Over 250 Killed as Sicily Is Smashed by Earthquakes

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — A catastrophic wave of killer earthquakes smashed across the western tip of Sicily today, and police said more than 250 persons were killed.

Police said most of the victims died when a hospital at Montevago collapsed and buried 200 persons.

More than 20 other victims were counted from the stricken communities near Montevago.

The quake was the worst natural disaster to hit Sicily—the largest and most populous island in the Mediterranean Sea—since an earthquake destroyed Messina in 1908 with a loss of 75,000 lives.

★ ★ ★

The quakes ripped across a mountainous farming region of Sicily considered to be the stronghold of the Mafia. At least half a dozen towns and villages were wrecked.

The shocks also reached into the cities of Palermo, Trapani and Marsala, in the edge of the disaster area, causing some damage and widespread panic.

Hundreds were injured as the shocks came in a series of death-dealing waves.

Five tremors had rocked the region yesterday and at least five more came today, starting at 2:34 a.m. and continuing through midday.

The disaster plunged western Sicily into winter misery. The Italian government mounted a massive relief and rescue operation of planes, ships, trucks and cars to get medicine, blankets, food and tents into the disaster zone.

HOMELESS

Hundreds of homeless huddled without shelter in bone-chilling cold, many in fields where snow lay four inches deep.

The full fury of the quakes struck in a mountainous triangle roughly halfway between the north and south coasts of Sicily's western end.

Gibellina, a town of 7,000 inhabitants, was destroyed. So was Montevago a town of 3,000 where a late shock razed the hospital. First rescue teams into Gibellina said they saw nothing but ruins.

★ ★ ★

Refugees from Gibellina trudged along the icy road away from their ruined town, seeking shelter.

★ ★ ★

From cracks in the mountainside on which Gibellina was built came the odor of sulphur, so strong it could be smelled several miles away. The geological structure of Sicily is volcanic.

★ ★ ★

It might be days before the exact number of deaths becomes known.

Storms Plague U.S.; Clearing Expected Here

Snow, Sleet Hit Parts of Nation; Death Toll Is 46

By The Associated Press

Snow, sleet and freezing rain covered sections of the nation from northern Mississippi and Georgia to the Great Lakes and New England today. Schools were closed in areas from Illinois to Georgia. And tens of thousands of persons in five states were left without electricity over the weekend.

Weather-related deaths numbered 46 for the weekend.

Highway traffic slowed to a crawl through much of the area east of the Mississippi. Major roads were generally icy and many secondary roads were impassable.

Residents of southeastern Ohio were digging out of 17 inches of snow that fell yesterday; and in western West Virginia, a new cover of 11 inches of snow left 33 inches on the ground.

★ ★ ★

The Weather Bureau issued warnings for more of the same kind of weather today.

NORTHWEST HIT

Elsewhere, the northwest was lashed by strong winds and locally heavy rain today from Washington to central California.

Sixteen weekend deaths in Ohio were attributed to the weather, including 10 persons who died after shoveling snow. Indiana counted nine deaths, including six persons who died in traffic accidents.

Four weather-related deaths were reported in Tennessee, three each in Georgia, New York and South Carolina and two in Virginia and Alabama.

★ ★ ★

POWER FAILURES

Gas explosions popped manhole covers in the city, and falling tree branches and the short circuits cut off power to some 12,000 homes in the metropolitan area. There were numerous power and telephone failures in Upstate New York.

Driving Is Difficult But Not Impossible In Pontiac As This Motorist Proves On Algonquin Road

Heaviest Fall of Winter Clogs County Roads

The heaviest snowfall of the winter clogged streets and slowed traffic throughout Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Lapeer, and other southeastern counties today.

Up to a foot of snow had fallen throughout Southeastern Michigan early today.

The weather forecast called for diminishing flurries in the afternoon with another inch or two adding to the weekend's accumulation.

It will be colder tonight with a chance of a few snow flurries but mostly clearing, the forecast said.

Low tonight will be 15 to 22 with tomorrow expected to be partly sunny and colder. Low in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 24.

HIGHWAY TOLL

The Auto Club of Michigan said weekend road conditions were the worst of the winter. The weekend highway death toll was three, the lowest number of weekend highway deaths in years.

Pontiac police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department reported a total of 101 traffic accidents over the weekend, blaming the weather for the majority.

Of these, 23 resulted in injuries, but officers said nearly all were minor because of lower speeds demanded by hazardous roads.

The snow-covered roads and slippery streets caused a number of school districts in Oakland County to close schools for the day.

LIMITED BUSES

Several school districts confined their buses to main streets only, while others held classes but did not provide transportation.

Local service stations reported they have been flooded with calls from stalled or stranded motorists. Although tow trucks are going all out there were long waits for some stranded motorists.

Six men, only one below 65, died of heart attacks suffered while shoveling the heavy weekend snows in the Detroit area.

Crews from the Oakland County Road Commission have been working around the clock since Saturday morning to keep main arteries clear, said Oscar Loomis, maintenance supervisor.

Controversial Issues Abound

Congress Convenes Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 90th Congress reassembles today for an election-year session beset by problems of war, inflation, crime and racial unrest.

The good fellowship that traditionally accompanies the opening ceremonies is expected to fade quickly once the Senate and House tackle controversial issues left over from last year.

Hanging over the Senate is a civil rights bill battle that may turn into a full-fledged filibuster in the opening days of the session.

Little action was anticipated in advance of President Johnson's nationally televised State of the Union message Wednesday night to a joint session of Congress.

★ ★ ★

Anticipated is a call for measures aimed at heading off a renewal of the racial violence that wracked many U.S. cities last summer.

NEW APPEAL

Johnson also is expected to appeal anew for an income tax increase, a proposal on which he suffered his biggest defeat at the 1967 session.

Possible buttresses for Johnson's request this year are the devaluation of the British pound, the continuing outflow of dollars and gold and climbing prices.

And in an effort to strengthen the dollar and cut down an adverse balance of payments, Johnson may ask for a tax on travel abroad, tax rebates for U.S. exporters, a tax on imports and removal of the gold backing for the dollar.

★ ★ ★

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said yesterday he feels Congress would balk at a tourist tax.

An income tax increase was just one of several administration proposals shunted aside last year.

Other major legislation unsuccessfully pushed by the President, despite heavy Democratic majorities in both Senate and House, included open housing, anti-crime, gun controls, truth-in-lending, election reform and pipeline safety measures.

How these and other administration bills fare this year may turn on home-front soundings taken by congressmen since they adjourned a month ago.

★ ★ ★

All House members and one-third of the senators come up for reelection in November along with the President.

Tickets Available for Cooking School

With one week to go before the opening of the ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school, requests for tickets are piling up.

★ ★ ★

Free tickets are available for any of the three sessions: the evenings of Jan. 22 and 23; Jan. 24 and 25; and the afternoons of Jan. 23 and 24.

Milford Twp. Man Named COG Head

By ED BLUNDEN

An Oakland County man was elected the first chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG) at the first meeting of the general assembly of the six-county planning organization.

William L. Mainland, supervisor from Milford Township, was unanimous choice of approximately 90 delegates in attendance.

Mel Ravitz, a Detroit councilman and chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, was chosen vice chairman.

At the meeting, it was announced that 93 units of government of a possible 350 now belong to COG. The meeting was held Saturday at the Ford Motor Co. administration office in Dearborn.

Mainland of 124 E. Commerce announced that he expected many more groups to join COG now that its programs are getting under way.

Addressing himself to foes of COG, he said, "Detractors and obstructionists will look in vain for any cynical, scheming conspiracy."

Mainland vowed "Not spectacular showmanship, but solid achievement" from the new organization. The six counties involved are Wayne, Oakland,

High Court OKs Big Rail Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court approved today the merger of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central Railroads, clearing the way for their combination by Feb. 1.

The two roads were given a go-ahead almost six years after they had asked the government to allow what will be the biggest merger in the history of American business.

Justice Abe Fortas, speaking for the high court, said the justices could find no basis for reversing approval of the merger by the Interstate Commerce Commission and a federal court in New York.

Evident in the lengthy decision was the fact that a major determination was the fate of the New Haven Railroad. Part of the merger agreement involves a $25 million loan from Penn Central to the ailing New Haven.

Justice William O. Douglas entered a partial dissent.

Said Douglas: "High finance has a great inventive genius; and one does not have to be sophisticated to see how Penn-Central with the use of this loan device can pick up New Haven for a song."

Romney Defends Handling of Riots

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney hotly defended his handling of Detroit's race riots today in the early morning chill of a New Hampshire parking lot.

★ ★ ★

Shaking hands outside a Laconia factory as he resumed his presidential primary campaign, Romney stopped one worker to ask for a vote and wound up in a debate on the riots.

"I think you fell on your feet up there in the riots," the worker said.

"I'll tell you what happened," Romney replied. "I got caught between a soft mayor and a president who vacillated."

"You were the governor," another worker said.

"You take a look at my record," Romney countered. "And I have maintained law and order and used force as necessary to preserve law and order."

★ ★ ★

Romney said Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanaugh failed to apply adequate police force to stop the Detroit outbreak at the beginning, and President Johnson delayed sending in federal troops to quell the trouble.

Romney started campaigning before dawn, with that encounter at the Scott & Williams Co., then toured the Laconia Shoe Co.

PERSONAL PERSUASION

Romney is trying personal persuasion in his bid to win New Hampshire voters, and also in an attempt to entice former Vice President Richard M. Nixon into a series of New Hampshire campaign debates.

Romney has sent a private telegram to his chief rival in the presidential primary, and may follow it up with a personal telephone call to Nixon.

★ ★ ★

Nixon, leading in the opinion polls here, has not yet responded. He is considered unlikely to accept the challenge Romney issued in opening his New Hampshire race.

Romney strategists reported the message to Nixon as the governor prepared to resume his hand-shaking campaign routine today.

One Romney campaign manager said the governor's early morning hand-shaking missions were calculated "to show that this guy has got courage, that he'll go out in the cold and that he's a fighter."

★ ★ ★

Romney had a dozen stops on his schedule, including a speech in Keene covering his Vietnam war policy. The governor is expected to describe his idea of "guaranteed neutrality" as a possible course to peace.

★ ★ ★

Romney, who does not campaign on Sundays, spent much of his day off working on the lengthy Vietnam speech.

Then he went to Portsmouth to attend services of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints.

Speaking at those services, Romney told some 200 fellow Mormons, "The most burning domestic problem is social injustice to people because of race and color."

★ ★ ★

The Mormon church does not accept Negroes into its priesthood, and Romney has spoken on civil rights at such services before.

Birmingham Area News

Section of Ring Road Slated for Consideration

BIRMINGHAM—Another section of the much-discussed "ring road" is slated for consideration by the City Commission at its regular meeting at 8 tonight.

★ ★ ★

The ring road, a planned loop around the central business district to ease traffic congestion, has been completed west of Hunter. Further construction plans have been stalled pending financial information from the State Highway Department on Hunter crossovers north and south of Maple.

A letter from the department has been received, offering state funds for 50 per cent of the cost of construction of both crossovers.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning, in recommending that the city approve construction on the basis offered, said that cost estimates range from $30,000 to $40,000, making the city's share $15,000 to $20,000.

★ ★ ★

Kenning also recommended that the commission direct the administration to request that the state design the crossovers and return plans to Birmingham in time to be included in the city's paving program this year.

REPORT SCHEDULED

Tonight's agenda also includes a report from Darrel C. Middlewood, parks and recreation superintendent.

N. Viet Fighters Hit Village, Laos Says

VIENTIANE (UPI) — North Vietnamese fighter planes raided a Laos village 200 miles northeast of here and Laotian forces shot down two of them, a government announcement said today.

The statement read by Finance Minister Sisouk na Champassak was the first official report of foreign attacks by North Vietnamese aircraft.

He said the planes bombed, rocketed and strafed the village of Muong Yut and reported other action that indicated the Vietnam war was spilling over into this neighboring neutral nation.

Champassak, right-hand man of Premier Suvanna Phouma, identified the raiding North Vietnamese aircraft as Antonov fighters, Soviet - designed aircraft.

He also reported a Communist gain in Laos' resurgent war against the Communist-backed Pathet Lao.

He said Nam Bac, a government strong point 60 miles north of the royal capital of Lang Prabang, had been under serious attack.

The communique said nothing about the government troops at Nam Bac. But reliable military sources said eight government battalions there had split and were retreating, fighting as they moved.

MIG Hits U.S. Jet; Pilot Lost

SAIGON (AP) — A MIG21 flashed up through monsoon clouds to shoot down a U.S. Air Force Thunderchief Sunday during a strike against an airfield deep in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today. The pilot is missing.

The F105 Thunderchief was taking part in a radar attack on the Yen Bai airfield and storage area 78 miles northwest of Hanoi. It was the 786th American warplane reported lost in combat over North Vietnam. This includes 36 downed by MIGs, while American pilots claim to have shot down 103 of the Communist jets.

★ ★ ★

Hanoi claimed three U.S. planes were shot down Sunday, including an RB66 electronic countermeasure plane loaded with highly sophisticated electronic equipment to jam North Vietnam's radar warning system.

With much of North Vietnam blanketed by clouds, U.S. planes flew only 83 missions Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The only two raids above Hanoi were on the Yen Bai airfield and the Sam Tra railroad yard on the northwest line 94 miles northwest of Hanoi. Bomb drops were made by radar in both strikes and no assessment of damage could be made because of the weather.

22 Pct. in Class Would Quit U.S. to Avoid Draft

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Twenty-two per cent of 529 Harvard College seniors answering a questionnaire said they would go to jail or leave the country if all applications for draft deferments were rejected, the Harvard Crimson said today.

The 529 seniors represent 43 per cent of the class.

The student newspaper, in a copyright story, said 59 per cent of those answering said they will "make a determined effort to avoid military service."

The paper said that 52 students said they plan to leave the United States and 51 students said they would go to jail if drafted. It said that 28 students indicated they would fight induction in the courts.

Mansfield Urges Halt to Bombing of N. Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield urges halting U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, saying Hanoi may have given the "one small indication" President Johnson has publicly sought that peace talks might result.

The Montanan referred Sunday to a New Year's weekend statement by Nguyen Duy Trinh, North Vietnam foreign minister, that Hanoi "will hold peace talks with the United States" if U.S. bombing and other "acts of war" against the North are stopped.

Mansfield said both President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had specified a number of times that if North Vietnam "would just give us one sign, one small indication" that it wanted to talk peace then U.S. bombing might be halted.

Jeannette Rankin, 87, the nation's first congresswoman, pledged to carry an antiwar protest she said might involve up to 10,000 women to the steps of the Capitol today.

WOULD RISK JAIL

Miss Rankin, a Montana ranch owner who as a congresswoman voted against U.S. entry into both World War I and World War II, said she'd risk a jail term if necessary by ignoring a police order that the demonstration halt at a square near the Capitol.

In other war-related weekend developments:

—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview he isn't altering his stand on Vietnam. "I support the President's basic policy of fighting in Vietnam against Communist aggression. I reserve the right to criticize the methods the President may use, but I support the objective," said Dirksen.

★ ★ ★

—Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., said in a Hartford Courant interview the United States should take the initiative in calling for a Geneva Conference on ending the war. Ribicoff said the Soviet Union and Red China should take part in such a conference.

Heart Patient Has Operation

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Mike Kasperak, his transplanted heart still functioning well, remained in critical condition today after removal of his gall bladder Sunday in an emergency operation at Stanford University Medical Center.

The one-hour operation was performed by a team headed by Dr. Norman E. Shumway. The surgeon led the group which removed the greatly enlarged heart of the 54-year-old steelworker Jan. 6 and replaced it with one from a 43-year-old Santa Clara housewife who had just died of a massive brain hemorrhage.

Doctors said Kasperak's bile duct was blocked and his gallbladder enlarged. They removed the gallbladder and cleared the common duct leading from the liver to the small intestine.

In Washington, Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel of Georgetown University's surgical research laboratory said he felt that not enough is known about patient reaction to justify heart transplant operations at this time.

Snow Clogs County Roads

Many of the local roads are clogged throughout the county, said Loomis, though the conditions are worse in the northern portion because of narrow roads.

Loomis said that some 100 men have been working during each of 12-hour shifts since the snow began falling Saturday.

Pontiac DPW officials said crews have been working around the clock since Saturday clearing and salting streets.

Utility companies reported no unusual problems because of the weather.

Only light snow was reported in most northern Lower Michigan areas and in the Upper Peninsula. Highways north of Houghton Lake area generally were reported clear.

Youth Is Held in Kidnaping of Youngsters

Berkley police are seeking a warrant for a 20-year-old youth on charges of kidnaping an 8-year-old boy and his 6-year-old sister here Saturday.

Apprehended by Southfield police at 11:45 a.m. Saturday was Byron Lee Hoffmeister of 2327 Bacon, Berkley. He is in the Berkley Jail.

The youngsters were treated and released from Providence Hospital, Southfield, Saturday afternoon.

The boy reportedly was kidnaped while making the 10-block walk to pick up his sister after catechism class Saturday morning, said the boy's mother. The young man driving the car then picked up the boy's sister.

★ ★ ★

The boy was found by construction men at 11 Mile and Greenfield, Southfield, while his captor was beating him, the boy's mother said.

COVERED WITH SNOW

The girl was found by two Bloomfield Hills men about noon Saturday covered with snow walking alongside Green Road in West Bloomfield Township.

She said she had been choked, beaten and thrown from a green car by a young man with curly hair and wearing a blue jacket, said Harry White, 1200 Club, who was riding with his son, Jack, when they found the girl.

The girl was in the state of shock, and her face was covered with blood, according to Jack White. He reported that the girl had walked up about a 15-foot bank to the side of the road.

GM Truck Pact Vote Set

Ratification vote for the local contract has been set for next Monday at UAW Local 594 at General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

Balloting will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the local office, 525 S. East Blvd. Copies of the proposed agreement reached by union and company negotiators will be available and discussions held at shift meetings.

Second and third shifts meet at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday and day shifts at 5 p.m. Wednesday. Skilled workers' second and third shifts meet at 12:30 p.m. Thursday and day shifts at 5 p.m. the same day, according to union officials.

The national agreement setting wage patterns was approved by vote last month at the Truck and Coach Division.

Still without a proposed local agreement is Pontiac Motor Division. A union spokesman reported negotiations were continuing today and that no strike deadline had yet been announced.

Audubon Society Gets Maine Land

BATH, Maine (AP) — A Georgetown woman, who devoted much of her life to a study of nature, left 400 acres of land to the Maine Audubon Society, according to a will filed in Sagadahoc County Probate Court.

Mrs. Josephine H. Newman, amateur naturalist who died Jan. 1 at the age of 89, directed the society to use the wooded property "for the study of birds and other wildlife and four other general ornithological, botanical and natural history purposes."

Area Airman Is Killed in State Crash

A 20-year-old Waterford Township airman was killed Saturday night when the car he was driving collided head-on with another auto in Iosco County.

Oscoda Township police said John M. Koskela, 3766 Lotus, who is stationed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, apparently lost control of the car he was driving and crossed the center line on U. S. 23.

His small foreign car collided with a car driven by Debra George, 16, of Harrisville, according to police. Miss George was unhurt, but two other 16-year-old girls in the car were slightly injured.

Milford Twp. Man Named COG Head

Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair. From these counties representatives have been chosen from cities, villages, county boards and school districts.

The COG organization will replace activities of the Detroit Regional Planning Commission and the Supervisors Inter-County Committee. Both of these groups are now defunct.

★ ★ ★

R. J. Alexander, Oakland County director of Public Works, was chairman of the Regional Planning Commission. In his talk on the new functions of COG he said, "In 1947 when the planning commission began to function, there was skepticism and distruct that a super-agency had been created to dictate and direct from towers of ivory the affairs of the region.

"Time has proved the skeptics to be wrong," he said.

COOPERATION

Alexander vowed that COG would work closely with all local governments in its planning functions.

Both Mainland and Alexander extended invitations to all the units of government that had not yet joined COG to do so for their own benefit as well as to help the new agency to be more effective.

Actions taken by the general assembly were mostly confined to adopting minutes and a discussion of the bylaws.

★ ★ ★

Much of the activity will be carried on by a 35-man executive committee, subject to approval by the assembly. The executive committee will meet regularly. However, the general assembly will meet whenever called by Chairman Mainland, probably in about two months, he indicated.

REPRESENTED GROUPS

On the assembly from Oakland County are four men from the board of supervisors. Other groups represented are:

- Cities and Villages: Berkley, Beverly Hills, Birmingham, Clawson, Farmington, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Keego Harbor, Lathrup Village, Madison Heights, Milford, Oak Park, Ortonville, Pleasant Ridge, Quakertown, South Lyon, Walled Lake and Wixom.

1,500 Oldsters Retired From Draft Boards

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 1,500 of the old men who have been selecting the young men to fight in Vietnam have retired from draft boards across the country in recent weeks. Others will follow.

Dozens of the retired were more than 80. Some were in their 90s. Many had served on their local boards since the inception of Selective Service in 1941.

Under federal legislation which became effective Jan. 1, draft board members—they are unpaid volunteers—must retire upon reaching 75.

There are 4,087 local boards with a total of 17,232 members and 96 appeal boards with 593 members. During January the age rule required the retirement of 1,508 local board members and 36 appeal board members.

ENTIRE BOARD

As an extreme example of the rule's effect, it eliminated further service by all five members at Hot Springs, S.D., where Joe C. Weyl was dean of the board at 89.

Another 333 board members in various parts of the nation will reach 75 during 1968.

In general, the retiring oldsters say they never regretted the time and effort spent serving on their boards, and during the hectic buildup of armed services manpower during World War II, they sometimes worked from morning to midnight.

Archer A. Page, 80, who was on a Richmond, Va., local board from the start of Selective Service, told an interviewer:

"I must have acted on 25,000 or more individual cases over the years. It was a duty to be done, just as the boys we were sending out had a duty."

KEPT ON

"I thought about giving the job up several times, but I didn't" said Tom Hargis, 85, who was chairman of the board of Madison County, Ark., from the time it was organized. "I knew somebody had to do it, so I just kept staying on."

Dr. George Earl, 83, until Jan. 1 a member of the Minnesota state Selective Service Appeal Board, said, "It's been tough a lot of times but I never thought of resigning."

★ ★ ★

One of 65 Californians required to retire because of the age limit was peppery John P. Dunning, 87, of Sacramento, who served on his local board from the start.

He said the World War II draftees were better than those the boards are getting today.

LOTS HEALTHIER

"They were a lot healthier, for one thing," Dunning said in an interview. "But what can you expect the way kids are living now, using dope, growing their hair long, running around?

"We didn't have the problems with those in World War II that we have now. Now you have all these conscientious objectors who come to board meetings prepared to read three hours worth of documents to you, if you let them."

CONTRARY VIEW

John J. Quinn, 82, an original member of his local board at Horseshoe Bend, Idaho, took a contrary view.

"The Vietnam draftees are better qualified mentally because educational opportunities are greater," Quinn declared. "Physically they are just as good as those we got in the Second World War."

★ ★ ★

The Rev. James D. Pair, 94, who had served on Selective Service boards in Washington, D.C., since the system was established, agreed with Quinn.

"We don't have so many who are physically and mentally unfit as we did in World War II," he said. "The group that's been coming to us is of higher intelligence, even higher than during the fighting in Korea."

All of the oldsters interviewed felt, with few or no reservations, that the Selective Service System is fair.

'CAN'T BE PERFECT'

"It seems fine just the way it is," said Dunning.

"Anything as large as that can't be all perfect," said Hargis, "but I really wouldn't recommend any changes."

"I don't think there should be any changes at all," said Page. "The system has done a magnificent job and you can make that as strong as horseradish."

★ ★ ★

Quinn thought the system on the whole works fairly but was dubious about the exemptions for college students.

"There are some guys who wouldn't still be going to college if it were not a way out of the draft," he declared. "And lots of kids can't afford to go to college."

UNFAIR TO NONWHITES

Some civil rights leaders have asserted that Selective Service is unfair to nonwhites from poor families who cannot afford to give their sons a higher education.

But the Rev. Mr. Pair, a Negro, described the system as "the best method I would have been able to imagine."

★ ★ ★

Replacements for the retiring old board members are expected to be in much lower age brackets in most states. A presidential commission which studied the Selective Service system recommended last year that the boards be made up of younger men.

"We are looking for men from 35 to 50 because that age group includes more war veterans and you get fewer fuddy-duddies," said Col. Morris Schwartz, Texas state Selective Service director. He said 60 would be the upper age limit for new Texas appointees.

In Illinois, a spokesman for the state Selective Service System said the replacements were expected to average about 60.

Brig. Gen. Henry M. Gross, director of Selective Service for Pennsylvania, said, "We like to get people who are armed service veterans and have been through it all but who aren't so old that we lose them right away."

★ ★ ★

Gen. Gross is 80 but as a gubernatorial appointee is not subject to the 75-year rule. He was named state Selective Service director in 1945 and has served under seven governors — five Republicans and two Democrats.

"As long as they'll have me, I'm willing to stay on the job," said the sprightly octogenerian, who boasts that he can still bend over and touch his shoe tips.

The first step in choosing local draft board members is for state directors to collect nominations from prominent citizens of the community.

The directors forward the nominations to the governors, who pass on their recommendations to the national director, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey. He makes the appointments.

U.S. Churches' Growth Trails Population

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Church membership in the United States is up slightly over figures reported a year ago, but the gain continues to lag behind population growth, according to the 1968 yearbook of American churches.

The yearbook, published by the National Council of Churches, is the best available source on church membership statistics. But its figures, gathered from 241 denominations, are not current and not necesarily accurate.

The yearbook emphasized these facts in a preface, warning that its latest statistics are for 1966, and only about half of the denominations could give figures as recent as that.

Some of the figures are little more than guesses, and the yearbook said they should be taken only as "a general indication" of trends in church affiliation.

The yearbook put U.S. church membership at 125,778,656, compared to 124,682,422 reported the previous year.

That is a gain of 0.9 per cent —which if accurate would mean that church membership growth lagged behind the overall growth of the U.S. population. The latter increased by 1.1 per cent in 1966.

This is the second successive year in which membership gains reported by the yearbook have lagged behind population growth. The 1967 yearbook reported a church gain of 1.1 per cent, compared to a population gain of 1.3 per cent.

On the other hand, the 1966 yearbook indicated that church membership had increased by 2.6 per cent, or about twice the rate of population growth.

County Gives Avon Assurance of Road Repairs

AVON TOWNSHIP — Assurance that work will be done to improve two miles of Dequindre Road where Detroit water lines were installed has been received by the Township Board.

Supervisor Cyril Miller said he had received assurance from the County Road Commission that action in cooperation with the Detroit Water Board would be taken.

Paving, which was removed for water line installation, will be replaced by Detroit, Miller said, but the main problem now concerns getting the potholes out of the road.

The road commission also informed the board that it agrees that the access road to the proposed M59 expressway extension near Rochester Road should follow Shortridge Road rather than Nawakwa, which the state had first proposed.

★ ★ ★

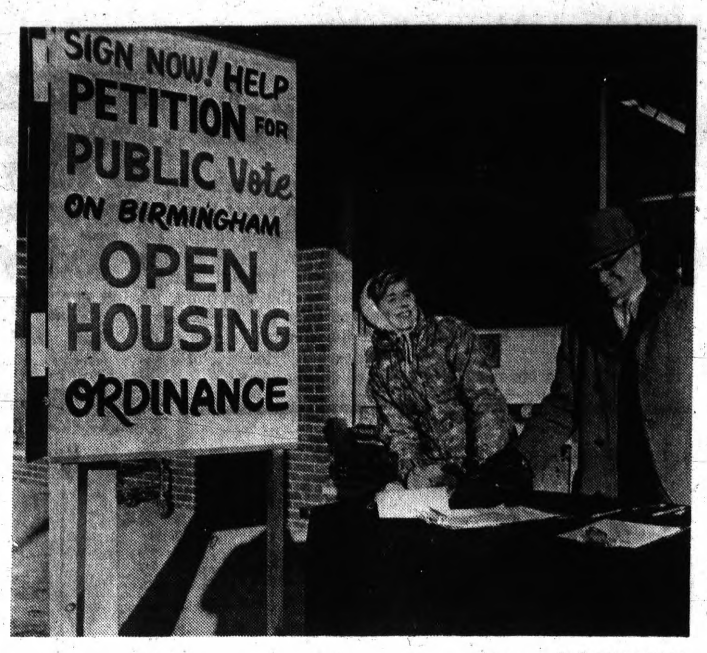

Extension of Shortridge will mean a solution to fire lane problems. The township in previous years had attempted to extend the street from Rochester Road through to Livernois, but the project was blocked by former residents, Miller said.

REZONING

The board approved rezoning of a lot on the west side of Rochester Road south of South Hill bridge for purposes of constructing a gas station. Clark Oil and Refining Co. of Royal Oak was the applicant.

A petition from some 40 of the 70 lot-owners in Avon Heights Subdivision off Avon Road asking for exclusion from the township's Phase I water and sewer program was tabled for study.

"We are 80 percent complete with engineering for this project," said Miller, "and it may be too late to exclude them."

PETITION SIGNING — Mrs. Charles C. Rieger Jr., 360 Larchlea, Birmingham, signs the Birmingham Referendum Committee's housing petition as Charles Tolland, 2194 Pembroke, a committee member watches. The group plans to force a public referendum on the city's fair housing ordinance, passed in November.

Operation, Maintenance of Wixom Sewers Settled

WIXOM — The operation and maintenance of the citywide sanitary sewer system is settled.

While the city owns the system, Oakland County Department of Public Works will operate it for $9.50 per unit per quarter-year.

The number of units depends on how many residents hook into the system, said a city spokesman. This figure won't be known for 18 months when the construction will have been completed and residents will have hooked into the system.

Police Chief D'Arcy E. Young is checking into costs of hiring a police dispatcher for nights and weekends when the county sheriff's department usually handles calls.

★ ★ ★

REFERS PETITION

The council referred to the planning commission a petition from nine people requesting annexation of about 620 acres into the city.

The vacant area is to the north of the city, north of I-96 and east of Old Plank Road in Lyon Township.

The mayor is meeting with the city engineer to finalize the master plans for the city storm drain and water system. These have been presented to the council.

The council nas accepted the resignations of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Preston, from the planning commission and board of canvassers respectively.

Preston, vice chairman of the commission, and his family are moving from their 2550 Loon Lake Road home to Walled Lake.

The council has also rezoned 49130 Pontiac Trail from single family residential to office. John Ryding is establishing a real estate office on the premises.

The approval came after a public hearing.

2 Fires Kill Man, Destroy Oxford Twp. Mobile Home

Separate fires in communities north of Pontiac Saturday evening claimed the life of a 46-year-old Orion Township man and completely destroyed a mobile home in Oxford Township.

Arthur L. Berg, 805 Merritt, was believed overcome by smoke within six feet of safety. An autopsy was performed yesterday by Oakland County Health Department.

Orion Township firemen, called to the scene at 12:35 p.m., confined fire damage to the front section of the home.

The blaze was believed to have started in a living room daybed while Berg slept in a rear bedroom. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

Berg was apparently awakened and was within six feet of the front door before being overcome, firemen said. He was a mechanic who lived alone at the Merritt street address, according to reports.

Oxford Fire Department assisted the Orion Township Department.

Oxford had just returned from a fire in Mobile Manor on Lakeville Road where the trailer owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Oxsher was totally destroyed.

Total damage was estimated at $6,000. Mr. and Mrs. Oxsher were both at work at 8 p.m. when the blaze erupted, according to Oxford Fire Chief Claude Rogers.

Mrs. Oxsher returned while the blaze was at its height, Rogers said, and required medication for hysteria. She was restrained from entering the trailer to save a picture of her son, now serving in Vietnam, the fire chief reported.

Special Education Program in Novi District Is Likely

NOVI — The prospects for a special education program to be conducted by Novi Schools look good.

The board of education recently received tentative approval from Oakland Intermediate Schools to construct two rooms onto the Orchard Hills Elementary School.

These rooms, to be open for 30 pupils in the fall of 1969, will be partly paid for by the Oakland Schools.

For the 1968-69 school year, the district will conduct a class for 15 pupils in an existing room at the Novi Elementary School.

Novi schools have been sending their special education pupils to facilities in South Lyon, Walled Lake and Farmington. The Novi faculty may serve other districts also, said Schools Supt. Thomas Dale.

The board also received federal funds, making possible a summer course in remedial reading for the third year.

The sum of $11,141 comes through Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Novi Township Board Hires Surveyor to Plat 15-Acre Trailer Park

NOVI TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has hired a surveyor to plat the township trailer park, bringing it into accord with a state law.

The platting of the 15-acre park on the south shore of Walled Lake "should have been done years ago," said Township Supervisor Hadley Bachert.

He explained that the township was waiting for the installation of sanitary sewers which are now planned to be in by early 1970. The park is open from May to Labor Day.

The Board has also approved paying the two trustees $18 instead of the previous $10 for attendance at each board meeting.

Bachert noted that there has been no increase in trustee fees in the past six years.

Township trustees are Ralph Luckett and Charles Goers.

Troy Planners OK Two Subdivisions

TROY — The city planning commission has given preliminary approval to plans for two proposed subdivisions.

Windmill Pointe subdivision, to include 289 lots on a 101-acre parcel west of Dequindre and south of Long Lake Road, and Red Fox Trail, a proposed division of 9.6 acres into 19 lots east of Beech and north of Wattles, received approval.

A third subdivision, Eva Haus No. 2, was given final plat approval by the commission. The proposed plan calls for 140 lots on 40 acres south of Big Beaver and east of John R. It is an extension of a present subdivision in the area.

The commission also recommended favorable action by the city commission on a rezoning request from Pegasus Laboratories, Inc., asking a change from residential-single family to industrial for 26 acres east of John R. between Maple and Big Beaver.

Board Will Answer Questions of Public

Why don't school districts lower millage rates when tax assessments go up?

This is one of the questions which is expected to come up before the Huron Valley Board of Education at a special session for the public tonight at 8:30 in the Milford High School cafeteria, 2380 S. Milford.

A progress report on the district's building projects is also planned, said Board President Arthur Burklund.

Names COG Delegates

ROMEO — The board of education has appointed one of its members, Arthur M. Smith, to serve as representative to Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (COG).

★ ★ ★

Another board member, Rex Matzinger, was named alternate delegate.

The board also voted to continue employing Eberle M. Smith Associates as architects and Jahr-Anderson, Inc., as planning consultants for the district.

Farming Award to Be Presented

The Soil and Water Conservation Farmer Award for 1967 will be presented at the annual Oakland County Soil Conservation District dinner at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. Benedict Church, Pontiac.

James Reid, chairman of the district board of directors will present the award.

An election to name two county directors will be conducted. The terms of James Reid, 5400 Cedar Island, White Lake Township, and Keith Middleton, 2120 Stoney Creek, Oakland Township, have expired. Middleton is not seeking reelection; Reid is.

Others nominated are Henry Axford, 390 Gunn, Oakland Township; Dr. O. J. Fusilier, 8970 Dixie, Springfield Township, and Russell Many, 1215 Stoney Creek, Oakland Township. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

★ ★ ★

A motion picture, "Four Seasons With Nature," will be shown by Don Turner of Chelsea.

TICKETS

Tickets for the dinner can be obtained from the Soil Conservation District Office, 35 E. Huron, Pontiac.

School Building Plans Near OK

LAKE ORION — Acceptance of final architectural plans for additions to the senior and junior high and Weber Elementary schools, plus construction of a new elementary school, is expected here in two weeks.

The board of education has gone over the preliminary plans and a further meeting was held Friday to make final changes.

The board anticipates a bond issue will be required to finance the building program, but until architectural plans are finalized there is no indication of the amount which will be needed, according to Schools Supt. Lewis F. Mundy.

State approval will also be needed, he noted, to hold an election.

★ ★ ★

A meeting was set for today with Fred Snow, president of the Lake Orion Education Association, for the purpose of discussing procedures for this year's bargaining negotiations with teachers.

The administration was directed to meet with representatives of the Orion Area Guidance Committee to explore the possibility of expanding the district's counseling program.

Farmington Township Hires Firm for 2-Story Addition to Building

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has hired a firm to build an addition to the Township Administration Building which will be done late this year.

The contract was awarded to Pinkert Construction Co. of Birmingham for $383,900.

The two-story addition will be east of the present building at 31555 11 Mile. It will house the administrative offices while the police department will take over the existing building.

The board has reappointed to the Township Planning Commission David Stader, 30262 Pipers Lane, and P. H. Gardhouse, 25251 Brookview. Their terms are for three years.

The board has also made an agreement with the city and county settling the payment of sewer and water system construction for the 457 acres annexed from the township into the city in November, 1966.

The Tarabusi sewer arm and the water system had been installed prior to the annexation election.

One Is Waterford Airman

Only 3 Die on State Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hazardous snow-covered roads apparently made Michigan motorists more cautious over the weekend as State Police reported only three deaths on the state's highways.

The unusually low number was one less than last weekend when four fatalities were recorded.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press weekend traffic death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight yesterday.

The victims:

Bruno Milani, 33, of Windsor, Ont., a passenger in a car which spun out of control on the snow-covered southbound Lodge Expressway in Detroit yesterday and hit an overpass abutment.

★ ★ ★

John M. Koskela, 20, of Waterford Township, an airman stationed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base near Oscoda, whose car collided head-on with another auto Saturday night on U.S. 23 in Iosco County's Oscoda Township.

Rudolph J. Boyer, 27, of Quincy, who burned to death Saturday when his car struck a utility pole and caught fire near Coldwater in Branch County.

Stevenson Opening in 2 Weeks

Double Shift to End Soon at Utica High

UTICA — At 11 a.m. every day there is scarcely an outward sign to distinguish Utica Community School from any other average suburban high school.

An hour later, however, things start happening.

The students — 1,200 of them — file down the corridors at the bell, board their respective buses, and leave.

At the same time, another fleet of buses appears, finds its way to the parking lot, disgorges 1,200 students, and after a 15-minute break, classes resume.

★ ★ ★

Only the building remains the same. Office staff, instructors — all are different. Utica Stevenson High School's day has begun.

UNIQUE SYSTEM

The two-shift system, which school officials believe to be unique in Michigan, is due to remain in effect for another two weeks.

Then, the real Adlai E. Stevenson High School, now in the finishing stages of construction, will open its doors, and the crush will diminish.

When that happens, the result can only be beneficial, according to Principals David Lathers of Utica and Dr. Robert S. Ulrich of Stevenson.

The current arrangement, with Utica High running from 7 a.m. to noon, and Stevenson from noon to 5 p.m., has worked hardships on both, they say.

UNREASONABLE HOURS

"We have one room during the first hour of the morning which has no classes," commented Lathers, Utica principal. "All our rooms are in use the rest of the day, right up to noon."

Lathers also called the high schools' hours "kind of unreasonable," adding, "Our students start while it's dark, and theirs don't get home until dark."

Ulrich concurred: "Our students would prefer an earlier schedule. Some are anxious to work. For others, participating in sports poses problems. For example, our football team had to practice in the morning, then attend classes afterwards."

★ ★ ★

The Stevenson principal also said extra-curricular activities and opportunities for extra help had been severely curtailed because of the terrific demand on facilities.

★ ★ ★

"Our students all take five classes right in a row," Ulrich explained. "Thus, there is no possibility for extra help except after school ends at 5. Utica students are in the same boat. After they finish, all classrooms are occupied by Stevenson students, so there is no place for a teacher and student to get together."

Pontiac Press Photo

LONE DUPLICATION — Only the principal's office is double in the Utica Community High School building, which houses two schools on a shift basis. Utica principal David Lathers (left) and Stevenson Principal Dr. Robert S. Ulrich have adjoining accommodations. All other facilities are shared.

It Seems to Me . . .

Proposed School Program Necessitates Millage Increase

Our Pontiac School District's Financial Study Council earnestly recommends a major move in the current educational problem.

It proposes a $23 million expenditure and a 6.25 millage increase. Voters will probably face this around the middle of March.

★ ★ ★

The millage covers a program which the committee feels is absolutely essential. Education clear across the Nation is expanding on a scale never known before. Pontiac faces this along with the rest.

The requests for new buildings, new alignments and new wage adjustments transcend anything the Nation has ever witnessed. But it appears to be a prime necessity. It's difficult to look growing children squarely in the eye and shake off a program for their intellectual advancement and salvation. They rarely arise and ask for these things themselves. They're either the happy recipients—or the unhappy victims.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac PRESS is well aware of the demands on taxpayers everywhere. The PRESS pays every time along with the rest. That's an inescapable part of the current economy.

Inflation and advancing costs strike the school systems as squarely as they do everything else.

Nothing seems to be immune. Hence, they must be faced.

★ ★ ★

The school problem has been studied conscientiously and in detail by the committee of 122 serious, hard-headed citizens. Their recommendations represent thoughtful study, time and effort with the needs of education balanced against the costs.

Their verdict declares the steps outlined in their recommendations in Wednesday's Pontiac PRESS are absolutely indispensable. Otherwise we are threatening the security of normal school procedures in our own area.

Acceptance seems imperative.

★ ★ ★

We would gain a new high school complex on the State Hospital grounds which would accommodate 4,500 students. The current Central High would be remodeled to house the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's current school millage is the lowest of the 28 districts in Oakland County—truly a remarkable record. Considerable satisfaction can be derived from this as we all face the necessity of pulling our own children along abreast of the overall national picture.

The right to learn stands unquestioned.

Duties on Automobiles . . . .

Our Voice of The People carried a letter protesting against the duties exacted on automobiles here and abroad.

The point is very sound.

We're playing Uncle Sap.

★ ★ ★

When an American automobile crosses the sacred borders of the British Empire, France, Germany, Italy et al, that car is promptly taxed around 25%. This augments the income of the country itself and it makes the price on the American car almost prohibitive.

★ ★ ★

When the cars of these selfsame nations enter the United States we bow low, curtsy and apologetically exact a modest six or seven per cent duty.

What idle mockery!

When will we awaken?

★ ★ ★

The foreign products are produced by workers whose wages are only a small part of the rates paid here. Our men face an unjust penalty. If the foreign car countries assess us around 25%, we should do exactly the same. Pontiac has a direct stake in this. Foreign cars sold in this country may take a direct sale from Pontiac. This costs local citizens employment. Let's all play this international game with the same rules.

Senators Hart and Griffin: attention.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Governor GEORGE ROMNEY has no more staunch or loyal supporter than Governor ROCKEFELLER. The New Yorker has stood by him through thick and thin. . . . . The average hockey player who has a normal length of service loses 18 teeth. . . . . Is there any hour-long TV variety program that's as dismal as the Jerry Lewis Show? . . . . . TWA is the first airline to heed the popular demand and add Playboy to its regular list of magazines. . . . . Rumors — just rumors — say the New York Jets will be sold and VINCE LOMBARDI will be the new coach and will own a chunk of the club.

★ ★ ★

Trusted scouts advise me Marilyn Follis deserves rating as one of the attractive young ladies in the area. . . . . Edgar Bergen, the original big-time ventriloquist, is now badly outdistanced by more than a dozen imitators. He's still the dean of the group but his lips move so badly they cut him out of the picture four-fifths of the time when the dummy is talking. . . . . Why does Barbara Hale steadily draw such top billings on the Perry Mason Shows when she never has anything to do?

MARILYN

Essentially far-out "musicians" can't understand why LAWRENCE WELK and GUY LOMBARDO draw big attention year after year after year. The answer's pretty simple: they play the melodic music that most people honestly prefer. . . . . Overheard: "A specialist is a doctor with a smaller practice but a bigger yacht." . . . . And this suggests a move current in the Congress for an investigation of doctors' current charges and hospital bills. . . . . —HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

The Headless Horseman

David Lawrence Says:

'State of Union' Is Boon to LBJ

WASHINGTON — The 1968 presidential campaign begins for all practical purposes Wednesday night when President Johnson delivers simultaneously to a nationwide television - radio audience and a joint session of both Houses of Congress his address on the State of the Union.

LAWRENCE

What a big advantage a President enjoys as he assembles such a mass of people on three networks, while no other prospective nominee of the Democratic or Republican party is given before the same audience an opportunity immediately to analyze what has been said and point out alternatives!

Today there are more television sets than at any time in American history, and it is logical to assume that first impressions are often lasting and that an image of strength or weakness can be given which will affect the voters.

Many citizens, of course, who are displeased with existing policies will turn off their sets and refuse to listen. Another segment will watch for awhile and grow weary of high-sounding phrases, since many persons are unfamiliar anyhow with the significance of some of the statements being made. But a huge number will be impressed just because a President of the United States has spoken.

★ ★ ★

The chances are that Mr. Johnson will gain rather than lose votes by his television address largely because the "other side" will not be presented.

HOUR-LONG PROGRAM

It is true that the Columbia Broadcasting System has scheduled an hour-long Republican view of the state of the union on Jan. 23, and the National Broadcasting Co. has allocated a half-hour broadcast on Jan. 26.

These are, however, six to nine days after the President's speech. By that time the listeners of this Wednesday night may remember little of what was said by Mr. Johnson.

Indeed, the audience mobilized by the opposition will be much smaller.

If, of course, the Republicans could in some manner persuade former Vice President Nixon, Gov. Romney of Michigan and Gov. Rockefeller of New York to appear on the television together and analyze the President's speech on the same night or the next night, the audience would be large and the public would get closer to an understanding of both sides.

Bob Considine Says:

Publicity Could Drive Hughes More Into Shell

LAS VEGAS — The national publications threaten to drive Howard Hughes deeper underground. Look and Newsweek have a go at him in their current issues.

CONSIDINE

There are a couple of new books freshly minted, professing to tell the "real" story of the man. None of the authors ever spoke to Hughes. It is not likely that any of them ever saw him.

Hughes' passion for privacy seems to be a personal affront, like Lindbergh's was. There was a period when Jacqueline Kennedy found herself in that fix, too.

CHAMPION DODGER

Of course, Hughes is the champion artful dodger of them all, with the possible exception of the Loch Ness Monster and the Abominable Snowman.

There hasn't been a picture taken of him since 1956. Some old friends who have reason to believe he is still quite fond of them, haven't seen him for five or 10 years.

One writer with whom he used to double-date, in the more adventurous days, reached him by mail some time ago to ask for an interview which would eventually be a magazine piece. Hughes wrote him a kindly rejection, and enclosed a check for $5,000.

Since there is no way to check on stories about the legendary billionaire, researchers and other Hughes-watchers must fall back on what is visible of this human iceberg, and what they hear from backstairs gossipers.

What is visible — of recent vintage — is his surprising (albeit enormously profitable) investments in various gambling halls along The Strip.

What is less visible but of enormously more importance is what the Hughes company has done in space, communications, military hardware of a most sophisticated nature, and aeronautics.

Men assuredly can go to the moon and blast off its surface for the return trip in safety, thanks to the Hughes company's Surveyors.

Hughes' satellites, positioned 22,300 miles out in space, and orbiting the earth at the same speed that the earth itself is turning, have moved us 3/10th's of a second away from Europe and Asia—by voice, military codes, and television pictures.

His drive, dough and dogged determination to do something for his country have combined to help keep us ahead of the Russians in vital fields.

But the most recent curiosity about the man seems to center around the measurements of one of his screen discoveries, Jane Russell, and what meat this eccentric Caesar doth feed upon.

Hughes has his own way of conducting his many-headed business. It doesn't conform to the methods of other giant industrial or business enterprises. But it happens to work.

Voice of the People:

Taxpayers Seek Revenge in Voting on School Tax

Unfortunately, the only opportunity that voters have in casting their ballots directly against increased taxation is in the school millage election. Voters stand helplessly watching their legislative bodies institute new programs of taxes at federal, state and municipal levels and then eagerly seek their revenge by voting down a school millage election that has the misfortune to come along at the wrong time.

★ ★ ★

Dollar for dollar, taxes spent in most school districts represent a wiser and more efficient use of public finances than either the Federal or the State government can claim. Voters are "revolting" in the wrong place.

★ ★ ★

What this means to a school district such as Pontiac, which has not had a bond referendum since 1929 or an additional millage election since 1960, but faces both on the ballot late this winter, is the likelihood of losing both. Such a loss would be an unfair indictment of board members and administrators who have judiciously practiced a "pay as you go" policy for many years within the school district. Schools in Michigan are doomed to future financial crises unless an archaic system of millage funding is replaced by a more equitable and broader base for supporting public education.

'Stores Should Still Stock Winter Clothes'

Most mothers at this time have some kind of winter shopping left to do. But where in any of our local stores can you find such things as gloves, winter scarves, snowsuits or any winter apparel you might need? It is ridiculous to see spring clothes in our stores when most people are still going to buy winter clothes. Many would not buy spring clothes now, so why do merchants continue to put spring clothes on the market in January?

Question and Answer

Why are sides of the median on the highway painted orange instead of a color that would show up more? Why not white like the line between lanes? Why don't they paint the white strip at the edges of the pavement on all roads?

FREQUENT DRIVER

REPLY

Mr. Schultz of the County Road Commission says the State specifies the colors, and they comply. They don't have the money to paint the white strip on all roads, but do it in high accident areas or bad locations such as curves. Mr. Bradford of the State Highway Department says reflection of both yellow (not orange) and white paint should be equal because they use reflecting beads with both. Yellow is used for median curbs because it is a nationally recognized barrier color, while white is used and recognized as a color to show alignment and channelization. The State uses the white outside line on all trunklines less than 22 feet wide and anywhere else it's necessary to show alignment. Shortage of money is also their reason for not using it on all roads.

Cure . . .

(Insider's Newsletter)

European experts, who don't believe for a minute that the international gold fever has subsided for good, are advancing a cure that they say will ease pressure on the dollar without causing financial chaos and a sharp political defeat for the U.S.

★ ★ ★

This plan is being discussed quietly among European central bankers: to increase the price of gold by a dollar an ounce each year for the next decade — until it reaches $45 an ounce. This would make the annual increase less than 3 per cent — not enough to make gold an attractive speculation or to upset the present dollar-pound reserve currency system, and not enough to provide a windfall for gold-producing South Africa and Russia or gold-hoarding France.

★ ★ ★

Advocates of the plan say it would increase the value of international reserves by more than $1 billion a year, helping to prime the pump of world trade. They add that it would also prolong the economic life of the South African gold fields, insuring against a premature drop in gold output before the time arrives for a changeover to a managed international paper currency.

Welcome Pledge

Pittsburgh Post Gazette

In a period of inflation, with the costs of living rising steadily, Pennsylvanians should welcome Gov. Shafer's pledge of no additional taxes in 1968.

They have just gone up at the state and local levels and an increase in the federal income tax this year seems likely. A respite at the state level is very much in order.

In fact, we admire in general the governor's strong plea for greater fiscal responsibility.

He should hold rigidly to his threat to veto any appropriation bill unless it is accompanied by a tax measure to pay for it. And we hope he will get good results from a state commission to help establish spending priorities for the next five years.

★ ★ ★

While diplomacy may have dictated restraint, the governor's message to the General Assembly suggested that he shares the public's disenchantment with that august body. He agrees that it stays in session too long and wastes too much time.

The governor proposed, therefore, that a specific time limit be set for each annual session. This is an excellent proposal which we support heartily. Six months should be the outer limit for a session; New York does its job in three.

While the constitutional convention now meeting in Harrisburg is not empowered, as we understand the convention's call, to deal with this issue, it could be dealt with thru separate legislation and we hope the administration will submit it promptly.

★ ★ ★

Instead of dealing expeditiously with the state's problems, the legislature has become a problem in itself. Like the poor, it is always with us. Too much with us, in fact. It should be put to work on a more businesslike basis so that we would have to endure it for only part of the year. Gov. Shafer could make year-round politicking in Harrisburg less appealing by vetoing the latest pension grab and we urge him to do it.

Nonresidents Give View of City Income Tax

I live in Clarkston and do not openly object to a one-half per cent City income tax but I object to being told outright that I will have to pay it. No vote? Even if city residents voted, could I? It's my money that I pay. Don't I have a right to say where it goes? Where is the incentive to work when one person can tell you without question, without vote, that you have to pay a tax for another city? Democratic? No, dictatorial. Let's be fair.

LEONARD A. JONES
5856 MARYSUE, CLARKSTON

I work for a company that is barely inside Pontiac City limits and it really grinds me that employes who do not live in Pontiac should get stuck with a city income tax about which we had nothing to say. If Pontiac can't survive when it has three GM divisions paying taxes, to go along with already high property taxes for residents, it is poor management. I believe there was political pressure influencing the judge's decision, which I feel was not a fair one since nonresidents had no voice.

'Many Youths Know Solution to Problems'

A lot of people feel that our young people are confused and simple, but responsible youths are well enough informed to know the final solution to a lot of today's problems, such as Federal government—more taxes; state government—more taxes; city government—more taxes; factories—more production; consumer goods—more cost. But don't dare ask for raises to cover all this unless you are a government official. Simple enough, isn't it?

'Tax Statement Reflects Large Increases'

When I received my tax statement for this year I thought we were going to help pay off the National Debt. My county taxes are up 50 per cent and school taxes up 32 per cent. That is what they call tax reform. To all who voted for Romney (and he was the one who pushed for this tax reform), I hope you are satisfied. I am not. Romney found fault with President Johnson for not stepping in in the airline strike to make them go by the government guidelines. What did he do when he signed the bill that gave him a raise from $30,000 to $40,000? And that's for a man who isn't on the job part of the time. My property tax is paying $25 in school tax for every $1 I paid when I came here in the forties.

Cautions Residents on Firewood Measures

Many gullible home owners buy a "cord" of firewood when it is actually a rick (one-half cord). Prices range from $12 to $20 for a "cord" which makes Michigan firewood among the highest priced in the Nation. A cord, by any U.S. definition, is four feet high by four feet wide by eight feet long. Some wood merchants will admit that their "cord" is actually a "Michigan cord," whatever that is. An actual cord must be stacked with all logs lengthways.

★ ★ ★

Measure any "cord" delivered and demand to know from the wood merchant how much you are getting. Many honest home owners simply take the wood vendor's word and pay the price.

'It's Time for City Employes to Speak Up'

The City of Pontiac is a good place to work, but when the City management demoralizes the employes and considers them as machines instead of men, it is time for employes to speak up for their rights. In the Sanitation Department they have cut the help 50 per cent. This has lowered the morale of the employes. The Commissioners should understand that we, the employes, can do only so much. The employes therefore ask that the eminent authority of the City of Pontiac scrutinize the matter and consider the employe's viewpoint.

The Divorced Man--His Mistake Is Never Forgiven

AP Wirephoto

While many marriages may linger for years because of children, the final breakup imposes strict requirements on the husband. Visiting hours and responsibilities of both parties in relation to the child are carefully spelled out. Often the child becomes the center of the divorced couple's sole remaining contact. The situation is hard on everyone.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Divorce can be a terrible ordeal for all involved — the husband, the wife and any children of the marriage. But it's the divorced man who pays alimony and perhaps child support. And it's the man who may wind up in alimony jail for nonsupport. What is life like for the formerly-married man, who probably pays dearest for the marital mistake? This is the first of four articles).

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK — When Groucho Marx visited his 13-year-old daughter's ballet class the teacher asked, "Aren't the girls beautiful?"

He agreed, but added ruefully, "To think that in another 10 to 15 years or so 75 per cent of them will be collecting alimony."

★ ★ ★

The plight of the divorced man is a source of material for the comedian, but it is not a laughing matter. Certainly not to men imprisoned in Manhattan's so-called alimony jail for nonsupport.

Nor to their second families who, induced by the Committee for Fair Divorce and Alimony Laws, occasionally picket to protest the predicament of men trapped in the financial morass of their marital mistakes.

★ ★ ★

When the divorced woman weeps, the world chivalrously weeps with her, though her future, if she is young, is not nearly so bleak nowadays.

Few divorced men cry. Like thrice-married Groucho, they make bitter jokes.

Society seldom sympathizes with men who it presumes have the strength and resources to start over again.

In the United States each year the domestic reins of some half million men are severed. A goodly number rush back into harness after briefly roaming wild among the fillies, and a few wander bewildered and lonely through the rest of their years.

"Adjusting to a divorce is a lot worse than adjusting to the death of a wife," commented a 57-year-old Westchester County tax accountant who has experienced both.

"Death forces you to accept the finality of the situation, however terrible it is. With divorce the past is never quite dead. Children, support payments, mutual acquaintances and chance encounters are the strings that pull at you and hurt."

★ ★ ★

The widower may have many similar emotions — despair, loneliness, frustration over one-parent relationships, helplessness with solitary household tasks, and an adolescent awkwardness, though possibly bald and paunchy, in courtships again.

Still the widower is not dogged by the guilt of having failed as is the divorced man. In even the most sophisticated communities, there remains the unwritten demand that somebody in monogamous society bear the guilt and the punishment for a broken marriage.

★ ★ ★

Counselors agree that both parties must share the blame for a marriage failure. Yet legal statistics show that in the vast majority of divorce cases it is the husband who is on record as the bounder.

Now and then some husband will battle bitterly to the court room doors. But then he is usually convinced, by his own or his wife's lawyer, to act like a gentleman and throw in the towel and not to forget the bench's usual proclivity on behalf of the wife. At least he can save himself the court costs that way .

Problems Aren't the Same

Should Wives Copy Mistresses?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently returned from a weekend at a well-known resort where we met another couple. (I'll call them Freddy and Alice.) They posed as husband and wife, but we know for a fact that she is his mistress, not his wife. (Someone at the resort knows Freddy's wife.)

ABBY

What people do is their own business, but I learned a lesson. I think I know why men enjoy mistresses so much. Alice was always well-groomed and beautifully attired. Her figure was trim and she always had a smile on her face. Never once did she interrupt Freddy or disagree with him.

★ ★ ★

She gave him all her attention, laughed at his jokes, and her company was consistently gay, pleasant and charming. I can assure you Freddy had the time of his life. Please print this. If more wives acted like Alice there would be fewer mistresses.

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: I don't know what Freddy's wife is like, but maybe she could top Alice if all she had to worry about was how she looked, and how to be charming for a few hours (or days) at at time. I wonder how Alice would hold up with a steady routine of battling bottles, babies and budgets. And possibly knowing that her husband was weekending with somebody else?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Like most people who read your column, it had never occurred to me to write. That is, until I read that letter in your column for the young wife whose husband constantly corrected their two small sons (ages two and a half and five) at the dinner table until they left in tears.

I have a message for that father: As an engineer by profession, I am inclined to perfectionism and intolerance of the faults of others.

Fortunately, I am more tolerant today than I was when I was raising our first son. Looking back, I am and shall forever be deeply ashamed of the way I hounded and belittled our son until his self-confidence and initiative were destroyed.

This boy, of superior intelligence, became a high school drop-out, incorrigible, and a runaway. Now 21, he has no direction, a questionable future and has tried everything from liquor to LSD. Except for an occasional letter or phone call every three months, we never know where he is.

★ ★ ★

We have five younger children who are fine because by then I had learned a little. However, that doesn't diminish the sin of my intolerance.

So please, Abby, tell this young father to give his small sons patience and affection before it's too late.

Weaver-Photographer to Show at Cranbrook

Marianne Strengell enjoys an international reputation as weaver, fabric and interior designer.

In addition, she is well-known as an exhibitor, lecturer, juror and writer.

Much less is known of her ability and extremely sensitivity as a photographer.

Opening on Jan. 23 and continuing through Feb. 4, Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries will present an exhibition principally of Miss Strengell's photographic work called "Nature Through a Weaver's Eye".

★ ★ ★

First phase of the show presents 24 two-by-four foot photos taken during a session as a member of the "Ossabaw Island Project" in Georgia. Miss Strengell and her architect husband, Olav Hammarstrom, are on the advisory committee for the project.

LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHS

Second phase of the exhibition is a counter-balance to the stark forms of dead trees on the deserted beaches of Ossabaw. Here Miss Strengell introduces a lighter touch in panels of flowers and plant-life which she photographed on the Cranbrook campus.

The 48 studies, in groups of six, utilize photograms and double and triple exposures in both camera and projector, thus producing multiple images.

To climax the show she presents a collection of her design ideas in rugs manufactured mainly by the Karastan Rug Mills, New York, and some woven by Tai Ping, in Hong Kong.

★ ★ ★

From 1937 to 1942 Miss Strengell was weaving and textile design instructor at Cranbrook Academy of Art and then headed that department until 1961.

Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries are open Tuesday through Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. except major holidays. There is an admission.

Minor Money Matters Cause Friction

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Small money problems can do to a family what a few grains of sand do to machinery. Relationships that weather a major catastrophe can be ripped to shreds over a ten dollar bill.

The mischief-maker that rates top billing in hundreds of households is the price of Room and Board.

MARY FEELEY

I'm talking now about the families their own close kin—elderly relatives, or young wives whose husbands are overseas, or divorcees with small children, or couples who have working sons or daughters.

It's easy enough to set a price for a stranger. But how do you combine emotion and the high cost of living, and translate it into a monthly charge that's fair to all concerned?

Unfortunately, the head of the household who must set the price of room and board usually shies away from a frank discussion of what's involved. And yet, unless it's all threshed out in the beginning, resentment sets in.

Relationships turn sour, seemingly from other causes — but track it down and you find that money is the real cause of the friction.

What are the ground rules for setting a price for food and shelter? Actually, no one generality fits all situations. One letter in today's mail asks, "How much should I charge my daughter and baby for room and board while her husband is overseas with the Armed Forces?"

Another says: "An elderly relative wants to come to live with us and is well able financially to pay for room and board. We are bewildered as to how much we should ask."

The one practical approach is to work backwards.

Start by establishing how much one-fourth of the boarder's income amounts to (A sum equal to one-fourth or one-third of the individual's net income is a time-honored rule of thumb for room and board and sometimes works out quite satisfactorily.) Then estimate how much an extra person at the dinner table will add to your grocery bill. Consider, too, whether a young person must buy a car for business reasons, or has insurance premiums to keep up.

Figure the additional cost that will show up on utility bills. If an elderly relative's pension is small, but he has substantial savings or investment income, these should be evaluated in setting a price. And will the boarder perform any services that you would otherwise have to pay for — such as baby-sitting?

When you take a good look at all the pieces of the puzzle — your needs and the boarder's needs and his ability to pay — only then can you decide what amount makes sense.

Sometimes you must figure realistically what it would cost you to help support a family member under another roof, if you don't take him into your home. This can be a determining factor establishing a "fair price."

★ ★ ★

Above all, don't be vague with your border. Start the negotiations with a list of estimated expenses in hand — and request his list of obligations versus income in return. Honesty clears the air and promotes a workable compromise.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's later than you think — but — there's still time! This is the sixth day of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan, but it is not too late for you to join many other women in this adventure.

At this time each year tens of thousands of my readers adopt this course to see how much they can improve their appearance in just eight weeks. Many of them wish to lose weight, and they can and do lose from 15 to 20 pounds in eight weeks, by following the directions in this column.

★ ★ ★

Other women want to improve their appearance generally, recondition their hair and complexion, improve their posture or bring their measurements into more perfect ratio. I will give you specific instructions for the next three days. It is amazing how much you can accomplish in that short length of time, with proper direction and encouragement!

WEIGHED YOURSELF

If you have been reading this column for the past five days, you have weighed yourself and discovered how much you need to lose. You have measured yourself and know which measurements are out of proportion. You have been given three sample daily menus and instructions about how to plan your reducing diet.

The average woman will lose about two pounds a week if she holds her calorie intake to 1200 a day. However, how much you lose with that amount of food also depends on your physical activity.

This is how you find out just how many calories you can have and still lose one pounds a week. You spend about 15 calories every day for each pound you weigh. Suppose you weigh 140 pounds. Fifteen times 140 is 2100 calories a day just to keep your weight where it is.

CUT CALORIES

In order to lose one pound a week you must cut your calorie intake 3500 a week, or five hundred calories less a day. Five hundred from 2100 leaves 1600 a day. If you wish to lose more than one pound a week you will have to cut still further.

This sounds difficult until you remember how rapidly items add up to 500. For instance, one cup of Apple Betty has 344 calories, one cup of baked custard 285 calories, 10 medium potato chips 110 calories, and one, one-ounce candy bar between 100 and 150 calories. These are just a few examples.

Here are some more sample menus.

MENUS

BREAKFAST

¾ cup oatmeal
1 cup skim milk (8 ounces)
2 teaspoons sugar
1 slice toast with ½ teaspoon butter or margarine

LUNCHEON

Fruit salad made of ½ apple and ½ cup grapefruit sections, with low calorie French dressing
2 tablespoons cottage cheese, not creamed
1 hard roll with teaspoon butter
Tea or coffee with 1 teaspoon sugar

DINNER

6 ounces tomato juice
lean beef pot roast — 4 ounces, no gravy or juice
½ cup mustard greens or other greens, with vinegar
½ cup carrots
Teaspoon butter on vegetables and season with herbs
½ of a medium baked potato, teaspoon sour cream and chopped parsley
Small bunch grapes

Total calories for day 1170

Tomorrow I will write about exercises and discuss their important role in health and weight reduction, and the magic effect they can have on the feminine figure. I hope you have been trying the exercises I have already given since I started this series and do not delay any longer about counting calories.

★ ★ ★

If you missed the first part of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan, you may want my Bip Kit. This gives you all necessary directions and also includes a calorie chart, a height and weight chart, exercises, and a unique wall chart on which you can watch your beauty line rise as your weight drops.

This also gives you menus for 15 days with calories counted for you. If you would like to have this kit in order to catch up with this course or if you would like to have it for reference, send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling and your printed name and address. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

No mater how low the temperature, if the air of a room is dry, no frost will form on the windows.

Polly's Pointers

This Requires Caution

DEAR POLLY — Agnes can purchase a commercial product that is made especially for spray-painting leather, vinyl and plastic furniture. Be sure you get the right one as there is one for regular fabrics. too.

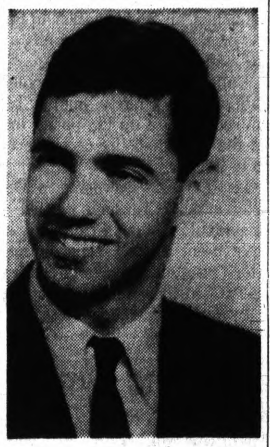

I used it on a large footstool and was quite proud of the result. Most paint, hardware or discount stores sell this.

I do hope Polly's Pointers keep going forever as they are so helpful in keeping house. —LUCILLE.

DEAR POLLY — After a pencil becomes too short to sharpen or use comfortably, it is good for use in compasses used for drawing circles.

I plan to build a home when I become older, so when I see an interesting house plan in a magazine or newspaper, I cut it out and save it. By the time I am old enough to build, I will have a nice collection.—MARK

DEAR READERS — Mark's last Pointer is a good suggestion for all who hope to build a house, even though it may be well into the future. Frequent reviewing of the clippings will result in discarding some as time goes on and one develops a definite taste pattern. Time, money and disappointment may be saved if we know what we really want and like.—POLLY

State Fires Take $1.7 Million Toll, Kill 1

By United Press International

Fires raging in Michigan this weekend snuffed out one life and brought at least $1.7 million in damage, $1 million of this in one 19-hour blaze in a Saginaw warehouse.

In another fire in Nashville, Barry County, a family's home burned to the ground as a neighbor of the absent family helplessly pleaded with a party line caller to yield the telephone so he could call the fire department.

Saginaw fire investigators today sifted throgh the ashes of the Norfolk Trucking Line warehouse looking for clues to the blaze that destroyed the warehouse and 16 trailers docked around it Saturday.

The warehouse, housing trailers of Central Transport, Inc., and U.S. Trucking Co. as well as Norwalk, was completely gutted.

★ ★ ★

Containers of gas stored in the warehouse by the Liquid Carbonic Division of General Dynamics Corp. exploded during the blaze, spreading flames to other parts of the building and hampering fire fighters' efforts to douse the fire.

FIREMEN BURNED

Six firemen suffered chemical burns but were released after treatment at a local hospital.

Firemen jumped into cabs unhooked from blazing trailers and drove the cabs from the range of the flames.

Damage to the trailers was estimated at $900,000. The gutted building was valued at $160,000.

★ ★ ★

In Detroit Saturday, Ulysses S. Grant was burned to death when flames raced through the northwest flat he rented, trapping him in his room.

HOME DESTROYED

Another fire in Nashville destroyed the Noah Keith home while the family was away.

Their neighbor, Wesley Friend heard an explosion and saw the flames. He rushed to his party line telephone to call the fire department.

But he found the party line was in use. The unidentified man using the phone refused to give up the line.

★ ★ ★

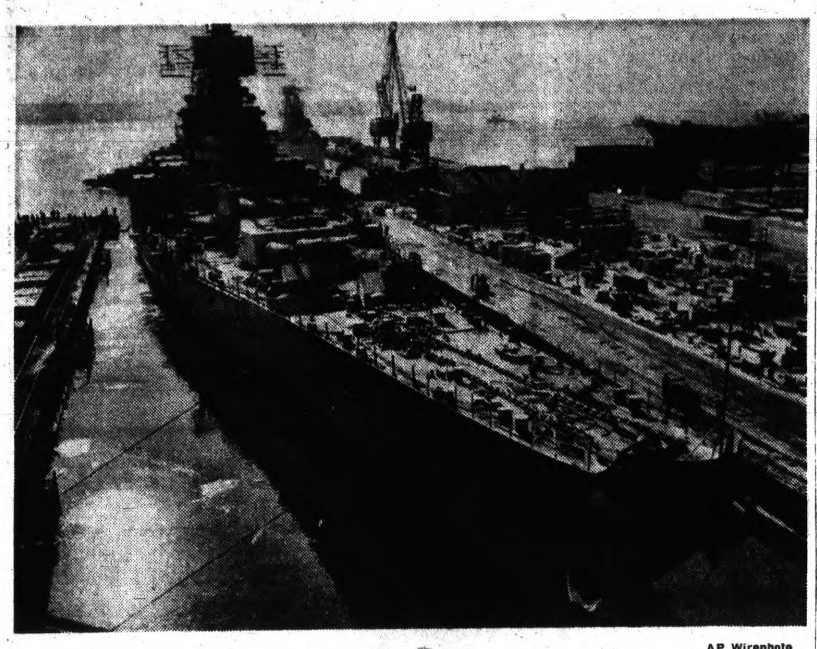

Friend got through to the fire department after 10 minutes, but by the time firemen arrived, the two-story frame house was blazing out of control and could not be saved.

CALLER HUNTED

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. launched an investigation to uncover the identity of the obstinate caller.

Under Michigan law, anyone talking on a party line is required to give up the phone immediately when life or property is in danger.

In Plymouth Township, a Detroit suburb, firemen battled a spectacular blaze Friday in an apartment under construction. More than eight hours later they controlled the fire. Damage was estimated at $600,000.

MOVES FROM DRY DOCK—After months of repair and refinishing to the exterior of its hull, the USS New Jersey is eased slowly out of dry dock at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard over the weekend. The vessel was moved to a nearby pier where refitting of the interior and superstructure is expected to be completed by late spring. The battleship will eventually join the fleet off the coast of Vietnam.

Army Deserters in Europe Flee Woes, Not Viet Duty

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) — The U.S. Army views its deserters from European posts as a "rotten few" who go over the hill for other reasons than escape from Vietnam duty, military spokesmen said today.

A spokesman at U.S. Army headquarters in Europe told United Press International that most of the GIs seeking asylum recently in Sweden and France had fled from such troubles as court-martial.

"These are a rotten few who make a lot of noise, but are not a serious problem in terms of numbers," the spokesman said.

There are more than 200,000 U.S. Army troops stationed in Europe. About a dozen have deserted as anti-Vietnam "protesters."

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said the "rotten few" do not reflect the general attitude in Europe to Vietnam duty.

19,000 VOLUNTEERS

"That is proven by the fact that 19,000 of our men in Europe volunteered for Vietnam in 1967," he said.

Spokesmen here said they doubt the sincerity of the dozen "protesters" because the Army has a policy of not sending to Vietnam any soldier with a record of disciplinary punishments and courts-martial. None of the "protesters" had been alerted for Vietnam duty, the spokesmen said.

"We'd rather not take a chance on foul ball soldiers under battle condition. It wouldn't be fair to the Vietnam GIs whose lives are at stake," an officer said.

★ ★ ★

Military records of several recently surfaced Vietnam "protesters" included:

● Spec. 4 William Percell, 21, of Miami, Fla., who has been recommended for asylum in Sweden, escaped from a Fuerth work detail Nov. 20 while awaiting court-martial for desertion. He had been arrested Sept. 30 on a narcotics charge in Copenhagen and returned by Danish authorities to the Army.

● Pvt. Edward K. Johnson, 21, of Cleveland, Ohio, also recommended for Swedish asylum, had five punishments and three court-martials on his record, one for stealing $36 from a fellow GI. He fled two days before an "undesirable discharge" for him reached his unit. He was under investigation for alleged use of marijuana.

● Pvt. Joseph E. Norwood, 19, of South San Gabriel, Calif., who asked for Swedish asylum last week, had a record of two punishments and a court-martial. He fled his post near Mainz after serving two months of a six-month stockade sentence and being freed under a Christmas clemency program.

Great Britain now produces nearly half the world's total of nuclear - generated electricity.

Talks Racing Deadlines for 7 GM Plant Strikes

DETROIT (AP) — Bargainers for the United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. today worked against a Wednesday strike deadline in an effort to complete local contract negotiations at seven plants employing close to 40,000 workers.

Friday strike deadlines have been set against two other plants employing 5,300 union workers.

Negotiations also continued between the union and American Motors, only major U.S. auto makers with no national union contract, and Chrysler Canada Ltd., the union's target firm in Canadian bargaining.

Some 8,200 Chrysler workers in the United States remained idled by two local walkouts.

Last week the UAW tagged 10 GM plants with Wednesday strike deadlines, but local agreements have been worked out at three of them, the AC Spark-plug Division in Flint, Oldsmobile's main assembly plant in Lansing, and the Harrison Radiator Division, Lockport, N.Y.

The UAW says it will strike GM's Chevrolet Foundry, Tonawanda, N.Y., and its Rochester Products Division, Rochester, N.Y., if local agreements are not wrapped up by Friday.

A GM spokesman said 58 out of 134 local contracts have been settled.

Local-issue disputes kept 4,200 off the job at Chrysler's Newark, Del., assembly plant, and idled 4,000 at the firm's St. Louis Mo., assembly plant, the only two Chrysler plants where local agreements have not been reached.

A nine-day strike by salaried engineering workers at Chrysler's proving grounds in Chelsea was ended Saturday. Members of UAW Local 1284 at the proving grounds ratified a new contract by 205 to 25.

A Chrysler spokesman said the company considers its local contract with the UAW settled at the firm's Belvidere, Ill., assembly plant, although union members refused to ratify the pact. The 4,000 employes are staying on the job without a local agreement.

Some 1,500 residents were removed shortly after the Saturday mishap, the cause of which has not been determined. Munitions experts were rushed to the scene from Ft. Bragg, and said there was no immediate danger of an explosion.

★ ★ ★

The cars were loaded with 750-pound bombs, 3.55-inch rockets, 105mm howitzer shells and mortar shells, bound for the Sunny Point, N.C., depot and transshipment to Vietnam.

NEAR STARTING POINT

In Rockmart, Ga., Sunday about 40 persons escaped injury when a Southern Railway Passenger train derailed in the snowbound hill country of northwestern Georgia.

The train, headed for Cincinnati, Ohio, was only about 50 miles from its starting point in Atlanta.

The Georgia State Patrol said all the cars left the track but remained upright. Southern Railway ordered ambulances to the scene, but they were turned back when the train's engineer radioed that the passengers were shaken but unhurt.

NEW GM CENTER — The steel work for the new Pontiac Motor Division central administration building rises against the Pontiac sky. At Joslyn and Kennett, the building will have 300,000 square feet of floor space for 1,200 employes.

GM Building Is Progressing

The steel structure has been completed and flooring and roof deck installation begun at the site of the new Pontiac Motor Division administration building at Joslyn and Kennett.

To be completed late in 1969, the 300,000-square-foot structure will accommodate 1,200 employes working in the division's main administrative office, accounting and data processing, sales, public relations and purchasing and production control departments.

Elements of design will include vertical piers at intervals of 10 feet made of white granite separated by panels of grey glass and opaque sections. The entire building will rest on a landscaped podium, raising it to a position of dominance over the surroundings.

The building will replace the present office building near downtown Pontiac which was constructed in 1920 by the Oakland Motor Car Co.

In the next step of construction starting in April the exterior walls will start going up.

Cancer Clue Seen in Blood

By Science Service

A possible new diagnostic tool against cancer has been discovered in the blood of victims. Unusual particles in the blood of patients with cancer of the lymph organs and bone marrow, researchers believe, may represent an alteration of the body's immune system.

On the basis of preliminary research, Dr. Alan Solomon of the University of Tennessee Memorial Research Center, Knoxville, says that if the odd particles prove specific for certain types of cancer, they may be useful in detecting and diagnosing the disease.

The protein particles, which Dr. Solomon first identified in the blood of a patient with lymphatic cancer, resemble antibodies that kill disease-causing germs and viruses.

Philadelphia Out of Running for 'Fun City' Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Now it's official: The City of Brotherly love is bowing out of its self-proclaimed race with New York City for the title of "Fun City, U.S.A."

New York's Mayor John Lindsay proclaimed the title for the metropolis, but Philadelphia's then-city representative, Abe Rosen, felt his home town just as swinging as New York.

Rosen tried everything from full-page newspaper ads to personal television appeal to project a fun-city image.

Now comes a new city representative, S. Harry Galfand, who took over the job Jan. 1 when Rosen moved on to head the city's Trade and Convention Bureau. Galfand says he thinks of Philadelphia as "a good family city.

"I'm not so sure it's bad to have that kind of reputation — being known for a great art museum and education center — rather than being thought of as a city of swingers," he says.

Landon Asks More Red Trade

U.S. Policy of Containment Hit

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — The American policy of "containment of communism" was called outmoded today by Alf M. Landon, former governor of Kansas. In its stead, he urged "building bridges" with the Communist nations through trade expansion.

Landon, the 1936 Republican presidential nominee, made his remarks in an address prepared for a noon luncheon of the Rotary Club.

★ ★ ★

As of three months ago, Landon said, containment of communism became the third announced Vietnam policy of President Johnson in three years. The other two, he said, were economic and technical aid to help South Vietnamese to help themselves, as advocated by his two predecessors, and, after February 1965, the policies advocated by Sen. Barry Goldwater, including bombing of North Vietnam.

The containment policy was originaly proposed by President Harry Truman in 1947 Landon said, at which time he supported it.

'BLOC SPLIT'

"Then that policy was designed to contain a solid monolithic Communist block. Today that block is utterly split-principally between China and the Soviet Union. Also, it is fragmented between many other conflicting governments.

"This split and fragmentation is growing all the time for two primary reasons. First, nationalism is transcending ideology throughout the world—including the Communist world. Therefore, national interests conflict with the Soviet attempts to rule and dominate the Communist world in terms of Soviet interests.

★ ★ ★

"Second . . . state capitalism is eroding state communism. Even within the Soviet Union and China, we witness the growing demand for freedom from the police state rulers."

Therefore, Landon said, "If there is a policy outmoded for America today, it is the purely negative containment policy."

CHANGES

"It is outmoded because it does not take into account the changes in the world the past 20 years. Nor does it take into account present incipient world changes in the next 20 years.

A settlement in Vietnam would still leave negative and outmoded containment as the basis of American foreign policy, he told the Rotarians.

★ ★ ★

"This is to say that—because containment cannot be situational — it has to be international in scope. It has to be equally responsive to Communist diversity anywhere in the world at the same time."

★ ★ ★

Landon said continued pursuit of containment would be tantamount to reversal of what appeared to be a new direction in President Johnson's foreign policy of building bridges with the Communist world.

"There are many restrictions on our trade with Communist countries which the President himself could eliminate. Where he does not have such authority, he could appeal to Congress to repeal legislation restricting trade."

STOPGAP

Referring to monetary matters, Landon said:

"Two weeks ago, President Johnson at last recognized the dangers inherent in the weak position of the dollar. But his New Year's Day proposal is a mere stopgap—and unworkable, to boot—in terms of meeting the deliberately planned and sustained drive to destroy the dollar as the mooring post for measure of value in the world's monetary system.

★ ★ ★

"Paradoxically, much of our dollar outflow that we spend in Vietnam reaches France and gives de Gaulle more ammunition for his planned attack on the dollar. And, so the price of Vietnam misery spirals even higher.

'Doctor Bill' Insurance Premiums Go Up

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 13th in a series.)

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A lot more elderly Americans than expected have run up doctor bills and related charges under the supplemental "doctor bill" insurance which 17.6 million of them signed up for in Medicare's first year and a half.

That means the monthly premium the signers pay (matched by the government) goes up in 1968 to help meet the added cost. Some 28 million doctor bills already have been paid under the program.

Very likely that premium will climb some more in the years ahead. The original Medicare law said the government could raise it every two years. The 1967 revisions changed that to read "every year."

Incidentally, people who become eligible for this insurance at age 65 but do not sign up at the first official opportunity automatically have to pay a higher premium if and when they finally do sign up. It rises about 10 per cent for each year of delay.

★ ★ ★

The 1967 Social Security law revisions make it easier hereafter to claim benefits under the supplemental doctor bill insurance.

There are two ways to get payment. If your doctor agrees, you can assign the matter to him and he applies to the government for payment. If he will not do this, you formerly had to pay the bill and then apply for payment by the government.

Beginning this month, if your doctor does not wish to apply for payment, you can do so even if you have not paid the bill. All you need to do is get an itemized bill and send it in with your application.

Supplemental insurance covers doctor bills run up through office visits, house calls, services performed in a hospital or extended care facility.

But routine physical checkups are not included, and neither are vaccine shots, tests for eyeglasses or hearing aids.

COSMETIC SURGERY

Plastic surgery for "cosmetic reasons" is out. So is ordinary dental care. As for psychiatric care outside a hospital, the insurance covers just half of the bill, up to $250 a year.

Besides doctor bills, the supplemental coverage includes certain kinds of diagnostic tests like X-ray checkups, radiation therapy, surgical dressings, casts, etc., artificial limbs and some other artificial devices, rental or purchase (new) of durable medical equipment like wheelchairs or iron lungs, ambulance service if other transport would endanger the patient.

Supplemental insurance has a deductible feature. You have to pay the first $50 of covered service you get each year. You also have to pay 20 per cent of the balance of your bill for the various supplemental services.

★ ★ ★

You get this kind of insurance, of course, only if you sign up for it.

6-MONTH PERIOD

The first enrollment period starts three months before the month you reach 65 and runs for three months after that birthday month. To be sure your protection starts as soon as you are 65, you should sign before your birthday month.

If you pass up this first chance, you will not get another until the next so-called general enrollment period. The new law now provides that these shall come from Jan. 1 to March 31 each year. But, as noted, if you wait your premium goes up. The longer you wait, the more it costs.

If you do sign up and are also getting regular Social Security benefits, your premium will simply be deducted from those payments. If you do not get Social Security, the government will notify you later how to pay premiums.

★ ★ ★

You can drop doctor-bill insurance at any time and end-of-coverage becomes effective at the end of the calendar quarter following the quarter in which you serve cancellation notice.

GRACE PERIOD

The government also can drop you after a 90-day grace period if you fail to pay premiums.

After one dropout, you can sign again. After two, you are out of the program forever.

OUTSIDE PRISON FARM — Dr. Martin Luther King visited jailed draft protesters yesterday at the Santa Rita Prison Farm near Oakland, Calif. Dr. King addressed a protest vigil outside before spending 90 minutes inside the prison. He visited folk singer Joan Baez, her mother and others who are serving 45-day sentences, following their arrests at the Oakland Induction Center before Christmas.

King Warns of War on Draft Dissent

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King says he feels "there will be an attempt by the government to crush draft dissenters. We cannot let them crush us."

The civil rights leader spent Sunday afternoon at Santa Rita Prison Farm 20 miles southeast of Oakland, visiting jailed draft protesters and addressing an antidraft vigil of 400 persons standing in a cold drizzle.

"I consider it very important to fight the tragic, unfair, and unjust draft system of our nation," he told the crowd.

He said he had visited the inmates "because they have supported us in a real way in the civil rights movement."

Those he saw in the jail included folk singer Joan Baez, her mother and others who are serving 45-day sentences. They were arrested before Christmas during an antidraft protest demonstration at the Oakland Induction Center.

He said the struggles for peace and racial justice really are two parts of the same struggle. I have been working too long against segregation to segregate my moral concerns," he said.

In Washington, meanwhile, the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders released testimony in which King called for a bill of rights for the nation's disadvantaged and creation of a national agency to give immediate employment to all who need it.

★ ★ ★

Comparing his proposal to the so-called GI bill of rights for veterans, King called Negro Americans "veterans of the long siege of denial." He said sweeping aid is needed to transform the conditions of Negro life immediately. He did not indicate how much money would be needed to do the job.

OFF THE LADDER

King said a main cause of rioting was discrimination which "told Negroes there were limits to progress and that they must expect to remain permanently unequal and permanently poor" and which "pushes the Negro off the economic ladder after he has ascended a few rungs."

Also high on his list were unemployment, the war in Vietnam—which he said eats up funds needed to remake lives at home—and living conditions in cities.

Says South Viet President

'De-Escalation Burden on Reds'

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu declared today that "the Communists started this war" and if they want peace, the burden of de-escalation is on them.

Thieu added that Hanoi has not indicated any softening of its long-established four points for ending the Vietnam war which, he said, constitute "nothing less than a demand for our surrender to the Communists."

★ ★ ★

All possibilities for peace in Vietnam should be "thoroughly explored," the South Vietnamese president said. But "after a reasonable time, if the Communist aggressors remain adamant, heavier pressure against them will become necessary."

Thieu also had some criticism of allies of South Vietnam who he said had placed "themselves at the center of peace efforts on Vietnam . . . while such a move should be made by the government of Vietnam, as the principal party, with the support of all allied and friendly countries." He apparently was referring to the United States.

Thieu took note of the recent statement by North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh that his government will join in peace talks if the United States unconditionally stops bombing raids and other acts of war against North Vietnam. He said South Vietnam welcomes any moves "which may open the door to peace" but must also remain vigilant and "not delude ourselves with false hopes until we have tangible evidence of the peaceful intentions of the other side."

"It should be remembered," Thieu said, "that the Communists started this war, they are the aggressors. Therefore, the best indication of their willingness for peace . . . should be its de-escalation of the war by the reduction of infiltration, ending of terrorism, as well as the scaling down of its military attacks against us. In this regard, the crude violations by the Communists of the Christmas and New Year truces a few weeks ago portend their continued aggressive purposes, at least for the time being."

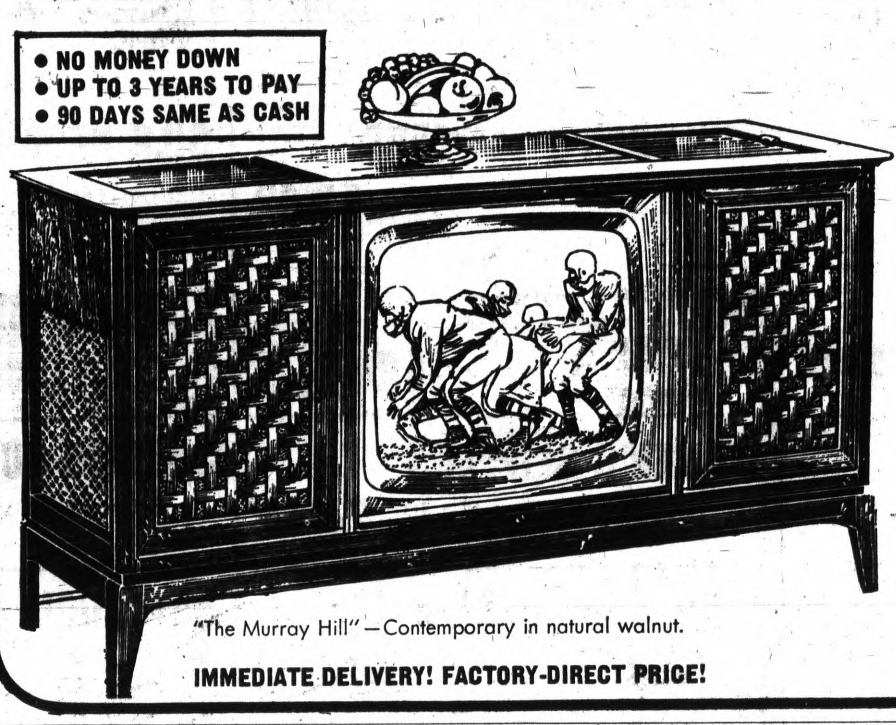

He defended the bombing of North Vietnam, calling it "measured and gradual," and said critics of the bombing would only prolong the war if they won a bomb halt. The bombing campaign, Thieu explained, "constitutes the only incentive for Communist North Vietnam to make peace." If they were not being bombed, the Communists could keep up guerrilla warfare indefinitely and "wear us down," Thieu added.

50,000 Expected

Super Cage Clash Slated

By The Associated Press

The final countdown has begun for college basketball's version of the Super Bowl the collision between UCLA and Houston in the Astrodome Saturday. The big question now is: will Lew Alcindor be ready for the blast off?

Some 50,000 people — an all-time record for a college game — will swarm into building to watch the clash between the No. 1 ranked Bruins and No. 2 rated Cougars, but an eye injury to Alcindor has left them and the rest of the country's cage fans wondering if big Lew will only be watching, too.

The 7-foot-1½ UCLA All-American took an accidental jab in the eye last Friday in an easy 94-64 victory over California and sat out with blurred vision in Saturday's less impressive 75-63 triumph over Stanford.

A doctor at the Stanford clinic called the injury "an extremely superficial abrasion" on the surface of the left eyeball and said Alcindor would likely be ready for Houston. More should be known by Thursdary when the Bruins tune up against visiting Portland.

Several other Top Ten teams will set the stage for the big game with less heralded meetings against tough opponents.

Kentucky, 9-2, fourth ranked before its 96-78 loss at Florida Saturday night, takes on Georgia, another rough Southwestern Conference foe, tonight at Lexington, while Florida gets shots at Tennessee, No. 5, tonight in Knoxville and Saturday at home. Tennessee, 9-1, stopped Georgia 77-72 Saturday.

Utah, No. 6 with a 13-1 record after nipping Arizona 83-77 in overtime, travel to unbeaten New Mexico, No. 9, which wiped out Wyoming 81-65. Columbia, No. 10, meet Cornell Saturday after bombing Colgate 94-68 for a 10-3 mark.

Third-ranked North Carolina, 11-1, idle this week, walloped Clemson 115-83, unbeaten St. Bonaventure, No. 7, was idle and Vanderbilt, 11-3 and ranked eighth, bounced Mississippi 96-70.

Houston, 16-0, crushed West Texas 98-53 in its tune up for UCLA when the Cougars will be seeking revenge for its last loss, to the Bruins 73-58 in last year's NCAA semifinals.

No titles are at stake Saturday, but the No. 1 ranking and plenty of prestige will be up for grabs, along with another duel between Alcindor, if he plays, and Houston's 6-8 Elvin Hayes. Also hanging in the balance will be UCLA's winning streak that would stand at 47 with a victory over Portland.

BRUINS ROLL

The Bruins made Stanford No. 46 as Alcindor's replacement, Mike Lynn, dropped in 17 points and grabbed nine rebounds. UCLA led 46-22 at the half before the Indians rallied.

Hayes paced Houston with 31 points.

Neal Walk, 6-11, led Florida's upset over Kentucky, scoring 19 of his 28 points in the first half when the Gators took a 43-33 lead and coasted.

Reserve sophomore John Hunter scored three early overtime points that put Utah ahead to stay, and Tennessee took the SEC lead behind 22 points by Bill Justus. Larry Miller's 30 points and North Carolina's 57.8 per cent shooting from the floor stopped Clemson.

Jim McMillian scored 30 points and Dave Newmark 26 to lead Columbia. Ron Nelson had 30 for New Mexico.

Other top performances were turned in by Niagara's sterling sophomore, Cal Murphy, who scored 48 points in a 95-74 victory over Canisius.

Veteran Teams Back in Stride

By The Associated Press

The early-season success of National Hockey League expansion clubs against their established rivals raised eyebrows from Schenectady to Saskatchewan.

After last weekend's East-West matchups in Boston and Toronto, however, it appears the honeymoon has ended — with overdue bills to be paid.

The Bruins, beaten in six of their first 13 meetings with the NHL newcomers, walloped Minnesota's worried and travel-weary North Stars 9-2 Sunday night. Saturday afternoon the Maple Leafs, 6-5-1 in previous games against the expansionist, overpowered the Pittsburgh Penguins 7-0.

St. Louis' improving Blues proved an exception to the new rule of the Old Guard holding East Division leading Chicago to a 2-2 draw after bowing to New York 3-1 Saturday night. Philadelphia fattened its West Division lead with a 6-3 victory over Oakland in Sunday's other game.

In other Saturday action, Montreal trimmed Boston 5-1, Chicago and Detroit played to a 4-4 deadlock and Oakland and Minnesota tied 2-2. The week end's results in inter-division play boosted the East's season edge over expansion competition to 55-22-8 going into the All Star break.

NO MATCH

Minnesota, exhausted from a snow storm-delayed air journey to Boston, was no match for the explosive Bruins.

★ ★ ★

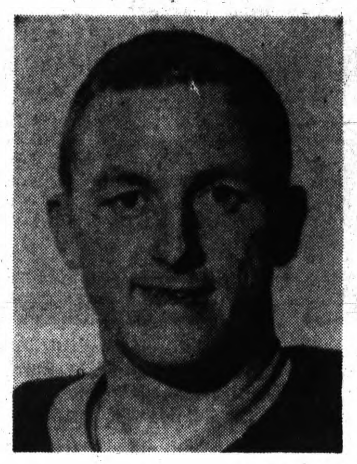

Phil Esposito and Fred Stanfield scored two goals apiece and Derek Sanderson, Ken Hodge, Bobby Orr, Eddie Shack and Skip Krake completed the rout. Boston rolled up a 7-0 lead before Dave Balon ruined goalie Ed Johnston's shutout bid late in the final period.

The start of the game was delayed one hour by the late arrival of the North Stars, whose flight from Minnesota was temporarily grounded in Chicago by heavy snow.

The Black Hawks had to make up a 2-0 deficit after rookie Craig Cameron's first NHL goal and a breakaway score by Red Berenson put St. Louis on top. Doug Mohns closed the gap for the Hawks late in the second period and Erick Nesterenko hit the tying goal midway in the finale.

The tie cut Chicago's lead over the second place Bruins to two points.

BILL MASTERTON

Minnesota Pro Ice Star Dies

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bill Masterton, a professional hockey player with the Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League, died early today of a massive internal brain injury.

Masterton had been injured when he fell hard to the ice Saturday night in a game against the Oakland Seals.

Two neuro-surgeons were among five doctors in attendance administering to the 29-year-old Winnipeg, Man., native.

A club spokesman said that no operation had been performed.

Masterton's death is the first in the 51-year history of the National Hockey League.

Masterton, father of two small children, cracked the back of his head hard in a fall to the ice in Minnesota's 2-2 tie with Oakland.

HARD FALL

Masterton fell backwards, the back of his head slamming against the ice. He was taken from the ice on a stretcher, his head bleeding profusely, and was rushed to the hospital.

His parents had been summoned from Winnipeg, and were at his side. He also is survived by his widow, Carol, a son, 3, a daughter, 1, and a brother.

Redskin Passer Told to Bypass Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A season-long injury to his elbow will keep Washington Redskins quarterback Sonny Jurgenson from playing in next Sunday's National Football League Pro-Bowl game.

Instead he will be replaced by Don Meredith, signal-caller for the Dallas Cowboys, Eastern Division champions of the NFL..

Jurgenson suffered all season from a strain of the right elbow. Doctors examined it Saturday and later advised Redskins coach Otto Graham, also coaching the East team, not to play Jurgenson.

The East will also have Jim Ringo, a nine-time all pro, who replaces Bob DeMarco of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Red Wings Waive Talbot to St. Louis

DETROIT (AP) — The St. Louis Blues have acquired defenseman Jean Guy Talbot from the Detroit Red Wings in a National Hockey League waiver deal.

★ ★ ★

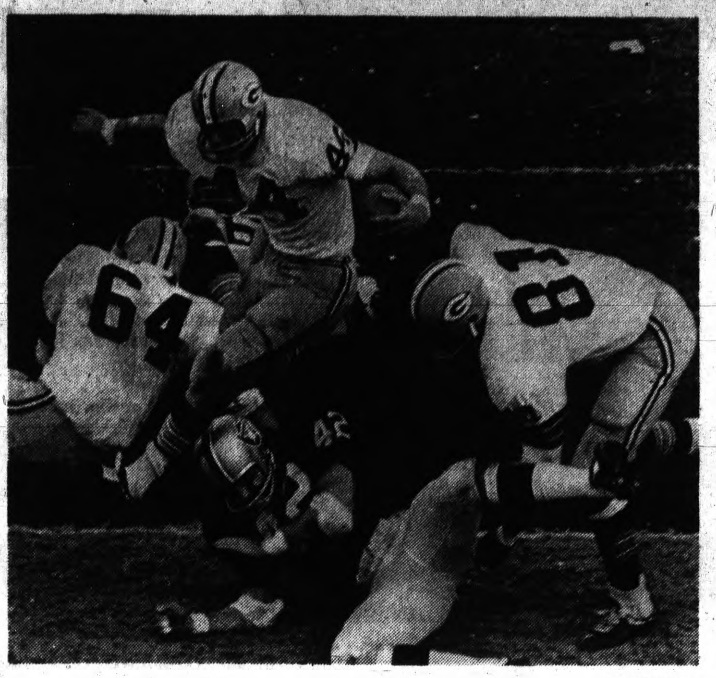

Talbot, 35, a veteran of 13 seasons in the NHL, was acquired by the Wings Oct. 19 in a four-player trade with the Minnesota North Stars.

In 31 games with Detroit, Talbot had no goals and three assists and was used primarily as a penalty killer and a spare defenseman.

Dean Prentice, the Wings forward who underwent surgery Sunday to clear a blocked breathing passage in his nose, is not expected to play in Wednesday's game at Montreal.

★ ★ ★

But Prentice, who was injured in last Saturday's National Hockey League game against the Chicago Black Hawks, probably will see action again this Saturday in Pittsburgh, team officials say.

PACKER SCORES—With guard Jerry Kramer (64) and tight end Marv Fleming (81) clearing the way, Green Bay back Donny Anderson (44) speeds off the right side for two yards and a touchdown in the third period against the Oakland Raiders yesterday in Miami. Taken out on the play is Oakland linebacker Bill Laskey (42).

AFL Is Optimistic of 'Super' Future

MIAMI (AP) — The Green Bay Packers still are the champions of all pro football, but the American Football League gained six points Sunday in its drive to catch up with the older and more powerful National League.

The Packers beat the AFL champion Oakland Raiders 33-14, falling six points short of their 35-10 margin last year over the Kansas City Chiefs in the first Super Bowl game.

★ ★ ★

But if it still is unable to match the NFL in talent and experience, the AFL hopes the time will come soon.

"We'll be back," said Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who matched the Packers in offensive touchdowns by throwing for two to Bill Miller. We're a good young ball club. We can develop into a team like the Packers."

"We were ready for them," shouted Packer Coach Vince Lombardi. But he added that Oakland "is a good team and well coached."

Lombardi refused to compare the Raiders with last year's Kansas City team, but defensive end Willie Davis said he felt Oakland was a better over-all club.

MORE WIDE-OPEN

"Kansas City was more of a wide-open offensive team," said Packer linebacker Ray Nitschke, "and perhaps more explosive. Oakland is strictly the kind of team that will nickel and dime you to keep moving."

Coach Johnny Rauch said his Raiders were unawed by the supermen reputations of the Packers and "we had complete confidence at halftime. But we made too many mistakes and lost our momentum."

He blamed the loss on a breakdown in Oakland pass coverage, particularly on a 62-yard scoring shot from Bart Starr to Boyd Dowler, and on Green Bay's defense against Oakland sweeps.

Rauch gave Nitschke the bulk of the credit for jamming the sweeps on which the Packers "blitzed a little more than we anticipated, but otherwise played as expected." He praised Starr's performance but said the Raiders were so tough near the goal line the Packers had to rely on Don Chandler's field goals. Chandler booted four.

NO SURPRISES

"Nothing the Packers did astonished us," Rauch said. "Nothing Starr did surprised us. They played the game we expected. We thought their defense would be tough, and it was. We knew it would be hard for us to put many points on the board.

★ ★ ★

"Lamonica deserves a lot of credit. He realizes he's got a lot to learn. We all do. But we'll reach their strength shortly.

"I was happy in the fact that at no point in the game did we give up. That's been the character of our boys all season."

Pistons Treading Above .500 After Defeat by 76ers

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons are treading water in the NBA's Eastern Division and another game like Saturday's encounter with the league-leading Philadelphia 76ers would just about sink the Detroiters into depth of the second division.

The hot-shooting 76ers ganged up on the Pistons after a slow start and went on to a 115-106 victory.

The defeat left Detroit only one game above the .500 mark at 24-23 and only a game and a half ahead of fourth-place Cincinnati.

But the Pistons have until Tuesday to regroup when they take on the expansion team from San Diego at Cobo Arena.

For the 76ers, Wilt Chamberlain fired in 27 and was assisted by Hal Greer's 24 and another 21 from Bill Cunningham.

EARLY EDGE

NBA all-star Dave Bing continued to spark the Detroit attack with 29 points Saturday night to take game scoring honors. The only other Piston to get more than 20 points was John Tresvant with 23.

★ ★ ★

Detroit led by five points early in the first quarter, but Philadelphia managed to tie it at 28-all as the period ended.

After the 76ers took a 17-point lead in the second period, the Pistons whittled away, but stood on the short end of a 63-52 half time score.

FALLEN STAR—Manhandling Green Bay Packers' quarterback Bart Starr on this second-period play is Oakland defensive tackle Tom Keating, former University of Michigan standout. The play resulted in an 11-yard loss for the Packers, who won the Super Bowl contest, 33-14, in Miami's (Fla.) Orange Bowl.

Raiders Routed 33-14 Behind Brilliant Starr

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Professional football's second Super Bowl is history and Green Bay's old pro Packers are still on top of the hill.

The Packers methodically destroyed the upstart Oakland Raiders 33-14 Sunday with Bart Star's brilliant play-calling and Don Chandler's educated toe doing the bulk of the work.

★ ★ ★

The victory was a study in balance for the Packers, who got solid defense to go with Starr's ball-control offense.

Someone asked Coach Vince Lombardi who would get the game ball and the Packer leader responded with his famous toothy grin.

"The game ball?" Lombardi laughed. "I got it, and it's right over there," he said, nodding at the sterling silver football that sits atop the trophy emblematic of football's world championship.

The game started as if the Packers would breeze and when it finished, they had.

Chandler kicked field goals from 39 and 20 yards out and then Starr and Boyd Dowler combined for a 62-yard scoring pass in the second quarter and a 13-0 Green Bay lead.

SECONDARY RECEIVER

Dowler caught Starr's pass over the middle at the Oakland 35 and outran Rodger Bird to score. He later revealed that he was a secondary receiver on the play.

"Carroll Dale was the primary man on the other side," Dowler said. But the Raiders were blitzing on the play and that made the difference. "When Oakland came with the blitz," said Starr, "it meant there was single coverage on Boyd. He beat Kent McCloughan inside."

With the Raiders seemingly ready to be finished off, the Packers let them off the hook. Daryle Lamonica finally got Oakland's offense moving and hit Bill Miller with a 23-yard scoring pass.

"It was typical of the way we've played all year," said Lombardi "We got a 13- or 14-point lead and then we go on vacation."

★ ★ ★

The Raiders seemed ready for more late in the first half when Donny Anderson punted and Bird called for a fair catch. But he dropped the ball and rookie Dick Capp, added to the Packer roster in midweek, recovered for Green Bay.

Three plays later, with just six seconds left in the half, chandler kicked his third field goal — this one from the 43. "That was the one we wanted," the balding, 33-year-old placekicker said. "It meant a nine-point halftime lead instead of six."

Although they were trailing, the Raiders were far from discouraged. "We had complete confidence at halftime," said Coach John Rauch. "We'd come

French Skiers' Prestige Hurt

WENGEN, Switzerland (UPI) — A badly beaten French alpine skiing squad headed for Austria today trying to restore lost prestige in the Hahnenkamm competition in Kitzbuehel.

With the Olympic Games in Grenoble less than four weeks away, the French suffered their worst setback in recent years during the Lauberhorn classic at the hands of Austrians and Swiss.

World Cup holder Jean Claude Killy, the pride of the French team, finished a disappointing 13th in the downhill and fell in the second slalom run Sunday.

Austria's Gerhard Nenning, 27, won the downhill Saturday and the combined trophy, while Switzerland's Dumeng Giovanoli, 26, was first in the special slalom.

Billy Kidd, Stowe, Vt., and Spider Sabich, Kyburz, Calif., confirmed their ratings as the best American skiers of the current alpine ski competition. Kidd and Sabich finished sixth and seventh respectively in the combined Lauberhorn standings.

Olympic Touch in Track Meet

BOSTON (AP) — An Olympic year brings out the best among track athletes — and 1968 doesn't appear to be any different. The indoor board circuit is off to a fabulous start.

"I don't know what we can do for an encore," an official said happily in the wake of the 42nd Knights of Columbus Games Saturday night at Boston Garden. "The meet was fantastic."

★ ★ ★

Top performances in the K of C meet usually are rare because it is held so early in the season and athletes are just warming up. However, this year was a big exception.

A flock of Olympic hopefuls is ready for hot competition leading to the World Games at Mexico City this summer. The athletes are in top shape and going all out.

LITTLE COMMENT

Few wanted to talk about their Olympic hopes after the K of C meet. However, former Georgetown star Eamonn O'Reilly summed up the general feeling: "Oh, yes, we all dream."

O'Reilly, now running out of Oakland, Calif., hopes to make the U.S. Olympic team in the 3,000-meter steeplechase or the 5,000 or 10,000-meter runs.

★ ★ ★

As one of his tuneups, he set a meet record of 8:41 in the Boston two-mile event. The clocking was a personal best.

Southern California football star Earl McCullouch, fresh from the Rose Bowl, felt tired as he entered the Garden with just four hours sleep after a victory in Washington Friday night. Then he broke too soon for a false start in the finals of the 45-yard high hurdles.

EQUALS MARK

McCullouch equalled a 26-year-old indoor record with a clocking of 5.3 seconds for the unusual distance.

"If I felt better I'm sure I could have broken the record," he said matter of factly.

Sweden's Ulf Hoegberg, making only his second appearance on the boards, was voted the meet's outstanding performer. The 21-year-old student ran the fastest mile in Boston history as he turned in a blistering 4:02.3 effort.

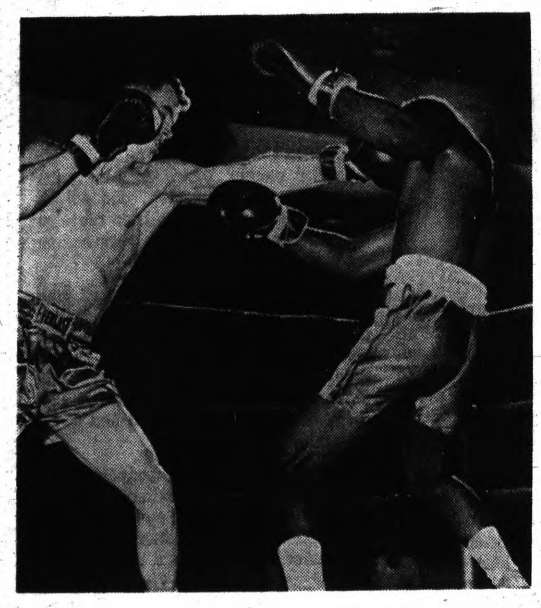

Australia's Ralph Boubell made his U.S. debut by turning in the fastest 1,000 yards in Boston history — 2:07.7. Another all-time Garden mark was set by Villanova's Vince Bizzarro, who hit a personal high of 16-7¾ in the pole vault.

★ ★ ★

McCullouch, Hoegberg cand most of the other standouts in the K of C meet head West this week to compete in the Los Angeles Games this Friday. Doubell is an exception. He plans to wait for the Millrose Games in New York Jan. 25.

LAKERS STUDY CHANCES — West Bloomfield skiers (left to right) Tim Brennan, Tom Carter, Larry Walter and Rick Stanker seem to be seriously studying the scoreboard after their first run Saturday morning at the Southeast Michigan Inter-Scholastic Ski Races at Mt. Holly. They increased their margin with strong second runs for a second straight title in the annual competition. Carter emerged as the boys' individual leader again, also.

One knockout and a couple of TKO's were recorded by Pontiac battlers, who train at the Pontiac Police Officers Association club on Dixie Highway.

Steve Gonzales came up with the lone kayo of the evening when he disposed of Kalamazoo's Bob Casey in the first round of their 147-pound match.

Bob Lamphere came up with a TKO in the fourth round over Leo Durden of Kalamazoo, and Bill Hollis, state champion last year, turned in a first round TKO over Wiley Baulding of Davison. Baulding couldn't answer the bell for the second round.

Holly prep ski meet. The WTHS girls grabbed the team trophy with better second trips down the slalom course.

Laker Ski Team Tops Prep Races

Powerful West Bloomfield and determined Waterford dominated the eighth annual Southeast Michigan Inter-Scholastic Prep Ski races Saturday at Mt. Holly.

Paced by the winning performance of Tom Carter, West Bloomfield's boys repeated in their division of the double slalom competition.

Waterford's girls, meanwhile, took a slim lead after the first run end widened their margin on the second slalom course although three others finished ahead of WTHS's top skier in the over - all individual standings.

West Bloomfield's four best boys' combined times (208.3 seconds) put them comfortably ahead of runner-up Waterford (226.1) and Kettering (242.3) was a distant third.

Bloomfield Hills Andover's Marlen Jarosz led the girls with a 59.3-seconds total, but the defending champions didn't have enough depth to make it three straignt titles.

Waterford finished with a 186.9 total and Rochester was the runner-up with 196.6.

PNH Cements Hold on No. 1 Mat Position

Potent Pontiac Northern cemented its hold on the No. 1 spot among the state's high school wrestling teams Saturday by trimming three other sharp squads in a quadrangular match.

Trailing as the four headed into the finals, Northern came on strong to win five individual titles and finish only three points ahead of runner-up Ypsilanti. PNH totaled 87 points, Ypsilanti 84, while Hazel Park placed third (72) and Pontiac Central fourth (69).

Flags Win 4-3 Over Leaders

By the Associated Press

The Port Huron Flags edged the league - leading Muskegon Mohawks 4-3 in a penalty-ridden International Hockey League game Sunday night.

Peoples Market made a bid to recapture Pontiac's former glory in the local Elks 810 annual Ladies National Invitation Bowling Tournament Saturday night.

Captained by Marge Fields, Peoples used a 1011 handicap game to produce a 2953 total and take first place away from Plymouth's Aldenderfer Real Estate by 36 pins.

Bowling Green (Ohio) Transfer's North American Lines entry fell far short of its 1967 winning 2964 score Saturday and didn't place among the top five teams. Five more weekends of action remain.

Pontiac teams won the event from 1962 through 1965, but have slumped back the past two years.

Other first-weekend leaders were all from out of town. Sunday's results found Monty Cochran of Bowling Green taking the handicap singles lead with 647, and Hillsdale duo Bernice Fisher-Tamara Traylor top the doubles with 1236.

Ann Green of Plymouth paces the handicap all events at 1825, while perennial contender Thelma Beck of Ann Arbor had a 1628 actual all events score.

Flint Bowler Leads in State

Michigan Men's Field Starts Tournament

JACKSON (AP)—Larry Oiler of Flint took the bowling spotlight by grabbing four first places in the opening of the 65th Men's State Bowling Tournament this weekend.

The bowlers Saturday opened a four-month stand at Summit Lanes in the Jackson suburb of Vandercook Lake.

★ ★ ★

About 1,900 teams from across the state are expected to participate in the Saturday and Sunday events running through May 19.

Oiler got off to a good start by rolling 636 to take the singles actual and then came back with 717 to lead the singles handicap.

ALL-EVENTS

He rolled 1,713 to capture the all-events actual and then placed first in the all-events handicap with 1,956.

Decker Used Cars of Dowagiac rolled 3,076 for first place in the team handicap while Jackson Bowlerama rolled 2,774 to take the team handicap.

Atlanta Falcons Get Resignations of Two Coaches

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League have announced the resignations of assistant coaches Bill Crutchfield and Brad Ecklund.

The Falcons said the 41-year-old Crutchfield has geen hired as an offensive coach by Georgia Tech. A former assistant at Florida State, Crutchfield had been on the Falcons's staff only one season.

Ecklund, 45, apparently plans to seek a coaching job with another team. He has been offensive line coach for the Falcons since they made their NFL debut in 1966.

For some time there had been speculation that Coach Norb Heckler would shuffle his coaching staff so to improve next year on the falcons' dismal 1967 showing, in which they won but one game.

School Record

With forward Jack Zwemer connecting for a school record 39 points, Detroit Country Day ran its record to 7-0 Saturday with an 81-65 victory over Grosse Pointe University School.

Zwemer picked up 12 points in the first half and then led a hot attack in the second half with 27 markers.

Indians Have Four Players Under Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians announced today that the signing of outfielders Vic Davalillo and Jose Cardenal brought to four the number of players they have under contract for the 1968 season.

★ ★ ★

This will be Davalillo's sixth season with the Tribe. Cardenal was obtained from the California Angels last November in exchange for outfielder Chuck Hinton.

Davaillo, 27, led the Indians in hitting last year with a .287 average. He plays winter baseball in his native Venezuela.

★ ★ ★

Cardenal, 24, who has been in professional baseball since 1961, had a .236 batting average with the Angels in 1967, but injuries kept him out of the line-up much of the time. He is playing winter ball in Puerto Rico.

back like that often during the season before."

But the Raiders hadn't played the Packers before.

APPLIED PRESSURE

Green Bay kept the pressure on and soon it was 23-7 on Anderson's two-yard plunge. Starr keyed the 82-yard drive when he hit veteran Max McGee, the hero of last year's Super Bowl, with a 35-yard pass in a third-and-inches situation at the Green Bay 40.

McGee, 35, who announced his retirement after the game, said, "The old man couldn't quit without catching just one more. This is it. I'm retired as of now and, no, he won't talk me out of it this time."

McGee also said he was quitting after the Packers' 35-10 Super Bowl victory over Kansas City last year. But Lombardi convinced him to return this season.

★ ★ ★

Chandler's fourth field goal of the game, with two seconds left in the period, made it 26-7. The 31-yarder hit the cross bar going over.

Now the Raiders had to open it up — and Green Bay was waiting. Herb Adderley picked off Lamonica's pass and raced 60 yards for a fourth quarter TD. When Lamonica hit Miller for his second score of the game, it was much too little and much too late.

"The Packers never change," said Billy Cannon, the Raiders' tight end. "They just come at you and beat you."

"It was a day of learning," said Lamonica, who completed 15 of 34 for 208 yards compared to Starr's 13 for 24 for 202.

Lombardi refused to compare this year's Green Bay team with some of his others. "I will say this," he said. "The history of the Packers is in the future, as great as it has been in the past."

HARD LOOK

Lombardi, rumored ready to give up coaching, didn't say whether he would be a part of that future. "It would be foolish for me to try to make any kind of decision at this time. I'm going to take three days off and do absolutely nothing. What I think I will do is give Vince Lombardi a good, hard look."

Winning was worth $15,000 to each Packer while each losing Raider took home $7,500. Ben Willson, Green Bay's hard-running fullback, made a bit less than his teammates though.

Wilson lost a contact lens in the final moments of the game. "It will cost $43.50 to replace," he said, "but I think I can afford it."

FINISHING TOUCH — Johnny Pott gives with a big gesture and fans in the background give the oos and aahs after a chip shot rolled into the cup for a birdie on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff that gave Pott the $16,000 first prize in the Bing Crosby golf tournament. Pott wound up in the playoff along with Billy Casper and Bruce Devlin.

Bing's Golf Pot Goes to Pott

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — They said it couldn't be done but Johnny Pott did it and then some in the Bing Crosby National Pro-am Golf Tournament.

While everyone followed Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper around the Crosby tourney's three courses Pott plodded along with just a few hangers on in tow, but when it was all over Pott had the money to show he was the champion.

He won it by going for the whole ball of wax in a three-way sudden death playoff.

Pott was the tourney's second and third round leader but he lost his three-stroke edge over Casper and Aussie Bruce Devlin on the front nine at Pebble Beach in the windup Sunday.

STRETCH DRIVE

Casper and Devlin battled almost head to head to the wire with Pott struggling to get back into it. He did with a strong stretch drive that included a birdie two on the 16th and a birdie-three on the 17th. That forced a three - way tie with Casper and Devlin with 72-hole totals of 285 and Johnny won it on the very first hole with a daring 25-foot chip shot.

Pott's second shot on the playoff hole landed on the apron green between two bunkers.

"I guess the smart shot for me would have been to just get close and settle for second place," said Pott, "but I played it to win. I went for the flag because to me it looked like Casper had a cinch birdie for the hole which would have won it for him."

Freehan Among Tiger Signees

DETROIT (UPI) — A dozen Tigers recently signed contracts for the 1968 American League season.

Eight were regulars on the 1967 club which finished tied for second, one game out, as Detroit just missed its first pennant in 22 years.

★ ★ ★

The signing of the 12, for terms which were customarily undisclosed by Tigers General Manager James Campbell, brought to 13 the number who have agreed to terms. Al Kaline inked a pact earlier.

Among those set for the new season were catcher Bill Freehan; outfielders Willie Horton and Jim Northrup; pitchers Earl Wilson, Denny McLain and Joe Sparma; first baseman Norm Cash and shortstop Ray Oyler.

Also happy with their new contracts were reserve outfielders Mickey Stanley and Gates Brown, southpaw pitcher John Hiller and pitcher Joe Brauer, a rookie righthander already inducted into the armed forces for six months.

Freehan, who gained recognition as the league's top catcher, hit .282 and was named "Tiger of the Year" by Detroit sportswriters.

Wilson became the club's 37th 20-game winner with his 22-11 season, which tied him for high in the AL, while McLain wound up 17-16 and Sparma came off a 2-7 1966 mark to post a 16-9 season last year.

Horton was the best one-legged outfielder in the league, hitting 19 home runs with a .274 average despite an Achilles tendon injury which knocked him out of 43 games. Off-season surgery has been successful on the young slugger.

Northrup, plagued by an early-season attack of the mumps which hurt him at the plate when he returned to the lineup, still hit .271 while playing in 143 games, most of any Detroit outfielder.

★ ★ ★

Cash dropped to .242 at the plate but still topped the 20-homer mark for the seventh straight season with 22. He was the top fielding first-sacker in the league.

After two seasons as a part-timer, Oyler became the Tigers' regular shortstop and appeared in 146 games.

Women's Grid Loop Planned

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Women in three National Football League cities including Detroit, will leave the steam iron for the gridiron next summer and give the men a little competition.

Theatrical agent and promoter Sid Friedman, who formed the Cleveland Daredevils, an all-girl football team, this year, plans to expand his venture to Pittsburgh, Detroit and also into Erie, Pa.

Friedman said the league will start practice next June and play a 26-game schedule in addition to barnstorming the country. He said he had an offer to provide halftime games for both the Detroit Lions and the New York Giants.

Friedman said he is still looking for a Detroit coach and a name for the league.

John Bower Leads Nordic Ski Meet

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Perennial leader John Bower topped the field Sunday in the third and last trials for the U.S. Olympic Nordic combined ski team.

The former Auburn, Maine, resident who now coaches at Middlebury College, compiled 229.6 points to lead a virtual New England sweep of the top places. Next in order came Tom Upham, Dover, N.H., 206; James Speck, Thetford, Vt., 196.3; and John Green, Auburn, Maine, 190.6.

Second Halves Decisive in 'Y' Basketball Play

The second half proved decisive in last week's YMCA Senior Boys' League basketball action.

None of the winning teams held more than an eight-point lead at halftime but all spurted to comfortable final margins.

★ ★ ★

The BP's trimmed All Saints Episcopal, 74-61 as Lew Newcomb and David McCullum scored 22 points apiece. Steve Kurth's 23 paced 5th Ave. Phone Booth to a 42-29 decision over First Baptist's Maulers.

The Crushers from First Baptist had better luck. They outdistanced the Psychodelic Society, 83-48, behind the 28-point efforts of Dean Williams and David Webster.

FITNESS for all ages!

Muscles not being used enough? Can you see that in the changing shape of your body. Perhaps your shoulders sag forward or you back stoops. Or perhaps your chest is flat and drawn in. How can you expect to get a deep breath of oxygen like that? Or, perhaps the muscles of the abdominal area have lost their tone and begun to bulge or sag . . . or the muscular system of your feet and legs is asked only to go from your house to your car or from the dinner table to the television set. Without proper muscle tone the body simply can't function the way it was designed to.

Yes, training is possible at all ages. From 15 to 45 years as a training for strength and endurance. From the age of 45 on, to keep fit and for an appearance that belies the passing years.

Spartans Hand 'M' 86-81 Loss

ANN ARBOR (AP) — John Benington almost sounded like a losing coach after his Michigan State team defeated the University of Michigan in a Big Ten basketball game Saturday.

"It was a rough one for Dave Strack to lose," said Benington after the Spartans' 86-81 victory, "because we haven't been doing well and his teams have been coming so close."

★ ★ ★

Michigan, with a 47-42 halftime lead on its home court, appeared to have a good chance of evening its Big Ten mark, but instead remained in a three-way tie for last place at 0-2.

MSU tightened up in the final period while the Wolverines made a series of costly mistakes and as Benington said later, almost in defense of the needed victory, "I'm not responsible for Michigan's mistakes."

BIG MISSES

Michigan lost an opportunity about midway through the second period when Jim Pitts missed a pair of free throws which would have put the Wolverines ahead by two. Even so, sophomore Rudy Tomjanovich grabbed the rebound and passed out to Pitts who fired wildly for the hoop and completely missed the backboard.

★ ★ ★

A couple of minutes later, Michigan had managed a two-point lead and was driving for another score when a pass from Ken Maxie to Rick Bloodworth sailed by the intended receiver who never saw the ball. Tomjanovich also was caught napping nearby.

★ ★ ★

Late in the game, MSU was clinging to a 65-64 lead when the Wolverines just about handed the game to the visitors in a series of fouls.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State's Lee Lafayette, who led the Spartans with 21 points, was fouled and picked up a point. Then John Bailey was fouled after scoring and picked up two more points at the free throw line. Moments later, Lafayette was fouled again and got another point to put the game out of reach.

NOT ENOUGH

Michigan coach Strack, whose club lost a close one to Wisconsin the week before, said, "We seem to put a lot of things together, but not enough to win."

★ ★ ★

Putting it together individually for the Wolverines were Tomjanovich and Dennis Stewart, both with 21 points, while Pitts added another 20.

'Y' Tankers Lose on Final Point Totals

Pontiac YMCA swimmers won four of six divisions, but the big point totals in the prep and junior divisions gave Saginaw an over-all 288-257 victory in the Saginaw Y pool Saturday.

In the midget boys division, brothers Jeff and Jim Dauw scored doubles wins and then joined brother Tom Dauw and John Irwin in the 80 yard medley relay.

Jeff won the 20 yard freestyle and 20 yard butterfly while Jim took the 80 yard individual medley and 40 yard freestyle.

Irwin won the 20 yard backstroke and 100 yard freestyle and together with Tom they went 53.4 in the 80 yard medley relay.

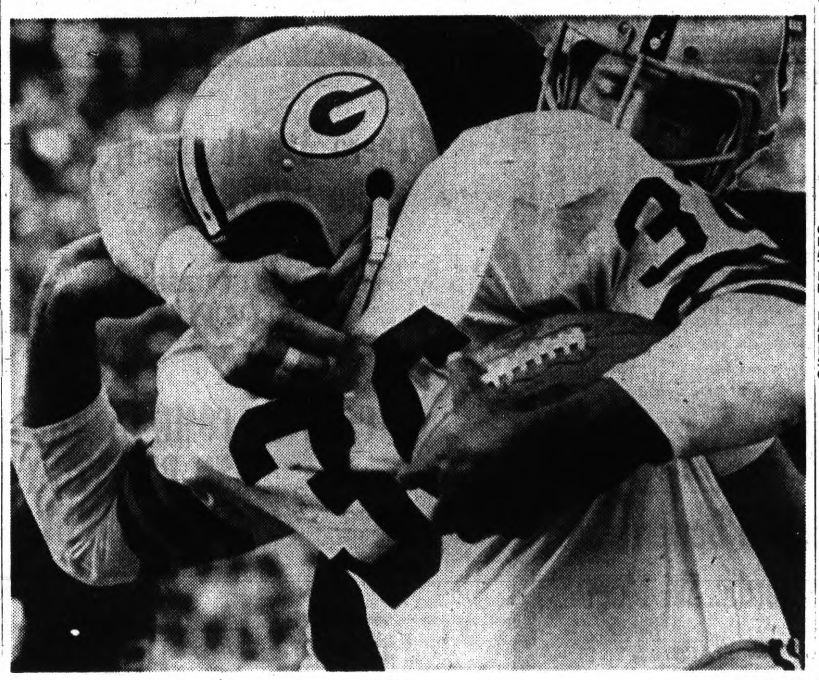

In the Junior boys, Rick Rykowski won the 160 yard individual medley and 200 freestyle.

GIRLS' HONORS

The girls took most of the other honors led by Carol Webster winner of two midget girls events and a leg of the medley relay.

Janet Irwin and G. Bard each won three events in the girls prep division, with A. Stiel, J. O'Connor, S. Cucksey and J. Hartley taking most of the honors in the girls junior division.

Above, Howie Williams (29) gets a couple of fingers inside Wilson's helmet and it was enough to halt the advance of the Packer ace. Tackers Trip Tomahawks, 119-109

GRAND RAPIDS—The Grand Rapids Tackers completed a sweep of their three-game season series with the Pontiac Tomahawks by holding off the visitors, 119-109, Saturday night before 2200 fans.

★ ★ ★

The Eastern Division tailenders stayed close to the Western Division pacesetters throughout the North American Basketball League encounter, but couldn't completely offset the winners' first-half advantage.

★ ★ ★

Grand Rapids assumed a 60-51 intermission advantage on some hot shooting by guard Bob Wilkinson plus the advantage of the unsettling effect of three technical fouls and the ejection of Pontiac center Ed Burton.

Burton had scored 20 points when referee Don Tallman called successive technical fouls on the massive pivotman, resulting in an automatic ejection.

Rookie Jim Patterson replaced Burton in the center and did a fine job, finishing with 13 points and hauling down 18 rebounds off the defensive backboard.

4TH TECHNICAL

The visiting Tomahawks drew within 86-82 in the third period but a technical foul — the fourth in the game, called by Tallman on the Pontiac pros — enabled the Tackers to regain their momentum.

Sparked by Sonny Dove's offensive rebounding, Pontiac again trimmed the deficit in the fourth period, trailing 115-109 with 45 seconds left, but a missed shot gave Grand Rapids the basketball and the Tackers padded their cushion.

Dove hit 15 of his 21 points in the final session. He also grabbed 15 rebounds as the Tomahawks dominated the backboards.

Newcomer Joe Johnson, a slender 6-4 guard who was acquired from Lansing Friday by the Tomahawks, tallied 17 points and had seven rebounds.

Wilkinson finished with 32 points, including three three-point baskets. M. C. Burton, the brother of Pontiac's Ed, hit 23 points and grabbed 14 rebounds.

★ ★ ★

The Tomahawks will be home Saturday night to meet Chicago in a Kiddies Night contest at which all youngsters under 14 will be admitted free.

TALKS INFORMALLY—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower talks informally at a press conference for a group of touring travel editors and writers near his Palm Springs, Calif., winter residence over the weekend. Eisenhower told the journalists that Americans should practice self-discipline in restricting European travel. In a sidelight, he added that he thought President Johnson should take up golf.

Six Fishermen Rescued off Ice on Lake St. Clair

DETROIT (UPI) — Six fishermen who spent nearly six hours on a floating chunk of ice in Lake St. Clair don't plan any more excursions onto the ice. At least not until it gets a lot colder.

The six — three brothers, their father and two friends—were plucked from the ice floe late Saturday when a Coast Guard helicopter landed and carried them to safety. Winds up to 50 miles per hour were blamed for the cracking of the ice which was more than one foot thick where they were fishing.

William Kriska, 34, Dearborn Heights, said the group went out about one mile from the Lake St. Clair shore line near the Belle River and first noticed trouble when they heard a "loud crack."

"We had a shanty set up on the ice and heard a loud crack," Kriska said. "We didn't think too much about it until we noticed that a lighthouse we were looking at seemed to be moving.

"When we started moving we began signaling with a Coleman lantern. We knew someone would come and get us, but we were worried for a while because the gap was widening," he said.

COPTER RESCUE

An HH52A Coast Guard helicopter from the Selfridge Air Force Base landed on the ice and carried the men to safety.

"I don't plan any more ice fishing for awhile. At least not until it gets a lot colder and the ice is more solid," Kriska said.

Grocery Bag Causes Death

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) —Police blamed a bag of groceries for the death of a 69-year-old man. Officers gave this account:

James Edward McKinney left his car in front of his house Sunday to open a driveway gate. While he was at the gate, his wife slid across the front seat to take the wheel. A large bag of groceries fell from the seat and depressed the accelerator pedal. The car lurched into McKinney.

Mao Badges Spark Clash

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong's major Communist newspapers reported today that Chinese seamen clashed with Russian seamen in Haiphong over badges of Mao Tse-tung.

The Chinese-language newspapers, Ta Kung Pao and Wen Wei Po, gave this account:

Three Chinese seamen walked into a seamen's club in Haiphong Dec. 16 with Mao badges on their chests.

★ ★ ★

Some Russian seaman in the club asked the Chinese seamen for the badges for souvenirs but three other Russian seamen "threw the badges on the ground and stamped them into pieces."

A clash, resulted. The three Russians tried to slip away but they were caught by the Chinese.

One of the Russians threw a stone at the Chinese but it missed.

Both papers hailed the incident as "a great victory to the Chinese Communists and a disastrous defeat for the Russian revisionists."

Moscow radio said fierce clashes between supporters of Mao and his political rival, President Liu Shao-chi, have continued for over a month now in Anhwei Province.

The broadcast, said many parts of Anhwei Province were seriously affected and military forces were sent there in an effort to stop the clashes.

U.S. JCs Honor State Republican

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — U. S. Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., R-Mich., has been named by the United States Jaycees as one of the 10 outstanding young men of 1967.

The 29-year-old Flint Republican, a member of various House committees, was cited Sunday for contributing new approaches for solving current government problems, such as helping to revise the current U. S. economic assistance program in Vietnam.

Soviet Scientist Is Facing Martyrdom

MOSCOW (UPI) — He is tall and unkempt, a scientist by profession and a scion of the Bolshevik nobility. He also could be the next martyr of a Moscow protest movement.

"I am not an organization man and definitely not a revolutionary," Pavel Litvinov said. "But I must do what my heart tells me."

What Litvinov did was distribute a harsh and angry statement, condemning the trial last week of his friends Yuri Galanskov and Alex Ginzburg as a new version of the Stalin purge trials.

He accused the KGB (Secret police) of framing Galanskov and Ginzburg and said the judge and prosecutor railroaded them into labor camps.

He issued his statement while the trial was in progress. And he gave it to western newsmen here "because it is hopeless" to attempt publication in the state-controlled Soviet press.

All that happened last Friday. He spent most of Friday night comforting the mothers of Galanskov and Ginzburg.

He was unshaven and disheveled, dressed only in blue shorts, as he talked with a UPI reporter Saturday morning in his flat on the 13th floor of a luxury apartment a half mile from the Kremlin.

"I am not interested in politics as such," Litvinov said in a mixture of Russian and halting English. "But Soviet law should be respected. I am against all violence, whether on the bottom of from the top."

Litvinov is 28, a physician who works as a research chemist and teacher at the Institute of Precise Chemical Technology in Moscow. He is large and roughly roughly handsome. He married young and has a 7-year-old son, but he and his wife are now divorced.

He is the grandson of the late Maxim Litvinov, a onetime foreign minister and a great name in early Soviet history. His grandfather arranged details of Soviet-U.S. recognition in 1933.

A PEEK AT THE MOON? — While this might pass as a spacecraft's picture of the moon's surface, it is in reality a shot of the Lake Michigan shore line near South Haven, where winter's wind and snow now reign.

Heat Problems Slow Surveyor's Lunar Picture-Taking

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Heating problems in the television camera aboard Surveyor 7 forced scientists to pace picture-taking operations today as the lunar moon approached

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) said the camera was being shut down and allowed to cool for 40 minutes between the half-hour photographic sessions.

When the sun reaches its zenith in the lunar sky tonight, surface temperatures will top 250 degrees above zero Fahrenheit and force a temporary suspension of operations.

Surveyor 7 has transmitted more than 9,000 pictures of the Tycho crater region since it landed Jan. 9 in the rugged southern highlands of the moon.

The spokesman said the Alpha scattering device has gathered about 17 hours of data on the chemical composition of the lunar soil since controllers fixed a malfunction of its deployment mechanism.

The spacecraft's digging claw furrowed the soil for a six-hour period over the weekend while its activities were photographed by the television camera.

LBJ May Seek End to Gold-Dollar Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — A request to Congress to remove the last domestic link between gold and the dollar—the so-called gold cover—could come this week in President Johnson's State of the Union message.

Key administration officials decline to say when the request might be made but Johnson hinted he might move on it soon in his New Year's day announcement of a program to cut the overseas dollar drain by $3 billion this year.

★ ★ ★

Johnson said all the nation's gold will be available to back the dollar.

The only way this can happen is to remove the gold cover—the requirement that each $1 in federal reserve notes, the only paper money now circulated, must be backed by 25 cents in gold.

Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board last year urged quick removal of the gold cover to serve notice the nation is willing to use its last ounce of gold to defend the dollar.

TIMING HIT

Administration officials agreed with Martin's basic reasoning but not on the timing.

Johnson is expected in his State of the Union message Wednesday to review the new balance-of-payments program which includes investment control and a possible tourism tax on Americans traveling abroad.

Removing the gold cover would reinforce the program although in itself would have no effect on the flow of dollars abroad.

Another possible hint on administration thinking came Sunday from Walter Heller, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. He called for removing the gold cover and for abandoning gold as a world money metal.

Heller was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" radio-television program.

Only Belgium, Switzerland and South Africa among major nations now have any type of gold cover on currency. Even France, where the love for gold is unquestioned, requires no gold backing for domestic money.

The U.S. gold cover now ties up about $10.5 billion worth of the metal.

The Federal Reserve Board said its latest figures show the nation's money gold stock early this month totaled 27.3 per cent of the $42 billion in federal reserve notes in circulation.

This left about $1.5 billion—the gold stock is now roughly $12 billion—for sales to foreign governments demanding gold for dollars and to supply the London market.

Opening lead—♠ A

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "From the first days of bridge, every table of standard opening leads recommends leading the higher of equal honors if you choose to lead a high card, except that you lead king from ace-king."

JACOBY

Jim: "This means that when a king is led, partner does not know whether you have led from ace-king or from king-queen. Sometimes this leads to trouble."

Oswald: "It does indeed. On the other hand the habit of leading king from ace-king is so deeply ingrained that it will be a hard one to get rid of, but I think the Jacobys should do so."

Jim: "O.K. From now on we lead the higher of touching honors so that the king lead denies the ace."

Oswald: "It is going to be hard for me to change after more than 50 years of playing the old way, but I will make the effort. It actually doesn't make any difference at all on most occasions."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "It does with today's hand. South arrives at a normal three no-trump contract. He has 16 points, 4-3-3-3 distribution and all suits stopped, while North has 11 points for his raise to game."

Oswald: "If West makes the ambiguous opening lead of the king, his partner will want to play the six. West may decide to lead another spade, whereupon South will have nine tricks."

Jim: "When the ace is opened, East has no problem. He knows that his partner has led from ace-king and plays his lowest spade to ask for a shift. West shifts. East will grab the first club lead with his ace and lead the jack of spades. Declarer will be held to seven tricks."

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ J 4 ♦ K 10 9 5 4 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3
What do you do now?

A—Pass. You have two hearts and only one spade.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of opening two spades, your partner opens two hearts and rebids to three hearts over your two no-trump response. What do you do now?

More Gainers Than Losers

Dow Jones Down in Market

NEW YORK (AP) — More stocks rose than fell but the Dow Jones industrial average continued to decline early this afternoon, following the pattern which prevailed most of last week.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 2 to 1 among stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Among the 30 blue chip industrials listed in the Dow Jones industrial average, however, losses had the edge with the averare dipping 2.25 to 896.73 at noon.

Analysts saw the blue chip segment of the market as cautious and uninspired now that the early January reinvestment demand has been satisfied.

The Associaed Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 325.9 with industrials up .2, rails up .2 and utilities unchanged.

BIGGEST NEWS

Biggest news for Wall Street was that the Supreme Court had finally approved the New York Central-Pennsylvania Rairoad merger. Pennsy spurted 3½ oints to a peak of 62 on the news but soon settled back to a fractional net gain. New York Central widened a small fractional gain on the initial impact of the news, then eased back, trading about unchanged.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Kaiser Industries rose about 2 points, VTR 1, Royal American, a fractional gainer, was far ahead of the rest of the list on volume. Among other low-priced fractional gains were Atco Chemical, Banner Industries, Canadian Export Gas & Oil, General Stores and North Canadian Oils.

Taylor Man Is Charged in Rape-Slaying

TAYLOR (AP) —An ex-convict has been charged with first-degree murder in the rape-slaying of a young Lincoln Park mother of four who was found beaten to death under an overpass bridge in western Wayne County.

* * *

Girard is accused in the slaying of 26-year-old Ellen McLeod whose nude body was found Saturday under a bridge in Huron Township. Deputies said she apparently had stopped for a flat tire and was waiting for assistance when attacked.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death, but deputies said she had been beaten severely and died sometime between 4 a.m. and 7 a.m. Saturday.

Arraignment Today in S. Haven Killing

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Charles E. Bain, 29, South Haven, faced arraignment today on a murder charge in the Saturday slaying of an elderly apartment house neighbor.

The victim, Lester Wallace, 78, was found dead in his apartment with a pillow over his face by a woman looking after the building for her mother-in-law, police said. Dr. James Hayes of Saugatuck, medical examiner, said Wallace had been dead about 12 hours. An autopsy was ordered.

Police said Bain was in jail at the time the murder warrant was served Sunday, charged with breaking and entering and carrying a concealed weapon in connection with a burglary at Pullman in Allegan County.

Publisher Says LBJ Resorts to Half-Truths

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) —A prominent newspaper pub'isher says the Johnson Administration is resorting to "distortions of fact and half-truths of history," in trying to present itself in the best possible light.

John S. Knight, editorial chairman of Knight Newspapers, called on all newspapers to join in a crusade for truth.

Knight made the charge Saturday while accepting the John Peter Zenger award from the Arizona Newspapers Association.

Knight publishes the Detroit Free Press and papers in Miami, Akron, Ohio, Charlotte, N.C., Miami Beach, and Tallahassee, Fla.

"If there are those among us who have never joined the crusade for truth nor tasted the blood of the bureaucrat, I counsel you to begin exposing and opposing the exercise of arbitrary power, now at its zenith in this nation," Knight said.

TEDS CORNER

Are you interested in income properties? If you are just starting out in this field here are a few pointers. Be prepared to make a 35 to 40 per cent down payment if you want to take out a mortgage. Due to the location of most rental units do not expect the property value to soar as many residential areas do for you are getting your profit weekly or monthly. There are fewer and fewer properties available on low down payment with land contract terms, for there are more and more people getting into this field. Make sure you receive the first and last month's rents. Have some type of written agreement between you and the tenant. For more on this subject please call, we will be happy to assist you.

The Guns of Judgment Day

Cliff Farrell's new Western thriller

From the Doubleday & Co. novel; Copyright © 1967, by Cliff Farrell. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Dan Briscoe, on patrol in Yellow Lance as night marshal, felt this might be the last night. Dan didn't want to kill, but he did want to survive—and without running.

That was his dilemma with the Hatch brothers in town, intent on settling a grudge against Briscoe.

While Briscoe was having supper with the Mayor, Frank Buckman encountered the Hatch brothers and was killed. Filled with remorse, Briscoe decided to hang up his guns.

Chapter 5

Dan Briscoe shrugged as he spoke to John Cass. "Father O'Brien and Martin Pound were right. I set a bad example for an ambitious young deputy who wanted to prove he was as good a man as Diamond Dan Briscoe. Me and my strut and my swagger. I'll tell you something, John, that I wish Frank had known."

"You don't have to tell me anything, Dan."

"Every night when I took over the shift, I was scared. Every time I walked up to an armed man to make an arrest, I was afraid."

He added, "Maybe, if Frank had known that, he might have learned to be scared too. He might still be alive. And so might Clay Hatch. Then I'd only have to explain about the other three when Judgment Day comes. Now I've got two more lives written against me."

★ ★ ★

He unlocked the door and left the office. Groups still lingered along the sidewalks. The aftermath of the shooting was like dying smoke in the town. A new stir of interest ran along the street when Dan appeared A few men tried to speak to him, but he brushed past and walked to the hotel where he roomed.

LADY TO SEE DAN?

As he passed through the lobby he recalled something He paused at the desk "I was told there had been a lady who wanted to see me," he said to the clerk.

"Lady?" the man said thoughtfully. "Not to my knowledge, Dan."

John Cass evidently had been mistaken. Or, perhaps, another clerk had been on duty earlier It didn't matter. The sitting room was vacant now. Nothing mattered.

★ ★ ★

Dan attended graveside service for Frank Buckman late the next afternoon. A large gathering of townspepole bowed their heads as the Reverend Martin Pound read the Lutheran service. A choir sang a hymn.

PLAINS GRAVEYARD

The consecration was performed, and the exodus began from the cemetery where a few acres had been cleared in the bleak vastness of buffalo grass.

Dan was among the last to turn away. Clay Hatch had been buried earlier in the day in the opposite corner of the graveyard. The fresh mound bore a wreath which was already withering in the hot, plains wind.

Dan walked to this grave. It had been dug alongside a year-old mound, now sunken. At its head stood a wooden headboard on which, in painted letters, was the information that here lay Steven Joseph Webb, born in Grundy County, Tennessee, who had gone to sit at the feet of his Maker at the age of twenty-two.

★ ★ ★

Dan stood, remembering the night his glancing bullet had taken the life of this young cowboy. Like all the others, Steve Webb had been a complete stranger to him at the moment of decision,

He had been a wild, undisciplined youth who had scorned in his desire to be noticed by other men. Now his friend, Clay Hatch, had joined him in this lonely, alien place.

A SILENT GAZE

Dan discovered he was not alone. Jess Hatch stood a dozen feet away. They gazed at each other in silence.

"I'm sorry," Dan finally said. "More than I can put into words. More than you'd believe, I'm afraid."

Jess Hatch drew a long breath. "Yes, I could believe," he said. "I've learned, too late, what real sorrow is. I brought him to his death. Me an' my pride."

★ ★ ★

He was not armed. Dan turned and walked away toward the lights of Yellow Lance that were beginning to bloom in the dusk. That grudge, at least, was finished. But there likely were others that would follow him.

MAYOR'S QUESTION

He found John Cass waiting for him, and they walked together into town. "What are you going to do, Dan?" the Mayor asked.

"Go somewhere," Dan said. "And change my name."

"Change your name? Is that necessary?"

"Is there any other way to clean the slate?"

"You've got no slate to clean."

★ ★ ★

"I've stepped on a lot of toes. Some men never forget. That's one of the penalties for taking a law job. I want to rub off the target that's painted on my back. It's there. I can feel it."

WHERE'LL HE GO

"Have you got any special place in mind, Dan?"

"No. Just a place so far away they never heard of Yellow Lance or Diamond Dan Briscoe."

"That's what I want to talk about to you," John Cass said. "This is something of a coincidence. Have you ever heard of Springwater Basin?"

"Can't say I have."

"I figured you hadn't. Have you ever punched cows, Dan?"

★ ★ ★

"Some. I was raised on a patch-saddle outfit in the Nebraska sandhills by an uncle who took me in after my parents died when I was chin-high to a stirrup. I know which end of a throw rope to dab around a steer. I've doctored screw-worm and glanders."

WANTED: GOOD MAN

"What I've got in mind is a fair-sized ranch that's in need of a good man who can eventually take over and run the outfit. You could let the hands do the roping and doctoring."

"I hardly had cattle ranching in mind, John. But, where is this Springwater Basin?"

"Arizona. There's a town named Flat Butte in the middle of the basin. Does that mean anything to you?"

★ ★ ★

"No," Dan said. "Arizona? That is a long, far, shout from here. I'm not much for living on a desert, John. I'm a prairie dog."

FINE COW COUNTRY

"I see that you've never been to Arizona. But I have. And to Springwater Basin. Arizona isn't all desert by a long shot. And the basin is as pretty a cow country as you'll ever lay eyes on. I was there years ago for a short time.

"I'd be willing to bet a tin dime there's only one person down there who ever heard of Yellow Lance, let alone Diamond Dan Briscoe. And the only reason is that he happens to be an old friend of mine. We keep in touch with each other."

"I'm listening," Dan said.

"His name is Bill Royal and he owns an outfit called the Spanish Bell in the basin. Bill and I were prospecting partners in Arizona in the 'Pache days, but he quit prospecting when he saw the basin, and went to ranching.

★ ★ ★

"It happened that I got a letter from him a couple of weeks ago, asking me to keep a look-see for a reliable man who might like a job that would pay top wages and who had the savvy to work into a foreman's job.

"There might even be a partnership in it for the right man in the future. Bill's all stove up and can't ride. He's up in his sixties, and the outfit's too much for his daughter to handle."

"Daughter?"

★ ★ ★

"Katey Royal. She's a widow woman. Riding help is hard to find in that country. It's miles from nowhere. Bill's letter had slipped my mind until you mentioned you was quitting. I sort of figured a place like the basin might suit you."

"I'd have to think it over," Dan said.

Etna Volcano Still Erupting

3-Year Flow of Lava Seen as Safety Valve

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Mighty Etna is starting its third year of ceaseless eruption.

The roar lulls residents on its lower slopes to tranquil sleep. The 150,000 villagers and farm folk who live on the lava-scarred slopes regard the explosions from rents near the top of the two-mile-high cone as a sort of safety valve.

★ ★ ★

As long as the fuming and grumbling continue, they believe no violent force will become pentup in the deep throat of Europe's tallest volcano that could cause a disastrous outburst.

★ ★ ★

The present eruption, one of Etna's longest continued periods of volcanic activity in decades, began Jan. 12, 1966, after two years of quiet.

CLOUD COVER

The fired-up lava falls back into the huge central crater, and the thick winter cloud cover over the mountain top diffuses the flame into a dull red glow.

Molten rock pouring out of the central cone would have to stream 10 to 15 miles down over old lava beds before it could scorch the nearest house in the closest village.

★ ★ ★

Etna's thick lava from deep in the earth flows more sluggishly than the more fluid lava from Mt. Vesuvious or most of the volcanos of the Pacific. Vesuvius, with its destruction of Pompeli and Herculaneaum, has killed thousands to Etna's toll of a few hundred.

★ ★ ★

Even in 1669 when Etna destroyed Catania, Sicilty's second largest city, the lava flowed so far and so slowly that residents had time to flee unharmed.

'Sexual Mores Not Changed by the Pill'

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — One of the first products made from vulcanized rubber, back in the 1840s, was a contraceptive.

By the 1880s, when the diaphragm appeared, men and women had mechanical devices that together would provide virtually 100 per cent contraceptive safety. Thus, for nearly a century, young people willing to experiment with sex have had the means of avoiding pregnancy.

Nevertheless, this fact seems to have been obscured in a floodtide of publicity over oral contraception and its moral impact. Suddenly, the late-arriving pill is supposed to be forcing a change in sexual mores.

Authorities on sexual behavior, however, remain unimpressed with the power of the pill. Not only has contraception long been available, they point out, but young people don't generally base their decisions about sexual behavior on contraception.

★ ★ ★

The pill isn't a major force affecting social mores, says Dr. Ira Reiss, University of Iowa sociologist and author of the recent work, "The Social Context of Premarital Sexual Permissiveness."

Stella Tells Earl Bare Facts on Her 'Playboy' Exposure

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I can't seem to uplift American morals, hard as I try.

Stella Stevens, who's had three nude layouts in Playboy, was having a Bloody Mary in Gallagher's. Gently, I told her that one actor (Michael Caine) informed me he'd never marry a girl who'd posed naked. He'd just walk out on her if he found out.

WILSON

"That would have to be a very shallow relationship—I wouldn't want to date such a man, whoever he was!" Stella said. "He must be an old stick-in-the-mud."

"But everybody in the country must know what you look like naked," I mentioned.

"What's wrong with that?" she fired back. "I hope, though, it never gets to the point where it's accepted, because it's not being accepted is half the fun of it."

★ ★ ★

Nine years ago when she wasn't long out of Hot Coffee, Miss., Yazoo City, Miss., and Memphis, Miss Stevens was called "the girl who didn't smile"—and a joke went with it—"Who ever looked up there to notice?"

"But 20th Century-Fox dropped me, I needed money, and—"

Now she's starring in three pictures, and her first one's making Radio City Music Hall: "How to Save a Marriage and Ruin Your Life." She plays Dean Martin's mistress.

"I think (in the picture) that being a mistress is like any other job. After the affair's over, she's entitled to a pension, social welfare, etc. Other businesses have it. Why not mistresses?

"So I picket Dean Martin when he goes out wtih another girl, with a sign saying I'm his mistress and he won't pay my rent."

Super Bowl Truth Is Out

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The American Football League took its annual, nationally televised punishment yesterday before millions of viewers who learned that truth is often unkind to promotion.

Green Bay's thumping defeat of Oakland on CBS-TV merely reaffirmed the obvious: that the best team in a class A league will always beat the best team in a class B league.

Despite the financially oriented promotion that this alleged Super Bowl game was deciding the world pro football championship, it did nothing of the sort, of course.

This title was already long decided—when Green Bay defeated Dallas for the championship of the National Football League. Yesterday's contest was strictly a promotional matchup, and it looked it.

★★ ★

In the National Football League, almost any team can knock off any other on a given day. But it was clear to impartial viewers yesterday that if Green Bay played Oakland 25 times in the next year, Green Bay would probably find it difficult to lose.

Oakland had a few things going for it, but so did Ethiopia. Despite the farcical annual propaganda, the myth was exploded not only in the game, but in CBS-TV's interviews afterwards.

There we had members of the admirable Oakland Raiders saying straight out that they admittedly were younger than Green Bay as a team, and had learned much from playing the Packers, and that the winners were far more experienced, etc., etc.

It sounded exactly like what it was: youthful developing players discussing their accomplished, polished superiors; students talking about master teachers.

In short, it was confirmation — from the horse's mouth — of the fact that every sophisticated football observer knew: that the match-up could only have come out the way it did—a very dull, very predictable contest.

There was one note of interest: the splendid announcing job of Ray Scott of Green Bay, who is acquiring much admiration through his constantly simple, straight, dignified and impartial reports of the Packers' doings in many national broadcasts. The man is a model of a sportscaster.

Four Contest Bequest to Dog

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Relatives of a St. Louis-area woman who bequeathed her $51,553 estate to a black mongrel dog filed suit Saturday contesting the will.

Miss June Kieselhorst of Greendale died last May, leaving her estate to 10-year-old Last Minute II with the provision that the remainder of the estate go to the Humane Society of Missouri after the dog's death.

★ ★ ★

Last Minute II is being cared for by the society.

Four first cousins filed the suit. The legal action alleges that Miss Kieselhorst was of unsound mind and incapable of understanding what disposition she had made of her affairs.

PLAINTIFFS

The plaintiffs are John Kieselhorst of St. Louis; Sidney B. Kieselhorst of New York City; Earl Kieselhorst of Claremont, Calif.; and Mrs. Minerva K. Schiermeirer of Hinsdale, Ill.

Pens Are a Gas

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Mayor Hugh C. Curran is requiring all police patrolmen to carry cartridge pens while on duty. The practice is not part of an increase in administrative work. Each "pen" contains a pressurized cartridge of tear gas, designed to aid policemen in facing unruly crowds.

A Junior Editors Quiz About PARROTS

QUESTION: How does a parrot talk?

ANSWER: We speak because we make sounds in our voice box or larynx and control the sound with the tongue, mouth and lips. Birds also have a larynx, but they have another special sound organ, the syrinx, with membranes which vibrate when air is forced across them.

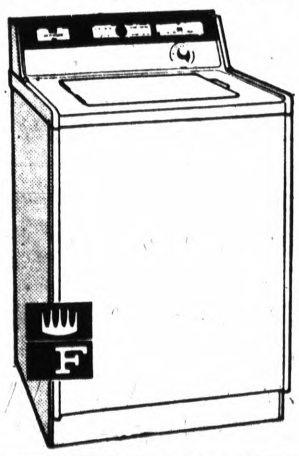

Through this process, birds make notes and calls. Birds can communicate with another through sound. A parrot or parakeet may, for example give low notes which their companions will take to mean danger.

There are many birds which like to imitate the calls of others. The parrot, especially the Amazon parrot, has a remarkable gift for mimicry.

What enables a parrot to imitate human speech so closely is the fact that inside his lower bill, as you can see in our last illustration, is a thick tongue. He can use this to make different qualities of sound, although, of course the poor fellow hasn't the faintest idea of what he is talking about.

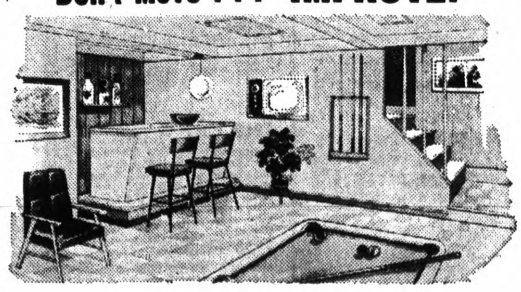

Try making a cardboard parrot as suggested in left picture. Draw on card board, cut out and color as shown, putting a weight on the bottom. The notch will enable Polly to sit on your finger.

Israel-Jordan Border Quiet

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab raiders attacked a border farm settlement south of the Dead Sea Sunday night, but the Beisan Valley was reported quiet again today after two days of shooting there along the Israel-Jordan cease-fire line.

Jordanian and Israeli forces fought two hour-long machine gun duels in the valley Saturday and exchanged mortar fire there on Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The raiders Sunday night damaged a pump building and two vacant structures with explosive charges at the settlement near Neot Hakikar, about 10 miles south of the Dead Sea. An army spokesman said tracks of the raiders led to the Jordanian frontier.

City Hours Reset

NEWBURY PORT, Mass. (AP)—City government, following the trend set by shopping centers, will be open for business Fridays from 6 to 8 p.m. Mayor Byron J. Matthews said.

Sunday at least one person will be on duty in every office except the auditor's and the one for veterans' services.

British Retrenchment Gets Final Look

LONDON (AP) — The British Cabinet put the final touches today to its sweeping economic retrenchment program, with one prospective casualty the contract to buy a billion dollars worth of American F111 bombers.

A provisional decision to drop the order for 50 F111s was up for final Cabinet approval. Defense Secretary Denis Healey was battling to save the contract, and colleagues said he still had a fighting chance to get up to 35 or 40 of the big swing-wing planes if he could offer the Cabinet comparable saving elsewhere in the defense budget.

The British were told last week they could take 10 years to pay for the F111s and would be given American orders for British arms to earn the dollars to offsett heir foreign exchange costs.

The Cabinet was also expected to approve withdrawal of British forces from Malaysia and Singapore in Southeast Asia, and Bahrain and Sharjeah in the Persian Gulf by 1971, four years ahead of the schedule announced last July.

URGES SHOWDOWN

Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yee of Sginapore met with Prime Minister Harold Wilson Sunday to urge a slowdown of the withdrawal timetable, and other British allies have voiced alarm over the headlong course of budget cutting Britain is following. Both President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk also were said to be dismayed at Britain's resolve to pull out of the Persian Gulf at a time of Soviet naval buildup in the Middle East. But there was no indication this attitude from Britain's allies would modify the Labor government's course.

★ ★ ★

The retreat into a "Fortress Britain" posture allows for the preservation of such outposts as the Rhine Army in West Germany and bases on Cyprus and in Hong Kong. But Britain now plans to ask West Germany to cover the local costs for the Rhine Army or it may be withdrawn.

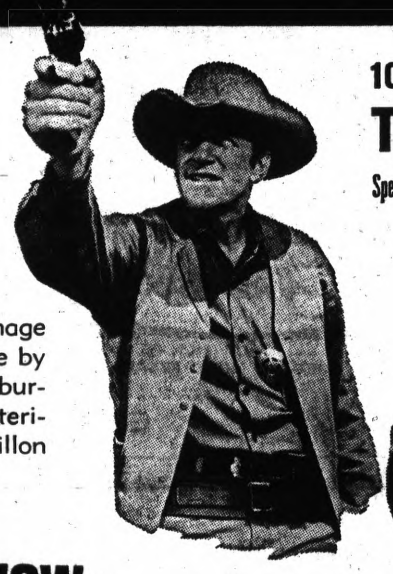

Besides trimming defense costs, Wilson's government is courting public disaffection with a program of wholesale domestic retrenchment aimed at making the devalued pound a success. Cuts will affect education, road building and social services, including a renewal of charges for medicine now handed out free under the state health service.

Lord Longford, leader of the House of Lords, has indicated he will quit if the Cabinet defers raising the age for legally leaving school from 15 to 16. Another threat of resignation came from Arts Minister Jennie Lee, widow of Aneurin Bevan, who said she would step out if charges are reimposed on medicine. This would be a psychological blow to Wilson, since Miss Lee is chairman of the Labor party.

Europe Is Besieged by Killer Quakes, 100-M.P.H. Winds, Snow

LONDON (AP) — Killer earthquakes struck western Sicily, and 100-mile winds battered Glasgow and Edinburgh today as foul weather laid siege from North Ireland across Europe to Syria.

At least 17 persons were killed in the Sicilian quakes, but police feared the final toll would be much higher. The hurricane-force winds in Britain killed nine persons, four others were missing and hundreds were injured as houses collapsed.

★ ★ ★

The $14.5-million British oil-drilling rig Sea Quest broke loose in heavy seas off the northeast coast of England. It was not known how many men were aboard, but one tug was alongside and two others were on the way.

Gales hit Scotland, England and Northern Ireland. Heavy snows and the threat of avalanches trapped thousands in the Swiss Alps. Storms raged across the eastern Mediterranean.

10 DEATHS

The Sicilian quakes hit before dawn, but hundreds of persons were sleeping outdoors despite six inches of snow because there had been three lesser quakes Sunday. At least 10 persons were reported killed in Gibellina, a town of 6,000, and more deaths were reported in Salemi and the smaller towns of Poggioreale and Salaparuta.

The shocks today crumbled stone walls and cinder-block buildings in dozens of small farming towns southwest of Palermo. Ambulances crawled through the stricken areas on curving, icy roads, and some relief convoys were blocked altogether.

★ ★ ★

The quakes were felt in Palermo and Trapani, and thousands in both cities spent the night in the streets. In Palermo, which has half a million population, the streets were filled at 4 a.m.

Gusts up to 111 miles an hour swept the Hebrides islands off the Scottish west coast in the gale-force winds that raged over Scotland, England and Northern Ireland.

Buildings in many parts of Glasgow collapsed, one child was reported killed and hundreds of persons were injured. The winds uprooted trees and did severe damage to shipyards and cranes on the Clyde River. Electricity failed in Glasgow and its suburbs, and hospitals went on emergency power as casualties came in "by the dozen."

"There is absolute havoc," a Glasgow police spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

An ambulance service spokesman said there had been "well over 100 casualties, and there are still many people feared trapped under the debris of houses which have partly collapsed."

★ ★ ★

To the south in England and Wales, a five-day freeze ended, but the thaw became a mixed blessing as it flooded many roads. Some were under three feet of water. One British policeman was killed when his car skidded and flipped over on a snowbound highway near Norwich.

SKIERS STRANDED

Airports in several countries were closed with freezing rain carpeting runways in ice. Hefty snowfalls blanketed roads and railroad tracks in the Swiss Alps while blizzard winds whistled through the mountains. Many tourists and skiers were snowed into their hotels but there was no shortage of food and drink.

Sunny weather in Spain mocked the general pattern, and vacationers swam in the sea off the south and east coasts. But Southern Italy took on an arctic look today with snow below Naples. Two persons were killed in auto accidents on Italian roads, and two ill persons died after ambulances taking them to hospitals bogged down.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of persons were stranded in eastern Turkey as more than six main highways were blocked by snow. Istanbul was under heavy snow blanket and its international airport was closed. A severe storm in the Black Sea area blew off roofs, brought down power lines and caused one death.

The Syrian port of Latakia was walloped by 45-foot waves, driven by 100-mile winds, that swept three freighters aground and wrecked scores of seaside coffee houses, restaurants and night clubs. Two children were reported injured, both critically.

JERUSALEM ISOLATED

The storm rolled in over Israel from the Mediterranean today, blowing over trees, flooding low areas and covering the higher hills with a mantle of snow. Jerusalem was isolated for hours by one of the heaviest snowfalls in memory. All traffic was paralyzed, and most of the capital was without electricity. Schools were closed and public functions canceled.

The weather also delayed the prisoner of war exchange between Egypt and Israel. An army spokesman said there was no exchange Sunday or today. The repatriation of the estimated 4,500 Egyptians still held from the June war now is expected to be completed at the end of the week.

Flint Man Is Held in Fatality at Bar

FLINT (UPI) — Police today held a Flint man in connection with the fatal shooting of Carlton Booker, 14, Toledo Ohio, who was killed when a stray bullet hit him during a shooting at a local bar.

★ ★ ★

Joe Anderson, 40, was held for investigation in the shooting.

★ ★ ★

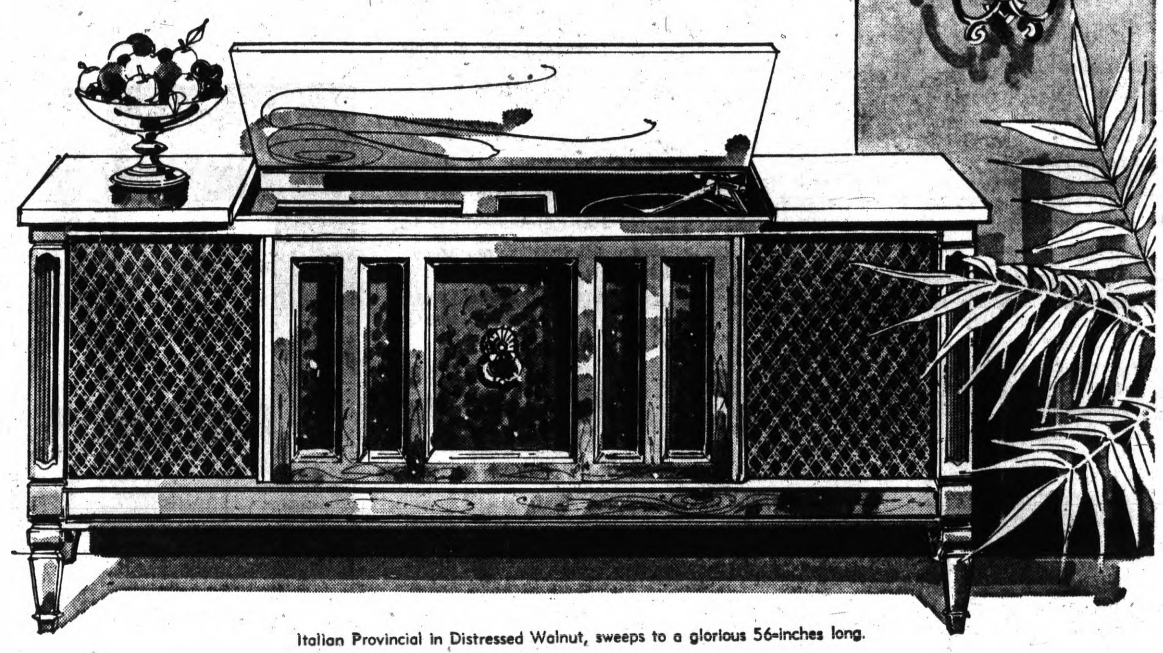

Booker, who looked older than his age, was killed as he watched two men and a woman fight in the Hut Bar, police said.

★ ★ ★

Two other persons were injured by stray bullets in the shoot-out that followed the argument.

Over 220 Killed as Sicily Is Smashed by Earthquakes

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — A catastrophic wave of killer earthquakes smashed across the western tip of Sicily today and police said more than 220 persons were killed.

Police said most of the victims died when a hospital at Montevaga collapsed and buried 200 persons.

More than 20 other victims were counted from the stricken communities near Montevago.

The quake was the worst natural disaster to hit Sicily—the largest and most populous island in the Mediterranean Sea—since an earthquake destroyed Messina in 1908 with a loss of 75,000 lives.

★ ★ ★

The quakes ripped across a mountainous farming region of Sicily considered to be the stronghold of the Mafia. At least half a dozen towns and villages were wrecked.

The shocks also reached into the cities of Palermo, Trapani and Marsala, in the edge of the disaster area, causing some damage and widespread panic.

Hundreds were injured as the shocks came in a series of death-dealing waves.

Five tremors had rocked the region yesterday and at least five more came today, starting at 2:34 a.m. and continuing through midday.

The disaster plunged western Sicily into winter misery. The Italian government mounted a massive relief and rescue operation of planes, ships, trucks and cars to get medicine, blankets food and tents into the disaster zone.

HOMELESS

Hundreds of homeless huddled without shelter in bone-chilling cold, many in fields where snow lay four inches deep.

The full fury of the quakes struck in a mountainous triangle roughly halfway between the north and south coasts of Sicily's western end.

Gibellina, a town of 7,000 inhabitants, was destroyed. So was Montevago a town of 3,000 where a late shock razed the hospital. First rescue teams into Gibellina said they saw nothing but ruins.

★ ★ ★

Refugees from Gibellina truged along the icy road away from their ruined town, seeking shelter.

★ ★ ★

From cracks in the mountainside on which Gibellina was built came the odor of sulphur, so strong it could be smelled several miles away. The geological structure of Sicily is volcanic.

★ ★ ★

It might be days before the exact number of deaths becomes known.

Foul Weather Plagues Nation, Area

Snow, Sleet Hit Parts of U.S.; Death Toll Is 46

By The Associated Press

Snow, sleet and freezing rain covered sections of the nation from northern Mississippi and Georgia to the Great Lakes and New England today. Schools were closed in areas from Illinois to Georgia. And tens of thousands of persons in five states were left without electricity over the weekend.

Weather-related deaths numbered 46 for the weekend.

Related Story, Page D-12

Mississippi. Major roads were generally icy and many secondary roads were impassable.

Residents of southeastern Ohio were digging out of 17 inches of snow that fell yesterday; apd in western West Virginia, a new cover of 11 inches of snow left 33 inches on the ground.

★ ★ ★

The Weather Bureau issued warnings for more of the same kind of weather today.

NORTHWEST HIT

Elsewhere, the northwest was lashed by strong winds and locally heavy rain today from Washington to central California.

Sixteen weekend deaths in Ohio were attributed to the weather, including 10 persons who died after shoveling snow. Indiana counted nine deaths, including six persons who died in traffic accident

Four weather-related deaths were reported in Tennessee, three each in Georgia, New York and South Carolina and two in Virginia and Alabama.

★ ★ ★

POWER FAILURES

Gas explosions popped manhole covers in the city, and falling tree branches and the short circuits cut off power to some 12,000 homes in the metropolitan area. There were numerous power and telephone failures in Upstate New York.

Driving Is Difficult But Not Impossible In Pontiac As This Motorist Proves On Algonquin Road

Heaviest Fall of Winter Clogs County Roads

The heaviest snowfall of the winter clogged streets and slowed traffic throughout Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Lapeer, and other southeastern counties today.

★ ★ ★

Up to a foot of snow had fallen throughout Southeastern Michigan early today.

The weather forecast called for diminishing flurries in the afternoon with another inch or two adding to the weekend's accumulation.

It will be colder tonight with a chance of a few snow flurries but mostly clearing, the forecast said.

★ ★ ★

Low tonight will be 15 to 22 with tomorrow expected to be partly sunny and colder. Low in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 24.

HIGHWAY TOLL

The Auto Club of Michigan said weekend road conditions were the worst of the winter. The weekend highway death toll was three, the lowest number of weekend highway deaths in years.

Pontiac police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department reported a total of 101 traffic accidents over the weekend, blaming the weather for the majority.

Of these, 23 resulted in injuries, but officers said nearly all were minor because of lower speeds demanded by hazardous roads.

★ ★ ★

The snow-covered roads and slippery streets caused a number of school districts in Oakland County to close schools for the day.

LIMITED BUSES

Several school districts confined their buses to main streets only, while others held classes but did not provide transportation.

Local service stations reported they have been flooded with calls from stalled or stranded motorists. Although tow trucks are going all out there were long waits for some stranded motorists.

Six men, only one below 65, died of heart attacks suffered while shoveling the heavy weekend snows in the Detroit area.

★ ★ ★

Crews from the Oakland County Road Commission have been working around the clock since Saturday morning to keep main arteries clear, said Oscar Loomis, maintenance supervisor.

Controversial Issues Abound

Congress Convenes Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 90th Congress reassembles today for an election-year session beset by problems of war, inflation, crime and racial unrest.

The good fellowship that traditionally accompanies the opening ceremonies is expected to fade quickly once the Senate and House tackle controversial issues left over from last year.

Hanging over the Senate is a civil rights bill battle that may turn into a full-fledged filibuster in the opening days of the session.

Little action was anticipated in advance of President Johnson's nationally televised State of the Union message Wednesday night to a joint session of Congress.

★ ★ ★

Anticipated is a call for measures aimed at heading off a renewal of the racial violence that wracked many U.S. cities last summer.

NEW APPEAL

Johnson also is expected to appeal anew for an income tax increase, a proposal on which he suffered his biggest defeat at the 1967 session.

Possible buttresses for Johnson's request this year are the devaluation of the British pound, the continuing outflow of dollars and gold and climbing prices.

And in an effort to strengthen the dollar and cut down an adverse balance of payments, Johnson may ask for a tax on travel abroad, tax rebates for U.S. exporters, a tax on imports and removal of the gold backing for the dollar.

★ ★ ★

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said yesterday he feels Congress would balk at a tourist tax.

An income tax increase was just one of several administration proposals shunted aside last year.

Other major legislation unsuccessfully pushed by the President, despite heavy Democratic majorities in both Senate and House, included open housing, anti-crime, gun controls, truth-in-lending, election reform and pipeline safety measures.

How these and other administration bills fare this year may turn on home-front soundings taken by congressmen since they adjourned a month ago.

★ ★ ★

All House members and one-third of the senators come up for reelection in November along with the President.

Tickets Available for Cooking School

With one week to go before the opening of the ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school, requests for tickets are piling up.

★ ★ ★

Free tickets are available for any of the three sessions: the evenings of Jan. 22 and 23; Jan. 24 and 25; and the afternoons of Jan 23 and 24.

Milford Twp. Man Named COG Head

By ED BLUNDEN

An Oakland County man was elected the first chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG) at the first meeting of the general assembly of the six-county planning organization.

William L. Mainland, supervisor from Milford Township, was unanimous choice of approximately 90 delegates in attendance.

Mel Ravitz, a Detroit councilman and chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, was chosen vice chairman.

At the meeting, it was announced that 93 units of government of a possible 350 now belong to COG. The meeting was held Saturday at the Ford Motor Co. administration office in Dearborn.

Mainland of 124 E. Commerce announced that he expected many more groups to join COG now that its programs are getting under way.

Addressing himself to foes of COG, he said, "Detractors and obstructionists will look in vain for any cynical, scheming conspiracy."

Mainland vowed "Not spectacular showmanship, but solid achievement" from the new organization. The six counties involved are Wayne, Oakland,

CONGRATULATIONS — David Levinson, supervisor from Birmingham, reaches up to shake the hand of William L. Mainland of Milford Township, who was elected chairman of the newly formed Southeast Michigan Council of Governments Saturday. At the meeting, held at the Ford Motor Co. headquarters in Dearborn, Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz (center) was chosen vice president.

Snow Expected to Affect Voting

The heavy snow, which may keep many of Avon Township's 7,700 registered voters home from the polls, was expected to affect the outcome of today's vote seeking the incorporation of Avon Township.

★ ★ ★

A simple majority is needed to pass the proposition, but a second vote on acceptance of a city charter would be necessary before the township's governmental status would be changed. Also on today's ballot, a field of 15 candidates vies for nine charter commission seats, seeking the job of writing a charter.

★ ★ ★

A similar election which would annex 10 square miles of Commerce Township and about three-quarters of a square mile of Wolverine Lake Village to the City of Walled Lake will take place in those areas tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

A majority in separate areas—including two in Wolverine Lake—are needed for the issue to carry.

Romney Defends Handling of Riots

Shaking hands outside a Laconia factory as he resumed his presidential primary campaign, Romney stopped one worker to ask for a vote and wound up in a debate on the riots.

"I think you fell on your feet up there in the riots," the worker said.

"I'll tell you what happened," Romney replied. "I got caught between a soft mayor and a president who vacillated."

"You were the governor," another worker said.

"You take a look at my record," Romney countered. "And I have maintained law and order and used force as necessary to preserve law and order."

★ ★ ★

Romney said Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanaugh failed to apply adequate police force to stop the Detroit outbreak at the beginning, and President Johnson delayed sending in federal troops to quell the trouble.

Romney started campaigning before dawn, with that encounter at the Scott & Williams Co., then toured the Laconia Shoe Co.

PERSONAL PERSUASION

Romney is trying personal persuasion in his bid to win New Hampshire voters, and also in an attempt to entice former Vice President Richard M. Nixon into a series of New Hampshire campaign debates.

Romney has sent a private telegram to his chief rival in the presidential primary, and may follow it up with a personal telephone call to Nixon.

★ ★ ★

Nixon, leading in the opinion polls here, has not yet responded. He is considered unlikely to accept the challenge Romney issued in opening his New Hampshire race.

Romney strategists reported the message to Nixon as the governor prepared to resume his hand-shaking campaign routine today.

One Romney campaign manager said the governor's early morning hand-shaking missions were calculated "to show that this guy has got courage, that he'll go out in the cold and that he's a fighter."

★ ★ ★

Romney had a dozen stops on his schedule, including a speech in Keene covering his Vietnam war policy. The governor is expected to describe his idea of "guaranteed neutrality" as a possible course to peace.

★ ★ ★

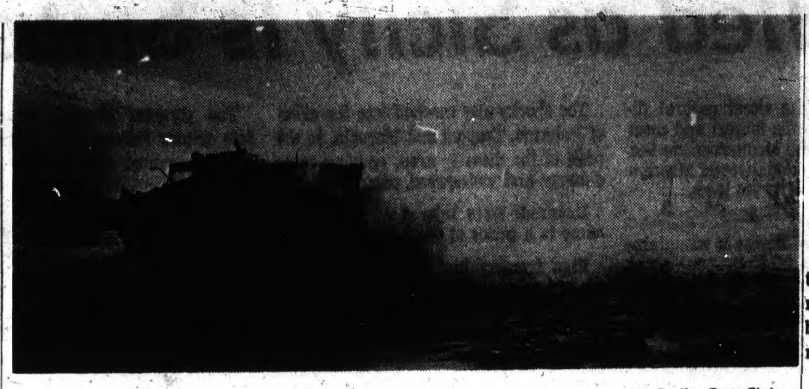

Romney, who does not campaign on Sundays, spent much of his day off working on the lengthy Vietnam speech.

Then he went to Portsmouth to attend services of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints.

Speaking at those services, Romney told some 200 fellow Mormons, "The most burning domestic problem is social injustice to people because of race and color."

★ ★ ★

The Mormon church does not accept Negroes into its priesthood, and Romney has spoken on civil rights at such services before.

Section of Ring Road Slated for Consideration

BIRMINGHAM—Another section of the much-discussed "ring road" is slated for consideration by the City Commission at its regular meeting at 8 tonight.

★ ★ ★

The ring road, a planned loop around the central business district to ease traffic congestion, has been completed west of Hunter. Further construction plans have been stalled pending financial information from the State Highway Department on Hunter crossovers north and south of Maple.

A letter from the department has been received, offering state funds for 50 per cent of the cost of construction of both crossovers.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning, in recommending that the city approve construction on the basis offered, said that cost estimates range from $30,000 to $40,000, making the city's share $15,000 to $20,000.

★ ★ ★

Kenning also recommended that the commission direct the administration to request that the state design the crossovers and return plans to Birmingham in time to be included in the city's paving program this year.

REPORT SCHEDULED

Tonight's agenda also includes a report from Darrel C. Middlewood, parks and recreation superintendent.

N. Viet Fighters Hit Village, Laos Says

VIENTIANE (UPI) — North Vietnamese fighter planes raided a Laos village 200 miles northeast of here and Laotian forces shot down two of them, a government announcement said today.

The statement read by Finance Minister Sisouk na Champassak was the first official report of foreign attacks by North Vietnamese aircraft.

He said the planes bombed, rocketed and strafed the village of Muong Yut and reported other action that indicated the Vietnam war was spilling over into this neighboring neutral nation.

Champassak, right-hand man of Premier Suvanna Phouma, identified the raiding North Vietnamese aircraft as Antonov fighters, Soviet - designed aircraft.

He also reported a Communist gain in Laos' resurgent war against the Communist-backed Pathet Lao.

He said Nam Bac, a government strong point 60 miles north of the royal capital of Lang Prabang, had been under serious attack.

The communique said nothing about the government troops at Nam Bac. But reliable military sources said eight government battalions there had split and were retreating, fighting as they moved.

MIG Hits U.S. Jet; Pilot Lost

SAIGON (AP) — A MIG21 flashed up through monsoon clouds to shoot down a U.S. Air Force Thunderchief Sunday during a strike against an airfield deep in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today. The pilot is missing.

The F105 Thunderchief was taking part in a radar attack on the Yen Bai airfield and storage area 78 miles northwest of Hanoi. It was the 786th American warplane reported lost in combat over North Vietnam. This includes 36 downed by MIGs, while American pilots claim to have shot down 103 of the Communist jets.

★ ★ ★

Hanoi claimed three U.S. planes were shot down Sunday, including an RB66 electronic countermeasure plane loaded with highly sophisticated electronic equipment to jam North Vietnam's radar warning system.

With much of North Vietnam blanketed by clouds, U.S. planes flew only 83 missions Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The only two raids above Hanoi were on the Yen Bai airfield and the Sam Tra railroad yard on the northwest line 94 miles northwest of Hanoi. Bomb drops were made by radar in both strikes and no assessment of damage could be made because of the weather.

22 Pct. in Class Would Quit U.S. to Avoid Draft

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Twenty-two per cent of 529 Harvard College seniors answering a questionnaire said they would go to jail or leave the country if all applications for draft deferments were rejected, the Harvard Crimson said today.

The 529 seniors represent 43 per cent of the class.

The student newspaper, in a copyright story, said 59 per cent of those answering said they will "make a determined effort to avoid military service."

The paper said that 52 students said they plan to leave the United States and 51 students said they would go to jail if drafted. It said that 28 students indicated they would fight induction in the courts.

Mansfield Urges Halt to Bombing of N. Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield urges halting U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, saying Hanoi may have given the "one small indication" President Johnson has publicly sought that peace talks might result.

The Montanan referred Sunday to a New Year's weekend statement by Nguyen Duy Trinh, North Vietnam foreign minister, that Hanoi "will hold peace talks with the United States" if U.S. bombing and other "acts of war" against the North are stopped.

Mansfield said both President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had specified a number of times that if North Vietnam "would just give us one sign, one small indication" that it wanted to talk peace then U.S. bombing might be halted.

Jeannette Rankin, 87, the nation's first congresswoman, pledged to carry an antiwar protest she said might involve up to 10,000 women to the steps of the Capitol today.

WOULD RISK JAIL

Miss Rankin, a Montana ranch owner who as a congresswoman voted against U.S. entry into both World War I and World War II, said she'd risk a jail term if necessary by ignoring a police order that the demonstration halt at a square near the Capitol.

In other war-related weekend developments:

—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview he isn't altering his stand on Vietnam. "I support the President's basic policy of fighting in Vietnam against Communist aggression. I reserve the right to criticize the methods the President may use, but I support the objective," said Dirksen.

★ ★ ★

—Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., said in a Hartford Courant interview the United States should take the initiative in calling for a Geneva Conference on ending the war. Ribicoff said the Soviet Union and Red China should take part in such a conference.

Heart Patient Has Operation

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Mike Kasperak, his transplanted heart still functioning well, remained in critical condition today after removal of his gall bladder Sunday in an emergency operation at Stanford University Medical Center.

The one-hour operation was performed by a team headed by Dr. Norman E. Shumway. The surgeon led the group which removed the greatly enlarged heart of the 54-year-old steelworker Jan. 6 and replaced it with one from a 43-year-old Santa Clara housewife who had just died of a massive brain hemorrhage.

★ ★ ★

Doctors said Kasperak's bile duct was blocked and his gallbladder enlarged. They removed the gallbladder and cleared the common duct leading from the liver to the small intestine.

In Washington, Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel of Georgetown University's surgical research laboratory said he felt that not enough is known about patient reaction to justify heart transplant operations at this time.

Snow Clogs County Roads

Many of the local roads are clogged throughout the county, said Loomis, though the conditions are worse in the northern portion because of narrow roads.

Loomis said that some 100 men have been working during each of 12-hour shifts since the snow began falling Saturday.

Pontiac DPW officials said crews have been working around the clock since Saturday clearing and salting streets.

Utility companies reported no unusual problems because of the weather.

Only light snow was reported in most northern Lower Michigan areas and in the Upper Peninsula. Highways north of Houghton Lake area generally were reported clear.

Youth Is Held in Kidnaping of Youngsters

A 20-year-old youth has been arrested in the kidnaping and beating Saturday of an 8-year-old Berkley boy and his 6-year-old sister.

Apprehended by Southfield police at 11:45 a.m. Saturday was Byron Lee Hoffmeister of 2327 Bacon, Berkley. He is in custody of the Berkley police.

The youngsters were treated and released from Providence Hospital, Southfield, Saturday afternoon.

The boy reportedly was kidnaped while making the 10-block walk to pick up his sister after catechism class Saturday morning, said the boy's mother. The young man driving the car then picked up the boy's sister.

★ ★ ★

The boy was found by construction men at 11 Mile and Greenfield, Southfield, while his captor was beating him, the boy's mother said.

COVERED WITH SNOW

The girl was found by two Bloomfield Hills men about noon Saturday covered with snow walking alongside Green Road in West Bloomfield Township.

She said she had been choked, beaten and thrown from a green car by a young man with curly hair and wearing a blue jacket, said Harry White, 1200 Club, who was riding with his son, Jack, when they found the girl.

The girl was in the state of shock, and her face was covered with blood, according to Jack White. He reported that the girl had walked up about a 15-foot bank to the side of the road.

GM Truck Pact Vote Set

Ratification vote for the local contract has been set for next Monday at UAW Local 594 at General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

Balloting will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the local office, 525 S. East Blvd. Copies of the proposed agreement reached by union and company negotiators will be available and discussions held at shift meetings.

Second and third shifts meet at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday and day shifts at 5 p.m. Wednesday. Skilled workers' second and third shifts meet at 12:30 p.m. Thursday and day shifts at 5 p.m. the same day, according to union officials.

The national agreement setting wage patterns was approved by vote last month at the Truck and Coach Division.

Still without a proposed local agreement is Pontiac Motor Division. A union spokesman reported negotiations were continuing today and that no strike deadline had yet been announced.

Audubon Society Gets Maine Land

BATH, Maine (AP) — A Georgetown woman, who devoted much of her life to a study of nature, left 400 acres of land to the Maine Audubon Society, according to a will filed in Sagadahoc County Probate Court.

Mrs. Josephine H. Newman, amateur naturalist who died Jan. 1 at the age of 89, directed the society to use the wooded property "for the study of birds and other wildlife and four other general ornithological, botanical and natural history purposes."

Area Airman Is Killed in State Crash

A 20-year-old Waterford Township airman was killed Saturday night when the car he was driving collided head-on with another auto in Iosco County.

Oscoda Township police said John M. Koskela, 3766 Lotus, who is stationed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, apparently lost control of the car he was driving and crossed the center line on U. S. 23.

His small foreign car collided with a car driven by Debra George, 16, of Harrisville, according to police. Miss George was unhurt, but two other 16-year-old girls in the car were slightly injured.

Milford Twp. Man Named COG Head

Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair. From these counties representatives have been chosen from cities, villages, county boards and school districts.

The COG organization will replace activities of the Detroit Regional Planning Commission and the Supervisors Inter-County Committee. Both of these groups are now defunct.

★ ★ ★

R. J. Alexander, Oakland County director of Public Works, was chairman of the Regional Planning Commission. In his talk on the new functions of COG he said, "In 1947 when the planning commission began to function, there was skepticism and distruct that a super-agency had been created to dictate and direct from towers of ivory the affairs of the region.

"Time has proved the skeptics to be wrong," he said.

COOPERATION

Alexander vowed that COG would work closely with all local governments in its planning functions.

Both Mainland and Alexander extended invitations to all the units of government that had not yet joined COG to do so for their own benefit as well as to help the new agency to be more effective.

Actions taken by the general assembly were mostly confined to adopting minutes and a discussion of the bylaws.

★ ★ ★

Much of the activity will be carried on by a 35-main executive committee, subject to approval by the assembly. The executive committee will meet regularly. However, the general assembly will meet whenever called by Chairman Mainland, probably in about two months, he indicated.

REPRESENTED GROUPS

On the assembly from Oakland County are four men from the board of supervisors. Other groups represented are:

- Cities and Villages: Berkley, Beverly Hills, Birmingham, Clawson, Farmington, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Keego Harbor, Lathrup Village, Madison Heights, Milford, Oak Park, Ortonville, Pleasant Ridge, Quakertown, South Lyon, Walled Lake and Wixom.

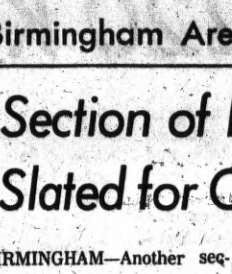

★ ★ ★

- School Districts: Oakland Intermediate, Berkley, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Ferndale, Oak Park, Royal Oak, Farmington and Hazel Park.
- Townships: Bloomfield, Brandon, Commerce, Farmington, Milford, Royal Oak and West Bloomfield.

County Gives Avon Assurance of Road Repairs

AVON TOWNSHIP — Assurance that work will be done to improve two miles of Dequindre Road where Detroit water lines were installed has been received by the Township Board.

Supervisor Cyril Miller said he had received assurance from the County Road Commission that action in cooperation with the Detroit Water Board would be taken.

Paving, which was removed for water line installation, will be replaced by Detroit, Miller said, but the main problem now concerns getting the potholes out of the road.

The road commission also informed the board that it agrees that the access road to the proposed M59 expressway extension near Rochester Road should follow Shortridge Road rather than Nawakwa, which the state had first proposed.

★ ★ ★

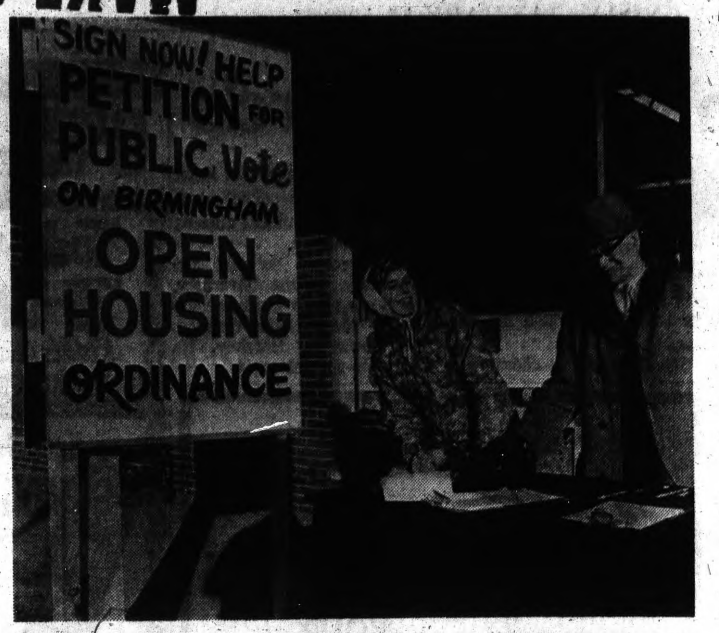

Extension of Shortridge will mean a solution to fire lane problems. The township in previous years had attempted to extend the street from Rochester Road through to Livernois, but the project was blocked by former residents, Miller said.

REZONING

The board approved rezoning of a lot on the west side of Rochester Road south of South Hill bridge for purposes of constructing a gas station. Clark Oil and Refining Co. of Royal Oak was the applicant.

A petition from some 40 of the 70 lot-owners in Avon Heights Subdivision off Avon Road asking for exclusion from the township's Phase I water and sewer program was tabled for study.

"We are 80 percent complete with engineering for this project," said Miller, "and it may be too late to exclude them."

The group plans to force a public referendum on the city's fair housing ordinance, passed in November.

Operation, Maintenance of Wixom Sewers Settled

WIXOM — The operation and maintenance of the citywide sanitary sewer system is settled.

While the city owns the system, Oakland County Department of Public Works will operate it for $9.50 per unit per quarter-year.

The number of units depends on how many residents hook into the system, said a city spokesman. This figure won't be known for 18 months when the construction will have been completed and residents will have hooked into the system.

Police Chief D'Arcy E. Young is checking into costs of hiring a police dispatcher for nights and weekends when the county sheriff's department usually handles calls.

★ ★ ★

REFERS PETITION

The council referred to the planning commission a petition from nine people requesting annexation of about 620 acres into the city.

The vacant area is to the north of the city, north of I-96 and east of Old Plank Road in Lyon Township.

The mayor is meeting with the city engineer to finalize the master plans for the city storm drain and water system. These have been presented to the council.

The council has accepted the resignations of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Preston, from the planning commission and board of canvassers respectively.

Preston, vice chairman of the commission, and his family are moving from their 2550 Loon Lake Road home to Walled Lake.

The council has also rezoned 49130 Pontiac Trail from single family residential to office. John Ryding is establishing a real estate office on the premises.

The approval came after a public hearing.

2 Fires Kill Man, Destroy Oxford Twp. Mobile Home

Separate fires in communities north of Pontiac Saturday evening claimed the life of a 46-year-old Orion Township man and completely destroyed a mobile home in Oxford Township.

Arthur L. Berg, 805 Merritt, was believed overcome by smoke within six feet of safety. An autopsy was performed yesterday by Oakland County Health Department.

Orion Township firemen, called to the scene at 10:35 p.m., confined fire damage to the front section of the home.

The blaze was believed to have started in a living room daybed while Berg slept in a rear bedroom. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

Berg was apparently awakened and was within six feet of the front door before being overcome, firemen said. He was a mechanic who lived alone at the Merritt street address, according to reports.

Oxford Fire Department assisted the Orion Township Department.

Oxford had just returned from a fire in Mobile Manor on Lakeville Road where the trailer owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Oxsher was totally destroyed.

Total damage was estimated at $6,000. Mr. and Mrs. Oxsher were both at work at 8 p.m. when the blaze erupted, according to Oxford Fire Chief Claude Rogers.

Mrs. Oxsher returned while the blaze was at its height, Rogers said, and required medication for hysteria. She was restrained from entering the trailer to save a picture of her son, now serving in Vietnam, the fire chief reported.

Troy Planners OK Two Subdivisions

TROY — The city planning commission has given preliminary approval to plans for two proposed subdivisions.

Windmill Pointe subdivision, to include 289 lots on a 101-acre parcel west of Dequindre and south of Long Lake Road, and Red Fox Trail, a proposed division of 9.6 acres into 19 lots east of Beech and north of Wattles, received approval.

A third subdivision, Eva Haus No. 2, was given final plat approval by the commission. The proposed plan calls for 140 lots on 40 acres south of Big Beaver and east of John R. It is an extension of a present subdivision in the area.

The commission also recommended favorable action by the city commission on a rezoning request from Pegasus Laboratories, Inc., asking a change from residential-single family to industrial for 26 acres east of John R. between Maple and Big Beaver.

Only 3 Die on State Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hazardous snow-covered roads apparently made Michigan motorists more cautious over the weekend as State Police reported only three deaths on the state's highways.

The unusually low number was one less than last weekend when four fatalities were recorded.

The Associated Press weekend traffic death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight yesterday.

The victims:

Bruno Milani, 33, of Windsor, Ont., a passenger in a car which spun out of control on the show-covered southbound Lodge Expressway in Detroit yesterday and hit an overpass abutment.

Special Education Program in Novi District Is Likely

NOVI — The prospects for a special education program to be conducted by Novi Schools look good.

The board of education recently received tentative approval from Oakland Intermediate Schools to construct two rooms onto the Orchard Hills Elementary School.

These rooms, to be open for 30 pupils in the fall of 1969, will be partly paid for by the Oakland Schools.

For the 1968-69 school year, the district will conduct a class for 15 pupils in an existing room at the Novi Elementary School.

Novi schools have been sending their special education pupils to facilities in South Lyon, Walled Lake and Farmington. The Novi faculty may serve other districts also, said Schools Supt. Thomas Dale.

The board also received federal funds, making possible a summer course in remedial reading for the third year.

The sum of $11,141 comes through Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Novi Township Board Hires Surveyor to Plat 15-Acre Trailer Park

NOVI TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has hired a surveyor to plat the township trailer park, bringing it into accord with a state law.

The platting of the 15-acre park on the south shore of Walled Lake "should have been done years ago," said Township Supervisor Hadley Bachert.

He explained that the township was waiting for the installation of sanitary sewers which are now planned to be in by early 1970. The park is open from May to Labor Day.

The Board has also approved paying the two trustees $18 instead of the previous $10 for attendance at each board meeting.

Bachert noted that there has been no increase in trustee fees in the past six years.

Township trustees are Ralph Luckett and Charles Goers.

Board Will Answer Questions of Public

Why don't school districts lower millage rates when tax assessments go up?

This is one of the questions which is expected to come up before the Huron Valley Board of Education at a special session for the public tonight at 8:30 in the Milford High School cafeteria, 2380 S. Milford.

A progress report on the district's building projects is also planned, said Board President Arthur Burklund.

Names COG Delegates

ROMEO — The board of education has appointed one of its members, Arthur M. Smith, to serve as representative to Saturday's organizational meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (COG).

Another board member, Rex Matzinger, was named alternate delegate.

The board also voted to continue employing Eberle M. Smith Associates as architects and Jahr-Anderson, Inc., as planning consultants for the district.

Farming Award to Be Presented

The Soil and Water Conservation Farmer Award for 1967 will be presented at the annual Oakland County Soil Conservation District dinner at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. Benedict Church, Pontiac.

James Reid, chairman of the district board of directors will present the award.

An election to name two county directors will be conducted. The terms of James Reid, 5400 Cedar Island, White Lake Township, and Keith Middleton, 2120 Stoney Creek, Oakland Township, have expired. Middleton is not seeking reelection; Reid is.

Others nominated are Henry Axford, 390 Gunn, Oakland Township; Dr. O. J. Fusilier, 8970 Dixie, Springfield Township, and Russell Many, 1215 Stoney Creek, Oakland Township. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

Tickets for the dinner can be obtained from the Soil Conservation District Office, 35 E. Huron, Pontiac.

School Building Plans Near OK

LAKE ORION — Acceptance of final architectural plans for additions to the senior and junior high and Weber Elementary schools, plus construction of a new elementary school, is expected here in two weeks.

The board of education has gone over the preliminary plans and a further meeting was held Friday to make final changes.

The board anticipates a bond issue will be required to finance the building program, but until architectural plans are finalized there is no indication of the amount which will be needed, according to Schools Supt. Lewis F. Mundy.

State approval will also be needed, he noted, to hold an election.

★ ★ ★

A meeting was set for today with Fred Snow, president of the Lake Orion Education Association, for the purpose of discussing procedures for this year's bargaining negotiations with teachers.

The administration was directed to meet with representatives of the Orion Area Guidance Committee to explore the possibility of expanding the district's counseling program.

Farmington Township Hires Firm for 2-Story Addition to Building

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has hired a firm to build an addition to the Township Administration Building which will be done late this year.

The contract was awarded to Pinkert Construction Co. of Birmingham for $383,900.

The two-story addition will be east of the present building at 31555 11 Mile. It will house the administrative offices while the police department will take over the existing building.

The board has reappointed to the Township Planning Commission David Stader, 30262 Pipers Lane, and P. H. Gardhouse, 25251 Brookview. Their terms are for three years.

The board has also made an agreement with the city and county settling the payment of sewer and water system construction for the 457 acres annexed from the township into the city in November, 1966.

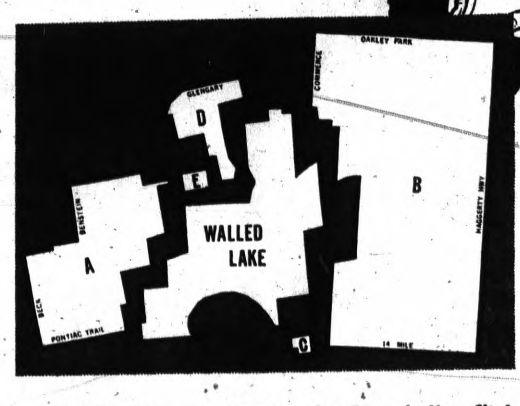

The Tarabusi sewer arm and the water system had been installed prior to the annexation election.

It Seems to Me . . .

Proposed School Expenditure Necessitates Millage Increase

Our Pontiac School District's Financial Study Council earnestly recommends a major move in the current educational problem.

It proposes a $23 million expenditure necessitating a 6.25 millage increase. Voters will probably face this around the middle of March.

★ ★ ★

The millage covers a program which the committee feels is absolutely essential. Education clear across the Nation is expanding on a scale never known before. Pontiac faces this along with the rest.

The requests for new buildings, new alignments and new wage adjustments transcend anything the Nation has ever witnessed. But it appears to be a prime necessity. It's difficult to look growing children squarely in the eye and shake off a program for their intellectual advancement and salvation. They rarely arise and ask for these things themselves. They're either the happy recipients—or the unhappy victims.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac PRESS is well aware of the demands on taxpayers everywhere. The PRESS pays every time along with the rest. That's an inescapable part of the current economy.

Inflation and advancing costs strike the school systems as squarely as they do everything else. Nothing seems to be immune. Hence, they must be faced.

★ ★ ★

The school problem has been studied conscientiously and in detail by the committee of 123 serious, hardheaded citizens. Their recommendations represent thoughtful study, time and effort with the needs of education balanced against the costs.

Their verdict declares the steps outlined in their recommendations in Wednesday's Pontiac PRESS are absolutely indispensable. Otherwise we are threatening the security of normal school procedures in our own area.

Acceptance seems imperative.

★ ★ ★

We would gain a new high school complex on the State Hospital grounds which would accommodate 4,500 students. The current Central High would be remodeled to house the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's current school millage is the lowest of the 28 districts in Oakland County—truly a remarkable record. Considerable satisfaction can be derived from this as we all face the necessity of pulling our own children along abreast of the overall national picture.

The right to learn stands unquestioned.

Duties on Automobiles . . . .

Our Voice of The People carried a letter protesting against the duties exacted on automobiles here and abroad.

The point is very sound.

We're playing Uncle Sap.

★ ★ ★

When an American automobile crosses the sacred borders of the British Empire, France, Germany, Italy et al, that car is promptly taxed around 25%. This augments the income of the country itself and it makes the price on the American car almost prohibitive.

★ ★ ★

When the cars of these selfsame nations enter the United States we bow low, curtsy and apologetically exact a modest six or seven per cent duty.

What idle mockery!

When will we awaken?

★ ★ ★

The foreign products are produced by workers whose wages are only a small part of the rates paid here. Our men face an unjust penalty. If the foreign car countries assess us around 25%, we should do exactly the same. Pontiac has a direct stake in this. Foreign cars sold in this country may take a direct sale from Pontiac. This costs local citizens employment. Let's all play this international game with the same rules.

Senators Hart and Griffin: attention.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Governor GEORGE ROMNEY has no more staunch or loyal supporter than Governor ROCKEFELLER. The New Yorker has stood by him through thick and thin. . . . . The average hockey player who has a normal length of service loses 18 teeth. . . . . Is there any hour-long TV variety program that's as dismal as the Jerry Lewis Show? . . . . . TWA is the first airline to heed the popular demand and add Playboy to its regular list of magazines. . . . . Rumors — just rumors — say the New York Jets will be sold and VINCE LOMBARDI will be the new coach and will own a chunk of the club.

Trusted scouts advise me Marilyn Follis deserves rating as one of the attractive young ladies in the area. . . . . Edgar Bergen, the original big-time ventriloquist, is now badly outdistanced by more than a dozen imitators. He's still the dean of the group but his lips move so badly they cut him out of the picture four-fifths of the time when the dummy is talking. . . . . Why does Barbara Hale steadily draw such top billings on the Perry Mason Shows when she never has anything to do?

Essentially far-out "musicians" can't understand why LAWRENCE WELK and GUY LOMBARDO draw big attention year after year after year. The answer's pretty simple: they play the melodic music that most people honestly prefer. . . . . Overheard: "A specialist is a doctor with a smaller practice but a bigger yacht." . . . . And this suggests a move current in the Congress for an investigation of doctors' current charges and hospital bills. . . . . The Headless Horseman

David Lawrence Says:

'State of Union' Is Boon to LBJ

WASHINGTON — The 1968 presidential campaign begins for all practical purposes Wednesday night when President Johnson delivers simultaneously to a nationwide television - radio audience and a joint session of both Houses of Congress his address on the State of the Union.

LAWRENCE

What a big advantage a President enjoys as he assembles such a mass of people on three networks, while no other prospective nominee of the Democratic or Republican party is given before the same audience an opportunity immediately to analyze what has been said and point out alternatives!

Today there are more television sets than at any time in American history, and it is logical to assume that first impressions are often lasting and that an image of strength or weakness can be given which will affect the voters.

Many citizens, of course, who are displeased with existing policies will turn off their sets and refuse to listen. Another segment will watch for awhile and grow weary of high-sounding phrases, since many persons are unfamiliar anyhow with the significance of some of the statements being made. But a huge number will be impressed just because a President of the United States has spoken.

★ ★ ★

The chances are that Mr. Johnson will gain rather than lose votes by his television address largely because the "other side" will not be presented.

HOUR-LONG PROGRAM

It is true that the Columbia Broadcasting System has scheduled an hour-long Republican view of the state of the union on Jan. 23, and the National Broadcasting Co. has allocated a half-hour broadcast on Jan. 26.

These are, however, six to nine days after the President's speech. By that time the listeners of this Wednesday night may remember little of what was said by Mr. Johnson.

Indeed, the audience mobilized by the opposition will be much smaller.

If, of course, the Republicans could in some manner persuade former Vice President Nixon, Gov. Romney of Michigan and Gov. Rockefeller of New York to appear on the television together and analyze the President's speech on the same night or the next night, the audience would be large and the public would get closer to an understanding of both sides.

Bob Considine Says:

Publicity Could Drive Hughes More Into Shell

LAS VEGAS — The national publications threaten to drive Howard Hughes deeper underground. Look and Newsweek have a go at him in their current issues.

CONSIDINE

There are a couple of new books freshly minted, professing to tell the "real" story of the man. None of the authors ever spoke to Hughes. It is not likely that any of them ever saw him.

Hughes' passion for privacy seems to be a personal affront, like Lindbergh's was. There was a period when Jacqueline Kennedy found herself in that fix, too.

CHAMPION DODGER

Of course, Hughes is the champion artful dodger of them all, with the possible exception of the Loch Ness Monster and the Abominable Snowman.

There hasn't been a picture taken of him since 1956. Some old friends who have reason to believe he is still quite fond of them, haven't seen him for five or 10 years.

One writer with whom he used to double-date, in the more adventurous days, reached him by mail some time ago to ask for an interview which would eventually be a magazine piece. Hughes wrote him a kindly rejection, and enclosed a check for $5,000.

Since there is no way to check on stories about the legendary billionaire, researchers and other Hughes-watchers must fall back on what is visible of this human iceberg, and what they hear from backstairs gossipers.

What is visible — of recent vintage — is his surprising (albeit enormously profitable) investments in various gambling halls along The Strip.

What is less visible but of enormously more importance is what the Hughes company has done in space, communications, military hardware of a most sophisticated nature, and aeronautics.

Men assuredly can go to the moon and blast off its surface for the return trip in safety, thanks to the Hughes company's Surveyors.

Hughes' satellites, positioned 22,300 miles out in space, and orbiting the earth at the same speed that the earth itself is turning, have moved us 3/10th's of a second away from Europe and Asia—by voice, military codes, and television pictures.

His drive, dough and dogged determination to do something for his country have combined to help keep us ahead of the Russians in vital fields.

But the most recent curiosity about the man seems to center around the measurements of one of his screen discoveries, Jane Russell, and what meat this eccentric Caesar doth feed upon.

Hughes has his own way of conducting his many-headed business. It doesn't conform to the methods of other giant industrial or business enterprises. But it happens to work.

Voice of the People:

Taxpayers Seek Revenge in Voting on School Tax

Unfortunately, the only opportunity that voters have in casting their ballots directly against increased taxation is in the school millage election. Voters stand helplessly watching their legislative bodies institute new programs of taxes at federal, state and municipal levels and then eagerly seek their revenge by voting down a school millage election that has the misfortune to come along at the wrong time.

★ ★ ★

Dollar for dollar, taxes spent in most school districts represent a wiser and more efficient use of public finances than either the Federal or the State government can claim. Voters are "revolting" in the wrong place.

★ ★ ★

What this means to a school district such as Pontiac, which has not had a bond referendum since 1929 or an additional millage election since 1960, but faces both on the ballot late this winter, is the likelihood of losing both. Such a loss would be an unfair indictment of board members and administrators who have judiciously practiced a "pay as you go" policy for many years within the school district. Schools in Michigan are doomed to future financial crises unless an archaic system of millage funding is replaced by a more equitable and broader base for supporting public education.

'Stores Should Still Stock Winter Clothes'

Most mothers at this time have some kind of winter shopping left to do. But where in any of our local stores can you find such things as gloves, winter scarves, snowsuits or any winter apparel you might need? It is ridiculous to see spring clothes in our stores when most people are still going to buy winter clothes. Many would not buy spring clothes now, so why do merchants continue to put spring clothes on the market in January?

Question and Answer

Why are sides of the median on the highway painted orange instead of a color that would show up more? Why not white like the line between lanes? Why don't they paint the white strip at the edges of the pavement on all roads?

FREQUENT DRIVER

REPLY

Mr. Schultz of the County Road Commission says the State specifies the colors, and they comply. They don't have the money to paint the white strip on all roads, but do it in high accident areas or bad locations such as curves. Mr. Bradford of the State Highway Department says reflection of both yellow (not orange) and white paint should be equal because they use reflecting beads with both. Yellow is used for median curbs because it is a nationally recognized barrier color, while white is used and recognized as a color to show alignment and channelization. The State uses the white outside line on all trunklines less than 22 feet wide and anywhere else it's necessary to show alignment. Shortage of money is also their reason for not using it on all roads.

Cure . . .

(Insider's Newsletter)

European experts, who don't believe for a minute that the international gold fever has subsided for good, are advancing a cure that they say will ease pressure on the dollar without causing financial chaos and a sharp political defeat for the U.S.

★ ★ ★

This plan is being discussed quietly among European central bankers: to increase the price of gold by a dollar an ounce each year for the next decade — until it reaches $45 an ounce. This would make the annual increase less than 3 per cent — not enough to make gold an attractive speculation or to upset the present dollar-pound reserve currency system, and not enough to provide a windfall for gold-producing South Africa and Russia or gold-hoarding France.

★ ★ ★

Advocates of the plan say it would increase the value of international reserves by more than $1 billion a year, helping to prime the pump of world trade. They add that it would also prolong the economic life of the South African gold fields, insuring against a premature drop in gold output before the time arrives for a changeover to a managed international paper currency.

Welcome Pledge

Pittsburgh Post Gazette

In a period of inflation, with the costs of living rising steadily, Pennsylvanians should welcome Gov. Shafer's pledge of no additional taxes in 1968.

They have just gone up at the state and local levels and an increase in the federal income tax this year seems likely. A respite at the state level is very much in order.

In fact, we admire in general the governor's strong plea for greater fiscal responsibility.

He should hold rigidly to his threat to veto any appropriation bill unless it is accompanied by a tax measure to pay for it. And we hope he will get good results from a state commission to help establish spending priorities for the next five years.

★ ★ ★

While diplomacy may have dictated restraint, the governor's message to the General Assembly suggested that he shares the public's disenchantment with that august body. He agrees that it stays in session too long and wastes too much time.

The governor proposed, therefore, that a specific time limit be set for each annual session. This is an excellent proposal which we support heartily. Six months should be the outer limit for a session; New York does its job in three.

While the constitutional convention now meeting in Harrisburg is not empowered, as we understand the convention's call, to deal with this issue, it could be dealt with thru separate legislation and we hope the administration will submit it promptly.

★ ★ ★

Instead of dealing expeditiously with the state's problems, the legislature has become a problem in itself. Like the poor, it is always with us. Too much with us, in fact. It should be put to work on a more businesslike basis so that we would have to endure it for only part of the year. Gov. Shafer could make year-round politicking in Harrisburg less appealing by vetoing the latest pension grab and we urge him to do it.

The Divorced Man---His Mistake Is Never Forgiven

AP Wirephoto

While many marriages may linger for years because of children, the final breakup imposes strict requirements on the husband. Visiting hours and responsibilities of both parties in relation to the child are carefully spelled out. Often the child becomes the center of the divorced couple's sole remaining contact. The situation is hard on everyone.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Divorce can be a terrible ordeal for all involved — the husband, the wife and any children of the marriage. But it's the divorced man who pays alimony and perhaps child support. And it's the man who may wind up in alimony jail for nonsupport. What is life like for the formerly-married man, who probably pays dearest for the marital mistake? This is the first of four articles).

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK — When Groucho Marx visited his 13-year-old daughter's ballet class the teacher asked, "Aren't the girl's beautiful?"

He agreed, but added ruefully, "To think that in another 10 to 15 years or so 75 per cent of them will be collecting alimony."

★ ★ ★

The plight of the divorced man is a source of material for the comedian, but it is not a laughing matter. Certainly not to men imprisoned in Manhattan's so-called alimony jail for nonsupport.

Nor to their second families who, induced by the Committee for Fair Divorce and Alimony Laws, occasionally picket to protest the predicament of men trapped in the financial morass of their marital mistakes.

★ ★ ★

When the divorced woman weeps, the world chivalrously weeps with her, though her future, if she is young, is not nearly so bleak nowadays.

Few divorced men cry. Like thrice-married Groucho, they make bitter jokes.

Society seldom sympathizes with men who it presumes have the strength and resources to start over again.

In the United States each year the domestic reins of some half million men are severed. A goodly number rush back into harness after briefly roaming wild among the fillies, and a few wander bewildered and lonely through the rest of their years.

"Adjusting to a divorce is a lot worse than adjusting to the death of a wife," commented a 57-year-old Westchester County tax accountant who has experienced both.

"Death forces you to accept the finality of the situation, however terrible it is. With divorce the past is never quite dead. Children, support payments, mutual acquaintances and chance encounters are the strings that pull at you and hurt."

★ ★ ★

The widower may have many similar emotions — despair, loneliness, frustration over one-parent relationships, helplessness with solitary household tasks, and an adolescent awkwardness, though possibly bald and paunchy, in courtships again.

Still the widower is not dogged by the guilt of having failed as is the divorced man. In even the most sophisticated communities, there remains the unwritten demand that somebody in monogamous society bear the built and the punishment for a broken marriage.

★ ★ ★

Counselors agree that both parties must share the blame for a marriage failure. Yet legal statistics show that in the vast majority of divorce cases it is the husband who is on record as the bounder.

Now and then some husband will battle bitterly to the court room doors. But then he is usually convinced, by his own or his wife's lawyer, to act like a gentleman and throw in the towel and not to forget the bench's usual proclivity on behalf of the wife. At least he can save himself the court costs that way.

Problems Aren't the Same

Should Wives Copy Mistresses?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently returned from a week-end at a well-known resort where we met another couple. (I'll call them Freddy and Alice.) They posed as husband and wife, but we know for a fact that she is his mistress, not his wife. (Someone at the resort knows Freddy's wife.)

ABBY

What people do is their own business, but I learned a lesson. I think I know why men enjoy mistresses so much. Alice was always well-groomed and beautifully attired. Her figure was trim and she always had a smile on her face. Never once did she interrupt Freddy or disagree with him.

★ ★ ★

She gave him all her attention, laughed at his jokes, and her company was consistently gay, pleasant and charming. I can assure you Freddy had the time of his life. Please print this. If more wives acted like Alice there would be fewer mistresses.

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: I don't know what Freddy's wife is like, but maybe she could top Alice if all she had to worry about was how she looked, and how to be charming for a few hours (or days) at at time. I wonder how Alice would hold up with a steady routine of battling bottles, babies and budgets. And possibly knowing that her husband was week-ending with somebody else?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Like most people who read your column, it had never occurred to me to write. That is, until I read that letter in your column for the young wife whose husband constantly corrected their two small sons (ages two and a half and five) at the dinner table until they left in tears.

I have a message for that father: As an engineer by profession, I am inclined to perfectionism and intolerance of the faults of others.

Fortunately, I am more tolerant today than I was when I was raising our first son. Looking back, I am and shall forever be deeply ashamed of the way I hounded and belittled our son until his self-confidence and initiative were destroyed.

This boy, of superior intelligence, became a high school drop-out, incorrigible, and a runaway. Now 21, he has no direction, a questionable future and has tried everything from liquor to LSD. Except for an occasional letter or phone call every three months, we never know where he is.

★ ★ ★

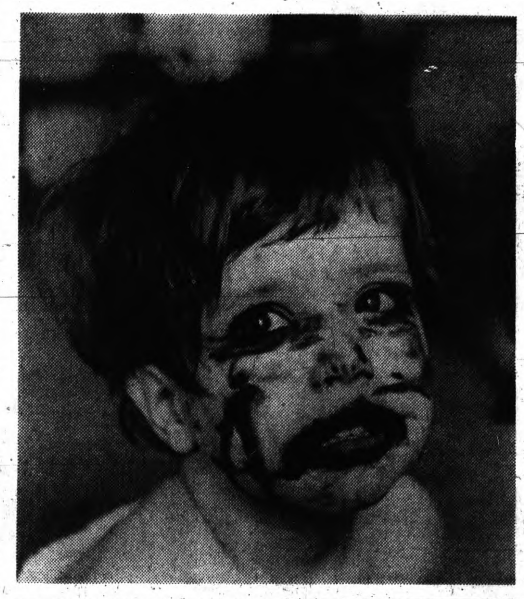

We have five younger children who are fine because by that I had learned a little. However, that doesn't diminish the sin of my intolerance.

So please, Abby, tell this young father to give his small sons patience and affection before it's too late.

Ammo Scare Is Over for N.C. Families

CHADBOURN, N.C. (AP) — Evacuated families began moving back into their homes at Chadbourn today following the removal of 12 derailed freight cars loaded with live ammunition.

Some 1,500 residents were removed shortly after the Saturday mishap, the cause of which has not been determined. Munitions experts were rushed to the scene from Ft. Bragg, and said there was no immediate danger of an explosion.

★ ★ ★

The cars were loaded with 750-pound bombs, 3.55-inch rockets, 105mm howitzer shells and mortar shells, bound for the Sunny Point, N.C., depot and transshipment to Vietnam.

NEAR STARTING POINT

In Rockmart, Ga., Sunday about 40 persons escaped injury when a Southern Railway Passenger train derailed in the snowbound hill country of northwestern Georgia.

The train, headed for Cincinnati, Ohio, was only about 50 miles from its starting point in Atlanta.

The Georgia State Patrol said all the cars left the track but remained upright. Southern Railway ordered ambulances to the scene, but they were turned back when the train's engineer radioed that the passengers were shaken but unhurt.

NEW GM CENTER — The steel work for the new Pontiac Motor Division central administration building rises against the Pontiac sky. At Joslyn and Kennett, the building will have 300,000 square feet of floor space for 1,200 employes.

GM Building Is Progressing

The steel structure has been completed and flooring and roof deck installation begun at the site of the new Pontiac Motor Division administration building at Joslyn and Kennett.

To be completed late in 1969, the 300,000-square-foot structure will accommodate 1,200 employes working in the division's main administrative office, accounting and data processing, sales, public relations and purchasing and production control departments.

Elements of design will include vertical piers at intervals of 10 feet made of white granite separated by panels of grey glass and opaque sections. The entire building will rest on a landscaped podium, raising it to a position of dominance over the surroundings.

The building will replace the present office building near downtown Pontiac which was constructed in 1920 by the Oakland Motor Car Co.

In the next step of construction starting in April the exterior walls will start going up.

Landon Asks More Red Trade

U.S. Policy of Containment Hit

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — The American policy of "containment of communism" was called outmoded today by Alf M. Landon, former governor of Kansas. In its stead, he urged "building bridges" with the Communist nations through trade expansion.

Landon, the 1936 Republican presidential nominee, made his remarks in an address prepared for a noon luncheon of the Rotary Club.

★ ★ ★

As of three months ago, Landon said, containment of communism became the third announced Vietnam policy of President Johnson in three years. The other two, he said, were economic and technical aid to help South Vietnamese to help themselves, as advocated by his two predecessors, and, after February 1965, the policies advocated by Sen. Barry Goldwater, including bombing of North Vietnam.

The containment policy was originaly proposed by President Harry Truman in 1947 Landon said, at which time he supported it.

'BLOC SPLIT'

"Then that policy was designed to contain a solid, monolithic Communist block. Today that block is utterly split-principally between China and the Soviet Union. Also, it is fragmented between many other conflicting governments.

"This split and fragmentation is growing all the time for two primary reasons. First, nationalism is transcending ideology throughout the world—including the Communist world. Therefore, national interests conflict with the Soviet attempts to rule and dominate the Communist world in terms of Soviet interests.

★ ★ ★

"Second . . . state capitalism is eroding state communism. Even within the Soviet Union and China, we witness the growing demand for freedom from the police state rulers."

Therefore, Landon said, "If there is a policy outmoded for America today, it is the purely negative containment policy."

CHANGES

"It is outmoded because it does not take into account the changes in the world the past 20 years. Nor does it take into account present incipient world changes in the next 20 years.

A settlement in Vietnam would still leave negative and outmoded containment as the basis of American foreign policy, he told the Rotarians.

★ ★ ★

"This is to say that—because containment cannot be situational — it has to be international in scope. It has to be equally responsive to Communist diversity anywhere in the world at the same time."

★ ★ ★

Landon said continued pursuit of containment would be tantamount to reversal of what appeared to be a new direction in President Johnson's foreign policy of building bridges with the Communist world.

"There are many restrictions on our trade with Communist countries which the President himself could eliminate. Where he does not have such authority, he could appeal to Congress to repeal legislation restricting trade."

STOPGAP

Referring to monetary matters, Landon said:

"Two weeks ago, President Johnson at last recognized the dangers inherent in the weak position of the dollar. But his New Year's Day proposal is a mere stopgap and unworkable, to boot—in terms of meeting the deliberately planned and sustained drive to destroy the dollar as the mooring post for measure of value in the world's monetary system.

★ ★ ★

"Paradoxically, much of our dollar outflow that we spend in Vietnam reaches France and gives de Gaulle more ammunition for his planned attack on the dollar. And, so the price of Vietnam misery spirals even higher.

Cancer Clue Seen in Blood

By Science Service

A possible new diagnostic tool against cancer has been discovered in the blood of victims. Unusual particles in the blood of patients with cancer of the lymph organs and bone marrow, researchers believe, may represent an alteration of the body's immune system.

On the basis of preliminary research, Dr. Alan Solomon of the University of Tennessee Memorial Research Center, Knoxville, says that if the odd particles prove specific for certain types of cancer, they may be useful in detecting and diagnosing the disease.

The protein particles, which Dr. Solomon first identified in the blood of a patient with lymphatic cancer, resemble antibodies that kill disease-causing germs and viruses.

Philadelphia Out of Running for 'Fun City' Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Now it's official: The City of Brotherly love is bowing out of its self-proclaimed race with New York City for the title of "Fun City, U.S.A."

New York's Mayor John Lindsay proclaimed the title for the metropolis, but Philadelphia's then-city representative, Abe Rosen, felt his home town just as swinging as New York.

Rosen tried everything from full-page newspaper ads to personal television appeal to project a fun-city image.

Now comes a new city representative, S. Harry Galfand, who took over the job Jan. 1 when Rosen moved on to head the city's Trade and Convention Bureau. Galfand says he thinks of Philadelphia as "a good family city."

"I'm not so sure it's bad to have that kind of reputation — being known for a great art museum and education center—rather than being thought of as a city of swingers," he says.

MUDDY MELEE

Your engine winds up, you feel the vehicle starting to slide and, just before the power must be reduced, the flag drops. Within seconds mud is flying from all directions to cover you, your passenger and your Swamp Buggy.

Swamp Buggy? What's a Swamp Buggy?

It's a monstrosity, vaguely resembling a car, built from junked autos, planes, trucks and whatever else is available. It can look like a praying mantis or a low-slung turtle, but it has one main objective: to power over, and through, the mud and ooze of the Everglades Swamp.

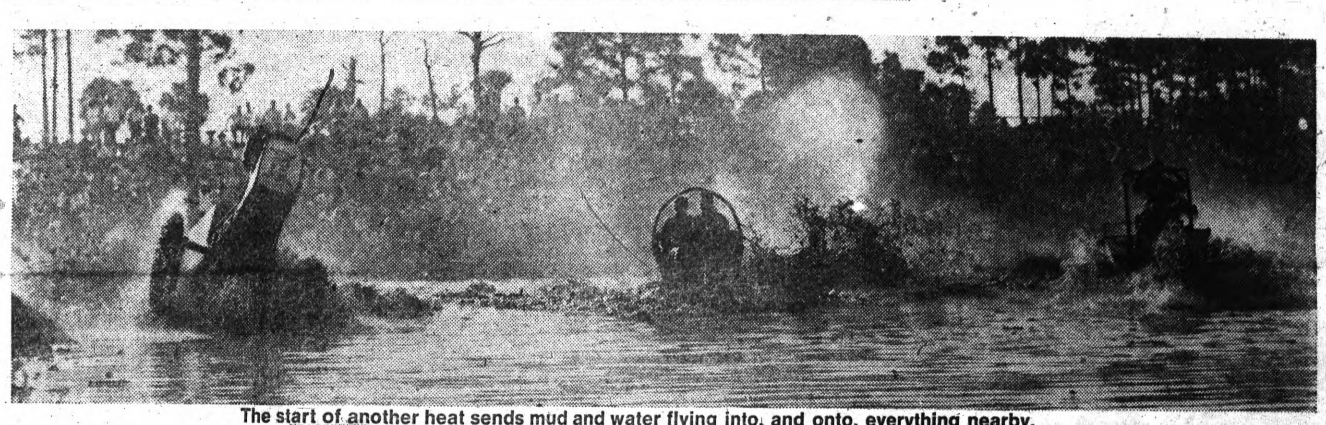

Down in Naples, Florida, what started out as a vehicle for hunters has now become a bi-annual event, October and February, which attracts some 8000 spectators to watch any number of contestants having fun as the culmination of the three-day "Swamp Buggy Days."

The course, a grueling "figure 8" winding through the treacherous cypress swamps, has not only waist-deep mud but also, in strategically-located places, potholes which drop some of the buggies almost out of sight. Competition is run in heats, based on power plants, type of drive, sex of driver and other classifications. To win takes strength, determination, a machine which stays together and plain old luck.

For the happy winner, there is a purse which, last year, went to $4,500. Also, there is the honor and pleasure of driving the Swamp Buggy Queen around the course in the victory lap. The final honor comes when both victor and Queen are unceremoniously lifted from their chariot and dumped into the ooze to close out the muddy melee.

One of the participants, with crew, works over his engine before the upcoming heat.

Daniel Phypers escorts Mrs. Fred Alander, Swamp Buggy Queen, through the ooze on their victory lap in his buggy Ridge Runner.

Resting in one of the potholes, a buggy crew mans the mud while the driver turns on the power.

The passenger crew mechanic checks the level of mud during their heat race.
