The Coming of the King

XII--Back Home to Galilee

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Joseph and Mary made a home for their baby as best they could. They were refugees in a strange land, homesick for the land of Israel and their own village. But the baby was healthy and happy and they agreed they could ask no more.

And, back in Jerusalem, Herod's terrible crimes went on. He grew, more blood-thirsty and killed his own son. At last, he became totally insane and died soon afterwards.

Just as Herod died, Joseph, over in Egypt, had another dream. An angel again appeared to him and said: "Arise and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the young child's life."

So, once again, Joseph and Mary prepared for a journey. They loaded their faithful donkey; Mary mounted and took Jesus in her arms; and Joseph walked ahead leading the donkey.

Back along the path of Moses they went into the land of Israel on their way to Bethlehem. But, on the way, they met someone who told them that Herod's son was now the king in Jerusalem. And, warned again in a dream, Joseph took another road into Galilee and back to their own village of Nazareth.

Their house was still there and there was need of a good carpenter. It was easy to fall into their old ways again. But now Jesus was one of the happy children who watched the carpenter at work. He learned to trust in God, honor Joseph and Mary, love His playmates and neighbors and follow the Commandments. He probably wanted to be a carpenter.

But the shepherds and the wise men from the East and even wicked Herod had known that he was born to be a king. And we know it today. That is why the story of his birth and childhood is the story of the coming of the King.

Tangled Case Drags on

Gilliland, Facing Prison, Remains Free on Appeals

The tangled legal history of Lapeer County farmers' evictions marked another milestone today in its 20-year history, with no indication when the end will come.

Two years ago today, Clayton C. Gilliland was convicted of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

MRS. SUSAN KECK

Reportedly Oakland County's second oldest living resident, Mrs. Susan F. Keck of Lake Orion will celebrate her 104th birthday Monday.

Now living in a convalescent home north of Pontiac, Mrs. Keck came from Missouri eight years ago to stay with a daughter in Lake Orion.

The old lady, who remains in a wheel chair most of the time, is just as healthy as ever, authorities in the home said.

Monday she will enjoy a big birthday cake, as well as a Christmas tree, they added.

Michigan's Pay to Jobless Highest in U. S.—$33.70

LANSING (AP)—Michigan paid an average $33.70 weekly benefit to its unemployed this year, the highest in the nation, the Michigan Employers Unemployment Compensation Bureau reported today.

MONTREAL (AP)—The two ailing members of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets have left the hospital for their home in Callanburg, Ont.

Twelve jurors debated more than six hours and cast 23 ballots before acquitting three farmers and finding Gilliland guilty.

In another development in the long battle, a Detroit Federal District Court has dismissed a $250,000 damage suit brought by relatives seeking damages in the eviction and death of Lapeer County farm widow Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens.

The failure of the fire insurance mutual in 1935, the courts have heard literally dozens of cases on the matter.

But all the action has not been of the peaceful variety seen in the court room. Violence has called the attention of the state and nation to the small farming community on more than one occasion.

Back roads have seethed with the dust of angry farmers, nervous tenants, grim deputies, hurrying newsmen, and state police by the squad car full during the series of evictions and near riots that have occurred.

Traffic Accidents Claim Lives of 4 in County Areas

Ferndale Resident Dies as Car Strikes Truck in Waterford Township

Four persons died in Oakland County holiday traffic yesterday.

Dead are Kenneth Heide, 39, of Romeo; Bruce A. Newman, 27, of Ferndale; Arthur Richards, 83, of Royal Oak; and Louisiana Johnson, 45, of Detroit.

Heide's demolished car was found a quarter of a mile from his home on McFadden and Reed roads this morning. Romeo State Police said the accident happened some time during the night when Heide apparently hit a tree.

Newman's car, crossing into the wrong lane as it topped Waterford Hill, ripped two wheels off a slow-moving semi-trailer coming up the hill.

Newman, a dental student, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Calvin D. Tottingham, 27, driver of the truck, told Sheriff's deputies Newman's car had hit his truck in the left side, tearing off the rear wheels of the tractor.

Richards, a pedestrian, was killed in Royal Oak early yesterday afternoon when a train at a grade crossing on Center Street struck a car driven by Edward R. Hansen, 70, of Huntington Woods. Hansen's car ricocheted off three more cars, finally hitting Richards.

Mrs. Johnson died as she was trying to cross Woodward Avenue at Webster Street in Royal Oak. Murry E. Stewart, 44, of Birmingham, told police he didn't see her until the impact.

'Twas the Night Before Christmas...

So Sorry, Folks No Snow Here for Christmas

A drizzly Christmas is predicted by the weather bureau, with occasional rain and slightly colder temperatures falling from today's high of 44-49 degrees.

Rain may turn to snow Monday night, melting Tuesday with rising temperatures but returning Tuesday night or Wednesday.

Lowest Pontiac temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 35 degrees. At 1 p.m., it was 48 degrees.

She Really Celebrates

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Ethel Hammett, an employee in the state supreme court clerk's office, has four reasons to celebrate tomorrow. Not only is it Christmas, but it's her birthday, her mother's birthday, and her parent's wedding anniversary.

Press to Mark Holidays

No Paper Next 2 Mondays

Following its annual custom, The Pontiac Press will omit publication Christmas. Since Monday is universally observed as the holiday, The Press will not appear that day.

Nor will The Press print a week hence. Jan. 2 will generally be observed as the holiday, and this will be the first New Year's in the memory of the oldest inhabitant that The Press has not appeared.

White paper shortage is the reason.

The St. Lawrence mill has just notified all its customers that shipments for 1956 will be reduced 13 per cent over 1955. In common with all other newspapers in the country, the Press will use more newsprint in 1956 than its sources of supply were able to provide.

That means that, like our compatriots, we borrowed from inventory. All hopes of replenishing this in 1956 have now been dashed.

Hence we will miss Monday purely as a precautionary measure. Some newspapers have already started omitting Saturday editions. The Press hopes this will not be necessary in Pontiac.

AND ALL THROUGH THE HOUSE — A lighted window reveals a family scene which will be enacted in thousands of Pontiac area homes tonight as members of the households prepare to wait for Santa Claus' annual visit. Above, the James Porritt family, of 127 Mark St., gathers around a book to read and listen to "The Night Before Christmas," best-loved of all Yuletide poems. Seated on the couch are Mrs. Porritt, with son Dannie, 2, Mr. Porritt, and Melinda, 6. Standing intently in back are James, 7, and Barbara Jo, 4.

Hectic Start of Weekend Crowds Jails, Blotters

During one of the "wildest" pre-Christmas Eve nights ever spent in the area, at least 56 non-fatal traffic accidents occurred, some 17 persons were jailed as drunk drivers, and 16 others were hauled in by police on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Eight charged by Pontiac Police yesterday with drunk driving and nine picked up on D and D charges are scheduled for arraignment in Municipal Court today.

But, prospects of Christmas Day in jail loomed for others arrested, since many justice courts, closed for the holiday, will not re-open until Tuesday.

In Pontiac, two police cars were smashed during 13 traffic accidents yesterday.

Warren E. Bryn, 29, 667 LeBaron Ave., rammed his car into the rear of one police car while Patrolman John W. Justice was ticketing another driver for speeding. Bryn was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.

The second police car was struck when Robert L. Warrington, 17, of 1225 1/2 Baldwin Ave., ran a stop sign at S. Parke and Cottage Sts. Warrington and Albert B. Allison, 17, of 125 Baldwin Ave., were jailed when police reported finding beer in their car.

Two juveniles also in the car were released to parents and appeared before the Police Juvenile Officer this morning.

Another minor was jailed as drunk and disorderly after he drove his car through the front plate glass window at 288 Woodward Ave.

Damage caused by Donald D. Nolen, 17, of 642 Meadows St., has not yet been estimated, Pontiac Police said.

Bridge Group Endorses Pike

However, Legislator to Introduce Bill to Delay Straits Toll Road

ST. IGNACE (AP)—The Mackinac Bridge Authority's executive committee has "fully endorsed" a proposed toll turnpike from the Ohio border to the Straits of Mackinac.

Chairman Prentiss M. Brown said in announcing the executive committee's action yesterday that a formal resolution on the proposal would be presented at its next meeting, tentatively scheduled for Jan. 18.

"A turnpike to the Straits," Brown said, "will not only be of immense value to the Straits Bridge now under construction, but will be another great economic boost for the entire north country."

"It has proved true time and time again that whenever automobile transportation facilities have been improved in this area, traffic has likewise developed to make full use of those facilities."

READIES WRENCH

In Lansing, a Republican legislator said today he will file a bill in the next session of the Legislature to block construction of the Saginaw-Flat Rock toll road for two years.

United Spirit Touches All

We should remember that it was a Jew who wrote, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." It was an Episcopalian who wrote O Little Town of Bethlehem. Martin Luther himself wrote A Mighty Fortress Is Our God. It was a Presbyterian who wrote Rock of Ages. A Catholic wrote Silent Night. Yuba City Given Evacuation Edict as River Rises

3 States on West Coast Report 22 Dead; 15,000 Square Miles Ruined

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Authorities ordered the evacuation of another central California city early today as flood waters surged over three states in one of the mightiest floods in West Coast history.

There are 17 known dead in California and five in Oregon.

Yuba City, a town of nearly 8,000 about 90 miles northeast of San Francisco, was ordered evacuated shortly after midnight when pounding waters of the Feather River smashed a 40-yard hole in levees south of town.

The evacuation order came only hours after some 12,500 persons in the sister city of Marysville, just across the river, fled their homes as flood waters threatened to rupture elaborate river defense works.

To the south, an estimated 3,000 persons were ordered evacuated in Stockton, about 70 miles east of San Francisco, when a covered slough flooded and sent water over a several-block area. Emergency crews began ripping up parts of six streets covering the slough to free the water to flow into the Stockton ship canal.

The Red Cross opened a shelter in Stockton's Civic Auditorium and issued an emergency call for 500 cots and 1,000 blankets.

Meanwhile, rain fell over the drenched and beleaguered state for the ninth straight day, adding more water to the already choked rivers and streams that have brought destruction to what Army engineers estimate at 10,000 to 15,000 square miles of land in California alone.

President Eisenhower yesterday declared northern California a "major disaster area," which means a blank check for federal assistance.

Southern Oregon, California's neighbor to the north, and Nevada, across the Sierra Nevada range to the east, also battled flooding rivers.

Philip D. Batson, regional Civil Defense administrator, estimated early today that upwards of 20,000 persons had been evacuated from homes in California, some 1,500 in Oregon and more than 600 in Nevada.

Damage estimates ran up to 10 million dollars and likely will go higher.

Following the levee break at Yuba City, authorities said the rampaging Feather had dropped approximately four inches and cautiously predicted the crest had passed. More than 1,500 men toiled through the night at the sister city of Marysville in a desperate effort to bolster the sagging levees with sandbags.

Hurricane Dust-Wind Whipping Colorado

DENVER (AP)—Dust-laden winds clocked in gusts up to 104 m.p.h. lashed Colorado east of the Rocky Mountains last night and early today causing thousands of dollars damage.

The hardest hit area was around Colorado Springs.

Trees were uprooted, power lines downed, windows broken and porches and roofs ripped off homes and business establishments throughout the state's mid-section and northeast quarter.

The Weather Bureau here reported winds were clocked in gusts up to 104 m.p.h. at Fort Collins and 95 m.p.h. at Ft. Collins.

'Ho, Ho, Ho! Here We Go!' -- And Santa's on His Way

(Editor's Note: "Will Santa Claus really come to our house?" That is the most anxious question in America today. It is answered in the following column, written for parents to read aloud to their children. Since his first appearance in 1848, it has become a scrapbook favorite in many homes.)

By MAL BOYLE

NORTH POLE (AP)—He's off! Santa Claus is on his way at last! The jolly old Saint and his famous reindeer are zooming through the arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tonight.

The northern lights switched on to a clear steady green — the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:

"We are clearing all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go as fast as you like. Good luck! And Santa needed that wide clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was piled so high with gifts it overflowed. It looked like a flying haystack as it raced through the crisp cold air.

"Oh, dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I do hope none of these presents fall out and bean some poor innocent rabbit down below. I believe this must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is he fretting about?" Dunder asked Vixen. "He's only riding in that sled. We have to pull it."

Vixen laughed so hard the bells on his harness tinkled in merry music. And all the other reindeer laughed, too.

As Santa Claus climbed up into the seat of the sled, puffing a little because he has gained some weight this winter, three black and white penguins waddled across the snow in front of the reindeer.

"Here, here, get out of the way, please," said Santa Claus importantly. Then he said, surprised:

"Why what are you penguins doing up at the North Pole anyway? You're supposed to be at the South Pole."

"We're on a vacation," said one of the penguins. "We're looking for Florida. Have you seen it anywhere?"

"Climb aboard, climb aboard," boomed Santa. "I'll drop you off there. But I must say this is the first time I ever picked up three hitchhikers wearing tuxedos."

Just then Mrs. Santa Claus came running out waving a long piece of paper.

"You almost forgot your list of good children," she said.

"Never mind," said Santa. "I don't need it. This year I am going to give a present to every little boy and girl, good or bad. The bad ones will feel sorry then, because they know they don't deserve a nice present. It'll make 'em try harder to be good next year."

"That isn't according to Hoyle," said Mrs. Claus, who likes to play bridge. "But it does make sense, you old sofie."

Santa stood up to crack his whip in the air—the signal to be off. But then he heard a small voice crying: "Wait, please wait."

It was Cluny. Santa's favorite little elf. The other elves gossiped about Cluny and said she was clumsy at making toys. But Santa knew it was only because she was so young. He liked her because she had a good heart.

"Here," said the tiny elf, holding up a small shiny figure.

"What's this? What's this?" grumbled Santa. "You're too late. My pack is already loaded."

"It is only my present to the world," said Cluny. "I made it at night in my room — all by myself."

Santa took the little figure from her hands. It was a beautiful angel with butterfly wings and a NORTH POLE (INS)—Snow was falling at the North Pole tonight, guaranteeing good sledding for Santa Claus when he and his reindeer take off headed for all the good children in the world. The temperature was comfortable (for the North Pole) at a steady 15 degrees below zero.

The beautiful custom of celebrating Christmas by attending special religious services and with festive family gatherings is being carried on in Pontiac homes.

Decorations of holly and mistletoe, Yule logs, the exchange of gifts, and Christmas trees glowing with lights will add to the rejoicing and merrymaking.

Homes will be the center of activities. Amid the great excitement of members of the family arriving home, there will be dinner parties on Christmas Eve, family dinners on Christmas Day, with open house, cocktail and supper parties continuing through the week.

As is traditional, Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ekelund will entertain at an open house in their home on Ottawa drive this evening.

On Christmas Day they will entertain at a family dinner. Places will be marked for the Newton Skillmans Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith and Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington Smith of Franklin.

Gathering for dinner on Christmas Eve at the Robert E. Field home on South Avery road are their daughters, Suzanne, Barbara and Joanne.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester McClellan Jr. and children, Karen, Kenneth and Janet, Mrs. Sue Long, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sibley and children, Debbie and Danny, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin F. Long and children, Diana and David, of Dearborn will also be present.

Another Christmas Eve dinner will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Galbraith of Cherokee road.

They will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Isgrig, Mr. and Mrs. William Isgrig and sons, John and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Isgrig and sons, Robert Jr., Stephen and Scott, and Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Burke and son, Jerry, of Bloomfield Village.

This Christmas will mark the 55th year that the Thomas Farley family of Clarkson and the family of the late Judge James H. Lynch have gathered for Christmas dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Balz will entertain at their home on Marquette street for dinner this year.

Guests will include the George Cox family, Mr. and Mrs. George Burke, Mrs. Mary Lynch Burdick, Gertrude Balz, Mrs. Katherine Haddad and daughter, Bridget Ann, Frances Capucille, Maurice O'Connor and Mrs. Carl Lenz and daughter, of Detroit.

Mrs. M. D. Stapp and daughter, Marsha, will entertain at dinner this evening in their home on Inverness drive. Their guests will include Mr. and Mrs. William Knudsen and daughter, Patricia, and Judge H. Russell Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Barnds and children of Arlington, Va., Ensign John E. Barnds of Monterey, Calif., and Mrs. Ray F. Heron of Freeport, Ill., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Barnds of Delaware drive for the holidays.

Arriving home to spend the holidays from the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Fla., is Sally Elizabeth Kelly, daughter of the Winston J. Kellys of Birmingham. Sally is the granddaughter of Byron J. Kelly of Cherokee road and niece of Mrs. Daniel L. Kellogg of Fairgrove avenue.

Sgt. and Mrs. Ronald Cosentino will spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cosentino of Waldo street. Sgt. Cosentino is stationed at Quantico, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Line are spending the holidays with Mrs. Line's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Maynard of Dunedin, Fla.

Don and Jack Traxler, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Max Traxler of Elizabeth Lake road, have motored to Tampa, Fla., to spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Orville Traxler. They will return in time for Don to resume his studies at Michigan State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Perc Carr of Green street will have their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carr of Detroit, for Christmas dinner.

A family gathering will be held
