Willman Expected to File Charges on Straley Today

Scrape for Drivers — and More to Come

GLAZED OUTLOOK — It was drive and scrape, scrape and drive this morning, as another sleet storm coated the highways and windshields for work-bound drivers. Blowers had difficulty removing the fast-growing accumulation, and windshield wipers only made it worse. The cheerful weatherman says there may be more of the same in store.

Return to Lansing Tonight

GOP Legislators to Map Sales Tax Hike Strategy

LANSING (AP)—This week could be the week in the Legislature that tells the tale for the Republican 4-cent sales tax move.

Shortly after they return from a 3-day recess at 8 p.m. tonight, Republican House members will caucus on how to proceed in negotiations with Gov. Williams for 19 vital Democratic votes.

The GOP House members want to put the 1-cent sales tax increase issue to a statewide vote in the April 6 election, along with a proposition expressly authorizing a graduated tax on individual income.

Williams has said he will not lend any help unless the Republicans take a party stand for some sort of tax program in the event the ballot proposition meets defeat.

A Republican delegation that conferred with him last Thursday said it was not empowered nor prepared to speak on this question. It accepted his offer for another bargaining session at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The governor indicated that what would please him most was a Republican pledge, if the constitutional questions are lost, to support his $140,000,000 tax plan keyed to new levies on individual income and corporation profits.

An early understanding is crucial to the Republican cause because of a deadline for putting their proposal into effect.

Constitutional propositions will have to win final legislative approval by the end of the month to qualify for the ballot.

The governor hopes to get his remedy for the state's cash emergency moving again within the next day or two. It calls for mortgaging the $50,000,000 Veterans Trust Fund.

The four-bill package is tied up in a House Ways and Means Committee, which seemed likely to get it out on the floor for debate without much further delay.

The governor plans to get the ball rolling on state government reorganization soon, possibly Wednesday. He has seven resolutions ready to submit under a 1958 law permitting him to initiate reorganization proposals.

City's Manager Says: 'I Think I Will File Them'

Accusations Would Go to Civil Service Panel for Removal Action

Ouster charges against Police Chief Herbert W. Straley will "definitely" be filed by 5 p.m. today, City Manager Walter K. Willman said in a brief announcement at 1:45 p.m. at City Hall.

The City Manager made the decision public after speaking briefly with the police chief in private. Details of the conversation were not disclosed.

"It will be up to the Civil Service Commission to decide if and when the charges will be made public," said the city manager.

Faced by a deadline that expires today, City Manager Walter K. Willman was expected momentarily to file charges against Straley with City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

Ill at home early this morning with a cold, the manager had a prepared copy of the accusations. He said he was "studying" them.

Later, at City Hall, the manager had a 45-minute conference with Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, and afterwards ordered stenographers to retype the charges, including last-minute changes.

Apparently wary about committing himself in advance about signing the charges and delivering them to Mrs. Evans, the manager would only concede, "I think I will file them."

The charges, if signed, will be filed with Mrs. Evans in her capacity as clerk of the Civil Service Commission.

It is her job to notify Stuart Austin, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, that charges have been filed and his job to call a meeting of the three-member board to consider them.

As the deadline for filing charges narrowed down to a matter of hours, Straley was adamant about his refusal to resign.

"My plans have not changed," he said.

Officials involved in the dispute began to get together late this morning, after Willman arrived at City Hall.

Willman indicated he might make still another attempt to get Straley to leave his seven-year post quietly, avoiding an open hearing before the Civil Service Commission.

The manager said he wanted once more to talk with Straley and City Attorney William A. Ewart.

Ewart was expected at City Hall this afternoon, after spending the morning in Circuit Court on city business.

Straley was in his office in the Public Safety Building early this morning, attending to the few duties left to him by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman.

At 10:40 a.m., he left the building, declining to say where he was going.

At 11:08 a.m., Eastman, who prepared the charges against Straley, arrived at work after spending a weekend in Chicago on business.

Seven minutes later, the manager summoned Eastman to a con-

Sledding Boy Killed by Car; Teenager Dies of Earlier Injury

A Harper Woods boy and Waterford Township teenager died yesterday in area hospitals as the result of separate auto accidents.

Dead are David M. White, 9, of 1891 Woodcrest St. Harper Woods; and Neil D. White, 18, 1430 Crescent Lake Rd.

The boy slid down an embankment onto the road into the path of a car driven by Vito Geluso, 34, of 18424 Myron St., Livonia.

He died three hours later in William Beaumont Hospital of a fractured skull. David was visiting his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Taylor of Farmington Township, with his family.

The Waterford Township youth died at Pontiac General Hospital Sunday after suffering a fractured skull in a smashup last Thursday.

He had been a passenger in a car driven by Charles Fordyce, 19, of 5300 Highland Rd., Waterford Township. Fordyce told police his auto hit a patch of ice on a curve on Airport road and then rolled over, smashing into a tree.

Fordyce was released from the hospital and is scheduled to make an official statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office today. The accident occurred at about 1:30 Thursday morning.

Mooney Up Before Court, Stands Mute

Arthur C. Mooney, 50-year-old suspended Waterford Township teacher stood mute to a charge of driving with a revoked drivers license today and then appealed a drunk driving charge that he previously pleaded guilty to last Tuesday.

Mooney, who lives at 1651 Grimshaw St., Commerce Township, is already awaiting trial on a charge of furnishing beer to minors and examination on charges of gross indecency, both of which have been postponed three times.

His most recent legal troubles started last Monday night when two Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies arrested him for drunk driving.

The next day he pleaded guilty to the charge before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle who fined him $85 plus $15 costs.

His license was revoked and held by Dieterle for 10 days in which time Mooney could file an appeal and get the license back, pending a Circuit Court decision.

If no appeal was filed in that period, his license would be turned over to authorities in Lansing.

Saturday evening, the same two deputies saw Mooney driving through Union Lake Village. They arrested him for driving with a revoked license.

This morning before Dieterle, Mooney stood mute to the charge. His trial was set for Feb. 24 at 2 p.m. and he was released after posting a $500 bond set by Dieterle.

Mooney's attorney, at the same time, appealed the drunk driving conviction. He is scheduled to appear in Oakland County Circuit Court next Monday at 9:30 a.m.

He was also freed on a bond of $500 pending the higher court decision.

The teacher was suspended after alleged gross indecency acts were reported by a student involved in fatal auto crash Dec. 13. The trial and examination were originally set for Jan. 9.

Asks for Probe of Jim Hagerty

Man Who Touched Off Adams Case Accuses Ike's Press Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who ignited last year's dramatic Sherman Adams case now wants Congress to investigate White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

Dr. Bernarl Schwartz, a former House investigator, called for the probe Sunday after accusing Hagerty of stepping into a television case for political reasons. Hagerty immediately denied this.

"Mr. Schwartz was either misinformed or was deliberately lying," he said.

Schwartz, who is a New York University law professor, makes his charge against Hagerty in a forthcoming book, "The Professor and the Commissions." Parts of the book were released Saturday. Hagerty replied by making four letters public.

Last year, the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee removed Schwartz as chief counsel. But, exploring some of his accusations and using files he has assembled, it launched investigations that led to the resignations of Adams, who was President Eisenhower's chief assistant, and Richard A. Mack, a federal communications commissioner.

The accusation against Hagerty involves a television station in the Albany-Schenectady area of New York and a series of decisions by the Federal Communications Commission.

Hagerty said the FCC had made its decision before he requested some information about it.

But Schwartz said, "The facts do show that three months after Mr. Hagerty intervened the FCC did reverse its original decision."

Some Dirty Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Department of Air Pollution Control announced yesterday that the average accumulation of soot in Manhattan last year was 107.3 tons per square mile per month. That's approximately 1,285 tons per square mile for the year.

FAA Restricts Electra Landings

New Turboprop Planes Ordered Not to Come Down in Bad Weather

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency today imposed nationwide restrictions on bad weather landings by Electra turboprop passenger planes following the death of 65 persons in an Electra crash last Tuesday.

Operated by American Airlines, the plane crashed into the East River here just before midnight while approaching La Guardia Field on instruments. Eight of the 73 persons aboard survived.

A spokesman for the government agency said the restrictions will be in effect "while the investigation is going on as to the cause of the accident.

"The restrictions are temporary, voluntary on the part of the airlines, and the airlines have accepted the restrictions so that the order is in force now."

The FAA order forbids a pilot to land an Electra when the cloud ceiling over an airport is less than 1,000 feet, and when daytime forward visibility is less than a mile. The visibility at night must be at least two miles.

Previously the minimums were 400 feet and a mile visibility day or night. At the time of the crash the ceiling was 400 feet and visibility two miles.

Under the new restriction, the plane must continue in a "holding pattern" above an airport until weather improves, or it is sent elsewhere to land.

The Electra is manufactured by Lockheed Aircraft. During the past month it was placed in service by American and Eastern Airlines. Eleven other lines have the plane on order.

The Electra is powered by four Allison turbine engines. The engine is similar to that used in some all-jet aircraft, but in the Electra the turbines drive propellers.

The FAA said the new restrictions were drawn up in Washington last night. Investigators meanwhile were closely scrutinizing the instrument panel of the plane which fell into the East River.

Nation Slips and Sloshes — Snow, Rain

By The Associated Press

The major part of the nation slipped and sloshed in ice, snow and rain today as winter's rough elements poured out a mixture of foul weather.

A cold wave stung the Northeast and Northern Midwest.

A treacherous area of freezing rain or drizzle extended over wide areas in the central part of the country.

Considerable fog blanketed many sections in the Midwest and across wide areas in the Gulf Coast region and South Atlantic states.

Ice glaze warnings were issued by the Weather Bureau to motorists and stockmen in the central plains area. Driving was extremely hazardous in many areas.

Freezing temperatures hit Southern California early today in the wake of a storm which struck with rain, hail, snow, thunder and lightning.

After briefly cleared skies, more wet weather is expected.

Temperatures plummeted early today as the storm moved south. Many citrus areas reported readings from 29 to 31.

Snow fell as low as 2,500 feet Sunday, hitting some of Los Angeles' foothill suburbs.

Hail even pelted Southern California beach cities.

In London, influenza and an epidemic of measles, helped by Britain's winter smog, today were filling hospitals to capacity and forcing doctors to work emergency hours.

The smog that swept Britain last month brought a heavy toll of lung complaints, sore throats and colds. On the heels of that, cases of the four-day flu began pouring into the already overflowing hospitals.

Glaze Stops School Buses, Slows Cars to Snail's Pace

A freezing rain brought hazardous driving conditions early this morning forcing a number of area schools to close and slowing motorists on their way to work.

In Metamora, the school was open, but the single bus was forced to return without students after the driver found the rural roads too glazed to permit safe driving, school officials reported.

Waterford schools were open, but the buses were not running today.

One minor accident, involving a car which ran into the rear of a Rochester school bus, was reported today by the Rochester Police Department. Driver of the car was Howard Miller, 18, of 5730 N. Rochester Rd.

Miller told police he was unable to stop on the icy pavement at the corner of Fifth and Helen streets at 8 a.m. The driver of the school bus, which had a full load of about 40 students, was Roberta Moore, 2889 Emmons St., Rochester.

No one was hurt in the mishap and no one was ticketed, police said.

Numerous multi-car accidents —one involving 30 cars—were reported as Detroit area motorists inched their way along glazed expressways and thoroughfares.

Cars on U.S. 16 (Grand River) were backed up bumper-to-bumper for five or six miles at about 10 a.m. today between Middlebelt and the section just east of Lahser road, according to Redford State Police.

The ice storm was centered on southern Michigan, and up to four inches of snow was reported in the northern part of the state. Winds up to 30 m.p.h. drifted snow in the Sault Ste. Marie area, piling new snow on top of some 30 inches already on the ground.

Warmer temperatures were expected to ease precipitation today, but the weatherman said more of the traffic - snarling freezing rain is forecast Tuesday.

The storm is expected to last through Wednesday when colder temperatures will reach the state.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 10 above zero. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 30.

Stopped Car Cause of 30-Auto Jam

DETROIT (AP)—An unidentified motorist stopped his car on the sleet-covered Ford Expressway to clear his windshield today. An hour later police had untangled the last of 30 cars involved in a chain collision.

One policeman was injured slightly when his scout car joined the other cars in the tangle. Most of the cars suffered minor damages.

The car of the motorist who had stopped was not hit. Police said it drove away seconds after the collision started.

Ike Back Home Today to Meet With Twining

The President flew back to the capital last night, ending a five-day visit on the estate of former treasury secretary George M. Humphrey. The White House said he cut short the vacation by one day to take care of official duties.

Eisenhower's only announced appointment today was with Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. But he also may confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

On Tuesday, Eisenhower will confer with the Republican Congressional leaders. On Wednesday, he will meet with West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt who is visiting the United States.

Heart Ailment Claims 'Wild Bill' Donovan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. William (Wild Bill) Donovan, who directed the government's daring intelligence operations during World War II, died Sunday. He was 76.

Death of the former director of the Office of Strategic Services was attributed to a heart ailment.

He had been in Walter Reed Army Hospital here for some time.

Donovan won the Medal of Honor for leading the famed "Fighting 69th" regiment of the Rainbow Division in World War I. His fighting prowess became a legend of the war.

His nickname of "Wild Bill" stemmed from the exacting methods he used in training his men and the aggressive example of spirit and vigor he set for them.

The OSS operations Donovan headed during World War II were worldwide in scope. The organization conducted important research at home and daring exploits abroad, many of them behind enemy lines.

The shadowy army also fostered resistance movements and made possible the escape of some 5,000 members of the armed forces who

Find Runaway Boy Dead Near His Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A boy, who ran away from home after being spanked, was found dead Sunday in an abandoned building a block from his home.

Inspector Walter Kracke said the boy, Charles Matthews, 11, apparently died of asphyxiation caused by an unvented gas heater.

Anna Mae McClain, 32, told police she last saw her son when he left for school Friday morning. She had given him a spanking a few minutes earlier for misbehavior, she said.

She didn't report him missing, she added, because he had run away before, and a neighbor boy had reported seeing him at a movie Saturday.

"I knew he was around here somewhere," she said.

West Agrees on Strategy if Berlin Blocked--Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the Western Allies have agreed generally on procedures to follow if the Soviet Union invokes "physical means" to block access to Berlin.

He also renewed the West's offer to talk about a general settlement.

"We are willing to talk with the Soviets in a sincere effort to reach agreements," he said.

Dulles returned to Washington at 8 a.m. after talks at London, Paris and Bonn.

In a prepared statement Dulles told newsmen his talks abroad "reconfirmed the unity and firmness of our position."

"We do not accept any substitution of East Germans for the Soviet Union in its responsibilities toward Berlin and its obligations to us," he said.

"We are resolved that our position in, and access to, West Berlin shall be preserved.

"We are in general agreement as to the procedures we shall follow if physical means are invoked to interfere with our rights in this respect."

Dulles did not elaborate. He gave no hint of what procedures the Western Allies have decided to follow if the Soviet Union tries physically to block the routes to Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside East Germany.

Dulles said he returns from his six-day trip "encouraged by the unity, understanding and resolution in the three countries I visited.

"We discussed the whole problem of Germany. We exchanged views on the prospects for a foreign ministers meeting with the Soviet Union at which all aspects of the German problem can be discussed, not only Berlin and a peace treaty, as the Soviets propose, but also reunification and European security, as the Western powers have proposed."

Dulles talked to the heads of government and foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany and with Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak of the Atlantic Pact (NATO).

Dulles left Bonn Sunday with a hint that some slight conciliatory move[illegible]ard the Soviets may be in t[illegible]aking, but only if the U.S also is in a conciliatory mood.

Both German and American spokesmen also said the Western powers are still far from agreement on a detailed policy on how to meet the Soviet challenge in Berlin. But they indicated that progress was made in the talks.

Murder Warrant Asked by Police

Royal Oak Man Tells, Under Truth Serum, of Hitting Foreman.

A murder warrant will be sought tomorrow against a Royal Oak construction worker in the death of his foreman, following a voluntary "truth serum" statement, Detroit police reported today.

Woodrow Besonen 46, of 1913 Fourth St., Royal Oak submitted to the truth serum test after lie-detector questioning about the death of George Sweigart proved inconclusive.

Detective Sgt. David Harris of the Homicide Bureau said Besonen admitted being in the foreman's house on the morning of the crime but denied being there when the murder was committed.

Harris asked Besonen two questions while he was under the effects of sodium pentathol, the truth serum. They were:

"What did you do to George Sweigert?"

Besonen answered "I hit him," police said.

"What did you do after you hit him?"

Harris said Besonen replied "I put him in the tub to give him a bath."

Sweigert was found dead Friday in his home at 19732 Riopelle St., his head submerged in a laundry tub in the basement. He had been beaten with a small hammer, police said.

Harris said he considered the statement a "confession," and would confer with the prosecutor's office today in an effort to obtain a murder warrant.

'Had Enough,' Say 2 Pilots With Record

They landed their light plane Saturday afternoon, touching land for the first time since Dec. 4 when they took off in quest of a world's endurance flight record.

They got it, too, by nearly 15 days. Their official mark was 64 days, 22 hours and 21 minutes. The old record was 50 days and 18 minutes set last September by Jim Heth and Bill Burkhart of Dallas.

Their single engine plane was refueled each day from a pickup truck going 90 m.p.h. along a desert road. The men also got hot meals in this manner.

Timm, a Las Vegas hotel executive, and Cook, an airline pilot, said they actually enjoyed living more than two months aloft. But they said they weren't anxious to try again.

Suspend Prexy, Vote to Clean House

Toronto Teamsters Revolt Against Hoffa's Authority

The 450 teamsters crowded into their downtown hall to take up complaints of collusion between the union executive and truck operators in the negotiation of a new contract last year. There also have been accusations of irregularities in the ratification vote.

The three-year contract, covering 7,000 employes of 65 companies in Eastern Ontario, provided a 21-cent-an-hour increase. Critics contend the rise was too small for the length of the agreement.

Because of the local's internal dissension, Hoffa had instructed the Teamsters' Canadian director I. M. "Casey" Dodds to take personal charge.

Hoffa also took an inquiry into the collusion charges and demands for the resignation of local president Kenneth McDougall out of the hands of the Teamsters Joint Council No. 52, which controls Hamilton and Toronto.

The uproar started when Gordon Newman, a member of the Contract Bargaining Committee, presented a motion to put the local into trusteeship, like Teamster locals at Hamilton and Windsor.

Trusteeship is a device employed by union headquarters to strip locals of their autonomy when it is felt they have become incapable of governing themselves.

Some members shouted condemnation of the proposal. Others yelled at Dodds: "Go back to Windsor and stay there." Others said that once a union lost control of its affairs, it never regained the driver's seat.

The Windsor local has been in trusteeship about 14 years, Hamilton for six.

After the members simmered down, they voted to set up a committee with broad powers and to hire a lawyer to help it along. The men agreed to convert $2,600 in bonds, their remaining assets, into cash to pay him.

The members demanded that McDougall be suspended. Dodds argued he could be suspended only by Hoffa. The members suspended him anyway and voted to wire Hoffa the news.

Awaiting Report in Strange Death

Lab's Findings May Tell How Cafe Society Woman Died

NEW YORK (AP) — A laboratory report in preparation may shed some light on the mysterious death of Mrs. Bette Davis, 30-year-old cafe society figure.

The medical examiner's office said the report may be ready Tuesday.

Mrs. Davis was found slumped over an empty bathtub in her $40-a-day suite in the fashionable Hotel Savoy Hilton Friday night.

An autopsy report said death was due to visceral congestion, but a chemical analysis of the vital orgnas was ordered to determine the precise cause.

Mrs. Davis, a pretty, blonde divorcee and former model, and Sinclair Robinson, wealthy financier and lawyer, had taken out a marriage license Dec. 5 at Greenwich, Conn.

Justice of the Peace Tom C. Golden of Greenwich was to perform the ceremony. He said Sunday that a friend of Robinson's told him Robinson's secretary said she had been instructed to call off the wedding arrangements.

Police have refused to confirm reports a letter from Robinson telling Mrs. Davis of the broken engagement was found in the dead woman's suite.

In Buffalo, Mo., Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. Lulu Quisenberry, made arrangements for funeral service there Thursday.

Convict B. F. Collins of Perjury in Union Wiretap Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—Benjamin Franklin Collins, Detroit union official and close associate of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, was sentenced today by U. S. District Judge John M. Cashin to three years imprisonment for perjury.

The case developed from a grand jury investigation of wire-tapping and racketeering in Local 299 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Collins, 48, is secretary-treasurer of the local. Hoffa is president of the local as well as head of the entire union.

Collins was continued in $2,500 bail pending an appeal from the sentence.

His attorney, Henry Singer, asked Collins be placed on probation, calling him "just a clerk who worked hard all his life."

"The fact is," Cashin said to the defendant, "you did say things to the grand jury which the jury found to be perjurious. There must be a sentence here, and not a suspended sentence and probation.

Collins was convicted Jan. 21 of lying when he told the investigating panel that minutes of two of the local's meetings in 1953 were signed by him shortly afterwards. The government contended they were signed much later, and intimated alterations might have been made.

Hold Husband in Wife's Death

Police Say Dearborn Township Man Has Admitted Shooting

DETROIT (AP)—A 45-year-old former mental patient who police say admitted killing his wife in an argument over a check was held today on a murder charge.

Detective Leo Mager of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department said Mrs. Stella Binkowski, 48, was shot and killed during a family argument Sunday afternoon. Her husband, Stanley, was captured a short time afterward.

Mager said the man fled the house in Dearborn Township after the shooting but was apprehended minutes later in nearby Nankin Township. He said one of the victim's teenaged children by a previous marriage told him Binkowski and her mother had argued about an insurance check before the shooting.

Mager quoted the youngster as saying the woman insisted Binkowski couldn't cash the check because it was made out to her.

Assistant Prosecutor William Bledsoe said Binkowski told him:

"I made up my mind to . . . kill her when I got up this morning. But maybe I wouldn't have done it if she had talked right to me."

$400,000 in Gems Stolen From Miami Beach Hotel

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A thief, perhaps a gem expert, stole a reported $400,000 in diamonds, emeralds and other jewelry from the hotel suite of a vacationing New York auto rental magnate.

The theft Sunday was the biggest in the history of Miami Beach luxury hotels. The FBI assigned 20 agents to the case.

The jewelry was owned by Leon C. Greenebaum, chairman of the board of Hertz Car Rental Corp., his wife, and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Cole, also of New York.

Greenebaum told newsmen someone either overlooked or chose not to take some of the gems.

Mrs. Cole interrupted the interview with "I do not want any of this in the newspapers."

She and her husband operate Mr. Mort, one of New York City's leading dress houses.

Because some of the jewelry was not taken, officers theorized the thief was a professional, knew how to appraise gems and knew what he was after.

The largest piece was a $180,000 ring. The other pieces were mostly diamond and emerald bracelets and necklaces. The jewels were insured.

At first, police figured the theft was $500,000. Later they scaled it down to $400,000.

"That $500,000 figure is a little high," said Greenebaum. Later he said "I guess the amount was close to half that amount."

The police said, however, they are sticking to their $400,000 estimate.

Mrs. Greenebaum and Mrs. Cole wore the jewelry on an outing Saturday night. The FBI and police said the thief possibly spotted it then. Greenebaum declined to tell newsmen where they had been.

The three spent part of Sunday away from their $100 a day suite in the American Hotel. Upon return at 4:30 p.m. to pack for a trip to New York, they found the jewelry missing.

'Crime Wave Report False'

City Manager, Police Chief Say Berkley Mayor Wrong

BERKLEY—Reports of a crime wave in Berkley issued by Mayor Donald N. McPherson at a special council meeting Sunday have no foundation, according to both City Manager Edwin J. Johnston and Police Chief Peter Sykes today.

The Sunday morning meeting called by McPherson was attended by six of seven councilmen.

Apparently hoping Johnston would fire Sykes, those present at the meeting voted unanimously to back Johnston "in anything he does in regard to the tenure of Sykes."

The cause of council members alarm was a mystery sniper who fired a bullet through the front windows in two separate homes last Wednesday and Thursday here and the escape of two teenagers from the Berkley Police Station Friday night.

Berkley police had picked up a carload of six youths who admitted they were going to a "rumble" (gang war) in Royal Oak. Police found eight knives, a pipe wrench and a length of chain in their car.

Two of the youths climbed out of a window in the police station and ran. They were picked up by Detroit police Sunday afternoon and were to be returned to Berkley police later today on a warrant for carrying concealed weapons.

Sykes said this morning that he couldn't understand why Mayor McPherson called a special meeting Sunday morning to check on the "lax handling of the sniper incidents."

Sykes left for Alpena Saturday afternoon. He felt that the seven additional volunteer policemen added to the regular staff to patrol the streets over the weekend for the sniper was sufficient.

Both Sykes and Johnston said they can find no connection between the sniper and the teenagers. No guns were found in the car with the youths.

Lakeside Drive Rezoning Due for Hearing Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — The proposed rezoning of lots on Lakeside drive from public property to single-family residential will come before the City Commission at a public hearing tonight.

The Planning Board is recommending the sale and subsequent rezoning of the city-owned property.

H. M. Merker of 1044 Lakeside Dr. has filed a written protest against the change. He asserted that the area is needed as a flood plain along Quarton Lake. "I've seen fish swimming in flood waters that covered sections of the property up for rezoning," he said.

"The development of this property will cut the flood plain area," Merker contended, "and increase the high water hazard for other homes in the area."

Commissioners also will take up two public hearings held over from last week. They include the Maple-Bates alley and the vacating of an 18-foot alley at the rear of 675 Park St.

A Merrill street resident, Mrs. J. A. Anderson, is asking commissioners to investigate the problem of all-day parking in front of her home. She said it is impossible for a vehicle to pick up or discharge passengers without stopping in the moving traffic lanes.

A request for a sewer tap to Birmingham lines from property in Westwood Village also will be considered at tonight's meeting.

Twice refused in the past, the matter is being brought up now with the idea that it would be a temporary arrangement until the Evergreen sewer is completed early next year.

Building got off to a slow start this year, according to Andrew F. Butt, building inspector for the city, in his January report.

Only 10 permits were issued by his office last month, he said. Construction costs are estimated at $83,200 as compared to $443,100 for January of last year.

Mrs. Clifford Ross of 551 Argyle Rd. is handling ticket reservations for the luncheon and card party Feb. 16 under the sponsorship of Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star. The party will be held in the Masonic Temple on Woodward avenue and will be open to the public.

The Simmons College Club of Birmingham will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. E. S. Snyder, 3 Faculty Rd., Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. C. W. Cruch, both of whom attended the Home Economics School at Simmons College, will speak on "What the School Offers."

Man, 82, Burned in House Fire

Charles King Injured in One City Blaze; 2nd Damages Vacant Home

Two house fires this weekend in Pontiac resulted in a total of more than $5,000 damages and injury to one man.

Charles King, 82, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital Saturday afternoon with burns suffered in a fire at his home at 21 Bellevue St.

King, said firemen, apparently dozed off while smoking a pipe in an upholstered chair in his living room. Firemen said the fire originated in the chair and King received first and second degree burns to face and hands trying to put out the blaze.

He was described in fair condition today. The fire was confined mainly to the living room of the one-story frame house. Firemen said damages were estimated at $1,000 to the house and contents.

Just past midnight today a fire broke out in a two-story vacant dúplex at 31 Allison St.

Firemen from three stations fought the blaze for two hours. Damages were estimated at $4,500 to the building. There was no furniture in the structure.

Officials said the fire at times endangered houses nearby but did not spread to the neighboring structures. Defective wiring was reported to be the cause.

Heart Ailment Claims 'Wild Bill' Donovan

had been shot down or trapped behind enemy lines in various theaters.

President Harry S. Truman in 1946 decorated Donovan with the oak leaf cluster to the Distinguished Service Medal he received during World War I. President Eisenhower in 1957 awarded Donovan the National Security Medal.

Donovan was defeated in 1932 when he ran as the Republican candidate for governor of New York. The winner was Herbert H. Lehman.

A lawyer, Donovan served after World War II on the war crimes prosecution staff that prepared evidence against the principal Nazi war criminals tried at Nuernberg.

In the field of diplomacy, Donovan once served as ambassador to Thailand.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., Donovan was an outstanding quarterback while attending Columbia University.

Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, paid tribute to Donovan as "the father of central intelligence in the United States."

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said "the nation mourns one of its great soldier-statesmen."

Donovan's wife the former Ruth Rumsey, along with a brother, the Rev. Vincent Donovan, a Dominican priest, were at his bedside when he died. Surviving with his widow and brother are a son David, of Berryville, Va. and five grandchildren.

Service will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Michigan Posts Low Toll Again

2 Boys on Sleds Are Among 3 Weekend Traffic Victims

By The Associated Press

Two boys killed in sledding accidents on snow-covered roads were among the three traffic deaths reported in Michigan over the weekend.

Ice and snow driving hazards were credited by State Police with keeping the fatality toll down. It was the sixth straight weekend this year in which below average traffic death tolls were reported.

The Associated Press fatality count started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Edward Smith Jr., 12, of Omer, was killed Saturday when his sled was struck by a car on a road near Standish.

James R. Michaux, 32, of Jackson, was killed Sunday when he was struck by a car at a Jackson intersection.

'Misunderstandings' Put Her in the River

DETROIT (UPI) — Two "misunderstandings" on the same night, and Mrs. Beverly Rothschild, 29, was fished out of the Detroit River early today.

Mrs. Rothschild, who is estranged from her husband, told police she was in a parked car with a friend near a pier at the foot of Mt. Elliott.

She had a "misunderstanding" and left the car. She walked to a telephone booth at the foot of the pier to call a taxi to take her home.

On leaving the booth her second "misunderstanding" — instead of turning to the left, she turned to the right—right off the pier.

that a foreign ministers' meeting be held to deal with a wide range of German issues.

May 27 was originally fixed by the Soviets for turning over to East Germany their powers controlling allied access to Berlin. The Soviet Union also has called for Allied abandonment of West Berlin.

Before he left for his European trip, Dulles told the House Foreign Affairs Committee he thinks the Soviets will "keep the pressure on until the very last minutes" in the Berlin situation. He called West Berlin a showcase of the free world which he said unnerves the Communists.

But he said in reply to a question that the Western Allies are in complete agreement "on the basic proposition of standing firm in Berlin and, if need be, risking a war rather than being taken out of Berlin."

His testimony, made public during the weekend also forecast a tougher Soviet line in the cold war.

Dulles said he sees no split widening between the Soviet Union and Red China. He contended also this country has no way of pulling out of Quemoy and Matsu — target of Red Chinese shelling last summer—without losing the whole Far East.

TOP FASHION MODEL? — Is this young lady with the flawless complexion and look of cool detachment one of the top fashion models? Although she looks like one, Princess Alexandra of Kent is too busy being a princess, to have time to be a model. She will soon tour Central America with her mother, the Duchess of Kent.

Why, Jayne! Leaves Ball in Her Undies

She and her husband, muscleman Mickey Hargitay, were dancing at a local hotel when some of her Brazilian fans started plucking at little flower decorations on the pink lace dress. Then someone pulled the zipper in the back and the souvenir hunters ripped up the dress as it fell to the floor.

Hargitay said his wife was bruised slightly and also lost her earrings.

Manager Says Will File Charges,

ference in City Hall. Willman had left home and arrived at his City Hall office shortly before.

The conference broke up at noon.

Before going to lunch, Willman said he planned to talk with Straley this afternoon.

"I will decide then if I will sign the charges," he said.

The city manager said he had been reviewing the charges with Eastman. Eastmen left City Hall saying he did not plan to return there today, "unless the manager summons me."

The contents of the charges were still a closely guarded secret.

They reportedly accuse Straley of incompetence and lack of leadership, based generally on conditions within the police department on Nov. 12, the day Eastman stripped Straley of powers.

If the chief is to be charged with anything that occurred while he enjoyed his full powers, these charges must be filed today to meet the requirements of a 90-day statute of limitations.

Some Survivors Not Satisfied

Carl D. Bradley Owners Make Settlement Offer

ROGERS CITY (AP) — The owners of the ill-fated Carl D. Bradley have offered an out of court settlement to relatives of 33 crewmembers who died when the freighter sank in Lake Michigan last November.

Spokesmen for the Carl D. Bradley ship disaster children's fund committee said Saturday the Bradley Transportation Co. is willing to pay an average of $20,000 to each of the 33 crewmember's families. The committee termed the amount higher than the company would be compelled to pay under federal law.

But at least three of the families have expressed opposition to such a settlement. They have filed $750,000 suits in U. S. District Court in Detroit.

The committee, headed by the mayor of Rogers City, a bank president, and three clergymen, detailed the settlement offer to the Bradley families at a series of recent meetings.

The three families seeking higher settlements allege that the huge freighter was unseaworthy when it sank. They are the families of Alva Budnick, Gary Strzelecki and Raymond J. Kowalski.

Transportation company attorneys said the claimants must prove both that the freighter was unseaworthy and that the company knew it before they can collect in their suits.

They added such a suit might take years to decide whereas the company's offer would be paid immediately. Company spokesmen said the settlement offer was made contingent upon its acceptance by a "sufficient number" of the survivors.

Committee members cautioned the survivors that if the offer is rejected, the company could petition for a limitation of liability.

Thus far the fund handled by the committee has grown to $147,000 or about $3,000 each for the children of 23 men who were left fatherless by the sinking.

Fund Trustee John S. Blasky said most of the survivors indicated they intend to use the shares for their children's education.

People Don't Remember Much You've Told Them

CHICAGO (AP)—Do people really listen when you talk?

The odds are strong that you fail to embed more than one-sixth to one-fourth of your message in their memories, an educator says.

Dr. Ralph G. Nichols, head of the University of Minnesota's communications program told a management seminar at the American College of Hospital Administrators:

The average person who listens to somebody talk remembers only half of what he has heard. And of what he has barely learned, he forgets from one-half to one-third within eight hours.

Why all the inattention?

Dr. Nichols puts much of the blame on misure of spare thinking time. This is the way he reasons:

People think much faster than the 125 words the average American speaks per minute. This leaves spare time to think.

You can let your mind wander and miss much of the message or use the following processes designed for more efficient comprehension:

1. Think ahead of the talker, anticipating, if possible, where the talk is leading and what conclusions can be drawn from what is being spoken at the moment.

2. Weigh the evidence the talker has used to support the points he makes. Is it valid? Complete?

3. Review and summarize periodically the points of the talk so far completed.

4. Listen between the lines, searching for meanings that might not have been put into words. Watch facial expressions, gestures, tones of voice.

Dr. Nichols says our brains become overstimulated—at the expense of good listening—when we hear something that clashes with our most deeply rooted prejudices, notions, convictions or complexes.

To protect against this threat, he said, hear the man out and withhold judgments and decisions until then.

He called inability to listen "a major oversight in our system of classroom instruction."

U.S. Army Is Adding Koreans to Its Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — Koreans are being added to the U.S. Army's troops in Korea.

A Pentagon spokesman said Sunday night they are called "Katusas" — Koreans attached to the United States Army.

The Katusas, the spokesman said, have been used for at least a year. But the Army won't say how many Katusas are on the payroll at Korean rates of about 30 cents a day.

The spokesman said the Katusas work and train with U.S. troops and draw the same assignments as regular personnel.

History Changed Lincoln's Prediction

By RAYMOND LARR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The prairie politician wrote in 1859 that he considered himself unfit for the presidency. Five years later he wrote that he expected to fail to win re-election in 1864.

Although history judged Abraham Lincoln wrong on both counts, these two documents in his handwriting will appear in a Library of Congress exhibition opening Thursday on the 150th anniversary of his birth.

The two are among more than 200 items in what the library calls "the most comprehensive exhibit" of Lincoln historical materials ever assembled.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Speaker Sam Rayburn will speak at an invitational ceremony in the library's great hall at 12:15 p.m., EST, Thursday. The exhibits will be opened to the public at 2 p.m. and kept on display for the remainder of 1959.

The collection opens with the first two pages of the autobiography Lincoln wrote in 1860—for prospective campaign biographers—telling of his birth and boyhood in Kentucky.

There is also a page from Lincoln's homemade arithmetic book in which he wrote in the corner: "Abraham Lincoln—his hand and pen—he will be good—but God knows when."

From his early years at Springfield, Ill., is a printed invitation to a "cotillion party" at which he was one of the hosts. Stephen A. Douglas was another.

From an 1862 Petersburg, Ill., newspaper is a clipping described as the source of the legend of Lincoln's romance with Ann Rutledge at New Salem, Ill., 30 years earlier. Lincoln scholars view the legend with disbelief.

Another case displays the printer's copy that Lincoln edited — from Chicago newspaper accounts —of his 1858 debates with Douglas.

It was the next year that he wrote a Rock Island, Ill., editor not think myself fit for the presi- that "I must in candor say I do deney."

From his years in the White House, there are Lincoln's own drafts of the Gettysburg Address, his Inaugural Addresses, the Emancipation Proclamation, and other state papers.

There are also letters of the worried Civil War President to his generals. One demanded that Gen. George D. McClellan "strike a blow."

Another told Gen. Henry W. Halleck to make a decision about a proposed campaign plan of Gen. A. E. Burnside, who had replaced McClellan.

An unsent letter would have told Gen. George G. Meade why Lincoln was disappointed that the Army of the Potomac had not moved for another battle with the Confederates after Gettysburg.

McClellan was Lincoln's Democratic opponent in the election of 1864. In an Aug. 23 memorandum, Lincoln wrote that it was "exceedingly probable" that he would not be re-elected.

Then, he said he would have "to so cooperate with the president-elect as to save the Union between the election and the inauguration, as he will have secured his election on such ground that he cannot possibly save it afterward."

Carl Sandburg, poet and Lincoln biographer, wrote in the catalog for the exhibition that in Lincoln's writings and speeches "much holds good for this hour."

"Millions of plain folk take Lincoln as a personal treasure," Sandburg wrote. "He had something they would like to see spread everywhere over the world . . . we can't exactly say what it is, but he had it . . . in the breadth of his speeches and writings it is there . . .

"He had the idea. It's there in the lights and shadows of his personality, a mystery that can be lived but never fully spoken in words."

Finishes Plans for Integration

Alexandria to Admit Negroes to All-White Schools Tomorrow

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Alexandria completes plans today for integration of three public schools. Tuesday, this northern Virginia city will become the state's third locality within eight days reluctantly to admit Negroes to classrooms in previously all - white schools.

State and local officials have expressed hope that the admission of nine Negro children to the Alexandria schools will be accomplished as peacefully as the entrance of 21 Negroes into Norfolk and Arlington schools a week ago.

While heavy police reinforcements accompanied integration at nearby Arlington's Stratford Junior High School last Monday, there have been no reports of special police preparations at Alexandria.

Local officials said they have no plans to appeal the integration order to the U.S. Supreme Court —a step taken by Arlington officials two weeks ago without success.

A last-ditch appeal for a stay of the District Court ruling was turned down Saturday by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals at Baltimore.

Another event Tuesday may preface a further breach of Virginia's traditional school segregation policy. At Harrisonburg, a federal judge will hear a plea that Warren County High School at Front Royal be reopened immediately on an integrated basis.

Malayan Minister Quits to Devote Time to Party

(AP) — Prime Minister Abdul Rahman today announced his resignation to devote full time to the affairs of his political party.

He had been the Southeast Asian country's chief executive since it gained independence from Britain 18 months ago.

Rahman's move was not expected to have any marked effect on the Malayan government's position as a loyal member of the British Commonwealth working closely with the West. The deputy prime minister and defense minister, Abdul Razak Bin Hussein, 37, is becoming prime minister.

Release Convict, 78, After 35-Year Term

SEATTLE (AP) — Convicts and the law joined forces Sunday to build a nest egg for an old murderer.

This unique combination of Samaritans is going to help Guido Grassi, who was pardoned last week by Gov. Albert D. Rosellini after spending 35 years in the Washington State Penitentiary for murder.

The 78-year-old man will be deported to Italy next weekend. He requested this when he asked to be judged sane and be pardoned. He wanted to spend the few remaining years of his life in his homeland.

Grassi came to the United States as a young man. Instead of making his fortune, he wound up behind bars for killing three men in an argument. He was convicted for one of the killings. Sentenced to hang, he escaped the noose when he was declared insane.

The first 18-hole golf course in the United States was established at Wheaton in 1894 by the Chicago Golf Club.

Everything Got All Mixed Up, Says Bigamist

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — "I didn't want two wives," says Brian Wahlken, a jobless 22-year-old draftsman who was jailed Sunday in a bigamy investigation.

"Things just got mixed up and I couldn't straighten them out," he told a reporter.

Police said Wahlken, who lives at nearby Mountain View, started his double life in November when he married Rachel Belasco, a 22-year - old theater usher in Reno. His first wife is Jenny, 24.

"Jenny and I were married early last year and there were bills, bills, bills," Wahlken said. "Bills for the wedding, bills for the honeymoon, bills for clothes and food. I had to get away from it all."

He met Rachel and dated her every night for three weeks. "things just kept rolling along" until they drove to Reno and got married, he said.

"It was going to be a new life. I was going to get a job and, as soon as I could, I was going to get a divorce (from Jenny)" he said.

He didn't find a job and police said that while he was drawing $40 per week unemployment checks he lived one night a week with Jenny and the other six with Rachel. He told both working wives his absences were due to job hunting, police added.

Jenny talked Friday to Rachel's mother, Mrs. A. J. Belasco, and compared notes on rumors she had heard about her husband. Among the information exchanged was the fact that both wives were pregnant.

Rachel complained to police and Wahlken said he is finished with Rachel.

"First she talked about an annulment, then she goes for this bigamy charge. If I get a chance I'll try to make it up with Jenny. She can cook!" Wahlken said.

Jenny said she would think about that when he gets out of jail.

"I didn't suspect a thing," she said. "I guess I'm kind of dumb."

Takes ADVANTAGE of Free Postage Offer

LONDON (AP)—James Harvey of Las Vegas, Nev., asked the air stewardess today if her company was serious in its offer of free postcards plus postage for passengers.

"Then here are mine," he said, handing over 198 cards he had addressed during a flight from the United States to London.

"This is a great idea," added Harvey, a businessman.

A spokesman for the airline (Trans World) said the stamp bill would come to about $20.

"We are glad," he commented, "that the scheme is turning out to be successful."

U.S. Sells Indonesia Arms, Vehicles, Ship

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The United States is selling Indonesia enough light weapons and vehicles to equip 20 new battalions, or about 14,000 troops. It is the first major sale of American military equipment to the island republic in several years.

The deal also includes one Navy ship—type not disclosed—and other Navy and Air Force items.

U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones informed Foreign Minister Subandrio Sunday night President Eisenhower had approved the sale. Jones did not announce the size of the shipment, but unofficial reports said it would be worth about 10 million dollars.

The sale was taken as an indication that the United States has faith that President Sukarno's government will remain independent of the Soviet bloc as well as of the West in the cold war. It is certain to boost American prestige still further in Indonesia.

Sen. Green Resigns Chairmanship Post

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has a new chairman. Ninety-one-year-old Sen. THEODORE FRANCIS GREEN of Rhode Island, the oldest man to serve in the U.S. Congress, has stepped down in favor of 53-year-old Sen. FULBRIGHT of Arkansas.

Because of impaired hearing and eyesight, Sen. Green decided to relinquish his post to a younger man. As a member of the committee, however, he will continue his distinguished career in the Senate.

Sen. FULBRIGHT who succeeds to the chairmanship under the seniority system, has been more critical of the foreign policies of the EISENHOWER Administration than his predecessor. Nevertheless, as chairman he will be more acutely aware of the need for a bipartisan policy.

The former president of the University of Arkansas is a keen student of foreign relations and author of a bill which created the present system of exchanging American and foreign students.

The chairmanship is a demanding one and Sen. Green has shown good judgment in retiring. We hope he attains his goal of being in the Senate when he reaches 100.

Crews Do Their Best to Keep Roads Clear

Snow removal has been the No. 1 job for City maintenance crews in our area this winter. All cities have attempted to do the best possible job within their budgets and capabilities. The work has been backbreaking and, for the most part, endless.

From individual reports and direct observation, the City of Bloomfield Hills has far outstripped its neighboring communities in the fight to keep its streets free of ice and snow.

They should be congratulated for the splendid service they have performed for their taxpayers and visitors to the area.

All road crews have worked against time during this miserable weather and deserve the thanks of the motoring public.

Democrats Going West for Obvious Reasons

Democrats have decided to hold their convention on the West Coast for the first time since 1920 when JAMES COX, the Ohio editor, was nominated at San Francisco to run against WARREN G. HARDING.

For many reasons it was expected that the party would go West for the 1960 meeting and Los Angeles has been chosen probably because of its new arena, $350,000 in cash, Hollywood entertainment and other prerequisites. The overriding factors, however, were the political possibilities.

Long Republican inclined, the West is giving Democrats more and more support. For example, 11 Western states have 17 Democrats and 5 Republicans in the Senate; Democrats control 6 of 11 delegations in the House, Republicans 2 and three are evenly divided. There are 6 Democratic and 5 Republican governors in the area. Democrats control both Houses of the Legislature in 8 states, Republicans control the Senate in 4 states and Democrats, the assembly.

California has a Democratic governor and Legislature for the first time in years. This rapidly growing state had 13 electoral votes in 1920, 32 in 1956 and expects to have 39 after the 1960 census.

Another important reason is Vice President Nixon. If he should get the Republican nomination, as seems likely, and if his home state should go Democratic in the primary, his bid for the presidency would not be so bright.

At any rate Democratic leaders think that a convention staged in the area, with its attendant publicity and oratory may help to make friends and influence the voting.

Accident: What some drivers seem to be rehearsing for.

A letter drifts in from

The snow was so deep that it buried all of the fences. People died because the doctors could not reach their homes.

But from his late father Mr. Middlefield got the story of the worst storm in Pontiac's history — and it wasn't until winter had officially ended. Early in April 1886, it snowed for several days, and the drifts on Saginaw Street reached the tops of the store windows. The city and its entire area was snowbound for over a week. A spring freshet followed and the Clinton River went on its worst rampage, flooding a good part of the downtown section.

A Powerful Lobbyist

David Lawrence Says:

Reds Liars on U.S. Plane Incident

WASHINGTON — The United States government has again caught the Soviet government in a willful lie about the murderous attack on 17 Americans traveling in an unarmed transport plane last September.

LAWRENCE

Moscow now claims that the tape recording issued by the State Department here last week is a "fake"—but that's nonsense, and the Soviets know it. Consider these facts:

1. The Soviet government was offered on last Nov. 13 a chance to listen to the tape recording, but Ambassador Menshikov here refused and finally accepted only a typewritten copy of the transcript of the conversations between the Soviet fliers telling how they were in the act of shooting down an American transport plane near the Turkish border. Why didn't the Soviets call it a "fake" before? They had three months to say so publicly—or privately— to the American government.

2. Officials of the United States government and their intelligence staffs knew full well that the question of authenticity might be raised, and so they checked and double checked every angle. Also, the American plane was in communication with Western ground stations just a few minutes before the attack. The time and approximate location were established beforehand beyond question.

3. There is a monitoring system set up by the United States and its Allies close to the Soviet border of Turkey and other Middle Eastern boundaries, as well as in western Europe and Canada. This vast electronic apparatus requires a big staff. Persons familiar with the Soviet languages monitor these listening posts along the Russian border, but highly trained American officers on the spot supervise the work as part of the U. S. Air Force defense system.

4. Authentic transcripts of the chatter that goes on between Soviet airplanes are recorded daily —sometimes simultaneously from three or four different monitoring points. These are constantly checked against one another. The transcript of the episode which cost 17 American airmen their lives as the Soviet patrols shot down the unarmed transport plane was checked and double checked most carefully before being formally presented to the Soviet government last November. It was recorded by the same personnel whose recordings have been continuously checked—and proved—in the past as authentic.

5. The Soviet newspapers, by government direction, now criticize certain words in the translation issued by the State Department here. It is true that some Russian words could be translated in various ways, such as "you boys" or "you fellows" or "you comrades." It's hard, sometimes, to translate the vernacular or idiomatic phrases. But if anyone has any doubts about the exact meaning of the original Russian script, let him listen to it. When Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy invited Menshikov in Washington to listen to the tape recording and he refused, the same offer was made to the Russian embassy's air attache, but this also was declined.

6. Portions of the tape now have been played on the radio in this country in Russian, and will be repeated in international broadcasting so that anyone who understands the Russian language can make his own translation and decide for himself whether the basic facts of the transcript as issued by the Department of State are in accord with what the voices on the tape itself say.

Officials here are astounded at the flatness of the Russian denial of the authenticity of the tape recording, and the only way they can figure it out at all is to assume that the Soviets, once having taken a position of complete innocence, do not dare now to change their minds.

All the American airmen presumably are dead—so the Russians think the issue cannot ever be resolved.

The Soviet government has done itself irreparable harm throughout the world as it is caught in the act of telling falsehoods to the United States government in a matter involving the lives of 17 American citizens and their anxious relatives.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Head Start for Bad Day: Coffee and Toast or Roll

The most essential item of an adequate breakfast is protein, such as eggs, ham, bacon, fowl or fish.

The namby-pamby who breakfasts on toast and tea or coffee and a roll, or maybe a dish of sugar pap and some sweetened fruit juice fresh from the can, gets just enough calories for a brief spurt of work, play, or activity then tires quickly, loses interest and feels the need of a lift or a "stimulant."

DR. BRADY

I have heard from two dozen namby-pambies who resent the imputation.

Simmer down, folks. It is my duty as health adviser to teach people how to avoid the national malnutrition. After all, if you'd rather be left to cultivate malnutrition in your own sweet way, you are not compelled to read this column. This is still a fairly free country.

We Americans have boasted so much about our scale of living being higher than that of Europeans that many of us have lost sight of the fact that the people of Europe are at least as well-nourished—and in some countries better-nourished—than we are.

I mean to say the everyday diet of Europeans more adequately supplies the essentials required for good nutrition than the everyday diet of Americans does. This is especially true of the ordinary diet of growing children and adolescents.

The fundamental fault with the diet of American youngsters is the same as the fault with the diet of grownups, only more so. The diet contains a great excess of carbohydrate—not just natural carbohydrate but refined carbohydrate.

Carbohydrate (sugar, starch) is plentiful, cheap, keeps long in storage, easy to ship near or far, easy to eat or drink even though you are not hungry or thirsty, yields as many calories per ounce or pound as protein (nitrogenous) food material does, such as egg white, cheese, lean meat. It is easy to digest and a source of quick energy—this is why mountain climbers refresh themselves with chocolate bar, marathon runners with sweetened tea or coffee, distance swimmers with candy, and everybody with pop, sweetened fruit juice beverage, or ice cream soda.

Growing children or adolescents who indulge in refined carbohydrates at any time other than after a square meal—as a dessert if the youngster is physically active enough to handle it—is so surfeited, as a rule, that he or she hasn't much appetite for real food —food that supplies not just calories but the protein (nitrogenous material), fat, vitamins, and minerals required for good nutrition.

Assistant Superintendent Clarifies Sick Leave Plan

Surely One Who Pays and Pays is correct in reminding VOP readers that teachers have an obligation to help stretch tax dollars. Perhaps we should also remind ourselves that every community also has an obligation to provide reasonable benefits for its teachers.

Here are some cold facts about the 100-day sick leave request of teachers. First, other cities which compete with Pontiac for good teachers have, for several years, allowed 100 days or more of accumulated sick leave. Second, if our schools had operated under this proposed policy during the current school year, the total additional cost to date would have been exactly zero. Third, our teachers earn sick leave at the rate of ten days per year, a minimum of ten years' service would be necessary to qualify.

Give our fine teachers a pat on the back. Pontiac boys and girls are getting very good education. The cost? Less than 35 cents per hour per pupil. Cheaper than baby sitting, eh?

'Fine All Who Let Dogs Run'

Every person having a dog run the neighborhood should be made to pay a fine. If you get bitten by the dog, who's going to pay your doctor bill? I understand officers of White Lake Township make a check on the owner why these dogs run loose. Let's get the dogs off the road and out of the neighbor's yard.

Disgusted

'Force Railroads to Take Subsidy'

We're in danger of losing our most dependable passenger transportation. All over the country railroad schedules are showing fewer and fewer trains. One of the most important reasons is that the government directly or indirectly subsidizes every form of transportation except railroads, and yet expects railroads not only to maintain their tracks and terminals, but also pay taxes on them.

A large midwestern railroad official recently said railroads don't want a subsidy but just to be allowed to run their own business. But if all railroads were allowed this, there would soon be no passenger service.

The answer isn't less regulation, but to give them tax relief and direct subsidy for passenger service. It's certain their competitors will continue to be subsidized and the only way to save rail passenger service is to subsidize it, whether railroads want it or not.

'There's Another Down the Drain'

Senator John Kennedy has follow the regular Demoncratic pattern by bowing low before the labor leaders. His version of the labor bill is reported to be "a watered down" copy of the other ones. He has started to scrape and grovel in front of his masters and so another good man has weakened and surrendered and this one might have been President of the U. S.

More Praise Given Youths Who Help

Many voice their opinions of bad boys but too few mention the good. Here's a group of boys that merit public recognition.

When my husband got stuck the other day, members of the Timers of Pontiac drove by and saw the car, sized up the situation, stopped and got the car going and drove it part way up the drive and went on their way, leaving their card.

We didn't know of this club. They're very competent and should be complimented. We're very grateful for their kindness, and it's wonderful there are boys like these that use their energies for the good of others. People should know about them, so perhaps others will follow their good example.

'Brady Must Make Himself Offensive'

Your Dr. Brady says he's a total abstainer and yet when he gets out the host usually tries to strong-arm him into having a drink. That's bunk of the lowest sort and Brady must be offensive with his first refusal. Probably he tries to deliver a lecture or a home-made sermon.

I've known many people who never take a drink and they never have any trouble anywhere. No one cares whether Brady drinks or whether he doesn't, but fine, sensible people are offended by the cheap baloney he passes out in matters like this.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tension May Produce 'Sterility'

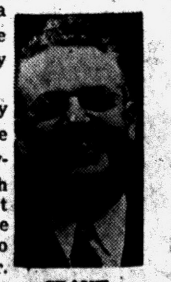

Myrna is much like Hannah, Sarah and Rachel of the Bible. Her obsession to have a baby almost became a mania. After she finally located a child for adoption, notice what happened to her. In medicine, we find that relaxing inner tensions may restore normal physiology.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case A - 449: Myrna L., aged 29, has been married for seven years.

"Dr. Crane, she is very neurotic," her worried husband began, "for she wants a baby and we have never had any children.

CRANE

"Our family doctor says he can't find anything wrong with either of us, yet we never have been able to have a youngster. And Myrna seems to feel she has let me down. Besides, she says she must not be 'all there' as a woman.

"I think she has developed an inferiority complex. Now she is constantly complaining about her aches and pains and has consulted three different doctors the past two years with ailments which they tell me are psychosomatic.

"What should we do next? She is getting worse instead of better."

ADOPTED CHILDREN

When a young married couple do not have any children of their own, they can quickly adopt 5 or 10 via teaching a Sunday School class at a neighborhood church.

Or "adopt" Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and similar youth groups, for there is no special magic in "flesh-and-blood" offspring. You will recall that Cain murdered his blood brother, Abel. And Absalom tried to slay his father, King David.

So the true parent-child relationship is PURELY a mental affair: If you love and respect a person and help that individual solve the problems of life, then you are truly akin.

And you children can also "adopt" uncles and aunts in the neighborhood. It is very proper for you to call such kindly older folks by the titles of "uncle" and "aunt," even though they are not of any blood kinship to you.

But when married couples can find children for adoption, it is usually beneficial to all concerned when they legally adopt such a youngster.

MYRNA'S MANIA

Myrna has developed almost a mania to have a baby. This isn't solely because she hopes to train a child into becoming a fine young man or woman.

No, Myrna thinks she is below par as a female and thus wants a baby to wipe the imagined social stigma from her name.

That was one reason why Hannah, of Biblical times, was so disturbed at failure to bear a child. And Rachel likewise got bitter over her sterility.

Even Sarah became so jealous of Hagar over this same problem that she nagged Abraham into deserting Hagar and their young son in the desert.

But Myrna and her husband potentially would make good parents, so I helped them locate a baby for adoption. And Myrna became a changed woman within a week, for she responded normally to the needs of the baby.

This reduced her inner tension so she apparently began to function like a normal woman, for a change.

And what happened? Well, she became pregnant within the next year!

But her new knowledge of the "rhythm theory," may have helped, too, so send for the booklet "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It explains many other points that will relieve the worry of young wives and expectant mothers. For uncertainty causes most of the pain and tension at childbirth.

"The truth shall make you free," says the Bible, and that holds here.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

A Man's World?

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N.M. (AP) — About one-fifth of the 9,000 persons working for the Army Missile Test Center, the Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility and private industry contractors at this proving ground are women. Members of the fairer sex hold down jobs ranging from technical and engineering positions in the guided missile program to clerical and stenographic work.

Nixon and Rockefeller Enter Crucial Pre-Nomination Period

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Time and events between now and 1960 will affect chances of both Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination.

The pressure of events, and the two men's responses to them, will almost certainly raise or lower their political attractiveness, at least as compared with each other, before it's time for the Republican nominating convention.

The very nature of the vice presidency ordinarily leaves the holder of that office overshadowed by the White House and with little more to do than preside over the Senate. So Nixon might seem the one least likely to be affected by events and therefore best able to retain what popularity he already has.

Rockefeller's job requires more direct action. The governor's leadership, his administrative ability, his policies and his thinking and therefore his voter appeal will undergo in these next two years both testing and examination.

He can't stand still. His performance as governor of the nation's richest and most populous state will tend to increase or diminish his presidential prospects, since voters of both parties around the country will be watching him.

He has already shown a willingness to stick his neck out. Almost his first action as governor has called forth protests by some voters who would be affected by what he wants: he has asked the Republican-run legislature for a 277-million-dollar tax increase, including a boost in income taxes.

His reasoning: he wants to avoid a deficit in state spending and balance the budget while still providing enough funds to avoid cutting some state social programs, like aid to education and localities. He has a fight on his hands, and at this moment can not be sure of winning.

Nixon, whose job calls for little need to stick out his neck, could rock away his time in the Senate, avoiding stands on controversial issues which might cost him popularity.

But Nixon is an aggressive man. He may feel it necessary for him to take sides—or he may feel forced into it as a member of the Eisenhower administration—on issues pending before Congress and involving various Eisenhower programs and policies from civil rights to defense and controlled spending.

Aggressive stands on such issues could boost him or bruise him, particularly since organized labor and business would have an interest in most of the issues.

The President already has given him an assignment which could affect his 1960 chances and lies in the same field—economics—which has Rockefeller involved now.

The President named him chairman of a Cabinet committee to examine the problems of inflation and seek ways to maintain reasonable price stability while sustaining economic growth.

Big Concern for Legislators

Committee Jobs Fix Influence in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Your Congressman's influence in national legislative affairs, or his lack of it, can be traced to one cog in the congressional machine—committee assignments.

Michigan lawmakers, like those from all other states, are vitally concerned with their committee positions. Much pulling and hauling has gone on behind the scenes to improve those positions.

Under the Senate and House committee systems, all legislative proposals are referred first to the appropriate committee. The enormous scope and variety of federal legislative activity has made this the one practical system.

It follows that a member may do much to help or hinder legislation affecting his state or district if he is on the proper committee, or in a position to trade committee influence.

And once in a choice committee assignment, the time-honored seniority system takes over. The member need only continue to breathe, and win re-election, to mount the legislative ladder to a committee chairmanship whenever his party is in power nationally.

Michigan would have two committee chairman now if there weren't so many Democrats in Congress. But with the GOP in the minority, Reps. Clare E. Hoffman of Allegan and John B. Bennett of Ontonagon must remain the ranking Republicans on the government Operations and Commerce Committees, respectively.

No Michigan Democrats are presently in sight of a committee chairmanship, but members of both parties are in position to wield influence in important places.

Rep. Thaddeus Machrowicz of Hamtramck, for instance, occupies a doubly powerful position as a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee. Not only is the committee responsible for all revenue-raising legislation, but its 15 Democratic members make all Democratic committee assignments.

Rep. Victor A. Knox of Sault Ste. Maire is one of the 10 Republicans on Ways and Means, but Republicans do not form their committtee on committees from the Ways and Means Committee.

Michigan has three members on the powerful 50-man House Appropriations Committee. Rep. Louis C. Rabaut of Grosse Pointe Park is 15th ranking Democrat. Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Grand Rapids is 7th ranking Republican and Rep. Elford A. Cederberg of Bay City is 12th ranking Republican.

A scramble for existing committee vacancies occurs at the organization of each new Congress every two years. This year Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr. (D) of Detroit was adroit enough to snare a spot on the sought-after Foreign Affairs Committee. He gave up positions on the Interior and Veterans Affairs Committees to get it.

In the Senate, Sen. Pat McNamara (D) is a member of the Labor and Public Works Committees. He resigned last year from the Rackets Investigating Committee, charging the group had outlived its usefulness.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D), beginning his first term this year, was named to two committees — Judiciary and Agriculture.

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the Michigan representation on the 20 standing committees of the House, with committee political division and individual party rank within the committee:

Banking and Currency (18D, 12R)— Martha W. Griffiths, Detroit (D-10th).

Government Operations (19D, 11R)— Martha W. Griffiths, Detroit (D-13th); Clare E. Hoffman, Allegan (R-1st); George Meader, Ann Arbor (R-3rd).

Public Works (22D, 12R) — William S. Broomfield, Royal Oak (R-9th).

Ways and Means (15D, 10R)—Thaddeus M. Machrowicz, Hamtramck (D-11th); Victor A. Knox, Sault Ste. Marie (R-7th).

Japan Gets Warning From South Korea

TOKYO (AP) — South Korea hinted today that it will try to intercept ships carrying Koreans repatriated by Japan to North Korea.

Korean Minister Yiu Tai Ha informed Japanese representatives that the Seoul government could not guarantee free passage to the repatriation ships.

Yiu also told the Japanese the talks to normalize relations between South Korea and Japan, long in progress, might be broken off if Japan went ahead with the repatriation. President Syngman Rhee's government bitterly opposes the delivery of Koreans to the Communist territory, contending the southern government is the only legal regime.

Japanese Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama has announced Japan intends to start repatriating some 100,000 Koreans who have expressed a desire to go to North Korea.

Mace Missile Goes to Troops in Germany

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Mace missile, highly mobile, almost jam-proof and capable of skirting radar, is going to U.S. troops in Germany in the spring to replace the Matador.

The Martin Co., which built both missiles, said the Mace is a much improved version of the Matador—first operational guided missile delivered to the Air Force and now in front-line service in Germany, Korea and Formosa.

Exact operational ability is classified but Mace, like Matador, is a surface-to-surface missile with a range of more than 650 miles and a speed in the neighborhood of 650 m.p.h.

"I found out in a hurry why Gas Clothes Dryers are so popular!"
Mrs. Patricia Hawley
2518 W. Willow
Lansing, Michigan
"Keeping a home in order is no easy job. I'd heard what a help a Gas Dryer could be and now I can see why. I can dry my wash in hardly no time at all and be free to do other things. Clothes are dried so nice that ironing is made easy, too."
Old-fashioned ways of doing things are not for smart new homemakers like Mrs. Hawley. When it just takes five seconds to put clothes in a Gas Dryer, why spend hours doing lifting, hauling, hanging and taking down? And not only is a Gas Dryer more convenient, but clothes dry nicer too . . . so soft, so fluffy, so sweet-smelling. Never any worries about soot, smoke or changing weather, either. To modern homemakers all this convenience makes good sense . . . especially the way it fits so nicely into the budget.

For Plain Americans

WILLIAMSTOWN, M · (UPI) —For members of the audience who didn't understand French, a five-page English synopsis of Racine's "Britannicus" was distributed before a performance of the tragedy at Williams College by the Vieux Colombier Players of Paris, France.

It took 23,000 men to build the Distant Early Warning (DEW) radar lines that protects the U.S. from enemy air attack.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors of Marin County have appropriated $250 from which to pay a $1 bounty for every skunk killed in the county.

Air Force to Shrink Its Size, but Keep Strong Firepower

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force probably will shrink its organizational size to fewer than 90 wings during the next five or six years—smallest since the wholesale demobilization following World War II.

These wings will include missile outfits as well as manned aircraft. Part of the cutback will be in B47 medium bomber wings as more efficient means of delivering destruction replace these planes.

Economy seems to play only a small part in the trend, which began about two years ago. Improvement of both aircraft and missiles accounts primarily for the change.

The nuclear firepower which can be delivered by even 90 wings will be thousands of times that of the huge bomber fleets of World War II.

The military budget now being debated in Congress says that there will be a "modest reduction in the number of wings in the Air Force, from 105 at the end of the current fiscal year (next June 30) to 102 at the end of 1960."

The slow reduction in wing strength started after a peak post-war strength of 137 was reached in mid-1957.

The size of an Air Force wing varies from 45 big bombers to 75 fighters. Normally, a wing consists of three squadrons of planes.

In missiles, the squadron designation is generally used. A ballistic missile squadron will range from 10 weapons for an intercontinental ballistic missile—ICBM—outfit to 15 for an intermediate range ballistic missile — IRBM — squadron. Formation of such squadrons is just beginning.

During the coming year, as the Air Force nears the 102-wing level, a wing of Atlas ballistic missiles will be included in the over-all count, along with the present wing of Matador guided missiles and probably a wing of Bomarc long range antiaircraft missiles.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said last month that the Strategic Air Command will include 14 wings of B52 heavy jet bombers—two more than had been shown under previously announced plans.

The B52 manned bomber is slated, under present plans, to remain an important part of the nuclear weapon delivery system at least to 1965 and perhaps longer, depending on the speed with which missiles and other unmanned weapons are perfected.

The cutback in wing strength toward an eventual level of fewer than 90 will be brought about, in part, by the gradual elimination of the B47 medium jet from SAC's fleet of strategic bombers.

Defense Department officials say that one wing of the new, improved B52G series can replace two wings of B47s. The B52G has longer range, without using aerial refueling, than the first B52 series. But more important, the B52G will be armed with the Hound Dog missile—a device for sending the nuclear explosive into a heavily defended enemy area while the bomber itself remains outside, several hundred miles away.

Finally Read the Paper

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Twnety-two years after she won a contest sponsored by a local bank, Mrs. Leland B. McCoy, of Enid, Okla., collected her prize — $2 savings account. The bank had forgotten the contest, but after checking newspaper accounts, awarded the prize to Mrs. McCoy.

Blames Inflation on Government

Chamber of Commerce Says Ruling Policies Bring Dilemma

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government policies provide the greatest single cause of inflation, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said today.

The chamber said possible inflationary effects of private market power, whether of business or labor, are insignificant when compared to the inflation generated by government spending, taxing and debt policies.

Views of the chamber were presented by its assistant director of economic research, Walter Fackler, to the Senate-House Economic Committee.

Both the chamber and the National Assn. of Manufacturers called for federal tax revamping.

Fackler said in his prepared testimony the present tax system penalizes success, discourages initiative and restricts investment.

He also recommended new approaches to federal-state relations, describing the present programs of federal grants to states as wasteful. He suggested encouragement of state and local governments to provide educational and community facilities.

Has Been Very Demanding Job

Mayor of Tokyo Rebuilds City

By KENNETH ISHII

TOKYO (AP)—When Seiichiro Yasui dreams of a soft job, he pictures himself mayor of New York or London or Paris or Rome.

For bossing what may well be the world's most complex metropolis, Yasui receives $305.55 a month and a rent-free residence.

When he took the job in 1946 at the age of 54, Tokyo lay in ruins. More than 80 per cent of the city had been laid waste by incendiary bomb raids. Its population had dwindled to 3,400,000.

Now, after three consecutive terms, Yasui can look upon a rebuilt capital, thriving as never before and bursting with 8,840,000 people.

In his tastefully-furnished office in the metropolitan government building, the Governor Tokyo—as he is officially known—puffed on a freshly-lit cigar and recalled:

"In the past 12 years we've done as much reconstruction work as would normally be expected to take 40 years. And we've had problems other than bomb damage.

"I envy cities like New York, Chicago, Paris, London and Rome because they aren't troubled with earthquakes and floods the way we are."

As governor, Yasui supervises a complex administration that covers 1,210 square miles, broken up into 24 divisions, eight commissions and 23 ward offices, and employing 135,433 people.

Last year the metropolitan budget totaled 367 million dollars, or roughly 10 per cent of the national budget. Of the 367 million, 17 per cent came from the central government and the rest from city income including 61 per cent from local taxes.

Yasui also is an active or honorary member of more than 100 committees and organizations.

In addition to his city responsibilities, he heads such organizations as the all-Japan Ikebana (Flower Arrangement) Assn., the National Athletic Assn., and the Tokyo Chamber of Commerce.

Yasui's trim, conservatively-dressed figure, neatly-combed hair and grey mustache give him the appearance of a prosperous businessman. Behind his tortoise-shell glasses he is rarely recognized in a crowd.

Yasui, a widower with two married daughters, entered government service soon after his graduation from Tokyo University in 1917.

City planners envisage a Tokyo 20 years from now that will have its population dispersed in numerous satellite cities around an inner core, linked by freeways and studded with parks in a pattern somewhat like that planned for Greater London.

"That," the governor said, "will be for my successors to tackle. I plan to retire when my present term is up this year. I think I'll just relax and spend my time reading and taking walks in the country.

"I've had a busy 13 years in office and I'm a little tired."

Catalogs 40,000 Milky Ways

Space Map Coming Up With 1st of 5 Volumes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—If man ever builds a machine that will take him far out into the universe, he won't have to worry about a road map.

Astronomers are already working on it, and expect to publish the first of five volumes this spring.

The space map is a monumental catalog of 40,000 of the brightest galaxies of stars visible from the Northern Hemisphere. A galaxy is a cluster of millions of solar systems. One is our own Milky Way. Our solar system—the sun and its planets—is a tiny part of the Milky Way.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, California Institute of Technology astrophysicist, announced the project Saturday.

Galaxies have various shapes. Some look like pinwheels, some are almost ball shaped and others resemble clouds. They tend to form into clusters of galaxies and 10,000 of these super clusters will be included in the space map.

The space map is being financed partly by the Office of Naval Research, which regards navigation as a naval problem whether it be through oceans or space.

It is being compiled from photographs taken by the 18- and 48-inch Schmidt telescopes on Palomar Mountain in San Diego County and should be completed within two years.

In it will be 450 charts. Four charts together will about equal the space in the sky covered by a clenched fist at arm's distance.

Lincoln Would Scorn Dem Party—Bagwell

DEARBORN (UPI) — Abraham Lincoln would look with scorn on the Democratic party if he were alive today, Paul D. Bagwell, titular head of the state GOP, said tonight in the first of a series of Lincoln day speeches by state Republicans.

"He would label the official Democratic party line of today as backward looking, insincere to the point of cynicism, out of date, and out of tune with our indigenous American political philosophy," Bagwell, GOP candidate for governor in November, said before a sixteenth congressional district banquet.

Bagwell urged all citizens to work for and help shape the policies of the political party of their choice.

Break-In Victim Receives Plenty of News on Job

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., (AP)—"Are you Louis Goltz of Pfeifer's?" a male telephoner asked Sunday night.

"Yes," Goltz said.

"Well, your store was robbed Saturday night," the caller said, and hung up.

Goltz, manager of Pfeifer's Men's Store, went to the store. It had been broken into through a window.

Goltz said he was unable to determine immediately if anything had been taken.

Surely no money could have been taken—Goltz said cash was not kept in the store overnight. The safe had lettered across its face:

"This safe is not locked."

Floating Loans Good

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A loan on a boat generally is a good one for banks to float, a banking conference here was told.

"A boating enthusiast will almost part with his wife before losing his boating equipment," said Guy W. Hughes, Chicago, executive director of the Outboard Boating Club of America.

The Pennsylvania turnpike as it traverses the Appalachian mountains is lighted by mercury vapor lamps in its under-ground sections.

Southfield Meet on Xways Set

Council and Highway Officials Will Try to Reach Agreement

SOUTHFIELD—A special meeting has been called for tomorrow night by the City Council and members of the Michigan State Highway Department to try to reach some agreement on proposed expressways through Southfield.

Irving Ruben of the state highway department will ask the City Council to agree to the proposed inter-state route 6 expressway from Northwestern highway and Telegraph road to the Farmington-Brighton expressway which is approximately at the 11½-Mile road.

City Clerk Patrick Flannery said this morning the highway department has previously proposed this route but that the city of Southfield does not favor it because it would cut through valuable property.

The council, he said, would prefer that the expressway be along 14-Mile road, which would keep it out of the city, and border along Weswood Village, Bingham Farms and Franklin Village.

The state highway department will also ask the City Council to approve the Southfield expressway within the city from Eight-Mile road to the intersection at Northwestern highway and Nine-Mile road, Ruben said.

Humphrey Saves the Day for Dems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Early in the session, Sen. Russell Long (D-La) found a moment when not a single Republican senator was in the Senate. Quickly he proposed Congress abolish the Republican party.

Ever since, Republicans have been waiting for their chance. Recently Minority Leader Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) noticed that all Democrats were gone and announced he would propose abolition of the Democratic party.

But, just then, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) rushed in, calling, "I object."

Said Dirksen: "My friend from Minnesota has saved the day for the Democrats and I salute him for doing so."

Died in His Own Trap

GLEN WILTON, Va. (AP) — A makeshift bear trap was blamed for the death here of C. W. Thomas, a Botetcourt County farmer. Coroner E. B. Morgan said Thomas, whose crops had been damaged by bears, rigged up a rifle and attached a wire to its trigger. He tripped on the wire when going to inspect his trap.

CAMPING? NO, SIR, SWIMMING! — President Eisenhower kids with a group of Boy Scouts at Spence Air Force Base, Ga., before boarding the Columbine III for Washington Sunday after vacationing at the plantation estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey. About 60 boys, celebrating National Boy Scout Week, waited an hour in the rain to see the President. The President asked one youngster if they had been camping. The boy replied, "No, sir, swimming."

Ruth Annette Kent Weds Lt. Kenneth A. Schluchter

BAD AXE — The First Presbyterian Church here was the scene of the wedding at 7 p. m. Saturday in which Ruth Annette Kent of Filion became the bride of Lt. (jg) Kenneth Arthur Schluchter Jr. of Drayton Plains. The Rev. Joseph D. Ryan performed the ceremony.

A gown of antique brocade, fashioned with long, tapered sleeves, fitted bodice and Sabrina neckline accented with pearls and appliques, was the bride's choice for her wedding. The full-length skirt ended in a chapel train.

Gretchen Kolbe of Royal Oak was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Floy Stirrett of Detroit and July Jelinek of Filion.

Catholic Women Slate Elections in Avon Library

ROCHESTER — The annual election of officers of the newly re-organized League of Catholic Women of Rochester is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Avon Township Public Library.

In addition to election and installation of officers, the revised constitution and by-laws will be presented to the membership.

According to Mrs. Perry Crawford, president pro tem, the League is no longer a parish organization. For that reason, she said, the social work done by the group is comparable to the works of charity done by the Pontiac League — both being units of the Detroit Archdiocesan League of Catholic Women.

At Wednesday's meeting further plans will be made for the annual Spring Archdiocesan meeting to be held April 30 at Sylvan Glen Country Club on S. Rochester road.

Church to Honor Personnel of Its Own School

ROCHESTER — The school board of the First Congregational Church here has invited teachers and other personnel of the church school to be honored guests at a dinner to be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the church hall.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. John Forseyth, minister of education at Bushnell Congregational Church, Detroit.

During the Lenten season, the Board of Education will sponsor an adult Bible study class. The classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday and will be held in the church hall.

Dr. Ray M. Hardy, church pastor, will conduct the classes.

The youth was rushed from the Semelroth home at 2815 Linwood Rd. to William Beaumont Hospital here, where he died seven hours later.

The gun belongs to Gary's father, Wendell Semelroth, according to police.

Joseph a freshman at the University of Detroit High School, was the son of Joseph Decker Sr., president of the Peterson Glass Corp. at 610 Livernois Rd., Ferndale.

Lloyd Grissom, Publisher, Dies

Also Was Ambassador to Italy, Japan; Bought Paper 30 Years Ago

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Col. Lloyd C. Griscom, who became a newspaper publisher and owner after a colorful career as a diplomat, is dead at 86.

He became ill while visiting a sister and died Sunday at Archbold Memorial Hospital.

Griscom purchased the Tallahassee (Fla.) Democrat 30 years ago and was board chairman of the company which published the daily newspaper.

He began his diplomatic career as an attache of the U.S. Embassy in London, and later served as ambassador to Japan and minister to Brazil.

In his book "Diplomatically Speaking," published in 1940, he recalled that one of his most exciting experiences was using a battleship to bluff the Sultan of Turkey into paying a $90,000 debt.

That was back at the turn of the century when Griscom was charge d'affaires of the American legation at Constantinople.

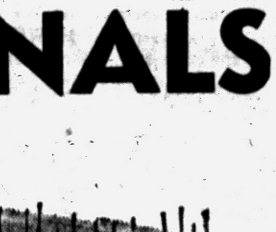

He served as a captain during the Spanish-American war and then returned to the diplomatic service. During World War I he was a lieutenant colonel and at one time was a liaison officer on the staff of Gen. John Pershing.

Griscom practiced law in New York after his diplomatic career and later acquired eight small newspapers in the vicinity of Syosset, L.I.,

After buying the Tallahassee Democrat he changed his residence to that state. In later years he indulged in his hobby of water color painting and was a member of the water color society.

Who's to Blame for This Trouble?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ABBY

"DEAR ABBY: Your letter in which the little girl (age 15) was 'done wrong' by a soldier really irked me. I'll grant, not all soldiers are gentlemen, but what about the girls? You can't tell me that a 15-year-old girl doesn't know right from wrong. Don't be so quick to judge the soldier. It is equally wrong to put temptation before men who are weak. So who is really to blame? The soldier who fell or the girl who tempted him?"

JOHN

DEAR JOHN: Neither. The guilty parties are the parents of both who failed to teach their children the importance of high moral behavior and strength of character when the flesh is weak.

"DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where the 15-year-old girl got herself in trouble with a soldier. The same thing happened to my sister so I know how her family must feel. I am also a GI and if this girl will have me I will marry her as soon as I can get permission from my commanding officer. I am 20, white, Protestant, do not drink, smoke or curse and have never been arrested. I had plans for marriage but was jilted.

"I know I am a total stranger but feel that we could make a go of it. If the girl's parents want to contact me I will answer all questions about my background and character. Please don't print my name but send it to the girl along with my address. Thank you."

A SOLDIER

DEAR SOLDIER: Marriage is more than a mail-order agreement between a girl who needs a favor and a boy who is willing to grant it. Sorry, but I can't put you in touch with this girl. You are one in a million and I hope your unselfish and generous attitude will be rewarded by the happiness you reserve.

"DEAR ABBY: About the 15-year-old girl who got herself into that mess with the soldier: Really, if a girl is dumb enough to fall for those lines before marriage, she should expect her lines to change, too."

MOTHER OF BOYS

"DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a girl who is 19 years old, engaged to be married and she asked her mother to give her a baby doll (a large one) for Christmas? She has a roomful of dolls in all sizes and colors. They are all over her bed, sitting in her windows and hanging from the walls. When I told her I thought she was too old to be playing with dolls she said she wasn't 'playing' with them, she 'collected' them. I say, 'What's the difference?' Does she sound grown up enough to get married?"

HER FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Many grown-ups "collect" dolls as a hobby, and there's nothing babyish about it — unless the collector pretends she's the Mamma.

"DEAR ABBY: A good friend of my husband's makes it a habit to drop in around mealtime and naturally we have to ask him to stay for dinner. I was never too crazy about him, but he has been a buddy to my husband for a long time, so I put up with him.

"Last night was the last straw. That big jerk looked at the label on the beer bottle and said it was the worst beer ever brewed, but he drank three bottles. My brainless husband sat there and didn't say a word. Don't you think he could have thought of something to say?"

SILENT PARTNER

DEAR SILENT: Sometimes it takes more brains to keep your mouth shut.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Checking over lists of things yet to do are Mrs. Douglas S. Baker, left, and Mary Kelly, cochairmen. Proceeds from the affair will go to Girls' Ranch.

Rudeness Is Better Than Accident

Public Invitation to Congregation Is Permissible

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a hostess gives a party and one of her guests seems to be drinking too much, can she refuse to serve him any more liquor? We live in the suburbs and many of our friends have to drive back to the city after a party and I feel it my responsibility that they get home safely. Is there a tactful way to handle this situation?"

Answer: She certainly may! In this instance being a little rude to one who is going to drive his, or her, car home is infinitely better than being overhospitable and very possibly contributing to a horrible accident.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and as I am very active in my church, would like to invite the whole congregation (it is a small church) to my wedding without sending invitations. Would it be proper to have the clergyman announce this from the pipit the Sunday preceding the wedding and say that all are invited to the wedding of Miss Mary Doe and Mr. Henry Smith, and also to the reception afterwards in the church basement?"

Answer: In a small church where the members of the congregation are all friends, such an invitation would be entirely practical, and therefore proper.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I think a printed thank-you card is cold and says little in the way of thanks. And yet we are receiving them quite regularly. So often, in fact, that a thank-you note is beginning to be a rarity. So I wondered maybe if they are today approved by etiquette?"

Answer: Much as I like many varieties of printed cards, a printed "thank you" for a real kindness is unthinkable—unless a warm message has been added by hand.

Nearby Residents to Cape Canaveral Live in an Emotional Seesaw

Yet outsiders were scarcely aware of its existence a few years ago. As in Spanish colonial days, Cape Canaveral was merely a place name on a map. It baked quietly in the sun, a dead-flat triangle of sand and palmetto thickets. Near-by Cocoa Beach was a small, relaxed resort.

Fate having made Canaveral the United States' chief proving ground for rockets and missiles, the central area of Florida's east coast is in the midst of a tremendous boom, the National Geographic Society says.

The growing population is numbered not in hundreds but many thousands. Bulldozers claw at the salty earth. New shops, restaurants, motels and pastel-colored homes line the car-choked roads.

Coca Beach regards itself as America's first space-age town. One restaurant displays an "honor roll" of successful shots. Ultra-modern motels take such names as Starlite, Sea Missile and Polaris. At night their garish signs bristle with rockets, miming flight in a staccato of red, blue and yellow neon.

BY ROCKETS' GLARE

Canaveral, Cocoa Beach, and their southerly neighbor, Patrick Air Force Base, administrative headquarters of the Patrick Air Force Missile Test Center, are located at a thorn-shaped projection midway on a long, thin sand reef extending more than a hundred miles along the coast.

A causeway leads to the mainland—a citrus growing region—across Banana River, Merritt Island and Indian River.

It is a place of shimmering seascapes, lagoons and fish-laden waters, of white beaches and scarlet hibiscus, of palms and warm winter sun and lazy breezes. One of Florida's oldest orange groves makes a tufted green carpet on Merritt Island. Fresh orange juice is shipped by seagoing tanker from Cape Canaveral's new deep-water harbor.

But the tropical paradise presently has little room for casual tourists. Its main concern is the people who came for more than dinner—scientists, engineers, technicians, military personnel and their families. So little living space exists on the Canaveral sandspit that some workers live in mainland towns 50 to 75 miles away.

CAPE CLOSED TO VISITORS

The Cape is, of course, closed to the public. Local people, however, seem to possess a sixth sense about the secret activities there. The tests of Vanguards, Atlases, Titans and Thors are as much a part of normal living as television and daily newspapers.

In the mind's eye, they see the bird, perhaps an Atlas 75 feet long, being eased from a hangar in its mobile cradle. They envision the slow journey over black - topped roads to a launching pad on the shore.

Cranes lift the huge monster into place; gantries or erectors close about it; an elevator carriers workers up and down the multistoried structure to make myriad checks of the rocket's mechanisms.

If all goes well, a count-down of many hours begins. Yellow, then red warning lights flash. Inside a turtle-backed concrete blockhouse, observers watch through periscopes. Wreathed in vapor from liquid oxygen, the missile acquires a sheath of frost. As the shot draws near, gantries pull away or the skeletal erector folds down.

IT IS 'T' TIME

Now the rocket stands alone, gleaming white in sunlight or bathed in searchlights by night. Finally, the count-down reaches zero, and it is T (for test) Time.

If the bird flies, there is joy that night in rocketville; otherwise, gloom. It is unlikely that residents of any other urban area—scientists, engineer, soldier, businessman, housewife, menial and child—love so collectively on an emotional seesaw.

Would You Know What a Shack Is?

BUTTE, Mont. (UPI)—When a Strategic Air Command crew scores a direct hit on a target during a practice mission, using a radar impulse to simulate the bomb, the accomplishment is described as a "shack."

During a recent SAC bombing and navigation competition, a B47 crew from the 2nd Bomb Wing at Hunter Air Force Base, Ga., got a "shack" on a target in Butte. The target was a shingle-sized card on the northwest corner of Hennessy's Department Store.

Lower Coffee Prices Are a Mixed Blessing

Many coffee importers and roasters admit plummeting prices could bring it back. The five-cent cup disappeared in the late '40s, and today the price of green coffee is down to the 1950 level.

But the State Department warns that the lower prices go, the more Americans will have to pay in terms of lost Latin American markets and weakened hemispheric defense against Soviet economic penetration.

Roy R. Rubottom Jr., assistant secretary of state for Inter-American Affairs, said: "The great drop in coffee prices is good news to coffee drinkers. But it is bad news as well. A sharp and sudden drop in prices means hardship for millions and millions of people."

According to Joao Roberto Hafers, president of the Pan-American Coffee Bureau in New York, a drop of just one cent a pound in price of green coffee means a loss of 48 million dollars to world's coffee producing countries, including loss to Brazil of about 19 million and to Colombia, 10 million.

RUBOTTOM WARNED

"The great drop in prices is a peril to the whole Free World. Economic trouble in Latin America is an invitation to the Soviets to intensify their efforts at economic penetration in our hemisphere."

In other similar situations, the Russian and satellite governments have bought commodities that they didn't need, or at a higher than world market price, just to get the door open to Communist traders and technicians.

Typical of the rapid downtrend of retail coffee prices in the U.S., one large seller reports that in the last 20 months the price of their regular vacuum-packed pound has fallen 23 cents. Instant coffee is down 27 cents.

Many informed growers, importers and roasters fear wholesale and retail prices still have a long way to drop. The estimated world surplus of green coffee for 1958-59 is more than 2¾ billion pound, and constantly growing.

John McKiernan, president of the National Coffee Association, representing 85 per cent of the importers and roasters in the United States and Canada, says:

"The surplus situation won't get better for a long time to come. We can't buy all the Brazilian surplus as it is. Yet they keep right on planting more acres."

He adds that if prices maintain their downward plunge, the market will weaken further because buyers will not stock up, waiting for the next day's lower price. "That will hit the Latin coffee growers hard," he said, adding, "and it will hit the United States exporter hard, too."

Queer Fish Eats Just Like Cow

Parrotfish Sports Two Sets of Teeth, One in Back of Throat

As it darts about underwater in rainbow hues of blue, green, red, pink and yellow, it calls up visions of macaws and parrots flitting through the green depths of the forest.

The resemblance is heightened by the fish's curious teeth. These are solidly joined together to form a powerful parrotlike beak—hence the name — says the National Geographic Society.

Though scientists have long recognized characteristics and oddities of parrotfishes, much basic information on different species still eludes them.

Its author, Dr. Leonard P. Schultz, curator of fishes at the museum, points out that the extreme variability of the parrot group has made it one of the most confusing of the reef-fish families.

Untroubled by fine scientific distinctions, the layman, however, can enjoy parrotfishes as he finds them.

Particularly fascinating are the feeding habits of this tropical-seas fish that grazes on stone and coral vegetation like a cow nibbling in a field. With its sharp dental plates, it scrapes the algae clean, occasionally snapping off coral fragments to get at fleshy polyps within.

A second set of teeth at the back of the parrotfish's throat carries on the process. Acting as a natural mill, it grinds and pulverizes the hard substances swallowed.

Where's the Cache?

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP)—Several years before his death, John H. Manning told a sister, under promise to keep it secret, where he had buried $70,000 on his Chestnut Ridge estate. Since her death relatives have been doing some tall spading to no avail.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

County Voters in 1st Judicial Primary Since '47

FREDERICK C. ZIEM

The name of Frederick C. Ziem should ring a familiar note for voters in Oakland County.

In 1952, 1954, 1956 and again last year, Ziem's name appeared on ballots as a candidate for county prosecutor. Each time he was elected.

Now the 42-year-old lawyer hopes county voters will favor him in his try for elevation to circuit judge.

Ziem, father of two sons, was appointed assistant prosecutor in 1947. Five years and many cases later he was elected to head the office.

In between, the former University of Michigan football lineman and law school graduate, prepped for the top law enforcement spot by serving two years as chief assistant prosecutor, second only to prosecutor.

Ziem came from his birthplace in Detroit to Pontiac in 1922. Eleven years later he received his diploma from Pontiac Central High School.

In his capacity with the prosecutor's office, the candidate served as special prosecutor with two county grand jury investigations, in 1951 and 1953.

The Army veteran (1943 through 1946) was admitted to the legal practice by the state in 1941, the year of his graduation from Michigan.

James C. Allen, former commissioner of the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission, is another on the Feb. 16 non-partisan ballot with an eye toward being Circuit Court judge of Oakland County.

Allen, whose father and grandfather helped Birmingham grow from a village to a city, has kept up his law pratice while serving as Birmingham commissioner (1953) and mayor (1956).

Before this, the 40-year-old father of four in 1951 was appointed deputy commissioner of the Securities Commission, and on June 6, 1953, was named head commissioner by Gov. Williams. In 1955, Allen resigned the position to return to his legal profession.

The University of Michigan graduate (1943) and native of Oakland County, last year was named city attorney for Southfield. He still is a partner in a Detroit law firm.

The candidate was raised in Birmingham and graduated from Baldwin High School. While at the U. of M. Allen met his wife, Rosemary. They were married in 1944. The Allens live at 1108 Maple Ave., Birmingham.

Director with the Family Service of Oakland County is another position which takes some of Allen's time.

As securities commissioner Allen was in charge of the state agency which handles 40 million dollars a year in privilege fees from corporations, guards against phony stock issues, and licenses every real estate agent in the state.

JAMES C. ALLEN

WILLIAM J. BEER

Newest member to don the robes as an Oakland County Circuit Court judge, William J. Beer was another appointee of Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Judge Beer, 49, a resident of Berkley, received news of his appointment last Aug. 25 in his Pontiac law office which he shared with his partner, Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston.

Beer in 1953 had placed fourth in judicial balloting for three seats on the Oakland bench.

A lifelong resident of Oakland County, Judge Beer is filling the unexpired term of the late George B. Hartrick.

Upon completion of his literary and legal education at Wayne State University in 1930 Beer became associated with a Detroit law firm. In 1937 he opened his own law offices in Royal Oak, where he remained until he enlisted in the Navy in 1942.

After his discharge from the service, during which he was a combat gunnery officer, he practiced law in Marquette and Rogers City, where he later was city attorney.

Besides being a school board lawyer in Royal Oak, Judge Beer was Circuit Court commissioner in Presque Isle County from 1946 through 1957.

He is married and the father of three sons, two living at home, which is at 2358 Earlmont St.

Will Elect Ten Nominees for Circuit Court Feb. 16

Oakland voters will have the largest non-partisan judicial candidate field in the county's history to select from when they go to the polls Feb. 16 to elect 10 nominees for five Circuit Court judgeships.

At the same time there will be primary election in 17 of the 24 townships in the county.

Not since 1947 have county voters had to vote in a primary to determine judicial nominees to go on the general biennial spring ballot.

Fourteen lawyers, including incumbent Circuit Judges H. Russel Holland, Clark J. Adams and William J. Beer, have made bids for the five judgeships, thus necessitating the Feb. 16 run-off.

In 1935, when the balloting was on a partisan basis, there were 17 candidates — 12 Republicans and five Democrats.

Voters in all of the county's 295 precincts will be asked to study the non-partisan part of the ballot and vote for not more than five of the 14 candidates who will be listed there.

Those 10 receiving the highest number of votes will be certified as the nominees and win a spot on the April 6 ballot. This leaves two nominees bidding for each of the five Oakland judge posts — the largest number ever.

Daniel T. Murphy Jr., county clerk-register, said no primary is necessary for two short terms — one to start the tenure of the newest fifth judgeship, the other for the unexpired term of the late Judge George B. Hartrick, now filled by Judge Beer — as there were two or less filing for the two terms. They will be voted on in April.

Murphy predicted about 45,000 county voters to go to the polls (open from 7 a.m. through 8 p.m.) next Monday.

MILTON F. COONEY

Another candidate for Oakland County circuit judge is Milton F. Cooney, former Pontiac municipal judge and the city's first director of public safety.

Cooney, besides maintaining his law practice in the city, serves as attorney for Independence Township and Clarkston.

He lives with his wife Wilma and 11-year-old son at 56 E. Washington St., Clarkston. Cooney is 52.

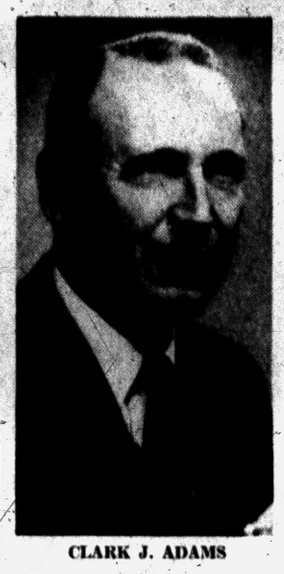

Eleven years ago he sought the nomination as U. S. representative in Congress on the Republican ticket. At that time Oakland County congressional limits stretched into Detroit. Cooney won in Oakland but lost to Ge A. Dondero in the Wayne Cou portion of the old 17th District.

After graduation from Pontiac High School in 1925 he was licensed as a barber by the state.

Three years later he was elected constable in Pontiac. He was re-elected in 1929.

A graduate of the Detroit College of Law in 1930, he was admitted to practice the same year. He was elected municipal judge in 1935, and recommended and promoted the charter amendment to make the court city-owned.

Cooney resigned as judge in 1941 after processing upwards to 50,000 cases. He entered the Army in 1943 and served three years.

CLARK J. ADAMS

Judge Clark J. Adams is the second ranking member of the Oakland County Circuit Court bench, having been appointed by Gov. Williams in 1955.

The 54-year-old native and resident of Waterford Township had been a practicing attorney in Pontiac, a state representative, a Michigan Supreme Court justice, the governor's legal advisor, and a member of the State Corrections Commission before his appointment to the local bench.

After receiving both a bachelor of arts degree (1925) and law degree (1927) from the University of Michigan, Adams entered a law partnership in the city.

He jumped into the political arena in 1936 when elected as Democratic representative of the city. He served in this capacity from 1937 to 1945.

It was four years later that Gov. Williams selected Adams as his legal advisor. He occupied this post until Aug. 14, 1952, when the governor elevated him to a seat on the high court, vacated by the death of Chief Justice Walter H. North.

By a 2,054-vote margin in 1953 present Chief Justice John Dethmers defeated Adams for re-election. After a brief stint with the Corrections Commission, Adams became an Oakland jurist, made possible when Williams created the county's fourth judicial seat.

Adams lives with his wife Adeline at 2755 W. Walton Blvd. They have a married daughter.

Maurice E. Finnegan, Pontiac municipal judge seeking elevation to a Circuit Court seat, has been associated with the courts and law in one way or another since 1928. The start came when Finnegan left the campus of the University of Detroit with a law degree tucked under his arm.

Born in Pontiac, the 54-year-old candidate received his diploma from St. Frederick High School here in 1923, where he starred in six sports. After graduation he spent a year at the old Pontiac Junior College.

A private law practice took up four years of Finnegan's career from 1928 through 1932. Then he started a service as court clerk for former Oakland Circuit Judges Frank L. Covert, Goodloe Rogers, George B. Hartrick and deputy county clerk for present Judge H. Russel Holland.

This work ended in 1938 when Finnegan began a two-year position as deputy probate register for Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

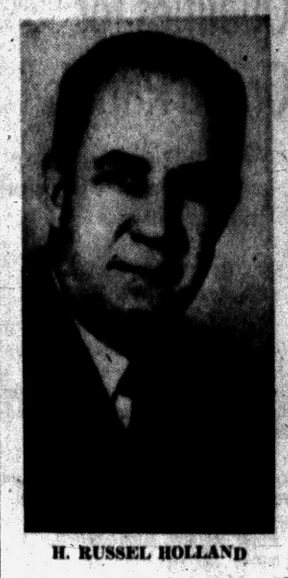

Next step in Finnegan's judicial career came in July 1941 when he was appointed municipal judge. The following April he was elected to his first four-year term in the same job. He has been on that bench ever since, with the exception of a 19-month stretch in the Army from 1943 to 1945.

MAURICE E. FINNEGAN

H. RUSSEL HOLLAND

It was on Jan. 1, 1936 that H. Russel Holland was officially sworn in as Oakland County Circuit Court judge.

Twenty-three years later finds the Virginia-born jurist seeking to be elected to his fifth consecutive six-year term.

The 61-year-old Holland is the veteran jurist on the local bench with the mandatory retirement of Judge Frank L. Doty. Judge Doty has been on the bench since 1927.

Hezekiah Russel Holland put in several years as principal for two Virginia high schools and history teacher at Detroit's Northern High School before he successfully passed his bar exams in 1926. He then practiced law in Detroit for a year, after which he took up residence in Pontiac, where he has lived since.

Holland's first plunge into elected public office occurred in 1929 when he became associate justice of the peace for the city of Pontiac. After holding this position for nearly a year, Holland became fulltime justice of the peace in the city.

Judge Holland's law degree reads "The Detroit College of Law" and is dated 1926.

VERNE C. HAMPTON

After 21 years as one of the county's two Circuit Court Commissioners, Verne C. Hampton seeks a new job, that of circuit judge.

Hampton, of Bloomfield Township, was first elected commissioner in 1936. For 12 consecutive elections in the county Hampton was re-elected to the position.

Along with fellow Circuit Court Commissioner Maurice F. Cole, Hampton hears all matters involving eviction of tenants, foreclosure of land contracts and acts on cases where the sale of real estate ends in Circuit Court.

Born in 1903 at Kewanee, Ill., Hampton took up residence in Oakland County in 1913. He was graduated in 1923 from Pontiac Central High School and attended the old Pontiac Junior College a year later. He received his law degree in 1928 from the Detroit College of Law.

He and his wife Mildred and their three children live at 3631 Brookside Dr.

It was in 1929 that Hampton opened his general law practice in the Pontiac State Bank Building, from where he handles most of his commissioner's duty when he's not in court.

Ralph F. Finley got his first taste how a law court operates while serving as clerk for Detroit Common Pleas Court Judge James M. Jeffries.

Currently justice of the peace in Berkley, Finley, 53, is among the 14 lawyers and candidates bidding for Circuit Court judge nomination in the Feb. 16 primary balloting.

The candidate in the non-partisan primary has been justice since 1953. Prior to 1953 he was Berkley city attorney for four years, during which time he served as the city's representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

His family moved from Terre Haute, Ind., to Detroit in 1916. There he attended the old Detroit Junior College, moving from there to the Detroit College of Law. In 1930 he earned his juris doctor degree.

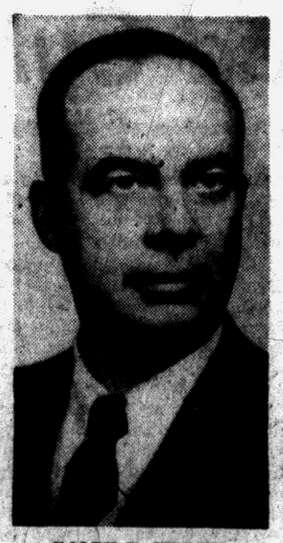

He's been a resident of Berkley since 1938 and of the county for the past 20 years. Finley and his wife, Bernadene, son, and daughter make their home at 1717 Earlmont St.

Besides serving with Judge Jeffries, the candidate was deputy clerk in the old Detroit Justice Court earlier. He left his job with the judge in 1940 to enter a private law practice with an office in Detroit.

Since 1949 he has shared new offices in Berkley with another attorney while serving as justice of the peace.

RALPH F. FINLEY

JAMES RENFREW

The youngest of the 14 judicial candidates is James Renfrew, Huntington Woods justice of the peace. Renfrew, also the only bachelor among the 14, is 34.

President of the Oakland County Judicial Assiciation, he was elected to a four-year term as justice in 1956.

Born Aug. 16, 1924 of Scottish parentage in Detroit, Renfrew went through the Hazel Park public school system.

Renfrew enlisted in the Navy in March of 1943 and served aboard a light cruiser in campaigns from the Solomons to the Philippine Islands. Later he entered the University of Idaho where he studied under the Naval ROTC program for nearly a year before being discharged from the Navy.

Upon his discharge, Renfrew decided to continue his education. He enrolled in Wayne State University and received his bachelor of arts degree in 1948, and later his law degree. He also did graduate work in English legal history at Wayne and Harvard University.

Before being elected justice of the peace, Renfrew was legal advisor from 1951 to 1954 in the Research and Development Division of the Detroit Arsenal in Center line.

Renfrew, author of a handbook for Michigan justices, lives at 8149 Hendrie Blvd., Huntington Woods. He has lived in the county for 30 years.

City Doctor Heads County Academy

Dr. Harry L. Riggs, a Pontiac physician has been elected president of the Oakland County Academy of General Practice.

Dr. Riggs, who lives at 3499 Franklin Rd., Bloomfield Township has offices at 31 Orchard Lake Ave.

A staff member at Pontiac General Hospital, Dr. Riggs was graduated from Wayne State University and received his medical degree from Howard University in Washington D. C. He was born in Chicago and grew up in Detroit.

Take-Off Can Be Rough for Congresswoman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Jessica Weis (R-NY), a new congresswoman, tells a story about her first day in Congress.

As she walked on the floor, she says, a House attendant suggested she remove her hat. She complied. As she was about to slip into her seat, someone else suggested congresswomen do not wear gloves. Slowly, Mrs. Weis removed her gloves.

Then she announced: "If they tell me to take off just one more thing, I'm going to fight."

U.S. Expert Will Study Ghana Water Shortage

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—An American water expert is to be flown here to study a water shortage that has hit this capital.

German Repatriation Goes On Despite Crisis

MOSCOW (AP)—Despite political tensions, the Soviet-West German program for German repatriation is still functioning smoothly, West German sources report.

The agreement became effective last April and the number of German repatriates now is approaching a monthly figure of about 900. The West Germans estimate more than 5,000 persons already have been returned from Soviet territory to West Germany.

WENDELL BROWN

STANTON G. DONDERO

Hoping that some of his father's success in winning elections has rubbed off on him is Stanton G. Dondero, Royal Oak attorney.

Dondero, son of the former veteran Oakland County Congressman George A. Dondero, is a candidate for Circuit Court judge.

Dondero, 43, lives with his wife, two daughters and son at 1504 Vinsetta Blvd., Royal Oak. He was born, educated, and lived all his life in the city.

The candidate shares a law office in Royal Oak, which he has maintained for the past 18 years.

His education history lists a bachelor of arts degree in 1938 from the University of Kentucky and a law degree from the University of Michigan.

After his graduation from the U. of M., Dondero served as court clerk for the late Oakland Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick. He terminated this work in 1941 when he was admitted to the Bar.

In 1942 Dondero was hired as city attorney for Hazel Park, a position he held for a year. Then he enlisted in the Navy and served three years. He was discharged in 1946 as a lieutenant.

Turnabout's Foul Play: Stolen Radio Stolen

THOMSON, Ga. (AP) — Sheriff Lynn Norris arrested Willie Hampton on a charge of stealing a radio from an ice house in October.

Hampton admitted the theft and took the sheriff to a vacant house where he had hidden the radio.

It was gone. Norris said Someone had stolen it from Hampton.

What Maurice A. Merritt would like most of all for his 44th birthday is the election to one of five Oakland County Circuit Court judge posts.

However, one hurdle must be cleared first. Merritt must land among the top 10 of 14 judicial candidates in the Feb. 16 primary balloting to win a spot on the April 6 general election—the same day as his 44th birthday.

Merritt's name has been on ballots before. He lost in 1948 and 1950 for Circuit Court commissioner in the county.

Soon after his discharge from the Army in 1945 as a first lieutenant, a rank he obtained after being wounded in combat in the European Theater, Merritt resumed his legal profession.

He had enlisted in 1942, just two months after he earned his law degree in June of that year from the Detroit College of Law. After his discharge he joined a law firm in Royal Oak. In 1948 Merritt became a partner in the firm.

He once acted as attorney for that city, and now represents Royal Oak Township in the Twelve-Towns storm drain court case.

Detroit-born, Merritt in 1947 successfully promoted a town hall-type annual session in Royal Oak where candidates for the City Commission present themselves to the voters.

MAURICE A. MERRITT

THEODORE F. HUGHES

From state representative to circuit judge is the course Berkley attorney Theodore F. Hughes has charted for himself.

The 50-year-old Hughes has set his sights on the Oakland County Circuit Court bench after completing four years as a member of the Michigan House of Representatives for Oakland's Fourth District, which includes 15 communities in the southwest section of the county.

Hughes did not seek re-election to the post last year. Rather, he sought the county clerk's job, pulling out of this race later when this office was combined with the register of deeds.

Now the former Berkley city attorney, Navy veteran, and county supervisor is in another race, this time a 14-man primary battle for five judgeships.

Hughes' parents moved to Berkley in 1921, where the candidate and his wife, Louise, now reside at 2087 Earlmont St.

His law degree was earned in 1936 from the Detroit College of Law. The same year Hughes was admitted to practice.

A three-year overseas stint in the Navy interrupted Hughes' service as legal advisor for Berkley.

1,974 Hours of U.N. Talk

Six Pontiac Glovers to Move Into State Championships

14-Man Squad Qualifies for Grand Rapids

Middleweight Blower Leads Open Division Contingent

By BRUNO KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Eight novice fighters and six in the open class, winners in the Pontiac regional finals, will travel to Grand Rapids next weekend for the state Golden gloves championships.

Six Pontiac boxers, headed by middleweight Dave Blower and heavyweight Joe Anderson, in the open class, will make the trip to Grand Rapids sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees.

Last Saturday night, Blower won a pair of easy matches. He took a unanimous decision from Ray Williams of Port Huron in his first bout and in the night's finale he scored a TKO over Phil Asbell of Pontiac.

Two of Pontiac's best prospects, Ragland and Dick Compton were beaten Saturday. Ragland's loss was a close decision to Price, while Compton lost a split decision to Larry Saiz.

There were two split decisions Saturday before 1,400 at Pontiac Central. Gary Armstrong of Clarkston got the split call over Jim Fischer of Port Huron in his second fight after beating Larry Glenn earlier in the evening on an easy unanimous decision.

Compton, who was awarded the Michot sportsman trophy, got the nod from one of the judges, while Saiz got the points on two ballots.

ROUGH AND TUMBLE — Golden Gloves fights usually have a little of everything besides throwing punches. Alex Trevino went to throw a right at Gerry Gemmell in Saturday night's regional finals at Pontiac Central and found himself flying over the top of Gemmell. He landed on his head as both fighters hit the deck. Referee Lou Jallos goes to the rescue of the decked glovers. The fight continued and Trevino, of Pontiac, scored a TKO in the 2nd round over Gemmell, also of Pontiac. Trevino won a berth with Pontiac team going to Grand Rapids this weekend for the state Golden Gloves championships. The local two-weekend fights at PCH were sponsored by the Pontiac junior chamber of commerce.

Wings Lose 5th in Row

Detroit Drops 3-1 Decision to Canadiens

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — The Stanley Cup playoffs are rapidly approaching and if the Detroit Red Wings don't perk up, they'll be missing from the scene for the first time in National Hockey League history.

Detroit's slump-ridden skaters tumbled into the NHL cellar over the weekend, falling one point behind the Toronto Maple Leafs and seven points back of the 4th place Boston Bruins, current holders of the final playoff spot.

The sagging Wings dropped their 5th straight decision here last night, a 3-1 loss to the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, after taking a 4-1 spanking from the Leafs on Saturday evening in Toronto.

Defenseman Red Kelly was the only Detroiter to find the scoring range yesterday on Olympia Stadium ice before 13,266 disgruntled spectators who delivered assorted boos and catcalls in the direction of the home club.

Two goals of a fluke nature in the 1st period put the Canadiens in front and they had no trouble staying there, despite the fact that the Flying Frenchmen were not playing their best brand of hockey.

Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau connected in the 1st period, Kelly clicked after 30 seconds of the 2nd stanza and Montreal's Henri Richard canceled Red's efforts late in the same session. Then the two teams skated through a listless and scoreless 3rd period.

Moore's goal was a 40-foot blast which caromed off rookie defenseman Lou Marcon's skate and skidded past goalie Terry Sawchuk. The goal by Beliveau was a low liner which Sawchuk apparently caught, but the puck popped out of his glove and trickled into the cage as Terry fell backwards.

Kelly's counter came with Montreal shorthanded and goalie Jacques Plante was completely fooled by Red's maneuver. Kelly skated around the back of the net, came out to Plante's right and slipped the puck past the startled netminder who seemed to be expecting a pass rather than a shot.

Pros Sparkle at Huron Bowl Event

Pontiac Women Elks Champs

The alleys were blazing at Elks Lodge 810 and the Huron Bowl over the past weekend with women amateurs and men pros turning in some of the outstanding showing in history here.

Women from Hillsdale really took the Elks Ladies National Invitational by storm sweeping to a pair of titles and threatening others as that tourney came to a close after four weeks.

Pontiac gained an outright 1st place in team play only as Ricky's Pizza House took the honors with a 2985 posted a week ago. Sanderson Milk Transport of Hillsdale made a game bid finishing 2nd at 2953. Seven of the other top eight places were won by local contingents. Ricky's also posted the best team game of 1082.

Gertrude Cole and Catherine Townsend produced the doubles crown for Hillsdale with 1265 dropping the Pontiac team of Amanda Zschering-Evelyn Prosser to 2nd. Handicap told the story as the local duo toppled 29 more pins. Madge Wilson and Bessie Dawe, who finished 6th, gave Pontiac the top game of 465.

Alice Havranek's early 704 was good enough to hold off a strong bid by Elaine Pibbles in singles but she lost out to the Hillsdale kegler in all-events handicap — 1880 to 1874 as handicap again meant the difference. Mrs. Pibbles had 690 in singles. Pontiac's Betzi Waisanen shared all-events actual honors with Mrs. Havranek with 1604.

A large crowd got to see bowling at its best in three sessions at Huron Saturday and Sunday. Stroh came away with a 73-pin lead going into the final round of the State Match Game Championship this weekend at Coloma, Mich.

Most of that advantage was built up Saturday in 193-pin victory — 3343 to 3150. Pfeiffer's bounced back to win out 3377 to 3369 Sunday afternoon and 3441 to 3319 at night.

Bob Kwolek of Pfeiffer's and Tony Lindemann, captain of the leaders and defending champions, stole the show as individuals.

Kwolek set an all-time record for the meet with an 815 which is reported to be the highest in play. It is also the top series of the season in the state. His 289 game and Stroh's 1235 were new match game marks established.

Lindemann compiled the highest total for nine games at 2222. He also had the best average of 246. Kwolek led his team at 231.

Famed star Eddie Lubanski failed to find the local alleys to his liking. He had the lowest average of 209 with four games below 200. Lou Sielaff had a low single of 129.

Fred Riccilli's 693 helped get Stroh off to its big start despite a 700 for Bob Hitt. Kwolek's 815 overshadowed a 776 by Lindeman and 716 for Bill Golembiewski in the 2nd block. Lindemann came back to lead the way in the final with 770 as Hitt had 718.

Bow to Lakers 115-103 on 'Family Day'

Another Loss for Pistons

DETROIT (AP)—For the 6,993 parents and youngsters who turned out to watch the Detroit Pistons play Minneapolis on "Family Day" yesterday, the first 15 minutes were enjoyable. Then the Pistons fell apart.

Detroit led the Lakers by seven points in the second quarter. But by the time the National Basketball Assn. game was over, the Pistons had taken a 115-103 licking.

The Minneapolis victory gave the Lakers undisputed second place in the NBA's Western Division. Going into the game, the Pistons and Minneapolis had been virtually tied for second place, both 16 games behind the St. Louis Hawks, but that was easily erased by Minneapolis. The Lakers led only 53-48 at the half but outscored Detroit 33-19 in the third period to lock up the game.

For the Lakers, Elgin Baylor scored 27 points, Dick Garmaker 23, and Larry Foust 20. Earl Lloyd was high point man for the Pistons with 22 points.

St. Louis moved within two victories of clinching its 3rd straight division crown by beating Philadelphia 100-93 while Boston was moving in front by 9½ games in the East with triumphs both Saturday and Sunday.

Minneapolis downed Philadelphia 109-97 Saturday and Syracuse ended the longest jinx of the season by tripping New York Sunday 113-104 in other contests.

Newly-acquired Si Green hit four straight baskets to bring the Hawks from a seven-point deficit. Tom Heinsohn paced Boston in both victories scoring 28 in a 124-116 verdict over the Knicks and 36 as the Celts slammed Cincinnati 136-117.

The Lakers, who could hand St. Louis the title by losing two more, showed no signs of making it that easy. Bob Hopkins and George Dempsey sparked Syracuse in a rally that resulted in the 1st Nat win over New York in 10 tries.

Dabbs Sets Scoring Pace With 19

Mikemen Win Finale 49-27

Paced by hot-shooting Tom Dabbs, Pontiac St. Michael cagers Saturday night closed out their Suburban Catholic Basketball League season on a victorious note. Dabbs, who hit 19 points for his best effort of the year, led all point-makers in the 49-27 win over St. Rita of Detroit. The victory gave the Shamrocks a 4-6 season's record, 1-9 for the visitors.

The Detroit club counted the first points on Johnny Dion's goal, a minute after start of the game on Pontiac Northern's big floor. Then Dabbs converted a free shot and the North Siders were off on a 12-point scoring spree before the visitors were able to hit the hoops again.

Shamrocks were out in front 21-9 at the end of the first period, accumulated seven more to make it 28-11 at halftime. When the 2nd half began Coach Jim Niebauer benched all his first-stringers, sent in his entire bench. The difference was apparent immediately, for the subs got only a single basket.

And they didn't even get that one, for Chuck Steinhelper went back for a brief stint, scored the Shamrocks' only points in the period. St. Rita matched that one, with Sam Nardico's goal, visitors' only 3rd period count.

Mikemen regulars went back in action in the finale, rolled up 19 more points to 14 for St. Rita.

Niebauer says he is seeking several additional games, before tourney time rolls around, has one for this weekend, against OLS of Farmington.

Indiana Moves Closer After Beating Michigan, 84-79

MSU Big 10 Cage Lead Cut

By The Associated Press

Indiana's hoop-happy Hoosiers return home tonight — after a sucessful two-game road trip — with a perfect opportunity to move into a first-place tie with Michigan State in the Big Ten basketball race.

Branch McCracken's sophomore hotshots just have to beat Illinois, a team which has lost five in a row, to gain a share of the lead.

Indiana's 84-79 victory at Michigan plus Michigan State's 85-81 loss at Purdue Saturday brought about this ideal situation for the Hoosiers.

MSU's loss was its second against six victories while Indiana was scoring its fifth success against two defeats.

Meanwhile, Iowa and Northwestern moved back into the title picture by climbing into a fifth-place tie with Minnesota on the strength of 4-4 records. Michigan and oncoming Purdue are tied for third with 4-3 marks.

Iowa dumped Minnesota 69-55 in Iowa City; Northwestern clobbered Illinois 88-79 in Evanston and in a game of also-rans, Ohio State clipped winless Wisconsin 79-72 in Columbus.

Michigan State grabbed 60 rebounds to 42 by Purdue but missed the brilliant play of Johnny Green who fouled out with 9:08 to play. Green had 25 points and 18 rebounds when he departed.

In Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. play, Adrian defeated Olivet 73-54; Hope stopped Alma 83-76 and Albion downed Kalamazoo 67-53.

In intersectional play, Ferris Institute dropped a 78-58 decision to Ohio Northern after leading until the last second of the first half; Detroit rolled to an 87-61 victory over Toledo; and Lawrence Tech stopped Tiffin of Ohio 65-24.

Raul Benes collected 27 points in Hope's victory over Alma. Hope led 49-30 at the intermission.

Albion, paced by Bill Losey's 28 points, gained its second MIAA victory of the season at the expense of Kalamazoo.

Detroit snapped a three game losing streak at the expense of Toledo. The Titans got off to a warm start and grew hot in the second period after leading 45-26 at halftime.

Toledo was never in contention after the first nine minutes of play as Detroit hit on 45 per cent of its floor shots in the first period and came back with a 58 per cent effort in the second half. Larry Hughes had 24 points for the Titans.

Chiefs Clash With Parkers in Top Game

Orion Visits Northern, Berkley at Dondero in Other Leading Tilts

Highland Park, the state's 7th ranked Class A high school basketball team, invades the Pontiac Central gymnasium Tuesday night to headline a highly attractive prep schedule in the Oakland County area.

The Parkers, ably coached by veteran Jim Wink, will put their 8-2 record on the line against the 9-1 mark of PCH in tomorrow evening's No. 1 area contest.

Other feature games pit Pontiac Northern against Lake Orion in a rematch at Northern, undefeated Berkley at Royal Oak Dondero, a return engagement between West Bloomfield and Walled Lake on the latter's floor, Avondale at Rochester and Clarkston at Ortonville.

A game with great bearing on the Saginaw Valley Conference title hopes of Pontiac Central takes place in the huge Flint IMA auditorium where city rivals Central and Northern collide for the 2nd time this season.

Northern, deadlocked with PCH for the Saginaw Valley lead on a 6-1 record, beat the Indians in their 1st encounter. Central, in 2nd place at 5-2, still holds SVC title hopes and could give Pontiac a boost by toppling the Vikings.

Highland Park always has been troublesome for the Chiefs. No matter how strong a team, coach Art Van Ryzin puts on the court, the Parkers rise to the occasion and come out one step ahead.

The Chiefs, rated Michigan's No. 1 Class A quintet prior to last Friday's 53-52 overtime loss at Flint Central, will try to rebound from that heartbreaking setback by conquering their old nemesis.

Pontiac Northern should be ready to give Orion a hard time. The Huskies bowed to Orion in their 1st meeting on the Dragon hardwoods, but coach Dick Hall's cagers have improved since then. Northern will be seeking its 3rd win.

The Berkley-Dondero battle could be one of the better area scraps this year. Dondero, playing at home and with 6-foot-5 John Meadows hanging around the boards, might spell the end of Berkley's perfect 11-0 record.

Another rematch is the Avondale-Rochester struggle. The Falcons, unbeaten until they ran into Romeo last Friday, handed Avon a bad licking in the Avon gym and they'll be favored to smother the Jackets again on their own floor.

Walled Lake dropped an overtime decision to the Lakers at Keego earlier this season, but the Vikings will be favored to gain revenge in the 2nd duel. Clarkston walloped Ortonville in their 1st tussle and should repeat in tomorrow's return contest.

Other games of area interest Tuesday are Cranbrook at Grosse Pointe University School, Warren at Utica, Birmingham at East Detroit, Marlette at Imlay City and Lapeer at Owosso.

IF YOU WERE THE UMPIRE

By BEN OLAN

There are several pitchers in the big leagues whose control is often erratic. When one of them is working anything can happen.

Here's a simulated case involving an erratic pitch. See if you can come up with the correct answer.

Del Crandall of Milwaukee is the batter in the last of the second inning against St. Louis. Vinegar Bend Mizell is on the mound for the Cards. Mizell's first pitch hits the ground 15 feet in front of the plate. Crandall, however, hits the ball on the first bounce and drives it safely into left field. He stops at first base.

Do you think that:

a. Crandall is automatically out?

b. He can remain on first base?

c. The pitch is a ball?

d. The pitch is an automatic strike?

Answer: B — Crandall can remain on first base. If a batter hits a pitch that first strikes the ground, it shall be the same as if he hit the ball in flight.

Jones Double Winner

Foreigners Rule Relays

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Foreign students took the majority of the first places in the Michigan State relays Saturday but a stocky sprinter from Brooklyn boosted American pride when he erased a record set 12 years ago by Illinois great Herb McKinley.

Mel Barnwell, 20-year-old junior from the University of Pittsburgh, outshone the big eight conference and a host of foreign track stars. He blazed through the 300-yard dash in 30 seconds flat to beat a faltering Glenn Davis, Ohio State's olympic ace.

Other than that, the annual meet belonged to four schools—Michigan, Eastern Michigan, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The two Michigan schools came up with three victories apiece and Eastern's Hayes Jones was the meet's only double winner. The brilliant Pontiac hurdler took both the 75-yard high in :09.1 and low hurdles in :08.5.

Three foreign students accounted for three of the other four wins racked up by the Michigan teams. Mauri Jormakka, of Finland captured the mile run for EMC and Michian's Eeles Landstrom, also of Finland, pole vaulted 14-feet, 8-inches for a Jenison fieldhouse and meet record. Landstrom is the European pole vault champion.

Tom Robinson, British Empire games 220-yard dash champion from Nassau, won the 75-yard dash and the Wolverines' other decision came from its shuttle hurdle relay team.

Detroit Skater Takes Crown

WEST ALLIS, Wis. (UPI) — Detroit's Jeanne Amelenchuk of the U.S. Olympic team, turned in a perfect performance yesterday to win the senior women's division of the North American speed skating championships here.

She accumulated 25 points by winning the 220-yard, half mile and one mile races yesterday and the ¾ mile and 440-yard events Saturday.

The senior men's competition ended in a tie between Gene Sandvig, Minneapolis, and Keith Meyer, Glen Ellyn, Ill., both members of the Olympic squad. Each had 12 points.

The Minneapolis skating club amassed 63 points to win the team title. Detroit was seventh with 28.

Tallest Cager Goes Back to Homeland

SPOKANE (AP) — Jean Claude Lefebvre, the nation's tallest college basketball player at 7-feet-3, withdrew from Gonzaga University today and said he is going back to France the victim of promotion, emotion and a bum knee.

"People expected too much," he said, "and when things did not always go well I lost my confidence. Basketball is my life, but I cannot progress here now as I must."

He said he will fly to Paris Tuesday and rejoin his first coach, Robert Bushnell, to start practicing with the French National team for the European championships in May. He has already been picked for the 1960 French Olympic team.

Sangaree's The Desiree white miniature poodle, went best-in-show after winning the non-sporting group. The dog, 17-months-old, is owned by Mrs. Josephine Balcerzak of Farmington and Mrs. Susan Jantush of Whitmore Lake.

Ryney in Auto Accident

Giants' Manager Injured

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) —The San Francisco Giants open spring training preliminaries this week without Manager Bill Rigney, painfully injured in an auto crash yesterday.

Rigney suffered multiple fractures of the lower jaw and a broken collarbone when his car rammed a power pole in nearby Berkeley. His wife, Paula, suffered a broken hip and lacerations of the scalp and legs.

The Rigneys, parents of three children, were en route home from a dinner party at Giant Vice President Chub Feeney's San Mateo home, when the accident happened at 4:30 a.m.

Both Rigney, 41, and his wife, 38, were reported in good condition at Kaiser Hospital here. The family physician said the Giant field boss would be hospitalized about a week, and would have to remain home another 10 days. Mrs. Rigney will be hospitalized considerably longer.

In Phoenix, Ariz., Giant President Horace Stoneham said he would let Rigney decide who will be in nominal charge. Stoneham indicated, however, it would either be F. J. (Salty) Parker or Wes Westrum, both coaches.

"That part isn't too important," Stoneham said. "The preliminary practice is just routine and Rig should be with us when the serious work starts." Both Parker and Westrum were Rigney aides last season when the Giants finished in third place.

Pittsburgh Teams Victors Over Cranes

Pittsburgh's Shadyside school took a double win Saturday from Cranbrook's cage and mat squads, both in Interstate League action.

Cranes' Tom Bary had 16 points, John Hayden 15 and Jim Williams 11. Loss leaves Cranbrook with a 5-3 all game, 0-1 league record.

Cranes dropped the mat decision 25-17, took one pin, four decisions. Steve Reynolds pinned Al Pfeltz (S) at 1:10 of the 3rd. Ted Seyfarth (136), Roland Kaplan (141), Scott Romney (157) and MacBride (168) won by decisions. Loss was 3rd straight for Cranbrook.

CHAPTER XLVIII

"I don't want to."

"In that case, you can choose one of the outlying houses we place at the disposal of couriers who fall ill. There's a small house with a small staff up near Fatima. There's another near Setubal. For mental cases, there's a splendid one you'd like; it's—"

"Ah. Right away from what?"

"From people. Give me the address of a place I can stay in that's right away from everything and everybody, and I'll stay there until it's time to go home. I don't want a staff."

"There's a beach hut over on the other side of the river, but—"

"But what?"

"You could hole up there and spend your time going in and out of the sea, but you'd have to walk into the village and get your food and your mail."

Angus walked into the bathroom and turned on the taps.

"That's the one," he said.

"But what about people being able to get at you if they want to?"

"They won't want to." Angus was stripping off his clothes. "If anybody wants to see me . . . particularly . . . they can drop me a line and I'll take the next bus back to Lisbon."

There was a pause. Angus soaped vigorously, and Wax poured out his coffee and carried it to the bathroom.

"I don't want to tear aside any veils," he said, "but rumor's rumor and there's an awful lot of it around. If you don't want to talk about it, of course I'll respect your wish, but I'll be terribly disappointed. Wasn't there a girl called Angela?"

WHOLE THING A DREAM

Angus enveloped himself in a large bath sheet and looked directly at his friend.

"The whole thing," he said, "was a nice dream and all I want is a bit of time in which to . . . to wake up."

Wax said nothing. They ate breakfast in silence, and then he spoke slowly.

"One thing you ought to know," he said, "is that Lord Lorrimer is going back to England."

"And that," said Angus, "was sticking out a mile all the way from Guarda to Lisbon. His first mistake was in falling in love with the Spring. His second—a bad one—was not to reply at once by telegram to the suggestion that reached him the day before he left London. It was a dead wicket and he knew it—but I suppose you can't tell that to a beautiful woman who's decided she wants you after all. His wife will forgive him—she's the forgiving kind; she's also the kind that won't be any the worse for a shaking up. They'll both be on an Empress soon—I'll bet on it, if you like—having a second honeymoon."

Wax Sealing said to Angus, "I want to know about Angela. You must tell me."

"She's laid a girlhood ghost. And now if you'll give me the address of this beach hut, I'll get myself out to it."

"And—"

"—and if anybody wants me, send me word and I'll come."

He spent two weeks in the hut, alone, almost at peace. The sea was cold, but the sand was warm. He bathed, lay on the beach and bathed again. He fetched food and wine from the cluster of tiny houses half a mile from the hut. He saw groups of small, dark, curious children.

He heard the sound of cars on the road above, but nothing led to his beach but a steep, broken path, and he remained undisturbed. Each day he walked up the path and met the bus that brought the letters. Sometimes there was some mail for him, but there was never the letter he looked for. There was no word, no message. It was over.

He went back to Lisbon as he had come, carrying his suitcase up the path and climbing aboard the bus for the journey to the ferry at Cacilhas.

Across the river was Lisbon, and soon he was walking back to the hotel to await instructions from Wax.

There were letters on his table. He picked them up and looked swiftly through the envelopes. Nothing. A small, stubborn hope that had persisted in spite of all his efforts, died.

Wax was not long in appearing. "Tomorrow, ten-thirty," he said. "How d'you feel?"

"I feel fine. How's Ferdy?"

"Ferdy's fine too. But one or two people wanted to see you. As they weren't the person I thought you'd particularly want to see, I told them that you were incommunicado."

"If you used that word, you're the one who ought to go to the place they keep for mental breakdowns."

"No."

"Well, that doesn't surprise me. If he's going home on an Empress, it had better be under strong escort."

"It is. He's traveling with the Admiral. He calls him sir. If you're interested, the Zollers are in Lisbon too, looking very pleased with themselves. They were photographed arm in arm with Rosamond Blake just before she went off to South America."

"Did you see anything of Miss Seton?"

More Jobs Open in '59 for Skilled People

Prejudice Against Older Workers Lessens

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Men and women over 45 . . . or 55 . . . or 60 . . . take heart. Jobs for "over 45s" are going to be easier to come by in 1959, and even easier in the early 1960s.

A determined man of 60 in reasonable health next year will have about the same chance of eventually getting a job as will a 35- or 40-year-old. But it may take him twice as long to land a position. And he likely will have to put considerably more effort and finesse into the task.

These are the joint opinions of specialists assigned to the "over 45" problem at the U. S. Department of Labor.

In the last 12 months, the U. S. Employment Service has been doing well in placing men and women 45 and over. That success held up even in the middle of the recession. The Service recently has been placing—within eight weeks—about half the men and women over 45 who apply for work.

Why the growing availability of jobs for middle-aged and older men and women?

For one thing, there's an increasing shortage of 25- to 44-year-olds. In the 10 years from 1955 to 1965, the number of 25- to 44-year-olds will slide by 600,000.

In the same 10 years, the total number of employed is expected to rise by 14 million. That's about 13½ million jobs that must be filled by the under 25s and men and women 45 and older.

FACE SCARCITY

Then, too, industry, education and business—growing more technical—face a growing scarcity of technically trained and experienced men. They will be less and less able to afford to bypass skilled workers, regardless of age.

Labor Department experts give these examples:

1. One Western college now takes only "retired" professors aged 60 and over. It's making a reputation with an all-star group that's the envy of many another campus.

2. A Texas sales firm now refuses to employ anyone under 45. It has found "more mature" men make the best salesmen.

3. A manufacturing concern has set up a branch plant in Florida to attract retired brains back into business. The oldsters insisted on living in Florida, only wanted to work a few hours a day. So the company set up the new plant, agreed to the short work week.

GOVERNMENT SURVEYS SHOW — In some jobs older men and women are more reliable, more considered in their judgments, and more accurate in detail work than younger persons.

4. A Philadelphia employment agency specializes in furnishing short-term consultants, aged 45 and over. A company, needing a tax consultant, say for a few weeks or a month, takes on one of these skilled older workers. The agency, deluged with orders, is expanding rapidly through the East.

Meanwhile, 1,800 U. S. Employment Service offices through the U. S. are in the midst of a big fight against employer prejudice against older workers.

Says one Labor Department official:

"A man will send in a request for 10 clerks. He'll require they be under 40. When that happens we get on the phone, or send someone around, find out why they must be under 40.

"We'll often find it's just an idea in the employer's mind, and that his interest in other qualifications is greater than his interest in age. But it's slow work."

Job surveys are helping the Department of Labor and the Employment Service in this drive. They show that in some work older men and women are considerably better than youngsters. Says one counselor:

"They're more reliable, more considered in their judgments. They're more accurate in detailed work. They don't shift jobs so often.

"Even in factories, work output doesn't go down rapidly until the 70s. We're finding that many older workers produce more than many younger workers. So we're telling the employers to judge a man for himself, not by his age."

These counselors see signs that employers are beginning to do just that.

Agreement Near on Cyprus Draft

Greece and Turkey See Constitution Accord as Due Soon

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Greece and Turkey were reported near agreement today on a draft constitution for an independent Cyprus, with the Turkish minority to have a veto over matters of foreign relations, defense and internal security.

The tentative charter would give the North Atlantic Treaty Organization control of military bases on the British crown colony island in the eastern Mediterranean. But it has not yet been agreed whether Greek or Turkish troops will replace those parts of the British garrisons to be withdrawn.

The question of the garrisons may be left for further discussions when Prime Ministers Constantine Karamanlis of Greece and Adnan Menderes of Turkey meet later with British Prime Minister Macmillan.

As far as constitutional arrangements are concerned, Britain reportedly has informed Greece and Turkey it will accept any solution they agree on. The conferees are keeping London closely informed of the progress.

Cyprus has been wracked by strife—and NATO defenses in the eastern Mediterranean threatened — since November 1955 when Greek Cypriots stepped up a guerrilla-terrorist campaign to join Cyprus with Greece.

The Turkish-speaking islanders prefer British rule but demanded partition of Cyprus if the British got out. Both sides apparently have shifted their positions in favor of an independent Cyprus.

Armageddon, the ancient road junction where the Bible says a great battle will be fought as the world comes to an end, is in northern Israel near the Jordanian border and is now known as Megiddo.

Cows, Hens, Muscle Men Step Up Yield With Music

NEW YORK (UPI)—The beat of piped-in music has production humming in 20,000 plants and offices across the nation.

But workers aren't the only ones being swayed by the melodious rhythms.

In the Springfield, Mass., Animal Hospital, dogs and cats took to fighting when the hospital's music-making apparatus went on the blink.

Soon after music drifted into the roosts of a Dayton, Ohio, chicken farm, egg-laying went up 14 per cent.

And on a poultry farm in Tariffville, Conn., Rock Cornish hens have been putting on more weight despite a reduction in rations — since lilting tunes have invaded the hen house.

But with human chicks, music, apparently, has just the opposite effect. It is used by two nationwide chains of reducing salons.

MUSIC HAS POWER

To prove that music has an effect on the senses, medical science has run some strange experiments.

Dr. Charles M. Diserins, of the University of Cincinnati, tested 10 men for strength of grip. Six of them were stronger when music was played.

Another experimenter played the "National Emblem March" and measured physiological response to the beat. Just about every body function was stimulated, including the cardiovascular system, muscular activity, working power, digestion and secretions.

In a six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden, riders who pedalled to music averaged 19.6 miles per hour; those without, 17.9 miles per hour.

Scientists first analyzed the power of music in industry in 1938, charting the effect of melody on girls in a chocolate factory. Output improved from 6.2 to 10.2 per cent when music was played.

From coast to coast, it is estimater that 50 million persons work or play each day to piped-in music.

Believes Island in Persian Gulf Is Garden of Eden

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (AP)—A British archeologist believes Bahrein may have been the legendary Garden of Eden.

Dr. Geoffrey Bibby told a news conference it was "overwhelmingly likely" the Persian gulf island was once the city of Dilmun mentioned in an ancient epic as the original abode of Adam and Eve.

He cited the Gilgamesh epic, which refers to Eden as a desert spot made fertile through a God-given spring. Bibby said a Danish archeologist had confirmed that Bahrein became fertile several thousand years ago following a period as a desert.

Prospect of Extended Trip Forces 'Coop' to Pull Out

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—The only reason Gary Cooper asked out of "The Sundowners" is that he does not want to spend months in Australia where the entire picture will be filmed.

"I've been out of the country too much and I don't want any more long location trips," said Gary.

There was absolutely no trouble between producer-director Fred Zinnemann and Gary, and the parting was amicable. Fred directed Cooper in his Academy winning "High Noon," and Fred says they'll make another picture together.

I asked Fred if Deborah Kerr is still in "Sundowners" and he said she is. He's looking for a top star to replace Gary. I hear through the grapevine he has been talking to Robert Mitchum.

The most elaborate party of the season was given by Mr. and Mrs. Dimitri Tiomkin in honor of the Societe Francaise des Auteres, Compositeurs et Editeurs (The French equivalent of ASCAP) at the Beverly Hilton.

It started with cocktails at Trader Vic's and ended in the Grand Ballroom. Not since Mike Todd gave his "Around the World in 80 Days" premiere has there been such an affair.

There were five buffets from which to choose dinner—French, English, American, Italian and Spanish.

You couldn't begin to mention the more than 300 guests who were congratulating Dimitri. I spoke to David Rose, Johnny Green, Paul Francis Webster, Sammy Fain, Leo Robbins, Harold Adamson, Jimmy McHugh and Ned Washington in the songwriting group.

Mt. Sinai Hospital was so overcrowded that Debbie Reynolds spent her first night in the solarium and didn't get a room until Friday afternoon.

She insists that she's going back to work tomorrow and Dr. Lee Siegel says he has every hope that the blood clot in her knee will be dissolved.

"I just haven't time to be sick," Debbie said. "I have to be out of Hollywood Feb. 28 and heading for Spain for my MGM picture with Glenn Ford, 'It Started With a Kiss'."

Debbie filmed her part in the benefit to be given for the late Manny Sachs' Leukemia Foundation as she won't be here March 3 when the show goes on.

Eddie Fisher telephoned Debbie Reynolds to beg her not to return to work tomorrow. He says she has just rehearsed the dances and has all the strenuous work ahead. The same knee, he said, gave out when she danced on his TV show.

Although Jon Hall and Raquel Torres denied matrimonial plans a few months ago, it now looks as if they may change their minds.

A dancing duo at the Dimitri Tiomkins' party was Hedy Lamarr and Hunt Stromberg Jr. Considering the trouble Hedy has had, she looked extremely well.

Study Cockpit for Crash Clues

Instrument Panel May Reveal Cause of East River Mishap

NEW YORK (AP) — The instrument panel of the American Airlines plane which crashed into the East River came under close scrutiny again today by investigators seeking some definite clue to the cause of the crash.

The nose section and cockpit of the plane were recovered Saturday night a Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman said the whole cockpit was in excellent shape. He said a clock on the panel was still running when it was pulled from the water.

The plane plunged into the water Tuesday night with the loss of 65 lives as it approached La Guardia Field. There were only eight survivors.

The retrieved cockpit yielded the body of the veteran pilot, Capt. Alfred De Witt, 59, of Decatur, Mich.

Three more bodies were recovered Sunday. They were identified as Dr. Robert Emerson, 55, of Urbana, Ill., research professor of botany at the University of Illinois; Benjamin Weinstein, of Great Neck, N.Y., president of the Judd Valve Co., of Long Island City, Queens, and Robert David Willemin, 33, of La Grange, Ill., a department manager for the brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith.

The bodies of 32 victims are still missing.

Scientist Poisoned in British Rocket Lab

Police said they did not suspect foul play but would not give details.

The scientist was Dr. James Darbyshire, 52, chief physicist of a research department at the Ferranti electronics plant. He died in the middle of a series of experiments.

Power Line Kills 3 Florida Students

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A charge from a 7,200-volt power line killed three University of Florida students attempting to erect a television aerial Sunday.

The dead were Robert L. Melrose, 25, of Orlando; his wife, Jamie Ruth, 21; and John B. Robertson, 25, of Gainesville. Robertson's wife, Gloria, was shocked and burned. Her condition was reported critical at a hospital.

Officers reported the aerial toppled over, striking the power line. Witnesses said the women were holding guy wires while the men were raising the antenna on a roof.

Skunks Are Not 'as Advertised' —Charge Seller

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Jess Reed, 38, Stockton, Calif., will be sentenced in Municipal Court Tuesday for petty theft in the case of four allegedly deodorized skunks who weren't.

Reed pleaded guilty last Friday to the charge, which was the way the district attorney assessed the seriousness of his sale of four unimpaired skunks to pet dealers after representing them as incapable of doing what skunks are famous for.

The dealers learned the truth the hard way.

Berlin's Mayor Confident Man

Western Area's Brandt Meets in Washington With State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt, determined his city will never become part of Soviet-ruled territory meets today with State Department officials.

The visiting mayor also is scheduled to lunch with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Brandt, who arrived Saturday for a round of official talks, spoke Sunday to a meeting of the local chapter of the Socialist party-Social Democratic federation — a Democratic party in Berlin.

Speaking of the East-West crisis over Berlin, he said the divided city "is a symptom and not the reason of this crisis."

Brandt said, "We in Berlin have to face more difficulties, with a very limited possibility to influence events." He urged Western unity in dealing with the Soviets and said no durable solution can be based on capitulation.

The mayor declined to comment on what the West should do if the Soviet Union carries out its threat to cut off West Berlin from Western Germany this May and make it a "free city."

He said what the Soviets call a "free city" is "not only a city free from Americans, free from contact with the West, but a city free from freedom."

Grade School Science Plan Impresses

Texas School Full of New Methods

(The San Angelo School system, from its three rail gradations to its lavish physical plant, is attracting nationwide attention in the education field. Here's how its farsighted administrators have brought about its exceptional achievement.)

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Word is getting around in the trade that this west Texas city has come up with something radically different in public school programs.

Even the most violent critics of American education are impressed by the curriculum. School folks come to take a look at the physical layout, and walk away talking to themselves in envy.

And as the word spreads, the mail pours in: "How did you do it?"

The school authorities here do it by letting their imaginations run wild, then taking infinite pains with the details. They keep the best of the old, and try the most promising of the new. And all the time they work toward just one goal: The best possible education for every child, regardless of his capabilities.

In the fall of 1955 Robert H. Mayfield, curriculum project director, set about to find a new approach to make a grade school science program effective.

It was first decided to cover six major areas of science in each of the first six grades. These are nature (biology, zoology), the universe (astronomy, space, meteorology), the earth (geology), simple machines (levers, inclined planes, wheels and pulleys), electricity and magnetism (door bells and compasses) and heat, light and sound.

Few grade school teachers could handle such a program. It was necessary to teach the teachers how to teach science.

The program was ready to go in the fall of 1957. This is the way it works:

At least once each week a mobile unit is wheeled into every grade-school classroom in San Angelo. The teacher, from her handbook, has decided what experiment she can conduct to illustrate best the day's lesson.

A complete set of six units, covering all six of the major areas of studies, is assigned to a group of six buildings. Each six weeks the units are interchanged within the buildings. Thus while the students in one school are studying simple machines, those in another school are studying electricity and magnetism.

Mayfield estimates each unit has an original cost of $600 and the annual cost of maintenance and improvement is about $125. Since one unit serves six buildings during a year, that $600 provides each school with about $3,600 worth of equipment.

"An education is a heritage to be passed on, and in many cases, just as in material things, that heritage is wasted. What we want to do is make that heritage grow, from year to year and from generation to generation."

Bill Would Curb Auto Producers

Celler Measure Seeks to Keep Car Makers Out of Financing Field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-NY) of the House antitrust subcommittee says he is introducing a bill to divorce auto financing from auto manufacturing.

Similar legislation, which would affect General Motors and General Motors Acceptance Corp., already has been introduced in the Senate.

"In the automobile industry, concentration of economic power has proceeded to the point where separation of the financing and insurance business from automobile manufacture is essential . . ." Celler said in a statement yesterday.

"The record of enforcement of the antitrust laws in the automobile industry demonstrates they have not been adequate to cope with the misuse of monopoly power."

Celler said General Motors has never left the financing field, Ford Motor Co. has announced intention of re-entering it and "there are indications that Chrysler also is contemplating reentry."

Family Gone; Town Puzzled

Disappearance of the building contractor, his wife and five children has the 600 residents of Silver Lake worried. Mayor Joe W. Gehlen said no one here knows what's happened to the Zrusts.

The Zrusts left without locking their home. Only the car and some heavy clothing were missing. The rest of the clothes and all household furnishings remained. Utilities were not shut off.

The disappearance was first discovered by a milkman who made a delivery to the Zrust home Dec. 30, then found on his next trip that the milk was still outside.

Zrust's widowed mother, Christine Zrust, said she had no idea where the family could have gone. Neither did the George Stachowiaks, parents of Zrust's wife, Caroline. Sisters and brothers who saw the couple Dec. 29 could shed no information.

The family had a winter fishing house on Lake Mille Lacs. Investigation showed, though, that no one had been to the shack.

Mayor Gehlen said it was learned Zrust had been to the court house in nearby Glencoe a day or so before the family disappeared. He obtained copies of birth certificates for the entire family, but gave no indication of his plans or why he wanted the documents.

BERLIN, N. H. (AP) — From now on Feb. 8 will have triple significance to Mrs. Ralph Guptil.

Her son weighed 8 pounds, 8 ounces.

Wheat Futures Trading Brisk

CHICAGO (AP)—A good volume of export business attracted a demand for wheat futures today, and prices moved moderately ahead in early dealings on the Board of Trade. Other grains and soybeans were mostly narrowly mixed.

Yugoslavia, Pakistan and India were in the wheat market over the weekend. Yugoslavia, almost a daily buyer recently, took another 350,000 bushels; Pakistan 1,262,000 bushels; and India an undisclosed amount which was believed to be large.

At the same time, the Department of Agriculture accepted subsidy bids of 3 cents a bushel on 1,183,985 bushels of corn for export and bids of 11 to 13 cents on 403,000 bushels of oats.

Reports of freezing rain over much of the winter wheat area and forecasts of more to come were described as only very slightly bullish.

Wheat was ⅛ to ⅜ cent a bushel higher near the end of the first hour, March $1.99⅛; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, March new type contract $1.14; oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, March 66⅜; rye ⅛ to ¼ lower, March $1.36⅜; soybeans ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, March $2.19¾.

Grandelius to Coach Colorado Grid Team

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Everett (Sonny) Grandelius, 29, was appointed football coach at University of Colorado today. He succeeds Dallas Ward, who was fired by the board of regents last month after 11 seasons here.

Grandelius has been backfield coach at Michigan State where he was a star player. He came here Saturday to meet with Colorado officials.

No salary was announced. Ward was paid $11,800 annually plus $1,000 per year for expenses.

There was no immediate announcement about Grandelius' plans for his assistants at Colorado, a member of the Big Eight conference.

Grandelius starred on Spartans teams in the late 1940s and in 1950 set the all-time rushing record for the school with a net of 1,023 yards gained.

He joined the MSU coaching staff in 1954 and has been offensive backfield coach under head coach Duffy Daugherty. He was a one-time AP all-state high schooler for Muskegon Heights.

New York Due to Get First Hotel in 28 Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — William Zeckendorf, chairman of Zeckendorf Hotels Corp., has announced plans to construct the first major new hotel to go up in New York city in 28 years.

Zeckendorf said the 48-story structure would cost 66 million dollars and would contain 2,000 rooms. It will be erected just north of Rockefeller Center on the Avenue of Americas and is expected to be completed in 1961.

Blue Chips Off; Market Down

It was the fourth day of lower prices. In recent months the market has never stretched a losing streak to more than three sessions but has rallied on the fourth day.

American Telephone dropped more than 2. Du Pont took a similar loss. Westinghouse Electric lost more than a point.

Many other declines of leading issues were fractional. Quite a few were unchanged. There were scattered gainers.

The news background included reports that steel production is moving close to a record weekly total. A federal reserve board study, however, showed that employment gains in the current business recovery have fallen behind the upturns in earlier post-war recessions.

Youngstown Sheet also dropped more than 2 points. Gulf Oil declined around 2. Losses of more than a point were taken by Union Carbide and Kennecott.

After an active opening, turnover slackened. As prices backed away further there was an increase in the trading pace.

Martin Co., U. S. Gypsum, American Can, Boeing and American Airlines made moderate gains.

Pushbutton Farming Looms for Future

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The farmer of tomorrow may sit on his porch and direct operation of his motorized farm equipment by electronics.

Richard E. Griffin, the University of California farm adviser for Los Angeles County, said a tractor equipped with electronic devices for starting and stopping the engine as well as for performing other tractor operations has been demonstrated successfully.

He said engineers foresee the day when one man can operate several tractors and other equipment at the same time by radio controls.

GMC Develops Transmission

"New Coach" Part to Give Better Mileage, Longer Life

GMC Truck and Coach Division has developed a new transmission for inter-city coaches that gives better fuel mileage, improves acceleration and lengthens engine life, it was announced today by Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manger of the division.

The transmission, named "Hydrashift" provides overdrive in all four forward speeds to give operators a much more effective performance both in city traffic and cross-country, Monaghan said.

"The new development is another important step in GMC's forward engineering program on both GMC coaches and GMC trucks," the GMC executive said.

"Hydrashift will do for the inter-city bus operators what the fully automatic torque converter transmission did for city service buses when it was introduced 20 years ago."

Hydrashift consists basically of an arrangement which provides both direct drive and overdrive in each ordinary transmission gear. Shifting between direct and overdrive is accomplished under full power without declutching simply by moving a button on the shift lever.

The increased number of speeds provides faster acceleration and better gradeability than with standard transmissions. Low engine revolutions at cruising speed materially improve fuel mileage, along with the smoother transmission of power and contribute to longer engine life.

Yost Jr. Gets Post at Dow Chemical Co.

MIDLAND, Mich. (UPI)—Fielding H. Yost Jr., has been named assistant director of corporate relations of Dow Chemical Co.

Yost is the son of the late Fielding H. Yost who was football coach and athletic director at the University of Michigan for many years. Shortly after the turn of the century, Yost's teams won nationwide acclaim as "point-a-minute" squads.

Yost's son had been manager of Dow's Cleveland sales office. He now will be located at the company's headquarters in Midland.

Youngster Flies to Happy Reunion With Mother

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A curly haired youngster who hiked through South American jungles in search of his mother flies to New Orleans today and a happy reunion with her.

Carlos Telmco Vince Jr., 14, ran away from his home in Bogota, Colombia, last July because he did not believe his father's story that his mother had died years ago.

He came to Los Angeles, his birthplace, looking for clues. A news story carried on The Associated Press wires was read by his mother, Margie Hill, now working as a waitress in Crystal Springs, Miss. They talked to each other on the telephone Saturday.

Mrs. Hill has not sen her son in eight years. She and the boy's father, a Colombian airlines pilot, were divorced.

Threatened Couple Now Honeymooning

PASADENA, Calif., (AP) — Honeymooning today were a blonde divorcee and a wealthy industrialist who had obtained a court order barring his mother from the wedding.

Mrs. Tessie Purmort was not among the 30 guests who watched her son, Louis, and Mrs. Barbara Jean Thorndike exchange vows in a quiet religious ceremony Saturday night.

Purmort, 34, obtained a court order last week barring his mother from the ceremony. Purmort said his mother threatened to kill him if he married the attractive 26-year-old mother of two.

Nicaragua President Won't Quit His Post

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—President Luis Somoza, who has been termed a dictator by his enemies, says nobody is going to make him a political exile.

"I am no Batista who can be forced to leave the country in a plane," he said in a speech at a meeting of the Liberal Party at Granada yesterday.

He referred to Dictator Fulgencio Batista's flight from Cuba Jan. 1 when Fidel Castro's rebel forces toppled the government.

"I am going to die in my post right here, and here my body will remain," President Somoza said.

It was his retort to demands by the anti-Somoza wing of the party and the Conservative Party that he and his brother, Anastasio, get out. Anastasio is Nicaragua's top military chief.

How About This for Dependable Mail Delivery?

LINCOLNTON, N. C. (AP)—Before you knock the U. S. postal system, consider:

A young lady near here received a letter last week addressed to: "Miss Joyce Hoyle, Rt. 2, North Carolina." That's all. No city, no county, just "Rt. 2, North Carolina."

What's more, the letter had been mailed only two days before delivery from the USS Hartley somewhere in the Atlantic.

Even postal authorities were puzzled.

"I've been scratching my head about it ever since . . . it's rather marvelous," said V. C. Fair, Lincolnton postmaster. Fair said the letter entered the United States through the Port of New York.

A possible explanation came from Charlotte postal services representative Bill Hamilton. "It was logical that the letter would come to the largest airport in North Carolina (Charlotte)," Hamilton said. "Somebody here probably knew the girl." Lincolnton is about 35 miles northwest of Charlotte.

Opinions Differ on Railroad Bill

Labor Spokesman for, Management Opposes 10 Pct. Benefits Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for management and labor differed today over the wisdom of legislation to increase retirement benefits for railroad employes by 10 per cent.

Horace W. Harper, labor member of the Railroad Retirement Board, called the bill overdue and the increases "very modest indeed."

Thomas M. Healy, management member, opposed the bill in its entirety, calling it "ill-timed and ill-advised" for an industry struggling to recapture its losses and keep as many employes as possible.

Chairman Howard W. Habermeyer, representing the public, took the position that "increases proposed would be desirable to our beneficiaries and I am happy that the additional taxes proposed would put the system on a sound actuarial basis. The only question remaining is whether the industry can afford the additional taxes for, after all, a healthy railroad retirement system is dependent on a healthy railroad industry."

All three testified before a Senate Labor subcommittee opening hearings on the measure. It is similar to one the Senate passed in the closing days of the last Congress, but which died in the House.

The bill would increase tax rates on employers and employes from the present 6¼ per cent up to $350 a month to 6¾ per cent up to $400 a month for the years 1959, 1960 and 1961, and to 7¼ per cent beginning in 1962.

It also would raise the maximum tax rate under the railroad unemployment insurance act from 3 per cent to 3½.

Right Relatives Claim Body

Funeral Arranged for Airline Crash Victim Sent to Wrong Family

CHICAGO (AP) — Relatives of Mrs. Dolores Hunt, 23, who was killed in last Tuesday's American Airlines plane crash in New York City, today arranged for her funeral after they claimed the body. It had been mistakenly identified and sent here for burial.

The woman was originally identified last Wednesday in New York as Elizabeth Ann Kalnicky, 26, of Chicago. The error in identification was discovered Saturday night when Mrs. Kalnicky's mother, Mrs. Leo Kalnicky, fainted at seeing the wrong body in her daughter's coffin.

Both Mrs. Hunt, who also lived in Chicago, and Mrs. Kalnicky were among the 65 persons killed in the plane crash. There were 8 survivors.

Mrs. Hunt's mother, Mrs. Alice Kozilek, and other relatives Sunday identified the dead woman as Mrs. Hunt. John Zidek, funeral director, said he had received confirmation that a finger print check also confirmed that the body was Mrs. Hunt's.

The FBI had obtained Mrs. Hunt's fingerprints when she gave birth to a son last year at Westover Air Force Base, Mass. Her husband, John, 25, and the boy, Michael, 11 months, also were killed in the crash.

Accompanying Mrs. Kozilek to Chicago were Mrs. Hunt's sister and the sister's husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schofield, and her brother-in-law, Brian Hunt. A special plane was to return Mrs. Hunt's body and her relatives to New York after arrival of a new burial permit from the New York City Health Department.

Police in New York said the body originally had been identified as that of Miss Kalnicky by James Hurley of Manhattan, who said he knew Miss Kalnicky and two other passengers. The body was sent to Chicago on the basis of his identification.

An American Airlines spokesman said all bodies in the New York morgue had been identified and Miss Kalnicky was not one of them. He said bodies of 33 of the 65 who perished in the crash have been recovered.

St. Augustine, Fla., the oldest permanent settlement in the United States, celebrates its 400th anniversary in 1965.

Congress to Get Ike's Plan to Aid School Building

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower sends Congress today his plan to give the nation more classrooms, probably by spending federal money to help needy school districts and colleges pay off their construction bonds.

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, will unveil the program at a news conference shortly before it is submitted to the House and Senate.

Flemming said in advance there was "no question" that schools needed federal aid. He said the President's plan would provide that help. But he gave no details.

Self-Employed Get Tax Aid OK

House Committee on Ways and Means Grants Approval to Savings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee today overwhelmingly approved a special tax relief program to help self-employed persons save for their old age.

The measure was approved by voice vote despite opposition from the Treasury. The Treasury said it would cut government revenue about 360 million dollars in its first year.

The bill would permit self-employed persons such as doctors, farmers and business proprietors to defer payment of income taxes until age 70 on up to 10 per cent of their annual income if they put this income in special retirement funds.

There would be a limit of $2,500 a year and a lifetime limit of $50,000 on the amount of income on which taxes could be deferred.

The measure appeared certain to win House approval, possibly next week. Sponsors were hopeful they could push it through the Senate this year and almost certain they could complete congressional action on the measure before Congress adjourns next year.

The annual limits would be set higher than 10 per cent and $2,500 for persons who are more than 50 years old when the program goes into force.

As approved by the tax writing committee, the program would apply to this year's income.

New Orders; Sales, Profits Up

Steel Is Ramroding National Recovery

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry today is stiffening the backbone of the business recovery. Sales are up. New orders are up. Production is rising. And profits in the last few months have shown a spectacular recovery from the low point of a year ago.

Most steel companies report impressive gains in net income after taxes in the final three months of 1958. The increases over the year ago figures range as high as 200 per cent, although the gain for the industry as a whole is around 25 per cent.

But the fourth quarter spurt in income still couldn't entirely offset for the majority of steel companies the bleak months of early 1958.

Of 23 steel concerns reporting so far, including the largest ones, 20 report 1958 earnings running behind 1957. All but two small ones, however, managed to end 1958 in the black — and this despite the fact that the industry in the trough of the recession was operating at less than half capacity.

Combined, the 23 report 1958 earnings as $745,390,000, compared with $1,069,910,000 in 1957. This was a drop of 30.3 per cent. The 1957 earnings, in turn, were 3.4 per cent higher than those of 1956, which were off 10.5 per cent from 1955. In that year of the big business boom steel industry profits soared 74.3 per cent over depressed 1954.

How could the steel industry show a profit instead of a loss in 1958, with output cut back over most of the period, and even the sales increases of the last few months much less impressive than the rise in profits?

Steelmen offer two reasons. First, during the recession the industry, like many others, went in heavily for cost cutting. Where possible, fat was trimmed from the overhead, and easy going practices of boom days were discarded. Second, the industry closed down marginal and aging facilities. It got the benefit of the new and more efficient mills built in profusion since the end of the war.

And, as in most industries, profits tend to drop faster than sales in a recession and to rise faster than sales in a recovery.

What is causing the big spurt in steel orders right now? Is the trend temporary or lasting?

Much of the recent gain is charged to insurance buying. Steel users are reported building up their stocks for two reasons: fear of a strike this summer, meaning possible shortages; and fear of a price rise later in the year whether there is a strike or a wage increase, or both.

Such insurance buying could be temporary, meaning that today's orders, and the steel productionml orders are borrowing from later months, and the steel production trend could be reversed then.

Much of the recent output increase is credited to buying by the auto companies, busily stocking up dealers showrooms to be ready for the hoped for spring upturn in car buying. Whether this proves temporary is yet to be seen.

Lansdowne Problems Up for 7th Hearing

Last week's adjourned hearing on the blacktopping of Lansdowne street will be resumed for the seventh time when the Waterford Township board meets tonight.

Residents who have been battling both the township and Oakland County Road Commission officials for more than five years are still determined to get "a fair deal" on the project.

They claim that road preparation for the work was done three years ago, and that they should not have to pay for this again.

All bids for construction work were thrown out at last week's meeting, for the second time in six months. Clerk James Seeterlin was authorized to seek new bids.

In other business, it is expected that the board will take action on the rezoning of 16 lots on Dixie Highway near Scott Lake road, from residential to commercial. The plan was tabled at last week's meeting.

Board members have received the final plat for Lotus Lake Subdivision No. 2, and it is expected that action will be taken on this project, Seeterlin said.

Maybe Too Busy

Do Bridge Players Really Cheat?

By JACK V. FOX

NEW YORK (UPI)—The world's best bridge players are at their favorite sport this week so we went over the the Statler Hilton to check these rumors that sometimes they cheat.

Yesterday's match pitted Harry Fishbein, owner of a New York bridge club, and Lee Hazen, a lawyer, against Walter Avarelli, an Italian magistrate, and Giorgio Belladonna, a young Roman public utilities worker with a charming smile.

"Playing in glassed box, 10 by 10 feet, soundproof. Equipped with table, chairs, four ashtrays, jug ice water, glasses, box Kleenex, microphone. Referee and commentator also in booth. Draped with American, Italian, Argentine flags."

'(Argentina is also in the tournament representing South America against champions of North America and Europe.)

"Surprised learn players must tell each other in advance what bidding conventions mean. Italian team observer notes their players employ 'Neapolitan' Club. American commentator says we use 'Madison Avenue' Club. Wisecrack. Not very funny."

"Players never say 'pass.' Say 'no bid.' Italians speak English. Must wait three to five seconds before making any bid lest hasty 'no bid' indicate very weak hand."

"If any signals being passed they most confusing. Hazen acts edgy. Scratches head, rocks in chair, drinks water, ruffles cards, polishes glasses for full two minutes. Italians patient. Hazen goes set."

"Americans bid third hand badly. Get chicken-hearted, don't go to three no trump. Also don't make three no trump. Not badly bid, after all."

"Think spotted something when Italian observer candidly admits Italians discard even-numbered cards when want get out of particular suit. Commentator asks Charles Goren if that is something new. Goren replies: 'It's as old as the game of bridge.'"

"Buzzer sound every time door to booth opened. Crowd cautioned to keep quiet then. Have to air booth of tobacco smoke every few hands. Italian consul-general enters booth, shakes hands all around. No sign any message passed."

"Fishbein wipes face with Kleenex. Hazen makes shrewd play of Queen of Spades. After hand, commentator asks him explain it. 'Just fell out of my hand,' says Hazen. Belladonna grins."

"Afternoon round of play ends. Americans win. Tournament goes on all week. No cheating observed."

Insulating Windows Alone Is Not Enough

MECHANICSBURG, Pa. (UPI) —Insulating the windows of a house alone is like plugging a hole with a sieve, according to a manufacturer of aluminum insulating windows and doors.

It may help somewhat in reducing heat loss, said Harold Waugh of the Capitol Products Corp., "but it is still very much like trying to plug a hole in a dike with a sieve."

Waugh said complete insulation is the only way to make a real saving on fuel bills in the winter —and this, he said means insulating the walls, the roof and the doors, as well as the windows.

Bad Weather or Not, Gas Tax Revenue Up

LANSIN G(AP)—Despite hazardous driving conditions, state gasoline tax collections last month showed a $908,000 increase over January, 1958, the secretary of state's office reported today.

Gas tax revenue last month totaled 12,1196,186 compared with $111,208,256 in the same month a year ago. All the money is earmarked for highway use.

Maria's Acquired Taste for American 'Mice'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — German glamour gal Maria Schell has picked up an incurable vice in America—popcorn.

WILSON

"We don't have salted corn in Germany—only sweet," she grimaced.

Just arrived by jet from Munich and Paris, she talked gaily of a rumor that jet "tubes" would soon be shooting passengers Paris-to-N.Y. in two hours. She'd come to open her movie, "The Hanging Tree," and to play Pilar in the TV version of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

"The German word for corn is pronounced 'mice'" she said, "and people here and in Hollywood laugh at me when I say 'Let's eat some mice.'"

Phil Silvers snatched Lucille Ball down to his TV set for a surprise spot on "Sgt. Bilko." . . . Martha Hyer and her middle-aged beau smooched quietly in a corner and wouldn't permit pictures, so who is he, huh, Martha? . . . Diana Barrymore bought herself $8,000 worth of full-length mink coat now that she's headed for greatness in Tennessee Williams' "Garden District." Has completely licked booze and no longer bothers with antibuse. Has willpower whereas other dames have won'tpower.

MARIA

Hollywood's got a new game called "Spirit Messages" — forecasting the first word to be heard from celebrities when they reach the other side. Sample: Zsa Zsa Gabor: "Dolling, St. Pete is mad for me!" (Heard any?)

London hears that Winston Churchill's book, "My Early Life," written 'way back in 1930, about his Boer War days, is being sold to MGM as a movie for a record price of $1,500,000. With Sir Winston having an o.k. on who plays Sir Winston . . .

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

James Thurber visited the Village Gate, where harmonica star Larry Adler's appearing, and said, "When I heard him play, I could see the stars light up. His name will last forever, as long as music is played in this world." . . . Happy Chandler and Bob Cooke are both after the Kentucky Derby post held by the late Bill Corum. Danny Thomas' daughter dated Dan Topping Jr., son of the Yankee's boss . . . With everybody else discussing a Castro film bio, producer Sam Katzman plans one about Batista . . . Nancy Borg was teased about husband Geoffrey Horne's sexy scenes with Silvana Mangano in "Tempest," and said, "Don't be silly—I'm the one he rehearsed with."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Since the Democrats and Republicans have animals to symbolize their groups. Inez Ozburn of Monroe, Ga. suggests one for taxpayers—the goat. That's earl, brother.

Air Monitoring Nothing New

U.S. Eavesdropping on Foreign Planes Since Early in World War II

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although officials won't talk much about it, radio monitoring by one nation to the military conversations of another has been going on since the early days of World War II.

The United States' announcement of a transcription which it said showed Soviet fighters shot down an American transport focussed new interest on the subject.

Russia has accused this country of a "sensational farce" in producing the recording.

Improved equipment in radio monitoring techniques has been developed since the first wartime use. Today the systems are virtually worldwide, presumably used by all major powers.

The defense and State Departments decline to say how this country recorded the interplane talk of the Soviet fighter pilots whom the United States declares shot down an American military transport near the Turkish-Russian border.

However, it may be assumed that area, like all other common borders between the East and West, is covered by a segment of the monitoring network.

Radio traffic of aircraft and ships are listened to by both the Western powers and Russia, over a wide range of frequencies.

Primary purpose, of course, is intelligence — the business of trying to guess what the other side is doing. A substantial portion of aircraft radio transmission is by voice.

Voice transmission is the easiest to monitor, with key transmission in telegraphic code far more difficult because a secret word code can be used also.

As the Communist threat began developing in the first few years after World War II, the United States started restoring and expanding overseas radio listening posts.

Crowded Japan Will Give Island to the Monkeys

TOKYO (AP)—Japan, a country short of living space for its people, is going to set aside at least one small island for a colony of immigrant monkeys.

The monkeys are needed for making Salk polio vaccine for Japanese children. The Ministry of Public Health and Social Welfare is working out a 10-year plan to build up the monkey population.

Japanese monkeys are not suitable for breeding grounds for the vaccine. Imported animals—costing $25 a head—will be turned loose on an uninhabited island which is of mild climate, free of contamination from human diseases and at least 1,000 yards from the nearest human. Four islands are under consideration.

Israel to Try Leader That Killed 2 Arabs

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — An Israeli court-martial will try the leader of a patrol which crossed into the Gaza Strip and killed an Arab woman and child.

A U.N. Emergency Force unit found the Israeli patrol in the Egyptian-occupied territory last Wednesday and reported it had fired into an Arab village, killing a woman and her son and wounding another woman.

The U.N. Israeli-Egyptian Mixed Armistice Commission censured Israel for the incident. The Israeli army maintained that its patrol was pursuing infiltrators who had attacked it. But it said the patrol leader violated instructions when he crossed the border. An army spokesman expressed Israel's regret "if there were any innocent casualties."

English Woman Must Choose

Transatlantic Romance Mixup Still Unsettled

MONTREAL (UPI)—A 26-year-old English woman from Eastcote, Middlesex, was en route to Lansing, Mich., today to ponder her mixed emotions, matrimonially speaking.

Pauline Giles arrived Friday night from London accompanied by Chicago advertising executive Loran Sheffler, 23, who was partly responsible for her unexpected trip from England to Canada.

The rather confused romance of Miss Giles started over a year ago when Pauline went to South Bend, Ind., to visit friends and to straighten out her feelings about Louis Gaches, 23, a man she had known for some years in England.

While in South Bend she met Sheffler at a Christmas party and he fell in love with her.

When Pauline returned to England there was a steady flow of correspondence between Chicago and Eastcote which resulted in Sheffler's sudden trip to England two weeks ago.

"Her letters told me how unhappy she was, how miserable her relationship with Gaches was," Sheffler said.

When he arrived in England, Sheffler found out that Pauline was apparently quite satisfied to remain miserable but in love with Gaches.

"Pauline's parents, who do not approve of Gaches, urged me to take her back to the states," he said. "Her mother even packed her clothes in my suitcase so that Pauline wouldn't know anything about this until we left."

Sheffler said he secured the necessary papers for Pauline to leave the country without her knowing it. Thursday afternoon he went to Pauline's office and told her he was leaving for the United States and asked her to step outside for a few moments.

Meanwhile, he had advised his cab driver that a young lady would join him for a trip to the airport although "she may vigorously protest."

When they came outside, Sheffler said he pushed her in the cab.

At the London airport some reporters got wind of the situation and dared Pauline to board the aircraft and fly to Canada.

"So I got aboard and here I am," quipped Pauline, when she arrived at Dorval Airport Friday night.

Shortly before she left, Pauline told United Press International she was not sure whether she loved Sheffler or Gaches. "Oh I don't know, I will have to make up my mind I guess," she sighed.

Will Sheffler marry her?

"I don't know now," he said. "I guess I still love her. We'll have to think this out," he added as he followed Pauline into the train that will carry them to his parents' home in Lansing.

AFL-CIO Favorable to Governor's Plan

LANSING (AP)—The state AFL-CIO legislative conference has given the governor's new tax proposals qualified approval.

Gus Scholle, state AFL-CIO council president, said the group approved Gov. Williams' plan in essence, "but we want the tax study continued to find a fairer way of taking the burden off the lower income class."

He said improvements in Michigan's tax structure are long overdue. But he took issue with those who contend the governor's tax plan benefits lower income groups at the expense of those in the higher income bracket.

The governor has proposed a graduated personal income tax and a corporate profits tax to relieve the state's financial crisis.

'The Third Commandment' Too Heavy for a Comedy

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—NBC-TV's kaleidoscope unboxed yesterday an earnest, but rather heavy-handed drama, "The Third Commandment."

Written by Ben Hecht, the piece dealt with a gag writer turned phony preacher and faith healer. Hecht had described it as an "iconoclastic comedy," but it was not very comic nor did it break any icons.

It was merely a cannon shot at a sitting duck, a rather naive and awkward assault against a target without defenses.

The surprising thing about "The Third Commandment" was that several of its players managed to turn in clean performances despite the broad and implausible parts they were assigned.

Arthur Kennedy as the chief cheat and Richard Erdman and James Weston, who played a couple of second banana charlatans were the most efficient of the launderers.

It's almost impossible to have any opinion about the Friday night Phil Harris special on NBC-TV because nohing much happened.

Dean Martin, Alice Faye and Betty Hutton were among the passengers on this voyage to nowhere. They were inoffensive except for Miss Hutton, who seems to feel that energy is a substitute for talent.

SHORT SHOTS: Dayton Allen's spoof of a surgeon delivering a lecture on the NBC-TV Steve Allen show last night was an inspired flight of lunacy . . . Charles Laughton turned in a four-square performance in a story about a schoolteacher in Nazi-occupied France on last night's CBS-TV G.E. Theater.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Andy Williams probably will replace CBS-TV's Garry Moore for the summer starting June 13 — the Williams show will stress new young talent . . . Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer have signed into the April 9 NBC-TV Bell Telephone Hour special.

Capital Airlines Takes Gamble

Firm Makes Decision Three Years Ago to Order, Fly Viscounts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three years ago, a lanky airline president gambled $21 million and his company's future on a new kind of commercial airliner.

The president was J. H. (Slim) Carmichael, the airline was Capital and the plane was the British-made turbo-prop Viscount — first foreign-built airliner to be used by a U. S. carrier in a quarter-century.

Carmichael has since resigned as Capital's president. But the decision to gamble on the Viscount will stand as a memorial to his regime.

The highly successful plane, that hitches jet engines to conventional propellers, lifted Capital to fifth place among the nation's major airlines and introduced millions of passengers to a reasonable facsimile of jet travel three years ahead of the pure jets.

When Capital first ordered 21 Viscounts at $1 million each, the airline industry raised its eyebrows to full staff. For Capital was facing these obstacles:

—Operating what amounted to a jet-engine fleet in the days when piston-engine aircraft still ruled the skies.

—Pilots' fears that jet-prop planes would be dangerous, harder to fly and less reliable than the piston transports Capital was using.

But Carmichael figured Capital had to do something drastic. It is a carrier with relatively short-haul schedules. It had no real need for plush, long-range Constellations and DC7s. But it could not make money with outmoded DC3s and DC4s.

In brief, it wanted an airliner that could serve both its shorter routes and its non-stop schedules between Chicago and Washington-New York and between Washington and Atlanta.

So Carmichael bet on Britain's Viscount, a comparatively small four-engine plane (it has about the same capacity as a two-engine Convair) that is almost as fast as the DC7.

Outdoor Work Hindered

Unemployment Goes Up in Usual Winter Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment is climbing back close to the five-million mark, economists reported today. They said a figure approaching that mark may be shown in the government's January count, due out Tuesday.

Joblessness normally rises in the winter months because of the weather's effect on construction, farm and other outdoor activities. The five-million mark has not been exceeded since last April, when the jobless count was 5,120,000.

But in recent months job idleness has been running a little ahead of corresponding months a year ago. In December the total was 4,108,000 or 734,000 more than the 3,374,000 in December 1957.

In the January 1959 idle total increases by anything like the million or so normally registered in that month, the total will be close to or over five million—and well over the figure for a year ago.

The figures indicate that while business has improved substantially from its recession depths, the job picture still is gloomy.

This in itself is not too surprising. Employers normally don't increase their work force very fast in a recovery period. They cautiously increase working hours of workers already employed, working them even overtime hours at premium rates rather than hire new workers.

A number of economists feel that some of the missing jobs may have disappeared forever — because work formerly done by men now is being done by machines.

As of now about one out of every 17 able-bodied workers wanting a job can't find one. Similarly, one of eight single workers is unemployed. Among married workers the idle ratio is one out of 20.

Worker earnings, like prices, are at record levels. This means that those workers that have jobs are doing all right, many of them enjoying big chunks of extra, premium overtime pay. But that doesn't apply to the workers unable to find steady jobs.

He Knew What It Was

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A group of school teachers ordered orange juice in a local restaurant and quickly sent it back with complaints that it tasted sour. A more worldly bystander sampled the beverage and pronounced it a screwdriver — orange juice and vodka.

Britain now has an agreement with Ethopia between the latter kingdom and nearby British African colonies on their connecting air services.

Skin Diver Was Busy

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Some anglers thought they felt a slight tug. Others didn't, but also lost their hooks. A $10 fine was suspended by Judge Savory E. Amato when an 18-year-skin diver with a pair of scissors promised that the next time he went down to the sea in flippers it would be in a secluded spot.

One of advertising's biggest jobs is to attract attention. As you read this newspaper, page by page, you'll notice the different and ingenious ways that ads catch your eye.

But attracting your attention is only part of advertising's work. Once it has stopped you, an ad must go on to inform you, interest you and convince you.

Thus advertising creates demand which, in turn, generates more production, resulting in lower cost per unit. And you reap the benefit!

Advertising, like the advertising in this newspaper, does a big job in helping to move billions of dollars worth of goods. It also helps to make our standard of living the highest of any place in the world!
