Police Search for Two Men in 1961 Pontiac

Connie Crossland
Last Seen Alive
1:30 A.M. Thursday

"Well, I guess I'll have to stay with these other fellows," Connie Crossland told a Birmingham youth just hours before she was bludgeoned and strangled last Wednesday night.

Police said today this was the last known time the attractive, 14-year-old runaway turned to someone for help.

The youth refused to let her sleep at his home, and Connie went for a ride that ended at the Clarkston Road bridge over Paint Creek in Orion Township, early last Thursday.

Her body was found at 9 a.m. face down in eight inches of water trickling over the stones in the willow-banked creek.

A 10-foot length of manila rope was wrapped tightly around her neck, and her skull had been fractured by a blow behind the right ear. Her mosaic print blouse and green shorts were undisturbed, but her feet were bare.

The lonely spot is 20 miles from the gaudy, neon-lighted drive-ins along Woodward Avenue in Birmingham and Royal Oak, where hundreds of young people in late model cars gather every night to socialize.

The drive-in strip was Connie's home for almost two weeks.

Somewhere along it, on her last night alive, she met two men in a white 1961 Pontiac Bonville convertible or hardtop.

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irvine revealed today this is the first strong lead police have to the girl's killers.

Sheriff's Capt. Leo Hazen said the girl came to the youth's house at about 1:30 a.m. last Thursday and asked to stay overnight.

"She was looking for a place to sleep," Hazen said.

But the youth turned her away, saying he did not want to get involved.

Connie's last words were:

"Well, I'll have to stay with these other fellows."

Outside, the white convertible, or possibly a hardtop, with two men inside was waiting.

Capt. Hazen requests anyone who saw the girl with these men in the white car to contact the Oakland County sheriff's department immediately.

Police also want to talk with anyone who saw the girl earlier.

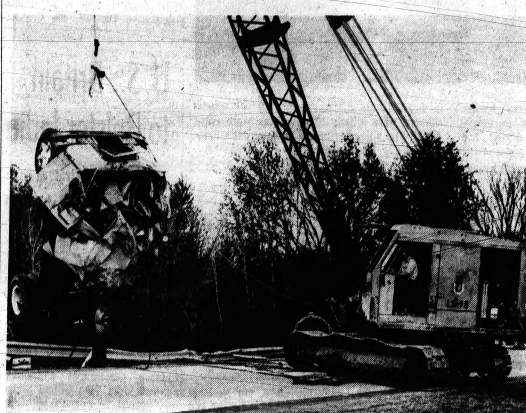

Intensive investigation over the weekend by teams of detectives turned up these facts:

Connie probably was seen July 4 in a state park in the Irish Hills. This report came from a girl schoolmate from Connie's hometown of Corunna.

That was two days after Conn-

CRANE HOISTS WRECKAGE — It took a crane to remove the wreckage of a tractor-trailer this morning on I-75 in Pontiac Township. Glen E. Coffin, 36, of Alma, driver of ship, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital.

County Traffic Takes 3 Lives

Two of the Accidents
Occur a Mile Apart

Traffic accidents in the county took the lives of two persons over the weekend and another this morning.

Earl Swiney, 28, of 3065 Melvin, Rochester, was killed Saturday at 11:50 p.m. on I-75 just west of Giddings in Pontiac Township when his convertible went out of control and rolled over six times.

Sheriff's deputies found the body 52 feet from the wreckage. The crash victim was driving a car owned by Paul Reymond of Ulica.

John Troyer, 37, a passenger in a car driven by his daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Moore, 59, also of Detroit, died Sunday at 12:30 a.m. following an accident at 13 Mile and Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Township.

RAN LIGHT

Police said Mrs. Moore's car, traveling east on 13 Mile, ran a red blinker light and collided with a car driven by Thomas J. Clark, 26, of 24158 Elizabeth, Farmington.

Mrs. Moore is in fair condition at William Beaumont Hospital.

Clark was treated for scalp lacerations at the hospital and released.

Glen E. Coffin, 36, of 306 Gratiot, Alma, was killed at 7:15 a.m. today when the tractor-trailer he was driving east on I-75 in Pontiac Township plunged over the guard rail and flipped over.

Coffin was pinned under the wreckage, which had to be lifted by a crane. He was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Witnesses told sheriff's deputies that the truck, carrying corrugated cardboard, was traveling about 35 miles per hour when it left the road a half mile east of Giddings, about a mile from where Swiney was killed.

U.S. Trade Envoy

ROME (UPI) — U.S. presidential trade envoy Christian A. Herter arrived today by air from Geneva for talks with Italian officials.

Herter, a former secretary of state, is on a tour of European capitals for President Kennedy and leaves tomorrow for Paris.

West Worries Nik May Ask Package Deal

Top Negotiators Hold
Private Session After Longest Conference

MOSCOW (AP) — British and Soviet negotiators today were reported near agreement on a limited nuclear test ban treaty.

But Western diplomats were still worried that Premier Khrushchev might insist on a nonaggression pact as part of a package deal.

Latest reports in Moscow were that initialing of the treaty might come Wednesday or Thursday although Washington sources had said it might come today or tomorrow.

These reports said the treaty was so nearly ready that most of the discussions today were concerned with proposals for a non-aggression pact and other points made by Khrushchev in a speech last Friday.

Among these was a plan for international inspections to avoid a surprise attack.

Soviet sources said a committee this morning put the finishing touches on the treaty, which would ban all nuclear testing except those under ground.

Today's session was the longest, with the top negotiators remaining behind for awhile for a private session.

The talks began at 3 p.m. and continued until 6:50 p.m., nearly an hour longer than most sessions.

Before the end of the session, most of the secondary delegates left. But Lord Hailsham of Britannia, W. Harriman of the United States and Andrei Gromyko, Russian foreign minister, remained on for a final hour of talks, mostly by themselves.

The meetings were resumed after a weekend break in an atmosphere of mounting optimism.

Western sources here indicated that only a last-minute obstacle, such as a Soviet demand for a nonaggression pact, could block the accord.

Harriman had an excellent opportunity Sunday night to sound out Khrushchev on any last minute roadblocks.

Together they sat through a U.S.-Soviet track meet narrowly won by the American men and women.

After the competition Khrushchev invited Harriman to a reception room in the stadium where they held a surprise hour-long meeting. Harriman is chief U.S. negotiator at Moscow test-ban talks.

Kennedy Submits Rail Plan; Seeks Deliberation by ICC

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy came up today with this plan for legislation to bar a railroad strike.

Put the work rules dispute before the Interstate Commerce Commission for disposition.

The White House disclosed this much of the proposal in announcing that Kennedy's special message on the railroad situation would go to Congress at 2 p.m. (Pontiac time).

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger read to newsmen this statement: "The President at 3 p.m. (EDT) this afternoon will send to the Congress legislation which will refer those railroad work rules issues which are still in dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission for prompt hearing and disposition."

"Provisions for employee security will be contained in any ICC order of approval. Unlike compulsory arbitration this proposal would preserve collective bargaining and give precedence to its solutions."

Salinger declined to go into any detail pending the actual release of the message, but it appeared clear that Kennedy would ask Congress to hold off any strike until the ICC has disposed of the case.

The writ for the by-election at Stratford-on-Avon — Profumo's old constituency — might be issued tomorrow with the actual election to be held early in August, political sources said.

Election Near for Seat Left by War Minister

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government today was reported decided to hold almost immediately the by-election for the parliamentary seat vacated by disgraced War Minister John Profumo.

The writ for the by-election at Stratford-on-Avon — Profumo's old constituency — might be issued tomorrow with the actual election to be held early in August, political sources said.

Securities Tax Loophole Opened at Canada Request

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration is opening a loophole in its proposed balance-of-payments tax on foreign securities to prevent the tax from crippling Canada's economy.

The action came yesterday after a weekend of secret talks between a U.S. team led by Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and top Canadian financial officials who had hurried to Washington to present their country's case.

The United States in effect agreed not to apply the proposed "interest equalization tax" to new issues of Canadian securities, so long as the flow of U.S. dollars into Canada does not exceed Canadian needs.

Canada agreed not to use the exemption to try to build up its foreign exchange reserves.

Similar exemptions would be available in other "exceptional situations" where countries were endangered by the tax, a joint statement said. However, U.S. officials said no other countries had asked to have the proposed tax lifted.

"It is the hope and expectation of both governments that, by maintaining close consultation, it will provide possible in practice to have an unlimited exemption for Canada without adverse effects on the United States," the joint statement said.

Canadian Finance Minister Walter Gordon said in Ottawa he was "very much relieved."

Man Plunges 86 Floors in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A young man fought loose from a guard and jumped from the Empire State Building today, plunging to the sidewalk from the 86th floor observation deck of the world's tallest building.

Police tentatively identified the victim as George Alex Frost, 35, address not learned.

The guard, Frank Di Gesu, said he first saw the man standing on a ledge outside the protecting walls and fence around the observation of the 102-story building.

Di Gesu said he tried to talk to the man, who only shuffled away along the ledge. He twice reached toward the fence and grabbed the man's leg, but the man kicked free, Di Gesu said.

The guard made one more grab for his leg, but the man sprung backward to his death, Di Gesu said.

Defeat Rights Vote; Rocky Tries Again

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. (AP) — Thrown back by a 33-16 vote that largely followed party lines, GOP Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon triggered new efforts today to get a governors' conference civil rights declaration.

Republican efforts to put the 56th annual meeting of the state executives on record on the issue were defeated temporarily when Democrats lined up behind a motion of Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada to abolish the resolutions committee.

This killed all of 69 pending proposals, including civil rights resolutions by Rockefeller and Hatfield.

Fifteen Republican governors and Democratic Gov. William A. Egan of Alaska opposed this move. Thirty-three Democrats supported it.

SUBSEQUENT SESSION

In a joint interview, Rockefeller and Hatfield said the plan to make a motion at a subsequent session to put the conference on record on the racial issue.

"This is not going to rest here," Rockefeller said grimly. He said, "this vote clearly makes the Republican party the party of civil rights."

The New York governor said it was possible he might offer an anti-discrimination amendment.

Partly cloudy and not much change in temperatures is the forecast through tomorrow. A few widely scattered thunder-showers loom as a possibility mostly this afternoon and evening.

Not much change is expected Wednesday.

Precipitation for the week will total less than one quarter inch in a few scattered showers mainly near the latter part of the week.

Winds through tomorrow are variable at five to 15 m.p.h. The lowest thermometer reading prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 64. At 2 p.m. the mercury stood at 84.

In Letter to Press

Sen. Hart Backs Foreign Aid

Concerning our recent editorial on foreign aid, The Press has received this important letter from U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart.

After making two basic points in The Press Foreign Aid editorial — let's require every recipient of foreign aid to make a case for receiving assistance, and don't use our money on useless frills or luxuries — you want our role as a "soft touch" reviewed. I'm in full agreement.

If we are not now requiring that, I would be glad to have a specific case which I could take up with the administration. We deal with many countries and large sums, and some mistakes creep in. The Russians are in this foreign aid business too, and for motives very different from ours. I saw scores of tractors the Russians had given to a newly independent Equatorial African nation. They were good tractors, but they were built for arctic use — the exhaust pipe ran through the cab and the windshield couldn't be opened. The Russians make mistakes too, but there is no congressional review.

We must demand the sharpest vigilance in seeing that each dollar produces worthwhile results. Foreign aid has been consistent since the end of World War II on a bipartisan basis under Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy.

It is a key tool in seeking major policy objectives, and there is no alternative to continuing reliance on the program as an integral part of American foreign policy.

Our purpose? To assist the countries establishing themselves as independent, self-supporting nations. We do not seek satellites. It is in our interest to help develop free, strong, and independent countries.

We are criticized by those who say "our aid program has gained in nothing and lost its friends." The membership of the United Nations has doubled, yet the overwhelming majority continues to support the charter and a world community consistent with our own long-term goals.

Secretary Dean Rusk has said, and I agree, that the times do not call for a massive

Red Powers Agree to 'Future' Unity Try

MOSCOW (AP)—Red China and the Soviet Union say they have agreed to meet "some time later" and make another try at settling their bitter ideological dispute. Diplomats in Moscow did not expect the meeting would be held soon.

The announcement, made simultaneously Sunday in Peking and Moscow, coincided with a new Chinese attack on the Soviet Communist party. Peking accused it of trying to incite the Chinese people and party against Mao Tse-tung.

The Soviet-Chinese talks broke off Saturday. Premier Khrushchev took his first public notice of the

'Lord Astor Paid Rent'—Christine

LONDON (UPI)—Christine Keeler testified in court today that Lord Astor had paid the rent on the apartment she shared with playgirl Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies.

Christine, whose affair with War Minister John Profumo nearly toppled the British government, resumed her tale of sex and sin that ranged from Hollywood to the underworld when she appeared as the first witness in the trial of Dr. Stephen Ward, playboy osteopath and artist.

Ward pleaded innocent to a variety of vice charges that included the accusation he lived off the earnings of Christine and Mandy.

Lord Astor's name came into the trial as Christine was being questioned by Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones.

After she said she had moved into a flat with Mandy, the prosecutor asked:

"Who paid the rent of the flat? Did you pay any of the rent yourself?"

"Yes, I and Miss Davies paid some of it," Christine's voice was nearly a whisper, and the judge interrupted.

"Who paid the rent, Miss Keeler?"

"Lord Astor," she replied.

It was the first time Christine had testified directly that the apartment rent was paid by Lord Astor, although she had said at Ward's pretrial hearing that the osteopath had told her the rent once was paid with a check from the wealthy head of one of Britain's most influential families.

Post Office Set for New Service

Fast Business Delivery to Start in Pontiac

Pontiac Post Office will herald the beginning of its new Accelerated Business Collection and Delivery (ABCD) service this week with the visit of Warren P. Cleary, deputy executive assistant to the postmaster general.

Cleary, 36, will be here to inaugurate the new ABCD mail service.

Pontiac is the tenth city in Michigan to get the unique system.

Under the plan, a letter mailed in certain designated mailboxes by 11 a.m. will be delivered by 3 p.m. the same day.

Cleary will deposit the first piece of mail to be delivered under the new service. He will drop his mail in the box in front of the main post office, 735 W. Huron, about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

A 10-year veteran of the U.S. Foreign Service in India and Africa, Cleary is a former special consultant on problems of undeveloped areas.

Soviets Get U.S. Agent?

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today reported that an Arab former employee of the U.S. National Security Agency in Washington has defected to Russia and asked for political asylum.

Izvestia said that the former agent for the Americans defected because he was "outraged" by U.S. intelligence activities endangering peace in the Middle East.

The alleged defector was identified as Viktor Norris Hamilton, born Hindala, who said in an open letter to Izvestia that he was 44, and a graduate of the American University in Beirut.

both sides "expounded their own views and stand on a series of important questions of principle concerning contemporary world developments, the international Communist movement and Sino-Soviet relations."

MUTUAL LECTURES

Western quarters interpreted this to mean Chinese spokesman Teng Hsiao-ping and Soviet theoretician Mikhail Suslov did little more since the meetings began July 5 than lecture each other. Premier Khrushchev is expected to defend his stand and outline his strategy in the Communist power struggle at a meeting of East European Communist leaders opening in Moscow Wednesday.

Ostensibly, the meeting of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance (Comecon) the Communist counterpart to the European Economic Community, was to discuss economic plans.

The leaders of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, East Germany, Romania, Bulgaria and Mongolia are to be present. Communist China's balkan ally, Albania, is a charter member but has not participated in council activities for more than two years.

The terseness of the Chinese-Soviet communiqué was in sharp contrast to a bitter editorial in the official Peking People's Daily which indicated the Chinese have no intention of easing their war of words against the Soviets.

The editorial said "those who are racking their brains to slander Comrade Mao Tse-tung and our party will accomplish nothing save full exposure of their own foul purposes."

The paper accused the Soviets of lying in their open letter last week when Moscow said the Chinese scuttled trade relations between the two Communist giants.

It charged the Soviets themselves cut off aid, doing incalculable harm to China's economy, defense and scientific research. The latter could include Peking's efforts to develop an atomic bomb.

The official New China News Agency in a separate statement claimed the Kremlin leaders are "flagrantly attempting to incite the Chinese people and the members of the Chinese Communist party against the beloved leadership of the Communist party of China."

On Friday, Diem — who is a Roman Catholic — broadcast an appeal for new negotiations on Buddhist charges of discrimination. Vice President Nguyen Ngoc the sent Buddhist leaders a letter formally advancing the government proposal.

Buddhist leaders said they would negotiate with a special cabinet committee set up by Diem for the purpose only if police removed barricades from around Buddhist temples here and released more than 300 priests, nuns and laymen who they say were arrested Wednesday.

Police removed the barricades and threw open the gates of a camp set up in a Saigon cemetery where they were holding 200-odd Buddhists — according to the government, all of Wednesday's prisoners.

Connie's movements for the next eight hours, until she rang the bell at the home of the Birmingham youth, are a blank.

Viet Buddhists Give Ultimatum

President Diem Faces New Street Disorders

SAIGON (UPI)—President Ngo Dinh Diem faced an ultimatum today from his Buddhist foes, threatening new street disorders unless their latest demands are met by midnight.

The Buddhists rebuffed official efforts at conciliation over the weekend. It was not certain immediately whether the government would return to the "hard line" it employed against Buddhist demonstrators Wednesday.

Club-swinging police waded into a crowd of Buddhists on that day, and scores of prisoners were hustled away by truck to improvised concentration camps.

Negro Testifies

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Humiliation stalks America's Negro citizens and they will not be dissuaded by talk that they are hurting their cause by demonstrating, Negro leader Roy Wilkins said today.

Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said their protest demonstrations are not subversive but "thoroughly American."

He expressed his views in testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee as it started a fourth week of hearings on the administration's public accommodations bill.

The bill, a key part of President Kennedy's civil rights program, would require the desegregation of restaurants, hotels, stores, and other privately-owned establishments serving the public.

OTHER RACIAL NEWS

In Cambridge, Md., a Negro integration leader said today that 15-minute prayer meetings at the courthouse each day if they guaranteed no more than 50 persons would take part.

The prosecution then dropped an identical charge against Aaron Gauthier, 36, who was scheduled to go on trial this afternoon.

In New York, police arrested 250 persons today when nearly 1,000 singing and chanting racial demonstrators massed at a Brooklyn construction site and blocked trucks from entering.

The price has never been cheap; it wasn't in the bargain basement, and its preservation won't be found at a bargain counter. Woman Picked Chairman of Republican Fund Drive

BIRMINGHAM — The Oakland County Republican chairman today announced the appointment of Mrs. John Pfister, 2849 Buckingham, as chairman of the county GOP's 1963 Neighbor-to-Neighbor fund drive.

Chairman Charles Lyle said he selected Mrs. Pfister because the drive's success "is in direct proportion to the organizational background of its chairman."

Mrs. Pfister currently holds GOP posts in the county's 3rd Legislative District, the City of Birmingham and the Birmingham-Troy Republican Women's Club.

Before moving to Birmingham in 1961, she was a precinct delegate, executive board member and office manager for Wayne County's 16th Congressional District.

The board of education will hold a special meeting Aug. 7 to open bids on $1.5 million worth of tax anticipation notes.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today agreement with Britain and India to strengthen India's defenses against possible air attacks from Communist China.

Announcing the air defense agreement, the State Department said that the event of renewed Chinese Communist aggression against India "the United States has agreed to consult with the government of India regarding possible measures to strengthen India's air defenses in the light of the situation existing at the time."

The State Department said the agreement "does not, however, involve any commitment on the part of the U.S. government to India's assistance in the event of a renewed Chinese Communist attack."

Under terms of the agreement, the U.S. Air Force and the Royal Air Force will hold periodic joint training exercises in India with the Indian air force.

Twelve-year-old Earl J. Brendle lay in critical condition today while Oakland County Sheriff's deputies pressed their investigation of the boat accident that nearly tore the boy's arm off and almost cost him his life Saturday.

Earl was hit by an outboard motor boat while swimming in Walters Lake behind his home at 8809 Lakeview, Independence Township.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brendle.

Lt. Don Kratt of the sheriff's office said today he was investigating the accident to determine whether criminal charges should be brought against the driver of the boat, Warren Baker, 31, of 435 Boyd.

Though it was first reported that the boy was 70 to 75 feet from the dock when the accident occurred, Kratt said further checking revealed Earl was only about 30 feet out.

Witnesses said Baker was towing a water skier to shore when he suddenly saw the boy and swerved.

At the same time, the boy dived in an attempt to escape being hit, they said.

Earl was taken to Pontiac General Hospital and rushed to Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital, which reported today that the boy "was making some progress" but was still on the critical list.

Kratt said the boy's right arm was almost severed by the blades of the 40-horsepower motor. Earl's leg and back also were hurt and suffered a fractured skull.

The boy's bathing trunks were afterwards found wrapped around the motor's propeller, Kratt said.

The lieutenant reported that Earl was standing on a submerged log about 2 1/2 feet below the surface when he dived to avoid the boat.

State law prohibits motor boats within 100 feet of a dock or swimming area unless they are traveling five miles per hour or less, Kratt said.

Michigan Must Have More State Police

(Editor's Note—This is the fifth in a series of nine traffic safety articles by F. Granger Wells, editor of the Port Huron Times Herald, and chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee of the Traffic Safety Association.)

By F. GRANGER WELLS
Editor, Port Huron Times Herald

PORT HURON — This is a straightforward appeal for an adequate state police force to patrol our highways.

Just a few years ago we had nearly enough. Now — in plain words — by any set of standards — we don't.

This plea for more men is supported by the National Safety Council in its traffic inventory analysis for 1963 of the state's program and needs.

"To compare favorably with the top 30 per cent of the states reporting in our inventory program, Michigan would need to add 382 full-time traffic personnel," an NSC spokesman said.

The problem is one of money, of course. The crime and accident rates are climbing but budgets for police to enforce and supervise the laws have either remained static or been reduced.

These are facts, even though they don't seem to make much sense. Come to think of it, the state has money enough for almost everything else but when it comes to law enforcement we permit our efficient, young troopers to operate at a minimum in numbers and with equipment of questionable adequacy.

Being a state trooper these days is something of a vocation. Until Sunday, troopers were working a 56-hour, 6-day week. Now, by Civil Service Commission order, they are doing a 9-hour, 5-day week, with another three hours set aside for court appearances or emergencies.

At the moment, there are fewer than 1,100 persons in the force, which is allowed 1,155 people. They have never been able to come up to the 1,155 strength because pay increases and insurance programs have soaked up funds which would have been allotted to additional personnel.

And, the order reducing trooper working hours to 48 is in effect a cut of 1/7 in the strength of the force.

And, just to complicate the situation, there are 1,000 miles more of highways for the troopers to patrol. A good portion of this mileage is in expressways.

State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs has said — and hold on to your hats — that he should have 500 more men to meet his total needs, 382 of these for highway duty.

The problem is simple. It's just lack of money. The legislature provides funds for a state police budget which won't do the job of protection that we here in the State of Michigan ought to have — regardless of the fact that putting a few million more in an adequate state police force would save many times the number of dollars in prevention of property damage and personal injury.

Nor is there any water in the state police budget. Commissioner Childs is the type of man who asks for nothing more than what is absolutely necessary for his department.

Perhaps, this is his mistake. Maybe he should ask for twice or three times as much as he really needs in order to get what he wants!

We risk our necks and our property by not providing for this fine and efficient police force. During the past few years the situation has deteriorated.

Unless something is done — and done soon — this dry rot will continue until we have another state scandal by way of accidents and crime.

We are, in a nutshell, being penny-wise and pounds-of-flesh foolish.

Spencer Tracy
Improving After Lung Difficulty

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Spencer Tracy was reported improving today from an attack of lung congestion suffered as he was going on a picnic with actress Katharine Hepburn.

Tracy, 63, was stricken Sunday

in front of Miss Hepburn's Malibu Beach home.

An ambulance rushed him to St. Vincent Hospital where his physician, Dr. Karl Lewis, said Tracy was suffering from a congestive lung condition.

Miss Hepburn called the fire department for a resuscitator when Tracy was taken ill. She told the dispatcher the actor had suffered a heart attack. Dr. Lewis said later that was incorrect.

TOTAL LOSS—Firemen are shown here battling smoke and fire in a vain attempt to save St. Augustine House, a Lutheran religious retreat in Addison Township. The fire was put out at 1:20 this morning only to break out again three hours later. The building was a complete loss. Oxford, Addison and Lake Orion fire departments answered both calls.

Religious Retreat Burns

Lutheran Home Levelled by Fire

Flames Hit Structure in Addison Township

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — A building once the palatial home of a Detroit businessman—which he transformed into the center of a Lutheran religious community — was destroyed by fire last night.

Father Arthur C. Kreinheder, a former executive with the J. L. Hudson Co., discovered the fire at 10 p.m. when he returned with his 10 house guests from a visit to the Benedictine Novitiate just down the road.

Cut off by the fire from telephones in St. Augustine House, at 3316 E. Draher, Father Kreinheder was forced to return to the novitiate to phone for help.

When the Oxford Fire Department arrived at the scene at 10:20 p.m., the retreat home was in flames. Help from Addison Township and Lake Orion fire departments arrived soon after.

The blaze was brought under control at 1:20 a.m. with one wing of the 2-story cement block building left untouched.

At 4:30 a.m., Gerald A. Fillmore of 1460 Homer discovered the fire burning once more and called the fire departments. He had left only a few hours before.

Hampered by spectators who drove to the area from miles around, firemen were unable to save the remaining wing which crumbled into the basement along with the other standing walls.

Father Kreinheder said he had no idea of the amount of the loss. Cause of the fire is still undetermined.

While records were saved, several highly valued pieces of art were lost.

Only a large chapel, separate from the main house, was not touched by the fire.

Father Kreinheder was an executive with Hudson's for over 20 years before he decided to fulfill a life-long ambition and study for the priesthood in the Church of Sweden.

In 1949, he resigned from his position and left for Sweden to study for the Lutheran priesthood. Six years later, he was ordained and returned to his home which he converted into a retreat house for members of the Fellowship of St. Augustine.

The Fellowship was founded to "promote interest, study and understanding of the religious life in a community for Lutherans."

Suburbia Battles State

LANSING (AP) — Suburbia is either route, the Highway Department will be wiping out hundreds of homes, demolishing tax base so dear to the suburbs, and

The State Highway Department is marshaling its forces — engineers, public relations men and lawyers — to face the stiffest opposition yet in the decade since freeways began to stretch across the urban and rural landscape.

And in south Oakland County, the battle lines are being drawn with cities, accustomed to coexistence like the back-fence, sugar-borrowing neighbors who inhabit them, suddenly on opposite sides.

The issue is simple, yet complex establishment of a route for the new $115-million east-west freeway (I-696) which eventually will link I-96 at Wixom to the northern end of the Ford Freeway (I-84) in Macomb County.

For years, this highway has been in the planning stages.

But the fight is just now beginning to warm up, since Highway Department engineers — in a meeting with officials from the affected cities last month — produced a series of proposed alternative routes.

The Highway Department asked the cities to agree on one route or another by the end of the year.

PROJECT SCHEDULE

Under this timetable, condemnation could get underway by 1966, construction by 1967, and east-west freeway could be open for business as scheduled in 1972.

Five different routes were proposed, but they boil down basically to only two: 10-Mile Road, or 11-Mile Road, with variations.

Whichever is selected, there will be trouble. By setting

Beauty Queen 'Fair' After Boat Accident

HOLLAND (UPI) — A Holland beauty queen was in fair condition in Holland Hospital following her rescue by the driver of a powerboat which struck her paddleboat in the Kalamazoo River at Saugatuck Saturday night.

Karen Olean, 20, suffered scalp lacerations, several broken ribs and possible other internal injuries when a paddle boat she was riding in was struck by a boat driven by Larry Higgins, 22, of Saugatuck. Higgins dived into the river after the impact and rescued the semiconscious girl.

Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kolean, has won several local and college beauty contests.

severely altering the face of neighborhoods.

If the 10-Mile route is selected, eight cities — Southfield, Huntington Woods, Oak Park, Pleasant ant-Ridge, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Madison Heights and Hazel Park — will be involved.

If the freeway goes 11-Mile, it would involve seven cities as well, with Lathrup Village and Berkey included in, Ferndale, Hazel Park and Pleasant Ridge included out.

These cities, conditioned to each other through years of dealing with problems — such as sewers and water — that transcend political boundaries, have harbored hopes of being able to agree.

SET SAIL—A clothesline on the foredeck of their Chinese junk must be taken down before the Lowell Keith family can embark on the second leg of their journey to St. Croix in the Virgin Islands. Off to make a new life for themselves, the Farmington family left Saugatuck Friday after a day's delay, sailed 15 miles along the Lake Michigan shoreline and were forced by choppy waters to spend the weekend in South Haven. The Keiths will sail to Chicago and travel down the Illinois and Mississippi waterways on motor power. They estimate the trip to their new home will take a month.

Completed Orion Youth Code Outlines Parent-Teen Rules

(Editor's Note—This is the concluding article in a series analyzing the results of a survey which have led up to the formulation of a youth code in the Lake Orion Community School District.)

By ROGER SGRILEY

LAKE ORION — Parly "crashing" here is strictly against the rules.

And the rules referred to are found in the recently completed Orion Youth Code.

Sponsored by the Lake Orion Youth Guidance Committee, the conduct code will soon be offered to students and parents in the school district.

Some 2,000 junior and senior high school students and their parents completed questionnaires from which the code was determined.

Their answers were tabulated and put into the guidebook by the guidance committee, which was composed of adult representatives from juvenile court and the school system.

Also assisting in the editing task were delegates from student councils in the school district.

As stated in the code's introduction, its purpose is "not to reform, but rather to influence maturing youth toward acceptable guidelines of behavior."

IDEAS COVERED

One of the ideas which the code condones is that "young people should be encouraged not to smoke." Few of those answering the questionnaire disagreed with this premise.

Another category covered in the code deals with parent-teen relationships.

"Parents are expected to encourage their young people to invite their friends home and make them welcome," the code reads.

Fraud Case Goes to Jury

PLANT (UPI) — A federal jury was to be charged today in the case of George Greenlee, former vice president of the Davison State Bank, who is accused of fraud in the disappearance of more than $450,000.

The 56-year-old Greenlee took the stand Friday and testified he never defrauded anyone of anything. The bank with which he was connected has since merged with the Genesee-Merchants Bank and Trust Co. here.

The disclosure that Greenlee was accused of money shortages rocked the two suburbs of Davison and Lapeer, where Greenlee was well known. Several people have said "George will get out of this if they will just give him a chance to prove it."

The alleged shortages were revealed last August when he suddenly was fired from his position at the bank. He left town and went to a summer retreat in Ontario.

His assistant cashier at the bank is Mrs. Joan Phelps, 32. She did not testify and is listed as a co-defendant.

However, any overnight plans or use of the car should be discussed and approved by all parents concerned, according to the guidebook.

"Teen-agers should avoid going out on school nights unless all homework assignments are completed and they are working," is another rule in the book.

Although a slight majority of the high school students disagreed with this statement, it was included in the code because of parental opinion and results of the junior high poll.

Continuing further in this category, the pamphlet states that "on all school nights, regardless of activities, all teen-agers should be home by 10 p.m."

Another portion of the code deals with parent-teen-age religious participation.

"When parents and teen-agers attend church together, family unity is strengthened. Religious participation aids parents and youth toward a deeper understanding of our religious heritage and the moral concepts of right and wrong."

The use of profanity and drinking of alcoholic beverages are discouraged by the code.

Other categories covered in the guide include driving, studies, social events, dress, finances and dating.

All of the statements in the code represent the consensus of opinion of the participants.

Sukarno Plans Show of Force

Police Capture Fugitive Drained of Hiding Space

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian armed forces will hold joint maneuvers in the South China Sea and the Strait of Malacca to underline President Sukarno's opposition to the projected Federation of Malaysia.

There were no immediate details on the size, type or timing of the maneuvers. Information minister Roestian Abidin said the war games were "in the framework of confrontation."

The Malacca Strait and the South China Sea bracket Malaysia. Across the South China Sea from Malaysia are the British Borneo Territories of Sarawak and North Borneo, which Malaysia is scheduled to lead into Malaysia Aug. 3.

Indonesia is vigorously opposed unless U.N. Secretary General U Thant determines that the Borneo people want the federation.

Indonesia has taken several steps to sharpen its military preparedness since Sukarno renewed his anti-Malaysia campaign July 10. These include formation of an "alertness fleet" and plans to build air defense bases on outlying islands, two of them fronting the Malaysia area.

It was learned from high level naval sources an "alertness fleet" consists of about 50 ships, or about a third of Indonesia's navy, and is equipped for various types of operations including amphibious assaults.

50 May Have Died

in Kashmir Cloudburst

FAHALGAM, Kashmir (AP)—A cloudburst struck this picturesque holiday resort Saturday night and unofficial reports said 50 persons may have died.

The deluge washed away parts of two hotels and some tents on the banks of the Ladir River. Many persons were injured. Official sources said there were no foreign tourists in the resort.

More than 2,000 varieties of apples are known and cultivated, and about 1,000 kinds are grown in various sections of the U.S.

Negotiations Stalled in Chile Mine Strike

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Finance Minister Luis Mackenna broke off talks last night with union leaders involved in the 28-day-old strike at the U.S.-owned Teniente copper mine, saying their "exaggerated demands" made a settlement impossible.

Union leaders meet today to discuss a possible "general strike" of copper miners in support of the Teniente strikers.

The union is demanding a 49.9 per cent wage increase for miners employed in the Teniente pit. The company which operates the mine, a subsidiary of Kennecott Copper, is offering 40 per cent.

Family Full of Queens

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Barbara Caselli was crowned the Parkside District's May Queen in 1939. Twenty-four years later, as Mrs. Edward Shaules, she helped crown her daughter, Laurie, as the 1963 May Queen.

4th to Succumb After Undergoing Liver Transplant

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 54-year-old Florida man, the fourth person ever to undergo a liver transplant operation, died Sunday, apparently of causes unrelated to the surgery.

Arthur W. Curtis of Monticello had undergone the rare transplant at Denver Veterans Administration Hospital July 16. A VA spokesman said he appeared to be improving up to the moment he died.

A physician said the patient's temperature was being taken when his heart stopped.

All four liver transplants were done by a team of VA-Colorado University Medical School surgeons. The first, a 3-year-old boy, died in death on the operating table. The other two patients died later of complications not directly related to the transplant, physicians said.

Miss Szklenkay, 21, and Kalman Szekely, 31, Flint librarian who was a 1945 refugee from Hungary, will speak their vows Aug. 3 at St. Francis of Assisi Church in Ann Arbor.

The church is the one where Emese's brother-in-law, Stephen Dinka, 39, prayed last September before going to Paris on his dramatic mission in the dancer's behalf.

Dinka, aided by newspaper correspondent Mary Goodfellow of the Detroit Free Press, spirited Miss Szklenskay away from her Hungarian dance troupe's Communist guards and flew with her to the United States.

The willowy dancer and Szeke-ly told of their romance at the Dinka home yesterday.

"I saw all the stories about her in the newspaper," said curly-haired Szekely.

He found an intermediary at the University of Michigan to introduce him to Emese through the Kinka family. They had a date, at a ballet.

"It didn't get serious until about New Year's Day," said Ernese in her newly learned English.

"Like a woman, she waited until April to say 'yes,'" said Szekely.

"If I could only think what to do," Miss Marple said.

"Now, let me see," she made a gesture to Cherry. "Take the tray away, Cherry, and send Miss Knight up to me. I'm going to get up."

Cherry obeyed. Miss Marple dressed herself with fingers that fumbled slightly. It irritated her when she found excitement of any kind affected her. She was just hooking up her dress when Miss Knight entered.

"Did you want me? Cherry said—"

Miss Marple broke in incisively.

"Get In," she said.

"I beg your pardon," said Miss Knight, startled.

"Inch," said Miss Marple, "get Inch. Telephone for him to come at once."

"Oh, oh I see. You mean the taxi people. But his name's Roberts, isn't it?"

"To me," said Miss Marple, "he is Inch and always will be. But anyway get him. He's to come here at once."

"You want to go for a little drive?"

"Just get Inch, can you?" said Miss Marple, "and hurry, please."

Miss Knight looked at her doubtfully and proceeded to do as she was told.

"We are feeling all right, dear, aren't we?" she said anxiously.

"We are both feeling very well," said Miss Marple, "and I am feeling particularly well. Inertia does not suit me, and never has. A practical course of action, that is what I have been waiting for a long time."

"Has that Mrs. Baker been saying something that has upset you?"

"Nothing has upset me," said Miss Marple, "I feel particularly well. I am annoyed with myself for being stupid. But really, until I got a hint from Dr. Haydock this morning, now I wonder if I remember rightly. Where is that medical book of mine?" she gestured Miss Knight aside and walked firmly down the stairs.

She found the book she wanted in a shelf in the drawing room. Taking it out she looked up the index, murmured "Page 210," turned to the page in question, read for a few moments then nodded her head, satisfied.

"Most remarkable," she said, "most curious. I don't suppose anybody would ever have thought of it. I didn't myself until the two things came together, so to speak."

Then she shook her head, and a little line appeared between her eyes. "If only there was someone."

She went over in her mind the various accounts she had been given of that particular scene.

Her eyes widened in thought. There was someone—but would he, she wondered, be any good?

She never knew with the Vicar. He was quite unpredictable.

Nevertheless she went to the telephone and dialed.

"Good morning, Vicar, this is Miss Marple."

"Oh yes, Miss Marple. Anything I can do for you?"

"I wonder if you could help me on a small point. It concerns the day of the Fete when poor Mrs. Badcock died. I believe you were standing quite near Miss Gregg when Mr. and Mrs. Badcock arrived."

"Yes, I was just before them, I think. Such a tragic day."

"Yes, indeed. And I believe that Mrs. Badcock was recalling to Miss Gregg that they had met before in Bermuda. She had been ill in bed and got up specially."

"Yes, yes. I do remember."

"And do you remember if Mrs. Badcock mentioned the illness she was suffering from?"

"I think now, let me see, yes, it was measles, not real measles, German measles, a much less serious disease. Some people hardly feel ill at all with it. I remember my cousin Caroline."

"CUTS MEMORIES"

Miss Marple cut off reminiscences of Cousin Caroline by saying firmly: "Thank you so much, Vicar," and replacing the receiver.

There was an awed expression on her face. One of the great mysteries of St. Mary Mead was what made the Vicar remember certain things, only outstripped by the greater mystery of what the Vicar could manage to forget!

"The taxi's here, dear," said Miss Knight, bustling in. "It's a very old one, and not too clean should say. I don't really like you driving in a thing like that. You might pick up some germ or other."

"Nonsense," said Miss Marple. Setting her hat firmly on her head and buttoning up her summer coat, she went out to the waiting taxi.

"Good morning, Roberts," she said.

"Good morning, Miss Marple. You're early this morning. Where do you want to go?"

"Gossington Hall, please," said Miss Marple.

"I'd better come with you, had'st I, dear," said Miss Knight. "It won't take me a minute just to slip on outdoor shoes."

"No, thank you," said Miss Marple, firmly. "I'm going by myself. Drive on, Inch. I mean Roberts."

Mr. Roberts drove on, merely remarking:

"Ah, Gossington Hall. Great changes there and everywhere nowadays. All that development. Never thought anything like that'd come to St. Mary Mead."

Upon arrival at Gossington Hall Miss Marple rang the bell and asked to see Mr. Jason Rudd.

Giuseppe's successor, a rather shaky looking elderly man, conveyed doubt.

"Mr. Rudd," he said, "does not see anybody without appointment, Madam. And today specially."

"I have no appointment," said Miss Marple, "but I will wait," she added.

She stepped briskly past him into the hall and sat down on a tall chair.

"I'm afraid it will be quite impossible this morning, Madam."

"In that case," said Miss Marple, "I shall wait until this afternoon."

Ruffed, the new butler retired. Presently a young man came to Miss Marple. He had a pleasant manner and a cheerful, slightly American voice.

"I've seen you before," said Miss Marple. "In the Development. You asked me the way to Blenheim Close."

Halley Preston smiled good-naturedly. "I guess you did your best, but you misdirected me badly."

"Dear me, did I?" said Miss Marple. "So many closes, aren't there. Can I see Mr. Rudd?"

"Why, now, that's too bad," said Halley Preston. "Mr. Rudd's a very busy man and he's fully occupied this morning and really can't be disturbed."

"I'm sure he's very busy," said Miss Marple. "I came here quite prepared to wait."

"Why, I'd suggest now," said Halley Preston, "that you should tell me what it is you want. I deal with all these things for Mr. Rudd, you see. Everyone has to see me first."

"I'm afraid," said Miss Marple, "that I want to see Mr. Rudd himself. And," she added, "I shall wait here until I do."

She settled herself more firmly in the large oak chair.

Halley Preston hesitated, started to speak, finally turned away and went upstairs.

He returned with a large man in tweeds.

"This is Dr. Gilchrist, Miss—"

"Miss Marple."

"So you're Miss Marple," said Dr. Gilchrist. He looked at her with a good deal of interest.

Halley Preston slipped away with a smile.

"I've heard about you," said Dr. Gilchrist, "from Dr. Haydock."

"Dr. Haydock is a very old friend of mine."

Accidents Kill Many in Europe

STRASBOURG, France (U.P.)—Sixty thousand persons are killed and 15 million injured each year on the roads of Europe, according to a report recently presented to the Consultative Assembly of the Council of Europe.

Eighty-five to 95 per cent of these accidents are due to errors by the drivers, adds the report, which was compiled by the Economic Committee of the organization.

The report, put before the purely advisory body by Karl Cernetz of Austria, also suggested certain preventive measures.

Among these were: stiffer examinations for drivers' licenses, periodically repeated, perhaps even a psychiatric examination; more schooling of children in rules of road safety, and increased propaganda for safe driving.

Police Arrest a Thief

Working Old Rome Beat

ROME (U.P.)—Police arrested a thief they say they caught working one of the oldest beats in Rome. He was robbing tourists at the Colosseum.

That was a favorite site for purse snatchers and pickpockets as far back as 2,000 years ago.

The beginning of the American school system was in Boston children who lived in the pioneer where in 1835 a schoolmaster was settlement.

Junior Editors Quiz on AIR CONDITIONING

QUESTION: What makes cold air come out of an air conditioner?

ANSWER: Air conditioning means more than just blowing in cool air. The outside air may be uncomfortably hot, but it may also be humid, that is, carry a high degree of moisture; it may also carry dirt and soot.

The modern air conditioner corrects all these conditions at the same time, providing a circulation of air that is cool, dry, clean and comfortable.

There are several ways modern air conditioners can do this. We show how the outside air comes in at (1), passing through a filter (2). This is made of fiber glass metal or wool fibers, which have been coated with a sticky substance.

The dirt, soot and dust in the air stick to the fibers. Now the air passes through sprays of water which reduce its temperature (3), and a fan (4) moves the clean, cool air into the room so that it can circulate.

Sometimes air is cleaned through the use of fine water sprays or with "electrostatic precipitators" which attract to negatively charged collector plates.

Some conditioners cool the air by blowing it over coils filled with cold water or chemicals.

FOR YOU TO DO: Few of us have summer air conditioning in our homes, but we all have cold water running out of a tap. If you're hot enough to be uncomfortable, roll up your sleeves and let the cold water run over your wrists.

Governors Debating on Rockefeller, Goldwater

(Editor's Note—The major topics at the annual Governors' Conference are civil rights and the political implications invoiced for Republican hopefuls for the presidential nomination. Veterans AP political writer Jack Bell gives an insight to the high-pressure campaigning already in full swing.)

By JACK BELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater, locked up a cloud of political dust over the annual Governors' Conference today with a whirlwind race for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Goldwater, the man who isn't here, was keeping a hot pace with Rockefeller, on hand with his new wife and riding a civil rights horse with a heavy hand on the whip.

GOP National Chairman William E. Miller declined to answer the political questions that might have been registered by Rockefeller, and by the Democratic governors who pinned a segregationist label on the Arizona senator.

In Washington, a Goldwater aide said that the conference statements indicated that "the Democrats are beginning to panic because of Senator Goldwater's dramatic rise in popularity."

"Otherwise," this spokesman said, "I doubt that the Democratic governors would be engaged in low-level smear tactics."

Absent from the political firing front were Republican Govs. George Romney of Michigan and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, both mentioned as possible 1964 GOP presidential contenders. Romney avoids all political discussions on Sunday because of his Mormon religion. Scranton is not attending the conference.

The Rockefeller objective was to draw a sharp line between himself and Goldwater on civil rights, the only issue the New York governor has been able to find to revive his slumping hopes for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination. By all counts the conservative Goldwater has plunged into the lead since Rockefeller divorced his wife of 31 years and married Margaretta (Happy) Murphy, divorced mother of four children.

The blonde, attractive new Mrs. Rockefeller was a sensation at a preconference beachcomber party Sunday night.

CONSIDERS TV

Importuned by representatives of national television to appear on their medium with her opponent husband, Mrs. Rockefeller answered that perhaps she might go on, "but not with him." The governor, though, said he might consider it.

Rockefeller, hoping the civil rights battle would boost his presidential stock, worked hard for an opportunity to get a conference vote on the issue. He seemed to have the support of most of the Republican governors in this cause.

GOP Gov. Paul Fannin of Arizona, who described Goldwater in glowing terms at a news conference, remained unsure whether he would support the New York governor's move to put the state executives on record as favoring a strong civil rights stand.

After a series of sharp news conference questions about his candidate's position, Fannin finally said that Goldwater was neither a segregationist nor an integrationist but simply "an American."

Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and Carl E. Sanders of Georgia described Goldwater as a segregationist.

Brown, who is supporting President Kennedy's bid for a second term, said Goldwater had come into the position of the civil rights issue occupied by "extreme Southern governors" opposing Kennedy's program.

GOP Gov. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma quickly got out a statement in which he said that "anyone who calls Goldwater a segregationist falls in the same category as the John Birchers who have accused the conservative theory of many of Goldwater's

With obvious reference to Rockefeller, Bellmon said that those who had injected Goldwater into the conference civil rights civil war were "closely aligned with the present national administration" and are "afraid to give voters a clear choice between the New Frontier frustrations and dynamic conservative leadership in our nation's highest office."

Goldwater has said he could support several of the recommendations Kennedy has made to Congress. But the Arizona senator might carry his state. He added that Kennedy couldn't get the Florida electoral vote unless

Sanders gave support to the Sanders said that Goldwater "is thought of as a segregationist in Georgia." He added that Rockefeller wouldn't do well in the state as a GOP nominee but that a Kennedy-Goldwater contest would provide a horse race in Georgia.

Similarly, Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida said that Goldwater might carry his state. He added that Kennedy couldn't get the Florida electoral vote unless any statement which would classify him as a segregationist.

Rockefeller drew back from accusing Goldwater of being a segregationist. He said, in response, said the Arizona senator ought to questions, that "I haven't seen

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Cures Asthma. No Prescriptions Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special)—A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula is safe for all ages, relieves the alkaline asthma and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma—the straining for breath, the gasping, the suffocation, the terrible fear of asphyxiation.

All without vaccines, painful shots or narcotics. The formula is as safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in any drug store.

Doctors know that when asthma attacks, lung passages become blocked, air is "trapped" inside lungs and suffocation follows. The new formula, BROHNOXIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe, opens bronchial tubes and loosens the mucus that blocks lung passages. It restores free breathing and vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The results: free breathing is restored in minutes. Patients who are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to peaceful sleep.

Brohnoxin is sold in all drug stores without prescription.

Disturbed Over Delay of Thanks

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: What is the correct length of time for acknowledging wedding presents? I have sometimes waited as long as three months before knowing whether the bride received my present. This is disturbing because I usually have it sent directly from the store and have no way of knowing if it was received.

A: The courteous bride always writes notes of thanks as soon as she possibly can. Sometimes if she has received many presents this will take her some time, but certainly few brides receive such numbers as to excuse a three months delay in writing thank you.

Q: Am I being needlessly punctilious in expecting a boy's mother to write my daughter and ask her to visit them? The boy spent a week at our house not long ago at our daughter's invitation and she feels that inasmuch as I didn't write him, his invitation to her should also be sufficient. I know manners have greatly relaxed since I was a girl but I still feel this is the proper thing even today.

A: The two instances are quite different. It is not at all necessary for a girl's mother to second her daughter's invitation to a boy, but before a girl may accept an invitation to stay overnight in a boy's house, she must be invited by his mother.

Q: Am I just touchy, or is it proper for my husband to be asked to take part in a wedding and for me to be left out entirely?

A: Your words "just touchy" perfectly explains the situation. You should, of course, be invited to the wedding and reception, but it is neither incorrect nor discourteous not to include you in the bridal party.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have the booklet, entitled, "The Bride's Trouseau," send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

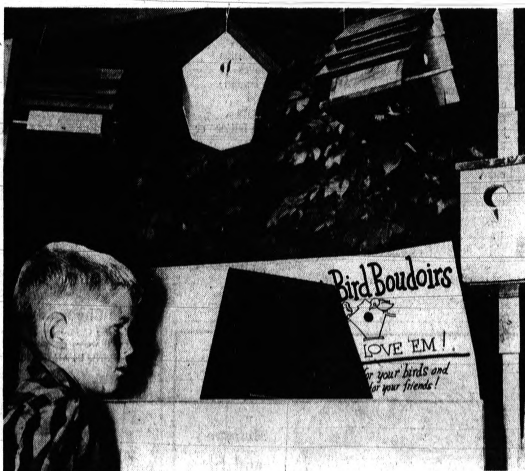

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Couple Marries at Kirk-in-the-Hills

Rev. Robert F. Herrmannson of the University Presbyterian Church, Rochester, officiated at the Saturday nuptials of Judith Anne Newberg to John Robert Bookwalter at Kirk-in-the-Hills.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Newberg of Kirkway Drive, were hosts at a garden reception following the ceremony.

Sister's Faults Hurt Girl

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have just received a telephone call from the boy I've been dating. He told me that his mother didn't want him to date me any more because she had heard some things about my older sister.

Of course, he said we could date on the sly, but I don't like that idea. I have had girls tell me that their parents didn't want them to run around with me because of my sister.

ABBY

Sure, my sister has a bad reputation, but I have never done the slightest thing out of line. Why do brothers and sisters have to suffer because of something they couldn't help?

I'm not the only one with this problem. How can I prove to people that I am not like my sister?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Don't try to "prove" anything. Build your own good reputation. Those who are not willing to judge you on your own record are not worth having for friends.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BUDDY: I know why some golfers don't wear wedding rings. It interferes with their "swing"—and, oh, boy, how most golfers like to swing.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mileage, Care Important When Trading Car

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley: Does one trade in a car after two years, five years, or wait until it is no longer a fair trade bargain?

So many people I know trade a car every two years in order to protect their original investment. Others I know wait five years and perhaps get half the trade value of their investment. Still others wait until the car falls apart.

How can I decide what to do with my car? It is in very good condition and I hate the thought of monthly payments again. Yet I despise paying for costly repairs on an older car. Could you please give me an answer?

Mrs. T. R. O'D., Miami
Dear Mrs. O'D.: The age of a car has less to do with the advantage you'll have in a trade-in than does the mileage and the CARE the car has received. So you can't judge arbitrarily by the year it was made. The traveling salesman, or the person who combines business and pleasure in the use of his car, may put 1,200 miles a month on it.

He has good reason to trade in every two years. On the other hand, the car that's driven only 7,000 to 8,000 miles in a year can well last five years before trade in seems advisable.

You don't mention how many miles your own car has been driven — but take it for granted that after 50,000 miles you can expect to run up repair bills of one kind or another. Some people trade in cars every two years, not necessarily to protect their original investment but just because they like a new car and can afford it.

If you prefer to hang onto yours for a while longer, rather than take on new-car payments, remember these two facts for cutting costs:

Careless driving habits tend to increase cost by wasting gasoline and wearing out tires. They also cause accidents and involve needless repair bills.

High speeds tend to defeat

Hosts Shower for Bride-Elect

Mrs. Daniel Carmichael of Wenonah Drive was showered Thursday honoring Faye Davis of Voorhees Road. Mrs. Norman Hould was co-hostess.

Parents of the honoree are the Raymond Davises. Her fiancé, David Parnell Carmichael of Prall Street is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carmichael.

economy. At 70 miles an hour, a car is burning 25 per cent more gas than it would at 10 miles an hour less!

Keep your car CLEAN — inside and out. Road dust and grit mar surfaces and upholstery, literally wear out interior fabrics. Appearance counts when you do decide to trade it in.

Dear Miss Feeley: I am 19 years old, and have just started working as a licensed beautician. What amount should I bank and allow for clothes? My take home pay is $48 a week, plus tips which vary from $1 to $5 a week. Room and board is $15 a week, transportation $2.

Most accurate account of tips purposes?

P. J., Mt. Prospect, Ill.
Dear P. J.: Taking the last question first, the answer is Yes. Tips are part of your income.

Now for the budget: Start with 10 per cent of your weekly income as your regular deposit in a savings account. This will vary, as you point out, according to tips.

You should be able to allow 8 per cent for clothing. The balance of your salary can then be allocated to medical costs, miscellaneous, church gifts, lunches. A well-balanced budget allows 8 to 10 per cent for clothing, including upkeep. Whether you find the per cent in proportion to your other expenses — or whether you could increase this amount — remains to be seen. You'll learn by trying it out for awhile.

(For Mary Feeley's budget suggestion booklet, send long, self-addressed stamped envelope to her in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Reception Held After Nuptials

The Hawaiian Gardens near Hilly was the setting for a reception following the Saturday marriage of Sharon Elizabeth Hennin to James Jay Davis of Auburn Avenue.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles W. Warner in the Auburn Heights First Methodist Church.

Daughter of the Willard H. Hennin, Auburn Heights, the bride appeared in a gown of white Rochelle lace and net over taffeta. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a seed pearl tiara. Gardenias and Stephanotis rested on her small white Bible.

Mrs. Wayne White, her sister's honor matron, appeared in pink chiffon with lace bodice. The bridegroom's sister, Patricia, who was bridesmaid, wore pale blue chiffon. Nosegays of carnations matched their dresses.

Roy Davis of Madison Heights stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell L. Davis of Detroit. Larry Fortney and Dale Crittenden acted as the groomsmen.

The newweds will reside in Pontiac.

Marilyn Evans Marries Thomas George Broders

Rev. Malcolm Burton officiated at the Saturday evening nuptials of Marilyn Lee Evans and Thomas George Broders, followed by a reception, in the First Congregational Church.

The bride, daughter of Mrs.

MRS. T. G. BRODERS

Theodore Evans, Union Lake, and the late Mr. Evans, chose the traditional white satin with lace bodice.

A pearl diadem held her short veil of illusion and her only jewelry was the bridegroom's pearl gift necklace. White carnations and Stephanotis comprised her bouquet.

JoAnne Evans attended her sister as honor maid wearing bouffant mint green satin and Suzanne Broders chose pale yellow satin for her bridesmaid duties. They carried white carnations tipped to match their dress colors.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow E. Broders, of Iroquois Street had Roger Horton of Davisburg for best man. The bride's cousin, Michael Evans, ushered with James Campbell and George Klingler.

A home in Royal Oak awaits the couple on their return from a brief honeymoon.

DONNA L. HUMBAUGH

The Irvin W. Humbaughs of Elizabeth Lake Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Lee to Eugene Riabucha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Riabucha of Saline Drive. Her fiance attended Ferris Institute. A 1964 fall wedding is being planned.

Why Grow Old?

Q. "In your article 'Look as Young as You Feel' the other day, you told overweights that not to wear. Please ask the dress manufacturers why they make flare skirts in large prints in dress sizes 20 and up, and in junior sizes make slim skirts and use plain colors. We large women cannot find a flattering dress style let alone plain colors."

A. It does seem that so many dresses in large sizes are made of material with large prints. The extremely slim skirt may not be so flattering to the overweight woman, but certainly a full one isn't either. Perhaps the gored skirt is the best becoming.

Q. "What sort of lights should I use when applying my make-up?"

A. Of course, the ideal thing would be to make up in the same sort of light you are going to be in when you appear in your make-up. However, this is virtually impossible for most women.

Be Patient—Emotional 'Flood' Will Pass

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: You have occasionally written about a patient's reaction to psychoanalytic treatment. My sister-in-law started it four months ago after an argument with my brother. Its results are very bad. She fights over every little thing, has insulted several old friends and is too outspoken to her children, especially her 12-year-old girl. My brother is afraid to go out with her because he doesn't know what she will say next.

ANSWER: Wait. You know what a cold winter does to the water of brooks and rivers? It freezes it. It immobilizes its power to flow by congealing it into ice. Well, that's what growing up with cold, self-centered people can do to our expansive feelings—our anger and loves.

Our dependence on their approval locks up our power to feel passionately so that anger and loves can only trickle from us in complaints, in self-pity and ingratitude. Then, some nervous symptom of protest sends us to a psychoanalyst. Under the sun of his benevolent support of all our feelings, the ice that has congealed them begins to melt.

The anger, hurts, guilts and anxieties which our wintry experiences have stored up along with our efforts to love, begin to flow from us in a headlong rush just as the melted water of brooks and rivers swells into headlong flood at the coming of spring.

When psychoanalysis first releases this apron flood of gathered feelings, its violence can terrify people who thought they knew us. Like you, they don't know what to do with its tide of released vitality. They fear it will overflow its banks and destroy valuable relationships. But it doesn't. It just knocks down the ramshackle ones that have no strong roots. What's wrong with that? Gradually, the accumulated feelings lose the violence of their first flood stage—and settle down to a steady flow of new, but reasonable and true feeling.

I have used the image of floods in spring because it may convey more understanding to you than a "scientific" explanation quoted from some professional book. We have feelings about spring floods that we cannot have for scientific explanations.

We feel awe, tolerance and some tenderness at the sight of a brook's turbulent water rushing past us in the abandon of spring. We also know that it will grow clear and steady as soon as its season for rushing is over.

By comparing your sister-in-law's state to the regained vitality of a brook in spring, I hope to help you lose your fear of it.

KIDNAPED?—When thieves stole the car of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bertram in Boston, they really had something—the couple's 3-month-old son Eric Eugene. Police searched for 30 hectic minutes, then found the car abandoned by youths. Eric was safe and sound, his kitten at his side.

Argue With President

Philippine Leaders Quit

MANILA (UPI)—Two leaders of the governing Liberal Party broke with President Diosdado Macapagal over the weekend in a dispute arising from the case of deported American millionaire Harry S. Stonehill.

Vice President Emmanuel Pelaez resigned as foreign secretary Saturday and Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos boycotted a Macapagal speaking tour Sunday because they held the President responsible for statements linking them with Stonehill.

Other liberal leaders are trying to soothe their ruffled feelings, fearing a major split in the party.

Justice Secretary Salvador Marino said in a radio-teletext Saturday that a notation in Stonehill's "little black book" indicated he paid Pelaez $2,500 in a stock deal. Marino said Marcos also was involved in the Stonehill case, but gave no details.

Former Justice Secretary Jose Diokno charged some time ago that Macapagal himself received $2,500 from Stonehill in 1960 through Ira Blaustein, the president's agent in New York.

Pelaez denied Marino's statement. "I cannot represent our country with dignity when the secretary of justice has raised a dark cloud over me by making malicious imputations against my integrity and honor," the vice president told newsmen.

"What makes it all the more horrible is the inescapable conclusion that his ignoble effort has the sanction of the man (Macapagal) who appointed him to his high office. For this reason, I am tendering my resignation as a member of the cabinet."

"I shall remain as vice president of the Philippines because I do not owe this to President Macapagal. . . . I owe this to the people."

Stonehill and a business associate, Peter Lim, were deported last year on charges of evading taxes, shipping dollars out of the country and "establishing a network of corruption" in the Philippines.

Nicklaus Adds PGA Crown to His Golfing Honors

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, at the tidy old age of 33 and after a spectacular amateur career, has added the Professional Golfers Association title to his 1962 U.S. Open championship and his 1963 Masters crown. It's left him happy but hungry for more.

"I'm still hungry," the blocky, cherub-faced Columbus, Ohio, heavyweight said after a sizzling 3-under-par 68, capped by a title-winning 30-foot birdie putt on the 86th hole, had brought him from behind to the PGA crown by two strokes over Bruce Crampton and three over Dave Ragan and Dow Finsterwald.

"I'm in this game as a competitor and I want to win every time I play. There are some times when you can't get your self keyed up quite a bit—like maybe next weekend in Chicago at the Western Open. But if I have a couple of good rounds the first two days, that in itself will charge me up."

"When I get to the stage where I'm not hungry any more, then I don't see much time in playing. I don't think that time will come very soon."

NEEDS TO LEARN
"I've still got plenty to learn about golf," Nicklaus emphasized. "For one thing, I've never learned to get comfortable over a putt. I know I have the putt lined up. They might tell me I am, but I can't feel it."

Jack's normal putting pace for a tournament. "I felt I could have made a 68 or 69 on the first round, about that or better on the second round. I was playing that well," he said. "Actually, though, I don't like to think about what might have been. As long as it was good enough, I'm happy—naturally. But until the last round, I thought this was the worst scoring in a major tournament on a well-conditioned course that I've seen in a long time. I thought it would take 72 to be here and I thought there would be a lot of fellows—certainly more than just four—under par for the four rounds."

Although sub-par golf turned up with more frequency in the third and fourth rounds, only Nicklaus at 279, Ragan at 281 after a closing 68, and Crampton and Dow Finsterwald, at 282 after shooting 74 and 72 respectively, were under par. Wilroy Al Gelberger and Billy Maxwell matched it at 284, in a tie for fifth place.

Liston Remains 4-1 Favorite

Las Vegas Set for Tonight's Title Match

1st Fight Nightmare Haunts Ex-Champion in Bid for Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Awe-some Sonny Liston remained a most formidable favorite to retain the world heavyweight title in tonight's fight with Floyd Patterson—his last fight—wrecked in one devastating round in Chicago last Sept. 25.

Yanks Lead by 7, Belt Tribe Twice

It might be better for the reds, stretching their lead to seven games, largest bulge of the season.

PGA CHAMP—Smiling Jack Nicklaus holds the Wanamaker Trophy for winning the PGA championship in Dallas yesterday. Runnerup Dave Ragan sits on the left. Nicklaus had a 72-hole score of 279 and added $13,000 to his winnings for the year.

Bad Day for Pitchers

National League Hitters Go Wild

By The Associated Press
This has been a great year for pitchers. They couldn't prove it by their work Sunday in the National League.

There were 183 hits sprayed around and out of NL parks in eight games, including 22 home runs.

The Pittsburgh Pirates rapped out 22 hits in an extra-inning victory, Philadelphia's streaking after four losses. The Braves game was decided by the Braves seven-run fourth inning and Cincinnati's tight relief pitching.

Cranbrook Nine Moves Closer to Loop Lead

The Cranbrook express, delayed only once in its last seven starts, showed a full head of steam last night at Joycee No. 2 diamond.

A capacity crowd of almost 8,000 will watch in person in the Las Vegas Convention Center, and an undetermined number will view it in more than 140 theater and other outlets around the nation via closed circuit television.

This would be far less than the $4 million-plus paid out for the original match, a statistic easily ignored by the fight of a stop-watch. The first one lasted two minutes six seconds, third quickest in heavyweight title boxing history.

3 STEALS—Dick McAuliffe, Detroit Tiger shortstop, caught the LA Angels napping in the 7th inning and stole third base. He has his third stolen base of the game as ex-tiger Frank Kustro takes the throw from pitcher Dan Osinski. The Tigers won the game, 8-2.

Bob Tillman's 10th inning homer off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm gave the Red Sox their squeaker over the White Sox at Chicago. Dick Stuart's two-run single in the ninth tied it up for Boston. Dick Radatz, the big Boston flamethrower who came into the game in the ninth, boosted his record to 12-1.

Manager Walt Aiston of the Dodgers was ejected from each game in disputes with umpires. Dick Groat increased his league-leading average to .338 with a double and triple in the Cardinals' romp over the Cubs, who now have lost six in a row.

The Phils, who have taken 13 of their last 16, got a four-hit shutout performance from Chris Short in the opening game against the Mets, then Dennis Bennett and Johnny Klippstein combined for a strong job in the second game. Meanwhile, Philadelphia batters unloaded, with five hits each by Johnny Callison and Ron Amaro leading the barrage.

The Cubs pulled the first triple play of the season in the second game. The defending champion Giants, fighting a prolonged slump, cut loose against the Reds. Orlando Cepeda paced the offense with a homer and two doubles for San Francisco, which had won only three of its previous 13 games.

"After five, I'm quitting," said Liston, who has from the outset looked with professional disdain on Patterson's chances.

Strong Lary Back in Form

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Frank Lary, who put them ahead, 5-1, Lary received an Oscar for his Detroit drive Angel starter and performance yesterday at Chavez. Lary, who gave most of the play-down in that inning as the 22nd of his supporting cast—two contributed to his own downfall with a two-base error on an attempted pickoff play that allowed one run to score and opened the gate to an unearned rally.

The Angel defense collapsed after that, and Los Angeles was guilty of four errors.

Another Title Is Added by Mrs. DeBolt

Saturday's eclipse didn't dark on the golf enthusiasm of Mrs. Zulaib DeBolt, who has made a habit of winning the Pontiac city women's golf championship.

Mrs. DeBolt took home the medal championship trophy for the 8th time in her golf career when she fired a 43-40-81, one stroke ahead of another past champion Bobbie Miller who had 44-40-84.

Her first title came in 1956. Last year she edged Phyllis Boyer and Gretchen Bouwens by one stroke with an 82.

Three moundmen combined for a three-hit victory. Al Levy, who has won the title 13 credits for the win although he permitted two of the hits and the only run—a homer by Dick Bushey.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Patterson and Liston, the two heavyweights, met in the main event of the Las Vegas Convention Center, July 22, 1968. Patterson, 33, was the defending champion, and Liston, 36, was the challenger. Patterson won the fight by a unanimous decision, 115-124.

Lary indicated he was over the shoulder that had held him to two wins in 1962 after he had captured 23 games the previous year. The 32-year-old Lary struck out five men while walking only two.

The Tigers won the game with a three-run outburst in the sixth inning. Lary's batting average was .285, and he had 10 home runs and 10 RBIs.

Waterford Township Class C softball last night found Haskins Chevrolet moving into a second place tie with a 4-3 win over Rockville Point.

Three runs in the bottom of the sixth enabled Gene Coon to gain the win on a five-hitter. An exhibition game saw Pontiac's Huron Bowl top the Class B Lakeland Pharmacy team, 6-3.

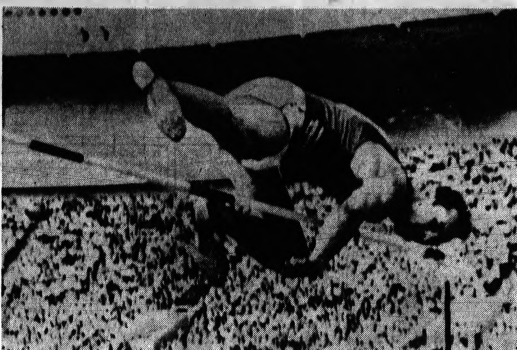

Waterford Township Softball last night found Haskins Chevrolet moving into a second place tie with a 4-3 win over Rockville Point.

Tonight at 8 p.m. the Clippers will attempt to tighten the first place race with a win over Tipton Lumber which is in the fourth place fight for fourth place.

Track Squads Show Poorly at Moscow

Women Beaten; Men Pushed by Russians Before 5-Point Win

MOSCOW (AP)—When does a winner feel like a loser?

When he beats the Russians by only five points.

The American track and field team scratched out a victory over the Soviet Union in their annual dual meet here Saturday and Sunday by that slim margin, lowest American victory total ever.

But it would be difficult to identify the winners today. The Russians were flashing their thumbs up "chunky dory" signal all over town.

GLOOMY

The Americans were gloomy. There were enough sour grapes around to start a vinegar factory.

Targets for American carping included the food in Moscow hotels, some of the athletes themselves and the behavior of some members of the winning team, who reportedly sat around hotel lobbies complaining about life in Moscow, instead of training.

These were the cold facts:

The Americans won 12 of the events, the Russians 10. That was the lowest victory margin in the history of the five meets in a series that began in 1958.

The Americans got only the points they expected, and not all of those. None of their hoped-for points materialized.

The Soviets won the 110 high hurdles for the first time, and took seconds in the 100 and 400 meters. For the first time, Russian Valery Brumel broke his own world high jump record with a leap of 7 feet 5 1/2 inches.

DISAPPOINTMENT

Hayes Jones of Pontiac was a major disappointment in the 110-meter high hurdles. In a race that started three times, Jones was the only one to finish.

The first start resulted in a recall for a false start. The second time everyone left the blocks except Jones. After the runners had gone approximately half way another false start was signaled.

Three of the runners finished the race and a big dispute developed before it was agreed to run a third time. This time Jones left with everyone else but finished a badly beaten third at 1:4.0.

The Americans lost the 400-meter relay when they were disqualified for blatantly illegal baton passing.

"It was just one of those crazy things," said coach Payton Jordan of Stanford. "These young kids just couldn't get untracked. But I think they're straightened out now and will do the job the rest of the way."

The team leaves in two groups today and tomorrow for Warsaw, where both the men's and women's teams will meet the Polish teams July 25-27. Meets in Hannover, Germany, and London follow.

Almost unbelievable disaster struck the women's team in the Soviet meet.

The girls were shipped by the Russians 75-28, lost all 10 events and only took two seconds.

Gols turned back law, 32, in the 18-hole finals and Stevens, 37, in the semifinals, each time winning the Lincoln Golf Club course as methodically as if he were racking the balls on a table in his billiard hall at home.

The victory for Gols made him one of the oldest men ever to win a major athletic tournament in Michigan.

In the finals, Gols reached the 2 up on Law, then finished one up at the turn but Gols halved the 10th through the 14th with pars and Gols lost the 15th when he missed the green for a bogey four. Both shot even par the remaining distance.

Gols and Stevens halved 15 of the 18 morning holes. Stevens was one up at the turn but Gols halved the 10th through the 14th with pars and Gols lost the 15th when he missed the green for a bogey four. Both shot even par the remaining distance.

City Softball Clubs Eye Playoff Berths

Harvey's Colonial House, city class A softball champs, can't back and relax until state tournament time, and watch the other seven teams in the American League scramble for the remaining four state tournament positions.

The teams finishing second, third and fourth in regular season play will represent the city in the state A, B and C tournaments. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth place teams will play a 2-game knockout series to determine the city's D representative.

Harvey's may have something to do with where the other seven members finish. The city AA representatives have a 7 p.m. date with fourth place Elks at Beaudette Park Tuesday.

The Elks are tied with Monticelli for fourth place in Country and Country a half-a-game behind in sixth. Monticelli has a game with Town and Country

Thursday at 7 on the Northside diamond.

Arro plays Howe's Lanes on Tuesday at Northside following the Monticelli-Town and Country clash, and last place 300 bowl at Beaudette on Friday.

Lakeland Pharmacy can keep alive its flickering hopes for a tie in the Waterford Class B race when it meets league leader Spencer Floor Covering Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. The same two teams will clash in a makeup game Friday.

Four games are scheduled in city softball tonight. At Beaudette Park, Local No. 653 meets Bob and Larry's at 7 and Motorcar plays First Church of the Brethren in the nightcap of a National League twill.

Two International League games are slated at Northside. Popover's Market will clash with Beutner's at 7 preceding the Berry Door-Bud & Lou's game at 8:30.

No games are scheduled in the Waterford League tonight.

DETROIT (AP) — Police sought to track down a bogus check operation that used counterfeit City of Detroit checks in the amount of $6,500 since June 7.

The City Treasurer's Office, on which the checks were drawn, said the numbers on the checks did not tally with the office's system of numbering which led to their detection.

Police said the checks averaged about $100 each and were printed on special forms used to give city employees advance vacation pay.

The names used on the checks were those of two city employees, whom police said knew nothing of the scheme.

Market Lower

Foreign Issue Rally Dwindles

NEW YORK (AP)—A rally by Canadian and other foreign issues petered out and the stock market moved irregularly lower early this afternoon.

The foreign stocks—elaborated last week by President Kennedy's proposals for a tax on Americans who purchase foreign securities—came back handsomely in early trading in response to a Washington decision to exempt Canadian new issues.

Soon afterwards, however, came news from Washington that a railroad industry spokesman said there was no chance of averting a nationwide rail strike unless Congress enacts legislation for compulsory arbitration.

Fractional gains were made by Syntex, Massey-Ferguson, Canadian Javelin, Bell Telephone of Canada, Hayette and Data-Control Systems.

Among losers were Occidental Petroleum, Radiation, Inc., Kirby Petroleum, and Falcon Seaboard Drilling.

Trading was so slow that it

Can't Decide on Concession

Several Considered for Airport Expansion

DETROIT (UPI)—The Wayne County Road Commission was still up in the air today over which way to get the million dollar concession business at Metropolitan Airport when its expansion is completed in 1965.

At present, Interstate Hest, Inc., of Los Angeles, is maintaining a $2 million annual business at the airport.

But Interstate's contract runs out in 1968 and other airport caterers would like to take over.

Interstate would like to expand its present operation from a $2-million annual business to $7 million. But any expansion would mean an investment of about a million dollars.

The concession, which brings in about $1 million annually in revenue to the road commission.

Officials for Interstate say it would be unreasonable to expect a million-dollar investment in a contract that will have only three years to run after the new airport facilities open in the fall of 1965.

The Wayne County Road Commission, which supervises the airport's operation, said Interstate's service so far has been satisfactory.

Interstate officials said its net profit is 3 per cent of sales after paying the county 15 per cent on liquor sales and 13.81 per cent on restaurant food sales.

Grain Trading Ends With Weak Prices

CHICAGO (AP)—Trading in July futures contracts ended today with prices generally weak and all other months mostly lower on the board of trade.

July corn was down four cents or more at the finish and soybeans a cent or more. Trading in those deliveries ceased at noon and activity was never more than moderate in other contracts.

Brokers said there appeared to be very little movement toward expansion of long positions anywhere in the market after speculators had balanced positions in the expiring contracts.

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans love affair with the family car is making weekend weather an economic force in many businesses, large and small.

If the weather was miserable in your area, the last few days, the effect may be felt in time as far away as Detroit and Akron.

For example, makers of suntan and sunburn lotions and creams have raised their annual sales from $7 million ten years ago to $14 million last year.

Whether this summer's weekends are fair or dreary can have a lot to do with the industry, reaching its 1963 sales goal of $20 million.

(or good) weather could mean a variation of up to 10 billion vehicles miles of highway travel. Such an extreme case would mean a difference of about 700 million gallons of gasoline burned up, 350,000 tires worn out, and perhaps 30 million meals at roadside eateries.

Also affected by weekend weather are many things, from the sale of bikinis and sun lotions to picnic supplies and car rental services.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR
"I am planning to invest $10,000 in common stocks. I also intend to add to this investment through a quarterly investment plan. My objective is appreciation and additional income for my retirement years. I am 35 years old. My special interest is in consumer-type growth stocks and I would appreciate five recommendations." F.D.

A) You show good investment sense, if I may say so. The types of stocks for which you show preference have been emphasized here for years, because I believe that they offer the best opportunity for consistent growth in the type of civilization we have developed in this country.

Another way of characterizing these stocks is by the use of the term "effective merchandisers." Texaco has been selling at all time highs not because its products are necessarily superior, but because it is probably the most efficient merchandiser in the United States.

For your investment along these lines, I suggest Bristol-Myers, Standard Brands, Franklin Life Insurance, Long Island Lighting, American Express.

"I have several series of savings bonds which have matured, but I do not need current income at present. Would you advise me to (1) leave them to accumulate interest; (2) exchange them for series H bonds; or (3) redeem them with buy Treasury 4's of 1967?" N.H.

A) Your series E bonds have been automatically extended and are accruing interest at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent per annum.

You would get no greater yield by exchanging them for series H bonds. By so doing, you would simply defer the tax on your series E interest accruals and get current taxable income which you say you don't need—instead of accrued income.

If you redeem your series E bonds and buy Treasury 4's of 1960, the entire interest accrual on your series E bonds becomes subject to Federal income taxes for the year in which your bonds are redeemed.

With my position, I would stay with my series E bonds. Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column. (Copyright 1963)

Valeri, a widely respected man, had been among the cardinals mentioned as a candidate to the papacy, both in the 1958 conclave that elected Pope John XXIII and in the conclave on June 21 that elected Pope Paul VI.

His health in recent years had been good. He underwent surgery last April in a Rome clinic. The nature of the operation was not disclosed.

Valeri's death reduces the size of the College of Cardinals to 80. There has been speculation that Pope Paul might call a conclave soon to increase the size of the college, and the loss of another cardinal—the fourth so far this year—would seem to increase that possibility.

Building Damage Disrupts Traffic in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Traffic around the national capital was disrupted today while city authorities sought to prevent the collapse of a cupola on the famous old Molina Sweets shop, a favorite haunt of Argentine politicians.

If the highly ornamental tower atop the seven-story building were to fall, it probably would hit a corner of the capitol, across the street.

The busy intersection of Rivadavia and Callao streets was closed to traffic yesterday, killing a 7-year-old girl spectator. The demonstration marked the 40th anniversary of the Italian air force show plane.

TURIN, Italy (UPI)—An Italian air force show plane, crashed during an air show yesterday, killing a 7-year-old girl spectator. The demonstration marked the 40th anniversary of the Italian air force.

Men from the salvage squad placed huge beams to shore up the cupola, but engineers said further precautions would be necessary to make sure it will not fall.

Negro Chosen for NLRB Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has selected a former law professor to be the first Negro member of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Kennedy announced yesterday at Hyannis Port, Mass., that he would nominate Howard Jenkins Jr., a 48-year-old Republican, to succeed Philip Ray Rogers, whose NLRB term expires Aug. 27.

The selection of a Negro for the $30,000-a-year job stressed employment opportunity in government and private industry.

The administration had Rogers to keep the 3 to 2 party ratio on the Democratic-dominated NLRB, a target of GOP criticism.

Other members are Gerald Francis McCulloch, Chairman, A. Brown and John Fanning, all Democrats, and Republican Boyd sought a Republican to succeed Leedom.

Mountie Myth Falls Beneath Chief's Words

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alas, another legend has come crashing down: Canada's famed Mounties don't always get their man.

In fact, says the head of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, they don't even try at the time.

"It would be utterly ridiculous to continue chasing a man through hell and high water, no matter what offense he had committed," Commissioner C. W. Harrison said today in a copyright interview with U.S. News & World Report.

The legend that the Mounties always get their man "was never true," Harrison said. "That expression has been built up—principally by Hollywood."

It is time to discourage young men who want to join the force thinking they will ride gorgeously across the prairies in their red coats to the tune of "Rose Marie." Our men can expect long, hard work and not much pay compared with the responsibilities they carry.

She'll Be 14 When Starting College Work

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill. (AP)—When Tamara Most starts freshman studies at Shimer College in September, she'll be only 14 years old.

Donald G. Ruter, vice president of Shimer, a school of just over 300 students, said Sunday Miss Most, of Tinicum Township near Easton, Upper Bucks County, Pa., is 14 now. He said he believes no college has a student that young.

Miss Most is being admitted under Shimer's early entrance program which provides for acceptance of students with less than four years of high school who demonstrate by college entrance examination that they can handle college-level work.

Ruter said Miss Most, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greenville T. Most, has completed two years at Palisades High School near Easton.

Tax Cut Bill May Be Lost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., warned yesterday that the tax bill may be lost in the Senate for passage of President Kennedy's civil rights proposals.

Long said during a radio program that chances for a tax cut "get dimmer all the time" after he said it was still possible Congress would pass the administration's tax reduction and reform proposals.

The measure is still being considered in the House Ways & Means committee. Following House action, the Senate's finance committee will have hearings before sending it to the floor for a vote.

Police Get Tip on Girl's Killer; 2 Men Sought

The search for the slayer of 14-year-old Connie Crossland has been narrowed down to two men in a white 1961 Pontiac Bonneville convertible.

This first strong lead to the girl's killers was revealed this morning by Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons.

He said police have pieced together an almost complete picture of the dead girl's movements during the week before she was murdered.

County Traffic Takes 3 Lives

Traffic accidents in the county took the lives of two persons over the weekend and another this morning.

Earl Swinney, 22, of 3065 Melvin, Rochester, was killed Saturday at 11:50 p.m. on I-75 just west of Giddings in Pontiac Township when his convertible went out of control and rolled over six times.

Sheriff's deputies found the body 82 feet from the wreckage. The crash victim was driving a car owned by Paul Raymond of Utica.

John Troyer, 37, a passenger in a car driven by his daughter, Mrs. Gwendoline Moore, 59, also of Detroit, died Sunday at 12:30 a.m. following an accident at 13 Mile and Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Township.

RAN LIGHT
Police said Mrs. Moore's car, traveling east on 13 Mile, ran red blinker light and collided with a car driven by Thomas J. Clark, 20, of 24158 Elizabeth, Farmington.

Mrs. Moore is in fair condition at William Beaumont Hospital with facial lacerations. Clark was treated for scalp lacerations at the hospital and released.

A man whose name is withheld pending notification of next of kin was killed at 7:15 a.m. today when the tractor-trailer he was driving east on I-75 in Pontiac Township plunged over the guard rail and flipped over.

The driver was pinned under the wreckage, which had to be lifted by a crane. He was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Witnesses told sheriff's deputies that the truck, carrying corrugated cardboard, was traveling about 35 miles per hour when it left the road a half mile east of Giddings, about a mile from where Swinney was killed.

Seek Governors' Debate on Rights Without Vote

MIAMI BEACH — A move to calm the civil rights storm at the National Governors' Conference by permitting debate but no voting on the issue appeared set for approval today.

Bucking opposition from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other Republicans, Democrat Grant Sawyer of Nevada announced he would move to abolish the resolutions committee under which governors now must go on record on issues sometimes "embarrassing" at home. He said he had the votes to win.

Senator Hart Replies:

Errors Creep Into Foreign Aid

SEN. PHILIP A. HART

Concerning our recent editorial on foreign aid, The Press has received this important letter from U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart. After making two basic points in The Press Foreign Aid editorial — let's require every recipient of foreign aid to make a case for receiving assistance, and don't use our money on useless frills or luxuries — you want our role as a "soft touch" reviewed. I'm in full agreement.

If we are not now requiring that, I would be glad to have a specific case which I could take up with the administration. We deal with many countries and large sums, and some mistakes creep in. The Russians are in this foreign aid business too, and for motives very different from ours. I saw

Expect Envoy to Sign Treaty, Head for U.S.

Document Completed, Unless Nik Throws Last-Minute Block

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet sources said today a working party put finishing touches this morning on an East-West treaty banning nuclear tests in the air, outer space and under water.

U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman was expected to initial it today or tomorrow and return to Washington on Wednesday, sources in Washington said.

Unless Soviet Premier Khrushchev comes up with a last-minute hurdle, diplomats here regarded the treaty as virtually completed. Harriman, Britain's Lord Hailsham and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko met in the afternoon.

The meetings were resumed after a weekend break in an atmosphere of mounting optimism.

Western sources here indicated that only a last-minute obstacle, such as a Soviet demand for a nonaggression pact, could block the accord.

Harriman had an excellent opportunity Sunday night to sound out Khrushchev on any last minute roadblocks.

U.S.-Soviet track met narrowly won by the American men and women.

After the meet, Khrushchev invited Harriman and U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler into a reception room attached to the premier's Lenin Stadium box.

The hour-long surprise meeting, like all the rest of the talks, was secret. But it was the best opportunity Harriman has had to urge the U.S. contention that such matters as a nonaggression pact between the NATO allies and the Europe should be deferred.

As the talks moved into their second week hints continued from the Soviet side that a nonaggression pact would be a necessary condition for the treaty.

U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman, accompanied by a nonaggression pact.

The West has long favored a treaty barring all but underground nuclear tests to avoid the impasse over on-site inspection. Both sides agree tests made above ground and under water can be detected without on-site inspection.

Wolfe explained, however, that

JFK Tells Proposed Laws to Settle Rail Rules Dispute

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy unveiled today to Republican and Democratic congressional leaders his proposed legislation to settle the strike-threatening dispute over train work rules.

This followed a session by the President with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and 20 House and Senate leaders.

After the earlier session with negotiators for both sides in the deadlocked dispute, a railroad spokesman said there was no hope of reaching a last-minute agreement.

OUTLINED LEGISLATION

The President outlined the legislation — to be submitted to Congress later today — at the bipartisan congressional meeting and prepared to brief the disputing parties on the proposals before it goes to Capitol Hill.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, talked with newsmen after representatives of management and five railroad unions met Kennedy.

In the absence of legislation, most people had interpreted the move as a sign that the railroad strike was ending 12:01 a.m. Monday.

Wolfe explained, however, that the railroads would post notices, sentatives of the carriers and the Monday making the work rule five operating unions, but Wolfe changes effective 24 hours later, made it clear that no headway Kennedy conferred for about 40 was made toward a negotiated minutes this morning with repre-agreement.

Deal Is Made on Foreign Tax

U.S., Canada Discuss New Securities Levy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration is opening a loophole in its proposed balance-of-payments tax on foreign securities to prevent the tax from crippling Canada's economy.

The action came yesterday after a weekend of secret talks between a U.S. team led by Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon and top Canadian financial officials who had hurried to Washington to present their country's case.

The United States in effect agreed not to apply the proposed "interest equalization tax" to new issues of Canadian securities, so long as the flow of U.S. dollars into Canada does not exceed Canadian needs.

Canada agreed not to use the exemption to try to build up its foreign exchange reserves.

Similar exemptions would be available in "other exceptional situations" where countries were endangered by the tax, a joint U.S.-Canadian statement said. However, U.S. officials said no other countries had asked to have the proposed tax lifted.

NO ADVERSE EFFECTS

"It is the hope and expectation of both governments that by maintaining close consultation, it will prove possible in practice to have an unlimited exemption for Canada without adverse effects on the United States," the joint statement said.

Canadian Finance Minister Walter Gordon said in Ottawa he was "very much relieved."

President Kennedy asked Congress Thursday to impose a 2.75 to 15 percent tax on U.S. purchases of foreign stocks and long-term securities. The idea was to stem an outflow of U.S. investment dollars by making it more expensive for foreign interests to borrow long-term funds in the United States.

"The reason for the move was the U.S. balance of payments deficit, which totaled $3.2 billion last year and has been running at an annual rate of more than $3.2 billion this year."

'Lord Astor Paid Rent' — Christine

LONDON (UPI) — Christine Keeler testified in court today that Lord Astor had paid the rent on the apartment she shared with playgirl Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies.

Christine, whose affair with War Minister John Pofumo near-statement said. However, U.S. officials said no other countries had asked to have the proposed tax lifted.

Word pleaded innocent to a variety of vice charges that included the accusation he lived off the earnings of Christine and Mandy.

Lord Astor's name came into the trial as Christine was being questioned by Prosecutor Merwyn Griffith-Jones.

After she said she had moved into a flat with Mandy, the move court asked:

"Who paid the rent of the flat? Did you pay any of the rent yourself?"

"Yes, I and Miss Davies paid some of it," Christine's voice was weakly a whisper, and she judge interrupted.

"Who paid the rent, Miss Keeler?"

Red Powers' Agree to 'Future' Unity Try

MOSCOW (AP)—Red China and the Soviet Union say they have agreed to meet "some time later" and make another try at settling their bitter ideological dispute. Diplomats in Moscow did not expect the meeting would be held soon.

The announcement, made simultaneously Sunday in Peking and Moscow, coincided with a new Chinese attack on the Soviet Communist party. Peking accused it of trying to incite the Chinese people and party against Mao Tse-tung.

The Soviet-Chinese talks broke off Saturday. Premier Khrushchev took his first public notice of the Chinese delegation, giving it a farewell dinner.

The communique issued Sunday said the central committees of both Communist parties would set the place and time of the next meeting.

It reported that during the talks both sides "expounded their own views and stand on a series of important questions of principle concerning contemporary world developments, the international Communist movement and Sino-Soviet relations."

Western quarters interpreted this to mean Chinese spokesmen Teng Hsiao-ping and Soviet theoretician Mikhail Suslov did little more since the meetings began July 5 than lecture each other.

Premier Khrushchev is expected to defend his stand and outline his strategy in the Communist power struggle at a meeting of East European Communist leaders opening in Moscow Wednesday.

Ostensibly, the meeting of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance (Comecon) the Communist counterpart to the European Common Market—was to discuss economic plans.

The leaders of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, East Germany, Romania, Bulgaria and Mongolia are to be present. Communist China's balkan ally, Albania, is a charter member but has not participated in council activities for more than two years.

The terseness of the Chinese-Soviet communique was in sharp contrast to a bitter editorial in the official Peking People's Daily which indicated the Chinese have no intention of easing their war of words against the Soviets.

The editorial said "those who are racking their brains to slander the Communist Party of China and the Mao Tse-tung and our party will accomplish nothing save full exposure of their own foul purposes."

The paper accused the Soviets of lying in their open letter last week when they said the Chinese scuttled trade relations between the two Communist giants.

It charged the Soviets themselves cut off aid, doing incalculable harm to China's economy, defense and scientific research.

The latter could include Peking's efforts to develop an atomic bomb.

The official New China News Agency in a separate statement claimed the Kremlin leaders are "flagrantly attempting to incite the Chinese people and the Communist Party of China to attack the Soviet Union and the Soviet Communist party against the beloved leadership of the Communist party of China."

Fast Business Delivery to Start in Pontiac

Pontiac Post Office will herald the beginning of its new Accelerated Business Collection and Delivery (ABCD) service this week with the visit of Warren P. Cleary, deputy executive assistant to the postmaster general.

A 10-year veteran of the U.S. Postal Service in India and Africa, Cleary is also a former house in Proctorville, Vt., it was special consultant on problems of underdeveloped areas.

Crew Saves Tanker Ship After Wreck

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)—A stubborn captain and 17 crewmen apparently won their battle to keep their collision-torn Norwegian tanker afloat today and began moving toward port under the vessel's own power.

A Coast Guard cutter, the Cherokee, escorted the damaged 13,490-ton tanker Honor toward Norfolk and an at-sea rendezvous with a tugboat which could tow the vessel the remaining distance it needed.

The Coast Guard here said at 10 a.m. EDT that the Honor was making 3 knots about 220 miles off the Virginia coast.

Twenty-two of her crewmen were transferred to the tanker San Juan, from Wilmington, Del., following the collision yesterday. The San Juan, despite bow damage, headed for Wilmington.

Capt. Eli Abrahamson and 17 crewmen returned to the Honor after all 40 men abandoned her shortly after the collision. By nightfall, they had the pumps working and one boiler in operation and this morning the vessel, with a 15-foot gash in her side, slowly got underway.

The tug Sparrows Point headed out to sea from Norfolk this morning. A Coast Guard spokesman said it was not certain whether the tug would take the Honor in tow or merely escort it to port.

Viet Buddhists Give Ultimatum

President Dien Faces New Street Disorders

SAIGON (UPI)—President Ngo Dinh Diem faced an ultimatum today from his Buddhist foes, threatening new street disorders unless their latest demands are met by midnight.

The Buddhists rebuffed official efforts at conciliation over the weekend. It was not certain immediately whether the government would return to the "hard line" it employed against Buddhist demonstrators.

Club-swinging police waded into a crowd of Buddhists on that day, and scores of prisoners were hustled away by truck to improvised concentration camps.

On Friday, Diem—who is a Roman Catholic—broadcast an appeal for new negotiations on Buddhist charges of discrimination. Vice President Nguyen Ngoc Tho sent Buddhist leaders a letter formally advancing the government proposal.

Buddhist leaders said they would negotiate with a special cabinet committee set up by Diem for the purpose only if police removed barricades from around Buddhist temples here and released more than 300 priests, nuns and laymen who they say were arrested Wednesday.

Police removed the barricades and threw open the gates of a camp set up in a Saigon cemetery where they were holding 200-odd Buddhists—according to the government, all of Wednesday's prisoners.

Negro Testifies

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON—Humiliation stalks America's Negro citizens and they will not be dissuaded by talk that they are hurting their cause by demonstrating. Negro leader Roy Wilkins said today.

Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said their protest demonstrations are not subversive but "thoroughly American."

Saturday night, 900 National Guard troops were alerted and a tear gas grenade was thrown to disperse an angry crowd of 500 Negroes. Guardsmen used their bayonets to drive a crowd of some 200 whites off the streets.

In Jackson, Miss., five white Protestant churches here rejected six groups of integrationists yesterday in the first attempted "kneel-ins" in about a month.

The Rev. Ralph E. King Jr., a young white Methodist chaplain at Tougaloo College, tried to enter Galloway Methodist Church with his wife and a Negro student.

King said they were rejected by an usher who told them, "This is a Christian Church and we intend to keep it that way. We will not admit Negroes."

In Clarkdale, Miss., two young white segregationists who admitted firebombing the home of Negro civil rights leader Aaron Henry were free today of arson charges.

Theodore A. Carr, 24, was acquitted on the charge by an all-white jury Saturday night following a 15-minute deliberation.

The prosecution then dropped an identical charge against Aubrey Cauthen, 26, who was scheduled to go on trial this week.

Officers said Carr and Cauthen admitted the April 13 bombing of Henry's home. They were arrested less than 12 hours after two "Molotov cocktails" were hurled through a window of Henry's home.

increase in the foreign assistance program; likewise, times do not call for us to leave the field—either in discouragement or complacency.

There is nothing the Communists want more than for us to withdraw support from independent countries. It's their number one objective. You suggest we review our foreign aid program. We should and we do.

Probably no program has ever undergone such extensive and constant review. Every facet continues to be scrutinized—not only by the Congress, but by the executive branch. I agree each project should be scrutinized, each justified. President Kennedy has requested $4.525 billion for our programs of mutual defense and assistance in fiscal 1964. This request will be studied by four committees of the Congress. It is based on a careful analysis of the situation in each country, and recommendations of the President's committee headed by General Lucius Clay and the judgment of David E. Bell, administrator of the Agency for International Development.

The program has scored some notable successes. There have been horrible mistakes, too, but I reject the gloomy conclusion that we throw the program out! Do you throw out

Birmingham Area News

Woman Picked Chairman of Republican Fund Drive

BIRMINGHAM—The Oakland County Republican chairman today announced the appointment of Mrs. John Pfister, 2849 Buckingham, as chairman of the county GOP's 1963 Neighbor-to-Neighbor fund drive.

Chairman Charles Lyle said he selected Mrs. Pfister because the drive's success "is in direct proportion to the organizational background of its chairman."

Mrs. Pfister currently holds GOP posts in the county's 3rd Legislative District, the City of Birmingham and the Birmingham-Troy Republican Women's Club.

Before moving to Birmingham in 1961, she was a precinct delegate, executive board member and office manager for Wayne County's 15th Congressional District.

The board of education will hold a special meeting Aug. 7 on open bids on $1.5 million worth of tax anticipation notes.

The notes will be issued in anticipation of the Dec. 1, 1963 taxes in order to meet operational expenses.

Dated July 15, 1963, the notes will mature March 1, 1964, and carry a maximum interest rate of 4 per cent, according to Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelly.

Issuance of the notes has been approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission, of which Kelley is chairman.

The Aug. 7 meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the board of education building.

Appoint Chief at State Facility

Dr. Robert A. Braun, clinical director, has been appointed acting superintendent of the Pontiac State Hospital.

The appointment was made by Charles F. Wagg, Michigan State Director of the department of mental health.

Dr. Braun has been clinical director at the hospital since 1960. He is a member of the American Psychiatric Association, a diplomate of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology, American Medical Association, and Wayne Medical Society.

Dr. Braun is temporarily replacing Dr. Walter H. Obenaus who died Wednesday of a heart attack, and had been with the hospital for four years.

Boy, 12, Hit by Boat Is 'Critical'

Twelve-year-old Earl J. Brendle lay in critical condition today while Oakland County sheriff's deputies pressed their investigation of the boat accident that nearly took the boy's arm off and almost cost him his life Saturday.

Earl was hit by an outboard motor boat while swimming in Walters Lake behind his home at 2809 Lakeview, Independence Township.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brendle.

A. Don Kratt of the sheriff's office said today he was investigating the accident to determine whether criminal charges should be brought against the driver of the boat, Warren Baker, 31, of 636 Boyd.

Though it was first reported that the boy was 70 to 75 feet from the dock when the accident occurred, Kratt said further checking revealed Earl was only about 30 feet out.

Witnesses said Baker was towing a water skier to shore when he suddenly saw the boy and swerved.

At the same time, the boy dived in an attempt to escape being hit, they said.

Earl was taken to Pontiac General Hospital and then rushed to Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital, which reported today that the boy "was making some progress" but was still on the critical list.

Kratt said the boy's right arm was almost severed by the blades of the 40-horsepower motor. Earl's leg and back also were cut and he suffered a fractured skull.

The boy's bathing trunks were afterwards found wrapped around the motor's propeller, Kratt said.

The lieutenant reported that Earl was standing on a submerged inlet about 2 1/2 feet below the surface when he dived to avoid the boat.

State law prohibits motor boats within 100 feet of a dock or swimming area unless they are traveling five miles per hour or less, Kratt said.

At the pretrial hearing, Mandy testified she had been intimate with Astor, who later denied it.

It was at the famed Cliveden Estate of Lord Astor that Christine met Profumo in the start of an affair that led to the war minister's resignation and an outcry that brought the Conservative government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan close to collapse.

The prosecution then dropped an identical charge against Aubrey Cauthen, 26, who was scheduled to go on trial this week.

Officers said Carr and Cauthen admitted the April 13 bombing of Henry's home. They were arrested less than 12 hours after two "Molotov cocktails" were hurled through a window of Henry's home.

Union Planning Antibias Effort Throughout U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new major national campaign against racial discrimination was announced today by the AFL-CIO.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said he will assume personal command of the effort. He named four other union chiefs to serve with him on a special committee.

Meany said the campaign will be directed at all forms of discrimination against Negroes—in unions, employment, housing, voting, public accommodations, services and schools.

Meany gave President Kennedy advance notice of the campaign in a personal letter sent last Friday, an AFL-CIO spokesman said.

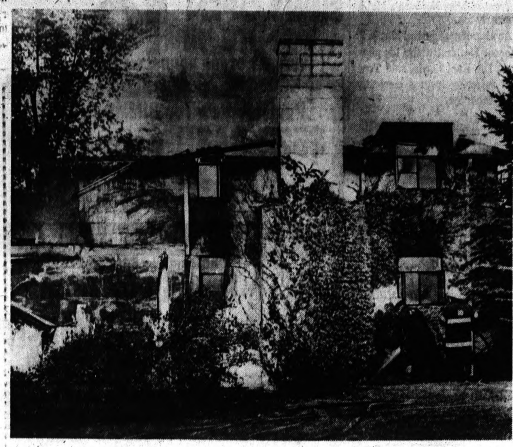

The boy's bathing trunks were afterwards found wrapped around the motor's propeller, Kratt said.

The lieutenant reported that Earl was standing on a submerged inlet about 2 1/2 feet below the surface when he dived to avoid the boat.

State law prohibits motor boats within 100 feet of a dock or swimming area unless they are traveling five miles per hour or less, Kratt said.

TOTAL LOSS—Firemen are shown here battling smoke and fire in a vain attempt to save St. Augustine House, a Lutheran religious retreat in Addison Township. The fire was put out at 1:30 this morning only to break out again three hours later. The building was a complete loss. Oxford, Addison and Lake Orion fire departments answered both calls.

Religious Retreat Burns

Lutheran Home Levelled by Fire

Flames Hit Structure in Addison Township

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — A building once the palatial home of a Detroit businessman—which he transformed into the center of a Lutheran religious community—was destroyed by fire last night.

Father Arthur C. Kreinheder, a former executive with the J. L. Hudson Co., discovered the fire at 10 p. m. when he returned with his 10 house guests from a visit to the Benedictine Novitiate just down the road.

Cut off by the fire from telephones in St. Augustine House at 3316 E. Drahter, Father Kreinheder was forced to return to the novitiate to phone for help.

When the Oxford Fire Department arrived at the scene at 10:20 p. m., the retreat home was in flames. Help from Addison Township and Lake Orion fire departments arrived soon after.

The blaze was brought under control at 1:30 a. m. with one wing of the 2-story cement block building left untouched.

At 4:30 a. m., Gerald A. Fillmore of 1460 Hosmer discovered the fire burning once more and called the fire departments back to the scene which they had left only a few hours before.

Hampered by spectators who drove to the area from miles around, firemen were unable to save the remaining wing which crumbled into the basement along with the other standing walls.

Father Kreinheder said he had no idea of the amount of the loss. Cause of the fire is still undetermined.

While records were saved, several highly valued pieces of art were lost.

Only a large chapel, separate from the main house, was not touched by the fire.

Father Kreinheder was an executive with Hudson's for over 20 years before he decided to fulfill a life-long ambition and study for the priesthood in the Church of Sweden.

In 1949, he resigned from his position and left for Sweden to study for the Lutheran priesthood.

Six years later, he was ordained and returned to his home which he converted into a retreat house for members of the Fellowship of St. Augustine.

The Fellowship was founded to "promote interest, study and understanding of the religious life in a community for Lutherans."

EAST LANSING — Traffic accidents have taken 878 lives in Michigan so far this year.

Over Freeway

Suburbia Battles State

LANSING (AP) — Suburbia is the battleground for the biggest freeway fight in the history of highway-conscious Michigan.

The State Highway Department is marshaling its forces — engineers, public relations men and lawyers — to face the stiffest opposition yet in the decade since freeways began to stretch across the urban and rural landscape.

And in south Oakland County, the battle lines are being drawn with cities, accustomed to coexistence like the back-fence, sugar-borrowing neighbors who inhabit them, suddenly on opposite sides.

The issue is simple, yet complex: establishment of a route for the new $115-million east-west freeway (I-696) which eventually will link I-96 at Wixom to the northern end of the Ford Freeway (I-94) in Macomb County.

For years, this highway has been in the planning stages.

But the fight is just now beginning to warm up, since Highway Department Engineers — in a meeting with officials from the affected cities last month — produced a series of proposed alternative routes.

The Highway Department asked the cities to agree on one route or another by the end of the year.

PROJECT SCHEDULE

Under this timetable, condemnation could get underway by 1966, construction by 1967, and east-west freeway could be open for business as scheduled in 1972.

Five different routes were proposed, but they fell down basically to only two: 10-Mile Road, or 11-Mile Road, with variations.

Whichever is selected, there will be trouble. By settling on either route, the Highway Department will be wiping out hundreds of homes, demolishing tax base so dear to the suburbs, and ant Ridge, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Madison Heights and Hazel Park — will be involved.

If the freeway goes 11-Mile, it would involve seven cities as well, with Lathrup Village and Berkley included in Ferndale, Hazel Park and Pleasant Ridge included out.

These cities, conditioned to each other through years of dealing with problems — such as sewers and water — that transcend political boundaries, have harbored hopes of being able to agree.

AREA NEWS

severely altering the face of neighborhoods.

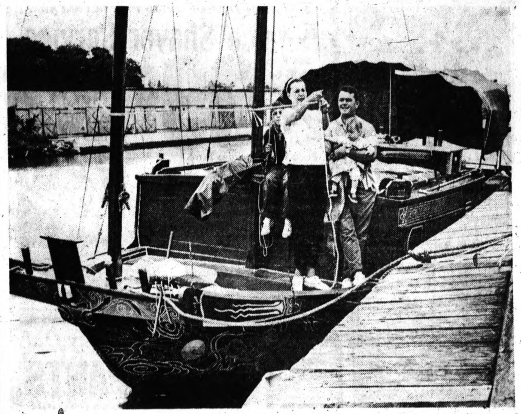

If the 10-Mile route is selected, eight cities — Southfield, Huntington Woods, Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Madison Heights and Hazel Park — will be involved.

Beauty Queen 'Fair' After Boat Accident

HOLLAND (UPI) — A Holland beauty queen was in fair condition in Holland Hospital following her rescue by the driver of a powerboat which struck her paddles in the Kalamazoo River at Saugatuck Saturday night.

Karen Olean, 20, suffered scalp lacerations, several broken ribs and possible other internal injuries when a paddle boat she was riding in was struck by a boat driven by Larry Higgins, 22, of Saugatuck. Higgins drove into the river after the impact and was rescued by the semiconscious girl.

Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kolan, has won several local and college beauty contests.

'SET SAIL'—A clothesline on the foredeck of their Chinese junk must be taken down before the Lowell Keith family can embark on the second leg of their journey to St. Croix in the Virgin Islands. Off to make a new life for themselves, the Farmington family left Saugatuck Friday after a day's delay, sailed 15 miles along the Lake Michigan shoreline and were forced by choppy waters to spend the weekend in South Haven. The Keiths will sail to Chicago and travel down the Illinois and Mississippi waterways on motor power. They estimate the trip to their new home will take a month.

Completed Orion Youth Code Outlines Parent-Teen Rules

36 x 32 COMPLETED ORION — Editor's Note—This is the concluding article in a series analyzing the results of a survey which have led up to the formation of a youth code in the Lake Orion Community School District.

By ROGER SINGLEY
LAKE ORION — Party "crashing" here is strictly against the rules.

And the rules referred to are found in the recently completed Orion Youth Code.

Sponsored by the Lake Orion Youth Guidance Committee, the conduct code will soon be offered to students and parents in the school district.

Some 2,000 junior and senior high school students and their parents completed questionnaires from which the code was determined.

Their answers were tabulated and put into the guidebook by the guidance committee, which was composed of adult representatives from juvenile court and the school system.

Also assisting in the editing task were delegates from student councils in the school district.

As stated in the code's introduction, its purpose is "not to reform, but rather to inculcate maturing youth toward acceptable guidelines of behavior."

IDEAS COVERED

One of the ideas which the code condones is that "young people should be encouraged not to smoke." Few of those answering the questionnaire disagreed with this premise.

Another category covered in the code deals with parent-teen relationships.

"Parents are expected to encourage their young people to invite their friends home and make them welcome," the code reads.

However, any overnight plans or use of the car should be discussed and approved by all parents concerned, according to the guidebook.

"Teen-agers should avoid going out on school nights unless all homework assignments are completed and they are working," is another rule in the book.

Although a slight majority of the high school students disagreed with this statement, it was included in the code because of parental opinion and results of the junior high poll.

Continuing further in this category, the pamphlet states that "on all school nights, regardless of activities, all teen-agers should be home by 10 p. m."

Another portion of the code deals with parent-teen religious participation.

"When parents and teen-agers attend church together, family unity is strengthened. Religious participation aids parents and youth toward a deeper understanding of our religious heritage and the moral concepts of right and wrong."

The use of profanity and drinking of alcoholic beverages are discouraged by the code.

Other categories covered in the guide include driving, studio events, dress, finances and dating.

All of the statements in the code were approved by the opinion of the participants.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Spock, 3059 Martell, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Battishill, 2319 Island View, West Bloomfield Township.

Lace outlined the sweetheart neckline and formed the short sleeves of the bride's embroidered silk organza gown. The fullness of the floor length skirt extended into a train.

The bride's elbow-length veil was held by a double pearl crown. Chinese mums were arranged in a cascade bridal bouquet.

Renee Spock was maid of honor for her sister, and Pat Tracy of Pontiac was the bridesmaid.

Best man was Donald J. Todd of Pontiac. Miss Battishill, of Pontiac and Daniel Copple of Detroit seated guests.

A honeymoon in the South followed the wedding.

Nancy Hines was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Balfant Korman of Warren and Mrs. Gerald Tremper of Wixom.

Michigan Must Have More State Police

(Editor's Note—This is the fifth in a series of nine traffic safety articles by F. Granger Weil, editor of the Port Huron Times Herald, and chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee of the Michigan Press Association.)

By F. GRANGER WEIL, Editor, Port Huron Times Herald
PORT HURON — This is a straightforward appeal for an adequate state police force to patrol our highways.

Just a few years ago we had nearly enough. Now — in plain words — by any set of standards — we don't.

This plea for more men is supported by the National Safety Council in its traffic inventory analysis for 1963 of the state's program and needs.

To compare favorably with the top 30 per cent of the states reporting in our inventory program, Michigan would need to add 382 full-time traffic personnel," an NSC spokesman said.

The problem is one of money, of course. The crime and accident rates are climbing but budgets for police to enforce and supervise the laws have either remained static or been reduced.

These are facts, even though they don't seem to make much sense. Come to think of it, the state has money enough for almost everything else but when it comes to law enforcement we permit our efficient, young troopers to operate at a minimum in numbers and with equipment of questionable adequacy.

Being a state trooper these days is something of a vocation. Until Sunday, troopers were working a 56-hour, 6-day week. Now, by Civil Service Commission order, they are doing a 9-hour, 5-day week, with another three hours set aside for court appearances or emergencies.

At the moment, there are fewer than 1,100 persons in the force, which is allowed 1,155 people. They have never been able to come up to the 1,155 strength because pay increases and insurance programs have soaked up the funds which would have been allotted to additional personnel.

And, the order reducing trooper working hours to 48 is in effect a cut of 1/7 in the strength of the force.

And, just to complicate the situation, there are 1,000 miles more of highways for the troopers to patrol. A good portion of this mileage is in expressways. State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs has said — and hold on to your hats — that he should have 500 more men to meet his total needs, 382 of these for highway duty.

The problem is simple. It's just lack of money. The legislature provides funds for a state police budget which won't do the job of protection that we here in the State of Michigan ought to have — regardless of the fact that putting a few million more in an adequate state police force would save many times the number of dollars in prevention of property damage and personal injury.

Nor is there any water in the state police budget. Commissioner Childs is the type of man who asks for nothing more than what is absolutely necessary for his department.

Perhaps, this is his mistake. Maybe he should ask twice or three times as much as he really needs in order to get what he wants!

We risk our necks and our property by not providing for this fine and efficient police force. During the past few years the situation has deteriorated. Unless something is done — and done soon — this dry rot will continue until we have another state scandal by way of accidents and crime.

We are, in a nutshell, being penny-wise and pounds-of-flesh foolish.

Spencer Tracy Improving After Lung Difficulty

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Spencer Tracy was reported improving today from an attack of lung congestion suffered as he was going on a picnic with actress Katharine Hepburn.

Tracy, 61, was stricken Sunday

in front of Miss Hepburn's Malibu Beach home.

An ambulance rushed him to St. Vincent Hospital where his physician, Dr. Karl Lewis, said Tracy was suffering from a congestive lung condition.

Miss Hepburn called the fire department for a resuscitator when Tracy was taken ill. She told the dispatcher the actor had suffered a heart attack. Dr. Lewis said later that was incorrect.

Junior Editors Quiz on AIR CONDITIONING

OUTSIDE, THE AIR IS HOT, MUGGY, DIRTY.

BUT INSIDE THIS OFFICE, IT'S COOL, DRY AND CLEAN.

THE SECRET—AIR CONDITIONING

QUESTION: What makes cold air come out of an air conditioner?

ANSWER: Air conditioning means more than just blowing in cool air. The outside air may be uncomfortably hot, but it may also be humid, that is, carry a high degree of moisture; it may also carry dirt and soot.

The modern air conditioner corrects all these conditions at the same time, providing a circulation of air that is cool, dry, clean and comfortable.

There are several ways modern air conditioners can do this. We show how the outside air comes in at (1), passing through a filter (2). This is made of fiber glass metal or wool fibers, which have been coated with a sticky substance.

The dirt, soot and dust in the air stick to the fibers. Now the air passes through sprays of water which reduce its temperature (3), and a fan (4) moves the clean, cool air into the room so that it can circulate.

Sometimes air is cleaned through the use of fine water sprays or with "electrostatic precipitators" which attract to negatively charged collector plates.

Some conditioners cool the air by blowing it over coils filled with cold water or chemicals.

FOR YOU TO DO: Few of us have summer air conditioning in our homes, but we all have cold water running out of a tap. If it's just enough to be uncomfortable, roll up your sleeves and let the cold water run over your wrists.

Weekend Traffic Claims 10 Highway Deaths in Michigan

Highway accidents in Michigan claimed 10 lives during the weekend. Nine more persons drowned in a lightning bolt that hit a tree during a thunderstorm near Jackson killed an 11-year-old girl and fatally injured her mother. The Associated Press counts the deaths from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

TRAFFIC
Lacey Monroe, 51, of Vandalia, died last night in a Dodge car hospital from injuries suffered Saturday. Police said Monroe's car was hit broadside by another at a Vandalia intersection and he was thrown out.

Larry E. Stennett, 25, of Coleman, was killed yesterday when his motorcycle failed to make a curve on U.S. 31, seven miles north of South Haven, and hit a tree.

Ronald V. Manning, 22, of Muskegon, was killed yesterday when his car went out of control on the U.S. 31 bypass in Muskegon Township and crashed into a parked car.

Jack H. Spillane, 33, of Swartz Creek, was killed yesterday in a fiery rear-end collision on Miller Road in Genesee County. State police said Spillane's car was struck in the rear by another vehicle and both cars burst into flames.

John Troyer, 87, of Detroit, was killed yesterday in a two-car intersection collision at 13-Mile and Orchard Lake roads in Oakland County.

Earl T. Swinney, 23, of Rochester, was killed Saturday when he was driving overturned on I-75 in Oakland County.

Timothy Bell, 4, of Detroit, was killed and killed by a car Saturday in front of his home.

Can't Decide on Concession

Several Considered for Airport Expansion

DETROIT (UPI)—The Wayne County Road Commission was still up in the air today over whether to grant the concession business at Metropolitan Airport when its expansion is completed in 1965.

At present, Interstate Express Inc., of Los Angeles, is maintaining a $2-million annual business at the airport.

But Interstate's contract runs out in 1968 and other airport carterers would like to take over.

Interstate would like to expand its present operation from a $2-million annual business to $7 million. But any expansion would mean an investment of about a million dollars. The concession brings in about $1 million annually in revenue to the road commission.

Officials for Interstate say it would be unreasonable to expect a million-dollar investment in a contract that will have only three years to run after the new airport facilities open in the fall of 1965.

The Wayne County Road Commission, which supervises the airport, said Interstate's service so far has been satisfactory.

Interstate officials said its net profit is 3 per cent of sales after paying the county 15 per cent on liquor sales and 12.5 per cent on restaurant food sales.

It pays 5 per cent on part of its inflight meals, but averages more than 10 per cent on total inflight meals.

Iraq Asks East German, 5 Bulgarians to Leave
BAGHDAD (UPI)—Iraqi officials reported today that five Communist Bulgarian diplomats and an employee of the Iraqi Embassy working in Baghdad have been asked to leave Iraq within 24 hours.

The broadcast said the diplomats were declared "persona non grata," but did not say why or give further details.

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are making weekend weather an economic force in many businesses, large and small.

If the weather was miserable in your area the last few days, the effect may be felt in time as far away as Detroit and Akron.

Whether this summer's weekends are fair or dreary can have a lot to do with the industry's reaching its 1963 sales goal of $30 million.

The $1.7 billion per year motel industry is particularly sensitive to family decisions to take off for long weekend jaunts or to stay home because of the weather.

Flint Officials to Vote on Tax
FLINT (UPI)—The City Commission is expected to cast a final vote today on the proposed 1 1/2 per cent city income tax which has kicked up a storm of controversy.

Residents recently rejected a 1 per cent income tax at the polls on June 4.

Nonresidents, who work in Flint and who also would be subject to the levy, also have complained about the tax.

Some residents said they would picket City Hall today before the commission meeting.

The citizens groups have demanded that the new proposal be submitted to voters. The groups have threatened recall elections if the city commission votes for the levy.

Building Damage Disrupts Traffic in Buenos Aires
BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Traffic around the national capital was disrupted today while city engineers strove to prevent the collapse of a cupola on the famous old Molina Sweetshop, a favorite haunt of Argentine politicians.

If the highly ornamental building were to collapse, it would have hit the corner of the capital, across the street.

The busy intersection of Rivadavia and Calles streets was closed to traffic yesterday and nearby subway stations were shut down when engineers warned the cupola was unsafe.

Men from the salvage squad used huge beams to shore up the cupola, but engineers said further precautions would be necessary to make sure it will last.

Cardinal Dies; Ex-Candidate for Papacy
VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Valerio Cardinal Valeri, prefect of the Vatican's Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office, died today of a heart attack.

Cardinal Valeri was stricken several days ago with a serious throat infection.

Pope Paul VI, informed immediately of the cardinal's death, went to his private chapel to pray.

Valeri, a widely respected man, had been among the cardinals mentioned as a candidate for the papacy, but in the 1958 conclave that elected Pope John XXIII and in the conclave on June 21 that elected Pope Paul VI.

His health in recent years had not been good. He underwent surgery last April in a Rome clinic. The nature of the operation was not disclosed.

Valeri's death reduces the size of the College of Cardinals to 80. There has been speculation that Pope Paul might call a conclave soon to increase the size of the college, and the loss of another cardinal — the fourth so far this year — would mean an increase that possibility.
