Rebel Kidnapers Say They'll Set Captives Free

Meanwhile, Ten U. S., 2 Canadian Engineers Held in Cuba

From Our News Wires

HAVANA, Cuba—Rebels who kidnaped 10 U.S. and two Canadian engineers from a mining camp told an American wife that the men would be treated well and released after a few days.

U.S. Ambassador Earl Smith warned last night that the U.S. government "will use every means possible" to get the kidnaped men back.

But he said the first step was to see what the officers of the Moa Bay Mining Co. was able to do.

About 200 heavily-armed rebels swooped down from their mountain hideouts Thursday night against the mining project in the first deliberate attack against U.S. citizens in Cuba. Official reports said the raiders were led by Castro's brother, Raul.

The raid was said to be in retaliation for alleged "U.S. aid to the Cuban government." U.S. officials said the rebels accused the United States of supplying gasoline to the Cuban Air Force from the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay. They said there was no information to support the charge.

Informed sources said the rebels told the engineers "We are instructed to kidnap all foreigners working on the project because of the help the U.S. government is giving the Cuban army." The rebels were said to have added "You will be held in the hills a couple of days."

The 12 men were loaded onto tracks and driven off under armed escort. The rebels also took 19 trucks and jeeps and looted supplies of food and medicine. Women and children at the camp, about two miles from the village of Moa on the north coast, were not molested.

Mrs. John Schissler, wife of a kidnaped California engineer, said a rebel leader told her the men were taken in reprisal for the alleged U. S. aid but they would be well cared for and released in a few days.

Officials of the Moa Bay Mining Co. reportedly went into the hills to dicker for release of the engineers. The officials expressed confidence that Castro would turn them loose when they pointed out that the incident was bad publicity in the United States.

The rebels dramatized their cause last February by kidnaping Juan Fangio, world champion auto racing driver from Argentina, in Havana and releasing him unharmed.

Smith said U. S. Consul Park Wollan was investigating the abduction and would make a full report. Wollan was ordered not to try to deal with the rebels, the ambassador said.

Disagree on Adams as Probe Continues

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republicans and Democrats disagreed today on whether sensational testimony by Boston promoter John Fox weakened or strengthened the "influence" charges against presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

Fox, who dropped several political bombshells in two hours on the witness stand yesterday, prompted fresh denials from the White House of allegations linking Adams with millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty labeled Fox's new charges as "ridiculous falsehoods."

But Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) and members of the subcommittee investigating to see if Adams pulled strings with federal agencies in Goldfine's behalf made no move to muzzle Fox. Harris rejected a request for secret sessions to hear the florid-faced financier.

Legislators speculated whether the Fox testimony might not boomerang and create sympathy for the embattled White House aide.

Fox, testifying under oath, said yesterday Goldfine boasted to him that:

—He had bought a house for Adams to live in during his Washington stay. Adams denied it. Hagerty added that Adams had lived in two houses here and city records showed he rented both.

—He had sent checks at regular intervals to Adams before the former New Hampshire governor came to the White House. Through Hagerty, Adams denied having received such aid.

Adams also issued his second public statement in two days to deny specifically that Goldfine ever stated in his presence that Adams had promised to "take care of" the financier's troubles with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

In a separate development, Fox raised eyebrows on Capitol Hill by swearing that Joseph P. Kennedy, millionaire father of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) gave him a half-million dollar loan after Fox's now-defunct Boston paper backed the younger Kennedy in 1952. Fox said he and Joseph Kennedy discussed such a loan over a drink the night

1,000 Witness Span Festival's Colorful Climax

Thousands of Others Hear Ceremony Over Loudspeakers

From Our News Wires

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker dedicated the 100 million dollar span on behalf of the United States Government in ceremonies held on "Mighty Mac."

A thousand VIP's witnessed the colorful ceremonies at a grandstand on the north anchorage pier. Thousands of other spectators heard it over loudspeakers in St. Ignace and Mackinaw City.

Also taking part were Mackinac Bridge queens from Michigan's 83 counties.

They were to pull approximately two and one-half miles of green ribbon from each side of the span to a point near the center where it was to be knotted, symbolizing the linking of Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas by steel and concrete.

And if all goes [illegible], nearly a score of big Lakes freighters, blowing their big horns, will pass beneath the bridge as the ceremonies reach their climax with the unveiling of a bronze dedication plaque.

At the same time, sleek military planes will roar down the middle of the Straits of Mackinac and Navy and Coast Guard vessels will fire their guns in a gigantic military salute to the bridge.

The formal ceremonies began at 11:30 a.m. and were to end about 1 p.m. when the guests were to be served lunch on the bridge.

A plaque honoring the role labor played in construction of the bridge was to be dedicated on Pier No. 2 at 3 p.m.

Theater-Trippers Return to City This Afternoon

The Pontiac Press's theater-trippers arrived in the city at 1:30 p.m. today, concluding a dazzling whirl of play-going, dining and and sight-seeing in New York City.

★ ★ ★

The evening was spent making last visits to favorite dining places and a bit of last minute shopping.

The trippers were still discussing the festivities of last Thursday night when a supper at Leone's Restaurant gave them the opportunity to dine with many of the stars they had seen during the five nights of theater-going.

The final play was "Who Was That Lady," the newest comedy to open on Broadway and considered by many the funniest they had seen.

The group left New York this morning by plane and reached Willow Run on two flights, at 1 p.m. and 1:15 p.m. Buses brought them to The Pontiac Press Building for final goodbyes before heading home.

Chrysler Awarded Army Tank Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has been awarded a $72,839,536 contract for the construction of 900 M48 medium tanks.

Work on the contract will be performed in the government-owned plant at Newark, Del., and at plants in Scranton, Pa., and Center Line, Mich.

The Army said yesterday the contracts will provide continued employment for about 1,400 workers at the three plants through March 1960.

Cyril? He's Our Sea Lion; Canadians Don't Think So

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—A heated international incident loomed today between the United States and Canada over Cyril the Sea Lion, who was captured yesterday by the director of the Toledo Zoo.

Cyril, also known as Zal, Slippery or Sinbad—escaped from the London, Ont., zoo June 17, swam down the Thames River into Lake St. Clair, down the Detroit River into Lake Erie and covered about 400 miles before recapture.

★ ★ ★

Skeldon managed to fire two tranquilizer-doused darts into the nautical mammal when Cyril showed up in Sandusky Bay. Cyril escaped for the moment but he was caught hours later snoozing blissfully in a bath house on the bay.

"Personally, I feel that the sea lion belongs to Toledo," Skeldon said. "After all, he was captured in American waters. Beyond that, I understand there's an old English law which states that once a wild animal escapes he becomes the property of anyone who captures him."

★ ★ ★

"London lost a sea lion," Nichols said. "The Toledo Zoo captured a sea lion. There are no other sea lions in the Great Lakes—therefore, the sea lion which Toledo captured must be London's sea lion."

Skeldon replied a "summit conference" would be necessary to settle the issue and that Nichols and his delegation would have to go back home and have the chairman, not the vice chairman, of the London Public Utilities Commission open negotiations directly with the chairman of the Toledo Zoological Board.

Nichols reminded Skeldon that a London newspaper (The London Free Press) had offered a $200 reward for capture of the beast, who only cost $150 in the first place. A reporter of the newspaper said he had the $200 in his pocket.

Skeldon was unmoved. Then Nichols played his trump. He gave his "personal guarantee that the Toledo Zoo will get another sea lion if we can have this one back."

Skeldon conceded it was a "fair offer, but it is out of my hands. This has become an international incident and will have to be taken up with the board."

What about Cyril? Skeldon said he had broken out in spotches from the stiff tranquilizer dose, was in no condition to be moved and was under the care of a veterinarian.

Hospital Union Fights Pay Cut

Proposes Board Halt Its Payments to Fund for Retirement Instead

The union representing employes at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday made a counter proposal to the board's plan to cut wages on July 1.

Headed by President Samuel A. Baker, a committee of Local 100, American Federal of Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, proposed that the board halt its payments in the workers' retirement fund in lieu of the wage cuts.

Although no estimate of the savings this proposal would effect were given, the hospital presently contributes three per cent of the payroll to the municipal retirement fund on a matching basis with the employes.

Harold B. Euler, acting hospital director and trustee, told the union representatives he doubted that their proposal was legal.

However, he and the trustees' personnel committee, headed by William B. Babcock, told the union that they would present the plan to the full board Monday night.

The trustees' personnel committee told the union that it is intent on using "every conceivable means to reduce labor costs as quickly as possible."

The union leaders offered all help short of the wage cut which is designed to save $65,000 over the next six months.

The possibility of a strike if the union proposal is rejected was not discussed, but Euler said earlier he doubted that it would be legal under a state law which bars such action by municipal employes.

He said that the union represents about 100 of the 566 full-time hospital employes.

'Slippery, Come Home, London Needs You'

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — A petition to Cyril the sea lion, urging him to return to his home in London Zoo, is being signed by residents today.

It reads: "Slippery come home. London needs you. 100,000 Londoners await your arrival at Storybook Gardens. P.S. Don't swim, transportation has been arranged."

"Thanks for sending Slippery back. 100,000 Londoners eagerly await his arrival. Best wishes to the people of Toledo from the people of London."

Mickey Wright Increases Lead

Fires Third-Round 70 to Lead Fay Crocker by 7 Strokes

Mickey Wright threatened to make a runaway of the sixth annual USGA Women's Open Golf championship today at Forest Lake Country Club.

The long-hitting professional from Chula Vista, Calif., who held a one-stroke lead over Uruguay's Fay Crocker entering today's 36-hole finale, fired a 3-under par 70 on this morning's round to boost her advantage to four shots.

Mickey's 70, combined with earlier rounds of 74 and 72, gives her a 54-hole total of 219, four below par. Women's par at Forest Lake is 37-36—73.

Her morning round is the second lowest 18-hole score of the tournament. Miss Crocker, who shot a 68 yesterday for the tourney's best score, slipped to a 76 this morning but she still retains third place with a 223 total. Louise Suggs carded 75 this morning to remain third at 224.

Miss Wright went out in 34 and came home with 36, picking up six birdies and nine one-putt greens along the way.

Bagwell Arrives in 1908 Olds

Here's the Human Side of Bridge Story

MACKINAC BRIDGE (AP) — Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor, says he made the 250-mile drive to the Straits from Lansing in a 1908 Oldsmobile without mishap.

"It was a wonderful experience," he said as he chugged into St. Ignace Friday with his wife and some campaign assistants after a two-day drive from Lansing.

As scheduled, Bagwell slept last night in a tent erected near a boy scout field kitchen outside St. Ignace.

There wasn't a picket or a picket sign in sight when 185 high school musicians showed up at the bridge yesterday for a concert.

The band from Interlochen National Music Camp near Traverse City didn't know until a few weeks ago whether it would perform at the bridge dedication.

An invitation sent out in April brought a protest from the American Federation of Musicians, which threatened to picket the performance. The union didn't like to see non-union talent perform to the exclusion of professional horn blowers.

The invitation was withdrawn, then reissued.

Officials will have to stand through the official dedication ceremony today on the Mackinac Bridge.

Dems Resisting Foreign Aid Hike

Ike Distressed Over $872 Million Cutback on $4 Billion Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's appeal for restoration of foreign aid funds taken away by a House committee met stiff Democratic resistance today.

Eisenhower said yesterday he was deeply distressed by the House Appropriations Committee's reduction of 872 million dollars from his requested $3,950,000,000 for economic and military aid to friendly nations in the fiscal year starting next Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

If the deep cut is allowed to stand, Eisenhower said, "I fear there will be important losses for the free world and a serious decreasing of the security of the United States."

★ ★ ★

The House will vote next week on the $3,078,000,000 money bill totaling 357 million less than is being spent on overseas assistance in the current fiscal year. It is 597 million dollars less than the $3,675,000,000 ceiling fixed in authorization legislation finallly passed by both houses yesterday and sent to the President.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, acting Senate Democratic leader, said he thinks the committee's 872 million dollar reduction is justified "but it was made in the wrong places."

★ ★ ★

"The whole amount of the reductions should have been taken out of the military and defense support programs," Mansfield said. "I believe it would be a mistake to cut back the Development Loan Fund."

★ ★ ★

The committee allowed only 300 million dollars for the Development Loan Fund instead of the 625 million Eisenhower asked. It cut his 1.8 billion dollar request for direct military aid to $1,515,000,000 and reduced defense support allowances from 835 to 700 million.

★ ★ ★

Mansfield said that "if the House does vote to cut that (Development Loan) fund, then I think there will be a strong movement in the Senate not only to restore it to the level the President asked but to increase it."

The fund is designed to aid underdeveloped countries. Mansfield said support for it has grown because of Soviet attempts to infiltrate these areas through economic assistance.

Alaska State Backers Confident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jubilant Alaska supporters predicted today that the Senate would approve statehood for the territory by an overwhelming margin next week.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (Wash) said the stage was set for making Alaska the 49th state of the Union. The Democratic floor manager of the Alaska Bill said he was confident the Senate would pass the House-approved measure, "probably by Wednesday."

He said opposition "crumbled" yesterday when the Senate rejected, in two major tests of strength, proposals which would have scuttled statehood for this session of Congress.

★ ★ ★

It turned down 50-29 Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney's (D-Okla) move to give Alaska commonwealth status instead of statehood, and defeated 53-28 a point of order objection by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss), who said the Alaska Bill's military land withdrawal provisions were unconstitutional.

"The votes yesterday pointed the way for an overwhelming vote on final passage of the bill without amendment," Jackson said.

Jackson, who said the votes against the Monroney and Eastland proposals were "much bigger than we expected," predicted that the final vote would be "even greater."

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho), who has been helping Jackson manage the bill, said it "appears that Alaska is well on the way to admission."

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill) also said the "strong majority" by which the bill survived yesterday's crucial tests "indicate pretty clearly that Alaska will indeed become the 49th state."

Still pending before the Senate, which will resume consideration of the Alaskan question at 11 a.m. Monday, was a second Eastland objection to a provision which would permit Alaska to elect one short term and one full term senator.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) also has offered an amendment dealing with the section which gives the Defense Department exclusive jurisdiction over 279,000 square miles of northwest Alaska for military use.

But Jackson said he was confident these hurdles could be overcome quickly. He said he expected there would be another day or two of speech-making on the bill and then the final vote by Tuesday or Wednesday.

If the Senate passes the bill without amendment it will go directly to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature.

The commonwealth proposal would have given Alaska a status similar to that of Puerto Rico. Alaskans would have been exempted from paying federal income taxes but would have been permitted to elect their own governor, a post now filled by presidential appointment.

To Step Up Negotiations

Auto Contracts Far Off

By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers and big three auto company representatives have announced a slow down in their contract negotiations but events outside the bargaining room indicate the next weeks will be "rock 'n' sock" times for the auto industry.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the union would "rock 'n' roll" through the summer without contracts when labor pacts with Ford, Chrysler and General Motors expired at the end of May.

But a wildcat strike that idled 5,400 at Chrysler, a General Motors charge of sabotage and announced shutdowns at plants next week which will idle 300,000 workers yesterday amounted to something rougher than rock 'n' roll.

The negotiators, making no reported progress, adjourned talks yesterday until Monday and will probably adjourn over the long July Fourth holiday as well.

★ ★ ★

The strike at Chrysler's Plymouth body plant here was triggered when two supervisors were shoved by two others. The two pushers were immediately fired and a group of workers at the plant walked out.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler said the walkout forced the shutdown of three plants and threw 2,700 day shift and the same number of night shift employes off their jobs.

The union charged the disciplinary layoffs were being made because the men refused to bow to a "speedup" order.

General Motors charged sabotage continued to plague its Kansas City Fisher Body plant with the three car bodies damaged yesterday bringing the week's total to 12 sabotaged bodies and raising the two week total to 70. GM is offering a $1,000 reward for information on the saboteurs.

Other developments:

A United Press International survey showed 300,000 UAW members will be idled next week as most General Motors plants and all Ford Motor Co. Mercury plants shut down for the week.

In addition, new model changeover and inventory cutting starts next week at Buick and will continue for two-to-four weeks.

Back Charges Against Hoffa

McClellan Offering Leads to Authorities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) offered today to give Indiana authorities some good leads to back charges that labor leaders James R. Hoffa and Maurice A. Hutcheson plotted to fix a grand jury.

★ ★ ★

"We have good leads they could follow up that should be productive," said McClellan, chairman of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

The committee temporarily wound up hearings on Hutcheson's Carpenters Union yesterday with a charge that Hutcheson's late father embezzled $250,000 of union property and willed it to his heirs.

★ ★ ★

Maurice Hutcheson sat poker faced and silent as committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy made the embezzlement charge against William L. (Big Bill) Hutcheson, whom the son succeeded as Carpenters Union president.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said the embezzlement involved some securities and Florida orange grove property now in probate as part of the Hutcheson estate.

A few minutes earlier the younger Hutcheson balked at telling whether he had used union funds to fix a grand jury in Lake County, Ind.

That grand jury looked into Indiana's 1956-57 highway land scandals, but declined to hand down any indictments on grounds it lacked jurisdiction. However, an Indianapolis grand jury later returned bribery and conspiracy indictments against Marice Hutcheson, two other Carpenters Union officials and several state highway officials. They are awaiting trial.

★ ★ ★

Hutcheson, challenging the committee's authority to question him on such matters, also refused to say whether he had "an arrangement" with Hoffa, president of the scandal-rocked Teamsters Union.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said the arrangement called for Hoffa to make himself useful to Hutcheson in return for the latter's support on the "question of his (Hoffa) being ousted from the AFL-CIO."

★ ★ ★

McClellan said the evidence indicated a conspiracy to subvert justice in Indiana. He also told newsmen he would ask the committee to consider whether Hutcheson's refusal to testify was in contempt of Congress. Hutcheson did not plead the Fifth Amendment.

★ ★ ★

Next week the committee launches hearings on alleged gangster infiltration of various business and labor groups. Hoffa is billed as an early witness.

Fair Skies Dominate Summer Here at Last?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The young summer season, mostly hesitant so far, broke out across a broad stretch of the country today with sunny skies and warm temperatures dominating all but scattered areas.

★ ★ ★

Showers dampened parts of the Southeast and the Pacific Northwest, and thunderstorms rumbled over Montana. Thundershowers, of the summer afternoon variety, were in prospect for portions of the Great Plains.

Temperatures in the Plains were up to 20 degrees warmer than readings early Friday. Once again it was hot in the Southwestern desert region with temperatures in the 90s quite common.

Fair skies dominated nearly the entire country. The showery activity in the Northwest was expected to give way to the sun during the forenoon, and a similar clear sky pattern was the outlook for most of the dampened Southeast.

Warmer and sunny weather covered the Mississippi Valley and upper Great Lakes region where summer had gotten off to a blustery, damp start early in the week.

Most rainfall amounts during the night were on the light side, although Charleston, S. C., was soaked by a one-inch downpour. Other rain areas reported less than two-tenths of an inch of precipitation.

If was slightly cooler in the shower area of the Carolinas, and cooler weather was on tap for the northern Rockies and the northern Plateau region.

With an end to the showers in the Northwest, temperatures were expected to edge upward in a fair sky pattern stretching along the Pacific Coast.

Boy Badly Burned as Gas Explodes

A three-year-old boy was badly burned yesterday afternoon when a jar of gasoline exploded in his backyard.

★ ★ ★

According to Mrs. James Walkter, of 164 Franklin Rd., her son James Jr. was watching his older brother, James Wesley, 11, and his uncle, Ronald Wims, 13, running a small gasoline motor.

A spark from the motor ignited an open jar of gasoline next to it causing it to explode. The child was covered with flames and suffered third degree burns on the face, chest, and both hands and legs.

He is reported in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

"Already it gives cause for high hopes of new and promising development," the former Michigan Republican governor said.

State Police estimated between 50,000 and 75,000 celebrants poured into Straits communities yesterday. Other thousands came in today for the weekend.

Autos came into town bumper to bumper. Vacancy signs came down from motels, restaurants filled up and businessmen began to smile.

'An Engineering Triumph'

Ike Hails Straits Bridge

MACKINAC BRIDGE (UPI) — President Eisenhower today hailed the new Mackinac Bridge as providing a "permanent crossing of one of our country's strategic waterways."

★ ★ ★

He called the 100 million dollar span both "an engineering triumph" and a "demonstration of the power of free men working together toward a worthwhile goal."

The President's message was delivered by Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker at formal dedication ceremonies of the bridge.

Tripoli Scene of Fierce Battle

8 Killed in Overnight Fight Between Rebels, Lebanon Government

BEIRUT (AP)—A battle raged for more than 12 hours overnight in Tripoli between government and rebel forces, insurgent sources reported today.

Eight persons were killed and about 20 wounded—many of them bystanders caught by stray bullets—the reports from the northern port city said.

Maan Karami, brother of the northern rebel leader, Raschid Karami, said that it had been the most violent night for Tripoli since the Lebanese crisis began 50 days ago.

Lebanese security forces were braced for new onslaughts after stopping four rebel attacks yesterday in the gravest challenge so far to President Camile Chamoun's pro-Western government.

The battle in Tripoli began at 10 p.m. last night when armed men infiltrated close to security forces positions, Karami said.

The shooting began to subside this morning, but at noon the thunder of artillery still could be heard in the hills surrounding Tripoli.

Security forces reportedly used heavy artillery frequently during the battle. It was the third straight day of heavy fighting around Tripoli.

2 Nuclear Tests Rock Eniwetok

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States conducted two nuclear test explosions yesterday at Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific.

★ ★ ★

The tests, the sixth and seventh reported so far in the current series, were timed one hour apart.

A joint announcement of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said they occurred at 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. EST. The announcement gave no other information.

Rebels in Lebanon Irritated by Hammarskjold Opinion

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Hammarskjold was accused editorially of seeming to lack "power and appreciation" of what's going on in this rebellion-racked nation. He reportedly believes the situation is not so bad as it looks and has adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

Surprise and shock at this apparent attitude was voiced by the most influential spokesman for the moderate group that stands between Chamoun and rebels trying to overthrow him, Beirut's leading newspaper L'Orient.

An editorial criticizing Hammarskjold appeared to be unexpected support for the president from a source that has been opposing him though not siding with the rebels.

The editorial indicated the U.N. observation mission here lacks realization of the serious situation created in Lebanon by the infiltration of United Arab Republic forces. It appealed for some sort of decisive action to deal with the situation.

Accusing the United Nations of ambiguity, the editorial said:

"It seems that Hammarskjold's powers of appreciation are as limited as his powers of decision."

It is high time, the editorial added, that the question is cleared up whether the U.N. observers are here only to watch for U.A.R. intervention or to seal the border against it.

Hammarskjold has taken the position that a Security Council resolution of June 11 establishing the observers was only for them to look, but L'Orient and some other sources here have interpreted it to mean that the observers should seal the border.

"If there is any interference, the United Nations should be able to establish the fact and prevent it," the editorial said. "If the United Nations finds negative evidence, then who profits from prolonging this troubled situation in Lebanon?"

In New York, the elder Kennedy's office issued a statement denying such a discussion took place at the time the paper, The Boston Post, came out for the Kennedy candidacy.

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) said Fox's statements were so "preposterous" they served to discredit his entire attack on Adams and Goldfine.

But Reps. John E. Moss (D-Calif) and Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill) countered that it was not possible to disregard all the sensational testimony offered in the past two days.

Even though Fox may not be an ideal witness, Moss remarked, Goldfine has a lot of questions to answer when he appears Tuesday.

Goldfine has served notice he will deny Fox's basic charges under oath.

Fox, who returns Monday for a third day of quizzing, insisted he had "documented proof" to back up some of his charges. He seemed certain to face another barrage from GOP members of the committee at least.

"He is going to get cross-examined and that's for sure," said Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara (R-Minn), who rushed to Adams' defense by inserting a letter of denial into the record right after the account of Goldfine "buying" Adams' house.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) said he thought Fox's testimony was of "doubtful value."

Gets Case Dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Allan Jones' testimony that he has earned but $2,500 this year won dismissal of his ex-wife's contempt charge against him. Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle, who dismissed actress Irene Hervey's charge, also took under submission the singer's request for a reduction in $1,500-a-month alimony payments.

The Day in Birmingham

City Recreation Program Topping All Expectations

BIRMINGHAM — The first week of Birmingham's summer recreation program has topped previous years and gone beyond all expectations, Robert Girardin, recreation director, said this morning. He estimated about 1,000 participants were included in the various playground activities.

On this basis, Girardin said he expects the new features starting today to prove equally popular. These include swimming at the Derby Junior High and Birmingham High School pools from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m., and the Teenage Center at Eton Park from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

The center will offer ping pong, shuffleboard, badminton, volleyball, dancing and refreshments. All teenagers residing in the city are welcome.

Girardin said the crafts class, new this year, is proving most popular.

"Our youngsters apparently are eager to find something that challenges their ability and provides evidence as to how they spend their time. They like games and play, of course, but there seems to be a special satisfaction in material evidence.

"The boy or girl who is in leathercraft, for instance, and makes a belt, wallet or bookmark, has something he can show his family and friends. A few words of praise from them increases his pleasure in what he has done," Girardin said.

He predicted that all attendance records will be broken if the present trend continues.

Service clubs and what they mean to their communities will be discussed by Ted Kuckleman when he speaks at the Birmingham Lions Club noon meeting Wednesday at the Community House. Kuckleman is executive secretary for the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and is past governor of Rotary International.

James Flack, moderator of the Congregational Church of Birmingham, is attending the General Council of Congregational Churches in Boston. Flack is a delegate of the Detroit association and will serve on the pastoral committee. The conference opened Monday and will continue through Thursday.

Service for Alfred C. Barber, 70, of 509 W. Nine Mile Rd., Ferndale, a former Birmingham resident, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham.

Surviving are his wife, Eleanor; a son, Alfred James of Guelph, Ontario, Canada; eight sisters and three brothers.

Sen. Potter Returning to the Bridge

★ ★ ★

Reports yesterday said the Republican senator and GOP representative Victor A. Knox, who both live practically within the shadow of the high bridge towers, stormed away from bridge celebrations after being pushed from a front table at a legislative banquet that was to have been held last night.

"That isn't the case at all," said Vera Glaser, one of Potter's aides in his Washington office. Miss Glaser said the senator did return to Washington but it was because he wanted to be in on the debate on the Alaskan statehood.

Some reports said the banquet in question was taken off the program and all speeches there had been canceled.

★ ★ ★

They said potter had a dedication speech in his pocket when he arrived at the bridge Thursday. Knox, representative of this congressional district, did not say why he was returning to the capital.

Potter reportedly was "incensed because he was not given a brief appearance in the spotlight at the dinner, while his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Philip Hart, was."

Potter told a Detroit radio news director in a telephone conversation from Washington conversas I know I was to have been at the main table.

Dancer, Liked by Stalin, Held as Shoplifter

BRUSSELS (AP) — Olga Lepesjinskaia, once Stalin's favorite ballerina, was caught shoplifting in a Brussels department store, police said today.

The star of the Bolshoi Ballet now appearing at the Brussels World Fair, Miss Lepesjinskaia is ranked only behind Galla Ulanova and Maya Plisetskaya among Moscow's famous ballerinas.

Police said she was stopped on leaving the store yesterday by a store detective, who had been tipped off by a customer.

★ ★ ★

She pleaded to be allowed to attend ballet rehearsals but was hustled off to a police station, then to the Palace of Justice for questioning.

Police said she finally admitted taking an umbrella, two pairs of gloves, cuff links, and some tape.

All U. of M. Tickets for OSU Game Sold

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan's allotment of tickets for the football game with Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 22 has been sold out.

U. of M. officials said, however, tickets are still available for all other games, including those at home and away.

Jobless Claims Top Expected Figure

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Employment Security Commission says claims for temporary unemployment benefits, which had been expected to reach some 50,000, may reach 65,000 or more.

The MESC said yesterday, on the basis of applications for the emergency $30,000,000 authorized two weeks ago by the Legislature, its original estimate may fall short.

The first payment of the fund will be made Monday at the MESC's downtown Detroit Office. Gov. Williams will be on hand to give out the first check.

Workers eligible for the emergency aid are those whose benefits were exhausted between July 1, 1957 and March 31, 1959.

Auto Kills Trixy

Burned Girl, Her Dog Die Within Hours

Her only toy was a cigarette lighter that a week ago ignited some scrap paper and left her critically burned.

Her only thoughts were of Trixy. Eller Tuten, a 9-year-old cerebral palsy victim, and Trixy were inseparable in life.

Death claimed both within hours.

"The dog was her only companion," said Eller's uncle, William Tuten. "They were always together." He gave Eller the pup.

Eller's parents were divorced. Since birth she had lived with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Glover Mathis.

★ ★ ★

"Both my wife and I went to see her regularly," the father said. "She was in good hands. It was just a terrible accident."

He said that Eller went to school like healthy children.

"She only had an occasional attack, but no paralysis."

A week ago, the grandparents returned home and found the child on her hands and knees in the living room, her dress blazing. She was able to tell them she had set fire to some paper with the lighter.

Doctors said her body was 70 per cent covered with burns. While she was hospitalized some neighbors took in Trixy.

At 12:15 a. m. yesterday, Eller died. Her last words were a call for Trixy.

★ ★ ★

Eight hours later, Trixy dashed under a car's wheels.

Her uncle William buried Trixy behind the grandparents' home. A small monument, he said, is planned.

Services for Eller were scheduled for today.

To Live Normal Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Doctors tell Verna Mae Ainsworth that in all probability she has a normal life expectancy. The 17-year-old wife of a young sailor had little chance for a normal life before doctors sewed up a hole in her heart chamber. Thirty shipmates of James Ainsworth, a 21-year-old fireman from the cruiser Helena, donated 30 pints of blood for the operation.

An average of 3,000 prisoners are paroled from ajil to the Salvation Army each year.

For the President Makes His Own Decisions

Unkind Critics Surely Don't Know 'Our' Ike

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Those unkind critics who hint out loud that President Eisenhower fails to make his own decisions just don't know our Ike.

Consider, for instance, the recent state visit of German President Theodor Heuss. In accordance with established protocol, President and Mrs. Eisenhower arranged a formal White House dinner for their distinguished guest but ran head-on into a seating problem.

Official protocol calls for placing the visiting dignitary's wife next to the President at dinner, but Heuss is a widower. Since the German head of state was accompanied by his foreign minister, the next lady of rank would have been his wife, but Heinrich von Brentano is a bachelor.

Wilhelm Grewe, the new German ambassador who is a distinguished international lawyer, was the third ranking foreign guest, but Grewe is a grass widower.

As a consequence, the State Department furrowed its collective brows and came up with a solution. Mrs. John Foster Dulles, wife of the U.S. secretary of state, should take the vacant place of honor next to President Eisenhower.

No sooner had the word been passed along to Ike than the five-star general revolted.

"Nothing doing," he retorted in so many words. "Mrs. Dulles is a fine lady, but we have sat together so often that we've exhausted all our dinner table talk. I want a German lady next to me."

The decision spelled enchantment for a charming, effervescent young mother of two youngsters who has been in America only six weeks.

The blonde "Cinderella" who suddenly found herself tapped for the White House seat of honor is Mrs. Franz Krapf, wife of the new first minister of the embassy.

And what a break for the President: From the moment that prexy Ike first met his dinner partner's blue-eyed gaze, they found plenty to talk about.

The former Helga Gerdts is an accomplished golfer, and like the President she also relishes a good game of bridge. Her six and ten-year-old daughters are near enough to the age of Ike's grandchildren so that they had plenty of stories to swap.

To top it all, Mrs. Krapf not only speaks flawless English, but is highly conversant with defense problems, since her husband's last assignment was as Germany's deputy representative to NATO.

While an interpreter laboriously relayed conversation between First Lady Mamie and President Heuss, Helga and Ike chatted gaily of Paris, sports, protocol, kiddies and travel.

The evening, in fact, proved so successful that when President Heuss returned the Eisenhowers' hospitality with a state dinner at the German embassy two nights later, Mrs. Krapf again drew the ranking seat next to our prexy. On each occasion, the two heads of state sat side-by-side, thus eliminating further feminine competition.

The 35-year-old newcomer to Washington diplomacy is amazingly well qualified for her unexpected role as "official" hostess for the wifeless ambassador.

Born in Yokohama of a German mother and a Swedish father who has been an import-export tycoon there almost since the beginning of Japanese westernization, Helga lived most of her life in Tokyo. There, as a child, she met her future husband who held a diplomatic post with the Germany Embassy in Japan.

In the modern-day tower of Babel along Washington's embassy row, the Krapfs will have few peers. Both Franz and Helga are equally at home in the English, French, Japanese, German and Swedish tongues.

Eight Billion More Annually

Says Older People Need $$

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The income of persons over 65 in this country must be raised by eight billion dollars annually to provide an adequate minimum standard of living for the aged, the University of Michigan's 11th annual conference on aging was told in its concluding session Thursday.

U. of M. Prof. Wilbur J. Cohen of the school of social work said both public and private resources will be needed to close the financial gap that now exists.

The conference on aging attracted authorities on every aspect of oldage problems during its three days of meetings.

Cohen said the nation has the income, productive resources and institutions to supply the increased funds. "All we need is the willingness to do it," he said.

Figures recently developed from census data, Cohen reported, show that 80 per cent of those 65 years old and over had cash incomes of less than $2,000 annually in 1956. Sixty per cent had less than $1,000, while 20 per cent had incomes between $1,000 and $2,000.

The first government budget for the aged was established in 1948, Cohen said. But it has not changed since that time. The government is not adequately considering the needs of the aged, he added.

Our older people are not a debit to the economy, he said. Having contributed to its productive resources, they should have an opportunity to continue as consumers. In a consumer economy, there is a very real identity of interest between younger and older people, between producers and consumers, he concluded.

'Saving Billions' With Defeat of Farm Bill

WASHINGTON — Defeat of a "catch-all" farm bill by the House saved consumers and the federal government billions of dollars yearly, said Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) today.

Broomfield said the vote of 171-214 killing the Farm Omnibus Bill would permit favorable portions, such as the school milk program and the agricultural surplus disposal program to be considered in separate legislation later this year.

The farm bill would have cost the federal government between $2 and $3 billion. In addition, Broomfield said food shoppers would have been forced to pay additional costs for dairy products and bread to support the proposed program.

Consumer costs would have increased as follows: Bread, one cent a loaf; milk, 1½ cents a quart; butter 9-10 cents a pound; cheese, eight cents a pound.

Police Inspector Blushes After His Gun Stolen

OAKLAND, Calif (UPI) — Police Inspector Toney B. Daily, a 16-year veteran on the Oakland force, was dallying in a local tavern yesterday when he suddenly discovered that someone had slipped the gun from his belt holster.

Four hours later, an intinerant laborer, Ramon Jaques, returned to the scene of his crime and loudly proclaimed he wanted to return the weapon to the owner. He reached in his pocket and the gun discharged a bullet into the floor.

The shot brought police to the scene. They retrieved the gun and returned it to the chagrined inspector. Jaques was jailed on drunk charges while Inspector Daily drew a 10-day suspension for bringing embarrassment to Oakland's police force.

29 College Profs to Attend GM Meet

DETROIT — Twenty-nine faculty members from 24 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada will attend the seventh annual General Botors Conference for Engineering and Science Educators here July 6-22.

They will be guests of three GM vice presidents — Charles A. Chayne, in charge of engineering staff; Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, in charge of research staff, and Robert M. Critchfield, in charge of process development staff.

The conference provides engineering and science educators a firsthand view of how science and engineering knowledge and skills are used in research, product development and production organizations. It is designed also to give GM management a better understanding of educational problems in training future scientists and engineers.

★ ★ ★

The 29 educators will attend meetings with various executives at GM Technical Center at Warren, GM Institute in Flint, and GM Proving Ground at Milford.

Trujillo the Skipper

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rafael Trujillo Jr. wants it understood he's the skipper of the good ship Angelita, not Zsa Zsa Gabor. He told a newsman he had seen reports that Zsa Zsa was planning to give a party on his 350-foot yacht. "How could that be?" he asked. "How could she give the party? It's my boat."

Three Firemen, Youth Hurt at Davis

4 Companies Fight Blaze

DAVIS — Four fire departments were called out to fight a blaze yesterday afternoon which threatened to destroy Davis Hardware in the heart of this small community five miles southeast of Romeo.

Damage was estimated at $8,000.

The fire was discovered by Louis Schoof, 66, who lives across the street from the store, at 27-Mile and Romeo Plank roads. Co-owner of the store, Roy Bettcher, was waiting on a customer at the time, unaware of the fire in the rear of the building.

★ ★ ★

Schoof played a hose on the blaze while nearby merchants and residents formed a bucket brigade. The town has no fire department of its own.

Romeo firemen, first on the scene, called for reinforcements when the fire threatened to spread to nearby buildings and homes.

The fire, which began in a shed behind the store, was brought under control within two hours.

Honor City Man for Saving Life of Pontiac Boy

Ralph D. Kuenz, 23, of 570 Valencia Dr., will receive the Theodore N. Vail Award Wednesday for his meritorious service in saving the life of a child.

The award will be presented to Kuenz, a field assistant for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Pontiac district, for his quick action in giving artificial respiration and first aid to Jesse Currington, a six-year-old Pontiac child who was hit by an auto last December. The ceremony will begin at noon at the Elks Temple.

Improving Slightly After Heart Attack

ROMEO—Royal A. Holt, 62, director of the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center, was listed as "a little improved" today at St. Joseph Hospital, Mt. Clemens, following a heart attack Thursday.

Holt, who was construction superintendent of the new $100,000 center before becoming its director last winter, is still in "critical" condition, however, hospital officials said.

288,000 pounds of dynamite were used to blast a clear channel for boats in Hell's Gate in New York City's East River in 1885.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Despite Misfortune at Pontiac General—See Bright Future

I believe in the Pontiac General Hospital.

Few public entities have ever been subjected to the all-around beating administered to the Pontiac institution over the past stretch of time. But I still believe in it completely.

To summarize, we find:

1—Suits for admission by five doctors who have been barred on certain things.

2—A separate suit by one doctor which caused unfortunate statewide publicity.

3—The institution's failure to build a three million dollar wing with the three million it requested and was voted.

4—Two bond issue defeats that resulted in practical confiscation of a vast part of the City's improvement funds.

8—Probation status by an accredited hospital authority.

In spite of all eight, I believe in the Pontiac General Hospital.

It will emerge from the shadows and go on to greater heights than it ever attained before. Its impressive and honorable record over a long span of years will be surpassed and augmented. Its overall history from the beginning is magnificent. Let's keep that fact foremost.

★ ★ ★

The hospital is obligated to defend the public against medical inexperience or incompetence at all times and in all circumstances. THERE CAN BE NO DEVIATION. If some of the five doctors mentioned above have since qualified, they will be admitted. If they haven't, the board must say "NO." Both the Trustees and the Medical Staff would be wantonly and criminally negligent if they deviated one whit from their duty in safeguarding the people.

★ ★ ★

That unfortunate circumstance happened to arise just now and it had to be faced.

There was no other path.

The whole action reflects credit and honor on the hospital.

★ ★ ★

I think the city and hospital officials erred badly in exceeding the three million dollars they requested and received. The hospital has no moral right to a million and a half of other city funds and The Press so declared at the time. However, that's water over the dam and the whole thing was done openly and with no attempt to hide the defection from duty.

★ ★ ★

And they did it.

★ ★ ★

I applaud the board's quick revelation of the current deficit and the exposure of managerial ineptitude. The members faced the whole matter squarely. Courageous action like this restores confidence on the part of the public and helps in the general rebuilding.

★ ★ ★

This grand hospital has simply suffered the indignities of having all the bad luck that generally spreads itself thinly over a century of time, crowded into a few brief months. The woes of an extended lifetime have been encompassed in one catastrophic storm.

Lightning struck all over the place.

Once the fury of this flash storm is spent, I am sure Pontiac General Hospital is in for a long, solid run of community service that will cause all the present ills to be forgotten in the light of more important things.

★ ★ ★

The great bulk of the employes at the City Hospital are sincere, deserving and capable people. They have gone forward quietly in all the fuss and turmoil and deserve a warm round of applause for refusing to stampede. They kept things in their proper perspective and realized the problems are current and not particularly insurmountable at that.

★ ★ ★

I believe in the Pontiac General Hospital.

I believe in its future and I am proud of its honorable past. A winning team does not necessarily lose the pennant because of a number of bad breaks in a row!

★ ★ ★

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Overheard in the Oakland lobby: "Now that SHIRLEY TEMPLE has made a comeback, can't ZSA ZSA make a go-away?".....Someone suggests the Dems want the GOP to nominate HAROLD STASSEN and SHERMAN ADAMS.....President JOHN A. HANNAH has a dozen honorary degrees but when he appears in a Commencement pageant, he wears his Rhode Island insignia. It's the most colorful.....An all-around personable individual: BOB BOYER.

★ ★ ★

Ormond E. Hunt, retired Executive Vice President of GM, has driven more than a million and a half miles himself. He's one of the greatest automotive engineers of all time....."Peggy" Dawson, one of my favorite people, and a real golf enthusiast (with great ability) has been sidelined by the medicos for the entire summer. "Peggy," be the the first girl to use a golfing cart.

★ ★ ★

At Lambert flying field, the pilots do close formation work at great altitudes and at supersonic speed, carrying big artillery. When they drive cars out of the main gate, they see this sign: "You Are Now Entering a Danger Zone, the Public Highway. Good luck!"......"JUDY" KNUDSEN, daughter of energetic "BUNKIE" and beautiful FLORENCE, is attending Pontiac Business Institute this summer. Marks for her first year in college show four "A's" and a "B." If she's interested in newspaper work, she can drop in here any time between now and Commencement of 1961.....Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—the Riker Garage for fixing the entrance so modern cars can use it; the J's—June weather.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Christ's Early Ministry

GALILEE, ISRAEL—Jesus spent a good portion of His early public life in the vicinity of the Lake of Galilee. Over its surface, His love flowed out in a wave that engulfed the world.

It was here that He walked upon the water, calmed the angry storm, multiplied the loaves and fishes, and brought about the great catch that almost swamped the apostles' boat. The lake, lying 682 feet below sea level, is fished extensively to this day and still is famous for the violent storms that whirl out of its surrounding mountains.

But on the day I walked these shores, all was calm and quiet, save for the beat of wings over the still water. The water was a soft blue, dappled with sunlight; the surrounding hills diffused in a heavy haze. "And when He was entered into a ship, His disciples followed Him." (Matthew 9:23).

Days of All Faiths

How Many Apostles Were There?

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday is St. Peter's and St. Paul's Day, although in many churches St. Paul has to a large extent dropped out of the picture. In the Eastern Orthodox churches, however, they make a whole week of it and pay honor to all the Apostles. Monday is known as Twelve Apostles Day. The celebration will continue throughout the week.

Instead of taking second place, St. Paul is given more prominence by the Greek church than any of the other Apostles. This is because he is regarded as their founder, just as St. Peter is considered to be the founder of the Roman church.

The arithmetic of this observance is a little puzzling. St. Paul was not one of the Twelve. When Judas turned traitor and was counted out, Matthias was elected to replace him and restore the number to 12.

But it was sometime later that Saul of Tarsus had his famous conversion on the road to Damascus and became the Apostle Paul, "as one born out of due season." If Paul's credentials as an Apostle are acknowledged, that would seem to bring the total to 13.

Nevertheless, the day is called Twelve Apostles Day, and the week-long celebration honors St. Paul and the other Twelve.

DAY OF SORROW

Jly 5, in the 70th year of the Christian era, was the day on which the Roman army broke through the defenses of Jerusalem and sealed the doom of that holy city and its Temple. It was the beginning of the end.

When Jerusalem finally fell the Jewish nation was dispersed and left homeless to wander the face of the earth. In the Jewish calendar this day is the 17th of the month of Tammuz. Of course, it is a fast day and a day of deepest mourning.

More than a single day of sorrow, it is the beginning of a three-week period of mourning for all the many misfortunes the Jews have suffered. The sad season ends on the 9th of the next month, which is called Ab.

During these three weeks Jews pray for freedom from the oppression that has followed them wherever they have gone.

The rules of mourning during these three weeks are the same as those for the death of a near relative. There must be no marriages, no playing of musical instruments, no purchase or wearing of new clothes, no haircuts.

This column is always written three weeks ahead and is in the hands of your local editor ten days or so before publication. If you write to me in care of your local paper — and how else could you write — there is a delay of a week or more while yor letter is being forwarded.

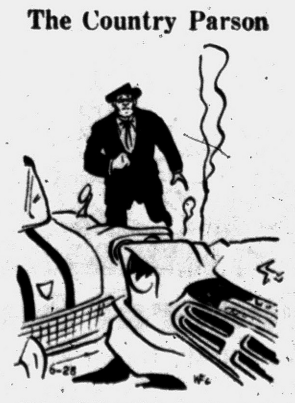

Add this week to the other three and it means the quickest possible response an anonymous letter could get through the column would be a matter of four or maybe five weeks.

Answer — This is serious, kids. It hurts my pride as a teacher to learn that anyone can read my column a lot and yet believe that castor oil is good for children. I have changed your names here to prevent embarrassment. If you can tell me why grandma gives you castor oil, perhaps I can suggest something else. Meanwhile, there's no good reason for inflicting castor oil on a child, not even as punishment for misbehavior. For aches or pains it is most unsuitable.

Brilliant Minister Wants to Quit

Clyde was a brilliant clergyman but this own stubborn refusal to imitate successful leaders, was making him a liability to the Lord. So learn to imitate the smart methods of the proved pace-setters in your field. And send for the booklet below if you want to be an interesting speaker in the shortest possible time.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Y — 348: Clyde G., aged 44, is a very devout clergyman but a very ineffective public speaker.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I am about to quit the ministry," he spoke sadly, "for my church attendance keeps going downhill.

DR. CRANE

"Yet I study all week to develop a good sermon. And I read most of the good books that are published.

"My wife wants me to stay in the ministry, but I am so discouraged I feel it would be best if I went into teaching or some other field.

"However, I promised her I would consult you before I make a definite decision, so what would you recommend?"

FORCED PATRONAGE

Clyde shows the tendency of many teachers who can't win success out in practice, so they take a salaried job where "customers" are compelled to patronize them.

★ ★ ★

Clyde realizes he has failed to attract voluntary listeners. Yet he is a very brilliant man.

But he lets his own prejudice prevent him from doing the Lord's work effectively!

By that, I mean he is so stubborn he refuses to imitate the stellar orators in the pulpits of his own denomination.

His bishop, for example, is a superlative orator. And Clyde has heard that bishop speak on dozens of occasions.

But Clyde would not make brief notes and analyze the reasons why the bishop is such a great orator! For Clyde will not imitate. He subconsciously thinks he should "be himself."

The bishop uses the narrative formula which Jesus gave all of us. It consists of stating a lofty principle as a text, like Christ's Golden Rule, and then documenting it with cases, as the story Jesus gave of the Good Samaritan.

SUREFIRE SPEECH FORMULA

Any average person can make an interesting speech by using Christ's narrative formula. And it doesn't take years of practice, either!

★ ★ ★

So I told Clyde I would veto his leaving the ministry. Then I showed him why his sermons were putting people to sleep.

He never narrated current stories of people in his town or parish! He also used 5-syllable words and was too "high brow."

He seemed to think it was cheapening to use simple Anglo-Saxon words, although Jesus always employed simple, direct language.

So send for my booklet "Public Speaking Strategy," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

★ ★ ★

Clyde increased his church attendance over 25 per cent in the first month after following this surefire formula!

In 6 months, it had doubled!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Readers Defend Position of the Teaching Profession

Three cheers for Friend of Pedagogues. Here's a person who has a genuine and sincere interest in the mind-developing process of our future citizens. He entitles to our educators the respect that is certainly due them, for he realizes in their hands lies the power to set the intellectual pattern of our country's future. It's up to our teachers to develop, to fullest capacity, the mentality of our youngsters.

★ ★ ★

God in His goodness gave everyone aptitude to contribute something to mankind. Whether this be large or small, it must be developed well in order to become useful, and who, besides our educators, may competently assume the responsibility of developing it?

★ ★ ★

Mary Saghy

People who debase teaching and use words like "jerk" to describe teachers rarely hold college degrees. Anyone who has attended college doesn't believe it's almost impossible to flunk out of education. Requirements in this field are the toughest and by the end of the first semester the men have been separated from the boys.

★ ★ ★

College Graduate and his wife are through supporting raises only because they can't bear parting with the few paltry dollars to pay teachers, and out of a double income at that. Yet when Russians show us up these are the first to wail about education and lack of good teachers. I pity poor souls whose lot it is to teach offspring of such trash.

Who are we to believe—the most intelligent, respected brains in the country who advocate immense raises for teachers, or phonies like M. A. Degree and College Graduate who make teaching sound like a bum's career? We must now take giant steps to keep abreast of those who would conquer us, whether we like it or not, education is our weapon, so from here on in it's either education or slavery. Make your own choice while you can.

Did you ever think about the job of your paper boy? Neither did I until recently, when due to unforeseen circumstances, I delivered my son's route. You can take it from me, I'll never take it for granted again. It's a tremendous job, considering dogs and other obstacles they meet each day. I'll show my appreciation by giving them the consideration and thanks due them and by keeping my dog in when I know the boy is due. I know he'll appreciate the small consideration on my part. I hope you'll do the same.

'Property Owners Must Be United'

In my 34 years of residence on Williams Lake, according to Waterford Township Clerk, schools have increased from 7 to 20, school attendance from 700 to 10,424, taxpayers from 6,075 to 40,100 and assessed valuation from $4,454,297 to $80,867,582. This proves very great growth.

★ ★ ★

In talking to Mr. Hughes of the hatchery, I was told Williams Lake isn't stocked with fish because it's considered a private lake. He also said conduct of the people and what takes place on the lake rests entirely with property owners. Several small groups around the lake try to protect their own sections, but there's no connecting link between them. All owners must combine and be of one mind and form a permanent organization, with officers and bylaws to govern.

'Don't Use Mower Up and Down Hills'

A subscriber wants to know whether he should run his power mower up and down fairly steep inclines or crosswise. An excellent article in the June issue of Today's Health magazine gives this warning: "Don't cut up and down on hills. If you slip, the machine may slide down over your toes. Cut sideways."

I heartily recommend all users of power mowers read the entire article if they wish to avoid similar, sometimes serious accidents. A power mower, like many other mechanical contraptions, can be a deadly weapon when used by anyone who doesn't understand thoroughly its proper care and correct operation.

Petrified Forest Bill Considered

Arizona Area Would Be Designated as National Park Under Proposal

WASHINGTON — Congress has before it a bill to give new stature to one of the United States' most colorful possessions, the Petrified Forest National Monument in northeast Arizona. There tons of semiprecious gemstone lie sparkling on the ground, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

The "forest" would be designated a national park. Its boundaries and uses would be fixed by Congress, and congressional action would be necessary to change them. The present national-monument status of the forest was conferred by President Theodore Roosevelt in a proclamation in 1906.

Steadily increasing in popularity, the monument was visited by 665,747 persons last year, the National Park Service reports. Figures for previous years show 603,000 tourists in 1956 and 442,000 in 1955.

The forest consists of shattered trunks of huge trees strewn in the colorful valleys of the Painted Desert. Millions of years of geologic action have changed the wood to agate.

★ ★ ★

The petrified wood was useful to America's early inhabitants. Centuries before Columbus, Indians built huts of the thinner logs. The extremely hard rock also made good arrowheads.

In Navajo legend, the logs were the bones of the great monster Yeitis, who was killed by the Sun God. The Paiute thought them the broken weapons of the Wolf God.

Today's scientists have a different explanation. They declare that some 160 million years ago—in the period known as the Triassic—northern Arizona was a low plain, laced by shifting streams. Forests of trees resembling pines grew on hills, perhaps as much as 100 miles to the west and southwest.

Dead trees from the forests were carried by rivers to the lowland and buried in mud and sediment. For some the burial was so quick that the oxygen necessary for decay was excluded before the trees could rot.

Then water-borne chemicals—chiefly silica — soaked into the tree cells, replacing wood fibers. When the process was finished, and erosion again brought the logs to the surface, they were 98 per cent stone.

Small amounts of other chemicals in the waters gave the striking color patterns prized today. The glowing browns, yellows and greens found in the monument area were caused by compounds of iron and manganese.

Dies at Milking Time

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Conley Standafer Jr., was killed by lightning while milking a cow in a barn. The cow wasn't hurt and the barn was undamaged.

What'll We Do?

10.74 Sq. Ft. Per Person to Live On by 2558 A.D.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — A United Nations report said today that the world's population may double or even triple within 30 years and asked: When will the earth have too many people?

A special report on the future growth of world population showed a dramatic rise in recent years, far beyond previous estimates. How the world can support the projected increase can hardly be conceived now, it said.

The present world population is fixed at 2,500,000,000. By 1980 there will be about 4,000,000,000 and from 6,000,000,000 to 7,000,000,000 by the year 2000.

And if the world breeds as fast in the next 600 years as it has in the last 600, the U.N. report said, there will be only one square meter (10.74 square feet) per person to live on—and that includes the north and south poles, deserts and mountain tops.

The special report from the U.N. Bureau of Social Affairs said the world must decide "at what point the earth would reach its maximum carrying capacity."

As for the one-person-to-one square-meter prospect by 2,558 A.D., the report said bluntly; "It goes without saying that this can never take place. Something will happen to prevent it." It doesn't say what that "something" might be.

Even if the present rate of growth should drop — and it is increasing every year — the world population is certain to reach from ten billion to 25 billion, the report said.

"One cannot say that such further growth is utterly impossible," it went on, "but the vast changes in human organization required to sustain it can hardly be conceived at the present time."

The U.N. report says that such steps as using vegetable substances in the sea and solar and nuclear energy for power, along with other scientific discoveries, can help an overcrowded world make better use of what is available.

"But it is doubtful whether the limit to human numbers depends on technological progress alone," it adds. It points out that such elaborate techniques would be needed in this suggested future that incredible demands would be made on individual discipline and restraint — "Things which human beings can scarcely tolerate beyond a certain point."

U. S. Gives 1st Loans to Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government announced today the first allocation of federal loans under the new emergency program for added unemployment payments to jobless workers whose benefits have expired.

The Labor Department said allocations totaling $37,398,848 have been certified for payment to eight states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. They are signed up under the voluntary program to finance a 50 per cent extension of state jobless pay programs. In most states payment of unemployment benefits is limited to a maximum of 26 weeks.

The announcement of the allocation came on the heels of a report that unemployment among workers insured for jobless pay dropped to a new 1958 low during the week ended June 14.

The Labor Department's Employment Security Bureau said yesterday the number of insured workers out of jobs declined by 113,000 to a total of 2,704,600.

The drop, attributed chiefly to a continued seasonal upswing in outdoor work, represented the ninth successive weekly decline.

However, part of the decrease reflects workers who have exhausted their eligibility for further jobless benefits. An undetermined number in this category still are unemployed and are not reflected in the figures.

The department said insured unemployment still is more than double the total of 1,268,700 for the same week last year.

Another 1958 low also was reported in intial claims for jobless benefits, a barometer of new layoffs among insured workers. The department said for the week ended June 21, new claims dropped by 13,800 to a total of 318,500 — the lowest number for any week since mid-November of last year. For the corresponding week a year ago new claims totaled 202,600.

West to Ride Round Table

Willie Shoemaker, winner of eight races in the last two days at Hollywood Park, takes his tack today from California to Chicago where he'll ride Round Table as the Oklahoma-owned colt seeks to become the second richest horse in turf history.

Shoemaker rode four consecutive winners at the West Coast oval yesterday, thus duplicating his feat of Thursday. After winning the fourth with Inshaallah and the fifth with Flying Story, he captured the $10,000 feature with The Shoe, a horse named for the famous jockey. He wound up the day by taking the seventh with Flying South. The Shoe, surprisingly enough, paid $11.60.

AMC Sees Big Profit for Quarter

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. expects a profit of more than five million dollars for the current quarter ending June 30.

George Romney, American Motor President, said yesterday the expected profit will boost the company's net profit for the first nine months of its current fiscal year to about $12,300,000.

"Improved operating results will give the company more than enough cash and securities to pay off its bank indebtedness of five million dollars," he said.

Romney also praised the Securities and Exchange Commission's decision to check Louis E. Wolfson's transaction with company stock.

He described the SEC action as "not only a real public service but is particularly protection of the rights and interests of American Motors' stockholders, employes and dealers."

The SEC has accused Wolfson of attempting to manipulate the price of American Motors stock. Wolfson has denied the charge.

Weren't You Glad for Him?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: One of the men with whom I work just recently became a father. The other day he came into the office with cigars which he passed out to all the men. As I am a cigarette smoker myself and never smoke cigars, I refused it.

"I am told that I was wrong to refuse this gesture of good wishes to the new baby and that even though I do not smoke cigars, I should have taken it and given it to someone else. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?"

Answer: You were not wrong but it would have been better to have accepted the cigar with thanks as this would have avoided any possible impression that you did not share in the joy of the new father.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am to be married this summer and am puzzled as to how my wedding invitations should be worded. My aunt, who is my mother's sister and who is single, has raised me since my mother's death fifteen years ago. My father also lives with us.

"Would it be proper to include my aunt's name along with my father's name on the invitations? I don't want to slight her as she has been wonderful to me."

Answer: Because of the awkwardness of the wording, it would be best to send the invitations in your father's name alone and recognize your aunt by having her seated last in the place of honor in the first pew and having her receive at the reception.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When someone drinks a toast to me, how long am I supposed to wait before drinking?"

Answer: You don't drink it at all. After the toast to you has been drunk you may perhaps propose one to someone else. Otherwise you wait for a little while before you remember your own glass.

Why Grow Old?

How to Lose Your Fear of Water

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many people who swim are afraid to dive. It seems too bad that they did not go a step further when learning to swim so that they can jump and dive rather than crawl into the water. There is nothing quite like that feeling of flying through the air.

However, some folks have an unreasoning fear of getting their heads under water. Don't give in to it. Practically all of us have some of this at first. Those who dive well now, will remember the first time they jumped or fell into the water from a diving platform or the end of a rowboat.

If you would like to learn to dive, you can begin losing fear of water right in your own bathroom. Fill the bowl with water. Take a deep breath, close your eyes and submerge your face in the water in the bowl. You cannot drown in that! When you need to breathe, raise your head and exhale. After practicing this for a while, you can blow bubbles under the water.

If you are learning to dive this summer, or are teaching your children to dive, begin in the following manner: Stand with your toes curled over the edge of the pool or boat or pier. Bend at the waist as you raise your arms overhead. Keep the arms in this position as you continue leaning toward the water. Just FALL in! If you will keep your feet on the edge for as long as possible and keep your head ducked, you will go in head first rather than hit flat

I think one reason many people who used to love to swim no longer indulge in the sport is because they do not add any new skills. It is always fun to work on a new stroke or a new dive.

If you learned the sidestroke years ago, why not learn the crawl? If you are younger and learned with the crawl, why not add the breaststroke: This latter is the greatest of all figure beautifiers. It is corrective to round shoulders, flabby inner thigh line, abdominal droop, and straightens the spine.

If you would like to add glamor to your summer swimming, and want my leaflet about swimming and diving, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 22 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

'World's Your Oyster, Pearl'—Abby

Widow, 51, Would Prefer Spouse-Broken Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow of 51 and when my friends say they have just the man for me to meet — the first question I ask is: "Is he a bachelor?" If they say "Yes" I ask, "What's the matter with him?

ABBY

"I would much rather have a man who at least tried marriage, even if he flopped a couple of times. I wouldn't even object to a man who, by his own admission, kicked the stuffings out of his old lady. But don't give me any of those mamma's boys who reach the age of 50 and is still looking for his dream girl."

PEARL

DEAR PEARL: If you are looking for a man who is thoroughly "spouse-broken" the world is your oyster, Pearl!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: We have neighbors who borrow everything but the kitchen sink. My mother doesn't mind this, but she always sends me over with it and also I have to run over and bring it back. I know my legs are younger than my mother's but I have a 10-year-old brother and his legs are younger than mine. Don't you think she could send him sometimes?"

THIRTEEN

DEAR THIRTEEN: His legs may be "younger"—but perhaps his hands aren't as steady? Eggs and "spillables" are for you — the empty tins for him!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I will start out by saying that I am just as respectable as the next one and the fact that I am a divorced woman should not automatically make me a second-classed citizen. I have been keeping company with a young man who knew when we met that I was divorced. We went around together for almost two years and I had every reason to believe that he would marry me.

"Now he tells me when he takes me to meet his mother I should tell her a story about losing my husband in an accident. I refuse to lie to his mother and am beginning to wonder if this fellow is worth breaking my heart over. What would you do?"

HEART-BROKEN

DEAR H. B.: A man who is "afraid" to tell his mother the truth is not mature enough for marriage. Find yourself a more adult companion.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am an intelligent woman of 42 and can trace my ancestors back to Roger Williams. I have been feeling dizzy and weak and I can't sleep nights. I've been to four doctors and they all said it was nothing but NERVES.

"It seems to be the style these days for doctors to blame everything on nerves when they can't diagnose a case. Why don't they just admit they don't know?"

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Go back to one of those doctors and let him explain how uncontrolled emotions can (and do) turn into physical ailments. It's true.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I've got a friend who never has any change. He pulls out a 20-dollar bill and then turns to me and asks, "Got any change?" I have been shelling out dollars, four-bit pieces and quarters until I am fed up. How can you tell this moocher to break his 20 and spend it?"

SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: Carry "change" for a twenty — and when your friend pulls out his "twenty" — change it for him.

Science Confirming What Religion Has Always Known

When I was in trouble, I called upon the Lord and he heard me.
I was glad when they said unto me, We will go into the house of the Lord.

Except the Lord build the house, their labour is but lost that build it.
Bow down thine ear, O Lord, and hear me; for I am poor and in misery.

Churches Plan to Mark July 4

Special Services, Bells to Ring as Reminder of Freedom's Birth

Special Independence Day services and the ringing of church bells as "a reminder of the nature and foundation of our freedom" have been proposed by the National Council of Churches' Department of Religious Liberty.

★ ★ ★

Speaking on behalf of the department, the Rev. Claud D. Nelson cited the proclamation by Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, National Council president, which he urged "an appropriate observance solemnly commemorating the historic principles by which our Founding Fathers established our great republic."

★ ★ ★

The message will be read from the pulpits of thousands of churches Sunday, June 29, Mr. Nelson said.

Churches are also being asked to open their doors on Friday, July 4, to all who wish to pray "that there may be fostered among our people the spirit of true religion and of patriotism at its noblest and best."

In some communities, said Mr. Nelson, union services are being planned for June 29 to which local service and patriotic groups will be invited to share the religious emphasis on Independence Day for which Dr. Dahlberg has appealed.

2 Communion Services at First Presbyterian

Confident Living

Scholars Begin to Study Mental Activity of Man

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A woman says, "I saw in the paper that so-and-so died of a heart attack."

She is asked, "What paper?"

She replied. "I don't rightly know what paper, but I saw it in the paper." She quotes the item verbatim.

DR. PEALE

A search of the files of newspapers discloses no such item. Inquiry establishes that the person in question has not had a heart attack. But, three days later, that person dies of heart failure and the newspaper story reads exactly as the woman had quoted it in advance.

Black magic? No—but it could be precognition?

A little four-year-old girl, during World War I, calls to her mother: "Mommy, Daddy is choking to death! He is down a deep hole!"

Later investigation ascertains that the child's father, at that exact moment, had been down in a cellar under gas attack.

Witchcraft? No—but possibly clairvoyance!

A middle-aged man is driving his car along a New Jersey highway when he feels a terrible pain in his chest. It is so excruciating that he stops his car, thinking he is suffering a heart attack, but eventually it passes.

A few hours later, he learns that his son, driving in Colorado, had been killed at that exact moment, his chest crushed by the wheel of his car.

Coincidence? Not necessarily — but maybe telepathy!

MANY STORIES CHECKED

This is the kind of story that is currently being investigated by Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke University, who has pioneered in the development of a new science called parapsychology, the systematic study of the mental activity of man or other activity that must be perceived by means other than the physical senses.

What are these things that he describes as precognition, clairvoyance, telepathy? What could they prove? Well, Dr. Rhine believes that these are only some of the powers of the human soul ranging the universe without obstruction of space and time.

Now, of course, there are always people who will respond to such a thought with the flat assertion, "It's impossible." Yet their only reason for saying it is impossible is that they have never heard of it before.

Last year I met the man who developed the automobile radio. The banker he went to for the loan he needed in getting car radios into production told him: "I never heard of such a preposterous idea! The time will never come when they will have radios in automobiles!" That is how an unimaginative mind often responds to anything that is new.

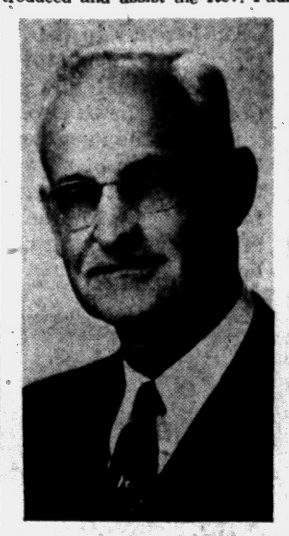

I am a minister of religion and, as such, I believ that there is something in man beyond the physical, beyond the material. As Joseph Wood Krutch recently pointed out, if man is really the mere inevitable culmination of an improbable chemical reaction, then the fact that he has been able to trace himself back to it is indeed remarkable. The idea that a chemical can understand its own nature is actually staggering.

There is more to man than that—and it is always good news to know that science is confirming what religion has always known!

Later in 1944 under the protection of the Polish Army he arrived in India with his mother and sister at a camp of over 5,000 Polish refugees. He began his studies in a gymnasium.

Church Music to Be Studied

New Concepts Will Fall Under Consideration at MSU Workshop

EAST LANSING — New concepts in the music program of the church will be considered at Michigan State University July 6-11 at the fourth annual Church Music Workshop.

About 150 organists, choir directors, choristers, clergymen, teachers and others interested in the church music program from Michigan and surrounding states will confer at Kellogg Center at the week-long event.

The primary workshop objective, according to workshop officials, is to provide the best practical methods and materials which may be helpful to the church musician, whether professional or amateur, in full or part time service or serving as a volunteer in the music program of the church.

Daily sessions will feature topics on devotions and hymnology, choral techniques and repertoire, choral conducting, organ and service playing, voice and solo repertoire and others.

Highlights will include piano, carillon and organ recitals; a demonstration of English handbells by a Battle Creek church group, and a display of new organ, choral and vocal music.

Dedication, Baptism at Morning Service

The Rev. Theodore R. Allebach of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church will preach on "The Power of the Unconscious" at the 10 a.m. service Sunday when the roster of teachers for 1958-59 will be dedicated.

The sacrament of baptism for children will be administered at the same service.

At 7 p.m. Sunday boys and girls who have been attending Daily Vacation Bible School will give a demonstration program, including Bible stories, Scripture and songs.

The Pioneer and Builder Youth groups will meet at 8:15 Sunday evening for a combined get-together to welcome new members and participate in the singspiration.

Cites Potent 'Magic' of New Testament

One day a young Indian student asked a missionary for something to read. She gave him a New Testament in his own language. He read it, and something happened.

He came back and thanked her for the book and said, "My father does not want me to read this book, because he says it is magic; and truly it is. It had the power to open my eyes. It is like fire—it burns. It is a sword—it pierces and cuts. But it is also like a pillow—

FIRST SOCIAL BRETHREN CHURCH — The dedication service of the new First Social Brethren Church will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday with the Rev. Carl Downey, a former pastor, preaching the sermon. The cement block building will later be faced with brick. The church houses a sanctuary seating 340, pastor's study, kitchen and Sunday School rooms. The belfry is finished but the congregation has not yet found a bell. The estimated cost is $50,000.

Dedication Service Sunday

Members of the First Social Brethren Church have been celebrating the building of the new church this week with special services Thursday, Friday and today.

★ ★ ★

Sunday at 2 p.m., the new church will be dedicated with the Rev. Carl Downey, a former pastor, preaching the sermon.

Quartets and the choir will provide special music.

The membership roll will be called and the history of the church given. Dinner will be served in the basement.

A revival meeting held here by the Rev. Mr. Downey and the late Rev. Joe Rose resulted in the forming of the church on Oct. 15, 1950 with 38 charter members. Mr. Rose was the first pastor. His wife will participate in the dedication.

Lots for the new church were purchased in October 1951. The basement was constructed immediately with the first service held there in December of 1951.

Rev. James Johnson was pastor for seven months in 1953 during the illness of Mr. Rose. In September 1953, the Rev. Mr. Downey was called to the congregation.

In 1955 the parsonage at 21 W. Rutgers St. was obtained and in September of the same year the present pastor, the Rev. Tommy Guest, accepted the pastorate.

The first officers of the congregation were Mary Barger, clerk; Harry Layman, treasurer; John Hancock, steward; Orvil Gidcumb, choir leader and Marcella Barger, pianist.

CURRENT OFFICERS

The 214 members are currently served by Callie Johnson, clerk; Calvin Duncan, treasurer; Freddie Barger, steward; Chalmer Gidcumb, choir leader; and Marcella Barger continues as pianist.

The Sunday School has an average attendance of 232. Superintendent Calvin Duncan is assisted by Eva Wiley, secretary; Annetta Wheeler, assistant secretary; Mary Wheeler, choir leader and Barbara Keller, pianist.

Leaders of the Youth Group are Ebert Guest and Cecil Rose. The young people have given a grand piano to the church as well as Christian and American flags with a church bus, the present project.

Martha Barger is president of the Ladies' Aid Group and Lorene Chancey, secretary.

LUTHERANS BELIEVE FAITH
BY FAITH

Every Christian believes this. If you have given no serious consideration to the Christian Church because "the denominations don't even agree on the facts," hear this again: All Christians believe that men are saved from sin and eternal death by faith in Jesus Christ.

The facts are these. Every man has a bad conscience. God made sure we'd never forget this by giving His Ten Commandments. Who has really loved God with all his heart and strength and mind? Who has really loved his neighbor as himself?

But every sinner has a Savior! God proved His love and made possible His forgiveness when His Son, Jesus Christ, died and rose again. This is the Gospel, "the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth" (Romans 1, 16) When a man learns of God's offer, accepts it as true, and counts on it for his own forgiveness, the Holy Ghost has made him a believer! And he is saved! Everyone who is a Christian believes this!

Everyone who is a Christian does something about it, too. A believer is a different person. He wants to do God's will. He doesn't always manage it, but he tries. A man of faith will be judged on his works of faith.

When danger threatens a baby monkey, it jumps on its mother's back and holds on as she leaps to safety. It would be only a mark of his immaturity for the baby to claim it had been saved by its own efforts, even though it would have been lost without them.

That's what the Lutheran Church means when it says men are saved "by grace alone, by Christ alone, by faith alone."

Keep Right On Puffing Away

Americans Smoke Up 446 Billion Cigarettes During This Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans still are puffing cigarettes at a record rate despite the lung cancer controversy, the government reported today. But it said more were using filter tips.

The Agriculture Department estimated cigarette production for the year ending July 30 at 446,000,000,000. This was 12,000,000,000 cigarettes, or 2¾ per cent, higher than in fiscal 1957.

Assuming 20 cigarettes to the package, it also represents about 130 packs a year for each man, woman and child in the country — and many of them do not smoke. The average price paid for a package of cigarettes in March, 1958, was 24½ cents.

Economists writing in the department's publication, The Tobacco Situation, said cigarette consumption during the first four months of 1958 was about 2 per cent higher than in the same period last year.

The department said trade sources indicated that filter tip cigarettes might account for nearly one-half of total U. S. consumption this year. This would compare with less than two-fifths in 1957 and only three-tenths in 1956.

The department estimated that Americans spent close to six billion dollars for tobacco in calendar 1957. Of the total, about 85 per cent went for cigarettes, 10 per cent for cigars and the rest for pipe and chewing tobacco and snuff.

Bob Crosby Escaping Stigma of Daytime-TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Crosby has managed to escape the daytime-TV stigma by slipping into Perry Como's easy shoes.

But it wasn't easy.

Baritone Bob thrived for 4½ years on a CBS afternoon show, and he considers it the greatest experience in the world. But it also put a frost on his career.

"I can't understand the network thinking," he sighed. "They believe because a guy has been on daytime television that he can't do anything else.

"I think that's ridiculous, just as I think the networks have underestimated the daytime viewers. I have found that people who watch TV during the day are just as sharp and demanding as those who watch at night. Yet the standard of daytime programing gets progressively worse."

★ ★ ★

Bob said he had done nothing on TV since going off his daytime show last October, and he blamed the attitude of the TV moguls for his inactivity. The break came when NBC was searching for a singer to sub for lazy Perry during the summer months. And who can be more relaxed than a Crosby?

"I'm very happy with the way the show has worked out," Bob remarked. "It's an easy show to do, especially since I've had the experience of doing the daytime program. I learned to take everything in stride then.

★ ★ ★

"The only trouble is that I have to do the show in New York. I'm not rich enough to commute — that's the other Crosby — and there's nothing to do in New York during the summer. To go out for a round of golf is a major production."

But after a trip here to play the home show, he'll hole up in New York and stay there. He figures it's worth it to get out of the daytime-TV stigma.

The reviews on Bob have been good, and he gets a similar, though qualified, reaction in his family. His mother wired him that she liked the show, but couldn't he have more violins in the orchestra because she doesn't like jazz?

★ ★ ★

"The summer budget on the Como show is cut in half," Bob explained, "and we don't have any violins."

Claiming Share of $400 Million French Fortune

TILBURY, Ont. (AP) — A Tilbury woman and her Detroit sister have joined 700 others in the United States and Europe in claiming a share of a $400,000,000 European fortune.

Mrs. Cryiel Van Hytte, Tilbury, and her sister, Mrs. Julian Vanderhaegan, wife of a Detroit printer, believe they have a strong claim to the fabulous estate of Emanuel Ferdinand Francis Joseph Debette, Marquis of Lede, who died in 1792 in Flanders during the French Revolution.

★ ★ ★

Five Grand Rapids, Mich., families have also filed claims.

Mrs. Van Hyfte and Mrs. Vanderhaegan believe their claims may be more direct than the Grand Rapids group.

A Dutch attorney and a geneologist has come to Detroit from Europe to trace possible heirs.

The governments of France, West Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands are holding the estate in escrow.

The estate is said to include seven castles, farms, forests and land in those countries.

Auto Club Says July 4 May Set Traffic Record

DETROIT (AP)—The Automobile Club of Michigan says sunny, warm weather over the Fourth of July weekend may break Michigan's all time record for auto travel.

Harry N. Rogan, club travel service director, said yesterday a real summer weekend could bring out hordes of people who have stayed at home so far this year because of poor weather and economic conditions.

The previous all-time travel high was about 3,000,000 autos on highways over recent holiday weekends.

Adams Denies Gift of Home

Nor Did Goldfine Buy Any Stock for Him, He Maintains in Letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The text of a letter to Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara (R-Minn) from presidential aide Sherman Adams denying that Bernard Goldfine, wealthy Boston industrialist, had bought him a home:

Dear Mr. O'Hara:

I have your letter of June 25 in which you state a witness from Boston, who is to appear before the Special Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, has made, and you are informed will make the following statements concerning me:

1. That Mr. Goldfine purchased for me the house in which I now live in Washington, D. C.

2. That Mr. Goldfine financed and purchased for me certain corporate securities, including stock in one of the textile mills of which Mr. Goldfine is the owner.

These statements are absolutely false.

1. Mr. Goldfine has never, either directly or indirectly, purchased or helped finance the purchase of any house of mine. I have never owned any house in Washington, and the house in Washington, and the house in which I now live I rent.

2. Mr. Goldfine has never financed or purchased for me, or participated with me, in the purchase of any security or speculation, whatever. I do not now have, nor have I ever had, any financial interest in any property or investment, business or undertaking in which he has an interest.

It is incredible to me that any committee of the Congress would permit a witness to use the committee as a forum for making such vicious and irresponsible accusations.

Early Changeovers Raise Question:

Will Backlog of '58 Cars Vie With New Models?

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(AP) Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Can the auto industry carry out a complete and orderly cleanup of outgoing model cars?

The question is causing considerable speculation in trade circles as the auto makers swing toward an earlier changeover to new models and push sales contests among their retailers. The contests have been under way for weeks. Generally they provide bonuses of $100 and more for each car sold above a pre-set total.

Some retailers have criticized the contests. They say the bonuses enable dealers with large volume markets to further slash prices to the disadvantage of other dealers. But over the years the manufacturers have found the sales contests productive.

The auto builders have been working on the inventory situation since early this year. The lag in sales started shortly after 1958 model cars were introduced late last year.

On March 1 the retailers had a near-record inventory of new cars totaling 865,00 units. (The record was 903,000 on March 1, 1956.) When the traditional spring upturn failed to materialize for the third consecutive year, the auto makers began to reduce output. By shortened work weeks and staggered shutdowns new car inventories have been cut approximately 200,000 units in the last four months.

Earlier shutdowns for model changeovers will further cut dealer stocks. Some industry experts say there will be no outgoing models on hand when all makers have their 1959 cars on sale. Others say that's an impossible goal.

Nevertheless the industry is going to try for it. Last year it carried about 100,000 outgoing models into the new model year. These units competed — at substantially lower prices — with the newer models.

★ ★ ★

The earlier changeover shutdowns will sharply cut car output for this year's July-September quarter. Some industry sources estimate the three-months' total may not exceed 800,000 units. That would compare with an estimated one million units in the April-June quarter this year and 1,304,000 in the like quarter last year.

Last year brought a total output of 6,115,454 cars. This year's total is not likely to top 4½ million units.

Few top executives of the auto industry are venturing estimates of the 1959 car market. Most of them went wrong in attempting to guess this year's total. Their guesses ranged up to 6½ million units at this time last year.

But many industry authorities are saying they see signs that the current recession is nearing its end. Some profess to see an upturn in car demand as assured with the swing into the new model year.

★ ★ ★

The industry, of course, does not swing from one model year to another overnight. The changeover will extend from mid-September well into November. Most of the new models should reach the market in October.

Last year the larger number of cars went on sale early in November.

Paper in Sandusky Destroyed by Fire

SANDUSKY, Mich. (AP) — Fire destroyed a main street building and damaged two others in the Thumb area community yesterday.

More than 50 firemen from Sandusky and neighboring communities fought the wind-fanned fire for three hours before they brought it under control.

The brick and fieldstone building housing the Sandusky Republican Tribune, the town's newspaper, was destroyed in the fire. Damaged were a beauty-barber shop on one side of the Tribune building and an empty building on the other side.

State police said they believe the fire started in the basement of the newspaper shortly after noon. Total damage was estimated at $100,000. There were no reports of injuries.

Wait for Death of Explorer III

Skywatchers Keep Vigil as U. S. Satellite Due to Plunge Earthward

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Skywatchers the world over are maintaining a death watch. They are hoping to see the death of a satellite.

Scientists predicted that Explorer III, launched March 26, was to have plunged into the earth's atmosphere any time beginning yesterday, and burn like a meteor when it plows into the upper atmosphere.

Scientists agree generally, however, that anyone seeing the death of Explorer III is likely to be just plain lucky.

Exactly where and when Explorer III will meet its end is a question the National Academy of Science is hoping will be answered by some alert skywatcher.

The academy has asked that any observer of the satellite's fall inform the academy in Washington, D. C., promptly and protect and preserve the remains, if any.

But there is little likelihood there will be any remains. Army scientists say it was not built to withstand the intense heat generated by the friction of the atmospheric drag.

Since Explorer III was launched at Cape Canaveral, Fla., it has traveled more than 32 million miles. Scientists have learned much of cosmic rays, temperature, and the atmosphere from its radio broadcasts back to earth.

GOD'S LITTLE ACRE

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Having Patty Berg dub a shot in golf is like watching Sam Snead take 10 on a hole. It happens, but it is a rarity.

Snead took his 10 at Plum Hollow a year ago in the Western Open and Miss Berg made her disastrous dub in a trap in the Jacksonville Open last March.

It happened in the trap of the 7th hole in Jacksonville. Patty swung at the ball and figuring it was out, she involuntarily took a swipe at the sand with her wedge.

The ball however did not clear the lip and was still in the trap, and Miss Berg admitted afterward that it was the first time in 15 years she had failed to blast out of the sand properly.

★ ★ ★

What hurt most was that about 20 hours later she learned that she had been penalized two strokes on her round for grounding the club since the ball was still in the trap.

Marilyn Smith eventually won the Jacksonville title and Patty stood four strokes behind in 4th place, but as good natured as she is, Miss Berg accepted her misfortune as one of the bad breaks in the game.

To say Miss Berg is just good natured isn't enough. By comparison to someone like Tommy Bolt would be to point out the difference between night and day.

★ ★ ★

Patty's pleasant temperament and competitive spirit makes her the favorite of the gallery everywhere she plays. In fact even golf galleries have taken a lesson in charity from her.

Two years ago in the LPGA at Forest Lake, a photographer accidentally kicked her ball about 15 inches from the green to a slightly elevated lie just off the green on the apron.

The crowd booed and verbally attacked the photographer for the accident and officials were eager to huddle with Miss Berg to decide what to do about the incident.

The photographer apologized to Miss Berg, and it was then that she bolstered her position as the queen of the women's circuit when she brought the hissing of the crowd, directed at the cameraman, to complete quietness by saying to him, "We all make mistakes, if this was your first you can be sure it won't be your last."

She proceeded to putt from where the ball lay after the boot. It was a typical "Bergism." That's what makes her the lovable Patty Berg.

"Heavens, no," she replies, "I feel I can keep going for at least 10 more years."

Before she does quit the circuit, Patty would like to win the LPGA, an honor she has yet to capture. She almost did here at Forest Lake in 1956 but lost in a playoff to Marlene Bauer.

Of course no one discounts her from the Women's Open currently in progress. She won the first tournament in 1946, but not under the official direction of the USGA.

By BILL CORNWELL

Long-driving Mickey Wright still held command, but par-shattering Fay Crocker was only a step away as the 6th annual U.S.G.A. Women's Open golf tournament headed into today's gruelling 36-hole finale at Forest Lake Contry Club.

Miss Crocker, South America's golfing ambassador of good will, established two new records Friday and by so doing moved into a powerful contending position for the National Open championship she won in 1956.

Playing almost flawlessly from tee to green and wielding a deadly putter to go along with the rest of her shots, the hard-hitting pro from Uruguay toured Forest Lake's 6,240 yards in 68 strokes, five below women's par of 37-36—73.

It was the lowest 18-hole score ever recorded in the Women's Open since the U.S.G.A. took charge of the tourney in 1953 and it also set a new course record for the ladies at Forest Lake's revamped layout.

★ ★ ★

The best previous woman's round at Forest Lake was a 69 by Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge two years ago when she won the LPGA crown on the old layout. Only two strokes separated Miss Crocker from the course record of 66, set last year by home pro Bob Gajda over the revised links.

Her sensational 68, coupled with a 79 in Thursday's opening 18-hole session, gave her a 36-hole total of 147, one above par, and catapulted her to within one shot of pacesetting Miss Wright.

Mickey was no slouch yesterday, either. After shooting a 74 Thursday to take the first round lead, she came back with a one-under-par 72 to maintain her advantage with a total of 146, even par to date.

Also in positive contention for the title when play began this morning at 8 o'clock was Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga. Miss Suggs fired a 39-35—74 to hold third place alone with a score of 149.

Shooting for her third U.S. Open crown, Louise slipped a little after sharing Thursday's runner-up spot with Betty Jameson and Mrs. Jackie Pung. The latter two slipped much more, however.

Just one stroke behind Miss Wright entering Friday's activity, Mrs. Pung carded 77 to fall into 4th place with 152 and Miss Jameson shot 80 to tumble into a four-way tie for 7th at 155.

Miss Crocker has seldom been better than she was yesterday. Winner of the Wolverine Ladies' Open at Forest Lake in 1955, Fay notched seven birdies and two bogies on her scorecard and she one-putted seven greens.

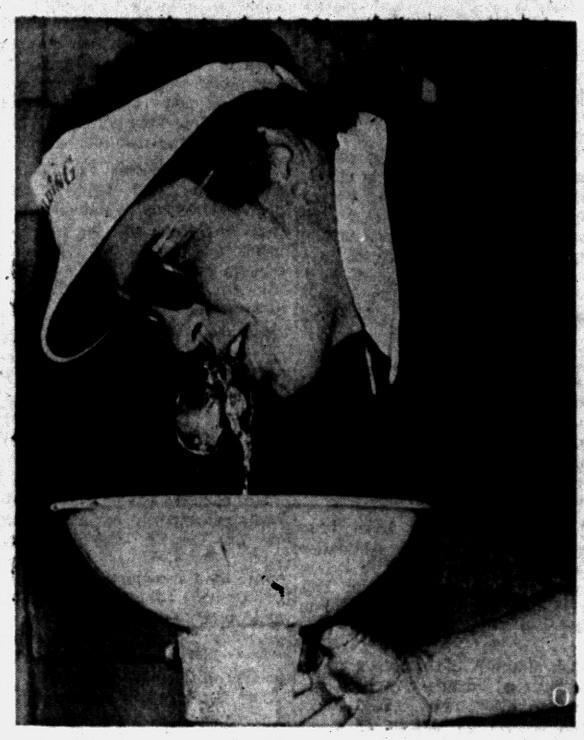

The lone sand trap she hit didn't come until No. 18 and she recovered for a birdie four. Fay took 29 putts, compared to 37 on Thursday, and she reached 15 greens in regulation, including all nine on the back side.

There were four "birds" and bogies on the 4th and 5th holes for an outgoing 35, followed by three birdies for an incoming 33.

Front-running Mickey, who nearly slugged an out-of-bounds tee shot at No. 7 after hearing about Fay's 68, birdied the 6th hole and bogied the 9th for a 37 on the front nine, then added two birdies and a bogey coming home for a 35.

Mickey hit 13 greens in regulation and she had 31 putts ranging from 30 feet to eight inches. It was her eight-foot downhill putt for a birdie on the 18th green which prevented Miss Crocker from tying her for the midway lead.

The field was slashed to 29 pros and 12 amateurs for today's conclusion of the 72-hole tourney. If a title playoff is needed, they'll go 18 holes on Sunday.

COOLING OFF — Fay Crocker cools off at the drinking fountain after shooting a blazing 68 in Friday's second round of the U.S.G.A. Women's Open golf tournament at Forest Lake Country Club. Her scorecard was five strokes under women's par and three below men's par and it vaulted the South American pro into second place with a 36-hole total of 147. Mickey Wright still paced the field with 146 as the event entered today's 36-hole finale.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

All the gals had nothing but praise—and deservedly so—for Fay Crocker in the wake of her scintillating 68 yesterday in the Women's National Open golf tournament at Forest Lake Country Club.

Popular Patty Berg, a strong favorite in nearly every tournament she enters, and lean Mickey Wright, the long-hitting Californian who currently leads the pack, were two of Fay's most avid admirers.

"Fay's 68 was really a terrific round," exclaimed Patty, the 1946 Open champ who trails Mickey by 10 strokes. "I would say that it's one of the greatest rounds in the history of women's golf," she added.

Mickey, who saw the South American star jump from 6th place to 2nd only one stroke behind her with the brillant five-under-par effort, said "it was a wonderful round—great golf."

There was nothing mediocre about Mickey's game, either. She shot a 72, one under women's par, but her score looked paltry by comparison.

Fay herself had no complaints. "I've seldom hit the ball so well from tee to green in my life," claimed the native of Montevideo, Uruguay, as she relaxed in Bob Gajda's pro shop and chatted with reporters.

"It was one of those rounds where everything went right, the kind you dream about," Fay remarked.

She took a par four on the 1st hole, a birdie three on the 2nd and a birdie deuce on the 3rd. "After that 4-3-2 beginning, I thought a one was sure to come next," Fay chuckled, "but instead I went to a bogey five and a bogey six on the next two holes."

Her scorching effort was the lowest single round ever posted in the Women's Open since the USGA took control of the tourney in 1953. It was five shots below women's par and three under the men's figure since Forest Lake was revamped last year.

The best previous scores in the Women's Open were all 71s, shared by Miss Crocker herself, Patty Berg, who did it twice, amateur Barbara McIntire and the late Babe Didrikson Zaharias.

SHORT PUTTS

There were two notable casualties among Michigan amateur ranks when the field was cut to 41 players at the end of yesterday's 18-hole round.

Sally Sharp of the host club and Mrs. Don Weiss of Flint, who has won the state amateur title five times, failed to survive the midway cut.

Anne Quast, the Stanford University student who hails from Seattle, Wash., shot yesterday's 3rd lowest score, a par 73, to lead the amateur delegation with 155. Only Miss Crocker and Miss Wright bettered Anne Friday.

Horse Show Nears Finale

Close Race for Jumper Title

By H. GUY MOATS

The coveted jumper championship, probably the most sought-after title in the annual Detroit Horse Show, is going into the stretch today and Sunday, with a close race indicated.

Last year's champion, Charles Dennehy Jr., of Wadsworth, Ill., the veteran campaigner Pill Box again working towards his 2nd straight title, adding last night's open jumper event to several other wins. He is, however, getting solid competition from Johnny Wallace of Northville, Max Bonham of Battle Creek, and Bob Egan of Birmingham, along with several other riders. This group dominates the jumping division and will be seen in action in most of the featured events today and Sunday.

Probably the top feature of Friday's performances was the double-jumpoff in the knock-down-and-out for juniors, won by Howard Miller of Rochester, one of eight who had clear first rounds. He survived the first jumpoff on Flanagan, tied with Sandra Movold on Leading Lady, and won the final jumpoff with only two "ticks." Young Price McIntosh of Waverley Farms, Warrenton, Va., was 3rd on Son Imp.

Other spotlighted events Friday included the victory in the Shuell Memorial for Ann Willem on Mrs J. A. Blackwood's Jolly Farmer; Bonham's win in green hunter knock-down-and-out, on Carl Miller's Windsor Castle; Linda Swanson's ladies Hunter win and win for open hunters, on Avon Girl; Dennehy's win on Pill Box in the fault-and-out (FEI) events and in the open jumper test.

The big gallery again was enchanted with the brilliant dressage performance by Oxford's Major Robert Borg, on his Olympic mount, the stylish and beautiful Sergeant Soboba.

Today's show will offer many features, including the first appearance of the western horses, palomino, Arabian and pleasure classes for which large entries were listed. The big jumping event today is expected to be the professional horseman's class, with Bonham, Dennehy, Wallace, Egan, Howard Miller (amateurs are in it, too), among the riders. Mountain Breeze, Pill Box, Flanagan, Blaney Castle, Tamerlane, and several of a half-dozen horses from Chicago's Ten Pin farm, are highly-rated jumpers in this event.

Sunday's show gets under way at noon, with three trophy events on the afternoon card, including the Mrs. John Bridge Memorial trophy for Corinthian working hunters, the Brambles Challenge and William P. Lambert trophy.

Sunday night's top events, concluding with the naming of hunter and jumper champions, include the Midwest (USET) challenge trophy given by Charles Dennehy, father of the current jumper champion; two $1,000 hunter stakes and a $1,000 jumper stake.

'Stars Add Kaline, Kuenn

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit veterans Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn will be the only Tigers on the American League squad for the July 8 All-Star game at Baltimore.

AL manager Casey Stengel named the pair as reserves for the annual contest ignoring pitcher Frank Lary, who has beaten the Yanks four straight.

He named righthanders Bob Turley and Ryne Duren of his own Yanks, Early Wynn of Chicato and Ray Narleski of Cleveland and lefties Billy Pierce of Chicago, Billy O'Dell of Baltimore and New Yorker Whitey Ford as the mound staff.

Cather Yogi Berra, outfielder Elston Howard, shortstop Tony Kubek and 2nd sacker Gil Macdougald were other Yankees selected as reserves.

Cleveland's hot-hitting 1st baseman Mickey Vernon, White Sox catcher Sherm Lollar, Ted Williams and Washington's Rocky Bridges were other reserves named giving the Americans a total of nine Yanks, five from the White Sox, three from Boston, two each from Detroit, Cleveland and Baltimore and one each from Kansas City and Washington.

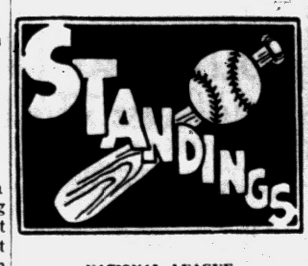

★ ★ ★

Milwaukee will head the NL delegation with six players. Manager Fred Haney said yesterday he would add pitchers Warren Spahn and Don McMahon shortstop Johnny Logan and 3rd baseman Ed Mathews to the team.

★ ★ ★

Other reserves he named were Johnny Antonelli, Giants, Dick Farrell, Phils, Bob Friend, Pirates, Larry Jackson, Cards, Johnny Podres, Dodgers, Bob Purkey, Redlegs, all pitchers; Richie Ashburn, Phils, Walt Moryn and Lee Walls, Chicago, outfielders; catchers John Rosebor, Dodgers and Bob Schmidt, Giants; and infielders Don Blasingame, Cards, and George Crowe, Redlegs.

Following Braves, the Pirates have four representatives, the Cubs, Cardinals and Giants three apiece and Redlegs, Phillies and Dodgers two each.

Billy Pierce Just Misses No-Hitter for 3rd Time

By The Associated Press

On June 15, 1950, Billy Johnson of the New York Yankees hit a fifth-inning single. On April 16, 1953, Bobby Young of the St. Louis Browns doubled with two out in the seventh. Last night, Ed FitzGerald of the Washington Senators lined a pinch double with two out in the ninth.

Three isolated hits stretched over eight years—yet each was all that stood between southpaw Billy Pierce and a no-hitter. And FitzGerald's was the toughest crusher yet, puncturing a perfect pitching performance by the Chicago White Sox veteran after 8 2-3 innings.

But Billy, back on the beam after a terrible start this season, then turned his back on FitzGerald at second and struck out Albie Pearson, nailing a 3-0 one hit victory over the Senators for his third consecutive shutout and seventh by the White Sox in 12 games.

It was Pierce's 29th shutout in a 12-year career and followed a two-hitter against Baltimore a week ago. He opened the current string by blanking Boston on five hits.

While Pierce was working on what looked like the first regular season perfect game since Charley Robertson of the White Sox did it against Detroit in 1922, the New York Yankees were drubbing second-place Kansas City 10-3 and padding their American League lead to 8½ games again. Detroit broke a third-place tie with Boston by beating the Red Sox 7-4, and Cleveland gave new manager Joe Gordon a 7-4 victory over Baltimore.

Pierce, 31, walked none and struck out nine as only FitzGerald, a right-handed batter hitting .333, reached base. Pierce, now 7-5, doubled and scored in the third against loser Russ Kemmerer (4-6) on a single by Jim Landis, who had three of the Sox' eight hits. Sherm Lollar's single counted the other two runs in the eighth.

The A's, who had won six straight for the first time since 1953, matched three-run second innings with the Yankees as Harry Simpson socked a two-on homer, his first since returning to Kansas City from the Yanks. But the Yankees then scored six in the seventh, capped by Gil McDougald's three-run double. Ray Herbert was the loser for a 3-3 record, giving up half of the Yankees' 12 hits. Art Ditmar (2-0) won in relief.

A two-run seventh won for the Indians, with J. W. Porter's single scoring the clincher. Don Mossi (5-6) won it in relief after Ray Narleski, blew a 4-1 lead built on two-run homers by Bobby Avila and Rocky Colavito. Gus Triandos hit his 16th for the Orioles. Billy O'Dell was the loser for an 8-8 record.

Extra-Inning Games in Softball Leagues

Two extra-inning contests featured last night's three-game City League softball program at Beaudette and North Side parks. All were make-up games from previous rain-outs.

Simon Long's two-bagger and a couple of errors produced two runs in the top of the 8th and gave Dostal Foundry a 4-2 win over Autos of Europe on the North Side diamond. The Sports Shop rallied with three runs in the 7th for a 13-11 conquest of Griff's Grill.

WASTED TRIP — Sybil Griffin, Baton Rouge, La. golfer, did a lot of traveling for nothing this week. Miss Griffin came to Forest Lake Country Club to compete in the U.S.G.A. Women's Open golf championship, but she neglected to take care of one very important detail—register before the entry deadline. She filed too late and couldn't play in the 72-hole tourney, which concludes today with 36 taxing holes. Mickey Wright still leads the field with 146.

Birmingham JC Test on Monday

The annual junior golf tournament sponsored by the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday over an 18-hole route at Birmingham Country Club. Tee-off time is 9 a.m.

This will be the 3rd and last of the area Jaycee tourneys conducted by local chapters. Pontiac and Waterford chapters have already held their events.

Upwards of 20 entries are expected for the Birmingham tourney, with the low five scorers qualifying for the state Jaycee event July 6-8 at Ann Arbor. The International Jaycee tournament is scheduled Aug. 18-24 in Tucson, Ariz.

Boys who are not 18 years old by Aug. 15 are eligible to enter and the entry fee is $3. Under a new state ruling, golfers having Jaycee meets in their own areas cannot compete in another area.

Ex-Chicago Players Pace Tigers

Wilson Strokes Big Hit in 7-4 Comeback

Fischer Gets Credit for Win Over Bosox; Kaline Homers

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers finally are reaping some benefit from all those trades with the Chicago White Sox.

Last night, while ex-Tiger Billy Pierce came within an out of pitching a perfect game for the White Sox, two former Pale Hose provided the Tigers with victory. Detroit gave the Boston Red Sox a four-run head start and then won 7-4.

The deal that sent Pierce to Chicago for Aaron Robinson 10 years ago has been described as the worst in Tiger history. The one two weeks ago in which Bill Fischer and Tito Francona came to Detroit hadn't been too productive either—until last night.

Fischer sealed the Tiger triumph with three scoreless innings of relief pitching. Red Wilson, another White Sox alumnus, broke a deadlock in the seventh with a ringing single that scored two runs.

It started out as if it was going to be a long night for the Tigers and 33,756 fans. Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen touched Frank Lary for two-run homers in the scoreless streak at 29 innings.

Lary was able to get only one Red Sox out as he took his lumps. But the Tiger bullpen corps was nearly faultless. George Susce, Tom Morgan and Fischer scattered four hits and no runs over the last 8 2-3 innings. Fischer earned his first triumph as a Tiger.

The Tigers whittled away at the Boston advantage. They scored an unearned run off starter Tom Brewer in the fifth. Al Kaline narrowed the score to 4-2 with his eighth homer in the sixth.

Four pitchers were required to stem the Tigers in the seventh. But the damage was done with a four-run rally. The Tigers tied the score on Frank Bolling's single, Harvey Kuenn's second double of the game and Gail Harris' sharp single. After Kaline and Johnny Groth walked, Wilson's bases-loaded hit drove in the deciding runs as reliefer Murray Wall suffered the defeat.

Detroit picked up an insurance tally in the eighth. Reliefer Mike Fornieles wild pitched the run home after Harris had singled and went to third on Kaline's double.

Norman was to send Jim Bunning (5-5) to the mound today in an effort to take the second game of the three-game series from Boston. Dave Sisler (6-4) was Mike Higgins' pitching choice.

Dodgers Collecting on Bonus Hurler

Koufax Whips Braves

By The Associated Press

It looks as though this is the year the Los Angeles Dodgers pocket the payoff on that $20,000 bonus southpaw Sandy Koufax collected in 1954.

Brooklyn-born Koufax, 22, hit his one-season high with his sixth victory last night, a 3-1 complete game job that gave him a 4-0 lifetime record against Milwaukee. It also stretched the Dodgers' winning jinx over the Braves to nine in a row, seven this season.

The second - place St. Louis Cardinals, who had won six straight, were beaten 5-4 at Philadelphia in 11 innings. And the San Francisco Giants, .002 percentage points behind St. Louis, lost 6-5 at Cincinnati. The Chicago Cubs took Pittsburgh with a 3-1 victory over the Pirates, who have lost seven in a row.

Solo home runs by Dick Gray and John Roseboro nailed it for the Dodgers, who had but five hits, four off starter-loser Joey Jay (1-2), another ex-bonus kid. Koufax, 9-10 for his first three seasons, now is 6-3 for '58, with half his victories over the Braves, who have lost nine in a row to left-handers. Sandy walked two, struck out eight and gave up seven hits — three by slumping Hank Aaron, who tied it 1-all with his 12th homer in the fourth inning.

Dick Farrell (5-2) won his fourth in a row with one-hit, shutout relief over 2 2-3 innings for the Phils. Singles by Wally Post and Chico Fernandez and Dave Philley's pinch-hit double broke it up against Billy Muffett (3-2), the fourth Card pitcher. The Phils, blanked on one hit by Jim Brosnan, over-hauled a three - run Card lead with four in the seventh, but the Cards tied it in the ninth on Curt Flood's triple off starter Robin Roberts, who had retired 16 in a row.

The Giants, down 4-1, hustled back on Daryl Spencer's 11th homer and rookie Orlando Cepeda's 16th, both two-run shots, for a 5-4 edge by the fifth, then blew it in the ninth. An error by Ed Bressoud, a walk and Johnny Temple's triple packed it away for reliever Hal Jeffcoat (4-4). Marv Grissom (4-3) lost it in relief for the Giants—who count 17 one-run defeats among their 32 for the season.

Moe Drabowsky, the Cubs' bonus kid who gets married today, had a two-hit shutout until Johnny Powers' first homer in the eighth, then needed Bill Henry's relief in the ninth to gain a 6-7 record. Drabowsky singled home a run in the fifth and the Cubs then nailed it in the sixth on Dale Long's two-run single off Bob Friend (9-8), who has lost four straight.

Biggest garpike reported this season, in Oakland County waters, was taken this week in Crystal Lake, bordering the Municipal Golf Course. Floyd McNeary, 165 Cedardale, Pontiac, landed the rough fish on a cane pole with a minnow for bait.

"That gar," Floyd reported, "just tried to take my pole away from me." Fish was 33 inches long, weighed about five pounds.

B. B. Grants Interview Only After Small Fit

By EARL WILSON

PARIS—I was feeling good when I walked onto the French movie set. I had an appointment to interview pouty, moist-lipped Brigitte Bardot. Ten minutes later I didn't feel so good.

WILSON

"Brijeet" — or simply "B.B."—wouldn't talk to me.

"She'd been in the middle of a flamenco dance scene and was shouting to the director that there should be more passion in it.

"But you must have discipline, too," he yelled back.

And then came my moment—and France's answer to Marilyn Monroe and Kim Novak just tossed her blonde hair. "Non!" and also "Pas!"

"I'm sorry," shrugged her press representative to me. "She's like an animal or a child." It was all off, evidently.

A Spanish dancer whom I happened to know went over, sat on the floor, and pleaded with her. She then gave in — and couldn't have been friendlier. But when it came to pictures — more temperament.

BRIGITTE

"It's because I am not myself today — I am a Spanish girl," she said, evidently referring to her costume. "But eef you come Monday and dance the flamenco with me, we will take picture."

"Are you in love?" I asked the so-called sex kitten. (She supposedly having a fling with a married Italian star.)

"Yes," I said.

"Lucky boy," she smiled. I smiled, too, at the word "boy."

"Why," she asked me, when I inquired of the possibility of meeting Frank Sinatra, "do all the journalists try to make a love story between Fronk and I when I don't even know him once?"

Don't you think he has sex appeal?"

"I theenk maybe so yes and I hope so for heem!" She was constantly looking at herself in a mirror, adjusting her hair.

★ ★ ★

"But gewd lewking and sex appeal is not important for me. They have to have a soul. If I'm in love with somebody I don't care whether he's young or old or beautiful."

"What do you do for amusement—go on picnics?" I asked.

"Picnic I hate!" she retorted. "Why do you Americans always talk of eating?" She indicated her lunch—including a small bottle of wine — untouched nearby. "I never eat." A few minutes later she was eating and jumped up and put a screen around her so I couldn't see her eating.

"Is Brigitte Bardot your real name?"

"All is real." Her eyes flashed. "Everything about me is real and I intend to keep it that way."

"Brijeet" and I met two or three times later and got along splendidly. She exudes tons and tons of sex appeal and gets her next exposure in "The Night Heaven Fell." When I mentioned to her that her fans said she looks sexier dressed than any other stars do undressed, she said with the wisdom of her 23 years, "Every woman has more sex appeal when she's dressed than when undressed!"

★ ★ ★

Cultural Background Aids Civil Engineer

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The cultural background of a civil engineer can greatly influence how good a job he does designing and building bridges, dams and highways, according to a University of Michigan professor.

Robert B. Harris, associate professor of civil engineering, said the civil engineer frequently is required to deal with persons unfamiliar with engineering demands.

"It is in establishing a complete understanding between himself and those with whom he works that the civil engineer frequently feels the need for more background in the humanities and liberal arts," he said.

Harris said the university started a five-year combined program leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts from the engineering and literary colleges.

★ ★ ★

Under the new program, civil engineering students take courses in languages, literature, fine arts, philosophy and history, in addition to those in science and engineering.

Reflections

SCRAPS:

J. L. VOORHEES

Mill-ends were burned; these scraps of lumber are fashioned into beautiful things by a man with an idea. Incorrigible boys were sent to a closely guarded institution; it failed. An amazing man was chosen to head this seething mass of scraps of humanity; his record is astonishing; 80% of his "Guests" return to society as law-abiding citizens.

Prison camps are excellent examples of what human scraps can become; those derelicts, scraps of humanity, are returned to society; 68% live their lives in lawful pursuits. During our last war entire trains were loaded with Scrap Metal which blasted the enemy into ignominous defeat. Goodwill Industries use scraps to bring dignity to unfortunate human beings. A Saw Mill at Red Bluff Calif. cuts train-loads of logs every day. Scraps? There are none. Even the sawdust is used to make interior home-finishing material. The intelligent housewife uses less desirable parts of meat for delicious casserole dishes.

Scraps are a challenge. When man meets this challenge he makes a better life for us all.

LOVELY VIEW — This guest room has a delightful wooded view from all the windows. Curtains and ceiling are peach. The plaid wallpaper has a gray-blue background. Furniture is pecan wood. The heirloom type spreads are white.

background for LIVING

THIS SELDOM HAPPENS — Moments of leisure like this are rare in the lives of the Merritt Cooleys. All the stone in the fireplace was cut and faced by Mr. Cooley. In fact, he built the whole house. The paneling around the fireplace is antique cherry. Mrs. Cooley was responsible for all painting and decorating. The grandmother and grandfather chairs occupied by the Cooleys are Hitchcock in style.

Your Neighbor's House

Cooley Home Built of Bayport Stone

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

In the list of expenses for building the Merritt Cooley home in Clarkston there is one item marked, "Three pairs of trousers." Mr. Cooley wore out the left knee of that many pairs of pants.

How? Well, it's this way. The exterior of the house and the fireplace are made of Bayport stone. Each stone had to be cut and faced to fit (it comes in squares), and Mr. Cooley held it on his knee while he cut it.

Set on an angle—that was to save the trees on the lot — the house is two-story in back. This puts the double garage under the living room and one bedroom. One end is made of batten strips. Trim is red.

Originally, this batten end was to be on the east side of the house. But the Cooleys got a little concerned about all the tornados Michigan was having. They didn't want stone falling all over the rest of the house if a high wind struck. That's the reason why the west side is wood.

The Cooley children are grown and there are seven grandchildren. The latter spend many hours a week with their grandparents, and the house is planned with that in mind. Because Mrs. Cooley is taking a full schedule of college courses in Flint, she wants a house that is easy to care for.

TWO EXPOSURES

The living room extends the depth of the house. On the front there are three long windows; on the back there are four shorter ones. All have sheer ruffled curtains with brown, aqua and gold print draperies over them.

Walls are pink. Woodwork is white. The carpeting is gray. Around the Bayport stone fireplace the wall is paneled in antique cherry. A piece of driftwood and portraits of both the Cooleys hang over the mantel. The slate hearth is raised.

In front of the fireplace there are grandmother and grandfather rockers. These are black with Hitchcock stenciling on the backs. Between is a brightly colored hooked rug.

Mrs. Cooley says the kitchen was planned for a lazy cook. The sink and a long pink work counter are under the four windows. These windows look out into a wooded area.

Instead of regular curtains, there is an awning over the kitchen windows—on the inside, we mean. It is made of deep aqua cotton with black braid trim. Over the sink is an antique light fixture.

In an ell of this room the laundry equipment is efficiently placed. Next to it is a door to the yard. This ell has an inside door to the rest of the house.

There are bedrooms on both sides of the living room. This puts the guests in one end of the house and the owners in the opposite end.

The windows in the Cooleys' bedroom look out on the same view as the kitchen windows. They are curtained in pink. Mrs. Cooley made all her own curtains and slipcovers. She did the painting. She supervises the garden work. "I'm just a slave," mutters her husband—happily.

Wallpaper is blue with a tiny pink design. The ceiling is acoustical tile, painted pink. Closet doors here and throughout the house are made of wood slats. Furniture is pine.

The other room at this end of the house is used by the Cooleys as a den. The floor is beige tile like all the bedrooms. Walls are papered in pink. Curtains are white.

Here Mr. Cooley has his desk. Here he has an aqua lounge chair, upholstered in naugahyde and fabric. A brighter aqua sofa stands under the high windows.

The bathroom has black wallpaper, sprinkled with bright flowers. Walls below are blue. Fixtures are a sandalwood shade. The powder room in the guest area is all pink and blue.

She covered the walls with deep rosy red wallpaper and painted the woodwork white. Curtains are white with red ball fringe. There are windows on two sides.

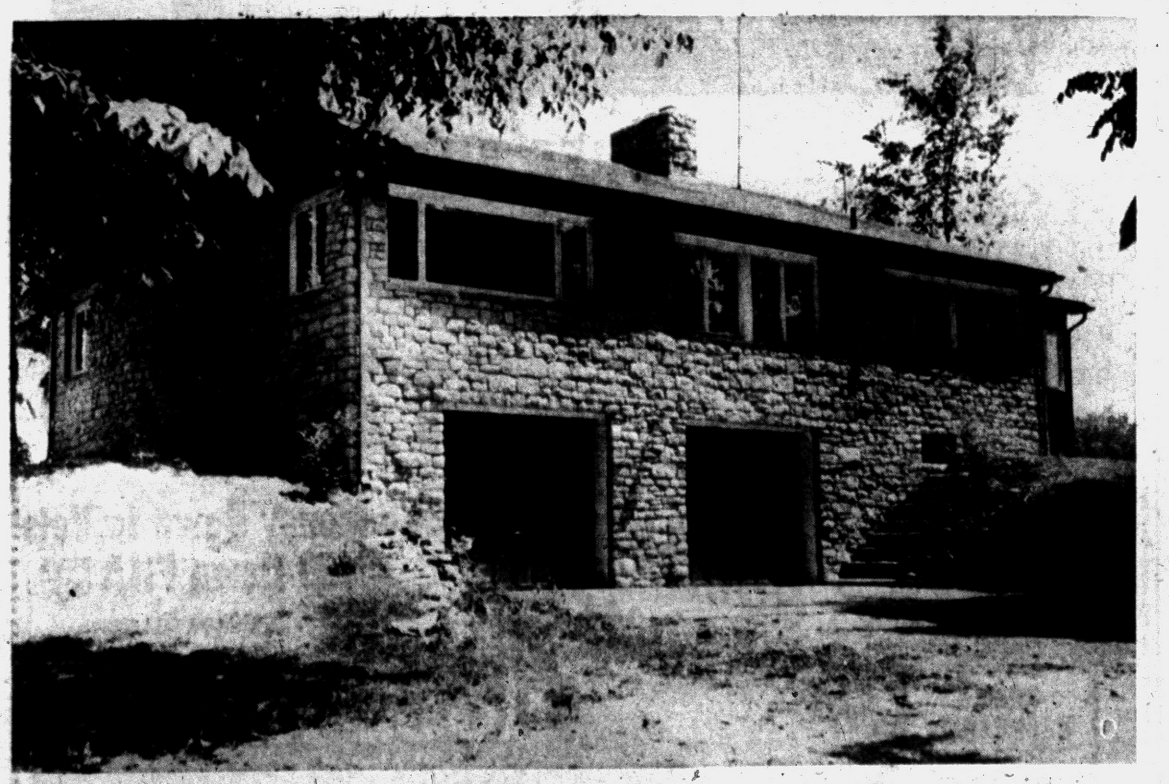

All the old furniture has been lovingly refinished. It includes an old high bed with a high headboard, a washstand, complete with bowl and pitcher, chairs and a cradle.

USEFUL CRADLE

The grandchildren have all slept in this cradle until they were too big for it. Then they use it to keep their toys. Mrs. Cooley's mother lives in this room during her visits.

The other guest room also has windows on two sides. They are curtained in peach to match the ceiling.

This is a strictly do-it-yourself house. The Cooleys enjoyed planning it and they thoroughly enjoy living in it.

BAYPORT STONE HOUSE — This is the rear view of the Merritt Cooley home in Clarkston. Above the double garage is a bedroom and the living room. This stone comes from the Thumb area, near Pointe Aux Barques. It is not often used for houses, but Mr. Cooley thought it worth the extra work and used it for the entire exterior, except for one end. Windows are white, while the trim and batten section are red.

BIGGER THAN IT LOOKS — From the front, the Merritt Cooley house on Middle Lake Road in Clarkston looks small. But it has four bedrooms, living room-dining room, kitchen and full basement. The Cooleys placed their home at an angle in order to save all shade trees already on the lot. The Cooleys did all the building themselves.

Expansion Split Spans Needs of Growing Family

By JOHN O.B. WALLACE

A span-of-the-years house, this three-level split will adapt itself to the changing needs of a growing family.

Designated X-12 in the House of The Week series, it will prove itself through the years as a home for newlyweds, parents and grandparents.

The basic house, to be finished at the time of construction, consists of a living room, dining alcove, kitchen with breakfast area, bath, closets and a bedroom — all on an entrance level.

To be finished at the option of the owners, there is a bedroom area above on two levels. This area is in an alternate position, from front to rear instead of the lower level's side to side position.

The bedroom area has space at one end for four medium-sized bedrooms or a lesser number of larger bedrooms, and one or more baths. At the other end of this area there is space for a children's playroom, or an additional bedroom or guest room, and a large storage room.

The entire house, surprisingly, is only 44 by 45 feet in its dimensions and would fit a 60 by 100 foot lot. The plan includes a two-car garage and a basement.

MODERN, EFFICIENT KITCHEN

From the drawing board of Edward J. Isaar, a Seattle architect, design X-12 has the latest kitchen design:

The appliances are arranged in the shape of an "L" for work ease and efficiency. The breakfast area is located in a free corner of the kitchen, and there is a wall-to-wall window for supervision of the rear terrace.

The kitchen and the dining alcove are joined by sliding Shoji screens, and sliding glass doors join the rear terrace with the living room and dining alcove.

The living room has a wide fireplace with a slate hearth and a cement block wall. Magazine and book cabinets are built under a corner window in the living room—and one wall of the living room is of wood to provide textural contrast.

The living room flows into the entrance foyer. The problem of cross traffic is eliminated by the central entranceway which joins the living-dining areas with the kitchen-bedroom-bath areas.

The dining alcove, however, is shielded from the entranceway by a low coat closet, a book shelf and a games cabinet. Stairs to the upper bedrooms and down to the basement are off the entranceway. There is direct access to the garage from the entranceway.

For the first child, the entrance level bedroom could be used as a day nursery. As the family grows, separate bedrooms upstairs can be added—and the space over the lower bedroom and kitchen could be finished for play and hobby rooms —or for guest rooms.

Recreation space is included in the basement plan along with shop and storage space. Every inch of space is put to work by the architect and there is abundant closet and storage space.

An interesting innovation has been introduced in the garage. Here the architect has called for the cement block walls to be inset with glass blocks. These add to the exterior appearance and provide natural illumination for the garage.

Exterior details include a built-up roof with colored, chip surface. The roof is supported by laminated and glued girders. As an exterior design accent, channel type siding or boards and battens may be used with cement asbestos board under the windows.

★ ★ ★

If you are interested in a study of this house, send 25c in coin (no stamps accepted) to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac 12, Michigan. Ask for House of the Week plan HW X-12.

Statistics

House of the Week design X-12 has overall dimensions of 44 by 45 feet. A lot 60 by 100 feet is recommended. The habitable area of the entrance level has 930 square feet. The habitable area of the upper levels has 980 square feet. In estimating building costs for non-habitable areas, add 880 square feet for the basement and 478 square feet for the garage.

Cherry Grained Hardboard Used for Headboard

For instance, home craftsmen have used cherry woodgrain hardboard paneling over simple 1x2-inch framing to construct a durable and eye-catching headboard. The addition can be extended approximately two feet beyond a double bed on both sides and equipped with built-in desks that can be us for writing, cosmetics or even an electric coffee pot.

Sliding doors of contrasting Peg-Board panels in a birch woodgrain are especially striking. The perforated panels can be inserted in grooves and equipped with handles to allow quick access to the headboard's compartments.

Books, tissues, stationery, phone, clock radio or a myriad of other bedside accessories can be kept in this headboard.

A headboard of plastic-finished hardboard can be kept clean with an occasional damp wiping. These woodgrains authentically reproduce the beauty and grain of selected fine woods.

UPPER BEDROOM LEVELS — You can have four smallish bedrooms at one end of this area or a larger number of bigger ones. At the rear there is a good-sized children's play room and a storage room.

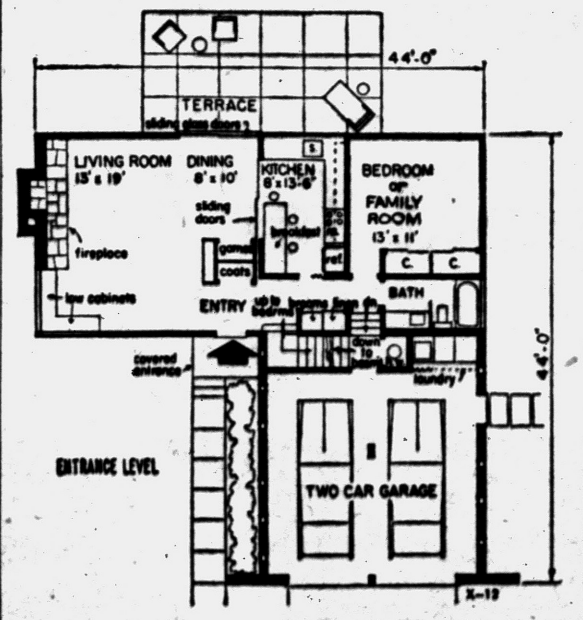

Turn Unused Door Into Shadow Box

A home handyman can convert a door or window into an attractive "shadow box" by lining the recess with predecorated hardboard. This plastic-finished material, which is available at lumber dealers in plain colors, woodgrains and marble patterns, will provide an interesting background for whatever is stored or displayed on the shelves.

Children may display their hobbies or craftsmanship in a bedroom "shadow box," while a variety of pictures or knick-knacks can be placed in a shadow box in the living or dining room. A "shadow box" is particularly useful in the basement for storing hobby, laundry and recreational materials.

Keep Border of Floor

In planning any room, keep in mind that the hardwood floor supplies a friendly background for all furnishings. Your rugs will look more attractive if the border of hardwood floor is scaled at least eighteen inches to two feet from the wall. And, remember, scatter rugs of good design and texture are still in style.

ENTRANCE LEVEL — On this level there are the living rooms and one room that can be a bedroom. A central entranceway takes care of cross traffic. The dining room is shielded from the entrance by a low coat closet, and a book shelf.

Keep Homes Cool by Proper Design

You can reduce heat discomfort, according to the American Society of Heating Engineers Guide. Because wood is a non-conductor of heat and cold, a single inch of wood equals six inches of brick wall in insulating value.

The ideal home is framed in Douglas fir 2x4s with ordinary fir sheathing applied next. Then insulating paper is put on, and either fir or western red cedar siding applied. Interior finish can be either lath and plaster or one of several beautiful wood paneled walls.

Wainscot Stairs to Foil the Kids!

The aggravating problem of stairway upkeep that plagues many homemakers can be easily overcome by installing materials that are designed to resist soil and wear.

Stairway walls can be kept attractive by covering them with a wainscot of plastic-finished paneling to slightly above rail height to protect against smudgy hand prints. The baked plastic finish of this paneling resists hand marks and other soiling, and is quickly cleaned with a damp or sudsy cloth.

A popular paneling for stairway wainscoting is 16-inch planks, designed with tongue - and - groove edges for easy and neat installation. The planks come in a variety of woodgrains and 10 "companion colors."

Another stairway area that causes maintenance problems is where the vertical risers catch scuff marks from toes and heels. Covering these risers with hardboard panels will assure easy maintenance and a brighter appearance. The paneling can be cut to size with a regular crosscut saw and secured with adhesive right over the existing surfaces.

Paint Buying Simple If You Know Terms

Springtime is refurbishing time in most homes. One way the man of the house can keep the little woman happy is to agree that a room needs a new coat of paint or that the furniture should be moved into new positions. It's a toss of the coin then to see who gets the job.

Women like to paint. The roller has made it less of a chore, and gayer colors have added inspiration.

But sometimes they buy the paint. And not having mastered their chemistry, they may be overwhelmed by such highsounding lingo as butadiene-styrene, oleoresins, alkyds, and polyvinyl acetates.

Here are pointers from experts to make it easy to select the paint that will do the job you want:

Consider paint on the basis of shininess or gloss and you have three types of paint: gloss, semi-gloss and flat.

Gloss paints, generally referred to as enamels, are most often used on woodwork likely to come into contact with hands and on kitchen and bathroom walls. They resist abrasion, are less likely to collect dirt and fingerprints, and keep moisture from entering the walls. Glosses are easiest to clean.

Flat paints are applied to walls and ceilings and are chosen where decoration is the number one consideration. These paints have greater covering power than glosses, do not glare and conceal surface irregularities, brush marks and scratches. They do mark and show fingerprints.

Semi-gloss paints have some advantages of the other two types. Gloss and semi-gloss paints are thinned with turpentine or mineral spirits. Newer paints have an odorless solvent.

Flat paints are solvent-thinned or water-thinned. Water-thinned paints such as calcimine and casein paints are familiar, but newer ones were developed within the past 10 years. They are described as latex paints. Some manufacturers call latex paints rubberized, plastic, butadiene-styrene, vinyl or polyvinyl-acetate or acrylic.

Latex paints dry quickly, are odorless and the brush or roller may be cleaned in warm water. Drippings must be cleaned off immediately. These paints are good where damp walls or new plaster must be painted and where fast drying is desired. Most latex paints are meant for interior use only. Check the label.

Solvent-thinned flat paints are superior to latexes in covering power, washability, water spotting and resistance to scrubbing, the experts advise.

The newest developments are gelled paints, self-spraying paints, multi-color paints, and rubber-based paints. Gels are made with a vehicle which stays solid in can or tube and is of the consistency of aspic on the brush. They liquify under pressure of brush or roller against the surface being painted.

The chief advantages are that gels won't drip and won't spill if the can is overturned. They give a smooth, lap free coating. They're splendid for use on ceilings.

Blend House, Landscape With Special Fences

It's possible to partition the outdoors as well as interior living areas, the Southern Pine Association declares.

Short sections of wood basket-weave fencing and breezeways flanked by wood louvers are effective devices for dividing your yard into a series of interesting and related areas. When the outdoor dividers are painted or finished to match the color of the wood siding on the exterior of the house, then the landscape and home are effectively blended in a single coordinated design.

Drop a piece of charcoal in your tool box. It will absorb moisture, and keep your tools from rusting.

Hidden Moisture Can Be Very Damaging

Many a new home owner knows the problems of condensation during winter months as he sees water streaming down the windows onto the newly painted or varnished sill. He feels, however, that he has licked the problem if he installs storm windows and the condensation disappears from the inner windows.

But where does the moisture go? Unfortunately, in many cases it's still trapped inside the nearly airtight house. It no longer condenses on the inside windows because they are no longer as cold as they were before the storm windows were installed. But it remains, nonetheless, and the damaging condensation usually occurs in hidden places.

Orient House to Patio for Quiet Living

According to the Southern Pine Association, a big advantage of the patio-plan home is that every bedroom and living area has its own courtyard or garden.

The rooms are oriented away from the street onto the outdoor area in the middle of the house. All large window areas face the courtyard, while the house exterior is faced solidly with wood siding.

Being centrally located and enclosed by the house itself, the courtyard offers complete outdoor privacy and a safe place for children to play. And since the outer house confines are placed as close as possible to the lot limits, all of the available area is put to profitable use.

It's Big Business

Today, about 98,000 people are served by sewerage facilities .Ten years from now at least 115,000,000 will be served by plants that will handle an average of 190 gallons for each person. All of the country's sewerage systems today are worth more than $19,370,000,000.

NEW SHELVES — Shelves can be highly decorative as well as functional. New line just introduced by Mil-Mode Manufacturing Company combines oil-finished walnut, white mica, and rich brass inlays, to create shelves which need little accessorizing to add warmth and luxury to any room. Designed by Joanne Burke, the shelves are characterized by simplicity and boldness of scale typical of the best modern furnishings. This shelf is 50" wide, 43" high, and 8" deep.

feel embarrassed when you entered the front door and removed your rubbers and dripping rain coat? Or did you find yourself in an entrance foyer with a serviceable, easily maintained floor?

Did you notice if there also was a service vestibule at the back door, connecting the kitchen, laundry and cellar stairs? Or did you enter this house directly from the garage without getting a drop of water on your hat?

Pastel Colors Soothing

Some years ago, white was the only color approved by hospitals. It was considered that pure white, easily showing tell-tale spots, was the only color entirely hygenic and sanitary. With a changed viewpoint, doctors today agree that practical benefits are obtained from using pleasant pastel colors as wall coatings and on furniture. Restful hues are soothing to a patient and help lift the spirit.

Saw Cuts Inside Boards

Rely on just one tool—a portable power saw—for making interior cuts in a board. The Thor circular Speed Saw, for example, makes fast and smooth "plunge" cuts simply by placing the saw base on the work with the blade elevated, turning on the power and then gradually lowering the blade into the work. It eliminates the need for boring starting holes and sawing from them with a keyhole saw.

House Hunting in Rain Discloses Weak Points

A rainy day can be the best time to go house hunting. You'll slop around in a little mud and wet grass, but appraisers say that almost any faults a house may have will show up in a heavy rain. And if you like a house on a rainy day, you'll like it when the sun shines.

Rain can do much more than expose roof leaks, advises the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information. It can show you exactly how the property is graded and whether flood waters are being carried rapidly away from the house in all directions.

You'll see at a glance whether roof gutters and downspouts are working properly, or if missing, whether they are needed. Sometimes a wide overhang will let eaves drip harmlessly on the ground away from the house, but you can quickly check to see that such water is not splashing into basement windows.

It will be reassuring to know that no underground spring is going to handicap you if you want to lay a floor covering. If there is a spot of moisture in a corner of the basement floor and the seller tells you it is caused by rain leaking in the basement window — that a slight regrading will fix it — you will not doubt him when you can see it happening.

Upstairs the adequacy of lighting will be noted readily on a rainy day. It will show you if window areas are large enough for the sizes of various rooms, or will indicate how soon you'll feel compelled to remodel the house in order to enlarge the windows.

NOTE WALL COLOR

Dark colored walls and floors must be taken into account, of course. Sometimes you can notice the contrast if one room has lighter colors. A bright yellow floor in the kitchen, for example, will lighten up the interior enough to give windows a fair shake.

If you have chosen a windy, driving rain storm, you'll be able to see how effective weatherstripping is around windows and doors on the weather side of the house. If threshold and window sills are bone dry, you'll have a good sign.

And rain can be a severe architectural critic of the plan of the house in general. Did it make you

Disposable Paint Glove

Planning a decorating project or a furniture refinishing job? Save the light plastic bags now commonly used to pack vegetables and other foods. When you're ready to paint, slip your hand into one of these bags. The plastic is tough and flexible; it will let your hand move freely while keeping paint off your fingers. Unlike a glove, it can be thrown away when the job is finished.

Floor Waxing Ancient Process

With the increasing vogue for highly polished floors, and the American homemaker's growing knowledge of the value and beauty of protecting many surfaces, millions of pounds of wax are used annually. Because of wax, thousands of people are given employment in Brazil, North Africa, Mexico, Germany and the United States.

Usually wax appears as an excretion on the leaves of plants. Occasionally it is taken from the stems of fruits. The tissues, pollens or seeds also provide wax. Principally the botanical plants that produce enough wax to be important are the carnauba, curicuri, candelilla and esparto.

The plant having the greatest wax yield is the carnauba palm which grows in the arid regions of Brazil. Most of the wax paste comes from the carnauba. To it is added paraffin or ceresin, and a semi-hard type known as montan wax. Sometimes calcium or magnesium stearate is used to help prevent undue slippage or marring.

There is nothing new about waxing floors, as this finish has been practiced for centuries. However, though the idea is not new, it is infinitely easier to accomplish the job than it was even a short few years ago. The modern wax products have been especially designed to be used with these beautiful protective coatings made by the paint industry.

After a wood floor has been thoroughly scraped and cleaned, it can be stained . . . unless you wish to retain the look and grain of the natural wood. When a floor is stained, then a fine finishing coat such as varnish or shellac usually is applied. It is also possible to buy finishes produced by the paint industry that have stain as an integral part.

Then, of course, if you wish, you can top it all with a coat of wax. Many householders find self-polishing liquid wax a great advantage. It can be conveniently applied with a lamb's wool applicator or by means of a sprayer attached to the vacuum cleaner.

Undercoat Cinder Blocks

Cinder blocks are so porous that it is better to give them a coat of cement, stucco or portland cement paint before painting them with a permanent finish. If you paint cinder blocks without cementing the surface, they will absorb a lot of paint and holes will still show. Outdoor type, rubber-based masonry paint is best for the outer surfaces.

PATCH UP THE MASONRY—Bad weather this winter may have made former hairline cracks in your masonry worse. Whether you stick to hammer and chisel or exchange them for a brush, preparing the damaged area is first step in making repairs in concrete and other masonry.

Brushes Stay Moist, Pliable in Storage Can

During spring and summer painting projects that run several days or perhaps weeks, it's wise to keep your paint brushes moist and pliable. But letting brushes stand on their bristles while soaking in clean-up cans will ruin them.

★ ★ ★

Here's a tip to prevent that from the home specialists of Thor Power Tool Company of Chicago: Suspend the brushes from the top of a can, letting them hang freely into the paint thinner or turpentine solution.

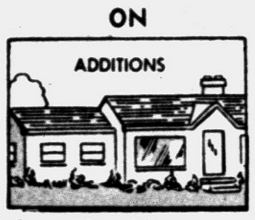

★ ★ ★

To do this, just drill holes in the brush handles with your portable electric drill, then cut notches in can rims with a metal snip. An electric drill cuts a clean hole quickly without marring the brush handles.

Run a length of heavy gauge wire or a piece of clothes hanger through the holes in the handles and rest the wire in the notches. Be sure you use cans that are large enough to permit the brushes to hang freely.

His Tool Shop Can Pay Big Dividends

There is nothing that presents such a challenge as a tool shop, and your man will season the house with pine before you know it.

★ ★ ★

Where to put the tool shop if there is no room in the cellar or attic? Sometimes a space can be made underneath a staircase or in a roomy, seldom-used closet (is there such a thing?). This may be hidden from view with a screen.

★ ★ ★

If you are concerned with wood shavings (and you should be because these can be messy no matter how nice and clean the wood looks) put a large piece of oil cloth directly under the bench. Wall board with holes may hold the tools in a compact unit just above the bench.

The interesting fact about encouraging a man to own a few tools is that his interest will broaden to other do-it-yourself projects, such as painting the house or building a rock fence.

The way you can help your man become neat in his handyman role is to supply him with "buffers" such as a denim apron with lots of pockets to hold paraphernalia. Glass jars will come in handy for classifying nails and screws, and paper plates are indispensable for keeping paint from dripping all over the place.

Pull-Out Boards Up Work Space

Pull-out boards extend the surfaces of home work benches without taking a lot of space and provide a small work area accessible from three sides, a handy feature for many "do-it-yourself" jobs. Such boards can be pulled out and pushed in quickly, like the writing shelves in office desks and the familiar bread boards of kitchen cabinets.

Cut a 20 by 30 inch work board from ¾-inch exterior plywood, using a portable electric jig saw which also is handy to round the corners if you wish. Fasten a hand pull — just a short piece of 1 by ½ inch wood — to the underside of the board at what will be the outer end.

Then make L-shaped slides of ¾-inch plywood and ½ by 1½-inch stock and install them under the top of the work bench, using long screws that will assure solid mounting.

You can control the ease with which the pull-out board will slide by sanding the sliding edges with an electric sander or the sanding attachment of an electric drill, then waxing the slides.

Attach a strip of ½ by 1½-inch stock to the lower front of the slides and another to the underside of the pull-out board, about 6 inches from the back, as a stop. That'll give you a handy 20 by 24 inch work surface.

Old Venetian Blinds Turn Into Awnings

Old wooden venetian blinds are ideal for making your own window awnings. The old blinds, a few pieces of lumber, and the power tools of your home workshop will save you many dollars in awning expense.

Cutting the venetian blind slats and other lumber to the required size is done simply with a jig saw. Such portable saws are versatile power tools that do a variety of cutting jobs.

Begin with two triangular frameworks braced with centerpieces the width you wish to make the awning. Then reinforce the corners with angle pieces, cut the slats the proper length, and cover the wooden skeleton with the slats. They may be nailed flush or about an inch apart, depending on the style you prefer.

The long face board that served as the blind cornice should be nailed to the top of the assembly so the awning can be screwed to the window frame through this piece.

Many Areas Show Need for Caulking

Look for cracks in masonry, at the ends and lap joints of siding, around wood or metal window frames, storm sash, water faucets and other pipes passing through walls, flashing, concrete step risers, corner joints, and foundation joints.

Pay special attention to parts of the house where different materials meet, like wood and brick. Frequently neglected are joints where porch columns and flooring meet and where vertical trim joins the horizontal sill of a window.

Loose window panes need calking to keep out drafts, dust and moisture. Calking window panes is known as glazing. Glazing putty comes in cans and is applied with a putty knife. It also comes in metal tubes.

The tubes may be easier to use. They have an opening that deposits the glazing putty in a neat, triangular ribbon, and they are air tight so that leftover putty will remain pliable until the nex calking job.

How to Feel Cool: Send Heat Away

Keeping cool in summer by radiating your own body heat away from you is a dandy trick, and it works when you surround yourself with cool walls and floors. This kind of radiation explains the popularity of basement recreation rooms on hot days.

Basements remain cool because the earth can keep a constant year-round temperature of about 54 degrees below the frost line. Since heat waves always travel from warm to cooler objects, we feel cooler in a basement even when the air temperature is the same as in other rooms.

A concrete basement floor covered with modern resilient floor covering will be relatively warm in zero weather and refreshingly cool in summer because of the steady ground temperature.

The development of this brightly colored, waterproof and grease-proof floor covering has been a big factor in making neat and comfortable basements economically popular. Water-mixed cement paint on walls transforms a basement into a cheerful and easy-to-clean room.

It is a matter of common acceptance that hardwood floors, because of their resilience and warmth, are less fatiguing than rigid floors.

How Much Paint?

On an outdoor brick surface, one gallon of exterior paint will cover approximately 200 square feet of surface when the first coat is applied. On the second coat, a single gallon will cover 400 square feet.

Sifting Site Where Jet Killed 15

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—Top-level investigating teams from the Air Force, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the aviation industry today sifted the wreckage of a huge jet Stratotanker to determine what caused a crash that took the lives of 15 men.

The big tanker, one of four KC135s scheduled to streak to England to break trans-Atlantic round trip records yesterday, crashed and exploded seconds after takeoff. Two similar planes that took off before her broke thewest to east record. A fourth, poised on the runway, did not take off because of the tragedy.

The plane snapped high tension wires 70 feet above the ground and plummeted to earth in the after-midnight darkness. Its cargo of highly volatile fuel—estimated the equivalent of three-and-a-half railroad tank cars—exploded into an inferno.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration and Civil Aeronautics Board were given permission to investigate the crash.Direct participation by the agencies in the investigation of a military plane crash is unusual.

Investigators are expected to concentrate on a section of the Massachusetts Turnpike and a farm. The blazing craft slithered across the pike, a new east-west toll road that crosses the state, and blew up with a thunderous roar in a cornfield.

Eight Negroes Lose Discrimination Suit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Eight Negroes have lost a lawsuit charging that the Moberly, Mo., school board discriminated against them in hiring only white teachers after integration of schools there in 1955.

Federal District Judge Roy W. Harper ruled yesterday the school board considered ability and personality — but not race — in hiring the teachers. The judge heard arguments in the case in August, 1956.

The former teachers had asked an injunction against alleged racial discrimination by the board and $4,000 damages each. They were represented by attorneys for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wants to See Father

POMONA, N.C. (AP)—Sammy Bishop's doctor says the 8-year-old boy, whose right eye was injured when a baseball broke his glasses this week, would get along better if he would stop crying. But Sammy wants to see his father, Big Sam. Last reported somewhere in Texas, efforts to locate him, have been unsuccessful.

2 Sets of Twins!

Frank G. McInnis, zoo director, announced yesterday that Dane and Tanya gave birth to twins simultaneously.

Both mothers and thier cubs are doing fine, McInnis said.

Rocket Causes Death

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Richard Payne, 21, was too quick to investigate after a skyrocket he had set off failed to leave the ground. A second skyrocket was ignited by a spark as he approached to investigate. The long, pointed launching stick pierced his abdomen and he died of the injury seven hours after the accident.

Local Ham Operators Join in World Contest

Twelve Ham Radio operators from Waterford Township will be among thousands of contestants all over the world, communicating in an emergency-drill contest to be held from 4 p.m. today to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Communication operations and camping-out facilities for the local group will set up on top of the highest hill at Highland Recreation area Friday.

Sponsored by the American Radio Relay League, which is an international organization, groups of "hams" will be awarded one point for each registered contact made throughout the world in the 24-hour period. They exchange signal reports, thereby substantiating their contacts.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Civil Defense Communications officer Harold Bird is directing the Waterford Township unit, and will operate the CD gas generator for the ransmitter's emergency power.

The purpose of the annual drill contest is to determine just how fast, and how many operators can be contacted in case of an emergency, Bird said.

He added, "Although the League is not connected with the United States Civil Defense program, they work closely with the organization because radio communications play such an important role, in case of a disaster."

English 3-letter cue signals are used in making world-wide contacts, so that ham operators in foreign countries may have a universal medium of communication.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded to the group making the most contacts, with additional points given as lower transmitter power is used, or as the contacts become farther away, Bird explained.

At the conclusion of the contest, all of the points are sent to the League's headquarters at West Hartford, Conn., where the scores are checked and the winning group announced.

"This enormous project takes almost two months to complete," Bird concluded.

Sewer Problem to Be Settled

State Health Agency Calls Meeting July 23 on Southeast Oakland

LANSING (UPI) — A sewage problem plaguing several communities in southeast Oakland County will be hashed out July 23 at a meeting in Royal Oak called by the State Health Department.

★ ★ ★

Since January, the department has refused additions to the interconnected sewer system serving 12 cities, a village and parts of two townships. The department said flooding basements, sewage flowing from manholes and flooded streets prompted the move.

The sewage system serves about 300,000 persons. Dr. Albert Heustis, department commissioner, said the southeast Oakland sewer system now being operated "is a threat to people's health" and it must be removed.

★ ★ ★

A tentative health department order would require the communities to provide for treatment of sewage and wastes from the system either by contract with Detroit or some other means approved by the health commissioner. It would also set up a construction schedule for a relief interceptor sewer along Dequindre and 12-Mile roads and also enclosing the Red Run drain.

Grand Jury Adjourns Without Indictment

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Mary Jacobs, 38, was free today because the Monroe County grand jury adjourned Friday without indicting her in the shotgun killing of her husband.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Jacobs, 32, was killed last Saturday after an argument over a man who came to the Jacobs house to install screen doors.

★ ★ ★

Dep. Sheriff Joe Walden said Mrs. Jacobs told him her husband came home drunk, beat her, and dared her three tims to shoot him. Walden said the women related that on the third dare, she pulled the trigger of a 16-gauge shotgun.

6th Fleet's Flagship Retiring

ROME (AP)—The heavy cruiser U.S.S. Salem, longtime flagship of the mighty 6th Fleet and the best known American ambassador in the Mediterranean area for almost eight years, is headed home today for retirement.

★ ★ ★

A sister, the U.S.S. Des Moines, has relieved the Salem and taken over the 6th Fleet flag. The Salem is due in Norfolk, Va., early next month under command of Capt. Francis T. Williamson of Tiverton, R.I.

The 21,000-ton, 30-knot Salem came to the Mediterranean in 1950. In seven periods as flagship since then, the last for two years, she became known from Gibraltar to Istanbul.

She showed her guns in times of crisis, evacuated Americans from Egypt during the Suez fighting in 1956, and stood by during the 1957 Jordanian crisis. She rescued the crew of a burning yacht and helped search for missing planes and fishing boats.

The Salem probably will be remembered longest by the people of the Greek Ionian Islands, Zante, Cephalonia, and Ithaca. She was the first rescue ship to arrive in August, 1953, when earthqakes shattered the islands and killed more than 1,000 persons.

★ ★ ★

The Salem, commissioned in 1949 and named for the Massachusetts city, will join other Navy units in moth balls for future need.

The car was thrown in a northerly direction, striking a parked car on a lot next to the tracks.

Can Keep 49 Dogs if Mutt-el's Cleaner

NEW YORK (AP)—It's cleaning day today and every day till Tuesday at Mrs. Martha Hinrichson's 17-room mutt-el.

★ ★ ★

ASPCA agents will be checking twice daily to make sure the four-story brownstone house in upper Manhattan is fit for both dogs and human beings.

If it is, Magistrate Walter J. Bayer ruled yesterday, Mrs. Hinrichson will be allowed to keep her 49 pets.

Bayer inspected the broken-down house yesterday with ASPCA officials. The ASPCA had complained that the pooch pack was being neglected.

Where humans used to live, dogs barked and jumped in every room. There was no electric light, heat or running water and little furniture.

But the dogs looked happy and healthy.

Mrs. Hinrichson says she spends $17 to $25 a day for their food on income derived from rentals on houses she owns.

Back at court, Bayer first directed that Mrs. Hinrichson keep two of her pets and let the ASPCA have the others until she can find a place for them.

"Oh, judge, nobody can feed them and love them like me. I work all day and all night taking care of them. They're my life, they're me."

★ ★ ★

Bayer was moved. He told reporters:

"If the place is satisfactory Tuesday, I will suspend sentence. If I took even one dog away from her now, it would break her heart."

VACATION TIP!

During the summer months we usually have electrical storms which could cause damage to your TV receiver. It's a good idea to remove the antenna wire from the back of your set during a storm and also when you're going to be away for a few days. Also be certain that you have a good ground on your antenna or a lightning arrestor or both. For additional information or service call an OCEA member listed below.

Girl Gets Strangled Doing Family Wash

MARYSVILLE (AP) — A 15-year-old girl doing the family washing alone at home strangled last night when a piece of her blouse got caught in the ringer.

The body of Donna Blake was found about two hours later when her mother returned home from shopping.

By WILLIAM GLOVER

* * *

A showman of relentless energy who operates in the three worlds of TV, theater and movies, Gregory is a provider of special projects under contract to the CBS network. His criticism is of other than network representatives.

"A major complaint I've got is the areas of approval given to some star and agency people, so that things keep fluctuating right up to show time and you never are able to get what you want into a mold that jells," he asserts.

* * *

Although he doesn't know how or why such interference developed the dark-browed Gregory is ready to start making some changes of his own henceforth.

* * *

The creator during the past several years of such TV specials as "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," "The Day Lincoln Was Shot," "Three for Tonight" and "Crescendo," Gregory is tentatively contemplating a spectacle for late fall about the greats of filmland.

The idea struck him when he became fascinated by the footprints which are embedded in the sidewalk of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood.

His plans however are subject to swift change — a Gregory tradition — for he is currently plunging into Broadway work after an interlude of moviemaking.

* * *

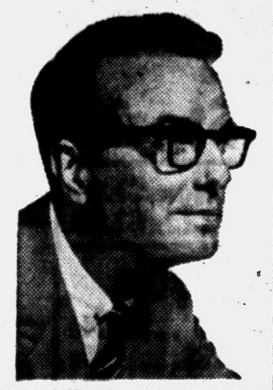

The screen production of "The Naked and the Dead," having been completed, he is bringing "Marriage — Go-Round" starring Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert to Broadway this fall.
