Cause for Celebration

RAIN IN KANSAS—It was almost a new experience for seven-year-old Daryl Richardson, of Lawrence, Kan., to don his father's boots and splash through king-sized puddles the other day. Heavy rains brought 2.28 inches to Lawrence, along with the first standing water seen in the area in many drought-dry months.

Viet Nam Goes on Record Against Cutting Up Nation

GENEVA (AP)—The French-backed government of Viet Nam declared today under no circumstances must any Indochina armistice settlement include the partition of Viet Nam territory.

The Viet Nam terms were laid before the nine-member Indochina Conference by Foreign Minister Nguyen Quoc Dinh.

They were said by a French spokesman to have the backing of all the non-Communist delegations participating in the talks.

The plan covered both military and political aspects of the armistice. It called for a political settlement based upon free elections under United Nations control.

The main conditions for ending the fighting were:

Any agreement must include sufficient guarantees to insure a "real and durable peace and prevent any new aggression."

The agreement must not lead to a direct or indirect, definitive or provisional, partition of national territory.

It must foresee international control of the execution of the cease-fire conditions.

In Paris Premier Joseph Laniel's government faced a new vote of confidence tomorrow on the Indochina issue. Observers considered it the most serious threat so far to the government.

The shaky French Cabinet conferred last night. It reportedly moved to ask U. S. Secretary of State Dulles to clarify his statement yesterday that loss of Indochina would not necessarily bring the loss of all Southeast Asia to the Reds.

Some Cabinet members, reportedly fearful the United States has written off Indochina, were said to be warning to the Vietnamese peace plan for Indochina.

However, he is seeking "shallow gas" in the Dundee formation, which lies about 750 feet down.

The big well goes down more than 4,000 feet, into the Trenton formation. Morris said the Trenton formation is the deepest of five formations, "each capable of producing gas or oil."

Morris said he has leases on four sections of land across 8-mile road from the deep well on the farm of Charles H. Nerretter.

Although he is shooting for the shallow gas in the Dundee formation, Morris said it is possible he could tap the Trenton formation.

Morris said he plans to sink two more exploratory wells about two miles from the Nerretter farm. He has been drilling in Lyon Township for the past year.

Greenland Fears Measles Epidemic

GODTHAAB, Greenland (AP)—The 2,000 Eskimos in Greenland's capital of Godthaab may come down with measles within a week, health officials warned today.

The warning followed outbreaks of at least 16 cases. The capital has been isolated from the rest of the big Danish island.

Rapid spread of the disease is feared. Greenland has never experienced it before and the Eskimos have built up no resistance to it.

Health officials believe the disease was brought here by a Danish ship about two weeks ago.

Ike Condemns Officers Who Violate Orders

Hits Act of Giving Out Restricted Army Data as 'Reprehensible'

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower today angrily condemned any officer who would violate the orders of his superiors by turning over security information to unauthorized persons.

The President spoke out heatedly on the subject when asked at his news conference to comment on the actions of an unidentified Army intelligence officer who gave Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) classified FBI information.

Mr. Eisenhower said we might as well disband the Army when we get to the point where we condone the disobedience of orders by any officer or enlisted man.

He branded the action of an officer who would commit such an act reprehensible and said it was perfectly ridiculous to consider that there is one code of obedience to orders for enlisted men and another for officers.

The chief executive declared that there are certain government secrets which should be given only to those persons who must have them.

He said there is an inevitable conflict in free government on how much government information should be made public, and that he normally finds himself on the side of giving out more. But, he added emphatically, there are some things that cannot be given out.

The President declined to answer a question on whether he thinks members of what was described as the "McCarthy spy network" should be regarded as security risks.

He began his response to the McCarthy question, which opened his news conference, by noting that one part of the query involved a Senate hearing, which he had said he was going to take a vacation from talking about.

He launched into his detailed (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Highland Area May Be Chosen for Encampment

The Highland State Recreation Area is being considered as the site for the national encampment of the Girl Scouts of America in the summer of 1956.

While final decision has not yet been announced, officials of the national organization as well as transportation officials visited the area recently to check on its availability.

The encampment would bring from 6,000 to 7,000 girls and leaders to the 5,200-acre area. A decision on the encampment site must be made far in advance to permit building of the extensive installations necessary for operation of a summer camp of this size.

This year's encampment of the Girl Scouts will be held at Cody, Wyo.

School Bus at Kalamazoo Overturns, 4 Children Hurt

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A school bus carrying 46 children overturned today after colliding with a tractor on the Vicksburg-Fulton road in southern Kalamazoo County.

All the children were shaken up and bruised, but only four required medical treatment.

The tractor driver, Calvin Hope, 75, of RR 2, Vicksburg, suffered serious injuries and was rushed to a hospital.

The bus driver, George W. Norton, 33, of RR 1, Fulton, told state police the sun got in his eyes and obscured his vision as he was driving east. Police said they also learned that Norton worked from midnight to 6 a. m. in a factory.

Norton escaped with bruises and cuts.

Hope's tractor was struck in the right rear, police said, and the bus glided 200 feet before turning on its side.

Don Hennessy, 11, who sustered a possible leg fracture, and Della Carver, 16, who suffered bad bruises, were taken to a hospital for treatment and X-rays. Both live on R-1, Fulton.

Norman Lester, 15, and Terry Outman, 7, also required medical treatment but weren't hospitalized.

Another bus picked up the other 42 pupils and transported them to school.

50 POUNDS LIGHTER—George H. Simpson, 41, a former bank examiner, went without food for 30 days after he jumped bond on a burglary charge, Cincinnati Police say. Simpson was found begrimed, bearded and emaciated in a warehouse yesterday. Patrolman Howard Sandy wheeled him into General Hospital for treatment of malnutrition. His weight dropped from 200 to 150 pounds in his 30-day fast.

House Red Probers Move Hearings to Flint for 3 Days

FLINT (AP)—Avowedly probing Communist infiltration of labor unions and the professions, the House un-American activities subcommittee began three days of hearings here today.

More than 30 witnesses were on hand under subpoenas, and only one of them was considered "friendly," Rep. Kit Clardy (R-Mich.), chairman, said.

This was Mrs. Beatrice Churchill, identified as a former FBI informant within the party. She was scheduled to be the first witness after the gavel dropped in the supervisor's room of the Genesee County courthouse.

Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.), chairman of the full committee, flew in from Washington to sit in on the Flint phase of the hearings.

The committee wound up two days of hearings in the state Capitol in Lansing yesterday by announcing it would start denaturalization and deportation proceedings against Richard L. Davis, 42, who was identified as a salesman for the Concrete Wall Co. of Detroit in committee records.

The concluding session in Lansing was highlighted by Richard K. Fox, 33, an unemployed carpenter and former Michigan State College student, when he called Clardy a "liar."

Clardy said no decision had been made on recommending contempt citations for any of Tuesday's witnesses. But Fox's outburst, he said privately, was "prima facie contempt of Congress."

Davis refused to give details of his employment record, to say whether he had been a Communist in Detroit and Los Angeles or had attended Communist schools.

He said he was born in Daw. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Earlier Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) said he thinks the administration is working on collective security plans for the area which do not call for immediate use of U. S. armed forces or large expenditures of money. Vorys said in an interview he believes Congress would support a security program along the lines now being worked out.

Eisenhower told reporters, too, that any differences between himself and Secretary of State Dulles on the Indochinese question are differences in utterances and not in opinion.

The President was questioned about the Southeast Asia situation while Dulles met in closed session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to go over the same ground.

With the help of a minister, a former-Pontiac man won a 27-year battle with his conscience and sent a $1 contribution from Philadelphia recently to be used for this city's betterment.

Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson received the money and a letter of explanation.

"I lived in your city back in 1927 and I went out early one morning and took two quarts of milk that the milkman had delivered," wrote the ex-resident.

"I am now a believer in the work of Father Divine and he will not accept any of us as clean members of his church until all of our past is clean. So here is one dollar for charity in your city. Please write and let him (Father Divine) know that I have paid this bill."

Mayor Donaldson said he has placed the $1 in the Pontiac Foundation's fund for a civic auditorium here and has written the requested letter to the Rev. M. J. Divine in Philadelphia.

Says McCarthy Wanted Army to Draft Schine

Adams Testifies After Vote to Lengthen Day Sessions to Speed Quiz

WASHINGTON (INS)—Army Counselor John G. Adams said today Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy expressed hope last October that G. David Schine would be drafted, but that the senator warned he did not want his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, to know he held that view.

Adams took the witness stand at the Senate inquiry into the Army-McCarthy battle after the probers voted to prolong daytime sessions in attempts to speed the investigation, now in its 15th day, but barred night meetings.

The Pentagon lawyer related a conversation with McCarthy on a New York subway last October concerning Schine, the now celebrated Army private for whom the Wisconsin senator and Cohn allegedly exerted improper pressure in attempts to win special treatment after he was drafted.

Adams testified that he had been cautioned by Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens that the 26-year-old Schine was a "sensitive" point with McCarthy and Cohn, that he was not to discuss Schine with them unless they introduced the subject, and that he must not "offend them."

The witness testified: "On the subway, I think it was, Sen. McCarthy expressed irritation about the way Schine got into news photographs. He said that Schine was not much use to his committee and was only interested in being photographed."

"The senator said he hoped Schine would be drafted but told me not to tell Mr. Cohn."

Adams said McCarthy did not, at that time, give any reason for his warning not to tell Cohn about his feelings toward Schine, who (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

French Say They May Need Aid if Reds Push on Red River Delta

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—France put Indochina's vital Red River delta on top of the Indochina danger list today. A top French commander warned that his forces may need foreign help if the Communist-led Vietnamese unleash all their power against the defense perimeter.

Gen. Pierre Louis Bodel, chief aide to the French commander in chief in Indochina, Gen. Henri Navarre, told a news conference last night:

"The situation in the delta is serious but far from hopeless or desperate. We may need help from outside if the Vietnamese attack the delta with all their means and with their forces from Dien Bien Phu."

Bodel specified no country in his mention of additional foreign aid. The United States reportedly refused a French request for Air Force help to Dien Bien Phu after Britain's government said it could not consider joint military intervention until the outcome of the Geneva conference was known.

Bodel's description of the situation in the delta as "serious" was the first such estimate from any member of the French high command in Indochina.

Seeking to exploit their victory last week at Dien Bien Phu, the rebels throughout the rich rice lands stepped up their attacks on thinly manned French and Vietnamese defense posts.

The French retaliated with massive bombing assaults yesterday on key centers of Vietnamese activity in the region.

They reported 50 bombers wiped out three villages in the southeast part of the delta. From these, the French claimed, the rebels had staged big raids on the highway and railway linking Hanoi and Haiphong.

MARION JO ZOBROVITZ

TERRENCE DE MOSS

Four-year-old Marion Jo Zobrovitz died in Detroit Receiving Hospital Tuesday night a few hours after her battered body was found in a garage behind her home. Police say Terrence De Moss, 15, has confessed the crime.

She told police that he went to the bathroom and then to the kitchen, where he tried to clean brown spots off his grey flannel trousers. He told her that a girl had spilled something at school and he had gotten splashed.

Later, she told police, he went to a show with her and his brother.

When they got back home, she said, Terry grabbed their newspaper and began to read the story of the attack.

Mrs. De Moss said he told her he had been at school, but she threatened to call his teacher.

It was then, Mrs. De Moss told police, that he broke down and said:

"I don't know why I did it."

Meanwhile, police, acting on a tip from a policeman neighbor, had already headed for the home.

Patrolman Andrew Hunter tipped authorities to the possibility of De Moss being involved in the crime.

He said De Moss was known to have dissected animals and that when he heard of the attack on the girl he thought of the youth at once.

The youth stood 5 foot 9 and was of slender build.

Fair Weather Seen Tonight, Thursday

Mostly fair weather tonight and Thursday is in store for Pontiac area residents, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

A low tonight of from 36 to 40 degrees is expected to rise to a high of from 60 to 64 degrees on Thursday.

Scattered light frost is expected in the area tonight.

Tuesday, the mercury climbed from a low of 42 to a high of 53 degrees. About .04 of an inch of rainfall was recorded.

At 8 a. m. today the reading was 43, but by 1 p. m. in downtown Pontiac, the temperature stood at 38 degrees.

Detroit Boy, 15, Tells of Beating, Slashing Child

Tot Dies Hours After Vicious Assault in Her Family's Garage

DETROIT (AP)—An unemotional high school student told police today he fatally beat and slashed a 4-year-old girl, but didn't know why he did it.

Marion Jo Zobrovitz was found yesterday by three playmates in a garage behind her home, her body torn and bleeding. She died in a hospital after doctors fought 4½ hours to save her.

Police Lt. Edward Jacques said 15-year-old Terrence De Moss told him he had struck the girl with a 2-by-4 beam, then slashed her.

Jacques said the boy gave no reason for the attack.

De Moss is a juvenile under Michigan law and cannot be charged with a major crime in Criminal Court unless Probate Court waives its jurisdiction.

Mrs. Doris De Moss, his mother, told police she suspected her son, but police arrived before she could call them.

In a formal statement to police, she said that Terry was fascinated by a newspaper account of the crime. She said that he left for school yesterday morning and came home about 2:30 p. m.

She told police that he went to the bathroom and then to the kitchen, where he tried to clean brown spots off his grey flannel trousers. He told her that a girl had spilled something at school and he had gotten splashed.

No Tax Increase Needed to Build School Additions When Bond Issue Gets OK

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — With no increase in taxes, voters will get a new junior high school and a 20-classroom addition to the three-year-old Birmingham High School if they approve a proposed $3.5 million bond issue at the June 14 school election.

The Board of Education adopted a resolution for the bond issue last night.

Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland had explained before that no raise will be needed in the present 11-mill tax levy because of the increase in assessed valuation and savings in interest rates since the 1950 bond issue.

Adding strength to the proposal, Ireland issued a report this week on enrollment trends.

Where enrollment increases formerly took place during the summer months, it is now a year-round process. Less than 300 students will be graduated in June. He said 900 new kindergartners are expected to enroll in September.

Ireland estimated that the senior high school will exceed an enrollment of 1,800 students by 1960, with an enrollment of 2,500 in the seventh through ninth grades.

September's opening of the Pembroke and Beverly elementary schools, plus additions to four others, will take care of little more than the anticipated enrollment, he estimated.

"Any continued growth in the elementary schools will require new schools on new sites, as many of our present schools have reached the maximum possibilities of development," he concluded.

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers of Birmingham will either take part in or attend the "Biggest Scouting Show in the World," which is the Scouts' unofficial name for the exposition which opens tomorrow at the State Fair Grounds.

Troop B-1 will have a Piper Cub airplane display in one of the 400 booths and Troop B-4 will have an exhibit on safe driving. Explorers of Troop B-5 have set up a "Jamboree" booth, supervised by those who attended last summer's California Jamboree.

Most of the area's newer troops are selling tickets and will attend the exposition which runs from 7 to 10 p.m. tomorrow and Friday and from 2 to 10 p.m. Saturday. Stage shows, free X-rays, fingerprinting, games and food are all a part of the affair.

Counting noses for the 1954 school census got under way here this Monday, with 11 workers assisting Mrs. Irene Stevens in her annual job. The doorbell-ringing will end May 30, she said, with final tabulations completed in June.

Mark Beane, general chairman of the Lions Club White Cane drive, says the annual campaign is progressing nicely, but can still use public support in the drive which ends this week.

The local club supports the Leader Dog school in Rochester and at present is underwriting hospital and surgical expenses for an eye operation performed on a local youth.

Quest soloist at tomorrow's annual meeting of the Birmingham Musicales at noon at the Community House, will be John Mathews. Mathews, who plays the bass viol with the Detroit Symphony, makes his home here. He has also been a member of the Dallas, Houston and Seattle symphony orchestras.

Birmingham Y Men's Club, under the leadership of Robert Lutz, president, participated in Monday's installation and charter night ceremonies for the South Macomb County Club.

Announcement was made at the meeting that the local club leads in the Bishop's Fund for the state with $6,500 points, representing $365 which will bring overseas delegates to the international convention to be held in East Lansing.

The City Commission this week set June 7 as a hearing date to rezone five lots to a parking B classification. The rezoned lots will permit the Wabek-Jacobson Corp. to continue its plans for operating off-street parking lots in the northwest area of the city.

Junior League Musicales members have invited the public to attend their annual spring concert, with no admission charge, at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Community House. An open house for members will follow at the home of Mrs. Delbert L. Tate, Westchester Way.

Exchange Pupil En Route Home to Europe to Die

NEW YORK (AP) — A 16-year-old German girl was flying home from Michigan today, unaware that she faces almost certain death from leukemia.

She is Elfi Luedtke of Dusseldorf, an exchange student who had been attending high school at Watervliet, Mich.

Physicians have expressed fear she will die in a month. But Barbara Mella, a state department employee who accompanied Elfi from New York, told newsmen the girl believed she was going home to recover.

Elfi was so ill when she arrived at LaGuardia Airport, but managed a smile for photographers before she left for Idlewild airport to board a Royal Dutch KLM plane for Dusseldorf.

Commission Does Routine Business at Short Meeting

Routine business was dispatched by Pontiac City Commission last night in the shortest meeting since the new commissioners took office.

The west 95 feet of lots 123 through 127 of Hillside Manor subdivision was sold to the Pilgrim Holiness Church for $2,000.

A resolution was approved authorizing the city clerk to advertise for bids on public liability and property damage insurance on city owned vehicles and for workmen's compensation insurance for city garbage workers.

A communication was received from local 105 Utility Workers, CIO, endorsing a resolution adopted by the Oakland County Council asking changes in the method of dealing with grievances at Pontiac General Hospital.

A report from the City Plan Commission was received approving assessor's plat 163 subject to authorization by the city engineer.

An engineer's cost estimate of $6,563 was submitted for planned construction of curb, gutter, drainage and related work on First from Barkell to Fuller.

Special assessment rolls were received and public hearings on them set for May 18 on construction of:

Sanitary sewers in Wyoming from existing sewer east of Motor to Franklin and in Brooklyn from Stanley to Richmond.

Combined sewers in Rutters from University to the P.O. & N. Railroad and in West Princeton from Carlisle to Stanley.

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Stout from Green to Palmer.

Knowland Hits Dem Criticism

Defends GOP Record of Bi-partisan Meetings on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland lashed out yesterday at Democratic criticism of the Eisenhower Administration foreign policy.

During heated oratorical exchanges in the Senate, Knowland blasted what he called "partisan carping criticism" of GOP foreign policy and defended the administration's record of "consultation with Democrats."

The California Republican also indirectly criticized Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's "twenty years of treason" attack on the previous Democratic administration.

He said: "Let us here and now, Republicans and Democrats alike, recognize the fact that there is only one group that can be charged with being the 'party of treason' and that is the Communist Party."

Knowland clearly was irritated by recent Democratic criticism of the administration's handling of the Indochina crisis.

The GOP leader added: "It is relatively an easy thing to do when one is not charged with the responsibility of making decisions to sit on the sidelines and be critical of the policies of any administration."

He placed in the record a list of all the bi-partisan conferences held by the administration since it took over in January, 1953, and compared it with the consultation of the Truman Administration at the outbreak of the Korean War.

House Red Probers Open Flint Hearings

son City, Yukon Territory, Canada, and that he had been naturalized in 1944 while serving in the U. S. Army.

Clardy said the committee had "ample evidence" that Davis got his citizenship by concealing that he was a Communist and by using a false name.

When Fox took the stand, he started out to be the most unrelenting witness of the committee's Lansing appearance. He had to be gavelled to order repeatedly in his first five minutes.

He charged that a committee investigator had broken into his father's home to serve the subpoena.

Clardy denied the charge emphatically and warned Fox that he might have to face perjury charges for making it. Clardy said the charge would be refuted by other witnesses.

Clardy ordered a state police detective, one of several assigned to the committee, to sit beside Fox for the rest of his time on the stand to restrain him "by physical force, if necessary."

Fox refused to tell the committee, on the grounds of possible self-incrimination, his middle initial, whether he had attended Michigan State and what branch of the service he had served in during World War II.

He declined answers to questions about membership in the carpenter union or about alleged Communist affiliations in Detroit and Lansing.

In a statement to the Press, Fox said that he was born in Bloomfield Township, Oakland County and served six years in the Coast Guard where he won two bronze stars.

Fox also said he was a labor economist, a carpenter, a graduate of Michigan State College and a Presbyterian.

John C. Houston, 28, Pontiac attorney, refused on the grounds of eight of the 13 articles of the Bill of Rights to answer these questions by Rep. Gordon Scherer (R-Ohio), a committee member:

"Aren't you regularly consulting with high party functionaries in Pontiac?"

"Isn't it a fact that you are the leader of the Communist underground in this area?"

In testimony in Detroit last week, Mrs. Berenice Baldwin named Houston's wife, Betty, as secretary of the Neabus Club, a Communist group, at the University of Michigan in 1947.

George M. Terry

After an illness of six weeks, George M. Terry, 77, of 165 S. Sanford St., died at his residence at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Born in Luling, Texas, Nov. 3, 1876, he was the son of George and Finetta Duke Terry. He came to Pontiac six years ago from El Centro, Calif. He was a farmer.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Nina Kirby Funeral Home of Pontiac.

The body will be taken this evening from the Kirby Funeral Home to the Bryan Funeral Home at Walnut Ridge, Ark. for service and burial on Saturday.

Mrs. Juan Villarreal

Following a prolonged illness, Mrs. Juan (Paula) Villarreal, 70, of 220 Dixie Hwy., died at her residence Tuesday morning.

Born in Mexico in 1883, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Muniga. She came to Oakland County from Texas a year ago.

Surviving are six sons and four daughters, Juan Jr. with whom she lived, Thomas, Joe, Mrs. Josefa Morales and Mrs. Julia Rivas of Pontiac, Celso of New Mexico, Benito M., Lydia and Mrs. Peter Merino of Texas, and Martin of Holly.

Funeral will be Friday from the Hunteon Funeral Home with burial in the Drayton Plains Cemetery.

St. Joseph Counts 150 Open House Visitors in 2 Days

Some 150 men and women toured St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Tuesday, bringing the total of open house visitors to 200 for the first two days.

Tours of the hospital, demonstrations of special equipment and free refreshments are planned for visitors today and Thursday from 2 until 4 p.m., and Thursday night from 7 until 8.

A special program Friday night will climax the open house, a celebration of National Hospital Week.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Alumnae members who guided guests on tours Tuesday were Miss Donna Menz, Miss Jean Zeeman, Mrs. Warren Gatz, Mrs. Robert Holm, Mrs. George Mellen and Mrs. Martin Quick. Refreshment hostesses for the hospital auxiliary were Mrs. H. Guy Moats and Mrs. F. R. Pickering.

Champion Miler Can't Broadcast

Barred From U. S. TV and Radio to Guard His Amateur Status

NEW YORK (INS) — Roger Bannister's dates to tell American radio and television audiences how it feels to run the world's first four-minute mile were cancelled today because of a question as to their effect on his amateur standing.

The slender 25-year-old medical student arrived by plane this morning with commitments to appear at British Foreign Office "request" — on half a dozen programs beginning with tonight's CBS "I've got A Secret."

However, the British Consulate announced almost immediately that all of Bannister's appearances were called off upon the advice of U. S. and British Amateur Athletic Union officials because of the "commercial aspects" of the shows.

Indignant CBS, NBC and ABC work officials said they were willing to remove all commercials, making it clear that Bannister would not personally receive any fees for appearing, and they pointed out that many American athletes have appeared with suitable clearances — on similar programs.

But Bannister, slated to return home Saturday without either running or making any radio-TV appearances, appeared to have made his transatlantic crossing for nothing.

Consulate spokesmen said he was "resting" this morning and that his plans will be discussed later in the day.

Clardy ordered a state police detective, one of several assigned to the committee, to sit beside Fox for the rest of his time on the stand to restrain him "by physical force, if necessary."

Fox refused to tell the committee, on the grounds of possible self-incrimination, his middle initial, whether he had attended Michigan State and what branch of the service he had served in during World War II.

Here Comes the Bride

Honor Maid, Best Man Play Key Roles

(Editor's Note: Third in a series of seven articles by Emily Post covering all phases of wedding etiquette.)

By EMILY POST

Next to the bride and bridegroom, the maid of honor and the best man have the most important roles in the wedding. (Bridesmaids are usually considered as decorations only.)

These two and the ushers have very active duties to perform. Hence many questions about such duties have been directed to me. Some of them are set forth here with my answers.

"I am to be maid of honor at a friend's wedding shortly.

"I never have acted in this capacity before. Just what are my duties both at the wedding and reception?"

At the church you walk up the aisle alone just ahead of the bride; stand where you were told at the rehearsal and hold the bride's bouquet during the ceremony. At the end of the ceremony, you give back her bouquet.

If she is wearing a face veil you take it off or turn it back as will have been decided at the rehearsal.

The only other thing you do is to straighten out her train before she and the bridegroom start walking down the aisle. Correctly you then follow alone.

(To walk with the best man gives the effect of a double wedding and is conspicuously incorrect.)

At the reception you stand on the bride's right in the receiving line.

"My son has been asked to be best man at a wedding. Will you please tell us exactly what my son's duties and obligations are?"

The best man has three main obligations—to see that the bridegroom is dressed and ready in time; to take charge of the wedding ring and get the money from the bridegroom for the clergyman; and to make himself generally useful at the reception.

"I have been asked to be best man at a friend's wedding and I would appreciate your telling me just what expenses I have in connection with this position.

"I have heard so many different opinions that I have decided to write to you for the correct answer."

Further than the clothes you are expected to wear (which you probably have) and the wedding present that you would probably give anyway, you incur no expense.

"My son is to be married. Just when should he be seated in church?"

"Also, is it proper for the mother and father of the bridegroom to walk in together, preceded by the usher, or does the bridegroom's mother walk up the aisle on the arm of an usher with the father following?"

The ideally correct procedure is as follows: The bridegroom's mother goes up the aisle on the arm of the head usher and takes her place in the first pew on the right; the bridegroom's father follows alone and takes his place beside her.

The same usher returns to the vestibule and immediately escorts the bride's mother, whose appearance should signify the arrival of the bride and her attendants at the church, and no one else may be seated after this.

"In addition to the four bridesmaids and four ushers, I am having a flower girl and ring-bearer in my wedding party. Where in the procession do the ringbearer and flower girl come?"

They walk together just preceding you.

"Why do you give your approval to the father of the bridegroom serving as best man, yet always discourage the mother of the bride being a matron of honor—particularly if there are other attendants?"

"You never make this stipulation for the best man and yet there are usually younger men serving as ushers."

Because the mother's position is that of hostess at the wedding whereas the father of the bridegroom has no position whatever beyond being present.

"Since my father is not living, my only brother will give me away. However, my fiancé also would like to have him as one of his ushers."

"Would it be proper for him to serve in both capacities? He is quite willing if this arrangement has your approval."

This suggestion is entirely practical. He can perfectly well usher the guests until the bride arrives, and then, instead of walking in the procession with the ushers, he walks up the aisle with the bride. In the recessional he can walk with the ushers.

"Is the bride expected to give each of her bridesmaids a wedding picture? Should they also be given to the men who are serving?"

To both questions, it is usual for each to buy what she (or he) wants from the photographer. (Not at all necessary that they buy any.)

An occasional pause to elevate your feet during a busy day can do wonders for the weary housewife. Long periods of standing cause foot fatigue and sluggish circulation. Frequent, brief periods of sitting or lying with feet elevated above hips relaxes the weary members, aids circulation, prevents swelling and has a beneficial effect on general health.

Starting to Relate Growth to Family Relationships

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A saleswoman mother asks me what "magic wand" can be used to stimulate parents' interest in the child development material she's selling.

"The mothers I talk to amaze me by their indifference to this subject," she writes. "They lose interest in what I'm saying the moment I mention child development. Yet this material covers every possible problem that could ever arise."

I can suggest no sales magic for her child development material because I think we are tired of what it implies.

I think we are weary of preparing ourselves for problems of Johnny's future development and wish instead to work out the development that faces us today. And we want to work it out without fear that Johnny is not conforming to child development's expectations.

"The character of a child is molded by the character of the parents in response to whom it develops," writes Dr. Erich Fromm, teacher of psychoanalysts.

More and more of us, I think, are beginning to agree with him. We're realizing that Johnny develops in response to us, and see his development as connected with our development rather than with charts on child development.

We're beginning to see that his refusal to confess a lie is related, not to charts, but to our development of fear that he won't reflect credit on us.

We wish to deal tenderly with his 4-year-old fantasy of slaying a lion in the yard, not because charts permit him 4-year-old fantasy, but because we, too, often confuse imagination with reality, and have to ask ourselves, "Did this thing really happen—or do I just hope that it did?"

I regard this personal, unprofessional attitude more wholesome than "Scientific" ones for which few of us are scientifically trained.

If this seems odd, remember that even surgeons who are trained to do not operate on their family members. Knowing that emotion and scientific exactness are hard to reconcile, they do not expose themselves to anxieties involved in physical probing into people they love.

As our personal relationship to Johnny has different content from a professional one, anxiety is inevitable if we try to regard him as our psychological patient.

I am personally disheartened by any material that implies that a child's growth is different from ours and that the parent-child relationship a mystery, unlike all other human relationships.

Short Hair Elegant

The gay wonderful mood of spring turns to hairstyles and the new small hats call for elegant "do's." Short, shining tresses give balance to the season's new, slim silhouette. Choose a hairstyle, then make it yours with a self-neutralizing home permanent designed for your easy-to-wave, normal - to - wave or hard - to - wave tresses.

IF well-padded bride—Avoid baby dress, ruffles galore. The wonderfully casual new feeling of elegant bridal gowns is achieved through simplicity.

Miss B.—Simply an easy bodice with an equally easy skirt—no belt to interrupt the simplicity, no anything except a simple headdress and veil and unobtrusive bouquet to give you the height and slenderness you want on your wedding day.

You Can Find Work That Uses All Your Skills
Complex World Offers Variety of Jobs
By ANNE HEYWOOD
It is fashionable nowadays to bemoan the complexity of modern life. But that very complexity offers the girl of today a fascinating variety of potential jobs.
Every day I hear of a new one that I never knew existed, as for example, the job being done by Catharine Heinz.
Catharine Heinz is director of the Library Bureau of the United Hospital Fund, and her job has just about everything. She is in charge of the special courses which are given to volunteers.
That means that Miss Heinz works with homemakers of every kind, teaching them how to be hospital library volunteers.
She interviews the women, learns whether they would be happy and effective in a hospital library job, and then conducts the courses.
On top of that, she reads and reviews new books, and decides whether or not they would have an appeal to the hospital patients.
In short, Miss Heinz's job combines what we call the factual, the social and the literary. She must be interested in people and intuitive about them.
She must have great accuracy and be meticulous in teaching the details of library work. And she must be interested in the books, as well as the patient, and have her finger on the literary pulse.
When I hear girls complain about "being stuck with my library degree," Miss Heinz comes to mind, and I know that there must be other jobs for the librarians which will give her an opportunity to use all her interests and all the facets of her personality.
By the same token, when women complain that all volunteer work is the same, and that you might as well resign yourself to being bored, I know it isn't true.
The woman who loves books, who is sympathetic toward hospital patients, and who has enough clerical facility not to ruin the recording system, can find a volunteer job in a hospital library which will have all the variety she could want.
The moral is this: If the job you are in, whether paid or volunteer, does not use everything you have, you do not have to sit and die of dry rot.
You can scout around this wonderfully complex world, and find one of the many combination jobs, which will satisfy all your needs and make you of maximum service, which is the only way to get maximum fun.

Hal Boyle Says:

Food Expert Makes Sure Jelly Beans Aren't Tough

NEW YORK (AP)—How can you get bananas to stay ripe longer by making them breathe less?

How tough should a jelly bean be?

What is the correct wall thickness of a piece of macaroni?

How can you tell whether canned peas are young, middle-aged or elderly?

These problems would baffle the best of housewives, but a man—one man anyway—finds them quite simple. He is George Garnatz, a pioneer in the rapidly expanding field of food engineering.

"I've been stuck with food problems for 32 years," said Garnatz.

Today, as director of the Kroger Food Foundation in Cincinnati, Garnatz and a staff of 25 work in a laboratory full of weird machines developed to see that mama gets what she pays for at the grocery store.

"Our devices test food products mechanically and objectively," said Garnatz. "They take the element of human opinion out of it, so we can get down to the real facts about food."

"Last year we made more than 197,000 scientific inspections of 1,000 food items. Only a fraction of one per cent had to be rejected because the manufacturers had misrepresented them or they weren't up to government grade."

With a simple micrometer Garnatz can measure a piece of macaroni to be sure that it has the proper wall thickness.

"A quick-cooking macaroni should be about 261,000th of an inch thick," he said. "Slow cooking macaroni can be up to 4-100th of an inch. We can allow up to 5-1,000th of an inch variation and still guarantee uniform cooking quality."

How do you tell young peas from old peas? Simple. By the difference between sinkers and floaters.

"As peas get older they get more dense, because they are converting their sugar to starch," explained Garnatz. "In a can of top grade fancy peas not more than 2 per cent of them should sink more than 2 inches in a 13 per cent salt solution in 10 seconds."

He has an ingenious device which automatically can put a can of peas to this test and separate the tender young floaters from the tired old sinkers.

Other gadgets in his laboratory look as if they had been invented by Rube Goldberg. The fluorometer lights up the vitamins in food and shows if they are present in the right amount. The consistency meter measures the density of such products as creamed corn, apple sauce and cake batter. The crumb pressure tester squeezes bread and checks its freshness and resistance to staling.

There is also a "cookie torturer" called a shortometer. The cookie or soda cracker is placed across two parallel bars. A third metal arm then swings down and measures how much force is required to crumble it.

"A nice, flaky soda cracker ought to break under 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 pounds of pressure," said Garnatz, leaping. "If it has too much moisture content or is made with too little shortening, it may take more than 3 pounds to snap it. Shows it's too tough."

With a sharp-edged shearer he can also cut through and test beef or jelly beans. A jelly bean that can't stand up to 7 pounds pressure is too soft to keep its shape; one that can take more than 11 pounds is too tough for the juvenile trade.

Once while experimenting with bananas a laboratory assistant saw a can of floor wax nearby and wondered aloud what would happen if they coated a banana with it.

"Let's try it and see," said Garnatz. They found the waxed banana stayed ripe twice as long as untreated bananas.

"Naturally we couldn't sell food with floor wax on it," Garnatz said. "But we have now developed a harmless odorless wax, and you'll see waxed ripe bananas on the market before the end of the year."

Because of his reputation as a food expert, hostesses are sometimes a bit uneasy when Garnatz comes to dinner. But his wife settled this problem long ago in their own home. She bosses the kitchen, insists on doing the cooking.

"She's a good cook, too," said Garnatz, loyally.

She'd have to be with a man like her husband to please.

Sees Day of Helicopter for Average Families

WASHINGTON (UP)—Igor B. Bensen, an aircraft designer believes new developments in helicopters will make "flying windmills" cheap enough for average families.

The Raleigh, N. C., designer told the American Helicopter Society in a recent speech here that a new kind of "cold jet" helicopter engine, which he has pioneered, will make for greatly increased economy.

the market before the end of the year.

"The wax slows down their respiration rate. Sure ripe bananas breathe. So do potatoes, although of course potatoes respire more slowly than lettuce or celery. This respiration, popularly speaking, is really a form of dying—the giving off of carbon dioxide and oxygen by fruits and vegetables."

Because of his reputation as a food expert, hostesses are sometimes a bit uneasy when Garnatz comes to dinner. But his wife settled this problem long ago in their own home. She bosses the kitchen, insists on doing the cooking.

Federal Aid Opposed by GOP

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is opposed to any large-scale federal spending on construction of public schools.

The administration's attitude was outlined yesterday by Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, in a letter to a Senate Labor subcommittee at the opening of hearings on federal aid to schools.

She objected to passage at this time of any of several bills under consideration, including one by Chairman Cooper (R-KY) which calls for an outlay of 100 million dollars annually for three years starting July 1.

Hall Raps Hearings on Army-McCarthy

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee says he hasn't heard of anyone who thinks the McCarthy-Army hearings "are doing anybody any good." Hall talked with reporters at the White House yesterday after visiting President Eisenhower in company with members of a special GOP veterans committee. Hall, asked whether he favors ending the investigation quickly, replied:

"Well, I agree with everybody—I haven't heard anybody yet who thinks they (the hearings) are doing anybody any good."
