Nixon Holds News Conference

Viet Talks: 'Good Start'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon said today the Paris peace talks on Vietnam "are off to a good start" under his new administration.

Nixon told his first White House news conference the United States has offered an agenda, "a laundry list," of possible agreements on specific points.

"Where we go from here depends on what the other side offers in turn," Nixon said.

The White House East Room was the setting for Nixon's first question-and-answer session as President.

The initial question: His plans for a legislative program?

"I shall have a major legislative program to present to the Congress this year," Nixon said.

He added he will decide within two weeks whether to offer it in a State of the Union address or in a series of special messages.

Asked to list problems requiring his most urgent attention, Nixon said that during his first week they have concerned foreign policy.

But he said beyond that, the problems of the cities and economic problems require urgent attention and both have been discussed with the appropriate officials.

Nixon said he has noted expressions of interest on the possibility of admitting Communist China to the United Nations.

He said his administration will continue to oppose admission.

In the jammed news conference, broadcast live from the White House, Nixon said he favors the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and said the only question is the timing of the ratification of the pact.

He said that question would be discussed in a National Security Council meeting this week and with congressional leaders.

Then, Nixon said, he will make a decision on when the treaty should be approved.

Nixon added he also favors talks with the Soviet Union on reduction of strategic arms, but said the question again was another matter of timing.

Arms reduction itself would not achieve peace, he said, adding talks are needed when they will permit solution of "outstanding" political problems at the same time. He cited the Middle East as an example.

Nixon began the news conference without an opening statement. He stood alone behind a single microphone without any lectern or prepared notes.

The news conference came almost exactly one week after Nixon took office as 37th president of the United States.

'NO RELEVANCE'

Asked his assessment of the prospects for a cease-fire in Vietnam, Nixon said the question can't be applied accurately to the war.

"Cease-fire is a term of art that really has no relevance . . . to guerrilla war," he said.

He said a better approach to ending the war is "mutual withdrawal on a guaranteed basis by both sides in Vietnam."

Asked why he withdrew some of Johnson's appointments and canceled the decision granting air routes over the Pacific, Nixon said he felt his administration should restudy the whole list of appointments.

President Eyes Mideast, Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today he was open to any suggestion for cooling off the Middle East crisis because "the next explosion in the Middle East could very well involve a confrontation of the nuclear powers."

Nixon said he plans to spend the whole day next Saturday discussing the Middle East situation with his top advisers.

He said various proposals had been offered for an approach to settling the Arab-Israeli conflict, including four-power talks advocated by France, working through the United Nations, and two-power talks between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Nixon also said he wants to cut former President Lyndon B. Johnson's $195 billion budget but cannot yet predict where reductions can be made.

SEEKING SAVINGS

Nixon told his first news conference that Budget Director Robert P. Mayo has directed all departments and agencies to seek savings in the Johnson budget.

Nixon disclosed that he does not intend to ask industry and labor to submit to new wage-price guidelines against inflation.

But while rejecting the formal guideposts idea, Nixon emphasized that his administration is searching for inflation curbs.

Report Says Pontiac Split by Fears, Bias

Pontiac is described as a city "divided by racial and ethnic prejudices and fears" in a report issued today by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC).

The report is based on hearings held in the city last June 13-19. At the weeklong proceedings, hundreds of citizens and organizations were heard giving testimony on attitudes and practices in the city.

The report, "A Public Inquiry Into the Status of Race Relations in Pontiac," is a sweeping condemnation of almost all facets of the city's structure in regard to civil rights and racial prejudice.

The MCRC's findings are the first full-scale inquiry on race relations conducted in a Michigan city. Other inquiries are to be held this year, it has been announced.

The Pontiac hearings were launched in the wake of the shooting death of a 17-year-old black youth killed by a city policeman in December 1967.

The report claims, "Negro and Spanish-American citizens are excluded from full participation in employment, housing, education and social services. They are often denied equal protection under the laws and equal access to jobs in law-enforcement agencies."

"The physical isolation which has resulted between white and nonwhite citizens has led to a communications gap of staggering proportions," the report states.

"Civil and government leaders show little concern for, or understanding of, minority-group problems," it reports.

VIOLATIONS LISTED

The documents lists, category by category, the areas in which violations are alleged in civil rights and offers recommendations in each for lessening the practices.

Some of the MCRC findings in various categories are:

• Employment: Nonwhites are not receiving their fair share of the city's economic boom . . . "They have ample opportunity to find menial jobs, but little chance to obtain positions compatible with their skills or abilities to improve." The report cites a gap on city and county employment rolls between the community's percentage of nonwhites and the numbers employed, particularly on the city police and fire departments.

• Private employers: "Most business leaders have expressed a commitment to equal-opportunity policies . . . (but) a large gap exists between policies and . . . actuality." The report said, however, that "many black leaders feel progress is being made."

• Social Services: "Many nonwhite citizens of the area feel they receive inferior treatment from both public and private social service agencies. Although the commission found little direct

GM Discusses Racial Policies

General Motors Corp. today issued a statement regarding its racial policies coinciding with a report released by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC).

The MCRC report was highly critical of many areas of racial relations in Pontiac and cited GM for offering limited possibilities to racial groups in higher echelons of the firm.

Louis G. Seaton, vice president of the personnel staff of GM, said that the GM divisions in Pontiac have a good and constantly improving record in the area of hiring and upgrading members of minority groups.

He pointed out that as of last Dec. 31, GM's Pontiac plants had a total of 40,118 employees with 6,537, or 14.2 per cent, classified as members of minority groups. This compared to Dec. 31, 1967, with a total employment of 35,645, of which 4,674, or 12.8 per cent, were members of minority groups.

'SIGNIFICANT IMPROVEMENT'

Significant improvement has also been recorded in salaried employment of minority groups, Seaton said. "At the end of 1967, the Pontiac plants of GM had 92 members of minority groups in salaried positions. By the end of 1968, this had more than doubled to 203. Further, of this group, 63 are now in supervisory or professional positions, compared to 31 a year earlier."

"What General Motors is doing to assure equal employment opportunity can be traced back to the long-standing

Yemeni Plot Exposed

ADEN (AP) — Travelers reported yesterday that tanks and troops ringed San'a, the capital of Yemen, after a radio broadcast reported the smashing of a plot to assassinate President Abdal Rahman al Iryani.

Radio San'a said the Iryani told a tribunal that the plotters also intended to assassinate the commander of the armed forces, Gen. Hammoudi Jaifi. The plotters were not named.

California Flood Toll Is Now 89

From Our News Wires

LOS ANGELES—Southern California's worst siege of rain in more than 30 years eased today, leaving more than 10,000 persons temporarily homeless and a death toll nearing 90.

Nine days of constant rain from two back-to-back subtropical storms caused widespread flooding and mud slides as the soggy ground refused to absorb more water.

At least 89 persons were killed and damage was estimated at more than $30 million. Twelve persons were buried alive in the mud, which oozed down from the hills and into their homes. Fifty-two died in rain-connected highway accidents and four in weather-related airplane crashes. Nineteen drowned and two died of heart attacks, one while filling sandbags to save his home.

President Nixon declared the entire state a major disaster area. The Small Business Administration made low cost federal loans available to those whose homes or businesses were damaged by the torrential rains.

More than 9,000 persons were evacuated, 3,000 of them from homes in the Santa Paula area in Santa Barbara County where the Santa Paula Creek flooded the lowlands.

The U.S. Weather Bureau today promised some easing of the storm. Only scattered showers were forecast through tomorrow.

DIGGING OUT THE DEAD—Firemen and police pull a body from a Glendale, Calif., home. Two women were killed in their sleep in the home early Saturday, when a mudslide smashed the bedroom wing of the building.

Road Mishaps Kill 5, Hurt 5

Two Pontiac men were killed in a car-train accident in Pontiac and three others died, with five in serious condition, after a two-car accident in Orion Township over the weekend.

The dead in the car-train accident were identified as Roderick Byrd, 53, of 82 Jackson and William White, 58, of 389 W. Huron.

Police said the car, driven by Byrd, was headed east on Wilson at 20 miles per hour when it collided with a north-bound Grand Trunk train at 5:20 p.m. Saturday. Police said the train was traveling 43 miles per hour.

The engineer, William Squires, 48, of Battle Creek, told police he didn't see the car until the train's fireman yelled to him that they had hit the auto.

SIGNALS OPERATIONAL

Railroad gates and signals were in operation at the time of the accident, police said.

The Byrd car disregarded the railroad signals, police said, and the train was speeding.

Byrd's car was demolished, and police had to pry open the doors to get the two men out, police reported.

In the Orion Township accident, Oakland County sheriff's deputies estimate that one car was traveling about 60 miles per hour, went out of control, crossed the center line and struck an oncoming car last night.

Cong Attacks May Impede Talks

PARIS (AP) — American and South Vietnamese negotiators studied reports today on the upsurge of Vietcong attacks, considering their effect on the Vietnam peace talks.

The attacks, apparently timed to coincide with the opening of the four-party conference, intensified over the weekend along the Cambodian border and in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

South Vietnamese sources said the Saigon government probably would instruct its delegate, Pham Dang Lam, to warn the next meeting of the conference Thursday that any new wave of violence could obstruct the way to peace.

American officials said the attacks "are not likely to improve the atmosphere" at the conference. But they added that the U.S. Government has always expected the fighting to continue, at least through the initial stages of the new series of talks.

FIGHTING CONTINUES

North Vietnam and the Vietcong's National Liberation Front have never concealed their intention to "fight and talk," to continue the war unabated until the United States has agreed to withdraw its forces from South Vietnam.

Their delegates made this clear again in their statements to the opening plenary session Saturday.

"As long as the United States continues its aggression, the 31 million Vietnamese, united as one man, will go on fighting until total victory," said Hanoi's delegate, Xuan Thu.

Tran Buu Kiem, foreign minister of the NLF central committee, used almost the same words to warn that the fighting would not subside just because the conference has started.

STRATEGIC BOMBING

Although the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam last November to get the Paris talks going, it intensified its bombing of North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving south through Laos.

Private Talks OK—Ky

PARIS (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam said today he is willing to meet "the other side" in private talks on bringing peace in Vietnam.

Ky added that he is ready to meet them whenever they are willing, in Paris or anywhere else.

And U.S. and South Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam have intensified their operations seeking to root out the North Vietnamese and Vietcong and destroy them.

The first analysis by American and South Vietnamese negotiators of the 6½-hour opening meeting Saturday did nothing to change their expectations that progress at the talks would be very slow.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge proposed the immediate restoration of the six-mile wide demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam. He also said the United States at subsequent meetings would put forward other proposals for deescalating the war, releasing prisoners on both sides and withdrawing "all external forces" from South Vietnam, including all "military and subversive forces of North Vietnam."

Pontiac Crime Increased in '68, but Less Than in '67

WILLIAM K. HANGER

Pontiac's crime rate showed a milder increase last year after a record rise in 1967, according to police figures. Major crime in 1968 jumped 15.5 per cent over the previous year compared to 1967 when they increased a booming 30.6 per cent.

Police Chief William K. Hanger could point to no particular reasons for the reduction.

But he did praise his force and the courts for reducing the number of robberies last year compared to 1967.

"An increase in the conviction of robbers who thus could not repeat their offenses was a main reason for the reduction of robberies by more than 10 per cent," Hanger explained. Hanger termed the reduction in robberies from 258 in 1967 to 232 last year as the only significant crime decrease in Pontiac.

Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter dropped more than 14 per cent from 14 to 12, but Hanger said the decrease is not significant because of the small number of the offenses.

Major crimes in the city soared from nearly a 7 per cent increase in 1965 to almost 31 per cent in 1967 before dropping last year.

AUTO THEFTS UP

Aggravated assaults and auto thefts showed significant increases last year, the chief said.

Aggravated assaults jumped from 408 in 1967 to 499 last year—up more than 22 per cent—and auto thefts went from 380 in 1967 to 539 in 1968—an increase of almost 42 per cent.

"Our auto theft rate is higher than the national average," Hanger commented, "but I hope the new optional key buzzer and locked steering wheel on cars will reduce the rate somewhat."

The addition of 32 men to the force last year didn't affect the dropping off of the crime increase, since the men were being trained and were not out on patrol alone, Hanger said. The force had 170 men at the end of 1968.

OTHER CRIMES

Other trends in 1968 were:

• Forcible rape increased from 24 to 27 or 12.5 per cent.

• Burglaries rose from 1,444 to 1,576 or about 9 per cent.

• Larcenies of more than $50 went from 995 to 1,184, a 19 per cent hike.

• Calls for police service went up from 29,305 to 33,713 or 15 per cent.

• More than 39 per cent of reported offenses were cleared by arrest in 1967 compared to more than 43 per cent last year.

• The public in 1968 showed more responsibility in notifying police of crimes and helping them to solve them, Hanger said.

Pakistan Orders Antiriot Curfew

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A 24-hour curfew was clamped on wide sections of Karachi today as antigovernment rioting spread through West Pakistan's biggest city.

There also was trouble in the East Pakistan city of Dacca and its port city of Narayanganj where troops fired on curfew violators yesterday, killing three and wounding 10.

Crowds in Karachi fought for three hours with police who used steel-tipped canes to subdue persons setting fires, looting and throwing bricks.

By midafternoon more than 500,000 residents — about 15 per cent of the population — were placed under around-the-clock curfew. Another 100,000 in the downtown area had been under a curfew imposed Friday and renewed each day since.

OFFICIAL'S HOME

In one area, an eyewitness said crowds tried to attack the residence of an official of the Moslem League, the ruling party.

In Lahore, opposition members walked out of the West Pakistan Assembly when the speaker refused to permit discussion of police handling of riots.

In Dacca, several opposition members in the East Pakistan Assembly brandished microphones to prevent the sergeant-at-arms from ejecting five of their colleagues who had been ordered out by the speaker.

It was the third day of new outbursts against the government of President Mohammed Ayub Khan. The unrest began last fall when students demonstrated for government and education reforms. It was heightened when Ayub arrested several political leaders Nov. 13 on charges of inciting violence.

TROOPS KILL 14

Security forces killed 14 persons last week in firing on rioters in Dacca, Chittagong, Myensigh and Rawalpindi.

Nude Performers in 'M' Play Charged

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Six actors and four actresses were charged with indecent exposure Sunday after performing in a play at the University of Michigan in which they stripped naked to enact the birth of the mythical god of wine and the death of a king.

They were ordered to appear in District Court in Ann Arbor today on indecent exposure charges which carry a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $500 fine.

Police identified the 10 as Anne R. Barclay, 22; Margaret J. Ryan, and Ciel Smith, both 26; Joan E. MacIntosh and Richard Dia, both 23; Patrick E. McDermott, William F. Finley Jr., William H. Shepard and Robert J. Bosseau, all 24; and Samuel E. Blazer, 28. All said they were from New York.

The members of the New York company called "The Performance Group" removed their clothes for 15 minutes a third of the way through the 3½-hour play, "Dionysus in '69," and for 20 minutes at the end.

After the play, Ann Arbor police fingerprinted and photographed the 10 persons inside their dressing rooms and allowed them to remain free on their own recognizance.

'KISSING, FONDLING'

Advance billing that the actors would "kiss and fondle each other from head to toe" created a furor among local state legislators.

Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, who had announced he would attend the performance last night but was not in the audience, said he plans "to urge that the Senate tonight carry out its probe designed to study unrest and immorality on the various college campuses of the state."

Kuhn said he did not attend the Sunday night performance because "I would not dignify the show by my presence."

DIDN'T ATTEND

U-M President Robben Fleming, who did not attend the play either, defended it in a statement Saturday, in which he said nudity was difficult to describe as obscene, and at question was "the context within which nudity occurred."

But after the arrests, Fleming issued a statement saying that "by performing clothed in Detroit on Saturday night the cast of Dionysus pretty well demonstrated that nudity is not essential to their production."

In the first nude scene, five men and four women took off their clothes on stage. With four men lying on gym mats, the girls formed an arch over them. A fifth man was shoved through the gap to the sound of grunts and groans in the symbolic birth of Dionysus.

A similar arch was formed at the end of the play, with cast members dousing one another with red fluid symbolizing blood. This time, a man was forced into the arch, which then fell in a heap on the floor, in the enactment of the death of Pentheus, king of Thebes.

After it, the play's director, Richard Shekner, held a news conference on the stairway of the university student union, saying law and politics should not interfere with art.

Shaw Venire Is Sifted

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. is tapping every available source for prospective jurors in the trial of Clay L. Shaw on a charge of conspiring to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Eight jurors were picked out of nearly 200 persons in the first five days. Four more plus two alternates remain to be chosen as selection continued today in Criminal District Court.

Philippine Strike Ends

MANILA (AP) — Manila's 13,000 public school teachers returned to their classrooms today, ending a strike that kept 260,000 pupils out of school for a week. The teachers struck in protest against delayed paydays and nonpayment of salary differentials, among other things. The government promised to meet their demands.

16 Die in Truck Crash

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — The driver of a truck loaded with workers ignored a sign at a railroad crossing and crashed with an oncoming train last Thursday. Sixteen persons were killed, including the driver, and 12 were injured, the Romanian news agency Ager-press said today.

Historical Park Proposed at Hunter House

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Historical Board will formally ask the City Commission tonight at the commission's 8 p.m. meeting that the city purchase several lots adjoining Hunter House and convert the property, along with the house, into a historical park.

The Hunter House, Birmingham's oldest building, has been offered to the city for use as a historical shrine.

The Parks and Recreation Board will present its annual list of revised golf course rules and regulations for the coming season to the commission tonight.

The commission is expected to take action on a request from the city's retirement board recommending an increase in retirement pay computation for city employees from two-tenths to three-tenths of a per cent of their base pay. The proposal would be placed on the April 8th ballot if approved.

GM Statement Is Issued Concerning Race Policies and well-established policy of fair employment and nondiscrimination which was first expressed in writing and adopted by the corporation more than 20 years ago.

"This policy, which is a matter of public record, is widely disseminated through all levels of management including supervision. Implementation of this policy has been accomplished through regional and local management meetings, films, bulletins and supervisory training programs.

"Equal opportunity applies to all applicants for employment in GM. Promotions are based on individual qualifications and ability to perform clerical, supervisory, professional and technical assignments.

PROGRESS CHECKED

"The progress which each division and plant is making is checked regularly by the corporation."

Seaton also pointed out that GM executives and other members of management have actively engaged in the city of Pontiac's urban affairs matters and General Motors' Pontiac area divisions have initiated and are actively engaged in a number of programs currently to aid hard-core unemployed and to provide educational assistance to employees. Among these programs are:

• Operation Opportunity at Pontiac Motor Division. A total of 1,272 persons have been employed in this program which Pontiac pioneered with the Urban League in September 1967. Under it, individuals previously considered unemployable because of past work or conduct records are given an opportunity for gainful employment. The Fisher Body plant in Pontiac and GMC Truck and Coach Division are also participating in the Operation Opportunity program.

Under the National Alliance of Businessmen's JOBS program for hiring the hard-core unemployed, which began in April 1968, the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac has hired 1,077 hard-core unemployed and GMC Truck & Coach Division has hired 408 persons. Including those at Pontiac Motor Division, the NAB hires by GM's Pontiac plants total 3,687.

• Preapprentice Training Programs. In cooperation with the local school system and the Urban League, Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body and GMC Truck & Coach divisions have developed a program aimed at helping young men qualify for apprentice training. In addition, 27 nonwhites are currently in the skilled-trades apprentice training program.

• MIND Program at Pontiac Motor. This is a basic education skills program aimed at helping employed who need help — and want it — in reading, writing and mathematics. Seven employees graduated from the pilot session last October and 54 "students" are now enrolled in six new classes.

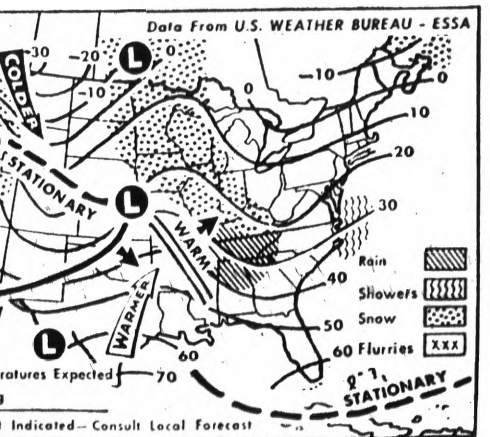

• High School Cooperative Program at GMC Truck & Coach. Twenty students work part-time — 16 to 19 hours a week — and are paid $2.60 an hour plus cost-of-living allowance. They also receive credits from their schools.

State Rights Panel Issues Findings

evidence to support this feeling: "... the belief is widely held."

The report criticized the location of the county social service center at the County Center, Pontiac Lake Road and Telegraph, as being too far outside the ghetto area and not having direct transportation. (In November, bus service from downtown began.) The report also stated that whites were far too numerous in the administration of programs.

• Housing: "Residential areas of Pontiac are clearly segregated, with nonwhites confined to a slowly expanding ghetto in the southern part. Although Pontiac adopted a fair-housing ordinance last year, conditions remain much as they have been for two or three decades."

A housing shortage, plus discrimination, has compounded all other problems, the report stated.

• Education: "Testimony given at the inquiry indicates the racially segregated composition of Pontiac's schools will continue until the neighborhoods become integrated, or the school board takes affirmative action to achieve racial balance."

The report attacks school policies in regard to teachers and claims the system has resulted in poorer educations for nonwhites.

• Law enforcement: "... Police-community relations is one of the most critical problems facing the city of Pontiac today. Clearly, the black community does not trust the police department, and the department has done little to improve the situation."

The report also charges the department with not having a recruitment program for blacks. (A program specifically aimed at blacks was announced since the hearing and is still in effect.)

English Prof Speaks Out on Conditions

Carl G. Wonnberger, long-time Pontiac-area resident and currently associate professor of English at Eastern Michigan University, speaks out plainly about current conditions. The long-time Cranbrook man says:

"Collective bargaining, and its unsavory bedfellow, the strike, may well force America into the status of a third-rate power. If we fall, we fall from our own indiscretions. The hammer is obsolete and we must find new ways of resolving differences between labor and management."

"The old ways won't do! 'In a more primitive age, we might have sent all contenders into the jungle to destroy themselves. And who cared? But now the innocent get hurt and are deprived against their will of life, safety, health and the right to a peaceful existence."

"Had there been a fuel-gasoline strike, who would have suffered? What sense was there in the danger of a complete close-down of a great airport because a handful of food handlers were disgruntled? When the senseless newspaper blackout came to Detroit, what happened to the little businessman with a stock of seasonal Christmas goods or the little newsboy, seeking a pittance for Christmas gifts, or perhaps some warm winter clothes for school? And who really cared?"

"The wanton slaughter of innocents has got to stop! We need labor courts, to which both sides might come heavily bonded, courts with panels of economists who could weigh the total labor contribution and the ability of management to pay. These courts should have absolute authority. But we must stop this collective blackmail of the public by selfish groups, abandon, pickets, demonstrations, protests and such theatricals in the place of reason!"

"I have taught 40 years, mostly in secondary school, and weep to think that my state leads the union in teachers' strikes. Good teachers should have the return of good lawyers and good doctors, but I have faith in my profession and believe this can be accomplished by that magic thing, public education. I am saddened to think that there are persons who call themselves teachers and still would imperil the growth and welfare of small children simply to line their own pockets. Even animals treat their young better than that!"

"This is a call to reason. The time is too late for desk-slapping, screaming and threats in our labor relations."

"Destruction of the helpless will never bring what we want really. This can drag us down to perdition much faster than any Red threat."

"The disturbing thing is the Red threat and what goes on now may well be part of the same pattern. Marx aimed to divide and conquer, and he was in no hurry. He predicted we would eventually destroy ourselves. Could it be that we

Missouri Fire Razes Home; 5 Children Die

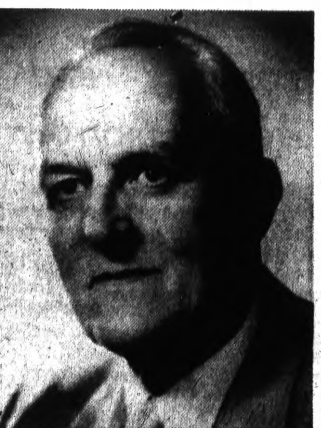

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Five children died last night in a fire that destroyed their small one-story frame home at Portageville in the Missouri boot-heel.

The Highway Patrol identified the victims as Jimmie Lee, 7 months; Walter, 2; Jackie, 6; Joseph, 8, and William 10, children of Mrs. Mary Slaggle.

A sixth child, Jo Edna, 3, was not injured.

Mrs. Slaggle suffered burns on the face and arms and was taken to the Pemiscot County Hospital at Hayti.

Mansfield Hails Nixon Start on Viet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the Nixon administration is off to "a good beginning" in taking over the U.S. role at the Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

Mansfield said proposals made by Nixon's representative in Paris, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, seemed aimed at establishing "the strongest possible positions" for the United States at the inception of actual negotiations.

Mansfield was joined in his assessment by Republican Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, who said the talks under Lodge were off to "a very good start."

Both senators, however, cautioned that the discussions are not likely to move to a quick settlement.

Among Lodge's proposals was a call for the clearing of the demilitarized zone of all regular and irregular military troops.

SIMILAR POLICIES

Neither Mansfield nor Aiken said they saw much difference in the Paris policies of the Nixon administration from those followed by the U.S. negotiators sent by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"I see no change in the basic positions of the Nixon and Johnson administration positions," Mansfield said. "I am certain, however, that in time we are going to have to refine our positions to reach a settlement."

Aiken did say that one difference results from Nixon not having to negotiate under what he called the cloud of having bombed North Vietnam.

The chief U.S. negotiator under Johnson, W. Averell Harriman, said Sunday he could not predict but hopes for a de-escalation in the fighting and the withdrawal of some American troops from Vietnam by the end of this year.

HOPES FOR REDUCTION

"I would hope very much that a mutual agreement could be reached in de-escalation of the fighting, and it would be possible for a mutual agreement on the withdrawal of foreign forces, including those of Vietnam, and we could see some of our men come home this year with very much reduced fighting."

Harriman was interviewed on the radio-TV program "Meet the Press."

Hope for a quick settlement also came from Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and a strong critic of the war policies pursued by Johnson.

Nixon "didn't get us into this unfortunate situation and I think he ought to settle it and I believe he will because I think he has the sense of the significance of this past election..."

POPULAR BACKING

The American people will support Nixon "if he settles this war on any kind of reasonable basis," Fulbright said.

Minor DMZ Activity by N. Viet Last Week Is Reported by U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported 180 more indications of North Vietnamese activity inside the demilitarized zone during a five-day period last week.

"We still have a lot of sightings of enemy troops in the DMZ," said a U.S. source, "but it doesn't appear anything major has moved across. There have been no large unit sightings reported, and we doubt that there are any regimental or division headquarters in the area."

Another source said that North Vietnamese troops were building bunkers in both halves of the DMZ, but "we've been shooting them up as fast as we find them."

'SHOULD BE RESTORED'

"We believe that the demilitarized status of the zone between North and South Vietnam should be restored immediately," Lodge said in his opening statement.

Only one of the 180 indications from last Monday through Friday was considered significant by the U.S. Command—enemy gunners shooting off a tire of a light American reconnaissance plane flying over the DMZ. Five enemy gun emplacements were destroyed by U.S. artillery after that attack, spokesmen said.

During the same five-day period, U.S. headquarters said American bombers, warships and artillery fired five times into the DMZ after enemy activity was sighted.

The command said the latest report raised to 2,187 the number of enemy sightings inside the DMZ since the bombing of North Vietnam was halted Nov. 1. A spokesman said 1,392 of these were reported by American reconnaissance in the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide zone and the other 795 in the North Vietnamese half.

U.S. RESPONSE

He said that American planes, artillery and naval gunfire responded 724 times, 717 in the southern half and seven times in the northern half.

Of the 2,187 indications, the U.S. Command considered 52 significant enough to make public the details. But its criterion of significance is whether the results of American counterfire are observed.

Sources said the large number of enemy sightings was considered a violation of a tacit agreement with North Vietnam that it would keep the DMZ free of military activity in return for the bombing halt. The North Vietnamese have denied any such agreement.

U.S. headquarters also reported that U.S. helicopter gunship crews spotted enemy troops locating a 37mm antiaircraft gun about 60 miles below the DMZ southwest of Hue. The helicopters attacked the 4,620-pound gun, which has a range of 8,000 feet, and the pilots said they destroyed the gun and killed at least two enemy soldiers.

DOZEN ATTACKS

North Vietnamese and Vietcong troops launched a dozen attacks on allied bases and other installations over the weekend, bearing out the predictions of U.S. military analysts that the Communist command would increase its operations to boost its negotiating position in Paris while the new administration is still settling down in Washington.

In three battles northwest and south of Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 127 enemy. U.S. losses were nine men killed and 22 wounded and South Vietnamese casualties were one dead and four wounded.

Former Janitor of Lapeer Bank Sweeps Into Concern's Top Executive Position

THE PONTIAC PRESS
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1969 A-4

Area News

LAPEER — Roderick L. Parsch, who used to be the janitor, is now president of the Lapeer County Bank & Trust Co., 23 W. Nepessing.

One of banking's most successful success stories was climaxed last week when County Bank directors elected Parsch to the firm's top executive position.

Parsch, 46, of 609 Monroe, is also second vice president and slated to become president of the Independent Bankers Association of America. In this capacity he represents 6,600 banks throughout America and is often called to Washington, D.C., to advise congressional banking committees.

Glenn Caley had been president of the County Bank since 1934. "I am pleased to step aside to give the title to Rod, who has certainly earned it," Caley said.

FAST EXPERIENCE

Directors immediately named Caley chairman of the board.

Parsch has been with the bank 30 years. His first job, while still in high school, was pushing a broom. He has held almost every position available since then. He was named executive vice president 10 years ago. He is also a director.

When Parsch began his climb, the bank's total assets were $495,000. Today they are about $25 million.

A branch has been added in Elba plus a drive-in branch behind the main office in downtown Lapeer. That main office is currently undergoing the latest in a series of expansions and remodelings which have become necessary as business grew.

FOUNDING FAMILY

The Caley family goes back even farther than Parsch at the County Bank (former Lapeer Savings Bank). The late Mathias Caley was one of the founders in 1913 and served as director and president. He was the father of Glenn Caley. Tom Caley, Glenn's son, is currently a bank director along with his father.

"The Caley family has given the bank a unity of service and policy throughout these many years," Parsch said. "I am pleased that this unity will be continued and I hope it lasts forever."

Also at last week's meeting, directors approved a 5 per cent stock dividend, increasing the common capital stock by $21,925 to $460,500. Stockholders recommended this action at a meeting a day earlier.

It was reported that total assets had increased $4 million in 1968, reaching the

RODERICK L. PARSCH

$25 million mark. Earnings per share after taxes were $13.22, up from $12.31 the year before. Net income after taxes was $238,000.

Directors made only one other change in officers. Mrs. William (Priscilla) Beyer was named assistant trust officer. She has been with the bank since 1947 and has served in the trust department since it was created five years ago.

Sen. Hart Announces HUD Grant

Mainland Again Chairs COG

William L. Mainland of Milford was reelected chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG) at its second annual general assembly Saturday at Cobo Hall in Detroit.

Mainland, the District 27 member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, was elected COG's first chairman at its first meeting last January.

His reelection was made with the stipulation that leadership would be changed in 1970. Mel Ravitz, Detroit Common Council member, was reelected vice chairman.

COG, a coordinating and planning agency, is made up of representatives of member cities, villages, counties and school districts in the seven-county metropolitan Detroit area. Its budget for 1969 is $525,000 made up from membership fees and federal and state grants.

$235,410 GRANT

Michigan's Democratic senator, Philip A. Hart, announced at the meeting that the organization has been granted a $235,410 Housing and Urban Development grant.

The money represents two-thirds of the cost of growth and development planning for COG during the next year, the senator said.

Oakland County continued to show domination in leadership of the group by winning two of four chairmanships of bloc groups.

Homer Case, supervisor of Bloomfield Township, was elected chairman of the township group and C. Henry Haberkorn III, of the Bloomfield Hills school board, was elected chairman of the school bloc.

'THRESHOLD OF ACTION'

COG chairman Mainland described the first year of the organization as a time of preparation and said for 1969, "We stand on the threshold of action."

Hart, in his keynote address to the group, expressed a warning that the correction of urban problems may be downgraded during the Nixon administration.

"I think President Nixon and his chief aides have made it abundantly clear that they intend few innovations — and for the most understandable of reasons."

"They believe, with considerable justice, that the Republican victory meant the public wants a time of governmental slowdown, reassessment and sit-tightism."

"And if the federal government is taking the pressure off, old problems are in danger of gathering new momentum."

He continued, "While the programs of the Kennedy-Johnson administration were far from perfect, it would not be wise for the Nixon administration to slacken the effort."

COG Sets New Health Agency

Organization of a new central health agency was announced at the general assembly of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments Saturday.

The agency intends to use a $207,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). The funds are expected to be available for use in July.

At a health affairs conference, it was explained the new agency was an outgrowth of a 27-member group called the Area-wide Health Planning Committee.

The new agency will oversee planning and developments of a wide range of health services in the seven-county metropolitan Detroit area. It will deal with general health care; water supplies and sewage systems; air, water and ground pollution; and mental health.

The group will coordinate varied activities and have the power of review of development plans involving state and federal funding, it was indicated.

Rochester Student and Girl Are Safe

L'ANSE AU LAC — A Michigan Technological University senior and a freshman coed found their way to safety yesterday after becoming lost in the wilderness of the Huron Mountains in upper Michigan.

Gary Petaja, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ahti E. Petaja of 202 Wintry, Rochester, and Deborah Dorman, 18, of Houghton were reported found by a woodsman.

They said they spent Saturday night in an abandoned cabin in the mountains after losing their way while returning from a snowshoe trek into the wilderness to gather material for a college writing project.

Ex-Con Recruits Hard-Core for Novi Firm

NOVI—The way to get results from deprived, inner-city employees, a company has found, is to deal with them through a guy who has been there.

Paragon Division of Portec Inc., a steel-fabricating firm at 44000 Grand River, took a chance last spring and promoted ex-convict J. Bernard Spann to handle inner-city recruiting. He had been a timekeeper.

Spann's tactic when recruiting is to "tell them the truth."

'I'm Not Your Brother, Man, I'm Mr. Spann'

'THEY LET YOU KNOW'

"They let you know when they think you're jiving them," Spann says of the recruits he deals with. "I tell them, 'Look man, I don't have to lie to you. If I lose this job, I think I can get another one.'"

The firm's minority-recruiting program seems to have made progress under Spann, too. Says his boss, Personnel Manager David K. Waterloo, "Lately we seem to be getting better recruits."

The program was started last April, and Spann took it over in October. Since then more than 200 disadvantaged or "hard-core unemployed" have been trained in fundamentals of arc welding.

Workers are paid $2.63 an hour for three days of training, then go into the plant for on-the-job training at $3.33 an hour. The men are transported by bus to and from work under a special plan arranged by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

IT'S WORKING

Spann thinks the program is working. He says 89 of the last 120 men he recruited have completed the training, with absenteeism the biggest factor among the dropouts.

Waterloo gives Spann credit for the improvement. "Maybe this is because Mr. Spann understands their problems better."

The 34-year-old Spann should. He's been there himself, having been paroled last April after serving five years of a 7½-to-20-year term on his third armed robbery sentence. Spann is not afraid to recruit ex-convicts, either.

"In some respects, they have been some of the best men we've hired," he says. "They know what it is about and they can see the other side, too."

Holly Blaze Kills Woman, 82

HOLLY — An 82-year-old woman, Myrtle Lamb of 105 Michigan, was found dead early Saturday night after a fire swept her residence, village police said.

Police said the fire apparently broke out around 6:30 p.m. Police and the township volunteer fire department were not notified of the fire until 7 p.m.

Miss Lamb's body was found near a wood-burning stove in her sitting-dining room at the rear of the house.

Firemen said overheating of an antiquated stove caused the blaze.

'DIED QUICKLY'

A spokesman for the fire department said Miss Lamb probably died soon after the blaze broke out. Police and firemen searched through the entire house before finding the body.

The century-old two-story house was "ruined by the fire," according to fire department reports. No damage estimates have yet been made.

Miss Lamb was a life-long resident of the village and has lived alone in the house for several years.

Village police said Miss Lamb spent most of her time during the winter near the stove in the sitting room.

Police and firemen were at the scene for about two hours.

GIs Are Asking to Leave Viet — They're Bored

WASHINGTON (AP). — The 131st Engineers of the Vermont National Guard want to come home from Vietnam—but not for the usual reasons.

"They are bored to death, with nothing to do," according to Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt.

Aiken said he had received a letter signed by 130 men telling him that the outfit had been assigned no important tasks and was only "sitting around."

"They said they wished somebody would give them some work to do or else send them home," Aiken said.

Storm Delays Arctic Training

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) — About 800 Minnesota National Guardsmen arrived at Camp Ripley Sunday night in eight-below-zero weather to begin 14 days of Arctic training.

The troops arrived 24 hours late because a snowstorm last week blocked many highways in the southwestern part of the state.

Lake Orion Voters Okay School Levy

LAKE ORION — Voters in this school district Saturday approved renewal of a 4-mill property tax levy for operating expenses for five years.

Over 1,600 voters turned out for the special election, with unofficial totals 1,011 yes and 579 no. Twenty-one ballots were spoiled.

Schools Supt. Lewis Mundy said the turnout was "one of the largest" for an election in the district.

The vote was the third for citizens in seven months. Two earlier attempts by the board of education to obtain approval for increased millage went down to defeat.

TURNED DOWN

In June, voters turned down a 6.25-mill increase, which would have included 3.5 mills for operating expenses and 2.75 mills for a building program.

A second attempt in August to levy the

3.5 additional mills for operation also was rejected.

Mundy said the board, administration and members of the citizens' study committee, which had recommended approval of the renewal, were "very pleased with results of the election."

The board of education has been operating with a small carry-over from each year's budget, but the surplus has been steadily dwindling, according to the superintendent.

END OF SURPLUS

Mundy said expenditures for 1968-69 are anticipated to run about $167,000 over income, and added, "This is the last year we will have anything left over."

The 4-mill levy amounts to about $175,000 annually in tax income, he said. The district's current tax rate, which will remain the same with passage of the renewal, is 23.75, the lowest in Oakland County.

Troy to Air Condemnation for Acquiring Sylvan Glen

TROY — The City Commission at its meeting tonight at 7:30 is scheduled to discuss whether to begin condemnation proceedings for the purpose of acquiring Sylvan Glen Golf Course.

A suggested resolution directing City Attorney Stanley E. Burke to begin condemnation proceedings in Oakland County Circuit Court will be considered.

A week ago, the commission approved a final purchase offer of $1.4 million, or $8,750 per acre for the 160-acre course, located at 5725 Rochester.

However, city officials said at the time that they expected Detroit developers Samuel S. Bankle and Myron Sheffman, who hold an option on the property, to reject the offer.

$3-MILLION COST

Sale of the land to Bankle and Sheffman, who reportedly plan a subdivision on the golf course site, was announced last month by the Jim Robbins Co., which is presently continuing to operate the course. The purchase price was reported as $3 million.

Commissioners have said they intend to apply for a federal open space grant to finance about half of the purchase cost, with the rest to be paid by the city under a revenue bond. The course would then be operated as a municipal facility.

The commission two weeks ago approved an agreement with the Robbins Co. to split the cost of removal of an embankment at the south end of the course. At that time the possibility of condemnation and purchase was first discussed.

Also on tonight's agenda is a request from the Chrysler Realty Corp. for extension of city water service north along Crooks.

IMMEDIACY URGED

A letter from the firm asks that work on the extension be started as soon as possible, so that water will be available for the company's new office, now under construction at Crooks and I-75, is completed.

City Manager Paul York has recommended that the firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark Inc., 2709 Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, be authorized to do engineering work on the proposed extension.

Fairgrounds Study for Stadium Is Set

DETROIT (AP). — A proposal for a domed sports stadium at the Michigan State Fairgrounds will be studied by experts to see if it is economically feasible.

Announcement of the study was made Saturday by Alfred R. Glancy Jr., chairman of the development committee of the Michigan State Fair Authority, who said an architectural firm will be named Tuesday to undertake the job.

The proposed stadium would take some five years to build. It would include high-rise parking facilities and would have a seating capacity of "upwards of 88,000."

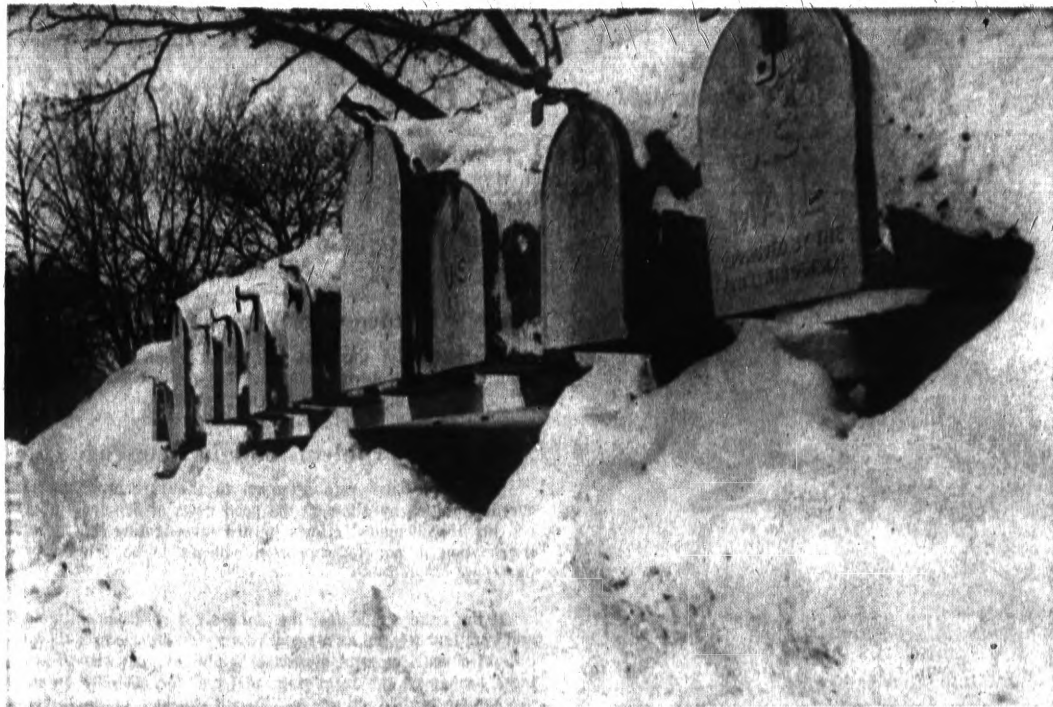

"We recognize that the basic financing of this stadium would obviously be based on a revenue bond issue and that the primary for having this economic study made," Glancy said.

Decision-Making Is Forum Topic

TROY — A human relations workshop entitled "Decisions '69: A Troy Community Forum," will be held weekly for six weeks beginning Thursday as part of the school district's adult education.

Mayor Jule R. Famularo will be keynote speaker for the first session of the workshop, which will deal with community decision-making processes.

Coordinator for the series Donald Hill, social studies instructor at Troy High School. The first two-hour session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Room 103 of the high school, 3179 Livernois. Tuition for the workshop is $5 per person or $8 per couple.

Critic Calls It Sharp-Edged

Maddox Satire Opens in N.Y.

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — "Red, White and Maddox," a funny, sharp-edged satire about the segregationist governor of Georgia, opened on Broadway last night—moved intact from Atlanta.

In that city, after Theater Atlanta opened it Oct. 3, the contents were controversial. In New York, it'll be a conversation piece. Here, satire theater on living political figures, like off-Broadway's "MacBird," is taken largely as something to talk about at cocktail parties.

"Red, White and Maddox" tells the story of the governor from a poultry beginning (owner of a fried chicken restaurant and a Mrs. Malaprop of the first backwater — "White's white and black's black and if you got two ears to hear with you can see that") to the roomy governor's mansion where he got lost.

Act two foresees a future in which Maddox is President, federal troops are gunning down the citizens of Muncie and the President, quoting God, talks Congress into declaring war on Russia.

NOT AS INCREDIBLE

It moves snappily throughout but Act Two in Don Tucker's and Jay Broad's play doesn't seem as inventive or as humorously incredible as Act One's "long steep dusty trail of deep water" that Maddox says he climbed.

Jay Garner plays Maddox with loosely shaking head and tongue slackly out, but a quick snap-to of vigor whenever desired.

The stage at the Cort Theater was full with 24 actors, marching around in old-fashioned drills, taking a variety of parts and singing some really top-quality songs by Tucker.

HE'LL SHOW 'EM

In the play, Maddox closes his restaurant rather than integrate it. Then he runs for governor, talking a lot against race mixing and communism. He's shown convincing farm folk that he'll show the city folk and convincing the rich to donate campaign money because he's going to win.

Songs are very effective, especially "Jubilee Joe," which worn over short-sleeved shirts — and the set, with red, white and blue designs on the floor and a papier mache eagle as a backdrop.

There weren't any real dances to all this music, only much formation walking and a few simple time steps. Instead of being a musical comedy chorus, these people are actors of the Theater Atlanta Repertory company.

Producer Edward Padula believes "Red, White and Maddox" is the first production from a regional theater transferred in toto into a Broadway show.

It Seems to Me . . .

Solons Have Golden Chance for Anti-Inflation Example

Congress is flirting tentatively with some whopping pay raises for a host of Federal employees. When it comes to their own salaries, the members are a bit kittenish and avoid direct questions and fend off blunt queries. But it's high on their secret list.

They avoid embarrassment.

If the spirals of inflation are to end, someone somewhere must take the bit in his teeth and say: "Let's start here."

Isn't it that simple?

How else can you do it?

The payroll increases that Congressmen are juggling for themselves are pretty enormous. Many people view their current incomes of $30,000 a year as quite adequate. In fact, you can put the finger on an uncomfortable number of Congressmen who are badly overpaid.

This current campaign in Washington follows closely and intentionally on the heels of the big increase granted the President. In consideration of President Nixon's bountiful raise, one must always bear one important fact in mind. His added $100,000 a year is knocked for a loop by the fact the government income tax whips $75,000 straight back into Federal coffers.

A "study commission" in Washington suggested Congress pay should be raised to $50,000. This is a whopping 67% increase which is a giant leap forward for those who are handsomely rewarded right now in the minds of most taxpayers who have to disgorge the money.

How can the House or the Senate seriously oppose increases anywhere else if they reach out and snatch a gigantic bite for themselves?

Echo follows: "How?"

Crime in Our Capital . . .

It's almost impossible to comprehend the crime in Washington, D.C. It sets new and horrible records all the time.

One day this year four banks were robbed, a record for a single day but Washington reported 102 in 1968. This was a 300% increase over 1967.

Already in 1969, a gunman shot and killed two FBI agents. Under arrest for these murders is an escaped convict who was supposed to have robbed another bank that very morning.

In the last eight years, crime

there has increased 175%. Mr. Nixon described Washington last fall as "one of the crime capitals of the world."

Think of this.

Armed robberies in 1968 leaped 90%—roughly—with 4,600 against 2,500. All robberies totaled over 10,000. That's over 30 a day, granting crooks knock off on the Sabbath and "keep it holy."

This may be a minor problem in Mr. Nixon's lap, but it's a very serious one.

Record Employment . . .

Employment hit an all-time record as 1968 bowed out. Statistics suggest the total of those without jobs was the lowest in 15 years. And the past periods constitute the most prosperous stretch in the history of this Nation—and probably any other.

The percentage of unemployed stood at 3.3% and there are always some unemployable. This refers to those completely handicapped physically, those with mental troubles and a small percentage who are "between jobs" and were listed as "unemployed."

This Nation touches a new peak. We're on the crest of the wave. And Pontiac stands very high on the total list of cities that are bounding along at a very rapid rate.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Oddly, as the days grow longer, all the gain for three weeks has been with the setting sun. It actually rises a trifle later in the morning for many days after December 21st; but the afternoon gain is greater than the morning loss. Three weeks after the shortest day, the sun was still rising at the December 21st hour but we're gaining at both ends now.

... A recent survey shows the parents of students at the University of Michigan expect the institution to exercise the same control over boys as they do over girls, with stiffer restrictions than are exercised now.

MICHELE

David Lawrence Says:

N. Korea Is Guilty of Savagery

WASHINGTON—The North Korean government stands before the world today as guilty of brutality and savagery in the treatment of the crew taken from the American naval ship Pueblo, and held as prisoners for 11 months. Behind this regime are the Communist governments in Moscow and Peking.

LAWRENCE

Will nations which believe in humanitarianism—even when they take into custody individuals from enemy forces—allow the incident to go unnoticed?

Will the protests come from far and wide so that the principles of civilized practice in dealing fairly with prisoners will be widely publicized?

Why do the Communist governments tolerate vicious tactics by their own puppet states? Do they think that they themselves escape responsibility?

Most of the people throughout the world have hitherto assumed that the Soviet government would not have permitted the men who managed its enslaved countries to risk the worldwide publication of the way Communists sometimes handle prisoners.

The Communist extremists believe in torture, and they exact "confessions" for the purpose of publicity and propaganda.

AUTHORIZATION

One thing that would frustrate such tactics would be for the United States government to announce that any Americans hereafter seized by the Communists anywhere have been authorized to "confess" or admit anything they are asked to say by their captors. This would render these documents immediately valueless as propaganda. The rest of the world can do much to teach the Communists that this doesn't help them gain either the respect or the cooperation of other nations. International law requires that prisoners be given humane treatment.

North Korea has not proved that the Pueblo was inside her 12-mile limit, but certainly it will be hard for anyone to show that veering a mile or two from the prescribed line deserves the punishment accorded to the men on the Pueblo.

What they saw from a 13-mile position, as contrasted with 11 miles or even three—which has been the customary territorial limit—was surely nothing that could threaten the safety of North Korea to the point where such stern measures were necessary.

SOME DAY

Some day North Korea will need the friendship of free peoples as it emerges from an era of tyranny and despotism, but between now and such a time the American people will be wondering whether any of the sensible human beings north of the 38th Parallel will care enough about their own future to persuade the North Korean government to correct the wrong which has been done.

Will the proper punishment be administered even belatedly to the officials who have portrayed their country before the world as a nation of savagery and inhumanity?

Bob Considine Says:

New Soviet Jet Fighter Gives Pentagon Jitters

NEW YORK—The hottest fighter in the world today is not the Air Force's F111 or France's Mirage. It is a remarkable and ominous new Russian jet.

CONSIDINE

Indeed, the Russians have several new fighters flying which may be far more sophisticated than anything the free world has in operation. They go by such names, in Pentagon briefings, as Fish-bat and Fishpot.

But Fox-bat is causing most of the jitters and stimulating the programs aimed at closing the only recently discovered and highly disturbing fighter gap. The tension is compounded by the failure of the F111 and its Navy counterpart to measure up to Robert McNamara's costly dream of creating a plane that would please all of its hypercritical users.

Information about the new Soviet fighters, especially the Fox-bat was not easy to come by. But enough is now known about it to convince air-war planners that it could win air superiority over any plane the Soviet Union might covet. Our present workhorses, the F4 and F105, were originally flown more than 10 years ago. They would be no match in any dog-fight with the new Russian jobs.

SOMETHING BEING DONE
Something is being done about it right now at Grumman, Long Island's great aerospace hatchery.

Its resident wizards have squeezed the last drops out of the highly classified specifications of the Fox-bat and have come up with the mock-up of a fighter born to beat it.

The Grumman F14 somewhat resembles the Russian fighter in that it is as rakish as a needle, has a swing wing, can be carrier-based and has the kick of a million mules, plus.

The F14 is not just a warmed-over F111B, which the Navy canceled out after seven copies (at about $10 million each).

MORE PUNCH

It will weigh 20,000 pounds less than the F111B, pack more punch, fly too high to be seen or come in at tree-top level ahead of its sound. With its wings tucked back the F14 can do 1,500 m.p.h. With its wings spread it can land on a carrier deck as easily as a gull.

It can hit targets the pilots cannot see, take off from a carrier deck in still air.

Reactions

The Muskegon Chronicle

Although skeptics have cited the emptiness of space as evidence of the absence of a place-defined sort of "God," a different reaction has come regularly from American astronauts.

This was the case with the country's first man in orbit in 1962, Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., a Presbyterian active in church affairs, who told questioners after he came back from his trailblazing trip:

"To try to limit God to one particular section of space or something like that is a very foolish thing to do. . . . God is certainly bigger than that and I think he will be wherever we go."

★ ★ ★

Other astronauts—Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, a Methodist; Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter, an Episcopalian; Maj. L. Gordon Cooper, a Methodist, and Maj. James McDivitt, a Catholic—have voiced similar views.

State Official Has Time on His Hands

LANSING (AP) — In a way, you couldn't blame Bernie Apol if he knocked the block off the next guy who asked him the time of day.

Time has been a headache for Apol, the state elections director, since the Nov. 5 election. Perhaps it will finally go away this week.

Unofficial postelection returns showed the Daylight Savings Time proposal carried in Michigan by a narrow but sufficient margin.

For nearly a month, everybody thought that was what happened. Then the counties finished sending their figures to Apol's office and the state total indicated a fast-time defeat by 415 votes.

SENT OUT CALL

Apol then sent out a call for vote returns from each of the 5,500-plus precincts in the state and he and his staff began looking them over and adding them up.

The result: four apparent errors boosted the margin of defeat to 1,501.

Then the State Chamber of Commerce and other business groups chipped in $13,305—reportedly against the advice of their own experts' advice—to recount the votes in 2,661 precincts all over the state and try to overturn the defeat.

Observers snickered at the thought of whittling away 1,501 votes. Then the recount returns started coming in and the margin began to melt. It dipped last week to around 250 votes and now stands at about 400.

The recount should be finished this week.

Whatever the outcome, though, the very size and number of discovered errors raise some questions. Apol says he is looking for the answers.

What happened?

"I haven't completely analyzed that one yet," Apol said. He added mistakes occurred in counting paper ballots, in writing down and adding voting machine totals, and so on.

An error in Wayne County alone trimmed the margin by 500 votes. "I have a theory (about the Wayne County report)," Apol said, "but I want to know before I say anything."

How significant were the errors?

From a strictly statistical viewpoint, not very. The recount brought a net change of about 1,100 votes, or less than 0.04 per cent. The percentage of precincts where mistakes were found is "relatively insignificant," Apol added.

Isn't it a little suspicious that nearly all the errors discovered lean in the same direction—so that the margin constantly shrinks? he was asked.

Not really, Apol said. He adds that if the 500 - vote error in Wayne County is discounted, the remaining error is 600 votes. This, he suggests, is not surprising.

In the last big statewide recount—on the question of whether the new state constitution was approved by voters in 1962 —a check of fewer precincts gave a net change of about 450 votes, he said.

FOUL UP

Does the savings time foul-up suggest that other election returns might also be riddled with errors?

Not to the same extent, Apol believes. He says the big Wayne County error apparently was the type which could occur only in voting on ballot propositions, not in political races.

Besides, he adds, ballot proposals are the last things counted on election night and election workers, weary by then, are more prone to mistakes.

A number of recounts conducted by Apol's office last year—involving races for judgeships and county offices—overturned only one result. In that case, somebody wrote, a nine that looked like a four, adding in 50 votes that weren't there.

NO GOOD ANSWER

What can be done to prevent recurrence of the DST mix-up?

"I've kicked around some answers, but I don't really have a good one," Apol said.

Trimming the number of local boards of canvassers, giving county boards more power, perhaps centralizing the election process under his bureau—Apol suggests those as possibilities.

"We're going to have to look at this and come up with some recommendations to keep this from happening again," he said, adding:

"You're never going to hit perfection, but we just have to find ways of getting closer to it."

'Nazi Attack Caused Stalin Breakdown'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Josef Stalin was so sure that Hitler would never attack Russia that he had a nervous breakdown that paralyzed the Kremlin's two weeks after the German invasion began, it was reported Saturday.

Harrison Salisbury, veteran correspondent in Russia and now assistant managing editor of the New York Times, wrote in a new book, "The 900 Days: The Siege of Leningrad," that the Soviet dictator refused to believe the many unmistakable signs of imminent Nazi invasion and ascribed all such reports to a British trick to make trouble between Russia and Germany.

"Indeed, had anyone in the inner circle suggested to Stalin that his estimate of the situation was mistaken, he would, in all probability, have been ordered to the firing squad," Salisbury wrote.

Stalin so feared any military move within Russia that might incite Hitler that Soviet forces were under orders not to return the fire of the invaders when German armies actually crossed the Russian border on June 22, 1941.

LOCKED HIMSELF UP

Prior to the invasion German reconnaissance planes had made accidental landings at Soviet airports without any action on the part of Russian authorities.

After the invasion, Stalin locked himself in his office in a state of collapse, saw no one, and absented himself from all governmental meetings until the middle of July.

A junta took over, including Georgi Malenkov and Lavrenti Beria, but even so there were no important decisions made for almost a week after the Nazi attack.

Salisbury said that Stalin returned to his office and finally assumed direction of military operations at the behest of the Politburo.

which for 17 years was Al Capone's headquarters was sold again this month. It has had many owners since Jan. 25, 1947 — 22 years ago Saturday — when a doctor told newsmen at the gate that Capone had died.

Built by beer baron Clarence M. Busch in 1922 and sold to Capone in 1928 for $40,000, the stucco garden spot became a sanctuary for gangsters cavorting with their flapper girlfriends and playing poker with $1,000 bills.

$200,000 SPENT

Capone reportedly spent another $200,000 adding a swimming pool, cabanas and other improvements to the lushly landscaped 100-by-300-foot property.

After Capone died, Thomas W. Mitchell of Cleveland, Ohio, paid Mrs. Mae Capone more than $64,000 for the 25-room mansion with the green Spanish tile roof and said he planned to "live there long enough to take the Capone curse off it."

The "curse" was the prying eyes of tourists snapping pictures from the decks of tour boats and peering through the gates. It was too much for Mitchell.

"The man who sold me the house just couldn't take it," Harry Renckert, the second post-Capone owner once said. "I'm leaving, getting out, too."

Police, Young Czechs Battle

PRAGUE (AP) — Police battled young Czechs trying to memorialize Jan Palach during the night in Wenceslas Square and arrested three of them early today.
As one of the youths was clubbed, the crowd surged around the police, shouting, "Russian stooges!" and, "Get them!"

"We are just following orders," one young policeman explained.
"Your duty is to be humane," a student countered.
The students were protesting removal by the police of candles, flowers and signs placed against the statue of St. Wenceslas in tribute to Palach, the 21-year-old student who burned himself to death to protest the Soviet occupation. He was buried Saturday.

BREAK UP CROWD
Earlier Sunday, about 100 police used tear gas to break up a crowd of 2,000 that had gathered near the statue in Prague's main square.

One student who produced a portrait of Palach from under his coat was grabbed and escorted away. Other students tried to divert police attention while their companions dashed up to place candles on the statue.

A dozen officers mounted an all-night guard to prevent anyone from putting up new candles or signs. More police—many brought in from outlying areas for the tense funeral day—waited in two buses and in patrol cars parked near the square.

In Italy, where there have been three days of anti-Soviet demonstrations to express support for Czechoslovakia and to honor Palach, Pope Paul VI spoke of the self-immolation.

'TREASURE VALUE'
"We cannot approve of the tragic form of this testimony, but we can treasure its value," the pontiff said at his weekly appearance in St. Peter's Square. He said the burnings were "tragic episodes... which carry to a supreme degree self sacrifice and love for others."

Vatican police tried to prevent students from displaying pro-Czechoslovak signs, and one student was cut on the forehead in a scuffle.

One sign read: "Pope Paul VI, please pray for the Czech martyrs and for Czech liberty." Another said: "Christ is being crucified in Prague."

A group of Czechoslovaks in London asked Prime Minister Harold Wilson to urge the United Nations "to negotiate the immediate withdrawal of Soviet occupation forces from Czechoslovakia."

Their letter was submitted at Wilson's official residence, No. 10 Downing Street, by four girls and three boys in Czechoslovak national costumes. About 1,000 persons took part in the orderly demonstration.

LBJ Review of Presidency Stresses Social Legislation

CHICAGO (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson says he hopes the Nixon administration will expand his domestic programs to make the "quality of life" for all Americans match the quantity of our wealth.

In his first published comments since relinquishing the presidency to Richard M. Nixon one week ago, Johnson says he had no "acceptable option" to escalating the Vietnam war—a war he called "the most frustrating of all crises."

The former president clearly identifies himself with social legislation and reveals his regret that international developments prevented him from concentrating solely on domestic improvements.

In the article which is both a hope for the future and a defense of his five years in the White House—Johnson writes that "the agony and the cruelty of the American presidency is that . . . the world will not permit the occupant of the office—nor the American people themselves—to attend the needs of this society without diversion."

Johnson wrote the 30,000-word commentary on his White House years for the Encyclopedia Britannica Book of the Year to be published March 1.

Entitled, "Agenda for the Future: A Presidential Perspective," it was released today.

Johnson devotes two-thirds of the article to a defense of his domestic policy and proposes specifics to alleviate poverty: provide for economic growth; insure housing, jobs, education and medical benefits for everyone, and stem local crime.

The remainder is devoted to foreign policy and contains proposals for bringing the world closer to peace, including "the improvement of our relations with Communist China."

On Vietnam, Johnson says he dreaded the prospect of being "a wartime president . . . but history determined that I should face the awful choice of intervention or retreat in Southeast Asia."

VIETNAM FRUSTRATION

"I could not escape or delay it. Vietnam has been the most frustrating of all the crises I have faced."

Although containing several other foreign policy observations, the summary stresses Johnson's concern with the improvement of the lot of the poor and, without mentioning it by name, says the new administration should not curtail programs initiated through the Office of Economic Opportunity to alleviate poverty.

"We can turn our backs, if we wish," Johnson writes, "and future generations will say of us: At the very moment when they had more wealth than any civilization in history, they allowed poverty to become a permanent part of the American way of life."

However, he adds, "By the time we enter our third century (in 1976), or very soon thereafter, we can, if we will, make the commitments of the 1960s a reality for all our people."

As a solution to the problems of poverty, Johnson suggests the creation of more jobs, family-planning services, improved schools in the slums and a reform of the public welfare system. Social Security benefits should be raised by Congress to a minimum of $100 monthly.

Threats to sabotage the investiture of Prince Charles as prince of Wales have caused the British government to double the bodyguard for him.

Two detectives now follow the 20-year-old prince during his studies at Trinity College.

Officials have voiced fears for the prince's safety when he goes to Aberystwyth University College in Wales for the summer term.

Welsh home-rule advocates have threatened to sabotage the investiture ceremony in Wales July 1.

Pontiac Central All-A Student Is Junior Achiever

By JODY HEADLEE

School Page Editor, The Pontiac Press
Carol Washington is an achiever.

From dawn to dark, she sets about accomplishing the tasks that make her an all-A student at Pontiac Central High School, a leader in her church's (Trinity Baptist) youth group, Interclub Council representative for the Young Women's Christian Association's Y-Teens, secretary-treasurer for Central's Student Council and president of Susco, a Junior Achievement corporation.

* * *

Attractive and petite, she is the daughter of SFC and Mrs. Eddie Washington of 42 Stout. Her father, a 24-year career soldier, is presently serving a hitch in Vietnam prior to his retirement from the service.

"He left last November but," said Carol with a wistful smile, "he'll be back in time for Christmas this year."

Being an "Army brat" has been fun for Carol. She has met young people from all parts of the world while living near bases where her father was stationed.

"I have pen pals from France and all over our country including Hawaii," she said. "And I did have one from Germany until she recently moved to the United States."

* * *

Carol's 2½-year sojourn in France had a great deal to do with French becoming one of her favorite high school courses.

"I loved living in France," said Carol. "The people were so friendly. When the weather was warm enough, we went to the beach almost every day."

SHE'S A BOWLER

"And that's where I became interested in bowling. We could always use the lanes at the base. Though finding time to bowl presents a problem now."

"Being the oldest daughter at home, I have to do my share of household duties. Then, there's nearly four hours of homework every night."

"That, plus my Y-Teens, youth activities at the church and Junior Achievement doesn't leave too much time left over. And then too, I baby-sit on the other nights."

Carol's brothers and sisters include Rufus, Elizabeth, Jonathan, Ruth and Lise. Rufus is studying counseling at Oakland Community College and Elizabeth social work at Eastern Michigan University.

Jonathan is a sophomore at Pontiac Central, Ruth a seventh grader at Washington Junior High and Lise a first grader at Crofoot Elementary.

THINKING OF FUTURE

A junior, 16-year-old Carol is thinking about her future. She would like to go to either Stanford University in California or the University of Michigan and major in psychology.

* * *

"I would like to become a psychiatrist," said Carol, "but the number of years it takes scares me. I want to work with people...to help them solve their problems."

EARN MONEY, HAVE FUN

"Originally, I got into the program because a friend, Velma Williams, said it was a good way to earn money and have fun at the same time. And it is!"

"But it also give you an insight into what companies and corporations do; how they operate. And it teaches the value of being able to accept responsibility."

* * *

"This is my second year in JA, and every bit of the time I've spent in it has been worthwhile. I'm most enthusiastic about our company's latest project, a night light. It will sell for around $3 and comes in pastel shades as well as white. Our company, Susco, has just started to assemble the lights. They will be on sale soon. My brother Jonathan, the company's top salesman, is a lot of help too."

MORE TEENS NEEDED

"The only problem we have at the Pontiac Business Center," said Carol, "is that we need more young people from the area to participate."

For the first time in its 50 years, JA is promoting member recruitment during National JA Week, today through Sunday.

* * *

Rochester, 180 S. Livernois (Rochester High School), Avon Township; and Utica, 7486 Industrial, Sterling Township.

10 TO BE FETED

Other special activities included in the national golden anniversary celebration included the feting of 10 top male achievers from cities in Michigan's southeastern JA district at today's Economic Club of Detroit luncheon.

Tomorrow, presidents of 320 JA companies in the district will attend the Presidents' Banquet at Detroit's Statler-Hilton Hotel at 6:30 p.m. Delivering the keynote speech at the banquet will be James Harlan, president of Cogitate Inc., a data processing firm that updates computer procedures.

* * *

Wednesday, superintendents and principals of metropolitan schools working with Junior Achievement will be guests at the first Educators' Day luncheon at Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel.

* * *

Finalists in the JA Mr. Executive Miss Junior Achievement Contest will compete Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Sheraton-Cadillac. District winners will attend the National JA Conference at Indiana University in August.

AREA JUDGES

Area men acting as judges in the event are Donald McGaw, vice president-planning, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and president of JA of Southeastern Michigan Inc., and Milo Hector, regional vice president of Standard Oil Division, American Oil Co.

* * *

Other judges include Eugene P. Hawkins, vice president of Revere Copper and Brass Inc., and Elmer E. Sivacek, general manager of Introl Division, Chrysler Corp.

The 1,000 volunteer advisers and their wives will be honored Friday at the second annual Adviser-Wife Recognition Dinner Dance in the Riverside Ballroom at Cobo Hall. McGaw will host the event.

GLEEFUL GAL — Carol Washington jumps for joy as she chalks up a strike at her favorite bowling spot, Westside Lanes, 207 Orchard Lake. Carol learned to like bowling in France when her family accompanied her father (a sergeant in the Army) on a tour of duty.

THAT TIME OF YEAR — Carol didn't squander any opportunity to cram for last Monday's semester finals; she used her study halls wisely. An all-A student, she hopes to major in psychology at California's Stanford University or the University of Michigan when she graduates from Pontiac Central High School. She estimates she averages about four hours a night on school work. Her favorite subjects include French, English and mathematics.

PRODUCTION PROCESS — Junior Achievers (from left) Jonathan Washington (Carol's brother), Karen Williams and Carol listen to their adviser, Martin Koenig of Fisher Body Division, as he gives them hints on setting up a production line for their latest project, a night light. Previous projects made by their company, Susco, include wall plaques and Christmas tree ornaments.

CHARM CLUB — Carol and Cynthia Buerger, a fellow Pontiac Central High student, practice calisthenics as a part of their Charm Club routine.

KITCHEN DETAIL — Madame President takes her turn at the dishpan while her sister Ruth, 12, lends a hand on towel detail. Ruth is a pupil at Washington Junior High School.

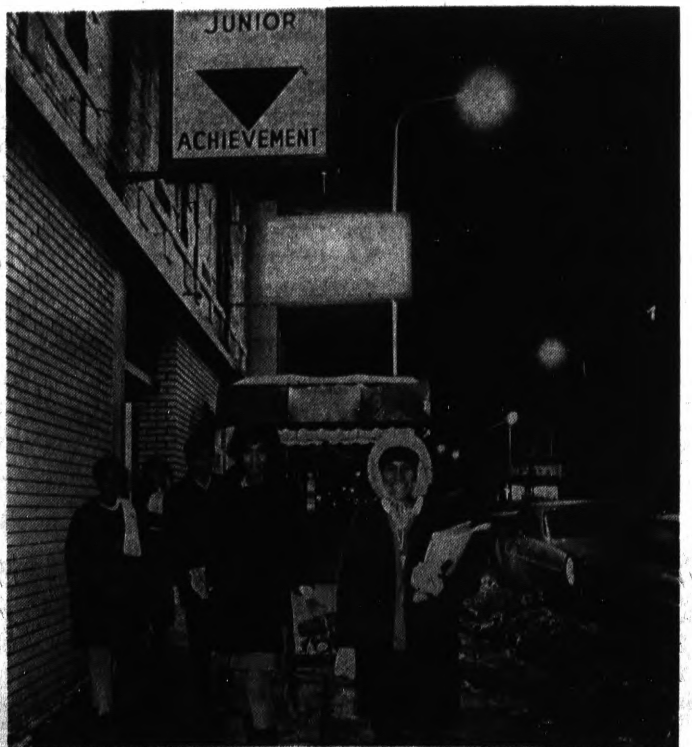

AUTHENTIC COSTUME — Carol's mother, Mrs. Eddie Washington of 42 Stout, shows her daughter how to fashion the obi or sash. A native of Japan, Mrs. Washington makes sure her six children are aware of their Japanese heritage and customs. The Washingtons' two oldest children, Rufus and Elizabeth, were born in Japan. Carol, Jonathan, Ruth and Lise were all born in the United States.

secretary and Mary Lewis treasurer. Jonathan is the company's top salesman. Launched today, Junior Achievement Week will be celebrated through Sunday by Junior Achievers throughout the United States.

GOOD NIGHT — A big day is over as Carol and her fellow Junior Achievers close up shop and head for home. The Pontiac Business Center, headed by James A. Waters, is at 20½ E. Pike. JA is currently conducting a midwinter recruitment drive. High school students interested in joining may contact the center for further information. Achievers meet one night a week, Monday through Thursday, from 7 to 9.

Arabs Report 'Clarifications' by Nixon

By the Associated Press

President Nixon's administration has made "clarifications" to Arab governments modifying Four meeting at the United Nations to push for an Arab-Israeli settlement. In New York, U.N. sources said the United States seems inclined to turn down France's proposal because it believes more can be accomplished by talking with various countries individually.

The paper said Nixon's position is that Johnson's reply of Jan. 15, which the Arabs claimed was "pro-Israeli," should not be viewed as a detailed statement of America's policy.

Al Ahran said this was conveyed to Arab ambassadors and representatives in Washington and also to the Egyptian government.

Al Ahran reported earlier this month the Soviet Union had proposed that the major powers pressure Israel to give up territories it occupied in the June 1967 war in return for an Arab declaration ending their state of belligerency. Al Ahran said Johnson instead advocated a U.N. peacemaking effort to encourage direct Arab-Israeli talks.

The Soviet Union has since thrown its support behind France's proposal for a Big Four meeting at the United Nations to push for an Arab-Israeli settlement. In New York, U.N. sources said the United States seems inclined to turn down France's proposal because it believes more can be accomplished by talking with various countries individually.

The sources said the thinking of the Nixon administration is running along these lines:

- The United Nations, the Security Council's resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, and the peace initiative of special U.N. representative Gunnar V. Jarring are the best instruments to promote a Middle East settlement.

- There would be no utility in creating new machinery for that purpose.

- A Big Four conference might look like an attempt to impose a solution, and an imposed solution would not work. But other diplomats said they still expect a Big Four meeting to be held at the United Nations during the third week in February. Jarring was due in New York today for talks with Secretary-General U Thant and they tended to regard his visit as a prelude.

Britain made known Saturday it is basically sympathetic to the idea of a Big Four meeting, although it wants to discuss the purpose and the timing of such a conference with the Arabs and Israelis first.

Al Ahran also quoted "foreign diplomatic sources" in Cairo as saying that Israeli authorities have ceased reporting "except in the narrowest confines" Arab guerrilla activities in the occupied territories.

The newspaper said inhabitants of Israeli settlements have the cruel and most inhuman ac- been instructed to "endure in silence" Arab sabotage raids so that less publicity and support be given the Arab commando movement.

In Jerusalem, 17 Arab women wounded; the dynamiting of Arab homes in retaliation for Church of the Holy Sepulcher to sabotage incidents, the annexation of Arab Jerusalem and the building of Jewish settlements on Arab lands.

Police said the four women were held for distributing leaflets, but that the others would not be removed unless church authorities requested it. The ancient church is reputed to be on the site of the burial place of Christ.

The women, leaders of both Christian and Moslem women's Israel's national shipping line, the West Bank, told newsmen purchase another 250,000-ton they were fasting to "protest tanker costing $17 million. It will be the Gaza Strip Jan. 20 in which one woman was killed and nine women and children were dynamiting of

Griffin Praises Youth, Hits Campus Strife

YPSILANTI (AP) — U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., praised the "spirit of rebellion" in the younger generation Sunday, but he strongly criticized youths who have caused disruptions on the nation's campuses.

"If the day ever comes when the younger generation has no spirit of rebellion, that will be the day to start worrying in earnest about the future of America," Griffin said in delivering the commencement address at Eastern Michigan University.

"Many in my generation find it difficult to recognize that a spirit of rebellion among young people is vital—and is just as important today as it was in 1900 or in 1776," he said.

"In a sense, each new generation of Americans has turned on its elders and has rebelled against the Establishment. In the process, our republic has grown and remained dynamic," he said.

'KNOCKS DEFLERS'

Griffin said, however, he was strongly opposed to young people who seize and burn college buildings or who defile the offices of university presidents.

"Their violence is not rebellion of the mind. It is more like the selfish lashing out of the defeated who are bent on destroying all around them," he said.

About 825 seniors and graduate students received degrees at the commencement exercises. Griffin, a Traverse City Republican, was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

GENERATION GAP

In his speech, Griffin said the recent rapid advances in technology have stretched the "misunderstanding gap" between generations to the breaking point.

Observing that 70 per cent of EMU's graduating class have teaching certificates, Griffin said teachers must act as a bridge between the young and old.

"Our future depends on the ability of America's teachers to close the misunderstanding gap and bring the generations closer together," he said.

"Not only must you be willing to probe with students that which is wrong, but also you must teach and defend that which is right around our system."

Griffin, who has served on U.S. Senate and House educational committees for 13 years, also holds a teaching certificate and is married to a former high school teacher.

He described his certificate as "one of my prize possessions."

How Carolina Lady Relieved Painful, Itching Piles

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Mrs. C. McKinney of Rutherfordton, N.C., says: "Preparation H relieved my pain and stopped my itching. I can now work and be comfortable. I've told lots of friends who've had the same results."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases — Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced. There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

7 Police Clear in Perjury Case

DETROIT (AP) — Seven Detroit policemen, suspended from the force three years ago, have been cleared of a perjury charge and now are eligible for reinstatement.

Judge Frank G. Schemanske ruled the seven had been forced to testify before Wayne County's one-man grand jury, Judge Edward S. Piggins, on pain of losing their jobs and so had been denied their constitutional rights to protection from self-incrimination.

Two 1967 U.S. Supreme Court decisions stating that policemen have the same Fifth Amendment rights as other citizens were the basis of Schemanske's dismissal of the charges. The seven were accused of having lied while testifying about police acceptance of gifts and services from bar owners and liquor license holders.

The seven are Daniel Ellen, Leon Barnett, Frederick Breslin, Robert Brown, Gustave Herbstreit, Anthony Klimbal and Frank Zugel.

How to Choose a College—5

Selection Is Aided by Taking Stock of Yourself

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fifth article in a series on the dos and don'ts to observe in selecting the right college for you.)

By ELLA MAZEL
NEA Publications

People who plan to invest in the stock market are advised to take stock of themselves first, and to decide whether they are temperamentally suited to be "conservative," "enterprising," or "speculative." Your approach to college choice can be described in exactly the same terms.

Let's assume that you are "typical" in the sense that your SAT or ACT scores do relate to your total school performance, and that you have an SAT score of 532 or an ACT score of 24.

Think of your number score as the midpoint of a 60-point SAT spread or 3-point ACT spread. For easier arithmetic, round your SAT score to the nearest 0 or 5.

In this example, your 532 rounds to 530 and your personal range is therefore 500-560 SAT or 23-25 ACT.

MULTIPLE SCORE

If you only have PSAT scores to work with (this is the test that precedes the regular SAT), multiply your score by 10 and add 60 points to the result to give you the bottom and top of your range. For example, a PSAT 50 would be the equivalent of the 500-560 range in this illustration.

Let's group the colleges by colors as we do in THE 1969 GUIDE TO COLLEGE SELECTION.

These are the divisions:

COLLEGE RANGE	Color	ACT range
Over 625	Yellow	28 or above
575-625	Pink	26-27
525-575	Green	24-25
475-525	Salmon	22-23
Under 475	Blue	21 or below

As you can see from this scale of college ranges, your personal range of 500-560 overlaps the "green" and "salmon" categories. Now, if you are:

1. Speculative — you should feel free to consider the "pink" and possibly even the "yellow" groups of colleges. But keep in mind that the question is not only where you can get in, but where you will actually be once you're there.

It's a long drop down to earth from cloud nine.

If accepted at one of these colleges, you would be in an intellectually challenging but extremely competitive situation, involving incredibly hard work, little free time for the "extras" of college life, and probably Cs to show for it. If you can see yourself in this picture, well and good. Go to it.

2. Enterprising — you are well within the "green," where you would be a more or less average student depending on the position of the particular college within its range.

Your chances for acceptance are very good but by no means certain. The work might be demanding, but you could probably handle it and still have time for a satisfying extracurricular and social life.

3. Conservative — your chances are excellent for the "salmon" colleges, while the "blue" would be about as close to a sure thing as one can hope for. In these ranges, you can figure on taking life pretty easy

Cattle, Calves on Feed Show Increase in State

LANSING (AP)—Farmers in Michigan had 200,000 head of cattle and calves on feed Jan. 1, says the State Crop Reporting Service.

This was seasonally up from last quarter's 113,000 head and 7 per cent over the Jan. 1, 1968 count.

Of the total on feed this year, the service says 84 per cent were steers, 15 per cent heifers and the remainder cows.

Marketing during the previous quarter from Michigan feedlots totaled some 42,000 head, 7 per cent fewer than the fourth quarter of 1967.

and still achieving passable to superior grades.

If you haven't yet taken any tests, or if your scores do not "represent" the real you, your guidance counselor should be able to advise you about where you fit by superimposing on our "spectrum" a roughly estimated equivalent based on an A plus to C — spread, or even something as intangible as a scale from "outstanding" to "below average."

After all this, the fact remains that no matter how wisely you choose and how clearly suited you appear to be, there is no certainty of admission to any college.

You must therefore follow another basic rule of investing known as diversification, or not putting all your eggs in one basket. You must work within at least two ranges, and possibly three, in order to spread the risk.

It's particularly important, if you are obviously "yellow" college material, that you carefully investigate your possibilities in the "pink" range.

These will act as your "safety net" and you just might need them. Even the best acrobats sometimes fall off the high wire — and, sad to say, it could happen to you.

Incidentally, many colleges that might appear to be "beneath" you — in the "green" or even "salmon" — may have interesting honors, independent or experimental programs to attract students of your caliber.

Equally important, don't assume that a low score automatically rules out the upper-level colleges. If you have something special to offer — and it may only be an over-riding desire to get the highest form of higher education — by all means try for them, among others.

Between these extremes lies an infinity of graduations and variations so — to drag in still another analogy — place your bets across the board and you'll be sure to either win, place, or — at least — show.

THE PONTIAC PRESS, MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1969

"That sounded great!" might be what pianist Ann Dougan (left) is saying to organist Ginger Collins. They're practicing long hours this week for the organ-piano concert they'll give Friday for the benefit of the Drayton Plains Nature Center. The Donald Dougans and the Robert Collinses both live on Masefield Court in Bloomfield Township.

Music, Nature Bind Long Friendship

Membership in the Kern Lake branch, National Farm and Garden Association, brought Ginger Collins and Ann Dougan together. Then they discovered both are musicians. Now, they're busy practicing for a Friday evening concert for the benefit of The Drayton Plains Nature Center.

Ginger Collins grew up in Kentucky although she was born in Mt. Clemens. A music education graduate from Western Kentucky University, she had her own 15-minute organ program nightly on a Bowling Green, Ky. radio station and played in a supper club.

She is also a cellist and played two years with the South Oakland Symphony after moving to this area in 1961. A former student of Eric Norris, whom she says is "really great," Ginger spends eight hours a day at her Hammond organ. She and her husband, Robert, live on Masefield Court in Bloomfield Township.

She holds an office in her garden club and is on the board of trustees for the Nature Center. She will be conservation chairman at the 1969 Pontiac Mall Flower Show in September.

Ann and Donald Dougan moved to this area four and a half years ago. They have four children, ranging in age from 14 to 22.

Ann who studied art at Oklahoma State University played the piano with the Oklahoma City Symphony and the Waco, Texas Symphony.

Once a display designer for a Chicago department store, she continues her interest in interior design and in a variety of arts and crafts. The Dougans also are enthusiastic members of the "People to People" program. She is vice president of the Kern Lake club.

The benefit concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. at Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School Auditorium, on Lahser Road, north of West Long Lake Road. Tickets are available from the musicians, at the Drayton Plains Nature Center, at Grinnell's in The Pontiac Mall and also at the door the night of the concert.

Drayton Plains Nature Center on Hatchery Road, which has been open for almost two years, is a nonprofit educational and conservation center and wildlife sanctuary. It is open daily without admission from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m.

Shakey Godoshian's Office Expertise Carries Into Leisure Time Activities

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

It may not be new math, but the simple facts are Shakey Godoshian at work on relaxing equals an all-around gal Friday.

Then again, a secretary's secretary might be the best way to describe the brown eyed, petite Shakey, (pronounced with short a), whose professional hours are spent at the Oakland County Court House.

Here you'll find her office, an adjunct of the probate court, situated on the ground floor where Shakey functions as deputy probate registrar and supervises probate estate services.

In this capacity, which she's filled since the late 1940s, Shakey handles general probate procedures, from beginning to end, on estate forms submitted by attorneys as well as the general public.

In brief, it's an endless matter of checking and rechecking information, setting and recording court hearing dates, and filing the thousands of cases annually submitted.

Away from the office, Shakey, presides over a makeshift dinette table desk in her East Pike Street apartment, where she catches up on paper work as recording secretary for Sigma Beta National Sorority Inc.

Shakey was elected to the post, her first national office, during the 45th annual convention in Chicago last October.

This newest feather in her sorority cap of achievements, is the result of noteworthy participation at the local level. She was named Psi chapter's Girl of Year for 1964 for instance.

"The year that was" for the Pontiac native, however, was 1961, when longtime friend and past Sigma Beta national president, Mrs. Wallace Williams, convinced Shakey to join Psi chapter.

From her first job as charity finance chairman, Shakey launched out in the fall of 1966 to assist in setting up Sigma Nu chapter, her present home base.

She has held the local office of treasurer and has been editor and member of the charity finance committee on national levels as well.

Within the past eight years, the Pontiac area has added three chapters to the original Psi chapter which brings half of the total number of Michigan Sigma Beta chapters located in this vicinity.

In addition to working for nationally sponsored projects for 1969, the National Kidney Foundation, the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and an education fund for Indians in the Arizona province, the local chapters have donated time and monies to Pontiac State Hospital and Camp Oakland.

In this respect, notes Shakey, the 62 active chapters and five associate chapters spread across the United States are enabled to work closely together while simultaneously serving their community.

If that doesn't sound for a busy timetable of activities, add a feather for her second year of services as chairman of Komitas Choir at St. John's Armenian Church in Southfield.

Shakey is also recording secretary for the Central Council of the Association of Armenian Church Choirs of America, to which Komitas belongs. While this marks her third year in office, due to an unexpected vacancy, she was officially elected to the post last October.

There's also Shakey the golfer, swimmer and cook (her specialty—Armenian dishes, of course) and for quiet evenings while listening to favorite recordings, Shakey, the needlepointer.

Filt Mail Continues to Plague Readers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Today I received a third class letter addressed to my "husband" and myself. (My husband has been dead for 12 years.) There was no return address on the envelope, but it was post-marked "Los Angeles."

Upon opening it I found an invitation to send for a book on sex relations for $10. There were also drawings of "things to use" — about 10 items ranging from $10 to $75 each.

From whom did these sellers of pornography get my name? I thought there was a law against sending this kind of stuff through the mails.

I know I can just throw junk like this in the wastepaper basket, but people who peddle such stuff should be put out of business.

What do you advise? TWIN CITIAN

DEAR ABBY: Our 16-year-old son recently received in the mails a catalog listing some "stag films" at $35 each. Some of the titles were "Hubby Returns from out of Town Unexpectedly," "A Wedding Night Through the Keyhole," "Love Making Techniques in 30 Different Countries," and "Boys with Boys and Girls with Girls." Do I have to say anything further?

Abby, our son is a decent, clean-minded young man, who is active in the youth group at our church. He brought this catalog to his father saying he had no idea why it was sent to him.

Now, YOU tell ME. What are parents supposed to do about a situation like this?

UPSET IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR ABBY: What on earth is going on? I do believe there is a Communist plot afoot to destroy our great nation from the inside by corrupting our young people with filth and rotten literature.

The most obscene bunch of paperback books I've ever in my life seen came in the mail today. The pictures and subject matter are so terrible I can't even tell you about it.

I don't want these dirty books around my house and I don't see why I should spend my good money sending them back. A friend suggested that I return them postage due to teach the senders a lesson. What do you think I should do?

IRRITATED IN LOUISVILLE

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about objectionable material received in the mail? I refer to advertisements for books, magazines, pornographic pictures and even "contraptions" to make "sex in marriage more fun."

I was told to take this stuff to the postoffice and give it to my postmaster. So that's what I did. He told me all he could do is return it to the sender and request that my name be taken off their mailing list. Why should I be put to the trouble of going to the postoffice with his trash?

DISGUSTED IN DAYTON, OHIO

Dear Upset, Irritated and Disgusted: I am informed that unsolicited advertisements or material in the mails which the recipient regards as "erotically arousing or sexually provocative," should be returned to HIS (the recipients) postmaster with instructions to be removed from that mailing list.

If there are children under 19 living at home, their names may be listed to prevent them from receiving such mail or material.

If the request is not respected, and a second mailing is made, the senders are in violation of the law and may be punished by fine or imprisonment.

No one is responsible for the return of mail or material sent to him unsolicited. Nor should he be inconvenienced by GOING personally to the postoffice. He may put all the unwanted mail into a large envelope, seal and mark the envelope: "Attention Postmaster," and drop it (without postage) into any mail box.

Returning it "POSTAGE DUE" accomplishes nothing as the recipient may refuse to accept it if he so chooses.

For more detailed information on this subject write to U.S. Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1.00 to Abby, C/O The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Hit Songs Are Born From Humble Starts

By BETTY CANARY

I suppose ideas are like children. I mean, you think your own are marvelous. Therefore, I didn't hesitate giving a local musical group the benefit of my thinking.

"Boys," I said, "I have an idea."

"Coo-coo," the guitar player said.

"You're playing as though you are over 30 and I know for a fact not one of you is over 16."

"I like your style," he answered.

"You sound like the Beatles' first album. The trend today is toward country music. My idea is that you study up on Tennessee Ernie Ford and Elvis Presley and try to come up with something approximating Glenn Campbell."

"The message!" they demanded.

My voice was firm. "Go West, young man."

"Lay it across to us," the drummer said.

"I beg your pardon?"

"Tell it like it is."

★ ★ ★

"Well," I said, "Elvis has gone back to rockabilly and Bob Dylan, I'm telling you, has just done a record in Nashville — the home of country music."

"Our leader!" they chanted together.

I was pleased. "I thought you just asked me here to listen to you. I didn't know you wanted me to be your leader!"

"No, moms," the drummer explained. "It's Bob Dylan — HE'S the leader."

This news didn't distress me too much, but I went home anyway I didn't expect them to act upon my advice. After all, when you're fighting a war, you hardly ask an enemy soldier how to plan your strategy. And, this is how I thought they saw me — as the enemy.

Happily, I was mistaken. Several months later they asked me to attend another session. There was a man sitting in the room and he was introduced to me as an agent.

"This is our own stuff," the drummer explained. "We're not phonies."

"You mean you aren't copying anyone's style?" I asked.

"Wow!" they answered.

They did the first piece.

Actually, I didn't realize this until they had stopped. I thought they were tuning up.

They looked at me. I tactfully remarked they were definitely not phonies.

"Right!" the agent said. "I've never heard anything like it!"

"You expect the truth from me," I said, "and you'll get it. It is my opinion that not only are your lyrics nonsense, they are sickeningly sentimental nonsense. The melody, when noticeable, is, at the most, uninspired."

"My thoughts exactly!" the agent cried. "Kids, I think you got a hit on your hands!"

Expectant Mothers Advised to Streamline Housekeeping

With all the excitement and activity involved in preparing for a new baby, an expectant mother may be tempted to let routine tasks lapse. But when it comes to housework, the wise mother-to-be avoids this temptation by setting up a streamlined housekeeping schedule — one that will keep her home clean and well-organized, without undue strain on her body.

A pregnant woman is not an invalid, so there is no reason not to continue ordinary activities such as housework. In fact, the exercise involved in housework is usually considered healthful and beneficial — just avoid becoming overtired by planning housecleaning so that chores are spaced out over a period of time. Instead of trying to do too much in any single day, make a schedule of daily, weekly, and monthly tasks — and stick to it.

Schedule periodic cleaning jobs, such as washing draperies and furniture, so they will be accomplished well before due date. A home which is clean and well-organized will give you more time to devote to your newborn child during those first important months.

When it comes to actually doing housework, take advantage of tricks which make the work easier on yourself, such as sitting down while washing dishes, ironing, and doing other normally "stand-up" jobs. Save energy by collecting all the equipment needed for a specific task before you begin — and by using some kind of a cart or table on wheels to transport cleaning equipment and supplies from room to room.

While working, be sure to wear safe and comfortable easy-care maternity clothes and low-heeled shoes. Instead of bending down from the waist, use the squatting or crouching position to relieve back strain.

Avoid stretching and reaching over your head. Save those high shelves and cabinets until your husband comes home — and do the same with other heavy jobs that might be too much of a strain in your condition.

Light Refraction Stars in Pattern of Vinyl Curtains

A real technological innovation and a most unusual look have been achieved in a new vinyl shower curtain that reflects light in a shimmering crystal pattern to give an illusion of sculptured glass with a sparkling wet quality. The entire pattern, available in five colors, moves as the curtain or the observer moves.

This unique effect is achieved through a complex process where millions of spheres operate as tiny lenses to make many patterns of light refraction.

These must be kept clean and shiny, of course, so they can reflect light; therefore, the curtain should have an occasional bath in soap or detergent suds, then rinsed and re-hung to drip dry.

Cream Hands Often

Soft, smooth well-groomed hands were once the exclusive property of women who had a great deal of leisure time in which to pamper them. Today, however, some of the most beautiful hands in the world belong to the busiest women.

Their secret? Busy hands which accomplish a great deal are, of necessity, washed frequently. As soap and water remove dirt and grime, they also unavoidably remove some of the skin's natural lubricants. Busy women whose hands stay soft and smooth know they must replenish these moisturizers, and they take the few moments necessary to do just that.

If your hands look neglected, make a New Year's resolution to reform: Keep some rich, deep penetrating hand cream near each wash basin you use regularly, in your desk at the office, and on your bedside table. Having this beauty aid strategically placed will remind you to use it regularly and make it easy and convenient to do so.

Tuck-A-Puffs

When packing for a weekend trip, tuck a supply of triple-size soft cosmetic puffs into a side pocket of your travel bag. The baby-soft puffs are handy for makeup removal, applying lotion, touching up manicures and pedicures.

Bride Wears Family Heirlooms

A candlelight ceremony Saturday in St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham, united Carol-Lynn Dickenshied and Spec.4 Leo Albert Renault III, USA, in marriage.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Dickenshied of Birmingham and Leo A. Renault III, USA, in marriage.

She carried a colonial bouquet of Stephanotis.

ENSEMBLE

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of candlelight satin with cathedral train and accents of Chantilly lace. An heirloom fingertip rosepointe veil and a gold and diamond locket, worn by brides in the Dickenshied family for three generations completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom's brothers, Sparkman and William, served as best man and usher, respectively. The bride's brother, Mark, James Burton and Bruce Pearn completed the usher corps.

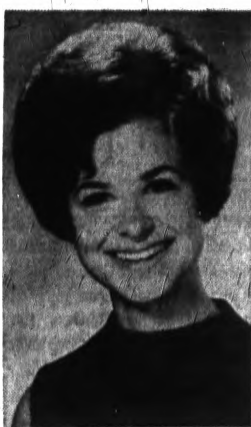

Susan Dickenshied attended her sister as maid of honor. Jelane Neumann, a cousin, was junior bridesmaid. Betsy Brenton, Jose Campbell and Marjorie Rainey were bridesmaids.

A reception at the Village Woman's Club followed the communion service.

The couple will live in Stuttgart, Germany, upon their return from a skiing honeymoon in northern Michigan.

A Shining Gift

When your pre-schooler goes to a little friend's birthday party, make the gift special by spelling the birthday child's name with shiny pennies on top of the present. They can be held in place with tape or by pasting them on the package.

Mrs. Mary Jo Finan, daughter of the Theophil J. Dobskis of Empire Drive, West Bloomfield Township has been named an instructor at the American Airlines Stewardess College, Fort Worth, Tex. Mrs. Finan, who graduated from the Stewardess College in 1966, is also a graduate of Marian High School, Birmingham.

Pair Repeats Vows During Evening Rite

Carrying a bouquet of white roses encircled with gladioli blossoms, Lynda Dianne Lamphere was escorted to the altar of Bethany Baptist Church Saturday evening where she married Robert Daniel Holmquist.

Attended by her sister, Sally, the bride chose a peau satin gown with lace appliques and seed pearl trim. A matching satin chapel train complemented the Princess fashioned ensembles.

Bridesmaids for the nuptials were Joan Bruner, Mrs. Gordon York and Michelle Lamphere with Cynthia Lovell as flower girl.

On the esquire side, Darrell Lovell was best man with Lawrence, Richard and Trueman Lamphere, brothers of the bride, as ushers. Jeffrey Koop was ring bearer.

The daughter of the Walter Lampheres of Joslyn Avenue and the son of Mrs. Earl Sanborn of Orchid Street and Jerry Holmquist of Caro were feted at the Amvets Hall. They are honeymooning at Miami, Fla., and the Bahamas.

April Nuptials Set by Two Couples

Mr. and Mrs. M. Willard Haines of Clintonville Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Emily L., to Dennis L. Barberi. April 26 vows are planned.

The prospective bridegroom, a student at Lawrence Institute of Technology, is the son of Evri Barberi of Warren and the late Mrs. Barberi.

Wilson-Wendland

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Irwin of West Chicago Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Ann Wilson, to Michael James Wendland.

Miss Wilson's fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Wendland of Fox Bay Drive, White Lake Township. April 12 vows are planned.

It is essential to give the skin special care during winter months. Even those who do not usually have the problem of a dry complexion will find that this is true. If your skin is dry to begin with extra attention is crucial.

Dryness is due to water loss from the outer layer of the epidermis. Cold temperatures, wind and low humidity, all play a part. So do overheated homes and offices and stores. The relative humidity may be quite low in these.

The excessive use of soap may be more troublesome during winter than during summer. Most folks, and especially older people, should bathe less frequently during cold weather and should adopt preventive measure against extreme dryness.

Let me list a few which will add comfort to your winter season and protect your good looks.

Do not have your bath water very hot, but just pleasantly warm. Do not take long baths. Rinse well. Dry thoroughly. Be sure to use a body lotion after each bath. Also use one on your hands and arms and your legs and feet before going to sleep every night. These suffer extreme exposure to the elements. Don't fail to use a bath oil. This can make a big difference. So much for the bath! Now for some more preventive measures!

Even if you are accustomed to using soap and water on your face and neck you might be wise to switch to a cleansing cream during the cold weather. At least use one part of the time unless you have an extremely oily complexion. Be sure to use an emollient cream regularly on your face and neck and give it time to soak in.

There are many good ones which are not very greasy and will be absorbed by the skin. Use a moisturizing foundation under your usual makeup. At least at this season use cosmetics which were formulated for dry skin.

If a woman does not protect her complexion during the winter months, spring is sure to find her with some lines she did not have when the first cold winds began to blow.

MR. AND MRS. MERRILL B. CASWELL

Sunday Symphony Is Successful All Around

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

Featured as guest artist for the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra's second regular concert of the season, was Frank Kaderabek, in Hummel's charming Concerto for trumpet and orchestra.The concert, which took place yesterday afternoon at Pontiac Northern High School, under Felix Resnick's direction, also included Mozart's Overture to "The Abduction from the Seraglio", the "Prelude and Wedding Procession" from "Le
Coq d'Or", by Rimsky-Korsakoff, "The Afternoon of a Faun", by Debussy, and Berlioz' "Romantic Carnival" Overture.The Hummel Concerto was a refreshing change from the usual trumpet offerings, in which the soloist goes through major facial and breath contortions in order to bring forth a triumph of virtuosity.If it was a matter of difficulty, it certainly did not show in Mr. Kaderabek's performance, because he played with ease, with a relaxed air, with a sweet, full, untense tone and an almost vocal style of interpretation.There was beautiful control in his playing, a clean-cut technical approach, plus a sense of good taste which gave the music color, variety, and, in the

RATES AN "A"

The second triumph of the afternoon was Mr. Resnick's performance of Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun." It was with a great deal of trepidation that one looked forward to this particular selection.Debussy, except under the hands of the most skillful, the most controlled, and the most professional of touches, can be,
and often is, a musical disaster.
The direction must be so light, so gentle, so translucent, that the impressionism the composer intended, comes through subtly, or the "Afternoon of a Faun", becomes the "Nightmare of an Elephant".Happily, enough, the faun went through the various stages of his day dream, with his director, his orchestra and his audience right along with him.He was ably abetted by Mr.
Resnick's deft touch, the orchestra's careful handling, and the superb performances of Roger Welton with the many delicate solo flute sections and Eugenia Kuhnle on the harp.The Overture to "The Abduction from the Seraglio" by Mozart, was clean-cut, charming and vigorous.As a change of pace, the exotic Introduction and Wedding Procession from "Le Coq d'Or" was colorful, sensuous and in the best descriptive Rimsky-Korsakoff tradition. Especially fine work was done by the solo clarinetist, Peter Geiger.Berlioz' "Romantic Carnival Overture" did not fare too well as a closing number. It was somewhat of an afterthought of the afternoon.

Waste Disposal Study Ends

By United Press International
The American Association of Petroleum Geologists has completed a 10-year study that is expected to prove valuable in planning for disposal of both atomic and ordinary industrial waste material.

The study was requested by the Atomic Energy Commission because it wanted to learn if there were geologic basins suitable and safe for disposal of radioactive wastes.

A total of 18 association members from oil firms, universities and government agencies worked on the project without compensation. The results of the study appear in a book entitled "Subsurface Disposal in Geologic Basins — A Study of the Reservoir

John E. Galley, a geological consultant from Kerrville, Tex., edited the book, which includes nine detailed presentations. Galley said the study was undertaken specifically to study the potential for disposing of radioactive waste, but the book emphasizes disposal of industrial wastes in general.

"The techniques proposed for disposal of radioactive waste are generally applicable to many other industrial wastes," Galley said in explaining AAPG approach to the study request.

The book includes a general discussion of the problem of deep-well injection of wastes; a study of the importance of locating nuclear fuel reprocessing plants near deep formations suitable for subsurface disposal; and a discussion of the fluid mechanics of deep disposal wells.

It also includes papers on the detailed subsurface geology and waste disposal prospects in the New York portion of the Appalachian Basin, a syncline in Pennsylvania, the Michigan Basin, the Salina Basin of Kansas, the Denver Basin of Colorado and the San Juan Basin of New Mexico and Colorado.

County Workers to Vote on Union

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Some 300 employees of the Kent County Road Commission will vote in early February whether to remain affiliated with the Kent County Road Commission Employees Association.

They will also consider the possibility of seeking a new bargaining union or of remaining independent. The election was scheduled after recent moves by some members to obtain an affiliation with the International Operating Engineers.

Junior Editors Quiz on WINDMILLS

QUESTION: What are windmills used for?

ANSWER: For thousands of years, men have had the problem of raising water to the surface from wells to get drinking water and to irrigate the land. Windmills, with rotating arms turned by the wind, have been used in Europe since the 12th century for this purpose as well as to grind grain for flour.

By 1430, the Dutch faced the need to drain and irrigate large areas of their land. They built windmills for this purpose, using a scoop wheel to lift water from a lower to a higher level.

In America, steel windmills were developed with the use of suction pumps, which can lift water from underground. Wind turns the main wheel, which moves a pump rod up and down by the mechanism which we show. The water is often stored in an elevated water tank from which it can run down by gravity.

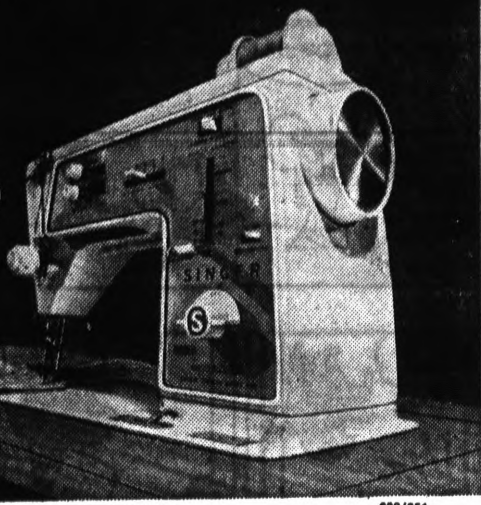

Windmills of this kind are also used to generate electricity and charge storage batteries.

The tail or rudder sticking out behind the wheel of the windmill swings with the wind. This keeps the big wheel always in the right direction, facing the wind.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Year-book if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Oswald: "We have mentioned on many occasions that the chief use for the Blackwood convention is to keep out of bad slams."

Jim: "There is no reason why we shouldn't discuss that some more. The correct time to use Blackwood is when you intend to bid a slam provided your opponents can't cash enough aces off the top to beat you before you get started."

Oswald: "The second use for Blackwood is to decide about seven once you are committed to six. Here is a hand from a rubber bridge game at the Cavendish Club in New York that illustrates both points."

Jim: "The moment that North found a jump rebid in diamonds South knew that he was going to a small slam if his partner would show up with two aces. True, there was some chance that North could hold two losing hearts and that a slam might be beaten but South was going to take that chance."

Oswald: "When North showed three aces South was ready for the second part of Blackwood. He bid five notrump to ask for kings."

Jim: "I see that South went right to seven no-trump when his partner showed one king."

Oswald: "That shows an unusual use of Blackwood. South knew that the grand slam would only be a cinch if his partner held the king of diamonds as his one king but his South was willing to bet that his partner would not have jumped to three diamonds on a suit headed by ace-10 only."

Jim: "Even then the slam would be on a finesse, so at the worst South would have an even money chance. I note that he also bid the slam in no-trump."

You do bid three spades and your partner bids four clubs. What do you do now?

Trial in Algiers Motel Case Is About to Start in Mason

MASON, Mich. (AP) — The first murder trial in the notorious "Algiers Motel Case," in which three Negro youths were found slain during the holocaust of Detroit's 1967 riot, begins Wednesday in this small town 75 miles west of Detroit.

The defendant is white, 29-year-old Ronald W. August. He is accused of first-degree murder in the gunshot killing of one of the three youths while he was a patrolman on the Detroit police force.

August, a father of two, was suspended from the force five days after the Algiers Motel in midtown Detroit, center of the riot which claimed 43 lives and $50 million in burned, looted and damaged property.

He is charged with killing 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, a motel resident who at the time was laid off as an auto plant welder.

OTHER VICTIMS
The other victims were Fred Temple, 18, and Carl Cooper, 17, also Detroiters.

Though virtually complete mystery still masks the killing of Cooper, testimony in pretrial hearings indicated that Pollard and Temple were shot to death during a raid on the motel by a number of uniformed police officers and a national guardsman. Authorities said Cooper may have been dead before the raid occurred.

Witnesses have charged that during the raid, men in uniform fired shots and threatened and beat many of those among the eight Negro youths and two white girls in the motel annex at the time. Witnesses testified that the two girls were partially disrobed by the raiders.

The key question at the very start of the trial, say attorneys for both defense and prosecution, is whether Judge William J. Beer will admit into evidence any of the statements made by August to his superior officers after the killings.

AT PRELIMINARY HEARING
In the only statement by August admitted in preliminary-hearing testimony, the former patrolman was quoted as telling a superior officer that he shot Pollard in a struggle for August's shotgun.

"He grabbed my gun again and I released the safety and pushed him away and fired one shot that struck him in the right side," the former officer's statement was reported. "I didn't want to shoot him. He wanted that gun, and he wouldn't let go."

The prosecuting attorney, Avery Weiswasser, 58, says he is sure that this statement will be "up for grabs again" before Judge Beer. Beer, 59, is a 12-year veteran of the Oakland County Circuit Court.

The defense counsel, 32-year-old Norman L. Lippit, had sought unsuccessfully to bar the statement in August's preliminary hearing. Lippit, attorney for the Detroit Police Officers Association, filed a motion some months ago to suppress statements made in the early hearings.

August, two other suspended Detroit policemen and a private guard face trial on a federal grand jury indictment of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of several of the persons in the motel annex. The other two former officers are David Senak and Robert Paille, both white. The private guard, Melvin Dismukes, is Negro.

The federal conspiracy case has been held under advisement since last September by Judge Stephen J. Roth of U. S. District Court, with no trial date set.

Paille, 33, had been accused of first-degree murder in the death of Temple, but the charge was dismissed in August 1967 on grounds of insufficient evidence. An appeal to reinstate the charge is pending before the Michigan Supreme Court.

Dismukes was acquitted last May of a felonious assault charge in connection with the incidents at the Algiers Motel. The motel since has been renamed the Desert Inn.

TOWN OF 4,500
Beer chose the Ingham County

Court House in Mason—a town of 4,500—for the trial after the defense asserted that impartial proceedings would be impossible in Detroit because of "community antagonism" and "prejudice against the defendants." About 45 per cent of Detroit's 1.5 million residents are Negro.

Preliminary motions and legal hassling, plus the task of choosing a jury, could delay until spring the actual start of testimony and introduction of evidence.

Weiswasser said he wants the question of admitting previous statements by August cleared up before a jury is picked.

August, who was expected to be in court at the opening of the trial, had been a policeman for four years when he was suspended. He played clarinet in the police band.

'SUSPECTED SNIPERS'
Pollard, Temple and Cooper originally were listed in police reports as suspected snipers "killed in exchange of gunfire." But the reports said that no guns were found in the rooms where the bodies were discovered. The bodies of Temple and Pollard were in one room a few feet apart. Cooper's body was in another room.

A pathologist hired by a Detroit newspaper said he performed autopsies on the three bodies and found that each victim had been shot at least twice from no more than 15 feet. The weapons were 12-gauge shotguns loaded with double-O buckshot, he said.

Israeli, Jordan Skirmishes Fail to Slow Bridge Traffic

ALLENBY BRIDGE, Occupied Jordan (AP) — Israeli and Jordanian troops take frequent shots at each other, but that doesn't hinder the stream of traffic across this bridge between countries of the warring soldiers.

The span, just north of the Dead Sea, links Israel with its enemy of more than two decades, the kingdom of Jordan, in an ironic bond. It clangs and groans under traffic.

Taxis carry Arabs to visit their families, trucks haul agricultural produce from the Jordan River's fertile west bank to Amman, diplomats cross in limousines, passing ragged Arab refugees heading home.

All are armed with permits from the Israelis allowing them to use the bridge for peaceful purposes.

LED BRITISH FORCES
The bridge was named after Gen. Edmund Allenby, who led British forces in Palestine against the Turks in 1917.

Today it is a Bailey-type bridge, built by the Israeli army after Jordanian troops blew up the original on their retreat eastward in the 1967 war.

It has a customs house, parking lots for trucks waiting to cross, and a roadblock.

The biblical Jordan River, which serves as a cease-fire line between Israel and Jordan, smolders endlessly with border incidents and guerrilla infiltrations.

TRAFFIC ON RISE
But last year, traffic across the river via the Allenby Bridge increased so much that the Israelis had to open an extra entrance-exit point at the Damiya Bridge 17 miles to the north.

The military government proudly reports the two bridges "are almost as busy as Israel's international airport." In the past year about 170,000 bridge crossings in both directions were reported.

At peak agricultural season, about 200 trucks cross daily into Jordan carrying west bank produce.

Israeli businessmen report growing sales, mainly of electrical appliances, to Jordan. Officials try to minimize the extent of this trade — which sprang up when closure of the Suez Canal cut off European exports to Jordan — for fear of embarrassing the Jordanians. Thus no figures are available.

Israel regards the bridge as an official point of entry into Israeli territory. Jordan hotly disagrees, viewing Israel's attitude as de facto annexation of the West bank.

Commented Michael Sheshar, west bank military government spokesman: "We might be at war with Jordan, but one fact is clear — we both need the Allenby and Damiya bridges open, and busy."

3 Picks in 189 Choices

Lions Await College Draft

DETROIT (UPI) — It's a good thing the current crop of college seniors is supposed to be one of the best in history because the Detroit Lions pick in the "left-over" portion of tomorrow's draft of collegiate talent by the National and American Football leagues.

Detroit, having dealt away its No. 1 pick to Los Angeles last summer for quarterback Bill Munson, has selections 34 and 47 in the second round and No. 59 in the third, which means three of the first 189 players drafted.

"We'll be going for three players who can make our team," said Russ Thomas, Lions' general manager before departing to Chicago, Monday and BLESTO-V headquarters.

BLESTO-V stands for Bears-Lions-Eagles-Steelers Talent Organization. The "V" means the Vikings are a late-comer to the group, which grades the college prospects in a common pool for the teams.

PRIORITY LIST

"We'll be looking for a running back, offensive lineman and defensive lineman," Thomas said. "We plan to take the best player available when our turn comes."

Thomas said Detroit planned no trades before the draft to acquire a higher selection and revealed Chicago made a pitch for quarterback Greg Landry.

"There is no way they (the Bears) are going to get him (Landry) from us," Thomas smiled sweetly.

Chicago offered a No. 1 choice plus one or two other players, Thomas said, but was turned down because "we feel Landry is better than any quarterback we would get a chance at."

LEADING PROSPECTS

BLESTO-V ranks the top quarterback prospects from the college ranks as left-handed Bobby Douglas of Kansas, Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame and Greg Cook of Cincinnati, with Marty Domres of Columbia just a shade behind.

Terry Baker of Oregon State, a Heisman Trophy winner a few years back, proved one of the greatest busts of all time and he was a left-handed thrower while last year, Ken Stabler of Alabama was rated one of the top prospects as a quarterback. He's a southpaw too and nobody seems to know how he came out in his rookie year with San Diego of the AFL.

TIME WILL TELL

Hanratty is something of a question

mark in the minds of some since he throws with a three-quarter motion while Cook and Domres both played with schools which are somewhat below the caliber of the top colleges in the country.

Some scouts say this year's eligibles are the best ever to come along, but time will prove or disprove that. There are plenty of players at all positions with impressive reports from pro scouts.

Thomas said Michigan State's end safety Al Brenner could go on the first round while Michigan's all-time rushing king, Ron Johnson, should be a No. 1 or No. 2 pick for some team.

Titans Duel PNH; Central '5' Travels

Pontiac Central's return to Saginaw Valley Conference action and the first rematch of Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Catholic highlight Tuesday night's busy local prep basketball calendar.

PCH's Chiefs will visit Flint Southwestern in search of their ninth straight triumph and are solid favorites to remain one step behind streaking Flint Central, the SVC leader.

PNH will invade Pontiac Catholic's court where the Titans will be out to avenge last year's 31-point loss in the two teams' initial hoop encounter.

Also on tomorrow's schedule are Walled Lake at West Bloomfield, Waterford Mott at Lapeer, Birmingham Groves at Bloomfield Hills Lahser, plus two nonleague games involving Southeastern Michigan Association teams.

Berkley will be host to Oak Park of the Northwest Suburban League, and Ferndale will journey to East Detroit of the Eastern Michigan loop.

Saginaw will visit Flint Central and Flint Northern will be at Saginaw Arthur Hill in other SVC games of interest to PCH fans.

PRECEDENT

The Chiefs (9-1) for the first time in their history swept season series from Flint SW last winter and should stretch their domination of the Colts to four in a row over the past three campaigns.

Central's young team undoubtedly learned a lesson Friday night when it had a major struggle upending a Lahser team it had smashed in the season opener Nov. 29.

PNH coasted to an easy triumph Friday night while Pontiac Catholic struggled past previously undefeated Orchard Lake St. Mary and then downed Waterford Our Lady of Lakes Saturday night in two key Northwest Catholic contests.

The Titans don't have the depth that the Northern squad boasts, but only five players can participate at once and the PCHS starting unit has progressed a long way since last year's lopsided meeting with the Huskies.

Both teams like to run. The key to the game will be rebounding.

West Bloomfield must bounce back after its shocking first defeat Friday night at arch-rival Bloomfield Hills Andover. The well-balanced Lakers rate a definite edge over the struggling Walled Lake unit.

Lahser had won four straight before bowing to Central, but the young Knights gained added respect for their showing against the powerful Class A PCH forces.

Groves has won two of its last three but has had its problems away from the home court this season. The improved play of sophomore center Scott Love has helped the Falcons.

Something has to give at Lapeer when the Panthers (1-8) collide with Mott (1-7). The Corsairs are burdened with a three-game losing streak while luckless Lapeer has lost its last six.

PROMOTION—Junior forward Marcus Cummings was promoted to the Pontiac Northern varsity after a strong game against Pontiac Central's reserves. He has averaged 10 points a game and Friday had 16 in his first PNH starting role.

Tipton Helps EMU Victory

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Eastern Michigan's talented track and field squad arrived late for the annual NAIA indoor championships, but finished early in enough events to compile 96½ points for the team trophy.

Three airplanes carrying the team were called back in Chicago Friday because of defective equipment, delaying their flight. When they did arrive at Municipal Auditorium, it was obvious they made the scene.

The Michigan club's brilliant showing was topped in Saturday night's finals with a meet record in the two-mile relay with 7:49.1, improving the mark of 7:55.0 set by the school last year.

Prairie View A&M of Texas, the defending champion, placed second with 52 points, followed by Arkansas AM&N with 47½.

TIPTON WINS

Coach Bob Parks' Michigan speedster grabbed four other firsts. Bill Tipton in the 60-yard high hurdles, Dave Ellis in the two-mile, Pat Byrnes in the 600-yard and Eric Nesbitt in the 1,000.

Alan Feuerbach of Emporia State (Kan.) set another meet record Saturday, heaving the shot 57-5½, bettering the mark of 56-7 by Elvin Bathea of North Carolina State in 1966.

Andy Steben of Occidental (Calif.) College tied his own standard of 15-6 in the pole vault for his third consecutive victory in this classic at the same height.

The Texas team was led by Felix Johnson, victor in the 80, and Fred Newhouse, who won the 440.

Arkansas AM&N also took two firsts, Bobby Brown flashing the 60-yard dash in 6.2 seconds and the mile relay team winning in 3:17.1.

French Skiers Trim Highly Touted Foes

MEGEVE, France (AP) — The flu caught up with Karl Schranz and then the French made his Austrian teammates look sick during a weekend of international Alpine ski racing.

With Schranz ill, the French won the downhill with Henri Duvillard, Friday and then capped their success with Alain Penz' slalom triumph Sunday.

In between these victories, Ingrid Lafforgue won the slalom and Isabelle Mir the down hill for the French girls at St. Gervais.

Detroit Skates Past Toronto; Howe Gets Two

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings are almost like a Bob Hope joke — they're both mostly one-liners.

And like most of Hope's efforts, Detroit's "Main Line" is beautiful too. Take Sunday night, for instance, when the Red Wings edged out the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-2.

Detroit's top scoring line of Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio and Frank Mahovlich was responsible for all three Red Wings' goals, with Gordie getting his 23rd and 24th and Mahovlich notching his 31st. Delvecchio assisted on all three.

The other National Hockey League games played ended so that the East Division has a three-way tie for third place behind Boston and Montreal with Chicago just two points behind.

TIED FOR THREE

Detroit has 54 points, as does Toronto, and New York gained that many when the Rangers defeated the Canadiens, 3-2. The Maple Leafs, though, have played 45 games to 47 for the Rangers and 48 by the Red Wings.

The largest crowd ever to see a Detroit home game, 15,347, saw the Red Wings stay beaten only once in their last 11 games but it was a scary-type win which saw Toronto come back from a 3-0 deficit.

Maple Leafs' Coach Punch Imlach pulled goalie Bruce Gamble at 9:48 of the final period in what looked suspiciously like a move to shake up the lethargic Toronto team.

With veteran Johnny Bower in the nets, Toronto came out skating like a 10-year-old kid running in the dark from an imaginary ghost, forcing the play and getting both their goals.

SHORT RANGE

Former Red Wings Floyd Smith and Norm Ullman got the tallies, Smith's coming at 10:31 on a short shot, his sixth goal, and Ullman's 24th marker at 15:54 on a three-foot rebound.

Howe started the talk in the dressing room about his impending shattering of the number 714, Babe Ruth's home run total, by moving to 712 regular season goals scored.

Howe, often called the Babe Ruth of hockey, tallied in the opening period at 8:46 by whipping in a 15-footer from directly in front of the net. His second, at 19:11 of the middle session, came from a stick-length away from Gamble after he fiddled around with the puck to draw the Leafs' goalie out of position.

Mahovlich, who moved into a tie with Andy Bathgate for ninth place on the all-time NHL scoring list with his 334th career goal, deflected in a long Howe shot at 14:29 of the second period.

THIRD START

Terry Sawchuk, playing his third straight game, had a relatively easy night by thwarting 26 Toronto shots. His first stop in the opening session didn't come until 7:24 had elapsed and Smith's tally in the final period was the first shot on goal by the Maple Leafs in that stanza.

Frank St. Marseille, Gary Sabourin and Jim Roberts each turned on the red goal light for St. Louis as the Blues gave the Oakland Seals a 3-1 hockey lesson in a West Division game.

St. Marseille, a former International Hockey League star with the Port Huron Flags, rapped in a 12-foot shot at 16:29 of the first period after a perfect centering pass by Larry Keenan.

Ken Wharram got his fourth NHL hat trick for Chicago as the Black Hawks swamped the Los Angeles Kings, 9-3. Bobby Hull scored his first goal in six games to tie Mahovlich for the league lead at 31.

Australian Open Tennis Crown to Pro Rod Laver

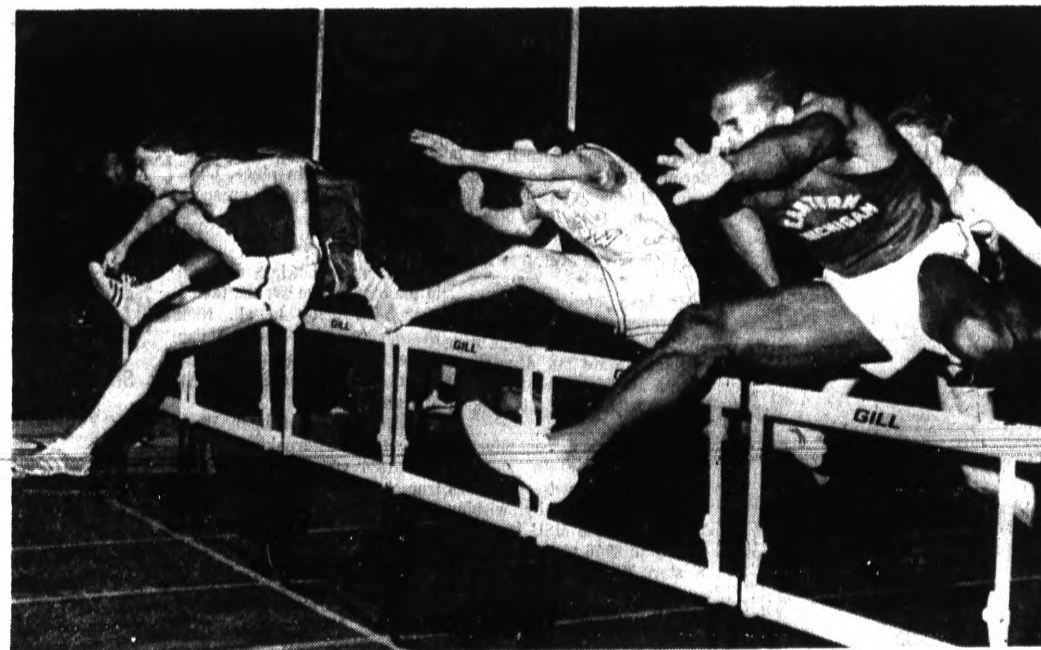

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — World professional tennis champion Rod Laver easily won the Australian open men's singles tennis title defeating Andres Gimeno of Spain 6-3, 6-4, 7-5 today in a 95-minute final at Milton Stadium.

Laver never was forced to extend himself and at times appeared to play almost carelessly against the hard-working Gimeno. He captured the $5,000 first prize, bringing his earnings for the past year to more than $75,000 in U.S. money.

As runner-up, Gimeno won $2,576.

Laver's only trouble came early in the match when he continually missed with his first service.

Laver's win was the first leg of the Grand Slam of the Australian, French, Wimbledon, and U.S. tennis titles.

AP Wirephoto

FIRST AT FINISH — Eastern Michigan's Bill Tipton from Pontiac (left), clears the final hurdle and crosses the finish line first in the NAIA track meet at Kansas City. He took the 60 yard high hurdles in a time of 7.4 seconds. Robert Lynn (right) also from Eastern Michigan took second while Louis Clark (center) of Dickinson State took fourth, while Corey Bouyer of Ferris State (behind Tipton) took third. Eastern Michigan won the meet overall.

23 in Last Quarter

60-Point Spree by Wilt

By The Associated Press

Wilt Chamberlain scored 23 points, about four above his season's per-game average.

Now, opponents of the Los Angeles Lakers have overcome 23-point performances by Chamberlain, but not usually when they come in one quarter.

Chamberlain's 23 came in the fourth quarter Sunday and they gave him a game-total of 60 as the Lakers beat the Cincinnati Royals 126-113 to increase their first-place lead by 1½ games over the Atlanta Hawks in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Hawks lost 119-115 to the Philadelphia 76ers, who moved to within a half-game of Eastern Division-leading Baltimore, which was drubbed 124-86 by Boston.

San Diego topped Chicago 111-95 and

SEASON HIGH

Chamberlain, the greatest scorer of all time who has concentrated more on passing the ball off in recent seasons, hit 22 of 36 field goal attempts and 16 of 24 foul shots in running up the highest total of the NBA season in the game at Cleveland.

Connie Dierking scored 32 points and Oscar Robertson 25 for Cincinnati, which trailed by only five points, 90-85 after three quarters. Then came Chamberlain's fourth-quarter onslaught.

Chet Walker's basket with 12 seconds left clinched Philadelphia's victory over Atlanta. Hal Greer led Philadelphia scoring with 31 points and Walker added 29. Zelmo Beaty paced the Hawks with 27.

Baltimore lost high-scoring Earl "The Pearl" Monroe with a knee injury in the first quarter and then lost the game by scoring only 11 points in the second period and 14 in the fourth.

Sam Jones scored 28 points and Don Nelson 26 for Boston which outscored the Bullets 72-39 in the second half. Kevin Loughery topped Baltimore with 19.

FOURTH VICTORY

San Diego rode to its fourth victory in five games and into a fourth-place tie with Chicago in the Western Division behind Elvin Hayes and Don Kojis, who scored 29 points each. Clem Haskins led Chicago with 20.

San Francisco outscored Phoenix 67-33 in the second and third periods for its victory. Nate Thurmond topped the winners with 25 points. Phoenix was led by Neil Johnson's pro career-high of 22.

Spartans Topple Michigan Twice in Ice Contests

By The Associated Press

A four-goal explosion at Ann Arbor spelled hockey disaster for the University of Michigan Saturday night.

The four goals came off the sticks of Michigan State men in the first period and they carried the Spartans to a 5-1 win and a sweep of the two teams' weekend series.

State got two-goal performances from Randy Sokoll and Gerry DeMarco while running its record to 4-5-1 in Western Collegiate Hockey Association play, and Michigan saw its conference mark drop to 6-4.

Meanwhile, Lake Superior State was giving St. Cloud State of Minnesota hockey lessons at Sault Ste. Marie both Saturday and Sunday.

The Lakes won Saturday, 12-2, then came back for a shutout, 12-0, on Sunday in International Collegiate Hockey Association play.

The double victory gave Lake Superior State a 10-0 conference mark and a 14-0 season record.

OLSM Also Triumph

Titans Add to Streak

Pontiac Catholic continues to add to its school record winning streak, Orchard Lake St. Mary's interim coach owns a victory, and Greg Carter and Jack Zwemer haven't lost their scoring touches.

All were in action Saturday night on the prep cage scene.

PCHS blasted Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, 77-47, for its eighth victory in a row. OL St. Mary, with regular coach Fr. John Rakoczy still hospitalized, outlasted Royal Oak St. Mary, Walter Ziemba's direction.

Ferndale St. James edged Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows with a final-period rally, 61-57, in the other Northwest Catholic League game.

Carter scored 38 points and had 33-point help from freshman Tim Teasley as Roper set a school point record with a 100-46 triumph over Ashley; and Zwemer pumped in 37 as Country Day trimmed Algonac, 68-53.

Southfield handed winless nearby rival Lathrup a 72-41 beating.

STRONG PAIR

Tim Megge and Tad Cyman

Mikes Wines of the host Irish cut OL St. Mary's lead to 63-61 with 1½ minutes to play, but Megge hit four points to finish with 21 and Cyman added his 9th field goal in 17 tries for a 20-point total.

The game was close all the way. Royal Oak's Bill Bolton and Jim Dorr combined for 28 rebounds (OLSM had 29 total) as the home team controlled the backboards and they had 29 points, too.

Freshman Walt Sakowski came off the Eagles' bench to score two key baskets as they took a 31-29 lead at the half.

Pontiac Catholic's Titans completed a two-night sweep of arch rivals OLSM and Waterford OLL by outshooting the Lakers, 32-20, in field goals.

Fouls Hurt Pioneers

Grand Valley Downs OU

Oakland University's basketball team lost its top rebounders on fouls in the final nine minutes Saturday night and Grand Valley pulled away to a 71-64 victory.

The Pioneers led at the half, 36-32, and held an eight-point bulge at one time in the second half. But 6-6 Tom Allan fouled out with nine minutes remaining and 6-4 John Eley left with six minutes to play.

Eley topped the Pioneers with 14 markers and Allan collected 12 points and a like number of rebounds. The loss leaves OU with a 6-7 record. Grand Valley is 8-4.

The Pioneers hit 25 of 57 shots for 44 per cent. Grand Valley made 24 of 64 for 35.5 per cent, but had a 23-14 edge in foul shots. Oakland's next game will be Saturday at Kalamazoo College.

Harrier Champ in Boston A. A.

BOSTON (AP) — Art Dulong, the New England inter-collegiate cross country champion from Holy Cross, was added today to a strong two-mile field in the 80th Boston A.A. Indoor Track Games Saturday night at the Garden.

Dulong will run against Olympians Jack Bachelor, Van Nelson and Tracy Smith and BAA marathon champion Army Burfoot.

Soviets Rip Canadians

WINNIPEG (AP) — The Russian national hockey team turned back the Canadian nationals 4-2 for their fifth straight victory over Canada Sunday night before a crowd of 10,500.

OU Tankers Post Pair of Victories

The Pioneers of Oakland University set a couple of records in picking up two wins over the weekend.

OU posted a 57-56 squeaker over Illinois State and turned in an easy 85-30 decision over Western Ontario.

Steve Yedlin won the 200-yard freestyle in 1:56.0 for the Pioneers against Illinois State and later set a record in the 500-yard freestyle with a 5:21.5 clocking that was good for second place.

Mike Campbell, Ed Engelhart, Ron Michelson and Steve Yedlin teamed for a pool record 3:25.1 in the 400-yard freestyle relay that sewed up the win for OU.

Flint Bowlers Lead Tourney

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A Flint team took over the lead in one division of the Men's State Bowling tournament as the meet finished its fourth week-end of competition Sunday.

The tourney, which runs for 2 weekends, is being held at Westgate Bowl in Grand Rapids.

Tom Gleason Volkswagen of Flint rolled a 2983 to take the lead in the actual team division.

In the actual all-events John Clement of Detroit rolled a 1,863 to tie Clare Kimberlin of Grand Rapids for the lead.

There were no new leaders in the handicap division but George Swiftney Jr. and Phillip Dushane of Muskegon fired 1,405 to fall one pin shy of first in handicap doubles.

Sanis Department Store of Muskegon moved into third place in the handicap team competition with 3282.

Handicap leaders are: team—Cooper Products, Lansing, 3322; singles—Leo Brewster, Lansing, 763; doubles—Paul Sims and Don Patroude, Kalamazoo, 1406; all events—Barry Teets, Mid-Thumb Area, 2048.

Typhoon Forbidden to Hit Saipan Island

SAIPAN, Trust Territories (AP) — Instead of waiting for typhoon Phyllis to strike, the Micronesian Congress struck first.

Sen. Isaac Lanwi introduced a resolution forbidding Phyllis to hit Saipan. If she did, the resolution said, full responsibility would be placed on Commissioner William Norwood.

The resolution passed. Typhoon Phyllis stopped moving toward Saipan and halted 240 miles southeast of the island.

Nixon Hosts Services in White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has added something new to the White House scene—Sunday church services in the executive mansion's East Room.

The presidential family invited Cabinet members, other ranking officials and members of the White House staff and their families to services Sunday in the first of what is expected to be a fairly regular event.

Evangelist Billy Graham, an old friend of Nixon, conducted the services for the more than 225 persons attending and asked God to grant the President and his advisers "a wisdom that is beyond their own" in dealing with the crises of our time.

Nixon, a Quaker, plans to invite pastors of different religions to officiate at the services. White House staff members on all levels will be invited on a rotating basis. Graham is a Baptist.

IN VARIOUS CHURCHES

Most presidents attend services in various Washington churches. The city is dotted with churches proudly listing the chief executives who worshipped in their buildings.

Although religious ceremonies have been held infrequently in the White House, Nixon said that as far as he knows, not until Sunday was a service conducted in the East Room.

That room, with its great crystal chandelier and portraits of the nation's first First Family, Gen. and Mrs. George Washington, has been used for many and varied functions—hanging laundry, concerts, news conference—but until now not for worship.

In addition to listening to Graham's sermon, the worshippers joined in hymns and prayers. Only one Sunday church feature was missing—the collection plate. Graham noted this and said that the last time he and the President attended church together, the collection plate was there but Nixon had forgotten his money.

BIGGEST BILL

"I loaned him the biggest bill I had," Graham said, without telling the amount.

In his sermon Graham recalled part of Nixon's inaugural speech last week in which the new President said "to a crisis of the spirit, we need an answer of the spirit."

This view pinpoints the answer to the problems of today, Graham told the congregation. It's not the material things of life that solve the ills of the world, the evangelist said, but rather what is found in the spirit.

After the guests had left, the President, his wife and their elder daughter, Tricia, took a drive around Washington, touring some of the areas he lived in since first coming to Washington after World War II.

'Off-Leash' Dogs Going to Vietnam

GRIEF-STRIKEN PARENT—R. F. Greinelsen of Miami, Fla., is led away from a pier by an unidentified woman after learning that his son Scott, 17, was killed in a single-engine plane that crashed in Lake Okeechobee Saturday. Police said young Greinelsen and James Young, 17, "borrowed" a plane each from a Hollywood, Fla., airport to fly across the state and back. Young landed safely and reported the crash of Greinelsen to authorities. Young was jailed and charged with larceny of an aircraft.

Army Mutiny Trial Near; Stockade 'Abuse' at Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The historic Presidio stockade, long considered a "showplace" by the nation's GIs because of its ocean-side beauty, tomorrow becomes the site of a rare mutiny trial.

The first six of 27 accused mutineers are scheduled to be brought at gunpoint from the barbed wire-enclosed stockade high on a bluff overlooking the Golden Gate Bridge. They will face a general court-martial for holding a sit-down strike.

The Army goes to Federal Court today to answer charges that stockade prisoners received cruel treatment. The suit was brought on behalf of 17 of the defendants by attorney Terence Hallinan, who termed the Presidio stockade the Army's "Black Hole of Calcutta."

The consequences of a guilty verdict in a mutiny case can be death, but the Army said it would not impose the maximum penalty in any of the Presidio cases.

Canada, Italy Anger Nationalist China

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist China has promised "further steps," without elaborating, against Italy and Canada if the two countries recognize Red China.

The foreign office is waiting for replies from Rome and Ottawa to its protest against such moves.

On Friday Foreign Minister Pietro Nenni said Italy would establish diplomatic relations with Peking, and last Wednesday Canadian Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp said Ottawa would soon approach Communist China to discuss similar recognition.

Diplomatic circles here said the Italian and Canadian moves toward Peking might not necessarily mean a break of relations with Nationalist China because both countries seem to want to maintain a two-China policy.

POLICY UNACCEPTABLE
But it is clear a two-China policy would never be accepted by either Nationalist or Communist China.

A spokesman of the Foreign Office said: "We are ready to take further steps against recognition of Peking if Rome and Ottawa fail to give us satisfactory replies."

He declined to say what was planned, but it is generally believed Formosa's first move would be to recall its ambassadors from Rome and Ottawa.

According to diplomatic practice, the Chinese Nationalists would not take the initiative to sever relations with any country until after that country has signed an agreement with Peking for diplomatic recognition.

Members of the foreign relations committee of the legislature have urged the Foreign Office not to take any drastic action until Canadian and Italian intentions are clear. The committee has asked Foreign Minister Wei Tiao-ming to make a full report Tuesday.

Neither Italy nor Canada has a diplomatic representative in Taipei, although Nationalist China maintains embassies and consulates in both countries.

Recognition of Communist China by Italy and Canada would be the biggest blow to Nationalist China's international prestige since France switched diplomatic ties from Taipei to Peking in 1964.

The foreign office says 67 countries maintain diplomatic relations with Nationalist China compared to 45 that recognize Peking.

Voice Identity Is Issue at Trial

Ex-Officer Accused of Killing Florida Girl, 12

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The haunting familiarity of a human voice — can a listener identify with certainty the recorded telephone voice of an emotionally disturbed killer? That's the issue in the "catch-me killer" trial which opens today.

Robert John Erler, 24, the defendant, is charged with murdering 12-year-old Marilyn Clark Aug. 12 in nearby Hollywood, Fla., with four bullets fired into her head from eight inches away and a fifth that entered her cheek and severed the girl's spine.

Erler's attorney, Joseph Varon, will ask the court to suppress tape recordings of his client's voice which the prosecution wants jury members to compare with tapes of a telephone call to the sheriff's office.

In the call at 6:18 a.m., Aug. 12, Deputy James Rice was told: "I just killed three people. I'm serious. Please catch me. Please."

Erler, a policeman who reported discovering Marilyn's body, quit the Hollywood police force and left town Sept. 5. He was captured in Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 15 after sitting for hours holding a .38-caliber pistol to his temple while making telephone calls to friends and the acting police chief in Hollywood.

"Voice identification is the paramount issue of the whole case," Varon said. The prosecution has subpoenaed 45 witnesses, including several police officers and friends of Erler who have identified the voice on the sheriff's "catch-me" tape as that of Erler.

Also on the subpoena list is Dorothy Clark, 42, of Clarkston, Ga., Marilyn's mother and the only known witness to the shooting. Mrs. Clark also was shot five times in the head but survived with some paralysis and partial loss of memory.

Varon said he would introduce no evidence about Erler's sanity or mental stability despite the suicide threats by Erler or his smashing handcuffed wrists through a window in the Maricopa County, Ariz., courthouse.

Detroit Mart Dabbler Finds Club Pays Off

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Twenty-nine years ago Tom O'Hara of Detroit and several friends formed a club whose members would invest about $20 each a month in growth stocks.

Since then the club has grown and prospered. Two years ago O'Hara broke a 27-year tradition of not withdrawing a penny in profits.

All these years he had reinvested what he earned, hoping thereby to pay for his retirement. But the education of his sons came first.

O'Hara decided to withdraw funds. For the past two years he has taken $5,000 a year out of his club in order to keep two youngsters in a private high school.

"I felt pretty badly," O'Hara said. "When I began to make withdrawals I thought the whole thing could go downhill."

His fears weren't justified. For each $5,000 he took out, the increase in value of the rest of his stocks added $10,000. He was spending money yet making money.

Although this came as a pleasant surprise, O'Hara and his friends have become used to success. As an original member of the club he has deposited about $6,300, but his account is now worth $94,000.

The situation isn't typical, for this club was formed before the stock market achieved its present popularity. But somewhat similar examples aren't hard to find. The clubs are growing not only in numbers but in assets.

Now chairman of the National Association of Investment Clubs, O'Hara estimates there are about 60,000 clubs in the country and that their total value is about $1 billion.

The Association, whose rapidly growing membership now exceeds 11,000, finds that on average its members are earning more than 16 per cent a year, or doubling their investments every five years.

Most clubs, usually of 10 or 15 members, invest $20 or less each month, which means they give their broker about $250 of $275. Multiplied out, this comes to $15 million of stock purchases by the total of all clubs.

However, studies show that for every $1 invested in a club, members invest $3 in stocks on their own. The total investments of all club members therefore, comes to perhaps $45 million a month.

Such figures indicate that these organizations, once shunned by brokers, are far more developed today than when the attraction was as much social as business. Today they can be grimly dedicated to profits.

ABOVE AVERAGE

The 1200 Investment Club of Baytown, Tex., for example, has assets of more than a million dollars now, and its members regularly invest nearly $100 a month, or more than five times the average of all clubs.

The growth in the number of clubs has been especially fast during the past year. The NAIC, for example, gained more than 2,000 members, and undoubtedly hundreds of other clubs were formed but didn't apply for membership.

This growth, O'Hara believes, is the result of a rising market. The drop of 1962 hurt the development of the club concept, but from 1965 on the market has—broadly speaking—been on an upgrade. Such success soon leads to more clubs.

The rapid expansion, O'Hara believes, is likely to continue unless a severe stock market drop interferes. Although he does not foresee one now, NAIC members began preparing for a slowdown as much as a year ago.

Nine were Jews.

Baghdad Radio said 200,000 people, shouting "Death to all traitors" took to the streets in Baghdad as soon as the executions were announced and converged on Liberation Square. Eleven of the bodies were hanging there, each wrapped with a poster bearing the text of his death sentence.

Four others were hanged in Basra, the southern port city. They were convicted nearly two weeks ago by a four-man court. Their death sentences were approved last night by President Ahmed Hassan El Bakr.

The death sentence of a 16th man was commuted to life imprisonment.

Two soldiers were given three-year jail terms, two Iraqi Jews were sentenced to six months imprisonment, and 10 other defendants, including four Jews, were acquitted, a broadcast said.

The sentences were handed down after a two-week trial, Baghdad Radio reported.

It broadcast six hours of tape recordings it said were made during the secret trial. These indicated the accused were convicted of spying in Basra, Iraq's southern port, since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

The broadcast said they sent reports about Iraqi armament to Israel with a wireless transmitter concealed in a Christian church in Basra, by spend $1.4 billion over the next five years for expansion and improvements to the electric and gas systems.

Plants at Windsor, Ont., and Belvidere, Ill., are to be shut down the week of Feb. 3; Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, and Newark, Del., the week of Feb. 10; Lynch Road, Detroit, and St. Louis, week of Feb. 17; and Windsor and Belvidere again, week of Feb. 24.

Virgil E. Boyd, Chrysler president, said the cutback "in no way changes our previously announced prediction for 1969. We still expect the industry's dealers to sell about as many new cars, including imports, as they did in 1968."

Last year was a record auto year in the United States, with sales hitting 9.6 million, against a 1965 record of 9.3 million.

Chrysler's output for the first three months will top last year's first quarter by 1,734 cars.

Chrysler sales lagged in the first two 10-day periods of January, compared with the same periods last year, although the daily selling rate was up in the Jan. 11-20 period this year.

In the first 10 days Chrysler dealers sold 25,483 cars at a rate of 3.185 daily, compared with 29,027 and a daily rate of 3.628 in the first 10 days of 1968.

In the second 10 days this year, Chrysler dealers sold 32,173, at a daily rate of 4,022, compared with 35,704 and a daily rate of 3,967 in the Jan. 11-20 period of 1968, when there were nine selling days, compared with eight this year.

Iraq Hangs 15 'Israeli Spies'

Death Sentence of 16th Commuted to Life

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Fifteen Iraqis convicted of spying for Israel were hanged in the main squares of Baghdad and Basra at dawn today, Baghdad Radio announced.

Nine were Jews.

Baghdad Radio said 200,000 people, shouting "Death to all traitors" took to the streets in Baghdad as soon as the executions were announced and converged on Liberation Square. Eleven of the bodies were hanging there, each wrapped with a poster bearing the text of his death sentence.

Four others were hanged in Basra, the southern port city. They were convicted nearly two weeks ago by a four-man court. Their death sentences were approved last night by President Ahmed Hassan El Bakr.

The death sentence of a 16th man was commuted to life imprisonment.

Two soldiers were given three-year jail terms, two Iraqi Jews were sentenced to six months imprisonment, and 10 other defendants, including four Jews, were acquitted, a broadcast said.

The sentences were handed down after a two-week trial, Baghdad Radio reported.

It broadcast six hours of tape recordings it said were made during the secret trial. These indicated the accused were convicted of spying in Basra, Iraq's southern port, since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

The broadcast said they sent reports about Iraqi armament to Israel with a wireless transmitter concealed in a Christian church in Basra, by spend $1.4 billion over the next five years for expansion and improvements to the electric and gas systems.

Plants at Windsor, Ont., and Belvidere, Ill., are to be shut down the week of Feb. 3; Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, and Newark, Del., the week of Feb. 10; Lynch Road, Detroit, and St. Louis, week of Feb. 17; and Windsor and Belvidere again, week of Feb. 24.

Virgil E. Boyd, Chrysler president, said the cutback "in no way changes our previously announced prediction for 1969. We still expect the industry's dealers to sell about as many new cars, including imports, as they did in 1968."

Last year was a record auto year in the United States, with sales hitting 9.6 million, against a 1965 record of 9.3 million.

Chrysler's output for the first three months will top last year's first quarter by 1,734 cars.

Chrysler sales lagged in the first two 10-day periods of January, compared with the same periods last year, although the daily selling rate was up in the Jan. 11-20 period this year.

In the first 10 days Chrysler dealers sold 25,483 cars at a rate of 3.185 daily, compared with 29,027 and a daily rate of 3.628 in the first 10 days of

State Lobbyists Let off Hook

LANSING (UPI) — Some 250 legislative lobbyists will register with the secretary of state this year, but for the first time in many years, no effort will be made to curtail their influence.

Secretary of State James M. Hare and Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, among others, have tried unsuccessfully for years to force lobbyists to make their expense accounts and gifts to legislators a matter of public record.

William N. Hettiger, deputy secretary of state, says his office has given up recommending specific legislation to tighten lobbying laws, aside from submitting a statement to the governor's office in hopes another agency would sponsor such changes.

"Expenditures by an individual or organization designed to promote or oppose legislative acts or administrative decisions by members of the executive branch should be public information to prevent anonymous, invisible government directed by influence peddlers," the statement said.

PRIORITIES

Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon S. Cohan said his office is concentrating on crime legislation in this session since bills on lobbying law revision "never get anywhere."

Michigan has required the registration of lobbyists since 1947. Registering consists of paying a $5 filing fee and providing the lobbyist's name and the name of his employer.

The law requires expense accounts to be kept by the lobbyist or his employers for a period of six years. However, Kelley argues, the attorney general has no authority to subpoena these records for investigation. The Legislature has empowered itself to subpoena the accounts, but in practice has never done so.

In 1962, Kelley's office investigated lobbying practices in the State Capitol.

STATUTES STAND

"The recommendations are still valid today," Cohan said, "because nothing has been done to change the law." In his report, Kelley said: "The present lobbying law is almost completely useless, ineffectual and inadequate and worthless."

Kelley charged lobbyists with making gifts to legislators, giving employment to their relatives, and even writing speeches for them.

"It is clear from this investigation that these techniques give lobbyists much more influence with some legislators in the passage of the public laws of this state than that possessed by any individual citizen or group of citizens not represented by an active lobbyist," the report concluded.

Of the 160 lobbyists who have registered so far this year, most are involved in education, medicine, local or county government, and employee or labor groups. Financial organizations and construction concerns run a close second.

DEFENDS LOBBYISTS

"Actually, you'll find only 30 or 40 full-time lobbyists representing 10 or 15 companies," said a former lobbyist. Many of the others are "onetime" advocates, coming to Lansing only when a particular bill is scheduled.

Most lobbyists become involved when bills are introduced to place restrictions on certain business practices, create an agency to make rules or change workman's compensation or the direct tax on corporations, he added.

"I always talked with the sponsor of the bill first," the lobbyist said. "You can often point out vague wording in it which might involve areas he didn't intend."

The lobbyist then works with the chairman of the committee handling the bill. "What the lobbyist does in the way of buying meals or drinks depends upon his taste," he continued. "Some of the best lobbyists don't spend much at all."

LESS 'BUYING'

The increase in legislative salary and expense accounts has also changed the idea that a lobbyist can "buy" any vote he wants from a legislator, the lobbyist said. "The freshman legislators are always suspicious," he continued, "but the experienced ones know who they can trust to give them a correct information. If they get burned once, they'll never listen to you again."

Critics of lobbying admit it serves a purpose of providing extensive research and data which most legislators do not have the time or resources to gather.

"Reasonable, regulated, and responsible lobbying has a valuable place in our complex legislative process. However, an imbalance exists, and good judgment makes clear the necessity for a restoration of the balance in favor of the public interest," Kelley said.

This balance could be partially achieved by a financial report. Hettiger said.

"The estimated cost of this program would be $10,000 for legislative 1969-70," he said. "We hope somebody will pick up the ball and run with it."

However, the Navy did say that "improved destruct equipment has been installed in all ships of the Pueblo class," and that this was accomplished after the Pueblo was seized Jan. 23, 1968.

"The improved destruct equipment will permit more rapid destruction of classified equipment and publications," the Navy said.

"It also can be actuated by fewer personnel and with greater reliability than previous destruct equipment."

No technical details were given, but the gear presumably involves explosive devices.

LIMITED CAPACITY

Bucher told the five-admiral court last week that his ship had only fireaxes and sledgehammers to break up equipment and an incinerator for burning papers.

There are two other ships in the Pueblo class, the Banner and the Palm Beach.

Although the Navy was asked questions about improvements in terms of all U.S. ships performing intelligence functions, it chose to limit its reply to the Pueblo class.

The Navy customarily avoids identifying intelligence ships, but there are about a dozen with that primary mission, along with about 15 oceanographic survey ships which may also serve intelligence purposes.

CRITICS CONTENTION

Some critics have contended that former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara implied that the Pueblo's crew was able to accomplish extensive destruction of sensitive equipment and materials before being overwhelmed by the North Koreans.

Testimony given to a House subcommittee last February about Bucher shows that McNamara said:

"I cannot tell you exactly how much destruction he accomplished, but as you go through the message traffic, it is very clear that he accomplished a great deal. Whether he started early enough, again I cannot say. I am not entirely sure of exactly when he started, how much effort he applied to it, and so on."

Seattle Killer Guns Down Rights Leader

SEATTLE (AP) — Edwin T. Pratt, executive director of the Seattle Urban League, was shot fatally Sunday night when he opened the door of his North Seattle home.

Sheriff's officers said he was hit in the forehead by a bullet fired from about 20 feet away.

ACTIVE CAREER

Before joining the Seattle Urban League in 1956, Pratt, a Negro, served with Urban Leagues in Cleveland and Kansas City. He became acting director of the Seattle league in 1960 and assumed the top post in 1961. He had a masters degree in social work from Atlanta University.

Gov. Dan Evans joined community and civil rights leaders in calling Pratt's death a great loss.

"He was a man of real understanding. Possibly his greatest contribution was to see the positive side of issues and to work to bring people closer together," the governor said.

Pratt's widow, Bety, said she went to a window as her husband answered the door and saw two youths with a rifle. A neighbor, Don Anderson, said he heard the shot and saw two youths, 18 or 19, run from Pratt's home. One carried a rifle. He said they climbed into a car which sped away.

Pratt, 38, had told him of receiving threats but had shrugged off the incidents and did not go into detail.

Rattlesnake Gets Surgery to Keep It Alive for 'Rodeo'

FRISCO CITY, Ala. (AP) — A 6-foot-9 rattlesnake still is in the lead for top honors in the Monroe County Rattlesnake Rodeo, but had to undergo surgery Sunday to keep it alive and thus eligible.

Larry Gibbs, operator of the Altmore, Ala., reptile farm and owner of the rattler, said the snake had been bleeding internally and possibly was the victim of a traffic mishap prior to his capture.

The snake wiggled out of a go-pher hole near Altmore Saturday as his captor pumped gas in.

The rodeo, in which the largest rattler captured is declared the winner, began Jan. 1 and will end Feb. 15.

A Look at TV

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It was a terrible weekend.

To begin with, we had, as you may have seen on television, a little rain here in sunny southern California.

Conversation in my neighborhood, which is in Coldwater Canyon, ran to such charming subjects as fires, floods and the previously publicized, cheerful notion that an earthquake may someday slice parts of California into the ocean.

The local joke is that the reason Howard Hughes has bought so much of Las Vegas is that after the earthquake, he will have all that beachfront property.

Very Funny.

The televised sights of homeowners whose residences were severely damaged made one think ruefully of all those upbeat video commercials about insurance companies that are always right there to bail you out of an emergency.

NO PAYOFF

What the commercials never, never tell you is that every homeowner knows that the payoff isn't there if your house is damaged or destroyed by what are categorized as acts of God.

The advertisements on the networks deal with goods and services offered to consumers

Damage Tops $30 Million

California Flood Toll 89

From Our News Wires

LOS ANGELES—Southern California's worst siege of rain in more than 30 years eased today, leaving more than 10,000 persons temporarily homeless and a death toll nearing 90.

Nine days of constant rain from two back-to-back subtropical storms caused widespread flooding and mudslides as the soggy ground refused to absorb more water.

At least 89 persons were killed and damage was estimated at more than $30 million. Twelve persons were buried alive in the mud, which oozed down from the hills and into their homes. Fifty-two died in rain-connected highway accidents and four in weather-related airplane crashes. Nineteen drowned and two died of heart attacks, one while filling sandbags to save his home.

President Nixon declared the entire state a major disaster area. The Small Business Administration made low cost federal loans available to those whose homes or businesses were damaged by the torrential rains.

MASS EVACUATION

More than 9,000 persons were evacuated, 3,000 of them from homes in the Santa Paula area in Santa Barbara County where the Santa Paula Creek flooded the lowlands.

The U.S. Weather Bureau today promised some easing of the storm. Only scattered showers were forecast through tomorrow.

The first storm began Jan. 18 and dropped more than 6.5 inches of water on Los Angeles before ending last Wednesday.

The second onslaught hit Southern California a day later and inundated the soggy area with nearly seven more inches of rain. Lake Arrowhead in the San Bernardino Mountains recorded a total of 37.5 inches.

GUARD ON DUTY

The California National Guard helped evacuate homes threatened with flood waters, patrolled damaged highways and guarded empty houses against looters.

The awesome statistics obscure the real story of the storm — the story of people:

• A dike protecting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shultz in Glendora overflowed. "One or two pictures, that's it. That's all that can be saved," Schultz said. "Insurance? They don't cover mudslides."

• "My babies are in the front room. Save them," screamed Mrs. John Gonzalez from beneath her collapsed house in Highland Park. The two children were found dead. The home was reduced to kindling by a mudslide.

• Three pregnant women being evacuated from the Ojai Valley in Ventura County began having labor pains at a relief center. They were taken to a hospital by helicopter.

• Mrs. William E. Stephens of Montecito was swept into a creek. She was missing for 12 hours, then was found alive clinging to the root of a tree undercut by the water. At one point, the water carried her under a parked car, she said.

• A young West Los Angeles housewife, Mrs. Pat Frischke, said at a top police command post "The whole bank in back of the house is coming down. It buried the car. . . . My husband is out there trying to divert the water. The house probably will go soon. But the police can't help. No one can now."

DIGGING OUT THE DEAD—Firemen and police pull a body from a Glendora, Calif., home. Two women were killed in their sleep in the home early Saturday, when a mudslide smashed the bedroom wing of the building.

Report Says Pontiac Split by Fears, Bias

Pontiac is described as a city "divided by racial and ethnic prejudices and fears" in a report issued today by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC).

The report is based on hearings held in the city last June 13-19. At the weeklong proceedings, hundreds of citizens and organizations were heard giving testimony on attitudes and practices in the city.

The report, "A Public Inquiry Into the Status of Race Relations in Pontiac," is a sweeping condemnation of almost all facets of the city's structure in regard to civil rights and racial prejudice.

The MCRC's findings are the first full-scale inquiry on race relations conducted in a Michigan city. Other inquiries are to be held this year, it has been announced.

LAUNCHED AFTER SHOOTING

The Pontiac hearings were launched in the wake of the shooting death of a 17-year-old black youth killed by a city policeman in December 1967.

The report claims, "Negro and Spanish-American citizens are excluded from full participation in employment, housing, education and social services. They are often denied equal protection under the laws and equal access to jobs in law-enforcement agencies."

"The physical isolation which has resulted between white and nonwhite citizens has led to a communications gap of staggering proportions," the report states.

"Civil and government leaders show little concern for, or understanding of, minority-group problems," it reports.

VIOLATIONS LISTED

The documents lists, category by category, the areas in which violations are alleged in civil rights and offers recommendations in each for lessening the practices.

Some of the MCRC findings in various categories are:

• Employment: Nonwhites are not receiving their fair share of the city's economic boom. . . . (They) have ample opportunity to find menial jobs, but little chance to obtain positions compatible with their skills or abilities to improve."

The report cites a gap on city and county employment rolls between the community's percentage of nonwhites and the numbers employed, particularly on the city police and fire departments.

• Private employers: "Most business leaders have expressed a commitment to equal-opportunity policies . . . (but) a large gap exists between policies and . . . actuality." The report said, however, that "many black leaders feel progress is being made."

• Social Services: "Many nonwhite citizens of the area feel they receive inferior treatment from both public and private social service agencies. Although the commission found little direct

Road Mishaps Kill 5, Hurt 5

Two Pontiac men were killed in a car-train accident in Pontiac and three others died, with five in serious condition, after a two-car accident in Orion Township over the weekend.

The dead in the car-train accident were identified as Roderick Byrd, 53, of 82 Jackson and William White, 58, of 389 W. Huron.

Police said the car, driven by Byrd, was headed east on Wilson at 20 miles per hour when it collided with a north-bound Grand Trunk train at 5:20 p.m. Saturday. Police said the train was traveling 43 miles per hour.

The engineer, William Squires, 48, of Battle Creek, told police he didn't see the car until the train's fireman yelled to him that they had hit the auto.

SIGNALS OPERATIONAL

Railroad gates and signals were in operation at the time of the accident, police said.

The Byrd car disregarded the railroad signals, police said, and the train was speeding.

Byrd's car was totaled, and police had to pry open the doors to get the two men out, police reported.

THREE DEAD

Killed in a car driven by Terry D.

Broecker, 22, of Goodrich were Broecker and a rear seat passenger, Aline Davis, 15, of 5071 Oakhill, Brandon Township.

The driver of the other vehicle, Thomas E. Collins, 47, of 1131 Bald Mountain, Orion Township, died this morning at Pontiac General Hospital.

His wife, Vada, 43, and two children, Valdna, 14, and Laurel, 12, are in serious condition at Pontiac General.

Two other passengers in the Broecker auto are in serious condition at Pontiac General. They are: Penny Abbott, 13, of 9580 Dartmouth, and Charles Warner, 18,

Cong Attacks May Impede Talks

PARIS (AP) — American and South Vietnamese negotiators studied reports today on the upsurge of Vietcong attacks, considering their effect on the Vietnam peace talks.

The attacks, apparently timed to coincide with the opening of the four-party conference, intensified over the weekend along the Cambodian border and in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

South Vietnamese sources said the Saigon government probably would instruct its delegate, Pham Dang Lam, to warn the next meeting of the conference Thursday that any new wave of violence could obstruct the way to peace.

American officials said the attacks "are not likely to improve the atmosphere" at the conference. But they added that the U.S. Government has always expected the fighting to continue, at least through the initial stages of the new series of talks.

FIGHTING CONTINUES

North Vietnam and the Vietcong's National Liberation Front have never concealed their intention to "fight and talk," to continue the war unabated until the United States has agreed to withdraw its forces from South Vietnam.

Their delegates made this clear again in their statements to the opening plenary session Saturday.

"As long as the United States continues its aggression, the 31 million Vietnamese, united as one man, will go on fighting until total victory," said Hanoi's delegate Xuan Thuy.

Tran Buu Kiem, foreign minister of the NLF central committee, used almost the same words to warn that the fighting would not subside just because the conference has started.

STRATEGIC BOMBING

Although the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam last November to get the Paris talks going, it intensified its bombing of North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving south through Laos. And U.S. and South Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam have intensified their operations seeking to root out the North Vietnamese and Vietcong and destroy them.

The first analysis by American and South Vietnamese negotiators of the 6½-hour opening meeting Saturday did nothing to change their expectations that progress at the talks would be very slow. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge proposed the immediate restoration of the six-mile wide demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam. He also said the United States at subsequent meetings would put forward other proposals for deescalating the war, releasing prisoners on both sides and withdrawing "all external forces" from South Vietnam, including all "military and subversive forces of North Vietnam."

Thuy and Kiem immediately brushed aside the proposal to revive the DMZ as a trick intended to "camouflage American aggression." They made no comment on the other points Lodge raised.

American officials said they did not consider this an outright rejection of Lodge's DMZ proposal. They were still hopeful that Thuy and Kiem would agree to discuss it, perhaps in private talks that are expected to be held quietly on the sidelines when the conference gets into stride.

Pontiac Crime Increased in '68, but Less Than in '67

WILLIAM K. HANGER

Pakistan Orders Antiriot Curfew

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A 24-hour curfew was clamped on wide sections of Karachi today as antigovernment rioting spread through West Pakistan's biggest city.

There also was trouble in the East Pakistan city of Dacca and its port city of Narayanganj where troops fired on curfew violators yesterday, killing three and wounding 10.

Crowds in Karachi fought for three hours with police who used steel-tipped canes to subdue persons setting fires, looting and throwing bricks.

By midafternoon more than 500,000 residents — about 15 per cent of the population — were placed under around-the-clock curfew. Another 100,000 in the downtown area had been under a curfew imposed Friday and renewed each day since.

OFFICIAL'S HOME

In one area, an eyewitness said crowds tried to attack the residence of an official of the Moslem League, the ruling party.

In Lahore, opposition members walked out of the West Pakistan Assembly when the speaker refused to permit discussion of police handling of riots.

In Dacca, several opposition members in the East Pakistan Assembly brandished microphones to prevent the sergeant-at-arms from ejecting five of their colleagues who had been ordered out by the speaker.

It was the third day of new outbursts against the government of President Mohammed Ayub Khan. The unrest began last fall when students demonstrated for government and education reforms. It was heightened when Ayub arrested several political leaders Nov. 13 on charges of inciting violence.

TROOPS KILL 14

Security forces killed 14 persons last week in firing on rioters in Dacca, Chittagong, Myensigh and Rawalpindi.

Pontiac's crime rate showed a milder increase last year after a record rise in 1967, according to police figures.

Major crime in 1968 jumped 15.5 per cent over the previous year compared to 1967 when they increased a booming 30.8 per cent.

Police Chief William K. Hanger could point to no particular reasons for the reduction.

But he did praise his force and the courts for reducing the number of robberies last year compared to 1967.

"An increase in the conviction of robbers who thus could not repeat their offenses was a main reason for the reduction of robberies by more than 10 per cent," Hanger explained.

Hanger termed the reduction in robberies from 258 in 1967 to 232 last year as the only significant crime decrease in Pontiac.

Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter dropped more than 14 per cent from 14 to 12, but Hanger said the decrease is not significant because of the small number of the offenses.

Major crimes in the city soared from nearly a 7 per cent increase in 1965 to almost 31 per cent in 1967 before dropping last year.

AUTO THEFTS UP

Aggravated assaults and auto thefts showed significant increases last year, the chief said.

Aggravated assaults jumped from 408 in 1967 to 499 last year—up more than 22 per cent—and auto thefts went from 380 in 1967 to 539 in 1968—an increase of almost 42 per cent.

"Our auto theft rate is higher than the national average," Hanger commented, "but I hope the new optional key buzzer and locked steering wheel on cars will reduce the rate somewhat."

The addition of 32 men to the force last year didn't affect the dropping off of the crime increase since the men were being trained and were not out on patrol alone, Hanger said. The force had 170 men at the end of 1968.

OTHER CRIMES

Other trends in 1968 were:

- Forcible rape increased from 24 to 27 or 12.5 per cent.

- Burglaries rose from 1,444 to 1,576 or about 9 per cent.
- Larcenies of more than $50 went from 995 to 1,184, a 19 per cent hike.
- Calls for police service went up from 29,305 to 33,713 or 15 per cent.

- More than 39 per cent of reported offenses were cleared by arrest in 1967 compared to more than 43 per cent last year.

- The public in 1968 showed more responsibility in notifying police of crimes and helping them to solve them, Hanger said.

Nude Performers in 'M' Play Charged

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Six actors and four actresses were charged with indecent exposure Sunday after performing in a play at the University of Michigan in which they stripped naked to enact the birth of the mythical god of win and the death of a king.

They were scheduled to appear in district court in Ann Arbor today on the high misdemeanor charges, carrying a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $500 fine.

The members of the New York company called "The Performance Group" removed their clothes for 15 minutes a third of the way through the 3½-hour play, "Dionysus in '69," and for 20 minutes at the end.

After the play, Ann Arbor police fingerprinted and photographed the 10 persons inside their dressing rooms and allowed them to remain free on their own recognizance.

'KISSING, FONDLING'

Advance billing that the actors would "kiss and fondle each other from head to toe" created a furor among local state legislators.

Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, who had announced he would attend the performance last night but was not in the audience, said he plans "to urge that the Senate tonight carry out its probe designed to study unrest and immorality on the various college campuses of the state."

"If they want a burlesque show, they can go downtown. We've got nudist camps in the state. They can use those."

DIND'T ATTEND

U-M President Robert Fleming, who did not attend the play either, defended it in a statement Saturday, in which he said nudity was difficult to describe as obscene, and at question was "the context within which nudity occurred."

But after the arrests, Fleming issued a statement saying that "by performing clothed in Detroit on Saturday night the cast of Dionysus pretty well demonstrated that nudity is not essential to their production."

In the first nude scene, five men and four women took off their clothes on stage. With four men lying on gym mats, the girls formed an arch over them. A fifth man was shoved through the gap to the sound of grunts and groans in the symbolic birth of Dionysus.

A similar arch was formed at the end of the play, with cast members dousing one another with red fluid symbolizing blood. This time, a man for forced into the arch, which then fell in a heap on the floor, in the enactment of the death of Tenthoeus, king of Thebes.

After it, the play's director, Richard Shekner, held a news conference on the stairway of the university student union, saying law and politics should not interfere with art.

Shekner also told reporters that if the players are convicted of the charge, he would appeal the case all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Historical Park Proposed at Hunter House

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Historical Board will formally ask the City Commission tonight at the commission's 8 p.m. meeting that the city purchase several lots adjoining Hunter House and convert the property, along with the house, into a historical park.

The Hunter House, Birmingham's oldest building, has been offered to the city for use as a historical shrine.

The Parks and Recreation Board will present its annual list of revised golf course rules and regulations for the coming season to the commission tonight.

The commission is expected to take action on a request from the city's retirement board recommending an increase in retirement pay computation for city employees from two-tenths to three-tenths of a per cent of their base pay. The proposal would be placed on the April 8th ballot if approved.

and well-established policy of fair employment and nondiscrimination which was first expressed in writing and adopted by the corporation more than 20 years ago.

"This policy, which is a matter of public record, is widely disseminated through all levels of management including supervision. Implementation of this policy has been accomplished through regional and local management meetings, films, bulletins and supervisory training programs.

"Equal opportunity applies to all applicants for employment in GM. Promotions are based on individual qualifications and ability to perform clerical, supervisory, professional and technical assignments.

"The progress which each division and plant is making is checked regularly by the corporation."

Seaton also pointed out that GM executives and other members of management have actively engaged in the city of Pontiac's urban affairs matters and General Motors' Pontiac area divisions have initiated and are actively engaged in a number of programs currently to aid hard-core unemployed and to provide educational assistance to employees. Among these programs are:

- Operation Opportunity at Pontiac Motor Division. A total of 1,272 persons have been employed in this program which Pontiac pioneered with the Urban League in September 1967. Under it, individuals previously considered unemployable because of past work or conduct records are given an opportunity for gainful employment. The Fisher Body plant in Pontiac and GMC Truck and Coach Division are also participating in the Operation Opportunity program.

Under the National Alliance of Businessmen's JOBS program for hiring the hard-core unemployed, which began in April 1968, the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac has hired 1,077 hard-core unemployed and GMC Truck & Coach Division has hired 408 persons. Including those at Pontiac Motor Division, the NAB hires by GM's Pontiac plants total 3,687.

- Preapprentice Training Programs. In cooperation with the local school system and the Urban League, Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body and GMC Truck & Coach divisions have developed a program aimed at helping young men qualify for apprentice training. In addition, 27 nonwhites are currently in the skilled-trades apprentice training program.

- MIND Program at Pontiac Motor. This is a basic education skills program aimed at helping employed who need help — and want it — in reading, writing and mathematics. Seven employees graduated from the pilot session last October and 54 "students" are now enrolled in six new classes.

- High School Cooperative Program at GMC Truck & Coach. Twenty students work part-time — 16 to 19 hours a week — and are paid $2.60 an hour plus cost-of-living allowance. They also receive credits from their schools.

State Rights Panel Issues Findings

evidence to support this feeling. . . . the belief is widely held."

The report criticized the location of the county social service center at the County Center, Pontiac Lake Road and Telegraph, as being too far outside the ghetto area and not having direct transportation. (In November, bus service from downtown began.) The report also stated that whites were far too numerous in the administration of programs.

- Housing: "Residential areas of Pontiac are clearly segregated, with nonwhites confined to a slowly expanding ghetto in the southern part. Although Pontiac adopted a fair-housing ordinance last year, conditions remain much as they have been for two or three decades."

A housing shortage, plus discrimination, has compounded all other problems, the report stated.

- Education: "Testimony given at the inquiry indicates the racially-segregated composition of Pontiac's schools will continue until the neighborhoods become integrated, or the school board takes affirmative action to achieve racial balance."

The report attacks school policies in regard to teachers and claims the system has resulted in poorer educations for nonwhites.

- Law enforcement: "... Police-community relations is one of the most critical problems facing the city of Pontiac today. Clearly, the black community does not trust the police department, and the department has done little to improve the situation."

The report also charges the department with not having a recruitment program for blacks. (A program specifically aimed at blacks was announced since the hearing and is still in effect.)

English Prof Speaks Out on Conditions

Carl G. Wonnberger, long-time Pontiac-area resident and currently associate professor of English at Eastern Michigan University, speaks out plainly about current conditions. The long-time Cranbrook man says:

"Collective bargaining, and its unsavory bedfellow, the strike, may well force America into the status of a third-rate power. If we fall, we fall from our own indiscretions. The hammer obsolete and we must find new ways of resolving differences between labor and management.

The old ways won't do! In a more primitive age, we might have sent all contenders into the jungle to destroy themselves. And who cared? But now the innocent get hurt and are deprived against their will of life, safety, health and the right to a peaceful existence."

"Had there been a fuel-gasoline strike, who would have suffered? What sense was there in the danger of a complete close-down of a great airport because a handful of food handlers were disgruntled? When the senseless newspaper blackout came to Detroit, what happened to the little businessman with a stock of seasonal Christmas goods or the little newsboy, seeking a pittance for Christmas gifts, or perhaps some warm winter clothes for school? And who really cared?

"The wanton slaughter of innocents has got to stop! We need labor courts, to which both sides might come heavily bonded, courts with panels of economists who could weigh the total labor contribution and the ability of management to pay. These courts should have absolute authority. But we must stop this collective blackmail of the public by selfish groups, abandon pickets, demonstrations, protests and such theatricals in the place of reason!"

I have taught 40 years, mostly in secondary school, and weep to think that my state leads the union in teachers'

strikes. Good teachers should have the return of good lawyers and good doctors, but I have faith in my profession and believe this can be accomplished by that magic thing, public education. I am saddened to think that there are persons who call themselves teachers and still would imperil the growth and welfare of small children simply to line their own pockets. Even animals treat their young better than that!

"This is a call to reason. The time is too late for desk-slapping, screaming and threats in our labor relations.

"Destruction of the helpless will never bring what we want really. This can drag us down to perdition much faster than any Red threat."

"The disturbing thing is the Red threat and what goes on now may well be part of the same pattern. Marx aimed to divide and conquer, and he was in no hurry. He predicted we would eventually destroy ourselves. Could it be that we

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Five children died last night in a fire that destroyed their small one-story frame home at Portageville in the Missouri boot-heel.

The Highway Patrol identified the victims as Jimmie Lee, 7 months; Walter, 2; Jackie, 6; Joseph, 8, and William 10, children of Mrs. Mary Slaggle.

A sixth child, Jo Edna, 3, was not injured.

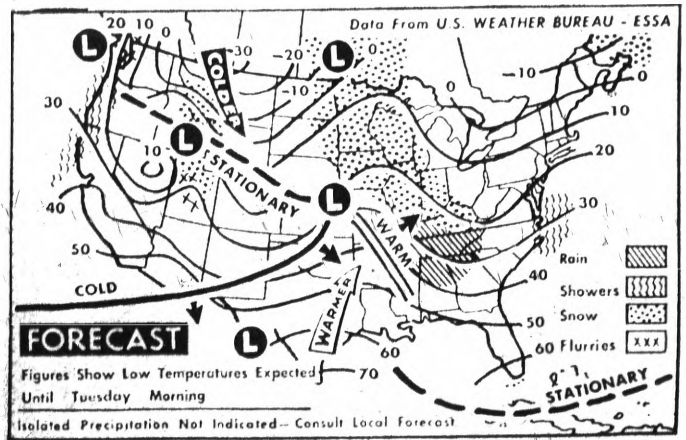

Mrs. Slaggle suffered burns on the face and arms and was taken to the Pemiscot County Hospital at Hayti. Cause of the fire was not known.

Nixon Start Viet Talks Hailed by Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the Nixon administration is off to "a good beginning" in taking over the U.S. role at the Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

Mansfield said proposals made by Nixon's representative in Paris, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, seemed aimed at establishing "the strongest possible positions" for the United States at the inception of actual negotiations.

Mansfield was joined in his assessment by Republican Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, who said the talks under Lodge were off to "a very good start."

Both senators, however, cautioned that the discussions are not likely to move to a quick settlement.

Among Lodge's proposals was a call for the clearing of the demilitarized zone of all regular and irregular military troops.

SIMILAR POLICIES

Neither Mansfield nor Aiken said they saw much difference in the Paris policies of the Nixon delegation from those followed by the U.S. negotiators sent by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"I see no change in the basic positions of the Nixon and Johnson administration positions," Mansfield said. "I am certain, however, that in time we are going to have to refine our positions to reach a settlement."

Aiken did say that one difference results from Nixon not having to negotiate under what he called the cloud of having bombed North Vietnam.

The chief U.S. negotiator under Johnson, W. Averell Harriman, said Sunday he could not predict but hopes for a de-escalation in the fighting and the withdrawal of some American troops from Vietnam by the end of this year.

HOPES FOR REDUCTION

"I would hope very much that a mutual agreement could be reached in de-escalation of the fighting, and it would be possible for a mutual agreement on the withdrawal of foreign forces, including those of Vietnam, and we could see some of our men come home this year with very much reduced fighting."

Harriman was interviewed on the radio-TV program "Meet the Press."

Hope for a quick settlement also came from Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and a strong critic of the war policies pursued by Johnson.

Nixon "didn't get us into this unfortunate situation and I think he ought to settle it and I believe he will because I think he has the sense of the significance of this past election..."

POPULAR BACKING

The American people will support Nixon "if he settles this war on any kind of reasonable basis," Fulbright said.

He was interviewed on a television program produced by the Public Broadcast Laboratory.

Three freshman senators also joined in Sunday with their assessments of the war situation. Sens. Alan Cranston of California and Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, both Democrats, said Nixon should start de-Americanizing the war—starting withdrawing U.S. troops from South Vietnam, even without reciprocity from North Vietnam.

The third new senator, Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, also a Democrat, said he hoped for fast results from the Paris talks, but couldn't agree on a unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops.

All three freshmen senators appeared on the radio-TV program, "Issues and Answers."

Minor DMZ Activity by N. Viet Last Week Is Reported by U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported 180 more indications of North Vietnamese activity inside the demilitarized zone during a five-day period last week.

"We still have a lot of sightings of enemy troops in the DMZ," said a U.S. source, "but it doesn't appear anything major has moved across. There have been no large unit sightings reported, and we doubt that there are any regimental or division headquarters in the area."

Another source said that North Vietnamese troops were building bunkers in both halves of the DMZ, but "we've been shooting them up as fast as we find them."

"SHOULD BE RESTORED"
"We believe that the demilitarized status of the zone between North and South Vietnam should be restored immediately," Lodge said in his opening statement.

Only one of the 180 indications from last Monday through Friday was considered significant by the U.S. Command—enemy gunners shooting off a tire of a light American reconnaissance plane flying over the DMZ. Five enemy gun emplacements were destroyed by U.S. artillery after that attack, spokesmen said.

During the same five-day period, U.S. headquarters said American bombers, warships and artillery fired five times into the DMZ after enemy activity was sighted.

The command said the latest report raised to 2,187 the number of enemy sightings inside the DMZ since the bombing of North Vietnam was halted Nov. 1. A spokesman said 1,392 of these were reported by American reconnaissance in the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide zone and the other 795 in the North Vietnamese half.

U.S. RESPONSE

He said that American planes, artillery and naval gunfire responded 724 times, 717 in the southern half and seven times in the northern half.

Of the 2,187 indications, the U.S. Command considered 52 significant enough to make public the details. But its criterion of significance is whether the results of American counterfire are observed.

Sources said the large number of enemy sightings was considered a violation of a tacit agreement with North Vietnam that it would keep the DMZ free of military activity in return for the bombing halt. The North Vietnamese have denied any such agreement.

U.S. headquarters also reported that U.S. helicopter gun-ship crews spotted enemy troops locating a 37mm antiaircraft gun about 60 miles below the DMZ southwest of Hue. The helicopters attacked the 4,620-pound gun, which has a range of 8,000 feet, and the pilots said they destroyed the gun and killed at least two enemy soldiers.

DOZEN ATTACKS

North Vietnamese and Vietcong troops launched a dozen attacks on allied bases and other installations over the weekend, bearing out the predictions of U.S. military analysts that the Communist command would increase its operations to boost its negotiating position in Paris while the new administration is still settling down in Washington.

In three battles northwest and south of Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 127 enemy. U.S. losses were nine men killed and 22 wounded and South Vietnamese casualties were one dead and four wounded.

Former Janitor of Lapeer Bank Sweeps Into Concern's Top Executive Position

LAPEER — Roderick L. Parsch, who used to be the janitor, is now president of the Lapeer County Bank & Trust Co., 83 W. Neponset.

One of banking's most successful success stories was climaxed last week when County Bank directors elected Parsch to the firm's top executive position.

Parsch, 46, of 600 Monroe, is also second vice president and slated to become president of the Independent Bankers Association of America. In this capacity he represents 6,600 banks throughout America and is often called to Washington, D.C., to advise congressional banking committees.

Glenn Caley had been president of the County Bank since 1934. "I am pleased to step aside to give the title to Rod, who has certainly earned it," Caley said.

VAST EXPERIENCE

Directors immediately named Caley chairman of the board.

Parsch has been with the bank 30 years. His first job, while still in high school, was pushing a broom. He has held almost every position available since then. He was named executive vice president 10 years ago. He is also a director.

When Parsch began his climb, the bank's total assets were $495,000. Today they are about $25 million.

A branch has been added in Elba plus a drive-in branch behind the main office in downtown Lapeer. That main office is currently undergoing the latest in a series of expansions and remodelings which have become necessary as business grew.

FOUNDING FAMILY

The Caley family goes back even farther than Parsch at the County Bank (former Lapeer Savings Bank). The late Mathias Caley was one of the founders in 1913 and served as director and president. He was the father of Glenn Caley. Tom Caley, Glenn's son, is currently a bank director along with his father.

"The Caley family has given the bank a unity of service and policy throughout these many years," Parsch said. "I am pleased that this unity will be continued and I hope it lasts forever."

Also at last week's meeting, directors approved a 5 per cent stock dividend, increasing the common capital stock by $21,925 to $460,500. Stockholders recommended this action at a meeting a day earlier.

RODERICK L. PARSCH

$25 million mark. Earnings per share after taxes were $13.22, up from $12.31 the year before. Net income after taxes was $238,000.

Directors made only one other change in officers. Mrs. William (Priscilla) Beyer was named assistant trust officer. She has been with the bank since 1947 and has served in the trust department since it was created five years ago.

Sen. Hart Announces HUD Grant

Mainland Again Chairs COG

William L. Mainland of Milford was reelected chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG) at its second annual general assembly Saturday at Cobo Hall in Detroit.

Mainland, the District 27 member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, was elected COG's first chairman at its first meeting last January.

His reelection was made with the stipulation that leadership would be changed in 1970. Mel Ravitz, Detroit Common Council member, was reelected vice chairman.

COG, a coordinating and planning agency, is made up of representatives of member cities, villages, counties and school districts in the seven-county metropolitan Detroit area. Its budget for 1969 is $525,000 made up from membership fees and federal and state grants.

for COG during the next year, the senator said.

Oakland County continued to show domination in leadership of the group by winning two of four chairmanships of bloc groups.

Homer Case, supervisor of Bloomfield Township, was elected chairman of the township group and C. Henry Haberkorn III, of the Bloomfield Hills school board, was elected chairman of the school bloc.

'THRESHOLD OF ACTION'

COG chairman Mainland described the first year of the organization as a time of preparation and said for 1969, "We stand on the threshold of action."

Hart, in his keynote address to the group, expressed a warning that the correction of urban problems may be downgraded during the Nixon administration.

"I think President Nixon and his chief aides have made it abundantly clear that they intend few innovations — and for the most understandable of reasons.

"They believe, with considerable justice, that the Republican victory meant the public wants a time of governmental slowdown, reassessment and sit-tightism.

"And if the federal government is taking the pressure off, old problems are in danger of gathering new momentum."

Ex-Con Recruits Hard-Core for Novi Firm

NOVI—The way to get results from deprived, inner-city employees, a company has found, is to deal with them through a guy who has been there.

Paragon Division of Portec Inc., a steel-fabricating firm at 4400 Grand River, took a chance last spring and promoted ex-convict J. Bernard Spann to handle inner-city recruiting. He had been a timekeeper.

Spann's tactic when recruiting is to "tell them the truth."

'I'm Not Your Brother, Man, I'm Mr. Spann'

'THEY LET YOU KNOW'

"They let you know when they think you're jiving them," Spann says of the recruits he deals with. "I tell them, 'Look man, I don't have to lie to you. If I lose this job, I think I can get another one.'"

Workers are paid $2.63 an hour for three days of training, then go into the plant for on-the-job training at $3.33 an hour. The men are transported by bus to and from work under a special plan arranged by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

IT'S WORKING

Spann thinks the program is working. He says 89 of the last 120 men he recruited have completed the training, with absenteeism the biggest factor among the dropouts.

Waterloo gives Spann credit for the improvement. "Maybe this is because Mr. Spann understands their problems better."

Holly Blaze Kills Woman, 82

HOLLY — An 82-year-old woman, Myrtle Lamb of 105 Michigan, was found dead early Saturday night after a fire swept her residence, village police said.

Police said the fire apparently broke out around 6:30 p.m. Police and the township volunteer fire department were not notified of the fire until 7 p.m.

Miss Lamb's body was found near a wood-burning stove in her sitting-dining room at the rear of the house.

Firemen said overheating of an antiquated stove caused the blaze.

'DIED QUICKLY'

A spokesman for the fire department said Miss Lamb probably died soon after the blaze broke out. Police and firemen searched through the entire house before finding the body.

The century-old two-story house was gutted by the fire, according to fire department reports. No damage estimates have yet been made.

Miss Lamb was a life-long resident of the village and has lived alone in the house for several years.

Village police said Miss Lamb spent most of her time during the winter near the stove in the sitting room.

Police and firemen were at the scene for about two hours.

The firm's minority-recruiting program seems to have made progress under Spann, too. Says his boss, Personnel Manager David K. Waterloo, "Lately we seem to be getting better recruits."

The program was started last April, and Spann took it over in October. Since then more than 200 disadvantaged or "hard-core unemployed" have been trained in fundamentals of arc welding.

The 34-year-old Spann should. He's been there himself, having been paroled last April after serving five years of a 7½-to-20-year term on his third armed robbery sentence. Spann is not afraid to recruit ex-convicts, either.

$235,410 GRANT

Michigan's Democratic senator, Philip A. Hart, announced at the meeting that the organization has been granted a $235,410 Housing and Urban Development Grant.

The money represents two-thirds of the cost of growth and development planning

COG Sets New Health Agency

Organization of a new central health agency was announced at the general assembly of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments Saturday.

The agency intends to use a $207,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). The funds are expected to be available for use in July.

At a health affairs conference, it was explained the new agency was an outgrowth of a 27-member group called the Area-wide Health Planning Committee.

The new agency will oversee planning and developments of a wide range of health services in the seven-county metropolitan Detroit area. It will deal with general health care; water supplies and sewage systems; air, water and ground pollution; and mental health.

The group will coordinate varied activities and have the power of review of development plans involving state and federal funding, it was indicated.

GIs Are Asking to Leave Viet — They're Bored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 131st Engineers of the Vermont National Guard want to come home from Vietnam—but not for the usual reasons.

"They are bored to death, with nothing to do," according to Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt.

Aiken said he had received a letter signed by 130 men telling him that the outfit had been assigned no important tasks and was only "sitting around."

"They said they wished somebody would give them some work to do or else send them home," Aiken said.

Lake Orion Voters Okay School Levy

LAKE ORION — Voters in this school district Saturday approved renewal of a 4-mill property tax levy for operating expenses for five years.

Over 1,000 voters turned out for the special election, with unofficial totals 1,011 yes and 579 no. Twenty-one ballots were spoiled.

Schools Supt. Lewis Mundy said the turnout was "one of the largest" for an election in the district.

The vote was the third for citizens in seven months. Two earlier attempts by the board of education to obtain approval for increased millage went down to defeat.

TURNTOWN

In June, voters turned down a 6.25-mill increase, which would have included 3.5 mills for operating expenses and 2.75 mills for a building program.

A second attempt in August to levy the

3.5 additional mills for operation also was rejected.

Mundy said the board, administration and members of the citizens' study committee, which had recommended approval of the renewal, were "very pleased with results of the election."

The board of education has been operating with a small carry-over from each year's budget, but the surplus has been steadily dwindling, according to the superintendent.

END OF SURPLUS

Mundy said expenditures for 1968-69 are anticipated to run about $167,000 over income, and added, "This is the last year we will have anything left over."

The 4-mill levy amounts to about $175,000 annually in tax income, he said. The district's current tax rate, which will remain the same with passage of the renewal, is 23.75, the lowest in Oakland County.

Rochester Student and Girl Are Safe

L'ANSE AU LUP — A Michigan Technological University senior and a freshman coed found their way to safety yesterday after becoming lost in the wilderness of the Huron Mountains in upper Michigan.

Gary Petaja, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ahti E. Petaja of 202 Winry, Rochester, and Deborah Dorman, 18, of Houghton were reported found by a woodsman.

They said they spent Saturday night in an abandoned cabin in the mountains after losing their way while returning from a snowshoe trek into the wilderness to gather material for a college writing project.

Troy to Air Condemnation for Acquiring Sylvan Glen

TROY — The City Commission at its meeting tonight at 7:30 is scheduled to discuss whether to begin condemnation proceedings for the purpose of acquiring Sylvan Glen Golf Course.

A suggested resolution directing City Attorney Stanley E. Burke to begin condemnation proceedings in Oakland County Circuit Court will be considered.

A week ago, the commission approved a final purchase of $1.4 million, or $8,750 per acre for the 160-acre course, located at 5725 Rochester.

However, city officials said at the time that they expected Detroit developers Samuel S. Bankle and Myron Sheffman, who hold an option on the property, to reject the offer.

$3-MILLION COST

Sale of the land to Bankle and Sheffman, who reportedly plan a subdivision on the golf course site, was announced last month by the Jim Robbins Co., which is presently continuing to operate the course. The purchase price was reported as $3 million.

Commissioners have said they intend to apply for a federal open space grant to finance about half of the purchase cost, with the rest to be paid by the city under a revenue bond. The course would then be operated as a municipal facility.

The commission two weeks ago approved an agreement with the Robbins Co. to split the cost of removal of an embankment at the south end of the course. At that time the possibility of condemnation and purchase was first discussed.

Also on tonight's agenda is a request from the Chrysler Realty Corp. for extension of city water service north along Crooks.

IMMEDIACY URGED

A letter from the firm asks that work on the extension be started as soon as possible, so that water will be available for the company's new office, now under construction at Crooks and I-75, is completed.

City Manager Paul York has recommended that the firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark Inc., 2709 Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, be authorized to do engineering work on the proposed extension.

Fairgrounds Study for Stadium Is Set

DETROIT (AP) — A proposal for a domed sports stadium at the Michigan State Fairgrounds will be studied by experts to see if it is economically feasible.

Announcement of the study was made Saturday by Alfred R. Glancy Jr., chairman of the development committee of the Michigan State Fair Authority, who said an architectural firm will be named Tuesday to undertake the job.

The proposed stadium would take some five years to build. It would include high-rise parking facilities and would have a seating capacity of "upwards of 88,000."

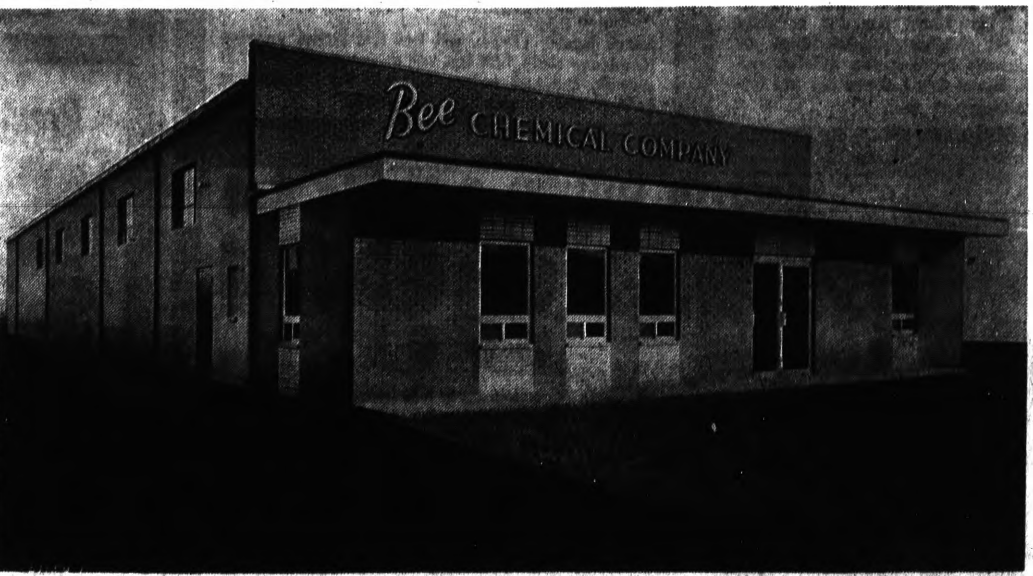

"We recognize that the basic financing of this stadium would obviously be based on a revenue bond issue and that the primary for having this economic study made," Glancy said.

Decision-Making Is Forum Topic

TROY — A human relations workshop entitled "Decisions '69: A Troy Community Forum," will be held weekly for six weeks beginning Thursday as part of the school district's adult education.

Mayor Jule R. Famularo will be keynote speaker for the first session of the workshop, which will deal with community decision-making processes.

Coordinator for the series Donald Hill, social studies instructor at Troy High School. The first two-hour session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Room 103 of the high school, 3179 Livernois. Tuition for the workshop is $5 per person or $8 per couple.

NEW LABORATORY — Colors for auto components are matched and tested in this laboratory recently constructed by the Bee Chemical Co. at 526 Minnesota, Troy. The company, headquartered in Chicago, Ill., has two plants in the United States and one in the United Kingdom, with the international service facilities.

Storm Delays Arctic Training

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) — About 800 Minnesota National Guardsmen arrived at Camp Ripley Sunday night in eight-below-zero weather to begin 14 days of Arctic training.

The troops arrived 24 hours late because a snowstorm last week blocked many highways in the southwestern part of the state.

WINTER'S STAMP — These mailboxes along highway 60 through downtown Mountain Lake, Minn., manage to peek out from a drift left by a snowplow which cleared the road after last week's storm in the southwestern Minnesota area. Mail service to the area was halted for a few days after snowdrifts left most roads blocked.

Critic Calls It Sharp-Edged

Maddox Satire Opens in N.Y.

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — "Red, White and Maddox," a funny, sharp-edged satire about the segregationist governor of Georgia, opened on Broadway last night—moved intact from Atlanta.

In that city, after Theater Atlanta opened it Oct. 3, the contents were controversial. In New York, it'll be a conversation piece. Here, satiric theater on living political figures, like off-Broadway's "MacBird," is taken largely as something to talk about at cocktail parties.

"Red, White and Maddox" tells the story of the governor from a poultry beginning (owner of a fried chicken restaurant and a Mrs. Malaprop of the first backwater — "White's white and black's black and if you got two ears to hear with you can see that") to the roomy governor's mansion where he got lost.

Act two foresees a future in which Maddox is President, federal troops are gunning down the citizens of Muncie and the President, quoting God, talks Congress into declaring war on Russia.

NOT AS INCREDIBLE

It moves snappily throughout but Act Two in "Don Tucker's" and Jay Garner's play doesn't seem as inventive or as humorously incredible as Act One's "long steep dusty trail of deep water" that Maddox says he climbed.

Jay Garner plays Maddox with loosely shaking head and tongue slackly out, but a quick snap-to of vigor whenever desired.

The stage at the Cort Theater was full with 24 actors, marching around in old-fashioned drills, taking a variety of parts and singing some really top-quality songs by Tucker.

HE'LL SHOW 'EM

In the play, Maddox closes his restaurant rather than integrate it. Then he runs for governor, talking a lot against race mixing and communism. He's shown convincing farm folk that he'll show the city folk and convincing the rich to donate campaign money because he's going to win.

Songs are very effective, especially "Jubilee Joe," which deserves to become popularly known, hummed and whistled.

There weren't any real dances to all this music, only much formation walking and a few simple time steps. Instead of being a musical comedy chorus, these people are actors of the Theater Atlanta Repertory company.

Producer Edward Padula believes "Red, White and Maddox" is the first production from a regional theater transferred in toto into a Broadway show.

CHILDLIKE COSTUMES

David Chapman designed costumes — childlike bibbed, short pants, baggy playsuits worn over short-sleeved shirts — and the set, with red, white and blue designs on the floor and a papier mache eagle as a backdrop.

What other critics said: Clive Barnes, New York Times: "The ax-hander and politician... is most enjoyably taken to pieces... the musical does, however, say something — and with pride — about the workings of American democracy that this slashing, scathing, excoriating attack on Maddox should have been permitted in Atlanta."

Lee Silver, New York Daily News: "... a nicely polished satirical musical... this Georgia-born show is not a light-hearted spoof. It is kidding on the square, a sardonic, brash, caustic version of the life and times of Gov. Maddox."

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "... the musical is certainly trying to build up the importance of Georgia's outrageous governor... In the process of trying to demolish him its authors... have shown their belief that he is at least worthy of satire, even though they offer insufficient evidence to prove it..."

PRODUCER AND STAR — Producer Edward Padula (left) congratulates star Jay Garner as "Red, White and Maddox" opened on Broadway last night.

Lake Ice Breaks; Man Is Drowned

NAUBINWAY (UPI)

Melvin Frazier, 50, drowned in 60 feet of water yesterday when his snowmobile plunged through icy Lake Michigan just east of this Mackinac County community.

The Naubinway resident reportedly was hunting coyotes when his vehicle broke through the ice two miles from the shores. State Police skin divers from the Sault Ste. Marie post recovered his body last night.

ROMNEY'S NEW TEAM—Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney is shown outside the White House with five key aides he picked Saturday. They are (from left) Samuel J. Simmons of Washington, assistant secretary; Mayor Floyd Hyde of Fresno, Calif., assistant secretary; Samuel C. Jackson of Washington, assistant secretary; Romney; Richard C. Van Dusen, 32205 Bingham, Beverly Hills, Mich., under-secretary; and Sherman Unger of Cincinnati, general counsel.

Return of Higgins Spurs EMU

By United Press International
Earle Higgins could almost qualify as a magician. He's turned Eastern Michigan University into one of the top small college basketball teams in the country.

The Hurons proved that Saturday night when they topped Central State of Ohio, the No. 3 ranked small college squad in the country, 73-58. It was only the Marauders' third loss in 12 games.

Eastern Michigan has won three straight games to boost its record to 11-5 since a Washtenaw County judge lifted a ban which said the 6-foot-8 Higgins could not play basketball for five years. The ban was part of the probation Higgins was put on following his conviction for burglary last September.

The former Ann Arbor high school star hit 16 points, guard Harvey Marlatt added 18 and 6-foot-7 center Kennedy McIntosh, a former South Haven high school star, was high with 19. The Hurons expanded a 30-25 halftime lead to 49-29 in the opening nine minutes of the second half to win.

EASY VICTORY

The University of Detroit upped its record to 12-5 by stomping John Carroll, 92-52, and guess who led the way.

Hint: It wasn't J. Howard Prof. Indomitable Spencer Haywood.

FOUND DEAD — Mike Pryor, former Michigan State griddler, who played four years for Pontiac in the Midwest Football League, was found dead in the locked car of his garage Saturday, in his Detroit home. Pryor, 29, was a Detroit fireman. He had been hospitalized a week earlier for taking an overdose of sleeping pills. His survivors include a wife and three children.

gobbled up 25 rebounds and threw in 35 points. His 6-foot-8 presence contributed to the 26 per cent shooting of John Carroll.

If you guessed Spencer Haywood led Detroit to its victory here's one you may have a little more trouble with: Which school has won the most games in the state?

Michigan Lutheran won its 17th in 18 tries, 85-68, over Yountstown, O., with Eddie Jenkins netting 27 points and Wardell Dyson 20.

BRONCOS KICKED

Toledo received 26 points from 6-foot-7 center Steve Mix and 25 from 6-foot-5 forward Bob Miller to slip Western Michigan its third Mid-American Conference loss in five games, 84-64.

The Rockets slapped on a full-court press to open up its large lead on the Broncos, who received 20 points from Gene Ford. Toledo is now 3-3 in the MAC.

Northern Michigan had three players hit 20 points or more in a 109-94 beating of Lakeland, Wis., to move its season record to 6-8. Ted Rose had 28, Mike Boyd 23 and Al Inkala 20.

Milford Kegler Shares Honors in Elks Event

A Milford woman and an Elkhart, Ind., entry shared the honors Sunday in the Elks Ladies National Invitational Bowling Tournament at the Pontiac Lodge 810 lanes.

Dorothy Prior of Milford is the new singles leader after her handicap effort yesterday put her one pin ahead of former pacesetter Elsie Gurchinoff of Plymouth.

Evelyn Suridge of Milford hit a 639 total to move into fifth place. In another change, Hillsdale's Joan Van Arsdale slipped into a tie for third place with a 642.

ALL EVENTS

Betty Bowman of Elkhart, Ind., is the new actual all events pacesetter, finishing her weekend's work with 1644.

The only other change during the third weekend of action saw Pontiac's Hagan Music team, captained by Alice Godfrey, grab fourth place with a 2916 handicap total.

Rattlesnake Gets Surgery to Keep It Alive for 'Rodeo'

FRISCO CITY, Ala. (AP) — A 6-foot-9 rattlesnake still is in the lead for top honors in the Monroe County Rattlesnake Rodeo, but had to undergo surgery Sunday to keep it alive and thus eligible.

Larry Gibbs, operator of the Atmore, Ala., reptile farm and owner of the rattler, said the snake had been bleeding internally and possibly was the victim of a traffic mishap prior to his capture.

The snake wiggled out of a gopher hole near Atmore Saturday as his captor pumped gas in. The rodeo, in which the largest rattler captured is declared the winner, began Jan. 1 and will end Feb. 15.

A Look at TV

Spirits Are Dampened on Weekend

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It was a terrible weekend. To begin with, we had, as you may have seen on television, a little rain here in sunny southern California.

Conversation in my neighborhood, which is in Coldwater Canyon, ran to such charming subjects as fires, floods and the previously publicized, cheerful notion that an earthquake may someday slice parts of California into the ocean.

The local joke is that the reason Howard Hughes has bought so much of Las Vegas is that after the earthquake, he will have all that beachfront property.

Very Funny. The televised sights of homeowners whose residences were severely damaged made one think ruefully of all those upbeat video commercials about insurance companies that are always right there to bail you out of an emergency.

NO PAYOFF

What the commercials never, never tell you is that every homeowner knows that the payoff isn't there if your house is damaged or destroyed by what are categorized as acts of God.

The advertisements on the networks deal with goods and services offered to consumers

Show Biz Has New 'In' Cast as White House 'Lead' Shifts

By EARL WILSON

WASHINGTON—There's a new Show Business "In" group forming here chasing the LBJ "Ins" out.

You could get a line on it when the Richard Nixons had some 800 buddies in for coffee, Danish pastry and champagne at a reception at the White House. Duke Wayne wasn't there but we hear that as a close friend of the new President, he's welcome, and will be riding up there on horseback and throwing his Stetson in ahead of him, almost any time.

Don DeFore, Barbara Eden and her husband Michael Ansara, Ruta Lee, Mrs. Bob Stack, Dorothy Malone, Mrs. Bob Cummings, Norman Taurog and Diana McBain were there being personally greeted by the President and First Lady. Also Buddy Ebsen and Dale Robertson.

"This is your home now... you're our closest friends... we'll have smaller dinner parties on a rotating basis..."

That's approximately what Nixon told them. He astonished actress Anita Louise and her husband Henry Berger by telling Mrs. Berger, "Thank you for the reindeer you sent me for Christmas."

No, she didn't send him a live reindeer. A reindeer flower arrangement. And of all his Christmas gifts, he remembered.

He also said he supposed that now he's President, they can't have little dinners for four like they used to have at 21 or El Morocco.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.

Mia Farrow and Andre Previn were making no secret of their fondness for each other in P. J. Moriarty's—and everybody was enjoying watching... Howard Hughes is eyeing Warners-7 Arts... Secret Stuff: A world-famous actress and her author-producer husband have had it.

The Burtons'll attend the London premiere of Richard's "Where Eagles Dare;" a chaise longue'll replace the theater seat for Liz's achin' back... Hugh Hefner bought a big chunk of land in N.J. for a resort hotel... Yvette Mimieux, arriving for the "Three in the Attic" premiere, will audition for a David Merrick show.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: John Huston says he played the nasty uncle in "deSade" because "I liked the script, the role and the money—not necessarily in that order."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The Lost and Found Dept. (says the cynic) is where people bring their things they've found and can't use.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: Frankly, now that it's over—what did you do yesterday that's really worth mentioning?"

EARL'S PEARLS: The way the world is going, every day is the anniversary of something awful.

It's now revealed that Columbus discovered America by accident. He wanted to sail to India, but his ship was hijacked. That's earl, brother.
