French Troops Repel Vietminh at Dien Bien Phu

Communist-Led Forces Fall Short of Objective, Suffer Heavy Losses

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Screaming Vietminh shock troops surged today to within half a mile of the heart of the Dien Bien Phu fortress, then faltered and fell back, taking their dead and wounded with them.

Masses of the Communist-led rebels staged the attack from the encircling hills in a driving rain, firing rifles, pistols and machineguns and throwing grenades and spears. French-manned American guns tore wide gaps in their ranks.

Unofficial estimates of the Vietminh dead and wounded in the four days of battle for the wire-ringed plain, in a strategic sector of northwest Indochina, rose to between 6,000 and 8,000.

It was the most savage battle of the seven-year Indochina war. Early today the outcome—certain to have a major effect on the Geneva conference next month—was still in doubt.

The fighting which began Saturday afternoon raged furiously through last night as thousands wildly screaming Communist-led rebels, backed by artillery from Communist China, charged repeatedly into the fortress, American-armed defenses of the fortress plain.

The "do-or-die" fanatic rebel charges over the mounting bodies of their own dead resembled the Communist onslaughts on United Nations troops in the Korean War. For the first time in the long Indochina war, the Vietminh abandoned their guerrilla tactics for an all-out frontal assault.

In the first 48 hours of fighting, the Vietminh wrested two northern and northeastern strongpoints from the French Union defenders. But the French high command said the center of the Vietminh-encircled plain was still intact and the balance of the outer perimeter also was still holding.

They predicted the defenders would hold until the rebels had worn themselves out. The French said they had killed 2,500 attacking Vietminh and wounded as many more. They admitted "appreciable" losses out of their own garrison of French, Moroccan, Vietnamese, Algerians, German Foreign Legionnaires and Thai tribesmen.

The French in Saigon predicted the Vietminh could not maintain their intense attacks of the past 48 hours longer than two more days. By that time, they said, the rebel troops and their supplies—the latter painfully trekked by coolies over the hundreds of jungle miles from Chinese dumps—would be exhausted.

Rainy weather, Vietminh anti-aircraft and rebel bombardment of Dien Bien Phu's air strips reduced the fort's airborne supply line to a minimum. But a number of C-47 Dakotas still were able to land with medical supplies and to take off for Hanoi with the worst of the wounded.

The hardest attack on the fortress, 175 miles west of Hanoi, came on its northern outpost. One section of the stronghold gave way Saturday night; late Monday night the balance of the defenses withdrew under the cover of forces sent from the center.

1,050 Area Taxpayers Owe Penalty for Late Returns

Some 1,050 Pontiac area taxpayers face a 5 per cent penalty on their total income tax payments because they failed to meet the deadline of the Bureau of Internal Revenue last night.

Acting Pontiac Postmaster Leslie Dean said some of the late returns missed the midnight postmark by only three hours. About 1,050 returns were over nine hours late.

More of the returns addressed to the bureau were reported on their way to the post office this morning, according to Dean.

More than 1,200 persons flocked to the local Bureau of Internal Revenue branch yesterday before the office closed at 5 p. m. of 5,620 returns have been processed by the office from Jan. 1 up to the deadline.

A. M. Menninger, district director of the internal revenue, said the office is still processing returns for latecomers today.

There is a 5 per cent penalty for each 30-day period up to 25 per cent of the tax due for late filing," said Menninger. In addition, a 6 per cent interest charge also is assessed, he added.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts a low of from 25 to 28 degrees tonight and a high of from 42 to 46 Wednesday.

Cloudless skies showed the mercury from 24 degrees at 8 a. m. today to 42 at 2 p. m. in downtown Pontiac.

Monday's temperature here ranged from 19 to 34 degrees.

At Least Three Dead as Bombers Collide

OVERBROOK, Kan. (UP)—Two B-47 jet bombers from Wichita Air Force Base collided aloft today over eastern Kansas, sending one crashing to earth while the other reached its home field with a damaged tail section.

Three bodies were recovered at the crash scene, the farm of Ira Faust, three miles east and two north of this small town.

Part of the plane's landing gear and fuselage landed in a corn field about 100 yards east of the Faust farm home.

Army-Committee Row

McCarthy Says He'll Fight to Handle Probe Himself

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he would fight any moves within his own probe subcommittee to step aside for some other group to investigate the row he and his aides have been having with Army officials.

He called the subcommittee, which is divided on this issue, into closed session to set ground rules for the showdown.

McCarthy accuses Secretary of the Army Stevens and John G. Adams, the Army's general counsel, of using "blackmail" tactics to block his investigations of alleged Reds in uniform.

Army officials accused McCarthy and Roy Cohn, the subcommittee's chief counsel, of exerting improper pressure to win special favors for a drafted pilot, wealthy Pvt. G. David Schine, a former member of his staff.

Worried Senate Republican leaders called a closed-door huddle of their own to consider their course in the blazing fight which pits Republican against Republican in this campaign year.

McCarthy has agreed to step aside temporarily and let another senator preside as chairman of the subcommittee in the inquiries, but declared firmly he would fight for the right to sit in the hearings and participate in the questioning of witnesses the same as any other member.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), the man McCarthy has picked to preside at the inquiry, started a last-ditch effort to induce McCarthy to let some other committee take over. Mundt is a member of the subcommittee, second senior Republican to McCarthy.

"I still think the country would be best satisfied by having a neutral committee handle it," he said.

But failing in that—and he clearly expected to fail—he said he will (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Scientific Pistol Eyed for Use in Medicine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Scientists have created a water pistol capable of shooting a tiny stream of liquid with such speed that it can penetrate four inches of flesh.

The University of California at Los Angeles disclosed yesterday that the device may someday be used to shoot medicine into internal organs and tumors.

Liquid is propelled from a steel chamber through a .005-inch nozzle by an explosive which is detonated by a small heating element.

State Hospital Funds Proposed

Senate Program Would Earmark $474,000 for Remodeling, Expansion

Nearly a half million dollars for remodeling and expanding facilities at Pontiac State Hospital were included in a $20 million construction program for state institutions unveiled today in Lansing.

The tentative figures for next year's program were revealed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Although the total sum is less than that sought by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, it would be $4 million more than allowed this year.

Of the total amount, $474,000 would be appropriated for Pontiac State Hospital.

Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, hospital medical superintendent, said $80,000 would be earmarked for completing the changeover of the old administration building to a 108-bed patient ward. Alterations have been under way for more than six months.

Another $384,000 would be used to replace the outdated laundry building and $10,000 would be earmarked for planning a service building to house the maintenance and occupational therapy departments. The service structure also would serve as a commissary.

Dr. LaCore said $48,000 was originally asked for the planning, but this was cut in committee.

Next year's tentative program also includes a $1,304,000 grant to Lapeer State Home.

Hike in Pay Given Pontiac Teachers

Starting Salary Placed at $3,700 for B.A. Status

School System to Be in Red $650,000 by 1955; Board Cuts Requests

The Pontiac Board of Education raised the pay of some 800 teachers, principals and other employees Monday night, but some raises weren't as high as employees asked.

The action boosted Pontiac's starting salary for a new teacher with a bachelor's degree to $3,700—the same as Royal Oak, Grosse Pointe and other nearby schools.

The board, meeting in school offices at 40 Patterson St., approved about $257,500 worth of pay hikes. This raised next year's tentative school budget to $4,844,061.21, approximately $400,000 over this year's.

School officials say the raises, plus two deficits of $210,000—one this year and one next year—will put the school system about $450,000 in the red by June 30, 1955. The board has not yet adopted the new budget, holding it open until it decides on pay hikes for a few key staff people.

At Monday's meeting, the school board:

1. Boosted all teachers' salaries by $300 and added an extra $100 (a total of $400) to salaries for the first three years. Teachers had asked for a flat $400 increase.

2. Gave non-teaching employees—bus drivers, maintenance men, and others—a $25 a month raise, or $300 a year. The employees had asked for $33 a month.

3. Gave school principals the teachers' $300 raise, plus an extra $100 to widen the margin between principals' and teachers' salaries. The principals had asked for an extra $300 over the teachers' raise.

4. Gave Vernon L. Schiller, school system treasurer; Cloyd I. Houts, maintenance foreman, and A. S. Levely, transportation and purchasing supervisor, raises of $650 a year each.

Board president Glenn H. Griffin said some teachers' representatives had objected to the $400-$300 split on teachers' raises.

"They think long-standing employees should get the extra $100, rather than new ones," he said.

Chavez Ouster Voted by Group

Showdown in Senate Expected Next Week on New Mexico Seat

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rules Committee today approved 5 to 4 an elections subcommittee report recommending the oustering of Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM).

The action cleared the way for a Senate showdown on the question of whether Chavez shall be seated permanently or his seat declared vacant. The issue is expected to be decided on the Senate floor early next week.

The 5-4 vote was along strict party lines, with five GOP senators outvoting the rules group's four Democrats.

The elections subcommittee has conducted a 14-month investigation of alleged irregularities in the 1952 New Mexico senatorial race in which Chavez defeated Republican Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Frank A. Barrett (R-Wyo.), recommended in a report adopted on a 2 to 1 party line vote last week that the election be declared "no contest" and that Chavez seat be declared vacant.

Atom Smashing Giant

UNVEILING AT BERKELEY—The success of the Bevatron, new-est in atom smashing giants unveiled yesterday at the University of California, Berkeley, is reflected in the faces of the group largely responsible for its construction. Left to right (foreground) are Dr. Edwin M. McMillan and Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence. Drs. Edward Lofgren and William Brobeck are standing.

U. of California Christens Mammoth Atom Smasher

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The greatest thing yet in atom smashers—a mammoth machine which will lead scientists onward into the exciting mysteries of the atomic nucleus—was unveiled today at the University of California. With this electronic giant scientists may turn up some more surprise discoveries such as those which led to the atom bomb. A vast new field for deriving energy from matter is among the possibilities.

Although scientists had to learn something about the nucleus to make the A-bomb, they still don't know much about it. To find out more they must bust the atom more thoroughly than ever before.

The new machine, called the bevatron, is designed to do that. The bevatron, a part of famed Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence's radiation laboratory, is a racetrack-shaped affair of steel and copper 135 feet in diameter and 14 feet high—the largest nuclear research instrument in existence.

It weighs 10,000 tons, about the weight of an ordinary-sized U. S. cruiser. It cost $1½ million dollars and was financed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Six years were required to design and build the machine. The actual construction required four years.

A month ago the machine was cautiously started for the first time. It whipped up a thin beam of atomic projectiles to a feeble 20 million volts. Gradually it was accelerated until on March 12 it produced atom bullets of five billion volts in energy.

Search for Black Panther on Loose in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A 140-pound black panther was feared loose in a residential area near downtown Los Angeles today, and police said children were thoughtlessly risking their lives to get a look at the big cat.

Some 150 policemen, armed with rifles and shotguns, searched alleys, yards and streets for the black cat. At least six officers reported seeing the panther since it was first spotted in an alley after 9 p. m. Monday night.

Other officers, however, expressed doubt the panther could have been at large in the city three days without being seen. They said the other policemen may have mistaken another large animal for the panther in the darkness.

The first report came about five hours after Wayne Roberts, a car-wash owner, reported the panther had escaped from its cage Friday.

Like's Opposition Tightens Lines for House Battle

Dems and GOP Both Scrambling to Capture Enough Backers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's head-on opposition to a Democratic tax cut plan sent Republican and Democratic House leaders scrambling today for the few votes that may decide the issue.

The President carried his opposition to the country last night in a radio and television address in which he denounced the Democratic proposal to boost individual income tax exemption as unsound and politically inspired.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said he is "quite sure the President's address will have the effect of rallying many Republicans and Democrats to his stand."

But Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.) the Democratic House leader, indicated by his comment that his party plans to press the tax cut campaign in the House. He said the Eisenhower tax program gives "favored treatment to a few taxpayers but not to the many."

Rayburn was picked to state the Democrats' case in a radio and TV broadcast tonight on the eve of the House battle opening tomorrow. Aiding him will be Sen. George of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, and Rep. Cooper of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee.

House Democrats are pushing a proposal to boost individual tax exemptions to $700 from the present $600.

George has proposed an increase to $800 this year and $1,000 in 1955.

Eisenhower asserted last night that this would lead to "bigger and bigger deficits . . . further inflation."

An $100 increase in the personal tax exemption would save taxpayers about $2,400,000,000 and add that much to the budget deficit that the administration is struggling to close.

Dems, GOP Vying for Tax Cut Votes

ging to keep down GOP leaders say.

Under the Democratic plan, more than four million persons with low income or heading large families would be relieved of all income tax payment. The per capita saving for most families in the middle income brackets or below would come to about $20. It would be more in higher brackets.

Eisenhower urged Congress now to go no farther in tax reduction than the huge GOP-sponsored bill to overhaul most of the nation's existing tax laws. He said this bill, liberalizing many deductions, would benefit millions of individuals and encourage "the growth and expansion of industry, the creation of jobs." It would cost the Treasury nearly $1,400,000,000 a year.

It is to this bill that House Democrats hope to tack the boost in personal exemptions.

Party lines looked tightly drawn as the test drew near. Republicans have only a four-vote edge over the Democrats in the House.

Leaders of both parties privately expressed uncertainty over the outcome of the key vote Thursday. Some Democrats conceded they may lose as many as 10 or 15 members to the other side.

Earlier, they had estimated all but five or six Democrats would stay in line. Some Republicans, on the other hand, said 10 or 12 of their group appeared ready to cross over. Another eight or so were regarded as doubtful.

In an 11th-hour effort to solidify their ranks, Speaker Martin and other GOP leaders called a conference of all Republican House members after the House adjourns today.

In his talk last night, Eisenhower did not mention another tax bill pending in Congress. This would cut about 25 excise taxes by 912 million dollars a year—a reduction the President also opposes.

At the outset, Eisenhower said his administration "has asked the Congress to approve a great program to build a stronger America for all our people, including improved health, a better farm program, improved labor laws and wider overseas markets."

"Most of these things cost money," he told his nationwide audience. "Without adequate revenue, most of them would be abandoned or curtailed. That is why our tax proposal is the cornerstone of our whole effort."

New Atom Smasher Ready in California

Bon volts, made by the cosmotron in the AEC laboratory at Brookhaven, N. Y.

When scientists were smashing atoms in the days preceding the atomic energy era the only known nuclear particles were protons, neutrons and electrons. Out of that limited picture of matter eventually came the discovery of uranium fission and the bomb.

As the atom-smashing machines in Berkeley and elsewhere increased their power the atom was smashed more devastatingly, until now there are some two dozen known nuclear particles.

And the end is not yet. Many of these particles have a lifetime of only a few millionths of a second, then they change into something else. Or one of them changes into two or more others. There is no certainty as to what the really unchangeable fundamental specks are that constitute matter.

The bevatron may settle some of this uncertainty. For the next three weeks or so the bevatron will be given its "shakedown" tests, then will go to work on experiments.

Its main job will be to produce cosmic rays where they can be studied under laboratory conditions.

Detroiters Admit Local Breakins

Pontiac Detectives Find Shoeprint Cast Matches Shoe of Accused

Two men charged with armed robbery admitted Monday in Detroit to breakins at the Wisner and Eastern Junior High Schools under questioning by Pontiac Police.

Detectives John DePauw and John Wilson said a foot print cast taken at Eastern after last week's breakin matched a shoe worn by one of the men, James C. Anglin, 25, of 60 Lawrence St., Detroit.

Anglin and David G. Rohde, 21, of the same address, were arrested Saturday when 11 officers surrounded their apartment building. Police said the pair admitted 10 other breakins which netted $4,760.

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said that 23 other breakins occurring in Pontiac since March 6 remain unsolved. Anglin and Rohde face further questioning today before their arraignment in Detroit Recorder's Court.

The Army has accused both Cohn and Francis P. Carr, the subcommittee's staff chief through whom McCarthy handles personnel matters, of improper tactics. An Army report said Cohn used threats.

Dems. GOP Vying for Tax Cut Votes

going to keep down GOP leaders say.

Under the Democratic plan, more than four million persons with low income or heading large families would be relieved of all income tax payment. The per capita saving for most families in the middle income brackets or below would come to about $20. It would be more in higher brackets.

Eisenhower urged Congress now to go no farther in tax reduction than the huge GOP-sponsored bill to overhaul most of the nation's existing tax laws. He said this bill, liberalizing many deductions, would benefit millions of individuals and encourage "the growth and expansion of industry, the creation of jobs." It would cost the Treasury nearly $1,400,000,000 a year.

It is to this bill that House Democrats hope to tack the boost in personal exemptions.

Party lines looked tightly drawn as the test drew near. Republicans have only a four-vote edge over the Democrats in the House.

Leaders of both parties privately expressed uncertainty over the outcome of the key vote Thursday. Some Democrats conceded they may lose as many as 10 or 15 members to the other side.

Earlier, they had estimated all but five or six Democrats would stay in line. Some Republicans, on the other hand, said 10 or 12 of their group appeared ready to cross over. Another eight or so were regarded as doubtful.

In an 11th-hour effort to solidify their ranks, Speaker Martin and other GOP leaders called a conference of all Republican House members after the House adjourns today.

In his talk last night, Eisenhower did not mention another tax bill pending in Congress. This would cut about 25 excise taxes by $12 million dollars a year—a reduction the President also opposes.

At the outset, Eisenhower said his administration "has asked the Congress to approve a great program to build a stronger America for all our people, including improved health, a better farm program, improved labor laws and wider overseas markets.

"Most of these things cost money," he told his nationwide audience. "Without adequate revenue, most of them would be abandoned or curtailed. That is why our tax proposal is the cornerstone of our whole effort."

New Atom Smasher Ready in California

lion volts, made by the cosmotron in the AEC laboratory at Brookhaven, N. Y.

When scientists were smashing atoms in the days preceding the atomic energy era the only known nuclear particles were protons, neutrons and electrons. Out of that limited picture of matter eventually came the discovery of uranium fission and the bomb.

As the atom-smashing machines in Berkeley and elsewhere increased their power the atom was smashed more devastatingly, until now there are some two dozen known nuclear particles.

And the end is not yet. Many of these particles have a lifetime of only a few millionths of a second, then they change into something else. Or one of them changes into two or more others. There is no certainty as to what the really unchangeable fundamental specks are that constitute matter.

The bevatron may settle some of this uncertainty.

For the next three weeks or so the bevatron will be given its "shakedown" tests, then will go to work on experiments.

Its main job will be to produce cosmic rays where they can be studied under laboratory conditions.

4-Year-Old Pontiac Girl Hit by Car, Hospitalized

A 4-year-old Pontiac girl is in good condition with head injuries at Pontiac General Hospital today after being struck by a car yesterday on Union court near her home, according to Pontiac Police.

The driver, Russell E. Attwater, 17, of 1660 Inverness Ave., Sylvan Lake, said Beverly Mathews of 117 E. Pike St. ran into the side of his car. Police ticketed Attwater for having defective brakes.

To Charge Youth in Breakin Attempt

BIRMINGHAM—A warrant will be sought today for John L. Hoening, 19, of 1103 Boston Ave., Pontiac, charging him with attempted breaking and entering, police said today.

Hoening was apprehended early Monday morning while allegedly attempting to enter the home of John M. Fisher, 1934 Derby Rd.

Condition Still Critical

Noah A. Terry, 27, of 148 W. Pike St., is still in critical condition today at Grace Hospital in Detroit from head injuries and a skull fracture suffered Saturday night when his auto ran into a pile of logs and stones at Cooley Lake and Elizabeth Lake Rds. Doctors today said his condition is slightly improved after undergoing surgery Sunday.

Although the average American spent about 27 per cent of his income on food in 1953, he would have spent only about 18 per cent if he bought the same types and amounts of items he bought in 1939.

Text of President's Address on Taxation

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The following is the partial text of President Eisenhower's address to the nation on taxes last night:

I would like to talk with you tonight about something that concerns each of us personally and directly—our taxes—and about the new tax program that the Congress will debate this week.

We recognize, of course, that through taxes our government gets the money to carry on its necessary functions. The most costly is defense.

Only at our peril may we pursue a penny-wise, pound-foolish policy in regard to the nation's security. In the past year, we have been able to make real savings in defense costs.

But despite these savings, 70 cents out of each dollar spent by your government still go for defense purposes.

The remaining 30 cents go for many things: to meet our obligations to veterans—to carry on important activities overseas—to pay the interest on the gigantic public debt—and to do within our country what Abraham Lincoln described as "those things which the individual cannot do at all or so well for himself."

While we are insisting upon good management and thrift in government, we have, at the same time, asked the Congress to approve a great program to build a stronger America for our people.

Lists Major Goals to Aid Citizens

We want to improve and expand our social security program. We want a broader and stronger system of unemployment insurance.

We want more and better homes for our people.

We want to do away with slums in our cities.

We want to foster a much improved health program.

We want a better and a lasting farm program, with better reclamation and conservation.

We want an improved Taft-Hartley Act to protect workers and employers.

We want wider markets overseas for our products.

We want—above all—maximum protection of freedom and a strong and growing economy—an economy free from inflation and depression.

Most of these things cost money. Without adequate revenue, most of them would be abandoned or curtailed. That is why our tax program is the cornerstone of our whole effort. It is a tax plan designed to be fair to all. I am sure you join me in the hope that the Congress, before it adjourns, will approve this entire program.

Along with this great plan for America, we want also to reduce your taxes so you can save or spend more of your own money, as you personally desire.

Save $7 Billion in Current Year

Now, to reduce taxes, we had to find some way of saving money, for despite many years of heavy taxation, our government has been running deeper and deeper into debt.

A year ago, this administration inherited a budget calling for a spending program that we have since reduced by 15 billion dollars. Of this total saving, 7 billion dollars is being made this year.

Now, 7 billion dollars is so much money—even in Washington—that it's hard to know what it really means. Let's see if we can get some idea of how much it is.

The money Americans paid in all of last year for household utilities and for fuel amounted to 7 billion dollars.

The money Americans pay each year for doctor, dentist, medical and hospital bills is 7 billion dollars.

Because of these savings, your tax cuts were possible.

On Jan. 1 this year your taxes were cut by 5 billion dollars. The tax revision program now in Congress will cut taxes by over 1½ billion dollars more. The total may be nearly 7 billion dollars.

Thus the government is turning back to you about all that we expect to save this year. Meanwhile, we are seeing to it that the government deficit, instead of growing, may continue to shrink.

Now, in the light of all this, let's look at the tax program now in Congress.

To start with, it is the first time in half a century that our tax laws have been completely overhauled. Millions of individual taxpayers—many of you listening—will benefit. Here are some examples.

Sees Added Relief in New Program

You will have larger deductions for your medical expenses. There will be special deductions for the cost of child care for those among you who are widows who work.

Fairer tax treatment for the widows of policemen and firemen and others who have fraternal or private pension plans.

Fairer tax consideration for those of you who are retired. Deductions up to $100 a week for those of you receiving sickness or accident benefits.

There are, in addition, important provisions to encourage the growth and expansion of industry, the creation of jobs, and the starting of new and small businesses.

One of these provisions is of particular interest to those among you who have made or want to make investments to help meet the expenses of a growing family or of old age. This year we propose to reduce by a moderate amount or percentage the existing double taxation on dividend incomes.

This will be important to all of us. Whether our savings are large or small, it will encourage Americans to invest in their country's future. And let us remember this: the average investment needed to buy the tools and facilities to give one of our people a job runs about $3,000 to $10,000. The more we can encourage savings and investments, the more prosperous will be 160 million American citizens.

Just as we need more spending by consumers, so we need buyers for items produced by heavy industry—for lathes and looms and giant generators.

The making of these things gives jobs to millions of our people. This carefully balanced tax program will encourage this kind of production. It will make new jobs, larger payrolls and improved products. It will give us lower price tags on many of the things we want and need.

Would Continue Corporation Tax

And there is another important part of this program. It concerns the income tax on corporations. Under the law, this tax would be reduced two weeks from today. I have asked Congress to keep this tax at 52 per cent and not to permit it to go down to 47 per cent at this time. The extension of this extra tax on corporations will provide enough money to pay the costs of the benefits this tax revision program will bring to individuals and business.

So, there you have, in broad outline, the new tax revision program. I most earnestly hope that the Congress will pass it.

But—this is an election year. Some think it is good politics to promise more and more government spending, and at the same time, more and more tax cuts for all. We know, from bitter experience, what such a policy would finally lead to.

It would make our dollars buy less. It would raise the price of rent, of clothing, and of groceries. It would pass on still larger debts to our children.

Some have suggested raising personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $800, and soon to $1,000, even though the federal budget is not in balance. You've seen this kind of deal before. It looks good on the surface but it looks a lot different when you dig into it.

The $1,000 exemption would excuse one taxpayer in every three from all federal income taxes. The share of that one-third would have to be paid by the other two-thirds.

I think this is wrong. I am for everybody paying his fair share. When the time comes to cut income taxes still more, let's cut them. But I do not believe that the way to do it is to excuse millions of Americans from paying any income tax at all.

The good American doesn't ask for favored position or treatment. Every real American is proud to carry his share of the burden. I simply don't believe for one second that anyone privileged to live in this country wants someone else to pay his own fair and just share of the cost of his government.

Opposes Higher Exemptions Now

Aside from that, let's just be practical. The loss of revenue involved in this proposal would be a serious blow to your government.

A $100 increase in the exemption would cost the government 2½ billion dollars. To increase the personal exemption to $1,000 would cost eight billion dollars.

In your interest I must and will oppose such an unsound tax proposal. I most earnestly hope that it will be rejected by the Congress. I hope you feel the same.

Every dollar spent by the government must be paid for either by taxes or by more borrowing with greater debt. To make large additional savings in the cost of government at this moment means seriously weakening our national defense. I do not know any friends of the United States who want that, under present world conditions.

The only other way to make more tax cuts now is to have bigger and bigger deficits and to borrow more and more money. Either we or our children will have to bear the burden of this debt. This is one kind of chicken that always comes home to roost. An unwise tax cutter, my fellow citizens, is no real friend of the taxpayer.

Now, this evening I mustn't overlook those among us who are professionally faint-hearted. They have been arguing lately that we are on the very brink of economic disaster. Viewing with gloom is only to be expected in the spring of an election year.

The truth is, we do not have a depression.

And what's more, as I have said time and time again, your government will continue to use its full powers to make sure that we don't have one.

Sees No Serious Economic Trouble

A month ago, I expressed to the Congress my belief that we would be able to go from wartime to peacetime conditions without serious economic trouble. Nothing has happened since to change my mind.

Some unemployment has developed in different parts of the country, but the nation as a whole continues to be prosperous. Unemployment has reached about the level it was in the spring of 1950. The broad program I have proposed to the Congress will strengthen our economy. When it is approved by Congress, it will both increase the number of jobs and

The broad program I have proposed to the Congress will strengthen our economy. When it is approved by Congress, it will both increase the number of jobs and make every man secure in that job that he has.

Of course, everyone wants tax reductions of the right kind, at the right time. That specifically includes this administration. This has been proved by the large tax cuts we have already made possible this year.

But economic conditions do not call for an emergency program that would justify larger federal deficits and further inflation through large additional tax reductions at this time.

My friends, a century and a half ago, George Washington gave us some good advice. He said we should keep a good national defense. He said we should not ungenerously impose upon our children the burden which we ourselves ought to bear.

I know you and I agree with him on these points.

We agree, too, on efficiency in government, and a forward-looking program for a stronger America—an America whose people know good health and prosperity—and who are secure, day and night, from fear at home or abroad. That is that aim of this tax program.

That goal, my fellow citizens, is a goal worthy of our people.

Announcing a NEW CONTACT LENS

RADICALLY DIFFERENT FROM ALL CONTACT LENSES

HORNSTEIN Corneal Contact Lens

We are pleased to announce that at long last, after many years of research, the new HORNSTEIN lens, invented and perfected by Hornstein of Budapest, Hungary is now being manufactured by us under an exclusive World License, in our own precision laboratories.

A European scientist, who spent years in painstaking research in laboratories in Hungary, England and Germany, has invented (patent pending) an amazing tiny new pupil lens, safer and better than glasses. He calls his invention the "No-Touch" lens because it is so constructed that no part of the lens can touch any part of the eye. Millions who could not wear the old type contact lenses because they rested on the central part of the eye, resulting in limited wearing time and annoying discomfort will now be able to wear contact lenses with comfort and satisfaction. They won't even know they are wearing them!

Clinical tests on numerous persons in all walks of life, over long periods of time, give convincing proof that they can wear all day long with complete comfort and that there is no feeling in the eye from them. They are absolutely invisible; fluidlike; guaranteed unbreakable; and no impressions are required.

SPLIT BARREL—Lapeer County Undersheriff Neil Gass holds the 16-gauge shotgun which 13-year-old Joseph Pilat fired once as he lay in the loft of a barn near Brown City when Gass stuck his head in the door. Deputies said dirt and snow in the barrel caused the weapon to explode when the shot was fired. Joe, left, a state ward who ran away from the Henry Kreiner home near Brown City, said he didn't aim at Gass, "just at the roof."

Fire Destroys $30,000 Home

Commerce Township Family of 5 Escapes Flames at 5:30 A.M.

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—Fire destroyed the home of Franklyn Huff, 3202 Adele Terrace, early today, resulting in an estimated $30,000 damage.

Three children and Huff's wife, Maxine, as well as a dog were rescued from the burning eight-room house after the family was awakened by a neighbor, Howard Coleman, who discovered the fire at 5:30 a.m.

Rescued were Francine, 12, Paula Nikkie, 6, and 18-month-old Vicki Ann.

The fire was believed to have been started from an electric blanket. Huff said Francine had been awakened earlier when the blanket became too warm and she had gone to another bedroom.

Aroused by Coleman, Huff said, "The smoke was so thick I could not see."

Huff said he had recently completed an addition to the ranch-type home and only half was covered by insurance. He is employed in the purchasing department of Pontiac Motor Division.

Commerce Township firemen fought the blaze for nearly three hours.

Stops 2 Bad Cases of Bleeding Piles
In just a Few Days

"I suffered for several years with bleeding piles," writes a M.L. Clemens contractor, "and tried about all kinds of pile ointments, suppositories, etc. with little or no relief. Then my druggist told me of the amazing results his customers had gotten with the new miracle drug called RECTORAL. So I tried a bottle and to my utter surprise the bleeding and accompanying soreness and irritation began to disappear in a few days and in a few days more all trouble was gone. Then my mother-in-law who had also suffered with bleeding for years tried a bottle and in less than a week all her trouble disappeared. It is now nearly two years since we took this wonderful medicine and neither one of us have had a bit of trouble since."

The same experience could be told by thousands of other former sufferers. And it is all so simple and easy. Throw away your messy, disagreeable-to-use ointments, suppositories, etc. Just take a tablespoonful of pleasant, harmless RECTORAL after meals and at bedtime. Usually in a few days bleeding with its soreness and irritation begins to disappear and in a few days more be entirely gone. If directions are followed, no other medicine is needed. Officials Weigh Juvenile's Fate

Seek Reason Why Boy Ran Away From His Home, Fired Shotgun

LAPEER—The boy with a flair for dramatics was in Flint Juvenile Home today, while authorities of two counties, the State and his guardians wondered what caused him to snatch up a shotgun and flee to a neighbor's barn early yesterday morning.

Joseph Pelat, 13, who lived with four brothers as State wards at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kreiner, 5380 Black Corners Rd., Brown City, triggered the 16-gauge shotgun when Lapeer County Undersheriff Neil Gass stuck his head through the barn door.

The youngster later said he only shot at the barn's sloping roof because his brother, Anthony, 17, who trailed him there, said he wouldn't shoot the gun.

Deputies, along with four State Troopers dispatched with tear gas when it was reported the boy wasn't coming out, talked with Joe for about 15 minutes before he came out. They didn't know the gun barrel split after the first shot.

Joe, a good looking, clean-cut youth, couldn't tell sheriff's officers and reporters why he took the gun and 18 shells at 2 a.m. and left what had been his home for nine years.

All he could say was he had been planning the move for "a month or so" so he could get out of the Kreiner home.

Was Mr. Kreiner cruel? Mrs. Kreiner?

"She was always finding fault and I'd get hit all the time." When was the last time she hit you? He was asked.

"About three or four weeks ago." Mrs. Kreiner, a motherly woman in her fifties, could only repeat again and again "I don't know. I just don't know why he'd do such a thing."

"I tried to do everything for the boys. . . . Maybe I was too strict. I don't know. . . . I tried to treat them as I did my own two boys." One of the Kreiner boys works and lives on a neighboring farm. The other is married.

She described Joe as a youngster with a vivid imagination—interested in reading and painting and writing poems and delivering the Gettysburg Address.

He gave the Lincoln speech at the Brown City School, where he is an eighth grader, last week.

Now St. Clair County authorities, who originally turned over the five brothers to the Kreiners when their parents split up, and Michigan juvenile officers must determine what to do with the boy.

Lapeer County "probably will not file any charges against the boy," Gass said.

Prayer in Business Hours Is No Advertising Scheme

By LEN LESOURD
Managing Editor, Guideposts Magazine

A special sale promised a strenuous day recently for the 1,000 employees of a department store in Lincoln, Nebraska. By 8:59 a. m., one minute after opening, a long line of eager customers had queued up outside.

Then a gong sounded throughout the building. Every activity stopped while the employees relaxed for a moment of silent prayer.

When customers streamed in several minutes later, they were greeted by smiling LEN LESOURD, managing editor of Guideposts Magazine. This moment of silent prayer has been a steady feature of one of America's largest department stores since 1917. Says the president, "I firmly believe in the efficacy of prayer. The Golden Rule has always been a fundamental yardstick by which we measure all policies in this business."

Commented one of the employees: "Perhaps everyone doesn't pray, but we offer up a brief petition for more patience, cheerfulness and strength. It creates an atmosphere wholly individual and unique."

While the personnel of the department store was observing this moment of silence, employees of the Dallas Morning News (600 miles south) were also just completing their regular morning devotional. With the hum of presses in the background, reporters, secretaries, company president and janitor joined together in prayer, singing hymns and reading Scripture.

At approximately the same hour, 800 miles northeast, employees of the Nashville Tennessee Post Office system were starting their day with a prayer service.

"Many employees who never prayed before in public have volunteered to take part," reports Postmaster Lewis Moore. "A moment of silent prayer was first observed on United Nations Day back in 1950; out of this grew the present daily services which have spread to all our substations."

The department store, newspaper and post office are just three of the thousands of businesses throughout the nation which include prayer devotional periods during the regular working day. They all follow St. Paul's injunction: "I will, therefore, that men pray everywhere, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting."

No two services are alike. They are held at different times, include all faiths and races, and are of an informal nature. Clergymen often participate, are always welcome, but their presence is not essential.

There seems to be one central keynote in these services — a realization that great as is man's capacity for industrial genius, it is not enough today — that a seeking for God's guidance and help is needed, whether it be for personal, plant, community or world matters.

In a tobacco company at Winston-Salem, N. C., 15 services are held each week in various company plants. An electrician, perhaps or a truck driver may be the leader; a machinist or a clerical worker might give an inspirational talk.

Friday is hymn day when company personnel and passers-by alike thrill to the sound of swelling, throbbing old spirituals.

The tobacco company was the first large industrial concern to hire a minister, Rev. Clifford Peace, as a pastor-counselor. Now over 40 other companies have followed suit.

Who takes the initiative in starting these prayer groups?

Often the suggestion comes spontaneously from workers. Some oil refinery workers at Houston, Texas, started a service. Puzzling over the meaning of a few Bible passages, they sought information from another plant worker, Harry Sampson, who doubled as a weekend minister.

Soon several hundred were meeting regularly each day during lunch hour for a discussion and devotional service.

The most unusual Bible class in Tulsa, Oklahoma, comprises some 100 men in oily, grimy, work clothes. Every Thursday at lunch hour these employees of a petroleum plant in West Tulsa meet in the carpentry shop for a session of shirt-sleeve religion.

Undisturbed by a background of roaring machines and the crinkling of paper being removed from sandwiches, a burly refinery worker reads some Scripture, four men in overalls sing a hymn, another offers prayer.

Many employers have, for years, been reluctant to let prayer and Bible meetings in their plants be publicized, lest it be considered an advertising scheme.

John Phillips, President of an implement company in Albany, Georgia, felt this way until recently about the devotional service held weekly at his plant.

"Because of the many benefits that have come to all of us from this service, and in the hope that other companies might be led to start a similar type of service, we now want others to know what we are doing," he said.

Regardless of the pressure of rush orders, the plant stops all activity every Thursday morning at 9:45. Their 15-minute service includes an inspirational message from local ministers of all denominations.

There is little indication that these prayer services have any direct effect on business profits or production. No one seems to have bothered to look for results.

Postmaster Moore at Nashville reports these results of their prayer services: "The morale of our office has been lifted to such a degree that the grievance committee rarely comes to my office now with a grievance. Some employees have admitted to me that prayer sessions helped them overcome their dislike for certain fellow workers."

FHA Out of Debt

Less attention than it deserved has been given the news that the Federal Housing Administration has wiped out its debt to the Treasury.

The final payment of $16,500,000 completed repayment of the $65,000,000 the agency borrowed since the depression and on which it had paid 2.25 per cent interest.

Original aim, helping to keep the Nation's housing industry operating at a high level, still is the goal of FHA. That the operations can be considered successful is attested by the facts.

Altogether FHA has insured 3,300,000 mortgages on homes and co-operative projects with a total of 640,000 dwelling units. On insurance premiums alone it has netted $92,000,000 and on mortgage interest, $20,400,000.

Since the early 1940s FHA has earned enough to cover its entire operating expenses in addition to debt and interest payments to the Treasury. Thus far in its operations the agency has written mortgages of over $30 billion. About $17.5 billion of this is now outstanding.

Liquidation of this debt has enabled the Eisenhower Administration to make plans for further aid to housing. These include liberalization of FHA insuring power to cover mortgages for as long as 40 years, as well as loans for slum clearance projects.

Now all earnings above operating expenses will be clear profit for the Government.

Japan Signs With West

Important international news was made in Tokyo when Foreign Minister KATSUO OKAZAKI and Ambassador JOHN M. ALLISON signed the new U. S.-Japanese military defense pact.

While the mutual defense agreement binds Japan to fight side by side with the West, our former enemies are not required to send troops overseas unless they wish.

For reasons dating back to Japan's postwar constitution which renounced militarism, negotiation of the agreement has taken a year. All of that time has been required for Prime Minister Yoshida to sell this program to his colleagues in the Diet.

While there still is Communist, Socialist and anti-American opposition to the pact, its formal ratification is expected within a month.

From our standpoint as well as that of the West, the outstanding feature of this agreement is that it definitely aligns Japan with freedom loving Nations.

Ike Holds Line on Wool

President EISENHOWER has a convincing reason for rejecting the four to two Tariff Commission recommendation for higher import duties on wool.

It was to keep the way open for a plan he advanced in his farm message on January 11 to start the domestic wool industry on the road back to better days.

Under that plan domestic wool would be allowed to find its price level in the home market. The Government would pay the producers the difference between that price and 90 per cent of parity. Money for such payments would come from tariff receipts on wool imports. A bill embodying these proposals already has been approved by the Senate Agricultural Committee.

Our wool industry is sick because domestic prices are far above world prices. The result is that about two-thirds of domestic consumption is being met by imported wool and the Government has on hand an enormous unsalable surplus.

The President's position is absolutely sound. His action has made it necessary for Congress to consider the plan to reinvigorate the country's wool industry by lowering prices to a point where they'd stimulate demand.

Solar Stove Perfected

Women in many countries, particularly those in which the climate is sunny and hot most of the year, no doubt have dreamed of the day when the sun would do their cooking for them.

The eve of that day has arrived. It came with the announcement that a practical solar stove has been devised and proved in tests. Dr. MARIA TELKES, renowned solar energy expert, believes her sun stove can be manufactured for less than $5.

Tested on the top of a New York building last October, it developed a temperature of 350 degrees, high enough to cook meat, bread or cake. Principle of the Telkes stove is simple. The sun's heat is absorbed by a chemical and concentrated in a well-insulated mirrored box.

Temperatures up to 450 degrees are believed possible in a hot country like India. While the stove is most useful in the day time, heat can be retained for an hour after sundown.

This device would be pretty much of a curiosity here. But it could be an inestimable boon in hot countries where fuel is scarce and sunshine abundant.

BIRD-WATCHING is recommended for the spring fever victim, but he is cautioned to watch only lazy birds.

I am treasurer of the Disabled American Veteran Post 101. If the veterans want to see where the money goes that was taken in from 1952 to 1954, they can come over to 60 West Chicago Street and I'll explain it to them. There are too many benefits to put in the paper for the space is limited.

Each year the money spent on welfare work exceeds income from the sale of poppies. The American Legion and the State of Michigan operate the Otter Lake Billet for underprivileged children near Vassar. Here they receive an education and all attention necessary for the making of an intelligent, ambitious American citizen.

The family of a non-veteran need never feel left out. The Chief Pontiac Post was able to donate money they had raised to help erect the new Boys' Club on Pike Street. The Boys Scouts have benefited from the general fund by the addition of a new mess hall at their camp at Tommy's Lake. Judge Moore's camp for underprivileged children has received financial aid from the post.

Your veterans' organizations are certainly not to keep alive the sour memories of wartime but to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism, to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy.

As for the hail-fellow-well-met type, there are characters in every organization, veteran or otherwise.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Character Is More Vital to Marriage Than Love

Alice shows far greater emotional maturity than her boy friend. He is a typical unstable youth who rates in his own high school level in his own emotional outlook. He's more interested in playing kid football than in bringing home a pay check for his family.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case K-350: Alice B., aged 18, is a very talented high school graduate.

"Dr. Crane, I have a serious problem," she confided in me, "for my steady boy friend insists that we get married."

"But he is only 19 and has no training. He works for his father on a farm. He says I don't need to worry about money, for his Dad will take care of us."

"However, I've worked hard all through high school to help my widowed mother make ends meet, and I don't like the idea of marrying when I can't see how to pay our bills."

"Last night when I refused him a date, he got drunk. I couldn't go out with him, for I had promised to help my mother make a dress for my younger sister."

Baering Down

You might say an isolationist is a fellow who has red, white and blue bristles in his toothbrush. And waves it only at himself.

An internationalist could be a man who boasted to me he has his clothes made in London. We took a look at his baggy ensemble and asked, "Where were you at the time?"

You are either one or the other. We don't want to be court stenographer when the two-headed boy chooses up sides.

There's no half-way house between these sides of the question. We are irrevocably tarred with the situation and waiting for the feathers.

There was a time when we were ambushed snugly between two oceans. Then along came the Wright Brothers and ate up distance like an ostrich swallowing a tape measure.

Wendell Willkie writes about One World, a scientific cracks the atom and it's kitty-call-the-cops.

What we need is a combination isolationist-internationalist who doesn't flip his wig every time the subject is mentioned. The map of the world has been reduced to a postage stamp. With mutilage on the back.

We are the most powerful nation in the world with the exception of coffee in Brazil.

The Monroe Doctrine committed us to flirtations through the knot-hole in the international spite fence. The Spanish-American War enlarged our boundaries like a fat boy in a pie-eating contest.

"Now my boy friend threatens me that he will become a drunken bum if I don't marry him. So what would you recommend?"

He's already a bum, in my books. For a person who hasn't enough character to stand on his own feet, without the use of his sweetheart as an emotional crutch, is immature.

So he certainly isn't ready for marriage. And he'd probably desert his new bride as soon as some other siren came along and winked at him.

For character is more important to happy marriage than love; You can soon fall ardently in love after the wedding ceremony.

As long as you admire each other and are considerate of each other's feelings, you psychologists can show you how to become violently in love in a few months.

So quit making a fetish out of love. That is a secondary element to consider when you marry. Far more important is the fact that you are of the same religion and practice it diligently.

Pick mates who have the same type of family background, educational outlook, hobbies, and moral principles.

Hidden Heroes of U. S.

FBI on Alert to Protect Brave Workers Such as Bereniece Baldwin in Detroit

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Every day in White Plains, N. Y., a squad car makes frequent special trips past the home of Herb Philbrick.

In Detroit it's the same routine past the home of Bereniece Baldwin. The outraged barking of a huge German police dog greets visitors to the home of Mary Markward in a Washington suburb.

When these persons call the FBI their names are recognized instantly. Any FBI office in the U. S. is alert to provide them help or protection without question.

They are former undercover workers for the FBI within the Communist Party. Others of this select group get the same treatment, even though for most of them their full usefulness to the Bureau ended years ago.

A survey of the group today, however, reveals physical danger is less of a threat than smear campaigns against them.

It also reveals for the first time many of their hair-raising, heart-breaking experiences which most of them insist overshadow any present difficulties. Many years of tense, dangerous living as CP members schooled them well for their current ordeals.

Bereniece Baldwin is a friendly, plump, matronly woman who recently testified against the six top Michigan Communists at their trial in Detroit.

In 1943 she managed a small restaurant patronized by pinks and left-wingers. When the FBI asked her to join the Party through these connections she readily agreed.

By 1948 she had a top position in a CP organization of auto workers and was custodian of its membership list and financial records. Then, one evening, two burly Party goons burst into her home unannounced while she was alone.

They demanded her records. Choked with fear, she could barely explain that they were in a file cabinet in her bedroom, at the same time realizing with horror that copies of her FBI reports were in the bureau next to it.

After a few minutes, while one grilled her about how she could afford a TV set, the other emerged from the bedroom clutching a handful of papers. He ordered her into the basement. She was convinced death was imminent.

Fear became puzzlement when the man tossed the papers into the furnace. His belligerence gone, he said, "Gotta be careful about old records, y'know."

In a few minutes the pair left. It was the most terrifying experience of her life.

None of the group ever was discovered by the Commies before revealing their work publicly, a tribute to the clever techniques worked out by the FBI for making contacts and reporting.

William Cummings, of Toledo, had infiltrated the Party through union connections.

As part of his training he was sent to a Commie school in Chicago, concentrating on such subjects as how to dodge FBI agents and kill spies found within the group to make the death look like suicide.

At the end of one lecture the instructor announced: "And tomorrow an expert on this subject, Comrade Cummings, will make a special report on how the vicious Fascist FBI persecutes the working class."

The next 24 hours were pure torture for him, believing this was their way of telling him that they knew he worked for the FBI.

"I could see myself floating face down in the Chicago River," he says, "and expected a knife or bullet in my back any minutes."

Next day he gave some excuse for not making the report. It turned out that the Party never had the slightest inkling of Bill's work for the FBI.

George Dietz is the Pittsburgh jewelry engraver who donated the room over his shop to the Party for its regular meetings.

What the Commies didn't know was that George's office beneath

AT DETROIT ARMY ORDANCE District where Mrs. Bereniece Baldwin, former undercover worker against Commies, now works, guards keep a special lookout for her safety.

GEORGE DIETZ: He piped the meetings into the FBI office. HERB PHILBRICK: Squad car makes frequent special trips.

they were loaded with devices that piped everything they discussed into the FBI office like Muzak pipes in music. George acted as doorman and knew everybody who entered.

He got his thrills when he oversive alumni association of former FBI operatives are reluctant to discuss the heartbreaks and sorrows which went along with the narrow escapes and tense excitement they all experienced. But they did suffer them.

Cummings' dad died heartbroken in the belief that his son was betraying his country. Others had their marriages wrecked. The work aggravated an attack of dread multiple sclerosis for one and impaired the health of others. They all saw friends turn away from them in distaste and felt the scorn of their families.

Growing public recognition of the tremendous job these persons did, despite serious left-wing retaliation against them, is slowly beginning to heal the wounds from their ordeals.

Tomorrow: Women as counter spies.

Deposed Russian Regains Favor With Party Heads

MOSCOW (U. S. —) Georgi F. Alexandrov has been named the Soviet Union's new minister of culture and a Ministry of Higher Education—dissolved after the death of Stalin—has been reorganized with Vyacheslav Petrovich Elyutin at its head, the government announced today.

Alexandrov, philosopher and wartime propaganda chief of the Communist party, succeeds P. K. Ponomarenko, who recently was named first secretary of the Communist party organization of Kazakhstan in Central Asia. Elyutin was little known to the public before his appointment to the Higher Education Ministry.

In the sweeping government reorganization following Stalin's death, the old Ministry of Higher Education was dissolved and its activities incorporated into the Ministry of Culture. Now it is once again established as an independent ministry.

Alexandrov comes to the fore again as virtual czar of the Soviet theater, art and music, following a period after World War II in which he was roundly criticized and shoved into oblivion.

He was fired as party propagandist because of a textbook on the history of philosophy he wrote in which he was accused of over-emphasizing the role of Western European philosophers.

Six-Month Flying Ban Starts for Godfrey Today

WASHINGTON (U. S. —) Arthur Godfrey loses his wings for six months today.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said the six-month suspension, on a charge of reckless flying, becomes effective in the absence of any appeal being filed before yesterday's deadline.

Godfrey, while denying the reckless flying charge, said he would accept the ruling against him. He was accused of buzzing the Teterboro, N. J., airport with his twin-engine DC3 Jan. 7.

Resume Debate on Colonialism

Latin American Nations Expected to Agree, but Not With U.S.

CARACAS (INS) — The political committee of the 10th Inter-American Conference is scheduled to resume discussion today on the issue of colonialism.

The delegates of the 18 Latin American nations were expected to be in substantial agreement among themselves—but not entirely with the United States—on what policy to adopt toward possession of new world territory by European countries.

Debate on the topic began last night after the committee voted, 19 to 6, with Guatemala abstaining, to adopt a Panamanian resolution against racial discrimination in the Western Hemisphere.

The resolution noted that discrimination created a favorable climate for communism. For this reason, Red-tinted Guatemala withheld approval. The Brazilian delegate said last night, at the beginning of the colonialism discussion, that he believed that it would not be long before non-American powers grant the right of self-determination and self-government to the people of their possessions.

The Argentine spokesman, with obvious reference to the British in the Falkland Islands off the Argentine coast, called for the conference to condemn the use of force by non-American nations to maintain their new world possessions.

Delays Keep Dan Dailey Off Film for Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U) — Meet the most postponed actor in Hollywood—Dan Dailey.

The lanky hooper hasn't acted in a picture since early last year, although he has been slated to reach the cameras time and again. Here's his sad tale:

"It all started last May when I was supposed to start 'There's No Business Like Show Business' with Ethel Merman. Walter Lang who was going to direct the picture, fell ill and it was postponed a month. His condition didn't improve, and the studio wanted him to direct the film. So it was postponed indefinitely.

"Then I was set to make an independent picture called 'Susan Slept Here.' I had a piece of the picture and everything. After several postponements, the whole deal was sold to Howard Hughes and shifted to RKO. More postponements.

"Meanwhile, Fox was getting ready to make 'Pink Tights.' They wanted to know when Hughes would be through with me. Well, Hughes hemmed and hawed as only he can. Finally Fox said I couldn't do 'Susan,' and Dick Powell was cast in it.

"One day I show up for work in 'Pink Tights,' which I was to make with Marilyn Monroe and Frank Sinatra. Frank had already been working a week. I appeared and waited for two hours. No Marilyn. I was told to go home."

After sitting around for weeks waiting for Marilyn to fill those pink tights, Dan was pulled out of the cast and assigned to the re-staged "Show Business." Now it looks as though he's really going to work. At least he's doing dance rehearsals. He's not counting on anything until the cameras are actually rolling.

He has no complaints about his plight. He has collected his weekly check of a few thousand dollars and done the things he likes best—riding his horses and skiing. "The only trouble is that both those exercises stretch out the calf muscles," he said. "Since I started the dance rehearsals, I've been pounding the muscles back down again. I limp around the house like an old codger."

Extortion Victim Calls FBI Who Traps, Arrests Man

LOS ANGELES (U) — An FBI agent, made up to look like makeup manufacturer Max Factor Jr., helped trap an unemployed man accused of trying to extort $30,000 from Factor under threat of blasting him and his family with a time bomb.

Wendell Martin Ringholz, 47, of Northridge, father of three children, was arrested yesterday as he picked up a dummy bundle of money in an orange grove in San Fernando Valley.

The arrest climaxed week-long negotiations by letter, telephone and a newspaper ad and marked the third time the package had been planted at spots designated by the would-be extortionist. The first two times he apparently had been frightened off.

Last Thursday night Factor, head of the cosmetics firm founded by his father, his wife Mildred

Hall, Mitchell Rated Even in Debate Over McCarthy

WASHINGTON (U) — The Republican and Democratic national chairmen, Leonard W. Hall and Stephen A. Mitchell, apparently can claim an audience-awarded draw in their verbal 10 rounds over Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The two party leaders debated last night before about 1,000 Georgetown University students, whose cheers and boos seemed pretty evenly divided. Mitchell, asserted the Republicans don't deserve the vote of young people because "they have failed to bring McCarthy under control."

Declaring that the GOP is conducting a "campaign of vilification that can destroy us all," he said:

"We must not put slander and calumny upon each other for if we do, we destroy the system under which we live."

Hall replied, in effect: "Look who's talking about us. 'You ought to go back and read some of former President Truman's speeches,' he shot at Mitchell, adding:

"I won't ask you to read the letters he wrote."

Hall and Mitchell, both Georgetown law graduates, made their set and rebuttal speeches and then took on questions from the floor of a packed auditorium.

Hall fielded one of the first questions which inquired "if Sen. Mc-Carthy is causing a definite split in your party."

"Absolutely not," replied the GOP chairman, who said recently that some of McCarthy's tactics were harming the party. There was laughter, applause and a few boos.

"There's only one leader, only one spokesman for the Republican party and he is the President of the United States," Hall added. Mitchell said the Democrats have been split at times in the past but he said the issue today is whether a Republican senator, supported by a group of other Republicans, is to dominate the executive department for the purpose of the next election and of advancing his own political future. Mitchell was asked to explain the "tremendous infiltration of Communists in the thirties and forties in the United States government."

"The charge is beyond any comparison with the fact," he said tartly. "There was not a tremendous infiltration." He added that the Republicans have been unable to prove their charges that the government was "overrun" with Communists. Hall stepped up to say he didn't know how many Communists had been in the government, but "one Alger Hiss and one Harry Dexter White were too many."

Radford Backs Pentagon Policy

Explains That Military New Look Doesn't Rely on A-Power Alone

WASHINGTON (INS) — Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, declared today that the military "new look" does not rely solely on "massive atomic retaliation" — or on one weapon, one service or "one kind of war."

In the most important military policy statement since Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made his massive retaliation speech, Radford set out to correct "certain misunderstandings" resulting from that declaration.

He said in a statement prepared for delivery before the Senate military appropriations subcommittee:

"I believe that this nation could be a prisoner of its own military posture if it had no capability, other than one to deliver a massive atomic attack."

In another statement to newsmen, Radford said the "new look" does provide for meeting "local wars." He said "it would be foolish not to prepare for local wars." But he stressed that local forces should be built up to handle such threats, with America the "back-up force."

And he asserted that the "new look" is more of a "reappraisal that had to be done no matter what administration was in power."

Radford was to give his formal statement and then brief the appropriations group in secret on the world military situation.

GOP Postpones Farm Wrangle

Sen. Knowland Delays Showdown Battle for Flexible Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican leaders postponed indefinitely today a showdown fight on the choice between supporting farm product prices at the present high levels or switching to the flexible system President Eisenhower advocates.

Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) told a reporter that he had put off to an uncertain date the calling up for debate of a wool production bill that was to trigger the fight on the key farm issue in this election year.

Both sides seemed willing to have the showdown postponed. Delay until May appeared likely.

Originally, Knowland had planned to bring up the wool measure, which is a part of President Eisenhower's farm program, either yesterday or today.

But he did not call it up yesterday and, as the Senate recessed, announced quietly that today the lawmakers would return to the Hawaii-Alaska statehood bill.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), senior Democrat on the Agriculture Committee, announced last week he would seek to attach to the wool bill on two-year extension of the present high-level price supports on basic commodities.

The President has urged congress to let a flexible 75 to 90 percent system of price props take effect next year. A bipartisan bloc of farm state senators is opposing his plan.

Ellender and Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Agriculture Committee said in separate interviews they thought it would be better to proceed with committee consideration of the over-all Eisenhower farm bill before taking up the wool measure.

Aiken, who supports the flexible system, said he thought the hearings of his committee on the general bill would continue until mid-April, and then it would take at least two weeks of closed-door sessions for the group to whip its ideas into shape.

Aiken said he did not know if the wool bill would be held up that long.

Philippines Revamps Strategy Against Rebels

MANILA (AP)—President Ramon Magsaysay conferred with his top military leaders last night on re-vamping the government's strategy in its campaign against the Communist-led Huk.

The move followed discouraging reports on the three-week drive against rebels in central Luzon island. Operations by 10,000 troops have killed 16 Huk, the army said.

The conference agreed to revert to guerrilla warfare, reshuffle army battalion commands and continue rewards to informers.

Photographers Win Fight to Snap U.S. Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has told U. S. marshals they must not interfere with news photographers or other persons trying to take pictures of prisoners on the street or in other public places outside federal courthouses.

Which Ones Will Win?

The French or Indochina? Bai Dai or Ho Chi Minh?

By PHIL NEWSON

United Press Foreign News Editor

In 1949, desperately trying to recapture an already-lost position, the French summoned the play-boy emperor Bao Dai back to Indochina to help rally his people against communism.

It was a strange arrangement and Bao Dai a strange bedfellow. During World War II, he had collaborated both with the Japanese and the Vichy French.

And he had shown more fondness for the dice table, racing cars and women than he had for the job of ruling.

It was not all his fault. Bao Dai assumed his "dragon throne" in 1932 at the age of 19.

He was well educated and he pleaded earnestly with the French for social and economic reforms and greater native political economy.

But French colonialism has retreated slowly before the Far East's growing political consciousness and the increasing strength of the peoples' demands to rule themselves.

The French encouraged Bao Dai to devote himself to sport and pleasure. It seemed like a good idea at the time.

But by March 8, 1949, the French had been fighting the Communist-led Ho Chi Minh rebels for two years, and it was a losing battle.

Ho by far was the most popular central figure in Indochina. French forces occupied the big centers such as Hanoi and Haiphong in the north and Saigon in the south. By day, they could occupy any place they chose. But by night they pulled back to their fortresses and the rebels took over.

Then they stole forth to terrorize villagers, seize two-fifths of the farmers' rice harvest as taxes and to rule the countryside almost everywhere.

So the French called back Bao Dai, made him chief of state of a Viet Nam which included the Annamite kingdom of Cochinchina (the same issue on which they had broken previously with Ho Chi Minh) and signed a pact which provided for increasing but limited independence.

Actually, the move was too late. But it also was a two-edged sword. For Bao Dai now, just as much as Ho Chi Minh, demands complete independence from French control, rejecting even membership in the French union.

For French colonialism now there can be nothing but defeat.

And for Bao Dai and Ho Chi Minh, eventually, one must be the loser and the other the winner.

Their paths of destiny have crossed before. In 1946, both were cooperating with the French to establish a new Viet Nam.

The significance of the fact that

Ho was a dyed-in-the-wool, Moscow-trained Communist was not fully appreciated then. In fact, he was regarded strictly as a Nationalist.

Bao Dai called him "older brother." And Ho called Bao Dai "younger brother."

Their positions are far apart now. Death or exile inevitably faces one or the other.

In Indochina, the same may be said of communism and the free world.

Pontiac Puts a New Low Ceiling on Fine Car Cost!

PRICE THE CAR THAT BRINGS LUXURY WITHIN EASY REACH OF ALL

Here it is—right before your eyes—the magnificent proof that you step straight into fine-car ownership when you get a long, low, luxurious Pontiac.

And that's just a beginning! You'll never find a better buy than this big, powerful beauty. It is the one fine car at a popular price—the only car combining such generous size, regal luxury and great performance at a cost near the lowest on any new car.

Take size. You'll have to go way up the price scale to match Pontiac's bigness—the key to its distinguished styling, spacious comfort and remarkable riding ease.

Take luxury. No car at any price employs finer fittings, fabrics and leathers—or combines them with such smart and colorful distinction.

Take performance. Even better, take a ride, and discover a new high in smoothness, quietness, responsiveness and handling ease. And remember, Pontiac miles are thrifty miles—thanks to low fuel consumption and unsurpassed reliability.

Then look at the price for final proof that Pontiac has lowered the ceiling on luxury to everybody's level. Do it soon—you're missing plenty every day you wait!

IMPRESSIVE FINE-CAR SIZE. You can take everything along when you travel in a Pontiac. It is actually bigger than cars costing much more, which means interior roominess, luggage space and riding comfort unapproached by any car in its low price range.

THRILLING FINE-CAR PERFORMANCE. Pontiac has the most thoroughly proved engine in any car. At low extra cost you can add to its alert, powerful response the extra handling ease of Power Brakes, Power Steering, and Dual-Range Hydra-Matic Drive.

Invisible Veil Powder Flatters Skin

What a beautiful spring this is going to be! Right now, at the very moment when every woman longs for some magic touch to give her skin the fresh beauty of a spring flower, one well-known company announces a new and wonderful discovery!

Called invisible veil powder, it is just that... a perfumed veil of powder so soft and unbelievably fine that it goes on invisibly, yet covers every shadow and pore... imparts a clear luminous look of flawless loveliness to every skin!

How can this new powder do so much for your complexion? The answer lies in a secret process which goes into the manufacture of invisible veil powder, a process which makes this the first absolutely new, and different face powder in years.

The process is a secret; but the results are there for you and everyone to see the very first time you use it. The first delightful difference you will notice is the way invisible veil powder never flies or mists as you use it... no more untidy specks of powder to spoil your dark clothes!

The second pure delight is the incredible look of softness it gives your complexion. No other powder in all the world has ever achieved this high degree of flattery.

And the new clear beauty it imparts is so delightfully natural... you never look "powdered" because the invisible veil becomes the very texture of your skin... a texture clearer, fresher, lovelier than it was just seconds ago!

First introduced by the company in the famous Napoleon pressed powder compact, invisible veil is now presented in loose powder. Fragrant with a perfume of rare delicacy, it leaves a lovely aura on your skin for hours.

Displays Symbol of Service Club

Zonta Given Plaque to Hang in Hotel

A plaque to hang in the lobby of Hotel Waldron was a recent gift of Lauretta Paul to Zonta Club. The plaque contains the Zonta symbol and a bronze plate tells the meeting date of the club.

The symbol of Zonta comes from a breakdown of an Indian word meaning trustworthy or honest, and the various symbols which make up the design represent the club's aims.

The first letter, "Z", stands for a flash of light, representing "alive," another symbol for Zonta. The second letter is the Indian symbol for "to band together" and the third, a symbol for "to carry together."

The fourth letter represents shelter, meaning the club is an indoor organization not an outdoor organization like Camp Fire Girls or Woodcraft League. The final symbol stands for honesty and trustworthiness.

Society Plans St. Patrick Fete

A square dance celebration of St. Patrick's Day is planned by the Altar Society of Our Lady of Refuge Church for Wednesday after evening devotion.

Jim Jackson of Royal Oak will call for square dancing and round dancing, and guests may play cards. All adults and teenagers are invited.

The square dance was planned at a recent meeting of the Altar Society in the school building. Regular monthly reports were made and Mrs. Sam Angotti presented a history of the Altar Society in 1933.

Pi Omicron Chapter Plans May Event

The members of Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron sorority met at the home of Mrs. George Reuter on Summit avenue Thursday evening to discuss plans for the May Day breakfast which will be held at Hotel Waldron May 2.

The chapter voted to purchase a tape-recorder for the speech department of the cerebral palsy class of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children. The recorder will be presented to the society in April.

Guests attending the meeting were Mrs. Bertha Ridley of Fort Wayne, Ind., Ethel Bassett of Birmingham, Jerry Arnold of Detroit and Mrs. Paul Hoskins.

Zonta Clubs were formed to answer a need for a classified club for business and professional women. The idea first sprang up in 1910 in Buffalo, N. Y., where a group of women met to consider forming an organization similar to men's classified service clubs such as Rotary and Kiwanis.

Nine years later the first group was organized with nearly a hundred women. In less than four months similar groups were organized in Detroit, Erie, Pa., and Binghamton, Elmira, Ithaca, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica, N. Y.

Zonta means trustworthy or honest, and the aim of Zonta members is "to contribute by study and action to the improvement of the legal, political, economic and professional status of women."

The club stimulates the desire of each member to be of service and strives to encourage high standards in business and the professions. The club also encourages member participation in the civic, social and commercial development of their city.

It strives for the advancement of understanding and goodwill through a world fellowship of executive women in business and professions, united in the Zonta ideal of service.

Members are women who serve in an executive capacity of a recognized business or who are occupied in a recognized profession. There is just one active member from each classification of business or profession, although there may be honorary members and past service members as well.

Lilly Dache Predicts More Hat—and More Hair Showing—This Spring

Chapeaux Accentuate Sleek Locks

Masses of Posies, Froth Decorate the New Bonnets

More hat, with more hair showing, is Lilly Dache's prediction for spring and summer fashion headlines. And don't think that's a contradictory prophecy: Her spring millinery collection says that fashion has found a way to link the spring hat with new wavy, shining, softly cropped hairdos in a balance of importance that adds up to double glamor.

The tinner the hat, the more noticeable in the new Dache collection. Provocative little shapes with curves, points and molded contours are cut to nestle into the coiffure with a made-for-each-other charm.

Dache introduces a new mid-sized hat called the Gai Wan (the Oriental name for the ceremonial tea bowl) that dips low around the head from a braced crown, yet stands away all around to reveal the sheen and soft waves of the modern hair-do.

Romantic tilted Watteau hats that point downward over the forehead and flip up at the crown of the head, with flowers or bow-knots tucked underneath move from the 18th century to bow in this collection.

Huge "transparencies" of horsehair, tulle or veiling make an aura around evening coiffures, usually spreading wide at the sides and dipping in an alluring shadow over the eyes.

Throughout the series, the hair is not only part of the picture, but the coiffure actually dictates the angle and sometimes even the shape of new hats, the designer points out.

Madras brushed up and backward inspired the new Dache demi-cornets, side-set masses of flowers, or twists of prettily tinted fabric that curve from the top of the head over one ear.

The Watteau hats and miniature platform toques, usually decorated with mixed flowers accented with tender bowknots of doll-sized feathers, are designed to sit forward and slightly raised over the brow with invisible clips tucked firmly under the ringlets or pretty-curving tabs that cling to the temples in a decorative way.

Huge cartwheels strewn with flowers and sometimes faced with colored velvet, Gai Wans covered with butterfly-printed chiffon and lacy woven straws as soft and supple as silk all point up the fairylike prettiness of the new Daches.

A froth of lovely trimming from tiny to giant flowers, velvet facing and grosgrain pipings make the trimmed hat once more a thing of highest fashion.

More trimmed and lush in every way than for many years, the hat will be a colorful dominant part of every smart spring and summer costume, Miss Dache believes.

"The era of the 'little nothing' on the head is over," she said. "The hat a woman wears this spring will be her badge of taste, imagination and self-expression."

Why Not Install Door Mirror?

Full length door mirrors are installed easily. Measure the door and order the size from your dealer.

When measuring ascertain the distance from edge to edge of the door itself. This over-all width determines which of the standard mirror sizes will cover the recessed door panel.

Install the mirror with the door in place, or remove door pins so that the door may be laid flat. Center the mirror so recessed panels are covered. Many manufacturers provide sturdy white frames for mirrors.

Beautifies Tables

Coffee tables, dining tables and counters can be covered at home with white vitrolite glass to give the appearance of the imported white marble which is now so popular.

PETUNIA!

I'm starting my weight-losing Diet tonight... So which should I ask for: The dark? Or the white?

The white meat, Petunia. Turkey white meat contains fewer calories than the dark.

From the new 1954 spring and summer collection of Lilly Dache comes a shocking pink twisted jersey hat trimmed with a blush pink silk rose (right).

collection also features the startling white nylon straw tip-tilted plateau brim hat which frames the face and features pretty pink silk roses at the side (left).

IF tell girl—

Tunics are a natural because of their height-cutting suits.

Miss T. G.—For lounging or beach wear the tunic with tapered pants will take away the leggy look. Full sleeves, bloused backs, wide sashes are additional tricks to cut height.

Pepperoni Meatballs Are Spicy

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
Meatballs with pepperoni is a highly spiced Italian recipe. Mrs. Anton De Florio of Commerce, who gave us the recipe, hopes it will not be too highly seasoned for those who try it.

When you work in a store 10 or 12 hours a day, you don't have much time or energy left over for social activities. Mrs. De Florio helps her husband in his business and is glad just to sit down after hours. She is an extremely pleasant person with whom to talk.

MEATBALLS WITH PEPPERONI
By Mrs. Anton De Florio

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
Garlic
Onions
1 can tomato paste
1/2 cup cracker crumbs
3 eggs
Salt and pepper
Fat for browning
1 large can tomatoes
Bay leaf
Pepperoni sausage (about 1/2 pound)
Mince onion and garlic very fine. Mix with ground meat, cracker crumbs, salt and pepper and eggs. Form into tiny balls and brown in the fat.

Add the tomato paste and cook over low heat for a few minutes; watch carefully as this may burn. Add pepperoni cut into sticks about 1 1/2 inches long.

Add tomatoes and bay leaf. Simmer at least three hours. Let cook away down, add more water to prevent sticking and cook down again. Serve over spaghetti. This will be enough for 1 pound of spaghetti.

Boy Decides to Toss Away Romance After Girl Refuses Engagement Ring

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Not too long ago a wonderful boy I'd been dating regularly proposed to me. I am only 18 and I didn't feel I was ready to accept a ring yet, so I refused.

"Shortly afterward I received a letter from him in which he said he couldn't see our going on like this since I refused his ring. I haven't heard from him since.

"I want to go with him again—I haven't been the same without him. Should I write to him? What should I do?"

Just offhand, he sounds like a spoiled boy who won't play if he can't have his own way.

Of course, you know him well. You're the one who knows what sort of buildup there was to his proposal. You know how much talking about marriage you two have been doing and whether his offer of a ring was a surprise or not.

You also know whether a ring would make sense. Is he in a position to get married within six months, for instance? Or would that ring be worn alone on your finger for long, dragging years?

And you know yourself well, too. You find yourself right now at completely loose ends without him. Of course, you're not the same. You'd grown to count on him. He meant a lot to you in friendship, dates, fun, companionship.

But your temporary loneliness is not to be confused with love. Nor is your desire to date him some more to be confused with a desire to settle down with him for life.

Neither of you is giving this thing a chance, in my opinion. He has bowed out before you've had time to think it over. You haven't come to grips with yourself to figure out whether you could decide to marry him. Being together again regularly is the best way to find out.

Couldn't you call him or write him a note and ask him to come over to talk with you? Then put it to him straight and see if you can't convince him that a ring is just a symbol—the decision to merge your futures is the main thing.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm very much in love with a girl, and even though she has another year in school, we had made plans to be married when she's through. Now we've broken up.

"She told me she loved me, but when she went skating she let other boys walk her home, even though we were going steady, and

Stepfather Feels Hurt Needlessly

Proper for Girl to Ask Uncle to Give Her Away

By EMILY POST

A sensitive stepfather writes me: "About a year ago I married a widow with two grown children. I get on very well with them and a happy relationship exists among us.

"Betty, the oldest daughter, is to be married soon and I understand that she plans on asking her uncle (her father's brother) to give her away. She has always been very fond of this uncle and, I must admit, he has been good to her.

"However, I can't help feeling hurt over this. I think that as her legal stepfather, I should be given this honor. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: You are quite wrong in feeling hurt over this. After all, you have known her only a short time, whereas her uncle has known her since she was born. Nobody could possibly think you are being slighted because she is choosing him.

Dear Mrs. Post: We will be having our senior prom soon and several of my classmates and I would like to know if it is proper to ask the girls to invite to the dance what kind of flowers they would like? Or do we just send them what we think they would like.

Also, do we take the flowers with us when calling for the girls or should they be sent beforehand?

Answer: (1) It is best to ask each girl what color dress she is wearing, then you can better choose flowers to go with it. But if you ask what kind she would like, she might ask for orchids or other flowers of a price that would be embarrassing to you.

(2) It is advisable to send them beforehand so that she can have time to pin them on the way she thinks they look best.

Dear Mrs. Post: My cousin is going to be married soon. His bride-to-be is from another city and I have not met her as yet.

I would like to know where to send the wedding present. Would it be proper to send it to the bride-to-be's address?

Answer: If you can't find out where she lives, you will, of course, have to address it to the bride in care of the bridegroom.

Use Home Lighting as Decorative Tool

Don't overlook the value of light as a decorative tool. A hidden fluorescent tube recessed behind a valance can make a drab window a bright spot.

Decorative areas which might be lost in a shadow can be singled out with bullet-like spotlights, and plants can be dramatized with concealed upward lighting.

Attitude, Not Age, Makes You Old

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Nothing pleases me more than having a reader write me about how she has licked some big problem. And no problem is bigger, nowadays, than the age factor in job hunting.

That's why I was so delighted to hear from Mrs. Y.

"Just for fun," she writes, "I would like to tell you about my experience. Perhaps my story may help some other woman."

"A few years ago I lost my only child. The bottom dropped out of my world, as you can well imagine.

"However, after some months of feeling sorry for myself, I forced myself to put an ad in the paper. I had been a secretary before marriage, so why not now?"

"My ad went in Friday, and Monday morning I had a position. I am now a secretary, learning bookkeeping, selling by phone, etc.

"I am a Gray Lady at the hospital Sunday afternoons, do all my own work, washing, ironing and cooking. In other words, I do not have one minute left to feel sorry for myself. Oh, I forgot to mention I'm 61 years old!"

All of this illustrates one big point: Age is the most relative thing there is.

Some women, at 39, are turned down at the personnel desk as being "too old." Others, like Mrs. Y., are hired at 61.

What the employer means when he says "too old" has little to do with chronological age, except in big firms where pension plans are a factor.

Mostly, he means that a woman is cynical, depressing, lacking enthusiasm, negative in her approach, and exhibits self-pity.

No matter what your age, if you can show the zest and determination that Mrs. Y. displayed, you can get a job.

And once you have the job, and are working at it, you will, as Mrs. Y. found, have all the energy in the world for other activities.

So, next time you feel sorry for yourself because you're getting "old," remember that you yourself have complete control over how "old" you get!

Twin Embossing Rollers Will Pattern Painted Wall

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

Walls can be too plain for the room even when the color they're painted is beautiful.

A restrained design sometimes does wonders for the room, and a simple matter to add the design to painted walls yourself.

A special washable paint which comes in eight translucent colors rolls right onto the wall on a special twin roller.

One roller picks up the paint from the paint tray in the usual way and distributes it evenly on the second roller, which carries the embossed design. The embossed roller is then applied to the wall.

Designs which are interchangeable on the roller are jackstraw, falling feather, birch bark, homespun and silken fleece, which is shown in the sketch used both horizontally and vertically.

They all give a somewhat textured effect to the wall and plenty of opportunity to work out the two-color combination which is just what the color scheme needs.

Women Today Are Slimmer, Less Junoesque

Cecil Beaton, a fashion expert, says, "Not only have women made themselves half the weight they were three or four decades ago, but they have also thought themselves into entirely different contours."

With whalebone corsets that ruthlessly laced the human figure into an hourglass shape, Victorian waists became as small as 16 inches. But though a small waistline was essential, the flesh above and below had to be full, of a Renoir-like voluptuousness.

The mature women were handsome, the younger ones demurely pretty; nowadays women are neither demurely pretty nor handsome.

Those fabulous professional beauties for whom people stood on their chairs in the park were Juno-like goddesses with great, carved features, chiseled nostrils and prognathous jaws—a type that today would be considered too monumental for the average man's taste.

Men have come to accept as a premise women who look more like young boys, with thin and flat hips, who have even adopted blue jeans, blouses, short skirts and haircuts. Women, likewise, have accepted a lankier male.

$300,000 Intact; Wife Lifts Suit

Spouse Returns Cash,
 Jewels; Blames Fear for Disappearance

NEW YORK (U)—Mrs. Dyll Prather Herman, 67, wants to withdraw the complaint against her new husband, whom she accused of running away with $303,100 in jewels and cash.

The couple was reunited yesterday through an attorney for the husband, Percy William Herman, 49. The lawyer said Herman had "good reasons" for disappearing March 5 after his marriage was but a day old.

Apparently Mrs. Herman, of Palm Beach, Fla., agreed. She chatted and laughed with Herman before and after his hearing stemming from the complaint she had filed in Richmond, Va. She told U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald she now wanted to withdraw the complaint.

McDonald ordered Herman held in $10,000 bail, however, until a check could be made with the U. S. attorney in Richmond.

Herman's attorney, Daniel Jacobson, gave this account of the husband's disappearance after the couple drove to Fredericksburg, Va., following their wedding in Palm Beach:

They reached Fredericksburg after a 20-hour drive during which Herman kept himself awake with stimulants. He left his wife at a motor court and went to find a garage to have the automatic window mechanism of their expensive convertible car repaired.

While seeking a garage, he felt he was being followed by people in another automobile. Fearing for the $243,000 in cash and $30,000 in jewels still in the car, he headed out of town.

He left the car in Paterson, N.J., took a train to New York and went to a hotel where he slept for 48 hours. On waking, he could not remember what had happened to his wife until he read in newspapers that she had filed a complaint against him.

He surrendered voluntarily after the lawyer brought him and his wife together. The money and jewels were intact in safe deposit boxes, the attorney said.

Man Awaiting Sentence for Admitted Burglary

Leavenworth admitted entering Vincent's Cafe at 3045 Orchard Lake Rd., on Feb. 19. He was returned to the Oakland County Jail pending sentence March 29.

Man Enters Guilty Plea to Embezzlement Charge

Doyle Mulkey, 21, of Macon, Miss., pleaded guilty Monday to embezzlement before Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland and will be sentenced March 22.

Mulkey is charged with taking $95 on Sept. 9, 1953 from his employers, Milton and Donald Mann, of Royal Oak. He was returned to Oakland County Jail.

Liberal Tariff Policy Planned

Cabinet Officers Ready to Assure Canada U.S.
 Will Extend Trade

WASHINGTON (U)—Four top cabinet officers were reported ready to assure Canada today the Eisenhower administration intends to pursue a "liberal" tariff and trade policy.

The American delegation, headed by Secretary of State Dulles, arrived to meet behind closed doors with a high-ranking Canadian government group led by Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson.

Pearson in a speech yesterday before the National Press Club said Canada and other North Atlantic Pact allies would insist on being consulted before the American government adopted any decision for "instant retaliation" against any foe which broke the uneasy cold war peace.

But, since today's conference was set up as strictly a financial and trade review, it appeared unlikely that Pearson would seek any assurances from Dulles at this session about America's new defense policy.

Dulles, backed up by Treasury Secretary Humphrey, Commerce Secretary Weeks and Agriculture Secretary Benson, was reported ready to give these pledges to the Canadians:

1. The Eisenhower administration will turn its back on any demands the Republican administration embrace high tariff policies.
 2. The President soon will ask Congress for specific authority to extend the reciprocal trade policy, conceived under former President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration, to permit further American negotiations with friendly governments for reduced tariff duties.
 3. Despite a mounting store of surplus agricultural products, the United States does not intend to "dump" this hoard on world markets but will dispose of it to help free nations, after prior consultation with its allies.

Two Pontiac General Hospital nurses recently attended a workshop on "The Role of the Head Nurse in Personnel Management" held by the Wayne University College of Nursing. They are Mrs. Anna L. Godwin, head nurse and Miss Helen E. Harper, supervisor of surgery.

Debate on Bingo Expected Today

Legalizing Bill Likely to Come Up for Senate Argument

LANSING (U)—The Senate failed to reach debate last night on a proposal to legalize bingo games, but indicated the subject might be reached this afternoon.

In the House, a bill to permit dump trucks up to five cubic yard capacity to operate without Michigan Public Service Commission approval was sent to an uncertain fate in the Roads and Bridges Committee.

Approved in the Senate, the measure has worked up strong opposition from county road commissions who fear the heavy trucks will ruin secondary roads.

The House killed another Senate bill which would have delayed the start of taking testimony in divorce cases for four months where children are involved.

Advanced for final votes without use of blood tests to determine paternity in court cases and to require that those sentenced to less than a year for any crime spend the time in county jail.

Sues Store for $3,000 After $45.19 Dun Note

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Rudolph Smith sued a clothing concern for $3,000. He claimed that after he paid a 12-cent down payment on a shirt he was notified by the store that he owed $45.19 balance, not $5.98 as he thought. Smith's petition said the additional $39.21 tacked onto his bill actually was owed by his sister. He said he suffered "humiliation, embarrassment, anxiety, worry of mind, and mental anguish"—$1,950 worth—when the clothing concern wrote to his employers complaining he had failed to pay a debt.

Bob Considine Says:

FBI Should Hunt for Reds, Not Congress Committees

NEW YORK (INS)—Myles J. Lane, the former U.S. Attorney who did much to convict the Rosenbergs and the American Communist Party's hierarchy, believes that the chief fault of Sen. McCarthy, is that McCarthy mistakes the function of his committee.

"It is the function of the FBI, not Congress, to dig up the Communist menace," Lane told us. "The function of Congressional committees is to elicit facts and suggest remedial action."

He feels there has been a general failure to explain to the American people the full nature of the Communist conspiracy.

"We set up foundations to combat cancer, heart disease and other disorders," Lane said. "I'd like to see one established that would devote itself to a conscientious study, and clear explanation, of Communism."

I asked Lane how he would define communism in a single sentence.

"It can't be done, really," he dissented. "But I'll try: Communism is the complete enslavement of the mind, soul and body to the state, the end result of which is intellectual cancer."

If a Communist-education foundation is ever set up, Lane feels that its ideal head would be J. Edgar Hoover. He rates Hoover as miles ahead of anyone else, including McCarthy and other Congressional Red-hunters, in the understanding of the task at hand.

It would sponsor "Chairs of Communism" in universities, provide courses and lectures in public and private schools from the earliest grades on, and operate in clubs, fraternities, farm groups, etc.

"One of Senator McCarthy's mistakes, I think, is that he permitted his Communist investigations to become a political football," Lane told me. "By doing so he accidentally did our enemies a tremendous service. They naturally want to divide the people of the United States, set one class on another."

"Communism hasn't anything to do with politics. If it comes to this country it will destroy Republican, Democrat and Socialist alike. It's a problem that an appallingly small number of Americans understand."

"For example, when I was U.S. Attorney six assistants and I read, studied and digested more than 400 books on communism. The Reds have outlined their conspiracy as clearly as Hitler did in Mein Kampf."

"The job is to condense this material and get it to the American people. Everybody's against communism without knowing exactly what they're against. "What has Senator McCarthy's sub-committee taught us about 'dialectical materialism' and 'provisionism' and 'opportunism' and 'democratic centralism'? Nothing. I say let's approach this problem as we have approached every other disease that beset us. Calmly, confident in the eventual outcome, and by mass education and cooperation. And, to repeat, let's put J. Edgar Hoover at the head of such a crusade."

Mother Opens Her Mouth, Gets Advice

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP)—Friends said last night Mrs. Rene Cote took her son Armand to a doctor's office for a tonsil checkup recently.

When Armand balked at letting the doctor look down his throat, his mother said, "Look, dear, it's easy," and opened her mouth wide.

The doctor took a look at Mrs. Cote's throat and said: "Hmmm, you'll have to have your tonsils out too."

Commission to Consider Installation of RR Warnings

FOR THE BIRDS—Baby King Penguin Anne—8-months-old this month—looks on with the amused tolerance the young have for their parents as mother, Mary (right) and father, George, give out with a penguin version of "Happy Birthday to You." Anne still has the brown, wooly coat of the baby penguin. She will discard this in a month or two for the "full dress" of adulthood. The trio calls the London Zoo its home.

IN THE GROOVE—Anne Lehmick (top), a pretty University of Minnesota coed, demonstrates pitching control which many major league hurlers wish they had. Recently the school decided on a carnival to raise funds for a student union building and Anne pitched in. When Chuck Mohrke, a fellow student, stuck his head through the target at the pie throwing concession, Anne wound up, aimed, and fired her high hard one. The result—Chuck got pie in the eye and the student fund a profit. From Chuck's look, the pie really made a hit.

Prison Dispute Boils in Senate

Republican Claims That Williams Administration Misspent Funds

LANSING (UP)—A deep-seated Capitol dispute over a new state prison boiled up on the Senate floor last night.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, charged Gov. Williams' administration with violating a 1953 appropriation act and perverting the intent of the Legislature.

He said the state had paid a Detroit architectural firm $31,784 to do a long-range survey of the state's prison needs, using money appropriated for a survey of a proposed 1,200-man medium security prison at Ionia.

"This is the most dastardly crime I have ever seen in Michigan," Porter said hotly in a Senate speech. "It's time somebody, including the State Administrative Board, found out who is responsible."

Porter did not name any names, but he told reporters the contract was let by the State Department of Administration, then under the direction of State Controller Robert F. Steadman. Steadman since has resigned.

Porter said the Administrative Board released funds for the survey last Oct. 6 and that the contract was let Nov. 4 to Leinwaber, Yamasaki and Hellmuth of Detroit, who, he said, "farmed out the job" to Chester J. Clark and Associates of Detroit.

Instead of a preliminary survey of the Ionia project, Porter said, the state got an elaborate plan for renovating the entire prison system at a cost of $25 million.

He said former State Corrections Commissioner Ernest C. Brooks of Holland was overridden by someone in the administration on the survey.

Porter's committee, releasing a construction appropriation bill for next year, recommended spending $100,000 for preliminary plans for the new prison, without specifying its location.

Senate leaders want a 1,200-man prison, while House leaders lean toward an 800-man institution. Various experts and consultants have disagreed over the size, type and location of the proposed prison. It is intended to relieve overcrowding in present prisons, which has led to rioting.

Pogo Stick Type Planes Take Off, Land Vertically

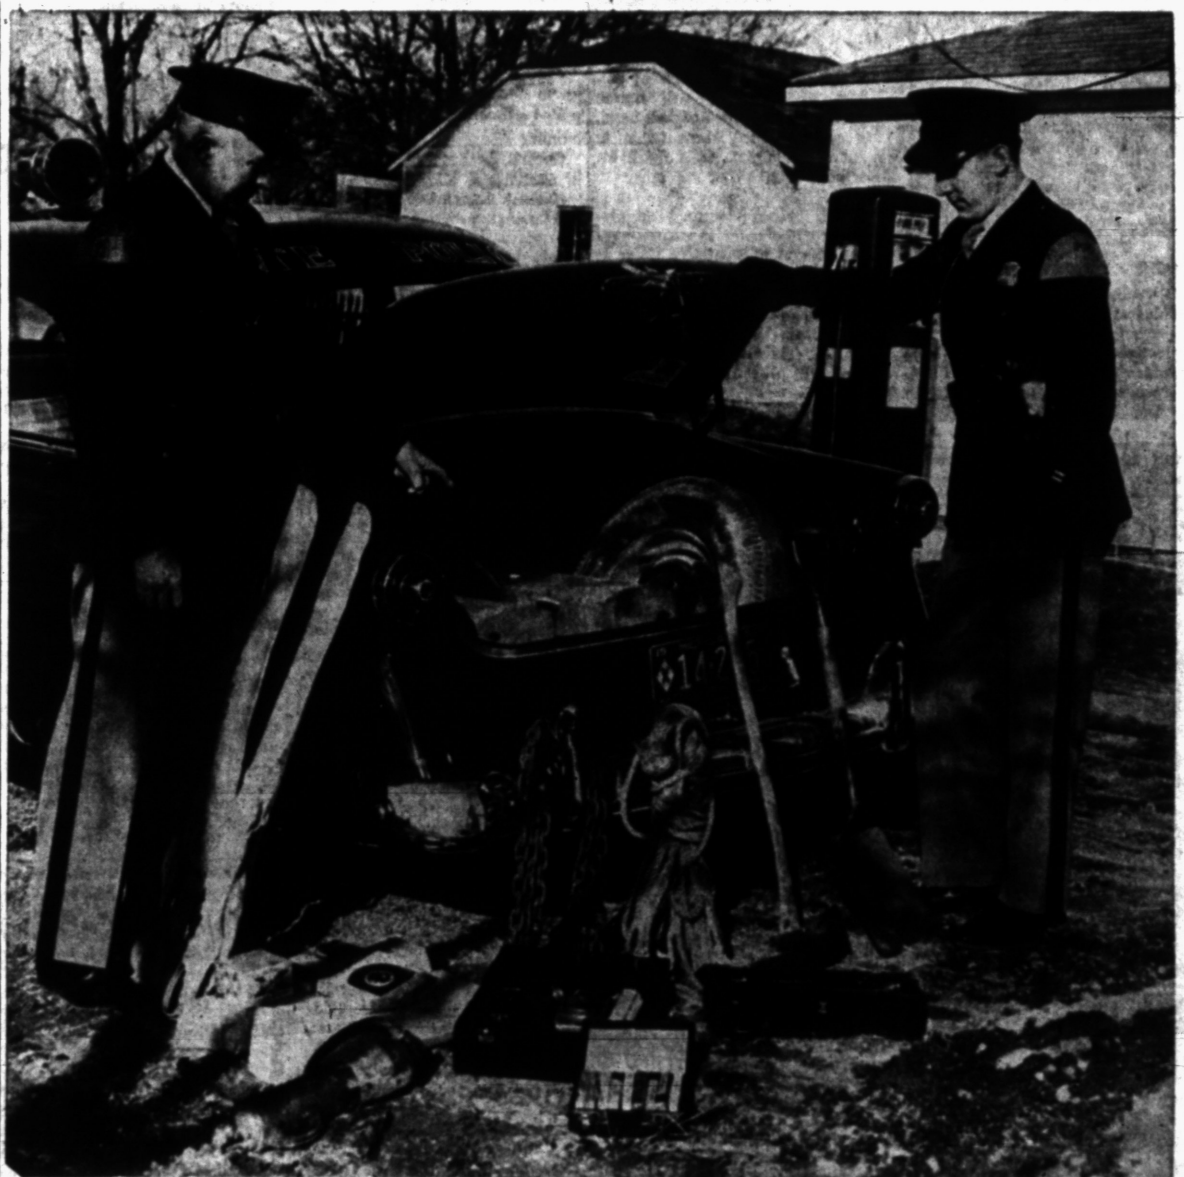

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The latest thing in Navy fighters is a plane that takes off vertically on its four-finned tail and "lands on a dime" by backing straight down.

The "Pogo Stick" type aircraft has been under secret manufacture for three years. Its existence was disclosed for the first time Monday.

Two such planes have been built. One, designed and assembled by the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., is known as the XFV1. The other, manufactured by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. in San Diego, Calif., is called the XFV11.

They are experimental models and will not be put into production until they pass extensive flight tests.

The new-type plane is described as being of far-reaching strategic importance. It was pointed out that

READY FOR ANYTHING—No matter what problem you may run into on the road or in your home, it is a good bet that the Michigan State Police are equipped to handle it. Standing near equipment termed "standard" is Sgt. Melvin Will (left), head of the Pontiac Post, who is pointing out to Trooper Paul Witt the radio transmitter and receiver carried in the patrol car trunk. Just seconds away with the use of this radio are Detroit and Lansing with equipment which includes articles not ordinarily needed in day-to-day patrolling.

State Police Stand Ready to Meet Every Emergency

Michigan State troopers, who carry everything in their cars from band aids to riot guns, are capable of immediate action in almost every emergency.

Special equipment needed that a trooper does not ordinarily carry in his car can be aiding you in less than an hour, be it floodlights or mobile field offices.

In their "moving fortress," according to Sgt. Melvin Will who heads the Pontiac Post of the Michigan State Police, a trooper may use in one night a fire extinguisher, a 100-foot steel tape (for measuring skid marks) or a shovel.

Other standard equipment carried includes: A high-powered rifle, a riot or sawed-off shotgun, flares, ax, tow chain, first aid kit, two paper blankets, extra ammunition for all weapons, and the key to police mobility—a two-way radio.

In addition, each individual trooper has his own flashlight, clipboard, handcuffs and a .38 caliber revolver. Extra pistol ammunition is carried in case any fugitive should put up a prolonged fight.

Some cars are also equipped with a camera or drag hooks for recovering drowned persons.

Less than an hour away by two-way radio, according to Sgt. Will, is Detroit Post with walkie-talkie radios, gas guns and grenades, sub-machine guns and floodlight equipment.

Should Oakland County be visited this year by a tornado such as hit Flint last year, a mobile field office from Lansing can be set up anywhere in the area in 1½ hours after it is requested. Lansing can also supply troopers here with portable radios if needed.

"We could set up a new post at any location with this new mobile office," explains Sgt. Will.

"The idea developed during the Flint tornado. Telephone outlets inside the movable office can be attached to outside lines within minutes of its arrival."

Whatever the situation, you may be sure that your Michigan State Police are ready for any emergency which they—or you—may be confronted with.

MEA May OK Conlin Idea

LANSING (UP)—The Michigan Education Association said today it may change its stand on the Conlin Plan to place state school aid payments on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The MEA opposed the plan earlier but A. J. Phillips, the association's executive secretary, said the bill was "improved and strengthened" by an amendment tacked on in the House. The bill passed the House 92 to 1 and is now in the Senate.

"As originally worded, schools might have lost between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 during 1955-56," Phillips said.

The MEA therefore could not support a proposed change in the sales tax diversion provision of the Constitution which might result in the loss of many millions of dollars in state aid to schools.

But he said the insertion of the words "all sums collected and payable thereunder shall be paid" insures that public schools would be paid the one-half cent of sales tax for the final quarter of the 1954-55 fiscal year if the Conlin Plan went in effect.

"The MEA will await action on the Conlin proposal before deciding its next course of action," Phillips said.

12 Crossings Due for Signals

Inspection by Officials, Increase in Accidents Indicate Need

Pontiac's City Commission tonight is expected to consider agreement with the Grand Trunk Western Railroad for installation of new warning signals at 12 street crossings in the city.

The agreement was drawn up after an inspection of the crossings by railroad officials, a representative of the Michigan Public Service Commission and city officials.

In January, commissioners requested the MPSC to check crossings and compel installation of traffic control devices where it deemed necessary.

The mounting number of accidents at crossings was given as the reason for the move.

In other action, commissioners are scheduled to discuss a recommendation for amending the city milk ordinance pertaining to the dating of milk sold in Pontiac to conform with the Detroit ordinance.

A contract with the A & A Asphalt Paving Co. is slated for approval authorizing the firm to construct the two-inch blacktop paving planned for city streets in 1954.

A communication is expected from the Oakland County CIO Council supporting the millage and hospital program to be voted on at the April 5 general election.

Resolutions are scheduled to receive special assessment rolls prepared by the city assessor for planned curb, gutter, drainage and related work on:

First from Joslyn to Barthell. Second from Joslyn to the east end of the street.

Third from Barthell to Puffer. Fourth from Joslyn to the east end of the street.

Willard from Center to Paddock.

An agreement is scheduled for consideration with the Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., granting an alley from the west side of lot 1 assessor's plat 37 to extend the present alley to the Miami road extension.

Reports scheduled from the city manager include:

A proposed amendment to the new city hall contract revising the air-conditioning system to meet ordinance requirements.

A request from Green Brothers to make an assessor's plat for all Linda Vista Subdivision except lot 181.

A request from the A. J. Phillips Co. to vacate E. Boulevard.

A resolution is expected to correct a special assessment for a sidewalk on Mill.

First reading is slated of an ordinance to amend the zoning ordinance to rezone to M-1 property located in the southwest quarter of section 18 and northwest quarter of section 19.

A resolution is scheduled to receive a special assessment roll prepared by the city assessor for a water main on Corwin from Kinney to the center of lot 37 assessor's plat 181.

Confirmation is expected of a special assessment roll for a water main on Crescent from Mount Clemens to Belvidere.

Friends' Cracks on Income Tax Shunned by Tax

NEW YORK (UP)—Jeremiah Tax spends every March 15 dodging people. He's tired of their corny jokes.

"I only called the Bureau of Internal Revenue once to ask for information," said Tax, 38, a magazine editor who lives in Merrick, Long Island, with his wife and three tax exemptions . . . or . . . children.

"Who are you, a wise guy?" the man in the tax collector's office asked when Tax told him who was calling. Now he turns his tax problems over to an accountant and tries to avoid people on March 15.

"Everybody thinks of the same corny puns," Tax, who says his name was handed down from ancestors in Czarist Russia, complained. "The worst one usually happens after I walk through a door. Some wise guy looks up and says, 'Well, the door opened, and in come Tax.'"

140-Pound Farmhand Drags Pair Out of Fire

OAKLAND, Md. (AP)—Roy Dillworth, 32, a 140-pound farmhand, was credited with saving the lives of an elderly couple when fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rell Friend about 18 miles north of here yesterday.

Fire Chief Emory Bolden said Dillworth led Mrs. Friend from the upstairs room where she had collapsed. Then he dragged her 200-pound husband, an invalid, to safety.

Japan Stirred by 23 Atomic Victims

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's foreign minister said today the United States may be asked to pay compensation to 23 Japanese fishermen caught in the deadly, wind-blown ashes of a secret American atomic bomb blast March 1 in the central Pacific.

The fishermen were burned and blistered by a two-hour shower of snow-white, radioactive ashes. Five are in hospitals.

Dr. Masao Tsuchi said one fisherman is in serious condition from burns resembling "a very bad sunburn." His skin turned dark brown where the ashes touched it.

The doctor said all the other fishermen suffered radiation burns and expressed fear the vital corpuscle-producing bone marrow may be affected.

The story was splashed in Japanese newspaper and government officials were questioned in Parliament.

Foreign Minister Katsumi Okumura told Parliament an investigation was under way to discover the exact location of the fishing boat. He said the United States may be asked to compensate the victims.

The boat returned to port Sunday and the captain told of seeing the blast and hearing a thunderous explosion while fishing off the Bikini-Eniwetok test area.

Crewmen said the ashes began settling on their boat about 1½ hours later and fell for two hours. They paid no attention to them until blisters began to develop.

The Maritime Safety Board Coast Guard said it had received no advance warning of the blast, otherwise it would have warned the 100 Japanese fishing boat near the test area.

An American Embassy spokesman said the embassy had urgently reported the case to Washington.

The owner of the fishing vessel said it was about 20 miles from the blast center at the time of the explosion.

Okazaki told the lower house Foreign Affairs Committee the United States had warned Japan in September 1952 that the danger zone extended 200 nautical miles east and west of Bikini and Eniwetok.

He also said the safety board had been told in October 1953 of the coming tests.

Wildcats Grab Top College Cage Spot

Nittany Lions Provide Poll's Biggest Change

Penn Staters Vault to Top 10 After Surprise Wins Over LSU, ND

By REP WATSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Kentucky's undefeated basketball team, which passed up tournament play, was voted the best college team in the nation today by sports writers and sportscasters participating in the next-to-last Associated Press weekly poll.

The Wildcats, who closed their season by beating Louisiana State for the Southeastern Conference title were given the No. 1 spot on seven of the 70 ballots. Kentucky finished with a 25-0 record, the first perfect mark since Army's in 1944.

Indiana held second place despite an upset loss to Notre Dame, with 420 points to Kentucky's 574 on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second, and so forth. Following in order were Holy Cross, Notre Dame, Duquesne, La Salle, George Washington, Western Kentucky, Penn State and Oklahoma A&M.

Below the top two, however, the standings received a thorough juggling as the voters considered the results of the National Collegiate Championships and the National Invitation Tournament.

Holy Cross, which won the NIT by upsetting first Western Kentucky and then Duquesne, vaulted six places into the No. 3 position. La Salle, the current choice to grab the NCAA championship, also climbed six places, to the No. 6 spot.

But the big surprise in the poll was Penn State, which had not gotten as many as 10 points all season. The Nittany Lions jumped right into the top 10, taking over ninth place after startling victories over Louisiana State and Notre Dame.

Southern California and Bradley, the other NCAA semifinalists with La Salle and Penn State, landed just outside the top 10. Both teams previously had been lost among the also-rans.

Compensating for these leaps and bounds, Oklahoma A&M plunged five places to 10th after its Bradley loss; Duquesne dropped two places to No. 5; Western Kentucky slipped four to No. 8; and Louisiana State and North Carolina State fell all the way out of the top 10.

The leading teams (first-place votes in parentheses):

1. Kentucky (47) 574
2. Indiana (3) 520
3. Holy Cross (11) 480
4. Notre Dame (1) 470
5. Duquesne 460
6. La Salle (1) 417
7. George Washington (2) 370
8. Western Kentucky 360
9. Penn State 343
10. Oklahoma A&M (1) 330

Second 10, in order:
USC (1) 130, Bradley 90, Louisiana State 80, Maryland 75, Iowa (1) 65, Duke 65, Navy 65, N. C. State 40, Kansas 35, Niagara 35.

Don Thompson, outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers, entered organized ball as a pitcher in 1943 and hurried a no-hit game for Louisville in 1945. The next year a sore arm forced him to quit the mound.

His southpaw slants seemed to have good speed. But with a grin, Prince Hal reminded his interviewers, "I'm not as fast as I was 15 years ago."

This was his 1st game appearance since last July when he retired, unable to overcome the injury which had plagued him for two or three years previously.

Amateur Star Chick Evans Has 30,000 Notes on Methods of Hitting Golf Ball

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—There are at least 30,000 effective ways to hit a golf ball and Chick Evans has notes on all of them.

Evans is one of the game's all-time amateur greats. He has spent 50 years on the links and still has the ruddy complexion and boyish smile that endeared him to with tournament fans in 1915 when he won the U. S. Open.

"In those 50 years, I made a note every time I saw someone hit the ball with a different stroke," says Evans. "I've filled them away. Now I have 30,000 notations. I'm reading over some of them this week, sort of a final examination to prepare myself for the American Seniors' Tournament at St. Augustine next week."

Evans says Bobby Jones was the first power hitter with control. "But Bobby had a loop at the top of his swing—a gross defect that he overcame by holding his left arm close to his side in coming through to the ball," Evans explains. "This, plus terrific left wrist action, compensated splendidly.

"Ben Hogan has the greatest tournament record of all. But no man could copy his swing successfully without hours of practice. Hogan turns the club face out as soon as he starts his back swing. It is wide open at the top of the swing."

In handicapping big time golfers over the years, Evans picks Walter Hagen as the greatest all-around player; Tommy Armour as the greatest shotmaker with irons, and Jones the greatest shotmaker with woods.

"Golf today is a game of terrific hitters, because a drive means so much," says Chick. "Strict style is sacrificed many times in order to maintain power. The only perfect stylist in my book was Harry Vardon. Ed Dudley comes close to him."

Clarkston Merchants won their 2nd straight Waterford Recreation Basketball League championship last night, downing Beattie Motor Sales, 48-35, in the playoff finals.

Ed Hints sparked the victory with 20 points, while teammate Percy Moore added 18. Beattie had advanced to the finals by beating Davis Machinery, 46-42, earlier in the evening.

Trophies will be awarded at the league's annual banquet, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on March 25 at the CAI Building in Waterford.

Tip Goes, 'Mr. Rowing' Recall's Washington's Great '53 Frosh

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS)—The three sports figures we have known who are about as broad as they are long are Herman Hickman, Tony Galento and Tip Goes.

Of course, you know all about Hickman and Galento. But what do you know about Tip Goes who is just as broad although much shorter than either Herman or Tony?

Well, Tip is now the head of a corporation and making so much money that he can devote a great deal of his time to rowing. In fact, in collegiate circles they consider Tip Mr. Rowing.

If you saw Tip for the first time today you would never believe that 40-odd years ago he was the coxswain of a championship Syracuse crew.

We cut in on Tip's conference to ask something about rowing prospects for this year.

Tip told us that he expects Washington University to have the championship crew at Syracuse in the intercollegiate regatta next June.

"As you know," said Tip, "I've been around a long time but never have I seen such a dream crew as the Washington freshman outfit which won at Syracuse last year. With that bunch to draw on to supplement the varsity how can you figure them to miss? They will be only slightly terrific."

Bowling Clinic

CASE—Averting Wash-out. Cut Down On Speed—From Florida this complaint: "I adopted the arm-lift finish you suggested and have run into trouble. My ball doesn't finish. Top spins. Quite often I leave the wash-out pins—Nos. 1-2-4-10.

What now? Two things: (1)—concentrate on swinging the ball all the way; (2)—forget about speed. Also forget about yanking the arm upward quickly in over-doing the lift.

Hurrying the finish into a jerk causes late withdrawal of thumb and kills finger-lifting hook action. Thumb must come out first, as sketch shows. Notice, it is important that the ball is only beginning to pass sliding left leg as thumb releases. This is where the swinging action is slow, smooth. Ball control comes with roll.

Results Mixed as Prince Hal Makes First Showing

By BOB MYERS

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Hal Newhouse, onetime king of the southpaws, came back to the baseball wars with contrasting reactions.

Newhouse, trying a comeback with the Cleveland Indians, summed it up quietly in the dressing room after pitching three innings recently against the hard hitting New York Giants.

"I was not elated over those six runs," he said.

But what about the persistent back-shoulder ailment that sent him into voluntary retirement from the Detroit Tigers last year?

"No trouble there. Felt fine. Feels all right now," said the 32-year-old hero of 200 victories.

Newhouse, who started his professional career in 1920 when some of today's crop of players were still in short pants, gave up 30 hits walked two, struck out none and yielded doubles to Monte Irvin, Whitely Lockman and Willie Mays.

His southpaw slants seemed to have good speed. But with a grin, Prince Hal reminded his interviewers, "I'm not as fast as I was 15 years ago."

This was his 1st game appearance since last July when he retired, unable to overcome the injury which had plagued him for two or three years previously.

"STRANGE PIPES IN TOLEDO"
... Weird new towers and pipes decorate the skyline! At the left, in this night scene at Pure Oil's Toledo Refinery, is a new Orthoflow Fluid Catalytic Cracker capable of producing 300,000 gallons a day of highest quality gasoline.

NEW CAPACITY FOR FINEST GASOLINE

Pure Oil completes new type "cat-cracker"...

First of its advanced type to go on stream anywhere in the world!

It takes the most highly skilled technicians and the most modern electronic instruments—to keep great refinery units like Pure Oil's new Orthoflow Fluid Catalytic Cracker at Toledo running at top efficiency 24 hours a day!

Great new capacity for the refining of the most powerful modern gasolines came as a real boon to motorists in this area when Pure Oil put its new Orthoflow Fluid Catalytic Cracking unit on stream at Toledo recently.

This unit is the first of its design to go on stream anywhere. It employs the "fluid catalytic cracking" process which gives higher quality gasoline than any earlier cracking process—and gets more of it out of every barrel of raw material.

First of Two Multimillion Dollar Plants
The christening of this great new

"cat-cracker" at Toledo will be followed shortly by the completion of a similar, but even larger, new Orthoflow Fluid Catalytic Cracking unit at Pure Oil's big refinery—near Beaumont, Texas.

The capacity and efficiency of these two great refinery units, plus the modern units at Pure's Heath refinery near Newark, Ohio, maintain Pure Oil in a strong position of leadership in the refining of power-packed fuels for today's more powerful cars.

They add fresh assurance to that famous phrase: Be sure with Pure.

Enough high octane in one day to drive your car around the world 180 times!
With ability to produce 300,000 gallons of high octane gasoline every 24 hours, this one great new unit can turn out enough gasoline to drive your car around the world 180 times! ... If you only drive your car about 10,000 miles a year, you could power your car for 450 years with one day's output of this amazing new Pure Oil plant!

Tiger Pitching Mark Poor This Spring

Nieman Hoping for .300 Season, OK on His Book

By LEO H. PETERSEN
LAKELAND, Fla. (UP)—Outfielder Bob Nieman of the Detroit Tigers has two objectives this season—to hit .300 and become an author.

He said today he had high hopes of attaining both of them.

Most important for the time being is that batting average, but he may establish himself as an author first. During the off-season he wrote a baseball fantasy which a publishing house has been scanning for seven weeks.

"They tell me when they keep a manuscript that long, it is going through the works and has a good chance of being accepted," Nieman said. "I'm certainly hoping that's right. For some day, when my baseball days are over, I want to be a sports writer or broadcaster."

He disclosed that several publications have asked him for permission to print individual chapters of the book, but explained that "my hands are tied until I get a yes or no from the publisher."

"But what could be better to have the book published and then wind up hitting .300?" he asked.

He seemed a little more sure that he would make the latter mark more easily.

He recalled he was hitting .294 last year with 10 days of the season to go.

"Then I went into a slump—just like I started the season—and couldn't buy a base hit the last week and a half, so I wound up hitting only .281."

Solons Defer Bear Hunting Liberalizations

LANSING (UP)—The conservation commission deferred decision for a month on proposals to liberalize bear hunting and has turned its attention to a largely routine agenda.

Carl Johnson of Houghton Lake appeared, he said, for some 1,000 members of the Michigan Bear Hunters Assn. to protest last month's commission decision to end spring and summer bear seasons in the Upper Peninsula after a one-year trial.

He proposed these liberalizations in addition to the present Nov. 15-30 state-wide season:

- 1—Permit bear hunting Sept. 1 to Oct. 15 and Oct. 1 to Nov. 5 in the Upper Peninsula.
- 2—Permit bear hunting Oct. 1 to Nov. 5 in the Lower Peninsula.
- 3—Prohibit shooting of bear at garbage dumps or in baited areas.
- 4—Issue special permits for shooting nuisance bears.

Browns Sign Ellis

CLEVELAND (UP)—Cleveland Browns announced Monday the signing of Jim Ellis, Michigan State halfback from the Rose Bowl championship team.

Ellis, who worked from left half, was a three sport letter winner at Saginaw, Mich., high school, with letters in football, basketball and track.

Braves Comb Three Hurlers for 7-1 Victory

Marlowe Gets Rough Treatment; Tuttle Is Bright Light

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Although it's still early in the game, the Detroit Tiger pitchers are so very far behind the hitters at this stage of spring training that it looks disturbing.

Tigers have dropped five of their first eight exhibition games and, as usual, the pitching is to blame. Detroit pitchers have yielded a total of 54 runs and 75 hits—an average of 6.7 runs per game and 9.4 hits.

Those are not winning averages, especially in the run-scoring department.

A trio of Tiger hurlers who are supposed to be regulars this season worked against the Milwaukee Braves yesterday. They gave up 11 hits—including a home run, four doubles and a triple—and Detroit dropped a 7-1 decision.

Lefty Billy Hoelt started for the second time, giving up six hits and three runs in five innings. He was followed by Dick Marlowe (four hits, four runs, one inning) and Al Aber (one hit, no runs, two innings).

Marlowe was roughed up the worst. In his single inning he was touched for a triple by Jack Dittmer, Del Crandall's single, Bill Bruton's double and Jim Pendleton's home run.

Detroit's lone tally came in the 2nd inning when rookie Frank Bolling hit a fluke triple and scored on an infield out. None of the Tigers, except outfielder Bill Tuttle, did much better.

Tuttle hit three singles in four at bat for his second big batting game in a row. Saturday he stroked two hits—one a homer—against the Cincinnati Reds.

Matters may not improve today. Tigers meet the world champion New York Yankees for the first, and only, time this spring. It'll be Detroit's first game against an American League team.

Intramural Cage Title Won by YMCA Quintet

YMCA's basketball team won the 1934 Intramural League championship Monday by beating Greek Orthodox Church, 55-42, at the Pontiac "Y."

Ken Wigton was high for the winners with 15 points. Andy Fosma has 11 for the Greeks.

YMCA trailed at the 1st quarter, but rallied to take the lead at the half and increased it thereafter.

Tourney concludes this weekend with teams from Pontiac, Detroit, Milford, Flint, Ferndale, Atlanta, Bay City, Standish and Lansing making their bids.

Lead Changes Hands in VFW Team Event

Only one major change occurred last weekend among leaders in the annual state Veterans of Foreign Wars Bowling tournament being held here.

Lincoln Park's Commanders, defending team champions, took over 1st place in the 5-man event with a 2908 total.

Tourney concludes this weekend with teams from Pontiac, Detroit, Milford, Flint, Ferndale, Atlanta, Bay City, Standish and Lansing making their bids.

MHSAA to Hold Spring Clinics

Hutch to Conduct the Baseball Session at Detroit, April 24

LANSING (UP)—Michigan's High School Athletic Association today announced dates of annual spring prep baseball and track clinics.

The baseball clinic will be held at Briggs Stadium in Detroit April 24. Detroit Tiger manager Fred Hutchinson will conduct the clinic with help of members of the team.

Prep athletes attending the clinic will see the Detroit-Cleveland baseball game that afternoon.

Annual track clinic will be held at Michigan State College's Jensen Field House April 19 under direction of Karl Schladerman, MSC's track coach.

During the morning session, officials of the Michigan track and field committee will explain 1934 track and field rules. Schladerman and members of his staff will demonstrate track techniques that afternoon.

Reports From Majors' Camps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants is more confident now that Ray Katt will do a good job as his regular catcher than he was when spring training got underway. "We were worried about his throwing," the Lip said today. "But I'm not worried about that anymore. He can fire that ball around pretty good."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Jerry Coleman, who is expected to replace Billy Martin at second base for the New York Yankees, is having trouble getting started this spring. Jerry was given the day off yesterday after he had hit only .198 in eight previous games.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson is out for a few days with a stiff left knee. Jackie aggravated the chronic ailment after playing nine innings against the Boston Red Sox last Sunday.

TAMPA, Fla.—At least one White Sox rookie, pitcher Jack Harshman, has earned a berth on the Chicago roster.

Says manager Paul Richards of the 26-year-old lefty: "He is definitely one of our pitchers. If I can find a lefthander elsewhere for relief work, he'll probably be a starter."

MESA, Ariz. — Hank Bauer, Chicago Cubs home run hitter, has socked only four or five balls good this spring and has assigned himself to extra batting practice.

MESA, Ariz.—St. Louis Cardinals wrap up their four-game exhibition series with the Chicago Cubs here today. A victory would make their jump from their Florida training base 1,000 per cent successful.

Year after year, independent surveys show that the public resents the Federal excise tax on telephone service.

In 1950, four out of five people interviewed by Opinion Research Corporation said the tax on local telephone service should be eliminated or reduced. Three out of four said the tax on Long Distance calls should be eliminated or reduced.

In 1953, the American Institute of Public Opinion found twice as much resentment against the tax on telephone calls as there was against the next "most disliked" tax.

And again late in 1953, the majority of the people interviewed in a poll by Opinion Research Corporation said the Federal excise tax on local telephone service is the one they "object to most."

The Federal Government imposes excise taxes on telephone service at the following rates:

- 15% on local service and calls under 25 cents
- 25% on Long Distance calls of 25 cents or more

These are direct taxes on telephone customers, not on the telephone company. Customers pay them as part of their telephone bill. The company merely collects them for the government.

Grains Pick Up Earlier Losses

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains moved within a narrow range on the board of trade today, losing at the start and recovering most of the lost ground later.

Deals slackened to a slower pace than has been the case in the highly active market of recent weeks. There appeared to be light profit taking in wheat and soybeans while the feed grains continued to lack attraction for investment demand.

Wheat near the end of first hour was unchanged to 1/2 lower. March $2.30 1/2, corn 1 1/2 lower to 1/2 higher, March $1.53 1/2, oats 1/2 lower to 1/2 higher, March $1.17, soybeans 1/2 to 2 cents higher, March $3.49 and lard unchanged to 30 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $18.20.

Tani and Dran Lately in 'Web'

See Market for Their Similar Faces and Will Stick Together

NEW YORK (U) — No, you weren't seeing double on "The Web" on TV the other night when two girls exactly alike came on the screen. And it wasn't trick camera work.

The 25-year-old girls, currently appearing as sea nymphs in the Broadway production, "Ondine," are each 5 feet 6½ and weigh 120 pounds. They have large green eyes, blond hair and are of Norwegian, American ancestry.

Dran (or was it Tani?) said: "We are so much alike it's embarrassing. Even our hobbies and mutual interests are the same."

Their dramatic experience has included the movies. In TV both worked on Los Angeles stations, including fairy tale stints for KTTV. Tani made her first live New York TV appearance on "The Web" last January, and when called in to read the part brought Dran along.

Producer Herbert Hirschman, impressed with their complete similarity, told them: "I'm going to have a mystery written about identical twins and you two will play the roles."

The girls say that at the end of their Broadway run they expect to go to Europe to do a TV film series built around twins which will be shown in this country.

"We plan to stick together," they chorused. "Apparently there's nothing like us in TV or the theater, and we hope to do some important things."

Tani and Dran live with their widowed mother, Mrs. Jerrie Seitz, in a New York apartment.

Police Hope Tie Pin May Lead to Killer

WINDSOR, Ont. (U) — Police hoped today that a small tie pin may lead them to the hammer killer of 22-year-old Fern Ten-kell.

They said the tie pin, with a miniature bowling ball and three bowling pins for design, was believed to have been seized by Miss Henkel, in a struggle just before her killer threw her in a water-filled ditch south of here.

The tie pin fell from the dead girl's sleeve when police moved her scantily clad body. At first it was believed designed with three hearts. Police later disclosed the bowling motif.

Police Inspector John L. Needham said it was one of the few clues uncovered since the body was found by Stewart Ingram, 45, of Detroit, Saturday.

Custodians Make Point of Caring for Themselves

AKRON, O. (UP) — Custodians attract so little notice in the offices where they work that they are not missed when they retire and few notice when misfortune hits them.

Ernest Harris, 55, found the condition in public schools here worse than in most places because the caretakers had so little contact with other employees. So nine years ago, he, Gilbert Means and Steve Golobic formed the Akron School Employees Remembrance Club. All work for the school system.

All custodians are automatically members of the club. There are no dues, but they engage in many activities to raise funds for their work. Chief sources of income are waste paper and Ohio sales tax stamps, which can be sold back to the state for a fraction of their original value.

The money involved isn't much, and morale is the biggest reason for the club's existence. It sends birthday cards, get-well cards and flowers to retired members on appropriate days. At the end of each school year it holds an informal dinner for those no longer working.

Teenager Sentenced for Gas Station Holdup

James Freeman, 18, of Detroit was sentenced to from 1 to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson Monday when he appeared before Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland.

Freeman was found guilty of armed robbery March 3. He was charged with participating in a service station holdup Aug. 21, 1953, at 21357 Woodward ave., Ferndale.

Women of U.S. More Neurotic Than in Europe

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A noted psychoanalyst says American women are more neurotic than European women because they have renounced their natural femininity in favor of equality with men.

Dr. Theodor Reik, a former collaborator of the famed Sigmund Freud, said in Los Angeles yesterday that American women talk more, are more neurotic and resort to divorce more than European women.

The reason, he said, is that American women try to compete with men on an equal basis, a condition which he deplored. He added:

"In the United States, a woman has to be many things which she need not be in Europe. An American woman must be a businesswoman, a wife, a mother and a sweetheart."

At least 100 fishes have flesh that is dangerous to eat. The greatest number of poisonous fishes live in the Pacific, and even cooking does not make them safe to eat.

Longshoremen Hired by Army

New Order Issued for Strike-Bound Eastern Shipping Docks

NEW YORK (U) — The Army starts hiring dock workers under civil service regulations today to load troop and cargo ships at its strike-bound bases in Brooklyn, Staten Island and Jersey City, N. J.

The call for civil service longshoremen—approved by the Pentagon—was issued by Brig. Gen. Calvin de Witt Jr., commander of the New York port of embarkation. The civil service employment means that the longshoremen will be working directly for the government and not for stevedoring firms under contract to the government.

Eleven ships destined for European and Indochinese ports are tied up at Army bases by the outlawed waterfront strike, now in its 12th day. Some of the equipment awaiting loading is bound for hard-pressed French forces fighting the Communists in Indochina.

De Witt, whose work call was issued late yesterday, said he was confident the hiring of dock workers as temporary civil service employees would prove as effective in getting service ships loaded as it was during the wildcat waterfront strike by members of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) in 1951.

The present strike by ILA members, which has closed most of the Port of New York, is in defiance of a federal court antistrike injunction, federal contempt of court proceedings and back-to-work pleas by ILA President William V. Bradley and other ILA leaders.

The strike is an outgrowth of the battle between the ILA and the AFL-ILA for certification by the National Labor Relations Board as bargaining agent for the harbor's 24,000 longshoremen.

Many ships have been diverted to Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore and other East Coast ports. A number of sailings from here have been delayed.

ILA Vice President James T. Mook ordered Philadelphia longshoremen yesterday not to work passenger or cargo ships diverted from New York. The order followed a similar action by independent longshoremen in Boston.

Tax Boss Seeks End of Returns for 35 Million

DETROIT (U) — T. Coleman Andrews picked an opportune time to say he hoped that the 1956 legislation would relieve 35 million of the nation's 55 million taxpayers from filing returns.

While the Detroit Economic Club listened to the commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service yesterday, blocks away hundreds of persons lined up at the service's Detroit office to file their returns before the deadline.

Andrews explained that the legislation would apply to persons whose income is known to the government and who have paid taxes through the withholding system.

He said that the Republican administration inherited a "bad situation" from the Democrats and has helped to put the Internal Revenue Service on a business-like basis.

Since World War II Great Britain has built about 6,500 factories of 5,000 square feet or more.

Banker Given Jail Sentence

Tolfree Gets 60 Days,
$1,000 Fine in Failure of West Branch Bank

WEST BRANCH (P-D) Eugene Tolfree was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $1,000 Monday for his part in the 1951 collapse of his bank under the weight of more than a million dollars in overdrafts.

Tolfree pleaded nolo contendere (no defense) to one count of a fraud indictment. Another count against him was dropped.

Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke, one-man grand juror who investigated the failure of the Tolfree, Livingstone and Co. bank of West Branch, also placed the 59-year-old Tolfree on three years probation and charged him $1,000 in court costs.

The deposits of Tolfree's bank totaled $2 million. Judge Dehnke blamed the closing of the bank in July 26, 1951 on the huge overdrafts.

The specific charge to which Tolfree pleaded was accepting deposits from the Ogemaw Trails Service, operated by Ralph M.

Nelson of West Branch, while the bank was insolvent.

The charge claimed that Tolfree knew or should have known that his bank was insolvent.

Special Prosecutor John Watkins of East Tawas, Dehnke's assistant in the grand jury probe moved for dismissal of the second count after Tolfree had been sentenced on the first.

The dismissed count had charged Tolfree with accepting a $1,473 deposit from Edward Gildner and Son of West Branch only two hours before the bank was closed.

Tolfree has been under indictment since Dec. 14 when he returned to Ogemaw County voluntarily from Los Angeles where he had been living for 10 months. He was arrested by Sheriff Fred Power of Ogemaw Feb. 5 and arraigned immediately before Judge Dehnke.

Man Enters Guilty Plea to Restaurant Breakin

William Lister, 39, of 2147 Sonoma, Ferndale, pleaded guilty Monday to breaking and entering before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland and will be sentenced March 22.

Lister admitted entering Lolly's Drive Inn at 2520 Rochester Rd., Troy Township on March 7. He was returned to Oakland County Jail to await sentence.
