A tentative $7.2-million school budget for 1965-66, up approximately 8 per cent over the current one, was approved last night by the Waterford Township Board of Education.

Based on an assumed increase in state equalized valuation of the school district from the present $118.5 million to $123 million, the preliminary budget would require the same 21.71-mill operating levy as in the current budget.

4 Americans Killed in Viet

Six Yanks Wounded in Attack on Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U.S. Army men were killed and six others wounded in an assault on a Viet Cong stronghold 20 miles west of Saigon, U.S. military spokesmen reported today. Heavy casualties, both government and Communist, were reported in other actions in South Viet Nam.

Two of the American dead and some of the wounded were helicopter crewmen, two U.S. Army helicopters were shot down during the fighting.

Reports of the fighting in Hau Nghia Province, were fragmentary. Early reports said five South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 20 wounded during the first phase yesterday.

The American dead brought the U.S. toll in Vietnamese combat since December 1961 to 320.

Thirty-three U.S. jet fighters and bombers blasted suspected Viet Cong concentrations at various sites inside South Viet Nam today. The biggest raid was by F-100 Super Sabre jets in Quang Tin Province, not far from the North Vietnamese border.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

Authorities reported that both government forces and the Viet Cong suffered heavy casualties in a major battle Wednesday in Quang Tin Province, 350 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. Air Force F-100s from nearby Da Nang air base swooped in and apparently saved fleeing Vietnamese marines from possible annihilation, at the same time inflicting a heavy toll on the pursuing Viet Cong.

Official accounts said the government forces suffered 32 killed, 104 wounded and 30 missing during the fighting near Viet An, strategic redoubt controlling the approaches to Tam Ky, capital of the province.

An airborne battalion and two marine battalions were involved in the battle. One of the marine units was fleeing at a dead run while the Viet Cong chased them through a sugar cane field.

Auto Industry Setting Rapid, Record Pace

Shattered in March
With 964,292 Output

DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry set some more records yesterday. For the first time, the industry has built more than 900,000 cars in a single month.

The industry built 964,292 cars in March, shattering the old one-month high of 898,632 set last December. The total was nearly 240,000 above March of last year.

Car makers also set a three-month record by building 2,560,547 cars over the January-March period.

This broke the old quarterly mark of 2,281,173 cars set in the final three months of 1963. The industry built 2,251,283 cars in the January-March period last year.

This week, the industry turned out 213,426 cars, compared with 210,474 last week and 174,039 in the comparable week of last year.

General Motors and Ford both set new records for any month and any three-month period.

GM built 513,376 cars last month, topping the half-million mark for the first time. The previous one-month record was 453,931 in January. For the three months, GM built 1,406,581 cars, topping the old high of 1,276,320 set in the second quarter last year.

Ford built 261,301 cars in March, 30 per cent higher than last March and 14 per cent better than the previous one-month high set in October, 1963.

Chrysler built 152,658 cars last month, second only to production of 154,221 cars in March 1965.

Air Jumps Injure Two Generals

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — Maj. Gen. John K. Hester was badly injured today in a practice parachute jump. He was the second U.S. general seriously injured in a parachute accident in two days.

An Air Force communique said Hester, 48, was hurt in a parachute qualification jump at Marnheim and was in a serious condition at a hospital in Wiesbaden.

The general underwent brain surgery there during the afternoon and the Air Force said afterward he was "holding his own."

Yesterday, Brig. Gen. Joseph Stilwell, 53, was seriously injured in a jump at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Stilwell, son of the famous "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell who commanded in the Burma-Chinese theater in World War II, suffered a fracture of the lower back, pelvis and both heels. Hester suffered a brain injury.

Stilwell was practicing a free fall jump where the opening of the parachute is delayed for a quicker descent. Hester's parachute failed to open properly in a special training jump.

MONTANA NATIVE
Hester is a native of Plains, Mont.

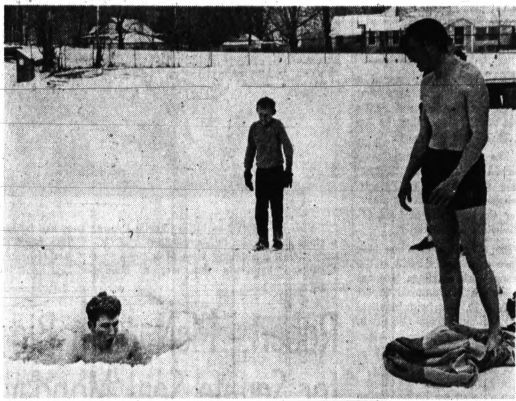

The 17th Air Force is America's major tactical air arm in Europe. Hester has commanded the unit for six months.

The first medical report said Hester had suffered "severe brain injury and was in a coma."

An Air Force spokesman said it appeared Hester's main parachute failed to open properly as he jumped from 1,250 feet altitude.

SPECIAL COURSE
Hester was participating in a special training course. The jump was his fifth and final for the course.

The general went aloft with about 40 other parachutists, all the others landed safely.

City Is Urged to Purchase Property at State Hospital

Pontiac General Hospital officials have proposed that the city purchase state-owned land on the grounds of Pontiac State Hospital for hospital use and intern and resident housing.

The proposal was revealed last night at an informal meeting of the City Commission.

It was disclosed that the hospital board of trustees met Monday evening at a special meeting to pass a resolution urging that the city take an immediate option to buy the 12.4 acres.

Commenting on the board's resolution, Capsalis said, "We just indicated that we thought this was a good deal."

A hospital spokesman said today that the housing would make Pontiac General's intern program more attractive. Also, it would provide for a closer working relationship with Pontiac State Hospital.

STATE OWNED
The land, owned by the state, would have to be bought through state agencies, according to city officials.

City officials said it was possible that Rep. Arthur J. Law could amend a current House bill, which has been introduced to permit Oakland County to buy state-owned land along Telegraph north of Elizabeth Lake Road.

City officials said there has been no price placed on the 12.4 acres and the state would probably have to make an appraisal before offering it for sale.

HOUSING FUNDS
Alex Capsalis, trustee chairman, said that the funds for the housing would come from the medical staff, which has incorporated as a nonprofit corporation.

Edgar Harden of Northern Michigan University withdrew his resignation today, but Gov. Romney indicated that an NMU board member would be replaced.

Harden turned in his resignation at a board meeting last Friday after a dispute over general administration with board member Lincoln Frazier of Marquette.

Then Harden, president of the Marquette school for nine years, withdrew the resignation today. He said his decision came after visiting with Gov. Romney and Edwin O. George, president of the Northern Michigan Board of Control.

He said it was a result of the decision of the board of control in refusing to accept the resignation.

Frazier heard in his resignation Tuesday and Romney declined comment.

But then today, the governor said, "What's going to happen there (with Frazier) is definite but I'm not prepared to announce it at this time."

REPORTS TO GOVERNOR
Romney stressed that Frazier reports to the governor, Harden to the board of control.

News of the resignation didn't become public until yesterday but Harden quickly gained support.

An estimated 3,000 NMU students, about three-fifths of NMU's student body, demonstrated on the campus in support of Dr. Harden.

NMU's faculty also interceded in Dr. Harden's behalf, sending a telegram to Romney expressing confidence in Harden and declaring a hope his resignation would not be accepted.

The demonstrating students, who marched about the campus, carried signs saying "We need President Harden" and "Goals for Greatness Cannot Be Achieved Without President Harden."

One sign saying "Down With Frazier" was removed by demonstration leaders.

Precipitation is expected to total about 1/4 of an inch in occasional periods of rain or showers.

Today in Pontiac and the surrounding area, winds are from the northeast at 8 to 18 miles an hour. Changing to easterly at light velocities tonight, they will be southerly to southeasterly and increase to 10 to 20 miles tomorrow.

Sunday's outlook is occasional rain with little temperature change.

Temperatures today ranged from an early morning low of 21 in downtown Pontiac, to a high of 37 by 2 p.m.

Nation Rides Economic Crest 50th Month

Jobless Rolls Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, citing record-high employment and a seven-year jobless low, says the nation can continue riding the crest of its longest economic boom in history.

"There is much good news economically," Johnson said after the Labor Department reported that more than 70 million Americans were at work in March.

The drop in the jobless rate from 5 per cent to 4.7 per cent of the labor force is also good news, he said, but still "unemployment is too high."

The Labor Department said employment climbed 700,000 to 70,189,000, the highest March on record and — on a seasonally adjusted basis — the highest for any month in history.

"The news of this gain in employment is the best — and the most important of all," Johnson added.

MARK IS TRIBUTE
He said the record is a tribute to all sectors of this economy, including business, labor and his own administration.

He noted the economy is in its 50th consecutive month of expansion, longest in history.

The unemployment figure of 4.7 per cent — seasonally adjusted — was the lowest since October 1957. The Labor Department adjusts the figures to account for normal seasonal fluctuations.

Without adjustment, the jobless figure in March was 5 per cent of the civilian labor force, which climbed about 200,000 to 73,909,000.

FIGURE DECREASE
The number of unemployed persons in March was 3,740,000, down from 4,218,000 in February.

"That is too many," Johnson said. "With so many Americans doing so well these days, it is more important than ever that we do not forget our needs, those who are not sharing in the production or enjoyment of our abundance."

"Good as it is, 4.7 per cent unemployment is too high," he said.

Income Tax Deadline Nearing

April 15 is the deadline for filing 1964 income tax returns. That's less than two weeks away.

History does not record there ever being an extension of time for filing returns.

Some time ago, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) set up Mondays as Taxpayer Assistance Day at the Federal Building, East Huron at Perry. There are only two of these Mondays left before the deadline — April 5 and 12.

Hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. for answering questions in person or by telephone. IRS employees will not fill out your return, but will answer all questions.

According to Lyle D. Russell, administrative assistant to R. I. Nixon, director of the Detroit District, "Tax returns in the Pontiac area are running slower than last year, due no doubt to fewer refunds."

It may take a little longer to fill out your return this year. The form, deductions, etc., are different than they have been. Time is running out.

The five-day weather prediction calls for temperatures to range about 2 degrees above the normal high of 52 and normal low of 34.

Sunday's outlook is occasional rain with little temperature change.

Precipitation is expected to total about 1/4 of an inch in occasional periods of rain or showers.

The Hour Is Growing Late

FBI Puts Squeeze in Toothpaste Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—It could have been dubbed "The Great Toothpaste Caper." The story had most of the ingredients of international intrigue and espionage.

There was a dashing young executive, thousands of dollars in marked bills, a rendezvous at a New York airport, a top secret document, and, finally, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The protagonists in the story were neither East nor West nor 007 versus SPECTRE, but the two great U.S. soap competitors: Procter & Gamble and Colgate-Palmolive.

The story unfolded yesterday in U.S. District Court here.

According to federal authorities, the "spy" of the case was Eugene Arthur Mayfield, 26, a former junior advertising executive of Procter & Gamble who currently works for a Chicago firm.

Mayfield allegedly placed a telephone call to a man from Colgate offering to sell P&G's 1965 plans for peddling its top product, Crest toothpaste.

The 188-page document contained the projected budget and summarized P&G's advertising and marketing plans for Crest, worth at least $1 million to a competitor.

The alleged transaction took place at a men's room in the Trans World Airlines terminal at Kennedy International Airport on Nov. 14, 1964, with Mayfield and the man from Colgate in adjoining cubicles.

Unknown to Mayfield, FBI agents tipped off by the Colgate man watched as the spy traded a bulky envelope containing thermographed pages of the P&G secrets for $20,000 in marked bills.

The spy then asked for the man from Colgate's trousers to assure his getaway.

He dashed out of the cubicle and into the hands of the FBI, arrested on federal charges of using a telephone to further a dishonest scheme.

Yesterday, Mayfield was indicted by a federal grand jury and freed on $25,000 bond. He is scheduled to plead April 15. If convicted, he faces a maximum penalty of $100,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

U.S. Attorney Joseph P. Hoy had nothing but praise for the unidentified people of Colgate-Palmolive for their swift action in contacting federal authorities.

They didn't even take a peek at Procter & Gamble's plans, Hoy said.

He was married and had a married daughter and two grandchildren.

No Changes Recorded in Pontiac Tax Vote

Roberts, McNamara Bid for Senate Seat Monday

Without representation in the State Senate for the last three months, voters in western Oakland and part of Wayne counties will elect a legislator Monday to fill the 14th District post.

Candidates for the vacant seat are former Republican State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts and Democrat Edward H. McNamara, a Livonia city councilman.

The special election was set after Sen.-elect Paul Chanler of Livonia died before taking office.

In a Feb. 15 runoff election, Roberts, 42, of 2486 Lafayette, West Bloomfield Township, outpolled five other GOP candidates, while McNamara won over two other Democrats.

Roberts, an attorney, served in the State Senate for two terms, giving up his post last year in an unsuccessful bid for judge on the new Michigan Court of Appeals.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE Prior to being elected to the Senate, Roberts was a state representative for four years.

FARRELL E. ROBERTS
Republican

His statement:

"I believe that the most important issue before the people is fiscal reform. "I support a basic flat rate tax and not the graduated income tax which is endorsed by my opponent."

"The people of the 14th District are heavily taxed now and a graduated income tax would place an additional unfair burden on them."

"My opponent, by supporting the graduated tax, is saying in effect: Let's gag the suburbs."

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A team of Baylor University College of Medicine doctors implanted an artificial heart in a dog today.

This was one of several attempts to completely replace a natural heart with an artificial one. Experiments are being conducted by at least a dozen places across the nation. They are considered major steps toward the development of a practical artificial human heart.

His statement:

"One serious problem in the district is dropping lake levels. If elected, I will press our Democratic majority to take positive action to conserve our Oakland County lakes."

"I will work to insure that Oakland County schools and Oakland University receive their fair share of financial appropriations. "Senior citizens need and deserve relief. Roads must be made safer. Our tax structure should be streamlined. I will strive to see these aims accomplished."

Taylor Likens Viet to Market

Cites Fluctuations, Need for Readiness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor said today the war in Viet Nam is "a little like the stock market" — there are fluctuations in the action but "obviously we've got to be ready for anything."

Questioned by reporters outside a congressional hearing room, Taylor said there had been an "unusually long" lull in the fighting, but there might be a new burst at any time.

Taylor scheduled appearances before closed House and Senate committees amid some cautious optimism that the situation in Viet Nam is taking a turn for the better.

He repeated that there is no plan of specific retaliation for the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, and that "we are simply going to stay on our program of doing what we did before."

MORE EFFECTIVE "Nothing dramatically new needs to be added," Taylor said, "we've just got to do what we have been doing more effectively."

On the subject of riot control gas, which was used in a limited way in Viet Nam, and drew some criticism from other countries, Taylor said "I think enough has been said on the subject of gas for some time to come."

Taylor has spent nearly a week in top-level consultations in Washington and plans to return to Saigon soon. He said "I have never seen more unanimity" among top officials on the U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Taylor briefed a closed session of the House Armed Services and Foreign Affairs committees, and arranged a similar session with Senate committees for later in the morning. He also was to meet later today with President Johnson and the National Security Council.

RESIGNING? Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., Foreign Affairs Committee chairman, said Taylor had been asked about a report that he was resigning — a report that already has been emphatically denied.

Morgan said Taylor replied that "the only answer he could give to that is that there must be a good many people around here looking for his job," since such rumors crop up every time he returns to Washington.

Ancient, Modern Greece Subject of Travel Film

BIRMINGHAM—The familiar scenes of ancient Greece and the not-so-familiar sights of the modern nation are combined in next week's travel film presentation at the Community House.

Stepped in history and tradition, Greece is a land of gods, heroes, myths and legends. But it also is a country which has left an indelible mark on today's world.

Ken Richter will narrate "Holiday in Greece."

The film he shot places classic Athens, Olympia, Corinth and Sparta in contrast to the new, prosperous Greece with its modern schools, industry and agriculture.

Richter has built his reputation as a film-lecturer not only on his technical skills but on his liking for people.

GOOD BACKGROUND This interest has led him to hours of conversation with all sorts of persons and has added a background element in his films.

Richter has traveled over a million miles through 60 countries.

His film will be shown at 8 p.m. April 9 and 10.

A dinner featuring authentic Greek food will be served at 6:30 p.m. each night. Reservations for the dinner are required by Thursday, although tickets for the film showing can be purchased at the door.

'Would Alter Guard Stand'

Evidence Modifies Decision—Romney

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney, who has said he dismissed two generals on recommendations of the State Military Board, said Thursday his hearing has produced evidence that will modify what the board recommended.

Speaking to his hearing, he made it clear, though that "I do not know the decision I am going to make with respect to the two officers."

Romney is hearing gross neglect of duty charges against Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert. They were fired Oct. 8, reinstated and then suspended pending the hearing.

The governor's remark came during a heated 35-minute debate with McDonald's attorney, Thomas McAllister, who told the governor:

"You convicted these men back in October and from your attitude here, you haven't changed your mind a bit."

WOULD BE DIFFERENT

Romney replied: "I have not made up my mind in this case." Talking with newsmen afterward, he said, "Already as a result of this hearing it is clear to me my action would be different from that recommended by the military board."

Thursday's session, the 15th day of the hearing, concluded all testimony — "as far as I know," McAllister said — except for questioning of the two generals. The hearing will resume next Tuesday.

The Romney-McAllister exchange began at the outset Thursday, when McAllister accused Romney of "badgering the witnesses."

He told Romney: "I request that any questions you have to ask of the witnesses hereafter taking the stand be made in the normal tone of voice and without the violence of yesterday."

PROPER METHOD
"And that you refrain from asking questions until I conclude with the witnesses, which is the proper method unless permission is obtained from me," McAllister added.

In his reply, Romney said, "I have never seen tactics of the type you've used in this hearing."

The governor described the tactics as "interpretation of what is being presented for the purpose of creating a public reporting of this hearing that would suit your own purposes."

Rash of Terrorist Bombs in Malaysia

SINGAPORE (AP) — An explosive device was discovered in Singapore's seafarers area today, a Saigon-style bombing wrecked four cars in the parking lot of a downtown movie theater, and a school was evacuated after its third bomb hoax in two weeks.

Singapore has had three other bombings in the past month. Indonesian terrorists are blamed. One explosion killed three persons and injured 35, and two Indonesians have been charged with murder.

The seafarers was cordoned off while bomb experts dismantled the device there.

Police said the parking lot blast was caused by a five-pound time bomb planted in a small car that apparently had been abandoned. No one was hurt, but the theater next door was cleared of 200 persons.

Students were cleared from the St. Joseph's school after an anonymous telephone caller said a bomb had been planted in a classroom. None was found.

BOMB SCARE

In Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian capital, a Methodist girls' school got a similar telephone tip. Police marched 1,000 soldiers outside, but a two-hour search turned up no bomb.

PARIS (AP) — Followers of President Charles de Gaulle scored a prestige victory early today when their candidate was elected mayor of Paris. The post is largely ceremonial.

A NEW METHOD FOR RELIEVING PAINFUL CORNS OR CALLOUSES

A scientific new formula in an easy to apply liquid is available to those who suffer with corns, calluses, bunions, tired-aching feet or athletes' foot. Although many Chiropractors and Podiatrists use similar formulas for their patients suffering with foot troubles, there is no formula that is as complete as this golden easy to apply liquid. Bunex is a liquid that promises you relief from foot troubles or your money back.

For corns on top of the toes or between the toes, just place a little Bunex on and around the corn area and massage in well twice daily using the little finger using the fingers.

For calluses or Bunions, place a little Bunex on or around the infected area and massage in well twice daily. For tired and aching feet, apply Bunex and rub in well while applying a hand lotion.

For "Athletes foot," apply Bunex each night for about two weeks by massaging into infected area. Although the tissue will clear up in a few days, keep using this wonderful liquid for about two weeks to be sure that all the fungi has been removed.

Bunex is safe to use. Continued use of this wonderful liquid can prevent return of corns, calluses or athletes foot. BUNEX IS SOLD ON A MONEY BACK GUARANTEE AT FERRY PHARMACY, Pontiac and Birmingham; FAIRLAIN'S DRUGS, 26704 Ryan, at 11 Mile Rd., Warren; SHERMAN DRUGS, 3301 Rochester Rd., Royal Oak; BARRY DRUGS, 4302 N. Connecticut to Drop Sterilization Law?

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A little known Connecticut law which permits sterilization "to check the increase of the criminal and degenerate classes" has suddenly come under attack in the Legislature.

The law was passed in 1909 and records indicate it was approved as a means to improve the race.

Recently the State Health Department asked Rep. Katharine A. Everts of Kent, a Republican, to sponsor a bill making a technical amendment to the act.

Mrs. Everts, a leading opponent of Connecticut's anti-birth control law, agreed. She said Thursday that at the time she was unfamiliar with the law.

"Now, however, on further thought, I feel that the whole statute should be repealed," Mrs. Everts said.

REVIEW LAW

Rep. J. McCulloch Turner, Bethany Republican and chairman of the House committee that will review the law, defended the principle "that sterilization can be done," saying it is law in many states. However, he said he disagreed with details of the Connecticut law.

"I shall try to get some experts to delve into the entire ratification of the bill and then the committee will decide what to do with it," he said.

The State Department of Health now says it also favors repeal of the law.

The law permits Connecticut to sterilize inmates of mental institutions, training centers for the mentally retarded, and the state prison. Consent of the patient to be sterilized or his or her family is not required.

Operations may be performed on persons who, in the majority opinion of a three-man board of physicians, might "produce children with an inherited tendency to crime, mental illness or mental deficiency."

How often the law has been used is not known but six mental patients have been sterilized at the Connecticut Valley Hospital in the last 10 years, four of them with the consent of the patient or her family.

STATE PRISON?

Some operations also have been performed at the Middletown and Southbury training schools, the health department says. It is not known if the operation has ever been performed at the state prison.

Mrs. Everts said she will substitute a repeal bill to the health department amendment which would have permitted "tubal surgery" on a female patient instead of removal of the organs (oophorectomy), as the law specified.

When the bill was passed, Assembly records show that one proponent said that the number of mentally deficient and epileptics was appalling. He argued that these persons should not be allowed to produce children for whom the state must care.

Another supporter maintained that sterilized persons were more docile and better for society. The House passed the bill by a vote of 130-28. The vote in the Senate was unanimous.

There was relatively little public interest at the time. One newspaper called the law reprehensible, inexcusable, scandalous and atrocious but another supported it, saying "race culture is a good deal better than race deterioration."

U.S. Planes Watch Foreign Ships Heading for N. Viet Nam Through Gulf of Tonkin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy patrol planes are keeping tabs on Soviet ships and vessels of other nations heading through the Gulf of Tonkin toward Communist North Viet Nam, sources said today.

They said these patrol aircraft sometimes fly as low as a few hundred feet to get clear identification of such ships, to photograph them, and to check on whether they are carrying deck cargo such as airplane fuselages, missile bodies, or tanks.

These sources deny Navy

planes do any buzzing, which means a very low and harassing pass.

The Soviet Union has been claiming repeated U.S. buzzing of its ships off Viet Nam, in the East China Sea, and the Sea of Japan.

Navy officials noted that Soviet planes in the past have overflowed U.S. aircraft carriers in both the Pacific and the Atlantic.

The Navy stepped up air patrols along the Vietnamese coast about five weeks ago.

Two such patrols are flown each day by P2V Neptune patrol planes based in South Viet Nam.

A major purpose of the expanded patrolling is to monitor shipping bound into North Viet Nam — not only Communist ship shipping but vessels of other nations as well.

The greatest interest is in vessels flying Communist bloc ships, especially since the Soviet Union announced it would provide increased military aid to North Viet Nam, which has been hammered by U.S. and South Vietnamese air bombing strikes.

Particular watch is kept for ships equipped with large hatches, since these might be carrying anti-aircraft missiles or other kinds of missiles in their cargo holds.

So far, sources said, the Navy patrol planes have not spotted any vessels with suspicious deck cargo.

Nor have they noticed any significant rise in ship traffic into North Viet Nam, it was said.

Other Navy patrol planes operating out of bases in the Philippines, Okinawa, Formosa, and Japan also are on the lookout for Soviet shipping which might be headed for North Viet Nam from such ports as Vladivostok.

Property Tax Cut Premature

We commend the State Senate for the restraint evidenced in its passage of a $13.5 million senior citizens tax exemption bill in substitution for one passed by the House that could have cost taxpayers $40 million annually.

But despite our long-standing support of measures aimed at amelioration of the condition of needy or disadvantaged, we question the advisability of enactment of any future treasury-depleting legislation at this time.

After 14 long years of wallowing in deficits, climaxed by payless paydays for State employees, Michigan in little more than two years has staged an extraordinary fiscal comeback.

The State's once $80 million deficit is now headed toward a $100-million surplus.

We are, however, by no means out of the economic woods.

In submitting a most comprehensive and realistic budget at the beginning of the year that embraced substantial spending increases in almost all areas of government involvement, Gov. ROMNEY pointed out that to implement it, some $30 million of the surplus was being drawn on.

Looking ahead to next year, the governor foresaw need for the remaining $70 million of surplus to meet continued expansion of existing state programs and agencies and mounting built-in expense of government.

At this point, on the vulnerable assumption that revenues would maintain current boom-time levels, the State would be at best just even financially, with red ink again flashing the danger signal.

To safeguard Michigan's fiscal integrity against such deterioration, ROMNEY called for a bipartisan program looking toward overhaul of the State's fiscal and tax structure that envisioned tax relief for senior citizens.

Explicit, however, in the governor's program is the stern requirement that if the State is to stay out of financial trouble, any unbudgeted spending or reduction in projected revenue enacted by the legislature be supported by correlative provision of additional revenue.

To date, little has come of this sound governmental concept. The legislature rejected Romney's proposed budget, and little progress has been made in a two-party approach to fiscal and tax reform.

On the basis of first things first, we believe the State should get its financial house in order before enacting a measure, as worthy as is tax relief for our needy aged, that will result in a sizable drain on its treasury.

Internal Strife Typifies Klan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — When Congress investigates the Ku Klux Klans—there are at least 14—it will find they are too split by bickering and rivalries to form a single national organization under one leader.

The total membership is probably not over 15,000 although they spread across the Southern states and some leaders have made fantastic claims about numbers. The members in general are not credited with very high intelligence.

The fact that in this free and open society so many men would find it necessary to hide under a hood, necessarily raises questions about their stability and their purpose.

They proclaim their patriotism, but their main target is Negroes, with Catholics, Jews and the foreign-born secondary targets. They have added a new target in recent years: the "Communist conspiracy."

Klansmen live in a childlike world of hoods, robes, symbols, secret membership and passwords, and the kind of titles that would be more appropriate in a fairy tale than in the kind of grisly world Klansmen see.

But the actions of some of them are not at all childlike, as Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities pointed out to reporters Tuesday after the committee unanimously voted to examine the Klans.

He said preliminary inquiries indicate that "shocking crimes are carried out by highly secret action groups within the Klans known as 'knockout squads' or 'holy terrorists.'"

The actions of these goon-squads are disclaimed by Klan officials when they are caught, Willis said, "to protect those Klan leaders who are parties to the crimes committed and to mislead Klan membership and the public."

So far there is no public evidence that Klan leaders knew beforehand of any of the crimes charged to Klansmen or that Klansmen in general knew. But the Klans have had, and still have, a vicious history.

Corruption was piled on top of murder in the past. As late as 1955, five Klans—no longer in existence, at least under their old names—were on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. No new list has been issued in the past 10 years.

KLANS VARY IN SIZE

Klans vary in size. The smallest — the Mississippi Knights of the Ku Klux Klan — reportedly is a one-man Klan operating on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The largest, with about 5,000 members, is the United Klans of America, Inc., with headquarters in Tuscaloosa, Ala. It has members in eight Southern states.

Byrd Statement Turning Point?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia is one of the most dedicated men who has ever achieved prominence in public life.

First as a progressive governor of his state and then later through 32 years of service in the United States Senate, LAWRENCE he has earned the respect of people in both parties in and out of Congress.

What Sen. Byrd has to say, therefore, on the proposed voting-rights bill is of national significance. It could provide a turning point in the whole controversy.

There is every reason for the enactment of legislation to prevent any eligible person, irrespective of color, from being denied the right to vote. But there is no sound reason for using unconstitutional methods to attain even a worthy objective.

This is the essence of Sen. Byrd's argument. He has just declared in a formal statement: "I have analyzed all provisions of the bill. They are inequitable in effect and contemptible in design. The administration has been advised of the odium in which I hold its proposal."

"I have also studied the federal attorney general's testimony. He admits drafting the bill."

UNWORTHY OF OFFICIALS

"Neither the bill nor the testimony is worthy of men entrusted with high office in the national government of this country."

Byrd went on to say that, while the attorney general decries racial discrimination in voting practices, he "deliberately wrote this bill to exempt all voting discrimination in a four-fifths majority of the 50 states from its application."

Byrd pointed out that the federal administration, for the purposes of this law, condones an eighth-grade education as a voting test in New York but wants "the power to qualify a moron to vote in Alabama."

The senator added: "They decry discrimination devices, but they have proposed a law which in itself is a discrimination device."

MOST FORCEFUL

Sen. Byrd's statement is one of the most forceful he has ever delivered. It may cause other members of Congress to adopt an equally courageous position, though, because of the emotional furor that has been generated by the recent "demonstrations," it is not yet certain whether the time necessary for a thorough debate will be allotted.

Sen. Byrd declared that the administration is allowing itself to be "influenced beyond reason by the emotion of domestic hysteria" and that "by its own actions it is inflaming so-called civil-rights issues."

He called it "a vicious bill," and said that "it clearly bears the unreasonable stamp of hysteria."

There are signs that the fight being made against the voting-rights bill will at least result in a number of proposals for its amendment. If these should fail, the 1966 congressional election may become one of the most important in American history.

There is unquestionably an undercurrent of dissatisfaction over the way the bill has been written, and opposition will not cease during the 17 months before the next election. For it is not the purposes of the bill but the palpable violations of the Constitution in that are causing dismay.

Red China Appears to Be Big Barrier to Viet Talks

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Something new—perhaps dramatic—may be in store for the Viet Nam crisis.

Nonaligned nations are taking an initiative to seek peace negotiations "without strings."

Moscow seems anxious to snuff out the smoldering fuse in Southeast Asia.

Talks may be possible, but they could require something like diplomatic isolation of Red China.

From time to time there have been indications that the Hanoi regime wriggles uncomfortably in Red China's grip.

Ho Chi Minh's heart probably is with Moscow, but his border is with Red China, and his Communists cautiously supported the Chinese in the Moscow-Peking quarrel.

Yet Ho must fear to see North Viet Nam laid waste as a sacrifice to Red Chinese ambitions.

CAUTIOUS HINTS

Through cautious hints, dropped in the right places, Hanoi has managed to spread the word that it would not insist on withdrawal of U.S. troops from the south as a condition for a cease-fire and negotiations.

The Chinese probably would like to parry just such a development as the nonaligned nations' initiative for no-strings negotiations in South Viet Nam.

The situation as it is can continue for years without costing the Chinese much, and can promise eventual effective domination of all Southeast Asia for Peking.

China will react angrily to the idea of a U.N. role in South Viet Nam. Peking already suspects the Russians of skulduggery in this respect.

ROADBLOCK

A U.N. presence in Viet Nam could mean difficulty for Peking's long-range program.

The combined pressure of the United States, Western Europe, the nonaligned nations and the pro-Soviet Communist bloc conceivably could back Red China into a corner.

Some Duties

San Francisco Chronicle

A woman who runs a nursery school in San Bruno, California, was delivering a station wagon load of kids home one day when a fire truck zoomed past. Sitting on the front seat was a Dalmatian dog. The children fell to discussing the dog's duties. "They use him to keep the crowds back," said one five-year-old. "No," said another. "He's just for good luck." A third child brought the argument to an end. "They use the dog," he said firmly. "To find the fire plug!"

Propulsion would be provided by a revolutionary application of the principle of the electric motor. Speeds of 500 to 600 miles an hour are theoretically possible.

President Johnson has called for a 200-mile-an-hour rail link between Boston and Washington. If the Japanese engineers are right, this won't be accomplished with conventional locomotives.

Building such a line would be an expensive undertaking. But it would be less expensive in the long run than perpetual tax-

Frenchmen, with their bent for Maginot-line thinking, say no one can beat Le Grand Channel if he chooses to run. Spite-working right - wingers unrecalled to the Algerian settlement joined with Communists to bring about the council win, it is claimed. Perhaps.

Could it also be that the preposterously vainglorious de Gaulle has finally overplayed his almost pathological anti-U.S., anti-British hand?

Walk or Not ...

When I start across the street, the light says, "Walk." When I get in the middle, it says, "Don't Walk." What am I supposed to do, fly, or just hop across a little?

Comments on Recent Killing in Alabama

My heart aches for the family of Viola Liuzzo, but there are thousands of children who have lost their mothers in much more brutal ways.

Seems funny that, with the number of people in Alabama at this time, the four Klans were found so quickly, yet murders go unsolved in the Pontiac area where there are fewer people.

While President Johnson is investigating the Klan, Nazis, and everything he finds distasteful, I wonder if he'd investigate the crime, murder, beatings and robberies on our streets and in business places.

Dr. Martin Luther King is asking President Johnson to take Federal aid from all States where there are racial problems. Instead of taking aid from the laboring class of people, why don't they march against the people who have money, like President Johnson, Rockefeller, and others?

I wonder if the President calls the relatives of the Americans who are killed in South Viet Nam to apologize to them as he did the husband of the woman that was killed in Alabama. They are also fighting for a good cause.

'Our Servicemen Also Die for a Cause'

Why all the sensationalism connected with the violence in Alabama? Is it necessary to declare a period of state mourning or union and taxpayers' money to aid the survivors of these people? These people volunteered to take the risks involved and died for what they believed in.

Men are killed practically every day in places like Viet Nam for a cause every bit as important for the future of America. Many are not given a choice to do so of their own free will.

Are they any less martyrs? If so, are they lucky they may get a few lines on the inside pages of a few newspapers telling of their sacrifice.

Reds Patently Reform in World Patents Area

As with most other agreeable things they do, the reasons behind the Soviets' announced intention of signing the 1883 international agreement on patents is eminently practical and only incidentally altruistic.

In the days when Russia was a technological fledgling, it paid the Communists to pirate the inventions of other countries. Now that they have developments of their own to license and sell abroad — like a surgical stapler and an improved oil drill — the rules of civilized business intercourse set by the capitalist West begin to look good.

Whatever the reasons, however, the move should be welcomed, for it works two ways: Foreign patent holders will at last just be paid for the use of their inventions by the Russians.

But in the matter of less "practical" creations — poems, plays and books — the Russians, as nonobservers of the Universal Copyright Convention, continue to publish the works of foreign authors without permission and without payment of royalties.

Many Consider Them a Menace

Safety Officials Study Elderly Drivers

CHICAGO (AP) — Safety officials are focusing attention on elderly drivers, considered by many authorities as a highway menace second only to teen-age hot rodders.

The problem was discussed Thursday by safety officials after an 85-year-old motorist was arrested in his 1914 auto without a driver's license. He told police, "I was just minding my own business."

But driving is increasingly the business of 96 million other drivers, including legislators, policemen, court officials, psychologists, engineers, insurance men and safety planners.

All are taking a hard look at the older driver. Ten states and the District of Columbia have special driver license examination laws applying to elderly motorists.

DRIVER EXAMS

In general, these states get drivers into examining rooms periodically after they reach a specific age, ranging from 60 to 75.

Safety officials are inclined to smother talk of their findings about the oldsters with diplomatic soothing syrup, but some of their feeling comes through: Even though he's cautious, grandpa may be a highway menace.

Not only have a number of states acted on this supposition, but a few conservative insurance firms have declined to renew auto casualty and liability coverage for customers after they reach 64. Most continue insurance of old customers with good driving records. But they worry.

One insurance industry source estimated that in 1963 losses on auto liability coverage amounted to about $100 million, with more than $4.5 billion paid out in claims against about $4.4 billion collected in premiums.

National Safety Council records for 1963 showed that 23 of every 100 drivers in the 65-69 age group were involved in accidents. This record matches the 25-29 age group, but is lower than the teens and the 20-24 age group. The average for all ages is 21 drivers per 100. Yet, when drivers 70-74 are considered, the involvement rate is only 11 — the best of any group, and the percentage of those 75 or over who got into accidents was only 14.

'Operation Mehrauli' Labeled Success; Peace Corps in India on the Move

By DAN COGGIN
MEHRAULI, India (AP) — Peace Corpsman Tim Crean was bent over his battered desk catching up on paperwork when a great cackling and clucking shattered the quiet of the village street outside his tiny office.

In burst a bearded Indian peasant and several helpers bearing armloads of excited, flapping chickens which they dumped on the floor.

In the babel of Hindi and Punjabi, languages Tim understands, he learned that a family crisis brought this Indian chicken farmer and 150 birds to the Indian cooperative union, a poultry venture started with his advisory help a year ago.

Helpers transferred the flock from a bullock cart to the office. The chicken farmer explained that he was a Brahmin. Parents of his daughter's fiance threatened to cancel their marriage contract unless he stopped working with poultry — they deemed this unworthy for India's highest social caste.

BACK FOR BIRDS

A week later — after the wedding — the farmer came back for his 150 birds and stayed in the poultry business.

"You might call him a satisfied customer," chuckled Crean, 24, a native of Portland, Maine, recalling this lighter episode of his tour as one of 274 Peace Corps volunteers in India.

The Indian government, encouraged by results of the program that started with 26 volunteers three years ago, continues to ask for more and more corpsmen.

Brent Ashabanner, 43, Peace Corps director in India, said his contingent will grow to about 650 in September, may number 1,000 by this time next year and stands to be perhaps the largest peace corps team in any nation.

"But the program will still be small in terms of India's potential and need," Ashabanner said, noting that India's 480 million outnumber the populations of Africa and Latin America combined.

EXPERT ADVICE

Crean last April brought American know-how to Mehrauli after spending his first three months in India on a poultry project in the desert state of Rajasthan. People eager to start chicken and egg enterprises need expert advice.

Tim launched Mehrauli's government-aided poultry cooperative with 12 families and 1,500 chickens. It now has 40 families and 15,000 birds and 10,000 more chickens will be added before Tim completes his tour in September.

Families now participating in the project were all farmers previously and scratched out an average of 30 rupees — $6.30 — a month raising mustard seed or other crops on small plots of land. Getting enough to eat was a daily crisis.

Given loans to cover most of their initial poultry outlays, these families now earn an average of $42 a month — far above the nationwide average.

SUPERVISOR

Tim supervises the cooperative's feed-mixing mill, oversees cleaning and packaging of eggs — retail price 63 cents a dozen — and handles marketing arrangements.

The operation is going so well, according to Tim's superiors, that no other corpsman is expected to be assigned to Mehrauli when he goes home. The Indians can run it themselves.

Tim will go back to school in September and hopes to add a degree in Indian studies from the University of Pennsylvania to his political science degree from the University of Maine, class of 1963. His eventual aim is to return to India as a diplomat.

State Hearings End on Railroad Service

LANSING (AP) — Hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed abandonment of the Mackinac-St. Ignace Railroad ferry and some 300 miles of freight service in northern Michigan wound up Thursday, reports Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Kelley said no further testimony will be taken but June 15 has been set the latest date for filing of briefs by all parties. The railroads also have said they will appeal to the full commission on an examiner's ruling excluding new evidence on traffic.

Income Tax-it's Strikes Hard

By United Press International President Johnson is not alone in feeling the bite of the income tax man.

A United Press International survey showed today that the "Great Society" itself is taking out loans — as the President did — or postponing vacations or working overtime to help pay the tax man this year.

In an off-hand remark at a White House ceremony yesterday, Johnson disclosed that he recently borrowed money to pay his taxes.

"This year," the President said with a smile, "I borrowed the money the other day to pay the government a tax of $100,000.

"They have a procedure where they pay it to the president with the left hand and take it out with the right."

SOME LAUGH

"We've had some people laugh hysterically and others sit with tears in their eyes," said a Minneapolis banker responsible for small loans. "There's no doubt some will have to change their way of life temporarily."

The cause of it all is the way the new tax reform law was written. The withholding rate was slashed all the way from 18 to 14 per cent last year, but tax rates themselves didn't fall as fast. The result: people had more money in their paychecks, but many wound up owing the government taxes.

(This year, the withholding stayed the same and the tax rate fell the rest of the way.) If it made some people laugh and some people cry, it made some people mad.

"A man came in and, after his tax return was completed, I advised him he owed about $100," said Dallas tax consultant Robert Fishkind. "He always had refunds in the past. He got up in a huff and said, 'The hell with that' and tore up his tax form and stalked out."

Most of those caught in the tax squeeze were taking out loans, the survey showed.

UP 20 PER CENT
Loans for tax purposes were reported up 20 per cent in the Washington, D.C. area. First Federal Savings and Loan of Pittsburgh reported many customers were borrowing on their savings.

"Quite a number of people have asked for loans this year," said Joe Story, a vice president of the Bank of Texas in Houston. "It seems like this new withholding has gotten a lot of people in trouble."

New York bankers reported a sharp rise in small loans, but not as big a one as they had anticipated. They used heavy advertising promotion in subways, newspapers and on television offering emergency tax loans.

The Bank of America in Los Angeles said personal loan applications hadn't gone up, but people were taking advantage of special credit cards the bank offers to get cash advances up to $3,000. Many people were thought to be using them to pay taxes, a bank spokesman said.

FEELS CHANGE

The Internal Revenue Service felt the change in a number of ways. From Jan. 1 to March 19, returns were down 25 per cent from last year, 29,656,000 to 22,060,000 in 1964. People are evidently taking time to figure the new tax law out, an IRS spokesman said.

The amount of "other loans" — a category that would include tax and auto loans — jumped by more than $100 million over last year, the IRS said. It has no figures on loans for taxes alone, it said.

Refunds mailed out through March 19 totaled $1.9 billion a year ago, mainly as a result of the new law.

Many Americans, however, were prepared for the change and appeared to be taking it calmly.

Brazil Austerity Program Paying Off

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For exactly a year now Brazilians have been living under an austerity program as tough as the grim career soldier who in April, 1964, took over from inept and left-leaning President Joao Goulart.

But this week, when President Humberto Branco marked the first anniversary of Brazil's revolutionary regime by accepting another $43.4 million in U.S. loans, there was further proof that austerity is paying off.

The loans under the Alliance for Progress will go into electric power projects, highways, low-cost housing, waterworks and expansion of the metal, cement and plywood industries.

The money was only a part of the $450 million which the United States has pledged to shore up the Brazilian economy. But equally important was the new vote of U.S. confidence in the new regime's pledge not only to save Brazil from communism but also to restore economic and political stability.

Brazilians still grumbled because still plaguing the country was the inflation which through three successive administrations had nearly wrecked the cruzeiro and which reached a peak under Goulart.

PRICES UP

One year ago the Brazilian housewife had to pay 170 cruzeiros for two pounds of black beans. Today she pays 320 cruzeiros. Sugar has gone up from 140 cruzeiros a year ago to 312.

But today the unofficial rate of the cruzeiro is pegged at 1,830 to the dollar, exactly what it was a year ago and in itself a mark of international confidence in the new regime.

During Goulart's 31 months in office the cruzeiro fell from 250 to the dollar to nearly 2,000.

GRANTED RAISES

To workers grumbling about rising prices and decreased purchasing powers he granted a pay raise from $23 to $35 by raising the minimum wage 57 per cent. The unions had demanded a 100 per cent raise.

The president thus relieved some of the grumbling and at the same time indicated he would hold the line against excessive demands.

At the same time he promised easy credit and tax reductions on imports for companies agreeing to hold down prices.

BACKED BY MILITARY

The Brazilian cost of living jumped about 85 per cent last year. It had been forecast at 140 per cent. Next year the government hopes to cut it to less than 50 per cent and around 10 per cent thereafter.

Under government pressure, backed by the military, the Brazilian congress has passed laws for land reform, a tightened system of tax collection and an even break for foreign investors.

Tax dodging long has been a respected pastime among Brazilians. In Sao Paulo, a city of millionaires, only eight persons reported income exceeding $20,000 last year.

A revamped collection system already has boosted returns from Sao Paulo by 6 per cent.

Austerity has resulted in personal hardships. In Sao Paulo some 50,000 workers have been laid off.

But so encouraging were results of a recent election in Sao Paulo that the government has now decided to go ahead with election of 11 state governors this year. And the government goes into 1965 with its budget totally financed.

PROBLEM: The Rising Arms. NEEDED: A doorway.

DO THIS: Stand in the doorway, press outward with the hands and arms as shown in the drawing at right, and count slowly to 25. Step away from the door, and your arms begin to rise mysteriously.

HERE'S WHY: This is an interesting example of the workings of mind and muscle. The 25-count effort is sufficient to produce a persistent attempt to raise the arms. The door case prevents this, but as soon as you step out of the doorway, the persistent effort to raise the arms becomes a possible reality.

Questions on Deductions Top List

Find Common Tax Problems

R. I. Nixon, Detroit District director for the Internal Revenue Service, advised today that the 1965 filing period rapidly draws to an end, the Detroit District Office has found that Michigan's taxpayers in general are having the same common problems.

Nixon stated that the most frequently asked questions deal with the deduction for Michigan sales and gasoline taxes.

If you itemize your deductions on Page 2 of the Form 1040, you are allowed to deduct general sales tax and gasoline tax even though the items may be personal expenses.

To determine your allowable deduction for sales tax, you may itemize the amount you actually spent on Michigan sales tax.

In lieu of this method of computation, you may use the sales tax deduction table published by the Internal Revenue Service. This table is a guide to the average amounts which may be claimed in the absence of definite proof of payment.

CAR PURCHASE

If the sales tax table is used and the automobile was purchased during the calendar year 1964, the amount of sales tax on this purchase may also be deducted but must be itemized separately.

Since the sales tax table for 1964 has been revised, tables published in earlier years may not be used in completing a 1964 federal tax return.

The allowable deduction for gasoline tax is six cents per gallon and is not included in the Michigan sales tax deduction table.

To easily compute your deduction for gasoline tax, merely determine the total number of miles driven during the year and divide this number by the average number of miles per gallon. The answer will be the number of gallons consumed, which when multiplied by six cents will give the amount of this deduction.

COMMON QUESTIONS

Nixon said that other common questions asked either in person on Taxpayer Assistance Day or by telephone are:

Q—Where should I mail my federal tax return?

A—Michigan residents should mail their federal tax return to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit, Michigan 48226. If the return shows a tax balance due, a check in this amount made payable to "Internal Revenue Service" should accompany the return.

Q—I recently filed my return and have a refund coming. When can I expect to receive my refund check?

A—Generally, a refund check can be expected in about six weeks. There are several factors involved which may delay the release of a refund check. Errors or imperfections detected on an initial review or the fact that the return was selected for a pre-refund audit can delay the issuance of a refund check. Also involved is the time of filing. A return filed early in the filing period will be processed in less time than one received with the bulk of returns at the close of the period.

Q—Is it true that students are allowed a double tax exemption?

A—While not completely true, in one sense they are. A full-time student filing his own return may claim one exemption for himself. If the student's parents provide more than one half of his support, then they also may claim him as an exemption assuming the other tests of dependency are met.

Q—I just completed my 1964 federal tax return, and find I owe more money this year than I did last. Why is this, since we were supposed to have received a several billion dollar tax reduction?

A—The 1964 Revenue Act did reduce all individual federal income tax rates. If the income and total deductions were comparable for both 1963 and 1964, most taxpayers will find their total tax liability was greater for 1963 than it is for 1964.

Tax Tips

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The following income tax information is furnished by the Internal Revenue Service.)

QUESTION: I retired in July, 1964, and I am receiving a pension from my employer of $300 per month. My investment in this pension plan was about $8,000. How should this income be reported on my federal tax return?

ANSWER: If you will recover your cost in your pension plan within three years from the day you receive the first payment, you are not taxed on the proceeds until you fully recover your cost. After your cost is recovered, all future payments are taxed in full. From the facts you have set forth, you will obviously recover your investment within this three-year period. You will therefore not be taxed on the first $8,000 received. The amounts received should be reported on Part I of Supplemental Schedule B of Form 1040. For the answer to your question, call your local Internal Revenue Service Office.

First Day as Party Chairman

Bliss Calls for GOP With Broad Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's Ray C. Bliss took command of the Republican National Committee yesterday and called for a drive to build a party that "offers a broad appeal to all the citizens of the United States."

Speaking for the first time as national chairman, Bliss said:

"We must transmit a sense of sound responsibility to all our citizens — young and old, rich and poor, black or white, employer or employee, city dweller or farmer."

Bliss took over the chairmanship from Dean Burch, the man Barry Goldwater chose to fill the job. Burch stepped aside two months ago, and his resignation took effect yesterday.

He was not on hand as Bliss addressed the 13th annual Republican Women's Conference, a gathering of some 2,000.

"I am not here to criticize anyone for anything that did or did not happen in the past," Bliss said. "I never have been a Monday morning quarterback."

STOP BLAMING

Bliss said the party must stop blaming others for its own failures.

"We must expand this sense of purpose to build a party which offers a broad appeal to all citizens of the United States," he said. "Muddling and negative thinking will win neither supporters or elections, and, even if they did, I'll have no part of them."

The veteran Ohio state chairman said the United States cannot afford to have either of its major parties "weak or disinterested, discouraged or unresponsive to the needs of our citizens."

"The present weakness of the Republican party is not simply a problem for the Republicans," he said. "It is a national problem. It is a weakness all Americans must understand. And it is a responsibility that all Americans must shoulder."

RUBBER STAMP

Bliss said neither the Democratic party nor the Republican party should ever gain "the raw power that leaves it unchallenged, and its members a mere rubber stamp for a president, excellent or ordinary."

In recruiting candidates, Bliss said, Republicans have "too often experienced difficulty because each of us expects a candidate to reflect precisely and exclusively our own political views."

He said the party has lost the support of "many so-called minority groups, and many from the ranks of labor."

"The false impression has spread across the land that our party has forsaken the great principles which called it into being — individual freedom and human dignity."

Bliss took charge in the climax of a switch that signaled the end of Goldwater's conservative dominance in the GOP.

"I don't claim to be a political medicine man with some secret cure-all potion," he said. "But I do claim to be a worker."

TAKES OVER JOB—Ohio's Ray C. Bliss spoke to a group of Republican women gathered in Washington, yesterday, giving his first talk as chairman of the Republican party.

Rise Expected in Great Lakes

DETROIT (AP) — The Great Lakes are expected to rise three inches to a foot in their levels over the next month.

With the exception of Superior where control gates have been lowered to feed the lower lakes, all rose during March.

Superior lost two inches. Michigan, Huron and Erie each gained two and Ontario six.

Between now and May 2, the United States Lake Survey estimates that Superior will go up three inches, Michigan and Huron five, Erie six and Ontario 12 inches.

GAINS 6 INCHES

Lake St. Clair has gained eight inches since March 2 and is expected to go up another seven by May 2.

Compared with April 2 a year ago, Superior is three inches higher, Michigan and Huron up five and Erie one. Ontario is the same as then.

May Scrap Plan to Close Vets' Homes, Hospitals.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least some of the 14 veterans' hospitals and old soldiers' homes due to be shut down July 1 could be saved under a compromise reported under discussion today.

President Johnson lent credence to the report yesterday when he told his news conference that he now had "some doubt" about the move, which brought cries of outrage from Capitol Hill when it was first announced late last year.

The chief executive said he had been studying the testimony on the closures given during six weeks of hearings by the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

He said he had directed Veterans Administration Chief William J. Donovan to make a personal inspection of each of the facilities scheduled for closing.

"I am very anxious to see that no injustice is done," he said. "Our people, all of them who studied the details of it, feel they were justified in that decision but candor compels me to admit I have seen some of the hospitals and some of the testimony... on them and they raise doubts in my mind whether we were a hundred percent right."

BILL IS READY.
Should a compromise on the closings fail to develop by Tuesday, the House Veterans Committee is ready with a bill which would keep all the facilities open until the committee has approved of each closing.

Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., warned however against any expectation that this would mean a permanent stay for all the hospitals listed by Johnson in his economy move.

At most — whether via the compromise route or the committee's antiscraping bill — it appeared that not more than five or six of the listed hospitals would get an indefinite new lease on life.

Teague indicated that the committee might approve some of the shutdowns and reject others in the event it were given that chore through legislation. It approved a bill to that effect informally yesterday.

UNANIMOUS VOTE

After taking its unanimous vote for the bill, the committee instructed Teague to explore further the possibility of a compromise on the closing order that might make the bill unnecessary.

"We have recessed until Tuesday," said Teague. "That's as late as we can wait. Unless some compromise is worked out by that time, the committee will take some action next Tuesday morning."

New Dating Process Prehistoric 'Assist'

CHICAGO (UPI) — An anthropologist said today a new chemical dating process has helped scientists push man's beginnings nearly 2 million years back into time.

Dr. Sol Tax of the University of Chicago said the new technique, using potassium argon, has replaced carbon 14 as a tool in measuring prehistorical time.

Tax has called together more than 25 of the world's leading scientists to discuss and debate major developments in the search for the origin of man. The conference starts tonight and runs through Sunday.

Opening the meeting will be the noted British anthropologist, Dr. Louis S. B. Leakey, whose extensive diggings in Tanganyika's Olduvai Gorge unearthed the fossil remains of a tool-using, man-like creature that lived about 1,750,000 years ago.

The earliest such remains previously dated — the so-called Java man — had been estimated to be 700,000 years old.

EXPLORATIONS

Leakey and his wife, Mary, have explored the fossil-rich Olduvai Gorge for more than 20 years. Their discoveries, including one of an estimated 25-million-year-old skull with characteristics of both ape and man, are still considered controversial.

Tax said the current conference, a successor to the university's Darwin centennial celebration in 1959, will debate such developments as:

The potassium argon dating technique which doubles the previously accepted history of man.

The discovery of 4,000 primitive tools in context with the bones of animals and manlike creatures which provide evidence for defining culture.

FIELD STUDIES

Intensive field studies of bands of chimpanzees, gorillas, baboons and other primates. And new techniques of linguistics providing evidence of the origin of language.

At that Chicago conference six years ago, Tax said, most scientists agreed that evolution was a fact, notwithstanding the Tennessee trial that made Darwinism famous.

The scientists also said that evolution was a process that was still going on, and its mechanism was becoming clearer.

Potassium argon was developed by scientists Jack Evered and Garnett Curtis of the University of California.

Orion Slates Hearing on Proposed Budget

ORION TOWNSHIP — A proposed 1965-66 budget totaling $171,400 has been adopted by the Township Board, and will go up for voter approval or disapproval at a public hearing April 13.

The hearing will be held during the board's regular meeting, 7 p.m. in the township hall.

The new budget estimate is $23,300 higher than estimated expenditures last year, and compares with estimated receipts of $159,500.

An auditor's report has indicated that the township general fund had a balance of $75,000.

The board decided to leave

$10,000 in the general fund and transfer the remainder to other funds in the following amounts:

ZONING AND PLANNING
Zoning and planning, $25,000; police protection, $9,000; engineering, $1,000; special building fund, $5,000; and highway fund, $25,000.

Included in the new budget are $1,000 raises for the supervisor, clerk, treasurer and building inspector.

The supervisor has been receiving $6,000, the clerk and treasurer $5,000 and the building inspector, who also serves as water inspector, $4,000.

The $171,400 estimated expenditures include the following:

EXPENDITURES
Police protection, $12,000; library, $13,000; zoning and planning, $25,000; water department, $10,000; fire protection, $30,000; highway department, $36,000; general fund, $55,000; and welfare, $400.

While approving the proposed budget, the board also voted to continue to pay half the cost of chloriding roads in the township. Adjacent property owners pay the other half.

The sewer fund now has $12,000 in it, according to the auditor's report. The board decided not to add any more to that.

18 Townships Meet Saturday

Routine Action Likely at Annual Sessions

Annual township meetings will be held in 18 area townships tomorrow.

Prospects for more than routine democratic action appear slim in most of the meetings, which in bygone years were the occasion for a day-long family "outing."

In most cases, officials simply will follow the format required by statute, offer a tentative budget and then go home.

In at least two townships — Avon and Highland — they plan to discuss the possibility of pay raises.

Some of the sessions will last less than five minutes and be attended only by township board members.

AT LEAST ONE

But there's always the chance that at least one resident or one group will have something to say, and this is still their opportunity to say it.

Area townships which have abolished the annual meeting in recent years are Bloomfield, Brandon, Farmington, Holly, Orion, Oxford, Novi, Southfield, Waterford and West Bloomfield.

Staging 1 p.m. meetings tomorrow are Addison, Avon, Bruce, Commerce, Groveland, Highland, Independence, Melmore, Pontiac, Shelby, Springfield, Washington and White Lake townships.

Lyon and Oakland townships have their meetings slated for 1:30 p.m. In Dryden, Milford and Rose townships, the sessions will be held at 2 p.m.

Holly Church Sets Crusade

HOLLY — Rev. Elwood McQuaid will conduct a "Crusade for Christ" at the First Baptist Church, beginning Monday and continuing through April 11.

Music will be featured during the nightly services, scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Nursery service will be available for those attending the services at the church, 400 S. Saginaw.

Cantata to Be Sung by Area Church Choir

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — A cantata entitled "No Greater Love" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

Featured in the cantata will be the choir of Church of the Atonement, United Presbyterian, 3535 Clintonville, Waterford Township, under the direction of Charles Deavey. A 6:30 p.m. supper will precede the cantata.

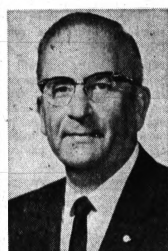

HONORED-ELK — James L. Ockerman Sr., a Pontiac police officer, will be installed tomorrow night in the Grand Lodge of the Elks at Farmington Lodge No. 1960. Replacing him as Exalted Ruler for the coming year will be Douglas Horst of Farmington. Ockerman joined the lodge in 1960.

Volunteer Firemen Set Annual Event

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The volunteer fire department will hold its annual family night dinner at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Orionville Roto-Jay Hall.

Featured speaker for the occasion will be Earl J. Hill, administrative assistant in public relations for the Flint division of Consumers Power Co., who will discuss "The Pursuit of Happiness."

About 100 persons are expected to attend the dinner, according to chairman William Kilbourn.

EARL J. HILL

Home Safety Program Due in Davisburg

DAVISBURG — In an attempt to make homes safer for youngsters, the Davisburg Jaycee Auxiliary will launch a program to stem one of the leading killers of children — accidental poisoning.

It will hold a free public program Wednesday night featuring a slide presentation and talk by Douglas Vivian, chief pharmacist at Hurley Hospital, Flint. The program is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Springfield Township Hall.

Vivian's talk will be followed by a question-and-answer period and distribution of free literature which can be used for reference in the home.

Adman Is Speaker for School Series

ORCHARD LAKE — A Detroit advertising man will be the speaker Monday in the monthly "Conversation" series sponsored by the Aquinas Academy of St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake.

William S. Schindler, assistant to the advertising manager of J. L. Hudson Co., will speak at the 7 p.m. program in the campus assembly hall. Schindler's activities include membership on the Mayor's Committee for Commercial and Industrial Development and in the Detroit Press Club.

He is a deacon of the Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church and serves on the board of directors of Detroit Baptist Men.

Avon Township Plan

Hearings Set on Water Main Proposal

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residents of the southeastern portion of the township will soon determine whether a proposed $379,472 water main system will be constructed to serve 1,077 parcels in that area this year.

Public hearings on the proposed system will be held April 7, 8 and 13 for three special assessment districts that have been drawn up. All are at 8 p.m. in the township hall.

Each of the three districts will determine whether or not it will proceed with the system, independent of the others.

Plans for the system could be defeated in any or all of the districts if property owners representing 20 per cent or more of the land in the district sign petitions opposing the water mains.

The general area which would be served by the water system is bounded on the north by Avon Road and on the east by Dequindre. It runs almost to John R on the west and nearly to South Boulevard on the south.

SPLIT UP
It includes all of Brooklands Subdivision, which is split up between the three districts.

District No. 1 will have its hearing Wednesday. It includes parcels along John R from Auburn to Avon roads plus the area north of Brooklands Subdivision.

The hearing for District No.

2 is Thursday, including Brooklands, north of Auburn Road, and properties along the south side of Auburn.

The District No. 3 hearing is slated for April 13, taking in the remainder of Brooklands Subdivision.

The estimated cost to property owners for the system is $3.50 per front foot of land, plus a $190 tap-in fee when they connect.

They will also face a variable but small cost in putting "house leads" in from their property lines to their homes.

Utica Board Adopts Preliminary Budget

UTICA — The board of education has adopted a preliminary budget for 1965-66 that includes estimated expenditures totaling more than $1 million over this year's budget.

Total disbursements are estimated at $5,855,730, compared to $4,695,730 for this year.

Also included in the preliminary budget is a total of $6,073,000 in estimated receipts, as against $4,695,730 for this year.

The $218,000 difference between estimated receipts and expenditures for 1965-66 is a carryover which is expected to diminish to $170,000 in the 1966-67 school year and to become a deficit of $150,000 by the following year.

A detailed comparison of sources of receipts indicates that state sources will be a smaller percentage of the total receipts, while local sources will provide a larger percentage of the total.

SAME SOURCE
While state moneys accounted for 52.4 per cent of receipts this year, the new budget carries an estimate of 46.8 per cent from the same source in 1965-66.

Local sources are expected to account for 43.7 per cent of receipts next year, as compared to 43.9 per cent this year.

Receipts from federal sources and incoming transfer students will vary only slightly.

Expenditures for instruction are seen as likely to increase by nearly $1 million alone next year in the tentative budget, from $3,346,019 to $4,344,500.

Wolverine Poll Near on Lake Renovation

WOLVERINE LAKE — Voters here Monday will record their opinions on how Wolverine Lake should be rehabilitated.

They will express their sentiments in a public opinion poll being conducted at the same time as the village election for the sake of convenience.

However, village officials are stressing the fact that the poll is not an election — it will not bind the council to a specific action.

"It's just to let the council know how the people feel," Village Clerk Jessie K. Johnson said with the election.

AREA NEWS

After voting for councilmen, electors will stop at Mrs. Johnson's office to mark their choice of rehabilitation methods.

2 SEPARATE PROJECTS
Two separate projects will be outlined, the first having two parts.

If voters think the water-level should be raised, they can check the program to establish and maintain the lake level through the Oakland County Drain Commissioner or to establish the feasibility of a local well and pumping apparatus to maintain a lake level.

The other choice available is the complete renovation of the lake through dredging.

Rehabilitation of the lake has been under consideration here for some time, with different opinions expressed on how best to accomplish the goal.

RULED UNFEASIBLE
Oakland County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry ruled the proposed dredging project unfeasible on the basis of an engineering report that the work would cost $985,000.

The Wolverine Lake Rehabilitation Association hired another engineer who came up with a $250,000 cost estimate.

With conflicting expert opinion on the matter, the drain commissioner again turned down the proposal last October.

Second Vote Monday on Building Code

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — The proposed Highland Township building code will make its second trip to the polls Monday.

Voters again will be asked to approve the ordinance adopted Sept. 1, 1964.

The victory margin for the code in that special election was 325-324.

Because of a technicality involved, township attorney Harold Dudley advised the board to place the question on another ballot.

The legality of the code, which was to have been approved by the board before being taken to an election, was questioned following the September balloting.

Blaze Guts Home in Elba Township

ELBA TOWNSHIP — Fire last night completely gutted a one-story frame home at 5482 Hammond, forcing a family of six into the street.

Owned by Ted Ripperdan of Elba Township, the home was rented and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dombrowski and their four children.

The Elba Fire Department responded to the 7:03 p.m. alarm and fought the blaze for two hours.

The house was insured, but the cause of the fire or the amount of damage it caused was not known this morning.

New Law Allows Trustee to Assume Office in Avon

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has learned that it will not have to vote on a new-trustee after all.

Clarence E. Shaw, elected last November to the board, will be able to take his seat April 10, thanks to a new state law just passed by the House and signed by Gov. Romney.

The board has also been informed that the Oakland County Road Commission has agreed to help pay for the paving of 1.2 miles of Avon Road between Crooks and Livernois.

Shaw was hospitalized last November, and was unable to take his oath of office within 10 days after the election as required by law.

If the new law had not passed, the board would have had to choose its new trustee, probably Shaw.

The effect of the new law is to allow those elected in November to take their oath of office anytime before the following March 31 in order to start their term April 10.

Shaw has taken his oath and the board is now complete.

Americans Still Most Popular Tourists in Egypt Despite Nasser Outburst

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government's recent anti-American campaign scared some American tourists away last December and January but it doesn't seem to have bothered the ordinary Egyptian.

Americans are still the most popular tourists here.

Even the Egyptian government seems to like them. The flow of tourists is picking up again, and government tourist officials are working overtime to push it.

They are promising new hotels, cheaper package tours, a major advertising campaign in the United States and a drastic reduction in red tape.

LITTLE EFFECT
The anti-American campaign could have been conducted in China for all the effect it appears to have had on the Egyptians that tourists meet.

"You American?" Is still the favorite friendly cry of shopkeepers, peddlers, guides and hotel employees.

The camels and donkeys that tourists ride out by the pyramids are still called "Super Jet,"

"California" and "Hopalong Cassidy."

FRIENDLY LOT

It isn't all mercenary, either. Ordinary Egyptians are just naturally a friendly lot. But the dollar does help. The tourist dollar ranks third among Egypt's foreign exchange earnings, after cotton and the Suez Canal.

It totaled $85.5 million last year; more than double the figure for 1962, and the government is aiming at $100 million this year.

The flow of American tourists visiting Egypt doubled in two years, from 33,920 in 1962 to 66,495 in 1964. That's more than all the Asians and Africans who visited Egypt during the year. And it's more than a third of the total influx from Europe.

But late in 1964, a mob burned down the U.S. Information Agency library in Cairo, a private American plane was shot down over the Nile delta. President Gamal Abdel Nasser denounced the United States, and his government-controlled press launched an anti-American campaign.

The average 1964 flow of 5,300 American tourists a month dropped to 1,200 in January 1965. But there have been no fresh anti-American incidents here since then and the flow of American tourists has started to pick up again.

Sorority Sponsors Play to Help Handicapped

The Alpha Chi Omega Sorority Alumnae in the North Woodward Area Group is sponsoring the annual benefit in St. Dunstan's Playhouse, Bloomfield Hills on Thursday. A full house is anticipated for the Guild's production of Clifford Odets' "The Big Knife." Curtain time is 9 p.m.

Alumnae from Pontiac, Royal Oak and Birmingham work on this event with its proceeds completely allocated for altruistic projects.

Since the 1947 national convention, Alpha Chis have supported the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults. This stemmed from an interest in the problem of cerebral palsy.

DRIVERS

For years, they have cooperated with Kappa Delta women in transporting a child to the Society for classes three days a week.

Mrs. James Henderson, Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. W. W. Birchard, Birmingham, have recruited drivers so that children without transportation could receive therapy. This year's child, Mike, is pictured in the Easter Seal brochures and letters.

CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Birchard is also chairman of arrangements for the benefit performance. Assisting her are Mrs. Robert Kline and Mrs. Richard Souder of Birmingham.

Group Plans Benefit Sale

The 300 Bowl was the setting for the Thursday evening meeting of Alpha Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority.

Mrs. Richard Falls, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced plans for a benefit sale slated for April 10.

Mrs. Anthony Grand gave a report on the fashion show and film benefit scheduled for Tuesday in the Huron Theatre. Proceeds from this joint sorority project will go to Children's Village.

Offer Them Different Treat

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last evening my husband and I were sitting in the living room having some ice cream when friends of ours dropped in unexpectedly.

There wasn't any extra ice cream on hand to offer them. As I felt it would be discourteous to sit there and eat ice cream in their presence, I put mine aside but my husband continued to eat his.

I think it was bad manners on his part to have done so.

Will you please tell me what is the polite and proper thing to do in a situation of this kind?

A: If the ice cream could have been put into the freezing compartment of your refrigerator and kept for later, both you and your husband should have done just that.

If you had no freezer, it would have been needless to put it aside and let it melt into liquid.

In this case, you could have explained to your visitors how sorry you were that you had no more ice cream left and offered them some other refreshments while you ate your ice cream.

Women's Complexions Were Her Stock in Trade

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Helena Rubinstein is gone, but the legacy she leaves will last as long as beauty is important to women. For half a century the doughty little Polish-born cosmetician who died Thursday at 94—with a complexion that would have made a woman half her age envious—had wielded a mighty influence. Today, millions of women feel downright naked without lipstick.

Hundreds of thousands would rather go dancing without shoes than without her.

And it's the rare woman who doesn't have some kind of beauty ritual for preserving a youthful skin.

But in 1915, when Helena Rubinstein came to New York, she found that a dusting of chalk white powder was all the respectable lady wore.

If a woman painted, she was obviously loose.

Moral or not, few women over 25 could boast of complexions that weren't dry and chapped from the effects of weather and the lack of a good lubricating face cream.

As Miss Rubinstein often recalled to associates: "When I came here and saw those complexions, I said to myself that America would be the place where I would spend the rest of my life."

She opened a salon, patterned after the thriving enterprises she had pioneered in Australia and Europe.

Her early customers slipped secretly through the door, consulted her in hushed tones and could never imagine, even for friends, what was causing their skin to bloom.

Undaunted by the silence of her success, she launched a campaign to put beauty care on a scientific basis, because if it were medical it was obviously moral.

In a now famous advertisement, she explained sun rays to ladies who wanted complexions creamy white.

Then came the pitch: "Debar these rays from staining or browning the skin." There was this wonderful new scientific preparation.

Within two years her exclusive salons were opening in America's larger cities and women she had personally trained were giving individualized treatments and selling her products.

Helena Rubinstein, 94, the famed cosmetics executive, died in New York on Thursday. The tiny beauty expert had worked in her Fifth Avenue office Monday, then became ill and was taken to New York Hospital Tuesday night. This picture was taken in 1964.

DEAR ABBY: We have a 16-year-old daughter with long blonde hair. She is pretty and popular and very charming to boys and girls her own age, but for some reason she does not think it is necessary to be polite at home.

When she comes home from school, she slams in and breezes past anyone who happens to be in the house without saying a word. This includes guests, grandmothers, aunts, and members of the household.

I merely ask her to say hello, and then she may excuse herself and go to her room and do as she pleases. People ask, "What's wrong with Cathy?" Should I reply she is at "that rude age"? Perhaps I should overlook it? Or should I keep pecking at my one chick?

ABBY

PALO ALTO MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Don't "peck" at her. But don't ignore her behavior, either. Remind her gently (when you are alone) to greet everyone pleasantly when she enters. Youth is sometimes thoughtless, hurried, preoccupied and slightly inconsiderate.

What mother hasn't said to her youngster, "Can't you say hello to people when you come in?"

DEAR ABBY: My mother opens my mail so please answer this in the column. I work in a large insurance office. There is a new man, there who is about 23 or 24. He is married, but I heard that he and his wife do not get along. (They had to get married.)

I have been trying to get his attention. At times he seems interested in me. But he could pay more attention to me than he does. How can I find out if he is interested in me? I am 25 and have never been married. I like this guy's looks.

IMPATIENT
DEAR IMPATIENT: A man who "isn't getting along with his wife" is no more available than one who is happily wed. He HAS a wife. Better fish off another dock.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the pastor's wife who was upset because she wasn't invited to parties with her husband. It's better not to be invited than to be invited and have your husband fail to tell you.

My husband was invited to several parties around holiday time. He didn't tell me that I was invited.

He took a girl from his office instead. I later learned that he told the host and hostess that I had foot surgery and was unable to walk!

Don't worry, things like that don't bother me. If they did, I would have been insane years ago.

"USED TO IT"
IN FAIRMONT, W. VA.

DEAR ABBY: This girl, who is about to become a bride, says it is compulsory for the bride's mother to provide the bed pillows.

I have heard of many customs, but this is a new one to me. Is this really true? Or is it just a figment of her imagination?

NOSEY
DEAR NOSEY: The bed pillows traditionally were considered the most essential items in every European girl's trousseau. That is where your friend probably got the idea. It might have been "customary" — but never compulsory.

Careful Planning Makes Wedding Lovely

By MADELEINE DOEREN
Wedding bells are always ringing for somebody in the land and, according to the U.S. Bureau of Census, June remains far and away the most popular month for the ceremony.

This means, of course, that these spring days are especially busy ones for many girls throughout the land. It is easy to overlook some important details with all the excitement in anticipation of the big day.

State Hospital Psychiatrist Will Talk

Friendly visitors and motor aide drivers of the Pontiac Area United Fund, women's division, will gather for a joint meeting Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Community Services Building.

Myroslaw Hrushka, M. D., director of the geriatric department at Pontiac State Hospital, will speak.

"The Emotional Aspects and Needs of Geriatric Patients" will be his topic.

Born in West Ukraine, Dr. Hrushka worked in psychiatric and neurological clinics in Vienna and Munich during World War II. Before coming to Pontiac, he was on the staff at the Lapeer Home and Training School.

The meeting will be open to anyone interested.

Council suggests that at least three months be allowed to plan a formal or semiformal wedding.

The early summer bride who has decided on the type of wedding has undoubtedly consulted her clergyman to arrange necessary details.

She makes up the guest list, consulting with the bridegroom's family and makes arrangements for reception, catering and music.

CHOOSE ATTENDANTS

The bridal party is chosen, her own gown ordered, the bridesmaids' gowns planned. Patterns for silver, china and crystal are registered with jeweler, specialty shop or department store.

Decor and furnishings for the new home or apartment could be planned.

Two Months to Go

Invitations, announcements and personal stationery should be ordered and trousseau needs bought. A date for the wedding rehearsal and rehearsal supper is set.

One Month to Go

After addressing and mailing invitations, gifts for attendants and bridegroom are bought and plans made for a bridesmaid's luncheon.

Wigs No Longer Novelty

The wearing of wigs has passed the fad stage and a great many women already consider their wig as necessary to their appearance as lipstick.

This new vogue is so widespread and growing so rapidly that Rowland Schaefer, president of Fashion Tress Wigs, Inc., firmly believes "in the next four to five years, the wig will become so essential a fashion accessory that a woman won't live without one."

Schaefer's prediction seems logical in the light of the swiftness with which American women adopted a fashion that was practically non-existent five years ago.

Wigs have been worn as far back as 4,000 B.C. and both men and women wore them in American Colonial times. In modern times, however, wigs were used in America only by actresses and women forced to wear them by necessity.

Today American women own nearly five million wigs. Wig departments are opening in department stores all over the country and beauty salons can hardly keep pace with the demand.

Beauty shop owners report orders of from 10 to 20 wigs and hair pieces a week at prices of from $150 to $300 for a human-hair, quality wig to even $500 for a hand-made one. A quality hair piece, or wiglet, sells from $35 to $75.

During the first six months of 1964, wig sales at one New York salon alone amounted to more than $4 million.

Wigs can be bought on the installment plan by the career girl or housewife on a budget.

Credit for the beginning of the current wig fashion probably goes to Parisian couturier Givenchy, who, in 1958, had his models wear ecotically styled wigs while introducing his new designs.

The innovation caught on, first in Europe, then in America and all over the world.

Why women will adopt one fashion and reject another sometimes is a mystery even to the most astute observers.

Some American fashion experts were dubious, but by 1964 even the somewhat staid financial publication "Business Week" was reporting this:

"When the wig began topping some of the most fashionable heads in Europe, and U.S. skeptics gave it the life span of the hula hoop. They didn't reckon with woman's nature — wigs are big business."

Undoubtedly the key phrase here is "women's nature." Women with perfectly healthy heads of hair suddenly just had to have a wig — even two. Half the wig business done annually in America is in the sale of second wigs.

Probably one reason women adopted the wig so readily is simply every woman's instinct to imitate those she admires. When top actresses and TV performers came right out and admitted that their sleek hairdos were really wigs, American women decided to copy them.

When Jacqueline Kennedy took a wig along on her highly-publicized trip to India it was another boost to sales.

Fashion Tress' president Schaefer says today's biggest boosters are women "who have bought the proper, quality wig and are happy with it. They tell their friends."

SAVES TIME

One underlying reason for the wig's popularity is the simple one that almost every woman finds care of her hair a lot of trouble. As movie actress Joan Bennett observed in her book, "How to be Attractive":

"I resorted to this after he got hold of a knife and cut a hole in a plastic chair. Luckily he didn't cut himself."

The knives are always taken out by their handles so grown-ups are also saved from possible cuts. — MARY ANN

DEAR POLLY — Remembering this trick from my own childhood, I keep a large roll of white unglazed butcher's paper standing on end behind a door.

The center hole is a handy holder for blunt scissors. One roll has served my three small scribblers for three years and is still going strong.—BARBARA

DEAR POLLY — I am a student and I place a paper clip on the top edge of the page of a book to mark my assignment.

Any papers connected with these are folded in half and also slipped under the clip.

This saves any worry about

"If there's a woman alive who hasn't, upon occasion, wished it were fashionable to be bald as an eagle, I'd like to meet her. Not one of us is thoroughly pleased with the color, texture, or the 'doing-up' of her particular tresses."

Suddenly, with the popular acceptance of wigs, a woman can have a perfect hairdo available at a minute's notice, styled in any color and arrangement she desires. If she is very busy, as most women are these days, only wig, not the owner, need go to the beauty parlor.

New Hair Pieces

NEW YORK (UPI) — The postiche — hair piece — is setting a trend for short hair.

The short waves and curls are flattering for daytime wear, but the postiche comes to the rescue for dress-up evening occasions.

It can add elegance or importance to the more tailored hairstyles.

Table Service

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—I save a lot of time setting the table by keeping just enough dishes for our family on one cupboard shelf.

I keep all of my paring knives, with the sharp points down, in a pint jar in the cupboard instead of in a drawer where they can be reached by my 2-year-old.

I resorted to this after he got hold of a knife and cut a hole in a plastic chair. Luckily he didn't cut himself.

Books Needed to Help Appalachian Children

PTAs in Pontiac are cooperating in a national PTA project that will send one million books to Appalachia, if it succeeds.

Part of the program to combat poverty and ignorance, this drive for books will help children in an area of 165,000 square miles.

Thousands of these young Americans have no school or public library facilities.

Children in the schools are bringing in books.

The PTA has the responsibility making special book-shelf boxes for shipping. The Railway Express Agency will ship the boxes at a special rate during the time of the drive.

Books will be distributed by Appalachian Volunteers, an organized group of college students in the area who have dedicated their free time to help culturally deprived children in Appalachia. The shipping vessels will be used for book shelves.

Anyone who has one or more of the books listed below and who wishes to donate them to this project may take or send them to the nearest school, according to Mrs. Robert Trachet, president of the Pontiac PTA Council.

Paper backs will be accepted. Any good books not on the list and reference books, such as encyclopedias, dictionaries and atlases are needed.

Contest Recipe Uses Veal Round Steak

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
"Undaunted by her failure" to place in the top three places at the recent "Queen of the Kitchen" contest, Mrs. John Sanderson already has ideas for next year's entry.

A resident of the Pontiac area, she is an English teacher in Birmingham.

Here is her recipe for an easy and quick one-dish meal.

VELVET VEAL SUPPER

By Mrs. John Sanderson
1 pound veal round steak
2 tablespoons butter
3 stalks celery, chopped
3 green onions with tops, chopped
1 tablespoon snipped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon tabasco
1 tablespoon onion soup mix
1/2 cup water or dry white wine
1/2 pound process cheese

1/2 cup sour cream
1 cup frozen green peas
1 package (6 oz.) egg noodles
Baked tomato halves
Parmesan cheese
Cut meat into bite-size pieces.

Cook noodles and mix with one tablespoon butter. Saute veal, celery and onions in butter until lightly browned.

Add parsley, tabasco, salt, onion soup mix and water or wine. Cover and simmer about 15 minutes. (This may be done while noodles are cooking.)

Add cheese, cut in pieces and peas. Cook 5 minutes. Turn noodles out on large warm platter. Arrange in a ring. Add sour cream to cheese-meat mixture and stir until smooth. Turn into center of noodle ring.

Garnish with baked tomato halves, sprinkled with Parmesan cheese. Makes 4-5 servings.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This week I am giving thought to the men who read this column. Earlier I listed some rules which will help you remain youthful into older age. Today let us consider personal appearance.

A baywindow is no more attractive on a man than it is on a woman. The days have passed when an aura of success, an expensive cigar and money in the bank, made up for everything else.

A man no longer is considered vain because he takes an interest in the way he looks. The most masculine appearing men are interested in keeping or getting a slim waist and in avoiding flabby muscles.

They realize that these are steps toward good health as well as good looks.

LOOK ALIVE

Good posture is one asset both men and women can take through the years with them. This not only promotes health but allows anyone at any age to give the impression of youthfulness and aliveness.

Good grooming is essential. Spotless shirts and well-pressed suits are greater attractions for a woman than the most classic profile.

Do not hesitate to use some of the grooming aids once thought of as "for women only."

Use deodorants and lotions for chapped skin as well as after shave lotion.

A great many young men are worried about baldness. To a certain extent the usual type baldness is inherited. However, one wonders what other factors may enter into the picture.

There was a great deal of balding during the war, which makes us consider that stress and strain may play a part.

MAY BE HELP

If you are balding, see a skin specialist. Some types can be helped or remedied.

Some experts advise against the habit of wearing hats with tight bands.

If you are overweight why not drop it in a hurry?

If you would like to have my Tubby Hubby Diet, which gives you a loss of from 7 to 12 pounds in 12 days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Honors Bride With Shower

June bride-elect Donna Jean Bradburn was honored at a recent shower in the home of Mrs. Byron Wright in Keego Harbor.

Assisting Mrs. Wright were her daughter, Mrs. Arlo Fletcher, and Mrs. Bruce Yanke of Farmington.

Parents of the honoree are the Warren V. Bradburns of Keego Harbor. Her fiancé, Roger Lee VanAlstine, is the son of Alva VanAlstine of Keego Harbor and the late Mrs. VanAlstine.

Mrs. Walter Bartkovich of Warren and Mrs. Allen VanAlstine of Oxford were among out-town guests.

She Knows Her Bread Baking

LEON, Iowa (U) — For 72 years Mrs. Mae Roberts has been baking her own bread, and she refuses to stop now just because she's 90 years old.

There's a difference, though. When she was younger and baked for her former husband and children, she baked it in huge batches.

Now that she lives alone she makes small loaves and freezes them until she's ready to use them.

Barry, Nixon Split on Voting Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two top Republicans—Barry Goldwater and Richard M. Nixon—stood on opposite sides today in the debate over legislation to guarantee Negro voting rights.

Goldwater said there are enough voting rights laws on the books already—and added the legislation President Johnson now seeks "does nothing less than change our Constitution."

"If we are to do this," the party's 1964 presidential nominee told more than 2,000 Republican women Thursday, "we should be approaching the current legislation as an amendment to the Constitution."

But Nixon, the nominee in 1960, said action is needed now, to cope with a situation he termed volatile. He said a constitutional amendment would take too long.

"I think the Congress should act, but I think it should act judiciously," the former vice president told a news conference.

The 13th annual Republican Women's Conference hears today from Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, who played a major role in drafting the Johnson bill.

The party's top policymakers already are on record as advocates of federal action to guarantee all Americans their right to vote before the 1966 congressional elections.

The Republican Coordinating Committee took that stand March 10. Goldwater is a member, but he was not on hand then, Nixon was.

Nixon said a constitutional amendment on voting rights could not be effective in time for the 1966 balloting. He said that kind of delay would lead to new demonstrations and the danger of violence.

"The situation requires enactment of a bill now," Nixon said. But he was critical of the Johnson proposal. For one thing, he said, it does not provide broad enough coverage.

Its major impact would be felt in a half dozen Southern states. "I do not see why Texas should have a privileged position," Nixon said.

Nixon also said he thinks literacy tests, administered fairly, are a valid requirement. He said a sixth-grade education should establish a presumption of literacy.

CENTRALIZED POWER

Goldwater said the Johnson proposal is a sample of centralized power. He said the Constitution outlaws racial discrimination in voting—but also reserves to the states the right to fix voter qualifications.

"There are on the books today ample laws to demand and obtain the right to vote for every qualified citizen in every state of this union," he said. "But we are being asked to sweep past existing laws and to sweep away others in the name of a new urgency."

Goldwater said the GOP has been "weak-kneed and shortsighted" in facing the question of centralized government.

He said the powers of the states and the federal government "have become so acutely imbalanced that nothing less than a major national decision is called for."

Vigilantes Keep an Eye on NY Crime

NEW YORK (AP)—Two new civilian patrols have sprung up in widely separated sections of the city to fight crimes at night, especially increasing attacks on women.

On foot, in radio-equipped cars and with the aid of dogs, the vigilantes fan out to guard their neighborhood streets on one-placed Staten Island and in a teeming Negro area of Brooklyn. The volunteers carry no arms.

One group was formed Thursday night by 100 aroused residents of the Bedford-Stuyvesant area in Brooklyn.

The other patrol is in Staten Island's Midland Beach section, a shore community of 5,000 south of the new Verrazano-Narrows Bridge.

Residents of both areas say they need more police protection.

SEND MILITIA?

"If we don't get additional police protection, we will ask Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to send militia to keep order," said Louis E. Bolling, president of the group in the Brooklyn section.

The volunteers said they will notify police when they believe a crime has been committed, and keep the suspects under watch until law enforcement authorities arrive.

"We welcome their help," said Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm, "as long as they don't exceed their authority and take the law into their own hands."

The area on Staten Island is a small part of the city's largest police precinct, which covers more than 27 square miles with 125 policemen. The Midland Beach residents also are demanding better lighting.

It was in one of the dark spots recently that a man carrying a knife seized a young woman at 7 p.m. as she walked toward her home from a bus stop. She escaped with cuts and bruises.

KNOCKED DOWN

A 49-year-old woman on Staten Island recently was knocked down near her home by youths who struck her with their car as they pursued her. Her injuries: Three broken teeth, a broken bone in the front of her mouth and severe bruises. The youths fled.

"Folks are pretty shaken up by the attacks," said the Rev. Warren Dean Wenger, pastor of the Protestant Moravian Church. "My wife says none of the ladies will consider coming out at night now except by car."

In Brooklyn, the area that residents complain of runs 12 blocks long and nine blocks wide. Merchants say that inadequately police protection has forced them to close up early.

One woman told the meeting Thursday night when the vigilante group was formed: "If my child gets sick at night, I can't even find a drugstore that stays open."

A spokesman for St. John's Protestant Episcopal Hospital told the Brooklyn gathering that doctors would no longer staff the emergency room at night—unless "better police protection was provided. He said later, however, that physicians had not been attacked.

America's Lightest Whiskey
(It's a smooth American Blend)

By JERE CRAIG

The 300 Bowl American Bowling Congress regular division champions will make their title defense at St. Paul, Minn., the last week of this month.

Bob Murphy, Joe Foster, George Chicovsky, Les Rothbarth and team captain Larry Crake will all be in uniform just as they've stayed together all season in local leagues and exhibitions around the state.

At the moment, the members are enjoying fresh memories of their participation last November in the Fédération Internationale des Quilleurs tournament at Caracas, Venezuela.

The memories were stirred by handsome photo albums, individually oriented and produced by the ABC headquarters, which arrived for each man this week.

The team will complete this weekend in the Classic Division of the annual Detroit City Association Tournament which will begin 8 p.m. Saturday at "300."

The team events are Saturday night, and singles and doubles action will be Sundays at 3 p.m. The competition will run for three weekends.

Chicovsky and Bob Ferdon, Jr., the Bowlerama champion, are in the 300 Bowl-Beat The Champ television finals at 11:30 p.m. Sunday with a new car at stake.

More than a year ago Dorothy White told Monroe Moore, the Gold Crown Lanes pro shop manager, she wanted 175-average bowling ball.

He sold Mrs. White and her friend Laura Mead each a new ball, then fitted and drilled the purchases for them.

Last weekend Mrs. White was declared the Pontiac Women's actual champion for 1965. She and Mrs. Mead, also, were on the Primrose Lanes team that had the best actual series in the tournament.

Not only are both women averaging in the mid-170s but Mrs. White averaged more than 187 in the tournament.

The Union Lake Optimist Club will have its annual four-ball "Bowlerama" Saturday and Sunday at Wanderland Lanes. Entrants bowl four balls with nine pins per ball being a perfect score. Donation is $1 and first prize is worth $150.

The proceeds from the tournament go into the club boys' work fund. Anyone is eligible to enter.

FIRST-TIME WINNERS—Airway Lanes completed its first Mixed Doubles Handicap Tournament last weekend and June Martin, Clarkson, and Richard Dionne, Pontiac, (with trophies) won it with 1319. BOWLING

There's a new league record on the books of the Huron Bowl Classic following Al Pietz's sizzling 278-235-227-740 last Friday for Lloyd Motors.

Lloyd swept eight points while posting the high team game and high series, 1089-3120. Felice Quality Market and All-Star Lanes remained in a first place deadlock with six-point wins.

Pietz continued in his hot streak with a 368 (633) Monday night in the West Side Lanes Classic. He took a back seat, however, to Tom Angello who hit 246-240-700.

Sweeps were recorded by Felice's Market, Harold Sarko Investment, Oakland Vending and West Side's house team. The Oakland squad leads the loop by eight points.

Pontiac Motor's Tempest circuit last week at Airway Lanes boasted a 232-234-671 by Sonny Sanacruz. The Airway Kings & Queens featured Mary Manganello's 529 and Joe Filka's 186.

Montclair Bowling Centre scoring Monday morning in the Men's Trio loop was led by Bill Nicholai's 222. Saturday morning's Senior Teens again were paced by Ted Rabaja with 578 and Larry Alexander with 224-568.

World Champs Have Records

IAAF Gives Approval of Times Set in '64

LONDON (AP) — World records by a flock of American Olympic champions, including three by sprinter Bob Hayes, have been officially recognized.

The International Amateur Athletic Federation also approved marks set by Henry Carr, Mike Larabee, Rex Cawley, Fred Hames, and Bob Schul, among others, on Thursday.

Hayes, the Olympic 100-meter king from Florida A&M, was credited with 9.1 seconds for 100 yards, for a record-tying 10 seconds flat for the 100 meters, and for his part as anchor man in the winning U.S. team's time of 39 seconds in the 1964 Olympics. His time for the 100 meters equaled the mark set by Venezuela's Horacio Esteves of Venezuela at Caracas earlier in 1964.

PRO PACT
The husky sprinter recently signed a pro football contract with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.
Carr of Arizona State, who turned pro with the New York Giants of the NFL, received recognition for his time of 20.2 seconds for 200 meters and 220 yards around a turn, and as a member of the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team that clocked in 3:00.7 in the Tokyo Games.

Larabee, of Los Angeles, had a time of 44.9 seconds for 400 meters approved along with his share in the 1,600-meter relay.
Hansen, of Cuero, Tex., was credited with a pole vault of 17 feet, 4 inches.
Schul of Miami, Ohio, University, was credited with a time of 8:26.4 for two miles, and Cawley, of Los Angeles, got the stamp of approval for his time of 49.1 for the 400-meter hurdles.

TIGER SKIPPER RELEASED — Manager Charlie Dessen of the Detroit Tigers was released from St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, Calif., yesterday and stopped to autograph a ball for John Hawley, 10, a fellow patient at the hospital. Dessen entered the hospital three weeks ago following a heart attack. Coach Bob Swift is filling in as manager of the Tigers during Dessen's absence.

'Non-Winning' Pro Holds Lead in Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — In 1963 he lost two playoffs and finished second in two other events.

Duff Lawrence, who is leaving the tour after this tournament for the security of a club job at Columbus, Ohio, and Sam Snead tied for fourth with 68.

He blustered the 7,000-yard par 36-35-71 Sedgfield Country Club course with a first round 31-35-66 Thursday.
Four times this year in 11 tournaments, the victor has been a first-time winner. It happened twice in the last two weeks. Bert Weaver scored 42 at Jacksonville, Fla., two weeks ago and last Sunday at Wilmington, N.C., it was Dick Hart's turn.

The presence of Masters champion Arnold Palmer and other top stars was supposed to change things here.

PUTTER FAILS

But Palmer, with putting problems, had to settle for a 72 as 18 men in the field of 144 broke par and 21 others matched it. Tony Lama had 71 and Gary Player shot 73.
Aaron was surprised he did well, because he says he is not a cold weather player. He had six birdies and only one bogey on a day in which the temperature never got out of the 40s and skies were heavily overcast.

Aaron, although never a winner, has had his moments.

Ailing Tiger Manager Talks Business Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charlie Dessen may have suffered a heart attack, but there is nothing faint of heart about the busy little manager of the Detroit Tigers.

The 66-year-old Dessen was back home today — a new apartment in Westwood which he had never seen before — after spending three weeks in St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica recuperating from the attack.

Dessen's physician, Dr. John C. Sharp, let him hold a brief news conference just before he left the hospital Thursday.

Out of it came such typical Dessen declarations as: "The Yankees can be had." "We'll be an improved ball club this season. Detroit can be a big threat."

Dessen said he does not know when he will rejoin the team. It will be a day-to-day program of treatment from now on.

ONE CALL
"My doctor says I'm the best patient he ever had," said Charlie, his sharp blue eyes flashing.

compare

the speed, power, and fuel economy of the Merc 900 with other 90 hp outboards

The new 90 hp Merc 900 gives you 15 "free" horsepower. Why? Because with a Merc 900 on your transom you can outrun and outpull any of our competitors' 90 hp outboards . . . yet still use less fuel than their 75 hp.

unit that assures a solid, non-turbulent flow of water to the propeller.
You get another extra with the Merc 900 . . . extra quiet. A full 50% quieter. The sound was engineered out, not padded in. Unlike ordinary outboards, which pay for noise reduction by sacrificing power, Merc's new silencing system actually increases engine horsepower.
Drop in to see your Mercury dealer today. He'll be glad to make a point-by-point comparison of the new Merc 900, or any Merc, with ordinary outboards. Your own comparison will show you why you get more RUN for your money with Mercury . . . 100, 90, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp.

Some of the reasons for this kind of performance are: Power-Dome combustion chambers that squeeze more energy from every ounce of fuel • New internal reed valves • Improved carburetion techniques • A new dry-exhaust-system which reduces back-pressure, improves engine breathing, and boosts power to the prop • Jet-Prop exhaust that reduces underwater drag • A smooth, angle-free lower LATE AT THE PLATE — Infielder Jim Lefebvre of the Los Angeles Dodgers is an easy victim at the plate for catcher Gus Triandos of the Philadelphia Phillies. Triandos made the tag in the fifth inning of the exhibition game at Clearwater, Fla., yesterday. Calling the play is umpire Bob Engel. Dodgers won, 6-3.

RO Kimball Favored in SEMA Baseball

By JERE CRAIG

Although this is the inaugural season for the newly formed Southeastern Michigan Association, the circuit is expected to gain rapid stature as a source of diamond talent.

Ferndale and Royal Oak Kimball were continual contenders in the old Eastern Michigan League. Berkley and Hazel Park have superior summertime baseball programs; and Birmingham Seaholm and Southfield have very good athletic programs.

The coaches are nearly unanimous in tabbing Kimball as the team to beat and Ferndale as the logical contender.

The Knights boast one of the area's outstanding mentors in Paul Temerian. The wily Kimball coach has directed the Knights to the championship of the annual Pontiac Invitational High School Tournament the past two seasons.

They were also runners-up the first year of the late May tourney, which is cosponsored by The Press and the city Parks and Recreation Department.

Gone are Kim Hillstrom and Don Sherban, who formed one of the county's top prep batteries last season. But the entire infield returns led by slugger first sacker Bill Roberts.

Sherban's understudy, Dave Mann, will handle the catching duties and outfielder John Olscwy is expected to assume Hillstrom's No. 1 pitching spot. He is a hard-throwing right-hander that impressed in last year's tournament title tilt.

LACK HURLING

Ferndale's Bob Super keys the Eagles' infield at second base, and captain Bob Walsh will be in center field. Dependable pitching may be hard to find, however.

But coach Lefty Brandt guided a similar cast to the Midland Tournament title last year and expects to put up a strong defense of those laurels this season.

Ed Bryant returns as Southfield diamond mentor after an absence of several seasons and he has eight letterwinners to work with.

Big right-handed junior Craig Georgeff and senior Dale Hayes offer mound strength. Sophomore Ted Simmons, a switch-hitter, is a promising infielder and Mike Haley is a dependable junior receiver. Dan Gadow is back at third.

Berkley has a new coach in Don Leshner who was promoted from the junior varsity job. Hurlers Rick Krumm and Jim Leadford have a new catcher to throw to in junior Henry Beck, but are backed by a solid infield led by left-handed hitting Bill Klungston at first.

Birmingham Seaholm has pitching depth with southpaw Jim Horner, and righties Mike Fremuth and Bill Deadle. Also back are receivers Bruce Pearn and Bill Kovachevich.

However, weak hitting and an inexperienced infield may betray the Maples' efforts.

AAA Effort by Swimmer Spectacular

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — For Greg Buckingham, the national AAU indoor 400-yard individual medley swim he won was to have been a warmup for a couple of other races.

With that relaxed attitude, all he did was murder the American record Thursday night in Yale's 25-yard pool, posting a spectacular 4:08.9, chopping nearly five seconds from the listed mark.

Who is Buckingham? That's what a lot of folks wanted to know after this 19-year-old excited an opening night crowd of experts. "I don't blame them," said the 6-foot-3, 190-pound youngster, a freshman at the College of Santa Mateo, Calif. "I haven't been more than average. I've been in the 400-yard medley about four times now, and was in this one only for a warmup."

Greg wasn't able to make any of the Olympic trial finals last summer, but he did get a third place in the 200-meter freestyle and swam on the victorious Santa Clara 800-meter relay team anchored by Olympic hero Don Schollander.

That probably explains why Schollander, a Yale freshman, cheered wildly for Buckingham Thursday night, as Greg beat out Southern California's Roy Saari by two feet in a driving finish.

A Junior Editors Quiz About OLYMPIC GAMES

QUESTION: How did the Olympic Games get started?

ANSWER: The thrilling sports event called the Olympic Games is held once every four years, with amateur athletes from many different countries contesting.

The International Olympic Committee chooses countries where they are to be held and supervises the events.

Because of the difference in sports, there are both summer and winter Olympic games, different places being chosen for each one.

Although it may sometimes appear to be a contest between teams, the real purpose of the Olympics is for individual athletes to compete together in a spirit of friendship.

The games began more than 2,500 years ago in Elis, Greece. The Greek city-state had cooperated with the purpose of encouraging and honoring great individual athletic achievement, and this high aim is still upheld.

To emphasize it, for each opening of the Olympics a lighted torch is brought all the way from Elis by runners and used to light the Olympic flame which shows the games are in session.

We show the Olympic flag with its interlocking circles and the Olympic motto, Citi, Altius, Fortius, which can be translated "swifter, higher, stronger."

FOR YOU TO DO: It would be hard to find a more inspiring motto than the Olympic one. How about pinning it up on your wall?

Drowned in Sex: What a Way to Go!

LONDON (UPI) —The United States "is drenched, if not submerged in sex," one of Britain's leading commentators said yesterday.

Malcolm Muggeridge, former editor of the humorous weekly Punch, added that "Of course, all other countries, like ours, in process of adopting the American way of life" are also preoccupied by sex.

But in the United States, he wrote in an article for the New Statesman, sex "permeates every corner and cranny of life, from birth to the grave."

"Dating begins at nine years old and even earlier; tiny tots wear padded bras, paint their faces and howl like hyenas at the Beatles."

"Young lovers arm themselves with birth pills and the Kama Sutra and engage in erotic exercises that might have seemed excessive in the pages of 'Les Liaisons Dangereuses'; middle-aged couples swap partners . . . and disturb the peace of suburban nights with their strident love cries . . . the old, their dentures gleaming, look lecherously round, or dote in their bathchairs over 'Candy' or 'The Tropic of Cancer'."

PERFUMED DEAD

"Even the dead are curled and scented . . . the very worms must swoon at the perfumed morsels offered them."

Muggeridge, who has made his name by tilting with the sacred and profane, said that Marx had it that religion was "the opium of the people."

"Sex is better," he said.

A Series That May Save Your Life . . .

THE SAVAGE CELL

By PAT McGRADY

Pat McGrady has been science editor of The American Cancer Society since 1947. Of his book, "The Savage Cell," it has been called " . . . a great accomplishment . . . really unique in being of value both to the practicing physician and to his patients."

Cancer—the hushed, dreaded word. Now it is beginning to come out in the open. Recently President Johnson declared war on this No. 2 killer of men. National awareness of this "savage cell" is on the increase.

And "The Savage Cell" is another weapon to fight it. It is a special series to appear soon in this newspaper telling you about cancer—and some of the facts and information you won't read elsewhere.

Pat McGrady, author of "The Savage Cell," says that in each family of four, cancer will come on an average to one member. In his 12-part series, condensed from his book that has been so widely acclaimed, he tells what you can do personally to help ward off cancer, and what you can hope for in cancer research. The series isn't bitter medicine. On the contrary, it is fascinating reading that you will look forward to each day. It could help you on the road to better health and peace of mind.

NEW ROSES FOR '65: Illustrated against a colorful garden panorama are four excitingly new and unusual roses. The pink blooms (bottom left) are Blithe Spirit, while the ultra-dark-red "mum" like blooms are the new rose Lottie Gunthart. The whitish, bluish-pink hybrid tea blooms at the top of the mixed bouquet are the very fragrant Sweet Afton. On the extreme right is the vivid lavender Song of Paris, a hybrid tea beauty with a most delightful fragrance. The single bright yellow flower in the center is Summer Sunshine.

1965 Rose Introductions

Fragrance of Roses Preserved

When you're in the garden this summer collecting some perfect roses for a bright arrangement, reserve blooms from some of your fragrant varieties to make the every-popular potpourri.

A potpourri is nothing more than a mixture of spiced rose petals in a jar, yet it preserves the fragrance of roses for many years. Just lifting the lid can fill a room with the sweetest smell of summer, even in coldest winter.

Making a potpourri is still as easy as it was in grandma's day. There are special rose jars for the purpose, but any attractive bowl or globe with a tight-fitting lid will do as well.

Start by collecting only your most fragrant blooms. Flowers from varieties like Granada and Saratoga, are perfect and well worth cutting for the purpose.

Both of them have the true "old-fashioned" rose perfume. Other varieties particularly noted for their fragrance that you can use are Tropicana and Royal Highness.

You can cut the blooms in any stage, right up to the fully-opened flower, provided they are still rich in color.

Remove the petals from the cut roses promptly and spread them out thinly on a screen or a rack of cheesecloth. Allow them to dry in a warm, airy place, stirring and turning them daily.

Once they are completely dry and become chip-like, they are ready to be packed in the jar in loose layers. At this point, natural spices like cinnamon, allspice, cloves or nutmeg, may be added to each layer.

Iron Level Important

Roses will develop chlorosis if the iron level of the soil drops below minimum requirements. Symptoms are yellowing of leaves, poor growth and improper flowering.

To prevent chlorosis, apply from 2 to 4 tablespoons of micronized iron and work it lightly into the soil. Then water.

To correct chlorosis, double the amount of iron. In highly alkaline soil, repeat the application in 7 to 10 days.

Experimental Plot Blooms Profusely

Nearly twice as many rose blooms every month from May through November were obtained in an experimental planting in Texas treated three times each with fertilizer, mulch and fungicide, plus a root-starter solution at the time of planting.

The number of blooms totaled 235 for the season, compared to 130 for untreated plots.

Silver Breakthrough Is Announced

A huge, red "mum-like" flowered hybrid tea, a significant breakthrough in a big-bushed silver-lavender, and a rose many experts already rate among the "most fragrant yet," headline the 1965 new rose introductions.

It's hard to recall another spring when local home gardeners have had such an extensive and unusual assortment of new roses from which to choose.

One of the best examples of this "new look" in new roses is the very dark, ruby-red rose Lottie Gunthart whose jumbo-size 5-to-6-inch blooms are artistically created of 50 or more satiny-textured petals; many more than even Peace. The full open flower of this very vigorous, tall-growing hybrid tea is reminiscent of a giant ruby-red chrysanthemum.

Who said modern roses aren't fragrant? Whoever it was could not have been within 100 feet of Sweet Afton, a new delicate ivory and bluish-pink hybrid tea that towers straight and tall above most other roses in its class.

A real classic example of the "show" rose, with long tapered buds and gorgeous, perfectly formed flowers that measure up to 5 inches across, Sweet Afton's perfume makes each bud and bloom smell like a florist's shop at Easter time.

One of the most significant breeding developments in this spring's top new rose introduction is a French import named, appropriately enough, Song of Paris. Song of Paris is considered a major advance in silver-lavender hybrid tea roses, particularly in the robust nature of the plant itself.

There really hasn't been a noteworthy refinement in silver-lavender hybrid teas since the introduction of Sterling Silver. And although Sterling's flowers are indeed a lovely silver-lavender, the plant itself has never been known as an outstanding grower.

In addition to a more vivid and distinct silver-lavender hue, non-fading color characteristic, and a vigorous, thickly foliaged bush, Song of Paris broadcasts a deep, charming fragrance, very much like the exhilarating scent of expensive French perfume.

Song of Paris offers lovely 3- to 4-inch blooms on a plant that is extremely well proportioned. The flowers never open far enough to expose the centers.

One of the gayest and certainly most flashing of the new 1965 hybrid tea colors belongs to Blithe Spirit.

Its colorful, though relatively small, slender, tightly furled buds are very deceptive.

They open to gorgeous, widespread, 4-inch double blooms of brilliant pink blended with soft powder puff pink and just a hint of yellow at the base of the petals.

It's the luminous quality of the radiant pink color of Blithe Spirit that makes it so distinctive.

It is, without doubt, the brightest new pink in a long time.

Blithe Spirit is perhaps the most vigorous of the four new roses discussed here and will require plenty of space when it's planted. Lottie Gunthart and Sweet Afton also are very fast, tall growers, while Song of Paris will grow quickly to a medium height.

These specimens are available locally.

1. Dig a hole 18" wide and about 15" to 18" deep. Replace several inches of loose, prepared soil (soil mixed with several spadeful of any barnyard fertilizer, leafmold, compost). Form a mound in center.

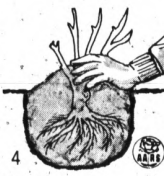

Special Skill Not Necessary in Planting of Rose Bushes

Planting roses properly requires no special skill and no need for years of gardening experience.

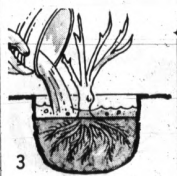

The technique is simple and routine. First, select a site with good drainage and one that receives at least half a day of sunshine.

2. Position rose bush on mound so that bud union (knoblike, swollen area) is at about ground level. Spread roots naturally down slope of the mound.

4. Fill in remainder of hole with soil, and mound up around canes to a height of about 8 to 10 inches. Allow this protective mound to remain for a week to ten days. Then remove.

3. Work in the soil around roots to eliminate air pockets. Fill hole $\frac{3}{4}$ full and tamp down firmly. Fill hole with several spadeful of water and allow to drain.

Adaptability Important Factor

Rose Popularity Gains

By CARLO SALZANO
United Press International
Of all the flowers that have captured the imagination of the home gardener, the rose continues to hold top, or near-top, billing.

The popularity of the rose has increased because it can be grown in every part of the country and can be adapted to many decorative purposes.

Also popular among home gardeners because they too can be grown in just about any part of the country are the iris and the chrysanthemum.

A rose may be a rose but researchers have proved that the flower's appearance can be altered greatly by temperature.

Striking variations occurred in blossoms on seedlings of the rose variety "Ma Perkins" grown at five different constant temperatures in a greenhouse at Beltsville, Md.

TEMPERATURE
Rose plants grown at cool temperatures produced more petals and bigger blooms than plants grown at warm temperatures.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture offers this advice to those interested in growing roses:

• Buy vigorous plants from a reputable local nursery, retail store or mail-order nursery.

• Select a planting site that receives at least six hours of sun daily.

• Set plants in well-prepared beds. Water frequently.

• Cut flowers from the plant without damaging the remaining parts of the plant.

• Spray or dust regularly to prevent insect or disease damage.

The problem that besets most beginners is how to prepare the soil for planting roses.

If you are planting only a few, dig individual planting holes 15-inches deep and at least 18 inches in diameter.

If you are planting a large number in a continuous area, spade the soil to a depth of about 12 inches and dig planting holes in the prepared soil.

The soil can be improved by adding such organic matter as peat moss, leafmold or manure.

ORGANIC MATTER
If you use manure, the favorite soil builder among most gardeners, add about one-half pound of super-phosphate to each bush.

ORGANIC MATTER
If you are digging planting holes in unprepared soil, mix soil from the holes with organic matter.

Use one part of peat or leafmold to four parts of soil, or one part manure to six parts soil.

Prepare beds with in advance of planting time so the plants can be set out as soon as they are received.

Before setting plants, make sure the roots are healthy and moist. Cut away dead or injured root growths, and prune the stems but be sure not to cut them back less than 10 inches or you will delay blooming.

Expert Claims Roses Innocent

If your nose is near a rose and you sneeze, don't blame the rose, it's the fault of the breeze, says rose grower Ralph E. Perkins.

Perkins, prefacing his expose of what he says is a myth with a "God Bless You" to hay fever sufferers, offers this explanation:

"Scientists long ago exploded the tale that goldenrod causes hay fever. It merely happens to be in conspicuous bloom at the same time the less spectacular ragweed is in flower.

The latter produces about 90 per cent of the pollen that causes noses to twitch and eyes to itch. A few trees and certain grasses are the culprits in spring.

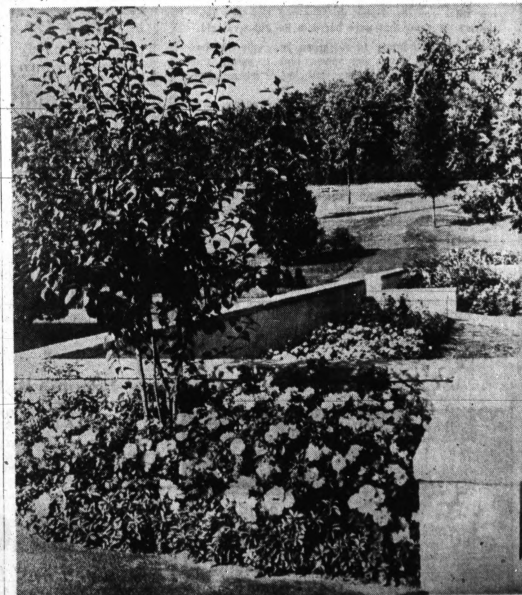

Convention Will Meet in Florida

The American Rose Society's Spring Convention and Rose Show will be held at the beautiful modernistic Hotel Robert Meyer in the heart of downtown Jacksonville, Fla. April 22-24, hosted by the Jacksonville Rose Society. The show entitled "Four Hundred Years With Roses" will be held April 22.

The perpetual trophies available to the American Rose Society members at the National Show are the American Rose Society Nicholson Perpetual Challenge Bowl, the ARS, Eugene Pfister Memorial Trophy, the Dowager Queen Award honoring old garden roses, the ARS Dr. T. Allen Kirk Memorial Trophy and the ARS Nora Katherman Memorial for Rose Arrangements.

There are many garden tours planned on the local level. St. Augustine is celebrating its quadricentennial and time should include a trip to this quaint and picturesque city as well as a trip to Ft. Caroline—the birthplace of Protestantism in America—on the beautiful St. Johns River.

Make plans now to join the Post-Convention Tours to Jamaica, West Indies Islands and Nassau in the Bahama Islands.

SUMMER BEAUTIES — Roses surround the walled borders of these properties, as well as beautify the base of a dwarf fruit tree. Roses add beauty to everyday living, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Judges Chose Four Winners

All-America Glads Make Headlines

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

The announcement of the All-America award winning gladiolus makes news headlines for gardeners everywhere. The findings of the test garden judges have been tabulated, and the 1965 winners of the AAGS award are Playmate, Pompeii, Green 'n' Gold and Little Slam.

Playmate and Pompeii are large flowered glads, while Green 'n' Gold and Little Slam are Miniatures. All four are available for planting this spring.

All-America Gladiolus Selections maintains test gardens throughout the U.S. and Canada in every kind of soil and climate for testing new glads. The four 1965 winners were outstanding in these special test gardens for beauty appeal, distinctiveness, health and vigor, flower form and adaptability to all parts of the U.S. and Canada. The All-America winners can be easily grown by anyone, experienced gardener or not.

Playmate is a rich, rose pink that produces majestic spikes with precision-like regularity. 8 to 10 long-lasting flowers open at once on flowerheads of 25-34 buds, with many of the buds showing color before the first flower opens.

It opens extremely well when cut in a tight bud and it retains its color when cut in bud. Its beauty, model spike formation and dependability make Playmate a "must" for everyone. Neil E. Canine, Hayward, California, is the originator. It is his first All-America winner.

The striking, multi-colored Pompeii is known in gladiolus circles as a "smoky," but, whatever it is called, this unique glad will have many admirers. No one color adequately fits it as it is a subtle blending of deep pink and rose red with a hint of lavender and an overlay of silvery mist.

SOLID THROAT
In contrast, the throat is a solid, well-defined, creamy white. Up to 8 beautifully formed, ruffled flowers open at once on well proportioned spikes and extremely rugged plants. Pompeii was hybridized by Carl Fischer, St. Charles, Minnesota.

Green 'n' Gold is a bright

little charmer that ushers in the gladiolus season. Each tiny flower is a shading of gold and green tones, with the green being very intense on the newly opened flowers.

Six to eight ruffled, slightly hooded flowers open at one time of the 16-18 buds on the 36-inch plant. The plants are extremely vigorous, consistent, fine performers.

Green 'n' Gold's hybridizer,

Carl Fischer, says this new All-America Miniature deserves a place in every garden. It will repay you with its cheerful, showy spikes that are so graceful and easy to arrange.

You will be captivated with the dazzling All-America Miniature, Little Slam. It is a very bright red that blooms early and opens 8-9 slightly ruffled flowers at one time on long slender flowerheads.

It has won numerous gladiolus show championships when it was exhibited as a seedling and it appears to be the finest exhibition Miniature gladiolus ever introduced.

Healthy, vigorous and easy to grow. When Little Slam blooms in your garden it will be an event! J. R. & C. T. Larus, West Hartford, Connecticut, are the originators of Little Slam.

UNLIMITED BEAUTY
The gladiolus enthusiast claims that no other flower has the unlimited beauty of the gladiolus. Its beauty consists not only of an inexhaustible range of color but of many sizes and exquisite forms.

Glads are not exclusively mid-summer flowers. Gorgeous blooms can be had from early summer to late fall by planting bulbs every ten days, starting in the early spring and continuing until approximately 90 days from the date of the first killing frost.

Who Can Think With All That Racket Going On In The World ?

James Marlow !

From the hundreds of daily stories that pour from AP's busy and boisterous bank of Teletypes in Washington, news analyst James Marlow can select any one that he cares to write about: Just as long as it's the one story that you will care most about tomorrow.

Marlow has been doing precisely that five times a week for twenty-one years in his column, "The World Today." It's a prodigious and prolific feat that should get easier, but never does. Even after two decades of doing, it still requires hours of pacing, thinking, analyzing, writing, re-writing and revising.

And because of Marlow's passion for getting it right, he's been known to dig through a dozen books to check a single fact. Recently, for a special series on Churchill, he went through 45 separate books and wrote thousands of notes before writing one word for publication.

The end result, however, is worth the endless effort. James Marlow's "The World Today" is one of the most respected columns of the many coming out of Washington—and one of the most widely read coming out of anywhere. Today, millions of newspaper readers depend on Marlow's thoughtful, understandable explanation of what the world's turbulence and troubles are really about.

You will find his column in . . .

Mud Perils California Homes

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — Predicted showers today and tomorrow added to the woes of authorities and 40 home owners whose houses were threatened by water and mud.

A slimy wall of potential destruction swept down Country Club Drive yesterday during the second day of the heaviest rainfall of the year in Southern California, endangering 40 homes.

"Everything depends on the rain, how much rain falls and how long it takes to fall," said L. David McIntyre.

Light rain fell during much of last night and the early morning hours today and the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted more would come later today and tomorrow.

Most residents of the Country Club Drive area left their homes at the height of the storm, but as the rain subsided toward evening, many returned.

A year ago, the same area was denuded of watershed when fire raced through the hills above the exclusive residential neighborhood.

New houses contain about $120 worth of lighting fixtures.

Today in Washington New Treasurer Takes Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Fowler stepped in and Douglas Dillon stepped out as secretary of the Treasury yesterday in a ceremony in which their wives received special attention.

After Fowler had been sworn in, President Johnson said:

"This is an occasion of mixed emotions for all of us.

"We are very sorry to see our beloved Phyllis Dillon leave. But we are all quite happy to welcome Trudy Fowler to our official family again. Doug and Joe (Fowler's nickname) are quite incidental."

Amid laughter, Johnson noted that their selection of wives commended the judgment of both Fowler and Dillon.

The President also remarked, "The three or four months that Doug and Phyllis are going to be gone, I wish them every happiness."

Asked later about the statement, Dillon replied: "I never heard it before."

The Secret Service has a list of 130,000 persons or groups who it says may be a danger to the President.

The list was revealed in closed session testimony made public yesterday by a House appropriations subcommittee considering Secret Service requests for additional money to expand protection of the president and vice president.

The Secret Service estimates the names in its files would increase by 70,000 by December of next year.

The increase was attributed to a new system requiring greater cooperation between federal agencies in reporting potentially dangerous individuals and groups to the Secret Service.

The Warren Commission said there was a lack of such cooperation prior to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

It said the FBI knew Lee Harvey Oswald was in Dallas, but didn't warn the Secret Service.

Officials of the NASA declined to speculate on whether the disintegration was planned or accidental.

Carbon Copy Robbery
RENO, Nev. (UPI) — James Denton, 53, who was released from federal prison last week after spending nearly four years behind bars for bank robbery, faces arraignment today on a charge of robbing the same bank last week. The same teller was held up in both robberies.

PRESIDENTIAL THREATS:

MARINER: Mars-bound Mariner IV should set a U.S. space communications record on Tuesday, its 129th day aloft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says that on that day, Mariner IV will exceed the working record of Mariner II.

The latter spacecraft passed out of radio range on its 129th day, some 52.39 million miles out in space.

Mariner IV, destined to pass near Mars on July 14, is designed to operate for 6,500 hours. Mariner II had a lifetime of 2,600 hours.

RUSSIAN SATELLITE: A spokesman for the Goddard Space Center says U.S. radar has tracked 127 pieces of a Russian satellite which disintegrated in space Feb. 22.

The center has reported previous disintegrations, and earlier this month said another Soviet satellite — Cosmos 58, launched last Oct. 28 — shattered into 97 orbiting fragments.

Goddard said the latest disintegration — of Cosmos 57 — was reported last month but that at that time only 62 pieces had been tracked by radar.

Stars Marvel at Art Museum

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — "Why, it's magnificent! It's absolutely epochal! This must be one of the most beautiful buildings in the world."

Edward G. Robinson, a man who chooses his words with care, was uttering these phrases during one of this week's gala openings of Los Angeles County Art Museum.

While select figures of Los Angeles society and the film world were partaking of a champagne supper, the actor-art collector was wandering amid the art and artifacts of the new Amnson Gallery.

Robinson had passed before a Babylonian bas-relief with a bearded figure that bore a remarkable resemblance to himself. "Fantastic!" he murmured as he gazed about the halls. "To think that it could have happened in this town!"

Along with the newly opened music center, the museum gave the lie to the ancient canard that he who ventured into Los Angeles risked sinking into a cultural void, as the sabre-toothed tiger had slipped beneath the ooze eons ago.

Hollywood's night at the $12-million museum came with a $100-per ticket premiere of "The Train." The film was an appropriate choice, since it deals with a real-life incident in which French resistance fighters prevented the spiriting to Germany of a railroad of painting masterpieces from Paris.

The presence of the movie crowd was appropriate, too. Such figures as Bob Hope, Burt Lancaster, Art Linkletter, Jack L. Warner, William Wyler and Robinson were hefty contributors in terms of paintings and cold cash.

The movie came first, and it was well-received in the jewel-like 600-seat theater in the Bing Center in honor of the late Leo S., New York realtor, not Crosby), which also houses a children's gallery and eating places.

After the performance, the crowd paraded across the stately-filled plaza, past the Lytton Museum, designed for special exhibits—currently, Bonnard.

MAURICE CHEVALIER ON BROADWAY — French entertainer Maurice Chevalier smiles in his New York dressing room last night after the opening of his one-man show "Maurice Chevalier at 77." Actually, Chevalier is only 76 and his birthday is Sept. 12. The show is scheduled to run four weeks.

De Gaulle, Wilson Air Key Issues

PARIS (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson flew to Paris today for a meeting with President Charles de Gaulle in hopes of restoring day-to-day British-French cooperation. It is their first full-scale conference since Wilson took over the British government last October.

The two days of talks are expected to include the ailing pound sterling, Viet Nam and the supersonic passenger plane, the Concorde.

Wilson is the first British prime minister to visit de Gaulle since Harold Macmillan came to Paris in 1962. That visit was followed by Macmillan's Nassau conference with President John F. Kennedy which produced the multilateral nuclear force proposal, and then de Gaulle vetoed Britain's entry into the European Common Market.

Since then cooperation between the two governments has been at a low ebb.

NO AGENDA

There was no set agenda for the talks. The French indicated that the initiative for introducing topics would lie with Wilson.

French sources indicated, however, that they were highly interested in the Wilson government's attitude toward its future relations with any union of European states that develops. The interest centers on the extent of American influence on British policy.

De Gaulle is a determined foe of American influence in Europe.

On Viet Nam, the British have supported U.S. policy, including air strikes against North Viet Nam. The French urge neutralization of all their former Indochinese colonies.

Current difficulties being suffered by the pound sterling and planning for the supersonic Concorde are related. Wilson's government presents its first full-scale budget next week, and he is looking for economies to bolster his nation's precarious finances.

Top Secretary in Texas Admits $20,000 Theft

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Leonard Finnerman, named Houston's "secretary of the year" three years ago, admitted Thursday he stole almost $20,000 from a former employer.

Miss Finnerman, 42, wore no makeup as she appeared before Dist. Judge Miron Love Thursday.

She answered "guilty" when asked for her plea on each of five charges. Judge Love set her punishment at five years.

Miss Finnerman was employed by Apache Exploration Co., Inc., for seven years. She admitted altering figures on her salary checks and issuing unauthorized cashier's checks.

Ex-Latin Leader Dies

PANAMA (AP) — Tomas Gabriel Duque, 75, who served as president of Panama for a month in 1928, and former newspaper publisher and businessman, died Thursday, apparently of a heart attack.

State Tax Break for Elderly Caught in a Power Play

LANSING (AP) — A multi-million dollar senior citizens property tax relief bill was caught in a power play between the House and Senate today.

The House voted 57-48 not to concur in Senate amendments. It sent the measure back to the upper chamber. The bill originally passed the House with an overwhelming majority but 13 Democrats jumped the fence Thursday to vote with Republicans.

Instead of appointing a conference committee to work out their differences, the Senate amended another bill to include provisions identical to those under dispute. The new bill passed 33-1.

"This is to let them (the House) know we're firm," majority leader Sen. Raymond Drendzel said. "We will be up to the House to withdraw this bill."

DEMOCRAT FIGHT

The parliamentary battle primarily is a fight between House and Senate Democrats, with House Republicans on the side of the Senate.

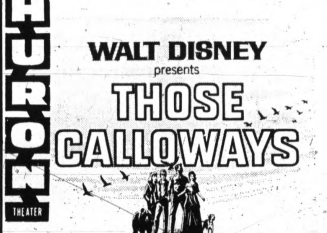

"Let us get into a back room with them (the Senate)," said House majority floor leader J. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City. "If we can't work out our differences there, we'll meet them under the (capitol) dome."

Rep. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, said the Senate usually "puts the cool hand of logic" on the work of the "passionate, hot-headed House, but this time it has put the cool hand of reaction on a bill."

The center of the controversy is a renters provision which the House insists upon and which the Senate refuses to approve.

SENATE VERSION

The Senate version would cost an estimated $20 million to $40 million. It would have granted a tax exemption on the first $2,500

Educator Urges Consolidation of Nation's Small High Schools, but Sees Little Hope

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. James B. Conant believes thousands of the nation's small high schools should be eliminated by consolidation, and he proposes this method: "Increase the number of players on the basketball team to 20."

Conant, president emeritus of Harvard and a national authority on public education, was speaking only half in jest when he made this suggestion Thursday night.

He quipped that you might lump four small high schools into one, and that consolidating their five-member basketball teams might be a significant place to start to gain public support.

In a serious vein, he told the delegate assembly of the National School-Boards Association he believes the 15 to 20 largest local school districts in the nation should be divided into smaller, more manageable units.

LITTLE HOPE

He acknowledged that he did not know how this could be done, and said he had no hope that it would be done in the near future.

Conant has long campaigned for the consolidation of high schools with a graduating class of less than 100. Such schools, he told a news conference, are too small to hire the teachers and offer the courses that today's young people need.

Local pride in high school athletics, he said, is the biggest stumbling block to consolidation in many areas.

Conant said boards of education in the nation's largest cities are trying to accomplish an impossible task in administering schools with hundreds of thousands of pupils.

COMPLETE MYTH

"A dozen or so boards have responsibility for so many people, so many children," he told the school board members. "that our much proclaimed ideal of local responsibility (for education) is a complete myth."

At his news conference later, Conant said there is no state agency now in existence which could divide the huge districts into smaller ones, each with a separate board.

"It would take a completely new investigative committee," he said, "but the authority to create such a committee lies, of course, with the state legislature."

"The redistricting is not something that could be left to the legislature, because of the possibilities of gerrymandering on racial lines or to create unequal tax bases. And I'd hate to see the state boards of education try to tackle it."

IDEAL SIZE

Conant said school districts ideally should serve no fewer than 35,000 to 70,000 inhabitants

Air Force Seeking 1,400 New Pilots

The Air Force has announced an extensive increase in its pilot training program beginning in July.

The service branch seeks to enlist 1,400 new pilots.

Men between the ages of 21 and 26½ with a college degree and good vision may apply at the Air Force Recruiting Office, 53½ W. Huron.

College seniors can apply seven months prior to graduation.

'Guilt-Edged' Money Is Donated to City

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Money orders totaling $225 accompanied a note saying, "The enclosed money is a conscience payment to the city of Mobile."

Some city officials were puzzled Thursday, but City Comptroller Carl Torbert explained, "someone who had done something wrong joined the church."

The payment, received in a large envelope, was signed by "John Doe."

and no more than 250,000 to 500,000.

It is impossible, he said, for one school board to give adequate supervision to more than 100,000 students.

Without trying to list them all, Conant mentioned these cities as among those which now have school districts too big to handle: New York City, Buffalo, Schenectady, N.Y., Detroit, Dade County (Miami) Fla., Boston, Houston, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco and Cleveland.

The delegate assembly to which Conant spoke was a pre-convention meeting of the National School Boards Association.

About 6,000 school board members for all across the nation are expected to attend the annual meeting which gets underway formally Sunday.

How clean is electric cooking?

Here's a shining example

Cooking with a modern electric range keeps your kitchen cleaner. No flame, no fumes, no fuss. Your pots and pans stay cleaner. Curtains and woodwork, too.

Electric ranges are also more efficient. Because the heat transfers directly from the heating element to your cooking utensils, there's no waste in heat. All the electricity you use goes to work for you in your cooking.

And because there's no wasted heat, electric cooking is cooler. It cooks the food, not the cook.

And there's more. All electric ranges are backed by Edison's exclusive no-charge service. No charge for electrical parts. No charge for labor. And this applies no matter where you bought your electric range. So live the cool, clean life—electrically—with a modern electric range.

Not Solely Adjustment Period

'Kindergarten for Learning' Idea Grows

By LESLIE J. NASON, E.A.D.

Dear Dr. Nason: I am a teacher and concerned about a rather slow boy who is expected to progress at the same rate of speed as his kindergarten classmates. In my elementary education courses, I was led to believe that kindergarten is for adjustment to other children, the learning situation, etc.

Do some schools have a regular course of study to complete, with report cards at the kindergarten level? Mrs. H. P., East Orange, N.J.

Yes, there are regular courses of study in some kindergartens. And perhaps the idea that kindergarten should be exclusively an adjustment period is giving way to the idea that children should be learning from the very start. They can adjust as they learn.

Some educators contend that children who are introduced to reading in kindergarten hold a definite superiority in reading in the second grade over those who were led to reading-readiness activities in their kindergarten experience.

Dear Dr. Nason: I am having problems in English (themes, composition and essays). We are writing about two themes a month. In two weeks we will be writing more often. The way I write is pitiful.

Idea just don't come to me. Could you please give me some information on writing or even recommend an easy paperback book? I bought one recently, but it's for college level and very difficult to understand. Miss W.M., Sacramento, Calif.

Sometimes ideas fail to come when a student attempts to get ideas, evaluate them, organize them and write them in acceptable fashion all as one operation.

and fourth, concentrate on the writing of one idea at a time.

Dear Dr. Nason: Do you think it possible for anyone to improve his grades in school? My grandchildren feel they simply can do no better. C. S., Culver City, Calif.

Anyone who is getting straight A's would have a difficult time trying to improve his grades; otherwise, anyone can improve his grades if he has the capacity. And most people have far more capacity for learning than they themselves believe.

So, the first thing sometimes in getting a pupil to try to improve his grades is to give him a hand so he can make a few moves ahead.

This will help him gain confidence and he will really come to believe that it is possible for him to make better grades.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Daily Press. Questions of widest general interest will be answered in his column.)

Tannah Hirsch of Jerusalem writes in the Johannesburg Bulletin: "Bridge players seem to have forgotten that when Milton Work introduced the 4-3-2-1 point count he intended it only for no-trump contracts and as a result the ace has become greatly undervalued for suit contracts."

While Mr. Hirsch does not elaborate to show that this undervaluation is most apparent when it comes to slam contracts, his example hands make this quite clear.

The first is from a rubber bridge game in Jerusalem. The bidding in the box is what actually took place at the table. Declarer also managed to make only five hearts since after winning the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds he proceeded to play out three rounds of trumps. However, Mr. Hirsch points out that if he had bid a slam

Gemini Flight Crew Picked?

Schirra, Test Pilot Likely 2-Man Choice

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A veteran Mercury astronaut and a balding test pilot are likely to get the nod for this country's most ambitious space mission — meeting and joining two vehicles in space.

It's stoutly speculated at the Manned Spacecraft Center that Walter M. Schirra Jr., 42, and Thomas P. Stafford, 34, will be named Monday to make the fourth manned Gemini flight.

Schirra, a Navy commander has said many times his heart is set on flying this one because it probably will be the most interesting, and he wants Stafford, an Air Force major with him.

They were backup crewmen for Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lieut. Cmdr. John W. Young for the initial manned Gemini flight last week. Schirra and Stafford have followed the same strict training schedule.

GUESSING GAME
The big guessing game has centered around who will be the backup crew for Schirra and Stafford.

Eligible candidates can be narrowed down to Grissom and Young, or two of the 13 newest astronauts, or a combination.

The rendezvous mission is planned for two days. The astronauts would pilot the Gemini spacecraft to an Agena rocketed and try a docking maneuver about 116 miles above the earth while traveling at about 25,000 miles per hour.

Schirra and Stafford could be the first space pilots to perform the feat, if the Soviets don't do it in the meantime.

ACCELERATED
The flight is scheduled for 1966, but the Gemini program has been accelerated and it could be made late this year.

Schirra is the oldest astronaut. He made space history Oct. 3, 1962, when he completed six orbits of the earth in his Mercury Sigma 7 spacecraft, in what officials called a "text book" flight.

Stafford wrote several books on test flying before joining the second group of astronauts.

Star Stunned by Prices Theaters Set to See Him

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Robert Mitchum delivered one of the great lines about the movies, as only he can do, when a discussion arose about two of his leading ladies . . . Shirley MacLaine, whom one critic called "knobby" and Carroll Baker, described by a garment publication's expert as "much less than meets the eye."

Listening half-heartedly, Mitchum heard somebody say: "Anybody who pays a buck-and-a-half to see a movie, figures he has a right to criticize the stars."

"A BUCK AND A HALF!" screamed Mitchum. "Is that what it costs to go to a movie now? No wonder I don't go!"

Mitchum, who'd come up here from his Maryland farm to start a tour for his film, "Mr. Moses," was asked what he thought about Carroll Baker, his leading lady, being the new Sex Symbol.

"I think there's someone for everybody in this world," Mitchum said.

"Carroll and I were in Africa 3 months. I never got to know her. Every night she was writing letters to columnists. She said she was washing her hair, but she was writing notes. I don't write notes to columnists. I wrote a note to a woman columnist about 1955. I quit right then. My note seemed to give her type-writer arsenic poisoning so I decided 'Forget it, Charlie.'"

Our recent flash about the likely bustup of a famous romantic couple seems to have everybody guessing—and, regretfully, we can't give more clues. Strangely, we've had inquiries from close friends of Just About Everybody. Well, it isn't those you've been guessing.

But here's a clue: Everybody said it wouldn't last. Everybody deplored it. Nobody wanted to talk about it. And they appear together at important functions, then they take off separately. They know about our flash, and they're denying it, naturally. It'll really be very, very sad when it breaks up.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .
The "Hello, Dolly!" staff found 16 tickets at the last minute for the astronauts' party. "We did it," they said, "by taking people out of house seats and promising them a later date." . . . Maurice Chevalier went back stage to congratulate Virginia Vestoff, subbing in "Baker St." for ailing Lena Swenson.

Ex-mobster Mickey Cohen's ailing in the Springfield (Mo.) federal prison . . . A famed entertainer is reported taking shots of liquid silicone to erase face wrinkles . . . Dusty Hungarian actress Eva Siki, back from Rome, says Mickey's Hungarian's making a cowboy movie there and doing his own stunts: "De poor boy is all black and blue."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: The coming income tax deadline recalls Goodman Ace's classic line: "Who said a man can't be hurt by a blank?"
EARL'S PEARLS: One cheerful note about hidden taxes is that there aren't many places left to hide them.

A local fellow explained (says Quote) why he refused to buy life insurance: "When I die, I want it to be a sad day for everybody!" . . . That's, Earl, brother. (The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)

OK Tentative School Budget

$7.2-Million Figure Is Eyed in Waterford

A tentative $7.2-million school budget for 1965-66, up approximately 8 per cent over the current one, was approved last night by the Waterford Township Board of Education.

Based on an assumed increase in state equalized valuation of the school district from the present $115.5 million to $123 million, the preliminary budget would require the same 21.71-mill operating levy as in the current budget.

The $7,251,821 budget will be submitted to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

The new budget, $61,232 more than the current one, includes an increase of $495,161 for instruction.

Nearly half of this added instructional expenditure, or $215,754, is earmarked to meet contract price increases.

TEACHER HIRING

Another $105,000 of the total instructional increase anticipates hiring of 30 additional full-time teachers.

Other increases in the preliminary budget are slated for (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Monthly Car Total Shattered in March With 964,292 Output

DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry set some more records yesterday.

For the first time, the industry has built more than 900,000 cars in a single month.

The industry built 964,292 cars in March, shattering the old one-month high of 866,632 set last December. The total was nearly 240,000 above March of last year.

Car makers also set a three-month record by building 2,569,547 cars over the January-March period.

This broke the old quarterly mark of 2,291,173 cars set in the final three months of 1963. The industry built 2,251,283 cars in the January-March period last year.

This week, the industry turned out 233,426 cars, compared with 210,474 last week and 174,039 in the comparable week of last year.

General Motors and Ford both set new records for any month and any three-month period.

GM built 513,376 cars last month, topping the half-million mark for the first time. The previous one-month record was 453,931 in January. For the three months, GM built 1,403,561 cars, topping the old high of 1,276,320 set in the second quarter last year.

Ford built 251,291 cars in March, 30 per cent higher than last March and 14 per cent better than the previous one-month high set in October, 1963.

Chrysler built 152,658 cars last month, second only to production of 154,221 cars in March 1955.

The Great Toothpaste Caper

NEW YORK (UPI) — It could have been dubbed "The Great Toothpaste Caper." The story had most of the ingredients of international intrigue and espionage.

There was a dashing young executive; thousands of dollars in marked bills; a rendezvous at a New York airport, a top secret document, and, finally, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The protagonists in the story were neither East against West nor 007 versus Spectre, but the two great U.S. soap competitors: Procter & Gamble and Colgate-Palmolive.

The story unfolded yesterday in U.S. District Court here.

According to federal authorities, the "spy" of the case was Eugene Arthur Mayfield, 26, a former junior advertising executive of Procter & Gamble who currently works as product manager for a Chicago firm.

CALL PLACED

Mayfield allegedly placed a telephone call to a man from Colgate offering to sell P&G's 1963 plans for peddling its top product, Crest toothpaste.

The 186-page document contained the projected budget and summarized P&G's advertising and marketing plans for Crest, worth at least $1 million to a competitor.

The alleged transaction took place at a men's room in the Trans World Airlines terminal at Kennedy International Airport on Nov. 14, 1964, with Mayfield and the man from Colgate in adjoining cubicles.

Unknown to Mayfield, FBI agents tipped off by the Colgate man watched as the spy traded a bulky envelope containing trademarked pages of the P&G secrets for $20,000 in marked bills.

Record-High Employment Figures Cited

Says Jobless Rate Can Still Improve in Prosperous Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, citing record-high employment and a seven-year jobless low, says the nation can continue riding the crest of its longest economic boom in history.

"There is much good news economically," Johnson said after the Labor Department reported that more than 70 million Americans were at work in March.

The drop in the jobless rate from 5 per cent to 4.7 per cent of the labor force is also good news, he said, but still "unemployment is too high."

The Labor Department said employment climbed 700,000 to 70,169,000, the highest March on record and — on a seasonally adjusted basis — the highest for any month in history.

"The news of this gain in employment is the best — and the most important of all," Johnson added.

MARK IS TRIBUTE

He said the record is a tribute to all sectors of this economy, including business, labor and his own administration.

He noted the economy is in its 50th consecutive month of expansion, longest in history.

The unemployment figure of 4.7 per cent — seasonally adjusted — was the lowest since October 1957. The Labor Department adjusts the figures to account for normal seasonal fluctuations.

Without adjustment, the jobless figure in March was 5 per cent of the civilian labor force, which climbed about 200,000 to 73,909,000.

The number of unemployed persons in March was 3,740,000, down from 4,218,000 in February.

"That is too many," Johnson said. "With so many Americans doing so well these days, it is more important than ever that we do not forget nor neglect those who are not sharing in the production or enjoyment of our abundance."

He said the number of jobless Americans was equal to the entire population of several individual states.

NMU President Threatens to Resign in College Feud

MARQUETTE (AP) — Resignations of President Edgar Harden of Northern Michigan University and a member of NMU's Board of Control hung fire today.

The resignations, both pending, accompanied disclosure of a rift in NMU's highest administrative group.

Dr. Harden, president for nine years, said yesterday his resignation had not been withdrawn despite a statement by Gov. George Romney at Lansing that "Dr. Harden is not resigning."

An estimated 3,000 NMU students, about three-fifths of NMU's student body, demonstrated on the campus in support of Dr. Harden.

NMU's faculty also interceded in Dr. Harden's behalf, sending a telegram to Romney expressing confidence in Harden and declaring a hope his resignation would not be accepted.

Since Michigan's new constitution gave NMU a board of control in 1964, differences of opinion have been reported between Dr. Harden and Frazier.

'BETTER SERVED'

"I think probably the university would be better served if I resigned rather than he," Frazier said.

Harden, declining comment,

Four Yanks Die in Fight With Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U.S. Army men were killed and six others wounded in an assault on a Viet Cong stronghold 20 miles west of Saigon. U.S. military spokesmen reported today.

Heavy casualties, both government and Communist, were reported in other actions in South Viet Nam.

Two of the American dead and some of the wounded were helicopter crewmen. Two U.S. Army helicopters were shot down during the fighting.

Reports of the fighting, in Hau Nghia Province, were fragmentary. Early reports said five South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 20 wounded during the first phase yesterday.

The American dead brought the U.S. toll in Vietnamese combat since December 1961 to 320.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

Authorities reported that both government forces and the Viet Cong suffered heavy casualties in a major battle Wednesday in Quang Tin Province, 350 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. Air Force F100s from nearby Da Nang air base swooped in and apparently saved fleeing Vietnamese marines from possible annihilation, at the same time inflicting a heavy toll on the pursuing Viet Cong.

Official accounts said the government forces suffered 32 killed, 104 wounded and 30 missing during the fighting near Viet An, strategic redoubt controlling the approaches to Tam Ky, capital of the province.

An airborne battalion and two marine battalions were involved in the battle. One of the marine units was fleeing at a dead run while the Viet Cong chased them through a sugar cane field.

CONG BLASTED

The F100s shrieked in at tree-top height and blasted the pursuing Viet Cong with rockets and cannon.

Vietnamese sources claimed 300 Viet Cong were killed, 200 in the aerial attacks. A U.S. military spokesman said American sources on the scene believed the figures might have some substance.

Income Tax Deadline Nearing

The Hour Is Growing Late

April 15 is the deadline for filing 1964 income tax returns. That's less than two weeks away.

History does not record there ever being an extension of time for filing returns.

Some time ago, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) set up Mondays as Taxpayer Assistance Day at the Federal Building, East Huron at Perry. There are only two of these Mondays left before the deadline — April 5 and 12.

Hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. for answering questions in person or by telephone. IRS employees will not fill out your return, but will answer all questions.

It may take a little longer to fill out your return this year. The form, deductions, etc., are different than they have been. Time is running out.

Talks Near End on Viet Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnson administration strategists neared the end of their current Viet Nam review today amid cautious optimism that the situation is taking a turn for the better.

Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was slated to brief House and Senate committees before meeting with the National Security Council and President Johnson.

This will about wind up Taylor's one-week round of consultations here. He is scheduled to head back to Saigon Saturday.

Johnson held a surprise news conference late Thursday just before a two-hour session with

Arrest Suspect in Murder Case

A 22-year-old Royal Oak man has been arrested in connection with the robbery-murder of a gas station attendant in Sterling Township early Tuesday morning.

Teams of detectives from the Warren and Redford State Police posts, assisted by detectives of the Macomb County Sheriff's department, yesterday, arrested Donald Wilkinson.

Wilkinson was to be arraigned in Macomb County Justice Court this morning before Judge Edmund A. Schmidt, "probably on a first-degree murder charge," according to Warren troopers.

Wilkinson is a suspect in the death of Joseph A. Cote, 60, of Ackles Mobile Court, Madison Heights.

An employee at the Revere City Service station at the northeast corner of 14 Mile and Dequindre roads, Cote was found dead in a rest room Tuesday morning.

22-CALIBER

He had been shot with a 22-caliber handgun. A cash register containing $150 was stolen.

Cote was married and had a married daughter and two grandchildren.

Ad Claim Is 'Fishy'

LONDON (UPI) — Henry Fielding, writing in his column in the London Sun, said he was told that Lever Brothers, which advertises "If it's safe in water, it's safe in Lux," received a letter yesterday beginning: "Dear sir, about my goldfish..."

BETTER EFFICIENCY

The President said the talks focused on boosting efficiency of the Viet Nam campaign, but he declined to disclose any military plans. "I know of no far-reaching strategy that is being suggested or promulgated," he added.

As for the furor over use of nonlethal gas against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas, Johnson said "somebody made a mountain out of a molehill" with the allegations that America was engaging in poison gas warfare.

He said the President, as commander in chief, would "of course" know in advance and would have to authorize any use of poison gas.

However "no one told me that the South Vietnamese were going to use tear gas" — a standard, antiriot item — "but there is no reason why they should," he said. The United States supplied the gas.

HAS NO WORD

Concerning any Communist willingness to take peace, he said: "I have no indication and no evidence that they are ready and willing to negotiate under conditions that would be productive and I know of no information we have received that would indicate any conference at this time would be productive or would hold out hopes of achieving what we all desire so much — peace in the world."

But he also said those in the White House "love peace and hate war and are willing to do anything that honorable people can do to try to discuss our problems and solve them in ways short of destroying human beings."

Behind this on the record statement was a feeling in some administration quarters that the North Viet Nam, was being backed off their previous tough demands for U.S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam as a price for peace talks.

Roberts, McNamara Bid for Senate Seat Monday

Without representation in the State Senate for the last three months, voters in western Oakland and part of Wayne counties will elect a legislator Monday to fill the 14th District post.

Candidates for the vacant seat are former Republican State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts and Democrat Edward H. McNamara, a Livonia city councilman.

The special election was set after Sen-elect Paul Chandler of Livonia died before taking office.

In a Feb. 15 runoff election, Roberts, 42, of 2486 Lafay, West Bloomfield Township, out-pooled five other GOP candidates, while McNamara won over two other Democrats.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Prior to being elected to the Senate, Roberts was a state representative for four years.

"My opponent, by supporting the graduated tax, is saying in effect, 'Let's soak the suburbs.'"

His statement:

"One serious problem in the district is dropping lake levels. If elected, I will press our Democratic majority to take positive action to conserve our Oakland County lakes.

"I will work to insure that Oakland County schools and Oakland University receive their fair share of financial appropriations.

"Senior citizens need and deserve relief. Roads must be made safer. Our tax structure should be streamlined. I will strive to see these aims accomplished."

operation, $116,544; fixed charges, which includes payment of health insurance benefits, $54,500; transportation, $41,048; administration salary adjustments and one part-time administrative addition, $12,572; and $2,857 for community services.

The only decreased expenditure in the proposed budget is for capital outlay. This is down from $374,222 in the current budget to $211,000 in the preliminary budget.

Last year's purchase of data processing equipment accounts for the decrease.

BUDGET BALANCE

A budget balance of $617,073 is anticipated at the end of the current fiscal year, June 30, compared to a projected year-end balance June 30, 1966 of $324,707.

In determining revenue for the preliminary 1965 - 66 budget, three unknown factors had to be estimated.

These are state aid, the major revenue source; community valuation and the county millage allocation.

State aid is expected to provide nearly $4 million of the school system's income for the coming year.

FINAL DRAFT

When the county allocation board sets a millage rate for the school system in the latter part of May, school officials will begin drafting a final budget for consideration of the board of education.

Action by the board on adopting the final 1965 - 66 budget probably will come in mid-July.

The charge was dismissed against Russell Roberts, 64, of 32710 Grand River on the grounds that a group cannot be libeled.

Roberts, who authorities say is the self-styled leader of the American Nazi party in Michigan, was accused of libeling the Negro race in leaflets.

Bronson, who met with Gubow yesterday morning in Detroit, said that any recommendations might make would be directed to the Justice Department in Washington for action.

Birmingham Area News Ancient, Modern Greece Subject of Travel Film

BIRMINGHAM — The familiar scenes of ancient Greece and the not-so-familiar sights of the modern nation are combined in next week's travel film presentation at the Community House.

Slept in history and tradition, Greece is a land of gods, heroes, myths and legends. But it also is a country which has left an indelible mark on today's world.

Ken Richter will narrate "Holiday in Greece."

The film he shot places classic Athens, Olympia, Corinth and n d Sparta in contrast to the new, prosperous Greece with its modern schools, industry and agriculture.

Richter has built his reputation as a film-lecureer not only on his technical skills but on his liking for people.

GOOD BACKGROUND

This interest has led him to hours of conversation with all sorts of persons and has added a background evidence in his films.

Richter has traveled over a million miles through 60 countries.

His film will be shown at 8 p.m. April 9 and 10.

A dinner featuring authentic Greek food will be served at 6:30 p.m. each night. Reservations for the dinner are required by Thursday, although tickets for the film showing can be purchased at the door.

'Fatal Fire Set Deliberately'

A State Police fire division representative testified yesterday that the blaze that swept Harry M. Belcher's home, killing his family of seven, was set deliberately.

Belcher is on trial in Oakland County Circuit Court for first degree murder.

Detective Sgt. Russel Leemgraven said the source of the fire was a plastic wastebasket on a basement stair landing and that the wastebasket had contained gasoline.

Belcher, 32, is specifically charged with the death of his wife, Catherine, 35, in the blaze. The Belchers' six children also died in the fire at their Ferndale home Jan. 25.

Ferndale Fire Inspector Kenneth Galbraith agreed with Leemgraven that the fire began in the wastebasket. Both were witnesses for the prosecution.

When the children were mentioned in testimony, Belcher shook with sobs. He has denied setting the fire.

Property Tax Cut Premature

We commend the State Senate for the restraint evidenced in its passage of a $13.5 million senior citizens tax exemption bill in substitution for one passed by the House that could have cost taxpayers $40 million annually.

But despite our long-standing support of measures aimed at amelioration of the condition of needy or disadvantaged, we question the advisability of enactment of any future treasury-depleting legislation at this time.

After 14 long years of wallowing in deficits, climaxed by payless paydays for State employees, Michigan in little more than two years has staged an extraordinary fiscal comeback.

The State's once $80 million deficit is now headed toward a $100-million surplus.

We are, however, by no means out of the economic woods.

In submitting a most comprehensive, and realistic budget at the beginning of the year that embraced substantial spending increases in almost all areas of government involvement, Gov. ROMNEY pointed out that to implement it, some $30 million of the surplus was being drawn on.

Looking ahead to next year, the governor foresaw need for the remaining $70 million of surplus to meet continued expansion of existing state programs and agencies and mounting built-in expense of government.

At this point, on the vulnerable assumption that revenues would maintain current boom-time levels, the State would be at best just even financially, with red ink again flashing the danger signal.

To safeguard Michigan's fiscal integrity against such deterioration, ROMNEY called for a bipartisan program looking toward overhaul of the State's fiscal and tax structure that envisioned tax relief for senior citizens.

Explicit, however, in the governor's program is the stern requirement that if the State is to stay out of financial trouble, any unbudgeted spending or reduction in projected revenue enacted by the legislature is supported by correlative provision of additional revenue.

To date, little has come of this sound governmental concept. The legislature rejected Romney's proposed budget, and little progress has been made in a two-party approach to fiscal and tax reform.

On the basis of first things first, we believe the State should get its financial house in order before enacting a measure, as worthy as is tax relief for our needy aged, that will result in a sizable drain on its treasury.

Internal Strife Typifies Klan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — When Congress investigates the Ku Klux Klan—there are at least 14—it will find they are too split by bickering and rivalries to form a single national organization under one leader.

The total membership is probably not over 15,000 although they spread across the Southern states and some leaders have made fantastic claims about numbers. The members in general are not credited with very high intelligence.

The fact that in this free and open society so many men would find it necessary to hide under a hood, necessarily raises questions about their stability and their purpose.

They proclaim their patriotism, but their main target is Negroes, with Catholics, Jews and the foreign-born secondary targets. They have added a new target in recent years: the "Communist conspiracy."

Klansmen live in a childlike world of hoods, robes, symbols, secret membership and passwords, and the kind of titles that would be more appropriate in a fairy tale than in the kind of grisly world Klansmen see.

But the actions of some of them are not at all childlike, as Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities pointed out to reporters Tuesday after the committee unanimously voted to examine the Klans.

He said preliminary inquiries indicate that "shocking crimes are carried out by highly secret action groups within the Klans known as 'knockout squads' or 'holy terrors.'"

The actions of these goon-squads are disclaimed by Klan officials when they are caught, Willis said, "to protect those Klan leaders who are parties to the crimes committed and to mislead Klan membership and the public."

So far there is no public evidence that Klan leaders knew beforehand of any of the crimes charged to Klansmen or that Klansmen in general knew. But the Klans have had, and still have, a vicious history.

Corruption was piled on top of murder in the past. As late as 1955, five Klans—no longer in existence, at least under their old names—were on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. No new list has been issued in the past 10 years.

KLANS VARY IN SIZE

Klans vary in size. The smallest—the Mississippi Knights of the Ku Klux Klan—reportedly is a one-man Klan operating on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The largest, with about 5,000 members, is the United Klans of America, Inc., with headquarters in Tuscaloosa, Ala. It has members in eight Southern states.

Reds Patently Reform in World Patents Area

As with most other agreeable things they do, the reasons behind the Soviets' announced intention of signing the 1883 international agreement on patents is eminently practical and only incidentally altruistic.

In the days when Russia was a technological fledgling, it paid the Communists to pirate the inventions of other countries. Now that they have developments of their own to license and sell abroad—like a surgical stapler and an improved oil drill—the rules of civilized business intercourse set by the capitalist West begin to look good.

Whatever the reasons, however, the move should be welcomed, for it works two ways: Foreign patent holders will at long last be paid for the use of their inventions by the Russians.

But in the matter of less "practical" creations—poems, plays and books—the Russians, as nonobservers of the Universal Copyright Convention, continue to publish the works of foreign authors without permission and without payment of royalties.

'It Seems It's O.K. To Kill 'Em
But Not To Make 'Em Sick With Gas'

David Lawrence Asks:

Byrd Statement Turning Point?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia is one of the most dedicated men who have ever achieved prominence in public life.

First as a progressive governor of his state and then later through 32 years of service in the United States Senate, LAWRENCE has earned the respect of people in both parties and out of Congress.

What Sen. Byrd has to say, therefore, on the proposed voting-rights bill is of national significance. It could provide a turning point in the whole controversy.

There is every reason for the enactment of legislation to prevent any eligible person, irrespective of color, from being denied the right to vote. But there is no sound reason for using unconstitutional methods to attain even a worthy objective.

This is the essence of Sen. Byrd's argument. He has just declared in a formal statement: "I have analyzed all provisions of the bill. They are inequitable in effect and contemptible in design. The administration has been advised of the odium in which I hold its proposal."

"I have also studied the federal attorney general's testimony. He admits drafting the bill."

UNWORTHY OF OFFICIALS "Neither the bill nor the testimony is worthy of men entrusted with high office in the national government of this country."

Byrd went on to say that, while the attorney general decries racial discrimination in voting practices, he "deliberately wrote this bill to exempt all voting discrimination in a four-fifths majority of the 50 states from its application."

Byrd pointed out that the federal administration, for the purposes of this law, condones an eighth-grade education as a voting test in New York but wants "the power to qualify a moron to vote in Alabama."

The senator added: "They decry discrimination devices, but they have proposed a law which in itself is a discrimination device."

MOST FORCEFUL

Sen. Byrd's statement is one of the most forceful he has ever delivered. It may cause other members of Congress to adopt an equally courageous position, though, because of the emotional furor that has been generated by the recent "demonstrations," it is not yet certain whether the time necessary for a thorough debate will be allotted.

Sen. Byrd declared that the administration is allowing itself to be "influenced beyond reason by the emotion of domestic hysteria" and that "by its own actions it is inflaming so-called civil-rights issues."

He called it "a vicious bill," and said that "it clearly bears the unreasonable stamp of hysteria."

There are signs that the fight being made against the voting-rights bill will at least result in a number of proposals for its amendment. If these should fail, the 1966 congressional election may become one of the most important in American history.

There is unquestionably an undercurrent of dissatisfaction over the way the bill has been written, and opposition will not cease during the 17 months before the next election. For it is not the purposes of the bill but the palpable violations of the Constitution in that are causing dismay.

Red China Appears to Be Big Barrier to Viet Talks

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Something new—perhaps dramatic—may be in store for the Viet Nam crisis.

Nonaligned nations are taking an initiative to seek peace negotiations "without strings."

Moscow seems anxious to snuff out the sputtering fuse in Southeast Asia.

North Viet Nam hints vaguely it might listen.

The big stumbling block appears to be Red China.

Talks may be possible, but they could require something like diplomatic isolation of Red China.

From time to time there have been indications that the Hanoi regime wriggles uncomfortably in Red China's grip.

Ho Chi Minh's heart probably is with Moscow, but his border is with Red China, and his Communists cautiously supported the Chinese in the Moscow-Peking quarrel.

Yet Ho must fear to see North Viet Nam laid waste as a sacrifice to Red China's ambitions.

CAUTIOUS HINTS

Through cautious hints dropped in the right places, Hanoi has managed to spread the word that it would not insist on withdrawal of U.S. troops from the south as a condition for a cease-fire and negotiations.

The Chinese probably would like to carry just such a development as the nonaligned nations' initiative for no-strings negotiations in South Viet Nam.

The situation as it is can continue for years without costing the Chinese much, and can promise eventual effective domination of all Southeast Asia for Peking.

China will react angrily to the idea of a U.N. role in South Viet Nam. Peking already suspects the Russians of skulduggery in this respect.

ROADBLOCK

A U.N. presence in Viet Nam could mean difficulty for Peking's long-range program.

The combined pressure of the United States, Western Europe, the nonaligned nations and the pro-Soviet Communist bloc conceivably could back Red China into a corner.

Good for De Gaulle?

New York Daily News

In Paris, candidates of Marcelle Socialist Mayor (and de Gaulle foe) Gaston Defferre won 41 of 63 city council seats in the second round of French municipal elections. Clearly a prestigious boost for Defferre who has year-end election hopes of toppling de Gaulle from the Presidency.

Frenchmen, with their bent for Magnin-line thinking, say no one can beat Le Grand Charles if he chooses to run. Spite-working right-wingers unreconciled to the Algerian settlement joined with Communists to bring about the council win, it is claimed. Perhaps.

Could it also be that the preposterously vainglorious de Gaulle has finally overplayed his almost pathological anti-U.S. anti-British hand?

Propulsion would be provided by a revolutionary application of the principle of the electric motor. Speed of 500 to 600 miles an hour are theoretically possible.

President Johnson has called for a 200-mile-an-hour rail link between Boston and Washington. If the Japanese engineers are right, this won't be accomplished with conventional locomotives.

Building such a line would be an expensive undertaking. But it would be less expensive in the long run than perpetual taxpayer subsidizing of our present relics of a 19th Century form of transportation.

Good for De Gaulle?

New York Daily News

In Paris, candidates of Marcelle Socialist Mayor (and de Gaulle foe) Gaston Defferre won 41 of 63 city council seats in the second round of French municipal elections. Clearly a prestigious boost for Defferre who has year-end election hopes of toppling de Gaulle from the Presidency.

Frenchmen, with their bent for Magnin-line thinking, say no one can beat Le Grand Charles if he chooses to run. Spite-working right-wingers unreconciled to the Algerian settlement joined with Communists to bring about the council win, it is claimed. Perhaps.

Could it also be that the preposterously vainglorious de Gaulle has finally overplayed his almost pathological anti-U.S. anti-British hand?

State Tax Break for Elderly
Caught in a Power Play

LANSING (AP) — A multi-million dollar senior citizens property tax relief bill was caught in a power play between the House and Senate today.

The House voted 57-48 not to concur in Senate amendments.
It sent the measure back to the upper chamber. The bill originally passed the House with an overwhelming majority but 13
Democrats jumped the fence
Thursday to vote with Republicans.

Instead of appointing a conference committee to work out their differences, the Senate amended another bill to include provisions identical to those under dispute. The new bill passed 33-1.

"This is to let them (the House) know we're firm," mayor leader Sen. Raymond Dezendorf said. "It will be up to the House to withdraw this bill."

DEMOCRAT FIGHT
The parliamentary battle primarily is a fight between House and Senate Democrats, with House Republicans on the side of the Senate.

"Let us get into a back room with them (the Senate)," said House majority floor leader J.
Bob Traxler, D-Bay City. "If we can't work out our differences there, we'll meet them under the (capital) dome."

Rep. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, said the Senate usually "puts the cool hand of logic" on the work of the "passionate, hot-headed House, but this time it has put the cool hand of reaction on a bill."

The center of the controversy is a renters provision which the House insists upon and which the Senate refuses to approve.

SENATE VERSION

The Senate version would cost an estimated $20 million to $40 million. It would have granted a tax exemption on the first $2,500

De Gaulle,
Wilson Air
Key Issues

PARIS (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson flew to Paris today for a meeting with President Charles de Gaulle in hopes of restoring day-to-day British-French cooperation. It is their first full-scale conference since Wilson took over the British government last October.

The two days of talks are expected to include the ailing pound sterling, Viet Nam and the supersonic passenger plane, the Concorde.

Wilson is the first British prime minister to visit de Gaulle since Harold Macmillan came to Paris in 1962. That visit was followed by Macmillan's Nassau conference with President John F. Kennedy which produced the multilateral nuclear force proposal, and then de Gaulle vetoed Britain's entry into the European Common Market.

Since then cooperation between the two governments has been at a low ebb.

NO AGENDA

There was no set agenda for the talks. The French indicated that the initiative for introducing topics would lie with Wilson.
French sources indicated, however, that they were highly interested in the Wilson government's attitude toward its future relations with any union of European states that develops.
The interest centers on the extent of American influence on British policy.

De Gaulle is a determined foe of American influence in Europe.

On Viet Nam, the British have supported U.S. policy, including air strikes against North Viet Nam. The French urge neutralization of all their former Indo-chinese colonies.

POUND PROBLEMS

Current difficulties being suffered by the pound sterling and planning for the supersonic Concorde are related. Wilson's Concorde presents its first full-scale budget next week, and he is looking for economies to bolster his nation's precarious finances.

Trading Fairly Active

Uneven Higher Trend in Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed an unevenly higher trend early today in fairly active trading.

The list was bolstered by gains around a point by Du Pont, Xerox and Union Carbide.

All Big Three motors showed plus signs, but their gains couldn't be thinner. Steels were narrowly mixed. Rails nudged ahead slightly.

United Artists, still helped by reports that its film, "Goldfinger," will be a historic money-maker, rose 1/4 to 4 1/2% on a block of 4,000 shares.

Baldwin - Lima - Hamilton, Thursday's most active gainers, rose 1/4 to 1 1/8% on blocks of 12,000 and 6,500 shares.

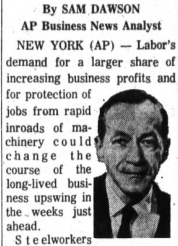

Measabi Trust was unchanged at 14 on a block of 16,000 shares.

Pontiac Tops March of '64

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Labor's demand for a larger share of increasing business profits and for protection of jobs from rapid inroads of machinery could change the course of the long-lived business upswing in the weeks just ahead.

Steelworkers' union leaders capture the attention just now. But in many other sections of industry, trade and services the same fight is under way over shaping up, and the administration in Washington may have its hands full trying to stave off another wage-price spiral.

By SAM DAWSON

1st Quarter Figures Also Over Last Year

Pontiac Motor Division, for the third time this year, has exceeded production for the same month a year ago.

March production was almost 16,000 units ahead of March 1964 according to preliminary figures released by General Motors.

This brings Pontiac production for the first quarter to 48,285 units compared to 46,104 Tempests assembled for the month. Tempests again led the increase.

Steel Companies Also Know

Steel companies also know that if their prices rise, American users will be further tempted to increase their buying of foreign steel at lower prices. Or steel customers will turn to some of the substitutes —other metals, plastics, concrete, glass — that have made inroads into once all-steel markets.

For all these reasons, steel customers are watching the labor talks closely. But they have still another concern beyond just what might happen to steel prices, and that is whether the demands of the steel union will set a pattern for labor throughout industry, and where it will all end.

Just ahead could be a jolt to the over-all economy if a steel strike is called; an overheating of an aging business upswing if a wage-price spiral sets off the traditional boom and bust; a tough decision for the administration in Washington as to how to define the public interest in the labor strife, and what to do about it, if anything, once it is defined.

The New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Following is a list of selected stock transactions on the New York Stock Exchange for 1965 prices.

GM Trucks & Coach Division

also showed a substantial increase for the month. Production was 13,274 units compared to 12,500 for March a year ago, bringing the total for the first quarter to 36,309 units as against 30,294 a year ago.

AT&T Beats GM in Profits

The company said its earnings for the year ending Feb. 28 exceeded those of any other company during a 12-month period, including the previous record holder, GM.

General Prosperity tends to minimize these threats just now. The public leans to the belief that business is so healthy it can shrug off most problems.

Business upswing, now starting its 50th month, makes any obstacle in the path loom larger. Nervousness grows lest something upset the fine balance that has avoided excesses so far.

The United Steelworkers of America is asking higher wages, shorter workweeks, double time for overtime, fair pensions and other fringe benefits that reportedly would average out to around $1 an hour over the next three years.

'65 Pontiac to Compete in Gas Run

Art Arfons, who set a land speed record of 336.7 miles per hour last October on Utah's Bonneville Salt Flats, will try his hand at economy driving in the Mobile Economy Run Monday through April 12.

AT&T's earnings were $1,740,339,000, compared to $1,561,484,000 the previous year.

The spring quarterly letter, mailed out yesterday, contains statement from the telephone company's chairman, Frederick R. Kappel, saying "the growth of our business continues at a record-breaking rate."

U. S. Nuclear Planes

A total of 49 cars will leave the West Coast and wind up in New York's Times Square seven days later.

During practice, Arfons has averaged nearly 20 miles per gallon in his Pontiac.

The 3,300-mile run is sanctioned and policed by the U.S. Auto Club, whose officials certify that all entries are strictly stock models readily available at any dealership.

1 Dead, 25 Injured in Venezuela Rioting

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Riotous demonstrations against President Raul Leon's government left one man dead and at least 25 persons injured today.

Shooting broke out after police and troops used tear gas last night to disperse the crowd in midtown, where demonstrations had been banned by a recent municipal decree. Unofficial reports said 270 persons were arrested.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

"I would like to start an investment program, but in a small way. I'm a rookie policeman, starting a family, with a good equity in my house and money in the bank for emergencies. I would like to invest $250 now available and start a Monthly Investment Plan of $50 a quarter. What would you advise?" R.S.

A) I like the Monthly Investment Plan — offered by many New York Stock Exchange member firms — because it encourages periodic savings and allows you to buy stocks at a fair average price over a period of time.

The commission fees are rather high on small transactions, but I believe that this factor is outweighed by the advantages I have cited. For the $250 now available, I suggest Pacific Gas & Electric, one of our best public utility systems.

I would start my first Plan with American Hospital Supply; a strong leader in a growing field.

"Q" I have recently taken some money out of the stock market. At present I have $100,000 in cash which I would like to keep liquid for six months to a year. My earnings are good, I'm single and fall into the 62 per cent income tax bracket. Are there any tax-exempt Treasury notes or what could you suggest?" G.C.

A) There are no Treasuries exempt from Federal Income taxes. In your bracket, the yield after taxes on Treasury notes due early next year would be rather negligible.

I suggest you ask your dealer about a State of Connecticut 2.22 per cent notes due December 1, 1965.

Works of Art May Stretch Across Canada

MONTREAL (AP) — Works of art in stone, bronze, wood or concrete may one day link Canada from coast to coast.

A project, to be known as the Way of the Arts, has been launched here.

A number of internationally acclaimed artists are given a room, board and a salary, on condition that they work in public and leave their creations behind them when the job is finished.

Eleven artists from 13 countries are at present working on great blocks of stone on the slopes of Mt. Royal. Their work may be sent to points across Canada later.

The Quebec Symposium Society hopes other provinces will sponsor similar programs.

Amendments Stall Appropriations Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Senate refused Thursday to agree with House amendments that boost the 1964-65 supplemental appropriations bill by $1.2 million.

The refusal means that House and Senate conferees will meet next week to iron out differences in a measure that passed the Senate with a $5.6 million tag but was upped to $6.8 million by the House.

Pontiac Lists Appointments

Two new appointments have been announced by Wright C. Cotton, Pontiac Motor Division Controller.

Marlow O. Alsager of 3033 Morningview Boulevard Township, has been made divisional auditor.

In this new position, he will direct property accounting factory accounting and ALSAGER plant analysis activities, as well as auditing.

George Shearer, 406 W. Iroquois, was appointed administrator of procedures. He is a 38-year veteran with Pontiac.

In his new position, he will report directly to the divisional comptroller and for financial staff procedures including accounting department administrative matters.
