

County Taxes Lower Despite Record Budget

Clawson Backs Courthouse on Telegraph Road

Committee Head Says Supervisors Selected Best Spot for County

H. Lloyd Clawson, chairman of the special building committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, today replied to Clarence K. Patterson, who had voiced opposition to moving the courthouse from downtown Pontiac. Clawson's statement follows:

"I feel that it is my duty as chairman of the Special Court House Committee to reply to the article of September 16, appearing in the Pontiac Daily Press. I refer to the article by Clarence Patterson.

"Mr. Patterson is a highly respected citizen, an outstanding lawyer and a splendid person, but even such persons can err.

"Mr. Patterson is worried about transportation, not for himself but for others. May I point out to him that probably the recipients of welfare and Old Age Assistance would be the outstanding example of those whom he thinks would be inconvenienced. May I further point out that they, for several years, have had little if any difficulty finding the Welfare Office which is located in the same area in which the courthouse is proposed to be placed.

"We, the supervisors, have given thorough consideration to the transportation problems, and have decided that no problem worthy of mention exists. If any does develop, you may be assured that we will solve it.

"May we call to the attention of the entire opposition that the site chosen by the supervisors stems from a few people in the center of Pontiac. I do not criticize them for voicing their opinions if they feel their interests are adversely affected, but they must realize that we, the supervisors, are representing the whole county. What we do must be governed by what is best for all of the county, not just the main street in the City of Pontiac.

"The site we have chosen is ample for out present needs, provides plenty of room for expansion in the years to come and we have unlimited parking space. The present courthouse and county office building properties, in private hands, will undoubtedly be improved. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Woodward Detour Slows Early Traffic

Detroit-bound traffic on Woodward Avenue was slowed for three hours this morning by a detour around the Woodward-Eight Mile Road intersection, where crews have begun work on a tri-level grade separation.

Southbound traffic backed up more than a mile yesterday when the detours began. Ferndale Police Chief Reginald H. Lemke said that it is expected to have Woodward detoured for approximately 18 months.

"The overpass, when completed, will eliminate a very congested intersection, Lemke said, and speed Detroit commuters to work.

Fall Arrives Thursday

'54 Summer Sets Record High, Low Temperatures

With the approach of fall Thursday, a glance back at summer shows it was a season of temperature records.

An all time temperature record for Sept. 8 was smashed when the mercury soared to 98 degrees. On the opposite side of the ledger a record chill was established July 8 when the temperature plunged to 48. This broke an 82-year mark, established in 1891 when a 49-degree low was recorded.

Summer here was also a season of droughts. A 14-day dry spell which struck the county July 14 seriously threatened crops and water supplies. On July 28 a "million dollar rain" temporarily saved most farmers from serious crop losses.

Although Pontiac suffered no water restrictions during the summer, described as unusually dry, most South Oakland County communities labored under cur-

State Collects $42 Sales Tax Per Resident

LANSING (AP)—Michigan collected $42.21 in sales taxes from every man, woman and child in the state in 1953-54 fiscal year, the State Revenue Department said today.

This was second only to Wyoming which collected $42.98.

The survey showed that a total of 27 states levy sales and use taxes similar to Michigan's.

California was third in per capita collections with $38.04 and Utah fourth with $36.75.

The average collection of the 27 states was $28.58.

State Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims said Michigan's collections were high because of the broad base of the tax, because the state's average income is high and because of vigorous collection of tax by his department.

Limited Rams Truck, Killing 1

28 Hurt on Board NYC Streamliner as 9 Cars Leave Track

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—One person was killed and 28 others were injured yesterday when a New York Central streamliner plowed into a truck at a crossing and went off the tracks.

The NYC's diesel-powered Southwestern Limited, bound for New York with an estimated 95 passengers, struck the truck and the second unit of its diesel engine was derailed. Nine cars following it careened from the tracks and came to a screeching, rending halt 200 yards beyond the crossing. The last two cars remained on the rails.

Rescue crews attributed the relatively small number of injuries to the fact that the derailed cars did not splinter.

Killed in the collision was Cary Bryant, 24, of Mattoon, driver of the truck laden with gravel.

The train was speeding eastward after a scheduled stop at Mattoon when it hit the truck at 11:42 a.m. (CST).

Pontiac Airman on Afternoon Pass Wins $6,500 Home

A Pontiac airman who spent a routine Saturday afternoon pass by attending the California State Fair at Sacramento won a $6,500 home which was being given away.

The chance on the home cost him nothing.

He is Airman Second Class Daniel Greenwald, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Greenwald, of 329 Whittemore St. He spent the afternoon with some buddies from McClelland Air Force Base, and learned of his good fortune when he returned to the base in the evening.

What to do with the home posed a problem for Greenwald. The best cash offer he could get was only about half the home's value. He had no time to move it and anyway, he writes, he has no use for a home since the Air Force furnishes lodging.

Finally he traded it for a luxury model car, whose value was not far below the price placed in the home.

Greenwald is a mechanic with a weather reconnaissance squadron.

He won the home, incidentally, on his mother's birthday.

Greenwald has been in the Air Force two years. He enlisted in 1952, and had attended Pontiac High School before entering service.

Where 18 Escaped Plane Crash Death

PARACHUTED TO SAFETY — Firemen pour water on the still smoldering wreckage of a C-46 plane that crashed near Newhall, Calif., after 15 Civil Air Patrol chaplains and three crewmen had parachuted to safety. In the background can be seen the maintenance buildings and housing units of the Los Angeles Police Dept. rehabilitation center that the plane flew over before crashing. Inmates of the farm working nearby rushed to the scene and helped fight the flames.

15 Chaplains, 3 Crewmen Bail Out of Burning Plane

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—Praying as they parachuted in shirtsleeves, 15 chaplains landed safely minutes before their disabled Air Force C46 plane crashed and burned yesterday. The three crewmen also bailed out successfully.

"You can be sure there was plenty of praying going on," said the Rev. Lertis R. Ellett of Lawndale, Calif., Church of Christ, who is an Air Force reserve colonel.

"This was an occasion when, doubly, we were practicing what we preach; namely, prayer," said the Rev. Neville E. Carlson of Fillmore, Calif.

The group of Civil Air Patrol chaplains from Southern California left Burbank at 3:03 p.m. (PDT) in the C46, bound for a regional CAP chaplains' conference at Sacramento scheduled for last night and today.

The chaplains and crew were wearing back parachutes and had been briefed before take-off but none of the ministers had ever jumped before.

Minutes after the departure, smoke began trailing from the C46. Vibration was felt in the ship, then the right engine caught fire. A half dozen of the chaplains suffered cuts or bruises, wrenched legs or shoulders but none was seriously hurt.

Burglar Steals $2,000, Leaves $2,000 Behind

SAYREVILLE, N. J. (AP)—A thief who stole $2,000 from a strong box in the home of Stanley Ochat left another $2,000 behind. Ochat told police he returned yesterday from a weekend trip and found the box open and half the cash gone.

The bail hearing hit a dramatic peak yesterday as Corrigan made his final plea to the judge.

Corrigan, a 68-year-old white haired scrapper with bulging tenacity, brought tears to the eyes of Sheppard and the 30-year-old osteopath's family as he referred to "this innocent young man, his murdered wife Marilyn, and their unborn child."

The attorney declared the indictment against Sheppard was the result of "public clamor which was stirred by the press" in an attempt to sell more newspapers.

All three of Cleveland's big daily newspapers expressed views before Dr. Sheppard was arrested last July 30 that authorities were proceeding too cautiously. From the start, Sheppard has insisted he was innocent and that a bushy-haired man entered the house and clubbed his wife.

Corrigan slapped particularly at Walter Winchell who wrote recently that "the key word in the Sheppard trial will be sterility."

That statement, said the lawyer, "hit a new low in journalism."

Rival Proposals Spell Trouble at London Talks

Hard Bargaining Seen Over Conflicting Plans for Arming Germany

LONDON (AP)—Hard bargaining shaped up today over rival British and French plans for rearming West Germany.

Ministers conferred anew over old problems of Western defense that must be taken up again at a nine-power conference in London Sept. 28.

And something of the conflict to attend that session—in which French Premier Pierre Mendes-France is to call for British commitments that Britain has refused in the past—was pictured in the editorial comment of Europe's newspapers, left, right and center.

France's Western allies were taking a long, cautious look at the plan outlined by Mendes-France yesterday in a speech before the European Consultative Assembly at Strasbourg.

As a substitute for the six-nation unified army of the European Defense Community treaty which his National Assembly killed Aug. 30, he wants to tie West Germany in a tight continental alliance with Britain that would limit the fighting forces of all member states and control their arms production.

Under both Mendes-France's proposals and the British plan put forward previously by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the basis for rearming German troops would be the Brussels treaty of 1948. That treaty was originally drawn up by Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg for defense against any new German aggression.

The idea now is to admit both West Germany and Italy — which (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Giants Beat Dodgers to Clinch NL Flag

The New York Giants wrapped up the National League pennant Monday night in Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, as Sal Maglie pitched Leo Durocher's men to a 7-1 victory. It gave New York a 6½ game lead with 6 games remaining on the schedule.

The Giants and the American League's champion Cleveland Indians will open the World Series in the Polo Grounds, New York, a week from Wednesday, Sept. 29. Additional stories will be found on today's sport pages.

Anti-Commies Picketing U.N.

U.S. Ready for Fight to Keep Red China Out of Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Two separate groups of anti-Communist pickets marched outside the U. N. today displaying such signs as "atom bombs on the Kremlin" as the hour approached for formal opening of the General Assembly's 9th session.

One group called itself "The anti-Communist Conference of Overseas Chinese in the Americas" and the other "The American Friends of the anti-Bolshevik Block of Nations Inc.—Ukrainian Division."

The Chinese organization, which numbered about 100 pickets, passed out handbills demanding the U. N. refuse to admit the Peiping Communist regime and calling the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa "the only legitimate government of China."

The other demonstrators, mostly of Ukrainian nationality but including at least one Croatian, were about 25 in number. They called on the U. S. government to break off relations with the Soviet government and demanded eviction of the U.S.S.R. from the U. N.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was on hand to lead the campaign for keeping up the bars against the Chinese Reds.

The United States, backed by Britain, planned to ask the Assembly to shelve the question until the end of the year. The same strategy was used last year to keep Peiping out.

Both the Americans and the British were confident of a clear winning majority. To strengthen their case, U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. in a weekend statement charged the Chinese Communists with 39 attacks in the past four years on ships or planes of Britain, Panama, Denmark, Norway, France, Portugal and the United States.

Cut of .11 Mills Made Possible by Valuation

Supervisors Also Raise Pay of Some Employees at Monthly Meeting

Although an all-time high budget was passed by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday, individual taxpayers will be paying a lower rate than they did last year.

The reduction in the rate from 5.25 to 5.14 mills was made possible through an increase in over-all county valuation, said Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the county Board of Auditors.

"Several millions dollars in new buildings were added to the tax rolls last year," Moore explained. Included in the county's $6,690,408 budget for 1955 is provision for 47 new employees. The new workers will be mainly nursing and office employees, according to Carl Johnson, county personnel director.

Pay hikes were awarded some employees in the engineering, medical and administrative classes and to most appointive and elective officials.

Members of the Board of Auditors will receive $11,000 yearly salaries, compared to the current $7,500. Road commissioners will receive $6,000 compared to the present $3,500.

Other appointed officers getting boosts are members of the Social Welfare Board, who will get a raise from $5,000 to $5,500, and the dog warden, who will receive $6,301, compared to $5,941.

Elected officers slated for raises are: County clerk (now, $8,250; 1955, $9,750), drain commissioner ($8,200 to $9,750), prosecutor ($10,000 to $11,500), register of deeds ($8,250 to $9,750) and sheriff ($7,000 to $8,500).

The three circuit judges, while having their county pay trimmed $1,000 annually, will actually receive a total salary boost.

Cooler Weather Seen for Pontiac Tonight

Cooler weather is expected to follow brisk winds which came to Pontiac today.

The Pontiac Municipal Airport reported at 1:30 p.m. that the wind was blowing steadily at 30 to 35 m.p.h. and reached a speed of 60 m.p.h. in gusts.

Wednesday will remain a little cool, with skies slightly cloudy. High for the day, forecasters say, will be 60 to 64 degrees.

The mercury registered at 62 in downtown Pontiac at 8 a.m. today, dropping to 52 by 10 a.m. Rising steadily during the remainder of the morning, the recording was 58 at 1 p.m. Rainfall early today registered .03.

Two Party Rule Campaign Issue

Leonard, Williams Meet in Debate

By JACK I. GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. Williams and Donald S. Leonard, the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor of Michigan, have had their first encounter of the 1954 political campaign.

And they debated this central theme, promulgated by Leonard: "The crucial and predominant issue is that we need a governor of the same political faith as the majority of the Legislature if you are seriously interested in solving the many problems facing Michigan today."

Leonard said he would agree that if the state elects a Democratic Legislature it should have a Democratic governor, too. But he argued that "predominantly Republican" Michigan will continue to elect a Republican-dominated legislature.

Williams, accepting the challenge, said he believed a Democratic House of Representatives will be elected this year. Because of "constitutional gerrymandering," he said, a Republican Senate is unlikely.

But, granting the Legislature will be Republican, Williams argued that a governor and Legislature of the same party does not insure "forward action."

He recalled, he said, that his predecessor, the late Republican

Kim Sigler, had "more good dog fights" with the Republican Legislature than at any time in history.

Former Gov. Harry F. Kelly, a Republican, had legislative troubles, too, he said.

Williams said a former Democratic Governor, Murray D. Van Wagner, had a good record of cooperating with Republicans and that great progress was made in the administration of the late Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris, a Democrat with a Republican legislature.

NEGAUNEE (UPI)—Vice President Richard Nixon swings into Michigan today for a "full scale reply" to Adlai E. Stevenson's charges against the Republican administration.

Nixon was scheduled to address an Upper Peninsula audience here this afternoon and then move on to East Lansing for an evening talk in which he promised to answer charges made by Stevenson at an Indianapolis Democratic meeting last weekend.

Miss Janice Somers, Michigan State College coed who placed fifth in the Miss American contest, was scheduled to greet the vice president at the Lansing Airport.

Ferguson and Leonard will speak at the banquet, Nixon will attend but will make no banquet speech.

The Nixon speech will be telecast to the Detroit area, but Lansing will be blacked out.

(Nixon, channel 2, 9 p.m.; Gov. Williams channel 9 at 9 p.m.)

The vice president will leave Lansing at 7 a.m. Wednesday by plane for Sioux Falls, S. D.

Nixon said in Omaha, Neb., Monday night that the Eisenhower administration had reversed an economic course, followed for 20 years under the Democrats, which would have accomplished the communist aim of plunging this country "into bankruptcy."

Under the Democratic regimes, he said, "spending spree and governmental gimmickry were forcing us further along the road to a financial and economic debacle."

The Republicans, he said, have rejected the Democratic theory that "the only way to have prosperity in peacetime is through more government spending and higher taxes."

claim he had solved the state deficit when actually Williams had "sat on the sidelines as a complete heckler" when the Republican Legislature was passing the business receipts tax to balance the budget.

Asked by one of the 1,000 economic club members who heard the debate how he explained his statement that "we" balanced the budget, Williams made his first public disclosure of that theory.

He said that when he was elected in 1948, Sigler's controller told him new taxes would be needed and gave him a list of possibilities. One was the corporation profits tax, he said.

He said it took him two years to convince the Legislature the state needed more revenue. Then, he said, the Republicans advocated a series of "nuisance" taxes on soda pop, beer, hotel rooms and so forth.

He argued the 1953 election was fought on that issue and was a "draw," but he said the result was Republican passage of the business receipts tax.

"When I said 'we' balanced the budget, I was pretty accurate," the governor said. "The Republicans didn't end up with more excise and nuisance taxes and the governor didn't get his corporation profits tax. But we ended up with a tax which falls on profits and wages about equally."

Williams challenged Leonard to say whether Michigan had serious unemployment since the Republican won the national administration.

"Michigan," Williams said, "has been hurt more severely by Washington mistakes than most other states... we have felt more keenly the chill winds of Republican recession."

"Whatever may be said of fed-

Do We Have to Die?

Forty-three years ago in forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young journalist named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question.

A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange power that knowledge gives. That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide recognition. Forty-three years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near-blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back home to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his lifetime of travel throughout the world. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the world's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 43 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward this Power, that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9,000-word treatise. He says the time is here for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation to sincere readers of this notice. In addition he will give to each of them a 64-page book showing the astonishing events the world may soon expect, according to great prophecies.

For your free copy of both works, simply send a postcard or letter to The Institute of Mental Physics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. K707, Los Angeles 4, California.

ROK Army Chief Asks for More U.S. Arms

SEOUL — The chief of South Korea's armed forces today appealed to the United States for more arms to "keep the Communists from sweeping over Asia and then turning on America."

State Boy Held in $877 Robbery

Youth Arrested Going to New York Following Philly Bank Holdup

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — A 16-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., boy, said to be involved in the $877 robbery of a Philadelphia bank, was arrested last night as he attempted to drive through the Holland Tunnel in an effort to reach New York.

Police said Jerry Roberts told them he held up the Colonial Savings and Loan Assn. in Philadelphia yesterday and then hired a cab to drive him to New York.

The Roberts boy had $297 in his possession, along with a 6-inch knife and a .32 caliber revolver loaded with three shells.

He is the son of divorced parents and ran away from his home in Grand Rapids about a year ago, police said.

Police in Philadelphia said Jerry made his getaway in street crowds after staging the robbery, jumped into a cab driven by Irving Kretschmer, and asked to be taken to New York.

Kretschmer turned the boy over to relief driver Harry Cohen, who collected a $40 fare in advance and started for New York.

The cab's owner, Charles Jolly, saw the transaction. Later he heard details of the robbery and still later notified police.

Roberts told police he had been "bumming" around the country gradually working his way east.

He said his parents, Thomas and Barbara Roberts, had been divorced 11 years and he had not seen them in a year. He gave his mother's address as 446 Grand St., Grand Rapids.

U.S. Prague Embassy Working to Free GIs

FRANKFURT, Germany — The U.S. Embassy in Prague said today it is pushing negotiations for the release of two American soldiers seized by a Communist Czech patrol last Friday.

"We're still trying to get them released," an Embassy spokesman said. "We're always hopeful about these things. It's much too early to be pessimistic."

The two soldiers are Lt. Richard P. Dries of New York City and Pfc. George Pisk of Austin, Tex.

Fall Finds Broadway Full of Gals and Gaiety

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Very suddenly the giant of cities — New York — awake from its summer slumber.

Fall slipped in, and instantly the town's drowsy summer murmur became an exciting autumn roar. The New York night was filled with beautiful women, wealthy men, and a garrulous gaiety.

I was happy to be out in the city, hearing it throb.

From my favorite table — Table No. 7½ — at Sardi's, I saw the fall rush starting. Joyce Mathews, Billy Rose's doll-baby, was there wearing her pony tail.

"Where'd she get that pony tail?" somebody asked. "From a pony," somebody answered. Franchot Tone, Franchot Cohen.

Betty von Furstenberg and Ira Emerich were also sardined into Vincent Sardi's personal gold mine.

"What're you drinking?" somebody asked Franchot Cohen.

In a southern accent, he replied, "Cohen whisky!"

Maybe it was the fight crowd, or Gina Lollobrigida, or Marilyn Monroe, or Tallulah, who woke up the town. Tallulah's new show, "Dear Charles," brought out Terry Moore — beauless and with her mother — and gave us numerous laughs.

Tallulah was asked what a certain Englishman was doing in France.

"What do most Englishmen do in France?" Tallulah rumbled. "Very little during the day!"

And of some unpleasantly punctual guests, Tallulah snorted. "They don't even have the good manners to be late."

AVA GARDNER

Avr Gardner — here for "The Barefoot Contessa" — complained at the Drake that shoe manufacturers are always sending her shoes, although she always kicks off her shoes whenever possible. She asked a few friendly questions about Frank Sinatra, before retiring.

The Duchess of Kent glamorized El Morocco, and in all it was a night like only New York can stage. Some newspaper readers perhaps were relieved that Marilyn Monroe had departed.

However, these were mostly female people. A New Orleans oilman, Louis J. Roussel, asked me what I thought of Miss Monroe.

"She's got electricity," I said.

"Well . . ." he answered, "I'd like to be shocked."

Suspect Swallows Wad of Policy Slips

BALTIMORE — Sgt. Edwin Taylor testified that when Michael Farmer was arrested yesterday, the 62-year-old suspected numbers writer stuffed a wad of slips into his mouth and started chewing.

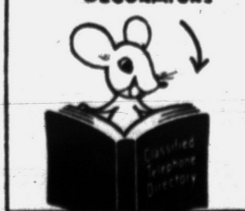

Taylor said he grabbed Farmer's cheek and warned him that if he kept chewing he might injure himself.

Farmer kept chewing and wound up at Johns Hopkins Hospital where he was treated for self-inflicted cuts on the side of the cheek.

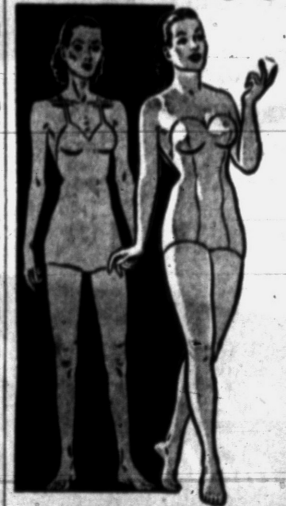

He failed to digest one of the slips, however, Taylor said it was restored chemically and showed numerals and cash amounts on it. Farmer was held for the grand jury in $2,500 bail.

Vice Foes Elect Young Doctor

Voters of Phenix City Choose Commissioner at Guarded Polls

By REX THOMAS

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — A YOUNG physician rode into office here yesterday in a City Commission election hailed by anti-vice crusaders as a roaring protest from the people against racketeer rule in Phenix City.

Dr. Clyde M. Knowles Jr., who had the support of the racket-busting Russell Betterment Assn., was elected to the three-man commission with a majority of almost 2 to 1 over the combined vote of four opponents.

Armed National Guard troops stood watch at each voting place throughout the day and escorted election officials to City Hall where the ballot boxes were turned in after the polls closed.

Gov. Gordon Persons ordered the guardsmen to police the voting places to prevent a recurrence of past elections which repeatedly brought complaints of wholesale ballot frauds.

Complete but unofficial returns gave Dr. Knowles 2,000 votes against a total of 1,250 for the other candidates.

Dr. Knowles is chief of staff at the city-owned Cobb Memorial Hospital.

The 32-year-old physician is a Korean War veteran.

He was the first doctor to examine the body of slain vice foe A.L. Patterson, whose assassination June 18 brought on the cleanup in Phenix City that led to the young physician's election.

While the voters were choosing a new commissioner, a vice-hunting Grand Jury returned to work after a two-week recess and resumed its inquiry into alleged widespread vote frauds in another election—the Democratic primary last May 4.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Grand Rapids Police Chief Dewey Baker Monday echoed the oft-spoken "spare the rod and spoil the child." Dewey, in a speech to a group of businessmen, said the passing of the woodshed where children once felt parental wrath has contributed to juvenile delinquency.

Rescued From Cave-in

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Harry Toy, 40, of Toledo, Ohio, was rescued by fellow workmen Monday after he was caught in a cave-in at the construction site of a new addition to the Grand Rapids Fisher Body plant. Police said Toy cupped his hands over his nose and mouth until workmen dug him out.

MILLION DOLLAR ERROR—Sgt. Robert G. Burdick, stationed with the 12th Marines, in Tokyo, Japan, was out of luck when he tried to cash this check. It was erroneously made out for $1,000,075 and also $75, depending on how one looked at it. Because it was half right and half wrong, the check was worthless. Burdick got the check from his mother.

South Africa Cuts Funds to All Missionary Schools

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Schoolbells in South Africa are tolling out the last days of church mission schools.

The missionary schools, which have educated black African children for more than a century, are headed for extinction under a new education law centralizing education of all natives under government control.

Church groups, both Protestant and Roman Catholic, have voiced strong protests to the new law. The churchmen are still in the dark as to the full scope of the legislation but insist it will mean inferior education for the natives. The opposition to Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's nationalist regime takes the same stand as the churches.

The new plan is part of Malan's apartheid (racial segregation) program. Black and white children never sat side by side in the mission schools, but the change is designed to put all native education in the hands of the Department of Native Affairs. Supporters of the law say its aim is to educate the native for his "proper role" in society. Its opponents say that means a permanent category of second-class citizens.

As a first step in the change-over, education subsidies to church groups are being reduced. Up to now these subsidies covered 100 per cent of the teachers' salaries plus an amount equivalent to rent on church-built schools.

The Rev. Spencer Hall, director of Anglican missions in one diocese told an opposition newspaper, the Johannesburg Star, that the decreased subsidy "is a process of slow strangulation." He said it would be impossible for the missionary bodies to furnish more money to make up the difference.

START TAKING O-JIB-WA NOW

Don't wait until rheumatism and arthritis becomes crippling, preventing you from fully enjoying life. O-JIB-WA BITTERS has proven to thousands of sufferers that there is help from such ailments as rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis and sciatica. Read how Mr. Ruthertford Mead, 1540 E. Hamilton Ave., Flint, found new health with O-JIB-WA BITTERS.

"Arthritis in my spine, back and legs had me crippled up for over five years and several times forced me to bed for days at a time. For a while I just couldn't do anything because the pains were so bad, and spent over five weeks laid up completely. I had to have help come in to take care of things, and frankly didn't have much to

Mr. R. Mead look forward to. One day I read in the newspaper about how O-JIB-WA BITTERS had helped others, so I decided to give it a trial. I took it a short time and quit, but realized after that I hadn't given it a chance. I started taking it again, and took it about a month before I saw much results, but at least I knew for sure that it was helping. Well, to make a long story short, I haven't had to use a cane for over four months now. I sleep like a log and get up feeling great. I take care of the house by myself and just recently painted my garage and parts of the house, which I would have thought impossible just a few months ago. I would say that I am about 75% better and get around fine for a man 77 years old. I certainly want to recommend O-JIB-WA BITTERS to everyone because of the good that it has done for me."

Life's Secrets

Science Studies Crabs' Mental Clocks to Get Better Understanding of Humans

Editor's Note — What makes some people wake up at the same time each morning? Is it the same sort of mental clock that makes fiddler crabs change color at a certain hour — even a continent from home — or oysters to open their shells at high tide? Experiments at a Massachusetts laboratory are trying to solve this mystery of time.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
WOODS HOLE, Mass. (U-P) — Mysterious "clocks" operating in living things are a challenge to some of the scientists at the Marine Biological Laboratory here.

Certain humans can "set mental clocks" to waken at a certain time of morning. How do their clocks work?

Many kinds of living things behave as though regulated by inner or biological clocks ticking off time with amazing accuracy.

Take fiddler crabs, the inch-long ones named because of their fiddle-like shape. They are being studied by Dr. Frank A. Brown Jr., Northwestern University, who spends his summers here.

At dawn or just before they turn dark in color, the better to run on dark beaches where they live. At night they turn pearly gray in color. Is it just a response to sunlight or lack of it?

No, Dr. Brown finds, for if the crabs are kept in a photographic dark room, under a steady amount of light and temperature, they will still change color at dawn and dusk, telling time as well as a man-made clock.

The crabs respond to tides, too, turning darkest at low tide. Even in the closed room they will change color according to actual high and low tides on the beaches where they once lived. They are perfect tide charts.

Fiddler crabs from two different beaches, where the times of high or low tides are different, will obey the tide chart for their own beaches, though living far from home.

Is their biological clock something which is built-in, running at constant speed according to metabolism or the speed of their life cycles? Or is it governed by physical forces connected with the earth's rotation, perhaps by some force which man doesn't yet know can affect living things?

Dr. Brown subjected the crabs to different degrees of temperature. An astonishing thing happened if he chilled them down to near freezing for six hours, then warmed them up again. The chilling stopped their clocks for six hours. When they were warmed up again, they began following the same cycles of regular change—but now they were nearly six hours slow!

That makes it look as though their clocks are built inside.

Oysters show a similar kind of rhythm, opening their shells the most at high tide. New Haven oysters shipped to Evanston, Ill., opened most for a couple of weeks at the time of high tide in the New Haven area. Later they slipped out of the New Haven tidal time, and became influenced by Evanston lunar time.

Rhythms and cycles are observed in many kinds of human behavior, even in economic cycles. Mental patients are reported to show swings of improvement or worsening with phases of the moon. Is it really the moon affecting them? Do the rhythms in human behavior have any connection with biological clocks of some kind? If so, how do they operate, how are they controlled?

The studies of clocks in crabs and other animals can lead to answers.

Could the answers show man how to gain new controls over his own life, perhaps by developing powers which he once had or is only dimly aware of? That is speculation which must await more scientific findings about biological clocks.

WASHINGTON (U-P) — The last of eight National Guard divisions called to the colors in the Korean emergency will be formally retired from federal service in three months.

The Army announced yesterday that it will return the name and colors of the 47th Division to Minnesota and North Dakota in December.

Deactivation of the 47th will cut Army strength to 17 combat divisions, three below the 20 in service during the Korean War.

Red China and U. N.

From the American viewpoint the best news about the U. N. Assembly's ninth session is that efforts to make Red China a member will fail again.

This issue, the ousting of Nationalist China and seating of the Communists, has been a burning one for nearly five years. Not only has it come up on 150 occasions, but it was expected to be called up again even before a successor to the Assembly president, Madame PANDIT of India could be elected.

From the outset our Government has been staunchly opposed to the admission of the Peiping government. As a result of the Indochina truce, Communist attacks on ours and allied planes and mistreatment of three Americans just released by the Reds, public opinion here is more hostile than ever.

The truth is that as far as this country is concerned, admission of Red China is more nearly a political impossibility now than it ever was. Fortunately for us our strongest ally, Great Britain, realizes this. As a result the British, though inclined to favor admission, aren't for it now.

This has led to a widespread belief at U. N. headquarters that one of the first actions of the Assembly will be a quick decision to postpone the Red China issue for at least a year.

Talk in U. N. circles is that this decision will be based on Red China's record. In American eyes that record stamps Communist China beyond the pale of civilized Nations.

GOP Campaign Assets

In his Dondero Day address, House Speaker MARTIN dealt in some detail with what we believe are the GOP's greatest campaign assets.

Speaker MARTIN, first holder of that office to visit Michigan in nearly 90 years, began by paying high tribute to the Royal Oak lawmaker's work for the St. Lawrence Waterway.

Then he returned to the Administration's fine record of cutting the budget $13 billion, granting tax relief of $7.4 billion and further progress in the fight against home front Communists.

So far 2,486 security risks have been separated from the Federal payroll, 93 have been deported and 127 denied U. S. entry because of Communist ties. Besides all this, 62 Communist front groups have been added to the list of organizations designated by the Attorney General as subversive.

Far more important, in our opinion, are the six new legal weapons against the Communist Party forged by the 83rd Congress at the request of the Administration. Speaker MARTIN reminded his audience that these not only outlaw the party, but permit revoking citizenship of those convicted of conspiracy to overthrow the Government.

Others provide the death penalty for peacetime espionage, that Communist printing equipment must be registered and that Federal pensions be denied persons convicted of espionage or treason.

Finally, provision is made for the granting of immunity to those who otherwise would invoke the Fifth Amendment to avoid self-incrimination.

Voters remembering these achievements will have no trouble deciding which party has the better record of fighting homefront subversion. That record, the budget slash and the tax relief stand out in our book as the GOP's greatest campaign assets.

Russians Worry Indonesia

News from Jakarta reveals mounting concern over the size of the embassy the Russians say they will establish in the Indonesian capital.

A recent communication from Moscow reportedly notified Jakarta that the Russians would require 40 buildings to house the staff of their embassy which will number 30 to 60.

Indonesia's second deputy premier, ZAINUL ARIFIN, seems to be voicing his government's uneasiness when he objected to the Russian plan. A staff of such size, he said, would violate the principle of reciprocity in this matter agreed upon by the two powers. There are only seven persons on the staff of Indonesia's new embassy in Moscow.

On the record the Indonesians have ample reason to worry over Russian intentions. It is standard Soviet practice to fill its embassies with oversized staffs much of whose effort is devoted to carefully organized espionage.

Ordinary common sense dictates that the young republic's government be on guard against similar operations in Jakarta.

We wish the breeders who have developed a turkey that is practically all white meat would now turn their talents to developing a chicken with four livers and six wishbones.

ANOTHER gadget that would find a ready market would be a periscope with rose-colored lenses for seeing over the eight-ball.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Coffee, Tea and Colas Not Harmful to Adults If Amounts Are Reasonable

Joseph wonders if it is wrong to drink coffee or tea? And what about the danger of taking aspirin tablets? Well, these are common worries of Americans, so scrapbook this case today and also include the followup tomorrow concerning religious taboos about certain foods.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case M-326: Joseph B., aged 17, is a high school senior in Utah. "Dr. Crane, we Mormons do not drink coffee or tea, or even the cola beverages, which contain caffeine," he began.

"Since you are both a physician and also a psychologist, could you please tell us how these things affect the body?" "We have been discussing this topic in our hygiene class. And what about aspirin?"

Coffee and the other caffeine beverages which Joseph mentions, have no significant ill effects on adults, if consumed in reasonable amounts.

But they lack the minerals and vitamins found in milk, so it is far wiser to urge children to consume milk.

Caffeine is mildly stimulating in its effect. And this is one reason why so many adults use it for a morning pep-upper.

They need their coffee to perk up their sluggish system. For the caffeine therein stimulates heart action. And our morning blood pressure is usually lower, so we crave a fast pick-up.

Caffeine, in large amounts, also is a factor in excess secretion of acid in the gastric juice. Thus, people with peptic ulcers or heartburn may find their pain relieved by omitting coffee and the cola drinks.

Since caffeine also perks up the nervous system, it stimulates the addict to greater activity.

But if he is already a nervous, high strung person, or a youngster who is bubbling over with unexpended energy, then the coffee may make him ultra nervous, jittery and critical.

"Dr. Crane, is coffee fattening?" many people ask.

The answer is, "No, if you don't put cream or sugar in it."

The same is true of tea. Soft drinks and the cola beverages contain sweetening, so they count about 100 calories per 8-ounce bottle.

"What about aspirin? Is it dangerous?" you may also inquire.

Apparently it is not harmful to liver, heart or kidneys, even in big and prolonged doses.

For children with rheumatic heart disease have been given 20 aspirin tablets per day for weeks or months without any evident damage to their bodily organs.

"How do you know there is no damage?" you may wonder.

Well, after the patient dies, the pathologist performs an autopsy on the organs. These are sliced and examined under a microscope.

If there were any chemical damage, it would show up in scar tissue in the liver, kidneys, etc., to replace the normal cells of those organs.

So aspirin is apparently an innocent but helpful pain killer. But it doesn't remove the causes of the pain, so don't dope up chronically with aspirin to kill your headache. Have your eyes checked to find the cause.

If it is astigmatism or improperly fitted lenses, then remedy the cause and the headaches will subside.

Once in a blue moon, of course, we find some person who is allergic to aspirin and who then breaks out in a rash.

But such allergies exist among human beings with reference to almost every conceivable substance, for certain people are allergic to strawberries.

Others are allergic to peanuts or chocolate or wheat or tomatoes, etc. Such allergies are not of a fatal nature, so stay away from your bugaboo if you find it disagrees with you.

City Official Says Health Departments Publicize Rabies to Get More Money

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
 In an article prepared by a physician for publication in the newspapers we read:

"Once the symptoms (of rabies or hydrophobia) 'begin, it's incurable. But it's an almost completely preventable disease — if you care enough to back up the health authorities. . . . The outbreak of rabies in Chicago and Los Angeles dogs recently illustrates the lurking menace. . . ."

I don't know about Chicago — last bulletin received from that stricken community described the heroic headline hunter, the perennial health administrator, patrolling the back streets and alleys in quest of some unidentified person at large who had possibly been licked by a dog that later fell victim to health department rabies. The headlines on that story flashed clear across the top of the front page.

In the Los Angeles area it appears that several persons have "faced Pasteur treatment" unless some stray dog reported to the health department, or something of the sort, but all's well with dogs and folks.

Chicago and Los Angeles fairly

David Lawrence Says:

McMahon-Teller Meeting Vital to H-Bomb Project

WASHINGTON—How the United States almost lost the hydrogen bomb and how Soviet Russia might have been away ahead today in the production of superatoms if it were not for the determination of Dr. Edwin Teller, the noted scientist, is told in a new book which tells also how important it is for the chairman of a Senate committee not to be denied important information even of a secret character, by an executive agency of the government.

James R. Shepley, head of the Washington bureau of Time Magazine, and his associate in the bureau, Clay Blair Jr., have revealed much unpublished data in their book which has just been published in part in a copyrighted article in U. S. News & World Report, with the permission of the book publishers, the David McKay Co. of New York.

For the first time the detailed narrative of how J. Robert Oppenheimer sought by various means to stop the building of the H-bomb is set forth, together with the dramatic facts concerning the heroic part played in that struggle behind the scenes by the late Senator Brian McMahon, Democrat, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

Indeed if it had not been for Senator McMahon's defiance of the obstructive tactics encountered among the scientists working for the Atomic Energy Commission and particularly those of Dr. Oppenheimer, who had a tremendous influence over his fellow scientists, it is doubtful whether as much progress with the superatoms would have been made in a critical period in American history.

The Atomic Energy Commission itself in 1949 stood 3 to 2 against developing the H-bomb. The General Advisory Committee of Scientists met on October 29 of that year and recommended against building the H-bomb.

Dr. Teller, now known as the father of the H-bomb, was the key man on whom Senator McMahon and Lewis Strauss, now chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission but then in the minority on the commission, depended for scientific advice. The Shepley-Blair book, which will be published on September 30, says at this point:

"McMahon urged Teller to fly east immediately to help the proponents of the H-bomb meet the statistically powerful arguments of the nearly unanimous General Advisory Committee. Teller agreed and hurried to Albuquerque to take a plane east. He went via Chicago, stopped briefly to try to persuade his old friend, General Advisory Committee member (Enrico) Fermi to support the H-bomb. Fermi was cool, refused to tell Teller of the contents of the General Advisory Committee report.

While he was in Fermi's office, Dr. John Manley, associate director of Los Alamos (and, as such, Teller's boss) and secretary of the General Advisory Committee, telephoned him. Manley was in Washington. He insisted that Teller drop his plan to see McMahon.

"Teller asked his reason, and Manley replied that it was important that the scientists maintain a united front against the H-bomb. It would be unfortunate, Manley argued, if the powerful Senate committee chairman got the impression that there was a division of opinion among the scientists. He insisted that Teller should not come to Washington.

"I am willing to call Senator McMahon," said Teller, "and tell him that I have been asked not to see him for that reason I would not see him."

"All right," snapped Manley, "you better go ahead and see him."

The reader can imagine what kind of answer Dr. Teller would have gotten if the Senate of the United States had formally proclaimed that the chairman of any Senate committee must be censured if he appeals to employees of the executive agencies of the government to come privately to chairmen of committees specifically authorized by law to investigate governmental operations of all kinds and tell them the truth — whether or not it embraced secret information.

The McMahon-Teller relationship is the most convincing rebuttal that could be revealed at this time to those who argue, in effect that Congress is a secondary or subordinate institution and not a co-ordinate or equal part of the United States government.

On the record as revealed, did Senator McMahon encroach on the executive branch, or did he invite cooperation from executive employees?

No law and no executive order prevents the transmission of information by executive employees to members of Congress if it's the intent not to injure but to help the United States. This is the spirit as well as the letter of the law governing relations of the personnel of the two branches of government. Dr. Teller and Senator McMahon observed both.

 Must concede the rockfall at Niagara was a tough way of cracking an oyster.

But no more corrugated than getting European nations to go for anything they didn't think of themselves.

If there's a universal parallel of agreement in the old country it must be the Dior flat look to the last cake we baked at Bonn.

EDC lost its non-refillable water-wings by a French vote of 319-264 with Whistler's mother abstaining.

That's as final as the last stitch through a sailor's nose.

Churchill knew all along that EDC was a porcelain egg immune to mother love or an incubator. Twenty-five years ago he said France predicated its policies against the inevitability of German retaliation.

No French premier would whistle going past a churchyard for fear of starting a dust. This would be an ideal world if milk and butter stayed sweet as long as revenge.

We promise ourselves not to mention EDC again. But it was a nice slide on a rug.

Naval Reserve Tests Planned

High School Seniors Are Eligible to Apply for Examination

The ninth annual competitive examination for high school seniors who wish to attend college under the Naval Reserve Training Corps program, will be held nationally Dec. 11.

Applications for NROTC are now available but must be received by Nov. 20, according to an announcement today by the U.S. Navy Recruiting Station and Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Federal Bldg., Detroit.

About 1,800 successful candidates will start their naval careers in colleges and universities across the country in 1935, with financial assistance from the government.

After a normal college education, graduates will be commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps for active duty.

Male citizens between 17 and 21 years of age are eligible to apply for the aptitude test, and those who pass will be given a physical examination in February. Those who come out with NROTC scholarships will be sent to the college of their choice.

Students in NROTC will spend their summers on training cruises with the Fleet and will receive $600 annual retainer pay until commissioned.

In addition to normal college curriculum, the midshipmen will study a planned course in Naval science. Tuition, fees and books will be furnished by the Navy.

Applications are now available at all high schools, colleges and U.S. Navy Recruiting Stations, or direct from Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington 25, D.C.

Mistake in Gas Bill Elates Chip Factory

DES MOINES (AP)—There was joy in the big potato chip firm here when the first oven-heating bill came in after conversion from oil to gas. The fuel expense had been running about $300 a month; the first gas bill was $30 a month.

It went along this way for some months. Then the gas company called to explain:

For almost a year the gas meters in the chips plant had been misread; hundreds of units had been calculated in place of thousands. Would the chips firm please adjust to the tune of about $3,000.

The U. S. produces five times as many tons of coal as tons of steel.

Navy Assigns New Recruiter

William J. Borer Back in Home Town to Help Enlist Sailors

A "home town" boy, who left Pontiac in 1943 and since then has seen a good deal of sea travel in all parts of the world, returned last week as a recruiter for the
U. S. Navy in the Pontiac area.
William John Borer, SHC, 29, a former St. Michael High School student, joined the recruiting staff last week, and is living with his wife, Doris E., and daughter, Beverly Ann, 2, at 1125 Dover Rd.

Borer enlisted in 1943 and took his "boot" training at Camp
Perry, Va. He served in the Pacific Theater of Operations for two years with the Sea Bee's 3rd Construction Battalion, in the Solomon, Marshall and Gilbert Island groups.

Since World War II Borer has been on sea duty aboard the USS William R. Rush, a destroyer in the Atlantic and Korean waters for seven years, and put two more years aboard a destroyer-tender, the USS Yosemite in the Atlantic.

Among Borer's decorations are a presidential unit citation, a navy letter of commendation, and the more recent Korean commendation ribbon. This is Borer's first recruiting assignment.

Michigan Publisher T. O. Huckle Dies

CADILLAC (AP)—Thomas Oliver Huckle, onetime newsboy and printer's devil who became one of Michigan's elder publishers, died last night.

Huckle, president and editor of the Cadillac Evening News, died at Mercy Hospital after a long illness.
He would have been 73 years old
Sept. 30.

Despite an illness which tended to cripple him, Huckle was active almost up to the last. He worked from his hospital bed.

A bone ailment had hospitalized Huckle in Detroit and Cadillac since August of 1953.
He was injured last year when hit by a car in Detroit.

The British-born Huckle devoted his entire career to newspapers in Michigan. He came to the U.S. as a boy. The family, original Londoners, settled in St. Clair. His first job was as a newsboy in Port Huron.

Since 1926 Huckle had headed the paper here. In that year he bought the old Cadillac News and Express.

Before that, he was a publisher in Reed City. He was also a co-publisher with George C. Handy of the Ypsilanti Daily Press. He acquired an interest in the Coldwater
Daily Reporter in 1942.

Birds Pounce on Wire, Make the Lights Flicker

ROWLEY, Mass. (AP)—The trouble
Russell Worthy has with house lights since the recent hurricanes is strictly from the birds.
"Hundreds of starlings are using the electric line as their favorite roosting place," he said yesterday.

"The wire sags under their weight and every time they pounce on it, the lights flicker and dim through the house."

Soft-Hearted Policeman Puts Nickel in Meter

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A policeman, with a soft heart, started to write an overtime parking ticket here yesterday, then took another look at the driver, obviously fagged out and asleep at the wheel.

He put his pencil in his pocket, took out a nickel, inserted in the meter and walked away.
The driver snoozed on.

About 85 per cent of the electric-

Reds Complete Return of 4,023 Allied Bodies

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists today completed the return of 4,023 Allied war dead buried north of the battle line. Included were 1,869 Americans.
The U.N. Command has returned

9,300 North Korean and Chinese bodies and will deliver 400 daily until 14,061 have been returned, a spokesman said.

GULF'S COMPLETELY NEW AND DIFFERENT GASOLINE...

ACTUALLY MAKES CARS PERFORM BETTER THAN NEW...

AFTER 15,000 MILES!

NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX

HIGHER-THAN-NEW HORSEPOWER! BETTER-THAN-NEW ON GASOLINE MILEAGE! AND NOT A SINGLE TRACE OF CARBON KNOCK OR PRE-IGNITION AT ANY TIME—EVEN ON THE STEEPEST MOUNTAIN GRADES!

Instead of trying to fight trouble-making deposits with so-called "miracle-additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place. That's why Gulf, in making new Super-Refined NO-NOX, refines out the carbon-forming, "dirty-burning tail-end"—more than a cupful in every gallon. Just look at the plates the Gulf scientist is holding in the unretouched photo above, and see what a difference Gulf super refining makes!

Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result: a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power . . . free from knock or pre-ignition.

Starting with your first tankful, this new, super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

► More complete engine protection than the so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines. Why? Because Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline, the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines—and then treats this new Super-Refined NO-NOX to give it a complete range of protective properties. It protects every part it touches against harmful deposits—carbon, rust, gum.

► Extra gas mileage. Why? Because new

NO-NOX is specially blended for the short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

► No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's super-compression engines. Why? Because the anti-knock power of new NO-NOX has been stepped up to an all-time high.

► Stall-proof smoothness—no more worries about carburetor icing in chilly weather, or vapor lock on warm days. Instant starts, too—and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

That's why new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you more power-with-protection than you've ever known.

Lacy Iron Gadgets Beautify Bathroom

Expanded metal, the iron made in a mesh-like form, has moved into the bathroom as well as to the living room. One manufacturer is offering a line of black expanded metal hampers, wastebaskets, tissue holders and wall shelves. It's called "Chantilly," and does look something like black lace. The black is lined with white, pink, blue or yellow, and the manufacturer is planning a companion line in chocolate brown iron with beige lining.

Wait for Dry Day

Apply all wood finishes in dry, nonhumid weather. Finishes—paint, lacquer, enamel, varnish or shellac—come out best when the woodwork is treated with an undercoat. Shellac ordinarily dries dust-free in 10 minutes. But for most desirable results allow at least three hours between first and second coats.

Let Friends Know You Are Coming

Invite Them to Be Your Guests Where You Are Staying

By EMILY POST

A wife writes: "My husband and I are taking a cross-country trip by car and will pass through certain cities in which we have friends. Most of them we haven't seen in years; some we have been out of touch with. I think it would be a splendid opportunity to renew these old friendships. To try and avoid missing them when we're in their towns, could we write on and give them some idea of when we expect to come through. Would this obligate them to anything?"

No that you will not obligate them to anything, the best thing would be to telephone them when you get in their city and invite them to come to see you or have lunch or dinner with you wherever you are staying.

Dear Mrs. Post: When traveling a long distance on a bus next to someone who is a stranger, is it improper to start a conversation—particularly if between a man and woman?

If it is really a long distance, I think it would be quite proper. It would be better if the woman started the conversation.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a woman in the late forties, have never been married, nor engaged. I always have wanted a diamond ring to wear and now I am going to buy one for myself. My question is this: Could I be criticized if I wear the ring on my left hand? I would prefer to wear it there as my right hand is my "work" hand and I can never feel quite comfortable with a ring on that hand.

There is no reason why you should not buy the ring you'd like and wear it. The fact that it may be taken for an engagement ring is no one's concern but yours.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if, when giving a gift to a man, it is wrong to put ribbon on the package? My fiancé's birthday is next week and I would like to make the package look as attractive as possible, but don't want to do anything "silly."

Answer: Certainly tie it up with ribbon but don't make it too fancy with bows and bows and bows!

Freezer Eases Job of Preserving Fruit

If you own a home freezer, your fruit preserving job will be easier. Jelly-making fruits may be frozen without sugar. The freezing and thawing softens the fruit, releases the juice and also causes the fruit color to dissolve in the juice.

Then it's not necessary to heat juicy berries to extract juice. They can simply be crushed or pressed.

Many other frozen fruits need only the minimum of heating to extract juices. Generally, pectin needs to be added to fruit juice that has not been heated to make sure that it jells.

For House Plants

Want potted plants in the house this winter? Cuttings of such soft wood plants as geranium, coleus and begonia can be rooted in early fall. Use a sand box and keep it moist but not soaked. Transplant after the roots form, in about six weeks.

Miss O. L.—Low contoured self-belts, many dresses unbelted, others with wide belts giving illusion of lower waist—It's a question of every figure keeping that low creased waistline in proportion to size and height.

Brush briskly for a few moments with a good stiff brush—this is valuable hint for beautiful hair. For best results choose a brush with natural bristles. Be sure to brush from the roots out so the hair preparation you use is evenly distributed.

Back-dipping and yoke effects give a long torso appearance but do not cut height. Keep your middy top short.

Stick-on Veneer Covers Plywood

SEATTLE, Wash. (INS) — Ever wonder what to do about the unattractive end-grain in a plywood table or cabinet? There's always been one answer — elbow grease and wood dough.

But now a Seattle firm has come up with a new boon to the do-it-yourself craftsman — a finishing material for plywood edges that goes on as easily as a band-aid.

It's a paper-thin slice of veneer three-quarters of an inch wide and as long as you want it. The stuff is made in fir, birch, walnut, oak and Philippine mahogany. You buy it at any retail lumber yard.

Dieting Woman Spoils Fine Dinner for Others

The other night I went to a beautiful dinner. All the food I like best to eat was served. The talk was superb—most of it. Yet I had a miserable time, simply because of a horrid woman who is on a diet and insisted on telling about it.

The result was that with every mouthful I felt guiltier and guiltier and finally gave up when the soufflé came on and that detestable woman estimated the calories in even an infinitesimal slice of its rich chocolate deliciousness. So I am as bitter as reader Grace Pears of Houston, Tex.

"Every so often we have a dinner party," she writes. "I like to cook and I like to have my friends enjoy the food I prepare. Our table is always as pretty to look at as the food is good to eat."

"At our most recent party the guests consisted of men and women, both fats and leans. The meal was a delicious one, if I do say it as shouldn't, and for dessert I'd made a luscious lemon pie and a delectable cake heaped high with smooth frosting.

"The guest who was the impetus of the party is a man who travels constantly. It is a joy to cook for him for he really appreciates home food. But one of our other guests was a woman on a diet, and two others present were leaning that way.

"So our fine dinner, prepared with such joy, became a nibbling contest between the dieter and the near dieters, with the rest compelled to eat half what they would normally because they felt so guilty enjoying their food. When the dessert came, one piece of my heavenly pie was eaten—and that by me, darn it! The cake was barely tasted. Even the guest of honor contented himself with one helping of everything, though he usually comes back for more. He was cowed, that's all, by the way everybody else stopped eating.

"Gan't people learn to be kind? If they are invited out for a dinner, couldn't they live on toothpicks and ice water the rest of the day and then keep still and allow others the privilege of enjoying the food that has been so happily prepared for them?"

I say hurrah for Mrs. Pears! I'm a dieter rife with good intentions myself and I'd willingly go on toothpicks and ice water for two days before a really good butter-and-cream home-cooked meal.

The only alternative to that is to refuse the invitation, I believe.

As Mrs. Pears says, there's nothing that so ruins one's enjoyment of a good meal as somebody disdaining the mashed potatoes or shirking for salad with no dressing.

As a matter of fact I'm convinced that dieters ought to avoid meal-time contact with non-dieters. They do better eating solitary or in the company of other dieters. People on diets don't want to talk about anything else, and the only people who are interested in diets are dieters. Yet the silliest (I'm told—this I'll probably never know from actual experience) feels like a gross gourmandize when the dieter delicately picks.

Plan Party and Stick to Schedule

Suggestions Given for Farewell Party for Boyfriend

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: My boyfriend is leaving for the service in a few weeks, so we are planning a party for him, about 20 of us. We thought we'd have it a 'come as you are' party."

"But what kind of entertainment can we plan, or should we just let things take their course. And what about a gift? Should we all bring separate things, or go together on one bigger one? What about food? We haven't much money to spend. We need your help badly, please!"

Sounds like fun, planning a farewell party he'll long remember. If you can count on screwball costumes, your "come as you are" idea would be amusing. But if no one will dare wear hip boots, pajamas, hair curlers or disreputable levis, you can dress up a bit and give him a pretty memory to keep.

Your party can dissolve or get out of hand, if you let things take their course. Better to plan it to the last detail and stick to schedule.

The gifting can be a real stunt if you'll all bring separate things. Have a slight conference with his mother, and find out just what your boyfriend can take with him. Pass the list around. And to it you might add pads of writing paper, packets of envelopes both plain and air mail, books of stamps, a little accordion picture frame for snapshots, a magazine subscription, socks in the right color and size, handkerchiefs, pen and pencil address book. I could go on and on.

The stunt is to assemble all the packages ahead of time, and hide them all over the place. A jingle will give the guest of honor a clue to the hiding place of each gift. A real treasure hunt that will keep him and the rest of you occupied for some time.

The rest of the evening can be spent at one or another of the stunts and games in my PARTY BOOK, which I'm rushing off to you. In it you'll find some partner finders and mixers, in case you want to dance, too.

And there's an idea for a sundae bar if your gang has a very sweet tooth. If you've all spent many happy moments together in the local ice cream emporium, it might be fun to make a real thing of mixing your own for a change.

To top it all off, have someone take flashlight pictures of the gang as a permanent record of this big evening for your boyfriend to take away with him.

Anyone else who'd like a copy of my free PARTY BOOK is welcome to have it. Just write me for it, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Everything is in readiness for the tea to be given Wednesday for St. Elizabeth Home. Getting together Monday at "Westview," the home of Mrs. Otto Kern, were (left to right) Mrs. James Q. Goudie of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Ralph Polk of Lone Pine road, Mrs. T. Curtis McKenzie of Lahser road and Sister Mary Tresa of St. Elizabeth Home. Sponsors of the tea to be held at "Westview" are members of the Briarbank Society.

Women's Club Hears State Officer at Luncheon Meeting Held Monday

Mrs. C. E. Walker, first vice president of State Federation of Women's Clubs was guest speaker at the opening meeting of the year for Pontiac Women's Club.

The luncheon meeting was held Monday in Bethany Baptist Church. "Challenges Await Us" was the title of Mrs. Walker's talk in which she gave a report of the annual convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs held at Denver, Colo.

She told of the projects undertaken by the various clubs. During a question and answer period Mrs. Walker emphasized the work being done by the state federation in behalf of the Girls Town Foundation.

Assisting Mrs. W. E. Blynn as program chairman for the day were Mrs. R. J. Boynton, Mrs. H. F. Simmons, Mrs. Ira Alvin and Mrs. P. C. Miles.

The club's past presidents were honored. Mrs. Forrest E. Brown reported on a meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Ray Falk reported on a meeting of the Oakland County Historical Association. This meeting was called to discuss the restoration of the Wigner home. Mrs. Falk reported.

Plans for the coming year included a discussion of arrangements to help support the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Clifford Steffey was luncheon chairman assisted by Mrs. Arthur Compton, Mrs. William Kalwitz, Mrs. H. G. Lusty, Mrs. Leonard McKinley and Mrs. Barney McKevitt.

Mrs. Grace Shultz of State avenue (center) and Mrs. Maude Place of North Saginaw street (right) heard a preview of the talk planned by Cong. George A. Dondero (left) for the silver tea given by the Pontiac Republican Women's Club Monday afternoon in Mrs. Place's home.

Dondero Addresses Republican Women

Cong. George A. Dondero was a special guest speaker at the silver tea held by Pontiac Republican Women's Club Monday afternoon. The North Saginaw street home of Mrs. Maude Place was the setting for the tea.

Highlighting Mr. Dondero's talk were comments on the recent cut in income taxes and improvement in social security benefits. He said that 1953 was the most prosperous year in United States history.

Mr. Dondero paid tribute to Ernest Rothwaite for his outstanding work in the community.

Registration and the privilege of voting were the topics of a talk by Lynn Allen, county clerk. Frank Irons, candidate for sheriff gave a brief talk on juvenile delinquency prevention.

Leslie Dean, acting postmaster and Mrs. Dean were also introduced to the group.

Mrs. William Kennedy told of another tea to honor Cong. and Mrs. Dondero on Oct. 11 in Hotel Waldron.

Presiding at the silver service for tea were Mrs. Dondero, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Irons and Mrs. Allen. Mrs. Duncan McVean and Mrs. George Brown greeted the guests and special guests were introduced by Mrs. Elsie Patten.

Make a Fall Coat Rack

It is hard to realize that summer is over and we all will be wearing wraps. Whether you live in a warm section or in a cold one, it is a good idea to have a regular place for play and school coats and sweaters.

How about making a rack for the back hall or for the back porch which will be a regular place for you to hang your things? I am sure that mother would appreciate your having a certain place for your wraps, and you will not mind hanging them up when you come inside if you have a regular place for them. You will need four pieces of lumber for the rack. Dad will need to help some of you younger Try-Iters. Use 3 by 4 material, and look at the drawing to see how the top board is a little longer than the bottom one. The two side boards are the same length. Screw the boards together, letting the side lengths go towards the middle. Bore holes for wooden dowel rod hooks. Sand them and paint or stain. Put your name on, too!

This rack can be made in any size, depending on the lumber that you have on hand. You can make a long one and have the names of all the family over their hooks.

Use Mirror Magic

If you like big groupings of little pictures on your wall — and don't have enough pictures — use small framed mirrors as part of the grouping. Mirrors and pictures of different sizes and in different frames can be very effective in groups of 10 or 12 or more. You can add variety by choosing different shades of tinted glass for the mirrors.

She's 35, a Mother, and Going to College

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Sometimes people get more out of going to college in their thirties or forties than they ever would have if they had gone in their teens. Take Mrs. T., for example.

When I first met Mrs. T., she was thirty-five years old, happily married and the mother of two school-age children. Her husband was doing well in his work, and they had a part time maid.

"I have time on my hands," she told me, "and a general feeling of dissatisfaction with my life. I know that's awful, because I have so much, really, to be grateful for—but still I feel blue and discontent."

Mrs. T. had looked around for some kind of part time job, but with no luck.

"I never went to college," she told me, "and for most of the jobs I want, a college degree is necessary."

Mrs. T. loved the personnel field, but with no psychology courses and no college, she couldn't get her foot in the door. Actually, there are many people in personnel who haven't their degree, but Mrs. T. was convinced that her lack of college was a great drawback — and therefore, for her, it was.

At my suggestion, she brought her husband in, and the three of us discussed it. It was immediately apparent that Mrs. T. felt stymied not only job-wise, but socially as well, because of her lack of college. "Now that I'm moving ahead," her husband said thoughtfully, "she really does kind of sell herself short. Most of the company wives have degrees, and I know that my wife feels ashamed. Now, I think it's a lot of nonsense—she knows plenty, and college isn't everything. But if Mary feels that way."

The long and short of it is that Mrs. T. entered college, then and there. She arranged her schedule so she's away when her own children are in school, and it doesn't inconvenience the family. And she loves it.

"I'm learning so much, and so fast!" she announced. "I bet I never would have done so well fifteen years ago—I would have wasted time. But now, I really want this, so I'm giving it everything I've got! And the children think it's terribly funny—Mommy goes to school along with them."

You can keep a broom from sliding when placed against the wall by cutting a hole in a small hollow rubber ball and forcing the top of the broom handle into the hole. The broom won't fall and it won't leave marks, either.

Neapolitan Casserole a Quick Treat

Cheese and Egg Stretch Ham Dish of Mrs. Harry Aten

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
If you have a cup of meat left from Sunday's baked ham, use it to make this delicious casserole dish. Neapolitan Ham — Mrs. Harry Aten, today's contributor, says this is a favorite second-day dish.

Long interested in activities connected with bettering community life, Mrs. Aten is chairman of the county council of the League of Women Voters. She is active in the local chapter of the League also. Her church group and the Wing Lake PTA count on her interest and support for their programs.

NEAPOLITAN HAM

By Mrs. Harry Aten

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
1 cup cooked chopped ham
1 hard cooked egg sliced
1/2 cup cooked mushrooms
1/2 cup grated cheese

Blend butter and flour, add milk and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add seasonings, ham and egg. Pour into buttered shallow baking dish and top with mushrooms. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake or broil 15 minutes or until top is well browned. Serve in dish in which it is baked.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORY
GOING TO PRESS NOW!

If you want any change in your regular free listing, please call the telephone business office now.

You'll want to think about extra listings too. They're inexpensive; but they make the Telephone Directory serve you in many more ways, at home or in business.

For instance—

Should someone else in your household be listed as well as you? An inexpensive extra listing will show the name in proper alphabetical order. Do you want to catch business "Night, Sunday & Holiday" calls? An extra listing will do it for you.

Does alphabetical arrangement separate your listings for home and business? If you want your business telephone shown at the same spot as your residence number, an extra listing will do it for you.

Should your salesmen or business associates be listed with your business telephone number? It's easy to arrange for the inexpensive extra listings which will do this.

Extra listings cost only 25 cents a month. To arrange for such listings, call our telephone business office now. You'll find they pay for themselves many times over.

IF YOU SELL A PRODUCT OR A SERVICE...

make sure your message is in the YELLOW PAGES of the new Telephone Directory. Nine out of ten people use the YELLOW PAGES regularly, and these prospects for your product or service look for your message when they are ready to buy. If you haven't already arranged for your advertising in the new YELLOW PAGES—call the telephone business office today.

Water Ghosts Haunt Chiang

Boats of Red Frogmen Raid Nationalist Isles, Kidnap Sentries

TAIPEH, Formosa (U)—Sentries on Nationalist islands, off the Chinese Communist mainland are seeing ghosts these nights—Red ones. "Water ghosts" is the name the Nationalists have given them. The United States calls them "frogmen." They are strong swimmers who raid by night.

The water ghosts usually choose a dark night to visit the islands. Their job is to abduct Nationalist soldiers for intelligence purposes.

A qualified official source says they operate this way: eight to 10 of them, their faces painted to make them look like visitors from the nether world, approach an island by boat.

Some distance away, they swim quietly ashore, pounce upon a sentry, stifle his outcries, knock him unconscious and swim back with him to the boat.

The raiders carry only light arms and rarely are successful. But the Communists pulled one successful foray last month on Quemoy, Nationalist held island only seven miles from the mainland.

Red propaganda made it appear an invading army had landed on Quemoy. Here is the Nationalist version of the episode:

Eight water ghosts landed on the northwestern tip of Quemoy, and decamped with a Nationalist soldier.

As they were pulling away in their boat, Nationalist troops ashore opened fire. As the night was dark, they could not tell whether they had inflicted any casualties. The water ghosts did not fire a shot.

An official who declined to be quoted by name observed: "For the Communists to have portrayed such an episode as a memorable victory creates something of a novelty in military history."

Observatories on the 80th and 102nd floors of the Empire State building in New York normally attract great throngs of visitors, estimated up to one million a year.

SEEKING THE OTHER SIDE—Learning the hard way what it's like to be blind, members of the Dodge City, Ia., Lions Club try to eat blindfolded. The dramatic illustration was arranged to emphasize the importance of work the club does for the blind in its annual broom sale.

Disasters, News Crop Up in Copyright Applications

WASHINGTON (UP)—What's new in Washington:

Disasters have a way of cropping up in the copyright section of the Library or Congress. Things like hurricanes, a man named Guy Kerpays of Chicago has applied for a copyright on a song he would like to call "Black Storm Carol."

Vincent Doyle of the library's copyright section says other kinds of news also frequently wind up in tunes and lyrics.

When Charles A. Lindbergh flew the Atlantic in the "Spirit of St. Louis," the copyright people got a rash of ideas for tunes. And over a dozen applicants suggested the title, "The Plane and I."

The new State Department Building, like most edifices, has a "personals" bulletin board. The latest notice:

"Private tutor: Cultured person, teaches English, self-confidence.

and also freedom from self-consciousness."

Francis, the mule, is appearing in a movie hereabouts and has the Women's Army Corps a little upset. Title of the opus is "Francis Joins the WACs." A mule being what a mule is, the symbol of the Democratic Party, some of the Republican WACs are a little miffed.

No longer will any GI ever wake up with dishwasher hands. The Pentagon has taken care of that.

The government is standardizing the soap used for dishwashing. It doesn't hurt the hands.

It has been tested in Army kitchens around the world and 95 per cent of the guys on kitchen police say it is fine stuff. It still doesn't make them love KP duty, though.

Speaking of the kitchen: Ask Mom how she would like to prepare 7½ million suppers in advance. That is what Uncle Sam has done.

He ordered 2½ million packages of pre-cooked rations of what is called the five-in-one variety.

Each pack has enough food to keep five fighting men fed for a whole day. Everything from canned applesauce and pork and gravy to chocolate fudge bars.

Pickets Create Traffic Jam at Square D Factory

YOUNG AT HEART—It was a small wedding as weddings go but the bride was radiant, the groom proudly handsome. Both are 81 years old. Here George C. Kruse, of Milwaukee, Wis., helps his new bride into the car after their ceremony at Charlotte, Mich. this weekend. She is the former Minnie Davis of Chester. It's the second marriage for both. Says Mrs. Kruse, "I'll not marry again. Too much excitement."

Use Cars to Halt Work at Plant

Drive Into Parking Lots in Effort to Confuse Police at Factory

DETROIT (INS) — Motorized pickets created a traffic jam at the strikebound Square D plant in Detroit this morning in a new attempt to stymie the company's back-to-work effort.

Taking police by surprise, UAW-CIO pickets, posing as employees returning to work, drove their cars into the company parking lot in a steady stream.

The lot was more than a quarter full before police became aware of the new strategy and started screening occupants of vehicles.

Once the plot was discovered, union leaders ordered pickets to get into their cars and drive slowly around the area. The result was a bumper-to-bumper traffic jam.

Earlier, a driving rain kept the picket line at the plant gate at less than 100. Once the rain let up, however, more than 400 pickets crowded into the area.

Meanwhile, negotiations in the strike were slated to resume at the urging of state and federal mediators, common council and Circuit Judge Frank B. Ferguson.

Today's session, to begin at 10 a.m., was arranged by George E. Bowles, chairman of the state labor mediation board and Stuart Kelly of the federal service.

New Site Eyed on Kennett Road

Commissioners Defer Sidewalk Laying Plans on East Boulevard

Pontiac's refuse dump on Orchard Lake avenue should be closed "within two or three weeks," City Manager Walter K. Willman told the City Commission at a special meeting last night.

"As soon as we fill up one remaining hole near the railroad tracks and cover the dump with earth we will move out," Willman said.

His report was prompted by the appearance of a representative of a Washington Park citizens group, who complained of the odors and fires burning at the dump.

Willman said the city is surveying a site on Kennett road for a new sanitary fill.

Bowing to the request of property owners on South East boulevard, the commission deferred until next year plans to lay sidewalks on the east side of that street from Pike street to Auburn avenue.

In other action, public hearings were held on special assessment rolls for three public works projects.

Confirmation was deferred on two—an eight-inch reinforced concrete pavement job on Alley north of Huron from Telegraph to Ogemaw, and the laying of a five-foot concrete sidewalk on both sides of Auburn from East Boulevard to the Belt Line Railroad.

The special assessment role for a sidewalk on the northwest side of Telegraph, from a point south of Walton to the Hawthorne School, was confirmed.

New commission rules drawn up by City Attorney William A. Ewart were adopted and a new municipal maintenance contract with the Michigan State Highway Dept. was approved.

Public necessity was declared for grading and graveling Pleasant view.

Commissioners heard the first reading of an amendment to the Underground Vault Ordinance and passed an ordinance to revise to commercial 1 lots 17 through 21 and part of 22 of assessor's plat 97.

In final business, the commission received communications from George A. Cram concerning the city's master plan and Erwin G. Slater, concerning the posting of signs on property which he contends is not public. Slater's letter was referred to the city attorney.

Atomic Energy Chief Says U.S. Lagging in Peacetime Nuclear Development

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS)—Atomic Energy Commissioner Thomas J. Murray declared today that the U. S. is falling behind in development of peacetime power from the atom.

He warned that it would be a "tragedy" if "world leadership in this field fell by default into Soviet hands" and by implication blamed the American people and its representatives in Congress for failing to push power development.

Murray, in a talk before the CIO Steelworkers Convention, said development of nuclear power provides two alternatives—frustration and world destruction or a common ground for peace and cooperation.

He said the H-bomb "and its successors have placed in the hands of man the dreadful power of world destruction."

The commissioner then declared that "time is running out" on development of atomic power for peaceful uses, which he described as an acute problem, particularly in other nations.

In Washington meanwhile, Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.), a member of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee said that England has at least a temporary lead over the U. S. in development of peacetime atomic power. Holifield said that Britain is building two large atomic reactors for such purposes while the U. S. is working on only one.

In reporting on progress in power development, Murray said the Arco, Idaho, plant—the prototype of the first submarine nuclear power unit—"has met, and in some respects has exceeded, the fondest dreams of its designers."

Yet, he added, "our over-all accomplishment in the power reactor field do not rank as yet with the other outstanding achievements of American science and industry... we could have done more in spite of Soviet intransigence."

The atomic energy commissioner said that development of the Arco reactor was possible only because it offered "great military promise," and that most of it is now "out of date."

He added that "tomorrow we should be building a bigger and a better power reactor," and that it must be done by the government because private industry cannot "on a purely risk basis, undertake anything like the effort that the world atomic power problem demands."

Murray proposed that the first reactors, as soon as they are ready under the administration's program for worldwide sharing of the atom, be sent to Japan.

He said: "If I were to make a choice, my choice would be Japan. Japan was the first and is still the only land which has been engulfed in the white flame of the atom."

2 Delaware Schools Closed as Racial Problem Flares

By BILL LOFTUS
MILFORD, Del. (U)—This community's two public schools were closed again today in the face of telephoned threats of violence if Negro children were allowed to attend classes in the white high school.

Dr. Raymond C. Cobbs, superintendent of the Milford schools, had announced earlier that the schools would open as usual at 9 a.m. today after being closed yesterday.

However, Dr. Cobbs issued a statement shortly after 8 a.m. this morning in which he said the schools will be closed until further notice "in the interest of the safety of all the children."

The statement said: "Members of the board of education since making an earlier announcement have received numerous calls threatening violence in case any Negro children attend school. In the interest of the safety of all the children the board hereby serves notice that the schools are closed until further notice."

A detail of five policemen arrived at the school along with several of the schools' teachers. The teachers entered the building, while the policemen spread around the building to keep watch.

Dr. Cobbs declined to elaborate on his statement as tension mounted in this quiet southeastern Delaware community. The situation developed yesterday when the Milford school board closed the schools after learning of a protest march planned by antisegregationists.

Although the school board, composed of three businessmen and a housewife, had called for resumption of classes today, they left unanswered the question of whether 11 Negro pupils would be allowed to take up their high school studies.

Meanwhile, several hundred miles away in Dayton, Ohio, Atty. Russell L. Carter prepared petitions on behalf of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People asking the United States District Court to enjoin what Negro leaders call segregation in the Hillsboro, Ohio, school system.

From 15 to 20 student pickets roamed in front of Sherman High School in Seth in protest over the enrollment of three Negroes in the student body of about 700.

The Madison meeting followed a protest session in the county court house by some 200 people fighting the admission of 18 Negro part-time students at Scott High School. No decision was announced by the county board.

The Milford situation developed over the weekend when more than 1,500 persons gathered at the American Legion Hall in the center of this primarily agricultural community to hear a discussion on the integration problem.

Ike, GOP Chairman Confer On Election

DENVER (U)—President Eisenhower and Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, take a hard new look today at GOP chances for maintaining control of Congress—and at the President's role in the campaign.

Hall flew in from Washington for a summer White House conference with the President as Eisenhower made ready to start a flying speckmaking tour of the far west tomorrow.

The tour will take him into Montana, Washington, Oregon and California—an area where there are three important Senate races in the November elections, plus contests for all the House seats of all four states.

"The President and Mr. Hall are going to talk over the political situation generally, with of course special attention to the states the President is about to visit," White House Press Secretary James Hagerly said in advance of today's conference.

Hall brought with him three key aides—James Bassett, publicity chief for the Republican National Committee; Robert Humphrey, in charge of organization; and Val Washington, who handles relations with minority groups.

The quartet came to Denver for Maine's election of a Democratic governor last week still uncomfortably fresh in Republican minds, and with opposition criticism of the Eisenhower administration mounting as the campaign goes into the home stretch.

The President so far has campaigned in a restrained kind of way, strictly according to the pattern he set out for himself months ago.

He has said repeatedly that he would do no barnstorming for individual GOP candidates—that instead he would go around the country plugging the record of his administration and the Republican-run 82d Congress.

It's no secret that some members of his party would like to see Eisenhower wage a more vigorous campaign, but Eisenhower aides were not inclined much to the notion he would change his campaign tactics.

The Chief Executive's tour starts tomorrow evening with an airport speech at Missoula, Mont. In that state GOP Rep. Wesley D'Ewart is bidding for the Senate seat of veteran Democrat James M. Murray.

Thursday morning Eisenhower speaks at ceremonies dedicating McNary Dam on the Washington-Oregon border.

In Oregon incumbent GOP Sen. Guy Cordon is opposed by a hard challenging Democrat, Richard Neuberger.

Thursday evening Eisenhower will speak in Los Angeles, Hollywood Bowl at a political rally.

That address will be the President's major political effort of the western tour. In California, Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel's Democratic opponent is Rep. Sam Yorty.

The President will conclude his speaking tour Friday morning with an informal address at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which has been critical of administration labor policies.

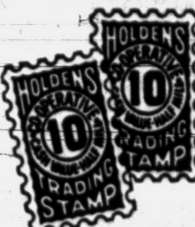

In this way only can you know the vastness of our services to our community. Our facilities are open for your inspection. We will consider it a privilege to guide you on your visit here.

C. E. Butterfield Retires as AP's Radio-TV Editor

By SAUL FELT
(For HAL BOYLE)

NEW YORK (AP)—Charley Butterfield, who has been the byline as "C. E. Butterfield"—is retiring as radio-TV editor of the Associated Press.

Around here, that's a little like saying the RCA Building is going to be torn down for a parking lot. Matter of fact, most of us were happily convinced that Charley would still be writing about radio long after NBC became a faded dividend memory in the minds of David Sarnoff's descendants.

But Charley says he's tired and wants to go down to Florida and raise chickens. I don't why. The kid doesn't deserve a rest. We were just getting him broken in.

After all, he has only been writing about radio more than 30 years. He has been radio editor only 27 years. He has done his column only 22 years.

With all that, the boy is only 62. He started young, at 14, on his family's kitchen table in Champaign, Ill. Charley built an amateur wireless station in 1906.

"In those days," he recalls, "there were no commercial stations. All I got was coded signals from the government stations. I couldn't understand the code but it was fun for me, anyway. It wasn't for the rest of the neighborhood."

"You see, I used an electrolytic rectifier to cut in on the house current, which was A. C. Every time I pressed down on the telegraphic key, it dimmed all the lights in the neighborhood. You should've heard the squawks."

In 1918, he came up to Chicago to do general bureau work for the AP. Within a few years, he was finding stories to write about radio at a time when many people still couldn't spell the word. For example, he wrote about Chicago's "silent nights."

On those nights every station in town closed up so radio owners could begin whirling their dials to see how many long distance stations they could pick up. On a good, clear night you could get Los Angeles.

Charley came to New York as AP radio editor in 1927. This was at a time when radio fans were just switching from battery sets, which frequently spilled over and burned a hole in the living room rug, to receivers using house current.

The big attractions then were the A & P Gypsies, the "Cluquot Club Eskimos" (an orchestra), Graham McNamee, and the Revelers' Quartet, of whom only Frank Parker is still singing. Charley also tuned in on the first broadcast by a couple of fellows known then as "Sam and Henry." When the boys left Chicago they had to leave the name behind with the local radio station. In New York they became known as "Amos 'n Andy."

In 1932, Charley made the front pages with an exclusive story. It was the first transatlantic short-wave interview on record. The man on the other end in Vatican City was Guglielmo Marconi.

Even in those days, Charley was firing questions at the experts about a fantastic bit of nonsense known as television. In that interview, Marconi told Charley television's chances were "rapidly improving."

Charley was writing so long ago about TV the headline writers hadn't even had time to catch up with the name of the new medium. One head over a Butterfield story was: "Sight-seeing by radio."

Charley was not only writing about the new gadget in the early thirties; he even built his own first TV set out of a kit of parts. His first receiver used a neon lamp instead of a cathode ray tube. Thus the picture was dark red and light red instead of black and white.

You didn't have to be a grasshopper to enjoy the first experimental programs that came over Charley's set but it would have helped. Even with a magnifier, that set provided a picture only 1 1/2 inches wide and one inch long. To see anything, he couldn't be any more than two feet away.

In those days, about all there was to watch was experimental pictures transmitted by NBC. Charley particularly remembers one in which all that happened was that a wooden figure of a cat kept revolving around a turntable.

But he watched that postage stamp screen and he watched and reported on everything that came with the bigger and better screens developed since.

Now he says he's going to retire in November, which just goes to show you how tough it is to hold on to help these days.

Missouri has produced 264 million tons of coal since 1806 which represents only about one per cent of the state's total coal reserves.

Eyeing Food Supply From 1-Celled Plant

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Scientists are now going to the rooftops to help the world's food supply. Dr. Bruce R. Mead of the University of California at Los Angeles has begun a research project to trap a tiny one-celled plant known as chlorella.

This plant, built up from sunshine, water and small bits of chemicals, produces tons of proteins and fats in a day. Harvesting will be simple—just a matter of scooping off the chlorella floating on the water.

The university's pilot plant has been installed on a building rooftop. It has a small U-shaped trough through which will circulate water and a few chemicals. Sea water also will be used to produce chlorella, because of the abundance of chemicals in it.

Initially, the process will provide rich supplements for cattle feed. When the food is tasty enough, the scientists promise a "chlorella cocktail"—for humans.

On British Railways, special tickets are sold to workmen who use the trains before 8 a.m. at a cost of a penny a mile.

Nationalists Tell of Sinking Ships

Claim 15 Commie Junks Sent Down, 32 Others Damaged by Jets

TAIPEI (INS) — Chinese Nationalist warplanes were credited today with sinking 15 Chinese Communist junks and damaging 32 other enemy vessels in attacks along the Fukien province coast opposite Formosa.

A Nationalist communique reported the results of the air attacks by American-made F84 Thunderbolt jets in the area of Tung Island this morning.

The 15 Red junks were sunk near Tung and 30 others damaged in the same area.

To the north, two more Red vessels, including a 70-ton motorized junk, were hit by rocket-firing Thunderbolts.

The communique also reported that Nationalist gunboats engaged Red warships in the vicinity of the Tachen Islands off the Chekiang province coast, north of Dulien, Monday morning.

The official bulletin said the Nationalist warships encountered "a thick fog after an exchange of shells."

No damage was reported to either side.

Nationalist artillery on tiny Quemoy Island which lies just eight miles off the Red China coast continued to pound Communist positions on Amoy Island in coordination with air attacks.

The current military action, termed a "vest pocket" war, began Sept. 3 when Red shore-based artillery opened fire on Quemoy.

The Nationalists have since thrown ships and planes into the battle to avert any attempt by the Reds to storm Quemoy which lies on the approaches to the Chiang Kai-shek stronghold of Formosa.

MRS. JAMES A. CURL

Walled Lake Couple Tour Through Eastern States

WALLED LAKE — Honeymooning in the Eastern states are Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Curl, who were married at Walled Lake Methodist Church in a double-ring ceremony Sept. 11.

The bride is the former Marilyn Elaine Woodworth, daughter of the Russell Woodworths of Walled Lake. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Florence Curl, also of Walled Lake.

For her wedding, which was attended by some 150 guests, Marilyn wore a gown of white champagne lace over satin, with ballerina skirt of pleated nylon.

A satin headpiece decorated with pearls and sequins held her finger veil. Her bridal bouquet was centered with an orchid.

Joanne Curl, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and Shirley Rauh and Rose Zimmerman were bridesmaids. Flower girl was the bride's sister, Linda Woodworth, while Graham Curl, the bridegroom's brother, was ring bearer.

Russell Curl served his brother as best man while James Combs and the bride's brother, Richard Woodworth, were ushers.

About 300 guests attended the reception at the Farmington American Legion Hall, following the ceremony.

Injunction Hearing Delayed Until Oct. 4

Two Oakland County Circuit Court judges yesterday adjourned until Oct. 4 hearings in which union attorneys are attempting to show why a permanent injunction should not be issued preventing picketing of the Pontiac Drive-In Theater.

The move came after an hour's debate between attorneys for the drive-in and Local 630 of the National Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Operators of the United States and Canada.

The union claims plans by the theater to discharge one of two $115-a-week projectionists violates a contract. Theater manager Elton L. Samuels states he terminated the contract and asserts no basis for a labor dispute exists and an injunction should be ordered.

The union claims Samuels is operating the projector himself, does not himself belong to the union and thus is employing non-union help which is a violation of good labor practice and grounds for picketing.

Credit Union Reports Membership Increase

WALLED LAKE—The Walled Lake School Employees Credit Union approved 30 new members at their September board meeting, raising the membership to 164.

Treasurer Bill Doggett reported that as of Aug. 31, shares balances totaled $21,534.52, loans outstanding, $15,808.74, and cash on hand $6,577.69.

Steps were taken to fill three vacancies, and to arrange for a credit union mailbox in the school office.

Farmer Freed in Eviction Case

John Donovan Given Suspended Sentence for Guilty Plea

LAPEER — John Donovan, who pleaded guilty to obstructing justice in the eviction of a Lapeer farm widow, yesterday received a suspended sentence and was ordered to pay court costs totaling $100.

Donovan pleaded guilty to obstructing Lapeer County Sheriff Clark W. Gregory in his efforts to oust the late Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens from her home in June, 1952. The farm had been sold at court order to meet an assessment against a bankrupt insurance group.

Donovan, of Inlay City, pleaded guilty before six other farmers went to trial on similar charges. The six others were acquitted after their trial last week in Charlotte.

Similar charges against another farmer were dismissed by Judge Timothy C. Quinn.

The suspended sentence, handed down by Judge Quinn, apparently ends the long-drawn-out prosecutions stemming from the eviction.

Two men, Floyd Schriber and Erwin C. Russell, now are serving 1½ to 2 year prison terms for obstructing justice. Clayton C. Gilliland of Detroit, alleged leader of farmer resistance to the eviction, is appealing a 4½ to 5 year prison term for conspiracy.

Register Tonight for Adult Classes at Waterford High

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The growing demand for adult education programs sends Waterford Township into its fourth annual course for grown-ups of the area.

Under the direction of George Tramonfin, early registration will take place tonight at the high school from 7 to 8 p.m. It is also possible to register the night of class opening, Sept. 28, said Tramonfin.

A new course available this year will be in tailoring. Other popular classes to be given are in beginning sewing, advanced sewing, blue print reading, shop course and typing.

Man Gets Prison Term for Passing Bad Checks

Arthur D. Shappell, 25, no address, yesterday received from 1½ to 14 years in Jackson State Prison when he appeared before Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland after pleading guilty to bad check passing Sept. 14.

Shappell admitted passing a worthless $86 check here July 13. State police said he cashed over $400 in forged checks since last June.

County Calendar

Orionville — Orionville First Baptist Church will observe Family Night tomorrow with a potluck dinner served at 7:30 p.m.

MOORE — Unit 14 will meet at 8 p.m. today at the home of Mrs. Harry Featherston, on West Mill street.

Metamora — The Metamora Birthday Club will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Harwood.

English Teacher at Walled Lake Wins New Home

WALLED LAKE—High school English and Latin students of Mrs. Donald Milligan heard more about houses than their scheduled subjects last Friday, it is understandable.

Late Thursday Mrs. Milligan was informed that she was the winner of the three bedroom dream home offered by an appliance firm.

The home is located in Franklin Knolls, off James Cousen's highway.

The Milligans were given the opportunity to enter the contest when they purchased appliances for their new home at 2813 Hoeft Dr., Walled Lake, earlier in the summer.

Mrs. Milligan spent one Sunday writing entries which ranged from serious letters to jingles. Altogether she submitted 27.

When her students asked her the secret of her success she said, "I owe it all to the public schools where I learned to write."

Man Suffers Cut Scalp in Two-Car Crash Here

Memo F. Cork, 41, of 115 S. Washington, Clawson, suffered scalp cuts this morning when the car he was driving collided with another auto which ran a stop sign at Adams and Auburn Rds., according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Paul W. Korte, 36, of 23927 Wesley, Farmington, the other driver, told deputies he did not see the stop sign until it was too late. Korte, who was uninjured, was driving north on Adams.

Dutchman Sure of U.N. Position

Dr. Van Kleffens Rated as Shoo-in Choice for Assembly Presidency

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — A Dutchman with 35 years experience in international affairs was a shoo-in choice today for president of the ninth U.N. General Assembly as delegates gathered for their opening session this afternoon.

The election of Dr. Eelco Nicolaas van Kleffens to the top Assembly post became a virtual certainty when his only announced opponent, Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand, withdrew yesterday from the race.

Van Kleffens, Netherlands minister to Portugal and head of the Dutch delegation to the 60-nation Assembly, began lining up his support on a visit here last December. Even U.S. support for Prince Wan could not slow Van Kleffens' candidacy.

The veteran Dutch diplomat will celebrate his 60th birthday while the Assembly is in session, on Nov. 17.

A lawyer and the son of a lawyer, his long career has often alternated between the law and diplomacy — or combined the two.

In 1939 he reached the diplomatic top at home when a Cabinet crisis resulted in his appointment as minister of foreign affairs instead.

Nine months later, as the Germans drove toward the Hague, Van Kleffens and his wife fled in a crippled navy hydroplane to Brighton, England. In Britain he became foreign minister in exile.

Man Gets Year in Jail for Possessing Dope

LOFTON MIMS, 30, of Detroit, was sentenced to one year in Oakland County Jail yesterday by Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland after pleading guilty to illegal possession of narcotics Sept. 13. Mims was arrested here Aug. 28 by Pontiac police when narcotics were found in his automobile.

Man Put on Probation

In Circuit Court yesterday, Donald J. Ranta, 18, of 3309 W. Lone Pine Rd., Bloomfield Township, was placed on three years probation and fined $300 court costs by Judge H. Russell Holland. Ranta admitted Sept. 13 that he took part in six Oakland County break-ins during May and June.

Youth, 5, Killed in North Branch

Driver Not Held After Striking Richard Kukes on Millington Road

NORTH BRANCH — Richard Kukes, 5, died yesterday when struck by a car in front of his home on Millington Road.

Driver Mrs. Ruth Bryce, 29, of Silverwood Road, told deputies of the Lapeer County Sheriff's Department that the youth suddenly appeared in front of her car.

She said he must have come out of a ditch along the roadside. Mrs. Bryce was not held.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kukes. He was taken to Lapeer County Hospital by Dr. D. Ballinger, but died there soon after arrival.

Woman Trapped 40 Hours With Husband's Body

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—For 40 hours after her husband died, Mrs. Iva B. Soncrant was alone with his body on rough Lake Erie in their disabled outboard motor boat.

"I prayed and I cried...only the thought of my three sons kept me battling when the odds against me seemed so large," she said yesterday after fishermen found her 4 1/2 miles offshore and rescued her.

Mrs. Soncrant said she and her husband, Joseph, 57, of Toledo, went fishing Saturday. The boat's motor stalled and Soncrant collapsed while trying to start it.

She said she did not realize Soncrant was dead for two hours. For 40 hours she tried unsuccessfully to attract passing boats with screams and a piece of her skirt used as a flag.

She had to keep bailing water from waves out of her boat to keep it from foundering.

"One of my sons is only 20, and I though he needed me now that his father is gone," she said, "so I kept praying and pumping."

Olivia to Make Paris Her Home After Marriage

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Olivia DeHavilland is back in town, but only to make a movie. She'll make Paris her regular residence after her marriage to Pierre Gallante. "Pierre is an executive of Paris Match, the popular French magazine, and his duties keep him there," says Olivia. "Although my home will be in Paris, I'll make pictures in England, France, Italy, Spain — and Hollywood."

I asked if a California girl like herself wouldn't miss Hollywood. "You forget that I was born in Japan," she replied. "Of course, I grew up here and I do miss the weather. You forget how good it is while you're away. You say, 'Oh, it's foggy all through June and I've seen April when you didn't even see the sun.'"

"But when you come back, you realize how fabulous the weather is. Human beings adjust to where they are, and I must say there's no finer place to become adjusted to than Paris. It is an absolutely wonderful place, and my son Benjie loves it as much as I do."

Olivia is here to play the nurse role in the medical saga, "Not as a Stranger." I saw her after she made tests for the film, and she was in white gown and cap, ready for surgery. She showed me a pile of rubber gloves, needles, scalpels, etc., which she is learning to handle under the instruction of a registered nurse.

"We're going into surgery tomorrow," Olivia said with anticipation. She explained that she, Frank Sinatra and others on the picture would be allowed to witness an operation.

Olivia said her forthcoming marriage will take place some time after the picture is finished. Gallante will meet her here in December. The marriage would have taken place sooner, except that French law required a nine-month wait after her divorce.

Before the deadline, she got involved with making "That Lady" in Spain and England. She came here immediately afterward. The wedding cannot be done in a hurry, because Olivia has to go through some red tape in order to retain her American citizenship, which she intends to keep.

I asked about her plans for son Benjie. "He is enrolled in a wonderful French school, and he loves it," she said. "We always think of the English schools, as the best in the world. But the English and many others told me that the French have the equivalent of a college education by the time they are 18."

Is she concerned about Benjie losing touch with his native land? "Not at all. Benjie is a remarkably American boy. Even at 5, he is an amazing combination of an intellectual and an athlete. The gentleness of the French culture will do him good. And he'll return to this country periodically."

New England Plays Fast on Daylight Saving Time

BOSTON (AP)—Remember that hour of sleep you lost in April when your state went on daylight saving time?

Well, you can have it back next Sunday — unless you live in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire or a few communities in Vermont.

The reason: the Massachusetts legislature decided last spring that whatever benefits accrue from having daylight time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September would be enhanced considerably if extended to the last Sunday in October.

Rhode Island and New Hampshire followed suit and a few Vermont towns near Massachusetts or New Hampshire figured it might lessen the confusion by doing likewise.

But don't go losing another hour's sleep trying to figure what time it is when you are in New England. Without the aid of an abacus or slide rule you can see there are chances for some dandy time-saving. For instance:

If you take a plane from Boston to New York next week and there is a good tailwind you can leave at noon, EDT, and arrive at LaGuardia Field at noon, too — EST, that is.

Or if you live in Brattleboro, Bennington, Rutland or Bellows Falls, Vt., (all staying on daylight time) you can "save" an hour in driving to the state capital at Montpelier, which is going back on standard time.

In Maine, the Legislature meets today on the time problem. If Maine doesn't stay on daylight time, it could be quite a "slow" trip from Portland to Boston. A fast train takes about two hours, but if you left Portland at 5 p.m. EST, it would be 8 p.m. EDT, when you got to Boston.

You radio and television fans are going to have your troubles, too. Networks originating in New York, for example, will be on standard time but the programs will come an hour later if you live where the "fast" time will be held over. Oh, well. It will be all over in November.

Sooners Rated on Top on First Weekly Ballot

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (U)—The University of Oklahoma, ranked right behind Notre Dame in pre-season forecasts, reigned today as the No. 1 college football team in the country pending returns from all the precincts.

Sad Bud Wilkinson's Sooners, who crushed California 27-13 in their opener, were all alone at the top of the first weekly Associated Press poll of the season. The nation's sports writers and sports-casters gave them 56 first-place votes, good for 789 points.

Notre Dame, which will get its baptism of fire under Terry Brennan against Texas Saturday, was ranked second with 613 points. The Irish were followed, in order, by Maryland, Texas, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Michigan State, UCLA, Mississippi, Baylor and Wisconsin—the latter two tied for tenth.

Georgia Tech, which was sixth in the pre-season poll moved past Illinois, which hasn't played yet, on the basis of its crushing 26-6 victory over Tulane. That was the only change of any importance over the pre-season poll.

Kramer Only Soph Starting in 'M' Lineup

Two Positions Still in Doubt for Opener at Seattle Saturday

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR (U)—Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan today picked his starting eleven for the Washington game at Seattle Saturday. Only one sophomore was included. The sophomore is fast moving, sure-handed Ron Kramer of East Detroit. Kramer will handle the starting left end spot. At right end will be veteran Gerry Williams of Flint.

Oosterbaan's backfield will feature the passing arm of Duncan McDonald at quarterback and the powerful legs of Tony Branoff at right halfback.

McDonald and Branoff are both veterans of last year's play although McDonald had to give way much of the time to the defensive abilities of Lou Baldacci.

Baldacci is included in the starting backfield but this time with a new assignment. His agile footwork in scrimmages this fall has made him Oosterbaan's first choice in the fullback position.

Only two positions are still in doubt, Oosterbaan said. The doubt is caused by the sickness of last string center Jim Bates of Farmington. He is reported in good condition from an attack of pneumonia. Doctors say he probably will be all right in time for the Army game Oct. 2.

Meanwhile, Oosterbaan, seeking a new linebacker, will draw on the services of John Peckham or John Morrow.

St. Louis Track Will Be Sold to Easterners

ST. LOUIS (U)—The Globe-Democrat says final papers will be signed Friday for the sale of operating rights to Fairmount Park Raceway to an Eastern syndicate headed by James F. Edwards of Huntington, W. Va. The newspaper said the purchase price could exceed two million dollars.

Maglie's Win Over Dodgers Clinches All-Flag

By BEN FLEGGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants open the World Series in the Polo Grounds a week from tomorrow and the flags in Florida probably are flying at half-mast.

For the first time since baseball magnates became convinced their athletes would be better conditioned for the 154-game grind with the help of warm sun and palm trees in the early spring, Florida doesn't have a World Series entry.

The Indians and Giants shunned the orange juice circuit for the sands and sun of Arizona. With only the Chicago Cubs and Baltimore Orioles around for major league companions, the two clubs played each other often enough to know the players by heart.

On their barnstorming tour back to the majors the Giants whipped the Indians 13 times in 21 games, often by such scores as 26-14 or 13-9.

Sal "The Barber" Maglie was razor sharp as he scattered five hits. The only Brooklyn run came in the third when Maglie's control deserted him momentarily and he walked Pee Wee Reese and good as of last Saturday. Now he's after a new all-time high in victories.

Leo Durocher said he never made predictions, then quickly added his Giants, with the return of Willie Mays, "will be a lot stronger."

"Brooklyn is the team to beat," Leo said in April.

He followed his own advice. He beat them opening day with Willie Mays hitting a 425-foot home run and last night in Ebbets Field, home of the Dodgers, Durocher's men clinched the pennant with a 7-1 victory.

Appropriately Mays picked the occasion to take over the National League batting lead with three hits. The "Say Hey" Kid, released from the Army just in time to reach training camp, is battering the ball at a .344 clip.

Sal "The Barber" Maglie was razor sharp as he scattered five hits. The only Brooklyn run came in the third when Maglie's control deserted him momentarily and he walked Pee Wee Reese and Duke Snider with two out. Gil Hodges followed with what started out to be a routine fly. The ball sank rapidly in the murky night and fell just in front of Mays who made a belly slide on the slick turf.

The Giants jumped off to a 2-run lead in the first inning on a walk to Whitey Lockman, Al Dark's single followed by a sacrifice and singles by Mays and Hank Thompson.

Don Mueller's single and doubles by Thompson and Monte Irvin produced two more in the sixth and wrapped up the flag for sure.

While the Giants were clinching their flag, the Indians won their 11th straight and ran their victory total to 109, only one short of the American League record set by the 1927 Yankees.

Bobby Feller pitched the Indians to a 7-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox with the help of home runs by Larry Doby and Vic Wertz. Cleveland has five more games to play.

The battles for fourth place, and its share of the rich World Series loot, tightened in both leagues. Cincinnati split with Milwaukee, winning 3-1 after losing 6-2, and holds a two-game lead over St. Louis. The Cardinals defeated Chicago 7-2 with five runs in the 10th inning.

Boston held fourth in the American League with a 5-2 triumph over the Athletics. Detroit, half a game back of the Red Sox, defeated Baltimore 4-3 and Washington, another half game behind, shaded the Yanks 3-2.

Warren Spahn pitched the Milwaukee victory and became the first lefthander ever to win 20 games in six different seasons in the National League.

Parade Hails Champion Tribe

CLEVELAND (U)—Today is another big day for the Cleveland Indians—this afternoon a parade and tonight a try to win victory 110 and tie the 1927 New York Yankees as the biggest winners in the American League's 54-season history.

Some 250,000 persons are expected to line the route of the hour and a half-long parade from East side to West side. The Tribe will ride in decorated convertibles, accompanied by three bands to whom it up.

Three and a half hours after the scheduled end of the parade to celebrate Saturday's pennant-clinching, the Tribe takes to the field at Municipal Stadium against the Chicago White Sox whom they

Edge Orioles 4-3 to Stay a Half Game in Back of Boston

BALTIMORE (U)—Detroit Tigers were keeping a hand in today in an American League stretch drive of their own — along with Washington and Boston.

Thanks to young Bob Miller's 9th inning relief pitching, Tigers beat the Baltimore Orioles last night 4-3 to hold their ground in the run with the Red Sox and Senators for 4th place.

Miller, relieving Ray Herbert with the bases full and one out, retired two batters and Detroit escaped with its 26th one-run victory of the year.

This kept the 5th-place Tigers a half game out of 4th place, trailing Boston, and a half game ahead of Washington in 6th place. Tigers' fate as to a share of World Series money — 4th place is necessary — will be told within the five remaining games of the season.

They'll try against Baltimore again tonight. Ned Garver will go after his 15th victory against 10 defeats. His opponent will be former Tiger Lou Kretlow (6-10).

Jim Delahue, with two doubles and a single, drove in three of Detroit's runs last night and Bob Wilson the 4th.

Racing Merger Proposed

Jockey Club Plans to Put $18 Million in Repairs to Belmont, Saratoga Tracks

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (U)—A plan designed to rehabilitate New York tracks at the cost of some 18 million dollars through the merger of the four present racing associations and the doing away of all private profits was under consideration today.

The plan, drawn up by a special committee representing The Jockey Club, calls for the probable reconstruction of all racing in the metropolitan area at a re-built Belmont Park and extensive improvements to the ancient Saratoga tracks at upstate Saratoga Springs.

Under the plan, The Jockey Club would take over the stock of the four present racing associations for an estimated $2,500,000, and then operate the sport on a non-profit basis.

Belmont Park, the newest and most modern of the New York racing plants, would be reconstructed at an estimate cost of $15,000,000. Another $3,000,000 would be spent in modernizing Saratoga, which operates during August, Jamaica would be sold.

Aqueduct would be retained as it is, at least until work on Belmont is completed. If the need is apparent, a new track would be built in the reasonable future at a cost of between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000.

To finance the project, The Jockey Club would raise funds through long term borrowing. The net profits, which amounted to more than $2,300,000 in 1932, would be put back into improvements.

The plan, presented yesterday to Ashley T. Cole, chairman of the state racing commission, already has advanced to the extent that The Jockey Club has options on 90 per cent of the stock of the Westchester Racing Assn., which operates Belmont Park.

Also under consideration is a reduction in the size of the track at Belmont—the largest racing oval in the country. It is a mile and one-half track and the proposal calls for reducing the distance to a mile and an eighth.

Directed by Charles Curtis, gaudy quarterback who went to Oklahoma but changed his mind and came to Texas Christian, the sophomore team has been licking the variety. It is called the best sophomore outfit at TCU since the days of Davey O'Brien. O'Brien quarterbacked a national championship team in 1938.

Nobody is predicting victory over the Sooners and Dutch Meyer, former TCU head coach and now athletic director, who scouted Oklahoma in its 27-13 victory over California, says Oklahoma is "one of the finest teams I ever saw and Kurt Burris at center is the best line-backer since Ki Aldrich (All-America at TCU in 1938). Buddy Leake is one of the finest backs in the country. Both are All-Americans."

But Meyer, who hasn't seen TCU play although he knows all about the Horned Frog personnel, thinks the Frogs can complete some passes on the Sooners.

Actually, TCU never has been run out of the park by Oklahoma. The Frogs have played the Sooners five times, won twice and lost three times, but haven't met Oklahoma since 1948.

Rocky's Nose Is Healing Without Any Stitches

LOS ANGELES (U)—Rocky Marciano goes to see his doctor again today but apparently the nose cut he suffered last Friday fighting Ezzard Charles is healing satisfactorily.

The heavyweight champion said after yesterday's visit with the medic: "They didn't take any stitches and they don't think they'll have to."

His manager, Al Weill, said nature is doing a fine healing job.

Battle Creek 9 Still in Race for ABC Title

WATERTOWN, S. D.—Battle Creek, Mich., Houston and Dayton, Ohio, battling gales and fluctuating fortune, today headed into the stretch run of the American Baseball Congress playoff finals.

Seattle, the fourth entry, was knocked out yesterday by Houston, 7-5. All of the survivors have lost once, Houston winning once and Battle Creek and Dayton twice.

NEW YORK (INS)—An estimated 250,000 football fans will have seats on the 50-yard line for the Notre Dame-Michigan State game of Oct. 16 when box office television presents the contest on a closed television circuit in theaters across the country.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association's game of the week on home television (ABC) that day will be Southern California at Oregon.

Grid Problems Offers Test of Football Sense

In a new series of football articles, that started Monday in the Pontiac Press sports pages, area grid fans are offered opportunity to test their football sense.

Typical problems are set up in "You Be the Quarterback." Fans can study them, then determine the play or plays he (or she) would use under the described circumstances.

Answers to the problems are found on another sport page.

"You Be the Quarterback" is a daily feature in the Pontiac Press sports pages.

Waterford Opens Chiefs' Home Season Friday

Skipper Coach Puts Stress on Offense Drills

Blocking, Aerial Attack to Be Sharpened During Week's Workouts

By JACK SAYLOR

Fairly well satisfied with their team's defensive work in last week's season opener at Keego Harbor, Waterford's Dave Freeman and staff are stressing offense this week in preparation for Friday's game with Pontiac High at Winer Stadium.

The Skipper boss hopes to sharpen the squad's blocking, increase the effectiveness of the passing attack, which didn't function too well in the 12-6 triumph over the Presidents.

Waterford escaped any serious injuries in the Keego game. However, junior center Jack Pourach still is bothered by bruised ribs and it is doubtful if he will play against the Chiefs.

Al Nestor, 220-pound defensive guard, is hobbling on a slightly sprained ankle, but should be ready Friday. On the brighter side, junior Norm Probert is ready to see action.

A JV standout last year, Probert suffered severe facial cuts in a vacation accident when he fell from Arch Rock on Mackinac Island. As a result, he got a late start in contact work, but is all set now.

Freeman, expressed pleasure over the work of Laine Hetherington against Keego and the line-backing of Dave Larkin and Roger Asbury. It was the latter's blocked kick that resulted in the Skipper's 2nd touchdown.

Impressive in the line were guards Chuck Koches, Al Nestor and Ran Beedie and end Jerry Kruskie. Heavy work will wind up tonight at Waterford.

Coast Playoffs Flop, Are Cancelled for '55

LOS ANGELES (U)—The Governor's Cup Playoffs in the Pacific Coast Baseball League were a financial flop this year and as a result there won't be any next season.

The Pacific Coast League owners, meeting here, made that decision yesterday. The 1955 season will start on April 5 and end Sept. 11, with each team playing about 160 games.

73-Pound Stripper Is Taken at Provincetown

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (U)—One of the biggest striped bass ever caught on Cape Cod—a 59½ pounder—has been hauled in by John J. Glogg of Huntington, N.Y. Glogg caught the fish yesterday while surf casting off High Head between North Truro and Provincetown.

Largest striped bass on record was a 73-pounder caught at Vineyard Sound, Mass., in 1913. Glogg used a sea worm bait, a glass rod and a 45-pound test line.

PHS' Practices Emphasize Pass Defense, Timing

Pontiac Came Through Wyandotte Contest Without Injuries

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's Chiefs, buoyed by a 27-13 triumph over Wyandotte in their opener, ring up the curtain on their 1954 home football season Friday against Waterford.

Chiefs face strenuous drills this week as Coach Ed Graybiel and his staff try to correct weaknesses revealed in last Friday's contest.

Graybiel will send his charges through extensive pass defense sessions. Wyandotte's Bob Manthey completed nine of 14 aerials Friday for 117 yards and two touchdowns. Chiefs also will get plenty of tackling work between now and the Waterford game.

On the offensive side, PHS squad will work on timing in play execution and blocking assignments against various defensive alignments. Wyandotte's 8-man line held the Chiefs to 100 yards on the ground.

Pontiac came through the opener without a single serious injury, and should be in top physical shape for Friday's test.

All but one of Pontiac's future opponents won their openers over the weekend. Here's how they fared:

WATERFORD (Sept. 24)—Defeated Keego Harbor 12-6, with Laine Hetherington and Dave Larkin each scoring two touchdowns.

PERNDAL (Oct. 1)—Bob Graham scored on runs of 21 and 23 yards to lead Lions to a 21-0 triumph over Berks.

PLANT CENTRAL (Oct. 2)—All-Valley halfback Charlie Thrash averaged 13 yards per carry and scored twice as Indians beat Hammond, Ind., Bishop Hall, 40-12.

RAY CITY CENTRAL (Oct. 18)—Halfback George Stevenson ran for all four touchdowns as Wolves downed Auburn Midland, 28-13.

ARTHUR HILL (Oct. 23)—Dick Adams tallied three times behind Lumberjack rugger line in 33-1 rout of Oregon.

ROYAL OAK (Oct. 18)—Not scheduled.

PLANT NORTHERN (Nov. 8)—Bob DeCaplan scored on fumble and raced 30 yards to score, clinching in 20-20 quarter over tough Grand Rapids Catholic Central.

REDFORD (Nov. 12)—Punches and penalties cost Trojans 14-4 loss to Grand Rapids South.

Michigan State's Eleven Has Experienced Kickers

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING (U)—Michigan State should have no kick about its kickers this football season. Spartans have an experienced man with good understudy for every kicking department.

As the opener with Iowa approaches, coaches have been giving more attention to the booting as part of the final tuneup.

For the kickoff, tackle Embury Robinson, who kicked off in the Rose Bowl, probably will get 1st call. Fullback Jerry Planutis can also get off a long ball.

John Matsko, sophomore center, has been getting unusually good distance and may work into the assignment as the season progresses.

Choice of a punter probably will depend on just who is in at quarterback. Both Earl Morrill and John Matsko can get away a booming punt. End John Kauth or halfback Gary Lowe also can do downfield kicking.

Planutis probably will get 1st call on the point after touchdown.

For the field goal tries, Morrill is another possibility. End Ellis Duckett will be 1st choice to do the holding.

On the MSC practice field yesterday, coach Duffy Daugherty gave the squad a stiffer than usual workout for a Monday. First two teams were drilled on pass protection and defense against Iowa line plays.

'Switched' Prep Stars Shine in New Places

By JACK SAYLOR
Walter (Buzz) DeBaene has stamped himself as a definite Class B all-state candidate.

A six-footer weighing 195 pounds, DeBaene starred for Rochester High School's footballers as a tackle last year and until last field and "Buss" took to ball carrying like a duck takes to water.

After only one night to learn his fullback plays, DeBaene carried 14 times for 122 yards, an average of 8.7 yards per try. He also teamed with Dick Gray to give the Falcons outstanding linebacking in their 0-0 tie with Davison.

As is often customary in early season games, the defense proved ahead of the offense. Alert defense play resulted in a number of touchdowns for area elevens.

Jack Greenlees of Avondale, an offensive center who switches to tackle on defense, set up a pair of tallies against St. Mike's. The 6-2, 215-pound lineman blocked 3 punts in the 1st half as the Avon club downed the Shamrocks, 26-7.

Roger Asbury blocked a kick to set up Waterford's winning touchdown in a 12-6 triumph over Keego, and the President's lone score also resulted from a blocked punt. Defense linemen even got into the scoring act.

Avondale guard Bill Johnson scored with one of Greenlees' touchdowns.

field and "Buss" took to ball carrying like a duck takes to water.

After only one night to learn his fullback plays, DeBaene carried 14 times for 122 yards, an average of 8.7 yards per try. He also teamed with Dick Gray to give the Falcons outstanding linebacking in their 0-0 tie with Davison.

As is often customary in early season games, the defense proved ahead of the offense. Alert defense play resulted in a number of touchdowns for area elevens.

Jack Greenlees of Avondale, an offensive center who switches to tackle on defense, set up a pair of tallies against St. Mike's. The 6-2, 215-pound lineman blocked 3 punts in the 1st half as the Avon club downed the Shamrocks, 26-7.

Roger Asbury blocked a kick to set up Waterford's winning touchdown in a 12-6 triumph over Keego, and the President's lone score also resulted from a blocked punt. Defense linemen even got into the scoring act.

Bob Considine Says:

Tough Babes Carol, Edna Are Impolite Houseguests

ALLENHURST, N.J. (INS)—Always wanted to own a home and invite people in. Well, sir, finally established a slender beachhead on one of those old Jersey shore houses with more gingerbread than the State, War and Navy Buildings in Washington, and within one week we had two visitors we don't want to see again.

Their names were Carol and Edna. Rough babes! Carol rolled in drunk one night without even phoning from the station, tramped down all the flowers, blew shingles off the roof, split awnings and dined some of the rampant cabbage on the wallpaper.

Edna said in advance she was coming. In fact, the newspapers made much of her coming, and so did the TV and radio boys. Edna advanced back turned out to be worse than her eventual title. (Editor's note: He's talking about hurricanes, you know.)

She straightened up all the flowers Carol had leveled, and brought a present. Some shingles from Adam Gimble's house several miles away. I hope Adam got our old ones in exchange, and I hope for Sophie's sake they matched. The TV and radio fellows seemed to me to be on the point of tears about the lack of viciousness in Edna. They kept apologizing for her. As a homeowner, pending the end of a 12-year mortgage, I thought Edna was better than painted.

Not that I want her back again. Anticipation of her coming created a tension comparable to an announcement from the Red Air Force that because of a mean thing I wrote about the MIG15 in wife. This came as no surprise. Everyone shakes his head, when it comes to fixing something. We called in a fellow the other day to fix the toaster and he shook himself into a bad scroffilliac. Nobody ever says, "Hey, why did you call me? There's nothing wrong with the zingbat on the dungus. Good as new." No, everybody just stands there and shakes the head.

We've got awnings that would have kept Lawrence of Arabia from getting sunburned, but the awning guy shakes his head. We've got a furnace that could drive the USS Missouri, and the furnace fellow shakes his head, shrugs, and says "Well . . ." I keep thinking of Bugs Baer's ambition, which was to meet a boss with affirmative policy.

But don't get me wrong. I love houses in Allenhurst, N.J., garden spot of the Garden State. Especially mine.

Dean Declares Knees Taboo on UM Campus

ANN ARBOR (U) — There'll be no bare knees in University of Michigan buildings this fall.

Dean Bacon said Michigan's "unwritten law" against coeds wearing shorts, blue jeans, slacks and pedal pushers in buildings will be enforced again this year.

"I wonder why it is," said Miss Bacon, "that women of size 13 or under seem to stick to skirts and girls of size 16 or over prefer shorts?" "The question really boils down to this. Do we have to wear skirts to look dignified?" One trim coed in pedal pushers said: Miss Bacon's boiled-down answer was: "Yes!"
