Pontiac's Air Age to 'Mushroom' With Runway Addition

(Editor's Note: Pontiac Municipal Airport today is experiencing its biggest period of development since its earliest days. This is the first in a series of three articles describing this development and the greatly broadened air transportation service which lies ahead for both residents and industry in the Pontiac area.

* * *

Regular commercial airline passenger and mail service and twin engine air cargo freight service may be made available at Pontiac Municipal Airport by next summer.

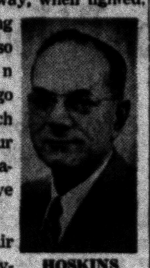

Homer C. Hoskins, manager of the airport, hopes to bring the two new services in following completion of the new 4,000-foot long east-west runway now under construction.

"Our new runway will increase the safety factor of all planes now using the airport," says Hoskins.

* * *

"It will also make possible use of the airport by the larger, twin engine craft in the DC-3 category. Our port now will be well within the safety requirements for that type of equipment.

"Our new runway, when lighted, and its adjoining taxi strip will also encourage twin engine air cargo service, and much greater use of our port by corporation executive plane services."

HOSKINS

Considerable air cargo freight service now is being handled by the local commercial operators at the airport for Pontiac area industry, but completion of the new, much longer runway, is expected to increase the volume of this service materially.

* * *

"Pontiac has a golden opportunity to expand its airport business today because of the increasing demand for air transportation," Hoskins told a representative of The Pontiac Press during an inspection of the new runway.

"Pontiac lies in the path of Detroit's steady spreading out toward the north and west," the airport manager pointed out. "Today when corporations look for property for expansion they want to know where the nearest airport lies.

"The day of looking at air transportation as a glamorous novelty is past," he added. "Business and industry look at it today strictly from the practical business attitude. The demand for better air transportation service is being voiced to us daily."

Pontiac's Municipal Airport already is the third busiest airport in Michigan. Only Willow Run and City Airport today handle more planes.

One hundred and thirty-five planes now are based on the airport, one hundred of them being housed in hangars. Eighty per cent of these planes are of the corporation executive type and are corporation owned. Approximately 70 applications are now on a waiting list for additional hangar facilities which cannot at the moment be provided because of a lack of funds.

Some of the planes are housed in hangars owned by the airport. Other hangars are being built by the owners of the planes on land leased for ten year periods from the airport.

* * *

This year's airport budget totals approximately $81,000. This figure includes the cost of the gasoline and oil which, in turn, is sold during the year in servicing the planes using the field.

Sale of this gasoline and oil is one of the big sources of airport income. The other is through lease of hangar and other facilities, and fees for use of the airport. At present the airport's income approximately equals its operating expense, and the improved facilities are expected to result in steadily improving operating balance.

* * *

The big financial need is for new hangars, an administration building, which is in the tentative 1958 program, a control tower, and, eventually, additional land. The present airport covers 392½ acres.

Storm Flossy Turns to Rain Over Georgia

Hurricane Causes Nine Deaths, Some Damage in Gulf Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hurricane Flossy subsided into a vast, drought-breaking rainstorm as it moved slowly over southern Georgia today after causing nine deaths and some property damage in its journey across the Gulf of Mexico and the northwest Florida coast.

At 8 a.m. the once-dangerous storm was reported centered just west of Albany, in southwest Georgia, with its top winds at 50 m.p.h. short of a full gale and only half the velocity reached before it moved inland.

It continued heading between northeast and east northeast at about 10 m.p.h.

Gusty winds of 25 to 35 m.p.h. extended outward 300 to 350 miles north and east of the center and 150 miles to the west.

In its overland path from Fort Walton Beach, Fla., to Dothan, Ala., to Albany, the storm apparently did nothing worse in the property damage line than to down some trees and power lines.

On the other hand, its accompanying rainfall was breaking the back of drought conditions across southern Alabama and Georgia and northern Florida so that, on balance, Flossy was probably more of a blessing than a disaster in those areas.

The potential casualty list of the storm took a sharp drop early today when the Coast Guard reported the motor vessel Carport located near Grand Isle in the

COLORADO CRASH KILLS 12 — Only shattered and fire-blackened bits of wreckage (circled) remain of an Air Force C 47 transport which crashed yesterday against 14,172-foot Mt. Colorado Crash Kills All Aboard Including Wac

7 Men Climb 5 Hours on Mt. Yale to Reach Disaster Scene

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP) — All 12 persons aboard an Air Force C47 were killed yesterday when the twin-engine craft plunged into the sheer northwest edge of 14,172-foot Mt. Yale.

A joint Army-Air Force team equipped with mules started an ascent to the 11,500-foot level to return the bodies.

Among the victims, who included both civilians and military personnel, was a Women's Army Corps enlisted woman. The bodies were found by a seven-man team which rode and climbed for five hours to reach the scene.

Names of the dead were withheld.

The plane was attached to the Continental Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo. A spokesman there said it left about 9:30 a.m. on a flight to Hamilton Air Force Base, near San Francisco.

Watches on the bodies of the victims had stopped at 10:10.

Allen Fitzgerald, an employe of the Colorado Reformatory here, flew over the crash scene at midday, and later guided the first rescue team to the site.

"It was the most gruesome spectacle I've ever seen," he said.

"The impact must have been so great that all their shoes were ripped off. Only one man still had on a shoe.

* * *

"Six of the bodies were still in the wreckage — one of them 'way back in the tail section. We found the others scattered all over. Some of them were so badly burned and torn that it was hard to distinguish if they were bodies at all."

The scene is near the top of the Continental Divide, 12 miles west of Buena Vista.

Says "We Got Here First"

France to Resist Egypt's Bid to Air Charges in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—French Delegate Bernard Cornut-Gentille said today his country will fight Egypt's attempt to have the U. N. Security Council debate Egyptian charges against France in the Suez Canal controversy.

Egypt has issued its own call for Security Council intervention in the dispute.

It came after Britain and France had asked the council to consider the situation created by Egypt's July 26 nationalization of the 103-

The council meets tomorrow for the first time on the Suez crisis.

"Egypt accuses us of violating the U. N. charter," Cornut-Gentille told a reporter. "We definitely cannot accept that."

In Paris, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau told the National Assembly's Committee on Foreign Affairs if Egypt's President Nassed has the impression he can continue with impunity on his present course "he could menace the peace of the world."

Pineau, who will take part in council debate here, said those nations which stand firm against Nasser "will in the end serve the cause of peace."

Kefauver Visits State One Day

Claims GOP on 'Road to Ruin' at Marquette Meeting

MARQUETTE (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver said today the Eisenhower administration is "taking us down the dreary and familiar Republican road which runs from reaction to ruin."

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate described this as a road "of high cost-of-living and high interest rates, of spotty unemployment and lopsided prosperity, of governmental concern with corporate profits rather than human welfare."

In a speech prepared for a luncheon meeting here during a one-day political foray into Michigan, he also contended that "Wall street has been substituted for Main street as the hub of the nation."

He said that "the Republicans have fought against extension of Social Security, public housing and public power, a decent school bill, and revision or repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act."

"They have permitted, and even invited, plunder of our natural resources on a scale that would have horrified Theodore Roosevelt," he said.

At another point, he said, "They have stacked the various independent regulatory commissions, which are supposed to be watchdogs of the public welfare, with representatives of the very groups they are supposed to regulate."

At a kickoff breakfast of the Special Gifts Division of Pontiac Area United Fund this morning, division chairman H. Wayne Gabert announced an initial $7,780 donation from Community National Bank and its employes.

The Special Gifts Division will seek $68,494 of this year's United Fund drive goal of $612,202. Gabert's contingent of 40 Special Gifts "Torch Lighters" will call on 280 selected donors who have given $100 or more in past United Fund campaigns.

Community National Bank's gift reflects the nine per cent increase over last year's donations which United Fund is asking of all givers to support its 54 agencies during 1957.

The bank's check handed to Gabert this morning at the Waldron Hotel breakfast includes the firm's gift of $5,370, and $2,410 from executives and employes of the bank.

The breakfast, sponsored by the Pontiac Optimist Club, was the second pre-campaign kickoff for United Fund workers. Campaign chairman Walter K. Willman and Commercial Division chairman James Nye attended.

The campaign officially opens Oct. 23 and closes Nov. 16.

Sees Expansion for Pontiac

GM Official Stresses Need for Railyard Site in City

Philip J. Monaghan, general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division and head of the plant city committee for General Motors Corp., recently answered a letter from City Manager W. K. Willman, concerning the additional need for a Grand Trunk switching area to move materials in and out of Pontiac.

Following is the text of Monaghan's letter:

"There is no doubt in my mind that we here in Pontiac are in urgent need of additional railroad services to move the materials in and out of our plants.

"Furthermore, I also believe that our territory will expand more than other cities producing comparable products. It is of great concern to all of us, therefore, that certain arrangements be made in order to cope not only with the present problems but also to comprehend the future needs.

"The relative merits of the site to be chosen would be difficult to judge. It is apparent that the men involved in railroad management would be much more capable of making this decision than I. My opinion as to the site, therefore, is reserved."

Parents Mute in Cruelty Case

Remain Free on Bond; No Date Set for Trial in Circuit Court

Ada and William Wyatt, Keego Harbor parents of 12 children, yesterday stood mute on arraignment on charges of child cruelty.

* * *

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland entered pleas of innocent for the Wyatts, whose children were taken into custody after they were discovered alone in their house a month ago.

He allowed the mother to remain free under $1,000 cash bond and the father free under $1,000 personal bond.

No trial date was set. The Wyatts were represented by Pontiac Attorney Milton R. Henry, who was their pretrial examination counsel.

* * *

At pretrial, a seven-year-old daughter testified Mrs. Wyatt burned her left hand, holding it over a gas flame as punishment.

She is Sherry Wilkinson, one of six children by Mrs. Wyatt's first marriage. Sherry spent three weeks in Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of the burn and malnutrition.

Sherry now is in Oakland County Children's Home with the other children. The Wyatts face a Probate Court hearing to determine the custody of the children. No date has been set.

Troy Thwarted on Drain Issue

Board Refuses to Stall Oct. 12 Meeting to Set Costs for Users

The city of Troy, attempting a delaying action in its fight to get out of the proposed $38,581,000 Twelve Town Drain, was turned down yesterday on its request for a 60-day delay in a formal hearing set for Oct. 12 to finalize allocations for the project.

* * *

County Drain Commissioner Ralph A. Main, chairman of the Twelve Town Drain Board, told Troy City Attorney Jack W. Hutson the delat "is felt to be unnecessary."

Troy had asked for the time to study "the mysterious and complicated factors" used, it states, by the drain board is setting allocations among 14 southern Oakland County communities included in the project.

Main said the city already has been given the pertinent information, and he promised assistance in the city's attempt to understand it.

* * *

The drain board contends none of the participating communities can legally withdraw from the project. But Troy and Southfield Township have said they will challenge this interpretation in court.

Troy and Southfield are expected to give formal notice of objections at the Oct. 12 hearing.

White Boycott Cuts School Attendance

By VANCE JOHNSTON ..G25

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—A white boycott cut attendance at Weaverton school almost 75 per cent today as segregationists urged parents to keep their children home until five Negroes leave the school.

Five ministers showed up at the school opening and urged parents to keep their children in school.

One woman in the crowd of 200, who refused to identify herself, said "preachers who say you should send your kids to school with niggers, are no better than niggers."

Only 206 of the school's 870 students reported to classes.

Eliminates Unreliable Radio Hookup

First Phone Cable From Europe to Open With Calls From Canada and New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The new 42-million-dollar transatlantic telephone cable was officially opened today, first direct voice link between the old world and the new.

Promptly at 11 a.m., Cleo F. Craig, board chairman of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., said, "The big moment is at hand. First, we'll talk to London, then Ottawa. In conclusion, we'll officially open service between the United States, Britain and Canada."

* * *

He lifted the phone. "This is Cleo Craig in New York calling Dr. Charles Hill in London."

Thus, almost prosaically, he exchanged greetings with the postmaster general of the British Post Office and then with George Carlyle Marler, Canadian minister of transport in Ottawa.

Their conversations were clear and natural, as though it were a neighborhood call.

* * *

People have been talking by phone to Europe since 1927, but their voices have been carried by radiotelephone. These circuits are subject to atmospheric interference and possible jamming by alien sources in time of emergency.

* * *

The new cable system, which took more than two years to build, does away with the possibility of these disturbances and thus has national security aspects. It is the joint project of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the British Post Office and the Canadian Corp.

The new cable can carry 36 voice messages at one time, about three times the traffic that radiotelephone circuits can transmit between this country and abroad. It is the first undersea phone link to span any ocean.

The submarine portion of the cable was laid by the British-owned Monarch, at 8,050 tons the largest cable-laying vessel in the world, under supervision of the Long Lines Department of AT&T, the long distance operating unit of the Bell System. The cable itself was designed by scientists and engineers of Bell Telephone Labs.

The Monarch laid 2,250 miles of underwater cable from Clarenville, Nfld. to Oban, Scotland. From Oban, new trunk lines link the system to London.

The Monarch took two years to do her job, working only in summer, when the stormy North Atlantic supposedly is on its best behavior. The cable ship survived Hurricane Ione in September of 1955 and, though badly battered, managed to finish the job on schedule.

Cost of a three-minute call over the new cable between Britain and any point in the United States will be $12 weekdays and $9 nights and Sundays, plus a 10 per cent federal tax.

Flossy Breaking Up, 9 Dead in Her Wake

Gulf of Mexico. Missing since Sunday, she was disabled but the 15 aboard her were safe.

Flossy packed winds up to 100 m.p.h. into the Florida mainland at dusk yesterday. The hurricane slammed into Fort Walton Beach, generating fierce sandstorms that blasted the paint off automobiles in its path but did little damage to property, early reports indicated.

Two of the Carport's crew drowned Sunday, Flossy's first victims. Others missing in the storm-swept Gulf included two persons in an oil company helicopter, about 12 fishermen and an undetermined number aboard the missing tug Rosalie E.

* * *

Lost from the Carport Sunday were Third Mate Charles Ayers, 47, Brooklyn, and Second Mate John Ritter. An expectant mother and her three children were killed near Tallahassee yesterday when a jet training plane crashed into their home after colliding with another jet in flight.

The planes were being evacuated from Tyndall Air Force Base near Panama City, Fla., because of the hurricane. Dead were Mrs. Mary Ella Walker, 23; Philip Jr., 3; Dorothy, 2, and Mary Lee, 1. One of the jet pilots, Capt. Robert B. Willeford of Tyndall, was still missing. The other, Lt. Roderick B. Adams of Panama City, parachuted and was slightly injured.

* * *

Two other deaths attributable to Flossy came in automobile accidents. Harold D. Adair, 45, was killed when a car overturned on a rain-slick street in Mobile. Leamon Garrett, 58, of Slocumb, Ala., was killed when struck by a car on a highway during a heavy rainstorm.

Jim Lewis Williams, 28, was electrocuted when he touched a live wire sagging between utility poles in Mobile.

* * *

Damage to oil drilling equipment and ships in the Gulf was unofficially estimated at two million dollars. Several houses were unroofed in the beach area near Panama City and there was some damage to piers near the resort city. Five cabin cruisers were sunk and several others were damaged on Dauphin Island near Mobile. Two tugs sank in Mobile Bay but the crews of both were rescued.

The Red Cross said nearly 10,000 persons were housed in temporary shelters in six northwest Florida counties.

Ike's Speech on TV Tonight

President to Discuss Farm Problems in 30 Minute Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asks American farmers tonight to go along on what he says may be a long pull toward a goal of higher stable prices for what they produce.

* * *

Eisenhower takes off today for Peoria, Ill., where he will deliver at the Bradley University field house a half-hour farm speech.

It will be carried by CBS radio and television networks at 8:30 p.m.

He will fly back to Washington shortly after the talk.

Eisenhower decided to add an Ohio speaking date to his campaign schedule, a midday speaking appearance in Cleveland Monday before he travels on to Lexington, Ky., for his third nationally broadcast address that night.

On today's second invasion of the Midwestern Farm Belt, Eisenhower has promised to blueprint an agricultural program aimed at what he calls "the special problems of the farmers and the special treatment they should receive."

LOUIS SWATZBURG

Hospital Names Comptroller

Business Position at Pontiac General Goes to Detroit Man

Louis Swatzburg, 55, of Detroit, has been appointed comptroller at Pontiac General Hospital, Lauretta Paul, hospital director announced yesterday.

* * *

Miss Paul pointed out that the hiring of the comptroller was one of the recommendations of the recently completed James Hamilton survey of the city hospital.

Prior to his appointment, Swatzburg was instrumental in establishing the Detroit Sinai Hospital where he had been comptroller for the past three years.

For more than 13 years, the appointee was comptroller for the Hospital for Joint Diseases in New York City.

The Connecticut-born hospital official holds a master's degree in accounting and a law degree from New York University.

* *

Swatzburg, who will receive $8,500 in his new position, will be in charge of the business and admitting offices, transportation and communication, inventory control, accounts payable, financial reports, and will assist in the preparation of yearly hospital budgets, Miss Paul said.

Voter Registration to Top '52 Total, Says City Clerk

Pontiac City Clerk Ada R. Evans expressed confidence yesterday that 1956 voter registrations for the coming presidential election would pass the 1952 total of 43,000.

* * *

With only 12 days to register before the Oct. 8 deadline, 41,344 registrations were on file in the clerk's office.

Mrs. Evans stressed the fact that the city was providing sufficient facilities for registrations including the downtown booth and the opening of the clerk's office Friday nights and Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Registrants have been flocking to the booth, located in front of the courthouse, but have failed to take advantage of the extended city hall hours, Mrs. Evans said.

If the registrations pass the 1952 total, Pontiac should record total registrations this year approaching an estimated 45,000 qualified voters in the city, she added.

* * *

In addition to the clerk's office and the booth, the Oakland County CIO Council, 21½ E. Lawrence St., and local union halls are also taking registrations.

Meeting Rescheduled

Tonight's Pontiac City Commission meeting is rescheduled for Wednesday night to permit officials to attend the Kiwanis Club's "Flower To The Living Program" tonight.

Royal Oak Chemist to Get Sanity Exam

A sanity examination was ordered in Midland yesterday for Edward Graham, Royal Oak chemist charged with the murder of an Oil City grocer and the abduction of his wife.

Graham's attorney, Carl Ingraham of Birmingham, asked the sanity test after Graham stood mute at his arraignment in Midland County Circuit Court.

Judge Donald E. Holbrook, ordering the examination, named a former State psychiatrist and two Midland physicians to the examining commission.

Graham, 30, is charged with shooting to death Eugene Duncan, 44, and kidnapping Duncan's wife, Emma, 42, in a holdup attempt Sept. 2 at the couple's grocery store near Oil City.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Denies Block of Greenwood at School

BIRMINGHAM—Denial of the Holy Name Parish request for use of Greenwood at the side of its school for play area during day hours was voted last night after residents said it would make car use there too difficult.

The request for a temporary measure pending the completion of the school's new addition, by Charles W. Duffy, president of the PTA, had been for a September to June permit.

Residents told the commissioners that deliveries in the area would be inconvenienced and that the throughway of Greenwood was needed for cars.

Hours for the under-construction Parking Lots 3-A and 3-HH, when meters must be fed by parking motorists, were set for 9 to 6 on all days, except from 9 to 9 on Fridays.

Commissioners put off a decision on a suggested dropping of evening meter times in Parking Lot No. 1 until Lot No. 4 is completed. Then, the cost of the new metal signs for both lots can be handled as a unit.

Commissioners approved the special assessment district funds for the Eton Lincoln Relief Sewer and the West Maple Street Sewer.

More information was asked after commissioners received a report from Donald V. Smith, city manager of Madison Heights, on his city's request for enclosing a portion of the Red Run Drain.

He suggested a resolution to the drain commissioner might assure its construction concurrently with the Twelve Towns system.

City Clerk Irene Hanley has announced that her office will be open this week for electors to register from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and on Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Honor Roger Kyes for Public Service

Roger M. Kyes, General Motors vice president, today was presented the Distinguished Public Service Award by Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas in Washington, D. C.

* * *

The award was for Kyes' service as Deputy Secretary of Defense from January, 1953 until his retirement in May, 1954.

The award text cited "... his spirit of teamwork ... and efforts toward closer and more harmonious relationships between the armed forces."

Kyes, a resident of Bloomfield Hills, gave up his vice presidential post and duties as General Manager of the GMC Truck & Coach Division in Pontiac to take over the government job during the Korean conflict.

At present, he also is Group Executive of the GMC division and of the Dayton and Household Appliance Divisions.

Nicaragua Ruler's Condition Better

PANAMA (AP)—Nicaragua's President Anastasio Somoza improved slightly last night after an unexpected relapse.

* * *

Doctors said the 60-year-old Central American strongman, victim of an assassin's bullets, was still partially paralyzed on the left side. He is a patient at the U.S.-operated Gorgas Hospital in the Canal Zone, where he was flown after the Friday night assassination attempt.

Surgeons opened a hole in his windpipe to help him breathe when his condition grew worse. An evening medical bulletin said reflexes of the left arm and leg, absent in the morning, had returned and that his breathing was more regular.

* * *

Mrs. Somoza, with the President in his hospital suite, was quoted by a friend as saying the next 48 hours will determine whether her husband will live. She said her husband's condition was bad but that she is confident he will pull through.

Farm accidents in the U. S. take a toll of about 5,400 lives each year.

Hay, Straw Lost in Barn Blaze

Combine Ruined Also; Damages at $45,000 at George Bass Farm

ORTONVILLE—A $45,000 barn fire near here yesterday afternoon destroyed the stored crop of hay and straw on the George A. Bass farm, 631 Hurd Rd., and one new, self-propelled combine.

* * *

Bill Howes, a neighbor at the farm, one of four operated by the Basses who live about a mile away on Baldwin road, suffered burns on his hands and face. He and a cousin, Maitland Charter, saved four farming units, two tractors and two combines from the 48x80 barn and 30x70 shed after Howes discovered the fire.

Buildings and contents, estimated at $30,000 and $15,000, were termed a total loss by Fire Marshal William Buckingham, who blamed spontaneous combustion.

The barn contained 20,000 bales hay and 2,000 bales of straw.

* * *

Located about five miles east of Ortonville off Oakwood road, the farm was until recently owned by Maurice Gruber, who farmed it for 45 years.

* * *

Oxford Fire Department answered the first call, but left after the Ortonville department got its four units into use.

Ike OKs Secret Data for Use by Kefauver

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today granted a request by Sen. Estes Kefauver for periodic intelligenee briefings on foreign affairs during the political campaign.

* * *

The Democratic vice presidential nominee had asked the President to arrange the briefings in a telegram sent from Ephrata, Wash., which reached the White House yesterday.

Eisenhower asked the Central Intelligence Agency to provide Kefauver with briefings similar to those approved earlier for Adlai E. Stevenson the Democratic presidential nominee.

Bob Considine Says:

NEW YORK (INS) — The passing show . . .

* * *

The American Communist Party has discovered "moderation," heretofore the exclusive property of the GOP and the party of Adlai Stevenson.

The U. S. Reds have apologized formally for past excesses in a 23,000-word statement. The organization now decries "left-wing" fronts, hopes to work hereafter through labor and Negro groups, knocks Stalin and portions of Lenin.

Its people who went to prison or, in the case of the Rosenbergs, died for the cause, are misguided souls who "tended to accept a status of illegality."

* * *

Lenin's teachings that war is inevitable under imperialism is "obsolete." Uncle Joe's macabre insistence on the coming proletarian revolution has "long since been discarded as incorrect."

Eugene Dennis told reporters there are now between 20,000 and 25,000 members of the American Communist Party in the U. S.

ALREADY REJECTED

What Dennis did not say is that the two groups he feels will be vehicles for the furtherance of Communist plans in the U. S. — labor and Negro organizations — have by and large rejected communism from the time it first reared its head in this country.

* * *

This contempt will always remain a mystification to the old Bolsheviks, who early saw in labor's long hours and the poverty of the down-held American Negro the most fertile grounds for the sowing of Communist seeds.

The hammer and sickle got the boot from both U. S. groups when there might conceivably have been reason to embrace the cause.

Now, when there's utterly no chance of riding on such coattails, the chastened native Reds make fumbling efforts to leap aboard.

* * *

Their action is made doubly ludicrous by the fact that if N. S. Khrushchev put a blast on either labor or the American Negro tomorrow, Dennis and his hapless horde would instantly parrot noisy assent.

IS CHIVALRY DEAD?

There are times during an election year when one wonders if chivalry didn't die for good around the time of Sir Launcelot. Two cases in point are these:

Certain Democratic orators continue to swear that Vice President Nixon called all Democrats (and especially Truman) traitors. He didn't.

Certain Republican orators (notably Leonard Hall in remarks at Gettysburg) say Truman called Eisenhower a racketeer. He didn't.

But then along comes a beau geste or two, ond one's hope that all is not lost is nourished. In the race for the vacated U. S. Senate seat of Herbert Lehman, the charge of bygone left-wing association has been made against New York State Attorney General Jack Javits.

The foremost non-buyer of that charge is his opponent, Mayor Bob Wagner of New York City—who says that Javits has never been anything but okay as long as he has known him, and he's known him a long time.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE

Let us point, too, to the action of John L. McClellan, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the old McCarthy committee — officially named the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee.

The subcommittee has been investigating influence peddling, if any, in the Eisenhower administration.

A prime target is Murray M. Chotiner, who was Vice President Nixon's campaign manager on the coast. Chotiner has denied under oath that he ever used his political connection to stir up business for himself or friends.

But in an election year, a denial can be worthless if pursuing it through various labyrinths helps the pursuers.

On the other hand, Chairman McClellan, a Democrat, has postponed hearings in Republican Chotiner's case until after the election, on the ground that nothing substantial could be developed until a "nonpartisan and judicious atmosphere" prevails.

Whatever became of Gen. Harry Vaughn? He's active in church work. Dean Acheson? A respected Washington attorney. Alf M. Landon? Happily semi-retired on a fine estate outside Topeka.

Col. Tony Story, MacArthur's aide and intrepid pilot? Heads up the American end of a huge Swiss watch group that probably made the clock in your car. Toots Shor? I don't know. I think I'll go over and ask him.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

FAMOUS INDIAN CHIEFS — 2

Tecumseh

Tecumseh, who was born in Ohio, the son of a Shawnee warrior, united Indian tribes over a wide area against the encroachment of settlers. He was defeated by General William Henry Harrison, later President of the United States, at Tippicanoe in November, 1811.

Tecumseh then joined the British against the Americans, and was killed at the battle of the Thames, Ontario, in the war of 1812. Color this picture of him with your crayons and paste on cardboard. Fold back the ends so it will stand.

In dancing and at tribal meetings, Indians often used rattles. Here is a rattle you can make (A) by taking a small round cardboard box and making a hole at each end. Then put a number of small stones or marbles in it, and put a long stick through the holes with one end projecting a short distance and the other a long way for a handle.

Paste the top of the box securely, and paste or tape around the holes. Wind a colored cloth around the stick as a hand hold, and decorate the ends with strings of beads, and tassels of colored cloth or paper (B).

Nixon Moves to Southwest

Under Doctor's Care for Influenza, Throat Trouble

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Hoarse-voiced Richard M. Nixon takes his campaign into the Democratic Southwest today with a parting blast at Adlai Stevenson.

He planned to leave Utah by plane for Oklahoma City under a physician's care but determined to carry out the campaign tour scheduled to end Oct. 3 after visits to 19 more states.

* * *

He was slowed down by what his physician diagnosed as influenza and laryngitis—probably due to fatigue from daily speeches in 12 states in the past week, plus extreme changes in temperature and exposure from riding in open convertibles in motorcades.

The Republican vice president hoped to woo some Democrats to the Eisenhower cause in speeches at noon in Oklahoma City and in Houston, Tex., tonight, in line with his professed belief that the GOP needs the aid of independents and "switching" Democrats if it is to win in November.

* * *

Because he will be operating in heavily Democratic areas, Nixon planned to conduct a "constructive campaign in his initial visit to the Southwest. The "peace, prosperity and progress" he claims have marked the four years of Republican administration will be his theme.

But he let fly at Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, in friendly Salt Lake City last night, where he spoke to a capacity indoor crowd.

He accused the Democratic standard-bearer of carrying on "what now appears to be a calculated campaign to divide Americans on a class basis and to set one group in the population against another."

World population has grown from an increase of 20 million a year in 1935 to about 40 million a year, according to United Nations estimates.

U.S. Taxpayers to Dig Deep for Long Time

LOS ANGELES (AP)—High taxes will be needed for a long time, says an assistant secretary of the U. S. Treasury.

Laurens Williams told the tax executives institute:

"As long as the world situation continues to demand high expenditures for defense. . . you may expect limited relief in some quarters, but for all practical purposes the nation's needs will require high taxes for a long time to come."

Says Doria's Lights Hinted Safe Courses

NEW YORK (AP)—The third mate of the Stockholm says the position of lights on the Andrea Doria told him the two liners could slip past each other "with no risk of collision."

* * *

Ernest Carstens-Johansen, 26, continued his testimony yesterday in a pretrial federal inquiry into the fatal crash of the two ships off Nantucket Island, Mass., last July 25.

Carstens-Johansen, who was navigating the Swedish liner the night of the collision, said he first saw the lights of the Italian ship a little after 11:05 p.m. The Stockholm knifed into the Doria four minutes later.

* * *

The Swedish American line contends the Doria made a sharp left turn into the path of the Stockholm.

The Italian Line is seeking 25 million dollars in damages. The Swedish American Line is countersuing for two million. More than 10 million in additional damage claims are being consolidated for the eventual trial of the case.

With a Little Bit of Luck

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vernon Staley of Seminole, Okla., headed for Lake Texoma for a fishing trip. He punched a hole in his gasoline tank while making a minor repair. Then his oil line became clogged and he had two flat tires before reaching his camp. Things brightened as he caught some black bass. But then the chain on his stringer broke and the catch was lost.

Red China Seeks Nationalist Funds for Investments

HONG KONG (INS) — Red China is going out of its way to attract money from Chinese nationalists overseas, who are still being urged to invet in joint State-private enterprises.

* * *

The propaganda campaign promises protection of such remittances and better treatment for the dependents in China of overseas Chinese.

Dividends on private shares are guaranteed at eight per cent yearly. However, these dividends cannot be sent out of China.

Private shareholders will have the right (so says the propaganda machine) to retain their shares even when all enterprises are socialized.

However, there is no reason to believe that private shares in the joint State-private enterprises will survive longer than 10 years. For, the People's Daily declared that the fixed dividend on private shares will last "a little over 10 years."

Detroit Ex-Policemen Draw Prison, Fine

DETROIT (AP)—One former Detroit policeman was under a federal sentence of two years imprisonment and another was under a $500 fine and five years probation today for violating narcotics laws.

They are William Frank, who drew the penitentiary term, and Clarence Wilson. Both were members of the Narcotics Bureau when police force members.

A third former policeman, Henry Marzette Jr., is awaiting sentence on narcotics charges after pleading guilty.

State School Funds Increase

Enrollment Allocations Larger on Per Child Basis

LANSING (AP)—The state school superintendent reports that despite a large increase in public school enrollment allocations of state school primary funds will be larger this year on a per child basis.

* * *

Clair L. Taylor, the education official, said a payment of primary funds now being channeled through county treasurers to over 3,000 school districts, plus the second distribution in November, will add up to about $24 per child.

This compares with $23.25 last year, he said.

The per pupil rise was achieved notwithstanding a statewide enrollment increase estimated at above 76,000 children.

The installment currently on its way to districts amounts to a record high of $32,753,128, Taylor said, or an increase of about two and one half million dollars over the comparable distribution a year ago.

COUNT TAKEN FRIDAY

As provided by law, the final and official count on school enrollment will be taken the fourth Friday after Labor Day, Sept. 28 this year.

Taylor said the resulting figures will become the basis for state aid distributions for the current fiscal year.

* * *

He said rising enrollments are due not alone to the higher birth rate but also to the fact that more high school students are staying in classes—rather than dropping out.

Baby Sitting Jobs Await 'Resting' Young Actresses

LONDON (INS) — Local husbands are to be offered a scheme whereby young actresses "resting" between jobs can be hired to babysit while the husbands take their wives out for a night on the town.

Clement Freud, grandson of the famous psychologist, dreamed up the idea in an effort to step up business at London's Royal Court Theater Club.

Its success will depend on how the wives react to the husbands driving the glamorous starlets home afterwards, which will be part of the deal.

The theater club has about 60 starlets "resting" waiting for parts. Freud thought it would be a good idea to hire the young actresses out as baby-sitters — at $2.80 a night.

Freud is confident his idea will be a big hit and not abused.

"Of course, husbands after their evening out, will be expected to drive the girls home.

"It wouldn't be fair to name the girls because no actress likes it to be known she's resting — her friends get so catty," Freud said.

Not half so catty as some wives may get when their husbands quietly explain: "But she lives miles away, my dear."

Possums, Playing Dead Outsurvived Dinosaurs

WASHINGTON—Among nature's more unassuming mammals, the placid possum rates a stack of distinction—among them the height of its family tree.

Possum ancestors waddled the earth millions of years ago with dinosaurs and other prehistoric monsters, and out-survived the lot. How they did so has not been entirely explained, the National Geographic Society says. One reason may be that the possum is not so stupid as many suppose.

Like the bear and eagle that contributed "bear hug" and "eagle-eyed" to the language, the possum's ability to feign death gives meaning to the expression "playing possum." Some experts think possums may actually swoon from fright. Others compare the exhibition to the rigid catatonic state of severe human mental cases.

ONLY AMERICAN MARSUPIAL

The possum's range now reaches across much of the United States and as far south as Patagonia. As North America's only marsupials, the inoffensive creatures have served and amused generations of man, while creating strange beliefs. One old legend credits the possum with fishing with its foot-long ratlike tail. Mexico's Aztecs brewed possum-tail broth as a cough remedy, used it to draw ailments from flesh and bone and to accelerate childbirth.

Beset by hawks, owls, foxes, bobcats and man, the possum has few defenses other than an odor sufficient to give attackers pause. When alarmed he shifts his easy-going shuffle into a brisker rock-and-roll motion toward a tree. There his handlike feet boost him upward, his prehensile tail serving as an emergency brake against a tumble.

A core of courage, however, belies his usual unresisting nature. A New York police blotter records how a visiting possum once battled nine alley cats to a draw.

The possum's energy is largely spent in search of food—persimmons, meat, eggs, crustaceans, mushrooms, vegetables and berries. Sometimes an enterprising individual goes fishing in a backyard goldfish pond. One squatted on a Maryland householder's bird-feeding station and chewed suet. Dubbed "Jimmy," after many visits, he came to know his name. Another visitor in Tennessee, equally precocious, learned to stroll bottoms-up on the pigtails of his 12-year-old owner.

OPEN-AIR RIDERS

The coarse-haired gray Virginia possum is the best known American species. A Florida type is smaller, darker and longer-tailed, while Texas boasts a two-toned variety in gray and black.

In warmer areas, females may bear two litters a year; their gestation period of only about two weeks is remarkable among mammals. In kangaroo-family fashion, the five to 14 or more young, tinier than honeybees, suckle inside the maternal pouch, later emerging to ride the mother's furry back until shaken off one by one.

Their quaint characteristics have evoked great affection. Spain's Ferdinand and Isabella poked exploring fingers into the pouch of one brought from Brazil in 1500. To a psychology professor, "the possum is a lethargic animal that works at his leisure and only moves around for a couple of hours at night—something like a sophomore in the springtime."

Police Wait Recovery of Metamora Man

METAMORA — Gerald Goyette, 35, of Metamora is hospitalized at St. Joseph's Hospital, Flint, and when released may face charges resulting from an accident in which Wesley Jentzen, 28 and his year-old son, Randall were killed.

Goyette suffered a dislocated hip and punctured left lung. State police say Goyette pulled out to pass another car on the foggy highway south of Flint and hit the Jentzen car head on.

World population will double from 2.7 to 5.5 million in the next half century, it is indicated by current growth rates.

New Medical Center

Oakland County dedicated its new medical center on North Telegraph Road Sunday.

This new, modern building forms a pleasing contrast with the old dingy, completely inadequate Court House Annex which the county health department has been using for the past fourteen years. The new air conditioned building is built of brick, aluminum and glass and provides ample facilities for the use of Dr. John D. Monroe and his staff.

There are offices for the staff of county nurses, laboratory facilities, X-ray rooms and equipment, complete tuberculosis and dental clinics, medical treatment rooms, waiting room, children's play terrace, administrative offices, assembly room, conference rooms and even a small kitchen so that light lunches may be prepared.

One of the fine features of the new building also is that it is fully paid for. Federal funds accounted for slightly more than one-third of its cost.

Opening of this center marks a milestone in the history of the public health field in Oakland County. It will make possible even more complete service by Dr. Monroe who for many years has directed the county's public health work. His service has been capably and effectively performed, although always quietly and without fanfare.

★ ★ ★

The new health center adds one more unit to the county's growing cluster of buildings along North Telegraph Road. Its construction is eloquent testimony to the fact that the Board of Supervisors recognizes the importance of protecting the health of more than half a million people who now reside in Oakland County.

New Star Appears

They have been paying lots of tributes down at Detroit to Harvey Kuenn and Al Kaline, and those two young baseball stars are worthy of almost any commendation that can be given them. But a new star has risen in Tiger Town whose brilliance is every bit as bright as that of the shortstop and right fielder.

★ ★ ★

Frank Lary has come into his own as a pitcher. His two hit victory over Cleveland served notice on all rivals that this young right hander is ready to take his place among the great pitchers of his time.

Lary is a natural. He comes from a baseball family. Two of his brothers are members of other Big League clubs.

Lary attracted attention as a player while still in college. He did so well in the minors that he came up quickly to the Tigers where he immediately demonstrated that he had ample ability to become a regular starter.

★ ★ ★

But wildness handicapped Lary at first. In his second season as a Big Leaguer it still is his greatest weakness. He walked six men on Sunday, but the Cleveland Indians could not hit him, so he won his twentieth game of the season in convincing fashion. He is the first Detroit pitcher to win twenty games in eight seasons. And he is just a youngster.

Lary is conquering his wildness. He is learning to take more pains. He has added a knuckleball to his deliveries.

The young Tiger hurler got off to a bad start this season, but has shown steady improvement. He has won sixteen games against only three losses since July 1.

★ ★ ★

Today Lary stands at the top of the Detroit pitching staff. He ranks among the top two or three pitchers in the American League. With his admitted ability and his youthfulness he might become the top mound star of his time.

Spectator Is Killed Watching an Accident

The death of Harry B. Hammond of Ypsilanti carries a lesson for many persons who like to stop along the roadside to witness the aftermath of an accident. This 67-year-old man was killed as he was standing by the highway outside his home. He had gone outside after hearing a crash on the highway.

Danger to those already injured, as well as to all who stop, is increased by the cars which frequently come to a halt near where an accident has taken place. The driver of each new car coming along finds it difficult to control his curiosity, as he seeks to learn what has happened, and how badly the victims have been injured.

The wiser course is to slow down, drive with extreme care past the accident, keeping your eyes on the highway, and unless stopped by officers or someone asking for help, continue on your way.

The Weekly Poll

Scattered Contacts Show a Little Change in Standing

World's safest investment: U.S. Savings Bonds—and they're being given away in our football contest.

Most of the 78 contacts made in our election poll since last Tuesday were in the counties up the shore of Lake Huron, in the Mackinaw, Petoskey and Traverse City areas and through the central part of the state.

They show a gain in the Eisenhower lead, and brings the totals on Cobo and Williams nearly even.

It appears that Ike's coat tails will have a full compliment of riders, which may drag in many lesser officials, ranging from the most minor county officer to Congressmen.

The women continue to go strong for Eisenhower, some households being divided on the matter. Mothers with growing boys especially favor him.

For Governor, the women favor Williams to a slight degree, and they may be the deciding factor on that office. Added to last Thursday's total, the recent contacts make the figures add up as follows:

Eisenhower	237
Stevenson	198
Cobo	219
Williams	216

David Lawrence Says:

Look at Both Sides of Civil Rights

WASHINGTON—"Civil Rights"—long extolled by true liberals as the virtue of American constitutionalism—seem to be deserving of a public forum when a particular group professes to be seeking justice, but the dissenting point of view on that same issue, supposedly safeguarded also by the "civil rights," of the Constitution, evidently must be suppressed.

That's the astonishing argument which emerges as meetings are being held here to urge suppression of a committee of the House of Representatives. This committee has been holding public hearings to examine the merits or demerits of segregation or integration in the schools of the nation. Protests against the holding of such hearings are the subject of mass meetings in the District of Columbia, whose experiences with integation are being studied by the committee.

Even Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, sent a telegram to one of the mass meetings in which he said the hearings "are serving no constructive purpose." He evidently doesn't want to let both sides of the controversy be presented, either.

An attempt was made a few days ago to get President Eisenhower in some way to use his influence to head off the hearings. Eisenhower replied in a noncommittal manner he didn't think the hearings would impair desegregation in the District of Columbia.

SOUTH CRITICIZED

One of the speakers at the meeting has denounced the hearings as an attempt by some Southern congressmen "to force their views and those of their constituents on the nation through the mechanism and publicity of a congressional committee."

No such protest was heard when the Senate subcommittee on Constitutional Rights held a public hearing last year and obtained the use of the Supreme Court's own bench as the place from which to disseminate the views of several selected witnesses.

The one thing the free-speech clause of the Constitution encourages is public discussion. The theory of the founding fathers was that a cause that couldn't stand examination and debate in public must be in some way weak or defective.

* * *

But today some of those who want to force integration hastily on the country—without a chance for public discussion and argument—are denouncing the idea of congressional committee hearings.

Yet this very month, for publicity purposes in the political campaigns, many a hearing is being held by committees of Congress and neither Adlai Stevenson nor anybody else high up in American public life has demanded that these hearings be prevented.

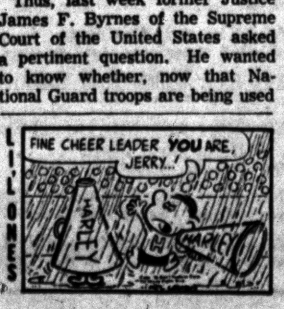

What seems to be needed is more education on the importance not just of one set of civil rights but on all phases of the civil rights question.

Thus, last week former Justice James F. Byrnes of the Supreme Court of the United States asked a pertinent question. He wanted to know whether, now that National Guard troops are being used to escort pupils to school in Kentucky, this means troops should be used to escort willing workers to their jobs when picket lines menace the freedom of those workers to exercise civil rights.

It all depends, of course, on whose ox is gored. While demanding tolerance of one viewpoint, there is intolerence of the opposite viewpoint.

The segregation or integration issue has aroused the passions of many citizens in the North as well as the South. A peaceful and reasonable solution will never be achieved through the processes of public opinion if one faction or the other refuses to let both sides of the case be fully heard—through committees of Congress or any other public forum.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Need Medical Advice? —Then See 'Your' Physician

In a throw-away magazine—that is, a publication distributed free by the interests that sponsor it—four general practitioners of good standing gave their views as to what the annual physical examination should include. Three of them plumped for an electrocardiogram. The fourth felt that people should "keep in touch with their doctors more than once a year . . . a person should have his doctor as a friend and so feel free to discuss even mild . . . at any time." This is fine, but first you have to find a doctor, and when you have found one, stick to him. Ah, there's the rub.

Most people, I'm afraid, are sold on the idea that when one needs medical advice or care, one had better go directly to a specialist or a "clinic" and get the best and latest, instead of fooling around with an "ordinary" doctor, etc., etc.

In the next place, this Yankee wiseacre practice of running to the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers with everyday ailments has boomed specialism and nearly if not quite doomed general practice in this country. In many communities people now find that the doctors will not attend patients unless they come to the doctor's office or enter the hospital.

The 1956 census of doctors in the United States revealed that 31 per cent of doctors in practice are or claim to be specialists, and only 30 per cent are general practitioners. I suppose many persons not past middle age never have had a family physician and hence will hardly understand.

A number of years ago, the organized medical profession in the Brooklyn area launched a kind of drive to persuade everybody to have a periodic physical examination, and what better way could the doctors show the value of such examinations than by submitting to the examinations themselves? This seemed a fine idea, and it was extensively publicized.

Yahbut, the promoters of periodic physical examinations overlooked one thing — the fact that doctors are people. So very few doctors bothered to undergo an examination that the plan petered out. To the best of my knowledge, that was the only such campaign the medical profession has undertaken.

On a few occasions I have submitted to fishing expeditions such as a "GI series" (X-ray films of the progress of a test meal through the digestive tract), blood sugar measurement, and the like — but only because I was worried about some vague symptoms and consulted the doctor—when I consult a doctor, I do as he says or else quit the doctor.

If I'm at all worried or annoyed by some persistent disturbance, as I have been on occasion, I find it is wise to consult a doctor about it. The doctor examines me carefully, perhaps orders me to have this or that test made, and finally boots me out of his office with the suggestion that I go back to my scribbling and quit wasting his time. That is the best medicine—reassurance.

I can't see the sense of any such periodic physical examination as the three doctors described, not for a well person. I'd feel pretty foolish going to a doctor for a thorough physical examination if I didn't believe or fear there were something the matter with me. It would be better for my health, I think, to spend the money for some good purpose and the time bowling on the green.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It's very true that Abraham Lincoln's Republican party was in power during the Civil War. But can you name any one Democratic president who did so much for our country?

He brought freedom to thousands of slaves, a very good cause. Now name me a Democratic president that has a day set aside on the calendar, a holiday. It sure isn't Wilson, Roosevelt or that Jelly bean Truman.

Now compare these two men running for president, Ike and Adlai. Sister, I'll take Ike.

'Eisenhower Is No Petty Politician'

The President of the National Association of Attorneys General says poll show that public ranks lawyers "at the bottom of the list" in contributions to society. The average lawyer skips through college to get his law degree and then enters politics. That is the reason President Eisenhower is such a popular and good president . . . he's an executive, no petty politician.

Imitators Likely to Arise Even if Nasser Tumbles

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser apparently has elected to stand or fall over the Suez Canal issue. What are his chances?

He has the firm support of Soviet Russia, which may have to shell out lots of food and money in any protracted Western allied bypassing, or boycott, of the canal.

Nasser also counts on unwavering support of the Arab League nations. Reports persist that some Arab leaders now are worrying about the dispute, especially the fact that Nasser is relying so heavily on aid from the Communist bloc.

Other reports from Arabia say that the threat to stop rich Middle-Eastern oil in any showdown is no idle one, that the rich sheiks and monarchs would be content to coast on their accumulated millions of dollars to force the West to bow to Nasser's demands.

* * *

The Egyptian revolutionary leader demands complete operational control of the canal. He pledges his word that the canal will not be used for political discrimination against Britain or any other nation.

Britain and other heavy users of the canal balk at this. Britain and France especially declare they not only cannot accept the word of Nasser, but any plan that leaves a single nation in control of the waterway.

SOVIET LINK SEEN

Direct reports from Cairo quote Western business experts as predicting that any prolonged Western economic boycott would toss Egypt into a tighter Socialist economy linked to the Soviets in a few years.

* * *

The Egyptian leaders themselves say they can outlast the West, that an economic war would hurt the West more than them.

Nobody can tell, although some reliable observers think Nasser might fall from power in any showdown with the West.

But the dilemma of the West is that the fall of Nasser would cause lasting Arab hatred and not lessen the fierce nationalism in the Arab world.

But if Nasser stayed in power through any negotiation that looked like a huge Egyptian triumph it is predicted that bolder moves against the West would occur.

The Arab nations could boot out Western developers of the oil fields on which the Western European economy depends.

THREATS COOLED OFF

The United States has cooled off British and French threats of military force against Egypt.

The Soviet Union, which relies only slightly on use of the canal, has made great political and propaganda strides in the dispute by posing as a champion of Egypt's "sovereign" rights against the "imperialists."

* * *

Nasser might quickly be destroyed in a showdown, but it is likely that other imitators will spring up whether he is or not.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Happy Marriage Created at Home

Henry is typical of millions of married folks who want their clergymen or doctors to perform some outside miracle to save their homes. Get hep to the facts of life. If you husbands and wives don't do the right things inside your home, none of us can help you. And the booklets offered by this newspaper show you those facts.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-374: Henry T., aged 32, telephoned a few minutes ago from a distant city.

* * *

"Dr. Crane, Helen and I have been married for 10 years," he began, "and have two children now in grammar school.

"But we are unable to get along together. We parted six weeks ago, but it seems to be upsetting the children.

"So could we come to see you tomorrow for an interview?"

USE "HORSE SENSE"

Being swamped with writing chores and lecture dates, I told Henry I could not see him and recommended, instead, that he consult some local adviser.

"Besides," I added, "it is foolish to rush across the country to seek some outside miracle if you haven't employed the simple horse sense required for happy marriage."

* * *

"And what is that?" Henry inquired.

I felt like asking him why he hadn't read my column more attentively in his daily newspaper, for I don't let a year pass without offering the surefire plan for happy marriage.

The trouble with so many of you laymen, and this is true in the realm of medicine as well as psychology, is that you don't feel properly impressed with "general" advice which is free.

No, you seem obsessed with the opinion that nothing is really scientific and helpful unless you consult a specialist at a huge fee.

And the bigger the fee, the more you believe in the doctor!

HAPPY MARRIAGE FORMULA

So I patiently asked Henry a series of questions, which I'll summarize in the next few paragraphs. If any married man fulfills these simple rules, he can't possibly lose his wife and children.

First, go to church with the family every Sunday. I haven't space to explain all the sound psychological reasons for this advice. Just do it!

Henry didn't go to church but rarely. So why did he expect me to perform some magic to save his home when he wasn't even cooperating on the first rule for permanently happy marriage?

Second, learn the proper sexual technique for satisfying a wife. Perhaps 80 per cent of American husbands still lack this knowledge or at least fail to apply it.

Henry didn't even know the a-b-c's that every new bridegroom should understand. No wonder his wife was emotionally indifferent to him!

And a costly trip to Chicago to consult me was not essential in this matter for the 20 cent nonprofit medical booklet named below will do the job right there in your own home!

Third, devote one night per week to family fun. Surprise the wife and kids with a movie date at a drive-in. Or go on a picnic, hike or skating party.

MARRIAGE INSURANCE

Also, show enough interest in your youngsters to attend their PTA occasionally and certainly visit their home rooms when they have good papers hanging on the walls as exhibits.

Fourth, pay at least one compliment per day to each member of your family.

Fifth, take advantage of the many non-profit booklets offered you by this fine newspaper, such as the "Tests for Parents," "Tests for Husbands & Wives," "Diet Chart," etc.

You must work in your own home to make a success of your marriage. A costly interview with me or any other marriage counselor can't perform the miracle for you.

Since most husbands fall down on the second point named above, send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents.

Don't kid yourself by thinking you know it all. Get hep to facts.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Court 'Right,' Adlai Tells Dixie

Again Says Democrats Reject the Use of Force to Speed Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson carried his presidential campaign into the South today, and at his first stop, reaffirmed his belief the Supreme Court was "right" in ruling against segregation in the nation's public schools.

* * *

But the Democratic nominee also said he stands quarely on the party platform statement that "we reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts."

In an address prepared for delivery in MacArthur Park, Stevenson thus expressed in substance the same views he set forth last month a few days before he won his party's presidential nomination. He said today:

"The Supreme Court of the United States has determined unanimously that the Constitution does not permit segregation in the schools. As you know, for I have made my position clear on this from the start, I believe that decision to be right.

"Some of you feel strongly to the contrary.

* * *

"But what is most important is that we agree that once the Supreme Court has decided this constitutional question, we accept that decision as law-abiding citizens."

Name of 'America' Proposed in France

PARIS — St. Die, a small town in the Vosges Mountains of eastern France, is known as "the Godmother of America" because it was there in 1507 that the name, America, was first proposed for the New World.

* * *

A book was published in a St. Die printing shop in which Mathias Ringman, an Alsatian scholar who apparently had not heard of Columbus, wrote:

"I do not see why this new land should not be named for the man (Amerigo, or Americ Vespucci) who discovered it with so much perspicacity."

Ringman's proposal prevailed, and the New World became known as America, or land of Americ.

How to Grow Banyans

One of the glories of the Hawaiian Islands is the banyan tree. A legend from Tahiti, early home of the Hawaiians, has it that the first banyan tree grew in the moon and provided shade for the residents there. One day the goddess Hina climbed this tree to break off a branch for tapa and it fell on Tahiti. There it took root and became the source of all other banyans.

Solar Furnace Used in Temperature Test

BERKELEY, Cal. — The California Institute of Technology is doing high-temperature research with a solar furnace.

The device draws heat from the sun's rays. It has 19 lenses, each 2 feet in diameter, which concentrate the sun's light on mirrors. The optical system is mounted on a synchronous-drive apparatus to keep it pointed at the sun.

So far the furnace has produced temperatures as high as 5,400 degrees.

He's Aptly Named

Oil Helps Hoard Water

Wobbly Walkers Either Trust or Challenge

Tipsy Pedestrians Leave Drivers Shaky

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE (U)

NEW YORK (INS)—It sounded like a bad stale joke.

* * *

Commissioner T. T. Wiley was standing before the American Automobile Association and saying that "drunken pedestrians" are a worse hazard than "inebriated drivers" in the night-time traffic fatality book.

He pictured these pedestrians taking their "last drink" at the friendly neighborhood tavern and then wavering, loose-footedly, homeward.

We took it from there and pictured all the near-misses we have seen in the past nine years of cruising through New York City after the sun has dropped and left man to his own dark devices . . .

* * *

The old men, over, say 60, are the most uncertain in the legs when they take to the pavements after taking one or two or many too many cups that sootheth. (Wiley calls them the "potential nightcaps of death.")

BLITHELY CONFIDENT

Some of them are blithely confident in the head as they waver into the street toward your car. Usually they are grinning and their mouths are open, either swearing amiably at you for coming toward them with those blastedly bright headlights or signalling a cheery hiya.

* * *

You'll slow down now won't you? S-u-r-e you will.

Wiley says statistics prove that hundreds of autois/s a year don't have the time or the brakes or the resourcefulness to slow down quickly enough. But still the drunken pedestrians trust in you. Or, if they don't trust, they challenge.

The challengers are the belligerent ones you see at black intersections in the Bowery, or yellow intersections along the Great White Way.

They've lived in New York City a long time and they know all about motorists — especially the taxi driver . . .

You just got to get out in the middle of the street and double up your fist. He'll stop. You're an experienced pedestrian, a drunk who's been around, and you know who's got the right of way: The little guy.

AND THE MUMBLERS

Then there are the stumbling mumblers.

* * *

These are the poor ones, the panhandlers, long on talk and short on teeth. We often wonder if maybe they became so toothless and talkative from being thumped hard, over and over, by the car fenders they constantly seem intent upon bumbling into.

They never stop talking to themselves as they roam the streets and warm the saloon stools, and it takes a hard stomach to listen closely and catch what they're saying.

Almost always they are cursing—you never know whom or what—and when they find themselves in the middle of Times Square squinting into a few pairs of oncoming headlights, they don't care what you do to them.

* * *

Usually, for the stumblers, God keeps His eyes open. They walk so slowly that the autoist has time to brake, shake his head, shrug his shoulders and let the poor devils pass, in one whole, shaky piece.

* * *

What the world needs is more continence, caution and coffee!

RIO DE JANEIRO—The fossilized remains of a dinosaur, more than 25,000,000 year old, have been recovered from a mound in Brazil's Minas Gerais State. IT'S HOME FASHION TIME

New Furnishings Make a New Home

It's Home Fashion Time . . . the time of year when new furniture and carpeting are on display for you in a special home furnishings fashion show. This fall, you will find the new furniture to be more attractive — and a greater value — than ever before.

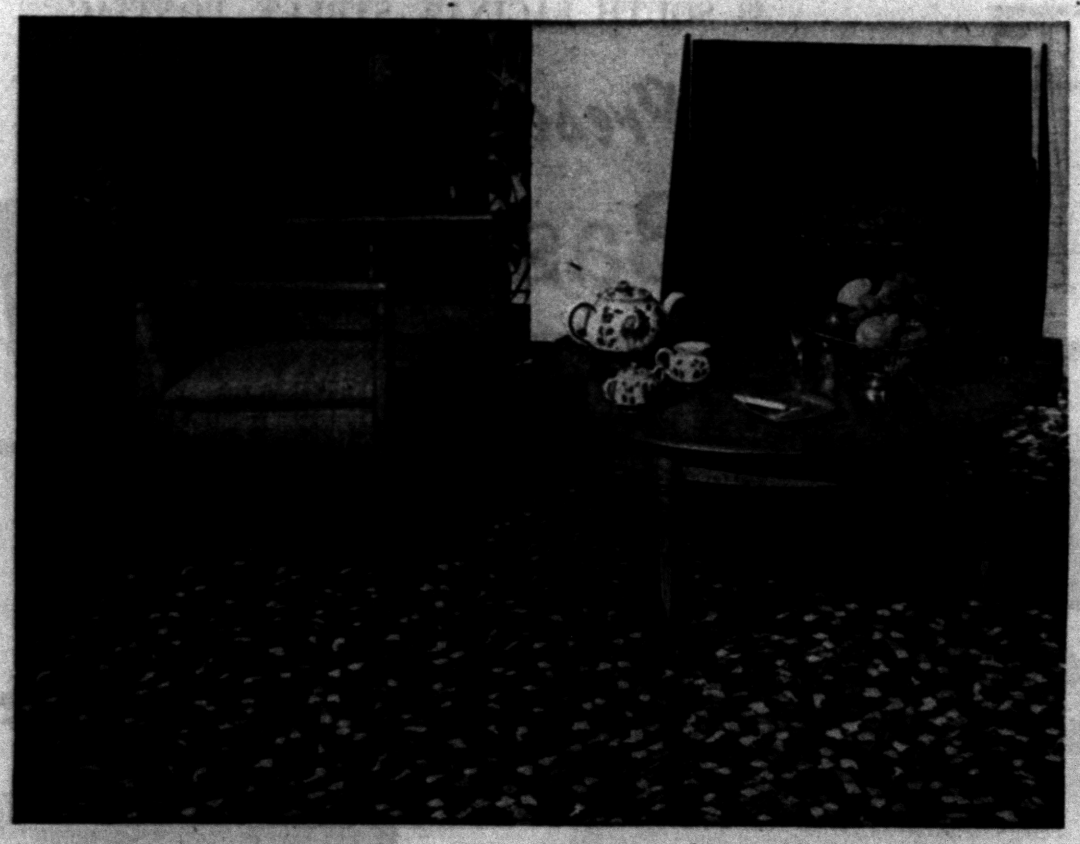

The designer's touch is evident in all price categories. Attention is given to detail, but fussiness is avoided. The gracious beauty which is created by purity of line is seen in everything from case pieces to upholstered furniture.

You will find hidden treasures in the new furniture, too. Many pieces have been designed to have more than one use. Chests and china cabinets often contain silver drawers and special storage compartments which help to make homemaking a more pleasant task.

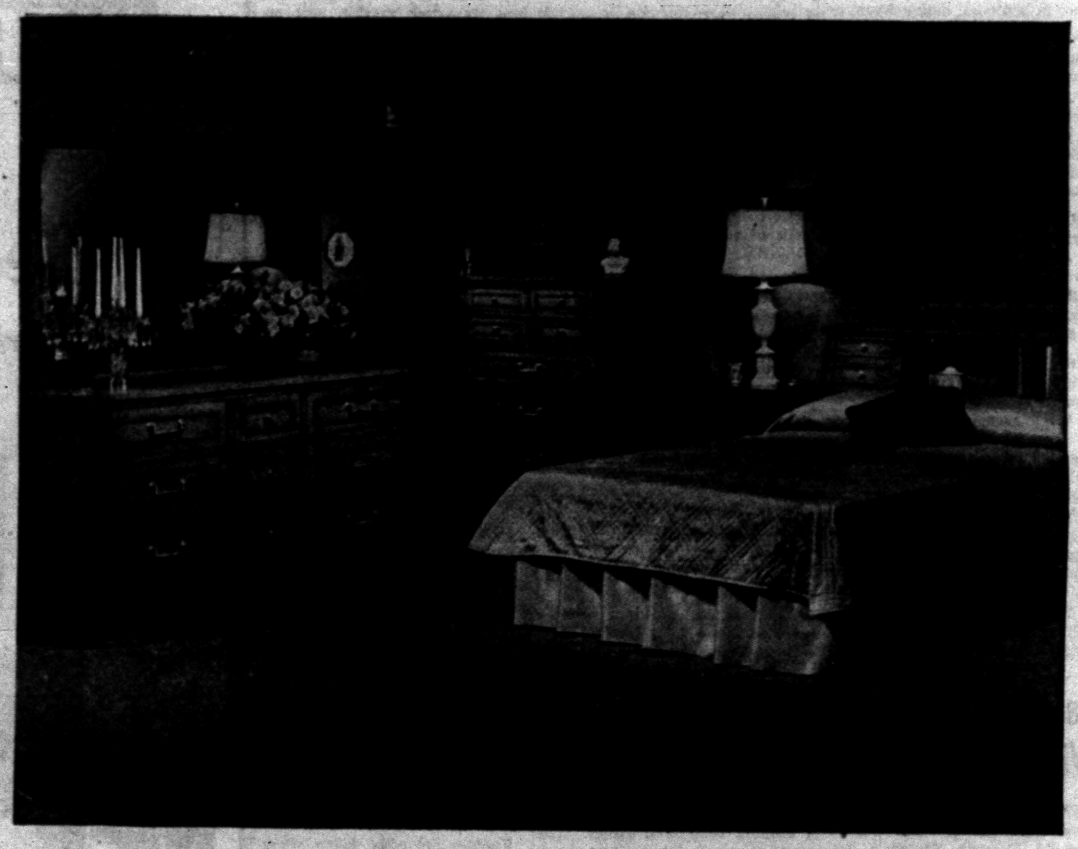

Style news is made by the strong influx of foreign influences in design. Italian Provincial, Scandinavian, Oriental, and other styles are adapted to conform to American tastes and mode of living.

All of these things are combined to bring more beauty into your home while providing you with furniture that is certainly utilitarian. A chair is no longer just a place to sit, but is decorative as well.

See these new styles in furniture and carpeting now in all Pontiac area furniture stores . . . during HOME FASHION TIME. Take this opportunity to give your home the New Look for the coming fall and winter days.

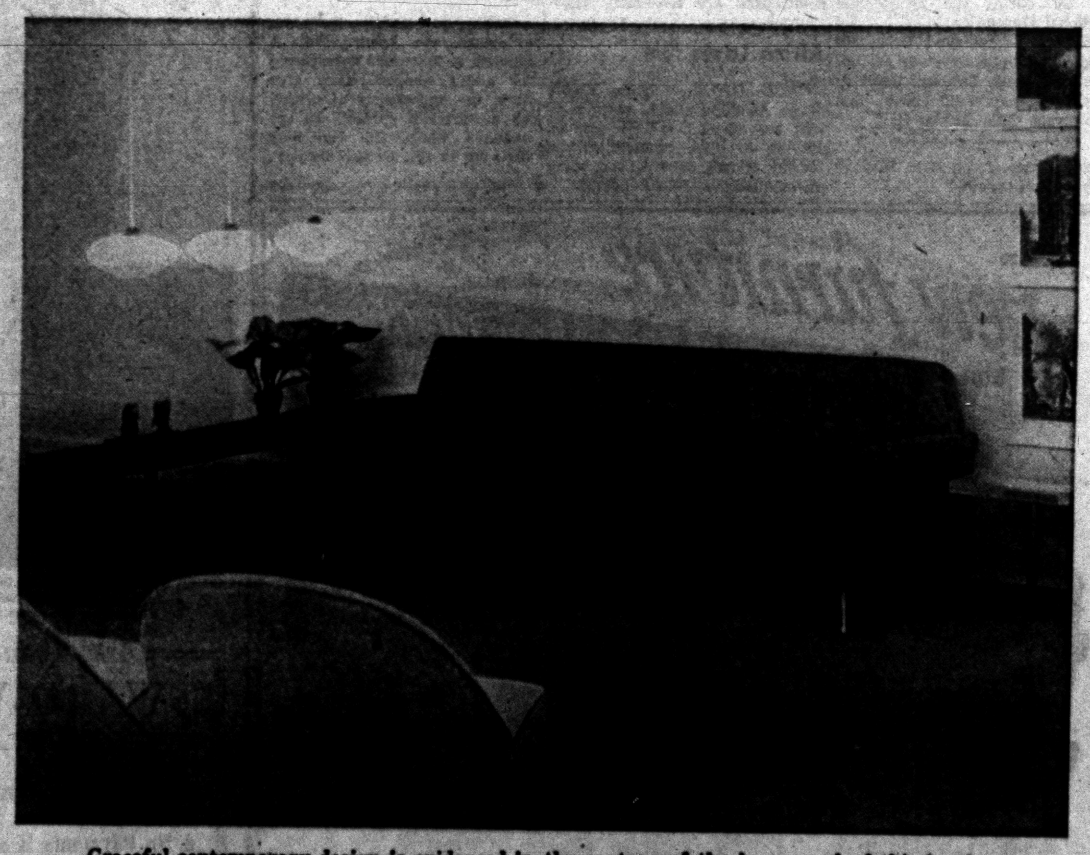

The beauty of mosaic tile can be yours with this new carpet which remarkably resembles the tile chip floors of Italy and Spain. The carpet brings a warmth and charm to your room, however, that hard cold tile floors cannot achieve.

Simplicity and beauty are the key words for this magnificent Italian Provincial bedroom. The pumice gray finish adds its own glow to the room and blends with any color scheme. Allowing a great deal of flexibility in arrangement, the group is lovely, yet functional.

The arch is the basic theme of this lovely and unusual dining room grouping, designed for the home that creates a romantic atmosphere. The unique octagonal walnut table is supported by eight arches. The chairs are covered with Persian Blue leather.

Graceful contemporary design is evidenced in the contour of the base panel of this handsome sofa called the Cosmopolitan. A single row of buttons accents the tapered back. Satin brass legs are well shaped and add height to the sofa, reflecting the off-the-floor trend.

Test-Tube Carpet Fibers Durable, Dirt-Resistant

Out of today's test-tubes are coming carpet fibers with characteristics that would confuse the best-intentioned sheep. Wool is still the standard fiber for carpets and is the index by which man-made fibers are judged in performance—for resiliency, wear, cleanability, color fastness and other factors.

Now, carpet rayon, nylon and saran have been so improved, they can do practically everything except say "Baa-aa," and have extras of their own.

Resiliency is a major characteristic of a good carpet fiber, as it creates the cushion effect, and the resistance to crushing. This is important in delivering the maximum of warmth and quiet that is part of carpet's function. The rugged type of wool that goes into carpets and rugs has a natural spring or curl to it. Rayon and nylon, normally smooth fibers, now have a crimp or twist built into them, to increase resiliency.

The smooth characteristic of man-made fibers has its own advantage in resisting soil. Loose dirt comes off easily with vacuuming, and spilled liquids—especially on non-absorbtive nylon and saran—can be wiped off it tended to promptly. Test-tube fibers also resist dampness, and where such conditions exist, mildew.

As far as insects go, they do not find the non-organic man-made fibers tasty. Science has also provided treatments to moth-proof wool, but regular housekeeping attention is the only proof against invaders of any kind of carpet.

Rayon has been given new color-fastness by two new developments. One is a process in which the yarn is dyed even before it becomes a fiber. Because the color goes clear through, it stands up better under bright sun and cleaning bleaches used for accident stains. There are many new carpets using this solution-dyed rayon.

The second color development in rayon is the use of vat dyes, similar to those for color-fast clothes. With these, a wide color range is possible, and more subtle shades.

You can be sure that the American scientist will continue to make carpets more and more serviceable.

Bourgeois Dinner Jacket Regains Reds' Favor

VIENNA (INS) — The dinner jacket has gained "respect again" in Communist Czechoslovakia.

The Czech party newspaper Lidova Demokracie has reported in an issue reaching Vienna: "The elegant evening suit for the gentleman gains respect again."

It has been in disgrace as a "bourgeois relic" since the Communists came to power in 1948.

New Hock Shops Show Big Boom On in Bonn

BONN (INS) — Prosperity has brought a business boom to West Germany's pawnbrokers.

People earning more are pawning more — not out of need, according to experts, but to raise cash for holidays, installments on furniture and luxuries.

There are about 81 million married U.S. citizens.

GROWN-UP LOOK — This group of juvenile furniture has a decidedly grown-up look. It is made of walnut and follows the design concepts of full-size furniture, such as the trend toward off-the-floor case pieces. Drawers in the chest-on-chest have rubber-cushioned chrome glides and attractive brass drawer pulls. The crib has steel stabilizing bars, plastic teething rails, four-position spring and extra-deep, double drop sides. (Child Craft Division of Smith Mfg. Co.)

Furniture Fits

Trend Goes Transitional

The most important news in furniture this year is the trend to transitional styling.

"Transitional" is the name given to designs that combine features of traditional with features of modern styling. The result is furniture that pleases a variety of tastes.

Italian Provincial is one of the new favorites. According to furniture experts, "Italian Provincial" is a coined name for a style adapted from Italian versions of the French Directoire and Empire periods.

Italian Provincial styles are straight line and practical, yet they reflect a feeling of dignity of the past. Characteristics of classic design and of modern utility are united, a combination that suits the current American taste to a "t."

Homemakers can find pieces that seem custom made for their small houses or apartments — yet these small-scaled, light-lined pieces are still luxurious in design and construction.

The same fine woods that are used in quality furniture of all types are adapted to the new designs, principally walnut, cherry, and other fruitwoods.

The best of the transitional upholstered pieces have the same time-tested cotton innerspring construction that has been used traditionally through the years to assure comfort and long wear.

The designs can be blended easily with either traditional or modern groupings. Accessories can be chosen to emphasize either the classic or the modern features of the transitional styling.

International Flavor Seen

Italian Provincial styling, which made its entrance to the furniture field early in the year, has attained great popularity and is holding its own. Italian Provincial furniture in bedroom, dining room, or living room creates an impressive setting, yet its clean, simple lines prevent it from becoming overpowering.

Some of the features of this styling have been used in modern and contemporary pieces, giving them a traditional feeling while maintaining an up-to-date look.

The Scandinavian influence in furniture design is as important as ever. It is seen in the sculptured look of many new pieces. Although the furniture is very simply designed, it brings with it a feeling of warmth.

Furniture inspired by Oriental design is becoming increasngly popular. Already well-accepted on the West Coast, it is slowly making its way across the country. Characterized by low pieces, it is particularly suited for the casual way of life.

One new grouping of correlated bedroom and dining room pieces combines Scandianavian and Oriental influences. It is named "Janus" for the two-faced Roman god of the household because it looks both forward and backward in its design.

Dearborn Girl, 8, Wins Adlai's Thanks

DETROIT (AP) — The slogan, "We Need Adlai Badly" has won 8-year-old Deborah Taylor a personal letter from Adlai Stevenson.

Deborah suggested the slogan while hearing her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Taylor of Dearborn, discuss banners shown on TV during the Democratic National Convention.

Her mother relayed Deborah's suggestion in a letter to Stevenson. He wrote Deborah thanking her, and expressed hope that "everyone feels as you do."

Extra Comfort, Storage Space Mate With Clean Lines, Gracious Design

Waking up in a pleasant, attractive bedroom can make facing the new day a more cheerful task. It is easy to have a good-looking bedroom these days. Whether your room is large or small, the new groupings offer you a great deal of choice in styles and pieces to fit your requirements.

Modern seems to be the leading contender for popularity in bedroom suites. It is a soft modern, however, which has borrowed ideas from traditional styling. Italian Provincial, too, is high on the list.

Making a comback is 18th Century design. This regal style is now in a cleaner, purer form, with all of the fuss and feathers removed. Its dignity and solid air remain.

The trend toward letting the natural beauty of the woods show is very evident in the bedroom finishes. They enhance the loveliness of the wood grain rather than hide it. In fact, the wood grain is used to create an attractive pattern in the piece.

The use of paraquet inlay points up this trend. One grouping, called "Janus," features a parquet-type inlay of walnut resembling two slender elongated pyramids placed in an hourglass position. The light and shadow caught in these pieces create a lovely effect.

You will also notice a stronger tendency on the part of designers to combine two or more woods in one piece. A large collection features the use of cherry for broad surfaces, banded by a strip of mahogany.

Another grouping is dramatically designed in walnut with contrasting strips of maple inlay. It has a tailored feeling to it and has a definite sculptured effect. The group is notable for the lack of any hardware, except for an accent of silver trim on the base of the chest pieces and the bed.

There are many styles of beds from which to choose. Bookcase headboards are extremely popular because of their convenience. One is even available with an electric outlet in it, making the attachment of a reading lamp a simple task.

An interesting and attractive bedroom suite is one which offers travertine marble tops on chest pieces and night stands. These are optional and the pieces may be had with mahogany tops, matching the body of the chests, if you prefer. They are also available with cane sliding panels on side of the chests. These panels may be reversed for a change of scene since they are backed with matching mahogany.

Also offered with this group is a tiny four-drawer chest which stands on top of the dresser and may be used as a jewelry case. On a dining room buffet, it can hold the family silver.

Those who like the rich, luxurious look will be happy to learn that beds with sumptuous velvet headboards will be in the stores this fall. Even the most overworked homemaker will feel like a queen when she has breakfast in such a bed!

One manufacturer is offering a bed which has its own attached night stands. The night stands extend out and are suspended from the bookcase headboard.

In many cases, drawer pulls are shaped to follow the line of the front of the piece, for harmonious balance. Drawer pulls and other ornamentation may be of matching or contrasting wood, bright brass, gleaming pewter, antiqued brass (often on Italian Provincial), anodized aluminum, and even real silver, to name only a few possibilities.

Vanities are often being offered as part of bedroom groupings. They serve double duty since they can also act as desks. Also available is a chest-on-chest, the center section of which is a fall-front desk.

Chairs to match bedroom groupings are being seen. A number of these are upholstered for added comfort. They give Mom the opportunity of setting up a "privacy corner" in her bedroom where she can take time out to rest during the day.

You can make your bedroom frilly and fluffy, starkly tailored, or something in between. You have only to choose a style which fits your taste and personality.

Plan Carefully Before Buying

Your home is an expression of your personality. It reveals your likes and dislikes and is an indication of your way of living. You want your home to make the best impression possible and yet, it must be designed for comfort, to suit the needs of your family.

An apartment or home cannot be furnished haphazardly and be expected to have a good appearance. Plenty of time should be allowed for thought and planning before the first purchase is made.

A good idea is to draw a rough floor plan and to begin your planning from that. Chart the traffic pattern, too, so that you will not have tables and chairs getting in your way when you walk from room to room.

Pick a basic color and build your color scheme around it. Don't buy a chair in a color which suddenly strikes your fancy and then expect to find other pieces which will go well with it. A harmoniously effect can rarely be achieved in this way. You should have a color plan well in mind before you begin shopping.

When choosing seating pieces and materials, keep your family in mind. White and other pale colors may be very pretty but they won't stay pretty long if there are young children around. Of course, there are the new synthetic materials and chemical processes which require a minimum of upkeep and which are a boon to young mothers.

Mothers should also insist on washable paint or wall coverings. Finger marks do not make attractive wall decorations and they are certain to appear when there are children in the family.

An important thing to remember when planning your home is that the pattern of American living has changed in recent years. Television has been an important factor in this change.

The living room, which was once strictly a "company room," now gets much more wear and tear if it includes a television set. This must be taken into consideration when buying furniture.

Hydrant Plug Ugly?

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. O. Z. Russll, 74, thinks yellow, except in flowers, is a horrible color. And when a yellow fire hydrant was installed in front of her home she telephoned her objection to City Manager Henry Yancey. He asked the highly respected retired school teacher the color she'd like to have the hydrant. She said white, and today it is the only white fire hydrant in the city.

DANISH GROUP — These pieces are part of a group of tables and chairs made in Denmark. The low hexagonal cocktail table mothers a brood of six triangular snack tables which are a great help in entertaining. The chair is hand-woven bleached rattan. The tables and chair are available in walnut, saddle, and nubian black finishes. (Selig Mfg. Co., Inc.)

New Chests for Storage Offer High-Style Glamor

The old storage chest, "she ain't what she used to be," to paraphrase an old song. Once upon a time, a chest was just a box which had to be "lived with" because it provided the very necessary storage space, but did not add anything to the attractiveness of a room.

This is no longer true. Storage pieces are now high-style, designed either to match a particular grouping or to complement it.

One group of storage units was inspired by the campaign chests used by English officers serving the Colonial Empire. The adaptation is accurate in every detail. T-shaped brushed brass corners and trim, used to protect this chest's ancestors, today becomes an elegant decorative feature matching the recessed brass hardware.

An added feature of this basic walnut storage unit, which can be used as a conventional single chest is the fact that it comes in seven sizes and two heights, making it possible to stack the units, line them up to fit a desired wall space, or use them as a room divider or lamp table. One of the 38-inch chests has been designed to hold high-fidelity equipment.

* * *

Another storage chest is designed to fit into Early American decor. It is a low piece which will fit comfortably under a window or as an accent piece in a hallway. Sham doors and drawers in the front give it the appearance of a small buffet.

One new grouping of wood and upholstered furniture features a corner unit—making use of that often wasted space—which can be used for storage. The top lifts up to reveal a cedar-lined compartment.

It's Tough Enforcing the Spirit of the Law

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "Do you agree in the law that will convict this man?" the prosecuting attorneys asked a prospective juror in a liquor violation case.

"My religion prevents me from punishing a man for a crime," the man answered.

The next man asked was more direct in his reply.

"I just don't believe in the law," he said.

Both men were excused and the jury ended up with all women.

Rupert Hughes Wills Estate to Brother

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Author Rupert Hughes left his estate, consisting almost entirely of copyrights and manuscripts and yielding $500 income a year, to his brother Felix, a voice teacher.

Rupert, who died Sept. 9 at 84, had resided the past few years at his brother's home here. His will directed that if Felix died first the property should go to Felix's wife, Ruby, "in deep appreciation for the loving care and maintenance with which they have provided me during the latter part of my life."

The will, dated Jan. 8, 1954, made no mention of Hughes' nephew, Howard, multimillionaire industrialist.

Synthetic Rubber May Replace Actual Goods

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new synthetic rubber recently developed could free the United States from its dependence upon imported rubber, says Harvey S. Firestone Jr. He said in an interview that in a national emergency the new synthetic—called Coral—could be used in lieu of rubber from other countries.

Firestone said, however, that it will not replace natural rubber in the near future and that the United States will continue to use all the natural rubber it can import.

Carpet Colors Match Rooms

Carpets are now coming off the looms in a wide range of decorator colors, and so are the fabrics that match—because of planning. This is all part of American inter-industry coordination to make it easier for the homemaker to put a pleasant room together.

* * *

If the shopper follows the broad color trend in home furnishings, she can find draperies, upholstery, even lamp shades and accessories that match or blend. Personal choice should naturally govern a room color, but it is wise to be aware of which colors are most available, and which are coming into new popularity.

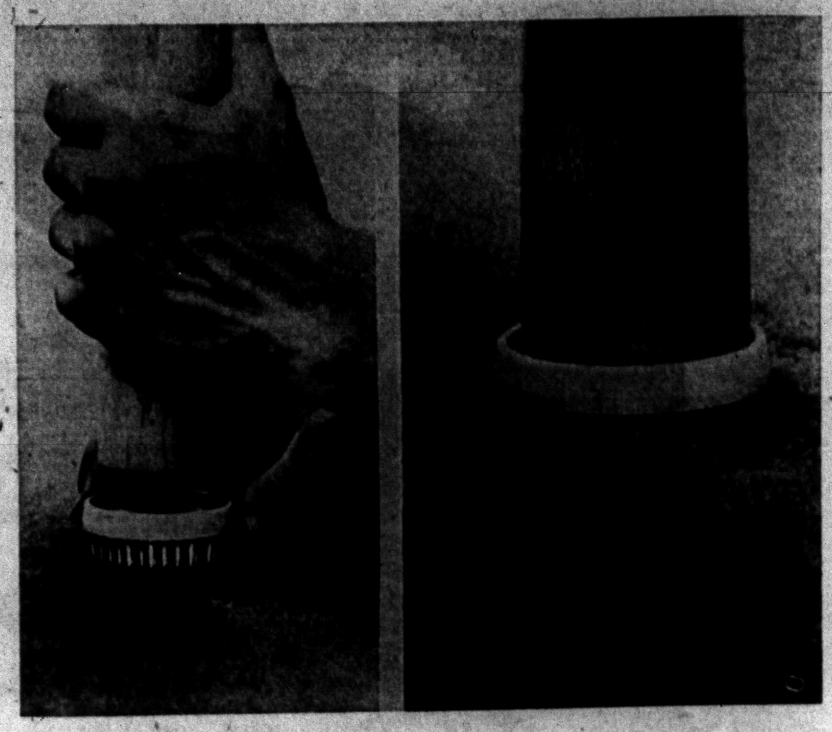

In carpets, there is emphasis on the brown family, especially the warm shades, like sandalwood and nutria, even gold. This color group not only flatters wood tones in furniture, but acts as a perfect partner to blue, the upcoming "advance" color in home furnishings.

Reflecting this trend, there are also new true blue carpets, as well as much aqua, another good companion to brown. There are many new shades of green, used with blue in sophisticated settings. To satisfy every taste, carpet manufacturers are offering as many as ten and fourteen color choices in a single design.

* * *

The wealth of color in carpet, as well as contemporary patterns, reveals the return to "decorating" the floor, always the practice in historic houses. For the past few decades, carpet occupied a strange neutral role in the family of furnishings. It did not offend, nor did it contribute.

Then as we began living closer to the floor in modern houses of natural materials, we began experiencing the looks and feel of a carpet more intimately. Pattern and color underfoot became important, and today's carpets add the new (and old) extra dimension to decoration, so long overlooked.

NEW FURNITURE SUPPORTS — A new type of furniture support, molded of plastic, is designed especially to protect tufted carpeting against indentations caused by furniture loads. According to the manufacturer, three of the new supports will support a 1,500 pound grand piano on the finest carpet without leaving a permanent mark and without causing damage to the backing. More than 100 tapered teeth on the bottom of the supports gently push aside the pile of a tufted carpet without crushing the fibers (left photo). At the same time, weight is distributed over an area two inches in diameter so that the short teeth do not pierce the carpet's backing (right photo). These new supports are available in three colors.

Dome-Car Idea Old

WASHINGTON — A patent was granted in 1891 for a three-section railroad dome car, but it never got beyond the drawing board because it would have required such substances as transparent, shatterproof plastics, unknown at that time.

Rap Americans in Mexico Town for Near Nudism

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP) — Near nudism of some American tourists visiting this resort center has stirred a bit of cautious criticism in Mexican newspapers.

* * *

For one thing, a Mexico City paper said, the habit seems contagious and Mexican women are beginning to undress in public.

A newspaper here said things once got so bad on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec that men and women began bathing naked together but the government finally stepped in with heavy fines.

* * *

Women tourists can be seen on downtown streets here dressed in bathing suits or shorts and skimpy blouses. One native said he had seen near-naked women tourists enter the famed Catholic Cathedral.

Schools Use More Milk

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department reports that an average increase of 67 per cent in total milk consumption by children in schools taking part in the special school milk program this year is indicated by a survey of 22 city and county school systems. The program is now operating in more than 60,000 schools throughout the nation.

West Virginia has produced about five billion tons of coal since 1800.

Farm Population Down

DES MOINES — The nation's farm population totaled 22,200,000 persons in 1955 compared with 32,100,000 in 1910, the first year for which records are available. That's a decline of 33 per cent and compares with a 79 per cent increase in the total population—from 91,900,000 to 164,000,000—in the same period.

India is the second largest movie producer today, next only to the U. S.

So Easy to Remember

DENVER, Colo. (AP)— A witness at a federal income tax evasion trial had no trouble recalling a $470 payment he said he made as a slot machine payoff to the defendant. He had tucked the money in the watch pocket of a pair of trousers, then absent-mindedly sent the pants to the cleaners.

When they came back the $470 was gone and he had to dig up another payment of the same amount.

BASIC STORAGE UNIT — Inspired by the campaign chests used by English officers, this basic walnut storage unit brings with it an aura of adventurous days. The T-shaped brushed brass corners and trim, used to protect this chest's ancestors, today becomes an elegant decorative feature matching the recessed brass hardware. One of the features of this unit, which can be used as a conventional single chest, is that it comes in seven sizes and two heights, making it possible to stack the units, line them up to fit a desired wall space, or use them as a room divider or lamp table. Decorator's Touch Is Seen in Table Trends

Tables, these days, have come out of the purely utilitarian class of furniture and have become a distinctly decorative addition to a room setting. An attractive table can be the focal point of a grouping.

Tables can be found in all shapes and sizes. Generally, the trend seems to be toward lower cocktail tables which are an easy-to-reach height when placed in front of a sofa.

Undoubtedly a conversation piece is a lovely new banquet size cocktail table. Only 15 inches high, it has a 48-inch diameter.

An attractive revolving center tray is made of copper with a hammered pewter finish and a hand chased effect around the edge. The tray can be removed for use on another table. Made of carefully selected and matched teak veneer, the Persian-influenced table has a warm waxed finish.

* * *

Another interesting trend is toward tables which hide smaller, snack tables under their surfaces. A Danish grouping features a hexagonal cocktail table which mothers a brood of six triangular snack tables. Also in this Danish collection are some long, rectangular tables which have an inset of ceramic tiles placed off-center in their tops.

A new 60-inch long walnut table has been added to the popular High-Lo group. Designed for dual-purpose elegance from cocktails to supper, this table raises with finger-tip pressure to supper table height. Another touch and this double-duty table lowers to cocktail table height. One model will be in all black lacquer with Formica top surface.

In the best transitional manner, a grouping called "Ivanhoe" offers the warmth and friendliness of Italian Provincial adapted for simpler modern tastes and styled with contemporary space and use requirements in mind. Luxurious plastic tops are in a diamond-matched striped walnut pattern.

The elegant inlaid motif was inspired by palace treasures of beautifully matched rare woods that are seen in old castles in Italy.

Another manufacturer offers a distinctive table nicknamed the Tulip Table because its five carved wood supporting elements recall petals as they hold up circular tops of travertine or glass. An extra-long coffee table has one straight side to follow the front line of a sofa, while the other side and the ends curve in gentle arcs.

A striking design appears in an end table with a top of random-width laminated oak strips. The top is three and one-half inches thick at the center but thins toward its perimeter to a delicate softly-rounded edge.

Leather is still very popular for table surfaces. It is now available in many shades. To add a bright sparkle of color to your room, try a table with a top of inlaid mosaic tile.

Unusual materials used in table surfaces create a dramatic atmosphere. Among those being offered are cocktail tables with tops of stainless steel and some which are made of black and white vinyl floor tile. Don't overlook the fact that many of the tables can be used as extra seating pieces by the addition of a cushion.

You will find that many of these new tables are protected by special finishes to prevent marring from cigarette burns, spills or scratches. Now you can have table beauty which really lasts.

Doctor Asks for Cooperation

State Medical Society President-Elect Speaks to Members

DETROIT (AP) — The president-elect of the Michigan State Medical Society says that "for every dollar we (doctors) have spent for our education, the community has contributed three, and the people rightly expect a return in addition to the competent medical care of the sick."

And Dr. Arch Walls of Detroit also told the society's house of delegates yesterday that "to give this additional service we must cooperate with others and have the cooperation of others."

"One segment of those we serve," he continued, "is represented by labor unions.

"No labor leader to my knowledge has ever come to the MSMS and offered either his help or the help of his union in solving the medical and health problems confronting the people. That is an error on their part.

MUST COOPERATE

"If labor unions expect to improve the medical and health care of their members they must cooperate with the medical profession for no labor union can render medical care — only a physician can do that and the condition under which that medical care is rendered must be satisfactory to patient and physician alike or it will fail in its purpose.

"But we must not make a similar error by refusing to welcome their help when it is offered."

Dr. Walls advocated what he termed an "open door" policy by the society and said he believed it "must apply also to other professions — to osteopathy, psychology and chiropody, to mention only a few."

Better Nutcracker Is Worth a Fortune

RIO DE JANEIRO — A fortune awaits the person who can invent a better nutcracker—one that will shell the babassu, Brazil's "wonder nut." Babassu palms grow abundantly all over northern and central Brazil. Maranhao State alone has some 2,000,000 trees, and each bears a crop of 800 nuts.

This versatile nut contains oil used in making plastics, detergents and high-quality soaps. The shell contains calcium acetate, methyl alcohol, and acetic acid. Dried, it makes a charcoal used in producing surgical steel. Burned as a whole fruit, it produces smoke for coagulating latex in making rubber.

Many devices have been invented for cracking the nuts, but none have been successful, because of the toughness of the shell, the irregular shape, and the tenderness of the kernel.

Dog Raises Raccoons

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP)— A female hound is fondly raising the baby racoons she orphaned by killing their mother. Robert Hembree, 17, found the young coons after his hound Hattie treed and disposed of the mother during a recent hunt. Since Hattie had recently lost a litter of pups, she took over the job of foster-mother with no objection.

Store Heiress Must Share

Judge Rules to Divide Netcher Fortune Among Relatives

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Mollie Netcher Bragno, 29-year-old heiress named sole beneficiary to her grandmother's 12 - million - dollar department store fortune, is not entitled to the full inheritance, a Superior Court judge ruled yesterday.

The estate of her grandmother Mrs. Mollie Netcher Newbury was ordered placed back into the estate of Mrs. Newbury's first husband Charles Netcher, founder of the defunct Boston store.

* * *

Superior Judge George M. Fisher's ruling upheld a report by a master in chancery recommending a $16,728,742 judgment against Mrs. Bragno in a suit filed in 1950 by other relatives of Mrs. Newbury.

In effect, the court ordered the assets of the Newbury estate to the principal trust set up under Netcher's will. Netcher died in 1905 and Mrs. Newbury died in 1954 at the age of 87.

Mrs. Bragno, whose attorney said he will appeal Judge Fisher's decision, is one of the beneficiaries of the Netcher estate and thus will not lose all the inheritance. Mrs. Bragno, who was named executrix of Mrs. Newbury's estate, is the wife of Edward Bragno, 45-year-old wine merchant. They have no children.

* * *

The suit filed in 1950 was by two other Netcher heirs, Mrs. Francice Netcher Bushkin, Mrs. Bragno's sister, and Mrs. Ethel Netcher Chagnon, Mrs. Bragno's aunt and only survivor of four children of the Boston store founder. Mrs. Bushkin and Mrs. Bragno are the only children of Charles Netcher Jr., who died in 1931.

Two sons of Charles Netcher Sr. died in recent years and their widows have an interest in the court proceedings. They are Roszika Dolly Netcher, one of the famed Dolly Sisters dance team and widow of Irving Netcher, who died in 1953, and Mrs. Harriet Netcher, widow of Townsend Netcher, who died in 1955.

Supersized Bedding Is Aid to Healthy Sleep

HOME FASHION TIME is a perfectly wonderful time to re-examine the family's bedding. Certainly no part of the home contributes more to our health and well-being than the all-important bedroom. And there are lots of new things to see in bedroom furnishings. There are hundreds of new styles and ideas in sofa beds, studio couches, rollaway cots, bunk beds and even chair beds.

To top all of that, stores are showing in greater quantities than ever before, the exciting new way to sleep—supersize bedding.

There was a time, not very long ago, when, if a person wanted the luxury and wonderful comfort of a big bed, he had to have it custom-made. Not so, now! Most retailers currently stock the big bedding as a matter of course. And the price is right, too.

The current crop of sleep piece is very much owrth seeing. Mattresses are shown in new sizes. Innovations can be found in almost every type of dual purpose equipment. High style touches in fabrics, arm treatments, leg details are combined with new and greater efficiency of operation.

First introduced on a large scale about a year ago, supersized bedding has gained acceptance with remarkable speed. Why not? It answers such a definite need.

It's a known fact that we move while we sleep—if we are to get the proper rest. The big size in bedding allows plenty of room for this movement.

People everywhere are coming to the conclusion that the standard 76-inch bed is just not long enough for sleeping comfort — not if you really like to stretch out and take it easy in bed. Your own height has nothing to do with it. Tall or small, you'll find that you sleep much better on supersize.

It would pay you well, in many hours of sleeping comfort, to examine some of the better bedding on display during HOME FASHION TIME.

Beer Drinking Doubles

CANBERRA (INS) — Australians have doubled their average beer consumption since 1939. Last year they drank an average of 24 gallons each. In 1938 and 1939 they averaged 12 gallons. Australians paid more than $190 million in taxes for the pleasure in 1955.

Beauty Guard Process Protects Your Table Tops

Life can be just a bowl of cherries for the homemaker these days. No longer need she worry about marring the surfaces of her beautiful furniture nor about spills on upholstery.

This modern-day emancipation proclamation was created by this age of scientific miracles. New developments have made it possible for you to have real wood furniture—no imitations—that will never collect cigarette burns or beverage glass rings. For the homemaker, it's a dream come true.

A carelessly left cigarette can actually burn completely to an ash without harming today's newest furniture made with an amazing new type of genuine wood top. These worry-free wood furniture tops are protected by a special "beauty-guard" process that gives you the inimitable beauty of genuine hardwoods, plus the abuse-resistance required for today's casual—and sometimes c-a-r-e-l-e-s-s—way of living.

Spilled alcohol, perfumes, cosmetics, and other common abuses also won't mark or stain these new wood furniture tops. As a result, you can now have a gracious home with the beautiful fine wood furniture you prefer, and still relax and enjoy your family and your most careless guests. Even at parties, you will no longer have to worry about spilled drinks and cigarettes rolling out of ash trays.

You'll find these new wood tops on furniture for dining room, bedroom and living room in a variety of styles and finishes.

You can stop worrying about upholstery, too. A recently developed process acts just like an "invisible slipcover" to protect the fabric from damage through careless accidents.

Slim Lines, Grace Are Features of Metal Furniture

Metal furniture is no longer a step-child. It has been taken indoors to provide new beauty in the home, bringing with it a different and interesting texture.

An important feature of metal furniture is that it is light-looking. It can be used to great advantage in a small room to create a feeling of space where there is actually very little.

Metal dinette groupings no longer consist of only a table and chairs. Complete settings, including chests and china sections, are now available.

Use metal furniture to bring color into your home. It is available in a complete rainbow of beautiful shades. Often, chairs are upholstered in matching or contrasting colors for added comfort.

The slim lines of metal chairs give them a sculptured look. They are graceful and appealing. Tables are made in a number of styles. Most of them have an extension feature for use when entertaining large groups.

LANSING (AP)—Nearly 100 police pistol teams from Michigan will compete in the 19th annual Michigan Police Shoot at Jackson Thursday.

Wednesday, State Police will hold a department shoot in which three-man teams from eight police districts will participate.

Police chiefs also will compete Thursday. The chiefs' match was won last year by Chief Casper Enkemann of Ann Arbor.

MAPLE TABLE — Early American furniture is continuing to hold its place in the affections of the public. This maple table, in a warm, homey finish, will make a charming accent piece in a living room. (T. Baumritter, Inc.)

Signals Get Mixed! Democratic Spies?

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Several thousand people lined a five-block parade route last night, hoping to glimpse Vice President Nixon.

* * *

They saw a band, a carload of pretty girls, several convertibles filled with dignitaries and another band. But no Nixon. They dispersed, wondering what had happened to him. Soon another auto rolled down the same route, flanked by motorcycle policemen. There was Nixon, but with few people left to wave to.

A Nixon spokesman said signals must have gotten mixed.

Israeli Army Reports Exchange of Shooting

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli army spokesman said an Egyptian position across the Sinai border fired on an Israeli patrol last night, wounding one soldier. He said the patrol returned the fire.

The exchange was the only incident reported after two days of shootings along the Israeli-Jordan border. Israel reported five persons were killed and 18 wounded in the two days of violence.

Beauty-conscious homemakers are showing more interest in the beauty of wood as the new in-the-wood furniture finishes rapidly gain acceptance. The emphasis on the natural, matte, oil, wax, and other grain-revealing finishes in new furniture styles has resulted in the expanded use of many wood grain patterns in the search for variety and distinctive design.

As a result of this trend, the homemaker is becoming more figure-minded—wood figure, that is. And so, to keep up with furniture fashions, familiarity of grain patterns becomes highly important to shopping.

Because of mahogany's unlimited variety and combinations of grain patterns, much of it is found in bedroom and dining room furniture. Mahogany is the grandmama for famous names of wood figures or grain patterns.

Crotch, swirl, mottle, broken stripe, and fiddle-back, to name a few, were first used to describe mahogany, the wood in which the many beautiful figures first became known.

Style-conscious homemakers with an eye to elegance may be aware of some, but not all, of the more beautiful mahogany patterns. Most famous of these and perhaps the best known, is the crotch mahogany figure. Not too well known is the variety of crotch styles found within this family of lovely patterns.

Mahogany finishes on the new fall furniture excel those concocted by Thomas Chippendale. If the famous 18th Century cabinetmaker could inspect the new offerings, he probably would be the first to admit that the new warm brown tones on mahogany are more beautiful than his deep red stains which have been erroneously tagged "traditional mahogany" finish.

Plan Special Issue of Children's Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield has announced his department will issue a special 3-cent children's stamp designed to promote friendship among children throughout the world.

* * *

He said the design, selected in a nationwide competition among grade and high school students, was submitted by Ronald Dias, 19, a former student of Roosevelt High School, Honolulu, Hawaii, now living in Burbank, Calif.

The stamp will carry a slogan "Friendship—The Key to World Peace." The date of issue, place of first-day sale and other details will be announced later. Of the stamp, Summerfield said:

"It will be a symbol of the aspirations of all Americans who fervently hope for world peace in the years ahead, and will stress the fact that our children of today are the hope of the world tomorrow."

Experts Predict Future Trends

A peek into the home furnishings future was given recently when a group of prominent furniture designers expressed their views on what is going to happen in that field.

One designer feels that we are definitely moving towards a trend in which there will be much combination of materials. Wood and metal, each in its place, will be combined to make attractive and functional furniture.

He also expressed strong feelings on the subject of drawers! They are on the way out, he said. He explained that deep drawers are outmoded—one has to dig under layers of things to find something at the bottom.

What is his solution to this problem? Well, one possibility is narrow shelves or trays where everything may be seen at a glance and can be easily reached.

Another designer believes that styles appear in cycles, each lasting about three years. He pointed out that brass accents are very popular at this time and said this trend should last about three to five years.

The designers seemed to agree that the Danish . Scandianavian trend is the strongest at this time, followed by Italian—provincial or modern—and Far Eastern styles. American modern is holding its own while Early American is increasing in popularity.

In upholstery, it is predicted that fabrics will be more elegant. The trend will be toward a smooth look. It is possible that there may be a return to the use of velvet in upholstery.

Frames of upholstered pieces will be lighter and more exposed. Lighter scaling will be important. Beige will be the color which will attain the greatest popularity, they believe.

* * *

All were in agreement that the general public has become better educated about home furnishings and will demand better, cleaner design in the future.

ITALIAN PROVINCIAL — The influence of Italian Provincial styling is very evident in this striking bedroom suite. In a driftwood finish on African mahogany, the group is called "Corsicana." Notice the clean simplicity of the design, without any sacrifice of detail. With the addition of a mirror over the desk, this piece could double as a vanity. (Link-Taylor.)

Texture Interest Continues in Newer Fabrics

Color and texture trends are the important things to watch in fabrics. For the past few years, fabrics which have "touch" interest have been popular, such as rough tweeds.

This popularity is continuing. Fabrics on new upholstered pieces are elegant; the weaves are flat but textured, and many types of fabric are used. It is felt, however, that this trend will gradually evolve into one of smooth, rich fabrics on upholstery. Evidence of this is already beginning to crop up.

COLORS are either extremely bright or softly muted. Beige and brown are the top favorites, with gold and white also high on the list. Homemakers no longer fear these light colors since many fabrics are now protected by a special ffinish which makes them easy to keep clean.

* * *

Small prints are also popular, particularly on Early American pieces. Tweed is seen quite often.

TURQUOISE is the favorite accent color. Other shades of blue have also gained wide acceptance. On the way up the fashion ladder is red. It will add a touch of drama and high fashion to a room.

BURN-RESISTANT — Burning cigarettes won't harm this genuine hardwood desk because it features a new abuse-resistant real wood top. The desk is offered in a medium sirocco or light Danish walnut finish on pecan. The graceful floating lines and simple styling make it compatible with many types of contemporary furnishings. (Period Tables, Inc.)

Trace Superior Current

MUNISING (UP)—One of several hundred bottles dropped into Lake Superior to test the lake currents by the University of Minnesota's School of Public Health has been found near Pictured Rocks. The bottle was picked out of the water Saturday by Arthur Jackson of Van Meer. The bottles were set afloat at Grand Marais, Minn.

Alabama ranks third among the states in the annual production of turpentine.

Scientists Find Fossilized Eggs

Discover Traces of Birds Living 40 Million Years Ago

BERKELEY, Calif. (INS)—Thirteen fossilized eggs laid by birds that lived about 40 million years ago have been found in the "Badlands" of Western Nebraska, by a scientific team from the University of California.

The university announced that the eggs, about the size of those from chickens, now are being studied at its Museum of Paleontology on the Berkley campus.

The scientists are seeking clues that might turn up a so-called "missing link" in the evolution of bird life on this planet. So far, they have not been able to discover a connection between the fossilized eggs and the Oligocene Geological period when the major orders of birds, as now known, were finally established.

The Nebraska find marked the first time that a whole "nest" of unusually well-preserved fossilized eggs have been unearthed in the area. Previously, single eggs of similar size and shape had been found occasionally in the "Badlands."

The "nest eggs" were found near the Nebraska town of Crawford, some 60 miles from a ranch owned by geologist-paleontologist Harold J. Cook, who initiated the explorations later developed by the University of California paleontological team.

The team, headed by associate paleantology professor Donald E. Savage, dug up an even dozen of the eggs in a cluster embedded in a claystone matrix. The 13th egg, almost perfect, was found about 30 yards away but in the same rock stratum.

A fragment of leg bone (tibia) of a bird and bits of shells embedded in the claystone rock were the only visible clues obtained by the scientists to help them determine the species of the bird that laid the eggs.

Light Scaling, Slimness Mark New Upholstery

If it were necessary to use only one small phrase to describe the new upholstered furniture, the most appropriate one would be "the slim look." Without sacrificing comfort or luxury, the new sofas and chairs have eliminated any look of overpowering bulkiness.

These pieces are generally characterized by narrow backs, slim legs, tapered arms, and knife-edge pillows. They are light-looking, yet sturdy. They were designed to fit well into the home of today.

The custom of serving guests informally by grouping them around large coffee tables has been given high-style impetus in a series of light-scaled upholstered chairs called "coffee chairs." Small enough to be drawn up even to a cocktail table for living room entertaining, they have been engineered to provide comfort for large as well as small sitters.

Thin arms, low backs, loose cushions, a sculptured look and delicately tapered legs are features of this group. For comfort, all have rubber-webbed seats with upholsterd foam rubber cushions. Another version of this group has higher, more tapered legs for conventional dining or desk use.

Four new sofas introduce such notes as square brass legs with brass stretchers across the base, or round brass legs without taper.

One, a high-legged unit, features large wedge-shaped cushions. Another, extremely deep and especially designed for lounging comfort, has a frame which goes to the floor, but is readily movable by means of concealed casters.

Early American styling is also available in upholstered pieces. A group called Colony offers colorful prints in both floral and geometric patterns. Small shaped wings spread upward and outward from the high pillow backed sofa. A small rolled arm carries out the design.

Many upholstered collections offer widely assorted styles of arms, legs, and backs from which the customer can order for "custom-production" at the factory, thus achieving decorator effects at modest prices.

IT'S A TABLE — At first glance, this buffet appears to be an innocent enough piece. However, it hides a disappearing table which pulls out to 52 inches when company arrives for dinner. In between times it acts as an ordinary buffet and is a marvelous space-saver. (Franklin Shockey Co.)

Consider UP County for U.S. Disaster Aid

SAULT STE. MARIE (UP)—Whether Chippewa County farmers should get disaster aid from the federal government will be the object of a personal tour of the county by Elwood Bornine, director of the Farm Home Administration for Michigan.

Bornine will investigate reports by County Agricultural Agent Karl Larsen that early snow and steady rain have ruined all but 5 per cent of the county's grain crop. His visit, he said, will be made on the request of Rep. Victor Knox (R-Mich).

Junior's Things Look Adult

There's a new look in juvenile furniture these days. It has a decidedly grown-up flavor to it and more and more of it is designed to grow with the child as he grows older.

Style has definitely entered the junior circuit. Every grouping, from infant to pre-teen, offers something more than the purely utilitarian bed (or crib) and chest of drawers.

Among the furniture offered for the brand new baby, is a lovely French Provincial group. It consists of a white and gold crib, with a canopy of filmy nylon, a dresser, chiffarobe, and a little matching chair. A junior-size coat rack is also included.

The trend seems to be toward "grown-up" finishes on juvenile furniture. They tend to show the natural beauty of the wood, rather than have a painted surface. Maple is a popular wood and walnut is making a new appearance in this field.

Many groupings are designed so that only the substitution of a junior bed for the crib will turn the nursery into a school-age child's room. The dresser and chest, though scaled for a youngster, do not have a "baby" look.

The new "Living Rose" design is used in a group of juvenile furniture. Crib and chests are painted white. A single rose is used for the drawer pulls and for occasional decoration. A youth bed is also available in this grouping.

A new high chair is available which will not outgrow its usefulness until the child has entered school. When the child gets a little older, the chair, which is attached to the top of a small table, may be removed. The chair and table, then, may be used for meals or as a play desk for the pre-school child.

Gay colors, grown-up styling, and function combine to make the new juvenile furniture more attractive than ever. The nursery can now be as modern as any other room in your house.

Ford to Film Activities of Michigan State Police

DEARBORN (INS) — The Ford Motor Co. will go into several Michigan communities in the next few weeks to film the life and work of the State Police.

The film, after its release next spring, will be available to schools, service clubs, civic organizations and other non-commercial film users.

SPACER UNIT — The use of a spacer unit creates added interest in this beautiful grouping. If Mrs. Homemaker wants a slight change of scenery, she can easily remove the spacer and place the cabinet directly on top of the buffet. Part of a striking new collection of furniture called "Tiara," the buffet contains a special drawer for storing silver. This softly sculptured contemporary furniture that combines and stacks, changes from room to room, is available in walnut with real silver trim. (White Furniture Co.)

Give New Life to Old House

Nothing does such an immediate job of face-lifting on an old house or a sad-sack kind of room as brand new carpet. It covers worn floors, adds an air of luxury and comfort, and helps to pull other furnishings together.

Because carpet lasts a long time, there is a tendency to let it grow old gracefully, and to overlook the gradually obvious signs of wear. Turn a critical eye to the floor, and see if you are expecting the carpet to perform beyond its time of duty.

With the many fresh colors and patterns in today's carpets, there is no need to have a drab floor. The whole range of warm brown hues, blues and aquas are made to flatter the wood tones of furniture. A distinctive pattern, echoed in a few accessories, can suddenly give style and a planned look to a room.

Old floors can be camouflaged by wall-to-wall carpet, with no need for further refinishing. Since carpet is a soft and flexible material, it can adjust to minor floor irregularities, and adds little weight as a floor-covering. It does extra duty in old houses, too, by keeping floors warm and quiet, and adding safety underfoot.

One child prodigist who retained his early fame is concert violinist Jascha Heifetz. He was acclaimed by musical critics in his New York debut at the age of 17; first played the violin at the age of 3.

Past Inspires Sophisticate Grouping

One of the most interesting aspects of the contemporary movement in furniture design is the return to the past for design inspiration and thematic material. It seems that modern and traditional have grown closer and closer together.

A new grouping of furniture called "sophisticate" represents the climax of this meeting of two different design idioms. It is not traditional furniture either in function or in fashion.

Its profile and facade, its proportioning and detailing are all contemporary. On the other hand it is not modern furniture because it owes so much to its American origins.

In terms of function, it is modern furniture. It is scaled for the modern home. It is designed for modern living.

It pays attention to the fact that most homes—even the most expensive—are virtually servantless, so it is easy to maintain. It stores a great deal in a limited amount of space.

Framed Mirror Again in Vogue

Framed mirrors are coming back, according to a leading decorator.

There has been a revival of interest in traditional frames of wood and metal, said June Cabot, director of the Home Arts Council of Libbey-Owens-Ford. This revival marks a return of elegance to the home, she noted.

"Today's homemakers want practicality as well as beauty in their furnishings, so we might say the vogue now is 'practical elegance' " expalined Miss Cabot.

"In recent years, unframed mirrors — the so-called Venetian mirrors — have been in style, but now there is a definite trend toward the use of framed mirrors, either of wood or metal."

Even brass, used in mirror frames as early as 1700, has returned to popularity, Miss Cabot said. Other metals, too, are coming into use. A manufacturer in North Carolina, Miss Cabot said, has designed an especially smart line that introduces the use of wrought iron.

"While the unframed mirror performs the function of bringing light into the room, 'doubling' the effectiveness of an attractive scene, the framed mirror goes even further and becomes an interesting part of the overall scheme," Miss Cabot said. It can be a conversation piece, just as any other object of art in the room."

Whether buying a mirror for utility or beauty, or both, there is one importangt thing to remiember, Miss Cabot said. The main difference in mirrors lies in the kind of glass used in their manufacture, she pointed out. The finest mirrors are those made of polished plate glass. They give the best reflections, and no waviness or imperfect images are seen.

Today's homemakers can obtain the finest mirrors ever produced as the result of a new American development in plate glass manufacture. A factory in Toledo now is turning out plate glass that is ground on both sides simultaneously, resulting in glass of fine optical quality. The plant was built to assure glass for the nation's military needs, but some of the output now is available for other uses.

A Swiss colony in New Glarus, Wisconsin, is a center for the manufacture of Swiss cheese in 83 factories.

COAT-HANGER CHAIR — Here is an ideal solution to the problem of the man who tosses off his jacket the moment he comes home — a "coat hanger chair." Available in maple, mahogany, and smoky finishes, it takes up remarkably little room. It is estimated that it will save its cost in pressing bills over a year's time! Keep it in mind as a practical gift for the man in your life. (Butler Specialty Co.)

College Heads Meet in Detroit

To Open Fund Drive for Contributions From Industry, Business

DETROIT — Fourteen Michigan college presidents, all affiliated with the Michigan Colleges Foundation, will meet in Detroit today to kick off the foundation's annual drive for contributions from industry and business.

Before the campaign is over Oct. 5 the group will call on 800 corporations and acquaint their executives with the foundation's purpose.

Representing more than 9,000 students, the foundation operates as a non-profit, fund-raising organization seeking support for its member colleges. The colleges all are church-related, four-year, accredited, privately supported institutions.

The seven-year-old group was the first of its kind in the United States to incorporate for fund raising purposes. The charter members are Adrian, Alma, Emanuel, Hillsdale and Hope college. Since then Albion, Aquinas, Kalamazoo, Madonna, Marygrove, Mercy, Nazareth, Olivet and Siena Heights have joined.

Designated contributions go directly to the institutions for which they are intended. Of the undesignated gifts, 60 per cent is divided equally among the participating colleges and 40 per cent goes on a basis of enrollment.

To Move or Not Move — Your Carpet or Rug

October 1 is a fateful day for many families—estimated at 10 million this fall—because it stands for Moving Day. It is also a day of great promise. The reasons why people move are many, but they all boil down to one: the deep and constant desire to live better.

A change in circumstances is often just what is needed to jolt a household out of bad habits, and give a fresh start to furnishings. Some possessions are better left behind, sold, or traded in to save moving costs. Some have intrinsic worth, and are adaptable to new locations.

Decisions must be made on carpet and rugs, as with any other furnishings. Here are some pros and cons on moving carpet, which can be applied to individual situations.

Carpet and rugs are long-lived and travel well. If they are worth moving, they are worth protecting. Always roll evenly around a pole, wrap with heavy paper, and tie.

Whether to move a wall-to-wall carpet depends upon a balance of values. If it is left in place, labor costs are saved in both the handling and re-installation.

Moreover, a carpet alreday installed increases the re-sale value of a house, not only by its worth, but in the finished look of a house to a prospective buyer. Often a landlord will acquire the carpet for easier rental of house or apartment to new tenants.

But wall-to-wall carpet can travel, and is the only finished flooring with this possibility. Worn parts can be trimmed, and the fresh sections reassembled to fit new spaces. Naturally, there will be some loss in goods, but the end result can be almost as good as new. In this flexibility, carpet has the advantage over a rug, which has a fixed shape.

Rugs are easily portable, but don't expect a rug to stretch to larger dimensions of a new living room. Use it instead in the extra bedroom or den, perhaps with the draperies and chair that were the original partners in decoration. Coordinate furnishings in the main room with a new carpet as a foundation for color and theme.

In many locations, carpet dealers will accept trade-ins of old or out-of-date rugs, to give a financial head start on the purchase of a fresh floor-covering in a new home.

Donna is the daughter of Mrs. Cecilia Merriss of Starr avenue, and Leo is the son of Mrs. Blanche Bailey of Third street.

For the service, Donna chose a floor-length gown of cream colored satin with long sleeves and a sweetheart neckline accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

Her headpiece of satin, trimmed with seed pearls, held a fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

SISTER TAKES PART

Mrs. James Fritcher, sister of the bride, wore pale blue rayon taffeta with a matching headpiece of lily of the valley for her duties as matron of honor. She carried pink roses.

Barbara Merriss and Ruth Goodwin, bridesmaids, wore yellow and mint green respectively. Their bouquets were of yellow roses.

Eugene Bailey was his brother's best man, and ushers were Robert Bailey and Kenneth Van Horn. The bridal recital was sung by Mrs. Wadena Langdon.

For the reception held in the church parlors, Mrs. Merriss chose a blue satin brocade sheath with pink accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Navy blue crepe with pink accessories was worn by Mrs. Bailey. Her flowers were white camellias.

Patience Virtue It Pays to Cultivate

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Patience always sounds like one of the drearier and less exciting virtues. But it can work downright miracles—especially where jobs are concerned.

Nevertheless, people usually put up a terrible fuss when I recommend patience.

Ruth, for example, was in a job she liked, but her boss was a really difficult and high-handed man. She wanted to leave, but I knew there were many things about the job which were right for her and recommended patience.

Reluctantly, Ruth took my advice.

Shortly after our talk, the boss, who had become too difficult for his own good, was transferred to a small out-of-town branch of the firm. And now Ruth has a new and delightful boss.

NEEDED JOB

Mrs. T. was a widow who desperately needed a job. She had no business experience, no skills.

* * *

"I have to get a job right away," she said, "so don't tell me to be patient and take a course in typing! I haven't got time."

Well, Mrs. T. found that the shortest way round is the longest way home. She wasted two months, frantically chasing from pillar to post looking for a job.

Finally, she had to settle down and patiently learn typing, after which she found a job.

LEARNED HARD WAY

And Jim, too, learned about patience the hard way.

Jim was applying for a job, a wonderful job. The choice had narrowed down to several applicants and the decision was to be made within a week. He was told he would be notified.

Jim should have gone about his business, applying elsewhere, keeping busy and being sufficiently occupied to forget the whole thing. Instead, he telephoned every day to see if a decision had been her if she is to stay at a hotel.

He hadn't the patience to wait. The company wrote Jim off as "too aggressive," and he lost out.

If your are looking for a job—or coping with a problem on your present one—remember that patience may well be your best ally.

Techniques are important, of course, and there are many good books on the subject of job-hunting from which they can be learned.

But over and above all techniques, the patient job-hunter gets the job!

Color of Ink Stylish

Parisian Girls Prefer 'Ball-Pen Blue'

PARIS (INS) — "Ball-pen blue" is the new favorite color of schoolgirls in Paris.

* * *

It is the color of ink with a touch of purple and it is more cheerful for young mademoiselles than navy-blue or grey. French high-school girls don't wear black, at least not to school.

Junior departments in Paris shops now display sweaters, skirts and coats in ball-pen blue. This lighter marine shade looks gay with red, smart with green and young with white. And for young school girls the new blue shade is practical — it won't show ink-stains.

French manufacturer of junior clothes, Albert Lempereur, has used ball-pen blue in styles to wear around the school season.

There is an ink-blue turtle-necked sweater very chic with a carrot-colored, tailored wool coat and matching skirt worn with ink-blue gloves and shoes. There is also a charming dress of wool in ink-blue, red and black plaid worked to a short-sleeved top and fully tucked skirt. It has a black velvet ribbon streamer and belt as trimming.

AFTERNOON SUGGESTION

For teen-agers, Lempereur suggests an afternoon-dress of ball-pen blue silk poplin made shirt-waist style and worn over a petticoat of eyelet embroidered cotton. A suit of ink-blue corduroy looks sporty when worn with a white sweater and elegant with a white, lace-edged blouse.

One party outfit for a ten-year-old little girl is French style with a Spanish touch. It is composed of a jumper-top and a full skirt in soft, ink-blue velvet. It is worn with a torero belt of shocking pink silk. The matching blue velvet bolero is cut in Spanish bullfighter style and lined in shocking pink silk.

Fall Brings Home Changes

When autumn leaves begin to fall it's time to make changes around the house, inside and out. For many homeowners, a very important change is the removal of canvas awnings from windows and doorways.

Canvas awnings should be cleaned and checked for needed repairs before they are stored. Washing the canvas will insure awnings a longer life. A hose, soft broom and clear water may be used to wash the canvas on the frame.

A coat of paint will restore color and also make the canvas more mildew resistant. Awning dealers use a special preparation which protects the natural oils of the cloth and leaves it soft and flexible. For best results, the same color of paint should be applied while canvas is still on the frame. It's a good idea to have metal framing painted once a year to prevent rust from damaging the cloth.

Awnings should be stored in a cool, dry spot. Rafters or saw horses are good resting places for rolled-up canvas.

If the frames need re-covering, there's no need to put off having this job done. Homeowners can order canvas now from a wide selection of patterns and colors.

The average life of canvas used outdoors is about five years. Proper care, however, can double or triple its length of service.

Plastic Finishes Win Approval

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—Plastic finishes that look like wood are becoming popular for end tables and such furniture, for good reasons.

The customers like the plastic finishes because they resist acid and heat. If a guest spills liquor or leaves a lighted cigarette on a plastic finish, no harm is done.

These finishes can be bonded to plywood. They look like wood, even to having a grain. But they are cheaper because cheaper wood can be used underneath them.

Many of the rough-textured cotton tweeds and three-dimensional cottons are chemically finished to stay fresh looking longer.

Evening Dress With Bare Feet Style of Future?

ROME (INS) — The "statuesque look" and the forthcoming movie "War and Peace" might bring about a new fashion — going barefoot in an evening dress.

Roman fashion designer Fernanda Gattinoni has had the idea of presenting a group of beautifully draped chiffon evening gowns on bare-footed models.

It was petite, delicate looking Fernanda who designed the clothes and directed and supervised some 50 tailors and costume makers in executing the thousands of garments for the gigantic "War and Peace" film production in Italy.

For women off the stage Fernanda Gattinoni dreamed up the "statuesque look" this year with clothes suitable for a modern Venus de Milo or Victory of Samothrace. Her most original creation was a pale blue, flowing chiffon gown, worn by a blonde beauty who had her long hair casually knotted at the nape of the neck. She wore no jewelry, no stockings or shoes. It was as if a statue had come to life.

Australia sells about $900 million worth of wool in an average year.

New Style Fad Uses Anthracite for Jewelry

NEW YORK (AP) — Fashion will go a long way for a new fad — even down into an anthracite mine.

The latest in jewelry is solid anthracite prettily set in silver — and it's being offered, somewhat blushingly, by the $500,000,000 anthracite fuel industry.

The hard coal people started making this anthracite jewelry last year as a promotion stunt

So now the fuel experts have decided to please women who discovered that diamond jewelry is expensive, but anthracite — the closest mineral kin to diamonds — is not. As a result, there are eight items of anthracite jewelry being made at prices around $5.

The hard coal has been set into modern silver mountings as earrings, bracelet, pendant, ring, cuff links and tie bar by designer Norman Le Beau. It's used as is, except for a bit of polishing — and it really is non-smudge clean.

The anthracite jewelry, however, is available so far only from the anthracite information bureau (342 Madison Avenue), New York. Seems they're the only folks with anthracite mines.

Diet May Cause Teenage Fatigue

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Yesterday I wrote about the fatigue which often accompanies teen age. If this persists after you have taken advantage of the suggestions I am giving you, then you teenagers should have a physical checkup.

Actually, young folks of this age group should have these regularly. It is particularly important during this period of rapid growth.

For instance, anemia can cause lackiustre and many adolescents are anemic because they eat incorrectly. In fact this is one of the poorest nourished of all age groups. This is a serious problem and it is sad that teenagers do not realize it.

Just when the food requirements are especially important to the swiftly growing young people they build trouble for themselves by eating incorrectly. We can easily see why this will happen unless the young person can be given an understanding of the vital needs of his body and the penalties of neglect.

One of the daily diet requirements for teenagers is milk. Each should have one quart a day.

DEVITALIZED FOODS

When young folks gather at parties and for in-between-meal snacks they seldom have foods vital to health. They are more often of the devitalized classification.

They provide calories and are not harmful except that they dull the appetite for the foods absolutely essential for good health and good looks.

Some of the diets and methods teenage girls adopt in order to slim down to movie queen proportions are unbelievable. Unfortunately, the crazier these are the more they seem to appeal to girls of this age.

Each day every teenager should have:

1 quart of milk
1 egg
Some whole grain, enriched cereal and bread
Variety in fresh vegetables, especially the green and yellow ones
Citrus fruit or fruit juice or both
Meat or fish or fowl
Some fat, as in butter

Because of the rapid bone growth most physicians advise a vitamin capsule which contains vitamin D.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Popularity," which was written for teenagers send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Army Man Wants Girl to Visit

She Should Stay With His Friends or Bring Chaperone

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post "I am in the Army at the present time and have just recently become engaged. I am stationed in a large city about 100 miles from my fiancee's home town. I would like to know if it would be proper to have my fiancee come and visit me for a weekend.

"If it would be in questionable taste for her to come alone, would it be all right if she asked one of here girl friends to come with her? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter?"

Answer: If you have friends in the city, they could write and ask her to stay with them. She must have a relative come or a considerably older friend with her if she is to stay at a hotel.

Dear Mrs. Post: "My daughter is married to a young man who has earned his doctorate in anthropology and is teaching in an eastern college. When writing to him I always address him as Dr. and I also introduce him as such to friends.

"My sister, who is also a teacher, thinks he should be introduced as Dr. only when among college groups and that at other times he should be introduced as Mr. Will you please tell me if she is right about this?"

Answer: I agree with your sister.

Dear Mrs. Post: "When dining in a restaurant where one pays the check to a cashier at a desk, just where scould one leave the tip?

"A friend of mine tells me it should be left under the plate. Is she right?"

Residents Balk City Suggestion

Small Shops Wanted on John R; City Studies DPW Unit Bids

TROY — Homeowners have stalled the City of Troy's attempt to turn a quarter-mile business zoned strip on John R. road back to residential zoning.

In a reverse of usual public objections, residents argued lengthily last night with the city commission, holding that they wanted the strip developed with a barber shop, gas station and other commercial units.

Several homes are already built on the strip, which had been zoned business several years ago, and the city's planning consultant, George Vilican of the Berkley firm of Vilican, Leman and Assts., recommended retaining the residential usage.

With planning board consideration unnecessary because the suggestion originated with the city, the idea will come up again before the commission in two weeks.

Meanwhile, homeowners will name a committee to meet with Vilican to hear his reasons in detail.

Bids on the proposed ditchdigging and road work equipment for the DPW were received, and the 20 detailed offers are being studied by the city engineers.

Twelve Town drain shares will again come before the commission next Monday night, preliminary to the Oct. 12 hearing.

City clerk's offices will be open all of next week and Oct. 8 for registrations of electors, from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The last Sunday in September, will be Rally Day and Promotion Day at the church.

On Oct. 7 World Communion Sunday will be celebrated.

The Fire Hall will include a large office in the rear of the building, shower and dressing room plus machine room; and sleeping quarters if it is ever taken over by the township. The structure is being built by Community-donated labor as is the electrical work.

The Union Lake Businessmen's Assn. and Community National Bank representatives are purchasing the property and reimbursing the Union Lake Firemen for the money taken out of their building fund to purchase the lot.

Firemen have $2,100 in their building fund, plus donated materials. The roof and truss is donated by Groves and Shepard, Building contractors of New York City.

Under the direction of former Chief A. N. Carnes and former president Thurman Farlow, the original fire department put down a one dollar bill and purchased a 1926 American La-France pumper from the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, which the San had got as a discard from the Berkley Fire Department.

The local department began a membership drive and training program and by September, 1953, there were 21 active members answering calls day and night.

Now department equipment includes, besides the original pumper, a 1,000 gallon tank truck which the volunteers converted from an oil truck and painted a bright fire-red. The tanker is equipped with a front mount pump and two-way radio. Other equipment of the department is a portable gasoline engine pump and E. and J. resuscitator, remote control siren system, smoke masks, raincoats, boots helmets, hose, fire extinguishers, and the two-way radio loaned out by the West Bloomfield Township Fire Department.

The Volunteers have their own system of operation. Present headquarters in the boiler room of the TB San maintains an engineer on duty always. Calls come in here where the trucks and equipment are kept.

The engineer starts the siren and the first call is placed on the phone call system. The sytem branches out so that each volunteer calls two others.

The Union Lake Fire Department is completely independent. No township or municipal funds go into its operation, although its cost averages some $800 a year. Funds come from private donations, projects sponsored by the firemen themselves and others worked out by the active Ladies Auxiliary.

Firemen get no pay for their volunteer work. In addition to paying its own way, the department has improved its equipment inventory each year in its goal of becoming a better fire-fighting unit.

Persons wishing to aid the present project may mail contributions to the Union Lake Fire Department, 7350 Cooley Lake Rd.

Heating system and a disposal system are in the future plans of the group. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary are keeping the soup kettle boiling and the coffee plentiful while the men are working on the new building.

Racial Rouser Ordered to Trial

Segregationist Indicted for Urging On Rioters in Tennessee

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — Segregationist John Kasper put up a fight last night when he was arrested in nearby Oak Ridge on indictments stemming from mass protests of school integration here four weeks ago.

A crowd of his supporters gathered around the Anderson County Jail here after he was locked up. Auxiliary police, organized during the Labor Day weekend violence here, were called out as a precaution.

The crowd dispersed, however, after Kasper was released in $2,000 bond pending a Criminal Court hearing today on charges of sedition and inciting a riot.

Sheriff Glad Woodward arrested Kasper — with an assist from a pint-sized constable who happened to be on hand — as booing demonstrators heckled speakers at a Democratic campaign rally.

* * *

Kasper said he and the demonstrators had assembled to protest the scheduled appearance of Gov. Frank Clement at the rally. Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) delivered the main speech before the 2,000 persons attending.

Clement, who has been a target of criticism from segregation forces because of the use of National Guard troops in the Labor Day weekend disturbances here, did not appear. He wired that bad weather prevented his appearance.

Constable George Campbell of Oak Ridge, who stands 5 feet 4, said he chased the six-foot Kasper without knowing who he was after seeing him break away from the sheriff.

"I caught him and he turned on me and slugged me with his fist about 15 times before the sheriff interceded," Campbell said. "He knocked my glasses off."

The CAB announced its decisions Aug. 9 in a news release. The actual orders, however, were not issued until Sept. 20.

Petitions for reconsideration may be filed within 30 days.

Hollywood Headlines

Odd Things Just Happen to Briton Valerie French

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The hazards of Hollywood are herein related by Valerie French, our latest bundle from Britain.

* * *

Valerie is an amiable beauty to whom things just seem to happen. Sometimes nice things, such as being discovered by Columbia Pictures.

Her previous experience had been the stage, with only a few forays at films.

* * *

She was tested for the role of Ava Gardner's sister in "Bhowani Junction." Although she lost the role, Columbia saw the test and beckoned. "The next thing I knew I was flying over the North Pole to Hollywood," she said.

"That's when things started happening to her. Like being quartered for five months at the Studio Club, which wasn't her idea of glamorous living.

* * *

"It is an arm of the YWCA," she explained. "The girls would troop down to breakfast in robes, all of us looking perfectly frightful. There was a little blackboard that told us we were allowed 30 points for breakfast. An egg was five points, a half grapefruit five, etc."

She finally escaped to her own place in Laurel Canyon, but found living hazardous there. The basement was flooded by an unknown source. Mountain lions prowled in the distance. A brush fire burned nearby. She turned over in a car. And neighbors reported flying saucers nearby — no kidding.

* * *

Speaking of flying saucers brings us to her film career. Her last two pictures have been science fiction films. And before that she played an American girl in "Jubal." She is a bit confused as to why she was brought here to play such roles.

Valerie likes it here, and says she disappointed the British press by saying so upon her return there earlier this year.

MSU Students to Get Low-Cost Polio Shots

EAST LANSING (AP) — Barbara Jean Rodman of Hermansville, a Michigan State University junior, was awarded a $250 scholarship today by the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Miss Rodman was the first winner of the award, presented on the basis of scholarship, personality and professional promise.

She is president-elect of the Elementary Education Club and has served on the Student Council of the Education College.

Prehistoric Flute

QUITO, Ecuador — The oldest musical instrument in the world is a flute made from a bone of a prehistoric mastodon found in a cave in Ecuador. It is among the 3,000 instruments in the "musical museum" at Quito, which also contains the world's oldest piano, the smallest violin made by Antonio Stradivari, and tubas dating back to the days of Roman Emperor Nero.

Population Rising Fast

NEW YORK—Reports and estimates indicate that world population will increase by 40,000,000 persons this year. Twenty years ago the annual increase was about 25,000,000. The world's population is now growing at the unprecedented rate of 1½ per cent a year, a rate that will double a population in about 55 years. The most rapidly growing area in the world today is Latin America, where rates of more than 3 per cent are found in several countries.

An estimated 53 per cent of all office workers have defective eyesight.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Plenty is being said and written, pro and con, about former heavyweight champion Joe Louis and his tax dilemma with Uncle Sam.

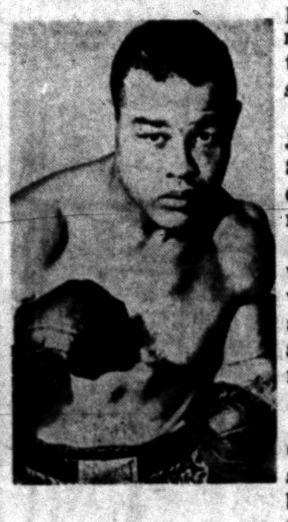

Here is a guy, who in 15 years, had earnings which totaled $4,626,721.69. And today he is a contestant on a giveaway TV show trying to make a chunk of dough to repay some of the nearly million dollars he owes in income taxes.

Actually his means of self-support today is financially very sound, but Louis couldn't possibly make enough from his business enterprises to square his tax debt.

Joe is a partner in a flourishing public relations business. He is president of a milk company and also earns a periodical check as an officer of the IBC.

★ ★ ★

Those who have sympathized with the ex-champ have proposed that the government make some kind of settlement with Louis to square things.

JOE LOUIS

People have even set up Joe Louis tax-fund groups. Some have mailed coins and dollars to him through the mail.

Recent medical report which ordered Louis to quit wrestling because of a damaged heart have added sympathizers to Louis' corner.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Louis made the decision to write to a TV show asking that her husband appear as a contestant. The emcee of the show jumped to the chance of putting Joe on the program, amid protests of those who still ask, "What did Louis do with his money, when he had it?"

It's a logical question. The middle class wage earner today figures he has to pay his taxes for his 80 bucks a week, why shouldn't a guy who made better than $6,000 weekly for 15 years.

Joe Louis is a fine person and has to be admired for his serious attempt to try to pay back Uncle Sam, but look at it realistically.

★ ★ ★

Every year Louis gives the government a fat check, but every year the interest mounts on the balance besides the added tax debt on current earnings.

So how can he possibly ever pay back over $850,000?

LOUIS MADE BAD INVESTMENTS

During his heyday, Louis was known to burn up plenty of greenbacks gambling. It wasn't uncommon for him to throw down a $100 wager on his golf game.

★ ★ ★

He also admits the many unfruitful investments he made in automobile, housing, and food and drink enterprises, none of which ever blossomed financially.

There is also the good side to Joe's spending. He was never known to turn down a gift request to charity, and during his army days his bankroll was available to all of his GI friends.

In either instance the fact remains that Louis should have made his annual peace with Uncle Sam like every other citizen.

He could have taken care of his tax debt for a period of years out of one single fight.

His fight against Bill Conn on June 19, 1946, grossed the second largest purse in history of boxing. The receipts totaled $1,925,564. His share was $591,116.44 for his eight rounds of labor.

Yet he allowed his delinquency in taxes to start mounting at that time.

What is the solution today for the Brown Bomber? It's a sad question, and trying to find an answer is even more sad.

Bucs Help Braves Regain NL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati's Redlegs, staying alive with a six-game winning streak in the National League race, got one last chance to keep their foot in the pennant door today. All they had to do was beat Milwaukee.

* * *

It was no breather either, for the Braves, who slipped back into first place by three percentage points when Pittsburgh jolted Brooklyn back to second 6-5 last night.

In fact, none of the contenders can take another loss and look healthy. But while a victory won't guarantee anything for the Redlegs, they'll be dead without it.

After today, the Redlegs have but two games at Chicago remaining and going into the one-game showdown with Milwaukee they were two games behind the Braves and Dodgers in the loss column.

* * *

Milwaukee, with a 90-60 won-lost record, had a .600 percentage, three points better than the Dodgers who trailed by a half game with an 89-60 record. Cincinnati was at .589 with 89-62.

The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh game, the last road game for the Dodgers who hustle back to Ebbets Field for the opener of a two-game set with Philadelphia tonight, was the only contest scheduled in the NL yesterday.

In the American, Baltimore whacked New York's pennant-winning Yankees 5-4, and Chicago outhammered Detroit 14-11 on a two-game schedule.

Brooklyn held a .001 edge in the pennant chase for awhile last night after mopping up an 8-3 victory that had been placed on the shelf by curfew Sunday with the Brooks at bat in the ninth inning. A 1-2-3 job by righthander Clem Labine made it an official game and nailed Don Newcombe's 26th victory prior to the regular scheduled game but Clem couldn't make it as a starter in the after-piece.

* * *

The Dodgers gave him a 3-0 lead in the first inning against Bob Friend, but the pesky Pirates bounced back with three in the bottom half of the frame.

Frank Thomas did the big damage for the Bucs, driving in three runs with his 24th homer and three singles—one of which drove home the clincher in the eighth after Gil Hodges had poled his 31st home run in Brooklyn's eighth with a man on to tie it 5-5.

* * *

It was Hodges' third home run in two days. He swatted two in Sunday's suspended contest—the only victory Brooklyn grabbed in the four-game series.

Reliefer Roger Craig was the Brooklyn loser while Friend stuck it out for his 17th victory.

* * *

Bill Skowron hit two home runs for a Yankee 3-1 lead, but 18-game - winner Johnny Kucks couldn't hold it. Tito Francona's two-run double in the eighth gave it to the Orioles.

Woodard is getting his boys in shape for Georgia Tech, the powerhouse that's going to Dallas Saturday night to play Southern Methodist University in the Cotton Bowl.

Argentina Out of Rowing Event

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Argentina's rowers were banned today by the International Rowing Federation from all international competition, including the Melbourne Olympics, for violating amateur rules.

The Argentine Amateur Rowing Assn., executive committee, which had reaffirmed the amateur status of its rowers, was blacklisted by the federation in an unusual move.

The federation announcement said there was no doubt many Argentine rowers "have received and accepted very large gifts." The announcement did not specify what "gifts" had been accepted.

There is no appeal against Federation decisions.

The 1947 Giants hit 131 of their record 221 home runs in the Polo grounds.

New Home Run Mark Recorded

Major Leaguers Clout 2,232 Round-Trippers, Breaking 1955 Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another home run record was on the scrap heap today as the major leagues entered a combined total of 2,232, bettering the mark set a year ago at 2,224.

* * *

Only three games were scheduled in the majors yesterday, but they produced 11 home runs—seven of them in a 36-hit brawl between Detroit and Chicago, which helped up the American League's 1956 record to 1,045. The AL's former high was 973, set in 1950.

* * *

The National League has hit 1,187 so far this season, following a record 1,263 in 1955 when the American added 961 for the old two-league high.

* * *

No less than five clubs have improved their own one - season marks Cincinnati, with 220, needs just two more to crack the National and major league high set by the 1947 New York Giants. The New York Yankees already have surpassed their old American League record of 182 set in 1936 and now have 186.

British Heavyweight Loses by TKO in American Debut

NEW YORK (AP) — After two straight British victories in as many weeks at smoky old St. Nicholas Arena, it was highly unlikely that Joey Bygraves could make it three. He didn't.

* * *

The British Empire heavyweight champion, following the custom on the other side of the Atlantic, "retired" at the end of the fifth round of his 10-rounder with aggressive, busy-punching Wayne Bethea of New York.

* * *

Dropped in the fifth round for an eight count, tired and dejected looking, the muscular, 6-foot Briton via Jamaica, said he had "enough" between the fifth and sixth rounds. It went into the books as a fifth round technical knockout.

* * *

Dr. Sam Swetnick asked Joe between rounds if he was tired and wanted the fight stopped.

Bygraves answered, "yes", on both counts.

In his dressing room later, the 25-year-old invader was a bit mixed up. He said first that the relentless pace Bethea set was too much, and then added later:

"I was fouled. He hit me in the kidney and in the neck. He did everything to me. He's a dreadfully dirty fighter."

Jackson, Baker Collide on TV

Both Bidding for Shot at Heavyweight Crown Wednesday Night

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson and Big Bob Baker, bidding for a crack at the heavyweight title, clash tomorrow night in a 12-round nationally televised outdoor bout at Forbes Field.

* * *

The man who comes out on top is almost a sure bet for a shot at the winner of the agreed upon but still unsigned title fight between light-heavyweight champ Archie Moore and young Floyd Patterson. Jackson is ranked No. 3 and Baker No. 4.

* * *

The bout will be carried by ABC-TV and radio, 9 p.m., EST, with the Pittsburgh and the tri-state area blacked out.

Billie Ellamar Wins Feature at Jackson

JACKSON (AP)—Billie Ellamar, driven by Everett Hammell, won the featured Class B pace as the Jackson Raceway opened a 36-day harness meeting last night. Fenella Hal was second and Bronze Chief, third. Bille Ellamar paid $4.20 straight.

An opening night crowd of 3,942 wagered $100,000 on the nine-race program. The daily double of Jerry McKinney and Shakertown paid $27.20.

St. Mary Looks Prepared to Mow Down League Foes

By BILL CORNWELL

Just what are Orchard Lake St. Mary's chances of repeating as Suburban Catholic League football champion?

The almost effortless manner in which the Eaglets rolled over St. Frederick last Saturday night at Wisner Stadium indicates that their chances of winning the title again are excellent.

In fact, a more appropriate question would be "Who's going to stop them?"

Last year the Eaglets of Father John Rakoczy annexed the 1st SCL grid crown in the school's history with a star-studded backfield and an inexperienced line that developed rapidly.

This season the situation is somewhat reversed. Halfback Paul Franckowiak is the only member of the 1955 backfield still around, but Father Rakoczy is well stocked with veteran linemen, a pleasant situation for any coach.

St. Mary's forward wall averages 190 pounds from end to end, led by giant tackle Tom Gardocki. Lanky end Pete Madelans is one of the better flankers in the Oakland County area.

Characteristic of a year ago when the Eaglets went through an eight-game schedule undefeated, great balance is already apparent in the attacking unit.

During their easy 31-0 victory over the Rams, for example, Franckowiak gained 125 yards in 14 attempts for an 8.9 average. Halfback Chet Wajda averaged 3.5 with 32 yards in nine tries and fullback Terry Raymond picked up 40 yards in 13 carries for a 3.3 figure.

Quarterback Larry Charkowski carried the ball only five times, but he made 90 yards for an even 18 average. His efforts included a 46-yard touchdown run.

An effective air arm may also be a threat, although only four passes were attempted against St. Fred. One aerial from Francowiak to Madelans clicked for a 40-yard touchdown.

McPhail on Waiver

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts have placed fullback Buck McPhail on the waiver list, bringing them to within one of the National Football League limit of 34 players.

Tebbetts, Haney Agree; They've Got to Win All

Meet Today in Last 'Hand to Hand' Scrap for Contenders

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fred Haney, manager of the Milwaukee Braves, and Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs are agreed on on point—each team has to win all of its remaining games in order to win the National League pennant.

* * *

But that's a bit difficult to do. They were to play each other here today in the last hand-to-hand game involving pennant contenders.

* * *

Brooklyn's defeat by Pittsburgh last night made the road a bit easier for Milwaukee. The Braves and the Dodgers now are all even in the games lost column while the Reds have two defeats which must be made up if they are to win the pennant.

* * *

"We have to win them all," said Haney as he brought his Braves in here for the game with the Redlegs.

"We have to have help and we can't lose a game," said Tebbetts.

"We're in good shape," said Haney as his boys headed out for movies and a night of relaxation.

On the Cincinnati side the situation was "just fair."

Tigers Drop Slugfest to Chisox

DETROIT (AP) — Ray Boone and Charlie Maxwell provide the silver lining around the dark cloud hovering over the Detroit Tigers' chances of overtaking the fourth-place Boston Red Sox.

Though dropping one of Briggs Stadium's weirdest contests of the year yesterday, 14-11 to the Chicago White Sox, the two Tiger sluggers distinguished themselves in the hitting department.

Boone had five straight safeties, including his 24th and 25th home runs, and Maxwell's grand-slam home run—his second in the Major Leagues—ties the club record for roundtrippers by a lefthanded swinger.

Detroit now trails Boston by two full games.

In what could hardly be described as a pitchers' battle, the two clubs pounded out 36 base hits. Twenty-two of them by the Chisox are the most safeties collected off Tiger pitching since New York rattled off the same number back on July 25, 1953.

Five Detroit pitchers absorbed the punishment, and only lefty Al Aber escaped serious bruising. Aber pitched the final two innings, permitting just one single.

Southpaw Hal Woodeshick was making his second Major League start for the Tigers and in 2 1-3 innings yielded four runs and six hits—including a home run by Chicago catcher Sherm Lollar.

Billy Hoeft, who has failed to last his last two times out, goes today against Sox lefty Jack Harshman. Hoeft needs two wins in his two remaining starts to join Frank Lary in the 20-game winners' circle.

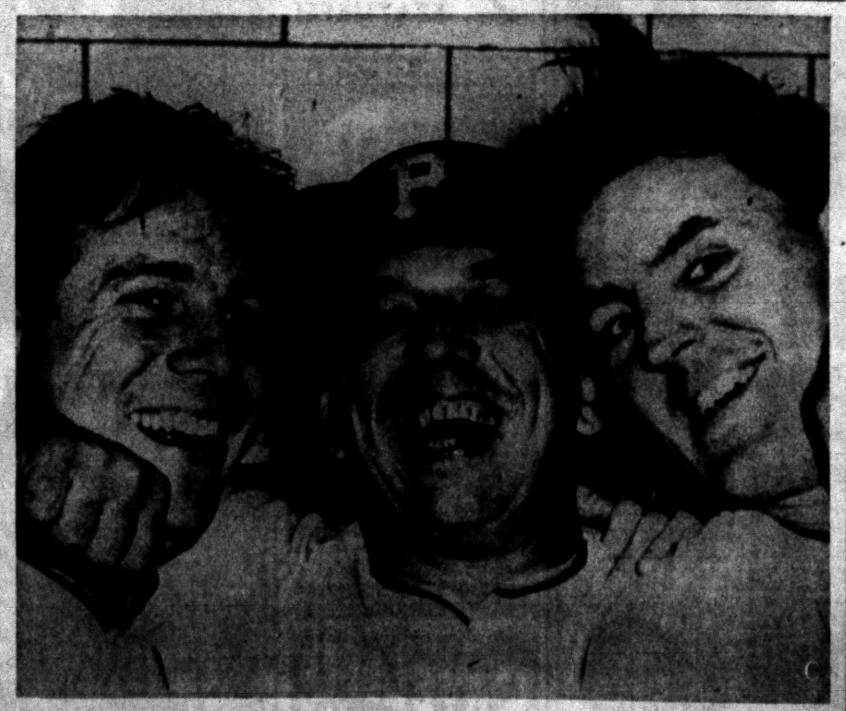

The two clubs wind up their season engagements and the Tigers' home appearances for 1956 tomorrow afternoon. It will be Dick Donovan for the Sox against Paul Foytack of Detroit.

THEY'RE MY BOYS — Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Bobby Bragan gleefully hugs Pitcher Bob Friend (left) and Outfielder Frank Thomas, heroes in last night's 6-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Thomas knocked in the winning run with an 8th inning single and hit his 24th homer in 4th inning. Friend allowed Dodgers 10 hits in knocking them into second place, a half-game behind the Milwaukee Braves.

Works Out With Spartans

Kowalczyk Going to Coast

EAST LANSING (AP) — Injured right halfback Walt Kowalczyk, of last season's Rose Bowl game, will make the trip to California with Michigan State again this week.

Kowalczyk, dubbed "the sprinting blacksmith" by UCLA coach Red Sanders, is a doubtful starter against Stanford on Saturday, however.

Yesterday afternoon for the 1st time since he turned his ankle two weeks ago, the Massachusetts muscle man ran in backfield formations and was hitting the dummies.

"Walt has recovered sufficiently so we think he may get into the game," said coach Duffy Daugherty. "He's been coming along fast, now that he's actually running again. We'd like to have him make a brief appearance, if for no other reason than to get the feel of things."

MSU will have only two more workouts on home grounds—today and Wednesday—before flying west by chartered plane Thursday. All the top players now are being spared from contract work.

Meanwhile, all indications are that there should be some explosive scoring in the 1st quarter of the game at Palo Alto.

Stanford Coach Sees Opportunity to Upset State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Chuck Taylor of Stanford says that if any team beats Michigan State this season, his Indians could do it Saturday at Palo Alto.

* * *

"With passers and receivers like we have, possibly we can counteract their running attack," Taylor told Northern California football writers yesterday.

* * *

"Michigan State has us outmanned in every position except our specialist positions — passers and receivers."

Only Too Happy to Go

Dodgers Leave Pittsburgh

BROOKLYN (AP)—If the Brooklyn Dodgers never see Pittsburgh again it will be too soon.

After losing three out of four to the Pirate "spoilers" the Brooks find themselves back in second place in the National League. They went to Forbes Field with a two-game advantage in the "loss" column and came home all even in losses and one down on the win side in their battle with Milwaukee for the flag.

The Dodgers were burned to a crisp last night by the ball-and-strike calls of plate Umpire Babe Pinelli. Jackie Robinson was particularly hot.

"He called Gil Hodges out when the ball was leaving the pitcher's hand," said Robinson. "And he missed a couple on Dale Long in the eighth."

Thomas, who shared the honors with pitcher Bob Friend, was thrown out of the game shortly after he got that fourth hit. He was cut down going into second by catcher Roy Campanella. When he put up an argument, Umpire Augie Donatelli gave him the heave-ho.

About 4,500,000 fishing rods are produced in the U. S. each season.

'Little Mike' Wins Amateur Gundog Stake

Weekend field trials for the Genessee Sportsman's Club, at the Vernor estate north of Lapeer was a big event for Fred Baucom (Press stereotyper). Baucom's "Little Mike" won the amateur gundog stake for the 3rd time to take permanent possession of the big trophy.

He was also first in membership shooting dog stake, and his puppy, "Tracer Bullet" was 2nd in the derby. C. E. Parker of Flint was 2nd in the gundog event with "Parker's Queen"; Ed Nixon's (Flint) "Brownie" 3rd.

There were 35 dogs in the two-days stake events.

Funston's Birdie Wins

Jim Funston, veteran club champion at Plum Hollow, and Mac McElmurry, Plum Hollow's assistant pro, combined to win the final PGA pro-amateur golf tournament of the season Monday at Edgewood Country Club. They fired 34-31—65, six under par, with Funston providing the winning margin with a birdie three on the 18th hole.

Fame Is Fleeting

Victors Now Underdogs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fame is fleeting dept.:

Syracuse, Southern Methodist and South Carolina, all of which scored major upsets last week, are the underdogs in their games this Saturday.

Syracuse, victor over Maryland, now must play Pitt, the champion-elect of the East. Despite the Panthers' one-point squeaker over West Virginia, they still are the choice to stop the Orange.

SMU, which wrecked Notre Dame, goes up against Georgia Tech, while South Carolina, winner over Duke, tangles with the University of Miami, which, the gossips say, is loaded.

* * *

Georgia Tech, by the way, doesn't figure that the mass attack of virus which struck yesterday, will hurt.

"We're more worried about it spreading than its effect on the boys who have it," said Coach Bobby Dodd.

The Engineers also have revised their opinion of SMU sharply.

* * *

On the subject of Syracuse, it was Jim Brown, you remember, who put the squeeze on Maryland. It was this same Brown who laid Royce Flippin, Princeton's ace back, low for the entire season last year. He whacked Flippin with a block in a pre-season scrimmage.

* * *

Michigan State will win the Big 10 title, according to a vote of a group of writers who made a flying tour of the Big 10 camps.

* * *

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes could be thrown out of the coaches' union for his comment on the coming game with Nebraska: "We never go into a game without figuring we'll win." . . . On the other end of the stick is Bud Wilkinson, pilot of Oklahoma, voted the No. 1 team in the country in the pre-season Associated Press poll: "We are not underestimating North Carolina like the fans are doing. If we win by one point, I'll be very, very delighted."

ND, Terps Drop From Top 10

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The opinions of football prognosticators, like those of ardent alumni, often are influenced sharply by victories and defeats.

Thus the first Associated Press football ranking poll since the regular season began shows a couple of rather remarkable changes in rankings as compared to those taken just before the season.

Two highly rated teams, Notre Dame and Maryland, are missing from the first ten after opening game defeats by Southern Methodist and Syracuse and the two upset winners gained places in the top group. Two others, one a winner and one which hasn't yet played its opening game, dropped into the second division as enthusiasm for a couple of winners was reflected in the ballots of sports writers and broadcasters from all parts of the nation.

The experts, 150 strong, stuck by their original prediction by listing Oklahoma's Sooners as the No. 1 team. Oklahoma doesn't open its season until next Saturday, when it plays North Carolina. Apparently no one is expecting Bud Wilkinson's lads to meet the same fate as Notre Dame and Maryland.

Oklahoma was listed first on 91 of 150 ballots and polled a total of 1,150 points on the usual basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second, etc.

* * *

Georgia Tech, winner over Kentucky, moved ahead of still idle Michigan State into second place. Notre Dame, third in the pre-season rankings, would up down in 14th place with only 142 points after its 19-13 defeat by Southern Methodist. The Mustangs, not even listed among the first 20 in pre-season picks, collected enough votes for fifth place behind Texas Christian, an impressive winner over Kansas.

The next five are Southern California, Syracuse, Ohio State, Mississippi and Pittsburgh.

Southern California shellacked Texas 44-20; Syracuse was the team that handed Maryland a stunning 26-12 setback; Ohio State was idle but Old Miss and Pitt won their games. Texas A&M, winner over Villanova, didn't collect as many points this time as Pitt, which checked West Virginia.

The Aggies dropped from a ninth-place rating to eleventh.

The action should be even livlier this week when Georgia Tech tangles with Southern Methodist and Syracuse meets Pittsburgh in clashes of top-ten teams and Oklahoma, Michigan State and Ohio State get their first tests.

Shooting a best-ball of 63, and tied at that figure with Don Ray and Bob Hannon (Detroit) and Jim Bradford and Bill Fleischauer Sr., Pontiac's Mike Andonian and Ed Wasik last weekend went on to win the anual Davisburg best-ball tourney. They carded a three on the 1st extra hole of the playoff. The Bradford-Fleischauer team took the 2nd spot on the 2nd hole.

There were 30 teams in a fast field that included Joe Stout-Val Bleech of Flint, Frank Jarrard-B. Partain of Birmingham and Jerry Newman-Wally Smith of Royal Oak tied for the spot just below the leaders, with 65s.

Rochester, Toronto 9's Clash in Playoff Final

TORONTO (AP) — The Rochester Red Wings and the Toronto Maple Leafs, who have survived six rugged tests, meet tonight in the deciding game of their best-of-seven International League playoff series with the winner scheduled to take on Indianapolis of the American Assn. in the Little World Series.

Rochester came from behind last night with a five-run outburst in the sixth inning to defeat the Leafs 7-3 and even the series.

Lions Ticket Sales Set Record for NFL

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions today established a new National Football League record with 36,586 season ticket sales.

This tops the record set by the Lions last year when the club sold 36,434 ticket books.

Old record was set after three great seasons for the Lions. Last season they won only three games, dropping nine and finishing in the Western Division basement.

The Lions sold one player yesterday and asked waivers on three rookies, cutting the squad to 36 — just one over the limit they must be down to by next Sunday's opener at Green Bay.

Nashville Turns In Upset, Beats Ruler

NEW YORK (AP) — Nashville, the 2-year-old colt who was supposed to be in the racing stable of Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, was back to haunt the veteran trainer today.

The handsome bay son of Nasrullah-Bonnie Beryl, now owned by the Llangollen Farm of Mrs. M. E. Lunn of Uppperville, Va., became a colt to reckon with in the juvenile championship division yesterday when he soundly trounced the previously unbeaten Bold Ruler at Belmont Park.

Rated Ideal Leader

Maentz Due for Stardom

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Early Saturday afternoon a towering young man wearing maize and blue football togs will be escorted by two officials to the center of Michigan Stadium.

Thus, Capt. Tom Maentz of Holland, Mich., will perform his first official chore as field leader of the 1956 Wolverine football team.

The lanky right end makes an ideal captain for the Wolverines, his coaches say.

"He's even-tempered, intelligent and a whale of a football player," said one.

Playing on the opposite end from Ron Kramer, Maentz has managed from a steady performance to escape the cloak of obscurity normally destined for one in such a position.

In fact, several pre-season forecasters predict greater stardom for Maentz this year than for his opposite number. But Maentz believes the action on the field and the totals on the scoreboard are the only matters that are important.

"Pre-season estimates don't mean much," he said in his quiet manner. Maentz, who stands 6-2 and weighs 210 pounds, has another strong belief—that his classroom work is vital.

MONDAY'S STARS

PITCHING—Bob Friend, Pittsburgh Pirates survived a three-run burst in the first inning for a two-walk, five-strikeout 17th victory in a 6-5 decision that slid Dodgers out of National League lead.

HITTING — Frank Thomas, Pirates, drove in three runs with three singles and his 24th home run in five at bats, bringing home the clincher with an eight-inning single that beat Dodgers.

Red Wings Are Confident of Regaining NHL Title

DETROIT (AP) — Minor personnel changes in the Detroit Red Wings of 1956-57 are hardly noticeable.

And the defending National Hockey League champions, the Montreal Canadiens, will be the same bruising crew that upended the Wings ast year for the title.

How, then, do the Wings expect to reclaim the championship they owned for so long? One difference is that this year's squad is on the outside looking in for the 1st time in eight seasons.

Red Wings who skated to seven consecutive NHL crowns prior to the 1955-56 season are convinced they will be back on top in the season that lies just around the corner.

"We know what we have to do and I'm sure we're ready to go out and do it," said newly-named Capt. Red Kelly. "Last season Montreal couldn't do anything wrong and we couldnt do anything right. We were always trying to catch up after our bad start, and we could never get rid of that pressure."

The Wings lost their first three games last season and had four ties in their 1st 12 contests.

Other Wing veterans agree with Kelly. Said Marty Pavelich:

"We have some younger players now who will give us some depth in the stretch. Some young legs will help a lot in the tail end of the season."

The club returns to Detroit tonight from Sault Ste. Marie where it has been in training for several weeks.

Coast Guard Drops Search for Gastall

BALTIMORE (AP) — The formal search for Baltimore Orioles' catcher Tom Gastall, who radioed last Thursday that his private plane was in trouble and "heading for the water," has been called off.

Fifth District Coast Guard Headquarters in Norfolk, Va., last night ordered all air and surface units to suspend the hunt for the Oriole bonus player and his light plane. Local Coast Guard units were told, however, to keep an alert lookout for clues during their regular patrols.

Another dawn - to - dusk search yesterday failed to turn up any additional clues.

Old Pro Warns Davis Cuppers

Budge Says Italians May Prove Difficult Foes This Weekend

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Davis Cup team got a grim warning today from professional Don Budge — the Yanks had better be sharp this week-end or the Italians will cancel their trip to Australia.

"This match is not in the bag for us by any means," said the tall redhead, who dominated the world tennis picture back in the middle 1930s. "The Italians look very good. If one of them gets hot, they could win."

Food Poisoning Won't Handicap Engineer Squad

ATLANTA (AP) — Eleven Georgia Tech football players suffering with food poisoning are expected to be available for duty against Southern Methodist at Dallas Saturday night.

Dr. Lamont Henry, team physician, said last night the players apparently were made ill by fruit juice they drank while returning to Atlanta from Lexington, Ky., Saturday night. They began to complain of feeling ill Sunday.

Eight were hospitalized at the school infirmary. Three others were restricted to their rooms.

Jet Crashlands on Danish Strip

Polish Fighter Plane Is Forced Down on Unfinished Field

ROENNE, Denmark (AP)—A man identifying himself as a Polish air force lieutenant crashlanded a jet fighter plane on an uncompleted airstrip here today and asked for political asylum.

* * *

Air force officers on this Danish island of Bornholm in the Baltic said his plane was a revised version of the Russian MIG15 featuring a much taller rudder than any seen on a MIG fighter known outside the Iron Curtain. They withheld comment on its probable performance.

A big canvas was thrown over the plane and army and air force troops guarded the area. The pilot was taken into custody for questioning.

* * *

One of the plane's wing tips was damaged slightly in the landing.

Before police arrived, the pilot displayed a map of the small military airport 60 miles north of the Polish coast. He expressed surprise that the runway construction had not been completed and mildly scolded airport workers for not moving planes parked on the strip while he circled the field.

The map appeared to be an official print issued to members of the Polish air force in the Baltic region. It showed new runways which have been planned but not yet built.

* * *

The pilot apparently failed to get his landing wheels down but escaped unhurt. He spoke fluent German.

Bornholm was the landing site picked by two Polish fliers who fled the Iron Curtain in 1953 in Russian MIG15s. Last July four young Polish air cadets landed in Austria after flying two stolen planes more than 400 miles from behind the Iron Curtain.

Rescue Boy, 3, Trapped in Well; Root Saves Him

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A 3-year-old boy trapped nine feet underground in a 12-inch well casing was saved last night in a dramatic rescue witnessed by thousands.

* * *

Working in sweaty relays, firemen and volunteers tore at the sandy soil around the abandoned pipe for two hours while tiny Tommy Hartnett whimpered and sobbed in his cramped and rusty prison.

The boy fell into the pipe, once used for irrigation, while playing in a vacant lot. Other children saw him disappear and notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Hertnett.

Darkness was falling as the rescue operation began and the floodlights used to illuminate the scene attracted a throng estimated at more than 2,000.

* * *

An earth-shaking cheer wnt up as the rescuers succeeded in clearing away enough dirt to cut off a six-foot section of the pipe, and Dep. Fire Chief C. P. Linnell reached down and pulled the boy out.

A root growing through the casing had kept him from falling deeper into the pipe, which extended for 150 feet, rescuers said. Tommy was unhurt.

Ike Denies 'Lazy Worker' Incident

Dems Gleefully Rekindle Political Fire Over Small Farmer in White House

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Democrats rushed today to rekindle the political fire over the small farmer which blazed briefly at the White House yesterday.

* * *

The flare-up came when George Spence of Tennessee —one of 23 GOP Congressional candidate who visited President Eisenhower for a hand-shaking picture — told newsmen he discussed the farm problem with the Chief Executive.

The Tennessean quoted himself as saying, in effect, that the farmers in his district have learned that they have to sit sitting around and must work "like everybody else" if they want to make a living.

The actual quote was: "I told the President small farmers in my area are finally realizing that if they are going to make a living they will have to get off their butts like everybody else and go to work. He said he agreed."

Th White House promptly denied that Eisenhower even heard the remark and declared it does not in any way, shape or manner reflect the President's thinking."

Spence, himself, some hours later, declared the report of the instrued." He said it was his father —not himself—who made the remark about the small farmer. He also insisted that the President was agreeing only with the Chief Executive's own statement that Republicans are helping the farmer.

But Democrats on Capitol Hill jumped into the situation gleefully.

Sen. James Murray (D-Mont) said of Spence: "He was speaking hot off the gridde, He just came from the President's office. He didn't have time to form any story. He just told what happened. It's very easy to make a denial . . ."

Murray contended in an interview that the "natural conclusion" from the episode "is that Eisenhower feels small farmers are a lazy outfit."

Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla) called the Tennessean's statement "typical of the concern the Republicans feel for small farmers."

* * *

The Florida senator continued: "I'm sure that very few farmers would agree with the suggestion that they are not working hard for a living. I don't know of any group that works harder."

The vigorous White House denial that the President either heard, or agreed to, the remark came from News Secretary James C. Hagerty —who looked as if he would like to take a pitchfork to Spence.

Police Holding Three in Gangland Murder

DETROIT (INS) — Police were holding three suspects today in the gangland style murder of a 46-year-old Detroit bar manager.

Two newspaper boys found Robert A. Dubois with a bullet in his head last night. His money and an expensive wristwatch were untouched.

In custody were Clyde Royster, 34, an alleged numbers operator who owed Dubois a large amount of money, and Lamont Clark, 47, and his wife, Pat, 23.

Police said Mrs. Clark was "keeping company with Dubois and was picked up in his apartment."

Man Gets Money Despite Shaving Spree in Court

DETROIT (AP)—Demetrios Koutsimbas could just as well have passed up his demonstration of shaving a four-day beard with warm water in his attempt to collect $1,300 in unemployment compensation.

* * *

Referee Albert W. Haynes of the Michigan Employment Security commission ruled yesterday Koutsimbas was entitled to the money, but said:

* * *

"The shaving and lack of presence of lather is not the primary point in this case. However, this infraction of the rules, if committed, is not sufficient to deny a man compensation."

The 36-year-old factory worker was fined May 15 by Burroughs Corp. The firm disputed his claim for unemployment compensation, contending Koutsimbas had been fired for shaving on company time. It produced a foreman who swore he saw Koutsimbas with lather on his face.

That's what brought on Koutsimbas shaving demonstration Sept. 10. He said he never used soap or cream, only warm water, and proceeded to knock off a four-day beard with razor and water.

* * *

Koutsimbas and Tom Doherty of the United Auto Workers Union claimed Koutsimbas had been fired for organizing activities in behalf of the UAW in Burroughs plants. Burroughs employes are not represented by a union.

Haynes upheld Koutsimbas' claim, as the father of four, to $54 a week in unemployment compensation for 26 weeks.

What Determines Gasoline Prices?

MANY PEOPLE may not realize the number of items involved in the price of gasoline.

The dealer, of course, knows that quality for quality he must meet competition to attract and hold business. At the same time, he must operate profitably to keep himself in business. To do so, he is entitled to a fair and reasonable mark-up. With this he supports himself and his family, pays his taxes and his help, pays for the many services he offers his customers. He makes provision for all of these items in the few cents competition allows.

His efficiency, and ours, might be judged by the fact that a typical price of STANDARD RED CROWN Gasoline in Detroit or Pontiac is 23 4/10 cents a gallon excluding direct taxes. That's right! Only 23 4/10 cents! Direct state and federal taxes on gasoline total 9 8/10 cents—equal to more than 40 per cent of the price of the gasoline alone—bringing the price to you to a total of 33 2/10 cents..

Out of our portion of the 23 4/10 cents you actually pay for the gasoline itself, we find crude oil, transport it, refine it and then deliver the gasoline to your independent Standard Dealer. And money received from the sales of products enables us to pay the wages and salaries of our more than 51,000 employees, pay reasonable dividends to stockholders, and finance constant improvement in the quality of our products. For example, gasoline octane increases of the past two years added about 22 million dollars per year to our continuing operating costs. General wage increases of slightly over 4 per cent and 6 per cent in 1955 and 1956 increased our costs about 28 million dollars annually. This total of about 50 million dollars over 1954 is a continuing annual cost.

Yet by almost any yardstick you apply, whatever necessity you compare it with, gasoline is one of your best bargains today. That goes for quality, it goes for service, and it goes for price.

Study Insurance Plan for All Doctor Bills

DETROIT (AP) — A plan to extend prepaid medical service to doctors' care outside of hospitals is being studied by the Michigan State Medical Society.

The group, meeting in Detroit, announced last night a study committee will cooperate with Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield) on the subject.

The 11-month study, proposed in a resolution, will "explore the possibility of a comprehensive prepaid deductible and-or co-insurance contract XXX."

Dr. J. E. Livesay of Flint, directed to appoint the study group, said:

"The plan would include the diagnostic procedures which are not included under present contracts, such as X-rays and laboratory work."

'What a Horrible Thought!'

Prison Inmates Protest Automatic Stool Pigeon

JACKSON (AP) — An electronic prison "guard" got a thumbs down vote from Southern Michigan Prison inmates who term it "a horrible thought."

* * *

The inmate newspaper, "The Spectator," happily reported that cost of the device "is still prohibitive—fortunately."

Television sales engineers recently demonstrated the system to prison officials. It is a closed television circuit that permits guards through a pushbutton arrangement to view activities in different parts of the prison.

Speculating on prison life with such a spy, "The spectator" said: BREAK IT UP

"Imagine a telephone ringing in the shop with this conversation from the deputy warden to the shop officer: 'Tell those men at the far end of the shop to break up that crap game and get back to work.'"

Or, over the public address system in the prison yard: "Pick up that man in the northwest corner who just handed a parcel to 99999!"

Or: "Officer Doe, stop that man coming out of the kitchen with the bundle under his coat."

* * *

The paper commented: "It's like a convict's nightmare, even to think about it."

A similar system now is in effective operation at Alcatraz Federal Prison where hardened offenders call it the "automatic stool pigeon."

A Southern Michigan Prison inmate observed. "Custodial officers have most of the edge now and we can hardly get away with anything. It would be just too much of a handicap if they had this 'snoop' system."

Toddler Bitten by Family Pup Still in Danger

DES MOINES (AP) — The next few weeks will be critical ones for Lorena Robertson, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Robertson of Des Moines who was bitten Aug. 28 by the family puppy.

Lorena's special problem is that an allergy to full-strength anti-rabies shots have made it necessary to give her partial strength injections at two or three day intervals.

"A full dose given daily would kill Lorena just as surely as rabies would," Dr. Rachel Woods, the pediatrician who is attending her, said yesterday.

Dr. Woods said Lorena will receive shots for about another two weeks until the full treatment has been completed. Even then, Dr. Woods said, it will be another three months before it can be ascertained whether the child is out of danger.

After biting the little girl, the dog died on Sept. 8 and its body was destroyed without laboratory tests being made to determine if it was rabid.

When it was learned the test on the dog could not be made, a full schedule of 21 anti-rabies shots on 21 consecutive days was prescribed for Lorena. But when the seventh shot was given, Dr. Woods said, the girl showed a violent reaction. Modified shots at longer intervals then were prescribed.

THIS IS WHERE TOMORROW STARTS

A new "inner car" gives you a NEW KIND of FORD for 1957!

Coming October 3rd

On Wednesday, October 3rd, Ford Dealers throughout the United States will unveil a new kind of automobile!

Cars are involved in every American's life. News of a new kind of car is the biggest kind of news to millions of Americans.

The Big New Kind of Ford is that kind of news . . . a car totally new in design from crest to trunk lock.

This completely new automotive package will sell at the traditionally low Ford prices.

This makes possible a new high standard of such honest-to-goodness value that it actually increases the purchasing power of your automobile dollar.

When you see it, other cars will look out of date, because . . .

This is Where Tomorrow Starts . . . with a Big New Kind of Ford!

The New Kind of Ford is the fullest, most eloquent expression of Ford's special personality—the youthful grace, the whiplash action—and the reputation for durability known wherever there's a road.

To all this we have added true elegance—a kind of elegance never before seen in the low-price field.

Elegance is more than skin-deep. Modern design goes far deeper than chrome trim.

To make a car truly elegant you have to start deep-down inside.

The New Inner Ford

The Inner Ford—the car you cannot see—is a very remarkable structure. Its frame is actually a cradle. Side members extend almost the full body width.

The driveshaft has been lowered to connect with the differential, virtually at its lowest point. This is one of several factors that makes practical the lowering of over-all height by as much as 4 inches.

The side rails, extended almost to the full body width, serve not only as supporting members but as concealed side bumpers of immense strength.

The New Ford Body

The new Ford body is a triumph of engineering in steel—steel cushioned for luxury, steel insulated against sound, steel joined to steel for tremendous strength, steel designed to give you greater safety.

Doors, roof, floor and body panels are insulated for "sound conditioning" throughout the car.

The doors close with the solid finality of a bank vault. Even the door-lock button has been moved up front—easier for you to reach, but out of the children's reach.

The new body is mounted on twenty live-rubber mounts to keep your ride silent, solid and secure.

All these features were engineered to give you a solid new kind of comfort.

The New Ford Ride

The way a car rides is more than the way it moves—it starts with the way it sits.

The New Kind of Ford sits six people as no other low-priced car has ever sat them—six elbows wide in each seat, with deep space around each one of six knees. And above all that space, there's hat room to spare for all six passengers.

With that sitting basis, the engineers then designed the new rock-solid velvet-road ride.

The 1957 Ford rides low, solid, with a firm, deep road-holding feel. Yet it's a light-hearted, flight-hearted ride—this car is responsive, nimble, agile, with a proud easy movement through traffic and away to the head of the turnpike.

The New Ford Choice

Ford offers not only one, but two sizes of cars . . . each on its own extended wheelbase . . . each with its own body shell . . . each with its own styling.

First, the two Fairlane Series on a 118-inch wheelbase. The Fairlane 500's come in 5 body types, a four-door sedan, a two-door sedan, a two- and four-door Victoria with no center pillars, and a convertible coupe. The same body types (except for the convertible) are available in the Fairlane Series.

Both Fairlane Series introduce an innovation through the use of special window ornamentation and narrow center pillars. Both four-door and two-door sedans have true hardtop styling.

Second, two Custom Series mounted on the 116-inch wheelbase chassis. In the Custom 300 Series, a four-door and a two-door sedan are distinguished from the Custom models by more luxurious interiors and elaborate trim. The Custom Series also includes a Business Sedan.

The Custom 300 and Custom models are lower, heavier, and livelier than any cars selling in Ford's price range today.

Beyond all these, you also have your choice of five Station Wagons—the famous glamour cruisers that are the champions in this field!

The New Ford Look

That low, low cradle-span frame means a low, low car. The Fairlane 500 is only four feet eight inches from road to roof! The Custom is just over four feet nine inches!

The New Ford is not only low—but long. Ford gives you more than 17 feet of elegant length in the Fairlane Series, a shade less in the Custom. And all that length and lowness is shaped in a design that is wonderfully, radically new in American automobiles!

Its personality is glittering, sophisticated. It's a nice kind of fun just to look at it.

It's high-priced in every way except price.

The New Ford Performance

If you're a bug on horsepower and like it big, the new Silver Anniversary V-8's are for you. You can have up to 245 wonderful Thunderbird horsepower in any Ford model. There's a moderate—and really moderate—extra charge for this engine of 312 cubic inches with its 4-barrel carburetor. It's the honey of them all.

For "Six" lovers, we've got a beauty, too—the 144-hp Mileage Maker Six. It costs less because it costs less to make. But it's the same quality. The only difference is that it costs less to buy, less to run and hasn't quite the zoom of the V-8 engines. Six or V-8, the going is great!

Here is where your own tomorrow starts

It starts at the nearest Ford Dealer's showroom!

The cars will be there on Wednesday, October 3.

They will be standing still on the floor—but they will seem to be moving, for they have a quicksilver kind of beauty that just doesn't stand still.

Every line has a "machined rightness" to it, the sharp clear-cut stamp of beauty wrapped around power.

These are the best Fords of our lives.

They are the first symbols out of Detroit of a new automotive age that is beginning for you.

1957 came early this year.

This is where tomorrow starts—at your Ford Dealer's.

This is when your tomorrow starts—October 3rd.

Come in and see us for the Big New Kind of Ford!

Vital Suez Canal Follows Old Bed Laid by Ancients

WASHINGTON — The 100-mile-long Suez Canal splits a sun-baked land route that was old in the time of Moses.

The two largest continents, Africa and Asia, face each other across the low-lying Isthmus of Suez. Only 72 miles wide, the neck of restless sand marks the ancient path of caravans from the Nile to the Euphrates Valleys, and from many-godded Luxor to Nazareth, the National Geographic Society says.

Via the land bridge, young Joseph was carried as a slave into Egypt, a land that he was later to save from famine. At the dawn of Christian history, another Joseph fled from Galilee with Mary and the Christ Child over the same narrow expanse of dessert.

West of the isthmus lay the Biblical land of Goshen where the Israelites, slaving for Pharaoh, built the treasure cities of Pithom and Raamses. To the east stretched the Wilderness of Shur and Sinai. The tongue of the Red Sea extended farther north then, and a miraculous wind parted its waters to make possible one of man's most dramatic escapes to freedom.

"And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon the dry ground," it is recorded in exodus, "and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left."

PRESENT TOWNS

Even today it is possible to retrace the supposed route of the Israelites. Led by Moses, they trekked through the scarred barren wastes of Sinai to Gebel Musa (Mount Sinai) where, in Old Testment tradition, the great prophet received the Ten Commandments.

* * *

Among the major present-day towns of the Isthmus—Port Said on the Mediterranean; the garden city of Isma'iliya; and the Red Sea ports, Suez and Taufiq — only one existed before the Suez Canal was built less than a century ago. The old settlement was Suez itself, an Arab town rising on salt-encrusted land. Nearby are ruins of an old canal lock.

* * *

Long before the advent of steamships, Egyptian canal builders dug a sand ditch into the isthmus to connect the Nile with the Red Sea. For 22 centuries various generations were either rebuilding the ancient canal, trading upon it, letting it fall into disrepair, or deliberately destroying it to discourage invaders.

* * *

Today's Sweet Water Canal follows another ancient bed, originally built to irrigate Goshen and dating from Tutankhamun's reign.

Sluggish Stocks Show Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—A slow and hesitant stock market dipped early this afternoon.

* * *

The leaders were off from fractions to around 2 points or so. Some gains of about a point were converted into losses of the same amount.

The market was still depressed and sluggish, brokers said, by the continuing uncertainties over the Suez Canal, tight money and domestic politics.

* * *

A further element of restraint was introduced by the rise of the U.S. Treasury's short-term borrowing costs to another 23-year high.

The market was narrowly mixed at the opening, showed a slight upward tendency as steels, motors, aircrafts and oils drew interest, then fell off gently.

Kaiser Aluminum was down around 2 as reports of the industry's eight-month production of primary aluminum showed a sharp reduction from last year because of August strikes.

Motor issues eased fractionally.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 10 cents to $178.30, with the industrials down 10 cents, the rails up 50 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Chevy to Offer Fuel Injection

DETROIT (AP) — A mchanically operated fuel injection system will be introduced by Chevrolet as optional extra-cost equipment in 1957 models. Cost has not been disclosed.

Fuel injection systems replace carburetors. They have been tried out on European cars and it is said they provide marked fuel economy. In the fuel injection system, a mixture of gasoline and air is injected directly into the combustion chambers through a pump that forces the fuel through very closely designed nozzles.

The system equalizes the amount of fuel mixture introduced into into each combustion chamber. It eliminates possibility of carburetor icing, vapor lock and discharge of unburned hydrocarbons through the exhaust system.

Heretofore a major obstacle to their introduction in gasoline internal combustion engines has been the high cost of production.

They have been usd on most cars in the Indianapolis Speedway 500-mile race.

New Transformer to Up Electric Power in County

A new Detroit Edison Co. transformer and switching station, now under construction in Royal Oak, will provide increased electric power for a 35-square mile area in Southeastern Oakland County.

* * *

The new station, located at Coolidge and 14½ Mile roads, is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1957, according to Howard L. Canfield, manager of Edison Oakland district.

It will feed substations serving Birmingham and parts of Royal Oak, Troy, Bloomfield and Southfield Townships.

Canfield said the project, which was prompted by the rapidly increasing use of electricity in the area, will also include the construction of new 40,000-volt distribution lines and the rerouting of several supply lines.

* * *

Substations in the area now receive electric power from Pontiac's Bloomfield station and Lincoln station in Royal Oak.

Canfield pointed out that the shifting of the electrical load from the present sources to the new station will make more electric power available for use in other Oakland County communities.

Harlow's Brother Okays Union

LeRoy Curtice Retires From Fisher Body Job

LANSING (AP)—LeRoy J. Curtice, 68, soon will draw a first pension check under an agreement negotiated by his brother and the United Auto Workers union.

* * *

LeRoy retired Aug. 31 from the inspection department in the paint shop at the Fisher Body plant. His younger brother is Harlow H. Curtice, 63, president of General Motors Corp.

Always an hourly employe, the elder Curtice put in over 28 years at Fisher Body. He is quietly proud of his union, which spoke up for him at the bargaining table where Harlow spoke for stockholders.

"I've belonged for all except the first two or three years," he said. "I think the union has done very well for the employe. They have done a lot of good," he added. "Maybe they have done some harm. I would say they have done more good."

SIZE OF CHECK

LeRoy said one thing that bothers him is the size of the pension check he is in line for. He said the $2.25 monthly payments for each year of seniority are not large enough.

He said he "imagines" the next agreement will raise the pension level, but added "I'm no authority." LeRoy never has held union office.

* * *

Another improvement he would like to see is provision that if a retired worker dies his widow would continue to receive pension benefits.

"They should pay the wife as long as she lives," he said.

As soon as he knocked off work for good, LeRoy got busy painting the pleasant but modest house where he raised three children. Every day the weather permits now finds him painting for himself.

"When I thought of buying it, I didn't have the money," he said.

Asked if he would like to switch places with his younger brother, LeRoy replied:

"I wouldn't want his job. I wouldn't mind the salary. Too many headaches. On that job your brain works 24 hours a day, even in your sleep."

* * *

However, LeRoy, who with Harlow was born and grew up on a farm near Petrieville, Northeast of Eaton Rapids, said if he had it all to do over again he "would try for a little more education."

Chrysler Builds Small Device to Test Brakes

DETROIT (INS) — Chrysler reported today its engineers are using a miniature automotive test track the size of an office desk to find better ways to put friction to work through improved brake linings.

* * *

The desk-size instrument, using only a half-square inch of material, runs tests in minutes that equal thousands of miles of driving. They duplicate the high-temperature conditions existing during repeated high-speed stops and on rugged chuck-hole test track maneuvers.

Chrysler said the track is the result of three years of design and development.

The new instrument has a rotating disk of cast iron, glass or ceramic that spins at a speed of from a few feet a minute to more than 1,600 feet a minute.

The material being tested is pressed against the wheel with loads from a few ounces to 500 pounds, reaching temperatures as high as 900 degrees fahrenheit.

Drake Claimed Frisco in 1579

Sir Francis Was the First Britisher to Land in California

WASHINGTON — A stocky seaman, religious in thought and ruthless in command, set out from England 379 years ago on a voyage that was to make him the first Englishman to land in California.

* * *

He was Francis Drake, then about 32 years old, with ruddy beard and blue eyes. Already the terror of Spanish shipping in the Caribbean, Drake was on his way to harry the treasure ships of the Pacific and to look for new land to colonize, the National Geographic Society says.

Thought to have been the son of a minister, Drake was the kind of man who could—and did—lead his sailors in prayer for an hour before ordering the beheading of his best friend for treachery.

He could lift the severed head and shake it in the faces of his crew, turning from that to the reading of Psalms.

* * *

Yet he refused to allow the killing of any Spaniard or Indian except in direct self-defense, and he treated captured Spanish dons with the politeness befitting their positions.

EXACT SPOT FOUND

Two of his chief purposes were accomplished when he sailed into Drake's Bay, near San Francisco, in 1579. The exact spot at which he landed, long in controversy, was recently pinpointed by a group of historians.

* * *

His ship, the Golden Hinde, by then held at least $10,000,000 worth of silver and gold. He beached her to clean and caulk her bottom.

On a beach he erected a sturdy post, and nailed to it a brass plate, the inscription declaring: "By the grace of God and in the name of Herr Majesty . . . I take possession of this kingdom whose king and people freely resigne their right and title . . ."

In the plaque he placed a silver sixpence, showing the Indians the profile of their new queen, Elizabeth I. This plaque was recovered in 1936, and proved authentic by exhaustive tests.

After repairing his ship, Drake set off across the Pacific, threaded its islands, sailed the Indian Ocea, rounded the Cape of Good Hope and returned home with treasure, new charts and a claim on California. His queen shared the profits and knighted him.

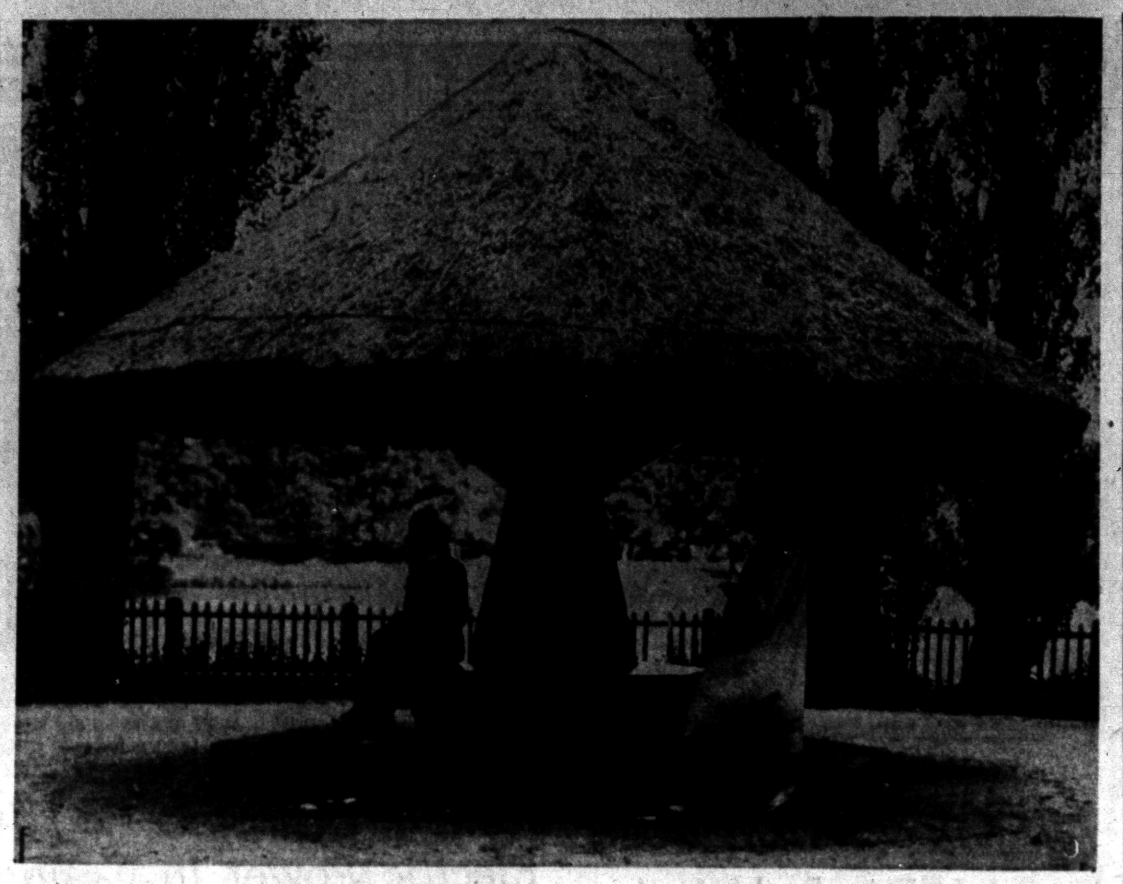

Drake died in 1596 while again at sea, raiding Spanish treasure ports and galleons in the Caribbean. His body, in a lead coffin, was dropped somewhere off the harbor of Portobelo in Panama.

Stays on Winning Team

MEMPHIS (AP)—Towering Forest Arnold, Memphis State's star basketball center, ignored a better than $12,000 professional offer from the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Assn. He's sticking to his first love — the ministery. He was appointed youth director at the First Assembly of God Church last June.

Wife Good Pupil

SEATTLE (AP) — John Brooks is a good prospect for the "Don't ever try to teach your wife to drive." club. The 50-year-old Seattle man was giving his wife her first lesson behind the wheel Friday evening. He told her to turn right. She did. The only trouble was that there was a utility pole there. Brooks was treated at a hospital for a bumped head.

MAGIC MUSHROOM — Looking like an illustration from a child's storybook, this unique "Mushroom" bench provides protection from rain and sun for sightseers wanting to ward off tourist fatigue. The straw-hatted bench is a favorite meeting-place for strollers in the British sector park in Berlin.

Many 1-Car Accidents

SEATTLE (AP)—One-car accidents are becoming an increasing traffic headache to the Washington State Patrol. Lt. Royce Welsch, head of the Seattle District, says 41 per cent of fatal accidents this year have been of the one-vehicle type.

Lake of the Woods on the border between Minnesota and Canada has an area of more than 36,000 square miles, with a shoreline of about 300 miles and several thousands of islands.

Incentive to Health!

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Recently an Austin man, seemingly in considerable pain, exhibited in a local court how he had to wear a heavy brace for a claimed back injury. A few days later, having lost his suit for damages, the man sold the brace to a second hand store for $3.

Cork trees live 300 to 400 years and may be stripped every 10 years. The best commercial varieties of cork are obtained when the tree has reached the 40 to 50 year old stage.

Roundup by Air

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — Riders in the sky rounded up a ghost herd of cattle near here after ground posse roamed the hills for days without success. The herd's whereabouts were a mystery for almost a week. A helicopter crew finally spotted the cattle, grazing on a river bank.

TV Westerner Dislikes Rodeos

Skittish, Clumsy Nags Create Problems for Cowboy Star

By JOAN HANAUER

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—One trouble with being a cowboy star is you've got horses to handle.

* * *

That's a problem that Clint Walker, star of ABC-TV's "Cheyenne" series on alternate Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m., has had to cope with lately, particularly when visiting rodeos as guest star.

"They gave me this horse," the 6-foot-5½ actor said, telling of his experiences at California's biggest rodeo. "I'm sitting on him in the middle of the arena when a clown comes up to him and he started to shy.

"Then I lifted my arm to wave my hat and that horse got real skittish. Fellow who gave him to me to ride came up to me afterwards and said he guessed he ought to have told me, but the first time he raised his hand while on that horse the horse dumped him over a fence.

* * *

"If that had been the comic, I'd have hit him. What can you do as a rodeo guest star except wave your hat around?"

RODEO PROBLEMS

Walker doesn't mind a few charity rodeo appearances, but said:

"Those rodeos are hard on you, and very often the horse they lend you will give you a hard time. One time I stepped off to give some people a plaque and the horse started standing on my foot.

* * *

"Twurn't nothin' atall,' I said and smiled while my toes throbbed. I acted just like a hero in a Western but my toes were all blue later."

Walker, who has worked as a real-life cowpuncher as well as holding such jobs as private detective, nightclub bouncer, deputy sheriff and prosecutor, hasn't made a movie yet, despite his TV success.

"I want to be in one," he drawled. "I'm getting tired of these TV things. I want to do something and do it right. One of these things is a whole lot like another and you can't get the realism you want. But I won't have time until the end of the series, probably in April.

* * *

"And then I want to get me a truck and take a vacation for a few weeks. Last year they had me make a cross-country tour and I'll never do that again. I met lots of nice people, but a thing like that can give you a nervous breakdown. Never again.

SHORT VACATION

"Then I was supposed to have two weeks' vacation, but they got me back after one. This year I think I'll go off for two weeks, and stay three. Tell them "Sorry, my durn compass was busted'."

* * *

Walker's got still another project.

"I don't know if it'll interest you," he said hesitantly, "but I'm trying my hand at writing some of these television scripts for the show.

* * *

"After reading some of the things they've had me doing I figured if they don't want no more than that, I can do it. I've got one about finished."

HORSE TROUBLE — Playing a gun-slinging Westerner, Clint Walker has to cope with all sorts of horses, and some of them aren't friendly. Clint, who stars in "Cheyenne" on ABC-TV, finds visits to rodeos especially trying.

Ordeal With Income Tax Inspires Keeping of Diary

NEW YORK (AP)—An interesting thing happened to my wife last week.

* * *

"Uncle Sam has asked me and a friend of mine to come in tomorrow and explain our 1952 and 1953 income tax returns," she said.

"That so?" I asked. "Who's the friend?"

NO ONE BUT YOU

"You," said Frances sweetly.

"You'll have to go by yourself," I told her. "I'm awfully busy tomorrow. Couldn't possibly go."

* * *

"Maybe you'd rather go to Alcatraz," said Frances. I suddenly decided I could make it after all.

* * *

Hundreds of thousands of Americans are being called in now to defend their back income tax returns. Word has been spread around that the experience is no worse than a bad cold, and that you aren't really a social success until it happens to you.

Since you might be next, maybe you'd like a little rundown on what to expect.

* * *

Warned by the direful tales of friends who had survived the tax man's inquisition, we spent a sleepless night going through desk and dresser drawers looking for old financial records. We found my grade school diploma class of 1924, our marriage diploma class of 1937, a picture of me in my first long pants, and a newspaper clipping predicting Alf Landon would beat F.D.R. hands down.

SCATTERED CHECKS

But all that was left of 1952 and 1953 was a handful of scattered checks. They showed we had spent a lot of money but didn't say what for—except a check for $15 on which Frances had, rather meanly I thought, scribbled: "For Mr. Bigshot's poker lesson."

* * *

Red-eyed from lack of sleep we showed up at the local office of the Internal Revenue Service. In a long room sat 75 agents at desks surrounded by taxpayers. No indignant taxpayers. Just lost-looking, red-eyed taxpayers, sleepless for the same reason we were.

We drew a handsome, soft-spoken young agent any mother would be glad to have as a son—that is, if she didn't have to appear before him as a taxpayer. He put us at ease at once.

* * *

"Our job isn't to collect more money from you," he said genially. "It's to determine that you have paid the exact tax. We often refund money."

VISIONS OF EUROPE

Instead of a winter vacation in Florida I began to dream of a trip to Europe.

* * *

That bright vision faded quickly as the agent began checking our returns, item for item, demanding specific proof for each deduction. The canceled checks I handed him feebly turned out to be only circumstantial evidence.

* * *

"Not detailed enough," he said crisply. "That's the biggest mistake taxpayers make—failing to keep adequate records.

"Salesmen seem to be the worst, but writers—"

He shook his head.

* * *

"Can I plead temporary insanity?" I inquired humbly.

"No," said the agent, "but from now on you'd better keep a diary and write down your travel and other expenses as you go. And be specific. That's the best tip I can give you."

HUGE FIGURE

The agent scribbled and frowned, then frowned and scribbled, finally said, "The amount comes to—" and he named a figure that sounded like the national debt, give or take a few decimal points.

* * *

"You owe us?" I asked, at the rope's end of optimism.

* * *

"No, it's what you still owe, including interest at 6 per cent," he said, holding out a piece of paper. "Of course, you dont have to accept this as final. You have the right to appeal."

* * *

I had a brief mental image of myself standing under a spotlight with the nine members of the U. S. Supreme Court staring down at me.

* * *

"Gimme the paper," I said. "I'll sign."

NO FLORIDA TRIP

Well, Frances and I aren't going to winter in Alcatraz. On the other hand, it doesn't look like we're going to vacation in Florida either, unless we go on the instalment plan.

* * *

One thing more. Maybe you've heard a lot of guys hollering, "The government isn't going to make a bookkeeper out of me." Take it from me, they are all liars. I don't know how many bookkeepers there were in America last week, but this week there is one more. Me.

* * *

I have me a brand new diary and the first thing written in it is: "Cost of one financial diary: $1.95."

* * *

The agent said I could deduct it from my next income tax—if I don't lose it.

Jukebox Rivaling Eskimo Drum

WASHINGTON — The thumping of the Eskimo drum, mainstay of Arctic entertainment for centuries, may soon be swallowed up in the blare of radio and jukebox.

As civilization creeps across the frozen north — along, for example, the Distant Early Warning radar line now being built by the American and Canadian governments — more and more Eskimos are taking up white men's jobs and, with them, white men's ways, the National Geographic Society says. Although the gregarious, pleasure-loving Eskimos still gather at the slightest excuse for a drum-and-dance feast, the art of drumming is no longer being pursued by the younger generation.

Teenage Eskimos, given a chance, make ardent jukebox jitterbugs. They still dance with their elders, however, and therein lies the hope of maintaining one of their people's most colorful traditions.

DRUM, CHIEF INSTRUMENT

Wherever Eskimos have congregated — in small get-togethers on winter nights or at large spring and fall roundups — they have danced. Some have embellished their music with square wooden drums and puffinbeak rattles. But all, from Alaska to Greenland, have depended basically on the drum.

A large flat hoop, covered with caribou skin, the Eskimo's tambour may be played by one person or a line-up of drummers. The effect is equally electrifying.

An evening of dancing begins quietly. The men sit on benches, the women on the floor, watching the drummers tighten their drums and whittle the sticks with which they will play them. A tick-tick against the rim of one drum sets the rhythm, and soon all the drummers join in, carried on mysteriously, monotonously, like a giant machine.

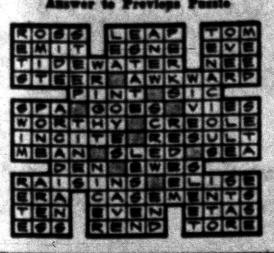

Someone may begin to sing — a song of personal exploit, of humorous gossip, or soulful lament. Many Eskimo songs tell of the past when game was plentiful and Indians were felled in battle. Some, such as the one from West Greenland translated by the Danish explorer, Knud Rasmussen, are movingly poetic: "O warmth of summer sweeping o'er the land! Not a breath of wind, Not a cloud, And among the mountains . . . The grazing caribou, The dear caribou . . . In the blue distance! O, how entrancing, O, how joyful! I lay me on the ground, sobbing."

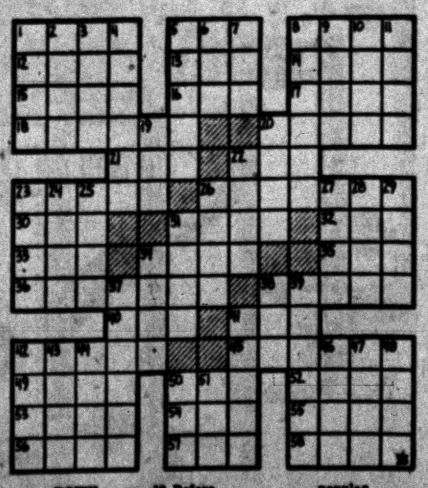

Each man traditionally has his own song. The women sing no solos in the presence of men, but they chant the choruses — ai-yai-ya-ya, ai-ya-ya — like an eerie group of whining ghosts.

As the drums drone on, the tempo mounts. One dancer shuffles about, faster, faster, his shadow slithering in and out among the rocks by the fireplace. Sweat beads his face. The arteries of his throat swell to chords. With a groan he falls limp, and another dancer takes over. At last, all the Eskimos are on their feet, swaying, gyrating, wailing. The women bend at the knees, swing at the ships. Only the men move their feet, pounding out the rhythm in primitive fury. The dancers never touch.

In the old days, such dances might last 30 to 40 hours. Even now, in settled places such as Aklavik, in Canada's Northwest Territories Eskimos dance until 7 or 8 in the morning, only to return the following night to the luring throb of the drum.

Predicts 3-D TV in Color by 1975

HOUSTON (AP) — Three dimensional color television by 1975 is predicted by Ray Campbell, Western Division executive vice president of the Foote, Cone & Belding advertising firm. He also predicts by 1960 more than half of all television sets will be color.

* * *

"Within 10 years," he told an advertising men's meeting, "we can expect to see closed circuit television in every room in the house. It is likely that in the living room you will find mural television—on a wall, amost flat and measuring possibly five feet by seven feet."

* * *

Despite the television boom, he said, newspapers still control most of the nation's 10 - billion-dollar advertising budget. Newspapers now receive three billion dollars against one billion for television, he said.

CHICAGO (AP)—Five persons perished and at least five others were injured in a fire which swept a four-story brick tenement building on the near North Side early today.

Scores of persons fled from the building. Several children were dropped from the second floor to persons on the sidewalk below before firemen arrived at the extra-alarm blaze. None of the injured were in serious condition.

* * *

Deputy Marshal Richard Daly said arson was suspected in the fire. He said the blaze started under the stairs in the basement and spread rapidly up the stairwell. He said the stairway was fully aflame when first firemen arrived.

Most Organizations Reported Steadily Progressing to Consolidation

National AFL-CIO May Have to Force Some State Mergers

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite some setbacks, mergers of state AFL and CIO organizations are coming along steadily.

* * *

But the national AFL-CIO eventually may have to step in to force consolidations in some of the reluctant, more populous states.

Once-rival AFL and CIO organizations have already amalgamated in 14 states. Mergers in nine to a dozen more states are in prospect before the first of the year.

Where there are delays, jockeying among individual labor leaders for the top jobs appears to be the main deterrent. With all the fuss over integration in the South, the racial problem seems to be having little or no effect on the mergers.

* * *

That's the merger situation as shown in a nationwide survey by The Associated Press.

Here at national AFL-CIO headquarters a spokesman said that in all states organized labor forces are pulling together politically more than ever before. The AFL-CIO has endorsed the Democratic ticket of Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

States where former AFL and CIO statewide organizations have already merged are Arkansas, Missouri, Louisiana, Tennessee, Arizona, Montana, Vermont, Colorado, Virginia, Wyoming, Oregon, Iowa, South Dakota and Utah.

* * *

Generally these are the smaller industrial states, mostly in the South and West, with relatively small numbers of AFL-CIO union members. Absent from the list of completed mergers are such heavily unionized states as New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and California.

States in which mergers are in prospect in the next few months include Alabama, Delaware, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Mexico, Florida, Maine, South Carolina and Texas. Here again are none of the largest industrialized states.

Several months after the national AFL-CIO merger last December, efforts began to get state mergers rolling. The national AFL-CIO constitution allows two years, until early December 1956, for state mergers. After that, the AFL-CIO plans to lift charters and compel mergers.

* * *

Mergers have been voted down in two states, Mississippi and North Carolina. But in Mississippi locals which voted last June against merger now say publicly they approve it. Leaders predict merger early next year.

What blocked the Mississippi merger and probably also North Carolina's was a national jurisdictional squabble among former AFL building trades unions and former CIO industrial or manufacturing plant unions. This was a revival of an old AFL-CIO feud over which type union's members should do construction work around factories.

The building trades ordered all their unions in the states to block state mergers until this fight was settled. Then, on urging by AFL-CIO President George Meany, the building trades revoked the order.

* * *

This has led to confusion in many states and has temporarily delayed mergers in such states as Ohio, Oklahoma, Michigan, Texas and West Virginia. It is being straightened out in most places.

But stronger measures, including headquarters action, may be needed in Michigan, where the jurisdictional question is just one of many fiery issues between rivals Walter Reuther of the auto workers and James R. Hoffa of the teamsters.

"Generally speaking," said an aide of Meany, "our problems are no more or less than the problems of any two organizations which decide to become one. Naturally there's the question of who's going to take the top jobs in the new outfit. That's what we're running into."

* * *

In all states joint merger committees are going through the motions of working out details and new joint constitutions. The national AFL-CIO has a set of standards on general things that must go into all the state merger constitutions.

* * *

Delays in most states are occurring because top men on both sides are conducting a waiting game hoping to stall their rivals into taking lesser jobs in the merged organizations. But as the December 1957 deadline for forced merger gets closer the tempo probably will pick up.

Also, some of the AFL and CIO state rivals have been fairly bitter foes in the past and it just isn't too easy to forgive and forget, although they all realize sooner or later they will have to get together.

* * *

"Some of these guys have been fighting each other for 20 years," laughed one union official, "so just getting them in the same room is a job."

Dues are also a problem. Rival state organizations have usually had different dues rates. In North Dakota, for example, the much larger AFL's state federation earlier this month decreased dues from 17½ to 15 cents a month trying to get down to the CIO level, but the CIO organization claims it wants a 10-cent per month rate.

Preoccupation with other problems is delaying mergers in some states. In the state of Washington, for instance, leaders say they are too busy working to defeat in the November election a proposal to outlaw compulsory union membership. In Kansas, organized labor leaders were kept busy for a while supporting Republican renomination for Gov. Fred Hall, who was defeated as it turned out.

* * *

In Maryland, a key issue is whether the merged state organization will include the District of Columbia. The AFL wants it while the CIO opposes it.

If It's Metal, He Can Make It

Tinkerer Keeping Busy While Youngsters Retire

SAGINAW (AP) — When they talk about molding metal they talk about John Martin.

* * *

Martin is a master molder, inventor, designer, somewhat of a machinist and a patternmaker.

At 71, Martin has run his own little shop in Oakley for nine years. He makes toys, parts for bombsights and radar equipment, nutcrackers, metal ornaments and most anything else someone has a hankering for.

"You just keep busy and you stay healthy," said Martin, who at 21 was hurt so badly doctors weren't sure he'd live. Martin was in Colorado when a pile of logs toppled over on him.

SETTLES DOWN

After working for a time in Owosso and Detroit factories, Martin settled down for 29 years at a job in an Owosso stove factory.

That's when he started designing toys. He had been making them for years. "When I was a youngster, my parents were too poor to buy me toys, so I made my own," he says.

Then, at an age when most men were thinking of retiring, Martin left Owosso and moved to Oakley and set up his shop.

"Sometimes there's 11 hours of work a day," says Martin who has molded parts varying from auto equipment to surveyors transits.

What does he do in his spare time? "I tinker," he says. "Like the time I made a squirrel nutcracker whose tail operates the cracker in its mouth.

"When you come down to it, there's always plenty to keep a man busy, if he'll just look around a little," he says.
