HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper, the nation's most seasoned space traveler, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. were selected today to fly the seven-day Gemini space flight.

Chosen as the back-up crew were two civilians — Neil A. Armstrong and Elliott M. See Jr. Both are former Navy pilots.

Cooper was a member of the original seven-man Mercury astronaut crew. See, Armstrong and Conrad were among the nine men selected in a second group of astronaut trainees Sept. 17, 1962.

The four were assigned to the third manned Gemini flight — probably to be made this fall — at a news briefing at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Cooper, 37, flew his Faith 7 Mercury capsule 32 times around the globe May 15-16, 1963, for a total time of 34 hours and 20 minutes. He is a native of Shawnee, Okla.

SMALL SPACEMAN

Conrad, 34, of Philadelphia is the smallest of the 28 astronauts and the only Ivy Leaguer.

He was graduated from Princeton in 1953 with a bachelor of science degree in aeronautical engineering.

He is 5 feet 6½ and weighs 138 pounds.

The first manned Gemini flight is expected in March or April and will be for only three orbits. The second space probe will be of four-day duration and is expected some time this summer.

The GTS, as it is called, is the most ambitious manned space mission yet tackled by the United States.

It will be the longest trip in space, and during the flight the astronauts are scheduled to step outside their spacecraft as it hurtles 25,000 miles per hour. They also are to rendezvous with a 56-pound pod shot from the capsule on the first orbit.

Winter's Brief

Absence Due to End Today

Looks like you can exchange your water wings for a fur coat and ear muffs if the weatherman's prediction comes to pass.

Partially clearing skies and slowly falling temperatures will find tonight's mercury reading in the 15 to 25 range.

Tuesday will be colder with the highs ranging from 28 to 32. Intermittent snow flurries will accompany cloudy skies.

At 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac, the mercury stood at 35. By 2 p.m. cooler winds had forced it down to 30.

Dock Strike Is Believed Near End

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tentative agreement reached late last night in the Philadelphia dock strike apparently paves the way for an end to the paralyzing East and Gulf Coast longshoremen's strike, which has cost the nation some $6 billion in commerce.

The 2,500 members of Local 1291 will vote tomorrow night or Wednesday on ratification of the agreement, which came after a marathon 33-hour negotiating session that began at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The brown-eyed beauty was named Junior Miss as a climax to the three-day pageant held at Pontiac Northern High School.

...were Lynn Tar of Dearborn and Carolyn Mason of Garden City. Miss Mason also was awarded the scholarship trophy and Lana Lovelady of Southgate was named the talent winner.

Nearly 1,000 persons filled the PNH auditorium Saturday night to watch the talent and evening gown phases of the competition.

VOCAL SELECTION

The new Junior Miss presented a vocal selection from the musical "Camelot" for her talent presentation.

After the pageant the high school senior said "she never planned on winning" and considered the Junior Miss Pageant a "great experience, win or lose."

Her father, a teacher and coach at Eau Claire High School near St. Joseph, was more expressive:

"You hope your daughter will win because in your mind she is the best. But when she does win, well, it is still very unexpected."

TO ATTEND MSU

Patrice plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall and study for a degree in education.

The three-day pageant was sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce. While in Pontiac, all girls stayed with area families.

In addition to an all-expense-paid trip to Mobile for the national competition, the winner was presented a $1,000 scholarship, 10-piece wardrobe, phonograph, radio and other prizes. The two runners-up each received $250 scholarships.

LBJ: Preserve Beauty of U.S.

President Presents Conservation Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called today for a wide-ranging program to preserve and enhance America's beauty.

It included attacks on air and water pollution, more parks and recreational areas, and elimination of eyesore junk yards along the nation's highways.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said that while the federal government can do much, a beautiful America will require the effort of government at every level of business and private groups.

"I am hopeful that we can summon such a national effort," Johnson said.

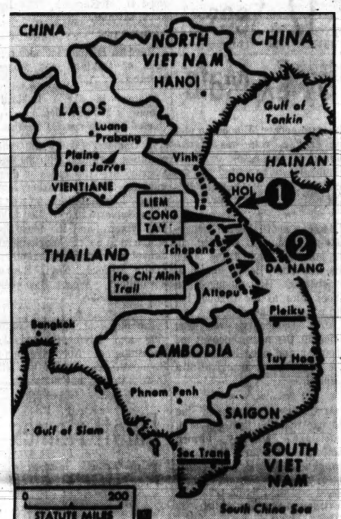

"For we have not chosen to have an ugly America. We have been careless and often neglectful. But now that the danger is clear and the hour is late the people can place themselves in the path of the tide of blight which is often irreversible and always destructive."

SALVAGE BEAUTY

Johnson said "we must not only protect the countryside and save it from destruction, we must restore what has been destroyed and salvage the beauty and charm of our cities."

For the cities, he recommended a community extension program which will bring the resources of universities to focus on problems of the community just as they have long been concerned with rural areas.

U.S. Seen Following Strike-for-Strike Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders came away from a White House National Security Council meeting today with the impression that the United States is following a strike-for-strike policy in Viet Nam.

Although none of them would comment directly, it was their obvious understanding that the United States will answer with air raids any new Communist attacks on its troops and installations in South Viet Nam.

The Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders, who sat in on the Security Council session, voiced in separate interviews full support for President Johnson's orders for the two air strikes on North Viet Nam installations which were carried out as a result of Communist attacks Saturday.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, said Johnson "had no choice in the matter."

"His purpose is to achieve stability, if possible, so the South Vietnamese government can manage its own affairs within South Viet Nam," he said.

"I think he is proceeding cautiously and carefully with full appreciation of all elements involved in any move he directs."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, said after the Security Council session he is giving full support to Johnson's course.

"We're going to carry out in South Viet Nam our initial purpose and objective of aiding these people to retain their freedom," Dirksen said.

"The President has the power to act and he will do what is necessary."

Sheriff's deputies said the eastbound Niles' car and the westbound Ramsdell car collided head-on in the westbound lane of Grangehall.

The fatal accident occurred about 2:20 p.m. Saturday.

Agreements still are to be reached in Galveston, Tex., and Miami, Fla.

Negotiators for the ILS and the Hampton Roads Maritime Association reached tentative agreement on a new contract Saturday.

The 2,000 longshoremen there vote tomorrow on the agreement.

Baltimore also has reached a settlement, but it is to be studied by a committee. Local issues were resolved in Boston some time ago and the 4,500 dockers there have voted in favor of contract terms.

New York, the largest port in the nation, has reached a settlement, including a provision for a guaranteed annual wage.

Horror Girl, 12, Sees Mother Slain by Ex-Mate

NEW YORK (AP) — A serene Sunday afternoon in the American Museum of Natural History erupted into a nightmare as an embittered violin maker shot and killed his former wife and the screams of children and their horrified parents.

About 30 persons were in the majestic entrance hall when five shots rang out and Gertrude Didchenko, 43, slumped to the floor. A trembling onlooker was her daughter, Susan, 12.

The father, Dmytro Didchenko, 72, described as a master craftsman, was subdued by museum guards and a visitor, a retired city detective.

The Russian-born Didchenko, charged with homicide, was asked where he got the foreign made pistol. He replied: "In America anyone can get a gun."

WAS PAWN
Dark-haired Susan, police said, was a pawn in the severed marriage as her parents argued over custody and visitation rights in court battles dating back to 1957.

Less than four months ago the museum was the scene of a $410,000 jewel robbery in which the fabulous Star of India sapphire was stolen. It since has been recovered.

Authorities gave this account of the shooting:
Shortly after 1 p.m., when the museum opened, Didchenko met his ex-wife, who was accompanied by Susan and a friend, Frank Bossio, a retired city detective, also of Rego Park, Queens.

After a short, heated conversation, Didchenko whipped out the gun and began firing. After the first shot, Bossio lunged at Didchenko. He managed to knock him to the ground, but the pistol continued to fire.

Mrs. Didchenko was shot twice in the neck, once in the shoulder and once in the knee. She was dead upon arrival at a hospital.

A tragic aftermath of the slaying was the death of Mrs. Didchenko's attorney, former State Sen. Bernard Tompkins, 61, who had been called in to care for Susan. He collapsed and died as he talked to newsmen at a police station.

The domestic affairs of the Didchenkos, married in 1952, were tangled from the beginning, according to testimony by German-born Mrs. Didchenko in State Supreme Court eight years ago.

FINANCED WEDDING
While seeking custody of Susan, Mrs. Didchenko told Justice Louis J. Capozzoli that Didchenko financed her wedding to a displaced person in Germany, enabling her to come to this country.

gets in coordinated raids but foul weather grounded them. YANK IS HIT

Ky reported one of the American jets on the raid today was hit by fire, but he said there were no U.S. casualties. He suffered a shrapnel wound in his arm.

One Vietnamese A-1E Skyraider was hit over the target but returned to Da Nang. Another Vietnamese pilot was hit in the neck by shrapnel.

The Soviet news agency Tass, in a dispatch from Hanoi where Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is a visitor, claimed the North Vietnamese ground forces downed three U.S. planes at noon over Dong Hoi, the Gulf of Tonkin port that was bombed and strafed by carrier-based Navy jets Sunday.

Communist China's Radio Peking claimed 10 U.S. planes were downed in the raids — four yesterday, three at noon today and three more later this afternoon.

PLANE LOST
In Washington, the U.S. Defense Department said one Navy plane was lost yesterday and that none was missing after the second attack.

In Saigon, and in many parts of South Viet Nam, the 819 U.S. government dependents prepared to leave. Many of them expressed reluctance to go.

The first group of dependents is due to depart by commercial airliner tomorrow.

U.S. pilots at this base 100 miles south of the northern border said they were prepared to beat off any Communist air attacks on South Viet Nam. They expressed confidence they could quickly gain air superiority.

MARINES LAND
Elements of a U.S. Marine Corps anti-aircraft missile battalion arrived in Saigon.

Ky identified the villages as Liem Cong Tay, That Le and Song Song, all near the frontier and along a route leading to the border.

The committee, headed by John Wolf, a Saigon attorney, will hold its organization meeting at 1 p.m., Wednesday at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing.

PUBLIC MEETING
The committee has scheduled a public meeting for the afternoon of Feb. 19 in Lansing, and then will meet in private to apply the finishing touches to the document before sending it to the convention for approval the following morning.

Elliott predicted the platform would "almost certainly bear the Romney brand" in that it will be "constructive in purpose" and "forward-looking in its objectives."

In addition to adopting their platform, Republicans at the two-day convention will elect a state chairman and vice chairman, along with a complete 76-member state central committee.

18 Reds Killed in Burma
RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Eighteen Communist guerrillas were killed yesterday in a battle with government forces near Pegu, 60 miles from Rangoon, according to official reports. Three government troops were killed in the hour-long battle, the reports said.

The South Vietnamese planes that participated in the raid today apparently came from the U.S.-Vietnamese air base at Da Nang, 80 miles south of the North Vietnamese border.

Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported that a flight of Vietnamese propeller-driven Skylanders took off with heavy loads of bombs from Da Nang. Officials there refused to say where they were headed.

In the raids yesterday 40 U.S. Navy planes from two carriers attacked barracks and staging areas at Dong Hoi, 45 miles across the Communist border.

Six new turbo-jet helicopters, two twin engine transports and three light spotter planes were heavily damaged. Officials said a normal guard of 48 Vietnamese — half the guard detachment — were on duty, along with U.S. sentries.

The Americans said one plane was hit and crashed in the sea. Its pilot, Lt. Edward A. Dickson of Wyoming, Pa., reportedly ejected and Navy ships were looking for him.

EIGHT KILLED
The United States said eight Americans were killed at Pleiku and more than 100 wounded.

Russians, Chinese Blast U.S.
MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said in Hanoi today the situation developing in Viet Nam is "fraught with serious complications for which the United States of America will bear full responsibility."

Speaking at a Soviet Embassy reception, Kosygin said the air raids on North Viet Nam were "new provocation and aggressive actions of American interventionists."

In Moscow, Ivestia published a pledge by Kosygin yesterday to back Hanoi against U.S. attacks and said "It is necessary to put an end to the dangerous provocations."

A top Communist Chinese army officer condemned the U.S. air strikes carried out yesterday and today against Communist North Viet Nam and declared the "Chinese people absolutely will not stand by idly before the U.S. imperialists' aggressive action."

Peking's official New China News Agency said that warning was issued by Senior Gen. Lo Jui-ching, deputy premier and chief of the general staff of the Chinese Peoples Liberation Army.

Backing of the American action was voiced by various friends of the United States around the world.

SUPPORTS U.S.
British officials reported Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor Government understands and supports U.S. reprisal actions against military targets in North Viet Nam.

Australia's foreign minister, Paul Hasluck, announced Australian support. He said in a statement in Canberra: "The aggressor holds the answer. He either has to stop or be stopped."

Foreign Minister Thanat Khunan of Thailand told newsmen in Bangkok "This is an act of self defense, an attempt to stop aggression and to prevent expansion of the war by the Communists."

A neutralist position was taken by the chief of staff of Laos' armed forces, Gen. Duane Rathbone, whose troops put down a rightist factional revolt last week. Asked for comment on the Vietnamese situation at a news conference in Vientiane, he said: "This is beyond us."

Birmingham Area News

Group Will Urge City to Make W. Maple Safer

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners tonight will be urged to ease the traffic safety problem on West Maple, scene of an auto accident which took the lives of four young people three weeks ago.

Petitioning the commission for action is the Birmingham Park Improvement Association, representing all 77 property owners on Hawthorne, Aspen and Linden.

Association president James W. Frederick noted that excessive speed on the street running through the residential area causes serious accidents.

"Also, this excessive speed combined with the heavy traffic make any attempt by motorists to gain access to West Maple from the side streets, or to turn onto a side street from Maple, a very hazardous situation," he added.

Members of the association are seeking:

- Installation of a traffic control light at some intersection on Southfield and Chesterfield to break the present continuous flow of traffic.
- Reduction of the present speed limit which would enable drivers to have better control of their vehicles.
- Continued and maximized effort to enforce the traffic laws in West Maple.

In his report to the commission, City Manager R. S. Kenning notes that the area has been under study since Dec. 14, nearly a month before the fatal accident there.

Traffic volume and speed surveys have been conducted and sent to the city's traffic engineer for review and recommendations, Kenning said.

Kenning commented that there were 55 accidents on the stretch between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1964. Half of these were at the West Maple-Southfield intersection, he said.

Also on tonight's City Commission agenda are items which the group was to consider at its meeting last week, cancelled because of lack of a quorum.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Voters in the Bloomfield Hills School District today are deciding the fate of a 3.3-mill tax increase to cover the cost of a new salary schedule for teachers.

The proposed 15-year increase would be added to a levy which currently includes 18.83 mills for operation and 5.88 mills for bond retirement.

Feature of the proposed salary schedule is a plan to award merit pay to superior teachers.

While waiting for election returns tonight, school board members will hold a special session to discuss possible emergency action regarding the district's second high school site.

Eleven Lasser Road property owners have filed a suit in Oakland County Circuit Court to prohibit the board from building the school on its site there.

Trial on the matter has been postponed until March 2, therefore throwing off the construction schedule for the school.

Board members will gather at 8 tonight.

Says Host to Nazi Had 'Hate Literature'

A Farmington man, who once invited the lead of the American Nazi Party to his house to speak, was arrested today and charged with criminal libel in the distribution of "hate literature."

Arraigned on the charge before Farmington Municipal Judge Sylvester Pherry, the accused, Russell Roberts, 64, of 32710 Grand River, pleaded innocent and was released on $100 bond. No trial date was set.

The complaint was brought against Roberts by Farmington Police Chief Maurice Foltz, who said his department has been investigating the material since it was first brought to their attention in late December.

Foltz said the material contained in the one page leaflet is aimed at the degradation of Negroes and Jews and "in my opinion is vile."

In issuing the warrant, Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said, "My office is not going to sit on its hands and let this type of material continue to be distributed unchecked."

Roberts, who police say is a self-employed draftsman, had George Lincoln Rockwell, Nazi party chief in the U.S., address a crowd in front of his home in the summer of 1963, according to Foltz.

Mrs. Rosa Gelstein, 65, of 2792 Pine Heights, West Bloomfield Township, died Saturday when the airliner on which she was a passenger crashed and burned in the Andes Mountains in Chile.

Mrs. Gelstein, a Gray Lady at Pontiac General Hospital, divided her residence between the United States and Buenos Aires.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. Lazaro Gelstein, with whom she made her home when in West Bloomfield Township, and Isidore of Buenos Aires; several brothers and sisters; and six grandchildren.

King Going to Montgomery for Voter Drive

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says he will go to Montgomery, Ala., for more voter registration activity before voting to Washington to discuss a Negro voter drive.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months. In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

here with the vice president and attorney general in Washington. King said he would meet with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach Tuesday, and also hoped to meet with President Johnson.

At the same time, the Rev. James Bevel called U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas "a smart segregationist" and said that even though voter registration books are not open Negroes planned to attempt to register today.

Bevel, a field secretary in King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said Sunday night Thomas' order dealing with Negro registration did not go far enough.

MARCHES PLANNED
Demonstrations also are planned in Marion, Ala., Bevel reported.

King said Washington conferences on the problems on Negroes seeking to register to vote had been set for today but were canceled due to international developments.

The Negro leader said he would go to Montgomery to attend a mass meeting. On Tuesday, he added, he would lead a day-to-day vote march on the courthouse.

Budd, UAW Reach Accord at 2 Plants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Representatives of the United Auto Workers Union and the Budd Co. reached agreement on contract terms Sunday for the company's Hunting Park and Red Lion plants here.

Negotiations were continuing at Budd plants in Gary, Ind., and Detroit. The union has been working without a contract at the plants here since the previous contract expired last Oct. 1.

A company spokesman who announced the settlement said work would resume this morning here. He said talks were continuing on local issues at the other plants. A general agreement had been reached about two weeks ago.

several decades to register all the eligible Negroes," King declared Sunday.

He added: "Thousands of Negroes peacefully attempting to register have been jailed; in fact there were more Negroes in the jails in Selma than there were on the voter rolls."

"The tools contained in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 are not sufficient. There is a clear and urgent need for new and improved federal legislation and for expanded law enforcement measures finally to eliminate all barriers to the right to vote."

Earlier, it was reported that the Dallas County Board of Registrars at Selma planned to make all appearance book available to Negro voter applicants in the hall of the courthouse. Applicants signing the book would be given a number indicating the order in which they should appear before the board.

It Seems to Me

Two Michiganders May Help Republican Reorganization

Supreme Court Justice POTTER Stewart has been mentioned several times as one of the reorganizing forces of a new Republican party, along with GERALD FORD of Grand Rapids.

Here are two sound men who command the respect of the GOP's warring elements. This nation was founded on the two-party system and there must always be an opposition to keep them in office "honest" and on their toes.

Interestingly enough, STEWART is originally a Michigander who was born in Jackson. If these two were pushed into top party spots, the Wolverine State would be heavily represented at the very summit.

Justice Potter Stewart cast the lone "no" vote on the two school prayer decisions. We can all cheer for that. Insider's Newsletter says "he is a smooth blend of the aristocrat and the practical man, and fits the mold of the new-style politician." He served as a Naval Officer in World War II and won three battle stars.

Both men are about fifty. Both are Presidential possibilities.

McNamara Rumors...

Currently, Secretary of Defense ROBERT MCNAMARA is recuperating from a mild physical set-back, but rumors are strong and vigorous.

First, they hinted he was mentioned off-stage as Secretary of the Treasury. Yours truly offered to wager folding money he'd come home before he gave up his current post for that one. (If the proposition contemplated an amalgamation, it didn't say so.)

Now the scuttlebutt says he may head an entirely new agency. The U. S. News declares it: "would have power to bring about a broad reorganization of the Federal Government in the interests of efficiency." The News adds: "The President... feels the present machinery... is cumbersome and antiquated."

This makes more sense. Responsibilities would increase. I'm convinced from observation and the comment of men like E. R. BRECH who know McNamara intimately that he's the smartest man in Washington service today. He will never move any way but one—UP.

Change in Attitude...

As time passes, Washington newspaper men detect a change in the general attitude of President LYNDON B. JOHNSON.

For the first year, he seemed to live in the memory of his predecessor and made an obvious effort to do precisely what he, believed the late JOHN F. KENNEDY would have done.

Now that he has been elected on his own and literally "wears no man's collar," he is tightening the reins. Assistants are delegated less authority apparently, and they have been advised to say less to newspapermen. The "inquiring reporter" is politely told to "phone the President."

And there's a laugh in that. They can't get LBJ on the phone. JOHN F. MOTT

So-o-o-o-o-o-o control is more and more centralized at the White House.

Great Pioneer...

With the Associated Press in 110 different countries, singling out one individual as "Mr. A.P." is debatable, but the New York Herald Tribune unhesitatingly does just that.

It names KENT COOPER. Surely he is a special case.

During the formative periods and the earlier expansions, "KC" was a giant figure. He had the courage, the vision and the foresight to know "how, when, why and where" to an astounding degree.

He earned the respect and affection of an amazingly complex group of individuals with widely divergent interests. He lived for the Associated Press and his death brings a personal sense of loss to many of this huge family throughout the world.

He was followed by Frank Starzel and now Wes Gallagher—an incredibly competent trio that covers an extended period of years—and all of whom are indelibly interwoven with the great A. P. advancements.

An especially honored news service pioneer bows out for good.

And in Conclusion...

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

The two greatest college basketball players in the world are Michigan's RUSSELL and Princeton's BRADLEY. Further, they may be the greatest collegians in the current decade. As a Princeton freshman, BRADLEY once had a run of 57 consecutive foul shots in a row over several games without a miss.

Reluctantly, I agree with a few pals who say they've seen the ALFRED HITCHCOCK show for the last time. Once an outstanding TV feature, it slowly slid into the depths. I hear Olds may put out a front wheel drive next fall.

Trusted scouts advise me that Zora Zunic rates as one of the attractive young ladies in the area.

Permanently unemployed drifters and congenial bums are congregating in Miami and Florida to the alarm of officials. Did you hear about the two college quarterbacks who were offered the Vice Presidency of the U.S. but turned it down? They couldn't afford the cut in salary.

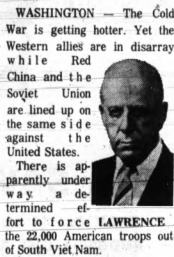

Here's the latest from the drawing boards: a giant rocket plane to carry 1,200 passengers and fly to London in 30 minutes. And the latest for ground propulsion is a tube through which vehicles are propelled at 2,000 miles an hour. Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—Miss Patrice Gauder, selected Saturday night as Miss Junior Miss of Michigan; the J's—that Sunday night foggy fog fog fog.

David Lawrence Says:

Viet Raids Won't Scare Off U.S.

WASHINGTON — The Cold War is getting hotter. Yet the Western allies are in disarray while Red China and the Soviet Union are lined up on the same side against the United States.

There is apparently under way a determined effort to force LAWRENCE, the 22,000 American troops out of South Viet Nam.

The North Viet Nam government — with arms supplied by the Communists — has just made two attacks in South Viet Nam against U.S. installations. Seven Americans were killed and 109 were wounded in the most costly assault against American troops in the Viet Nam war.

The prompt retaliation by the United States and South Viet Nam in ordering bombing raids against North Viet Nam is an indication that the United States is not going to be frightened into a withdrawal.

All this happened at the very time that Soviet Premier Kossygin, conferring in Hanoi with the North Viet Nam government, was offering not merely economic help but more military aid directly related to air operations.

INTERNAL DISTURBANCES

Internal disturbances, moreover, have been instigated by the Red Chinese in Laos and Thailand.

President Johnson is trying very hard to avoid doing anything that could bring about an "escalation" toward a major conflict. But the situation is building up to the point where the United States may not be able to remain passive much longer or to limit its operations to mere reprisals.

There is speculation of all kinds here as to what the Soviet purpose is in offering military aid to North Viet Nam at this particular time.

Some wishful thinkers express the belief that perhaps Russia wants to get into the situation sufficiently to exercise some kind of neutralizing influence.

But the Moscow government is not interested in pulling American chestnuts out of the fire. It seeks only to add to the complications that will mean more troubles for the United States government.

COMMON PURPOSE

While Red China and the Soviet Union are at loggerheads on ideological questions, there can be little doubt that they have a common purpose in trying to get the United States out of Asia.

President Johnson has displayed a great deal of caution in recent weeks in dealing with the Viet Nam situation and with international politics generally.

The impression prevails here that he wants to feel his way. This may explain a certain deliberateness in his official behavior. He is said to prefer to take his time about any new moves in Southeast Asia until Soviet intentions in Viet Nam are clarified.

For the moment, there is a mistaken tendency in some quarters in Washington to assume that one of the courses under consideration might well be American withdrawal from South Viet Nam altogether. But the majority sentiment in Congress is opposed to this.

FORM OF RETREAT

Such a step would certainly be construed as a form of retreat or surrender.

Within the last two days the President, with the advice of the National Security Council, has sought, by taking decisive steps in Viet Nam, to remove any possible thought by the Communists that they can continue their aggression without a serious challenge by the United States.

(Copyright, 1965, New York Herald Tribune Syndicate, Inc.)

Smiles

The current fad for keeping restaurants and lounges as dark as a bat's cave suggests that table settings should include a flashlight, as well as knives, forks and spoons.

When you hear a guy complaining about all the work his boss loads on him, just remind him that it will be a sad day when the boss has no work for him.

Disobedient children in some of our schools often say their teachers saying, "You don't dare touch me." Under recent Supreme Court rulings, the police are all but stopped from questioning persons under suspicion of having committed crimes. Suspected criminals are beginning to say, "Confessions are illegal."

One District Attorney remarked recently, "We're now spending 50 per cent of our time hassling over confessions. No one seems to care whether defendant is guilty or not." Many a guilty man, including some who have confessed, is set free on technicalities.

This is all part of a soft sentimental attitude toward wrongdoers. The criminal seems to get more sympathy today than his victim. Rape and other heinous crimes are punished with very short sentences and then criminals are quickly paroled to rob, rape and murder others. Most of our horrible crimes are committed by persons with previous criminal records.

Not Reihred by Dems

'Spy' Loses Steno Post

LANSING (AP) — Attractive Margaret Allen, a stenographer and part-time model who did some undercover work for the Michigan State Police, has lost her job as secretary to Democrats in the State House of Representatives.

Richard L. Miller, executive secretary to House Speaker Joseph K. Kowalski, Detroit Democrat, confirmed the legislators had not rehired the girl. "She was unsupervisable," he said.

Miss Allen, a former East Lansing resident, now resides in Berkley and works for the Ford Tractor Division in Birmingham. She said she took the job last December after waiting three months to hear from Democrats whether she would be rehired.

State Police said information obtained by Miss Allen was helpful to them in an October, 1963, raid on an Oakland County club. Twenty-one persons are due for Circuit Court trial this month on various gambling and conspiracy charges resulting from the raid.

THIS FEBRUARY EVENT BEGAN LAST NOVEMBER

But you're just in time... It's just that we started planning and working last November, December and January to bring you the many special purchases you will find during the month of February at Highland... It's a fact... our buyers traveled the nation, they searched, found and bought... not just ordinary buys at ordinary dealer prices... but very special purchases, manufacturer's clearances, distributor's close-outs, factory surpluses, we bought by the carload, by the truckload — we bought at great savings to be sold at even greater savings. We specified delivery in February to give our stores a chance to clear their decks... everything is ready — our stores are stocked, you will find many new items — everything is top-brand, top-quality. And all these special purchases are tagged at even less than Highland's traditionally low prices. Come in today — you'll be just in time for the event that started three months ago!

BUY WITH NO MONEY DOWN • 3 YEARS TO PAY

Segregationist Maddox Shuts Restaurant as Negro Shows Up

ATLANTA (AP) — Lester A. Maddox, a segregationist who lost a long court struggle against serving Negroes, looked his cafeteria and offered it for sale when one appeared at his door.

Only Saturday, Maddox announced that he would serve Negroes, after a lengthy court fight in which U.S. District Judge Frank A. Hooper ruled he was in civil contempt. It was the first such ruling under the Civil Rights Act.

"I'm happy now," said the 49-year-old slim, bespectacled Maddox yesterday. "What I've been going through is worse than death itself."

Wary but smiling, he told a news conference held in his cafeteria, "I let others talk me into surrendering . . . because of financial reasons. The life I have lived and the torment that has been mine since yesterday (Saturday), would make death itself seem sweet."

No effort was made Saturday by Negroes to obtain service at the restaurant. But on Sunday, a lone gray-haired Negro, Jack Googer, appeared at the door and told Maddox he'd heard the restaurant was now serving Negroes.

Maddox then closed the doors, and put up a sign which read: "Closed. Out of business resulting from an act passed by the U.S. Congress, signed by President Johnson and inspired and supported by deadly and bloody communism."

Maddox has been under a federal injunction to cease discriminating against Negroes since last August. He closed the Pickrick Restaurant and opened again Sept. 26 under a new name, Lester Maddox Cafeteria.

He again refused to serve Negroes and the contempt citation followed.

FINE ORDERED
Hooper ordered him to pay a $200 fine a day for each day the cafeteria was open and practiced racial discrimination.

Later, he told a news conference: "As of this moment this business, this property worth a half million dollars is available to the first person who makes a reasonable offer for sale or lease."

The restaurateur told newsmen he would continue his fight against the Civil Rights Act. "I'm going to travel across the South to areas under invasion by Communists — and continue my fight."

Maddox also said he would not open another restaurant. He said he would continue to sell "Pickrick Drumsticks," the wooden ax handles he sold for souvenirs during the interim when the Pickrick Restaurant was closed and reopened as a Maddox said he has appealed the contempt ruling to the Supreme Court.

"We're no longer selling them for souvenirs but people must prepare for law enforcement . . . the federal government may well move in with the national pickrick sticks," he added.

Foreign News Commentary

See Chiang Upping China Operation

United Press International Chinese Nationalist military sources predict President Chiang Kai-shek will intensify guerrilla and commando operations against the Communist-dominated mainland when spring comes.

Chiang, who has vowed to destroy the Peking regime before it builds a nuclear arsenal and delivery vehicles, hopes the people on the mainland will rise up against the Reds and join in the fight.

Western observers see little hope of this but don't discount the possibility of renewed fighting in the Formosa Strait.

GERMANS WANT JOHNSON: If and when President Johnson goes to Moscow to meet with the new leaders in the Kremlin, expect West Germany to make a strong pitch for him to visit Bonn, and possibly Berlin.

Sources in Bonn say such a visit would be viewed as reaffirmation of American support for West Germany and its position on German reunification and other East-West issues.

STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS: Look for increased pressure by the opposition Socialists in West Germany's parliament for an extension of the statute of limitations for Nazi era war crimes indictments beyond the current May deadline. Protests from abroad coupled with widespread criticisms of the acquittal of one of Adolf Eichmann's aides and the relatively light sentence imposed on another has spurred the press and sections of the public to demand the deadline be extended.

SUMMIT TALKS: French officials in Paris expect British Prime Minister Harold Wilson to visit Paris at the end of March for talks with President Charles de Gaulle on East-West issues and differences in the North Atlantic alliance.

The officials say de Gaulle is holding time open in late April and early May for a visit by President Johnson for similar talks even though no definite arrangements have been made thus far.

COMMON MARKET JITTERS: Common Market sources in Brussels say the Communist bloc countries are showing increased interest in the six-nation European community.

The East bloc countries fear their rising cash trade with the West may suffer from European tariff barriers and are quietly sounding out the community's executive commission on possible deals.

Both Poland and Yugoslavia have been in contact recently with headquarters in Brussels even though they have no accredited diplomatic mission there. Their aim is to increase sales on farm produce.

Computer Feeds Paralyzed Patient

CLEVELAND (U) — At Highland View Hospital a patient sits quietly eating from the plate to his mouth.

It would be a normal scene at the hospital, but for one thing. This patient is paralyzed from the neck down.

Every movement he makes is controlled by an electronic computer.

A mechanical arm, clamped to his own, moves it in normal eating motions. The patient controls the operations with a photoelectric device glued to his forehead.

This is the result of efforts by a new variety of scientist — biomedical engineers.

PROBLEMS TOPPLED

Their engineering methods have toppled long-standing problems in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

Their computers and electronic devices have helped biologists to new understanding of basic mechanisms of life, from the chemical structure of genes to tracking movements of the human eye.

A group of engineers and doctors is centered at Highland View Hospital in suburban Warrensville Township, one of the Western Reserve University associated hospitals, and Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

It was these men who produced, among other things, the arm-aid for paralyzed patients.

ATTACHED TO HEAD

An infrared light source, attached to the patient's head, is aimed by the patient at photo cells on the table in front of him.

Once activated, the cells select the program desired from the computer, and move the powered arm-aid.

In addition, electrodes and amplifiers pick up the bio-electric activity in the patient's shoulder muscle to activate his paralyzed finger muscles to obtain some use of the fingers in grasping.

Engineers and private research organizations have cooperated on projects such as cardiac pacemakers, electronic bypasses for damaged nerves, three-dimensional X-ray movies, lasers used in eye surgery, and, on the way, artificial organs to replace man's own.

In almost every study, electronic computers prove to be the one most essential instrument.

Home Blaze Fatal to Four in Montana

HAMILTON, Mont. (AP) — Four members of a family of five perished Sunday night in a fire.

Witnesses reported the surviving child said the fire flared up as he was playing with matches.

The victims were Lyle Grevo, 39, a logging company employee; his wife, Patricia, 19, and two of their children, Mary, about 2; and Shirley, about 1.

The third child, Roger, about 4, ran into the nearby Elks Club about 9:30 p.m., carrying matches and a candle. He told persons in the club he had been playing with the matches and accidentally set a curtain on fire.

The boy said his father shoved him out the door of their home and went back inside for the others.

Firemen found all four bodies in the upstairs sleeping quarters of the home, converted from a garage.

Chronic Lung Disease Is Hard to Cure

Q — What is bronchitis? Is it contagious? What is the treatment?

A — Bronchitis is a chronic disease in which the smaller airways in a part of the lung have become dilated and have lost their elasticity.

As a result infected mucus collects in these airways and is hard to cough up.

The disease is not contagious although it may BRANDSTADT occur as a complication of a contagious disease such as measles, whooping cough, pneumonia or influenza. In some victims it is caused by inhaling a foreign body.

The disease is very difficult to cure but antibiotics may help. The victim should practice postural drainage two or three times a day by lying across the bed with his head near the floor.

This facilitates coughing up the accumulated secretions. Surgical removal of the diseased portion of the lung is often the only means of curing this stubborn disease.

Q — What is the cause of necrotizing arteritis? Does this disease develop suddenly or gradually? What are the symptoms and is there any cure?

A — This disease (also called periarteritis nodosa) may develop gradually or suddenly, usually in persons between 20 and 40 years of age.

It is characterized by nodules in the smaller arteries.

The cause is unknown. Since it may involve arteries in various parts of the body, the symptoms depend on the part affected.

Often there is a low fever,

BLOOD PRESSURE

If the kidneys are involved the blood pressure may be high and there may be albumin in the urine.

In some victims there are abdominal pains and bleeding from the digestive tract.

In others there may be shortness of breath or asthma-like wheezing.

If the heart is involved the pulse may be fast and there may be waterlogging of the ankles.

MUSCLE PAINS

Pains in the muscles and joints are common symptoms and painful nodules may be felt in the small blood vessels of the skin.

The outlook is not as hopeless as it was before the discovery of cortisone and related drugs.

Although these drugs do not cure the disease they can relieve the symptoms and prevent further development.

Q — My doctor wants me to quit smoking because I have asthma. Will Bantron help me?

A — Bantron is a combination of lobeline and antacids. Some authorities believe it helps their patients to quit smoking but the best evidence suggests that a firm resolve to quit is more dependable than any drug.

Inquest Today in Heir's Death

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Evidence was to be presented today to a coroner's inquest into the death of Eugene Francis (Stormy) McDonald III, coheir to the $24-30 million Zenith radio fortune.

Pima County Atty. Norman Green planned to present the evidence himself at the inquest, presided over by Justice of the Peace Toby La Vetter.

La Vetter convened a coroner's jury last Thursday to view the body of the 23-year-old McDonald. The body then was flown to Chicago for private funeral services today.

McDonald was found lying in a pool of blood Wednesday night in a $50,000 rented home here. His wrists were slashed and he had been shot in the head. A .22-caliber pistol was found near the body.

County pathologist Dr. Edward Brucker conducted an autopsy and concurred with detectives that McDonald took his own life.

Green, however, asked Brucker to confer with another pathologist, Dr. Louis Hirsch, to determine whether McDonald might have died by other than his own hand. Hirsch agreed with Brucker that McDonald appeared to have taken his own life.

INTERESTED IN CASE

"We are very interested in this case," Green said as he made the rare — for Arizona county attorneys — move to enter the case. "There are a lot of unexplained things which must be answered."

One puzzled detective put it this way:

"Why would a guy with millions of dollars and so young want to take his own life?"

Some of the curious aspects of the case that bothered authorities included:

• The implement used to slash Brucker's wrists was not found.

• The bullet entered the back of McDonald's head.

• There was no suicide note, although friends said McDonald had been despondent after receiving a letter from someone in Virginia.

2 Clergymen Swap Pulpits

Exchange of Catholic, Episcopalian Praised

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — The Roman Catholic and Episcopal clergymen who exchanged pulpits Sunday stirred the embers of religious crusade among their followers.

Asked for opinions afterward, many could say only "It's wonderful" or "deeply stimulating." But each felt he had taken part in history.

Peter J. Lindemann Jr., a Flagstaff city councilman and former state legislator, called it "a great experience." He attended both services.

The exchange was made by the Rev. Robert Lord, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany, and the Very Rev. James Lindemann, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Roman Catholic Church, 15th, are in Flagstaff.

CHURCH CROWDED
A crowd of 190 jammed the Episcopal church for the morning service to hear Father Lindemann. He did not participate in the Episcopal liturgy but spoke for about 15 minutes.

"There are differences of belief in our churches concerning the sacraments," he said. "But we do affirm the existence of the sacraments as a means of salvation instituted by Christ."

"It is this common teaching which we treasure."

From the Catholic pulpit Sunday evening, the Rev. Mr. Lord said, "The significant thing to consider is that the separation of the two communions was not based on religious matters, but rather on political matters."

POLITICAL DIVISION

Speaking to a spillover assemblage of 225, he said, "Unfortunately it is that this political division should have incited such gross and sinful excesses on both sides . . . that dialogue has been impossible until now."

Afterward both clergymen were surrounded outside the church by enthusiastic parishioners.

Dr. Richard Rush, an Episcopalian and geology professor at Arizona State College in Flagstaff, described the services as inspiring. He also attended both. "Terrific, a Christian landmark," said Mrs. Edward B. Danson, wife of the director of the Museum of Northern Arizona in Flagstaff.

JOINT CHOIR

Dr. John Stille, former president of the Arizona School Board, said he was especially pleased to have directed the joint choir which sang at both churches.

Despite subfreezing temperatures in Flagstaff there was little doubt the services had helped thaw a centuries-old cold war.

Negro Students Will Do Summer Work in Slums

NEW YORK (AP) — Negro college students will be sent into big city slums this summer to help Negroes help themselves under a new program of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The agency announced Sunday it will send 500 to 1,000 college students into slum areas in New York and other Northern communities later. Initially the program is slated to spread to the South.

Students from Smith, Wesleyan, Cornell, Dartmouth, Queens, Brooklyn and C. W. Post colleges and Bridgeport and Hartford universities already have volunteered for the project, the NAACP's National Youth Work Committee said.

May Ask U.N. Talk on Viet Nam Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States told the U.N. Security Council Sunday night that it will ask for a council meeting on Viet Nam "if the situation warrants it."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, in a letter to Council President Roger Seydoux of France, said the U.S. air raid on North Viet Nam was a "defensive action" against a "politically timed effort" to intensify Communist aggression in South Viet Nam.

Stevenson said that early Sunday, Vietnamese time, Communist Viet Cong forces attacked South Vietnamese air bases, barracks and villages in and around Pleiku, Tuy Hoa and Nha Trang, burning one village and causing many casualties.

Stevenson did not mention Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's current visit to the North Vietnamese capitol of Hanoi.

UNDER ORDERS
But he said the Viet Cong operates under the military orders of North Vietnamese authorities "and the attacks are a concerted and politically timed effort to sharpen and intensify the aggression at a moment designed for broader effect in the field of international politics."

He said the attacks also aimed "to test the will of the republic of Viet Nam and the United States to resist that aggression."

The U.S. and Vietnamese governments "agreed that it was necessary to take prompt defensive action," Stevenson said.

Stevenson said the main problem in South Viet Nam was not a struggle of some of the people against the government but "military operations directed, staffed and supplied... from outside the country."

34,000 SOLDIERS

He said that since 1959, up to 34,000 soldiers had infiltrated into South Viet Nam from the north — "a sustained attack for more than six years across a frontier set by international agreement."

"Since reinforcement of the Viet Cong by infiltrators from North Viet Nam is essential to this continuing aggression," Stevenson continued, "countermeasures to arrest such reinforcement from the outside are a justified measure of self-defense."

"Our mission in Southeast Asia is peace. Our objective is a peaceful settlement. This would require both the self-restraint of the north and the presence of effective international peace-keeping machinery to make sure that promises are kept."

The United States contends that the International Control Commission set up by the Geneva agreements is ineffective because the Polish member blocks action by the Canadian and Indian members.

The resolution was passed by a vote of 88 to 2 in the Senate and 416 to 0 in the House and was signed into law by President Johnson on Aug. 11.

Raids Backed by Resolution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. action against North Viet Nam presumably was taken under terms of a joint resolution passed by the House and Senate last Aug. 7 following North Vietnamese torpedo boat attacks on U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The resolution said "that the Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

It also said the United States is "prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist any member or protocol state of the Southeast Asia collective defense of its freedom."

The resolution was passed by a vote of 88 to 2 in the Senate and 416 to 0 in the House and was signed into law by President Johnson on Aug. 11.

BLASTED BY GUERRILLAS — Remains of U.S. helicopter are strewn about Camp Hallway in Pleiku, 240 miles north of Saigon, yesterday after a Viet Cong mortar attack on the post. Eighteen were damaged or destroyed.

Cong Sneak Attacks Said Unavoidable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says "I don't believe it will ever be possible to protect our forces against sneak attacks" of the kind that hit a U.S. base in South Viet Nam on Saturday.

Eight Americans died in the raid, and more than 100 were wounded.

At a Pentagon news conference Sunday, a spokesman said McNamara:

"Mr. Secretary, the statement issued in Saigon indicated that the Viet Cong used a type of attack we must expect to see more of, in this type of war."

He said that perimeter security has been deficient more or less?

GIVES REPLY

McNamara replied:

"The question is how does one interpret the fact that recollies rifle fire came as close as from 30 yards in one of the attacks. This, by the way, was on the attack on the air strip at Pleiku and does it indicate a lack of perimeter security? The fact is that the attack was carried out in the dead of night; it's typical of guerrilla operations. It is the kind of attack it is almost impossible to provide effective security against. I think it is the type of attack we must expect to see more of, in this type of war."

A couple of questions later, a spokesman asked:

"Mr. Secretary, are you saying then that the most powerful nation in the world cannot protect their own forces in South Viet Nam? Here we have had over 106 people wounded, over 7 killed, and you say that we have no way of protecting our own forces in South Viet Nam."

THROUGH UNDERBRUSH

McNamara replied: "The attack on Pleiku was carried out by 81 millimeter mortar fire located from a perimeter about two-thirds of a mile from the edge of the air field. Those of you who have been in the Pleiku area know

Alert Yank Guard Saved Many Lives

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Things were bad at Pleiku, but they probably would have been much worse if Spec. Jesse A. Pyle hadn't been alert.

Pyle, a Korean war veteran from Marina, Calif., was on duty early Sunday at a listening post a few yards from the American senior officers' quarters at the Pleiku air base.

Pyle apparently heard noises after Viet Cong infiltrators slipped past South Vietnamese guards outside the compound. The sentry surprised the guerrillas as they were planting explosive charges and began firing.

The guerrillas immediately detonated their charges, and Pyle caught the full blast of one of the explosions. He died while being taken to the infirmary.

MORTAR ATTACK

The Viet Cong followed up with a mortar attack. In all, that it is a central plateau area generally clear but dotted with clumps of underbrush and heavy foliage which makes an ideal point of advantage from which to carry on covert sneak mortar attacks in the dead of night. I don't believe it will ever be possible, and I think when I say this I reflect the views of our own Joint Chiefs. I don't believe it will ever be possible to protect our forces against sneak attacks of that kind."

eight Americans were killed and more than 100 wounded. U.S. officers said many more problems would have been killed if Pyle had not surprised the Communists before they had all their explosives in place.

"We were lucky. God, we were lucky," said a U.S. Army major who had been sleeping in the officers' quarters nearby.

Pyle was married to a Korean he met in 1952 while he was fighting the Communists there. They have three daughters, aged 11, 6 and 2. Pyle was transferred to Viet Nam last November from Ft. Ord, Calif. His family remained at home in Marina, near Ft. Ord. Mrs. Pyle wept at the news.

Bill Mauldin, the GI cartoonist of World War II, was visiting his son at Pleiku when the Communists attacked. The son, Bruce, 22, is a helicopter pilot.

RUDE AWAKENING

"This thing woke me up about 2 a.m.," the cartoonist reported. "Col. Hughes (Lt. Col. John C. Hughes of Herrin, Ill.) dashed out to go to work, and I dashed out to take care of myself."

"I ran out the back door and found an American soldier badly wounded by mortar fragments. I tried to help this kid who was hit to get to my cot until the barrage ended. I assumed I had the only casualty with me at the time. I called out for help in getting him to the infirmary."

Throat Surgery for Sen. Russell

Lung Condition Adds to Bronchitis Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who underwent emergency throat surgery at Walter Reed Army Hospital, was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Surgeons performed a tracheotomy yesterday for treatment of bronchitis.

The tracheotomy, a wind-pipe incision, was performed to ease Russell's breathing, his doctors said.

The veteran lawmaker's bronchial attack was complicated by emphysema, a lung condition from which he has suffered for several years, a spokesman said.

Doctors decided throat surgery was necessary to bring a more direct supply of air to his lungs. The operation involves an incision of the windpipe and insertion of a tube down into the lungs.

2ND IN SENIORITY
The 67-year-old Georgian is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and also is defense subcommittee on defense appropriations. He is the second senior member of the Senate in length of service.

A spokesman said Russell probably will have to remain in the hospital for a longer time than anticipated. However, he said, "The doctors report that the senator's over-all condition remains satisfactory."

Rain, Sleet, Snow Are Prevalent

By The Associated Press
Rain, sleet and snow covered a vast section of the nation this morning and a cold air mass hovered in the central states.

The Weather Bureau said 38 of the 48 adjacent states received precipitation.

The cold front, edging eastward along a line from Michigan to northeast Texas, left behind it a trail of sleet and snow-covered highways. Motorists were warned of hazardous driving conditions from Texas to the lower Ohio Valley.

Snowfall was relatively light, except in the mountain areas of Arizona and New Mexico.

MILD WEATHER
In the East, mild weather prevailed but rain and some fog made things dismal. There was some heavy rain in the South, although little damage was reported.

Charlotteville, Va., recorded 3.38 inches of rain within 24 hours and most of the rest of the state got two inches. The James River basin was nearing the flood stage.

The Carolinas also had heavy rains: 1.29 inches at Greensboro, N.C., and more than an inch at Raleigh and Winston-Salem, N.C., and Greenville, S.C.

New York City reported about an inch of rain, with like amounts and some flooding in upstate New York.

AIRPORT CLOSED
In Pennsylvania, rain soaked much of the state and fog closed the Harrisburg-York airport. Patches of heavy fog also settled in the Cincinnati area.

Firemen used walkie-talkies and a fire alarm to guide to safety 10 fishermen stranded in fog on Lake St. Clair in Michigan.

In the West, strong winds lashed parts of Southern California, but most of the rest of the area enjoyed mild weather and clear skies.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 15 below zero at International Falls, Minn., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

American Officials Deeply Puzzled

Did Russians Back Weekend Raids on U.S. Bases in Viet?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are deeply puzzled about the Soviet Union's link — if any — with the weekend wave of Communist guerrilla attacks on American installations in South Viet Nam.

Was the operation encouraged and supported by the Soviet Union as part of its current maneuver to gain influence with North Vietnamese leaders?

Did Red China and the men in Hanoi conspire to set a trap of embarrassment for Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, timed to his arrival in Hanoi Saturday?

Or did the North Vietnamese organize the attacks strictly on their own as a pressure play to squeeze more military aid out of Kosygin than he planned to offer them?

PRESSURE PLAY
At the moment Washington authorities generally believe that the pressure play theory is correct. They think the North Vietnamese pulled a fast one on Kosygin in the hope of getting a bigger slice of Soviet help.

They reason that the timing of the attacks in South Viet Nam early Sunday morning, a few hours after Kosygin's arrival in Hanoi, could not have been accidental.

Somebody wanted to prove something.

The Soviet Union which has trade and other interests in the West, would probably not see any gain and might see some loss in being identified with the killing of Americans in South Viet Nam.

Kosygin and Soviet Communist party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev only a week ago sent word to Washington that the Soviet government was interested in President Johnson's proposal for an exchange of visits. This was taken here as an encouraging indication of Soviet interests in improving relations with the United States.

HEATING UP
Dangerously heating up the war in Viet Nam would clearly run contrary to such an interest and, indeed, what happened this weekend could be a blow to the whole project.

Soviet policy toward North Viet Nam is presently assumed here to be militarily defensive — to discourage the United States from expanding the war into the north.

Politically, most officials believe the Soviet Union wants to divide North Viet Nam from Red China. Should South Viet Nam collapse, the Soviets clearly hope to share credit for a Communist victory. But many experts believe the Soviets, unlike the Red Chinese and North Vietnamese, must be assumed to understand that the United States does not intend to allow South Viet Nam to collapse if that can possibly be prevented.

Red China would have reason to embarrass Kosygin, assuming that he is trying to cut into Chinese sphere of influence. But the North Vietnamese who apparently hoped to resume profitable ties with the Soviet Union as well as Red China, might well be suspicious of any Red Chinese urging to try tricks with Kosygin almost at the moment of his arrival in North Viet Nam.

SMART MANEUVER
On their own, however, the North Vietnamese could have decided that it would be a smart maneuver to carry out the raids on American installations in order to make either of two contradictory points to Kosygin.

If Washington reacted by doing nothing in retaliation, the North Vietnamese could argue to Kosygin that the United States had lost its nerve or will to fight in South Viet Nam and was about ready for a settlement on Communist terms.

They could contend the Soviets should have nothing to fear from giving them large-scale help for a drive to victory in the south.

If, on the other hand, the United States reacted by counterattacking, the North Vietnamese could argue that they were actually under U.S. attack with the threat of an expanding war against their own territory and they needed large-scale aid.

N.J. Pickets Hit U.S. Attacks

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (UPI) — About 75 pickets demonstrated during a heavy rain yesterday against the U.S. retaliatory raid on North Viet Nam.

Picketing in front of the post office, the men, women and children carried signs with such slogans as "No More Koreans" and "Stop U.S. Aggression in Viet Nam."

A spokesman for the group, called the Ad Hoc Committee Against War in Viet Nam, said it was formed shortly after the government announced that U.S. planes had bombed North Viet Nam in retaliation for the Communist attack which killed eight Americans and wounded 108 at Pleiku Saturday.

Warn Them About Each Other First

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband and I are having a dinner party at a hotel on our 25th wedding anniversary.

Two of the couples we would like to invite are not on speaking terms. I am very friendly with both couples.

—Would it be proper to invite them to the same party? If not, how can we choose between them without causing hurt feelings?

A: If your dinner is to be a large one where these two couples will not be thrown into close contact with each other and their not speaking will not be noticed by your other guests, you may invite both.

But even so, you should tell each of these couples that if they are inviting the other so that if either one objects to being in at the same party, they may decline the invitation.

PRINCIPAL, LAST

Q: I say the most important speaker at a dinner speaks last. Some disagree with me and say that it is proper and courteous for him to speak first.

I would appreciate your settling this point.

A: You are right. The principal speaker is usually last on the program.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Married or Not

She Had You in Mind

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently met an attractive young woman at one of those cocktail parties where there were about 100 people milling around.

She just wandered over and started talking to me. When I realized from her conversation that she was more than casually interested in me, I thought I had better set her straight, and I told her that I was married.

She asked, "HAPPILY?" That, in my opinion, was an extremely personal question for one stranger to ask another.

What do you think that young woman had in mind? STRANGER IN UNIFORM DEAR STRANGER: Some enchanted evening.

DEAR ABBY: Before my birthday an aunt of mine told my mother she was giving me money this year.

She sent a money folder, the kind with a hole in it so you can see the picture on the bill. When I opened it, there was nothing inside.

Now my mother says I have to write and thank my aunt for the "money." I say it's bad enough to get gyped without having to struggle through a thank-you note for money I never got.

I think she should tell my aunt what happened, but she won't.

The same thing happened to me two years ago when I graduated from the eighth grade. Another absent-minded relative sent me an empty folder and I had to thank him for it.

Susan Lorenza Kennedy, daughter of the W. M. Kennedys of Stoneleigh Road, and Enrico Simondo of Frankfurt, West Germany son of the Enrico Simondos of Buenos Aires, Argentina were wed Saturday at Kirk in the Hills Presbyterian.

If I am going to go through life getting empty envelopes, I want to know how to handle it. Mother reads your column, so please set her straight. GYPPE

DEAR GYPPE: Notify the giver that the money folder was empty when you received it.

The mail could have been tampered with and the money removed.

Whether it's a theft or absent-mindedness on the part of the person sending the gift, the latter would appreciate being told.

To Air Zone Law Change

BY PAT McCARTY
WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Public hearing will be held tonight on one of two current proposals which would alter the township's multiple residence zoning provisions.

The proposed zoning ordinance amendment would give the Township Planning Commission the authority to review site plans of potential multiple residential developments.

The approval of planners would be required before a building permit could be issued.

As stated in the amendment, its aim is "to minimize adverse effects upon adjacent properties and to assure the proper relationship among service roads, driveways, parking areas, accessory buildings and uses, open space and traffic safety."

Pending the outcome of the 8 p.m. hearing are two other matters now before the planning commission.

HEARINGS ON another zoning ordinance amendment and a rezoning request last month were tabled until Feb. 23 to allow planners time to weigh the result of tonight's session.

The other proposed amendment would regulate the required parking areas and side yards to allow "block plan" development so that each unit would not have to set on a separate lot.

Also included in the change would be the provision that each building be not longer than 125 feet.

For the purpose of computing yard requirements, all of the buildings in a development would be considered as one.

STAGGER BUILDINGS
Planners have said that the new provisions would allow developers to stagger buildings rather than string them out in a line.

Also pending before the commission is a rezoning request for 13.13 acres of property on the west side of Orchard Lake Road.

Herman Ross of Detroit, represented by Michigan Land Planning Inc., of Bloomfield Township, is seeking to have the classification of the property changed from general commercial and parking to multiple residential and limited commercial.

The property is just north of the Township Hall, separated from it by two homes.

Ross plans to build a complex of some 130 units and enough small shops to accommodate residents of the development.

MOVING IN — West Bloomfield Township Supervisor John C. Rehard places his nameplate on his new desk at the Township Hall. New furniture for some of the offices is one of the visible features of an $85,000 remodeling project at the hall, 4400 Orchard Lake. Finishing touches now are being put on the work which was started last spring.

NEW CARPORT, ENTRANCE — Sheltered parking space for eight township vehicles and a new stairwell-entry way at the rear of the building are among additions to the West Bloomfield Township Hall. Renovation of the 37-year-old building also has added six offices and a large meeting room to the facility. Prompted by the need for a new heating system, the undertaking has included a gas forced hot water furnace, new telephone system, new furniture and general remodeling throughout the building.

Joint Event Scheduled by 3 Area PTAs

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The PTAs of West Bloomfield School District's three elementary schools will hold a joint meeting Thursday to mark Founders' Day.

"Where Do We Go From Here?" is the topic for the evening's panel discussion.

Schools Supt. Dr. Lell A. Hogen will serve as moderator for the 8 p.m. program at Scotch Elementary School, 5810 Commerce.

Other speakers will be Paul Rich, board of education president; Mrs. Evelyn Vershure of Roosevelt; Mary Barnes, Green principal; and Mrs. Lee Baker and Courtney Carr, both on the high school staff.

A question-and-answer period will follow.

Rochester League Will Present Film

ROCHESTER — The League of Catholic Women of Rochester will show a unique mission film, "God's Road Company," Wednesday in St. Andrew's Church Hall.

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen wrote the script for the movie. The art work, photography and direction were done by former area residents Tim and Greg Hildebrandt.

On its presentation at the Overseas Press Club in New York by Bishop Sheen, the film drew "must see" recommendations from various news media. A short business meeting will follow the film showing which is set for 8 p.m.

Feed Grain Plan Sign-Up Starts

The sign-up for the 1965 feed grain program now is under way in the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) County Office, Robert Long, chairman of the ASCS county committee, announced today.

The sign-up period started today and will continue through March 26.

The chairman explained that the program for 1965 is basically the same as in 1964. It is voluntary and combines corn, grain sorghum, and barley in a single feed grain base.

Participating farmers will qualify for price support and diverted-acre payments, and they will be eligible for price support loans.

Farmers who take part in the program may divert for payment as small an acreage as 20 per cent of the farm's feed grain base or as large an acreage as 50 per cent of the base — or 25 acres, if this is larger.

2 RATES OFFERED

Two rates of diversion payment are offered. The lower rate applies to the first 20 per cent of the feed grain base actually diverted. The higher rate applies to diverted acreage in excess of the minimum.

If both the intended diversion and the acreage actually diverted are equal to at least 40 per cent of the base, the higher rate applies to the entire acreage diverted.

New provisions in the 1965 program include:

• An opportunity to substitute feed grains for wheat or wheat for feed grains by growers who take part in both programs.

• A special provision for designated varieties of malting barley.

Under certain circumstances, producers may apply to overplant their barley base acreage by 10 per cent.

A producer electing this option will be eligible for the full county barley support rate, based on a national average of 98 cents per bushel, but he will not be eligible for barley diversion or price-support payment, Long said.

Applications to take part in the 1965 feed grain program may be filed in the ASCS County Office from Mondays through Fridays at any time between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., and Wednesday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m.

Work Under Way on Animal Shelter

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — After years of planning and numerous setbacks, the Macomb County Humane Society has begun construction on its permanent animal shelter here.

The building is being erected at 11350 22 Mile, a half mile east of Van Dyke. It is a prefabricated steel structure, 30'x40', with both a walk-in and drive-in door, four windows and four fiberglass skylights.

Purchase of the six-acre building site, accomplished last year, and preparation of the property along with the cost of the building has exhausted the society's funds.

The building presently is only a shell and has no floor. Much additional work is needed before the society can put it to use as an animal shelter, according to Frank E. Lohr, of Mount Clemens, the society president.

Money is needed to drill a well, install a septic system, pour a concrete floor with the necessary drains, equip it with a heating system and all other items necessary to an animal shelter, Lohr said.

NOT CONNECTED

Contrary to a countywide misconception, the humane society and the shelter now under way is in no way connected with the tax-supported Macomb County dog pound in Mount Clemens, he pointed out.

The Macomb County Humane Society is a private charity chartered under the laws of Michigan by the state securities and corporation commission as a nonprofit charitable organization.

By law it is denied support from public funds. By design the United Foundation also excludes the society as a recipient of its funds.

The society derives its sole support from annual membership dues payments, donations, gifts, occasional bequests, public appeals and semiannual baked goods sales along with annual candy and calendar sales.

Stress Is Put on Arithmetic

Teachers Review in Clarenceville District

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Elementary teachers in the Clarenceville School District are brushing up on the third R — the one that has changed most drastically during the past year.

The teachers are meeting after school to review new math techniques now being used in the school system.

The many areas of today's arithmetic are being discussed and demonstrated by teachers and specialists.

Sessions are aimed at helping the classroom teacher present a better arithmetic program and giving him the means to explain the program to parents.

First-grade teachers attended the in-service session Feb. 2 at Botsford Elementary School. Second and third-grade teachers will gather there tomorrow.

FOURTH GRADERS
The Feb. 15 session will be primarily for fourth-grade teachers, but all other elementary staff members are invited.

The district's curriculum study day for all teachers is scheduled for Feb. 22, requiring early dismissal times at all schools.

Junior and senior high school students will be excused one hour earlier than usual.

Grandview and Westbrook elementary pupils will be dismissed at 1:15 p.m. and those from Botsford at 2:05 p.m.

Avon to Air Study Aid by Citizens

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residents in the northwest portion of the township want sewer service, and many are apparently willing to help pay for a study on a means of getting it.

Engineers Giffel & Webster of Royal Oak, representing several potential developers of the area, are in the process of asking residents just how much help they will give the township in paying for the study.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) has told the Township Board that it will cost the township about $2,500 for a study on an extension of the Oakland University sewer line.

The engineers have already told the board that early indications are that perhaps half the cost may be met by the residents.

A definite report on the informal survey of residents' willingness to help will be made at Wednesday's regular board meeting.

The extension would probably be a new arm extending from the plant on Avon Road almost to Livernois in a generally diagonal fashion, and would open many acres of township land to development.

Card Party Slated at Lake Orion Hall

LAKE ORION — A gala card party is slated Wednesday at 8 p.m. in St. Joseph's Parish Hall, corner of Shadblow and Beebe streets.

The IHM Guild of St. Joseph's Parish is sponsoring the event which will feature prize entertainment and refreshments. Committee chairman is Mrs. Morris Decker, 255 Hiram, with Mrs. William Sweeney serving as co-chairman.

Tickets for the party may be obtained at the door.

Reports Job Openings With Dairy Herd Unit

Farm youth who would not farm might find working as a Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisor, says Larry Johnson, Michigan State University dairy extension specialist. Several jobs — visiting dairy farms and supervising weighing and butterfat testing of milk from individual cows — are open.

News of the Area

Holly Twp. Village for Retirees Asked

HOLLY TOWNSHIP — A 160-acre retirement village for more than 1,000 persons has been proposed by Holly industrialist Fred D. Barton for a site in the northwest portion of the township.

Hearing on Barton's rezoning request will be held before the zoning board at 8 tonight at the Township Hall.

The proposed site of the $1-million development, on the northwest corner of Fish Lake and Kurts roads, includes a stream and a small mill pond.

Approval of the request would change the classification of the property from agricultural-residential to commercial.

In announcing his plans, Barton noted that 75,000 area residents will be retiring within the next five years.

MOBILE HOMES

The first phase of his plan calls for development of some 40 acres for the location of mobile homes.

Blacktopped streets would connect the living units to a recreation center, park, hobby shop and town hall.

To be called the Old Mill Stream Village, the development would be similar to retirement villages in Florida and California. Golf carts would be the chief means of transportation within the development, Barton said.

The recreation center would have facilities for horseshoe pitching and shuffleboard. There also would be a garden area which would allow each retiree to have his own garden plot. PERMANENT FOUNDATION
Each mobile home would be set on a permanent foundation close to the ground so there would be no steps to climb, Barton said.

The prospective developer is the owner of Fre-Bar Inc. in Holly and Hawaiian Gardens restaurant and resort in the township.

School Vote in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — School district residents are voting today on a proposed $3-million bond issue to finance construction of needed facilities. The polls close at 8 p.m.

Members of the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education decided on the special election last Dec. 14 following a study of projected population growth by 1970.

School officials say that passage of the bond issue is necessary to meet minimum requirements. Approval of the proposal will not affect the present tax rate.

Sessions Set for Candidates

Plan Public Meetings in Romeo, Rochester

Voters in Rochester and Romeo will get a chance to "meet the candidates" for village offices this week.

In Romeo, five hopefuls will meet the public Wednesday in a 7:30 p.m. session at the Community Center.

Rochester candidates for Village Council seats will get a chance to express their views and answer questions at 8 p.m. Thursday at North Hill School.

Primary elections are being held Feb. 15 in both villages, to narrow the slates of candidates for the March 8 general elections.

The Rochester "meet-the-candidates" meeting is sponsored by the Rochester branch of the League of Women Voters.

NINE RUNNING

The nine who are running for the four Village Council seats are incumbent Village President John O'Donnell and fellow incumbents John Boeberitz and James McCarthy.

Also in the contest are former police chief Samuel Howlett, David N. Parker of 436 Hill, John L. Dahlmann of 265 South, Louis A. Mitzfeld of 200 Charles, Harry E. Byers of 293 North Hill Circle and Harold Milford of 1862 Mahaffey.

Romeo candidates who will appear at Wednesday's meeting are Byron E. Nichols, running for village president; incumbent Stanley J. Holmes and Merlin J. Kerr and Donald R. Mosher, all for trustee; and incumbent Clerk Norman L. Engel, trying for reelection.

Area Blood Bank Seeking Donations

WALLED LAKE — Now out of blood, the Wallied Lake Community Blood Bank will accept donations Feb. 17.

The American Red Cross unit will be at the Wallied Lake Methodist Church, 133 Northport, and will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

Appointments can be made with coordinator Mrs. Robert Gilmore, 1651 Wilshire, Wolverine Lake.

New House Building Creates Big Stir

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The new Rayburn House Office Building has been called everything from a monstrosity to an outrageous outlay of the taxpayers' money. The following dispatch reports what House members are going to get for the $86.4 million that the building cost.)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It didn't cost $122 million, $100 million, or even $90 million. The new Rayburn House Office Building so far has cost a mere $86.4 million, including sauna bath and swimming pool, and Congress wishes you would keep an accurate if not civil tongue in your head about it.

The thing has been building now for eight years and is being opened by stages, to the delight of howls of its critics who daily find something else about it that they think the taxpayers ought not to like. Meantime, those ridiculous cost estimates keep finding their way into print.

One statistic that particularly incenses the lawmakers is the number of members — 169 — for whose offices are derived by dividing the cost by provided in this third and biggest House office building.

This comes out to about $508,000 per three-room suite and on the face of it this does appear a mite high, although nobody so far has suggested publicly that it is more than some House members are worth.

But anybody with good arches, sound wind and a packet of emergency ration tickets to keep his strength up can see for himself, in a matter of two or three hours, that there is more to the Rayburn Building than office space for the members.

2 CITY BLOCKS

It covers what used to be two city blocks, is 10 stories high (or deep), includes nine vast new committee hearing rooms, 16 lesser hearing rooms for subcommittee use, innumerable staff offices, a 12-bed infirmary, three courtyards with fountains, 30 elevators, 23 escalators, a cafeteria, two gymnasiums (one for the ladies), steam room, hydrotherapy baths, and indoor parking for 1,600 automobiles.

There is, of course, also the swimming pool, a rather modest country club size, roughly 20 by 70 feet. Members would rather call this a "health exercise" pool, and they wish we would quit asking the cost. Anyway, it's included in the $86.4 million, so stop counting the pennies and trust it will keep your own congressman fit, bright-eyed, and ready to ferret out waste wherever it appears in the executive branch.

Another sore point with the members is that some smart aleck is always taking the cost, dividing it up by the $55,000 square feet of what they call usable space, and coming up with a preposterous figure of $93 per foot.

SEE WHAT'S WRONG

Any reasonable person can see what's wrong with this calculation. Usable space can be roughly defined here as the places where they have laid down that expensive wall-to-wall carpet, like hearing rooms and the lawmakers' suites.

Actually, the building contains 2,372,000 square feet of floor space, of which 1,002,000 on three levels is devoted to parking. What's left is in corridors, utility rooms, stair wells, etc.

Anyway, Congressmen prefer to look at the cubic foot cost, which comes out to $2.27, and makes the Rayburn Building look a little bit cheaper than the new home here of the National Geographic Society.

So if nobody can rightly complain at the cost, what's left to criticize is the new Rayburn Building? Well, there is the matter of looks. Officially, it's called classical and monumental, and there are hybrid stone critters on the ends, known as pylons, to prove it.

These are half goat and half cornucopia and any good architect can tell you they symbolize strength and plenty, though some nonarchitects who have seen them have expressed other theories.

The architectural critic of the Washington Post said recently he couldn't rightly say the building looked bad. What he said it looked like was awful. Other critics say it's just big, and there is considerable question whether any body could have made such a monster look any better.

On the outside it's marble, fieldstone, sandstone, and granite. On the inside it's walnut doors; high, broad corridors; awesome two-story hearing rooms; vast picture windows that open only with wrenches; and drapes to cover them up.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., is the only member so far to move in. He was ousted this year as Republican leader and had to give up his leader's suite in the Capitol to Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan. So they rushed to completion a suite for him on the building's best side, overlooking the Capitol grounds and the dome.

IT'S LONESOME

So far, his main complaint has been that it's lonesome. There is also the matter of the quarter mile walk to the Capitol. But all that will be remedied soon. Other senior members are panting to join him, leaving their less-sumptuous two-room suites in two older house office buildings.

And in a month or so the new subway train will be running. Incidentally, that is costing an extra $7.1 million, and helps explain why some careless people keep overestimating the tab for the building.

Sometimes they also tend to add in the extra millions it will cost to remodel the other buildings; the $9.1 million that will be needed to build new underground garages on neighboring blocks; and other related congressional work.

The honest cost figure to date is $86.4 million.

REGAL RITES — Prince Michael of Greece escorts commoner Marina Karella into a chamber at the royal palace in Athens for their marriage yesterday. Michael, 26, who stood third in line of succession, renounced this right when he married the 25-year-old artist, Young King Constantine, who had approved the marriage, acted as best man for Michael, his cousin.

Teens Turn Tables on Social Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — When some boys of Trinity School leave classes, they really get down to work. But it's packing crates, instead of cracking books.

The prep-schoolers, from well-to-do families, are aiding tenants move from buildings doomed for destruction in a West Side urban renewal area.

Twenty-five of the youths, mostly in the high school age bracket, volunteered for the moving project last October. Evelyn Cohen, who had to move from her condemned brownstone on West 89th Street recently, showed her appreciation of the packing job done by four Trinity boys.

BIG DEBT

"I can never repay this as long as I live," she said. "I guess I would have had to leave everything. I don't know what I would have done."

The Trinity students help tenants even after they have moved into their new surroundings. Such a case involved Marie Doren. She was aided in placing paintings on the walls of her new apartment.

"You hear about juvenile delinquency, and then you see these boys," Mrs. Doren said. "It revives your faith in people."

She struck up a friendship with one of the boys and now calls him at home whenever she needs help on a chore.

PHOENIX PROJECT

The Trinity students are working under the direction of the Phoenix Project, a coordinated federal-local experiment which uses a nonprofessional staff to deal with social problems in the area. Phoenix takes its name from the bird in mythology that rose from its own ashes.

The Phoenix director, John Erlich, 27, said: "These boys are really doing something of value. When I was in high school, we stuffed envelopes for service projects. This is marvelous. Their services are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars."

The proportion of America's 16- and 17-year-old boys and girls enrolled in school rose from 80.6 per cent in 1958 to 87.1 per cent in 1963.

Police Probe Killing of Flint Twp. Children

FLINT (AP) —Police were hopeful today they could determine the events which led a 30-year-old Flint Township mother to slay two of her children Saturday before she turned the shotgun on herself.

Mrs. Ruth Nielsen was listed in critical condition at Hurley Hospital. She suffered a shotgun wound in the chest.

Genesee County sheriff's officers said two of Mrs. Nielsen's five children were playing upstairs in their Flint Township home at the time of the shootings which occurred in the basement.

Dead are two-year-old Terry Nielsen and her brother, Ronald, 5.

THUMPING NOISE

Deputies said Judy, 11, and Sandra, 10, were playing in the house at the time of the shootings. The children said they heard a thumping noise but thought it was a door slamming.

The bodies were discovered by the Nielsen's oldest child, Freddy, 13, when he returned home from play.

The father, Fred, told police his wife had been under treatment for a nervous condition.

Index of the Age

Finger Put on Our Times

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advertisements often can be as helpful as gossip neighbors in keeping us informed about the times in which we live.

"C" computers, your telephone" urges a brochure that I received in the mail this week.

That tells us a lot about where we stand and where we are headed.

WEST

For one thing, it tells us that the once simple act of dialing a telephone number is rapidly becoming too complex for the human mind and index finger to handle alone.

For as little as $79.95 you can bring "telephone automation" into your home to cope with the various area codes, prefixes, suffixes and other digits that baffle the brain.

That's the price if you order 12 or more computers, or one for each extension. If you buy less than five, the price is $89.95 each.

With an automatic phone-dialer, all you have to do is press one button one time. Its "memory disc" can retain up to 13 digits, which is more than I can say for mine.

CHORE ENDED

It "does away with the chore of looking up or remembering phone numbers, ends the boring, fatiguing job of repeated dialing" and "eliminates time-wasting, expensive wrong numbers."

For my purposes, however, telephone automation still hasn't been perfected. It does not cut in on our teenage daughter and tell her to get off the line.

What I regard as a bigger boon to mankind turned up in another advertisement that I saw this week. The makers of a certain brand of mange medicine are now touting their product as a treatment for dandruff.

It has always been a little embarrassing for me to go into a drug store and purchase items of a personal nature. Their labels fairly scream what is wrong with you.

EVERYONE KNOWS

When you take a jar or bottle from the shelf, the clerks, cashiers and other customers immediately know that you are having trouble with BO, halitosis, pimples, athlete's foot or some other socially unacceptable disorder.

If I am having a dandruff problem, I don't necessarily care about broadcasting that fact all over the store.

Which is why the aforementioned advertisement gave me cause for rejoicing.

It makes it possible to buy an anti-dandruff preparation without anyone knowing that your scalp has started flaking. Everyone will automatically assume that you have the mange.

Milwaukeeans Expect Exhausting Legal Fight

MILWAUKEE (AP) — County Board Chairman Eugene Grob Schmidt will head a 10-man Milwaukee delegation to Washington next month to explore ways of filing a possible suit under antitrust laws against the Braves for their planned move to Atlanta in 1966.

"We're going to proceed with our investigation of finding out what chances we have of antitrust action against the Braves," Grob Schmidt said Sunday. "We're going to exhaust every possibility."

WATCHES FIREHOUSE BURN — A fireman stands helpless as flames gut a Berkeley, Calif. fire station yesterday. The blaze completely destroyed the two-story building, an aerial truck, a pumper and a fire prevention car. Damage is estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000. A gas explosion was blamed. Flames spread so quickly one fireman was forced to jump from the second-floor doorway.

Washington News

Navy Post to Ex-Soldier

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Kenneth E. Belieu, a onetime soldier who lost a leg in Korean fighting, undersecretary of the Navy.

Belieu succeeds Paul B. Fay, who resigned.

Belieu's old post as assistant secretary of the Navy for installations and logistics will be filled by Graeme E. Bannerman, 55, a government career employee who has been deputy assistant secretary of defense since early 1961.

Belieu, 50, saw battlefield duty in World War II and in Korea. Before leaving the Army, he served as executive officer to two secretaries of the Army.

President's Council on Equal Opportunity has been created to coordinate the civil rights work of federal agencies.

President Johnson named Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as its chairman, and said the council was established on Humphrey's recommendation.

Humphrey had been given the job of bringing together the many civil rights activities of the federal government. He had asked for "a comparatively simple coordinating mechanism, without elaborate staff and organization."

In addition to Humphrey, the council will consist of 16 government officials, including six cabinet members.

To Ask Inmate Death Probe

LANSING (AP) — State Sen. Raymond Dzendzel of Detroit planned to ask his Senate colleagues today for an investigation into the Jan. 12 death of an inmate at Coldwater State Home and Training School.

Dzendzel, Democratic majority leader of the Senate, said: "Because of the peculiar circumstances of this case, we will ask the Senate to name a committee to probe into the death and conditions in general at the home."

Dzendzel acted a short while after a six-man coroner's jury in Coldwater ruled Saturday that the Jan. 12 death of Thomas Reid of Kalamazoo was "unnatural, but unlawful."

Branch County Coroner Thomas Baggerly said testimony indicated Reid was involved in a scuffle with another patient, with several attendants helping quiet the disturbance.

Baggerly said the jury found Reid suffered a sharp blow in the liver. The coroner said there was no way to determine exactly how Reid suffered the fatal injury and said his office regarded the case as closed.

Dzendzel, in announcing in Detroit Saturday that he would seek the Senate probe, commented: "If incidents like this occur because we don't have enough people, then we legislators must take the blame; if it is because there are attendants who don't belong there, then we should get rid of them."

Of LBJ Asian Policy

Viet Action Sidetracks GOP Criticism

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently has sidetracked a massive Republican attack on his Asian policies by ordering retaliatory forays against North Vietnamese bases.

Before the weekend's military action, congressional Republicans had been waiting only for a presidential assessment of an on-the-spot report of the Saigon situation by his special fact-finder, McGeorge Bundy, before blasting away at Johnson's course.

They suspected Bundy's recommendations would be for, as they put it, "more of the same" in South Viet Nam, with no spectacular acceleration of American effort there.

They were poised in this case to demand what House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan called "forcible action."

Then came the Viet Cong sneak attack on South Vietnamese installations. Eight Americans were killed and more than 100 wounded.

Johnson provided the "forcible action" by dispatching carrier planes to bomb the southernmost military bases in North Viet Nam.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who had expressed his "deep concern" recently over the deterioration of the U.S. military position in South Viet Nam, gave full endorsement to the President's action.

Dirksen said that if he had had to make the decision, he would have done exactly what Johnson did. Otherwise, he said, the United States might have been convicted in the eyes of Asians of a fatal immobility that could have wiped out U.S. prestige in that part of the world.

LBJ TO BRIEF LEADERS

Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, said in separate interviews they expect Johnson to brief leaders of both parties on developments as soon as he digests Bundy's report.

Johnson acted to bring the Republicans in on the decision-making process in the crisis. GOP members of Congress have complained in the past they were expected to participate in the crash-landings but seldom were consulted before the take-off.

Unlike his predecessor, President John F. Kennedy, who told news and representatives that his decision was after he had made it in the Cuban crisis, Johnson asked them to sit in on the discussions that led up to the decision.

The President had Dirksen on the telephone Saturday night to tell him what was brewing. He had Ford, House Speaker John McCormack and Mansfield in on a National Security Council meeting. When Dirksen found it impossible to attend, the President kept him abreast of developments by telephone.

GOP SHARE DECISION

All of this has put the Republican leaders in the position of having shared in the decision. Consequently members of their party will encounter some difficulty in criticizing either it or the resultant flow from it.

26 Are Killed on Roads in State Over Weekend

By The Associated Press

Orioles Hope Barber Will Do AL Clipping

By The Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles, barely edged out for the 1964 American League pennant by New York, hope Steve Barber pitches as well against the rest of the league in 1965 as he did against the Yankees last year.

Barber, a veteran left-hander, signed his contract Sunday, taking a reported $2,000 cut to a salary of $23,000.

"I think the ball club was reasonable with Steve," General Manager Lee MacPhail said. "And when you study Barber's record over the last five years, there is basis for being reasonable. He has been a valuable member of the Orioles."

Barber's record in the last five years — his entire major league production — is 66-51. His performance last year, though, was not too valuable to the Orioles, who wound up the season a mere two games behind the Yankees in third place.

After becoming the first modern Oriole to win 20 games in 1963, Barber was expected to be the ace of the pitching staff and help the Orioles in the drive to their first modern pennant. Instead, he won nine games and lost 13, compiling a 3.94 earned run average.

Against the Yankees, however, Barber was a different story. He started against them five times, winning four times and allowing only seven earned runs in 36 2/3 innings for a 1.70 ERA.

His only loss to the Yankees came in his final appearance against them, a one-inning relief stint in which he gave up two runs.

Barber, who will be 26 years old Feb. 22, didn't beat any other team more than twice and lost to eighth-place Boston three times and last-place Kansas City twice.

Mrs. Omelenchuk Dominates Races

ALPENA (AP)—Jeanne Omelenchuk's new home is a bit more crowded with ice skating trophies today.

The women's national speed skating champion won all five events she entered in the two-day Michigan outdoor skating championships here over the weekend.

Mrs. Omelenchuk said the trophy she won would bring to close to 200 the ice skating and bicycling awards she has at her new home in Warren.

The veteran Warren woman had to share the spotlight with 14-year-old Sheila Young of Detroit who won the junior girls title while her brother, Roger Young, won all four races in the midget boys class.

HAL OF FAME BOWLING TIPS

By JOE NORRIS

Written for NEA

I was lucky enough to be invited into the Hall of Fame in 1954. Before and since, I have been asked countless times to share my "secret" for bowling success.

I've got a secret, all right, but when I tell you what it is, don't be disappointed because it doesn't require a single "abracadabra."

Simply stated, my "secret" is — concentrate on making spares and the strikes will take care of themselves.

This sort of exaggeration makes sense if you realize that missing spares frequently is the difference between a 90 and a 190 game.

Too many potentially superior bowlers never take home the trophies because they seem to consider spare shooting just a necessary disappointment between strike attempts.

Try this: Accept spare bowling for the exciting challenge it is; deliberate each shot and watch the pins fall.

Good Grades Come With Self-Discipline

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Your poor grades may be due to lack of self-discipline, not lack of skill in reading, writing and arithmetic.
Discipline, bad behavior and punishment are so frequently linked together in people's minds that they overlook lack of self-discipline as a cause of school failures.

DR. NASON
This cause is especially prevalent when a child's social behavior is satisfactory.
Bud's teachers and parents were at a loss to understand his poor work, particularly in arithmetic. He had a keen, quick mind in mental arithmetic, solving puzzles and understanding how things work.
In these activities, he easily outshone the other members of his fourth-grade class.
He had an exceptional mastery of the fundamental number relationship but, faced with the lack of a long-term problem, he too often came up with the wrong answer.

LACKED SELF-CONTROL.
Bud's problem was not mathematics — but lack of self-control and patience. For instance, a long-term problem must be carried out in an orderly fashion, and neatness is essential to success.
These require both self-control and patience. That Bud lacked both was evident by the appearance of his arithmetic papers.
Bud's fourth-grade teacher felt he had not developed sufficient coordination to do a good job of writing a long-term problem or, for that matter, to master handwriting.
But his activities at home belied this explanation. He was skilled in the manipulation of toys and tools. He was an excellent swimmer.

LACKED DISCIPLINE
In fact, Bud's failure to work up to his potential ability in several phases of school could be laid directly to the lack of a firm discipline in his early years.
While he had no difficulty understanding history, he did have trouble keeping his thoughts centered on it long enough to get the story organized and fixed in his memory. To compound the problem, he had difficulty expressing his ideas on tests.
Fortunately, Bud was an intelligent lad. He was made to understand his problem and was given definite procedures for the improvement of his handwriting and control of his mind while studying.
He attacked the solution of his own problem with a will. Improvement came at once.
Permissiveness in the early years was not a kindness. Lack of fundamental skills usually is obvious but the lack of self-discipline too often is overlooked.

The best played hand of the U.S. team trials for the World Championship was a six-spade contract arrived at by Sam Gold of Montreal. He didn't want to get there, but as you can see from the bidding Sam started with an 11-point hand without a five-card suit. Hence, at his second turn to bid he had a choice of bidding a three-card suit, rebidding a four-card suit at the three level or passing a forcing bid and he bid his three-card spade suit as the least of evils confronting him.

Once having started his career he found himself asked to respond to a Blackwood four-trump and after he showed his two aces he found himself in a spade slam.
West opened two rounds of clubs and Sam had to ruff high in dummy. The cashed two rounds of trumps and stopped for a little thought. It appeared to Sam that a 4-2 trump break was far more likely than 3-3 in view of the club situation, so Sam abandoned trumps and started after diamonds by cashing dummy's king of diamonds and a finesse his own ten spot.

When West showed out on this second diamond lead, Sam had a perfect count of the missing cards. West had started with exactly two trumps (with a third trump he would have ruffed), one diamond and seven clubs. Hence, he held exactly three hearts.
Now Sam led a heart to dummy, took another diamond finesse, cashed his last diamond and led hearts. Thus he wound up making four diamonds, three hearts and five trumps for a total of 12 tricks.

ACLU Raps School Aid Plan

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) said today the administration's $1.2-billion school aid program could pose the danger of "subversion of the constitutional principle of church-state separation."

The ACLU's views were contained in testimony prepared for delivery before the Senate Education Subcommittee by Lawrence Speiser, director of its Washington office, and George La Noue, a Columbia University instructor who is a member of the ACLU Church-State Committee.

Urging major changes in the measure, the civil liberties group said that "as it is written the bill could authorize the most dangerous subversion of the constitutional principle of church-state separation since James Madison's famous remanstrance set the directions of American religious liberty in 1786.

"Unless such clarification is achieved we may find that — possibly simultaneously — we have spawned a precedent-setting movement of religious institutions into control of public programs — and unprecedented control of church-related activities by the infusion of federal funds," the ACLU said.

The education bill cleared its first congressional hurdle Friday when the House General Education Subcommittee approved the measure on a 6-0 vote.

Prior to the vote, the subcommittee made some changes in the measure in an effort to quell protests from church, legal and lay groups that it would bend, if not break, the constitutional barrier between church and state.

George G. Booth

Cranbrook Founder Subject of New Book

The Only Thing Worth Finding
by Arthur Pound

By Coreana Aldrich
George Gough Booth was a man who "beheld visions and made them come true." But of the thousands who take benefits of his dreams for granted, probably few recognize him as the man who conceived and developed, right at our fingertips, one of the country's finest cultural centers — Cranbrook.

Arthur Pound tells his story in "The Only Thing Worth Finding," and at the same time gives a well-documented history of this area.

Born in Canada in 1864, George Booth's family financial circumstances were most uncertain. However, family character, industry and integrity were not. Adding talent to these, Booth made a name and fortune in the newspaper business.

As Pound's book relates, when he married Ellen Warren Scripps in Detroit, Booth was running a successful ironworks business in Canada. Before long, her father, publisher James E. Scripps, asked him to put his efforts into Scripps family interests, specifically the "Evening News" — now the Detroit News.

Though hesitant, he agreed. Applying exceptional administrative ability and the same high ideals that nurtured Cranbrook, Booth weathered professional and family storms to become president of The News and founder of the Booth newspaper chain.

PIONEERED POLICIES

Through these publications Booth pioneered many advertising and editorial policies that are followed today.

Always a man who needed higher satisfactions than money and power, George Booth planted the seeds of that fruit in 1904 in a rundown farm in Oakland County, the "Book continues."

That year he bought 175 acres of neglected land, named it Cranbrook after his ancestral home in England and began the dedication which would occupy him until his death in 1949.

The property was transformed into a beautiful estate. Cranbrook House, family residence until Booth died, became the nucleus of his dream.

DREAM GROWN

That "dream" now includes five autonomous education institutions and Christ Church in a setting and of a quality seldom surpassed.

A man who believed that "life without beauty is only half-lived," Booth saw to it that all Cranbrook institutions met the highest standards of artistic and functional beauty.

Brookside School for children evolved first, followed by Cranbrook School for boys. In 1931, Kingswood School for girls opened its doors.

To meet religious needs of students and residents of the area, Ellen and George Booth founded Christ Church. Consecrated in 1929, its location, architecture and appointments again reflect work on the ablest talent available.

CRANBROOK ACADEMY

Cranbrook's Academy of Arts has become one of the finest of its kind anywhere, and draws students and teachers from all over the world.

Newest addition (1938) to Cranbrook is the Institute of Science, with its much-visited observatory and natural history museum.

Pound points out that pursuing a goal of social ideals and sound education adapted to creative student individualism, Booth gave much of himself, and almost all of his wealth.

He renounced all glory by omitting his name from all Cranbrook institutions, and the whole concept emerged from the original dirt farm, purchased at $120 an acre.

FAMILY AFFAIR

Though begun as one man's urge to serve others, Cranbrook has been a family affair. All five Booth offspring contributed to Cranbrook's over-all development, then relinquished inheritance rights in deference to their parents' wish to use it for educational purposes.

Pound's narration brings into the present as the family tradition of service continues and children and grandchildren of George Gough Booth carry on his work, perpetuating the spirit of his belief that "The only way to have is to give, the only way to keep is to share and the only thing worth finding is opportunity."

Ginger Can Afford to Cool It

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "I've had a marvelous, colorful, exciting career, and I'm still enjoying it. I want it to continue, but along the lines that I find gratifying."

Ginger Rogers was explaining why she had turned down offers to star in the London or national co-productions of "Hello, Dolly." Even though it would mean a handsome salary in a surefire musical, she answered thanks, but no thanks to producer David Merrick.

THOMAS

"In the first place, I don't think I'm right for Dolly," she reasoned. "And also I don't really hanker to get tied up in the same show for months on end. To take a shot out for four weeks is fun. To play it for a year is another matter entirely."

Ginger can afford to play it cool. Her Hollywood career has brought her not only wealth, but also the kind of enduring fame that keeps her services in demand for virtually every entertainment medium — except, oddly, motion pictures. She hasn't made a film in Hollywood since "Oh Men, Oh Women!" almost nine years ago.

MASCULINE STARS
She attributes this to the film industry's preoccupation with masculine stars and stories. But she doesn't fret over the fact. She can be as busy as she pleases in other mediums.

Aside from playing limited runs in shows like "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Tovarich," she often turns her hand at television.

And she and producer-husband William Marshall have big plans to establish a film enterprise in Jamaica.

"We shot a picture there last year," said Ginger, who sounded like a press agent, only better. "It's called 'The Confession,' and it stars Ray Milland and myself. It's a suspense story laid in Italy, and Jamaica looked just perfect for it. The island is simply beautiful. Let me tell you about it."

LUSH SCENERY
And she did. From her description, Jamaica appears to have the lush scenery, the bluest sea and the most sanguine weather of any island of the oceans.

It also has business possibilities.

"We have been chartered by the government to develop a film industry in Jamaica," said Ginger. "The possibilities are enormous — weather, scenery, water. Convenience? The island is only an hour and a half by jet from American soil. And actors from New York would be only three and a half hours away."

She and Marshall expect to film more movies in Jamaica and hope to lure other producers, both for features and television. The pair also plan to buy a house in Jamaica, and she plans to remain at least half of each year on the island.

"People often ask me, 'Ginger, why do you work so hard?'" She remarked. "I have to tell them I work not because of the money or the fame — I've had that. I work because that's when I'm happiest. It gives me pleasure to do a job well, and I suppose it always will."

Almost Falls for Boyfriend

LONDON (AP) — It was the closest 15-year-old Carol Ezekiel ever came to falling for a boy. Carol's father, Edward Ezekiel, told her she couldn't see her boyfriend, Terry Bell, also 15.

Confined to her third-floor bedroom last night, Carol climbed out the window, shined up a gutter, reached the roof and started across it.

She knew that if she reached the back part of the roof she could go down another pipe, enter a window of an empty house and make her way to the street and to Terry.

Crossing the first roof she grabbed a chimney. It was hot. Carol drew back and lost her balance.

STUCK ON ROOF

"That's when I fell," she explained later, "and then I realized I was stuck in a corner where one part of the roof joins two other parts."

Struggling to free herself and moaning, Carol attracted the attention of a neighbor. The neighbor told Ezekiel and he called the fire department.

It took 20 minutes and the use of long ladders to bring down pretty Carol.

After bawling her out, Carol's father relented and let her and the boyfriend around for tea. Said Terry:

"She was a bit stupid to climb on the roof, but it turned out all right."

"Anyway, no girl has ever taken this trouble over me before."

'Borrowed' Bus Didn't

Miss a Scheduled Stop

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Driver John Crews complained to Daly city police that he went into an all-night diner for a cup of coffee and someone took his municipal bus parked outside.

Police found that the "someone" had borrowed the vehicle, made all the scheduled stops, and left it at the other end of the line with its lights on and its coinbox untouched.

Falls constitute three-fifths of all scaffold accidents and guardrails can prevent the majority of these, the New York Insurance Conference on Occupational Safety points out.

AMA Pushes Health Plan

'Eldercare' Program to Oppose Medicare

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association's house of delegates has voted to "endorse and enthusiastically support" a plan it calls "eldercare" in opposition to the Johnson administration's program for health care for the aged.

The 234-member governing body of the nation's largest organization of physicians has affirmed its opposition to a program which would be administered by a federal government agency and financed through Social Security.

Eldercare had been adopted earlier by the AMA board of trustees. A bill encompassing its provisions was introduced in Congress last month by Rep. A. Sydney Herlong Jr., D-Fla., and Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo.

The AMA-sponsored program would furnish hospital, medical and surgical costs to persons 65 or over. It would be administered at the state level and coverage would be provided by private insurance companies.

The amount of federal and state funds would depend on the income of those insured.

ACT EXTENDED

In effect, the AMA proposal would be an extension of the Kerr-Mills Act of 1960.

Expenses for promoting the Herlong-Curtis bill will come from the AMA's $14-million reserve fund and no special tax assessment on individual doctors will be made, the delegates said.

Dr. Milford O. Rouse of Dallas, Tex., speaker of the house of delegates, in explaining the delegates' stand for the Herlong-Curtis measure and against the administration's King-Anderson bill, said the former measure "is in line with our principles."

OTHER HAND

"On the other hand," the report said, "The King-Anderson bill (medicare) is based on a concept that limited care should be provided through a tax-supported mechanism for all persons over 65 without regard to their financial need."

The shah of Iran, piloting his private Jetstar plane, took off today for a three-day visit to Pakistan, but had to turn back to Tehran with engine trouble when he was halfway to the border.

Texas College Uses

Rainfall Laboratory

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The "laboratory in the clouds" of Texas Southern College has been put into use. It is located in the Sierra Oriental Mountains of old Mexico, about 250-miles south of Brownsville.

The college has built dormitories and a cook shack for students making field trips to study plant and animal life in the area. The laboratory is the area itself, where rainfall exceeds 125 inches a year.

Personality Spotlight

Steel Election Foes Have Lot in Common

By United Press International
Once they were friends, long-time friends, sitting side by side at the bargaining table trying to get the best deal they could for the sweating laborer in the steel mill.

They had a common past, and a common memory of what life in the mills was like before the United Steelworkers of America (USWA) came into being.

David J. McDonald and I. W. Abel had seen bloody strikes, taken part in them. They had done the hazardous work of organizing the men in the mills.

And they had learned the art of labor leader at the knee of the man they revered — Philip Murray, a giant of the labor movement, the man who gave them their start up the ladder.

Now they face each other in battle, their camps arrayed in a no-quarter-fought fight for control of the million-member steelworkers union.

CAREER ENDED

The man who goes down to defeat in the election for president of the USWA tomorrow is out, his long executive career in a great union at an end.

McDonald, 63, handsome, white-haired and husky, and jealous of his reputation as a labor statesman, is fighting to hold onto the reins. He took over from Murray, and for 12 years he led the fight for the economic betterment of the man in the mill. During those years he led the steelworkers through two long and bitter strikes, and into the top ranks of American wage earners.

Abel, his fallen-out friend, says McDonald did not do as well as he should have. He says McDonald has lost contact with the rank and file, has become a "pal" of industry management, seeking equal "social status" with the management executive.

Abel, 57, small, husky and scholarly in appearance, says bitterly that McDonald has taken away the negotiating powers of the USWA's executive board and its wage policy committee and has tried to be a one-man union negotiating team parleying at the "summit" with the industry bigwigs.

These "summit" talks, Abel charges, have led to deterioration of the union's strength and to inadequate labor contracts.

Abel says he would return the reins of the union to the rank and file and their elected local and district officials.

The steelworkers will decide this battle for control at the ballot box tomorrow, mindful that the man they elect will be fighting their fight during the next few months in contract negotiations with the steel, can and aluminum industries.

Should he lose, McDonald would be a "lame duck" president until June 1 and not likely to wield any power in the contract talks.

For 16 years McDonald was Murray's right-hand man. He took over as president Nov. 14, 1952, six days after Murray's death, and the following February was elected to the first of three four-year terms.

Murray made Abel the director of District 27 in the Canton, Ohio, area in 1942, and after Murray died Abel succeeded McDonald as USWA international secretary-treasurer, the No. 2 man in the union.

Leftover Ice Saves Salesman's Truck

Raids in Retaliation for Mortar Bombing of American Base

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese planes struck again today at Communist North Viet Nam, hitting military camps and leaving them burning, the South Vietnamese air commander reported.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, flying the lead Vietnamese plane, was hit in the arm by shrapnel. He said antiaircraft fire was heavy over the target areas.

Ky reported later the raid was made by 30 Vietnamese propeller-driven Skyraiders and four U.S. F105s.

In Saigon, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the armed forces commander, said the raid had destroyed 70 per cent of the targets.

He identified the villages as Thang Tay, Thang Le and Runners-up in the contest were Lynn Tar of Dearborn and Carolyn Mason of Garden City. Miss Mason also was awarded

"You hope your daughter will win because in your mind she is the best. But when she does win, well, it is still very unexpected."

TO ATTEND MSU
Patrice plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall and study for a degree in education.

The three-day pageant was sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce. While in Pontiac, all girls stayed with area families.

In addition to an all-expense-paid trip to Mobile for the national competition, the winner was presented a $1,000 scholarship, 10-piece wardrobe, phonograph, radio and other prizes.

The two runners-up each received $250 scholarships.

Winter's Brief Absence Due to End Today

Looks like you can exchange your water wings for a pair of ice grippers or snowshoes if the weatherman's prediction comes to pass.

There's a strong chance that slowly falling temperatures will change today's drizzle into sleet and snow by afternoon and evening.

Tuesday will be colder with the high ranging from 28 to 32. Intermittent snow flurries will accompany cloud skies.

'Preserve Beauty of U.S.'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called today for a wide-ranging program to preserve and enhance America's beauty.

It included attacks on air and water pollution, more parks and recreational areas, and elimination of eyesore junk yards along the nation's highways.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said that while the federal government can do much, a beautiful America will require the effort of government at every level of business and private groups.

"I am hopeful that we can summon such a national effort," Johnson said.

"For we have not chosen to have an ugly America. We have been careless and often neglected. But now that the danger is clear and the hour is late, this people can place themselves in the path of the tide of blight which is often irreversible and always destructive.

SALVAGE BEAUTY
Johnson said "we must not only protect the countryside and save it from destruction, we must restore what has been destroyed and salvage the beauty and charm of our cities."

For the cities, he recommended a community extension program which will bring the resources of universities to focus on problems of the community just as they have long been concerned with rural areas.

In addition, under the housing law of 1964, grants will be made to states for training of local governmental employees needed for community development.

Johnson said he will recommend a supplemental appropriation for this purpose.

He cited two programs already on the books which he said can be of special help in creating areas of recreation and beauty for metropolitan area population: The open space land program, and the land and water conservation fund.

In addition to these programs, Johnson said he will ask authority for a fund matching program to cities for landscaping, installation of outdoor lights and benches, creating attractive cityscapes along roads and in business areas, and for other beautification purposes.

Tentative Philadelphia OK May Lead to Dock Peace

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tentative agreement reached late last night in the Philadelphia dock strike apparently paves the way for an end to the paralyzing East and Gulf Coast longshoremen's strike, which has cost the nation some $6 billion in commerce.

The 2,500 members of Local 1291 will vote tomorrow night or Wednesday on ratification of the agreement, which came after a marathon 33-hour negotiating session that began at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Negotiators were spurred by a personal appearance of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who attended the talks in Philadelphia for more than seven hours yesterday.

Reynolds said he feels the settlement in Philadelphia will lead to a complete settlement of the dispute from Maine to Texas which has idled 775 ships and 60,000 longshoremen for 29 days.

He said there are eight other locals in the Philadelphia and Wilmington, Del., areas that must reach contract settlements.

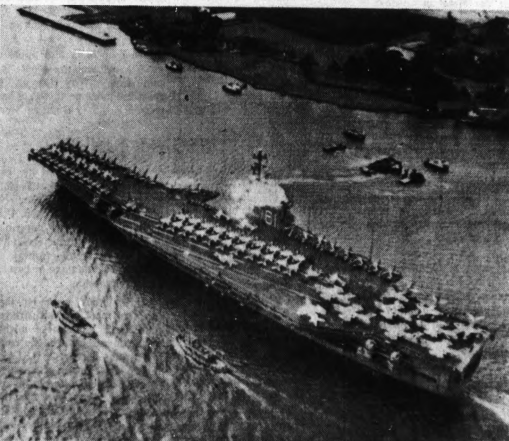

Fred Field, general organizer for the ILS, said the smaller locals are expected to accept similar contract terms.

TWO OTHERS
Agreements still to be reached in Galveston, Tex., and Miami, Fla.

Negotiators for the ILS and the Hampton Roads Maritime Association reached tentative agreement on a new contract Saturday.

The 2,000 longshoremen there vote tomorrow on the agreement.

Baltimore also has reached a settlement, but it is to be studied by a committee. Local issues were resolved in Boston some time ago and the 4,500 dockers there have voted in favor of contract terms.

May Name New Gemini Astronauts

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — There was speculation today whether the named spacecraft center might name the astronauts for its seven-day Gemini space mission.

The last time a Gemini crew was named, the announcement came at the center's regular Monday morning news conference.

Those in a position to know wouldn't say when the crew would be disclosed.

Astronauts mentioned for the third manned Gemini flight are civilians Neil A. Armstrong and Eliot M. See Jr., Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr.

The first manned Gemini flight is expected in March or April and will be for only three orbits. The second space probe will be of four-day duration and is expected some time this summer.

MOST AMBITIOUS
The GTS, as it is called, is the most ambitious manned space mission yet tackled by the United States.

It will be the longest trip in space, and during the flight the astronauts are scheduled to step outside their spacecraft as it hurtles 25,000 miles per hour. They also are to rendezvous with a 50-pound pod shot from the capsule on the first orbit.

APPOINTMENT WITH DEATH — Attorney Bernard Tompkins, 61, leads 12-year-old Susan Didenko into a New York police station yesterday after she had seen her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Didenko, 43, shot to death in the American Museum of Natural History. Minutes after this picture was taken, Tompkins collapsed and died at the station house. According to police, the woman was shot by her estranged husband, violin maker Dmytro Didenko, 72.

Horried Girl, 12, Sees Mother Slain by Ex-Mate

NEW YORK (AP) — A serene Sunday afternoon in the American Museum of Natural History erupted into a nightmare as an embittered violin maker shot and killed his former wife amid the screams of children and their horrified parents.

About 30 persons were in the majestic entrance hall when five shots rang out and Gertrude Didenko, 43, slumped to the floor. A trembling onlooker was her daughter, Susan, 12.

The father, Dmytro Didenko, 72, described as a master craftsman, was subdued by museum guards and a visitor, a retired city detective.

The Russian-born Didenko, charged with homicide, was asked where he got the foreign make pistol. He replied: "In America anyone can get a gun."

WAS PAWN
Dark-haired Susan, police said, was a pawn in the severed marriage as her parents argued over custody and visitation rights in court battles dating back to 1957.

Less than four months ago the museum was the scene of a $410,000 jewel robbery in which the fabulous Star of India sapphire was stolen. It since has been recovered.

Authorities gave this account of the shooting:

Elliott Names Platform Unit

To Draft Document for State GOP Parley

Republican State Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. today named a 47-member pre-convention resolutions committee to draft the party platform for the upcoming state convention in Lansing Feb. 19-20.

Four of the committee members are from Oakland County.

The area residents appointed include C. Ray Baird of Huntington Woods representing the 18th Congressional District; and David L. Stader Jr., 26282 Pipers Lane, Farmington Township; of the 19th District.

Named to the committee on an at-large basis were Philip J. Rouce, 1536 Yosemite, Birmingham; and State Rep. Raymond L. Baker of the 64th District, 32718 Grand River, Farmington.

The committee, headed by John Wolf, a Saginaw attorney, will hold its organization meeting at 1 p.m., Wednesday at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing.

PUBLIC MEETING
The committee has scheduled a public meeting for the afternoon of Feb. 19 in Lansing, and then will meet in private to apply the finishing touches to the document before sending it to the convention for approval the following morning.

Elliott predicted the platform would "almost certainly bear the Romney brand" in that it will be "constructive in purpose" and "forward-looking in its objectives."

In addition to adopting their platform, Republicans at their two-day convention will elect a state chairman and vice chairman, along with a complete 78-member state central committee.

U.S. plane was hit by flak but that there were no casualties among American personnel. Ky declined to say if there would be more raids on North Viet Nam.

MANY CASUALTIES
Ky reported he spotted many casualties on the ground as his air strike turned for home.

The Vietnamese officer said his flight was accompanied by U.S. Air Force Capt. William Leitch of Victorville, Calif. Leitch declined to discuss the mission and said that officially he had no part in it.

The new attack was first announced by the U.S. Embassy in Saigon.

But that announcement gave no details.

SAID 3 DOWN
The Soviet news agency Tass in a dispatch from Hanoi claimed that North Vietnamese ground troops shot down three U.S. planes at noon today during a raid by U.S. and South Vietnamese planes, on the North Vietnamese town of Dong Ho.

In Washington, the Defense Department said no U.S. aircraft are missing.

Dong Ho was the chief target yesterday of a bombing strike by U.S. Navy planes in retaliation for the Communist mortar attack earlier yesterday on the U.S. base at Pleiku.

The Communist claimed four planes were downed during the raid yesterday, but the United States admitted the loss of only one.

DA NANG BASE

Appointments Announced by Prosecutor

Three appointments to the staff of Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson were announced today.

Named assistant prosecutors by Bronson were Patrick H. Oliver, 26, and Timothy E. Dinan, 27, both of Detroit. Robert W. Larin, 30, of St. Clair Shores was appointed chief investigator.

Oliver, a 1963 graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, was with the Detroit law firm of Livingston, Gregory, Van Lopik and Cranfield prior to his appointment.

Both Dinan and Larin previously were investigators with the Michigan Medical Service (Blue Cross-Blue Shield), taught school and coached athletics.

Dinan, admitted to the bar in January following his graduation from the U. of D. Law School, was president of the student union at the university in 1958-59, and president of the student bar association in his senior year.

GRADUATE OF U. OF D.
Larin, also a law graduate of U. of D. with bachelor degrees in philosophy and education, was chairman of the moot court board of directors at the university in 1963-64.

ent John T. Wheeler reported that a flight of Vietnamese propeller-driven Skyraiders took off with heavy loads of bombs from Da Nang. Officials there refused to say where they were headed.

U.S. sources had held out the possibility of further reprisal raids on North Viet Nam, reporting that low clouds yesterday prevented some U.S. and South Vietnamese planes from reaching three target areas.

In Washington, President Johnson summoned the National Security Council today to hear a report from McGeorge Bundy, just back from a presidential mission to South Viet Nam.

GAVE REPORT
The presidential adviser cut short his trip and returned to Washington last night. He went to the White House to give Johnson a brief report immediately.

High-ranking officials declined to predict what turn events would take next. They looked for diplomatic and military clues from the Communists — but reported nothing so far giving a firm reading on the Reds' future course.

In the raids yesterday 49 U.S. Navy planes from two carriers attacked barracks and staging areas at Dong Ho, 45 miles across the Communist border. U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said the raiding pilots reported "heavy fires, heavy smoke and substantial damage."

North Viet Nam claimed it shot down four of the American raiders. The Americans said one plane was hit and crashed in the sea. Its pilot, Lt. Edward A. Dickson of Wyoming, Pa., reportedly ejected and Navy ships were looking for him.

RETALIATION
The United States said the air raid was in retaliation for the Viet Cong attack on the U.S. base at Pleiku, 240 miles north of Saigon.

Eight Americans were killed at Pleiku, and more than 100 wounded. Six new turbo-jet helicopters, two twin-engine transports and three light spotter planes were heavily damaged.

Officials said a normal guard of 48 Vietnamese, half the guard detachment — were on duty, along with U.S. sentries.

Viet Cong units also attacked an oil installation about the same time at Tuy Hoa, on the coast 240 miles northeast of Saigon. No U.S. casualties were reported there.

ATTACK FAILS
The Viet Cong failed last night in an attack on the U.S. helicopter base in the Mekong Delta, at Soc Trang 100 miles southwest of Saigon. U.S. military sources said guerrillas fired 15 heavy mortar shells but none landed on the runway or buildings. No damage or casualties was reported.

U.S. forces were on the alert to meet any air strikes the North Vietnamese might make in response to the raid across the border. A U.S. Air Force detachment of missile-firing F-102 jets stood ready at Da Nang. They were sent to South Viet Nam during the Gulf of Tonkin crisis last August.

McNamara announced in Washington that the United States was sending a battalion of Hawk anti-aircraft missiles to Da Nang from a Pacific base. The first elements of the bat-tion arrived in Da Nang this afternoon. They were part of the Marine 1st Light Anti-Aircraft Missile Battalion from California.

AIRLIFT TROOPS
A force of about 2,000 Vietnamese paratroopers and rangers were airlifted from Saigon to the border with North Viet Nam today. U.S. detachments at Saigon airport began putting sandbag barricades around key buildings.

In Saigon, some 1,800 dependents of U.S. military and civilian personnel prepared to leave the capital after President Johnson ordered their "orderly withdrawal."

About 40 persons will leave on the first flight tomorrow. A U.S. spokesman said all dependents will be out of the country within 10 days.

The American Community School attended by 750 students was ordered closed. The White House announcement caught most Americans by surprise but preparations for departure proceeded calmly.

OTHER FRONTS
On other battle fronts, military sources reported a sharp renewal of hostilities over the weekend after the lull in fighting during the week-long lunar New Year holiday.

The Vietnamese Defense Ministry reported that 165 Viet Cong were killed yesterday near Tam Ky, south of Da Nang. The government said its forces suffered one dead and three wounded.

In another engagement farther north, the government said the Communists overran an outpost, killing 39 soldiers.

Mrs. Rosa Gelstein, 65, of 2792 Pine Heights, West Bloomfield Township, died Saturday when the airliner on which she was a passenger crashed and burned in the Andes Mountains in Chile.

Mrs. Gelstein, a Gray Lady at Pontiac General Hospital, divided her residence between the United States and Buenos Aires.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. Lazaro Gelstein, with whom she made her home when in West Bloomfield Township, and Isidore of Buenos Aires; several brothers and sisters; and six grandchildren.

The Pontiac School Board recently established a policy that the teacher association with the largest membership would be recognized annually as the official agent for teachers.

The PEA has a membership of 564 while the PFT claims about 300 members.

Eighty per cent of the population of Costa Rica are of Spanish descent.

DEATH CAR — A car-truck collision early yesterday morning killed three in Waterford Township. The 18-year-old driver of this car collided head-on with a pickup truck on West Walton near Sashabaw in Waterford Township.

Group Will Urge City to Make W. Maple Safer

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners tonight will be urged to ease the traffic safety problem on West Maple, scene of an auto accident which took the lives of four young people three weeks ago.

Petitioning the commission for action is the Birmingham Park Improvement Association, representing all 77 property owners on Hawthorne, Aspen and Linden.

Association president James W. Frederick noted that excessive speed on the street running through the residential area causes serious accidents.

"Also, this excessive speed combined with the heavy traffic make any attempt by motorists to gain access to West Maple from the side streets, or to turn onto a side street from Maple, a very hazardous situation," he added.

Members of the association are seeking:

• Installation of a traffic control light at some point between Southfield and Chertfield to break the present continuous flow of traffic.

• Reduction of the present speed limit which would enable drivers to have better control of their vehicles.

In his report to the commission, City Manager R. S. Kenning noted that the area has been under study since Dec. 14, nearly a month before the fatal accident there.

Traffic volume and speed surveys have been conducted and sent to the city's traffic engineer for review and recommendations, Kenning said.

Kenning commented that there were 55 accidents on the stretch between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1964. Half of these were at the West Maple-Southfield intersection, he said.

Also on tonight's City Commission agenda are items which the group was to consider at its meeting last week, cancelled because of lack of a quorum.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Voters in the Bloomfield Hills School District today are deciding the fate of a 3.3-mill tax increase to cover the cost of a new salary schedule for teachers.

The proposed 15-year increase would add to a levy which currently includes 18.85 mills for operation and 5.88 mills for bond retirement.

Feature of the proposed salary schedule is a plan to award merit pay to superior teachers.

While waiting for election returns tonight, school board members will hold a special session to discuss possible emergency action regarding the district's second high school site.

Eleven Lahser Road property owners have filed a suit in Oakland County Circuit Court to prohibit the board from building the school on its site there.

Trial on the matter has been postponed until March 2, therefore throwing off the construction schedule for the school.

Probe Identity of Sportscaster

Kin Claim Legally Dead Man Is Alive

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — An Omaha television sportscaster remained in seclusion under the care of a physician today while attempts continue to establish his identity.

John and Richard Bader of Akron, Ohio, contend the Omaha announcer known as "Fritz" is their brother, Lawrence Joseph Bader, declared legally dead after he disappeared in 1957.

Chicago police say an FBI fingerprint comparison shows the prints of Lawrence Bader and John F. (Fritz) Johnson are the same.

Johnson had denied he is Bader. Saturday night he went to Omaha police for a new set of fingerprints in an effort to prove it.

INTO SECLUSION
Johnson and his family then went into seclusion.

Attorney Paul Crounse, who described himself as a friend and counsel for Fritz, told newsmen Sunday his client is under the care of an Omaha physician.

The attorney declined to answer questions or make further comment.

The missing Bader's wife, Mary Lou, eventually was paid $24,579 on an insurance policy he had. Mrs. Bader and her four children live in Akron.

The Akron Beacon Journal said a police report at the time of Bader's disappearance mentioned a $7,000 double indemnity life insurance policy bought a few days before. However, John Bader said he definitely knew that his brother did not buy such a policy.

VANISHED ON TRIP
The missing Bader vanished while on a fishing trip on Lake Erie, May 17, 1957. Four days later Johnson turned up in Omaha and took a bartender's job.

He later worked in radio and television and won state archery tournaments, once within three months after losing an eye because of cancer. He holds the Nebraska state championship.

At least twice his story of a founding in a Boston orphanage and later Navy service have appeared in print. Never before, apparently, has anyone questioned his identity.

Johnson is married to a photographer's model and has a daughter and a son. His wife is the former Nancy Zimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zimmer of Chicago.

SEEN BY FRIENDS
Johnson, 37, was seen by a friend of the Baders at a sports show in Chicago Thursday. After talking to Johnson, the friend telephoned Akron and John and Richard flew to Chicago.

Akron police asked Mrs. Bader if she wanted to file charges of non-support and abandonment. They said she replied: "I know I've been wrong... but I just don't want to prosecute."

She did not say, however, that she believes Johnson is her husband.

See Chiang Upping China Operation

United Press International Chinese Nationalist military sources predict President Chiang Kai-shek will intensify guerrilla and commando operations against the Communist-dominated mainland when spring comes.

Chiang, who has vowed to destroy the Peking regime before it builds a nuclear arsenal and delivery vehicles, hopes the people on the mainland will rise up against the Reds and join in the fight.

Western observers see little hope of this but don't discount the possibility of renewed fighting in the Formosa Strait.

GERMANS WANT JOHNSON: If and when President Johnson goes to Moscow to meet with the new leaders in the Kremlin, expect West Germany to make a strong pitch for him to visit Bonn, and possibly Berlin.

Sources in Bonn say such a visit would be viewed as reaffirmation of American support for West Germany and its position on German reunification and other East-West issues.

STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS: Look for increased pressure by the opposition Socialists in West Germany's parliament for an extension of the statute of limitations for Nazi era war crimes indictments beyond the current May deadline.

Protests from abroad coupled with widespread criticisms of the acquittal of one of Adolf Eichmann's aides and the relatively light sentence imposed on another has spurred the press and sections of the public to demand the deadline be extended.

SUMMIT TALKS: French officials in Paris expect British Prime Minister Harold Wilson to visit Paris at the end of March for talks with President Charles de Gaulle on East-West issues and differences in the North Atlantic alliance.

The officials say de Gaulle is holding time open in late April and early May for a visit by President Johnson for similar talks even though no definite arrangements have been made thus far.

COMMON MARKET JITTERS: Common Market sources in Brussels say the Communist bloc countries are showing increased interest in the six-nation European community.

The East bloc countries fear their rising cash trade with the West may suffer from European tariff barriers and are quietly sounding out the community's executive commission on possible deals.

Both Poland and Yugoslavia have been in contact recently with headquarters in Brussels even though they have no accredited diplomatic mission there. Their aim is to increase sales on farm produce.

Computer Feeds Paralyzed Patient

CLEVELAND (U) — At Highland View Hospital a patient sits quietly eating from the plate to his mouth.

It would be a normal scene at the hospital, but for one thing. This patient is paralyzed from the neck down.

Every movement he makes is controlled by an electronic computer.

A mechanical arm, clamped to his own, moves it in normal eating motions. The patient controls the operations with a photoelectric device glued to his forehead.

This is the result of efforts by a new variety of scientist — biomedical engineers.

PROBLEMS TOPPLED

Their engineering methods have toppled long-standing problems in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

Their computers and electric devices have helped biologists to new understanding of basic mechanisms of life, from the chemical structure of genes to tracking movements of the human eye.

A group of engineers and doctors is centered at Highland View Hospital in suburban Warrensville Township, one of the Western Reserve University associated hospitals, and Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

It was these men who produced, among other things, the arm-aid for paralyzed patients.

ATTACHED TO HEAD

An infrared light source, attached to the patient's head, is aimed by the patient at photo cells on the table in front of him.

Once activated, the cells select the program desired from the computer, and move the powered arm-aid.

In addition, electrodes and amplifiers pick up the bio-electric activity in the patient's shoulder muscle to activate his paralyzed finger muscles to obtain some use of the fingers in grasping.

Engineers and private research organizations have co-operated on projects such as cardiac pacemakers, electronic bypasses for damaged nerves, three-dimensional X-ray movies, lasers used in eye surgery, and, on the way, artificial organs to replace man's own.

In almost every study, electronic computers prove to be the one most essential instrument.

Home Blaze Fatal to Four in Montana

HAMILTON, Mont. (AP) — Four members of a family of five perished Sunday night in a fire.

Witnesses reported the surviving child said the fire flared up as he was playing with matches.

The victims were Lyle Grevo, 39, a logging company employee; his wife, Patricia, 19, and two of their children, Mary, about 2, and Shirley, about 1.

The third child, Roger, about 4, ran into the nearby Elks Club about 9:30 p.m., carrying matches and a candle. He told persons in the club he had been playing with the matches and accidentally set a curtain on fire.

The boy said his father shoved him out the door of their home and went back inside for the firemen.

Buys 14,000 Acres of Ex-Estes Property

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Some 14,000 acres of Pecos County farm land that once belonged to former agriculture tycoon Billie Sol Estes has been acquired by L. D. Thomas of Lubbock.

Thomas said he bought the land for $2 million from Morris Jaffee of the American Grain Corp. He said he planned to lease 10,000 acres to a farm operator.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—W. P. McFall, 72, retired Southern regional director of American Airlines, died Sunday. Mc-

2 Clergymen Swap Pulpits

Exchange of Catholic, Episcopalian Praised

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—The Roman Catholic and Episcopal clergymen who exchanged pulpits Sunday stirred the members of religious crusade among their followers.

Asked for opinions afterward, many could say only "It's wonderful" or "deeply stimulating." But each felt he had taken part in history.

Peter J. Lindemann Jr., a Flagstaff city councilman and former state legislator, called it "a great experience." He attended both services.

The exchange was made by the Rev. Robert Lord, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany, and the Very Rev. James Lindemann, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Roman Catholic Church. Both are in Flagstaff.

CHURCH CROWDED

A crowd of 150 jammed the Episcopal church for the morning service to hear Father Lindemann. He did not participate in the Episcopal liturgy but spoke for about 15 minutes.

"There are differences of belief in our churches concerning the sacraments," he said. "But we do affirm the existence of the sacraments as a means of salvation instituted by Christ."

"It is this common teaching which we treasure." From the Catholic pulpit Sunday evening, the Rev. Mr. Lord said. "The significant thing to consider is that the separation of the two communions was not based on religious matters, but rather on political matters."

POLITICAL DIVISION

Speaking to a spillover assembly of 225, he said, "Unfortunately it is that this political division should have incited such gross and sinful excesses on both sides... that dialogue has been impossible until now."

Afterward, both clergymen were surrounded outside the church by enthusiastic parishioners. Dr. Richard Rush, an Episcopalian and geology professor at Arizona State College in Flagstaff, described the services as inspiring. He also attended both.

"Terrific, a Christian landmark," said Mrs. Edward B. Danson, wife of the director of the museum of Northern Arizona in Flagstaff.

JOINT CHOIR
Dr. John Stille, former president of the Arizona School Board, said he was especially pleased to have directed the joint choir which sang at both churches.

Despite subfreezing temperatures in Flagstaff there was little doubt the services had helped a centuries-old cold war.

Negro Students Will Do Summer Work in Slums

NEW YORK (AP)—Negro college students will be sent into big city slums this summer to help Negroes help themselves under a new program of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The agency announced Sunday it will send 500 to 1,000 college students into slum areas in New York and other Northern communities initially. Later the program is slated to spread to the South.

Students from Smith, Wesleyan, Kenyon, Dartmouth, Queens College and C. W. Post colleges and Bridgeport and Hartford universities already have volunteered for the project, the NAACP's National Youth Work Committee said.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Valentine decorations never change. These women cutting out hearts for the Viernes dance on Friday are doing what lots of people do this week — cut up red paper.

From the left are Mrs. Howard O. Powers, Cherokee Road; Mrs. Allan Denham, Oriole Road; and Mrs. Norman Cheal, North Lake Drive.

Hearts and Flowers at Dance Club

Viernes Dancing Club members will take guests to the Valentine dance Friday at the Elks Temple. Dave Farley will provide the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan J. Denham are chairmen for the evening.

Assisting them are the Norman Cheals, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Compton, the Fred Fullers, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoogerhyde and Mr. and Mrs. Howard O. Powers.

Among those planning cocktail parties before the dance are the William McClures of Illinois Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barnett, Josephine Street and Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Worster of Orchard Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Perkins are cohosting a party with the Richard Paschkes.

Hunt Club Reception for George Higbie

A reception in the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club followed the vows of Barbara Gail Stirling and George Phillips Higbie Saturday in Christ church Cranbrook.

Parents of the newlyweds are the James Stirlings of Delano Road, Oxford Township, Mrs. West H. Gallaghy of Oxford and the late Carlton M. Higbie.

Don Lonie Will Speak

Don H. Lonie, acclaimed as one of the nation's finest high school lecturers, will speak to the Episcopal Churchwomen of Christ Church Cranbrook on Tuesday.

At the morning session, recordings of his talks to teenagers will be heard. Following the noon luncheon, he will speak on "Should Parents be Allowed to Live?"

A resident of Southfield, Mr. Lonie studied at Wheaton College and has since devoted much of his life to alerting young people to their problems and the problems of the day. He has spoken to more than 3,000 high school assemblies in 45 states.

Heather Stirling assisted her sister as honor maid along with bridesmaids Ginger Booth, Birmingham; Nina Spitzley, Rochester; Susan Higbie, Oxford and Jeannine Pope, Hillsborough, Calif.

Empire bodices of moss green velvet topped their floor-length gowns of candlelight crepe. They carried Fuji chrysanthemums.

Carlton M. Higbie Jr., of Grosse Pointe, the bridegroom's stepbrother served as best man.

Warn Them About Each Other First

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband and I are having a dinner party at a hotel on our 25th wedding anniversary.

Two of the couples we would like to invite are not on speaking terms. I am very friendly with both couples.

Would it be proper to invite them to the same party? If not, how can we choose between them without causing hurt feelings?

A: If your dinner is to be a large one where these two couples will not be thrown into close contact with each other and their not speaking will not be noticed by your other guests, you may invite both.

But even so, you should tell each of these couples that you are inviting the other so that if either one objects to being in at the same party, they may decline the invitation.

PRINCIPAL, LAST

Q: I say the most important speaker at a dinner speaks last. Some disagree with me and say that it is proper and courteous for him to speak first.

I would appreciate your settling this point.

A: You are right. The principal speaker is usually last on the program.

Of LBJ Asian Policy

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently has sidetracked a massive Republican attack on his Asian policies by ordering retaliatory forays against North Vietnamese bases.

Before the weekend's military action, congressional Republicans had been waiting only for a presidential assessment of an on-the-spot report of the Saigon situation by his special fact-finder, McGeorge Bundy, before blasting away at Johnson's course.

They suspected Bundy's recommendations would be for, as they put it, "more of the same" in South Viet Nam, with no spectacular acceleration of American effort there.

They were poised in this case to demand what House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan called "forcible action."

CONC SNEAK ATTACK
Then came the Viet Cong sneak attack on South Vietnamese installations. Eight Americans were killed and more than 100 wounded.

Johnson provided the "forcible action" by dispatching carrier planes to bomb the southern military bases in North Viet Nam.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who had expressed his "deep concern" recently over the deterioration of the U.S. military position in South Viet Nam, gave full endorsement to the President's action.

Dirksen said that if he had had to make the decision, he would have done exactly what Johnson did. Otherwise, he said, the United States might have been convicted in the eyes of Asians of a fatal immobility that could have wiped out U.S. prestige in that part of the world.

LBJ TO BRIEF LEADERS
Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, said in separate interviews they expect Johnson to brief leaders of both parties on developments as soon as he digests Bundy's report.

Johnson acted to bring the Republicans in on the decision-making process in the crisis. GOP members of Congress have complained in the past they were expected to participate in the crash-landings but seldom were consulted before the take-off.

Unlike his predecessor, President John F. Kennedy, who told senators and representatives what his decision was after he had made it in the Cuban crisis, Johnson asked them to sit in on the discussions that led up to the decision.

The President had Dirksen on the telephone Saturday night to tell him what was brewing. He had Ford, House Speaker John McCormack and Mansfield sit in on a National Security Council meeting. When Dirksen found it impossible to attend, the President kept him abreast of developments by telephone.

GOP SHARE DECISION
All of this has put the Republican leaders in the position of having shared in the decision. Consequently members of their party will encounter some difficulty "baptizing" either it or the resultant flow from it.
