

Romney Wants GOP Assurance Before Seeking Presidency

LANSHING (UPI) — The nation's Republicans will have to tell Michigan Gov. George Romney that they want him to be their candidate in the 1968 presidential campaign. If they do, he will seek the nomination.

Romney, in one of his most forthright statements regarding a possible candidacy, yesterday emphasized, however,

he is not yet a candidate for the GOP nomination.

"I'm exploring," he said. The governor was off today on his second speech out-of-state in two weeks. He was scheduled to address a Republican fund-raising dinner tonight at Williamsburg, Va.

Romney, who has been taking "a long, hard look" at next year's presidential opportunities said, "I've made no bones about what I'm taking a long look at — what I'm going to do."

While sizing up the situation, Romney Associates, a privately financed research office for the governor, will be in New Hampshire where the first presidential primary will be held.

UNDECIDED ON PRIMARY

Romney said he has not decided yet whether to enter the New Hampshire primary or any primaries in other states.

Plans continued, however, for several speaking engagements in New England to help the governor decide whether Republicans want him as their candidate.

"I think in the process of making a decision I'm facing, I'd be foolish not to get a first-hand feel of significant areas," he said.

The governor recently toured Western states and delivered a policy statement on Vietnam last week in Hartford, Conn.

State Officials Eye 'Austerity'; Dems Are Wary

LANSHING UP — Department heads agreed yesterday they would be hard hit by Gov. George Romney's proposed "austerity budget," and Democrats accused the governor of using it as a threat to secure tax reform.

"It would hit us pretty hard, there's no question about that," said Robert Furing, executive assistant to State Conservation Director Ralph MacMillan.

"But I assume if that's it we would live with it," he added. "We would really have to study the entire situation and come up with the best plan possible to carry on with our work."

"A scare tactic being used to jam through his Republican tax program," said Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit.

Romney's proposed alternative 1968-69 budget, for submission to the Legislature if lawmakers fail to adopt a tax reform program for fiscal 1967-68, would trim $105 million or 16 per cent from his original $1.15-billion budget recommendation.

BIGGEST CUTS

Biggest cuts would be in money appropriated for education, mental health, state employment and in the building program for colleges and universities.

In announcing his proposed new figures, Romney emphasized that they show that "we must live within our means."

He denied he was trying to threaten the legislature, where his fiscal reform package is under consideration.

"It's just another example of brinkmanship and holding a gun to the head of the Legislature," said Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit.

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE

Romney expressed confidence that the Legislature would approve a tax reform program by July 1.

A fellow Republican, House Speaker Robert Waldron of Grosse Pointe, said Romney's alternative budget was put out to make "specifically clear — rather than just generally clear — just what kinds of cutbacks would have to be made without new taxes."

House Democratic leader William Ryant of Detroit "termed it 'ridiculous' that these be proposed at this stage of development."

Also, making "selective" rather than across-the-board cuts has resulted in an extra slap at the people," Ryan said, adding that the Democrats now may have to adopt their own cutback program.

Cutbacks Spell Disaster--Varner

Gov. Romney's proposed "austerity budget" cutbacks in education "mean disaster" for Oakland University, Chancellor Durward B. Varner said yesterday.

OU would lose a total of $3.2 million in capital and operation funds from the governor's initial budget proposal. About $3 million of the total would come out of capital funds.

Varner indicated it is not clear at this time whether the reductions would halt construction on the $5.1-million new engineering building. The facility is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1969.

But Varner said he was sure Romney's proposal would prevent the start of construction on any new building next year, including a $7-million social science-education building.

"It would mean disaster," Varner commented on the proposed $23.381 cut in OU's operation funds. "I don't know what we would do."

EDUCATION SETBACK

The governor's proposed cutback trims $5.8 million in operations and capital funds from $23.4 million earmarked for institutions of higher education.

University of Michigan would be hardest hit, with a reduction of $6.8 million in operations and capital funds. Michigan State University would lose a total of $3.9 million, all in operations.

The state's community colleges would be reduced by a total of $6.8 million in operation and capital funds.

Oakland University College President Dr. John E. Tirrell remarked that it was "premature" to tell how OCC would be affected.

Tornadoes, Winds Slam Into State

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes and high winds ripped into southern Lower Michigan last night, damaging thousands of dollars in property but causing no injuries.

A twister dipped down at Chelsea in Washtenaw County. It destroyed a garage under construction, blew shingles off roofs, smashed windows and hurled a metal fence 10 yards. Power lines fell under the force of the winds.

"It was the most terrifying thing I ever saw," said Mrs. Billie Miller of Chelsea.

She said she had just opened the door of her house to go to the store when she saw the "black, funnel-shaped cloud touching the ground just a house away."

Objects were whirling inside the column of the funnel, she said. Mrs. Miller ran inside and slammed the door as the twister uprooted an aluminum fence in her yard and bent a steel fence post.

FUNNEL SIGHTINGS

Funnel cloud sightings were reported at Springville and Onsted in Lenawee County, at Camden and Jonesville in Hillsdale County and at Corunna and Owosso in Shiawassee County.

State Police said winds flattened a chicken coop and corn crib on a farm south of Jackson.

Winds caved in the roof of Frankmun Elementary School, causing $50,000 damage.

"Tornadoes seldom are reported over major metropolitan areas," said a Weather Bureau spokesman. "Thank goodness."

He said rising heat from populated areas is a major factor in heading off twisters.

In a freak incident at Chelsea, a curtain was left flapping outside a window after the window glass was pulled out by vacuum from the tornado and then popped back into place intact, said Chelsea Police Chief Earl Willis.

STORM DAMAGE — Heavy winds last night felled a 30-foot tree along with several smaller ones at the home of Ted Warren, 941 Joslyn, Orion Township. Severe weather also downed Edison Co. power lines serving 800 customers in a 12-square-mile area south of Milford and 40 customers east of Baldwin in Clarkston. Most of the snapped lines, many due to falling trees, have already been fixed, according to a power company spokesman.

Killing Suspect Is Back in Isoco

An Isoco County youth who walked into the Pontiac State Police Post yesterday and reportedly told officers of killing an East Tawas woman was returned to East Tawas last night after being held at the Oakland County Jail on an open charge of murder.

Jonathan L. Putnam, 20, was accompanied by his wife and mother-in-law when he surrendered himself and allegedly told officers of attacking a woman with knife.

Investigators following his description of the event later found the body of Mrs. Viola Stern, 33, in a ditch eight miles west of U.S. 23 on Town Line Road.

Police said she had been stabbed to death.

She was identified by her husband, William Stern, who had reported her missing shortly after 6:30 a.m.

MOTHER OF 5

The Isoco County sheriff's office said Mrs. Stern, a mother of five children, left her home Thursday night to go to a laundromat.

She was last seen by the owner of the laundromat about 10:45 p.m. when he left the establishment for the night, deputies said.

Police said the laundromat is in a residential neighborhood on U.S. 23 at the edge of town.

Putnam appeared at the State Police post here about 5 a.m. yesterday, according to Detective Robert Neugebauer. He was reportedly talked into surrendering by his wife and mother-in-law.

He is now in custody of State Police at East Tawas.

Adenauer Unchanged

BONN, Germany (AP) — Doctors announced today that ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer passed a quiet and painless night, but that there was still great concern for his life.

The 91-year-old statesman's condition had not changed, physicians said.

Scores of people, mostly newsmen, stood at the gates of his hillside residence through a cold and rainy night.

Prof. Adolph Heymer, head of the Bonn University Hospital, arrived just after 9 a.m. and said to reporters: "I can't tell you anything new."

"Beautification plans, phooey. All mom wanted was for me to clean up my room."

NEW YORK (AP) — several thousand peace demonstrators gathered in Central Park's vast Sheep Meadow today and dozens burned their draft cards in a preliminary to a march to the United Nations to hear Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. renew his call for an end to the war in Vietnam.

There was some shoving and pushing as some persons attempted to stop demonstrators from burning the cards.

Sponsors of the "Spring mobilization for peace" demonstrations being held here and in San Francisco had predicted up to a half-million would turn out. But the number was apparently far below estimate.

Police had prepared for crowds equal in size to U.S. fighting forces in Vietnam — some 500,000 men — but confronted less than 30,000 when dozens of draft cards were soaked in lighter fluid and set aflame on a rocky slope in Central Park.

A man identified as Gary Rader, Evanston, Ill., wearing the uniform and green beret of the U.S. Special Forces was one of the group burning cards in a can containing lighter fluid soaked in sand.

Only a hundred or so persons had arrived by midmorning in Harlem for a "mammoth" feeder march to the park.

The contingent included seven men wearing steel helmets with the words Mao Mau on them and black nationalists handing out leaflets asking "what hell are we doing there (Vietnam)?"

Delegations in the park included marchers who arrived on special buses from Cleveland, Detroit, Columbus and other cities. Joining them were a group of 35 Sioux Indians from South Dakota.

The demonstrators came with knapsacks and sleeping bags. There were college students and professors, bearded and bearded youths and one family of nine from Yellow Springs, Ohio.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Circulating through the crowd was a man damming "the Communists" and singing "God Bless America." He described himself as a "Polish freedom fighter."

In the vanguard of the parade from Harlem was Stokely Carmichael, the black-power advocate and head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Ella Collins, sister of Malcolm X, Negro nationalist slain in Harlem in 1965 as he addressed a rally.

A contingent away, in San Francisco, thousands were expected to hear speeches by King's wife and Negro Georgia legislator Julian Bond in the 60,000-seat Kezar Stadium.

In New York, King called on the government to "honor its word" and "stop the bombing." The speech was for delivery in the early afternoon at United Nations Plaza.

Pleasant Sunday Forecast for Area

The weatherman promises a pleasant tomorrow. Skies will be partly cloudy, but no rain is predicted until Monday when he reports showers are possible.

Temperatures will continue mild, the low slipping into the mid 40s tonight. The high will reach into the 60s tomorrow.

Today's south to southwesterly winds at 14 to 24 miles per hour will diminish tonight.

A sunny 53 was the low recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 62 by 2 p.m.

Use of Volunteers to Help Policemen Is Urged by Judge

The war on crime could be better fought if volunteer citizens were used to aid police, Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore suggested last night.

The proposal was one of several methods of reducing crime that Moore offered in a speech delivered to the first 45 graduates of Oakland Community College's police academy.

The program was held in the Supervisors' Auditorium at the county courthouse.

Noting that most criminal activity first comes to the attention of citizens, and not the police, Moore recommended that volunteers assist police by driving cars through area communities looking for suspicious behavior.

At the first sign of any strange occurrence, they would contact police on car radios and then stand by until authorities arrived on the scene to investigate.

STIFFER REGULATIONS

Moore also suggested stiffer car licensing regulations that would make it more difficult for a criminal.

"The automobile is the chief and usually the only facility by which the felon may reach the site of the crime, carry away its fruits and make his getaway," said Moore.

He proposes a certificate that would show proof of the right of possession and use of a car.

Budget Would Cut 2,500 Jobs

Romney's 'Austerity' Won't Stop Pay Hike

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney's possible "austerity budget" would require state departments to absorb a recent $17.3-million civil service pay increase and cause elimination of some 2,500 jobs.

"The recent civil service pay increase was not approved by the Legislature and therefore it must be paid," Romney said.

"Nevertheless, the Legislature may underappropriate, thus forcing all departments to pay the civil service rates," he added. "Because there will be insufficient dollars, positions will have to be eliminated."

The Department of Mental Health would be the hardest hit by such a move and would have to absorb $7.3 million in pay increases with a possible reduction of 1,000 positions.

Romney said such a reduction would curtail patient care services by more than 10 percent. Romney said that, according to budget estimates, the pay increase and average number of positions which would have to be reduced in other departments include:

Executive Office of the Governor, $137,490; 16 positions; Public Health, $992,000 and 90-100; Social Services, $1.6 million and 400; Corrections, $1.8 million and 200; State Police, $1.1 million and 117; and Conservation, $1.3 million and 183.

ANCIENT MUSIC TABLET — Dr. M. Duchesne-Guillemin (right), of the University of Liege, Belgium, has been credited with turning up a 4,000-year-old tablet at the University of Pennsylvania Museum in Philadelphia which may be the world's oldest known music material. It turned out to be a tablet that had been unnoticed in the museum for 70 years. She identified the tablet as a scale of Sumerian music. The Sumerians inhabited the region between the Tigris and the Euphrates.

Viet 'Magnet Line' in Works

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today that a fortified barrier is being built along the northern frontier of South Vietnam to stem the flow of North Vietnamese forces into the south.

Ky said the barrier, made up of mine fields, barbed wire and bunkers, would run just below the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam.

He said it would cross from the South China Sea coast inland for 15 to 20 miles to the jungled mountains near Laos.

As Ky disclosed to newsmen the start of a little "Magnet Line," the war lapsed into sporadic actions marked by one of the worst error bombings recorded so far.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

Two U.S. Air Force Super Sabre jets, swooping down for strikes under radar control, dropped their bombs off the intended target and hit South Vietnamese troops, causing heavy casualties.

A U.S. military spokesman, after revising casualties three times, placed the toll at 29 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 70 wounded, South Vietnamese headquarters listed casualties at 41 government troops killed and 50 wounded seriously.

The mistaken bombing occurred while the U.S. planes were flying support for a ground operation by South Vietnamese troops 23 miles northwest of the coastal city of Qui Nhon and about 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the air war over North Vietnam, American bombers have lost 103 missions Friday. Pilots claimed they destroyed or damaged 106 cargo barges, junk sampans and boats. U.S. fliers also reported damaging three anti-aircraft sites and seven trucks.

PILOT RESCUED

The forays over the north coast U.S. plane, an Air Force F105 Thunderchief which was shot down by North Vietnamese ground fire. The pilot was rescued, U.S. headquarters reported.

It was the 565th announced U.S. loss over the north.

A U.S. spokesman gave other figures on American air losses. He said 188 planes have been lost in combat over South Vietnam and 355 helicopters have been destroyed by hostile action in the south. Five helicopters have been lost over the north, all during rescue missions for downed fliers.

Returning LBJ Rests in Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson looked forward to a restful Texas week today after clearing the final political hurdle of his Latin-American trip.

That last hurdle, strange as it might seem, had nothing directly to do with the hemisphere summit he attended at Punta del Este, Uruguay.

It involved finding a suitable refueling stop for his plane on the flight home — a stop that would not injure Latin pride.

Rather than set down, if only briefly, in one of the member countries of the Organization of American States, most of whom were represented at Punta del Este, Johnson had his plane refueled in Surinam, Dutch territory that does not have OAS membership.

In that fashion, Johnson avoided the potential pitfall of seeming to favor one of his fellow summiteers over the others.

The 67-minute stop was fitting, in a way. The Dutch acquired Surinam from the British in 1967 in exchange for New York City and the surrounding countryside.

Three 4-year positions are at stake.

A long-time employee of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Porter is now sales manager for the firm in the Clawson area.

Donald W. Porter, treasurer of the Waterford Township Board of Education, has announced he will seek reelection in the June 12 school election.

News Briefs at a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The toll of U.S. planes and helicopters claimed by the Vietnam war is increasing, a Defense Department report indicates. A Pentagon fact sheet released yesterday forecast that 800 planes and helicopters would be lost in the fiscal year ending June 30. That would be a 44 percent increase over the 556 aircraft lost by U.S. forces in Vietnam during the previous 12 months.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — "I've read about things like this, but you have to see it to believe it," said a doctor who rushed to the aid of about 50 Ocean View elementary school students who succumbed to fainting spells yesterday. The four-hour epidemic was thought at first to have been caused by leaking gas, but that possibility later was ruled out. Hand said he thought the incident was "simple fainting on the part of a few," followed by "hysteria on the part of many." No students were seriously affected.

JACKSON (UPI) — A small airplane, forced down when its engine failed, missed striking a 600-gallon propane gas tank by inches when it landed on a farm near Reynolds Municipal Airport yesterday. No one was hurt in the forced landing, caused by a stalled engine, on Mrs. L. H. Faber's rural Jackson farm.

FLINT (AP) — Five-year-old James Jacobs Jr. died yesterday after he was struck by an auto as he dashed across the street to an ice cream wagon. The boy was hit near his suburban Flint Township home Thursday by a car driven by Harry J. Fulton, 19, of Flint. Fulton was not held.

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Readers of this week's issue of the State University at Buffalo student newspaper are confronted with a blank page, the result of printers' refusal to reproduce material the newspaper considered obscene. A spokesman for Partner's Press of suburban Kenmore said the company and its employees were outraged by the language in a two-page poem and an editorial.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A breaking collection nearly $1 million has been accumulated by the Army Rivers and Harbors Board for Tawas Bay harbor. The breakwater was recommended yesterday by the board to protect small craft from summer storms on Lake Huron.

GREEN BUSH (AP) — Lynna Joan Bush, 2, of Green Bush drowned yesterday when she slipped into a river near her home and was swept by a strong current into a water-swollen culvert. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burin.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The love candidates placed second yesterday in student elections at Portland State College. A slate of candidates, headed by Larry Smith and Marion Bjerkvold, ran on a platform supporting love and fun. Campaign buttons said, "We Love You."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Post Office Department was chided today for lacking the "spirit" of Christmas — Christmas, Mich., is Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., said normally the Christmas Post Office is opened from July through the Christmas season. But this year, he said, the department's Chicago regional office said the post office won't be opened. He said that's quite a blow for the day village which thrives on its same and postmark.

OSCODA (AP) — A 22-year-old airman from Wurtsmith Air Force Base near Oscoda was killed yesterday when his motorcycle slammed into the rear of an auto. Police said Glen I. Carlisle struck a car driven by John Berger as she was making a left turn.

BAY CITY (AP) — The Bay City Board of Education has adopted an $8.3-million budget for the 1967-68 school year. This is an increase of $665,000 over this year.

The number of children five to 15 years in the U.S. was estimated to be 38.5 million or 18.6 percent of the total population in mid-1966.

Birmingham Area News

Trash Pickup Pamphlet Due

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — The Department of Public Works is preparing a new brochure outlining revised procedures on trash pickup.

The revised rules contain information on handling of plastic bags, called a "real breakthrough" by T. C. Brien, DPW superintendent.

The pamphlet is to be mailed out starting about May 1.

"We're trying to stress use of plastic bags," Brien said. "They make the pickup job much easier. They can be picked up, dragged and even thrown without breaking," he said.

The bags are available at $5 per hundred at area stores, he added.

DISCUSSED PURCHASE

Earlier this year the City Commission discussed purchasing the bags with city funds and distributing them to residents.

However, this plan has apparently been abandoned.

"The city has no wish to interfere with private businesses selling them," Brien said.

The bags fit inside the standard 20-gallon trash and garbage containers. All filled bags will be picked up at regular stops.

ANOTHER CHANGE

Another change in procedures is classification of refuse.

The concepts of burnable and nonburnable materials is to be substituted by rubbish and wrapped garbage. Windfall fruit is to be considered garbage.

Dr. Joseph N. Schaeffer of 211 Aspen has been named Michigan's Physician of the Year by the Governor's Commission on Employment to the Handicapped.

Dr. Schaeffer has been director of the Detroit Rehabilitation Institute since 1958.

He is professor and chairman of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the Wayne State University School of Medicine.

Mrs. George Romney made the citation at a ceremony in Lansing.

Assistant Director Chosen by Mental Health Board

A Beverly Hills psychiatrist yesterday was appointed by the Oakland County Mental Health Services Board as assistant director of the mental health program.

Named to the post, which was authorized last September by the board, was Dr. Donald White, 44. A salary of $26,000 was set.

Previously engaged in the private practice of psychiatry with offices in Oak Park, Dr. White will begin his county mental health duties April 21.

He is a 1952 graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School and served as an industrial physician for several years before accepting a psychiatric residency which he completed in 1962.

Dr. White was a staff psychiatrist at Ford Hospital in Detroit before entering private practice last November.

He is married and has three children.

In other business yesterday, the mental health board, under a revision in its bylaws, elects a vice chairman, secretary and treasurer for terms of one year.

Named vice chairman was William H. Wagner, Mrs. Arthur Mitchell was elected secretary, and Elmer E. Hartwig was named treasurer.

Previously, the board chairman, who is appointed by the chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, was responsible for appointing a vice chairman of the mental health board.

Under the bylaws revision, the vice chairmanship and the new offices of secretary and treasurer must be filled by board election.

Wagner had served as vice chairman since the board was created nearly four years ago as the appointee of chairman Paul N. Averill, who still is the board's chief officer.

Chicago-Area Trucks Rolling

Drivers, Operators End 5-Day Stoppage

CHICAGO (AP) — Trucks were rolling again today in the Chicago area after operators and drivers agreed to a truce in the five-day-old trucking work.

The agreement — which became effective at 12:01 a.m. — was requested Friday by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Operators and union officials agreed to meet with Wirtz Tuesday in Washington in an attempt to iron out their differences.

Union spokesmen made it clear the truce does not rule out renewal of the strike at some later date.

"We haven't given up a thing by agreeing to go to Washington," said Louis Peck, chief negotiator for 10 Teamsters locals in Chicago. Edward Penner, head of the independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union, said the unions will not compromise on their demands for higher wages, better vacation schedules or any other "bread-and-butter issues."

FELT IN WASHINGTON

The shutdown, which closed more than 90 percent of Chicago's trucking firms, also was felt in Washington.

Teamsters' officials there were reported reluctant to sign the tentative national agreement-in-fear the Chicago locals will receive a better contract.

Chicago locals have demanded a 90-cent-an-hour boost, believed to be more than 20 cents greater than the national pact, which affects some 450,000 truckers and warehousemen.

The conference in Washington Tuesday is aimed at reconciling the contracts.

The national trucking pact has not yet been ratified by the over-the-road drivers, and its details have not been announced.

Spokesmen for employers in Chicago asserted before Friday's session that the only basis for a local settlement would be the national terms set forth earlier this week.

State House OKs Changes in Military

LANSING (AP) — The House passed bills Friday which would reorganize the State Military Department, raise the marriage license fee, require vision tests for preschool children and increase the income of justices of the peace.

The measures now go to the Senate.

Delayed until Monday was final action on a controversial measure involving implied consent to chemical tests of suspected drunken drivers.

The military reorganization bill, part of Gov. George Romney's legislative program, passed 102-0 without debate.

Its main feature defines the state adjutant general as chief administrative officer of the Michigan militia. Subordinate to him would be the military board, the chief of staff and the quartermaster, who now have independent administrative authority.

The bill would allow an enlisted man called to emergency duty 48 hours in addition to his regular military pay. The omnibus measure also changes military retirement provisions and codifies state laws dealing with the military establishment.

Another House-approved bill would raise the marriage license fee from $3 to $5, add a social services board if he miss- of their trial dockets with their county clerks. It did not specifically abolish the filing fee they were entitled to, but Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled last year they should no longer get it.

The House bill would pay JP's 60 cents for filing a docket with the county board of auditors or board of supervisors, and another 60 cents for filing with the secretary of state trial record abstracts from moving-violation traffic cases.

The new State Constitution abolishes the office of justice of the peace, effective Jan. 1, 1969.

Another bill approved by the House would permit owners of 51 per cent of the front footage (instead of 60 per cent) to petition for sidewalk and street improvements.

Approved 80-18 was a bill to replace a 60-cent fee for justices of the peace which was abolished by a 1965 law and an attorney general's ruling.

The 1965 act did away with the requirement that JP's file copies

19,000 Cars Called Back

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. yesterday called back more than 19,000 new cars to check on possible defects in the brakes and automatic pilot equipment.

Chrysler said the owners of 19,332 Plymouth Fury, Dodge Charger or Monaco and Chrysler passenger cars were asked to return their cars to their dealers for "inspection and correction where necessary."

The company notified the National Safety Agency under terms of the 1966 traffic safety act and also made public notice of the call-back.

The possible defects centered in two pieces of optional equipment which were found not to meet Chrysler specifications, the company said.

They included disc brakes "where the disc brake disc torque" may not meet Chrysler specifications and on cars equipped with auto-pilots where "the torque on two of the linkage nuts may not meet Chrysler specifications."

DETROIT EDISON REPORTS

Energy Pool Control Center Is Planned

A Michigan Electric Power Pool Control Center is planned near Ann Arbor, Michigan, by Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Company that will monitor the generation and transmission of more than ten million kilowatts to assure maximum reliability. The most modern computer equipment will also be used for instantaneous decision-making in selecting the most economic generating source for varying load demands.

This is another step forward by Detroit Edison to meet the increased electric energy needs of the people in its service area, efficiently, economically.

Cancer Control a Continuous Crusade

April is National Cancer Control Month, proclaimed annually by the President.

The accent is on "control" because cancer, the dread scourge that annually claims the lives of 280,000 Americans, can be controlled; and until a specific cure for the disease is discovered it is with control that science, medicine and cancer foundations are devoting professional and volunteer efforts.

Control takes the form of periodic checkups on the part of every individual with arresting treatment of the disease when then detected.

That it can be arrested is evidenced by the more than one million Americans who are alive and healthy after having been victims of cancer.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation, a United Fund Agency, is performing yeoman service in combating cancer. Due to its unceasing efforts, statistics show that this year 3,300 persons will be saved from the 10,000 stricken in the four counties of southeastern Michigan served by the Foundation. Tragically, another 1,700 afflicted could be saved by early detection and prompt treatment.

In a significant move against the incidence of breast cancer—the leading area of vulnerability among women and which nationally accounts for 26,000 deaths a year—the Michigan Cancer Foundation will this month initiate a house-to-house survey of the health status and medical background, personal and family, of some 250,000 persons in its area.

Although cancer, unlike the deadly rattler, does not sound audible warning, it nonetheless manifests systems that should be acted upon at once. They are:

- Unusual bleeding or discharge.
- A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
- A sore that does not heal.
- Change in bowel or bladder habits.
- Hoarseness or cough.
- Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
- Change in a wart or mole.

The Press feelingly commends the dedicated thousands, professional and lay, who day in and day out wage unrelenting battle against cancer—the common enemy of mankind.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

All his life, Allen H. Bruckheim wanted to be a doctor. After serving in the Army, he got his degree as an optometrist, but even this did not satisfy him. Although 27 and past the age when medical schools in this country were apt to accept him, he applied to colleges in Europe, seemingly in vain.

Then, with his fiancée, Joyce, and her family, he traveled to Montreal where they visited St. Joseph's Oratory and Shrine. Although his own background was Jewish, he had great reverence for all faiths and lit a candle in the niche called "Hope for the Sick." Upon returning home he found that he had been accepted at the Medical School of the University of Lausanne in Switzerland.

Now a practicing physician, Dr. Bruckheim recently made a pilgrimage back to Montreal to place another candle in the shrine. He couldn't find the exact niche, but Joyce consoled him with, "It was there when you needed it."

Once again, the power of faith had transcended denominational limits. As Dr. Bruckheim says, "One accepts the divine no matter where it is."

Confident Living:

Start Life New Every Morning

By Norman Vincent Peale

Rudyard Kipling tells of a sea-god man of fortune who reflected that his ventures had succeeded astonishingly well and so he gave thanks to "the God of Fair Beginnings." This happy phrase articulates one of the greatest and most hopeful facts of life.

No matter what mistakes you may have made—no matter how you've messed things up—you still can make a new beginning. The person who fully realizes this suffers less from the shock and pain of failure and sooner gets off to a new beginning.

With practice you can get so you can actually start life new every morning. And what kind of practice? A large part consists in forgetting yesterday and its unhappy events.

I had the pleasure of speaking at a prayer breakfast at which were present a large number of political figures. After my brief talk one of these distinguished men suddenly asked, "What do you think is the greatest thing in the world?"

"Now, look," I said, "that's a very large question." And I resorted to an artful dodge which Socrates so often used—parrying a question with a question. "What do YOU think is the greatest thing?" I asked.

"Oh," he said, "that's part of it. But the main thing is to be able to forget what you used to be."

Later when the gathering broke up I managed to have a few words privately with this man. It seems he had a rather rocky history.

At one time he had let social drinking get so out of hand that he was practically an alcoholic, which nearly wrecked his career for keeps.

But he looked that in the nick of time and eventually became an outstanding leader.

"Without God's help," he said, "I never could have done it. I have learned to forget what I once was and to remember what I can become."

There is the enormous good news that you have loved ones and a family. And the greatest good news of all is the fact that God loves you.

These two techniques—forgetting yesterday and telling yourself good news daily—will help you start life new every morning.

Answers Recent Letter on Tax Program Support

In reply to Mrs. Kadella's letter about the reaction of Senators and Representatives to Gov. Romney's tax reform, I'm sure Gov. Romney will be pleased to know he has such a loyal supporter who would want her representative to vote for an income tax so that she would have the privilege to pay, because Gov. Romney asked for it!

Fortunately, that's not how things happen. Our representatives are supposed to vote according to what the majority of their constituents indicate—the polls in areas taken show overwhelmingly the people are against this tax—and fortunately the people elect their representatives—not Gov. Romney.

'Citizens Are Too Critical of Police Effort'

The letter from Betty Montgomery is typical of the general public. Citizens sit back and wring their hands about the crime going on around them and are the first to moan "the police department has done nothing about crime." This statement is so ridiculous it does not even warrant a comment.

The Supreme Court has literally tied the hands of every law enforcement officer. Our policemen are doing their best to protect Pontiac citizens but how much can be done when they are put in the position of being goodwill ambassadors to the slime that corrodes our streets?

NOT QUITE SO PESSIMISTIC

'Junior High Group Is Credit to Pontiac'

A recent article in The Pontiac Press told about the Bell Ringers of Pontiac Eastern Junior High, who brought credit to themselves, their school and the people of Pontiac by their performance on television. Their television performance brought about the unique honor of being invited to go to England to perform in the American Festival in Britain in June. When there is so much adverse publicity directed toward our youth, can Pontiac afford to pass up the opportunity to show their appreciation to this fine group of young people by giving them a helping hand in making this trip possible?

'Representatives Are Voice of the People'

To Senators and Representatives: The people of Michigan have by their vote appointed you to represent their wishes in matters of state. Yours is a position of trust, in a system of majority rule, with full recognition of the rights of the minority as well. The loyalty of your supporters will be assured, if you guarantee that their voice will be heard in the matter of fiscal reform and a state income tax, by the call for a referendum vote. Let the voice of the people be heard.

'All Physically Able Should Serve Country'

I'm sure no one enjoys being drafted, leaving good paying jobs and families, but I get mad hearing elderly young, single men tell that they cannot go because of migraine headaches, police records, etc., with no shame whatsoever.

If they're physically able to work in our local auto plants, they could surely work as K.P.s or in other suitable jobs in the armed forces or jail. The judges and draft board are too lenient.

Question and Answer

I retired over a year ago, and I've been wondering why. I receive $400 retirement plus $102.00 Social Security. I'm in the best of health. Can I step out at both the retirement and Social Security and go back to work with the same company at the same job?

REPLY

You can withdraw your Social Security claim, and go back to work, but you'd have to repay all Social Security payments you've received. As for the retirement, you would have to discuss that with the company paying the benefits.

It's Time to Safety Check Your Bike

Monday ushers in National Bicycle Safety Week, proclaimed by the National Safety Council.

With bicycles figuring increasingly in traffic accidents, bicyclists are urged to check their mounts for safety before taking to the road during the delightful months ahead.

The traffic division of the Pontiac Police Department warns owners of the City's 15,000 bicycles to check adjustment of saddles, the condition of grips and handlebar conformity.

Riders can also contribute to road safety and save possible expense by seeing to the lubrication of their bicycles, wheel alignment, tire pressure and brake function.

Other specifics are:

- The bell or horn should be audible for 100 feet;
- The headlight should have a 500-foot range;
- The taillight should be visible for 300 feet.

Attention to these details and habitual observance of traffic courtesy and rules of the road will insure bicyclists many enjoyable and safe hours astride their steeds.

Let's Preserve Symbols of Early America

People travel to Europe and other parts of the world, take pictures of spots of interest and come home with glowing talk of historic sites and structures they have seen.

The United States cannot boast about its age, and it has little reverence for old buildings, many of which are landmarks showing the growth and change in our Country.

Under urban renewal programs, our cities are being rebuilt and filled with buildings too often resembling square blocks of concrete with about as much individuality as peas in a pod. This period may go down in history as the era of the bulldozer, the wrecking ball and the cement mixers.

In these times, it is of special interest when we see "historic" structures being saved.

The U.S. National Bank of Oregon has rejuvenated its branch in Salem. The two-story building erected in 1868 represents an era in Oregon's history. Its walls were faced with massive iron castings molded to represent intricate carved stonework. Many of the early western buildings were of this type of architecture.

This old building will probably be remembered and photographed by future tourists going through Salem more than any of the new cubical blocks.

Cities can be proud when early distinctive edifices do not fall prey to the wrecking ball, and landmark buildings are preserved as a living record of their history and development.

Collective Bargaining Limits

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON—One of the myths of American life is the sanctity of free, collective bargaining. It's worshiped, protected and encouraged—until the going gets too rough.

It gets too rough when there is danger of a strike that would shut down an industry vital to American health, welfare or security. No MARLOW President or Congress is going to sit idly by and let that happen, at least not for long.

But, instead of approving a law which beforehand would forbid a strike in an essential industry by, for instance, compelling both sides to submit to compulsory arbitration, the presidents and Congress have stepped around the dilemma.

Apparently hoping these emergency strike threats were common along two often, and therefore can be handled as special cases when they do occur, the presidents and Congress have tried to get by with "one-shot" actions.

One of them occurred this week when President Johnson asked Congress for, and instantly got, legislation forbidding a railroad strike for 20 days, or until May 3.

If there is a settlement then between six railroad, craft unions and the country's major rail lines, Congress will probably follow the pattern it has adopted for years: don't do anything until the next big threat comes.

But the population is increasing, thus increasing the nation's needs and the interdependency of its various parts. Inevitably, therefore, Congress will eventually have to pass antistrike legislation in vital industries.

Meanwhile, the only strikes likely to stay free of government interference indefinitely are those in industries of a minor nature.

President Johnson, who values the goodwill of labor, has shown a great reluctance to hand Congress proposals for coping with emergency strikes although in his State of the Union message in January 1966, he called for laws to enable us effectively to deal with strikes which threaten to damage the national interest.

But he never followed this up with specific proposals. Instead, he created a task force to study the problem and the task force hasn't been heard from, either.

This week, the task force reportedly had finished its work and perhaps Johnson will send its report to Congress. But that doesn't mean Johnson will send along with it his own recommendations.

Torture of Girl Laid to Parents

Child, 11, Found Tied to Bed in Rockwood

DETROIT (UPI) — A suburban Rockwood couple was held in jail today on a charge of child abuse after their oldest daughter, 11, found lashed to a basement bed, described four torture-filled years.

Donald Coffman, 32, and his wife, Marilyn, 31, were arraigned on the felony charge yesterday several hours after police, acting on a neighbor's tip, visited the Coffmans home and found Debbie, 11, tied to the bed.

"I want this case to be heard fast, real fast," Westwood Municipal Judge Douglas W. Craig told the Coffmans.

Police said the frail dark-haired girl told them she was given only a small bowl of dry, cold cereal to eat at home each day, forced to use the backyard as a lavatory and made to walk nearly three miles to school in the same tattered dress while her five chubby-cheeked, well-dressed brothers and sisters rode a bus.

"Debbie said she spent most of her nonschool hours tied to the bed in the basement," a police spokesman said.

SENT OUTSIDE

Police said that while the Coffmans lavished love and affection on the other children, school authorities complained that Debbie was "always dirty and poorly clad."

Relatives told police they had been concerned about Debbie for a long time but "didn't want to cause trouble in the family."

"From what we have been told, this apparently has been going on for about four years," police said, "but recently it began to get much worse."

IN HOT WATER

One relative told police Debbie once was punished by being forced to sit in a tub of scalding hot water until she fainted.

A plea of innocent was entered for the Coffmans at their arraignment Friday. Judge Craig set an examination for 9 a.m. Monday on the child-torturing charge which carries a possible 10-year prison term.

The Coffmans were remanded to the Wayne County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond while their children were taken to a child care center maintained by the juvenile division of Probate Court.

Tuck Purse in Corner if Guest

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A silly question perhaps, but what does the female guest do with her purse when she is a dinner guest in a private home?

Although I usually try to carry a small purse and tuck it away in an inconspicuous spot on an end table, I notice many women "park" their rather large purses on end tables, coffee tables, etc. Unsightly and inconsiderate, or entirely proper? — Mrs. B. N.

Dear Mrs. N.: Large purses are definitely in the way when they are left prominently on coffee or end tables. If the owner doesn't wish to carry her purse, she may put it on the floor beside her chair or at the very back of an out-of-the-way table.

Small pocketbooks matter less since they are inconspicuous and don't take up much space. Purses should be taken to the dinner table and either held in the lap, or put on the floor under the chair so as not to interfere with any picking up done in the living room while the guests are eating.

RESPONSES

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband, who is a well educated person, uses the term "Likewise, I'm sure" when he acknowledges an introduction. He insists that this is correct and I say it is bad taste. — Mrs. Fox

Dear Mrs. Fox: I hate to get into family arguments, but do show your husband my answer. "Likewise, I'm sure" is not in good taste.

"How do you do," "Hello," "I'm very glad to meet you," repeating the person's name, are the preferred responses.

OPENING GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Post: I went to a christening where the mother received both gifts and money, but did not open any of them. She felt she would perhaps hurt the ones who gave money by not showing the amounts.

Some say the gifts should have been opened and just thank the others. Doing this would have taken some time, so she just thanked everyone who gave any kind of a gift.

Do you open gifts at a christening as you do at a shower? — Mrs. Curtis

Dear Mrs. Curtis: If there were an enormous number of gifts, I agree that it was better to open them later. But people like seeing what others have given and if it would not have taken too long, it would have been enjoyable for everyone to see the opening.

The mother could have thanked those who gave money for their "generous gifts" not mentioning the amount.

Son Must Want Self Help First Before Anyone Else Can Assist

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN.
DEAR ABBY: What does one do when he knows for a fact that his son is smoking "pot" and experimenting with L.S.D.?

He is 21 and lives and works in another city, but he writes home regularly and visits when possible. He has been a "good" boy but refuses to listen to reason on this subject. I am so afraid he will get caught and ruin his future by having this on his record.

Please tell me how his mother and I can help him. Print your reply as I do not want to sign my name.

HIS FATHER
DEAR FATHER: Level with your son, and without threats and recriminations, let him know that you are aware of his activities and stand willing to help him.

A young man who will not "listen" must consent to listen if he is to be helped. He must be made aware that while smoking "pot" may appear harmless, it almost always leads to drug addiction when the effect of "pot" loses its kick — which it surely will.

And L.S.D. is equally, if not more dangerous. If he still refuses to listen, he is sunk. There is no help for the one who will not help himself.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a young man who says he loves me and wants to marry me, but there is one problem. When we are with people, he talks and talks and never shuts up. And when we are alone together he talks all the time, too. He never listens to anybody. Sometimes he will ask me a question and he won't even wait for an answer — he answers it himself.

He is too good a catch to just get rid of. Is there any way I can break him of this terrible habit?

FRUSTRATED
DEAR FRUSTRATED: My advice is to forget this "good catch." Talking all the time and refusing to listen, is more than a "habit" — it's a symptom of selfishness. So don't marry him unless you want to wind up talking to yourself for the rest of your life.

DEAR ABBY: What's happening to our men today? They watch all those foolish television commercials and then they run out and buy deodorants, mouthwash, and cologne.

Give me a man with the masculine smell of body odor that shows he's done a good day's work. And if he has a hint of tobacco and beer on his breath, that's OK, too.

I want a man who smells like a man — not like a bunch of daffodils.

Lady Lawyers Receive Frank Kelley's Praise

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has high regard for the five lady lawyers who serve as assistant state attorneys general.

"All these ladies are tenacious guardians of the public interest," Kelley commented. "Despite their feminine ways, they are tigers in court. They are all important members of our staff and the people of the state should be proud of their efforts."

Pearl Newcomb of Bay City, immediate past president of the Women Lawyers Association of Michigan, figures there are about 250 ladies among the more than 10,000 lawyers licensed to practice by the Michigan State Bar.

NO DISCRIMINATION

She and other women lawyers interviewed, did not feel there was any discrimination against them as ladies in a profession mostly dominated by men.

Mrs. Maxine Virtue led the legal team that recently obtained more than one million in cash refunds from rock salt producers and distributors.

STRICTLY BY COINCIDENCE

Both Grace Clement and Esther Newton were educated in Kalamazoo public schools. Both were admitted as members of the Michigan Bar in 1942.

Esther Newton formerly was a librarian with the State Law Library and was a research aide for former State Supreme Court Justice Edward Sharpe before she joined the attorney's general's office in 1952.

BOUNDARY DISPUTE

She currently is with the Conservation Department and in the thick of legal battle in a boundary dispute with Ohio.

Grace Clement was with the Employment Security Commission before joining the attorney general's office in 1951.

Eileen Zieselsch and Theresa Doss both are assigned to the Detroit branch of the attorney general's office.

Engagement Told

The engagement of Susan Ellis to Airman 3.C. Willard E. Garvey Jr. of March Air Force Base, Calif., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ellis of Muskegon.

His parents are the senior Garveys of Sheffield Road, Pontiac Township.

July vows are being planned.

Plan Performance
on Three Pianos

Music written for three pianos is extremely rare. But some compositions which are only in British music libraries have been copied and sent to Clarkson for performance on April 23.

Norman Gifford and Sally Dow, duo pianist of Detroit, assisted by Clarkson pianist, Ivan Rouse, will present a concert of rare music for two and three pianos in the Clarkson High School Little Theatre.

The concert beginning at 3:30 p.m. is open to the public.

All but two pieces by contemporary composers were written around 1900. Most of the early composers, except Bach are completely forgotten.

Gifford discovered a heretofore unknown composition for two pianos by Beethoven and this will be played.

Miss Dow studied six years at the Conservatoire de Paris, at the Salzburg Mozarteum and in Detroit.

Gifford, a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, was music consultant at the Library of Congress for many years. He plays with the Detroit Symphony.

Boy Paints
Town Red

RACKNELL, England (UPI)—It was about as much explanation as one could expect from a boy of 14, the juvenile court judge acknowledged.

He had asked the boy why he stuck an aerosol can of red paint and sprayed it on six cars, a road sign, a garage door, a fire hydrant, a number of lamp posts and a white fence.

"I was fed up at the time I did it," said the youngster. He was conditionally discharged when he agreed, with his parents, to pay the damages.

The stringless variety of pole bean known as Blue Lake was developed in the Northwest especially for canning.

He has owned the Clarkson Conservatory of Music since 1960.

Tickets are available at the Conservatory and will be sold at the door next Sunday.

E. Germany to Open 7th Red Party Congress

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Communist Party opens its seventh Communist party congress with fanfare and speeches Monday. But the star guest, Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, is expected to concentrate on drumming up interest in the Communist conference on Europe security the following week.

About 2,000 delegates representing East Germany's 1.6 million Communists and parties from about 50 nations will attend the week-long congress in East Berlin's Seelenbinder Sports Hall.

Brezhnev is expected to arrive Sunday at the head of the Soviet delegation. He will address the congress but will spend much of his time behind the scenes getting ready for the Communist meeting in Karlovy Vary, Czechoslovakia, April 24-27.

EUROPEAN PROBLEMS

The Karlovy Vary meeting is now expected to focus on European problems, including West-German diplomatic overtures to the East, East-West trade and mutual East-West reduction of military forces.

Sources say Red China will send no delegates to the East German congress. The East important parties said they would have nothing to do with such a conference, Soviet officials backed away from the idea.

German workers are expected to emphasize the economic gains that have resulted from the profit incentives for workers ordered into the country's economic system at the previous congress in 1963. In the last four years, workers' wages have risen 14 per cent to an average of $138 a month, and more consumer goods are now available than ever before.

East Germany is second only to the Soviet Union as a trade partner and producer in Eastern Europe.

POLITICAL GUIDELINES

Erich Honecker, second in the party to East German Chief of State Walter Ulbricht, will deliver a speech setting forth political guidelines for the four years until the next congress. Honecker, 54, is in charge of security and police affairs and is viewed as the eventual successor to Ulbricht, 73.

pected to renew demands that West Germany renounce its claim to represent all Germans, recognize the existence of two German states and agree to the Oder-Neisse line as the border between East Germany and Poland. They may also respond to proposals made by West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger this week for more trade and credits between the two Germanys, as well as construction of a joint electrical power network, highways, canals and rail lines.

Budding Rally in Last Inning Lacks Big Hit

Minnesota Prevails With 2-Run Spurts, Clutch Pitching

MINNEAPOLIS-St. Paul (AP)—The drama was there, but the power wasn't and the Detroit Tigers lost the ball game Friday.

The Minnesota Twins were leading 5-3 and the Tigers were at bat with one out in the ninth. Gates Brown singled and that put the tying runs at the plate. Al Kaline walked and that put the winning run at bat. But Jim Northrup forced Kaline at second as Brown went to third.

Then Norm Cash came to bat, representing the winning run with two out. But he grounded out and the Twins won, 5-3.

Earl Wilson started for Detroit and the Twins grabbed two runs in the first inning. Cesar Tovar singled and took second on a passed ball. Rich Rollins singled to score Tovar.

WILD PITCH

Tony Oliva walked and took second on a double play grounded by Harmon Killebrew. Oliva went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Rod Carew.

The Tigers got all three runs in the second. Northrup grounded out, but Cash and Bill Freeman walked. Dick Tracinski then doubled scoring Cash. Wilson grounded to the pitcher, Dave Boswell, who threw late to the plate and Freeman scored. Don Wert then singled Tracinski home.

The Twins went back ahead in the sixth. Bob Allison homered and Earl Battey walked. Larry Sherry replaced Wilson on the mound and Zoilo Versalles singled. Relief pitcher Jim Merritt, trying to build, forced Battey at third.

Tracinski cracked a ground ball at Jerry Lumpe and the second baseman muffed it for an error as Versalles scored.

Versalles added an insurance run in the eighth with a homer off Johnny Podres.

Merritt pitched for the victory while Wilson drew the loss.

The Tigers face the Twins here again today with Joe Sparano scheduled to face Jim Katt.

Teen in Tears After Victory

Sue Pederson Wins in Record Time

CLEVELAND (AP)—You could hardly blame 13-year-old Sue Pederson for the tears after winning the 440-yard individual medley in record time against some of the nation's top women swimmers.

"They're tears of joy," said the stocky Sacramento, Calif., eighth grader as she collected her first gold medal in the AAU National Women's Indoor Swimming Championships. "It's the greatest thing that ever happened to me."

Sue's record time of 4:37 Friday night continued a sensational assault on the record book by the female swimmers.

New American standards were set in every one of the five events, making a total of eight records in nine events over the first two days of the three-day meet. Records set in the short-course indoor events are not recognized as world records.

New records going into the books include: 1:54.1 in the 200-yard free style by Puke Watson of the Santa Clara Swim Club; 1:06.6 in the 100-yard breaststroke by Katie Ball of Jacksonville, Fla.; 2:07.8 in the 200-yard butterfly by Lee Davis of Saratoga, Calif.; and 7:53.7 in the 800-yard free style relay by the Santa Clara Swim Club.

Mononucleosis has curtailed the hopes of two county girls during the women's national Amateur Athletic Union swimming championships now in progress at Fairview, Ohio.

Last Sunday, they were team members of the club's 400-yard freestyle relay team that set a state record in winning at the State Women's swimming and diving championships in the Oakland University pool.

MSU Drops 2; 'M' Splits

Dick Kenney Handed Loss in Both Tilts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A last-inning pinch hit home run and Joe Sadel's two-hit pitching gave Ohio State a pair of one-run victories over Michigan State, 10-9 and 3-2, as the Buckeyes opened defense of their Big Ten Baseball title Friday.

Denny Jacobs was the first game hero with his seventh-inning pinch homer with one out and one out. It came off the Spartans' Dick Kenney, who lost the first game as a relief pitcher and the second as a starter. The homer capped a five-run seventh for the Bucks.

Sophomore left-hander Sadel allowed his only hits in the seventh when Spartan Tom Binkowski homered following a Jim Walters' single. Bo Rein drove in two Ohio State runs.

2 AL Hurlers Debut Sharply

By the Associated Press

Care for a bit of Can You Top This?

Bill Dillman of Baltimore and Bill Rohr of Boston, a pair of pitching prodigies, played that old game in their major league debuts Friday and if Dillman hadn't run out of innings, he might have won the match.

Rohr came within one strike of no-hitting the New York Yankees but lost his bid on a two-out, 3-2 pitch, single by Elston Howard in the bottom of the ninth inning. He finished up a 3-0 winner.

Dillman came out of the bullpen for the Orioles and hurled five hitless innings, earning credit for Baltimore's 7-1 victory over Kansas City.

BOTH DILLMAN AND ROHR are 21 and getting their first taste of life in the big leagues. And so far things couldn't be better for them.

"It would have been nice to have a no-hitter," smiled Rohr, "but it's awfully nice to be 1-0 in the big leagues." A left-handed pitcher, Rohr was 14-10 at Toronto last year.

Dillman never expected to be with the Orioles after splitting last year between Durham, N.C., Elmira, N.Y., and Rochester, N.Y., with a combined 10-7 record.

In Friday's other American League action, Minnesota clubbed Cleveland 10-1. Chicago and Washington were not scheduled.

The long ball provided Rohr with all his runs against the Yankees. Rookie Reggie Smith led off against Whitey Ford with a home run and Joe Foy added a two-run shot in the eighth.

An opening day crowd of 14,375 at Yankee Stadium began pulling for Rohr as the youngster set the Yankees down and closed in on the possible no-hitter.

GETS BOOED

When Howard drew what the youngster described as a flat curve into right field for the spoiler, the fans booed.

"It was the first time I ever got a base hit and got booed in New York," Howard said.

Andy Etchebarren ripped a three-run homer for the Orioles, who knocked out Kansas City starter Lew Krausse on a three-run first inning which included a triple by Paul Blair and a double by Frank Robinson.

Mowry Leads Azalea Open

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI)—Larry Mowry leading after two rounds by five strokes in the $5,000 Azalea Open, Friday credited an all-night caddy.

Mowry, of San Diego, Calif., a 30-year-old father of three edged Randy Glover of Florence, S.C. by five. Glover is one up on Bob Veyser of Johannesburg, South Africa, and Howell Fraser of Panama City, Fla., who both have 138.

Mowry's 34-33-67 came on the heels of a 65 in the first round and he said he had only the caddy man — and Palmer — to thank.

ROHR-ING ALONG — Boston Red Sox rookie left-hander Bill Rohr made his major league debut Friday afternoon at Yankee Stadium by hurling 8½ hitless innings before Elston Howard rapped a sharp single on a three-two pitch in the New York half of the ninth inning. The 21-year-old Rohr won his one-hitter, 3-0.

Larry Jaster Loses Streak

By the Associated Press

It took Los Angeles a year and a half to score a run off Larry Jaster of Midland, and by then it hardly mattered.

"I'm relieved it's over with," Jaster said after the Dodgers ended his scoreless streak against them with a run at 52-2 in the seventh at Los Angeles Stadium. "I'll take the win."

St. Louis led 8-0 by the time Jeff Torborg's fly ball sacrificed Jim Lefebvre home with the drought-ending run. Three more Dodgers runs in the ninth inning were scarcely enough to threaten the 23-year-old left-hander's victory.

NEW DORMITORY—Looking over the progress of the new dormitory being constructed adjacent to Midwestern Baptist College is Dr. Tom Malone, president of the college and pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church. Located at 825 Golf Drive, the east windows of the dormitory face the rolling grounds of Pontiac Municipal Golf Course. Built of a pale pink brick the building will house some 340 students. According to Kenneth Frederick, dean of the college, the dormitory will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall term. Dr. Ronald Hoelz, assistant to Dr. Malone, is associate pastor of Emmanuel Church.

Outer Walls Rise; Build Dormitory

With more and more families moving into Oakland County, Pontiac area churches find it necessary to enlarge present facilities or construct new buildings to house worshippers and Sunday School students.

Dr. Tom Malone, president of Midwestern Baptist College, reports Emmanuel Baptist Church is sponsoring the new dormitory under construction adjacent to the College. Approximate cost will be $180,000.

The dormitory is expected to house some 340 students.

An educational unit is underway at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian; and S. Hugo of the Hills Catholic School will be enlarged. Currently a new home is being built for Sisters of the St. Hugo School.

Members of the Hughes Street Church of Christ found the church too small for the growing congregation. They now have a new church home under construction at Franklin Road and Miracle Mile.

CHANGE NAME
When the congregation moves into the new building it will assume the name of Miracle Mile Church of Christ.

Even though the interior is not completed, members of Lakecrest Baptist Church voted to move into the new building, 135 Airport, Waterford Township.

The Elizabeth Lake Church of Christ congregation will worship in a new sanctuary when the present addition is completed. The old church will be used as a Christian education building.

Several new churches and a Jewish temple founded within the last year are conducting regular services and religious schools.

These include the Christian Church of Drayton Plains with

The New Temple Jewish congregation worships presently in the Unitarian Church, Woodward at Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

Riverside Young People Launch Youth Program

A youth to youth, word of mouth program will be launched this weekend by young people of the Riverside Seventh-day Adventist Church, 156 Mount Clemens.

The program known as "Operation Undertaker's Three" concerns the dangers of using alcohol, narcotics and tobacco.

Paul Howell, temperance director of the local church, said "each young person of the Riverside Church will be asked to talk with one or more young persons during the period of April 23 to 29, Youth Temperance Education Week, to inform that person about the danger of using alcohol, narcotics and tobacco."

He continued with "There is a growing need for young people to be educated regarding dangers involved in the use of the Undertaker's Three. Mortality statistics relating to all three are on the rise today."

"Alcoholism, for example, continues to constitute this nation's number four public health problem. Cigarette smoking continues to send multiplied thousands to an early grave because of its slow, malignant effect."

"And narcotics, including the newly popularized psychedelic drugs as LSD, peyote and others will claim more lives in 1967 than in any previous year."

Mr. Howell went on to say "One of every three deaths in the United States in 1967 will be from a smoking-related disease."

Pastor Elmer Malcolm spoke on "Good Food for the Mind Is Just as Important as Good Food for the Body, and Good Books Make Good Mind Food" at the 11 a.m. service in Riverside Church today.

Members will observe National Library Week Sunday through April 22.

"The output of far too many publishing houses in America is contributing to weakened minds," said Pastor Malcolm. "Against this rising tide of literature it is heartening that a time such as National Library Week can be set aside to promote the use of good books to build good minds."

Convention Starts Friday

Raise Sweet Corn on Eight-Acre Site

The State Convention of Christ Churches is scheduled for Bethany Christian Church, Detroit with registration at noon Friday.

Sessions will continue through April 23 closing with the morning service.

Congregations in the Pontiac area include First Christian, Central Christian, North Oakland and Christian Church of Detroit Plains.

NORTH OAKLAND
As a result of the special board meeting held Sunday, at North Oakland Christian Church, arrangements are being made to purchase a used tractor to assist in "Operation Sweet Corn."

Following the agricultural committee meeting last week it was recommended to the board that the tractor be purchased by Ray Heyse with money from the building fund.

According to Pastor Jack H.C. Clark, North Oakland Church will make use of the tractor for approximately six months, at which time Harold Aeschman will purchase it for the church for his dealership at the same price.

Plans are being made for the planting and harvesting of sweet corn on the eight acres of land in Kensington. The committee is seeking the help of all members in the project.

The congregation currently worships in Kennedy Junior High School.

Items Taken From Autos

Items valued at more than $150 were stolen from cars at a Highland Township automobile dealership, it was reported to Oakland County sheriff's deputies yesterday.

Deputies said two tires and a stereo tape recorder were taken from cars at Van Camp Chevrolet, 2675 Milford.

Entry was made by prying open trunk doors and doors and breaking windows, according to investigators.

We like to bid whenever we get a good chance to do so. You do get set but if you never make a doubtful bid you never get anywhere.

In particular we open the bidding a trifle lighter than most other players and we overcall at the one level with any decent suit.

On the other hand we hesitate to compete with a minor suit after an opponent has bid a major. We find that such bids seldom do any good and frequently do lots of harm.

Contract for 53 Employees on Agenda in Waterford

A proposed contract for township employees, except policemen and firemen, will be presented to the Waterford Township Board at its 7:30 p.m. Monday meeting.

Action on the contract, which affects 53 employees, previously was tabled for two weeks by the former Township Board at its final meeting April 3.

However, the previous board did approve wage increases and hospital - medical insurance for the employees at the April 3 meeting.

Former Supervisor Mrs. Dorothy W. Olsen estimated that the pay hikes would cost the township about $10,000 for the balance of 1967.

In other business Monday, board members will consider requirements for a new position they authorized at the April 10 meeting following a recommendation by Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson.

NO ONE NAMED

The position — supervisor's aide — calls for a starting salary of $6,968 and a maximum $8,549. Thus far no one has been named to fill the post.

Also on the agenda Monday night is a proposed lot split for lot 27 in Loon Lake Subdivision No. 1.

But Chances of Law Appear Bleak

Senate OKs Tax Break on College Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to give parents a tax break on their children's college expenses — but chances of the provision becoming law appear bleak.

The relief — ranging up to $325 a year per student — is provided in an amendment by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., tacked on to a pending administration tax bill Friday by a 53-26 vote.

The tax bill would restore business tax incentives cancelled by Congress last October, including the 7 per cent investment credit on machinery and equipment purchases.

The administration consistently has opposed the Ribicoff proposal because of its heavy cost, estimated at $300 million the first year and $1.3 billion by 1970.

BEATEN TWICE

The amendment was beaten by 3 votes in 1964 and 10 votes last year when it also was offered as a rider to House tax bills.

Friday's vote marked the first time it had passed either branch of Congress. But the Treasury is expected to try to kill it when the House-approved tax bill goes to a Senate-House conference committee.

Some senators said privately they're convinced the vote on the Ribicoff proposal was part of a strategy to load down the pending tax measure with extraneous amendments.

If that is done, they said, it might be easier to kill all of the riders in conference — including a controversial amendment adopted Thursday to repeal the presidential election campaign financing plan.

CHIEF DEFENDER

The sources noted that Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author and chief defender of the financing plan, spoke and voted plan for the Ribicoff proposal. He previously had opposed it as the administration's Senate spokesman on tax legislation.

However, Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a cosponsor of the rider to repeal the campaign financing plan, told a reporter he did not think any such strategy would be successful.

Long told the Senate Friday he was not giving up the fight to save his campaign financing plan, fees, books and equipment but would not apply to board of the Ribicoff proposal. The existing financing law allows citizens to earmark $1 of their income taxes to support the major parties in presidential campaigns. Democrats and Republicans would split the money of expenses, or $150; 25 per cent — which backers of the plan of the amount between $200 and $400 would total up to $60,000, or $75, and 10 per cent of the amount in 1968, if nearly all tax-the amount between $500 and $1,000.

The Ribicoff amendment would provide a tax credit benefits for anyone with an adjusted gross income of $37,500.

Philadelphia Tries Car Fragmentizer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An auto fragmentizer that will help rid Philadelphia of its abandoned auto problem has passed its first test.

The $3-million monster was tested Friday, swallowing its first abandoned auto and spitting out the remains as 50 or so small metal balls the size of grapefruit.

William Pollock, president of the Pollock-Abrams Co., which built the fragmentizer, predicted it will take six months to chew up all the abandoned cars in Philadelphia.

About 16,000 vehicles were abandoned on city streets last year. The city estimates 25,000 more will be left in 1967.

Antiqued Ivory And Fruitwood Table Centers Dining Room

Family Trades Lake for Pool

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
The Clare Cookes with their six children, ranging from Patty, 19, to Marc, 3, turned their backs on their lovely lakeside home and moved to a hillside colonial in the Bennington Green Subdivision.

"We're not the least bit sorry," said Mrs. Cooke. "But I will have to admit we have a swimming pool in our back yard."

Opening off the entrance foyer, the formal living room uses ivory walls, olive mist carpeting, olive green draperies and pale olive mist sheers to set the background for the furnishings.

The curved sectional is served by an Italian Provincial coffee table with an antiqued ivory base and a fruitwood top. Lighting the grouping is a spice-finished lamp table with a carrara marble inset.

Adding color emphasis and texture interest are matching button back chairs in a deeper olive mist.

The adjoining dining room continues the color theme with the furnishings following an Italian Provincial vein.

In the distressed mahogany family room at the back of the house, comfort reigns supreme. Switching to an Early American mood, the room is carpeted in a rust tweed.

Brass candlesticks with gold candles and a collection of coffee pots, including brass, copper and ceramic, balance the clipper ship print above the fireplace mantel.

Before the wing back ivory boucle loveseat are twin cigarette tables. Their fruitwood tops are highlighted by black pedestal bases.

The fireside chairs featuring a bird and fruit basket print introduce shades of rust, green and beige on a deep gold background.

In the master bedroom on the first floor, Mrs. Cooke chose an off-white plush carpeting and aqua walls for her main color scheme.

The room's quilted spread of pale aqua, turquoise, lavender, blue and moss green folds back when not in use onto a fruitwood spread bench found at the foot of the bed.

A pale aqua velvet occasional chair adds to the feeling of luxury in the spacious room.

Carpeted in a sculptured gold, the adjoining den features a distressed mahogany dado and built-ins.

Selling Your Home?

Follow Pontiac Realtor's Tips

No one will claim it's only the "little things" that count when selling a house, but attention to details plays an important part, according to Bruce J. Annett, president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors.

With the advent of spring home-seeking season, Annett outlined some of the advice developed for owners by the National Association of Real Estate Boards to help them in selling their houses quickly and advantageously through a realtor.

He noted that potential buyers often make a fast over-all judgment about a house they are considering, then start observing the little things.

He advised home sellers to try to see their home as they would look at it if they were in the market to buy. One of the most successful ways to note what needs attention is to get into the car, drive around the block, then approach the house as though you had never seen it before.

"The yard will be the first thing you see in detail. Is the grass cut, and are the walks and flowerbeds neatly edged? Are the plantings weeded, trimmed, and well cared for?" Annett asked. "The walls should be well cleared of snow and ice in winter," he added.

The exterior of the house itself should be studied next. In some cases, it is advisable to apply a fresh coat of paint. In any case, windows should be sparkling, all outside plumbing and lighting fixtures should be operative, and minor repairs should have been made, the Realtor said.

A rip in the screen door indicates to many that maintenance has not been regular, and causes them to suspect major repairs may be in the offing.

"Scrub!" is the best advice for preparing the interior of a home for sale. Every room should be shining, with furniture carefully arranged, Annett said. As with the exterior, in some cases it is advisable to paint if walls and woodwork are especially dirty or faded.

"If at all possible," Annett recommended, "do not move furniture until the house has been sold. An empty room can be depressing."

"Women often make the final decisions about buying a home and they always have an important say."

The room on which they base much of their evaluation is usually the kitchen, so when a house is for sale, the kitchen should be gleaming and cheery.

After all this cleaning, it would be a shame to have a prospect call after dark and not be able to see the results. Turn on all the lights from the entrance hall to the back door. This tends also to create a cheery atmosphere.

With everything clean and well-lighted, make a tour of the house yourself. Check all the things you would be noting if you were a potential buyer. Pull out drawers, open cabinets and doors, try the windows. Look for drips, squeaks, cracks and anything else. When you find something not functioning properly, get it repaired, he advised.

Things should now be in good order for showings. So the seller's next chore is to make himself scarce. The seller has taken time and pains in selecting the broker to handle the sale of the house.

He has probably checked and found that his representatives are members of the local board and, as such, have pledged themselves to uphold the strict code of ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"The people you've chosen are professionals in real estate. You can expedite the sale of your home by letting them handle all aspects of the transaction."

If you can't actually leave the house when it is being shown, turn off the radio and TV, send the children and pets out to play, and stay out of the way. "Just be pleasant and unobtrusive," Annett concluded.

Air Conditioner Needs Cleaning

When it comes to your central air-conditioning system, spring cleaning is no drudgery.

The first step in your spring overhaul is to toss out the filter — that small blanket of fiber that keeps out dust, dirt and pollen — and replace it with a new one. It's simpler than emptying a vacuum-cleaner dust bag.

The second step is to place a few drops of oil on the fan motor, which is easier than filling a cigarette lighter.

Then you're set for summer comfort. This two-step procedure makes this the easiest task in your spring cleaning chore.

Piano Stool Kitchen Aid

An old piano stool that has an adjustable, spiral seat makes a handy kitchen stool.

Enamel to match your kitchen decor.

It may be raised or lowered according to counter height.

Use Bright Light to Spot Errors

Be sure the surface you are painting is well lighted so that you can spot any misses or skips.

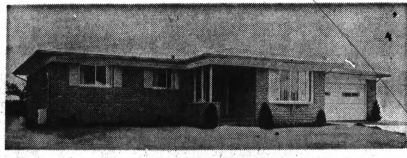

Brighten your work area with a small flood light or remove the shades from lamps to obtain more light.

Improve Your Outdoor Living

One of the first things a new homeowner undertakes after moving in is to convert some 200 square feet of backyard earth into cement, put some chairs, a table and a barbecue grill and settle down to enjoy outdoor living.

But according to Matthew Laine, an outdoor living specialist for the Plazach Division of Alcan Aluminum Corporation, there's a lot more outdoor enjoyment available with a few additions.

First, Laine says, shading the patio with an aluminum patio cover makes the patio available for family use during every daylight hours, even when the sun shines directly on it.

Cool comfort during the day can be matched with cool comfort at night if the patio is screened to keep out insects, he adds.

In using the patio evenings, Laine recommends two types of lighting—wall-mounted brackets with indirect lighting for conversation and relaxation; portable lamps with direct light for reading, studying or other close-up work.

If you haven't screened in the patio yet or wish to keep bugs and insects off the screening, yellow lamps with colored filters are suggested for outdoor lighting. These make the lights almost invisible to insects.

Air of Spaciousness Deliberate in Design

An effective method of creating an air of spaciousness in a house of modest proportions is the use of the open-plan concept.

This involves—to simplify it—the apparent merging of rooms or areas without actually doing so.

A wide expanse is thus visible, yet each room or area retains its own identity.

In this House of the Week, architect Herman H. York has done open planning at the front and rear of the house.

At the front, directly to the left of the foyer, are the living room and the dining room, stretching more than 30' and making an ideal layout for formal entertaining.

LIVING ROOM

The living room has an attractive window seat. The dining room is accessible from the kitchen and the family room, as well as being in direct line with the living room.

At the rear, the family room and the kitchen are in similar open-plan alignment, with an eating counter serving as a kind of room divider.

The family room has a generous-sized fireplace built into the main chimney, on the other side of which is a barbecue on the terrace for convenient outdoor grilling.

A door to the left of the fireplace leads to that terrace.

The much-sought laundry-lavatory arrangement is at the side of the kitchen directly behind the one-car garage and with direct access to the backyard.

The laundry area is sizable, with room for the usual washing and drying appliances, as well as a broom closet.

And a door at the rear of the garage leading to the laundry and kitchen makes easy the handling of packages from the auto into the house. One side of the garage, by the way, has a long storage wall.

OPPOSITE SIDE

The opposite side of the house has three bedrooms and two baths. The owners' bedroom has a private bath, which is back-to-back to the other bath.

The bedroom at the front of the house can be used for any one of a variety of purposes if three bedrooms are not required.

It could serve as a den or study, in which case architect York has provided an alternate door arrangement off the foyer. And should it be desired to utilize this room as an office or any professional use where an outside entrance would be needed, a door could be opened from the covered entry to the presently-located closet area.

Moving up the curved, hand-railed stair—at the bottom of which is a planter—takes one to a studio room, bathroom and two closets. An optional second room upstairs is included in the plans.

Thus, a large family conceivably could have a five-bedroom house within over-all dimension of 63' 8" by 35' 8", which includes the garage.

The exterior of Design G-84 is patterned after the Early American farmhouse, with side walls of wood shingles and brick.

However, the architect suggests that anyone desiring to build this house should investigate the many new products now available with low or no-maintenance characteristics, most of which are designed to harmonize with traditional detail.

FLEXIBLE: The simple lines of this house enable it to wear the traditional garb of an Early American farmhouse, as shown, or to take on a more contemporary appearance by use of new exterior materials that require little or new maintenance.

Smart Set Votes for Plushness

For the smart set, sitting on plush chairs is "in." Sitting on the floor is "out."

A plush chair or two will spark up any living room decor, claim decorators.

For example, a swivel arm chair in a showy boucle textured matelasse will fit into almost any decor while adding new form and color interest.

Today's well-furnished home has a wealth of cushiony seating, replacing much of the bare floor space in vogue in recent years.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: The interior of this house is divided into four areas: the formal living room and dining room; the family room and kitchen; the three downstairs bedrooms bed rooms; and the space upstairs. All four are directly accessible from the foyer.

Total Comfort in Summer

When air conditioning a home, room-by-room basis, you're the first thing to decide is if you want spotty or total comfort—and at what price.

Most people believe it's cheaper to air condition a home room by room, but that is true only up to a point. When you want to keep a three-bedroom house comfortable the best way is with central air conditioning.

It not only saves money on installation, but it's usually cheaper to operate.

Eliminate Mosquitoes

Mosquitoes breed in any container around the house that will hold water for five days or longer in warm weather. This includes jars or vases holding plants.

By using horticultural vermiculite — which is a Vermiculite growing medium — in place of water you can cut down on the number of available breeding places for mosquito eggs.

Turn Soup Dipper Into Flower Pot

You can make an interesting flower pot from a soup ladle or dipper. Plant an ivy or other vining plant that will grow in shallow dirt in the ladle.

It may be necessary to straighten the curved handle a little. Give the ladle or dipper a coat of bright enamel. When planted, this makes a lovely hanging flower pot for a wall.

Check Mattress Measurements

Is There Room for Two?

It may not have handwriting on the wall, but your bedroom lattes on you nevertheless. It tells a lot about how your marriage is going, too.

Does it resemble a catch-all for everything from the family mending to last year's dog-eared magazines? If so, you may be courting a deteriorating husband-wife relationship.

Or is your bedroom one of those that resembles a designer's spotless show-case — without a single sign that it's a cozy shelter for two tired people? Such a sterile environment is just as likely to rub a husband the wrong way.

But you do want your bedroom to look nice without the feminine, frilly look that could make a masculine husband feel uncomfortable. How to manage it?

Tailored bedspreads and draperies offer your husband a compromise — a touch of masculinity but with colors to please the feminine eye, like deepwood blue and white or other pastel combinations.

SPACE IMPORTANT
The room should have space, too, for the keys, change and bric-a-brac the family breadwinner dumps out on the dresser each night.

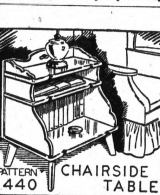

Another place to give your husband more say-so is in the selection of a bed. No wife should shop for this item without her husband.

It's not only his aesthetic approval that's at stake, but also his health as well, since you're shopping for the item upon which he will be spending one-third of his life, hopefully in restful, relaxing sleep.

Psychologists agree that lack of proper sleep can interfere with matrimonial bliss. One of the greatest causes of restless sleep is a bed that's too small. The average height of American males is 5'10" and every year an increasing number get to be more than 6 foot. American women are also much taller than their mothers.

The old style double bed, with its 54-inch width and 75-inch length, no longer provides adequate room to turn for today's taller people. Sleep experts say

IT IS EASY TO MAKE THIS stand because the construction is so simple. You will wonder how you ever got along without its useful tiered shelves. Pattern 440, which gives actual-size cutting guides for all shaped parts and illustrated directions, is $5. It is also included in the Small Shelf and Stand Packet No. 49 with three other full-size patterns for $1.

Homely Hint

Hint to homemakers: the 50-year-old marble floor in New York's famous Grand Central Station has never had any treatment except nightly mopping with suds to remove dirt tracked in by 18 billion feet!

the average person who thinks he "sleeps like a log" actually turns 40-60 times a night.

Doctors report that the required minimum of extra space for healthful sleep is 5 inches at the head for the part of the pillow not under the sleeper's head and 5 inches at the foot to avoid the tight toe space tucked bed coverings produce.

KING-SIZE
Anyone who is at least 5'5" tall needs a king-size (76-78 inches wide and 80-84 inches long) or queen-size (60 inches wide and 80-84 inches long) mattress.

The latter size is rapidly becoming the country's new standard double bed. According to the National Association of Bedding Manufacturers, more than one-third of the bedding industries' total sales (and close to 50 per cent of the sales in better quality lines of these products) is currently in longer and wider beds.

Mattresses come in varying degrees of firmness to suit the individual's needs and preferences. It is most important that the sleeper or sleepers test the mattress at the place by lying on the bed.

If the lady of the house prefers a softer or firmer mattress than her mate, it might be wise to select a pair of extra-long twin beds with a dual headboard.

Measure Your Mattress Month, a month in which we should carefully review the bedding we're now using for fit and wear, will be observed by most bedding departments in May. It might be a good idea to visit your favorite store if only to compare your current bed-

Better to Grow Old Together

New House Is Best for Newlyweds

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Should a young couple buy an old or a new house? That is the question put by an engaged couple who has enough money for a down payment on a big old house that needs to be repaired or a small new house.

The groom-to-be is all for the old house idea because he'd "have lots of fun remodeling it," he says. His bride-to-be doesn't want "to inherit anyone else's dirt." She'd like everything spanking clean.

There's a lot to be said for buying the new house, the first time around, unless one can find an old house that has been kept in tip-top repair.

Many things can go haywire in a new house, but an old house can supply one headache after another.

A seasoned home owner could attempt coping with an old house, but a bride shouldn't have a leaky roof ruining her new love seat.

NEW DWELLING

The shiny new dwelling may keep the love light glowing brighter.

Two people who learn to adjust to the rigors of caring for a house may take on an old house after they have become housebroken.

A retired couple has a problem of another sort. They've bought a home in the South, and can't decide what to do with the furnishings in their northern apartment.

They expected to ship everything South to the smaller vacation house, except those things that wouldn't fit, planning to sell the leftovers.

Friends advise that they should sell everything, and buy all new furniture when they get to the new home.

"This would be a tremendous wrench for us as we've lived with so long," says the lady of the house, "and we've discovered we'll get very little for some of these overstuffed pieces."

The answer must boil down to dollars and cents as well as sentiment. First, one must establish the cost of shipping furniture to the retirement home and how much new furniture would cost.

COST TOTAL

This should be sized up right down to blinds for the windows. Stores in the new area could supply catalogs with styles and prices.

People want to furnish with lighter-colored furniture in warmer climates. If present furniture can be painted, antiqued, silvered, slipcovered, it may provide a pleasant appearance in the warmer climate.

Upholstered pieces could be slipcovered in white or pastel cottons. Occasional tables might be done in new lacquers, pastels, gold or silver finishes, and so on.

If upholstered pieces seem too heavy for the climate, they could be discarded as one can afford to replace pieces.

The trend in decorating today permits getting a beautiful new look out of some well-used furniture.

One retiring couple, who can well afford to refurbish their new retirement home, planned to have a sale of all their furnishings until their children began squabbling over the idea.

They are closing up an antiqued-laden, 14-room house and moving to a modern house that they plan to furnish in contemporary style.

"I had no idea how much these old furnishings meant to our children," says one parent.

"There were a few family heirlooms, silver, linens and some wise investments, but they think the extra thousands to pass on to the youngsters; but other objects we had bought at auctions, and so on, didn't seem to be important enough from a sentimental standpoint. Now, they've become terribly emotional about it all."

The fact is that the couple in their mid-sixties has made at this point.

Time to Houseclean ---Follow Safety Tips

It's that time of year again for housecleaning — inside and out. Ceilings have to be washed, drapes cleaned and rehung, the sturdy shoes with non-skid soles.

With a list like that you'll be kept busy for weeks. And if you're not careful, says Hands Grigo of the National Safety Council's home department, you may have an accident that could prevent you from enjoying your newly improved home.

Studies show that from 650,000 to 750,000 do-it-yourselfers have disabling accidents every year — more than half of them caused by falling from ladders.

Men are the victims two out of three times. Most of the men's ladder accidents occur outdoors while painting the house, changing screens on storm windows, washing windows or working on trees or vines.

Women's ladder accidents happen most frequently during indoor chores such as cleaning walls and hanging curtains.

PRIMARY CAUSE

The main cause of ladder accidents is loss of balance from reaching out too far or leaning too far backward. Other common causes include missing a step or slipping on a rung (Sometimes a broken one), and faulty placement of the ladder.

Grigo suggests some precautions.

• Make certain the ladder is in good condition — no loose, slippery or broken rungs. Wear sturdy shoes with non-skid soles.

• Never carry tools in one hand as you climb. Put them in a special tool holster — not in your pockets — or pull them up with a rope afterward so that both hands are free for climbing.

• Place the ladder on a firm, level surface and close enough beneath the repair spot so you can work without bending or stretching.

• When setting a ladder against a building, make sure the distance between the bottom of the wall and the ladder base is one-fourth the ladder height.

Thus, the base of a 28-foot ladder should be 7 feet from the building.

• Handling storm windows on a ladder is dangerous, so provide them with hangers that make removal easy from inside the house.

Save Wickets for Garden Hose

Use the wickets from an old broquet set—or something similar—to route the garden hose.

This keeps the hose where you want it, preventing it from dragging over flowers and shrubs.

As Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton talked, a man popped his head into their Paris dressing room to announce that Stanley Donen was on the telephone and would talk with either one.

"Who's he, huh?" Richard asked. She explained that he is a producer and he has already talked to them about a film (it's "The Public Eye," which they have since agreed to do).

Richard won't talk on the telephone; he detests the instrument. So, with a sigh, Elizabeth rose and made her exit saying, "I was engaged to him once, I might as well talk to him."

She is gone longer than one might think necessary, and Richard interrupted one of his endless array of devastatingly funny stories about the British theater to say, "I wonder if he wants to be engaged to Elizabeth again."

There are two Burton-Taylor pictures finished, "The Taming of the Shrew," which has opened to generally good reviews in London and the United States, and "Dr. Faustus," in which she has the minor, nonspeaking role of Helen of Troy.

"HIGHEST PAID EXTRA" "I didn't even get union minimum for that picture. Isn't that awful?" Elizabeth said on her return.

"On 'The Comedians,' considering the fact that I'm in so few scenes, I'm the world's highest paid extra."

Another head popped into the dressing room. "You're due on the set in a half-hour, Elizabeth," a man said.

She sprang out of her chair.

LAUGHS AT ACTING BUSINESS—After the rehearsal of this scene in "The Comedians," Richard Burton walked off the set saying: "This is a very eccentric way of making a living. I'm 41 years old, tottering around saying 'Good night, old man' to a child-in-bed-in Paris. I must be out of my teat."

"Oh my God, I didn't know I had another scene today."

LEARN'S SCENES

She got her script, labeled "Elizabeth T. Burton" and Richard found the scene they are about to shoot. She sat in a corner and, while four people laughed and talked, learned the scene.

On the set, in four takes (two masters and two close-ups) she didn't blow a line.

JAN FELT

Skis or School, Teen Rates 'A'

This week's Teen of the Week is an attractive ninth grader who can breeze through a school course almost as well as she can schuss down a ski slope—and get A's in both!

Named by the Pontiac Citizens' Committee on Youth is Jan Felt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Felt, 2150 Ostrum.

Jan is an "A" student at Kennedy Junior High School and is active in school sports activities. She has been a member of the Ski and Booster clubs as well as the cheerleaders.

An excellent student in citizenship, Jan was recently recognized for academic achievements in the Pontiac Salute to Youth competition. She plans to study teaching at Oakland University.

Her other extracurricular activities include student council, yearbook and school office work. She participates in the youth group of St. Michael's Church.

In the scene Elizabeth and Richard, playing lovers, visit Robin Langford, a young, English actor, who plays her son.

He's ill in bed and obviously suspicious that something is going on between his mother and Richard, who plays a hotel owner.

'ECCENTRIC'

After a rehearsal, Richard walked off the set saying, "This is a very eccentric way of earning a living. I'm 41 years old, tottering around saying 'Good night, old man' to a child—in bed—in Paris. I must be out of my teat."

Director Peter Glenville walked over and asked if Richard, as he entered the room, could stop for a second before continuing to the boy's bed.

"I think I can do that," he muttered. "All those years of training at Old Vic..."

After one scene, Elizabeth asked, "Did it smack of perfection?" When someone teases her, she says, "That's no way to talk to an Academy Award nominee."

NOMINATED 5 TIMES

"We have both been nominated five times."

"But she has won and I haven't."

"You haven't had a tracheotomy, dear."

"In my first film, 'My Cousin Rachel,' I was in every scene," Richard says. "I was nominated as a supporting actor and I was furious. I haven't ever been a supporting actor."

Asked if the Burtons approached a role in similar fashion, Richard said, "She's instant academy award."

"Richard is a professional. I'm a basket case," she said.

"Elizabeth is not fair. She doesn't have to learn lines. She reads the scene once and she knows it."

"She's instant method. She can belch and burp and the next moment go before the camera and bring tears to your eyes. I have a salacious wife."

"Better salacious than sorry," she said and he laughed.

Romney Wants GOP Assurance Before Seeking Presidency

LANSING (UPI) — The nation's Republicans will have to tell Michigan Gov. George Romney that they want him to be their candidate in the 1968 presidential campaign. If they do, he will seek the nomination.

Romney, in one of his most forthright statements regarding a possible candidacy, yesterday emphasized, however,

he is not yet a candidate for the GOP nomination.

"I'm exploring," he said. The governor was off today on his second speech out-of-state in two weeks. He was scheduled to address a Republican fund-raising dinner tonight at Williamsburg, Va.

Romney, who has been taking "a long, hard look" at next year's presidential opportunities said, "I've made no bones about what I'm taking a long look at — what I'm going to do."

While sizing up the situation, Romney Associates, a privately financed research office for the governor, will be in New Hampshire where the first presidential primary will be held.

UNDECIDED ON PRIMARY

Romney said he has not decided yet whether to enter the New Hampshire primary or any primaries in other states.

Plans continued, however, for several speaking engagements in New England to help the governor decide whether Republicans want him as their candidate.

"I think in the process of making a decision I'm facing, I'd be foolish not to get a first-hand feel of significant areas," he said.

The governor recently toured Western states and delivered a policy statement on Vietnam last week in Hartford, Conn.

State Officials Eye 'Austerity'; Dems Are Wary

LANSING (AP) — Department heads agreed yesterday they would be hard hit by Gov. George Romney's proposed "austerity budget," and Democrats accused the governor of using it as a threat to secure tax reform.

"It would hit us pretty hard, there's no question about that," said Robert Furlong, executive assistant to State Conservation Director Ralph MacMullan.

"But I assume if that's it we would live with it," he added. "We would really have to study the entire situation and come up with the best plan possible to carry on with our work."

"A scare tactic being used to jam through his Republican tax program," said Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit.

Romney's proposed alternative $968-million budget, for submission to the Legislature if lawmakers fail to adopt a tax reform program for fiscal 1967-68, would trim $165 million or 16 per cent from his original $1.15-billion budget recommendation.

BIGGEST CUTS

Biggest cuts would be in money appropriated for education, mental health, state employment and in the building program for colleges and universities.

In announcing his proposed new figures, Romney emphasized that they show that "we must live within our means."

He denied he was trying to threaten the legislature, where his fiscal reform package is under consideration.

"It's just another example of brinkmanship and holding a gun to the head of the Legislature," said Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit.

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE

Romney expressed confidence that the Legislature would approve a tax reform program by July 1.

A fellow Republican, House Speaker Robert Waldron of Grosse Pointe, said Romney's alternative budget was put out to make "specifically clear — rather than just generally clear — just what kinds of cutbacks would have to be made without new taxes."

House Democratic leader William Ryan of Detroit termed it "ridiculous that these be proposed at this stage of development."

Also, making "selective" rather than across-the-board cuts has resulted in an extra-slap at the people," Ryan said, adding that the Democrats now may have to adopt their own cutback program.

Cutbacks Spell Disaster--Varner

Gov. Romney's proposed "austerity budget" cuts in education "mean disaster," said Oakland University Chancellor Durward B. Varner said yesterday.

OU would lose a total of $3.2 million in capital and operation funds from the governor's initial budget proposal. About $3 million of the total would come out of capital funds.

Varner indicated it is not clear at this time whether the reductions would halt construction on the $5.1-million new engineering building. The facility is scheduled to be completed in the fall of 1969.

But Varner said he was sure Romney's proposal would prevent the start of construction on any new building next year, including a $7-million social science education building.

"It would mean disaster," Varner commented on the proposed $283,361 cut in OU's operation funds. "I don't know what we would do."

EDUCATION SETBACK

The governor's proposed cutback trims $3.8 million in operations and capital funds from $28.4 million earmarked for institutions of higher education.

University of Michigan would be hardest hit, with a reduction of $6.8 million in operations and capital funds. Michigan State University would lose a total of $3.9 million, all in operations.

The state's community colleges would be reduced by a total of $6.8 million in operation and capital funds.

Oakland Community College President Dr. John E. Tirrell remarked that it was "premature" to tell how OCC would be affected.

Tornadoes, Winds Slam Into State

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes and high winds ripped into southern Lower Michigan last night, damaging thousands of dollars in property but causing no injuries.

A twister dipped down at Chelsea in Washtenaw County. It destroyed a garage under construction, blew shingles off roofs, smashed windows and hurled a metal fence 10 yards. Power lines fell under the force of the winds.

"It was the most terrifying thing I ever saw," said Mrs. Billie Miller of Chelsea.

She said she had just opened the door of her house to go to the store when she saw the "black, funnel-shaped cloud" touching the ground just a house away.

Objects were whirling inside the column of the funnel, she said. Mrs. Miller ran inside and slammed the door as the twister uprooted an aluminum fence in her yard and bent a steel fence post.

FUNNEL SIGHTINGS

Funnel cloud sightings were reported at Springville and Onsted in Lenawee County, at Camden and Jonesville in Hillsdale County and at Corunna and Owosso in Shiawassee County.

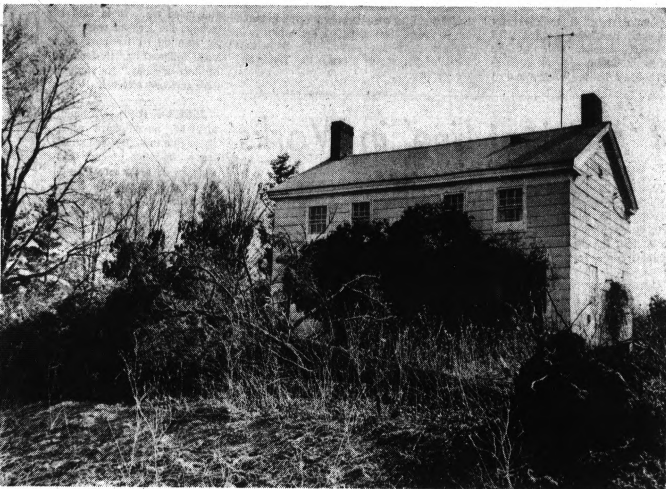

State Police said winds flattened a chicken coop and corn crib on a farm south of Jackson.

Winds caved in the roof of Frankenth Elementary School, causing $50,000 damage.

"Tornadoes seldom are reported over major metropolitan areas," said a Weather Bureau spokesman. "Thank goodness."

He said rising heat from populated areas is a major factor in heading off twisters.

In a freak incident at Chelsea, a curtain was left flapping outside a window after the window glass was pulled out by vacuum from the tornado and then popped back into place intact, said Chelsea Police Chief Earl Willis.

STORM DAMAGE — Heavy winds last night felled a 30-foot tree along with several smaller ones at the home of Ted Warren, 941 Joslyn, Orion Township. Severe weather also downed Edison Co. power lines servicing 800 customers in a 12-square-mile area south of Milford and 40 customers east of Baldwin in Clarkson. Most of the snapped lines, many due to falling trees, have already been fixed, according to a power company spokesman.

Thousands at 2 Antiwar Rallies

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of peace marchers jammed into United Nations Plaza today to hear Dr. Martin Luther King repeatedly call on the United States to "honor its word" and "stop the bombing" of North Vietnam.

"I would like to urge students from colleges all over the nation to use this summer and coming summers educating and organizing communities across the nation against war," the Nobel Peace Prize winner told one of the two mammoth antiwar rallies.

Across the continent in San Francisco, birthplace of the United Nations and site of the second rally, thousands of persons from Pacific Coast states gathered to hear King's wife and Negro Georgia legislator Julian Bond.

King made his remarks in a speech prepared for what could be the nation's largest protest against the Vietnam war.

Up to a half-million persons were predicted.

RIOT EXPECTS

Police called in riot experts to prepare for scheduled mass draft card burnings and speeches.

"Distinguished statesmen the world over believe the end of bombings to be the key to peace," King said. "A large minority of Americans want the bombings terminated."

"I firmly believe that if it were clear to all Americans that this is a practical move to peace, 90 per cent of the nation would enthusiastically endorse it."

King, who 11 days ago called for more conscientious objectors and stepped-up demonstrations against the war, noted that "on Dec. 19 Washington officially asked U.N. Secretary General U Thant to take whatever steps were necessary for a ceasefire."

THANT'S RESPONSE

"U Thant responded 'Stop the bombing,'" King said.

"Why have we not yet done it? Let us demand insistently that our government honor its word. If Washington did not hear U Thant, let us say it loudly and often enough so that the deaf can hear it — stop the bombing!"

He repeated the last phrase again and again.

King repeated his belief that "in all our history there has never been such a monumental dissent during a war by the American people."

"TRAGIC FACT"

"The immorality of this war lies in the tragic fact that no vital American interest is in peril or in jeopardy," he said.

"We are waging war in a contest that is fully capable of resolution by peaceful means."

Use of Volunteers to Help Policemen Is Urged by Judge

The war on crime could be better fought if volunteer citizens were used to aid police, Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore suggested last night.

The proposal was one of several methods of reducing crime that Moore offered in a speech delivered to the first 45 graduates of Oakland Community College's police academy.

The program was held in the Supervisors' Auditorium at the county courthouse.

Noting that most criminal activity first comes to the attention of citizens, and not the police, Moore recommended that volunteers assist police by driving cars through area communities looking for suspicious behavior.

At the first sign of any strange occurrence, they would contact police on car radios and then stand by until authorities arrived on the scene to investigate.

STIFFER REGULATIONS

Moore also suggested stiffer car licensing regulations that would make it more difficult for a criminal.

"The automobile is the chief and usually the only facility by which the felon may reach the site of the crime, carry away its fruits and make his getaway," said Moore.

He proposes a certificate that would show proof of the right of possession and use of a car.

Killing Suspect Is Back in Iosco

An Iosco County youth who walked into the Pontiac State Police Post yesterday and reportedly told officers of killing an East Tawas woman was returned to East Tawas last night after being held at the Oakland County Jail on an open charge of murder.

Jonathan L. Putnam, 20, was accompanied by his wife and mother-in-law when he surrendered himself and allegedly told officers of attacking a woman with knife.

Investigators following his description of the event later found the body of Mrs. Viola Stern, 33, in a ditch eight miles west of U.S. 23 on Town Line Road.

Police said she had been stabbed to death.

She was identified by her husband, William Stern, who had reported her missing shortly after 6:30 a.m.

MOTHER OF 5

The Iosco County sheriff's office said Mrs. Stern, a mother of five children, left her home Thursday night to go to a laundromat.

She was last seen by the owner of the laundromat about 10:05 p.m. when he left the establishment for the night, deputies said.

Police said the laundromat is in a residential neighborhood on U.S. 23 at the edge of town.

Putnam appeared at the State Police post here about 5 a.m. yesterday, according to Detective Robert Neigebauer. He was reportedly talked into surrendering by his wife and mother-in-law.

He is now in custody of State Police at East Tawas.

Adenauer Unchanged

BONN, Germany (AP) — Doctors announced today that ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer passed a quiet and painless night, but that there was still great concern for his life.

The 91-year-old statesman's condition had not changed, physicians said.

Scores of people, mostly newsmen, stood at the gates of his hillside residence through a cold and rainy night.

Prof. Adolph Heymer, head of the Bonn University Hospital, arrived just after 9 a.m. and said to reporters: "I can't tell you anything new."

Torture of Girl Laid to Parents

Child, 11, Found Tied to Bed in Rockwood

DETROIT (UPI) — A suburban Rockwood couple was held in jail today on a charge of child abuse after their oldest daughter, found lashed to a basement bed, described four torture-filled years.

Donald Coffman, 32, and his wife Marilyn, 31, were arraigned on the felony charge yesterday several hours after police, acting on a neighbor's tip, visited the Coffman home and found Debbie, 11, tied to the bed.

"I want this case to be heard fast, real fast," Westwood Municipal Judge Douglas W. Craig told the Coffmans.

Police said the frail dark-haired girl told them she was given only a small bowl of dry, cold cereal to eat at home each day, forced to use the backyard as a lavatory and made to walk nearly three miles to school in the same tattered dress while her five chubby-cheeked, well-dressed brothers and sisters rode a bus.

"Debbie said she spent most of her nonschool hours tied to the bed in the basement," a police spokesman said.

SENT OUTSIDE

Police said that while the Coffmans lavished love and affection on the other children, school authorities complained that Debbie was "always dirty and poorly clad."

Relatives told police they had been concerned about Debbie for a long time but "didn't want to cause trouble in the family."

"From what we have been told, this apparently has been going on for about four years," police said, "but recently it began to get much worse."

IN HOT WATER

One relative told police Debbie once was punished by being forced to sit in a tub of scalding hot water until she fainted.

A plea of innocent was entered for the Coffmans at their arraignment Friday. Judge Craig set an examination for 9 a.m. Monday on the child-torturing charge which carries a possible 10-year prison term.

The Coffmans were remanded to the Wayne County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond while their children were taken to a child care center maintained by the juvenile division of Probate Court.

Antiqued Ivory And Fruitwood Table Centers Dining Room

Family Trades Lake for Pool

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
The Clare Cookes with their six children, ranging from Patty, 19, to Marc, 3, turned their backs on their lovely lakeside home and moved to a hillside colonial—in the Bennington Green Subdivision.
“We’re not the least bit sorry,” said Mrs. Cooke. “But I will have to admit we have a swimming pool in our back yard.”

Opening off the entrance foyer, the formal living room uses ivory walls, olive mist carpeting, olive green draperies and pale olive mist sheers to set the background for the furnishings.

The curved sectional is served by an Italian Provincial coffee table with an antiqued ivory base and a fruitwood top. Lighting the grouping is a spice-finished lamp table with a carrara marble inset.

Adding color emphasis and texture interest are matching button back chairs in a deeper olive mist.

The adjoining dining room continues the color theme with the furnishings following an Italian Provincial vein.

In the distressed mahogany family room at the back of the house, comfort reigns supreme. Switching to an Early American mood, the room is carpeted in a rust tweed.

Brass candlesticks with gold candles and a collection of coffee pots, including brass, copper and ceramic, balance the clipper ship print above the fireplace mantel.

Before the wing back ivory boucle loveseat are twin cigarette tables. Their fruitwood tops are highlighted by black pedestal bases.

The fireside chairs featuring a bird and fruit basket print introduce shades of rust, green and beige on a deep gold background.

In the master bedroom on the first floor, Mrs. Cooke chose an off-white plush carpeting and aqua walls for her main color scheme.

The room’s quilted spread of pale aqua, turquoise, lavender, blue and moss green folds back when not in use onto a fruitwood spread bench found at the foot of the bed.

A pale aqua velvet occasional chair adds to the feeling of luxury in the spacious room.

Carpeted in a sculptured gold, the adjoining den features a distressed mahogany dado and built-ins.
