Finds No Cause to Try Straley on Local Charge

Says Police Chief Had Reasonable Grounds to Jail G. R. Hammitt

Decision of Oakland County Circuit Court to dismiss a false arrest suit brought against Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley was upheld by the State Supreme Court yesterday.

The high court agreed that Gunery R. Hammitt of 69 Fairgrove Ave. had no cause for action against Straley who arrested him Aug. 27, 1952, and ordered him held overnight in Oakland County Jail without a warrant.

Straley testified that Hammitt was taken into custody on the oral complaint of Mrs. Elizabeth Sidwell of 320 Liberty St., who claimed that Hammitt had threatened her.

Hammitt was released from jail the following day and no further charges were pressed. Shortly after, he filed a $25,000 damage suit against Straley.

A Circuit Court jury returned a directed verdict of no cause for action on Jan. 6, 1953, and on Jan. 15 Hammitt appealed the decision to the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court said Straley had reasonable grounds for making the arrest.

But it said the Circuit Court released Hammitt on a writ of habeas corpus after a "10 or 15" minute hearing at which the police chief was not allowed to testify why he made the arrest.

Cold Wave Hits Michigan; Mercury Falls to 16 Here

Skidding temperatures in the Pontiac area today marked the arrival of an icy air mass that dropped the mercury to 17 degrees below zero at Sault Ste. Marie at 8:15 a. m.

The cold air inched into Pontiac early today, sinking the temperature 19 degrees in about 12 hours. The thermometer plunged to 16 degrees at 1 p. m. and registered 18 an hour later.

Colder weather is forecast for tonight, with a low of from 10 to 14 degrees. A high of from 18 to 22 degrees is due Thursday.

The mercury plunged from 35 degrees at 1:30 a.m. to 22 degrees at 8 a.m. and continued to fall.

Besides bone-chilling temperatures tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau in Detroit also predicts light snow.

Easterners are expected to get a dose of the icy blasts by tonight as the winter's worst cold wave crawled eastward through Michigan.

The mercury rose to a high of 37 degrees in downtown Pontiac yesterday before the cold wave moved in. Yesterday's low was 25.

Union Charges Labeled Absurd

UAW-CIO Region Head Denies Irregularity at Tank Arsenal Local

Charges of irregularities in UAW-CIO Region 1-B were labeled "absurd and preposterous" today by the region's director William McAulay.

The accusations were made in a letter from the Chrysler Tank Arsenal's Local 4200 to Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich), member of a House committee investigating labor racketeering.

In his letter, William Y. Hunroe, vice president of the local, charged irregularities in union elections and mishandling of regional rotating funds.

"Any charges are absurd and preposterous," said McAulay at the region's headquarters in Pontiac. "There'll be a regional meeting the week of Jan. 18 and the topic of the present charges may be discussed then."

McAulay said yesterday he has headed the region since 1939 and has been elected nine times by acclamation at national conventions.

The region embraces 170 locals in an area directly south of a line drawn from Alfonac to Saugatuck, and bounded by Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

Money Called a Virus

Bothered by Aches, Pains? Blame the Root of All Evil

BOSTON (AP) — Your stomach trouble, headache, back pain or even an irregular heart might actually be a form of "money sickness" caused by a virus familiarly known as the dollar.

This new wrinkle in diagnosis was reported today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by a Boston doctor. He said various physical symptoms can sometimes stem from emotional upsets, which, in turn, can be brought on by "money problems," possible among folks in all income brackets.

"Money-sickness," declared Dr. William Kaufman, "is the most common psychosomatic illness of our time"—and yet one that is often missed by doctors in seeking the underlying cause of a physical or emotional symptom.

Anyone from a miser to a gambler and from chronic bargain hunters to "salesmen and executives" who are cozy with their own money but lavishly spend on "their company's expense accounts," are candidates for the malady, Kaufman told the AAAS's 120th meeting.

And, besides physical symptoms like headache, muscle and joint pains, or stomach trouble, it can take the form of serious emotional disturbances like hysterical paralysis, depression, anxiety states or reactions of "panic."

Kaufman, a practitioner of internal medicine, explained it somewhat like this:

The trouble doesn't necessarily come from how much money you have or don't have. It comes from

Wilson Calls U.S. Military Most Potent Short of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — American armed forces—equipped with atomic weapons and backboned by air power—are officially termed the most potent ever marshaled by this country "short of war."

That's the opinion of Secretary of Defense Wilson, who yesterday turned in his first formal report to President Eisenhower on his conduct of the nation's defense affairs. The report is required by law.

Wilson dealt chiefly with developments during the first half of this year, but the report also was concerned with the "new look" given U. S. strategy and defense needs by the nation's military leaders.

This has resulted in greater stress on air power and reported plans to reduce the number of men in Army, Navy and Marine ranks. As a possible step in this direction, the Army announced yesterday that it is shortening the active duty tours of some 6,000 2nd and 1st lieutenants who are not regulars.

Wilson called attention to the success of his team in trimming $5,300,000,000 from the current fiscal year's military budget.

Any deeper slashes, he said, would have meant a slower rate of defense buildup than was "prudent from the point of view of our national security."

Parnell Thomas Eyes Congress

Convicted Ex-Solon Is Considering Running for House Again

ALLENDALE, N.J. (AP)—J. Parnell Thomas, former Republican congressman who served a prison term for receiving kickbacks while in office, says he may run for Congress again in 1954.

In a statement last night, Thomas indicated opposition to what he called the "do-nothing record" of the present GOP incumbent in the 7th Congressional District, Rep. William Widnall.

"The 7th District needs more of a fighter," Thomas said.

Widnall declined comment on the Thomas remarks.

Thomas, 58, said his family and friends have been urging him to run again. He served seven terms as a congressman, starting in 1937. In 1949 he received a 6 to 18-months prison sentence for getting $8,873 in kickbacks from persons on his congressional payroll. He was paroled in September 1950 after serving 8½ months of the term.

Charged With Killing Hubby in Boiling Oil

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Concetta Zarba, 60, was arrested today and charged with killing her husband with boiling oil.

Police accused her of pouring a bucket of boiling olive oil over 70-year-old Nunzio Zarba after an argument over their son's engagement.

Woman Killed, 2 Hurt by Shots

Husband Is Accused of Slaying Estranged Wife Mrs. Gladys Munson

A 33-year-old Pontiac mother was shot to death and two men were wounded in a gun battle late Tuesday afternoon, according to Pontiac Police.

Killed was Mrs. Gladys Munson of 240 Hughes St., who was shot three times in her home by her estranged husband, Albert, 28, of 442 Bloomfield Ave.

Reported in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital are Munson, with a wound in the neck, and Herman Walton, 38, of 502 Bloomfield Ave., who suffered wounds to the left jaw, right wrist and left hand.

Walton, a former Pontiac policeman now employed as a factory worker and process server for the city, told police he had been acting as a bodyguard for Mrs. Munson since she and her husband separated Dec. 23.

Detective John I. Williams quoted Walton as saying that Munson came to the home last night "to try to patch things up." After Munson asked his wife into the kitchen, Walton said, he heard three shots and a scream.

When Walton rushed to the kitchen, Williams said, three more bullets were fired at Walton. Permitted to carry a weapon legally, Walton took out his gun and fired back at Munson.

Both men wounded, Walton chased Munson through the backyard and around the house. Walton called police when he caught Munson.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said that a murder warrant against Munson probably would be issued sometime today. He said that no charge would be made against Walton.

Meanwhile, Munson is under police guard in the hospital.

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton said that last night's death is Pontiac's eighth due to violence, so far this year.

U. S. Grand Jury Says Shoulders Lied on Ransom

Indicted for Perjury in Probe of $300,000 Kidnaping Fund

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A federal grand jury says Louis Shoulders, the veteran police officer who nabbed the Greenlease kidnapers, lied in his testimony about the handling of $300,000 ransom money recovered at the time of the arrest.

The jury yesterday indicted Shoulders on a charge of perjury.

Robert C. Greenlease, millionaire Kansas City automobile dealer whose 6-year-old son Bobby was kidnaped and killed Sept. 28, paid a record $600,000 ransom.

Approximately $300,000 was recovered with the arrest of kidnaper Carl Austin Hall and his alcoholic paramour Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, who were executed in the Missouri State Prison gas chamber a week before Christmas. The other half of the ransom is still missing.

Shoulders could not be reached for comment on the indictment.

Shoulders, aided by Patrolman Elmer Dolan, arrested Hall in a St. Louis hotel room Oct. 6. The veteran officer, who testified before a grand jury that indicted Mrs. Heady and Hall, told the jurors the suitcases confaining the money were taken promptly to the police station.

In its indictment yesterday the grand jury said Shoulders' testimony "as he then and there well knew and believed, was untrue and false in that the suitcases mentioned therein containing ransom money were not taken into the police station at the time and in the manner alleged."

Dolan, who was indicted on a charge of perjury two weeks ago, also had testified the suitcases were brought to the Newstead police station along with Hall.

Other witnesses, who were in the station at the time Hall was booked, testified they saw no suitcases brought in with him.

Police records show Hall was booked at 8:57 p.m. Kansas City and St. Louis authorities declined to say when the suitcases first were reported seen by persons other than Shoulders and Dolan. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch has reported, however, that some policemen at the station said they first saw the sutcases at 11:30 p.m.

Shoulders, a member of the force 27 years, resigned in anger after a St. Louis police board began an investigation into the handling of the money last October.

Moderate Wind Aids Firemen

California Forest Blaze Still Perils Mt. Wilson Observatory

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Firefighters got an unexpected respite today in their battle against two blazes in the San Gabriel Mountains, one of which licked within 200 yards of the Mt. Wilson Observatory.

The U.S. Forest Service said winds which were expected to freshen about 3 a.m. today held to a comparatively moderate velocity of 15 to 20 miles an hour.

Therefore the situation was little changed. The perimeter of the huge Mt. Wilson fire was estimated at 35 miles today but the forest service said only six miles was uncontrolled.

The danger spot today was in the west fork of San Gabriel Canyon, to the northeast of the observatory and the multimillion dollar television tower installations atop Mt. Wilson. No buildings on the famed mountain have burned.

This fire has burned about 12,000 acres. It is being fought by 800 men, using 54 pumpers, 13 bulldozers and a helicopter. The second fire, 20 miles to the east in the Mt. Baldy region, is still out of control after scorching 4,000 acres but may be contained by tomorrow. It does not menace populated areas.

Nearly 150 men with 16 pumper units are atop Mt. Wilson to protect the valuable installations.

The forest service said it is "fairly certain" the fire was caused by a careless smoker. Thirty-three firefighters have suffered burns, cuts and other injuries.

Hippity-Hopping on Pogo Stick for Young Only

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Edward L. Kirkpatrick, Nashville investment firm executive, couldn't resist a pogo stick a friend's young daughter received for Christmas.

He's hospitalized today with a broken elbow.

2 Ships Collide in Fog-Shrouded Delaware River

Men Thrown in Water; Fire Breaks Out but Vessels Are Saved

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Two tankers crashed in the fog-bound Delaware River early today, killing at least four crewmen. Five crewmen still were missing.

The tankers, Atlantic Dealer and Atlantic Engineer, collided as they sought safe anchorage in the fog-shrouded river setting off fires on both vessels.

The fire apparently caused little damage and both the Atlantic Refining Co. tankers awaited favorable tides to proceed under their own power to Philadelphia.

The bodies of the victims were recovered by rescue ships from the U.S. Army Engineer sub-office at Edgemoor, Del. An army engineer spokesman said its vessel, the Liston, picked up three bodies and the New Castle another. None of the dead was identified.

Eleven of the 41 crewmen aboard the 1,600-ton Atlantic Dealer were thrown into the river. Rolf L. Eklund, Drexel Hill, Pa. and Paul Shipper, Pennsauken, N. J., were rescued.

Both ships sailed Christmas day, the Dealer from Port Arthur, Tex., and the Engineer from Arkansas Pass, Tex.

Company officials said all 46 crew members of the Atlantic Engineer were safe.

A company spokesman gave this version of what happened:

The Atlantic Engineer had anchored because of the fog off historic Pee Patch Island, where a U.S. fort was manned during the Revolution and Southern prisoners were confined during the Civil War. It is about 6½ miles south of Wilmington and 25 miles south of Philadelphia.

The Atlantic Dealer was proceeding slowly upstream, hunting for anchorage space. Several other ships were at anchor in the area.

Residents along the shore of the two-mile-wide river were awak-

Australian Law May Shift Olympic Site

LONDON (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, hinted today that a collision of Australian law and Olympic rules still may force the 1956 games out of Melbourne and into a European or American city.

Otto Mayer, chancellor of the IOC committee, said yesterday that he didn't believe the majority of the committee will agree to a demand to have the games moved from Melbourne, Mayer, of Lausanne, Switzerland, said Armand Massard of France, Angelo Bolanki of Greece and Gen. Vladimir Stoitcheff of Bulgaria have asked for the shift because of Australia's quarantine laws on foreign horses.

Brundage, en route from Chicago to a meeting of the executive commission of the IOC at Lausanne Jan. 16, said at London airport there are problems facing the committee which must be solved.

Most Pontiac Businesses Will Close on New Year's; Many Open Saturday

Most of Pontiac's stores, businesses and industries will close New Year's Day as the city's schools remain on vacation over the holiday weekend.

Students of Pontiac public schools, St. Trinity Lutheran, St. Michael and St. Frederick schools will return to classes Monday, Jan. 4, after almost two weeks of Christmas-New Year's vacation.

A few shops and offices may close a bit early Thursday to give employes time to prepare for New Year's Eve affairs, but Thursday and Saturday will see business as usual in most of downtown Pontiac.

Community National and Pontiac State banks, the U. S. Post Office, and most downtown stores will be open during regular hours Thursday and Saturday with a one-day holiday Friday.

New Year's Eve will be a long night for many local bars, according to Detective Frank E. Mack of Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Mack said bars may serve customers until 4 a. m. New Year's Day — two hours longer than the regular 2 a. m. deadline. He added that many may close earlier, however, depending on their crowds.

Most industries in Pontiac will stay closed from Thursday evening until Monday morning, according to James F. Spence, secretary-manager of Pontiac Manufacturers Assn.

Spence said American Forging and Socket Co. will close down its production line at 12:30 a. m. Thursday, although offices will be open Thursday. Dostal Foundry has already closed its foundry for a holiday until Jan. 4. Wilson Foundry's foundry, closed since before Christmas, will reopen Monday, Jan. 4.

Offices of General Motors Corporation's Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body divisions will work all day Thursday, with production lines closing Thursday afternoon. GMC Truck and Coach division will halt production about 11:30 New Year's Eve.

Birmingham Stores Ask That Yule Gift Exchanges Be Made by January 4

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Local merchants are again asking cooperation in the exchanging of Christmas presents, Chamber of Commerce Secretary Charles Mortensen said today.

"In some cases because givers did not have correct information as to size or some other detail, exchange may be necessary," Mortensen said, "and if this is necessary, please do so by Jan. 4."

He added that the date is similar to the deadline for returns to Detroit stores, and that no gift returns be made after that date.

"Abuse of the exchange and return privilege can cause a great deal of unwarranted expense. Therefore, as a matter of assistance to the merchants of Birmingham who wish to continue to make this service available to you, we ask your cooperation," he concluded.

Four Known Dead in Tanker Collision

ened about 3:30 a.m. by the screech of warning whistles. They heard the thump of a collision, then a roar as both ships caught fire. The flash of flames was seen at the state road barracks of Delaware State Police, two miles from the river. Emergency units and ambulances throughout the area were alerted immediately.

Nothing of the crash was visible from the shore. The ships were in the main channel, a mile from the riverbank and hidden by fog.

A lifeboat with a crew of five was launched almost immediately from the Dealer. Some time later the Chilean freighter Copiapo picked up the lifeboat crew and two men who had been rescued from the river.

There have been many ship collisions in the river area which for 80 miles from Philadelphia to the Atlantic ocean is one of the world's busiest waterways. Last July 6 the tankers Phoenix and Pan Massachusetts collided 10 miles south of Wilmington and burned to the waterline. Four crewmen were lost, 83 saved.

Today's collision occured two miles south of the Delaware Memorial Bridge which links the southern terminus of the New Jersey Turnpike at Deepwater, to the main north-south highways to Baltimore and Washington and the Delmarva peninsula route to Norfolk, Va.

Detroit Doctor Tells Plans to Work in Burma Jungle

BIRMINGHAM — Following in the footsteps of Dr. Gordon Seagrave, world-famous "Burma Surgeon" who gave an account of his fight against disease in Burma in a best-selling book, Dr. Norman Abell and his wife will address a public meeting at 8 tonight at the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Abell, who is now on the staff of the Florence Crittenden Hospital in Detroit, and his wife will tell of their decision to join Dr. Seagrave, working in the Chin Hills of Burma.

The Detroit doctor has known Dr. Seagrave for many years and has had much correspondence with him since the latter's return to eastern Burma near the Red China border, as a medical missionary.

Appointed by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society to establish and maintain a 40-bed hospital to accommodate over 200,000 natives in the western region of Burma, Dr. Abell will also serve as the hospital's only dentist. Located in a village of 500 persons, it will be the only hospital in a radius of 200 miles.

The average Burmese lives only 25 years, Dr. Abell said, and chief among disease there is dysentery, malaria, typhoid fever and goiter conditions. "Considering the poverty of the region," Dr. Abell commented, "it will be a great challenge to me, and to my wife."

The Baptist missionary society will provide him with basic facilities and equipment, but Dr. Abell has requested his doctor friends for medical and surgical supplies for the new hospital, which natives will help him construct.

Dr. and Mrs. Abell will be presented by the Rev. Emil Kontz, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Following the program there will be a fellowship hour and refreshments.

Post Office to Halt Sale of U. S. Bonds

Sale of U.S. savings bonds at Pontiac's main post office and branches will be discontinued beginning Jan. 1, acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean said today.

The post office will continue to handle present accounts with firms using the payroll savings plan, but no new accounts will be added, Dean explained.

"Local persons may purchase bonds at the banks," Dean stated. The move is designed to reduce labor costs and release personnel for work at other duties, said Dean. Sale of savings stamps will continue, he added.

Screams Frighten Purse-Snatcher

A purse-snatcher fled after attempting to rob a 17-year-old girl on her way home from the theater early today, according to Pontiac Police.

Miss Geraldine Taylor of 236 Auburn Ave., said the neatly-dressed man took out a knife when she screamed but fled when a car approached, according to Detective John I. Williams.

Williams believes that the man is one of a gang sought by police for purse snatching during the last month.

Pontiac RR Crossing Investigation Asked

Commissioner Benjamin M. Gates last night called for an investigation by Michigan Public Service Commission of traffic warning signals at railroad-street intersections in Pontiac.

Speaking at Pontiac City Commission meeting, Gates cited last Saturday's accident at a Franklin Rd. crossing when a locomotive and one car were derailed after hitting an empty auto.

"Accidents at Grand Trunk Western crossings have been all too frequent," said Gates.

Commissioners asked a week to study Gates' proposal before taking action.

Investigate $5 Theft

Oakland County sheriff's detectives Elmer McQuern and Loyal Wertz are investigating the theft of $5 last night from a cash register at Carter's Service station, located at Pontiac Trail and Haggerty road in West Bloomfield Township.

Oil Man in Texas Gives $2,250,000 to His School

By CLIFTON FADIMAN

Recently a generous Texas oil man gave his university $2,250,000 saying, "The great spirit and determination shown by the Cougars last Saturday in defeating Baylor fills me with enthusiasm and prompts me to do something for our great university."

His motives may be criticized by some, but not by me. In endowing his university exclusively for its ability on the football field he showed, I think, an accurate and honest sense of reality. And it is high time that, like the Texan, we too cleared our minds of can't.

A long time ago our colleges devoted themselves to the study of divinity and a few dead languages. Why? Because we Americans wanted them to.

When we stopped wanting that, the colleges changed, and began to emphasize the sciences and also various techniques for earning a living.

Now a great many of us — students, trustees, alumni and others — would like a further change. We would like to see the college go forward, develop, begin to devote itself mainly to the complex art and science of football.

These two viewpoints should not be forced to live immorally together. The situation is even more unfair to the football group than to the old fogy education group.

Football should be given the status it has earned, earned often in plain honest dollars and cents. It should no longer be thought of as an antitoxin to the poison of education.

I propose therefore that each college, taking due account of the desires of its students and the enthusiasms of potential endowers, label itself for what it is, so that all who run may read, or, in the case of some alumni, have it read to them.

Harvard for example, would be Harvard E (E for Education) and would attract its own kind of student, about whom the less said the better.

Summer Home Looted

A 12 gauge shotgun, tools and one gallon of paint were reported stolen last night from the summer home of Mrs. Jenny Coupiman at 4539 Lakeview, Woodhull Lake, Waterford Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Bill Would Aid Sewer System

Waterford to Introduce Measure to Cut Interest Rate on Bonds

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Lloyd Anderson said yesterday that the township plans to have a bill introduced in the 1954 Legislature which would "strengthen salability of revenue bonds" for the township's proposed sewer system.

"The bill will cut the interest rate on the bonds, making them more attractive to both purchasers and the taxpayers," Anderson said.

He explained that the legislation proposed would give the planned bond issue additional backing, thus making the bonds sounder investments, which, in turn, would reduce the interest rate.

"There is still a long way to go before we get a sewer system," Anderson stated. "This is just one of the beginning steps."

Ford Gets New V-8 of 130 Horsepower

DETROIT (AP)—Entirely new power plants will be among features of the 1954 model Ford cars to be introduced in January.

The eight cylinder line will have a 130 horsepower overhead valve, "V" type engine. Its power output has been stepped up from this year's 110.

The six cylinder cars will have a 115 horsepower engine, increased from this year's 101 horsepower.

Ford engineers call the new eight a "Y" block unit because the block has an extra deep skirt extending below the crankshaft. The engine is designed with short stroke, low friction qualities and a 7.2 to 1 compression ratio.

Both the new eight and the more powerful six are designed to use so-called regular gasoline.

Thieves Rob Store

Thieves broke into a grocery store at 148 W. Walton Blvd. last night and took articles valued at $8, according to Pontiac Police. Entry was gained by breaking a window in the rear of the store, owned by Morris Fifield of 78 E. Strathmore.

Police Hoping for Identification of Thief's Car

Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post believe that someone who unknowingly interrupted a break-in of the Tam-O'Shanter Country Club pro shop early this week may be able to help them in their investigation.

A thief, who took about $600 in clothing and golfing equipment, ran to the woods when another auto drove up next to his car as he was in the shop.

Trooper Paul Witt said that the thief's footprints led up to the shop, then to the woods and back again to a coal chute which was used for entry.

Two pair of tire tracks side by side near the shop, led to the supposition that someone may have seen the car used by the thief.

Finds New Ailment, 'Money Sickness'

the particular "meaning" you have come to place on money—and how you have learned to use it. And it could come from "feeling" you need more money when actually you don't.

Furthermore, it all starts back in your childhood—and it doesn't matter whether your folks were in the heavy chips or had to struggle for every buck.

"One of life's major disappointments which almost every child experiences," said Kaufman, "is that his parents cannot provide him with limitless money . . .

"The manner in which a child resolves his early conflicts about money will determine some of his basic personality and character traits, aspirations and behavior patterns."

Parental bribing of kids, substitution of money handouts for real love, or overcriticism of a child's every use of money, may establish habits which, if uncorrected, may set the stage for a "money-sickness" candidate in later life.

Motorist Faces Homicide Trial

Archibald Menzies of Ferndale Charged With 2 Auto Deaths

A Ferndale motorist waived examination on negligent homicide charges yesterday before Royal Oak Township Justice Richard Broder and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court to appear Jan. 11.

Archibald Menzies, 25, of 1048 Rosewood, was returned to Oakland County Jail after he was unable to furnish $1,000 bond.

Menzies is still on crutches from an auto accident in which Gerald Lee Emmons, 17, of 30183 Alger, Royal Oak Township, and Patricia Ann Foster, 15, of 12 Katherine St., Royal Oak, were killed.

Patricia Ann and Gerald were riding with her brother, Douglas Foster, 17, when Menzies' auto, northbound on John R just north of 12-Mile road, collided head-on with the Foster car, according to Royal Oak Township Detective Bernie Travnikar.

Menzies was attempting to pass another car and was on the wrong side of the road when the two autos collided, Travnikar added.

Santa Claus Is Banned

Grandfather Frost Is Due in Russia on New Year's

MOSCOW (UP) — Old Grandfather Frost is getting some pretty strict orders these days. He's being told to pack mama dolls that really say mama and boys' games that won't fall apart when he makes his gift-bearing rounds in Russia on New Year's Day.

Grandfather Frost is the Soviet version of Santa Claus. He arrives a week before Christmas in the Soviet Union, which is observed Jan. 7 in accord with the old Julian calendar used by the Russian Orthodox Church.

* * *

But day after tomorrow millions of Soviet children will gather around fir trees to receive gifts and sweets. The grownups exchange gifts too—and this year the cry is for quality goods.

Premier Georgi Malenkov's government has promised more and better consumer goods. Letter columns of Soviet newspapers disclose that the Russian consumer wants to see this reflected in better-made gifts now that holiday buying is in full swing.

A parent who bought a doll for his daughter had this indignant comment:

"The instructions said that this doll could walk, roll its eyes and say 'mama.' The doll looks very nice—if you ignore the fact that its wig is made of rags and cotton waste glued to the head, instead of hair. Neither we nor our child could make the doll walk.

"On the second day the doll was completely paralyzed. Despite careful handling the right arm fell off. Then, while trying to make the doll work, something broke inside and instead of saying 'mama' it only made hoarse sounds. Why do they put out such bad toys?"

Other letters complained about flimsy table games whose parts did not match and children's shoes that fell apart when exposed to rainy weather.

Moscow newspapers complained also about the cost of the toys. A doll's chair cost 22 rubles—as much as a chair for grownups. The Moscow Research Institute on Toys came up with a toy kitchen with a real sink, water in the tap, washing machine, meat grinder, pots and pans. But the cost was 1,500 rubles—nearly as much as a real kitchen for a real family would cost.

(The ruble is quoted officially at four to the U. S. dollar. But 1,500 rubles would amount to more than two months' salary of an ordinary factory worker.)

No News on Moving 2 Korean Divisions

SEOUL (UP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor stood in a snow covered Korean valley today and told 8th Army soldiers he did not know what two U. S. divisions would be leaving Korea or where or when they would go.

"The decision to transfer two divisions out," he said, "was a high-level move and I do not have the details. It may be weeks or months before the transfer is made."

President Eisenhower announced recently that the two divisions would be pulled out.

"Don't listen to rumors," Taylor told troops of the U. S. 25th Division's 27th Regiment. "As soon as we get authoritative news from the horse's mouth, we'll let you know."

Taylor said he thought that after the divisions to be transferred were known the "fair way to do it would be to send out the men who have been out here about 16 months and transfer the short-timers from the divisions to other divisions that are staying."

"But I don't know yet that will be the procedure," he said.

Midland Garage Fire Loss $5,000 to $10,000

Scientists Doubt Heredity Theory

Experiment With Yeast Indicates Children May Inherit Abilities

BOSTON (UP)—Some new experiments with brewer's yeast pose questions about the validity of certain present-day concepts of heredity and evolution, two Southern Illinois University scientists said today.

Researchers Carl C. Lindegren and David D. Pittman reported that tests on yeast cells have shown that a trait that is induced or "added" rather than inherent in a parent cell may be carried through successive generations.

This finding, they told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, is contrary to the contentions of modern geneticists who hold that:

Characteristics acquired by living organisms—such as man, animals and plants—because of environmental conditions, are not passed on to their offspring, except for some degenerative traits like those induced by radiation damage or certain poisons.

They said they had been able to induce in certain yeast cells a previously unpossessed ability to feed upon a certain kind of sugar—and that the cells were then able to pass the acquired trait along to their offspring. The trait was induced through immersing the original cells in the sugar pollution for a long period of time—in other words—environmental exposure.

They said their results question two of the basic theories about heredity: (1) that evolution is the result of accidental change; and (2) that degenerative changes, like those resulting from radiation damage or poisons, are important to evolution.

France's New President

Having resolved a prolonged deadlock by electing Rene Coty President on an unprecedented thirteenth ballot, French lawmakers soon must face a task that may prove much more difficult.

Under French law the Laniel government must resign when the new President takes office January 17. With so many parties holding so many different views on the European Defense Plan, it would not be surprising if formation of a new government would take even longer.

★ ★ ★

Though he has been in politics for 30 years, President-elect Coty isn't widely known either inside or outside France. Now 71, a barrister and one of the framers of the Fourth Republic's constitution, he has served in both houses of the national legislature. For a brief period he was minister of reconstruction and has served as vice president of the Senate.

The presidency in France is like ours in name only. Incumbents are elected by the legislature to seven year terms. While they enjoy great prestige, they have little or no political power and the office is supposed to remain above the pulling and hauling of partisan politics.

Friends of France will wish the Republic's new President every success in office. It also can be hoped that agreement on him as successor to Vincent Auriol presages more of the unity France must have if it is to achieve a safe measure of political stability.

161,000,000 of Us Now

Most Americans know their country is growing. But few realize that it's at a faster rate than any other Nation of the Western world.

As of now, says U. S. News & World Report, the population of continental United States is 161,000,000. Back in 1940 the population was only 132,000,000.

In 1930 our census showed 123,000,000 and our experts were saying that it never would exceed 160,000,000. Today the forecasts are that by 1970, 200,000,000 persons will call themselves Americans.

Why has there been such a sharp upward trend in the rate of population growth? The principal reason is the increase in births, 4,000,000 this year, giving a rate of 24 per thousand of population, or nearly that of India.

★ ★ ★

All this, of course, means more business for everybody. In the America of tomorrow there will be more jobs and greater opportunity in the enormous tasks of meeting the needs of our rapidly growing population.

Maritimes Industrialize

A little publicized but very important fact in Canada's current economic boom is the concerted effort of her four Maritime Provinces to industrialize.

Ever since Dominion Confederation the provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island have been the country's economic weaklings. The program to expand production and opportunity has been joined by Canada's new province, Newfoundland.

Discovery of lead, zinc, copper, silver and iron in northern New Brunswick last year is expected to have an important and beneficial effect on the economy of all four provinces.

In Nova Scotia established industries like coal, steel and fisheries are being modernized and expanded. The Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., the Maritimes' largest enterprise, is spending $50,000,000 in modernizing its steel mill at Sydney and its nearby coal mines.

Even Prince Edward Island, Canada's smallest province, is participating by building salt cod packing plants, fresh fish filleting factories and fish meal plants.

Newfoundland's story is much the same. New factories have been built with government and private capital to develop natural resources. Plants built in the first half of 1953 already are turning out a new type of pressed board, foam rubber products, storage batteries and leather goods. The island's fisheries are to receive $80,000,000 worth of attention in the next decade to recapture old markets and gain new ones.

At a recent meeting in Moncton, N. B. the four Maritime premiers decided on a program to co-ordinate all these activities. If dissatisfaction with the economic advantage enjoyed by Upper Canada is essential to the success of such a program, look for impressive developments in these provinces very soon.

Any surplus is stored in underground reservoirs that have been previously emptied. The pipe is half 30-inch and half 31-inch, so they could be slipped inside of each other to save shipping space.

Communists Expect to Win Through Our Youths; Citizen Urges Watchfulness

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I wish every American citizen could have seen Miss Bentley on TV when she was before the Un-American committee. She said the Russians know and expect to win by our youths, through schools and all kinds of ways . . . but, our youths they can win.

I hope America will take special care. Today the light is shining for those who want it to shine.

Being of Greek origin, a correction . . . the "X" does go in the word Christmas, for the "X" in early Christian times meant Christ.

Regardless of how we write Christmas, it is how we practice Christianity that counts. Not one day, but forever. That has made America great, for there are people who practice what the Savior taught in their everyday lives.

Pope Begs for Stronger Moral Force Behind Our Technology and Materialism

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Of all the statements, speeches and declarations that have come from the statesmen of the world in the last few days apropos of the holiday season, none contains a more poignant message than that conveyed by Pope Pius XII on Christmas Eve.

Its full text has just been cabled and made available here by the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

As is customary, His Holiness speaks in phrases general and impolicit, but the meaning sometimes has a direct bearing on pending governmental policies in various countries as they relate to world peace.

The Pope condemned the "technological spirit" of the age and decried the materialism that has swept the world as a sort of substitute for spiritual feeling.

He said that present criticisms are not to be understood as condemnation of technological progress in itself, because "the church loves and favors human progress." He added:

"Nevertheless, it can hardly be denied that this technology which in our century has reached the height of its splendor and fruitfulness is, through certain circumstances, changed into a grave spiritual danger.

"For it seems to give modern man, prostrate at its altar, a sense of self-sufficiency and satisfaction of his boundless thirst for knowledge and power . . .

"Our grave fears for Europe are stirred by the repeated disappointments which the sincere desire for peace and a relaxation of tension cherished by these nations has for years met with; this is also due to a material approach to the problem of peace.

"We are thinking particularly of those who judge that the question of peace is technological, and consider the life of individuals and of nations from a technico-economical standpoint.

"The materialistic idea of life threatens to become the rule of conduct of certain busy peace agents, and the mainspring of their pacifist policy.

"They think that the secret of the solution lies in bringing material prosperity to all nations through constant increase in productivity and in the standard of living.

"A hundred years ago, another similar formula aroused the absolute confidence of statesmen; with free trade, lasting peace."

The pope went on to say that "no materialism was ever an apt means to establish peace" because "peace is above all an attitude of mind, and only secondarily an harmonious equilibrium of external forces — so it is an error of principle to entrust peace to a modern materialism that corrupts the essence of man and stifles his personal and spiritual life."

From the foregoing it could be inferred that the Pope believes that peace can come only by bringing the Soviet peoples into an attitude of mind that recognizes the dangers of the materialism to which the present rulers in Moscow are dedicated. It is a challenging thought.

Just as this writer finished reading a copy of the cabled text of the Pope's message, there came to hand a letter from an officer on active duty in the U.S. Air Force. He wrote:

"As a member of the United States Air Force, I am very proud to be a part of the strongest material force preventing the Communists from laying waste our country and bringing to our homes the misery that encompasses such a large percentage of the world's population today.

"However, I fully realize that our physical strength is nothing without a firm moral and spiritual backing, and as a plain ordinary American citizen, I sometimes feel quite humiliated at the way our leaders in Washington are so afraid to stand up for moral principles.

"We condemn the Soviets for what they did to Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, but with tongue in cheek we write them off as being unfortunates who happened to live too close to the Soviet union.

"We condemn the Chinese Communists and North Korean Communists for their brutal massacres of thousands of United Nations personnel, but we do nothing to balance the scales of justice.

"I wonder how proud Capt. Harold Fischer and the other 900-odd Americans are of their countrymen who are either too afraid or too unconcerned over their 'expendable' lives to act in the American tradition and fight for their freedom.

"Indeed, we now are starting to get 'conditioned' to accepting the Chinese Communists into the United Nations.

"I hope enough of our leaders in Washington will realize what our present soft-pedaling of principle is doing to our future generations to do something to correct this unfortunate and tragic situation."

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Moreover, because I have set my affection to the house of my god, I have of mine own proper good, of gold and silver, which I have given to the house of my God, over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house. —I Chron. 29:3.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Crane Says Children Educate Each Other

Notice David's self-reliance when picked on by his older brother. Children educate children and teach a wholesome skepticism, so don't rear an "only" child if you can possibly give him siblings. Two or three brothers and sisters will teach a child some "horse sense" which he may never obtain otherwise.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-381: When David was 7, the following incident occurred.

It was at lunch when 13-year-old Philip accusingly called to Mrs. Crane:

"Mama, David took the last piece of cake!"

"That's tough on you!" David flippantly replied, as he bit into the cake. "Besides, this was my piece, anyway."

Phillip, had always been prone to pick on the younger children and tease them.

I think it was also he who first brought home that retort "Tough on you." The other children quickly adopted it, and even used it right back on him as a synonym for "That's your bad luck."

"Mama, David took two glasses of milk," Philip might call out.

"Tough on you!" David would then exclaim, unabashed by the pressure his older brother was putting on him.

In psychology we use the word "sibling" to indicate either a brother or sister. It is a convenient word.

You parents of one child ought to give your youngster at least one or two siblings, if at all possible, for children thus educate children.

If David were brought up without brothers and sisters, and some older boy were to accuse him of taking the last piece of cake, he might feel timid and blush. Or he might even break into tears.

Many a child develops into a wallflower because he isn't accustomed to the rough and tumble ways of other children.

So when he is thus publicly censured by other youngsters, he tends to cringe and draw within his shell.

"That's tough on you!" David comes back at Philip, without feeling crestfallen or humiliated. Furthermore, his tone of voice is just as forceful and challenging as Philip's. He defends himself boldly.

Almost 2,000,000 men were rejected or discharged from military service in World War II because they had mental complexes or breakdowns and couldn't stand the gaff.

A child who has early learned to defend himself socially and taunt his teasers with "Tough on you", is not very likely to develop a mental breakdown in later life.

So if you want to insure your children against mental and emotional collapse in later life, give them siblings! Let them thus learn the daily give-and-take that builds not only hardihood of bone and muscle, but also hardihood of personality.

David's use of "Tough on you," was not an excuse for selfishness, since we watched the children to curb such bad habits.

But he forcibly and positively defended his rights, without the least hesitation, by this almost flippant retort to the older boys who might try to impose upon him.

With several children in the family, gullibility is also reduced, for one child tries to work his newly learned tricks on all the rest.

Soon the younger children are partially vaccinated against being made "suckers." They don't "bite" as readily on conventional forms of deception.

For they have developed the wholesome habit of being reasonably skeptical. This is one of the habits we commonly call "horse sense."

Some of our "only" children in the field of politics would not have bitten so readily on communistic fool's gold during the past 20 years if they had been reared in a large family where "That's tough on you" would have greeted their first venture into red ink.

And they'd have had more skepticism of Stalin at Yalta and Teheran, too.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(International News Service)

The old year is throwing the twilight shadow that eventually blacks out itself. It was a year that was loaded to the Plimsoll mark with prophetic agenda.

The high spot was the changing of the palace guards. It occurred in the mooted Casa Blanca where the Democrats had withstood a siege of 20 office-fattened years.

The Homburg stand took over the works on January 20th. It started with the tramp, tramp, tramp of the GOP phalanx marching northwest on Pennsylvania Avenue. There were a lot of tramps going in the other direction too.

We predicted it would be a tough operation for the new lessee. Ike inherited an overhanging budget, an under-slung deficit and nothing but adding machines in the boiler room.

The GOP had been outdoors longer than an organ grinder's monkey. We said that Harry had done all of Ike's thinking for the next six months. In less than two weeks everything jack-knifed.

The New Deal had been lost in the shuffle. But the discard was still alive. The Republicans were puzzled by bridges where there were no rivers, post-offices for sky-writing and saw-mills above timber-line.

The five percenters oiled up their fright wigs when Charley Wilson sold $2,500,000 General Motors stock just to stay in the cabinet. I offered to hold it in storage as the escrow flies.

In less than two weeks Ike discovered Harry Truman had gone and left the doorsteps the most densely populated nursery in the world.

Expectant Mothers Need Extra Calcium Is the Theory Propounded by Dr. Brady

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A normal woman about to bear a child should gain from 12 to 16 pounds in weight during pregnancy.

In the blue book Preparing for Maternity, for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope, I say "The expectant father should tolerate no monkey-shines with the diet calculated to prevent the accumulation of this 10 per cent surplus"—above all beware of near-doctor or queer-doctor who counsels restriction of diet with a view to insuring easy labor. That theory works just one way—badly.

It seems to me that the dentists are still harboring a notion conceived in the nineteenth century, that once a person has cut all the (28 to 32) teeth one is going to have, that's it.

The teeth become monolithic and unlike the bones and every other kind of tissue in the body, beyond the reach or control of metabolism.

Mind, now, I say the fetus robs the expectant mother's blood of calcium, and hence the expectant mother's daily intake of calcium must be greater than she ordinarily needs to maintain good nutrition, good looks, vite and fitness for childbirth.

★ ★ ★

The high calcium foods on which the expectant mother should rely for this purpose are whole milk or skim milk or buttermilk or evaporated milk or dry milk powder and various dishes in which milk is a main ingredient; eggs; cottage cheese or any other kind of cheese; peas, beans, nuts, peanuts; fresh leafy vegetables and greens.

★ ★ ★

When the American Dental Assn. tells us that studies have shown "conclusively" that the fetus does not take calcium out of the mother's teeth I become suspicious of the sincerity of the dentists' belief in what they say.

Besides the high calcium foods mentioned as desirable for the expectant mother—they are just as desirable for the expectant father, brothers, sisters, maiden aunts and grandparents—she needs a larger daily ration of vitamin D (sunshine vitamin) than she would ordinarily require, for vitamin D is essential for the assimilation and utilization (metabolism) of calcium in the body.

It is difficult if not impossible to get an adequate daily ration of vitamin D from food alone, because few foods contain enough—though whole milk, cream, butter, egg yolk and canned sardines and canned salmon contain considerable.

Therefore, as explained in the blue book, it is a good rule to supplement the prospective mother's diet with a daily dollop of Ca and R throughout pregnancy.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Parties to Court Voters in 1954

In Election Year Cold War Survival, Taxes to Be Major Items

WASHINGTON — The 1954 session of Congress — the one which will be freshest in voters' minds when they elect the 84th Congress — will make decisions affecting survival in the cold war and pocketbooks on Main Street.

Republicans and Democrats will court the electorate each step of the way through an agenda bulging with such pressing matters as atomic-power policy and taxes on personal income. And there will be thousands of less momentous issues — perhaps including a study of the biology of scallops — which may win or lose votes next November and help decide the federal government's political complexion for two years or more.

The second session necessarily will be short, because political fences will need mending before Election Day. And it will be crowded, because the first session in 1953 postponed final decisions on many matters pending further study. There may even be a special session before the first of 1955 if much work remains uncompleted.

President Eisenhower's first full session will test his leadership in the face of ambitious Democratic "outs" and some reluctant Republican "ins" whose ideas on national and world affairs differ from the President's. GOP control will be wispy and perhaps troubled, — because of depletion in the party's ranks at the Capitol and the absence of leadership by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R Ohio).

The President apparently plans to lead more firmly than he did during the first session, although he doubtless wil continue to seek voluntary cooperation when prospects for favorable results are good. He has been laying the ground-work meticulously. Dec. 17-19, he conferred with Republican leaders of Congress and committee chairmen, outlining his program, dispensing the benefits of Administration staff work, and exchanging views on details.

Influential Democrats will be called to the White House for discussions before the session begins Jan. 6. They certainly will be consulted intermittently during 1954 because, no matter how united the Republicans may be, little will be accomplished without support by at least a few Democrats.

Specifics of the President's policies must await delivery of his State of the Union message to Congress Jan. 7. He has promised a "progressive" program and one which will fulfill the 1952 GOP platform. He has scheduled a radio and television address for Jan. 4 and will follow up his Jan. 7 message with major reports to Congress on the economic situation and the budget.

Among the matters discussed at the mid-December White House conferences were:

Budget, taxation, defense, foreign aid, labor, inflation, depression, public work, housing, atomic energy, absentee ballots for servicemen, health, agriculture, social security, aid to the physically handicapped, St. Lawrence Seaway, Hawaiian statehood, highways, food control, reclamation, congressional probes, criminal prosecution, government reorganization, interstate and foreign commerce, the Bricker amendment, home rule for the District of Columbia, postal rates, civil service, veterans' affairs.

Russell Likes Ike's Preview

But Dem Will Pledge No Blanket Support for 1954 Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga) today termed "an excellent idea" President Eisenhower's plan to give an advance outline of his 1954 program to key Democrats, but the senator made plain he will not pledge blanket support.

And Russell, the unofficial leader of a powerful group of Southern Democrats in the Senate, noted in an interview that the almost equal division of Congress in effect gives Democrats a potential veto power over anything the President requests.

* * *

"There always is politics in Congress during a campaign year under our Democratic system," Russell said. "We'll have an exciting session."

* * *

Russell is one of the top Democratic congressional leaders invited by Eisenhower to hear a White House preview of his State of the Union message Jan. 5, two days before it is presented publicly to Congress. Congress convenes Jan. 6.

"I think it is an excellent idea to discuss these issues that concern everyone, Democrats and Republicans, with the minority party," Russell said.

But Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) said the Democrats were being called to the White House after the program had been set.

* * *

"It reminds me of the surgeon who invited a guest in to view the remains and be at the wake," McCarran said of the Eisenhower invitation.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, voiced confidence that Eisenhower would make changes in his legislative program to meet any valid objections from the Democrats.

"I know the President will want to hear what those objections are," Ferguson said. "It will not be too late for changes in the message. The President isn't doing this just as a decoy or something."

Postal Inspector Unscrambling 300 Yule Cards

CHICAGO (AP)—Delivery of nearly 300 Christmas cards has been delayed but Postal Inspector F. W. Baleiko is working to get them distributed—before New Year's, he hopes.

Baleiko yesterday began matching 282 letters and Christmas cards to 282 envelopes in an unscrambling made necessary by Willie Brown, 30, a temporary mail carrier. Postal inspectors said Brown's wife said he came home Christmas Eve and forced her to open each envelope. He was charged with embezzling and detaining and obstructing delivery of mail.

Oklahomans to Vote on Three Toll Roads

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahomans will decide in a special election Jan. 26 whether to authorize construction of three new toll roads.

Gov. Johnston Murray, chief booster of the expressways in Oklahoma, called the election yesterday on proposed roads from Tulsa to Joplin, Mo.; Oklahoma City north near Wichita, Kan.; and Oklahoma City southwest near Wichita Falls, Tex.

The state's first pay-as-you-drive four-lane superhighway, the Turner Turnpike from Oklahoma City to Tulsa, was opened last May 16.

Murray has hailed the 88-mile turnpike, built only after a bitter political battle and law suits which reached the U. S. Supreme Court, as successful even beyond expectation.

Opponents, however — primarily businessmen and legislators along the toll road route — have denounced it as a burden to citizens and a drain on businesses because small towns are bypassed.

Time Magazine Names Adenauer 'Man of 1953'

It said he guided the Germans "back to moral respectability and earned himself a seat in the highest councils of the Western Powers."

Third President Is Inaugurated

Philippines' Magsaysay Calls for Communist Rebels to Surrender

MANILA (AP) — Peppy Ramon Magsaysay, ex-46-year-old blacksmith's son, pledged an "honest, efficient and constructive government" today before a cheering throng of 500,000 that saw him sworn in as the third President of this seven-year-old republic.

"For this young and vigorous nation of ours, nothing is really impossible," the staunch former defense secretary declared in his inaugural address.

After solemnly taking the oath of office, Magsaysay outlined a seven-point program aimed at raising living conditions, strengthening internal security and wiping out the Communist-directed Huk rebel movement.

* * *

He called for strong ties with the United States and declared that relations with friendly Asian nations must be tightened to meet common problems.

"But," he warned, "to the leaders of the Communist conspiracy who would deliver this country and its people to a foreign power, this I say:

"I shall use all the forces at my command to the end that the sovereign authority of the government shall be respected and maintained. There can be no compromise with disloyalty."

* * *

The new President, who rode his fame as Huk-busting defense secretary into the highest office in the land, urged Communist rebels "who have been misled by the lies of the Kremlin", to surrender.

Magsaysay broke with the administration of President Elpidio Quirino in a dispute over the resettlement of rebels who gave themselves up.

As standard bearer of the opposition Nacionalista party, he won a smashing victory over Quirino in November's election for a four-year term.

It's Thick, Juicy and Nutritious —Whale Steak

LOS ANGELES (AP)—You slice it about an inch thick and fry it quickly in butter, the biologist said. What have you got? Whale steak.

"Nutritious, juicy, soft, and high in protein," went on the biologist, Dr. Raymond M. Gilmore of the U. S. Fish and Wild Life Service.

Gilmore also told the Western Society of Naturalists yesterday that in creating a market for the meat lies the only hope for saving the whaling industry. He said vegetable oils have ruined the whale oil market.

Some whale meat, said Gilmore, is being shipped to Eastern markets from Norway and Iceland. It sells for 83 cents a pound, a price which can be greatly decreased if demand increases.

New Year's Eve in New York Easily Costs $100

NEW YORK (AP) — Taking your best girl out for New Year's Eve will require the major part of a $100 bill at some of New York's swankier night spots.

Or, if you prefer, you can visit the bar around the corner and buy a 10 cent beer to watch the revelry on television.

The minimum tab at the Hotel Pierre's Cotillion Room will be $27.50 per person, For that you will get dinner, a show, noisemakers, dancing and a champagne cocktail.

To the $55 for two, add the price of all other drinks, tips, transportation, a snack on the way home and maybe a headache remedy.

70,000 U. S. Children Are Adopted Yearly

About 70,000 children are adopted each year in this country, according to the U. S. Children's Bureau. About one fourth of these are placed through adoption agencies.

Because of their systematic and sympathetic procedures, placements through agencies usually turn out better than those that are casually arranged.

She is a member of Sigma Gamma and a provisional member of the Junior League in Washington where she has been living for the past several months. Betty made her debut in December 1948.

New Handbags Stress Height

PARIS (INS) — Handbags will emphasize height, not width, next year, according to the man who creates bags for Dior, Fath, Schiaparelli, and other Parisian designers.

Roger Model, matching his designs to the 1954 Paris look, has created some new ideas in sportswear.

For instance, he has fashioned one bag made of three boxes, like a chest of drawers. A large box forms the base and two smaller boxes lie alongside each other to make up the top.

Made of boxcalf, the bag can open into a flat shape, with the boxes lying in a row.

Another sports bag is modeled after an old-fashioned hot water bottle top. This number is of black kid, with a metal top.

Many Youngsters Dread Entering the Adult World

BY DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

Modern good sense on the part of parents can go a long way toward transforming Junior or Sis into self-reliant grownups.

Contrary to popular belief, says Prof. Afton Smith of the State University of Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, all children do not want to grow up.

According to studies made several years ago, he says, 47 per cent, or one-half of the children, said they did not want to grow up.

Some were afraid they could not do their work like dad, or keep their clothes neat like mother. They saw nothing attractive in keeping quiet all the time. There was too much expected of them by grownups. Says Prof. Smith:

"That's where modern good sense comes in. It could be that we destroy the child's interest in growing up by too much pressure and too little encouragement.

"Suppose a child fails to reach a standard because we have set it too high for his age. At 6 he can't keep his hands and clothes clean and still play as actively as he should.

"At 12 he doesn't keep too clean either. Somebody is always prodding him. "I guess you will never grow up,' they say. Grow-up becomes anything but interesting."

"If children are pressured to act older than they are ready to act, it is no wonder that growing up becomes a burden. But if children are treated in keeping with their age, they can live confidently from day to day. They usually want to grow up."

A case in point is made by Prof. William D. Lampard, who is associated with the Child Welfare Research Station. In stressing the importance of self-confidence he cites the case of Jane and her mother:

"My bed's all made, Mother, and my room is straight. I'm ready to go to school," Jane announced.

"All right, I'll just come in and check up," said Mrs. Welsh. She put down the dish towel and hastened hopefully into Jane's room.

"Oh, Jane. Come right back here! You know perfectly well you haven't smoothed out the sheets or tucked in the blankets. When are you going to start doing it right the first time? Now get to work, and while you are doing it, pick up those bedroom slippers."

Poor Jane, says Prof. Lampard. She had been so proud, and she really thought she had done her work well. But in her mother's housewife-trained eyes, the efforts of her 8-year-old were obviously not at all sufficient.

Jane's mother considered Jane inadequate, and made this clear to her. He commented:

"Our children's self-confidence is so easily shattered. We don't mean to be cruel to them; we just want to teach them. And it certainly would be nice to have them do things really right, to have them help efficiently.

"But the trouble is if we make them feel foolish and bumbling when they make efforts to help, if we tear down their feeling that they have done something right, we are not going to improve their performance.

"On the contrary, by hasty ridicule and reproaches we gradually tear down their confidence in their own ability, and eventually they may stop even trying to do things."

After all, he concludes, we all know that self-confidence which leads to pleasure in doing things and willingness to learn new skills, is more important to our children than ability to make a bed right while they are growing up.

The skills will come with time. So let's help tactfully when they need it, encourage them, and try to accept their efforts.

One Winner to Be Sweatered in Mink

College Queens Blossom in Profusion

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Pretty girls from college campuses over the nation have been competing this week for beauty titles in a contest confusion that would baffle anybody but a straight "A" coed.

The only clear-cut winner is a 17-year-old University of Arkansas freshman who now can wear a mink sweater to classes.

She won the sweater for being selected "American Campus Queen." In another hotel, at about the same time, judges were picking finalists in the "National College Queen" contest.

"Frankly, it is confusing," said the fellow who started one of the contests. Both contests grew out of publicity men's ideas and money from various companies which stood to gain a little notice if the girls wore their clothes, their jewelry — or even their mink sweaters.

Myra Dawn Hazel, a demure blonde born in Marked Tree, Ark., won the title of American Campus Queen on the basis of beauty, poise, a two-minute speech on communism and a stiff test on current events.

Honesty was not a necesary qualification, but she could have won that round, too.

"My measurements are 32, 24, 35," she whispered in an interview, not wanting the men in the room to overhear. She could have added an inch to the 32-inch bust measurement and subtracted an inch from waist and hips to make the figures read better — but she didn't.

"I think beauty contests are all right so long as they bring out other qualifications," the campus queen said, twirling her horn-rimmed glasses with one hand. She is near-sighted.

The other college beauty contest, which will have the final winner picked in Florida next month, had the girls write a 250-word essay on "What a College Education Means to Me," instead of make a speech.

"I don't know why we did the same thing at the same time," sighed one of the two contest promoters. "Our contestants have been all mixed up in the minds of the public."

Myra indicated she didn't give a whit how many campus beauties got picked. She's going to keep that all-mink sweater locked in her dormitory closet.

"That's one sweater none of the girls is going to borrow," she said, and smiled. She had her campus camel's hair coat thrown around her shoulders as she talked. The sweater is being made up to her measurements.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Mary Elisabeth Booth, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman Booth, has announced the plans for her coming marriage on Jan. 30 to Robert Ellison Tuller of Worcester, Mass.

The ceremony will take place at Christ Church Cranbrook, solemnized by the Rev. Parry Williams.

Mrs. John A. Bacon Jr., the bride's cousin, will be her matron of honor. Attending as bridesmaids will be the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. J. Thomas Cannon, Mrs. Frederick C. Booth, Mrs. William T. Beresford and Mrs. Francis E. Brossy III.

Performing the duties of best man will be J. Thomas Cannon, while Bruce A. Butler, Anthony Towbridge, Harold Begley Jr. and Charles B. Fagan, all of Worcester, will be seating the guests together with G. Randall Booth and Frederick C. Booth of the Hills.

A reception at Bloomfield Hills Country Club will follow the 4 o'clock service.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Tuller of Worcester, will entertain at the rehearsal dinner Jan. 29 in Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

The bride's calendar reveals many parties scheduled. Tuesday evening Mrs. William T. Beresford entertained at the spinster dinner in her home.

Mrs. Frederick C. Booth has set aside Jan. 12 to honor the bride-elect at a tea and recipe shower. Mrs. W. Bradley Higbie, Mrs. Christopher Holzworth and Mrs. Guy C. Smith will entertain on the 19th at an afternoon tea and kitchen shower in the Holzworth home in the Hills.

A dinner party for the wedding attendants and their families is being planned for the 28th by Mr. and Mrs. William R. Yaw.

Friday the 29th Mr. and Mrs. Robert Budd and Mr. and Mrs. William James will entertain at luncheon. Preceding the wedding on Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. West H. Gallogly have issued luncheon invitations.

An additional touch was added to Christmas Day in the way of a reunion when Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Shaw motored to Mansfield, Ohio, to be house-guests of the John L. Morleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Smith of Tryon, N. C., also joined the group. The Shaws returned with glowing accounts of the Morleys and the Smiths, all of whom were former Bloomfield residents.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Underwood are entertaining at an open house in their Lake Shore road home.

Orchard Lake is a busy place this season. Monday afternoon the Fred L. Blacks entertained at an informal cocktail party honoring their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Antal Dorati.

Mr. Dorati is the conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony and interest in them is particularly piqued by the fact that he will be conducting the Detroit Symphony this week.

The Fred G. Weed home on the lake is busy with houseguests. Mrs. Weed's sister and brother have been here for the holidays. Dr. and Mrs. Otto Reinking returned to their Washington, D. C. home on Monday while Miss Erna Reinking of Madison, Wis., will remain through the holidays.

South Port, Conn., has sent this area another holiday visitor. Janet McCobb arrived at the Franklin home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington Smith on Monday.

Joining the family during the remainder of the holidays will be Mr. and Mrs. Newton Skillman and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce H. Smith.

After spending six months in Turkey where she has been doing the interior decorating for the new Hilton Hotel in Istanbul, Jane Kidder returned to Birmingham to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lawrence of Wing Lake. Several friends were invited to their home Sunday to hear her experiences.

Eyeglasses Can Flatter Your Face

Frames Designed in All Colors of the Spectrum

Don't be "color blind" when selecting eyeglasses.

Until a few years ago, women worried more about the color and shape of the eyewear lenses than they did about the frames. Fortunately, this is no longer true.

Besides designing both lenses and frames to fit the contours of the individual face, stylists also have created eyewear in all the colors of the spectrum.

There are colored frames to suit every hair shade, costume and person ty.

When in doubt, a good thing to remember is that the hair and eyes are the most dominant parts of the face. The color of one may determine what colors go best with the other.

Brunettes, for example, may find their beauty heightened by red, cordova, amber or contrasting blonde frames.

Blondes prefer pale pink, light blue or gray. And, for contrast, there is midnight blue or ornamental black.

For the redhead, there is a lovely variety of greens, golds, and bronzes, plus copper tones and shiny black.

The silver-haired woman also has an enchanting range of colors to choose from — pastel or vivid, plain or trimmed with elegant silver and gold.

Colors can also be selected to conform with clothing, jewelry or other cosmetic items, such as compacts and cigarette cases.

Absorbs Moisture

Your clothes' ability to absorb moisture is important in protecting your health all year round. Fabric which does not absorb moisture sucks it through to the skin, and may cause a chill. Wool can absorb up to 30 per cent of its weight in moisture without feeling wet, while the non-absorbent family of synthetics can absorb from 1 to 5 per cent.

Paris Footwear Sparkles

Diamonds Gleam on Toes

PARIS (INS)—Paris has a new way to put your best foot forward—stick a diamond on it.

Evening sandals and dressy cocktail pumps, says French shoe expert Hellstern, are just not up-to-the-minute in '54 without diamonds for glamor. He's got a special bracelet designed for shoe wear, but earrings or clips can easily be added at home.

One of Hellstern's sandals is made of narrow straps of jet beads crossed over the instep. A diamond earclip at each cross-point makes for the sparkle.

Satin cocktail pumps are even more elegant if leaf-shaped earclips are attached.

In general this Paris designer is showing high, spiky heels and smartly pointed toes. Pastel colors in satin or kid leather, fashioned into bare-looking sandals, are "it" for evening wear.

And for the woman who doesn't want twinkling toes, this designer can get just as fancy without diamonds or rhinestones. An example is the gold kid evening sandals he trimmed with finest lace scalloping cut in gold kid.

Magnets in Hem Hold Bath Curtain

If you get annoyed when the plastic shower curtain glues itself to the wall or pastes itself together, try the new shower curtain with magnets in it. This curtain has small magnets spaced along the bottom hem which are supposed to keep the curtain right against the side of the tub. The shower curtains come in a variety of colors and patterns.

American Parents Likely to Give Youngsters Too Little Responsibility

Snow Is Key to Insulation

By HUBBARD COBB

To most people, except the very young and those in the snow removal business, snow is a darn nuisance.

We haven't had much use for snow for a good many years but we have found that there is nothing like a good heavy fall of snow to show you just how well your home is insulated.

Next time you run across a good fall of snow, observe how long it takes the snow to melt off the roof of your house.

If your roof is free of snow while similar homes still have a nice white covering, then you can be pretty sure that your home is not properly insulated and that you are wasting fuel all winter long.

The reasoning behind this is that it takes heat to melt snow, and when the weather outside is below freezing the only way the snow can be melted is from heat escaping through the roof from the inside.

What you should do in this particular case is check up to see if the roof was ever insulated, and if so, why is the insulation not doing its job.

If you live in a home with a radiant heated floor you can check on your heat loss around the edges of the slab by observing the condition of the snow around the outside of the house.

This means that when the slab was poured it was not insulated from the foundation wall. This can be a pretty bad source of heat loss, and stopping the leak usually requires the services of a contractor.

It's a mystery why the girls who pose in girdle ads are the ones who need them least.

WHOOPEE

Let's have fun this week. Do at least one thing New Year's Eve that you have long wanted to, but didn't dare.
If your hair is white or grey, use just a little extra bluing. Under artificial light it will be dramatic. If you wish you could use a little lacquer (just this once) sprinkle on a bit of silver glitter before it dries. You will be the belle of the ball. If your hair is red, there is green and gold star dust to make you sparkle. For blondes and brunettes, use the shade that complements your dress. Have you ever wished you had the courage to try doe eyes? Now is the time. Apply eye shadow on the outer half of the upper lid. Eye shadow may compliment the eyes or harmonize with the dress.
Draw fine line with your eyebrow pencil just above the lashes on the lower lid. Turn the lines up to little points where they join at the outside corner of the eye.

Girl Wonders If She Ought to Return Photographs of Former Boy Friend

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I have two very nice pictures of my ex-boy friend that I don't know what to do with. Should I return them, or keep them? If it is proper to return them, should I send them to his folks or to him?

"I don't write to him any more and his family lives closer to my home than he does. What's the proper thing for me to do?"

If, at the moment of your breakup, you'd had a great tallying of the score and had decided to return each other's possessions that had been out on loan, those photographs might have been included in the lot.

Along with class ring, sweater, identification bracelet — anything that was not an out and out gift—the pictures could have gone back for future use.

But if you returned the merchandise that was rightfully his, and no mention was made of his photographs, consider them yours to keep until he asks for them. That he's not really very likely to do.

Returning them to him (there's no reason to get his family into the picture) at this point would indicate that you can't stand the sight of him any more. And that can't be quite true even though you did break up.

So tuck them away in the bottom of a drawer, since having them out on display is beside the point these days. Forget they're there. Dollars to doughnuts when you stumble on them months from now, they'll evoke only the most pleasant memories.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going with Edith for over a year and think the world of her. During the past two weeks she has been dating another boy.

"The other night she told me she didn't have time for two boy friends and that she was through with me. I asked her if she liked this other boy and she said no, but she wanted more time for herself. Then she said I could have a date with her in three weeks.

"I don't know whether I should act as though everything is over between us, or whether I should string along for a while. What do you think?"

A girl gets to feeling a bit restless when she's been going with one boy for a long time. Particularly when some other boy comes along who has the courage to break into a steady-going arrangement by paying her some attention.

But such flings are sometimes of very short duration. The other boy doesn't pan out. And she's left with mixed memories—the nicest of which are of her old and trusted friend. So if you really think the world of her, string along.

'Untrim-the-Tree' Party

Here it is getting close to the time when you must say farewell to your Christmas tree. It seems that most people take the tree down the day after New Year's.

In a way this is a sad time, for it means the end of the holidays which are always so much fun for everyone. How about having fun when you undecorate the tree?

This can be done by just having the family or by having an "untrim-the-tree" party. In either case get out all of the boxes that are used for the Christmas decorations.

Perhaps you will even want to replace some of last year's boxes with stronger ones. Mark them with the things which should go into each one.

Let everyone help and a simple prize can go to each person who takes off his share of the decorations without breaking any. This can be a candy treat.

After all of the decorations are off, you can remove the tree, or if you have guests, you may want to wait to do this the next morning. This is a good time to talk over the holiday season.

Overly Sheltered Children Can't Adjust to Adulthood

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Some months ago this column expressed understanding of an 11-year-old girl's rebellion at having to devote all her free time to care of her small brother.

Now comes a letter from a mother who, instead of overburdening an older child with family responsibility, wants to release her from it entirely.

She asks: "Have I any right to ask our 15-year-old girl to baby-sit occasionally with her little sister without paying her for her service?"

Is this an extraordinary question—or do I just think it is? Would many of us really hesitate to claim such a right? I certainly hope not.

Why? For this reason: I have observed hate of responsibility in two kinds of adults. First, there are the people who hate it because they've had too much too early; second, there are the people who hate it because they've had none.

In our country, I think we shelter children from any responsibility more often than we overburden them with it.

A 15-year-old girl is not many years away from marriage and motherhood. Both relationships will place limitations on her freedom to do as she pleases.

Nobody will pay her 50 cents an hour for giving up a movie to spend the evening with her baby. No self-respecting husband will smile forever at her neglect of duties that bore her.

As both marriage and parenthood demand constant compromise between what we want for ourselves and what others want for themselves, this girl who has no experience in compromises may regard it as oppressive and cruel. And fight, like the infant we have kept her, for her right to ignore any needs but her own.

Or what's worse, she may silently resent any disappointment of her wishes.

How shortsighted we are to advance our needs so hesitantly to young people! What a gloomy, deprived picture of adulthood we are suggesting to them! No wonder so many want to remain little children, free of all responsibility.

With such a preview of her own future bondage, why shouldn't a 15-year-old girl cling to childishness—or demand money for considering another human being's need for recreation?

We'd better stop regarding adulthood as an underprivileged state. Then, when we ask for a little responsibility, our daughter won't react like a spoiled princess in contact with the lower classes.

She'll be pleased to give evidence of maturity because we've made maturity an enviable and respected state.

Party Plans Don't Include Youngsters

Hostess Is Advised to Explain Frankly to Parents

By EMILY POST

A letter explains: "I want to give a party and am including some of our best friends who usually bring their small children when they come to spend the evening — principally because they have to make arrangements beforehand to leave them with someone.

"I am very much afraid they will bring the children to this party, and I don't want them to. It will spoil all my plans.

"But how can I tell them this without running the risk of hurting their feelings? Parents can be very touchy where their children are concerned."

Answer: Explain frankly, and in plenty of time so that the mothers can secure reliable babysitters, that much as you would like to be able to include the children, you cannot have them at this particular party.

Dear Mrs. Post: Who is supposed to pay for the pictures taken at a wedding — the bridegroom or the bride's family? We are having an expensive photographer at the wedding. He will take quite a number of candid pictures which will be made up into an album. The cost will be well over a hundred dollars.

I am the bridegroom and have been told by the bride's mother that these pictures are my expense, since the album will be ours. Is this true?

Answer: Unless you suggested these pictures and ordered the photographer, they would be a part of the wedding expenses and the obligation of the bride's family.

Women Should Evaluate Five Kinds of Human Love

Everyone seeks love. From the cradle to the grave, life is one long search for love, affection, devotion and understanding.

Infants instinctively reach out for love to their mothers. Children turn for it to parents, brothers, sisters and friends. Adolescents seek affection and companionship from members of their own sex, which is the normal, "homosexual" stage of human development.

Yet, although almost every human being seeks love, few realize the importance, much less the existence of different "attitudes" of love; each separate and distinct; each overlapping the other to a considerable extent.

In a current issue of a well-known magazine is the article "Five Kinds of Love for Mature Women." Dr. Anna K. Daniels, a prominent woman doctor presents a frank and revealing discussion of these different love "attitudes."

There is even less excuse," she adds, "for her not understanding the facts of love." Actually, there are five basic kinds or "attitudes." Briefly, they are:

1. Romantic: This is the storybook, fairy tale attitude. It has little or no relation to real life and will likely lead to disillusion.

2. Physical: Also an integral and essential part of a happy marriage, though it is usually more masculine than feminine.

3. Procreative: All living creatives share the procreative instinct, essential to a human's wellbeing and happiness.

4. Spiritual: This is the highest, most beautiful form of sex expression.

5. Realistic: This combines all the others in varying degrees, according to the needs of the persons involved. It is probably the most difficult to attain, but once realized, it can bring the most happiness.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Wives Can Efficiently Mix Home, Family and Career

Maybe we better take a poll. Agnes de Mille, talented dancer, choreographer and writer, who successfully combines her several careers with a family, tells me she finds most women resent her.

"Though I think it's not really personal," she qualifies, "they resent any career woman who has a husband and children. They always suspect you of neglecting your children."

MISS McBRIDE

Agnes didn't exactly say it, but I imagine she would agree that there is probably more than a smidgin of envy involved in this indictment.

A woman who gives her very best energies and abilities to keeping a cheerful, well-run home for a hard-working husband and to rearing children, putting up cheerfully with the difficulties and frustrations, would naturally wonder how anybody similarly occupied could possibly find time for another absorbing interest. And it's not too surprising if there's a little bitterness mixed with that wonder.

Similarly, I maintain it is usually envy when a career woman who has chosen the single life comforts herself with the belief that a woman who is devoting herself to a family would have to give less than her best to an outside occupation.

Writer Charlotte Adams who brought up a son and ran a home and a full-time outside career simultaneously says that a woman an efficient office, but you can it, provided she realizes that she must make choices.

"The first thing to do," counsels Charlotte, "is to formulate a philosophy. You must decide definitely what is important to you and your family. You can't, for instance, be a perfectionist about the way your house looks if you are also to have ean efficient office, but you can have a warm, friendly home that will fill the needs of those who live there — a nice compromise between a bandbox and a mess."

Husbands, more frequently than children, are major stumbling blocks in handling a double life, the two women agreed.

"I think many times husbands are resentful when they find they have to fit into a wife's schedule," Agnes de Mille remarked. "But I also believe that a woman should be prepared to stop her career in midstream if it becomes a threat to her marriage."

So, the gentleman lounges in his slippers and reads his paper while the working wife contributes to the family income, shops, cooks, washes dishes, cleans house and copes with the children.

There are plenty of men who can make this idea sound very impressive, like the one I heard that some women have a special vitality for living that should be channeled only into marriage and motherhood.

If this vitality is cut up and parceled out into activities that waste it, explains this lord of creation, then it will be lost forever and the world will be the poorer.

I'm inclined to agree that there really are some women who are better off making a career of their families. The job suits them and they get satisfaction out of it.

I'm sure there are still other women who are happier and more useful pouring themselves single-mindedly into careers. But I agree with Charlotte Adams that any woman who wants to enough can handle both a home and a job. In the final analysis, it all depends on the individual.

And I predict that, people being what they are, they will be having this kind of discussion 50 years from now.

Non-Profit School Aids Older Women Who Want to Brush Up on Job Skills

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Millions of words are printed and spoken each year about the problem of the older women seeking a job.

But once in a while, on a red letter day I learn of something concrete and pratical which is actually being done to help her.

Such a project is the House and School of Industry, in New York. It is a non-profit organization, directed by Miss Dorothy Warren, who combines the zeal of a crusader, the compassion of a saint, and the hard-headed realism of an office manager.

The House and School of Industry gives an eight-week course, designed to help the older woman who once knew shorthand and typing—but who hasn't used it for years—to brush it up and get a job.

Most of the women are between 45 and 60 years of age, but there is no ceiling. If a woman means business, and if her skills are such that they could be brushed up in eight weeks, she is eligible.

Referrals are made to the course from three non-profit employment agencies, one of them the New York State Employment Agency.

Most of the women are really in need of a job due to financial reverses in the family, and the overwhelming number of them, on completing the course, do get jobs.

Miss Warren stressed the fact that, more important even than training and refreshing the skills, is the need to build up the woman's morale.

One week is devoted to supplementary instruction—showing the women how to prepare job resumes, and discussing with them the importance of appearance and a self-confident approach.

Judging from my mail alone, there are hundreds—probably thousands—of women in this country who need to re-enter business, but whose skills are rusty, and whose self-confidence is non-existent.

The opportunity to brush up the skills, to work with other women in the same dilemma, and to receive help and inspiration from gifted counselors, means a whole new life.

And when you realize that there is no charge for the course, you can see what it means to such women.

One project such as this can do more to insure full employment of older workers than any amount of exhortations, statistics or sob stories.

Harry Kelly Takes Court Post Tuesday

LANSING (UP) — Former Gov. Harry F. Kelly will take his oath of office as associate justice of the Michigan Supreme Court next Tuesday.

Technically, Kelly's term as justice starts Jan. 1, but the court will convene Jan. 5 for the opening of its next term and Kelly will be sworn in at a brief public ceremony then.

He visited the Supreme Court yesterday on the final opinion day of the year. He was elected to the post last spring.

The final opinion day was the last for Associate Justice Clark J. Adams of Pontiac, who was defeated last spring. Adams will return to private law practice in Pontiac.

Russia Has Skillful Ways to Mold Youth Into Hard Core for Future Communism

(Editor's Note — William L. Ryan, in a three-month stay in the Soviet Union, talked to scores of Russians without benefit of interpreters. He traveled 6,000 miles without going on any of the "escorted tours" arranged for most foreigners visiting the Soviet Union. Here, in another of his uncensored stories, he gives an insight into communism's hold on youth.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet Communist party puts the accent on youth though many youngsters escape the rigid mold. The party is interested principally in talented youngsters who will be indoctrinated and trained to form a hard core from which party leaders of tomorrow will be selected and trained.

Every Soviet town has its house or "palace" of Young Pioneers. Theoretically, all Soviet children are members of the Young Pioneers. But those who frequent the palaces are the ones who get special attention until they resemble little robots, responding automatically to commands. The stress is upon development of talent, party education and discipline.

* * *

During a trip to a half dozen Soviet republics, I visited some of these Pioneer palaces. The one in Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek S.S.R., seems fairly typical. I went there one Sunday unannounced, and after some argument with the guard at the gate and showing my impressive Red police pass, I was allowed to go in. I was a problem to the woman in charge, but she took me in tow for a guided tour.

I was shown the "Kabinet," where children ranging in age from about 7 to 14 discuss Young Pioneer business gravely—like a "little government," the guide said. Such a meeting apparently already had been arranged.

In another room, 18 boys and girls bent over chessboards playing a simultaneous match with a local chess master.

In other rooms I was shown children's handicraft, painting and sculpture, some of it remarkably good, and their biological and zoological collections. A class of children in costume was learning Uzbek folk dances. A group of three young accordionists used Italian and German instruments under an instructor's eye.

The children were extremely shy with me, and later, with the delegations. There were no bubbling, rambunctious kids such as one might expect to find in that age bracket in any large group. Somehow they seemed spiritless. The talent was there, beyond question, and the training was there, but the childhood was not. Gravely they did everything they were told to do without hesitation or questions.

* * *

Since most Soviet mothers work, children of 3 or 4 are sent to "Dyetskayas"—nurseries—to be cared for and trained during the working day by Russian nurses and teachers. In any Soviet streets, children can be seen in groups of 50 or more going through their paces with teachers watching. They are molded into the Russian and Communist mold.

They will grow up as Uzbek Russians, Tadjik Russians, Kazakh Russians, Azerbaijan Russians. Since all their affairs will be in the Russian language, as the years go by they will have less and less use for their own.

Shielded from information from the outside world which does not fit into the Communist pattern, the children become obedient servants of a Communist society.

* * *

Many escape the rigid pattern, however. As the Soviet middle class continues to grow, more and more others are attempting to give up working so they may rear their children themselves.

A tremendous amount of attention is given to children by the Communist party and Soviet government. The education network is growing constantly because no highly industrialized nation can hope to survive in today's world without a broad base of education.

But Communist education comes first.

Tells Hudson's 'Charge It' Answer Is '90 Days'

DETROIT (UP)—It'll be at least 90 days before James F. Crosby, a Detroiter, asks the J. L. Hudson Co. to charge anything. Crosby found out the big department store's cafeteria doesn't operate like other departments.

He polished off a $1.44 meal and said: "Charge it." Police found a lone penny in his pocket. Recorder's Judge John Ricca said: "Ninety days."

The Union of South Africa has a separate capital for each branch of government — Pretoria, residence of the governor-general Cape Town, seat of the legislature, and Bloemfontein, headquarters of the national judiciary.

Justifiable Homicide Ruled in Shooting

FLINT, Mich. (UP)—Nina Harrell, 35, is free today in the fatal shooting of her former husband, Earl Harrell, 35, who was married to her sister Ruth, 26, when he was killed Christmas Day.

Prosecutor Chester R. Schwesinger held Nina shot in self-defense and it was justifiable homicide. He declined a warrant against her.

The sisters stuck together on the story of the shooting, which happened at the home where all three lived together. There were also five small children by Ruth and a 13-year-old daughter by Nina.

Schwesinger said Nina and Ruth told him that Harrell ignored their demands that he quit drinking Christmas Day and threatened to kill the entire family. They accused him of firing two shots at Ruth and Lenore, his 13-year-old daughter.

Then, the two women told the prosecutor, the women and older daughter struggled with him. Nina grabbed his gun, which went off, killing him.

Former Head of RFC Marries in Washington

DETROIT (UP)—Harry A. McDonald, former head of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., has been married in Washington to Mrs. Ora Lee Jones, a former Detroiter and employe of the Hoover commission on governmental reorganization.

McDonald, wealthy broker and board chairman of a Detroit dairy farm, was divorced last May by the former Mrs. Inez Brown McDonald. They were married in 1918.

Narrator of 'You Are There' TV Show Delves Deep to Get His Historical Facts

By WALTER CRONKITE

NEW YORK—I narrate the week-This is the dramatic reconstruction of historical events as if television cameras and newsmen could have covered them when they occurred.

But, far from buying that line that I'm a history teacher, I have become so engrossed in our effort that I think of myself as perhaps the nation's hardest working student.

Putting on a show like "You Are There" requires a fantastic amount of research.

Three full-time assistants, besides the show's writers, work a six-day week checking and rechecking not only the historical facts involved but also the accuracy of the dialogue and the authenticity of every button on every costume and every prop on every set.

For the shooting of Jesse James, the telegram the Ford boys sent to the Governor was a photostat of the one they really dispatched.

For the Signing of the Declaration of Independence, the pen that Shepherd Strudwick used as John Hancock to affix the first signature, actually was a sharpened quillpen.

The dialogue in our production is, whenever possible, the actual words used by the original history-makers. The debate in the meeting hall that led to the Boston Tea Party was taken from the notes of that meeting. The same for the Salem Witch Trial and the interogation of Rudolph Hess and most of our other presentations.

This devotion to detail is not just idle extravagance. An avid audience (happily growing by leaps and bounds) is alert to catch us up on any misstep.

For technical reasons we had to put the box office of the Biograph Theater in Chicago in the center of the lobby in the portrayal of the death of Dillinger. (The "Coming Events" posters on our set were exact duplicates of the ones in the Biography lobby that night.)

We received dozens of letters from old Chicago residents who clearly remembered that the Biograph box office was on the right side of the lobby.

And we received dozens of letters from other old Chicago residents who clearly remembered it was on the left.

I've forgotten now whether it was on the right or left. At least for that trait, Mr. Montgomery, my old history prof, would recognize me.

Farm Economy Meeting Slated

How to Ease Cost-Price Squeeze Will Be Topic Jan. 5 in Pontiac

How farmers can ease the cost-price squeeze will be the main topic of discussion at the "Barnyard Economics" meeting scheduled Jan. 5 at the Oakland County Office Building, Pontiac, Edmund W. Alchin, county agricultural agent announced today.

Two Michigan State College farm economists, Warren Vincent and James Nelson will lead the discussion.

Also included in the discussion will be the farm outlook picture for 1954, latest changes in the federal income taxes as they effect farmers, along with a list of legitimate "tax savers."

AFL Asked to Delay 10-State Truck Strike

DETOIT (AP)—The AFL Midwestern Conference of Teamsters has been requested to postpone a 10-state truckers strike slated Jan. 15.

Michigan trucking operators made the request at a meeting here last night. The majority of the 100 operators attending the meet said they would convene in Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 8 to discuss issues raised by the Ohio highway usage tax.

The bone of contention in the threatened strike, the Ohio tax provides that truckers using the state highways pay 2.5 cents a mile. It was passed by the Ohio legislature last June.

The Michigan truckers said that they wanted the union to postpone the strike, which would involve 10,000 owner-drivers in the Midwest, pending the outcome of the Columbus conference.

Watch Night Set by Holly Church

Theme of New Year's Eve Program Will Be 'Christ Our Light'

HOLLY—Annual New Year's Eve Watch Night program and service will be held at the First Baptist Church tomorrow from 8 p.m. to midnight.

A game and song period will get the evening under way, with a sound motion picture to follow.

The annual year verse will be chosen from a group of previously suggested Scripture verses. The passage selected will be used as the theme of church activities during 1954.

Climaxing the evening will be a candle-lighting ceremony in the sanctuary led by the Deacon's Board.

George Koan will preside, with 96-year-old L. A. Buell, Al DeLisle, Frank Brown and Ronald Woodward assisting. Deaconesses Mrs. L. F. Owen and Mrs. Ralph Leighton will assist a group of young people with the candle lighting.

Theme for the service is "Christ Our Light."

Postmaster General Reports

Post Office Slashes Deficits by Streamlining Mail Service

(Editor's Note—This is another in a series of year end reports by members of President Eisenhower's cabinet).

By ARTHUR E. SUMMERFIELD
Postmaster General

When the new management of the Post Office Department assumed responsibility for its direction, we faced three major problems.

1. Mail service was badly disorganized.

2. Morale of 500,000 postal employes was low.

3. The estimated postal deficit for the current fiscal year was $746,000,000.

Our efforts to improve the postal service, lower costs to the taxpayers and make the Post Office Department as nearly self-supporting as practicable have produced these results:

Later collection schedules have been established in nearly 300 major American cities so that millions of letters which formerly laid overnight in mail boxes are now delivered up to 24 hours earlier.

Post office windows in most major cities now stay open longer to serve mail patrons after their regular work hours.

Modern rural free delivery service has been extended in more than 500 American communities, replacing outmoded fourth-class post offices.

Following our theory that the way to improve mail service is to move the mail faster, we have begun modernizing postal transportation.

More Trucks, Buses Pressed Into Use

As a result of our studies in this field, we have increased utilization of trucks and buses for postal transportation. The most economical and efficient use of railway transportation of mail is also under study.

Regular three cent mail is now being carried by air in a pilot operation between New York, Chicago and Washington. About 2,500,000 letters are being delivered daily in these three cities, most of them 24 hours faster than formerly. If this experimental operation proves successful this improved service will be extended.

These few highlights show how Americans are getting better mail service today.

The Congress, acting upon our recommendation, has created a Bureau of Personnel with an Assistant Postmaster General in charge.

For the first time in the Department's history we shall now have modern personnel practices, an adequate training program, and proven work standards.

We have introduced, again for the first time in the Department's history, competitive examinations for supervisory positions. Recently 50,000 postal clerks took these examinations, realizing that what they know instead of whom they know is now the factor that decides rates of promotion.

In the past year we have used our employe suggestion system more than ever before, and we are taking prompt action to put into use suggestions that lead to greater efficiency.

First Regional Office Opened in Cincinnati

On Nov. 24 we opened the first regional office of the Department in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Embracing the states of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky this decentralization of operating procedures affords the 4,000 post offices in this area greater possibilities for improving service, lowering costs and providing promotion opportunities for deserving postal employes.

In brief, we are introducing modern personnel practices and providing incentives to improve the morale of postal employes.

Since 1945, in eight years, the Post Office Department has accumulated a deficit of $3,800,000,000. The interest alone on this sum is costing American taxpayers more than $100,000,000 a year.

In 1952, the last year for which audited figures are available, the postal deficit was $727,000,000.

Our predecessors estimated the deficit for the current fiscal year, starting July 1, 1953, at $746,000,000.

So far as we could determine these deficits were complacently accepted as a matter of course.

No one was trying to make our postal establishment as nearly self-supporting as possible by efficient management and by paying equitable and realistic postal rates.

We have vigorously tackled this problem.

Already we have reduced the estimated deficit for the current fiscal year to about $440,000,000.

That represents a saving of $1,000,000 every working day.

It is a start, but only a start, in our effort to make the Post Office Department as nearly self-supporting as practicable, while at the same time improving postal service.

President Eisenhower set the goals for the Post Office Department in his "State of the Union" message delivered on Feb. 2, 1953, when he singled out the Post Office Department as an important area where waste could be eliminated as a contribution toward balancing the national budget and reducing taxes.

The President said: "The Postmaster General will institute a program directed at improving service, while at the same time reducing costs and decreasing deficits."

We are taking these orders literally.

My associates and I of the management team of the Post Office Department firmly believe this largest non-military branch of the federal government must set an example of efficient management. It must so function as to reduce the staggering postal deficit so that it may do its share toward balancing the national budget.

H. R. Boomer, 64 N. Cass Ave., told Pontiac Police that he found a smashed parking meter in his yard last night.

Police said that parts of the meter were strewn in the backyard and that the meter's pole was also found nearby. The meter was emptied of any money it might have contained, police said.

Chrysler Buys Twelve Plants

Pays $35 Million Cash for Briggs Auto Body, 2 Plane Parts Divisions

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. today took over from Briggs Manufacturing Co. operations of 10 Detroit area auto body-making plants. It paid $35,000,000 cash for them and two airplane parts plants yesterday.

Briggs will continue operating the airplane parts plants until an agreement is reached with Boeing Airplane Co. for Chrysler to take over Briggs' subcontracts.

Chrysler created an automotive body division to take over the Briggs properties and named 41-year-old John E. Brennan as general manager of it.

Brennan had been manager of Chrysler's jet engine plant and on the overall Dodge division executive staff.

Additional payments will be made to Briggs within the next 90 days for automotive inventories on hand when Chrysler took over.

Briggs stockholders voted overwhelmingly Monday to sell the auto body and airplane parts plant machinery and land. The firm will retain its Beautyware Division, supplies and appliances.

Chrysler's purchase included an automotive stamping plant at Youngstown, Ohio.

Deputy Shearer Wins in Shoot

Paces Oakland Sheriff's Officers With Score of 259 Out of 300

Top place honors in the first Oakland County Sheriff's Department annual shoot went this week to Kenneth Shearer, head of the department's record section.

Shearer paced sixteen deputies with a score of 259 out of a possible 300 points, fired at stationary targets from 50 feet.

Runner-up was deputy Ferris Holcomb, of 52 N. Holcomb St., Clarkston, with 233 points, followed by deputy Ray L. Cushman of 4470 Lake Grove, Davisburg, who fired 233.

The three top marksmen were awarded medals inscribed with their names and Cushman was also presented a $25 U. S. Defense bond for the most improvement.

All awards were donated by the Pontiac Loan and Sport Shop at 26 S. Saginaw St. including an 18-inch high trophy which will be kept within the department unless some marksman wins three consecutive shoots.

In that case, according to Sidney Sacks, manager of the shop, the winner will take home the trophy and the sport shop will replace it with another.

The shoot started early this fall with a warm-up for handicaps. Three shoots for record were made, one each at Parms Sporting Goods Shop in Royal Oak, Phillip's Rod and Gun Shop in Clarkston, and the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club in Waterford.

'Singing Snowmen' First Place Display

MILFORD — "Singing snowmen" in top hats won first prize in the home decoration contest here this week for the Lawrence Kinsel family of Commerce road.

Second and third prizes went to the Brooks Peters family and Mr. and Mrs. George Vanater, respectively.

Each of the snow figures in the winning display was placed on either side of the sidewalk or on the porch. Each held an open song book, as if caroling. Hidden lights illuminated the display.

Secretary McKay Reports

Wise Use of Natural Resources Goal of the Department of the Interior During First Year

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of year end reports by members of President Eisenhower's cabinet.)

By DOUGLAS McKAY
Secretary of the Interior

The first year of the new Administration has been marked by a sincere effort to achieve a wise use of natural resources. This use does not mean locking up the natural resources. It does mean use by all of the people. In accomplishing this a definite voice in the management and development is being returned to the states, the local communities, and the individual citizens, with the federal government preserving the national interest.

After 20 years of centralized federal monopoly, the Department of Interior has made a substantial beginning in its effort to weld a working partnership with the people in this field.

This is most emphatically demonstrated in the adoption of a new power policy.

Here the Department seeks to get federal participation into proper focus. Hydroelectric power development has been a by-product of reclamation for half a century. For the past 20 years it has developed into a case of the tail wagging the dog, with dictation and direction from Washington, not from the grass roots.

The original Reclamation Act of 1902 and subsequent statutes established, as the primary function of federal reclamation, the development of irrigation water for arid and semiarid lands in the 17 western states.

No Law for U. S. in Power Business

Nowhere in any legislation is the federal government authorized to go into the power business. In some cases where hydroelectric power is an integral or necessary part of a major reclamation development, the Department is charged by law to market the power thus created.

Congress has laid down specific ground rules for disposal of this power.

The first general rule directs the Department to distribute the power "for the benefit of the general public and particularly for domestic and rural customers."

The second specifies that public bodies and cooperatives shall be given preference and priority in the sale of power.

The new power policy seeks to reaffirm the original concept of those sections of the reclamation laws which deal with the production, transmission and distribution of electric power. Interpretations that go beyond the statutes are eliminated. Administration of the laws as they are written is the paramount precept in carrying out the power programs.

This power policy also supports the self-evident fact that the federal government has no exclusive right or divine privilege to construct multiple purpose dams, to generate power or to transmit and sell electric energy in any area, basin or region.

The Department recognizes—and the policy so states—that there is a definite place for both public and private power.

The new power policy restores to the Federal Power Commission its proper position in the development of electric power. It reaffirms a position inherent in the Federal Power Act that, where nonfederal power development meets the criteria established by this act and where the public interest is served, the ruling of the Federal Power Commission in favor of such development is paramount.

The Department will not compete with the states and local communities in the development of the nation's water resources. It will cooperate and not hamper the full development of these resources, in strict conformity with existing laws.

Can't See U. S. Out of Field Entirely

I do not agree with some views that the federal government should get out of the power business entirely.

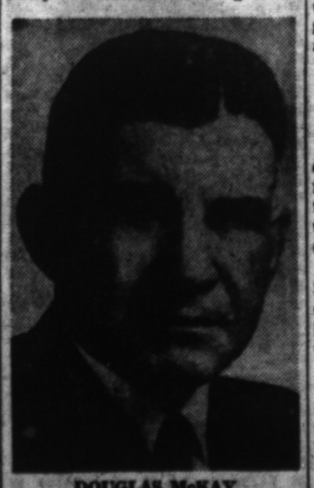
The continued expansion and prosperity of the West depend to a large degree on future reclamation development. On many of the projects which the federal government will build, hydroelectric power will be an integral part. In such cases, we will recommend to Congress that the projects be built and will vigorously support legislation to achieve this end.

The new power policy adheres to the belief that the conservation and development of water resources calls for the highest degree of partnership. Without the active cooperation of the states and other groups, the federal government cannot succeed in the ultimate goal of genuine conservation.

The need for expanding the production of electric energy is still apparent in many areas, although great progress has been made in expanding generating and transmission facilities. The Office of Defense Mobilization is still concerned with the problem of expanding power and it is presumed that tax amortization benefits, authorized under defense legislation, will be continued as long as shortages exist and enabling legislation to facilitate expansion is in force.

Open Public Land for Private Use

In another area, the Department is moving ahead to open public lands for development by individuals, either through lease, sale or otherwise. We are releasing great quantities of public lands for public entry. The withdrawals were imposed for a variety of reasons including potential military expansion, reclamation development and for other purposes. A careful inventory of land withdrawals is under way in the Department and already withdrawals totaling more than 100,000 acres have been lifted.



DOUGLAS McKAY

We have tried to concentrate on public lands which have been classified as to use. All public lands in the continental United States have not been classified, but in many cases desirable lands for grazing, homesteading and for mining will be made available.

Of the country's total land area of almost 2,000,000,000 acres, about three fourths have been at one time or another part of the public domain.

It is symbolic of our traditional national policy of reliance upon private ownership of land and our faith in free enterprise that more than 1,000,000,000 acres of this tremendous estate have been disposed of—leaving ownership of little more than 400,000,000 acres in the federal government. Most of the acreage the government has disposed of went to private individuals or associations. About 20 per cent was granted directly to the states as an early form of grant-in-aid.

Laws Assure Fair Competition

Today we have a host of laws designed to assure the private segments of our economy equitable treatment in their competition to use the resources of the public domain.

Under various statutes, the basic mission of the Department is to dispose of and to integrate the public domain with the private economy.

In the process of such disposal our job is to see that all who qualify are given an opportunity to use the public domain. We are here to see that minerals, forage, timber, agricultural values, real estate values—all possibilities of the public domain—are utilized to the fullest. In harmony with the long tradition of this country, our prime goal is still private ownership of lands. This requires classification of all lands remaining in or returned to the public domain to determine which lands should be placed in private ownership.

The effort to open for settlement vast acreages in Alaska is one of the important aims of the Department. Here the federal government retains ownership of more than 90 per cent of the land. While much of this land is unsuitable for agriculture, many areas offer opportunities for homesteading, townsites and timbering.

Speed Alaska Plant for Power Needs

Alaska needs more and cheaper electric power. The Department is speeding completion of the Eklutna project which will meet part of this need.

A recent agreement with a large petroleum producer for an extensive exploration program in the Territory may result in the discovery of a major producing field.

In the meantime a start has been made on the establishment of a substantial pulp industry, utilizing a national forest for a supply source, and negotiations are under way for the construction of a major aluminum industry there.

Efforts of the Department at present are to stabilize the salmon fishery, the Territory's chief industry.

Depleted salmon runs the past season have brought an emergency situation in certain areas of the Territory, which has necessitated the expansion of a public works program there.

Departmental bureaus are vigorously seeking new mineral sources.

With more flexible land policies, which will permit settlement for farming where feasible, the expansion of townsites and the possibility of the discovery of petroleum in quantity, the prospect for Alaska's future is bright. In the opinion of many Alaskans, the Territory can achieve economic independence when statehood is acquired. The Department believes that, in its present programs, a long step forward will be taken. More people will settle in Alaska if they can buy land. More population spells more business, more business mean more taxes.

In another important field, the Department is making an intensive study to restore to the American Indian his rights and privileges as a first-class citizen. To accomplish this it is proposed that the states and local communities shall take over the federal responsibility. This will permit the Indian, who is qualified, to participate in the management of his own affairs.

Education, welfare, medical care, now conducted for the Indians from Washington, will be shifted to the political subdivisions as rapidly as they can assume the burdens.

The Indian problem for more than 100 years has been one of the nation's most perplexing and difficult questions. Numerous attempts to solve it have failed for various reasons, including a multitude of conflicting laws, ancient treaties and unrealistic approaches.

I might say that, for the first time in its history, the Department has a comprehensive idea of what the American Indian expects from his government.

It would be foolhardy for even the most sincere person to declare that in five or ten years, the federal government's wardship of the Indian will end. It can be said, however, with all sincerity and conviction, regardless of the obstacles which confront us, we are definitely moving forward.

Discuss State of Metal Mining

Today's depressed condition of the metal mining industry has been a subject for Cabinet discussions.

With characteristic understanding of the problem, President Eisenhower recently established a special Cabinet committee to investigate the situation.

In a letter designating the Secretary of the Interior as chairman of the committee, the President declared that one of the "essential problems before the country is the establishment of a national policy relating to the production and utilization of minerals and metals. The prudent use and development of domestic mineral resources, as well as assured access to necessary sources abroad, are indispensable to the operation of an active economy and a sound defense."

The national minerals policy, the President said, would have to be consistent with our national and international objectives.

Several active committees have already started work on the assignment. Because of the complexities of the problem it is difficult to set a target date for completion of the study which is necessary in this area. In this, as in other spheres, we expect some positive accomplishments in 1954.

Consumers Power Men Rescue 2 Boys

FLINT (UP)—Consumers Power Co. employes rescued two boys whose bicycles crashed through the thin ice covering Flint River late Tuesday.

The boys, Wayne Badgley, 13, and Gary Brawner, 12, were pulled to safety by ropes thrown them by the workers, who saw the mishap from the Consumers Power service building.

The water was six feet deep where the ice parted. Rescuers said several other boys had ridden their bicycles across the same spot a short time earlier without incident.

State Supreme Court Backs Michigan Right to Regulate Trunklines

LANSING (UP)—The Michigan Supreme Court says the State Highway Department has final authority to regulate parking, speed and traffic lights on trunkline highways within municipalities.

The court unanimously rejected a challenge to this authority filed by the city of East Lansing and a group of East Lansing merchants.

Reportedly, a number of Michigan communities had only been waiting for East Lansing to win its test case to impose their own traffic rules on trunklines in their borders.

George M. Foster, chief deputy state highway commissioner, said that if East Lansing had won it would have meant "difficulties" in maintaining uniform traffic controls throughout Michigan.

Denying the department plans a crackdown on backsliding communities, Foster said "there will be no waving of the big stick. That is not our way. But we will be more secure in expecting cooperation now. This helps clear the way for it."

East Lansing had objected to the highway department's decision to forbid parking on the north side of U. S. 16 (Grand River Avenue) through the college city business district. Parking on the south side of the boulevard, along the Michigan State College campus, has been banned for years.

Department engineers had testified that 12,000 to 14,000 vehicles a day must use the two-lane northern half of the boulevard and that parking caused trouble.

The court said the state, having established a trunkline, is entitled to see that it is maintained and regulated so that traffic may flow smoothly.

Agreeing with the final result, Justice Edward M. Sharpe differed in his reasons for doing so. He said the Constitution guarantees cities the control of its streets but that U. S. 16 is not a street but a trunkline highway.

Mystery Speaker Broadcasts Via Squad Car Radio

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Dispatchers on the city police raio system were going about their work last night when an unfamiliar voice came out of a loudspeaker: "Altitude 3,000 feet. Ceiling zero. Visibility zero. Coming in for a landing. Roger. Three MIGs at 3 o'clock. Watch 'em, Skipper."

The voice stopped when a dispatcher asked for the squad number and location of the radiocar. But it came back on the air intermittently with Air Force talk and inquiries as to lunchtime.

After checking unused radio cars in the police parking lot and city garage, the dispatchers sent out the message:

"All cars—watch for a drunk in an unlocked squad car."

Asks Examination in Yule Shooting

A 25-year-old Royal Oak Township man demanded examination on a felonious assault charge yesterday before Royal Oak Township Justice Richard V. Broder.

Earl Greenfield of 10725 Hartley Ct. was released on $500 bond to answer charges Jan. 7 that he shot James C. Townsel, 26, of 20121 Mendotal Ave., Detroit, after Townsel was ordered out of the Greenfield home during a Christmas night party.

Townsel's condition today at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital, Detroit, is listed as fair. He was shot once in the stomach with a .32 caliber pistol when he refused to leave after Mrs. Greenfield ordered him out of the house, according to Royal Oak Township Detective Samuel Whitfield.

Douse $150 Blaze at State Hospital

A $150 blaze at the Pontiac State Hospital was brought under control by Pontiac firemen yesterday within minutes of its discovery.

The fire started in a master switchbox in a basement transformer room near the laundry, and was confined to the switchbox, firemen said.

Hospital officials said the fire curtailed laundry production. But spare parts for the switchbox, expected today, would bring work back to normal.

Social Security Revision Sought

Solon Wants Pensions for Everyone Over 65, Boost in Benefits

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Kean (R-NJ) predicted today neither the Eisenhower administration nor Congress will adopt a key Republican colleague's plan to pay social security pensions to almost everyone over 65.

Rep. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb), chairman of a social security subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee, outlined the far-reaching new program yesterday. It seemed destined for heated controversy when Congress convenes next week.

Kean, fourth-ranking Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, has been an Eisenhower supporter and has taken a special interest in social security. He said Curtis' plan would undermine the social security trust fund.

* * *

Curtis called in effect for pensions now for all retired persons over 65 years old, and for an increase in the monthly minimum social security benefit from the present $25 to $45.

He estimated this would add some five million new aged persons, 670,000 children and 150,000 widows or orphans to the old age retirement and survivors' insurance (OASI) benefit rolls, more than doubling the present number.

Curtis said the new minimum would increase benefits for more than 1,700,000 aged persons, 300,000 orphans and 100,000 widows already on the rolls.

* * *

He called for tax contributions from all workers under 65, levied on all types of income. He would let the rate jump from 1½ to 2 per cent in incomes up to $3,600 annually, paid by workers and employers alike, as scheduled Friday. He estimated this would bring more than 10½ million doctors, lawyers, farmers and others from the present working force into the system.

His universal pension plan would end the present dual program of aid to the aged. The OASI program provides retirement or death benefits based on contributions from workers and employers.

A separate program has provided more than one billion dollars annually in federal welfare grants to some 2½ million aged and dependent children, based on their need. State and local governments also contribute to this program and administer it locally.

Curtis would abolish the federal portion of this program, but state and local governments could provide welfare payments to the needy if they wished.

$200,000 Award Upheld by Court

Woman's In-laws Told to Pay Up for Alienating Children's Affections

LANSING (UP) — In one of the biggest damage awards to come before it in years, the State Supreme Court upheld yesterday an award of $200,000 to a Detroit woman who had trouble with her in-laws.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Adele Brown, sued her ex-husband and his brothers, sisters and parents for alienation of affections and abduction of her two children.

The court made little comment on the case, saying only, in effect, "pay up."

The defendants were the ex-husband, William H. Brown, owner of The Brownie Stores in Detroit, Tamara Brown, Eleanor Brown, Bertha Allen, Edward Allen, and Louis and Fanny Brown.

Mrs. Brown charged they broke up her marriage and spirited her two children to South Africa. The children were returned later on a court order.

In another case, the court had bad news for state tax collectors.

It held that the state inheritance tax cannot be imposed on governmet bonds owned by a husband or wife or owned by either to become the possession of the other upon death.

This decision was a 4-4 opinion which upholds the ruling of the Genesee County Circuit Court. The Genesee court had overruled its Probate Court and refused to allow the tax to be collected on $65,000 "Series G" bonds held by the state of the late Sarah A. De Waters.

The Supreme Court decided it had no jurisdiction in a dispute between the State Bank of Livonia and the National Bank of Detroit. The State Banking Department backed up the Livonia bank.

The dispute involved the right of the national bank to place a branch bank in Livonia contrary to state law. The Supreme Court said it was a matter of federal law and refused to rule.

The court also upheld the conviction of John Mosley in Genesee County for trying to get a witness in a 1951 rape trial to perjure herself.

The court confirmed the action of the late Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Cunningham of Cassopolis in donating a site for St. Ann Catholic Church. The court rejected the appeal of two daughters, Margaret Darmody and Katherine Morris, that the deed was obtained through undue influence while the parents were of unsound mind.

Louis G. Havens of Detroit, formerly of Allegan, lost his fight to force the AFL Motion Picture Projectionists Union in Detroit to let him return to work at the Fine Arts Theater.

Havens contended the union refused him working privileges because he complained to newspapers and to international union officers about the local's refusal to transfer his union membership from Allegan to Detroit.

The decision, 4-4, allows a lower court dismissal of the case to stand.

"I have just learned how well you are recovering from the broken hip you suffered last summer. I hope your improvement continues and that you will be able to get back to your fishing next summer. My very best wishes . . . Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Alger Won't Seek Election Next Year

DETROIT (UP)—Fred M. Alger Jr., who was named U. S. ambassador to Belgium after his loss to Gov. G. Mennen Williams in Michigan's 1952 governorship election, said Tuesday he only would be an interested spectator in the state's 1954 political wars.

"I intend to make a close check-up of the Michigan situation," he said, "even though I am not taking sides and have no plans of my own."

Alger, who said he was happy in his new job, was visiting his home for the first time since leaving for Brussels last June. His wife stopped off at Washington on their return trip to visit her parents.

LOST—AND FOUND—One of the most deeply stirring and warm hearted films of the year is the story of "Little Boy Lost" played by Christian Fourcade, and the father (Bing Crosby) who finally found him. Set against the background of post war Europe, this is the tale of a father's search for his son, whom he hopes is still alive. "Little Boy Lost" which opens Friday at a local theater will long be remembered as completely captivating entertainment.

Film Producer Recalls Horror of Theater Fire

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The fire started right above my head. I can remember a fireman standing next to me and trying to beat it out with his hands. Then I remember looking up and seeing a lot of women around me. They were chorus girls and they were screaming and shouting words I had never heard before. Then my father picked me up and threw me over the heads of other people to a man who got me out of there."

This was film producer Bryan Foy remembering Chicago's Iroquois Theater fire, which killed 602 people 50 years ago today.

Foy's memory of the disaster is dim, since he was only 4 at the time. But certain scenes of that horrible night were impressed on the boy, and he recalls the recountings of what happened from his father, Eddie Foy Sr.

* * *

Here's how the producer retold the story in his Columbia Pictures office:

"Every Christmas when my father was on the road, he would send for my mother and the kids from our home in New Rochelle, N.Y. There were three or four of us then, and we hadn't joined the act yet. I was the oldest.

"That year Dad was playing an extravaganza called 'Mr. Bluebeard' in Chicago. We arrived and were put up at the Sherman House. Our big treat on the day before New Year's Eve was to see the show from a box. But it was such a sellout that even the star of the show couldn't get seats. So he said, 'I'll take Bryan and he can watch from the first entrance.'

"I was there in the wings watching the 'Pale Moonlight' number when the fire started. My father was waiting offstage to go into a number with a donkey. He was the hero of the fire. After he got me out, he ran onstage and kept the orchestra playing and tried to calm everybody.

* * *

"The people were already jamming against the doors, which opened inward so they couldn't be budged. Meanwhile, the asbestos curtain came down, but one side of it stuck. This created a draft which drew the fire from backstage into the theater. My father stayed onstage, even though his clothes were burning. He was the last to leave the theater.

"When I got out of the place, I can remember seeing my mother running toward me. She was only half-dressed, having raced from the hotel when she heard the news. The streets were filled with running people.

"We left town several days later. I remember seeing all the funeral processions in the streets. They were still burying the dead."

Cap Pistol Touches Off Sewer Blast, Burns Boy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Edward Cobb, 4, was playing with two brothers on a street corner when he pulled the trigger of his cap pistol near a sewer opening. The blast that followed was believed to have been caused by escaping gas.

Edward's brothers David, 6, and Douglas, 12, beat out the fire on his burning clothes, but the boy was burned on the face, neck and body.

His condition was described as good last night.

Jane Russell Movie Gets Morals Check

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Members of the morality squad who sat in on the world premiere of the movie "The French Line"—a 3D vehicle starring Jane Russell—will tell their superiors today what they thought of it.

Then the superiors—Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell, Chief of Detectives James Chapman and Prosecutor William Geeke — will decide what to do, O'Connell said the theater management would be asked to discontinue the movie if the squad members found it obscene.

The movie, which was panned by newspaper reviews, has caused quite a stir since failing to win approval from Movieland's self-censor, the Breen Office.

Miss Russell, herself, was critical of her controversial dance sequence in the movie and decided not to make a personal appearance at last night's premiere.

The United States, which bought one from Wilbur Wright in 1909, was the first government to buy an airplane.

Norman Brooks Believes Jolson Voice Hurt Career

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — One of '53's smaller sensations was Norman Brooks, the kid from Canada who sounds more like Al Jolson than Al Jolson did.

But the most amazing thing about Brooks is his statement to me that "I would have made stardom sooner if I didn't sound like Jolson."

This isn't conceit. Brooks is about as swell-headed as a ruby-throated hummingbird. He just feels his Jolsonesque voice was a handicap, because he's been unable to be judged on his own ability.

He's tried to counteract it by inventing new styles, working at home with a tape recorder.

"I tried to croon," he says, "and then I played it back and it sounded like Jolson imitating Sinatra—or Sinatra imitating Jolson."

He thinks his own forte is the strong, dramatic ballad — the "Without-a-Song" type.

But audiences always want the Jolson songs. Eventually he hopes his own repertoire will become established in the public mind.

Until he saw "The Jolson Story," incidentally, Norman Brooks had never even heard of Al Jolson.

* * *

Just in case the threatened musicians' strike comes off on Jan. 1, the record companies are cutting new material night and day.

The strike would shut off new recordings completely, except for those made with only vocalists and no musical accompaniment.

James Caesar Petrillo's AFM now gets eight-tenths of a cent per record. They've asked for 2½ cents.

The record companies say they can't afford that and the situation looks bad. The last AFM strike, back in '49, lasted 11 months. It could happen again.

* * *

THE POPULAR SIDE: Robert Merrill is making pop records for RCA.

Harmonicker Babe Didrickson Zaharias and singer Betty Dodd (both primarily golfers) have recorded "I Felt a Little Teardrop" for Mercury. It's about as musical as a sand-trap. Perhaps they should've recorded "Mashie's in De Cold, Cold Ground."

Columbia has issued "Little Fugitive," a record re-creation of the delightful film, with kid star Richie Andrusco telling the story.

* * *

ON THE CLASSICS: A recumbent brunette, ever so lightly veiled, decorates the cheesecake envelope in which RCA-Victor wraps its new sensual pressing of Scriabin's Poem of Ecstasy. She wears little more than a deep pink light.

Papa Monteux led the Boston (!!!) Symphony through this one—blindfolded, we trust. Columbia's only hope of recouping is to bring out the Liebestodt with Marilyn Monroe.

* * *

SUREFIRE—Sorry, nothing red hot this week.

SLEEPER — "Music Box" (Mindy Carson, Columbia).

GOOD ONES — "Sadie Thompson's Song" (Damita Jo, (RCA); "That's What a Rainy Day Is For" (Barbara Ruick, MGM); "Under Paris Skies" (Georgia Gibbs, Mercury).

"And This Is My Beloved" (Jerry Vale, Columbia); "Mystery Street" (The Melachrino Strings, RCA); "A Little More of Your Amor" (Carlos Ramirez, MGM).

POP ALBUMS — Columbia is out with "Kismet," the new Broadway musical. Alfred Drake, Doretta Morrow and the rest of the original cast sing the tuneful score, with music adapted from Borodin.

Another new Columbia album is "George Gershwin," a tribute to the composer, including a song by Hildegarde and even a fragment of Gershwin playing his own tunes.

CLASSICAL — Angel's version of "Tosca," recorded at La Scala is a magnificent interpretation, radiating evil in every phase.

J. S. Bach's Suites for Orchestra, 1 through 4, are out on two records by Fritz Reiner and the RCA-Victor Orchestra.

Slate Waterford School Vote

Ballot Feb. 25 on 2 Proposals

10-Mill Tax Increase Sought for Construction, Boost in Salaries

WATERFORD — February 25 was selected as the date for a special school election by the Waterford Township Board of Education Tuesday night.

At a special meeting, the board resolved to give the school district electorate ap opportunity to express their desires on two issues:

(1) A five-mill increase in the tax limitation for operating for a period of five years. The purpose of this is to make possible an increase in teachers' salaries.

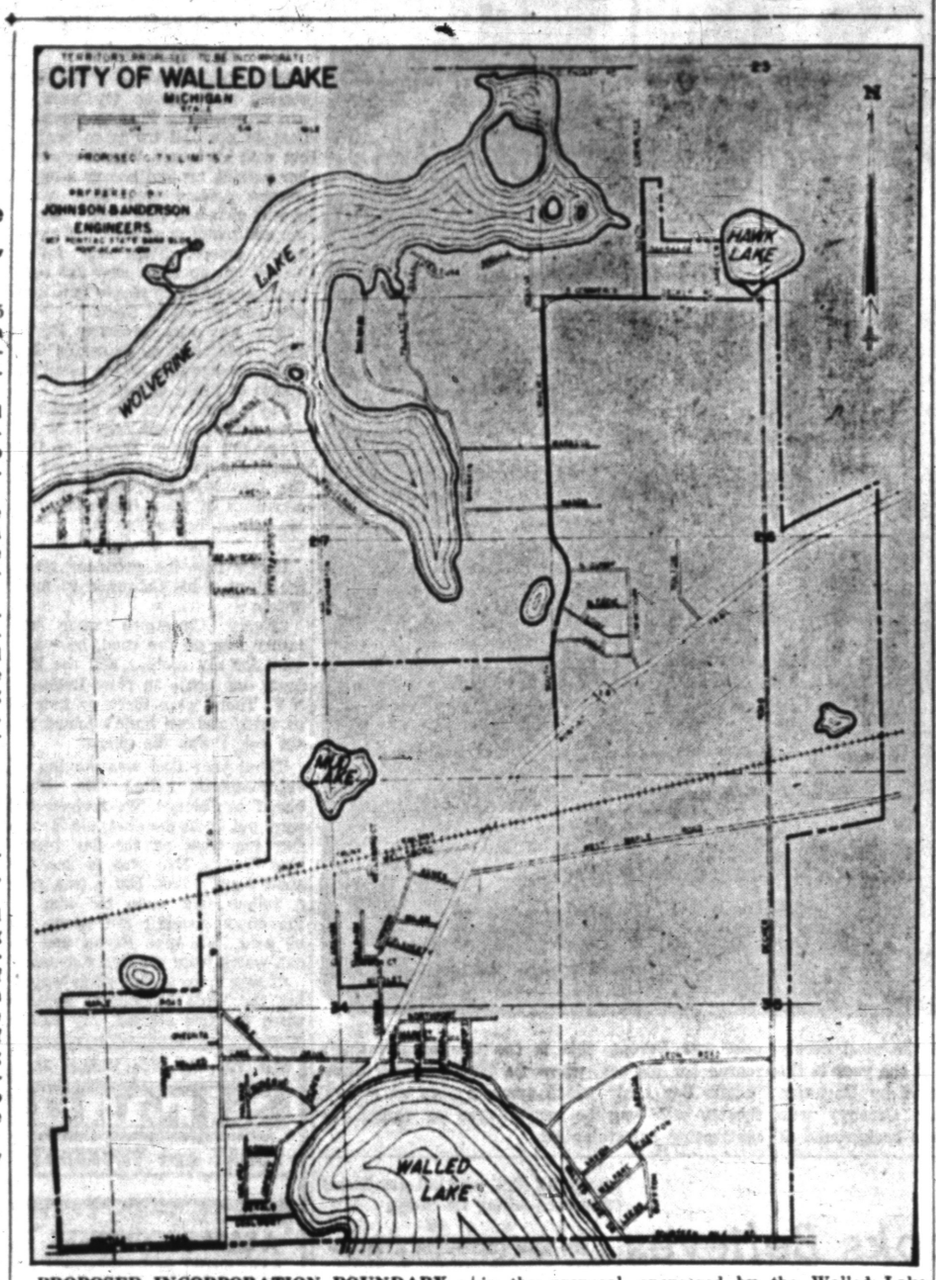
(2) To borrow the sum of $1,400,000 for elementary school construction. This would be financed by a five-mill tax tate, but at the same time the three-mill building and site fund would be eliminated, thus resulting in a two-mill increase rather than five mills.

By action of the board, they specifically named their plans for elementary school building.

Additions will be made to Williams Lake, Waterford Center, Four Towns and Jayno Adams.

New elementary buildings will be constructed for the following areas: Williams Lake and portion of Drayton Plains south of U. S. 10. One serving the Drayton Plains and Waterford Village. One serving the Covert area, part of Waterford Center and drawing enough of the Covert pupils to permit north end Donelson pupils to attend Covert. One serving the Lambert-Stringham area.

Three elementary sites, they said, would also be purchased.



PROPOSED INCORPORATION BOUNDARY—Shown above, bounded by the dark, broken line, is the area to be incorporated into the proposed City of Walled Lake. Petitions calling for an election to decide the proposal have been filed. Included in the proposal, sponsored by the Walled Lake Incorporation Committee, are provisions for police, fire protection, sanitary facilities, public health, zoning, road and street maintenance.

Hoad Defeats Trabert to Tie Cup Standings

Deciding Singles Test Postponed Due to Poor Condition of Court

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP)—Lewis Hoad, one of Australia's 19-year-old wonder boys who has devoted his life to tennis since he was 10, defeated America's ace, Tony Trabert, 13-11, 6-3, 2-6, 3-6, 7-5 today in a miserable, steady rain to tie the Davis Cup Challenge Round at 2-all.

The condition of the Kooyong court was so bad after the match—which went 62 games and lasted just five minutes short of three hours—that officials decided to postpone the deciding singles test until tomorrow.

Now the optimism that was rampant in the United States' camp has subsided somewhat, for the Americans' slumping star, Vic Seixas, will go into action against Ken Rosewall, the other Australian 19-year-old. Rosewall has licked Seixas six times in a row.

The only real ray of sunshine that U.S. Captain Billy Talbert can see is that in a way Rosewall has been as bad as Seixas. Ken was benched in the doubles yesterday after his poor showing in the opening singles against Trabert. So the pressure will be on both players.

Still, today's match was the one the Americans had counted on winning.

* * *

It wasn't that Trabert didn't perform well. He did. On occasions, he was brilliant.

The rain and wretched condition of the court bothered him, but that certainly was not why he lost.

Trabert slipped three times in the early going, and Referee Cliff Sproule came onto the court after the fourth game of the second set and looked over the grass. He returned to his position without comment.

But two games later, it became obvious that something would have to be done and he told both players they could wear spikes.

Tony was downcast over the defeat, but he gave his wife Shauna a big smile and a hug when he returned to the dressing room.

Captain Talbert, likewise, was in anything but a happy frame of mind.

"It was a tough one to lose," he said, "but you have to say he lost to a terrific player. That kid Hoad was terrific. He made few mistakes and he was always attacking. After Tony won the third set, we thought Lew might be shaken a bit, but he wasn't. He's a great competitor and one of the game's great players."

Biggie Wanted Squad to Have 'Feel' of Turf

Munn Also Finds He Will Have to Play Part of the Game Under Lights

By ROBERT VOGES

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Michigan State football coach Biggie Munn had a couple of small worries to pester him today as he prepared for his Rose Bowl showdown with UCLA.

These were:

1 — Michigan State won't be allowed a workout Thursday on the Rose Bowl turf.

2 — Munn just realized today that probably most of the 3rd quarter and assuredly the 4th period will be played under lights.

On the 1st point, Munn asked for a Thursday workout at the Rose Bowl.

He liked to accustom his team to any strange setting and to let them get the feel of the turf.

"I didn't think it was an unreasonable request," he said.

Munn received a polite but firm "no" and didn't make an issue of it. He was told by Lathrop Leishman, chairman of the Tournament of Roses football committee, that it just wasn't the custom because the field was supposed to be in top shape for the game.

The squad will still be allowed a fast peek at the field, however.

On the 2nd point, Munn realized belatedly that much of the 2nd half of the game might be played under lights.

This particular MSC squad has never operated under the arcs. And white footballs aren't allowed.

UCLA has played several of its games with the artificial lighting and presumably would have a slight advantage.

Munn quickly shifted practice plans to give his team a long late afternoon and evening drill under the arcs. The last time MSC operated with the lights was in 1949 against Arizona. That score was 75-0 for Michigan State.

UCLA coach Red Sanders, meanwhile, has gone into a cloistered hideout with his squad. The team has shifted to the downtown Town House hotel in Los Angeles with the idea of getting the squad together to think and operate as a unit for the game.

Sanders reviewed plays in a light workout yesterday and reported that Paul Cameron, his All-America "bread and butter" halfback, was looking good.

"The squad has a good attitude for this game," Sanders said. "we'll be ready."

Injuries Hit Both West, East Squads in Practice

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Injuries hit both teams for the annual Shrine football game Saturday:

The East, a 6½-point favorite, was hurt when Notre Dame All-America halfback Johnny Lattner jarred his left shoulder out of its socket yesterday in scrimmage at Santa Clara.

The west lost Standard All-America end Sam Morley, favorite pass target of teammate quarterback Bob Garrett. Morley badly twisted an injured knee and can be only a limping, part-time receiver.

Observers are thoroughly impressed with the running power of the East's Lattner and his teammate from Notre Dame, Neil Worden; Gene Filipski of Villanova; Steve Melinger, Kentucky; Joe Johnson, Boston College, and Lou Petroka, Boston University.

The Eastern line, from tackle to tackle, also is practically awe-inspiring with tackles Art Hunter, 220-pounder from Notre Dame; George Jacoby, 225, Ohio State; Bob Fleck, 256, Syracuse and Don Chelf, 215, Iowa; guards Bob Lenzini, 191, Illinois; Mike Takacs, 211, Ohio State; Ray Correll, 205, Kentucky, and Don Dugger, 195, Michigan and centers Jerry Hilgenberg, 200, Iowa, and Ted Kukowski, 195, Syracuse.

Tech Worries About Weather in New Orleans

Soggy Field Would Slow Speedy Attack of Engineers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech football coach, is convinced he will have two opponents in the Sugar Bowl game Friday—the West Virginia team and the weatherman.

Dodd, seeking his fifth straight bowl victory, ranks the two opponents about on an even basis right now.

"I just know that West Virginia is going to keep pushing us back and back, like Notre Dame did, and keep control of that ball," he said today.

"And if this weather doesn't clear up soon and give the field a chance to dry we will look terrible out there."

Dodd's gridders depend almost entirely on speed and quick opening plays for their gains. A heavy turf would slow down their style. New Orleans has had 48 hours of soggy weather, with most 2 inches of rain during that time.

The playing field at Tulane Stadium, where the game will be played, has no cover. However, it is a quick-drying field.

Wade Mitchell, the 18-year-old freshman who has played the most of any Georgia Tech quarterback this season; is another who hopes that the weatherman will do a quick about-face. He is recovering from a three-day siege of influenza but needs several days of bright sunshine to regain his strength.

Pepper Rodgers, one of two Tech quarterbacks in 1952, will start, Charlie Brannon, a defensive halfback in 1952, will start for the injured Leon Hardeman. Hardeman, unable to work out for six weeks because of a knee injury, is expected to see a little action.

West Virginia will arrive here tomorrow. The team has been drilling at Biloxi, Miss., since Dec. 20 and Coach Art Lewis said his charges are "all healthy and serious."

Illini, Buckeyes Take Easy Wins Over West 5's

DePaul Beaten, 79-55, by Holy Cross in Sugar Bowl Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State and Illinois breezed to victories last night in basketball games against two Rocky Mountain area representatives.

Buckeyes disposed of Denver 74-56 and the Illini raced past Utah State 88-61.

Denver stayed in contention during the first half but the Bucks, who had a mere 3-point edge at the intermission, zoomed away in the 2nd half.

Buckeyes' high-scoring trio, center Paul Ebert, forward John Miller and guard Robin Freeman, again led the attack. Ebert scored 23 points, Miller 15 and Freeman 20.

Illinois' John Kerr, Max Hooper, Paul Judson and Bruce Brothers sank the first shots they took from the floor and the Illini had a 13-2 lead before their game with Utah was well under way. They held the upper hand thereafter and coach Harry Combes started sending in reserves in the 2nd quarter. Kerr led scoring with 21 points.

Midwest independent activity last night featured DePaul's 79-55 loss to Holy Cross in the opening game of the Sugar Bowl tournament at New Orleans.

Games tonight include Iowa at UCLA and Michigan State at Southern California. John Carroll is at Loyola of Chicago and Rutgers at Bradley.

No Holiday for City Preps

By BILL MARTIN

Coaches at Pontiac's three high schools are taking advantage of the Christmas holidays to work in valuable practice sessions. All but St. Frederick's Charles Talbot have scheduled scrimmages with outside competition to give their charges added seasoning.

Pontiac High basketball coach Art Van Ryzin took his squad to Birmingham for a practice with the Maples on Monday and gave the Chiefs a workout against East Detroit here Tuesday. Other scrimmages against Walled Lake and Rochester have been slated for today and Thursday.

PHS club appears in good shape physically to resume its schedule Jan. 8 at Lansing Sexton. Reserve center Dick Blacklaw has been nursing a knee injury, but is ready for full-time action now.

Blacklaw, a 6-foot 3-inch junior, is being groomed to take over the starting pivot position when veteran Leroy Moore graduates at the end of this semester. Also departing at mid-year will be regular guard Dick Ayling and reserve guard Bill Rose. Marv Caswell is expected to take Ayling's slot.

Bob "Des" Boyce's swimmers have been working out daily this week, and met Hazel Park in a practice meet here this afternoon. Former PHS tankers Ron Pudduck and Beau Beattie, home from College for the holidays, have been working with the squad.

Boyce's crew returns to action next week, with meets at Birmingham on Wednesday and at Arthur Hill on Friday.

St. Michael's cagers took on Pontiac High's reserves in a scrimmage Tuesday afternoon in their 1st action since the middle of last week. Coach Bob Mineweaser has added two games to his schedule, bringing the total number of 1953-54 contests to 14.

Mikes will entertain St. Stanislaus of Detroit on Feb. 18, and will meet Avondale in the PHS gymnasium on Feb. 23.

Shamrocks' 1st post-holiday game is Jan. 5, when Hazel Park St. Rita comes to the northside school's gym.

St. Frederick resumed practices Tuesday after a 5-day layoff. Talbot has no scrimmages scheduled, but plans to work the team daily through Thursday. Rams entertain Ferndale St. James in their next start on Tuesday.

Oregon State, NC State, Fordham Suffer Setbacks

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the nation's top 10 basketball teams nursed fresh defeats today as tournament competition jammed the nation's gyms.

* * *

Two of the losses came in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N.C., where fourth-ranking Oregon State was beaten for the second straight night and Navy dethroned defending champion North Carolina State.

Tulane erased a nine-point halftime deficit and whipped Oregon State 74-70 despite a 23-point performance by 7-foot-3 Wade Halbrook which included 15 free throws. Fast-breaking Navy outran ninth-ranking N.C. State 85-75 with John Clune hitting for 27 points.

Tenth-ranking Fordham folded before the superb performance of Bob Pettit and bowed to Louisiana State 65-49 in the Sugar Bowl Tournament at New Orleans.

Holy Cross, the country's No. 12 team, rushed past De Paul 79-55 in the other Sugar Bowl game. Togo Palazzi contributed 29 points.

Western Kentucky, No. 7, ran its winning streak to 11 games in an 81-78 struggle against Eastern Kentucky and advanced to the finals of the Kentucky Invitation at Louisville. Western will meet Louisville, 61-56 conqueror of Xavier of Ohio.

The jammed holiday schedule included 24 tournaments last night.

Among the major colleges, the best scoring performance came from Gene Schwinger of Rice, who hit for 38 points against Southern Methodist.

Here is the major tournament picture at a glance:

* * *

Garden Festival, New York — Duquesne vs. Niagara in the final.

Southwest Conference—Rice vs. Texas in the final.

Big Seven—Kansas edged Missouri 69-67 and meets Oklahoma, 86-70 winner over Nebraska, in the final.

Motor City at Detroit—Detroit defeated Toledo 74-67 for the title last night.

Plan to Open Coon Hunting Brings Protests

LANSING (AP) — Southern Michigan Coon Hunters Association today filed a protest to plans of the conservation commission to ask the legislature to permit non-residents to hunt raccoons.

Representatives of the association and of the Monroe County Coon Hunters Association said they planned to attend the commission's Jan. 15 meeting to present their views.

Opening coon hunting to non-residents was recommended by the commission staff because the animals are plentiful.

Dukes, Niagara in Cage Finals

Duquesne Is Favored to Win Holiday Festival in Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Duquesne and Niagara, two of the jumpingest teams in basketball, meet in the finals of the Madison Square Garden holiday festival tonight with the towering Dukes from Pittsburgh solid favorites to run their unbeaten string to 10 games.

Experts figure Duquesne's three inch height advantage will mean the difference. Dick Ricketts and Jim Tucker both measure more than 6-7 and Si Green, at 6-3, can jump right with them.

Green specializes in a "walking on air" shot in which he takes off at the foul line and literally climbs high enough to dunk the ball down through the 10 foot rim.

Niagara will offer Larry Costello and Bo Erias, two of the best set shots in the east, and a rebounding pair of Ed Fleming and Charlie Hoxie, both 6-3.

Tonight's windup is a tripleheader starting with a consolation final between St. Louis and Manhattan at 6 p.m. (EST) and including a 3rd place game between LaSalle and Brigham Young.

Rice Receives Strong Backing

Observers See Owls Beating Alabama Quite Handily Friday

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Rice's high-geared Owls fly into town today to be greeted by sub-freezing weather and a mounting groundswell of observers' opinions that they should beat Alabama's crippled club by two or three touchdowns in Friday's Cotton Bowl get-together.

Coach Jess Neely's Southwest Conference host team broke a two-day rain-enforced emergency camp at Abilene and will arrive at a windy, chilling greeting at Love Field.

Meanwhile, sports writers who have watched coach Harold (Red) Drew's Southeastern Conference champions go through four workouts in two days had formed the opinion that the Tide couldn't muster enough punch to match that packed into Rice's versatile backfield.

Flanagan and Saxton Eye Shot at Gavilan

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP) — Del Flanagan matches his flashing fists and pedalling feet against Johnny Saxton's body-bruising shot jabs tonight before a nationwide television audience with a possible bout against welterweight champion Kid Gavilan at stake.

A fight against either Gavilan or his number one challenger, Carmen Basilio, has been promised winner of tonight's fight. Saxton, a 23-year-old New York Negro, is the 3rd ranked welterweight, while Flanagan ranks 6th.

Flanagan, a St. Paul, Minn., product, will have a home audience, but Saxton was favored by a slight margin.

Georgia Tech's 1954 football team will play 7 of its 10 opponents at home. The Yellow Jackets use Grant Field in Atlanta as their home stadium.

Bobo Meets Rindone

NEW YORK (UP) — Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco will meet Joe Rindone of Boston in a nationally televised 10-round non-title bout at San Francisco, Jan. 23, it was announced today. It will mark Olson's first fight since he won the 160-pound crown from Randy Turpin in October.

Boyd Signs With Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Boyd, first baseman and outfielder, signed his 1954 contract with the Chicago White Sox today to bring to seven the number of players in the fold.

Surprise Ahead?

Leahy Expects Tough Battle in Sugar Bowl

By FRANK LEAHY

Once again the fine Sugar Bowl Committee has come up with a real top notch attraction which will be televised nationally. In this game, fans will see one of the nation's fastest football teams. Georgia Tech, meeting a team which is on the way up in the ratings, West Virginia. This game presents such a challenge for West Virginia that it is my belief that it may turn out to be one of the day's best games. As we see the situation, West Virginia has the chance of a lifetime to get some richly deserved national notice.

West Virginia operates from the split-T formation and does a mighty good job of it. Their line averages 217 pounds and their backfield a solid 200.

For Georgia Tech, I can speak from experience as they gave our team one of its toughest afternoons last fall and we were very fortunate to have won. They also operate from the T but don't do too much splitting.

Their game is built on speed and deception and I believe they have one of the best balanced running backfields we have seen. In Leon Hardeman, Billy Teas and Glenn Turner, the Engineers have three men who can go all the way on any occasion.

Some of the experts may not be picking this as a real battle, but I'll be very much surprised if Art Lewis' team doesn't give the Engineers a real go-round. You know, he was picked "Coach of the Year" in the Southern Conference.

County Prep Athletes Finish Another Year

By JACK SAYLOR

Oakland County's prep athletes have rung down the curtain on another year filled with interesting team competition and standout individual performances.

Las, winter's basketball campaign was highlighted as usual by the hectic post-season tournament play which saw Lake Orion, Keego Harbor, Clarkston and Shrine advance through district tourneys before bowing in regionals.

Top records were produced by Berkley (13-3), Northville (14-4), OL St. Mary (12-4), Lake Orion (9-5) and Rochester (11-6).

Scoring leaders were Ortonville's rangy Pete Palshan and Jim Panks of Shrine. Other outstanding performers included Ken Burr of Rochester, Lee Collins of Keego, Chuck Pokorny of Lake Orion and Avondale's Jerry Holland.

Pontiac's great track star, Alonzo Harris, was a standout performer among spring sport participants along with Walled Lake's versatile ace, Ron Revitzer. Others who excelled were Bob Hamilton of Oxford, Tom Bullen of Clarkston, Dick Jackman of Milford and Gil Witsoe of Rochester.

A pair of Inter-Lakes Conference southpaw pitchers featured baseball action — Tom McCormick of Southfield and Jack Kratt of Waterford. McCormick won 10 straight games before being bested by Kratt in the final league game.

Second annual Pontiac Press Invitational highlighted prep golf play, Birmingham won the team title with a 5-man aggregate of 393 strokes. Maples were paced by Joe Glass, Glass and Lloyd Syron of Shrine tied for individual honors with 73s, Syron won the tourney medal in a playoff.

Glass and Syron were Class A and B medalists, respectively, while Curt Dempster of Bloomfield Hills repeated as the best in C-D with a 77.

In football last fall, foremost records were posted by Royal Oak (7-1), Keego Harbor (6-1), Lake Orion (5-2), and St. Michael's (6-2-1). Russ Shindorf led the Shamrocks to their fine record as he paced the county's individual scorers.

Other grid standouts were Dick Nash of Royal Oak, Waterford's elusive Kerry Keating and his running mate, Ray Campbell; Buck O'Shaunghnessy of Keego, Ed Leach of Lake Orion and Marv Evans of Avondale, all backs.

Leading linemen were Bill McLarty of Pontiac, Buzz DeBaene of Rochester, Ralph Wells of Holly, Larry Spencer of Oxford and Joe Schwerin of Avondale.

Spartan-UCLA Game Shapes Up as Defensive Battle; Terp-Oklahoma May Be Offensive Show

By GRANTLAND RICE

LOS ANGELES — Taking a brief look around the major Bowl map this late December day, we find a peculiar Bowl situation.

* * *

Of the ten teams involved from Miami to Pasadena, there is no outstanding favorite, no odd-on choice, and there is no weakling, sure to be crushed.

* * *

These five major Bowl games—Rose, Sugar, Orange, Cotton and 'Gator—figure to draw 375,000 for which the spectators will pay in the neighborhood of $1,775,000. Possibly a few dollars more or less.

* * *

But this isn't all of it. That omnivorous giant known as TV will contribute as much more and will unfold the spectacle nationwide to more millions than I have time to count. TV will add at least $2,000,000 to the bulging pot.

The two games that will stand out this New Year date are the Orange and the Rose. They are exceptional in their appeal and their promise of close competition.

Not that the Sugar, Cotton and 'Gator may not give up closer, more spectacular contests, for they are all so evenly matched and carry so much class, there is little chance for a flop. What a Bowl game needs is a close, exciting contest with its share of thrills. Certainly Georgia Tech-West Virginia, Rice-Alabama and Auburn-Texas Tech contests have all that they need in this respect.

* * *

There is just as strong local interest in all of the Bowl engagements but, when it comes to a national sweep, the Orange and the Rose have the call.

* * *

The West Coast took five heavy jolts on the jaw before it finally had a Rose Bowl winner last fall. Was this an accident or will it win again to start a victory string of its own?

Both the Spartans and the Bruins are fine defensive squads and this usually means a few touchdowns. It is quite possible there will be a lack of thrills in the UCLA-Michigan State collision of defensive stars.

Maryland-Oklahoma contest carries greater speed and more promise of a spine-tingling afternoon than any of the Bowl pageants. Maryland's best chance to win depends on the physical condition of Bernie Faloney.

So far as thrills go, the Auburn-Texas Tech game has a good chance to lead them all. These two teams are geared to score and the score is always the stirring moment.

Bishop, Jeweler Softball, Cage Teams '53 Standouts

While local athletes failed to make their mark in state-wide competition as they did a year ago, a busy sports year nevertheless was recorded.

Ortonville broke up General Motors domination of the Class A City Baseball league as manager Herman Bishop hurled his team to the city title. It was only the 3rd time in 11 years that GMC failed to win the crown.

Bishop was named the winner of the Pontiac Press Most Valuable Player award.

Stadium Inn and General Motors won the city softball titles and Pete Mihay and Connie Dawson were honored as most valuable players. Shaw's Jewelers played in the Inter-City Traveling Softball League and won the championship.

GMC again competed in the National Industrial Fastball loop.

In the city's junior baseball leagues, champions were Jack Habel (Class D), Gingellville (E), Mets (F) and Lunsford Market (Midget). Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills won the two halves on the Oakland County American Legion junior baseball loop, and the Birmingham nine competed in the zone tournament, which was held in Birmingham.

Shaw's won the city basketball title last season and Bob Seay of the Jewelers was most valuable player.

Oakland County lost a top representative on the national sports scene when Carl Scarborough of Clarkston died during the running of the Indianapolis 500-Mile race Memorial Day.

Scarborough, making his 2nd appearance in the classic, was stricken with heat prostration and a heart attack after driving 70 laps.

Titans Defeat Toledo, 74-67, for Cage Title

Invitational Test Snaps 4-Game Losing Streak for U. of D.

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—University of Detroit went into the Motor City Basketball Classic with a four-game losing streak and emerged with two straight victories—and the championship.

Titans held off a late surge by Toledo last night for a 74-67 victory that clinched the tournament title, and evened their season's record at 6-6.

Going into the classic, Detroit was lugging a four-game losing streak—result of a disastrous road trip.

Once back in the friendly confines of their home court, Titans were a changed team. They defeated Georgetown in Monday's opening round, 72-66, and last night polished off a Toledo team which fought desperately all the way.

Trailing 38-25 at halftime, Ohioans fought into three ties in the final quarter. Their bid was frustrated by Detroit's cool foul shooting. Titans caged seven free throws in the last four minutes to seal the victory.

Guy Sparrow put Detroit ahead to stay with four minutes to go. He was awarded two free throws, making the 1st and missing the 2nd. But he quickly gained possession of the ball and jammed in a field goal. This spurt sent Detroit ahead, 63-60.

Sparrow wound up with 25 points for the seniorless Titans, nine of them in the hectic final period. Phil Martin was Toledo's high scorer with 18 points.

In the consolation game for 3rd place, Charles Primas, voted the tourney's most valuable player, scored 27 points to lead Wayne to a 62-48 victory over Georgetown.

Dad Syron Dies; Pontiac Golfers Lose a Friend

Hundreds of Pontiac golfers have lost a good friend.

Hugh Thomas Syron, 88-year-old father of Frank and Hughie Syron of Pontiac and Detroit, respectively, died Tuesday in his Chicago home, 7608 Peoria Avenue, after a 5-months long illness.

Mr. Syron, affable, witty Irishman from the "ould sod" was better known to his many friends here as "Dad." He spent 10 years with his son, Frank, at Pontiac Country club, following his retirement from some 42 years with the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company of Chicago. He was a native of County Mayo, Ireland, came to United States when 17 years of age.

While here he assisted in many ways at Pontiac Country Club where he made hundreds of friends.

Death came at his daughter's home where he had lived for some time, Mrs. Joseph Drennan. Hughie is attached to the Detroit Golf Club.

Service will be held Saturday at St. Leo's Church, Chicago with burial in a Chicago cemetery.

Signal Caller Reinjures Bad Knee in Drill

Maryland Trainer Still Has Hope All-America Ace Might Play

By GEORGE BOWEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Injured quarterbacks today caused consternation among Maryland forces, concern in the Oklahoma ballwick and really fouled up speculation over outcome of their Orange Bowl football game on Friday.

Maryland threw up its hands in despair immediately after quarterback Bernie Faloney's injured knee gave way on him in yesterday's workout.

"There goes our team," said downhearted coach Jim Tatum.

It might not turn out to be as bad as it first appeared. While it was the same left knee in which a ligament was torn against Alabama on Nov. 21, the sharp pain which made Faloney pull up was on the outside and not the internal ligament.

Faloney walked around fairly well last night and trainer Duke Wyre said if the knee didn't swell up by today it might be all right. It's possible the pain Faloney felt was snapping of a muscle cramped by tight taping.

Coach Bud Wilkinson also is keeping his fingers crossed over a shoulder separation suffered by Pat O'Neal, Oklahoma's 2nd string quarterback.

O'Neal was hurt Monday in a punting drill, but didn't realize it until yesterday. His playing ability on Friday is problematical, depending on the injury's response to treatment.

O'Neal didn't pass much during the season, but when he did it was close to perfect. Two of the three passes he threw were caught for touchdowns. Coach Wilkinson is doing a lot of passing practice in view of Maryland's rugged ground defense and yesterday halfback Buddy Leake concentrated on long ones.

Coach Tatum wasted no time wondering if Faloney still might play. He immediately went to work with Lynn Beightol as 2d string to Charley Boxold who has been getting ready for the past five weeks to start instead of Faloney.

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—The question was direct, simple: "Who is the best goalie in the National Hockey League"

Jack Adams' answer was direct, surprising: "Without a doubt, Al Rollins of the Chicago Black Hawks."

Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings, has been connected with big league hockey for over 25 years. His words carry weight.

"Rollins is more valuable to his club than any other player in the league," Adams continued. "Without him they probably would have dropped out of the league."

This is high praise for Rollins. He tends goal for a team which is notorious for its defensive weakness. As proof of this, Black Hawks are in last place with only seven victories in 37 games.

"He's been carrying the club by himself," Adams added. "He does everything — and does it every game. Many games he makes 40 or more saves."

Shakeup Fails to Produce Win

Rangers Show Rookie, Returned Vet, Absorb 6-2 Lacing

By The Associated Press

The "something old, something new" formula has failed to produce any miracles for the New York Rangers in the National Hockey league.

Rangers, sinking slowly deeper into 5th place in the six club circuit, have experimented with rookies most of the season. Last night they unveiled another one, Glen Sonmor from the Cleveland Barons. And in addition they brought veteran Edgar Laprade out of retirement to replace the injured Ron Murphy.

But all they got for their trouble was a 6-2 pasting by the Boston Bruins after leading briefly at 2-1. Rangers folded in the final period as Boston slammed home three goals. Ed Sanford scored twice and assisted on two other Boston tallies.

Game was the only one in the league last night. On tonight's program 2nd place Montreal plays 3rd place Toronto at Toronto.

CASE — Need For Knee Action Assures Slide Finish — Take a tip from Milwaukee's Vicki Vukovich, averaging 193 now because of one little change in her form.

She finishes low at the line, with a slide. "Knee action did it," she says.

"When I finished straighter up, or more erect, I didn't get the ball out ahead, well over the foul line. Had little control. I've lengthened my stride a few inches to compensate for pushing the ball outward to get it into a longer and grooved swing, close to my body (see sketch).

"By letting my weight drop easily and relaxed onto my flexed left knee as I slide the left side braced, and I found the thing that quickly improved my scoring — a long follow-through." A little thing, knee action, but it's mighty important, as the Vukovich case emphasizes.

Sid Goldfader, Brandeis University fullback, has averaged seven yards per carry in each of his three years as a varsity footballer.

Time Is Fast Approaching to Take Expedition North for 'Winterizing' Cabin

By JACK PATTERSON

Last week we left the reader surrounded by a horde of hostile lower animals, fixed by their collective beady, unblinking stare. In a season generally given over to feelings and expressions of good will, we are relieved to be able to report that steps are being taken to achieve a closer rapprochement between man and his fuzzy kinfolk. Mike Owens and Beecher Connell recently became godfathers to a hen mallard that had been caught in a muskrat trap, and brought it to Mike's boat shop with its landing gear and power plant in sorry shape. After a demonstration of surgical technique which would have done credit to the late brothers Mayo, and a few days of post-operative care for the patient, the doughty boat dealers prescribed a bland diet for the duck and turned it loose.

PATTERSON

It took off like the big bird so well known to War II personnel, and when last seen was ascending rapidly, quacking merrily and no doubt proclaiming that it was possible to make a deal with men.

Now if the local Doctor's Union doesn't hop on these boys for practicing without portfolio, we predict that this sort of thing will bring about a firm basis for peace among the several strata of the animal kingdom.

* * *

This is the season that leaves most outdoorsmen cold, literally and figuratively. While there's a smattering of ice here and there, there is no ice fishing as yet worthy of mention.

Even going south now isn't the answer, as southern waters won't hit their peak for a matter of several weeks. Of course if you want to go south far enough to get on the tender side of the equator, that's something else again. But many fishermen will dismiss such a journey as impractical, for one reason or another, both green.

* * *

Stay-at-homes with northern cabins have one out though. Right after the first of the year it is usually considered necessary to go up and "winterize" the shack. These expeditions are just like any hunting or fishing excursion; involve much advance preparation and that sort of thing. Only difference is in equipment taken along. You kind of take more of one thing and less of another, so to speak.

Some wives think a winterizing trip to a cabin that has withstood winter's worst since the days of Father Marquette a bit of specious nonsense. You can spike her on that one by pointing out what hob a thirty foot fall of wet snow in one night would raise with the roof.

Just because it hasn't happened yet doesn't mean anything. Ten years ago no one had flown faster than sound.

* * *

If the thought of going north of Clarkston gives you chilblains, you can try out that new flycasting outfit you got for Christmas. Wet snow has "pick-up" characteristics similar to water and permits better dry casting practice than bare ground.

Octopus Mystery Solved by Meat Market Manager

By H. GUY MOATS

It wasn't such a mystery, after all!

After a day of interesting speculation over the origin of the young octopus that Harold Hess of Auburn Heights found on his doorstep, Christmas morning, its source was disclosed late Tuesday night.

James Hurren, 16 Grandie avenue, called this writer to say he figured he had the answer. Hurren, for many years manager of a meat department for a big store here, said the creature apparently was one of a dozen received in a shipment from Portugal.

Explained Hurren: "The octopus is a Christmas delicacy for many Latins, and we get a shipment from Portugal each holiday period. I saw a young couple in the store a few days ago, and they were laughing over the octopus, finally bought one. I figure that was the one found on Hess' doorstep.

"Octopus, like squid and other unusual seafoods, are much sought by Latin people during the Yule period. And it is only at this time of year we receive these shipments. They come chiefly from the Mediterranean."

Project Urges Destruction of Wilderness Area

American People Want National Monument Site Unspoiled

Virtual destruction of Dinosaur National Monument, one of the most beautiful canyon-plateau wilderness areas in the national park system, is recommended in the Bureau of Reclamation's upper Colorado river storage project that was submitted to President Eisenhower recently by Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, Wildlife Management Institute reports. Included in this sweeping program for the development of the Colorado river system is a request that funds be authorized for construction of Echo Park dam deep within Dinosaur National Monument.

Standing at the heart of Dinosaur National Monument at the junction of the Yampa and Green rivers is Echo Park, an area resplendent with precipitous, many-hued canyon walls. Nowhere in the national park system can be found such another unique area; it is truly an irreplaceable treasure of America.

That there is no need to trespass upon the National monument has been shown by General U. S. Grant III, formerly of the Army Engineers and now president of the American Planning and Civic Association. Using the Reclamation Bureau's own figures, General Grant capably demonstrated that dams built at available sites outside Dinosaur National Monument would provide more water-storage capacity and more electric power at savings of many millions of dollars in actual construction costs.

While there may be a need for an upper Colorado program, many who have studied the Reclamation Bureau's plans doubt seriously that full consideration has been given to all aspects and values. This factor, they agree, indicates that further study should be made before expending such a huge amount of the taxpayers money.

Time and time again the American people have demonstrated their firm desire to retain for all generations the most beautiful, unspoiled bits of American landscape that are preserved in the national park system. It is quite clear that despoilation of Dinosaur National Monument can be prevented only by a flood of messages to members of Congress, to the Bureau of the Budget, and to the White House.

The Syracuse University cross-country team has won every dual meet in the last two years.

Conservation Makes Forward Strides in '53

Conservation in Michigan took a number of strides forward during 1953, important strides that in the end are going to mean much to the people of the state.

As populations continue to spiral higher and higher, the realization grows that natural resources are definitely limited and extremely precious to all concerned.

Michigan is learning that conservation has got to mean more than hunting and fishing, more than planting trout and traditional deer seasons, more than big timber at the sawmills and state parks on a summer afternoon.

All those things are important enough in their own way, but other aspects of conservation are looming larger as the years progress and more and more these things demand attention.

Matter of water, for example, claimed the interest of the conservation department's geological survey division with increased emphasis as a large number of municipal and industrial water supply studies were processed.

Continuing its program of blocking in forests, game areas, parks and wildlife projects, state land buyers purchased nearly 11,000 acres of land for public use. Tax reversions brought another 1,300 acres under state ownership.

But lands in public domain did not increase through department purchase during the year; 13,000 acres and 3,800 plated lots were sold at auction.

Fish conservation, too, was given a boost as new management plans were set up, based on the findings of research.

Fishing regulations were also under study and specialists were looking toward further liberalizations of existing laws.

But probably most important from a long-range standpoint was the continuing lake and stream improvement program, now being given more and more emphasis as results bear out its value.

The department also purchased 36 fishing sites during the year, raising to nearly 600 the lakes and streams open to the public.

Deer poaching and fishing without a license proved the most frequently violated conservation laws during the year.

The department's game division gave considerable emphasis to the deer management program making a number of progress studies. Hunters harvested about 70,000 deer during the regular and special seasons, about what game men had expected.

Again in 1953, a new record for state parks attendance was set, with about 14 million persons counted during the year.

Permits Are Needed to Keep Stored Game

LANSING (AP) — Conservation department today reminded hunters that they need a permit to keep wild game in storage more than 60 days after the end of the appropriate season.

Conservation officers supply the permits.

If you have pheasant or squirrel stored in the deep freeze you'll need a permit after Jan. 9. For grouse permits will be needed after Jan. 18, for Bear after Jan. 29 and for deer after Jan. 30.

Senator Discloses Limited A-Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP)—A very limited exchange of secret atomic information for peaceful purposes has been under way for some time between the United States and friendly nations, Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) has disclosed.

Hickenlooper, vice chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said yesterday this information dealt with "materials processing" and involved atomic isotopes, used widely in medical research. He declined to elaborate.

Increase Is Seasonal

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — A woman defendant demanded to know why she was being fined $10 for drunkenness when "it's supposed to be only $5." Wiping his brow, Judge H. O. Pollard replied "the price always goes up in hot weather."

Writer Gives Only Credit, Is Poor Philanthropist

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There are two kinds of philanthropists—those who give away money and those who give credit.

We have decided to become a philanthropist this year, and—for personal reasons—have decided to start off by giving away credit, which is all anybody ever gave us.

The simplest way to give credit where credit is due is to start a foundation and present a series of annual achievement awards. But this is a crowded field. There are already so many foundations giving awards for merit of one kind or another that the average fellow is bound to win one himself sooner or later, if he merely abstains from striking his wife in public.

So, instead of recognizing any special performance in any particular field, our philanthropic foundation is dedicated to the recognition of anybody we can see on a clear day. If the other foundations have overlooked you, just write us and tell us what you want an award for doing (or not doing)—and we guarante to recognize you, if your handwriting is legible.

Here are our first awards for 1953:

The most outstanding salesman—President Eisenhower, who convinced Charles E. Wilson he should sell 2½ million dollars in auto stock to take a government post.

The event likely to have the most impact on history—death of Joseph Stalin.

* * *

The event likely to have the least impact on history—our birthday.

The most frustrated plumber—Martin Durkin, who made the right connection, then lost his pipeline.

The most unusual overthrow—Joe Walcott, who lost a throne by being knocked on his seat of empire.

The decision least likely to hurt Florida's tourist industry—lifting of the Soviet ban against foreign travelers.

Boy writer showing most literary promise—Nobel prizewinner Winnie Churchill.

Retired cop with least chance to get job guarding pearly gates—Lavrenty P. Beria, of Russia.

The year's busiest ghost—Harry Dexter White.

The ghost everyone would like to see twice as often—the one that walks on paydays.

The man who dist most to prove that Horatio Alger's "strive and succeed" formula doesn't always work out—Charlie Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The prisoner who got the least applause for good conduct—Alger Hiss.

The prisoners most likely to get homesick in 1954—the American POW's in Korea who wouldn't come back.

The convalescent with the best chance of regaining his old strength—the American dollar.

The year's leading wrong-guesser—the weather man.

The most persistent life of the party—Harry S. Truman.

The most enjoyable tumble of the season—the drop in the cost of living.

The guy who got the mostest for the leastest—the Red pilot, tired of communism, who landed his MIG plane behind Allied lines and was astounded to learn he had earned $100,000.

The fellow who took the most abuse without talking back once—the Piltdown man, who proved you can get by for years with the jawbone of an ape, if you just keep it shut.

U.N. Review of PW Issue Would Take India Off Spot

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

Despite strong United States opposition, it's almost an even money bet that the Korean War prisoner issue will be debated once more by the United Nations before the prisoners finally are set free.

It need not, however, delay their release beyond the scheduled Jan. 22 date.

And it need not be any surrender to the Communists.

If a change of tactics is dictated, it will be for two main reasons:

1. To take India off a "spot."

2. To button up a victory over the Reds and to remove any possibility they could make propganda hay by charging the United States with dictatorial action.

The situation as regards India is particularly touchy.

It doesn't take much to stir up Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's indignation against the United States and right now he is indignant for two reasons.

One is that the U. S. is discussing a military agreement with India's neighbor Pakistan to which India is utterly opposed. The other is that Nehru is accusing the United States Command in Korea of taking an unbending view toward the prisoner issue.

With both United States and Communist agreement, India was named chairman of the neutral nations and Communist war prisoners unwilling to go home.

The 90-day period for interviewing the prisoners ended last week, and, under terms of the armistice, they are to be released to civilian status within 30 days unless the Korean political conference decides some other disposition of them.

The U. S. view is that, since there is little liklihood of a political conference in 30 days, the prisoner release is automatic.

Nehru wants the whole matter referred back to the U. N. He bases his position on the claim that since it is impossible to carry out the original terms of the armistice, a new course of action must be decided.

Such a course would remove India from the possibility of a Communist charge either of knuckling down to or siding with the United States—a matter of extreme importance to India's continued and determined neutrality.

From the Western point of view, the argument also is developing that it would be unwise now to do anything which might push India closer to the Communist camp or to give any advantage to India's local Communist Party. This view applies equally to the prisoner issue and to the Pakistan military agreement.

One prominent Indian anti-Communist already has proposed that mutual security agreements be reached with both Russia and Red China, an event which would be a grave blow to the West.

Whatever the next move is to be, it appears it will originate in New Delhi. But if the Indians ask for a U. N. General Assembly before Jan. 22, the West will have a hard time refusing it.

University to Start Building Program

ANN ARBOR (UP) — University of Michigan officials have announced plans for a $5,070,000 construction program to be launched between February and May of next year.

University vice-president W. K. Pierpont said projects already approved by the Board of Regents included a $1,200,000 Phoenix memorial laboratory, a $2,000,000 psychiatric unit for children's hospital, a $470,000 library storage unit and a $1,400,000 Couzens Hall addition.

If the legislative gives a go-ahead, Pierpont said, an additional $2,500,000 in construction may be started later in 1954. These projects are a $1,800,000 automotive engineering laboratory and a $700,000 additional to the law library.

Grains Drifting Lower Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains drifted quietly lower on the Board of Trade today although no heavy selling pressure weighed against the market.

Demand slackened in view of disappointment over the amount of wheat West Germany purchased overnight, failure of extremely cold weather to materialize in the midwest as predicted and rumors of substantial deliveries of cash beans on January contracts next week.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ½ cent lower, March $2.07⅛, corn ⅜ to ⅝ lower, March $1.55⅝, oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, March 78⅛, soybeans 1 cent lower to ⅝ higher, January $3.07 and lard unchanged to 5 cents a hundred pounds lower, January $16.87.

Market Rallies but Pace Slow

NEW YORK (AP)—A mild rally spread through the stock market today. Nearly all sections of the list participated.

Trading was fairly active, but considerably below the pace maintained yesterday, when 2,140,000 shares changed hands in a declining market.

Selling to establish tax losses again was in evidence; a number of issues selling around their lows for the year had trouble maintaining even fractional gains.

Better-acting groups included the steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, coppers, chemicals and rails.

Ahead around a point at one time were Bethlehem Steel, Boeing, Mathieson Chemical, Allied Chemical, Kennecott, and Owens-Corning Fibreglass.

Most other gains were in small fractions. In this category were Chrysler, General Motors, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Schenley, Consolidated Natural Gas, Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio and Phelps Dodge.

Brokers said they were not surprised at the better tone today.

GM Tells Plan for Parts Outlet

New Distribution Idea Will Improve Service to Independent Stations

A major modification of General Motors' wholesale parts distribution plan was announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, president of GM.

The new plan, effective Jan. 1, 1954, will enable General Motors passenger car and truck dealers now engaged in wholesaling parts, and warehouse distributors and jobber outlets representing AC Spark Plug and United Motors Service divisions to offer a more complete line of parts manufactured by General Motors.

General Motors manufactured parts that previously were being distributed by one of these distribution groups are now being made available to all distribution groups under the program announced today.

"Our new plan is designed specifically to increase the availability of General Motors car, truck and engine parts to the trade," Curtice said.

"It will help General Motors dealers and distributors to improve their service to independent service stations who now rely upon them for replacement parts. It also should enable dealers to offer greatly improved service to owners of GM products."

Back in 1903 property paid about 53 per cent of all state tax revenues. During the fiscal year 1940 it was about 6 per cent.

Writer Evaluates Letters on What to Do With the 22

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—Recently I asked "what would you say to the 22 GIs who refuse to return home from their Korean prison camps?"

The response has been lively, including several suggestions that they are "FBI plants" who have been instructed to stay behing the Bamboo Curtain and pretend to be lovers of Communism.

Lee Simmons, a San Francisco reader, expresses the thought of a number of those interested enough in the 22 to write a reply:

"Probably the reason they refuse to come back is they are afraid to, and possibly with good reason. After they returned to the U. S. they might be cited, tried, condemned and convicted of accepting communism even temporarily.

"The good things that happened to Pvt. Dickenson (Ed. Note: Edward Dickenson, former POW, changed his mind, accepted freedom and was given a civic reception in Big Stone Gap, Va.) may be just bait to get these foolish boys back. The government may not really be through with Dickenson. After the prisoner conference is completely finished, someone in the government will have Dickenson charged, indicted, tried and convicted.

"Now if these 22 POWS were given positive promises by the President, by Sen. McCarthy, Sen. Jenner and Rep. Velde that nothing would happen to them, maybe they'd come back. But I'm sure no promises will be made, and punishment would await them if and when they did return.

"What do you think?"

A lot of people wrote, "Good riddance," or "Get lost, you ingrates, and some presented plans—occasionally on the inscrutable side.

"I would place each of the 22 lost boys in solitary confinement in Panmunjom prison," writes Thomas E. Redburn of Wichita, "and have them served at meal times by an Indian guard who is only used once during this period of confinement and who may, at the request of a prisoner, take his place temporarily to allow the prisoner's release to the side of his choosing."

Apparently Mr. Redburn is thinking of getaway time, there having been many stories to the effect that some of the 22 have threatened to kill any buddy who wishes to return to the U. S.

A lady in Detroit writes:

"I would say to each one, 'what are the last things you think about at night and the first things you think of in the morning!"

The note of wonderment was expressed well by Molly Malone of New York City: ". . . Given enough time, there will be much wailing and gnashing of teeth on the part of these vets when they realize they've sold their birthright for a mess of pottage. The American way of life may not be perfection plus, but it is the best in this uncertain world. Those fellows must be crazy or drugged. Only time will tell."

There were other suggestions: Show them a comprehensive movie of American life; offer them bribes (to be charged against C. D. Jackson's psychological warfare budget); shoot them; say "fine and dandy, let them go their way . . . why open our gates to 22 more Soviet spies?"

And there was, too, a poignant undercurrent of concern for the missing thousands. It is plain, judging from the mail, that a great many persons feel that most of the missing are still alive, and that we are driving the memory of them out of our officials' minds by giving so much time, attention and publicity to 22 knucklebrains.

Man Loots Poor Boxes

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — A maximum sentence of seven years was handed George C. Rogovsky after police said he admitted looting poor boxes at 26 churches in six weeks, netting a total of $20

Decorating Reflects Italy

NEW YORK (UP)—The Italian influence, already affecting fashions, now is extending to home decoration. It is noticeable particularly in fabrics for drapery, which feature Meditterranean designs and colors, typical is one from Schumacher called "Frascati" named for an Italian town. The design, in pink, mauve, blue, rose, sand and brown, is an impressionistic pattern of Roman columns, buildings and statutes.

The Belgian Congo is 77 times the size of Belgium.

OF OUTSTATE MICHIGAN

The advertisement below is another in a series through which Consumers Power Company is telling America about the industrial advantages of OUTSTATE MICHIGAN. It is appearing in Newsweek, Business Week, Chemical Week, Dun's Review and Modern Industry, U. S. News & World Report, New York Times, and Wall Street Journal.

OUTSTATE MICHIGAN
CENTERED BETWEEN 2 OF THE 8 "A" MARKETS IN THE NATION

It affords YOU unlimited opportunity for YOUR NEW PLANT LOCATION

Outstate Michigan lies between Detroit and Chicago, two of the eight "A" markets of the United States. (An "A" market is a city which, with its suburbs, contains more than 2,000,000 people.)

In a five-state area centering around Chicago and Detroit live more than 20% of the nation's people.

More than 22% of the retail sales of the United States are made in these five states.*

So situated, and with the greatest fresh water supply in the world, Outstate Michigan is Production Land . . . Market Land . . . and Vacation Land, all in one.

And it has the know-how and the skilled labor to meet your specific manufacturing needs.

*This area covers Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin. It doesn't include the vast Canadian market that lies directly to the east of Michigan.
