Deadly, Crippling Storm Veers North to Canada

Industrial Group Ups UF to 92 Pct.

Sparked by additional returns from the Industrial Division, the Pontiac Area United Fund's campaign today reached $460,366 or 92 per cent of its $501,000 goal.

Campaign Chairman Philip J. Monaghan today praised the fine efforts of Industrial Division Chairman Semon E. Knudsen and his more than 1,700 volunteer UF workers.

"If Industrial Division returns continue at their present rate, next Tuesday's final report luncheon will be a victory celebration for the volunteer workers who have worked so hard to make this campaign a success.

The giant Industrial Division, under Knudsen, continues to pace the way with employe and firm pledges totaling $383,440.73. Knudsen commended both labor and management for their cooperation in promoting the success of the in-plant solicitations.

Included in today's report are the employe contributions from Fisher Body Division which total $23,591.36 with additional funds still coming in, according to UF plant chairman William Clifford.

The present incomplete returns from Fisher Body indicate continued acceptance of the Fund's "giving yardstick" as a pledge guide. The average employe contribution has risen to $11.47, an increase of 85 cents over last year.

"We will not consider our job completed until every industrial employe has been contacted for his pledge," stated Knudsen.

The Industrial Division chairman would make no prediction as to what his division's final total will be. However, in previous campaigns it has accounted for better than 60 per cent of the total amount raised.

Sailor Stages Reign of Terror

Kidnaps 3 Shipmates, Wounds One in Forced Auto Escape Try

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — A 22-year-old sailor, awaiting court-martial, terrorized shipmates on the picket ship USS Investigator today, then forced three to accompany him at gunpoint and shot one during a wild auto ride through East Boston and Chelsea.

The sailor, Raymond J. Lizzotte of Poplar, Mont., who the Navy said is a full-blooded Indian, was captured later in Providence, R.I., after he burst into a lodging house and demanded clothing.

Wounded in the affray in East Boston was Donald Hicks, 19, of Atlanta, Ga. Naval authorities said Lizzotte shot him in the jaw when he failed to follow driving instruction. Hicks was reported in satisfactory condition.

Navy officials said Lizzotte was confined to the ship awaiting a summary court-martial today. They did not specify the charges.

BEGAN SHOOTING

Lizzotte began his terror reign, the Navy said, shortly after 1 a.m. in a washroom aboard the ship when he fired two shots at Howard Holliday, 23, of Peking, Ill.; Willie Charles Arrington, 24, of Alabama; and Sam Payne, 21, of Baltimore, Md.

Lizzotte then ran to an upper deck where he confronted two men on watch—Robert Brown, 32,

Reds Say West Is Using Berlin as Spy Center

Charge Is Extension of Drive to Force Allies to Withdraw Troops

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union accused the West today of "endangering all humanity" by using West Berlin as a base for agents seeking to undermine the Soviet regime.

The charge was made at the first news conference held in four years by the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin.

Russian spokesman J. W. Beburov demanded an end to what he called Western agent activity against the Soviet Union.

Beburov warned that the alleged campaign of anti-Soviet propaganda and undermining activity is "not only endangering the Soviet Union and the other Socialist Communist lands but also all humanity."

Beburov said international tension would be eased if the West stopped trying to send Russian emigre spies into the Soviet Union.

Earlier today Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, charged that West Berlin was a hotbed of espionage activity against the Soviet bloc.

The East German Communists are swaggering.

The West Germans are worried. The United States, Britain and France have been forced to reappraise their refusal to deal with the East German satellite regime.

Khrushchev got these results with the verbal shock treatment. The Soviet premier demanded Nov. 10 that the Allies abandon their occupation of West Berlin. He promised to hand over Soviet occupation powers in East Berlin to the East Germans.

Pravda said today the Soviet government "is unshakeable in its decision" to change the occupa-

Unknown Hunter Fatally Wounds Pontiac Youth

A Pontiac youth was killed yesterday by a bullet from an unknown hunter's gun, bringing the death toll of Pontiac area hunters to three, half of the current state deer season gun death count.

Ronald Gerald Drinkwine, 15, of 296 W. Princeton Ave., was shot in the hip while deer hunting 75 yards off a county road in Evart Township, Osceola County.

State Police at the Reed City post said the rifle slug penetrated the hip and tore through the youth's stomach. His father, Joseph Drinkwine, said he was out of sight of his son when he heard several shots and ran to the scene to find his son dying.

Troopers said they believed a hunter passing along the road may have mistaken the boy for a deer and fired. The youth was a tenth grade student at Pontiac Northern High School.

The state death toll is now at 11, with six lives claimed by accidental gunshot wounds and six other persons suffering fatal heart attacks since the deer season opened at 6 a.m. Saturday.

Local Woman Dies in Crash

Commerce Township Victim's Car Smashes Into Tree Near Home

A Commerce Township woman was killed yesterday when her auto smashed into a tree about a mile from her home, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Oakland Highway Toll in '58 78

In addition, a Pontiac woman, Mrs. Amelia Mary Pearson, 77, of 52 S. Genesee Ave., died at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday of injuries received in an accident Saturday.

Deputies said the Commerce Township woman was driving east on Commerce road near Hiller road alone, when she apparently lost control of her car striking and knocking over a speed limit sign.

Her car then swerved to the other side of the road and smashed head-on into a tree. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital by Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. E. F. Collins.

Authorities said she suffered internal injuries and multiple fractures of the body, including a broken neck.

Mrs. Pearson was riding in an auto driven by Margaret Ann Burt, 76, of 2144 Willhite St., Waterford Township, who was injured slightly in the accident.

Mrs. Pearson was thrown from the car when it and another auto, driven by Martin D. Woods, 18, of Farmington, collided at M59 and Airport road, Waterford Township, shortly after 10 a.m. Woods was uninjured, according to township police.

Williams Acts After Prisoners Strike

Jackson Food Probe Ordered

JACKSON (AP) — An investigation of the food situation at Southern Michigan Prison has been ordered by Gov. Williams as the result of a brief strike of prisoners yesterday.

While ordering a complete report on the demonstration, Williams said in Lansing he was satisfied with the way the disturbance was handled by prison and corrections authorities when the prisoners refused to perform regular work assignments.

The sitdown strike at the world's largest walled prison reportedly was called to protest prison food and the failure of officials to issue script which inmates use for money.

Only about 350 of the prison's 4,337 convicts were believed involved. All of the inmates were sent back to their cells after the strike began.

"We had the situation under control in about 35 minutes and there wasn't a dollar's worth of damage done or any violence whatsoever," said Warden William H. Bannan. The prison was the scene of a bloody and destructive riot in April 1952.

Regarding the food complaints, Bannan said:

"Our budget allows us to spend only 55 cents a day for food and we don't have an easy time managing on that kind of an allowance."

With no reference whatever to yesterday's demonstration, state corrections authorities long have sought a larger allowance. Their budget request for 1959-60 calls for a four per cent improvement factor.

A similar plea a year ago, only for a three per cent increase, got nowhere in the 1958 legislature. Three per cent would amount to about one and one half cents per capita daily.

Richard Beers, corrections department finance officer, said the department recognizes food in penal institutions as a "sensitive" problem.

"It is an important morale factor. Prisoners talk a lot about food. The traditional Thanksgiving meal, with turkey and all the trimmings, is a big event in prison," Beers said.

Gus Harrison, department director, observed that the state is paying 40 cents a pound for beef. Not enough meat was one of the prisoner complaints.

In justifying the request for an extra $80,000 this year to feed prisoners, Beers said the department relied on a survey showing that the food allowance hasn't kept pace with rising commodity costs.

"We were able to show that compared with the wholesale price commodity index, using 1947-48 as a base of 100, we have slipped back four per cent on food and 10 per cent on other commodities," he said.

The department asked the legislature for $30,000 to $40,000 to raise prisoner wages, thereby giving them a little more to spend in the prison commissary, but the request was slapped down hard.

A provision was written into the corrections appropriation bill expressly forbidding the department to use any of its alloted funds for this purpose.

The department wanted to give a five cents a day raise to men earning less than 25 cents a day at prison work assignments, and to establish a 15 cents a day minimum.

Inmates spend their prison earnings mostly on razor blades, other toiletries, cigarettes and food.

Beers said that as far as stew-

Drifted Snow, Tornado Litter, Floods Remain

Blizzard Fringe Brings Cold, Windy and Drier Weather to Michigan

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Blizzard conditions crippled the northern plains today as a storm rolled slowly into Canada leaving much of mid-America covered with drifted snow, tornado litter and rain-swollen streams.

At least 10 deaths were attributed to one of the earliest major winter storms in Weather Bureau history —a turbulence that swept from Texas and Louisiana to Minnesota and Wisconsin, from the slopes of the Rockies to the Mississippi River.

Michigan weather began to get colder, windier and drier today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit said temperatures would fall to the lower 20s in Upper Michigan and the upper 20s and lower 30s in Lower Michigan tonight.

Gale-force winds have already caused much damage in the Upper Peninsula, according to Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

A spokesman for the company said Grand Marais, Curtis, Watersmeet, and parts of Escanaba and Manistique have been isolated due to downed power and telephone lines.

Gusty winds up to 50 miles per hour and lower temperatures were forecast for most of the UP.

Winds in Southern Michigan were expected to reach 45 miles per hour, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit.

At least 25 ships were halted by fog in western Lake Erie early today and the Coast Guard said it was unable to estimate the number of vessels halted in all the Great Lakes bordering Michigan.

Lingering rain that drenched most of Michigan for almost a week began moving out of the state. Some light showers and snow flurries were forecast for Upper Michigan and northern Lower Michigan.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the abrupt change in the weather — a drop in temperature of as much as 30 degrees in some sections tonight — was

County Study Committee to Probe Oakland Setup

In a meeting called for Thursday, a group of citizens will put the present structure of Oakland County government under a microscope to see what makes it tick.

To aid the Special County Government Study Committee in this big task is a recently-completed survey of Oakland government conducted by Civic Research Inc. of Pontiac.

In this 13-page report, the researchers recommend "that the study committee give serious consideration to the question of what home rule would mean for Oakland County."

This meets with the approval of John L. Carey, Springfield Township supervisor and chairman of the committee which is seeking means to streamline Oakland's government.

"Home rule is the answer to the many problems facing the county," Carey has repeated often.

EYE WAYNE COUNTY

He and his nine-member committee have kept their eyes on their neighbor county to the south, Wayne, as to what stand it might take on counties acquiring home rule like cities.

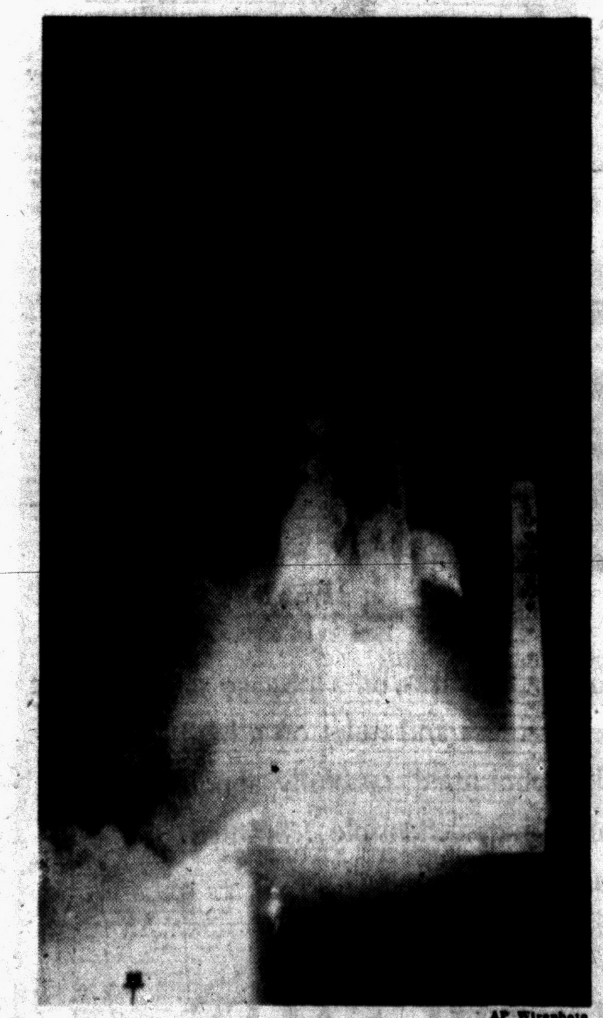

Wayne County supervisors last week put their stamp of approval on homerule, a plan that has been eyed several years by Oakland supervisors and officials.

"We spotted our opportunity to strike while the iron's hot," said Carey. He predicted that his committee might urge Oakland supervisors to join with Wayne in fighting for necessary home rule legislation in Lansing next year.

★ ★ ★

This recommendation might be in the offing when Carey meets with his committee Thursday morning at 10 on the fourth floor of the County Office Building in Pontiac.

Silence Follows Firing of New Atlas Missile

AP Wirephoto

THUNDERING ATLAS — Throbbing under the power of its three mighty engines, the Air Force Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile pulls away from the launching site last night.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A mighty Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile thundered into space Monday night but the Air Force was silent today on the fate of the giant war rocket.

If the 100-ton missile hit its target, the United States took another great step forward in its campaign to develop a carrier that can drop a nuclear warhead on any target on earth.

There was official silence, however, after the Atlas blasted off at 11 p. m.

The three engines of the Atlas built up more than 350,000 pounds of thrust before the missile was released. The brilliance of its exhaust flames almost blinded newsmen watching from a platform three miles from the launching pad.

The thunder of the rocket's engines shook this area as the Atlas climbed straight upward for about a minute, then curved gracefully away to the southeast.

Reportedly, this Atlas was aimed for a target 3,000 miles down the Atlantic Ocean tracking range.

U. of M. Food Poisoning Traced to Egg Whites

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan officials said yesterday that food poisoning epidemic afflicting more than 200 students last week apparently was caused by canned, frozen egg whites.

4 Ships Run Aground in Detroit River Fog

DETROIT (AP) — A heavy fog blanketed the Detroit River last night, causing four ships to run aground. The Coast Guard stopped all traffic between Lakes Erie and Huron for three hours.

Three freighters and a Coast Guard cutter were grounded in the near-zero visibility. All either managed to pull themselves free or were pulled free by other vessels after a few hours.

A Coast Guard spokesman said there were no injuries and little damage in the groundings and traffic was stopped to prevent further groundings and collisions. The Coast Guard permitted traffic to begin moving again after the overcast lifted.

The grounded ships were the cutter Dahlia, the freighters Frank E. Taplan and Harry R. Jones, and the Norwegian motor vessel Dixie.

120 Trucks, 300 Men Brace

Let It Snow -- Road Commission Ready

Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow — the Oakland County Road Commission is ready to move into action.

With reports that a snowstorm, which has already blanketed the west, is moving our way, road commission crews yesterday surveyed their stock of winter fighting equipment and announced, "We're ready."

Readied to fight off any amount of snow that old man winter might dump on the 2,550 miles of roads the commission has to care for, are a fleet of 120 trucks and a well-trained crew of about 300 maintenance employes.

Coming into the yard of the commission office on Pontiac Lake road daily are truckloads of road salt from Detroit mines. Paul VanRoekel, commission highway engineer, said there are 400 tons of the salt already stockpiled.

TO USE CHEMICAL

VanRoekel said the commission this year will use a liquid calcium chloride, the same chemical used for dust control but less concentrated, on the Farmington-Brighton expressway, Woodward avenue and Telegraph road.

"This will thaw ice at a little lower temperature than ordinary salt will," explained VanRoekel. He said salt became ineffective for removing ice from roads when the temperature reached 20 above, while the liquid application works to about 15 above zero.

"And besides," VanRoekel said, "one truck of the liquid salt goes considerably farther than the rock salt."

Much to the dismay of the motorist who fumes when his shiny new car gets covered with this salt, Van Roekel said no rust-preventive salt has yet been devised.

STANDING BY

Road commisison crews won't wait until any blizzard is upon the county, Sol D. Lomerson, commission chairman, said.

★ ★ ★

"Our radio dispatcher Elmer Hess calls for an official weather bureau report about closing time each evening to see if a storm might be coming. If so, equipment and crews are alerted and are usually on the road by the time the storm hits," Lomerson said.

There are about 1,000 tons of sand mixed with salt distributed to the four commission district offices ready to be spread when the storm comes, he added.

Tax Cuts Granted to Firms

State Planners Reply to Appeals

Michigan Consolidated, GM, Detroit Edison and Ford Are Named

LANSING (AP) — The State Tax Commission disclosed today it has granted multi-million dollar tax assessment cuts to Ford, General Motors, Detroit Edison and Michigan Consolidated Gas.

The reductions, applying to both real estate and personal property assessments, were granted on appeals by the companies for reductions. Some smaller companies also got cuts.

While the assessment drops disclosed today applied to six Detroit suburban communities, the commission said other communities in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties will be affected.

Redford Township, Livonia, Romulus, Nankin Township, Allen Park and Melvindale were the six communities affected by today's order.

Ford's assessed valuation in the six communities was cut $6,130,620 from an original total of $27,655,760. GM's cut was $7,633,130 from the original tax assessment basis of $19,813,780.

Redford was hardest hit by the tax assessment revision as it will lose $444,480 in taxes on a cut of $8,340,400 in the township's assessed valuation.

There were indications that the communities would have to adopt higher taxes or cut some of their current services to taxpayers.

The cut in assessments of Detroit Edison and Michigan Consolidated were not announced immediately. Commission spokesmen said that the two companies had applied for tax relief in more than 100 southeastern Michigan communities, including 29 in Wayne County.

A commission spokesman said that the company appeals for tax assessment reductions were so complicated that it would take some time to figure out the exact amount granted each petitioning firm.

ards and inmate cooks were concerned the department felt it was better off than it has been in years.

At Marquette Prison, the per capita food allowance is 59 cents a day because of higher food transportation costs. It is 53 cents a day at the Ionia Reformatory.

Beers explained that the department by law is required to pay the going market price for meat and food crops produced at the institutions, and that there is no hidden supplementation of the prison diet from this source.

He said there was no trustworthy comparative data available on amounts spent for food in penal institutions of other states.

Minister Claims Fuel to Blame for Speeding

SALISBURY, England (UPI) — The Rev. John Wansey was fined $8.40 for speeding today despite his plea that high test gasoline made him drive faster than the 30 mile per hour limit.

"A premium motor fuel had been put into the tank, not by me, and I was unaccustomed to its unique powers," he said in a letter to the court.

"It made me travel at a higher speed when the accelerator pedal was in the normal position for 30 m.p.h."

197,270 at Polls Nov. 4

67 Pct. County Vote Recorded

Sixty-seven per cent of the 294,803 qualified and registered voters in Oakland County cast their ballots in the Nov. 4 election, Mrs. Mabel Child, county election clerk, announced today.

As the Oakland County Board of Canvassers yesterday completed their tally of the election, Mrs. Child said a total of 197,270 voters went to the polls two weeks ago.

She termed the turnout "a lot better than was expected." Only about 160,000 were expected to vote.

Mrs. Child said results of the county-wide canvass disclosed that the unusual practice of many voters voting for only one candidate, or just a partial slate, was noted again.

"Although we had a total vote of 197,000," she said, "the largest total vote for any one office was only 195,358, and that was for governor. This shows that not all voted for this office."

"Our precinct workers almost never have as many votes cast for the poll book," Mrs. Child remarked.

★ ★ ★

"The only explanation is that there are hundreds of voters who just never care to vote for a full slate," she said.

Deadly, Crippling Storm Veers North Into Canada

Moving to the northeast, the low pressure area is easing the warmth out of Michigan with cool air. The mixture of the cool and warm air is causing the winds, which are pulling in colder air from the fringe of the blizzard in the Midwest.

WILL RISE LATER

Temperatures are expected to rise again near the end of the week, climbing back into the 50s in most sections of the state.

The main storm center moved to the Minnesota-Canadian border overnight and was expected to pass into western Ontario by evening, resulting in diminishing winds and generally improving conditions over the northern plains late tonight.

Heavy snow drifting was reported over the Dakotas and northwest Minnesota, making road travel hazardous.

Temperatures dropped to 21 below at Alamosa in south-central Colorado, 12 below at Flagstaff, Ariz., and 6 below at Zuni, N. M. and Bryce Canyon, Utah. Low readings from Texas to Illinois were mostly in the 20s and 30s but the temperatures sagged to 7 above at Goodland, Kan., and 12 at Dalhart, Tex.

A band of rain and scattered thunderstorms stretched from the Gulf Coast in Texas to the Ohio-Michigan border, marking the advance edge of the cold air.

UNUSUALLY SEVERE

Unusually severe for this time of year, the storm deposited as much as 16 inches of snow Monday at Lemmon, S. D.

Generally the depths were six to eight inches across western Kansas. Throughout the blizzard area wind gusts of as much as 50 miles an hour whipped the snow into road-clogging drifts and made driving hazardous. Roads from Kansas southward, however, were generally open to travel.

In the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles the snow turned to slush then froze again Monday night, making driving treacherous.

Bone-chilling temperatures followed the clearing. The mercury dropped to zero in northern Arizona and 10 below in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

10 HUNTERS TRAPPED

In other parts of Arizona about 10 hunters were trapped but believed safe in cabins near Flagstaff. Three others were snowbound near Prescott. A dozen hunters and campers were blocked in mountain snow near Tucson.

Damage estimated in the millions of dollars resulted from tornadoes and hurricane-force winds in northern Texas. The damage extended from Gainesville west to Wichita Falls and north to the Oklahoma border.

So far the Russians and their East German satellite leaders have talked without acting.

But the talk startled the West into re-examining its policies when Khrushchev hinted at a possible new Berlin blockade.

Khrushchev indicated he might hand over to the East Germans control over Allied access to their garrisons in West Berlin, across 110 miles of East Germany. This would force the Allies either to deal with the East Germans or to give up overland supply routes and resort to an airlift.

Officer's Words at Trial Anger Dodge's Wife

Mrs. Gregg Sherwood Dodge sat quietly when police officer Lawrence Brown told Municipal Court her speech was slurred and profane when she was arrested Aug. 26.

But when he said her evening gown was mussed and a shoulder strap was disarranged, the blonde actress shouted angry denial. When the judge told her to be quiet, she said: "Well, he is lying."

Chicago newspaper columnist Irving Kupcinet was with Mrs. Dodge at the time of the arrest. He awaits trial Dec. 10 on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

MSUO Releases First Brochure of Information

The first publication released by Michigan State University Oakland to answer basic questions about this new center of learning is now ready for distribution.

The brochure was prepared as an information piece for high school students, school administrators and others interested in MSUO.

One of the highlights of the brochure is a brief message by Dr. John A. Hannah, Michigan State University president, who emphasizes that "an exciting adventure in education awaits today's young men and women at Michigan State University Oakland.

Dr. Hannah also pays tribute to the traditions of Meadow Brook Farms, one of the world's most distinguished estates. "Blending with the rich heritage of Meadow Brook," he states, "is a fresh approach to academic problems . . . an approach which couples the experiences of yesterday with the challenges of tomorrow."

A section contains information on curriculum, facilities, location and general facts about the southeastern Michigan school, scheduled to open in the fall of 1959 for a freshman class.

of Brockton, Mass., and Terrence Thompson, 19, of Janesville, Wis.

Lizzotte ordered Brown and Thompson to accompany him off the ship and as they were reasoning with him, Hicks and Jackie Ryan, returning from liberty, boarded the ship.

Lizzotte forced Hicks, Ryan and Thompson to walk from the ship to Hicks' parked car. Thompson bolted from the group and alerted a civilian guard.

Hicks was pushed from the car by Lizzotte and Ryan was commanded to drive.

Manager Quits at Sylvan Lake

Louis Barry Says He'll Take Essexville Post of Administrator

Barry, who has held the $6,000-a-year job for one and one-half years, said he was leaving to become administrator of the city of Essexville in Bay County.

The 37-year-old native of Pontiac came to Sylvan Lake government from Waterford Township. He was township clerk from 1951 to 1956, and served as acting supervisor briefly in 1957. He was defeated in his bid for election as supervisor in the spring of 1957.

★ ★ ★

Barry was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination as county treasurer in August. Married, with two children, Barry plans to leave for Essexville early next month.

UAW Seeks to Bar S-P Pension Split

DETROIT (AP) — A federal court order to restrain Studebaker-Packard Corp. from splitting its 25-million-dollar pension fund has been requested by the United Auto Workers Union.

The UAW said yesterday it had learned that the company plans to divide its pension fund into two parts. Studebaker workers would get a 16-million-dollar share and Packard employes nine million, according to the union.

UAW attorney Paul W. Trigg said the amount to be allowed Packard employes was inadequate to provide pensions of $2.25 a month for each year worked.

Four hundred million dollars worth of records were sold in the U.S. in 1957, compared with five and a half million dollars worth in 1933.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Hills to Vote Dec. 8 on Tax Increase

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — In a special election Dec. 8, property owners in the Bloomfield Hills School District will be asked to approve a tax increase to "wipe out the deficit program" now in operation.

Also on the ballot will be a proposed $1,165,000 expansion program, according to School Supt. Eugene Johnson.

Tax increases of four mills for three years and three mills for the succeeding three years are being proposed.

The expansion would include a 12-room addition to the Bloomfield Hills Junior High School, a new elementary school on Quarton road and the addition of three classrooms to the Hickory Grove School.

Spread over the 25 years, the program would cost a little less than $1 per each $1,000 of assessed valuation, Johnson said.

Prior to the election, Parent-Teacher Associations will hold meetings at the various schools in the district to explain the financial needs of the district.

Members of the Board of Education and the Board's Citizen's Advisory Committee will discuss present and future plans for district schools.

A public hearing will be held Feb 9 on the rezoning of seven lots owned by the city of Birmingham on W. 14-Mile road.

City commissioners last night approved offering the land for sale after it has been re-zoned for multiple housing use.

Residents of Henrietta street between Brown and Frank streets were told a study will be made on parking conditions in their block. The matter will be brought up for further discussion in about two weeks, commissioners said.

Badge No. 106 — gold-plated and mounted on a plaque — has been retired by the Birmingham Volunteer Police Dept. and presented to Mrs. Lester Talbot, 1364 Holland Ave., honoring her husband who died Aug. 31.

James Couzens, chief of the five-year-old volunteer group, made the presentation last night at Birmingham City Commission meeting.

Prior to the ceremony, Mayor Carl Ingraham spoke briefly about Talbot, one of the original volunteers. He said Talbot in the year prior to his death gave more than 900 hours of his time to the city without pay.

Ewart Starts Appeal Action

Applies for High Court Ruling Over Promotion of 3 Police Officers

Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart was on his way to Lansing today to file an application with the Supreme Court for leave to appeal the decision of Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams that three Pontiac police officers should be promoted.

Ewart said the high court is expected to rule on his application Nov. 25.

Pontiac city commissioners Nov. 3 voted 6 to 1 to seek an appeal of Judge Adams' Oct. 9 decision which ordered that two detectives on the force be promoted to sergeants, and one sergeant to be promoted to lieutenant.

The officers, Sgt. Fred L. Goines, Detectives Herbert C. Cooley, and James F. Bale, filed suit claiming the city had violated the civil service act by not granting these promotions.

Part of Ewart's motion for leave to appeal will be a stay order request asking that the promotions not be granted until the appeal, if it is granted, is heard. Judge Adams has granted two such stay orders while Ewart and attorneys for the officers debated the form of the city's appeal request.

Airport Building Plans Prepared

Drawings Will Be Sent to Lansing This Week for State Approval

Progress towards construction of a terminal building and tower at Pontiac Municipal Airport next year will move ahead this week when preliminary plans are sent to Lansing for approval.

Homer Hoskins, airport manager said if the plans are approved by state civil aeronautics officials, they will be forwarded first to regional officials in Kansas City, then to Washington, D.C.

It will be at least three weeks before final approval comes from Washington, he indicated.

Approval will be the signal for architects to begin detailed blueprints. Hoskins and the City Commission have tentatively decided on William C. Zimmerman Associates, which drew up the preliminary plans.

The commission also has tentatively authorized the expenditure of $25,000 out of 1958 capital improvement funds and the budgeting of $45,000 next year for the construction program.

The total city share in the federal-aid project would be $70,000. The state has already set another $70,000 aside and the federal government has allotted $140,000, making a total $280,000 earmarked for the building.

★ ★ ★

Plans call for a four-story building on M59, with a large ground floor for the general public and the three upper floors of smaller size for CAA operations. The tower would be on the top floor.

Hold Early Hearing in Slaying of Mother

PETOSKEY (AP) — Preliminary hearing on a first-degree murder charge against a socially prominent insurance broker held in the slaying of his mother has been set for Friday in Justice Court here.

Prosecutor Howard Campbell said a formal warrant would be served today on Paul Achenbach, 46, the decomposed body of his mother Clara, 78, was found Saturday in her apartment where police said it had been for six months.

Achenbach was arrested after telling a friend he had killed his mother. A coroner's jury ruled that he was responsible for her death. She was believed to have been beaten over the head with a wrench handle.

Her body was covered with a sheet, to which was pinned a note with Achenbach's signature and dated May 29. It read:

"I am sorry this had to happen, but I was drunk and I think I have been out of my mind for some time."

Jet Airliners Racing Over Atlantic Today

LONDON (AP)—A British Comet IV and an American Boeing 707 raced across the Atlantic today. Jet airline passenger competition was in full swing.

★ ★ ★

The Comet of British Overseas Airways Corp. carried 33 passengers. Pan American World Airway's Boeing had 110 passengers.

The Comet left London airport with a 35-minute lead. Both planes were to refuel at Gander, Nfld.

"This should be pretty exciting," an airport official said.

BOAC started daily New York-London jet service last Friday. Pan American's inaugural was delayed 13½ hours yesterday by fog which trapped it in Ireland.

Discover Body of Old Woman in Farm Well

ATTICA, Ind. (AP) — The decomposed and bound body of an elderly woman was found Monday in a well at an abandoned farm 12 miles southwest of here.

Officials tentatively identified the body as that of Miss Leona Disseldorf, 72, a former teacher who had been missing from her Attica home since Sept. 26.

Police said the woman's hands and feet were bound and the body was weighted with bricks. They said they believed she had been beaten severely.

Miss Disseldorf was reported to have been carrying a large sum of money at the time she disappeared. She lived alone in Attica with her cats and dogs, but left frequently to visit friends.

The body was found by two hunters and a farmer who came to the well to get water for his tractor.

Police Inspect Cars on Ohio Turnpike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Special patrols were posted at three Ohio turnpike toll gates last night in a search for drunk drivers and unsafe vehicles.

There were no arrests. But in a three-hour period, warnings were issued for minor violations to 12 of 458 drivers inspected.

Most warnings were for defective lights. Drivers were given warning slips, which require vehicle defects be repaired within 48 hours.

The inspections were made at two interchanges near Cleveland —Brecksville and North Olmsted— and at Stoney Ridge, near Toledo.

A wrong-way crash near Norwalk Nov. 7, which killed seven persons, prompted the spot checks. The drive of the wrong-way vehicle, Edward Hines of Detroit, admitted to police he had been drinking.

James D. Hartshorne, director of information for the turnpike, said inspections would continue as long as necessary. He said they would be repeated at the turnpike's 17 toll plazas to keep drivers on the alert.

Ex-Distillery Prexy H. E. Walker Dies

DETROIT (AP) — Harrington E. Walker, 74, former president of the Hiram Walker Co., died yesterday in Grosse Pointe Farms. He was the grandson of the original Hiram Walker, founder of the distillery.

Walker held the posts of president and general manager of the firm until the company was sold in 1927. He had lived in the Detroit area 40 years.

After the sale of the distillery, Walker held many other executive posts in business firms. He was vice president of Walker Sons, Ltd.; president of the Walkerville Land and Building Co.; president of the Walkerville and Detroit Ferry Co.; president of Walker wist Drill Co.; vice president of Metal Products Co.; president of Hiram Walker Chemical Co.; president of the Walkerville Construction Co, and president of the Garden Court Realty Co. in Detroit.

DETROIT (AP) — A butcher who stabbed himself in the abdomen while slicing bacon died yesterday of complications from the wound.

Doctors at Receiving Hospital said the death of Ray Spencer, 60, of Detroit, was caused by peritonitis and infection.

Spencer stabbed himself Sept. 30. He was treated at a hospital and released after the incident. Last Oct. 25 he was re-admitted for further treatment.

Gypsy's Prediction Right: Her Arrest Successful

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Gypsy fortune teller peered intently into her crystal ball Monday and told the man he would be successful in his job.

He was.

The client was a plainclothes policeman, who promptly arrested her for predicting the future.

Mrs. Mildred Vlado, 28, was given a $100 fine by Magistrate Vernon H. Wiesand, suspended if she would put $50 into the poor box.

Seeking to End Space Race

U. S. Pushes U. N. to Act on 'Missiles for Peace'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States prodded U.N. members today to ignore Soviet stalling tactics and act quickly on the American call for combined action to seek peaceful use of outer space.

Any delay in promoting international cooperation on the issue, the Americans warned, leaves the way open to suicidal big power rivalry for exploration and control of outer space.

The Americans and their 19 co-sponsors have proposed that a special committee make a wide-ranging study of peaceful use of outer space and report back to next year's General Assembly.

The study committee would concentrate on U.N. agencies and other international groups dealing with space, programs of international cooperation open to the U.N., arrangements needed to facilitate cooperation on space problems, and legal issues that might grow out of space explorations.

The Russians have indicated their price for cooperation would be approval of their rival demand for a ban on use of outer space for military purposes and elimination of U.S. military bases overseas.

The United States insisted that action on outer space must not be delayed by the complex disarmament issue or such facets as a ban on outer space missiles.

A U.S. suggestion that the study group be limited to nine members has run into opposition from Australia, Brazil and other nations. They feel that it should be enlarged to at least 15 to ensure widespread geographical representation.

American officials are understood to have given assurance they will be willing to listen to any reasonable alternative.

The United States has also made plain it does not feel that the big powers should have seats automatically on the committee.

Drunk Driver Finally Reduced to Walking

First, he lost his automobile driver's license because of a drunk driving conviction.

He got a motorcycle — and was forbidden by a judge to ride it after he was arrested on another drunk driving charge.

Municipal Judge Edward Ryan told Green to show up for trial next Monday on two charges, drunken driving and driving on the wrong side of a highway.

"And you'd better learn to walk," added the judge as he ordered Green to abandon his bike.

Erin O'Brien, Husband Try Trial Separation

The dark-haired singer and actress told friends they haven't yet talked to attorneys about ending the seven-year marriage.

The number of symphony orchestras in the U.S. has climbed from 30 to about 160 during the past 25 or 30 years.

Sister Testifies at Trial

Beck Called a 'Benefactor'

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—The sister of former Teamsters president Dave Beck Sr. testified with sobs Monday that her brother was a benefactor who looked out for her security but rarely explained about finances.

"Sir, I don't remember when I first acquired those shares of stock," said Mrs. Rita Henne, 63, when questioned about 100 shares of Sick's Seattle Brewery Co. stock bought in her name.

★ ★ ★

"They were given to me by my brother to help me as security for the future because I work."

The widow, a year younger than Beck, wrung her hands and stopped occasionally to dry tears as she testified at his trial for evasion of $240,000 in income taxes in 1950-53.

The government seeks to show that the portly ex-union official profited from stock transactions involving his relatives and associates.

Mrs. Henne was asked what she did with dividend checks.

"Some of them I cashed, some I turned back to my brother. I gave them to him to do what he saw fit. He has full power of attorney to sign my name on anything or to help me in any way."

Earlier a Seattle Teamsters official testified his endorsement was forged on at least four checks —one for $10,913— that had been co-endorsed by Beck.

D. W. Marshall, head of promotions for Teamsters' Joint Council 28, examined photostats of checks issued to him for dividends or sale of brewery stock and asked if they bore his endorsement.

"No sir," he said.

Marshall testified he held 4,287 shares of Sick's stock between 1940 and 1947 but had not paid for a single share. He said he actually owned only 25 shares given him as a Christmas bonus and the rest was bought for him by Beck.

He said in 1946 or 1947 Beck asked him to assign the stock to others.

"I signed some over to Mrs. Henne, some over to Dave Beck Jr., and some in blank," he said.

Air Force Reserves Prepared for War

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's aerial minute men are getting their orders now — for use in event of sudden global war.

★ ★ ★

Brig. Gen. Felix Vidal, deputy assistant chief of the Air Force Reserve, said Monday mobilization orders are being mailed to 53,000 of the best-trained reserve airmen.

★ ★ ★

"The orders are effective upon a mobilization proclamation," he said. "The orders tell the reservist to report immediately, and where. They authorize transportation. They name his unit and — practically — his job."

Seeks Decision on Hospital Plan

Willman Says He May Ask for Joint Meeting on Extra Costs

City and Pontiac General Hospital officials will be asked to make a joint decision on extra costs in the hospital expansion program.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said he may ask for a joint meeting of city commissioners and hospital trustees after Wednesday, when he and hospital administrator Harold B. Euler are scheduled to confer again with contractors and architects.

Negotiations with contractors have been going on since September, when inspection disclosed that heating, plumbing and lighting installations in the original hospital building were worn out and had to be replaced.

The city has tentatively decided to cancel existing contracts to remodel the old building and use available funds to proceed instead with replacements.

Willman said if the terms of a final agreement are reached Wednesday, he would submit a report to commissioners and trustees. Commissioners have already agreed informally to attend a joint meeting with trustees.

Ile de France's Fate Hanging in Balance

LE HAVRE, France (AP) — The Ile de France, a onetime queen of the North Atlantic, docked here Monday night after what may have been her final voyage.

No one knows what is going to happen to the 32-year-old liner.

Officials of the French Line say it is too costly to keep her running, and she is too slow to keep up with the competition. No decision will be taken for a month.

The Ile has been crossed off the French Line's sailing schedule for the first six months of 1959. Her 800 officers and crewmen, plus some 300 cooks, waiters and cabin stewards, are at liberty.

Tyrone Power's Wife Bringing Body Home

MADRID (AP) — Debbie Ann Power left for America by plane early today with the body of her husband, movie actor Tyrone Power.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Power was taken ill on the set of the movie Saturday and died an hour later of a heart attack. He will be buried Thursday in Hollywood.

What Model Is Horse?

FAIRBURY, Neb. (UPI)—Farmer Alvin McCord has challenged Fairbury's new car dealers to race their 1959 models against one of his saddle horses. McCord didn't claim his animals would win any distance contests but said they could outspeed a car over a short stretch.

Bob Considine Says:

Hoover Would Bring Ghosts Out in Open

NEW YORK — People . . . Places . . . Things . . .

Did you hear Margo Barkham's story about the reading of the will?

Well, all the avaricious and expectant heirs of the late lamented rich uncle showed up at the lawyer's office, elbowed one another for position and settled into their chairs. With unbearable deliberation the lawyer opened the envelope, took out the last will and testament and read:

"I, Jake Jones, being of sound mind and body . . . spent it all."

Herbert Hoover paused briefly as he marched to the ever familiar dais at the Waldorf — this time to receive the second gold medal he has been given by the National Institute of Social Sciences. The institute gave Mr. Hoover his first one 40 years ago.

"I'm making a speech about fellows like you," he said, with a twinkle.

Next day I read the text. Excerpts:

"This is a unique after-dinner occasion. You have not been compelled to listen to a single ghost-written speech. I do not condemn all ghostwritten after-dinner speeches. They may be an improvement in some cases on 'do it yourself.' In particular, those which comprise selection from the joke book and the encyclopedia, clothed with oratorical embroidery by selections from Chauncey Depew.

"However, some reforms are needed in this matter . . . all that is necessary is to require the after-dinner speaker to announce at the beginning who the ghost writer was. Applause would advance the professional standing of the ghost. Silence would indicate to the speaker that he should get a new ghost."

Reminds me of an erudite book I spooked for a general, after the war. In the confusion of his pride of authorship, he sent me a copy. It was inscribed:

"To my friend, the gost."

Willie Shoemaker, a prominent and outspoken capitalist, found himself riding boot-to-boot next to jockey Nikolai Nasimov, in last week's Washington, D.C., International. Above the roar of the mob and thunder of the hooves, Willie, who was riding Clem, yelled something very uncomplimentary to the Russian jockey astride Garnir.

"What did he call you after you called him that?" a friend asked.

"Nothing," Willie said. "He just smiled, like it was a compliment, and then went right past me."

I think the President encourages Harold Stassen's blasts on Vice President Nixon by what is either his significant silence or vast indifference.

Could be wrong, of course, I picked Custer over the Indians and the Delaware over Washington. I also think Adlai Stevenson will get the Democratic nomination in 1960. And win.

The best movie I've seen in a long time is Gregory Peck's "The Big Country." The best-written piece I've read in a long time was Prof. Raymond Moley's of several weeks ago, observing an anniversary of Newsweek. The best Broadway show, I think, is Dore Schary's "Sunrise at Campobello."

The most romantic saloon in the U.S. is New York's Chez Vito. The least chance anything has of starting, including my 1922 Velie, is that third big baseball league endorsed by Mayor Wagner's distinguished committee. And the best new column in a long long time is Bill Slocum's piece in the Mirror and such other papers as are lucky enough to be able to buy it.

Ann Arbor Ballet to Present Limon

ANN ARBOR — The Ann Arbor Civic Ballet and the University of Michigan Modern Dance Club will present Jose Limon and his Dance Theater next Sunday, at the Ann Arbor High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets are now on sale at Slater's Bookstore, daily, from 10 to 5 p.m.

Jose Limon is rated a superb dancer with a brilliant technique, able to communicate a tremendous range of ideas and feelings through dance movement. The dance theater in which he plays the central role deals with love, history, death, birth, heroism and joy.

This style, based on the modern-dance technique developed by Doris Humphrey, the artistic director of the company, has a distinctive virility, sparkling with elegance and warm with compassion. The dancers who work with him are all star-artists in their own right, who have pooled their resources to make a versatile performing group in the best tradition of theatrical repertory.

Americans spent 592 million dollars on books in 1956, compared with 152 million dollars in 1933.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Robert B. Tarr

This area, and particularly The Pontiac PRESS, loses a valuable and especially estimable citizen in the death of ROBERT B. TARR.

For thirty-three years, "BOB" TARR has been associated with us here on West Huron Street, and for thirty-three years he has been a staunch and solid citizen. It is around men like him that communities are built and the better things in life are established.

★ ★ ★

Affable, easy going and with a good humored smile, "Bob" won a huge host of friends. In thirty-three years of almost daily association, few of us here in The Press, ever saw him ruffled, excited or "out of sorts." Men like that only come infrequently and they stand out against the average background.

★ ★ ★

ROBERT TARR was completely dedicated to the newspaper profession and was attending a meeting of the Managing Editors of the Associated Press in French Lick, Ind., when death came. He represented The Pontiac PRESS in a host of cities in several capacities; and he always did so with honor to himself and the institution. "BOB" TARR was the type of individual on whom everyone banked completely. No one looked back to see whether he was carrying his end of the current assignment. Invariably, he had his own part well in hand and was assisting someone else.

★ ★ ★

Men and women who worked for him found him fair and considerate, and his associates in other departments never had anything but a kindly word for "BOB."

★ ★ ★

Death, perhaps, had been slightly forecast on two previous occasions, but when he left here for the Indiana meeting, he was "on the crest of the wave," in fine spirits and radiated good health. The Grim Reaper beckoned in the still of the night and he never knew he was destined to depart from the scenes and the people he loved so well. If death can ever be merciful, this was it.

★ ★ ★

The community marches on. But it advances without the willing and capable assistance of a grand individual who lived a purposeful life and one that was given over to service for others.

Understanding Sought by Group Visiting S.A.

The current visit of 30 leaders of private North American organizations to South America, should lead to a more sympathetic view of each others' problems, at least.

Under the auspices of the newly formed non-profit International Seminars, Inc. and International House of New Orleans, the thirty will meet with their counterparts in seven of the 10 South American countries for a series of conferences on inter-American relations, GEORGE V. DENNY JR. president of the seminar group, stressed the fact that members are independent citizens representing their organizations and are on a mission of inquiry which they hope will lead to a mutual understanding.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by several top private corporations with interests in Latin America, the participating organizations representing 55 million Americans include such widely differing groups as the National Association of Manufacturers, AFL-CIO, Fraternal Order of Eagles and National Council of Negro women. They hope for full and free discussions with Latin Americans on economic, labor, social and educational problems.

★ ★ ★

It is to be hoped there will be frank words on both sides. Rightly or wrongly our neighbors to the south are resentful of Washington's policies. They claim more help is going to Western Europe than to their countries but they choose to overlook the fact that much of Europe was devastated by two world wars and needed assistance for survival. Then, too, some South American countries have such unstable governments that it is difficult for the United States to extend help without being accused of "meddling."

★ ★ ★

As this people to people approach is a private venture, it may be more successful than would a similar one sponsored by the various governments. In a shrinking world understanding among friends is of paramount importance.

Holly Takes Lead

Now Principal Stopover for Migrant Water Fowl

The bird sanctuary on the Horton Farm in Holly Township now is the leading wild geese habitation in Oakland County for a few weeks each year on their migration.

Its Fagan Lake now is harboring over 500 of these large birds, most of which have been there for several weeks. They began arriving late in August, and will remain until threats of winter hasten them south.

According to the person who has welcomed and made them feel at home for many years,

Mrs. B. D. Horton,

they forage in adjoining fields, and eat other food provided for them as long as possible. In fact, they sometimes enjoy this easy living so long that they are caught on ice covered water. For their safety, their rations now are being curtailed.

Some of the flock remain over when they stop on their northern migration in the spring, and spend the summer here. They build their nests and rear their young around the lake.

The wheel of progress has wrested these migration honors for our county from the former Scripps Farm in Orion Township, where for many years a similar concentration of these birds took place.

Now that farm has been divided into smaller parcels, much of which is subdivided. This includes Village Acres, the caretaker of which, tells me that Lake Sixteen, the former stopping place of hundreds of the birds, now gets only a scattering few.

John Scholz,

Other flocks make stops at Kent, Cass, Pontiac and other lakes, but the greatest gathering is at Holly.

A sample of changing population took place last week when a New Jersey van was unloading its cargo of household goods on South Parke street at the same time the family across the street was loading their effects on a van bound for Alabama.

Another Little Twist!

Is 'Scoop' Unsportsmanlike Today?

WASHINGTON — Times certainly have changed since the days when newspapermen took pride in getting a "scoop" and when their competitors recognized such enterprise and thought it was unsportsmanlike to cry "leak."

LAWRENCE

Nowadays when the press secretary of the President of the United States claims—as he did on television last Sunday—the privilege of giving out news to whichever correspondents he wants to help with "background," this is sarcastically referred to as a "leak"—as something he shouldn't do.

★ ★ ★

Never in the recollection of this correspondent has the chief presidential secretary dealing with news been regarded as a minor official, but as a principal—as much entitled to give out news for the government as if he were the head of a department in the executive branch.

Nor is any President forbidden by any rule to give out information to selected individuals in the press except as he may impose a restraint on himself due to a reluctance to face the protesting cries of other newsmen.

President Theodore Roosevelt used to have a group of friendly newswriters around him all the time, and when it came to giving out "scoops," he usually favored the writers from newspapers whose editorial policies were in opposition to him.

He used to say frankly that, if he couldn't "get a break" in the editorial pages of such newspapers, he at least had a right to get one in their news columns.

Last Sunday, when Presidential Press Secretary Hagerty was quizzed on a Columbia Broadcasting System television show about "leaks" and "background" information, the inference of one of his interrogators was that a presidential secretary doesn't have the right to give out "background" information or even "leak" stories to any reporter he chooses.

But, oddly enough, this practice thrives on Capitol Hill, and it is not easy to trace the "leaks" or the "background" stories that come from individual senators or congressmen whose views are thus distributed anonymously on many controversial questions of the day.

Nor do many correspondents at the capitol feel that a catastrophe has happened if one of their number gets an occasional "scoop" because of friendliness with certain news sources.

There is, of course, always the "planted" story, which happens when the newspaperman himself hasn't the slightest hint ahead of time about the news which is given him. He is selected for the artificial "scoop" either because his paper is prominent or has a big circulation, or because he can be trusted to keep his mouth shut as to where and how he got the "exclusive" story.

Thus it was to the interest of the last Democratic administration to "leak" to a New York newspaper —which printed it in full—the actual transcript of the conversation at Wake Island in 1950 between President Truman and General MacArthur.

The general had not known till he read it in the newspapers that a stenographer had been listening at a keyhole.

This is an example of a "planted leak," but curiously enough very little furor was raised by the "right to know" organizations of those days, as it still was considered a good "scoop" for the newspaper that got it, unethical though it happened to be for the administration that resorted to the trick.

The right of an administration even to put out a "planted" story, however, cannot be denied, though, if present tendencies continue, this sort of thing, too, may eventually be controlled by the "right to know" laws and regulations being currently espoused. Maybe in the days to come nobody will ever need to fear being "scooped" or feel again the pressure to get a "scoop."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Eat Food Combinations That Suit Your Palate

"Please state what foods should or should not be eaten together or at the same meal. For example, applesauce and fresh pork. — (E. R.S., Jr.)"

"Is there any particular reason why a person should not take lobster or shrimp and ice cream or milk at the same meal? (A. R.)"

DR. BRADY

"About twice a week we go out to dinner, at a restaurant where a kindly old waiter takes good care of us. When we ordered ice cream after a seafood dinner, he became upset. He said if we insisted he'd serve it, but . . . (Mrs. F. R. S.)"

Years ago such queries came every day. Nowadays nobody worries about "wrong food combinations." It is difficult to judge whether better enforcement of laws against fraud or increased IQ of the general public has brought about this change. I believe it is the latter.

I remember one elderly couple whose happiness was destroyed by their constant preoccupation with the business of selecting the right combinations and avoiding wrong food combinations. Not only were they unhappy, but by imposing their morbid notions on relatives and friends they gradually became sequestered — as hosts or guests they made everybody around them uncomfortable.

Answering these and other queries about food combinations, I repeat:

1. De gustibus non est disputandum—about tastes there can be no disputing.

2. The Creator combines fat, protein or nitrogenous material and carbohydrate or starch and sugar in the staff of life, together with vitamins, minerals and indigestible roughage, fibre or bulk to insure normal assimilation. The "staff of life" means wheat, not any refined derivative of the grain.

3. No matter how odd the combination may seem to others, if you like it that's all that matters.

Patrons of an eating place favored by taxi drivers and truck drivers got in the habit of reconnoitering the place before they entered. It seemed a bus man wasn't satisfied with a simple combination of, say, pork and beans or pea soup and johnnycake or beef stew and apple pie. He ordered them all, mixed them thoroughly and gobbled the mixture with evident enjoyment.

He stifled all protests by saying "You eat your way and I'll eat mine. It's all going into the same place, isn't it?" If you can think of an answer for that, please let me know.

Urges Everyone to Uphold True Christmas Meaning

Now that the Christmas season is almost here, I hope that folks will stop to think of the real reason that we celebrate this Holy day, not a holly or holiday, but the birth of the infant Jesus and it is His birthday and the giving of presents is only secondary. You go to your church and I'll go to mine but let's walk along together.

'Why Did Press Use That Story?'

Your newspaper proclaimed the following provocative headline "Biography of a Disaster — Rio Grande on TV Tonight." This was supported by a full column story, with a picture, enticing us hopeful viewers to scan the TV program column for time and station. You know the answer. No outlet in this area.

★ ★ ★

While I appreciate your desire to publish news of interest to your readers, the previously mentioned article was misleading. If your hope was to arouse public interest in worthwhile TV programs, more power to you, but if you merely printed a column in order to fill in space, my sympathy is not warranted.

'Such Material Needs Editing'

In an endeavor to build up your circulation you've been leaving a copy of your paper at our door for the past week, and I've been reading it quite carefully. I was quite surprised to read such an article as "Drop Dead Where You Are, Young Lovers" on page 10 of the Nov. 10 edition. I wonder why you print nearly a column of such disgustingly noxious material.

★ ★ ★

Then on page 29 is Earl Wilson's material. The three paragraphs beginning "A woman reader in New Bedford, Mass. . . ." degrade moral and spiritual good. Haven't we enough juvenile and parental delinquency already without lowering the ideal of goodness?

Some of this syndicated material needs close scrutiny and frequent "blue penciling" before it should be printed.

Two Readers Ask About Photographs

I'm interested to know why in Tuesday night's edition they didn't put all six boys' pictures in the paper concerning the Boys Club winning a championship plaque at Detroit last Saturday for the Boys Clubs of America.

A picture of all six wouldn't have taken up much more room. There must have been four hurt boys when they looked in the paper Tuesday night. They all worked equally hard to win that plaque. When they win again, and I'm sure they will, make all those boys proud to think they've accomplished something. I'm very proud of Pontiac's Boys Club as I know are a lot of parents.

Questions Editorial on Police Situation

I fail to understand the meaning of The Pontiac Press editorial of Nov. 13 regarding the police problem. Is the Press displeased because Eastman has recognized a condition within the police department that is depicted by the idea "everybody's out of step but one?"

Civil service did not create the condition that existed prior to its adoption. The public has been duped, there is no doubt, but not by voting for the bill. The new director is doing what should have been done years ago. His job is a result of inefficiency that should have been taken care of.

Praises Teams' Sportsmanship

I attended the Troy-Avondale championship football game last Friday and want to comment on the wonderful sportsmanship shown by both teams, both during and after the game. It was wonderful to see.

Even after the end of the very close, hard-played game that meant so much to both teams, the Troy fans, cheerleaders and players all patted the Avondale team on the back and could be heard congratulating them and walking with them back to the locker room.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Music as a Positive Force

Notice Conradi's unique experiment with English sparrows! It may shock a great many folks who think music is linked with heredity. And please memorize the comment by John Erskine. Urge your school children to take part in the school chorus or church choir. Encourage them to play ANY musical instrument, even the mouth harp, for music is a POSITIVE force for good.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-374: William Shakespeare was probably the greatest applied psychologist since Christ.

And he realized the tremendous value of music, for he wrote:

"The man that hath no music in himself,
"Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds,
"Is fit for treason, stratagems, and spoils."

DR. CRANE

Indeed, the "rock 'n' roll" teenagers are not as likely to break laws or become vandals, as are the non-musical kids!

So you parents and teachers should not be too critical of modern types of music that are so popular with youth.

★ ★ ★

Music is often a melodic outlet for surplus energy. And all healthy kids have so much vitality, they feel like exploding if they can't get rid of it via muscular exercise.

Rock 'n' roll, the jitterbug, the former Charleston, etc., don't seem like good music to many older folks.

But please remember that young people want their music to be about 90 per cent athletics! They crave rhythmic calisthenics!

They don't like to sit still and dream to soft music that carries them back to their childhood or early romantic interludes. No, that is for the older generations.

Young people prefer music that permits them to engage in ballroom athletics. They want to produce a sweat instead of a sweater, so you knitting-needle oldsters should be more tolerant.

In grade schools, we thus grant daily recess periods just to let the kids run and romp on the school playground. That helps drain off their pent-up energy so they don't fidget so much in the classroom or pick at their neighbors or bite their fingernails.

CONRADI'S SPARROWS

★ ★ ★

Whether you are lowbrow or highbrow regarding music depends in part on your age and your childhood training.

You don't inherit an appreciation for classical music, opera and symphonies versus hillbilly tunes and the mouth harp.

To help prove that fact, let me cite the experiments of Prof. Conradi who placed baby sparrows in the nest of canaries.

By the time the sparrows were three months old, they began to give trills like their adopted canary parents.

"None of these sparrows," adds Prof. Conradi, "ever had the characteristic call note of the wild species, but by and by adopted those of the canary.

★ ★ ★

So you music teachers can take heart! The environment can greatly alter heredity. If you motivate your pupils properly, they can make remarkable improvement in both their musical ability and their tastes.

Music is one of the most profitable courses in the curriculum. Next to mathematics and English, it will be of more use to students in later life than any other courses in school.

"Music is the only language," said John Erskine, "in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing."

So music is a positive force and not a negative influence!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Man Confesses Murdering Girl

Police Say He Admits Smothering High School Coed Near Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A gangling, jobless masonry worker was held by police today after they said he admitted the gruesome slaying of his former 15-year-old girl friend.

Police said Charles Melquist, 23, self-described "big brother" of Bonnie Leigh Scott, admitted he smothered the high school sophomore with a pillow in his auto in suburban Villa Park on the night of Sept. 22 after she resisted his advances.

He then disrobed her and drove to a forest preserve where he disposed of her body in a ditch.

The girl's nude, decapitated body was found Saturday by a group of Boy Scouts where Melquist said he had dumped it.

Melquist was quoted by police as saying he returned to the body four days after the slaying.

"I thought I killed her in a dream," he said, "and I went to see if the body was there."

On the night of Oct. 30, police said Melquist related during five hours of questioning, he went back and severed the head from the body with a four-inch knife, and also slashed the abdomen.

He said that since the slaying he has been having "terrible dreams."

★ ★ ★

Bonnie Leigh was reported missing after she failed to return home the night of Sept. 22. She lived with her grandmother and an aunt and uncle in suburban Addison, a few miles from Melquist's home. Her parents are separated.

Hal Boyle Says:

City Dwellers Unite—Invasion Threatens!

NEW YORK (AP)—Now is the time for all good city dwellers to come to the aid of the suburbanite.

Not as a matter of philanthropy — but as a matter of enlightened self-interest.

America's great cities are threatened by many things—ranging from smog to traffic jams and slum-blight. But those of us who love city life are aware of a new peril.

★ ★ ★

It is in the form of an exodus from the suburbs back to the city, a reversal of the huge postwar migration of population out from the center of the city to its fringes.

Ronald Halfacre, the typical suburbanite, now wants to come back home. He has discovered many a worm in his paradise out where the fresh air begins.

He moved to the suburbs a dozen years ago full of disdain for the big city and looking for a better way of life.

★ ★ ★

"Out there in the ozone zone things are different," Ronald said. "the schools are better. You live a healthier life, nearer to nature. Out there a neighbor's a real pal."

For some years Ronald actually believed all that guff himself.

"You can't beat that country living," he bragged every summer as he dragged out a sack of home-grown tomatoes. "You even save money—growing so much of your own food."

But time has caught up with Ronald and his vision of a frontier utopia just beyond the city's pale.

His taxes have gone up, up, up. He has to ride an auto, a train and a bus to reach his job. The schools in the suburbs are more crowded than those in the city.

His wife complains she is nothing but a chauffeur for him and the kids. He needed no car in the city. He has to have two in the suburbs.

"There's nothing to do out here. In the city there was always something to do. There aren't even any parks out here. A city's got parks," the children complain.

Ronald himself is weary of traveling from one outdoor barbeque pit to another at mealtime. He is weary of being stung by mosquitoes and local repair men. He has found it costs him 50 cents apiece to raise his tomatoes.

That healthy outdoor life also has begun to undermine his system. He is tired of digging his way out of snowdrifts in winter; the joy of do-it-yourself wallpapering has palled. He is bored with the gossip of nosey neighbors, who seem to regard his home life as a kind of neighborhood television program.

It is no wonder that Ronald Halfacre pines for the comfort, security and serenity of the city, where a man can solve any emergency by a phone call to the janitor.

That is why it is high time for us who remained steadfastly loyal to our cities to organize now a Society for the Amelioration of the Condition of Suburbanites.

Do you know a Ronald Halfacre? Why not mail him a tinned ham to help him over Thanksgiving? Give him a pat on the back; send him a "get well" card.

Write him a letter saying, "It's you pioneering fellows out there on the frontier of civilization who are doing so much to keep the American spirit alive. I know you won't let the nation down by giving up."

If necessary, even lend him money to keep him out there.

For if 10 million Ronald Halfacres ever abandon the suburbs at once and start moving back, city life will again become as noisy, crowded and uncomfortable as — well, as it now has become in the suburbs.

Bars Libel Suit Against Prober

District Judge Rules Lawyer Kennedy Can't Be Subpoenaed

DETROIT (AP) — A five-million-dollar libel and slander suit against Robert F. Kennedy has been slowed — if not stopped — by a Federal Court ruling.

U. S. District Judge Clifford O'Sullivan said yesterday that Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee, cannot be sued in Michigan unless the service of the suit is made in Michigan.

Kennedy earlier was served with the suit in Boston, Mass.

The suit was filed by Teamster Union official William E. Bufalino, who asked five million dollars in damages for alleged libel and slander against himself and Teamsters Juke Box Local 985.

Bufalino, president of the local, asked half of the amount for himself and half for the union. He accused Kennedy of trying to destroy the local by making disparaging remarks during recent Senate hearings.

Bufalino indicated he would continue to press the suit against Kennedy, either by serving the summons on him the next time he comes to Michigan or by asking for a change of venue to Washington or Massachusetts.

Man Killed by Car on Fog-Bound Xway

DETROIT (AP) — Anthony Randazzo, 38, of Detroit, was killed yesterday when hit by a car on the fog-bound Edsel Ford expressway.

Police said Randazzo, a father of two, had stopped his pickup truck on the expressway and had gotten out of the vehicle to examine it. He and the truck were hit by a car driven by Willie F. Brown, 19, of Detroit.

Brown told police he did not see Randazzo or the truck because of the fog.

Explorer Assails Activity of U.S. in Greenland

★ ★ ★

Count Eigil Knuth criticizes U.S. activities on Denmark's big North Atlantic island in a series of articles now being published in the independent Copenhagen newspaper Information.

Knuth said the presence of Americans has split Greenland into two parts.

★ ★ ★

"Because of increased alert and research activity, and favored by ever repeated Danish grants (of authority) and sanctions, (the U.S. defense effort has) drawn still larger areas of the island into the shade of its iron curtain," the explorer wrote.

The explorer based his criticism on the current construction of a U.S. air base and radar station at Angmagssalik in East Greenland.

Chrysler Plants Near Capacity

Output About Normal as 6-Day White Collar Strike Ends

DETROIT (AP) — Assembly lines at Chrysler Corp. plants were turning out 1959 car models at nearly full capacity again today after white collar workers accepted terms of a new three-year contract which ended a six-day strike.

The United Auto Workers Union notified the company last night that the strikers — clerical workers, draftsmen and inspectors — had accepted terms of the agreement hammered out in marathon bargaining sessions over the weekend.

Picket lines set up by the 8,000 white collar workers prevented most of the rest of the company's 95,000 employes from reporting to production lines last week. Only a few supplier plants and the company's non-automotive facilities continued to operate during the walkout.

Chrysler and the UAW came to an agreement last Oct. 1 on a three-year pact covering production workers. But white collar employes held out for a separate contract, claiming inequities.

The company said the new agreement would give the office group a wage increase of $2.53 a week, or three per cent, whichever is larger, as well as a new severance pay plan, improved supplemental unemployment benefits and a pension increase, plus other fringe gains.

Under the old contract, Chrysler said, wages for white collar workers ranged from $319 a month to $903.

Red Experts to Inspect Site of Dam in Egypt

The Soviet Union is lending President Nasser's government the equivalent of 70 million dollars worth of materials and technical help for the first stage of the billion-dollar irrigation and hydroelectric project on the Nile.

Quemoy Shelling Ceases Today

Make Plans to Reopen Island Schools; Bombs Still Fall on Odd Days

TAIPEI (AP)—The offshore island shooting lapsed into silence again today and the Nationalists on much-battered Quemoy made plans to reopen primary schools.

One school in the center of the island already has resumed classes despite the bombardment from Communist coastal guns on alternate days. Nationalist authorities said 20 primary schools would start a delayed fall semester Thursday.

The schools were shut down after the Red guns on the mainland began heavy bombardment Aug. 23. Shooting in recent weeks has been confined to odd-numbered days of the months and usually is light. New dugouts have been built to shelter the pupils during bombardments.

The Communists stepped up their shelling Monday by unloading 1,024 rounds on Quemoy and nearby Nationalist islands. It was the heaviest rain of fire since Nov. 7. Nationalist headquarters said its counter fire destroyed two Communist fortifications and three gun emplacements.

The Nationalists had claimed their F86 Sabrejets equipped with the heat-seeking missiles shot down 10 Communist MIG17 jet fighters and probably destroyed two more. The news agency said four Sidewinders wre fired and each downed a MIG.

Khan's Widow Beaten by Guard in Wrong Room

CAIRO (AP)—The guard of a young Saudi Arabian prince got in the wrong room at Shepheards Hotel, found the Begum Aga Khan and attacked her in the belief that she had done something to his five-year-old charge.

In the struggle, the beautiful widow of the late Aga Khan III was hit in the face by a glass ash tray but suffered only minor bruises. Police and hotel attendants, summoned by the begum's secretary, saved her from serious injury

The incident occurred early Monday morning as the begum was half asleep in her hotel suite. Her rooms are in the same position as those of the little Arabian prince on a higher floor.

The Saudi Arabian guard, Salem Abdullah, apparently got out of the elevator on the wrong floor. Entering the suite, he saw the woman in what he thought was his young master's bed and shouted angrily, "Where is the young prince?" Then he began hitting the begum. Her screams awakened Miss Meyer in an adjoining room.

Hotel authorities refused to identify the little Arabian prince, but local press reports said he was a member of the Saudi royal family.

Georgia to Begin Action on Death-Linked Perjury Charge in January

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Jewel Almond, who returned here from Grand Rapids, Mich., to post $5,000 bond, has been scheduled for trial in January on perjury charges stemming from the Anjette Lyles poison murder trial.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lyles, charged with the poison murder of two husbands, a mother-in-law and her own 9-year-old child, Marcia, was convicted of the child's death and sentenced to be electrocuted. The other charges are pending while Anjette appeals her conviction.

Mrs. Almond was indicted on a charge of falsely witnessing a paper purporting to be a will of the mother-in-law. The state charged at Anjette's trial that the paper was a forgery.

Mrs. Almond, who has been staying with a son, Eddie Lynch, in Grand Rapids, returned here after the indictment and posted $5,000 bond.

At the request of Muscogee County Sheriff E. L. Howell at Columbus, an autopsy was performed on the body of Mrs. Almond's late husband, Robert L. Almond.

The sheriff said he had reason to believe the former deputy was a victim of foul play but the autopsy failed to turn up any evidence. The autopsy finding, Howell announced, "absolutely closes the case."

Bill Spence Says:
RAMBLERS are still MAKING HISTORY

Sees Rambler Sales Absorb Wage Hikes

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors says it is absorbing an increased labor cost in its new Rambler cars through increased prospective sales.

★ ★ ★

AMC President George Romney said in a statement yesterday the new costs "can be met by the record production volume we see ahead of us." He said new car orders are running two to three times as much as last year.

★ ★ ★

Romney said the added labor costs come from the new contract with the United Auto Workers. He said the Rambler price increase announced at the time of the new models introduction covered only increased material and procurement costs.

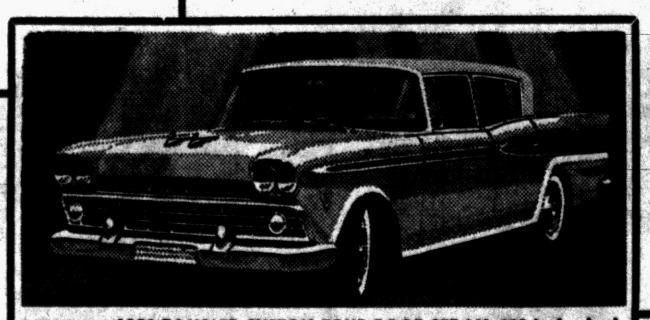

AMC's new contract with the UAW followed the car industry's 24 to 30 cents an hour increase pattern for three years.

Safari Supreme Adventure for Woman

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Say what you will about books, moonlight, sleeping pills—it is a man who gives a woman her greatest dreams.

Some men are good for marriage dreams, others for wealth. An occasional man pulls forth dreams of self-improvement in a woman, and less often, a dream of helping others. Englishmen produce dreams of glory, Irishmen dreams of beauty. Bachelors over 40 make their contribution too: The pseudo-security dream with the nightmare kicker.

But the master dreamster of them all is the one who can promise a woman a supremely dangerous adventure — with an insured happy ending.

"I am called," said just such a man, "a white hunter. I promise that if you come with me to the Belgian Congo, I will give you the greatest thrill of your life.

"You will face lions and leopards and elephants and the most treacherous beast of them all—the buffalo.

"You will sleep under the moon, and eat the finest French Congolese cuisine and be as primitive as you like, for as long as you like. And at the end, when you want to get back to civilization after the great adventure of your life, you will be"—he paused effectively—"alive. Not only just alive, but more alive than ever before."

The white hunter, who builds these dreams of "aliveness" in a jaded world, is named Chris Pollett. He is 28, Belgian and charming. His business is organizing and conducting safaris.

When still in his teens, Chris tired of city living and retired into the brush of the Congo, near the famous "Mountains of the Moon." He decided to make a living breeding crocodiles, but five years ago a herd of elephants tripped undaintily over his hatcheries and put him out of business.

So, because he was a little annoyed at elephants and more than a little broke, he became the first white hunter in the Congo. Right now he's in the U.S. for the first time for two reasons: To see his TV debut on "High Adventure with Lowell Thomas" Dec. 6, and to round up Americans for a January safari.

"Except for Mr. Thomas, who took safari with me to get his film, I haven't had any easterners," he said. "Mostly they come from Texas and Montana and Illinois. They are more careful than the European about their health, but they bore up very nicely, all of them. And the American woman is a splendid sport. Why shouldn't she be? She knows she is safe,

"I have never lost a customer yet, except in the bars after the hunts were over."

Pollett describes life in the Congo, where the pygmies are shy and the big game is bold, as the perfect therapy for the businessman and wife. "We get up very early, before the sun breaks, and by 6 o'clock we are out on the field where the game is. Between 10 and 11, we have bagged our game (or taken pictures of it, if it's a camera safari) and return to camp for a hot bath, a long cool drink and dinner.

* * *

"After dinner, a long siesta, and then about 4 we go off to hunt till sundown. Then another bath, more drinks, supper and big arguments about whose buffalo is bigger."

Chris is full of fascinating stories, of elephants ("the more you see them, the more you admire them"), antelope ("lovable and fleet"), buffalo ("some are real man-killers"), leopards ("the animal the women are all after"), lions ("incredibly fast, hard to hit") and his associate hunter ("tall, dark and handsome").

Possibly in explanation of why safaris are made up of more Texans than residents of any other state, he said the cost is around $130 a day, plus air fare to the Congo. And the person who can face that without blinking should stare down a buffalo with no strain.

Highest Tide in World

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia — The highest tides in the world can be seen by visitors to Nova Scotia. Twice a day 3,680,000,000,00 cubic feet of water pour into the Bay of Fundy. The highest tide was 103 feet, in 1869 at Burntcoat Head, Nova Scotia.

U.S. Scientists Talk 2 or More Languages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Science Foundation (NSF) reports that three out of four American scientists know at least one foreign language.

However, only about 2 per cent have any knowledge of Russian, Chinese or Japanese, the foundation said.

"These findings indicate that nearly all American scientists must depend on translations for knowledge of scientific developments reported in Russian, Chinese and Japanese, the NSF added.

The foundation said its figures were based on a survey of 127,000 American scientists listed in the national register of scientific and technical personnel.

* * *

German was the best-known foreign language and French was next, the study showed.

Visitor Puts Out His Hand

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When taking leave, does the hostess, or the guest, hold out her hand first to say goodbye? Do you think a guest could be offended if a hostess held out her hand first, or don't you think it matters?"

Answer: It is not important, although I can see how it might matter to someone. For example, a visitor who had very sensitive feelings might get the impression, if her hostess held our her hand when she got up to leave, that she was being hurried off.

"As a matter of fact, if a hostess wanted very much to end a meeting this would be the only method she could use short of telling someone to go. Therefore, it might, after all, be better to advise a hostess to wait when a formal visitor is taking leave so as not to run the risk of hurting her feelings. To a friend this couldn't—at least it shouldn't—apply."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Where should my husband and I receive, and who should stand with us, at our silver wedding anniversary celebration? Only one of our attendants can be present. what part should our children take? (This is to be a reception.)"

Answer: You and your husband stand together just inside of the door of the room in which you will receive. It is not expected, but it will be very suitable, to ask the attendant you speak of to receive with you. Your children make themselves agreeable by circulating among your guests and seeing that none of them appears to be in any way neglected.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When I received my pay check last week I noticed that I had received quite a substantial increase in salary. It was a very happy surprise to me. I would like to know if I should go in and thank my employer for this, or do I accept it as a matter of course?"

Answer: You certainly should thank him for your raise.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married next month at an evening wedding. I would like to know if it would be proper for my thirteen-year-old son to wear a tuxedo or is he too young for evening clothes?"

Answer: Let him wear a tuxedo. He is much too young to appear in a tail coat and white tie.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Does the mother of the bridegroom, a widow, sit alone in the front pew? If not, who should sit with her? Her only other child is in the wedding party."

Answer: She invites close relatives to sit with her, or if she has no relatives, she quite properly chooses one or more intimate friends.

Dear Abby . . .

It Might Be Even Worse, Son, If Father Swore in English!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My father has a bad temper. For example, when the Yanks won the game he kicked the TV set and it doesn't work any more.

ABBY

My main problem is this: He cusses us kids out in a foreign language so loud that everybody on the block can hear. All I said was, 'Pa, if you are going to cuss us out in front of the neighborhood the least you can do is to learn it in English.' For this, he hit me right in the mouth. Was that fair?"

JOEY (age 11)

DEAR JOEY: I don't know what your father said when he lost his temper, but maybe you should be glad he didn't say it in English.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl who let a man sweet-talk me into ruining my life. He said he was 30 but I found out he was 40. He lied about his religion, his past and where he worked. He served time and has been married. I had to find this all out by myself. After he learned I was pregnant he offered to marry me, but I wouldn't marry him if he was the last man on earth.

"My mother says I am a disgrace to womankind to turn down a chance to marry and give my baby a name, but I can't see myself married a lifetime to the likes of him. I intend to put my child up for adoption, as I have nothing to give it, not even a dozen diapers. Am I being selfish or am I doing right?"

MESSED-UP LIFE

DEAR MESSED-UP: You are wiser than most girls who have found themselves in similar circumstances. Marriage IS forever and not a momentary cure-all for one mistake. A girl who ties herself to a hopeless character in order to give her baby "a name"—lives to regret it.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a good laugh over that letter from the lady with the large nose who was afraid to marry the man with a still larger nose for fear their children would have 'noses to end all noses.' Both my husband and I have large noses and when I was pregnant I prayed for a boy because I didn't want a little girl with a nose such as could have come from us. We have two lovely daughters and they have the cutest little noses in town. So I say, 'Go ahead and marry—God takes care of those little details."

MARGIE

DEAR MARGIE: And if God doesn't—the plastic surgeons do.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am the most broken-hearted person on earth. I always found time to go everywhere else but to see my dear old gray-haired parents. They sat home alone, loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give, and now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby, to tell those who still have their parents to visit them and show their love and respect while there is still time. For it is later than you think."

TOO LATE

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO TUBBY: The toupe is "top secret" (but not yours to tell) . . . so don't pass out any hair-raising stories.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO NICK: She sounds much too good to be true. Careful of those gals who have trouble getting their dresses on over their wings. Later they have trouble getting their hats on over their horns.

★ ★ ★

Christmas is not so far away and here is a novel idea for those early-bird shoppers. A sparkling bottle of perfume packaged in a pyramidical plastic container, just right to hang on the Christmas tree.

Now They Wear Dinner Jackets, Carnegie Originals

Woolly West Has Turned Sophisticated

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Far West nowadays is neither wild nor woolly.

Cowboys are wearing dinner jackets and their girl friends are turned out in the best gowns Hattie Carnegie or Irene have to offer.

★ ★ ★

You even see gray flannel suits instead of sports shirts on Hollywood Boulevard, and the girls who used to do their shopping attired in flowered pajamas and curlers now are smartly turned out in correct little shirtwaist dresses and sometimes even hats.

A NEW AWARENESS

From San Diego to Portland you see a new sophistication — a new awareness of the rest of the world. Maybe it's due to the new age of international travel. Maybe it's because of the fine fashion designers of the West Coast. Whatever the reason, the old Far West ain't what she used to be.

★ ★ ★

I can speak with authority, for I have been observing this great West Coast since the age of five, when my mining-engineer father was bitten by the gold bug, and set out to seek his fortune in the Rockies, the Sierra Nevadas, the plateaus of Arizona and the deserts of Nevada.

★ ★ ★

In those days it took the better part of a week to go by train from Webb City, Mo., my family's old home town, to Los Angeles. Now it takes eight hours by plane, from New York.

Then you took your lunch in shoe boxes, slept in your day coach seats, wore goggles to protect your eyes from cinders and arrived as grimy and exhausted as if you had made the cross-country trek by covered wagon.

SKY TRAIL, NOW

Today you soar far above the snowy mountain peaks in smooth and plush comfort and your lunch is served by smart and smiling stewardesses in continental style. You look down on the vast mountain ranges and endless deserts where your ancestors pushed their painful way west, shooting buffalo for food and fighting off Indians.

★ ★ ★

A hundred years is a mere interlude as European history is measured. Yet in one century the American path to the west has changed from covered wagon trains to luxury air liners.

Primary colors used in color television are red, blue and green, rather than the conventional red, blue and yellow. The combination is used to reproduce white in balance.

Tinsel Wears Thin on Teen's Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT

Two years ago when some of the girls were quitting high school to marry, the girls still plodding to school with their books were thinking how romantic these young marriages were.

They were intrigued by kids their age having their own apartments, fascinated by the brides' talk of keeping house, and a little envious of their quick, new freedom.

Today the picture isn't that rosy. "I saw Sylvia today," said one of her former classmates, "and she looked so old."

Sylvia is all of 18 — but undoubtedly she is an old 18 — trying to keep up with a baby and a toddler, trying to stretch her husband's small pay check to cover the needs of a family of four, missing all the fun the kids who are still in school are having, knowing that it is up to her to hold on to the husband who is too young for marriage and who therefore sometimes strains at the bit.

And then there's Susie — bright, gay, pretty Susie who ran away to be married at the end of her sophomore year in high school. Susie and Bill did pretty well at first because they had two pay checks to live on. But now Susie is expecting a baby and has quit work.

In order to make ends meet Susie and Bill have moved to a smaller, dingier little apartment, sold their car, and still haven't enough financial leeway to buy clothes, go out in the evening, or do anything to brighten the days of waiting for the new baby who is going to be a big financial burden, no matter how much they love him.

But until they see it for themselves, teenagers just won't believe that life has a way of catching up with those who tackle grown-up responsibilities when they are still just kids.

When you are making a cake, add the flavoring to the fat and sugar that is to be creamed for best flavor absorption.

Garment or Fabric Launder

If the hangtag on a garment you're buying says, "Washable," check further to determine whether the entire article is washable or whether the term refers to the fabric only.

★ ★ ★

If the fabric alone is washable, there's no point in buying the garment, according to textile technicians at a laundering institute. Many a garment becomes unwearable after being laundered, merely because the fabric alone was washable — but the trimmings were not.

★ ★ ★

Buttons that rust, distort or chip; linings that shrink or change color, and decorative trimmings that "bleed" mean the article is not washable. Component parts of a garment that should be washable include the linings and interlinings; buttons, snaps and zippers; shoulder pads; appliqued designs, embroidery and braid; thread; decorative or bias tape.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the construction of a garment should be checked. Most important here are the seams, which should be well-made and ample to withstand raveling and hard wear.

Pamper Them

Fine Sweaters Need Not Be Sent to Cleaners

Those fine cashmere sweaters that are the pride of every woman deserve special care—but you can keep them fresh and new-looking with gentle sudsing, if you know how.

There's a tendency among many women to send expensive sweaters to the dry cleaner rather than risk home washing, but recent tests show that this is not necessary, if the sweaters are handled correctly. Here's how:

DOUBLE SOAP

Either cashmeres or fine woolen knits need some pampering. They should be handwashed in lukewarm suds — never hot water. The new cold-water soaps made especially for woolens keep the garments soft and fluffy. Use about twice as much soap as you would for ordinary laundry and squeeze suds gently through the sweater — never rub or twist.

WASH QUICKLY

To keep the sweater from stretching out of shape, hold it under the surface of the water as you squeeze the suds through it. Wash quickly. Never submit fine knitwear to long soaking. Rinse several times in clear lukewarm water until all suds are removed. Lift the dripping garment carefully out of the water and roll it in a bath towel to blot out excess water. Then lay the sweater flat on another dry towel and with your hands, gently pat and smooth it into shape. Let dry away from heat.

TRY FRAME

There are other ways to insure that the sweater retains its original size and shape. There are metal frames available to slip inside the damp garment. Or you can make your own frame of heavy cardboard, on which you have traced the outline of the sweater before washing. Make three pieces — one for the body and two for the sleeves.

Never hang up fine knit garments. Dry them flat, and store them flat in a drawer. Clear plastic bags are useful to protect them from dust.

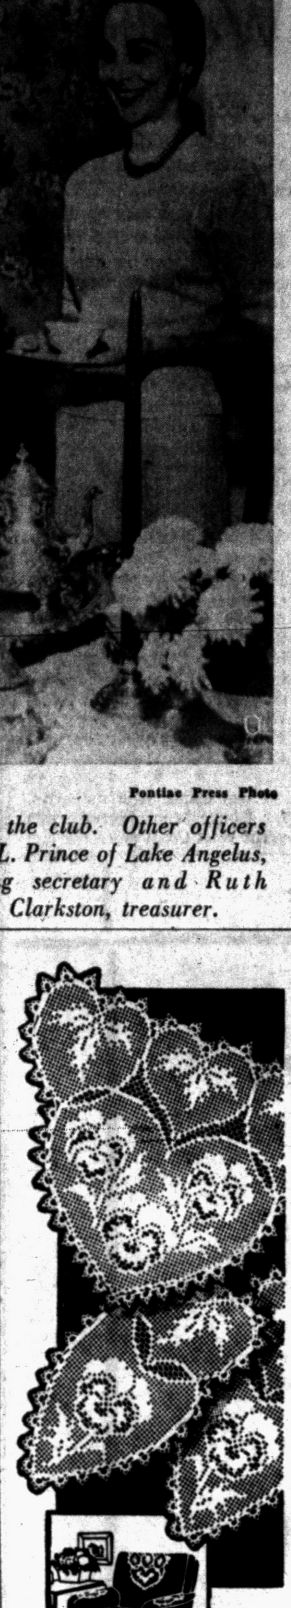

Ear Warmers Go Glamourous

Cozy cuddle-caps and cuddle-covers — now cold weather classics — go even more glamourous this year. Lush angora, and wool angora combinations, are overlaid with sequins and pearls in ear warmers that are festive enough to take prom-trotting.

Inky velvet, sparkling with jeweling, caps the head with glitter, can be easily tucked into an evening purse as the temperature rises. Thick-piled pretend fur provides a luxurious and warm coif cover, while multi-colored jacquard knits bring gaiety to gray days.

If it's such a small world, why does it take so many taxes to run it?

That Freezer Container Has New Use, Gals

Plastic refrigerator-freezer containers are excellent for washing nylon hosiery.

★ ★ ★

Keep one of these containers handy to the bathroom basin. Fill it three-quarters full of warm soap or detergent suds, put in a pair of nylons, close the top, and shake the container briskly till the hose are clean.

★ ★ ★

Then hold the container under the faucet and rinse out the suds under running water. Squeeze the hose in a towel and hang to dry. This method will never snag your nylons.

Cleopatra Did It

Nothing New About Tinted Nails!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

How many modern wonders we take for granted! To tell you the truth I have never completely understood the telephone or radio, to say nothing of the transatlantic cable or TV. They still seem like miracles to me.

Recently at The World Federation For Mental Health in Vienna, Austria, I used earphones like those they have at The United Nations. You simply switch on the language you understand while the speaker is talking in another.

There are also smaller miracles in the world of cosmetics. For instance, the aids for skin care are myriad. There are cleansing creams, lubricating creams, circulation creams, moisture creams and vitamin creams. On and on it goes, not to mention those cosmetics which are decorative.

The hands, too, come in for 'miracle' treatment. But if you have the mistaken idea that hand care and decor were born of our times, let me give you a few facts.

As early as the year 1,000 B.C., women recognized the value of color in personal adornment. You may be surprised, as I was, to learn that the care and coloring of the nails is one of the very oldest beauty routines.

More than 3,000 years ago Queen Nefertiti, an Egyptian beauty, painted her fingernails and toenails a very bright red. Cleopatra preferred a smoky shade with a gold undertone which came from the henna plant. The degree of henna indicated one's place in the social order. Those at the bottom of the social ladder could use only the palest shades. The deep hues were reserved for those at the top.

In ancient China colors were used on the nails and social distinction was manifested by the length of the nails. The longer ones (a minimum of 10 inches) indicated that one had "arrived."

So we modern women are not any smarter than those ladies who lived long ago in realizing that the hands are important to attractiveness and that color has a special appeal. It was more difficult for those of the past. The henna plant or the red berry had to be squeezed.

Today we have available a great array of colors and shades from which to select. We also have a convenient brush with which to apply polish. There are even spill proof bottles.

NOT PALE PINK

I am sure that colored polish looks best on the older hand. It should not be garish but should NOT be pale pink. This latter smacks too much of lavender and lace. Also, a brighter shades attracts attention to the nails and away from defects.

Many disagree with me; they say "As a woman grows older she should use the softer shades." I suggest that you use the color which makes your hands look best and which matches your lipstick, and to heck with the rest of it!

Perfumed Cotton for Dainty Items

Your silk stockings and lingerie will be so much more feminine with the delightful fragrance of your favorite perfume.

The best way to achieve this subtle bouquet is to spray or dab some perfume on several balls of cotton and place them among your dainty things in the drawer. The lingerie will pick up the scent without the least chance of harming the gentle fabrics.

Time to Learn Another Term

Homemakers are constantly being asked to learn many new fabric terms. Among the newest is the word "Fabulized."

This is a new finishing process applied to synthetic fibers and blends. It is said to make these fibers as absorbent, soft and comfortable to wear as clothing woven from natural fibers. Furthermore, "Fabulized" fabrics are just as washable as any other.

For Holidays

Empire Line Will Shine

NEW YORK (NEA) — The Empire line is the important one for holiday gatherings. It will be seen at the most festive parties and at small dinners, too, in many variations.

One of the favorite themes for the Empire is the dress with little jacket. The jacket usually is very brief, providing just enough cover-up for bare shoulders. Without the jacket, the dress becomes far more partylike, able to carry on until later hours.

A favored skirt silhouette for the Empire line is the bubble skirt. This is handled in many ways, sometimes with manipulated darts or gathers and again with a single deep inverted pleat.

Wide belts, often crushed down cummerbund fashion, appear often as markers for the Empire waistline. Some of these get jeweled buckling and others receive a wrapped treatment.

★ ★ ★

Fabrics incline to the rich, stiff silks such as faille and to the gentler silks, too (peau d'ange).

Kennedy Top Contender for President in 1960

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts is leading the race for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination. Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri is running a strong second.

Paced behind Kennedy and Symington are a half dozen others, with Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey ahead of such possibilities as Adlai E. Stevenson and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

This is the way the scramble for the party's top prize two years from now looks to state Democratic chairmen who replied to an Associated Press query asking them to name, in order, the men they regard as the three leading candidates.

Kennedy and Symington, who won whopping re-election victories in the Nov. 4 Democratic sweep, demonstrated nationwide strength far above others who were mentioned by the state chairmen who are in a position to influence the choice of 1960 convention delegates.

Gov.-Elect Edmund G. Brown of California, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who was defeated for re-election, got first place mention in some states. Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, the latter defeated in a try for the senate, received one third place vote each.

Brown disposed of Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif) in the California governor's race.

The canvass was significant in the disappearance of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) from among those the party chairmen are thinking about for the 1960 nomination. Kefauver won several presidential primaries and vice presidential nomination in 1956 but was not listed among the top three for 1960 by any chairman.

The chairman indicated the belief that Kennedy is ahead at this time in 12 states. These included Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire in New England; Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina and South Carolina in the south; Iowa, Wisconsin, Oklahoma and Montana in the midwestern tier.

Kennedy was looked upon as second in 11 states. These included Maine and seven midwestern states, including Michigan, Indiana, South Dakota, Ohio, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri. Farther west he was given second ranking in Colorado, New Mexico and Oregon. He was listed third in Florida, Louisiana, Washington and North Dakota.

The choice between Kennedy and Symington and some others was regarded as a toss-up in some states.

In all cases the name first given by the chairman to reporters was listed first.

A ticket headed by Symington, with Kennedy as his vice presidential running mate, was foreseen by South Dakota chairman James Magness. He listed Brown as third.

In Michigan, Chairman Neil Staebler picked Williams, Kennedy and Humphrey in that order. He added:

"Kennedy really is the leading candidate of the moment but I'll have to stick with Williams, naturally."

Symington was listed first among the choices in eight states—Delaware in the east, Florida, and Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota in the midwest.

The Missouri senator was pegged as second runner in North Carolina, Iowa and California. He was third on the listing in Ohio, Kansas, Wisconsin and New Mexico.

Meyner, who managed the election of a Democratic senator from his state this year, got first mention in his home grounds in New Jersey, and in Ohio, Colorado and Washington. He came in for second listing in New York, and Mississippi. He was listed third in Alabama and Maine.

Stevenson, twice the Democratic presidential nominee, apparently has a residue of strength. He was listed first in Louisiana, Maine and Oregon. Montana and Wisconsin chairmen listed him second and he got third mention in Georgia and Iowa.

Besides being put on top in California, Brown was listed second in New York and Alabama and third in Michigan and South Dakota. Humphrey topped Minnesota's list, was second in North Dakota and third in Indiana and Oregon.

Williams was first in Michigan and Kansas and second in Washington.

Vermont's Frank Branon found Kennedy and Johnson running almost neck-and-neck "but I think Kennedy is the top candidate by a little bit." New Hampshire's Murray Devine had an almost identical opinion.

U.S. Income Dips Slightly in October

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income declined slightly in October after rising for seven straight straight months, the Commerce Department reported today.

The drop was attributed to labor disputes in some major industries.

October personal income totaled 357½ billion dollars at a seasonally adjusted annual rate. This was 300 million dollars below September's record high.

Until last month, personal income had risen steadily since February.

Sugar cane has been cultivated only about 500 years.

Proposed 11½-Mile Road Xway Up for Discussion

2 Communities Ponder Effects

Southfield, Farmington to Talk Over Project With Highway Officials

The State Highway Department will discuss the effects its proposed 11½-Mile road expressway will have on two Oakland County communities at meetings this week in Farmington and Southfield.

An approximately 8.2-mile controlled access freeway, the highway would connect the Brighton-Farmington U.S. 16 expressway with Northwestern Highway.

Highway Department officials will meet at 8 this evening with the Southfield City Council at the City Hall to present data on the economic effect and influence the expressway would have on this community.

Although the proposed highway extends a little less than two miles through the city, Southfield officials are concerned about property it would cross.

City Administrator Eugene M. Swem said the proposed expressway would "knock the heart right out of development now in the planning stage for the section of Southfield which the highway would cross."

Thursday at 2 p.m., the State Highway Department will hold a public hearing at Groves-Walker American Legion Post 376, Grand River at Lakeway street in Farmington.

TO TAKE TESTIMONY

Testimony will be taken from spectators and a record kept. A transcript of the proceedings will be studied by the Highway Department and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads before final plans for the new $14,500,000 project are approved, according to State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Ultimately, the expressway would extend east and west from the completed U.S. 16 Muskegon to Detroit expressway to the Lodge expressway north of Detroit. As a new northbelt highway, the road will form a major link in the beltline expressway system ringing the Metropolitan Detroit area.

It will serve as a main collection and dispersal route for traffic in and out of the Detroit area and will permit the safe channeling of large volumes of traffic onto the Detroit arterial and expressway road system, according to Highway Department officials.

Starting at U.S. 16 near Haggerty road, the proposed route follows a northeasterly path across Howard and Halstead roads, then east and north to Franklin road.

At this point the route follows a line between a subdivision and a U.S. Government installation to the intersection with Northwestern Highway.

Of controlled access design, entry and exit along the proposed route will be allowed at four interchanges. They are U.S. 16, Orchard Lake road, Northwestern highway and U.S. 24.

BRIDGES PLANNED

★ ★ ★

All other roads will be closed at the fenced controlled access right-of-way limits and no driveways from homes or businesses will be allowed along the route.

A future pedestrian overpass for Powers road will be erected at the time school construction in the area is completed.

The new beltline expressway is on the federal interstate and defense highway network and as such will receive 90 per cent federal financing. The target date for taking bids for the construction of this segment of expressway is the fourth quarter of 1960.

TALENTED UNION LAKE MOTHER — Operating the cash register at the family market, painting, composing songs and raising two boys is all in a day's work for pretty Mrs. George Stevens of Union Lake. Many of the paintings, displayed in the little store operated by Mrs. Stevens and her husband, are given to customers.

Woman's Work as an Artist Began in the Second Grade

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

UNION LAKE — When Mrs. George (Adeline) Stevens of Union Lake was a child in the second grade, she was asked to draw a flock of turkeys on the blackboard for a Thanksgiving decoration scene.

★ ★ ★

Since then, she has been painting farm scenes, riverboats, skyscrapers and portraits.

Meanwhile, she has raised two boys and composed songs, many of which have been copyrighted. And she gives them all away.

LESSONS IMPOSSIBLE THEN

As a youngster, too many brothers and sisters made it impossible for little Adeline to take any kind of lessons in the two arts for which she showed a definite talent.

However, after she was married, had raised her two boys—and a thousand paintings later—she finally got around to taking professional piano and art lessons.

All of Mrs. Stevens' paintings are done in water colors — from the dime store—and she uses only one little brush to paint an entire picture. A big breadboard serves as her pallette.

If a friend has a post card, writing tablet or advertisement, Mrs. Stevens transforms the image onto stiff white paper within a couple of hours.

Her music and lyrics, played by ear, are jumpy little tunes "with a beat," that tell a story. "They seem to come to her as natural as breathing," her husband said.

Oddly enough, the Stevens home is not filled with pastel paintings. As soon as the energetic little 40-year-old woman completes a picture, she gives it to the first person who admires it—"just to keep the customers happy."

And she's right. They are.

7 Townships May Join Oakland Library Project

Emphasizing National Book Week, Nov. 17-21, seven additional townships which have no public library service have been invited to join the North Oakland Library Project, according to Director Jean Johnson.

There now are seven other townships in the county participating in the one-year project, started in May, whose purpose is to promote better rural library service.

The new areas which have made application are Addison, Groveland, Oakland, Rose, Springfield, Pontiac and White Lake townships. Waterford Township is expected to join at a later date, according to librarian Mrs. Kenneth Valentine.

Financed by the state and federal government, the offer (free to townships) includes bookmobile service for a three-month trial period next spring, participation in the NOLP area meetings, and speakers and film showings for organizations within the townships.

There are more than 5,000 state library books available to supplement local libraries affiliated with the NOLP. More than 700 of these are new editions and members may borrow as many as 300 at one time, Miss Johnson said.

The monthly exchange makes it possible for local libraries to rotate the books so they can provide a larger selection for their readers.

A selected list of free 16mm sound films are available through the library group on the same basis that books are loaned.

Unable to Settle Strike of 37,000

International Harvester, UAW Called Together by Federal Mediators

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal mediators called another session today in an effort to settle the strike of 37,000 United Auto Workers Union members against International Harvester Co.

Negotiators for both the union and Harvester met jointly with mediators Donald D. Brown and William G. Murray for three hours yesterday. There was no indication of any progress in reaching a settlement of the dispute over a new contract.

The strike began Thursday when 36,500 workers left their jobs at 15 Harvester plants and installations. It spread yesterday to parts plants at Broadview, Ill., Atlanta, Dallas and Portland, Ore. A parts depot and transfer house at Memphis were struck Friday.

Negotiations have been under way since mid-summer to reach terms on a new contract. The old pact expired last Aug. 1. Wage talks broke down last week after Harvester rejected retroactive pay provisions and the union turned down a proposal to continue working under the old contract.

Among issues reportedly unsettled are provisions for vacations, seniority and piecework rates. Both sides were reported agreed on a 2½ per cent, or 6-cents-an-hour, wage increase, whichever is greater. Average pay under the old contract, the company said, amounted to $2.55 an hour.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Italian taffeta. It featured a bouffant skirt with rose point lace medallions and pleated tulle ruffling extending to the floor.

A tiara of seed pearls and lace held her fingertip veil and she carried a white satin Bible, covered with an arrangement of white spider mums and snowdrift pompons and ivy.

Serving her cousin as matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Carson. Bridesmaids were Miss Faye Brendel and Miss Janice Savage. Marilyn Blakemore was the flower girl.

Best man was Joe Coady. Ushers were Daniel Marsh, Donald Carson, Robert Code, and Carl Cole and Roland Jordan, cousins of the bridegroom.

Upon return from a short honeymoon trip, the newlyweds will make their home in Durand.

DeVoogd's five children and their husbands and wives and 15 grandchildren enjoyed turkey and all the trimmings.

One of DeVoogd's children, Albert Jr., is returning to Ixtapa, Mexico, this week to resume his duties as a Reformed Church of American missionary. That was the reason for holding Thanksgiving early.

Daughter Killed by Father's Gun on Hunting Trip

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI)—Tina Balkas would have been 16 next Monday, and her mother was planning an ice cream and cake party for her with her high school sophomore classmates.

Instead, there will be a funeral service tomorrow afternoon for Tina, with burial at Clinton Grove Cemetery.

Another tragedy of the hunting season, Tina, her real name was Christine, loved to hunt and fish with her father. Two years ago she had shot a 10-point buck on her first deer-hunting trip.

Her father, Michael Balkas, a painting contractor, decided to take her hunting with him last Sunday. In Au Sable Township, Iosco County, they stopped. Tina went to the rear of the car and talked with two hunting companions. Her father leaned into the car to pick up some shells. His deer rifle discharged, sending the shell through the rear window of the car. Tina was struck in the head. She died instantly.

No Objectors at Hearing

Sidewalks for Maceday Approved by Waterford Township Board

There were no objectors last night at a hearing held by the Waterford Township board on establishment of a special assessment district for sidewalks along Maceday drive. The project was approved.

Supervisor Elmer Johnson was authorized to proceed with setting up tax costs for each property owner.

The board agreed that a bond issue would not be necessary to finance the work. The money will be advanced from highway improvement funds, it was decided.

Another hearing for establishment of a special assessment district for a one-mile stretch of blacktopping on Lansdowne street, Airport to Williams Lake, was held and the project was approved. A hearing on assessment rolls will be held Dec. 8.

Township engineers estimate the cost of the blacktopping at $22,396 and said it will require a bond issue.

★ ★ ★

Approval on the Watkins Hills subdivision plat No. 3 was tabled for further study.

Township attorney Paul Mandel was authorized to raise objections in Circuit Court regarding the closing of the southern end of Baybrook drive.

Contractor Ward Ross had petitioned for the closing of the street however residents in the area want it to stay open. They say school children use it.

Haven in Snowstorm Costs Pair Their Boots

"My feet are still tingling," said Gunby.

Cars Collide in Fog; Farmington Man Hurt

Fog was blamed in the traffic accident yesterday in which a Farmington man, Ralph Rogerson, 57, suffered minor arm and shoulder injuries.

UAW Strikes Bendix Corp.

8 Plants Shut Down From Coast to Coast in Contract Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today struck Bendix Aviation Corp., closing down eight plants from coast to coast in a contract dispute.

Negotiations continued past the midnight start of the strike.

At 7 a.m. the negotiators ended a marathon session of 21 hours of almost continuous bargaining. They were scheduled to resume their talks at 3 p.m.

E. M. Sconyers, federal mediator, said the dispute was over a "few major issues but they are highly technical and of major importance to both parties." Neither Sconyers, the company nor the union would discuss the progress of the talks.

The 13,500 UAW members on Bendix' payroll have been working under an extension of the old contract which expired last July.

UAW officials notified the company Nov. 8 that it would consider the contract terminated at midnight Monday.

One major stumbling block was a Bendix request for a reduction in the money it pays for employe hospitalization insurance. The union is seeking improvements in pensions, supplemental unemployment benefits, insurance and other contract provisions.

The walkout affected Bendix plants at South Bend, Ind.; Detroit; St. Joseph, Mich.; Madison Heights, Mich.; Teterboro, N.J.; Elmira, N.Y.; Los Angeles, and North Hollywood, Calif.

Benson Ford Speaks Up

Inflation Warning Sounded

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP)—Benson Ford, vice president of the Ford Motor Company, said today that Americans should not let the current economic upswing lull them out of guarding against inflation.

He called inflation the most serious issue confronting the domestic economy. His speech was prepared for the Southern Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Ford said one pernicious fallacy in the American mind is "the idea that chronic inflation is essential to economic growth." The fact is, he said, inflation is inherently evil.

"Actually, inflation serves no one," Ford said. "It first hurts the weak and the poor. It takes most severely those who cannot protect themselves—small savers, old people . . . living on fixed incomes."

"How do we stem this particularly accelerating tendency toward inflation and the profit squeeze? I think, for one thing, that we should concentrate heavily on helping more people achieve a reasonable understanding of the problem."

Ford said that would be a tough educational job.

"We are dealing with a very powerful and universal human urge," he said—"the urge for more. There is nothing wrong with that urge except that it is insatiable."

The automobile magnate said the nation needs to match its technical progress in economic affairs with know-how in controlling inflation.

New Dam Finished in Washington State

★ ★ ★

The dam, in the higher foothills of the Cascade Mountains, has an installed power capacity of 250,000 kilowatts. Production will begin when a 12-mile-long lake behind the dam reaches an operating level.

★ ★ ★

Pacific Power and Light Co. said its dam is the 10th largest in sheer bulk of all dams in the world. It is 512 feet high, and its base is one-third of a mile through.

The dam is on the Lewis River in southwestern Washington, and is about 50 air miles northeast of Portland, Ore.

2 American Fliers Feared Dead by Now

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Hope has faded for the possibility of finding alive two Americans lost in the rugged country of western Canada.

Missing on a flight from Calgary, Alta., to Kamloops, B.C., Nov. 6 were businessmen C. T. Janik, 42, and the pilot, Fred Royce, 36, both of Cadillac, Mich.

The Royal Canadian Air Force rescue coordination center reported that eight planes were continuing the search.

The RCAF has covered an area 100 miles by 300 miles in the 10-day search and checked out more than 250 reports of flares and possible sightings of the aircraft.

Snow has fallen in the area recently, adding to the difficulty of spotting a downed aircraft from the air.

Maine was admitted to the Union as the 23rd state on March 15, 1820.

U. S.-Antarctic Radio Hookup Praised

'Hams' Crack Polar Boredom

A Pontiac sailor, who just recently returned from an 11 months' International Geophysical Year assignment in the Antarctic, had high praise for the ham radio operators of the Oakland County Amateur Radio Society.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe the men could have put up with the isolation down there without the help of the hams," remarked James F. Ezell, aviation steward keeper first class, with the Navy.

Ezell, 27, of 164 Judson St., said telephone "patches" worked by hams in Oakland County and elsewhere in the country, provided the only means of communication between the 112 men stationed at McMurdo Sound and their families back home.

Ezell had special praise for Leon R. Grogg, Waterford Township ham and president of the society, who, he said, worked "patches" between Ezell's mother and father in Waterford and himself.

"Patches" are links between a telephone connected or "patched" into an amateur's radio set on the mainland with the short wave sets in the Antarctic and other far distance places.

The Naval base at McMurdo Sound, about 800 miles from the South Pole, received its last batch of mail from the United States on March 10 of this year.

★ ★ ★

The men there went from that time until last month-without any other communication, except the "patches" from their families.

Turns In False Alarm

Commissioner Caught

NEW YORK (AP)—In a demonstration of how to catch false alarm offenders with black light, the city fire commissioner ended up with a green hand and a red face.

Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh gave the demonstration at a fire alarm box in the Bronx. The box was treated with a fluorescent paste that glows with an eerie green color under so-called black-ultra-violet-light.

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh was to pull the handle and firemen were to shine the black light from a portable device to show how an offender could be spotted quickly. Arrangements had been made to cancel the alarm before it reached firemen in the trucks.

Cavanagh pulled the handle. Sirens screamed.

An engine company raced to the scene. Then another and another. They were joined by two fire trucks, a rescue squad, two battalion chiefs and a deputy chief.

★ ★ ★

VANISHING AMERICAN?

For the sake of your future and the future of your country, let's fervently hope not! But the sad fact is that too many gifted teachers are leaving our colleges for better paying positions.

The cause is fundamental. They simply cannot make ends meet on their present low salaries. And, much as they love their work, they are forced to seek jobs in other fields.

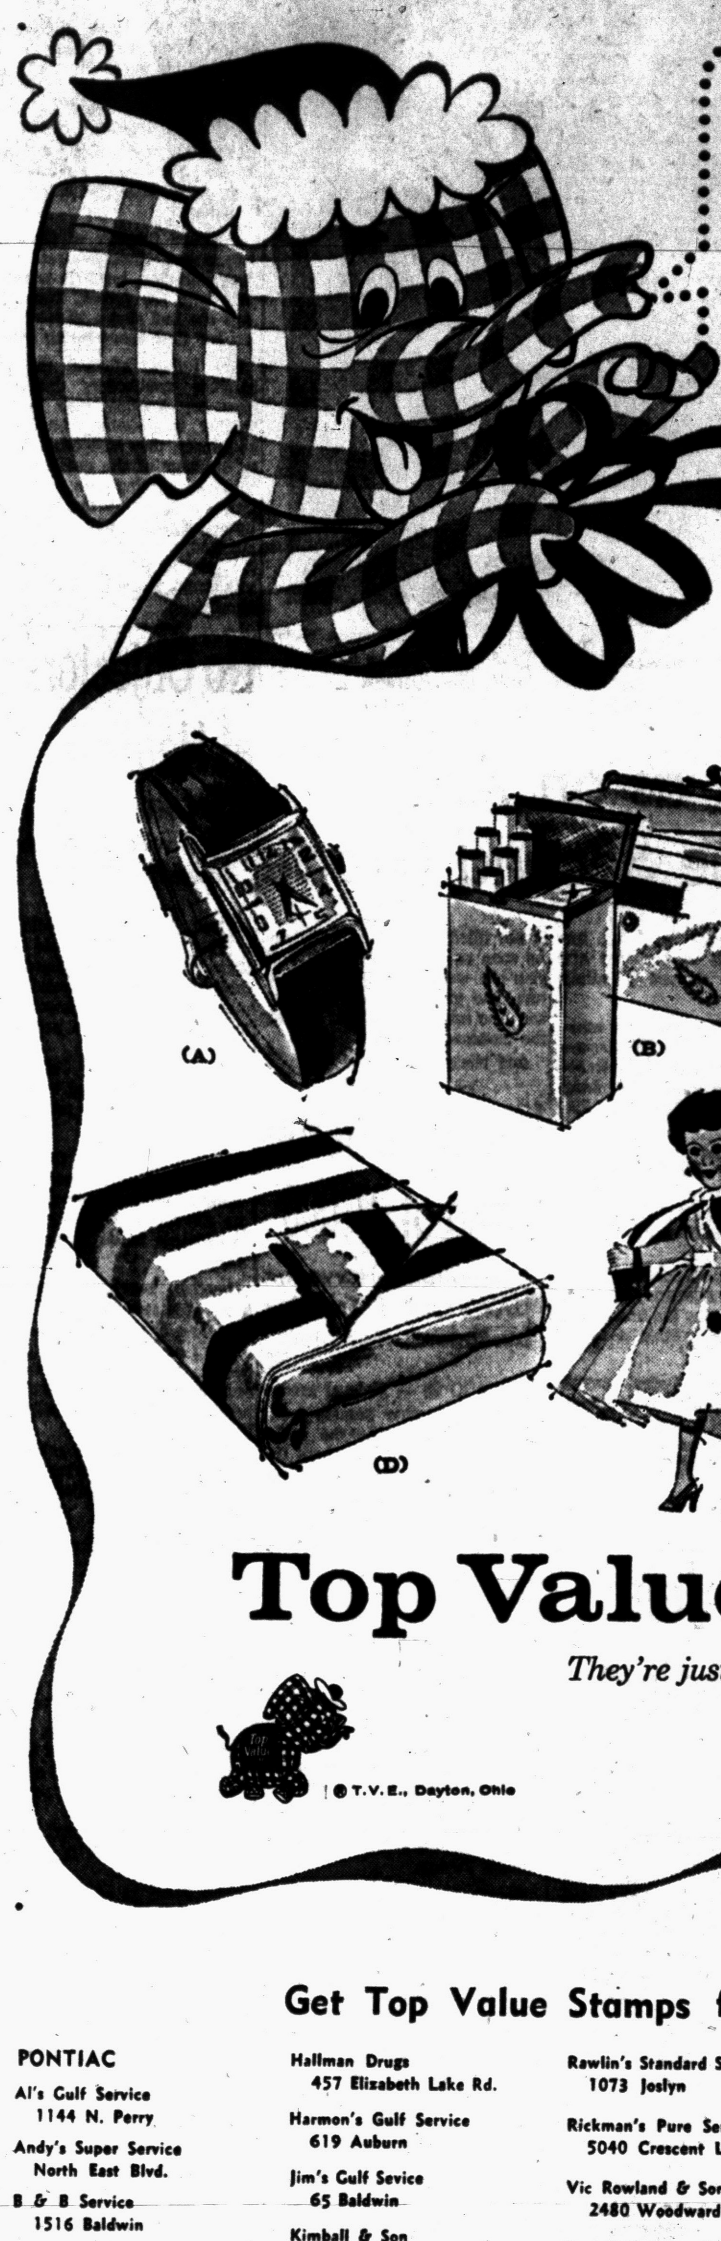

In the face of this discouraging trend, more classrooms keep getting more crowded. And by 1967, college applications are expected to double.

It's time to put a stop to this nonsense. Won't you help? Help the college of your choice now. The returns will be greater than you think.

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

Lawmakers 'Slow' to Up Own Salaries

LANSING (AP) — Lawmakers are slow in rallying—publicly at least—to the cause of a special legislative session to raise their own salaries.

Since he expressed willingness to call one assuming agreement by a majority of legislators, Gov. Williams said yesterday he had heard from only one beyond Rep. James Goulette (R-Iron Mountain).

Goulette, beaten Nov. 4 for re-election, advanced the idea last week, although some observers thought he probably was carrying a torch for colleagues.

Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron) spoke to Williams favorably on Saturday, the Governor said. Philips was in to ask more investigating help for an inquiry he is making into the death of a mental patient.

Filmland Studies Protocol to Be Ready for Queen

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

These are some of the issues a group of Hollywood matrons have been wrestling with for three months. The climax of their struggle comes Saturday night when the local chapter of WAIF, the International Child Adoption Society, presents its annual Imperial Ball. Their guests: Queen Frederika and Princess Sophia of Greece.

You don't just ask a queen to dinner and let it go at that. Actress Coleen Gray, local WAIF president, found that out.

"Everything has to be planned, down to the smallest detail," she explained. "We have consulted the State Department. We have read 15 etiquette books. We have consulted the Queen's grand maitress de la court.

"So far we have had only one goof. We sent out the invitations reading 'Her Majesty Frederika, Queen of Greece.' The State Department said that would be all right, rather than 'Queen of the Hellenes' which people might not understand. The court reminded us of the correct title. At least the State Department shared in our goof."

Coleen's struggle began last June. The Chrysler Corp. agreed to co-sponsor the ball if the WAIF ladies could secure a bona fide member of royalty as guest. Coleen and her aides worked 12 hours composing a letter to Queen Frederika. It was sent according to proper procedure through the American ambassador in Athens.

Weeks, months went by and no answer. After repeated cables, the word finally returned: yes, the ball would coincide nicely with the Queen's unofficial visit to the U.S.

"Then the work began," Coleen said. "We had to find out how to do everything. After vast research, we discovered that no one could sit higher than the Queen nor in back of her."

★ ★ ★

She had to find out if the Queen would dance. The answer was no. Would the princess like to dance? Yes. How would the dancing start? The princess would dance alone on the floor with the leading dignitary, Presumably Governor Knight. Could she dance with movie stars or would she prefer civic figures? Movie stars would be all right if they were "comme il faut" (acceptable).

Among Coleen's other discoveries: the Queen must initiate all conversation. She will make no speech beyond a toast to President and Mrs. Eisenhower in response to Coleen's to the King and Queen of Greece. The Queen is "Her Majesty" and is addressed as "Your Majesty;" the princess is "Her Royal Highness" but can be spoken to as "ma'am."

"I'm just a farm girl from Minnesota," Coleen said dreamily. "Imagine me sitting next to the Queen!"

Kalamazoo Buses to Up Fares to 20c

The city commission approved the increase last night.

Along with the increase, the city commission set up a bus token system offering three tokens for 55 cents. Previously there was no token system.

The buses are operated by Kalamazoo City Lines, Inc., which owns the buses but leases them to the city, which in turn hires the company to operate the service. The setup, aimed at easing the firm's tax burden, has been challenged by a suit.

The company has not reported losses recently but service was curtailed earlier this year. No buses run on Sunday and the only night service is on Wednesday.

Mayor Glenn S. Allen Jr. also recommended reduced fares for persons 65 and older, a zone fare to permit lower rates for short trips, and purchase of smaller buses for use on lighter routes.

Tyrone's 2 Lives Difficult to Separate

By BOB THOMAS

Superbly handsome yet undeniably manly, he could play the most romantic and dashing of film roles. It became a question where his screen character left off and his personal life began.

When he burst on the movie scene in "Lloyds Of London," he set the style for male beauty in Hollywood. This slim young man with the theatrical name became a star immediately. He also starred in the gossip columns with such beauties as Sonja Henie, Janet Gaynor, Arleen Whelan, Loretta Young, and Norma Shearer.

Hollywood was surprised in 1939 when he chose as his wife French actress Annabella. She was older than his 25 years and had a 9-year-old daughter. Ty explained: "This woman's helped me discover in myself more than I've ever been able to find alone."

★ ★ ★

When Power returned from his service as a flying Marine lieutenant in the war, he seemed changed. He was moody and restive under his long contract with 20th Century-Fox. He chafed at doing such costume pictures as "Captain From Castile" and "Prince Of Foxes."

"Right now freedom is the greatest thing in the world to me," he said. "Nothing else matters or counts except that I'm free."

Soon he was free from Annabella. He used his freedom to visit all parts of the world. His romances were many and included a brief, wild fling with Lana Turner.

★ ★ ★

Tyrone surprised Hollywood again with his romance with beautiful, ambitious Linda Christian. They were married in Rome in the midst of a wild crowd scene. Italians shouted "Ty il Magifico!" and "Viva Linda!"

★ ★ ★

But Hollywood wondered how long it would last. It lasted through two children and many stormy scenes. Then she won a divorce and a million dollars by testifying that he was "distant and cool."

Linda headed off for a fling with Edmond Purdom, and Ty plunged unexpectedly into his acting career. Frustrated by forever playing the dashing hero in films, he turned to the realm of his famous father and grandfather.

★ ★ ★

He turned his back on Hollywood to play "Mr. Roberts" in London, where it was not well received. Undaunted, he toured the United States in a concert version of "John Brown's Body" and impressed critics that he was finally a fine actor. He also returned to Broadway with "The Dark Is Light Enough" and "Back To Methuselah."

★ ★ ★

Power returned to Hollywood occasionally for films like "The Long Gray Line" and "The Eddie Duchin Story." His last visit was to introduce his bride, Debbie Ann Minardos, but the Hollywood that Ty had known was gone.

Apathy in U.S. Shocks Baruch

Adviser to Presidents Warns of Dangerous American Attitude

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Baruch says he is shocked by the American public's seeming apathy toward issues of grave national importance.

A 'nothing can be done philosophy' could bring about this country's downfall from internal decay, the 88-year-old adviser to presidents said Monday.

"Down deep in our hearts," he said, "we know how to cope with inflation, how to assure our security, how to overcome all the other dilemmas that beset us."

Baruch spoke at a dinner given in his honor by B'nai B'rith. Philip M. Klutznick of Park Forest, Ill., head of the Jewish fraternal organization, presented its president's medal to the retired financier.

Klutznick said Baruch was honored for his "creative wisdom, his sense of public service and his philanthropy and humanitarianism."

Baruch characterized the public's attitude toward national security as "almost torpid," and said the nation was allowing inflation to run unchecked.

A letter from President Eisenhower addressed to "dear Bernie" was read by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross. It praised Baruch as a "great American citizen and a warm personal friend."

Callas Plans to Sing Carnegie Hall Opera

NEW YORK (AP) — Unwanted by the Metropolitan Opera, Maria Meneghini Callas will move uptown to Carnegie Hall to sing in New York this season.

The controversial soprano, fired this month by the Met and by the La Scala Opera in Milan, Italy, will sing in the American Opera Society performance of Bellini's "Il Pirata" on Jan. 27. The production will be the first of the opera in New York in more than 100 years.

Australians have 15 telephones, 12 cars, 29 radio sets for every 100 persons, compared with 29 phones, 28 cars and 59 radios for every 100 persons in the United States.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"
New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.
As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.
Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).
(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.
COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! Introductory size 43¢.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Now that the college football season is in the home stretch the question arises—How did you like the new two-point conversion rule?

The vote of the coaches would probably be split. One publication took a recent poll of 161 coaches and the tally showed 60 against, 53 in favor and 48 undecided.

★ ★ ★

The undecided coaches hold the future of the rule in their hands and many observers feel the greater half leans to the negative, therefore the two-point conversion will die after this season.

Many of the coaches opposed to the rule use these reasons:

1. It puts too much pressure on the coach.
2. It takes the place kick out of football.
3. It produces cheap victories.
4. It puts undue emphasis of two points for gaining three yards.
5. It permits fickle fans to call the plays.

Would the fans consider these to be legitimate reasons for killing the rule?

Most unlikely, because it seems to appear from crowd reaction at college games the past season, that the fans favor the rule.

The coaches who oppose the rule for the reasons mentioned should be realistic enough to admit that the big play in football is still the touchdown.

Look at the past nine weeks of college football and there is no doubt that it has been a topsy-turvy campaign with the weirdest scores.

It has been a glorious year for the so-called underdogs except that their victories are now being called "cheap," especially by the coaches who aren't humble enough to admit in defeat that the better team, on that given Saturday, was the winner.

We say keep the two-point rule and let the strong teams show their strength with touchdowns and quit complaining about the "cheap" victory of the underdog.

Former Cardinal Mound Ace Succumbs to Liver Ailment in Little Rock

Death was caused by cirrhosis of the liver and bacterialogical infection. He had been a patient at St. Vincent's infirmary about three weeks.

The last five years he had been connected with a boys club at Houston, Tex.

Morton and his brother, Walker Cooper, formed the famed brother battery for the Cardinals. He pitched for the Cards eight seasons, 1938 through 1945.

The big right-hander was named the National League's most valuable player in 1942 when he had a 22-7 record and pitched a complete game in every contest he won. In 1943 Mort had a 21-8 record and posted a 22-8 mark in pacing the Cards to their third straight pennant in 1944.

His 12-year pitching record in the majors was 128 victories and 75 defeats. He rounded out his career with the Boston Braves, New York Giants and finished with the Chicago Cubs in 1949.

Biggie Munn Denies Report He May Move

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State athletic director Biggie Munn denied last night he has any intention of leaving East Lansing.

Munn told the Spartan Roundtable he has no comment on rumors circulating that he might go to Minnesota, his alma mater, to take over as athletic director, replacing Ike Armstrong.

Speculation increased after last weekend's loss to Minnesota when Munn and his wife stayed behind for another day after the team returned Saturday.

But Munn said last night he did not intend to leave Michigan State.

'M' No Longer Champion, Spartans Aren't Splendid

Blackest Season on Record

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan no longer is champion of the west and the term "Splendid Spartans" no longer fits Michigan State.

For no matter what these two teams do in their final games Saturday, the 1958 season will be remembered as the blackest in the state's football history.

Michigan is one of the schools that made people say that the best college football in the world is played in the Big Ten. When Michigan State went big-time under Biggie Munn in the late 1940s, the Spartans enhanced the state's reputation as the birthplace of champions.

Michigan's Wolverines have been playing collegiate football since 1879 and their upstate rivals started in 1896. Michigan has won more Big Ten football titles than any other school in conference history.

Unless Michigan defeats Ohio State next Saturday — and the Buckeyes are favored by at least two touchdowns — this will be Michigan's worst record in 23 years.

Michigan State is favored over Kansas State, and unless the Spartans come through with a victory this will be their worst campaign since 1917 when they failed to win in nine starts.

Regardless of the outcome of Saturday's games, the combined won-lost records of the two teams will be the worst in history.

Michigan's 2-5-1 record comes as no great surprise since most everyone predicted this would be an off-year for the Wolverines. Michigan says it is rebuilding and has promoted backfield coach Bump Elliott to the head coaching job, succeeding the retiring Bennie Oosterbaan.

Duffy Daugherty himself said this would be another fine year for State, and Spartan followers believed the coach. That is what makes Michigan State's 2-5-1 record so bad and now there is talk of a major split between Daugherty and athletic director Munn, the man Duffy replaced.

The genial Irishman manages to joke occasionally about State's collapse: "Last year we won eight and lost only one with the same coaching staff. The coaches made the same mistakes this season we made last season — but the 1957 team was good enough to cover them up for us."

There have been plenty of cheers in both the Michigan and Michigan State stadiums this season. Spartan fans yell when the public address announcer blares out the news that Michigan also is being defeated, and Michigan Stadium occupants greet news of another Spartan defeat with wild approval.

Even the University of Detroit, the state's third major college, has collapsed.

The Titans announced a couple of seasons ago they were once again aiming for the big time, but they have a 3-4-1 record and reports are circulating that coach Wally Fromhart is on his way out.

MSU President to Enter Hassle at East Lansing

Plans to Consult With Duffy and Biggie Munn Sometime Today

EAST LANSING (AP) — The hassle over remarks by athletic director Biggie Munn on Michigan State's losing football ways this season was to be taken up on the presidential level today.

John A. Hannah, MSU president, said he planned to talk sometime today to Munn and coach Duffy Daugherty, who have been reported at odds.

Hannah said he was calling the meeting "to see if we can't work it out" and "to get us all going down the same road."

"We've had a bad season and none of us likes it very well," Hannah said.

"But all this (the attention) hurts the university."

Hannah stepped in similarly earlier this year to mediate differences on athletic policies involving Munn and Dr. Harold B. Tukey, MSU representative to the Big Ten. Hannah smoothed it over at the time and refused to accept a letter of resignation from Tukey.

Munn caused a stir when he was bitterly critical of the 39-12 licking by Minnesota that dropped the Spartans into the Big Ten basement.

Munn said he was "heartsick" and termed the game "the most futile display I've ever seen."

★ ★ ★●

Munn did not name Daugherty directly in his criticism.

Before the game he had made a personal appeal to the team to win from Minnesota where he had played and coached.

Munn said later he "naturally" was "standing behind Daugherty and the rest of the coaches."

"I don't see why any changes in the coaches should be made," he said. "But we have to put our shoulder to the wheel to climb up again."

There have been persistent campus reports of a coolness between Munn and Daugherty, both strong personalities. Munn built State to the status of a modern football power that enabled an ambitious stadium expansion program.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty, meanwhile, was going ahead with plans to split his squads between the seniors and undergraduates for the final game of the season with Kansas State this Saturday. He said the idea is to find out what will be needed in the line of replacements from the freshman squad for next season.

Wilson was still home at Lapeer, however. He was called there by the death of his father, who collapsed while listening to a radio account of the Minnesota game, Wilson's first as a college starter.

Wing Rookie on Injured List

Lunde Is Hospitalized for Observation; Will Miss Tonight's Game

DETROIT (UPI) — Rookie center Len Lunde of the Detroit Red Wings was hospitalized "for observation" today as a result of an injury suffered Saturday night at Toronto.

Lunde was elbowed late in the second period by Toronto's Bob Pulford and crashed into the boards head first. He sat out the rest of the game and accompanied the Red Wings to Chicago for a Sunday night game.

However, a lingering headache prevented Lunde from dressing for that battle and he reported to Detroit Osterpathic Hospital for X-rays yesterday.

Doctors said the results of the x-rays were negative, but kept Lunde in the hospital overnight.

He will miss tonight's game with the Boston Bruins here, but will accompany the Red Wings to Montreal on Thursday if the headache subsides.

LSU Increases Lead for AP Title

By The Associated Press

Louisiana State, the nation's only major college football team still unbeaten and untied, has opened up a wide lead in the race for the national championship in The Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportcasters.

With the season fast drawing to a close, a big vote of 183 writers and TV-radio men left LSU the unquestioned leader. Despite its close call against Mississippi State, which LSU barely topped 7-6, the No. 1 team polled 114 first place ballots.

Unless Tulane is able to upset Louisiana State in Saturday's regular season finale, the Tigers will wind up with a 10-0 record.

Auburn moved up to second place with strong support after its 21-6 victory over Georgia. Iowa, last week's runner-up, dropped to sixth position after losing to Ohio State 38-28.

Army remained in third position after its 26-0 decision over Villanova. The Cadets, tied by Pitt, still must beat Navy to finish the season unbeaten.

Oklahoma's decisive 39-0 thumping of Missouri moved the Sooners up to fourth place with 22 first place ballots. Each of the first four teams piled up more than 1,000 points on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second and so on down to one for 10th place.

Wisconsin held tight to fifth after beating Illinois, 31-12, and Texas Christian advanced to seventh, a step behind. Iowa, by knocking off Texas 22-8.

Purdue clung to eighth off its 23-6 triumph over Northwestern and the Air Force Academy advanced a peg to ninth. Syracuse made 10th place by bombing Colgate 47-0.

Syracuse, a newcomer, moved up as Mississippi, upset by Tennessee, skidded from seventh to 13th.

Mel Ott, Wife Remain Critical

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Former major league baseball star Mel Ott and his wife remained on the critically ill list Monday night.

Ott was improving, a hospital attache said, but Mrs. Ott's condition was unchanged.

Castoff 49er Joins Green Bay Packers

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Marv Matuszak, fired last week by the San Francisco 49ers, may be around for revenge Sunday when they play the Green Bay Packers.

The 6 foot 2 linebacker, all pro last season, signed yesterday with the Packers and said he would be most eager to play against his former teammates. The game will be in Milwaukee.

Sugar Bowl Seeks Opponent for LSU

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl executive committee meets today to discuss possible opponents for Louisiana State University in the Jan. 1 game.

LSU, the nation's top team for the fourth straight week, has not been invited officially to the 25th annual game. But the unbeaten, untied Tigers appear certain of an invitation regardless of the outcome of Saturday's season ending game here against Tulane.

Second-ranked Auburn, despite its suspension by the NCAA, was a late addition to the list of possible contenders. Sugar Bowl President Claude "Monk" Simons said the unbeaten, once-tied Southeastern Conference team had been suggested as an opponent if it agreed to donate its bowl receipts to charity.

Other teams Simons has mentioned included ninth-ranked Air Force, Clemson, North Carolina and Rice.

Electric Brain Says MSU Wins IC4A Cross Country

Inside a large room off the corridor are the IC4A scorers laboring to figure out the team finish in the annual cross-country championship which had ended a few minutes earlier yesterday at Van Cortlandt Park, which adjoins Manhattan.

"This is Dr. James Ryon," professor of psychology at Yale University," Shiebler announces. "According to his calculations, Michigan State has won the team championship with 76 points."

Shiebler then proceeds to take up the list of team scores as obtained by phone from the electrical brain 75 miles away at Yale. It had Notre Dame second with 107, Army third with 111 and Manhattan fourth with 137.

Little Crawford Kennedy of Michigan State already had won the individual title for the second straight year, covering the 5-mile grind through a steady drizzle in 24:21.6. No electrical brain was needed to figure that one. Kennedy was a cool 85 yards in front of second place Ron Gregory of Notre Dame.

"It took just 31 minutes from the time we made the phone call to Yale until we had the brain's decision," volunteers Dr. Ryan. "that included reading the list of finishers off. If the brain wanted to hurry, it could give us the results in one minute once it has the list of finishers."

★ ★ ★

Down through the years, scoring big cross country meets has been a headache. Five runners must finish in order for a school to be placed in the team scores. If an incomplete team finishes, everyone below it is pushed up a notch. It's a long mathematical grind.

Hot Scoring Race in NHL

Bruin Skaters Push Leaders

MONTREAL (AP) — Boston's Don McKenney and Johnny Bucyk, both anchored in 18th place a week ago, have broken loose on a startling spree that has them pressing the leaders in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers and Ed Litzenberger of the Chicago Black Hawks share the lead with 20 points. But McKenney and Montreal's Henri Richard are next with 18. And Bucyk and Montreal's Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion have 17.

★ ★ ★

The scoring race, unusual enough with the Canadiens shut out of the lead, although they hold five of the top 10 positions, was really jolted when McKenney picked up nine points on six goals and three assists. His Bruin mate, Bucyk, bagged eight points on four goals and four assists last week. They counted 10 of Boston's 15 goals for the week and McKenney tied Bathgate for the lead in goals scored with 11.

★ ★ ★

Bathgate, who gets the nod over Litzenberger on a goals basis, picked up four points, three on goals. Litzenberger's four points came on four goals.

The scoring leaders:

DIMAGGIO BOOTS ONE — An error? No. That's Joe DiMaggio Jr., 17-year-old senior at Lawrenceville School in Lambertville, N. J., practicing kicking extra points with Dave Keller of Grosse Pte., Mich., holding the ball. Young DiMaggio has scored five conversions for Lawrenceville's undefeated football team this year. Unlike his famous father, he's more interested in track and football than in baseball.

Cleveland Whiz Brown Seeks TD Record Next

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Cleveland's James Brown, who broke the National Football League ground gaining record last Sunday, has averaged better than 145 yards a game.

Brown surged 152 yards as Cleveland beat Washington 20-10. It brought his season total to 1,163 yards, 17 more than Philadelphia's Steve Van Buren's record of 1,146 set in 1949. Only in his seventh game has Brown gone below 113 yards a game and then he went 83.

Brown has averaged 6.5 yards on each of his 179 attempts and has four more games to play. His longest run was 62 yards and a touchdown.

The Cleveland whiz is within one touchdown of Van Buren's record of 18 TDs scored in one season.

Ninth a week ago, Baltimore's Alan Ameche gained 142 yards last week to move into second place with 530 yards gained. Cleveland's Bob Mitchell didn't carry the ball once and dropped to third with 518 yards. Jon Arnett, Los Angeles, is fourth with 504 and veteran Joe Perry, San Francisco, fifth with 494.

Eddie LeBaron, Washington, continues to hold the passing lead. He has a 9.52-yard average gain. He has thrown 102 passes and completed 56 for 971 yards and nine touchdowns.

Los Angeles' Bill Wade jumped from fifth to second place with an 8.41 average. He gained 372 yards on 42 attempts for the biggest increase in yards of the season. He has attempted 221 passes and completed 116 for 1,858 yards and 13 touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

Lamar McHan of the Chicago Cardinals dropped from second to third with 8.08. Baltimore's John Unitas, idle last week, is fourth with 7.98 and Vito Parilli, Green Bay, fifth with 7.94.

Yardley Still Tops Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Pettit of St. Louis, surpassing the record set by the incomparable George Mikan, is the first player in National Basketball Assn. history to average 30 points a game at any stage of the season.

Pettit currently ranks third in the league scoring race with 270 points in nine games, right on the 30-point a game button. Mikan had a nine-game pace of 29.3 in 1950.

★ ★ ★

The Hawk star trails in the battle for scoring honors only because he has played in fewer games than the leaders.

Detroit's George Yardley, who has seen action in 12 games, tops the point-getters with 290 for a 24.2 average. Minneapolis rookie Elgin Baylor is second with 285 points for a 23.8 average.

The scoring leaders:

Oosterbaan Turns to Rest Cure

Cancels Practice First Time in 11 Years as Coach

'Weary' Wolverines to Begin Drills Today for Ohio State

The retiring Wolverine coach yesterday cancelled practice for the first time in his 11 seasons. But it wasn't a complete day off for the Wolverines, who complete their season Saturday at Ohio State.

They still listened to the usual Monday scouting report and then studied movies of the Buckeyes.

"The players are pretty weary," Oosterbaan said. "We usually don't do much on Monday anyway, just exercise a bit. They can use the rest. I don't think I've ever called practice off before."

★ ★ ★

The Ohio State game will be Michigan's 100th under Oosterbaan's coaching.

He said Ohio was back in harness against Iowa after three weeks of stumbling around without a victory.

The Buckeyes handed their Iowa successors as Big Ten champions a 38-28 licking. It was the Hawkeyes' first defeat this season.

★ ★ ★

The Buckeye the defensively-weak Wolverines must fear most is fullback Bob White. Michigan's most vulnerable point is the middle of the line, the spot where White's straight-ahead power usually is aimed.

The Buckeyes beat Iowa without their top quarterback, Frank Kremblas. He's a doubtful starter against Michigan which means Jerry Fields again will do most of the signal calling. Kremblas has a rib injury.

Picked to Regain International Golf Title

Hogan, Sam Favored

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Bantam Ben Hogan, favored with teammate Sam Snead to win the International Golf and Canada Cup championships, said today that the winners in this mile and one-half high altitude would have to shoot in the 60s to beat the best of 32 nations.

Hogan and Snead were listed as 4 to 1 favorites in the team and individual battles which get under way Thursday and wind up with a fourth and final round on Sunday.

"The small British ball which everybody will use and the rarified air give you a much greater distance on all your shots," said Hogan, who in his grand slam year of 1953, when he won the U. S. and British Opens and the Masters, also captured the Pan-American title at this same course.

"The small ball and the thin air give you as much as 30 to 40 more yards on your drives and as much as 50 to 60 yards more when you are shooting into the wind," he added.

"To American golfers the distances which the pros get in the rarified high altitude air of Mexico City are inconceivable," Hogan continued. "Let's take the eight-hole. It is 418 yards and a par four but its only a drive and an easy right iron."

The 470-yard par four ninth is considered only a drive and a six-iron. There are four par-five holes on the 7,216-yard, par 36-36—72 layout ranging from 561 to 580 yards, and yet Hogan asserted that Snead can reach any of them in two shots.

Hogan, who is playing pretty well, said that despite the added distance on his shots which figures to make the low half dozen teams shoot in the 60's, there was a drawback in getting accustomed to the high altitude which makes breathing difficult.

"I have been here a week," he said. "And the first day I was able to play only nine holes, the second day I played 11 holes, the third day I played 14 holes and it wasn't until today that I was able to play 18 holes."

With Snead and Hogan, shooting for the low team total as well as the individual championship, favored at 4 to 1, the oddsmakers put Japan's defending champions and Australia's tandem as second choice at 6 to 1. The Japanese team of Pete Nakamura and Koicki Ono upset the favored U. S. team of Snead and Jimmy Demaret last year at Tokyo in this "world series of golf."

Ireland's Christy O'Connor and Harry Bradshaw, South Africa's Gary Player and Harold Henning, and Canada's Al Balding and Henry Martell are rated at 9 to 1.

Syracuse Rated Orange Bowl's Top Contender

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Once beaten Syracuse appeared the strongest contender for an invitation to meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl game.

★ ★ ★

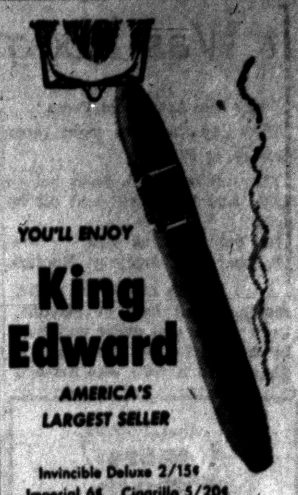

W. G. Ward, Orange Bowl schedule chairman, said Monday his group will meet Wednesday and decide at least to scout Syracuse in its final football game Saturday with West Virginia.

★ ★ ★

A report that Syracuse would turn down an Orange Bowl bid because of ridicule after its 61-6 loss to Alabama here in 1953, was termed untrue by Athletic Director Louis Andreas of Syracuse.

Bailey Beats Andrews

State College Gridders Should've Stayed Home

With only three games remaining on the schedule, state college teams have played 70 games against out-of-state opponents. Michigan teams have won only 32 while dropping 38.

Out-of-state foes copped five of six decisions over the past weekend as most of the schools wound up their 1958 activity.

Only the three major universities — Michigan, Michigan State and Detroit — have yet to complete their schedules. Two of them will be favorites in the Saturday finales. Ohio State is heavily favored to deal Michigan its sixth loss but Michigan State should handle Kansas State and Detroit is rated an edge over Dayton.

Lovell Coleman failed to score as his Western Michigan team dropped a 32-6 decision to Kent State but the flashy halfback clung to his lead in scoring, and won the state individual scoring title by three points.

Hope's Ron Bekius, a hard-running fullback, made a furious bid to overtake Coleman, scoring three touchdowns in a 26-6 victory over Beloit. He finished with 91 points, while Coleman registered 94.

Both have finished for the season. Walt Beach of Central Michigan scored once in his team's loss to Western Illinois and captured third place with 78 points.

No member of the three major schools has a chance to catch the three leaders.

Home teams have a 56 to 50 edge over visitors going into the final weekend of the college campaign. Here's the way the state's teams have fared:

White Big Ten Scoring Leader

CHICAGO (UP) — Fullback Bob White of Ohio State—with three touchdowns in Saturday's 38-28 victory over Iowa—took over the Big Ten all-games football scoring lead.

White now has a total of 11 touchdowns and 66 points — two more than Northwestern's Ron Burton who was shutout by Purdue. Bob Jarus of Purdue, although idle Saturday, managed to hold third place with his 10 touchdowns and 60 points.

Wisconsin's Dale Hackbart was fourth with 8 touchdowns and 2 extra points for a total of 50 and Willie Fleming of Iowa followed with 7 touchdowns and 42 points.

Sophs Ease '59 Task for Bump

Frosh Coach Don Dufek Says Squad Has a Few Bright Prospects

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Bump Elliott's rebuilding chore in his debut as Michigan coach will be eased by a fine group of sophomores next season.

His squad wound up its season yesterday with a game length scrimmage in Michigan Stadium. Dufek split his squad evenly between the Blues and Whites. The Blues won, 18-12, with a touchdown in the final two minutes.

"I don't think this is a great group," Dufek said. "But it has a few outstanding players who will help the varsity if they make normal development. Overall the squad is just fair."

Dufek said the outstanding players are halfback John Haley, of Bethesda, Md., halfback Bennie McRae, of Newport News, Va., fullback Bill Tunnicliff, of Ferndale, center Steve Steiler, of Wyandotte, and tackle Paul Schmidt, of Chicago.

"They have a chance to play a lot next year," Dufek said.

'Bump' and Pete Almost Doctors

Elliott Brothers Work With T — Not Scalpels

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UP) —Brothers Pete and Chalmers (Bump) Elliott don't operate with scalpels as they once hoped — variations of the split and winged T are tools of their trade.

Pete, 31, is in his second year as head coach of California's Golden Bears, currently on the inside track for a Rose Bowl bid. Older brother Bump, 33, will step up from backfield coach at Michigan into the head coaching job being vacated by Bennie Oosterbaan.

"They were both good scholars as well as good athletes, and once considered careers in the medical profession," says their proud father, Dr. J. Norman Elliott.

Dr. Elliott, upon learning Bump is to take over as head coach at Michigan, said it was not unexpected and that he was happy both Pete and Bump would be head coaches.

Asked about the possibility their teams one day might clash on a New Year's Day in Pasadena, Dr. Elliott sighed:

Pete and Bump guided the 1943 Bloomington High School team to a conference championship and then went on to make the name Elliott famous on the campus in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Pete was quarterback and Bump right halfback on the 1947 Michigan team which swept undefeated past Big Ten opponents and then capped the season with a 49-0 trouncing of Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

It Was Foggy at Pimlico

By The Associated Press

They say they ran eight races Monday at Pimlico.

They probably did. Folks bet on eight. And the track paid off on eight.

It was a bit foggy at Pimlico.

Fact is, the crowd of 10,174, making blind bets of $840,185, knew a race was under way only by the sound of the starter's bell. They knew a race was finished only by the lighted numbers on the tote boards.

They did see the $45,000 feature, however, but it took a mystic to win it.

Horse named Mystic II took it by a half length over Ram. Combahee was third.

Things were so bad, even track announcer Ray Height was working blind. But he played it square. When the field disappeared into the fog:

"You're on your own," he said.

U.S. Riders Win Jumping Tests

TORONTO (AP) — Frank Chapot, of Wallpack, N.J., gave a flawless exhibition in horse jumping last night and won a five-country international competition at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

★ ★ ★

The lean, bespectacled American, in perfect combination with his horse, Trail Guide, rode to the 17th jump before reining up and easily captured the individual fault-and-out contest with 30 points. He had no knockdowns over the 350-yard indoor course with 11 obstacles.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Sultan's War, entered by W. H. Hanley, Sewickley, Pa., took the heavyweight working hunter prize, while Legal Tender, owned by Brynfan Tyddyn of Harvey's Lake, Pa., was judged best five-gaited stallion.

Seven Colleges Draw Over 100,000 in 1957-58

Big 10 Best for Cage Crowds

★ ★ ★

Unlike pro football, which has zoomed to popularity, play-for-pay cage teams have not attracted spectator interest away from the high school and college courts.

High school tournaments and big college conference and tourney games still attract the bulk of the country's basketball crowds.

Record books, including the NCAA guide, provide many interesting statistics covering the 1957-58 season and indications point to one of the biggest cage years in history for 1958-59.

Every year the question is asked, where is the best college basketball played? The caliber of competition can always be argued, but one thing is certain, the Midwest, like football, is still the big crowd getter.

Nationally seven schools topped the 100,000 mark for home basketball attendance, headed by North Carolina State with 149,500 and followed by Kentucky with 148,091. For overall attendance, at home and away, Kansas State was the big attraction with 338,568 fans.

Iowa, Michigan State and Ohio State topped the Big Ten. The Hawkeyes had 117,486 at home and 77,000 on the road for a 194,000 total.

OSU's total at home was 105,106 and 197,000 overall, while MSU had 101,092 at East Lansing plus another 103,000 on the road for a total of 206,017.

The Big 10 averaged 86,000 per school with a season total of 868,315. Second best conference was the Missouri Valley which for eight teams totaled 536,627 or an average of 67,700 per school.

The Big Seven had Kansas and Kansas State drawing over 100,000 at home but only Iowa State was able to draw more than 50,000 among the other members. The total showed 423,659 for a 60,000 average, but this was only 4th best since the Pacific Coast averaged 62,900 per school with a total of 566,125 for nine teams.

Except for a few Eastern Independents, the Ivy League was the poorest conference last season. Penn's 45,500 led the league, but schools like Harvard, Brown, Columbia failed to get even 10,000 for the home schedule.

University of Michigan had the poorest attendance record in the Big Ten. The Wolverines were last with 50,429. The University of Detroit and Western Michigan were the other state schools drawing the top crowds.

Blame It on the Weather

Hunters Finding Bucks 'Hard to Get'

(Special To the Pontiac Press)

CURRAN — Uncooperative deer, aided by poor hunting weather continued to make themselves scarce in this area and only a handfull fell before the guns of Oakland County hunters.

★ ★ ★

With the weekend rush past, deer hunting has been taken over by the hard-core sportsmen who plan to remain in the game country throughout the season.

Surveying hunting camps in Alcona county, only an occasional fresh buck was seen hanging by late Monday. Most of the deer on the meat poles were shot during the weekend.

To the south, at Ivan James Ranch there was only a light drizzle.

Most of the hunters were complaining because deer were sitting tight and only a few were seen yesterday by hunters who took stands. Those who wanted to still-hunt, or walk through the swamps and oaks slowly, kicked up plenty of deer, but usually too far away for a shot.

Some of the "experts" here blamed the situation on a storm heading toward northern Michigan from the west. It began raining hard last night and turned colder.

Mead Myers of Ortonville was "king" of the Oakland Hunt Club. Myers bagged a very heavy eight-pointer.

Two other successful hunters from that club returned to Pontiac Sunday night with their deer. Bill Hanson of Grosse Pointe and C. A. Burck of Farmington had to return because of business pressure.

Raymond Brimley of Oxford shot another eight-pointer at OHC and was having his trophy shipped back home so he could remain at the club to hunt bear. So far, there have been no bruins reported killed in this area.

★ ★ ★

Back at the Cowe-Boys Ranch, Jack Fraser of Port Huron shot a large buck with freak antlers. On the left side, the buck has a beautifully-shaped beam with four long spikes. On the right, the buck has one flat spike. Fraser said the buck was showing his "good side," when he shot.

6 Avon Players All-League

Six members of the champion Avondale team were among 22 players named to an Oakland B All-Star team last night at the annual fall dinner-meeting at La Hunda Inn near Utica.

Three backs and as many linemen were chosen from the Yellowjacket squad. Runnerup Troy placed five, Clawson and Madison four each, Lake Orion two and Fitzgerald one under the loop nomination setup.

Twelve other gridders won honorable mention. They included three from Madison, two each from Avondale, Troy and Fitzgerald and one from Lake Orion.

Star halfback Newt Acton of Clawson was a surprising choice as the league's most valuable player after seeing limited service on some occasions due to injuries.

Ends—Don Barnhart (A), Paul DePauw, Tom Tennessey (M) and Lee Strittmatter (C).

Centers—Jim Thomas (C) and Tom Greenlees (A).

Honorable Mention

There also will be 24 night games five more than last season.

Alaska Election Campaign Steams Into Its Final Week

JUNEAU, Alaska, (AP) — Alaska's first state election campaign, boiling for nearly four months, steams into its final phase this week.

★ ★ ★

Two major developments, added to the campaign pot in the past two weeks, could affect the result of the Nov. 25 voting.

The first was the massive Democratic victory sweep in the Nov. 4 elections in 47 states.

The other was an announcement by Interior Secretary Fred Seaton, stumping here for Republican candidates. He said the 1959 Alaska fishing regulation proposals would contain a ban against salmon traps.

At stake are two seats in the United States Senate, one seat in the House of Representatives, and control of the state government through Alaska's first elected governor.

Democrats, including Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), say Alaskans would be unwise to send a Republican to join the minority in either the House or the Senate.

★ ★ ★

An Alaska senatorial delegation half Republican and half Democratic, Kennedy told audiences in four cities last week, might as well pair its votes and stay home.

Republicans, including Vice President Richard M. Nixon, say Alaskans should not be swayed by the voting in other states.

They contend Alaska, in its first years as the 49th and largest state, needs congressional access to inner circles of the administration.

Democrats called it phony, because the trap ban is to be part of proposed regulations presented at hearings beginning next month. They said Seaton could abolish the traps by immediate executive order if his plans were sincere.

Neither the Democratic landslide in the states nor the fish trap issue here—or any other campaign point, for that matter—is expected to alter Bartlett's chances.

The 54-year-old Democrat, popular with both parties in his role for the last 14 years as Alaska's non-voting delegate to Congress, ran far ahead of everybody in an August primary—including his Republican opponent R. E. Robertson, 72-year-old Juneau lawyer.

★ ★ ★

The other Senate race shapes up as the closest on the ballot. Democrat Gruening, 71, is a vigorous veteran of more than 13 years as appointed chief executive. Before that he was director of territories for the Department of Interior. Republican Stepovich, 39, was the last appointed governor of the territory.

The Republican candidates for governor and Congress, John Butrovich Jr. and Henry Benson, both 48, both had a long way to go, on the basis of their vote totals in the primary.

Butrovich trailed the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, William Egan, 44, by nearly 13,000 votes. Benson was more than 7,000 behind the Democratic congressional primary choice, Ralph Rivers, 55.

Highway Death Toll Highest Since 1955

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's highway death toll last Friday, Saturday and Sunday was the highest for any weekend since Christmas of 1955, State Police reported today.

★ ★ ★

Thirty-one persons met death in 19 accidents, compared with 48 fatalities on the three-day Christmas weekend in 1955.

Traffic in the first 16 days of November claimed 89 lives, eight more than in the same period last year, State Police said.

This is the deadliest season of the year for motorists, said State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

"Drivers have shown they can do a better job, but something has happened in recent weeks," he said. "We are heading for trouble."

Coast to Coast in '29—48 Hours!

'Airway Limited' Used Trains for 2 Night Runs —Quarter of Distance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The jet age in U.S. commercial aviation is dawning just a little less than 30 years after introduction of the first coast-to-coast air service.

By comparison with today's 600 mile-per-hour, sleek and luxurious airliners, those first planes seem like Toonerville Trolleys—in accommodation and schedules.

The first New York to California service was inaugurated by Transcontinental Air Transport (later to become Trans World Airlines), and most of the trip was by railroad—the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe!

This was in 1939, and the airlines weren't allowed to fly at night. So you boarded a train in New York, rode overnight to Columbus, Ohio, then flew a 10-passenger Ford Trimotor from Columbus to Waynoke, Okla. Another overnight train ride from Waynoke to Clovis, N.M., and you finished the coast-to-coast "Airway Limited" (that's what the ads called it) by flying from Clovis to Los Angeles.

On the planes, you sat in wicker seats. The cuisine consisted of cold chicken or ham sandwiches and coffee.

Elapsed time: 48 hours. Fare: $351.94 one way.

One year later, TAT inaugurated the first all-plane New York to Los Angeles service. It cost $200, and there was no tax. You made one overnight stop in Kansas City. The trip took 36 hours.

★ ★ ★

You can make the same trip now in eight hours at an aircoach rate of just over $100. Jetliner fares will be slightly higher, the flight time under five hours.

Intensity Increasing in Cuban Civil War

The government now has about 12,000 troops in Oriente province, 600 miles east of Havana, center of the rebellion.

Rebel leader Fidel Castro's forces, estimated at more than 5,000 men, are terrorizing much of Oriente by sabotage and hit-and-run attacks on army posts and some towns.

Castro's men control the mountainous rural areas of Oriente, the wealthiest and heaviest populated of Cuba's six provinces.

American scientists have located the South Pole within a probable error of 100 feet in any direction. It is not possible to set the exact spot for the North Pole, since it is located on drifting ice.

Vote Demanded on Parking Lot

Residents Near Hospital Seeking to Block Use of Meters on Streets

To block parking meters on their streets, homeowners near Pontiac General Hospital have filed petitions demanding that the hospital parking lot plan be put to a public vote.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said the petitions don't have enough signatures, though.

He said the state revenue bond act, under which the lot is to be financed, requires referendum petitions to be signed by 10 per cent of the registered voters.

This would amount to about 3,800 signatures, he said, while the petitions only bear 160 names.

* * *

Residents of Oneida and Seminole streets have protested the parking lot plan because it provides for meters on their streets if revenues from the lot fall short.

A $175,000 revenue bond ordinance to help finance the lot was adopted by the city commission Oct. 15 and is now in the hands of the Municipal Finance Commission for approval.

Howard I. Bond, attorney for the protesting citizens, said the petitions were filed to meet technical requirements of the City Charter and were aimed at blocking the lot until a compromise is reached on on-street parking meters.

City Manager Walter K. Willman has asked bond attorney Claude Stevens to prepare an amendment to the ordinance, making its terms acceptable to Oneida and Seminole street residents.

Wheat Futures Easing Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures prices eased a bit today after a steady opening on the board of trade but corn and soybeans maintained a firm tone in early dealing.

This is the final day of trading in November soybeans but dealers said the opening interest was not large and that there appeared to be no particularly large volume of evening up to be done.

Wheat was ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher near the end of the first hour, December $1.97⅛; corn ⅜ to ⅝ lower, December old type contract $1.14⅝; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 65¼; rye ⅜ lower to ¾ higher, December $1.31⅞; soybeans ⅛ to ⅜ higher, November $2.14.

Hearings Set Feb. 16 in GM, Du Pont Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — The U.S. District Court has set Feb. 16 for final hearings in the governments antitrust suit against General Motors Corp. and the Du Pont Co.

Judge Walter J. Labuy also ordered nine witnesses to give their depositions in Chicago. They are vice presidents of both corporations and had been scheduled to make their statements in Wilmington, Del., Detroit and New York City.

The original antitrust suit was dismissed by Judge Labuy in 1956. The U.S. Supreme Court reversed him in part and ordered a rehearing. The government maintained that Du Pont's ownership of 23 per cent of General Motors stock was monopolistic.

Ike's Plan Supported

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson told the U.N. both the Democratic and Republican parties solidly support President Eisenhower's proposal for international cooperation in control of outer space.

Doctors Decide to Appeal Ruling

Four at City Hospital Seek Right to Operate as They See Fit

A decision to appeal a court ruling has been made by the four Pontiac General Hospital doctors who seek unrestricted surgical privileges at the city hospital.

David C. Hertler, Pontiac attorney, said he had been hired by the four to appeal Oakland County cuit Judge Clark J. Adams' decision to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Judge Adams said Pontiac General Hospital had the right and duty to install regulatory surgical practices of its medical staff in order to assure the public of the best protection.

Hertler said he couldn't move ahead on the appeal until the judge files the final decree in the case. This might take place Monday, he said.

Market Churns in Heavy Trade

* * *

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were general among key stocks. A few wider moves were made.

The market once again seemed to have reached a corrective phase. It has risen to record peaks in five of the past six sessions.

Tobaccos and electronics had a slight edge to the upside. Steels, motors, rails, utilities, chemicals and oils were irregular, nonferrous metals were off a bit.

* * *

The market was mixed at the start and continued that way in active dealings. The ticker tape lagged behind floor transactions for a nine-minute period while opening blocks were traded.

Goodyear eased about a point after a 6-point leap yesterday on stock split rumors. Eastman Kodak picked up around 2 in a partial recovery from a technical 4-point drop of the previous session.

* * *

Hearings Set Tonight on Reports by Pontiac Planning Commission

Public hearings will be held on two of the recommended changes. One is the rezoning of five lots at the northwest corner of E. Walton Blvd. and University Ave., from Residential to Commercial 1.

The other is rezoning of 196 Howard St. from Residential to Commercial 2, to make way for expansion by the Hall Bakery.

Two other hearings are scheduled on intention to construct sidewalks for use by pupils at Pontiac Northern High School and Daniel Whitfield School. One would be on the north side of Madison avenue, Perry to Arlene; the others on both sides of Orchard Lake avenue, Telegraph to the city limits.

Comissioners will be asked to confirm one assessment roll for a sidewalk on the east side of Stirling avenue, Madison to Baltimore; and another covering erection of a pumping station and construction of sanitary sewers in the area bounded by Arlene, Clara, Fuller and Second.

Daddy Buys Girl Isolation Booth for Doll House

NEW YORK (AP)—The 10-year-old daughter of Stanley Goldman of Lawrence, N.Y., is going to have the biggest doll house on the block. Her daddy bought her an isolation booth.

Goldman and Bernard Berg of River Edge, N.J., were announced Monday as the buyers in an auction of two booths from the ABC-TV show "Who Do You Trust?" Each paid $150.

* * *

* * *

Other offers came from:

Disgruntled Briton Fed

An ad in the personal column of The Times said today:

"Will those whose patience with British Railways (is) exhausted please contact Box C-1231, The Times . . . with view to concerting remedial action?"

May Strike TV Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Due to a possible union strike against all networks at midnight tonight, all programming may be subject to change without further notice.

Based on Life of Policeman

Video Series Created by 'No Plot' Writer for Tuesday Showings

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Naked City" is an excellent series in which among other things, the television cameras have a love affair with the City of New York.

Filmed on location in Manhattan, the series visible on ABC-TV Tuesdays at 9:30 p. m., bases its action on the experiences of a 30-year man on the New York police force played by John McIntire who is breaking in a rookie detective played by James Franciscus.

★ ★ ★

But it's not just another cops and robbers thriller. The reasons for its success can best be explained by its talented writer, Stirling Silliphant, who said the other day:

"The secret of a successful half-hour television show is that it should have practically no plot."

A place—Queensborough Bridge, Welfare Island, Riverside Church, a huge garbage disposal unit, to name a few in New York—can virtually create characters and situations in a writer's mind, Silliphant finds.

Yet it's interesting that he ever managed to write about New York at all.

"For a long time New York exercised a kind of mental block on me as a writer," he said. "I lived here for 14 years and couldn't write a line. Then I moved to the West Coast four years ago and well—"

Well, he's done very well indeed as a prolific writer—a novel, more than 50 television scripts, several excellent movie scripts.

At first, when he came east again to search out locales for the Herbert B. Leonard production of "The Naked City," he was skeptical that he would be able to write here. But, happily, he found that mental block had evaporated. "Now I could write on the corner of 42nd Street and Broadway if I had to."

★ ★ ★

Silliphant splits the month between Malibu on the Pacific and New York. There he does most of his writing. Here he prowls the streets and seeks out the locations that spark his ideas.

Russians Visit U.S. University

Educators Want to See Science Labs, Listen to Seminar at Maryland

At the Russians request the main stops were to be at engineering, physics, chemistry and botany laboratories at the nearby University of Maryland.

A university official said the only specific requests from the Russians were for a look at the labs plus a "seminar" with school officials and professors to give the visitors an idea how American universities operate.

The Soviet educators, who spent most of their time at an elementary and a junior high school yesterday scribbling busily in little black notebooks, kept their American hosts on their toes well into the evening last night.

U.S. Education Commissioner Lawrence G. Derthick and his aides had canceled a planned evening of talks and hoped to substitute the showing of movies of Derthick and other American educators on their trip to Russia last summer.

The Russians, who are returning the visit with a five-week tour in this country, went along with the movie deal. But they insisted on hearing as well the originally scheduled talks.

Ike Endorses Reading of Scriptures Daily

A letter from the President to the American Bible Society was made public by the society Monday in connection with the announcement of its annual Thanksgiving-to-Christmas reading list.

"Like stored wisdom," the President said, "the lessons of the Bible are useless unless they are lifted out and employed. A faithful reading of Scripture provides the courage and strength required for the living of our time."

TV PREMIERE FOR 'KATE' — Alfred Drake and Patricia Morison (foreground) will re-create the starring roles they portrayed in the original stage production of "Kiss Me, Kate" when "Hallmark Hall of Fame" brings the top Broadway musical to television for the first time this coming Thursday on NBC. Julie Wilson (background) will be a co-star. The merry romp that Cole Porter and Sam and Bella Spewack made of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" will be a 90-minute live-in-color presentation.

You Can't Blame Him for Trying to Learn

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Sugar Ray Robinson, who has turned singer, has been following Nat (King) Cole to recording sessions, Studying his record technique. Nat good-humoredly complained to Sugar Ray about sitting so close to him at recording sessions that he interfered with his singing. "But if guts and courage can make a singer," Nat said, "he's going to be great!"

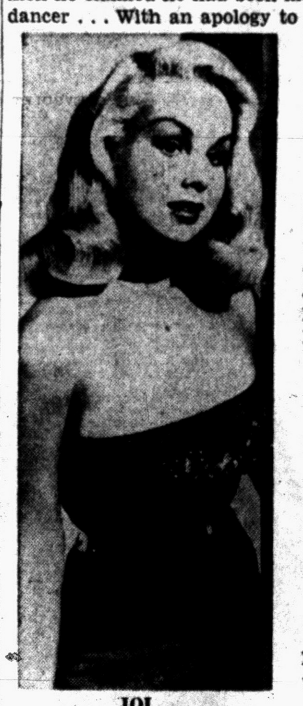

WILSON

"Who persuaded him he can sing?" I asked Nat.

"He persuaded him!' he shouted back.

"Don't Print That!": Eddie Fisher will eventually become Liz Taylor's manager and "brains" . . . Jackie Gleason's trying to decide whether to retire back into retirement . . . When Farouk met Jolie Gabor in Europe recently, he said, "You and I get such good bad publicity"—and then he claimed he had been married for two years to a belly-dancer . . . With an apology to America million of hard-working civil service folks, I echo a line from the French hit, "La Plume de Ma Tante," which goes: "And now I will show you what our civil servants do while waiting for their coffee break!" (It shows them chasing the purty secretaries) . . . Jeanne Carmen, who had a brief fling with Frank Sinatra, has gone off to Europe with a zillionaire. Joi Lansing, we hear, will play Frank's wife in "Hole in the Head" in Florida.

The trouble with cocktail parties, I always say, is that they serve cocktails. Playwright Harry Kurnitz relates that whodunit author Eric Ambler asked him to apologize to artist-author Ludwig Bemelmans for talking to him at a party and thinking he was Max Ophuls, the director.

"Meet him! You had a long conversation with him," explained Kurnitz.

"Oh, that man!" said Bemelmans. "I thought he was the Duke of Windsor."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Jack Paar described a woman who was awarded a big alimony settlement: "She lost the marriage but won the divorce."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: We heard of a new after-shave lotion for men who want friends to think they have homes in the country. It smells like burning leaves. That's earl, brother.

FOR HEAVY-HANDED TYPISTS?—The touch system wouldn't be of much use with this giant typewriter on display in Munich, West Germany. The girl demonstrating the machine finds she gets better results by using her whole hand to press the outsized keys. The machine, made in West Germany, measures a little more than a square yard.

Tomorrow's TV Presents:

Royal Oak Grandmother on 'This Is Your Life'

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Sadie Glommen of Royal Oak, Mich., will step into the television limelight tomorrow night as the star of "This Is Your Life."

The 69-year-old grandmother has already had her joyful reunion with her eight children at Santa Monica, Calif., and received such gifts as a new car, a bracelet and plane tickets to the homes of each of her children so she can visit her 27 grandchildren.

The show was filmed in late October because of an impending strike by NBC technicians.

Her selection as the star for the Nov. 19 show was supposed to have been kept secret. But word leaked out through friends.

Mrs. Paulus Peterson, 50, Traverse City, was responsible for putting her mother on the show. She wrote to master of ceremonies Ralph Edwards and suggested Mrs. Glommen as a good subject.

Only two of Mrs. Glommen's children reside in Michigan. A son, Carl, 43, is a barber at Traverse City. The family formerly lived at Suttons Bay on the Leelanau Peninsula.

Prisoner Killed in Jail Battle

Berserk Man Shoots Officer; Felled After 2-Hour Siege

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP)—Minutes after a prisoner was let out of his cell, the local police station became a shambles of blood, debris and gunfire in a siege nearly two hours long.

When the battle ended at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Robert Shaffer, 26, the rangy Negro prisoner, lay dead of shotgun blasts. Desk officer Ted Beam, 38, shot and held hostage by Shaffer, was hospitalized in critical condition from a bullet wound in the back. Two other officers were treated for minor hurts. Two women stationhouse clerks were treated for shock.

Shaffer, who was being held on a disorderly conduct charge, jumped Beam after complaining of illness and being brought to the station office.

He yanked Beam's gun out of its holster, shot and clubbed Beam, fought off other officers and fired at them as they fled outside.

★ ★ ★

Acting Chief Robert S. Dewitt broke his hand in the scuffle with Shaffer. Dade County patrolman Jack Allen, one of more than 30 police who rallied to the scene 30 miles south of Miami, was cut by flying glass when Shaffer fired a bullet through a window pane. Mary Lou Lawrence and Julia Cato, clerks, locked themselves in a station house room when Shaffer went berserk. Officers outside rescued them through a window.

★ ★ ★

Police fired into the building when they failed to induce Shaffer to surrender, but ceased fire when Beam called out that "he says he's going to kill me if you shoot any more."

Then officers saw Shaffer beating the helpless Beam about the head. They fired tear gas into the station and charged in, shooting.

Northbound Perry-Huron Left Turns to Be Barred

New no left turn controls were being installed today at the corner of Perry and E. Huron streets. They prohibit northbound traffic on Perry from turning west onto Huron, said Theodore M. Vanderstempel, city traffic engineer.

The prohibition will be in effect 24 hours a day and is designed to relieve traffic congestion at the intersection, said Vanderstempel.

Q. My ten-year-old daughter just had her eyes examined and the doctor wanted her to wear bifocals. I wouldn't allow it because I never heard of children wearing bifocals. Did you? M. M. F.

A. Although bifocals are most commonly worn by adults, it is not uncommon for children to wear them also. Your doctor sounds like a conscientious practitioner who is probably attempting to prevent your daughter's condition from getting worse.

Q. What is meant by second sight? J. H. W.

A. You are probably referring to a condition that sometimes occurs with people over sixty. Instead of requiring the usual periodic strengthening of their glasses, they actually have to have their glasses made weaker. This happens due to changes in the lens within the eye.

Q. Do contact lenses require changes in prescription as often as regular spectacle lenses? D. A. W.

A. No. It is interesting to know that prescriptions in contact lenses rarely change. The scientific reason for this is that the contact lens covers the cornea, whose surface usually changes, thus necessitating the changes in prescription of regular spectacle lenses. But with the contact lenses this surface is not a factor. It is safe to assume that the prescription will not often change.

Ike Will Study Test Ban Idea

Gore Back From Geneva With Plan for 3-Year Suspension on Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) says President Eisenhower has asked for a detailed memorandum of Gore's proposal for a three-year U.S. moratorium on above-ground nuclear weapons tests.

The senator, a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, has just returned from serving in Geneva as a delegate at the deadlocked East-West talks on test suspension.

Gore said the moratorium he proposes would counter Russian propaganda picturing American tests in the air as being dangerous to world health. He suggested that the question of controlling other kinds of nuclear weapons tests—below ground, under the ocean and in outer space — could be taken up in later negotiation.

★ ★ ★

The Russians have refused to consider Eisenhower's proposal for a one-year test suspension coupled with steps toward an adequate inspection system. They have called for separate treaties covering a test ban and inspection.

Woman Who Stabbed Negro Leader Committed

NEW YORK (AP)—The woman who stabbed the Rev. Martin King, Negro leader, has been sent to an insane asylum.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Isola Ware Curry, 45, also a Negro, was committed Monday to Matteawan State Hospital at Beacon, N.Y. A Bellevue Hospital report said she was "not of sound mind."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Curry stabbed King Sept. 30 in a Harlem department store. She never gave a coherent reason for the attack.

King, 29, who led the Montgomery, Ala., anti-segregation bus boycott, was under treatment two weeks.

Isles More Than U.S.

LOS ANGELES — The world's islands comprise nearly 4,000,000 square miles — somewhat more than the area of the United States and all its territories and possessions. The islands represent 2 per cent of the surface of the earth and 7 per cent of its land surface.

About 93 per cent of American farms now have electrical service.

Call Social Security Before Visit

Have Correct Proofs Ready

By RAY HENRY
AP Press Writer

—Call the Social Security office to which you plan to apply to find out when the best time of day and the best day of the week for you to come in.

All Social Security offices have their busy periods. By an advance call, you may be able to avoid these periods and cut down any waiting time. For example: Many offices find Monday is their busiest day. So people applying for payments then usually have to wait longer than if they applied on some other day.

Be sure you take with you when you apply for payments all the proof you'll need to show that you're eligible for payments. The types of proof you'll need will vary depending on the type of payments you're asking for.

★ ★ ★

Wife—As the wife of a person eligible for payments, you'll need some proof of your age, your marriage certificate or other proof of your age to get payments to which you may be entitled.

Parent — As the parent of a deceased son or daughter, you'll need some proof of your age, your son's or daughter's death certificate and proof of your dependency on the deceased.

—If you're applying for retirement payments, you should take along some proof of your earnings during the past 12 months.

Here's why:

Suppose you retire in April, 1959. As you probably know, your Social Security payments will be figured on your average monthly earnings from Jan. 1, 1951 until the year you retire.

Your 1958 earnings will be important in the calculation. But chances are your Social Security record won't show part or all of these earnings.

They won't be on your record because of a time lag of up to six months in posting your wages on the record.

Part of the lag results because your employer only files records of your wages every three months. Part of it results from the paper work that's involved in the government procedures which must be followed in putting on your record what your employer reports.

So, if you don't bring a record of your latest earnings, your Social Security payments can't be figured exactly. Thus, the first step starting your payments may be delayed.

To establish proof of your recent earnings, you can bring along your W-2 form which your employer is required to give you within a short time after you quit work. If you're self-employed, bring along a copy of your tax return for the most recent year you filed, plus a canceled check or some proof that your return was filed.

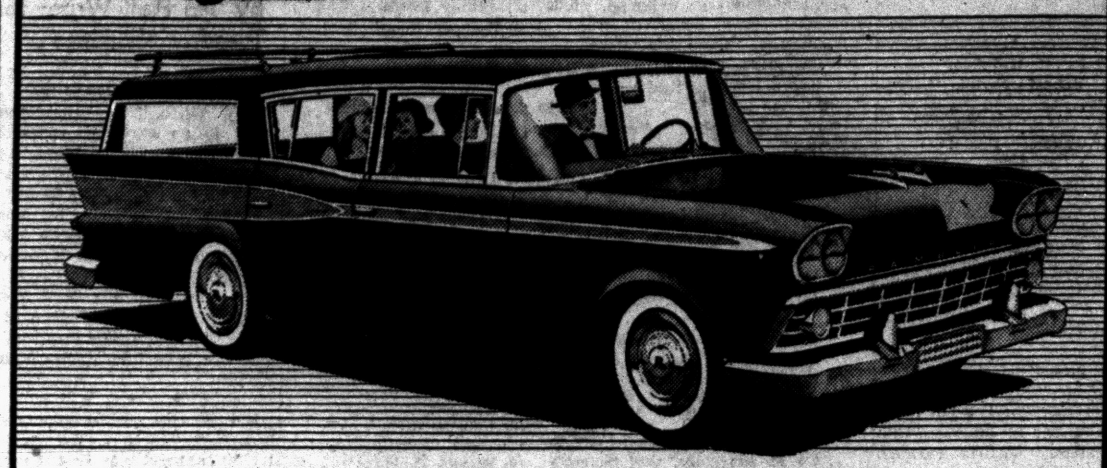

By following these three tips, you can not only save yourself a lot of time in applying for payments, but chances are you'll also speed up the actual payment.

Usually is takes between six and eight weeks after your application is accepted for your payments to start.
