Night or Day? Clouds Make It Debatable

DUSK TAKES MORNING TRAIN — Besides turning downtown streets into glistening ribbons, dark rain clouds also cast an early-evening pall over the Pontiac area this morning. By 9 a.m. traffic in the city was punctuated with shining head and tail lights as motorists crept through the strange gloom.

More Expected Over Weekend

Rains Drench Oakland County

Pontiac area residents were decked out in raincoats, rubbers and hats this morning as heavy rains drenched Oakland County. More downpours are expected over the weekend.

All police departments in the county were bogged down with calls complaining about flooded streets and basements.

One Pontiac street was reported washed out. Several others were blocked off as workers from the Oakland County Road Commission and city street departments worked feverishly to keep traffic moving.

Tregent, North Saginaw between Chamberlain and Kemp, North Saginaw between Whitmore and Rundell, Lafayette between Cass and Pine, the entire Jacobs Street sector, and Yale between Ann and Baldwin were closed off.

BIRMINGHAM HIT HARD

Birmingham, Clawson and Berkley were among the hardest hit areas. At Oak Park, 50 basements were reported flooded with several streets underwater. Water spurted from sewers in various parts of Southfield Township.

The downpour started at approximately 3:30 this morning. A total of 1.46 inches had fallen by 8 a.m. and skies darkened.

There was little prospect for the weather to clear over the weekend. The forecast from the Detroit Weather Bureau was for warmer temperatures today through Sunday but scattered showers or thundershowers were expected late this afternoon and evening. Cloudy skies were predicted all day Saturday.

The high today was expected to be 82 with a low of 66. Tomorrow's high will be 88 with southeasterly winds 5-10 miles per hour becoming south to southwest 10-15 miles tonight and Sunday.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown was 62 degrees. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 78 degrees.

Attention Farmers!

"A late blight of potatoes and tomatoes has been observed in Oakland County and immediate application of zineb, maneb, or copper spray is strongly urged," was the warning issued by Siefert.

He points out cool, damp period is especially dangerous for growers. Siefert may be contacted at FE 4-7541 for further information.

Judge Rejects Suit on Sewer

Southfield May Vote on Drainage Proposal Tuesday, Court Rules

A suit to block a Southfield Township vote on the proposed $1,112,000 "Little Evergreen" interceptor sewer was turned down yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Filed by builder Myron Greenfield, the suit claimed the township has no legal authority to grant a franchise to build the sewer to a private company.

Visiting Judge Timothy C. Quinn of Tuscola County ruled yesterday that the township has authority to grant the franchise under Michigan law, and denied Greenfield's petition for an injunction preventing a public vote scheduled on the franchise Tuesday.

With the ruling, a solution to some urgent problems facing harassed Southfield officials seemed nearer, according to observers.

Because of confused political status of the township after its recent incorporation attempt, officials could not sell bonds for a sewer system even though voters had approved the bonds three times.

They were faced with puntive action from the State Water Resources Commission for alleged pollution of township streams. Supervisor Eugene Swem has been cited for contempt in "failing to alleviate the problem."

Under the present plan, now approved by the courts, a non-profit private company will finance and build the sewer. The firm's investment will be repaid over a 10-year period by tapping fees, paid by residents as they hook into the sewer system.

Dulles Outlines a Compromise Plan for Suez

International Operation of Canal Urged, Giving Egypt a Fair Income

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secy. of State Dulles has outlined a possible compromise plan for ending the Suez Canal dispute by placing the waterway under international operation while "fully" protecting Egypt's "legitimate interests."

On the basis of statements made by Dulles in a special air report last night, the United States is relying on "moral force" to work out a settlement of the problem posed by Egypt's recent seizure of the vital waterway.

Under the plan Dulles sketched, Egypt would be assured of "a fair and reasonable income" from the traffic through the canal and apparently its ownership would be recognized.

But Egypt would have to agree to operation by an international agency.

Dulles spoke to the nation from the White House several hours after returning from urgent London talks on the crisis.

IKE INTRODUCES HIM

In introducing the secretary, President Eisenhower, solemn and stern, described himself as "vastly disturber" by Egypt's seizure action.

While Dulles was in London, American, British and French diplomats agreed to call the conference on the Suez crisis in London Aug. 16.

Egypt and Russia were among the nations invited. It was reported in Cairo the government of President Nasser would comment on the invitation today.

Rochester Man Dies as Car Strikes Tree

A Rochester man died this morning of injuries suffered when his car went off the road and struck a tree during a heavy rainstorm in Avon Township.

Donald J. Cameron, 24, of 313 Woodward St., was dead on arrival at Pontiac General following the crash in which he reportedly suffered a fractured skull and broken legs.

A passenger in the Cameron car, Donald Rains, of 2341 Auburn Rd., Avon Township, escaped unhurt, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident.

Rains told deputies Cameron was driving at a high rate of speed when the car went out of control and struck the tree 10 feet off the left side of the road at Walton road and Rochdale street.

Verdict Brings Smile

Court Orders Bad Conduct Discharge

Forfeits $30 a Month During Period of His Confinement in Jail

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (INS)—A full-dress seven-member military tribunal today sentenced Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon to a bad conduct discharge, nine months at hard labor, and reduction to the grade of private.

The court also ordered the 31-year-old Marine drill instructor to forfeit $30 a month for the term of his prison confinement.

hours before had pleaded with the court to let McKeon remain in the Marine Corps.

McKeon's cheek muscles tightened as he heard the sentence but otherwise there was no break in his stolid, impenetrable mask he had worn throughout the 20-day court-martial.

The sentence was pronounced at 1:02 p.m. The court had been deliberating on the punishment since 8:47 a.m.

McKeon was convicted by the court Friday night on negligent homicide and drinking on duty in connection with the disciplinary march of his platoon on April 8 to Ribbon Creek when six young Marine recruits drowned.

Berman termed McKeon's wrong an "error of judgment," pointed out his record during 11 years and two months of Navy and Marine service was "impeccable."

'LET HIM STAY'

Pleading that McKeon be allowed to remain in the service, Berman said:

"There are places in the Marine Corps where his experience, talent and devotion to duty could well be used. The corps needs men of this kind."

"I ask you," Berman said, his voice soft and deliberate, "not to take him out of this service."

Berman told the court the sergeant's wife, Betty, expects their third child this week. He said: "There is one time when he ought to be with his wife, and this is that time."

Asking for leniency on the negligent homicide conviction, Berman pointed out that in every jurisdiction except the military, such a charge is not criminal, but forms only the basis for civil action.

Moore Plans Innocent Plea to Charge of Sex Murder

By PETE LOCHBILER

Howard W. Moore said yesterday afternoon he intends to plead innocent to the sex-slaying of his three-year-old Lake Orion neighbor, Martha Little.

Requesting his first newspaper interview since his arrest on the night of the killing last Friday, Moore said:

"I confessed because I was confused and everything seemed to point to me. But I've thought it over and talked about it with my mother.

"I don't think that I'm capable of killing that little girl. I'm telling you this because I don't want my friends to think badly of me.

"I'm going to change my plea," he stated.

Moore spoke in an exclusive interview to a Pontiac Press reporter at his cell in the Oakland County Jail. Sheriff Frank W. Irons was present.

The 23-year-old furnace repairman spoke hesitantly for seven minutes. He said that he did not want to talk more about his confession and that he could not remember details of Friday night because he had been drinking.

His mother, Mrs. Minnie Fairchild, of Oxford, told the Press last night that she believes in her son's innocence. "I'm going to do everything I can to help him," she said.

Another son, Irving Moore, 33, of Toledo, said last night he believed an L-shaped tire iron, sought by detectives as the murder weapon, had been in the trunk of his (Irving Moore's) car since July 22 when he last visited Oxford.

He had arrived for a weekend visit and said he did not know that

Steel Mills to Be Smoking; Full Output Delays Seen

NEW YORK (INS)—Maintenance workers were back in the steel mills today, following the end of labor contract negotiations, but officials foresee a delay of weeks before full production is resumed.

A strike by 650,000 United Steelworkers of America emerged from its final phase yesterday—after 34 days of idle furnaces—when one by one the 12 struck steel firms began signing individual contracts patterned on a three-year master contract concluded with the union last Friday.

Prominent among the big steel companies who signed agreements were U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, and Republic Steel, third largest producer.

Those firms not yet through working out contract details with the union are expected to do so by tomorrow at the latest.

At U.S. Steel Mills, maintenance workers went into action at midnight inspecting for damage and readying the plants for the production crews reporting on Monday.

The mammoth steel empire will require more than two weeks to build up to 90 per cent of its maximum 39,215,000 tons annual output. A series of graduated steps will set the coke ovens, blast furnaces and open hearth furnaces aglow again.

Chrysler Buys Tract in County

1,700 Acres Located in Troy Township to Be Used for future Need

Purchase of 1,700 acres of land in Troy Township by the Chrysler Corp. was disclosed today by President L. L. Colbert, who said that the site will be used for possible future expansion of engineering and research facilities.

The land, composed mainly of farm property parcels, comprises a square mile bounded by Long Lake and Crooks, Square Lake and Coolidge roads. Other tracts are located in adjacent areas.

Emphasizing that the corporation does not plan any immediate construction in the area, Colbert termed the purchase an "insurance measure" toward future expansion.

Colbert pointed out that few large tracts of land are available in the immediate Detroit area.

"Such excellent property as the Troy Township tract is fast disappearing from the market and is going into residential and light industrial use.

"We deemed it advisable to buy now so that we will have a suitable site at a reasonable cost some years from now if our company's operations should require such facilities."

2-Year-Old Drowns in Pond at Shelby

Two-year-old James M. Tanner, of Oak Park, drowned in a pond behind his grandmother's home in Shelby Township yesterday afternoon while playing alone in the yard.

He apparently walked into the pond and became entangled in some weeds, according to Romeo Post State Police.

The boy was found floating in the pond by his grandmother, Mrs. R. M. O'Hara, of 54180 Dequindre Road. She told troopers the boy was caught in some weeds when she discovered him. The water was 1½ feet deep.

Detroit Torch Fund Unit Backs Up Fluoridation

DETROIT (AP)—Fluoridation of public drinking water has been endorsed by United Community Services of Detroit Executive Board of Torch Fund Agencies.

The executive board of the UCS said in a statement approval followed consideration of "the careful endorsement made by those scientific agencies which are most competent to judge the facts in the case."

"Results have indicated that the addition of fluorides to the public water supply at an annual cost of .07 cents to .14 cents per capita can prevent up to 60 per cent of the tooth decay in young children," the statement said.

Psychodrama Helps Sick Patients

Acting-Out Life Solves Problem

Detroit Doctor Praises Therapy Project Used at State Hospital

By JUDITH CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

Psychodrama, the impromptu acting-out of inter-personal difficulties, was demonstrated at Pontiac State Hospital last night for approximately 100 members of the Michigan Chapter of American Association for Group Psychotherapy and Psychodrama.

Patients and members of the hospital's social service department, under direction of Marguerite M. Parrish, enacted scenes fitting the life stories of the participating patients.

Patients chosen for this type of therapy are generally those having difficulty expressing their feelings, those afraid of group situations, and those with deep insecurity feelings.

GREAT AID TO PATIENT

In working with these patients, the psychiatric social worker finds the patient gains insight and understanding as a result of the dramatic presentation. Following the scene, discussions with psychiatrists and workers are carried on.

Patients in the audience benefit from the scene. It helps them see themselves as they are seen by others.

Through the drama, the patient learns how to deal with real problems. Scenes are designed to build prestige and ego, but trained workers can spot a scene which is too tense or one which places too much stress on patients.

PSYCHIATRIST PRAISES

Summarizing the session was Dr. Robert Drew, Detroit psychiatrist, who praised the work of Pontiac State Hospital's Psychodrama group.

Psychodrama, he pointed out, brings about a better relationship between patient and professional —it brings about a togetherness which is important. "Psychodrama is the most valuable instrument we can use at this time," he concluded.

City Judge Orders Dope Case Recess

The pre-trial examination yesterday of 15 persons named in an alleged drug conspiracy in the southwest area was adjourned to Aug. 9 by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

A prosecution witness, John E. (Sunny) Samples Jr., 314 Wessen St., testified he tried to buy dope from two of the suspects prior to the arrests in May.

Samples, an admitted dope user, told Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor he sought to pay $5 for two capsules of heroin at an upstairs flat at 436½ S. Saginaw St. where Paul Baity, 27, and Eddie May Yates, 28, lived.

Samples testified he was unable to make the purchase. He said he had agreed with police to try because heroin he had allegedly bought from Baity the night before was "no good."

Baity and Miss Yates remained charged in the conspiracy. They may also be charged with possession and sale of dope. All suspect are free under bond.

DR. CLARENCE LITTLE

Cancer Pioneer Resigns Position

Will Devote Full Time to Stabilize Laboratory Financial Support

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP)—Dr. Clarence Cook Little, one of America's foremost contributors to knowledge about cancer, said last night that he will resign in the fall as director of the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory here.

"I hope," he told the Associated Press, "that they (the board of directors) make me director-emeritus so that I may help get financial support for the laboratory stabilized. I need to be relieved of some administrative detail."

Dr. Little said he expects to stay on for the time being as chief consultant on grants for the tobacco industry research committee.

"My 27 years of association with the laboratory has been a very happy one," he said. "Perhaps I can help it more from the outside rather than as a salaried officer."

A successor probably will be announced at the annual meeting in August, he said.

Dr. Little has served as managing director of the American Cancer Society. He was the country's youngest college president in 1922 when, at the age of 32, he was inducted at the University of Maine. He moved on to the University of Michigan in 1925.

He resigned his Michigan post after a stormy session about control of university funds.

A group of influential Detroiters —including Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford and Mrs. Roscoe B. Jackson, widow of a president of the Hudson Motor Co.—helped him set up the laboratory.

Dr. Little, a native of Brookline, Mass., was graduated from Harvard in 1910.

Ford Considering New Stock Issue

NEW YORK (INS) — The Ford Motor Co. is considering a 300-400 million dollar debt financing, with a decision to be made soon whether to have a public offering or a private placement with insurance companies.

This will be the first such financing by the nation's second biggest auto maker.

Ford stock was publicly sold for the first time this year, but this was for the Ford Foundation and not the company.

While no decision reportedly has been reached, some of the advice received is for a public offering through an investment banking syndicate.

Ford reportedly has large expansion plans ahead, one of these being for a new car which will directly compete with GM's Buick.

Seven Persons Hurt in Two-Car Collision

Two people were hospitalized and five others injured following a two-car accident in Pontiac Township late Friday afternoon.

Edith Felix, 7, of 6837 Cooley Lake Rd., Milford, is in "good" condition at St. Joseph Hospital today with possible head injuries. Her mother, LaRue, 27, who suffered a broken left shoulder in the collision, is in "fair" condition.

Four other members of the Felix family and George Willis, 61, of 1100 Vinewood Ave., one of the drivers, were treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises following the accident. They were Glen Felix, 28, the other driver, Ronald Felix, 2, Edward Felix, 9, and Glen Jr., 5.

The crash occurred at Opdyke and South Blvd., according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Findings May Aid Safety

Grand Canyon Air Crash Inquiry Concludes Today

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today ends an inquiry into the June 30 Grand Canyon airliner collision with hopes its findings will speed completion of a nationwide safety network for air traffic.

The network would leave no uncontrolled areas in U.S. commercial skyways. It was in such an area that a Transworld Airlines Constellation and a United DC-7 collided, killing 128 persons in the world's worst civil air disaster.

David D. Thomas, traffic control director of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, told the board yesterday it is not standard policy to tell airplanes in uncontrolled areas they are near each other.

He implied an attempt to warn of collisions in this way might only confuse the pilots, since non-scheduled airplanes could be in the area and controllers would not know about them.

Airline pilots told a House Interstate Commerce subcommittee last month there could be no guarantee against further crashes until all the airlanes are under CAA control.

Thomas said insufficient funds had hampered the expansion of the control system, but added that as a result of an accelerated program "things are looking better" for completion of the system.

When it is finished, every pilot would be told of all planes in his vicinity. Testimony had shown that the TWA pilot knew the United craft was flying a parallel route, but did not know their flights would cross at the same moment. The United pilot was never told of the TWA plane.

Court Deliberates McKeon's Sentence

the drinking charge, Berman called the court's attention to the fact that there were three sergeants involved. The other two were tried by a lesser court, and were reduced one rank. Under the circumstances of this case, Berman argued, the drinking constituted a "minor offense."

Berman pointed out the 31-year-old drill instructor has already spent 45 days in the brig immediately after the Sunday night swamp-march he ordered to instill discipline in his laggard platoon.

"I cannot conceive," Berman said, "how jail punishment will satisfy the needs of the case, or accomplish anything."

While waiting to learn his sentence, McKeon said:

"I want to stay in the Marine Corps—that is if they'll have me. But I'm afraid they may not ever give me command of troops."

A majority of members of the 1st Marine Division Assn., in reunion in New York, think McKeon got a bad deal. The division carved its name in glory at Guadalcanal in World War II.

Parents of Marines who drowned in the night disciplinary march led by McKeon today greeted the verdict of his courtmartial with quiet acceptance and anger.

McKeon, who has lost 15 pounds since the Ribbon Creek tragedy awaited sentence stoically. He told a reporter:

"Whatever they give me will be fair. I can't say enough for the members of the court the jury. Right now I'm just hoping for the best."

President Picks New Surgeon-General

Burney is an expert on radiological health, including such problems as radio-active fallout from A-bombs and H-bombs. The 49-year-old physician succeeds Dr. Leonard A. Scheele as head of the Public Health Service.

Scheele resigned to become president of Warner-Chilcott Laboratories Inc. in Morris Plains, N.J.

The new surgeon general, whose appointment by President Eisenhower yesterday requires Senate confirmation next year, has held the rank of assistant surgeon general since 1954.

In addition to radiological health his special fields have been accident prevention, chronic diseases and the problems of the aged.

2 Royal Oak Men Held for Felonious Assault

Two Royal Oak men are being held at the Oakland County Jail under investigation of felonious assault today after they allegedly forced a car off the road and struck the driver over the head with a bottle early this morning.

Winfred Hicks, 22, of 43 Valencia St., was treated for cuts and bruises at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital following the incident and transferred to the Selfridge Air Base Hospital at Mt. Clemens for further treatment.

indicated whether it will attend. During the past year, Russia has backed many of Egypt's policies.

CONCILIATORY TONE

Although much of the secretary's speech was conciliatory in tone, there were instances when he spoke sharply of the seizure action, terming it "an angry act of retaliation against fancied grievances."

Dulles also said Nasser's action could not be allowed to "go unchallenged."

Dulles said "some people" had advocated "immediate forcible action" after Nasser seized the canal a week ago. Dulles said such action would have violated United Nations principles, "led to widespread violence," and endangered world peace.

BRITAIN ARMS

Dulles did not name the "people" he meant. But yesterday French leaders told the National Assembly the Paris government is preparing for strong military action if a search for a peaceful solution of the Suez problem should fail.

Dulles did not touch on the question of ownership of the canal property in Egypt.

But State Dept. officials said privately that, from the Western point of view, this need not be considered a key issue so long as shareholders in the canal company are compensated fairly by Egypt.

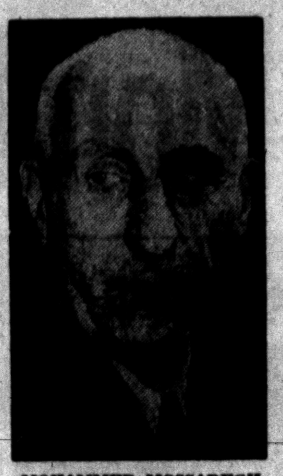

* * *

What is of vital importance, they said, is that the Egyptian government should not be able in the future to close the canal to ships of any country, or to impose prohibitive fees for use of the waterway.

MOHAMMED MOSSADEGH

Iranian Rebel Leaves Prison

Plans to Live in Exile in Switzerland; Sparked Anti-British Revolt

Mossadegh was sentenced to three years imprisonment on Aug. 20, 1953, for plotting the overthrow of Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlevi. His age now is somewhere between 75 and 80.

It was Mossadegh who first churned up the Middle East by nationalizing the British-owned Abadan oil refinery.

Although all references to his release were censored in the Iranian press, army authorities did disclose beforehand that he would be taken from his Ghasser barracks prison in an army staff car.

* * *

They said the car would drive to an undisclosed destination. Other reports said Mossadegh plans to stay in his Tehran suburban home for a while and then settle in Switzerland, where as a youth he studied law.

At his trial, the prosecution asked the death sentence.

Moore Plans to Plea Innocent to Slaying

the iron was being sought. Oxford police said they would pick up the iron this morning.

TOOL WAS MOORE'S

The brother said the tool was Howard's and put it in his car by mistake, he believed, when the two brothers had worked on the transmission of Howard's car.

The mother, 49, said she left Friday night for a vacation near West Branch and had last seen Moore at about 6:30 p.m. He was making plans to take a weekend trip with his wife of six-weeks, Irene, 20, Mrs. Fairchild said.

Her husband, Raymond, 60, kept the news from her until Tuesday, she said, when she rushed home to visit her son.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said he was "not surprised" at the decision. "Very few plead guilty to first degree murder. That's why I requested an examination at the arraignment Tuesday," he said. Moore said at the arraignment that he was "guilty."

His examination is scheduled for Aug. 10, but Moore will not officially enter a plea until his arraignment in Circuit Court.

Ziem said that Moore's confession was made in statements Saturday and Monday, and also made verbally to Ziem on Sunday. He believed the confession would hold up in court.

2 Pass Lie Test in Ax Murder

Police Still Lack Clues to 3-Day-Old Slaying of Aged Widow

The Sheriff's Department and State Police continued to probe into the mysterious ax-slaying of 72-year-old Florence Norton today. But there were still no real leads to follow.

Lie detector tests were given to two men yesterday. More are expected in the future as police continue questioning everyone who lived near or had any connection with the slain widow farmer.

Given lie tests were Frank Bird, 62, of Detroit, and Earl Lawrence, 30, of Farmington. "They came through the polygraph tests all right but are still not cleared as suspects," reported Detective Don Francis.

Bird admitted being an old friend of the Norton family. He said he had stayed two nights at the farm last week but denied any connection with the crime. He also said he borrowed $5 from Mrs. Norton that she give him a check form. Lawrence was given a test after it was learned he often drove Bird to the Norton farm.

Lawrence, former Dearborn policeman, told detectives he never got out of the car on his trips to the farm where Mrs. Norton was found murdered Wednesday. He said Bird drove out in his own car last week.

Edward G. Robinsons Settle Property Split

SANTA MONICA — Actor Edward G. Robinson and his estranged wife, Gladys, have reached agreement on division of their $3,500,000 of community property, paving the way for Mrs. Robinson to obtain a default divorce.

She charged he had given paintings valued at $2,800,000 to the Los Angeles County Museum and he had given Jane Adler, a New York dress designer, community property worth $25,000.

Hodge 3-Star Candidate

The Press erroneously indicated yesterday that a two-star rating was given Robert W. Hodge, Republican candidate for the State Senate from the 12th District, by the Oakland Citizens League. Hodge received a three-star rating, as did another candidate L. Harvey Lodge, a league spokesman pointed out this morning.

Friends of Library Seek Members to Boost Funds

BIRMINGHAM — Friends of the Baldwin Library, a group which last year contributed almost $2,000 towards purchase of new books and modern library equipment, has launched a membership drive to increase such library - fund gifts.

The "Friends" executive committee seeks 300 memberships, the maximum possible under the present meeting facilities, according to Richard E. Henne, membership chairman.

Members are being asked to suggest possible newcomers for the 25 per cent "Friends" increase. Details for the group's program, on cultural and entertainment levels, will be released later.

Berman: New Legal Star

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (INS)—Emile Zola Berman has moved into the legal hall of fame.

Berman "stole the show" at the McKeon court-martial and was in complete command of the case from the beginning. His performance was brilliant.

In covering major courtroom dramas over the years, I have seen many famous lawyers in action. But, none ever gave a better performance than Berman.

UNPUBLICIZED

Berman, a New York trial lawyer since 1925, was unpublicized until he came into this case as a civilian counsel working without pay.

He is clever, resourceful, imaginative and brilliant. He's just "plain folksy," not tricky, smartalecky or outwardly clever. His memory is so retentive he can recall testimony in the exact words given by any witness.

His personality got over to the law officer of the court, to the seven-man military tribunal, to the newspapermen and the spectators. They all liked Berman. He seemed the smartest, best-informed man in the room.

Berman has the knack of maneuvering prosecution witnesses into defense witnesses. He pulled a 10-strike when he prevailed upon Gen. Randolph M. Pate, commandant of the Marine corps, and Lt. Gen. Lewis B. "Chesty" Puller to testify for the defense.

Watching Berman in action, I thought of other noted lawyers whose names were emblazoned in page one headlines.

There was Clarence Darrow who drew reams of approbation for the Loeb-Leopold case and the celebrated Scopes "monkey trial" in Tennessee.

And such highly publicized criminal lawyers as Bill Fallon, Lloyd P. Stryker, Samuel Liebowitz and James D. C. Murray.

Gene Fowler wrote a book titled "The Great Mouthpiece" about Fallon. Quentin Reynolds rated Liebowitz big enough to put his career under covers in a book "Court Room." And Thomas F. Murphy, rated high when he prosecuted Alger Hiss. None of them outclassed Berman.

The Pet Show

A pet show in the back yard is always great fun. Each boy and girl taking part brings a pet along, and then they invite their friends to come and look at them.

The Junior Editors are having a show, and here are Susan, Dick and Tommy preparing their pets. They have chosen a quiet spot at the rear of the backyard, near the garage, where there is grass and shade so the pets will be cool.

All the entries are posted on the wall, and there is a sign reminding exhibitors to feed and water their pets. Everyone will get a prize before the show finishes.

If you run a show don't forget that the pets may get hungry and thirsty.

Use your crayons to color this picture, and then stick it down on cardboard. You can hang it up by a string through the holes indicated at each side of the top.

(Betsy Howdershell, Fairport, Virginia, first contributed this idea. Perhaps you have an idea for a Junior Editors panel. If so, send it in care of this newspaper, and it may win you $10. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Sees Prosperity for Rest of '56

Weeks Revises Business Outlook

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks has changed his mind about a possible business slump in this quarter and now forecasts "healthy prosperity" into 1957.

Weeks said yesterday "the outlook is bright for a fresh bounce in business" and high employment during the rest of this year, adding:

"The prospect is a top-notch summer and fall. The recent steel strike did not upset the apple cart."

Asked whether he still believes — as he did in May — that business would dip in the July-September quarter this year, Weeks said: "I guess we had that ripple in July."

The commerce secretary said national output in the April-June quarter rose to an annual rate of 408 billion dollars — about 1 per cent higher than the preceding three-month period.

Employment last month, he said, was "slightly higher" than the 66½ million total in June, setting another record. Other sources said the July total was about 100,000 above June. The commerce chief also said unemployment in July was slightly below the 2,900,000 persons listed as jobless in June.

Surveying the nation's economic situation, Weeks said that "when — as now — widespread confidence is combined with accelerated production, increased spending power, and sound practices by government and private industry, it can hardly fail to spell healthy prosperity."

Disarmament Law

BENTON, Ky. (AP) — The City Council has passed an ordinance setting a $5 fine on shooting, firing or squirting a water pistol inside the city limits. A $25 fine also will be levied for selling a water pistol.

Navy, Air Force Prepare for Operation Deepfreeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy states its part in the coming year's phase of Operation Deepfreeze in Antarctica will entail the services of 12 ships, 38 aircraft and 3,525 men.

The Navy will land men and equipment to build five scientific observation bases for the 148 civilian scientists assigned to study the secrets of nature from the bottom of the world.

Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd will again be in over-all charge of the expedition, which will get under way next month when Navy and Air Force planes fly from the United States to New Zealand. Rear Adm. George Dufek will be in direct command.

When the main Antarctica expedition returned early this year it left behind 166 men, whose job has been to prepare for the coming of three naval task forces and Air Force transports this fall.

Some of the men who stayed at Little America will move overland by tractor trains in October to Marie Byrd Land, where they will erect Byrd Station 1,200 nautical miles from the South Pole.

While these Navy Seabees build the Byrd Station, other engineers will prepare for the dash to the Pole itself. In October, Navy planes will land on the 10,000-foot polar plateau to test the snow.

They will be followed by Air Force Globemaster cargo aircraft, assigned to drop 500 tons of building materials for use in building the geophysical observation post. Then Seabees will be flown in to construct quarters and to set up equipment which civilian scientists will operate for the next two years.

The scientists will study the aurora and air glow, cosmic rays, geomagnetism, glaciology, meteorology and seismology.

The timetable for operations in the next six months calls for construction of the observation station at the South Pole, a second station in Marie Byrd Land, a support station on Beardmore glacier, a station at Cape Adare

Heartaches and Loneliness

Our ancestors had their teeth extracted without benefit of anesthetic; when they submitted to surgery they submitted to pain. That pain has been relieved by modern drugs. However, there are pains for which no deadening drugs have yet been found.

Science with all of its modern discoveries has found nothing to relieve the pain of heartaches and loneliness. Vaults of gold, train loads of jewels cannot alleviate the torture of a heartache, but sympathy and understanding can and does. As we race toward old age we rush to the void of loneliness; to be thought of, to be remembered, loved and treated kindly brings happiness and contentment. Ancient civilizations revered old age, those people lived a useful life and were rewarded by attention and affection by family and friends.

Security for You

Give Your Serial Number to Boss Where You Work

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

From T. I. of San Pedro, Calif.: "I worked in a super-market for about five months last year, but I didn't give my boss my Social Security number. I've got a new job. Will I get credit on my Social Security record for the wages on which I paid Social Security tax on my last job?"

No. If your employer doesn't have your Social Security number, you may not be given Social Security credit for your wages. To claim credit, you should go to your local Social Security office and get a special form allowing you to do so. The people at that office will be glad to help you as to how to fill out the form.

From Y. S. of Saginaw, Mich.: "As I understand it, I pay Social Security tax on my wages as a gas station attendant. But, I've heard that there's a limit on the amount of wages on which I must pay this tax.. Can you tell me the limit?"

You only need to pay Social Security tax on yearly wages of up to and including $4,200. You should not pay tax on any wages above $4,200.

From M. L. of Baltimore, Md.: "Is there any time limit within which an application for the Social Security lump-sum death benefit must be filed?"

Yes. Under most circumstances, an application must be filed within two years after the date of the wage earner's death.

From O. P. E. of New York City: "If a woman becomes entitled to Social Security benefits based on her own earnings, and is entitled to Social Security benefits as a wife, does she receive both benefits?"

No. She receives a monthly payment equal to the larger of the two. She doesn't receive the total of the two.

From B.N. of Fall River, Mass.: "I recently opened a small store and I plan to have one employe working for me. Must I report that person's earnings for Social Security purposes?"

Yes. Even in the case of a single employe, the employment is covered. The number of employes is immaterial.

From H. D. M. of St. Petersburg, Fla.: "About two months ago I was divorced from my husband. Can I get Social Security payments based on his Social Security coverage?"

It depends. No benefits can be paid you while he's alive. However, you may get survivors benefits after he dies—if you're caring for a child of his who is under 18, and if you were receiving at least half your support from him by court order. The payments stop when the child reaches 18. If you remarry before then, your payments stop but the child continues to get them. If your former husband reaches 65 and starts drawing retirement benefits, his child under 18 also collects a benefit. You do not.

★ He is a mature and seasoned veteran of public service.

★ He is a tireless worker.

★ He has earned personal and business success.

"George N. Higgins' rise from a humble beginning on an Upper Peninsula farm is a success story in the best American tradition. He worked as a farm laborer, on a Detroit auto production line, as a car salesman and finally achieved success as the owner of his own auto agency in Ferndale.

"Higgins' record of State Legislative accomplishment during three terms as a State Representative and four terms as a State Senator are unsurpassed not only in Oakland County but in Michigan. Texas Dems Expect Unruly Convention

By MARSHALL COMERER

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Texas Democrats meet in county conventions today with the party leadership U.S. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson wrested from Gov. Allan Shivers being challenged.

One of the stormiest Tarrant County conventions in years was predicted at Fort Worth. Johnson forces walked out of a County Democratic Executive Committee meeting yesterday after a dispute over the convention's temporary roll. Forces friendly to Shivers, who had defeated the Johnson group in last Saturday's precinct conventions, threatened court action to back up their decision to seat their own delegates.

Stormy conventions were also anticipated at Dallas, a Shivers stronghold, and at Houston, where the Johnson forces retained control by a slim margin.

The main purpose of today's county conventions is to elect delegates to the State Convention, but the outcome of the battle for control of the State Democratic Party may not be known until that convention is held in Fort Worth on Sept. 11.

Nine-Year-Old Saves His Family From Sure Death

Mary, Joyce and June McLin were swimming when the whirlpool suddenly formed. Screams brought Hubert Davis of Houston to the rescue.

While other members of the picnic party stood aghast, Mack pulled away from his Mother's arms and dashed into the water with his innertube. He swam to near the swirling water and pushed the innertube to his father, then swam away. His father, with the aid of the tube, was able to rescue the girls.

Roosevelt Asking to See His Children

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Rep. James Roosevelt has filed a petition to increase visitation rights with his three children by Romelle Schneider Roosevelt, his third wife, who has their custody.

Roosevelt asked the Superior Court to set aside a portion of the divorce agreement of June 21, 1955, which permitted him the company of the children on alternate Saturdays.

Now that Roosevelt is married again—to his secretary, the former Mrs. Gladys Irene Owens—he has an adequate place to take the children, he informed the court. He asked that they visit him from Aug. 20 to Sept. 4, and for six weeks every summer thereafter.

Diseases Hereditary, Contends U. S. Medic

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Arthritis and rheumatic fever are just two of the diseases which can be passed on through heredity, although the rate of development in each differs considerably, an American doctor has stated.

Addressing the first International Congress on Human Genetics, Dr. R. M. Stecher of Cleveland, Ohio, added: "Although many of these crippling diseases are with us at birth, they do not make themselves apparent in many cases until late in life. In the case of rheumatic fever, although it is inherited, the disease only appears after germ infection.

"We know that rheumatic diseases are caused by a certain pair of bad genes coming together, as indeed are all diseases which can be traced back to heredity. Our problem is to find out which one of the 25,000 to 40,000 of these genes is causing the trouble. When we have located the trouble maker, we can then go ahead and find a new way of getting rid of him."

Archeologists Continue Spat Over Drawings

PARIS (AP)—Two French archeologists—enforcing their arguments with table banging and shouts—sought to settle the controversy raging around the question: Were cave drawings in southwestern France done by cavemen or modern day jokesters.

For evidence, the cave experts, Prof. Louis Rene Nougier and Roman Robert, projected 80 colored slides showing some of the 113 paintings and engravings of mammoths, goats, rhinoceroses, bison and other art work they said they had found in the grotto of Rouffignac, near Periguex.

Bernard Pierret, president of a cave exploring club near Perigeux had said some of the paintings cannot be historic because their number has grown from the years 1945 to 1949. Others who have visited the caves say the art work was not there before 1948. William Martin, a former president of the exploring club, said some of the tracings in the cave were made by a carbide lamp carried by a youngster.

* * *

The archeologists who found the drawings dated them back perhaps 20,000 years, but Martin said later "believe me, none of these paintings dates back more than eight or ten years."

Televiewers See Ike; 1st Time Since Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many Americans last night got their first long long look at President Eisenhower since his June 9 intestinal operation.

He made his first formal TV appearance since then to introduce Secy. of State Dulles, then sat back and listened intently as Dulles outlined Western Big Three plans to deal with the Suez Canal crisis.

Adm. Radford Asks No Defense Slash

TOKYO (AP) — Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said today Japan's defense program "is a modest one" and should not be cut.

The U.S. military leader talked of a tendency toward "wishful thinking" in referring to world disarmament talk, and said a nation's security should be "based on a realistic appraisal."

Japan has ground forces of 148,679 men, a navy of 19,089 and an air force of 10,523. An increase of more than 19,000 men is planned by the end of this year.

"We are hoping for a building in Japan's defense forces," Radford said, "and in this country's ability to support them."

Peronistas Freed

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's provisional government has freed 36 more political prisoners not charged with criminal offenses. Most of them were followers of ousted President Juan Peron and were held under security regulations. The government has released some 200 such prisoners in recent weeks.

Ike OKs School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—School systems overburdened by children of federal employes will be eligible for additional federal aid totaling 378 million dollars in the next two years. A bill signed by President Eisenhower authorizes the payments to help local school districts build new schools and maintain existing ones in areas crowded because of government activities.

Smart Salesmen Are Still Trapping Unwary Householders with the "Referred Lead" Gimmick

In a typical case, the housewife wanted a clothes dryer which she knew she could not afford While watching a television program, she heard the fast-talking "pitchman" say she could have one "at no cost."

After calling the number given, our lady friend was assured that she could, indeed, have the dryer without cost. All she would have to do would be to give the company the names of her friends who might be prospects.

Came the dawn!! After signing the purchase contract, she slowly came to the realization that she was obligated to pay far more than the market price for the dryer—and that the referred leads just did not pay off!

A number of legitimate dealers may offer you money or credit for buyers that you may refer to them—but they make this offer only after you have made your purchase!

Oakland County Loses Greatly in Gale's Death

A grand and colorful character is lost to this community forever in the death of ALFRED GALE.

For several decades, Mr. GALE was a forceful, vigorous and ardent worker in this general area and an active churchman. He took a leading part in a wide variety of affairs and left an indelible imprint wherever he went.

Few men have consistently given as much to Oakland County over so long a period. In fact, few men have greater ability to give what is vastly above any financial value—a keen and open mind, and horse sense.

For a quarter of a century he was the Supervisor of Waterford Township and he became a great power in the governing Oakland County Board, serving for a time as Chairman and acting on all the ranking committees at one time or another. Even when he was not Chairman he was generally regarded as its voice. When anybody wanted to know about that Board, the advice of most of its other members usually was: "ask ALFRED."

Mr. GALE was a lifelong Democrat of the old school type — uncompromising, assertive and convinced beyond doubt that the Democratic Party could do no wrong. He has called in person at The PRESS Building on West Huron Street many, many times and engaged in hot discussions over local and national issues. But he always departed with a smile, a warm handshake and the assurance that he'd be back. His visits were a bright oasis and a happy memory in this institution.

Things were black or white.

It was that simple.

One appraised a situation, came to a firm conclusion and went forward accordingly. The countless and nameless hordes that straddle the fence were never required to move over and make a place for Alfred. He lived a forceful, forthright life.

Of course, ALFRED GALE was the daddy of Waterford Township and the big settlement was his pride and joy. He knew it originally as strictly farm land and lived to see it well settled and moving forward with big strides.

This area loses a fine citizen, but his lifetime was full, complete and well-rounded.

Trade Zooms for U.S. and Latin Neighbors

The recent Panama City conference draws attention again to the growth and increasing importance of U.S.-Latin American trade.

While many in this country may not realize it, Latin America is a better customer of the United States than all of Europe. It buys more of our products than Asia, Africa and Oceania combined and, next to Canada, is our largest commercial customer.

At present about 23 per cent of our total exports go South of the Border and we are the Latins' best customer, purchasing about one half of their exports. Annual volume of this two way trade now has reached the colossal total of $7 billion.

Our neighboring American republics supply us with key materials for our strategic stockpile as well as for our industries. Much of our imports of oil and iron ore come from them as do 30 other critical materials, such as asbestos, bauxite and antimony.

What makes this trade situation all the more cheering is its great possibility of growth. The population in these republics now has reached 171,000,000 and is increasing at twice the world rate. By 1986 it may be 275,000,000 in an area with natural resources capable of supporting steadily rising living standards.

An example of how U.S. business prospers down there, despite political instability, is supplied by Sears, Roebuck & Co. In 1946 it opened a store in Mexico City. The company now has 26 stores in Mexico, Brazil, Colombia, Cuba and Venezuela doing a gross business of $79,000,000 in 1954.

REFERRING to the charge by the Democratic national chairman that the President's physicians were guilty of political propagandizing, JAMES HAGERTY said, "I will not dignify his statement by making a reply." And no one should dignify JIM's cliche by exclaiming "Touche!"

"WHAT becomes of the money you have left after paying taxes, insurance and living expenses?"—From a savings bank advertisement. We invest it in horse feathers.

One-Man Grand Jury Could Lead to Big Shots

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—Politicoes on both sides of the fence are keeping an eye cocked on the one-man grand jury set up in Detroit this week.

Nobody knows now where the scent will lead Circuit Judge Theodore R. Bohn. Nor how fast, nor what the political repercussions might be.

On the face of it, Republicans can find satisfaction that any dirty linen turned up in Ecorse or Taylor Township, departure points in the investigation, probably will have a Democratic hue.

That's because of the political complexion of the areas involved.

But what if the trail should lead into Detroit and some area of responsibility for Mayor Albert E. Cobo, leading contender for the Republican nomination for Governor?

Emphatically, this is not to say there is any basis for supposing the trail may take such a turn, or any other specific turn, for that matter.

But one-man grand juries in the past often have meandered into fields unimagined by their originators. Their powers are awesome.

If there would be political profit for Democrats in the discovery of serious wrongdoing in Detroit, what of the possibility that the trail should lead to Lansing, where Democrats are in command?

Then the shoe would be on still another foot.

Where such an instance of faithlessness is dug out, particularly at a politically strategic time, the big man must pay at the polls—however remote he may be from immediate responsibility.

In the public mind, the corruption becomes Republican corruption or Democratic corruption.

This is no idle consideration in these days of big government, when the chief executive of a state or large city may have thousands or tens of thousands in the army or employes he commands.

In 1951, after nearly three years of widespread public acceptance and confidence, the Democratic regime of former Gov. Adlai Stevenson was shaken when the chief food and dairy inspector suddenly admitted taking a bribe. A cell of corruption in his agency quickly came to light.

In the Republican administration of his successor, William S. Stratton, after a like period, the state auditor was found to have his hand deep in the state till, and the ramifications still are unfolding.

Divine Cleansing Makes the Difference

Days of All Faiths

Transfiguration Is Major Feast

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The Feast of the Transfiguration, a fairly latecomer to the calendar of the western part of the church, was dropped by most Protestants at the time of the Reformation and is observed only by Roman Catholics, Lutherans and Anglicans (Episcopalians).

It commemorates the event recorded in Luke, Chapter 9, verse 28, when Jesus took His three favorite Apostles to the mountain top and there appeared before them standing off the ground with Moses and Elijah. A voice from heaven told them "This is My beloved Son; hear him."

This miraculous and significant incident came at a time when the Lord's ministry in Galilee had come to a close and was, to all appearances, a sad failure. The general populace was disappointed in Him because He had not turned out to be the nationalist, militarist kind of Messiah they had hoped would come and lead their little army to world supremacy, or more especially, to victory over the despised Roman occupation forces. Jewish leaders were beginning to plot ways of getting rid of Him. Even among His twelve close associates, Jesus could not actualy count on any real understanding.

So, from a human standpoint, this was a time of decision. Either He should give up His mission as hopeless, or He should go on to inevitable suffering and humiliation. Selecting the three most sensitive of His Apostles, He made the journey to the mountaintop and there gave them this special insight into His role as the fulfillment of "The Law" (Symbolized by Moses) and the "Prophets" (symbolized by Elijah). These three, at least would remember this vision when the impending dark hours finally arrived.

Since as early as the Fourth Century the Transfiguration has been one of the major feasts of the Eastern church. It was not officially observed in the West until 1497, when Pope Calixtus III proclaimed it in celebration of a great victory of the Western armies over the Turks at Belgrade.

LAZIEST SAINT

"Lazy as Lawrence" used to be an expression in England. The origin of it was somewhat gruesome: It referred to the execution of St. Lawrence who while being roasted over a slow fire would not bother to move himself but said to his torturers, "Turn me over now, this side is quite done."

Lawrence as a Third Century saint who had moved from Spain to Rome as a child and had grown up to be one of the seven Deacons of the city. His particular responsibility was the care of the poor, the orphans and the widows in the Christian community.

The reason he was on the griddle was that when Valerian, the Emperor, ordered him to turn over the church's treasure to the government Lawrence quickly got rid of all the money and then appeared with his impoverished wards and said "These are the church's treasures." Valerian didn't think this was a very good joke. He delivered Lawrence to the executioners.

Lawrence is, of course, always represented in Christian art holding a gridiron. The great St. Lawrence river in Canada is named for him.

PARTS OF THE CHURCH

A reader asks what we mean by the term "The Church Triumphant," which was used a few weeks ago in connection with an item about the requirements for sainthood.

According to ancient Christan Theology the Church divides into three parts: Militant, Expectant, and Trimphant.

The Church Militant is the visible Church here on earth — the army of Christ, aggressively waging war against sin and Satan.

The Church Expectant is made up of those Christians who have died but are still being cleansed before admission into heaven.

The Church Triumphant is the Church in heaven. All saints canonized by the Roman Catholic church are considered by that church to be in the Church Triumphant.

Saccharin Substitutes for Sugar

Unable to obtain sugar, a woman substituted saccharin in tea, coffee, etc. Soon she began to feel irritable, logy and unable to sleep well nights. Her doctor said it was all due to the saccharin . . . (Miss C. D.)

Answer—I believe the use of up to five grains of saccharin a day, as a sweetener in tea, coffee and the like, in the place of suger, never does any one any harm.

Many years ago I took your advice to have my son's infected tonsils treated with diathermy (electro-coagulation . . . It proved most satisfactory . . . (W. L. S.)

Answer—In any case where a major operation is too great a hazard, electro-coagulation (diathermy) treatment is at least an alternative method for infected tonsils.

Formula I can use, something effective against insects but not dangerous to humans, something that will run down into crevices and cracks . . . (Mrs. B. H.)

Answer—Consult Volumette 13 of Pocket Cyclopedia of Personal Health, which tells how to deal with UNBIDDEN GUESTS, from ants to cooties. For the volumette send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Following your teachings, we have been grinding our own wheat and baking bread now for several years, and it has given us fine health . . . Once in a while we are caught with nothing else but insipid white bread, and we find it most unpalatable . . . (C. J. A., Jr.)

Answer—It IS interesting after you have learned what the genuine staff of life tastes like. For information, advice and instructions and recipes, send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet WHEAT TO EAT.

You referred to a place where alcoholics could work and still provide for their families. Please give location, cost, etc. (Mrs. S. T. E.)

Answer—No, I said it should be possible to have the alcoholic committed under medical treatment, while he or she works and most of his or her pay is given to the family. People who manufacture and sell the stuff wouldn't like such a system, so it will probably not materialize.

I had a bad skin condition that the doctor couldn't help. I used your "white lotion". One bottle cleared it up. Thank you. (Mrs. M. H. R.)

Answer—Instructions for preparation and use of "white lotion" in pamphlet on ACNE—BLACKHEADS and PIMPLES, free on written request (no clipping, please) if you provide stamped envelope bearing your address.

If you had chronic bronchitis where would you live? (C. F.)

Answer—I'd live in Durban, S. Africa from May to August, in Beverly Hills from January to April, in Canandaigua from September to December, provided Canandiagua had a bowling green

Ma'm, I'm kidding. Read about climate, humidity, cough medicine, winter coughs, bronchectasis, inverted posture, etc., in Little Lesson 5, CALL IT C R I, for which send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Call Bluff on Domineering Parent

Should Marcia listen to Dr. Tom or follow her mother's advice? Study this case carefully for it teems with psychological problems. And never run into a foolish marriage just to escape an unhappy home life. For two wrongs don't make a right! So shop carefully before you say "I do."

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I need some personal counsel immediately," he began.

I'm now very much in love with a girl named Marcia, aged 32, who is a very lovely person. We have dated for a year and plan to marry.

"But her mother raises the roof and refuses to hear of such a crazy idea, to use her own language.

"The mother is able-bodied and only 53 years old, but she indulges in a lot of self-pity, and is excessively dominating and possessive.

"It is a wonder Marcia ever tore herself away from her dictatorial mother, for the latter rules with an iron hand.

"Now do you think we could be happy if we married and settled down in the city where I practice, which is just 35 miles from her mother?"

MARRIAGE HAZARDS

Dr. Tom and his sweetheart have much in common. They belong to the same church and are active therein, which is a topnotch asset for happy marriage.

They have an interest in the same hobbies and want children. They are mature enough to make excellent mates.

Both have worked and budgeted their money for years. And they love each other. So I urged Dr. Tom to marry his sweetheart at once.

If the girl's mother still refuses to compromise and if tactful use of honest compliments avail nothing, then elope.

In dealing with any bully, whether on the children's playground or among older adults, be calm but firm.

Tactfully call the bully's bluff. Don't give an inch or the bully will take a mile, as the old adage goes. But bullies are usually cowardly at heart, so try to solve the

MATERNAL TYRANTS

Dr. Tom is dealing with a tyrant who may be potentially very shy. That's probably why this mother has so few friends that she now feels panicky at the devastating, thought she may be deserted by her daughter.

This problem should have been solved many years earlier by having the mother join the compliment club and win many friends.

She should have become active in Church and Campfire Girls or other constructive women's club activities.

And she should have had a job. An able-bodied widow of 53 has no excuse to be idle. Either she should be spending 35 to 40 hours per week in an office or factory job.

Or she should be devoting long hours to civic and religious organizations. But Dr. Tom's prospective mother-in-law sits at home, with few friends and just keeps house for her daughter. That's not a big enough job for any healthy woman.

DATING BUREAU

Here is a good instance where a scientific dating bureau would have eliminated needless quarreling and heartache.

For if this 53-year-old widow had remarried 10 years ago when her husband died, she'd not need Marcia as a lackey and slave to flatter her maternal vanity.

You young people must realize that when you have passed the age of 21 and have chosen wisely, then you should marry!

If your domineering parents selfishly wish to keep you forever as slaves to their whims, state your case very clearly.

All good parents are supposed to prepare their children for happy marriage and even push the fledglings out of the nest. Tell them that. Be frank but courteous.

But be doubly sure you pick wisely! Don't rush into a foolish marriage just to get away from a dictatorial or unhappy home life.

So send for my 200-point "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Lake Residents Bothered by Water Hot-Rodders

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Showers of blessings to the editor of The Pontiac Press for the fair opportunity afforded to all seekers to public office. We, the voters, cannot know these aspirants personally and we depend on the public press to assist us.

Why not go a step further and invite these representatives to tell the voters that they are awake to the needs of legislation to protect the people they will represent?

Thanks to Jack Patterson for exposing the "hands off" policies of present officials in bringing justice to the residents of Union Lake and all residents of our inland lakes. It brought the attention publicly to the needs of better legislation against the hot rodders on our waters.

I think I represent all the taxpayers on our lake in saying that we are glad to afford the opportunity for non-resident fishermen to visit our waters to fish, but not as hot-rodders and speed demons.

Union Lake residents are adding to the cost of our taxes and fishing licenses $5.00 per family to employ a capable and experienced deputy to patrol our lake, but find this "hands off" policy of present officials a stop gap to our efforts.

Mix-Up Over Arms, Dam Snarls Egypt's Relations

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This country's dealings with Egypt are a tangled story in which the United States looks slow and stumbling and Egypt's new strong man President Gamal Abdel Nasser looks like a bullyboy on horseback.

The story revolves around two things which got jumbled together: Nasser's request to this country for arms and for money to build a high dam at Aswan to give Egypt irrigation and power.

This country had a natural, and not unselfish, reason for wanting the best possible links with Egypt after Nasser, an army colonel, and a group of fellow officers threw out King Farouk in 1952.

It wanted to keep Communist influence out of Egypt and the Middle East. It has given Egypt 117 million dollars in economic aid. Nasser could have kept himself fully busy trying to lift Egypt out of illiteracy and poverty.

He needed money for the dam to make good on his promises that he would improve and modernize Egypt. It was the big point in his reform program. If he didn't get the money somewhere, his days as Egypt's No. 1 man might be numbered.

It was only after the United States saw that Nasser wasn't bluffing when he said he'd buy arms from the Communists that it said it would help out with money for the dam. Nasser had threatened to get money for the dam from Russia if this country didn't come across.

Early this year United States and Britain said they'd give Egypt 70 million dollars toward building the dam and might lend her an additional 130 millions. The World Bank, which had been talking with Egypt for years about the dam, chimed in by saying it would lend 200 million dollars.

For some reason — not yet clear — Nasser didn't start work on the dam. But he sounded more defiant of the West, and offended the United States by recognizing Red China. Then it was learned he had bought mors arms from the Communists.

Early in July the Senate Appropriations Committee told the Eisenhower administration not to use any of the foreign aid money voted this year to help Egypt build its dam.

Finally, fed up with Nasser and under pressure at home and abroad, the administration withdrew its loan offer to Nasser. The overheated Nasser seized the Suez Canal.

The British began talking of using force against him. He backed down a bit but not to the extent of un-seizing the canal. There the story rests.

By JAMES J. METCALFE

There are so many loving words . . . I wish that I could write . . . Beginning with, "Good morning," dear . . . And ending with, "Good night" . . . Beginning with, "I love you, and . . . There is no other one" . . . And writing every moment till . . . The setting of the sun . . . And even if my pen should stray . . . Into some strange designs . . . I know you would be able, dear . . . To read between the lines . . . But I have no ability . . . To properly compose . . . The message of my love for you . . . In poetry or prose . . . And what is worse, and what I hope . . . Your heart will understand . . . I do not have the courage, dear . . . To take my pen in hand.

Gambling Drive Loses Steam; Churches Glad

LANSING—"The Churches are, of course, gratified to learn there will be no need for a referendum on further legalized gambling this fall due to the failure of the gambling proponents to obtain a sufficient number of names on petitions to require such a statewide poll." These were the sentiments of Dr. John E. Marvin, editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate and chairman of the Division of Christian Life and Work of the Michigan Council of Churches.

"There is already too much legalized gambling permitted in Michigan," Marvin said. "While the churches were prepared to set up a committee opposed to legalized gambling, representing all faiths, to defeat such a proposal had it come up, they are glad that this particular battle does not have to be fought."

Confident Living

Miracles Still Possible in This Pragmatic World

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Would you be surprised if, as you read this, the paper on which it is printed disintegrated and disappeared before your very eyes? Would you call it a miracle?

* * *

Well, that is not likely to take place. But, it could happen, and it would be no miracle. D. Philip Anthony quotes the explanation of a physician, Dr. Gotthard Booth, of the Seminar on Religion and Health at Columbia University. This is Dr. Booth's explanation of the "miracle."

PEALE

"Accidentally, all the electrons composing it could have moved into a pattern allowing it to fall through the empty spaces composing your hand or desk like salt running through the top of a salt shaker. The probability of such an event is small, but by no means infinitesimal . . ."

If such phenomena could happen, it is not at all strange, is it, that physical afflictions could disappear just as mysteriously.

PROFOUNDLY MOVED BY STORY

Some months ago in a speech, I told the exciting story of Walter Davis, the young man who, by a remarkable spiritual experience, had overcome the effects of infantile paralysis to become the champion high jumper of the world. A woman in my audience that night had come in a wheel chair, pushed by her husband and son. The doctors, I later learned, could find no physical reason for her inability to walk, but, nevertheless, she was unable to rise from her chair unaided.

She was profoundly moved by the Walter Davis story. When the meeting was over, the two men wheeled her out of the auditorium. They came to the top of a long flight of stairs leading to the street level and, as was their custom, they started to pick her up and carry her. But she amazed them by saying quietly but firmly, "Just help me out of the chair. I am going to walk down these steps."

They tried to dissuade her, and then to assist her, but she said firmly, "Just let me rest my hand on the arm of one of you." And somewhat unsteadily she walked down every one of those steps with increasing confidence. At the bottom, she turned to her family and said, "If that young man could become champion high jumper of the world after infantile paralysis, I can certainly walk without a wheel chair." She has been walking ever since.

MIRACLE IN THE MIND

Did she experience a miraculous healing of the legs? No. There was nothing wrong with them. Of the mind? Yes. Of the soul? Yes. In an instant, Almighty God had touched her with a healing and vitalizing thought of strength and delivered her from whatever it was that paralyzed her mind so that she was able to rise up and walk.

The miracle that happened to this woman happened in her mind. But is the mind so different from the rest of the body? Clergymen of the Protestant faith report many examples of physical infirmities even as serious as cancer, all medically diagnosed, and healed by the power of faith. At Lourdes, the famous Catholic shrine of France, Catholic authorities have worked closely with medical specialists to assemble many impressive other examples.

"If thou canst believe," says the Bible, "all things are possible to him that believeth." What a great healing combination, God and the doctor. Faith and science working together can perform miracles, and never doubt that. God can touch you and cure you.

"And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up . . ." Believe and pray and perhaps you too can witness, in the lives of you and yours, the miracle of healing.

Okinawa Minister to Represent Ryukyus in Japan

The former head of the United Church of Christ of Okinawa, Rev. Yoshio Higa, has been appointed first representative of the government of the Ryukyu Islands to the government of Japan. Okinawa is the largest of the Ryukyu group.

Moderator of the United Church six years, and a former Crusade scholar of the Methodist Church, Higa becomes, in effect, the first representative of the Ryukyu Government to a foreign nation.

The Islands are governed by the United States under a UN trusteeship, but the people have a legislature and an Okinawa governor. Higa was appointed by the governor, who also is a Christian.

Higa was succeeded in the post of moderator by Rev. Chosho Nakacato, pastor of the United church at Shuri on Okinawa. Higa formerly studied at Drew University, Madison, N.J.

The Board of Missions of the Methodist Church is one of six mission boards which cooperate with the 1,500-member United Church.

Primary Needs Noted in Europe

Rebuilt Churches, Train Young Pastors, Need for Bibles Emphasized

In May 1945 a prominent churchman from Europe, speaking to the Foreign Mission Board of a large denomination in the United States, said that in addition to food, clothing and housing, Europe had three other primary needs.

The first was for rebuilt churches. The second was for trained young pastors. But the third and greatest need was for Bibles. Many people had lost their Bibles when their homes were destroyed, or when they fled before the moving lines of battle.

Pulpit Bibles had been burned when churches were bombed. Publishing houses that printed Bibles had been confiscated or destroyed.

It was not uncommon to find only one Bible in a village, and for that Bible to be passed from home to home for only an hour's or a day's reading by each family.

From 1945 through 1954, the American Bible Society provided almost eight million volumes of Scriptures to Europeans.

During the same period at least two million dollars were given to help restore printing facilities, and to provide raw materials for Bible printing in Europe.

Miami airline passengers totaled 3,059,142 last year for a new record. More than one fourth of them were international travelers. The total gain in passengers over 1954 was 523,445.

Billy Graham Biography Coming Out in September

The McGraw-Hill Book Com. will publish in September a biography of Billy Graham — the dyamic evangelist whose amazing, international ministry has been called "the phenomenon of the mid-20th Century."

The title is "Billy Graham: The Personal Story of the Man, His Message and His Mission." The author is Stanley High, a senior editor of The Reader's Digest.

Though only 38, Billy Graham propably has preached face to face, to more people than any spokesman for Christianity in history: an estimated twenty-million. Another twenty-million listen to his weekly radio program, "Hour of Decision."

The book is primarily the story of Graham's life, beginning when he was a preacher in his teens.

GRAHAM THE PHENOMENON

It also deals with Graham as a phenomenon; telling the story of his crusades, how they are prepared for, organized, financed, and how in scores of cities across the United States, in Canada, Great Britain, Europe and Asia, they put religion on the front page and make it the chief topic of man-in-the-street conversation.

It is also the story, based on the author's first hand inquries at home and board, of the lasting effects of the Graham crusades.

In preparation for the book, all of Graham's material and all of the records of his organization were made available to High, as well as Graham's diaries and the personal letters of his wife.

High also saw Graham in action many times, in America and abroad, and followed the crusade in many cities, interviewing both converts and ministers.

High, son of a Methodist preacher, studied at Boston University School of Theology. Instead of the ministry, however, he went into journalism, first on the staff of the Christian Science Monitor.

Later, he was editor of The Christian Herald, then a regular contributor of The Saturday Evening Post. For the past 16 years he has been editor of The Reader's Digest.

Besides innumerable magazine articles, many of them on religious subjects, he is the author of eight other books.

In French history, the "Hundred Days" was the term of Napoleon's second reign as emperor, climaxed by the battle of Waterloo.

Korean Amputees Walk — Thanks to Christian Aid

Paul Kingsbury, of the Union Christian Service Center, Taejon, Korea, recently made a short trip with two helpers to visit former patients who had been fitted with artificial limbs at the Center. One of his companions, himself an amputee, was the head office worker of the Center's Vocational Training Department.

Thirty miles from Taejon, the men found 25-year-old Miss Chong Yong Sun, whose brother had driven her that distance on his bicycle to the Center a year before. She had lost both legs below the knees, but had been fitted with artificial limbs. Kingsbury and his fellow workers found her walking quite well and doing housework.

In a mountain village far from a main road, they found 23-year-old Kim Chin Kon. Wearing an artificial arm he had received at the Center, he was giving Christian service as deacon in his village church and leader of a Bible Club in which 35 children, who could not afford to attend a public school, were receiving training in elementary subjects, Bible study, character development, and leadership.

One "alumnus" earns his living as a woodsman, working with a logging crew in the mountains. Another collects a type of root used in making scrub brushes, and his family makes the brushes and sends the finished products to the city for sale.

Braille Bible Helps Blind to Know God

The Braille Bible is the source book of the blind minister, of whom there are several hundred in the United States. It plays a large part in the rehabilitation of the blind veteran, giving him faith and courage as he starts out again on a new road of life.

It is often the only companion to those who, like Helen Keller, are without sight or hearing. It brings inspiration, guidance and light along their path as they go forward confidently, overcoming what was before dreary silence and utter darkness.

78 American Baptists to Receive Scholarships

RECALLING PUERTO RICO — When the package was opened, Rabbi Israel Goodman found a picture of friends living at Camp Losey on an island near San Juan, Puerto Rico. Rabbi Goodman has been serving as chief rabbi and as auxiliary chaplain to the U. S. Armed Forces in San Juan before coming to Congregation B'nai Israel this summer. He is shown with his wife and daughters, (left to right) Lila, Mrs. Goodman and Arlene. The Goodmans make their home at 140 Oneida Rd.

Special Orthodox Liturgy for Gotham's Central Park

NEW YORK — The solemn Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom will be celebrated 11:30 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 12, in the Central Park Mall. The service will highlight opening ceremonies of the week-long national convention of the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association, a Greek fraternal organization.

Archbishop Michael, of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, the Rt. Rev. Athenagoras, titular bishop of Elaia and dean of the Holy Cross Theological Seminary, the Rt. Rev. Germanos, titular bishop of Constantia and chancellor of the Greek archdiocese of North and South America, will officiate in conjunction with thirty Greek Orthodox priests of the New York, New Jersay, and Connecticut area.

A 200 voice choir, including 40 trained in the Byzantine music, under the direction of James Pappas of Flushing, director of music at the Greek American Institue in the Bronx, will chant the 4th Century Byzantine hymns in response to prayers by the Clergy.

This elaborate ritual, still celebrated today as it was in the year of its inception, 400 A.D., re-enacts the three stages of the life of Christ, His birth, His ministry, and the Crucifixion and Resurrection.

An altar will be erected in the Shell of the Mall with specially designed floral arrangements and the necessary implements for the celebration of the Divine Liturgy. A huge corss of white flowers will also adorn the sanctuary.

The liturgy in every Eastern Orthodox Church must be celebrated on the "Antiminsion," a beautifully ornate cloth containing relics of Saints in its lining. The "Antiminsion," to be used in this ceremony was first used in Corinth, Greece, in 1780.

A bi-lingual translation of the Divine Liturgy will be distributed to more than 10,000 persons expected at the service.

Seaway Boom Town to Enjoy Unique Rites

Through one of the most completely cooperative religious programs ever undertaken in the area of Massena, N. Y., that seaway boom town — which has almost doubled in population in the past six years—will enjoy unique services. An outdoor theater will be used for summer worship. A mobile "chapel on wheels" will serve as program headquarters, together with a second trailer unit loaned by the Massena Chamber of Commerce.

Vacation church schools will be expanded and relocated in convenient church centers. Recreational and social service projects, aimed at integrating the thousands of seaway construction workers and their families into community life, are already under way.

Permanent church facilities are being expanded. Two Protestant congregations are constructing new educational units and each Protestant congregation is expanding summer staff. Directing the overall program is a new, full-time coordinator.

Silvercrest Baptist to Present Picture

The Rev. James H. Luther will show the film, "Glass Mountain" at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Silvercrest Baptist Church.

Dr. Merv Rosell preaches the Easter Resurrection sermon.

Sponsors Farm Visits

The Minnesota Council of Churches is sponsoring 10-day visits on farms of white Protestant families in 15 Minnesota communities by 53 Negro, Indian and Nisei children.

Extension Director to Speak at Bethany

Dr. Paul Warford of Lansing, director of church extension of the Michigan Baptist Convention, will be speaker at the Communion Meditation at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning in Bethany Baptist Church.

He will preach on "A Christian Looks at Life" in the Crescent Hills Baptist Church at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Dr. Warford will also be guest preacher at Bethany on Aug. 12.

On Aug. 19, John Hatchett, a student at Boston School of Theology and a member of Trinity Baptist Church, will bring the message.

Noted Minister Ends 38 Year Church Service

The Rev. Hiram G. Conger of Summit, N. J., who has been termed a pioneer in religious audio-visuals, has retired after 38 years' service with the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church and it predecessor, the Board of Foreign Missions of the former Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mr. Conger, who had worked in both New York and Chicago, was a pioneer in visual education in Methodism in the days when "lantern slide lectures" — on large hand-colored glass plates—were in use in missionary education. He has been a part of the development of this educational media to motion pictures, colored photography, film strips, and recording equipment.

Churches Speed Aid to Greeks

Church World Service Rushes Food, Clothing After Tidal Wave

Within 24 hours after a disastrous earthquake and tidal wave struck the Greek Islands in the Aegean Sea July 9, emergency relief for many hundreds injured, and left homeless and destitute was supplied by the American churches through Church World Service.

Supplies valued at $65,000 and 122,400 pounds of food reached the half-destroyed island of Thiro for emergency feeding operations. They included U. S. surplus cheese and other dairy products, sugar, cocoa, cottonseed oil and soap, and a carload of corn oil collected by CWS-CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program).

As soon as news of the early morning disaster reached Athens, Church World Service, acting for the major Protestant and Orthodox denominations, also sent immediately 240 bales of clothing and 150 bags of shoes from stocks in its Athens warehouse.

At the request of CWS representatives in Athens, expenditures of $2,000 were authorized for purchase of additional relief supplies, including canned milk for babies, canned meat which could be eaten without cooking, and 500 blankets.

By nightfall the same day, Prof. Hamilcar Alivisatos of the Church of Greece, and Peter Krueger, CWS representative, surveyed the damage on Thira from the deck of the Greek destroyer Aegeon, prior to going ashore and taking a hand in setting up feeding stations.

In addition, Schueler and Co. of New York, made $10,000 worth of splints and plaster of paris bandages available through CWS for use among the survivors.

The emergency shipments were made possible by the Share Our Surplus program of the churches. They were carried out in cooperation with the Holy Synod of the Greek Orthodox Church. Greek Navy and merchant ships carried 120,000 pounds of these supplies.

Clergy Course to Be Aug. 7-10

Federal Civil Defense Administration Plans Discussion on Attack

Responsibilities of the clergy in the event of a nuclear attack on the United States will be discussed in the second special course for clergymen to be given by the Federal Civil Defense Administration in Battle Creek, August 7-10.

At least 60 ministers, priests and rabbis from throughout the nation are expected to attend the course given by FCDA's staff college and Religious Affairs Office. Ohio will send 15 clergymen at State expense.

The course will consider such matters as preservation of records and church valuables in an attack, the role of the church in rural civil defense, prevention of panic in time of attack or natural disaster and handling of mass burials.

Other items on the agenda will concern means of identification of the clergy in time of disaster and methods of coordinating the work of the clergymen with other civil defense services during a natural disaster.

As a feature of the course, plans are being made to work out a typical civil defense reception area problem.

This demonstration will be carried out in a hypothetical town of 10,000 which will be assumed to be crowded with 40,000 "evacuees" from bombed city.

The course will close with an inspirational address by Dr. Charles W. Lowry of Washington, D. C., lecturer and author, and Director of the Foundation for Religious Action in the Social and Civil Order. He will speak on "The Church's Stake in Civil Defense."

New light on

Prayer

SCIENCE AND HEALTH
with Key to the Scriptures
by MARY BAKER EDDY

Most people would pray more if they felt they knew how, — and knew how prayer could really be effective. Many today feel that their own lives, and the world at large, sorely need help that human effort has not brought.

They see that somehow the answer to life's perplexing problems must be sought where power and intelligence have their limitless source — in the realm of God.

Today Science and Health is revealing a wholly new understanding of prayer, and meeting humanity's need.

British Missionary Works to Help Indian Mothers

Dr. Marian B. Hall is an English-born Methodist missionary with a passion to help meet what she considers two of India's most pressing needs, maternal health and birth control.

An obstetrician of many years' experience, Dr. Hall came to the United States on furlough last year with her husband, chest-surgeon Dr. Sherwood Hall of the Madar Union Tuberculosis Sanitorium. She hoped to enlist support for a project she believed would encourage maternal health and teach the values of planned parenthood in heavily populated areas like her home, Ajmer in northwest India.

The project was the purchase of a mobile maternal health unit, which could go into the villages and the countryside around Ajmer. From the unit, Dr. Hall told Methodist audiences in this country, modern gynecological examinations could be given. It could be equipped with charts and other teaching aids, stressing the social and economic advantages of planned parenthood, she added.

"In an overpopulated, underdeveloped land such as India, which is making significant strides under government leadership toward social and economic uplift," Dr. Hall said, "a key factor is a population which can be supported adequately by available resources. Hence the need for planned parenthood, to help keep population size in accord with the ability of the land to support it."

Dr. Hall's talks bore fruit and when she and her husband return to India later this year, an $8,000 custom-built mobile unit will be awaiting her. Equipped with a tent for examinations, a portable X-ray unit and a refrigerator, the fieldcar will be manned by Dr. Hall, an Indian woman doctor, an Indian nurse and a driver.

* * *

One-half of the necessary amount was given by the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions, and $2,000 was given by the Methodist Church of the Saviour, Cleveland, Ohio, as an Advance special. Smaller amounts were given by churches, individuals and church groups. The fieldcar is being shipped to India duty free under a special agreement between the Indian and American governments.

Army Chapel Offering Scripture in 3 Tongues

The Scriptures are available in three languages—Spanish, English and Cuna—at the Fort Clayton Chapel in the Canal Zone. Chaplain (Major) Robert B. Herndon has opened his chapel to young men from the San Blas Islands off Central America who work on nearby U. S. military bases.

A Spanish pastor, Rev. Adalberto Santizo, works with the chaplain by teaching Scripture lessons in Spanish, but he also distibutes the Gospel of Mark in Cuna, the language of the San Blas Islands.

The American Bible Society made the Scriptures available to the Chapel.

Red Chinese Free Bishop 'Not in the Best of Health'

HONG KONG (AP) — American Bishop Ambrose Pinger has been released from prison in Red China after serving a five-year sentence.

"I'm fairly well—not in the best of health," the 59-year-old Roman Catholic missionary told a reporter by telephone from Shanghai.

Bishop Pinger, who is staying at Shanghai's Franciscan mission pending repatriation, said he was not certain when he will leave China.

"Yes, I've lost a little weight," he said, "but I don't know how much."

The American churchman, whose home is in Chicago but who was born in Lindsay, Neb., was arrested in Tsingtao Aug. 5, 1951.

He said he had been transferred to several prisons during his confinement, but he declined to talks of his experiences.

An American priest who left Red imprisonment last month, the Rev. Thomas Phillips of San Francisco, said he had seen Bishop Pinger and that the prelate was suffering from high blood pressure.

Earlier, Bishop James E. Walsh of Cumberland, Md., who also is in Shanghai, told a reporter by telephone that he planned to lunch with Bishop Pinger today. Bishop Walsh, freed from two years of semi-house arrest last June, is the only American prelate allowed to remain free in Shanghai. He said he was feeling all right and "getting along fairly well."

Bishop Pinger's release leaves 10 Americans — five of them Catholic missionaries—still in Red Chinese jails.

Hungary Hosts Church Group

First Major Meeting of Council of Churches Held in Iron Curtain

The first major meeting of the World Council of Churches ever to be held in Eastern Europe convened at Matrahaza near Budapest, Hungary, recently, with Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of New Rochelle, New York, in the chair. Dr. Fry, chairman of the World Council's influential Central Committee is also president of the United Lutheran Church in America and a member of the General Board of the National Council of Churches. Sessions will conclude on Aug. 5.

No passport or visa problems were encountered by more than 30 Americans attending the meeting, including 21 members of the Central Committee, according to Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft, World Council general secretary.

Major discussions at the Central Committee are centering around "Proselytism and Religious Liberty," and "The Churches and the Building of a Responsible International Society." A major item of business is setting the exact date and place of the Third World Council Assembly to be held in 1960.

Prior to the Central Committee sessions in Hungary, more than 250 churchmen and women—clergy and lay—from many parts of the world took part in World Council committee meetings at Herrenalb, Germany from July 15-2

These sessions were marked by the 10th anniversary observance of the Commission on the Churches on International Affairs, a joint agency of the World Council and of the International Missionary Council. The CCIA Executive Committee met from July 22-25 to consider such concerns as international peace, human rights and religious liberty, economic and social development.

"HOLD NOT BY PEACE"
The Rev. Mr. Burton, preaching

The Protestant Reformers chose to express themselves, rather than to be subdued by the error which had crept into the church organization of their day. In so doing they brought about a break with the totalitarian practices of church government which had gained control in the affairs of the state. The Bible teaching that "the just shall live by faith" was rediscovered. (Romans 1:17)

Ever since the days of the Reformation, Protestantism has been the cornerstone of democracy. Protestants recognize differences of opinion. Yet Bible-believing Protestants are united in their recognition of the Bible as the supreme authority in spiritual matters.

American history has developed side by side with Protestant ideals of democracy. A look at world geography today reveals that it is Protestant countries which are not plagued with dictatorships.

The freedom which is known in democracy can be traced directly to the life of Jesus Christ. Jesus stressed the value of the individual soul and its responsibility directly to God. To carry out that responsibility the individual must be free. Jesus emphasized the equality of men in the sight of God. Also, it was through the death of Jesus that freedom from the tyranny of sin was purchased. The Bible, speaking of Jesus, says, "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." (John 8: 36)

Jesus Christ died on Calvary to purchase freedom—freedom from sin and its consequences. Bible-believing Protestants are united in their recognition of this fact. They are also united in their belief that the functions of the Church and the functions of the State were meant to be separate. Jesus said, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's." (Luke 20: 25)

Perhaps you would like to know more about this question of true freedom, salvation through Jesus Christ, and about Protestantism's doctrine of "Separation of Church and State." If so, send for a FREE pamphlet on the subject by simply filling in and mailing the following:

Farm-Use Gas Refunds Seen Still Available

Oakland County farmers can still claim a refund on the Federal tax on all gasoline bought and used for farming during the period of Jan. 1 through June 30, according to John K. Trocke, Assistant County Agricultural Agent.

For the six month's period, claims may be made for a refund of the tax of two cents per gallon. This should not be confused with the new federal tax of three cents per gallon which went into effect July 1, for which refund may be claimed at the end of the 12 month period, July 1, 1956 to June 30, 1957.

Agent Trocke offers forms for making application. Deadline is Oct. 1. Claim periods shifted to a full 12 months beginning July 1.

Legion Pledges Benefits Battle

National Commander Tells State Meeting of Fight for Vets

LANSING (AP) — The American Legion is pledged to an all-out battle for increased benefits for veterans, J. Addington Wagner of Battle Creek, national commander, told a Michigan Legion convention today.

Wagner enlarged upon similar statements made at an Illinois Legion convention.

"We don't accept as final the failure of the Senate in the closing days of the 84th Congress to act on house-approved measures to liberalize existing benefits for aged and disabled World War I veterans and for service-connected disabled veterans," he said.

"We are going to battle for enactment of these benefits from the opening day of the next Congress. And ultimately we are going to win.

Wagner said Michigan legionnaires had supported the bills "in a magnificent manner."

He said Herman F. Luhrs of Birmingham, past Michigan department commander and chairman of The Legion's National Legislative Committee, was one of the leaders in the fight for the bills.

Soil Bank to Affect 500,000 Farmers

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department said today that nearly half a million farmers have agreed to place more than 10 million acres in the soil bank's acreage reserve program this year.

The maximum payments these farmers would earn for agreeing not to grow certain crops on their land would total more than 224 million dollars.

This is far below the 750 million dollars the government could pay farmers annually for taking part in the acreage reserve program but officials pointed out that the program was late in getting started this year.

One top official said the 10 million dollar cutback in production acreage this year fulfills the department's goal.

He pointed out that next year's objective may be three or four times as great.

The exact figures announced by the department as of the program's deadline—July 27—were:

Number of agreements—495,432; number of acres—10,720,749; maximum payment—$224,414,430.

The objectives of the acreage reserve are to cut back production of six so-called basic crops—wheat, cotton, peanuts, rice, corn and tobacco.

Program payments are expected to begin in some part of the country in about a week.

Clarkston, M-24 Corner Changes With New Stores

LAKE ORION — The corner of Clarkston Rd. and M24 is rapidly changing.

The grocery store operated for years by A. P. Betson, known to the community as "Pop" has moved across the road to the shore of Buckhorn Lake, where it has a better foundation and a large parking area that is being graveled this week.

A new modern service station of brick and glass is being completed behind the original store site, on a half acre. With an area of 240 square feet, it will be equipped for grease and oil changes, car washes, and minor repairs.

The operator will be Robert A. Betson, son of A. P. Betson.

The Betsons are also placing a quonset-type building away from the corner to house the badly wrecked cars formerly placed outside next to the building.

Girl Returns to Home —This Time for Good

By LAOMA SANFORD
Lake Orion Correspondent

LAKE ORION — Anna Lou Bader, 17, who has been a patient at the Sister Kinney Foundation in Farmington since Aus. 3, 1954, is home to stay.

When stricken it was doubtful if her life would be spared. She was only able to move her fingers when fever abated, but with determination she was out of the iron lung in October. A visit home for Christmas was possible.

Now, she says, leaving friends at the hospital is almost like leaving a family, but weekly checks will keep her in touch with the group. She has grown grateful for the experienced hands of her therapist and many of the hospital aids.

Home, this morning, she was "sleeping in," a real break from the routine. Anna loves to read books, especially about horses, and her younger brothers are waiting for evening when they think Anna will read to them. She has also learned to paint numbered oil paintings and she is really enjoying the hobby. Anna recently learned to crochet and has a multicolored afaghan which she has jut finished.

She has been going to school, via teacher who came to her, and she completed the 10th grade while at the foundation. Before coming home her mother made inquiries about the homebound teacher and if everything works out she will begin school again in the fall.

Wonderful days seem to be ahead for this plucky girl who is now in a wheel chair but is determined to walk again.

With the help of her mother who learned the therapy treatments in six-weeks span from nurses, she will be able to watch her brothers drive the tractors and jeep, and to help her mother plant bright flowers she loves to see.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXXII

Paulson finished his third drink and gravely debated having another. Reluctantly, he decided against it. He was feeling fine, now. Just had a little edge on. Just right for the things he had to do.

He got out his wallet and fumbled in it. The waitress saw him and came to his booth with a slip of paper on a small, round tray.

He peered near-sighted at the bill. That accident broke his glasses. He'd have to get another pair. First thing in the morning. Too late to do it tonight, he guessed. Opticians probably all closed up shop when it got dark.

The figures on the slip swam before his gaze and he asked the waitress, "How much?"

She told him and he blinked down at his wallet and carefully selected a five. He put it on her tray and said, "Keep change."

When she had gone away, he got up stiffly and slid out, walked a little unsteadily to the front door, remembering to keep the left side of his face averted as he passed the bar and went out into the cool night.

THINGS BLURRED

Things blurred as he dragged in a lungful of the clean air. He staggered a little more obviously as he went to his car and got under the wheel.

Looking for Nellie. That's what. Had to find her.

He put the car in gear and it lurched away. Lessee, now. Where was he exactly?.. He didn't know Miami too well, but it is an easy town for a stranger to orient himself in if he can read street signs, and he paused at the next intersection to peer out the windshield and read them aloud.

Sure. He know now. Turn to the left and drive about six blocks. Then to the right three blocks. That was it.

Everything was all right now. He knew exactly where he was and where he was going. He needed another little night-cap maybe. Then he'd sleep soundly. And first thing tomorrow he'd get some new glasses and then he'd find Nellie.

The Silver Glade was a modest night-spot in the Southwest section not more than 10 blocks from Michael Shayne's hotel. It had a floor show and a small dance floor, and it served honest drinks of liquor to natives or to tourists sober enough to notice what they were drinking.

Because it was close and because the bartender knew Shayne's preference in cognac, the detective was in the habit of dropping into the Silver Glade occasionally for a late drink. When he entered the door tonight the hatcheck girl smiled at him brightly and said, "Long time no see, Mr. Shayne," as she took his Panama without bothering to give him a check for it.

He took the four-by-six photograph from his pocket and pushed it in front of her. "Ever see this guy around?"

She leaned forward for a better look and studied the picture thoughtfully.

"Don't remember as I have. You know how it is. Half the time I don't even look at them when I hand out checks—unless they're big, ugly redheads, that is."

YOU NOTICE THIS BIRD?

Holding the photograph in his hand, he went to the bar where there was an empty stool at one end. The bartender was middle-aged and bland-faced. When he saw the redhead coming to the bar he turned and reached up to the top shelf to lift down a bottle of Martell.

He set it on the bar in front of Shayne and uncorked it with a flourish. "Don't see you around much, Mike."

The bartender looked down at it, then reached into his hip pocket for a pair of glasses in a leather case. He hooked them down behind his ears an dstudied the man's face carefully.

"Can't say that I did, Mike, but that odesn't m ean he wasn't in."

Shayne said, sure, he knew how it was. A slim, dark man in elegant evening clothes came up behind him and clapped him lightly on the shoulder.

"Glad to see you, Shamus. On the house, Henry," he told the bartender, nodding toward the bottle.

I'll call oftener, since you give Martell for free," Shayne told the proprietor pleasantly. He moved the picture back with his forefinger on it. "You had anybody in this evening that looked like this?"

Salvadore studied it critically. "Sure. Dozens of them just about like that. He isn't one you'd pick out of a crowd."

BERT PAULSON

He hadn't much hope of success with the picture. As Salvadore said, the face was too thoroughly ordinary, too completely undistinguished to give anyone reason for remembering it.

But it was all Shayne had left now. If he could prove the dead man had actually been in the Silver Glade after 9:30, it would be a cinch he hadn't gone into Biscayne Bay from room 316 of the Hibiscus.

But what would that prove? Shayne asked himself angrily. Nothing, really. He still wouldn't know the actual identity of the man with the scarred face—nor of the dead man.

Bert Paulson? Charles Barnes? A dead girl in the park. Until he looked at her face and at the receipted bill from the Hibiscus, he had been so dead certain she wasn't Nellie Paulson.

Wise GOP Planner Gives Tipoff on Convention Dress

Women Appreciate Advice on Proper Clothing to Pack for San Francisco Meet

By RUTH MILLETT

The biggest problem for a woman whether she is going on an out-of-town weekend or on a two-month tour of Europe is what she'll need in the way of clothes.

Any woman going to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco is going to know exactly what she'll need to be appropriately dressed at all times.

The reason for this is that for the first time a woman is heading up the planning committee for a national convention.

And being woman - wise, Mrs. Judy Weis has already let the word go out on that most important question—what to wear.

She not only has told the ladies what weight and type of clothes they will need to feel comfortable and at ease; she has, according to Gaile Dugas, NEA staff correspondent, come up with some practical ideas of what does and what doesn't show up well on TV cameras.

TIPS APPRECIATED

The men may not fully appreciate how much this kind of advance information means to a woman frantically going through her closet to see what will be usable for a trip and what will need to be added.

But any woman who has ever accompanied her husband to a convention and arrived with the wrong type or weight clothes, or one who has had to listen to her husband complain because she packed everything she owned to be sure of having "the right things" will bless the foresight of Mrs. Weis.

A woman has such a need of feeling appropriately and becomingly dressed that even the excitement of a national convention wouldn't make up for her discomfort in finding herself wearing big prints and floppy hats when the majority of the women were wearing little dark dresses and show-the-face bonnets.

A convention planner who realizes that for women the big question is always what to wear is sure to be a welcome innovation for the women.

Home Gift Appreciated

NEW YORK (INS)—Time was when it was considered an insult to give a woman a practical, housewife-type gift.

But today's housewares are designed for beauty and many a woman would appreciate a decorative houseware item as much as she would a pretty piece of furniture.

Cutlery and flatware in wood stainless steel is one example. These knives, forks, etc., are finely fashioned with a Scandinavian look achieved via the use of wood grains for decorative effect. The gleaming metal and handsome wood combine for an elegant but simple look.

A gown of tulle and French lace fashioned with a basque waist and bouffant skirt was worn by the bride. Appliques of lace accented the hooped skirt that fell into a chapel-sweep train.

A half-crown headpiece secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion and she carried white carnations centered with a white orchid on her prayer book, a gift of the bridegroom.

SISTER IS HONOR MAID

White lace over coral was worn, by the honor attendant and the other attendants wore aqua. Matching colored pillbox headpieces with nose veils completed their costumes. Each carried a colonial bouquet of carnations in a matching color.

Let Jewelry for Bride Be Simple

Ornate Accessories Out, but Diamonds or Pearls Suitable

By EMILY POST

"What, in the way of jewelry, do you recommend as in best taste for the bride to wear with her white wedding dress and veil? Does she wear a wrist watch?"

Answer: Especially suitable are a string of pearls, pearl (or diamond) earrings if she customarily wears them, and a brooch if her dress requires one, or if it is the gift of the bridegroom. But even if he gives her a watch this would not be suitable unless very small and ornamental.

A bracelet also is possible. Needless to say, none of the jewelry worn should have any apparent color. The bride, of course, wears her engagement ring, and this is usually put on the third finger of her right hand, leaving her left hand free for the wedding ring.

Dear Mrs. Post: "Several nights ago a friend and I stopped in at a small restaurant for something to eat. It was not what you call a "first class" restaurant but it was the only one open at the time. In this particular restaurant checks are paid to a cashier who sits near the door.

"Much to my surprise my friend, who on the whole has very good manners, put his hat on his head as he got up from the table and walked over to the cashier to pay the check. In my estimation he should not have put his hat on until after he left the restaurant. I would very much like to know if he was right or wrong?"

Answer: He was wrong. I don't think he could have been criticized if he put his hat on at the cashier's desk in order to have his hands free to pay the bill.

Dear Mrs. Post: "My husband and I would like to give a sterling silver tray to the daughter of a friend who is soon to be married and we are undecided as to how it should be marked. Her name is Mary Brown and she is marrying a man named John Doe.

"Will you please tell us what initials to use?"

Sleeping Beauty Needn't Become Morning Witch

Makeup Makes You Wake Up Beautiful

By EMILY BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — For centuries women have rolled out of bed in the cold light of dawn looking like something the cat dragged in, but according to a hep Hollywood beautician, the gals can now look like Cleopatra — no matter what time it is.

Makeup artist Aida Grey says the answer lies in a dreamy new overnight skin base that sticks to the face like wallpaper; a pale, indelible lipstick; waterproof mascara and a non-smudge eyebrow pencil.

She calls it a "great boon" to brides.

"A woman just doesn't have to get up in the morning looking like a hag anymore," Miss Grey insisted. "All she has to do is carefully make herself up before retiring and she can look like peaches and cream at 7 a.m."

But the overnight makeup doesn't include rouge.

FACE FLOWS

Mascara is applied only to the upper lashes and the eyebrow pencil may be set by brushing lightly with powder.

"After all," the beauty expert explained, "a woman doesn't want to get up looking like a circus wagon. Too much make-up—especially in the morning—is just as bad as not enough.

"The idea is not to scare your husband, but to inspire him." ..

Miss Grey said she became interested in researching the problem of the "haggy morning look" after listening to embarrassed complaints of certain Hollywood husbands.

HATE TO LOOK

"They confided to me that they loved their wives," she said, "but they'd love 'em a lot more if they didn't have to meet them at breakfast!

"One loving spouse confided to me that his wife reminded him of a first prize-winner at a Halloween party for zombies," the beauty expert recalled, "but most husbands are little more kind.

"When the subject comes up about wives' appearance in the morning, they just look hangdog and say nothing!"

Seek 'Angle' That May Land Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Those of us who entered the working world during the depression had a tough time—one we all hope never comes again — but we did get one plus out of it.

We got a kind of ingenuity which enabled us to think of "angles" that helped us to survive when there were lots of applicants for any one job.

Today, with lots of jobs for any one applicant, there is less of this ingenuity around.

For example, consider the woman who wants a part-time job. Of course, part-time jobs are not terribly easy to get, but they're not as difficult to find as any job was during the depression.

Yet women constantly write me about how perfectly impossible it is to get a part-time job. You can tell that they honestly haven't tried, haven't exercised any ingenuity.

Mrs. L. is a good example.

SOON GAVE UP

Mrs. L. is a skilled seamstress who wanted a part-time job doing alterations. She talked to the two tailors in her neighborhood. They didn't need any help, so she gave up.

"What about the department stores," I asked. No, she assured me. She had been watching their ads and they only took full-time people for alterations.

"Have you gone down to apply and ask if they would consider taking you part-time?" I asked. "After all, if you're good—"

"Why should I waste my time?" she replied. "They say they want full-time only for alteration." And Mrs. L. had just let it go at that!

GOT HIRED

Naturally, I insisted that she go down and try to convince them. And, naturally, it worked. They hired her for four hours a day, five days a week.

* * *

Mrs. L. would have gone on forever complaining that part-time jobs were impossible to get in her community — just because she hadn't bothered to ask!

If you're interested in a part-time job, do try to exercise a little ingenuity and figure an angle to get you in.

But above all, don't just take it for granted that an employer who advertises for full-time will not take part-time help. At least ask him.

Diet Success? Keep Up Exercises!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This week I have been printing some letters from Marathon winners. Marathon, a planned eight-week routine for loss of weight and general improvement, is printed each January.

For one week the following summer I pass along a few of these "success letters" in the hope that any of you who have been procrastinating about self-improvement may "reform."

When you have a definite routine for a definite length of time and know what you can accomplish in that length of time it reinforces the will power. Today I want to answer a few questions from readers who have been following Marathon.

Q. "Can I continue this routine, or rather, repeat it?"

A. Yes. You can continue holding your calorie count to 1,400 a day until you reach your correct weight.

Q. "I have lost inches from my overlarge hips and abdomen. Will I have to keep up the exercises in order to keep my measurements the same?"

A. Bulging measurements come from overweight, lax muscles and fat which accumulates more readily over inactive muscles. Therefore you would be wise to continue your exercises. They are good for you anyway. You may do them less often if you wish.

DIET ESSENTIALS

Q. "I know you have often written about this in your column but will you repeat the daily diet essentials for health?"

A. At least two glasses of milk, some whole grain product, lean meat or fish or fowl, citrus fruit or fruit juice or both, two fresh vegetables (green or yellow are best), some fresh fruit. One egg a day is preferable but you should have at least five a week. The baked potato is a splendid form of starch and is low in calorie count if you do not add too much butter.

You need some fat and carbohydrates in your diet but the reducing woman should cut fats and carbohydrates and build up on proteins and minerals and vitamins.

Q. "Every year I join your Marathon in January and lose what I want to, between 15 and 20 pounds. Then I gradually gain it back and have to do it all over again the next January. How can I avoid this and why does this happen?"

A. It happens because you allow yourself to slip back into your old eating habits. You should increase your caloric intake after you have reached your correct weight.

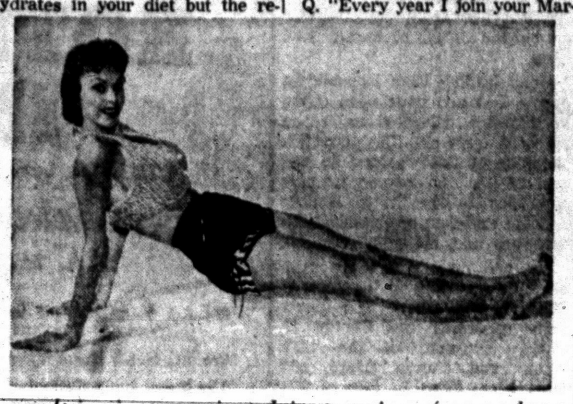

However, once you forget the attitude of dieting you are likely to again indulge in the rich foods you ate as a habit before. Also you may increase amounts of food more than you realize.

WATCH SCALES

Add a few hundred calories to your daily intake. Watch the scales. If you continue to lose, increase calories; if you gain, cut back.

If you wish to keep your correct weight I think it is essential to continue counting calories for a while even though your daily allowance is greater.

If you would like to have my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon booklet to help you get ready for fall clothes send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

It is wise to continue doing exercises after you have completed the Eight-Week Marathon, although you may do them less often if you wish.

'Ten Commandments' Ads Now in New York Subways

The weary strap-hanging hordes accustomed to scanning ads for cigarettes and headache pills may have wondered briefly about this strange addition to subway literature. Probably some read the majestic words for the first time. And some may have found comfort or new resolution in them.

That was the hope of the woman who paid for the space. It took considerable detective work to find her, and then a great deal of persuasion to convice her that it would not be bad taste to reveal her identity.

Adelaide O'Mara has worked as a stenographer for the New York Life Insurance Co. for 32 years, and all that time she has been riding the subway twice a day from Brooklyn to New York and back.

"It's been my dream for many years," said Miss O'Mara shyly, after she recovered from the first shock of having her secret discovered. "It's just something I always wanted to do. I thought it might do some good."

Miss O'Mara, who lives with her mother, saved up her money for a long time to pay the $400 required to buy subway card advertisements for a month. She didn't tell anybody about it, except her mother and a few close friends who were sworn to secrecy.

But for the last couple of weeks since the brave new car card has been in place, Miss O'Mara has had a warm feeling when she joined the pushing subway crowds morning and evening, and she watched to see how many people looked at the Ten Commandments.

"Quite a few did, I think," said Miss O'Mara. "I saw people looking at the card. And it was placed right next to one about juvenile delinquency. I thought that was nice."

Miss O'Mara is a Catholic, but she wanted to make it clear that her action was not sponsored by her church, or by any organization.

"It's personal," said she. "A thing I wanted to do, myself."

Now that the secret is out, Miss O'Mara has been so overwhelmed by the congratulations of fellow office workers and the interest of all kinds of people that she hopes maybe somebody else might get the same kind of idea, and maybe become a permanent part of the subway.

"I'd like to see a plan like that," said Miss O'Mara. "Maybe it could happen. I've heard it said that sometimes a small thing can change the world."

Designers Think About 'New Look'

NEW YORK (INS) — Christian Dior's ankle-sweeping new long hemline got a grudging okay from New York designers today . . . but for evening wear only.

Coat and suit maker Ben Zuckerman, just back from seeing the Dior collection, admitted the eight-inches-off-the-floor hemline was "good to look at." But Zuckerman added:

"I don't think it's daytime wear. It's nice for theater or dinner outfits, but girls who have pretty legs will still want to show them in the daytime. My hemline is staying 15 inches off the ground."

Mollie Parnis, whose dresses are in Mrs. Eisenhower's wardrobe, said she intended to keep her hemlines "at a comfortable length," Dior or no. Judging from the new Parnis collection, her comfortable length is around 13 inches off the floor.

At Pauline Trigere's studio, the Dior hemline also was approved for cocktail time. Trigere's own line includes cocktail clothes with "intermission length hems" — the same length as Dior's.

The designers pointed out that Dior's eight-inch hem was shown in no more than five outfits, mostly tweed cocktail ensembles.

Problem of Picking Sewing Machine?

Debating about what kind of a sewing machine to buy? Perhaps a zig-zag machine would best fit your needs if you can answer "Yes" to the following questions, suggests clothing specialists.

Do you want a machine for any and all kinds of sewing? Do you consistently use decorative stitching on many of the articles you make? Do you want to sew with as few attachments as possible? Do you find that cost is not a major consideration?

A few drops of cologne or toilet water poured into the rinse water of your laundered lingerie and gloves will scent them beautifully.

Ex-Slave Visits City Centennial; She's Even Older

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Hannah Davidson, who claims to be 113, is back home to watch this city celebrate its 100th birthday.

Utah GOP Meeting, Lee Unsure of Spot

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Utah Republicans held their state nominating convention today and the big question was whether Gov. J. Bracken Lee could push through his bid for an unprecedented third term.

Many leading Utah Republicans oppose Lee and have been trying to influence delegates to reject his third term bid. The opposition stems from Lee's refusal to pay part of his 1955 income tax, his opposition to the United Nations and his criticism of President Eisenhower and his administration.

Lee and three others are campaigning for spots on the Sept. 11 GOP primary ticket. The governor's opponents are George D. Clyde, chairman of the Utah Water and Power Board, and State Sens. Elias L. Day of Salt Lake City and Rendell N. Mabey of Bountiful.

The result isn't expected until late in the day.

Brutality Probe Absolves Guards

'Broken-Leg' Protest Draws Slap on Wrist for Prison Help

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A joint legislative committee has completed a two-day probe of prisoner mass mutilation at the Rock Quarry State Prison in Buford with recommendations that strict discipline be maintained and that guards stop cursing and cuffing inmates.

But the committee said in a unimous report yesterday that it had found nothing to substantiate "allegations of cruelty and brutality" at the prison branch for incorrigible convicts 40 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The investigation was called after the legs of 36 convicts were smashed with 20-pound sledges during a rest period Monday afternoon and 5 others were mutilated Tuesday. Examination at the State Prison Hospital in Reidsville showed that all suffered leg injuries but that five did not have fractures.

The prisoners were quoted at the time as saying they broke their own legs in protest against brutality, hard treatment and cursing by the guards.

Five were interviewed by the committee in the hospital yesterday. Each swore he struck his own leg with a 20-pound sledge hammer.

An eye-witness, however, said Thursday in Buford during the first day of the committee probe that he saw three men move down a line of 26 white men, who sat on the ground with two rocks eight inches apart under their legs, "popping" the bones with hammers.

France Gas Prices Up to 81 Cents a Gallon

PARIS (AP)—A decree published in the official gazette has authorizes a boost in gasoline taxes that will force French motorists to pay about 75 cents a gallon for regular gas and 81 for high test.

The increases are the equivalent of 1¾ cents and 2¼ cents a gallon, respectively, for the two grades. They will go into effect soon.

The government, which already takes nearly 50 cents for each gallon pumped, will use part of the extra money to help finance the war against nationalist rebels in Algeria.

Cancer Director Resigns

NEW YORK (INS)—Resignation of Dr. Charles S. Cameron as medical and scientific director and vice-president of the American Cancer Society, effective Nov. 1, has been announced.

Mefford R. Runyon, executive vice-president, in making the announcement, said Cameron will become dean of Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia, from which he received his medical degree in 1935.

Cameron joined the society in 1946. Runyon, announcing the resignation "with regret," said:

"During the past decade, Dr. Cameron has broadened the attack on cancer along many lines. He has made a major contribution to cancer control and the advances that are now saving many lives that could not have been saved 10 years ago."

Runyon explained that in the past 10 years the society's research program has developed into a nationwide operation.

For Smooth Cutting

If you have a home project going, making cushions or padding from foam rubber, it is suggested that when cutting the various shapes and sizes, you dip the scissors into warm water frequently. You will be surprised how smooth the cut edges will be.

Do-Re-Mi May Net Dough as Lamas Turns to Song

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fernando Lamas has decided, in the words of the current song hit, what will be, will be.

So he's singing.

He didn't want to sing. He wanted to be a serious actor, as indeed he had been in his native Argentina. But when he came to this country, MGM saw him as a romantic star. And a singer.

"I never sang at all before — except in the bathtub and sometimes at a party with friends," he remarked. "But MGM decided I should sing. Still, I never took lessons. Before I started a musical picture, I would go in and work out the songs."

When he ended his exclusive contract with MGM nine months ago, he drew a number of offers for film musicals. He nixed them. But so many singing offers came in following months that he changed his mind.

"If that's what they want me to do, I'd better do it," he reasoned. "Why fight it?"

And so he went all-out. He took TV offers, such as one for the Chevy Show on NBC Aug. 14, which he is now rehearsing.

So confident of success is he that he and his wife, Arlene Dahl, plan to take a year's lease on a New York apartment.

"It's a chance, staying away from pictures that long," he admitted. "But if all goes well, it should be a great break for my career."

Just Call Him 'Hot Lips'

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — Seven-year-old Haven Taylor stopped to lick some frost from an outside refrigeration pipe at a local dairy but his wet tongue and lips froze fast to the pipe. He was trapped for half an hour before being freed by David Flynn, an engineer for the dairy, who cut off the ammonia flow and poured water on the pipe.

Firemen to Discuss Uniform Pay Scale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Firemen from all parts of the United States and Canada are going to Montreal for an international convention Aug. 13, mostly concerned with getting more pay and shorter hours.

They would like a minimum of $6,000 a year, at least for first class firemen, and a 48-hour week, says George J. Richardson, secretary-treasurer of the International Assn. of Fire Fighters.

Richardson estimates the average salary of a first class fireman in this country is $4,500 a year. The average work week, he says, is 60 hours. A first class fireman is one who has passed a probationary period, ranging from one to three years.

The association is aiming at salary uniformity in small and big cities alike. Richardson says firemen feel that combatting a blaze in Paducah, Ky., and one in New York City, for example, require the same skill. Thus, they argue professional fire fighters should get the same pay, regardless of the size of the community where they serve.

Firemen, Richardson says, frequently have trouble getting pay boosts since, unlike other worker groups, they have pledged never to strike because of the public service nature of their jobs.

Going to Italy? Place Ad for Wanted Escort

ROME (AP)—Want to marry an aristocrat?

This was typical of the picturesque personals that appear in the English-language daily.

Insertions come from New York to Singapore. One was:

Another:

"Single American gentleman to visit Italy this year wishes interim communication with Italian lady (22-26). Please airmail detailed reply — — care of General Post Office, Singapore."

George E. Hill, former New Yorker who is executive editor of the paper, says:

"We figure our personals make enjoyable reading for tourists, GIs and lonesome oilmen in the Middle East."

He says the paper doesn't have the staff to censor ads and as a result has been embarrassed at times.

"A masseuse who advertised turned out to be a grade A party girl," he said. "This we learned from several readers who wanted a genuine masseuse."

About that nobleman's daughter. Her father specified, "Applicants must come from first-class family, excellent background, 48-52 years old, possible navy officer."

Ford Routed, Tigers Blast Yanks

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers now are the only club in the American League with an even record against the pace-setting New York Yankees, and they couldn't have accomplished it in a more emphatic fashion.

They did it by a score of 10-4 before 43,478 spectators and routed the Yanks' finest pitcher in the process.

Bengals backed their prize left-hander, Billy Hoeft, with 15 base hits — four by slump-busting Charlie Maxwell — last night at Briggs Stadium. Hoeft won his 13th game in a near-breeze, striking out nine batters to run his two-game total to 21. Billy fanned 12 Washington Senators last Sunday.

To add to the Yankee displeasure, it was their 4th consecutive loss. Tigers have split even in 16 games with the New Yorkers, while all other clubs have minus records.

Although he escaped the loss, Whitey Ford lasted just one-third of an inning due to a combination of booming Tiger bats and an injury. After Ford gave a walk and two singles, Ray Boone slashed a liner back through the mound and Ford made a grab for it. The ball struck him on the little finger of his pitching hand and he left the game.

Maxwell, who has seen his average dip about 15 points in the last 10 days, drilled three singles and his 21st home run. His home run, coming in the 3rd inning with the bases empty, traveled high into the upper deck in right field. It gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead which Bill Skowron erased in the New York 4th with his 16th home run.

Nineteen batters went to the plate during the Detroit 4th and 5th innings against relievers Rip Coleman, Tom Morgan and Mickey McDermott. None escaped the brulsing that brought about eight runs on seven hits, five walks and two errors.

Al Kaline had singles in each of the big innings, and catcher Red Wilson drew two of the walks and Frank Bolling clouted a bases-loaded double.

Mickey Mantle, who earlier in the season at Briggs Stadium smashed two home runs off Hoeft, reached him for one single in four trips last night. Mantle fanned twice.

Today it will be Johnny Kucks or Bob Turley opposing the Tigers' Virgil Trucks. Frank Lary will get the call Sunday for the Bengals.

Gedman Shows Old Form With Lions

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

YPSILANTI — Two years in the service hasn't put any kinks in the powerful legs of Detroit Lion halfback Gene Gedman.

Despite the fact that he played no football during his army stay, Gedman reported to the Lion training camp at Ypsilanti in top physical condition and thus far he has been one of the very few bright spots in the early ball carrying drills.

"One thing I made sure of in the service was to keep my legs in shape," said the ex-Indiana back.

Gedman sparkled in his first season with the Lions' 1953 championship team before being drafted.

He checked into the Ypsi training camp along with the other Lion veterans on Wednesday and has been running in the starting backfield with Jack Christiansen and Bill Stits, a pair of defensive backs who are being tried for offensive duties.

Coach Buddy Parker has found his roster shy of offensive backs. "We will be depending heavily on the three youngsters playing in the All-Star game, Hopalong Cassady, Don McIlhenny and Jerry Reichow," he said.

The Lions' 1955 leading ground gainer Lew Carpenter is in the service, Bob Hoernschemeyer is on the retired list and transplanted fullback Leon Hart has been absent from the initial drills because of contract disagreements.

Hart and general manager Nick Kerbawy huddled last night to discuss terms.

However, the Lions management and the big ex-Notre Dame star again failed to reach an agreement on 1956 contract terms.

Coach Parker said he would hold the first full scrimmage about the middle of next week with a full scale head-banging session planned for next Saturday.

The Lions will remain at the Ypsi training site until the first week of September when they will move into Briggs Stadium for a pre-season home game against Cleveland.

The pre-season schedule actually gets under way Friday night, August 17th, against the Pittsburgh Steelers in Toledo.

Here is the pre-season schedule:

Fri. Aug. 17—Steelers at Toledo, 8:30 p.m.; Sat. Aug. 25—Cardinals at Mobile, Ala., 8:00 p.m.; Fri. Aug. 31—Eagles at Miami, Fla., 8:15 p.m.; Fri. Sept. 7—Browns at Detroit, 8:00 p.m.; Sat. Sept. 15—Browns at Akron, O., 8:30 p.m.; Sun. Sept. 23—Redskins at Buffalo, N.Y., 2:00 p.m.

GMC Defeats Elks, 3-1, for 21st Straight Win

Undefeated General Motors continues unchallenged in the Class A City Baseball League after Friday night's 3-1 triumph over Elks No. 723 at Columbia-Joslyn. It was the 21st consecutive win for the Coachers.

GMC iced the verdict with two runs in the opening stanza. A walk to Jerry Dorr, an error, and back-to-back singles by Judge Booker and Dave (Boots) Kringe pinned defeat on starting pitcher John Jackson.

Two errors, a hit batsman and Dorr's sacrifice fly handed GMC a cheap run in the 4th inning. The Elks' lone run in the 2nd was unearned. Felix Brooks doubled and scored on an infield miscue.

Jerry Taylor hurled the distance for GMC and scattered four hits. Jackson and relief pitcher Octave LeDuff permitted five safeties off Coacher bats.

In yesterday's other scheduled Class A encounter at Wisner Field, the Anderson Jets forfeited a 7-0 decision to Griff's Grill.

Pontiac Skaters Win Team Title

Place First in North American Roller-Skate Championships

Compiling a fine list of top and near-championship awards, Pontiac's Rolladium Rink roller skating team last night became the 1956 North American team champions. The group of 26 young skaters competed in the big national tourney at Richmond, Va.

Second place, intermediate dance, Mary Alice Clouse and Lewis Parker; 2nd intermediate ladies figure, Mary Jo McBrearty; 2nd place intermediate men's figures, Jack Horner; 3rd senior ladies figures, Pat Jarrard; 3rd senior men's singles, John Matejec; 3rd junior girls figures, Cecilia Darimont; 3rd intermediate pairs, Darimont and Jerry Hamlin; 2nd Pacific International senior men's singles, Matejec (3rd year).

In a proficiency test for the highest possible awards following the championships, Viralee Landon, Sharon Moore, Mary Alice Clouse passed successfully, and each received the top gold medal.

Clarkston Wins 1st Round Game

Pontiac Boys Club and Auburn Heights Boys Club fought to a 5-5 draw in the other "E" playoff tilt at Columbia-Joslyn. The game was halted by darkness and the two squads will tangle tonight on the same diamond to sever the deadlock.

Boys Club No. 1 and West Side Kiwanis won 2nd round battles in the Class F double-elimination tournament. Boys Club throttled Matthews-Hargreaves, 11-2, and the once-beaten Kiwanis team bounced back with a 17-3 win over Don Nicholie, which eliminated the Realty club.

Whiting Upset in DDGA Play

DETROIT (AP)—Dave Hill of Jackson scored a major upset in the Detroit district golf tournament yesterday, defeating Ray Bolo, (Indianwood) 6 and 5, in 1st-round play and Dick Whiting, 3 and 1, in the 2nd-round match.

Mayer Assumes Tam Lead With 138

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Mayer, a handsome, promising pro from St. Petersburg, Fla., via Old Greenwich, Conn., was the front runner by one stroke as the $25,000 All-American Golf Tournament today moved into its third round at Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Mayer, spearing his second straight 69 yesterday for a halfway total of six-under par 138, thus aimed at his second 1956 tourney triumph. The 33-year-old Mayer, although 13th in the current PGA money standings with earnings of $12,593, has won only the Philadelphia Daily News tourney this year.

With the field trimmed to 80 pros after yesterday's rain-soaked round, Mayer held a one-stroke lead over stolid Julius Boros, last year's winner of Tam's $50,000 top "World" tourney prize. The current All-American is a warmup for the "World" which starts next Thursday and again has a $50,000 winner's swag. Boros made his move with a second-round 67 after opening with 72.

Four players were knotted at 140, including one of Thursday's first-round co-leaders, Australia's Peter Thomson, the current British Open champion. The other co-leader, Antonio Cerda of Buenos Aires, slumped to a 75 after his opening 67, for 142.

More than a half dozen name players were stripped from the field as a 148-stroke limit was set for the final two rounds.

One of the victims was Jerry Barber, 1954 All-American champion. Others included Lloyd Mangrum, All-American winner in 1948, 1949 and 1953; Bo Wininger; Skee Riegel; Tommy Bolt; Freddie Haas; and Johnny Bulla.

Still very much in contention were three other 140 shooters, Ted Kroll, Bud Holscher and Porky Oliver.

Actually, there was prospect of a wide-open battle for the All-American's top money of $3,429 with 11 more players notched at 141. In this group were Jack Burke, this year's PGA and Masters' champion, the 1956 U.S. Open champion Cary Middlecoff; and former National Open champions Ed Furgol and Jack Fleck.

With Rugged Line

All-Stars Stress Passing

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Curly Lambeau of the College All-Stars has the necessary ingredients — sharp passers, fleet runners and a rugged line—to topple the mighty Cleveland Browns in the 23rd All-Star football classic Friday night at Soldier Field.

The Browns, masterminded by Paul Brown, want no part of another setback like the one that Ralph Guglielmi, Tad Weed & Co., administered last year.

The 30-2 defeat shook the professionals' pride. Moreover, the collegians met fire with fire in 1955 as little Tad Weed used one of the pro's favorite weapons—the field goal—to rack up 9 points and trip the Browns.

The Browns want nothing better than to maintain the professional's 12-7 edge. There have been two ties. Prior to last year's game, the pros had won four straight.

Lambeau has been sending the collegians through their paces in two-a-day practice sessions for he feels it "will take a super effort to beat the Browns."

In spite of injuries, occasional bad weather and late arrivals of rookies from pro camps, Lambeau has worked the collegians in all phases of the pro game.

Top Netters Play in Pine Lake Test

Weather permitting, Pine Lake Country Club's tennis courts will be the scene, Sunday, of another important area invitational tourney.

A field of 10, including some of the finest talent in this section of the state has been entered for the event. Players include Dick Potter who won the recent Orchard Lake doubles invitational with Tom Belton of Waterford (Tom also plays in the PJ's last), Andy Paton, Jim Bicknell, Al Hetzeck, Len Brose, Jerry Parchute, Gil Bogley, Fritz Ippenstatz and Jerry Duble.

FRIDAY'S FIGHTS

Murchison Equals Mark

BERLIN (INS) — Less than 24 hours after army Pvt. Willie Williams cracked Jesse Owens' 100-meter world record, GI Ira Murchison of Chicago today equalled the new mark of 10.1 seconds at an international meet meet for servicemen.

FRIDAY'S HOME RUNS

Senators Gain Finals on Tinkas' Shutout

Dave Tinkas pitched a neat 4-hit shutout yesterday for the Senators as they beat the Athletics to move into the finals of the Pontiac Federal Savings Midget League at Boys' Club. Dave was in trouble only once, in the 4th inning when two singles and a walk loaded the bases with no outs. Dave then struck two men out and forced the 3rd hitter to ground out. Bill Crawford led the Senators with a double and single. Jon Gary hit a double and single for Athletics.

White Sox eliminated Orioles in the losers' bracket of the two game knockout tourney 9-3. Bob Sutton led winners with two hits in three trips.

City Playoffs Open Sunday

Men's City Softball League post-season playoffs in both American and National divisions get under way Sunday night at Beaudette and North Side parks, with district tournament berths at stake.

Lunsford Market faces Walled Lake Market at 7 o'clock and Louie's Tavern meets Richard's Tavern at 8:30 in 1st round National League playoffs at North Side. Winner of the double-elimination tourney qualifies for the Class C district at Waterford.

Royal Bar and Stadium Inn will clash at 8:30 on the Beaudette diamond to open the American League tournament. Sam Benson drew a 1st round bye. GMC will tangle with Elks No. 810 tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at Beaudette to settle their dispute over 2nd place and the loser will tackle Bicmar Inn on Monday.

Winner of the American League playoffs will enter the Class B district tourney in Pontiac. The GMC-Elks victor goes into Class A competition at Mt. Clemens. Shaw's Jewelers wade into Class AA warfare at Roseville.

No Olympic Help

Williams to Become Coach

BERLIN, Germany (AP) — Willie Williams, a GI from the University of Illinois, who shattered the world 100-meter record, probably never will run for the United States in the Olympic Games.

He failed in the 1952 tryouts and pulled up lame in the tests for this year's games in Melbourne.

* * *

"So I guess that's it," said Williams today. "Next August when I get out of the Army, I plan on becoming a coach in my home town; Gary, Ind. I'll be finished with amateur running then."

Williams yesterday ran the 100 meters in 10.1, shaving a tenth of a second off the recognized record of 10.2 held by Jesse Owens.

Dodger Catchers Hurt; May Call Replacement

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today were thinking of calling up a catcher as a replacement for the injured Roy Campanella and Rube Walker.

Campanella has an infected leg and may be out of action several days and Walker has a stiff shoulder.

U. S. Triumphs Over Mexicans in Singles Play

Seixas and Richardson Bolster Team's Spirits With Sparkling Wins

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—You can't start checking freight rates for return of the Davis Cup just on the strength of a couple of easy victories over Mexico, but it can be said today that spirits are higher in the U.S. tennis camp than any time in the last 10 months.

The reasons:

1. Vic Seixas, who can be either sparkling or atrocious, at the age of 32 is playing perhaps the best tennis of his life.

2. Hamilton Richardson, now a matured married man of 22, has improved immeasureably in the past few months and may be ready to graduate from his perennial roll of "Rookie of the Year."

Both Looked Strong

Both Seixas and Richardson looked like men to be reckoned with yesterday when they scored opening singles victories over Mexican rivals in the American Zone Davis Cup final at the Westchester Country Club.

Seixas, his service crackling and his net play deadly, downed Mario Llamas, Mexico's No. 1 player, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Richardson, playing well within himself, defeated 22-year-old Francisco Contrearas, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

The United States can clinch the zone title today by winning the doubles in which the baby members of the Yankee team—Sam Giammalva, 22, of Houston, and Barry MacKay, 20, of Dayton, Ohio — play Llamas and Contrearas.

Soviet Olympic Tryouts to Draw 10,000 Athletes

MOSCOW (AP)—More than 103,000 Russians will be on hand tomorrow to see something called "Spartakiad."

The ticket holders, who paid up to $4 each know they are going to see some sort of athletic competition.

But they're not quite sure just what it will be.

One rumor making the rounds is that there will be a 10,000-meter race and a javelin competition to determine who will represent Russia in these events at the Olympics in December.

Another rumor is that there will be a 5,000-meter race, a soccer game and some mass gymnastics.

It's like selling out Yankee Stadium to people who are so anxious to see a sporting event, they'll settle for anything from archery to parchesi.

Whatever the program is, it will be a stupendous show. It's called the People's Sports Display of the Nations of the Unions of Soviet Socialistic Republics and for all intents and purposes it might be called the Olympic Tryouts.

There will be nearly 10,000 athletes and 2,000 referees and umpires in the games—which, incidentally, will be held in the brand new Lenin Stadium overlooking Moscow's famous swamps. In fact, until three days ago, it was called Luzhnik — meaning Swamp—Stadium.

Giambra Whips Castellani in 10

Buffalo Middleweight Chalks Up 4th Straight Win in TV Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that Sugar Ray Robinson is beginning to show his age everyone wants to fight the middleweight champion. Joey Giambra is no exception.

The Buffalo, N.Y. Adonis softly mentioned the champ's name today following his decision victory over fleet-footed Rocky Castellani in a television 10-rounder in Madison Square Garden last night. It was the rising Giambra's fourth straight conquest.

Giambra, a picture puncher, didn't get much chance to show his power until the final 30 seconds of the sixth round. He couldn't catch the bicycling Castellani until then. When he did nail Rocky in the fading seconds of the sixth it made a new fight out of what had been a dull and roundly booed track meet.

After that it was mostly all Giambra as some of the speed went out of the 29-year-old Castellani's legs.

Dietz, Cooper Tie for 12th; Wally One Back

CHICAGO (AP)—Mike Dietz of Lake Orion, Mich., added a 74 yesterday to his 1st round 68 and fell from 3rd place in the All-American golf tournament to a nine-way tie for 12th.

Among those tied with Dietz at 142 was Pete Cooper of Birmingham, Mich., with a 72-70 card.

Wally Burkemo of Franklin was one stroke behind fellow Michigan shotmakers going into the 3rd round with 69-74—143.

Upset Jewelers, 3-2

Elks Tie Coachers for 2nd

A valiant three-run uprising in the 6th inning brought Elks No. 810 a 3-2 victory over American League champion Shaw's Jewelers last night in their important city softball game at Beaudette Park.

The hard-earned decision gave the Elks a tie with GMC for 2nd place in the American division on a 12-6 record. GMC and the Elks will wage their tie-breaking battle Sunday night on the Beaudette diamond at 7 o'clock.

A spot in the Class A district tournament at Mt. Clemens goes to the winner. The loser enters the American League playoffs in quest of a Class B district tourney position.

Pitcher Pete Mihay, who limited Shaw's to seven hits, started the 6th-inning rally with a single off mound star Perce McConner. A damaging error by McConner, a walk, a fielder's choice, Yarbrough's single and a double by Jim Davis followed Mihay's blow and resulted in three runs.

Louie Seay accounted for both Jeweler tallies. He clouted a solo home run in the 6th and tripled in the 1st to score Ed Mullins, who had also smacked a three-bagger. McConner gave up six safeties.

Stadium Inn defeated Louie's Tavern, 8-3, in an exhibition contest last night, also at Beaudette.

Your Neighbor's House

Alton Maddens Move to Country Home

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Often a minor detail is the determining factor in making a big decision. Everyone would agree that buying or building a house poses a problem.

Alton and Mona Madden had a lake lot. They had their plans all drawn for just the house they wanted. One requirement was that their eating area must have a view of the garden.

One Sunday they went driving. They wanted to see how other home builders had handled the combination of brick and cedar shakes, the exterior materials they had decided on for their house. A house on West Square Lake road was "open for inspection."

The house itself is brick, the garage covered with cedar shakes. Best of all, the country kitchen has a large dinette area with a full-length window looking out on the back yard. That sold them the house.

Early in March they moved in. Because both the Maddens teach in the Pontiac schools, they could do only the essentials that always face new home owners. Since school was out in June, they have had full time to devote to their home.

Mr. Madden has a flourishing garden at the back of the lot. He has the beginnings of a rose garden in full view of the dinette windows. Landscaping in front is completed.

A creamy gold has been used on the walls, with white on the ceiling. This gold color picks up the hint of gold in the reused bricks that make one complete wall of the room.

The sofa is brown, one lounge chair dark green, and one smaller chair upholstered in a print. All the tables are blond to match the dining room table, chairs and hutch cupboard at one end of the room.

Finished in a champagne tone, this Heywood-Wakefield furniture is light in design and appropriate for the space in which it is used. The chair seats are red with a golden thread woven in.

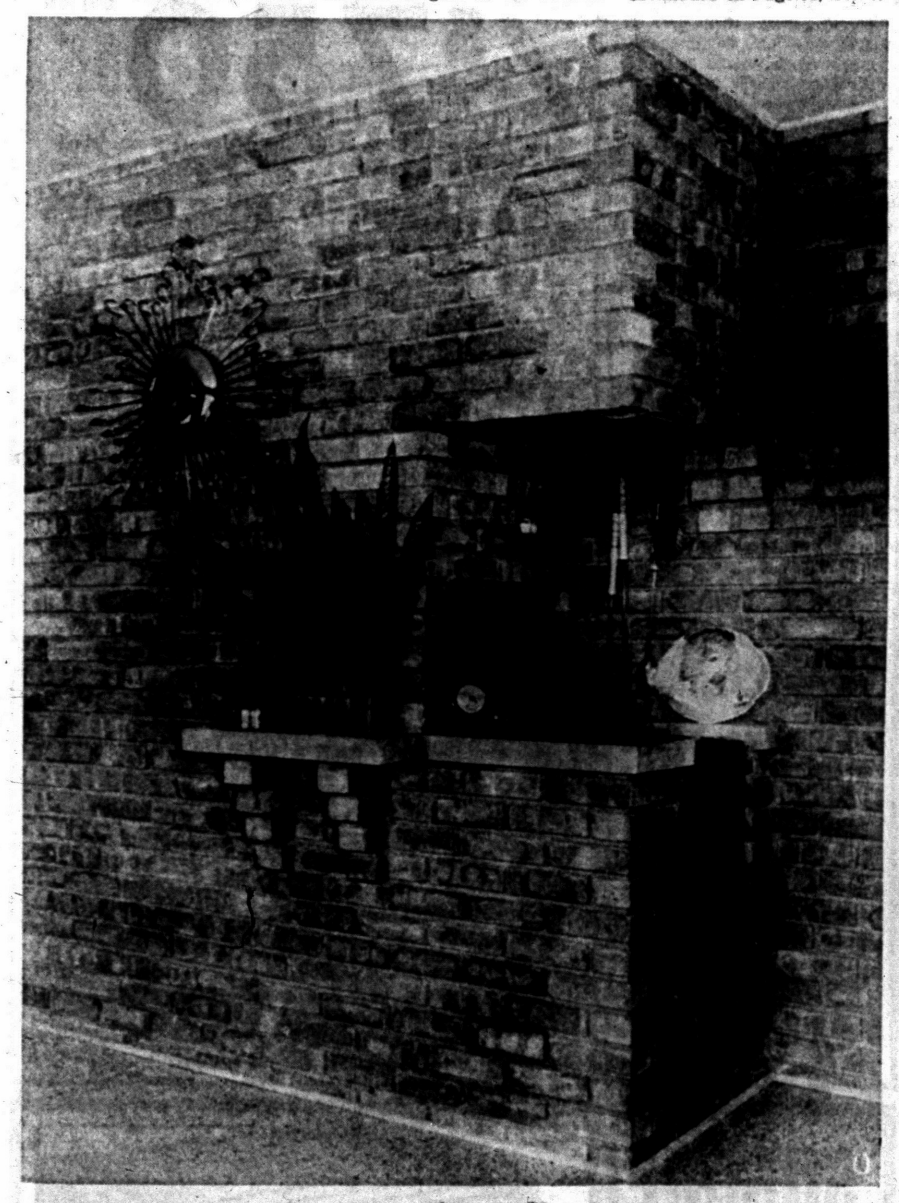

Between the living room and the kitchen there is a folding wood door of Philippine mahogany. Immediately beyond the BRICK AND CEDAR SHAKES — The Alton Maddens of West Square Lake road wanted a house that combined brick and cedar shakes. Trim is white. Mr. Madden put up the white fence in front and is working on landscaping in the back yard. A circular driveway lets guests park off the road.

INDOOR BARBECUE — An indoor barbecue in their country kitchen has opened a new world of food to the Maddens. It is but a few steps from their back terrace, so is handy for outdoor parties. A brass sunburst clock decorates the brick wall.

NEW LIVING ROOM — After some years of living in a house with a tiny living room, the Maddens are enjoying this larger one. Their picture window frames a view of rustic fences, barns and horses across the road. The Heywood Wakefield hutch cabinet at the end of the room holds treasures collected over the years.

WORKING AREA — All the kitchen appliances are centered in this U-shaped area at one end of the country kitchen. Birch cabinets have a pickled finish. The knobs are a rosy gold color. Built-in range and oven are coppertone. Formica counter tops are pink. The soffit has an interesting wallpaper pattern of cookie cutters. Mrs. Madden is completely in love with her new kitchen.

ONE WALL IS BRICK — In the living room one wall is made of reused brick. The creamy tones of this material are picked up by the pale yellow of the other walls. Brass fittings and a mesh screen complete the fireplace. Slate caps the raised hearth. The carpeting in this room is beige.

Watch That Agent!

Be wary if the mortgage company tells you that you must buy insurance on your house from the company's insurance branch. You don't have to. The mortgage company can require you to carry insurance, but you are free to get it from an insurance company of your own choosing. Reason for the warning is that complaints against tie-in practices are on the increase.

Bright Colors Top in Homes

This was reported today by Fred W. Lagerquist, who, as Manager of Roofing and Allied Products for The Celotex Corporation, keeps close tab on consumer preferences.

"Homeowners show great enthusiasm for these colors, locally as well as nationally," he said. "These color combinations are most effective on low slope roofs, where so much of the roof area is visible, and are a definite part of the overall color treatment of the home."

The roof can no longer be just any color, and the proper selection is of prime importance in considering the type of material to be used for exterior walls and in choice of either complementing or contrasting trim colors, according to Lagerquist.

Enthusiasm for bright hues is not an isolated phenomenon. It is part of the overall trend to a more exotic treatment of exteriors of modern homes.

Use of sparkling new decorator colors on doors is an example of this. Until recently, doors were not generally considered to have any particular value, design-wise. Now, they provide color accents that brighten the whole front of the house.

Ask your dealer about the liquid masking that can be used to protect glass when painting window sashes. After it has done its helpful job, it peels off like adhesive tape, the paint streaks with it.

Cedar Shake Garage Adjoins Brick Home

doorway is a passageway to the garage and the utility room.

This is a real country kitchen, 21 feet in length. The kitchen work area is concentrated in one corner, leaving the rest of the room free for use as a dining or family room.

The wall behind the fireplace is the same brick as the living room wall. On one end there is a built-in barbecue which the Maddens are finding fun to use. Mrs. Madden says it is opening up an entire new world of food to them.

The pink tones in the bricks are picked up in the pink spatter print vinyl floor covering. There is more of the pink in the wallpaper design, while the copper-toned range and wall oven have a pink cast.

Birch cabinets in the work area have a pickled finish. The round knobs are a rosy gold color. The Formica counter tops are pink. Mrs. Madden just bubbles with enthusiam as she shows each feature.

Maple furniture in colonial design is used in the dinette end. Here one wall is papered in a brown, pink and aqua paper that shows the process of cookie making. Matching paper on the soffit is printed in amusing cookie cutters.

The crisp organdy curtains and chair pads are aqua. Replicas of antique lamps hang over the work and the eating areas.

The builder carried the vinyl flooring through the passageway to the utility room and behind to the small lavatory. The walls are white, the curtains red. Rose, silver and aqua paper decorates the upper half of the lavatory walls.

One bedroom is in use as a den and sewing room. All the bedrooms have hardwood floors and high windows with marble sills. There are large closets in two of the rooms, with two closets in the master bedroom.

The Maddens' room has soft blue walls. The folding closet doors are painted to match. Gold and white striped material is used for the curtains and the dust ruffle on the bed. The bedspread is white quilted cotton with a gold scroll design. Pink touches are added with cotton rugs and lamp shades.

The guest room which is painted creamy yellow has white curtains and a flowered chintz spread. A peppermint striped slipper chair offers comfortable seating.

In the bathroom the linen closet is built into the wall. It opens in this room and also in the hall. The bath is gray and pink. Instead of paint, wallpaper is used on the ceiling. Fixtures are pink.

Some day the Maddens hope to have a screened porch on the back of the house. But for now a cement terrace with a picnic table suffices. A bright umbrella over the aqua table controls the sun. From this terrace and the kitchen windows there is an ever-changing view of Turtle Lake.

The garage is oversize. It has a dropped ceiling which means more space in the storage area above it. The utilities are concentrated in a separate little room. Breezy, the 18-months-old Springer Spaniel, has his headquarters out here.

Just the kind of a house they wanted in a perfect location — plenty of space on the 120x240 plus lot — the Maddens are pleased with their choice. Bernard Head of Royal Oak was the builder.

Cool With Paint

Not only does paint brighten up the appearance of many dull brick structures, but scientific experimentation has determined that they actually become cooler and less humid inside by such treatment which gives protection against moisture seepage and other such deterioration. If the brick still shows good quality, however, a clear waterproof coating can be used, which gives somewhat the same protection but allows the original appearance of the brick to show.

Chest and table tops of new furniture designs have hard-to-mar surfaces of laminated plastic, clear and textured glass, ceramic tile, cork, marble and leather.

Treat Outside Metals

Non-galvanized outside iron and steel areas require treatment with a rust-preventing metal primer for preservation. Clean the surfaces first, using turpentine or paint thinner to remove grime and grease. Apply the primer at once. On previously painted metal, use a stiff wire brush to remove scaling paint or loose rust. Bare spots should be treated with a rust-preventive primer before applying the final coat.

SUBSTANTIAL IN APPEARANCE — This big, substantial-appearing house economizes on land and construction. The best house buy still is the two-story house. Hand split shakes would create attractive shadow lines on the exterior. For economy clapboard siding could be used.

Press House of the Week Brings Back Colonial Style

The best buy for your home building dollars still is the two-story house. This is shown in Design HW-11 for The House of The Week.

Here is a big seven-room house planned for comfortable family living. It is designed to fit a modest sized lot.

If you wanted to build the same number of the same sized rooms with a similar two-car garage in a one-story ranch style layout, you would need twice as much land, twice as much roof and 80 per cent more foundation work.

This house covers only 1,287 square feet of land, including its garage wing.

used by almost minimum sized ranch houses.

Yet here you have almost 2,000 square feet of livable floor space on two floors, not counting the garage floor.

You could fit HW-11 nicely on a 50 by 100-foot corner lot, or on about 75 feet of frontage elsewhere, depending on local zoning rules for space between neighbors.

In any case, generous space would be left for lawn and landscaping.

The basic advantages of two-story homes are frequently overlooked amid the novelties of ranch houses and split-levels.

GOOD FOR SMALL LOT

Also, well-located lots often are not large enough for adequate rambling one-story layouts. You are not compelled to move to a remote location to have a two-story house.

So in many cases the two-story house can offer the added advantage of convenience.

Its site may be near business centers, schools and churches—an in-town location with benefits of established municipal services, such as police and fire protection, paved streets, sidewalks and sewers.

Many women prefer sleeping rooms removed from the ground floor. This affords privacy from within and without.

Strangers entering the house do not look into bedrooms. But the full flight of stairs needed in a two-story house can be an objection.

This gives the house a split-level feature without torturing its facade.

The exterior presents a dignified appearance—a large, substantial house that looks as if it belongs in an established neighborhood.

Hand split shakes, indicated in the drawing, would create especially attractive shadow lines on the front of the house. Or conventional clapboard siding could be used for some economy.

Herman H. York, an architect specializing entirely in home planning, designed HW-11 in answer to readers' inquiries for a modern version of a colonial house.

Open planning gives the living room and dining room window light from front to rear. From the entrance foyer, you get a view of the full length of the living room with its formal fireplace at the end.

Building costs vary widely in different communities and sometimes from one side of town to another. Aside from firm bids, the nearest rough estimate can be had by asking a builder of similar size homes.

The architect designed a house similar to HW-11, which was built at Port Jefferson, N. Y., for $20,000.

The kitchen is large with dinette space in one corner. Adjacent is a lavatory which serves as a mud room for the youngsters coming in from the back yard.

STAIRS HANDY

The service door opens from the garage into a service vestibule with basement stairs at hand.

An alternate location for the double garage doors is indicated on the plan. If you are not building on a corner lot, or with land wide enough for turning space, the driveway can lead directly to the front of the garage.

In addition to the three bedrooms and a large bathroom with double lavatory in a vanity counter, an enormous varied-use room is provided above the garage.

This can be used for a studio bedroom, a recreation room, hobby room or for many other purposes.

It has windows on three sides—low colonial style windows in front, a studio window above the garage doors, and a regulation window in the rear where the roof is raised without spoiling the front of the house.

Two walk-in closets are adjacent to this varied-use room. One is suitable for space for an extra bathroom, which could be a future project if planned for ahead of time.

Another walk-in closet adjoins the dressing room off the master bedroom, where a separate entrance to the bathroom is provided.

An abundance of storage space is set aside in this plan. Downstairs there is a coat closet and a broom closet; upstairs, two linen closets, three regular wardrobe closets and three oversize walk-in closets.

Soft down pillows need to be fluffed daily and aired occasionally in the shade. The sun dries out the oil in the feathers if they're aired in the sun.

Oakland County Growing in New Home Development

During the past six years 56,761 occupied dwelling units have been added in Oakland County, or a gain of 52.0% During the 1950-1956 period, the number of occupied dwelling units jumped from 109,239 to 166,000. The information was revealed in a report of occupied dwelling units in the Detroit Metropolitan Area released today by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

Oakland County accounted for 31.8% of the increase of 178,582 occupied dwelling units in the standard metropolitan area outside the city of Detroit. The annual rate of growth in the last six years for the entire county has been 8.7%, but several units of government in the southeastern part of the county have averaged an annual increase of 36.8%.

The fastest growing incorporated area in the county and the metropolitan area has been Oak Park with a 480.9% gain. Other units of government recording rapid growth have been: Bloomfield Township 265.5%, Clawson 133.4%, Southfield Township 114.1%, Farmington City 111.9% and Independence Township 107.9%. Oak Park showed the greatest numerical gain with 6,954 occupied dwelling units added since 1950. Royal Oak City (6,916), Southfield Township (4,797) and Waterford Township (3,840) also recorded large increases in the number of occupied dwelling units.

Seventeen units of government have added at least 1,000 occupied dwelling units since 1950. Arranged according to percentage gains, they include:

Use Light Finish

For very light-colored modern finishes on furniture and store fixtures, the wood itself must be light in color. Some woods are uniformly light in color and require no bleaching. There are times, however, when a chemical bleach is used to remove color from other woods — for instance, when the beautiful figure of black walnut and the matchless patterns of mahogany are desired in a light finish.

One gallon of the first coat of exterior oil paint for brick surfaces will cover about 200 square feet. Double this to 400 square feet per gallon, or twice as much coverage, for the second coat.

Display New Bricks at Birmingham Show

No longer do architects, designers, engineers, landscapers, builders or owners have to be satisfied with commonplace colors in masonry construction for exterior or interior walls.

The newest and happiest revelation for the construction field is the development of hard burned brick, known as "color card" face brick, which is manufactured by a company in Arkansas.

It is possible to have masonry walls which are entirely different than anything previously produced by brick manufacturers. There are such colors as snow white, pastel pink, jet black, or French gray, and Indian ivory.

All are face brick. The colors are burned in, are permanently fixed and will stay "fresh as paint . . . forever.

The startling effects of many of these bricks can be seen in many textures and sizes, in actual use in the permanent garden exhibit at 312 East Brown St., Birmingham. At night they are illuminated for interior effects.

This exhibit opened July 26th.

Newer Faucets Easily Handled

Have you ever noticed how much easier it is to operate a modern faucet than the old-style unit?

The newer faucets have finger-tip control. The faucet handles are a y seotgrasp an deasy to open and close. This makes it so much more convenient to use them, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau pionts out.

Because the faucet on the kitchen sink and the bathroom lavatory is perhaps the must-used piece of utre of easy operation is important equipment in the home, this fea-fro mthe standpoint of labor-saving convenience, the bureau points out.

Another advantage of the modern finger-tip control of faucets is the fact that this minimizes the wearing of washers and other moving parts, thus assuring less need o rfservice and longer life for the fitting.

This is only one of the many reasons it is advisable to replace old faucets with new fittings, the Bureau points out.

Many of the newer faucets have parts that are easily replaced when they show signs of wear.

Another feature of modern faucets is the aerating type of spout which adds air bubbles to the water as it flows. Aerated water never splashes on the floor. It makes suds more readily and provides better rinsing action.

Stencil Aids Painters

Absolute accuracy is required in painting the dials of aircraft compasses. The slightest error could result in faulty navigation. one aircraft factory accomplishes the job with the aid of a special stencil which fits over the face of the dial. Paint is then applied with a spray gun.

Make Storage Space —by Using Corners

Lack of sufficient storage space can make an otherwise attractive and comfortable bathroom cluttered and inconvenient. However, careful planning and a little effort can convert unused bathroom space into useful storage areas, says the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

For example, a lavatory can become a virtual supply house by giving it a countertop and cabinet. The countertop provides a wide, flat surface for holding personal toiletries and the cabinet accommodates towels, linens, soaps, cleansers and other items.

* * *

Often, unused wall space behind the door or in a corner will serve nicely as a place to put several glass or wooden shelves. Another good spot for a shelf is on the wall directy above the toilet tank.

Tom-Boy Changes to Lady — So Does Her Bedroom

When a leggy little tomboy starts to blossom into a lady-like teenager mom and pop are apt to note the change in attitude towards a good many things. Not the least of these will be a request for a change in her room from the sturdy and utilitarian to the frilly and feminine.

Boosting her argument are the bedroom furnishings that manage to be frilly and feminine, yet sturdy and no more trouble to care for than the less glamorous-looking equipment.

Oh, the woes of mothers whose daughters want to go all out for ruffles and roses. The change-over may have to be gradual, but it can be accomplished without too much trouble.

New curtains for the bedroom for example, might be sheer ruffled ones in a synthetic fiber. New dacron curtains are sheer, strong and launder easily.

LOOK AT LABEL

You may note on marquisette curtains a label from the manufacturer of the fiber attesting that the finished curtains have passed standards for high-quality construction and fiber content.

This should be of some reassurance to those of us who know that synthetic fibers, even as natural fibers, must be properly chosen and woven to give satisfactory service.

Lush, new, rose-sprigged comforters in nylon-covered fiberfill are very light in weight, yet strong and long-wearing. The filling is a fluffy synthetic fiber which resists matting and shifting within the quilted pattern.

A pillow matches this.

ON UPSURGE

Gaining popularity are blankets of acrylic fiber. These are softly napped and come in lovely colors. Repeated launderings are not supposed to affect the surface or cause shrinkage or matting of the fibers.

To encourage good habits such as making her own bed, we did invest in two nylon contour sheets. They wash and dry so quickly a reserve supply doesn't seem to be necessary. And, the taut, fitted corners of contour sheets do speed up the bed-making routine.

If a bed or chest is scarred from tomboy days, it can be painted white and bordered in a pastel shade to match freshly painted or papered walls.

Luxury Marked in Bathrooms

Luxury touches for modern bathrooms and powder rooms were everywhere in evidence at the recently-held National Plumbing and Heating Exposition in Milwaukee.

With more money than ever before to spend on home improvements in 1956—"the year to fix," homeowners are looking for novel and distinctive ways to beautify the bath in the course of a general face-lifting, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Here are some of the things the plumbing industry is offering in that connection:

Gold-plated, or the more economical brushed brass, fittings are strikingly beautiful in combination with the pastels and deeper tones of colored bathroom fixtures.

Monogrammed faucets. For the personalized bath, faucets for lavatory and bathtub may be engraved with the homeowner's initials, in script or block letters.

Faucet handle grips for monogrammed fittings are available in clear, or a number of different tinted plastics.

A DECORATIVE NEW WASTE BASKET — A removable cover made of moire protected by a layer of transparent Krene plastic. Durable Krene shields the color, body and sheen of the delicate moire underlay from objects that would tear, catch, pull threads or otherwise mar its beauty. Resistant to abrasion, moisture, foods and beverages, Krene protects the decorative fabric from scuffing or stains, and dirt or finger marks are easily washed off with a damp cloth. The color, design and texture of the moire show clearly through the transparent cover while its gloss adds beauty to the fabric. The waste baskets are available with covers of quilted (left photo) or unquilted moire, and have bright gilt binding around top and bottom. Available in blue, emerald, gold, jet, pink, red, rose, tangerine and white, the covers have matching slide fasteners down the side which permit easy changes of color (right photo). Decorative covers for standard card table tops are also made of the same durable and attractive Krene and moire combination.

Apartment Aids Newlywed Plan

In larger quarters, a young homemaker is often tempted to furnish too many rooms too quickly —with not-so-pleasing results. In a compact apartment, she can experiment. She can test pet theories learn how to live with (and care for) furniture and fabrics, even make her first decorating errors— all on a less costly basis.

Here, she can learn the wisdom of starting with a few quality items and building around them. Temporary needs (such as end table, lamps and small rugs) may be filled with inexpensive things for the time being. But furniture that can later be moved to a finer home (such as beds, sofas, and lounge chairs) deserves to be the best the couple can afford.

A well-designed sofa bed, for instance, is "investment furniture." Available in a wide array of attractive styles, geared to function smoothly, and built to last, it's perfect for a den-guest room at a later date. As for the present, this two-in-one item conserves both space and money by doubling as a smart lounge by day and a comfortable bed at night.

Gain Living Space Easy by Finishing the Attic

Most inexpensive means of obtaining more living space in your home is to finish the attic. If the space is small, don't cut it up into several rooms — one large room and bath is better.

The bath should be over an existing bath or kitchen. Finish its floor and walls with waterproof ceramic tile, so that splashed water won't damage ceilings underneath. Use low space in the attic for built-in storage.

Coming Soon: Fun in the Kitchen

Pretty soon houses won't have kitchens—in the traditional sense, that is—if the majority of housewives have their way.

Jane Tiffany Wagner, home service director of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn., says women are getting fed up with working "in solitary" and want kitchens designed to let them share family contacts while they work.

"Builders with an eye to modern living needs will quit offering kitchens planned like railroad sleepers to get the most utility out of the least space," Miss Wagner says. "While that sort of thing is super-efficient, it is strictly antisocial—and unnecessary."

It's possible, she points out, to set up a cooking center skillfully combining recreational and cooking facilities. Such a room, which she calls a "livinette," might even include a laundry, den and dining area.

SIZE WILL VARY

Naturally, the size of the "livinette" and the division of zones would depend on the size of the home, the budget and individual family requirements. But the main point, Miss Wagner says, is that this open planning would enable the housewife to enjoy her family when she ordinarily would be sweating it out alone in the cramped kitchen or isolated laundry.

Miss Wagner explains partitioning the modern all-purpose area can be done artfully by using open shelves to divide the cooking and dining zones or by having a peninsula divide the cooking from the laundry zone and countersinking the top burners of the range in the counter.

There also is the choice of flanking the sink on one side by the range and on the other by a combination washer and clothes dryer. This lets you combine cooking and laundering on an all-automatic basis and within talking dstance of family pow-wows.

Miss Wagner finds that many homeowners are solving the problem of limited space and its social consequences by converting one wall area of the living room into a den which also doubles as a guest room. A sofa bed or studio couch, a small chest of drawers and a table with a good reading lamp make this an acceptable substitute for the separate spare room which few low-cost homes are equipped with. And, when there isn't a guest, it's a good place for the clan to gather without slowing cooking.

Besides bringing a family meeting place into closer contact with the kitchen, this arrangement works out well when a child is ill and needs close attention which ordinarily would require running up and down stairs.

Bring More Light

The problem of "not enough light," which often hampers plans to build an extra room in the attic or basement, frequently can be solved through the use of mirrors. Wall-length mirrors in recreation rooms and added bedrooms serve a double purpose, both as reflectors of available light and as creators of an illusion of spaciousness.

Contract Awards Show Decline

Contract awards for future construction in the 37 eastern states set all sorts of new records during the first six months of 1956 despite the fact that June got out of step with the other months and registered a slight decline. Coming at the end of the period as it does, the June drop makes it a little difficult to speak of the first half which should not be lost to view.

One of these is that the first half as a whole was a tremendously active period for contract awards, with all that this implies for the future of actual construction spending. Another is that the June total of $2.2 billion, even though it was below June of last year, was a huge figure, some 27 per cent ahead of the third highest June on record. A third fact is that an extraneous situation, the steel strike, is probably the dominant influence on the immediate outlook both for actual construction and for contract awards.

Total contract awards in the first half of 1956 amounted to $13,199,000,000, the highest total in history and 10 per cent above the record set last year. Each major category also set a new record. Non-residential building, at $4,608,000,000, was 11 per cent ahead of last year; residential building, at $5,699,000,000 was up 5 per cent (although the number of dwelling units represented by the contracts as down 3 per cent) and heavy engineering at $2,893,000,000 was up 21 per cent.

The emphasis in the first half has continued to be on two main areas: Business investment in new facilities, and public construction of all types. Business investment shows up in sharp gains in factory and commercial buildings and in utilities. Public construction is particularly strong in highways and schools.

Shifts in the various categories have tended to balance out so that there is no change in the proportions of public and private contract in the totals; as in the first half of 1955, private awards were 69 per cent of the total, and public awards were 31 per cent.

Clarkston Gardens Grow With Ultra-Modern Homes

Largest of the many new building developments in Claksston is Clarkston gardens, where plans for over 200 homes are being realized.

Many of these homes have already been completed and sold. "They feature the very latest for modern day living," says the brokers for the homes.

All brick in construction, the ranch style houses are 42 feet long puls carport. They each contain three bedrooms and are available with or without a full basement with tiled recreation area.

More features include a large tile bath with built in vanity, copper plumbing, Luxaire forced air heating, gas incinerator, 40 gallon gas water heater, and Fullam windows including aluminum screens.

Each kitchen contains a ventilating fan in the kitchen which is birch, a GE monotype sink, cabinets with lacquer finished doors and antique copper hardware, and a separate snack area wallpapered to the owner's choice.

The homes sell from $13,950 to $15,250 with both VA and FHA financing available. Mortgages run from 25 to 30 years. Models are open daily including Sunday. Clarkston Real Estate in Clarkston are brokers.

Have Plumbing, Heating Work —Done Now

The next three or four weeks will be a "last chance" period for many residential plumbing and heating jobs planned for this year, according to Harold Massey, managing director of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn.

Plumbing and heating dealers, always at their busiest in the early autumn, will have to contend with added problems this year, Massey pointed out. Their industrial and commercial work is at an all-time high, they are expanding in air conditioning operations and various dislocations are inevitable as a result of the steel strike, whatever its duration, the GAMA leader said.

In connection with the strike, Massey pointed out that even where inventories of plumbing and heating equipment permit dealers to "ride out" shortages, the disruption of building for lack of other material, notably structural steel, will have its effect in the trade.

Congestion in construction schedules in such situations will be serious for months, and probably into next summer, Massey declared.

"For years," he said, "our association has campaigned for householder cooperation to better utilize the plumbing and heating dealer's spring and summer months. While the situation will vary from place to place, and job to job, it is certain that this year, more than ever, prompt action will pay big dividends in comfort and convenience."

Air Condition Tip

Air conditioning equipment . . . that welcomes friends these hot summer days . . . is skillfully and especially finished by manufacturers to protect it against corrosion and constant use, as well as to give it a pleasing appearance that will harmonize with its surroundings after installation.

Tools are protected from rot, rust, heat and cold even if left out of doors if sprayed with a protective coating of "tool-keep," made by the Orangeburg, N.Y., firm of that name.

Study Site Carefully Before Buying Home

Frequently the home hunter tends to jump right into discussion of the structure and take the site for granted, along with sunshine and citizenship.

Try to temper your eagerness to get to the home and furnishings and be as deliberate as possible in picking a place to build or buy. Take into consideration such unexciting but necessary questions as zoning laws (or lack of them), location of schools and recreation areas and availability of sewage and utility connections. The last is especially important in outlying sections of the community.

Feel free to concentrate on the building and its contents after the site has been selected on the basis of careful analysis of existing conditions and the likely trend of future developments.

REMOVING PAINT — Don't burn your house down by taking chances with a blow torch. Follow the suggestions given in this article.

Home Repair Dos and Don'ts

DO . . . use semi-paste remover for outdoor surfaces and for indoor upright surfaces where liquid might drip too much.

DO . . . use liquid paint remover for indoor jobs where the remover will not run.

DO . . . use the flat part of a clean, full-haired brush in applying remover, flowing it on and moving in one direction only.

DO . . . follow directions on the length of time to allow the remover to do its work; then go over the surface with a dull putty knife and/or a wire brush.

DO . . . use steel wool to prevent damage to carved surfaces or moulding, although a small tooth brush is sometimes more effective in hard-to-get-at places.

DON'T . . . make the common mistake of beginning the scraping too soon; if the paint is stubborn, apply a second coat of remover and wait at least 20 minutes before going to work on it.

DON'T . . . use a blow torch for paint removing unless (1) you are experienced at handling it; (2) you are extra careful; and (3) there is no danger of a fire or explosion.

DON'T . . . Forget that you can also get paint off with an electric remover (which must be used carefully), with a belt sander (mostly for flat surfaces), and with a disc sander (for rough work).

DON'T . . . overlook instructions which (in the case of some paint removers) call for a thorough washing of the surface after the paint is off.

Building Contracts Hit High in Michigan

DETROIT—The Southern Michigan region recorded contract awards for future construction during the first half of 1956 that reached an all-time high dollar volume for such a period, Marvin J. Brokaw, district manager of F. W. Dodge Corporation, started today. The awards of $687,384,000 were seven per cent above the comparable 1955 period, according to Dodge Reports totals.

Cumulative totals for the first six months for the individual categories compared with the like 1955 period show: total building at $69,212,000 up one per cent; heavy engineering at $118,172,000, up 49 per cent.

Individual June awards compared with June 1955 show: total building at $94,793,000, down eight per cent; heavy engineering at $18,641,000, up 20 per cent.

To keep satin-finish stainless steel appliances bright, wash often with plenty of hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Squeaky Floor Annoying? It's Easy to Eliminate

How Floors Are Laid. The better hardwood floors are laid by first nailing rough flooring diagonally on the floor joists. Long strips of wood, called furring, about one by two inches, are nailed on the rough flooring directly over the joists. Then the hardwood floor is nailed to the furring strips. Cheaper hardwood floors are often nailed on the rough flooring.

Cause of Squeaks. Squeaking is almost invariably caused by lack of sufficient nailing when the floor was laid. The hardwood floor, the furring or the rough boards may be loose.

How to Stop Squeaks. Walk slowly over the suspected spot and determine where the squeaking occurs. Generally only a small area is involved. Mark the location of the squeak. Pound lightly along the area with a hammer to determine if furring strips are present, and if they are, where they are. The hammer blows will sound "solid" over a furring strip, and hollow between the strips. Furring strips will be sixteen inches apart, which is a hint to follow. Mark any position of the furring strips, which will run at right angles to the hardwood floor.

SOAP THE NAILS

Use finishing nails two or more inches long. Soap them so they will go into the floor easily. Drive one nail in the center of a board in the area—through the hardwood floor, the furring strip and into the joist.

Drive the nail head close to the surface. Use a nail set to drive it slightly below the surface. (The little holes above the nail heads can be filled with filler, and will not be noticed if carefully done.)

Walk on the floor again to see if the nail has done the job of removing the squeak. If not, try another spot. Continue until squeak stops.

New Wall Steel

Republic Steel's trucson division announces the newest development in the use of steel for building walls, a prefabricated panel about five by 12 feet, known as "vision vent." Variety is achieved through a choice of combinations in window areas, window types and colors of exterior areas. These panels also include interior as well as exterior finishings and in-between insulation.

Clean Radiators Now

If you have not done so recently, this is a good time to clean all radiators. You can draw the dust into your vacuum cleaner or expel it with the blower tool, placing damp newspapers behind and under the radiator. By having them perfectly clean when the heating season starts once again you will have less dust to contend with and more warmth from the radiators.

You Can Paint Without Talent by Using Light

Vary the intensity and source of a light, and you change its value. You can change the color of furnishings, too, by properly controlling the light upon them."

Japanese-type bubble lights are growing in popularity. They combine the warmth, softness and overall illumination of a bamboo lantern with concentrated down-light for reading.

One of the nation's foremost architects has noted that Inspiration-Lighting "lends flexibility to a house.

Tinted light bulbs in attractive pastel colors can be used in the "accent" light fixtures which you use to spotlight unusual furniture, draperies or paintings.

Don't 'Plunge' Brushes

Keep your brush shallow in the paint pail—a third of the bristle length is deep enough. Dipping too deeply fills the brush too full and makes it almost impossible to clean thoroughly. Excess paint can best be removed by gently tapping the brush against the side of the can, rather than scraping it against the rim.

Quality Paint Pays

When you're painting barns, fences or similar structures, you will be wise to use quality paints. They wil save you money by wearing longer and will provide a good foundation for repainting. Be sure to use a primer on new wood before applying one or two coats of the chosen finish.

Supermarket Is All Shiny —Lacquer Does the Job

WASHINGTON — Next time you enter one of those modern American miracles — the Supermarket — stop and let your eye rove over the hundreds of packaged items surrounding you on the shelves. See how clean, sparkling and attractive they are, lined up in dress formation to take your fancy. And here's where lacquer comes into the picture. Among the materials used for packaging are paper, glassine, paperboard, metal foil and transparent film. Most of these rely upon lacquer to reach their present perfection.

Lacquer has for years served as a decorative and protective coating for paper. But now it is even more important in this field because of its ability to compensate for the shortcomings of certain packaging materials.

Durability, flexibility, washability and heat sealability—all these are essentials in packaging. Equally important is resistance to grease and water vapor. It is in gaining all these desirable properties that lacquer coatings are today making so fine a contribution, and at the same time greatly enhancing the attractiveness, and thus the saleability, of the product.

Paper and packaging lacquers, like all other lacquers, contain three basic components: a film-former, a resin and a plasticizer. The film-former gives strength, toughness and resistance to tearing. The resin provides adhesion which bonds the coating to the paper, board, foil or film to which it is applied. It also furnishes such other useful properties as body and gloss. The third ingredient—the plasticizer—controls the flexibility of the coating.

HERE'S ONE METHOD

One method of applying lacquer coatings to paper is by means of a device known as a knife coater. The paper, with the side to be coated on top, is laid on the base plate of the coater and lacquer poured on. Then the paper is drawn under the knife blade which spreads the lacquer uniformly and wipes off all excess. After the lacquer is applied, the paper has a short air-dry period, then a 2-minute drying interlude in an oven.

Various experiments are used to test the finishes. To determine if they are resistant to grease, they are subjected to fatty substances of animal origin—lard, for instance — and of vegetable origin, say a cooking oil; and finally with an oil of mineral origin.

Tests are necessary also to determine whether the coated packaging materials are strong enough to endure the scuffing and abrasion of shipping, pricing and customer handling. A properly formulated lacquer can, of course, take a great deal of punishment without revealing any ill effects.

Lacquer materials must of necessity be color-fast so that their attractiveness does not diminish. The effect which age may have upon the color of a freshly applied lacquer coating can be very important. If the coating is applied primarily for decorative purposes, for example, a yellowing of the coating cannot be tolerated.

* * *

And even when a lacquer coating is applied for some protective purpose which age will not diminish, a yellowing is likely to be highly objectionable. To eliminate any such eventuality, advance tests are made with ultraviolet light.

Red Cedar Aroma Saves Woolen Goods

Families which live in apartments and have a woolen storage problem may find the solution in lining one or more dresser drawers with aromatic red cedar closet lining. The red cedar aroma protects woolens by repelling moths.

Aromatic red cedar is available at lumber yards in packages containing enough pieces of the wood to cover at least 32 square feet of area. Each of the pieces is tongued and grooved for easy installation and tighter protection against moths and their larvae.

Lining a dresser drawer with red cedar is quite simple. Start with the bottom and finish with the sides. Place the first piece of the attractive wood lengthwise in the drawer, with the grooved end and side against the sides of the drawer. This procedure will make it easier to fit other pieces into place wth a minimum of sawing. Use the same system on the sides. Nail each piece to the drawer with small finishing nails to secure them.

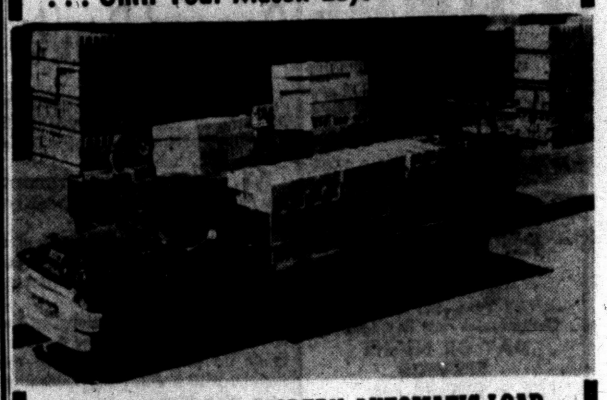

When the drawer lining is completed, it is ready for use. Do not paint or varnish the wood, since that would seal in he aroma which people enjoy but which is fatal to moths. Blankets, sweaters, fur coats and suits are just a few of the articles which can be protected in this manner.

Primer Important

If any one covering can be called the most important, it is the primer. The primer to paint is equivalent to the foundation of a house. Its application to exterior wood should not be delayed, for by such application you provide an immediate protective film against penetration by moisture, such as rain and fog.

500 More Jobless; Smallest Recent Drop

Employment in the Pontiac area dropped 500 from mid-June to July 15—the smallest monthly reduction since March—the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission reports.

Manufacturing jobs were down 800 but seasonal developments boosted non-manufacturing jobs 300.

Compared to 1955, non-farm employment of 71,100 is 9,700 less. The major decrease, 8,200, was noted in motor vehicle plants.

Unemployment at mid-July was estimated at 8,800 or 10.6 per cent of the total labor force. It was 3.3 per cent this time last year.

Swimmer Lauds Splendid Rescue, but Who Needs It

A beach attendant soon noticed what he believed to be a bather in distress, well out from shore. He telephoned the Royal Air Force base at St. Mawgan for a helicopter rescue crew.

"You don't look like a drowning man," said a puzzled doctor.

"I'm not," replied Chatwin. "I was peacefully floating on my back when the helicopter plucked me from the water. But I must say they were a first-class rescue team. And I ought to know—I've been a medallist in the Royal Life Saving Society since I was 11."

The embarrassed airmen rushed Chatwin back to the beach in an ambulance. His wife was still sleeping in her beach chair.

More Millions for Wolfson

Transit Shareholders OK Selling for Profit of $2 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)— Stockholders of Louis E. Wolfson's Capital Transit Co. today voted overwhelmingly to sell the firm's assets to O. Roy Chalk, New York airline operator, for 13½ million dollars.

They also authorized Wolfson to organize a company, under the name of the Universal Corp., and invest proceeds of the sale in virtually any business he chooses.

Wolfson, board chairman and principal owner of the transit firm, denounced members of Congress, the District of Columbia Board of Commissioners and other officials. He said they have tried to "push me around and browbeat me" out of the firm's management.

Congress, which governs the transit franchise in the District of Columbia, canceled the Wolfson group's charter as of midnight Aug. 14. It acted last year during a 52-day strike that halted all Washington's street cars and buses.

Chalk is president and majority stockholder of Trans-Caribbean Airways Inc., and is associated in the transit venture with Morris Fox, Washington trucking operator.

Wolfson and his associates bought control for $2,200,000 in 1949. They are estimated to have received about $5,300,000 out of dividends, the sale of some properties, and the disposal of shares. At last report the Wolfson group held about 31 per cent of the stock, bringing their portion of the sale price to about four million dollars.

Unionists Picketing U. S. Steel Ore Boats

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn., demanding to be recognized as bargaining agent for 250 licensed engineers on 58 ships of U. S. Steel Corp.'s Pittsburgh Steamship Division, said today it had set up picket lines at the ships.

The iron ore freighters have been tied up at Duluth; Milwaukee; Monroe and Conneaut and Lorain, Ohio, because of the steel strike.

The union claims 90 per cent of the 250 engineers wants it to represent them.

D. C. Potts, Pittsburgh president, has agreed to meet with a union committee here Monday afternoon to discuss the situation. He also offered to meet with the Masters, Mates & Pilots Assn., which is seeking to represent deck officers on the ships.

Love Will Find a Way —but It May Take Time

TIVERTON, R.I. (AP) — Some 60 years ago Benjamin French and Mabel Smith were childhood sweethearts but they did not marry because of a hoax played on them after her family moved to Chester, Mass.

French, now 82 and a retired baker, said last night he and his old love will be married tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Amicable Church here.

He explained the hoax was played on them by a housekeeper for the Smiths who stayed in Tiverton after the family moved.

French said the housekeeper sent letters to Mable telling her he was carrying on with Tiverton girls, and at the same time telling him untruths about Mabel.

The housekeeper capped her work, French added, by sending Mabel a clipping of a man named "B. France" killed in an auto accident in Missouri. Until recently she believed French was the victim.

She married, her husband died; she remarried and her second husband died in 1946. French married another girl and his wife died in 1935.

He and Mabel met again last May when he returned to Tiverton for a family reunion.

"When you have something true in the beginning," French said last night, "it never fades. It's always there, especially in time of need."

May Reopen Talks in Aluminum Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Federal Mediation Service today awaited replies from Aluminum Co. of America and the United Steelworkers on a proposal to resume negotiations Monday in an effort to end the 4-day-old strike.

The company said yesterday it was ready to return to the bargaining table but expressed a preferrence that the meetings with the union be held in Pittsburgh. Negotiators were meeting in New York when the strike started Wednesday.

The union still has not replied to mediation proposals. Some 18,000 USW members struck 12 Alcoa plants in a dispute over wages and contract terms.

The union also has 10,000 members on strike at nine plants of Reynolds Aluminum Co. Contract terms and wages also are the stumbling block in settling that dispute.

Jailed 18-Year-Old to Be Charged by Troy Police

TROY — Breaking and entering and car theft charges await a Detroit youth when he is released by Detroit police who arrested him Thursday.

Troy Police Chief David Gratopp reports Charles Jedamzik, 18, 19689 Oakland Ave., Detroit, would face those charges if Detroit's investigation yields no break-in charges.

He says the boy, along with a 16-year-old youth whose father was brought into the Troy police and an 18-year-old youth Troy police arrested at the scene, broke into the Mobilgas Station at 42887 Dequindre Wednesday morning.

Gratopp says Jedamzik, in his flight from police, left a car owned by Ronald Poli, 2011 Auburn, Utica, on Crooks Rd. and took the car of LaVerne Bernath, 2055 Crooks.

Bernath's car, found in Detroit, had been taken to Houghton Lake and back and was damaged by hitting a tree, Gratopp says.

House of a Thousand Complaints

Not Much to Look at, But It's Important

JERUSALEM, Israeli Section, Aug. 4 (AP)—On the border between the Israeli and Jordan sections of Jerusalem is the "House of a Thousand Complaints."

It is a two-story, red-roofed building. Its thick walls give considerable protection against the summer sun but very little against the heat of debate that goes on inside.

The house is the headquarters of the Jordan-Israel Mixed Armistice Commission established eight years ago under auspices of the U.N. truce supervision organization, now headed by Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns.

Once or twice a week two Jordan and two Israeli army officers meet, under the chairmanship of a U.N. truce representative, to establish responsibility for a border incident.

Usually each party has lodged a complaint accusing the other of having initiated the incident. The evidence collected by U.N. observers should in most cases establish the facts, but the two sides rarely agree this evidence is correct. When conflicting motions are submitted, the chairman casts the deciding vote.

Generally, both parties then accept the verdict censuring one side or the other or even both sides. Occasionally one side alleges that the chairman is biased, is influenced by political considerations or is swayed by higher U.N. diplomacy. Then one side or the other may walk out.

On a less official level, delegates have coffee together, exchange cigarettes and engage in small talk before and after the meetings. Though some of the Arab officers know Hebrew, and many Israeli offieers know Arabic, the small and big talk is in English.

It's an open question whether the commissions have contributed much to lessening border incidents. But Burns and U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold seem to think they serve a useful purpose in providing a forum where the conflict is talked out, even though not solved.

Even Rita Hayworth Was Once a Princess

By EARL WILSON

LONDON—Rita Hayworth enjoys doing the cha-cha-cha with her shoes off now in the more chi-chi London pubs.

Rita—who was once a princess, even as Grace Kelly (she became "Princess Margarita" upon her marriage to Aly Khan)—has been reported having a romance with young Jack Lemmon, who plays her lover in her current film.

"How are the children?" I asked her when I managed to steal a few minutes of her time from her well-tailored French suitor.

"Fine!" She was in a blue housecoat and some sneakers. "But they went back to Cannes yesterday—and I'm lonely without them."

"Cannes" was her way of referring to Aly Khan's celebrated home, the Chateau de l'Horizon, on the Riveria.

Though Rita and Aly battled in the courts for years over custody of little Princess Yasmine, now 6, they seem to have worked it out.

Aly's supposed to have the princess most of the summer. He takes Orson Welles daughter, Rebecca, 9, also.

The girls and their nanny remained for a long week-end at Rita's apartment near Claridge's. Aly came to London, too . . . to see another girl.

"Do you see him sometimes?" people are always asking her.

"Why not? After all, he's the father of my child—but that stuff about a million-dollar settlement is crazy. I didn't get a penny."

During one late-at-night visit to a cafe, Rita misplaced her shoes under a table. Invited to dance, she trotted out without them. Convinced that the world considers her a bad woman, she seems content just to go through life living it up.

AF Court Martials Recruit Instructors

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A squadron commander ordered court martials yesterday for three instructors who are charged with hitting airmen in their basic training groups at Parks Air Force Base.

Airmen 3C Richard T. Smith, 20, of Omaha was charged also with soliciting and accepting money from several trainees. The other two charged are Airman 3C Dean A. Warren, 19, of Omaha and Airman 2C William A. Ott, 22, of Selah, Wash.

* * *

No date was set for the trials. All three were relieved from their duties as technical instructors. They were not confined.

Empty Car Rolls Down to the 'Sea' in Ships

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A driverless car rolled 100 yards down the Mississippi River levee, right onto the gang plank of the steamer Admiral. Police said the car had been parked at the top of the levee by John Robertson of Chicago, who was visiting the excursion steamer.

The car ripped up about five feet of handrail on the gangplank before tipping over on its side.

Waterford Township Registration Up 630

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Registration here have risen about 630, according to Township Clerk Louis Barry. Last year's total was 14,221, with present tally at 14,851. He attributes the increase to new residents moving into the area.

Williams Raps Legislature; Legislator Raps Williams

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams has accused Michigan Republicans of waging a "fear campaign" which "amounts to sheer sabotage for political purposes."

He said GOP leaders are attempting to cover up unemployment problems by trying to make voters believe "business is being driven out of Michigan . . . and we can't afford to pay adequate job insurance benefits."

The Democratic governor, seeking an unprecedented fifth term, made the charges in a television address here last night.

He said a GOP-controlled legislature has repeatedly turned down his demands for an increase in jobless benefits while trying to give the impression that high unemployment insurance taxes are forcing industries out of Michigan.

CALLS THE SCORE

Far from losing new businesses, the governor said, the state gained 3,000 new jobs during the last six months while losing only 580.

As to the tax laws, he added, "The same Republican legislators who now claim our tax laws operate against business are the same legislators who wrote those tax laws they now criticize."

Williams said the "Republican Fear Campaign" is the "worst kind of advertising for Michigan.

* * *

"It amounts to sheer sabotage, for political purposes, of our efforts to bring new business into the state."

LANSING (AP) — A Republican legislator challenges Gov. Williams proposal for a reduction in unemployment taxes as a "political phony."

Rep. George Van Peursem (R-Zeeland), House Labor Committee chairman said the legislature already has the matter under consideration, and has had "for some time."

"We have no objection to doing whatever can reasonably and properly be done to relieve duly covered small employers from unnecessary tax burdens, he said.

Williams on Thursday urged the Legislature to halve the payroll taxes of 28,000 employers of four to seven persons brought under the unemployment compensation act this year.

CALLS THE SCORE

As it now stands, the act requires them to pay at the rate of 2.7 per cent for four years. After that, the employers go on an experience rating basis allowing the tax to drop as low as one-tenth of one per cent.

Van Peursem pictured the governor as a man who "for political advantage, grieves" over the plight of employers in the four to seven category while he seeks to bring under the act employers with three or fewer workers.

He argued that to cut the tax rate for new employers now would not save them anything in the long run.

* * *

This, he said, is because the effect would be to delay accumulation of adequate unemployment reserve and to force payment of higher tax rates later on.

Herb Clements Dies; Thumb Lawmaker

The 66-year-old Republican represented the St. Clair district comprised of Sanilac and St. Clair counties. He was elected to the house in 1950 and re-elected in 1952 and 1954.

Clements, a manufacturer of hardware and auto radio parts was born at Carsonville June 30, 1890. He operated a farm in Forester Township and was supervisor and a member of the Port Sanilac Harbor Commission.

* * *

He attended Ferris Institute and the University of Michigan after graduating from Deckerville public schools.

Troy Still Considers Ditch-Digging Vehicle

TROY — City officials are still studying City Manager's O. G. Holway's suggestion of a grade - all equipped to dig out Troy's many roadside ditches. The vehicle fully equipped would cost about $28,000, about $8,000 more than the usual road truck, Holway says.

Several such units are used in Oakland County communities, he says, and the county itself operates several.

Where There's a Will, There Is an Answer

NEW YORK (INS) — What do you do with a 42 ton crane when its excavating job is done, some 30 feet below street level? You get another crane twice as big to pull it out. That, at least, is what construction men working on a Park Avenue project in New York did after some tense engineering calculations.

Veterans of 30 years experience said they could not remember another case where the customary method of building a ramp to the surface was abandoned. The airlifted crane was dismantled into its major parts — 22-ton cab, 18-ton tractor carriage and two tons of scrap iron weights — and hauled to the street without mishap.

Customer Gets Haircut, Barber Gets Clipped

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A man came into Eugene Scott's baraber shop and warned: "Give me a good haircut or I'll hit you."

After getting the clip, the unidentified man hit Scott in the nose and announced: "I've paid a lot of barbers in the same way for giving me a bum haircut."

He ran from the shop without paying. Scott sought a John Doe warant charging assult and battery.

How's It at Home? Russians Ask

MOSCOW, Aug. 4 (AP) — If you plan to visit the Soviet Union—as some 2,500 American tourists are doing this year—be prepared to talk about home. Nine out of 10 Russians you meet casually will want to know all about the United States.

* * *

Sophisticated Russians are a little more reserved, but the man in the street's curiosity about America is unabashed, wide-eyed and apparently bottomless.

During a three-day visit to Leningrad:

A group of militia men questioned me on the price of shoes in the United States, rents, the punishment for murder, traffic regulations and why Americans prefer to dilute their spirits.

A knot of teenage boys with down on their cheeks wanted to know if Glenn Miller was really dead, with the latest hit tunes were, the price of American wrist watches and why Hollywood didn't export more movies to the Soviet Union.

A cab driver wanted a breakdown on the price of American cars, what kind of homes Americans live in and what they do about garages.

A student asked about American opera.

A middle-aged lady asked if Americans are as well - dressed at home as they are abroad.

These questions are just a sampling. If you can speak Russian, you'll run into a hundred variations every time you step out unchaperoned, in buses, trains restaurants and on the street.

DREAM ITEM FOR DAVY JONES' LOCKER — A $150,000 Chrysler dream car, which took more than two years to design and build, went down with the ill-fated Italian liner Andrea Doria. The car had no door or front posts, but cantilever arches on each side. However, the dream model, designed in America and hand-built in Italy by Chia, famed Turin sports car maker, was insured.

Movie Extra Held in Slaying

Hollywood Press Agent Found Brutally Beaten in Luxurious Home

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — A lanky young movie extra seized as he headed east through Arizona was to be returned to Los Angeles today for further questioning in the savage slaying of a wealthy Hollywood press agent.

Ray Pastrana, 23, of Los Angeles, was picked up in the tiny Northwestern Arizona community of Peach Springs yesterday as he was buying gas for an expensive car owned by the murdered press agent, 33-year-old William Clyde Westcott Jr.

Westcott was found dead yesterday in his luxurious Hollywood Hills apartment. He had been brutally beaten on the face and skull.

Pastrana told officers in Kingman that he knew nothing of the slaying. He said a friend had given him Westcott's car to drive to New York and that he had never heard of Westcott until he saw the registration slip on the car.

Deputy Sheriff Bernard Delh said details of Pastrana's story of how he came into possession of the car were very vague.

Sheriff's deputies from Kingman after they received a pickup bulletin on Westcott's car from California police. Deputy Donald Nelson said he spotted the car at a service station in Peach Springs and encountered no resistance when he took Pastrana into custody.

Wildcat Strike Halts Copper Mine Work

ONTONAGON (AP)—A union meeting was scheduled today to discuss a wildcat walkout that has idled some 1,000 employes of the White Pine Copper Mine since Thursday.

It was not immediately clear how many workers are participating in the strike or the issues involved.

A spokesman said the strikers are demanding a wage increase and protesting recent layoff of a workman who refused to enter a smoke-filled section of the mine.

Earl T. Bester, district director of the Steel Workers Union, warned strikers in a telegram yesterday that the "situation is impermissible and cannot be tolerated."

One source said most union miners were willing to work but would not enter the mine for fear of violence from a small group of strikers who grouped near the entrance.

State police headquarters said 15 troopers have been assigned to this area near the western edge of the Upper Peninsula.

Can't Use Road Funds to Pay Commissioners

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has ruled salaries and expenses of county road commissioners are not payable from the county road fund.

In an opinion to Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski, Kavanagh said payment from this source was authorized by the Legislature in 1941, but the authority was repealed eight years later.

Szymanski's office said all but two or three counties in the state have been continuing the practice of tapping the road fund for commissioner salaries and expenses.

Oregon Police Chief Indicted

Grand Jury in Portland Books Leader for Laxity in Vice Control

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The grand jury, investigating vice and corruption, jolted Portland by indicting Police Chief James Purcell Jr. last night.

The 20-year veteran of the Portland Police Dept. nervously drummed his fingers on the counter as he was booked on a charge of "incompetency, delinquency and malfeasance in office."

Maximum sentence if convicted could be one year in prison and a $500 fine.

Purcell, 48, denied any wrongdoing. He told reporters he welcomes the opportunity of airing the case in court. He posted $500 bail.

The indictment, which capped a 9-week probe, accused Purcell of wilfully failing to report and prosecute gamblers, bootleggers and prostitutes.

He also was accused of failing to halt the alleged acceptance of bribes by some members of the 700-man police force.

The probe was touched off by a series of copyrighted articles in the Oregonian, beginning last April, which said that Seattle men had conspired with a group of Portlanders to set up a vast vice operation here.

Cranbrook Institute Names Botany Aide

Dr. Warren P. Stoutamire has been named assistant botanist at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Dr. Robert T. Hatt, director, said today.

Dr. Stoutamire replaces Dr. Marion T. Hall who resigned to head the botany department at Butler University.

The new aide is a native of Eagle Rock, Va., and holds degrees from Roanoke College, the University of Oregon, and the University of Indiana.

At Cranbrook, Dr. Stoutamire will continue his research on plant classification. He also will assist the educational lecture and planning programs.

And His Tea Drinking?

WEST LOS ANGELES (AP)—Songwriter Jimmy McHugh hopes his piano playing will improve now that he's had an operation on the little finger of his right hand. McHugh, 60, said he injured the finger in an accident recently and found it interfere with his keyboard thumping.

NBC Paying Mary Martin $300,000 to Do 6 Shows

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—The Mary Martin-NBC three-year deal pays Mary about $100,000 per annum . . . hubby Richard Halliday will be executive producer of the six shows . . .

* * *

CBS stayed in the spirited bidding to the last and oddly enough, might even have paid more but had nothing specific in mind beyond a variety show . . .

NBC had "Born Yesterday" and a repeat of "Peter Pan" to start with . . .

NBC was anxious to sign Mary after analyzing old ratings — she starred on the two highest rated TV shows of all time—the Ford 50th anniversary jubilee (with Ethel Merman) and the all-time champ, "Peter Pan." . . .

Her first will be "Born Yesterday," Oct. 28, and Paul Douglas also is just about ready to sign NBC states.

Dinah Shore, every fourth Friday . . .

Revlon's "Most Beautiful Girl in the World" giveaway—this one's a hurlaway, with $250,000 its top prize—is close to the contract stage . . . Hal March would emcee . . .

Frankie Laine's summer sub show (for Godfrey) started last eve on CBS-TV a little less than splendidly . . . Frankie talks too much, and clumsily . . . when speaking, his dependence on teleprompters is too obvious . . .

Duke Ellington on the Laine premiere was its soldest item . . .

Billie Burke will join Will Rogers Jr., next Tuesday with the frank admission she'll be 76 that day.

Sen. Joe McCarthy will be queried Sunday on Mutual-TV's "Reporters Roundup" on "The Record of the Republican Party in the 84th Congress." (Filmed previously in Washington).

Minor tragedy in the wake of the Andrea Doria sinking: Phil Silvers' scenic designer Dick Jackson was one of the survivors, and had to abandon 4,000 feet of European film shot for rear-projection background on "Sgt. Bilko" this fall . . .

Silvers, author Nat Hiken and some key platoonatics will go to Europe in September to do it again . . .

Plan to Bury 2 More Unknown Soldiers in '58

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more unknown servicemen will be entombed beside the Unkown Soldier of World War I on Memorial Day, May 30, 1958.

President Eisenhower has signed a bill providing for burial of an unidentifiable member of the armed forces killed overseas during the Korean War. Similar entombment for an unknown victim of World War II was put off at the outbreak of the Korean War. Both will be buried beside their World War I comrade in Arlington National Cemetery.

Knight Refuses to Back Nixon

California Leader Says He Will Support Choice Selected by Ike

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Goodwin Knight stood alone among California Republican leaders today in refusing to extend pre-convention support to the renomination of Vice President Nixon, a fellow Californian.

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif) left Knight somewhat stranded by throwing his powerful weight behind Nixon, who is slated to be endorsed anew by the GOP State Central Committee tomorrow.

Knowland spoke up vigorously in behalf of his former Senate colleague yesterday after directors of the California Republican Assembly (CRA), the party's campaign organization, unanimously urged the state's 70 delegates to the Republican National Convention to "give all-out support to the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket."

The governor, advised of Knowland's action, declined to budge beyond his familiar line: he will support whomever President Eisenhower picks as his running mate.

Claims Herter Band Wagon Gaining Speed

"I feel that people are with me now," Stassen said on arrival from Washington yesterday.

Stassen said he came here to press further his drive to win the GOP vice presidential nomination for Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts. He said Herter can be drafted to replace Vice President Richard Nixon.

Herter has said he is not a candidate for the nomination.

President Eisenhower has given Stassen a leave of absence for the rest of this month from his cabinet-level job as special assistant on disarmament matters to give him a free hand for his "political activities."

Commenting on Herter's statement that he was not seeking the nomination, Stassen told newsmen:

"That is the right thing for him to say. He is not a 'seeking' candidate but one who would have to be drafted.

Who Will Run With Adlai?

Stevenson Keeps Mum on His Personal Choice for Running-Mate

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson is keeping mum about his favorite choice for the Democratic vice presidential nomination but he has reiterated his belief he'll be nominated for president.

The former Illinois governor, asked about Gov. Averell Harriman as a possible vice presidential nominee, said he and the New York governor "have been a part of a team over a good many years."

However, he sidestepped questions about a running mate with this comment:

"I don't know of a single leader of the Democratic party who isn't qualified to be the (vice presidential) candidate."

The party's 1952 presidential nominee, asked how quickly he thinks the National Convention will nominate him, replied: "I don't speculate on the ballot. I expect to be nominated. I don't know on hwat ballot."

The convention opens in Chicago Aug. 13 and Stevenson and Harriman are regarded as leading contenders for the nomination.

11 Doctors Seek 1 Job — on Beaver Island

LANSING (AP)—Eleven physicians have applied for the job as doctor on isolated Beaver Island, the state Health Department said today.

The island, off the northwest coast of the Lower Peninsula, can be reached only by air in the winter when the ferry boat quits its 33-mile run from Charlevoix.

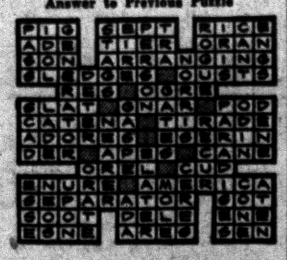

The department said a decision among applicants for the state-subsidized post will be made about Aug. 20.

The job pays from $6,493 to $7,642 from the state, plus all fees collected.

Beaver Island has about 300 year-round residents. Its population swells to about 2,300 in the summer.
