got the chance and at one point downtown asked Montreal Mayor Sarto Fournier to call them off.

"He could have been killed three dozen times the way he ignored us," one high police officer said of the 32-year-old, fatigue-uniformed Cuban leader.

Castro apparently was as impressed by Montreal as Montrealers, who shouted "Viva Castro" and "Hurray, Fidel" seemed to be impressed by him. "There's a Latin atmosphere here that I missed in the United States," he told newsmen.

They Finally Met

SLOUGH, England (UPI) — Esther Nicholls and John Sharland went to the same school in Malaya. As teenagers they lived in the same city in Australia. Both moved back to England with their families and settled in Oxford. They met for the first time after their families moved to separate villages, both near here. John, now 24, and Esther, 23, will be married tomorrow.

X-Ray Therapy for Dulles Ends

Former Secretary Now Given Drugs to Relieve Pain of Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — X-ray treatments have not eased the cancer pain of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and have been stopped. There is no significant improvement as yet, the State Department reported today.

Press officer Lincoln White said he was not aware of any further treatments planned for Dulles, who has been under treatment at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The former secretary started receiving X-ray treatments on the lower part of his neck at the hospital April 14. Doctors attributed pain Dulles was having to a possible malignant tumor in the lower cervical vertebrae.

White said in a bulletin announcing an end to the X-rays as of last Friday after nine treatmnts that Dulles is receiving appropriate analgesics — painkillers.

The State Department spokesman said Dulles will continue to stay at Walter Reed, where he has been most of the time since a hernia operation in February disclosed a recurrence of Dulles' 1956 abdominal cancer.

When Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker of 3065 Old Orchard Dr. arose this morning, they discovered that a kitchen door window had been smashed during the night and a chain lock unhooked.

Five Convicts Flee From Alabama Jail

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A search with bloodhounds was on today for five convicts who sawed their way out of Kilby Prison Sunday night.

The escapees were described as dangerous, but were not believed to be armed.

★ ★ ★

Dep. Prison Director Frank Lee said the convicts broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard M. Lloyd near the prison, and searched without success for a weapon. They seized the Lloyd's automobile, but it was found abandoned eight blocks away.

★ ★ ★

Lee identified the escapees as: Lewis Marston, 30, serving 10 years for robbery; Earl Phillips, 36, serving 36 years on two robbery convictions; Charles Sweeney, 26, serving 20 years for robbery; James Moore, 29, serving life for robbery; and Walter Tatum, 35, serving 20 years for grand larceny.

Grain Futures Continue to Slip

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market resumed its general downward trend in early transactions today on the Board of Trade with new crop wheat and soybeans slipping around a cent a bushel during the first few minutes. Other grains shifted mainly within small fractions.

May wheat attracted scattered demand which some brokers described as apparently reinstatement of long positions, mostly by speculators who have been in and out of the market frequently during the past week trying to establish themselves and the bottom of the decline.

The government report Friday on stocks of grains in all positions was variously described as lightly bearish, slightly bullish and of no significance.

Prices had firmed up somewhat in spots near the end of the first hour wheat was 1⅛ cents a bushel higher to ⅞ lower, May $1.99; corn ⅜ to ⅞ higher, May $1.25¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, May 65⅜; rye ¼ to ½ lower, May $1.37; soybeans ½ higher to ⅜ lower, May $2.29¼.

Police said the Bradbury boy fell into the river about a mile above the American Falls. He had been playing on the rocks with his brother, Albert, 6, and Michael Fournier.

Goodyear Workers Okay New Contract

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A majority of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. workers voted over the weekend to ratify their newly negotiated two-year pension and insurance agreement.

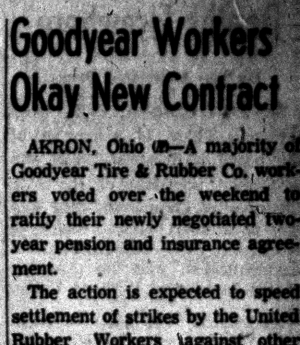

The action is expected to speed settlement of strikes by the United Rubber Workers against other members of the industry's Big Four. The walkouts, affecting 58,000 production workers in plants scattered in 31 cities in 16 states, began April 10 at U.S. Rubber and April 16 at Goodrich and Firestone.

The 11,500-member URW Local 2 here ratified the Goodyear contract by a virtually unanimous voice vote at a meeting yesterday, union spokesmen said. On Saturday the 1,700 Los Angeles local members voted approval. And a vote to accept has been reported at the New Bedford, Mass. and St. Mary's, Ohio, plants.

Yankus' Decision Due Soon on Australia Move

DOWAGIAC (UPI) — Dowagiac poultry farmer Stanley Yankus today said he would make a decision in the next few days on whether to move to Australia.

He said his decision would be based on what he believes to be the future course of the U.S. against the future of Australia in regard to social trends.

Yankus returned here yesterday from the land down-under to the 100-acre farm which he recently sold in protest against government controls on the amount of wheat he could grow to feed his chickens. Yankus spent 10 days looking over Australia and assessing the migration possibilities.

The wheat rebel said he wouldn't make his decision for a few days. But he said if the decision was to leave the U.S., his wife and family would make the trip with him.

His wife, Mildred, last week described as "silly" rumors that she would not accompany her husband if he decided to leave the country. She said, "of course I will go with Stan."

Commenting on his inspection of Australia, Yankus said he liked the country. He said he particularly watched for the attitude of the people concerning government "handouts."

He said he wanted to determine whether, when something went wrong, the Australian people tried to right it themselves or whether they sought aid from the government. Yankus said he hadn't yet evaluated his observations on the matter, and he did not elaborate on what he observed.

Yankus said he expected a visit within the next few days from another wheat rebel, John Donaldson, of New London, Ohio.

Donaldson's protest was similar, a protest against government quotas and fines he received for exceeding the quotas, but the Ohio farmer's plans called for moving to Canada.

Yankus said when Donaldson came here they would discuss the relative merits of both Canada and Australia.

JUST HOW HOT? — All in the interest of science, researcher Jack McCafferty, left, of Philadelphia, took out a portable potentiometer and made spot checks to determine temperatures in steam baths, a redhead's lips, a cucumber, a cold shoulder, and the like. He found the steam bath, as at left, went up to 130 degrees, while the pretty redhead, Peggy Nolan, could push the temperature only to 92 degrees.

Cesium Metal Very Precious

Only Scientists Know It Now; May Be Used for Moon Rockets

WASHINGTON — A metal more precious than gold may some day help send rockets to Mars.

Cesium could be used in the ion rocket engines now under study. In the new type of engine, a nuclear-powered turbine generates an electric current.

The current creates a magnetic field which accelerates ions — charged atomic particles — of such elements as cesium to speeds reaching 400,000 miles per hour. The ions are spewed out of the engine, and the reaction gives the engine a forward thrust. Cesium is high on the list of possible propellents because it is easy to ionize.

Hence, a Mars-bound vehicle would have to be hoisted into space by a regular chemical rocket engine. Once free of the earth's gravitational pull, the ion engine would take over for the rest of the 40-million-mile voyage through space, where little thrust is needed.

Cesium was unknown less than a century ago, the National Geographic Society says. Its discovery was made possible by the spectroscope—an instrument that reveals the component wavelengths in a beam of light.

Using spectroscopes, scientists found that each element such as oxygen, hyrodgen, and so on, has a distinctive spectrum.

In 1860 German chemist Robert Bunsen, familiar to high school chemistry students as the inventor of the Bunsen burner, and a colleague, G. R. Kirchhoff, were studying the spectra of certain minerals when they found evidence of some unknown element or elements. They almost immediately succeeded in isolating cesium and its sister element, rubidium.

Mother Wears Tights So Nicely These Nights

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Betty Grable looks even younger, shapelier and lovelier than most of the chorus dolls and when I mentioned this to her backstage, she said, "Oh, stop!"

★ ★ ★

Harry James, finishing an engagement in El Paso, returned to their home in Hollywood—to find Mother still working on Broadway. "Usually I come home to find you there," he said. He takes off again for Las Vegas—they're a working couple.

WILSON

While here, Betty saw—on TV—her movie, "Mother Wore Tights," for the first time. She was expecting a baby when she made the film and having the baby when the picture was released. The baby was Jessica, now going on 12, and Mother probably looks better in tights now than she did in 1947. In any case, Mother Wears Tights very nicely these nights.

★ ★ ★

John Daly isn't resigning as ABC news chief despite a report he's to retain his vice presidency and do special shows but surrender the news job to Tom Valotta of Hollywood. Daly has a contract; his position is, "Have Contract, Won't Travel."

★ ★ ★

Rod Steiger and Claire Bloom (his leading lady on stage and off) are around with Claire's mother who came from England to see her daughter star in "Rashomon." Backstage kidders refer to the visitor as "Rod's mother-in-law." That's slightly premature because Rod's not divorced.

Bill Holden's doctor found a fascinating new cocktail for him: Two tablespoons of vinegar in a glass of water. As a result of the illness he picked up in Africa.

I asked Sophia Loren whether Clark Gable isn't too old to play her leading man in "Bay of Naples" which they'll shoot during the summer. Sophia replied, "No, because I am a woman of all ages" . . . Ingrid Bergman's husband, Lars Schmidt, wants to produce "Raisin in the Sun" in Paris. He says it would be a smash hit—if he can find a good Negro cast that speaks fluent French.

BETTY

Peggy Cass feels bad about Wendy Hiller getting rapped for her comments about winning the Oscar. "I don't think she's a heavy—I think she meant well," says Peggy, one of her competitors. "I think she said it tongue-in-cheek. After all, when you win something like that you don't say, 'I deserve it'."

Peggy tells me that on a recent American Jet flight, a passenger got around the liquor limit fixed by the airline by stealing the stewardess' supply of miniature bottles when she wasn't looking. "I wonder how that poor girl made out her inventory," Peggy groaned.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Joe E. Lewis said it once. "To me a guy's still sober if he can reach his glass without help." . . . That's earl, brother.

Twister for Engineers: Huge 8-Story Gate

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —How do you keep a gate as tall as an eight-story building from twisting while it's in operation?

The question has been answered by a Michigan State University professor of civil engineering, Dr. Carl L. Shermer. The gates in question will be used on the Robinson Bay and Grass River locks — two of the largest on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Sergeant Lost 24 Hours

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP)—"I thought I could make it back to the road by myself but I missed the track and got lost."

The words were those of S. Sgt. Raymond Alley, found in Virginia's Dismal Swamp after being lost 24 hours on a deer hunt. He is one among many who have found the swamp baffling and required rescue.

Security for You

Food Choice Vital for Aged

By RAY HENRY

Dear Mr. Henry:

My mother who recently reached 70 has just come to live with me. Her health and spirits are fine. But, I can't get her to eat much. I don't understand this since she used to be a big eater. Have you got any suggestions as to how I can get her to eat more?

How do you know she ought to eat more? Have you had a doctor give her a physical? Perhaps, because you're used to seeing your mother with a big appetite, you're trying to push her into eating more than she wants or needs.

Keep this in mind: As we grow older, the kinds of food we need don't change. At 7 or 70, the elements needed to keep our body in good working order and to maintain vitality are about the same. But, the quantity of food we need does decrease.

So, before you go any farther, you should have your doctor give your mother a thorough physical exam.

Because older people are usually less active and need less food, the selection of food is much more important than when they were young.

A poor selection of food frequently causes a lack or protein, minerals and vitamins in the diet of people beyond 60.

If your mother has drastically cut down on these foods, you should mention it to your doctor. These foods shuld be eaten by old people in about the same quantity as they were eaten when they were younger.

CUT DOWN ON FATS

To get your mother to eat more protein, minerals and vitamins, you can probably cut down on the amount of fat in her foods.

You can largely eliminate fried foods from your mother's diet. Nutrition experts figure that an older person needs only about half the fat usually needed by a younger person.

To help you plan food for your mother, perhaps, you'll want to get the Department of Agriculture's "Food Guide for Older People." You can buy it for 10 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

Godfrey Waits for Operation

Becoming an Invalid Is His 'Only Fear' as He Lands in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Television star Arthur Godfrey prepared to enter a hospital today for an operation for a chest tumor.

"My only fear is of being an invalid," he said Sunday night. "I'd hate to think of not being able to go for a swim or ever fly an airplane again."

Godfrey, 55, flew his private plane from his farm in Virginia. He was genial and smiling as he stepped out of the twin-engine plane at Teterboro, N.J. airport. He was in shirt-sleeves, smoking a cigar.

★ ★ ★

"I feel wonderful, dammit. That's what's the trouble," he told reporters. He said the tumor, on the side of a lung about an inch from his left collarbone, gave him no pain for the past week.

He had pain from it a month ago, however, he said. It felt as if he had "swallowed a piece of steak that hadn't been chewed."

"When you get to the so-called moment of truth as often as I have," he said, "you get kind of used to it. Don't you know, every time a pilot takes off, he's close to it."

Godfrey said "it's wonderful, just wonderful" that Sam Levenson and Robert Q. Lewis are taking over as his television and radio replacements. He said there was no basis for rumors that he was considering any shakeup of program personnel.

Old Yule Trees Help to Nature

Town in New Mexico Dumps 'Em in Spots to Halt Soil Erosion

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — Experts have written that one of this nation's greatest threats is the loss of priceless soil to erosion.

A little band of Los Alamos people, enlisting the aid of the honorably discharged Christmas tree, have been doing their bit for several years now in an effort to fight erosion here. They would like to see the idea catch on at a statewide level and more.

Instead of casting the Christmas tree into bonfires or the incinerator or the neighbor's back yard, people in Los Alamos save theirs for the members of the Izaac Walton League and the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts.

Dave Shaffer, a leader in the Izaac Walton League, estimates that the Christmas tree plan has resulted in the conserving of several hundred tons of soil in the last three years.

★ ★ ★

As people of Los Alamos have become acquainted with the plan, cooperation has increased to the point where they practically demand that their trees be collected, Shaffer said, and the task of collecting has become much easier and requires less time.

The collecting plan begins at the Cub Scout pack level, with members of the dens and packs collecting the trees placed in the yards of their particular neighborhoods.

They are taken to a central location, from where the Izaac Walton League members and Boy Scouts truck them to arroyos in the Los Alamos or Bandelier Monument areas.

The trees are dumped into arroyos with their trunk ends facing upstream. They are packed down thoroughly, thus providing a trap for drifting silt and pebbles and sticks.

Shaffer says that one big arroyo about five or six feet deep and a mile long has become overgrown with grass and weeds since the plan was begun three years ago, silting has practically ceased, and the arroyo his filled up to the stage where in another year or so it will be about leveled over.

"We are real proud of what we have done, and there is no doubt about the program's benefits," he said.

Wept for Plaintiff but Ruled for Defense

NIAGARA FALS, N.Y. (UPI) —Court observers were sure they knew how a $200,000 negligence suit against the New York Central Railroad would turn out when one juror broke down and cried during the testimony.

'Meet Me in St. Louis' Held by Vanilla Icing

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Like the contemporary gift shop, "Meet Me in St. Louis" — presented as a two hour special last night on CBS-TV — is a tasseled container for the cute, the cuddly, the cunning.

It stocks on its shelves: A grandpa who wears a beret, a little sister who catacombs her life with dead dolls, a father who trips on roller skates, a mother with the patience of Albert Schweitzer, two souffle romances, lollipop picnics and parties and a young beau who looks like Tab Hunter and behold! — turns out, in fact, to be Tab Hunter.

"Meet Me in St. Louis" is, of course, an urban pastorale—an idyllic treatment of city rustics—and last night director George Schaefer wisely decided to play it that way.

Over two hours, it was a terribly tough vehicle to keep charged because it packed no real conflicts, no tensions — it was merely a flow of incidents held together by vanilla icing — but I would say Schaefer succeeded fairly well in pushing its simpering charm along.

He was helped a good deal by some amiable Hugh Martin-Ralph Blane tunes — "The Trolley Song," "Skip to My Lou" and "The Boy Next Door."

Gene Kelly's one hour special for CBS-TV Friday night was a disappointingly standard exercise: uninventive in its blueprinting, unambitious in its execution, tainted with self-conscious affability.

Short Shots: "Professor Tim," an Abbey Theater movie offered by NBC-TV's Omnibus, was a thin porridge — a hackneyed plot, stock characters and directed far too stagily . . . Jean Shepperd's Chicago White Sox routine on the NBC-TV Steve Allen show was the comedy highlight of the weekend . . . Poor Dody Goodman has certainly had her troubles the past couple of seasons—last night the CBS-TV Ed Sullivan show went off the air right in the middle of her routine.

The Channel Swim: ABC-TV will ax its daytime quiz, Play Your Hunch, and replace it on May 11 with a five-a-week version of Mike Stokey's Pantomime Quiz — the new version of the charade game will mix celebrity guests with contestants from the studio audience.

Wildcatter Drills for Steam Heat

Would Harness Power Trapped in 'Hot' Earth in California

HEALDSBURG, Calif (UPI) — Dan McMillan is a new breed of wildcatter who doesn't drill for oil. He drills for steam.

This friendly, broad-shouldered mining engineer is boss of the first attempt in the U.S. to harness the fantastic heat and power trapped within the earth for producing electricity out of natural steam.

"Power makes the wheels go 'round and this could be the greatest economic thing that ever hit California," he said.

McMillan, who played tackle on the famed University of California "wonder team" of 1920-21, is president of Thermal Power Co. Thermal and Magma Power Co. are joint leaseholders of 3,200 acres of "hot lands" in the Big Geysers area of Sonoma County 85 miles north of San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

They recently signed a contract with the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. to provide the steam to operate a 12,500-kilowatt generating plant which PG&E will build there. The plant will use 348-degree fahrenheit steam at the rate of 265,000 pounds per hour from wells drilled by Thermal-Magma.

★ ★ ★

In addition to being the first such plant in this country, it will be the world's first all-privately financed geothermal plant. Italy has a government-subsidized plant and the New Zealand and Mexican governments are developing two others.

Site of the U.S. project is a grassy valley that gives off a rotten egg odor, towering columns of white steam and a dull roar that can be heard two miles away.

Nearby are hot and cold mineral springs and steam pools in a resort area popular with rheumatism sufferers. Visitors to the Big Geysers country have included Ulysses S. Grant, Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft, Jennie Lind and P. T. Barnum.

★ ★ ★

As the earth cools, it contracts, causing fractures or faults in the crust. Magmatic steam filtering through these cracks toward the earth's surface meets surface waters percolating downward, producing yet more steam.

McMillan sees a bright future for electricity produced from geothermal steam, largely because it's the cheapest power you can produce today."

TV Union Cuts Off Taped 'Today' Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Union technicians put the National Broadcasting Co. television show "Today" off the air this morning in what NBC termed a jurisdictional dispute over television tape.

A company spokesman said the National Assn. of Broadcast Employes and Technicians had refused to put the two-hour program on the air because it had been taped abroad by a nonunion concern.

"They have also refused to put on a standby film and to attempt to put the show on live with certain elements available here in New York," the spokesman said.

The program, taped in Paris last week, included an interview with Brigitte Bardot, French film actress. Master of ceremonies for the program is Dave Garroway.

'Muster' Time in the Outback

★ ★ ★

Otherwise life in Australia's Outback matches that of the American plains, mile for mile. The big difference is that wide open spaces in Australia tend to be a lot wider. Ranching families often live a hundred miles or so from the nearest neighbor. Children go to school by radio and correspondence course. The doctor comes by plane.

★ ★ ★

The Outback is a vast, casually defined crescent of grazing lands surrounding the interior desert where nothing grows, the National Geographic Society says. The pastorage zones take up perhaps half the area of Australia, which itself is about the size of the United States. To the east are the Great Dividing Range and the fertile coastal rim.

★ ★ ★

The sheep and cattle county is overwhelmingly empty, rolling trackless to the horizon. But there is haunting, sometimes brilliant color: fringes of gray-green eucalypts, the most common tree; red mountains that rise sheer out of the plains; and seas of brown and yellow brush.

★ ★ ★

"Stations," which correspond to American ranches, may be measured in hundreds of square miles. In more remote areas, residents may not see a stranger for weeks on end. Contrary to the popular impression of Australia as a bustling frontier country, more than half of its 10 million people live in coastal cities and work in industry.

Temper! Temper!

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Okla. (AP)—While in the field checking his cattle, J. A. Armitage was kicked by a cow. He grabbed a stick and whacked it across the animal's side. The stick broke and left a splinter in his hand, requiring a trip to the doctor.

Since the end of World War II the number of factories in Australia has increased from 31,000 to 52,506, with a gain of 35 per cent in factory employment.

Don't Know Their Furs
