Thousands Cheer as Eisenhower Takes Oath

President Repeats 39 Traditional and Solemn Words of Faithfulness

Ike, Nixon Inaugurated in Ceremony at Capitol

Term Officially Launched in Private Rite Yesterday at the White House

For visiting governors, other dignitaries and just plain people, the high spot of the gala occasion was the oath-taking rite at noon.

But Eisenhower in fast was already well into his second term before he went to the Capitol for the public administration of the oath by Chief Justice Earl Warren in the presence of Congress and the thousands massed in front of the Capitol.

Eisenhower's first term ended at noon yesterday. And, in a three-minute White House ceremony attended only by family members, he and Vice President Richard Nixon took the new oaths of office and began their second terms. Since it was Sunday, the public ceremony was deferred until today.

Despite the purely ceremonial nature, today was still the big day of parades and cheers.

Eisenhower himself began it much as he might any other day. He was up at 7:30 a.m., a little later than usual, breakfasted from a try in his room, slipped on casual clothes—a gray sports coat and gray trousers—and was at his office and at work by 8:30 a.m.

James C. Hagerty, press secretary, said that Eisenhower, during two hours at his desk, handled some correspondence and went over his inaugural address. He said Eisenhower made no changes in the text.

Asked how the President was feeling, Hagerty said he was in a jovial, happy mood.

The White House lobby was bustling with visitors.

Outside, workmen still were busy putting final touches to the big reviewing stand. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower invited 202 guests to watch the inaugural parade with them from that stand.

Long before the President's arrival, every vantage point about the Capitol was filled.

The waiting crowd was treated to capricious weather that changed almost by the minute.

First, it was overcast. Then the clouds parted and pale winter sunshine broke through. In the midst of the sun, a spatter of rain fell.

Then the rain stopped, but a chill wind whipped across. People huddled together in blankets and, warming their hands, blew clouds of vapor.

RAIN-WET BENCHES

Along Pennsylvania avenue, early arrivals covered the rain-wet benches with papers.

Others, lacking tickets to the reviewing stands, staked out spots on the curb and clung grimly to the restraining wire cables.

The temperature was in the high 30s.

In recognition of the chill, a U.S. Navy blanket was put on each of the chairs for notables directly behind Eisenhower.

An hour before the President was to take his public oath, a U.S. Navy dirigible came up and hovered just to one side of the Capitol Plaza.

Standing room on the sloping steps leading to the Senate and the House — tickets for which were given by legislators to their friends — was filled to capacity.

House members, bundled in coats and scarves, met for five minutes at 11 a.m. before filing out to the inaugural stand.

Supreme Court justices also held a brief session, and then went to the Capitol.

Former President Hoover was on the scene 45 minutes before the ceremony. He came to the door of

Michigan Prominent in Inaugural Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan religious and political leaders figured prominently today in the program for President Eisenhower's second inauguration.

Edward Cardinal Mooney, Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit, was selected to give the benediction after the oath-taking on the steps of the Capitol.

Politics was laid aside as Michigan's fifth term Democratic governor, G. Mennen Williams, led the state's tribute to the re-elected Republican President.

Williams was assigned to ride in an open car at the head of Michigan units in the inaugural parade.

Behind the governor in the order of the march were the Detroit Post Office Band, Knights Templar from Detroit Commandery 1 and the Calumet, Mich., High School Drum and Bugle Corps.

FORMS 'PASSION CROSS'

The commandery's Drill Corps, headed by Capt. Gen. Robert J. Brooks, is considered one of the finest precision marching groups in the Masonic order. Its most dramatic maneuver is a "Passion Cross," formed as the commandery's band plays "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The Calumet High School Drum and Bugle Corps represents the second oldest reserve officers training corps. It was organized in 1918. Calumet is in the heart of the Upper Peninsula's copper country so the 45 corpsmen are called the Copper Kings. Cadet Lt. Col. Daniel Rosemergy, 17, is drum major.

TO SEE SIGHTS

The Copper Kings plan to spend a few days sightseeing here before returning home. They are to be guests of Rep. Bennett (R-Mich) at a breakfast Wednesday in the speaker's dining room at the capitol.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan units were spotted with those of 10 other states—Indiana, Illinois, Alabama, Maine, Missouri, Arkansas, Florida, Texas, Iowa and Wisconsin—in the fifth division of the parade with Secretary of the Air Force Quarles as division marshal.

Robert G. Robinson of St. Ignace, Mich., was among some 120 holders of the medal of honor—the nation's highest decoration

Colin C. Joslyn Dies From Crash Injuries

Colin C. Joslyn, 55, of 6611 N. Beech-Daly Rd., Dearborn Township, died Saturday of injuries he received Jan. 9 when his car collided with a truck on U.S.-10 near Holly Rd.

Colin was first taken to Pontiac General Hospital but later was transferred to the Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn where he died.

All Monaco Alert to Greet Arrival of Royal Infant

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Monaco's eight Roman Catholic churches and shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis' yacht maintained a round-the-clock alert today, ready to welcome the arrival of their first baby to Princess Grace and Prince Rainier.

The infant who someday may reign over the principality is expected any time now. When it arrives, the public will get the word this way:

A motorcycle messenger, also now on duty at all times, will speed to the port's saluting battery and the cannon will blast, 101 times for a boy, 21 for a girl.

As soon as the cannon is silent, Monarco's 14 church bells will peal. The Anglican Church of St. Paul's won't join in — it has no bell.

Jack Frost Lost in Pea-Soup Fog

Be Grateful for Small Favors; Pontiac Drizzle Ousts Zero Weather

A thick fog accompanied by drizzle and welcomed temperatures in the mid-30s invaded the Pontiac area today as residents were still talking about the 10-day siege of zero weather just departed.

The Weather Bureau, predicting that the mercury will average three degrees above normal for the next five days, is still keeping an eye on a second blizzard belt moving eastward out of the Rockies.

The rain or drizzle is expected to stay tonight and tomorrow, with tomorrow's readings to hover around the 34 to 38 degree mark. Tonight's low will be around 32 to 36 degrees.

The State Highway Dept. reported that a freezing mist in some areas and drizzle in others was producing generally slippery conditions on most state trunklines of the Upper Peninsula and in the north half of the Grand Rapids area of the lower peninsula.

REPORT 2 DEATHS

Large helpings of snow were falling over most of the North and Central Plains states. Two deaths have been attributed to the storm.

The upward plunge in temperatures showed its greatest climb in Pennsylvania and New York. In Albany, the mercury pulled out from a 1-below-zero drop up to 35.

Preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac, the lowest temperature was 34 degrees. At 2 p.m., the temperature was 40.

Glum Soviet Envoy Watches Ceremony

WASHINGTON (INS) — Among the spectators some 20 feet from President Eisenhower at the inauguration today was Georgi Zaroubin, Soviet ambassador to the U. S.

Marchers, Floats Stretch 6 Miles at Ike's Parade

WASHINGTON (AP) — In warming weather, six miles of marchers, musicians and multicolored floats assembled today for President Eisenhower's second inaugural parade.

The President himself, riding with Mrs. Eisenhower and his official family, was No. 10 in the line of march down Pennsylvania Avenue past stands built to seat 61,000 persons. There was room also for some 700,000 standees to view the parade.

The pace was 120 30-inch steps a minute, designed by Army technicians to move the 17,000 people, 34 paper-spangled floats, 65 bands, assorted trucks, tanks and guided missiles, and the GOP elephant mascot Miss Burma past the White House reviewing stand in less than 2½ hours.

"And we're going to do it," was one of the last things parade chairman Ed Carr said before he climbed into his No. 5 position alongside his Pentagon counterpart, Army Maj. Gen. John G. Van Houten.

Carr cut 6,000 persons from the number who participated in the 1953 inaugural, which lasted 4 hours and 39 minutes. He counted on that, plus tighter marshaling from a radio-TV-equipped "command post," to carry out an Eisenhower dictum to shorten things up.

It had a $30,000 theme float 407 feet 8 inches long. That's half again as long as the Capitol is high. Actually, it's 13 floats hooked in tandem and pulled by two Army tractors of the type that hauls the 280 mm. atomic cannon.

The float depicts industrial production, atoms-for-peace, highways, scientific inquiry and other achievements of democracy's liberty and strength.

Many of the state floats carried out individual phases of that theme.

The armed services were showing off their missiles and, mounted on a float, the Air Force's F104A Starfighter jet plane with a speed twice that of sound. The missiles had their teeth pulled. There was no explosive inside.

Following Eisenhower and the armed forces in the line of march came the 48 states and the territories, in the order of their entry into the Union. Most accepted the committee's inviation to send a governor, a float, a band and a marching unit.

Ex-Pontiac Resident Dies as Two Navy Jets Collide

Lt. Cmdr. Charles R. Walton, 38, a former Pontiac resident and sales executive for the Chrysler Corp., was one of two Naval Reserve officers killed yesterday when their jet fighters crashed after apparently locking wings near Alburquerque, New Mexico.

Also dead is Lt. Jerome H. Fishel, 33, of Urbana, Ill. The planes were on a training mission from Glenview, Ill. Air Station to Marimar, Calif., Naval Air Station in San Diego when their wings reportedly became entangled at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

CHARLES R. WALTON

Walton was said to have used his ejection seat in an effort to escape but was killed when his parachute failed to open. He was found one-half mile from the wreckage. The other pilot was found burned in the remains of his plane.

Walton, winner of the Navy Cross for action in World War II, was manager of the new car sales division for Chrysler in Chicago and formerly headed their Peoria, Ill. office.

A graduate of Pontiac High in 1936, he previously had attended Lincoln Junior High. He later spent one year at Cranbrook before going to Wheaton College.

Walton served two years in the Navy, in World War II, based on aircraft carriers in the Pacific.

Sawchuk Says Nerves Caused Him to Quit

DETROIT (AP) — Terry Sawchuk told a news conference today he quit the Boston Bruins Hockey Club because "My nerves are shot" but left the door open for a possible return to National Hockey League action within a month.

The Boston goaltender read his statement in front of a battery of newsmen, photographers and television cameramen to clear up his abrupt retirement last Tuesday at the peak of a brilliant career.

Sawchuk, 27, said he believes his nerve condition was brought about by an attack of mononucleosis, a blood disease.

J. Edgar Hoover Becomes 'Mr. FBI'

Editor's Note: The following article is the thirteenth in a series of highlights from the exciting new book "The FBI Story," by Don Whitehead, Pulitzer prize winner. Today's account is one of 30 chapters about the fabulous history of the Federal Bureau of Investigation appearing daily in The Pontiac Press.

By DON WHITEHEAD

Through the years, the FBI was shaped in the image of this man's ideas and ideals. No other agency in the federal government bears the imprint of a single person as clearly as the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hoover is the FBI. But his position of strength — and the strength of the FBI — isn't merely a matter of one man's personality.

The real secret lies in the fact that Hoover has around him a group of topflight executives who climbed from the ranks of the FBI's special agents.

They came up the hard way, by merit and not as somebody's political pets. Hoover trusted them to make decisions. In turn, these men have repaid the trust with loyalty and fierce pride in the FBI.

They accept without question the FBI policy of anonymity. Their names are not widely known beyond the doors of the FBI's headquarters. And yet they hold in their hands much of the responsibility for the nation's safety.

This inner circle is composed of nine men of whom Hoover has said, "You can't buy the kind of energy and devotion they have given to the FBI."

TOLSON PRESIDES

Hoover's top lieutenants gather each Monday and Wednesday and if need be each weekday in what is known as the FBI Executives Conference. The presiding officer is Clyde A Tolson, 56, who came to the Bureau on April 2, 1928.

Tolson is "the man who came to dinner" at the FBI. He intended to stay just long enough to get a little experience and enough money to start practicing law at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where he had gone to business school.

Several months after joining the FBI as a special agent, Tolson was brought to headquarters as chief clerk, and then he moved up fast.

He became an assistant director in 1931 and in 1947, Hoover gave him the title of Associate Director — formal recognition that Tolson was the No. 2 G-Man.

CLOSE FRIENDS

Tolson, like Hoover, is a bachelor. The two men have become such close friends over the years that their intimates say they have even reached the point where they think alike.

Tolson carries much of the administrative load which Hoover handled himself for many years, and serves in effect as Hoover's chief of staff.

Third in the line of command is Louis B. Nichols, 50, a big and affable man who handles a tremendous number of chores for the director in addition to running the Records and Communications Division and representing

114 Democrats to Be Chosen

County Group to Pick Delegates to Convention for State Members

Oakland County Democrats will choose 114 state delegates at their convention Feb. 13 in the county office building, 1 Lafayette St.

An increased number of delegates will be named this year, said Carlos G. Richardson, chairman of the county Democratic committee, because there was an increase in the Oakland County vote at the last general election.

The delegates will attend the state convention in Grand Rapids Feb. 22 and 23 to nominate candidates for several state offices in the April 1 election.

On a local level, Richardson said, several townships have reported they will have full Democratic slates this spring, where in past years there were partial or no Democratic tickets.

State offices to be filled include state highway commissioner, superintendent of public instruction and three supreme court justices. A member of the State Board of Education will be elected, along with two members of the University of Michigan Board of Regents and two members of the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State University.

SUMMER OPENING NEARING—Nearly one year has elapsed since ground was broken for this the city's new Public Safety Building. According to George Heenan, whose father, Leo J., designed the structure, work is "three weeks behind, but the completion date is hoped for around June or the first of July." Situated to the north of the City Hall, the $875,000 (including equipment) building will house the police department and garage, fire department offices, two municipal courts and chambers, and the city jail. Provisions have been made, as with the City Hall, to add a third floor connecting with the high structure shown on top of the building. This houses the radio and transmitter station and the prisoners elevator shaft. The building, financed from the city's capital improvement funds, is the second project in the Pontiac Civic Center.

Bloomfield Hills Plans 2 Schools

1 Junior High for 600, Elementary to Hold 500, to Face Quarton Road

The Bloomfield Hills Board of Education has completed an option for a 25-acre junior high school site fronting Quarton and Wing Lake roads and arranged a condemnation on an elementary site approximately one-quarter of a mile east of the junior high site, Eugene L. Johnson, superintendent of schools has announced.

Johnson said the board expects to hire an architect for the junior high school soon with construction of the building to house 600 students to begin in the spring.

Completion of the building which will cost slightly in excess of a million dollars is slated for the fall of 1958.

A condemnation suit for an elementary site which is in the same area but fronts Quarton and Bailey roads will be held on Jan. 29, Johnson said. If the condemnation carries through, an elementary school will be built which will house between 400 and 500 students.

Bonds totalling $2,765,000 and recently sold to First of Michigan, a Detroit firm, will be used to buy these sites and build the buildings, Johnson said, with two more sites to be bought for future school use.

Veterinary Board Sets $3 Rabies Shot Price

The standard price charged by veterinaries to immunize dogs against rabies is less than that reported by The Pontiac Press Friday following a board of supervisors meeting.

The matter came up when supervisors voted a special $2 price at county clinics for dog owners unable to afford the full standard price.

the Capitol rotunda but remained inside.

Thomas E. Dewey, twice defeated as the Republican presidential nominee, and Mrs. Dewey also were early arrivals.

Robert Montgomery, the President's television adviser, was on the scene, keeping an eye on camera crews. All major TV networks were broadcasting the proceedings.

Vice President Nixon's two daughters, Tricia and Julie—Julie with a black eye from a sledding accident—sat with their grandmother, Mrs. Frank Nixon, on an out of the way bench in the rotunda.

Three of the President's brothers, Milton, Earl and Arthur, arrived together at 11:20. Another brother, Edgar, of Tacoma, Wash., was ill and could not attend.

FORMAL ATTIRE

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) rode with the Eisenhowers and House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) with the Nixons. They were official representatives of Congress.

Vice President and Mrs. Nixon Nixons. They were official repre-

The inauguration ceremonies were the focus of a gay, noisy swirling round of celebrations that have been building up for days.

They included the traditional parade, starting at 1:30 p. m., and continuing for at least 2½ hours, probably longer. The President asked that it be kept shorter this year than the 4½-hour march in 1953.

Tonight, starting at 9 o'clock, celebrants dolled up in diamonds and sables, white tie and tails, will gather in four huge ballrooms. The President and his lady, with their son and daughter-in-law, Major John and Barbara Eisenhower, planned to appear at all of them.

FIRST CEREMONY

Eisenhower's first term officially ended—and his new one began—at noon yesterday. Well before that hour, at 10:28 a.m., he was sworn in for the second term at a private ceremony in the White House. Vice President Nixon took his oath two minutes earlier.

But because yesterday was Sunday, the formal inauguration ceremonies were delayed until today. The two oath-takings duplicated each other, but they provided a marked contrast.

About 80 persons witnessed the private ceremony.

No reporters or press photographers recorded the scene in the White House. Today, it went out in thousands of written and spoken words, carried by wire, radio and television.

It was the first double ceremony since 1917. The date of Woodrow Wilson's second inaugural, in that year, also fell on a Sunday. Wilson also took the oath first in private, then repeated it in public.

The one today also altered a statistic in the history of the presidency. At 66, Eisenhower is the second oldest president to take the oath. In 1960, he would be the oldest man ever to occupy the White House.

Eisenhower and Nixon used the same Bibles today, and placed their hands on the same open pages, as they did in the White House.

By custom, the Vice President took the oath first.

Nixon used a 110-year-old family Bible. It was opened to the second chapter, fourth verse of Isiah, which contains the words, "And they shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation."

Beneath the President's left hand was the Bible his mother gave him when he graduated from West Point in 1915. It was turned to the 12th verse of the 33rd Psalm—"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord."

MRS. JOHN H. STEWART

Appointed to Head City Hospital Annex

Miss Lauretta Paul, Pontiac General Hospital director, has named Mrs. John H. Stewart, 33, of 890 Argyle Ave., new assistant director in charge of the newly-opened hospital annex.

Prior to her appointment, Mrs. Stewart served as assistant to the director of nursing service. In this capacity, she handled the administrative functions of the department.

She began her work at the city hospital in March 1948. She came here after more than two years at the Lexington Memorial Hospital in Lexington, N.C.

Mrs. Stewart served as assistant to the director until 1953 when she moved into the nursing service department.

Former Pontiac Man Killed in Jet Crash

He escaped a crash into the ocean on one occasion and narrowly missed being shot down over Tokyo when his plane was riddled with bullets.

He is survived by his widow, Lorette, of Wheaton, Ill., and two children, Robert C., 11, and Denise, 6. His father, H. L. Walton, retired Past President of the Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Architects and Engineers of Detroit, now lives in Lake Angelus.

A sister, Mrs. Charles O'Neal, is a Birmingham resident. The body will be transferred to a Birmingham funeral home with services to be announced.

Soil Conservation in Urban Areas Discussion Topic

The annual dinner-meeting of the Oakland County Soil Conservation district will be at 7:30 tomorrow night in the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston, Jay Poffenberger, assistant county agricultural agent and corresponding secretary for the group, has announced.

Besides the scheduled election of directors, Robert R. Linck of Brown City, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts will be the main speaker. His topic will concern the place of a soil conservation district in an urban area.

Also on the program will be Kenneth Brown, deputy superintendent of the Oakland County Schools as toastmaster, and William Middleton and Edward Braid, both of the East Orion 4-H Club, with a demonstration.

Nominated for new director to be elected at the meeting are Harold Mitchell of Holly and Stanley Allen of Oxford.

Poffenberger said that any landowner or occupier of land in the county is eligible to vote for the new director.

NEW YORK (AP) — Film star Elizabeth Taylor was released yesterday from Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. She underwent an operation Dec. 8 for a crushed spinal disc.

County Voters Must Register by 8 Tonight

Voters in many Oakland County communities have until 8 p.m. tonight to register for primary elections Feb. 18.

The primary will decide candidates for local offices. There will be no primary in Pontiac.

Canditates will run in the April 1 election, when several state posts will be filled. There will be no primary election to select candidates for the state offices.

Today at 5! Deadline for Pontiac Taxpayers

Today at 5 p.m. is the deadline for Pontiac taxpayers to pay their 1956 county taxes without penalty at the city treasurer's office.

A four per cent fee will be added to all delinquent taxes beginning tomorrow, Walter A. Giddings, city treasurer, said.

After Feb. 28, all unpaid taxes, plus city and school and special assessments, will be turned over to the county treasurer for collection.

Your Income Tax

Further information on income tax problems is available, without cost, to taxpayers at the Internal Revenue Service office, 53½ West Huron St. Phone FE 2-0208.

YOU'RE WORTH $600

As a taxpayer you are entitled to at least a $600 deduction for your own personal exemption. In the event you became 65 years of age or were older during 1956, an extra $600 may be claimed as a deduction. If you are blind you can claim another $600 exemption.

How about the married folks? A husband and wife may file a joint return even though only one of them had income. If a joint return is filed, or the wife had no income, the same exemptions apply to the wife.

But suppose both spouses have gross income and they file separately? In that case a husband may not claim any of the wife's exemptions nor may the wife claim any of the husband's exemptions even though either spouse might have less than $600 of gross income. Usually it is to a married couples advantage to file joint returns.

If married at the close of the year, you are considered married for the entire year and may file a joint return.

Poles Endorse Gomulka Rule

60 Per Cent of Voters Favor Return of Leader in National Balloting

WARSAW (AP) — More than 60 per cent of Poland's 17,449,000 voters appear to have endorsed Wladyslaw Gomulka's Communist leadership in the first popular test of his "communism without tyranny" policy.

Unofficial but reliable reports said more than 11 million of those voting yesterday for a new 459-member Parliament apparently cast the official ballot without change. Gomulka's regime had warned sternly against exercising the modest right to cross names off the Red-dominated single list of candidates.

About 16 million voters — nearly 90 per cent of those qualified — went to the polls. Both the Red hierarchy and the Roman Catholic Church had called for a big turnout.

★ ★ ★

Official results are expected by Tuesday.

Those who refused to go along with Gomulka boldly struck off the names of candidates they did not like, uncoerced by any direct official measures. Their protest vote did not alter the fact that Gomulka's United Workers (Communist) party will have a substantial majority in the new Parliament.

Gomulka, now 51, has advocated a course of some independence from Moscow dictation. He was swept into power three months ago in an upsurge that kicked outright Stalinists off the party's Politburo. Last week he joined visiting Red Chinese Premier Cho Enlai in lambasting U.S. policy in the Middle East and endorsing the Soviet-installed regime of Premier Janos Kadar in Hungary.

Discuss Ways to Get Funds for Hospital

A preliminary three-hour discussion was held Saturday by a newly-appointed six member committee organized to seek means to raise $1,000,000 to help equip the new addition at Pontiac General Hospital.

"Means of raising the money were thoroughly discussed, but no conclusions were reached," Mrs. P. Eugene Miller, president of the hospital's Women's Auxiliary, said. The auxiliary will work in conjunction with the committee.

No chairman was named nor was a second meeting scheduled, said Mrs. Miller.

Overheated Register Causes $1,000 Blaze

An overheated register caused a $1,000 fire at 112 Mt. Clemens St. Sunday, according to Pontiac firemen.

The first started in the living room partition and spread upstairs in the two-and-one-half-story two-apartment home occupied by Connie Henderson and Hubert Questermons, firemen added. Owner of the building is Robert Heitsch, 337 W. Iroquois.

The Day in Birmingham

Trauman's Bring Carol From Hospital Today

BIRMINGHAM — A happy Birmingham couple prepared this morning for a trip to the hospital to return their two and-one-half-year-old daughter Carol home, after being run over yesterday by her father's car.

Mrs. Alexander Trauman of 360 East Frank, said that the children were preparing to go to Sunday School and had been told to wait on the porch while their father got the car.

She said Carol slipped away from the other two and running behind the car, fell under the rear wheel which passed over her body.

"I don't know" Mrs Trauman said "whether it was the snow, her heavy snow suit, or one of God's miracles that saved her life. We were all badly shaken by the accident and are still amazed that our little girl suffered no more than slight lacerations on her stomach."

The Traumans said that they themselves were not attending church yesterday since they were preparing for guests coming from Mexico.

"We were trying to get ready for them," Mrs. Trauman laughed today, "but believe me there was little preparation done when you come right down to it. They shared our anxiety and thankfulness instead of a specially prepared dinner."

Another light agenda appears to be in the offering for Birmingham City commissioners tonight. Among the new items to appear before the group will be discussion of the Royal Oak Chamber of Commerce proposal to relocate the county seat from Pontiac to Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Additional information on the 12 Towns relief drain, the north Evergreen sewage disposal and the Red Run Drain enclosure also will come before the group. They will discuss the tree planting program to reach a definite decision as to whether or not they will continue planting in the vicinity of certain business establishments. Service station operators have particularly objected to the trees saying signs are hidden and costs them considerable trancient trade.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. F. E. Parks, 43, of 1801 Webster was fined $15 and $10 costs and ordered to make restitution of $25 by Judge John J. Gaffel in Birmingham Municipal Court. Mrs. Parks pled guilty to cashing a $25 check in a local gas station when she had no account in the bank on which the check was drawn.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Past Matrons Club will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ann Main of Fairview avenue.

Nels E. Swanson

A native of Sweden and resident of Birmingham for three years, Mr. Nels E. Swanson, 49, of 2600 Turtle Lake Road Pontiac died at Pontiac General Hospital Saturday after a brief illness.

He is survived by his wife Edith, and one daughter Ingrid. Services will be held at the 3 p.m. today in the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. with cremation to follow.

Ike Offered Nine Fixed Principles in 1953 Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his 1953 inaugural address, President Eisenhower set up nine rules of conduct based on "certain fixed principles."

They were:

To unite with other free nations for strength.

Never to placate an aggressor.

To intimidate no other people.

To help those who help themselves.

To encourage producivity and trade.

To strengthen regional groupings of free peoples.

To recognize the equality of all races and all peoples, and

Prepare Report on Area Work

Waterford Board to See Description of Progress on Current Projects

A yearly report on Camp Oakland and Boys Ranch activities for 1956 will be presented to the Waterford Township Board members when they meet for the regular session tonight.

The board has been informed by letter from Johnson and Anderson, engineers, that the water system for Lake Oakland Heights and the Lotus Lake subdivision meets all of the township's specifications and is ready for acceptance by the board.

Although research is going on for a community dump site, nothing definite has been accomplished as far as procuring land is concerned, according to Louis Barry, township clerk.

Barry will be in charge of tonight's meeting due to the absence of Lloyd Anderson, retiring supervisor, who is attending the opening session of the state legislature in Lansing.

Last night many of the Michigan visitors went to a reception for Postmaster General and Mrs. Summerfield. Hosts of the party at the Sheraton Park Hotel were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millard and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wolcott. Millard is general counsel of the Army and a former Michigan attorney general. Wolcott is a Flint advertising executive.

The Michigan crowd will be back at the Sheraton Park tonight for their section of the inaugural ball. Other sections of the ball are to be held at other places in the city.

Hosts at the Sheraton Park will be Mr. and Mrs. Summerfield, secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Ezra Taft Benson and Ambassador and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS

OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN

It is necessary that all dog owners in Oakland County must produce a certificate that their dog (or dogs) has been vaccinated against rabies within the last 12 months before township residents or city residents of Walled Lake or Keego Harbor can receive a 1957 dog license from their respective treasurers.

If such owners do not possess such a certificate, the same may be obtained from their local Veterinarian or at one of the county-operated clinics which will be held at the following listed locations:

SUNDAY, JANUARY 27
Farmington Twp. Fire Hall — 21420 Wheeler St., Farmington
Independence Twp. Fire Hall — Church Street, Clarkston

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2
Highland Twp. Fire Hall — Highland
Avon Township Hall — 276 West Auburn Rd.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 3
Holly Fire Hall — Holly

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9
West Bloomfield Twp. Fire Hall — South Willow Beach Dr., Keego Harbor
White Lake Twp. Fire Hall — M-59 and Porter Rd.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 10
Novi Twp. Hall — Novi Road, Novi
Waterford Twp. Fire Hall — 4995 Highland Rd., Waterford

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 17
Walled Lake City Fire Hall — Walled Lake
Troy Twp. Fire Hall — 2780 Rochester Rd.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 24
Ortonville Fire Hall — Ortonville
Oakland County Animal Shelter — 1200 East Walton Blvd., Pontiac

License Fees:

Male Dog	$1.00
Female Dog	2.00
Unsexed Dog	1.00

ON MARCH 1, 1957 THE ABOVE FEES WILL BE DOUBLED

Fee for rabies vaccinations at county clinics is $2.00 per dog.

Indigents or other persons who are unable to pay the vaccination fee will receive the services without charge provided reasonable proof is offered of their financial condition.

OAKLAND COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, RABIES CONTROL DIVISION

J. Edgar Hoover Becomes 'Mr. FBI'

Nichols is an assistant to the director, a title also held by the No. 4 man, Leland V. Boardman, 47.

Below Tolson, Nichols and Boardman, the six assistant directors who are the operating chiefs of the divisions are: Identification, C. Lester Trotter, 41; Training and Inspection, Quinn Tamm, 46; Administrative, John P. Mohr, 46; Domestic Intelligence, Alan H. Belmont, 49; Investigative, Alex Rosen, 51; Laboratory, Donald J. Parsons, 47.

NO YES-MEN

These men did not reach their positions by being yes-men. They arrived by being willing to accept hard work, make decisions and take on responsibilities while submerging their own personalities in the FBI.

They push themselves harder than they do their subordinates. It isn't unusual for them to work 12 or even 15 hours a day. They do it because there is work to be done — and their work comes first.

★ ★ ★

In the conference room, each executive is expected to say what he thinks, whether the problem deals with his own work or the work of someone else. But he had better be ready to defend the position he takes, and have his reasons ready.

These are strong-willed men and there are, at times, clashes of opinion.

But when these men walk out of the conference room, they walk out as a team. The decisions have been made and each man knows where he is going and what he is to do.

LITTLE TURNOVER

Employes would find fewer pressures, easier work and often more money if they left the FBI and took other jobs. But despite the strict discipline, constant supervision and demand for better-than-average performance, the FBI has an amazingly low turnover in personnel.

More than one fourth of the almost 14,000 employes have been with the Bureau 10 years or longer. And more than one third of the special agents have been employed for at least 10 years.

Since March 25, 1918, Helen W. Gandy has been Hoover's secretary and in 1939 she was designated Executive Assistant to the Director.

Awarding Miss Gandy a scroll at the end of 35 years of service, Hoover called her "the truly indispensable person in the FBI."

No FBI agent comes to the office in the morning wondering "What shall I do today?" He knows what he is going to do because he laid out his work schedule the night before. If it wasn't done the night before, then he must get to the office early and get it done.

READY TO GO

There is no such thing as a 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. day in the life of an agent, because criminals and subversives work around the clock. No agent's life is ever quite his own, because he must be ready to go anywhere he is ordered at any time.

There is no problem in recruiting either special agents or clerical help. From all parts of the country and from the territories comes a flow of applications from those who have read of the FBI or have been influenced by movies, television, radio or reports from friends.

Many recruits are recommended by men and women already working for the FBI. Many fathers and sons, brothers and sisters, mothers and daughters are FBI — and now the grandsons of former employes are entering the service.

(Tomorrow: The Enemy Within.)

HIGH FINANCE—Father Simon, noted French "diving priest," makes his 46th high dive to raise funds to build homes for his needy parishioners. From the top of the 110-foot tower, the 43-year-old priest heads for the icy waters of the Marne River at Nogent, France.

He Bars Nudes for Bar

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)— At 65, Paul Hubbard claims he's painted more Barroom Michaelangelo. But he's alive. In fact, he's been called the Barroom Michaelangel. But he's never painted a nude above a bar.

"Just beautiful scenery—outdoor scenery, I mean. And they end up liking it that way," explains Hubbard who specializes in pastoral scenes or maybe water pictures with a swan or two thrown in for a bonus.

He Better Be Psychic

RICE LAKE, Wis. (UP)— Pity the poor postman!

Orville Olson and Orville J. Olson live two houses apart here.

And then there are Tom Quinn and Martin Quinn who are next door neighbors.

Napkin Float Winner

DURANT, Okla. (UP)— The prize-winning float in a parade sponsored by Southeastern State College was made out of 100,000 paper napkins of all colors, sizes and shapes.

In Again, Out Again!

OSCEOLA, Ark. (UP) — Garner Robbins won his race for alderman against Tim Bowles—but not the way he expected.

After Bowles was declared the winner by six votes, Robbis filed suit, charging that the absentee votes were illegal.

Hot Ideas, but Expensive

Some 50,000,000 tourists now travel to foreign countries yearly, spending an estimated $5 billion. Paris figures indicate.

Bob Considine Says:

Nixon Ages Under Rockwell Brush

WASHINGTON (INS) — Things I never knew until I invested one dollar (tax included) in a slick 48-page document named "Official Program — 43rd Inauguration — 1957."

Norman Rockwell's cover makes Dick look older than Ike . . . the first home the Eisenhowers had after their marriage was a two-room quarters at Fort Sam Houston. The Nixons first lived in a small apartment across the Potomac River in Alexandria, Va., when he entered national politics in 1947 . . . the first inaugural ball was held in the spring of 1789, "when gentlemen in powdered wigs and handsomely gowned ladies danced the minuet before George and Martha Washington . . . it was held at a dance hall on Broadway, not Roseland.

President Harrison in 1841 established the practice of multiple inaugural balls. Wilson would have nothing to do with these fetes at all, and Harding, Coolidge and Hoover followed suit. F. D. R. restored the practice.

Jackson invited the mob home to the White House after taking the oath of office and it returned his kindness by stripping the curtains off the windows, cutting the cloth from the chairs and stealing the silverware. Great vats of booze were taken out on the White House lawn to lure the vandals out of doors; so the doors could be locked and the windows bolted.

WHOOPED IT UP

The people must have whooped it up real good when G. Washington placed his hand on the Bible and promised to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States." The program notes "the cheering of the people in the street below (Federal Hall, NYC) nearly drowned out the President's voice. Cannon roared. Church bells pealed. It was a joyous occasion for all but Washington himself, who seemed almost overwhelmed by the responsibiljty he had taken upon his shoulders.

Lincoln, gaunt and haggard, stood on the steps of the unfinished capitol on March 4, 1861, and said to the South: "In your hands, my dissatisfied fellow countrymen, and not in mine, is the momentous issue of civil war. The government will not assail you. You can have no conflict without being yourself the aggressors.

"You have no oath registered in heaven to destroy the government, while I shall have the most solemn one to 'preserve, protect and defend' it." A month later, Fort Sumter was fired upon. A month after his momentous second inaugural address "with malice toward none, with charity for all, etc." he was dead.

President Eisenhower's deeply religious nature is reflected in the program. There is one rather poignant picture of him, taken at Pittsburgh Oct. 9, 1956, as he was about to say:

"No one man—certainly not I—nor any political party could ever truthfully pretend that his efforts—or its efforts—alone can bring all good things to pass. But I dare speak a simple belief and — a simple prayer. I would dare believe that history may say that, during the years of my first administration, the faith of our people in the growth of peace and of justice grew steadily stronger.

"And I would pray that—if it be the people's will that I continue my present service—the years of my second administration may prove that—thanks to the labor of all Americans—this faith was justified."

Milk Takes Price Cut

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Farmers serving the Battle Creek market have received a 15 cent per hundredweight cut in the price they receive for milk processed for drinking. The change will not affect retail prices. Dairy operators said the adjustment was necessary because of competition from outstate dairies.

Shevitz Heads MFEPC

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission has re-elected Sidney M. Shevitz, a Detroit attorney, as its chairman. Mrs. Arthur Cook of Greenville was re-elected secretary.

WHO'S AFRAID? — Any wolf would have a tough time devouring this grandma. The face under that night cap belongs to the old specialist in horror, Boris Karloff, dressed up for his rode in a television production of "Little Red Riding Hood."

Planes Land Piggy-Back

TULSA, Okla. (UP) — Two light planes landed piggy-back fashion at Tulsa North Airport but both pilots walked away from the wreckage. Al Kobel, manager of the private field, said the swift airplane of Paul E. Lee landed atop the other piloted by Arthur Rody as they made a final landing approach. Rody was thrown from his plane by the impact. Neither craft burned but both were extensively damaged.

Texas Church Burns

MIDLAND, Tex. (UP) — Fire roared through the First Christian Church of Midland Yesterday, causing an estimated $250,000 in damage. The Rev. Clarence Saint made the damage estimate. Cause was not determined. No one was injured.

Britain's first large-scale synthetic rubber plant will be biult at Fawley, England, to produce 50,000 tons a year—the amount now imported from America.

Taipei Drops Leaflets

TAIPEI (UP) — The Chinese Nationalist air force peppered Shanghai and other Chinese Communist air bases before dawn today with safe-conduct passes and pleas to Red China airmen to defect to Formosa with their planes. The air force said all its planes returned safely.

Mussel Farms on British Coast

Shellfish Rich Source of Vitamins, Minerals Much Liked in Europe

WASHINGTON—The British are farming the sea with mussels, much as the land is farmed with more common crops.

This is a practice of long standing in France and Holland, the National Geographic Society says. In the United States, however, huge beds of the shellfish go ungathered because few Americans like to eat them.

The edible mussel (Mytilus edulis) is a bivalve mollusk, having two shells hinged together, like the oyster or clam. It abounds on the Atlantic coasts of both Europe and the United States.

A food item for ages among Europeans, mussels probably were first "cultivated" by Patrick Walton, an Irish ship captain wrecked in the Bay of Biscay in 1235. Walton set poles in shallow water to hold bird nets. Later he found that young mussels clustered on the poles and grew better than those in the mud.

Captain Walton set out many stakes for the shellfish. Not one to miss a chance, he placed them so they became fish traps as well.

Miles of stakes now produce mussels along the French shore. Similar "bouchots" have been placed as an experiment in the Wash of England, an inlet of the North Sea.

Planted on the bouchots as young, the mussels thrive on the teeming microscopic life of the shallow water. When of marketable size, they are harvested.

PREPARED MANY WAYS

Like oysters or clams, mussels may be eaten raw, steamed, fried, roasted, in fritters or in chowder.

Nutritionists of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service say the shellfish are rich in riboflavin and vitamin A. They contain iron, copper, iodine, magnesium, phosphorus, and calcium.

★ ★ ★

An effort to get Americans to eat mussels during the protein-short days of World War II had little effect. New England shellfishermen, finding mussels more available than anything else, canned and shipped them over the country. The mollusks were eaten sparingly.

Those who would dine on mussels are faced with the problem of getting open the hard, black shells.

Sea gulls, which thrive on mussels, carry them high in the air and drop them on rocks to break the shell.

The starfish, a gluttonous inhabitant of mussel beds, simply puts its arms around the shell and pulls the two halfs apart. Then the starfish projects its stomach into the shell to engulf the meat.

The oyster drill, a small snaillike mollusk, cuts a little round hole through the mussel shell with its rasping tongue. Presently, the mussel is no more.

Empresa Electrica, which supplies Quito, Ecuador, with power, has a $5,000,000 World Bank loan to triple its output by hydro and thermoelectric projects.

Aspiring Candidate for Vice Presidency

This country's next presidential election is quite a piece away, but one coy candidate has already let it be known that he's an aspirant for the nomination of Vice President on the Democratic ticket.

Without a doubt, we could think of a worse prospect, but it would require a little thought, a little work and it certainly wouldn't come easily.

★ ★ ★

The hopeful Senator Morse is a turn-coat who was elected to the Senate originally as a Republican but who swapped horses in mid-stream and became a Democrat.

That's what he is now.

At least he was this morning.

★ ★ ★

Competent appraisers from the Far West, unhesitatingly, pronounce Senator Morse one of the worst speakers it has been their misfortune to encounter in a r i g h t, s m a r t spell of time. There seems to be an amazing unanimity of opinion in classifying him as one of the greatest bores of this era. And that takes a lot of doing as this period has spawned some dillies.

★ ★ ★

Committee Endorses Membership in ILO

As a result of questions raised by the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, the Departments of State, Labor and Commerce appointed a committee to study the International Labor Organization (ILO).

★ ★ ★

The committee headed by Joseph Johnson, President of the Carnegie Endowment of International Peace, was asked to look into "the effect of the activities and functions of ILO in terms of U.S. interest, including domestic and foreign policy aspects." The five man group also was requested to consider to what extent it would be feasible to take measures to improve ILO to make our participation more effective.

Outspoken criticism by American employers who had been members or advisers on the U.S. delegation to ILO was the reason for the committee's appointment. The criticisms were embodied in a resolution passed by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce on January 28, 1956.

The Chamber charged among other things that ILO activities had gone far afield from the original purpose of achieving social justice in labor-management relations. Other charges were undue interference in the internal affairs of nations; being used as a forum for statism and socialism and that Soviet Union membership made a mockery of free and independent employer and worker representation.

The committee found that the ILO is an important organization of which the fullest possible use should be made in promoting human welfare. It recommends that the U.S. Government make vigorous and sustained efforts to call the attention of the American people to the purposes, objectives and activities of the ILO. This body is the sole specialized agency of the United Nations devoted to improving management and labor standards throughout the world.

The report says that ILO is not of great importance to the well-being of American workers or for promotion of good industrial relations here. The standards already attained in this country are generally higher than those proposed by the ILO.

Nevertheless, the committee believes this Specialized Agency of the United Nations should continue to receive our wholehearted support. It urges that the State, Labor and Commerce Departments take all possible steps to implement that support with respect to United States participation.

"Physicians are making much greater progress in coping with disease than preachers are in coping with sin," says a physician. Yes, but those who need the services of physicians are cooperating with physicians far better than sinners cooperate with preachers.

In recent years Tito has done quite well working both sides of the street, but he is presently overplaying his hand on the Red side to the extent that he may even arouse the suspicions of rather obtuse Uncle Sam.

Trouble: What you seldom get into by what you don't say.

The Belding Banner-News

who is well known in the Pontiac area where he spent many years: "He has carved a special niche for himself in the welfare of our community. He has not only spearheaded an admirable progressive movement in his church, which resulted in its emerging from a quagmire of debt, but has been an integral part of community affairs. We salute him as a fine citizen." Rev. and Mrs. Johnson will live at Lakeview, near Belding.

now can be individualized in some models by the addition of a third color, making available about 150 more combinations.

Slight Waver in the Sobriety Test

War Threat Clouds Inauguration

WASHINGTON — Inaugurations come and inaugurations go—but wars or threats of war seem to go on forever. Every administration since the turn of the century has been deeply engrossed in the problem of war—either through the participation of American troops or through efforts at disarmament and the prevention of enlarged conflicts at arms.

This is the tragic story ever since William McKinley was inaugurated President on March 4, 1901, even as American forces were still in Cuba and the Philippines and at other outposts in the Pacific following the Spanish-American War of 1898.

On March 4, 1905, when President Theodore Roosevelt was inaugurated, the war between Russia and Japan was raging. It was settled through the intervention of the President with a peace treaty signed at Portsmouth, N. H., in September, 1905. Then in 1907 a peace conference of 42 nations met at the Hague and talked about a world court but got nowhere.

On March 4, 1909, when William Howard Taft was inaugurated there was a delicate situation with Japan as Tokyo and Washington officials had been jockeying for a better balance of interests in the Far East. There were troubles in Latin America, too, and soon American Marines were landing at Nicaragua. Intervention by the United States in Mexico was threatened in 1911 as a large part of our army was mobilized in Texas.

MEXICAN DICTATOR

On March 4, 1913, Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated. It was just a few weeks after President Madero of Mexico had been assassinated and Victorian Huerta, the dictator, came to power—an event that was to be followed by the seizure of Vera Cruz by American military forces in order to forestall an attempt by a German ship to supply arms to Huerta through that port.

Within 17 months World War I broke out and America found herself in a critical position as the Kaiser's government started to sink American and other neutral ships with a loss of many lives of innocent non-combatants.

On March 4, 1921, Warren Harding was inaugurated President and he called a disarmament conference of the major powers concerned with the Pacific in an effort to stabilize conditions in that area. Limitation of naval armament was agreed to along with several treaties pledging mutual consultation.

BAR POISON GAS

There was a pact to bar the use of poison gas and unrestricted submarine warfare. Meanwhile in Europe, France and Belgium soon moved troops into the Rhineland to enforce the payment of German reparations. A situation began to develop which became more and more critical for the whole world.

On March 4, 1925, President Coolidge was inaugurated after having succeeded to the office at the death of President Harding in August 1923. The period was marked by efforts to get universal approval of the Kellogg-Briand treaty to "outlaw wars of aggression." But while 62 nations signed it, nothing was pledged by any country as to what action would be taken if an aggressor did start a war.

On March 4, 1929, Herbert Hoover was inaugurated President. He strove for world peace and sent American delegates to Geneva for an international conference on limiting armaments. But the conference failed. In 1931 Japan moved into Manchuria and Secretary of State Stimson in vain called upon Britain and the other powers of the world to denounce the aggressor and do something about it. But the effort failed and the aggressor went unchecked.

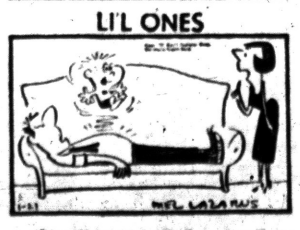

On March 4, 1933, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated, Adolf Hitler had already become dictator in Germany a few weeks before. Then the sequence of events began that led to World War II. Italy invaded Ethiopia. The League of Nations faltered. Hitler seized Austria and then Czechoslovakia. The Spanish civil war—beginning in July, 1936—saw Communists and anti-Communists from other countries participating on opposite sides.

In November, 1936, Italy, Germany and Japan formed a military alliance which was to be broken up only after the worst war in all history. Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated in 1937 as the world was moving toward a global conflict.

The clamor for peace—for some device to persuade nations to refrain from fighting each other in war—has continued throughout the decades. It is reflected in the policies of President Eisenhower as expressed in his inaugural addresses in 1953 and 1957.

LI'L ONES

"You'll have to find some other place to play as soon as Daddy stops hiccuping."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Adapt Regeneration Diet to Your Individual Need

The corrective-protective, reduction, basic health diet outlined in Little Lesson 16, The 7 Keys to Vite, (for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope), may be called also a rejuvenation diet or a regeneration diet.

The diet as outlined totals 2,100 calories—not enough for an adult who is confined to bed or chair. It is intended merely as a pattern on which to build your own diet to suit your particular needs.

People looking for a short cut to vite or an easy way to dispose of slacker flesh will probably lose interest when they discover that there is (1) no refined carbohydrate and (2) no tea, coffee or cocoa in the diet.

But any one who merely wishes to build a good everyday diet to live on can fatten the caloric count by adding plain wheat—as suggested in the recipes in the pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

As for tea, coffee, or cocoa, any one over 16 years of age may take one or two cups of any of these beverages daily, but not children under 16.

DIETS FAULTY

Calling the basic health diet a regeneration diet may well remind us that the everyday diet of most Americans is degeneration diet. That is, it inevitably leads to premature decline in vitality, that is, to physical degeneration which is manifest as decay and loss of teeth, pyorrhea, rheumatiz, hardening of the arteries, premature senility.

Degeneration (cells wearing out and dying) goes on constantly in the body, but to the peak of physical growth and development (age 35 to 40) regeneration (production of new cells) keeps pace with it and accordingly the man or woman is or should be at his or her very best in every respect at this age.

As we live today, largely on ultra-refined food robbed of its vitamins and minerals, our vite, our capacity to replace dead or worn out cells with new young cells begins to decline earlier and so many persons are obviously aging before they reach 35.

Besides using the basic health diet pattern for building your own everyday diet, you may receive considerable help from the pamphlets Wheat to Eat and Young Folks and Old Folks, either of which is free if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope. If you ask for both, inclose 25 cents.

On the other hand, if you don't believe everything you read you may argue that by adhering religiously to this regeneration or rejuvenation diet one ought to outlive Methuselah. That's a fair assumption. The only trouble is nobody has cared enough to try it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Commissioner's Banning Only Defeats His Purpose'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Just how did that Detroit police commissioner become such a qualified critic of literature and art? First he made a big scene over a piece of sculpture that was perfectly decent and in good taste. Now he's banning books he doesn't feel are good reading for his 17-year-old son.

It sounds to me that the Commissioner hasn't read a book since Robinson Crusoe. Writing styles have changed as well as everything else, and whether it's for better or worse, he isn't going to change that. His teeth would probably curl if he could read some of the books that were required assignments in our college contemporary literature course. As for the art and sculpture, if he had ever walked by some of the masterpieces in the Detroit Art Museum, he probably would have closed that long ago.

The silly part of the whole thing is that he's completely defeating his purpose. I'd never heard of the book, but now, being human, I'm dying of curiosity and will probably read it the first chance I get. And though he may think his son is above all that, I wouldn't be surprised if the boy were soon caught with it hidden inside another book jacket. Nothing's sweeter than forbidden fruit.

'Streets One-Way on Both Sides'

Pontiac drivers still have to learn that one-way streets mean both sides of the street. I saw ten cars on Lawrence, one behind the other, when the last five could have pulled out of line and driven up with the leaders. It's one way on the left hand side as well as the right.

'Flying Saucers' Alive, He Says

An article, "Ike Seeks Control of Space Weapons," spoke of international control of such weapons and of earth satellites capable of observing preparations for war. The fact is that the United States has been under observation ever since 1947, when the people of this nation saw "flying saucers." They are not flying saucers. They can interpenetrate anything. I know who they are and why you are being observed. You shall know more about them after Nov. 19, 1957. If the United States launches satellites, take care! What you call flying saucers are alive! The scientists may loose the band of the red star, which would cause it to uziate! They are alive! They are not flying saucers!

'Rather Pay Now and Prevent War'

A lot of people kick against the Federal budget's four billion dollars in foreign aid. I'd like to ask them one question.

Would you rather pay your tax share of that now and maybe some more next year and the year after, or would you rather let those impoverished nations stand up against Russia without a cap pistol to fire in return?

Do you want to encourage the Russians to start another war? We'd be dragged in and then you kickers would pay ten or twenty times that tax and send your sons into battle.

Four billion dollars a year is cheap insurance. Otherwise, you may buy your sons, grandsons, brothers, husbands and lovers some new uniforms and push them into the bloodiest conflict of all time. Soldiers, sailors and civilians would be slaughtered in untold numbers and cities all over the world would be laid waste.

Take your pick. Most individuals will pay less than a dollar a year to make that foreign aid possible. I'm a wife, a mother and a sister. I have six men involved. I love them all and I want to play safe.

S.

Tells Government 'Do as You Say'

I voted for Dwight D. Eisenhower. If we had to vote again next week I'd certainly vote for him over Egghead and I'd vote for him in preference to "Give-'Em-Hell" Harry.

However, I want to protest against his current budget. He says the unions and business must stop raising prices and stop forcing inflation. I grant they're both as guilty as they can be. And yet, what kind of an example does the Administration set for economy when it presents a bigger budget and no tax relief?

Mr. President, can the pot call the kettle, etc?

Victim

'Drop Joe's Tax? How About Mine?'

A letter signed "Gym" suggests Joe Louis should be forgiven his taxes. How about forgiving mine? The rest of us never did have anything like his income and we have to pay every cent on our small amounts. Why shouldn't he pay on his big amount? If he spent the money, that's his fault.

I think he was a fine champion, but why should his income be sacred because he got it pounding other prize fighters around a twenty-foot square?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Get Rid of Your Stuttering Habit

Garry Moore was a high school stutterer when he first tried out for a school play. But he overcame his slavery to this nuisance habit. And so can most of you. If you will follow the psychiatric advice outlined below, for stutterers are usually enslaved by a childhood habit.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Yet he was a confirmed stutterer in high school!

In a very interesting sketch in Guideposts recently, Garry says that he stuttered from the time he said "G-G-Good morning" till he concluded the day with a "G-G-Good night."

"Dr. Crane, how could a stutterer become a successful actor?" you may well inquire.

Well, it was a stutterer who likewise became the world's foremost orator in ancient Greece. That stutterer was named Demosthenes.

Garry Moore says he was petrified with fear when he was asked to read a few lines of the script during the tryouts for the high school play.

STUTTERING PSYCHOLOGY

But he read the lines smoothly. For he hadn't realized that stuttering is a very specific type of bad habit.

The victim stutters when he speaks his own thoughts in a conversational tone and to his human companions.

But when he recites somebody else's words, he doesn't stutter, and that was what Garry Moore was doing during the tryout for the school play.

In psychology and psychiatry we chart the stutterer's problem by means of a triangle, for stuttering usually starts when a persons is "burned" (humiliated) while speaking in a normal tone in his native language to fellow human beings.

Those three corners constitute what I have long described as the typical "Stutter Triangle."

And as soon as the confirmed stutterer changes any one of the three corners of that triangle, he can reduce his slavery to his stuttering habit.

For example, if he imitates a ventriloquist, that will stop his stuttering or if he reads aloud or pitches his voice higher or lower than his usual conversational tone, he can usually speak smoothly.

For any such artificial device changes that first corner of the "Stutter Triangle."

Again, if he speaks in a foreign language, he can usually eliminate his stuttering, for he was talking in his native tongue when his stuttering complex originally developed.

Third, if he speaks to dogs or to horses or even recites to the waves of the seas, as Demosthenes is reported to have done, he alters the third point on the triangle.

STUTTER TRIANGLE

Fear and general nervous tension were usually linked with the original slip of the tongue which initiated stuttering, so it also helps to relieve the self-consciousness of the stutterer.

Have him join the "Compliment Club" wherein he turns his attention outward upon other people, instead of himself, as he looks for merits on which to phrase his bit of praise.

And you parents must not be neurotic or hold up too high goals for your offspring, since stuttering often begins in socially oppressed and timid youngsters.

If you are now an adult stutterer, bit down upon your tongue and hold it imprisoned between your jaw teeth as you launch upon your first sentence.

That artificial act alters the first corner of the "Stutter Triangle" for it changes the normal conversational position of the tongue.

So declare a revolution! Demolish your old slavery to stuttering. And take hope, for many of our stars on the stage and lecture platform were originally stutterers.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Red Infiltration Recognized as Insidious Danger

Arab Youth Desires Firm, Clearcut Western Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(U) Foreign News Analyst

The young, Western - educated Arab slammed his fist on the table in anger.

"How long," he demanded, "must I go on being ashamed for my own people? How long must I go on despising the rulers of my own country?"

My young friend—call him Sa'ad—frankly described himself as a member of the growing group of young people calling themselves the "Mutathemurin"—the disgusted ones of Iraq.

"You Americans speak of a vacuum here. It is not military. The young people of the Arab world will make its future for better or worse. You must help give them something to look forward to."

Will he welcome the Eisenhower doctrine?

If it means there will eventually be a clearcut American policy in the Middle East, Sa'ad will welcome the statement. He feels the absence of a common Western policy in the Middle East permitted Communist infiltration. The Communists made such strides that the Arab nations, recognizing the danger, outlawed the party and jailed Red leaders.

For Sa'ad and many like him, the President laid too much stress on military action and showed too little inclination to face up to the facts of life.

Both Arabs and Israelis have indicated that above all else they need a period of quiet — freedom from the interminable tension.

The danger is this:

Not a single Arab state in the Middle East can offer its people a firm promise of security. Not an Arab state in the area—possibly excepting Lebanon—can lay claim to any stability.

In addition, the Arab sense of injustice at the creation of Israel, and the sense of frustration at the superiority of Israel's military, economic and social life, add yeast to the growing ferment.

Arab leaders aware of this are frightened by the thought.

Most Arab leaders agree there is a Russian danger. It can be checked, they insist, not by Western domination but only by cooperation.

"Make us sufficiently strong to defend our own internal fronts and we will call on you if necessary to defend our frontiers," they are telling the United States.

"If we could wait for the dust to settle," one Arab leader told me recently, "if we could turn our backs on the problem of Palestine for a while, perhaps in five years or so we no longer would be in fear of Israel. Perhaps we could even live together with Israel."

See A-Powered Airliner by 1975

Ike's Aviation Adviser Predicting Supersonic Plane Travel in Decade

DETROIT (AP)— An experimental atomic-powered airliner will be flying by 1975.

In a talk before the closing session of the society of automotive engineers convention, Curtis said that supersonic air travel is also in the offing.

Engineers will be able, before 1975, to design and build supersonic jet-powered aircraft, he said, but operating costs will be higher than present aircraft.

Should such a plane be developed, he said, it would fly at 2 or 2½ times the speed of sound—about 1,500 or 1,900 miles per hour—at altitudes of about 55,000 feet.

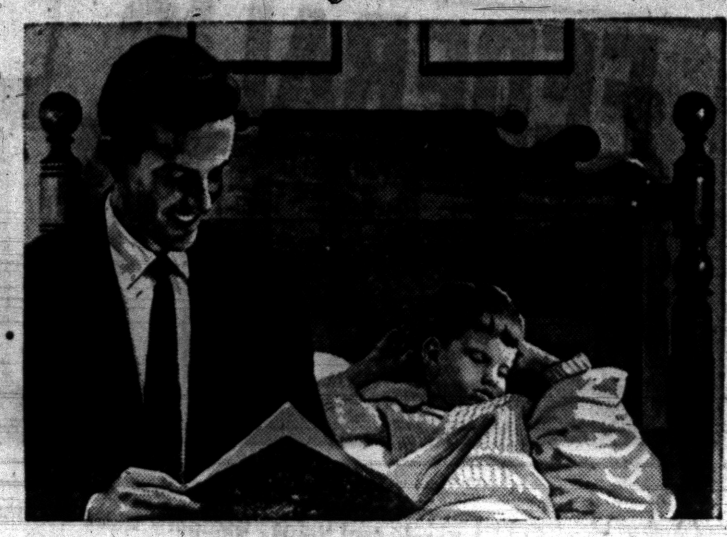

"Sometime during this period at least a prototype of a nuclear powered aircraft will undoubtedly be developed," he said.

Curtis said the White House study group he is directing into U.S. air needs in the next 20 years should complete its work shortly.

Curtis said that the survey would give airport operators a reasonably accurate estimate on the numbers and types of aircraft that will be operating in the next two decades and should be helpful in designing an adequate traffic control system.

Credit union laws have been enacted in 42 of the states. Massachusetts is generally credited with having the first such law in about 1909.

How to meet his future needs... now!

Just now, you may be confident that you will have the money for the education of your children. But who can prophesy what your situation will be in the 1970's? The answer is: You do not have to be a prophet.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has a new, flexible plan which can help you guarantee your children's future. It is called the Education-Estate Builder, and if you have young children, it can help to solve many of your future financial problems. The Education-Estate Builder works this way:

You take out insurance on the life of your son or daughter which provides, say, $1,000 a year for each of the four years of college. Then, when your child is ready for college, the money for college will be ready, too!

On the other hand, if the money is not needed for college or some other purpose, then each $1,000 of the Education insurance will become $5,000 of Limited Payment Life insurance for the same premium. The Life insurance then starts out with a cash value equal to the Educational Fund.

The Life insurance will become paid up in a limited number of years, the exact period varying according to your children's ages when the policy was taken out and when it becomes Limited Payment Life. If the decision is made to continue the insurance, no evidence of insurability as to physical condition or occupation will be required.

Under this plan, a $4,000 Educational Fund may thus become a $20,000 life insurance estate. Think how you would have liked such a nest egg at the beginning of your career!

This is a completely new Educational Plan which gives greater flexibility in planning your children's future than ever before. It can help to guarantee funds for education, or establish a sizable Life insurance estate at an early age when cost is low.

Your Metropolitan Representative will be glad to show you how this plan can be adapted to your particular needs. He will welcome the opportunity to prove that...

Salt Lake's Trestle Is Among Largest

SALT LAKE CITY — One of the longest railroad trestles in the world is a heavy timber structure spanning Utah's Great Salt Lake. The trestle, called one of the engineering wonders of the world when it was completed in 1904, is still in excellent condition. Engineers say it has another 25 years of useful life.

3-Year-Old Girl Dies of Burns

Tot Loses Long Battle; Skin Grafts Unable to Save Child's Life

CHICAGO (AP) — Plucky Cindy Evans has lost her two-month battle against burns which seared about 70 per cent of her small body.

The 3-year-old Decatur, Ill., girl died last night in her sleep in Children's Memorial Hospital. She was scorched from her neck to her knees when her dress caught fire while she was playing near a stove in her home Nov. 27.

On Dec. 28 doctors performed a delicate skin graft They said the 4½-hour operation was her only hope for life.

The skin was from another 3-year-old, Gilbert Case III of Chicago. The little boy was killed in an auto crash during the Christmas holiday and his parents offered the skin to the girl.

"I'll pray it will help," said Mrs. Genevieve Case.

Physicians said the boy's skin could not replace the dead tissue but would help prevent infection and loss of body fluid until Cindy's own skin began to grow. Only skin from an identical twin will grow on another person's body. Skin from a person not a twin will soon slough off, doctors said.

The operations were termed successful. Although Cindy remained on the critical list she apparently was responding to treatment.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Evans, have five other children and are expecting another child in May. They had left the hospital a few hours before Cindy died.

Jet Tankers Would Cut Hours Off World Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — If jet tanker planes had been available, three B52 bombers could have clipped about six hours from the time it took them to circle the globe last week.

That is the estimate of Lt. Col. James H. Morris of San Antonio, Tex., who piloted one of the three heavy jet aircraft more than 24,000 miles in 45 hours and 19 minutes.

Morris told newsmen the bombers could have "kept right on going" if that had been necessary. He voiced the opinion that the B5's range, when refueled in flight, is limited only by the physical endurance of the men who fly it.

During their round-the-world journey, the B52s were refueled at intervals by KC97 tanker planes which are driven by conventional non-jet engines. To take on fuel from these tankers, the heavy jets must slow down and drop to 20,000 feet — the maximum altitude that can be reached by loaded KC97s. The B52s also lose time in climbing back to their normal cruising level, which on this flight was between 35,000 and 50,000 feet.

In response to a question, Morris said "about six hours" could have been saved if the B52s could have been refueled by the new KC135 jet tankers, now in production.

Blaze Kills Father, Son; Wife Rescued

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — A young father perished yesterday in his blazing second-floor apartment after aiding his wife and infant son to leap safely into the arms of bystanders.

The body of Vernon Leon True, 25, was found in the charred rubble. Firemen said the $20,000 blaze was started by a gas explosion in the basement.

True's wife Judith, 20, told police she was awakened by the blast and roused her husband. Carrying their son Kevin Leon, 6 weeks, they attempted to escape by the stairs but were driven back by the heat.

Members of the football team at nearby Millikin University caught Mrs. True and her son without injury. True apparently was overcome as he attempted to reach another window.

Shift Naval Command to Offices in London

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today that U. S. Navy headquarters in London will take over direct command of American naval forces in Germany, effective June 30.

The announcement said the organizational change "does not involve the movement of any forces."

At the same time, the Defense Department said the Navy's advance base at Bremerhaven is being transferred gradually to the West German navy "on planned schedule."

In addition to the Bremerhaven base, the Navy command in Germany has included the U. S. Rhine River patrol.

Adrian President Talks at Area Church Service

Dr. John Harper Dawson, educator, minister and president of Adrian College, was guest speaker at the second in the series of five services sponsored by the Inter-Church Fellowship of Pontiac. All Saints Episcopal Church was host church for the Sunday evening service.

Dr. Dawson's topic was "Christian Hands."

Beginning with a hymn sing at 5:45 p.m. the Bible exposition was presented by Dr. John L. Cheek. Members of the host church served refreshments during the social hour.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Such a common thing as unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills have three outstanding advantages—act in three ways for your speedy return to comfort. 1—They have an easing soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Young Republicans to Express Ideas

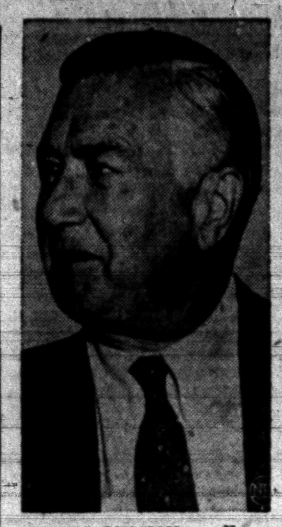

Oakland County Young Republicans will hold a new kind of discussion meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Birmingham Community House.

Chairman of the meeting, Jack Gibbs, said the discussions would draw out ideas of young men and women in the club.

He hoped this will lead to club members eventually taking a more active part in county politics.

Panels of five members each will be asked to present any and every idea on assigned subjects, Gibbs said. "We're not discouraging anyone from expressing whatever thought he may have," Gibbs said.

Because of this unusual feature, the discussions have been labeled "brainstorming sessions," Gibbs said.

HEADS MISSION — Former Rep. James P. Richards (D-SC) will head a presidential mission to the Middle East. He'll dicker for U. S. aid to Mideast countries. It's part of President Eisenhower's program to stabilize the area's economy. Projects include irrigation, highway and rail systems, widening the Suez Canal, and land reclamation.

Report Mountain Lions South of Los Angeles

ROLLING HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A veteran hunter and trapper says he is convinced "there's a pair of lions" in the Palos Verdes hills, just south of Los Angeles.

David R. Bentson's hunt said that fresh tracks discovered Saturday indicated that a male and female mountain lion are prowling the Palos Verdes Peninsula.

Last week workers and residents reported seeing large animals and one man, an experienced hunter, identified a beast he had sighted as a five-foot-long mountain lion.

Proclaim Jaycee Week in Honor of Founding

Mayor William W. Donaldson has proclaimed this week as "Jaycees Week" in Pontiac.

Stacks Parents of Girl

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Robert Stack and his wife, actress Rosemarie Bowe, are the parents of a 7-pound, 10-ounce daughter. The child, named Elizabeth Langford, was born yesterday — just three days before her parents' first wedding anniversary.

Car Buyers Go Gadget Happy

Study Shows Increase in Demand for Optional Gear on Autos

DETROIT (INS) — A three-year study of Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp. has revealed that Americans are getting more and more gadget happy when it comes to new cars.

The report showed Americans want more optional equipment made standard.

New car buyers have "overwhelmingly increased orders for automatic transmissions," while one-third of the 1957 car market wants full-time power steering. Over 60 per cent of the customers want radios and 30 per cent want dual rear antennas.

Buyers also want more windshield washers, back-up lights, whitewall tires, glare-proof mirrors and plastic steering wheels.

The only optional item listed in the report which has failed to keep pace is tinted glass. Only 20 per cent require such glass compared with 37.6 per cent last year.

Pole-to-Pole Advertising

FAIRBANKS (AP)— Its from one pole to another, more or less, for John F. Guerrero, a former student at the University of Alaska.

Guerrero, enroute to the Antarctic, wrote the university bookstore and asked for some tee shorts sporting the words "University of Alaska," and for a school pennant.

Guerrero told Mrs. Mary Hawes, bookstore manager, that he wanted to advertise the University in the South Pole region, where he will work for the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Productive Effort

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Midgie, a 7-month-old cross between a dalmation and a bulldog, may not have set a record for the most pups in one litter, but she tried. Ronnie Padgett, Midgie's master, said she gave birth to 13 pups recently. Ronnie's mother, Mrs. C. F. Padgett, confirmed the report. "We thought at first we had made a mistake in counting them," she said. "But we got two boxes and counted them out from one box to the other and, sure enough, there's 13."

Ladies Great in Songs But Men Are Beasts

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—D'you ever notice how most songs written about guys make them out to be slobs?

Lillian Roth, the Boston authoress and cafe thrush, is asking about it at the Plaza. Women in songs are always gorgeous—"A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," "Lovely to Look At," etc.

But the gents . . . well, take "My Man." He's not even workin.' "It cost me a lot, but there's one thing I got—it's My Man." This bum lets her pick up the tabs.

Then there's "Jim," another heel. "Jim doesn't ever bring me pretty flowers. (A real cheapie!) And "Bill"—"Bill is just an ordinary guy." (He's so ordinary, he's a real big nuthin'.) Two more male dillies we're always meeting in songs are just as bad . . . one is "Just a Gigolo," the other is always "Mean to Me."

JOY HARMON

"Why is it?" I asked Jane Kean, the pretty comedienne, and she replied, "I'll answer you in the words of another one — 'A Good Man Is Hard to Find.'"

Lovely Joy Harman of Westport, Conn., daughter of Homer Harman, is my Earl's Girl for this week — incidently she reminds people in a couple respects of Jayne Mansfield.

Jackie Gleason, as a gag, sent a live monkey and a banana plant to the apt. of Bullets Durgom (his mgr.) just off Park Av. Then Jackie phoned and warned him: "Don't get rid of it — or I'll send you an alligator!" . . . A guy I know from Richmond, Va., went over to "Auntie Mame" hoping to buy a single ticket. Suddenly a man came out!" shivering in the snow, and said, "Get inside — it's too cold to hang around out here!" The guy went in and occupied Standing Room—for free. Now he won't believe me when I tell him it's very hard to get tickets to NY's hit shows.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Wasn't Douglas Fairbanks Jr. sounded out by Ike on a big diplomatic post in England — and he a Democrat? . . . Lauren Bacall'll stay at the Frank Sinatara home in Palm Springs to get over the shock. (Frankie, returning to the Copa after a one-day layoff, was in good voice.)

Jack Benny's daughter Joan (Mrs. Buddy Rudolph) expects the baby in July . . . John Derek's started Mexican divorce proceedings.

Teresa Brewer didn't like the billing, so Edyie Gormel'll be on Jerry Lewis' Palace bill . . . Roy Hamilton, a top recording star two years ago — he retired on doctor's orders — returns to the business next week . . . Ronald Reagan's being urged to run for mayor of L.A.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

Things have a way of balancing out. Other people's troubles are never as bad as yours, but their children are always a whole lot worse.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Progress is having pedestrians dodge cars instead of horses."—Al Hibbler.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Rusty Darper tried his new car in midtown traffic and learned only one thing about it—the motor idles beautifully.

Comic Joey Bishop, featured at the Copa with Sinatra, says, "I don't understand the reason for the crowds. After all, I'm doing the same act I always did." That's earl, brother.

Smog is tough on clothes, says University of California textile chemist Rita Landry. It causes colors to fade and makes fabrics lose their strength.

Red Cross Awards First Aid Certificates

Mrs. Mildred E. Bennett, executive director of Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross, reports a total of 1,710 first aid certificates issued from January to December, 1956.

In a breakdown of the figures, 932 persons completed the standard first aid course, Mrs. Bennett said, while 121 persons finished the advanced course and 657 young people completed the junior course.

Her report showed further that volunteer first aid instructors for Pontiac General Hospital's emergency room contributed 1,474 hours in classroom attendence and service.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drugstores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Expect Sexton Case to Finish Tomorrow

Trial of former Pontiac police officer James B. Sexton, 30, on charges of shooting two friends almost a year ago, is expected to wind up tomorrow afternoon following a three-day recess.

Sexton is accused of the off-duty shootin of his cousin, Archie McCowan, 25, and James K. Stephens, 30, with his service revolver ealy Jan. 27. Both men recovered.

During the first three days of trial, medical testimony was introduced for Sexton's defense showing he was under the influence of a temporary brain injury. The prosecution argued Sexton was intoxicated.

The case is being heard before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland and a jury of five men and seven women. It will resume at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Life Replaces Apathy in Hospital Wards

Show Biz Comes to Aid of Veterans

By LEE CARSON

NEW YORK (INS)—Looking into the ward the men seemed strangely quiet. There was little if any conversation. Those in wheelchairs didn't move about. Apathy, like an anesthetic, stilled all life.

★ ★ ★

It took a great deal of effort to own an odd reluctance to disturb them. For time had been stopped by a bullet for these men.

These were the men, and the women, who had been left behind as the armies of democracy swept to victory in Europe, in the Pacific, and in Korea. Some would never leave the shining, antiseptic wards, halls and dayrooms. Some would, only to return.

Others had reached the point where they did not want to leave. This was safe. This was all. The clock had stopped. The band has ceased playing, the guests had departed and they were stranded here in this efficient, well-intentioned institution and hundreds of others like it throughout the nation.

They take meticulous care of our veterans. They do what they can, with the aid of various services like the Red Cross, to alleviate the terrible apartness and boredom.

SHOW BIZ HELPERS

But until a small group, formed within show biz itself, called the Veterans Hospital Radio Guild, literally barged into the veterans' hospitals and insisted that they make like actors, writers, producers and directors, all efforts to bring the wounded in body and mind back into the mainstream of life had failed quietly but with awful finality.

Basket-weaving, leather-plaiting, cheery little shows displaying the talents of both hopefuls and successfuls have their limitations. The vets were left outside and knew it.

The feeling of hopelessness and uselessness were only accentuated by the futility of both basket-weaving and the occasional invasions of "shows for our boys."

Under the guidance of Alex Kramer, a most successful songwriter and member of ASCAP, the Veterans Hospital Radio Guild got under way. Funds came from passing the hat and wheedling a little tax money from the networks. Volunteers came from every facet of the entertainment industry.

On the day I saw one of these volunteer units in action, the quiet of the ward was literally shattered as the small group of VHRG sashayed in, armed with scripts, music and a tape recorder.

The apathy melted under wide grin and enthusiastic questioning. Under the bandages, the pains, the deep-hidden fears and anxieties, lay bidden the hambone in us all.

TALENT RECRUITED

With the help of the VHRG volunteers, whose number includes top-flight actors, actresses, script writers, directors and producers, the veterans in some eight hospitals reachable from New York City only on radio shows line up talent from their own wards, stage such plays as "Caine Mutiny," and have a very outgoing good time.

★ ★ ★

There have been startling instances of self-recovery among the ill and wounded. A very handsome young Marine who was a difficult and withdrawn patient at Halloran Hospital not too many months ago is now a popular disc jockey in a Texas town.

The fact that he is a paraplegic doesn't bother him one bit. He learned the platter-and-chatter routine through a VHRG team.

There are thousands of stories. But the real story is the small group of hard-working professionals in show business who care enough throughout the weeks, months and years, to let the veterans know they not only aren't forgotten but that a place in the sun awaits them.

No Non-Holiday Day?

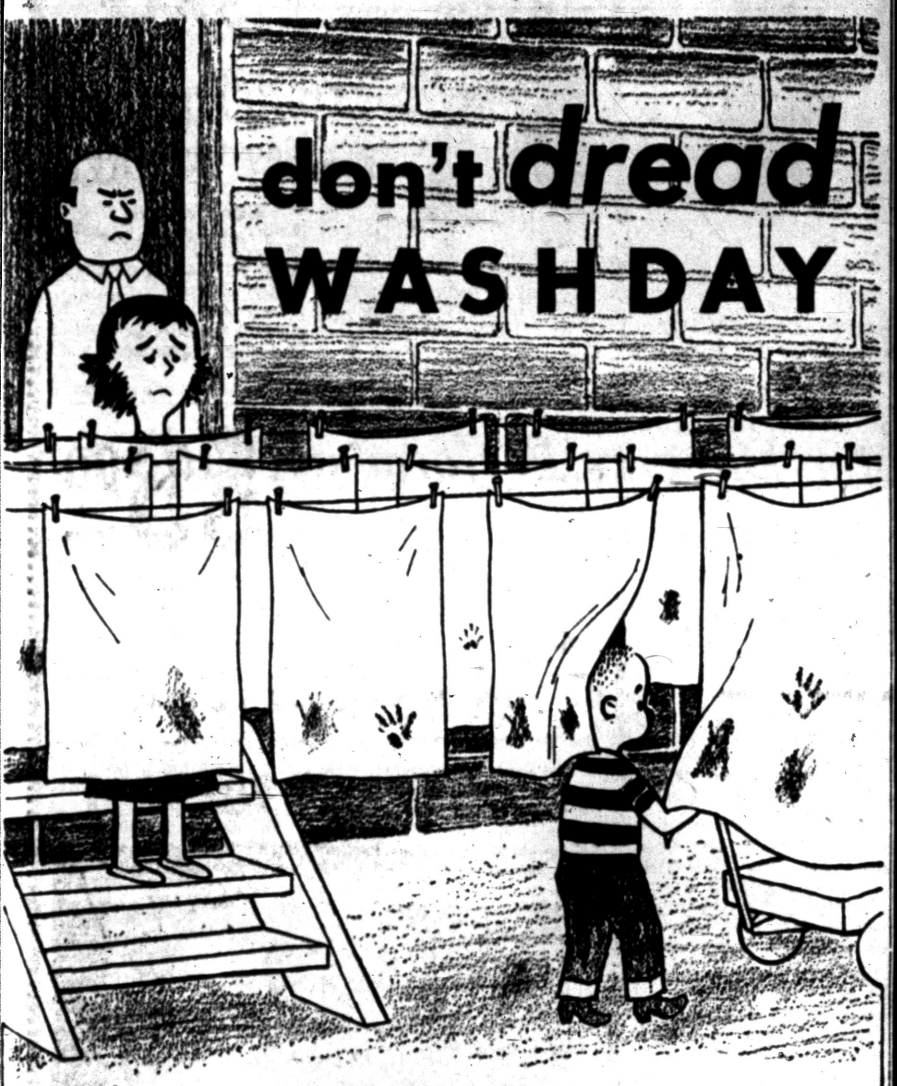

WASHINGTON — A booklet published by the United States Chamber of Commerce lists more than 300 business-promotion events, legal holidays, and religous observances for 1957.

Among the more unusual and interesting causes are: Tax Freedom Holiday, Save The Horse Week, Old-stove Roundup, Cat Week ("Help Save America's Cats — Adopt A Cat"), National Dog Week, and Mother-in-Law Day.

U.S. Shipbuilding High

NEW YORK — The United States now has under way the largest peacetime shipbuilding program in history. Last August there were 58 ocean-going merchant ships, including seven passenger vessels, being constructed, reconditioned, reconverted, or on order. For fiscal 1957 about $505,000,000 worth of new work, involving some 56 ships, is expected.

There are about 10,000 recognized species of the bacilli in the world.

Waving goodbye to their friends as they start out on a sleighride at the Mahlon Benson home on Old Orchard drive Sunday afternoon are (left to right) Carol Benson who invited her neighborhood friends for the event, Tammy Mahar of Crane street and Monica Ann Benson of South Tilden avenue.

"Mickey," the Benson's shetland pony, stands patiently while M. A. Benson Jr. and his son, Mahlon Benson III, arrange the harness. The Bensons entertained a group of friends and neighborhood children at a sleighride party Sunday afternoon at their home on Old Orchard drive. "Mickey" pulled the sleigh.

3 From Area Take Part in Festivities

Mr., Mrs. Rammes, Elaine Appel Join in Capital Whirl

Local residents attending the inauguration festivities in the nation's capital today include Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rammes of Rosedale drive and Elaine Appel of Orchard Lake. Mrs. Rammes and Elaine received invitations through the Eisenhower for President Committee, for which they worked preceding the election.

Their round of inaugural activities began with a luncheon Saturday at the Hotel Statler, given by the Citizens for Eisenhower committee. Sunday they attended a reception for governors and other dignitaries.

Elaine attended the Sunday reception for governors and also a reception for film celebrities. For the Inaugural Ball this evening she will wear a deep red tulle ball gown accented with white accessories.

Mrs. Rammes, who will attend the Inaugural Ball being held at the Hotel Sheraton, will wear a soft pink gown with a satin bodice and a bouffant tulle skirt. Completing her costume will be a small jeweled evening bag.

Mr. and Mrs. Rammes will return to their home by train Wednesday.

Mrs. John Mitchell Entertains Group

Mrs. John Mitchell of Spence street entertained members of the Esther circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church when Mrs. Edward McBride was welcomed as a new member.

Devotions were given at the meeting by Mrs. Lee Murphy on the topic, "Opportunity and Dedication."

Push Plans for Sorority Card Party

Proceeds from the bridge party, to be held at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building, will go to emotionally disturbed children at Pontiac State Hospital.

Mrs. Rex Parker is serving as general chairman. Others serving are Mrs. Winston Hopp, tickets; Mrs. R. R. Rippberger, door prizes; Mrs. Norman Nelson, publicity; Mrs. Carl Rose and Mrs. Marshall Rose, refreshments, and Mrs. Rudy Mazza, table prizes.

Plan Youth Parley

Larry and Gary Sherman were hosts in their Squirrel road home Thursday evening to members of the Ethel E. Little YTC Group. Plans were made for a Youth Temperance Conference to be held in Lansing in March.

Joffrey Theater Dancers Perform at Waterford

By FLORA WAGER

The Robert Joffrey Theater Dancers entertained members of the Waterford Civic Music Association with a varied program Saturday evening.

Straight from Broadway, the cast of five women and three men presented a program of classical, modern and musical comedy dancing. It was easy to see from Saturday's performance why Mr. Joffrey's Broadway productions are sold out in advance.

The first group, "Le Bal," with music by Chabier, was an interpretation of three diverse compositions, representing the classical period of ballet. The first movement was the humorous and sentimental "March Joyeuse" poking fun at the popular march-like dance music of the turn-of-the-century in Paris.

The well known "Habanera" admirably depicted the rendezvous of a lady and her three escorts. The popular "Espana" made up the third movement of this group, with a lively potpourri of Spanish dance tunes and rhythms.

In this group were Dianne Consoer, Francoise Martinet, Brunilda Ruiz, Beatrice Thompkins, John Wilson, Gerald Arpino and Glen Tetley.

Nest on the program was "Grand Pas de Deux," featuring Helenka Devon and Gerald Arpino in a duet with music by Tchaikovsky played by John Wilson at the piano. This difficult number was performed with lissome grace and beauty.

"A Young Man," danced by Gerald Arpino, remembers a succession of events—childhood, dreams a crime of honor when "The Intruder," Glen Tetley steals his fiance, Dianne Consoer, and his loneliness when rejected by his mother, Beatrice Thompkins, his father, John Wilson and a family friend, Matilda Ruiz.

After intermission, "Pas Des Deeses" showed the dancers in poses duplicating the famous lithograph of 1864 by Chalon. This was choreographed as a charming period piece showing the qualities which made famous the great 19th century dancers—Grahn, Cerito and Taglioni.

The music was adapted entirely from original and rare compositions of the Irish composer John Field. John Wilson at the piano showed again his mastery of music as well as ballet. According to Robert Joffrey, this number represented the Romantic Period of ballet.

The last group, "Kaleidescope," was a modern ballet of musical comedy type, presenting the dancers in a constantly changing pattern of solos and ensemble numbers, to the melodies of the George Gershwin. The finale of "Kaleidescope" was the "Piano Variations on 'I Got Rhythm'," known as "The Third Rhapsody," a tour de force of imaginativeness

Mrs. John Eisenhower, daughter-in-law of the President, and Mrs. John Doud, mother of Mamie Eisenhower, pose in gowns they'll wear at the inaugural ball tonight. Mrs. Eisenhower's gown is strapless shell pink satin with panier skirt and net flowing from under skirt with self bow trimming end of back satin panel. She will wear a Canadian white fox stole with the gown. Mrs. Doud's dress is purple chiffon with wisteria back drape flowing from shoulder to hipline.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower poses in her inaugural gown of citron colored lace over net and matching taffeta. The backsweep fullness is accented by a sweep of matching taffeta. The entire dress is embroidered in tiny pearls, iridescent, soft, yellow crystal drops and translucent topaz. The yellow beaded bag has a raised "M" on one side and "1957" on the other. She will wear a three-strand necklace of pale yellow pearls with matching bracelet and earrings.

Engagement Revealed at Party

BIRMINGHAM—Between 70 and 80 guests walked into the R. D. B. Moynahan home on Bonnie Briar road Saturday afternoon, ostensibly for cocktails but actually to hear news of the engagement of Kathryn Ann Moynahan and Phillip John Fowler.

Phillip, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Fowler of Lakepark avenue, attended Michigan State University. Kathie also attended State. Their wedding date will be announced later.

Among guests who attended Saturday's party were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Flannery of Toledo, brother-in-law and sister of the bride-elect, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fowler Jr. of Lansing, Phil's brother and sister-in-law.

Additional news in the Moynahan family concerns tiny Pamela Jean Dostal, who was born on Jan. 4 and whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Neil C. Dostal (Mary Louise Moynahan) of Bloomfield Hills.

With these matters of import checked off their personal calendar, Mr. and Mrs. Moynahan say they feel free to take off the end of this month for Houston, Texas.

They'll be houseguests there of Mrs. H. I. Stahlman, before going on to Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. Peterson Entertains CAR

Col. Steven Mack Society, Children of the American Revolution, met Thursday at the West Iroquois road home of Mrs. Everett M. Peterson, senior president. Barbara Shadley, junior president, presided and introduced Catherine Francis, a new member.

Shower Honors Patricia Kucera

Bride-elect Patricia Kucera, who will exchange vows on Feb. 9 with James T. Glynn, was honored recently at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Marlene Cook on North Perry street.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fran Kucera of Oliver street and Mr. and Mrs. John Glynn of North Johnson are James' parents.

PTA Activities

Executive board of Pontiac Council of PTA will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Crofoot School.

Sorority Slates April Style Show

Mrs. Robert Tedcastle will serve as general chairman of the fashion show to be sponsored by Beta Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority in April.

Plans for the show were completed at a meeting of the group held at the home of Mrs. Ward Ross on North Berkshire road.

Mrs. John Allen and Mrs. William Hutchinson are serving as cochairmen and will be assisted by Mrs. Ross, tickets; Mrs. Norman Haldane, refreshments; Mrs. Ward Cummings, prizes and Mrs. Ida Hiltz, tables.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to purchase a ceiling projector for the polio section of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The projector will be a memorial to Peggy Evans.

Announcement was made of the banquet to be held by the three chapters of Beta Theta Phi on Feb. 19 at the Elks Temple. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Melvin Taig showed slides of the history of Alaska.

Bring MSU Spirit to Inauguration

Bound for the inauguration were Members of the Men's Glee Club of Michigan State University. They are shown as they packed in East Lansing for their trip to Washington, for appearances at the inaugural festivities for President Eisenhower.

Debutante Cherishes Floral Gift

Eisenhowers Send Rosebud Corsage to Ann Brownell

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Among the souvenirs of her debutante days most cherished by winsome Ann Brownell, daughter of Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Herbert Brownell, is a corsage of tiny pink rosebuds in a lace paper doily frame sent her by President and Mamie Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

Ann made her bow to Washington society in palatial Anderson House where her sister, Joan, was presented two years ago. The same orchestra played for the dancing in the same pink marble ballroom.

Ann wore the same dress her sister wore, billowing white marquisette over a pink underskirt, an appliqued white silk, cap-sleeved, round-necked bodice.

Mrs. Brownell calls it the "deb dress." Joan, too, had a corsage of tiny rosebuds in a lace paper doily frame, also sent by Ike and Mamie.

Anne, tall and blonde in contrast to her brunette sister, now is attending Swarthmore College after graduating from the Orme Ranch School in Mayer, Ariz., near a family vacation spot.

Her escort for the coming-out shindig was good-looking Bruce Hagerty, son of Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty.

Other young blades in the stag line included John Dewey, son of former New York Gov. and Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, and Jim and Roger Rankin, sons of Solicitor General and Mrs. J. Lee Rankin.

HER HANDS FULL

Mrs. Brownell has had her hands full. Daughter Joan's marriage with all its attendant hoopla took place only a few weeks before Ann's debut. Joan is Mrs. James Beagan and lives in Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Speaking of the season's debs, the variety of flowers flown in for the coming-out ball of lovely Anne Thomas, daughter of Democratic Rep. and Mrs. Albert Thomas of Houston, Tex., was none other than "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

They were arranged in huge gilded fans decorating the ballroom.

Meeting Conducted by Rebecca Circle

Mrs. Paul Allen of Oliver street opened her home to members of the Rebecca Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church. Eleven members attended the Wednesday evening meeting.

Mrs. Clayton Gillies opened the meeting with the reading of a poem "The Test." Devotions were given by Mrs. John Fuller using the theme, "Only God Knows." The February meeting will be held with Mrs. Floyd Parks of Lowell street.

Phi Alpha Kappa Sorority Meets

Plans were discussed for a white elephant sale to be held at the next meeting, when Peggy Neil will entertain in her home on Willard street.

Cream Corn Makes Good Pancakes

Mrs. Herveat Says Her Boys Delight in Griddle Cakes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Corn Oysters make a good winter meal. Children love them. And they are so easy to make.

Mrs. Leah Herveat is today's cook. Her friends will be happy to know that she is feeling better after being confined to her home for many months with illness. She is unable to participate in her usual activities these days, but does a lot of knitting.

CORN OYSTERS
By Mrs. Leah Herveat

1 can cream style corn
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter
Salt and pepper
Flour

Mix corn, egg, melted butter and seasonings. Add enough flour to make a thin batter like a pancake batter. Fry like pancakes on a hot griddle. Makes about 10 medium sized oysters.

Mrs. Veazey Talks to Mothers' Group

Mrs. Richard Veazey of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company spoke at the recent meeting of the Mothers' Club of the Boys' Club. Her topic was "Color Comes Calling."

Hostesses for the meeting held at the Boys' Club were Mrs. Francis Amos, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Eugene Affolder and Mrs. Arthur Dodson.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Affolder will serve refreshments at the Jan. 26 "Teenage Dance" sponsored by the Boys' Club.

Deborah Circle Holds Meeting

Mrs. Joseph Wagley opened her Hammond street home Friday to members of the Deborah Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church. Mrs. Adrian Kempf was a guest at the meeting.

Mrs. Basil Meidlein gave devotions using as her theme, "What Manner of Persons Should We Be?" The opening prayer, "Prayer for Faith," was given by Mrs. Emerson Brown.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. R. Phillips on Summit street.

Church Groups Meet for Dinner

A cooperative dinner and meeting of the Gleaners and Loyal Men's Classes of Central Christian Church was held Thursday evening in Friendship Hall. Devotions were led by the Rev. G. W. Gibson.

Mrs. Gibson accompanied the group during community singing.

Dishes, clothing and pictures of earlier eras added atmosphere to the "Old Fashioned Party" enjoyed during the social hour. Mrs. Roy Riley and Mrs. J. H. Moon were in charge of games.

Mrs. Leonard Carter, Mrs. Maggie Bailey and Mrs. John Brewer were hostesses for the evening.

The dolman sleeve exaggerates top-heaviness. Set-in sleeves mounted high diminish shoulder and back width and, long sleeves, medium to narrow in width, reduce the contrast between the bust and hips which balances the top-heaviness.

Overeating Doesn't Build Up Your Strength

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Thousands of women already have begun their eight-week self-improvement Marathon and thousands more will be starting soon, to see how much they can improve themselves in eight weeks' time.

I am giving one day each week during this period to help you get the most out of your Marathon instructions. The large majority of women who join Marathon wish to lose weight, many of them as much as 20 pounds during this eight weeks. Others want to decrease only one measurement, or to correct some other defect in beauty.

I already have given you directions on how to plan your reducing diet. I suggest that you keep your calorie intake between 1,200 and 1,400 a day. However, remember that the number of calories a person needs is dependent on many factors such as build and height, age and physical activity.

Many women feel they are undernourished if they are thin and well nourished if they are fat. Just the opposite is often true. The fact that you are overweight even though you work hard about the house indicates that you are eating more than you need, and most likely the wrong kinds of food.

Many women lull themselves into obesity with the thought that they must "eat to keep their strength up" because they do a lot of work. Modern reducing diets are full of foods which build health and blood. If you have a lot of work to do you may add some more of the energy foods (carbohydrates).

BELOW NORMAL

However, do not forget that you are having more calories than you need if you are gaining weight. In order to lose weight you must cut your calorie intake lower than you normally require.

Twelve hundred calories is about right for most women. Hold it to 1,400 at the most. Eat a well-balanced diet and do not skip a meal, especially not breakfast. Good Luck! Actually you are making your own luck when you join Marathon.

If any of you latecomers wish to join the Marathon, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon Booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

VARIETY OF MOODS ESSENTIAL TO CHARM

Having a variety of moods is one of the characteristics of a charming woman. Unless she has a change of pace in her personality, she is likely to become humdrum and to make life dull for those about her.

She may be the gay companion at one time and the quiet understanding friend at another. She may be a student part of the time, and a jazz band enthusiast at another. She is serious or whimsical, warm or witty, depending on her mood and on the occasion.

This sort of variety in viewpoint and moods not only makes a woman fascinating and life exciting for those around her, but it is a guarantee that she will have many interests in different fields. She therefore will lead a most rewarding life.

Perhaps Nature's greatest charm is her infinite variety; the snow-covered earth and then suddenly a crocus peeping through; the searing heat of summer and then all at once, the first frost of fall; the quiet, deathly stillness just before the big blow of a hurricane; the bare, dark trees and then the very first blush of spring.

I feel sure that many women who are capable of change of mood do not invest in this talent. Because of inertia or the press of living, fatigue or discouragements and stresses of all sorts, they allow their personalities to settle as firmly and implacably as concrete.

SURPRISE FAMILY

If you feel that this has happened to you, one way to begin the reconditioning is to surprise your family with a new viewpoint or a laughter. The members of your family may fall off their chairs but they will be glad to do so!

We can get out of our mental straightjackets or at least get one of a new shape! We can surprise and jubilate our family with sudden sunshine after the storm we blew up, rather than go about looking glum for hours afterward. The fun of watching their astonishment and gratitude makes the whole thing fun and gets us on the road to more variety.

If you would like our leaflet "Hobbies," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 66 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Keep Chart of Activities; May Discover Bad Habits."

Pick Nominating Committees

Three Pontiac PTAs Hold Meetings

Members of three city PTAs met recently. Wisner, Walton boulevard and Crofoot PTA members held discussions and named members to nominating committees at the meetings.

Wisner PTA

Lester Stanley, principal of Hawthorne School, explained the need for the group formed to study the current method of reporting to parents at the Wisner PTA meeting.

Members of the study group, introduced by Mr. Stanley, include Kenneth Nagley, Eastern Junior High School; Perry Ninotti, Willis School; Mrs. Wayne Weaver, vice president of PTA Council; Mrs. William Mihalek, PTA Council president and Mrs. Claude Cook, of Wisner School.

Mrs. Marvin Powell, Mrs. Lester Lyons and Mrs. Fred Froede were named to the nominating committee.

Announcement was also made of the PTA Founders' Day dinner, Feb. 5 at Lincoln Junior High School.

Crofoot PTA

"Home and School Communications" was the program theme of Crofoot PTA when its members held the annual fathers' night.

Margaret Scott outlined the school theme. Use and values of audio-visual tools, in the classroom today, were also explained.

Recordings of several school and social activities, from the kindergarten through the sixth grade, were illustrated with projector slides in natural color and tape recordings.

Beth Rotsell, fourth grader, headed the student committee that prepared the narration, coordinating the activities and recording them on tape.

Walton Boulevard PTA

An invitation to the dedication and naming of the school at 2600 Dexter road was read during the meeting of the PTA of Walton Boulevard School.

The dedication will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. with Dr. Robert Martin, consultant in elementary education of the State Department of Education, as speaker.

Mrs. Dennis Burtch, Mrs. Leslie Dickerson, Mrs. Keith Parker, Mrs. Ann Galbraith and Mrs. Clarence Huemiller were selected for the nominating committee.

Mary Martha Unit Conducts Meeting

Mary Martha Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Herman Kunze on Spence street for a dessert luncheon. Devotions were given by Mrs. Ralph Clara and the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leo Mineweaser.

Guests for the day were Mrs. C. E. Clough and Mrs. Albert Barker, president of the WSCS of the church.

Mrs. Raymond Coombs will be hostess at her home on Chippewa road for the next meeting.

Mrs. Cromis Hosts Group Four, OES

Mrs. Ralph Cromis of Garland avenue opened her home Thursday to members of Group Four, OES, for a dessert luncheon-meeting. Mrs. John Bailey was cohostess.

Plans were made for a money making project in February with Mrs. Ray Haertter of North Marshall street as hostess.

Study Careers From All Angles

By ANNE HEYWOOD

What can you do if you have no idea which of several fields you are really interested in? How do you get information about what a field is really like?

★ ★ ★

The usual method, of course, is reading books on the subject and talking to people in the field. Both are fine if you bear in mind certain reservations.

First, read books about the fields you are interested in, certainly, but don't pay too much attention to the chapters on "Qualifications Needed."

As a rule, the authors of such books have an abiding, if subconscious, feeling that only they, and a handful of other highly gifted people, can succeed in the field. This, of course, is perfect nonsense.

If Shakespeare had read a book on playwriting, and especially the chapter on qualifications needed, he might never have written a play.

So just read for information about the field, and nothing else.

Generally, people are willing to talk to you, briefly, about their field. A polite letter, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and asking for a brief appointment, will usually work, unless it hits a successful person at a rush period in his business, or unless he is very well-known and constantly being bothered.

STICK TO SUBJECT

When you do see him, try to keep him on the subject of what the work is like, not on what it takes to get into it. The more he describes it, the better you'll be able to decide if you're interested.

★ ★ ★

Worry about how you're to get into it after you know what you want to get into.

A third good method is to read some of the trade magazines, that is, the magazines devoted to news of a particular field.

Every business, from baking to electronics, has its own magazine, written for and by the people in the field. Your local librarian will help you uncover it.

Sending for a copy or two, and really studying them, will give you a good idea of what the field is like.

Fourth, the trade associations in any field can be helpful, too.

All the major companies in any field usually band together and have an association, dedicated to furthering the interests of the field. Many of them put out booklets and other educational material, telling about their field.

There is an inexpensive directory of trade associations which your library may have. If not, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll tell you how to get it.

Marriage Won't Change Man's Basic Personality

By RUTH MILLETT

Wives are always deciding that if a husband loved them, he wouldn't do this or he would do that.

But love doesn't change a person's character or personality to such an extent that he changes all his habits and ways of thinking.

A lazy young man doesn't become an ambitious hard worker just because he takes a wife. He may talk big when he is trying to win a girl but after marriage he'll settle down into being himself.

A self-centered, selfish man doesn't change completely into a thoughtful, considerate husband just because he loves the woman he married. If he has always thought first of himself, the habit isn't likely to change.

A man who can't resist a pretty face won't suddenly become blind to other women's attractions simply because he has a pretty wife at home.

He may be true to her for the rest of his life but he isn't going to wear blinders to keep from taking a second look at a pretty girl.

A quick-tempered, irritable man isn't going to suddenly turn into a calm, deliberate person simply because life would run smoother for his wife if he could learn to take things as they come. However much he loves her, he isn't likely to change his disposition to make her happy.

That is why any girl who is thinking of marrying ought to be sure she wants to take him "as is" and not hope for the miracle of love to change him.

Men will do a lot of things for love but not often will they change themselves. Any wife who thinks, "If he loved me he wouldn't do such and such" is forgetting that fact.

Guest Skips One Party for Another

Hostess Is Hurt by Refusal of Invitation to Annual Affair

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: "For the past six or seven years friends of ours have given a New Year's Eve party to which my husband and I have always been invited. This year a business friend of my husband's gave a big New Year's Eve dance at the club and invited my husband and me. We accepted the invitation.

"A few days later our friend called and invited us to the annual party. I told her that we had accepted another invitation for that evening and wouldn't be able to come.

"She seemed very surprised that we had accepted another invitation. I have seen her once or twice since then and she acts very cold. Will you please tell me if she has cause to be hurt?"

Answer: If you could easily have gone to both parties then it would be perfectly proper to have accepted the invitation. Otherwise, you certainly owed it to the person who has always welcomed you and who counted on your presence at her party.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am about to buy some new stationary. I have always used plain white paper with a monogram. I'm a little tired of this and would like a color for a change. Will you please tell me what colors are considered in best taste?"

Answer: Blue is the one and only color that is unquestionably approved by fastidious taste—for men as well as women. Violet is permissible for women only, and of course, gray, which is not really a color.

"Dear Mrs. Post: In writing thank-you notes to relatives of my fiance as yet unknown to me, should I begin the messages with 'Dear Aunt Mary' or 'Dear Mrs. Smith'?"

Answer: Ask you fiance what you should do. It is likely that he will tell you to call them what he does.

Home Club Meets

Lakeshores Extension Group met recently at the home of Mrs. Anthony Gerzanics on Windcroft drive. Following the business meeting, a demonstration and discussion of "Accessories in the Home" was presented by Mrs. Clair Sherman and Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Sylvan Shores Women Gather at Lyons Home

Mrs. David E. Lyons opened her home on Sylvan View drive for the Wednesday meeting of the Sylvan Shores Women's Club. Mrs. Lyndon Salathiel greeted members and welcomed Mrs. Carl Leonard as a new member.

★ ★ ★

Robert Kingsbury presented a film, "Opportunity U.S.A.," and spoke on "Origin of Stock and Bonds." A discussion period followed.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Milo Struble and Mrs. Salathiel will host a coffee brunch on Jan. 23, following which members will sew for the American Cancer Soicety.

Group Hears Talk

Ora Hallenbeck spoke on the history and activities of the YWCA at the recent meeting of the Mary Lyon Group of First Congregational Church. Mrs Robert Clift of Scott Lake road opened her home for the meeting.

MRS. RICHARD E. HOEHNER

Jacqueline May Downer and Richard Edmund Hoehner were married Saturday. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John V. Downer of North Sanford street, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hoehner of Westacres.

400 Attend Church Rite Held Saturday Evening

In the presence of 400 guests Saturday evening, Jacqueline May Downer became the bride of Richard Edmund Hoehner. The ceremony was performed in St. Trinity Lutheran Church by the Rev. Oscar Gerkin of St. Mathew Lutheran Church, Walled Lake.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Downer of North Sanford street are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Emund J. Hoehner of Westacres are Richard's parents.

The bride wore a gown of French lace hand embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. The gown was fashioned with a modified V neckline, long hand tapered sleeves and a basque waistline.

Her headpiece, a princess crown of seedpearls and rhinestones, secured a fingertip veil of illusion. The only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and small earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Helen Schmidt of Birmingham was maid of honor. Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Jack Steinhelper of Dearborn, Anne DeFlorio of Commerce, Janet Leonhardt and Geraldine Leonhardt of Detroit.

They were gowned alike in white nylon chiffon with quilted red velvet bodice trim. The ballerina-length skirts were worn over a hoop. They carried red velvet muffs pinned with white carnation corsages.

Jane Marsh, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of white nylon tulle and French lace and satin ribbon trim. She carried a basket of red rose petals.

Glen Dick of Walled Lake was best man. Ushers were Robert Olsen of Detroit, Dave Couture, Albert Bryant and Gerald Turpin of Walled Lake. Richard Steinhelper of Dearborn was ringbearer.

For traveling to Washington, D.C. the bride changed to a navy blue wool sheath with matching accessories and the red rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. They will make their home on North Anderson street on their return.

State Educator to Address PTA

Hal Boyle Says:

Tycoon Washes 30 Million Diapers

NEW YORK (AP) — "The reason many uneducated men make successes in business," said Murray Cohen, who never finished grammar school, "is that subconsciously they seek security in money.

At 49 Cohen, who is as calm and restful as a bottle of benzedrine pills, really is a millionaire who probably doesn't idolize money. How can you idolize something you are making so fast you don't have time to count it?

There are a number of unusual things about Murray, a blue-eyed, sandy - haired philanthropist and businessman who was born poor on the Lower East Side and still wears the air of surety of one who broke his knuckles young, but still won. For example:

He went to work selling paper and twine at 14, and four years later was earning $40,000 a year selling laundry machinery.

He lives in a suite in the Waldorf Towers, and is the only tenant there who does his own laundry.

He is also a bachelor who washes 30 million diapers a year.

He is, as a matter of fact, president and board chairman of Consolidated Laundries, the world's largest firm in the field, and kingpin in the nation's 400-million-dollar a year linen supply and laundry industry.

In 1943 when he moved in and took over control of the company he was hailed as the youngest top executive of any firm on the New York Stock Exchange.

"It was losing money, and going downhill," he said. "Its annual business was about six million dollars and it hadn't paid a dividend in some 10 years. This year we'll do 22-million-dollars."

How did he do it? This is Cohen's explanation:

"I did it by molding the men I found there when I took over the firm. I didn't bring in men from the outside.

"We had about 2,000 employes then, and we have about 4,000 now, plus 800 trucks. All the managers of the 23 plants we have today were route delivery men or route supervisors when I came.

"I told them at the start their jobs were secure as long as I was there, but it was up to them to provide the kind of security that would permeate through to their families.

"I put in insurance, pensions and stock purchase plans. The measure of my own success is how many men I can help make successful. But I've been a salesman all my life. I believe in ringing doorbells, and that if you pound pavements and ask for business, you'll get business.

"So when they started to tell me what they'd been doing, or showed me a sheet of figures, I told them, 'I don't care what you did—that's up to you—and the only figure I'm interested in is the final one at the bottom of the page.'"

Cohen, who doesn't mind admitting he enjoys playing hard, also says he has kept the first promise he made to the men in his firm:

"I will work harder than any of you."

The results show somebody or something worked: Cohen now has 250,000 customers, a customer being either the mother of a newborn baby, a hotel like the Waldorf, or a whole chain of restaurants such as Longchamps, one barber shop or a series of beauty parlors.

"The rental of towels, napkins, tablecloths, and service uniforms is the big thing today," he said. "Dry cleaning and the handling of home laundry are minor compared to it.

"But diaper rentals interest me. Don't ask me why I never got married. It's a long story. I met a lot of girls I liked for two weeks, but then, somehow . . . well . . ."

"Babies interest me. We've found the average baby uses 100 to 120 diapers a week. The record was 320 a week. He was a boy. At first we thought the family must have had triplets.

"There are a lot of angles to this business . . . we own 10-million-dollars worth of linens, as we call cotton goods . . . we've got a new diaper now shaped like an hourglass instead of square . . . more efficient . . .

"You know how to deal with employes? First, make them have a real sense of belonging to your organization to give them emotional security. Then over-pay them—that gives them financial security. Nothing makes a man feel more secure than being overpaid."

Then Cohen, who is reported worth 15-million-dollars, give or take 5-million, remarked with the brooding air of a man who would like to have everything in life, and is still unreconciled because he can't:

"You know, I never went to college. That can give you an inferiority feeling."

Ecuador has a list of 29 small industries which it hopes to help establish themselves there, Quito reports.

Arab League Will Aid Jordan

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia sailed today toward the United States to tell President Eisenhower what four of the leading Arab countries think of his Middle East doctrine.

The Egyptian government announced that Egypt, Syria and Jordan had commissioned Saud to tell the President they reject the "vacuum theory" in the Middle East, major premise of the Eisenhower doctrine.

The Egyptian announcement said the four countries were resolved never "to become a sphere of influence for any foreign power." They took that stand at two-day talks in Cairo ending Saturday with a decision by the other three to supply Jordan with a 36-million-dollar annual grant to replace a British subsidy.

The announcement said the four had decided that Arab nationalism is the only basis on which Arab policy can be formulated.

King Saud and his all-male retinue of 65 boarded the American liner Constitution yesterday for the voyage to the United States. Under the colorful robes of the 56-year-old King's four Arab bodyguards were submachineguns and swords to protect their monarch. Six U.S. Marines and two FBI agents also were on hand to provide security.

The Constitution is due in New York Jan. 29. The King will begin his talks with Eisenhower in Washington the next day. He is expected to stay in the United States for about two weeks before returning to Cairo for further talks with Egyptian President Nasser and other Arab leaders.

Saud took with him to America two of his 40 sons but none of his four wives. A member of the party said one of the sons, 5-year-old Prince Manshur, would undergo a medical examination of his crippled hand.

27 Die on Taipei as Shells Explode

TAIPEI (AP) — Twenty-seven persons were killed yesterday in the accidental explosion of eight big shells after an artillery firing exercise near Taichung, central Formosa.

More than thirty others were critically injured.

Three of the dead were soldiers. The rest were in a crowd of civilians who had gathered to collect shell fragments to sell as scrap metal.

The three Nationalist soldiers were hauling the shells when one fell to the ground, blew up and detonated the rest.

Officer Blames Theater Scuffle on Rock 'n' Roll

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police Lt. Ray Moran blamed it on the youths being, as he put it, "hopped up on this rock 'n' roll trash."

Manager Jack Silverthorne of the Hippodrome Theater in downtown Cleveland said rock 'n' roll had nothing to do with it. "We could have been playing 'The Robe' or 'The Ten Commandments' and if an element was looking for a fight it would find it," he said.

Whatever the cause, sporadic fighting at the theater last night sent 14 teen-agers to hospitals with cuts, scratches and bruises and ended with the theater being closed for the night shortly after 9 p.m.

Hundreds of teen-agers were tossed out of the Hippodrome before Lt. Moran ordered a halt for the night to the showing of "The Girl Can't Help It," featuring musical talent of the rock 'n' roll variety.

No arrests were made.

NO WONDER Most Guesses are Hundreds Too High!

If you think this Chieftain Pontiac looks out of place in the low-price field, you've got plenty of company. But there it stands . . . in solidly with the so-called low-priced three—a big, bold, beautiful eye-opener with not a thing to remind you of its very modest cost. Here's the distinction of clean Star Flight lines that are built in, not hung on. But it's in the performance department that the price guesses really run wild! Pontiac's big 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio V-8 doesn't know what strain is. New precision-touch handling makes "driving effort" a term for your memory book. And the Chieftain's 122-inch-wheelbase Level-Line Ride is so smooth that only the passing road signs remind you that you're earth-bound. Nothing in the low-price field comes close in power, wheelbase or features! If you think all this is beyond your reach, a visit to your Pontiac dealer for a talk about price will put you in that wonderful club of Pontiac owners who have discovered it's rewriting the book in the low-price field!

Here's Text of President's Inaugural Address

We meet again, as upon a like moment four years ago, and again you have witnessed my solemn oath of service to you.

I, too, am a witness, today testifying in your name to the principles and purposes to which we, as a people, are pledged.

Before all else, we seek, upon our common labor as a nation, the favor of Almighty God. And the hopes in our hearts fashion the deepest prayers of our people.

May we pursue the right—without self-righteousness.

May we know unity—without conformity.

May we grow in strength—without pride of self.

May we, in our dealings with all peoples of the earth, ever speak truth and serve justice.

And so shall America—in the sight of all men of good will—prove true to the honorable purposes that bind and rule us as a people in all this time of trial through which we pass.

Work and Wealth Abound With Us

We live in a land of plenty, but rarely has this earth known such peril as today.

In our nation work and wealth abound. Our population grows. Commerce crowds our rivers and rails, our skies, harbors and highways. Our soil is fertile, our agriculture productive. The air rings with the song of our industry—rolling mills and blast furnaces, dynamos, dams and assembly lines—the chorus of America the bountiful.

This is our home—yet this is not the whole of our world. For our world is where our full destiny lies—with men, of all peoples and all nations, who are or would be free. And for them—and so for us—this is no time of ease or rest.

In too much of the earth there is want, discord, danger. New faces and new nations stir and strive across the earth, with power to bring, by their fate, great good or great evil to the free world's future.

Turmoil of Change Hits All Nations

From the deserts of North Africa to the islands of the South Pacific one third of all mankind has entered upon an historic struggle for a new freedom; freedom from grinding poverty. Across all continents, nearly a billion people seek, sometimes almost in desperation for the skills and knowledge and assistance by which they may satisfy from their own resources, the material wants common to all mankind.

★ ★ ★

No nation, however, old or great, escapes this tempest of change and turmoil. Some, impoverished by the recent World War, seek to restore their means of livelihood. In the heart of Europe, Germany still stands tragically divided. So is the whole continent divided. And so, too, is all the world.

The devisive force is International Communism and the power that it controls.

The designs of that power, dark in purpose, are clear in practice. It strives to seal forever the fate of those it has enslaved. It strives to break the ties that unite the free. And it strives to capture—to exploit for its own greater power—all forces of change in the world, especially the needs of the hungry and the hopes of the oppressed.

★ ★ ★

Yet the world of International Communism has itself been shaken by a fierce and mighty force; the readiness of men who love freedom to pledge their lives to that love. Through the night of their bondage, the unconquerable will of heroes has struck with the swift, sharp thrust of lightning.

Budapest is no longer merely the name of a city; henceforth it is a new and shining symbol of man's yearning to be free.

Thus across all the globe there harshly blow the winds of change. And, we—though fortunate be our lot—know that we can never turn our back to them.

Peace With Justice Our Fixed Purpose

We look upon this shaken earth, and we declare our firm and fixed purpose—the building of a peace with justice in a world where moral law prevails.

The building of such a peace is a bold and solemn purpose. To proclaim it is easy. To serve it will be hard. And to attain it, we must be aware of its full meaning—and ready to pay its full price.

We know clearly what we seek, and why.

We seek peace, knowing—as all ages of man have known — that peace is the climate of freedom. And now, as in no other age, we seek it because we have been warned, by the power of modern weapons, that peace may be the only climate possible for human life itself.

Warns That Peace May Be Costly

Yet this peace we seek cannot be born of fear alone; it must be rooted in the lives of nations. There must be justice, sensed and shared by all peoples, for, without justice the world can know only a tense and unstable truce. There must be law, steadily invoked and respected by all nations, for without law, the world promises only such meager justice as the pity of the strong upon the weak. But the law of which we speak, comprehending the values of freedom, affirms the equality of all nations, great and small.

★ ★ ★

Splendid as can be the blessings of such a peace, high will be its cost; in toil patiently sustained, in help honorably given, in sacrifice calmly borne.

We are called to meet the price of this peace.

To counter the threat of those who seek to rule by force, we must pay the costs of our own needed military strength, and help to build the security of others.

We must use our skills and knowledge and, at times, our substance, to help others rise from misery, however far the scene of suffering may be from our shores. For wherever in the world a people knows desperate want, there must appear at least the spark of hope, the hope of progress — or there will surely rise at last the flames of conflict.

We recognize and accept our own deep involvement in the destiny of men everywhere.

We are accordingly pledged to honor, and to strive to fortify, the authority of the United Nations.

For in that body rests the best hope of our age for the assertion of that law by which all nations may live in dignity.

And beyond this general resolve, we are called to act a responsible role in the world's great concerns or conflicts—whether they touch upon the affairs of a vast region, the fate of an island in the Pacific, or the use of a canal in the Middle East.

Only in respecting the hopes and cultures of others will we practice the equality of all nations. Only as we show willingness and wisdom in giving counsel—in receiving counsel—and in sharing burdens, will we wisely perform the work of peace.

No Nations Now Can Live Alone

For one truth must rule all we think and all we do. No people can live to itself alone. The unity of all who dwell in freedom is their only sure defense.

The economic need of all nations—in mutual dependence — makes isolation an impossibility; not even America's prosperity could long survive if other nations did not also prosper. No nation can longer be a fortress, lone and strong and safe. And any people, seeking such shelter for themselves, can now build only their prison.

We do not fear this world of change.

America is no stranger to much of its spirit. Everywhere we see the seeds of the same growth that America itself has known.

The American experiment has, for generations, fired the passion and the courage of millions elsewhere seeking freedom, equality and opportunity.

And the American story of material progress has helped excite the longing of all needy peoples for some satisfaction of their human wants. These hopes that we have helped to inspire, we can help to fulfill.

In this confidence, we speak plainly to all peoples.

We cherish our friendship with all nations that are or would be free. We respect, no less, their independence. And when, in time of want or peril, they ask our help, they may honorably deceive it; for we no more seek to buy their sovereignty than we would sell our own.

Sovereignty is never bartered among free men.

We honor the aspirations of those nations which, now captive, long for freedom. We seek neither their military alliance nor an artificial imitation of our society.

★ ★ ★

And they can know the warmth of the welcome that awaits them when, as must be, they join again the ranks of freedom.

Seeks Friendship of Russian People

We honor, no less in this divided world than in a less tormented time, the people of Russia. We do not dread, rather do we welcome, their progress in education and industry. We wish them success in their demands for more intellectual freedom, greater security before their own laws, fuller enjoyment of the rewards of their own toil.

For as such things may come to pass, the more certain will be the coming of that day when our peoples may freely meet in friendship.

So, we voice our hope and our belief that we can help to heal this divided world. Thus may the nations cease to live in trembling before the menace of force. Thus may the weight of fear and the weight of arms be taken from the burdened shoulders of mankind.

This, nothing less, is the labor to which we are called and our strength dedicated.

And so the prayer of our people carries far beyond our own frontiers, to the wide world of our duty and our destiny.

May the light of freedom, coming to all darkened lands, flame brightly—until at last the darkness is no more.

May the turbulence of our age yield to a true time of peace, when men and nations shall share a life that honors the dignity of each the brotherhood of all.

For Rochester Leader Dog School Building Fund

Utica Lions Begin $50,000 Aid Project

UTICA — Ground was broken Saturday for a $20,000 model home, with which the Utica Lions Club members hope to raise $50,000 toward the Rochester Leader Dog School Building Fund.

The home, to be built on River road in Dresden Village here, will be constructed by about 14 area builders who will donate all the work.

Melvin H. Gell, third vice president of the Lions, said today that the home is expected to be ready for opening about April 15 and will be given away on June 15.

He announced that the model home was expected to be kept open all day, every day, with the Lion's members on hand. Admissions would be set up on a donation basis, he added.

William Murphy is president of the Utica Lions.

Social Security Benefits Farmers

Eligibility May Cause Alterations This Year in Agriculture

By ED MARKAITY
Associated Press Farm writer

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The "face" of farming in Michigan may alter considerably this year with a large number of farm operators eligible for retirement under the social security program.

John Nelli, Social Security administration District Manager for the Berrien, Van Buren and Cass County area, estimates about 1,000 farmers in his district alone have become eligible for retirement benefits in 1957.

He says accurate figures were unavailable on the number of farmers 65 or over in his area, but believed the number could run about 10 per cent.

Nelli reports his Benton Harbor office already has received several hundred applications from elderly farmers for social security benefits.

This is the first year the social security retirement benefits become available to farmers. Farmers were incorporated into the program in 1955 and, to qualify, had to pay social security tax for two years.

Payment of 1956 income and social security taxes completes the eligibility requirements for farmers 65 or over.

Right Answers Can Make You Richer by $500

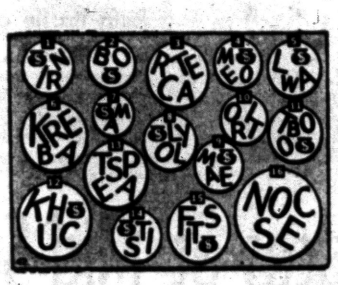

That $500 in the pot can easily be yours . . . just read the clues and rules below and send us the correct solution for this week's puzzle. If you have the 16 answers right and if no one wins last week's puzzle, you can walk away just that much richer. Even with a winner for Puzzle No. 33, the right answers will still bring $100. What do you have to lose?

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3 To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be acepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 34 must bear a Tuesday, January 29, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6 Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10 Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

THE BERRYS — By Carl Grubert

We're in Midst of Warm Spell, Says Geologist

LANSING (AP) — You think it's been cold?

Prof. Sandefur, however, is thinking in terms of many thousands of years and considers this a "warm" era because Michigan right now is between glaciers.

It's very likely, he said, that Michigan might be covered by a mile or so of glacial ice some time in the future, from a few thousand to some 50 thousand years.

There have been many glacial tides across the face of Michigan and nearby states, Prof. Sandefur said. He adds:

"It's pretty difficult to know just when the next one will start."

Recent techniques of measurement by radioactive carbon have established that Michigan's last glacier was around as recently as 12,000 years ago. Previously it was thought the last glacier had departed the local scene from 25,000 to 40,000 years ago.

"But it's like a tide rolling out and then coming in again," Prof. Sandefur said. "Even after the tide recedes, you'll still have an occasional big wave and smaller ones all the time."

Jack Frost Skids on Ice

MUSKEGON (AP)—Winter played a mean trick on Jack Frost. A 31-year-old motorist by that name skidded on ice and set off a chain reaction accident involving four cars. Police reported damage was slight.

Rubber Leads Exports

JAKARTA—Rubber is Indonesia's most important export commodity. It accounts for one third to one half of the country's total income from exports. In recent years about 42 per cent of the world's natural rubber has been supplied by Indonesia.

Wings Rip Rangers, 5-2; Gain on Montreal

DETROIT (AP)—A three-goal, third period wallop set off by Gordie Howe's 27th goal has the Detroit Red Wings poised for another struggle with the Montreal Canadiens for first place in the National Hockey League.

Howe, Dutch Reibel and Ted Lindsay gave a partisan crowd of 12,549 a chance to do some unusual relaxing last night, slamming home goals with ease as the Wings swept past the New York Rangers 5-2.

The Wings are just two points behind the Canadiens and are on home ice for two more games while Montreal is playing one at home and one on the road.

"There are a lot of crucial times during the course of the season," said coach Jimmy Skinner, "but this week certainly could be considered one of those times. It looks like we're 'up' and our boys are in their best physical shape of the season."

The Wings had endless opportunities against the Rangers, who dropped further behind the 4th-place Toronto Maple Leafs. It was a wild and exciting fracas until Howe opened up the third period flurry by ripping home a goal after a scramble in front of the Ranger nets. That made it 3-1, and within four minutes the margin was 5-1.

Metro Prystai flipped a behind-the-nets pass to Dutch Reibel and the Dutchman got goal No. 9. Ted Lindsay followed with his 22nd goal about one minute later. A perfect pass from Howe, who had taken a pass from mid-ice from Lindsay, set up Teddy's goal from 15 feet.

Detroit assured itself of the season series against the Rangers.

WEDNESDAY'S GAME

New York at Toronto.

THURSDAY'S GAME

Chicago at Detroit.

This was the eighth Wing win in 10 games against New York, and the Detroit goal total against New York—now at 37—is a complete about-face from the 1955-56 season when the Redshirts had their poorest offensive showing against the New Yorkers.

Marcel Pronovost and Alex Delvecchio got the early goals for Detroit, Pronovost opening the scoring in the first period with a 50-foot screen shot. Camille (the El) Henry tied it on a power play in the same period just 31 seconds after Detroit started a minor penalty.

Delvecchio got the tie-breaking goal when Norm Ullman's shot on goal deflected off the leg of Delvecchio and into the New York nets. It was the 5th goal for Delvecchio.

Parker MacDonald scored the second Ranger goal, again on a power play after Delvecchio was penalized for charging.

Detroit goalie Glenn Hall, though he suffered a gash on his lip and nose that required seven stitches, had one of his easier nights in front of the nets. He was called upon for only 21 saves—and only two in the third period when the goals by Howe, Reibel and Lindsay took all the spark out of the Ranger offense.

ON TV — First of the Pontiac Boys' club boxers to appear in the Detroit Golden Gloves tournament makes his debut tonight — on TV, too. Donald Cole, husky scrapper on the BC team will face an as yet unnamed opponent in the junior novice division. He will be on a scheduled channel 9, CKLW, show covering the Gloves event. Cole is one of five Boys Club fighters slated to box in the tourney's novice division.

Picks Milwaukee in National League

Braves' Pilot Sees Pennant

By FRED HANEY

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—I will start off by saying that I think the Milwaukee Braves will win the National League pennant.

I make this statement in all sincerity, not because it might appear to be the proper thing to say. I base my optimism on the fact that our club lost out by only a single game last season on the final day of the race, and I believe we will be stronger this coming season.

I do not believe it is possible for a team to go through the season we had last year and not improve both physically and mentally, especially after the greeting we received by the fans after the season was over and we had lost. I think this will add a great deal of determination to every player on the club, which of course, will help.

Materially speaking, we have been unable to do anything regarding trades but we are bringing several outstanding youngsters to camp in the spring, any one of whom could make it. I also live in hopes that some of the boys who didn't do as well as they might have, will improve over last year's work.

I think the inability to score runs and the lack of consistent hitting hurt us more than anything last year. As I stated previously, I am looking for improvement along those lines.

I believe our infield and outfield are as sound as ever. Joe Adcock is just reaching his peak and could improve on the great year he had last season. Eddie Matthews has yet to reach his peak and he is due for one of those real great seasons. Johnny Logan and Danny O'Connell give us ample protection around second base. With Hank Aaron, the finest hitter in the league, in the outfield we have no problems there.

The addition of Carl Sawatski behind the plate has certainly strengthened us in that department. I think that in Del Crandall, Del Rice and Sawatski we have the best catching staff in the league.

Our strongpoint, of course, will be the pitching. It should be even stronger in 1957.

Youngsters like Taylor Phillips and Bob Trowbridge should profit by the experience they obtained last year. We also have several outstanding rookie pitchers coming from our minor league system on whom we have received great reports.

Shrine Cagers Bow 50-40

Royal Oak Shrine dropped a 50-40 decision to Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Sunday afternoon in a Catholic League First Division basketball game at Wyandotte. Tom Ropers of Shrine took scoring honors with 19 points while Dan Gilewski tallied 18 for Mt. Carmel.

College Cage Races at Mid-Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina, which spent the first half of the college basketball season chugging along in the very large shadows of Wilt The Stilt Chamberlain and his Kansas cronies, has found its own place in the sun.

Kansas, which had all but been awarded the national championship before the season even started has been stopped. So has Wilt the Stilt.

As of today, only mid-year exams have stopped Frank McGuire's Tar Heels. Their record stands at 15-0—the only undefeated team in the Associated Press top 20 — and it is becoming more and more apparent that finishing the season with an unblemished record is not beyond their talent.

Mid-year exams will keep the action this week down until Saturday, but even then only two teams in the AP top 10 get into action—and they face each other. Kentucky, No. 4 (12-3) visits Vanderbilt, No. 10 (10-3).

Big 10 — Ohio State (4-0) heads the pace with Illinois, Purdue and Michigan (all 3-1) tied for second.

Atlantic Coast — North Carolina in front with 6-0, followed by Duke (4-1) and Maryland (6-2). The battle appears to be for second.

Ivy League — Princeton (5-0) has been having a lot of close calls, but 5-9 substitute, Artie Klein, has been pulling them out. Yale and Columbia (each 3-1) are tied for second. Princeton will be hard to catch.

Southwest — Southern Methodist (4-1) and third in the nation was stopped last week, but got a break when second place Rice (4-2) and third-place Baylor (3-2) also were defeated.

Southern — West Virginia (5-0) the leader, as expected, but might have a battle on its hands Saturday with third-place Furman (5-2).

Pacific Coast — California (5-0) and UCLA (4-0). They play each other March 1 and March 2 and that could decide the champion.

Big Seven — Kansas (3-1) despite being stopped by Iowa State (2-1), stayed in front, but the red-hot Cyclones would pull into a tie if they beat last-place Missouri Thursday. Missouri upset Iowa St[illegible] first time they met this ye[illegible].

Missouri Valley — Bradley (5-0) heads the league followed by St. Louis, Wichita and Tulsa (all 3-1). Tulsa has games with both Bradley and St. Louis this week which could make for chaos.

Skyline — Brigham Young (3-1) leads Montana and Utah State (each 3-2). Utah State, which hung the only league defeat on BYU, meets the Cougars again Friday.

Independents — Canisius (12-2) and Louisville (11-2) appear to be the class of the non-conference teams.

Toledo Dog PKC Winner; Benefit Is Big Success

By H. GUY MOATS

Not only did J. H. Cameron's little Kerry Blue terrier go best in show at the first winter unbenched show for Pontiac Kennel Club, on Saturday, but the fine three-year-old won his 5th and 6th best-in-show titles with a top win at the Oakland County show at Royal Oak, Sunday. Cameron is a Toledo resident. The champion was handled here and at Royal Oak by George Ward.

So successful was the Pontiac show, held in the Waterford Community Activities center, that there was not enough room for all the nearly 500 entries that showed up. Some had to wait outside until their turns in the rings came along.

And the attendance was "amazing" to quote Wini Kraft, PKC secretary, wife of the club president Ed Kraft." We never expected to have so many people, or to have such a jam-packed show all-around," she pointed out. Mrs. Jean Davis of the Animal Rescue League reported to Mrs. Kraft that the league received about $400 from gate receipts.

Close, heavy competition was found in many classes, with 10 in the Kerry Blues which the eventual champion dominated. Ch. Tall Tean's Marcie's Son now goes on to Madison Square Garden (Feb. 11-12) in search of bigger honors.

Besides the terriers, greatest activity in the competitions centered around the poodles, boxers and German shepherds, where entries were heavy.

Group champions for PKC show:

Working breeds—Newfoundland, Ch. Little Bear James Thurber (E. E. Dowling, New York).

Cubs—Cards—Phils Talk

3-Way Deal Is Hinted

CHICAGO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, the Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Phils have their heads together for what could result in a massive deal involving nine players, it was learned today.

Should the trade go through, southpaw pitcher Harvey Haddix of Philadelphia would return to the Cardinals and Phil centerfielder Richie Ashburn would go to the Cubs.

In return, Philadelphia would get second baseman Gene Baker and first baseman Dee Fondy from the Cubs and rookie infielder Eddie Kasko, outfielder Whitey Lockman, pitcher Don Liddle and outfielder-infielder Chuck Harmon or outfielder Bobby Del Greco from St. Louis.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cardinals, apparently has no qualms about bringing back Haddix, who Lane traded off last year in a deal which brought pitchers Murry Dickson and Herm Wehmeier to St. Louis.

Roy Hamey, general manager of the Phils, reportedly is holding up the deal. But how long Hamey can hold out is doubtful. The Phils are desperately in need of help around first and second base.

Baker, who batted .258 with 12 home runs and 57 runs batted in, could fill the gap at second.

The Cubs want a top flight centerfielder and have been dangling Baker as bait. Fondy who batted over .300 in 1953 and 1954, dropped off to .269 last season and is in the Cub doghouse.

Ashburn has been the Cub objective. Regarded as a fine defensive outfielder, the speedy Ashburn batted .309 last year after winning the National League batting crown in 1955 with a .338 mark.

With Haddix, who was 13-8 at Philadelphia, the Cardinals would have two of the better lefthanders in the league. Vinegar Bend Mizell had a 14-14 mark last season and is being counted on to improve his record.

★ ★ ★

The top man leaving the Cardinals is Del Greco, a defensive whiz who Lane received last year by trading Bill Virdon to Pittsburgh, much to the chagrin of St. Louis fans. Del Greco, however, was a disappointment at bat and finished the season with a .214 average.

Besselink Beaten; Bolt Fines Self

Furgol Wins Caliente in Sudden Death

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—The 1957 $15,000 Caliente Open golf tournament was a matter of record today, with Ed Furgol—the courageous professional with the withered left arm—the winner in an exciting sudden death playoff.

The former United States Open titleholder, one of the most liked players in the game but plain murder in a head to head struggle, dusted off big Al Besselink for the $2,000 top money.

It lasted for two holes, with the 33-year-old Furgol from St. Andrews, Ill., shooting a steady par four and Besselink a bogey five on the second extra hole.

Today Furgol headed toward Palm Springs and the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational. Besselink also pointed for the California desert resort, but only, he joked, as a tourist.

For the last seven holes of the regulation 72-hole distance Furgol and Besselink battled on even terms, an they ended tied at 280, eight under par for the Tijuana Country Club's par 72 test.

Furgol, Canada's Stan Leonard and young Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass., started out in front by one stroke over Eric Brown of Scotland and Besselink, who plays out of Grossinger, N.Y. As the baseball writers say, none except Furgol and Besselink was around at the finish.

Instead, Mike Souchak charged up to tie Leonard a stroke behind Ed and Besselink; Harney took a 75 to tie for sixth at 284 with Jay Hebert, Jack Burke Jr., and Dow Finsterwald. And Brown disappeared into the 287 group with a 77.

The sidelight incidents of this tournament just south of the border were several. Included:

On Saturday Tommy Bolt, chairman of the PGA conduct committee, fined himself $100 for throwing a club twice, both for good distance. And on Sunday Mr. Bolt penalized himself a stroke for unintentionally moving the ball as he addressed it.

Subsequently, he ended with a 76 for 287, losing about $150 for his self-reproach. This, plus his $100 fine, compared with the $308 he won, left him with about $58 profit for the week—enough to fill the gas tank of his cream colored Cadillac, at least.

Nestor's All-Stars Win Junior Ice Hockey Title

Nestor's All-Stars are the champions of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's 1957 Junior Hockey Tournament.

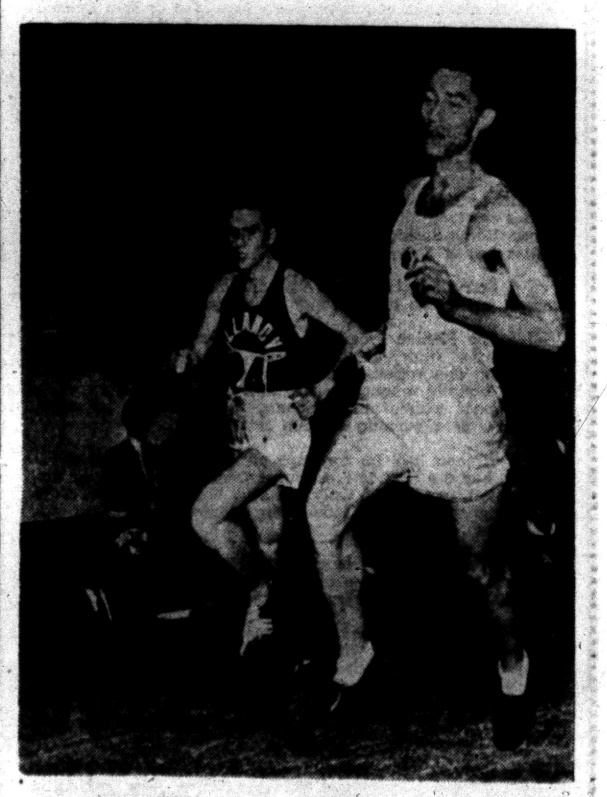

The All-Stars skated to a convincing 5-1 victory over the Auburn Heights Boys Club Sunday morning in the finals of the double-elimination tourney at the North Side ice skating rink.

Nestor's sextet thus earned the right to compete in an exhibition game this Saturday afternoon during the weekend Pontiac Ice Carnival. The opposition will be composed of players from the various teams which took part in the tournament.

A pair of goals by John Oakley and single tallies by Warren Miksch, Clayton Roth and Jim Swartz accounted for Nestor's easy triumph over Auburn Heights. Larry Herron scored the lone goal for the Boys Club.

Auburn Heights reached yesterday's final round with a 5-1 semi-final triumph over Rogers Triggers Saturday morning. Herron's three goals and two by Chuck Nurek made Dick Singleton's tally for the Triggers look insignificant.

The White Lake Flyers shut out Briggs Sporting Goods, 1-0, in a Saturday exhibition contest on North Side ice. John Schuett scored the only goal.

Keg Meet Gets Weekend Start

By CHUCK ABAIR

A Detroiter dominated the individual competition and Pontiac led the way in team play as the 37th annual Michigan Elks Bowling Tournament got underway here over the weekend sponsored by Lodge 810. The tourney will continue for the next seven weekends.

Motor City star John Gavie took all the singles honors for the 1st two days of action with a strong Sunday performance. He compiled a 724 handicap total and 691 for actual pinfall to top both divisions. Gavie also became the leader in the race for the coveted All-Events trophy with a 1762 figure overall.

Pontiac took the 1st three places in team handicap bowling led by Drewry's No. 2 contingent with 2933. Hinges by Brown of Detroit leads in team actual pinfall with 2611.

In the doubles department the city duo of Leland Gutzke and Russell Dickman had the best actual score of 1139 but ranked only 8th in handicap ratings. Pacing the latter group was the Traverse City pair of S. Tithoff-R. Raftshol with 1262.

Three Pontiac keglers follow in order behind Gavie in singles handicap. They are Ralph Puckett, who had paced opening day with a 703; C. Horrall, 693, and John Fortier's 686. Fifth by one pin is W. Cowell of Traverse with 685. Fortier was runner-up in actual scoring with 644 and Cowell had 619.

The Dahlquist and Brace Smith teams ranked 2nd and 3rd in team handicap with 2928 and 2902, respectively. Goebel's of Detroit was No. 4 with 2895 and Pontiac's Skippers ranked 5th with 2859. Five other home town teams dominated the next six places. Truck-A-Way Co., also of Pontiac, follows Hinges in actual with 2577 and the Skippers are 3rd with 2559.

Doubles partners Dr. F. P. Palmer and Art Sammut of Detroit hold down 2nd places in both divisions with totals of 1249 and 1135. Local duo Lou Borroni-Earl Forkel are No. 3 in actual with 1113. Borroni hit the Saturday one-game high of 266.

The other top eight in doubles handicap are all from Lodge 810. Third is the Richard Hess-Sam Gadoshian pair with 1241, Tom Hruska and Harry Setter combined for 1234, and Wilson Knaus-Norm Andress finished with 1233 to complete the best five in that group.

Several impressive showings were made in the first weekend of play in the biggest tourney in the history of state Elkdon. Some 41 different lodges will have bowlers taking part here at the Elks alleys and the Huron bowl before the champions are known March 10.

Today's the Day!

Sawchuk Calls Contab to Explain Retirement

DETROIT (AP)—Today's the day Terry Sawchuk is supposed to "tell all" and explain why he has forsaken hockey at the peak of a brilliant career.

The 27-year-old Boston Bruin goaltender quit the game Tuesday and since then everyone has been wondering why. Terry has not explained anything, other than to say his decision to retire "was not an overnight thought."

He returned to his Detroit home Friday and called a press conference for noon (EST) today at a downtown hotel.

The three-time winner of the Vezina trophy—given to the outstanding goalkeeper in the National Hockey League—said he was treated well in Boston, where he was traded after five seasons with the Detroit Red Wings.

Sawchuk was hospitalized two weeks and missed seven games this season because of mononucleosis, a blood disease. But he said he felt fine when he returned to the nets.

"The sickness had nothing to do with my retirement," he insisted.

While Boston Coach Milt Schmidt and General Manager Muzz Patrick have indicated they would welcome Sawchuk's return, the veteran goalie has given no indication that he plans to change his decision.

Leafs Threaten Bruins' Status

Toronto Picks Up Four Points on Two Wins Over Boston Club

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins, who started the season as if they were going to tear apart the National Hockey League, today face the threat of being dislodged from third place by the surging Toronto Maple Leafs.

★ ★ ★

True, 10 points still separate the Bruins and the Leafs. But Toronto picked up four points over the weekend by twice beating Boston —4-1 Saturday and 3-2 Sunday. The two defeats extended the Bruins' winless streak to five games.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, the Leafs solidified their hold on fourth place as the fifth place New York Rangers were shut out 5-0 by the pacesetting Montreal Canadiens Saturday night and then dropped a 5-2 decision in Detroit last night. The Leafs now lead the slumping Rangers by five points.

Detroit Skater in Form for National Competition

DETROIT (AP) — Bobby Snyder appeared in fine form today to compete with the nation's finest ice skaters in the National Outdoor at St. Paul next weekend.

Skating on the soft Lake Tacoma course at Belle Isle, Snyder edged Tom Augustitus of Detroit in the 220. The University of Michigan graduate then raced to easy victories in the 440, 880 and mile events.

Woodmore, Taylor Spark Viking Win

The two-pronged scoring punch of Chet Woodmore and Mel Taylor carried the Local 594 Vikings to a 50-45 victory over Local 653 Sunday's feature UAW-CIO League basketball game at Jefferson Junior High.

Woodmore dumped in 20 points and Taylor collected 18 for the Vikings, who trailed at halftime, 25-23. Ken Morrow netted 14 points for the losers.

In yesterday's other CIO League contest, the Local 594 Falcons trimmed the Local 596 quintet, 55-44. Gene George and John James netted 17 and 16 points respectively for the winners while Jim Pembroke's 16 topped Local 596.

Actress Tired but Happy

NEW YORK (AP) — A tired but happy Ingrid Bergman returned to Europe today, thrilled about her first visit to America in nearly eight years.

"It was almost like a dream and I'll start to remember it when I get back to Paris," commented the Swedish-born actress as she boarded her plane last nigh at Idlewild Airport.

It was her first visit here since 1949 when she left to make a film in Italy with Roberto Rossellini. She and the Italian film director had a son while she was still married to Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

★ ★ ★

"I was surprised by how nice people were to me everywhere I went," she said. "I want to thank all those kind people who put presents in my car and handed them to me wherever I went."

At the airport, Miss Bergman disclosed that she had talked by telephone with her daughter Pia, a child born of her marriage with Dr. Lindstrom.

"I am very happy about the talk," the actress said. "It was very personal, and should be left to the two of us."

Pia, now called Jenny Ann, is 13 and a student at the University of Colorado at Boulder. She did not come to New York to visit with her mother.

★ ★ ★

Miss Bergman scotched all rumors that she might return to the United States to live. "Europe is my home now, although I had 10 wonderful years in America," she said.

Doctor Probes Death of Widow

Retract Suicide Verdict in Hanging of Woman Near Stanwood

BIG RAPIDS (AP)—Mecosta County authorities today awaited a report from Dr. Charles Black, Lansing pathologist, on the death of a 68-year-old widow who was found hanging in a barn behind her former home near Stanwood Thursday.

The death of Mrs. Felecia Behrendt was first listed as apparent suicide but this finding has been withdrawn by Dr. John A. White, deputy Mecosta County medical examiner.

Dr. Black will confer in Big Rapids tonight with Sheriff Howard L. Soper and State Police detectives Eugene Edgecomb and Clarence Haight of the Rockford post.

The pathologist said he believed the body had been kept in a warm room for at least two days.

Sheriff Soper said Mrs. Behrendt reportedly left the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eillison, her son-in-law and stepdaughter, Jan. 7. The Ellisons live near Stanwood.

The sheriff quoted the Ellisons as saying that Mrs. Behrendt told them she was going to her former residence to look for a pair of gloves she had left in the vacant house.

The Ellisons said they did not report Mrs. Behrendt missing because she was accustomed to staying away for several days with friends on occasion.

Hollywood Headlines

Jed Harris Set to Produce Own Creation, 'Mad Bull'

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The colorful, never dull Jed Harris is moving to Hollywood, temporarily that is, to produce his play, "The Mad Bull" for Harry Cohn.

Before this deal was straightened out there was a big misunderstanding. Harris, who had no written deal for his unproduced play, was negotiating elsewhere, but everything is honkey-dory now, with Richard Quine, fine young director, starting work at Columbia the last week in February.

Jack Lemmon, whose forte is certainly light comedy, although he would like to play "Hamlet" or something heavier, has been chosen as the star of "The Mad Bull."

A happy Rosemary Clooney telephoned to tell me she leaves Tuesday for ten days in London with Jose Ferrer. Jose left Saturday to arrange for filming of "The Dreyfus Case" for MGM. Joe will both direct and play in this picture about the famous case which attracted world attention when Dreyfus was imprisoned for ten years on a charge for which he was later proved innocent. He died in 1935.

Rosemary says she has to be back February 7 for her son Miguel's second birthday. Jose's picture goes before the cameras in April, so there is a lot of work to be done to get it ready.

MERLE BACK HOME

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Bruno Pagliai, who admires Merle Oberon greatly, was the guest of honor at a dinner Saturday night. It was like old times to have Merle back in her beautiful home. There were 70 guests.

Reports are that Ralph Stolkin, who once tried to buy RKO, is now talking business with Tom O'Neil, RKO money man.

Zsa Zsa Gabor telephoned to say she did have luncheon with Conrad Hilton and their daughter—not at the Beverly Hills Hotel, but at Conrad's own beautiful Beverly Hilton.

That was Bob Schifer, an old friend and make-up man for Rita Hayworth who accompanied her to hear Frances Faye at Ciro's.

Errol Flynn, who's on "The Big Surprise" show again, refuses to say whether he'll go on for more money or accept the $10,000. He left for New York today.

Frank Sinatra has signed Peggy Lee for a long playing album to be called "The Man I Love." She'll sing songs from teenage romance through marriage, and he'll do the conducting.

Letitia and Al Delacorte, here on business for Modern Screen, stopped by for a cup of coffee. Al is making trips to discuss handling of the magazine.

Italian Scandal Trial Resumes

Girl's Death in '53 Jars Politicians and Officials; Social Leader Accused

VENICE (AP) — Italy's biggest postwar scandal, the explosive Wilma Montesi case, came to trial today in Venice. Startling new disclosures were expected.

Chief defendants in the case are Gianpero Piccioni, 36-year-old jazz pianist son of former Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni; former Rome Police Chief Saverio Polito; and Ugo Montagna, prominent Rome man-about-town and friend of influential Italians.

Some 200 witnesses were called, including high officers of the three former police chiefs and an Italian movie actress.

Wilma's body was found on a black-sand beach near Ostia, the seaside playground near Rome. Police listed her death as an accidental drowning. Scandal erupted when a young magazine editor, Silvano Muto, wrote that she had died at a high society dope and sex orgy.

The younger Piccioni is charged with contributing to the black-haired party girl's death by "abandoning her, believing her already dead," at the edge of the sea. His father, now an adviser to Italy's U.N. delegation, resigned as foreign minister to help his son prepare his defense.

Austria Drafts Border Protest

Radio Blasts Violation by Hungarian Soldiers in Refugee Chase

VIENNA (AP) — Austria today drafted a strong protest to Hungary about the invasion of Austrian territory by 30 Hungarian soldiers in pursuit of fleeing refugees.

The Interior Ministry said the soldiers, firing machine guns, followed the refugees across the border yesterday. The Austrian Press Agency said they forced about 20 refugees to return to Hungary. They left one wounded Hungarian soldier behind in Austria.

Officials said "the sharpest protest" would be sent to Hungary.

★ ★ ★

Chancellor Julius Raab rejected Hungary's complaints that Austria was interfering in Hungarian affairs by giving haven to refugees. He said in a nationwide broadcast that if Hungary's Communist regime wants to keep Hungarians at home, they should be given freedom and a decent living.

But the tough measures imposed by Hungarian border guards were from fleeing to Austria. Many sought haven in Yugoslavia instead.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslavs requested urgent assistance from the United Nations to cope with the heavy increase in refugees across the Hungarian border, much of which lies along the Danube River or its tributaries. Yugoslavia received 684 refugees to Austria's 256 in a 24-hour period over the weekend.

Soapsuds Landing Lets Plane Arrive Safely

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A private plane with four persons aboard circled Tampa International Airport for an hour and 49 minutes yesterday with a disabled nose wheel before being brought in smoothly on a runway made slick by concentrated soapsuds.

Robert Walker of Tampa kept the plane aloft until the soap could be brought in from MacDill Air Force Base and spread on the runway. Flying with Walker were his son Jackie, 10; Graham Smith; and Smith's son Scott, 11.

Grain Issues Lose Ground

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains turned downward in active dealings on the board of trade today.

At the start soybeans made an effort to prolonged the rally of last Friday. They soon gave up the attempt in view of surrounding easiness. Wheat was the weakest cereal right from the start.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ to 1¼ lower, March $2.42, corn ⅜ to ½ lower, March $1.35⅜, oats ⅛ to ¼ lower, March 79¼, rye ½ to lower, March $1.50, soybeans ¼ to 1½ lower January $2.51¼, and lard 23 to 40 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $15.60.

After 5 Inaugurations Truman Misses One

He attended the 1937 and 1941 festivities as a senator from Missouri. At the 1945 ceremony, he took the oath as vice president. In 1949 he took the oath as President. In 1953 he was in the inaugural stands as retiring President.

Asked if he had any plans for the day, Truman said:

"None, none at all. I shall probably be in my office in Kansas City working as usual."

Area Businessman to Teach Retailing

Pontiac's Joseph F. McInerney, 2673 Littletell Ave., has been named to teach in Wayne State University's program in Retail Education, the university has announced.

McInerney, an assistant buyer for the J. L. Hudson Co., will teach a course on "The Business Community." He is one of 26 instructors selected from Detroit area stores and Wayne University on the basis of experience and ability to present such subjects.

Each of the 26 has been awarded a teaching certificate in vocational education from the Michigan State Department of Education.

The program was developed to provide a strong and varied series of evening courses for both retailing employes and retailing management, university officials said.

Market Stays on Downside

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained slightly lower in moderately active early trading but there was some improvement over the opening.

Key issues showed losses of fractions to around a point but there was a scattering of gains in about the same range.

Some leading aircrafts went ahead in active turnover. General Motors lost a major fraction in heavy trading.

The market's action was a continuation of Friday's close when the high-speed ticker tape was late in a burst of selling which followed the Russo-Chinese joint declaration, brokers said. The braking of GM's expansion program and cutbacks in steel orders by auto manufacturers were other factors.

U.S. STEEL DOWN

U.S. Steel was down a fraction and Republic Steel eased but Bethlehem picked up a fraction while Youngstown advanced around a point. Ford Motor eased but Chrysler was steady.

On the losing side were Westinghouse, General Electric, Anaconda, American Cyanamid, U.S. Gypsum and International Harvester.

Among opening blocks were U.S. Steel off ⅝ at 64½ on 4,000 shares, General Motors off ⅛ at 40⅝ on 8,000, General Dynamics off 1 at 55¼ on 2,500 and Jones & Laughlin off ½ at 52⅝ on 1,200.

Sandys Has 'Parted' From Diana Churchill

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's eldest daughter, Diana, has separated from her second husband, British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys.

"We have parted, but I cannot say yet exactly what we will do," Mrs. Sandys told a reporter yesterday.

Two of the Churchills' three other children also have been divorced.

Congratulations to Ike

MANILA (INS) — Philippines President Ramon Magsaysay cabled President Eisenhower today declaring the Philippines "joins with the rest of the democratic world in congratulating you and extending our best wishes as you enter your second term."

He added that hope that the "most friendly relations existing between our two countries will be further enhanced and that this relationship will continue to contribute to attainment of that peace with honor and justice which our two peoples seek and desire."

Business Notes

Membership in the Million Dollar Club has been conferred upon Richard L. Mineweaser of 2285 St. Joseph St., officials of the Equitable Life Assurance Society announced today.

MINEWEASER

Mineweaser, the first Equitable representative from this area to receive membership, joined the firm in 1953 and maintains offices in the Pontiac State Bank Bldg. The award is made on the basis of policies placed and volume paid.

A 1948 graduate of Michigan State University, he formerly was engaged in youth work with the Pontiac YMCA.

James P. Cuthbertson, executive representative for the College Life Insurance Co. of America, has been named to membership in the Million Dollar Round Table of the National Assn. of Life Underwriters.

CUTHBESTSON

Cuthbertson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cuthbertson of 529 Whittemore St., was recently honored as one of the insurance firm's top salesmen during a recent convention.

He is a graduate of Eastern Michigan College and received his masters degree at the University of Michigan and Miami University.

The promotion of Thomas E. Darnton to director of purchases for the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors was announced today by General Manager J. F. Wolfram.

A native of Flint, he joined General Motors in 1939 after graduation from Michigan State University. Prior to his promotion, he was the main plant's purchasing agent.

Area Man Appointed to Top Chrysler Post

The promotion of Birmingham resident Harry E. Chesebrough to director of product planning for the Chrysler Corp. was announced today by E. C. Row, administrative vice president.

CHESEBROUGH

In his new position, Chesebrough will coordinate and integrate plans of the operating divisions, groups and central staffs for future automobiles and trucks. He will also monitor progress on the programs after they have been put into effect.

Chesebrough joined Chrysler in 1932 after graduating from the University of Michigan with a degree in mechanical engineering. He later received a masters degree in automotive engineering at the Chrysler Institute of Engineering and was assigned to the mechanical laboratory as a project engineer.

Prior to his most recent promotion, he was executive engineer in charge of coordinating product planning and programming for the engineering division.

Jaycee Women Meeting Tonight at Belton Home

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Thomas Belton, 4150 Motorway Dr.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Beverly Wiss, a teacher at Ferndale High School, who was a foreign exchange student. She will talk on her experiences in France and Germany, and will show colored slides of the countries.

Mrs. Richard Kuhn and Mrs. Tom Marcero will be co-hostesses.

New Management for Area Car Agency

Talley Motor Sales, the Chrysler-Plymouth agency at 1001 N. Main St. in Rochester changed to new management yesterday.

Ray Rammler and Les Dallas, formerly associated with Raynal Brothers, car agency in Detroit, are the new owners. The new name of the agency will be Rammler-Dallas, Inc.

According to Rammler, the Dodge passenger car and truck-lines will also be handled by the new partnership.

Rammler spent 13 years with Raynal Brothers as its sales manager and Dallas was with the same company for 11 years as its used car manager.

Imlay Pair Engaged

IMLAY CITY — Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Brown of Imlay City announce the engagement of their daughter, Pricilla Ann, to John Hougom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hougom. No wedding date has been set.

Feb. 28 Deadline Set for Waterford Taxes

Deadline for real estate tax payments is Feb. 28, according to Dorcus Tibbals, treasurer of Waterford Township. This does not include personal property tax, Mrs. Tibbals said.

The township hall is open Monday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

White Tops List in Colors' Ability to Reflect Light

BOSTON — For many years it has been known that light colors on a surface reflect light and heat rays, and that the darker colors absorb more heat. Here's how various colors repel heat:

★ ★ ★

White, tops in reflection, turns away 80 per cent of the light beamed at it. Light ivory and light green 70 per cent; apricot beige and lemon yellow, 65 per cent; ivory and light buff, 55 to 60 per cent; peach, salmon, and light pearl gray, 50 per cent; pale apple green, 50 to 55 per cent; medium gray, light green, and pale blue, 40 to 45 per cent; deep rose, 12 per cent, and dark green and dark blue, 8 to 9 per cent.

Black rates close to zero as a reflecting medium.

New Rituals Join Indian Tradition

Old Navajo Practices, Legends Intermingled in Southwest Tribes

SANTA FE, N. M. (INS) —The past and present are intermingled in the legends and traditions of the Southwest today.

The once-proud Indian has retained many of the traditions of his ancesters, but he has also picked up a few new rituals in recent years.

The engraving on each cane is the same. It reads: "A. Lincoln Prst. U.S.A. — (name of tribe) — 1863."

Navajo custom forbids a man to look upon his mother-in-law. Therefore, many Navajo women, when visiting their married daughters, wear small silver bells on their clothes to warn the son-in-law of their approach.

In the ruined Indian Pueblo of Kuaua, near Bernalillo, N. M., archeologists have discovered a sunken kiva — or ceremonial chamber — with walls covered by an astonishing series of murals.

More than 6 layers of mud-plaster covering were found, 18 of them painted with figures and symbols that added greatly to man's knowledge of prehistoric Indian culture.

Police Suspect 3 Boys Rob 'March of Dimes'

Pontiac State Police today are seeking three youthful thieves they believe to be the most thoughtless they have come across in a long time.

The boys, said to be 17 and 18 years of age, are suspected in the Saturday night theft of a March of Dimes polio cannister from an Independence Township restaurant.

Dr. Whitmer Delegate to Chiropractic Meeting

Dr. James O. Whitmer, 107 E. Berkshire, a local chiropractor was among 200 chiropractic delegates who attended the second annual Chiropractic Public Relations Conference in Louisville, Ky., over the weekend.

Purpose of the conference was to seek improved methods of informing the public of scientific advances being made by the chiropractic profession.

Holly Pair Faces Hearing Today

Charge 2 Abandoned Newborn Infant Jan. 9 at Willow Run

A Holly couple, charged with the abandonment of their newborn baby at Willow Run Airport Jan. 9, face examination today in Ypsilanti Municipal Court.

Glenn R. Terryah, 23, and his wife, Patricia Ann, 19, said they left the child in a wastepaper basket in the women's lounge after what Mrs. Terryah thought was a "still birth."

The baby was found alive a few minutes later by an airport attendant. State Police apprehended the couple shortly afterward.

Both mother and child were hospitalized for a short period, but are home and "doing fine" now.

Mrs. Terryah stood mute at her arraignment Jan. 15 in municipal court. She was released on $250 bond. Her husband is free on bond after standing mute at his arraignment last Friday.

Russians Explode Another A-Weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians have set off at least their fifth test explosion of nuclear weapons since last August. The actual total may be higher.

The latest Soviet test, made Saturday, was announced by the Atomic Energy Commission yesterday.

In its customary terse fashion, the AEC said only that "the Soviets yesterday conducted another nuclear weapons test in their current series which has been resumed since the announcement of a Soviet test was made by the United States on Nov. 17, 1956."

An AEC spokesman said there would be no further details.

Ike Begins First Limit-Imposed Term

The 22nd Amendment to the Constitution, ratified in 1951, says no president may serve more than two terms. Harry Truman, president in 1951, was specifically exempted.

Only one president ever sought a third term: Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was elected to a third term in 1940. He died in 1945 shortly after being elected to a fourth term.

Meyners to Honeymoon at Barbados Retreat

He is the 48-year-old Democratic governor of New Jersey. She is the former Helen Day Stevenson, 28, daughter of a college president, distant cousin of Adlai Stevenson and a bride of two days.

They were married Saturday in Oberlin, Ohio, where Mrs. Meyner's father, Dr. William Stevenson, is president of Oberlin College.

Dividends

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Steel Corp. has declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on common stock payable March 12 to shareholders of record Feb. 26. A dividend of $1.50 was declared on preferred stock payable March 20.

Spearhead Super Sales Effort

Auto Shows Spark Big Drive

DETROIT (AP) — What probably is the biggest marketing drive in automotive industry history is being presented in the 1957 model year.

The industry is spending millions of dollars presenting its sales effort through normal advertising channels; additional millions are going into the sponsorship of large and small regional and local auto shows. Technically the car makers sponsor only the "national" auto show. Actually, they are giving support to just about every show staged anywhere in the nation.

The manufacturers spent an estimated 11 million dollars on the revived national show in New York early last December; the Chicago Automotive Trade Assn. described its huge exhibition in the National Amphiteatre Jan. 5-13 as a $15 million presentation.

Many of the cars and settings developed by the manufacturers for the New York Coliseum exposition were transferred in their entirety to Chicago; they will be moved, in part at least to many of the smaller local presentations from border to border and coast to coast.

SPECIFIC AIM

The important thing about the auto shows is that each is aimed at a specific marketing area. The New York show carried the designation of "national" auto show, but it attracted its audience largely from the eastern section. Certainly it detracted not a bit from the impact of the Chicago show.

The latter exposition, in fact, was larger than the New York display; it offered more cars, including foreign makes as well as experimental and "dream" models. These were barred under the rules of the first national show to be held since 1941.

It has been said by industry authorities that the shows held in New York, Chicago and California present the industry's product to more than 30 per cent of the potential new car market.

BOOST SALES

The industry and the retailers' associations stage the shows solely to stimulate sales. They expect to get back in increased retail deliveries all the millions of dollars invested in the presentations.

More than 30 local area shows will have been held by mid-March. Half of these were scheduled for January, close upon the initial presentation of the industry's 1957 model cars.

The auto makers have had representatives at most of the larger area shows. Generally they have coupled dealer meetings with the show openings. They make no secret of their deep interest in the public reaction to the showing of their newest product.

HIGHER TAGS

With one or two exceptions all the new cars carry higher price tags. These, of course, are the so-called "suggested" list prices of the manufacturers. All are subject to competitive salesmanship at the retail level.

It has been suggested in some quarters that new relationships between manufacturer and dealer, based upon federal legislation and a closer cooperation between them, would do away with much of the price discounting that has marked recent merchandising efforts.

But the buying public has become accustomed to bargaining and the business of selling new cars is more competitive than it ever has been. A lot of price discounting may develop if the retailing division is to sell the expected 6½ million new cars in 1957.

Couple to Live in Oscoda

Honeymoon at Ski Lodge

LAKE ORION—An heirloom table with altar vases of white mums, snapdragons and glads set the scene for the ecent wedding of Joyce Helen Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Tyler in the home of her parents at 705 W. Clarkston Rd. to Forrest Mowery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mowery of Lewiston.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marie Rundell, pastor of the Community Bible Church before fifty guests.

For her wedding Joyce chose a ballerina-length orchid gown with matching satin bows around the entire waist and tiers of nylon over taffeta. Her shoulder length veil and stole were also of matching net.

The newlyweds are spending a week at a skiing lodge in northern Michigan and will return to their apartment at Oscoda, where he is a jet master mechanic for the Air Force.

Bloomfield Hills Man Vice President

Ray B. Helser, of 805 W. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills, has been named a vice president of Florez Inc., Detroit sales training firm, according to G. A. Florez, president and board chairman.

Helser is director of client service.

HELSER

Associated with Florez since 1947, Helser began his career with the W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co. after leaving Drake University, and later became the company's sales promotion manager.

Surprised Thief Slugs Cleaning Woman

A cleaning woman was slugged early Sunday morning when she surprised a burglar in the Cooley Lounge on Cooley Lake road in Commerce Township.

Minnie Schultz, 53, of 1435 Williams Lake Rd., told Oakland County Sheriff's detectives that she entered the lounge to clean the place at 5:30 a.m. She was hanging up her coat, she said, when a man wearing a blue jacket and yellow gloves sprang from the shadows and knocked her to the floor.

Her assailant then fled through a rear door of the kitchen. Mrs. Schultz was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where she was treated for a sprained wrist.

Detectives said the thief gained entry by breaking a small window of the front door. Proprietor of the lounge Martin Jensen, of 637 Lakeview Dr., said he will take inventory to determine what has been taken.

Pitney-Bowes Opens District Office in City

Establishment of the new district sales and service office in Pontiac has been announced by Pitney-Bowes Inc. of Stamford, Conn., manufacturers of postage meters and business machines.

BRUECKNER

The office will be located at 95 Oakland Ave.

Manager of the new center will be Aloysius J. Brueckner, formerly associated with the firm's Cincinnati sales organization.

Brueckner will direct a campaign built around desk-model postage meter, and intended to extend metered mail service to smaller businesses in the region.

Hoover Taking Part in Inaugural Ceremony

WASHINGTON (INS) — Former President Herbert Hoover will join today's inauguration ceremony at the Capitol, but has turned down an invitation to review the parade from the President's box.

The White House said yesterday that Mr. Hoover, now 82, was advised by his doctors not to risk two and one-half hours of exposure to wintry Washington weather while the parade marches past.

Hoover, the only living Republican ex-President, was present for all inaugural ceremonies in 1953.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ROBert M. Stewart, who passed away one year ago, Jan. 21.
They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved,
How much we miss you yet.
Sadly missed by Mom and Dad.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LOUIS Spadafore, who passed away Jan. 21st., 1954.
His smiling way and pleasant face,
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Someday we hope to meet him,
Someday we know not when;
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again,
Sadly missed by his wife Rose & children, Paul, Guy, Sam, Theresa, Esther & Genevieve.

Militant Housewives Fight for Afternoon Soap Operas

Detroit Libraries Put O'Hara Book on 'Closed Shelf'

DETROIT (AP)—Copies of the police-banned novel "Ten North Frederick" will remain available to adult members of the Detroit Public Library.

Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins says his ban against sale or distribution of John O'Hara's prize-winning story of life among small-town Pennsylvania blue-bloods was not meant to include the city's public libraries.

Long said he didn't think Piggins had "the right to tell us what books we can circulate."

Piggins replied that he had "complete confidence" the library commission "will handle it very properly."

The book is on the library's "closed shelf"—available to adults but not to children

Meanwhile, the city council asked a written report from Piggins explaining why he outlawed the cloth-bound edition of the book.

The Police Censor Bureau, as it has with other paper-back books, banned the pocket-size edition of O'Hara's novel last week under Michigan's 119-year-old censor law, currently being tested before the U. S. Supreme Court. It claimed the book is "obscene." The theory is that the inexpensive paper-backs are within the range of children's pocketbooks.

Angrily Reject Variety Show

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Any man, woman or teenager who thinks soap operas are a thing of the past can take another look.

Try as they might, radio and television networks can't fight suds with savvy regardless of how badly they think the housewives of America need regular afternoon doses of intellectualism.

★ ★ ★

Just the other day, NBC radio tried to palm off a variety hour, full of big names, gobs of talent and numerous sophisticated antics as a replacement for two full hours of soap opera.

★ ★ ★

"Bill has a good show," one station executive admitted, "but if the public wants soap operas then its going to get soap operas."

CALLING MR. ANTHONY

And Goodwin declared with a sad smile:

"I'm thinking of writing Mr. Anthony and telling him I have a problem!"

Across the country, the reaction seems to be the same—the dish-washing, floor-scrubbing, mop-wielding housewife flatly refuses to be deprived of her afternoon wail.

Soap operas still dominate most of the radio and TV airwaves from 2 to 5 and so far as their devotees are concerned should Bob Hope or George Gobel try to barge in on this hallowed time they might just as well go hang themselves.

What Mrs. America wants to hear is whether or not Jesse Carter will remarry and go her own way or wait until she marries off her five children to millionaires before they have a chance to follow in their mother's sordid footsteps—or whether or not Julie will rewed her fourth husband or wait until Robert returns from Tibet.

Latest soap opera to claw at the heartstrings of the weep-an-wail crowd is Madeleine Carroll's "affairs of Dr. Gentry," the throbbing story of a widow fighting for a place in a man's world!

Should this show ever become televised, the afternoon symphony, the quiz shows and the long-haired drama may as well jump in the washtub.

NEW TEAR-JERKER — Madeleine Carroll, stage and screen star, has returned to her acting career in the role of a physician in "The Affairs of Dr. Gentry," a drama series on NBC radio, Monday through Friday at 2:45 p.m. The serial, which started a week ago, is sure to appeal to the many housewives who are battling to keep their favorite soap operas on the air.

Mock Convention Gives Impetus to Real Wedding

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish and Greek Cypriots fought for the second day today in Nicosia's streets.

Eleven shops and warehouses in the Greek sector were smoking ruins in the wake of torch and bomb attacks last night by bands of fanatical young Turks.

Two Greek Cypriot men were wounded in the new outbreak. Turkish auxiliary policemen opened fire to break up a clash on a street dividing the Greek and Turkish sectors.

The fire raids last night were to avenge the death of a Turkish policeman, killed Friday in a bombing attributed to the Greek EOKA underground.

Teachers' Fun Night Features Bud Guest

The Pontiac Education Assn. will hold its annual fun night dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Lincoln Junior High School cafeteria, Mrs. Ralph Forman, general chairman of the event, has announced.

Russia Upping Engineer Totals

Communist Schools Graduating Three Times More Than U.S.

EAST LANSING (INS)—Russia turned out nearly three times as many graduates in engineering as did the U. S. last year, and about twice as many in the fields of natural sciences.

That was the finding of G. Harris Collingwood, of the Library of Congress staff.

Collingwood, a 1911 graduate of Michigan State University, was the author of the recent comprehensive report on "Engineering and Scientific Manpower," authorized by a joint congressional committee.

He said the Soviet Union has about 555,000 engineers, of whom about 20,000 are described as agricultural engineers. Russia also has about 200,000 scientists in active employment.

The writer, said:

"This is so close to the number of engineering and scientific graduates now active in the United States as to give no basis for complacency."

Russia, he said, supported by its growing force of thoroughly trained young engineers and scientists, is threatening the industrial leadership of the U. S.

Collingwood said the Soviets graduated 126,000 with first degrees in the broad field of natural science in 1955. Of these degrees, 63,000 were in engineering. The U. S. that same year graduated 59,000 in the same general field, but only 22,589 received first degrees in engineering.

Disney, ABC Contract Is $9 Million Deal

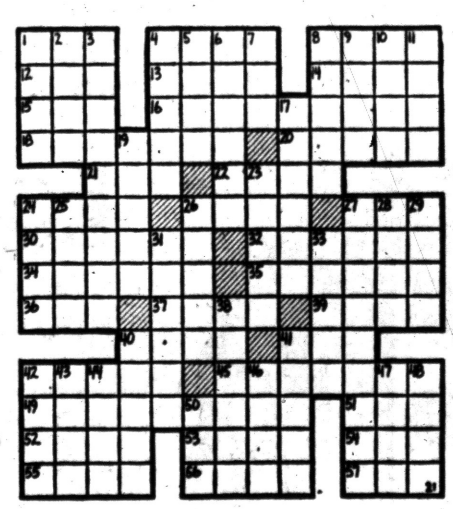

NEW YORK (AP) — Walt Disney productions and the American Broadcasting Co. have reached agreement on a contract of more than nine million dollars for 130 hours of television programming for the next two years.

Under the contract, announced yesterday, Disney will produce three programs for ABC-TV, Disneyland, Mickey Mouse Club and a new series entitled Zorro.

Zorro, a live action series of 39 weekly half-hour adventures, starts in October. It will be presented at night.

Issue Warrant for Blackmail

Las Vegas Publisher Will Se Served Today After Court Action

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A warrant charging blackmail is on its way here today to be served on publisher Herman Greenspun.

Lander County Sheriff Don Maestretti said the complaint charges Greenspun and private investigator Wilbur McNich with attempting to blackmail Dist. Judge John Sexton.

Sheriff Maestrtti said the warrant was mailed Saturday from Battle Mountain, Nev., to the Clark County Sheriff's office in Las Vegas for service.

★ ★ ★

Judge Sexton presided over a recent libel case in which Greenspun was ordered to pay $180,000 to Las Vegas Atty. George Franklin.

He said that his paper, the Las Vegas Sun, conducted an "investigation" of the judge. "The results of this investigation came before him in open court in the form of a motion," said Greenspun Saturday.

He said the motion, which asked that the judge disqualify himself from the case on grounds of bias and prejudice; was denied by Sexton.

American Ways Win

WESTON, Mass. (AP) — A French exchange student is having his troubles keeping true to his vow "that even in the United States I would remain quiet French." Andre Roesslinger of Rombas, France, told a church group of slipping from his gallic ways: "Now I drink two quarts of milk a day, consider a car a need and can not help saying 'this guy, gosh, gee and ya' instead of yes."

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

DOWN IN DAVY JONES' LOCKER — 1

A Frogman

Have you ever wondered about the secrets at the bottom of the seas?

For many years pearl divers have plunged deep and stayed a long time under water. But they were only looking for pearls and paid little attention to the sea life about them.

Now, men are using air masks connected to oxygen tanks strapped to their backs. They wear frog-like flippers on their feet to give them greater swimming power. These "frogmen" are able to go far down to study the beautiful plants and the brilliantly colored creatures swimming around the undersea foliage.

Here is a "frogman" and his diving mask. For a Davy Jones collection, paste it on cardboard, and color it. Cut out the parts carefully. Then cut the slits across the straps near the shoulders. Put a piece of black thread through the hole on his left shoulder marked by the arrow. To put on the helmet, insert tabs A and B into slits on the straps. Fold down the two tabs atop the helmet behind the head.

If you put a thread through the hole in back of the fish, your frogman will be ready for the swimming tank which we'll bring you tomorrow.

((Sharon and Marta Poykko, Alameda, Calif., win $10 for sending this idea first. If you have a suggestion send it to Junior Editors, care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Tomorrow: An Underwater Stage

Britain's Power Minister Has Vital Economic Role

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Sir Percy Mills, new minister of power, will be an important cog in the British drive to overcome the crippling effects of the abortive Egyptian invasion.

The 67-year-old industrialist was scarcely noticed by reporters when he visited Prime Minister Harold Macmillan last week at No. 10 Downing St.

Macmillan, an old friend, urged him twice to enter the cabinet and take over a new job with heavy responsibilities.

Sir Percy went home to his 17th Century manor house at Studley, Warwickshire, talked over the offer with his wife, then telephoned Macmillan to accept.

He will give up a lucrative income from various enterprises, including the chairmanship of more than a dozen companies, in taking the power ministry at an annual salary of $14,000.

Sir Percy, who will enter Parliament as a peer, is the man who helped Macmillan, when the latter was minister of housing and local government, to build 300,000 houses a year.

As an honorary adviser on housing to Macmillan in 1951, this former engineering apprentice worked under Macmillan as a production expert until the 300,000 target was within reach.

Those who do not belong to the "old school tie" tradition in Britain point out that Sir Percy is not of that tradition. He was educated at the North Eastern County School, Barnard Castle.

But he has traveled a long way since those student days, and his intense interest in power is not surprising because one of the firms of which he has been a director, Babcock and Wilcox, helped build Calder Hall Atomic Power Station.

Sir Percy will be responsible for government policy in relation to power resources generally. He will assume the existing functions of the old Ministry of Fuel and Power for coal, gas, electricity and oil and also will coordinate iron and steel industrial output.

Coal production is low and oil is rationed because of the blocked Suez Canal that delays Middle Eastern deliversies.

Blood Donors Eager to Help

Durham Girl Requires Rare Type to Permit Heart Operation

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — A score of folks with rare blood stood by ready to give a complete new blood supply to 8-year-old Sarita Ann Boswell today during delicate heart surgery.

Doctors planned to halt her heart for about four minutes during an operation to remove a growth from the heart and then seal off two heart chambers.

Only fresh blood can be used during the operation. Newspaper, radio and television appeals for donors went out all over North Carolina when it was found that the bright-eyed girl has the comparatively rare type O-Rh negative blood, ruling out the use of plasma and liquid blood from blood banks.

Hospital corridors outside the Duke Hospital blood bank were crowded yesterday with volunteers. Several donors were picked from these and in addition 14 persons from Rocky Mount, N. C., Sarita Ann's home, were here to give blood.

Albert Taylor, her stepfather, said while her heart stops, an artificial heart-lung will be used to pump blood into her body.

Sarita Ann underwent an operation in February of 1954 to remove the obstruction but it was not possible to complete the operation then without endangering her life.

To produce one acre of peanuts now is said to require up to about 50 hours of intensive hand labor.
