'Some Illness Likely After Moon Landing

By the Associated Press

The Apollo astronauts' physician thinks it is almost certain at least one man on the first moon landing mission will come home ill—maybe with some weird sickness of lunar origin.

"We have to face the fact that we've had postflight illness on every Apollo mission so far," says Dr. Charles Berry, medical director of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, Tex.

"Our problem will be to determine whether any illnesses that show up after Apollo 11 later this year are due to the stresses of space flight or to some microorganism picked up on the moon.

As Dr. Berry discussed the astronaut ailment hazards yesterday before the Aerospace Medical Association in San Francisco, Apollo 10 astronauts successfully tested a new camera system designed to provide, for the first time, dramatic color telecasts of their journey around the moon two weeks from now.

CAMERA WILL GO

Space project sources at Cape Kennedy said it was fairly certain the camera would be aboard when Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young blast off May 18 on an eight-day flight that includes 61½ hours circling the moon.

Sealed inside their moonship during a successful countdown rehearsal yesterday, the astronauts beamed clear color shots to the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex.

In lunar orbit, Stafford and Cernan are to climb into the Lunar Module, separate from the command ship piloted by Young and twice cruise to within nine miles of the surface without landing.

If successful, they will clear the way for Apollo 11 to bring off a moon landing July 20.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Berry said the disabilities noted so far in the Apollo program are a marked loss of exercise capacity for a time after return to earth, and motion sickness in flight. Both of these, he said, apparently are because of the human body's attempts to adapt to weightlessness in space and to readapt to earth's gravity later.

More surprising is the discovery that an atmosphere of 100 per cent oxygen damages red blood cells and that addition of nitrogen to the spacecraft atmosphere somehow alleviates this peril.

Youngstown Vote Ends School Crisis

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Public school officials rejoiced today over passage of a 12-mill tax increase that means classrooms will open on schedule next fall for 27,000 students.

The vote in yesterday's balloting was 27,244 to 20,459.

★ ★ ★

The first school levy increase here since 1963, it means the financial crisis which forced schools to close for five weeks last winter won't be repeated in September.

Six school tax proposals turned back since December 1966 brought education to a standstill here between Thanksgiving and last New Year's.

OPTIMISTIC NOW

School officials had said that, without the next tax, classes would not open next fall.

The total tax rate of 34.3 mills includes an earlier 7.3-mill levy that comes up for renewal in November, but officials are optimistic that voters will retain it.

★ ★ ★

"Since it is not an additional tax," said Zinser, "we hope it will be supported."

INDUSTRIAL CITY

Youngstown is an industrial city of 166,000 population with wide ethnic and labor differences.

The city school system currently is operating on a $15.5 million annual budget with $14.8 million in expected income, which may be reduced by year's end.

★ ★ ★

"We've lost $14 million in property valuation," Zinser noted, "to urban renewal, highway development and the Youngstown State University."

Zinser noted that the city's current 22.3 mill—$22.30 per $1,000 of assessed property value — school tax levy was the lowest among major Ohio cities.

★ ★ ★

Abe Harshman, school board president, said education costs still would be cut wherever possible "because 12 mills is not enough to do the job."

"But at least we can go back to recruiting teachers," said Hugh Slaugenhaupt, who took leave from a teaching job to work for the levy.

Slap at Navy on Pueblo Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pueblo crew has won its clearance from the secretary of the Navy, but the Navy itself is still waiting for a verdict from Congress on its role in the loss of the American spy ship.

A special House Armed Services subcommittee is writing a report on the Pueblo affair, based on several weeks of public and secret hearings. The report is expected to be published within two weeks.

Sources close to the subcommittee predict the Navy — as well as the Pentagon in general — will be scored for allegedly failing to anticipate North Korea's seizure of the intelligence-gathering ship, and for the slow response to the act.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., chairman of the subcommittee, told newsmen he thought the Navy's court of inquiry and Secretary of Navy John H. Chafee both acted properly in their own way — the court in its "strict interpretation of Navy regulations" and Chafee in tempering its recommendation with "a great deal of mercy."

BUCHER'S NEW POST

Meanwhile, the Navy today announced that Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, skipper of the Pueblo, has been assigned to the Naval Postgraduate School, which prepares officers for future senior posts in management.

Clear Skies, Cooler Seen for Thursday

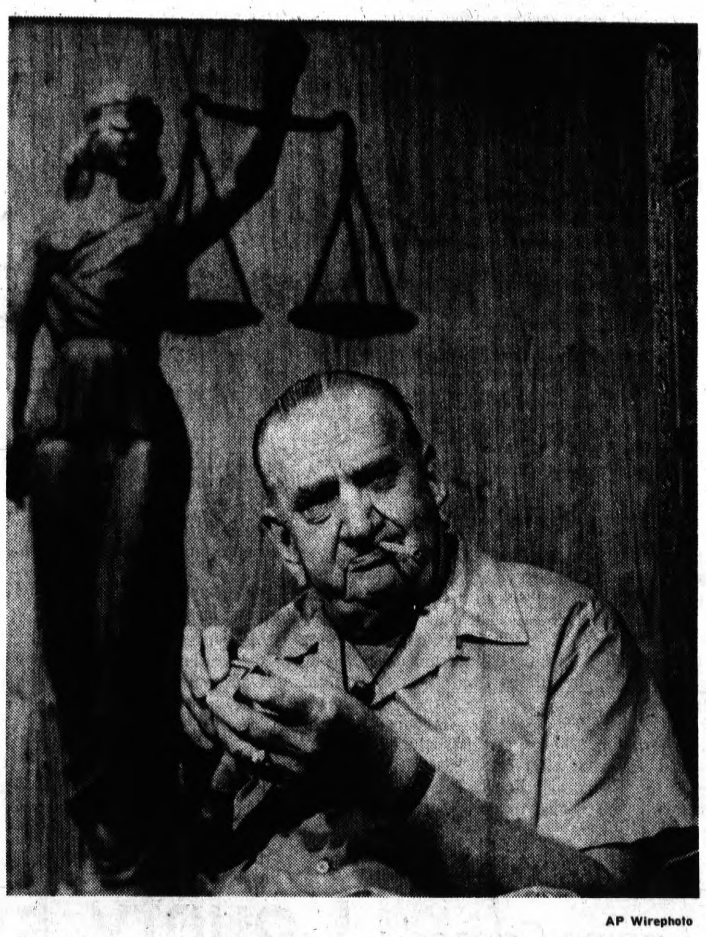

Scattered showers forecast for today are expected to leave the Pontiac area tonight.

Mostly fair and cooler is the weatherman's prediction for tomorrow, with the high reaching 67 to 73. The low tonight will be a mild 44 to 50.

There's a chance of light rain or showers and mild temperature Friday.

Probabilities of precipitation in per cent are 40 today, 20 tonight, and 10 tomorrow.

Forty-seven was today's low reading in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 79 by 2 p.m.

Viet Copter Crash Kills 34

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Army Chinook helicopter packed with South Vietnamese infantrymen crashed and burned yesterday, killing 34 of the men aboard and injuring the other 35, the U.S. Command announced today. It was the worst helicopter crash of the war.

A U.S. spokesman said the 50-foot CH47 helicopter, one of the workhorses of the war, developed mechanical trouble while carrying the South Vietnamese to an operational area 75 miles north of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Two of the three American crewmen were killed and the other was injured. The rest of the casualties were Vietnamese.

No other details were available, but the spokesman said the crash was being investigated.

2,598 CHOPPERS LOST

A total of 2,598 helicopters now have been reported lost in the war, with 79 of them destroyed since April 1. Of these, 52 have been shot down and the rest lost because of collisions, mechanical trouble or enemy shelling that caught them on the ground.

Although this was the worst helicopter crash of the war, the toll has been exceeded in several crashes of fixed-wing planes.

U.S. spokesmen say they can give no particular reason for the recent large losses of helicopters, but they cite the "enormity of the operation." They say more than 3,000 U.S. helicopters now are operating in Vietnam. And that during a normal week they average more than 30 flights each, transport more than 150,000 troops and haul more than 30 million pounds of cargo.

Only light, scattered fighting was reported as the North Vietnamese observed the 15th anniversary of their victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu.

McGovern Says Nixon War on Hunger Lacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top Nixon administration officials testified today before the special Senate hunger committee in support of the President's proposals to expand federal food programs but immediately ran into criticisms that the recommendations are inadequate.

President Nixon, under pressure from both Democrats and Republicans in Congress, announced Tuesday that $270 million would be added to the food stamp program in the year starting July 1 and that additional sums bringing the increase to $1 billion would be added the following year.

★ ★ ★

But Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., the committee chairman, said that "As significant as the President's program is, it fails, in my judgment, to provide a commitment for enough funds this fiscal year and the next fiscal year, and in future year to, as the President says, 'put an end to hunger in America itself for all time.'

"Two hundred and seventy million dollars in fiscal year 1970 is not enough," McGovern said, adding, "A billion dollars in the years after that is probably less than a third of what is needed."

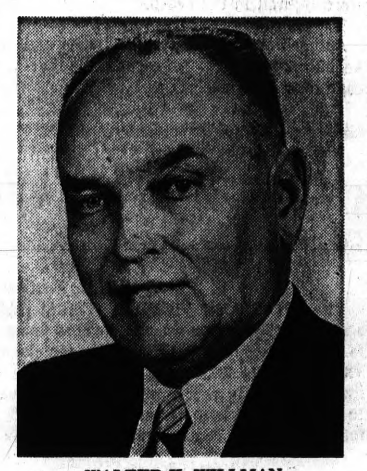

VOWS TO FIGHT

The South Dakota Democrat vowed to fight "to increase the resources which I believe must be devoted to this problem.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin called the program, which would provide free food stamps for families with incomes under $30 a month, "the largest, most comprehensive effort to eliminate poverty-caused hunger and malnutrition ever proposed by any administration."

He said families would receive enough stamps for a monthly food expenditure of $100 a month, an increase of 65 per cent, and said the stamp program or the direct food distribution program would be expanded into every county in the nation.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch testified the administration is united in support of the expanded food programs but said the long-range solution to hunger and poverty depends on comprehensive welfare reform that emphasizes putting cash into the pockets of the poor.

Ex-Road Aide Faces Trial

A former Oakland County weighmaster this morning was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court to stand trial on charges of embezzling funds while employed with the road commission.

Tom Kennedy, arrested a year ago this month, waived any further preliminary hearing on the charges when he appeared today before District Judge Kenneth H. Hempstead.

★ ★ ★

The waiver was announced by Kennedy's attorney, Robert K. Anderson, and was a surprise to the court since it had set aside two days to complete the proceedings. Anderson is a partner with attorney James Lawson who has represented Kennedy in previous hearings.

Kennedy, 50, of 2908 Voorheis, Waterford Township, was arrested and charged with the embezzlements following an extensive investigation by State Police.

SURETY BOND FUNDS

The charges against Kennedy stem from accusations that he kept funds that truckers had given him in lieu of surety bonds.

The bonds insure truckers against damage that they might cause to county roads.

The three separate offenses allegedly occurred Oct. 22, 1964, March 1, 1966, and May 31, 1967, and involved sums of $400, $600 and $250, respectively.

The hearing today was to have been a resumption of the first case which began last July, but which had been adjourned on numerous occasions because of the unavailability of attorneys and later the changeover in Michigan's court system from justices to District judges.

Kennedy resigned his weighmaster post in October 1967, shortly after being confronted with reports about irregularities in his department. He had been with the road commission for 15 years.

Kennedy is a former pro football player with the Detroit Lions and a long-time area high school coach.

City Manager in 1950-61 Dies

Walter K. Willman, Pontiac's city manager from 1950 to 1961, died yesterday. He was 72.

Service will be 2 p.m. Friday at All Saints Episcopal Church with burial in Ottawa Park Cemetery by the Sparks Griffin Funeral Home.

He is survived by his wife, Florence M.

Willman of 506 W. Iroquois retired as city manager in 1961, ending more than 37 years in public service.

HIGHLIGHT OF CAREER

The highlight of his career came in October 1959 when he was elected president of the International City Managers Association.

He began his municipal career when he became city manager of Mount Pleasant in 1924.

A native of Negaunee, he graduated from Michigan State College in 1921 with a degree in civil engineering.

He first served as a bridge and road engineer for the State Highway Department and as an employe of Midland Construction Co.

Teen Decoy Used in 'Smut' Raid

(Third in a four-part series.)

By DICK ROBINSON

"It's like raiding a place that sells bubble gum cards," a 28-year-old bachelor jested about a police crackdown on three Pontiac adult-only bookstores.

Two teen-age girls and a 25-year-old man were charged with selling obscene magazines to a minor. Two of the cases were bound over yesterday to Circuit Court for trial. The third was adjourned.

The three were arrested last week by the police vice squad after purchases were made by a 15-year-old girl, working with the police and with the permission of her parents.

Police Chief William K. Hanger indicated the arrests are the first steps in

CUT SALES TO MINORS

Although he has no legal backing to take racy material off the racks for adults, he presumes the arrests will "cut down on the chance of the magazines being sold to minors."

Since February the police have been sending a 15-year-old girl and 16-year-old boy into the three city stores to make purchases, said Guy White, head of the vice squad.

★ ★ ★

Two of the stores are downtown. They are the Adults Only Bookstore at 12 N. Saginaw and Downtown Bookstore at 86 N. Saginaw. The other store is Glenn's Party Store at 805 Baldwin.

At first the teen-agers just went in and bought the magazines and left. These cases wouldn't hold up in court, police were advised, because it couldn't be proven that the cashiers knew what was in the magazines.

★ ★ ★

The statute says the persons must "knowingly sell" obscene material. The word "knowingly" was added to the law in 1964.

Then the 15-year-old girl was sent back to the stores. She picked up a magazine, thumbed through it to see if it contained the right material and took it to the cashier.

World, U.S. News Briefs

By The Associated Press

The mountain village of Hasbaya in southern Lebanon, hard by the Israeli border, is under siege by about 2,000 Syrian-backed Arab guerrillas, government sources in Beirut said today.

Lebanese troops have been locked in combat for several days with guerrillas of the Al Saika group, affiliated with neighboring Syria's ruling Baath party.

The clashes have escalated steadily and reached a peak yesterday in a daylong clash.

Sen. Russell Cured?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cancerous tumor on the left lung of Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., seems to have disappeared with cobalt treatments that he says have been effective "beyond anything I've ever dreamed possible."

Russell, when asked if the cancer was cured, answered only that the tumor apparently has disappeared. "I don't think they can ever say whether there is a cure. Only time will tell."

Currencies Weaken

LONDON (AP) — The dollar, British pound and French franc weakened further on Europe's money markets today as speculators bought German marks on a massive scale in the hope of an early rise in their value.

The pound was near its floor level in London.

The dollar went below the mandatory central bank intervention level in Frankfurt. Conditions were described as "extremely nervous and hectic."

New Post for Astronaut

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Air Force Col. Frank Borman, commander of the Christmastime space flight around the moon and back, has been named field director of a program aimed at putting many men in space for months at a time.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Borman has been named field director of NASA's space station task force.

Ammo Truck Crash, Explosions Injure Six

MACON, Ga. (AP) — An ammunition-laden truck crashed into another truck and caught fire early today, igniting hundreds of 20mm aircraft cannon rounds which splattered a three-quarter mile area and sent firemen and policemen scurrying for cover.

Two persons were struck by the exploding ammunition and four others were injured in the crash.

★ ★ ★

Allies Hopeful for Paris Progress

From Our News Wires

PARIS — Allied officials expressed cautious optimism today for tomorrow's session of the Vietnam peace talks as result of a Vietcong statement that "the Paris conference will take a fruitful course in the near future."

★ ★ ★

Tran Buu Kiem, chief negotiator for the Vietcong, made the comment on West German television yesterday. He was asked about private talks outside the official conference.

★ ★ ★

"We do not reject . . . this or any other form in the talks," he said. "We only believe that there must be joint efforts to reach the core of the problem before one engages in contacts which at present would be without precise content."

★ ★ ★

The Vietcong have long denounced as a "trick" South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's proposal for private talks between the Vietcong and South Vietnam. But the Vietcong have not rejected the idea outright.

Kiem said that although the Paris talks had so far provided no results, "they are not useless."

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, his North Vietnamese counterpart, Xuan Thuy, insisted again today that the unconditional withdrawal of U.S. troops is an essential step toward ending the war.

★ ★ ★

In an interview in the Paris newspaper Le Figaro, Thuy stuck to the position taken by North Vietnam and the Vietcong since before the talks began.

He said there was no need to discuss the U.S. proposal for a mutual withdrawal of troops because the people of Vietnam have the right to fight on their own soil against aggressors.

★ ★ ★

Nhan Dan, North Vietnam's official newspaper, took an even harder line, saying President Nixon would be defeated in the war "just as he and Eisenhower were defeated when they did their utmost to help the French" in the Indochina War.

Students Battle at CCNY; 60 Arrested at Dartmouth

By The Associated Press

Negroes and Puerto Ricans engaged white students in a bloody battle today at New York's City College (CCNY) and at Dartmouth police broke down doors to drag student sit-ins out of a building.

In the clash at City College, Negro and Puerto Rican students swinging golf clubs and sticks beat up several white students inside the engineering building and a teacher was struck in the face.

Then other Negroes, joined by Harlem residents, scaled iron gates carrying clubs and sticks. White students, under attack, tore limbs from trees to fight back.

CCNY President Buell G. Gallagher shut down the college. It had only reopened yesterday after being closed two weeks by Negro and Puerto Rican students who barricaded the gates.

At least seven white students were seen bleeding from head and face wounds in today's battle.

When police sirens wailed, the Negroes, who already were outnumbered by whites, retreated over the iron gates.

★ ★ ★

The Dartmouth confrontation earlier in the morning on the Hanover, N. H., campus involved New Hampshire and Vermont police and about 60 students involved in a sit-in.

Some of the students went peacefully, but others had to be dragged or carried out of the administration building. No injuries were reported.

SUMMONS POLICE

At Queensborough Community College, President Kurt R. Schmeller summoned police to clear about 50 white students from the library administration building after a two-week sit-in.

Classes reopened today at Queens College, closed since last Friday, with police stationed on the school's perimeter.

CCNY, Queensborough and Queens are parts of the 165,000-student City University.

At Massachusetts Institute of Technology, classes this afternoon and tomorrow were canceled for student-faculty discussions of the university's relationship with society.

Meanwhile, about 600 students "camped-in" at Purdue University's Memorial Union after State Police cleared them from the administration building, only 16 hours after police ended an earlier sit-in with 229 arrests.

MRS. DOROTHY M. FURGERSON

City Housewife in School Race

Mrs. Dorothy M. Furgerson, 46, a Pontiac housewife, has filed a nominating petition as a candidate for a four-year term on the Pontiac Board of Education.

A native of England, she came to Pontiac in 1945 and became a U.S. citizen in 1947. Mrs. Furgerson, her husband, Grant, and their 11-year-old daughter, Stacey, live at 358 W. Iroquois.

Mrs. Furgerson has operated gift shops in Pontiac and Lake Orion during the past decade. She has served the City of Pontiac as a canvass board member since 1963 and is a room mother for the fifth grade of Webster School.

Mrs. Furgerson says, "Through my candidacy I hope to create a constructive interest on the part of the people of the Pontiac area in their school system.

"I expect to do this in a variety of ways, starting with a private mail survey to learn the current thinking of voters on a broad spectrum of educational ideas. The results of my survey will be a guide for my campaign and will enable me to better serve the community in a leadership capacity. Voters in every city precinct have been invited to participate.

Mrs. Furgerson pointed out that "I have arranged my personal activities to enable me to give full attention to the school board, if elected," she said.

Friday is the last day for school district voters to register for the June 9 election to fill two positions on the Pontiac Board of Education. The last day that candidates may file for the positions is Monday.

Canine Canned From K9 Corps

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The rules of Richmond's K9 Corps don't provide for maternity leave so Lady, a 6-year-old German shepherd, will have to go.

What's more, Lady's unplanned pregnancy means an all-male K9 Corps in the future.

"She's the only female we've got left and we're not going to fool with any more of them," said Detective G. A. Taylor.

Taylor said Lady's pregnancy probably resulted from something akin to an "office romance." She had been detailed recently to a night patrol in the city's abandoned car lot with a male German shepherd.

Mercy Flight Crashes

GENEVA (AP) — A Red Cross plane crashed last night on a mercy flight to Biafra, killing the crew of three Swedes and one German.

County Eyes Need for Extra Judges

Two state legislators from Oakland County have introduced bills which would allow expansion of the county's judicial system.

But members of the County Supervisors' Public Protection and Judiciary Committee are not sure any extra probate and circuit judges are needed. They have referred the matter to the legislative committee for study and recommendation.

A Senate bill introduced by L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford Township, would permit Oakland up to five probate judges on a vote by the board of supervisors. The county now has three probate judges.

Rep. Donald Bishop, R-Avon Township, has introduced a bill which would enlarge Oakland County's Circuit Court bench from nine to 11 judges.

Committee members pointed out that each judge, his staff and quarters would cost the county $185,000 annually. They were told that the state would pay $20,000 of each judge's salary and that another $30,000 might accrue to the county in fines.

"Let's wait until after Oakland County's law enforcement study is complete in September. I believe it's premature to talk about supporting legislation which would create additional judgeships now," said Philip O. Mastin, D-Hazel Park.

Chairman Dennis Aaron, D-Huntington Woods, earlier had informed the committee that the recently appointed 15-man county law enforcement committee is hunting for a coordinator to conduct such a study.

The coordinator will be paid up to $10,000 by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments for three months' work.

His findings are to be submitted to SEMCOG by September, to be included in a regional law enforcement plan that the Council of Governments hopes will then become eligible for federal funding.

From Mount Pleasant he went to East Detroit where he served two years as city manager only to return to Mount Pleasant to serve 17 years.

Pontiac hired him from Port Huron.

Willman remained active in business and civic affairs after retirement. In 1962 he was advance gifts chairman for the Pontiac Area United Fund drive. In 1963 he joined the real estate firm of Annett Inc. as a consultant specialist.

Willman was elected to the lay advisory board of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in 1963.

Besides many other affiliations, Willman was a retired Army lieutenant colonel, a member of the Pontiac Rotary Club and past exhaulted ruler of the Mount Pleasant Elks Lodge. Memorial tributes may be made to the Michigan Heart Fund.

EXPERIMENTAL ENGINE — General Motors researchers install the combustion system-steam generator in the first modern steam car developed by the automobile industry. The experimental vehicle, called the GM SE101, is a modified 1969 Pontiac Grand Prix. Already mounted in the engine compartment is a 160-horsepower, four-cylinder expander. This is one of two steam-powered vehicles shown to the press at the GM Technical Center today.

GM Exhibits Two Steam Cars

WARREN (UPI) — General Motors today demonstrated two experimental steam engine cars as the main feature of a "progress of power" show at the GM Technical Center.

They were among 26 vehicles displayed to demonstrate the present "state of the art" in unconventional power plants for transportation. Others included electric, combination gas engine and electric, and two Stirling external combustion engines.

Also exhibited were experimental air pollution control emission systems, including platinum-coated catalysts and stainless steel exhaust manifolds — both probably impractical on mass-produced cars because of high costs and availability of materials.

But the highlight of the show was the two steam engines used to power conventional cars. There was no estimate of cost and no indication GM was ready to produce them for use.

GRAND PRIX MODEL

One engine, called the GM SE-101, was installed in a 1969 Pontiac Grand Prix and was designed not only to run the car but to operate all accessories, including power steering and air-conditioning.

★ ★ ★

In addition to a steam boiler, with poppet valves fired with fuel oil, the system uses a generator containing 430 feet of stainless steel tubes, an air atomizing pump, a fuel pump and a condenser between three and four times the size of a conventional automobile radiator.

★ ★ ★

The other engine was called GM SE-124 and was installed in a Chevrolet Malibu car. This engine was developed by Besler Development Inc. of Oakland, Calif., under contract to GM Research Laboratories.

It is a two-cylinder reciprocating steam engine with the cylinders in a "V" configuration and of different sizes. One is a small cylinder for high compression, the other is about twice the size and a low compression cylinder.

★ ★ ★

Both steam engines weigh nearly as much as their conventional counterparts and turn out less than half the horsepower.

Plea to Hike Tax Request Is Rejected

BIRMINGHAM — Treasurer Richard Halsted last night failed for the second time to convince the board of education to ask for additional millage at the June 9 school election.

Halsted introduced a resolution to add two mills to the June 9 proposal, which he said is needed to provide salary increases in order to keep the district competitive.

The board defeated the resolution by a 5-2 vote. Mrs. Kathleen Hilfinger supported the proposal with Halsted. Halsted made an appeal in April for a 9.5-mill package, which included both an increase and the renewal millage.

Under the current proposal for $3.7-million in building bonds and a 7.5 millage renewal, the board will be faced with making considerable staff cutbacks, according to school officials.

★ ★ ★

The deadline for amending the ballot proposals is Friday.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Two men with a total of 72 years of service to Cranbrook are to be awarded Founder's Medals in ceremonies May 18 marking

The medals will be presented during a 10:45 a.m. service of rededication in Christ Church Cranbrook by Henry S. Booth, chairman of the foundation's board.

2 to Stand Trial in 'Smut' Case

By JIM LONG

Ruling that the magazines they sold were "lewd and lascivious," Pontiac District Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday bound over two store clerks to Circuit Court to stand trial on charges of selling obscene material to a minor.

The action was taken following the preliminary examinations of Naomi L. Gurin, 19, 329 N. Saginaw, and George M. Williamson, 25, of 784 Auburn.

★ ★ ★

Miss Gurin was arrested April 28 at the Downtown Bookstore, 86 N. Saginaw, and Williamson the same day at the Adults Only Bookstore, 12 N. Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

The preliminary examination of a third person arrested that day on the same charge, Jennifer J. Siegwart, 19, of 3259 Wormer, Waterford Township, at Glenn's Party Store, 805 Baldwin, yesterday was adjourned until June 5.

CHIEF WITNESS

The prosecution chief witness in the case is a 15-year-old girl, who while working with police, allegedly purchased the magazines without being asked by the clerks to show any proof of age.

★ ★ ★

The girl, who remains unidentified at police request, testified yesterday that she was asked by Miss Gurin if she was 21, but, when she said she was, there was no further demand for proof.

★ ★ ★

She said her age wasn't questioned in the Adults Only Bookstore.

★ ★ ★

Ernest Goodman, Detroit attorney representing all three defendants, argued that the cases should be dismissed because they were based on entrapment, with the clerks being set up by police to make an illegal sale.

SIDED WITH PROSECUTOR

Judge McCallum sided with Prosecutor James Williams, however, that the clerks were ready, willing and able to commit the crime no matter who the purchaser was, and that it was the duty of the clerks to check for proper identification.

★ ★ ★

Noting the girl's youthful appearance, McCallum said it was an "obvious violation" of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that prohibits such sales to minors.

★ ★ ★

Arraignments in Circuit Court for Miss Gurin and Williamson are scheduled for May 20; Miss Gurin before Judge William R. Beasley and Williamson before Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Pressure Is Put on 3 Car-Parts Firms

Pontiac's City Commission voted to put pressure on three auto parts firms by holding back approval of their applications for license renewal at last night's meeting.

Commissioners complained that all three firms were not keeping their property up and were allowing junked cars to be stored in view, rather than in fenced areas.

The three license renewal applications withheld are for General, 543 S. Saginaw; M & S, 401 S. Saginaw; and Royal, 1130 University.

The licenses are to be considered again next week. This meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday rather than Tuesday, to allow the commission to attend the annual Pontiac General Hospital employes dinner.

ASSESSMENT ROLL

The commission approved a revised assessment roll which cut the cost to businesses in the Tel-Huron shopping center for a proposed parking lot. It is to be the first of several proposals to create additional parking for commercial areas. The State Highway Department has been ordering parking removed from streets under its jurisdiction in the city.

The Tel-Huron lot, to be located on West Huron between Genessee and Telegraph, is to cost property owners $41,000 with the city picking up the cost of storm drainage ($5,800) and general overhead ($4,500).

City participation in the project was requested by Robert C. Irwin, commissioner for the district (2).

The Commission voted 6-0 with Robert F. Jackson of district 5 absent, to order preparation of a special assessment roll.

The commissioners also were notified by the State Highway Department that removal of parking on the north side of West Huron between Franklin Boulevard and Osceola would be delayed until September 1970, providing the city would create off-street parking in the area.

OTHER ACTION

The commission also:

● Was informed Pontiac General Hospital wished to purchase for $155,000 the private medical building on the southeast corner of West Huron and Johnson to be used by various hospital operations.

The hospital also wants to retain the architectural firm of Denyes, Freeman and Associates of Pontiac to make plans for an addition on the front of the hospital building. Decision on both requests was delayed until Monday.

● Approved a $181,000 project for curb, gutter, paving and storm drain for Eastway from Auburn to M59, over the objections of several property owners after a public hearing. A protest petition listed 42.4 per cent of property owners objecting. Property owners are to assume $57,000 of the project and the city the rest.

Wesley J. Wood, commissioner for the district (6), said the improvement was "a bargain" for residents of the area. He said the objections came from property owners who had no water drainage problems because they were on high land and the water from their property was flowing onto the other residents' property.

● Rejected a sewer project for Westway from 97 feet south of Benson to Michigan because of numerous objections.

● Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. May 20 for presentation of a special assessment roll for curb, gutter and paving on Kenilworth from Featherstone to University.

● Okayed a preliminary plat for a proposed subdivision north of West Brooklyn between Hollywood and Stanley in which a developer is planning homes in the $30,000 to $40,000 price range. Adjacent to the subdivision would be commercial and multiple dwelling development. A final version of the proposed plat is to be submitted later for approval.

● Refused to sell a 6.6-acre parcel at the southwest corner of Featherstone and East Boulevard. A bid of $38,500 was submitted by Leslie H. Hudson with the option that the price would be $50,000 if the corner section were zoned commercial 1. This is the third bid asked for the property by the city but none has come near the $100,000 price set by appraisers. A restudy of the property was ordered.

● Awarded a $44,651 contract to Conco Inc., for sealing of cracks in concrete streets.

● Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. May 20 for renaming Diston Street to Gillespie.

● Held final reading and approved adoption of a new garbage and rubbish disposal ordinance. It becomes effective in 10 days. Second reading on a new Building Code ordinance was deferred.

● Accepted a deed for 559 S. Sanford. The building on the property is to be removed in about a week. The empty building has been the source of neighborhood complaints.

● Approved a contract to provide land-fill service for the communities of Sylvan Lake, Orchard Lake, Keego Harbor, Waterford Township, Bloomfield Township and West Bloomfield Township. The agreement is for one year. Last year the communities' use of the facility was 2 per cent of the total.

● Designated by proclamation May 10 as "Project Thank You" day in cooperation with a nationwide program to express appreciation to servicemen in Vietnam. The metro area program is a special project of a radio station in Detroit.

Teen Decoy Was Used in 'Smut' Raids

She would ask the cashier if the magazine was any good and whether they had anything hotter, or she would just thumb through it with the clerk.

The 15-year-old girl was asked if she was 18 at one store and 21 at another, according to White. She said "yes" but wasn't asked for identification at either. At the third store, she wasn't even asked about her age.

THE EVIDENCE

Magazines being used as evidence are Nudist Adventure, Swap and Jaybird Journal.

Sex-oriented magazines were taken as evidence because they are easier to prosecute than paperback books, White said.

★ ★ ★

"I expect these Pontiac cases to be vigorously defended," an assistant prosecutor said, "because we have information that suppliers offer retailers a free lawyer if they get into trouble."

The clerks have been freed on $1,000 bond. The stores were not closed nor were publications confiscated.

ROYAL OAK CASE

Another Oakland County obscenity case is working its way through the courts.

A 13-year-old Farmington girl has charged a clerk at a Royal Oak store of selling her an allegedly obscene record jacket and album called "Kick Out the Jams" by hippie poet John Sinclair's MC5 rock band. An exam in Circuit Court is set for May 26.

"We've gotten a lot of complaints on the Pontiac stores, as well as the downtown "art" theater, for a long time," the chief said. "We never could get arrest warrants because the Supreme Court decision on obscenity wouldn't support it."

Owners of the Pontiac stores were outraged after the arrests.

'BUM RAP'

"This is a bum rap," one said. "We don't carry the hard obscene stuff. The vice squad was just trying to flex its muscles."

Another said, "We're the strictest store in town. We don't allow kids in that department. We always abide by the rules.

County Reveals OK of Airport Expansion

County officials said yesterday the master plan for Oakland-Pontiac Airport expansion in Waterford Township was approved April 25 by the Administration.

The okay makes the county eligible for federal funds for an expansion project which will include an instrument landing system and an extra east-west runway at the site.

Land purchases necessary to expand the site were approved two weeks ago by the county airport board. The sum of $800,000 set aside out of the county's general fund last year is being used to purchase land east and north of the airport.

The county aviation committee was to be apprised of developments at its meeting at 1:30 p.m. today.

Committee members also were to hear the history of the county's involvement in the Oakland-Orion Airport, located in Orion Township. Master plan approval at that site is expected shortly. Air utilization approval already has been given.

Mobile Homes on the Move

Mobile homes now account for one-third of all single-family housing under $10,000.

In 1963, 216,700 mobile homes and trailers were produced; 250,000 are anticipated for this year.

POSITIVE PEACE PLAN

"Directions: First, Pray much for others. Thanking God for all He will do for them when we plead for His mercy upon them. Praying this way for the President and all others who are in places of high responsibility and authority over us, so that we can live in peace and quiet, spending our time doing the right thing in thinking much to God This is the right plan that pleases God our Saviour who longs for all men to be saved and to understand this truth: God is on one side and all the people on the other side, and "Christ Jesus is the only man alive that is between them to bring them together."

Head of Taxpayer Group Is Activist

By JEAN SAILE

Mrs. Charles (Catherine) LaVeque is 95 pounds of red-haired energy.

Wife of an insurance investigator, at age 25, she is the mother of three, active in Mark Twin Elementary School PTA, a part-time student at Pontiac Central High School, a disciple of Novelist Ayn Rand's conservative philosophy, and outspoken about how government money should be spent.

★ ★ ★

Her particular interest is the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) program. As spokesman for her own group, Taxpayers Voice, she shows up frequently at governmental public hearings.

Taxpayers Voice, Catherine says, was formed in her kitchen at 518 N. East, Pontiac, with 15 people present — all of whom she contacted after they contributed to The Pontiac Press Voice of the People column. The support she's received since that first meeting last October leads her to believe she speaks for 1,000 people in 45 different Michigan cities.

NOT AGAINST ALLOTMENTS

The young mother isn't against ADC allotments, but she's against attitudes she ascribes to some of the recipients and is against some of the inequities in the system.

"Some things are right and some things are not right," Catherine says. "Somebody else receiving their civil rights at my expense is wrong."

Catherine has an orange crate in her living room — a room she described as "furnished in early Salvation Army."

She doesn't feel degraded because most of the furniture in her house is used, or that she sews or accepts hand-me-downs for her children when she can't afford to buy new clothes.

RESENTS PAYING TAXES

She resents taxes that provide what she considers luxuries for people who she feels do not earn them.

"ADC is very definitely a needed program. People have a right to the absolute necessities of life," she says.

But she doesn't think that new furniture or $60 twice a year for each child's clothing or an entertainment expense is an absolute necessity.

She does, however, believe that ADC mothers are entitled to a phone, a better fuel and utilities allotment, more dental and medical service and a more realistic laundry allotment when recipients do not have facilities at home.

$7 A WEEK

"They allow $7 a month for laundry expenses for a family of five. I spent $7 a week when I had two children in diapers," she recalls.

The LaVeques have never received ADC, though Catherine feels they would have qualified.

By the time she was 20, she was the mother of three and the family had incurred $3,000 worth of medical expenses through one tragedy after another, she said. Her husband was making $61 a week at the time, she noted.

★ ★ ★

Catherine says her husband agrees with her ideas about government spending, but he'd rather that she weren't as involved in it as she is.

"He thinks a woman's place is in the home. I think that a woman doing things which make her happy is a better wife and mother," she said.

HER PHILOSOPHY

And that's her philosophy.

"You are rewarded for your own effort. You can't live for someone else's sake and neither can you expect them to live for your sake." The sentiment comes from Ayn Rand, says the woman who quit high school in the 11th grade and who is now headed for college.

★ ★ ★

The adopted daughter of a now-retired business accountant and a deceased schoolteacher mother, she still feels the rejection on the part of her real mother.

"The (adoption) papers were signed before I was even born. She didn't even wait to see what she had," said Catherine, who says she fully appreciates what her adopted parents did for her.

'RESPONSIBILITY'

Perhaps that has something to do with her view that the state should not increase the allotment of an ADC recipient who has an illegitimate baby.

★ ★ ★

"The mother has a choice," the young wife says. "My husband and I didn't exactly plan three children before I was 20. But — they were ours and we were responsible for them."

She claims she has support in her tax protest from many former ADC recipients, both black and white.

"I'm willing to help anybody in trouble, but when they say, 'I'm dying,' and you say, 'Breathe!' and they say, 'No!', there's something wrong."

Lawyer Studying Land Hassle

'Homeowner' Plight in Limbo

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — No news is good news, or as Malcolm Kahn puts it: "The less work a lawyer does in the courtroom, the better it is for his client. It usually costs him less, too."

Kahn, a Pontiac attorney specializing in real estate law, is on retainer from 49 "homeowners" in Red Barn subdivision No. 1. His clients are caught in the middle of a land ownership struggle between the subdivision's developer Villa Homes Inc. of Oak Park and the Marion Building Co. of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Marion originally sold the subdivision land to Villa Homes on a land contract. Villa reportedly defaulted on some $4,300 of the land contract, and Marion reclaimed the entire subdivision — homes included — by paying the balance due in a Circuit Court hearing.

Now that Marion Building Co. owns all the homes, it is demanding rental payments of $100 per month.

Kahn has advised the 49 — most of whom have no title insurance to their "properties" — to continue making mortgage payments. Marion has yet to notify residents when to begin making rental payments.

Kahn is presently researching a 25-year-old State Supreme Court ruling that originated in Oakland County whereby all the residents of property on which homes are built must enter into final agreement.

★ ★ ★

"The residents were not informed in this case," Kahn pointed out, "and the Supreme Court ruling may be a point of direction for us in this battle. It is, however, only one possibility."

Kahn said he is still negotiating with two other attorneys involved, Jerome C. Gropman of Marion and Robert W. Guiles of the James T. Barnes Co., holders of all the FHA-approved mortgages.

Kahn said he knows of no foreseeable date of resolution in the matter, although he promised "a full story with all the dealings revealed" when a decision is reached.

Shelby Fire Fighters Picket Township Board Meeting

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Fire Fighters Local 1338 threw up picket lines around the Township Hall last night while the Township Board was in session. It was the first time the union picketed during its nearly yearlong contract negotiations with the board.

Local President Thomas Slovey said the firemen picketed to show they are still unified and not about to give up on their demands. "We are going to stay together no matter what happens."

★ ★ ★

Slovey refused to comment on whether the fire fighters were ready to walk out if a new ocntract was not signed soon.

About 100 persons — about one-third of them children — carried large signs urging board action on the fire fighters' demands in an orderly demonstration in the Township Hall parking lot.

Talks broke off last Friday after the board made its highest offer to date — $9,250, which would go to $10,200 in July, 1970. Fire fighters currently are paid $8,000.

The firemen, who have been working without a contract for about ten months, want the raise retroactive to July 1968 and not January 1969, as currently offered by the board. Also demanded are three more paid holidays, for a total of six, and a $20 per month food allotment.

Following a 40-minute executive session, the board would not comment on when another negotiation session would be held. The negotiations have already gone through mediation and fact-finding

FOUR AT ONCE — These quadruplet lambs — Mary, Margaret, Mark and Murray — were not very eager to be held for the camera by their owner, Mrs. Susan Wood, 16110 Tucker, Holly Township. The week-old lambs are holding their own after a shaky start. An Oakland County agriculture agent termed the quadruple births an extreme rarity.

Rezonings OK'd in Independence

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board gave final approval to three rezoning petitions last night.

Properties rezoned to single-family residential were:

- A five-acre parcel on Clintonville, north of I-75, from residential-suburban farms.
- A 20-acre parcel on Sashabaw between I-75 and Clarkston Road, from residential-suburban farms. This property will be developed into a 43-lot subdivision.
- A 76-acre parcel on Indianwood Road, just east of Eston, from agricultural.

★ ★ ★

The petitions previously had been recommended by the township's zoning board and the Oakland County Planning, Building and Zoning Committee.

The board set June 3 as the public hearing date for a proposed street lighting assessment project for the Woodhaven Lake Subdivision.

Cost for the 24 lights has been estimated at $6.82 annually for each of the 148 lots.

Meeting Is Held in Walled Lake on Sex Education

WALLED LAKE — Sex education in the schools was discussed at a recent general meeting of the Parents for Moral Education.

Almost 100 persons attended the meeting, according to Executive Director Ray Yokey, who said that some did support current sex education programs.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Ballard of 1237 Grove Pointe, White Lake Township, who reportedly opposes the sex education program in the Walled Lake schools, gave a resume of several National Education Association articles on sex education.

She said that the articles indicated plans for nationwide programs on sex education. Her husband is a teacher in the Walled Lake system.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS

Yokey detailed how the current anti-sex education trend in Walled Lake began. It started when Walled Lake Schools annexed the Dublin School and parents began objecting to the program which has been in the Walled Lake system for several years.

Committee Chairman Raymond Konkle explained that group's dismay at material promoted by the Sex Information and Educational Council in the U.S.

The committee claims that SIECUS promotes teaching sex education without teaching morality.

Trophies will be awarded for the best decorated float, decorated car or truck, decorated bicycles, the best marching unit and the best decorated horse.

Double Sessions Set for West Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Final plans for double sessions at West Bloomfield High School next fall have been announced.

Roger Garvelink, the high school principal, announced that the sessions would overlap only for the class hour beginning at 11:21 a.m.

★ ★ ★

The 11th and 12th graders would begin classes at 7:15 a.m. while the lower grades will begin at 11:21 a.m. and leave at 5:21 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The upper grades will have five 55-minute periods, while the lower grades will have six such periods. Both will have a snack break.

STUDY COMMITTEE

Arrangements can be made for students to start earlier — or later — to take additional courses.

A school study committee, to include representatives from all PTAs, parent's clubs, subdivisions and municipalities, was authorized by the school board earlier this week.

★ ★ ★

The group will review present programs to consider possible changes. They will also study the probable growth of the district and other factors to consider the likely effect on operating costs.

Recommendations to the board of financing and proposed projects are due by Feb. 16, 1970. The first public meeting is 8 p.m. June 3 at Abbott Junior High School.

In other recent business, the school board decided to seek more bids or other means to dispose of a house and barn on the new high school site. Only one bid was received.

The foreign languages program in elementary school was discontinued by the board.

In a related motion, the board authorized the foreign language department and administration to formulate recommendations by April 1970 regarding the feasibility of reinstating an elementary foreign language program in the 1970-71 school year.

A move to discontinue the program had been defeated at a recent board meeting because several board members indicated there was insufficient information to allow an accurate assessment.

TEACHER REPORTS

Reports by language teachers at all levels were given to the board prior to this week's vote.

Language teachers at all levels generally agreed that the twice-weekly language sessions did not significantly help the pupils towards a greater understanding and appreciation of the language.

Mrs. Marilyn Johnson, the elementary French teacher, claimed the youngsters became frustrated with the language when they could not remember what they had learned over the time span until the next lesson. The extra training also did not place them much ahead of students starting the language in the junior high grades.

Tax, Budget Talk Set for White Lake League

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—Frank Richardson, Republican Oakland County supervisor from the 25th District, will discuss taxes and the county budget at a meeting of the Good Neighbor League tonight at 8 in the Township Hall.

A question-and-answer session will follow Richardson's presentation.

One Driver in Hospital After 2-Car Troy Crash

TROY — A Highland Park man was in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, for observation this morning after a two-car crash at John R and Big Beaver at 5:46 a.m.

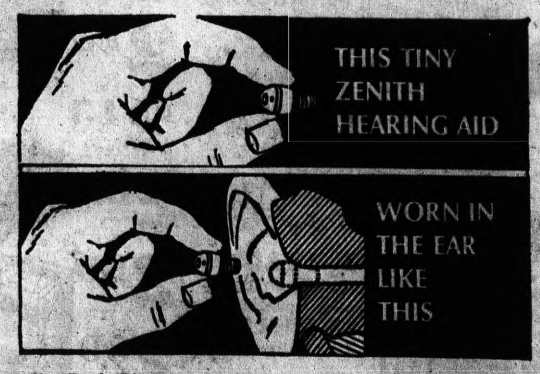

Hospitalized was Ernest Johnson III, 32, whose car collided with one driven by Thomas F. Schoenherr, 55, of 2216 Tucker, Troy, police said. Schoenherr was treated at the same hospital and released.

Kindergarten Roundup Slated at Troy Schools

TROY — The school district's annual kindergarten roundup at the various elementary schools has been scheduled for morning (9-11 a.m.) and afternoon (1-3 p.m.) sessions. Parents are requested to present birth certificates and immunization cards at the roundup.

By school, the roundups are slated as follows: Poppleton School, May 6; Leonard, May 7; Morse, May 8; Hill, May 15; Big Beaver, May 16; and Niles, May 22.

Further information may be had by calling the individual elementary school or the elementary coordinator at the board of education office.

NY Welcome Mat Out for Superliner

NEW YORK (AP) — The Queen Elizabeth 2 sails into New York harbor today after a five-day maiden transatlantic voyage. A gala welcome awaits the luxury superliner.

The $72-million ship, the pride of the Cunard line, will have an official escort of Coast Guard ships, a U.S. Navy destroyer and two helicopters as she enters the harbor. Hundreds of small private boats also are expected to welcome her.

The QE2 will sail under the Verrazano Bridge at the mouth of the harbor, through upper New York Bay between Governor's Island and the Statue of Liberty, past the Battery at the tip of Manhattan and up the Hudson River.

She will sail about two miles north of her pier, turn around and return to the dock so spectators on the New Jersey and New York sides of the river can get a glimpse of the 65,863-ton ship.

ELIZABETH 2 DAY

Mayor John V. Lindsay, who has proclaimed New York "Queen Elizabeth 2 Day" will board the QE2 in the harbor to join in welcoming ceremonies. Among those present will be Sir Basil Smallpeice, chairman of Cunard; C.N. Anderson, president of Cunard Line, North America, and the ship's captain, William E. Warwick.

The QE2's elaborate entry will be in sharp contrast to the arrival March 7, 1940, of the original Queen Elizabeth. The first Queen glided quietly into the harbor without announcement during World War II.

The old Queen left New York for the last time Oct. 30, 1968, and finally sailed to Port Everglades, Fla., where she was retired as a hotel, museum and convention center. Her sister ship, the Queen Mary, retired a year earlier and is docked at San Diego, Calif.

The QE2 is more than 17,000 tons smaller than her predecessor and is designed both for transatlantic travel and cruises. There are two classes—standard and deluxe—to accommodate a maximum of 2,025. The ship carried 1,451 passengers and 982 crew members on her maiden crossing.

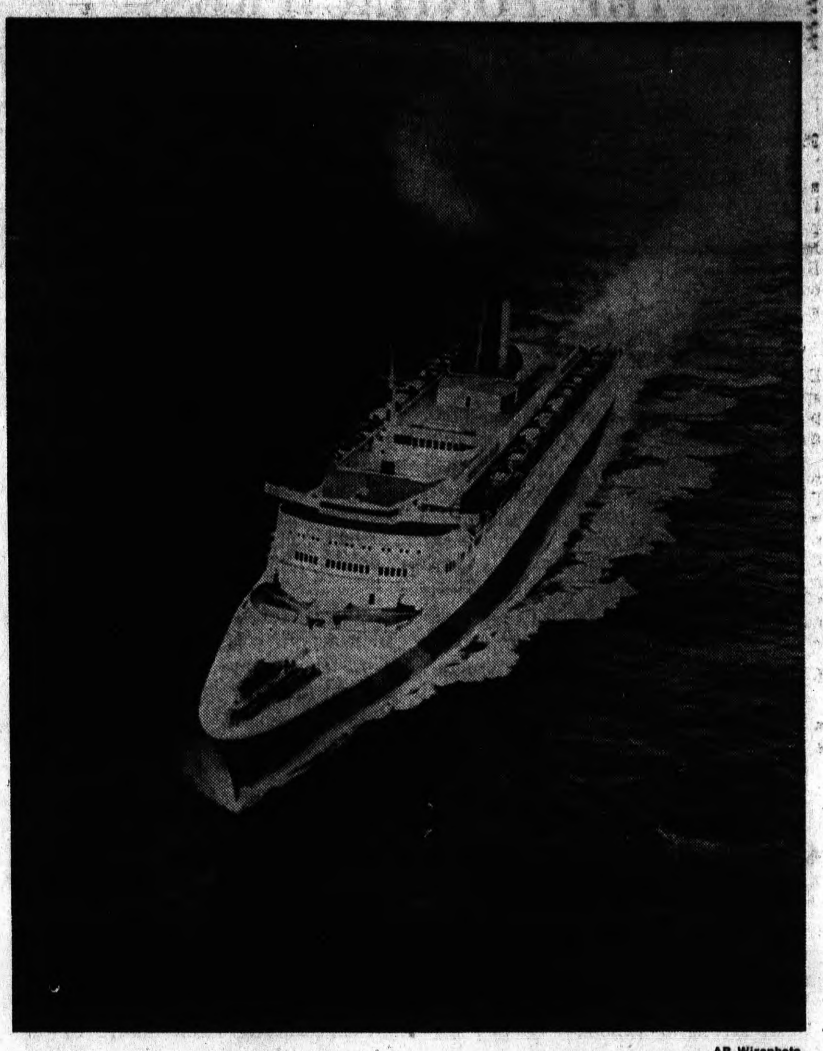

DOG KENNELS

Built for luxury, the ship has 6,000 square yards of deck space, nine bars, 10 lounges, a 600-seat movie theater and dog kennels with a view of the sea.

The Queen's maiden voyage was smooth. She had a christening—that of 3½-month-old Fleur Juliet Cass, daughter of a British publisher—and a death, that of David Sharpe, 61, a steward who collapsed at sea.

★ ★ ★

The QE2 originally had been scheduled to make her maiden voyage Jan. 17, but was delayed after Cunard refused delivery of the ship because of engine failure and incomplete interior work discovered on a shakedown cruise to the Canary Islands in December.

HER ROYAL HIGHNESS — The Queen Elizabeth 2 steams towards New York City where she will complete her maiden voyage today. The Queen will be greeted by geysers of water from fireboats, tugs, a Coast Guard cutter and the cheers of crowds at her berth in the Hudson River when she docks at 3 p.m.

But Official's Statements Discounted

Killing Wave Tied to Gangs

CHICAGO (AP) — State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan says Negro youth gangs recently were involved in nine slayings in the Chicago area within three days and that community action is needed "to prevent a war on the streets."

But a white community leader who works with the gangs and a white lawyer who handles many gang cases discounted Hanrahan's statements.

★ ★ ★

"This new wave of terror, nurtured daily by senseless murders and armed intimidation, can only be stopped by cooperation of community residents with police," Hanrahan told a news conference Tuesday.

He said 14 homicides occurred in Cook County (Chicago) recently in a three-day span and that nine of the slayings involved persons under 21 years of age.

HEADING FOR RECORD?

"I'm afraid we're headed for a record number of killings this year," said the former U.S. attorney for Northern Illinois. He said there have been 202 murders in Cook County since the beginning of 1969.

Hanrahan said youth gangs— the Blackstone Rangers and their rivals, the Disciples—have so terrified residents of the South and West sides that witnesses are afraid to call police.

★ ★ ★

He said 50 members of Negro street gangs are under indictment on charges of murder, attempted murder or intimidation and added that the gangs pose a greater threat "than the infamous Cosa Nostra."

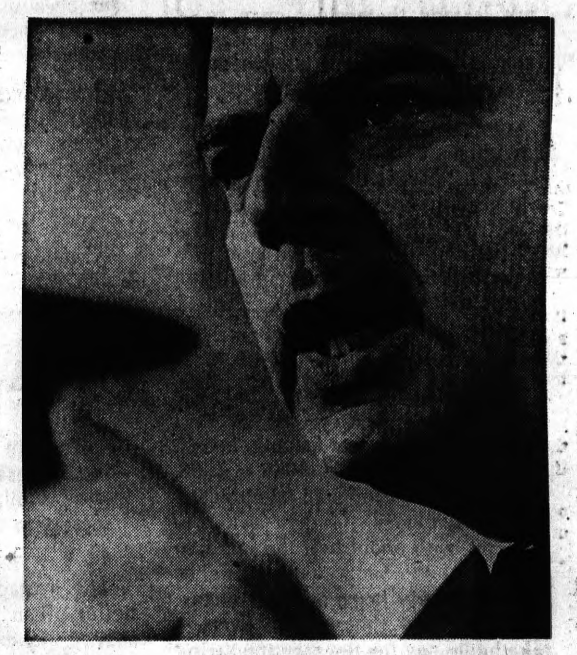

Chuck LaPaglia, who works with a church group in touch with the Blackstone Rangers, accused Hanrahan of exaggerating.

"The fact is that the crime rate here on the South Side has been on the decrease for almost three years, and just last week the police went on television saying there was a great decline in juvenile crimes," LaPaglia said.

"Hanrahan is making a picture of a very severe situation, which doesn't exist. These are the poorest and the blackest kids in the city. What the city is anxious to do is connect violence with gangs."

LaPaglia, who estimated Ranger membership at 4,000, said the gang was cooperating with the community in attempts to unseat aldermen handpicked by Mayor Richard J. Daley's Democratic organization.

LaPaglia said many of the indictments pending against gang members would not stand up in court.

Church Gets 'Black Manifesto'

NEW YORK (AP) — Black militant James Forman has carried his campaign for $500 million in religious reparations to black people to the Lutheran Church, where he nailed his demands to the door "in the spirit of Martin Luther."

Forman posted his "black manifesto" on the door of national headquarters of the Lutheran Church of America Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

In the 16th century, Luther nailed his theses to a church door to proclaim his split from Roman Catholicism.

★ ★ ★

"They're very reasonable demands," Forman told the Rev. Robert J. Marshall, president of the 3.5-million member church, who said he would study them.

WARNING TO LINDSAY

Forman also posted a warning to Mayor John V. Lindsay that any effort to thwart his campaign would be met by "appropriate force."

"We will kill those who kill us," Forman said.

★ ★ ★

Lindsay has offered to provide any church that fears a demonstration by Forman or members of the National Black Economic Development Board with uniformed or plainclothes police.

Sabotage Condemned

Recent acts of apparent sabotage of Consumers Power Co. gas lines and meters is cause for the gravest concern by residents of the area and indeed by all law-abiding citizens.

Presumably linked to a strike in effect against the public utility, the destruction took the form of severed gas lines leading to several homes as well as those of a like number of business establishments. Customers' meters in two locations were either damaged or stolen.

★ ★ ★

Needless to say, the consequences of such criminal disregard of public safety could assume dire proportions, and Consumers has posted a $1,000 reward for the apprehension of the perpetrators of the outrage.

★ ★ ★

We cannot too strongly denounce such acts of irresponsible vandalism. That they may have been strike-related can only give the body of responsible workers now at odds with the company a damaged image in the eyes of the public.

Suits Seen in Student Revolts

College administrations not only need to display more backbone in the face of student violence, as President NIXON has suggested. They may also need strong bankbooks—to pay for defense attorneys.

"Coming months may see a wave of lawsuits brought by nondissenting students, parents, taxpayers, contributors, alumni and others whose rights are abridged when dissenters commit criminal acts," says FRED E. INBAU, president of Americans for Law Enforcement, a national, nonprofit organization whose directors include prominent lawyers and civic leaders.

Persons whose positions of authority require them to maintain order, but who do not through malfeasance, misfeasance or nonfeasance of duty, are leaving themselves open to legal action, says Inbau, professor of criminal law at Northwestern University.

Among potential defendants are individual college administrators, boards of trustees, faculty members who permit violence or participate in it and law enforcement officials who fail to act when criminal acts are committed in plain view, even though college officials will not press charges.

A governmental body, such as the city or county, may be liable for injuries resulting from failure to enforce the law.

★ ★ ★

Dissenting students or faculty members who clamor for their brand of "freedom" may ironically find themselves charged with violations of the Federal Civil Rights Act if they abridge the rights of others through unlawful detention or other criminal acts.

★ ★ ★

Among potential plaintiffs are taxpayers, who might bring suits against public institutions on the grounds of misuse or waste of public money, and donors of funds or their heirs who might sue because of the failure of administrators to manage funds properly.

At least one university, Columbia, already is being sued by a group of students, who charge that their studies were interrupted by last year's riots.

★ ★ ★

It could be an isolated case or, as INBAU warns, only the beginning.

Inflation's a Creeping Ill

An analysis by a leading investment firm says: "From 1965 to 1968, gross weekly earnings in manufacturing rose nearly 14 per cent, to $122.50, with about half the increase occurring in 1968 alone. Higher Social Security taxes and the surtax, however, held the gain in average take-home pay for the manufacturing worker with 3 dependents to 10.3 per cent.

★ ★ ★

"The consumer price index during the same period rose by 10 per cent, thus leaving a three-year gain in purchasing power of only 26 cents a week."

That, in case you're wondering, is what is known as inflation —or running as fast as you can to stay in the same place.

★ ★ ★

The average worker was actually better off in 1962 through 1965, the survey points out. A more stable price level enabled him to realize an annual average increase of more than $2 a week in his purchasing power during those years.

★ ★ ★

The insidious feature of inflation is that it works around the clock in various ways difficult or impossible immediately to detect.

Arms Race

Cleveland Plain Dealer

The basic philosophy behind maintenance of a strong military establishment by a peaceseeking nation is sound.

But when does an international arms buildup race reach the point of no return? Doesn't escalation become an endless climb as nations seek to be the country with the most weapons? What is the use of arms accumulation beyond the power of complete or substantial destruction of a potential adversary?

★ ★ ★

The antiballistic missile issue has become a fine case in point. President Nixon has defended once more his ABM decision as did Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. The President stressed the American government's duty to maintain an adequate defense in the face of whatever threats might arise.

There is no argument with the administration's responsibility to protect the nation. It must be recognized, too, that the ABM system would be defensive, not offensive.

★ ★ ★

But where does it end? Who can measure accurately an "estimated" striking force of a potential enemy? If all nations decide to escalate in rotation, on the terrifically expensive theory that the other country is a little stronger today than it was yesterday, what's the conclusion?

The fact that attaining one's "sufficiency" monotonously results in topping a rival's "sufficiency" should spur men of good will to a reasonable solution to the arms problems wherever they meet around any peace table.

Tornadoes . . .

Hillsdale Daily News

Chalk up another "spin-off" from space research.

What started as a study of fuel sloshing in Atlas missile tanks in 1955 has developed into a theory that may contribute greatly to our knowledge of tornadoes.

★ ★ ★

As a result of studying the whirling of fluids in rocket tanks, scientists with TRW, Inc., noticed that a mathematical theory they constructed for solving this problem could be applied to tornadoes to determine their maximum wind velocity.

By using photographs of past tornadoes and applying the formula, it was possible to determine the physical characteristics of the destructive funnels for the first time.

★ ★ ★

The scientists are hopeful that further studies will show what the conditions are that lead to tornadoes and why all storms do not turn into tornadoes. The knowledge could ultimately lead to the development of sensing devices for some sort of early warning system.

Confrontation!

David Lawrence Says:

Full Story on Fortas Not Told

WASHINGTON — Anyone who is accused in court of doing something wrong is supposed to be entitled to a fair trial.

LAWRENCE

Justice Abe Fortas is under criticism in Congress for having accepted in January 1966 a fee of $20,000, which was intended to compensate him for work he was going to do for a charitable foundation. He was on the Supreme Court at the time, and he returned the fee 11 months later.

The man who headed the foundation, Louis Wolfson, an investment banker, has since been convicted of violating the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission in a stock-manipulation case and now is serving a jail sentence.

It is rather unusual for a Supreme Court justice to be tried in the court of public opinion, but that is what is happening today.

Both sides of the story have not been completely told. Justice Fortas himself has not satisfactorily explained why it took him several months to return the fee.

DIDN'T PARTICIPATE

Certainly Justice Fortas did not participate in any case in which Wolfson was concerned, including the Supreme Court decision on April 1 this year not to disturb Wolfson's conviction.

The questions being asked by members of Congress concerning the incident are numerous. They want to know why he did not give the money back sooner, and whether he was involved directly or indirectly in any effort to advise Wolfson on his complications with the law.

★ ★ ★

Justice Fortas is expected to amplify his brief statements on the matter and tell the public the whole story.

He is an able lawyer and familiar with the operations of Congress as well as the presidency. He served as an intimate adviser of President Johnson.

NO IMPROPRIETY

It may well have been that Justice Fortas was convinced that there was no impropriety because the work was to be done for a foundation.

He may not have regarded the matter at the start as likely to be embarrassing. He may have felt that, if he confined himself solely to helping the foundation to operate in the field of education and religion by giving it advice, no one would criticize him for it.

Justice Fortas has strongly denied any implication that the money was offered in the hope that he would block the prosecution of Wolfson.

The comments thus far by Fortas have not satisfied Congress. Demands are being made on Capitol Hill for the justice to resign or at least to submit to an inquiry in order that all the facts may be disclosed.

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE

A movement has arisen to require justices to disclose each year their sources of outside income, just as is required of members of Congress.

Actually, some of the justices make public addresses on highly controversial subjects. The question has been raised as to whether publicizing their views might seem to commit them to certain courses of action in future cases that come before the court.

Justice Fortas owes it to the country to make a full explanation of just what occurred.

Even though he may concede that he made a grave mistake, the question of whether he must resign from the court could remain unresolved, because no code of ethics for Supreme Court justices has even been drawn up.

Bob Considine Says:

New York Political Race Attracts 'Odd Couple'

NEW YORK—Stranger fellows than Norman Mailer and Jimmy Breslin probably have entered political races, but their names do not come readily to mind.

CONSIDINE

Mailer would be mayor of New York; Breslin the president of the City Council, the No. 2 post in the most ungovernable government in the world.

★ ★ ★

Bill Buckley attracted 340,000 votes when he ran on the Conservative ticket the last time against Democrat Abe Beam and Republican John Lindsay, who won easily and is running for reelection. The Republicans got Lindsay from Central Casting. The Dems won Beam in a box of Cracker Jack.

★ ★ ★

In the course of his articulate campaign, during which he clobbered the bumbling Beam and sorely wounded Lindsay on TV, Buckley was asked what he would do if he won.

EXCEPTIONAL LIBERAL

"I'd demand a recount," he said.

The disclaimer was in the best tradition of another journalist, Heywood Broun, who once sought to gain a seat in the House of Representatives.

★ ★ ★

Broun was an exceptional liberal. He actually liked people. Inevitably, he grew to like his opponent—name long since forgotten. So he began saying some nice things about the man during his street-corner talks.

After a time, Broun's speeches in behalf of his own candidacy became appealing tributes to the guy he was supposed to be slandering.

The guy beat Broun easily, and Broun's campaign manager had to be restrained from leaping off the Brooklyn Bridge.

One would not expect Mailer or Breslin to follow the same path. They are liberals of a different age. The word now means, as I understand it, a bloke who is liberal only to fellow liberals and professionally illiberal to those he decrees as illiberal, however liberal. See?

★ ★ ★

The Mailer-Breslin campaign slogan is "No More ------!" It was blipped by the good gray Times in its report of their announcement. When the two go on the air with their ringing crying, people will think the Smothers Brothers are back on.

There is always talk before a primary race about which candidate will be hurt by whom and why. For the life of me I can't see how Mailer and Breslin can hurt anybody in the race, including themselves.

They are not going to hurt the favorite in the Democratic primary, former mayor and ambassador Bob Wagner, their opposition. But if they got the nod, by some record turnout of the freakouts, they couldn't very well drag the business community and the ladies from the coattails of Lindsay.

They'll have a good time clowning and ruffling feathers, as did Buckley. Like Bill, they'll be the year's best bet to finish out of the money, their own and their backers'.

'Write to Congressmen About Census Questions'

Regarding the concern as to how to avoid answering personal census questions, Rep. Jack McDonald has a bill which, if it becomes law, will limit the census to seven mandatory questions of a non-personal nature. The Bill is H.R. 251. Write your Congressman and let him know you are in favor of it.

Former Farmer Prefers Our Present Time

I like to read the Voice of the People, especially about Daylight Saving Time. I was a farmer for 30 years in Oakland County. Years ago they put us on fast time. Instead of 5 a.m. it would only be 4 a.m. and the cows did not want to be disturbed at that time. Why don't they let nature alone as God had it planned. I am glad farmers won this time and hope they keep it that way.

'Proposed Bill Would Tax College Graduates'

Presently there is before the Michigan Legislature a proposed bill that would require college graduates to pay taxes on their degrees, ranging from $100 per year for the Bachelor of Science and Arts to almost double that amount for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree. These taxes would affect each graduate for a period of ten years retroactive to 1958.

★ ★ ★

Is our present system of supplying colleges with funds so inadequate that we must resort to a policy that would produce less graduates and technically qualified personnel, and would cause its own defeat in that by reducing the number of granted degrees it would reduce the amount of taxes collected? Can we allow ourselves, in our need of intellectually superior individuals to lead our complex society, to install a tax that leaves our vast intellectual sources untapped?

Another Comment on County Sanatorium

What a great loss for Oakland County to lose the Sanatorium. I have seen the care and understanding these patients receive, both young and old. My son was carried in, paralyzed, and walked out with a new lease on life, through these wonderful people's care and therapy. I feel badly that others will be deprived of all this.

Opinions Continue on Sex Education Plans

I urge parents to get concerned about the sex education program being taught our children. Find out about it. You don't want your child taught to take dope or smoke pot, so why classes teaching that sex and morality are separate?

A CONCERNED PARENT

What gives the school the authority to decide each child in any given class is emotionally prepared for the new sex education? This is dangerous, and I believe several children in the Detroit area have already been put under a psychiatrist's care as a result of this program. Those who say sex and morals don't go together are only kidding themselves. May God help us if this is not stopped.

MRS. RONALD E. SMITH
1568 NAYLOR, UNION LAKE

In trying to rid America of its Puritan values, sex education is being offered as a cure for illegitimacy and venereal diseases, and a preventative for immorality and broken homes. If it can serve a useful purpose—education of children to understand human reproduction and sexuality for their age level—well and good; but when the individual preference of the child is overlooked as well as his emotional maturity, I wonder if the interpretation of sex values is what I want for my children.

★ ★ ★

The Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S. (SIECUS) is dedicated to the task of compulsory sex education in our schools. Their staff members teach "situation ethics" rather than standard "right" or "wrong" of traditional sex values. Their approach is void of morality—only technicalities of sex in graphic detail are presented.

★ ★ ★

Before our schools adopt SIECUS films and reading material, let us examine the material and the motives. The school is particularly suited for educational activities, so parents should work toward that goal—education.

Question and Answer

How can we go about becoming foster parents? We enjoy the Voice of the People as well as the rest of the paper. Keep up the good work.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD SCHNEPP
KEEGO HARBOR

REPLY

Procedures for becoming foster parents are prescribed by State law. However, there are so many different arrangements for foster care of children it would be best if you'd call Mr. Rolph's office at Foster Care and Adoptive Services, 338-4751. They can give you specific details.

Question and Answer

A few months ago I read about a man who was going to eat a car. Somebody was going to pay him a lot of money for doing it. I have been reading the paper since then, but have heard no more of it. My father suggested I write and ask if he has eaten the car. Thank you.

We're sorry to disappoint you, Mickey, but that's one we missed completely. Our wire editor, who receives stories from our news services, doesn't remember it, either. However, he promised to keep a watch for anything concerning such a remarkable feat, and we'll be on the lookout, too. Perhaps other readers will remember it and give us some information. If we hear or read anything about it, we'll let you know in this column.

House Unit OK Near on School Aid Bill With Parochiaid

LANSING (AP) — A state school aid bill calling for $100,000 for parochiaid this fall and $44 million for the 1970-71 school year neared House Appropriations Committee approval today, with leaders determined to beat down any last-minute attempt to boost the amount.

★ ★ ★

"We'll try to keep everything off we can," said committee Chairman William Copeland, D-Wyandotte. "If we open the door once they'll beat it down."

★ ★ ★

The committee already has approved an amendment to the $844.2 million public school aid bill which would establish the principle of parochiaid but allocate only $100,000 this fall for administrative purposes in setting up the program.

★ ★ ★

The amendment also called for $44 million to be allocated for church and private schools starting with the 1970-71 school year, with the delay allowing for an expected court suit challenging the constitutionality of using public money for private schools.

OPPOSING ARGUMENT

Opponents of parochiaid argue that it violates the principle of the separation of church and state.

Gov. William Milliken earlier gave a qualified commendation to the House committee's important change to the Senate-adopted bill.

"I think part of the action which has been taken is in keeping with some of the guidelines which I have established, "Milliken said. "It appears that we are moving toward a resolution of the parochiaid question."

Milliken consistently has sought to avoid the political and emotional partisanship of the parochiaid question. He stated in an earlier message on education that for whatever the Legislature spends, it must find the money to pay the bill.

Several proposals to increase the total schools appropriation now are in Copeland's committee. Majority Floor Leader George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, seeks to increase substantially the $115 million, or some 13.6 per cent of the total, now proposed for Detroit.

But the committee Tuesday avoided that matter and worked on proposed changes in allocation formulas of already specified funds.

One approved change, offered by Rep. Jack Faxon, D-Detroit, would redistribute nearly $1 million to schools with high percentages of students from families receiving welfare support.

Many outstate schools now qualify for the program, aimed at reducing teacher-pupil ratios in ghetto schools, simply by having enough enrolled students.

MORE SPECIFIC

Faxon's revision focuses the proposed $8.75 million ($2.6 million to Detroit) on specific schools and special environmental improvement programs approved by the State Education Department.

Mandatory reorganization of a primary school district which adopts deficit spending also is before the committee. If a state audit turns up financial mismanagement, an intermediate district would be authorized to take over the local district and write five-year, six per cent notes to be charged against the liquidated district and repaid by tax assessment.

Allocation of some $12.5 million to districts with exceptionally high tax levies also would be changed. Districts that now have tax rates 125 per cent above the state average may apply for those funds.

The proposed change would hike that rate to 133 per cent to prevent wealthier districts such as Dearborn or Bloomfield Hills from qualifying.

PIN-WORMS
A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Third Abortion Bill Proposed

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday reported out an abortion law reform proposal and recommended it be sent to another committee for further study.

★ ★ ★

The bill, sponsored by Sen. John McCauley, D-Wyandotte, was one of three abortion law reform measures introduced in the upper chamber this session.

★ ★ ★

It would permit abortions by licensed physicians in licensed hospitals of Michigan.

The other two proposals one calling for sweeping revision, the other to legalize abortion under specific circumstances had been referred to the Senate Committee on Health, Social Services and Retirement.

CONSIDERED TOGETHER

The Judiciary Committee urged that the measure it reported out also be sent to the Health Committee "so they could have all the proposals to look at at one time," said Judiciary Chairman Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

Health Chairman N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, said her committee would consider the abortion reform proposals Thursday night, only hours before the deadline for committees to report out bills this session.

★ ★ ★

Under current Michigan law, abortions are legal only when the life of the mother is in danger.

State Capitol News Briefs

THE GOVERNOR

Said he believes Detroit is still faced with an explosive situation due to racial tensions but hopefully there has been a moderation in the climate of violence.

Said he had talked with Senate majority leader, Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, about a proposal that he call a meeting of state college presidents to draft a uniform policy for dealing with campus disorder.

Denied making any deals concerning parochiaid and his proposal for the public school state aid bill.

Announced the resignation of Hubert DeJonge as director of State Commerce Department.

THE STATE BANKING COMMISSIONER

Discussed the one-day closing of the Morrice State Bank, the first such closing since the Public Bank of Detroit was closed in October 1966.

THE LEGISLATURE

Met briefly and conducted routine business before adjourning for meetings of committees which face a Thursday midnight deadline for reporting out bills.

Tornado Is Topic of REACT Meeting

A representative of the Detroit Weather Bureau will deliver a speech and show films on tornado development, recognition and protection at Sunday's meeting of the Oakland County REACT organization.

WE CARRY A COMPLETE LINE OF WHITMAN CHOCOLATES FOR MOTHER'S DAY....

Pontiac GI Is Killed in Viet Combat

DENNIS G. WARFIELD

Army Spec. 4 Dennis G. Warfield, 20, of 743 Blaine died in Vietnam combat April 30. His body is to arrive this week at the William R. Potere Funeral Home, Rochester.

"His attitude was very conservative. He never complained about having to go to Vietnam. He felt very sorry for the people there . . . He only looked forward to coming home to his family," his mother, Mrs. Patrick Stratton, said.

★ ★ ★

Spec. 4 Warfield entered the service in June 1968 and was assigned to Ben Hoa, South Vietnam, in November of 1968. He had only two months to go before ending his Vietnam tour of duty.

A 1967 graduate of Grand Rapids Central High School, Warfield was employed by Pontiac Motor Division between high school graduation and entrance into the Army.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his mother; his father, Donald Warfield of Grand Rapids; six sisters, Carrie, Kim and Kelly Stratton, all at home in Pontiac, and Laurie, Lou Ann and Lynn Warfield, also at home in Pontiac; two brothers, Michael Statton and Dean Warfield, both at home in Pontiac; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Johnson of Pontiac; Mrs. William Grit of Grand Rapids; and Virgil Warfield of Grand Rapids.

State March Set to Support Farm Workers

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Between 50 and 75 Mexican-American farm workers, students and members of other professions are expected to begin a four-day, 45-mile march today from this university town to Detroit.

Ed Chiera, a representative of the United Farm Workers, said the march would be to "express our solidarity with oppressed farm workers across the country, and especially the struggle in California."

★ ★ ★

It will culminate Saturday with a rally in downtown Detroit's Kennedy Square. The rally will be one of several held throughout Michigan and the rest of the country during International Grape Boycott Day demonstrations.

Chiera said the marchers expected to pick up sympathizers as they hiked along. Church groups and other organizations along the way have agreed to provide food and sleeping facilities, he said.

Loan Tangle Closes State Bank for Day

MORRICE (UPI) — Seventy-five-year-old Carl F. Eckfeld's dream of making a million dollars has been shattered — causing his bank to fold and putting him in the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Eckfeld was president and major stockholder of the Morrice State Bank in this tiny mid-Michigan farming community until Monday when state officials closed the institution due to loan losses estimated at $100,000.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, the bank was reopened as a branch of the neighboring Owosso Savings Bank under an arrangement worked out by State Banking Commissioner Robert P. Briggs and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

★ ★ ★

"This means no depositor has lost a dime," Briggs told a news conference. "The bank is operating the same as it was last week."

AID FROM FDIC

Briggs said the Owosso Bank paid $55,000 for cash, securities and the Morrice Bank Building. The FDIC, which had insured individual accounts up to $15,000, supplied $1.4 million "to balance the transaction," he added.

★ ★ ★

The story of how Eckfeld's dream ended was not so simple.

★ ★ ★

It started, Briggs said, last August when a Texas broker talked Eckfeld into selling him $1 million worth of one-year savings certificates on the basis that Eckfeld could use the money to make that much or more through mortgage loans.

★ ★ ★

The loans, many of them for homes not even built yet, were made to area contractors with 20-to-25-year repayment provisions, depleting the Morrice Bank's capital reserve.

DUE THIS AUGUST

A routine state audit showed that the $1 million in savings certificates were due to be paid this August, and no money in the bank to meet the obligation. That's when the institution was closed.

★ ★ ★

"It was bad management," said Briggs. "No prudent banker would have gotten involved in this."

★ ★ ★

The bank was founded in the aftermath of the 1929 stock market crash. Eckfeld has been president for many years and was listed in "fair condition" at a Lansing hospital, recuperating from the shock of it all.

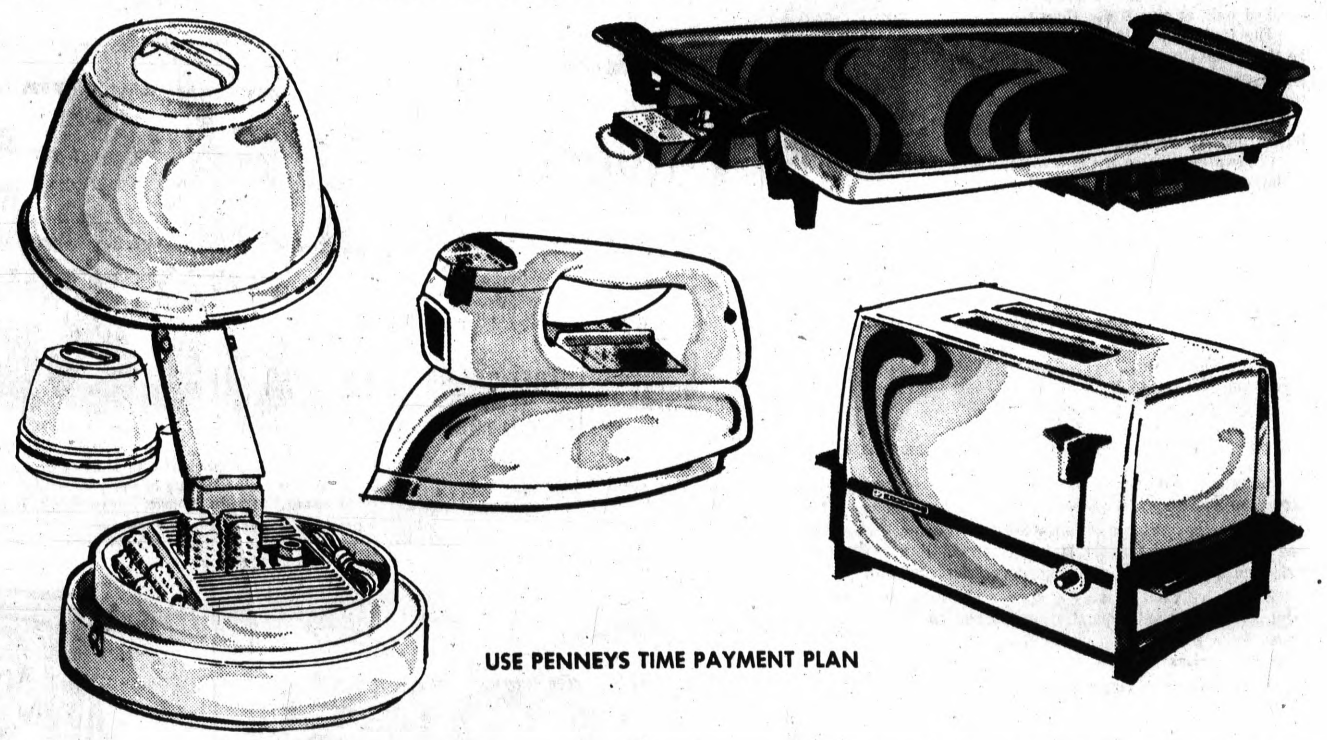

★ ★ ★

The banking commissioner said the Federal Bureau of Investigation was attempting to determine if the broker had violated any state or federal laws in connection with the transaction.

DALEY

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley has declined a challenge from the mayor of Gage, Okla., to compete in a 21-mile cross-country race.

"I do not plan to run," said Mayor Daley, when he learned yesterday that Mayor Loris Shafer of Gage had challenged him to the foot race May 21 between Gage and the town of May.

The race was billed to promote industrial growth in Gage, a town of 470.

"I understand Mr. Shafer is a young man —only 55. I'll have my four boys run against him," said Daley, who will be 67 on May 15.

Goldwater's Son to Escort Tricia Nixon to Ball

TRICIA

Newly elected Rep. Barry M. Goldwater Jr., R-Calif., a 30-year-old bachelor, will be Tricia Nixon's escort Saturday night for a masked ball at the White House.

The President's 23-year-old daughter will be the hostess at her first White House party for some 350 sons and daughters of her father's official family—including Cabinet, staff, members of Congress and the Washington diplomatic corps.

Goldwater was sworn into his House seat Monday after winning an election to fill a vacancy.

Judy Agnew Promises Paddling for Protesting Kin

Judy Agnew, wife of the vice president, was asked in Sacramento, Calif., what her reaction would be if any of her children participated in a campus disturbance.

"I'd paddle him," she said yesterday. The Agnews have three daughters, age 12 to 25, and a 22-year-old son.

Actor's Son Refuses Induction for Second Time

Christian Hayden, 20, is refusing for the second time to report for military induction.

The 20-year-old son of actor Sterling Hayden was acquitted in U.S. District Cocrt last year of failure to report for induction and granted status as a conscientious objector.

Hayden refused to accept such a classification and his local draft board subsequently classed him 1A. He refused to report for a preinduction physical in March or for induction yesterday in Los Angeles.

Hayden says he regards the induction notice as a "tool of the tyrant, slave master and overlord." His father won the Silver Star for heroism in World War II but has supported his son's antiwar stand.

Cast of Vienna State Opera Ribs Prince Philip

The cast of the Vienna State Opera gave Britain's Prince Philip a gentle ribbing in German, while Queen Elizabeth sat beside him occasionally whispering for a translation.

PHILIP

The royal couple, on an official visit, attended a performance of Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" last night.

Philip, who speaks fluent German, laughed when British tenor Murray Dickie, who sang the role of Prince Orlofsky, explained why he did not comprehend something. "I am a prince and I do not understand so fast," Dickie said. The Queen, who speaks no German, turned to the prince for an explanation.

Later, baritone Eberhard Waechter, who played the role of Eisentein, told Dickie, "You are a prince? I had a different idea of what a prince looks like." Dickie is short and overweight.

Dickie replied, "We cannot all be tall and handsome." Recognizing the obvious reference to Philip, the audience applauded.

Some Policyholders Are Burned Up

Hart to Sift Claims of Insurer Capriciousness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A woman filed a $35 insurance claim for a cigarette burn and got a visit from the agent. He wanted to check her clothes closet.

Her closet? The agent's home office told him that "the way things were stacked in the closet was a surefire way to tell whether the head of the house needed psychiatric care."

★ ★ ★

Then there was the clergyman who couldn't get insurance from the Farm Bureau Mutual Ins. Co., Jefferson City, Mo., because he said the company told him "you have so angered the citizens in your area by filing suit against a carnival for operating gambling games that if you were involved in an accident, even if it was not your own fault, a local jury would find against you."

The charges are excerpts from the files of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, which opens hearings today on arbitrary policy cancellations by insurance companies. The subcommittee is chaired by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

NOT RENEWED

The committee investigation centers on Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Huey, Stafford, Va., whose insurance was not renewed by the Royal Indemnity Insurance Co., New York City, because of "personal habits within your household."

Hart's investigation has brought a rash of complaints from irate policyholders who can't understand the reasoning behind some insurance policy cancellations.

★ ★ ★

The woman whose closets were checked told Hart: "It sounds like somebody needs psychiatric care, but it is not me."

Another woman told Hart that State Farm canceled her insurance because of her bad drinking and driving habits.

NO ACCIDENTS

The woman complained she never had an accident and didn't drink. What is more, she said: "The insurance agent who lives in her town is one of the town's heaviest drinkers and drives like there is no tomorrow."

Mrs. James M. Hoover, Austin, Tex., said she was canceled by the American Home Insurance Co., New York City, after she separated from her husband.

★ ★ ★

According to Mrs. Hoover, she was told "I'd drink and drive dangerously" as a result of her marital problem.

Said Mrs. Hoover: "I'm a nondrinker and the departure of my husband was a blessing."

Upjohn Hit for Try to Block Drug Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A prominent physician and drug expert accused a big pharmaceutical firm today of "a bold, unscrupulous and selfish attempt" to stop the government from banning a drug rated "ineffective."

Dr. William L. Hewitt, head of the Division of Infectious Diseases at the University of California Medical School in Los Angeles, leveled the accusation against the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., for its promotion of a combination drug trademarked Panalba.

★ ★ ★

He said Upjohn took in $16.8 million from Panalba sales last year despite its rating by the National Academy of Sciences as "ineffective."

Panalba is one of about 80 drug combinations — two or more drugs capsuled together — which the food and drug administration (FDA) has proposed to ban unless drug firms can prove their value.

APPEARS AT HEARING

Hewitt was one of 30 scientists whose evaluation of drug combinations for the National Academy of Sciences prompted the FDA action. He appeared today before the Senate Small Business Monopoly subcommittee, which is in the midst of a long investigation of alleged drug industry abuses.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said 83 drug combiations rank among the 200 most widely that they are usually useless, often dangerous and occasionally fatal.

★ ★ ★

In his prepared testimony, Hewitt said that despite repeated "entreaties to the industry" by Sscientists, drug firms kept promoting drug combinations "because of the economic rewards os pharmaceutical gimmickery."

After the FDA proposal, Hewitt said, Upjohn sent a "Dear Doctor" letter to physicians throughout the United States suggesting that they write to the fda about Panalba.

'MANY COMBINATIONS'

"Approximately 40 per cent of the drugs prescribed today are combinations of one form or another," the letter said. "In principle, if the physician's right to prescribe is denied for one category of useful drugs, it is conceivable this same right may be denied for others."

The letter was signed by J. C. Gauntlett, vice president and director of Upjohn.

★ ★ ★

Hewitt said Upjohn's appeal for a physician mail campaign to the FDA amounted to a call for "evaluation of drugs by the method of popular vote,'' discarding scientific findings.

"The introduction of ill-founded, confusing, threatening and dangerous methods for deciding scientific issues of medical practice requires close public scrutiny," Hewitt said.

Boxcar Pulls Switch on Pontiac Traffic

A boxcar broke through the end of a railroad siding, rolled across a sidewalk, stopped in the middle of a Pontiac street and blocked traffic for more than an hour early today.

Pontiac police said no one was hurt when the car apparently rolled too fast as it was switched onto the siding. It crashed through steel blocks at the siding's end at Sanderson and North Cass avenues at 2:55 a.m.

★ ★ ★

The car stopped in the middle of Sanderson at North Cass, according to police. The boxcar was removed from the intersection by the time people started to go to work.

Most Violence in NY Is Indoors

NEW YORK (AP) — The risk of falling victim to violent crime is higher indoors than it is on the street, according to a statistical report police headquarters released Tuesday.

For the first time, the Police Department totaled on-street and off-street statistics. It found that 61 per cent of all major crimes during the first three months of the year occurred indoors.

Death Takes Ad Manager for Hudson's

Harry R. Walsh, sales manager of J. L. Hudson Co. advertising department, died yesterday.

Requiem Mass will be 10 a.m. Saturday at the Church of St. Owen, Bloomfield Township. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

★ ★ ★

Christian Wake service will be 8 p.m. Friday at Vasu-Lynch Funeral Home, Royal Oak.

Surviving are his wife, Erma, and a sister, Mrs. Walter Haney of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Walsh also was vice president and secretary of Guiliano Travel Agency of Detroit. He was former president of the Emotionally Disturbed Children of Detroit and a member of the Detroit Athletic Club, the Adcraft Club and the Detroit Golf Club.

The body may be viewed after 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Make Your Own Chain Enclosure

It's simple and attractive to make a "do-it-yourself" chain fence to protect newly seeded lawn areas or border flower vegetable gardens.

Just attach lengths of chain about 18 inches apart to wrought iron or wooden posts set about four feet above ground level.

If you want to make the chain barrier more colorful, dip chain into bucket of bright paint and hang up to dry before installing. Chain can be painted bright red, yellow or green — or in colors to match the trim of your home.

For only a few cents a foot you can create an inexpensive and colorful way to say "Keep off the Grass."

Henry Absent, Cited by Judge

A Macomb County circuit judge has ordered Pontiac attorney Milton R. Henry to show cause Monday why he should not be cited for contempt of court for failing to appear in defense of a client yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Judge Frank Jenette issued the order yesterday against Henry, first vice president of the black nationalist Republic of New Africa.

★ ★ ★

His client, Dazell Luster, 23, of Detroit, is charged with assault with intent to commit murder and armed robbery in the holdup of a bar last year.

Last week, Pontiac District Judge James R. Stelt banned Henry from his courtroom when he denounced his citizenship.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County's nine circuit judges were to meet today to discuss Judge Stelt's ruling. The circuit bench has jurisdiction over the district courts.

There are 300,000 doctors, 650,000 nurses and 2,000,000 hospital workers in the United States.

Johnson's position will be filled by Charles Egeler, deputy warden in charge of the trustee division at Southern Michigan Prison.

Egeler will be replaced by Charles Anderson, superintendent of the reception diagnostic center at the prison.

E. R. Darham, supervisor of special activities at the prison, will succeed Anderson.

Newsmen Drink Up to Show Breath-Test Rates Boos

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — When a controversy arose recently over whether Oregon's "drunken driving" breath-test is adequate, three Portland newsmen took it upon themselves to test it.

The three—Charles Steers of the Oregon Journal, Dick Klinger of KPOJ radio and Howard Perkin of KATU-TV—were fed a roast beef dinner at the Portland Hilton.

Then, with representatives of the Oregon Medical Association, the Portland Police Bureau and Portland State University watching, the men proceeded to down a dozen shots of whsiky each over a four-hour period.

After the four hours they were given the official Breath-o-Lyzer test to determine blood alcohol levels. None of them had reached the legal drunkeness level of .15 per cent blood alcohol.

Each drinker was then tested — electronically and psychologically—for reaction time, coordination and manual dexterity.

Officials administering the tests said the results showed the three were intoxicated. None was in any condition to drive a car, yet all were legally sober.

Oregon's drunken driving test is similar to those used by 21 other states, officials said.

Lodge Boosts Autonomy of Liquor Panel

LANSING (UPI) — The effect of bringing the Liquor Control on (LCC) under the jurisdiction of the State Commerce Department has been to "hamper, delay and inconvenience" operations, a legislative study has concluded.

Senate Commerce Committee Chairman L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford Township, headed the study. Even before introducing the final 25-page report yesterday, Lodge sponsored a bill to make the Liquor Control Commission an autonomous unit within the department. It was a separate entity in the legislative branch until the Executive Reorganization Act of 1965.

★ ★ ★

Other bills have been sponsored to create a Department of Liquor Control.

★ ★ ★

Lodge's report charged the Commerce Department is "antagonistic" toward the LCC, exercises "overriding authority" and "throttles" its work.

HANDLES ALL LIQUOR

The commission is responsible for the purchase and distribution of all alcoholic beverages in Michigan and grosses about $300 million annually.

★ ★ ★

The report greatly criticized Commerce Department Director Herbert C. DeJonge for "overriding and crippling authority." In an apparently unrelated incident, DeJong resigned yesterday to become deputy director of the Department of Administration.

★ ★ ★

The unique status of the LCC as the only money-making commission in the state mandates that it have control of its budget requests and accounting procedures, the report continued.

★ ★ ★

Currently, it said, the LCC is constrained by department red tape, which results "in continuous delays, . . . and handicaps and embarrassment to LCC operations."

Lightning generates a force of up to one billion volts and a current up to 200,000 times greater than the amount consumed by a 100-watt light.

He Follows Orders ---to Army's Dismay

FORT DIX, N.J. (UPI) — For two years Pvt. Bert Barrier stayed home awaiting travel orders from the Army. Today he's waiting to find out if he was AWOL.

Barrier, 22, turned himself in Thursday when the Army finally started inquiring of his whereabouts. He was promptly slapped into the stockade, but was released yesterday pending a decision on his case.

★ ★ ★

Barrier, from Morristown, N.J., claims it was the Army's fault that his 14-day leave, granted March 29, 1967, turned into a two-year vacation. His attorney, Melvin Wolfe of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), is backing him up.

"The Army should charge themselves with mismanagement," Wolfe said.

AWAITING ORDERS

Barrier claims he has been awaiting travel orders for two years since the 1967 leave was granted at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. He said the Army told him he would go to Germany when the leave expired.

But when no orders had arrived in the 12th day of his leave, the soldier claims, he contacted his recruiting sergeant in Morristown, who reportedly was told by Army officials at Ft. Harrison that Barrier should stay home until the orders arrived.

Barrier stayed home — for two years — claiming his orders never came.

Last week Barrier's name popped up in Army files, and Capt. D. D. Hershberger of the U.S. Overseas Replacement Station here sent a letter to the soldier's father, Shephard Barrier, asking about his son.

Barrier promptly turned himself in.

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Surgeons amputated the left leg of David Jones, 27, a hemophilia patient from Portland, Ore., today when an artery graft made during previous surgery broke down.

Doctors at the University of Michigan Hospital said the hemorrhage that resulted from the breakdown of the femoral artery graft had threatened Jones' life.

★ ★ ★

Jones, suffering from severe hemophilia, flew here last month for surgery April 22 in which tumors were removed from his thigh asd abdomen, and a fractured leg was repaired.

Hemophilia prevented his blood from clotting properly, and doctors controlled the bleeding with special techniques developed here.

Following the amputation, Jones' condition was described as "relatively stable." Doctors said he was talking, and probably would be returned to his private room within the next couple of days. They indicated his blood coagulation was adequate.

About 18 inches of his femoral artery had been removed along with the tumor in his leg during the original surgery last month. It had been replaced with an 18-inch graft from one of his own veins.

Huber Report on Campus Disorders Due

LANSING (AP) — Aiming to prove the Legislature is not "fiddling while the state's higher education system is burning," the chairman of the special Senate Committee studying campus disorder promises a report to the poeple Friday.

Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, announced the report on the Senate floor Tuesday as a few colleagues joined him in denouncing recent campus protests.

The upper chamber met only briefly before adjourning for meetings of committees which face a Thursday deadline for reporting out bills.

Action on House amendments to the Senate-approved bill to allocate $285 million in water pollution bond funds was postponed for the day after Senate majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, said some members had not had enough time to study the proposed changes.

MEETING 'SUPERFLUOUS'

Huber termed "superfluous" a letter to Gov. William Milliken from Lockwood, who proposed a meeting of college and university officials to discuss various methods of coping with campus disturbances.

Milliken told a news conference Tuesday he was giving the proposal "careful consideration."

★ ★ ★

Huber cited "how difficult it is to get cooperation" in an investigation and says it would take four months for (the governor) to catch up with us" if he took Lockwood's suggestion.

The majority leader maintained, however, that a move by the governor would "not stop the commitee."

NOT DUPLICATION

"I don't feel it would be a duplication of efforts," Lockwood said, explaining that some university trustees already had indicated a desire to know how disorders were handled on other campuses.

Huber mentioned a previous move by Central Michigan University to organize such a meeting and said the effort "slowly died away" because of apparent disinterest.

Bellboy Saves Guests, Faces Arson Charge

MIAMI (AP) — A bellboy who made his way through smoke-filled corridors awakening guests in a hotel fire has been accused of setting the blaze.

Police said the bellboy, hired by the Hotel Patricia under the name Bob Henderson, turned out to be Michael Van Volkenburg, 21, an AWOL soldier from Ft. Benning, Ga.

Henderson was arrested after flames swept up the hotel stairways Tuesday, forcing firemen to rescue some persons by ladder. All 106 guests were evacuated safely.

Detectives said Van Volkenburg admitted he started the fire by throwing lighted matches into a linen closet.

ON THE JOB

The bellboy had talked with a newsman at the fire scene. He said he had gone from room to room to pound on doors and awaken guests. "I tried to get some people out of upstairs, but it was too smoky," he said.

He then ran downstairs to the lobby and began compiling lists of occupied rooms for firemen, he said. He manned the desk, handled the switchboard and quieted anxious guests.

★ ★ ★

Once he moved across the lobby to sit beside an elderly, white-haired woman guest. She was in tears. He put his arm around her shoulders and pulled her close, tightening the blanket about her.

Investigators said the bellboy told them:

He got off work at midnight and drank in the hotel bar for a while. About 2 a.m. he wen up one floor from his second floor room and "threw several lighted matches into a linen closet next to the stairwell."

He was charged with arson 12 hours after the fire started.

Poor to March in Charleston

Thousands to Support Hospital Aide Strike

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) A Mother's Day march of poor people which civil rights leaders had planned in Washington Sunday has been shifted here in a gesture of support for striking Negro hospital workers.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), who made the announcement, said thousands of persons from across the nation would participate.

Dr. William M. McCord, president of the South Carolina Medical College Hospital, one of the two struck hospitals, said Tuesday the college may have to close because the 500-bed hospital is operating at about half its capacity and no longer offers sufficient training for medical students.

The strikers-maids, orderlies and food service workers are asking for union recognition and a pay increase of an unspecified amount above the present $1.30 to $2.05 an hour. They walked out of the Medical College Hospital and the Charleston County Hospital seven weeks ago.

★ ★ ★

Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., whom Abernathy succeeded as president of the SCLC, appealed in New York Tuesday to the leadership of the AFL-CIO for support of the hospital strikers.

Hospital costs in this country are rising at the rate of nearly 16 per cent a year, with an average cost presently of $66 a day.

Incident Spurs Probe of Fortas' Ex-Law Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury now meeting in Cleveland will look into a documents incident involving Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas' former law firm, it has been learned authoritatively.

The pending probe, kicked off by the Justice Department, centers on documents found last summer in a safe at Arnold & Porter in the wake of a jewelry theft.

Fortas had long left the prestigious Washington law firm to go on the Supreme Court. His wife, tax attorney Carolyn Agger, is a partner. Otherwise, the investigation appears to have no direct relation to the justice who severed connections with the law firm in October 1965.

Still, it serves to train additional attention on Fortas, under severe attack since Life Magazine disclosed Sunday night that while on the court he had been tendered a fee by the family of industrialist Louis E. Wolfson.

THOUGHT MISSING

The documents were thought missing when they were subpoenaed ni a price-fixing investigation by the Justice Department from Irwin Fruchtman, a Toledo steel executive and a client of the firm.

They were found by police last August when Arnold & Porter offices were ransacked and robbed. The intruders took $22,160 of Mrs. Fortas' jewelry and $944 in cash.

Fruchtman was indicted last summer and sentenced in September to a year and a day in prison, for obstructing justice and detroying subpoenaed documents.

The grand jury investigation is certain to spark political speculation, since it was not begun until the Justice Department passed from Democratic to Republican hands.

REFUSES DISCUSSION

Fred M. Vinson Jr., who headed the department's criminal division in the Johnson administration, declined to discuss the matter with a reporter.

"I don't think it is proper for a former or current officer to comment," he said.

Officials of the firm also declined comment, but G. Duane Vieth, a partner, said a statement may be issued today.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, Republicans continued criticism of Fortas.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., in a telegram to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, said: "I strongly recommend that the Justice Department make a thorough investigation of the matter concerning a grant by the Wolfson Foundation to Justice Fortas.

"His involvement in this and other questionable incidents would appear to be sufficient grounds for legal action and the possible removal of Justice Fortas from the court."

Timely Topic for Discussion

BRIDGETON, N.J. (AP) — A fire broke out in the junior high school here recently while the school board was meeting in the building to take action on financing a fire-detection system currently being installed.

Firemen confined the blaze primarily to a closet.

Skyjackings to Cuba: Is the Fad Dying Out?

MIAMI (AP) — Airliner hijackings to Cuba, an almost daily occurence early in 1969, have dwindled sharply and government officials say they hope the sky piracy is on its last legs—or wings.

The hijackings of a National Airlines passenger plane Monday was the first since April 14, and the first over this country since March 25.

★ ★ ★

In January alone, 11 planes were hijacked.

The figure dropped to five each in February and March, and to three in April.

FAD DYING OUT?

"It's possible the fad has died out," J. M. Frazier, head of the Federal Aviation Administration's Miami area office, said Tuesday.

"We know there's been a decline in the hijackings, but we don't really know why.

"On April 1, we did issue posters to airlines and tourist counters warning that airline hijacking is a federal crime punishable by death. But whether this has played a part in the decrease is anybody's guess."

The posters, in bold black, red and blue letters, also warn that carrying concealed weapons aboard an aircraft is punishable by prison and fines and that passengers and baggage are subject to search.

WEAPON DETECTOR

Another device to cut down the hijackings is a new weapons-detection machine which Frazier said was being used at selected airports around the country. The machine can detect objects made of metal.

Another informed source noted that potential hijackers might have been discouraged by reports filtering out of Cuba that their kind are given less than a hero's welcome.

★ ★ ★

"Or it could be that the airlines are more alert to potential hijackers and are screening them more heavily," he said. "Or maybe the kooks no longer find it the novelty they once did."

Fidel Castro said last month he still won't turn away anyone who pirates a plane for the purpose of obtaining political asylum.

Them Wuz the Good Ol' Days!

SHIRLEY GRAY

Stricken all of a sudden with nostalgia for the days of bobby sox, long, long Brooks' sweaters, rationing and big bands, a bunch of old Detroiters, North Enders, etc., who went to school in the '40s are calling together a Saddle Shoe Reunion.

A committee made up of Peg and Howard Keating Jr., Madelaine and Donald Mathews, Kay and Robert Fife, Mary Lou and Frank Murphy, Rosemary and Harry Stark Jr., plus Grosse Pointers Ann and Edward Hickey, has sent out 400 — that's right — invitations, at the same time keeping their collective fingers crossed that no one's been overlooked.

★ ★ ★

The gang will gather at Keatington's Antique Village for dinner, dancing, cocktails, all served with huge helpings of nostalgia. That's next Saturday evening, May 17.

★ ★ ★

Exotic party of the week award goes to Birminghamites Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parsons of Willow Lane.

★ ★ ★

At their home Monday evening, they entertained the Premier of Granada, Eric Gairy. Granada is a tiny island nation off the northern coast of South America which just happened to be the shoving-off spot for a Caribbean cruise last winter enjoyed by the Parsonses and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Holmes.

Also in Mr. Gairy's party were Mrs. Gertrude Protain, chief of the Granada tourist bureau, and Paul Ottley, who holds a government post.

The Holmeses were there, of course, plus the George B. Kilbornes, the David Tennants, the Thomas Wagners, the Stephen Millers, the Rodney Laytons, the John Wises, the William Krafters and the Herbert Fishers.

The premier will be in town till Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Medical Society will have its annual dinner dance Saturday at Bloomfield Open Hunt. Mrs. Richard Gause is chairman.

Meetings Are Set for Special Units

A special meeting for members of Ikebana International, chapter 85, will be held May 14 at 10 a.m. in the Episcopal Church of the Advent.

Those planning to participate in the "Glimpse of Japan" show the following week will have a practice session.

★ ★ ★

Supervision will be given by a number of qualified teachers of the various schools, including Mrs. J. T. Shimoura, Mrs. P. N. Askounes of Birmingham and Mrs. Glenn Bedell of Sylvan Lake.

FRIDAY MEETING

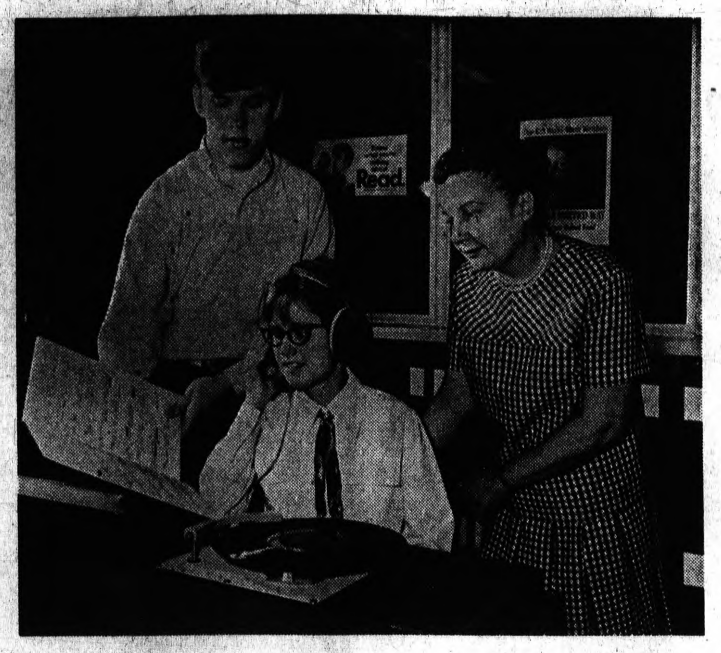

The regular monthly meeting of Detroit Handweavers and Spinners will be held Friday at 11 a.m. in Room C, Northland Center Concourse, adjoining parking lot E.

★ ★ ★

An exhibit of Marguerite Brooks' weaving and bobbin lace, featuring her invention, the Brooks lace stitch in some items, will be on view.

★ ★ ★

The annual evening meeting will take place May 27 at 7 p.m. in the same place. Margaret Johanson, whose tapestries have been exhibited here and abroad, will give an illustrated lecture.

Two members of local junior music clubs, sponsored by Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, check recordings and sheet music at Pontiac City Library. With Phyllis Pope, librarian (right) are Ray Henry, North Johnson Street (standing) and Nancy Thompson, Lakewood Street. This week is designated as National Music Week.

National Music Week Is Observed in Area

This week marks the 46th annual observance of National Music Week which was first organized under the guidance of the late Charles M. Tremaine. Otto H. Kahn, for many years chairman of the board of directors for the Metropolitan Opera Company, served as the first National chairman.

Since 1924, beginning with Calvin Coolidge, each of the Nation's presidents has lent his support, as honorary chairman, to this annual observance.

The National Federation of Music Clubs took over the sponsorship of the celebration in 1959, with state sponsorship, in Michigan, by the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs.

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, a member club, is in charge of local promotion.

The theme chosen for 1969 is "Music Enriches Life," with a four-fold objective of "Creating an understanding and appreciation of the value of music, in the home, in the community, as a common bond between peoples and as an instrument of world peace."

Junior music clubs, an outgrowth of the Michigan Federation, are for youngsters up to age 18 who have had a year or more of music study.

FESTIVALS, CONCERTS

The members participate in annual music festivals, are given opportunities for public performance, may enter composers' contests and are eligible to audition for scholarships to music schools and summer camps.

The juniors' objective is to promote the capabilities of each child to the ultimate of his abilities and to develop responsibility needed to handle leadership in the music field in the future.

The annual convention of the Michigan Federation took place at the Hayes Hotel in Jackson May 1-3. Mrs. Phillip R. Flanders of Bloomfield Hills represented the State Southeast District, in her capacity as president.

★ ★ ★

Other district officials attending included Mrs. Eugene Albright of Rochester, Mrs. George V. Cripps, of Bloomfield Hills and Lucille Boerberitz, also of Rochester.

Southeast District Club presidents attending included Mesdames: Louis M. Randall Jr. of Birmingham; George Rickey, Farmington; Harvey Gordenker, Mt. Clemens; Richard Chapman, Oxford; Laurence Foss, Rochester and John F. Radenbaugh, Pontiac.

Children Relate Problems Concerning Gifts for Mom

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Mother's day will soon be here and I wish you would say something in your column to remind "young marrieds" to remember their mothers-in-law, too. Even if it's only a card or a note. There were so many years when I should have remembered my mother-in-law, but I was too "busy."

★ ★ ★

This year I will send her a spray of flowers — to the cemetery — bitterly regretting that I failed to send her flowers while she was living. I should have appreciated her more, written her more about her grandchildren, whom she loved so much, and most of all I should have let her know how much I had grown to love her.

I hope others will not make the same mistake I made because next year may be too late. Abby, please use my real initials. I want my father-in-law to know how I feel. Sincerely yours, I. G. M.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My mother gave me her annual warning speech again this year prior to Mother's day. It always starts out, "Please don't buy me anything. There's nothing I need." Abby, this hurts me. I KNOW my mother doesn't "need" anything, but it takes the pleasure out of it for me when she is so ungracious as to reject my gift before she even gets it.

Please put a word or two in your column letting mothers know that their children enjoy buying Mother's day gifts and they should not be discouraged from doing so. LOVES TO GIVE

DEAR LOVES: Most mothers are fearful that their children will deny themselves something in order to buy a Mother's day gift. An original poem or letter doesn't cost anything, and is the most cherished of all gifts.

When I was a child, my own mother used to say, "Don't buy me anything. I have everything I need." So I would write little poems and verses telling her how much I appreciated her. Only after she passed away did I realize how much they meant to her. She had saved every one.

DEAR ABBY: Would you comment on an exasperating situation? Every Mother's day I give my mother, who is 67 and still has a full-time job, something I know she needs and think she would enjoy using. Handbags, lingerie, gloves, or other personal items, keeping her preferences in mind.

Most of these things end up, unused, on the shelf or in a drawer because they are "too good" for every day. So often she'll wear something downright shabby looking when she has an untouched new replacement on hand.

This has happened time and again. I've tried giving her a check in a greeting card, but the checks are never cashed. Gift certificates are not the answer, as she "hates" to shop, whereas I LIKE to shop for gifts.

★ ★ ★

I can't understand what she is "saving" these things for. She says she likes my "taste," and I can certainly afford everything I buy her.

Every time I inquire why she's not using or wearing my gifts, there's a shouting match which resolves nothing.

So who's being touchy and inconsiderate? And what's the answer? IRIS

★ ★ ★

DEAR IRIS: Whatever the reason, it will have to remain your mother's secret. Maybe it's just one of her idiosyncrasies. Give her another gift, and don't mention her "saving" your previous gifts.

★ ★ ★

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Forced Kisses Not Pleasant, Moans Woman

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: So happy you have followed in the footsteps of your lovely grandmother-in-law.

★ ★ ★

Would it be possible to stop women and funny men from kissing other women forcefully. More than one of my good teeth have been broken off at funerals by these revolting people I never knew, with false teeth and bad breath and buxom breasts. Please come to our rescue. — Grace

★ ★ ★

Dear Grace: The best way is to be a more forceful dodger. When you see someone bearing down on you with that kissing gleam in his (or her) eye, turn the other cheek — and wait until the impulse cools.

Then hold out your hand, and take theirs, using the handshake to hold them at a distance.

School Slates Festival

The annual strawberry festival sponsored by Bloomfield Country Day School for Girls will take place Saturday on the school grounds from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Library Exhibit Records Historic Musical Events

The Pontac Public Library is marking National Music Week with an exhibit in its display-cases at the Main Library. Items from this exhibit may be borrowed any time.

The library is stocked with a rich collection of books, music scores, records, magazines and even some pamphlets.

Books about music range through histories, criticism and commentary, biographies of performers and composers, textbooks, and the art of violin making.

BACH TO BARTOK

Phyllis Pope, chief librarian, says the music scores are mainly piano and vocal, from Bach to Bartok. Many of these are in sets with varied selections.

Others are devoted to one composer, as Chopin's "Complete Works" in several volumes; also Schubert's "Complete Songs."

There is, she says, lots of Gilbert and Sullivan and some modern musical comedies, but no hot jazz.

★ ★ ★

There are quite a few of the standard oratorios, lots of operas arranged for voice with piano accompaniment and some libretti of the more popular operas.

The collection of records numbers over 1560 in a wide range of classical titles. There are some popular selections but again no jazz. Miss Pope explains that this is a field too expensive to keep up with, due to its fast-changing fads and styles.

The Main Library subscribes to American Record Guide; Better Radio and Television; High Fidelity; Notes; and Opera News magazines.

Officers, Trustees Elected for Year

Mrs. B. B. Roush was reelected president of the Oakland County Hospital Association for 1969-'70 at a meeting held Monday in the board room of Pontiac General Hospital.

She will be assisted by Mesdames: Richard Fitzgerald, vice president; Maxwell Shadley, secretary and Clark Adams, treasurer.

Other offices are held by Mesdames: Harcourt S. Patterson, John Q. Waddell, Robert E. O'Connor, Robert Anderson and Mrs. Robert Anglemier.

Trustees are: Richard Poole, M. A. Benson, C. K. Patterson and Mesdames: Harcourt Patterson, A. E. Yokem, Clark Adams, Roy Williams, Richard Fitzgerald, Horace Young, B. B. Roush, Harold A. Fitzgerald, Maxwell Shadley, Robert E. O'Connor, J. Q. Waddell and Robert Anderson.

The association voted to purchase a respirator and two Bilirubin Reduction lamps for the obstetrics floor from the 1968 budget.

Lakeland Players rehearse a scene from "Barefoot In the Park" for Friday and Saturday performances in Mason Junior High School. Charles Schmidt of Hazlett Street carries a sleeping Patti Hott of Stratton Drive, as director Mrs. Howard Heitzeg of Farm Road gives both cast members some tips on acting. Curtain time for both nights is 8.

'Sweet Charity' Staged at Avon

Charity Hope Valentine, a born loser who's lookin' for love, will make her pitch for the big spenders from the stage of Avon Playhouse Thursday through Sunday; again May 15 through 18, and the final weekend May 22 through 24. Curtain times are 7:30 p.m. Sundays; 8:30 all other evenings.

Becky Webster, a newcomer to Avon Players, is cast in the role of the indomitable taxi dancer. Helen Morgan and Joyce Contrucci play her friends in the bawdy ballroom.

Other feature roles in the Neil Simon musical comedy are being done by Jack Lawson, Nancy McCulley, Jean Frailing and Roger Slee.

Jim Reynolds and Skip McCulley play two of the men who touch an ever-responsive chord in "Sweet Charity."

A swinging chorus of singers and dancers rounds out the action.

Mary Chapman is producer of this final show of the 1968-69 season. Jarvis Lamb is directing, assisted by Jane Ramsay. JoAnn McVeigh is in charge of music. Virginia Miller is responsible for the costumes, which run the gamut from gaudy to glamorous. Rosemary Jackson designed the sets.

CHOREOGRAPHY

Norma Tazzia, a mother of five boys ranging in age from three to 12, has choreographed the show and appears in a solo dance number.

A limited number of tickets is still available from the box office, 100 E. University Drive or by writing Avon Players, Box 332, Rochester, 48063.

"Frug 'n' freeze" is the order of the evening for these dancers in a nightclub sequence of "Sweet Charity," Avon Players' newest production. The performers, all but one from Rochester area, are, (from left) Ken Palmgren, Jan Lawson, Keith Lothery, Ginny deSteiger, H. A. Scott, (an import from Pontiac) and choreographer Norma Tazzia.

Swim Fashions Shine as Sun Comes Out

A challis rose purple and orange print cover-up in the season's newest fabric — bandura. Although originally designed as a cover-up over a brief suit, we are convinced it will be worn as is. Monika's 1969 Swim Clothes Collection for Elon of California.

The perfect suit to slink in is designed for this season's mermaid by Tom Brigance for Sinclair. Brown butterflies are all aflutter on the sleek satin maillot of Du Pont's "Antron" nylon and "Lycra" spandex. On land or in the sea the shape stays the same with almost weightless control.

Barely one piece, but cut out to be first choice with all chic bathing beauties, is this maillot by Sirena. The fabric is a beautifully behaved knit of Du Pont nylon and "Lycra" spandex. In the water or out, no sags or bags, and it dries in a breeze.

Feminine, fresh and youthful is "Shapemaker's" three-piece set in printed flocked dot cotton, with eyelet trim on cover-up, brief trunk, and scoop neck bra. Navy color combination only.

In a specially designed print, called Sea Scapes, Leo Narducci for Rose Marie Reid puts the doeskin powernet fabric to a high fashion treatment with this turtle neck mio, called Sea Spray, with low banded back. The form fitting soft control and the high style, both front and back, make this a fashion first for Rose Marie Reid.

Kappa Delta Gals Set Joint Confab for Units

A joint meeting of the afternoon and evening groups of Kappa Delta South Oakland Alumnae Association will take place at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Winderoft home of Mrs. Donald Neal. Mrs. William Thewalt will assist.

The joint meeting will commemorate the 29th anniversary of the Association and be highlighted with new officer installations.

NEW OFFICERS

Taking over new posts will be Mrs. Ray Kassabian, president; Mrs. William Lanphar, vice president; Mrs. John Washburn, secretary and Mrs. Katherine Weiss Closson, treasurer.

Mrs. Neal will be chairman of the afternoon group and Mrs. George Heine Jr., chairman of the evening group. Mrs. Kassabian was selected delegate to the 38th national convention at Grand Bahama Island June 23-27. Mrs. John Clark will be convention marshall.

Mrs. Laurence Pate and Mrs. John Von Eberstein will also attend the convention.

Festival Trip for Oldsters

Some six hundred senior citizens representing 25 senior citizens groups throughout Oakland County will visit the Tulip Festival in Holland on May 14.

A picnic luncheon will take place in Holland's Kollen Park and following the Festival activities, the group will have dinner in a local restaurant before leaving for home.

★ ★ ★

This trip is being made possible through the Oakland Community College project "Serve" and the Oakland County Senior Citizens Council.

Mrs. Mary Lou Marsh of the College is in charge assisted by Mrs. Ella Heft, Council secretary.

Senior Citizens Set 'Gay 90s' Program

A potluck supper and entertainment for senior citizens, sponsored by the Waterford Community Schools program, is scheduled at 6 p.m. tonight in Donelson School.

A visiting group of citizens from Berkley will provide "Gay 90s" entertainment.

WHY IS THIS WATCH CALLED A CERTIFIED CHRONOMETER*?

Self-winding, calendar-dial Constellation chronometer, $185
Other Constellations, $175 to $1650

The rating of "chronometer" is reserved for timepieces of exceptional accuracy which have undergon 360 hours of rigid testing . . . in extremes of heat and cold. The peerless accuracy of every Omega Constellation is certified by an official Swiss Testing Bureau. So exacting are these tests, less than one out of every 50,000 watches qualifies for this coveted rating. In addition to official chronometer tests, Constellation's 24-jewel automatic movement receives 1497 quality-control inspections during manufacture . . . assuring longer life.

Powered by gravity, the Omega Constellation winds itself as you wear it. Without hand-winding, or power-cells which frequently need replacing, it will run for years and years, as long as you wear it. Calendar-dial models tell the exact date as well as the precise time . . . automatically. The Constellation is one of the world's finest watches. Ask for free Omega style brochure.

Case No. J-519

Tricks of Shoplifters

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-519: Bob Vereen edits the magazine for the National Retail Hardware Association.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," he began, "because shoplifting has become such a drain on retail stores, we conducted an experiment.

"By prearrangement with the owners, one of our staff entered their hardware stores to see if he could do any shoplifting.

"The clerks in the stores did not know about our secret plan.

"And our staff man found that even as an amateur he could steal almost at will."

SHOPLIFTING

Bob then explained many of the evil tricks that are employed by Americans to loot honest merchants of an estimated FIVE BILLION dollars annually.

Women will thus slip small items of merchandise into their purses when they think they are not being observed.

Others carry umbrellas and just drop goods therein, for it serves as a convenient sack.

★ ★ ★

Another crooked device is to enter the store with a large box that is wrapped and tied, as if it had been a purchase at some other store.

But that box actually has a trapdoor in the bottom which opens inward.

So the thief can slip hammers, chisels, flashlights and other merchandise inside the box by merely pushing inward on that trapdoor.

Some professional shoplifters among the female sex, will also have large purses with a false bottom.

The will then set the purse down upon the small object which they play to steal, whether it be a hardware item or perfume and jewelry at other types of shop.

★ ★ ★

Then, as the clerk may think the woman is merely looking into her purse for some change, the thief merely raises the false bottom of that pocketbook and lifts up the item on which that purse is sitting.

Another common stunt is worked right at the cash register, for the customer knocks something on the floor behind the counter.

As the checkout girl courteously stoops to retrieve it, the crook lifts cigarets, razor blades or other small items right off the counter.

★ ★ ★

Many shoplifters will examine some large container, such as a thermos bottle, pitcher or small piece of luggage.

Then they place thier stolen items therein and pay the sales clerk for the thermos bottle. But the clerk doesn't realize that it contains some hidden merchandise inside.

In this test experiment, even a power lawn mower was taken from in front of the hardware store and placed in the automobile trunk without any detection.

"Our agent was a bit nervous, being an amateur," Bob added, "especially since a man in an auto across the street was watching him closely.

"So he just walked back inside the store and folded a white sheet of notepaper, which he carried back outside in his hand.

"The man in the auto thought it was a sales slip, so he quit watching and our agent loaded the mower in his car."

She Surveys Men's Field

DETROIT (UPI) Not even the Great Lakes are sacrosanct anymore.

Breaking an over 128-year-old tradition, a U.S. Lake Survey field team had its first girl "surveyman" along when it began 1969 operations Monday.

★ ★ ★

Paulette Love, both a shapely blond and a qualified scuba diver, was to work in the field team's office trailer where collected information is fed for compiling work sheets. Occasionally, she was to work as a scuba diver to check lake survey's water level gage installations.

★ ★ ★

The surveys started in Port Huron to be followed by stops at Bay City and Alpena this month.

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I saw a summer coat in a fashion magazine that intrigued me very much and yet I can't find a pattern that has the detail I admired so much. The coat had slits in the seams that were almost at the exact sides, otherwise the coat had very simple lines that can be copied in a pattern. Can I simply leave the lower part of the seam unstitched to obtain the same effect?

Mrs. M. R.

Dear Mrs. M. R.:

This "slit detail" is very easy to achieve, especially if you decide upon it before you have cut your pattern. Simply cut a two inch seam allowance the length of the desired slit instead of the usual ⅝ inch. If you aren't sure just how high to make the slit, it is better to cut the seam extension higher than necessary, it can always be cut and stitched down further. This is really a "fun" detail to use on a coat; I have done it many times.

★ ★ ★

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I was given a piece of cashmere for a coat and would like this to be my summer project. Can you give me any little tips on working with this type of fabric?

Mrs. W. D.

Dear Mrs. W. D.:

Cashmere is usually a fairly soft fabric; keep this in mind when selecting a pattern. Be sure you check the nap, it must run down. (As you smooth your fabric with your hand, it should feel smooth from the shoulder down toward the hem.) All pieces of the garment must be cut in the same direction.

★ ★ ★

Be careful not to press on the right side of the fabric and I would also suggest you place a piece of cashmere over your pressing board so that the two pieces of cashmere will touch each other and avoid a hard or shiny look.

Because the fabric is soft, the front edges, collar edges, pockets etc. will usually not look as flat as you might wish, therefore, hand picking or machine top-stitching is recommended, it also adds a lovely touch to an otherwise plain fabric.

Dear Eunice,

I am wondering if there is any disadvantage to stitching the sleeve into the armhole before stitching the side and sleeve seams? I must sew for four children as well as myself and find this is a much quicker method.

Mrs. A. L. E.

Dear Mrs. A. L. E.:

This is a method that is seldom used when making custom clothes, however, it is used in most factory made garments simply because it does save time and we're all interested in that.

I usually recommend sewing all boys' and men's sleeves in this method as well as shirt type sleeves for women's clothes because the cap of the sleeve doesn't have to be shaped as it does for regular women's clothes. I would suggest you continue with your method for any "quickie" type clothes and insert the sleeves into the armhole after the underarm seams have been completed on your better garments.

★ ★ ★

You will find my letter "All About Sleeves" very helpful and you may obtain your copy by sending 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Designers Dig Discards

Opening today in Cranbrook Art Academy Galleries is an exhibit entitled, "Have you ever wondered where it all went?"

Eight graduate students of the design department have taken samples of man's discards and, by assembling them in an unfamiliar way, created a special environment.

NEW DIMENSION

Photos and changing slides will provide additional dimension to the whole which consists of such things as old telephone booths, gasoline pumps, doors, burned-out light bulbs, IBM cards and tape, tires, etc.

★ ★ ★

Exhibitors are: Michael Monroe, Stephen Frykholm, Tom Kirchhofer, Grace Wong, Kotaro Masuda, Pamela Perry, Nancy Whitlock and James Quirk.

★ ★ ★

The show will run through May 25. Gallery hours are 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays, except major holidays. There is an admission.

Slim Torso by Exercise

To reduce upper hips and waist, try this simple exercise: Lie on your back, arms extended on floor, shoulders level. Palms turned up. Bend knees up over your chest.

★ ★ ★

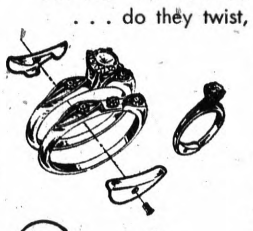

Keeping your knees together, roll them over the floor as close to your right elbow as possible. Roll your knees back to your chest. Hold. Then bring knees over to your left elbow. Roll knees back to chest. Hold.

★ ★ ★

Do this as often as you can, on a daily basis, for 21 days. The results will be enlightening.

Junior Criminals Pay Consequences, Too

By JIM LONG

Junior's under 17, legally a juvenile, and he's in trouble. He broke the law.

And now he faces the consequences.

★ ★ ★

Junior is more or less representative of the thousand or so youngsters who commit crimes and end up before a judge or referee in the juvenile division of Oakland County's Probate Court.

His mistake may have started as a teen-age prank that got out of hand, or shoplifting a 10-cent comb or candy bar for the sake of sheer excitement.

LONG

MORE SERIOUS

Or, more seriously, he may have been involved in a burglary or be on narcotics.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps, as James W. Hunt, director of juvenile services, so aptly puts it, "His problem was just being with the wrong people at the right time in the wrong place."

★ ★ ★

But whatever the case may be, Junior is definitely responsible for what he has done.

★ ★ ★

Pleading ignorance of the law just doesn't work.

SAME FOR ADULTS

First off, it must be remembered that the same laws that apply to adults apply to juveniles, and then some. Several of these special laws concerning the conduct of youngsters will be outlined later.

★ ★ ★

The major difference between the adult and a juvenile who commits some offense is that the juvenile usually won't wind up in jail or prison.

★ ★ ★

It does not mean, however, that because of his age he won't be placed in a detention home or a state institution where he will receive guidance and counseling.

★ ★ ★

In fact, there are times when the offense or the circumstances will prompt law enforcement agencies to seek a waiver from Juvenile Court to allow the juvenile to be tried as an adult.

EXTENUATING REASONS

Normally there are extenuating reasons that the Juvenile Court judge must consider at length before giving up jurisdiction.

★ ★ ★

Even a youth accused of murder will not be waived if the circumstances do not warrant it. And should he be under 15, there is no way under Michigan law that he could be tried in an adult court no matter how heinous the crime.

★ ★ ★

As far as constitutional rights are concerned, juveniles are on an equal footing with adults. They are entitled to bond, a court-appointed attorney and a speedy hearing.

★ ★ ★

Not all juveniles found guilty of a crime, whether it be a misdemeanor or a felony, will be kept in detention.

MAJOR CRIME

Primarily, detention is used only in cases where a major crime has been committed and the juvenile's release would endanger public safety, or in cases where a child repeatedly runs away from home.

★ ★ ★

"Inappropriate detention is damaging to the child, the family and to our juvenile program as a whole," said Hunt, who has been in charge of the division since 1953.

★ ★ ★

It is with this in mind that the county's three probate judges — Donald E. Adams, Norman R. Barnard and Eugene A. Moore — use the county's detention facilities.

It is their belief and one generally upheld by juvenile court judges across the nation that most children can be best served if they remain in their own home.

61 PCT. OF CASES

In 1968, about 61 per cent of all the juveniles coming under the jurisdiction of the court remained in their own home or in the homes of relatives.

★ ★ ★

Of the remainder, 14.5 per cent were placed in county institutions, 16 per cent in state or private institutions and 9 per cent in foster homes.

★ ★ ★

"Some kids come in here and you know they won't be here again," said Hunt, adding that "over the years you get a lot of feeling about youngsters by sampling the attitudes of parents.

"We've given him everything," a troubled parent will say.

HOW MUCH TIME?

"But how much time?" replies Hunt.

Even in this permissive society, parents are not always to blame for their children's actions, Hunt said.

★ ★ ★

"There are problem children who, no matter how much attention they receive, will get into trouble," he added.

About 26 per cent of all the juveniles that go through the county's detention facilities undergo psychological testing.

IN TWO WEEKS

"Anytime there are signs of emotional instability, you can be sure there will be examinations," said Hunt.

★ ★ ★

The findings can be ready in two weeks so the judge can have them to review at the youth's hearing.

★ ★ ★

Hunt said that in recent years, requests for jury trial have increased steadily, along with petitions for court-appointed attorneys for those who can't afford a lawyer.

An example of this is the nearly $24,000 paid out by the county to court-appointed attorneys in 1968, compared to $2,031 two years earlier.

SMALL AMOUNT

The amount is small, however, when looking at the total operating budget for all facets of the juvenile operation, $3,115,803 this year.

★ ★ ★

One program that has proved highly successful in Oakland County where it originated, and has cut expenses to taxpayers, is Protective Services carried out on the community level to prevent delinquency and neglect.

★ ★ ★

Since 1958, when the program was founded by then-Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore now a circuit judge, 27 communities have implemented the service, working with over 13,000 youngsters.

★ ★ ★

Of this number, 85 per cent have resulted in satisfactory adjustment, thus saving the youngster from court involvement and a court record.

REFERRAL SETUP

The youngsters involved in the program are referred to committees working in each community by parents, schools, police, individuals, juvenile court and social welfare agencies.

It costs the county about $50 for each case handled by Protective Services, as compared to $300 for an official court case, and $6,000 if the youth has to be institutionalized.

★ ★ ★

"There is a minimum amount of funds involved because it is the community that is doing the work and saving money for the taxpayers," said Judge Eugene Moore, the son of Circuit Judge Moore.

★ ★ ★

If, however, the case becomes official—one that goes into court—the disposition is related to the needs of the youngster in his rehabilitation.

'PERSONALIZATION'

"What it really boils down to is personalization on the individual rather than focusing on the offense," explains Hunt.

★ ★ ★

As noted earlier there are laws—other than those covering the more obvious crimes such as auto theft, larceny, burglary and robbery—that are directed toward the guidance and protection of juveniles.

★ ★ ★

The following outlines some of these:

● Truancy or as it better known, skipping school. Missing school habitually is against the law and could possibly lead to more serious trouble. A poor school record can make it difficult to get a job.

★ ★ ★

● Leaving home for a period of time without the consent of parents or guardian.

★ ★ ★

● Certain types of job are prohibited for juveniles. When there's a question, check with school officials or police about what can be done.

● Alcohol—beer, wine or liquor—always spells trouble for those under age. Just having it in your possession is against the law.

★ ★ ★

● Fighting. It can lead to an assault-and-battery charge.

● Loitering. Hanging around a place when you have no reason or right to be could lead you before a judge if someone feels you are bothering or threatening them.

★ ★ ★

● Curfew. Most communities have ordinances putting a time on when youngsters have to be off the street. The curfews often vary as well as the age of those affected, so it is best to check with officials in your city.

● Hitchhiking is a violation of a law intended to protect both the teen-ager and driver.

● Trespassing. Going on someone's property without the owner's permission. If damage is done, parents of the violator may have to pay damages.

● Crashing a party is an extension of trespassing and also can lead to a charge of creating a disturbance.

● Carrying a concealed weapon of any kind is against the law. This includes switchblades and pellet guns. It's also a violation to have an object that can be used for weapon—pipes, chains and clubs—when it appears that you have no other reason to use it except for a weapon.

● Traffic violators under the age of 17 also are handled by Junvenile Court. Last year the court had 4,674 traffic cases.

★ ★ ★

In each case where the court finds that a traffic violation has been committed, a record of the violations is forwarded to the secretary of state to be included in the youth's permanent driving record under the state point system.

Dental Health a Space Need

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Well, sonny, if you want to grow up and go to Mars, you had better brush your teeth.

So says a dentist who served as a consultant in the U.S. space program.

Dr. J. L. Hartley, a former associate of the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine, told a meeting of the Southern California Dental Association that with longer space flights in the offing, standards for dental health are being raised for spacemen.

"The first rule is against any removable or partial denture," he said. "This is because these may be dislodged under high gravity or zero ground conditions, or when the astronaut is out of the vehicle."

★ ★ ★

Hartley said no astronauts can have semi-impacted wisdom teeth — wisdom teeth whose emergence has been stopped by other teeth or bone.

He said that so far no actual space flights have been canceled for dental or other health reasons, but three simulated flights were aborted because of dental problems.

Opening lead—♥2

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

If there is a bridge player's heaven we will find all finesses working, trumps behaving like angels and when there is a right play and a wrong play, the right play will succeed and the wrong play fail.

Bridge articles approximate this condition in one respect. They almost always show the right play as a winner and the wrong play as a loser. Today's hand is an exception to this.

★ ★ ★

South's three-spade bid is a slight push. He does have a six-card suit but he only has seven high-card points and his singleton is in the suit bid by his partner. North's four-spade call is open to question but we approve of it.

When your partner takes you to one from game you should go the rest of the way with any excuse.

The final four-spade contract turns out to be a pretty good one due to the fact that very little of North's highcard strength is in his bid suit. It also makes easily if South misplays the hand.

★ ★ ★

All South has to do after winning a heart in dummy is to come to his hand with a club, lead a trump and nop up with dummy's king.

Why is this the wrong play? Because after West plays his seven of spades the ace and queen are the only trumps left. The king play wins only if the queen is singleton in the East hand, the low play wins if West is holding either the queen or both the ace and queen.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
			1♥
Pass	2♦	Pass	3♥
Pass	3N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠A65 ♥KQJ1087 ♦K4 ♣A6
What do you do now?

A—In rubber bridge bid four hearts. You want your 100 honors. In duplicate, pass or bid four hearts as your fancy dictates. Either may be the winner.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid four hearts and your partner raises to five hearts. What do you do now?

Salmon, Sour Cream Blend in Creamy Salad

One of this year's plentiful foods is canned salmon. This satiable flesh of the Pacific Northwest is complemented by many fresh food flavors. A one pound can of salmon can be extended to provide six generous main dish servings.

Spring Salmon Mold is a western approach for stretching the food budget. Finely diced crisp celery and minced green pepper add texture to a semi-soft flesh of the canned salmon.

The mold, displayed on a bed of crisp shredded lettuce and outline with cucumber slices, stimulates winter weary appetites.

SPRING SALMON MOLD

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup sour cream
1 pound can salmon
3 tabelspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon lemon rind
½ cup diced celery
3 tablespoons minced green pepper
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
Onion salt
Shredded lettuce
½ cucumber
1 radish

Sprinkle gelatin on top of cold water in cup. Add boiling water and salt. If gelatin is not dissolved, set cup in boiling water until gelatin is clear. Cool.

Drain off salmon oil. Break flesh apart and remove bone and skin. Sprinkle lemon juice and rind over salmon. With a fork, break meat into small pieces. Gently mix in sour cream, celery, green pepper, relish and onion salt.

★ ★ ★

Pour mixture into a lightly oiled 1 quart mold. Refrigerate until firmly set. Unmold on a bed of shredded lettuce.

Outline the fish shaped mold with thin slices of cucumber, slices of radish to look like gills, green pepper eye.

If you have a fisherman in the family will will especially like the green onion fly at the mouth. Make the fly by removing the bulb part of a green onion. With a thin-bladed knife, cut the stem in quarters almost through, then tiny slits in the quarters. Put it in ice water to curl.. Makes 6 generous servings.

SPRING SALMON MOLD — This economical molded salad looks more expensive than it really is. Using the special mold is partly responsible. You'll like the smooth taste and will want to serve it often in the coming months.

Marinate Ingredients First in Herb Mixture

A change of pace can add zip to your family's springtime meals if you serve Beef and Vegetable Kabobs with Herb Marinade. The marinade gives a special flavor to the meat. Juicy cubes of tender beef are marinated in an oil-wine vinegar mixture that has been laced with rosemary and garlic.

BEEF AND VEGETABLE KABOBS

2 pounds beef round or chuck, cut into ½ inch cubes
⅔ cup wine vinegar
⅔ cup salad oil
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon rosemary
½ teaspoon leaf thyme
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
Fresh mushroom caps
Tomato wedges
Canned small white onions, drained
Green pepper squares

Combine all ingredients except meat. Place meat in shallow pan. Pour marinade over meat. Marinate in refrigerator for 3 or 4 hours.

Remove meat from marinade and add vegetables. Thread meat onto skewers. Brush with marinade. Broil 3 inches from the heat source 10 to 15 minutes, turning to cook evenly.

Place vegetables on separate skewers and brush with marinade. Place skewered vegetables under the broiler 2 to 3 minutes before the meat is done.

To serve, rest the point of the skewer on a warm serving platter. With a sharp knife cut down through the meat pushing it from the skewer. Repeat with vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

TURKISH RICE

2 cups water
1 tablespoon butter
6 ounce package curried rice mix
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ cup golden raisins
½ cup flaked coconut
Pineapple chunks

Bring 2 cups of water to a boil in a medium saucepan. Add butter. When butter melts, add rice, onion and raisins, stirring well. Boil for 1 minute. Cover and simmer over low heat about 30 minutes. Add more water if necessary.

When rice is fluffy, stir in coconut. Garnish with pineapple chunks and serve with beef and vegetable kabobs with herb marinade. Makes 4 -6 servings.

Big Type Book Wins Award

Mrs. Jean Hewitt, author of the "New York Times Large Type Cookbook" has received the third annual R. T. French Tastemaker Award as writer of the best cookbook published in 1968 which set "The highest standards for quality of text and recipes and suitability of presentation."

A majority vote by food editors nationwide, cookbook writers, cookbook editors and publishers put Mrs. Hewitt in first place among the 124 authors or editors of original cookbooks who were nominated. The "Times" book was published by Golden Press.

Charles E. Young, secretary of The R. T. French Company of Rochester, N.Y. made the presentation recently to the winners at the Third Annual Tastemaker Award luncheon at the Regency Hotel in New York City attended by 150 professionals in the food and publishing fields.

★ ★ ★

Speaker was Edwin Newman, NBC news correspondent who stated, "There is much encouragement to be taken from the popularity of cookbooks. Enlightened eating and drinking, which means enlightened cooking, is a mark of advanced civilization. : .and a decent respect for the quality of food and drink is one of the marks of the civilized person."

★ ★ ★

More than 300 recipes from the thousands that have appeared in the food pages of The New York Times during the past two years were selected by Mrs. Hewitt for her winning cookbook. Selling for $9.95, its extra-large type is readable both near and at a considerable distance and each recipe is complete upon a single or on facing pages.

ENGLISH BORN

Mrs. Hewitt, home economist and food reporter for The New York Times is a native of England. She was a food lecturer at her alma mater, the University of London, before coming to the United States. She received her Master's Degree from Columbia University here.

This book is excellent for anyone with impaired eyesight. Not only is the type extra large, but each recipe is complete on one page or two facing pages. And the pages lie flat.

Roast Pork in Casserole

Casserole roasting is an excellent way to prepare pork. Use a boneless fresh pork shoulder which is a nice meaty cut that's easy to carve and not so expensive as a fresh ham.

Add small potatoes, onions and olives for the last hour or so of roasting and you have a whole meal in one pan.

CASSEROLE ROASTED PORK

3 pound boneless fresh pork shoulder
Salt and pepper
2 cloves garlic
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
12 small new potatoes, pared
12 small white onions
¾ cup small pimiento-stuffed olives
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ cup water

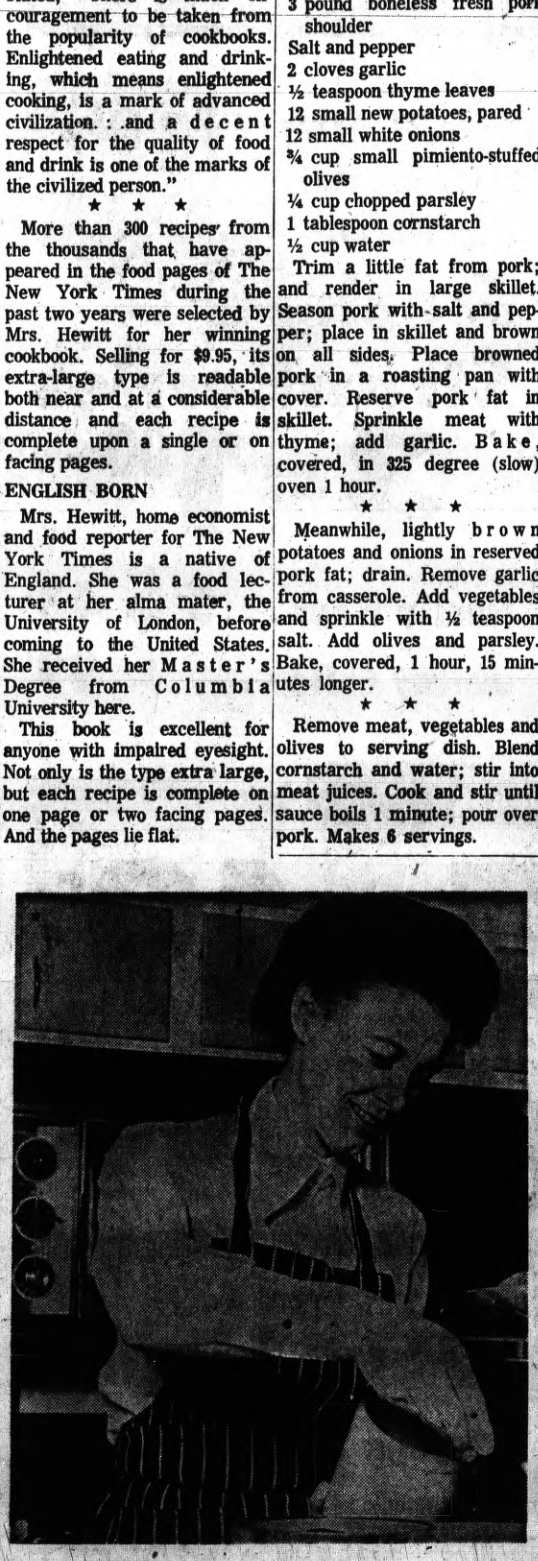

Trim a little fat from pork; and render in large skillet. Season pork with salt and pepper; place in skillet and brown on all sides. Place browned pork in a roasting pan with cover. Reserve pork fat in skillet. Sprinkle meat with thyme; add garlic. Bake, covered, in 325 degree (slow) oven 1 hour.

★ ★ ★

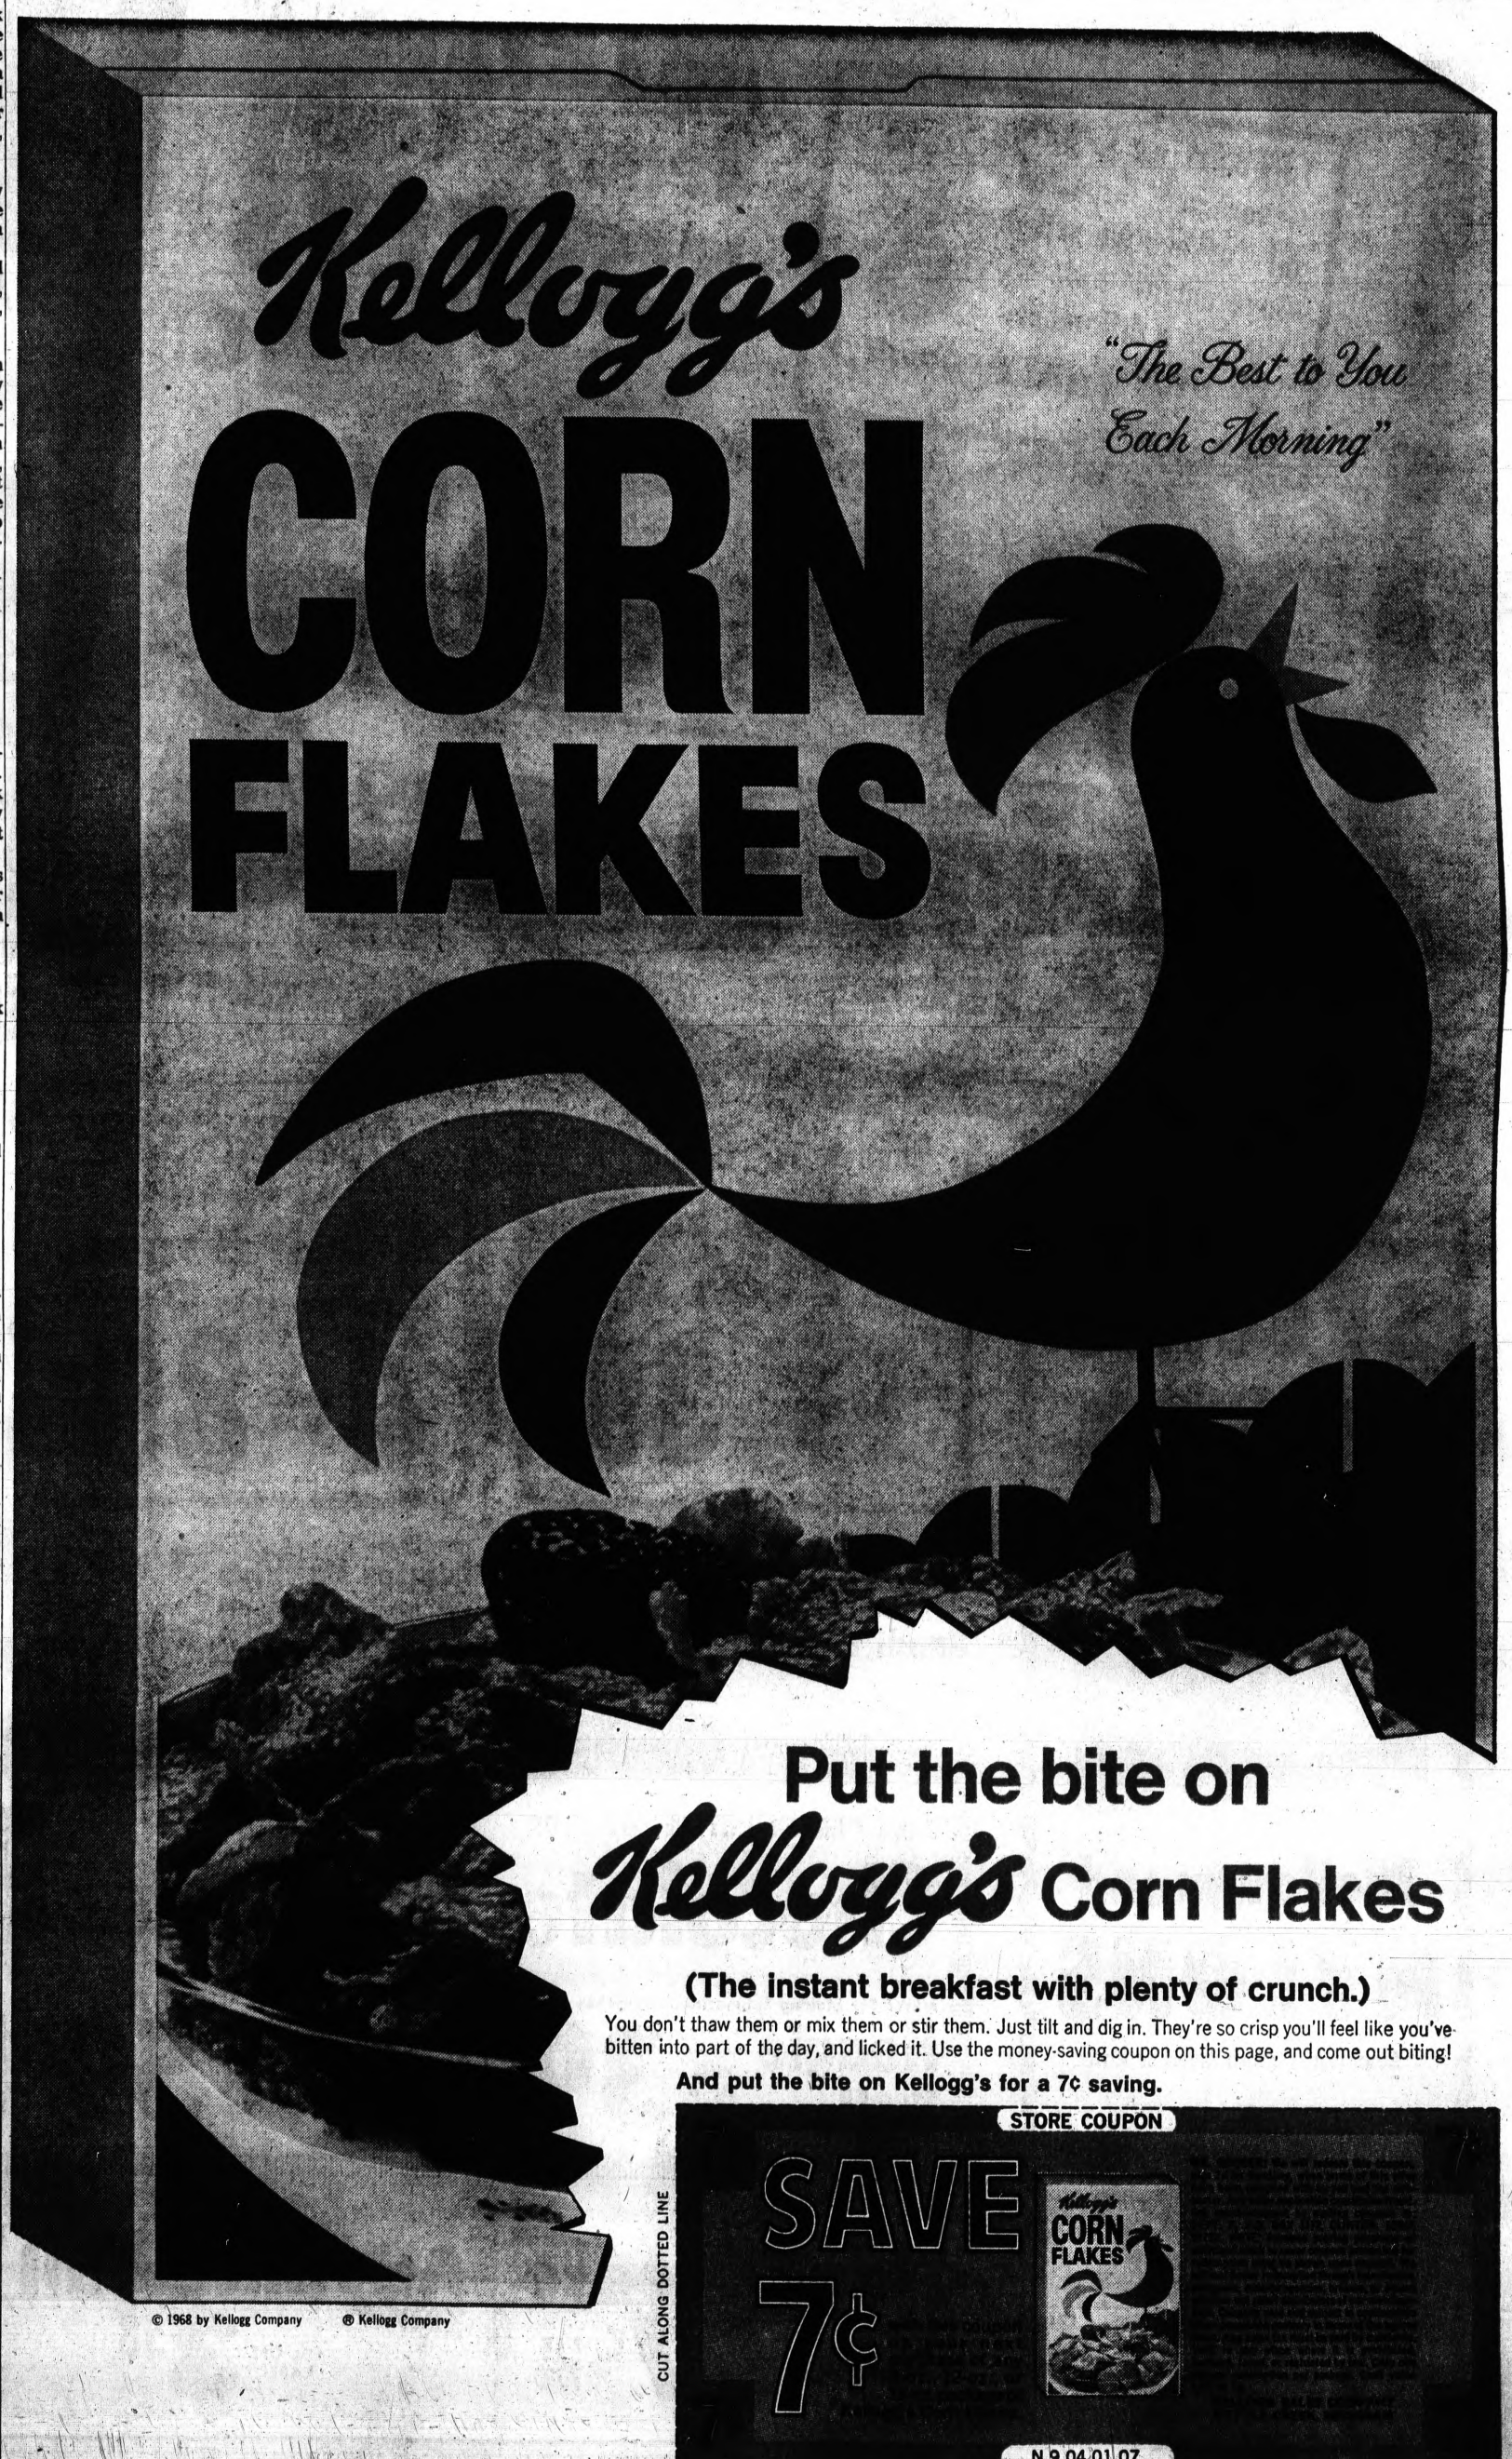

Meanwhile, lightly brown potatoes and onions in reserved pork fat; drain. Remove garlic from casserole. Add vegetables and sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt. Add olives and parsley. Bake, covered, 1 hour, 15 minutes longer.

★ ★ ★

Remove meat, vegetables and olives to serving dish. Blend cornstarch and water; stir into meat juices. Cook and stir until sauce boils 1 minute; pour over pork. Makes 6 servings.

Dough Can Have Sweet or Savory Filling

"Two for the price of one" is a bargain in any woman's book. And for the busy home baker, two-in-one yeast recipes are the practical answer to the problem of limited time: two different breads in the time it takes to prepare a single loaf.

The secret is in the dough — in this case, a basic white dough prepared by the foolproof "no-dissolve" method.

A simple onion-dill filling makes a savory dinner bread, while a cream cheese and coconut filling and confectioners' sugar frosting transform the braided loaf into a sweet treat for breakfast, afternoon coffee or dessert.

★ ★ ★

Their impressive looks to the contrary, Sweet or Savory Braids are easy to prepare by the new Rapidmix Method. It does away with the step of dissolving yeast in warm water by adding it, undissolved, to the dry ingredients. Initial beating is done with an electric mixer to facilitate mixing and make doughs lighter and easier to handle.

SWEET OR SAVORY BRAID

6½ to 7½ cups unsifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2½ teaspoons salt
1 package dry yeast
1 cup milk
1 cup water
6 tablespoons margarine

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2 cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved dry yeast.

Combine milk, water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat slowly until liquids are warm. (Margarine does not need to melt.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat for 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally.

Add 1 cup flour, or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes.

Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1¼ hours.

Punch dough down and turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Roll one half into a 12-inch square. Cut into 3 equal strips. Spread strips with half of either Onion-Dill Filling (follows) or Coconut Filling (follows) to within ½-inch of each edge.

Pinch seams tightly to seal forming filled "ropes." Braid ropes together; place on greased baking sheet. Repeat with remaining half of dough.

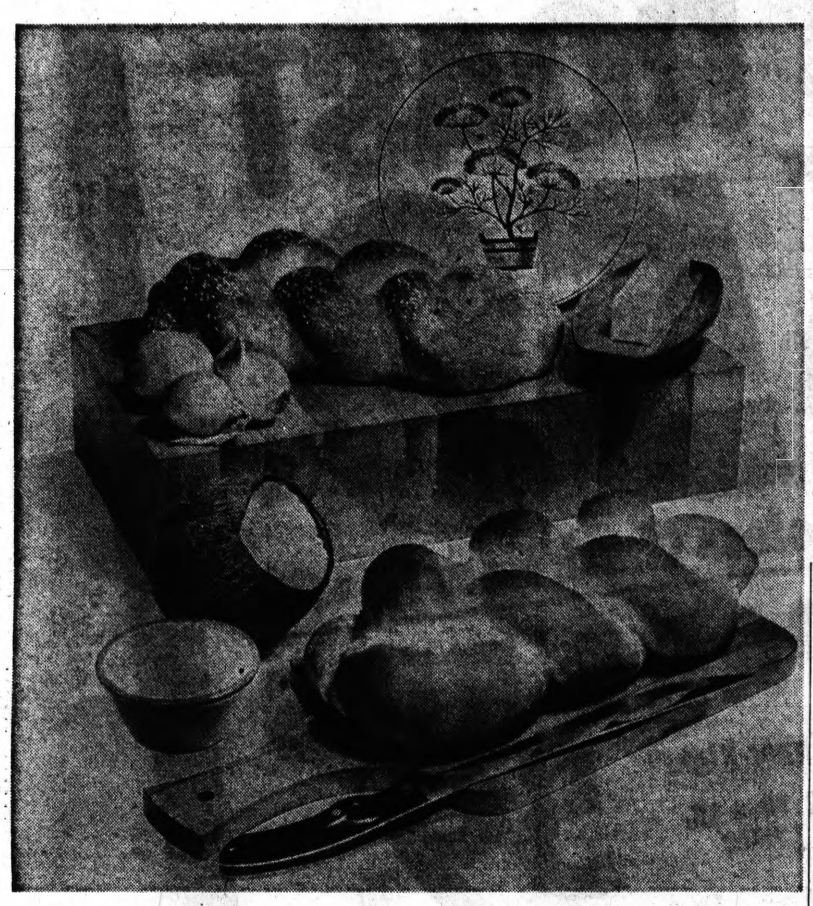

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

If using Onion-Dill Filling, brush braids with 1 egg beaten with 1 tablespoon water and sprinkle generously with sesame seeds.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and place on wire racks to cool. If using Coconut Filling, frost cooled cake with confectioners' sugar frosting. Makes 2 braids.

Onion-Dill Filling: Saute 1½ cups finely chopped onion and 1 teaspoon dill weed in 1 tablespoon margarine just until onion is transparent. Remove from heat. Stir in 1 teaspoon sugar; cool.

Coconut Filling: Beat together 2 packages (3 ounces each) softened cream cheese, ¼ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon almond extract until smooth. Beat in 1 egg until well blended. Stir in 2 cans (3½ ounces each) flaked coconut.

SWEET OR SAVORY—From the same basic dough come two braids: a savory dinner loaf with onion-dill filling and a sweet coffee bread filled with coconut-flavored cream cheese and decorated with confectioners' sugar frosting.

Popcorn Treat Prepared With Coconut, Syrup

Youngsters can make this party treat themselves.

COCONUT POPCORN

1 package (5 ounces) ready-to-pop popcorn
1 can (3½ ounces) flaked coconut
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup light corn syrup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon vanilla

Pop corn according to package directions. Grease a large saucepot and put popcorn and coconut in it; set aside.

In a medium saucepan stir together the sugar, corn syrup and lemon juice. Cook over meduim heat, stirring constantly, for 10 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla; let cool for 2 minutes; pour over popped corn and coconut; mix well.

★ ★ ★

Return to heat and stirring constantly, heat until popped corn begins to stick together — about 3 minutes. Press out on waxed paper into a 15- by 11-inch rectangle. Cool completely.

Break into pieces. Makes about 3½ quarts. (This confection is not overly sweet.)

Serve Homemade Sundae Sauces

Almond n' Mint Fudge Sauce is a delicious easy-to-prepare and easy-to-eat mint flavored chocolate sauce made from chocolate mint candies with crunchy almonds added.

Maple Praline Sundae Sauce, so reminiscent of the popular praline candy, mesmerizes your taste buds with delicious maple flavor, a creamy marshmallow texture, and the added crunch of chopped almonds.

Finally, Butterscotch Marshmallow Nut Sauce is the rich and creamy combination of butterscotch bits and marshmallow cream topped with the nuts of your choice.

ALMOND N' MINT FUDGE SAUCE

12 chocolate covered mint patties
3 tablespoons light cream
¼ cup chopped almonds

Melt mint patties in the top of a double boiler. Remove from heat and stir in 3 tablespoons light cream. Serve warm over ice cream. Sprinkle chopped almonds over sundae.

MAPLE PRALINE SUNDAE SAUCE

1¼ cups brown sugar
1 cup half and half
1½ cups miniature marshmallows
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon maple flavoring
½ cup chopped almonds

★ ★ ★

Combine brown sugar, half and half, and marshmallows in a 2 quart saucepan. Heat and stir mixture until brown sugar dissolves and mixture comes to a boil. Cook over medium heat 10 minutes or until candy thermometer reaches 220 degrees.

Remove from heat; add butter and cool slightly. Add maple flavoring and almonds. Serve warm. 2 cups sauce.

BUTTERSCOTCH MARSHMALLOW NUT SAUCE

1 cup milk
¼ cup butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup butterscotch bits
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 7 ounce jar marshmallow creme
½ cup nuts

Combine milk, butter and salt and bring to boil over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Remove from flame and add butterscotch bits and vanilla. Blend until smooth.

Beat marshmallow creme into mixture until well blended. Serve warm over ice cream. Sprinkle nuts over the top of sundae.

Prepare Crumbs in Your Blender

Soft bread crumbs can be made either by hand or in your blender. If by hand — use a gentle, shredding motion to pull off fine crumbs with fingers or fork. Coarser crumbs are fashioned by pulling off larger pieces.

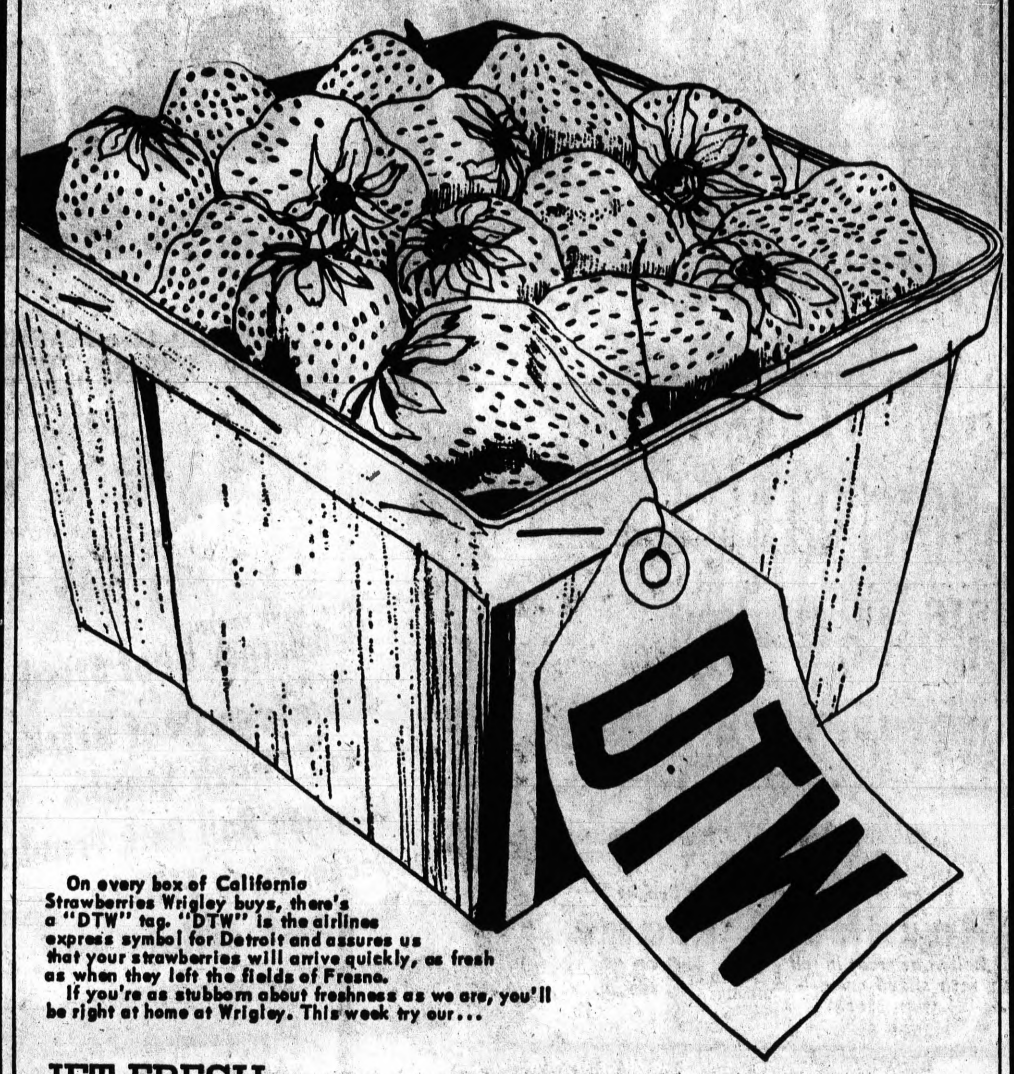

★ ★ ★

To speed up the process, drop slices of bread which have been quartered into a blender and run for a few seconds. Extra seconds in the blender increase the fineness of the crumbs.

CHEESEFURTERS — Split 12 frankfurters lengthwise (not cutting all the way through). Mix 6 pretzels, crumbled finely; 2 cups grated sharp cheese and 2 tablespoons drained pickle relish. Stuff franks with mixture. Wrap each frankfurter in a strip of bacon and fasten ends with toothpicks. Broll until cheese is melted and bacon is crisp. Serve garnished with parsley and stuffed olives. Makes 12 servings.

County, Thumb Area Felt 1870 Railroad Boom

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following story on early railroads in Oakland County and the Thumb Area is written by freelance writer William Henning of Mount Clemens.)

By WILLIAM HENNING

Just about everybody wanted to build a railroad in the 1870s. Railroad fever developed with the completion of the railroad to the Pacific May 10, 1869. It started a huge investment fad that lasted about 15 years.

Within this period, wealthy investors did not have to know a thing about railroads but just have an extra million dollars to invest.

★ ★ ★

The local railroad promoters would seek out the money available for their pet project. When the two groups came to an understanding with the residents along the right-of-way, a railroad sometimes was built.

★ ★ ★

Oakland and Macomb County citizens could not resist the urge to build a railroad to their home town after hearing about the successful promotions of J. D. Norton and August Baldwin of Pontiac and Dr. John T. Stanton of Oxford.

DEMAND IMPROVEMENTS

The people were demanding better transportation since county roads were tedious mud trails. And, of course, the mail service was slow as it relied on horse and wagon or stagecoach for local delivery.

★ ★ ★

An outsider had plans to remedy it with rails crisscrossing Oakland County. James Ashley bid to put Pontiac and the Michigan Thumb under the control of the Ann Arbor Railroad.

★ ★ ★

The Ann Arbor was built by Ashley of Toledo. He was the Republican congressman who on Dec. 14, 1963, introduced into Congress the bill to free the slaves (13th Amendment).

★ ★ ★

Ashley, fired as governor of Montana Territory in 1871 by President Grant, returned to Toledo with little money.

AIDED BY FRIENDS

His friends around Toledo and owners of the Pennsylvania Railway, who owed him a favor, helped him build a railroad from Toledo toward Ann Arbor and Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

At the same time in Oxford, Dr. Stanton, a country doctor, was helping James Joy build a railroad from Detroit to Bay City.

★ ★ ★

In 1878, Ashley told the people in Pontiac his railway would pass through their city on the way to Caseville. Caseville was the home of his Republican friend, Francis Crawford, formerly of Cleveland. But, of course, Ashley would need financial help to get to Caseville, and Dr. Stanton was there ready and willing to promote a railroad.

★ ★ ★

Before Ashley could charter a line from Pontiac to Caseville, Dr. Stanton and his friends chartered on April 27, 1879, a line from Oxford to Almont and on May 13, 1879, a line from Pontiac to Port Austin called the Pontiac, Oxford, and Port Austin Railroad.

Then things for Dr. Stanton came to a halt. He couldn't find the needed finances to back his charter. Almost two years passed with no action. Ex-Gov. Ashley was building toward Pontiac. Dr. Stanton went to New York City looking for a large investor.

★ ★ ★

In July 1881, Ashley accompanied Dr. Stanton over the proposed route to the bay. The press reported that Ashley was acting as agent for a couple of men who lived in New York City.

★ ★ ★

The report was so favorable that Ashley immediately chartered his own railroad on Aug. 16, 1881, for $1.6 million.

★ ★ ★

The New York investor, J. P. Hale, committed $1.5 million to Dr. Stanton. But by the end of the month a forest fire swept through the Michigan Thumb Area, killing many and leaving hundreds homeless along the proposed railroad route. The fires, destructive as they were, did clear the land.

FIRES WELCOMED

Vernon McKenney of Mount Clemens of the Thumb Area, told how welcome the fires were to the residents because there were too many trees on the land and the price of timber was very low. The farmers wanted to farm the land covered by trees, so the fires saved the cutting of the trees.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after that logging operations gave way to farming. With the funds available, Dr. Stanton decided to go ahead with the railroad to the bay. He named Caseville as terminus of the Pontiac, Oxford, and Port Austin Railroad, on Sept. 24, 1881.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Stanton, with the help of friends like lawyer Ten Eyck of Pontiac, proceeded to go up the line and sell the people on a railroad and to get them to contribute $1,000 a mile to help to defray construction cost. Also, the men felt the people would have an added interest in the road.

★ ★ ★

All the towns raised the required funds except two. The village of Almont raised half of the $10,000.

If the railroad went to Almont, it would have too many curves, a railroad official said.

AIDED BY LIBRARY UNIT

Dryden, west of Almont, got the railway, with the aid of the Ladies' Library Association who wanted cultural freedom for the young men of the town.

★ ★ ★

Attica, farther up the line, called a meeting in November 1881 and all seemed interested but sometime after March 9, 1882, the railroad bypassed Attica for Imlay City.

★ ★ ★

Most activity centered at North Branch. F. B. Howard of the Pioneer Bank directed the operation and surveyed the whole railway line for construction.

★ ★ ★

Ashley's Toledo and Saginaw Bay Railroad and Dr. Stanton's Pontiac, Oxford, and Port Austin Railroad were so seemingly interrelated that the press had a hard time keeping the two promotions separated.

CONFUSED REPORT

An example of this confusion was extracted from the Lapeer Clarion, Aug. 11, 1881. A clip from the North Branch Gazette was repeated:

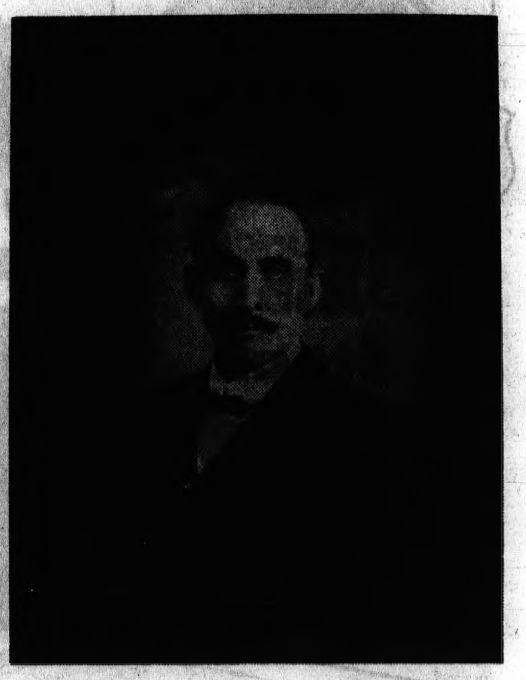

★ ★ ★

"Thursday last a deputation from Dryden headed by the indefatigable Dr. Stanton of Oxford arrived at Howards's Hotel, North Branch. They announced that they had railroad news and would communicate to an audience at 8 p.m. at Howards hall.

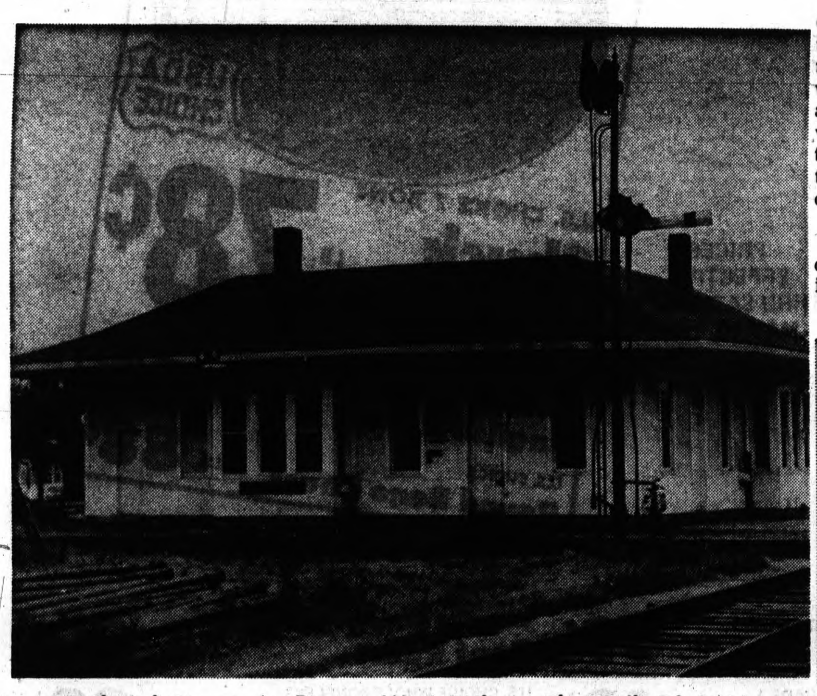

★ ★ ★

"Charles Ballard was chosen chairman and, after calling the meeting, Dr. Stanton and the company called Toledo and Saginaw Bay Co. told that arrangement for money had been made and they offered to build, equip and run this road through this country, providing the peo-

★ ★ ★

"A committee of Sholes, Wade, McDougall, Porter, Butler, and Biggs was formed, and the meeting was enthusiastic. Even the North Branch cornet band was out in force. An hour later the meeting adjourned."

WORK OUT DEAL

Dr. Stanton and Ashley's friend, Francis Crawford of Caseville, worked out a deal in railroad construction whereby Crawford supplied material for building the railway from Caseville to Cass City through an area that included his timberland.

★ ★ ★

Grading started Oct. 20, 1881, at Caseville. Fred Howard's survey party worked south to Cass City then picked up their tools and drove south to Oxford to again survey north to Cass City.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Stanton ordered 1,800 tons of rail. All supplies at first were to be shipped into Caseville on boats owned by Crawford.

★ ★ ★

By January 1882, James Joy, in Port Austin, was promoting a narrow-gauge railroad to Port Huron. In February, rumors circulated that Cornelius Vanderbilt of the New York Central Railroad was highly interested in the Caseville railroad. Some suspect that Vanderbilt's action made Ashley uninterested in the Thumb Area.

DR. STANTON DIES

Dr. Stanton died Aug. 3, 1882, possibly adding another reason for Ashley to sell his graded rail line from South Lyon to Pontiac to the Air Line, now a division of the Grand Trunk Western, on Oct. 25, 1882.

By Oct. 6, 1882, more steel arrived by scow; rails were laid into Gagetown and gravel to Cass City.

In January 1883, work slowed because of cold weather, yet rails were now south of Cass City and Vanderbilt was still pressing his forces in acquiring the road.

Early May 1883, the tracks were being laid south of Imlay City. Newspapers were stating that the passenger equipment was expected any day. The Bad Axe paper continued with a running account of the construction. By July the paper was promoting the following:

"Huron Tribune . . . June 29, 1883 . . . Caseville . . .

"The patriotism of this village bubbled to the surface Saturday last and resolved to air itself on the Fourth. A citizens meeting determined to celebrate in a manner creditable to this important burgh.

"We are to have a sunrise salute, Kalithumpians, patriotic addresses, music, games, the best of eating and drinking and everything else that can enhance the entertainment of the day, the whole to conclude with a fine display of fireworks.

"An excursion will run over the P.O. & P.A. from Oxford, Clifford, Gagetown and other stations and it is probable that there will be steamboat excursions on the bay. All who want a good time will do the square thing by themselves if they come to Caseville."

★ ★ ★

On July 20, 1883 the Pontiac Gazette reported the track gang's arrival in Pontiac:

"The last rail necessary to connect the main thoroughfare of Pontiac to the blue waters of Lake Huron, was laid on Tuesday. . . . at noon, when about 30 rods only was needed to complete the road to Saginaw Ave. the Pontiac Band, together with His Honor Mayor Colvin and the committee to who the work of providing the dinner was entrusted, escorted the trackmen some eighty or more, to the Hodges House, where with a few invited guests, 100 sat down to a good hearty dinner, presided over by Charles A. Carpenter, the president of the road, J. Ten Eyck, Esq., the secretary, together with Abram LeRoy, by no means least in the trio who are inwardly, no doubt, rejoicing over the success of an enterprise which has cost them so much anxiety and hard work.

"Dinner served, the trackmen at once repaired to the scene of their labors, as gentlemanly, quietly and peacably as though nothing unusual had happened.

"On Wednesday one of the company's coaches dropped down for the conveyance over the entire line of several gentleman from New York and elsewhere, who have provided the means for the construction of the road, that they might inspect the work . . ."

FIRST PASSENGER TRAIN

On Oct 3, 1883, the first official passenger train left Pontiac at about 9 a.m. for Caseville, stopping at Oxford at 9:30, Imlay City at 10:30, Cass City at 12:30 and Caseville at 1:44 p.m. There is no mention of the number of passengers that first day. We can only suspect that there were some very happy people at the station and on the train.

★ ★ ★

The railroad was operated by General Manager George W. Debevoise of New York City and his partner, Joseph P. Hale. General superintendent was James Houston.

★ ★ ★

Secretary and treasurer was Frank H. Carroll, who later doubled as mayor of Pontiac (1895-96), director of the Pontiac Savings Bank, Pontiac Light Co., and treasurer of the Wolverine and Buckey Oil Co. There is no record of what happened to these men after they left the railroad.

★ ★ ★

The little-known New York railroad promoter, Joseph P. Hale, was a piano manufacturer producing the Commercial Piano with a loft factory located at about the present day location of Macy's Department Store.

INVESTED IN LINE

Hale had invested in a short-line railroad west of Natchez, Miss., before the Michigan promotion. After he died in 1888, his lawyer bought both roads.

★ ★ ★

The Caseville line was sold to settle the estate. Lawyer Hugh Porter paid only $600,000 leaving the Farmers Trust of New York short about $900,000.

Porter renamed the line the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern, but it did little to help the financially troubled railroad out of the red ink.

The villages along the line were small — like Caseville with only 634 people; Imlay City, 971; Oxford, 851, Pontiac 4,509; and Detroit, 116,343. The land was poor and the counties were sparsely settled. For example Huron County had 20,000 residents, Lapeer County 30,000, and Oakland County 41,000.

INTO RECEIVERSHIP

By 1900 Porter started writing large checks to himself which made the other stockholders force the railroad into receivership.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Pontiac was growing rapidly. Both the Pere Marquette and the New York Central Railway wanted to get into the city.

To fend off the competition, the Grand Trunk Western Railway had the Handy Brothers of Bay City buy the Polly Ann, which was the nickname for the Pontiac, Oxford and Northern branch. The Grand Trunk paid $400,000 to the brothers and promised to buy their future railroad, the Detroit, Bay City and Western, when it was built but the deal was never completed.

★ ★ ★

Under the operation of the Grand Trunk Western, the Polly Ann continued to operate. Ex-conductor Frank Mapley of 368 W. Iroquois, Pontiac, who began work on the Polly Ann and retired from the Grand Trunk, said passenger train service seemed to hit a peak in WWI and then declined until it provided only mixed train service, a passenger car attached to the freight train.

TRACK REMOVED

The track to Bad Axe was taken up in 1951 and the last steam engine went up the line in 1958. The roundhouse in Caseville, built in 1882, moved across the river in 1929, was bulldozed July 11, 1967.

★ ★ ★

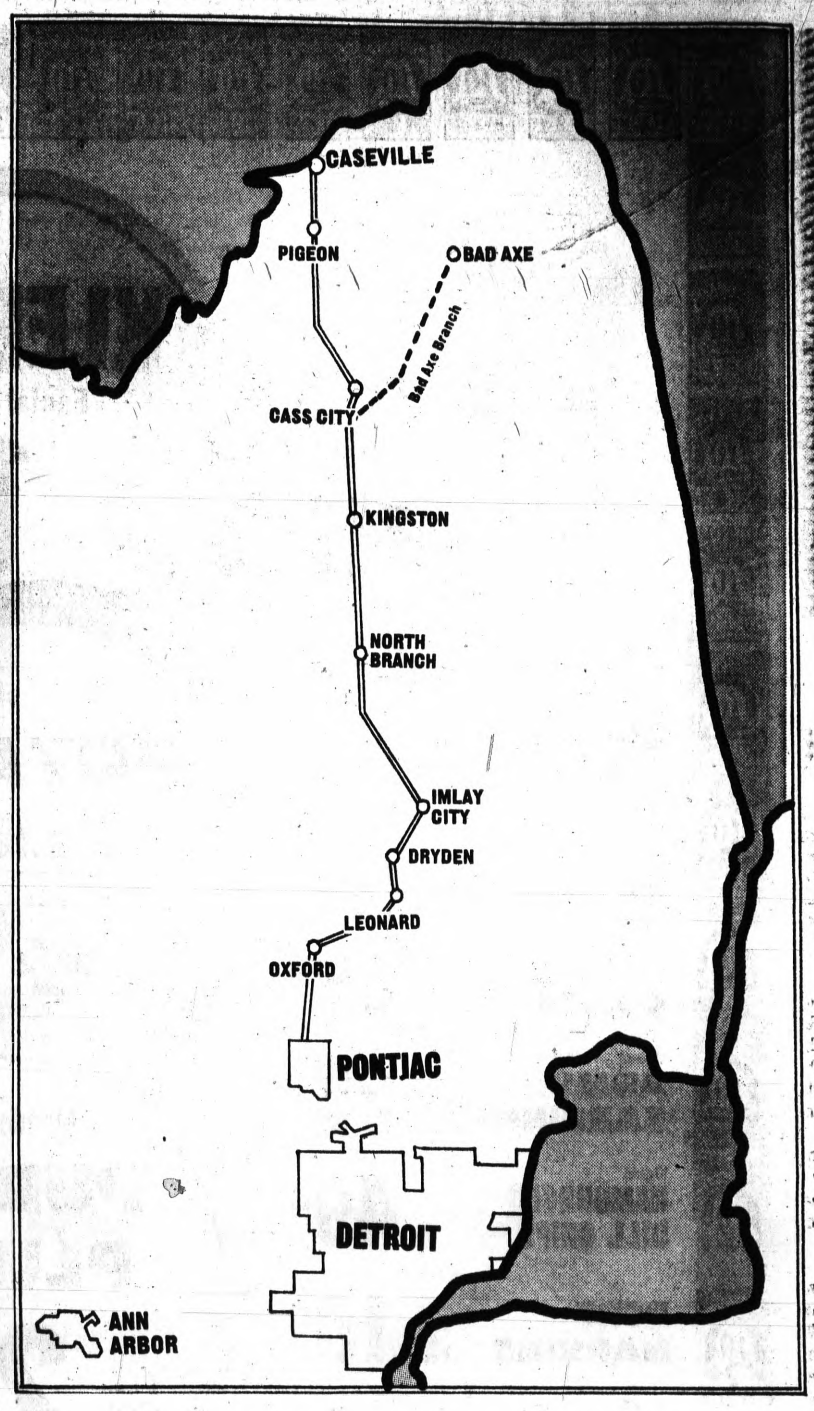

Original tracks can still be seen on the Gagetown siding across from the Evans Product plant.

★ ★ ★

So the story goes, of the hundreds of railroads chartered in the 1870s a few were built and fewer still operate.

★ ★ ★

Credit must be given to the strength and drive of James Ashley, John Stanton, Joseph Hale, and Francis Crawford, the promoters who built a railroad during the years of great railroad expansion leaving two rails to Caseville.

State Planner Says Great Lakes Basin Heading for Trouble

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A Michigan planner says the eastern seaboard is a dehumanizing mess and unless the Great Lakes basin shapes up with some sophisticated planning, it will become one, too.

Harlan Hatcher, president of the Developing Great Lakes Megalopolis Project, gave the warning to the Great Lakes Research Conference Monday.

Hatcher, formerly president of the University of Michigan, said the way the basin is developing now, in another 20 to 25 years it will become, like the eastern seaboard, "an ungracious, dehumanized, sometimes torturous, chaotic sprawl that appears to be out of control."

The Developing Great Lake Megalopolis Project is a privately funded organization, recently formed.

"The problems of a specific city or recreational area, lake or stream cannot be understood or met in isolation from the interlocking interests of the region," he said. "This includes industrial growth and its effect on population clusters, education, local and area hospitals and health centers, all of which deeply involve the local community but go beyond that to the total region."

★ ★ ★

"The Great Lakes megalopolis now rapidly forming extends from Milwaukee to Buffalo in the United States and from Sarnia - Windsor to Toronto and Cleveland to Pittsburgh and a Montreal in Canada," Hatcher said.

★ ★ ★

"There are strong developing lobes from Toledo to Cincinnati, link to the eastern megalopolis from Buffalo through the Mohawk Valley to the Albany-Hudson Valley section," he said.

★ ★ ★

"The fact that this 192,000-square-mile area is one of the fastest growing in the nation, and may easily double in population and activity in another generation or so, further dramatizes the problem and the urgent need for our best attention.

'RANDOM GROWTH'

"The growth of the Great Lakes basin has been and continues to be random, largely without plan or guidance. It is the result of millions of isolated, uncoordinated individual decisions. They are made with little or no attention to the needs or possibilities of the total region," he added.

"Bigger cities overload the sewers and pollute the rivers and lakes, expressways erect Berlin Walls across cities, displace people and contribute to the industrial load of air pollution. The combination of ghetto poverty and flight to suburbia intensify all the problems by adding disease to the city and sprawl and overspill into the open spaces," he said.

★ ★ ★

The Developing Great Lakes Megalopolis Research Project is attempting to formulate plans for the future, Hatcher said. These include:

- Merging highway, rail, air and water transportation systems to meet the needs of the region.
- Means to convert agricultural land to urban, industrial, transport and recreational use, and mechanization of large acreages using advance agricultural production techniques.
- Regulating industrial growth in respect to water and land usages, minimizing water and air pollution.
- Revitalizing existing and decaying inner cities.
- Locating new suburbs and creating new cities "in the perspective of the larger, more complex and sophiticated megalopolis system which we must design for the future."

Grant says he understands the present world record for continuous rocking is 93 hours. Grant is shooting for 100 hours straight. He'll start rocking next Tuesday in front of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity house.

His fraternity brothers, meanwhile, will be asking businessmen and others for contributions for muscular dystrophy. Their goal is $1,000.

"I'll also be fasting during the time," said Grant. "My interest in muscular dystrophy came last June when I was a camp counselor and had the opportunity to work with young people with the disease."

★ ★ ★

Grant will have no fancy gimmicks on his chair. "It's a old fashioned wooden rocking chair that belonged to my mother," he said.

McDonald Gives Tally of 19th District Survey

The majority of residents in the 19th Congressional District who answered a questionaire from U.S. Rep. Jack McDonald say they favor some form of antiballistic missile (ABM) system.

In announcing the results of the annual survey, McDonald said the replies show that 27.2 per cent favor a complete ABM system; 23.8 per cent favor a "thin" system; 22.6 per cent are opposed to the ABM, while another 26.4 per cent favor increasing the nation's offensive capabilities.

More than 15,000 questionaires were returned to McDonald.

Other questions posed by McDonald concerned tax sharing, his census limitation bill, the war on poverty, aid to the nation's poor, campus disorders, the future of the post office and policy toward Red China.

TAX SHARING

On the question of the federal government sharing taxes with state and local governments, 70.7 per cent favored such a plan, 29.3 per cent were opposed.

On limiting to seven the number of census questions requiring answers under penalty of law, 90.3 per cent voted yes, 9.7 per cent no.

Asked what direction should be taken in the war on poverty, 72.9 per cent voted for greater emphasis on training by industry, including provisions for tax incentives; 16.4 per cent voted to eliminate the program; 5.7 per cent voted for a guaranteed annual income (negative income tax), and 5 per cent voted to continue the program in its present form.

On ways to improve living conditions of the poor, 77.6 per cent favored a program of repayable mortage interest subsidies to employed families; 15.7 per cent were for a massive federally financed urban building program, and 6.7 per cent favored an intensified rent-supplement program.

CAMPUS AID CUT

Asked whether Congress should require that colleges and universities cut off federal aid to students involved in illegal campus activities, 94.4 per cent replied yes, 5.6 per cent no.

On a proposal to convert the post office into a government-owned corporation to operate on a self-supporting basis even though a postal rate increase might be necessary, 60.5 per cent responded in the affirmative, 39.5 per cent negative.

★ ★ ★

Asked whether American policy toward Red China should be altered, 36.2 per cent favored initiating moves that might lead to recognition; 34.3 per cent preferred a continuation of our present policy; 24 per cent favored withdrawal of opposition to United Nations membership for Peking, and 5.5 per cent called for further sanctions.

Trooper Promoted

EAST LANSING (AP) — Cpl. Richard Vansipe of the State Police Jackson post has been promoted to sergeant and assigned to command the Gladstone Post, succeeding the late Sgt. Wilbert Treichel.

Dedication Festivities at Institute Friday

The top two executives of General Motors Corp. will participate in the 50th anniversary and new campus dedication ceremonies at General Motors Institute in Flint Friday.

★ ★ ★

James M. Roche of 425 Dunston, Bloomfield Hills, chairman of GM's board of directors, will be the principal speaker at the dedication program in the morning.

★ ★ ★

In the afternoon, Edward N. Cole of 1371 Kirkway, Bloomfield Township, GM president, will inaugurate alumni day festivities by presenting graduate key awards for performance to 273 members of the graduating class of 10 years ago.

★ ★ ★

The alumni program will continue on Saturday and will be highlighted by the cornerstone laying of an 85-foot, 47-bell carillon, a gift of the alumni to the institute.

FEATURED SPEAKER

Featured speaker will be Donald Atwood, chief engineer at GM's AC Electronic Division.

★ ★ ★

The institute, located on an 80-acre site on the northwest side of Flint, is the only corporate-owned undergraduate engineering and management school in the world.

★ ★ ★

It has a student enrollment of about 3,000.

Model Airplane Show Set at Mall

The Pontiac Mall model airplane show, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department and the Pontiac Model Airplane Club, will be held next Monday through Saturday at the Mall.

★ ★ ★

Still displays of various types of model airplanes will be on display during the day with free-flight demonstration in the evenings outside.

Blue Shield Exec Sees Limit on Soaring Medical Costs

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. John M. Wellman, chairman of the Michigan Blue Shield plan, told fellow physicians in a report yesterday that "We are at a crossroads largely because of high and continually rising costs" of medical care.

He added:

"There are limits, as yet unknown to us but nonetheless real, beyond which the public and government in the interest of the public will not permit the cost spiral to continue.

★ ★ ★

"Putting a reasonable brake on costs, and securing the kind of involvement on the part of all parties to medical care needed to accomplish this, is a great concern of Michigan Blue Shield."

Dr. Wellman's comment was included in Blue Shield's annual report, in which President John C. McCabe said nearly four million subscribers have been converted to Blue Shield's higher-cost "Michigan Variable Fee" MVF program.

CUSTOMARY FEES

Under the MVF program doctors are paid their "usual and customary fees," rather than on a fixed-fee plan based on a subscriber's income.

All individual subscribers and 17,800 groups have been switched to MVF, McCabe reported.

He also reported Blue Shield paid doctors more than $223 million on more than 8 million medical claims from 5.8 million persons during 1968.

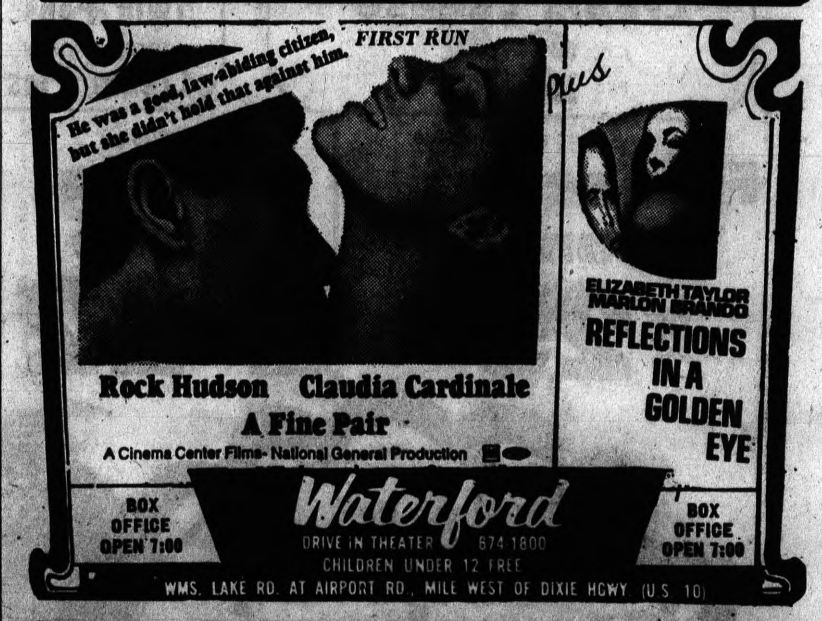

During 1969, McCabe said Blue Shield is paying physicians about a million dollars each working day and expects to process more than 10 million claims for health services this year.

He said Blue Shield's operating expenses in 1968 were 7.93 per cent, lower than the average for the 18 largest Blue Shield plans and "two to four times lower than most large commercial plans."

SURPRISE CASSEROLE

NEAPOLITAN CREAM PIE

Mother Has Holiday Coming

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Hey, all you teens and subteens, how about giving Mom a break on Sunday and taking over the cooking for Mother's Day? That means doing the dishes too so that Mom can have a leisurely Sunday for a change.

Of course you can cook. Anyone who can read and is willing to follow directions can cook. If you don't think you're capable of getting an entire meal, offer to prepare part of it.

★ ★ ★

Chicken is always a good choice for the main course. With the following recipe, you have meat, vegetables, tasty sauce and biscuits. The oven does most of the work. Add a tossed salad and Mom's favorite dessert.

POLYNESIAN CHICKEN WITH BISCUITS

¼ cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2½ to 3 lb. frying chicken, cut-up
1 can (13¼ oz.) pineapple tidbits
1 small green pepper, sliced into rings
1 package (7 oz.) condensed tomato soup
¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup pineapple syrup or water
1 can (8 oz.) refrigerated country style or buttermilk biscuits (10 biscuits)
Chili sauce

Melt butter in 13x9-inch pan. In a paper or plastic bag, combine flour, salt and pepper. Shake to blend ingredients. Add 2 or 3 chicken pieces at a time and shake to coat meat with seasoned flour.

★ ★ ★

Place chicken, skin-side down, in butter. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes. Turn chicken pieces. Drain pineapple, reserving ¼ cup syrup.

Top chicken with pineapple and green pepper. Rinse shrimp in cold water to remove ice crystals; add to chicken.

SAUCE

Combine tomato soup, chili sauce and ¼ cup reserved pineapple syrup or water. Pour over chicken. Cover pan with aluminum foil. Bake for 40 to 45 minutes or until tender.

★ ★ ★

Move chicken to center of pan. Arrange biscuits around chicken; brush biscuits with additional chili sauce and bake for 15 to 20 minutes or until biscuits are golden brown. Makes 4-5 servings.

Perhaps you'd rather fix a casserole dish. This one is special, because the first letter of each of the six ingredients spells "Mother." You need mushroom gravy mix, onions, tomatoes, hamburger, elbow macaroni and rosemary, the herb for remembrance.

Carrot-Cabbage Salad is good with this dish.

SURPRISE CASSEROLE

1 pound hamburger (ground beef)
1 envelope (¾-oz.) mushroom gravy mix
1 can (1-lb.) small whole onions
1 can (1-lb.) tomatoes
½ cup uncooked elbow macaroni
¼ teaspoon rosemary leaves
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown beef in medium-size saucepan; stir in contents of gravy mix envelope. Drain onions; addd enough water to liquid to make 1 cup. Stir liquid into meat mixture. Bring to a boil; stirring constantly.

Add onions, tomatoes, macaroni, and rosemary leaves. Simmer 20 minutes, stirring frequently. 4 servings.

CABBAGE-CARROT SALAD

¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared yellow mustard
½ cup raisins
2 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup shredded raw carrot

Blend together mayonnaise and mustard in medium-size mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. 4 servings.

You can prepare a molded salad on Saturday. This one is pretty to look at as well as good to eat.

CRANBERRY PINEAPPLE FROZEN SALAD

2 packages (8 ounces each) softened cream cheese
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated orange juice
1 cup coarsely broken pecans
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) crushed pineapple, drained
1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce, mashed

Place softened cream cheese in a mixing bowl and gradually blend in orange juice. Beat until mixture is soft and fluffy. Fold in pecans, pineapple, and cranberry sauce.

Spoon mixture into individual molds or into a large mold and several individual molds. Freeze until hard.

★ ★ ★

When ready to serve dip mold into lukewarm water, tap to loosen and invert on a platter filled with crushed ice. Serve immediately with or without mayonnaise. Makes 12 molds (2-3 cu each)

How about Neapolitan Cream pie for dessert. This type of dessert always combines the flavors of vanilla, chocolate and strawberry. It also is a dish to prepare the day before.

Note to menu planners: If you are having a gelatin salad, you will not want a gelatin dessert. In that case, make a cake using your favorite box mix. Good menu planning does not repeat flavors or textures.

TWO-TONED CREAM PIE IN CEREAL CRUST

Crust

2 tablespoons butter
⅓ t marshmallows
⅛ teaspoon salt
2½ cups oven-toasted rice cereal

Filling

1 envelops (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted
1½ teaspoons vanilla
¼ teaspoon orange extract, optional

Sauce

1 package (10 ounce) frozen strawberries or raspberries, defrosted
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Prepare crust Combine butter, marshmallows and salt in large saucepan. Place over low heat; melt marshmallows and stir until smooth. Add cereal; mix carefully until cereal is evenly coated. Press cereal evenly over bottom and up sides of buttered 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Prepare filling. Soften gelatin in cold water and set aside. Combine ½ cup sugar, cornstarch and salt; mix. Add milk; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add a small amount of hot mixture to beaten egg yolks, stirring constantly. Add to hot mixture; cook about 2 minutes.

DIVIDE

Divide into halves. To ½ of the mixture stir in chocolate, pie shell. Chill until set.

Stir softened gelatin into the remaining half of filling; stir until gelatin is melted. Mix in 1 teaspoon vanilla and orange extract, if used. Chill until mixture begins to set.

★ ★ ★

Beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks. Gradually add 2 tablespoons sugar and continue beating until stiff and glossy. Fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon on top of chocolate layer. Chill until firm.

Prepare sauce. Drain fruit; save syrup. Combine sugar and cornstarch. Add syrup and cook, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Stir in fruit. Chill. Serve spooned over pie. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

Add Carrot Shreds to Muffin Mix

Small fry enjoy quick bread baked in small pans.

Miniature Carrot Loaves

1 package (about 13 ounces) white muffin mix
2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
1 cup shredded (medium-fine) carrots

Grease 6 miniature loaf pans (each 4½ by 2¾ by 1¼ inches — 1 cup capacity). Add pumpkin pie spice to dry mix and make up according to package directions; fold in carrots. Turn into prepared pans — they'll be about half full.

Bake in preheated 400-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm with butter and jam.

Bright Sherbet Fills Angel Food

Here's a "heavenly" way to treat guests at dinner — serve them Angel Ice. This attractive, low-calorie dessert idea is created by filling the core of an angel food cake with softened sherbert. Let harden in freezer for about 15 minutes (while you're clearing the table) and serve sliced.

If pounds are no problem, top with whipped cream, flavored toppings or crushed berries.

Substitute Oil in Biscuit Recipe

The homemaker who is accustomed to cooking with solid fats is sometimes baffled as to how to use the oils. You can adopt a goodly number of your favorites to the use of salad oil. Any recipe for quick breads, cookies or cakes in which melted fat is used can be made with salad oil instead, measure for measure.

Quick Easy Biscuits

1 cup all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons salad oil
⅔ cup whole or skim milk

Sift dry ingredients together in a bowl. Combine salad oil and milk in a cup by stirring with a fork. Pour at once over flour mixture. Mix with a fork to make a soft dough.

Shape dough into a ball and place it on waxed paper. Knead the dough about ten strokes until smooth.

PAT OUT DOUGH

Pat the dough out to an oblong about ½ inch thick. Invert onto an ungreased cookie sheet and peel off paper. With a sharp knife, cut the dough into squares or bars, according to preference.

Leave close together for soft biscuits, or separate individual biscuits by at least two inches for crusty texture.

Bake in 450 degree (hot) oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 12 biscuits.

POLYNESIAN CHICKEN WITH BISCUITS

Consolidate Foods at Breakfast Time

Teens (and their parents) often skip breakfast — because they just "don't have time." Take a tip from the business world — combine — consolidate — bring together all your components into one effective (and nutritious) package — a breakfast sandwich.

Put those scrambled eggs and pieces of bacon between two slices of buttered toast. Or, melt a piece of cheese with a circle of apple on an English muffin.

If you can grab a piece of toast and still get there on time, there's no reason why you can't grab the rest of your breakfast (the most important meal of the day) along with it.

Serve Parfaits

Drizzle drained and chilled canned fruit cocktail with Kirsch, orange juice concentrate or grenadine. Layer the gay assortment of fruit with vanilla ice cream in tall parfait glassess for an easy-to-do but glamorous dessert.

Not-So-Royal Treatment in Ninth Tigers' Downfall

From the Press Box

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

From far off Korea, Donald M. Hackbardt of the U.S. Army sends us ballot, clipped from The Pontiac Press, for the All-Tiger Team.

Hackbardt, a former Milford high school student, who just celebrated his 22nd birthday, lists his votes almost identical to the voting trend locally and in the State of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Locally, however, Mickey Stanley has received strong support for the shortstop position over Harvey Kuenn and Billy Rogell, while Kuenn and Rogell are the front runners in the state balloting accumulated by the Detroit Baseball Co.

STANLEY NOT LISTED

The baseball company tabulations don't even list Stanley in the voting, which is an unfair appraisal of the voting because there is no doubt that the versatile Tiger must be getting strong support, even though this is his first season at the position.

★ ★ ★

There is no doubt that if he stays at the position, Stanley could be the best ever at that spot for the Tigers and he supports it with his playing this year.

Hackbardt can't make up his mind on his ballot beween Mickey Cochrane and Bill Freehan for the all-time catching honor, so he lists them as a tie.

Locally, Freehan has strong support and he along with Al Kaline and Denny McLain are the strongest challengers to make the All-Time Great Team from members of the current squad.

KALINE FOLLOWERS RALLY

The Kaline followers have jumped on the bandwagon in picking the popular rightfielder as the "Greatest Tiger Ever" but in the over-all balloting, Ty Cobb appears to be running away with this honor.

This will be your last chance locally to send in your ballot. Our deadline is May 15, after which we will forward all ballots to the baseball writers for tallying with the state voting.

★ ★ ★

Deadline for mailing ballots to the Tigers is June 1st, however, we would like to receive all local ballots so that we can compare the area voting with the state and national trend.

Here's how the voting stacks up to this date:

9-Run Second Inning Gives Wolverines Win

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Michigan exploded for nine runs in the second inning to down Western Michigan 9-6 in a non-conference baseball game Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The Wolverines outburst included a pair of three-run homers by third baseman Glen Redman and by shortstop Charles Schmidt.

The victory gave Michigan a season record of 8-15. Western is now 21-8 for the year.

FREEHAN BEATS THROW—Detroit's Bill Freehan crosses home plate safely with the go-ahead run after Jim Price's sacrifice fly in the fourth inning Tuesday night at Tiger Stadium. Kansas City Royals' catcher Eliseo Rodriguez reaches for the late throw from Lou Pinella. Freehan, however, was left on second base as the winning run in the ninth inning when Jim Northrup grounded to the pitcher to end the game with the expansion club ahead, 7-6.

Expansion Team Scores 5 Runs for 7-6 Triumph

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Bob "The Hawk" Taylor, the last available pinch-hitter for the Kansas City Royals, didn't use a sling shot to slay "The Monster," he used a baseball bat.

★ ★ ★

Taylor turned what appeared to be a sure victory into a royal nightmare for the Detroit Tigers last night by hitting a three-run homer with two outs to give Kansas City a 7-6 triumph.

★ ★ ★

The blast came off Dick "The Monster" Radatz who threw just one previous pitch with two outs after relieving Denny McLain in the ninth.

The Tigers took a 6-2 lead into the final inning with McLain working on a five-hitter against the expansion team.

After Ed Kirkpatrick opened the inning with a double, Lou Piniella, who homered in the seventh, was walked. McLain struck out Joe Foy, but Bob Oliver hit a short single to load the bases.

On a groundout by Jerry Adair, Kirkpatrick scored, and then Chuck Harrison came through with his fourth single of the game to score Piniella.

DENNY UNHAPPY

When Taylor came up to the plate, manager Mayo Smith motioned for Radatz and McLain left the mound angrily. Batting for Juan Rios, Taylor took a ball, and then drove the next pitch deep into the seats over the 365-foot mark for a 7-6 lead which held up.

The Tigers loaded the bases as Gates Brown hit a pinch single, Bill Freehan singled and Willie Horton walked, sandwiched between Mickey Stanley's strikeout and Al Kaline's pop up.

★ ★ ★

Moe Drabowsky came in as fifth Royal pitcher to relieve Wally Bunker, and Jim Northrup hit the first pitch to the mound for the final out.

Taylor, who came up with Milwaukee in 1957 and has seen action with five major league clubs, has come up with such heroics several times in the past.

He hit a game winning grand slam for the New York Mets in 1966 and earlier this season against Oakland he hit a 3-run pinch homer to win a game.

SELDOM CALLED

Yet, the catcher has seen less action than other players, except for pitchers, on the team. He has been at bat only 16 times now, is batting .400, has two home runs and eight runs batted in.

A former bright Tiger prospect in the farm system, Bill Butler started the game and he went to the showers in the fifth inning.

Tonight, another ex-Tiger prospect, Jim Rooker will start against Mickey Lolich.

The game last night started in weird fashion as leftfielder Lou Piniella dropped Stanley's line drive for an error. However, Stanley was tagged trying to go to second.

★ ★ ★

Dick Tracewski, playing for Dick McAuliffe who was ill with a sore throat, singled to center and he went to second when centerfield Oliver bobbled the ball for an error. Kaline followed with a single, but Freehan and Horton went down swinging.

Both teams were guilty of a mental lapse in the second inning.

After Foy singled and stole second, Freehan (playing first base) took a pair of pop ups for two outs. Chuck Harrison then hit deep to short and Stanley made an outstanding back-hand grab of the ball.

TRAFFIC STOPPED

He threw to Freehan, but rookie umpire Don Benkinger motioned Harrison safe. Freehan protested vehemently, and Foy — who had made the turn at third thinking Harrison was out — stopped dead on the base line toward home.

While Freehan argued, Foy then realized Harrison was safe and he started for home again. He would have easily been tagged had Freehan thrown the ball to Jim Price, but the run scored. Harrison was then out trying to steal.

Price then got his first hit of the season, a homer in the bottom of the inning to tie the score. He also hit a sacrifice fly in the bottom of the fourth to score Freehan to make it, 2-1.

In the fifth, Stanley singled, Tracewski sacrificed, Kaline doubled, Freehan grounded out, Horton was intentionally walked and Northrup singled to make it 4-1. Reliever Dave Wickersham then uncorked two wild pitches and added another run.

Don Wert got his first extra-base-hit of the season with a long blast into the left-center field seats to make it 6-1 in the bottom of the sixth.

★ ★ ★

Except for Piniella's homer to start the seventh, the Royals offered little threat to McLain, looking for his fifth triumph.

That is, until that eventful ninth inning, and the defeat cost the Tigers a chance to move up on the league-leading Baltimore Orioles who lost to the White Sox.

Tigers Talking Trade, Recall

"We've talked about trades and so far nothing has been consummated," said Tiger Manager Mayo Smith after Detroit fell 7-6 to the expansion Kansas City Royals Tuesday night.

He sounded as if the trade talk was not strictly talk but rather something that is really on the fire.

★ ★ ★

No one seems to have any idea who Smith has in mind, but he apparently would like to deal for a top relief pitcher.

He was particularly dissapointed in the Kansas City game when Dick Radatz came on to pitch with two outs in the ninth and gave up a game-winning three-run homer to pinch hitter Bob "Hawk" Taylor.

★ ★ ★

"No sir, the bullpen hasn't been good," he grumbled. "Just one man to get out . . ." his voice died out and he looked solemnly at his desk in the Tiger dressing room.

MINOR POSSIBILITY

If he can't get help via a trade, last year's Manager of the Year said he may call someone up from the minors.

"We may be forced to bring someone up," he said. "We can't keep going like this, that's for sure."

★ ★ ★

The defending World Champions are now seven games behind Baltimore, which leads the East Division of the American League.

Mayo said he wasn't particularly worried about Baltimore: "You can't worry about the other clubs, you just have to worry about yourself."

Texas Open Tourney Draws Few Top Pros

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Most of the big guns are missing, and one reason or another, leaving the door open for a handful of veterans—including Frank Beard and Dan Sikes— and a flock of youngsters in the $100,000 Texas Open golf tournament.

★ ★ ★

"If we had Arnold Palmer here, it would be worth another $20,000 at the gate," Ray Creek, president of the sponsoring San Antonio Golf Association said Tuesday. "But we don't have him.

★ ★ ★

"In fact, for veterans, it's one of the slimmest fields we've ever had. We've got all the young guys who have been winning—like Bunky Henry and Larry Hinson—but the big names didn't show."

Ruins Willie's Birthday, 3-0

Gibson Stops Giants, Mays

By the Associated Press

Bob Gibson blew out the candles on Willie Mays' birthday cake and Jim Hicks helped himself to the frosting.

Gibson spoiled Mays' 38th birthday party and Hicks preserved Gibson's 39th career shutout Tuesday as the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed San Francisco 3-0 for their second victory in 13 home games this season.

★ ★ ★

Mays, who brought a .356 batting average to Busch Stadium and was given a cake by the Cardinals before the game, struck out twice and then departed in the fourth inning with a pulled muscle in his back.

Right fielder Hicks rescued Gibson in the fifth with two throws that cut down San Francisco baserunners, and the Cards' ace went on to toss a five-hitter for his first 1969 shutout.

METS IN ROMP

Elsewhere, in the National League's first inter-division action this year, the New York mets blasted Cincinnati 8-1; Philadelphia nipped Houston 5-4; Montreal slipped past Atlanta 4-3; San Diego topped Pittsburgh 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs slammed Los Angeles 7-1.

★ ★ ★

Gibson, the NL's most valuable player last season, when he finished 22-9 with 13 shutouts and a league record ERA of 1.12, went into Tuesday night's game with a 2-2 mark after five starts.

He surrendered two singles and a walk in the second inning, survived three more singles in the fifth, with Hicks' help, and then retired the last 12 Giants he faced, finishing with eight strikeouts. The whitewash lowered his ERA to 1.94.

TRAPPED GIANT

Hal Lanier opened the Giants' fifth with a single and Bobby Bonds lined a one-out single to right. But Hicks' throw to second caught Lanier rounding the bag and Bonds was tagged out in a rundown. Lanier got back to second on the play, then tried to score on Ron Hunt's single to right. But Hicks cut him down at the plate with another strong throw.

Joe Torre's single and Mike Shannon's ground out delivered two St. Louis runs in the first inning after Lanier's two-base error and a single by Curt Flood.

TAGGED EARLY

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney and Houston's Don Wilson, who pitched no-hitters on successive nights in their previous outings, were tagged for hits by the first batters they faced at New York and Philadelphia. Bill Stoneman, who tossed a no-hitter for Montreal April 17, also gave up a leadoff hit at Atlanta.

Maloney and Wilson escaped with no-decisions as the Mets cuffed the Reds with four homers and the Phils downed the Astros on a ninth inning blast by rookie Don Money. Stoneman staggered through six innings and squared his record at 3-3 when Floyd Wicker's pinch single in the seventh delivered two runs, bringing the Expos from behind.

Baseball Changes Lack Acceptance

BALTIMORE (AP) — American League managers and general managers have voted overwhelmingly against experimental baseball rules tried in spring training.

A letter from league President Joe Cronin to the various clubs dated May 2, reported a 17-0 vote on the proposed rule change to use certain players as designated pinch hitters.

★ ★ ★

Cronin also reported a 13-4 vote against the issuance of automatic bases on balls, a 11-3 vote in opposition to designated pinch runners and a 9-6 vote in opposition to wild-card pinch hitters.

"Although four clubs have submitted opinions," Cronin said, "They also felt it desirable to withhold final judgment until after further experiments in the minor leagues."

Reggie Jackson Responds to Plug by Ted Williams

By The Associated Press

Manager Ted Williams of the Washington Senators tabbed Oakland outfielder Reggie Jackson as a future superstar.

So what did Reggie do?

He went out and became an instant star and beat Williams's Senators 4-1 at the Oakland Coliseum Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

Jackson had a home run and a double, scored two runs and drove in two as the A's snapped a five-game Washington victory string.

Elsewhere in the American League the Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore 1-0, Cleveland nipped Minnesota 1-0, Oakland whipped Washington 4-1, Boston clobbered Seattle 12-2 and the New York Yankees squeaked by California 2-1.

TIED FOR LEAD

In the Oakland win, Reggie's homer was his 10th of the season, which ties him with Frank Howard of Washington and Frank Robinson of Baltimore for the major league lead.

Reggie's homer was a 400-foot blast that cleared the centerfield fence. Jackson also turned in the defensive play of the game when he threw out Hank Allen at home in the seventh inning.

★ ★ ★

The setback snapped a five-game winning streak for the Senators, who had won 10 of their last 11 games.

The White Sox gave Don Gutterridge his first victory as new manager. Joe Horlen stopped the Orioles on five hits. Chicago scored against Jim Palmer in the third on a two-out walk to Sandy Alomar, stolen base and Luis Aparicio's single.

HIT LONG BALLS — Walled Lake seniors Dan McDole (left) and Pat Piilo cracked home runs in the fifth inning Tuesday as the Vikings overcame an 8-0 deficit with a nine-run eruption against Farmington. Piilo's came with two mates on base and McDole delivered a two-run shot. Teammate Jerry Mattack also connected with none on during the uprising. The Vikings held on for a 9-8 decision in the Inter-Lakes League contest. (See story on Page D-3.)

No-Hit Hurlers Fail to Last 9 Innings

The Mets' Don Cardwell pitched a six-hitter, struck out eight and clubbed a three-run homer on the way to his first triumph after four setbacks. Rookie Wayne Garrett and Cleon Jones connected against loser Nolan Ryan in the sixth, breaking a 1-1 tie. Cardwell's 15th career home climaxed a five-run eighth inning wrapup against Wayne Granger.

Larry Hisle opened the Phils' first against Wilson with a double and scored on John Briggs' single. The Phils scored three more runs in the third, finishing Wilson and grabbing a 4-1 lead, but the Astros rallied for three in the eighth, tying it on Curt Blefary's two-run double.

Money then broke the knot with a leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth off Dooley Womack.

* * *

The Padres knocked out Steve Blass with a four-run first inning salvo keyed by Clarence Gaston's two-run triple, then held off Pittsburgh behind lefthander Dick Kelley, who scattered eight hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

ROOKIE UNDER FIRE—First-year major league umpire Don Denkinger (left) listens as manager Mayo Smith (10) and first baseman Bill Freehan of the Tigers give him the "facts" after he called Kansas Citys' Chuck Harrison safe on a close call at first base Tuesday night in Detroit. Freehan was so unnerved by the call he held onto the baseball while Joe Foy of the Royals scored from second base.

At All-Star Keg Meet

'68 Champs Well Ahead

MIAMI (AP) — Defending champions Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill., and Dotty Fothergill of North Attleboro, Mass., swept far into the lead Tuesday night to take commanding advantages into the finals of the 28th annual $65,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Stefanich, the pros' leading money winner in 1968, had a total of 6,381 pins for 24 games to give him a 50-pin edge over second-place Virg Enger of Minneapolis.

THIRD PLACE

In third among the 12 men who will move into match-game competition starting today is Allie Clarke of Akron, Ohio, with 6,315.

While southpaws dominated the first few days, only four made the finals.

* * *

In addition to Enger, they were Mike Praznovsky of Miami, fifth with 6,305; Bill Allen of Orlando, Fla., sixth with 6,302, and Dick Battista of New York, 11th with 6,261.

In the women's division, Miss Fothergill broke the women's scoring record for 24 games by finishing with 5,111.

In second place among the women was Betty Burton, a 20-year-old bowler from Stockton, Calif., with 4,859. Kayoda Suda, 30, of Yokohama, Japan, was third with 4,829.

Mike Samardzija of Pontiac finished 47th with a total of 5,797.

Walled Lake's 'B' Softball Team Tops 'A' Rival

The "B" division teams progressed at the expense of "A" rivals last night in the Walled Lake Industrial Slowpitch Softball League.

* * *

Bill Splaine's bases-loaded single plated Keith See with the winning run as WL Building Maintenance nipped Lawson Manufacturing in eight innings, 5-4. Both teams are 1-1.

* * *

Williams Research roared around the bases to a 24-6 victory over Haggerty Lumber in the other inter-divisional contest. Herb Brietzki's five-for-five night included a solo homer, and teammate Rich Volsler blasted three home runs for eight RBI's as Williams made its mark 2-1. Haggerty is now 0-2.

Huskies Trim Farmington

PNH, Groves Track Victors

Four field records were buried in the cinders yesterday as Redford Union (55½) eased past Walled Lake (47½) and Detroit Thurston (45) in a triangular track meet.

* * *

Redford Union's crack hurdler John Morrison easily won the low and high hurdles, while speedy Bob Zaebst emerged with wins in the two dashes for Walled Lake.

NORTHERN WINS

Elsewhere, Pontiac Northern and Farmington cracked a record apiece as PNH was winning, 68-50, while Birmingham Groves won 11 events in coasting past Bloomfield Hills Andover, 79-39.

* * *

Redford Union and Thurston figured in two records apiece in the event on the Walled Lake track.

Morrison stepped over the high hurdles in 14.2 seconds to wipe out a one-year-old record of 15.1, while teammate Jim Lagana posted a 50.5 second time to take the 440 and erase the old mark of 51 flat set earlier this year by Kevin Reabe of Waterford Kettering.

* * *

Randy Tipton chopped nearly seven seconds off the mile record to give Thurston first place points with a clocking of 4:25.8. Thurston's other record performance came in the mile relay with the quartet posting a time of 3:28.0.

Zaebst sped over the 100-yard course in 10.2 seconds and came back to claim the 220 in 23.1 seconds.

Pontiac Northern raised its Inter-Lakes League record to 3-0, same as Walled Lake, and the Huskies will take on the Walled Lakers tomorrow.

* * *

Although neither figured in the record-breaking, Northern's Rufus Hannah and Melvin Reeves put on a dazzling performance.

FOUR-BAGGERS

Hannah won the long jump, 100, 220 and ran a leg on the winning 880 relay team. Reeves took the high jump, both hurdles and joined Hanna on the 880 relay.

* * *

Farmington's Larry Williams set a two-mile field mark with a 9:49.4 clocking, while PNH's Tom Knibbs lowered the field standard in the 880-yard run to 2:00.7.

Bill McClarnon won both hurdles events to pace the Groves victory. He stepped over the high sticks in 15.8 and the lows in 21 flat.

Rain Postpones Waterford Rec Softball Games

Rain curtailed the Waterford Township Recreation Softball League last night after 3½ innings of the opening game.

Milbur Industries will resume its 1-0 edge on C. Weedon's in the last of the fourth at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The postponed Day's Sanitary-Tru-Bilt Redi-Mix contest will follow at 4 p.m.

If tonight's Drayton Plains twin bill between Colonial Village and Midget Bar (7 p.m.), and Timberlanes Lounge and Lighthouse Lanes (8:30 p.m.) is postponed, it will be reslated for Sunday night at the Drayton Plains Park.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Carter

Did you know that, oddly enough, in the entire history of big league baseball, only one manager has ever been able to win pennants in both the National and the American Leagues? . . . The only manager to do it so far was Joe McCarthy who won the National League flag managing the Cubs in 1929 and then won 8 American League pennants managing the Yanks between 1932 and 1943.

* * *

Here's quite an oddity . . . There were once 2 brothers who played big league baseball in the 1920s, Emil and Bob Meusel . . . Each played in the majors exactly 11 years with Emil finishing with a lifetime batting average of .310 and Bob finishing with a lifetime average of .309! . . . What are the odds that 2 brothers playing that long would finish with lifetime averages that close to each other?

* * *

Here's an interesting statistic that shows why the Detroit Tigers were able to win the pennant last season . . . The Tigers rallied to win a total of 40 different games last year in which they were either behind or tied in the 7th inning or later . . . They, thus, turned out to be one of the greatest late-inning rally teams in history.

* * *

I bet you didn't know . . . that we have cross sections of the major brand tires on hand for your inspection, that we encourage you to know and see what's inside. Our tires will bear inspection, but you'd be surprised how many others won't.

HIT THE TRAIL with the Orphan

Runs rings around 125 cc jobs. Out plays all the other 90's. So this 90 is all alone.

Has brand new rotary valve design. Special port angles that make it the smoothest running two stroke ever. In all five gears. Has the primary kick starting system so you don't have to fish for neutral to start it. Just pull in the clutch. It has oil injection, too. And, of course, the safest frame in the business, aircraft tubular steel. (Everyone of our machines is built like that.) And like all of our machines, this one is designed by aircraft engineers and built to aircraft type specs. There's the trail version, too, with the same high performance. Some great features, but ready for the hills.

Three in O-A Draw 'Blanks'

Whitewashing was the order of the day yesterday as three squads drew blanks in Oakland A League baseball action.

★ ★ ★

Romeo halted Troy, 5-0, Rochester pinned an 8-0 setback on Utica and Clawson checked in with a 2-0 decision over Avondale. In more of a hitters' game, Madison pushed across a run in the top of the ninth to down Lake Orion, 8-7.

SHARE LEAD

With the wins, Rochester and Madison remained tied for the top spot in the loop with 4-1 marks. Clawson is 3-2 and Romeo 3-3. Orion is 2-3 and the others are 2-4.

★ ★ ★

Senior right-hander Stan Babiuk stole the show for Rochester's Falcons.

CLOUTS GRANDSLAM

Babiuk limtied Utica to only three hits for his second win of the season and he helped himself at the plate with a grandslam home run in the first inning and a run-producing double in the third. The Grandslammer was Babiuk's second of the season and it was his third homer of the campaign.

★ ★ ★

A double, a couple of singles and a ground out led to a pair of runs for Clawson in the sixth inning and it backed a strong one-hit performance by Larry Niedowicz.

STRIKEOUT PITCH

Niedowicz fanned 15 to whip his sophomore opponent, Rick Walker, who struck out 10.

★ ★ ★

TIES, THEN FALLS

Lake Orion rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh to tie the score at 7-all, but Madison won it in the ninth when Dave Frizzell singled and came around on Jon Havrelko's double.

Jeff Delorme picked up two triples and a single and chased home four runs to pace Madison. Bill Baker picked up three hits for Orion while teammates Paul Bailey, Tom Perry and Jerel Hollens checked in two apiece.

Junior southpaw Vance Green, now 4-1 for the season, limited Troy to only two hits as Romeo squared its over-all record at 7-7.

Bob Milmine doubled home a pair of runs in the first to start Romeo on the way to victory and Mike Semp singled home two more in the second. Green fanned 11.

Golf Standoff for Skippers; Vikings Win

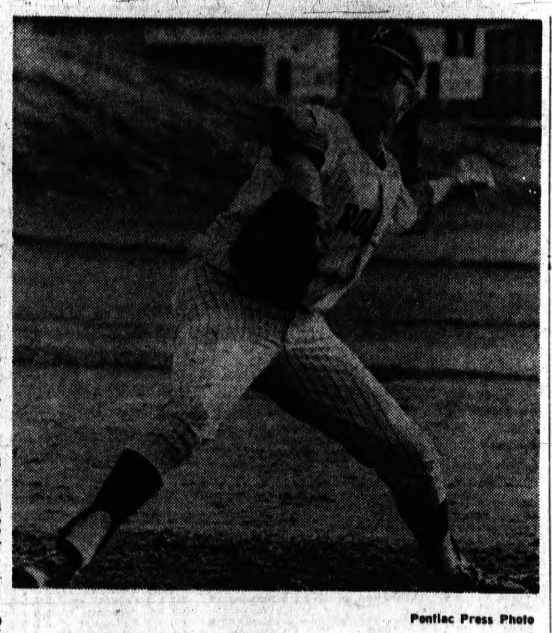

The Vikings of Walled Lake came up with a four-stroke victory over West Bloomfield yesterday, while Waterford and Milford battled to a 208-208 standoff.

★ ★ ★

Jim Wallace carded a 38 and Doug Baldwin a 39 at Pine Lake as Walled Lake upped its record to 8-1. Freshman Bob McClelland posted a 40 and Guy Burmeister a 41 for West Bloomfield (8-2).

★ ★ ★

League play was in progress at Pontiac Country Club as Waterford and Milford checked in with the tie score. Unable to continue play, they decided on a draw. Ralph Hayman posted a 38 and Scott Niederluecke a 39 for Waterford (5-5-1), while Gary Baker and Dave Proper paced Milford with 40s.

LONG-STRIDING BULLDOG—Junior moundsman Vance Green of Romeo upped his mark to 4-1 and squared the Bulldogs' Oakland-A League mark at 3-3 with a 5-0 two-hit shutout against Troy Tuesday. The victory boosted Romeo past the Colts (2-3) in the standings.

Brother Rice Triumphs

Lamphere Streak Continues

The run famine which stopped Southfield, 3-0, and Madison Lamphere had imposed on the opposition for 31 consecutive innings ended yesterday, but it was of little consequence, however, as the Rams triumphed to raise their record to 9-0.

Lutheran East broke the runless spell Lamphere has been casting about but still wound up on the short end of an 8-2 score.

FLIPS FOUR-HITTER

Dub Brady, upping his record to 5-0, scattered four hits to pick up the win and he collected two hits and drove in one run to share the batting honors. Junior center-fielder Neal Fatheree clouted a two-run home run in the opening inning and finished with four RBI for the day. Rick Brubaker also banged a homer for the Rams.

★ ★ ★

In other games, Brother Rice blanked Detroit Salesian, 4-0. Novi outslugged Dearborn Annapolis, 12-8, Lincoln Park went the distance on the mound and at the plate he collected four hits — one a homer — and drove in three runs. Teammate Gary Boyer picked up two safeties and knocked in two runs.

Lance Korthals and Chuck Petrillo checked in with a pair of hits each but it wasn't enough to lift Southfield into the win column. The Blue Jays outhit Lincoln Park, 8-4.

Thurston hiked its record to 3-1 behind the pitching of senior right-hander Tim Carr who set John Glenn down on only one hit.

Waterford Trims Stevenson

3-Way Tie in I-L Race

INTER-LAKES CONFERENCE Standings

	W	L		W	L
P. Northern	4	1	Walled Lake	2	3
Waterford	4	1	Farmington	1	4
L. Stevenson	4	1	S. Lathrup	0	5

Lusty hitting in one sector and tight pitching in another yesterday brought on a three-way deadlock for the lead in the Inter-Lakes Conference baseball race.

★ ★ ★

Sharing the top spot after some wild times yesterday are Pontiac Northern, Waterford and Livonia Stevenson. The trio will become at least a twosome Friday as PNH plays host to Stevenson.

HITTING HUSKIES

The Huskies of Pontiac Northern cracked out 19 hits in ripping winless Southfield Lathrup, 14-0, while right-hander Steve Goit scattered three hits in pitching Waterford to an extra-inning 2-1 verdict over Stevenson.

★ ★ ★

In the other one, Walled Lake erupted for nine runs and nine hits in the fifth inning to overcome an 8-0 deficit and post a 9-8 decision over Farmington.

Raising its record to 7-3, Pontiac Northern came up with its top bat production of the campaign.

CATCHER SETS PACE

Catcher Warren Laturneau set the pace with a single, double and triple and four RBI, while Larry Crivea collected three safeties and Roger Holland checked in with a pair.

★ ★ ★

Mike Sheldon's second single of the game sent Brad Potter scooting across the plate with the winning run in the bottom of the eighth against Stevenson.

KNOTS SCORE

The Skippers had moved in front in the fourth on Sheldon's single, an error and Larry Hemmerly's single, but the visitors knotted the game at 1-all in the top of the seventh.

★ ★ ★

Goit went the distance and fanned 10 to pick up his second win of the campaign.

VIKINGS EXPLODE

Walled Lake's Vikings, held in check for four innings, literally exploded in the fifth frame.

★ ★ ★

When the inning came to a close the Vikings had sent 12 batters to the plate, they had nine runs and they had banged out three home runs, two triples, a double and three singles.

BIG BLOWS

Pat Piilo clouted a three-run homer in the uprising, Dan McDole contributed a two-run shot and Jerry Mattack belted a solo job. Ron Thompson, who picked up the pitching decision, delivered a bases-loaded triple while Wayne Morenz clouted the other three-bagger. Tom Johnson doubled home one run in the inning.

★ ★ ★

Tony Himmelspach clouted a home run and single and knocked in three runs to pace Farmington.

YANKEES CATCH ANGEL—Baserunner Lou Johnson of California lunges back toward first base as the New York Yankees' first sacker Joe Pepitone reaches in the opposite direction last night for the throw from third baseman Bobby Murcer who had just picked off a hard line drive by Jim Fregosi. The throw arrived in time to retire Johnson, too, in the first inning at Anaheim, Calif. Murcer, also, had a two-run single as the New Yorkers took a 2-1 victory.

Orioles Shut Out by Chisox's Horlen

Cleveland's Sam McDowell pitched his second consecutive three-hit shutout and made Tony Horton's seventh-inning home run stand up for the Indians' victory, ending Minnesota's eight-game winning streak. It was only the fourth triumph in 22 games for the Indians.

Fritz Peterson stopped California on five hits and Bobby Murcer singled home two unearned runs in the fifth inning, enabling the Yankees to beat the Angels and end a seven-game losing streak. Loser Rudy May's throwing error set up the two Yankee runs.

★ ★ ★

Boston capitalized on four Seattle errors — two by slick-fielding Ray Oyler — for eight unearned runs and mauled the Pilots 12-2 behind Ray Culp. Carl Yastrzemski drove in three runs and rookie Syd O'Brien belted his first major league home run for the winners.

Scrimmage Ends Practice

Moorhead Paces 'M' Drills

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Don Moorhead, who Michigan football Coach Glenn "Bo" Schembechler calls "the key to our offense this year," passed for two touchdowns and ran for another as the Blues beat the Whites 23-7 in a scrimmage that marked the end of spring practice.

Basically the Blue team was comprised of first stringers and the White squad was made up of the No. 2 and 3 teams.

★ ★ ★

Moorhead, who'll be a junior next season, threw a second quarter two-yard touchdown pass to sophomore-to-be Glenn Doughty, a highly touted tailback. Later in the quarter Moorhead burst around the right side of the White line for a seven-yard touchdown. In the third quarter he threw a 27-yard scoring pass to All-American tight end candidate Jim Mandich.

★ ★ ★

At a luncheon before the scrimmage Schembechler gave a rundown of some of his top players and said Moorhead "has all the qualities to be a successful quarterback. We have an offense this year that calls for a running and passing quarterback and he can do both."

UNDERSTUDY

Moorhead was the understudy to Dennis Brown last year as Michigan rolled to an 8-2 record.

Doughty is expected to take the place of All-American tailback Ron Johnson.

Schembechler calls him "a competitor who really wants to play."

★ ★ ★

"He has little or no experience running out of the backfield but he has all the speed in the world and can block too," he said.

★ ★ ★

Doughty is a 6-foot-2, 197-pound former split end from Pershing High School in Detroit.

Tim Killian kicked two extra points and a 45-yard field goal for the other Blue scores, while Preston Henry scored on a two-yard run for the Whites late in the third quarter.

SUFFERS INJURY

Paul Staroba, who Schembechler is counting on at flanker for next season, ran twice for 21 yards and caught three passes for 16 before breaking his collarbone in the first half. He is expected to be in a cast for some eight weeks.

★ ★ ★

Schembechler took over the coaching job last December when Bump Elliott was made associate athletic director. He was formerly head coach at Miami of Ohio and he brought along six of his assistants from Miami to aid him with the Wolverines.

★ ★ ★

He said he would stress defense and praised, among others, defensive halfback Tom Curtis, and ends Phil Seymour and Cecil Pryor.

On offense he said tackle Dan Dierdorf was "the important guy in our offensive thinking because we run a lot off tackle." Dierdorf is out with a knee injury.

★ ★ ★

Among others drawing his praise was Mandich, defensive guard Henry Hill, defensive halfback Tom Darden, and fullback Garvie Craw.

★ ★ ★

Schembechler said the players did better in the first part of their split spring practice schedule but said, "overall we're pleased with the spring."

ARE YOU READY FOR THE FACTS OF Lite T.M.

1. "Is Lite a real beer?" Yes, Lite is real beer—not a "near" beer. With the exception of ⅓ LESS CALORIES, Lite is a complete premium beer in every way.

2. "Does Lite have less calories?" Lite has ⅓ LESS CALORIES than regular Meister Bräu premium beer. Lite contains only 64 calories in an 8-ounce serving.

3. "What about the taste?" The special process that brews out the calories also gives Lite the lightest taste yet in a premium beer. A crisp, clean-cut, invigorating and refreshing taste. Lite is less filling, too.

4. "How is Lite brewed?" Lite represents a scientific breakthrough . . . a spectacular achievement in the brewing art. Except for the extra step that brews out ⅓ OF THE CALORIES, Lite is brewed as we brew all our beer: with the finest, most costly grades of ingredients . . . with great skill and experience . . . and with extra care and patience.

5. "Why is 'non-dietetic' on the label?" Because Lite is not a diet beverage nor is it a "near" beer. We simply have removed ⅓ OF THE CALORIES. But that's all that's missing.

6. "Who is Meister Bräu?" Meister Bräu is a leading Midwestern brewery, proud of its long heritage of brewing fine beers since 1838. It has pioneered a number of "firsts", including putting real draft beer in bottles and cans. It is now the first to offer you a real premium beer with ⅓ LESS CALORIES.

Pick Savard of Montreal Playoff MVP

MONTREAL (AP)—Serge Savard of the champion Montreal Canadiens became the first defenseman to win the Conn Smythe Trophy Tuesday when he was named the Most Valuable Player of the 1969 Stanley Cup playoffs.

★ ★ ★

Savard, 23, was selected by a vote of members of the National Hockey's Board of Governors. In addition to the trophy which was introduced in 1965, Savard will receive $1,500 from the league.

★ ★ ★

Past winners include Jean Beliveau of the Canadiens in 1965, Roger Crozier of Detroit in 1966, Dave Koen of Toronto in 1967 and Glenn Hall of St. Louis in 1968. Beliveau and Keon are centers, Crozier and Hall are goalies.

★ ★ ★

Savard scored four goals, one short of the playoff record for defensemen, and collected six assists during the recent Cup comptition won by Montreal in series against the New York Rangers, Boston Bruins and St. Louis.

Aces Reported

Two holes-in-one were posted at area golf courses last weekend.

★ ★ ★

Ernie Williamson of Lake Orion aced the 159-yard third hole at Indianwood with a five-iron and Tom Somer used a six-iron to hole out the 165-yard No. 3 at Pontiac Country Club.

Retzlaff's Past Still Haunts Him

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff got the job as general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, but apparently his past almost deprived him of the job.

Eagles' owner Leonard Tose denies it, but a source close to Tose said the National Football League tried to keep Retzlaff from getting the G.M. post.

★ ★ ★

"There was no interference from Commissioner Pete Rozelle's office," said Tose, who last week paid $16,155,000 for the Eagles.

"I talked yesterday (Monday) to Rozlele and asked his approvto Rozelle and asked his approval for appointing Pete," Tose said at the news conference announcing Retzlaff's appointment. "Rozelle said, 'He's approved and good luck to you.'"

The source disclosed that the league office through various emissaries tried to dissuade Tose from hiring Retzlaff. Tose was adamant. He felt the $16.1 million gave him the right to select the general manager he felt could develop a championship football team.

★ ★ ★

"I chose Retzlaff because of his executive ability his desire to win, his knowledge of football, and he's the kind of man I want to be associated with," Tose said. "I was thinking of Pete since December," long before it was public that Tose had made a deal with Jerry Wolman to purchase the Eagles.

The league's disenchantment with Retzlaff goes back to Pete's playing days with the Eagles. In addition to making the all-league team and playing in five pro bowl games during 11-seasons as one of the top pass receivers in league history, Retzlaff served two terms as president of the NFL Players Association.

★ ★ ★

In his association capacity, Retzlaff fought the commissioner's office and the owners for better health insurance, and pensions, more exhibition game pay and other benefits. He described the merger agreement between the NFL and American Football League as ". . . a disgrace."

Millen Sparks Wildcats; Titans Watch Trophy Go

Clarence Millen scored 16¼ points and George Willobee 12 yesterday to lead Oxford past Warren Woods, 73-45, in track.

Millen won the shot put, 100 and 220 dashes and anchored the winning 880 relay team. Willobee took the high hurdles, was second in the high jump and low hurdles and third in the long jump.

It was Oxford's sixth win against one loss.

Pontiac Catholic's young track team could only sit and watch Tuesday night as Yale's 880 relay team ran up the deciding points for the Class C trophy at the Anchor Bay Relays in New Baltimore.

★ ★ ★

The Titans had finished early and were tied with Yale at 22 points going into the 880-yard relay. With the PCHS trackmen sitting in the stands watching Yale scurried to a second place in the concluding event and took home the trophy with the extra eight points.

★ ★ ★

Sophomores did the work for the Titans. Kellie Dean captured the high jump with a leap of 5-8. Two-miler John Cassani, another soph, set a school record with a 10:14.6 runner-up clocking.

★ ★ ★

Marysville won the Class B trophy by outpointing Detroit St. Anthony.

OCC Golfers Lose to Flint

The Raiders of Orchard Ridge-OCC battled the first line troops of state junior college golf champion Flint to a draw yesterday at Kensington Metropolitan Golf Course but lost out in a matching of reserve strength.

The two squads wound up deadlocked at 310 with four players figuring in the scoring on each team. They then proceeded to the fifth man and Flint held a three-shot edge at that position.

The win hiked Flint's record to 16-2. The Raiders are now 6-4.

Freshman Paul McIntosh led all scorers with an even-par 72 for the Raiders.

SECOND-STORY DUCK—Most ducks prefer to nest on the ground. But this hen mallard decided to incubate her nine eggs from a loftier position. She is nestled in the crotch of a tree near Middle Silver Lake. Wood ducks like hollow tree trunks.

Hunter-Safety Bill Receives Senate Okay

The Senate has approved a bill requiring would-be hunters under 17 to pass a hunting safety course before obtaining small game hunting licenses — but decided not to grant free licenses to those who passed the course.

Passed 30-4 and sent to the House was a bill requiring those under 17 to show some proof of experience or knowledge of safety precautions before being issued hunting licenses.

★ ★ ★

Among such documents of proof would be a certificate of achievement issued by a hunting safety examiner, after successful completion of a course in the safe handling of fire arms provided by the State Department of National Resources.

Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe Park, sponsor of the bill, said it was aimed at cutting down loss of life or injury in hunting.

Leakage Major Problem

Help Sought to Control DDT

LANSING (AP) — Householders and home gardners have been asked by the Department of Natural Resources to help halt the leakage of DDT and other long-lived chemicals into the Great Lakes.

The DDT situation has become so serious the Federal Food and Drug Administration has said any fish with more than five parts per one-million cannot be sold commercially.

★ ★ ★

When salmon mature, most have a higher level of pesticide content than the interim standard set by the federal agency.

The housewife dusting her flowers and the man of the house who sprays his lawn for weeds or his garden to control insects all can help in the effort to clean up the Great Lakes.

ONE SUGGESTION

Ted Black, department pesticide expert, has one simple suggestion. When buying a pesticide or insecticide please read the fine print on the label carefully.

If it says the chemicals include DDT, Aldrin, Chlorane, Dieldrin, Endrin, Heptachlor, Linlane, Toxaphene or BHC—avoid them.

★ ★ ★

All are dangerous because they can cause injury to many forms of life.

All contain persistent chemicals that don't break down or change chemically for a number of years.

LONG DISTANCES

They might first be used to kill mosquitoes or potato bugs or as a weed-killer. But the chemicals travel by air or water long distances to cause problems to birds, fish and animals.

The chemical industry has perfected a number of less harmful substitutes, Black added.

Most garden supply stores, supermarkets and hardware stores stock these more acceptable chemicals.

★ ★ ★

When in doubt, ask the clerk to help out, the Department of Natural Resources advises.

The State Agriculture Department is moving to ban DDT sales in the state.

This will pose another problem of disposal of DDT.

The department suggests digging a pit in sandy soil at least 18 inches deep and burying the DDT or other dangerous chemicals at least 1,000 feet away from any water source.

Black said the department currently is working out plans for cities that want to pick up unwanted DDT from citizens.

Another tip is to keep DDT or similar chemicals locked and away from children. The department reports 70 per cent of all persons harmed by pesticides are children.

It also is a good idea to read the instructions for use carefully.

★ ★ ★

Different chemicals must be used in varying ways. The containers of some, for instance, should not be burned as even the smoke can be dangerous to humans and animals.

The Michigan Farm Bureau has noted that in the past 20 years, the use of DDT has steadily been reduced.

"In recent years," the Farm Bureau said, "farm use has been very small in keeping with recommendations from Michigan State University."

Pickers Picking

Mushroom and morel hunting is picking up in Southeastern Michigan. Reports from the Gladwin area indicate the peak should be reached this weekend. Warm rain and nights are needed.

Jumbo Perch Hold Interest of Anglers

Salmon are trying to steal the fishing spotlight at Saginaw Bay, but north winds and big perch are difficult combinations to beat.

Cohos, however, are the major targets of anglers along the eastern Thumb's Lake Huron shoreline.

★ ★ ★

Department of Natural Resources' test nets continue to turn up salmon from Caseville to Port Huron. A north wind Saturday kept boats pretty much off the Bay and those that went out Sunday were after jumbo perch.

Commercial fishermen report large concentrations of perch up to two and a half pounds in Saginaw Bay. Some up to 15 inches were caught in the cuts near Quanicassee during the weekend.

COHO REPORT

Following is a breakdown on the salmon report:

Port Austin: A few being taken in the harbor.

★ ★ ★

Harbor Beach: 35 coho caught Saturday — catch fell off Sunday. Most fish taken by trolling with spinners and daredevils. Fishing off the docks with worms also produced some catches. Fish averaged three to four pounds.

Port Sanilac: About a dozen coho taken at the harbor.

Lakeport State Park: Fishermen coming into the boat landing reported best success for coho was about 100 yards off shore in four to six feet of water trolling with silver spoons.

Port Huron: Coho or steelhead (unconfirmed) being taken in St. Clair River still fishing from the docks using worms or blue and silver minnow like plugs.

★ ★ ★

Boats with fish detectors report numerous fish in the area. Prospective coho fishermen are reminded that water temperature is most important in locating coho. About 53 water temperature is ideal give or take a few degrees either way.

★ ★ ★

Area fishing has been good for bluegills which are beginning to move onto spawning beds. Some trout have been taken at Davisburg pond and Paint Creek.

Turkey Shoot Starts Friday

Game experts are predicting a kill of 100 wild turkey gobblers during the two three-day seasons in the Mio and Baldwin districts.

The first season opens Friday and ends Monday. Season No. 2 is May 16-19. The Department of Natural Resources has issued 800 permits for each area for each weekend.

★ ★ ★

A total of 3,200 applicants received the tags.

During last year's spring gobbler hunt, 800 hunters took 25 turkeys. Only tom turkeys are legal. Must of the hens will be nesting.

Hunting is permitted from 5 a.m. to noon each day. During the 1968 spring hunt, 72 per cent of the hunters reported hearing turkeys.

Boat Licensing Warning by Hare

LANSING (AP) — If a boat has any kind of motor it must be registered before being used on Michigan waters, Secretary of State James Hare has emphasized.

Hare said this includes rafts, sailboats, canoes and anything with a motor attached as well as conventional motorboats. The size of the motor doesn't matter.

★ ★ ★

Only 158,000 boats, about 36 per cent of Michigan's estimated motorboat fleet of 437,000 have been registered to date, Hare said. Boats can be registered at any branch office of the Department of State.

Hunting Bans on NRC Slate

New Salmon Fishing Regulation Sought

The Natural Resources Commission is expected to give final approval to closing portions of Independence and Commerce Townships to hunting during its monthly sessions Thursday and Friday in Lansing.

Also on the agenda is approval of a land purchase in the Pontiac Lake recreation area.

★ ★ ★

The township boards have approved the hunting bans and commission sanction is usually routine in these matters.

Also before the commission for preliminary discussion is a proposal that will permit foul-hooked salmon to be kept. However, deliberate snagging will not be allowed.

The public will be given a month to express its views until final commission action is taken at a June meeting.

The revised measures would be in effect from Aug. 1 through December in all of Michigan's salmon waters.

LARGER HOOKS

Sports fishermen would be allowed to use slightly large hooks to catch Coho and Chinook salmon. Weight restrictions would be placed on fishing lines and lures to uphold traditional angling values.

★ ★ ★

As proposed, salmon fishermen could use singlepoint hooks up to ¾ of an inch from point to shank and ½-inch multiple hooks. Under existing regulations, the maximum size for all hooks is ⅜ of an inch for fishing in trout streams after labor day.

★ ★ ★

Under the regulations, no weight could be attached to the lure or to the line within 18 inches of the lure.

Pike Season Opens May 15

The fishing season for northern pike, walleyes and muskies opens May 15 on all inland lakes, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit and St. Clair rivers with one exception.

★ ★ ★

Muskies will not become legal until June 7 in Lake St. Clair and the two rivers.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the daily limit for pike, walleyes, saugers and black bass is five singly or in combination on all Michigan waters. The muskie limit has been reduced to one per in all waters.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knights's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

Increased Profit-Taking

Market Moves Slightly Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved slightly lower in active trading early this afternoon, with brokers reporting increased profit-taking weighing on it.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.26 at 959.80.

Losses held a small edge over gains.

Brokers said the market "made a big jump in a fairly short time, and now it seems to be entering a consolidation phase in which to digest its gains."

'BITING IN HARDER'

The Dow industrial collected 33.17 points last week and 4.89 more in the first two sessions this week.

"The market has been on the upside for quite a while," an analyst said, "and while there has been some earlier profit taking, it really seems to be biting in harder now."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3, at 340.2, with industrials off .4, rails up .4, and utilities up .5.

Conglomerates generally were lower, with Gulf & Western Industries off 1 at 32⅛.

Steels were mostly lower, although Republic was up ⅛. Motors also had a lower tone, with Ford off 1⅜.

Traffic Death Peril Cited by McDonald

Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District, warned a house subcommittee yesterday that one out of every 100 Americans alive today will be killed in an automobile accident by 1980 unless something drastic is done to improve highway safety.

McDonald's warning came in a statement read at the opening of hearings before the House Public Works Committee's special subcommittee on the Federal Aid Highway Program.

The subcommittee is hearing three days of testimony on nationwide lack of conformity on traffic signs, signals and safety markings and the effectiveness of such devices.

Tomorrow the subcommittee will hear Frederick Rehn, general manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan, and Arthur C. Gibson, manager of the highway and traffic engineering department of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

DEVICES INEFFECTIVE

McDonald, who is a member of the special subcommittee, reported, "There is considerable ground for suspicion that some of the control devices presently in use (on our highways) are not fulfilling their function. Indeed, some may even be producing the very hazardous conditions they are designed to prevent.

"If that is actually the case, if control devices are confusing drivers rather than instructing them, then it becomes our job as members of the subcommittee to find out why," said the Redford Township congressman.

County Seeks Bids on 10 Road Trucks

Oakland County Road Commision will accept bids May 20 for 10 new trucks to be used for maintenance of state thoroughfares.

The trucks are to be purchased with $245,000 made available last year by the County Board of Supervisors. The commission will be reimbursed by the State Highway Department over a period of five years for the truck costs.

★ ★ ★

Commission Chairman Sol Lomerson, said the trucks should be in use by the end of the summer. He expected their arrival would make a considerable improvement in the level of maintenance afforded county roads this winter.

"There have been times during prolonged winter storms when road commission vehicles were tied up on state roads for 10 or 12 hours before they could even begin to work on our county roads," said Lomerson. "This will no longer be the case."

Tip Leads to Arrest of 2 Pontiac Men

A tip from an informer led to the arrest of two men caught in the act of breaking into a Pontiac store last night, police said.

Being held in Oakland County jail for arraignment are John L. Hurner, 24, of 610 Pearsall and William H. Breckenridge, 22, of 12 Douglas.

★ ★ ★

They are accused of breaking into the Federal Department Store Auto Center, 1910 W. Wide Track, by sawing iron bars from a rear window.

The Concorde jet aircraft being built by France and Britain will carry retractable periscopes for observing landing gear.

Cause No. 23733

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Emily May Green, minor

TO: Karl S. Green, father of said minor child.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that said child comes within the provisions of Chapter 712A of the Compiled Laws of 1948 as amended, in that the present whereabouts of the father of said minor child are unknown and said child has violated a law of the State, and that said child should be continued under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the Name of the People of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Court House, Oakland County Service Center, in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 15th day of May A.D. 1969, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing.

If being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, the Honorable Norman R. Barnard, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 2nd day of May A.D. 1969.

NORMAN R. BARNARD, Judge of Probate

2 State Gls, Marine Killed in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Michigan Army men and a Marine who entered the service in Detroit were listed by the Defense Department Tuesday among 43 recent casualties of the Vietnam War.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan men were Sepc. 4 Russell W. Eads, husband of Mrs. Doris A. Eads of Detroit, and Spec. 4 Richard D. Miller, husband of Mrs. Eileen M. Miller of Charlotte. Both were killed in action.

★ ★ ★

Also dying in action was Marine Corps Pfc. Paul S. Laverock, son of Mrs. Margaret A. L. Laverock of Burnaby, B.C., Canada. The Pentagon said he entered service at Detroit.

Highland Park Teacher Says No to Fall Bid

DETROIT (AP) — The attorney for Highland Park teacher Marlynn Marks Tuesday rejected an offer by the board of education to restore Miss Marcks to her high school classes next fall.

David Kratze threatened to bring suit against the board if the teacher is not returned to her classes immediately.

★ ★ ★

Miss Marcks had been suspended April 1, after telling police one of her students had claimed to be present at the New Bethel Church incident. The student's alleged claim was found to be false.

★ ★ ★

Miss Marcks, although still receiving full pay, said she has not performed nonteaching duties assigned to her.

★ ★ ★

The board's offer to restore Miss Marcks was contingent upon "diligent performance" of nonteaching duties. Kratze interpreted this to mean that the board would try to fire Miss Marcks if she did not perform the duties.

How Long Since You've Seen
Pine stumped fences
White birch trees
Wide green fields
and Bumblebees
These we saw, when we visited this real "FARMERS FARM" suitable for dairy, feeder cattle or horses. Shady lanes for bridle paths, between beautiful pine stumps and stone fences. Farm under cultivation. Modern brick farmhouse, good roof that needs painting, barn 38 ft. x 52 ft., Milkhouse 12x12, chicken house, concrete barnyard 40x50 ft. Room in barn for 12 box stalls or dairy cows. Woodshed 15x15. Tool shed 40x45. 2 car garage. (Gravel floor) Outbuildings in good condition. The whole farm is neat and clean compared to some we've seen. Corn crib holds 2,000 crates of corn. A good investment. Near cloverleaf to new US 21 to Port Huron when constructed. Also suitable for private plane airstrip with very little mass grading. 11 acres of woods at rear. Fronts on asphalt and gravel road. Suitable for eventual or immediate subdividing. No marsh. Gates good. In land bank. House now rents for $100 per month. Taxes $290. Priced at $55,500 for 81.39 acres. 29 per cent down. 6½ per cent land contract. Paid up in 15 years or less. Surveyed by registered surveyor. Soil analysis shows McBride, Mancelona and Caral soil. (Black sandy loam) Aerial survey at hand. Quiet, Peaceful, Level, Beautiful.

Inflation is Different things
to different people.

To us it's paying 50 cents for parking to avoid paying $1 fine for over parking, while going in to pay 10 cents for a 5 cent cup of coffee. Quoted from T. C. News, Winter Garden, Florida.

BUT
The price of this farm is not inflationary — at $1750 per acre — in an area where land is selling for $3,000 per acre.

Approximately ½ mile road frontage, approximately 1 mile lake frontage. By surveyors report: 87 workable acres out of 113. Some of the 113 acres extend into the lake. Has the making of a beautiful development with island for recreational area or overnight camping site. On Nelsey Rd. just off Andersonville Rd.

Publishers in Literary War for 'Best Seller' Distinction

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—A woman went into a beauty parlor and saw five women under five hair dryers reading Jacqueline Susann's new book, "The Love Machine," which is about a TV Casanova who once headed a network and was mean to all the girls who adored him. (Hmmm, hmmm, now who could that be?)

WILSON

Later at a literary party launching the book, a very top man of Simon & Schuster said his company expects "The Love Machine" to overtake the Random House "Portnoy's Complaint" on the best seller list in five to six weeks. "The Battle of the Books!"

Johnny Carson sat in at the drums at the Inn of the Clock at a surprise party for our birthday . . . and Barbra Streisand came in, no doubt pretty exhausted from her movie chores here, just to say hello . . . and we were very touched.

There came also Robert Merrill, Bobby Morse, Jackie Mason, Andy Warhol, Hope Hampton (The Duchess of Park Avenue), Joey Adams, who was the m.c., and Henry Youngman who said, "Joey, I've been looking high and low for you, but I guess I didn't look low enough."

★ ★ ★

Claire Bloom and Rod Steiger—though separating after 10 years—are scheduled to make a film ("The Hunting Party") in Durango, Mex., starting in August. Miss Bloom, who's been in N.Y. and around town with Producer Hillard Elkins, has been in touch with Steiger but there's no reconciliation . . . Roger Smith gave Ann-Margret a sable-and-sand colored Rolls for her birthday.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joe Namath'll get $100,000 to do a TV special—about Joe Namath . . . Nicol Williamson and the "Hamlet" company got a standing ovation, then applauded the audience. (The star's name, in the alphabetical cast listings, is next to last in a cast of 24) . . . Singer Monte Rock, onstage a The Apartment, had a loud argument with owner Bernie Bronk about the microphone, before the startled customers.

The Dick Schaaps (Madelein Gottlieb) expect the baby July 4 . . . Sammy Davis' protegee, Lola Falana, will get a big film push; Columbia Pictures showed her screen test to the press . . . Jazz violinist Joe Venuti, starring at The Downbeat, once played for Paul Whiteman: "Most secure job I ever had—I owed Whiteman so much money he couldn't fire me!" . . . At the Chateau Madrid opening: Lee Marvin.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: At one time if you paid cash, people figured you were thrifty; nowadays they figure your credit's no good.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Will Rogers said it: "Politicians do more funny things naturally than I can think of doing purposely."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "It is hard to believe a man is telling the truth when you know you would lie if you were in his place." — H. L. Mencken.

EARL'S PEARLS: Some young college rebels want to tear up everything except their checks from home.

In Las Vegas it isn't easy getting the fire department. You have to play the alarm box until you win . . . That's earl, brother.

$500,000 Fire Hits Eaton Rapids Mills

EATON RAPIDS (UPI) — A $500,000 blaze destroyed most of the John B. Davidson Woolen Mills here yesterday when a carding machine caught fire.

Fire Chief Charles Oliver said the highly flammable woolen dust "virtually exploded" in the Elizabeth Street building.

★ ★ ★

The plant was in operation but no workers were injured. Two firemen were treated for smoke inhalation.

Firemen from six neighboring towns were called to assist.

Ex-Newsboy Collects Debt From 1924

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Bill Harrill, a newspaper carrier boy here nearly a half century ago, was sitting in a restaurant recently when Deb Gamble walked in and handed him $2.

"What's that for?" asked Harrill, now 54.

★ ★ ★

"It's for a paper bill I've owed you for 45 years," Gamble replied.

Gamble explained that he moved to Ohio 45 years ago owing Harrill 60 cents for his subscription to a Knoxville newspaper.

★ ★ ★

"I wanted to clear my conscience," Gamble said, "and I hope this will cover the debt and interest."

Junior Editors Quiz on GARGOYLES

QUESTION: Why are gargoyles perched high on old cathedral roofs?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Nowadays, we use gutters on the edges of roofs to catch the rainwater and lead it down through pipes so it won't damage the building. Instead of such pipes, many ancient buildings had spouts projecting from the gutters so the water would pour outward (upper right).

The Greeks began to decorate these spouts with lions' heads. This led to decorations being applied to the waterspouts built on Gothic cathedrals.

Since these projected several feet outward, stonecutters realized they had the opportunity to carve whole figures with the water coming through the opened mouths. They seem to have delighted in meeting this challenge to their imagination and skill.

Greek myths had told of a fantastic monster who breathed fire, called the Chimaera. With a lion's head and a dragon's tail, this creature had the shaggy hair of a goat.

The monsters on the waterspouts, called gargoyles from the Latin "gurgulio" were equally more fantastic, some possessing human arms or legs.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

A Look at TV

Lennons Happy, Homey

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If the singing Lennon sisters, backstopped by the ageless Jimmy Durante, can manage to project the serene and happy atmosphere that enveloped their ABC special last night, their weekly variety hour next season may be a happy, homey haven.

The special was made last summer as a pilot for a series for the four girls who literally grew up on the Lawrence Welk Show. Durante, a guest star, will be one of the principals next season.

The program was colorful and musically attractive and, for most of us, Durante can do no wrong on a stage.

There is a certain awkwardness to be overcome when the sisters stop singing and do some talking. They take turns, one sentence to each, which removes any suggestion of spontaneity. In addition, the program writers presumed there was more of an interest in and knowledge about the Lennon's family life than the viewer who is not hooked on the Welk show is likely to have. It is a complaint one can make, too, about the King family.

★ ★ ★

The musical numbers ranged from standards to contemporary and country and were very pleasant. It was, perhaps, a bit bland, but it was restful.

CBS, under a new policy, had press previews in advance of the broadcast tonight of "Shadow Game" and encouraged reviews in advance of this last program of the season's "CBS Playhouse" dramas.

It is an interesting enough 90-minutes. The story developed around executives and women employes caught in the 1965 power blackout in their quarters on the 53rd floor of a Manhattan skyscraper.

★ ★ ★

Since there was liquor and ice in executive suites, it turned into a candle-lit office party. Under the influence of alcohol and of the emergency, each character started to reveal his true self.

Most highly charged moments came in the confrontation between two account executives' battles over customers. Daniel Massey played an honorable man and William Shatner had his troubles in a difficult, heavy role—the salesman trying to woo away his colleague's accounts.

It was a pretty large cast to be handled comfortably on the small screen. The result was that while we learned each person's problem—and they have enough to keep a soap opera busy for a couple of years—we never really felt we got to know any of them.

There were the usual office types—usual, that is, in dramas: the devoted family man with an eye for young girls; the blonde on the make; the spinster secretary whose whole life is her boss, and so on. Generally the women had emotional hangups and the men had business problems.

★ ★ ★

When the lights came back on, the honorable executive walked out of his job, but the others just picked up the pieces.

The lesson? None except that perhaps an office party in the middle of a blackout is unwise.

★ ★ ★

Loring Mandel's play was given a handsome, expensive production and the generally excellent acting gave it a gloss that concealed some structural weaknesses.

Handicap Can't Stop Coed From Helping Others

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Jeannie Campos, a 19-year-old sophomore at the University of Washington, is one of those students who likes to get involved.

She tutored a fourth grader under a neighborhood house program last year. She is studying with the American Friends Service Committee to be a draft counselor. And she recently spent a Saturday ironing to raise $10 for a special education program which provides funds for disadvantaged students.

Jeannie has been blind since she was 7 years old.

'Some Illness Likely' After Moon Landing

The Apollo astronauts' physician thinks it is almost certain at least one man on the first moon landing mission will come home ill—maybe with some weird sickness of lunar origin.

"We have to face the fact that we've had postflight illness on every Apollo mission so far," says Dr. Charles Berry, medical director of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, Tex.

"Our problem will be to determine whether any illnesses that show up after Apollo 11 later this year are due to the stresses of space flight or to some microorganism picked up on the moon.

As Dr. Berry discussed the astronaut ailment hazards yesterday before the Aerospace Medical Associatin in San Francisco, Apollo 10 astronauts successfully tested a new camera system designed to provide, for the first time, dramatic color telecasts of their journey around the moon two weeks from now.

CAMERA WILL GO

Space project sources at Cape Kennedy said it was fairly certain the camera would be aboard when Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young blast off May 18 on an eight-day flight that includes 61½ hours circling the moon.

Sealed inside their moonship during a successful countdown rehearsal yesterday, the astronauts beamed clear color shots to the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex.

★ ★ ★

In lunar orbit, Stafford and Cernan are to climb into the Lunar Module, separate from the command ship piloted by Young and twice cruise to within nine miles of the surface without landing.

If successful, they will clear the way for Apollo 11 to bring off a moon landing July 20.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Berry said the disabilities noted so far in the Apollo program are a marked loss of exercise capacity for a time after return to earth, and motion sickness in flight. Both of these, he said, apparently are because of the human body's attempts to adapt to weightlessness in space and to readapt to earth's gravity later.

More surprising is the discovery that an atmosphere of 100 per cent oxygen damages red blood cells and that additon of nitrogen to the spacecraft atmosphere somehow alleviates this peril.

Youngstown Vote Ends School Crisis

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Public school officials rejoiced today over passage of a 12-mill tax increase that means classrooms will open on schedule next fall for 27,000 students.

The vote in yesterday's balloting was 27,244 to 20,459.

★ ★ ★

The first school levy increase here since 1963, it means the financial crisis which forced schools to close for five weeks last winter won't be repeated in September.

Six school tax proposals turned back since December 1966 brought education to a standstill here between Thanksgiving and last New Year's.

OPTIMISTIC NOW

School officials had said that, without the next tax, classes would not open next fall.

The total tax rate of 34.3 mills includes an earlier 7.3-mill levy that comes up for renewal in November, but officials are optimistic that voters will retain it.

★ ★ ★

"Since it is not an additional tax," said Zinser, "we hope it will be supported."

INDUSTRIAL CITY

Youngstown is an industrial city of 166,000 population with wide ethnic and labor differences.

The city school system currently is operating on a $15.5 million annual budget with $14.8 million in expected income, which may be reduced by year's end.

★ ★ ★

"We've lost $14 million in property valuation," Zinser noted, "to urban renewal, highway development and the Youngstown State University."

Zinser noted that the city's current 22.3 mill—$22.3 per $1,000 of assessed property value — school tax levy was the lowest among major Ohio cities.

★ ★ ★

Abe Harshman, school board president, said education costs still would be cut wherever possible "because 12 mills is not enough to do the job."

"But at least we can go back to recruiting teachers," said Hugh Slaugenhaupt, who took leave from a teaching job to work for the levy.

Slap at Navy on Pueblo Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pueblo crew has won its clearance from the secretary of the Navy, but the Navy itself is still waiting for a verdict from Congress on its role in the loss of the American spy ship.

A special House Armed Services subcommittee is writing a report on the Pueblo affair, based on several weeks of public and secret hearings. The report is expected to be published within two weeks.

★ ★ ★

Sources close to the subcommittee predict the Navy — as well as the Pentagon in general — will be scored for allegedly failing to anticipate North Korea's seizure of the intelligence-gathering ship, and for the slow response to the act.

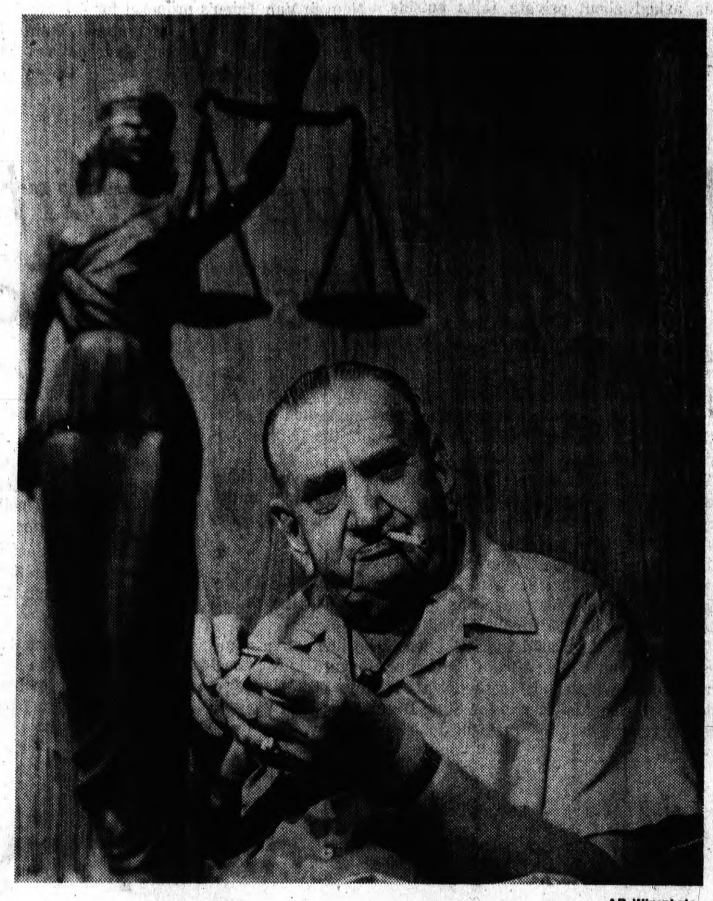

★ ★ ★

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., chairman of the subcommittee, told newsmen he thought the Navy's court of inquiry and Secretary of Navy John H. Chafee both acted properly in their own way — the court in its "strict interpretation of Navy regulations" and Chafee in tempering its recommendation with "a great deal of mercy."

POLITICAL JUDICIOUSNESS

Pike said the decision of Chafee, a former Marine and Rhode Island governor, reflected the American people's sentiment that the Pueblo crew had suffered enough. "There was a lot of political judiciousness in the action of the secretary of the Navy," Pike said.

Chafee said the "major factor" in the Pueblo incident was the "sudden collapse of a premise assumed at every level of responsibility and upon which every aspect of the mission has been based — freedom of the seas."

ARMY TO FORK OVER — After nearly 25 years of cafe cooking in Dallas, Tex., Joseph R. Flynn has finally convinced the Army that he should have received his pension in 1945 when he was discharged on the grounds of alcoholism one week before he became eligible for retirement. The 65-year-old Flynn, now living on Social Security, stands to collect more than $100,000.

Nixon Is Shifting $270 Million to War on Hunger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, facing political pressures to escalate the war on hunger, is advocating a $1-billion annual increase in food stamp programs "to put an end to hunger in America itself for all time."

The President said he is shifting $270 million next July 1 to speed up the food stamp plan in addition to the $1.5 billion already requested for the coming fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

When fully effective in mid-1970, the extra $1 billion would extend government food assistance programs to every county in the nation, Nixon said.

"That hunger and malnutrition should persist in a land such as ours is embarrassing and intolerable," Nixon said in sending his proposals to Congress with virtually no advance notice.

SPELLING OUT DETAILS

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, in spelling out details of the proposal today, hoped to break down some initial skepticism of a special Senate committee on hunger headed by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

★ ★ ★

An immediate critical analysis from the committee staff Tuesday contended the $270 million boost next year will not accomplish much. The staff is drafting a paper designed to show exactly what the sum would do in terms of people fed.

★ ★ ★

Although the administration had been reviewing the subject for some weeks, the proposals it advanced are considerably more far-reaching than many had anticipated.

'MOMENT IS AT HAND'

Noting that the United States has been aiding starving people abroad since World War I, Nixon said, "The moment is at hand to put an end to hunger in America itself for all time."

If Congress adopts the administration's recommendations, the full impact would not be felt until 13 months hence. At that time, the federal government's antihunger drive would cost $2.5 billion annually.

Viet Copter Crash Kills 34

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Army Chinook helicopter packed with South Vietnamese infantrymen crashed and burned yesterday, killing 34 of the men aboard and injuring the other 35, the U.S. Command announced today. It was the worst helicopter crash of the war.

A U.S. spokesman said the 50-foot CH47 helicopter, one of the workhorses of the war, developed mechanical trouble while carrying the South Vietnamese to an operational area 75 miles north of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Two of the three American crewmen were killed and the other was injured. The rest of the casualties were Vietnamese.

No other details were available, but the spokesman said the crash was being investigated.

2,598 CHOPPERS LOST

A total of 2,598 helicopters now have been reported lost in the war, with 79 of them destroyed since April 1. Of these, 52 have been shot down and the rest lost because of collisions, mechanical trouble or enemy shelling that caught them on the ground.

Although this was the worst helicopter crash of the war, the toll has been exceeded in several crashes of fixed-wing planes.

★ ★ ★

U.S. spokesmen say they can give no particular reason for the recent large losses of helicopters, but they cite the "enormity of the operation." They say more than 3,000 U.S. helicopters now are operating in Vietnam. And that during a normal week they average more than 30 flights each, transport more than 150,000 troops and haul more than 30 million pounds of cargo.

Only light, scattered fighting was reported as the North Vietnamese observed the 15th anniversary of their victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu.

60 at Dartmouth Arrested

By The Associated Press

New Hampshire and Vermont State Police broke down the doors of the Dartmouth College administration building today and dragged, carried and escorted about 60 students from the building.

Meanwhile, abut 600 students "camped-in" at Purdue University's Memorial Union after State Police cleared them from the administration building, only 16 hours after police ended an earlier sit-in with 229 arrests.

★ ★ ★

At Dartmouth, in Hanover, N. H., the helmeted police did not carry clubs and no injuries were reported.

The students, led by members of Students for a Democratic Society, seized the building yesterday, evicted school officials and nailed the doors shut. The protesters sought an immediate end to Reserve Officer Training Corps program on campus.

Flash

Thomas Kennedy, a former Oakland County weighmaster, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court this morning to stand trial on three counts of embezzlement. The action came after Kennedy waived his right to a preliminary examination on each case. He was charged with the offenses a year ago this month.

Clear Skies, Cooler Seen for Thursday

Scattered showers forecast for today are expected to leave the Pontiac area tonight.

Mostly fair and cooler is the weatherman's prediction for tomorrow, with the high reaching 67 to 73. The low tonight will be a mild 44 to 50.

★ ★ ★

There's a chance of light rain or showers and mild temperature Friday.

Probabilities of precipitation in per cent are 40 today, 20 tonight, and 10 tomorrow.

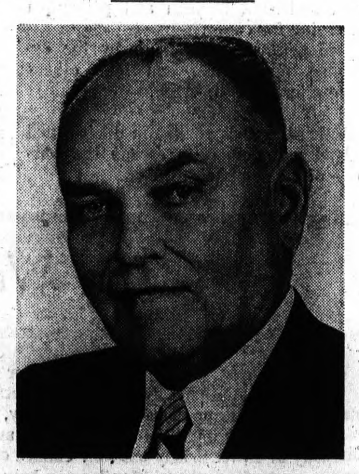

★ ★ ★

Forty-seven was today's low reading in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 75 by 12:30 p.m.

Teen Decoy Used in 'Smut' Raid

(Third in a four-part series.)

By DICK ROBINSON

"It's like raiding a place that sells bubble gum cards," a 28-year-old bachelor jested about a police crackdown on three Pontiac adult-only bookstores.

Two teen-age girls and a 25-year-old man were charged with selling obscene magazines to a minor. Two of the cases were bound over yesterday to Circuit Court for trial. The third was adjourned.

The three were arrested last week by the police vice squad after purchases were made by a 15-year-old girl, working with the police and with the permission of her parents.

Police Chief William K. Hanger indicated the arrests are the first steps in a crackdown to remove what he calls pornography from Pontiac stores.

CUT SALES TO MINORS

Although he has no legal backing to take racy material off the racks for adults, he presumes the arrests will "cut down on the chance of the magazines being sold to minors."

Since February the police have been sending a 15-year-old girl and 16-year-old boy into the three city stores to make purchases, said Guy White, head of the vice squad.

★ ★ ★

Two of the stores are downtown. They are the Adult Only Bookstore at 12 N. Saginaw and Downtown Bookstore at 86 N. Saginaw. The other store is Glenn's Party Store at 805 Baldwin.

At first the teen-agers just went in and bought the magazines and left. These cases wouldn't hold up in court, police were advised, because it couldn't be proven that the cashiers knew what was in the magazines.

★ ★ ★

The statute says the persons must "knowingly sell" obscene material. The word "knowingly" was added to the law in 1964.

Then the 15-year-old girl was sent back to the stores. She picked up a magazine, thumbed through it to see if it contained the right material and took it to the cashier.

MAKE OVER PACES

Pressure Is Put on 3 Car-Parts Firms

Pontiac's City Commission voted to put pressure on three auto parts firms by holding back approval of their applications for license renewal at last night's meeting.

Commissioners complained that all three firms were not keeping their property up and were allowing junked cars to be stored in view, rather than in fenced areas.

★ ★ ★

The three license renewal applications withheld are for General, 543 S. Saginaw; M & S, 401 S. Saginaw; and Royal, 1130 University.

The licenses are to be considered again next week. This meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday rather than Tuesday, to allow the commission to attend the annual Pontiac General Hospital employes dinner.

ASSESSMENT ROLL

The commission approved a revised assessment roll which cut the cost to businesses in the Tel-Huron shopping center for a proposed parking lot. It is to be the first of several proposals to create additional parking for commercial areas. The State Highway Department has been ordering parking removed from streets under its jurisdiction in the city.

The Tel-Huron lot, to be located on West Huron between Genessee and Telegraph, is to cost property owners $41,000 with the city picking up the cost of storm drainage ($5,800) and general overhead ($4,500).

City participation in the project was requested by Robert C. Irwin, commissioner for the district (2).

The Commission voted 6-0 with Robert F. Jackson of district 5 absent, to order preparation of a special assessment roll.

The commissioners also were notified by the State Highway Department that removal of parking on the north side of West Huron between Franklin Boulevard and Osceola would be delayed until September 1970, providing the city would create off-street parking in the area.

OTHER ACTION

The commission also:

● Was informed Pontiac General Hospital wished to purchase for $155,000 the private medical building on the southeast corner of West Huron and Johnson to be used by various hospital operations.

The hospital also wants to retain the architectural firm of Denyes, Freeman and Associates of Pontiac to make plans for an addition on the front of the hospital building. Decision on both requests was delayed until Monday.

● Approved a $181,000 project for curb, gutter, paving and storm drain for Eastway from Auburn to M59, over the objections of several property owners after a public hearing. A protest petition listed 42.4 per cent of property owners objecting. Property owners are to assume $57,000 of the project and the city the rest.

Wesley J. Wood, commissioner for the district (6), said the improvement was "a bargain" for residents of the area. He said the objections came from property owners who had no water drainage problems because they were on high land and the water from their property was flowing onto the other residents' property.

● Rejected a sewer project for Westway from 97 feet south of Benson to Michigan because of numerous objections.

● Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. May 20 for presentation of a special assessment roll for curb, gutter and paving on Kenilworth from Featherstone to University.

● Okayed a preliminary plat for a proposed subdivision north of West Brooklyn between Hollywood and Stanley in which a developer is planning homes in the $30,000 to $40,000 price range. Adjacent to the subdivision would be commercial and multiple dwelling development. A final version of the proposed plat is to be submitted later for approval.

● Refused to sell a 6.6-acre parcel at the southwest corner of Featherstone and East Boulevard. A bid of $38,500 was submitted by Leslie H. Hudson with the option that the price would be $50,000 if the corner section were zoned commercial 1. This is the third bid asked for the property by the city but none has come near the $100,000 price set by appraisers. A restudy of the property was ordered.

● Awarded a $44,651 contract to Conco Inc., for sealing of cracks in concrete streets.

● Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. May 20 for renaming Diston Street to Gillespie.

● Held final reading and approved adoption of a new garbage and rubbish disposal ordinance. It becomes effective in 10 days. Second reading on a new Building Code ordinance was deferred.

● Accepted a deed for 559 S. Sanford. The building on the property is to be removed in about a week. The empty building has been the source of neighborhood complaints.

● Approved a contract to provide land-fill service for the communities of Sylvan Lake, Orchard Lake, Keego Harbor, Waterford Township, Bloomfield Township and West Bloomfield Township. The agreement is for one year. Last year the communities' use of the facility was 2 per cent of the total.

● Designated by proclamation May 10 as "Project Thank You" day in cooperation with a nationwide program to express appreciation to servicemen in Vietnam. The metro area program is a special project of a radio station in Detroit.

Teen Decoy Was Used in 'Smut' Raids

She would ask the cashier if the magazine was any good and whether they had anything hotter, or she would just thumb through it with the clerk.

The 15-year-old girl was asked if she was 18 at one store and 21 at another, according to White. She said "yes" but wasn't asked for identification at either. At the third store, she wasn't even asked about her age.

THE EVIDENCE

Magazines being used as evidence are Nudist Adventure, Swap and Jaybird Journal.

Sex-oriented magazines were taken as evidence because they are easier to prosecute than paperback books, White said.

★ ★ ★

"I expect these Pontiac cases to be vigorously defended," an assistant prosecutor said, "because we have information that suppliers offer retailers a free lawyer if they get into trouble."

The clerks have been freed on $1,000 bond. The stores were not closed nor were publications confiscated.

ROYAL OAK CASE

Another Oakland County obscenity case is working its way through the courts.

A 13-year-old Farmington girl has charged a clerk at a Royal Oak store of selling her an allegedly obscene record jacket and album called "Kick Out the Jams" by hippie poet John Sinclair's MC5 rock band. An exam in Circuit Court is set for May 26.

"We've gotten a lot of complaints on the Pontiac stores, as well as the downtown "art" theater, for a long time," the chief said. "We never could get arrest warrants because the Supreme Court decision on obscenity wouldn't support it."

Owners of the Pontiac stores were outraged after the arrests.

'BUM RAP'

"This is a bum rap," one said. "We don't carry the hard obscene stuff. The vice squad was just trying to flex its muscles."

Another said, "We're the strictest store in town. We don't allow kids in that department. We always abide by the rules.

County Reveals OK of Airport Expansion

County officials said yesterday the master plan for Oakland-Pontiac Airport expansion in Waterford Township was approved April 25 by the Administration.

The okay makes the county eligible for federal funds for an expansion project which will include an instrument landing system and an extra east-west runway at the site.

★ ★ ★

Land purchases necessary to expand the site were approved two weeks ago by the county airport board. The sum of $800,000 set aside out of the county's general fund last year is being used to purchase land east and north of the airport.

The county aviation committee was to be apprised of developments at its meeting at 1:30 p.m. today.

Committee members also were to hear the history of the county's involvement in the Oakland-Orion Airport, located in Orion Township. Master plan approval at that site is expected shortly. Air utilization approval already has been given.

Mobile Homes on the Move

Mobile homes now account for one-third of all single-family housing under $10,000.

In 1963, 216,700 mobile homes and trailers were produced; 250,000 are anticipated for this year.

POSITIVE PEACE PLAN

"Directions: First, Pray much for others. Thanking God for all He will do for them when we plead for His mercy upon them. Praying this way for the President and all others who are in places of high responsibility and authority over us, so that we can live in peace and quiet, spending our time doing the right thing in thinking much to God This is the right plan that pleases God our Saviour who longs for all men to be saved and to understand this truth: God is on one side and all the people on the other side, and "Christ Jesus is the only man alive that is between them to bring them together."

Opening lead—♥2

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

If there is a bridge player's heaven we will find all finesses working, trumps behaving like angels and when there is a right play and a wrong play, the right play will succeed and the wrong play fail.

Bridge articles approximate this condition in one respect. They almost always show the right play as a winner and the wrong play as a loser. Today's hand is an exception to this.

★ ★ ★

South's three-spade bid is a slight push. He does have a six-card suit but he only has seven high-card points and his singleton is in the suit bid by his partner. North's four-spade call is open to question but we approve of it.

When your partner takes you to one from game you should go the rest of the way with any excuse.

The final four-spade contract turns out to be a pretty good one due to the fact that very little of North's highcard strength is in his bid suit. It also makes easily if South misplays the hand.

★ ★ ★

All South has to do after winning a heart in dummy is to come to his hand with a club, lead a trump and nop up with dummy's king.

Why is this the wrong play? Because after West plays his seven of spades the ace and queen are the only trumps left. The king play wins only if the queen is singleton in the East hand, the low play wins if West is holding either the queen or both the ace and queen.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
			1♥
Pass	3N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠A65 ♥KQJ1087 ♦K4 ♣A6
What do you do now?

A—In rubber bridge bid four hearts. You want your 100 honors. In duplicate, pass or bid four hearts as your fancy dictates. Either may be the winner.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid four hearts and your partner raises to five hearts. What do you do now?

Three in O-A Draw 'Blanks'

Whitewashing was the order of the day yesterday as three squads drew blanks in Oakland A League baseball action.

★ ★ ★

Romeo halted Troy, 5-0, Rochester pinned an 8-0 setback on Utica and Clawson checked in with a 2-0 decision over Avondale. In more of a hitters' game, Madison pushed across a run in the top of the ninth to down Lake Orion, 8-7.

SHARE LEAD

With the wins, Rochester and Madison remained tied for the top spot in the loop with 4-1 marks. Clawson is 3-2 and Romeo 3-3. Orion is 2-3 and the others are 2-4.

★ ★ ★

Senior right-hander Stan Babiuk stole the show for Rochester's Falcons.

CLOUTS GRANDSLAM

Babiuk limtied Utica to only three hits for his second win of the season and he helped himself at the plate with a grandslam home run in the first inning and a run-producing double in the third. The Grandslammer was Babiuk's second of the season and it was his third homer of the campaign.

★ ★ ★

A double, a couple of singles and a ground out led to a pair of runs for Clawson in the sixth inning and it backed a strong one-hit performance by Larry Niedowicz.

STRIKEOUT PITCH

Niedowicz fanned 15 to whip his sophomore opponent, Rick Walker, who struck out 10.

★ ★ ★

TIES, THEN FALLS

Lake Orion rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh to tie the score at 7-all, but Madison won it in the ninth when Dave Frizzell singled and came around on Jon Havrelko's double.

Jeff Delorme picked up two triples and a single and chased home four runs to pace Madison. Bill Baker picked up three hits for Orion while teammates Paul Bailey, Tom Perry and Jerel Hollens checked in two apiece.

Junior southpaw Vance Green, now 4-1 for the season, limited Troy to only two hits as Romeo squared its over-all record at 7-7.

Bob Milmine doubled home a pair of runs in the first to start Romeo on the way to victory and Mike Semp singled home two more in the second. Green fanned 11.

Golf Standoff for Skippers; Vikings Win

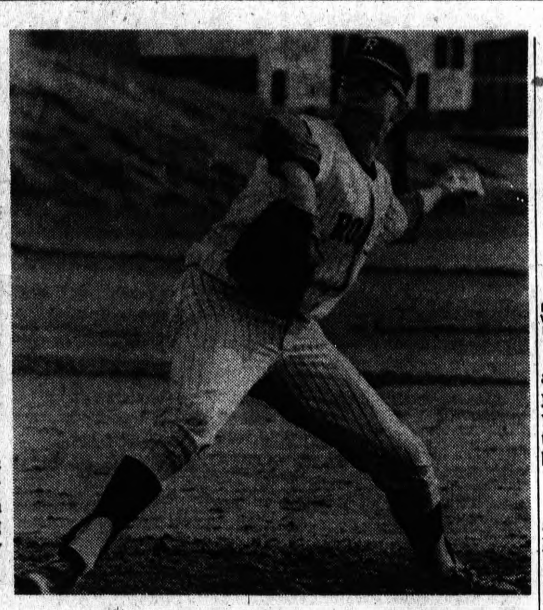

The Vikings of Walled Lake came up with a four-stroke victory over West Bloomfield yesterday, while Waterford and Milford battled to a 208-208 standoff.

★ ★ ★

Jim Wallace carded a 38 and Doug Baldwin a 39 at Pine Lake as Walled Lake upped its record to 8-1. Freshman Bob McClelland posted a 40 and Guy Burmeister a 41 for West Bloomfield (8-2).

★ ★ ★

League play was in progress at Pontiac Country Club as Waterford and Milford checked in with the tie score. Unable to continue play, they decided on a draw. Ralph Hayman posted a 38 and Scott Niederluecke a 39 for Waterford (5-5-1), while Gary Baker and Dave Proper paced Milford with 40s.

Pontiac Press Photo

LONG-STRIDING BULLDOG—Junior moundsman Vance Green of Romeo upped his mark to 4-1 and squared the Bulldogs' Oakland-A League mark at 3-3 with a 5-0 two-hit shutout against Troy Tuesday. The victory boosted Romeo past the Colts (2-3) in the standings.

Waterford Trims Stevenson

3-Way Tie in I-L Race

	W	L		W	L
P. Northern	4	1	Walled Lake	2	3
Waterford	4	1	Farmington	1	4
L. Stevenson	4	1	S. Lathrup	0	5

Lusty hitting in one sector and tight pitching in another yesterday brought on a three-way deadlock for the lead in the Inter-Lakes Conference baseball race.

★ ★ ★

Sharing the top spot after some wild times yesterday are Pontiac Northern, Waterford and Livonia Stevenson. The trio will become at least a twosome Friday as PNH plays host to Stevenson.

HITTING HUSKIES

The Huskies of Pontiac Northern cracked out 19 hits in ripping winless Southfield Lathrup, 14-0, while right-hander Steve Goit scattered three hits in pitching Waterford to an extra-inning 2-1 verdict over Stevenson.

★ ★ ★

In the other one, Walled Lake erupted for nine runs and nine hits in the fifth inning to overcome an 8-0 deficit and post a 9-8 decision over Farmington.

Raising its record to 7-3, Pontiac Northern came up with its top bat production of the campaign.

CATCHER SETS PACE

Catcher Warren Laturneau set the pace with a single, double and triple and four RBI, while Larry Crivea collected three safeties and Roger Holland checked in with a pair.

★ ★ ★

Mike Sheldon's second single of the game sent Brad Potter scooting across the plate with the winning run in the bottom of the eighth against Stevenson.

KNOTS SCORE

The Skippers had moved in front in the fourth on Sheldon's single, an error and Larry Hemmerly's single, but the visitors knotted the game at 1-all in the top of the seventh.

★ ★ ★

Goit went the distance and fanned 10 to pick up his second win of the campaign.

VIKINGS EXPLODE

Walled Lake's Vikings, held in check for four innings, literally exploded in the fifth frame.

★ ★ ★

When the inning came to a close the Vikings had sent 12 batters to the plate, they had nine runs and they had banged out three home runs, two triples, a double and three singles.

BIG BLOWS

Pat Piilo clouted a three-run homer in the uprising, Dan McDole contributed a two-run shot and Jerry Mattack belted a solo job. Ron Thompson, who picked up the pitching decision, delivered a bases-loaded triple while Wayne Morenz clouted the other three-bagger. Tom Johnson doubled home one run in the inning.

★ ★ ★

Tony Himmelspach clouted a home run and single and knocked in three runs to pace Farmington.

Brother Rice Triumphs

Lamphere Streak Continues

The run famine which stopped Madison Lamphere had imposed on the opposition for 31 consecutive innings ended yesterday, but it was of little consequence, however, as the Rams triumphed to raise their record to 9-0.

Lutheran East broke the runless spell Lamphere has been casting about but still wound up on the short end of an 8-2 score.

FLIPS FOUR-HITTER

Dub Brady, upping his record to 5-0, scattered four hits to pick up the win and he collected two hits and drove in one run to share the batting honors. Junior center-fielder Neal Fatheree clouted a two-run home run in the opening inning and finished with four RBI for the day. Rick Brubaker also banged a homer for the Rams.

In other games, Brother Rice blanked Detroit Salesian, 4-0. Novi outslugged Dearborn Annapolis, 12-8, Lincoln Park stopped Southfield, 3-0, and Detroit Thurston blanked Wayne John Glenn, 3-0.

Dave Fournier bankged out three hits and Mike Prudhomme and Dave Girard collected two apiece to back the three-hit pitching of Jordan Rohde as Brother Rice upper its record to 3-1.

Novi's Lee Snow put the chill to Dearborn Annapolis. Snow went the distance on the mound and at the plate he collected four hits — one a homer — and drove in three runs. Teammate Gary Boyer picked up two safeties and knocked in two runs.

Lance Korthals and Chuck Petrillo checked in with a pair of hits each but it wasn't enough to lift Southfield into the win column. The Blue Jays outhit Lincoln Park, 8-4.

Thurston hiked its record to 3-1 behind the pitching of senior right-hander Tim Carr who set John Glenn down on only one hit.

YANKEES CATCH ANGEL—Baserunner Lou Johnson of California lunges back toward first base as the New York Yankees' first sacker Joe Pepitone reaches in the opposite direction last night for the throw from third baseman Bobby Murcer who had just picked off a hard line drive by Jim Fregosi. The throw arrived in time to retire Johnson, too, in the first inning at Anaheim, Calif. Murcer, also, had a two-run single as the New Yorkers took a 2-1 victory.

Orioles Shut Out by Chisox's Horlen

Cleveland's Sam McDowell pitched his second consecutive three-hit shutout and made Tony Horton's seventh-inning home run stand up for the Indians' victory, ending Minnesota's eight-game winning streak. It was only the fourth triumph in 22 games for the Indians.

Fritz Peterson stopped California on five hits and Bobby Murcer singled home two unearned runs in the fifth inning, enabling the Yankees to beat the Angels and end a seven-game losing streak. Loser Rudy May's throwing error set up the two Yankee runs.

★ ★ ★

Boston capitalized on four Seattle errors — two by slick-fielding Ray Oyler — for eight unearned runs and mauled the Pilots 12-2 behind Ray Culp. Carl Yastrzemski drove in three runs and rookie Syd O'Brien belted his first major league home run for the winners.

Chiefs Top WKHS

Pontiac Central's golf team topped Waterford Kettering 201 to 213 at the Pontiac City course yesterday. Larry Walker led Central with a 39 followed by Dick Kallis with 38. Low for Kettering was Chuck Patrick and Sid Graves with 41s.

Scrimmage Ends Practice

Morehead Paces 'M' Drills

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Don Moorhead, who Michigan football Coach Glenn "Bo" Schembechler calls "the key to our offense this year," passed for two touchdowns and ran for another as the Blues beat the Whites 23-7 in a scrimmage that marked the end of spring practice.

Basically the Blue team was comprised of first stringers and the White squad was made up of the No. 2 and 3 teams.

★ ★ ★

Moorhead, who'll be a junior next season, threw a second quarter two-yard touchdown pass to sophomore-to-be Glenn Doughty, a highly touted tailback. Later in the quarter Moorhead burst around the right side of the White line for a seven-yard touchdown. In the third quarter he threw a 27-yard scoring pass to All-American tight end candidate Jim Mandich.

★ ★ ★

At a luncheon before the scrimmage Schembechler gave a rundown of some of his top players and said Moorhead "has all the qualities to be a successful quarterback. We have an offense this year that calls for a running and passing quarterback and he can do both."

UNDERSTUDY

Moorhead was the understudy to Dennis Brown last year as Michigan rolled to an 8-2 record.

Doughty is expected to take the place of All-American tailback Ron Johnson.

Schembechler calls him "a competitor who really wants to play."

★ ★ ★

"He has little or no experience running out of the backfield but he has all the speed in the world and can block too," he said.

★ ★ ★

Doughty is a 6-foot-2, 197-pound former split end from Pershing High School in Detroit.

Tim Killian kicked two extra points and a 45-yard field goal for the other Blue scores, while Preston Henry scored on a two-yard run for the Whites late in the third quarter.

SUFFERS INJURY

Paul Staroba, who Schembechler is counting on at flanker for next season, ran twice for 21 yards and caught three passes for 16 before breaking his collarbone in the first half. He is expected to be in a cast for some eight weeks.

★ ★ ★

Schembechler took over the coaching job last December when Bump Elliott was made associate athletic director. He was formerly head coach at Miami of Ohio and he brought along six of his assistants from Miami to aid him with the Wolverines.

★ ★ ★

He said he would stress defense and praised, among others, defensive halfback Tom Curtis, and ends Phil Seymour and Cecil Pryor.

On offense he said tackle Dan Dierdorf was "the important guy in our offensive thinking because we run a lot off tackle." Dierdorf is out with a knee injury.

★ ★ ★

Among others drawing his praise was Mandich, defensive guard Henry Hill, defensive halfback Tom Darden, and fullback Garvie Craw.

★ ★ ★

ARE YOU READY FOR THE FACTS OF Lite

T.M.

1. "Is Lite a real beer?" Yes, Lite is real beer—not a "near" beer. With the exception of ⅓ LESS CALORIES, Lite is a complete premium beer in every way.

2. "Does Lite have less calories?" Lite has ⅓ LESS CALORIES than regular Meister Bräu premium beer. Lite contains only 64 calories in an 8-ounce serving.

3. "What about the taste?" The special process that brews out the calories also gives Lite the lightest taste yet in a premium beer. A crisp, clean-cut, invigorating and refreshing taste. Lite is less filling, too.

4. "How is Lite brewed?" Lite represents a scientific breakthrough . . . a spectacular achievement in the brewing art. Except for the extra step that brews out ⅓ OF THE CALORIES, Lite is brewed as we brew all our beer: with the finest, most costly grades of ingredients . . . with great skill and experience . . . and with extra care and patience.

5. "Why is 'non-dietetic' on the label?" Because Lite is not a diet beverage nor is it a "near" beer. We simply have removed ⅓ OF THE CALORIES. But that's all that's missing.

6. "Who is Meister Bräu?" Meister Bräu is a leading Midwestern brewery, proud of its long heritage of brewing fine beers since 1838. It has pioneered a number of "firsts", including putting real draft beer in bottles and cans. It is now the first to offer you a real premium beer with ⅓ LESS CALORIES.
