

Adults Speak Their Minds

Teen Recreation Gets Comments

What do Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, think Pontiac teenagers need, if anything, to keep them busy, happy and out of trouble during the summer?

Are local teens lazy or, don't they have enough to do when they are out of school, especially during the evenings?

This is the second of two on-the-street interviews conducted regarding a summer recreation problem of local teens.

Teens wrote first. They were bored and said they didn't have a safe place to meet and associate with the opposite sex during the summer. Nothing was adequately or conveniently planned for them, they charged.

Letters with countercharges from local area youth groups poured in. They claim the facilities are available but teens don't take full advantage and participate.

Here are comments from adults.

"Pontiac teenagers have plenty of summertime recreational facilities but a lot of them are not taking advantage of them," said Mrs. Mildred Thompson, 580 Clara Ave.

"If they were," she added, "they wouldn't be complaining. The YWCA, YMCA and Boy's Club have many programs for them to attend and projects to work on. There are also many nearby beaches and tennis courts available plus the regularly scheduled dances," according to Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. James Woodbury, a former Pontiac resident now living in Sarasota, Florida, said: "Teenagers in Florida have many more things to do because civic financed recreation centers are provided. They hold dances, talent shows and also teach golf and tennis.

"Being a former member of the local Boys' Club mother's group who helped organize it, I was glad to hear the Pontiac Boys' Club is doing so much for local teenagers. They almost foded up once due to lack of interest," she explained.

"Teens living in the city have more opportunities for summer recreation," claims Arthur Rose, 7902 Dixie Hwy., Clarkston.

Rose explained Clarkston residents are now formulating a recreation board for a planned teen recreation program with ultimate hopes of building a youth canteen.

"It could be teens are complaining about a lack of summertime activities because they are not informed due to insufficient publicity," Rose thought.

"Teenage summertime recreational troubles are caused by their lack of adjustment," William H. Mustard, of 60 Henderson St., theorized.

"Teens are accustomed to a certain routine of fun and excitement during school when many plans are made for them. When

Lakes Claim 3 Over Weekend

Recover Bodies After Drownings in Wing, Oakland, Dixie Lakes

Drownings took the lives of two men and a five-year-old boy in Oakland County waters this weekend.

Dead are: Richard Clay, 28, of 54 Chapman St.; Stefan Purka, 33, of 17808 Orleans St., Detroit; and William J. Graham, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Graham Sr., of 2633 Meadow Wood Rd., Toledo.

Clay drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming about 40 to 50 feet from shore in Dixie Lake, Springfield Township, said sheriff's deputies.

"He had been wading and fishing along the shore with friends, Joe W. Wright, 37, of 46 Lull St., and Quincy Alston, 33, of 321 Rockwell St.

They told deputies that Clay decided to swim out and back after they finished fishing. He swam out and evidently became entangled in weeds.

Purka drowned while swimming in Lake Oakland, Waterford Township Sunday. He was a guest at the Ukrainian Catholic Camp, 3250 Walton Blvd., and was swimming alone near a dam in the lake.

A friend, George Diczak, who lived with Purka, and Rev. Stephen V. Knapp, in charge of the camp, called Waterford Police and sheriff's deputies when they couldn't locate Purka at about 9 p.m.

Deputies, with the aid of a portable spotlight, found his body about 40 feet from shore in approximately 10 feet of water.

The Graham boy drowned in Wing Lake, Bloomfield Township, while playing in the water with an inner tube Saturday.

The tube was found on shore and it is believed the child brought it in, and then returned to the water. He was seen floating just below the surface in about 5½ feet of water by Mrs. D. B. Dickenson Jr., of 6005 Walnut Lake Rd.

The boy's family were visiting the John Graham family, at 6130 Wing Lake Rd., Bloomfield Township.

Juvenile Waiver Query Expected for Detroit Boys

Seek Murder Warrants in Store Shooting for Pair, 16 Years Old

DETROIT (AP) — Juvenile authorities were expected to be asked to waive jurisdiction today over two 16-year-old boys accused of fatally shooting tobacco store proprietor during an unsuccessful robbery attempt. Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Arthur J. Koscinski said he planned to ask Probate Court to waive jurisdiction over Curtis Curley and Alvin Shaw so that he could secure murder warrants against the youths.

Curley and Shaw were arrested yesterday.

Koscinski said Curley made a formal statement in which he admitted a part in the death of Charles W. Fox, 53. He said Shaw refused to sign such a statement.

Fox was found dying in his store last Wednesday shortly after several shots were heard and two youths were seen fleeing in the area.

About $1,100 was found untouched in the store. Police said they believed the robbery attempt went awry because of the shooting.

The youths were arrested yesterday when a roomer at the Curley home, Eugene W. Jones Jr., 35, told police his pistol had been moved from its usual place and that two shots had been fired from it. Officers said Jones suggested they question Curley about the matter.

Detective William Brown said tests showed the weapon was the same one used in the Fox slaying.

In the beginning the juveniles said that the crime was originally (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

QUASHED IN QUAKE—This four-story apartment was squashed almost flat in yesterday's earthquake in Mexico City. Rubble at the left in picture covers a dozen parking lot. Five persons were believed trapped in the building wreckage.

U. S. Engineer Describes Mexico City Quake

'This Was the Worst Scare I Ever Had or Hope to Have'

Merrill Crissey of Miami, Fla., engineer in charge of the curve-stress division of Florida Lithbar Corp. and a partner in the firm, he arrived in Mexico City Saturday afternoon and left the stricken metropolis approximately eight hours after it was rocked by a devastating earthquake, which he believes left no major modern building undamaged. He is in San Francisco to attend the world convention of the Pre-Stress Concrete Institute, which opens today.

BY MERRILL CRISSEY

First the lights in the hotel went out. The street lights were still on, for a few moments. Then they went out too.

I tried to get out of bed. I swung legs over the side, and it seemed as if the floor came up to meet me. I tried to stand up. I couldn't.

The floor seemed to throw me right back on the bed. I knew it was a quake. I've been in a couple of small ones in California before. But they never bothered me.

This, I'll tell you, was the worst scare I ever had or ever hope to have in my life. I kicked myself for not checking earlier where the fire escape and stairs were.

I felt my way down three floors to the lobby. Somebody had got hold of some candles, and pretty soon just about all the guests were down there in pajamas and housecoats. I don't think anybody was hurt at my hotel, the Ritz.

The Mexican people I saw seemed a lot calmer than the American tourists. Some of the tourists got pretty excited.

It seemed as if half the population of Mexico City was going into the churches.

The older part of the city, where most of the churches are, stood the quake a lot better than the newer part. I didn't see any damage to churches, but I didn't inspect any closely. I only had three hours and I wanted to see how modern construction down there would stand up.

My field is stresses. In Florida it's the hurricane stresses we build for, but my firm engineers for earthquake country too, so this tour was more business than curiosity.

I saw dozens of modern buildings. I didn't see one that wasn't damaged and I doubt if there were any. Where two buildings were close, cornices were knocked off from them banging together.

Buildings hitting each other probably wouldn't happen in a place like New York, but Mexico City is built on volcanic rock — old ash. Everybody in the higher buildings noticed the sway.

NO LONGER SAFE

I'm certain many of those buildings will have to be condemned. They've been wrenched to the point where they are no longer safe.

I couldn't even begin to make a guess at damage — millions and millions. It may be months before a halfway good estimate can be made.

It probably seems funny to the average person that the modern buildings didn't stand up as well as those old churches. But 400 years ago they tried to build for eternity.

Shock Topples 50 Structures in Capital City

20 Missing and Over 500 Seriously Injured in Major Disaster

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Inhabitants of central Mexico dug their way out today from the rubble of the worst earthquake in local memory.

The big shock toppled 50 buildings in Mexico City alone, killed at least 43 persons and wrecked more than eight million dollars damage.

At least 20 persons were reported missing and more than 500 seriously injured in the quake, which ripped the earth all the way to Acapulco, on the Pacific coast.

But officials agreed the casualty toll appeared remarkably low in view of the quake's severity.

Thirty-two bodies were taken from collapsed buildings in Mexico City. Eleven other persons perished in the southwestern state of Guerrero. Three of these were in Acapulco, six in the state capital, Chilpancingo, and two in nearby towns.

The President's office said the governor and chief of the military zone of the southwest state of Michoacan denied reports there were any dead in that area. An earlier report had said there were 72 dead in that state.

The casualty reports were believed fairly complete, but authorities pointed out that remote areas might still be heard from.

The only foreigner reported injured was a woman tourist from Brooklyn, Mrs. Sarah Dorfman. She suffered cuts on the arm from broken glass in her hotel room.

The quake hit this capital of four million at 2:40 a.m. yesterday, seismograph needles spinning.

The city was plunged into darkness. Fire engines and ambulances screamed through the rubble-strewn streets. Communications with the shock areas west of the city were cut off and the glided symbol of Mexican independence—a winged angel—crashed down from its 155-foot base.

At least 13 persons were killed in automobile traffic in Michigan over the weekend.

Six drownings were reported. This was in contrast to the previous weekend with its extraordinary drowning total of 23.

Car collisions were responsible for several deaths, including those of a young couple and a housewife. Russell Ross, 26, of Birch Run, and his 24-year-old wife, Beverly, were killed Saturday night and six others hurt in a two-car crash on U.S.23 about seven miles south of Saginaw.

Mrs. Gertrude Bowes, 40, Ypsilanti, was injured fatally Saturday when a car driven by her husband was struck in the rear by a truck.

U.S. Treasury Changes Hands

Robert B. Anderson Becomes Secretary as Humphrey Bows Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury George Magoffin Humphrey today hands over to Robert Bernard Anderson the management of the nation's finances.

The resignation of Humphrey, often called the "strong man" of the Eisenhower Cabinet, takes effect when his 47-year-old successor is sworn in in the Cabinet Room of the White House.

Humphrey, 47, is expected to become board chairman of National Steel Corp. He has said the government should not be run by "doddering old men" because "there's no future for the Republican Party in that."

His successor has crammed high honors and great responsibilities into his shorter life. Eisenhower picked Anderson to be secretary of the Navy in 1953, then made him deputy secretary of defense.

HAD BIG JOB AT 31

Born in Burleson, Tex., Anderson was just 31 when he became general manager of a 300-million-dollar cattle, oil, farming and real estate empire, the W. T. Waggoner estate in Texas.

He was a Texas Democrat-for-Eisenhower in 1952, and left the Waggoner estate willingly when the President beckoned him to Washington to become boss of the Navy. Anderson had never been even an ordinary seaman, because of a slight limp left over from a polio attack at age 3.

Eisenhower kept him at the Navy less than a year, then made him deputy secretary of defense—reputedly because Anderson was a man who could avoid controversy.

He left the government in 1955 to become president of Ventures, Ltd., of Toronto, a mining properties holding company at a reported salary of $60,000 a year. Today his pay gets cut to the Cabinet level of $25,000.

Meantime, Anderson has become a registered Republican and a legal resident of Greenwich, Conn. He is said to be Humphrey's own choice to take over the No. 1 job at the Treasury.

36 Perish in Multiple-Fatality Accidents

Death Comes Wholesale Across U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A head-on collision on a sunny Texas highway... a fiery smash-up near a New York summer resort... a capsized boat on Puget Sound... a car in a muddy Virginia pond... plane crashes in Florida and Maine.

So went the grim story of wholesale death and multiple disaster across the nation over the weekend. Thirty-six men, women and children died. Whole families were wiped out.

The worst accident came on a straight stretch of highway near Kenedy, Tex., on a sunny Saturday afternoon. A head-on collision of two cars claimed nine lives. The dead included five members of a single family.

An outing on the wind-whipped waters of Puget Sound in Washington turned to tragedy for two Seattle families Saturday. Four adults and four children drowned when their small outboard motorboat capsized off Oak Harbor.

Six more persons drowned near Fredericksburg, Va., yesterday when their car veered off the highway and plunged into the muddy waters of a roadside millpond. They ranged in age from 7 to 53. One occupant of the car escaped.

Six young people perished in a flaming, two-car crash early yesterday near the summer resort of Sylvan Beach, N.Y. The dead included three members of one family. A 19-year-old girl was the only survivor.

Four persons died yesterday when their private plane plummeted into woods on the Eglin Air Force Base reservation about 40 miles east of Pensacola, Fla.

Another plane crash took three lives in the remote northern Maine community of Allagash. The private plane cracked up while landing at a small airstrip.

WILLIAM BANK

RICHARD REYNOLDS

Two Pontiac High School students who hold top positions on the school newspaper, the Tomahawk, are attending the University of Michigan Department of Journalism summer session. They are sponsored by The Pontiac Press.

The two are William Bank, son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Bank, and Richard Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reynolds. Bill will be an assistant editor on the school paper the coming year and Dick will be sports editor.

At the two-weeks summer session the boys, with students from other high schools, will get practice in meeting the problems of producing high school publications, under direction of the journalism department faculty, and selected high school teachers also attending the summer session.

Lines Up With Southern Opponents

Sen. Jackson Supports Jury Trial Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) supported today a jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill. He said he was unwilling to "endanger one civil right to guard another."

His stand in a prepared Senate speech lined him up on the jury trial issue with the bill's Southern opponents after he had voted against them on other phases of their battle.

The jury trial proposal shaped up as the issue that may determine the course of the battle over the House-passed measure, on which the Senate now is starting a fourth week of debate.

If a jury trial amendment is adopted, indications are that the Senate may pass the bill late this week or early next week. If not, a Southern filibuster may break out and prolong the fight indefinitely.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Dixie forces, said he thinks the vote on the jury trial issue will be very close.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California predicted defeat for the jury trial amendment.

The jury trial issue springs from the authority the bill would confer on the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of the right to vote.

Under present law, defendants in contempt of court cases growing out of injunctions obtained by the government are not entitled to a jury trial.

An amendment offered by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Church (D-Idaho) would provide for jury trials in all criminal contempt cases — whether they involve civil rights, labor disputes or anything else and regardless of whether the government is a party to the proceedings.

Criminal contempt proceedings are designed to punish a person for willful disobedience of an injunction or other court order. The maximum penalty under the amendment would be a $1,000 fine or six months in jail, or both.

In civil contempt cases, aimed only at obtaining compliance with a court order, no jury trial would be provided. If a person were sent to jail, he could purge himself of contempt and go free at any time by agreeing to comply with the court's order.

Juvenile Waiver Will Be Sought

Originally, it was planned for five boys to be in on the holdup, and for the stickup to be pulled July 23. At the last moment, the three other boys couldn't take part and the holdup was rescheduled for Thursday.

The holdup went awry because of the shooting. The boys did not disturb the $300 in the cash register, nor another $800 in a cigar box at the rear of the store.

ANOTHER ROBBERY

Sgt. David Harris said the failure to obtain any money in the Fox store holdup led the boys to rob a market at 1501 Pallister of $335 Thursday night.

He said the boys would be used in several police showups Monday. He also planned to ask the Probate Court to waive jurisdiction over the boys so they could be charged with first-degree murder.

Detective William Brown of the police scientific laboratory said tests of Jones gun showed it was the weapon used in the slaying.

The Curleys live in two bedrooms on the third floor and share living room and kitchen on the second floor with Jones. The arrangement has been in effect for about a year, according to the owner of the building.

Mrs. Ahazte Crawford, the owner, described the Curley boy as "mannerly and not one likely to get into trouble."

She said his father works in a factory and his mother at Receiving Hospital. Young Curley had been going to summer school, Mrs. Crawford said.

Dulles to Lend Personal Hand

Flying to Conference on Disarmament With 'Open Skies' Key Issue

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles was flying to London today to take a personal hand in the stalled five-power disarmament talks at President Eisenhower's request.

One prime purpose of the trip reportedly was to work out a precise "open skies" plan for Europe which the European allies would support.

Dulles will confer with Harold E. Stassen, chief U.S. delegate to the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee, and with Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

British newspapers described the secretary's visit as a "major event in international affairs" and expressed hope it would provide a turning point in the long efforts to end the East-West arms race. Officials in Washington said what Dulles learns in his consultations may decide whether the disarmament talks should continue or recess.

The U.S. diplomat and his aides came here from talks with Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada, one of the participating nations in the subcommittee talks.

Dulles was reported to have received Canada's support for the U.S. proposal for mutual aerial inspection of arctic zones in Canada and Soviet Russia as one phase of a first-stage disarmament agreement.

Dulles' arrival coincided with presentation at the five-power talks of U.S. proposals for implementing Eisenhower's plan for aerial inspection zones on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The open skies plan calls for a check on whether an arms reduction or control agreement is being faithfully carried out.

One report said Dulles may make a flying trip to Paris to confer with the North Atlantic Treaty Council on the open skies issues.

Stassen would present whatever detailed plan ensues from the Dulles talks to the Russian delegation. The Soviets then are expected either to request a recess to study the idea or respond at once with a counterproposal.

Denver to Greet Favorite Girl, Mamie, Today

DENVER (INS) — Denver prepared to greet its favorite daughter, Mamie Eisenhower, today when the first lady of the nation lands at Lowry Air Force Base.

Mrs. Eisenhower will arrive about noon aboard the Columbine III, accompanied by her secretary, Mary Jane McCaffrey, and the President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder.

During her stay in the mile high city, the first lady will occupy the presidential suite of the Brown Palace Hotel rather than her mother's home. Her mother, Mrs. John Doud, is entertaining her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Carlson of Boone, Ia.

A reception committee will meet the presidential plane. On hand will be Gov. Steve McNichols, Mayor Will Nicholson, and family friend Al Nielsen.

BULLDOZING FOR BODIES — Bulldozers were utilized to search for victims of yesterday's Mexico City earthquake. An estimated 10 persons were believed killed in the collapse of this apartment building. Soldiers in steel helmets aided police and firemen in the grim search.

Adults Give Comments on Recreation for Teens

summer comes, it's a letdown to them and many do not possess the initiative to cope with the problem.

"Summer activities are many for teens. They can go to the Boys' Club, the Y's, participate in city-sponsored sports events or simply have a good time playing croquet," said Mustard.

Mrs. Alfred Ryder, of 124 Jackson St., agrees with local teens who complain summers don't offer much for them.

"We really need several recreation centers, but to help the situation immediately and break up the routine, I think teens would enjoy open air dancing and even several good old-fashioned street dances like they used to have," suggested Mrs. Ryder.

"If parents taught their children to think for themselves, teens shouldn't be restless," according to Rev. Geoffrey Day, of the Evangel Temple, 365 E. Wilson St.

"If anyone really wants to find things to do, they can. Teens need to be more creative and have greater imagination to cope with the problems."

"It's a natural reaction for activities to become routine. We have the same gradual slack in attendance at the Oakland County Youth Fellowship's monthly rallies. The recreational facilities are available for teens. They need to help themselves to make them interesting to them," says Rev. Day.

"I agree with these restless teenagers," says Roy Miner, of 51 Lorraine St. "The Y's and Boys' Clubs are fine but there's a bad gap between them. How about the boys and girls who don't have dates?"

"I'm disappointed with the Y's. I think they stress activities for young married couples. The YMCA does a fine job out at the Nike base and the YMCA sponsors swimming and dancing parties for teens. But, would kids go there if they don't have dates?"

"Why doesn't General Motors let the teens use the vacant space on Baldwin Avenue used during school time for industrial education? It's wasted space in the summer. We could get enough chaperones."

Mrs. Joseph Freer, of 253 N. Perry St., thinks teens need more clubs, dances and a large recreation center.

"I have two daughters and I know they would enjoy a Girls' Club similar to the one we have for boys," she said.

John Howard Kinsey, 64, of Blue Lake, formerly of Pontiac, died suddenly at 11:30 p.m. yesterday.

Mr. Kinsey, retired Salaried Personnel Director of the Fisher Body Division, attended All Saints Episcopal Church and was a member of the Elks Lodge.

Surviving besides his wife, Betty, and mother, Mrs. George Kinsey, of St. Petersburg, Fla., are two daughters, Mrs. Bedford Culp, of Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. Daniel O'Riordan of Royal Oak, and a brother, George, of Beulah.

Complete funeral arrangements are pending Mrs. Kinsey's return from Blue Lake.

Other buildings did not fare so well. A 14-story structure housing the Canadian Embassy and former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer's law offices was so badly shaken its tenants were not permitted to visit their premises. Engineers' reports were awaited to determine whether it could be re-occupied.

Apartment buildings and skyscrapers in much of the downtown area were under examination to determine their safety. Newspapers quickly came out with demands for stricter building code controls to avert a similar condition in the future.

LABOR PROBE REVEALING

WASHINGTON — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), saying his committee's union investigations had found "extensive" corruption stated: "I don't mean by that to indicate that all labor unions are corrupt, dishonest or inefficiently managed. But conditions we have found are more widespread than we anticipated when we began our inquiry."

HOMES DAMAGED

Chilpancingo, a town of 9,000, suffered the worst blow outside Mexico City. Half its homes were damaged, many of them beyond repair. One of the state capital's leading hotels fell apart. Its proprietor died in the ruins.

Nerves of foreign visitors suffered considerably. Mexico City's Paseo de Reforma was crowded in the chill dawn with hotel evacuees shivering in their night clothes.

In the new seven-million-dollar, 400-room Continental Hilton Hotel, guests trapped behind jammed doors in the plush building yelled for help. The lights went out, the plumbing failed and a big crack widened down one outside wall.

At first it seemed the hotel might have to be emptied. But normal service was restored and the litter cleaned up enough to permit 80 per cent occupancy by tonight. Managing director Warren Broglio estimated repairs would cost about $80,000 mostly in redecorating.

The Day in Birmingham

Board Sees Opposition; Expect Lengthy Session

BIRMINGHAM — Two hearings both with opposition factors may well lengthen what otherwise appears as a short session for city commissioners tonight.

A petition to rezone property on the west side of north Woodward avenue from terrace to multiple dwellings has brought signed opposition from 25 persons living in the Lakeside-Redding area.

Tehy point out that this particular type of zoning may see the construction of a more than two and one half story apartment which would be foreign to the type of home already constructed there.

The second hearing an informal one, concerns the proposed sidewalk for Derby road. When this subject first appeared on the agenda last week, residents voiced strong opposition to the idea.

Other commission considerations tonight will be several reports from the city manager, the receipt of special assessment rolls for the Lake Park sewer and Elm street sidewalk.

There will also be a special report on the city's assessment procedures.

A husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Anson Priests of 890 N. Pemberton Rd., Bloomfield Hills, were injured Saturday night when Mrs. Priests lost control of the car and struck a tree.

She told police that she was making a left turn on Woodward avenue at the Long Lake cross-over, and being unskilled to the car's power steering, lost control of the vehicle.

Priests, 49, and Mrs. Priests, 43, were treated for cuts about their heads.

Three home burglaries were reported to police over the weekend. At the Joseph E. Williams, 511 Merrill St., police recorded another visit from the "walk-in" burglar.

Mrs. Williams told investigating officers that she came home from shopping and laid her purse on the table. Sometime within the next half hour while she was upstairs and her husband in the basement, someone entered the unlocked front door and removed three $10 bills from her purse.

Police said that this has happened several times recently and again asked householders to make sure that all doors are securely locked.

At the Robert Conroy home, 797 S. Glenhurst Rd., entry was made through a sun-porch window Saturday. Bedroom drawers and desks were thoroughly ransacked. The Conroys who returned home yesterday reported the theft of an automatic pistol, fur cape, jewelry and a camera.

On the same day the Theodore Vaughan home, 765 S. Glenhurst Rd., was robbed of a lighter and a small Gladstone bag. Entry was gained through a summer porch and the same search system was used in both cases.

GM's Records Opened to U.S.

Company Reverses Its Stand; Curtice Not Now Required to Testify

WASHINGTON (INS) — General Motors Corp. reversed itself today and agreed to turn over its records to government auditors who charge the firm made profits 70 per cent larger than expected on an Army contract.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) made public a telegram from GM President Harlow H. Curtice, in which Curtice said all company records would be made available to the general accounting office.

Hebert promptly canceled his request that Curtice testify before the armed services investigating subcommittee to explain GM's refusal to turn over the records.

The subcommittee, which Hebert heads, is looking into General Motors' contract with the Army for tank parts.

A week ago, Hebert accused GM of "complete dishonesty" in connection with a contract to produce 599 jet fighters. GM denied the charge.

405 Missing Sought After Kyushu Flood

TOKYO (AP) — Some 40,000 rescue workers today sought 405 persons still missing four days after heavy rains flooded wide areas of western Kyushu.

National police reported 591 bodies have been recovered so far.

Police also reported 3,681 injured in one of the worst flood disasters in recent years on the southern Japanese island of Kyushu.

The latest police count listed 152,251 homeless and 75,458 houses flooded.

Twelve more inches of rain fell on southern Kyushu yesterday, flooding more than 8,000 houses.

Polio Soon to Be Disease of Past

In the light of 27 months experience there's no doubt in the minds of top medical men that Salk vaccine can wipe out paralytic polio.

Among conclusions reached during that time are that polio, a crippling disease of both children and adults, can be licked by three inoculations of the vaccine; that it's safe; that even one or two shots give a certain degree of immunity.

The records show that 68.1 million persons have received one or more shots, 20.2 million of whom have had the required three. Among the latter group in an 18 month period ending July 1, the incidence of paralytic polio was infinitesimal—42 cases, one per 500,000 with two deaths, one of which may not have been from polio.

In the same period there were an estimated 7,290 cases among those who did not get the Salk vaccine, or the full series, that is, one in 20,000 with 598 deaths—one per 240,000. The first half of 1956 saw 2,927 cases of all types of polio in contrast to 1,557 cases in the first six months of this year.

What is of even more importance is the fact that in the first 27 weeks of this year the number of paralytic cases was less than half that for the same period last year. The protection afforded by the vaccine begins to build up within a few days after the first injection, says U. S. News and World Report. In 1955 tests, Dr. SALK reports that one dose gave effective protection to 60 per cent or more cases.

The U. S. Public Health Service statistics for 1956 show that attacks of paralytic polio have been 75 to 80 per cent lower among persons with one or two inoculations than among those with none at all. Furthermore, when polio does hit a person who has had one or two shots, it is less damaging than among those not inoculated.

Initial research projects included the work of thousands of devoted scientists who supplied the knowledge which enable Dr. SALK to perfect the vaccine. The cost was $25.5 million—very little indeed compared to the protection provided.

The goal ahead is inoculation of all the estimated 108 million persons in the under 40 year age bracket. When this has been accomplished, doctors agree that polio will be wiped out completely in the United States.

Bases in Spain

We now have in Spain a naval base, four air bases, a double base, a supply base and a 475 mile pipeline.

The U. S. Air Force and Navy will soon have a large base at Rota, seven miles across the bay from Cadiz. Other bases in operation but not entirely completed are near Seville, Madrid and Saragossa and we also have a fuel pipeline from Rota to Saragossa.

All this cost us $400 million and took seven years to negotiate and build. Spain has the right to use the bases jointly with U. S. forces by mutual consent. When the agreement terminates in 10, 15 or 20 years, depending on extensions, from September 1953, the bases will revert to Spain.

The Spaniards are not too happy about the bases for they realize they would be the objects of retaliatory attacks in case of war. But it is a calculated risk and we must have strong defenses to discourage any idea of attack.

Colored Currency Sure to Simplify Handling

It remains for an Australian visitor to step up with a suggestion for improving our current "financial situation" without adding or detracting a single dollar.

"All your paper money is green," says he, "and this is a quaint and very old fashioned idea. Why don't you employ yellow, blue and red to help distinguish all bills at a glance?"

Perhaps he's right. He may have something. Wouldn't it make the handling of money easier everywhere if all the five dollar bills were red, all the tens yellow and all the twenties blue?

What's wrong with that? Who would object?

At first, prejudice might be against the change and acceptance of the idea could be reluctant in conservative quarters. However, as that wore away, the whole problem of money handling would be simplified without additional cost.

Wouldn't you really get a kick out of a handful of "redbacks" or a pocket bulging with "yellowbacks" or a fistful of "bluebacks"?

Why not give it a whirl?

The Man About Town The Popular Time Now in Midst of Vacation Period With Highest Favor

Vacation: With too many a time to fight about—before, during and after.

The two-week period that bridges the last week in July and first week in August always is the most popular vacation time of the year. Contacts with the AAA, travel agencies, transportation lines and other sources always bear out this fact. A great majority of our people consider it to be the ideal time to get out and go. And in our own Michigan at this time there's always plenty of places to do that very thing.

"My eight-year-old daughter is raising a cucumber that will beat the one from Independence, Mo., that weighed two and one-half pounds, which you recently showed in a big picture at the top of your first page," writes

Mrs. Jane Beaulacir of Metamora. She continues, "It already weighs almost that much and is rapidly expanding. She has picked all other cucumbers and blossoms from the vine, so it gets all of its energy." Mrs. Beaulacir also gets facetious by closing with: "Anyway, we're glad to see something worthwhile come out of Independence, Mo."

The local army draft boards send only 16 men in their August quota. The Pontiac City board sends six and the out-county board sends ten. The induction date for both is Aug. 9.

A confirmed gladiolus fan wishes to acknowledge the most beautiful specimens he ever saw, coming from the garden of Ralph T. Keelins, who surely knows how to beat the rainbow in coaxing the colors out of them.

Hollyhocks so tall she no longer can measure them are reported in a letter from Mrs. Goldie Holland of Clarkston. They're emulating the beanstalk that Jack made famous.

When told of the narrow escape from drowning of his granddaughter, Forrest Cornell of Dryden suffered a heart attack and is in a Lapeer hospital.

Throwing mosquito netting over his cherry tree by Harvey Arundsen of Waterford didn't keep out the robins, who went up under it.

The Weak Link

David Lawrence Says:

Coercionism—It Just Won't Work

WASHINGTON—Coercionism—the misguided tactic of too many of the so-called "liberals" of today—just will not work.

This has just been impressively demonstrated in the handling by Congress of the two major pieces of legislation—the modification of the "civil rights" bill and the side-

LAWRENCE tracking of federal aid for schools.

It is unrealistic to say, as some of the partisans now are saying, that if President Eisenhower had only fought harder for the school bill he could have gotten it through the House.

What killed the bill for this session was the mistaken zeal of a large group of both Northern Democrats and Republicans who tried to jam down the throats of the Southern people a measure that would have deprived them of Federal money for their schools unless they accepted "integration."

What is generally overlooked by the critics is that, even had there been approval by the House, no such bills would have gotten by in the Senate anyway.

NOT REALLY LIBERALISM It is passing strange how often so many of the so-called "liberals" openly advocate that the President apply threats and the tactics of pressure to coerce the members of his own party in Congress. This is euphemistically described as a means of exercising "leadership."

It runs counter, however, to true liberalism which holds that the elected representatives of the people should represent the will of their constituents and should not surrender convictions by succumbing to the blandishments of Presidential patronage or special favor.

The idea is frequently advanced that all a President has to do is to "crack the whip" and to change metaphors, he will then have a "rubber stamp" Congress to do his bidding. This isn't true representative government today and it never has been. Presidents have won major causes only when they could convincingly persuade and not when they tried to coerce.

The real reason why the $1,500,000,000 school bill failed is that the sponsors of it have not yet sold it to the country. There is, of course, need for more classrooms and in some areas certainly Federal aid is essential if there is to be any immediate program of construction.

But the very partisans who are complaining about the President's failure "to fight aggressively" for the school bill forget that they themselves helped to build up throughout the nation the so-called "economy mood" of today which began when the critics last January assailed the $71.8 billion budget of the Administration.

SCHOOL BATTLE NEXT YEAR

There wasn't a Chinaman's chance of passing any kind of a school aid bill at this session. The Southern bloc had its back up and so did the economy-minded bloc of the House. This was a big enough coalition to form a majority—and the decision was to postpone school legislation until next session when the real battle for it will take place.

As for coercionism, it is not working in the "civil rights" fight and it never will bring "integration" in the South. Such ill-advised proposals as the one introduced by a so-called Democratic "liberal" in the Senate the other day—to reduce the South's proportion of representation in Congress if more Negroes didn't vote—is reminiscent of the way the Republican Congressmen from the North functioned in Reconstruction days.

Also, to deny jury trial on the theory that Southern people on juries cannot be trusted to render just verdicts, is the way to increase discord and dissension.

Whatever may be the solution ultimately to the handling of the race problem in America, it can come only through voluntarism—and not coercionism. There is nothing "liberal" about coercive tactics however tempting may be the Machiavellian maxim of totalitarian minds that the end justifies the means.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Constant Users of Shots Like an Untrusting Mule

"My brother had a bad running ear for three years. Doctors kept giving him expensive 'shots,' but without apparent benefit. I kept urging him to try the ear drops you recommend for it, but he laughed at me, saying 'You women are too glib.'"

(Mrs. L. K.) Which reminds me of the mule that had no faith at all in the veterinary. The vet cured him just the same.

Now take this case, for example. For three years the poor soul kept running from doctor to doctor and "shot" to "shot"—no doubt administered by the office girl when the doctor wasn't around—because he had simple, childish faith that a dose of medicine via the needle is so much more potent than it would be if taken in the ordinary way.

A lot of hard-headed characters share his belief—they pay from $2 to $7.50 per "shot" for Bi (Thiamin), which in tablet form suitable for taking by mouth costs less than a cent.

What's more, some of these shrewd yokels declare that a dose of thiamin administered by the office girl who looks like a nurse (on TV) gives them more "pep" than any quantity of vitamins taken in the ordinary way.

BROTHER TRIES DROPS

"Finally," continues Mrs. L. K., "my brother said 'OK, if it will make you any happier I'll try the —.' I won't repeat what he called you, but he insisted he'd use the drops for a week, no longer.

"Before the week was up," continues Mrs. L. K., "his ear had stopped running and there has been no sign of trouble since—some six months now."

Here are the directions I give for anyone who has chronic running ear:

1. Cease plugging the ear with cotton. Instead, leave it always open to free ventilation.
2. Drop in the ear each night and morning two or three drops of a solution of ten grains of boric acid in an ounce of pure grain alcohol. Use a blunt medicine dropper and always warm the solution by letting the vial stand in hot water for a while before using.
3. If your drogglet will not provide the solution for you, just say, "Oh, I see. Then a bottle of rubbing alcohol, if you please."

4. Use the rubbing alcohol instead of pure grain alcohol, to make up the ear drops yourself.

5. Here's how. Put in the one fluid ounce vial as much boric acid powder as you can quickly heap on a dime. Then fill the vial with the alcohol.

I have received hundreds of reports from readers who say these ear drops corrected the trouble in days or weeks and as a rule without recurrence.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Cites Jesus' Use of Psychology

Notice how Jesus employed psychology to avoid a trap. Business experts are now using psychology as never before, because we live in cities, surrounded by people. So the wise choice of words can spell the difference between success and failure. This is now a conversational age.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case V-349: Harry G., aged 37, is a talented personnel director.

"Dr. Crane, don't you think psychology is worth at least 50 per cent as regards business success?" he inquired as we lunched together recently.

"In our firm, we find that employees need far more than a fair wage scale."

"They also have ego hungers that likewise must be satisfied. In fact, I have seen able workers take a lower salary in order to move into a department where they could have a private office or their name on the company letterhead."

"Management is now beginning to wake up to the need for Applied Psychology as never before."

"The newspapers which have sponsored your scientific column thus deserve praise for having jumped the gun."

FOREMOST PSYCHOLOGIST

Yes, I heartily agree that psychology is worth at least 50 per cent toward your ultimate success not only in business but in almost all other walks of life.

Voice of the People

'Animal Welfare Is Place for Pets, Not on Doorstep'

Many pets have been dropped off on roads or doorsteps in this community and probably others by persons who couldn't care for them or already had a pet.

Those who do this should think twice. It would be a lot better to take them to the animal welfare where someone who hasn't a pet could give them a nice home.

Answers Letter on Thank You's

I agree to a certain extent with the writer who discussed thank-you notes. Nine months certainly is much too long to wait to send thanks for a wedding present. But I disagree heartily with some "etiquette books" which say all notes should be written within two, or three weeks after the wedding.

For one thing, most couples are on a honeymoon for two weeks or more and I'm sure no one would expect the bride to spend that time writing notes. After that, the bride usually goes back to work full time in addition to the job of keeping house and cooking meals for the first time. Consequently, week-ends are just about the only time she has to write the notes.

Considering that many girls have between 100 and 200 notes to write it's almost impossible to get the notes written within less than five or six weeks, which some "authorities" generously allow. It could be done sooner, I suppose, if someone else writes them, or if all notes are exactly alike, as some girls send. But I would prefer to get an especially nice note written a little later than one a week after the wedding which says "Dear Mrs. Jones, Thank you for the tray, Jane" like some I've received.

Once a Bride

'Could Rainbows Vanish for Year?'

Last week I heard a warm discussion over the fact Easterners don't see rainbows any more because of the Geophysical Year. Is this true?

Has anyone around Pontiac seen any rainbows lately? Is it possible that rainbows would disappear for a year? What does McMath Observatory say about that? Does the Cranbrook Institute of Science have any light to shed?

There are more old wives' tales in regard to nature than any other thing. But these people from the East all swore they hadn't seen a rainbow in some time.

They Don't Agree About Vacations

The letter in Voice of the People from Lucky 13 on taking vacations together is one of the nicest The Press has printed. The writer must be a splendid, upstanding Christian woman. If I were married to her, I'd want to spend my entire vacation right where she was.

Sometimes the light that filters through the colored windows in church is a little more beautiful and a little softer than it is at other times, this letter from Lucky 13 has those inspiring qualities.

Mr. G.

Separate vacations? They're a boon to marriage. When you meet again each one appreciates the other twice as much.

22 Years Married and Loving It

'Is Pontiac Doing Good Job in This?'

New York took in two million dollars in traffic fines three years ago. Last year they collected 12 million. Is Pontiac doing as good a job in this connection? We don't have to try and finance the whole cost of government like Waterford did, but we can certainly make transgressors pay for their sins. There's nothing wrong in that.

Taxpayer

Canadian Discount Bothers Reader

Last week in Canada they discounted my money five per cent. On a $20 bill they took out one buck before they started to give me change. We're the biggest, most powerful and most important nation in the world. Why should anyone discount our money anywhere? And especially why should it be done by our nearest neighbors with whom we've gotten along for several centuries without trouble?

Is their money any better than ours? I don't want to discount theirs either. Can't two great neighbors like the United States and Canada get along without wringing down the other fellow's cash? That's the last time I'll spend in Canada until the thing is evened up.

Michigander

'It Took Graham to Fill Stadium'

Billy Graham drew 100,000 to the Yankee Stadium, setting the all-time attendance record. In fact, the stadium won't seat that many. The extra tens of thousands just stood up.

That shows whether religion is on the upswing. The Yankees couldn't draw that many people and neither could football or a prize fight. It took Graham and his message about God and the Bible. This nation is right now seeing a great return to the teachings of Christ.

Perhaps this will be the one great answer to all this juvenile delinquency which we've been worrying about. Here is a solution that very few people visualize. They overlooked the most simple way of all and instead they hunted for complex cures and upheavals.

All it takes is a greater faith in God and a willingness to declare yourself openly. Once religious fervor was partly concealed. Graham has made it something we take right out in the open with everyone looking and listening. He is a great man.

ANTONY'S TECHNIQUE

And at the death of Caesar, the rabble had been roused to such a pitch they were ready to lynch anybody who even whispered a good word in Caesar's defense.

But Marc Antony was Caesar's friend and resolved to see that Cassius and Brutus were punished. But how could he, as a lone man, turn the tide of the entire crowd?

Shakespeare recounts the speech of Antony with such skill that it merits your re-reading that famous oration.

By a few deft words, interspersed in his opening paragraphs, Antony soon switched the crowd to his viewpoint, after which they set out to lynch Brutus and Cassius. See tomorrow's follow-up.

The Rev. C. George Widdfield and daughters, Katherine and Ann, returned to their Ottawa drive home Saturday after spending several days with the Rev. Mr. Widdfield's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Widdfield, who are vacationing at Dorland, Ont.

While the rest of the family traveled north, Mrs. Widdfield and daughter, Margaret, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Scarlett, in Columbus, Ohio.

Theodore H. Collom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Collom of Wisner street, has been accepted for admission to Valparaiso University. He will enroll in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Returning to her home on Prall street over the weekend was Mary Burkman. After traveling to Miami, Fla., she went by ship to Nassau in the Bahamas.

Gathering at a family dinner on Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. William A. Gordon on Dwight avenue were their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Mills of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon Jr. and daughter of Center Line and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyce and family of Dwight avenue.

Returning to their home on Navajo drive today after vacationing for two weeks at Copper Harbor and Hancock are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lyons and twins, Jack and Judy.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Slater of Mount Clemens road entertained several friends on their boat on the St. Clair River over the weekend.

Leaving on Tuesday for Hamilton, Ont., for several days are Mrs. Ivan Wilcox of Old Orchard drive, Mrs. Wilmer-Lock of Livonia and Mrs. Glen B. Manning of East Lansing. While there they will attend the Shakespeare Festival being presented at Stratford, Ont.

On Saturday evening, Mrs. Russell Thurston of West Iroquois road and Mrs. Earl Phillips of Cherokee road attended the symphony concert in Detroit.

DiBlasi to Lead Sunday Concert

Farnesco Di Blasi, conductor of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, will conduct the second Detroit Little Symphony concert on Sunday. The soloist performing at the Metropolitan Beach concert will be Maria Roumell.

The summer series of three concerts, an innovation at the public beach park this year, is free and is presented in the open air show pavilion on the west boardwalk.

Under the red and white striped awning, Darlyne Gould (left) of Lake Angelus Shores cuts the cake for Martha Hodge (center), and Pam Kern, both of Lake Angelus. They attended the annual fair held Saturday afternoon and evening.

Carrot Juice, Love Seem Youthifying

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Maybe there's something to this mixture of carrot juice and love as a potion for eternal youth after all.

I've just had lunch with Jonnie Lee Macfadden, the electrically charged blonde widow of the late health faddist Bernarr Macfadden, who was a disciple of carrots, muscles and sex up to his death at 89.

STILL SPARKLING
Whatever the reason, Jonnie

Lee at 52 and with three grandchildren could pass for 29 at 10 paces. She sparkles like a 16-year-old, has nary a line in her face and possesses a figure that evokes wolf whistles.

She's also a recent bride. Her third husband is Austin Kingsley Ferguson, New York engineer. And she still gives lectures on how to corner the fountain of youth.

Her new husband does not object to the fact that she keeps the name Macfadden for professional appearances, because, she explains, "he shares my feeling that Macfadden was a great benefactor of mankind."

Despite the fact that her marriage to Macfadden ended in a stormy separation several years before his death, Jonnie Lee says she harbors no ill feelings, and intends to continue to spread the Macfadden gospel of "long-lasting youth, beauty and peace of mind" achieved through "physical and mental health, happiness in love, financial security and self-expression."

HEALTH AND SEX

Jonnie Lee was 41 and Macfadden 75 when they were married. Says she: "About the only things he thought about were health and sex."

Jonnie Lee says there are 10 things a man wants in the woman he loves: Spontaneity, affection, sincerity, glamor, the illusion of beauty, companionship in his hobbies, interest in his business, non-critical attitude, not too many in-laws and the ability to handle money wisely.

A woman also wants 10 things in her ideal man, to wit: Appreciation, love, constant expressions of affection, willingness to share his free time with her, financial stability, thoughtfulness, an interest in religion, protection and fidelity.

She believes devoutly in carrot juice instead of alcohol for a pick-me-up, fasts one day a week and takes regular exercises to keep in shape.

Active People Remain the Happiest

By ANNE HEYWOOD

In my office, there is a file which is rapidly becoming one of the biggest and fattest. I have. It is labeled O.D.N.T., which stands for Old Dogs, New Tricks.

On days when I feel discouraged, or when I get discouraging letters from people who are "too old" for this or that, I browse through the O.D.N.T. file. It helps me to feel better.

AFTER FORTY

When I first began this work, I didn't really think you could teach an old dog new tricks. Once in a while, of course, somebody might accomplish something remarkable after they were forty, I would have said, but not as a general rule.

But now I know that people of any age can do just about anything and I have hundreds of cases to prove it.

"I would take up a new hobby or even a job," I often hear oldsters say, "if I had the energy."

Then they go into a long dreary discussion of their symptoms. Actually, if they would get a new hobby or job or interest, they would soon get the energy.

It's a case of which comes first, then energy or the interest. I have found that the interest has to come first.

Here is an example—the latest addition to my O.D.N.T. file. It's a letter from a woman in a large midwestern city:

"The most wonderful thing has happened to Mother," she writes. "It's as if she's discovered a new fountain of youth."

She describes her mother, a woman in her early sixties, who lives with her daughter in an old-fashioned apartment house.

"Mother just sat around for a couple of years," she writes, "and we were worried about her. She claimed she didn't have the energy to do anything. She was in perfect health, but Father's passing had been a great loss and it looked as if she'd just sit around and die little by little."

Then a miracle happened.

UNEXPECTED VISITOR

"Mother was at home one day when a market researcher came to ask people in the building about a new cosmetic product."

"Because she was lonely, she let the woman in and answered all her questions. They struck up a friendship and began to see each other after that."

"It was the best thing for Mother. So many of her friends have nothing to do with their time, but this woman had a good part-time job. Furthermore, she was also in her sixties!

"You can guess what happened."

"Mother began to realize that if this woman could work, so could she! And now she is working for the same market research organization!"

DELIGHTED WITH JOB

"We're so proud of her and she is delighted with her job. It's part-time and involves calling on people like herself, which she loves to do."

If you're interested in the field of market research, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope and I'll send you my pamphlet about it.

If you're over sixty, remember one thing: Get yourself some friends who are doing things, instead of sticking with the do-nothings. Because there's no better way to be active than to surround yourself with active people.

Side by side on the merry-go-round are Roger and Susan Strait of West

Iroquois road. Catching up is Peter Johnson of Lake Angelus.

Slave Trading Still Flourishes

Children Sold in Far East to 'Brokers' Who Deal in Human Flesh

NEW YORK — In the Far East, children are sold — body and soul — to traders in human flesh and consigned to a life of shame. This shocking fact was revealed in a recent issue of a national magazine. "There are at least 50,000 slave girls in Southeast Asia," says Dr. Chen Han Lim, an expert on Chinese affairs quoted in the article. These girls, known as "mui tsais," meaning "younger sisters," are sold or given away by their parents, usually because of poverty.

Unfortunately, the vast majority are sold to "brokers," cold-blooded dealers in human flesh, who bring them up for resale as domestic servants, or in the case of the prettier ones, put them to work as prostitutes.

Many of the girls have been intimidated, injured or killed by gangsters. Among the cases cited in the article is that of a 16-year-old "mui tsai" who was kept chained by her neck to an iron barred window. Her mistress had bought the girl when she was all of two months old. The price $1.25.

Another example of this brutality was illustrated by a little nine-year-old who was branded with a "red hot" poker so that she might be easily identified if she ran away.

Pretty young girls are brought from all over Asia for sale in the most lucrative Singapore market, the article points out. These girls are sent to "farms" where all sense of right and wrong is extracted from them, and they are reared to regard sex as their sole aim in life.

Later these beauties are sent to finishing schools where they are taught to dress well, dance, use cosmetics and in general — please a man. At the end of their training, they are graded and placed for sale.

Burglars Take $2,000 From Fruit Market

ALLEGAN — Burglars punched through a safe and took $2,000 from the Valley Fruit Market here early yesterday.

State Police Sgt. Victor F. Beck said the thieves, apparently professional safe crackers, knocked off the safe's dial and combination with a sledge hammer and punched through to remove the tumblers to open the door in pre-dawn hours.

To Fete Coast Guard

GRAND HAVEN — The annual Coast Guard Festival will be held in this west Michigan port Saturday with a parade and fireworks festivities. Among those accepting invitations will be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury David W. Kendall, Sen. Potter (R-Mich), Rep. Ford (R-Mich), Gov. Williams and Coast Guard officials.

Paralyzed After Dive

DETROIT — Green Gregory, 23, of Detroit, was paralyzed from the waist down Sunday when he struck bottom after diving from a swimming dock at the Belle Isle Beach. Life guards pulled him from the water.

Release Piggins Sunday

DETROIT — Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins was released from a Detroit hospital Sunday after four days of treatment for a kidney ailment.

Watery Eyes Only Loot for Would-Be Burglars

HUDSONVILLE — Would-be burglars got nothing but watery eyes from tear gas early yesterday after trying to crack the safe at the Farmers Co-op Elevator Co. here.

Hudsonville Police Chief Don Stratton said the thieves had knocked dials off the large wall safe and a small moveable safe when a tear gas bomb planted in a safe exploded, apparently sending them scurrying from the building.

Stratton said the burglar tools used apparently were taken from a nearby hardware which was entered the same night.

Suffers Concussion in Two-Car Mishap

Edward Williams, 40, of 199 Rockwell Ave., is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with a concussion following an automobile accident early Saturday morning.

Williams was making a left turn from Bagley onto Gillespie when a car driven by Hilda Barker, 30, of 68 Lake St., struck his vehicle. Barker was treated for bruises and released.

Only 9 Brought Gayness to Hungarian Capital

U.S. Marines' Departure From Budapest Makes Communist Town Duller Place

BUDAPEST — Communist Budapest is a duller town today. The U.S. Marines have gone. There were only nine of them, but they did a lot to make this capital a gay place. They were guards at the U.S. legation. Working in a Communist country, they never wore uniform except at diplomatic parties.

Last summer and early fall the Marines had a good time in Budapest. That was a period of thaw, when Hungary seemed to be moving toward greater freedom. The natural gaiety of the citizens of Budapest, plus their interest in things American, suited the Marines just fine.

They became major importers of American sheet music and records. They gave a lot of both to jazz-starved Hungarian orchestras.

And of course they taught the "Marine Hymn" to anyone who would learn it.

Their favorite spot was the Pincas in Aranykeze-Utca, the Poppy in Golden Hand Street. It's a smoky little place with an unusually noisy orchestra and no room to dance. There the Marines could practice their meager Hungarian on sympathetic hostesses and pretend to like the apricot brandy.

During last fall's fighting the Marines got a sniff of powder, but they were in no spot to fight back. Two of them were standing on the balcony of their apartment one day, watching some Russian tanks maneuver. The machine-gunner fired a burst that cost Uncle Sam a new decorating job on the apartment, but did no other damage. The Marines dropped to their bellies and made for the cellar.

After the revolution came a rule against more than three dates with any one Hungarian girl. Then such dates were banned altogether. The idea was to protect the girls from the attentions of the Hungarian secret police. To make up for this rule, the Marines got more frequent leaves in Vienna, only a four-hour drive from Budapest.

When relations deteriorated between Premier Janos Kadar's government and the U.S. legation, two U.S. military attaches were expelled for "spying." Three of the legation's Hungarian employees were arrested. Finally the Hungarian government ordered the number of Americans and Hungarian employees cut by a third. After some discussion in Washington, it was decided that the Marines would have to go.

The POWER of FAITH

by

HOWARD BRODIE

HOWARD BRODIE, creator of THE POWER OF FAITH, is well known to millions for his on-the-spot sketches during World War II and the Korean conflict. His work has appeared many times in national magazines.

Some of the most moving human acts of faith in our time are yours to see in THE POWER OF FAITH which will appear each week in this newspaper.

The ordeals and triumphs of Helen Keller, the American prisoner of war in Korea, and of Father Damien of Molokai are among the magnificent illustrations by Howard Brodie. Great men of the past who were influenced by their faith—such as Michelangelo, Bach and others also will be portrayed dramatically in the weeks to come.

You will want to save these drawings and brief messages to paste in your scrapbook to read and re-read in later years. There will be a new one each week starting—

'King Cole' Fears Extinction of Familiar American Hobo

HARRISON, Ark. (INS)—A rather prosperous-looking elderly man leaned back in an easy chair, yawned and declared: "Mulligan stew is the best food in the world." The man, known to his intimate friends as "King Cole," elaborated further on his life:

"I have everything I want. Freedom, no troubles, plenty of leisure time and friends the nation over. "In fact," he went on, "you might say my home is where I lay my head—anywhere, United States of America."

The armchair philosopher doing the talking was Samuel H. Cole, he 67-year-old King of Hoboes, Cole was pinned down in Harrison long enough to talk about his life and of hoboism in general.

The "king" is currently making a tour of the state capitals to obtain all 48 of the official state seals. He was awarded an "Arkansas traveler" certificate while in the state. This he placed with his title as an honorary Kentucky Colonel and an honorary member of the Lions International.

Cole says he has been on the move for the past years. He hit the wanderlust trail after his parents separated when he was only 14, and he hasn't stopped yet.

Contrary to popular belief, the title of king is not just a self-appointed one. For the past 15 years Cole has been elected "king" at the National Hobo Convention at Britt, Iowa.

LOOK OF SADNESS
As the "king" talked about the convention a look of sadness came across his face. He believes that hoboism may be a vanishing race and backs up his theory by pointing out that each year the number of true hoboes attending the convention is smaller.

Cole blames this on "curious tourists who come to see that famous mulligan stew — the best food in the world — and drive away the hoboes."

"I don't know what is going to happen. Why, a few years from now the kids won't even know what a hobo is."

Cole hasn't worked much since he sold papers to obtain spending money when he was 14. He edited a weekly paper in Winter Haven, Fla., for a short time, but gave up the job, explaining, "It was too much like work."

Even though he hasn't worked much, he has crossed the country more times than he cares to remember. This in itself is a very tiring feat for less experienced travelers. The "king" says he was never one to let a trip stand in his way, so he has hitchhiked up and down, back and forth across the country.

"Instead of waiting for the chance to go as so many people do, I am on my way as soon as the notion strikes me," he said.

Cole has one advantage in his favor, however. He doesn't have to take time to pack because he carries his "home" with him. "Home" to the nation's number one hobo is a small suitcase and a bulging briefcase.

The briefcase contains newspaper clippings about his travels, letters from friends — which include many of the state governors — and a manuscript. The manuscript is a story of his adventures, entitled "Hoboes, and Police."

He recently completed a round trip to England aboard a plane owned by the Martin Aircraft Corp. of Baltimore, Md.

Just stuck out my thumb," he laughed, "living testimony that a thumb and a bum go together."

Chile contains most of the known coal deposits in South America.

Money Is Now at $1,900 Level for Pot-O-Gold

Another week without a winner means another $100 is dropped into Pot-O-Gold. This brings the total to $1,900 unless a winner is found in last week's entries. Better not waste a minute in getting your solution started—it would be very disappointing to miss out on all that money because you waited too long.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

That there is now about 58 billion dollars worth of gold in the world. (It's nice to know things like this around the first of the month.)

That a chorine in "Li'l Abner" said this about her date: "With him there isn't a dull moment. It lasts all evening."

That 1,506 U.S. cities and towns with a total population of more than 31,500,000 now fluoridate their water supply to fight tooth decay . . . But this program still affects fewer than 20 per cent of the American people.

That the odds are you don't know one horsepower is equal to the muscle work of 22½ men.

That Dr. Charles Proteus Steinmetz, the hunchbacked scientific wizard who first made artificial lightning, was deathly afraid of electricity.

That the Kiwanis magazine observes a dream house usually costs twice what you dreamed it would . . . And the Eiffel Tower in Paris "looks like the Empire State Building after taxes."

That if you're looking for a fancy term for the rheumatic twinge you get in cold or damp weather, you can call it "crymodynia" . . . which is Greek for "frost pain."

That surveys made in Japan and France showed children born from cousin marriages are smaller and have a slightly higher death rate than those born to nonrelated parents.

That a Kentucky jury in 1899 fixed the price of a stolen kiss at $700. . . It awarded this amount to a married lady kissed against her will (she said) by a neighbor.

That actor Walter Slezak defines Las Vegas as "the place where you can lose your appetite at the table."

That fewer than 15 per cent of the fatal highway accidents in America during 1956 occurred during bad weather conditions. . . Foggy heads are more to blame than foggy roads.

That 90 per cent of American women now wear lipstick.

That the civilian labor force has grown at the rate of 1.2 per cent a year during the last quarter century, but total government employment has increased about 3.2 per cent annually. . . At this rate by the year 2069 we will all be working for the government. (But aren't we now?)

That it was Samuel Johnson who said, "Were it not for imagination a man would be as happy as in the arms of a chambermaid as of a duchess."

Detroit Heads Year-Long Project

Attempting to Salvage Sunken Andrea Doria

TRENTON, N. J. (INS) — The submerged liner Andrea Doria has been purchased by a Trenton salvage firm and efforts are already in process to raise the ill-fated Italian liner from its ocean grave.

Armando Conti, liquor distributor and civic leader, has disclosed that the Marine Salvage Division of the AAA Sales Co., bought the liner from the Societa D'Assicurazione, of Genoa, which previously acquired it from the Italian line.

The vessel went to the bottom last July about 70 miles from Nantucket Island after colliding with the Swedish Ship Stockholm. The death toll was about 50. It is 212 feet under water.

It was estimated the salvage operation will take a year at a cost from $2,000,000 to $3,500,000. Richard Meyers, 45, of Detroit, a Great Lakes salvage expert, will head the operation.

Two 630-foot ore boats now are en route from Lake Superior and an order has been placed for 97,000 feet of four-inch cable.

USE 'BALLAST' LIFT
A "ballast" type of lift will be used to raise the ship.

The ore boats will stand by above the hulk and divers will lash them to the sunken Doria. The boats then will be sunk to prescribed depths, the resulting slack in the cable will be taken up, and the boats pumped out.

As they rise in the water, they will pull the big liner up with them. The operation will be repeated until the vessel is completely raised.

Indict 14 in Plot Against Nasser

Face Death Penalty for Attempting to Kill Egyptian President

CAIRO (U—) The 14 persons charged with plotting to assassinate President Nasser and seize the government face death by hanging or life imprisonment if convicted.

The Middle East News Agency yesterday published the indictment against the group and said a high military court would try them. The announcement did not fix a date, but press forecasts are for early August.

Arrests of the group were disclosed July 18. It includes former Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah el Din and former Defense and Social Affairs Minister Abdel Fattah Hassan.

Three other civilians and nine army officers were charged with conspiring with the two between April 1956 and last April to change Egypt's constitution and government system.

They planned to assassinate Nasser and his ministers, the indictment said, then set up a new government headed by Salah el Din. Last May was allegedly the time for the coup but the group was arrested in April.

Wheat Reports Boost Wheat

CHICAGO (U)—Reports of developing four business pushed wheat futures higher in early dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Other grains, however, continued to maintain a bearish trend, reflecting last week's lower market and excellent crop weather.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, Sept. 22.15; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, Sept. 13.25; oats were 1/4 to 1/2 lower, Sept. 6; soybeans were 1/4 to 1/2 lower, Sept. 24.15; and soybean meal was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, Sept. 13.30.

'Bikini Beauty' Ends Phone-y Romance

JOHANNESBURG — A businessman of Chingula, Northern Rhodesia, has had a long distance romance that turned out badly. He fell in love with the melodious voice of a telephone operator in Johannesburg, dreamed of her as a beauty, his ideal wife—and finally got her name. They corresponded and she sent him a photograph of a gorgeous girl in a bikini.

The businessman took the next train for South Africa only to discover that he had been hoaxed. The girl, who had borrowed the photo, was not beautiful. She was, in addition, married, with a family of her own, and had started the whole thing as a joke.

A swarm of bees at a maximum point has a population of about 50,000.
