Steel Walkout Due Tonight as Talks Flounder

Girls Will Spend the Day Getting Acquainted

Massed Flag Rites Signal Opening of Scout Roundup

Seventy-eight colorful state and national flags climbed smartly to the tops of the massed, white poles at the National Girl Scout Roundup campsite near Milford, this morning, and 5,000 teenagers turned briskly to the duties of their first official day.

The flag-raising ceremony, conducted by 234 girls, was the first of some 12 the camp will witness each morning of the two-week period. The flags represent each of the 48 states and 33 standards of other nations where the Girl Scout movement has spread.

Roundup City sounded like a town being built yesterday as the girls engaged in a mass project of assembling their table and benches for eating.

Like many a "Do-It-Yourselfer," some of the 625 patrols had difficulty in following the illustrated directions. More than one group took the table apart and did the job a second time.

The girls may all be dressed in identical clothing, but they have managed to achieve individuality. A patrol from Fort Worth, Texas, wore large Stetsons and greeted everyone it met with a hearty "Howdy, Texas!"

Girls from Placerville, California are wearing clamper hats with tiny replicas of a gold miner's pan and hammer on the front. Several patrols have made aprons to wear while they cook.

Girls from California are impressed with the greenness of Michigan. A group from near Seattle said it looked a little like home except for the trees; they have only softwoods out there.

Michigan's lush woodlands drew approval from Laura Aquero, a Pueblo Indian from the Cochiti Reservation and leader of the only patrol to represent New Mexico.

"How green," Laura exclaimed with approval. But then she quickly launched into an enthusiastic description of the sandstone and sage colors in her own state.

Perhaps the most colorful contingent is the Koda-Color Patrol from Rochester, N. Y., home of the Eastman Kodak Co. Their tents are pink, yellow, purple and green instead of the tan-colored canvas shelters which dot the Roundup site by the hundreds.

The four girls from Brazil are not wearing Bermuda shorts. It is not customary in their country, and they will wear skirts throughout their stay at the encampment. They had to get excused from midterm examinations to come to Michigan.

Polish Rebellion Nearly Crushed by Communists

Mounting Casualty List Shows Some Workers Are Still Fighting

BERLIN (INS)—Troops and tanks took over the streets and jet planes patroled menacingly in the skies today as the Polish Communist government went all-out to erase the last knots of rebellion in blood-spattered Poznan.

That some Polish workers still were fighting was indicated by reliable reports of mounting casualties.

A correspondent of the West German news agency D.P.A. reported by phone from the battle-torn city of Poznan that the latest unofficial death toll "was upwards of 70 and more than 300 injured."

(Meanwhile, reports were received in Vienna that public protest demonstrations had taken place in Budapest against the Communist Hungarian government within the last few days.)

The Red Polish government was determined to crush the armed Poles who have taken part in a two-day workers' uprising.

Warsaw radio said early today that a "manhunt" continued for what it termed "individual provocateurs" although order was said to have been restored to the big industrial city.

Westerners who arrived in Berlin from Poznan reported that sporadic shooting continued in the city last evening. Travelers said bands of snipers were operating on the outskirts of Poznan.

HIGH CASUALTY FIGURES

Eyewitnesses to the violent anti-Communist uprising agreed that casualty figures ran much higher than the count admitted by the government.

But the city was reported quiet. The big International Trade Fair, which ends today, opened on schedule this morning.

The reconstructed, 900 year-old Cathedral of Poznan was inaugurated in a ceremony obviously intended to show the world that the situation in Poznan was back to normal.

However, visitors to the city were leaving as fast as possible because food was running short and the water supply was cut.

Most of the travelers had heard

EDWARD NOVAK

Bell Names Two to Higher Posts

R. H. Storm to Succeed Edward Novak as Head of Pontiac District

Appointment of Raymond H. Storm to succeed Edward Novak as Pontiac district manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has been announced by company officials.

Novak, manager here four years, will be assistant general sales manager of the firm.

Storm at one time (1950-51) was assistant manager of the Pontiac district. With Bell since 1948, he was on the Detroit staff at the time of his present appointment.

Novak has been associated with the firm for 16 years.

An outstanding amateur golfer, Novak has been active in civic activities as a member of the Rotary Club, YMCA and the Oakland County Red Cross Chapter.

He was recently named chairman of the Junior Achievement Advisory Committee and has served as division chairman of the United Fund.

As assistant general sales manager, he will head the company's sales activities in central and northern Michigan.

Negotiators in Arbitration to End Deadlock

Furnaces Grow Cold as Output Nears Halt in Nation's Mills

NEW YORK (AP)—Weary negotiators began their final attempt today to head off a midnight strike of 650,000 steelworkers across the country. There was no sign of a break in the stalemate.

John A. Stephens, chief company negotiator, told newsmen on entering the session that there was "nothing new to report."

David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers union president, was noncommittal on the outlook.

"It's a lovely morning," was all he would say in response to newsmen's questions.

The negotiators met in the Hotel Roosevelt's presidential suite, where they have been holding almost daily sessions since early this month when the talks were transferred here from Pittsburgh.

Furnaces grew cold and silent as the nation's steel mills got set for the threatened walkout. Production neared a halt in the vital, basic-economy industry.

The negotiations were launched more than a month ago between the union and companies which produce 90 per cent or more of the country's steel.

CONTRACT TOO BINDING

The steel companies have insisted on a 5-year agreement to succeed the present 2-year pact. The union says it cannot bind the steelworkers to so long a contract. The company later cut its demands to four years and four months.

The steelworkers are "hot — really hot" against acceptance of the industry offer, union president David J. McDonald said yesterday.

The union has asked for a "substantial" but unspecified wage increase over the present average pay of $2.46 an hour, double pay for Sunday, time and a half pay for Saturdays, a 52-week layoff pay plan, a company paid insurance program and other benefits.

The companies offered a 7.3-cent

Homecoming for Wiffi

ST. CLAIR (AP)—Members of the St. Clair River Country Club plan a big homecoming for their star member, Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, who won the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship Friday. A delegation will meet Miss Smith at Willow Run Airport near Detroit July 7 with a band and banners of congratulation.

Two Leaders Tie in State Open

Dave Wood of Utica Fires 2-Under Par 33 in Morning Round

Wood fired a 2-under-par 33 for the front nine to add to his 75 of yesterday for a 108-total after 27 holes.

Smith, who shot a 72 yesterday added a 36 this morning to give him a 108-total for 27 holes.

Wood shot an eagle-3 on the first hole and then birdied the 4th and 9th holes with bogies on 2 and 5.

Other nine hole cards plus Friday's scores show Ralph Yanker Birmingham, 41-74—115; John Tomes 37-79—116; Spike Ruhelman Indianwood 43-84—127; Dr. Bob Schears 38-81—119; C. J. Reynolds Lapeer 38-80—118; E. C. Richards 41-81—122; Fred King Dearborn, 40-79—119, and Ralph Elstrom Birmingham 37-76—113.

Marilyn Weds Miller in Civil Ceremony

ROXBURY, Conn. (INS)—Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller, married without benefit of press coverage in a simple civil ceremony at the city hall in White Plains, N. Y., last night, settled down in rural Connecticut today for a quiet two-week honeymoon.

The undulating blonde and the playwright, who used to be known as a Pulitzer Prize-winner before linking his name with Hollywood's outstanding product, said their long-heralded "I do's" unexpectedly.

Marilyn wore no makeup for the ceremony. She had on a wrinkled black skirt and pink sweater set. Miller was open-collared.

Immediately after the wedding, the couple drove 25 miles back to Miller's rural retreat at Roxbury where the newlyweds, chaperoned by his parents, had been staying before the marriage.

Miller told newsmen he and his bride would remain in Roxbury until Marilyn leaves for England July 13 to make a movie. He said they had no plans except to hold a "quiet party" in the next few days.

The lanky author, who admits he was cozy with Communists some years ago, said he hopes to have his passport trouble with the State Department cleared up in time to make the trip to England with Marilyn.

Three hours before the wedding a titled woman reporter for a French magazine died in a New Milford, Conn. hospital from injuries suffered a short time before when the car she was riding in hit a tree after swerving off a winding road in woods near Miller's home.

The victim, whose auto had been attempting to catch one carrying Miller and Marilyn, was Princess Mara Scherbatoff, white Russian chief of the New York Bureau of Paris Match.

Miller, 41, won the Pultizer Prize for "Death of a Salesman." He

MARILYN

Marilyn, 30, was married twice before: To a Los Angeles policeman in her teens and to baseball star Joe DiMaggio for a nine-month period in 1955.

Marilyn shyly admitted she "definitely" wanted to have children. But that is about all the news she could report.

'I HOPE SO'

Asked if she would continue her present career after her marriage to the Pulitzer-Prize winner, she stammered, "I hope to."

Car Crash Kills Wixom Resident

Roland Walter Victim in Collision With Tree at Walled Lake

Roland H. Walter Jr., 32, of 995 N. Wixom Rd., Wixom, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital last night after suffering fatal injuries when the car he was driving struck a tree in Walled Lake.

The accident occurred on Pontiac trail, east of Decker road, according to Walled Lake policeman Earl Howie, who witnessed the crash.

He said Walter apparently fell asleep at the wheel, causing his car to miss the curve and go off the highway.

He was alone. Howie said he was on patrol and had stopped to wait for the Walter vehicle to pass Decker road when he saw the car continue straight at the curve and strike the tree head-on.

Two Swim Free as Bridge Drops Truck Into Lake

Charles Mann, 40, and his son Elray, 15, of Lake Orion escaped injury Friday afternoon when a 50-foot wooden bridge collapsed dropping their dump truck into Indian Lake, northeast of Lake Orion. They were able to swim to safety, leaving the truck stuck on a pile, nose down in six feet of water.

The accident climaxed two weeks of bad luck. First a horse fell on another son, David, 18. Then one of Mann's three trucks was stolen, and is still missing.

Last night, David was rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, believed suffering with appendicitis.

Changes Add Longevity

MONTREAL (AP) — A New York fashion expert says men would live longer if they changed their clothes more often. Jacob Solinger of the Fashion Institute of Technology advises men to take a tip from women who change dresses several times daily. A change of suits gives a lift and relieves tensions of modern life, he says.

A Victory for President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower could count a substantial victory today in Senate passage of a $4,562,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill but his mutual security program still faces a series of tough congressional hurdles.

CHICAGO (INS)—Paul Jones, publicity director of the National Safety Council, describes the public attitude toward traffic safety drives as "enthusiastic apathy" and adds:

Happy Ike Quits Hospital for Farm

From Our Wire Services

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower, grinning like a school boy, walked out of Walter Reed Army Hospital today and drove off to his Gettysburg farm.

The Chief Executive left the hospital at 8 o'clock accompanied by the first lady, whose smile was at least as bright as his own.

As expected, Eisenhower passed a battery of microphones without pausing. Thus, he maintained his silence on the question of his political future.

He appeared thinner with lines about his neck showing his six-pound loss of weight since his abdominal operation exactly three weeks ago.

His fellow patients at the big army medical center waved goodbye to him from their windows overlooking a hospital courtyard. His spirits and morale were high after a refreshing night's sleep.

Eisenhower's barber, Steve Martini, shaved him in his room and then the President donned street clothes for the first time since he entered the hospital 22 days ago.

Martini reported: "He's raring to go. He looks like a million bucks."

A million dollars was perhaps a trifle high for the President plainly showed the signs of the major operation which relieved an obstruction in his small intestine. But he looked surprisingly well for a man of 65 who had spent three weeks in the hospital after major surgery.

Scheele Resigns Health Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Leonard A. Scheele is quitting as surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service Aug. 1 to head a private pharmaceutical firm.

President Eisenhower announced late yesterday acceptance of Scheele's resignation from the post he has held for more than eight years.

A short time later the Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. announced in New York that Scheele will become president of a subsidiary, Warner-Chilcott Laboratories, Inc., at Morris Plains, N. J.

Scheele's salary in his new post was not announced. As surgeon general, he was paid about $16,500 a year.

Scheele said he was resigning "in the interests of providing more properly for the future security of my family," but added that "I plan to continue to serve the cause of health in the years ahead in private life."

A year ago, Scheele was in the center of controversy over the government's handling of the Salk polio vaccine program. When a number of vaccinated children were stricken with polio, he first suspended part of the nationwide vaccination program and then halted it entirely until new safety standards for manufacture of the vaccine could be established.

Twining Visits Soviet Air Force Academy

Twining was accompanied by his aides and a group of British, French and Turkish officers for the trip about 25 miles from Moscow.

Western reporters were told they could not go along because the academy is in a closed zone.

Twining leaves tomorrow for Germany en route to the United States.

As part of the Roundup's "Americana" theme, each patrol brought trinkets, pins or other novelties highlighting some distinctive feature of their state or region.

The New Mexico patrol made moccasin pins and Indian necklaces of seeds and corn to barter in the "swap tent," where the Girl Scouts trade curios.

The Moby Dick Patrol of New Bedford, Mass., brought whale-shaped pins; Texas scouts displayed pins shaped like twirling lariats.

No reports were received of girls' being lost. Personal belongings, health certificates and duffle bags were among the missing items.

Last night campfires were held at the various tentsites. Tonight there will be an all-girl Campfire in the Arena. Two cords of wood will be used in the star-shaped fire.

The invocation will be offered by the Most Rev. Alexander M. Zaleski, vicar general, Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit.

Greetings will be given by the camp director, Mrs. Richard Beckhard and Mrs. George S. Dunham, chairman of the planning committee for this first Senior Scout camp. She will bring greetings from Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, honorary president of the Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Roy F. Layton of Chevy Chase, Md., national president of the Girl Scouts and Dorothy Stratton of New York City, the national Executive Director, will also speak.

The Roundup is open to visitors any day from 10 a.m. to sundown. On Wednesday, July 4, the first of three public spectacles will be presented at 3 p.m. The public may also stay for fireworks in the evening.

$33 Billion Road Project Under Way; Gas, Other Costs Go Up Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxes on gasoline and other items for highway users go up tonight at midnight to help finance an immediate start on the nation's biggest road-building program.

Emphasizing speed in getting the 33-billion-dollar program under way, a Federal Bureau of Public Roads official confidently predicted:

"We'll be clearing trees, moving dirt and paying out money within 60 days—and certainly before Oct. 1."

The program calls for construction of 41,000 miles of interstate superhighways in the next 13 to 16 years and additional thousands of miles of urban and connecting intrastate roads.

But for the motorist the first noticeable effect will be the tax increase. He will feel it tomorrow in an increase of one cent a gallon in the federal gasoline Tax. The same boost applies to diesel fuel for trucks.

The present 5 cents a pound tax on tires goes up to 8 cents; retread rubber will be taxed for the first time at 3 cents a pound; the manufacturer's excise tax on trucks, buses and truck-trailers goes up from 8 to 10 per cent; and truckers must pay $1.50 a year per 1,000 pounds for any truck weighing 26,000 pounds or more.

These tax increases, effective until 1972, will yield an estimated $14,800,000,000. They will be added to present motoring taxes amounting to about 23½ billions for that period to make up a highway trust fund of about 38½ billions for the pay-as-you-go road building project.

The federal government puts up 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate superhighway system, the states 10 per cent. For primary, secondary and urban highways, they continue to split the cost 50-50, but more federal matching money will be available.

Within minutes after President Eisenhower signed the bill yesterday, Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced the allocation of federal funds to the 48 states, District of Columbia and three territories for the first year of the programs—fiscal 1957.

These allocations amount to one billion dollars for interstate highways and 125 million for local roads. These will be credited to the states immediately by the Treasury Department. As they let contracts and bills become due they will draw on these funds. They can let a contract as soon as they get federal approval of the details for each project.

Former Diplomat Feels Polish Riots 'Significant'

(Arthur Bliss Lane was U.S. Ambassador to Poland from 1945 until he resigned in 1947, soon after the Communists took over the government. In the following article Lane, now living in retirement in Washington, comments on riots in the Polish city of Poznan.)

By ARTHUR BLISS LANE

Former U.S. Ambassador to Poland
Written Especially for International News Service

WASHINGTON (INS) — The reports regarding the riots in Poznan, the largest city in what used to be German Poland, are highly significant, the fact that the Polish official radio confirms these reports emphasizes the seriousness of the situation.

Probably the Poles have taken advantage of the recent dramatic changes in the Soviet Union and the criticism of Soviet Communist Party chief Nikita Khrushchev by the foreign parties.

The spirit of liberty of the Poles which never in history has been completely quenched has finally burst forth in a brave, although perhaps for the moment futile, attempt at liberation from the Communist masters who have been under the heel of Moscow since the puppet Lublin government was founded in Poland under Stalin's direction on July 21, 1944.

The Polish Minister of Defense Rokossovsky, formerly a marshal in the Soviet army, who was appointed to his present position by Stalin, will undoubtedly put down the insurrection with customary Communist cruelty. But regardless of the inevitable loss of life, the attempt is all to the good.

We did not gain our own independence without George Washington having been willing to risk his life as well as those of his men.

This courageous action at Poznan may quite probably be followed by other acts of patriotic violence against Communist despotism not only in Poland but in other captive nations as well.

I do not place any credence in the idea that this uprising may have been due to the recent visit of Tito to Moscow. I am not as naive as some persons in this country who hold to the fallacious theory that Tito represents a different type of communism.

All forms of communism are the same. They are aimed at the destruction of all we hold dear: Democracy, religion and liberty, and specifically the overthrow of the United States.

Therefore, all Americans should hail this bold revolution. It is in the interests of the liberation of Eastern Europe and the security of the U.S.

God bless the Polish people.

Steel Talks Stymied as Walkout Looms

hourly direct wage increase each year for five years, a 52-week layoff pay program, 4 per cent premium pay for Sundays and various vacation, holiday and other benefits.

INVITATION REJECTED

Last night top officers of the industry's Big Three—U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic — and nine other major firms rejected an invitation to confer personally with McDonald.

They said "no useful purpose" could be served by changing negotiating procedures.

Even if a strike were averted, it might be a month before steel operations return to normal. The banking of fires, now under way, takes about three days. Reheating takes much longer.

Industry sources said that production losses due to the cooling of the giant blast furnaces have already amounted to millions of dollars.

A strike would also halt most iron ore freighters on the Great Lakes and idle between 8,000 and 9,000 seamen.

A work stoppage in steel would be the fifth in the industry in 11 years.

To Rechristen Freighter

DETROIT (AP)—The cement carrier E. M. Ford, repaired and rebuilt after a collision with the freighter A. M. Byers April 19, will be formally rechristened Tuesday, July 24. The collision tied up freighter traffic in the St. Clair River several days.

Steel Strike Looms, But—

Industries Have Reserves

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A strike of the United Steelworkers at midnight tonight would find the nation with a reserve steel supply estimated to total 30 to 60 days need. However there would be a critical shortage of some widely used items while other customers would have inventories of steel to keep going for several weeks.

AUTOS — Has enough steel reserves to complete 1956 model production and make a start on 1957 models.

OIL—Has a small working inventory and would immediately feel the pinch if supplies were cut off. Some oil companies halted new well drilling.

CONSTRUCTION—(building and highways) — Already feeling the effects of shortages in structural and heavy plate steel—would be hard hit immediately.

CANNING — Has about eight weeks supply — sufficient to provide cans for most of the summer packing season.

HOME APPLIANCES — Has something more than a 45-day reserve and would not feel any immediate effect in production schedules.

FARM EQUIPMENT — Season already has passed peak demand and manufacturers feel they have enough steel to continue present production schedule for several weeks.

RAILROADS — Freight car building program already affected by short supply although some big roads like New York Central report enough steel on hand to continue car building for about eight weeks. Railroad freight volume would decline immediately because finished steel shipments and movement of raw materials make up big portion of freight business.

TV Commercials Hit With Japanese

A delegation of Japanese TV industrialists visiting the Admiral Corp. plant in Harvard reported that the children are so enchanted by the sing-song pitch that they are demanding that their parents buy them Sake — an alcoholic beverage plugged by a favorite commercial.

The Japanese delegation reported that their country has seven TV stations and 250,000 receivers — half of which are of Japanese make, and the rest imported from the United States.

American-made sets can be used without modification in Japan because both countries use the same standard of transmission.

Phone Wouldn't Pay Off —That Was the Payoff

ST. MARYS, W. Va. (AP) — Truck driver Myles Milton stopped at a restaurant to call his wife, complained to the operator that he had a poor connection, and asked her to return his dime.

reports in Poznan that the uprising had spread to several other Polish and Baltic cities, but there was no confirmation of this.

In Washington, State Department officials said today the uprising of Polish workers shows that even in a police-ridden country the people have a breaking point under oppression, where the will to freedom asserts itself despite overwhelming odds.

SPARKED BY HUNGER

And from London the Polish government-in-exile said today the rioting in Poznan was sparked by starvation in Poland, not by underground agents.

Alexander Zawisza, of this exile group, described the rioting as "an act of desperation."

"From the reports of some of the visitors given to the British press, it seems clear that at first the demonstration was of a quiet character and the demonstrators cried, 'We want bread.'

"It was the action of the authorities which changed this peaceful demonstation into bloody riots."

Jewish Leaders Reach Moscow

Rabbis Now on 5th Day of Soviet Tour Report 'Encouraging' Signs

MOSCOW (INS) — A group of American Orthodox Jewish rabbis now in Moscow to establish religious contact with Soviet Jews for the first time in 40 years today reported several "encouraging" signs.

The American rabbis noted that the first Hebrew prayer book since before the 1917 revolution will be issued shortly. They were shown the page proofs and told the books would be off the presses in a few weeks.

The rabbis also were informed that the Soviet government has approved the opening of a Jewish theological seminary soon.

Rabbi Solomon Schliffer, rabbi of Moscow, showed the visitors the library he is collecting for a new seminary. No rabbis have been trained in Russia since the revolution and Rabbi Schliffer, now in his middle 60's, is one of the "younger" Soviet rabbis.

The government has agreed to set up meat shops and restaurants conforming to Jewish dietary requirements.

Rabbi David Hollander of New York City, who heads the visiting delegation, declined to comment on his trip so far, saying five days was too short a time to draw conclusions.

Rabbis Hollander, Samuel Adelman of Newport News, Va., and Hershel Schacter of New York have kept a busy schedule since arriving in Moscow last Friday.

Today the rabbis were scheduled to meet the Soviet government's council on cults to discuss their tour.

State Senators Vote Yes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) and Sen. Potter (R-Mich) both voted in favor of the $4,562,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill passed 54-25 by the Senate last night.

Bulldozer Hijacked at Construction Site

A bulldozer was reported hijacked this morning.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, an unidentified man stopped on Highland road, loaded the bulldozer onto a truck, and escaped heading west.

The bulldozer is owned by a construction company, and was being used at 6777 Highland, deputies said.

Earlier reports that the thief escaped driving the bulldozer down Highland road were unfounded, deputies added.

The Day in Birmingham

Tally Costs of New, Old City Plant for Transfer

BIRMINGHAM—A new estimate of the cost of the city's present sewage treatment plant and the expected cost of its new addition now being built has been released by James H. Purkiss, Jr., director of finance.

The cost of the total completed building, which is to be turned over to the North Evergreen Sewage Treatment Authority when final details are cleared for the purchase, will be about $235,768.71.

Its equipment, besides the structure alone, cost $42,066, Purkiss says.

The original building, when it went into service in 1939 had cost $185,768.71, and its depreciation is figured on a 50-year basis, his report says.

Shop and laboratory equipment and other plant equipment cost another $19,274. He estimates it at 50 per cent of that original cost, which was paid out within the past 17 years, he says.

The authority would take over the building, according to current plans by officials, to service the communities of Troy, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township and Birmingham.

What looked like blood dripping from an arm extending from a car's trunk alarmed a passing motorist who called police. But the police yesterday found that the arm was that of a hale-and-hearty teenager, and the "blood" was catsup.

No charge was made against the play-acting teenage group involved.

14-Year-Old Girl Stabbed Dead

Teenager Hit 30 Times; Younger Brother Held; Father Near Collapse

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The 14-year-old adopted daughter of a wealthy businessman and church leader was found dead on the patio of her home yesterday — stabbed 30 times. Her younger brother, held for questioning, told a reporter: "They are trying to pin this on me, but they've got the wrong guy."

The victim was Carol Elaine Drennon, daughter of Lawrence Drennon, owner of a heavy equipment company and assistant superintendent of the Grants Avenue Baptist Church here. He was reported near collapse and under a doctor's care. Mrs. Drennon, superintendent of the primary department of the church, flew home by chartered plane last night from Ridgecrest, N. C., where she had been attending a Baptist training conference.

The stabbing was reported by David Drennon, 13, who said he found the body sprawled on the patio about 1 p.m., when he returned home for lunch from summer school.

Dr. David Gorelick, a pathologist, said after an autopsy that Carol had not been sexually molested. Dr. Gorelick said the stab wounds were about two inches deep and could have been made with a pocket knife.

Police said a pocket knife of the type carried by fishermen was found in a garage drawer and that it fit the wounds.

David told officers he bought the knife from a friend Thursday and had forgotten where he put it.

Friends said both Carol and David were adopted by the Drennons when they were babies. It was not learned whether the youngsters are related by blood.

Many Agencies Supply Services

Girl Scouts 'Rough It' in Small City

The sun was high, the trading post jammed, the post office swamped with mail home to the folks. Western Union wires buzzed with "We got here safely and need more warm clothes."

Five thousand Girls Scouts and their 1,000 leaders have settled down for two weeks of getting acquainted, having fun, and learning about the very vastness of the organization which brought them to Highland Recreation area in the first national Girl Scout Roundup.

Down Main Street, past the mall with its 78 flag poles, past the public information tent, health and welfare and cafeteria, the Michigan State Police are encamped in the most modern and up-to-date field headquarters in existence.

Manned by two Pontiac post officials, Sgt. Charles Mulick and Corp. Peter Waisanen, this modern trailer comes complete with several telephone lines, radio service to and from any other police post.

The trailer unit is attached to its own generator which provides power at all times for flood light use, telephone and radio equipment.

Twenty-two state troopers are spending two weeks at the Roundup, circling the area 24 hours a day for security purposes. Troopers from other posts throughout southern Michigan are on call in case of emergency.

Fifty-six military policemen, members of the U. S. Army at Fort Sheridan, Ill., are also present.

Across from the MP headquarters, the state police and fire department is the camp hospital staffed by army doctors and nurses.

According to Lt. Donald Worpell, clinical psychologist with the hospital, there have been only a few minor casualties so far — cuts, bruises and sore throats.

The girls and counselors were completely checked on their arrival at camp for communicable diseases. So far, no one's been sent home with measles or mumps Lt. Worpell said.

In addition to the local police, fire department and hospital, the canvas city at Highland Recreation area comes complete with garbage truck (which makes daily rounds) snack bars, trading post, post office, theater and all the major social agencies of home.

There are even traffic signals on the corners (in the form of directing MP's) for passing cars.

Security for You

Self-Employed Can Make Back Security Payments

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

From D. M. of New York City: "I've owned my own store for the last 25 years. I didn't realize until about a year ago that self-employed persons such as myself could make payments into Social Security and, thereby, make myself eligible for Social Security payments on retirement at age 65. Can I make back payments to Social Security to cover me since the program opened up for self-employed persons in 1951?"

Yes, but you may make back payments only until Jan. 1, 1953. You may make the necessary arrangements to do so through the nearest Internal Revenue office.

From D. V. of Norfolk, Va.: "My mother died last month and the Social Security people told us to send back the check for that month. We sent it back, but are wondering why we had to. Can you tell us?"

The Social Security law does not permit payment of monthly retirement benefits for the month in which death occurs.

From L. R. U. of Washington, D. C.: "Somewhere I got the impression that a person who has paid into Social Security for ten years is eligible for maximum Social Security payments — $108.50, plus 50 per cent for a wife—upon retirement at age 65. This got me into an argument with a friend the other day. He says my impression is wrong. Is it?"

Yes. If a person works under Social Security for ten years, he's sure of receiving retirement payments when he reaches 65 and retires. But, the actual amount of the payments depends on earnings.

From B. I. S. of Mason City, Iowa: "I read an article in a magazine a couple of months ago. It mentioned a Social Security fund, but there was no further explanation. What is the Social Security fund?"

All Social Security tax money received from workers and employers is kept in a special trust fund, administered by the United States Treasury but kept separate from other Treasury functions. The Social Security program meets its own expenses, with no funds coming from the public taxes. At present, the fund total about 22 billion dollars. It's invested in interest-bearing government securities.

From D. H. O. of Los Angeles, Calif.: "I've been getting Social Security retirement payments for the past two years. Now I have been offered a job. I've heard that the new law permits a person to earn $1,200 a year without losing his benefits. What if I work for four months and make $300 in each month. Will I lose any of my benefit checks?"

If your earnings are not over $1,200 for the year, you'll receive all your checks. It doesn't matter how many months it takes you to earn the $1,200.

From M. I. of Albany, N. Y.: "I was born in Ireland and have never been naturalized. Would the fact that I've never been naturalized have any effect on my drawing Social Security benefits?"

No.

Highway Commission OKs Name

The Inter-County Highway Commission of Southeastern Michigan taken steps toward adopting a set taken steps toward adoping a set of by-laws.

Commissioners, selected by the Boards of Supervisors of the six member counties in the Inter-County Committee, heard Paul Reid, new executive director of the Detroit Regional Plan Commission, pledge the group the full support of his commission.

Reid said the highway commission, which grew from a widespread real need for roads and the efforts of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee, is attaining significant results by working in a new way within the framework of existing laws.

A meeting Thursday was the second formal gathering of the group, which began organizing May 28.

Under an amended act dating to 1925, the new commission has authority to form and operate across county lines, but has little real authority to implement its decisions and recommendations.

John McKie, Detroit Regional Planner and assistant secretary to the new commission, said yesterday the group hopes to save up to $8 million a mile on the cost of constructing new expressways.

A coordinated plan of future highway needs will be outlined for the six-county region, he said.

"We'll be able to tell now, before the region gets much more developed, just where we'll need to widen roads," he explained.

"In accordance with the plan, we can tell people who own land beside a road which must be widened that they shouldn't build on the land we'll have to condemn in the future."

This plan will save condemnation money, McKie said. He added condemnation was the major cost of constructing the existing Detroit expressways.

"Inside Detroit, the expressways cost between eight and 11 million dollars a mile," McKie said. "When they get out into less developed territory, the cost runs two to three million dollars a mile."

However, he said, the Inter-County Highway Commission has no condemnation powers.

"We must get county and township approval of the master plan," he said, "and then rely on their condemnation powers and zoning powers to put it into effect."

He explained that a zoning classification could be created which would prohibit building on future right-of-way.

"If landowners refused to comply with the program, the counties could condemn the land right now as a last resort," McKie said.

A traffic study of the Detroit Metropolitan area, including only Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, recently was finished by the State Highway Department, the Wayne County Road Commission, the City of Detroit and the U. S. Bureau of Roads.

The study concluded that an expressway system costing $1.5 billion will be needed in the three counties by 1980.

Bird's Eye Gavel Given to Martin for '56 Convention

WASHINGTON (INS)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., (R-Mass.), has been presented with a "bird's eye" maple gavel which he will use as permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention in August.

The gavel, handed over to Martin by Rep. Winston L. Prouty (R-Vt.), was a gift from George D. Mason, of Vermont, whose father served as secretary of the GOP conventions in 1940 and 1944.

A Vermont bank treasurer, Fred Adams, made the gavel, which he said carries "some of the old Vermont Republican tradition."

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Magazine is ceasing publication after its August issue.

The monthly magazine has been published under its present name since 1911. It was started in 1906 as "Frank Leslie's Popular Magazine." The American's circulation was 2¼ million.

Auto, Trailer and Boat Go Tumbling in River

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Bennie Harrod of nearby Miamisburg backed his car down to the Miami River to launch his trailer-borne motorboat yesterday.

The next thing he knew, both boat and car were launched.

Harrod said he was releasing the boat from the trailer when the car started into the water. He snatched his six-month-old son from the front seat before the car went under.

Soviet Union WWII Deaths Estimated at 27 Million

The Soviet Union ended World War II with approximately 27 million fewer inhabitants than it had at the start of the war.

During the school year just past the first five grades of the Soviet school system had eight million fewer pupils than there were in 1940—representing some eight million Soviet children unborn as a result of war conditions.

These facts emerge from analysis of the first official Soviet population figures released in 17 years. They were published in a manual of basic Soviet statistics, early this month.

This manual demonstrates that Joseph Stalin lied when he declared after the war that Soviet war losses amounted to seven million persons. The real figure was several times that—not only soldiers but even to a greater extent of civilians.

Here are some of the figures given in the Soviet statistical publication:

The population April 1, 1956 was 200,200,000. The U.S. Census Bureau estimated the American population on the same date at 167,440,000.

The present Soviet population is some 2 million less than most Western students of Soviet population and economics have been estimating for the Soviet Union in recent years.

The Soviet birth rate during the last five years has remained between 24.9 and 26.8 per thousand population. Between 1950 and 1954 the U.S. birth rate ranged between 23.6 and 25.0.

The Soviet death rate has ranged recently between 8.4 and 9.6 per thousand and is currently put slightly below the American death rate estimated for 1955 at 9.3 per thousand.

Two Areas Eye Incorporation

Halt Annexation to Birmingham

Beverlies, Berkshires, Valley Woods Seek Westwood Union

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — Facts concerning the possible formation of an incorporated Westwood Village rather than let the Beverlies, Berkshires, and Valley Woods be swallowed up by Birmingham or the proposed City of Southfield are being gathered.

Petitions being circulated to have the West Beverly area annexed to Birmingham have been stopped. Chester Guilmet, president of the West Beverly Assn. said today." As a result of Tuesday's meeting, I agreed to stop circulating the petitions."

He has called a board meeting Monday of his association at his home, 19053 Riverside, to discuss merits of becoming part of Westwood Village rather than joining Birmingham.

Meanwhile, the facts on the merger by all the areas, will be correlated by the Westwood Village committee, and are to be printed up, to be used as ammunition against the efforts to take the areas into either Birmingham or Southfield.

INTEREST EXPRESSED

According to Ted Shurtleff, chairman of the Westwood Committee, the residential groups representing the suburban areas at the north of Southfield township have all expressed interest in the Westwood plan.

The residents of all the areas involved will be contracted by the Westwood committee, Shurtleff says.

The new Westwood group in its meeting Tuesday night decided that the two areas should not be taken into the proposed city, and that possibilities of their own city should be investigated.

A budget for the proposed Westwood Village home-rule city would be $153,000, the committee estimates. Of that $29,000 would be returned from the state in tax rebate, which would be at $7.25 on a one-thousand dollar assessed valuation based on the 1950 census, they expect.

The Berkshire Hills association president Charles L. Shull, has expressed his support of the Westwood plan, and says he is against letting his area become part of the City of Southfield.

Those on the incorporation committee are Shurtleff; Shull; Arthur C. Prine, East Beverly vice-chairman; Robert B. Reed, East Beverly secretary-treasurer; Marvin R. Marsh of East Beverly; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. LaFountaine, Ray Forsyth, Asa Sherwood, Mrs. R. G. Cudini, and William Aulepp, all of the Berkshires; J. William Harris, of the Valley Woods Assn.; Marvin B. Cline, of the South Berkshire Group; and Ted E. Daugherty, of the West Beverly Assn.

The Southfield township population is now about 30,000, with about 8,000 in the Westwood area. The whole township's area is 31½ square miles, with 4¼, or 14 per cent in the area that the Westwood Village would include. But that area has 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of the township, according to Westwood advocates.

SMILING YOUNGSTERS — Life about the docks and shore at Youth Island brings many smiles from the teenagers and pre-teen boys and girls who go there. Tests are given before swimmers may venture into the water about the island.

For Devotion and Camping Fun

'Youth Only' Is Rule for White Lake Isle

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

MILFORD—Right in the heart of Oakland County and in the middle of White Lake, there is an island "for youth only."

Thirteen years ago, Frank Hubbell gave Youth Island to the Detroit Presbytery of churches, with the stipulation that they assume the $4,500 mortgage owing on the property. This was paid off years ago, and the land now stands tax free.

On Youth Island, planned activities go along with organized work and quiet devotional sessions. Children of all ages are scheduled to camp on the island long before the summer begins. Usually the Milford group does a stint to clean up the winter debris; then later they go for fun.

Over a thousand campers are accommodated during one season, says the Rev. Robert Von Oeyen who is resident manager this week. Melvin Miller, who lives directly across the lake, is permanent manager of the island.

Twenty-eight seventh, eighth and ninth graders from the Milford Presbyterian Fellowship have been guests this week on the island.

After every meal, voices blend n 28-part harmony in spch songs as "He Ain't Got No Tail Almost Hardly" and the 46 verses to "The Great Boat Went Down." Kids that never sang a note in their lives are swept along in the jumpy tunes, morning, noon and night.

All kinds of crazy games are played by the group and plenty of "kibitzing" goes on, but when time comes to settle down to serious thinking, these teenagers can't be equaled. The Campfire Vesper service is the most impressive time of the entire day, with discussions about religion and life in general.

Rigid swimming tests are made with each group before they are allowed in the clear water that surrounds the two-and-a-half acre island.

Noted as a bird sanctuary, the land has over 100 century-old oak trees and with an elevation of more than 30-feet, there is a constant breeze that keeps flies and mosquitoes at a minimum.

At one time, three families owned Youth Island. They were Bickle, Hubbell and Lydell, so the group called it "Bihula." The very first cottage that was built on White Lake, 53 years ago, was later moved to the island in the winter, across the ice. That same cottage is now used as a counselor's cabin.

Hubbell Hall serves as a boys' dormitory upstairs and a Mess Hall is down. Collins Lodge, with its built-in bunk beds serves as the girls' dorm. These two buildings accommodate fifty youngsters at one time.

The campers have every convenience at their disposal. An underwater cable from the mainland supplies the electricity for tap-running water, refrigeration and electric stoves.

The top of the boat house serves as a square-dancing pavillion for the youngsters and an electric organ is being repaired in the mess hall for more music.

Each camper pays a one-dollar overnight fee for exclusive use of the island. They bring their own food and each group must have a "water-front" director plus a managing resident minister. All cooking and cleaning is done by the teenagers, however, adult sponsors are on hand to keep an eye on the activities.

Eight rowboats and two motors provide transportation to and from the mainland and at the present time, Rev. Von Oeyen has a big sail boat moored at the water's edge for the children's pleasure.

After a strenuous day is over, there are dormitory discussions before all noise ceases at ten o'clock.

Residents around the lake say that they have had very little trouble with disturbances after the curfew and most are proud to have the young visitors on Youth Island.

Pontiac Press Photo

WORKING FOR PLAY — It takes lots of effort to prepare Youth Island for its summer onslaught of campers, and usually the Milford young people do the clean-up stint. They're back for play-time later.

July Fourth Plans Told in Lake Orion, Clarkston

Fourth of July plans have been revealed by planning groups in may localities, including Lake Orion, and Clarkston, where fireworks are among special events planned.

LAKE ORION

The holiday July Fourth will be celebrated by many private picnics and family parties in the parks and homes around the village.

Water System Used to Save Peach Crop

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A Montcalm County peach grower says installation of an irrigation system, in an emergency 48-hour project last summer, saved a crop he nearly gave up as lost.

Orville Trebian cultivates 10 acres of peaches just north of Stanton.

His fears of a crop loss mounted last Aug. 6 after a dry spell of nearly two months. Efforts to water the trees with a spray tank were abandoned as too little and too late.

Trebian called a farm irrigation firm and outlined his needs to the company's engineer.

"The pipe was here the next night and on the 8th, at noon, we were pumping," he said.

Trebian says that some of his orchard's Red Havens weighed 16 ounces each. "We had a terrific roadside business and I couldn't supply all the truckers," he added.

Dr. Kahn Retires From UM Post

Will Devote More Time to Venereal Disease Research Projects

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The man who gave his name to a world-famous test for syphilis is retiring today from the University of Michigan.

Dr. Rueben L. Kahn, who in 1923 discovered the Kahn reaction, used now in the Kahn test, says he is retiring "from routine only." He intends to continue his study of the blood as a warning device against chronic disease.

At a dinner at the university last night, Dr. Kahn said, "I am fortunate in that I will be able to actually forge ahead in my research as I have not been able before."

Dr. Kahn recalled the day he culminated his long and arduous research with the discovery of the reaction that today bears his name.

'STUMBLED' ON PROCEESS

At the time, the Wasserman test for the detection of syphilis was widely used, but was complicated and time consuming. For years, scientists had been scouting for some agent that would combine with infected blood serum and precipitate quickly indicating whether syphilis existed or not.

On Thanksgiving eve, 1922, Dr. Kahn recounts, he rushed home to tell his wife he had "stumbled" on a process where he could differentiate between the blood of a person with the disease and a person without it.

By July of next year he had utilized the process in a test for syphilis.

Although the Kahn name became world famous because of the discovery, Dr. Kahn said he has refused, for personal reasons, any royalties for personal profit from sale of Kahn test reagents or equipment.

In future research, Dr. Kahn intends to study: 1. The study of serums of syphilis; 2. The role of the blood as a warning device against chronic disease; 3. The role of body tissues in immunity.

On Good Turns

"On Good Turns," concludes the daily series of articles on "The Best of Damon Runyon" started in The Pontiac Press on May 28. The series presented the diversity of writing talent in "one of the greatest reporters of American journalism." Included have been fiction short stories, character sketches, verse, satire, humor, home-spun philosophy and sound avice.

In "On Good Turns" Runyon, using My Old Man as a vehicle, presents his readers a motto which has repeated itself in story plot often in his writings.

By DAMON RUNYON

My old man used to have a motto that he had printed out himself in big letters pasted on the wall of his bedroom. It read: Never Blame the Booster For What the Sucker Does. It was one of his favorite sayings, too.

He said it meant that you should never hold a fellow responsible for the consequences of an effort to do a nice turn. He said many of his own troubles in life had come from getting the blame from friends he was only trying to help, like the time he took the stranger to a poker room back in our old home town of Pueblo.

The poker game was run by one of my old man's closest pals, a fellow they called Poker Joe. The stranger got to talking to my old man down at the Union Depot and wanted to know if there was a poker room in town. He said he was not much of a poker player, but he wanted to kill a few hours between trains.

My old man told the stranger he would be glad to take him to one of the nicest poker rooms he ever saw in his life. He personally vouched for the honesty and integrity of Poker Joe's. So he took the stranger there, and when the stranger pulled out a roll of money that would have choked four horses, Poker Joe was so grateful to my old man that he wanted to kiss him. It was not often that a stranger with a big roll came Poker Joe's way.

KNEW A FINE PLACE

Well, the stranger won all the money in the house in such a short time that he still had to wait an hour at the depot, and Poker Joe hit my old man in the eye with his fist. He blamed my old man for bringing the stranger in, and that was when my old man went back to the Chieftain office and printed his motto.

Another time, my old man met a woman who was looking for a boarding house. He knew a fine place kept by a fellow and his wife who were great friends of his. My old man was anxious to see these friends do well.

He took the woman to the boarding house, and she proved such a good client that the fellow and his wife never seemed to get tired of thanking my old man for doing them the favor of bringing her there. Then one day the boarder ran off with the husband, and the wife went to the Chieftain office where my old man was busy setting type and gave him an awful bawling out.

SENT HIM A MOTTO

She called him names nobody suspected she ever knew. She put all the blame on him for her husband skipping out, just because my old man had taken the woman to the boarding house. He sent the wife a copy of his motto, Never Blame the Booster For What the Sucker Does.

My old man said one of the worst enemies he had back in our old home town was a chap named Sam, to whom he introduced a girl Sam eventually married. My old man had often mentioned to Sam what a nice girl this girl was, and finally Sam insisted on meeting her. He even thanked my old man warmly for arranging the introduction, but, of course that was before they were married.

My old man said every time he met Sam after the marriage Sam would recall that my old man told him she was a nice girl. He seemed to feel but for his recommendation he would never have married her. My old man said personally he continued to think she was a nice girl, but he was not so sure of Sam's niceness, only he never mentioned that thought out loud, as Sam was a touchy fellow.

My old man said he guessed he had sent nearly everybody in town a copy of his motto. He said he never failed to send one to merchants to whom he introduced customers and who blamed him if the customers failed to meet their bills.

He said one time he sent out several thousand in the course of a single week on postal cards. That was the time a candidate for public office got him to go around town plugging his candidacy. My old man told the voters that this candidate was a wonderful man for the job, and apparently most people agreed with him, as the candidate was elected by a considerable majority.

He immediately became one of the worst officeholders our old home town had ever known, and then a lot of people began remembering my old man's work on behalf of the fellow, and started blaming him. So he just sat down and sent those postal cards to everybody he figured must have voted for the officeholder.

My old man once bought a hundred dollars worth of gold mining stock from a friend of his named Chris, who said the stock was as good as wheat in the bin. Chris left town, and my old man learned that the stock was phoney and was going to have Chris arrested.

Chris must have heard of the threat, and he sent my old man a letter that kept him at liberty, because all he put in the letter was my old man's motto: Never Blame the Booster For What the Sucker Does.

French 'Engineer' Is 'Disgusting' Contract

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"The best way to learn French," I've always heard, "is to get a French gal."

Something told me that the wife wouldn't quite approve homework of such a first-hand nature in my case—so I chose to confine my studying to an interview with beautiful Nicole Maurey.

Nicole had come to a studio to be photographed.

"What I should wear?" the pretty thing asked, hauling clothes out of a suitcase. "My alligator?"

"Alligator?" I asked in surprise.

We progressed nicely from there. Nicole apprised me that in her new picture for RKO which she called "De Bold and De Brave," she played "de engineer."

The French lass kept pronouncing and chewing "engineer" over and over until it became quite clear she meant "ingenue."

NICOLE MAUREY

"Have you ever had any trouble with English?" I asked.

"I don't know the boils," she confessed.

"Oh yes, not the boils—the voils!" exclaimed Nicole.

And here an RKO spokesman said that, while she isn't under a long-term contract, RKO would like her to be.

"Do you think you will be?" I inquired.

"We are disgusting it now," Nicole conceded.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

"DON'T PRINT THAT!" Remember Turhan Bey, the former film star? He's using a poison ivy extract to coax back his thinning hair . . . A movie favorite, known to millions of kids, is about to lose his contract because he's a 24-hour-a-day lush. Joanna Gibson, a BOAC stewardess, told Dr. Robert Steiner she'd marry him if he got Liberace—a stranger to them—to play the wedding march. Liberace said sure, and so they were wed . . . Gen. Carlos Romulo admired some prize cows at the Concord Hotel, so mgr. Ray Parker had 'em shipped to the Philippines . . . Errol Flynn flew up from Cuba to Miami Beach—to attend a bar mitzvah.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A bachelor's a guy linked with many girls; a married man is a guy handcuffed to just one." —Martha Kay.

With Cecil B. DeMille's "Ten Commandments" soon to be released, Ted Steele thinks they will advertise it with the old line: "You've read the book—now see the picture." That's earl, brother.

Police Report Is Masterpiece of Deduction?

SALT LAKE CITY (UP) — Police officers who received the 3 a.m. telephone call for help turned to writing out their report.

The call had come from a telephone booth in a drive-in theater. A couple complained they had gone to sleep during the movie, and woke up to find the place deserted and the gates locked, and would the police please get them out? The theater manager was called out of bed to go open the gates.

But now that report. No, the man didn't actually say he was with his wife. But police officers can reason, can't they?

A notation on the report said: "Must have been wife to have fallen asleep."

Chandler Faces Kentucky Battle

'Happy,' Sen. Clements Bidding for Rulership of State Dem Party

Old-fashioned political fireworks were promised in the clash of Chandler's forces with those of Sen. Earle C. Clements in county conventions scheduled for 2 p.m. local time.

Intensive last-minute efforts to line up the support of 20,000 state workers shifted the odds in favor of Chandler achieving his objectives.

The governor and his aides have made it plain that the employes are expected to attend the conventions and carry the fight to Clements backers, who control most county organizations at present.

With Clements determined to give no ground, spirited sessions were assured in virtually every county. Both sides have set ut instructions for rump conventions in key counties they fail to control.

Ex-Witness to Carry Protest to Bay City

Police permission to stage a protest demonstration at Kingdom Hall in Bay City today and tomorrow has been sought by Chester Waugh, a "disfellowshipped" Jehovah's Witness of 55 Newberry St.

Waugh, who has been barred at Kingdom Hall in Drayton Plains, believes the demonstration will call attention to his campaign against what he calls "kangaroo court" tactics used to disfellowship church members.

Waugh seeks to burn a cardboard, miniature court house in front of the church.

May Introduce New School Bill

Republicans Consider Using Ike's Program Instead of Disputed One

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Republicans weighed plans today on the possibility of substituting the Eisenhower administration school aid program for the disputed $1,600,000,000 plan now before the House.

Voting starts next week on the plan authored by Rep. Kelley (D-Pa) and approved by the House Education Committee.

Key Republicans think their proposals, still in tentative form, might be more acceptable to some Southerners than the pending legislation.

Under consideration also are possible increases in Eisenhower's proposal for construction grants totaling 1¼ billion dollars over a five-year period. One figure heard would raise the total to 1½ billions. Kelley's bill would authorize 400 millions a year for four years.

The House, meanwhile, enjoyed a weekend breather in its fight over the school aid measure.

Members return Monday to do battle in earnest, with preliminary voting on amendments to the bill. A final vote is not due until Thursday after the July 4 holiday.

Pennsylvania State President Selected

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) — Dr. Eric A. Walker, vice president of Pennsylvania State University, has been named to succeed Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower in the presidency.

The President's brother submitted his resignation three weeks ago for "personal reasons" and later informed the university's trustees it was irrevocable. He has said he does not intend to take a government position.

The trustees named Dr. Walker, 46, yesterday and said his elevation to the presidency would be set for a later date. He was born in Long Eaton, England. He would be the 12th president of the 101-year-old land grand institution.

The university does not disclose its president's salary. Dr. Eisenhower was believed to have received about $25,000 a year. His resignation becomes effective by Dec. 31.

Flint Motorist Killed

Social Security Cards Await

If you're a recent high school graduate or student seeking employment for the first time, the Pontiac branch of the Social Security Administration wants to see you.

Of if you're a happy June bride soon to adopt a new monicker, you are wanted also.

Gilbert G. Gallivan, assistant district manager of the Pontiac office, said this is the peak season for issuance or original Social Security cards and "change of name" applicants.

"In the past four weeks we have issued 1,000 new cards and have received some 500 applications for change of name," Gallivan said.

And 35 per cent of the young people requesting Social Security Cards are sent in by their prospective employers after the applicants had failed to get their Social Security number.

It's a very easy and fast process to apply for a card, Gallivan said. It takes about 10 minutes at the office at 18 S. Perry St. No birth certificate, working papers or parents tagging along needed. And there is no charge.

Although old-age retirement at 65 is a long way off for most graduates, the office said young people can begin building survivors insurance protection for his or her future family.

If you can't make it into the main Oakland County office, applications can be secured at any post office. The application must then be forwarded to Pontiac or any other district office.

Gallivan warned Social Security card holders that if they lose their card, to make a new application immediately at the Pontiac office, and you will get the same number out of 120,000,000 accounts in the country, Gallivan added.

* * *

"Most kids are doing a fine job of remembering to come in, thanks to an educational program in social studies being carried on in our high schools," the official said.

Your Signature

Many difficulties would be avoided if persons would place a greater value on their signature. Given wisely, it can add greatly to your well being; given carelessly, it can cause distress and loss of money. Too many persons sign contracts without reading them, or read them without too much thought, depending on the verbal promises of the salesman. Your signature to a contract means that you understood the terms thereof and are willing to abide by all its terms and provisions.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

J. L. VOORHEES

You who read this message have wife and family around you. You have a home, comfort, and wealth; your life-span has been stretched from forty to eighty. You fly through the air faster than the fastest bird. Your telephone reaches loved ones thousands of miles away. You read the news that happened today. These things began with July 4th, 1776. It is the natal day of a Nation.

M. B. SIPLE

The signers of the Declaration of Independence were like a sculpter with a piece of marble; all they had was raw land, vision, and fiercely determined people to be free. Out of valleys, rivers and mountains they created the United States. 4th of July, 1956, we look at the work they started and we have helped to perpetuate; we'll look into the future and again pledge our life, our fortune, our strength to chisel our name on the walls of the most wonderful creation ever made by man—The United States of America.

Fires Are Costly

Everyone who thinks about it knows that fires are expensive and that it is wise to take precautions about a home. However, it is easy to become careless and forget the danger to life as well as property.

The experience of Salem, Mass., provides an impressive lesson. That city suffered a disastrous blaze forty-two years ago. Three persons were killed, 18,000 left homeless when 1,800 buildings were destroyed.

Salem and its residents borrowed millions of dollars to rebuild. Some came from banks, some from the State. After forty-two years the last note has been paid.

This is something to remember. How safe is your home? Do you keep your basement and attic clean? Is your wiring in good condition? Are there any fire hazards that could be eliminated? A few simple, preventive steps might save years of payments on a note.

Monorail for Detroit?

Detroit's Rapid Transit Commission at last is going to give consideration to construction of a monorail line as one unit in its mass public transportation system.

Many years ago Eddie Rickenbacker, head of Eastern Airlines, urged the building of a monorail to speed up the traffic between the Willow Run Airport and downtown Detroit, but he was unable to arouse interest in the project.

One reason lies in the fact that no public transit systems of this sort exist in the United States. One has been operating successfully in Germany for fifty years.

The monorail system reverses the customary plan of operating cars on top of metal rails. The monorail cars are suspended from a single rail. This cuts costs.

Murel Goodell, president of Monorail, Inc., of Houston, Texas, is submitting cost figures to the Detroit Commission. He says Detroit could build twenty-five miles of dual track monorail and equip it with ninety coaches for less than one million dollars a mile. Expressways cost ten millions a mile.

The monorail lines would not eliminate expressways. They might help to solve the problem of getting commuters into and out of the city. They might prove either a temporary or permanent substitute for a subway.

Goodell says such an operation would prove profitable in Detroit. He has built a demonstration monorail on an old racetrack in Houston.

Needless to say, Detroit voters would have to approve of a monorail system before one could be constructed and put into operation. The Transit Commission has been authorized to make a report to the Mayor and Common Council when it determines a feasible means of providing rapid transportation.

Woodland Beauty

One has to slow down a bit and wander out into the wilds to come in contact with some of Nature's loveliest creations.

Take the wild rose, for example. You will find it growing in great profusion in the woodlands. No pretentious or exotic flower is this. Simple in outline, delicate in color, it nevertheless adds its beauty to the woodlots with a profusion that is extraordinary.

Frequently found blooming close to the ground, its bushes sometimes grow six feet or more in height. These larger bushes are lovely in the spring and early summer, but the smaller ones also help to provide that variety of bright and delicate colors which rewards a visit to the woods at this time of the year.

The next time life grows too complicated, hie yourself out into the rural areas and take a quiet look at Nature's beauty. You will find that you can forget your troubles. Life's complexities slip away into the realm of forgotten things. You will return refreshed, your outlook on an even keel once more.

"By removing half her brain, a surgeon changed an incorrigible child into a docile and lovable girl." —News item. There are a few brats, however, especially of the contrary sex, whose obstreperousness could be cured only by removing the entire brain.

Dispute Over Ionia Labor May Be Campaign Issue

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—The walkout of union labor on the Ionia prison project may have promoted a long-simmering controversy in state government to the status of a top-drawer political campaign issue.

That is, assuming differences at the roots of the dispute are not quickly reconciled.

There are many ramifications to the work stoppage on the seven million dollar medium security prison, which when completed will house 600 prisoners.

Not the least of them is the overcrowding at existing institutions, which currently house a record high population of 10,142.

A little bit farther in the background are the riots at the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson in 1952. Penologists agree that overcrowding is an important factor in prison blowups.

ONLY REAL HOPE

The extra space anticipated at Ionia represents the only very real present hope of relieving prison population pressures.

Building-trades men at Ionia vowed more than a month ago that they would walk out if the state persisted in plans to use inmate labor on minor phases to stretch available construction dollars.

This attitude puts the focus on a bill backed by Democratic Gov. Williams for $125,000 in additional building funds for Ionia, an amount the governor says would eliminate the need for inmate labor.

The bill, approved by the politically evenly divided house, now is corked up in a Senate committee controlled by Republicans.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), committee chairman, said early in the controversy that he didn't like the idea of an "ultimatum" from union leaders—a "vote the money or else" stand.

UNION DICTATION

Other Republicans feel, too, that they are being subjected to dictation by union leaders seldom very friendly in the past.

They argue that the Democratic administration has enough money anyway, provided its properly used.

The governor, and most other Democrats agree, contends it is basically a bad policy to let prisoners and outside labor work on the same project.

They bring up the argument that use of inmates subtracts jobs from the free labor market at a time when there aren't enough for men outside the walls.

Which side has the right slant?

There's little doubt that Sen. Porter will be able to sell his position to the farmers and businessmen of his home community. It's the same with many other Republican legislators.

THE CITY VIEW

And Williams may well carry the debate with the legions of unionmen and city folk sensitive to the problems of union labor to whom he must look for support.

Perhaps the controversy provides a clue as to why Democrats have been electing a governor in recent years, and Republicans legislative majorities.

Visitation Commemorated Monday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

St. Luke, in his first chapter, verses 39 to 56, tells the lovely story of how the Blessed Virgin Mary, immediately after learning that she was to be the mother of Jesus, went to visit her cousin Elizabeth, who was soon to bear John the Baptist. Elizabeth's home, according to tradition was Ain Karin in the beautiful hill country just west of Jerusalem, a journey of about 80 miles for Mary.

According to the story, Elizabeth's baby "leaped for joy" in her womb at the sound of Mary's voice, and it was at this moment, so the Roman Catholic church teaches, that John the Baptist was cleansed from original sin and filled with heavenly graces. It is the first recorded instance of the Lord's use of His mother as mediator in the sanctifying of man. Monday is observed in the Roman calendar in commemoration of this event. It is called the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Mary stayed three months with Elizabeth and returned home just before John was born. If John's birth occurred on June 24, the day on which it is universally celebrated, then July 2 is chronologically wrong for the Visitation. This, of course, is not important. None of these ancient dates is ever exact.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Independence Day is not a religious holiday, but nearly all American churches will take some notice of it on the preceding Sunday, which the National Council now calls Independence Sunday. One church, the Episcopal, has made official provision for a service on July 4 itself.

Before the American Revolution the present Episcopal Church was a part of the Church of England, a "state" church, in which days of patriotic significance were observed as a matter of routine. It seemed quite natural therefore after the Revolution to put something in the new Prayer Book abut the day that might be called the new country's birthday, and a prayer of thanksgiving was proposed "for the inestimable blessings of religious and civil liberty."

Such a prayer would certainly be acceptable to everyone today, but in 1786 it would have been offensive to a comparatively large group of Episcopal clergymen who had never been very enthusiastic about the Revolution in the first place. Its inclusion might have prevented the new Prayer Book from being adopted. So, tact and diplomacy prevailed: the prayer was withdrawn and it was not until 1928 that any provision for July 4th was made in the American Book of Common Prayer.

FIRST OFFICIAL SAINT

Wednesday is St. Ulrich's Day. It is not a particularly important day, nor was Ulrich a particularly important saint. His distinction lies in the fact that he was the first saint ever canonized according to the present formal procedure of the Roman Catholic Church. This happened on February 3, 993.

Through all the centuries prior to this, saints became saints pretty much by just popular acclaim in their own localities, always, of course, with the bishop's approval. There was no official or universal machinery. And as time went on the number of local saints and their local cults grew to a point of confusion that amounted almost to chaos.

A saint is a person who has already been received into the Church Triumphant, a person worthy of veneration by the Church on earth, and this is a dignity not to be lightly established. It was therefore only logical that the time should come when the Pope, as representing the whole church, would take to himself the responsibility.

Ulrich, Bishop of Augsburg for 50 years, was the first whose name came up for this formal consideration, or at least the first approved. Even in his case the old habits had not yet been entirely overcome. The people of Augsburg, with the consent of the new bishop, had already begun to venerate Ulrich as a saint.

Shopper Wants Apparel Sold in Proper Season

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters, but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Last February I went to purchase a dark winter dress. My daughter and I walked from one end of Saginaw Street to the other and not a dark winter dress to be had in a reasonable price range, but there were numerous light colored thin summer dresses available.

In the hat shops, the same thing. One clerk looked at me as though I had said something shocking when I asked to see a black felt hat. They didn't have a winter hat in the store, only summer straws. (There was only a foot of snow on the ground at the time.)

I have heard the same complaint from so many women, I think something should be done about it. We are just getting into the mood now of purchasing summer clothing, so please put your winter apparel back in storage for a few more months.

Presley Defended by Another Fan

I am a fan of Elvis Presley and I don't think it's fair the way most adults are talking about him. The reason that most adults don't like him is because of the way he wears his hair or the way he stands.

That's no reason to talk about him or write articles about him. Now, some of the disc jockeys won't even play his records. But that won't stop us teenagers. One more point I'd like to make . . . why the big fuss over Elvis Presley? When Johnny Ray was first discovered, the teenagers also liked him.

But there were no nasty articles about him. Presley doesn't take off his shirt, tie and shoes. I have nothing against Johnny Ray.

Why don't you adults just let us teenagers pick our own type of singers? Even if all the disc jockeys quit playing his records, we teenagers won't stop buying them.

Allies Missing Point

Were Failures by Stalin Cause for Downgrading?

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press

By concentrating their thoughts on whether the Communist disturbance over the downgrading of Stalin was prearranged, Western observers are themselves downgrading what may be a very important factor.

Sec. Dulles to the contrary, there is a growing stack of evidence that the criticism and questioning of Khrushchev had been guided and perhaps inspired by Kremlin agents. The critics, such as Togliatti of Italy, Thorez of France and Dennis of the United States, follow one another too patly, sometimes word for word. Pravda published Dennis, who was slightly more moderate than the others, and Moscow Radio is now discussing the criticisms.

There may be a tendency among Western observers to place too much emphasis on the whole business as a primarily international manifestation.

The Stalin system had failed within Russia in many ways, but had fastened itself tightly on the thinking of vast numbers of people. The new regime felt it had to be changed, and set about changing it in a numbers of ways. But there had to be an explanation, sooner or later, of the reason for change.

It is not true, despite the widely held impression aboard, that Khurshchev's "downgrading" speech last February was kept secret in Russia, although it was not published. The heirarchy moved careful step by careful step.

Local party meetings were held, and the gist of the charges against Stalin discussed discreetly by party experts. Finally, an incomplete transcript was allowed to reach the hands of the foreign power most likely to publish it.

Foreign party leaders began, by their criticism, to support the Khrushchev group's decision for changes. At the same time they are demanding explanations of why Stalin's associates permitted the excesses of the old regime.

Thus the domestic issues has assumed international overtones, setting the stage for the Kremlin to kill several birds with one stone.

The hierarchy is now in position to do some more explaining "by request" which it has been intending to do all along, bringing out more of the old saory for the benefit of Russians.

Western observers jump to the conclusion that international Communism has been weakened, adding to the soporific effect of the smile offensive.

Western Communist parties escape, or try to escape, the onus of strict allegiance to the Kremlin.

One thing to remember in trying to assess all these developments is that there are many angles, enough to fill a box. There is no room in a column, or time at a news conference, to put them all in context, even if there were sufficient knowledge available to do so, and there is not.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Use Plain Soap, Water, No Creams

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Can't understand about the blackheads because I wash my face several times a day . . . hate to go any place because I'm so self conscious . . . tried all of the so-called miracle medicines and creams . . . 16 and so unhappy . . . (Alida).

Answer—Blackheads are not due to lack of cleanliness. One with oily skin, blackheads, and pimples should use plain soap and water for washing the face not more than twice a day, no creams. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on ACNE—BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES.

I plan to have my next baby at home. I haven't convinced my husband yet but I'm working at it . . . (Mrs. P. L.).

Answer—You mean to say he LIKES being ridiculed, pampered, patronized, and pushed around by the men and women in white?

So thankful for the pamphlet on deafness. As long as I do the exercises you prescribe my hearing is as clear as a bell. My father grew progressively deaf as the years passed, and I'm sure that would have been my lot but for your teaching. (Mrs. B. J.).

Answer—It's possible. On written request any reader who provides stamped, self-addressed envelope may have the pamphlet DEAFNESS AND TINNITUS (HEAD NOISES). It contains instructions for the exercises Mrs. J. mentions.

Recipe for using whole wheat . . . (Mrs. L. I. B.).

Answer—Several such recipes, sent to me by readers, are given in the pamphlet WHEAT TO EAT, for which send stamped, selfaddressed envelope.

Have to walk and stand all day on concrete floors . . . my feet . . . (P. F. C.).

Answer—Your feet and/or foot wear, not the floors are at fault. Send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet CARE OF THE FEET. Wear thick felt insoles or socks with thick wool soles.

I have followed for 9 months the Abrahamson died for hyperinsulinism and feel like a new person. It gave me complete relief from hay fever last fall. Would it be safe to continue on the diet indefinitely? Doctors I asked about it here seemed to know nothing about it. (J. L. S.).

Answer—Yes, safe enough. It would perhaps be good for all of us to exclude from our diet most of the items Dr. Abrahamson lists on p. 69 of his remarkable book BODY, MIND AND SUGAR (Henry Holt and Co., New York, $2.95). A good many persons with hyperinsulinism (low blood sugar) drift along getting a little or no better because few doctors think of low blood sugar as a cause of bizarre symptoms, and fewer still know how to diagnose it.

How in tarnation can anyone do a dozen inflations of the bellows before going to sleep? It relaxes me so I fall asleep before I have done six. If I do it in the morning I go back to sleep! (Mrs. T. W. F.).

Answer—Half dozen; more or less, are sufficient. Many persons report that they drop off asleep before they finish a half dozen. Every intelligent person should know how the bellows works. Send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 21, HOW TO BREATHE.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Don't Let Children Rule Roost

Tommy's parents are juvenile in their grasp of parental psychology. By their sins of omission, they are letting him become an emotional tyrant. If he later gets a divorce or quits school and becomes a juvenile offender, they will be accessories to his crimes. Don't let any child out-bluff you. Better that he shed a few tears now than spend a lifetime in Alcatraz!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-396: Tommy T., aged two years, is a livewire youngster.

"But his parents spoil him already," his Sunday school teacher said.

"They give in to him on every occasion. He is literally the tyrant of his home.

"They can't attend any evening church meetings or social events in their neighborhood.

"For they say Tommy screams and throws a tantrum if they bring in a baby-sitter.

HORSE SENSE

We psychologists have an old adage that "There's a straight road between the high chair and the electric chair."

It sounds ominous, doesn't it? But it is true. Criminals don't suddenly start that way after they are 15 or 20 years old.

No, they are often launched on the highway to criminality at the toddling stage.

Well-meaning but myopic parents, such as Tommy's, give in to their children instead of rearing them according to psychological Hoyle.

"But I can't bear to see the big tears rolling down Tommy's cheeks," his father later confessed to me.

"Better see his tears now, than feel your own rolling down your cheeks as you look through prison bars at Tommy 20 years hence," I bluntly reminded him.

Parents, please remember that your primary job is not to please yourselves when you have babies, but to prepare those babies for self-reliant adulthood.

Many of you parents forget that fact. You seem to think your babies are just pleasurable objects for you to enjoy.

LISTEN, PARENTS

Well, Mrs. Crane and I have five children, now almost grown. And they have had an excellent religious environment.

But many a night I have heard her crying into her pillow and I have stared at the ceiling till near dawn trying to figure out a solution by which we could help our youngsters avoid disaster.

In fact, we have occasionally made lecture trips into their areas to lend a general supporting background when we sensed they were in a crucial situation.

Rearing children is not a picnic. It is a job, like working your way through college.

And it is probably just as educational at the end as a B. A. or B. S. college degree.

But one of the first warnings to parents is this: There are definite rules of the game for child rearing, as well as for marriage, baseball or business and banking.

You must play ball according to those rules. And don't let your baby out-bluff you, either at the table or at night when you wish to go out.

Choose a known baby-sitter whom the child likes. Cushion the shock by telling him where you're going and why and when you'll return.

Then go out, regardless of his big tears. For if you let him be a dictator at the age of 12 months or two years, he'll rule you the rest of your lives and try to do the same for his wife, school teacher and others.

They will not take it and the police may ultimately catch up with him.

So you will be an accessory to his adult crimes by your sins of omission.

To be a successful parent, take inventory via the 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Aviation Pioneer Changes Ideas Into Profits

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—William P. Lear, who kicked up an international fuss after becoming the first American to fly his own plane to Moscow, is an aviation pioneer who parlayed energy and ideas into a 60 - million - dollar business.

The outspoken industrialist has the reputation of being an inventive genius with the drive of a super salesman. "If I were alive 100 years from now," he once said, "it wouldn't surprise me to be able to televise my entire body through the air by electronic waves."

This startling statement is typical, yet Lear is not exactly a visionary. At 54 he is chairman of the board of Lear, Inc., which he established in 1930 and since has built into one of the main suppliers of electronic and mechanical gear for American planes. His firm makes 500 separate items.

When Lear flew his five - place private plane to Moscow Tuesday, he said his electronic equipment was "extremely" new to the Russians. He was quoted as saying he expects NATO embargoes on trade with the Communists to be lifted soon.

This brought the comment from his company here that the equipment in the plane is "entirely civilian commercial equipment that anybody can buy any place in the free world through any of the Lear distributors."

Company President Richard M. Mock added that no sales have been made in Russia and no sales will be made. Mock termed Lear's visit "strictly a pleasure trip."

Lear himself said last night in Moscow that he had no intention of selling any of his company's equipment to the Soviet Union. He was summoned to the American Embassy for a talk with U.S. Minister Walter Walmsley, but he declined afterward to discuss their conversation.

No desk man, and no idle traveler either, Lear acts as test pilot to evaluate nearly every device his firm perfects. And he spans the world in his private plane to plug his products.

He is famed within the aviation industry as the creator of small black devices that automatically land, in the foulest weather, any plane on which they are installed —from tiny private jobs to the latest jets.

Perfection of this equipment for jets won him the Collier Trophy in 1950, at the height of the Korean conflict, when it was considered a boon to fighter pilots. President Truman himself made the presentation.

A man of limited formal education — he finally finished high school in Tulsa, Okla., "where I did four years' work in two semesters"—Lear moved about restlessly in earlier years. At 16 he was a veteran of World War Navy service as a radio operator. He gave up the Navy upon deciding that it would "take too long to become an admiral."

Thereafter he embarked on a career of selling his ideas to the highest bidder. Once he worked briefly for Radio Corp. of America as a consultant for $25,000 a year, plus $15,000 engineering fee. This he also gave up.

"I didn't want to be hog-tied," he explained. "I didn't want any man or anything for a boss."

Abandoned even earlier were postschool jobs in radio and as a garage mechanic. But it was in those days that he learned to fly, in war surplus jennies. This set the pattern for his ultimate career.

He hit the jackpot financially when he began to invent radio gadgets. The first was a standardized frequency amplifier. Over the years there were scores of others —an auto radio, a direction finder, navigational aids.

But not all his inventions are in the transportation field. One is a device that whispers confidentially to housewives in stores, urging them to buy certain brands.

His present company centers about 92 per cent of its activity on government production, yet Lear holds that the future of aviation rests with the business airplane. Last September he established his personal headquarters at Geneva, Switzerland. His wife Moya, daughter of Ole Olsen of the "Hellzapoppin" comedy team, and the four Lear children live there with him.

Lear recently hired ex-King Michael of Romania to head his European sales staff. His son William Lear Jr. is manager. Corporate headquarters, however, are here because the elder Lear likes the climate. He still has a home here. The firm's principal manufacturing plant is at Grand Rapids, Mich. Another plant is in Elyria, Ohio.

Sunglasses are most becoming when they're unadorned. Leave the rhinestones to the evening hours and the flowers to somebody else. Have your sun specs plain and look pretty.

Stresses Value of Summer Suit

PARIS (INS) — A neatly styled suit is the most important outfit for a woman who spends the month of July in a city.

Famed Paris couturier Jean Desses advises a linen or shantung suit as the most Parisian for city wear in the summertime.

"Choose your daytime suit in a light color," Desses said. "But have a dark colored cocktail dress if you come to Paris in summer. You will feel disappointed in a flower print should it rain. But you always will feel elegant in navy blue or even in black after dark.

"Make your dark colored cocktail dress look light and summery by wearing it with light colored or white accessories, a white hat and elegant long white gloves."

Desses claims that foreigners in Paris can be spotted by their clothes. In daytime, for instance, Parisiennes don't wear blouses, he said.

Bending Exercises Slim Waistline

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The waist measurement is a crucial one so far as figure beauty is concerned. Yet this is one of the favorite spots for fat to accumulate.

By the time a woman reaches middle age it is unusual if her waist measurement has not increased by a few inches. Often it is many inches more.

If you have a slim waist, you can carry a few inches more than perfection on your hips and still give a willowy and youthful impression. Once you thicken up through the middle you will look much older.

The size of the waist can be controlled if you will keep your weight correct and will do special waist exercises. Many women who have the correct number of pounds notice a change in waist measurement. Muscles become lax and weight often collects in this area unless you exercise.

The bending exercises are the ones for the woman who wishes to slim her waistline.

ANOTHER FAULT

There is another very prevalent figure fault which detracts from an otherwise lovely silhouette. I am speaking of the pads of fat which lie just below the waist in the back, at each side, or at the top of each hip.

which will give you a couple of them.

There are specific exercises

This time bend the trunk to the right and raise the left arm up by the left ear. Hold it there as you bend. Raise the trunk and return the left arm to shoulder-height position.

OR TRY THIS

2. Another exercise for those two pads of fat: Lie on your back on the floor. Your arms rest on the floor at your sides, palms toward the floor.

Bend both knees up close to the abdomen. Cling to the floor with your fingertips as you roll from side to side. Keep your knees bent.

If you would like to have my tested waist-slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Win the admiration of both family and friends with this lovely lace set for table and TV. You'll be fascinated watching this exquisite lace take form as your crochet hook goes back and forth.

Noisy Jewelry, Clank of Chains Forecast for Fall

NEW YORK (INS)—If a well-dressed woman doesn't clank and clink with every step she takes next fall—it won't be the fault of the jewelry industry.

Costume jewelry with lots of clank and clink is the style for next season—and the more you rattle, the more fashionable you'll be.

Chains, keys and large draped chatelaines are the metallic leaders in fall jewelry. You could probably get the same results by wearing the house keys, but that isn't cricket.

The idea is to buy fob pins with half a dozen fake keys clanking merrily from your belt, or lots of chains for your wrist.

A chatelaine, however, is supposed to replace your necklace. This is that necklace-type chain or chains strung between two pins that you attach to your chest, usually with one pin at shoulder level and the other slightly lower on the opposite side. It's '56 fall version carries as many as 21 chains, all of which bang together with satisfying and stylish jewelry noise.

Seven State Workers Retire This Month

Seven employees retired from Pontiac State Hospital this month. More than a hundred years of total service is represented in the terms of employment of the retirees.

Retiring were George Summers, Mrs. Margaret Simkins, Frank Simkins, Herman Warner, Frank Willis, King Tinnin and Carl Gaskins.

Federal inspection procedure calls for the purple "U.S. Insp'd and P's'd' " on some large cuts of meat. The stamping flud is harmless and removal before cooking is not necessary.

Is Garment Washable?

Test New Clothes Before Laundering in Machine

Wondering whether to wash a new garment?

If it's made of a synthetic fabric, here are some rules you can follow if no lanudry instructions were given.

Examine the article closely and make sure it is well constructed and the seams are well finished.

Now take a look at the trimmings. Applique or embroidery of a contrasting color may not be wash-fast. Is the beading the kind dry-cleaners call "sugar" and remove before cleaning—for obvious reasons?

If you're confident the garment may be machine-washed, an appliance manufacturers association urges these precautions.

Wash a colored or color-trimmed garment by itself. Turn the temperature control on your washer down to warm. After three minutes washing, let it spin-dry for one minute.

White articles should be washed in very hot water, but reduce washing and spin-drying time to half what you usually allow for white clothes.

If you're hesitating because of flimsy construction, wash the garment by hand in very hot soapsuds and rinse in water of the same temperature.

Shoe Tones Contrast

Flats for the street boast colors that provide for some new contrasts between dress and feet. You might try a flame-colored kid flat with your beige linen sheath—or a lemon-colored one with your black linen.

Even a black patent skimmer has contrasting diamonds of red and white calf across the vamp.

Flats preview many of the fashion particulars we're going to see this fall such as the straight-across vamp, along with the instep strap, contrasting textures, leather bows and perforations of spring.

Some of the dressier flats are of white, gold or beige kid embossed or printed with floral designs in pastel colors or gold. A Grecian T-sling sandal comes in white kid, and black or red patent.

Empire Design Permits Natural Waistline Curve

The empire line continues to enjoy all the popularity that was forecast, particularly when the waist is allowed to curve in naturally as it does on this Ben Barrack model.

An applied band of self material marks the high point, is repeated on the wide, scooped neck.

Not so much for modesty as for flattering softness, the decolletage is filled in with a contrasting ruffle of organdy, which perhaps is used again to finish the short sleeve.

Easy to make because the pattern is cut by hand and therefore accurate, you'll find the open perforations assure perfect matching that contribute to the professional look.

Choose linen, faille, plain or printed silk, shantung or peau de soie. Other contrast suggestions are organza, pique or sheers.

Protect Hair From Sun

Your head might feel hotter in the summer, but the hair's the same—unless, of course, you neglect it. Most women will take windburn, but somehow, forget about protecting their hair.

Strong sun bleaches out hair and makes the crowning glory rather unglorious-looking. To avoid that sun-streaked, faded, dry look—have regard for your hair this summer.

If you plan to sit out on the beach all day or ride in an open convertible, be sure to wear some kind of head covering. A straw hat, beanie or even a kerchief will do, just as long as your hair is protected from Old Sol's scorching rays.

And salt water might be fun to swim in, but it plays havoc with our hair. Always wear a bathing cap, as salt water not only dries out the hair, but bleaches it, too.

Even if you're a pool dweller, take heed of that chlorinated water. It's clear and a disinfectant—but also a bleach.

If ice cream is too hard for dipping, let it stand for 10 minutes at room temperature or let it stand for half an hour in the refrigerator.

This summer, evening wear is casual and gay for country and country club occasions; not elegant and sophisticated.

Have you ever bewailed your choice of the handsome satin gown you wore instead of "your flowered chiffon"? Easier-to-wear fashions for the country . . . bracelets little more than strands of beads twisted around the wrist, simple sandals look best.

The trouble with building in the suburbs is that by the time you finish paying for the place the suburbs have moved 10 miles farther out.

Other helpers were Joan Messer, Mrs. Gerald Ferguson, Mrs. Earl Price, Gail Marien, Grace Cowley, Patsy Hoyes, Emy Lou Hardy, Ileane Wilson and Carol Anthes.

The primary department studied Psalm 23 and was directed by Mrs. Gerald Schultz. Her associates were Mrs. Robert Koch, Mrs. Chester Verhey, Mrs. Leon Verney, Mrs. Carl Matheny, Mrs. John Snead, Mrs. Ervin Christie, Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. Charles Nelson, Mrs. Wilbur Hinsperger and Mrs. Milton Blood.

The leader of the junior group was Mrs. LeRoy Koch. Their study was "The Christian's Birth and Growth." Working with the boys and girls were Mrs. Charles Bradsher, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Shafer, Mrs. Robert Quance, Mrs. Fred Froede, LeRoy Koch, Mrs. Emmett Bradley and the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach.

"Answering God's Call" was the subject studied by the Junior High group. Mrs. Theodore R. Allebach had on her staff Gary Bowes, Donald Cox, Mrs. William Cox, Mrs. Thomas Hegwood, Charles Bradsher and Mrs. Glora Luck.

Mrs. Claude Cox, Mrs. Gilbert O'Brien and Mrs. Betty Henry were in charge of the cradle roll.

According to Mrs. Luck, general director, the enrollment this year established a record high of 326.

Confident Living

Discovered Vital Secret: In Trouble, Call for Help

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I received a letter the other day with a check in it, and for an odd amount too — $31. Just why that particular sum, I don't know, but that's the way it was written.

The letter said, "Dear Dr. Peale, I am enclosing my check in the amount of $31 drawn to your order. May I ask that you use the proceeds of this check in any way that will be pleasing to God. The writer is a former alcoholic who lived on skid row for over three years. Have been arrested for drunkenness and drunk driving a number of times.

DR. PEALE

"Don't know how many jails I've been in or how much time I've served. I tried to quit drinking at least 100 times, but just couldn't do it. Then, in my darkest hour I chanced to read (or was it chance?) Jeremiah 33:3. I believed these words. Through prayer I was able to change completely the course of my life. Sincerely, ——."

Well, I endorsed that check over to a good cause and then took down my Bible to refresh my recollection of the verse this man mentioned. Jeremiah 33:3 reads:

"Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not."

Now I don't know whether any of my readers have had a great spiritual experience and awakening, such as that this man recounted in his letter. His struggle was a dramatic and a difficult one. He repeatedly tried to do something with himself, but he failed.

ESTABLISHED CONTACT

And then, one day, he opened his Bible and came upon just these nineteen words. What happened to him as a result? He got a dynamic and creative idea. It drove deeply into his mind. He began to believe it. He established contact with God, the Creator who also re-creates people, and now he can write that he is a changed man.

And I'm sure he really is changed because of the fact that he enclosed that check. Anyone can write glibly about being chang'', but when he sends money — and money comes hard for people like this — we can be sure it is a genuine change. In my experience, the last thing to be converted is the pocketbook, especially when there's not much in it.

This man's story illustrates a simple, primary and fundamental technique by which each of us can become a better person. I'm sure everyone wants to be an improved individual.

And what do we mean by a better person? Simply one who has learned to get a firmer hold of himself, to be more efficient and more effective, to get along well with people and to overcome the weaknesses and deficiencies that have plagued him all his life.

CHANGE FROM WITHIN

Real self-improvement comes from personality change deep within. You can go to church for years and perhaps get only a veneer of improvement. Nobody ever really became a better person unless he wanted to with all his heart and was willing to work at it and to believe deeply.

Inside many of us there are conflicting and defeatist forces which frustrate our occasional impulses to do something about ourselves. They always hold us back. If you really want to be a better person, you have to reach for it with all that you have of desire, determination and faith.

It is pretty difficult for a human being to change for the better without spiritual motivation and understanding. But the Bible tells you how — it is the finest how-to-do-it book ever written. It is a very specific handbook for remaking your personality and life.

It teaches you how to think, how to have good personal relations, how to have strength. In short, it outlines how to change from a defeated to a successful human being. The basic secret is that it reconditions your thinkang.

Importance of Religion Stressed by U.S. Agency

The U. S. Information Agency has asked its overseas employes to disseminate concrete facts about the importance of religion in U. S. life and culture. A guidance paper stresses that a bond exists everywhere between people who cherish spiritual values.

It also cautions against "giving the erroneous impression that we think the U. S. is the only nation where spiritual values are recognized."

11 Cities Eyed as New Missions by Religious Sect

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The annual synod of the Christian Reformed Church has adjourned after authorizing its home missions committee to open 10 new fields; adopting a stand on labor unions and tabling plans for a new Calvin College campus.

The synod, highest governing body of the denomination, had been in session 13 days before adjournment.

Cities under consideration in the new mission fields include:

Boston; Syracuse; Buffalo; South Bend; St. Louis; Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Fairbanks, Alaska; Omaha; Indianapolis, Toledo and Jackson.

The synod adopted a series of resolutions on "neutral" labor unions (CIO and AFL) in response to requests from Canadian classes.

One stated that "although synod recognized that membership in so-called neutral unions is not necessarily incompatible with membership in the church, it wishes to keep alive the awareness of the antithesis and reminds members of the church that so-called neutral organizations often deny the word of God, as is evident from the practice of many labor unions."

First Methodist Pastor Arrives

Rev. Paul Hart, Minister at Davison, Assumes Duties Here

Appointed pastor of the First Methodist Church at the recent Detroit Annual Conference of the Methodist Church in Adrian was the Rev. Paul T. Hart of the Methodist Church in Davison.

The son of a Methodist minister who served in Michigan 40 years, he received his schooling at Bob Jones College and Westminster Theological Seminary.

In 1938, he was ordained and served pastorates in Jeddo and Fargo from 1938-1940, and Trinity Methodist Church in Yale the following two years.

He was transferred to the Marquette District in 1943 where he served until December 1949 when he took up his duties at Davison.

The Rev. Mr. Hart was married in March 1936 to Dora L. Cubitt of Sandusky. Mrs. Hart was a teacher in Sanilac County prior to her marriage.

Interested not only in church activities but also civic groups, the Rev. Mr. Hart helped to organize a Kiwanis Club in Davison and served on the board of directors two years. Last year he was membership and attendance chairman of the club.

He serves the Flint District as

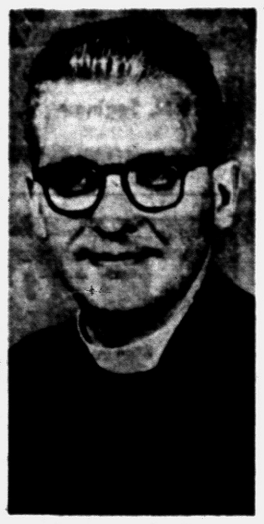

REV. PAUL T. HART

Mrs. Hart is secretary of missionary personnel of the District Woman's Society of Christian Service.

REV. JOHN W. WIGLE

Bishop Appoints Minister to Mission

The Church of the Advent, the new Episcopal Mission at the corner of W. Long Lake and Middlebelt Rds, now has a full time minister.

He was graduated from the University of Western Ontario in London and from the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Va.

The Rev. Mr. Wigle was ordained deacon at Christ Church Cranbrook on June 20.

He will be instituted as vicar by Ven. Archdeacon Ralph Parks at a special service at 9:30 Sunday morning in the church.

First Baptists Celebrate Missionary Day

Sunday will be "Missionary Day" at the First Baptist Church with Robert Savage, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Savage, speaking at the 10:45 morning service. Another young man of the church, Orval Dunkeld, will be speaking at 7:30 Sunday evening.

The Robert Savage family have just returned from Quito, Ecuador for a time of furlough. The Dunkelds who have been in the States for more than a year will be leaving Monday for their third term on the field in Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gould who have recently returned from six months survey trip in Latin America seeking out the Chinese speaking people, are also expected Sunday. Mrs. Gould is the former Helen Western.

When Dr. and Mrs. Savage came to the First Baptist Church in 1924, the missionary giving was about $1200.00 a year. The goal for the current year is $100,000.00.

The first missionary to go from the church was Ernestine Fisher who went to India in 1923. She served under the Women's Missionary Union.

In 1929, Dr. George Westcott went to Africa under the Unevangelized Fields Mission. He built a well-equipped hospital while on the field.

James Savage, son of the pastor, went to Venezuela, South America in 1941 under the Evangelical Alliance Mission.

The next of the young people to go was Ione (Reed) McMillan who sailed for Africa in 1942.

Robert Savage went out under the Evangelical Alliance Mission but later transferred to the World Radio Missionary Fellowship when he went to Quito to work at Station HCJB.

V. L. Martin went to the Netherlands, B.W.I. in 1949 while Dorothea (Keylon) Smith left for South America under Baptist Mid Mission in 1950. Under the Africa Inland Mission, Isabelle Jones became a missionary to Africa.

Marilou (Hoboith) McCully with her husband, the late Edward McCully served in South America leaving here in 1952. After the death of her husband, she returned to Pontiac.

Bob Shelton left in 1953 under Orient Crusades spending his first term in Okinawa. When he returns to the field this fall, he will probably be going to Indo China.

Helen (Savage) Broach, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Savage, is doing missionary work in South America under the Evangelical Alliance Mission.

Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Slater (Barbara Acre) are in Africa under the Conservative Baptist Foreign Missionary Society.

Ruth (Prevette) Hanselman has been in Belgium the past year in language school but will be going to Africa with her husband and family in September.

Leaving for work in the Phillipines about July 1 under Orient Crusades will be Bill McKee. These young people have all gone to the Foreign Field from the First Baptist Church.

A number of the young men and women are working in Home Mission Fields as well as several who are serving as pastors and Christian workers in other fields.

More than 100 young people have gone into full time Christian work during Dr. Savage's 33 years of ministry in Pontiac.

The church also supports a number of missionaries who have not grown up in the church here but have been taken on as a part of the missionary family.

At the present time the missionary family, both Home and Foreign Missions, consists of 44 adults and 33 children. The growth of the program is attributed to the missonary vision of Dr. and Mrs. Savage who have all three children on the field.

Speakers are presented many times during the year so the missionaries and the fields they represent are kept before the congregation.

The church plans to support, if possible, any young person from the First Baptist Church who desires to go to the Mission Field under a recognized fundamental Mission Board.

Most of the missionaries are supported by Sunday School classes or by a group of individuals who pledge a definite amount each month for some particular person's support.

A special feature of the service Sunday night will be a Commissioning Service for the Dunkeld family as they return to Africa.

Following the evening service, there will be a reception and time of fellowship so friends may greet the Bob Savage and the Orval Dunkeld families.

Young Missionaries Ready for Church Duty Overseas

One hundred and twenty young missionaries going aboard for the first time — many of them to fake situation of unparalleled complexity in the history of the churches' overseas work — are meeting at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. for a final briefing session.

In an intensive five-weeks course scheduled June 26 — July 31, the young men and women representing ten U. S. Protestant communions will study subjects ranging from discussion of specific geographical areas to methods of learning a new language, ways of staying healthy in a tropical climate and problems of nationalism and Communism.

They will also get basic instruction in literacy teaching, agricultural improvement and the use of radio and films in remote areas.

The young people, many of them married couples with young children, come from university and seminary campuses across the nation. About half of the group are ordained ministers. The remainder are specialists in fields ranging from social work and medicine to education and agriculture. Many of the young wives have been trained in nursing, home economics or as secretaries so they can assist their husbands on the job.

At the conclusion of the course the new missionaries will go out to serve in churches, hospitals, schools, refugee camps and other church centers in Africa, Asia, Latin America and points in the Far East including Japan, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Burma and Formosa.

The briefing session is the annual Missionary Training Conference sponsored by the Missionary Personnel Committee of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches.

The Rev. E. Bruce Copland, committee secretary and director of the training conference, described the final briefing conference as "essential in equipping the modern-day missionary for his job."

He added, "No longer can a missionary consider himself qualified to handle the burden of his responsibilities by reason of only formal academic training or personal zeal . . . The present situation in the majority of missionary areas makes it imperative that he also be 'a jack of many missionary trades.'"

Church Imports Italian Choir

Casa Materna Orphans to Sing on Home Show Monday

The children's choir from the Casa Materna orphanage in Naples, Italy, which has been touring the United States since February, will appear in a repeat performance Monday on the National Broadcasting Company's television show, "Home."

The choir's initial appearance on this show was on Feb. 23. Since that time the group has given almost 100 concerts, coast-to-coast, appearing at the Methodist General Conference, in colleges, schools and churches.

The choir was organized in 1953 by Joe Warner, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who was at Casa Materna for a year of teaching and social work. The children in the group range from 9 to 19 years of age. They will return to Italy on July 7.

An official connection between the Casa and the Methodist Church in America is maintained through the Methodist Board of Missions. The board makes an annual grant to the orphanage, and through it thousands of dollars in special gifts have been sent by Methodist churches and church groups.

Red squirrels voluntarily swim streams and lakes, including such waters as Lake George and the broadest parts of Lake Champlain, the National Geographic Society says.

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)—An era ended here recently when Iowa's last interurban passenger train completed its run. Electric lines had a flourishing passenger business in the 1920's but it has tapered off since then.

Indifference Stifles Learning

Educator Says Church Idea of Let Well Enough Alone Hurts Progress

A leading Christian educator charged today that the chief deterrent to progress in devleopment of the weekday Christian education program is the churches' proneness to "let well enough alone" and be "satisified with doing a little."

Dr. Paul H. Veith, of Yale Divinity School, declared, "They try to get too much for too little, If it were not for this we would have much better quality weekday schools and many more pupils in them."

The Yale educator is chairman of the steering committee of the first National Conference of Week day Religious Education, which opens a four-day session tonight at Oberlin, O.

"It is the satisfaction with doing little," he said, that "produces the bottleneck of inadequate financial support.

"Protestant churches do not want religion taught by the public schools, but in most cases they are also not ready for the alternative of giving adequate support to religious teaching in relation to the public school under the initiative and at the expense of the church."

Asked why the public school could not undertake religious training, Dr. Veith referred to the American system of separation of church and state which precludes sectarian teaching.

He added, "It may teach the facts of the relation of religion to history, the place of religious institutions and the religious content of art and literature. But true religious education is always education toward some religious faith and that makes it sectarian.

"The best the public school can do is to cooperate with the churches so that they may do what is their proper right and duty. The plan for releasing the pupil for certain hours so that he may receive religious education from the churches is in the American tradition of recognizing the importance of religion without making the agencies of the state into churches."

The Conference, convened by the National Council of Church, is being attended by some 300 denominational education officials, pastors and representatives of state and local councils of churches and weekday programs throughout the country. It is the first of its kind in the 40-year history of the movement which today serves an estimated three million school children of all faiths in 45 states.

Protestant Churches Aid Overseas Relief

Protestant churches around the world last year contributed in excess of $46,000,000 in cash, food, medicines and other supplies for relief purposes.

The total was announced by Dr. Leslie E. Cook in a report to 150 delegates meeting last week at Les Rasses, Switzerland for the annual consultation of the World Council of Churches' Division of Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees. Dr. Cook is director of the division.

• • •

Dr. Cook said special aid was rendered during the year in emergency situations such as floods in India and Pakistan, famine in Vietnamm, earthquakes in Greece and the Philippines, and damage to Orthodox communities and institutions in Turkey during anti-Greek riots there last September.

Prayer for This Week

Editor's Note: A prayer by a Pontiac pastor will be published each week with the hope it may be a help to someone. The Rev. Lyal H. Howison, pastor of the First Free Methodist Church, offers the following:

Lord of our lives, our Father dear
With thankful hearts we now draw near.
We praise Thee, Lord, with all our heart
We bless Thy Name for what Thou art.

We thank Thee, Lord, for birds and bees,
For grass and flowers, and all the trees,
For sun and rain and blessings rare,
For food and shelter and loving care.

We pray Thee, Lord, with all our might
That Thou wilt help us live aright,
That we may do and only say
The things that honor Thee alway.

We pray for friends and loved ones dear,
For all our foes and those we fear.
We pray for men with lives of sin
Whose hearts are mean and vile within
That they may turn from self to Thee
And learn to live and holy be.

We pray for those with cups of grief
That they in Thee may find relief.
We pray for rulers, small and great,
Rulers of Nation and rulers of State.

We would not ask for wealth or fame.
We would not ask for great acclaim.
We only ask to holy be;
To act and walk and talk like Thee.

And then when life for us is o'er
To live with Thee forevermore.
By our own merit we have no claim;
We only ask in Jesus name.

Amen

DR. JOHN H. HALL

Associate Pastors Arrive at Central Methodist

Coming to the Central Methodist Church as associate pastors are Dr. John H. Hall and the Rev. Calvin C. Rice. They were appointed by Bishop Marshall R. Reed at the Detroit Annual Conference held recently in Adrian.

The Rev. Mr. Rice, 25, grew up in Flint where he was graduated from Flint Central High. He is a graduate of Flint Junior College and attended Adrian College for a year.

He received his B. A. degree from Michigan State University in 1953 and attended Garrett College three years.

His wife, Rosemary, is a graduate of Flint Northern. Flint Junior College and the National College of Education.

The Rev. Mr. Rice will be the minister in charge of Christian Education and Youth Work.

Dr. John H. Hall comes here from Muskegon where he served as pastor of the Wood Avenue Methodist Church for the past nine years.

He was born in Stalwart about 30 miles from Sault St. Marie. After completing his school work in Pickford, he taught a rural school for a year. He attended Albion College until moving to Lincoln, Neb. where he was graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University.

While serving a pastorate in Omaha, Neb., he attended the Theological Seminary in Omaha. He was ordained in Omaha and assigned to full time work as pastor.

In recognition of his work in evangelism, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by John Fletcher College.

Dr. Hall also served several years as a member of the Board of Ministerial Training for young men taking the prescribed Conference Course of study for the ministry.

Mrs. Hall, born near Albion was a student in the conservatory of music at Albion College. Dr. and Mrs. Hall have both served as instructors and counsellors in youth camps and institutes.

Their son, Robert, is also a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and holds a Ph. D. degree from the University of Connecticut.

In 1940, Dr. Hall transferred back to the Michigan Conference where he has been pastor of churches in Clare, Grand Rapids and Muskegon. At Centeral Methodist, he will be minister of membership and evangelism work.

American Rabbis Offer Services in Soviet Temple

MOSCOW (INS) — The leader of a delegation of American Orthodox rabbis, the first to visit Russia in 40 years, paid tribute this week to Russia's jews in a vesper service sermon t the Moscow synagogue.

Rabbi David B. Hollander of New York, who is president of the American Rabbinical Council, said:

"We are privileged to re-establish religious contacts with our brethren after so many years. I hope it will continue strongly for many years without interruption."

Rabbi Hollander said American Jews never had forgotten the debt they owed to Russian jewry for producing so many great priests and teachers.

The five-man American delegation earlier visited the state committee on religious cults which oversees religious affairs in the Soviet Union.

Rabbi Hollander said committee officials expressed approval of the group's mission of re-establishing contacts between American and Russian Jews.

Pastor Reports on Resolutions

Rev. L. Shafer Attends 170 Annual Conference of Church of Brethren

The Rev. LeRoy Shafer, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, has returned from the 170th recorded Annual Conference held in Eugene, Ore.

He reports the following resolutions were passed by the delegate body.

"We commend those of our membership who take the conscientious objector position in relation to the draft, and we commend also those who maintain the peace witness in their vocational life. We reaffirm, with increasing urgency, our conviction that all war is sin, but we also record our continuing desire to exercise a positive reconciling ministry in a world of violence and conflict."

"We commend the United Nations and its leadership for every effort to bring about a cease fire, a permanent truce, and a settlement of the crisis in the Middle East. We urge our people to encourage our nation, in spite of many difficulties, to take more initiative and moral leadership in working for disarmament."

"We urge a revision of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act to provide f or a non-discriminating unified quota system.

"We reaffirm our belief that discrimination due to color is out of keeping both with the teachings of the New Testament and with the stated position of the Church of the Brethren. We speak firmly and in love to all Brethren who have been less than Christian in this matter, in every area of our land. We commend governmental agencies, our own churches, and decision. Our goal must be no less than an integrated church and public school in an integrated community."

"We would remind governmental and civic leaders that God's gener- our gifts of natural resources sho not be exploited for private gain, but rather conserved in accord with the principle of stewardship, for the benefit of all."

"In light of a growing and acute problem, we vigorously reaffirm fo ourselves the principle of total abstinence from the use of alcoholic beverages. We urge continued teaching and effective legislative control over the alcoholic beverage trade, particularly in advertising."

The Rev. C. Warren Wilson, pastor, said the school surpassed all expectations in interest and attendance. The l argest num ber present in any single day was 112.

The Bible School was under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Laur.

Canadian Grain Crop Damaged by Hailstones

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Hailstones described as the size of golf balls caused what is feared to be a 100 per cent loss to grain crops last night as the worst hail storm in a quarter-century hit southern Saskatchewan.

The storm struck an area 12 miles long and six miles wide in the Macoun and Midale areas, southeast of Weyburn. It lasted 30 minutes.

Nixon Speaks at Lions' Parley

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon came here to address the Lions International Convention today and then will take off on a ten-day trip around the world.

Nixon said he will stop in Los Angeles for a brief visit with his father at Whittier, Calif., then will go to Manila to help commemorate the 10th year of Philippine independence.

From there the Nixons will fly to Viet Nam, Saigon, thence to Calcutta, with a stop in Arabia and one in Rome. They will return to Washington July 10.

Nixon said President Eisenhower, whom he visited for 22 minutes in Walter Reed Hospital yesterday, has "the old Eisenhower spirit—plenty of bounce."

He said the President's appearance bore out encouraging reports appearing in the newspapers, and added:

"The President is one of those rare individuals who never lets one of these physical bouts which all of us have dampen his spirit." spirit."

He declined to comment on Eisenhower's future political plans and said that is something the President should comment on "when the time comes." He parried questions about his own political future.

The Yaqui are the best known and sturdiest Indian tribe of Sonora, Mexico.

In the high, mist-shrouded hills of Naga, along the India-Burma frontier, a score of tribes live as their remote ancestors did, says the National Geographic Society. Only yesterday tribe fought tribe for human heads. To the Naga, a severed head means more than an enemy slain; a head gives prosperity and "soul force."

The first permanent English settlement in Vermont was a blockhouse erected in 1724 in the town of Brattleboro and known as Ft. Dummer.

Ricochet Siren

ROY, Utah (AP)—This town recently installed a new air raid siren. But the signal bounces off a row of buildings and it can be heard in only half the town. But residents of Hooper, three miles west, can hear it all over their town.

NEW CAREER AT 52 — Bandleader Russ Morgan is making his debut as a dramatic film actor in "The Great Man," to be followed by a tough role in "Mister Cory." Next Saturday, July 7, Russ will launch his CBS-TV show (8:30-9 p. m. EST). The program will feature his orchestra, vocalist Helen O'Connell and guest stars.

Hollywood Headlines

Musician Russ Morgan Turns Dramatic in Films

By BOB THOMAS

The old coalminer's musical buddies will doubtless flip their lids to hear the news. Russ is pretty amazed by it, too.

"It's a big surprise," he admits. "But I'm having a ball."

It all started when Universal-International talent man Phil Benjamin happened to flip the TV dial to a local variety show. Russ came on for a seven-minute routine, went over so well he stayed for 17. Benjamin thought of Morgan for the role of a bandleader in "The Great Man."

"But I don't appear in front of the band at all," Russ added. "It's a real dramatic part; I'm the only guy who says he liked 'The Great Man.' I deliver a eulogy at his grave and everything."

Russ came to the studio to read for the role. He said that after he delivered just a few lines, the director exclaimed, "this is the one!"

Now Russ is back in greasepaint for the same studio, playing a tough night club mobster who doublecrosses Tony Curtis in "Mister Cory." And he has been sought for movies at Paramount and 20th Century-Fox.

Strangely enough, he started out as an actor. In his early years, he appeared in plays with Raymond Hitchcock in Detroit. But he found he could eat more regularly as a musician, and Russ is the kind of a guy who likes to eat regularly. He took jobs as bandleader-emcee in Detroit movie houses in the late '20s.

After that, he played with bands all over the country, but never settled down with his own outfit until 1936. Rudy Vallee persuaded the management of New York's Hotel Biltmore to hire Russ and that was the start of Music in the Morgan Manner.

Russians May Scrap One-Candidate System

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is reported considering a plan to scrap its traditional system of allowing only one candidate to run for an electoral seat, at least in local elections.

Foreign Communist sources said today the plan was being considered as part of the general post-Stalin drive to popularize the Soviet regime. As envisaged, it would start on the level of local Soviets, or Assemblies, and "feel its way upward."

Jenner Regains Indiana Control

Craig's Political Future Dims as Handley Wins Governor Endorsement

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Sen. William E. Jenner was back on top today in the fierce scramble of Indiana Republican politics, and the political future of his archrival, Gov. George N. Craig, appeared dim.

Jenner's choice for governor was nominated by a faction-troubled State Republican Convention late yesterday along with Sen. Homer E. Capehart, who has tried to be a neutral in the Jenner-Craig feuding.

Lt. Gov. Harold W. Handley, an ally of Jenner's, won the second ballot in a dramatic repudiation of Craig despite the governor's control of the state organization.

"We Want Jenner," delegates changed as the five-hour convention at the State Fair Grounds Coliseum drew to an end.

Senate Probers Eye Chotiner Documents

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate investigators today dug into a stack of documents subpoenaed from Murray M. Chotiner. They refused to say exactly what they are seeking.

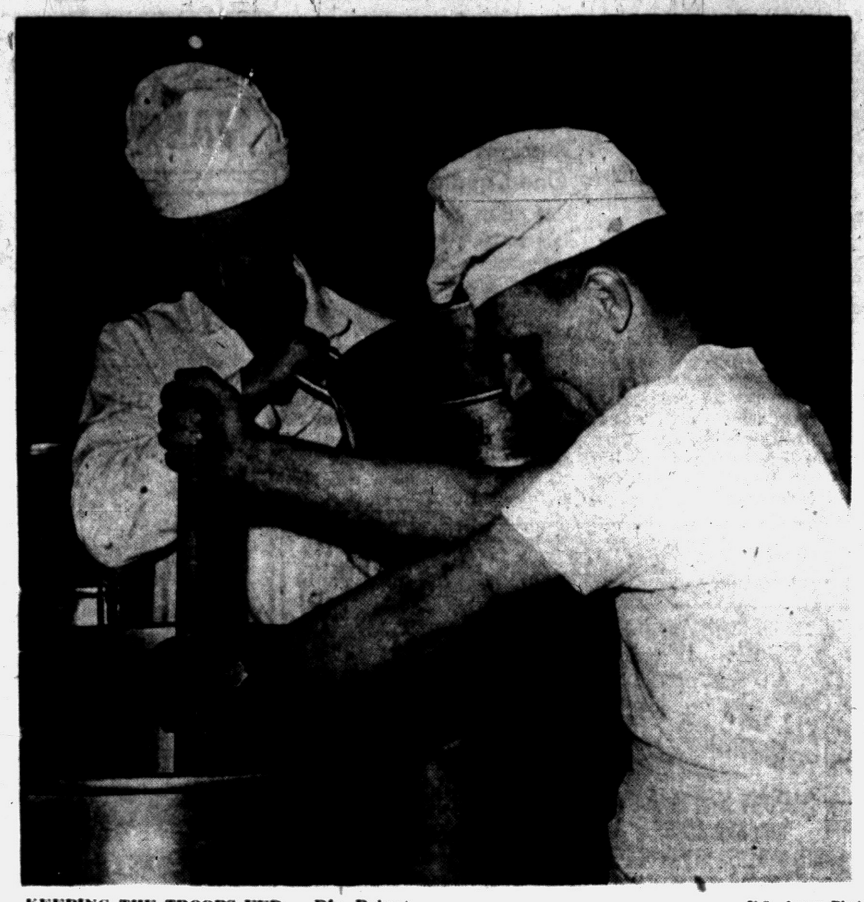

Chotiner, a Beverly Hills, Calif., lawyer who managed Vice President Nixon's 1952 campaign, turned the documents over to the Senate Investigations subcommittee at a closed door hearing yesterday.

The subcommittee said only that it is scrutinizing Chotiner's law practice for clients who have had business with the government since the Eisenhower administration toon office in 1953.

Supervisors Inter-County Committee Studies Growth Problems of Region

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles written on the workings and problems of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee.)

By LAWRENCE S. MARTZ JR.

What special problems made the Supervisors Inter-County Committee necessary?

To begin with, the six counties included — Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair — are different from other Michigan counties.

They have 53 per cent of the state's population—some 3,854,800 people in 1955.

And 63 per cent of the state's total five-year population increase has been absorbed into these six counties.

Clearly, the problems facing the six counties are vastly different from those confronting the other 77.

To aid them in the state government, the six counties have 52 of the staate's 110 representatives, and 12 of the 34 senators.

Edward Connor, chairman of the Inter-County Committee, has commented that there are two very encouraging things about the problems the area faces.

First, Connor says, they are all "problems of growth." They indicate an economy of expansion, which most leaders agree is a good thing.

Second, he says, the problems are recoginzed and the Inter-County Committee is a voluntary, cooperative effort to solve them.

In working toward solution of the problems—which include adequate highways, water supply, sewer and drain systems, recreational facilities and port development — the Inter-County Committee wants to work with all local governments and whatever outside help is available.

It coordinates its activity, for example, with the Detroit Regional Plan Commission. It uses Plan Commission reports, and suggests topics for study by planners.

It has unobtrusively proposed and lobbied for legislation in the state legislature which will aid the six member counties in cooperative efforts.

The Inter-County Committee has roused a great deal of interest among local governments all over the country.

Like the "Toronto plan," it is an effort to solve problems of a sprawling metropolitan population.

But unlike the Toronto plan, it seeks to preserve the authority and powers of the individual governments concerned. Toronto has been called a benevolent mother hen surrounded by a brood of chicks, but Detroit plays no such part in the plans of the Inter-County Committee.

The pattern successfully followed by the Toronto metropolitan area in Canada has involved gradual centralization of power in the hands of the city government in Toronto. At the same time, its surrounding suburbs have lost individual powers.

Under the pattern set by the Inter-County Committee, each of the six counties concerned is equally represented. And each preserves full power, since the Committee has no direct legislative authority.

After intensive study of a problem, the Committee will unanimously approve a recommendation to the six member boards of supervisors. Each board will take independent action on the recommendation.

A project favored by four of the member counties might be started by these four. The two counties dissenting would not be affected.

The Committee believes no coercive power is necessary to solve the many problems of the six-county area.

It believes the independent boards of supervisors will cooperate with each other through "enlightened self-interest" — so that each county can improve its own situation.

Soviets Reveal Anti-Stalin Note

Lenin's Death Bed Letter Asked Removal of 'Rud Capricious' Leader

MOSCOW (INS) — After being suppressed for 33 years, Lenin's will urging Stalin's dismissal as first secretary of the Communist Party was published today in the Soviet Union.

The historic document, long known in the free world, was printed in the official Soviet Communist Party magazine Kommunist.

In a death bed message, Lenin had described Stalin as "rude" and "capricious" and recommended that he be removed from the party's number one job.

The will, which consisted of a letter from the leader of the 1917 revolution to the 13th Communist Party Congress, was dated Dec. 23-24, 1922.

It carried a postscript dated Jan. 4, 1923, which recommended congress replace Stalin with someone "more patient, loyal, polite . . . more attentive to his comrades . . . less capricious."

Stalin mangade to keep Lenin's recommendations, which almost certainly would have ended the dictator-to-be's rise in the party, from becoming public knowledge in Russia although the letter was published in the U. S. a few months after it was written.

Bond Issue Vote Set

BAY CITY (UP) — Bay County voters will be asked to approve a $175,000 bond issue to finance a new juvenile home in the November election. The measure would boost the 15-mill tax limitation three-quarters of a mill.

Eartha Kitt's Kittens Cuddlesome Problem

She has two of them romping around her swank Mayfair Hotel suite in London, both given to her by British fans.

One of them named Lamont Shaun, or Shaunie for short, is an aristocratic Burmese kitten.

"I guess she's got more blue blood in her than the Queen of England!" Eartha said, unrolling a pedigree as long as the Magna Charta, going back to a revered and honorable ancestor named Sin Gin of Forbidden City."

The other kitten is plain Tippy. "No pedigree at all," the petite singer said with a pout.

NEW YORK IN FALL

Eartha is flying to Tel Aviv shortly after her last show in Britain and from Israel she is going back to New York for a fall engagement in the Hotel Plaza's Persian Room.

Ever since she heard five of James Mason's cats died after crossing the Atlantic by air, Eartha just doesn't know what to do about Shaunie and Tippy.

"I guess I'll have to ship them home by boat although I hate to be separated from them. Shaunie curls up and sleeps on my neck all night," she said.

Eartha has just completed a successful run at London's top society night spot, the Cafe De Paris, where tuxedos and evening gowns are a must.

TOUGH AUDIENCE

"It's kinda hard to get that type of audience to let its hair down. But they relax after you tell them there's nothing much going to happen to them," the sexy songstress said with a wry smile.

"Sunday concert audiences in Kilburn, Croydon, Blackpool, Manchester or Hammersmith — that was different. Their hair was already down when they came to hear me and they really let themselves go," she added.

Princess Margaret was among Eartha's select audience at the Cafe de Paris but protocol forbade her from expressing any opinion of Eartha.

"I guess she enjoyed the show, though," Eartha said. "My manager says she got very excited."

May Pay Its Way

BENTON HARBOR (UP) — A new $5,000 sand cleaner collected 69 cents in its first week of keping things tidy at Jean Kock Park bathing beach. The big sand sifter sweeps a six-foot wide path of driftwood, charcoal, stones and other debris.

Soviets Halt Ownership of Private Livestock

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet government took an initial step Friday toward enactment of a decree aimed at wiping out private livestock ownership among most of the Soviet Union.

The Soviet news agency, Tass, published the text of a draft decree submitted to the Kremlin. It proposes that conditions and penalties be imposed on Soviet citizens in urban areas who try to provide their own meat and dairy products by maintaining their own animals.

Bob Inman Paces State Open With 68

By H. GUY MOATS
Special Writer, Pontiac Press

A stocky young tourney-seasoned assistant professional from Detroit Golf Club yesterday afternoon rolled into the lead for the Michigan Open Championship with a sizzling 68. Bob Inman, two years with the DGC, and a two year veteran of the touring clan snatched the 1st day's leadership right out from under Bob Keller of Red Run, who had finished just a few minutes earlier in the late afternoon at Indianwood Golf and Country club. Keller turned in a fine 69.

Three birdies and a bogie comprised a front nine 33 for Inman. To that 2-under par effort he coupled an equally fine back nine count of 35, also 2-under. He carded birdies on the 11th and 12th, and shot par golf on all other holes.

Only three others in the huge field that tramped the Lake Orion club fairways (160 starters), managed to break par-72 for the day. They included Eldon Briggs, pro, of Lansing with 70; host pro Mike Dietz and the veteran six-time champion from Oakland Hills, Al Watrous, both with 71.

Inman's card:

Par out	543-434-444—35
Inman out	553-333-344—33
Par in	445-345-435—37—72
Inman in	434-345-435—35—68
(4 under par.)

Four were grouped at par 72; Max Evans of Utica, Horton Smith of Detroit Golf Club, Pete Cooper of Knollwood and Joe Thacker of Knollwood.

Four amateurs were in the 74 group, including Pontiac's State Publinx champion, Mike Andonian; Dave McHarg of Dearborn; Arnold Nedelman, young Lansing player; and Al Pazdan of River Bank.

In this same group was defending champion Wally Burkemo, Ralph Yankee, Ray Malain of Detroit and Johnny Dalrymple of Royal Oak.

Burkemo had a rough time, firing a 36-38 for his round. His 1st nine was a remarkable collection, consisting entirely of fours. "My game (putting particularly) was way off" Wally said, "I wasn't hitting them well, at all."

Just ahead of this group were Bill Markham of Lansing, Eddie Kirk, Chick Harbert (former champion) of Meadowbrook, Ben Lulu of Monroe and Tom Talkington of Washtenaw CC, all with 73s.

Heavy concentrations were set up in the 75, 76, 77 and other 70-sections, as the field began today's second and deciding round that will determine the low 60 and ties that make Sunday's final, 36-hole marathon.

For at least one player, Friday might as well have been one of those "black" Fridays, or Friday the 13th. Nyle Patrick, Indianwood member, was forced to quit after three holes when he ran into difficulties, No. 1, an angry hornet stung him on the face. No. 2 he stepped into a hole, twisting an already weakened knee. He was ill for a time from the hornet sting, but spent most of the day assisting with the scoreboard.

It was the general opinion among the seasoned players that 154 or 156 probably will be good enough to make the finale.

Friday the course played long, both sides, keeping down the assault on par to a fair minimum.

JUMPING 7 FEET — Charlie Dumas of Compton (Calif.) College breaks the magic seven-foot high jump barrier with a leap of 7 feet ½ inch in the Olympic track and field trials in Los Angeles yesterday. He is a 19-year-old freshman at Compton and he cleared the record level on his second try.

7-Foot High Jump in Olympic Trials

2 World Track Marks Set

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two new world records, one of them the first 7-foot high jump in history, point up today the predictions that Uncle Sam's Olympic track and field team will be the strongest ever.

Eight events were held in final Olympic trials at the Coliseum last night and only one failed to produce a record of one type or another. More are expected in today's final nine.

Charley Dumas, a 19-year-old from California's Compton Junior College, produced the greatest thrill when he cleared 7 feet ⅝ inch in the high jump.

The 7-foot barrier long had been compared with the previously reached goals of 4 minutes for the mile run and 60 feet for the shot put. It was the last to fall.

"I was too glad to do better," the 6-foot-1½-inch Dumas grinned when asked why he stopped jumping after his record jump. His leap goes into the record as 7 feet ½ inch because of the world record ruling that heights should be measured to the nearest quarter of an inch.

Ohio State sophomore Glenn Davis smashed the Russian-held record in the 400-meter hurdles when he sped the barriers in 49.5 seconds. The accepted world mark of 50.4 is held by Yuriy Lituyev of the USSR. University of Texas freshman Eddie Southern, finishing second, also came under the world mark with a time of 49.7 and third-place Josh Culbreath of the Marines equalled it.

Sprint king Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian won the 100-meter dash in 10.3 seconds but in the preliminaries he and two others equalled the world record time of 10.2.

The men who did it, Ira Murchison of the Army and Thane Baker of the Air Force finished second and third in the finals. The three top finishers in all events qualify for the Olympic team. In addition, Leamon King, fourth in the 100, will go as a probable fourth man in the 400-meter sprint relay.

Heartbreaker in the 100 was the failure of Duke's speedster Dave Sime to finish his qualifying race. After about 10 yards he suffered a recurrance of the groin muscle pull that shelved him the 200-meter sprint at the NCAA championships two weeks ago. His Olympic hopes went glimmering last night.

Others failing to make the grade included Bud Held, world record holder in the javelin who finished fourth by 1 inch; Aubrey Lewis, the Notre Dame 400-meter hurdler who fell over the last barrier, and Ernie Shelton, former National Collegiate high jumping champion, who last year barely missed on several attempts at 7 feet.

Parry O'Brien broke the meet shot put mark with a toss of 60 feet 10 inches, equal to his accepted world record but 6 inches short of his best outdoor throw of this year which still awaits record recognition. Ken Bantum, the 6-6 Manhattan College giant was second at 59-6¾ and Bill Nieder of Kansas third at 58-½. Both Bantum and Nieder have best previous throws past 60 feet, the only two in the world in addition to O'Brien who have passed that mark.

Cornell Rowers in Upset

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)— Cornell's poised college champions became a strong favorite for eight-oar honors in the U.S. Olympic rowing trials today despite protestations of "We can still do it" from the opposition.

The finals will be rowed tomorrow with the towering Big Red sweepswingers arrayed against Navy's deflated 1952 Olympic champions, Yale, Wisconsin and the winner of a repechage heat between Washington and Stanford.

The word "repechage" means second chance for losers, and there was some doubt early today that the two West Coast crews, soundly beaten in the semifinal heats, would exercise the prerogative. Another beaten eight-oar boat, the Detroit Boat Club, already has scratched.

Cornell, winner of the Intercollegiate Regatta and the Eastern spring championships, established itself as top candidate for the trip to Australia by beating the celebrated Navy Admirals, the unbeaten Annapolis crew of 1952-53-54, in yesterday's race on wind-whipped Lake Onondaga.

The Cornellians bettered by 9 seconds the time registered by Yale in whipping Wisconsin, the Detroit Boat Club and Stanford in the second heat. Against stiff head winds, Cornell clocked 6:41 flat, Yale 6:50, Navy 6:44.

The Detroit Boat Club had a winning effort in four of the seven qualifying trials with Pat Costello and Jim Gardiner turning in the best time of the three heats in 8:53.8.

Walter Hoover won his singles heat in 9:28 which was third, and the DBC also won the pairs event with coxswain, as Felix Graus, Dick Rahl and coxswain Everett Paup took second in 9:30.2.

Senators Blow Lead to Lose to Athletics' 9

Two games played Friday in the Federal Savings Midget Baseball League at Boys' Club saw the Indians and Senators take it on the chin again.

Senators once again blew their lead in the final inning to lose their 6th straight game. Leading 5-4 going into the final frame they saw the Athletics rally to score six runs. Feature was a grand slam homer by Jim Joyce. Dave Colando led at bat with two doubles in three trips for Senators.

Tigers came from behind a 4-run deficit in the 4th inning to defeat Indians 11-7. An eight-run 4th inning did the trick.

Jethroe Still Slamming

TORONTO (INS) — Aging Sam Jethroe still can hit that long ball. The Toronto outfield veteran's two home runs last night paced the Maple Leafs to a 9-to-4 victory over Havana in the International League.

Larsen Is Key at Wimbledon

Former U. S. Champion Meets Ken Rosewall in Feature Match

LONDON (INS)—Former U. S. champion Art Larsen of San Leandro, Cal., challenges Australia's No. 2 threat, Ken Rosewall, today in the feature match of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Other top matches on a busy day see Vic Seixas of Philadelphia tested by South Africa's Gordon Forbes and Ham Richardson, the Rhodes Scholar from Westfield, N. J., pitted against Abe Segal, also of South Africa.

The winners will advance to the quarter-finals, where they will join top-seeded Lew Hoad of Australia and J. Allen Morris, husky ex-football player from Atlanta, Ga., who won fourth-round matches in yesterday's rain-interrupted program.

Morris, ranked 17th in the U. S. last year, upset one of the bright young Aussie stars, Ashley Cooper, 1-6, 12-10, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, in a marathon match that took two hours and 25 minutes to complete, exclusive of two delays because of rain.

Michael Shayne's 28th Case

A pretty blonde client was hysterical with fear as she told Private Detective Michael Shayne her unbelievable story. With her own eyes she had seen her brother's murdered body lying in a hotel room, but now the corpse had vanished and there was not even a trace of blood to back up her story.

A stranger with a scarred face had intruded menacingly and the girl fled to the redheaded private detective for protection. She said she was afraid the police would not believe her story.

Shayne met this scarred stranger, who insisted that he was the girl's brother and assured the detective he had not even come close to being murdered. By that time the girl herself was missing.

Michael Shayne has exactly two hours to find the answers. Each minute—packed with driving action and spine-tingling thrills—brings closer a deadline that may mean death to another.

More than 12,000,000 Michael Shayne detective-adventure books have been sold in the United States. The author, Brett Halliday, has won awards and is rated among the topmost of America's writers of mystery fiction.

Your Neighbor's House

C. K. Naumans Use 10,000' of Plywood in Their House

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Any project becomes tiresome if you work on it too long. If you and your husband had built one house, remodeled a cottage, constructed a garage and a studio and supervised the building of a second home — you'd be tired of building, wouldn't you? Mrs. C. K. Nauman of 10420 Elizabeth Lake road says she never wants to build another thing.

The Naumans have been married five years; most of that time they have been building something. Both had grown children when they married. They could suit themselves about a lot and the kind of house they would construct for their life together.

They found a pie-shaped lot on Oxbow Lake with 500 feet of shore line. There is a view of the lake from every room in the house except the kitchen.

Mr. Nauman is a purchasing agent for a plywood company in Plymouth. He wanted to use as much plywood as possible in the home he was building. He estimates there are 10,000 square feet of it in the finished house.

With the exception of the exterior siding, all the plywood arrived at one time. The truck driver and the two Naumans unloaded the truck.

"I had stayed home from work that afternoon, thinking we could unload the truck in an hour or so," Mr. N. said.

"Well, a railroad car holds 25,000 square feet, so we had almost half a carload. It took us until nearly dark to get it all off the truck." Mrs. Nauman couldn't begin to help with the heavy 4x8 panels.

In April of 1955 the house was started. In July the Naumans took over, after the builder had closed it in. Mr. Nauman, a former expert in the floor laying business did all the carpentry work. Mrs. Nauman was the painter.

An artist, Mrs. Nauman likes to work out problems as she goes along. Mr. Nauman wants ideas down in black and white. Occasionally they have trouble understanding one another when a piece of work is under consideration. But it's all good fun, they smilingly tell you.

On the lake side of the house the land slopes gently down to the water. Present plans call for some tree thinning to give a better view of the lake.

The front slope is to be left more or less in its natural state, with stepping stones and some flowers as the only additions. A beach will come later.

The wall opposite the front entrance is almost all glass. To the right of the front door is a coat closet which forms part of the living room partition. The closet and walls are knotty pine (plywood, of course). The floor is made of flagstones.

To the left is the kitchen. It is visible through the open area above the serving counter. To the right is the living room.

There are interesting texture contrasts in this large square room. Cream colored cement blocks make the west wall and fill in above the fireplace. Around the windows on two other walls there is more knotty pine. Between the exposed beams the ceiling boards are pale green.

These boards are not plywood. Mr. Nauman cut each one to fit, then Mrs. Nauman painted them before they were nailed up. The living room floor is factory-finished ranch type, pegged hardwood. All subflooring is plywood.

A commanding feature of the living room is the magnificent round braided rug Mrs. Nauman has been working on for over three years. As of last week, it measured 11 feet, 4 inches. When finished, it will be 12 feet in diameter.

The fireplace is made of reused brick. There is space between it and the outside wall for floor-to-ceiling shelves. Niches in the bricks hold sculptured pieces. Above the mantel Mrs. Nauman has fastened two sculptured ducks she just completed.

Furniture periods are mixed in this room. The two sofas are conventional. The maple armchair and a table are Colonial, as is the rug. Two upholstered chairs are more modern. But the room is comfortable, informal and inviting.

The dining area is merely an extension of the hall and has the same flagstone floor. The drop leaf table is located next to the front windows where diners can watch the lake.

The counter mentioned above—the one separating the hall and kitchen—was a deliberate plan of Mrs. Nauman's. She likes to cook, but she wants to be in on the conversation when guests are in the living room. With this open area at one end of her kitchen, she can do both things easily.

The kitchen is L-shaped and is what Mr. Nauman calls, "just a hallway to the utility room and the garage." The beige and green linoleum tile on the floor is laid in alternating strips.

There are many unusual cupboards and storage units in this kitchen. One large one is called the party cupboard. Here Mrs. Nauman keeps supplies for entertaining, like paper plates and cups, candles, special cans of party food and table decorations.

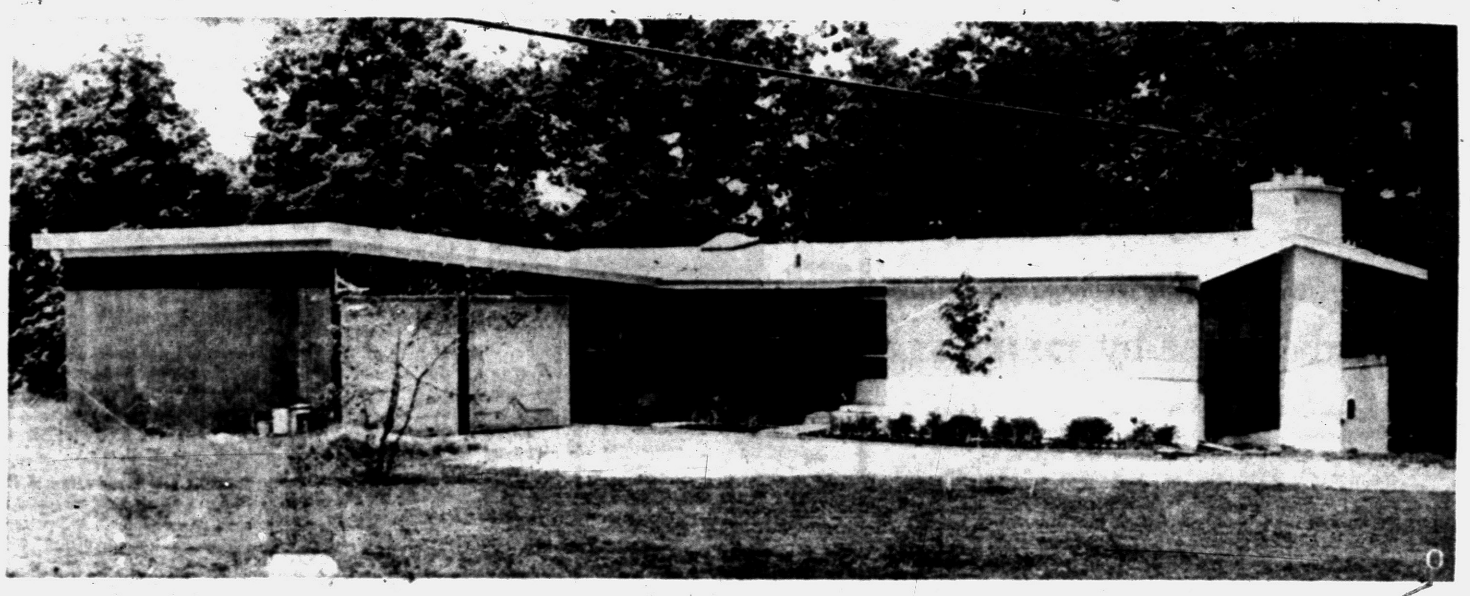

A small square cupboard has three shelves for spices. On the north wall there is a cupboard for all the electrical appliances. Over the radiator there is a small hinged shelf.

In the passageway leading to the dining area a large sheet of pegboard is used to hang pots and pans and skillets. This pegboard is on the wall that forms one side of the basement stairs.

Next to the storage board are a group of irregular shaped cupboards built over the stairs. They hold such bulky items as card tables and chairs.

The kitchen curtains are a

THE PLYWOOD HOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Nauman of Elizabeth Lake road have planned and built a house using 10,000 square feet of plywood. The white wall is cement block. Even the roof is plywood. The house has a view of Oxbow Lake from every room except the kitchen. On the lake side it is a bi-level structure.

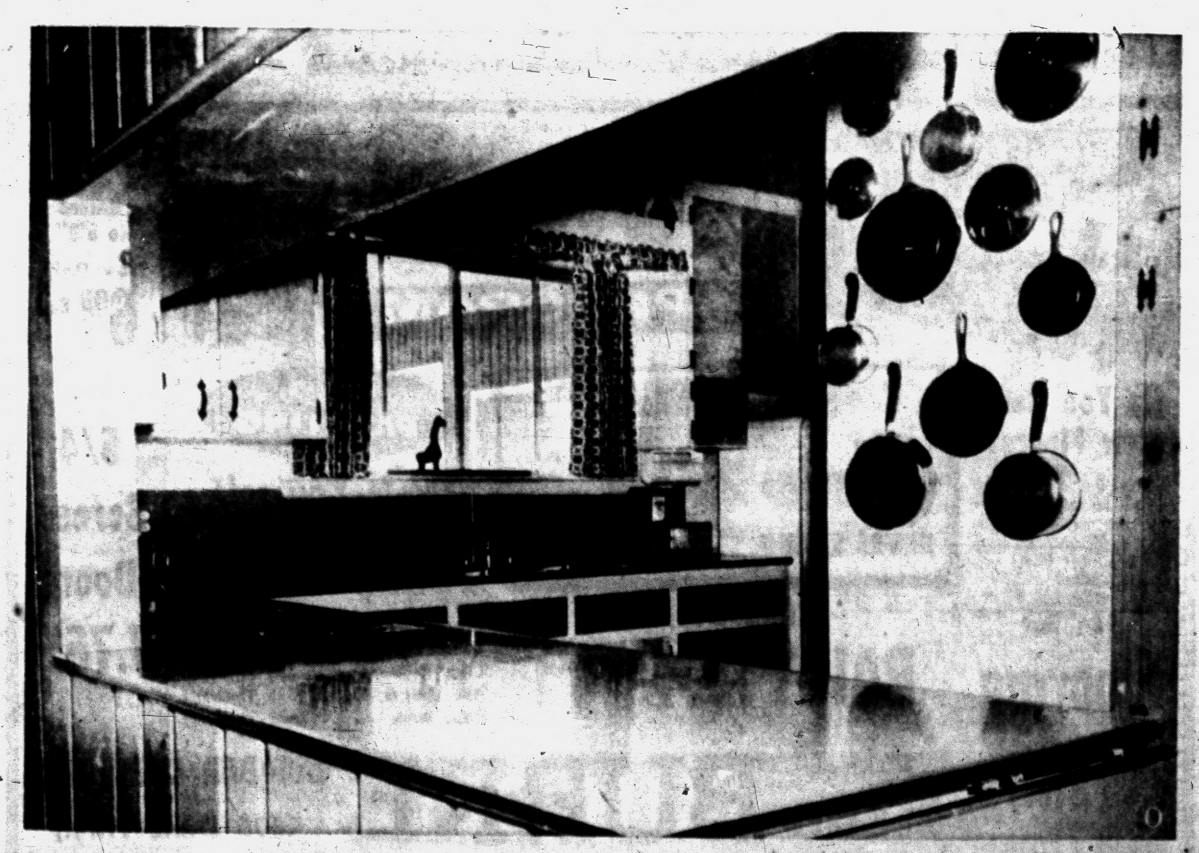

SCULPTRESS — Hazel Nauman is a sculptress. In addition she paints in oils and works with pastels. In her basement studio she has space and equipment to carry out any of her artistic projects. Here she works at a table beneath windows that overlook Oxbow Lake.

INFORMAL LIVING ROOM — Comfortable furniture, pegged flooring and a colorful braided rug combine to make this room an inviting one. Mrs. Nauman created the stylized ducks over the fireplace. She is currently finishing the 12 foot braided rug. Walls are a combination of knotty pine plywood and painted cement blocks. Between the beams of the ceiling the boards are painted pale green. The post in the right foreground will be hidden by a divider wall planned for this section.

BI-LEVEL SIDE — All the living rooms are on the upper or street level of the Nauman house. On the lower level there is a large light basement. Here Mrs. Nauman has her studio and Mr. Nauman has his woodworking tools. The porch is shaded by the house in the afternoon, needs no roof. The exterior is made of Texture One-eleven redwood siding.

KITCHEN STORAGE — A pegboard panel is used by Mrs. Nauman to hang her copper pans, her iron skillets and all the pan lids. The serving counter in the foreground has a hinged leaf at the end. The paper on the ceiling matches the calico print curtains. This narrow L-shaped room has been well planned for convenience and ease of working.

The percentage of American automobile-owning families having two or more cars increased from 4.8 per cent in 1948 to 13.8 per cent in 1955.

Washing Soda Helps in Home Emergency

Equal parts of cement and washing soda, mixed with three parts of sand into a dough-like consistency can be used to close small leaks in concrete walls. It will dry—even against running water—under firm hand pressure. The trick, mix only a small amount at a time as it sets quickly.

Will Effect Change

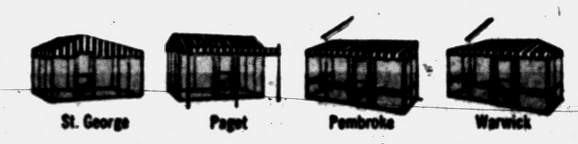

Often it is possible to improve the appearance of a house greatly by repainting the ceiling, railing, pillars and floor of the porch—even though the rest of the house is not done at the same time. Hollow pillars and spindles on railings are often moisture-traps that can cause trouble if they do not have adequate paint protection.

WOODWORKER — Chet Nauman used to be an expert floor layer. Now he is in the plywood business. He has kept his love for working with wood and has a complete workshop in his new home. He is justifiably proud of the carpentry work, all of which he did.

bright calico. Matching paper covers the ceiling. Above the window a narrow shelf holds mugs.

The utility room is also the sewing room. Cabinets and drawers for sewing supplies are still in the planning stage. Mr. Nauman says he'll build them if his wife will just draw up the plans.

The hallway leading to the bedrooms is unusually bright. This is due in part to the wallpaper which has a white background. The geometrical design on it is in bronze, silver and black. Here and in the bedrooms the floor is oak parquet.

The doors to the linen cupboard are novel. Mr. Nauman wove strips of plywood for them. They are decorative and allow air to circulate inside.

Two walls are papered with gray paper that has wine and white flowers on it. The ceiling is accoustical tile. Closet doors across one end of the room are light pickled pine.

Furniture is by Cushman. The bed has a hand crocheted spread over a wine dust ruffle. There are hooked rugs on the floor.

The ceramic tile combines chocolate and sandstone shades. Delicate paper on the upper walls and ceiling has pink, blue, and gold on white. The fixtures are cream colored, the shower curtain white and gold.

Mr. Nauman made the happy looking, fat little fish on the wall that serves as a towel rack. He is painted pink to match the paper design.

The second bedroom or den is called the redwood room. Like the first bedroom it has oak parquet flooring. One wall is filled with wardrobe closets. Two more have rustic redwood plywood paneling.

On the upper level and overlooking the lake there is a 10x30 porch. It is open to the sky with only redwood beams for a top. The side has a railing, while the far end is closed in with cement blocks with a planter box on top.

On the ground level — in the basement — one room has been partitioned off for Mrs. Nauman's studio. Here she displays the various forms of art she works in: sculpture, oils, pastels. Of these, sculpture is her first love.

In a recent exhibition Mrs. Nauman took three prizes given by the Pontiac Society of Artists. She does occasional pieces for her home, some on commission, and still others for the sheer love of it.

There are three kilns in the room, a deep sink and lots of storage space. A potter's wheel is an important tool. Finished work is shown on plywood shelves mounted on pegboard.

The room is not yet completed. But it has a comfortable couch and all the essential work tables. The lighting is excellent. Its talented owner plans to finish and decorate the room gradually.

Mr. Nauman has basement space also. His workshop is to be sectioned off some day too. But the basement is full of plywood and other building materials.

The exterior of the Nauman house is cement block, painted white, and Texture One-eleven redwood siding. Even the roof is made of plywood, with tar and gravel laid over it.

There is a sheltered space for a garden at the street side of the house. The garage doors here are painted turquoise. Mrs. Nauman's 80-year-old father will put in the cement door step next month when he comes to visit.

Vanity Lavatory Found Good in Various Areas

The vanity lavatory is equally practical and convenient in the bathroom, bedroom or powder room.

When located in the bathroom, it helps relieve congestion during the morning and evening rush hours. In the bedroom, a vanity lavatory gives the lady of the house a private dressing table for grooming without tying up the main bath.

Home Competition Seen

Housing experts of the United States Savings and Loan League forecast that the next few years will see increasingly intensive competition in the home building field. They feel that the postwar housing shortage is over, and that the emphasis should now be on "quality" and not "quantity" in home production.

BUILDER PRESENTS 'PEACE-OF-MIND' BONUS

New Plan Offered With Homes In Goodrich Farms: Free Mortgage Payments In Event Of Layoff

Something completely new was offered this week to prospective home buyers in Goodrich Farm Subdivision, near Pontiac. Neil N. Goodman, president of Wilshire Construction Company, announced the introduction of the Goodrich Security Plan as an added feature with every home purchased in this new development.

The plan is a written guarantee. It declares that, in the event any Goodrich Farm home buyer is laid off from work after closing the deal on the home of his choice, the builder will make all mortgage payments for him. The Goodrich Security Plan as an added hold in effect for up to six months after closing date. It requires of the purchaser only that he show evidence of eligibility for Michigan Unemployment Compensation.

BONUS, NOT LOAN

Similar plans have been offered in the past in other business. But, where all of these have said that payments on purchases will stop if a man is laid off work, they also required that those payments be made up in the future. The Goodrich Security Plan makes no such stipulation.

All those mortgage payments paid by Wilshire Construction Company are the permanent loss of the builder and need never be "made good" by the purchaser.

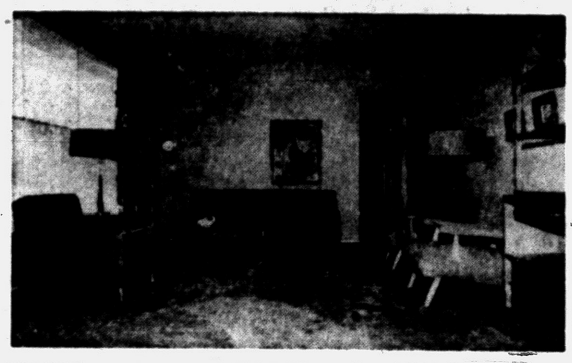

PREDICTS BOOM IN BUSINESS

"Our entire building company, from executive officers to stenographers, feel very strongly that all of America is in for a tremendous upward swing in the economy. That's why we are taking no gamble at all by making this brand new offer," said Goodman. "If we're wrong, our company takes the loss, but our judgment tells us we have nothing to worry about. Our purpose now is to see that every potential home buyer is free from worry, too."

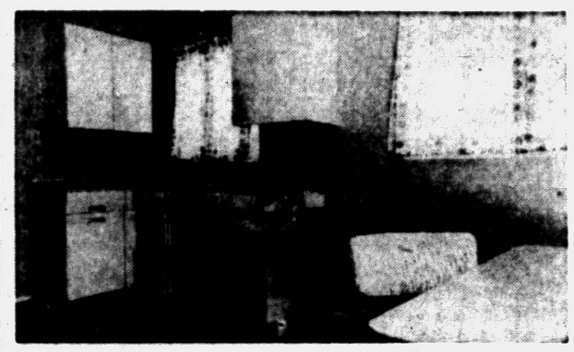

6 MONTHS PROTECTION

"Hearing about the Goodrich Security Plan for the first time, a number of our friends in the business have asked why we should want to make such an offer," Goodman added. "Our answer, of course, is as obvious as the fact that Mr. Average Worker is worried—'How can I take the chance on buying a new home now, much as I would like to,' he asks, 'if I think that I might be out of work tomorrow?'

"What we're saying is simply — you don't have to worry. If you should be laid off your job, we'll step in and make the payments. That's half-a-year's worth of peace of mind. It's a new and different concept in home-selling, but even more important, the Goodrich Security Plan is needed. However, keep in mind that we're convinced of an economic boom, and you can see that our risk is actually very small."

HOW TO GET THERE

Goodrich Farms can be reached by driving out Woodward Avenue from Detroit, through Pontiac and beyond to Sashabaw Road, or by the Telegraph Highway (US-24) route, turning left onto US-10, north of Pontiac to Sashabaw. From that point, a right turn, and then another about three miles farther at Maybee Road brings one to the model.

GOODRICH FARMS HAS CHOICE OF MODELS IN BEAUTIFUL LAKE AREA

120 New Homes Being Erected Near Pontiac

Goodrich Farms, a new community of 120 three-bedroom brick ranch homes with bath and a half, is taking shape in Independence Township.

Priced at $12,900, the new homes are offered by Wilshire Construction Co., in co-operation with Rose-Hill Realty Co. Down payment is a low $260 to veterans with convenient FHA terms also available. A furnished model is open at Maybee Road and Dvorsk Street, three-quarters of a mile east of Sashabaw Road.

LAKE AREA

Located in the heart of Oakland County's lake district, the new homes are less than four miles west of Pontiac. Swimming, boating and fishing facilities are available at Oakland and Woodhull lakes, both within easy walking distance. A state park, with full recreational facilities and several golf courses may be reached by car in a few minutes.

Featuring 1,160 square feet of living space, all homes in Goodrich Farms are set back on spacious 100'x150' lots. Buyers are given a choice of four exterior designs, extending 48 feet in length with modern wide overhangs.

All rooms are large with the living room measuring 23 feet and nine inches by 12 feet and nine inches. Bedrooms have double wardrobe closets with bypass sliding birch doors.

SNACK BAR FEATURED

In the kitchen, a 54-inch snack bar serves as a functional divider between dining area and work space. Factory-built metal kitchen cabinets are offered in a choice of seven colors, with sink to match. Also featured are laminated counter tops and built-in bread box.

There is a vanity in the full tile bath. The extra lavatory is conveniently located between the kitchen and utility room entrance. Other features are a blend-air heating and ventilating system, 100-ampere electrical service, horizontal wood sliding windows, copper plumbing and automatic hot water.

A community water system and curving paved streets are added advantages for residents of Goodrich Farms.

GOODRICH SECURITY PLAN EXPECTED TO DRAW LARGE CROWDS

Rose-Hill Realty Co., handling the sales of Goodrich Farm Homes for Wilshire Construction, said today they are looking forward to showing larger crowds than ever through the model this Saturday and Sunday.

"We have reason to believe," a Rose-Hill spokesman said, "that the builder's tremendous optimism is bound to be reflected in a similar attitude by prospective home buyers. We can't see how the Goodrich Security Plan can fail to impress people with its faith in the future. After all, here's a plan that speaks for itself. It's clear-cut, simple and very attractive to any worker concerned with the possibility of being laid off his job temporarily.

"There has never been an offer like this before that we know of," he continued, "but, of course, someone always has to lead the way. We can only echo the builder's strong conviction that this is the kind of security many of today's workers feel they need — and are now going to get."

The model itself is something that has to be seen to be believed. There's a lot of house there for only $12,900, and the whole Goodrich Farm Community is enough to entice even the most determined city dwellers out of their crowded areas. The lakes are beautiful. There are trees and shrubbery everywhere, and a state park only minutes away. The air is clean and fresh. Altogether it's the ideal home in a perfect location for anyone with one eye on the advantages of suburbia, and the other glued to the necessities of every day living — the schools, churches, shopping centers, and short distances to working areas.

Only Goodrich Farms Offers This Amazing Guarantee!

IF YOU ARE LAID OFF YOUR JOB . . . WE WILL MAKE PAYMENTS FOR YOU!

Wilshire Construction Company's faith in the future pays off in security for you!

Why should we, the builders of Goodrich Farm Homes, make an offer such as the Goodrich Security Plan? The answer is as simple to understand as our unlimited faith in the business future of America.

We feel . . . rather, we know . . . that business activity in and around Southeastern Michigan is going to surge UPward to unprecedented heights . . . and soon! We know that Michigan is destined for greater production achievements than ever before in history . . . and soon! That can mean only one thing: Steady employment for all.

No sir—this is not scare selling or desperation advertising. This is Confidence . . . with a capital "C." The Goodrich Security Plan is a symbol of our confidence in the future of the nation. Our absolute belief in "good times ahead" makes it easy for us to deliver such a seemingly fantastic guarantee.

Here's how it works.

If you are laid off from your job, and are therefore eligible for Michigan Unemployment Compensation, we will make your mortgage payments for you, for a period of up to six months after purchase. That doesn't mean you will have to make up those payments later. Rather, it says—we will make your mortgage payments for you while you are laid off, and you will not owe us or anyone else a single penny for them ever.

And we'll tell you honestly that we're not worried about having to make payments for anyone . . . though we're prepared to back up our guarantee to the letter. We'll be happy to discuss complete details with you personally when you come out to see the beautiful, budget-priced Goodrich Farm Homes this week-end.

WE WILL MAKE MORTGAGE PAYMENTS FOR YOU IF YOU ARE LAID OFF YOUR JOB. THIS OFFER IS GOOD UP TO SIX MONTHS AFTER CLOSING DATE. ANY PAYMENT MADE BY THE BUILDER NEED NEVER BE "MADE GOOD" BY THE PURCHASER.

Always Clean Surface Before Applying Paint

Should you be painting over an old coating that is chipping and peeling, make sure that all loose paint is removed with a wire brush, steel wool or coarse sandpaper. Next, sand the surface smooth—especially the edges of patches of old paint. If some of the old coating is still glossy in spots, reach again for your sandpaper. A new coating will adhere more efficiently if the surface to which it is applied has "tooth", as they say in the trade.

Centennial Farm Becomes New Lake Subdivision

Land O' Lakes Acres, a new 300 home subdivision, was formally opened June 29. Located on Williams Lake road, the land for this new development was carved the King family farm, a property held by the original farm owners for more than one hundred years.

A private beach and recreation facilities have been reserved for the subdivision's residents on Lotus Lake. The model home, known as the "Lakeview '57", is built around an outdoor living theme.

Extensive landscaping work has been performed on the entire lot to show the means whereby swift and complete privacy may be achieved by homeowners. A white post and rail fence encloses the lot.

While parents visit the new homes, their children may play at a child's playground, installed within the fenced-in area at the model.

Eleven different elevations will be available to buyers. All the homes have brick exteriors and full basements. There is room in the basements for a recreation room. The houses are to be built on winding streets.

Land O' Lakes Acres has been developed and built by David Kay. Mr. Kay has constructed over 2000 homes in the Detroit area. Sales are being handled by Meadowbrook Realty. Prices start at $14,800 with an estimated $800 down payment for veterans. Down payment with an FHA mortgage will be approximately $2500.

Lester R. Arie on Study Tour

Pontiac Realtor Joins European Inspection Group in Vienna

VIENNA, Austria—Hope that a party of American realtors now attending the meetings of the International Real Estate Federation here may be helpful in bringing their European colleagues to a "renewed faith in private effort and ownership" as a solution to their housing problems was expressed today by Clarence M. Turley, St. Louis, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Turley is leading a group of approximately 50 realtors from all parts of the United States on a study tour of real estate conditions and practices in seven Western European nations. The IREF conference is one of the highlights of their travels to date which have taken them through England, Holland, Germany, and Italy.

"We feel U.S. foreign aid to European nations should be used in part to encourage and stimulate private effort in housing and production as well as for security purposes," the NAREB executive said.

"Financing socialism in Europe can undermine our own private enterprise system if long continued. One senses in Europe that the Atlantic nations are groping their way toward greater integration. Perhaps our federation can be a voice that will speak for individual freedom and private property rights as a source of prosperity and the greatest happiness for the greatest number."

In each of the four countries they have visited so far, the Americans have conferred with leaders in government, real estate, and finance and have made a number of housing inspection trips.

Sloping Land Difficult

Choose a home building plot that's on the level. Excessively sloping land is difficult to maintain and involves costly upkeep. For instance, it may be necessary to build a retaining wall or plant special shrubbery to keep your land from sliding away. Other desired additions to your home, perhaps a terrace or breezeway, are more difficult to build on irregular terrain.

Level ground can also give an increased feeling of space to your home interior. If the floor of indoor rooms and the ground surface are near the same level, the area inside seems much larger. Large windows and doors add to this impression.

New Building Reaches Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — New construction volume reached a record high of $15,760,000,000 the first five months of 1956, although the pace of residential buliding slumped sharply from advance forecasts for the year.

These figures disclosed in joint report by the Commerce and Labor Departments led officials to predict optimistically that the construction industry, with rising activity in the last half of the year, would reach expected spending of 44 million dollars or more in 1956.

Building activity in each of the first four months this year slightly surpassed the figure for the corresponding months of 1955 when a record yearly total of nearly 43 billion dollars was chalked up.

The report showed value of new construction starts in May rose seasonally to $3,700,000,000, about on a level with the record high for the month set in 1955.

The continued upsurge in construction activity is traceable in good measure to record expenditures by business for new plants and equipment. Previous forecasts have set such expenditures, including equipment, at around 35 billion dollars for this year.

The report said construction spending in May rose to an annual rate of $43,600,000,000; after allowance for seasonal changes. This pace was not far off the record 44 billion expected for the year. The May rate represented an increase over the $43,100,000,000 annual pace with which the year started in January.

Et Caveat Emptor— Especially in Woods

When you step into a store to buy a radio or television set or an article of furniture, you may be surprised to find that the beautiful mahogany finish is not mahogany at all. As a matter of fact, it may not even be wood.

It is possible to photograph the grain of a beautiful piece of wood and, from the negative, prepare an etched plate or cylinder from which thousands of faithful reproductions of the grain pattern may be made. Paint chemists can match the colors of the original wood so closely that even the experts have difficulty in choosing the reproduction.

The process is applicable to low cost woods, composition board, metal or plastics, thus making it possible to combine the best physical properties of these materials with the beauty of expensive natural woods. Reproductions of fabrics, leather, mother-of-pearl and marble are equally possible.

Average Car Cost

NEW YORK — The American Petroleum Institute reports a study indicates that the six out of 10 American families who own automobiles spend an average of $325 a year to operate them. About 60 per cent of that, or $200, goes for service-station items, such as gasoline, oil tires, batteries, accessories, and service.

Food Sharing Rises

WASHINGTON — Distribution of surplus foods to schools, institutions, and needy persons in this country during the last six months of 1955 reached 290,400,000 pounds, an increase of 20 per cent over the like period of 1954. Foreign distribution reached 470,500,000 pounds, a 133 per cent rise over the total for the last half of 1954.

Press House of the Week Ideal for Average Family

Minimum building cost, lowest cash payment with low monthly carrying charges, little upkeep plus maximum livability for an average family—these were among specifications given to the architect who designed Plan HW-7 for The House of the Week.

The result is a cheerful little house — complete and livable in every respect—with a bowed front window that smiles at you as you approach it.

This house is only 22 feet wide, which means that it can be built on a very narrow lot. The exact width of the lot beyond the width of the house depends entirely on local regulations.

Here you have three ample bedrooms, fitting the requirements of a family with boys and girls. A 17-foot living room has an 8-foot picture windw and invites comfortable furnishings. Kitchen and dining room, conveniently located in the front of the house, have a combined width of more than 17 feet.

COVERS SMALL AREA

Still this house, because of its efficient plan, covers only 916 square feet. This spells economical construction. Each square foot of a house costs money, especially these days. When you can get three bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and bath into only 916 square feet, you are getting a lot of house for your money.

By contrast the average of all small homes built with FHA-insured mortgages last year, covered more than 1,020 square feet. The year before the average had been 961, and the year before that, 924.

There are many advantages in building on a modest sized lot when you can find a compact plan to fit it and still fill your needs. You can number these advantages.

1. Most of the smaller building sites are in convenient locations and in built-up established neighborhoods. They usually are among well-kept lawns and big shade trees. You are not compelled to travel miles into the outskirts of town or beyond utility lines.

2. Land frontage can be an expensive item. Special assessments levied for new sewers, water mains, sidewalks, curbs or street pavement, usually are based on so much per front foot. Narrow lots are not hit as hard by such taxes.

3. Planting and maintenance of large lawns and gardens can be costly and time consuming. With a smaller lot you are ot a slave to your lawn. Hedges and other screens can make a small yard seem as secluded as an acre. Less planting and less fencing are kinder to the budget.

When smaller lots are centrally located, schools are usually adequate and long established, eliminating the unknown quantity of new school taxes for new building programs. Fire protection and police protection are other advantages.

WELL PLANNED

Architect Lester Cohen planned this house with a full basement for maximum storage space. A side service door opens into a service vestibule from which stairs to the basement open straight ahead and two steps at the left lead up to the kitchen.

The kitchen is well planned for modern equipment in an efficient U-shaped arrangement. A snack bar beneath hanging cabinets serves to divide the kitchen from the dining area.

The main entrance opens into a small foyer with a coat closet. By locating the chimney at the end of the living room, you have the possibility of adding a fireplace at that point if your budget permits.

Bedrooms are secluded in the rear of the house for quiet and privacy. The only hall space required by this plan is a compact center square off of which open the bedrooms, living room, bathroom and linen closet.

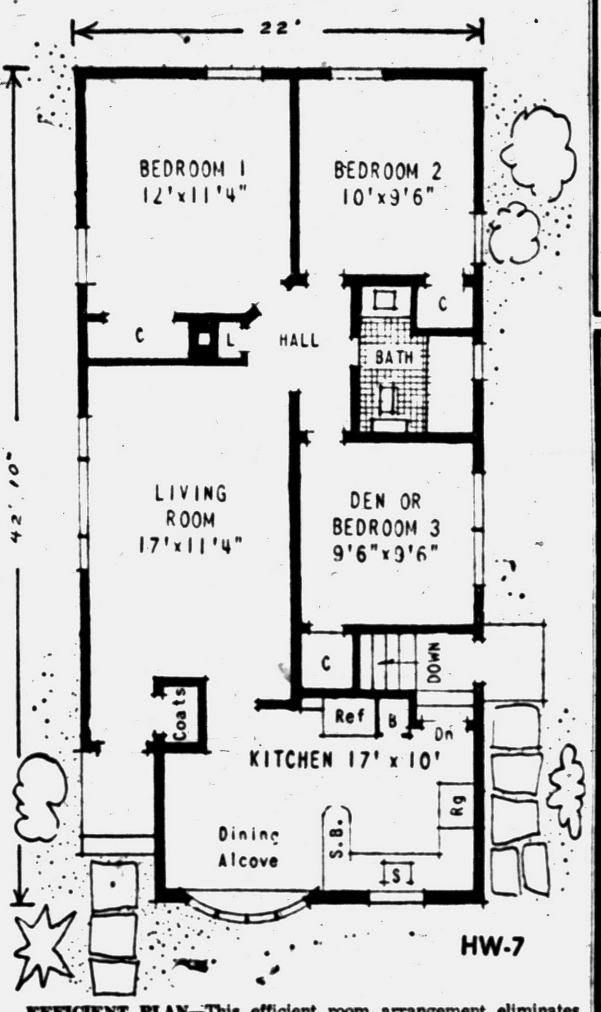

This hall, less than six feet square, illustrates the degree to which waste space has been kept out of this plan. It used to be that architects strove to keep hall spaces down to less than 10 per cent of the usable floor area. Here such space amounts to only 3 per cent.

Economical but sound construction is envisioned in the specifications. Four steel columns are specified in the basement. Hardwood finish floors are recommended throughout. Roofing would be asphalt shingles. Interior walls and ceilings can either be plastered on gypsum lath, or dry wall with gypsum wallboard.

EFFICIENT PLAN—This efficient room arrangement eliminates waste space. Although there are only 916 square feet in this house, the plan includes three bedrooms. A full basement gives maximum storage space.

DINING ALCOVE—Here is a view of the dining room and the bowed front window. Separated from the kitchen by a counter and hanging wall cupboards, it occupies about half of the 17x10 kitchen.

ELEVATION SKETCH—This shows how attached garage will look. It extends the overall width of this house to only 32 feet. With a larger lot a breezeway can be placed in between.

Expensive Furniture Reverts to Carving

The most expensive furniture is being carved up on purpose—to make pretty designs and ornamentations. It costs $180 and up to buy a table with a carved top in a thistle or oak leaf pattern, and $450 to buy a dresser with panels carved in geometric abstracts.

The carving is either "etched" into the wood intaglio fashion, so that the surface remains smooth—or is deeply cut in relief, so that it feels three dimensional.

When the carving is done over an entire surface, like a table top, the design is kept delicate and thin-lined. Carving in relief is heavier but is used only in small areas on big case pieces.

Pail Makes Holder for Garden Hose

Don't throw away that old galvanized pail just because it sprang a leak. Nail the bottom to a garage or cellar wall so the open end faces out.

This makes a fine holder to keep a coiled garden hose. It's easier to attach, and less expensive than a wooden or metal rack.

Walter H. Dreier, president of the United States Savings and Loan League, says that while the peak of "tight money" appears to have passed, there is little chance in home mortgage conditions before Fall.

10 JIG-SAW BIRDS

IRON ON—If you want to avoid the tedious task of tracing intricate jig-saw cut-outs this is the type of pattern to use. All you have to do is to lay the pattern on the wood and go over it with a warm iron. The transfer of the picture to the wood is so perfect it looks like the artist who made the pattern had worked directly on your material. Besides the parrot shown in the above sketch there is an owl, crow, blue jay, woodpecker, robin, oriole, bluebird, goldfinch, and Kentucky cardinal. All are life-size and the directions with the pattern include twenty-five formulas for mixing the exact colors and shades from three tubes of paint. Ask for pattern No. 109 and enclose 50c with name and address. The Pontiac Press, Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, New York.

Basement Good Place to Hide in A-Attack

amined the after effects of experimental atomic test explosions in Nevada were convinced that a basement provides a means of refuge in the event of an atomic attack, reports the Institute of Home Designers.

* * *

They emphasize that there should be a means of exit from the house other than through a room on the first floor, since collapse of the roof, chimney and flooring could cut off escape anyplace but through the basement.

Best From the Worst

Countries with the worst terrain and the most miserable weather produce the best breeds of sheep for carpet wool. The rough environment develops wools that are tough and springy which can take the rugged wear demanded of carpet fibers.

Paint String Does It

To fix leaking pipe joints, remove the fitting and lay string, soaked in white lead or the heavy residue in the bottom of an old can of paint, in the threads on the pipe. Hang an end of the string over the end of the pipe and screw the fitting on gently.

Check Basement Door

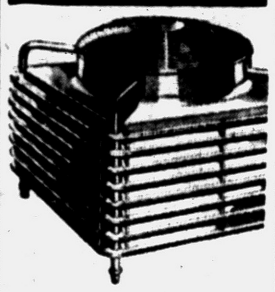

A good rule to remember when considering your storage problems is that anything that fits through your front door can also generally fit through your outside basement entrance, says the Institute of Home Designers. The basement door should be wide enough to permit bulky appliances like food freezers to pass through.

Inadequate, Unfit Housing Hit at Real Estate Confab

KIAMESHA LAKE, N. Y. — Owners of deficient or outmoded residential properties were advised today by a spokesman for the National Association of Real Estate Boards "to put their dwellings into quality condition or suffer the economic consequences."

Sounding the warning was Walter S. Dayton, Bayside, N. Y., chairman of the NAREB Build America Better committee, in a speech before the 52nd annual convention of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards at the Concord Hotel here.

The New York Realtor said there were numerous "forces at work within the framework of the nation's economy that should cause owners of inadequate or unfit housing to sit up and take notice."

He cited "growing citizen demand for slum clearance, neighborhood conservation, and housing improvement" as one pressure which will "drive sub-par housing off the market." More and more cities, he said, are launching full-scale programs of firm housing code enforcement aimed at bringing residential structures into compliance with local standards for housing health, safety, and sanitation.

"Meanwhile, consumer income is at a peak level. Families can afford and are demanding better housing, according to the NAREB Research Division. Deficient units are either being modernized or removed from the inventory by this demand for quality shelter.

"Congress will shortly complete its drafting of a housing measure which will probably contain liberalization of credit terms for home improvement financing. This, too, will spark even more interest in better housing.

"It is expected that additional cities will qualify for the government's urban renewal aids within the next few months. In some of these municipalities, entire neighborhoods will be made eligible for FHA's Section 220 housing rehabilitation mortgage insurance. This favorable financing will enable owners to undertake substantial modernizations of their properties, and hesitant real estate investors will surely suffer the economic consequences if they do not keep their units on a competitive par with others in these urban renewal areas.

"In every sector of the market, the influence of consumer preference for good housing is apparent. Unless home production falters drastically, the filtration process will accelerate as more and more families assert their wish to live in greater comfort.

"Tenants and purchasers alike, enjoying record level incomes, are seeking living space of design, size, and location better suited to meet their family needs. Renters, with more choice available to them, are shunning makeshift quarters, or those with inadequate facilities or in need of major repair.

"Homebuyers, meanwhile, with increased appreciation of ownership and the benefits in environment which it affords, are apparently willing to postpone other purchases and to assume substantial mortgage obligations, so long as the house of their choice can be acquired," Mr. Dayton said.

Wall-to-Wall Carpet Made for the Ceiling

There's nothing new about carpeting floors wall-to-wall. But carpeting walls floor-to-ceiling is some thing else again. The sound-swallowing properties of carpet are thought of so highly that in a number of places, they're even putting it on the walls.

Two theaters in Manhattan have carpeted the walls of their foyers in order that the conversation of waiting patrons will not disturb the people watching the performance. The communications room in International Airport on Long Island —a place loaded with teletypes, loudspeakers and many other noise producing gadgets — also boasts carpet on the walls to dim the clatter.

Would Extend Loan Plan

A "reasonable extension" of the GI Home Loan Program beyond its present expiration date of July 25, 1957, has been advocatd by the United States Savings and Loan League. Some extension is expected to be voted before the present Congress adjourns.

Baseboard Molding Makes Picture Frame

DENVER (INS) — Don't throw away that leftover base board or molding — it can be made into delightful picture frames.

With the cost of tailor-made picture frames rising steadily, why not turn that fancy wood into fancy picture frames. A miter box will do the trick.

Another idea that has been tried successfully is to dress up cheap dime-store frames with the molding. Either attach the purchased frame above or under the frame made from the molding.

Flexible Plastic Emerges as Good Kitchen Topping

COLUMBUS, Ohio (INS)—What you choose for kitchen counter tops depends sometimes on who is going to install them.

Recent research at Ohio State University shows that each material has certain advantages but some are better for a do-it-yourself project.

Good grade laminated plastics—those "set" with heat — resist stains, heat, scorching, mildew, and the colors don't fade nor does the surface dent easily. But, says the University, it takes accurate workmanship with the right tools to do a good installation job.

Flexible plastics, the kind that come in a roll, are easier to apply but won't wear as well.

Vinyls are good counter tops in the moderate cost class and most handymen can install them easily because they are flexible, like linoleum. However, vinyl must be kept away from the range or other places where heat can damage it.

The University researchers said that both tile and stainless steel counter tops are good choices for damp humid climates, but they cost more to buy and to install.

No Strain Now

A new window balance now makes it possible to raise or lower window sash with the pressure of a finger-tip. The new balance is being offered on removable double-hung wood windows.

Steel Wool Damages Ceramic Tile Surface

DETROIT (INS) — A soapless detergent and water will bring ceramic tile surfaces sparkling clean but what about the fine cement lines between the tiles?

The cement lines—known as grout—can best be scrubbed with a mild scouring powder and a damp cloth followed by a thorough rinsing.

Avoid steel wool; the small steel fibers could become embedded in the grout and cause rust stains.

Smoothes Rough Glass

It's easy to smooth the rough edges of a piece of glass. Use a six inch piece of tongue and groove lumber for a sanding block. Fold a piece of fine grade emery cloth over the edge of the glass. Then insert the grooved block over this, and the brisk rubbing will smooth the glass evenly.

Use Soapy Stick in Cutting Glass

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — If the "handy man" around the house used a yardstick or some other upright edge guide to cut a pane of glass, here's a tip to curb guide slippage.

Rub the underside of the stick with soap. This will adhere to the glass, keeping the stick in place to guide the cutter.

Latest Furniture Reverts to Wall-Size Dimensions

Furniture has gone wall-size, and you can build yourself a private island in the midst of your house with seven-foot cabinets, six-foot cases and room dividers that shoot right up to the ceiling.

Furniture so big it protects you from peeking when the bed isn't made and the dishes aren't washed spotlighted the opening of the International Home Furnishings Market in Chicago.

Along with height and width, the new furniture has gained substance. It's as solid-looking and as comforting as an old-fashioned fireplace—and it's copied right from the period 50 years ago when fireplaces were for heat.

CARVED WOODS

As proof, one company displayed a real 1906 bedroom featuring a solid wood bed with six-foot carved headboard and four-foot footboard, a curved front marbletopped chest and a mirrored, curved and carved dresser six feet tall.

All around were showrooms with the latest in 1956 furniture—six-foot headboards, six-foot cabinets, curved fronts, marbletops and heavy, carved woods.

Other furniture fashion trends follow this "good old days" line. wood is being used not only for the body of case goods, but as its own trim, replacing plastic and metal even on ultra-modern.

OVER-ALL CHANGE

Colors for the latest upholstery came right out of a hooked rug: Greens, blues, yellows and reds—with bluish green and gold as the style leaders. Pink, which used to be the No. one color, is now both dead and buried out of sight.

The over-all change in dimension affected all types of furniture. There was no definite new style, although some painted Venetian appeared in a few showrooms. Italian Provincial is still the up-and-coming style, and its size change was typical: Cabinets which were 72 inches high in 1955 now rear up 80 inches and have grown an inch or two slimmer for balance.

Contemporary cabinets also have leaped up over six feet, and some chairs and sofas have grown high enough in back to rest even a basketball player's head.

In addition to size, furniture showed a change in position. It's being grouped by room again, and even occasional pieces are shown in cozy knee-rubbing arrangements.

Let the Kids Paint the Wall

CHICAGO (INS)—The kids are going to mark up the walls of their room anyway so why not let them decorate sections with fingerpaints that wash off?

If you supply a "paint" concocted from liquid laundry starch and dry pigment colors the decorations can be removed with a damp cloth. And youngsters can make new designs to keep occupied.

A manufacturing firm (The A. E. Staley Manufacturing Co.) supplies these suggestions for a fingerpainted playroom:

Set aside wall sections in accordance with the number of children, assigning each one to a particular panel to eliminate friction.

Separate the lower portion of the wall (about four feet from the floor) from the top section by means of a washable, plastic border if a molding doesn't already exist.

Wash the lower wall thoroughly. If the surface is not white or a light color, coat it with washable white enamel. The upper wall can be papered or painted.

To protect the floor, use plastic to cover rugs or wood. Washable tile or linoleum need not be covered.

Here's Some Advice on Pouring Curbing

Q—We want a concrete curb for our gravel driveway. How deep should it extend into the ground? —P.K.

A—It is not absolutely necessary, though recommended in areas where frost action may be severe, to carry poured concret curbing below frost line. A six to 10-inch depth below grade usually is sufficient. In clay or other soil of poor drainage quality, provide a tamped gravel bed for the curbing. Spread the gravel six inches thick and four inches wider than the base of the curb, which in turn should be wider at its base than at the top.

Log Heaters in Ceramics

Gas-operated log heaters made of newly developed ceramics are rapidly replacing the old-fashioned living room fireplaces. Clean and economical, the gas log provides a constant, more efficient heat than the natural log, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Small House Has Big Room

An extra large living room (24x14) is a feature of this little house, designed and built by the Johnson Construction Company on Hutchins road in White Lake township.

The model, called the Budgeteer, has the above mentioned living room which can be converted to two rooms, two bedrooms, an open kitchen and a separate laundry-storage area. Both bedrooms have cross ventilation. Buyers have a choice of two floor plans and seven exterior designs.

A. S. Johnson Sr. says of this new model home, "We have provided the essential ingredients of livability, leaving out the luxury items which the young growing family can add later."

Lake privileges on Cedar Island Lake are available to residents of this new subdivision, located just west of St. Patrick's Church. It is a mile north of Union Lake Village.

The Budgeteer sells for $7,400, with $750 down, plus costs.

3-Bedrooms in Demand

Indicative of the growing demand of the American people for higher quality homes is the fact that of all the new houses built in 1956, approximately three-fourths or 75 per cent will contain three bedrooms. The United Savings and Loan League reports that in 1954, only 58 per cent of new homes had three bedrooms. In 1955, this had risen to 68 per cent.

It is estimated by the National Association of Real Estate Boards that two existing houses are sold for each newly-constructed one put on the market.

Coatings Retard Wood Decay Underground

When you build arbors or trellises—or enclose your outdoor living room with attractive fencing—you'll want to check on the special coatings now available which retard the rotting of wood that must be placed below ground. These are known as wood preservatives.

Get the non-staining type, if you plan to add additional coats of paint to the part of the wood that shows above ground.

For the finish coats on a fence, it's advisable to use regular house paint in a color that harmonizes with the color scheme of your house. This same type of paint will also serve admirably for trellises and arbors.

A home you will be proud to own plus an income that will pay for your home. Fireplace, oak floors, venetian blinds, and wall to wall carpeting are only a few of the many features of this fine home. Priced to sell at only $15,750.00 with terms. Call NOW!

Nuclear War Would Jolt Red Empire

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Communists choose nuclear war, hundreds of millions of persons living in the Red empire—and some in bordering free nations—may be exterminated by the drifting death of radioactive poison loosed by exploding American bombs.

This was the picture showing through the hitherto secret testimony of the Army's chief of research and development, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, made public last night.

A transcript of testimony given last month before the Senate subcommittee investigating air power disclosed this:

Sen. Duff (R-Pa) asked what would happen if the United States strategic air force made an attack in force on Russia and winds carried contamination outward from the detonating points of nuclear bombs.

Gavin replied that "current planning estimates run on the order of several hundred million deaths."

Where the contamination fell would depend on wind direction, the general said. If it blew to the southeast, the deaths would be mostly in Russia. (The population of Russia is about 193 million.) But the radioactivity fall-out from the bomb clouds also would extend "into the Japanese and down into the Philippine area," said the general. (This obviously meant that it would cross part of populous China, where perhaps 600 million persons live.)

The knowledge of this, Duff observed, should convince Russia that it would not be "wise to start a nuclear war with our capacity" to retaliate.

The released testimony did not show whether Gavin was asked about the effect of Russian bombs on this country, but Sen. Symington (D-Mo) cited a magazine estimate that 110 bombs hitting this country could destroy or maim 70 million people.

The Pentagon had been fully aware of Gavin's testimony before a closed-door session of the committee May 25.

But there was evidence of consternation today when it was realized that the general's predictions had been released for publication.

Report Exaggerated?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has said that if it had been up to him, he would not have made public previously secret testimony by a top Army officer saying a U.S. atomic attack on Russia might exterminate hundreds of millions of people.

Wilson added he believed the estimate of potential deaths was "somewhat exaggerated."

Nine Plead Innocent After Local Vice Raid

Joseph Walls, 30, of 380 Howland St., was charged with running a gambling place at his home. His wife, Lucille, 30, was charged with aiding and abetting.

Seven others, including one woman, were charged with loitering. The arrests were made at 2:30 a.m. by Det. James Laponsie.

A trial is scheduled for July 5.

Lyman E. Holt, 27, of 912 Kennilworth St., demanded examination when he appeared before Berkley Justice Ralph F. Finley yesterday.

He was arrested by Berkley police June 18 and is alleged to have cashed several bad checks in the Royal Oak area early in the month.

Makes Claim for Title

ROME (INS) — Mario D'Agata, 30-year-old Italian deaf-mute, claimed the world's bantamweight boxing championship today following a six-round TKO of Robert Cohen of France at Rome's Olympic Stadium.

D'Agata's title is clouded by the fact that one of the world's major ring bodies, the National Boxing Association in the United States, recognizes Raton Macias of Mexico as champion.

Texan and Buckeye Battle for NI Title

Battling Ohio State University's rugged 7,120-yard terrain, and each other, were Rex Baxter Jr., of Houston University, who led the 36-hole qualifier by six strokes, and Rick Jones of the Bucks.

The two were due to go 36 holes or less over the tree-dotted layout which has two lake holes and a stream meandering across six fairways.

Yama Beats Turner, Again Eyes Welters

NEW YORK (AP)—Yama Bahama, a heavy welter who has been mixing with middleweights, would like to dip back to his own weight level for a match with Carmen Basilio, Tony DeMarco, Chico Vejar or Art Aragon after winning his 23rd straight.

Bahama, a speedy boxer from the isle of Bimini in the Bahamas, slid past experienced Gil Turner of Philadelphia last night to win a unanimous decision in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden.

* * *

Even Turner's manager, Georgie Katz, who usually screams at adverse decisions, admits Turner lost this one. "Gil has too many domestic troubles," said Katz. "We lost this one all right."

PGA Approves $5 Assessment to Pay Carter

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — An assessment of $5 will be made against all pros and amateurs competing in each PGA-sponsored golf tournament until a fund of $21,000 is raised, it was decided at a meeting of the professional golfers last night at the Wethersfield Country Club.

Pro Bob Toski of Holyoke, Mass., one of the co-chairmen of the Players Tournament Committee, said the assessment would be made in place of the previous motion of a three per cent cut from all prize money. This money is to pay the salary and expenses of the proposed tournament manager, Edwin C. Carter of San Anselmo, Calif.

Nashua at Even-Money

NEW YORK (INS) — Nashua, leading money-winning thoroughbred of all time, will go to the post an even-money favorite today in the $59,000 Carter handicap.

Eleven horses are entered, with Nashua packing top weight of 130 pounds for the seven-furlong sprint. Find and Switch On, second and third choices, will carry 119 apiece.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

OFF TO CAMP — 6
A Game

The Junior Editors have left for camp, and they have a long bus trip ahead. Here is a game two or more can play to while away the time.

Color this picture with your crayons, making the route yellow, with stopping places red, the trees green and the mountains brown and purple. Cut it out, leaving an inch all around, and paste it down on cardboard.

Use a penny to toss for moves, heads two, tails one, and small buttons for markers. Toss for first play. Enter at the camp line station. Every time your move lands you on a stopping place you miss your next turn.

Your toss must always carry you over obstacles in the road, such as a stray cow or fallen rocks, and each play must land exactly on "lunch." After lunch you go on until it is time to change drivers. Later there is a tire to be changed, and as the bus winds higher into the mountains, it slows down for a road being repaired.

Find Headless Body of Missing Fisherman

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—The headless and armless body of a man found on Pelee Island early this week has been identified as that of a duck hunter who has been missing from Wyandotte since last Nov. 16. He was Otto Radeback, 35, father of seven children.

Radeback was hunting ducks on the lake when a storm blew up. He was able to make his way to shore but when the wind abated he returned to the lake to recover his decoys. He was not seen again.

The body was found by fishermen walking along the beach. An autopsy showed no foul play.

Prof Finds Thinking Up TV Quiz Questions Is Hard Job

EVANSTON, Ill. (INS)—If you think answering the questions on television's "The $64,000 Question" is hard, just try thinking them up.

* * *

"After all," he explains, "a person's chances of winning a huge fortune is riding on the answer.

"The question, and every word in it, must be absolutely clear and unambiguous; the question must also be fair with the answer contained in the standard reference works and finally, the question must be specific—with only one correct, objective answer."

In addition, Evans says there are some subtle forces at work in shaping the questions:

"Each question up the 'money ladder' must be progressively harder and must not back track—once an area is covered, for example, say Abraham Lincoln's early life in Illinois, later questions cannot deal with this area but must go on to new areas."

Evans works hard to insure these conditions are met. He spends weekends in his suburban Chicago home blocking out as many as 100 questions in each of a dozen different categories contestants can choose from.

These questions are air-mailed to the show's producers in New York. The final polishing and selection is done in New York on Thursday by Evans and Merton Coplin, associate producer of the CBS-TV program.

These weekly conferences make Prof. Evans an airplane commuter to New York. He arranges to teach his well-attended classes in American and world literature on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

STAGGERING LOAD

By Friday night, the 52-year-old professor says, "I allow myself an indulgence—an extra cup of coffee at dinner before returning home."

Asked the kind of training that went into the making of TV's "chief questioner," Evans noted he had a Harvard Ph.D. had done graduate work at Oxford, had a Phi Beta Kappa key and had taught for 28 years.

As a matter of fact, Prof. Evans would make a good contestant on "The $64,000 Question." A good contestant, that is, in all but two categories—Jass and Baseball. He said:

* * *

"I must confess I don't know much about either—some one else makes up the questions in those categories."

New Dramatic Program Will Enliven Summer TV

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Rarely does an ambitious television program make its debut in the summer season. The custom of summer doldrums goes back almost to the crystal set days of radio when no one had a receiver in his vacation cottage.

* * *

But these days a television set appears to be a summer requirement—like ice and running water. Still, not many new regular programs bow in. What would appear to be a pleasant exception to the rule makes its debut Tuesday when "The Kaiser Aluminum Hour" appears on NBC-TV at 8:30 p.m. in the spot vacated by "Playwrights '56."

3 TOP DIRECTORS

Produced by Worthington Miner, the biweekly program will have three top directors—Frank Schaffner, Fielder Cook and George Roy Hill—rotating in the direction of dramas. Schaffner is up first on Tuesday with a drama entitled "The Army Game."

As he described it the other day, it sounds interesting: a story about a young man who tried to get a psycho discharge from the Army—and the effects of his action on several people besides himself.

* * *

Like many other regular drama program, "The Kaiser Aluminum Hour" is looking for the best in scripts—and it has a good running start in that direction, says Schaffner.

DIFFERENT TASTES

"The basic philosophy of having different directors contribute to the project is that different tastes will be reflected," he said. "Variety is inevitable."

Stars will alternate with lesser-known actors in leading roles. "We'll use the best person available," he explained.

Niagara Falls Slated for Public Power Plant

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House Public Works Committee has approved a bill to authorize New York state to construct a 400 million dollar public power plant at Niagara Falls.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY), was approved by the Senate May 16 by a 48 to 39 vote.

The measure directs the Federal Power Commission to license the New York State Power Authority to construct the plant. A fight has been going on for many years over whether the state or private utilities should develop the power project.

'56 Housing Bill Fight in Offing

'War of Nerves' Begins as Inter-Party Friction Builds on Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—House members for and against public housing faced off today in a war-of-nerves contest to see who will give in first on a 1956 housing bill.

Rep. Rains (D-Ala), head of a House Banking subcommittee on housing, announced for himself and Banking Committee Chairman Spence (D-Ky) that the committee "definitely" will not reconsider the big 1956 housing bill it already has approved.

The House Rules Committee yesterday voted 6-4 to table the measure. It would provide for 180,000 new public housing units, far more than President Eisenhower sought.

Rep. Leo Allen (Ill.), top Republican member of the Rules Committee, was equally firm that the four Republicans plus two Southern Democrats who voted against clearing the bill for a House vote would stand by their decision.

* * *

The White House has put housing legislation on its priority list. However, Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole said the bill written by the Democratic-controlled House Banking Committee is "unrealistic, excessive and ill conceived."

It Was a Good Meal—Burp, Yawn, Zzzz

HUDDERSFIELD, England (INS)—Aldermen, councillors and other civic dignitaries at a mayoral banquet were stunned as their guest of honor expressed his approval of a 6-course meal with a gargantuan snore and toppled gently to the floor.

The sherry and wine had flowed at the banquet for the inauguration of the new mayor of Huddersfield.

Bus cleaner Stead Baxter, a long-time city employe, sat at a special table with three other honor guests. The speeches were about to begin.

Replete with wine and food Baxter may have been forgiven an Oriental "burp" of appreciation, but as the table talk died away the silence was shattered by a resounding snore from the nodding Baxter.

The guests watched with morbid fascination as Baxter leaned further and further backwards in his chair until he collapsed sleepily at the feet of a fellow guest.

Uniformed attendants hurriedly carried out the still somnolent Baxter, who later apologetically explained:

"I'm not used to 'posh do's' like that banquet. If ever I take a drink it's just beer."

Aerobee Rocket Shatters Record – 163 Miles Up

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N. M. (AP)—An Aerobee-Hi rocket blasted 163 miles above the earth yesterday to set a new record for a single-stage rocket.

The stratosphere-piercing flight was made as test firings continued in the current series of upper-air probes in the International Geophysical Year program.

The Aerobee-Hi and Viking are among the rockets which get all their power from a single burning cell. Compound, multiple stage rockets employ two or more cells, with one taking over after earlier units have burned out and been dropped to the ground.

19 Architects to Plan Berlin's 'City in City'

BERLIN — Nineteen prominent European and American architects have been commissioned to design 15 of the 24 major buildings for the new "city within a city" scheduled for construction in West Berlin in the next few years.

The new section will replace the burned-out Hansa Quarter, famous residential area in Tiergarten Park, and will include apartment houses up to 25 stories high, office buildings, stores, schools, churches, and park areas.

Brazil Commuters Riot at Interrupted Service

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Angry commuters rioted at six railway stations in and around Rio de Janeiro yesterday when a breakdown interrupted service.

Before troops and military police could restore order several railway employes were injured and about $24,000 worth of damage was done to railway property.
