Twisters, Rain Pound Texas

KENEDY, Tex. (AP) — Tornadoes smashed into two small southern Texas towns early today, leaving 250 homeless and causing heavy property damage, as new torrential downpours hit the water-soaked state.

Three persons were injured when one twister demolished virtually all homes on the east side of Kenedy, Pop. 4,235, at about 12:45 a.m. Another tornado hit Runge, Pop. 1,055, located 11 miles northeast of Kenedy, about the same time.

Seven inches of rain were dumped on the Corpus Christi area when violent thunderstorms raked the southern part of the state early today.

The new outbreak of turbulent weather followed in the wake of two-day rains of more than 18 inches that caused heavy flooding in northeastern Texas.

At least 10 deaths were blamed on the rains and floods in and around Longview.

Kenedy Police Chief Ross Schuster said 225 persons left homeless by the twister were being housed in a Methodist church, an elementary school and a junior high school.

LEFT HOMELESS

The Texas Department of Public Safety said between 25 and 30 persons were left without homes at Runge.

Officers said a number of rural homes around Kenedy and Runge were reported destroyed by the twisters and they feared there might be more injuries.

Rail and highway traffic was disrupted by the torrential rains in northeastern Texas.

Numerous highway bridges were swept away or weakened. Rail traffic on at least one main line was halted when a bridge collapsed, sending a diesel engine into the swirling water.

EVACUATE AREAS

Lowland areas near Longview, Gladewater, Kilgore and Marshall have been evacuated and a major flood warning has been issued for the Sabine and Cypress rivers in northeast Texas.

The Sabine River was expected to rise 10 feet above flood stage today at Gladewater, where 18.19 inches of rainfall fell in a 48-hour period.

Student Strike Enters 4th Day

Other Detroit School Boycotts Threatened

DETROIT (AP) — A student boycott at Northern High School entered a fourth day today as Negro leaders moved to head off a planned boycott of half of Detroit's high schools.

Officials at predominantly Negro Northern said "there seem to be more students in classes today than last week but we won't know for sure until we complete our daily head count sometime this afternoon."

Attendance at the school, which has an enrollment of 2,300, climbed to 964 last Friday —more than double the number of students who went to class during the first two days of the boycott last Wednesday and Thursday.

Only hours after some 75 pupils decided Sunday to foster a boycott of 12 high schools next Wednesday, school board president Remus G. Robinson appealed for a back-to-school movement.

★ ★ ★

The 75 youngsters planned the walkout in sympathy with students who stayed away from classes three days last week at Northern High School. Northern pupils are protesting alleged substandard education at the predominantly Negro school. They vow to stay away until their principal is removed.

★ ★ ★

Robinson, saying "help me get them back in school," pleaded with some 2,500 persons at the 11th annual Fight for Freedom Dinner of the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

TARGET OF THIEVES — An undetermined amount of cash was stolen from this six-foot vault in the New Hudson branch of the State Savings Bank of South Lyon over the weekend. A bank employe discovered that the building had been broken into when he reported for work this morning. (See story, page 2).

Defense Chief Hits Back on Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, today accused a House Armed Services subcommittee of painting a "shockingly distorted picture" of the Pentagon's position on the question of manned bombers.

Flanked by his top officials, McNamara held a midday news conference to answer the subcommittee's weekend claims that he had little support in the Pentagon in his own opposition for swifter development of a new bomber.

The subcommittee yesterday expressed its own "shock" at some McNamara decisions and criticized a planned bomber cutback. The nine-man group is headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

McNamara reasserted his own view that there is "no clear need" for developing a new strategic bomber. But he said his program provided that such a plane could be built in the 1970's "in the unlikely circumstance" that a need did develop.

McNamara said a suggestion by the subcommittee that "major decisions on the manned bomber program were made against the advice of the joint chiefs of staff is without any foundation whatsoever."

The Secretary backed up his belief that the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) is the foundation of U.S. Strategic Forces, asserting that the Russians could erect no antimissile defense which could stop U.S. missiles in a nuclear war.

He was asked about a report that the Russians were planning to deploy an antiballistic missile defense system.

Besides the Hebert subcommittee's criticism of his bomber views, McNamara's position on antimissile systems also came in for weekend attack from Congress.

Chairman John C. Stennis of the Senate preparedness subcommittee contradicted an assertion by the secretary that an antimissile system would be costly and futile. Stennis urged the Senate to tack an extra $167.9 to the $447 million budgeted for development of the Nike-X system for fiscal 1967.

There is "no system on the horizon which could in any way" prevent U. S. missiles from getting through, McNamara declared.

Says Victory Over Poverty, Disease Vital

Talk to AP Newsmen Indicates Long Battle Is Faced by the U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, maintaining the U.S. plans to stay in the Far East, said today peace in Asia depends on victory against "poverty, disease and despair" as well as against "the classic power tactics of communism" in Viet Nam.

"We must not lose the peace in either struggle," the vice president said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Associated Press today.

"That is why we have committed once more—as we have had to do before—men, money, and resources to help the nations of Asia help themselves toward security and independence," Humphrey added.

Cautioning that "it won't be easy, it will be frustrating and at times heartbreaking," Humphrey said:

"We must stay and see it through. And the free nations of the world need to know that we have the vision and the endurance to do so.

★ ★ ★

"Those who threaten their neighbors in Asia should know it too. They should know that we will resist their aggression."

HAVE NO HATE

Humphrey, who returned two months ago from a nine-nation Asian tour, added, "They should also know that we bear no consumptive hate against their people, that we have no design on their sovereignty."

"We only look toward the day when all nations may choose to live in harmony with their neighbors — when they may turn together their energies to building a better life for their peoples," he said.

"For this is after all our second great task before us: the desperate need to narrow the widening gap between the rich and poor nations of the world."

★ ★ ★

Humphrey said that it is not possible to preserve lasting peace if glaring economical and social inequality among the peoples of the world exist.

POSTCOMMENCEMENT DINNER — Chatting with R. Sargent Shriver (right) at a dinner after Oakland University's commencement Saturday night are OU Chancellor Durward B. Varner and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, first lady of the university. Shriver, director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, compared the war on poverty to the war in Viet Nam as he delivered the commencement address at the university. (See related photo on page B-4).

Shriver Compares Viet, Poverty Wars

Project Head Start, VISTA, the Job Corps — these are the "new weapons" of a new type of war, R. Sargent Shriver said at the Oakland University commencement Saturday night.

The director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity compared the fight against poverty to jungle warfare in Viet Nam as he addressed the graduates, faculty members and guests.

Shriver also referred to an antipoverty battle which will be waged on the Oakland University campus this summer.

The university, he said, has been awarded an $81,000 grant for Project Upward Bound which will bring 60 high school students to the OU campus next summer.

The war on poverty, Shriver said, is not just a new name for welfare.

'GREAT VICTORIES'

"We're not handing out anything. We're winning great victories and strengthening democracy," he said.

The "most obvious victory" is that the government is willing to listen to the poor, Shriver said.

He urged everyone in the audience to help in this "compassionate war."

"You can put 10 years in a person's life with one of your own," he told the graduates. "There can be no greater gift."

176 GRADUATES

Receiving diplomas at the end of winter term were 176 graduates.

Magna cum laude graduates were Glen I. King of 647 Benson, who also received departmental honors in physics; Elsa S. Jakob of Richmond; Richard H. Swain of Rochester, N.Y.; and Phyllis J. Vallier of Mount Clemens.

Area residents graduating cum laude included Karin P. Blair of 300 W. Tienken, Avon Township, with departmental honors in modern languages — French; Bruce P. Cameron of 710 Suffield, Birmingham, departmental honors in area studies and German; and John MacLellan of 1920 Hammond Lake, Bloomfield Township, departmental honors in history.

Others from the area graduating cum laude and receiving departmental honors were Penelope B. Smith of 525 Canal, Milford, area studies; Norma H. Steensma of 3096 Lincolnview, Pontiac Township, history; Nancy M. Weidman of 1901 Meadow Ridge, Commerce Township, psychology; and John E. Wieczorek of 125 Nawakwa, Avon Township, political science.

Also graduating cum laude were Betty B. Mulder of 1072 Brooklawn, Troy; John R. Cupal of Flint; Terry D. Monson of Saint Ignace; and Nancy E. Passarelli of Royal Oak.

Recipients of the annual Wilson Awards, initiated last year, were Ann E. Parkinson of Falls Church, Va., and David B. Lewis of Detroit.

Each received medallions and $100 cash awards for "having made outstanding contributions to the life of the university through scholarship, student leadership and the expression of responsibility in the solution of social problems."

Highest university scholastic honors went to Mark R. Allyn, a psychology major from Royal Oak who graduated summa cum laude.

Receiving honorary degrees with Shriver were Roger M. Kyes, General Motors Corp. vice president who lives at 945 Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, and two Harvard University biologists, Matthew S. Meselson and Franklin W. Stahl.

Ferency Raps Naming of Feet

Gov. George Romney's appointment of Dale A. Feet as state insurance commissioner drew criticism today from Zolton A. Ferency, Democratic candidate for governor.

Ferency said Feet's appointment was "a blow to the hopes of millions of Michigan policy holders."

He said Feet would move the commission toward a position of granting insurance premium increases automatically without protecting the pocketbooks of citizens who must pay the higher premiums.

"Our Republican governor has now decided to reward a faithful party worker," Ferency said.

He added that Feet's background as an accountant indicated Romney was more interested in adding up premium increases than trying to keep premium rates down.

Appointment of Feet, of 4260 South Shore, Waterford Township, was announced Saturday.

Mother, 3 Children Slain in Louisiana

GOLDEN MEADOW, La. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies and volunteer searchers stumbled on the semi-nude bodies of three children today partly submerged in mud and water near the spot where their mother's battered body was discovered yesterday.

The three bodies lay 20 feet apart in a triangle in desolate marsh country, 13 miles south of here.

Mrs. Barbara Verrett and her children — a boy and two girls — had been sought since her common-law husband, Bernando Mejia, returned to their home in Berwick, La., a week ago and found the empty house spattered with blood.

Multiple murder charges have been brought against Mejia's nephew, Roy Mejia, 27, who had been living with the family. Roy Mejia was thought to have fled to Mexico.

Mrs. Verrett's bludgeoned body was found half-buried in a water-filled roadbed by two women who had started out on a crabbing expedition.

Robert was clad only in a shirt. His two sisters were wearing blouses.

The children's bodies were approximately 700 feet from the place where their mother's body was found. Her body lay in the sandy bed of a road being built to the Gulf of Mexico from state highway 1.

Finding of the bodies ended a week's search by volunteers, sheriff's deputies and national guardsmen. About 100 persons took part in the search yesterday.

Deputy Coroner Dr. John LeBlanc said Mrs. Verrett's body showed signs of multiple bruises and fractures. She may have been strangled, he said.

Her body was identified by a brother-in-law, Sylvest Verrett of Berwick.

2 Arrested in Break-In at Kettering

Waterford Township police believe they have brought to a halt a recent rash of break-ins at township schools with the arrest of two youths following a burglary at Kettering High School, 2800 Bender, early Saturday morning.

Arrested on breaking and entering charges were Paul D. Brewer, 18, of 2271 Carlos and Rodger D. Vandewater, 17, of 5517 Rowley, both of Waterford Township.

One of the youths reportedly told police he took part in the break-in because he needed $10 to pay off a traffic ticket.

The suspects both waived examination Saturday before Township Justice Patrick K. Daly. They will appear for arraignment in Circuit Court at 9 a.m., May 11.

Brewer and Vandewater are being held in Oakland County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bond each.

PREVIOUS BREAK-INS

According to township police, Brewer admitted being involved in previous break-ins at Crary and Pierce Junior High Schools and at Kettering, in addition to Saturday's burglary.

Vandewater, who when arrested had in his possession a $25 roll of five-cent stamps, denied taking part in the other break-ins.

The pair was arrested outside the building, apparently on the way to their car.

★ ★ ★

BREAK WINDOW

According to police, entry to the building was gained by breaking a window in the library.

★ ★ ★

Police said a desk and filing cabinet in the school's bookstore were rifled and that they found four pairs of socks, $1.86 in change and two walkie-talkie radios in a box inside the school.

Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm and Patrolmen James Webb and Glenn Phelps were instrumental in making the arrests.

Mrs. Kennedy told newsmen in Madrid she had enjoyed the Sevilla Fair and its bullfights very much, "particularly the rejoneadores (horseback bullfighters)."

ADDRESSES OU GRADUATES — R. Sargent Shriver, director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, stood at the podium in Oakland University's Sports and Recreation Building Saturday night to tell OU graduates and guests about the victories won in the war on poverty. He urged each of them to participate in this "compassionate war," which he said is also furthering peaceful racial integration and cooperation beween religions.

left-out of this world," the vice president said:

"Today there are families spending their last day on earth because they haven't the strength or health to keep going.

"But those who remain—and you can be sure of this—those who remain will take to the streets...they will turn to any master...they will tear the fabric of peace to shreds, unless they have some reason to believe there is hope for life and hope for justice."

Humphrey then tied this idea to President Johnson's foreign aid request now before Congress and said, "We hear the same doubts and complaints today that we heard 20 years ago."

OUR INVESTMENT

"If someone has a substitute for foreign aid, I'd like to hear about it," he said. "The investment we make in foreign aid—in preventive medicine, if you will—is certainly less than that necessary to treat the symptoms of massive economic crisis and disorder and, yes, of war."

But Humprey said leadership in the world requires "far more than a large stock of gunboats and a hard fist at the conference table" or the ability to go it alone, "although we must not be afraid to do so when necessary."

"Leadership today requires understanding of the problems we face—of the resources at hand—and of the objectives we seek," Humphrey said.

★ ★ ★

"It requires the ability, perhaps even more, to lead and inspire others—to lead and inspire in a sense of common enterprise.

Dominicans Celebrate

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Lots of noise but no violence opened a week of celebrations Sunday of the anniversary of the Dominican revolution last April.

An estimated 10,000 demonstrators, most of them youths, massed at Independence Park, repeatedly shouted, "Go home, Yankees," and cheered loudly at the end of the three-hour rally when a big U.S. flag was burned.

★ ★ ★

Police armed with carbines and tear gas bombs kept a careful watch. The army was on the alert. The Inter-American Peace Force, consisting mostly of U.S. troops, stayed in the background.

In evidence at the rally, organized by leftist groups, were the green and black banner of the pro-Castro 14th of June Movement and the red and black flags of the country's two Communist parties.

The newspaper El Caribe praised the demonstrators for being peaceful but expressed concern over "Communist infiltration into Dominican life."

The paper added, however, that "many Dominicans may have participated in the demonstrations merely because they shared the feeling for immediate restoration of all aspects of our sovereignty."

If the week's demonstrations come off without any major violence, some observers said, it could mean that citizens of their bitterly divided nation are ready to vote peacefully in the elections scheduled for June 1.

Unconfirmed reports said that conservative presidential candidate Rafael Bonnelly plans to withdraw from the race 10 days before the elections and throw his support to ex-President Joaquin Balaguer.

Balaguer is considered the chief opponent of ex-President Juan Bosch, who commands a large leftist following. The four-month rebellion that began last April 24 was touched off by efforts to reinstate the constitution and Bosch, who was overthrown by the military in 1963.

Bar to View OEO Plan for Free Legal Aid

A plan devised by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) to provide free legal aid to impoverished county residents was expected to come under close scrutiny today by the Oakland Count Bar Association.

The OEO is asking that the bar association endorse the proposal, estimated to cost $451,210 to put into operation, at its meeting at the Pontiac Elks Temple.

It is expected that strong opposition may be voiced toward the plan because a similar service is now being offered to poor families through the Oakland County Legal Aid Society.

The Legal Aid Society operates an office in Pontiac with funds from the United Fund, United Community Services and the bar association. Its 1965 budget totaled $17,660.

The OEO proposes to operate eight legal services offices located throughout the county.

Two central offices will be located in Community Centers now operated by the OEO in Pontiac and Royal Oak Township.

The location of other offices have been tentatively planned for Madison Heights, Ferndale, the Novi-Farmington area, Lake Orion, the Rochester-Troy-Avondale area and the Waterford-Highland area.

Freighter, Tanker Collide in Docking

BEIRA, Mozambique (UPI)—A British freighter collided last night with the oil-laden tanker Ioanna V while trying to dock alongside her in Beira.

★ ★ ★

The British freighter Trenegles damaged the stern of the Ioanna while edging toward the dock to tie up. The collision caused an estimated $14,000 damage to the tanker which has been tied up at the Beira dock with 18,000 tons of oil originally destined for Rhodesia.

Nationalist Sailors Freed by Red China

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Peking announced today the release of 33 crew members of a Nationalist navy ship which it said claimed was sunk in an engagement last Aug. 6.

The broadcast said 11 of the crew who expressed a wish to return to their homes in Formosa have been permitted to do so. All the others will return to their homes, the radio said, presumably meaning their original homes on the mainland before they had moved to Formosa.

No Challenge by Red Planes

Ground Fire Downs Two Yank Fighters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. planes cut deep into North Viet Nam's vital centers, again attacking a bridge on the main rail link to Communist China, but enemy fighters made no new challenge to U.S. air supremacy Sunday.

However, two Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets were shot down by ground fire 30 miles northeast of Hanoi, a U.S. Air Force spokesman reported today.

U.S. planes flew a total of 77 missions Sunday against North Viet Nam, returning to the same areas where they encountered at least 14 Soviet-built MIGs in the first aerial battles with Communist planes in 10 months on Saturday. The Communists lost two MIG17s to U.S. air-to-air missiles. Two faster MIG21s fought the American planes to a standoff.

The continued heavy bombardment of targets around Hanoi eclipsed the action in South Viet Nam, where American planes also aimed some heavy blows at the Communists. Five major U.S. ground operations met little resistance.

300 KILLED

Vietnamese forces reported killing nearly 300 enemy in two big weekend fights. Two Vietnamese regiments killed 245 Viet Cong and captured 20 weapons along a canal in the Mekong River delta 100 miles southwest of Saigon on Saturday. A government battalion left another 50 guerrillas dead in a road-clearing action north of Nha Trang, on the central coast, a spokesman said. Vietnamese casualties were light.

★ ★ ★

The Viet Cong forced government troops to abandon at least one outpost south of Saigon in a series of harassments before dawn today.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government moved a little closer to the national elections it has promised Buddhists in three to five months by announcing it will name a committee of 100 to conduct the vote.

But not everyone was pleased with the prospect of voting under circumstances where the government could not pledge to stop Communist interference.

An estimated 10,000 Roman Catholics demonstrated peacefully Sunday in Saigon, while others marched in nearby Thu Duc and in the northern city of Da Nang in a display of political strength against the Buddhists. The paraders, showing pro-American sympathies, called on the government to put prime emphasis on prosecuting the war.

Mid-April Sales at Pontiac Div. Hit Period Record

Pontiac Motor Division today reported that its sales during the second 10 days in April were the highest for this period in the history of the company.

Mid-April sales were 26,722, surpassing the previous record of 25,415 cars set in the same period a year ago.

"This outstanding performance continues Pontiac's record-breaking pace for the 1966 model year," commented E. R. Pettengill, divisional general sales manager.

"The spring weather in many sections of the country has given a definite impetus to our sales."

Budget Hearing Tonight in Bloomfield Township

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on the proposed 1966-67 budget is scheduled for tonight at 8 p.m. at the township board meeting.

Included in the budget is a 23 per cent increase in spending over last year.

Proposed expenditures in the budget total $878,100; this year's allowance amounted to $714,100. Total income from taxes and other revenue is estimated at $857,450.

The deficit of $20,650 will be collected in miscellaneous funds including excess of tax roll, gasoline refund, sale of equipment, and the use of one-half mill from fire and site fund and road fund.

★ ★ ★

Township Supervisor Homer C. Case recommended the largest increase in the general government spending category.

UP $59,100

Expenditures here are up $59,100 from this year's figure of $219,300, making the total for general government $278,400.

Salaries for the supervisor, treasurer, clerk, assessor, clerical workers, and bookkeeping clerks will net $127,900 of this total.

Insurance, maintenance and equipment and supply costs account for the largest chunks outside of salaries in most departments.

★ ★ ★

FOR SALARIES

The fire department's proposed expenditures amount to $234,200, with $183,500 of this figure going for salaries. This year's budget allowed $194,900 for the department.

The building department is given $83,100 under the proposed budget with $66,000 of this amount for salaries. The allotment during the current fiscal year is $65,100.

Estimated costs for water and sewers are not listed under budget allotment, since they are self-supporting and operated on a revenue basis, not by property taxes.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the library budget also is excluded from the figures, since its funds are budgeted by the library board.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Advance registration for children entering kindergarten this fall will be held during the weeks of May 2 and May 16. The schedule is: Booth, May 19; Conant, May 2; Eastover, May 5; Hickory Grove, May 16; Pine Lake, May 4; Traub, May 3; Vaughan, May 17; and Wing Lake, May 18.

Families with last names beginning with letters A through F should register at 9 a.m.; G through L at 10:30 a.m.; M through R at 1 p.m.; and S through Z at 2:30 p.m. Children must accompany their parents.

Medical examination forms and questionnaires will be given out, and parents are asked to bring their child's birth certificate.

Interviews with the children will be held while the parents are conferring with school personnel.

Early registration will allow for the board of education and its Learning Abilities Laboratory to arrange summer programs in school readiness and speech therapy.

Merged Paper Is Hit by Strike

4 Other NY Dailies Continue to Publish

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike by the Newspaper Guild of New York has shut down the merged World Journal Tribune before the new corporation could start publication which had been scheduled for today.

A voluntary shutdown by four other daily newspapers was averted when their publishers decided to keep printing on a day-to-day basis.

Matt Meyer, president of the new corporation, said shortly before midnight that he could not predict when the merged papers would be published. This was in view of the fact that none of the 10 unions in the newspaper industry has a contract with the World Journal Tribune, Inc.

The AFL-CIO Newspaper Guild set up picket lines Sunday at the plants of the Journal-American, the World-Telegram & Sun and the Herald Tribune — all of which published their last editions as separate entities during the weekend.

The pickets signaled the start of the third major newspaper strike here in less than four years.

HAS SUPPORT

Officials of the Guild, which has the support of the other unions, said the strike was called primarily because of a dispute with the publishers over who should be dismissed in the merger and over layoff provisions. The Guild and the other unions are seeking provisions to cushion the effects of the merger on the 2,000 of the 5,700 union employes of the three papers who will lose their jobs. The Guild is to lose 904 of its 1,800 jobs.

Essentially, the Guild said the new corporation insisted on selecting its new staff without regard for seniority. The Guild wants layoffs made on a seniority basis along with severance pay for anyone who retires on a voluntary basis and extra severance pay for those dismissed.

Thieves Rob Bank's Branch

The New Hudson branch office of the State Savings Bank of South Lyon was broken into sometime this weekend by thieves who jimmied open a safe and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

Mrs. Ervin Meadows, branch manager, said the break-in occurred some time between the bank's closing time noon Saturday and 9 a.m. today, when she arrived to open the office.

Entry to the year-old branch bank at 56461 Grand River was gained by smashing open the wooden front door of the building.

The building was not equipped with an alarm system, investigators said.

Agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and detectives from the State Police Brighton post responded to the call after the break-in was discovered by a bank employe.

Inside the building, a six-foot high double door vault had been cracked open.

Texas Hit by Tornadoes, Rain

tween Gladewater and Longview, washed away Sunday and rails from tracks atop the dam knocked off the control valves of an oil well.

★ ★ ★

High water forced the closing of four major highways and numerous farm-to-market roads in Gregg, Upshur, Harrison, Wood, Rusk and Marion counties.

Many streets in Longview were impassable and water stood three feet deep in some areas. Over 7 inches of rainfall was recorded between midnight Saturday and noon Sunday.

An estimated $25,000 damage was caused Saturday night when a tornado whipped through the edge of Winnsboro, northwest of Longview.

★ ★ ★

The twister damaged the city auditorium and 40 new automobiles on a dealer's lot. A roof crushed two cars, but no injuries were reported.

A wide area of San Antonio was blacked out Sunday night when heavy rains and a thunderstorm swept across the city.

★ ★ ★

Lightning struck a power line, causing a brief fire.

Power company officials said the blackout was short and was restricted mainly to the northeast section of the city.

★ ★ ★

Four persons drowned nine miles east of Tyler Sunday when their car was swept off a farm road and carried about 600 feet down a flood-swollen creek.

Soviets Begin Rocket Tests

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today fired the first of a series of space rockets into the Pacific Ocean in tests designed to take Russians closer to a manned landing on the moon.

But an announcement by the official Tass news agency said the target areas were two 40-mile-diameter circles instead of ones 12 miles across, as first announced. The different diameters appeared due to a misprint rather than a change of plans.

The agency warned foreign ships and airplanes to keep out of the target areas from noon to midnight during the tests which end July 31.

It was the fourth Pacific Ocean testing series in the last six months.

One target was sited west of Midway Island, the other northeast of Wake Island. Both islands are American-owned, but the target areas were well outside territorial limits.

★ ★ ★

When announcing the three-month tests April 23, Tass said only that "new systems for space objects are being developed."

The Soviet Union has, in the past, used parts of the deserted Pacific Ocean for rocket tests. But little information is disclosed about them.

However, the Russians are known to be carrying out experiments to develop powerful new rocket boosters essential to its moon program.

Fight Due on Rural Poverty Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen carries an anti-inflation banner into a Senate battle today in an effort to limit the scope of a bill to combat rural poverty.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen's announcement in an interview that he plans to oppose what he called an "open-end" authorization for rural community development programs surprised GOP colleagues who had voted for the measure when it was approved unanimously by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

★ ★ ★

Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., had predicted speedy approval of the measure. It is designed to carry out President Johnson's proposal to help farmers and small town residents obtain some of the advantages now limited to cities and their suburbs.

★ ★ ★

But Dirksen said he wants the cost of this program spelled out before the Senate votes on it.

INFLATION PERIOD?

"This is an example of how Congress can open the door to unlimited government spending," he said. "We are in a period of inflation and we must face up to that fact squarely.

"This is an entirely new venture. What is it going to cost in future expenditures at a time when we should be cutting down on domestic programs to help pay for the cost of the Viet Nam war?"

★ ★ ★

Dirksen said he was informed that the measure originally proposed an outlay of $285 million. But he said it had been amended to authorize the "appropriation of such sums as may be necessary" to carry out its provisions.

The legislation would make federal funds available for development planning in rural and farm areas.

MANY PROJECTS

Projects under the measure would include water and sewage systems, health service, educational and teaching facilities, recreational and cultural installations, manpower surveys and training, development of resources and other projects.

Water buffalo are used extensively as draft animals by the Vietnamese, especially in the rice paddies.

Taxi Rate Increase Is Requested in Troy

TROY — The City Commission tonight will be asked to consider an increase in taxicab rates within the city.

The request is from Manuel D. Cruce, owner of the T and C Cab Co.

He said he is requesting the increase to maintain a position similar to that of surrounding communities.

He points out that "labor is quite competitive" and that the raise is "imperative to attract good employes and to succeed with a good taxicab business."

★ ★ ★

He is requesting a new rate of 50 cents for the first quarter mile, 10 cents for each additional quarter mile and $4 per hour for waiting time.

The present rate, as established in 1957, is 40 cents for the first one-fifth of a mile, 5 cents for each additional one-fifth of a mile and $2 per hour for waiting time.

The commission has also received a request from Biltmore Development Co. to make Coolidge a concrete boulevard from Wattles to Big Beaver.

Plans are now being studied by the engineering department.

Battle of the Bugs

State's Farmers Ready for Annual War

LANSING (AP) — Ahhhh, Spring.

The beetles think so, too. It's that time of year when they pop up again, and Michigan State University begins issuing its "Weekly Insect Report."

For example: "Cereal Leaf Beetle (Oulema Melanopa) — First seasonal activity by overwintering adults was noted during the third week of March near Niles, Berrien County, when temperatures rose into the 50s on several days."

★ ★ ★

Then you might watch for Corn Leaf Aphid, Armyworm, Four-Lined Plant Bug, Spotted Alfalfa Aphid, European Corn Borer, Northern Corn Rootworm, Pea Aphid and Alfalfa Weevil.

Especially Alfalfa Weevil. But the experts hope you won't see any of those pests.

SPREADING NORTH

The weevils are spreading northward, and only a tier of northern Ohio counties separate them from Michigan now, the MSU report said.

"The alfalfa weevil is one of the most damaging insect pests ever to attack a forage crop," the report adds.

★ ★ ★

It predicts that if Fulton and Williams counties in Ohio and Monroe and Lenawee counties in Michigan become infested in 1966-67, "which now appears likely, then southeastern Michigan farmers may expect to start spraying alfalfa in 1969-70."

The Cereal Leaf Beetle battle is being fought mainly in laboratories at Michigan State University. But some attacks in the fields are being launched this week.

PLANES TO SPRAY

Airplanes were scheduled to spray approximately 720,000 acres in southwest Michigan with pesticide in an effort to keep the beetles from spreading.

The spray program, however, is not expected to exterminate the pests entirely.

★ ★ ★

The other approaches include parasites to attack them, sterilization, traps and resistant grains.

In another effort to contain the beetles, agricultural authorities have imposed a grain quarantine on all of Lower Michigan south of a line running through Oceana, Lake, Osceola, Clare, Gladwin and Arenac counties.

HUNT EXTERMINATOR

The long-range aim is to find a beetle - exterminator before they can spread to the vast grain fields of the Great Plains.

MSU scientists reported last week they have found that "bristly" wheat varieties repel the beetles—but they also are low-yield and low-quality varieties.

To cross-breed them and develop commercially acceptable resistant varieties probably will take around eight years, said MSU's Dr. Everett Everson, "but I know we can do it."

Meanwhile, scientists are looking for compounds that would attract the beetles into a trap or at least into one small area where they could be attacked with spray.

They also are checking possibilities of using parasites, including a tiny wasp newly imported from Europe.

Another plot would be the use of chemicals or some form of radiation to sterilize adult beetles, and prevent them from having baby beetles.

City's System of Election Gives Good Representation

When the current City elections ended, a few people criticized the method.

Our procedure is normal.

It's quite standard.

★ ★ ★

Each district names two candidates of its own. No other area has any voice in these. Then the City as a whole votes on the entire ticket and elects one from each district. You can't vote for two candidates from a single location and each district is guaranteed one of its own men. City-wide representation is assured.

★ ★ ★

The Nation elects one President. The State elects one governor. No one ever carries every precinct in any big election. JOHNSON lost thousands of precincts — but he's everyone's President. Governor ROMNEY lost hundreds of precincts and districts. But he's everyone's Governor.

★ ★ ★

The current system is employed in Detroit and cities everywhere. In an area as small as a single city, all commissioners must necessarily work for the community as a whole. They can't confine their interests to a few square blocks.

★ ★ ★

This would be unfair to the City as a unit. We used that method once — and found it out. What we do now is quite customary—the accepted American procedure.

Citizens' Recommendations . . . .

Recently a young man who burned his draft card was given a two year suspended sentence. The Inquiring Reporter of The New York News asked six citizens at large whether they approved.

Just one did.

The other five did not.

Opinions of the protesters showed:

One favored immediate induction into the Army.

Another recommended two years in jail at hard labor.

A third favored five years in jail plus a $10,000 fine (the maximum sentence). And a sixth year in jail if the culprit didn't pay the fine.

The last two favored straight five years in jail.

★ ★ ★

If some of our pantywaist judges across the county could hear the ideas expressed by the man in the street of judicial "foregivness," it might stiffen their backbones. The idea that "Willie is a good boy" doesn't register as hard with them as it seems to with many of these jurists.

★ ★ ★

How about the victims?

How about society in general?

Don't they deserve the most consideration and the maximum attention?

President's Booming Budget . . .

If you want to go to bed unhappy and appalled, cogitate briefly on these statistics:

The current Presidential budget of $112 billion is more than ALL THE BUDGETS ADDED TOGETHER FROM 1789 THROUGH 1933. That's sufficient to shake the very foundations of this great country. The first 144 years of our existence, the Federal budget totaled $111 billion.

Further, in 1967, you'll be paying $12.8 billion in interest. That's more than the ENTIRE budget of any single year through 1941, except for one war year.

And if this provides a sleepless night, don't buzz me.

Call the White House.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Here's a little poem that contains every letter in the alphabet except one. Can you spot it?

David Lawrence Says:

'Racial Balance' Plagues Schools

WASHINGTON — Has the Department of Justice begun to blink at the racial discrimination being practiced against many white parents? Their children are being forced out of neighborhood schools unlawfully and are being transported elsewhere where the avowed object of achieving "racial balance."

LAWRENCE

Orders have been issued by many local boards of education in various Northern states requiring bus transportation of pupils from one school district to another.

★ ★ ★

This is specifically forbidden by the Civil Rights Act of 1964, but no action has been taken by the federal government, through the courts or otherwise, to enforce the law, which explicitly prohibits the use of any such device to correct "racial imbalance."

FEDERAL FUNDS

Nor has any effort been made here to withhold federal funds from states which are violating "racial imbalance" prohibitions.

The civil rights statute provides for the handling of complaints and the institution of legal proceedings by the federal government so as to "materially further the orderly achievement of desegregation in public education."

While the law requires the assignment of students to schools or within schools "without regard to their race, color, religion, or national origin," one provision specifically says that "'desegregation' shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools to overcome racial imbalance."

★ ★ ★

The civil rights statute recognizes the possibility that there might be efforts to correct "racial imbalance" by busing pupils from one district to another and flatly taboos such action.

FORCIBLE BUSING

Within the last week, the New York State Legislature—discouraged by lack of federal action — endeavored to enact a state law to prohibit forcible busing of pupils from one school district to another.

Although a bill to this effect was passed in the state Senate by 41 to 19, it has been revealed that further action will be blocked in the lower house.

Meanwhile, the board of education at Hartford, Conn., has announced a busing plan. It involves the transportation of 300 Negroes and Puerto Ricans to suburban schools. It was discussed at a public meeting and was the subject of protests from residents of the invaded areas.

Many of the teachers apparently prefer to be in schools in certain areas and, unless they can choose their place of employment, they may give up teaching. It begins to look as if the quality of the teachers available will have an important effect on the kind of education the public schools will be giving hereafter.

★ ★ ★

The basic cause of the crisis in the public schools is the increase in congestion in certain sections of large cities and the movement of white families to the suburbs — a right that has not yet been interfered with by governmental authorities.

Bob Considine Says:

One-Act Russian Play Entitled 'The Mediator'

NEW YORK — The scene is the office of Prof. Sergei Shukarev, academician in charge of a vast manned spacecraft center deep in the Soviet Union. The time is the present.

CONSIDINE

A broad-beamed girl secretary raps and enters.

Secretary: I bear bad news, Comrade Academician.

Shukarev (glancing nervously at portraits of Brezhnev and Kosygin on his walls): Don't tell me Khrushchev is back. Why did I burn his picture?

Secretary: Worse news than that.

Shukarev: Don't tell me our German technicians have escaped.

Secretary: Worser news, Comrade. Some electrical workers have gone on strike in Minsk and Pinsk and the electrical workers here at Cape Lenin have declared a sympathetic strike. Launching of our next space shot, the one that will carry a family of six into polar orbit, will thus be delayed.

★ ★ ★

Shukarev: What's a strike?

Secretary: It's a situation whereby workers refuse to work because of some grievance.

Shukarev (wheezing with relief and mopping his brow): Thank God—even though He is dead. I thought it was something serious. Have them all shot and get some new ones — Russia's decision to let the West show it how to build cars for the Soviet masses is certain to interest Detroit — as soon as Detroit shakes off its bad case of Naderitis.

Fiat and Renault are prepared to expand the Russian car market as far as the Kremlin will permit. Can the British, Americans, Swedish and West Germans be far behind?

The easing of the car-ownership problem in Russia represents an interesting change in policy.

★ ★ ★

In 1957 Khrushchev snorted impatiently when a member of the Hearst task force commented favorably on the looks of a new Soviet car, the Volga, which had just been released in limited numbers.

★ ★ ★

"We are not interested in automobile production," he snapped. "It has no important role in our economy."

Voice of the People:

Readers' Views Continue on Viet Nam Involvement

In response to the editorial on Viet Nam, war has never been the answer and only brings its own woes to add to the orginal ones. Let us face the truth that our war efforts are doing no good in Viet Nam—that our presence there only prevents the possibility of the people settling their problems as they must ultimately do in their own way.

★ ★ ★

The beginning of our great mistake in Viet Nam was in sending the first military adviser there years ago. They never did need our advice as to how to wage war. Now we are showing the world what poor losers we are and frantically trying to find other countries willing to get into the stew with us.

★ ★ ★

How can we be proud of our country so long as our leaders cannot face the truth and are pushing us into the false economy of war with it's disruptive effect? What a frightening waste of our resources, men and means. How proud we could be to admit our mistake and do the only honorable thing—"back our boys in Viet Nam"—right back home.

VICTORIA M. CANFIELD
WATERFORD

Monday's editorial presented an objective view. My opinion: go home! In switching to and implementing the disavowed Nixon-Goldwater S. E. Asian policy, President Johnson deceived—by perhaps misreading—the popular will for peace.

★ ★ ★

Congress, too, is blameworthy for resposing such unrestricted power in one human being; which it would seem made him victim of his own vanity or megalomania. A true Democrat heeding Washington's advice to stay clear of entangling alliances would not have risen to the bait.

★ ★ ★

"Losing face" is not germane to the issue — only Imperialists could be chagrined. We went there to aid with advice. Remember?

It was ironic that a letter demanding "use the bomb" and voluntarily begin World War III should conclude with "Let's end it." What kind of madness is it when we are led to believe that the only life worth saving is an American life and that it is perfectly just to wipe Red China off the face of the earth before it becomes a threat? This is the kind of insanity that will lead mankind to its own death.

Disagrees With Method of City Elections

I am writing concerning the outcome of Monday's election. Why should the people of District 1 put up with someone they don't want? I am a resident of District 1 and a high school senior, yet I know about the things Mr. Fowler has done. The commissioner serves his district, not the entire city. You want someone in office who will do as you say do. You wanted one for whom the other six commissioners merely pull the strings and he dangles like a puppet. You have a Negro in office but he is a mere follower. Mr. Tucker was the man for the job. His district voted him in, but the City voted him out.

You palefaces pay each Pontiac fireman more than Indians paid my great-great-great-grandfather, Chief Pontiac, to boss Six Nations. Wilson's Big Chance

Life Magazine

Buoyed up by a comfortable majority of 97 seats in Parliament, Harold Wilson now appears almost certain to be Britain's prime minister for at least the next four years. The size of the Labor party victory is mainly a tribute to the impressive personal qualities he has revealed during the last 17 months.

★ ★ ★

While it meant keeping a tight rein on his left-wingers, Wilson has faithfully supported U.S. policy in Viet Nam and maintained a British military presence east of Suez. As "a pragmatist, not a theologian," he minimized the influence of antediluvian Laborite socialists. Within weeks of taking office he cooly saw Britain through a major pound sterling crisis. With a majority that narrowed at one time to a single vote, he devised a policy meant to break the nerve of a rebellious Rhodesia. It hasn't worked yet, but the Tories haven't come up with a demonstrably better one.

Wilson will need all his prestige and professionalism. Britain's economy is still a grim mess and getting no better: in 1965, productivity crawled upward only 1 per cent. In the same period average wages rose 9 per cent. Government policies designed to lever the economy off dead center have so far been hesitant, misplaced and ineffectual. Industries become less and less competitive in overseas markets.

None of the options now open to Wilson is very appealing. But some decisively deflationary steps must be taken, preferably in conjunction with incentives for industrial investment and boosting exports. Simply restricting imports is no way to force British industry to be competitive.

Of course no government policy can take the place of a wholly fresh attitude on the part of both management and labor. Full employment has made it even easier for unions to snuggle down in featherbedding and work rules.

★ ★ ★

While Wilson's plans for correcting abuses of union power are vague, he is preparing to deal management a blow by renationalizing the steel industry. Many non-Laborites were led to vote for him in the first place because of the belief that he, better than the Tories, was in a position to crack down on restrictive labor practices.

★ ★ ★

The other great challenge is Europe. President de Gaulle now hints that he will no longer oppose British entry into the Common Market. Whether or not he means to offer new obstructions, it is in Britian's interest to declare its willingness to join.

Wilson may find this awkward; Europe and the Common Market was a plank in the Tory platform during the campaign. Competition is the key to Britain's long-delayed economic renaissance, and Europe is the first place to seek it.

'Cancer Virus Isolation Near'

Institute Head Says Death Rate at High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of the National Cancer Institute says that the identification of virus as a cause of cancer "may be within reach."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott made the statement in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee which was made public today. He also told the panel that deaths from cancer are at a higher rate than ever.

Endicott said that during the past year it has been "firmly established" that leukemia in cats is a virus disease. He said that particles similar to the virus in cats have been found in human beings.

In addition, laboratory cultures of human cancer cells have turned up an unidentified particle resembling a known virus.

★ ★ ★

"It is only a matter of time, I believe, until viruses join the list of causes of cancer in man," Endicott said.

★ ★ ★

The doctor said that in three decades the cancer cure rate has risen from 25 to 35 per cent. But the incidence of cancer has increased even more, from 112 to 153 per 100,000.

"New cancer causes must be at work," he said.

Residence of the governor of Hawaii is known as the "Washington Palace."

House Still Airing Budget

Deadline Is Delayed as Committee Drags

LANSING (AP) — The House begins its one-week reprieve tonight for study of half the state budget—a $540.9 million package of bills loaded with school aid.

The Senate, however, which completed its initial budget work within the originally allocated time, will work a relatively relaxed three days, then take a five-day spring break.

★ ★ ★

The House is considering budget bills reported late Friday by its Ways and Means Committee. Combined with $467 million in spending which already has passed the Senate, they could boost Michigan to its first billion-dollar general fund budget.

Budget proposals currently are running about $64 million above Gov. George Romney's proposed $944.9 million spending plan.

SCHOOL AID

School aid increases are using up about $36 million of this difference. But if the bill passes the House in its present form, the Senate has indicated it will trim the appropriation.

The House was supposed to finish its initial budget work by last Friday midnight, but had to grant itself a one-week delay when ways and means committee work dragged.

Even to get bills from the committee by midnight required a 10-minute "adjustment" of House clocks.

In agreeing to House delay, the Senate gave itself three extra days to consider money measures that were not included in the main budget.

SENATE RECESS

The Senate will recess after Wednesday's work until 8 p.m. May 3.

Next week, each chamber will begin consideration of bills approved by the other. Final adjournment still is set for June 10, four days before the final date for filing for election.

Russell: Survey Viet Opinions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell called today for a thorough survey of public opinion in South Viet Nam cities and said if it shows the majority of them are anti-American "I think we should withdraw now."

"We can't possibly win if we are fighting an enemy in front of us while the people we are supposed to be helping are against us and want us out of their country," said the Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee.

★ ★ ★

Russell, in an interview in U.S. News & World Report, said U.S. forces could be withdrawn from Viet Nam "without great loss" because of U.S. command of the seas and the air.

★ ★ ★

Russell also said a majority of the American public disagrees with the administration's handling of the war. He said most of the people he has met feel that, "if we have the means to get this war over, then we should bring it to a conclusion as speedily as we can."

NO HANOI ATTACK

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said Sunday the United States is not going to attack the North Viet Nam capital of Hanoi.

Vance noted on a television-radio program that United States and North Vietnamese fighter planes had clashed near Hanoi.

★ ★ ★

But, he added, "we have been attacking targets in the Hanoi area for a considerable period of time. It certainly does not mean that we are going in to attack Hanoi." He said the closest clash to the North Vietnamese capital was 35 miles from Hanoi.

★ ★ ★

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford continued his criticism of the administration's handling of the Viet Nam war. In his weekly report to his Michigan constituents, he charged the administration with mismanagement of the areas of strategy and diplomacy in the war.

Are Cherubs Neuter Sex?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Regardless of how an artist may portray cherubs, they are neither male nor female. Sex exists only on earth due to God's commandment to "multiply and fill the earth." (Genesis 1:28). However, the angels (or cherubs) were created by God thru Michael the Archangel.

ABBY

Since the angels were direct creations, and there was no need for them to reproduce, there was also no need for them to be one sex or the other.

A MINISTER'S WIFE

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You ask, "Are there little girl cherubs, or are cherubs only boys?" I am pleased to solve this mystery for you. In the National Museum in Stockholm, there hangs a famous masterpiece titled "Sacrifice TO Venus," painted by Rubens in 1628.

It clearly shows little boy cherubs embracing little girl cherubs unless, that is, someone has defaced the canvas.

"OBSERVING"

DEAR ABBY: Some years ago while working in a small Presbyterian church, I directed a Christmas pageant. My girlfriend was performing the same task for the Baptist church.

She had given the role of the angel Gabriel to a man, I gave that part to a woman. Afterward we debated about who was right. I asked our minister and he replied, "Angels have no sex." Since cherubs are angels, that should answer your question.

M. D. G.

DEAR ABBY: You are not likely to find any girl cherubs (or cherubim) since the Hebrew word "cherub" is a noun of masculine gender. According to the Hebrew grammar, a girl cherub would not be a cherub at all, but a "cherubah."

And the plural of "cherubah" is "cheruboth" — not "cherubim,"—which is the plural of "cherub."

RABBI LEONARD M. KAPLAN
MASON CITY, IA.

DEAR ABBY: The art teacher who said all cherubs were male was absolutely correct. A cherub, which is a class of angel, is of the male gender in both the Old and New Testament. All angels are "hes" — NEVER "shes." Check your Bible.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The old-fashioned spring tonics such as sulphur and molasses and sassafras tea have been replaced by newer and more scientific ideas. Modern woman's spring makeover consists of losing any extra pounds she may have accumulated during the winter months of less activity and more festivity. She diets and exercises and drinks more fruit and vegetable juices to cleanse her system.

There is no doubt that we are more self-conscious about overweight in warmer weather because the clothes we wear then are more revealing than winter garments.

This is the seventh day of my 9-Day Reducing Diet. I am sure that all of you who have been following the diet are now feeling pretty proud of yourselves. Your belts are much easier and any bulges or rolls are gradually disappearing. Don't weaken at the last minute.

* * *

You don't lose weight every day. The scales may show no loss for several days and then, all of a sudden, you may find that you are two or three pounds slimmer. This may happen to you on the ninth day. Nine-Day Diet has given those of you who have more weight to lose a flying start. At the end of this diet count your calories and hold them to 1,200 a day if you are still overweight.

BREAKFAST

One egg, poached or boiled
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
Black coffee
One glass skimmed milk

LUNCHEON

One portion salmon
Celery sticks
One-half cup steamed carrots
One-half grapefruit

DINNER

Minute or club steak (small)
One-half cup string beans
One-half cup squash
One glass skimmed milk
Orange slices

If you missed part of this diet or would like to have the complete diet in booklet form, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Knickers Back on the Scene

The knickers men wore in the 1930's are back on the scene. The publication Gentlemen's Quarterly says they're being seen frequently on golf courses and ski slopes and now are headed for suburban wear.

The new knickers are slimmed down versions of the old plus-fours, and come in cotton blends, corduroy, wool knit, and even silver gray leather.

Planning an August wedding are Earlene Imelda Weakland, daughter of the John M. Weaklands of Elsie Drive and Roger Harry Lucas, son of the Bernard G. Webbers of Sugden Lake Road, White Lake Township.

To remove ballpoint pen ink from washable fabrics, place a blotter under the fabric.

France Hopes to Keep U.S. Friendship

War Coverage Labeled Costly

AP's Annual Report Notes Staff Buildup

NEW YORK (AP) —The Associated Press Board of Directors said in its annual report today that the cost of covering the war in Viet Nam has been heavy, both in casualties and financial expenses.

★ ★ ★

"During the year, two Associated Press men were killed," the board said. "Four others have been wounded in Viet Nam. Due to escalation of the war, it was necessary to more than double the size of the stafff there." The report, read at the annual AP meeting, said:

★ ★ ★

"The year was marked, too, by an increasing flood of news from Washington and greatly expanded government actions in all news fields.

★ ★ ★

"The quick shifts in news emphasis and the need for experin writing for an increasingly sophisticated public, call for new methods of handling news. The Associated Press now has special task forces available for major news developments."

FILL VACANCIES

The AP meeting, in addition to hearing the report, voted to fill seven vacancies on the 18-member board of directors and acted on the applications of 29 associate newspaper members to become regular members of the AP.

Other highlights of the meeting were personal reports in depth from Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

★ ★ ★

The directors, commenting on the new task forces, added:

"One is a staff of experienced space and science writers assigned to the major space flights—there are more of these every year.

RACIAL SCENE

"A second task force, formed this past year, consists of specialists in covering racial developments. These staff men, normally working in various bureaus around the country, converge on any area where their experience will be helpful.

★ ★ ★

"A third mobile emergency force is ready for assignment to enterprise projects connected with the spot news report."

★ ★ ★

The directors said the progress of AP operations generally has been reflected by the greatest gains in newspaper membership since World War II. Twenty-eight daily newspapers in the United States came into Associated Press membership in 1965, and 19 more have applied for membership so far in 1966. There currently are 1,226 daily newspaper members in the United States.

Minister Raps Military Arm

Says It Fails With 'Essential' N-Defense

PARIS (AP) — Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville says France is quitting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military command because it is out of date, but it doesn't want its friendship with the United States to diminish.

"In the nuclear era, this organization does not deal with the essential element of defense which is nuclear defense," Couve de Murville said. "France does not seek a special advantage. She is adopting herself to a new situation and this can only have advantages for the equilibrium and peace in Europe."

President Charles de Gaulle's government contends that NATO's nuclear arsenal is almost entirely owned and controlled by the United States and that NATO has no effective hand in it.

Replying in writing to questions submitted by The Associated Press, the foreign minister said France values American friendship highly. He denied that his government plans a nonaggression pact with the Soviet Union and reiterated that the French would like to "contribute to a peaceful settlement" in Viet Nam.

ACTING NORMALLY

Couve de Murville said that in withdrawing from the military structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, "we are acting normally, as any government, in the interests of our country, and we believe besides that what we are doing is in no manner contrary to the well understood interests of our allies."

He stressed that France intends to remain part of the North Atlantic Treaty signed in 1949. He pointed out that the military organization was developed after the treaty was signed and "is in no way a condition of it." The United States feels, however, that the military organization is an essential part of the alliance.

Couve de Murville declared that France had no intention of offending the United States by its stand on NATO or conversion of its excess balance of payments into gold.

"American friendship is an ancient precious value to which we are all attached in France and which we do not wish to see disappear or even diminish," he said.

He noted that the conversion of dollar holdings into gold was provided for by the Bretton Woods agreements and said the United States had always done this in the same circumstances.

France notified its NATO allies last month that U.S. and Canadian forces on its soil must leave within a year and that NATO headquarters in France must withdraw by the same time. The United States wants to extend the time limit for at least another year.

New Insignia of A-Agency Softens 'Big Bomb' Image

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon atomic arms agency wants to soften its "big bomb" image.

So it is about to adopt a new insignia.

Gone will be the mushroom cloud — dread symbol of atomic destruction — that now dominates the insignia of the Defense Atomic Support Agency.

Some 4,000 military men assigned to the agency now wear a shoulder patch which also shows a white cloud mushrooming up from a patch of green which represents the earth.

This patch, too, will be replaced by a tamer new design.

But the agency's mission won't change.

The agency still will be responsible for conducting underground nuclear weapons tests, preparing for atmospheric tests in event of a breach of the limited test-ban treaty, studying atomic weapons effects, and advising the Defense Department and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Instead of the dominant mushroom cloud, the new emblem and patch will feature three golden arrows pointing upward, set in a shield of blue.

What does this mean?

3 ARMED SERVICES

"It represents the three armed services united in a common purpose," an official explained.

The military artists who designed the new emblem decided to surround the shield with with a circle of chain links.

This, it developed upon investigation, is meant to represent the chain reaction in the atomic process.

On close inspection, an observer noted tiny white shapes clustered around the shield and arrows. The shapes looked like toadstools.

"Yes, those are mushroom clouds," acknowledged the official.

But, he pointed out, "they're so small you can hardly tell that's what they are."

Hunt Youth Believed Shot in Holdup Try

DETROIT (UPI) — Police today were searching for a youth who they believe was shot by a Detroit cabdriver during an attempted holdup.

The car driver, Norman Stanley, 23, fired six shots at four youths Thursday when they slugged him with a pair of pliers and fled with $25 after he drove them across town.

Stanley, an ex-convict, was arrested during the weekend by police for carrying a concealed weapon without a permit while on probation.

He was, however, released when the prosecutor's office refused the warrant.

★ ★ ★

The young cabbie, who served six months in the Detroit House of Correction six years ago, said he will carry a gun regardless of the rules of his probation because driving a cab at night is dangerous.

CRIMINAL RECORD

Because of his criminal record, he said, he was unable to get any other job or to enlist in the service.

★ ★ ★

One of the youths Stanley shot at, Larry Sutton, 17, was arrested and told police another of the youths involved in the holdup was injured.

Early today bandits struck again. Another Detroit cabdriver, Clyde Fotion, 37, was found shot to death in his taxi on the city's East Side.

New Blast at Sukarno Unrivaled

JAKARTA (UPI) — The official news agency Antara today published an unprecedented burst of criticism against President Sukarno by several "action groups" charging him with assuming unconstitutional powers and squandering public funds.

The agency carried statements by leaders of students, teachers, religious and peasant organizations questioning Sukarno's power to rule by decree, his lifetime appointment as president and his objections to Indonesian membership in the United Nations.

It marked the first time that such criticism against Sukarno, a revolutionary hero who has ruled Indonesia virtually unfettered since it achieved independence from the Dutch, has been made so openly.

Observers saw it as an indication of the rising sentiment against him and of the power of Lt. Gen. Suharto, the defense minister who is emerging as the nation's new strongman.

The group blamed Sukarno for causing the nation's financial chaos by foolishly spending state money "on the construction of eye-catching prestige projects like monuments, statues and towers, which have no effect whatsoever on nation and character building," Antra said.

Meantime, popular sentiment against Communist China, formerly Sukarno's strongest ally, increased.

Icebreaker Finishes Duty Tour in Antarctica

BOSTON (AP) — The Navy Icebreaker Atka is back in port after six months of maintaining an open channel for cargo ships which supply the U.S. scientific outpost in McMurdo, Antarctica.

The 226 officers and men of the Atka were in tactical command of ship and shore operations in the Ross Sea during their tour.

Pontiac District Effort Slated

School Program to Be Viewed

Pontiac school officials today announced launching of a district-wide effort to acquaint parents with the city's activities under the federal Elementary and Secondary (E&S) Education Act of 1965.

★ ★ ★

Assistant Supt. William J. Lacy said present plans call for a series of parent meetings to be held in conjunction with Parent-Teacher Association units and school principals.

These meetings, to be concluded next week, would then be followed by a "summit meeting" of PTA officers, principals and parents May 10 at the school board office, 450 E. Wide Track.

The federal act is a five-part program aimed primarily at economically and educationally "disadvantaged" youth.

★ ★ ★

To qualify for aid, a school district must submit highly detailed, specific proposals which are then studied by federal administrators before approval.

LANGUAGE SKILLS

Much of Pontiac's participation in the project to date has been in the area of developing language skills, in remedial reading and in use of audio-visual aids.

"We're not only trying to inform parents of what we're doing with federal programs," Lacy explained, "but we'd also like to get some of their comments and suggestions on what they're shown at the schools."

The school district is presently in the third month of implementing a $426,000 E&S grant for the 1965-66 year.

★ ★ ★

It must submit a final proposal for the 1966-67 school year to the State Board of Education this summer.

At the summit meeting in May, according to Lacy, an attempt will be made to determine "priority" ideas for inclusion in the district's final proposal.

The parent conferences leading to the May meeting and formulation of the proposal will fall under the general direction of Victor M. Lindquist, director of secondary education; Gerald White, director of elementary education; and Bert C. VanKoughnett, administrator of the E&S program in elementary schools.

Officials, while emphasizing that responsibility for project decisions remains with the administration, expressed a "willingness to be convinced" by parents who have worthwhile suggestions to make on the E&S program.

★ ★ ★

"Thrust areas" for spending in this year's project were outlined last fall by a committee of representatives from various civic and social agencies in the school district.

NEW PROGRAM

Lindquist indicated the new program involving parents with school board planning is partly a search by administrators for a "definite basis for objectives" in making fund proposals.

★ ★ ★

"I think in many cases," he said, "people can recognize short-comings in their children's education based on their own experience.

"In these meetings we'd like to get close to parents, try to assess their thinking and be influenced by it."

County to Act on Tax Figure

$2.68 Billion Is Set by Equalization Unit

Members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors tomorrow will be asked to approve the 1966 county equalized valuation figure of $2.68 billion established by the board's equalization committee.

The new valuation figure is 10 per cent higher than the county's 1965 equalized valuation of $2.44 billion.

Both the growth of the county and the economic upsurge are reflected in the increase, according to Herman W. Stephens, director of the county's equalization department.

If supervisors concur in the valuation figures, they will be referred to the State Tax Commission for review and then to the State Board of Equalization for approval.

★ ★ ★

In other business tomorrow, the board will be asked to approve final plans for the $971,000 South Oakland Health Center and will hear a progress report on plans for the proposed east wing addition to the courthouse.

LEASE RENEWAL

The board also will consider renewal of the lease on the county-owned Allen Airport with Wilfred E. McGran for five years.

In other business, the board will consider a recommendation from the county retirement commission that the county pay the cost of Medicare for eligible county employes and retirees.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board, will make appointments to fill vacancies on various committees of the board of supervisors.

British Red Paper Now 'Morning Star'

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Worker, organ of the British Communist party, came out today with a new format and a new title — Morning Star.

The changes are part of a campaign to increase party membership, now 33,275 in a nation of 50 million.

The revamped paper will have six pages daily instead of four.

AT DEMOCRATS' PARTY — Guests of honor at a $50-a-couple fund-raising party Saturday night were Rep. Billie S. Farnum (left), D-19th District, and R. More than 250 persons attended the event at the Pine Knob Inn in Independence Township to raise funds for Farnum and to meet Shriver, who earlier had addressed Oakland University graduates.

Flesh-Eating Chemical Leads to Quiet Heroism

By TOM TIEDE

DA NANG, Viet Nam (NEA) — Bill Costello and the rest of Foxtrot Company were moving across a rice paddy when the Viet Cong opened fire.

Every man lunged instantly for cover.

Every man but one.

He stood up and screeched with pain. His legs were on fire.

★ ★ ★

The Marine had been hit in the side with a sniper shot which, at the instant of penetration, dislodged and discharged a grenade hooked onto the man's pistol belt.

PHOSPHORUS

The grenade was filled with white phosphorus, a waxen substance which, when ignited, burns with a ferocity that is nearly impossible to extinguish.

Small particles lodged in flesh can eat huge holes through thick legs. Water doesn't help. Nothing does.

"Oh, no, I'm burning!" the man screamed.

★ ★ ★

He turned around a couple of times and then began running down the hill toward the company mass.

GNAWS LIMBS

When he moved, the phosphorus drained down his legs and began to hiss and spurt and pop as the chemical reaction gnawed at his limbs.

"Somebody shoot me!" he yelled uncontrollably.

"Help him quick," men shouted.

★ ★ ★

"Please shoot me, shoot me!"

"Somebody put it out."

"Oh, God, look at him."

GRABS BUDDY

At that moment, Costello, 19, a lance corporal from La Puente, Calif., grabbed his buddy and knocked him to the ground.

Frantically, he began to beat at the man's legs, tear off his clothing, and roll him around in the sand.

The violent action succeeded in chipping most of the phosphorus out of the victim's flesh which, by now, was blackened and smoldering with deeply etched burns.

★ ★ ★

"He's still hot," Costello shouted.

"Can you put it out?"

"I don't know."

"Where's the corpsman?"

MEDIC HIT

Costello glanced about for the medic. But a short distance away a sergeant lifted up the limp arm of a man sprawled in front of him . . . then dramatically let it fall to the ground.

"The medic can't help," he said.

"Why not?" Costello asked. 'Because he's dead."

★ ★ ★

At that Costello reached for his canteen and poured the contents in the sand.

WATER, DIRT

He kneaded water and dirt together and began to slap the wet results on the twitching legs of his still-smoking companion.

Then other members of the company began throwing their canteens into the activity.

With the additions, the corporal mixed a large bog of mud and continued to pack and repack his patient.

★ ★ ★

It was wretched work. With each handful of ooze, the casualty would twist in torture, and the movement would knock the compress off, split open more skin, or irritate the bullet wound which bled and festered in the dirt.

LOB GRENADES

Meanwhile, the war closed in. The enemy had moved close enough to lob grenades. One fragment ripped a hole in Costello's shirt . . . hundreds of others whistled overhead.

And each time an explosion trembled the ground, so did it also shake the two young Marines laying thereon.

They remained thus exposed for nearly four hours.

★ ★ ★

Then, just before dark, other help arrived.

The burn victim, nearly incoherent but very much alive, was placed on a litter and evacuated.

Costello, bone weary by now, struggled to his feet and, for a moment, watched the war blaze and flame and flash around him.

Then he shuffled off toward the battle.

Today's Collegians Deeply Committed

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG Jr.
Executive Director,
National Urban League

A recent survey has confirmed what many of us have known for a long time — that today's college students are more committed to the civil rights cause than to any other issue.

YOUNG

The survey was conducted by the Educational Testing Service, which queried college deans in 850 colleges and universities on student activism.

Thirty-eight per cent of the deans said that local civil rights issues had led to campus demonstrations at their schools. In the larger colleges — those with 1,000 or more students — 56 per cent had such demonstrations.

It is significant that no other issue caused as much concern among students.

This is nothing new to those of us in the civil rights movement. We have known all along that the goldfish - eaters of past generations and the "silent generation" of the 1950s have given way to a new kind of youth — deeply concerned with the great moral questions of the day and deeply committed to right past wrongs.

The response to the Peace Corps, to Vista, to all the other projects demanding sacrifice and discipline, is indicative of this.

For most of America, the first awareness of the civil rights movement came in the early '60s when young college students began sit-ins at segregated lunch counters and took part in "freedom rides" into the South.

* * *

Today, it is these concerned young people who do the hard, difficult work in voter registration projects in Alabama, take part in the retraining programs in Mississippi, and work with young children in our northern slums.

FAMILIAR TO US

So the dedication and commitment of the young are familiar to us because of the work, they have done, even if it still puzzles their parents.

There is a great gulf between the generations. Often, after giving a talk to business groups, some businessmen will come up to talk to me about their children.

They are disturbed and concerned that they cannot seem to communicate with these kids, that they have grown apart, that the youngsters just don't respect them, and that there is very little communication any more.

They are disturbed by this because they feel that their years of work have been spent to accumulate that wealth which will give their children more luxurious lives.

ROLL UP SLEEVES

Yet their children turn their backs on it and prefer to roll up their sleeves and take part in the hard, difficult social problems facing the nation.

The glory of this is that the young have adopted the right values and are living by them. Their lives, because of this, are truly moral and diverse, and interesting; after all they are helping to change the world.

The tragedy in all this is that the pain of separation between the generations is so senseless.

If parents acted the way they spoke, this gap would not exist. If they weren't so conformist, they would regain the respect of their children and could once again look themselves in the eye.

1965 Income Per Capita Is a State High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's per capita income rose to a record $3,009 in 1965, the Commerce Department reports

★ ★ ★

The state's nine per cent boost in per capita income from $2,764 in 1964 outstripped the six per cent rise reported for the nation as a whole.

★ ★ ★

Per capita income is figured by dividing total income by the population.

The government figured Michigan's per capita income at 110 per cent of the national average of $2,724.

BORDER STATES

Michigan's bordering states of Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin also reported record per capita incomes, although not as high as Michigan's.

Ohio rose seven per cent from $2,641 in 1964 to $2,816 last year, or 103 per cent of the national average.

★ ★ ★

Indiana went up nine per cent from $2,588 to $2,827, or 104 per cent.

Wisconsin rose seven per cent from $2,507 to $2,682, or 98 per cent.

Cavanagh Hit for Viet Stand

MIDLAND (AP) — Deane Baker, a candidate for Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate, said Sunday "an incredible viewpoint was voiced by Detroit's Mayor Jerome Cavanagh in a recent statement on Viet Nam."

★ ★

Baker said Cavanagh "seems to recommend that the United States abandon Southeast Asia, asks neutralization of Viet Nam, recognition of Communist China and its admission into the United Nations and seating on the Security Council."

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh seeks the Democratic nomination to the Senate. The mayor was in Rome Sunday to press Detroit's bid for the 1972 Olympics and unavailable for comment.

"It is unbelievable to me that a serious candidate for the U.S. Senate would propose a policy for the United States of retreat and abandonment," Baker, a Grand Rapids businessman, told the Republican Breakfast Club.

RAMIFICATIONS

Baker said ramifications of such policies would include abandonment of attempts to prevent a takeover of Asian countries by the Communist Chinese, retreat to an isolationist position for America in an age when isolationism is impossible, and could mean eventual destruction of the United Nations as a major peace-keeping force.

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — Investigators continued to comb a muddy hillside area today for clues to a plane crash that claimed 82 lives.

★ ★ ★ ★

An American Flyers charter plane carrying 98 persons plunged to earth here Friday night, killing the 6 civilian crewmen and 74 of the 92 young Army recruits on board. Two other soldiers died later in hospitals.

★ ★ ★

Investigators hope the 16 remaining survivors will provide information on the crash if the plane, piloted by a man who had logged 5,000 hours in the air.

The plane, investigators said, had failed to make a landing on the airport's east-west runway and was banking into a left turn for another landing when it struck the ground, bursting into flames.

★ ★ ★

Driving rain forced an early halt Saturday to the search of the wreckage spread over a quarter-mile of hillside four miles from the end of the runway.

★ ★ ★

It was the first crash of an American Flyers airplane since the company was founded in 1939.

In three states, New Jersey, North Dakota, and South Dakota, suicide attempts are punishable by law.

NOSE COUNT—Under the eye of an Air Force instructor acting as a prison guard, trainees from the Air Force 4th Mobile Communications Group line up for a head count at the mock prison compound in Fort Stewart, Ga. Prisoners must keep alert for any opportunity to escape and then use survival training in swamps surrounding the compound.

'Prison' in Georgia a Lesson to Airmen

HINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — An officer stood in a prison compound and surveyed the thatched huts about him. He was a veteran of Viet Nam. To him, this was very real.

It was meant to be realistic. This is the Combat and Survival School of the Air Force 4th Mobile Communications Group. The Air Force believes that if an airman is captured in time of war, he ought to know how to escape.

And if he escapes, he should have every chance of surviving the rigors of the jungles of Viet Nam.

Lessons of escape and survival begin in the classrooms at Hunter Air Force Base at Savannah and shift to classrooms at Ft. Stewart. But the real tests come in the prison compound and the surrounding swamps and piney woods of coastal Georgia.

PRISON GUARDS

The classroom instructors become prison guards. The students become prisoners of war.

Frequently, an instructor purposely will make a miscount of prisoners assigned to a work detail. This is a key situation for a prisoner who wants to escape. If he doesn't take advantage of it, he gets a mark against him.

Another instructor acting as a sentinel will lower his guard deliberately, giving a prisoner the opportunity to overpower him and escape. If the prisoner doesn't seize the opportunity, he gets a mark against him.

The course lasts 19 days. More than 600 men have passed through the camp since March 1965.

MANDATORY

The training is mandatory for members of the communications group, because they may be called on to establish communication units for ground forces in Viet Nam.

There was a day when the Army and the Marines provided protection to Air Force communications men. But under new Air Force concepts, this now is up to the communications men.

* * *

For the first four days, when the airmen attend classes at Hunter, they learn about weapons and study theory of survival. They study maps, learn to use the compass, and study the theory of guerrilla warfare.

Bombed India Train Hunted for Bodies

CALCUTTA, India (UPI) — Police probed the twisted wreckage of a passenger train today in search for more victims of the time-bomb explosion that killed 39 persons and injured 100 others at a station in the troubled northeastern Indian state of Assam.

* * *

An explosion last Saturday night pitched the whole Diphu Station area into darkness, scattering mutilated bodies about.

* * *

It was the second case of sabotage of Indian trains since Wednesday. The two bombs, believed planted by rebellious Naga tribesmen, have claimed a total of 94 lives with more than 200 others injured.

HAIR CURLERS? — What appears to be hair curlers on the heads of statues are insulating posts holding an antistarling wiring system on marble figures on the upper cornices of the District Building in Washington. A small amount of electrical current runs through the wires to keep the birds away. The statues represent (from left) Statesmanship, Painting and Sculpture.

Indian to Head Indian Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert LaFollette Bennett is an Indian who firmly believes Indians should be doing more to shape their own destiny.

He says he'll work toward that goal—and the lessening of government supervision that it would bring—after he takes over this week as head of the federal government's Bureau of Indian Affairs.

* * *

When he is sworn in Wednesday as Indian commissioner, he will become the first Indian in nearly a century—and only the second in history—to hold that position. He succeeds Philleo Nash, who resigned.

The commissioner-designate, born on the Oneida Indian reservation in Wisconsin, started his government career on the Ute Indian reservation in Utah 33 years ago after graduating from an Indian boarding school in Kansas.

STEADY CLIMB

His steady climb up through the bureau was climaxed last month when President Johnson nominated him for the agency's top job.

Of the nation's 550,000 Indians, some 380,000 still live on reservations, many in squalor and abject poverty, and Bennett plans to ask the Indians what can be done to improve their lot.

* * *

He disclosed in an interview that he will hold a series of meetings with Indians this summer. The sessions probably will be held, he said, in the Southwest, Northwest and northern Plains—where most reservations are located.

"We need their contributions...I expect them to make more of their own decisions," Bennett said. "Where we feel we need legislation to give the tribes more authority, we will go to Congress and ask for that legislation."

What about moving the Indians off the reservations?

"We will have to consider each reservation as a separate problem...If a reservation has large enough resources to support the people I don't think it is necessary that everybody has to move away. I think it could be a matter of choice."

Birth-Curb Pill Studies Cited

Cancer Cause Fears 'Appear Groundless'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fears that long-term use of the controversial oral birth control pills put out by several firms might cause cancer or other adverse side effects appear groundless so far, the original developer of the pills said today.

Indeed, declared Dr. Gregory Pincus of Worcester, Mass., an evaluation of new and past studies of the use of the oral contraceptives — being taken by more than five million women in the United States alone — indicates:

1. Aside from apparently producing no major adverse effects on the reproductive and other endocrine-gland-regulated systems of the female body, the pills have achieved "apparent correction of certain abnormality states" in the womb, cervix (entrance to the womb) and breasts of some women.

2. There's justification to explore the possibility that long-term use of the pills may have the added beneficial effect of helping protect women from developing atherosclerosis — the form of hardening of the arteries under suspicion by many doctors as being a possible contributor to heart attacks.

VIEWS OFFERED

Dr. Pincus, a cofounder of the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology, gave his views in a "progress report" on investigations into long-term use of "The Pill," prepared for the spring meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

Drinking to Be Legal on Stanford U. Campus

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — If they are 21 or more, Stanford University students will be allowed to drink alcoholic beverages in campus residences starting May 10.

President Wallace Sterling, announcing that policy Sunday, said that no alcoholic beverages will be sold on the campus, however.

Romney Main Topic at GOP Fund Affair

LANSING (AP)—A birthday tribute to Gen. Lucius Clay over the past weekend turned into a political assessment of George Romney for 1968.

The Midwestern Republican Chairmen's Association held its annual two-day meeting in Lansing—coinciding with a fund-raising 69th birthday dinner for Clay, GOP national finance chairman.

★ ★ ★

Romney and his chances in the 1968 presidential race, however, were chief topics of conversation—at least outside the closed sessions of Republican chairmen from nine midwestern states.

An informal poll of six chairmen showed that former Vice President Richard Nixon still leads the popularity race among Midwest party members, but that Romney is second and gaining.

KANSAS ENTHUSIASM

In Kansas, for example, several Romney speeches have generated "surprising enthusiasm," said State Chairman Oliver Hughes. In Missouri, Romney leads in Kansas City and St. Louis, as a result of several personal appearances, said Chairman Ethan Campbell.

Wisconsin Chairman Ody Fish and Minnesota Chief George Thiss were reluctant to talk of 1968—determined to concentrate on this year's races—but made it clear that the two most frequently mentioned potential candidates are Nixon and Romney.

★ ★ ★

Nixon leads in Iowa, said Chairman Robert Ray, who also is chairman of the association, but Romney has made an impression. But in North Dakota only party leaders know the Michigan governor, said Chairman Thomas Secrest.

Chairmen said apparent failure of the administration to bring the War in Viet Nam to any sort of conclusion in the foreseeable future and mounting inflation would be election issues.

HEARD SPEECHES

Some 5,000 party faithful paid $25 to $100 each to attend Clay birthday dinners in eight Michigan cities and hear, via a telephone hookup, speeches from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, from his retreat in Indio, Calif., his son, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower in Lansing, Clay and Romney.

The Eisenhowers limited their speeches primarily to statements of tribute to the retired Army general, his role in the Berlin airlift and in the party. Clay, in turn, paid tribute to Romney and predicted that he would win a third term in November—"and take (congressman) Bob Griffin with him."

★ ★ ★

Griffin is a Republican candidate for U. S. Senate.

Romney informally endorsed Griffin—despite the party's official neutrality in a primary race between the congressman and Grand Rapids businessman Deane Baker.

The Republic of Viet Nam is shaped on the map somewhat like California, although only half as large.

Poor Plans Blamed in Fatal Air Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inadequate flight preparation was the probable cause of the crash of a light plane between South Bend, Ind., and Benton Harbor, Mich., last Nov. 7 in which the pilot was killed, the Civil Aeronautics Board reported today.

★ ★ ★

Pilot John C. Kelley, 23, of Winchester, Ind., lost his life and two passengers, Shawn M. Spillane of Toledo, Ohio, and Larry L. Wortinger of Goshen, Ind., were injured.

★ ★ ★

The CAB said the pilot failed to get a weather briefing before leaving Benton Harbor on a return flight to South Bend and the plane was caught in a fog.

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results—here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids—without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

"YOUR HEALTH"

"NERVES"

It's just my nerves. I've always been this way." So many patients offer this complaint to their doctors, and receive sedation and tranquilizers. Many resort to alcohol just to "relax." Take these right now to reach up and feel the muscles of your neck and shoulders. Chances are they are tight and painful to the touch. Remember, nerves go to every organ, muscle and gland in the body. Pressure on these nerves can cause a malfunction or short circuit to these parts. Chiropractic treatments can, in many cases, remove this pressure, relax the muscles, and place you back on the road to good health. Find out now if you are a Chiropractic case.

Three R's Still Key Facets in Education

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED.D.

A child who fails to master any one of the 3 R's may do badly in all subjects as a result.

It is often just one area that needs bolstering. An example of the problems faced by pupils and parents in this respect follows:

DR. NASON

A reader reports that her 10-year-old has never shown any great interest in learning. His only interests are playing, sports, hunting; in short, having fun.

His parents were divorced just as he was starting school which may have had some effect on his getting off to a poor start. I. Q. tests show him to be above average in intelligence.

★ ★ ★

At the beginning of the fifth grade, his mother remarried and she reports that home life is now congenial and happy for all involved, including the boy.

LESS INTEREST

However, even with a happier home life, he shows still less interest in learning.

The school psychologist suggested the mother leave his study habits up to him. She did this for one semester, showing interest in his work but not pushing him. His interest lessened rather than increased.

The real key to this boy's inadequate performance is found in the following quote from his mother's letter:

"He makes passing grades, but it is not because of what he puts on his papers. I have never seen a paper on any subject that he did everything correctly, even if it were only to copy something.

'GOOD SPELLER'

"He spells simply terribly on paper. Aloud he is a good speller. He knows his multiplication tables perfectly.

"This should be his easiest subject, yet he just passes it. His handwriting is not even legible most of the time."

It should be evident from the above that the boy failed to master the middle "R"; that is, handwriting!

★ ★ ★

Without handwriting skill, it is impossible for him to spell as he writes or to keep his mind on the arithmetic problem he is attempting to solve on paper — even though he has mastered these operations as separate skills.

CONCENTRATE

No amount of urging that he concentrate on his work and pay attention to his spelling will be of avail until he learns to write.

Rather than dwell upon his emotional upset at the beginning of his school life or upon the school's failure to insist that he practice handwriting, he should be given sufficient exercises in writing to remedy the situation once and for all.

This boy should be shown how to improve his handwriting, and home and school should cooperate in seeing that he works at it diligently.

Man Held in Killing of Wife's Suitor

PORT HURON (UPI) — Police today were holding Anthony Alger Menkel, 24, for investigation of murder in the shooting death early yesterday of Richard Leo DeLorme, 22, Algonac, at Marine City.

Officers said DeLorme had just driven Menkel's estranged wife, Hanna, 22, to her parent's home at Marine City when the shooting occurred.

★ ★ ★

DeLorme was shot in the head as he sat with Mrs. Menkel in a car parked in front of the home.

Cooking in steam that is trapped and held in a covered cantainer or foiled wrapping is called braising.

Tree ferns, which are most common in damp mountainous regions of the topics, may grow to a height of 40 feet.

Japanese Seek to Avert Strike of Public Services

TOKYO (AP) — Government ministers conferred with union leaders today in an 11th-hour attempt to avert a nationwide railway, postal and telecommunications strike to last 3½ to 24 hours Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Strike orders went out at noon to nine labor unions of three public corporations and five government enterprises.

The unions want pay hikes ranging from $8.33 to $23.60 a month. Management has countered with offers ranging from $5.83 to $7.22.

★ ★ ★

Tokyo's 11 million people will find the going even tougher than persons in other cities. Drivers of 83 taxicab companies announced they would strike in sympathy.

One-Fourth of Mankind

(7) "First Universal Emperor"

by Don Oakley and John Lane

He has regulated and made equal the laws . . . he has quelled the battles . . . the blackhaired people enjoy calm and repose . . . the Sovereign Emperor has pacified in turn the four ends of the earth.

—Inscribed of Shih Huang-ti

After centuries of increasingly bloody wars among the Chinese states, one power arose to fight the world's first "war to end war."

By 221 B.C., the state of Ch'in had conquered all the others. For the first time, all Chinese were united in one nation. It was from the Ch'in dynasty that the West was to derive the name China.

Proclaiming himself Shih Huang-ti — "First Universal Emperor" — the king of Ch'in set about to consolidate his empire.

Weights and measures and writing were standardized. Fuedalism was forever crushed and 120,000 noble families were forcibly removed to the capital.

Spurred by his grand councilor Li Ssu, a practitioner of the Legalist school, Shih Huang-ti ruthlessly suppressed all opposition, both political and philosophical, and even attempted to wipe out all previous history.

GENERATIONS

"This is the time of 10,000 generations," said Li Ssu. And later, in a "memorial" to the throne:

"Your servant proposes that all books of history, save those of the Ch'in be burned; that all libraries of poetry, history and philosophy . . . be destroyed; that all people who raise their voice against the present government in the name of antiquity be beheaded together with their families . . ."

Li Ssu's advice was accepted by the emperor.

Then ensued the infamous burning of the books, for which generations of scholars cursed the name of Li Ssu.

★ ★ ★

The holocaust was not absolute, however. "Useful" books on agriculture, medicine, etc., were exempted and copies of the classics were preserved in the imperial archives.

SCHOLARS KILLED

Scholars who refused to surrender their libraries or their beliefs were brutally dealt With.

No less than 460 of them were buried alive at one time.

★ ★

Others met a different fate. Along with tens of thousands of political prisoners, criminals and conscripted peasants, they were sent to a slower death in laboring on Shih Huang-ti's greatest Monument — the Great Wall.

Human Body May Produce Some Alcohol

By Science Service

ATLANTIC CITY — Dogs make methyl alcohol in their bodies and humans probably do too. Scientists have suspected for some time that people naturally produce alcohol, but what kind and how much have never been clear.

Now a team of scientists from South Carolina has provided the answers where dogs are concerned.

They believe the results can be applied to humans, perhaps with significant implications for alcoholism research.

Plans are under way to study several hundred alcholics under stringent clinical conditions, reported Drs. Richard H. Gadsden and F. W. Kinard, professors of chemistry and physiology at the Medical College of South Carolina, Charleston.

Methyl alcohol is a toxin that damages tissues and causes blindness. Unscrupulous moonshiners sometimes add the poison to give "more kick for the dollar."

Dr. Gadsden told the scientists that he believed methanol is the only alcohol that people produce.

It may be that alcoholics naturally produce more than other people. If this is the case, they could have a basic physiological need for drink.

O'Brien Appointed to State Dem Unit

State Sen. Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, has been appointed to the Democratic State Central Platform and Resolutions subcommittee on conservation and recreation.

Others serving on the subcommittee are Prof. Louis F. Twardzik of Michigan State University; Gus Scholle, president of the AFL-CIO; Rep. Joseph Snyder, chairman of House Committee on Conservation and Recreation; and Olga Madar, head of the recreation department of the UAW.

O'Brien, chairman of the Senate Committee on Conservation and Recreation, and other members of the subcommittee will draw and adopt the Democratic party platform as it concerns conservation and recreation and the war against pollution.

Torture Test for Clothing

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian Defense Chemical, Biological and Radiation Laboratories at Shirley's Bay, Ontario, has built a clothing obstacle course.

Twelve Canadian army volunteers crawl for 25 minutes along the 400-yard course over logs and stones embedded in concrete, gravel and sand beds, creep through cement culverts, climb trees and crawl through barbed wire to determine how certain types of combat clothing stands up.

The Defense Department calls the tests the "accelerated wearing trials."

Asuka is a Japanese cultural period (about 538-645 A. D.) during which time Buddhism was introduced.

W. Germany Sends Medicine to S. Viet

BONN, Germany (AP) — A chartered plane left today with eight tons of medicine for South Viet Nam. It was the first installment of a gift of medicine from the West German government.

The gift will total $4.37 million in value. The bulk of it will go by sea in mid-May.

By JACOBY & SON

Sherlock Holmes was making one of his rare appearances at the card table. He sat West with Dr. Watson right behind him to watch the great detective at work.

JACOBY

Holmes opened the jack of hearts against the diamond slam. South finessed dummy's queen and ruffed a spade to get to his hand. He played several rounds of trumps before leading a club.

Holmes took his ace and led the king of hearts to knock out the ace. The two heart leads had destroyed South's re-entry to dummy and he had to go down one.

"Marvelous, marvelous!" gasped Watson. The second marvelous showed double awe for the master's genius.

"Elementary, my dear Watson," said Holmes. "It was a simple matter for me to deduce that South wasn't bidding six diamonds without some expectation of making it. That meant he would be void of spades."

"In any event I did not risk much by my heart lead. I felt sure that I could get in with the ace of clubs and would still have time to lead a spade if necessary."

"Doesn't Scotland Yard get any credit for my five-spade bid that pushed them to the slam?" asked Inspector Lestrade who sat East.

"A great deal of credit," replied Holmes. "As a matter of fact, when I passed to five diamonds I had an entirely different defense worked out.

"My plan was to open the ace of clubs and lead a spade to you whereupon you could lead back a club for me to ruff."

Then, your five spades and South's six-diamond bid caused me to believe that South was void of spades and to deduce that a heart lead was the winning defense against six."

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
			1♣
Pass	1♦	Pass	2♠
Pass	3♣	Pass	3♠
Pass	4♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠KQJ76 ♥AK 6 3 ♦AQ1095
What do you do?

A—Bid four no-trump. You should be willing to play six if your partner shows one ace.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one diamond, your partner raises your one club opening bid to two clubs. What do you do now?

Petition Drive Eyed on Lawmakers' Pay

BERKLEY (UPI) — Mayor George W. Kuhn said here yesterday he intends to poll members of the Vigilance Tax Committee of Michigan this week to sound out feelings on a petition drive to force a public vote on constitutional amendment to return the power of legislative pay raises to the people.

"It is extremely regretful that some of our lawmakers have placed the greed of money ahead of dedication to public service," he said.

★ ★ ★

He said that if the poll of the 75 members of the committee shows "solid support" for the idea, a meeting will be held to set up "the machinery to carry out the program."

Leaping Teen Wins His Bet, but Dad's Mad

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Tom Daubney, 15, won his bet Saturday by plunging more than 80 feet from the Ford bridge into the Mississippi River.

The boy's father, former St. Paul Mayor John Daubney, called the jump "an act of sheer stupidity," adding: "This may look good to his friends, but he's no hero in this house."

★ ★ ★

Young Daubney won nearly $150 raised by about a dozen classmates for the test.

Tom showed no immediate ill effects from his dive, but later complained of a headache and spent the night in a hospital.

Williams Asks More Registrars for Dixie Voting

DETROIT (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, campaigning for Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, told a meeting of union workers Sunday he has asked for more federal registrars "in areas where Negroes are systematically denied their right to vote."

Williams told the meeting of Ford Local 600 of the United Auto Workers he asked Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to supplement the present staff of 40 registrars in an effort to counter "the consistent efforts by segregationists in the South to prevent Negroes from voting."

Detroit Jewel Theft

DETROIT (AP)—Police sought clues Sunday in the theft of $14,000 worth of diamond and pearl jewelry from the home of Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman. The Kaufmans reported the theft from a cabinet Saturday night. There were no signs of a break-in, police said.

Jailed Briton Fears Switch to Siberia

MOSCOW (UPI) — British college teacher Gerald Brooke began his second year of imprisonment today fearful of being transferred to a Siberian labor camp on a trip he has said "could drive one to suicide."

The 27-year-old teacher, sentenced to five years last July for allegedly distributing anti-Soviet propaganda, was due to leave soon from jail in Vladimir, about 100 miles northeast of here, for the Mordovskaya labor camp, about 300 miles southeast of Moscow.

"He is afraid of the two-day train journey with the likelihood of getting mixed up with criminals," his wife Barbara told newsmen after her latest visit to Brooke.

She said the recent death of American Newcomb Mott, during a similar jail transfer, "has preyed pretty much on his mind."

"He understands such a trip could drive one to suicide," she said.

★ ★ ★

Mott, a 27-year-old Sheffield, Mass., book salesman, allegedly slashed his throat in a fit of despair aboard a prison train taking him to a labor camp east of Moscow Jan. 20.

★ ★ ★

The United States demanded and received a Soviet investigation into the circumstances surrounding Mott's death.

But so far it has neither accepted nor rejected the Soviet suicide claim.

E. Germans Shoot Man at the Border

BERLIN (AP) — East German border guards shot a man early today just as he reached the third and last Communist barbed wire entanglement along the West Berlin border, police reported.

The police said the border guards fired 40 to 50 shots at the man, who was attempting to flee into the southeastern section of West Berlin. He was either seriously wounded or killed and lay where he fell for 40 minutes before an East German army ambulance took him away, police said.

Near-Severed Arm Rejoined

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An operation that started seven hours after an Owensboro, Ky., boy had his arm almost severed in an accident is expected to restore full use of the limb.

John Robert Thomas, 5, crashed into a glass door at his home late Saturday afternoon.

The blood vessels and most of the nerves and muscles of the boy's left arm were cut, the surgeon who performed the operation said yesterday.

After a three-hour operation at an Owensboro hospital, the boy was brought the 118 miles to Louisville in an ambulance with his arm packed in ice.

★ ★ ★

A second operation began at midnight and lasted four hours.

The surgeon said John's arm will be in a cast about a month and that the arm should be normal in a year.

Varied Docket for Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missiles, rural poverty, job rights for minorities, protection for cats and dogs and another round in the battle of the budget give Congress a diversified program this week.

★ ★ ★

The House floor action starts Tuesday with consideration of a $6.9-billion appropriation bill for the Department of Agriculture for the 1967 fiscal year. What little controversy is expected will center on the addition of about $128 million in funds President Johnson didn't request.

★ ★ ★

Most of the extra money would be used to keep the school lunch program and the special milk program for children operating at 1966 levels despite the President's proposal to trim them down. The appropriations committee balked overwhelmingly following the President's recommendations.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the House will consider the job rights and animal protection measures.

ENFORCEMENT

The former would strengthen enforcement powers of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission created by the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The animal bill is designed to protect cats and dogs from being stolen for sale to purchasers who in turn sell them for research purposes. It would make it a federal offense to transport or handle the animals in interstate commerce.

★ ★ ★

The Senate concentrates today on a bill aimed at fighting rural poverty. The measure would make federal funds available for development planning in farm and rural areas.

Thursday the Senate begins debate on a $17-billion military procurement bill. Included in the total is $167 million to push development of an antimissile missile designed to knock enemy missiles out of the sky before they could reach their target.

MAJOR BILLS

Major bills will hold the attention of committees in both branches.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will continue hearings on foreign aid programs, with Secretary of State Dean Rusk scheduled to make another of his almost weekly visits to the Capitol Tuesday.

The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee continues consideration of a House-passed bill to raise the pay of federal civilian employes.

Skull Is a Noise Box

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sometimes the noises inside Dorian Figueroa's head sound like frogs down on the pond, sometimes like a siren, sometimes like the wind being forced through a crack in a car window.

★ ★ ★

"To me," says the man on whom surgeons have operated three times to try to still the noises, "it is the sound of a dying puppy dog."

Figueroa, 38, fell 20 feet from a ladder May 28, 1964, and fractured his skull and four vertebrae, broke his right collar bone and lost hearing in his right ear.

Then the noises started. His wife, Margie, didn't believe him when he told her.

★ ★ ★

"We had cross words one day," she said, "and I put my arms around him to make up and I heard for myself. I said, 'My God, forgive me'."

VARIED NOISES

His wife said the noises vary in volume, pace, and intensity.

"But the loudest is always at night," she said. "It sounds like a siren."

A brain surgeon said the noises may originate from an abnormal blood vessel connection. The surgeon said this could possibly be within the skull, possibly from the shoulder injury.

★ ★ ★

"There is an answer to this," the surgeon said. "We intend to find it. The condition is quite unusual," he said, "but not unheard of."

HAS HEADACHES

Figueroa, who is going back to the hospital for more tests, said he has headaches and not much sense of balance.

"My brain feels on fire sometimes," he said. "I am lucky to be alive."

"I only wish someone could stop the noise. This is driving me insane."

Stockholm Film to Reunite Von Sydow, Swede Director

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

A reunion of Max Von Sydow and Ingmar Bergman will take place this summer. The film: "Day of the Wolf."

THOMAS

Von Sydow reported the engagement on a brief trip here to dub his lines in "Hawaii" and attend the Academy Awards.

★ ★ ★

The new film will be his eighth for the famed Swedish director, their first together since 1962.

★ ★ ★

'It is a most unusual script, and Bergman himself wrote it," reported Von Sydow. "I can't describe it, except to say that I play a painter who goes mad."

★ ★ ★

The actor will start the film in Stockholm next month, then report to London for the "The Quiller Memorandum," in which he plays a Nazi. He will then return to finish with Bergman.

"Why don't you go to Viet Nam with me?" Eddie Fisher asked his friend Alain Delon. The French actor said he would have gone — "except that I have nothing to do — I can't sing, dance or tell jokes."

★ ★ ★

But Delon remarked that he would like to return to the embattled land. He spent two years there as a French marine during the bitter period that led to the current war.

★ ★ ★

"Except for the fighting, I have many pleasant memories of the country and the people," he says.

The two Oscar-contending Julies — Christie and Andrews — are reported to be the best of friends, but they really aren't that close.

★ ★ ★

"I actually know Tony better," exclaimed Miss Christie on her visit here. She referred to Tony Walton, Miss Andrews' husband. "Julie was kind enough to invite me to her house for Christmas when I was here last year, and we became friendly."

★ ★ ★

Miss Christie said she wouldn't object to working in Hollywood, but there's no chance for at least two years.

★ ★ ★

She is committed to other projects, including a film with Richard Lester to be filmed in San Francisco.

Detailing Ills of Churchill Defended

LONDON (AP) — Lord Moran said today that he is publishing details of Sir Winston Churchill's illness because they are necessary for an understanding of the statesman's last 25 years.

In a letter to the Times of London, Moran, Churchill's physician, answered criticism from the Lancet, a leading British medical journal, that publication of his memoirs violated the convention that what passes between patient and doctor is secret.

★ ★ ★

"In Sir Winston's case," his doctor wrote, "this convention must be balanced against other considerations regarding his reputation: that it is not possible to follow the last 25 years of Sir Winston's life without a knowledge of his medical background.

★ ★ ★

"It was exhaustion of mind and body that accounted for much that is otherwise inexplicable in the last year of the war, for instance the deterioration in his relations with President Roosevelt.

OLD AGE

"It is certain that the onset of old age and a succession of strokes explain in part why he was not more effective as a leader of the opposition during the 1945-51 Labor government and later as first minister of the crown.

"While Churchill counted politically these details are part of history, and in justice to him ought not to be left out of his story."

★ ★ ★

Lord Moran said historian G. M. Trevelyan had advised him to publish his diaries and he had told Churchill of his intention to do so. His memoirs are being serialized in England and the United States. They are to be published in book form next month.

Dixie Railroad Strike Widens

More Unions Join Walkout in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida East Coast Railway faced new labor trouble today as trainmen, firemen and conductors struck in protest over new pay and work rules.

The operating unions went out at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, joining 11 nonoperating unions which have been on strike against the 366-mile Jacksonville-Miami line since Jan. 23, 1963.

★ ★ ★

"This is a concerted movement of the nonoperating and operating crafts from the top chiefs to the rank and file," said Ray Moore of Cleveland, representing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

"The brotherhood expects to use every legal weapon under the Railway Labor Act, and we will call on railroad workers all over the country to support us."

TRAINS RUNNING

Ray W. Wyckoff, FEC vice president, said three freight trains operated each way between Jacksonville and Miami Sunday, as usual.

"We expect normal operations will continue," he said, "using regular employes. Quite a number of them didn't go out."

★ ★ ★

The FEC now operates four freight and one passenger train both ways each weekday but has no Sunday passenger service.

Wyckoff said under the new wage scale a yard service foreman who had been making $23.20 for eight hours work would make $26.80 compared with the national standard of $26.55.

He said about 100 men, one third of the current operating force, were involved in the latest strike.

The new work rules, he added, were designed to eliminate "featherbedding."

Tense Era Foreseen Over NATO Pullout

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Allied officials in Paris predict a long period of tension with France over President Charles de Gaulle's NATO pullout.

NEWSOM

The other 14 countries have decided not to let themselves be stampeded by deadlines.

The French fear the others may be playing a delaying game.

Serious negotiations are not expected to start until after the June 6-8 Brussels NATO foreign ministers meeting.

CHINESE VISIT: Some sources in the key listening post of Hong Kong believe Red Chinese President Liu Shao-chi is angling for a vist to North Viet Nam — and they believe Hanoi is resisting the idea.

They note Liu has visited Burma, Afghanistan and Pakistan recently and that a Viet Nam visit is politically desirable.

It not only would reassert but it also might help regain some of the influence Peking is believed to have lost to the Russians in Hanoi.

There is no hard evidence to support reports of Hanoi opposition, but observers are keeping a close watch for signs.

OLD FASHIONED IMAGE: The opening session of the NATO Treaty Council session in Brussels in June will be held in the mediaeval city hall despite a plea by some members this will give NATO an old-fashioned image.

Some members want the session to be held in the ultra-modern Palais de Congress where the working sessions are planned but those members were overruled by the historically minded school.

LOCAL AUTONOMY: The South Korean government ended local autonomy after the 1961 military coup. Restoration figures to be a key issue in next year's general election if the government keeps opposing the change.

President Park Chung Hee told newsmen last week the subject was not ripe for discussion because provincial governments get 70 to 80 per cent of their funds from the contral government in Seoul.

The opposition Minjoong party is ready to offer a bill demanding reestablishment of an least provincial councils. Continued government refusal could touch off an uproar.

THANT — DE GAULLE: United Nations Secretary General U Thant will lunch with President de Gaulle in Paris Saturday en route to Strasbourg to address the council of Europe's consulative assembly May 2.

Geology Research Key to Curb Volcano Havoc

By Science Service

LONDON—Needless destruction of lives and property from erupting volcanoes could be prevented if governments would spend more money and take heed of geologists' research.

Many chains of seemingly inactive but potentially dangerous volcanoes could be guarded by a few men and inexpensive equipment, believes Dr. Alexander R. McBirney, director of the Center for Volcanology at the University of Oregon, Eugene.

This constant watch would greatly reduce the possibility of unforseen eruptions of "sleeping" volcanoes, commonly the most violent and destructive kind, Dr. McBirney reports in 2 recent publications.

Volcanoes with no recent record of activity are difficult to study. Because they seem so quiet, they are considered harmless by people living nearby and by governments who therefore do not wish to spend money on their observation.

★ ★ ★

For days, months, sometimes years before a volcano erupts, shock waves may jolt the area, the volcano's magnetic field may grow stronger or weaker, and the ground may swell and tilt in preparation for the "big blowup."

WARNING SIGNAL'S

These warning signals emitted by the rumbling volcano could be interpreted as indications of the volcano's next eruption, and enable thousands of people to be saved from death.

Three instruments are especially useful for keeping a watchful lookout on volcanic activities, said Dr. McBirney.

They are seismographs for measuring shifting rocks, magnetometers for measuring changes in magnetic fields and tiltmeters for measuring any changes around the crater as the rising magma or molten rock pushes out the volcano's sides.

The seismograph is by far the reliable and widely used tool for forecasting eruptions, said Dr. McBirney. Nearly all volcanic eruptions are preceded by seismic shocks or earthquakes.

If the pattern of such earthquakes could be determined for each volcano, geologists might be able estimate accurately when a volcano is ready to erupt.

Tigers Find Early Success in Twin Bills

Bengals Dump Senators, 4-1, 4-0, Sunday

Monbouquette Blanks Washington in First; Cash Nightcap Star

DETROIT (AP)—Home for a two-night stand against the American League champion Minnesota Twins, the Detroit Tigers could brag today.

They have accomplished twice what it took them all the way to July 27th of last season to do once.

They have swept two doubleheaders. No. 2 came against the Senators at Washington Sunday, 4-0 and 4-1. The first sweep was against the New York Yankees.

The Tigers dropped both games of their first five doubleheaders in 1965, split the sixth and fell back into their losing ways. Their first double victory was registered against Cleveland July 21.

TIGERS FAN

Pitcher Bill Monbouquette, acquired from Boston in a winter trade, blanked Washington 4-0 in Sunday's opener, a game, incidentally, in which Senator pitcher Pete Richert tied the league record by striking out seven Tigers in a row.

Richert got the first 12 men to face him, nine on strikes. His seven strikeouts in a row equaled the league mark held jointly by Ryne Duren, of Los Angeles, and Denny McLain.

McLain is Detroit Manager Charlie Dressen's choice for tonight's opener against the Twins.

* * *

Richert departed in the seventh, after Don Demeter doubled and scored on Ken McMullan's error.

Al Kaline had snapped the strikeout string with a leadoff double in the fifth and then had scored on Demeter's single. Orlando McFarlane's single got Demeter around to the plate.

The Washington hurler started his streak by fanning Demeter to end the second inning. He struck out Ray Oyler, McFarlane and Monbouquette in the third and Dick Tracewski, Don Wert and Norm Cash in the fourth.

Oyler got his first homer of the year in the ninth off reliefer Buster Narum.

GETS TRIPLE

Cash was Detroit's second-game hero, tripling across a run, scoring himself in a three-run third inning and clouting a homer in the eighth.

Joe Sparma had a one-hit shutout for six innings. But after he walked leadoff batter Jim King in the seventh and gave up a single to Dick Nen, Dressen called in Larry Sherry.

Detroit got to Jim Duckworth in the third inning of the second game. Duckworth hit Dick McAuliffe to back and McAuliffe stole second. Jerry Lumpe blooped a single into left and McAuliffe scored. Cash then tripled to the centerfield fence to score Lumpe and came home on Horton's long sacrifice fly to center.

Decision Due Tuesday

Olympic Bids Heard

ROME (AP) — The International Olympic Committee turned today to the crucial job of its meeting the make-or-break study of city bids for the sites of the 1972 games.

The IOC had 50 other items on its agenda, ranging from the apartheid issue of the South African government to Mexico's preparations for the 1968 Olympics and recognition of the international federations for bowling, water skiing and skibob.

But the big question is who will be the hosts for the summer and winter Games in 1972.

* * *

The four contenders for the summer site were summoned to make their presentations this afternoon. The delegations were ready with glossy brochures and what they hoped would be convincing arguments.

DETROIT FIRST

Detroit made its pitch first and Gov. George Romney of Michigan was on hand to boost the city's presentation. Madrid, Munich and Montreal followed, with 45 minutes allotted to each delegation.

The committe scheduled similar presentations Tuesday morning for the winter site hopefuls — Banff, Canada, Salt Lake City, Utah, Sapporo, Japan, and Lahti, Finland.

The selections will be announced Tuesday afternoon.

Gossip during the days of intensive lobbying that preceeded the opening of the IOC meeting pointed to Banff and Munich as the favorites. The IOC, however, is notorious for defying the odds.

It was generally conceded that Madrid would drop out of the running because of financial limitations and would set its sights on 1976. It also was widely assumed that Lahti had no real chance because some of its games would have to be held in neighboring Sweden because of terrain problems.

Sapporo's delegation came armed with material showing an impressive city and spectacular installations plans. But Sapporo's mayor, Yosuka Harada, has admitted fears that Japan would not win the right to stage another Olympics only eight years after the 1964 Tokyo Games.

Emotions ran highest among the Canadians and Americans, whose competition carried the poignancy of a family struggle.

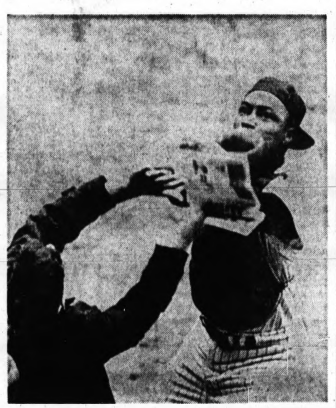
DOUBLE INDEMNITY — Don Demeter of the Detroit Tigers overran second base after doubling in the seventh inning of the first game against Washington yesterday, but got back safely. Second baseman Don Blasingame tries to tag Demeter who has both hands on the bag. Detroit won both games, 4-0, and 4-1.



AP Photofax

NEAR FOUL UP — Catcher Elston Howard of the New York Yankees reaches for a pop foul and meets a young fan with the same idea during yesterday's game. Howard, however, had a longer reach and made the catch. But Baltimore won, 2-1.

Orioles' Duo Hurts Yankees

By the Associated Press

If the New York Yankees are having trouble sleeping these nights, you can be sure they're not counting Robinsons.

Frank and Brooks didn't clear any fences Sunday, but they did figure in both of Baltimore's runs as the Orioles edged the hapless Yankees 2-1 and stretched a pair of streaks to six.

The Orioles now have won six straight and are 8-1 over-all while the Yankees have droped six in a row and are 1-9 over-all.

Of the Yankees' 10 games, five have been against Baltimore. And in those five — one victory and four defeats — the Robinsons have been a nightmare to New York.

GET 14 HITS

Against the Yankees, they collectively have rapped 16 hits in 34 times at bat for a .471 average, socked six doubles and two homers, scored seven runs and driven in 12. The Yankees have scored only 13 runs in the five games.

* * *

In other American League games Minnesota defeated California 5-3, Detroit swept Washington 4-0 and 4-1 and Chicago edged Kansas City 4-3 in 10 innings. Rain washed out a doubleheader between Cleveland and Boston.

Brooks Robinson doubled in the Orioles' first run in the first inning, then teamed with Frank for consecutive doubles and the decisive run in the sixth.

Minnesota stopped its five-game losing streak behind the hitting of Don Mincher. Mincher hit a two-run homer in the third and drove in another run with a single in the fourth. Rick Reichardt's two-run homer drove Twins' starter Camilo Pascual from the mound in the seventh.

* * *

Ken Berry led off the 10th inning with a triple and trotted home with Chicago's winning run on Tom McCraw's single. Kansas City tied the game in the ninth when Dick Green singled, stole second and scored on a single by Ed Charles.

Lakers Force Return to LA

Upset Celtics by 4, Now Down 1 Game

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics move back to Los Angeles with a feeling of foreboding today about the sixth game of the National Basketball Association's championship playoffs.

* * *

"They'll be at their best with the crowd behind them and knowing there's no tomorrow," said John Havlicek of the Celtics after the defending champions put on their worst performance of the series to lose the fifth game 121-117 Sunday at Boston Garden.

* * *

It was a combination of poor Boston shooting and a stronger Los Angeles defense that gave the Lakers the fifth game victory, slicing Boston's lead to 3-2.

Draper Opens North-South Golf Defense

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Tom Draper of Birmingham, opened defense of his North and South Amateur Golf Championship today against a field laden with talent but lacking three-time winner Billy Joe Patton.

Patton, whose game hasn't been sharp this spring, is passing up this 66th annual renewal, to which all 16 who made it to last year's fourth round have returned.

In the field of 128 were six other former champions, Bill Campbell, Dale Morey, Bill Hyndman, Charlie Smith, Dick Chapman and Frank Strafaci.

Also present were five members of last year's Walker Cup team, Campbell, Morey, Don Allen, Dr. Ed Updegraff and Ed Tutwiler.

Play is over the 7,000-yard, par-72 No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Red Wings' Script Familiar

BIG MOMENT — Detroit's Bill Gadsby fires the puck past Montreal goalie Gump Worsley in yesterday's opening game of the Stanly Cup finals in Montreal. The Red Wings won, 3-2. Gadsby, a veteran defenseman, has never played on a Stanley Cup championship team.

Detroit Defeats Montreal, 3-2

Henderson, Crozier Again Keys to Win

MONTREAL (AP) — It appears the Detroit Red Wings will rely on an old script in their quest for the Stanley Cup.

* * *

The script — which has Paul Henderson scoring the winning goal and goalie Roger Crozier making the big saves — was used again Sunday as the Red Wings edged Montreal 3-2 in the first game of the Cup finals.

Henderson, who scored nine game-winners among his 22 regular season goals and two more in the semifinal series against Chicago, potted the winner early in the third period Sunday and Crozier made it stand up.

* * *

Henderson's goal, at 2:14 of the final period, was matched 22 seconds later by Terry Harper, who beat Crozier with a 40-foot shot.

After that, the Red Wings tried to keep the play in the Montreal end. But the tactic didn't work to perfection as Crozier still had to make 14 saves. He finished with 33.

TURNING POINT

Montreal Coach Toe Blake said the turning point in the game was Floyd Smith's goal late in the first period.

"Until that time, we had three or four pretty good chances but couldn't make the most of them," he explained.

Blake didn't think the 10-day rest the Canadiens had after thumping Toronto in four straight games, made a difference.

* * *

"I think it helped us. Detroit's a pretty good team. We were outplayed and outscored. I'm not disappointed. We didn't play bad."

Crozier's biggest save came in the first period when he stopped J. C. Tremblay on a breakaway attempt while Detroit had the man advantage.

* * *

"I tried to let him make the first move — and then I just did my best," Crozier explained.

Bill Gadsby put the Red Wings back into the lead in the second period 51 seconds after Ralph Backstrom had tied things up.

Henderson, explaining his winning goal, said:

"Gump Worsley came out after me and I just shot the puck under him as he fell. I should have had another goal but fired too high."

'Crozier Fantastic, Team Sensational'

MONTREAL (AP) — As might be expected, Detroit goalie Roger Crozier got most of the credit for the Red Wings' 3-2 victory over Montreal in the first game of the Stanley Cup finals Sunday.

"Crozier was fantastic and the team was sensational," an elated Manager-Coach Sid Abel said.

"He was terrific in Chicago but was even better in this game."

Crozier, who made 33 saves, said the Canadiens were tough, not only because of their skating but also because of their play.

"They are really fast and always seem to be open for breakaways," he said.

GIVEN CREDIT

Coach Toe Blake of Montreal also gave Crozier credit, but added:

"When you come right down to it, he just made one more stop than our boy Gump Worsley. But that was the difference."

The best chance the Canadiens had in the first period came when J.C. Tremblay, who later assisted on one Montreal goal, broke in alone while Detroit had a man advantage.

Crozier stayed with him, however, and kicked out the shot.

Unknowns Tie for 1st Place in Dallas Golf

DALLAS (AP) — The $85,000 Dallas Open rolls into its final mud-splattered round today with two golfers who never won a PGA tournament closely pursued by two who were supposed to fight for it in the first place.

Harold Henning, a South African who has won a lot of tournaments around the world but never in the United States, and John Lotz, who professes to be in awe of the big names of the game, pushed into a tie for the lead Sunday.

Doug Sanders, who had topped at the 36-hole mark with 137, had water and tree trouble out on the soggy 6,923-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course and the best he could do was shoot a one-under-par 70.

Just about the most important triumph they will have this season—if history repeats itself.

Only four times in the previous 39 years of play for the coveted Stanley Cup has the team which won the opening game of the final series failed to emerge as champion.

Despite the fact the game was played before a national television audience, scalpers were having a field day before the game.

Standing room, for example, which sells at the ticket window for $1.50 was going for $7.

Ryun Overcomes Pain to Record 3:55.8 in Mile

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Precocious Jim Ryun, whose 3:55.8 mile at the Kansas Relays was swiftest in the world this year, is America's premiere miler because of his willingness and ability to endure pain.

"This is the secret — his ability to push back the pain barrier," said Bob Timmons, coach of the 18-year-old Kansas freshman. "If you keep working long and hard the pain becomes terrific.

* * *

Ryun's time was just a half-second off his American citizens record of 3:55.3 at the National AAU last year. Teammate Tom Yergovich paced him to a 1:58.7 Saturday, his best half-mile time ever during a mile race. Ryun steamed the last 220 in 26 flat compared to 26.6 in his record AAU race.

He averaged 99.4 m.p.h. for the 60-lap, 180-mile race.

Ford Nearly Wins Race

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — The experts wrote off the Fords for the Virginia 500 stock car race, and, according to the final scoring sheet, they were right.

Jim Paschal of High Point, N.C., won the race in a 1966 Plymouth, followed by Paul Goldsmith, of Munster, Ind., in a 1965 Plymouth, and Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., in another 1966 Plymouth.

The story of Sunday's race was, in many ways, the story of a Ford driver, Tiger Tom Pistone, a 5-foot-3 mechanic from Charlotte, N. C.

When the Ford factory withdrew its support from the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR), Pistone didn't really care. He had never had factory backing anyway.

But Pistone saw something else in the rules change. For the first time NASCAR was permitting the use of two carburetors on the older Ford wedge engines.

He was convinced his 1964 Ford could be competitive with the new carburation set-up.

Starting from 20th place, he passed Petty, then Sam McQuagg's Dodge Charger, then Goldsmith and Paschal.

As the crowd of 10,500 cheered him on, the Tiger led the race for 42 laps. A pit stop to cool a flaming rear grease seal cost him three laps but he knew he still could win.

Then a rod snapped on lap 361 and his run for the money was over.

Gophers, Illinois Share Diamond Lead in Big 10

By the Associated Press

Illinois and Minnesota climbed into a first place tie in the opening weekend of the Big Ten baseball race, while defending champion Ohio State and always powerful Michigan ran into rain problems.

Illinois swept a three - game set from Purdue, including 6-3 and 2-1 triumphs Saturday, and Minnesota slugged Wisconsin Friday and came back with a pair of 11-4 victories over Northwestern Saturday.

Both Ohio State and Michigan won Friday but their scheduled doubleheader Saturday was rained out.

These four teams were the only ones to escape without a defeat in the first weekend of conference competition.

Indiana scored a 12-inning 2-1 triumph over Michigan State Saturday on a homer by Bob Miner. Iowa and Wisconsin split a twin bill, Wisconsin taking the opener 6-1 and Iowa winning the second game 2-0 on the one-hit pitching of Donn Haugen.

DOUBLE WIN

Illinois came from behind twice for its double victory over Purdue. Jerry Szukala smashed a grand-slam homer in the eighth inning of the opener and Wal Walters singled home the winning run in the eighth inning of the scheduled seven-inning second game.

Minnesota outran Northwestern by stealing 12 bases in their doubleheader while the Wildcats were committing a total of 11 errors, six in the second game.

Illinois and Minnesota will resolve their first place tie this weekend when they meet Friday at Illinois.

Ward Wins Damp '150'

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Roger Ward, 20-year racing veteran, started a comeback Sunday by winning his first championship race in more than two years in the rain-shortened 150-mile event at Trenton Speedway.

Ward, of Indianapolis, held a quarter lap lead over Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., when a steady rain halted action in the 102nd lap on the slippery one mile asphalt course.

* * *

Ward, 45, twice Indianapolis 500 champion, said afterward he is now ready to challenge for the 500 crown May 30.

He won at Indianapolis in 1959 and 1962.

Ward collected about $10,000 Sunday from a total purse of $40,303. He was timed for the 102-mile distance in one hour one minute and 15.51 seconds — an average sped oef 99.904 miles an hour.

Mays' Homer Ties Record Set by Ott

By the Associated Press

One baseball, slightly scuffed, $50.

Herman Franks may have an interesting time explaining that item on the next expense account he hands the San Francisco Giants.

* * *

But it's legitimate. So was the cause — the 511th homer of Willie Mays' career, a 420-foot shot in the eighth inning that tied Mel Ott's National League career record and triggered the Giants to a 4-2 victory over Houston Sunday.

Mays came to the plate with the Giants trailing 2-1, took aim at Jim Owen's 2-0 pitch and drilled a belt-high fastball into the Astrodome's left center field seats, where H. V. Smith of Palestine, Tex., pounced on the baseball.

GETS REWARD

Smith eventually got his reward, and Mays his trophy when Franks popped into the dressing room after game and walked up to his $125,000 center fielder with the ball sitting in the palm of his hand.

"Here," said Franks. "I paid the man 50 bucks for this."

* *

While Mays was making history, St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 5-2, the Chicago Cubs shutout Los Angeles 2-0, Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 3-2 in a game shortened to 5½ innings by rain and Atlanta downed the New York Mets 5-2 before losing the nightcap 3-2.

'Did Strangling or Ax Kill?'

Question Is Posed in Moors Murder Trial

CHESTER, England (UPI) — A pathologist testified in the "bodies on the moor" case today that 17-year-old Edward Evans might have already been dead from ax wounds when an attempt was made to strangle him.

Dr. Charles Edward St. Hill, a Crown witness, told of examining the body of Evans which was found last Oct. 6 in the home of Ian Brady, 28, and Myra Hindley, 23, both of whom are charged with three murders.

The point is important to the defense which contends that Brady killed Evans with the ax in an unpremeditated quarrel.

Emlyn Hooson, counsel for Brady, asked the witness:

"It is conceivable that the body was just dead when it (a ligature) was applied, that the heart had ceased beating a very short time, a matter of seconds before the flex (wire) was applied?"

'JUST POSSIBLE'

"It is just possible," the witness replied.

Brady, a slender clerk, and Miss Hindley, a tall, poker-faced, silver-blonde, are also accused of murdering 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey and 12-year-old John Kilbride.

Both children were allegedly sexually molested before their bodies were buried on the bleak Yorkshire moors.

* * *

The defense scored another point when biologist Colin Bancroft said he found bloodstains on the clothing of Miss Hindley, Brady and David Smith, 18, the chief Crown witness who testified he had been an unwilling spectator of the murder of Evans.

CROSS-EXAMINED

Under cross-examination, Bancroft agreed that, broadly speaking, there was a similar position of blood on Smith's clothing as on Brady's.

Sanity Tests Ordered in Knifing Case

Sanity tests have been ordered for an 18-year-old Flint sailor charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a Southfield businessman a month ago.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer approved the psychiatric examination for Barrie S. Moody and has scheduled a hearing on the results for May 3.

Moody is accused of the March 25 stabbing of Albert S. Smith, 43, of 22572 N. Bellwood during a robbery.

Dr. Jerome Fink and Dr. William Gordon were named by Beer to examine Moody.

* * *

Hundreds Hunt Missing Boy in Catskill Wilds

FALLSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Spurred by footprints in the mud, hundreds of volunteer searchers covered 10 square miles of Catskill woods and swamps today for a lost boy.

Ross Davis, 7, of nearby Neversink, was last seen Saturday afternoon in the back yard of his grandparents' home at Divine Corners near here.

* * *

His disappearance was reported that night, and an all-day search Sunday was fruitless.

State and local police, soldiers from West Point, airmen from Stewart Air Force Base and other volunteers joined the search. Planes were being sent by a New York City Civil Air Patrol unit.

Police said the boy is a shy child who might be avoiding his would-be rescuers.

Wallet Reported Stolen

Dale DeHaven, 1230 Taylor, Pontiac Township, reported to Waterford Township police yesterday theft of his wallet, containing $12 and a $13 check, from the IAC, 60 N. Tilden.

Book Gives Insults for Use Abroad

LONDON (AP) — British publisher Peter Wolfe is bringing out a dictionary of insults so British and American tourists can be abusive in four languages.

"It's an entirely new weapon for the English-speaking traveler abroad who does not naturally possess the gift of tongues," said Wolfe.

* * *

"It's the means by which he may speak his mind, giving back a hard word for a hard deed. It provides him with a cutting edge to every complaint — a term of abuse for every strongfelt need.

A SAMPLING

Here is a sampling:

For use in a bad restaurant — "Do you serve indigestion tablets with every course?"

* * *

German — Geben sie zu jedem gang verdauungstabletten?

French — Vous diviriez servir entre chaque plat des pilules contre les max d'estomac?

Italian — Con ogni portata servite anche delle pastiche digestive?

Spanish — Sirven pastillas digestivas con cada comida?

RESTAURANT REMARK

Affronted by a dirty restaurant, the tourist should ask: "Do you keep pigs in here between meal times?"

If the service is slow, ask: "When did the waiters start their strike?"

* * *

For use on taxi drivers: "How many other people have you killed today?"

The insult dictionary contains 35 sections, ranging from words at the railway station to things to say to policemen.

The publisher warned: "I hasten to add that I cannot accept responsibility for any consequences that may flow from the use of terms contained in this book."

Woman Pilot 'Forgets' Trip

Refuses to Discuss Atlantic Emergency

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Veteran American pilot Louise Sacchi today refused to talk about her solo flight of the Atlantic in which she had to call for help.

"I don't want to talk about this trip," said Miss Sacchi. "I want to forget all about it."

* * *

The pilot — who has flown the Atlantic 45 times and the Pacific once in small planes — is delivering a small American-made plane to a buyer in Germany.

Shannon airport officials said they were alerted just before midnight that Miss Sacchi's plane was in trouble about 1,000 miles off the Irish coast.

PRESSURE DOWN

Flying eastward from St. Pierre, Newfoundland, she signalled that the plane's oil pressure was down and the engine heated up. Shannon officials said she then circled the weather ship Charlie for about an hour.

After her report, a Hercules plane of the U.S. Air Force's 67th Air Rescue Section, based at Prestwick Scotland, flew to her assistance and escorted her to Shannon, where she made a perfect landing after 14 hours in the air.

* * *

On landing, Miss Sacchi said the trouble on the plane had corrected itself. She said she had not asked for help, but had reported on the temporary abnormal condition of the plane's engine.

Dollar's Gas Cost Too Much

Luther Crane, 57, of 15 Cross pulled into a service station at 382 Orchard Lake yesterday, ordered one dollar's worth of gas and gave the man who pumped it a $20 bill.

When the man didn't return, Crane investigated and, with the assistance of station employes, determined that his "attendant" was evidently in business for himself.

* * *

The man, described as wearing a blue work shirt and blue jeans, is sought by Pontiac police.

5,000 Strike as De Gaulle Visits Port

DUNKERQUE, France (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle visited this English Channel port today and more than 5,000 workers went on strike against his economic policies.

The president is on his first tour of the French provinces since his reelection last December.

As de Gaulle toured the port by boat, harbor cranes were stilled and piers were practically deserted. But boats in the harbor did run up signal flags for the president.

De Gaulle went through the idle steel plant. Several dozen plant security workers were on duty but stood with their arms crossed when the president passed.

The strikers were protesting the government's wage holddown, which it says is necessary to ward off inflation.

Freeway Crash Turns Into Real Rhubarb

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (UPI)— A weekend traffic accident near here turned into a real rhubarb.

The highway patrol said a truck swerved to avoid hitting a car and spilled its cargo over the interstate 71 freeway. The cargo was 16,000 pounds of rhubarb.

Foreign Aid Path Is Rocky

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON—For two new reasons, the $3.39 billion requested by the administration for foreign aid will have its usual rough time getting passed by Congress.

First, instead of a one-year program, the President is asking for a five-year commitment.

Second, the proposal is divided into two parts (economic and military) at the suggestion of Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

This means separate roll calls.

Republican William Broomfield, R-18th District, predicted separating the military from the economic aid would make it more difficult to pass any aid for economic purposes as "many very conservative members have, for years, been going along reluctantly on economic aid because they approved of helping countries build their own military strength hereby lessening the possible use of American armed forces."

BREAKDOWN

In the $3.39 - billion budget, the President is requesting $2.4 billion for economic assistance and $917 million for the military.

(House Foreign Affairs Committee member Broomfield explains "the $2.4 billion is just for one year and the military assistance does not include military funds for Viet Nam).

Broomfield, who studies the issues in depth, is convinced that some foreign aid is in the public interest and has voted for former foreign aid assistance to underdeveloped countries, but when better guidelines are being derdeveloped countries, but doesn't think "this is the time for a five-year commitment."

He sees a periodical checkup by the Congress as sound in order to "keep on top of each assistance program and to avoid mismanagement and waste of funds."

He sees this as "a poor time for a five - year commitment when better guidelines are being set to give help to developing countries more on a self-help basis as recommended by the President."

The Michigan Republican would like to see more countries involved in helping emerging countries through the World Bank and the Asian Bank rather than so many bilateral arrangements.

It's possible that Broomfield will agree to a two rather than a five-year commitment plan.

'Better Consultation' Said NATO Need

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson wants "more effective political consultation within the NATO community."

Jackson, a Washington Democrat and chairman of a Senate National Security subcommittee, says consultation is a key requirement for strengthening the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Jackson, interviewed on a television-radio program, suggested several other things to strengthen NATO. This included streamlining the organization's staff, particularly the military staff; greater involvement on the part of U.S. allies in military planning, improved communications, both civilian and military, and more meetings among the heads of state.

Although some "serious problems" will be created if French President Charles de Gaulle carries out his threat to withdraw from NATO, Jackson said "NATO is a going concern today and it can be a going concern without de Gaulle.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington National Airport has joined the jet age.

The first of the regularly scheduled jet operations was the takeoff Sunday of American Airlines Flight 389 to Chicago. The Federal Aviation Agency says about 100 takeoffs and landings will occur daily.

Just after the jet service started, National's switchboard was jammed with complaints about the noise. The complaints generally came from residents of areas along the Potomac River north and west of the airport, the routes used by most of the departing aircraft.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner says it is harder to pin down Northern compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964 because of difficulty determining whether segregation is the result of official action toward that end.

Gardner said on a television show that new methods must be found if de facto segregation in Northern schools is to be eliminated.

Junior Editors Quiz on HORSES

QUESTION: Why is the horse so important to man?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Mary Ellen Rollins, who sent us this question, has answered it so well that we quote from her letter:

"The jeep or automobile doesn't whinny in gladness when you come out in the morning, and you can't smack it on the fender and tell it to move over. It doesn't care whether you ride or not.

"And it doesn't lip carrots from your hand or nip your jacket in fun or slobber water over your clean shirt.

"Machines have about as much warmth as a refrigerator. And that is why the horse is still a part of our lives."

That's beautifully put, Mary Ellen. Some day you may write as well as ride horses. But let's be fair to the people who love cars the way you love horses.

They feel their pulse quicken when they climb behind the wheel of today's modern chariot and point its sleek hood at far distant horizons, even if the horizon is the neighborhood store.

They thrill to the feeling of the engine responding to the slightest pressure of the foot, carrying out their every command.

We think horses are important too, for the same reasons you do. But remember that machines (even refrigerators) have a tremendous lot to give mankind too.

TV Exec Blasted for War Realism

LONDON (UPI) — Television producer Peter Watkins was attacked today for introducing unnecessary realism into a battle spectacular filmed for the British Broadcasting Co.

Sir Felix Aylmer of British Actors' Equity, charged that Watkins kept his battle scene "extras" emaciated from long marches and short rations and then induced "realistic" falls during battle sequences by tripping the actors up with hidden wires.

Watkins denied the charges.

Finally, a search party went out. They converged on a tree and found the source — a noisy baby owl.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

New Remedies Aid in Acne Treatment

BRANDSTADT

Q — My daughter, 21, has pimples on her chin. All the remedies she has tried have failed. Sulfur and molasses cured me when I was her age. Should she try it? Would X ray help?

A — Acne is primarily a disease of adolescence. When you reached the ripe old age of 21, your acne cleared up spontaneously.

* * *

Your taking sulfur and molasses was coincidental.

Your daughter's skin should improve soon but in the meantime, she might want to try some of the newer acne remedies, such as the local application of benzoyl peroxide and sulfur emulsion (Dermabase), various antibiotics (tetracycline, erythromycin, benzyl penicillin or sulfadimethoxine) or, by mouth, trypsin with chymotrypsin (Chymoral).

Many skin specialists, however, still insist that the best treatment is to wash the face twice a day with a soap that contains hexachlorophene.

X-ray treatments will clear up the condition, but the effect is temporary and is recommended only as an emergency measure in preparation for getting married.

Q — I have a high blood pressure and have been taking Singoserp and Aldomet. Both have controlled my blood pressure. Is it harmful to take these drugs indefinitely? What are their side effects?

A — Methyldopa (Aldomet) should not be taken by persons with liver disease nor by pregnant women.

Syrosingopine (Singoserp), a synthetic reserpine, should not be taken by persons with peptic ulcer.

Large doses may cause drowsiness, headache, nausea and depression.

Since high blood pressure is usually chronic, it is wise to vary the treatment every five or six months.

Q — What causes gurgling, growling and rumbling in the stomach?

A — First you have to have both liquid (normal) and gas (abnormal) in your digestive tract, then you have to have some lively goings-on.

You can illustrate this by filling a hot water bottle full and shaking it. No noise.

Then remove half of the water, let air in and hang it on a hook. No noise.

Then shake it vigorously. Gurgle, gurgle.

To get rid of your rumblings, you must avoid eating well-known gas formers and you must avoid laxatives or foods that stir up intestinal activity.

Blue Movies Served at Tea

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Night shift workers at an automobile factory have been watching pornographic movies during their tea breaks, it was disclosed during the weekend.

Plant detectives found more than 100 men crammed into a small room at 2 a.m. watching the films. Authorities said some workers at the factory and several office girls had starring roles in the two productions.

Workers were charged 28 cents admission and one told authorities the films had become "a regular part of night shift life."

Twisters, Rain Pound Texas

KENEDY, Tex. (AP) — Tornadoes smashed into two small southern Texas towns early today, leaving 250 homeless and causing heavy property damage, as new torrential downpours hit the water-soaked state.

Three persons were injured when one twister demolished virtually all homes on the east side of Kenedy, Pop. 4,235, at about 12:45 a.m. Another tornado hit Runge, Pop. 1,055, located 11 miles northeast of Kenedy, about the same time.

Seven inches of rain were dumped on the Corpus Christi area when violent thunderstorms raked the southern part of the state early today.

The new outbreak of turbulent weather followed in the wake of two-day rains of more than 18 inches that caused heavy flooding in northeastern Texas.

At least 10 deaths were blamed on the rains and floods in and around Longview.

★ ★ ★

Kenedy Police Chief Ross Schuster said 225 persons left homeless by the twister were being housed in a Methodist church, an elementary school and a junior high school.

LEFT HOMELESS

The Texas Department of Public Safety said between 25 and 30 persons were left without homes at Runge.

Officers said a number of rural homes around Kenedy and Runge were reported destroyed by the twisters and they feared there might be more injuries.

Rail and highway traffic was distrupted by the torrential rains in northeastern Texas.

Numerous highway bridges were swept away or weakened. Rail traffic on at least one main line was halted when a bridge collapsed, sending a diesel engine into the swirling water.

EVACUATE AREAS

Lowland areas near Longview, Gladewater, Kilgore and Marshall have been evacuated and a major flood warning has been issued for the Sabine and Cypress rivers in northeast Texas.

The Sabine River was expected to rise 10 feet above flood stage today at Glade-

Student Strike Enters 4th Day

Other Detroit School Boycotts Threatened

DETROIT (AP) — A student boycott at Northern High School entered a fourth day today as Negro leaders moved to head off a planned boycott of half of Detroit's high schools.

Officials at predominatly Negro Northern said "there seem to be more students in classes today than last week but we won't know for sure until we complete our daily head count sometime this afternoon."

Attendance at the school, which has an enrollment of 2,300, climbed to 964 last Friday —more than double the number of students who went to class during the first two days of the boycott last Wednesday and Thursday.

Only hours after some 75 pupils decided Sunday to foster a boycott of 12 high schools next Wednesday, school board president Remus G. Robinson appealed for a back-to-school movement.

The 75 youngsters planned the walkout in sympathy with students who stayed away from classes three days last week at Northern High School. Northern pupils are protesting alleged substandard education at the predominantly Negro school. They vow to stay away until their principal is removed.

Robinson, saying "help me get them back in school," pleaded with some 2,500 persons at the 11th annual Fight for Freedom Dinner of the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Hubert Says Financial Aid Vital to Victory

Talk to AP Newsman Indicates Long Battle Is Faced by the U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, maintaining the U.S. plans to stay in the Far East, said today peace in Asia depends on victory against "poverty, disease and despair" as well as against "the classic power tactics of communism" in Viet Nam.

"We must not lose the peace in either struggle," the vice president said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Associated Press today.

"That is why we have committed once more—as we have had to do before—men, money, and resources to help the nations of Asia help themselves toward securityand independence," Humphrey added.

Cautioning that "it won't be easy, it will be frustrating and at times heartbreaking," Humphrey said:

"We must stay and see it through. And the free nations of the world need to know that we have the vision and the endurance to do so.

★ ★ ★

"Those who threaten their neighbors in Asia should knowit too. They should know that we will resist their aggression."

HAVE NO HATE

Humphrey, who returned two months agof rom a nine-nation Asian tour,a dded, "They should also know that we bear no consumptive hate against their people, that we have no design on their sovereignty."

"We only look toward the day when all nations may choose to live in harmony with their neighbors — when they may turn together their energies to building a better life for their peoples," he said.

"For this is after all our second great task before us: the desparate need to narrow the widening gap between the rich and poor nations of the world."

★ ★ ★

Humphrey said that it is not possible to preserve lasting peace if glaring economicand social inequality among the peoples of the world exist.

HOPE FOR PEACE

Tying the hopes for peace to helping "the disinherited and left-out of this world," the vice president said:

"Today there are families spending their last day on earth because they haven't the strength or health to keep going.

Shriver Compares Viet Poverty Wars

Project Head Start, VISTA, the Job Corps — these are the "new weapons" of a new type of war, R. Sargent Shriver said at the Oakland University commencement Saturday night.

The director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity compared the fight against poverty to jungle warfare in Viet Nam as he addressed the graduates, faculty members and guests.

Shriver also referred to an antipoverty battle which will be waged on the Oakland University campus this summer.

The university, he said, has been awarded an $81,000 grant for Project Upward Bound which will bring 60 high school students to the OU campus next summer.

The war on poverty, Shriver said, is not just a new name for welfare.

'GREAT VICTORIES'

"We're not handing out anything. We're winning great victories and strengthening democracy," he said.

The "most obvious victory" is that the government is willing to listen to the poor, Shriver said.

He urged everyone in the audience to help in this "compassionate war."

"You can put 10 years in a person's life with one of your own," he told the graduates. "There can be no greater gift."

176 GRADUATES

Receiving diplomas at the end of winter term were 176 graduates.

Magna cum laude graduates were Glen I. King of 647 Benson, who also received departmental honors in physics; Elsa S. Jakob of Richmond; Richard H. Swain of Rochester, N.Y.; and Phyllis J. Vallier of Mount Clemens.

Cameron of 710 Suffield, Birmingham, departmental honors in area studies and German; and John MacLellan of 1920 Hammond Lake, Bloomfield Township, departmental honors in history.

Each received medallions and $100 cash awa s rrodfhvaing made outstanding contributions to the life of the university through scholarship, student leadership and the expression of responsibility in the solution of social problems."

Highest university scholastic honors went to Mark R. Allyn, a psychology major from Royal Oak who graduated summa cum laude.

Receiving honorary degrees with Shriver were Roger M. Kyes, General Motors Corp. vice president who lives at 945 Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, and two Harvard University biologists, Matthew S. Meselson and Franklin W. Stahl.

Thieves Hit Bank Branch in South Lyon

The New Hudson branch office of the State Savings Bank of South Lyon was broken into sometime this weekend by thieves who jimmied open a safe and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

Entry to the year-old branch bank at 56461 Grand River was gained by smashing open the wooden front door of the building.

The building was not equipped with an alarm system, investigators said.

Agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and State Police and detectives from the Brighton post responded to the call after the break-in was discovered by a bank employe.

Inside the building, a six-foot high double door vault had been cracked open.

McNamara Facing Revolt in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara is facing a major congressional revolt against three of his key policy decisions—the manned bomber phase-out, missile defense development, and construction of a nuclear surface fleet.

McNamara is no stranger to controversy, and resentment against his decisions has been building up on Capitol Hill for some time. It came to a head during the weekend when:

- A House armed services subcommittee, headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., blasted the plan to replace manned bombers with missiles, charged that if McNamara were wrong he would be risking the lives of millions of Americans.
- Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, contradicted McNamara's assertion that an antimissile missile system would be costly and futile.

Stennis urged the Senate to tack on an extra $167.9 million to the $447 million budgeted for development of the Nike-X system for fiscal 1967.

- The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee called on the Navy's two new missile destroyers. The committee cited the Pentagon'so wn cost-effectiveness studies to show that the range of a nuclear-powered task force is almost doubled.

The Hebert subcommittee's report, made public yesterday, contained by far the harshest criticism. It proposed that the National Security Act be amended so that Congress is fully consulted before an administration decides to eliminate a major weapons system.

CUT FIZE OF SAC

McNamara intends tor educe the size of the Air Force's Strategic Air Command (SAC). At present SAC has 600 B52 bombers. By 1972, this would be trimmed to 225 B52s with the B58s eliminated completely.

Partly making up the loss in bombers would be 210 FB111 fighter-bombers (once known as th eTFX), a plane now in the development stage. Underlying the whole move is McNamara's contention that the United States has more than enough missiles to provide a complete nuclear deterrent.

But in the opinion of the subcommittee the FB11will also pointed out that nuclear missiles have never been "fired in anger" and, while they may work in theory and in labatories, no one really knows.

Heart Patient Gains Following a Setback

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Marcel DeRudder's surgeons reported some improvement today in a kidney malfunction that has caused new concern for the patient with a partial artificial heart.

★ ★ ★

"Although the patient has not regained consciousness there are further signs of improvement in the central nervous system with additional return of certain reflexes," the day's first medical bulletin said.

★ ★ ★

"There is also some improvement of the decreased kidney function reported yesterday."

The final bulletin Sunday had reported "some decrease of kidney function" but said laboratory tests indicated the condition was "potentially reversible."

Neither bulletin elaborated on the condition.

'GENERAL IMPROVEMENT'

The first advisory today also said DeRudder, 65, continues to show general improvement, "particularly in the status of his heart function and circulation."

"The heart pump continues to function well and to assume approximately one-half of the function of the left ventricle of the heart," the advisory said. "The pulse rate, blood pressure and respiration remain stable."

★ ★ ★

DeRudder underwent a six-hour operation Thursday in which a mechanical pump was attached to his heart and ascending aorta to provide a temporary bypass of his damaged left ventricle.

★ ★ ★

DeRudder has been unconscious since the operation. Surgeons said he possibly suffered "temporary brain damage" during the operation and they began treating the retired coal miner for removal of excess fluid on his brain. They said the dome-shaped heart pump was not the cause of DeRudder's unconscious state.

VISITS HUSBAND

Mrs. DeRudder visited her husband four times Sunday and said afterward she had been told he "should be opening his eyes pretty soon."

"They say his reflexes are improving, though I can't tell about those things myself," she told the Houston Post. "He's not moving his arms and legs yet."

Mrs. DeRudder, 60, who arrived here Friday from Westville, said she was encouraged by her husband's appearance.

★ ★ ★

In an interview Saturday, Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, the heart surgeon who conducted the operation with a team of specialists, said "everything seems to be going better on the basis of the tests."

"I'm very pleased with the pump," he said. "It is what's keeping him alive."

Pair Arrested at Kettering

May Be Involved in Area School Break-Ins

Waterford Township police believe they have brought to a halt a recent rash of break-ins at township schools with the arrest of two youths following a burglary at Kettering High School, 2800 Bender, early Saturday morning.

Arrested on breaking and entering charges were Paul D. Brewer, 18, of 2271 Carlos and Rodger D. Vandewater, 17, of 5517 Rowley, both of Waterford Township.

One of the youths reportedly told police he took part in the break-in because he needed $10 to pay off a traffic ticket.

The suspects both waived examination Saturday before Township Justice Patrick K. Daly. They will appear for arraignment in Circuit Court at 9 a.m. May 11.

Brewer and Vandewater are being held in Oakland County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bond each.

PREVIOUS BREAK-INS

According to township police, Brewer admitted being involved in previous break-ins at Crary and Pierce Junior High Schools and at Kettering, in addition to Saturday's burglary.

Vandewater, who when arrested had in his possession a $25 roll of five-cent stamps, denied taking part in the other break-ins.

The pair were arrested outside the building, apparently on the way to their car.

★ ★ ★

Police had received a "suspicious boys" call from a resident prior to the break-in.

BREAK WINDOW

According to police, entry to the building was gained by breaking a window in the library.

★ ★ ★

Police said a desk and filing cabinet in the school's bookstore were rifled and that they found four pairs of socks, $1.86 in change and two walkie-talkie radios in a box inside the school.

Sgt. Raymond Wilhelm and Patrolmen James Webb and Glenn Phelps were instrumental in making the arrests.

DEMONSTRATORS MARCH — Protesters in Santa Domingo stage a "Yankee, go home" rally yesterday on the first anniversary of the Dominican Republic revolution that brought U. S. troops to the island. Police estimated the crowds at more than 10,000.

Rally Not Violent

Dominicans Celebrate

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Lots of noise but no violence opened a week of celebrations Sunday of the anniversary of the Dominican revolution last April.

An estimated 10,000 demonstrators, most of them youths, massed at Independence Park, repeatedly shouted, "Go home, Yankees," and cheered loudly at the end of the three-hour rally when a big U.S. flag was burned.

★ ★ ★

Police armed with carbines and tear gas bombs kept a careful watch. The army was on the alert. The Inter-American Peace Force, consisting mostly of U.S. troops, stayed in the background.

In evidence at the rally, organized by leftist groups, were the green and black banner of the pro-Castro 14th of June Movement and the red and black flags of the country's two Communist parties.

RED INFILTRATION

The newspaper El Caribe praised the demonstrators for being peaceful but expressed concern over "Communist infiltration into Dominican life."

The paper added, however, that "many Dominicans may have participated in the demonstrations merely because they shared the feeling for immediate restoration of all aspects of our sovereignty."

★ ★ ★

If the week's demonstrations come off without any major violence, some observers said, it could mean that citizens of their bitterly divided nation are ready to vote peacefully in the elections scheduled for June 1.

Unconfirmed reports said that conservative presidential candidate Rafael Bonnelly plans to withdraw from the race 10 days before the elections and throw his support to ex-President Joaquin Balaguer.

CHIEF OPPONENT

Balaguer is considered the chief opponent of ex-President Juan Bosch, who commands a large leftist following. The four-month rebellion that began last April 24 was touched off by efforts to reinstate the constitution and Bosch, who was overthrown by the military in 1963.

The political parties of Bosch, Balaguer and Bonnelly abstained from participating in the demonstration Sunday.

★ ★ ★

In London, exiled rebel leader Col. Francisco Caamano Deno said he thought the political climate in his homeland was better for free elections now than at any time in the past year.

"The present heads of the armed forces say they want to have elections," he said, "and they will obey the will of the people. We will support any man elected by the people."

★ ★ ★

Caamano Deno again demanded that the Inter-American Peace Force leave the Dominican Republic. The force was formed largely from U.S. troops that President Johnson sent in with the announced purpose of protecting American residents and preventing a Communist takeover.

McNamara Facing Revolt

with the B58, the subcommittee said it was "shocked" to learn that the idea had originated in McNamara's office and not in the Air Force.

MAY INVITE WAR

"If we are wrong — that is reducing the size of our strategic manned bomber force to a point at which it, in the eyes of a potential aggressor, is no longer a credible deterrent to nuclear war — we may invite a nuclear exchange which will cost many millions of lives," the report said.

Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., the only member of the five-man subcommittee who did not sign the report, vigorously disagreed with his colleagues. He accused the panel of seemingly being more interested in trying to downgrade McNamara than in dealing with a question of vital importance.

Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester, the Pentagon's chief spokesman, sounded a similar note. He said the subcommittee report had not "properly or fairly" reflected McNamara's views on the future of manned bombers.

★ ★ ★

The development of an antimissile missile has long been a bone of contention between McNamara and Congress. The Nike-X system, intended to intercept and destroy enemy missiles before they reach the United States, has cost $2 billion thus far, but still is not in production.

TO COST $30 BILLION

McNamara told a congressional hearing last February it would cost $30 billion for an effective antimissile system and it still would not ward off a Soviet attack, though it might stop anything the Red Chinese would be able to throw through the 1970s.

★ ★ ★

But, following reports the Russians were deploying an antimissile system of their own, the Senate Armed Forces Committee voted last week to recommend that more money be spent to develop a missile defense system — whether McNamara wants it or not. The recommendation comes up for a Senate vote Thursday.

The nuclear propulsion issue is another long-playing battle. The joint congressional Atomic Energy Committee has pressed for nuclear-powered submarines and, more recently, aircraft carriers. The committee's report Saturday indicated it was widening its campaign to include escort vessels.

Bar to View OEO Plan for Free Legal Aid

A plan devised by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) to provide free legal aid to impoverished county residents was expected to come under close scrutiny today by the Oakland Count Bar Association.

The OEO is asking that the bar association endorse the proposal, estimated to cost $451,210 to put into operation, at its meeting at the Pontiac Elk Temple.

It is expected that strong opposition may be voiced toward the plan because a similar service is now being offered to poor families through the Oakland County Legal Aid Society.

The Legal Aid Society operates an office in Pontiac with funds from the United Fund, United Community Services and the bar associaton. Its 1965 budget totaled $17,660.

★ ★ ★

The OEO proposes to operate eight legal services offices located throughout the county.

CENTRAL OFFICES

Two central offices will be located in Community Centers now operated by the O in Pontiac and Royal Oak Township.

The locatio of other offices have been tentatively planned for Madison Heights, Ferndale, the Novi-Farmington area, Lake Orion, the Rochester-Troy-Avondale area and the Waterford-Highland area.

No Challenge by Red Planes

Ground Fire Downs Two Yank Fighters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. planes cut deep into North Viet Nam's vital centers, again attacking a bridge on the main rail link to Communist China, but enemy fighters made no new challenge to U.S. air supremacy Sunday.

However, two Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets were shot down by ground fire 30 miles northeast of Hanoi, a U.S. Air Force spokesman reported today.

★ ★ ★

U.S. planes flew a total of 77 missions Sunday against North Viet Nam, returning to the same areas where they encountered at least 14 Soviet-built MIGs in the first aerial battles with Communist planes in 10 months on Saturday. The Communists lost two MIG17s to U.S. air-to-air missiles. Two faster MIG21s fought the American planes to a standoff.

The continued heavy bombardment of targets around Hanoi eclipsed the action in South Viet Nam, where American planes also aimed some heavy blows at the Communists. Five major U.S. ground operations met little resistance.

300 KILLED

Vietnamese forces reported killing nearly 300 enemy in two big weekend fights. Two Vietnamese regiments killed 245 Viet Cong and captured 20 weapons along a canal in the Mekong River delta 100 miles southwest of Saigon on Saturday. A government battalion left another 50 guerrillas dead in a road-clearing action north of Nha Trang, on the central coast, a spokesman said. Vietnamese casualties were light.

★ ★ ★

The Viet Cong forced government troops to abandon at least one outpost south of Saigon in a series of harassments before dawn today.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government moved a little closer to the national elections it has promised Buddhists in three to five months by announcing it will name a committee of 100 to conduct the vote.

But not everyone was pleased with the prospect of voting under circumstances where the government could not pledge to stop Communist interference.

An estimated 10,000 Roman Catholics demonstrated peacefully Sunday in Saigon, while others marched in nearby Thu Duc and in the northern city of Da Nang in a display of political strength against the Buddhists. The paraders, showing pro-American sympathies, called on the government to put prime emphasis on prosecuting the war.

Many streets in Longview were impassable and water stood three feet deep in some areas. Over 7 inches of rainfall was recorded between midnight Saturday and noon Sunday.

An estimated $25,000 damage was caused Saturday night when a tornado whipped through the edge of Winnsboro, northwest of Longview.

Budget Hearing Tonight in Bloomfield Township

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on the proposed 1966-67 budget is scheduled for tonight at 8 p.m. at the township board meeting.

Included in the budget is a 23 per cent increase in spending over last year.

Proposed expenditures in the budget total $878,100; this year's allowance amounted to $714,100. Total income from taxes and other revenue is estimated at $857,450.

The deficit of $20,650 will be collected in miscellaneous funds including excess of tax roll, gasoline refund, sale of equipment, and the use of one-half mill from fire and site fund and road fund.

★ ★ ★

Township Supervisor Homer C. Case recommended the largest increase in the general government spending category.

UP $59,100

Expenditures here are up $59,100 from this year's figure of $219,300, making the total for general government $278,400.

Salaries for the supervisor, treasurer, clerk, assessor, clerical workers, and bookkeeping clerks will net $127,900 of this total.

Insurance, maintenance and equipment and supply costs account for the largest chunks outside of salaries in most departments.

★ ★ ★

FOR SALARIES

The fire department's proposed expenditures amount to $234,200, with $183,500 of this figure going for salaries. This year's budget allowed $194,900 for the department.

The building department is given $83,100 under the proposed budget with $66,000 of this amount for salaries. The allotment during the current fiscal year is $65,100.

Estimated costs for water and sewers are not listed under budget allotment, since they are self-supporting and operated on a revenue basis, not by property taxes.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the library budget also is excluded from the figures, since its funds are budgeted by the library board.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Advance registration for children entering kindergarten this fall will be held during the weeks of May 2 and May 16. The schedule is: Booth, May 19; Conant, May 2; Eastover, May 5; Hickory Grove, May 16; Pine Lake, May 4; Traub, May 3; Vaughan, May 17; and Wing Lake, May 18.

Families with last names beginning with letters A through F should register at 9 a.m.; G through L at 10:30 a.m.; M through R at 1 p.m.; and S through Z at 2:30 p.m. Children must accompany their parents.

Medical examination forms and questionnaires will be given out, and parents are asked to bring their child's birth certificate.

Interviews with the children will be held while the parents are conferring with school personnel.

Early registration will allow for the board of education and its Learning Abilities Laboratory to arrange summer programs in school readiness and speech therapy.

Merged Paper Is Hit by Strike

4 Other NY Dailies Continue to Publish

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike by the Newspaper Guild of New York has shut down the merged World Journal Tribune before the new corporation could start publication which had been scheduled for today.

A voluntary shutdown by four other daily newspapers was averted when their publishers decided to keep printing on a day-to-day basis.

★ ★ ★

Matt Meyer, president of the new corporation, said shortly before midnight that he could not predict when the merged papers would be published. This was in view of the fact that none of the 10 unions in the newspaper industry has a contract with the World Journal Tribune, Inc.

The AFL-CIO Newspaper Guild set up picket lines Sunday at the plants of the Journal-American, the World-Telegram & Sun and the Herald Tribune — all of which published their last editions as separate entities during the weekend.

The pickets signaled the start of the third major newspaper strike here in less than four years.

HAS SUPPORT

Officials of the Guild, which has the support of the other unions, said the strike was called primarily because of a dispute with the publishers over who should be dismissed in the merger and over layoff provisions. The Guild and the other unions are seeking provisions to cushion the effects of the merger on the 2,000 of the 5,700 union employes of the three papers who will lose their jobs. The Guild is to lose 904 of its 1,800 jobs.

Essentially, the Guild said the new corporation insisted on selecting its new staff without regard for seniority. The Guild wants layoffs made on a seniority basis along with severance pay for anyone who retires on a voluntary basis and extra severance pay for those dismissed.

Meyer said formal notification to all employes of their employment status began Sunday but that dismissals would not take effect until the strike is settled. Meyer said th graf.

But Humprey said leadership in the world requires "far more than a large stock of gunboats and a hard fist at the conference table" or the ability to go it alone, "although we much not be afraid to do so when necessary."

"Leadership today requires understanding of the problems we face—of the resources at hand—and of the objectives we seek," Humphrey said.

George E. Reedy, who has worked for President Johnson for 15 years, is leaving the White House staff.

REEDY

Reedy, a presidential assistant since he left the office of press secretary last July, will join an engineering firm, it was reported yesterday.

Reedy joined Johnson's staff when the President headed the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. He leaves his $30,000-a-year position to become vice president for planning of the Struthers Wells Corp., which has headquarters in New York.

California Governor Gets Jumping Frog

BROWN

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown was given a frog over the weekend to enter in the Calaveras County jumping frog contest at Angels Camp next month.

The event is inspired by the Mark Twain short story "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

The governor dubbed his frog "Rough and Ready."

'Cancer Virus Isolation Near'

Institute Head Says Death Rate at High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of the National Cancer Institute says that the identification of virus as a cause of cancer "may be within reach."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott made the statement in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee which was made public today. He also told the panel that deaths from cancer are at a higher rate than ever.

Endicott said that during the past year it has been "firmly established" that leukemia in cats is a virus disease. He said that particles similar to the virus in cats have been found in human beings.

In addition, laboratory cultures of human cancer cells have turned up an unidentified particle resembling a known virus.

★ ★ ★

"It is only a matter of time, I believe, until viruses join the list of causes of cancer in man," Endicott said.

★ ★ ★

The doctor said that in three decades the cancer cure rate has risen from 25 to 35 per cent. But the incidence of cancer has increased even more, from 112 to 153 per 100,000.

"New cancer causes must be at work," he said.

Residence of the governor of Hawaii is known as the "Washington Palace."

Tense Era Foreseen Over NATO Pullout

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Allied officials in Paris predict a long period of tension with France over President Charles de Gaulle's NATO pullout.

NEWSOM

The other 14 countries have decided not to let themselves be stampeded by deadlines.

The French fear the others may be playing a delaying game.

Serious negotiations are not expected to start until after the June 6-8 Brussels NATO foreign ministers meeting.

CHINESE VISIT: Some sources in the key listening post of Hong Kong believe Red Chinese President Liu Shao-chi is angling for a vist to North Viet Nam — and they believe Hanoi is resisting the idea.

They note Liu has visited Burma, Afghanistan and Pakistan recently and that a Viet Nam visit is politically desirable.

It not only would reassert but it also might help regain some of the influence Peking is believed to have lost to the Russians in Hanoi.

There is no hard evidence to support reports of Hanoi opposition, but observers are keeping a close watch for signs.

OLD FASHIONED IMAGE: The opening session of the NATO Treaty Council session in Brussels in June will be held in the mediaeval city hall despite a plea by some members this will give NATO an old-fashioned image.

Some members want the session to be held in the ultra-modern Palais de Congress where the working sessions are planned but those members were overruled by the historically minded school.

LOCAL AUTONOMY: The South Korean government ended local autonomy after the 1961 military coup. Restoration figures to be a key issue in next year's general election if the government keeps opposing the change.

President Park Chung Hee told newsmen last week the subject was not ripe for discussion because provincial governments get 70 to 80 per cent of their funds from the contral government in Seoul.

The opposition Minjoong party is ready to offer a bill demanding reestablishment of an least provincial councils. Continued government refusal could touch off an uproar.

THANT — DE GAULLE: United Nations Secretary General U Thant will lunch with President de Gaulle in Paris Saturday en route to Strasbourg to address the council of Europe's consulative assembly May 2.

They are expected to discuss Viet Nam as well as U.N. problems — particularly France's continued refusal to pay its share of the Congo operation.

Geology Research Key to Curb Volcano Havoc

By Science Service

LONDON—Needless destruction of lives and property from erupting volcanoes could be prevented if governments would spend more money and take heed of geologists' research.

Many chains of seemingly inactive but potentially dangerous volcanoes could be guarded by a few men and inexpensive equipment, believes Dr. Alexander R. McBirney, director of the Center for Volcanology at the University of Oregon, Eugene.

This constant watch would greatly reduce the possibility of unforseen eruptions of "sleeping" volcanoes, commonly the most violent and destructive kind, Dr. McBirney reports in 2 recent publications.

Volcanoes with no recent record of activity are difficult to study. Because they seem so quiet, they are considered harmless by people living nearby and by governments who therefore do not wish to spend money on their observation.

★ ★ ★

For days, months, sometimes years before a volcano erupts, shock waves may jolt the area, the volcano's magnetic field may grow stronger or weaker, and the ground may swell and tilt in preparation for the "big blowup."

WARNING SIGNAL'S

These warning signals emitted by the rumbling volcano could be interpreted as indications of the volcano's next eruption, and enable thousands of people to be saved from death.

Three instruments are especially useful for keeping a watchful lookout on volcanic activities, said Dr. McBirney.

They are seismographs for measuring shifting rocks, magnetometers for measuring changes in magnetic fields and tiltmeters for measuring any changes around the crater as the rising magma or molten rock pushes out the volcano's sides.

The seismograph is by far the reliable and widely used tool for forecasting eruptions, said Dr. McBirney. Nearly all volcanic eruptions are preceded by seismic shocks or earthquakes.

If the pattern of such earthquakes could be determined for each volcano, geologists might be able estimate accurately when a volcano is ready to erupt.

'Did Strangling or Ax Kill?'

Question Is Posed in Moors Murder Trial

CHESTER, England (UPI)— A pathologist testified in the "bodies on the moor" case today that 17-year-old Edward Evans might have already been dead from ax wounds when an attempt was made to strangle him.

Dr. Charles Edward St. Hill, a Crown witness, told of examining the body of Evans which was found last Oct. 6 in the home of Ian Brady, 28, and Myra Hindley, 23, both of whom are charged with three murders.

The point is important to the defense which contends that Brady killed Evans with the ax in an unpremeditated quarrel.

Emlyn Hooson, counsel for Brady, asked the witness:

"It is conceivable that the body was just dead when it a ligature) was applied, that the heart had ceased beating a very short time, a matter of seconds before the flex (wire) was applied?"

'JUST POSSIBLE'

"It is just possible,"' the witness replied.

Brady, a slender clerk, and Miss Hindley, a tall, poker-faced, silver-blonde, are also accused of murdering 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey and 12-year-old John Kilbride.

Both children were allegedly sexually molested before their bodies were buried on the bleak Yorkshire morrs.

★ ★ ★

The defense scored another point when biologist Colin Bancroft said he found bloodstains on the clothing of Miss Hindley, Brady and David Smith, 18, the chief Crown witness who testified he had been an unwilling spectator of the murder of Evans.

CROSS-EXAMINED

Under cross-examination, Bancroft agreed that, broadly speaking, there was a similar position of blood on Smith's clothing as on Brady'a.

Sanity Tests Ordered in Knifing Case

Sanity tests have been ordered for an 18-year-old Flint sailor charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a Southfield businessman a month ago.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer approved the psychiatric examination for Barrie S. Moody and has scheduled a hearing on the results for May 3.

Moody is accused of the March 25 stabbing of Albert S. Smith, 43, of 22572 N. Bellwood during a robbery.

Dr. Jerome Fink and Dr. William Gordon were named by Beer to examine Moody.

★ ★ ★

The sanity hearing was requested shortly after Moody was bound over to Circuit Court following his preliminary examination Friday in Southfield Municipal Court.

Hundreds Hunt Missing Boy in Catskill Wilds

FALLSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Spurred by footprints in the mud, hundreds of volunteer searchers covered 10 square miles of Catskill woods and swamps today for a lost boy.

Ross Davis, 7, of nearby Neversink, was last seen Saturday afternoon in the back yard of his grandparents' home at Divine Corners near here.

★ ★ ★

His disappearance was reported that night, and an all-day search Sunday was fruitless.

State and local police, soldiers from West Point, airmen from Stewart Air Force Base and other volunteers joined the search. Planes were being sent by a New York City Civil Air Patrol unit.

Police said the boy is a shy child who might be avoiding his would-be rescuers.

Wallet Reported Stolen

Dale DeHaven, 1230 Taylor, Pontiac Township, reported to Waterford Township police yesterday theft of his wallet, containing $12 and a $13 check, from the IAC, 60 N. Tilden.

Book Gives Insults for Use Abroad

LONDON (AP) — British publisher Peter Wolfe is bringing out a dictionary of insults so British and American tourists can be abusive in four languages.

"It's an entirely new weapon for the English-speaking traveler abroad who does not naturally possess the gift of tongues," said Wolfe.

★ ★ ★

"It's the means by which he may speak his mind, giving back a hard word for a hard deed. It provides him with a cutting edge to every complaint — a term of abuse for every strongfelt need.

A SAMPLING

Here is a sampling:

For use in a bad restaurant — "Do you serve ingredients identified on labels with every course?"

★ ★ ★

German — Geben sie zu jedem gang verdauungstabletten?

French — Vous divriez servir entre chaque plat des pilules contre les max d'estomac?

Italian — Con ogni portata servite anche delle pasticche digestive?

Spanish — Sirven pastillas digestivas con cada comida?

RESTAURANT REMARK

Affronted by a dirty restaurant, the tourist should ask: "Do you keep pigs in here between meal times?"

If the service is slow, ask: "When did the waiters start their strike?"

★ ★ ★

For use on taxi drivers: "How many other people have you killed today?"

The insult dictionary contains 35 sections, ranging from words at the railway station to things to say to policemen.

★ ★ ★

The publisher warned: "I hasten to add that I cannot accept responsibility for any consequences that may flow from the use of terms contained in this book."

Woman Pilot 'Forgets' Trip

Refuses to Discuss Atlantic Emergency

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Veteran American pilot Louise Sacchi today refused to talk about her solo flight of the Atlantic in which she had to call for help.

"I don't want to talk about this trip," said Miss Sacchi. "I want to forget all about it."

★ ★ ★

The pilot — who has flown the Atlantic 45 times and the Pacific once in small planes — is delivering a small American-made plane to a buyer in Germany.

Shannon airport officials said they were alerted just before midnight that Miss Sacchi's plane was in trouble about 1,000 miles off the Irish coast.

PRESSURE DOWN

Flying eastward from St. Pierre, Newfoundland, she signalled that the plane's oil pressure was down and the engine heated up. Shannon officials said she then circled the weather ship Charlie for about an hour.

After her report, a Hercules plane of the U.S. Air Force's 67th Air Rescue Section, based at Prestwick Scotland, flew to her assistance and escorted her to Shannon, where she made a perfect landing after 14 hours in the air.

★ ★ ★

On landing, Miss Sacchi said the trouble on the plane had corrected itself. She said she had not asked for help, but had reported on the temporary abnormal condition of the plane's engine.

Dollar's Gas Cost Too Much

Luther Crane, 57, of 15 Cross pulled into a service station at 382 Orchard Lake yesterday, ordered one dollar's worth of gas and gave the man who pumped it a $20 bill.

When the man didn't return, Crane investigated and, with the assistance of station employes, determined that his "attendant" was evidently in business for himself.

★ ★ ★

The man, described as wearing a blue work shirt and blue jeans, is sought by Pontiac police.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

New Remedies Aid in Acne Treatment

BRANDSTADT

Q — My daughter, 21, has pimples on her chin. All the remedies she has tried have failed. Sulfur and molasses cured me when I was her age. Should she try it? Would X ray help?

A — Acne is primarily a disease of adolescence. When you reached the ripe old age of 21, your acne cleared up spontaneously.

* * *

Your taking sulfur and molasses was coincidental.

Your daughter's skin should improve soon but in the meantime, she might want to try some of the newer acne remedies, such as the local application of benzoyl peroxide and sulfur emulsion (Dermabase), various antibiotics (tetracycline, erythromycin, benzyl penicillin or sulfadimethoxine) or, by mouth, trypsin with chymotrypsin (Chymoral).

Many skin specialists, however, still insist that the best treatment is to wash the face twice a day with a soap that contains hexachlorophene.

X-ray treatments will clear up the condition, but the effect is temporary and is recommended only as an emergency measure in preparation for getting married.

Q — I have a high blood pressure and have been taking Singoserp and Aldomet. Both have controlled my blood pressure. Is it harmful to take these drugs indefinitely? What are their side effects?

A — Methyldopa (Aldomet) should not be taken by persons with liver disease nor by pregnant women.

In too large a dose, it may cause headache, weakness and dizziness.

Syrosingopine (Singoserp), a synthetic reserpine, should not be taken by persons with peptic ulcer.

Large doses may cause drowsiness, headache, nausea and depression.

Since high blood pressure is usually chronic, it is wise to vary the treatment every five or six months.

Q — What causes gurgling, growling and rumbling in the stomach?

A — First you have to have both liquid (normal) and gas (abnormal) in your digestive tract, then you have to have some lively goings-on.

You can illustrate this by filling a hot water bottle full and shaking it. No noise.

Then remove half of the water, let air in and hang it on a hook. No noise.

Then shake it vigorously. Gurgle, gurgle.

To get rid of your rumblings, you must avoid eating well-known gas formers and you must avoid laxatives or foods that stir up intestinal activity.

Blue Movies Served at Tea

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Night shift workers at an automobile factory have been watching pornographic movies during their tea breaks, it was disclosed during the weekend.

Plant detectives found more than 100 men crammed into a small room at 2 a.m. watching the films. Authorities said some workers at the factory and several office girls had starring roles in the two productions.

Workers were charged 28 cents admission and one told authorities the films had become "a regular part of night shift life."
