Pontiac Miss a Maid of Honor

Waterford Girl Is Peach Queen

ROMEO — Two Pontiac area girls last night won two of the three top positions in the Romeo Peach Queen's court, one as queen and the other as second maid of honor, in competition held in the Romeo High School auditorium.

Named 1958 Peach Queen over 10 other area beauty contest winners was Bonita Brookshear, 18.

She now adds this title to two others she already holds: Miss Pontiac and Miss Waterford Township.

Named second maid of honor is 18-year-old Carole Ryden. This hazel-eyed blonde held the title of Miss Water Follies of Pontiac before entering the Romeo contest.

Queen Bonita, a graduate of Waterford Township High School, is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Brookshear, 1651 Playsted St Waterford Township. She works in the diet kitchen of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanitarium but wants to be an X-ray technician with time off to be an airline stewardess before returning to her chosen profession.

Patsy Carr is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Carr, 11076 Russell St., Utica.

She was Miss Utica before entering last night's contest and plans a career as a fashion model.

Carole Ryden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ryden, 144 Parkdale St., also hopes to become an airline stewardess. She is a 1957 graduate of Pontiac Central High School.

Each of the 11 contestants was called upon to speak extemporously on a given topic by master of ceremonies J. Gerald McLean of Romeo. All were then called back for brief interviews.

The panel of judges included Mary Morgan, fashion editor of CKLW; William Sudomier, staff writer of the Detroit Free Press; Maurice Vincent, staff reporter of the Daily Monitor Leader, Mt.

Annual 4-H Fair to Open for 5-Day Run Tuesday

The deadline drew nearer today for more than 2,000 Oakland County boys and girls who are busy scrubbing their animals, putting in last minute hems, and getting all set for five days of fun, excitement and competition.

They are all 4-Her's and are preparing for the 18th Annual Oakland County 4-H Fair which opens Tuesday.

This morning was the beginning of a three-day clean-up party. The youngsters and their leaders are getting the 4-H Fairgrounds in shape for the big event.

This year entrance to the fairgrounds will be different because of the repairing of Perry street. Entrance will be gained off Pontiac road instead of Perry street.

The 10-acre site at N. Perry street and Walton boulevard is the place where the Oakland County 4-H Agricultural Association, Inc., sponsors the event each year. More than 200 4-H leaders belong to the group.

Each year the fair becomes bigger and better and this year there are a number of firsts.

The very first night, Tuesday, for the first time a fair king as well as a queen will be selected.

The contestants for the royal titles must be 15 to 21 years old, active in 4-H, and have on summer project.

This year, due to the construction on Perry street, visitors to the five day fair will have to enter the grounds by way of Pontiac road.

Slaying Suspect Admits Visiting Murder Victim

Rescue Teams Unable to Get to Casualties

More Explosions Still Imminent at Ammo Dump Near Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A big army munitions dump was ripped today by a series of blasts. Military authorities said the casualty toll could not be determined, but civilian officials said 50 persons may have been killed.

Rescue workers were kept out of the shattered area 18 miles from Rio de Janeiro for fear more artillery shells might go off.

The War Ministry issued a communique calling on the population to remain calm in the wake of the shattering blasts that spread panic over a wide area.

'INDESCRIBABLE'

Artur de Vargas Jr., who was in a housing development near the scene, described the blasts as "something terrifying and indescribable."

"We got the impression it was the end of the world," Vargas said, "That houses, people, everything would be wiped out in the big castastrophe."

RULES OUT SABOTAGE

An army spokesman said the explosions apparently had been caused by spontaneous combustion and ruled out the possibility of sabotage.

Authorities estimated during predawn darkness that up to 1,000 persons might have been killed. This was based on the belief that the blasts and fire had swept a nearby housing area.

But when the sun came up behind pillars of smoke, authorities said

Probers Eye Possible Perjury

Denies Making Threats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators are asking a prompt study by the Justice Department to determine whether a Detroit businessman lied when he said he never threatened a woman competitor.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee called for the study yesterday after accusing Joseph Lehr of perjury.

Lehr, a partner in Detroit's Star Coverall Supply Co., denied under oath a statement by Mrs. Nancy Dawson that he had threatened her to her face during a restaurant meeting.

IGNORES THREATS — Mrs. Nancy Dawson, a Detroit laundry operator, testifies before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington, despite threats of violence if she testified about labor rackets.

Mrs. Dawson is president of the competing Industrial Laundry Co.

The committee, looking into charges that racketeers have muscled into the laundry business in Detroit, contends Lehr's firm is run by mobsters.

In directing that a transcript of the conflicting testimony be sent to the Justice Department, McClellan said he would ask the agency to "pursue this with all diligence."

This could mean the matter also may be looked into by a special grand jury that has been in session here about a month. Without fanfare, the jury has been probing racketeering in the labor-management field. The jury was convened by the Justice Department to study the rackets committee's findings.

Clutching a silver rosary, Mrs. Dawson testified she had been threatened with disfigurement or worse if she appeared before the committee. The pretty witness told of getting one call from a person who represented himself as "Hoffa of the Teamsters." But

Police Certain She Is Killer

Pretty Divorcee Still Unconscious; Her Gun Linked in Tests

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An attractive 40-year-old divorcee accused of killing a wealthy pharmaceutical executive because he spurned her for a younger woman, was still unconscious today, but detectives said they were satisfied she did the shooting.

Police laboratory technicians said tests show that a pistol found in the purse of Mrs. Connie Nicholas is the gun which killed Forrest Teel, 54-year-old executive vice president of Eli Lilly & Co. drug firm.

They said microscopic examination of slugs fired from Mrs. Nicholas' small French pistol showed markings "almost identical" to those on bullets taken from Teel's body.

Smiley said he believes Mrs. Nicholas traced Teel to the apartment of Miss Laura L. Mowrer, 29, whom he identified as the woman Teel had been seeing for the last three months.

Nursery Worker Being Quizzed by Prosecutor

Arrested by Troopers After Cashing Check Issued to Dead Man

A 35-year-old ex-convict is being held at the Oakland County jail today for investigation in the brutal slaying of a Southfield man Thursday night.

Raymond Leo Alyea, of 12044 Lansdowne St., Detroit, made a formal statement to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem this morning admitting he was with Anthony A. Jasinski the night Jasinski was killed.

Jasinski, a 51-year-old caretaker at Ilgenfritz Nurseries Inc., 22951 Northwestern highway, Southfield, was found Friday morning stabbed and beaten to death in a drafting room at the nursery.

Alyea, a part-time landscape gardener, was picked up by detectives Friday night after it was learned he had cashed a check made out to the dead man Thursday night.

State Police Detectives Warren C. Cannon and George Craft apprehended Alyea at a gas station near his home.

LEO ALYEA

He was not armed and was described as "surprised that he was being arrested."

"Upon questioning the suspect he told us he'd been to the nursery Thursday night at about 8 p.m.,"

Lack Sufficient Postage on 6,000 Pieces of Mail

Over 6,000 pieces of mail lacked sufficient postage when they were checked in Pontiac Post Office yesterday, according to Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster.

Miller said that residents apparently forgot to add an additional one cent per ounce to their letters. The postal rate increase went into effect yesterday.

He added that the mail will be sent on to the addressee and if they refused to pay the extra postage needed, the mail would be returned to the sender if it had a return address on it. Otherwise, it would be placed in the dead-mail box and eventually destroyed.

Sunday to Be Warm; Sky Will Be Sunny

Sunny skies and warm weather with a high of 82 to 86 is the forecast for Sunday by the U.S. Weather Bureau. Winds will be generally light and variable.

Tonight will be mostly fair with a low of 58 to 62. Winds will be westerly at 4 to 8 miles an hour tonight.

The outlook for Monday is generally fair with little temperature change. Showers are possible Tuesday or Wednesday.

Fifty-four was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 83 at 1 p.m.

Hawaiians Protesting U. S. Nuclear Explosion

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaiians, who haven't forgotten Pearl Harbor, are protesting the flaring introduction they got to the age of atomic missiles yesterday.

A nuclear warhead was sent streaking an estimated four miles high over Johnston Island shortly after midnight. The giant mushroom cloud of its incandescent explosion was visible here, 700 miles northeast, for as long as 10 minutes.

Thousands saw it. As the mushroom cloud reared itself over the horizon after the initial white flash, it turned a sullen red shot with streaks of blue and green. The cloud rose many thousands of feet higher into the stratosphere.

Calls to the police more than quadrupled as alarmed residents asked if Pearl Harbor had been blasted again.

Hawaii's Gov. William F. Quinn asked again for permission to warn the public when such blasts are impending. Less tactful protests were heard from others.

Can We Trust Soviet Promises?

Here's Record of Broken Pledges Over Past 40 Years

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Special Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Supposing we do make an agreement with Nikita Khrushchev to embargo arms to the Middle East, or anything else to keep the peace.

What are the odds the Kremlin rulers will keep their word?

I've just combed through my records of 40 years of Soviet international relations and have the answer.

Between 1917, when the Communists seized power in Russia, and 1957, the Red rulers made 26 major agreements with the non-Communist world — and violated all 26.

AGREEMENT: On June 5, 1922, Moscow signed an agreement of friendship with democratic Czechoslovakia. On Dec. 12, 1943, when Czechoslovakia was under Nazi occupation, the Russians again concluded a treaty of "friendship and mutual aid" with the Czech government-in-exile in London. Czech President Edouard Benes told President Roosevelt: "If Stalin himself gives you his word you can believe it."

VIOLATION: On Feb. 25, 1948, Czech Communists staged a coup d'etat in Prague and Czechoslovakia became a Russian satellite. Jan Masaryk, the pro-U.S. foreign minister, jumped or was pushed to his death. Still later, President Benes died. There is reason to believe he was killed by a broken heart, for his trust in Stalin had betrayed not only his own people but had misled Roosevelt into a betrayal of the whole world at Yalta.

VIOLATION: March 20, 1945, Moscow repudiated the agreement, began a war of nerves against the Turks with the object to seize the Dardanelles.

VIOLATION: June 15, 1940, Russian troops marched against Lithuania, which was annexed to the Soviet Union.

Aviator's Story of Record, Nonstop Flight

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Marion Boling wrote this story for the Associated Press shortly after completing a second, nonstop 6,979-mile flight in a light plane across the Pacific Ocean.

The flight had begun in Manila, and it ended 45 hours and 42 minutes later when Boling touched down his Beechcraft Bonanza in brilliant sunshine at Pendleton, Ore.

By MARION BOLING
Written For The Associated Press

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—I had wanted to do this for years. The original idea must have gone way back to Lindberg — when I was a little boy.

But from the night I saw Bill Odom take off in Honolulu, I knew I could make it someday.

I had postponed the start from Manila 24 hours because typhoon Doris was over Japan. It was a very good decision. There was no typhoon when I went over Japan.

The only time I really got sleepy was that first morning — over Japan. I managed to close my eyes for a few minutes, but other than that there was no sleep involved — It was just a matter of relaxing.

I had a set group of duties every half hour. Resetting the gyro, checking fuel, the winds, the drift. All that took about 20 minutes of the half hour, so I didn't have time to get tired.

I had a horn set up that blew every hour unless I reset it, you know, to keep me awake. I could not stand the sound of the horn, so I kept awake just to turn it off.

I thought about the wife, and the kids, and kept looking at that big yellow moon shining off that cold Pacific. I don't have a portable radio. I didn't have a parachute. I left it in Manila because it weighed 25 pounds.

There was no point in having it. If you had to parachute over the north Pacific, you would regret it anyway. The life raft was in, though. I could see some point to that.

I didn't see the surface of land or water from Japan to the Aleutian chain. That took about 24 hours. The only real trouble I had was just before I got to Queen Charlotte.

After I left Cold Bay, Alaska, it was very, very cold. It wasn't cold inside the plane, but it was freezing at 6,000 feet and the plane itself had trouble.

The cloud condition rose up with me and I couldn't get on top of it. This is where things began to happen. I had no deicing equipment.

The engine apparently didn't like the cold and began kicking up a fuss. I had to descend to 1,500 feet. At the same time I began losing fuel.

I really thought I was going to have to put it in the water. But then I got out of that when it began to rain.

I don't know what was the matter with the engine, but I think possibly that on this long flight, the sudden extreme cold may have influenced it.

I wasn't scared at all. I was keyed up for this — something I wanted to do all my life. It's a very nice feeling to be in a plane all by yourself.

★ ★ ★

I've come into Pendleton before. I've always thought they covered the runways with wheat. Yesterday I was sure of it. But I finally located it at the last possible minute, and then as I began to land, that hot sun on that black macadam made me dizzy and slightly sick.

★ ★ ★

When I got out of the plane I was ready to keel over. But the excitement, I guess it was the excitement, made me forget it.

I wouldn't want to go back and relive those hours. But I think I'll always look back on them as the best 48 hours of my life. Everyone likes to see his plans come true.

U. S. Recognizes Iraq Regime

Army Sergeant Killed by Lebanese Bullet; Forces Bolstered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today recognized the new revolutionary government of Iraq.

The action came three weeks after the Iraq government seized power. At that time the United States denounced it as having gained control through brutality and murder.

The State Department announced the recognition was granted after assurances were received from the new regime through U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold that Iraq is bound "by the United Nations Charter, like its other international obligations."

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A U. S. Army spokesman said today an Army sergeant was shot and killed last night in Beirut, apparently the first U. S. military victim of Lebanese rebel gunfire.

The soldier's identification was withheld.

The spokesman said the sergeant was killed shortly before midnight while driving along Avenue Fouad toward the Lebanese army headquarters with two other American and one Lebanese soldier in a three-quarter ton truck.

The spokesman said the soldier was killed by bullets "fired by unknown sources." But other military sources said the shots were fired by the rebels.

He said the sergeant leaned his head out of the window of the truck to see where the firing was coming from and was hit. He was shot through the base of the throat with a single nine-millimeter bullet and was dead on arrival at a nearby Lebanese army hospital, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the truck's roof was punctured and two tires were blown out by the riflemen.

The report of the shooting coincided with the disembarkation of 1,800 U. S. troops. The landing came in spite of the conviction of many Lebanese leaders that new troop arrivals would hinder rather than help the Lebanese situation.

The troops arrived in Beirut harbor aboard the military transport Upshur yesterday. They came ashore today and others were reported en route here. There were reports that Britain also planned to reinforce its troops in tense Jordan.

There was no indication that the troop movements were connected with any worsening of the Middle East crisis. But reports leaking out of Jordan made it clear that King Hussein was concerned about the possibility of an attack from Syria or Iraq.

Reports reaching Beirut via Cyprus said the Anglo-American decision to recognize the rebel Iraq regime plunged Jordan into deep gloom.

Britain yesterday granted formal recognition to the regime of Premier Abdul Karim Kassem, who led the rebellion which overthrew the pro-British government of King Faisal.

she said she never learned who actually made the threatening calls.

The committee plans to question Teamster President James Hoffa next week. The group already has told the Senate that Hoffa connived with gangsters to enhance his union power.

She said Lehr had accused her of squealing to the committee and told her that if he learned this was true "you'll get a letter." She said she thought this was a childish outburst but now views it seriously because she understands the phrase means to send a picture of a hand to someone and "that's supposed to indicate that's it."

There have been previous references to the Mafia, the Sicilian Black Hand Society, in the probe.

Lehr denied he had made any such statement and said he never threatened anyone.

In other developments in the hearing:

1. Herman Kierdorf, one of Hoffa's top Detroit union lieutenants, invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to say whether he was involved in any threats to Mrs. Dawson.

2. Lehr acknowledged that Kierdorf did help to swing profitable business to the Star Coverall Supply Co., rival to Mrs. Dawson's firm.

But Lehr denied that anything more than friendship was involved in the help he got from Kierdorf.

The hearings were recessed yesterday until Tuesday.

Kasper Out of Prison in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Segregationist John Kasper, free again after serving eight months in prison for contempt of court, has pledged to continue his fight against integration.

★ ★ ★

In a talk from the steps of the Florida capitol yesterday, Kasper also condemned racial integration in the federal prison system and called for a third party to free the country "from Negro and Jew control."

★ ★ ★

A small group of his followers also heard him say that both major parties are pledged to integration and the destruction of the white race.

★ ★ ★

In speaking of racial integration in the federal reformatory at Tallahassee, Kasper said he was forced to work alongside Negroes in the prison laundry.

"But under the circumstances, I didn't complain," he said.

Ex-Convict Quizzed in Southfield Slaying

said Lt. Howard Whaley, head of detectives at the Redford Post.

Whaley stated that Alyea admitted taking the check from Jasinski "on the request by Jasinski that he cash it for him."

Alyea then went to a nearby gas station where he was well known. The attendant cashed the check and Alyea said he took the money back to Jasinski and handed it to him through the front door of the building.

"Then I looked up my girl friend where she works at a restaurant,.. Alyea told detectives.

After talking to his girl friend, Anna Geraci, 41, a waitress at Sacca's Restaurant, 18800 W. McNicholas Rd., he said he went home and got dressed up.

Police said Alyea then admitted going back to the restaurant for a few beers and then back to the nursery. He found Jasinski watching television in his room at the rear of the building.

Alyea gave no reason for returning to the nursery firm.

This was about 10:30 p.m. Police said Alyea told them he remembered entering the building and that he and "Tiny," as Jasinski was called by friends, went into a drafting room.

"I was leaning against a drafting table and Tiny was sitting on a chair next to the table," he said.

He then told police that the next thing he remembered was "bending down trying to feel Jasinski's chest to see if he was breathing."

"There was blood all over," he told police.

Police said he then went to a bar for a short time. He admitted throwing a flashlight, a gun, change purse, and money clip from his pickup truck as he drove south on Northwestern Highway.

The items belonged to Jasinski, said Police. Alyea told them he found the items on the floor of the truck. He went back to see his girl friend and reportedly gave her a $50 bill.

She is being held as a material witness.

He also gave a $5 bill to a bus girl, and $1 bills to a waiter and waitress, said detective Whaley.

After eating a steak dinner, he drove home and burned all his blood-stained clothes in an incinerator, Whaley added.

He was released from Stateville Prison, at Joliet, Ill., in July 1957. He had been serving a term for armed robbery. He reportedly came to Detroit, then skipped parole and went to California later that year.

A team of five detectives from the Redford State Police Post and Southfield Police Chief Philip Lavigne have worked on the case since Friday morning.

SOLDIERS SAVE HUNDREDS

The army was credited with saving hundreds of lives by sending soldiers racing through the housing development just ahead of flames, shouting warnings to rouse families.

★ ★ ★

Military officials apparently felt the fire could be checked and would not spread to the Cambui dump nearby. Larger 150 and 135 millimter shells are store there, in the recesses of a small hill.

The Cambui dump finally went up in a tremendous roar, ravaging a wide area and almost certainly killing those who had been unable to escape from the vicinity after the first alarm.

★ ★ ★

A fire truck heading into the danger area exploded. It was not known how many firemen were on it. Most hospitals reported the injured did not start flowing in for several hours. Most were victims of panic that followed the explosions.

81 Seniors Graduated at Pontiac High School

Diplomas were awarded last night to 81 seniors at summer commencement exercises at Pontiac High School. Commencement speaker was Dr. Philp Proud, assistant superintendent of Pontiac schools.

KENNETH MONNETT

Addressing the graduating class he said, "You have within yourself the power to become a king in the eyes of someone. What kind of crown will you fashion for yourself?"

★ ★ ★

He told the group there are four basic stars which the crown should contain. They are the star of responsibility — to church country, community family and self; the star of courage—to seek, get and hold a job, face adversity and think for oneself; the star of humility and mercy—such as John Ruskin and Abraham Lincoln had and the star of intelligence — intellectual curiosity and continued education.

County Society Dedicates Home

Group Aiding Crippled Children to Expand Services in Fall

Dedication of the $49,000 new headquarters of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children at 1105 N. Telegraph Rd., will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow. Master of ceremonies will be L. C. Megee of Clarkston, president of the society.

With the opening of the new building, the society expects to be able to care for all of the children on the waiting list by September, according to Mrs. Elisabeth Girkby, executive secretary.

The society conducts school for handicapped children 3 to 12 years old 10 months of the year. Classes will open four days a week instead of three starting in September. Blind adults also are given instruction one day a week.

The new building, near the Oakland County Infirmary, is 43 by 81 feet, and includes school room, rehabilitation room, hearing testing room, two physical therapy rooms, kitchen, library, parents' waiting room and offices.

On the program Sunday will be William H. Wilmot, past president of the society, who will relate history of the organization, founded in 1926. Also participating will be William E. Bullock, first vice president and building chairman; the Rev. Robert S. Graham, of Birmingham; and the Rev. William C. Hamm, of Lake Orion.

Price Support Cuts Approved

House Group Votes for Lower Props on Rice, Cotton, Corn

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The politicians laughed when Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson asked a Democratic Congress in an election year to reduce price supports for farmers.

Benson today had the last laugh.

The House Agriculture Committee, last stronghold of the once powerful farm bloc, capitulated late yesterday to Benson. The committee by a 28 to 0 vote approved a bill to permit lower price props for cotton, rice and corn—three of the so-called six basic crops.

The price supports under the bill would be set only slightly higher than provided in an administration-endorsed bill which passed the Senate last Friday night.

Democratic committee leaders, all Southerners, had no choice but to surrender.

They were under heavy pressure from cotton growers and textile manufacturers anxious to head off scheduled sharp cuts in cotton planting allotments. The legislation would avert cuts in 1959 planting allotments for both cotton and rice.

Find Girl, 5, Adrift; Seek Father's Body

DETROIT (UPI) — A five-year-old suburban Grosse Pointe Park girl told police in a few tragic words last night of the apparent drowning of her father in Lake St. Clair.

The girl went out for a boat ride with her father, Robert, 30, about noon yesterday and was found adrift in the boat five hours later when her faint cries were heard from shore.

Police dragged until dark but were unable to locate the body of Uronis.

The Day in Birmingham

School Board to Accept Site Development Bids

BIRMINGHAM—A special meeting of the Birmingham Board of Education has been called for 8 p.m. Tuesday by Mrs. Kathryn T. Loomis, board president, to accept site development bids for the proposed junior-senior high school at 13 Mile and Evergreen roads.

The work will include repairing the grounds prior to the actual building. It will consist of grading, drainage and layout of athletic fields.

A special emphasis on athletics is being planned for the new school, Frank Whitney, athletic director, said there will be several baseball and softball diamonds, football practice and playing fields, a gymnasium and pool.

Designed to accommodate 3,000 spectators for athletic events, the gym also will include a stage area for programs. This feature is not included in the present high school at Lincoln and Cranbrook roads.

The pool will be similar to the Birmingham High School pool in that it will be an indoor-outdoor type with a patio for summer use. The pool area will have seating for about 1,000 spectators.

Two Birmingham boys, 9 and 11 years old, have been given probationary terms for an indefinite time under police supervision following a fire which resulted in nearly $900 damage to a Birmingham school bus early in June.

Lt. Robert Schaule said that the boys told police they entered one of the buses and took a road flare. They became alarmed after lighting it and then tossed it away. The flare landed on top of a tire destroying it and burning into the interior of the bus to ruin several seats. Another vehicle on the school's Lincoln avenue parking lot was also damaged.

Dr. Edward W. Willcox, minister of the Congregational Association of Detroit, will conduct the 10:30 service at the Birmingham Congregational Church tomorrow morning.

A potluck luncheon at noon will highlight the annual picnic of the Birmingham Rebekah Lodge tomorrow. The affair will be held at the home of Mrs. Edith Hart, 711 Bennaville St. There will be games and contests for the children.

Mrs. Herbert Strasler

Service for Mrs. Herbert (Beatrice L.) Strasler, 59, of 1785 Webster Ave., will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak.

Mrs. Strasler died yesterday following a heart attack while walking along Woodward avenue when she was shopping.

She was a member of the First Assembly of God Church in Pontiac.

Surviving are a daughter, Marilyn, at home; a son, Herbert J. of Jacksonville, Fla.; a sister and two brothers.

Fair and pleasant summer weather warmed most of the country today but a stubborn pocket of thunderstorms once more soaked a broad area from Texas to the Atlantic Coast.

Storms unleashed fairly heavy rains over much of the mid Mississippi Valley during the night and were expected to continue across the Southeast today.

★ ★ ★

Light showers dampened border areas of New Mexico and Texas and a few afternoon thundershowers were expected in some Western mountain sections, in northern New England and near Lake Superior. Showers and thunderstorms were scattered throughout the warm and humid South.

★ ★ ★

Rivers and creeks ran at bankfull levels in sections of western and central Missouri and eastern Kansas in the wake of downpours there Thursday. No loss of life was reported, but property and crop loss was heavy.

★ ★ ★

Except for the rain areas of the Southeast, mostly sunny skies were on tap for the country today. Only minor temperature changes are on forecast.

VIOLATION: Five times in 1939 and 1940, Russia breached this solemn international agreement to invade Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Poland and Romania.

VIOLATION: Sept. 17, 1939, Red Army invaded Poland. Moscow split Poland with Nazi Germany.

AGREEMENT: Feb. 11, 1945, at Yalta Stalin agreed with Roosevelt and Churchill that after Hitler's defeat the liberated nations should solve economic and political problems by democratic means.

AGREEMENT: April 11, 1945, Russia and Yugoslavia concluded 20-year treaty of "friendship, mutual aid and collaboration."

VIOLATION: Russia denounced it Sept. 29, 1940, and expelled Tito from the Cominform.

AGREEMENT: Aug. 2, 1945, at Potsdam, President Truman, Stalin and Churchill solemnly agreed that defeated Germany, occupied by the U. S., Russia, Britain and France, should receive equal treatment in all occupation zones.

VIOLATION: Only the Bonn Republic, occupied by the western powers, is a soverign state; East Germany remains a vassal of Russia.

AGREEMENT: At the Geneva Summit Conference in 1955, the Russians pretended to embrace a new "Geneva spirit" of international friendship.

VIOLATION: Meanwhile the Reds sent arms and agents to Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, leading to the present explosive situation in the Middle East. President Eisenhower's earnest assurances that the "United States will never take part in an aggressive war" was smilingly accepted by the Russian delegation as a license for larceny.

The eve of another summit only three years later finds Bulganin and Zhukov purged but Khruschev merrily pursuing the identical policies of his every predecessor since the Revolution of 1917.

Thief Possibly Inspired by Champagne

Who Stole Prince Philip's Standard?

★ ★ ★

The prince and Queen Elizabeth II are the guests of the Duke of Norfolk during a week of horse races at nearby Goodwood. Wednesday night the duke threw a ball in their honor and laid on free champagne for the 2,000 guests.

Came the dawn and someone had scaled a 50-foot wall and snatched the standard.

"The youngsters were tobogganing down the grass bank of the keep on tea trays in the moonlight. I suppose some of them must have taken Prince Philip's standard."

Deaths Elsewhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—William Blizzard, 65, onetime United Mine Workers district president and firebrand leader who played an immense role in organizing coal mine workers, died yesterday of cancer. He became a headline figure when charged with treason against the State of West Virginia for leading a battle in which coal miners fought with sheriff's deputies and armed guards. He was acquitted. For 33 years before his retirement in 1955, he was the UMW's legislative representative. He was born in Kanawha County, W. Va.

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Henry (Tass) Burgin, 76, retired veteran officer of World War I and II and until his retirement in 1947 commander of the Central Pacific Base Command, died yesterday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was born in North Middleton, Ky.

DALLAS (AP)—Dan A. Greenwell, 61, executive vice president and treasurer of the Dallas Times Herald who had served the newspaper more than 40 years, died of an apparent heart attack in the Times Herald building Friday. Greenwell joined the neswpaper in 1917. He was a former president of the Texas Newspaper Publishers Assn.

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Maurice M. Durkee, 67, who helped develop the use of soybean oil in the margerine industry, died Friday after a brief illness. He retired two years ago as head of the oil refinery section of the A.E. Staley Manufacturing Co., processors of corn and soybeans.

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Percy Alfred Scholes, famed British music critic, has died in Switzerland, friends here reported today. He was 81. Scholes best known work was "The Oxford Companion to Music." He was born in Leeds, England.

What Will You Have?

FORT KNOX, Ky. (AP) — If you remember this one when it first came out, you're no youngster: "Would You Rather Be a Colonel With an Eagle on Your Shoulder or a Private With a Chicken on Your Knee?" It's one of the tunes to be played here when the Army post celebrates its 40th anniversary with music recalling World War I days.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Independent Drives for Raising Funds Indicate Selfishness

There may be a showdown ahead between some of the national agencies that exist on local contributions and United Fund campaigns.

★ ★ ★

A few organizations are growing restless and don't want to continue in the one drive deal. They are threatening to "go it alone." Conspicuous among these are the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association and Infantile Paralysis.

★ ★ ★

Certainly, Agency "Z" might secretly figure it would profit by having two drives a year: one for Agency "Z"—and then one for everyone else.

Organization "X" might settle for two drives a year, also. However, in this case, one drive would be for Organization "X" and the second drive for everyone else (including Organization "Z".)

There are more than fifty agencies in the package the Pontiac Area Fund handles.

If one of them goes on its own and succeeds in a tremendous way it will encourage others until we will have fifty odd drives, or one a week. Do you want to dole out dough to a different agency every seven days? Fortunately, the ultimate decision doesn't rest with the agencies.

YOU are the final judge.

YOU will decide.

★ ★ ★

The answer lies in your own hands. If you shake off the first agency that "goes it alone" and leave it without workers or contributions, the move will necessarily fail. These selfish, self-starting campaigns will receive scant attention in the news columns of THE PONTIAC PRESS.

★ ★ ★

Red Cross once refused to take part in the local drive. Their budget was approximately $38,000 and it was included in the list willy-nilly. The fund went over the top and possessed the entire $38,000 for Red Cross. But national officers stepped in and grandly waved aside the United Fund, declaring, "we'll stage our own drive in the spring."

They did just that.

★ ★ ★

Well, the Fund's board was made up of kindly citizens who forgive and forget. So, they gave the Red Cross its money (minus the $3,300 they raised in their own drive.) I doubt whether that ever happens again. This is showdown time.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps a smaller agency with a much smaller budget can "go it alone." I don't know. Practically always, this move will come from far off national officers and never from the local boards.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Press will not assist these independent drives. Most of the leading firms in Pontiac have stated privately and in public that this stand is in accordance with their own platforms. I feel the general public will shake off this selfish approach.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps it would be a good thing if half a dozen gave the idea a whirl. Let's settle it. In 1958, most cities will have to reduce budgets sharply in line with current economic conditions. Certainly in these automobile cities, industrial contributions will be distinctly down. Pontiac, Detroit, and Flint are hit hard. The handicap of industrial unemployment presents an obstacle and hurdle that the citizens can't overcome.

★ ★ ★

Fund raising is in for its hardest year. It will be a gigantic problem even if everyone sticks together. "United we stand—— etc."

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

HOW AMERICANS WORSHIP
The Protestants .1

America was settled to a considerable extent by Protestants seeking the right to worship God in their own way. Among them were the Pilgrims of Massachusetts, the Baptists in Rhode Island, the Quakers in Pennsylvania and the Episcopalians in Virginia.

It was thus no accident that a guaranty of religious freedom appears in the very first amendment to our Constitution, and that more than 250 denominations now thrive here. America prides itself on being a land of many faiths and creeds.

To record my own impressions of the many routes that men choose to find God, I set out recently with my sketchbook in hand.

In the course of my travels I visited many Protestant churches, joined in the prayers and hymns and listened to the sermons of many ministers. Although each church has its own individuality, there is about them an essential unity. As St. Paul said: "So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and everyone members one of another, having taken gift different according to the grace that is given us."

Days of All Faiths

Observe Feast of Transfiguration

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

August 6, in all Catholic and many Protestant churches, commemorates the time when Jesus took His favorite disciples Peter, James and John, to the top of Mt. Tabor and was "transfigured" before them.

The story is told by Matthew (Chapter 17) Mark (Chapter 9) and Luke (Chapter 9). With such firm Scriptural support it is strange that the Feast of the Transfiguration was dropped out of the calendar by the Protestant reformers.

It is difficult to explain fully what this event meant. Even the three who were chosen to see it could not understand what was taking place before their eyes. Obviously it was a statement, divinely dramatized, of the Messiahship of Jesus, and of His readiness, at the cost of any sacrifice, to fulfill the promises of the Jewish Law and the Prophets. But this does not seem to say all there is to be said about it.

St. Paul, in Second Corinthians, Chapter 3, finds a parallel with the time when Moses' face shone with a heavenly radiance as he returned from Mt. Sinai bringing the Ten Commandments. But the glory of the Law, Paul says, is the fading glory, whereas the glory revealed by Jesus on Mt. Tabor continues to grow and increase as Christians reflect it in their spirit and character.

It is interesting to note that the same three disciples who saw Christ's glory in the Transfiguration were the ones who were also chosen to watch His agony in the garden a year later.

The Feast of the Transfiguration was kept in the eastern churches as early as the fourth century. It was not made official in the west until 1457.

Friday, August 8 — There are in the church calendar 14 saints,

The establishment of such a specialized band, and the development of a cult devoted to them, is an example of the medieval tendency to honor a saint for what he could do for you rather than for the godly life he had led, a tendency that is not entirely missing in modern times. People have always tried to "use" their faith for personal benefit rather than simply to the glory of God.

The August 8 festival of the Fourteen Holy Helpers is by no means universally observed.

There is a Roman Catholic Church in Baltimore dedicated to all 14.

Answer — First, keep it strictly confidential between the boy and his parents. Second, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my FREE pamphlet, The Bed-Wetting Habit. You should have the boy examined by your physician, to exclude any developmental defect or pathological lesion. Bed-wetting is not uncommon in boys up to 16 or 18. During World War II many boys otherwise fit had to be held in camp for correction of the habit before they were assigned to active service.

Big Words Don't Mean Big Minds

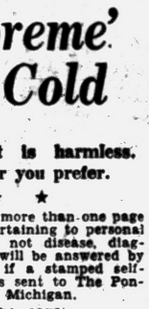

Big minds use simple language, for they focus on the needs of people and talk their language. But small minds are concerned with their own importance so try to impress people with "jawbreaker" words of 5-syllables so they will appear very profound. Listen to the jackal bay at the lion in the review of Dr. Smith's book.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

For many years he edited the Methodist magazine called the Christian Advocate.

DR. CRANE

He still writes widely for newspapers and magazines, and has many wonderful books to his credit.

One of his latest books of sermons was revised recently, and Dr. Smith sent me the following excerpt from that review:

". . . his sermons are just a series of anecdotes for the unthinking listener. There is nothing really profound in any of them."

That's comparable to a sandlot baseball pitcher saying that Herb Score or Billy Pierce don't have any stuff on the balls which they pitch so devastatingly across the plate!

"I'm afraid many of our young preachers are straining too hard to be profound," added Dr. Smith. "I'd much rather be helpful to people than philosophical."

SIMPLE GREATNESS

Jesus was likewise belittled because he used language that the poor people could understand.

And Christ's sermons were a series of anecdotes (parables) that illustrated his opening text.

Just take notes whenever you listen to the greatest orators in the pulpits or on the political platforms and you will find that they have all learned the basic recipe of a great speech from Christ's own narrative (anecdotal) formula.

Document it with relevant cases, told in narrative fashion, to amplify and illustrate that main principle.

Then conclude with a punchy or dramatic terminal statement. This should tie the wheat in the sack, so to speak.

It adds richness to use an appropriate quotation from some great figure of history.

Clergymen can reach an even higher emotional climax if they will come down the home stretch (peroration) in rhythm. To do so, just select a bit of verse which contains the thought that exactly caps your climax.

Then recite this poetry, for human beings feel a tightening of the scalp and goose pimples up and down their spine when the oratorical crescendo shifts from prose to poetry at the climax.

PETTY MINDS

★ ★ ★

The average word in the Bible contains but five letters, which means a two-syllable word. And Jesus routinely employed short words.

"Do unto others what you'd have them do unto you," Christ urged.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Orchard Lake Official Discusses Police Fines

I believe that in all fairness you should publish this letter in your editorial column in order to present the facts in regard to police fines in the Village of Orchard Lake.

If people would simply obey the traffic laws there would be no police fines and no need for traffic patrols. It is the person who violates the law and gets caught that wails in anguish. I, personally, am very, very sick of those who piously defend him and castigate the police department. If you will check the facts in Orchard Lake you will find something like this:

1. All of the roads in the village are narrow, winding, with very little visibility ahead. They are well posted as to speed and no passing. Exceeding the speed limit or passing is very dangerous.

2. The police department operates seven days a week, 24 hours a day for the express purpose of protecting the residents from the reckless drivers and the reckless drivers from themselves.

In spite of this round the clock vigilance quite a few reckless drivers lose control of their cars on the village roads and sustain severe damage to their cars and in some cases lose their lives. And, of course, sometimes kill or injure others. Give a thought to the mayhem we would have without our police department.

3. Law enforcement must be law enforcement. Continued winking at violations makes chronic violators. The curse of this nation is the sob-sister approach to "poor mixed up" law violators.

4. The population figures you mention are very old. The village has many more residents than that and you should be aware of that fact.

(Editor's Note: Figures are 1950 U. S. Census, as reported in current county directory issued by county clerk's office.)

The village police do not encourage any one to break the traffic laws. They do not run a "speed trap." No one has received a ticket who has not violated the law. There is no reason whatever for violating the law in the village.

The roads are well marked and the normal driver recognizes that these markings are the maximum limitations of the roads. We patrol the roads to protect the prudent citizen, whether a resident or not, from the reckless drivers. In the normal course of these patrols violators are ticketed.

Unfortunately quite a number of drivers just cannot or will not obey the laws. You mention that the police fines total about $34,000 but the cost to operate the department is $57,000.

The police department not only does not help support the village it falls far short of paying its own way! The village residents are happy to spend quite a large sum of money, over and above the fines collected, to protect themselves from the reckless drivers.

E. M. Douglas,
Village Commissioner

Must Believe to Prosper

Mr. Coleman, I, for one would hate to live and raise a family in a country supreme in scientific advancement, but devoid of religion.

What will it avail us to make the best and biggest bombs and missiles if we cannot live together with our fellow men? Are you so naive to think there would be any decency, honesty or unselfishness in a world which completely ignores the existence of God and His laws? Hitler tried to wipe out any belief in God. Do you approve of the resultant killings and slave labor camps—or perhaps Russia's bloody purge, past and present, better illustrate a godless motivation.

We in the United States are far from guiltless, but as long as there is religion there is hope for growth and improvement. All the achievements of science and education could be used for evil unless we have a conscience and moral code to guide their use.

Mrs. Robert C. Smitha

In reply to Ernest E. Coleman, who says we should get rid of our 'religious beliefs' to get ahead of the Russians, I say let's stay behind if that is the only way we can get ahead. Although they may 'get ahead' they can't win. Only with the help of the Good Lord has this country got where it is and only with His help will it remain, as the world's greatest democracy. I feel sorry for you Mr. Coleman, but there's hope for you yet, because I hope other people along with me will pray for you

Believer

Where were you raised Mr. Religion Hater? Your advertisement in Voice of the People won't be effective. Just how do you happen to be breathing or didn't you know of God's existence? How much have you learned of our democracy here? Lincoln and Washington were Christians too. You know even the Russians themselves would hate your idea.

WE'RE SERVANTS

J. L. VOORHEES

Show me the person with many friends and I'll show you a man who has willingly served. He has never been too busy to help carry a load, listen, inspire, point the way. That person is the first to open his purse and the last to condemn, he is the first to arrive on the job and the last to leave. He will never promise more than he can fulfill. He has faith in himself and in those around him. He is reverent, accepts the tenets of the Bible as his guide to happier, healthier living. He's no softy either; he'll fight for what he knows is right and quickly apologizes if he is wrong. He is the servant of others for the joy it brings to him.

M. E. SIPLE

A happy family is composed of servants; the mother serves her husband and children; the husband smiles in delight when he gives joy to wife and children and the children take their cue from their parents — they serve to make them happy.

Be a servant! Be happy

BALLET OF DEATH—This scene of Lebanon may look like a modern dance class, but the goal is more deadly than artistic. The young girls are practicing the proper method of tossing hand grenades in the rebel-held section of Beirut. Instructors are followers of the rebel leader, Saeb Salam, whose forces have been holding out behind barricades in the Lebanese capital since the outbreak of the revolt against Chamoun's government.

AF in England to Rule on Traffic Speeding

By United Press International

IPSWICH, England (UPI) — Authorities at the U.S. air base in nearby Bentwaters said today are setting up a "Traffic Advisory Board" in an attempt to cut down road accidents involving American airmen.

The board's four officers will have the right to recommend to the base commander that he take away driving licenses of offending airmen, independently of the British courts.

Life Wins Over Death on High Bridge Girder

NEW YORK (AP)—They talked for more than half an hour, just two men on a George Washington Bridge girder 450 feet above the Hudson River. One man spoke of life and hope, the other of despair and death.

When police noticed Edward Madden, 28 and homeless, climbing up the bridge superstructure yesterday, they failed in all efforts to get him down. They brought a priest to the scene, but his pleas were in vain.

Madden said he was going to jump, adding: "Catherine, she's my wife, we've been separated a year. I have no place to live. I have no children. What do I have to live for?"

★ ★ ★

Homer K. Wright, 45, of Saddle Brook, N.J., a Port Authority electrician, saw the desperate man high above the teeming traffic, asked and received permission to go up.

The two men talked quietly. "Look, mister," Wright told Madden, "I know what trouble is. My boy has had an open heart since he was a baby.

"He can't play with the other kids. He can't do what they do. Do you know what that means to a father?"

"I know what you are thinking now. I've thought of jumping off the bridge myself. And now I think we're going to save him. He's going to have an operation. Maybe it will work. Things get better. You must have hope."

Madden, convinced, slowly made the trip down with Wright. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital for observation.

★ ★ ★

Said Wright: "I felt for the guy. He's got trouble. I've got it, too. But a man's got to stay with it."

'Witnesses' Hit Church Clergy

Sect Blames World's Troubles on Organized Christianity

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 190,000 Jehovah's Witnesses adopted without visible dissent yesterday a resolution blaming the world's ills on organized Christianity.

"The clergy of Christendom," the resolution said, "stands as the most reprehensible and delinquent class on earth."

A loud chorus of "Ayes" greeted the resolution when it was read to the Witnesses at Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds.

There were 194,418 Witnesses in the ball parks or gathered in nearby streets for the sixth day of their international assembly. A crowd in excess of 200,000 is expected for the convention's finale tomorrow.

The resolution said religious leaders had erred in encouraging the people to follow man-made schemes for peace. The clergy "turned their backs on Jesus Christ," the resolution added, in seeking support for the League of Nations and the United Nations.

"All the blind people who follow these blind religious leaders will suffer execution with them at God's hands" when the present world ends, the resoultion added.

The Witnesses believe the world will end at the battle of Armageddon. Then, say the Witnesses, good will conquer evil and the Witnesses will inherit a new world of peace and everlasting life.

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Three of Custer's cavalrymen who died in the battle of the Little Big Horn have been buried at Custer Battlefield National Cemetery. CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Charlene Wilson, 14, wrote actress Barbara Nichols asking for her photograph. Charlene got her own letter back, along with Miss Nichols $6 electric power bill and a letter to the actress from a Brazilian fan. Charlene said she'd let the Post Office try to figure it out.

Only 5-Foot-4, but She Packs Real Wallop

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Policewoman Almira McElroy, 33 and five feet, four inches tall, said she saw Preston McConnell, 59, grab a 9-year-old girl yesterday. When she told the five-foot-eleven McConnell he was under arrest, he swung at her.

"I hit him with the heel of my hand—you know, the heavy part of the hand—on the forehead and stunned him so I could tie him up," she explained. She tied him with her belt.

★ ★ ★

McConnell denied grabbing the child. He was booked on suspicion of child molestation, general peace disturbance, and resisting arrest.

State's Residents Do More Dipping in Public Pools

★ ★ ★

The State Health Department reported that permits for 27 new public swimming pools have been issued so far this year.

★ ★ ★

The department said the number of permits pending indicate that last year's high of 39 swimming pool approvals will be topped this year.

Fashion Looks to Legs as 'Bosom Cult' Fades

LONDON (UPI) — Hemlines are going up in Western Europe and male eyes are swinging down from bosoms to legs.

★ ★ ★

Not for over three decades has so much attention been drawn to legs and the new shorter skirts are seriously threatening the "cult of the bosom."

WOMEN WORRIED

Fashion seems to be deliberately camouflaging "vital statistics" and is certainly setting a new low in focal points. This has the women worrying, even those with pretty legs.

★ ★ ★

Shorter skirts are making the female of the species self-conscious. A woman, apparently, can sunbathe on a beach in next to nothing and not notice that she's being stared at.

But put up the hemline a bit and she immediately concludes that everyone is making a searching study of her legs.

Women wearing shorter skirts are so conscious of their knees showing that they invariably tend to sit sideways. They are finding it terribly embarrassing and difficult to get in and out of cars and buses.

LEG MASSAGE

Fashion writers report that beauty parlors are busy preparing special sessions of leg massage, to wake up muscles, reduce excess fat and give bony knees a pleasing roundness.

★ ★ ★

Russian dancing — the Cossack kind where one nearly sits on the floor and kicks out each leg in rapid succession— is the quickest and most effective remedy for slimming down those too-heavy legs and rounding out those bony knees, according to some experts.

Women also are taking up new postures. It seems that lying on the floor for 20 minutes or so a day with feet up in a low chair has a slimming effect on both ankles and knees.

Even the most fashion-conscious women in Western Europe appear reluctant to raise their skirts as high as fashion decrees.

The evidence to date is that the skirt falling an inch or two below the knees is going to be far more popular than the knee-high hemline.

MUST BE SHAPELY

The wise woman knows that if she shows a lot of leg the leg has to be attractive. Men don't appreciate plump stems, even on beautiful flowers.

Stocking fashions are bound to change too. The seamless stocking may well be on the way out as the nylon with a seam makes calves look more streamlined. And darker colors are more slimming too.

MRS. EUGENE D. NICKMAN

Married this morning in St. Benedict Church were Joan Marie Mazza and Eugene D. Nickman. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mazza and Frank Nickman.

Joan Marie Mazza Wed in Mass at St. Benedict

St. Benedict Church was the scene this morning of the wedding of Joan Marie Mazza and Eugene D. Nickman. The Rev. John Hoar officiated at the Nuptial High Mass before 100 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mazza of Lousbury street and Frank Nickman of Pleasanton, Neb.

IN GOWN OF LACE

The bride wore a white lace gown, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline accented by scallops. The skirt was formed of two layers of lace trimmed with scallops at the hemline. She carried a white colonial bouquet centered with a white orchid.

★ ★ ★

Agnes Mazza, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and Mrs. Joseph Puertas was matron of honor. They wore white ballerina length dresses trimmed with blue and carried colonial bouquets of blue carnations and white roses.

★ ★ ★

RECEPTION GIVEN

When the couple left for a honeymoon through New England, the bride was wearing a white linen sheath with navy blue accessories.

Lamoree-Stephens Vows Spoken in St. Hugo Rite

St. Hugo of the Hills Church, Bloomfield Hills, was the scene of the wedding this morning of Jannette Elizabeth Stephens and James Matthews Lamoree. The Rev. Francis T. Stack officiated at the 10 o'clock ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. Stephens of Birmingham, and Mrs. George Lamoree of New Castle, Pa., and the late Mr. Lamoree.

The bride wore a princess style gown of silk taffeta accented with Alencon lace and featuring a Sabrina neckline and short sleeves. The skirt formed a chapel train and she carried a cascade bouquet of white rose buds and stepenotis.

Margaret Ann Yeager was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert N. Rivest, Mrs. Gerald Mooney, Ann Mellink, Sara Terrill, and and Gail Matousek.

★ ★ ★

RECEPTION GIVEN

★ ★ ★

The bride chose a tangerine and white print dress with white accessories for her going away outfit. The newlyweds will spend their honeymoon at Nassau in the Bahama Islands. They will live in Birmingham.

Trick to Make Mirrors Gleam

Decorative mirrors come sparkling clean when washed with a sudsy cloth — but here's a trick to make them positively brilliant.

To remove stubborn spots from a mirror, work them over with thick soap or detergent suds on a cloth wrung almost dry from warm water. Then, add a little kerosene or ammonia to clear water and rinse.

Dry the mirror surface with a lint-free cloth or a crumpled newspaper. This produces a wonderful, lasting polish and shine that will reflect the charm of your room for weeks to come.

Courtesy Prohibits Honking

"Dear Mrs. Post: Whenever I have a date with my boy friend, he drives up to the house, honks his horn and waits for me to come out. As I am usually ready, I go out at the sound of the horn.

"My mother thinks he is very rude and says that if he thought enough of me he would come up to the house and ring the bell as any gentleman would. I think she is making a fuss over nothing. Will you give me your opinion?"

Answer: If this is his customary behavior, your mother is right in thinking him very rude to you and thoughtlessly inconsiderate of your neighbors. On a rare occasion, if he were a little late and you were in a hurry to get somewhere on time, he might then very possibly honk his horn.

"Dear Mrs. Post: During a recent illness my neighbors were most kind to me. Not only did they look after my young daughter but they also prepared food and brought it in to me every day. I can't tell you how much these kindnesses meant to me and now that I am well again I would like to show my appreciation in some way.

"Should I write notes to each of these neighbors thanking them for their kindness, and also should I send each one a small present with the note?"

Answer: I think an appreciative note to each would be sufficient. If you want to send gifts I would in your place wait until you happen to know of something each one wants.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am to be married soon and have asked a friend of mine who lives several hundred miles away to be my best man. Because he works and time is an important factor, he will fly here and back. Now I am told that it is up to me to pay is transportation. Is this true?"

Answer: No. He is expected to pay his own traveling expenses. You are expected, however, to provide accommodations for him while he is here.

Dear Abby . . . .

Kitchen Detective on Job

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I see something every day (Monday through Friday) from my kitchen window that puzzles me. Betwen 4 and 4:05 p.m. a nice looking woman drives up in a station wagon and waits for a man who meets her in a Chevy coupe. She gets out of her car and gets into his and they drive away. At exactly 5:45 they both come back. They start kissing goodbye like they are never going to see each other again, then they get into their own cars and drive off.

ABBY

"This has been going on since spring. I have both their license numbers and if you think this would be called "disturbing the peace" or "disorderly conduct", I will report it to the police. I think they are breaking some law."

WITHIN THE LAW

DEAR WITHIN: The laws" that this couple are breaking are not visible from your kitchen window. As I see it, you've nothing to report.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and have been married and divorced and have a little girl a year old. I'm in love with a man who is 29 and would make a wonderful father but he has five kids by another man's wife. She has her divorce but won't marry him. He's waited three years for her to change her mind and marry him.

"We love each other, but he thinks he should be married to the mother of his kids. I would wait for him forever but I have my own child to consider. I've made a big mess of my life and need some advice. Don't tell me to give him up. I need him. MESSED UP LIFE

DEAR MESSED UP: You need this man like Custer needed another Indian. Get out of his life and find yourself a decent man who respects the laws of marriage.

★ ★ ★

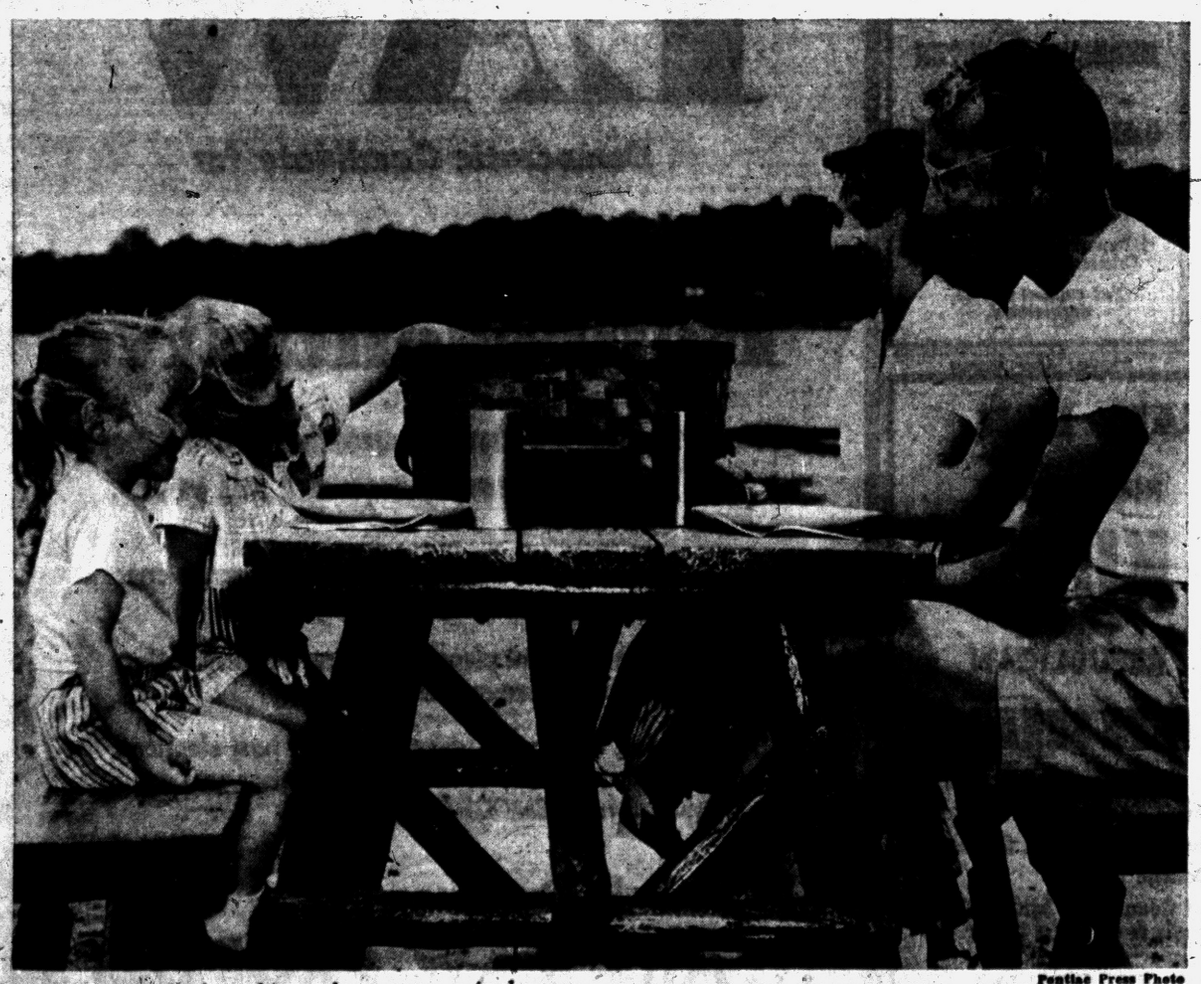

"DEAR ABBY: Every time I buy my wife a present she makes me tell her how much I paid for it. When I do she blows her top and says I got robbed. What do you do with a dame like that?" ROBBED

DEAR ROBBED: Obviously your wife is more practical than sentimental. Give her money instead.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is fair to reserve a seat right in your own house? I am 12 and my big sister who is 15 always gets the best chair to watch TV and when she wants to go get something to eat or drink she says she is reserving that chair so nobody else can sit in it. I sat in it once when she left it to go the phone and when she came back she pulled me out of it so fast she tore my dress. Do you think this is fair?" JUDY

DEAR JUDY: Ask your mother to see to it that you and your sister "take turns" getting the best chair. It will eliminate all arguments, hard feelings and torn dresses.

One of the best things about summer is the traditional family picnic. Enjoying a hearty outdoors meal straight from the picnic basket are Mr. and Mrs. David H. Green of Eason street and their daughters, Debbie (left) who is 3 and Denise, 5 years old.

Preventative Measures

Exercise Keeps Arms, Bust Firm

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As women grow older many find that their upper arms and their busts lose some firmness. A little of this is inevitable but there is all the difference in the world between the woman who exercises in order to overcome or avoid this, and the one who lets nature take its course. If you have not yet noticed any change, preventative measures still would be wise.

Lie on the floor on your abdomen. Place your hands on the floor, one hand on each side of the bust. Curl your toes under so that you can push from them. Keep the knees and body straight as you straighten your elbows and push your body up from the floor.

Try to keep a straight line from your heels to your head. Do not sink down at the middle if you can help it. Bend the elbows and keep the knees stiff as you return your body to floor. Continue.

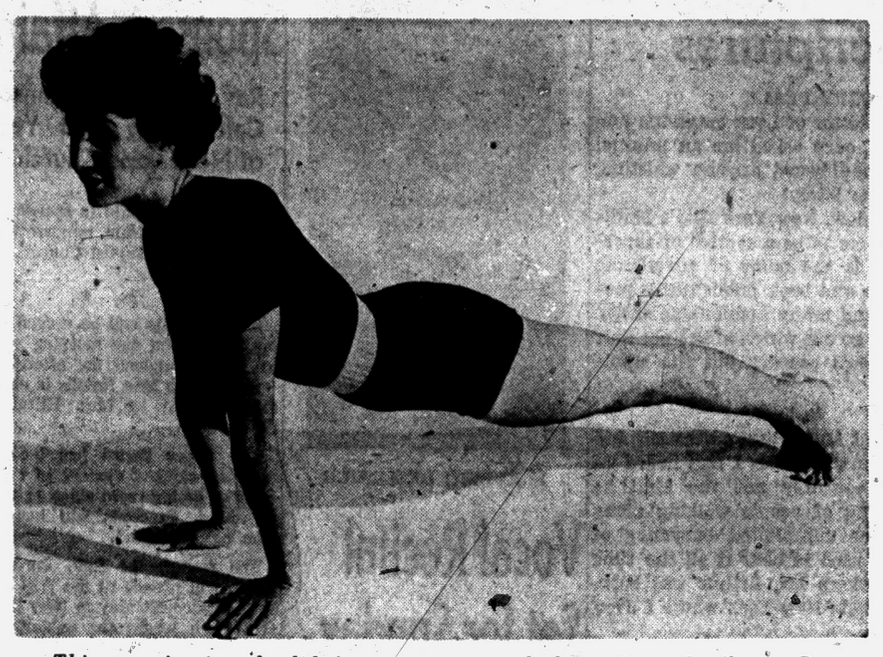

Another: Lift the arms forward, upward, bend the elbows and place the palms together in a prayer-like position. Hands should be about shoulder level. Press the palms together, hard. Hold for a few moments. Relax. Continue.

Still another: Stand tall. Raise the arms sideward-upward to an overhead position and cross the hands. While you raise the arms, and after they are overhead, the palms should face forward. Lower arms sideward-downward, palms still facing forward, and bring them as close together as you can behind your back. As your arms reach back, turn the palms toward the back of the room. The elbows are stiff throughout this exercise.

If you will practice just these few exercises every day, you soon will find that the outlook has improved.

If you would like to have my exercises which increase the bust measurements, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

This exercise is splendid for arm and chest muscles: You simply push your body up from the floor. Do not sink down in the middle.

Change Mom's Name for Better Feeling

By RUTH MILLETT

Over the years I have received a lot of letters from wives discussing their mothers-in-law, some praising them and some blaming them for most of their troubles.

The interesting thing about the letters is that, almost always, the wife who has mother-in-law trouble refers to her husband's mother as "my mother-in-law."

But the women who write to praise a mother-in-law nearly always refer to her as "my husband's mother."

Isn't there a possibility that a wife determines, to some extent, what her relationship to her mother-in-law is going to be like by the way she starts out thinking about her?

If the moment she marries, a bride starts thinking of her husband's mother as "my mother-in-law," the relationship may have a strike against it just from the start. For she is thinking of this other woman in relationship to herself, rather than in relationship to her husband.

Possibly the wife who always thinks of her mother-in-law as "Jim's mother" gets off to a better start. Because she never forgets for a moment that the older woman isn't just a mother-in-law, but a very important person—the mother of the man she married.

This is just a theory and I can't prove it. But it certainly wouldn't hurt for a bride to give the theory a try by refusing to speak or think of her husband's mother as her mother-in-law.

Anything is worth a try if it might help to make a relationship that is so often strained a pleasant and happy and mutually rewarding one.

A feminine dressmaker suit of flannel with a miniature checkered weave effect is perfect either under furs or with a coat. This suit is designed for the woman of conservative taste.

Harmony Is Secret of Framing

★ ★ ★

Contrary to the old-fashioned rules, all oils should not be enclosed in gilded frames; all water colors do not require mats and glass; every black and white drawing or graphic print does not belong in a little black frame with a white mat.

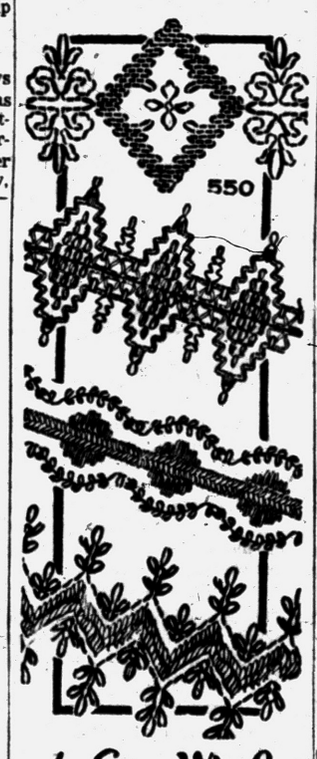

Select your mat and frame according to the design, scale of the composition, and the strength of the colors of the picture.

HARMONY ESSENTIAL

If your picture has small delicate details, your frame might have small details to harmonize with it. If the picture is simple in treatment, a simple frame might be appropriate. Never allow the frame to overpower the picture, however. It should always be secondary and complement the painting.

Fragile pictures, such as delicate water colorings, etchings and engravings, require the protection of glass. Since glass in certain light may behave like a mirror, you may prefer to use special non-reflecting glass that is available at your framemakers.

Lightly scaled water colors and drawings usually need more area to expand in, and this is where mats help.

Bored, Fed Up? Your Problem May Be You!

Many people who think they are bored, tired and fed up with everything actually are suffering from a very common allergy—they are allergic to themselves.

The cure is simple, according to an article in a national magazine. The article states that being too wrapped up in oneself is the cause of that all-too-common feeling of boredom. People who feel this way need to reach out and make contact with some other lives.

One way to begin is to write a letter. Perhaps there's a relative you haven't heard from for a long time, or a friend who has moved away. Getting re-acquainted brings fresh vitality to your life.

MONTE SANO

Monte Sano gives the sewing public the break of the year with a coat that incorporates all of the fine tailoring points of this house, and yet is easy to make. Adaptable to either sports or dressy materials it can be made with a full length or three-quarter sleeve, the latter a definite look of the season and conceded to be younger.

Cut on a yoke with curved shoulders and a collar that rests comfortably away from the neck, it can be interlined or not as you wish. Wide pocket tabs trim the yoke front, matching pairs set at the hip bone camouflage seam pockets.

For town and country, select interesting tweeds, mohair, heavy satin, ottoman or other silks. From this chart chart select the one size best for you.

Wear a Flower

From Paris comes the idea of wearing a red or white camellia on a belt or at the top of your skirt. If you run out of camellias, a red or white carnation would probably do just as well.

Some people think it isn't necessary to let a relative know they are planning to visit him. But it is just as important to consider a relative's convenience as anyone else's.

She's Licensed Teacher

New Actress From Italy Can Cook, Fling Curves

Nineteen-year old Marisa is a licensed schoolteacher who likes to cook and make her own bikinis. She also is giving Lollabrigida and Loren a bad time at the box office.

★ ★ ★

"Every time we get a hotel suite with a kitchenette," explained Mama Allassio, "it is all we can do to keep Marisa away from the stove."

And the bikinis, which the strawberry brunette used to make from discarded maids' uniforms, are what led Marisa to her present position at the Italian movie box office.

It seems an Italian producer saw her on a beach in her homemade bikini, talked her into entering a beauty contest and changed her chosen profession from school teaching to acting.

Since then Marisa has made 12 movies, including her latest, a co-starring role with Mario Lanza in "Seven Hills of Rome."

"I received no pay for the first picture," she explained when her cross-country tour stopped in Dallas, "and not much for the others. I worked in them, sometimes two at a time, as a privilege. But now I believe I will start taking pay.

"I learned English in six weeks on a bet," she reported proudly. "They told me I couldn't be in the picture with Lanza unless I did. So I did."

Success apparently has not spoiled the brown-eyed teenager. She waits on her mother in their hotel suite, and she is devoted to her father—a football coach and road contractor—and her 17-year-old sister who is "beautiful and is going to be a lawyer."

Marisa handles herself well with the public, Mama explained, because they have entertained much in their home in Turin, Italy.

"The sack—it's crazy—I like it," she admitted. Mostly she wears dresses fitted to show her curves and a tiny waistline which she protects with a calorie-watching campaign.

★ ★ ★

Children? "I love them all and hope to have three when I am married."

Rev. G. Hershey to Give Sermons

Howard Fitzgerald to Show Color Movies of Hunting Trip

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will preach on "What Do You See?" at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday in First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Michael Siano will sing "The Lord Is Life," with Lyndon Salathiel who has just returned from Europe at the organ.

Howard Fitzgerald will show color movies of a hunting trip to British Columbia at the Men's Club dinner in September. Ted Koella, president of the group, is making arrangements.

★ ★ ★

Dr. and Mrs. Henry D. Jones have returned to the United States from Japan where Dr. Jones served as an industrial chaplain, working with both labor and church leaders. The furlough year will be spent mostly in study.

Richard F. Hart Jr. is listed as the honorary serviceman of the week at First Presbyterian.

Members to Mark Coming of Pastor

Members of New Bethel Baptist Church will celebrate the first anniversary of their pastor's coming to Pontiac with special services all next week.

The Rev. R. W. Wright of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Detroit, will bring the opening message tomorrow.

On Aug. 10, Dr. Richard H. Dixon Jr. of Trinity Baptist Church will preach the anniversary sermon.

The Rev. Amos G. Johnson came to New Bethel from the St. Mark Baptist Church, Clinton, Miss. He makes his home with his wife, a trained missionary, and eight-year-old son, Amos.

Dr. J. M. Lenox to Give Message Sunday Morning

In the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard who is on vacation, Dr. G. Merrill Lenox of Detroit will preach tomorrow morning in the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian.

★ ★ ★

"The Power of Influence" will be the subject of his message.

Dr. Lenox has been executive director of Michigan Council of Churches since 1953 and of the Detroit Council since 1947.

A member of several committees of the National Council of Churches, he is also active in civic affairs. He serves on the board of directors of the Michigan Society of Mental Health and belongs to Detroit Economic Club and Kiwanins.

Members at Convention

He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God.

Confident Living

Banish Gloomy Thoughts by Reading Scriptures

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

William B. Arthur, managing editor of Look magazine and a very shrewd observer of people, once asked me an unusual question. He asked whether I had heard anyone whistling on Madison Avenue lately!

PEALE

Now, as you know, New York City's Madison Avenue has come to be a symbol of supersophistication. It is the home of advertising agencies, magazine and book publishers, newspaper syndicates and many fashionable shops. From it influences go out which affect not only all parts of our own country but the whole world as well.

I thought about Mr. Arthur's question and realized that the only whistles I had heard on Madison Avenue recently were certainly not the kind he meant. For he had been thinking of people walking along the street whistling out of sheer uninhibited buoyancy of spirit or happiness of heart. We used to hear it all the time—at least we did in Kentucky, where Mr. Arthur was born, and in the towns of Ohio and upstate New York where I lived as a youngster.

I do know one man who, although his office isn't on Madison Avenue, certainly whistles as he goes about his daily work. When I first met him, his mood was invariably dejected; his thinking was cynical and gloomy.

I didn't hear from him for a long time, until one day he wrote me a long letter. In it he repeated over and over how happy he now was. What had happened to him? Well, he wrote that he had developed a five-point program for himself and that it had changed his entire outlook on life.

First, he said, "I pray twenty-five times a day." If anyone will devote that much time to prayer or spiritual thinking, he will change the character of his thoughts, and that, in turn, will really set him to whistling.

Second, "I soak my mind with Bible passages." There is no better therapy for gloom than the joyous promises with which the Bible is filled.

Third, "I sit down every night with a piece of paper and see how many good thoughts I can write down about the people I have seen that day," He went on to say that this is the hardest thing he has set himself to do. But it is indeed a fact that, if you think bad thoughts about people, you will never banish unhappiness. If you think well about your fellow men your heart will be full of joy.

Fourth, "I see how many times a day I can tell the Lord how much I love Him. Perhaps you have noticed how a child will come to his mother for no apparent reason and say, "Mommy, I love you." The relationship which the child establishes with his mother in this way one can establish with God. And this God-and-man love relationship stimulates deep feelings of happiness.

Fifth, he concluded, "I try to keep all sin out of my life," Certainly the absence of sin is the beginning of real happiness.

Do you want to feel like whistling on Madison Avenue or on whatever street you work or live on? Do you want to banish gloom and live with joyous delight?

★ ★ ★

The same five-point program that changed my friend's life can change yours. You too can, as the song goes, "Whistle while you work."

Congregation to Observe Lord's Supper, Sunday

The Lord's Supper will be observed at both the 8:45 and 11 a.m. services tomorrow in Bethany Baptist Church with Dr. Joseph I. Chapman speaking on "Well's Gone Dry."

Assisting him at the early hour will be Linda Ray and at 11 o'clock Tim Pepper will be youth assistant. Special music will be by Robert Williams.

Wilbur Crawford, chairman of the newly formed Christian Social Action Committee announces the chairmen of the Republican and Democratic parties will hold an open forum at Bethany in October.

Dr. Chapman, pastor, will moderate the forum on the theme, "The Christian in Politics." Each chairman will give his point of view as to the Christian's responsibilitiy in politics and what he feels the issues of the forthcoming state campaign to be.

The presentation will be made without reference to candidates. Questions from those attending will be answered.

Evening, and morning, and at noon, will I pray, and cry aloud; and He shall hear my voice. Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and He shall sustain thee; He shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.

A graduate of Cass Technical High School, Detroit, he received a degree in music from Philander Smith College in Little Rock, Ark., and did graduate work at Indiana State College.

Mr. Bellinger has studied at the Detroit Institute of Arts and Robert Nolan School of Music, Detroit.

The son of the pastor, the Rev. Martin Bellinger, he has been music supervisor and teacher of vocal music at Lee High School in Jasper, Fla., since 1953.

★ ★ ★

His program will consist of compositions by Handel, Schubert, Puccini, Carrissima and Grieg. Other selections will be folk songs and Negro Spirituals.

'Send a Pig' Drive to Aid Ecuador Boys

An appeal for pigs was broadcast last week to enable 125 boys in Cuenca, Ecuador, to start in business.

★ ★ ★

Word went out from Heifer Project, Inc. headquarters in Maryland that the boys are smart, willing to work and represent the top 4-H Club potential in their country. But as yet they have no club.

★ ★ ★

"It's amazing what one little pig can do," Thurl Metzger commented. He directs Heifer Project, a related agency of Church World Service. "It is worth the income a boy would get from nine months' manual labor, and the ownership of a pig makes each boy the respected member of a sort of 'middle class'—very important to his own and his country's economy."

★ ★ ★

The hoped for 4-H project in Ecuador, he said will be under the direction of Benton Rhoades, who appealed for the pigs.

About one-half the $3,750 necessary for the purchase of 125 purebred Durocs has been raised, Mr. Metzger said, and added, "This is a fine chance for everyone who wants to invest in a boy and a country."

Remember the sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God.

Nurses' Guild Sponsors Affair

Rev. Amos G. Johnson Celebrating First Year at New Hope Church

The Nurses' Guild is sponsoring an afternoon affair tomorrow in the New Hope Baptist Church, 392 Bloomfield Ave.

★ ★ ★

Refreshments will be served immediately after the morning service and throughout the afternoon.

Mrs. Willie Mae Nevills is chairman assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Green.

The Usher Board has been serving chicken dinners in the church dining room since 11 this morning. Proceeds will benefit the building fund.

The pastor, the Rev. Ford B. Reed, will preach at the 7:30 evening service Monday in New Bethel Church where the pastor, the Rev. Amos G. Johnson, is celebrating his first anniversary as minister.

★ ★ ★

The Senior Choir and Pastor's Chorus of the New Hope Church will present special numbers with the congregational also attending.

Quartet Slated to Sing, Perform Feats of Magic

"Who Then Can Be Saved?" will be the sermon subject of the pastor, the Rev. Theodore A. Allebach, tomorrow at the 10 a.m. service in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

At the 7 p.m. service the Ambassador Quartet from Marlette will sing gospel songs and perform feats of magic.

Composed of Roy Clendeman, Ken Morgan, Verlin Morgan and Jack Marion, the group has sung on radio, television and made recordings.

The Ann McGeoch, Eleanor Creswell, Lucille McBane and Margery Peters Groups of the Women's Association will meet next week.

Mrs. Blanche Joki, Sunday Speaker

Mrs. Blanche Joki will be guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service Sunday in the Unity Church of Oakland County, 71½ N. Saginaw St. Her topic will be "Whatsoever You Shall Ask."

The class in "Lessons in Truth" has been discontinued during August but will start again in September.

Mrs. Joki was formerly the minister at Unity Church. Currently she has a class in Algonac.

Youth of First Christian Going to Camp Sunday

Mrs. D. D. McColl will serve as counselor for the Chi Rho Fellowship Camp of First Christian Church Sunday through Saturday at Crystal Assembly Grounds.

Attending will be Lesta J. Stanley, Connie Clark, Sharon Geasler, Patricia Reid, Carol Lock, Kathy Cummings, Robert Hard, Lanny Thompson, Dennis Underwood, Donald Kessick, Roger Stone, Thomas Webster, Dennis, Donald and Alan Akerley.

Lawn Social Tonight Sponsored by Church

The missionary department of Messiah Baptist Church is sponsoring a lawn social at 7 tonight at the home of Mrs. Queen E. Phillips, 47 Walnut St.

Mrs. Emma Kincade, the president, is general chairman. The Rev. Roy Cummings, pastor, stated the public has been invited.

New Pastor at Pentecostal

Rev. Eugene Roberts Comes From Ypsilanti to Pontiac Church

The Rev. Eugene L. Roberts has taken up his duties as the new pastor of First Pentecostal Church, 178 Green St.

★ ★ ★

Here for his installation service this week were the Rev. J. P. Silvernale of Bay City, home missionary secretary and the Rev. C. C. Kirby of Royal Oak, superintendent of the United Pentecostal Church. Both assisted in the service.

Born in Bramer, Tenn., the Rev. Mr. Roberts received his schooling and theological training in Virginia and West Virginia.

He served a congregation at Narrowa, Va., then in 1955 moved to Ypsilanti where he was pastor before coming to Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Twenty grandmothers, including one 102 years old, were baptized in a single day recently at the Seoul Old Ladies' Home in Seoul, Korea.

The baptisms brought the number of Christians among the 69 residents of the home from three to 23. Most of those baptized were more than 75 years old.

The women were baptized by the Rev. Kim Choo Pyun, youth director of the Korean Methodist Church and a former Crusade Scholar, and the Rev. (Mrs.) Maud Jensen, New Cumberland, Pa., the first woman to receive full clergy rights in the Methodist Church (in 1956).

★ ★ ★

The baptisms resulted from visits to the home by two students at the Methodist Theological Seminary in Seoul and by a Methodist missionary.

Japanese Boxer Kaneko Is Champion for Christ

TOKYO, Japan—A notable figure who has contributed to the increased interest in the Bible is Shigeji Kaneko, Japan's most popular boxing champion of the day and featherweight champion of the Orient. He is a Christian, a regular churchgoer and a reader of the Bible.

★ ★ ★

Recently a film about him was shown in cinemas throughout Japan, and from beginning to end it was made clear that he is a faithful reader of the Bible.

Religion, Law to Sit Together

Protestant - Sponsored National Parley Slated in Chicago Sept. 7-10

The first Protestant - sponsored national conference in this country on religion and the law will be held in Chicago, Sept. 7-10, following years of preparation and preliminary consultation.

William Stringfellow, New York attorney and conference chairman, said that for the first time judges, lawyers and law students, clergymen and theologians will sit down together to talk over the principles governing their vocations.

Convening at the University of Chicago Law School will be some of the nation's top Bar Association members, clergymen, U.S. attorneys and law faculty, Mr. Stringfellow said. They will include Harold Berman of Harvard Law School, Dr. Marcus Barth, Federated Theological Faculty of Chicago, and Benjamin MacKinnon of the American Bar Association.

The conference will be sponsored jointly by the Faculty Christian Fellowship and the United Student Christian Council, related units of the National Council of Churches.

Be careful for nothing; but in every good thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made unto God.

North East Community Congregation to Organize

Tomorrow will be known as Charter Sunday to the congregation of the North East Community Church currently worshipping at the Herrington School.

For the past three months plans have been underway to organize and build the new church.

All those who have joined the church including the group Sunday will be charter members.

Following the morning worship hour, a brief congregational meeting will be held for the purpose of formal organization.

All charger members will be eligible to vote. A nominating committee, selected by the pastor, the Rev. Harry B. Schlosser, will present a sltate of candidates for each office to be filled. Voting will be by ballot.

Trustees, class leaders and Sunday School officers will be elected and a set of By-Laws presented for adoption.

The board of stewards to be appointed by the minister, and elected officials will be known as the Church Council.

The council will hold its first meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the manse, 820 Mt. Clemens St. to choose the church treasurer and financial secretary.

Sunday School is held at 10 a.m. each Sunday; worship hour at 11 a.m., youth hour at the manse at 6 p.m. and in the chapel at the manse, a vesper hour is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

A School for Christian Living is conducted every Wednesday at 7:3 p.m. in the manse. While Biblical questions and Scriptural implications are usually considered any subject pertinent to everyday living iwll be discussed.

★ ★ ★

The pastor's subject Sunday will be "I Believe in Man."

Birds Caught in Ice Cause Irish Furor

BELFAST — Three swans and a heron made headlines in Northern Ireland by getting frozen into the ice of a 30-acre lake near Belfast.

The SPCA, the Army and a fire brigade all failed in frantic efforts to free the birds. The Army thought of using flame throwers to melt the ice, but feared they would destroy the birds.

Helicopters were sought to drop food but could not be spared from the vital air-sea rescue service.

The SPCA was about to shoot the birds, to save their suffering, when the swans and heron all wriggled free. Persistent pecking with their strong beaks had broken the ice.

Electronic Mechanism to Aid Eye Research

SYDNEY, Australia — An electronic machine for research into functions of the eye has been designed by members of the Sydney University physiological department. Known as a multi-beam ophthalmoscope, the device was completed after 10 years' work. It can shoot a fine beam of light into a selected part of an eye and trace the reaction of an individual cell or part of a cell.

Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer.

None Hurt as Train Hits Standing Freight

SCHERERVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A long New York Central freight train piled into a parked freight near this northwestern Indiana town early today, derailing nearly three dozen cars and partially blocking traffic on busy U.S. Route 30.

There were no reports of injuries.

State police said crewmen of the idle freight were at a nearby restaurant for a lunch break when the 124-car train rode into it at about 40 miles an hour.

Passenger traffic on the railroad was not affected. The collision occurred on a freight branch line running from Danville, Ill., to Chicago.

Brave Boy Dies Before Surgery

BOSTON (AP)—Nils-Olov Wisell 50 pounds of courage, died last night at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. He had been awaiting a kidney transplant operation.

The 11-year-old freckled-faced youngster from Motala, Sweden, was born with one kidney, which he lost last April when he toppled from a merry-go-round near his home.

A hospital bulletin said Nils' death was due to the inability of his system to accept bone marrow transfusions from his mother. She was to have donated one of her kidneys.

The boy died with his parents at his bedside and his bed surrounded by gifts which had poured in from all over the nation since his admission on July 1.

★ ★ ★

Nils' parents, Oscar, a butcher, and his wife, Margareta, kept vigil at the hospital through most of their son's confinement. Nils was their only child.

★ ★ ★

Funeral service will be held Monday at the Salvation Army Corps auditorium in Boston. Burial for the tousled, tawny-haired lad who wanted to be a cowboy will be in Sweden.

GI From Flint Dies in Alaska Car Mishap

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A Flint, Mich., soldier stationed at Ft. Richardson here was killed yesterday in a one-car accident 59 miles north of Anchorage on the Glenn highway.

Specialist 3. C. Elgin Comstock, 26, of the 24th Ordinance Co. was killed when his car catapulted 120 feet through the air then pitched twice that distance down to the bottom of a steep bank.

A companion escaped injury.

Comstock was the son of Glen Comstock of Flint.

Hungarian Pole Vaults His Way to Freedom

VIENNA (UPI) — A Hungarian escaped across the Iron Curtain to the West by pole vaulting the high electrified barbed wire fence on the Hungarian side of the Austrian-Hungarian frontier, police reported today.

The report said Ferenc Nagy, 42, of Budapest, asked Austrian authorities for political asylum.

Expects Postage Saving

LANSING (AP)—The Secretary of State's office reported today that it still should be able to realize a saving in mail costs this year despite the increase in postal rates.

Total postage costs of the office last year ran up to $258,406, Secy. of State James M. Hare reported.

Re-Elect
DANIEL W. BARRY
as
DRAIN COMMISSIONER

DANIEL W. BARRY

- Graduate Michigan State University
- Experienced Public Administrator
- Native of Royal Oak and life-long resident of Oakland County

Accomplishments Made During My Administration in the Modernized Drain Office

Acquisition of new quarters housing all drain commission functions under one roof which allowed complete reorganization in all departments.

Twelve Towns Relief Drains project has been finalized and placed in Circuit Court now awaiting a decision.

The Drayton Plains Drain and Extension have been repaired thus eliminating a perennial flooding problem on US-10, which had been called the "Dixie Water Hole."

An artificial lake study has been completed by the Drain Commissioner under the direction of the Drain Committee, pointing out the need for legislation in this area.

The "pollution control projects," namely, the Red Run Enclosure and the Southeastern Oakland County Sewage Disposal Extension to be constructed on Dequindre, have been committed to design and their early construction anticipated.

A program of public relations and information has been instituted which insures by means of informative bulletins, that interested municipalities are kept abreast of project development.

Can't Make Ticket Stick

JOHNSON CITY, Ill. (AP) — Johnson City's Mayor K. Neil Thurmond plans to ticket another Chicago and Eastern Illinois train for exceeding the town's 10 m.p.h. speed limit for trains. "We'll just go out and get another train," he said after speeding charges against a C&EI conductor under a 35-year-old ordinance were dismissed. Attorneys argued that the power to limit train speeds is exclusively vested in the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Hollywood Headlines

New Hero Rides to Save Cheyenne Series on TV

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pinch-Hitting in the "Cheyenne" league is a handsome broad-shouldered fellow named Ty Hardin who feels cheated that he missed by six months being a native Texan.

"My dad was working in New York City when I was born there," laments Ty. "But he returned to his home in Texas six months later, and I grew up and went to school there. And I'm mighty proud of it, too."

Ty is subbing for the recalcitrant Clint Walker, who walked out of the "Cheyenne" TV series in a money dispute. Ty is introduced in the first show of the new series as Bronco Layne, who returns to town after the Civil War to find himself considered a traitor. He wins the folks over in the end, of course.

The idea is to keep Bronco as another main character in the series, much as Jim Garner and Jack Kelly alternate as the Maverick brothers. When and if Clint returns, he'll re-assume the role of Cheyenne, playing some chapters with Ty and some alone. If he doesn't come back, Ty will have to carry the load himself.

Warner Brothers couldn't have found a more willing actor.

"I'm happy," Ty beamed. "Clint and I are two different people. I'm always happy—been that way all my life. If I don't like what I'm doing, I get along to something else.

"That's the way it'll be with my acting career. If I don't like it, I'll just go right back to the engineering department at Douglas."

That's where he came from. A football player and engineering student at Texas A. & M., he came west to take a job with the research and development department of Douglas Aircraft Co.

Hunting for a prop gun to carry to a Hallowe'en party, Ty figured he could find one at the Paramount Studio, so he dropped in. Instead of a gun, they gave him a contract and a job in "Space Children."

CASS LAKE HOME — The Carl Woods' took a three-room cottage and turned it into this interesting home. Cement block is used for the exterior with wide areas of glass on the lake side. The room at the front they call the "lake room", while the glass-fronted room at the left is the "lanai" room. Zimmerman Associates of Pontiac were the architects. Robert Chapin of Pontiac did the building. Mrs. Woods is responsible for almost all the gardening.

THE LANAI ROOM — This was once the utility room. Now it is a second living room and a guest room. Walls and ceiling are American elm panels. The ceramic tile floor has a harlequin pattern of turquoise, cream and sandalwood. Shutters and bamboo draperies (on the sliding glass doors out of sight at the left) are turquoise.

Your Neighbor's House

Carl Woods Transform Cass Lake Cottage

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

What was once a small three-room house with an open porch is now a seven-room lakefront home with great areas of glass. It's the pride and joy of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Woods.

Like numerous other Detroit residents, the Woods' spent so much time at their Cass Lake cottage that they finally decided it would be better to make it their year-round residence. This took two years to finish.

Actual building was done in eight months, but the decorating ran into snag after snag. We have been in telephone contact with Mrs. Woods for well over a year and a half.

The white cement block house is placed far back on the palette shaped lot. Mrs. Woods has discovered she has a flair and love for gardening. Since moving out here she has devoted many hours to making her yard a beauty spot.

When you enter the house from the back drive, you go into a skylighted vestibule. The walls are paneled in elm. A shelf mounted on one wall with a mirror above gives a spot for departing guests to check their looks. On the opposite side is a chest to hold boots.

WALL DECORATION

Just beyond this vestibule is a small hallway. This also is floored in slate. Four steps up is the living level; six steps up from that the bedrooms. Down at the left is the recreation room. The upper stair wall is painted with a flower mural.

Across the front of the house is what the Woods' call the lake room. Windows on three sides are curtained in plastic bamboo draperies. The floor is covered with hexagonal tiles in a sandalwood color. Walls are green.

Between the lake room and living room there is a window wall. This can be closed off by pulling draperies hung on brass poles under scalloped valances.

Made of ivory silk, these draperies are hand painted with blue birds, flowers and butterflies. It took many months for the artist to complete 70 yards of this material.

The floor is vinyl tile in beige, brown and orange. Three walls are sandalwood. One is painted with leaves, birds and butterflies. Around the fireplace the wall is completely mirrored.

Since this area of the room is very narrow, the mirror has the effect of broadening it and producing a spacious effect. The hearth is made of bronze tiles.

Furniture is French in an antique white finish. Tables are marble-topped. Two deep cream wing chairs have brocaded lavender cushions. A green silk-covered sofa has a slightly rounded back.

In the dining area the table is walnut, has antique white legs. The antique white chairs have turquoise upholstery.

The wall between kitchen and living room is ribbed glass. It's a yellow kitchen with sandalwood cabinets. Ceramic tile is used for part of the wall and the counter tops. Above is yellow paint. Even the refrigerator is yellow. Instead of curtains, the

'Florida' Ranch Adapts to All Climates

Styled after homes in warmer climates, this modern American ranch has been designed for comfortable, year-round living in any climate.

The architectural theme of the plan, designated X-17 in the House of The Week series, is set in the "Florida room."

This room is a U-shaped area enclosed on three sides by the living room, family-dining room and master bedroom. It is open at the rear.

The Florida room, because of its space and position, lends itself to any number of flexible arrangements and modifications to suit the needs of the owner.

It could start as an open living area, roofed over only where it is bounded by the living room, family-dining room and master bedroom.

The next development toward a complete Florida room would be to enclose the open area at the rear with a wooden frame work. The walls of that portion jutting out from the main area of the house then could be screened in, and the ceiling could be covered with screening, or with palstic or opaque material.

RADIANT HEATING

Simple changes would sufficiently protect the room for use throughout the year in colder climates.

One weatherproofing step, suggested by Architect Samuel Paul who created design X-17, would be to have windows or jalousies permanently installed in addition to the screening.

Further comfort for the winter months could be provided by installing radiant heating coils in the floor slab at the time the house is built.

There is a swimming pool — for the summer months anywhere in the country and for the year round in the warm, sunny climes.

The pool dimensions are 16 by 12 feet but they could be increased for larger families.

The Florida room, located so it can be seen by guests upon entering the house, is only one feature, though, of this plan:

Two plastic domes have been placed in the roof over the family-dining room to bring in soft, diffused natural light. Additionally, there is a well-engineered artificial lighting system.

The kitchen, which opens into the family-dining room, is equipped with the latest conveniences. They include a breakfast bar which can double as a regular bar for the family-dining room, a counter-top range, wall oven, dish washer, double sink and refrigerator.

Located at the front of the house, the kitchen has a large window over the sink which permits a full view of the entrance sidewalk and driveway. Through this window guests, servicemen and vehicles can be seen before the front door is opened.

The laundry is adjacent to the kitchen but separated from it. There is space in the laundry for a closet, pantry, washing machine and dryer.

For the children, the architect has included a large service and play yard at the front. This area is enclosed by a fence yet it can be supervised from the kitchen.

The bedroom wing comprises three bedrooms and adequate closets. The master bedroom has its own private bath with stall shower, double sink, vanity and water closet.

The hall bathroom is equipped with a double sink, vanity, built-in tub and secluded water closet.

The living room is set apart from the rest of the house for more formal entertaining. The living room fireplace could be eliminated in southern areas.

The carport area includes a heater and storage room plus storage space for tools. The carport could be converted into an enclosed garage for colder regions.

Statistics

House of The Week design X-17 has three bedrooms, two baths, living room, family-dining room, kitchen, laundry and Florida room. Its overall dimensions are 65 by 48 feet 9 inches and would fit a plot 85 by 100 feet. There are 1,483 square feet in the living area. The Florida room has an area of 598 square feet and can be built at much less cost per square foot than the living area. The plan calls for slab-on-grade construction without a basement. The swimming pool could be a factory-made, one-piece metal unit.

If Ceilings Are High

In these days of remodeled buildings, the size of the rooms often has been so reduced that the high ceilings seem all out of proportion. Take care of this by extending the color of the ceiling down the side walls in a band of whatever width looks attractive. The ceilings will seem lower.

The number of families owning their own homes increased by two fifths from 1949 to 1957, according to the Federal Reserve Board. Families living in their own homes jumped in that period from 44 to 54 per cent.

A LOT OF ROOF — Enough asphalt shingles to roof a development of about 40 homes — 800 squares, or 80,000 square feet — were applied to this giant storage building in Rossford, Ohio, in one of history's biggest reshingling jobs.

The building, owned by General Mills, Inc., is 650 feet long and is used to store grain and feed products. Asphalt shingles, the roofing material used on most homes in the U. S., were chosen because a previous roof of this material had given long service on the storage building, which is in an exposed location along the Maumee River, where high winds are frequent. The light, mist-gray color reflects heat from the sun.

All Roofs Need Water Drainage

Any practice which plans roof drainage at certain points in a house and neglects other areas does not accomplish the real purpose of providing adequate water drainage from the roof away from the house. The Roof Drainage Manufacturers Institute recommends that all roofs regardless of pitch and overhang be provided with metal gutters and downspouts adequately designed to quick and efficiently remove water from the roof.

In order to get best drainage, gutters must be sloped slightly toward the downspout. The Institute recommends a slope of approximately one inch in sixteen feet. If gutters are not correctly sloped, the possibility of overflow during heavy rain storms is increased. Then again, gutters without adequate slope may hold rain water increasing the possibility of damage by rust to the gutter.

Downspouts should be located at the ends of the gutter and for adequate drainage there should be one square inch of downspout pipe areas (cross section) for each one hundred square feet of roof area.

If you are planning to build a new home, be sure to consult your sheet metal contractor. He will point out the advantages of proper roof drainage and show you the various types of products available to suit every architectural need.

Woods Use Many Modern Materials

What was once the utility room is now the "lanai" room. This is Hawaiian for veranda or porch. The cathedral ceiling and walls are paneled in pre-finished American elm.

Miniature aqua shutters are used in place of curtains at the small window. On the front there are sliding glass doors to the patio. These have turquoise bamboo draperies.

There's a small gray sofa and a larger bed-sofa. This latter is upholstered in turquoise, silver and brown stripe. The floor is vinyl tile in a harlequin pattern of aqua, cream and sandalwood. Excellent use has been made of wall areas under the stairs. Storage cupboards and drawers are concealed.

In the Woods' bedroom there are three separate closets with mirrored doors. Corner windows let a food of light into the room. Walls are sandalwood. The floor is polished oak. Here also the furniture is French in an antiqued white finish.

The guest room is pink and green with gray furniture. Sheer green nylon is used for floor-length draperies. The quilted chintz spread is pink, while the slipper chair is raspberry shade.

There are yards and yards of storage cabinets and closets in the Woods' home. In the bathrooms there's a separate cabinet for cosmetics. In the upstairs hallway there's storage for out-of-season clothing and bedding.

In the garage there is one wall devoted entirely to storage. Out in the yard there are separate gardening storage chests for each of the Woods.'

In the lower level recreation room the walls are paneled in birch. The floor is cork. There is a wall of storage closets with louvered doors. Furniture is informal, white with yellow cushions.

Zimmerman Associates AIA of Pontiac were the architects for the Woods' home. Robert Chapin of Pontiac was the builder.

Wood Miracle Product Says MSU Professor

Wood is taken for granted more than any other building material, says William B. Lloyd, associate professor of Forest Products, State University.

"If a present-day multi-million dollar industry directed its research staff to find the best conceivable raw material for millwork," says Prof. Lloyd, "the project would be unrewarding as that material already has been found, tested, and used for centuries. Wood is the miracle building product."

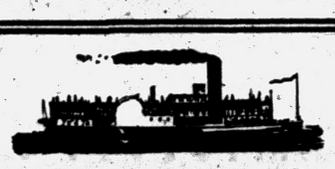

Builders today know how to make basements light and airy. A house with a basement doubles the space of a one-story house at a cost only 10 to 15 per cent greater than for a house built on a slab.

Give Paint Blotter Test

A blotter is a simple tool for determining the color rubber-base paint will be when it is thoroughly dry. Simply apply a smooth coat of paint to a clean white blotter. The blotter absorbs the liquid and leaves only the dry pigment on the surface.

PLYWOOD MODEL — Before Mrs. Arthur P. Mantey of Milwaukee ever set foot in her specially designed house, she knew exactly how it would be. That's because her husband, a factory supervisor, not only planned it but made an exact plywood model so they could visualize changes and improvements. There was plenty to visualize. Getting away from the usual standards, Mantey designed shelves and built-in cabinets to fit his wife's five-foot height.

Dutch Door Keeps Youngsters Safe

Do you worry about the baby tumbling down the upstairs stairway or basement steps? Many mothers work under an unnecessary nervous strain when they must keep one eye on the toddler who likes to crawl around and "inspect" everything.

A safe, ventilated dutch door can eliminate this problem, protect the baby from a bad fall and free Mom for other duties around the house.

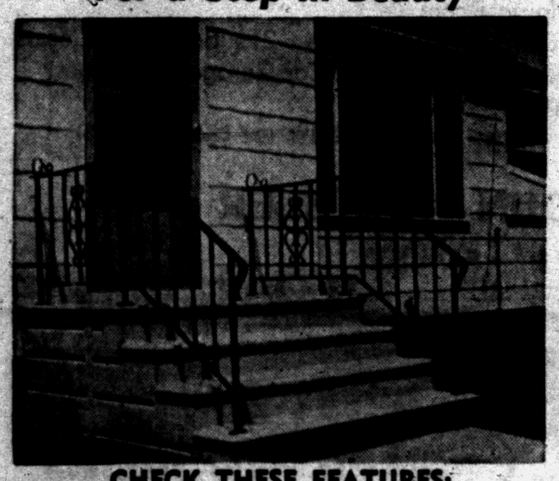

This door can be installed in any doorway simply by hinging a piece of ¼" "Peg-Board" paneling to an auxiliary doorstop. A latch on the stair side is out of the toddler's way but within easy reach of Mom or one of the older children.

The "Peg-Board" panel can be painted, enameled or stained to match or contrast with the surroundings. Small children will soon recognize the arresting color on the barrier and realize that this is the "end of the line."

Turn Card Table into Barbecue Bench

Here's a suggestion for the outdoor chef who's always complaining about the lack of table or work space in his backyard. Drag out that old card table — the one marred by cigarette burns—and re-cover it with one of the bright new decorative materials currently so popular.

The new plastic-coated fabrics are the easiest to apply and they'll "wear" well under almost any weather conditions. One of the best known comes with an adhesive backing which permits you simply to press the new covering into place in a matter of minutes.

Merely cut a piece of the material big enough to cover the entire table surface. Peel off the paper backing and apply the covering. Smooth out any bubbles or wrinkles with your hand or by using a ruler or firm brush.

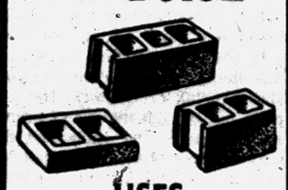

Later, if you get tired of the color, remove the covering and apply another of a fresh pattern or color. It's that easy.

One Story Frame Wins

Nearly all schools built today are one-story — about four out of five for the nation as a whole. West of the Mississippi River, 96 per cent are one-story. Wood frame construction is often used for today's schools because the wood school is economical, attractive and adaptable to changing educational patterns, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

GOLD MEDALLION HOME—Now open daily, this model home on Lake Neva, at 751 Bonita drive in Lakeview Subidvision No. 1, has been awarded the Detroit Edison's Live Better Electrically Award. The house has certified wiring and all electrical equipment, including electrical heat. The exterior of the house is brick and redwood. This is a three-bedroom home with 2½ baths. A recreation room occupies the entire lower level. Arnold Building Company of Detroit constructed the home and will duplicate it for $26,000 on your lot. C. Shuett Realty is handling sales.

Lake Neva Home Captures First Electrical Award

The electrical industry's top tribute, the Gold Medallion, Live Betetr Electrically Award, has been presented by Detroit Edison to the Arnold Building Company for an Oakland county home.

A model home in Lakeview Subdivision No. 1, on Lake Neva, is the first county home to receive this award. It is made for the excellence of the model's wiring, lighting and eletrical equipment and installation of electric heat.

This last is an innovation. Electric radiant baseboard units are controlled by thermostats in each individual room so that temperatures can be varied throughout the house as the occupants wish. The units are painted the same colors as the walls.

There are two cooking stoves in this model home. The one in the kitchen is a counter-top range with separate wall oven. The second stove is in the basement recreation room to facilitate preparation of picnic and party meals.

Throughout the house the lighting plan provides maximum overall illumination with proper light levells in work areas and accent lighting in leisure areas. The recessed fixures in the dining room are operated by a dimmer control so that the homemaker can dramatize her table settinng.

A "hidden asset" of the house is its certified wiring system. It is designed to provide full housepower for present electrical olads with capacity to spare for future addition installations.

The Gold Medallion home is located at 754 Bonita Drive. Drive west on M-59 to Bogie Lake road and south to Biscayne road and east on Biscayne. Grand opening was Friday. The home is now open for inspection daily from 1 to 8 p. m. C. Shuett Realty is handling sales.

Flooring Accents Walls

For something new and attractive in the way of wall treatment, finish one accent wall—or perhaps two walls—of a room with beautiful strip or plank oak flooring. The flooring can be applied horizontally or vertically. In an older home with high ceilings horizontal placement gives the illusion of lower, modern ceiling height.

Loose bridging is one cause of floor squeaks. They should be renailed with the floor screw type of naif. Also, check to see if additional bridging is required.

Floor Structure Serves Physical, Mental Need

A good comfortable floor, says the Southern Pine Association, is an absolutely essential ingredient of home planning. Not only does it take the physical strain off the feet, but it also has a powerful psychological effect on the nerves and the mind.

Easy working and easy walking, the association declares, demand a good balance of resiliency and stiffness in the structure that supports the top flooring material. While invisible from the rooms, the floor structure is the most important part of the entire house. Hence, it warrants prime consideration in initial planning.

Actually, walking comfort is only one of many big responsibilities the floor structure must bear. The biggest is the fact that it must support the weight of the house and all the occupants and contents. This is all the more reason for high quality construction and material in the frame.

Shorter Lengths of Flooring Available

A new styling trend in hardwood floors means long service at a substantial saving. The pattern is created with the use of all short lengths of either Northern hard maple, birch or the variety of oak grown in the Northern producing area. All species will give lasting floor beauty that lends natural warmth to any room in the home.

These short lengths provide the same strength, durability and smoothness as a floor laid with the conventional standard lengths. They are manufactured in identically the same manner as the standard lengths and are accurately side- and end-matched. There is a definite opportunity for double economy at no sacrifice of beauty in using hardwood flooring "shorts." There is the economy of much lower cost and the economy of durable lasting service characteristic of all Northern hardwood flooring.

The "shorts" also will serve your modernization project nicely. Your lumber dealer can supply all species. And remember, in laying these short pieces, the pattern of the floor will reflect an unusually attractiveb lending of mellow tones.

Watch That Color!

If you are intending to paint your front door a pretty shade of blue, watch out that you are not in a Mennonite community. For that sect has the custom of painting the front door with that color to indicate that the family includes a daughter of marriageable age. In such a community the young blades know a blue door is an invitation to come courting.

Step Out of Bathroom to Sun Bathe on Patio

Its origin is probably the Southwest, but the very practical idea (with just enough luxury to it to make it worthwhile) is spreading throughout modern architecture in America.

More and more, the bath and its attendant relaxations are capturing the imaginations of modern homemakers. With a sun-patio adjacent to the bath, heightened pleasure and health are found in a restful, private area where sun, day-dreaming and reading all combine to enhance life at home.

Architects are welcoming the innovation. Bathroom design and materials such as versatile ceramic tile, they've found, can be tastefully extended right out onto the patio. Thus the two areas are integrated in terms of design and use.

Natural earth materials such as ceramic mosaics, or glazed or quarry tile lend both distinction and practicality to the bath and sun-patio. These materials are durable, easy to care for. Because of their vast array of colors, sizes, shapes and textures, real tile variations offer the thoughtful architect a multitude of design opportunities.

Privacy is essential to the sun-patio. Louvre walls of redwood or cypress are top choices. Soft shrubbery increases the feeling of privacy. The ceiling might be a panel-sliding type for weather changes. Ideal, too, is a handy tiled vanity countertop for various personal needs.

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE . . .
Wiring is certified by the Electrical Association of Detroit. Light for Living is approved by Detroit Edison's Home Service Division. You'll find already installed and included in the price of the house: built-in electric range and oven, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and automatic appliance center; automatic washer, electric clothes dryer, 80 gal. electric water heater. Housekeeping was never easier—never before could you have so much time for family and other activities.
FOR YOUR COMFORT . . .
Electrovector baseboard electric heat brings you draft-free, balanced warmth like you've never known before. It's as carefree as an electric light, as easy to set the heat you want as an electric iron. Thermostats in every room let you heat each room just the way you want it without affecting the rest of the house. No dirt, dust, ashes or soot—no annual cleaning and maintenance. Only the summer sun is better than Electrovector for work-free, service-free and full-of-comfort warmth. Insulation by Booth Insulation Co. of Detroit is according to the industry's newest standards. It assures you of efficient heating in winter and greater comfort in summer.

Moldings Once Were Like Weatherstripping

It wasn't always this way. Moldings first were used in much the same way weatherstripping is today — to seal cracks between walls, ceilings and floors against wind and weather.

When modern building techniques made this seal no longer necessary, moldings stayed on, chiefly because they were recognized as a valuable decorating material.

Treated Millwork Resists Weather

Questions and Answers

Pines Give Arizona Its Vacation Land

This stand of ponderosa pine is 20 to 60 miles wide and extends from the Grand Canyon for some 300 miles southeast through central Arizona into New Mexico as far as the Rio Grande.

Corrosion Costs Higher

Fire loss is not the principal hazard to property owners, says the authoritative Building Research Institute. Loss from corrosion of metals is six times greater. In a single year corrosion of metals caused a loss of $5½ billion, compared to only $850 million in fire damage.

Grandpa Knew About 'Airing'

Even though grandpa lacked such niceties — commonplace to us—as mechanical air conditioners, attic fans and other modern devices to keep cool, he knew enough to "air" the attic for comfort in summer and to prevent condensation in winter.

To this day, the Metal Ventilator Institute declares, "airing" the attic has not been displaced as a necessity in home building. It is even required by the Federal Housing Administration for houses under its jurisdiction.

Atics are "aired" today largely by prefabricated scientifically designed ventilators that are installed at best suited locations—as high as possible on the roof or in every gable of a gable type house, or under the eaves in a house with hip roof construction.

Grandpa "aired" the attic by guess, often putting in ventilators too large, too small, improperly placed, or wrongly constructed. Today's builder, contractor, architect, or do-it-yourselfer can determine precisely the sizes and types of ventilators he should install and where, thanks to a scientific chart of ventilator louvre sizes prepared by the M. V. I.

"Airing" or ventilatin, the attic, the M. V. I points out, prevents the accumulation of super-heated air in summer and condensation from warm moisture-laden air in winter, which can cause costly damage.

New Window Unit Speeds Construction

A new window unit of ponderosa pine that comes from the factory with part of the house wall added to it now is available for new homes and remodeling.

Under development and testing for seven years, the new unit fits all types of frame construction. It results in faster, lower-cost construction for builders and home owners alike.

Take Second Look at Summer 'Palace'

Suddenly at this time of year most women at lake cottages realize that they are beginning to resemble a maintenance man in charge of a summer junk yard.

Now is the time to give up that second-hand living with the second-hand-me-downs from your attic, your family's and friends' attics, or the white elephant sales that produce the odds and ends that no one can live with in the city and always find their way to our summer palaces.

Let your summer theme be light and bright, especially in color. Actually, all white walls, when possible, with bright color accents are an exciting change. Try the brightest cool summer colors, the color of blue grass, the sky hues or the crisp colors of a tossed salad.

Forget carpets, if you can, unless you're covering holes in the floor. Use plastic tiles or cork, or what is most often the best, natural wood floors. If they're too shabby, then paint them or stain them. Try possibly to stain the boards in stripes of monotone color.

Roller Soaks Off Paper

Removing old wallpaper is easy if you use a paint roller. Dip the roller in warm water and run it up the wall section by section, peeling off the paper before it can dry. The roller wets the paper evenly and without the dripping of a cloth or sponge.

APARTMENT TOOL CHEST—When the apartment handyman wants to spend an evening in his home workshop, he simply removes his portable workbench and tool rack from its storage place in a closet, sets them up on a table, and goes to work.

Beveled Siding Adds Beauty

Redwood beveled siding offers many advantages to the home-owners planning to add a room, remodel, or build a new dwelling. It is easy to put in place, retains tight joints, and remains free from warping. Aside from genral siding use, redwood is ideal for gable ends, or as trim in combination with brick, stucco or stone.

Note that redwood beveled siding offers many long-term money saving advantages to the home owner. It is outstanding as a paintable surface and has no match among other woods in paint retention properties. The open cellular structure and low shrinkage factor of redwood help to maintain a strong bond between the wood and the finish film. Also, there are no oils or resins in redwood to weaken the film.

Redwood is durable, has high strength in relation to weight, and resists insects and decay.

Simpson redwood beveled siding is machine finished on one side and has a resawn surface on the other. The latter is for those who prefer a rustic look.

Attention, Vets You May Get GI Home Loan

Veterans of World War II may know that they have two more years—until July 25, 1960—to apply for GI loans under the Veterans Administration guaranty program.

Lloyd H. Jameson, manager of the VA Regional Office in Detroit, said the extension is authorized by Public Law 83-364.

Mr. Jameson said, however, World War II veterans may not know the July 25, 1960 deadline for guaranteed loans means that VA must receive the lender's loan guaranty application by that date.

VA has up to one year after July 25, 1960, for processing GI loan applications received before that date, he said.

The 1960 deadline does not apply to VA-guaranteed loans to Korean conflict veterans, who have until January 31, 1965, to use that benefit, Mr. Jameson pointed out.

Want to Lower Ceiling? It's a Simple Task

Bringing a high ceiling down to the modern level of eight to nine feet above the floor is a simple task for the do-it-yourself handyman with a new flanged-type acoustical ceiling tile.

High ceilings conflict with modern wall cabinets, windows and overall decor. They are uneconomical since the unused space is costly to heat, and are difficult to clean. Converting ceilings to popular height is easily done and is a low-cost project with Forestone wood-fiber acoustical ceiling tile. Enough for a 10x12 foot ceiling costs only about $31.

Forestone has a textured surface and absorbs up to 70 per cent of the noise that strikes it. This decorative tile comes in 12"x24" tiles, center-scored, with tongue and groove and a flanged edge for error-free installation.

Here's how the installation is done:

First nail a horizontal 2x4 ribbon on opposite sides or walls. Nails should penetrate well into studs for sturdiness. A carpenter's level should be used to make certain ribbons are level.

Next cut 2x6 joists to length and notch the ends so the top of the joist—the top two inches—fits over the ribbon. Place one joist against one wall and space the others 16 inches apart. Nail joists securely to the ribbon.

Space furring stripe—1x2—on 12" centers and nail to the bottom edges of the new joists. Then nail or staple the Forestone to the furring strips.

There you have it—a beautiful new ceiling that can be painted or left in the pre-finished ivory white shade. Heating bills will be less and you'll find that the entire room will take on new loveliness and usefulness. And that noise reduction provided by the wood-fiber acoustical tile will be a great comfort.

The home handyman can purchase Forestone from lumber dealers. It is also available from acoustical contractors who provide professional installation.

Tool Chest Can Go in Apartment

The apartment dweller with a yen for a fix-up hobby need be frustrated no longer for lack of a workbench. Instead, he can use a table—even the dining room table! This goes for the home owner, too, if he's cramped for space.

He needs, in addition to the table three items: A protective cover for the table surface, a sound-deadener in the interests of apartment building "quiet" regulations, and a portable tool board that serves also as a storage chest.

To protect the table surface, he can cover it with a panel of Masonite Tempered Presdwood, a smooth, quarter-inch-thick material so tough it's used in factories for workbench tops. So it will stay in position while the m a n-of-the-apartment hammers or saws away on some fix-up project, a rectangle of 1x3 inch lumber should be added to form an underneath perimeter.

As padding, which will keep the peace and prevent damage to the table top, he can nail to the underneath framework of his portable workbench an old quilt or blanket.

The tool chest, very modern and functional, consists of three wooden frames, each constructed of 1 by 3-inch lumber. The center frame is 3' wide and 28" high; the end frames, which are hinged to the center one and serve as doors, are 18" wide. As the bac of each section, the craftsman installs a piece of "Peg-Board," a perforated hardboard panel available at lumber yards. At the same supply source, he can select metal fittings which fit into any of the holes and hold his tools.

Choose From Color Card

Your paint dealer has a card showing the latest range of colors available in modern paints. As long as you are painting you may as well treat yourself to a new color scheme and give the whole family a lift. If you are mixing colors, be sure to stir and stir and stir. An inexpensive stirrer in a drill makes stirring easier, and results smoother. DON'T USE WITH ENAMELS OR VARNISHES!

Second Growth Pine Can Stand Up to First

When Captain John Smith landed at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1608, he found stretched out ahead as far as the eye could see, miles upon miles of virgin southern pine. Many of these forest giants were hundreds of years old and of breathtaking diameter and height. The very impressiveness of their dimensions and numbers launched lumbering in the United States that same year—350 years ago.

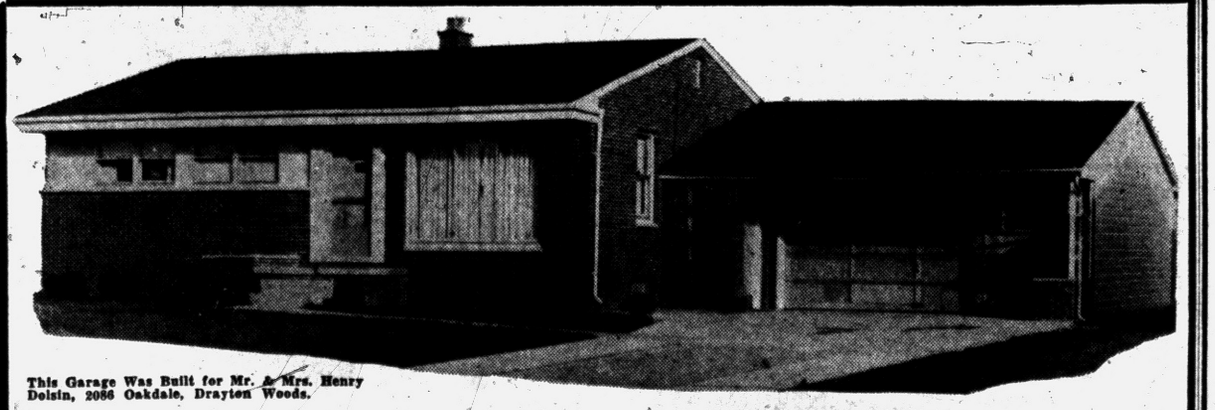

During the 3½ centuries, southern pine lumber manufacture has been in constant progress, and with the gradual disappearance of the virgin forests, a new concept has emerged. The estimated 36 billion southern pine trees in existence today are, of course, largely second growth specimens whose height and girth seldom match the dimensions of the old virgin timber.

But second rate doesn't mean second class. In fact, the Southern Forest Experiment Station, an agency of the U. S. Forest Service, reports that present second growth southern pine is every bit as strong as the famous original growth timber that built Mount Vernon and other national shrines.

Tigers Back in Second Place Contention

Harris Provides Scoring Punch in 3-1 Victory

Two-Run Homer Key Blow as Moford Wins 2nd

DETROIT (UPI) — Gail Harris, the only left handed hitter in the lineup, boosted the Tigers back into contention for first place among the also rans last night.

Southpaw Jack Harshman proved no puzzle to Harris. Harshman had a string of 20 scoreless innings going against the Tigers and had two down in the first when Al Kaline singled. Harris followed with a blast to the upper right field stands.

It was No. 10 for the swarthy Californian — and half of them came against the Birds. Only four other Tigers have homered against Baltimore this season for a total of nine.

Moford was in trouble only once. That came in the fourth when the Orioles scored their lone run. Al Pilarcik doubled and Bob Nieman rifled a single to center between Noford's legs. But Nieman, trying to steal second, was thrown out.

Since being pulled from the bullpen, Moford has started and finished three games, winning two and losing one to Baltimore by a 2-1 margin. He's given up only four earned runs in 27 innings as a starter.

Breaks 973x975 Targets

World Mark for Eddie Brown

By H. GUY MOATS

Two world skeet shooting records were written into the National Skeet Shooting Assn. books yesterday. Both were compiled by Michigan shooters.

Most spectacular was the astonishing string of 973 targets out of 975 shots, collected by 13-year-old Eddie Brown, youngest of three skeet-shooting Birmingham youngsters. Eddie went 100 straight in Friday's all-gauge to be among nine who made it 200 straight for the two days of the championship windup, that ends today.

The other record was set by the Michigan Wreckers, a five-man team that included the current high-over-all leader, young Ken Sedlecky of Baldwin, now down only 10 in 500. The quintet broke 499 "birds" of a possible 500, all but Ains Borsum of Baldwin "going straight." Others on the team are retiring NSSA prexy Chesley (Chet) Crites and Howard Confer of Detroit, and Larry Smith of Birmingham. Former world's mark for a single team round was 495. They have a current total of 492-499 for 991.

Eddie's record string includes 225 in 20-gauge, plus his consecutive runs in all-gauge and shootoffs. Eddie yesterday won the junior 20-gauge title in a shootoff with Miner Cliett of Alabama, held over from Wednesday. "That's good for a world record for any shoot" commented veteran skeet writer, Jimmy Robinson of Sports Afield.

Eddie is in the thick of the tight battle for all-gauge and high-over-all world crowns, along with Sedlecky, Ben DiIorio of California (11 down in 500). He looks like a shoo-in for the junior title as well. Brown has 487, Ken 490, DiIorio 489, Alex Kerr, 488, in the all-gauge totals.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Betty Myers of Massachusettes paced the women with 100-98—198; with 14-year-old Kathy McGinn of Texas close with 196; Dave Yaeger of Anoka, Minn. still led the pros with 98-100—198. Hal Myers-Dave Crosby (Mass.), Crites-Confer (Detroit led the two-man teams with 200-196 and 197-200 respectively.

Yesterday's top shooters:

200s (two days) — Eddie Brown, M. Sgt. Hal Myers, Westover AB Mass.; Jack Pattyn, Detroit; C. A. McDowell Jr., Shreveport, La.; J. H. Sammis, Peoria, Ill.; John Dalton, Salisbury, Md.; Franklin Swengel, Wheaton, Ill.; George Notte, Irvington, N. J. and Milton Terrill, Fresno, Calif.

Michigan scores — Leland, Bill Jr. Brown (B'ham) 97s; R. Z. (Junior, senior) Zimmerman, Birmingham 94, 95; Bob Thiefels, Pontiac, 99; George, Bob Webster, Birmingham, 91, 96; Florence Schmidt, Center Line; Sam Schmidt, Ferndale 97; Len Moody, Flint 95; Fred Farah, Flint, 90; F. A. Rose, Ferndale 94; R. Van Driesen, Eagle 94; L. Armstron, Detroit 99; Steve Cory Allen Park 90; Ed Richcreek, Detroit 95; Marion Shields, Grand Rapids 97; Rex Devall, Otsego, 97; Curt Smith, Detroit 96; Herman Bednar, Detroit 90; Sam Cardona, Detroit 90; Marvin Fabris, Detroit 92; Dave Nyman, Grand Rapids 97; P. Pezzain, Detroit 90; Jay Ruehlow, Allen Park 91; L. D. Chamberlain, Kalamazoo 94; Ed Sedlecky, Baldwin 97; Bob Moore, Muskegon 99; W. Schneider, Reed City 97.

RECORD-MAKERS — Two leaders, and two record-makers in the World Skeet Championships at OCSC, yesterday, stopped for a chat after the firing had ended for the day. Eddie Brown, sensational 13-year-old Birmingham lad, (left) set a 973 in 975 (450 straight) world mark going into today's final 50 targets. He was only three back of the all-gauge (high-over-all) leader, 18-year-old Ken Sedlecky of Baldwin (right) who had 490 starting today's finale. Ken was a member (hit 100) of the 5-man Michigan team that yesterday set a world's record for one round shooting.

SPORTS

Lions Not Impressive in 1st Scrimmage

"There were good points and bad points, but mostly bad points," the cautious coach said.

Trying to pin him down to something more definite, Wilson was asked just what he didn't like.

"No one did an outstanding job," he said after the 90-minute workout yesterday that capped the Lions' first full week of training with only two weeks to go before the College All-Star game at Chicago.

"The only thing I can say that was really good was the weather—it wasn't too hot or too cold," Wilson said.

There were four legitimate touchdowns in the session. Linebacker Joe Schmidt scored the defensive team's lone TD on a 20-yard pass interception.

One switch, caused by injuries and the absence of veteran Dave Middleton who still is in medical school, found defensive ace Jack Christiansen on the offensive side of the line.

Balding Jim Doran was the top pass catcher with seven receptions for an unofficial 147 yards. Webb, in four carries, gained 75 yards, including one 61-yard run. Johnson had 60 yards in nine tries. Lewis picked up 56 in nine attempts.

Bobby Layne completed nine of 14 passes for 171 yards and had two intercepted, while Tobin Rote hit on five of 13 for 144 yards and had three intercepted.

Layne reported his injured ankle was swollen and tender after the drill. "Whenever I'm on it for a long while, it swells up," said Bobby of the ankle which was fractured and dislocated last December. Dr. R. A. Thompson, team physician, calls the swelling a natural reaction and indicates he may prescribe whirlpool baths to speed the recovery.

Jerry Reichow suffered a slight concussion in the bruising workout. He bumped his head against the ground while being tackled. The injury scotched plans to try him at quarterback in the scrimmage. He'll probably be out of action until Monday.

Wilson cut rookie halfback Frank Destino from the squad. Destino, 23rd draft choice from South Carolina, was seeking a job in the offense backfield. His departure reduced the squad to 45.

Six Games Open Softball Playoffs Here Tomorrow

City softball playoffs are set to start Sunday and junior baseball playoffs Monday as the result of pairings made last night by the sponsoring Pontiac Parks & Recreation Dept.

Six softball contests will get things rolling tomorrow featuring the Elks-Birmingham Class A battle at Beaudette at 6:45 p.m. UAW vs. Stadium Inn in a 6:45 "B" tilt at North Side. Class C play will have Pontiac Police and American Legion meeting at Beaudette and Deni's Corner vs. Merchants at North Side, both at 5 p.m.

Class D action will have Pontiac Post Office meeting the Moose nine at Beaudette and the Ramblers against O'Neil Realty at North Side, both at 8:30 p.m.

The Class A winner will meet the VFW Monday at Beaudette at 8 and the "B" victor will play Blue Star Monday at North Side at 8 with play continuing through Thursday in each class under the double knockout plan. Rained out games will be held the next day.

Lytell & Colgrove plays Birmingham and Don Nicholie takes on Cranbrook to start the Class D baseball playoffs Monday at 5:30 p.m. at Jaycee Park. International winner Welden's gained the Midget playoffs yesterday by whipping NL king Harkless, 14-2.

Jerry Taylor slammed a homer and two singles to lead Shaw's to a Class A baseball win over Griff's while the Pontiac Boys Club got only two hits but bested Pontiac Business Institute 4-3 in "B."

In Class D, Pontiac Boys' Club downed Oxford 5-3, Cranbrook edged Lake Orion 3-2, Nicholie nipped West Bloomfield 5-4 and Birmingham won by forfeit on the final day. Auburn Heights tripped PBC 9-5 in Class F, Eastside trampled the Buffaloes 14-5 and grand slams by Glen Shook and Dan Baker led the Tigers to a 29-8 win over the Little Braves in Widget play.

NEW ROLE — Herb Morford has assumed a new role with the Tigers. His 3-1 conquest of Baltimore last night was his 3rd complete game and 2nd victory as a starter since leaving the bullpen.

AL Head Favors Changing Rules

Most Officials Oppose Idea of Using Same Sub Twice in Game

By The Associated Press

The proposal of American League president Will Harridge that baseball rules be amended to permit use of the same substitute player twice during one game didn't receive much support among major league officials yesterday.

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick was not available for comment but NL prexy Warren Giles said "the plan has no appeal to me."

Cleveland general manager Frank Lane called the idea drawn up by ex-player Lew Fonseca "horrible." He said the plan to allow departed players to return after being out an inning would complicate play and make games longer.

Birdie Tebbetts, Cincinnati manager, said the plan "doesn't sound good." Yank boss Casey Stengel also rejected the proposal saying all the game needs is "more good players."

★ ★ ★

One of the few interested when told of the idea was John McHale, Tiger GM. "It certainly merits study. Any changes which might make the game more interesting fo the fans should be thoroughly studied."

Braves Move Ahead by 2, Yankees 16½

By United Press International

Each time San Francisco's optimistic Giants send up a trial pennant balloon, the Braves promptly stick a pin in it.

That was pretty much he case last night when the Braves cut short all World Series talk among the Giants by defeating them, 4-2, to take a two-game lead in the National League race.

Lew Burdette struck out eight en route to his 10th victory although Don McMahon had to help him out in the ninth inning when the Giants mustered their final threat.

Los Angeles raked four pitchers for five runs in the ninth inning to come from behind and beat Cincinnati, 6-2. Do Hoak's error made three of the five runs unearned. The Dodgers fashioned their rally five singles, Hoak's error and a sacrifice fly.

Ronnie Kline turned in a fine four-hit, effort in leading the Pirates to a 2-0 win over the Cardinals. Rookie Bob Mabe, who suffered his fourth straight loss, matched Kline until two were out in the eighth. Then singles by Roberto Clemente, Dick Stuart, Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski produced Pittsburgh's two runs and Kline's 11th triumph.

Rocky Colavito's home run hitting helped the Cleveland Indians run their winning streak to six games as they beat the Boston Red Sox twice, 7-1 and 3-1.

Jim Lemon smashed out two homers and a pair of singles to pace Washington to a 10-4 decision over Kansas City. The homers were Lemon's 21st and 22nd and teammate Roy Sievers contributed his 27th, all of the blows coming off rookie Bob Davis, who suffered his second loss. Pedro Ramos held the A's to seven hits and was credited with his ninth victory.

LL in District Final; Ruth Tourney Starts

Walled Lake and the Birmingham Americans won the right to clash for the Little League District 4 championship today with impressive victories yesterday. Jim Hughes fired a no-hitter as the Lakers blanked Southfield's Americans 8-0 while Tom Angell scattered five hits while garnering four himself to lead the Birmingham Americans over the city's Nationals in semifinal contest at Birmingham yesterday.

Southfield regional winner Northwest Detroit eliminated Rogers City 10-1, Kalamazoo dumped Ypsilanti 7-3, Grosse Pointe Woods took Port Huron 6-1 and Ecorse Township won by the same score over Iron Mountain in the open round of the state Babe Ruth tourney at Ypsi Friday.

15 Quarter-Midget Races Set Sunday

Sunday will be an official point day for area quarter-midget race drivers as they take part in 15 races at the Miracle Mile track on Telegraph near Square Lake Rd.

A 20-lap feature for drivers in the 12-to-15 age group will headline the program which will include drivers as young as 4.

The action starts at 2 p.m. on the tenth of a mile bank track. A total of 80 boys and girls will compete in the midget racers in the midget racers before the afternoon is over.

There is no admission charge to watch the program. It will be sponsored by the Wolverine One-quarter Midget Club.

Water Ski Test Gets Under Way

First action looking towards Michigan water ski championships began this morning at Lake Sherwood, near Milford. More than 100 of the state's most proficient exponents of one of the fastest growing water sports started a two-day program of races, jumping and slalom events. All but one of the Michigan Water Ski Assn. defending champions were on hand.

★ ★ ★

Qualifications were held yesterday and finals take place Sunday afternoon.

Exhibitions of trick skiing by world champion Ken Tibado of Tampa, Fla., today and Sunday at noon, plus water safety demonstrations add to the full program of events.

★ ★ ★

3 Bay City Children Killed as Train Knifes Through Auto

By United Press International

A New York Central special passenger train knifed through a car at a Woodland crossing near Alger in Aranac County last night killing three persons and seriously injuring five others.

In addition, another train-vehicle crash, and two other collisions took the lives of seven others last night and early today.

Dead in the Aranac County crash were Arlene Matusczyweski, 13; her brother Thomas, about 12 and 13-year-old Sharon Bushong—all of Bay City.

Near Ashland, Ohio, four members of a Mt. Clemens family were killed and another critically injured when their car struck a truck at the intersection of U.S. 250 and U.S. 224. Dead were Louis G. Alexander, 30, his wife, Dorothy, 29, and two of their daughters, Lois, 8 and Georgia, 7.

Another train mishap early today killed 24-year-old Mary Jean Teasel of Wyandotte. The woman was riding as passenger on a motorcycle on the Dixie Highway in Monroe County when a train suddenly loomed out of the fog.

The cycle ground to a sudden halt but Miss Teasel was thrown into the Detroit-Toledo shoreline freight. She was killed immediately.

★ ★ ★

The final two fatals occurred in a two-car, headon collision on M15 about four miles south of Vassar. The dead were Catherine Humphrey, 12, Lincoln Park and 35-year-old Robert McTaggart of rural Vassar.

Thief Takes $64,000 in Cash Orders

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit got a couple lessons in how to steal money yesterday and, ironically, the crook who did the quietest work got the most loot.

★ ★ ★

Three quick moving gunmen held a dozen employes and 15 customers at bay in a suburban branch office of the National Bank of Detroit, spent three minutes there while going through six tellers cages, and escaped seconds before police raced up.

They got $7,384.

But the big haul of the day was the $64,000 in negotiable money orders lifted from an American Express Co. official's car. The money was packed in a small valise in a car parked in Harvey Daniels drive. Daniels, 38, was to deliver the order blanks to banks and various businesses.

Police said the thief may have been a narcotics addict and thought the valise was a doctor's instrument pouch before opening it.

Police said the thief had found a suit-case containing another $200,000 in the order blanks but for some reason did not take them.

Say Booster Shots Didn't Kill Soldier

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (AP) — Medical booster shots had nothing to do with the death of an Army recruit who collapsed from heat prostration here this week, say hospital authorities at this Army post.

★ ★ ★

They said last night that an autopsy showed Pvt. Hobart L. Brinsmade Jr., 21, of Bronxville, N.Y., died Thursday of a heat stroke, with meningococcus as a contributory cause.

★ ★ ★

Hospital authorities said the autopsy on Brinsmade showed that miningococcus, the bacteria that causes a form of spinal meningitis, was present in the blood stream prior to immunization Brinsmade received upon entry into the service.

Today's 2-Minute Mystery

Case of One Man's Error

By DONALD J. SOBOL

"Julie Webster worked at the Chico Club on Brown street as a cigarette girl. Apparently she had one boy friend too many," said Inspector Winters.

"Start at the beginning," requested Haledjian.

"Julie shared an apartment with two girls a block from the club. Last night at 8:30 she told the bartender she was going there for a few minutes. She'd got a run in one stocking, she said, and wanted to change. The bartender warned her to wear a coat. She wasn't exactly dressed for the street.

"Julie walked west from the club, though her apartment was east. At the corner of Seventh and Vine, she passed Martin Grady.

Inspector Winters opened the door of his office and had Grady brought in. "Tell Dr. Haledjian what you saw last night," he ordered.

"First, I saw this babe," said Grady. "It was a hot night, but not hot enough to be dressed like that. She minced right by me, dressed in tight-fitting shorts, low-cut top, black mesh stocking, and shiny shoes that had heels maybe six inches high."

Grady licked his lips nervously. "I followed her till she turned and told me to get lost. I hurried ahead, but after three blocks looked back. She was waiting by an alley.

"Five minutes later a man, his face shaded by a hat, strolled up and they went into the alley arm in arm. I heard her scream. When I reached the spot, the man had run off. Her clothes were in shreds, and she died without speaking."

"Sometimes," said Haledjian, "clothing makes the man. And sometimes it undoes him."

WHAT DID HALEDJIAN MEAN?

Julie Webster was a flirt who walked on the streets in a scanty cigarette girl costume and met a man in an alley. But wasn't silly enough to duck out of the club on the excuse ascribed to her.

Haledjian suspected the bartender, who made up the reason for Julie's departure, had met and killed her because of jealousy. Julie was wearing black mesh stockings. Only a man wouldn't realize mesh stockings don't get runs.

Dog Rescues Mistress From Orion House Fire

By LAOMA SANFORD

LAKE ORION—"Boy," a three-year-old boxer took the role of a fighter yesterday when he insisted on pawing at his mistress to awake her from an afternoon nap on the living room couch while her home was being reduced by flames to a blackened shell.

As soon as Mrs. Robert Erickson 32, of 411 Lake St., awoke, following Boy's pleas she rushed to the back door only to find it surrounded in flames.

On her way back through the living room with Boy following close behind, Mrs. Erickson took time to take her bird in its cage and rush out the front door to the next door neighbor's the home of the Fred Caldwells, to call the fire department.

Cause of the flames which destroyed the two story home was defecting wiring in the kitchen, according to Dexter Kowalaski, assistant fire chief.

The furniture was insured but an estimate of damage and the insurance on the building owned by Claude Elkington of Florida have not been determined.

Quick action on the part of the Lake Orion and Oxford fire departments is credited with the saving of the Cadlwell home which was heated by the spreading flames.

★ ★ ★

Charge Pontiac Man in Attempted Murder

ST. CATHERINE, Ont. — A 29-year-old worker from Pontiac has been charged with attempted murder here following a fight in an apartment building last night.

According to police, the two men and their wives came to St. Catherine several days ago and obtained work with a local firm. The two couples then moved into an apartment together.

★ ★ ★

Friday night, Fisher and McGregor were said to have quarreled and had a fight. Fisher and his wife left the apartment and returned later in the evening, only to renew the fight.

It was in the second encounter, which police said took place on the second floor landing in front of the apartment, that Fisher was injured.

Prisoner Good as Houdini?

MANISTEE (UPI) — Sheriff Harry Holmgren today told how he patiently sat in his office in the Manistee County Jail and waited while Charles E. Hanna, the confessed killer of Ludington policeman Arlo Slagle, tried to escape.

Holmgren heard Hanna loudly banging away at something in his cell but he "awsn't worried" because there were three more cell doors to go, even if Hanna got out of his own.

★ ★ ★

Holmgren was, however, surprised when he finally went in to see how far Hanna had gotten.

That happened Thursday night, Holmgren said, and today he had a new 60-foot steel chain for his jail that cost him $29.

What worried Holmgren most about Hanna's exploits was the ease with which he opened the cell lock. The chain was to secure the other cell doors — including the door to the second cell Holmgren now has Hanna in.

"If that guy gets out of this he can stay out," Holmgren said.

Holmgren said he hasn't bothered to put the leg irons and handcuffs back on Hanna "because it wouldn't do any good anyway."

"I heard him banging away at something and I let him go on because I wanted to see how good my jail is. It was amazing, that guy is a regular Houdini," he said.

★ ★ ★

Hanna is due to be arraigned in Circuit Court Wednesday for killing Slagle, who was trying to arrest him for involvement in a tavern brawl in Ludington July 20. Slagle was shot at close range with the revolver Hanna had concealed in his belt.

He stole a car after the shooting and four days afterwards was arrested in Valdosta, Ga.

2 Persons Injured in Four-Car Pileup

A four-car pileup in the early morning hours today was blamed on the fog by the drivers involved. Two persons were injured in the accident at Oakland and Pershing streets at 3:30 a.m.

John Chicha Jr., 33 of Detroit, told police he did not see a red traffic light because of the fog and struck the car of Charles E. Robinson, 29, of Detroit.

While Chicha was checking the damage, another car, driven by Leo A. Gabriel 34, of 6510 Manson, Waterford Township, came along and struck Chicha's car despite his attempts to flag it down with a flashlight.

Shortly afterwards a car driven by Ray D. McNally, 21, of 2235 Mt. Royal St., Waterford Township, came along and slammed into Gabriel's car.

Gabriel was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with possible fractures of the right arm and leg. Chicha was treated for abrasions of the head and released.

Milton Eisenhower Returns From Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Milton Eisenhower, back from a 20-day tour of Latin America, says "the vast majority" of the leaders and peoples there are firm friends of the United States.

But at the same time the President's brother sounded a "note of urgency" in unveiling a three-point program designed to bind this country and its southern neighbors closer together.

Political Wars Possible in '61

Reshuffling of State's Congressional Districts Would Cause Hassle

A knock-down, drag-em-out fight is anticipated in the Legislature if a U.S. Census Bureau forecast comes true.

The bureau believes that in 1961 Michigan will be awarded two more seats in Congress and it will be up to the Legislature to redistrict Michigan's congressional areas.

Genesse County might well be the beneficiary of the second added seat in 1961 since its growth has paralleled Macomb's during the past 10 years.

But political experts in Lansing point out that long standing changes in population may force a complete reshuffling of districts in the state. Congressional districts now vary in population from 173,000 to over 600,000.

Stop Payment on Checks, Bonds Stolen in Troy

TROY — Payment has been stopped on six United States savings bonds of $25 each and 22 pay checks, ranging from $41 to $248, which were stolen yesterday from a factory here, according to Troy police.

The bonds and checks were stolen sometime early yesterday morning from the Jentzen-Miller Company, 585 Stephens Super Highway.

Police said that the payroll checks dated August 1 are drawn on the Troy branch of the Wayne Oakland Bank. Thieves broke a glass in the front door of the factory to gain entrance.

Fewer Jobless Now as Plants Reopening

WASHINGTON (AP) — Renewed activity by plants which had shut down for summer vacations is credited with reducing unemployment claims to the second lowest point of the year.

The number of workers receiving jobless benefits for the week ended July 19 dropped by 72,100 to 2,535,300, the Labor Department said yesterday. The 1958 low was 2,551,700 for the week ended June 28.

New claims for compensation, representing new layoffs, fell 32,500 to a toal of 318,700 for the week ended July 26. That figure just about matches the new claims reported before the temporary plant shutdowns began.

News in Brief

Honario Ramirez., Jr., 21, of 404 Franklin Rd., pleaded guilty today to drunk driving. Judge Maurice E. Finnegan sentenced him to 10 days in jail and a $100 fine.

Burglars entered the Apostolic Church of Christ, 458 Central St., and stole an undetermined amount of money from the pulpit receiving box, it was reported yesterday to Pontiac police.

Wins $5,000 Award

BALTIMORE (AP) — Patrolman Donald Hundertmark, 38, wounded three times while preventing a July 24 bank robbery in downtown Baltimore, has a $5,000 check from the bank. The reward was presented to Hundertmark by Fidelity-Baltimore National Bank officials. Other police arrested Ernest L. Myers, 33. He is being held in $55,000 bail.

PAST, PRESENT — Former National Skeet Shooting Assn. prexy, Chesley (Chet) Crites of Detroit (left) holds a conversation with the new head of the world's top skeet organization, F. Stuart Molson of Montreal, Quebec at OCSC. Molson is the new owner of the NHL Montreal Canadiens, backs the Canadian Open golf tourney, is, and has been a NSSA director. He is also head of a big Canadian brewing firm.

Delays Vote on Sports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate antimonopoly subcommittee yesterday put off till 1959 action on the antitrust law exemptions for which baseball, football, basketball and hockey have campaigned the last two years.

★ ★ ★

By a 4-2 vote, the group headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) tabled a House-passed bill to relieve professional team sports of antitrust curbs on contracts and agreements dealing with players and territorial or TV-radio rights.

The effect was to kill the legislation for this session of Congress which is expected to wind up in about two weeks.

Claims Blaze Arson at Farm in Orion

ORION TOWNSHIP — Arson was the cause of the fire which began in a straw stack yesterday on the Abe Deering Farm, 3695 Miller Rd., according to George Schick, Lake Orion fire chief.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The fire department, in halting the flames before they spread to a barn just 50 feet away, had to tear down the entire stack before the fire was extinguished.

July Car Output Third Under '57

GM Turns Out 203,023; American Motors Has Only Increase

July auto production was down 38 per cent for the Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler —compared with the same period last year.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Some comparative figures for July given by GM were: Chevrolet, 111,191 vs. 138,620; Pontiac, 16,490 vs. 26,089; Oldsbile, 23,292 vs. 26,371.

★ ★ ★

Dag Rushes Plans for Top-Level Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold rushed arrangements today for a top-level U.N. Security Council meeting on the Middle East just in case Soviet Premier Khrushchev picks up his option to attend.

★ ★ ★

Some delegates were doubtful Hammarskjold could work out the diplomatic housekeeping details by President Eisenhower's target date of Aug. 12. Where it would be was still an open question.

★ ★ ★

The Council appeared likely to meet about the middle of next week to act on U.S. and British requests for an Aug. 12 summit meeting within the Council.

Hero Charged for Courage at British Pool

"Certainly, sir," replied the attendant, "but you'll have to purchase a ticket first. That'll be a shilling (14 cents)."

There are more than 35 million non-professional camera fans in the U. S. who spend more than $450 million each year for supplies and new kinds of equipment.

It's Time for TV Changes; Critic Figures It All Out

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — I've been looking over the tentative fall schedules of the three networks and I find they contain the usual fare—Westerns, situation comedies, quizzes.

Frankly, the situation disturbs me. But I don't think the season has to fall into the same old rut—a few new program ideas would fix things up fine. In the interests of better programming, therefore, I have compiled the following possible formats for TV shows next semester:

"THE PLACES SHOW" — I see this as a one-man assisted by one-atlas type show. The idea is for him to call out places—Minneapolis; Detroit; Tiffin, O.; Chavez Ravine; Kanda Kanda, Belgian Congo—and then let the studio audience applaud. That's all.

"THE AWARDS SHOW" — An entry that would take care of all the trophies, plaques, medals, statues, certificates, ribbons, decorations, garlands, crowns, citations, honors, titles, cups, saucers and gold records ordinarily bestowed upon performers each week on their own programs.

"THE COMING ATTRACTIONS THEATER"—This one would be a drama show made up of all those scenes played at the end of "Playhouse 90," "Climax" and "Studio One" that capsulize what's coming up the following week. They're usually the best part of the upcoming script anyhow.

"THE PLUG SHOW"—In which stars would parade on stage to puff their latest movies, books, plays and to make jokes about commercial products that aren't their sponsor's. I see Bob Hope as emcee.

"THE SUPER-EGGHEAD SHOW" — Italian and Japanese movies with French titles.

"THE POSTCARD SHOW"—A once-a-month entry in which all the home participation quizzes like "The Price Is Right," "Dot-to" and "Treasure Hunt" select a viewer to whom they can send all their used postcards.

"THE BREAK-UP SHOW"—Helen Traubel roaring at Eddie Fisher who has muffed his lines after watching Steve Allen giggle when Sid Caesar coughed as a result of Frank Sinatra mumbling under his breath in Italian because Patti Page forgot the words to an introduction. I should explain that it was all caused by Perry Como who misread his cue cards.

"THE STARS STRIKE BACK SHOW"—In which TV critics poke their heads through a 21-inch hole while performers throw typewriters at them. I see this as a spectacular.

He's in Higher Class

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Edgar Leo Ruble, 37, Oklahoma bootlegger, got out of the $20 class when sentenced to 90 days after admitting trying to transport 57 cases of liquor into Oklahoma. Ruble has a record of 75 arrests for illegal possession of liquor in Oklahoma City. In each case he had been fined $20.

Two City Firemen Given Promotions

Fire Chief John F. Schroeder disclosed today that the Pontiac Fire Dept. has promoted two men.

Charles Marion has been promoted from lieutenant to captain and assigned to Station 2. Roy Wilson has moved up from driver to lieutenant and been given a roving assignment.

Marion succeeds Capt. Carl D. Leonard who retired from the department on June 30.

No More Gas Rationing for Moscow Motorists

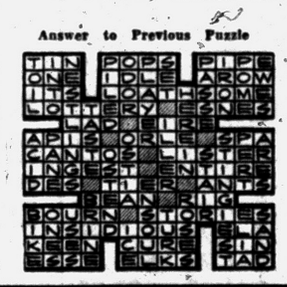

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow car owners were able to fill their gas tanks without restraint today following the government's abolition of gas coupons.

An announcement in the newspaper "Evening Moscow" yesterday said henceforth Moscow motorists will be able to buy unlimited quantities of gas and won't have to bother with coupons. Elimination of the stamps apparently was part of the government's drive to streamline local bureaucracy.

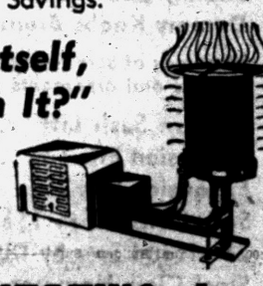

He's in Higher Class

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Edgar Leo Ruble, 37, Oklahoma bootlegger, got out of the $20 class when sentenced to 90 days after admitting trying to transport 57 cases of liquor into Oklahoma. Ruble has a record of 75 arrests for illegal possession of liquor in Oklahoma City. In each case he had been fined $20.

It's a Fact!
IT IS NOT EASIER TO SWIM IN DEEP WATER!

There is no scientific foundation for the belief that the buoyancy of water increases with its depth. As the buoyancy does not so increase, it is as easy to swim in shallow water as deep.

And It is also A Fact
