PRESIDENTIAL FAMILIES—President and Mrs. Eisenhower talk with President and Mrs. Syngman Rhee of South Korea on north portico of the White House yesterday afternoon. The 79-year-old Rhee and his Austrian-born wife arrived for a state visit in Washington until Saturday, when they'll go to New York.

4 Republicans Vie to Oppose Williams as Tempo Picks Up in State Campaign

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three daily series on State ticket candidates at next Tuesday's primary election in Michigan.)

By JACK GREEN

LANSING (UP)—Four Republicans are slugging it out in the final week of the 1954 primary election campaign for a chance to oppose Gov. Williams at the November general election.

Meanwhile, Williams, the sole Democratic candidate, is coasting to an unopposed renomination on his side of the ballot.

Who are these four Republicans who are working so hard to stir voter interest in a hot summer campaign?

They are State Treas. D. Hale Brake, Sec. of State Owen J. Cleary, Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, the former lieutenant governor; and Donald S. Leonard, former state and Detroit police commissioner.

Let's look at their records.

Brake is 63 and a native of Kent county. He is in his 12th year as state treasurer. Previous to that he was prosecuting attorney of Montcalm County, a state senator for four terms and president pro tempore of the senate.

A graduate of Fremont High School, Albion College and the University of Michigan Law School, Brake started practicing law in Grand Rapids in 1922 and moved the next year to Stanton, still his home town. He operates a 500-acre farm just outside of town. He is married and the father of three sons.

Brake has been most widely known outside the capitol as a believer in strong Republican party organization and responsibility. Equally so, he has been a fighter for strong local government, a cause which led him to organize the Institute of Local Government to strengthen and inform local officials.

Cleary is 54 and a native of Ypsilanti where he operates the Cleary business college and practices law. Previously, he was state chief air raid warden in 1940-45 and was chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission from 1947 to 1949. He is serving his first term as secretary of state.

Entering the army in 1918, Cleary served for many years with the Michigan National Guard and in the World War II state troops, rising to be brigadier general of that body in part of 1946 and 1947.

Cleary is a graduate of Ypsilanti High, attended Cleary College and Michigan State Normal and received a degree from the University of Michigan Law School.

He was chosen chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in 1949 and in the following four years became widely known as an aggressive organizer and speaker. He is married and has two children.

Keyes is also 54 years old and is a native of Canada who has lived in Dearborn since he was

Harbert Leads PGA, One-Up at End of 15 Holes of Play

Editor's Note—Both Walter Burkemo and Melvin (Chick) Harbert are Oakland County golf professionals, and this is the first time that an all-Michigan final title round in the big national PGA tourney has been held. Wally is Franklin Hills' professional and the defending champion. He lives at Royal Oak. Harbert is pro at Meadowbrook (Northville) and lives in Farmington.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Harbert held a 1-up lead in the PGA title match at the end of 15 holes. Harbert evened the match by taking the 10th and 11th. The next two were halved and he took the 14th. They halved the 15th.

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Defending champion Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., took a two-up lead over neighbor Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., on the first nine holes of their 36-hole final of the PGA golf championship today. Harbert, wild off the tee in his old fashion, was down from the very first hole.

Harbert won the ninth—the first hole he had won—when he put an approach within inches of the cup for a birdie three.

First hole: 345 yards, par 4. Harbert drove into the rough on the side of a bunker trying to carry across the bend of the dogleg. Burkemo was in the fairway in front of the green. Harbert hooked his second out of bounds into a cornfield and conceded the hole. Neither holed out. Burkemo one up.

Second hole: 397 yards, par 4. Burkemo 4, Harbert 4. Burkemo's drive was up the middle 270 yards. Harbert pushed his shot under a fir tree, where he could only take a half swing. He made a fine recovery, four feet short of the green, chipped up and sank a 10-foot putt. Burkemo's second hit the green 25 feet from the pin and he two-putted.

Third hole—533 yards, par 5. Burkemo 5 Harbert 7. Harbert sliced his drive into the rough, was 100 yards short of the green and sent his third into a trap, where the ball was buried. He failed to get the ball out with his first blast, but put the next seven feet from the pin. Burkemo, down the middle, put his third over the back edge of the green and chipped on in four, three feet from the pin. Harbert conceded.

Fourth hole—144 yards, par 3. Burkemo 2 Harbert 3. Both hit the green with good tee shots. Burkemo sank an eight-foot putt for his deuce while Harbert's six footer rolled past the cup. Burkemo 3 up.

They halved the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth.

Ninth hole. 425 yards, par 4. Burkemo 4 Harbert 3. Harbert slammed a fine drive 300 yards down the middle of the fairway, then almost holed out a wedge shot, the ball stopping within an inch or two of the cup. Burkemo's approach left him an 8-foot putt which he missed after conceding Harbert's 3.

Senate Fails to Act on Hawaii and Alaska

WASHINGTON (UP)—Any lingering possibility that Congress would vote at the current session to take Hawaii and Alaska into the Union as states was wiped out late yesterday.

The House Rules Committee, by voice vote, decided against sending separate House and Senate bills to conference to iron out differences.

The House had voted statehood for Hawaii, as the Eisenhower administration asked. The Senate voted to give statehood to both Hawaii and Alaska.

Morse Rejoined by Democrats in Atom Talkathon

Leading Foes of Bill Cite Knowland's Action as Filibuster Cause

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) said today Democratic opponents of the administration's atomic energy bill have decided to resume filibuster tactics in earnest.

He made the statement to reporters as the Senate completed its fourth round-the-clock session on the bill in five days.

The organized filibuster against the bill, staged mainly by Democratic senators, had apparently dwindled Monday night to a one-man effort by Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore), who began a marathon speech at midnight.

Morse, the Senate's champion long distance speaker, was still going strong at 8:30 a.m. EST when Anderson passed the word that Democrats would return to the talkathon fray.

Morse finished his second speech of the current filibuster against the atomic revision bill at 12:22 p.m. EST. His talk had lasted 12 hours and 22 minutes and brought his total speaking time on the atomic bill to 29 hours and 15 minutes.

At the end he was slightly horase but his voice still had vigor.

Anderson said "several other" senators were prepared to speak "at great length" when Morse finished.

The New Mexico Democrat blamed Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Cal.) for the renewal of the organized filibuster.

"Knowland can't accuse us of promoting a filibuster," Anderson said. "He promoted it himself last night as hard and as consciously as he could."

Anderson referred bitterly to Knowland's action Monday night in tabling an amendment by Morse without debate and then having the Senate go through another all night session.

Before Knowland's action, Anderson said, agreement to bring the Army Discloses Soo Installation of Skysweeper

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Army disclosed in Chicago yesterday that the locks of Sault Ste. Marie now are under the protection of the 75-millimeter Skysweeper, a new, automatically fired anti-aircraft cannon.

Brig. Gen. T. W. Parker, commander of the 45th Anti-Aircraft Artillery brigade at Fort Sheridan, Ill., said the weapon's electronic sighting device spots its target 15 miles distant, tracks it, and knocks it down from four miles.

He said the gun utilizes radar and electronic computers in its deadly work.

The Skysweeper also can fire against ground targets.

Parker disclosed that this is the first weapon with radar, computer and gun on one carriage. He said his group is responsible for the defense of the Soo, Detroit and Chicago and works in close support with the Continental Air Defense Command.

Ike, Rhee Begin Talks on Korea

ROK Premier Sees No Hope for Unification by Peaceful Means

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Syngman Rhee of South Korea said after a conference with President Eisenhower today that he sees "no possibility of unifying Korea by a peaceful means."

Rhee made the statement to newsmen after the opening of talks with Eisenhower and other American officials on military and economic problems confronting partitioned Korea.

A reporter asked Rhee whether he and Eisenhower discussed the possibility of resuming the war in Korea.

Without saying whether that subject was taken up, the South Korean leader replied:

"We see no possibility of unifying Korea by peaceful means," he said, "I think you all agree on that."

Rhee mentioned the recent Geneva conference on the Far East and the conference at Panmunjom which led to the Korean armistice, and asked:

"What have they accomplished? The only thing accomplished is to see the Communist cause grow stronger."

Report for Anglers

Walleyes Coming in Fast Despite Hot, Dry Weather

By JACK PATTERSON
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

MACKINAW CITY—Continuing hot weather has perked things up considerably for resort operators in this area. Although most agree that business overall is a little slower than last year, right now they have their hands full.

PATTERSON

Despite hot dry weather fishing in both lakes and streams is picking up fast. Checked on Hubbard Lake and walleyes are coming in thick and fast there. Stopped off at Lost Lake Woods Club and the only serious fisherman we could find was eight year old Bill Eames, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Eames of Pontiac.

At Black Lake Mr. and Mrs. George Hawn advised that walleye fishing particularly in the evening continues to be excellent with spin fishermen having the most fun and catching the most fish.

Mullet Lake is just beginning to produce walleye fishing according to Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Dill of Drayton Plains. We spotted Mr. and Mrs. James Luthman of Pontiac at Topinabee and learned that walleyes are coming in thick and fast on minnows and spinners near that resort.

Ran into Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Meuser of Birmingham and discovered that hottest spot in Burt Lake right now for walleyes is at the mouth of the Sturgeon river. There are almost as many boats as fish in the river mouth but very nice catches are being made daily.

Over at Vanderbilt we found the Bill Harmons and their son and daughter and the Wilfred Richies and their two boys, all of Pontiac, busily engaged in fishing for rainbows in the Sturgeon River.

Fresh run fish are in the river now and some dandies are being caught on salmon eggs and night crawlers. The stream is very low and clear but the all day fishermen are having very good luck.

A little rain and higher water over the bar will bring more fish into the river and from now until fall the Sturgeon should be near the top of the list of Michigans rainbow streams.

Ran into Carleton Patterson at Cheboygan and got a first hand account of fly-fishing conditions on nearby streams. The Black River is good for brook trout right now and the Maple and Pigeon rivers are producing fair fishing but water is so low and clear that the successful angler has to resort to

JACK B. LYONS

Ex-Pontiac Man Killed in West

Jack Lyons Is Slain as Police Free Pair Held by Abductor

A former Pontiac man was shot to death by Los Angeles Police last night after kidnaping a doctor and his wife and terrorizing the couple for two hours.

Slain in the gunbattle was Jack B. Lyons, 39, an ex-convict who last lived in Pontiac in 1946.

Police said Lyons wounded the physician, Dr. Albert N. Anton, 48, Beverly Hills clinic obstetrician and gynecologist, during the abduction.

The doctor's wife, Pauline, 40, said she spent a terrifying half hour alone with the gunman while her husband tried to cash a check to meet the kidnaper's demand for $200. The mother of six children said she talked of everything she could think of to keep Lyons from harming her.

Police said Lyons was hiding in the Antons' car when the couple entered it.

He forced the doctor to drive him around. During one of their stops, a druggist became suspicious and summoned police.

When police closed in, Dr. Anton rolled from the car and was shot in the arm. Lyons was slain in an exchange of shots with police.

According to Pontiac Police, Lyons was born in Pontiac and lived here periodically. He has a long police record.

Friend's Efforts Fail to Save Wayne Youth in Monday Mishap

A 16-year-old Wayne youth drowned in Wolverine Lake, Commerce Township, Monday morning despite efforts of his two swimming companions to save him.

The body of Cy Langstraat was recovered an hour later in about 25 feet of water by Oakland County sheriff's deputies. Artificial respiration efforts by Commerce Township firemen failed.

The youth's companions, who said the victim was visiting Michael Lowrie family of Wayne at their cottage at 669 Lucille, told deputies they were swimming at about 11:15 near a raft 100 feet from the northwest shore. They said Langstraat failed to come up after diving from the raft.

The youths, Jack Lowrie and James Pierson, both of Wayne, said they made attempts to rescue Langstraat. A nearby resident, Oscar Fritz of 626 Wolverine Dr., said he tried to recover the body with grappling hooks.

Eden to Send 3rd Note Deploring Red Actions

RAF Ordered to Steer Clear of Hainan

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today Britain is protesting on behalf of the United States against Red China's attacks on American planes over the China Sea and the deaths of Americans on a British plane shot down by Chinese fighters.

He told the House of Commons Britain also is making another protest of her own against Communist threats to fire upon search planes off Red-held Hainan Island, in the south China Sea, where a British airliner was shot down last Friday.

Ten lives—three of them American—were lost in that Chinese Communist attack.

Eden said that on July 23, after the British airliner plunged into the sea, British authorities in Hong Kong radioed the Communist White Cloud Airfield at Canton, giving details of the number and type of rescue planes that would be searching the area of the crash.

An hour later, he said, the Chinese Reds replied that a British Sunderland flying boat in the area woul dbe allowed to remain, but that any other warplanes which entered the search would be fired upon without further warning.

Eden said Britain is protesting the Communist action as "contrary to all international behavior."

He refused to be drawn into a squabble with left-wing Laborite Desmond Donnelly on American orders to U.S. pilots to be "quick on the trigger" in the event of any further attacks by Communist planes over the south China Sea.

Eden's remarks wereg reeted with approving mumurs of "Hear, Hear."

He outlined the situation quietly and announced the new American and British protests.

Britain's latest protest will be her third since two Red fighters shot down a British Cathay Pacific airliner with 18 persons aboard.

"We all hope there will be no further incidents in connection with this most unhappy matter," Laborite Herbert Morrison said.

Eden's remarks were greeted Air Force officers in Hong Kong said four Communists MIGs buzzed a French airliner today near Hainan Island. But he said the Red planes seemed interested only in identifying the Air France plane.

Just before Eden spoke, Prime Minister Winston Churchill ordered all Royal Air Force transport planes to fly a course "well clear" of Hainan to avoid further incidents.

The order puts the RAF transports on a course similar to that prescribed yesterday for British commercial planes.

Czechs Imprison Bishop

BERLIN (UP)—The Roman Catholic bishop of Litomerice, Stepan Trochta, has been sentenced to 25 years in prison by Communist Czechoslovakia's Supreme Court on charges of spying, the East German News Agency ADN said today.

Dulles Objects to the Killing of 3 Americans

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has protested angrily to Red China against the killing of three Americans aboard a downed British airliner and against air attacks on U. S. planes engaged in rescue operations.

Informed sources said today that the protest, in the form of a sternly worded note, was transmitted by the British in behalf of the U. S. government. This procedure was necessary because the United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with Red China.

Informants would not immediately give details of the American protest.

But it was understood to be similar in tone to previous American statements describing the attacks by Red Chinese planes as "brutal" and "barbaric."

The three Americans were killed when Red aircraft shot down a British airliner off the Chinese coast July 23. Three other Americans were wounded.

On Sunday two Red planes attacked American aircraft flying cover for rescue operations in the area. These attackers were shot down.

Of the Sunday incident, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Monday that the United States would protest "most vigorously against this further evidence of Chinese Communist brutality and their belligerent interference with a humanitarian rescue operation being conducted over the high seas."

Dispatch of the U.S. protest was confirmed here after British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the British House of Commons that the British were communicating the protest to Red China.

Further details about the U.S. protest are expected later today.

Three Amateurs Tied for Lead

Mann, Palmer, Jensen Share Qualifying Top Spot With 74's

Low cards for the 1st half of the 36-hole USGA National Amateur qualifying round today at Oakland Hills and Birmingham Country Club were three 74's. Tied at the 2-over-par figure were Bill Mann, Ray Palmer and Glen Jensen, all of whom played their 1st 18 over the Birmingham layout.

Posting 75's at Birmingham were Bob Wingerter and Joseph Grace, while Bob Babbish had a 76. Low at Oakland Hills was a 76, turned in by Dick Whiting of Red Run.

First of the Oakland Hills morning contingent to tee off at Oakland Hills for the afternoon round were John Sanger, who had an 82 at the halfway mark, and Floyd Burdette, who had an 89.

A field of 107 top amateurs are competing in the eliminations for the 14 spots allotted this section for next month's National Amateur test at the Country Club of Detroit.

Communist Actions Suggest Hainan Island's Strategic Importance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Actions of Chinese Communist pilots in the area where a British air liner and U.S. rescue planes were attacked show the nervousness of the Peiping regime over the security of Hainan Island.

The Red Chinese appear to have been fortifying this island the past two years. Western sources in Hong Kong and Indochina say all the Hainan fortifications point northeastward toward the Nationalist Chinese stronghold island of Formosa, 660 miles away.

Hainan Island could be a base of attack some day on the last Nationalist stronghold. But at the same time the Red Chinese apparently have not forgotten the statement of Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek that some day he would begin the reconquest of China by assaulting and taking Hainan.

The Chinese shot down a British passenger plane en route from Bangkok, Thailand, to Hong Kong. The most direct route would be over Hainan Island, but commercial pilots give the island a wide berth.

BOAC Reroutes Trips

LONDON — British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) said today it has rerouted its planes between Singapore and Hong Kong to a course farther south of Hainan Island. The action follows the shooting down of a Cathay Pacific Airliner last week off Hainan.

The British say the incident took place about 30 miles south of Hainan, and the United States Department says it was in the same area that American planes shot down two Red Chinese planes which attacked while the Americans were searching for survivors of the British plane.

The tropical island of Hainan is a rich prize, strategically and economically. It is all the more sensitive now, observers in Southeast Asia report, because of the vast fortifications being constructed aroond the northeast coast of the oval-shaped island and possibly because the island also shelters a naval base used by Russian submarines.

Hainan, only 15 miles from the mainland of China, has been a Chinese island for 2,000 years except for the World War II period when the Japanese took it over and built transport, harbor and airport facilities.

It is only about 250 miles from Britains' Hong Kong and only about 650 miles from Manila in the Philippines. The island, in area about twice the size of New Jersey, is rich in natural resources, largely unexploited. It shelters some 2½ million people, mostly in the coastal areas. The people of the interior are primitive. The island, located in the Tonkin Gulf off Indochina, was captured by the Red Chinese from the Nationalists in the spring of 1950, and shortly thereafter may have become a base of supply for Communist-led Vietminh forces fighting the French in Indochina.

Some Residents Refusing to Stop Lawn Sprinkling as Water Pressure Dives

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — The general alarm siren atop City Hall blew last night for the third straight night, signaling all residents to shut off their lawn sprinklers for two hours while water pressure was allowed to rebuild to a safe level.

And for the third straight night, not all citizens turned off their water, although the supply had dropped to a dangerous low, with only a small emergency supply for fire fighting left in the storage tanks.

"Of course, some parts of town can't hear the siren," said Assistant Fire Chief Park Smith, who is responsible for the city's water supply while Chief Vernon W. Griffith is on vacation. "That's why we send men out to tell residents to shut off the water."

But Smith told of one fireman who last night advised 12 citizens in one section of town of the regulation. The citizens cooperated and turned off the water.

But when the fireman circled the block, minutes later, all 12 sprinklers were operating again.

Monday was the 11th day in a row that 5 million or more gallons were pumped.

An all-time high was set Saturday when 5,400,000 were used. On that night pressure dropped to 18 lbs. (42 lbs. is the average.)

Now the siren is sounded when the pressure reaches 25 lbs. "because it takes so long to build up if we let it get any lower," explained Jack Walker, assistant city manager.

"Most people realize the problem and cooperate when they hear the siren or are told. But there are others who wouldn't stop sprinkling if it was the end of the world," he said.

"Actually, we could pump seven million gallons a day if the use could be distributed over a 24-hour period.

"But after dinner—about 6:30—everybody hits it at once and that's when the supply skids."

Walker said the prolonged dry spell here combined with high water use is taking the water level in the city's well to a dangerously low point.

"We can't go on like this forever," he said.

Birmingham City Commission last night assigned a proposed mutual aid pact between the fire departments of this and four other cities to the Birmingham and Royal Oak city attorneys for redrafting.

The proposal would send the fire departments from member cities to another city needing aid in an emergency.

Cities in the agreement would be Birmingham, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Hazel Park, and Ferndale.

In answer to a letter from a local newspaper, the Commission stated that six city owned lots whose sale it will propose to voters in the Aug. 3 election will be sold only to persons agreeing to use the property for single family residences.

Following the recommendation of City Manager Donald C. Egbert, the Commission agreed to place the sale of 11 city-owned lots on Lincoln Avenue on the Nov. 2 ballot.

City Engineer L. R. Gare was instructed to determine the cost of making a survey of the city's sewage treatment plant to find what improvements would be needed to handle Bloomfield Township's sewage.

Gare was also authorized to begin drawing up plans for the city's future water needs. The city manager was instructed to consult with the finance director in determining methods of financing the expansion program.

In final action, Henry Johns, city sanitarian, was appointed constable.

If skies are cloudy a demonstration will be held with the Spitz Junior Planetarium, a small star-projector, Dr. Hatt said.

Hoss Stealing Invades County From the West

Oakland County sheriff's deputies are hunting a western-style horse thief today, but Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell said a sheriff's posse probably won't be called to round up the culprit.

Clayton Justin, of 5923 Hadley Rd., Ortonville, reported that someone took his 8-year-old chestnut Tennessee walking horse from a pasture on his farm last Thursday. The thief also took a saddle from his barn, Justin said.

Deputy Everett Fredericks said several persons reported a teenage youth riding along Oakwood road, Hadley road, down M15 to Clarkston. The youth, wearing a blue shirt, was last seen in the Waterford village area, Fredericks said.

Justin reported the thief cut several fences to gain access to the roadway.

The owner said the horse has a dark brown tail, white-stockinged rear legs with a white streak on its forehead.

Election of a corresponding secretary will take place Aug. 29 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Elmer Luebke who is moving from the area.

Report Allies Negotiating Defense Base in Israel

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

There are strong indications that the Western Allies hope to establish a defense base in Israel.

It is even reported in London that Great Britain is secretly sounding out Israel right now on the possibility of setting up a base at Haifa, chief port of the young Jewish state.

The Haifa base would be one of several to take the place of Britain's present base in the Suez Canal Zone.

It would mean the inclusion of Israel in Western defense organization against Communist aggression, and it would alter radically the present situation in the Middle East.

The implication is that the United States and Great Britain would make a major attempt to end the hostility between Israel and its Arab neighbors and get them all to cooperate in mutual defense against the common enemy, Red aggression.

London advices quote reliable reports that the British ambassador to Israel has discussed with the Israeli government the possibility of establishing a base at Haifa.

The London reports say also that British War Secretary Anthony Head mentioned the Haifa question last week when he made a speech in secret to 40 "rebel" members of the Conservative party who strongly oppose the evacuation of the Suez Canal.

It looks now as if agreement with Egypt on the canal is imminent. Britain seeks, under the agreement, to reoccupy the canal zone in the event of a Communist attack not only on any of the Arab countries but on Turkey and Iran.

But a United Press London dispatch said yesterday that it is now reported Britain intends to evacuate Suez even if agreement with Egypt fails.

It has been made known that the island of Cyprus is to be the new headquarters for the British Middle Eastern Command.

Britain seeks to organize a series of bases in which troops evacuated from Suez would be distributed. These include, besides Cyprus, Tripoli on the coast of Libya and Alexandretta on the southwest coast of Turkey.

The report that Haifa might also become a base may be surprising, but from the viewpoint of the Western Allies it would be logical.

If Moscow starts attacking Prime Minister Moshe Sharett of Israel soon, it may be taken as a sign that the Kremlin expects his country to be included in new Western defense plans for the Middle East.

A decision by Sharett and his colleagues in the Israeli government on the issue of joining with the West in defense would be a momentous one for them.

But if Israel could be included, on terms it felt good, it would be a triumph for the 61-year-old leader, himself Russian-born, who went to Palestine as a boy of six.

Democrats Resume Filibustering Tactics

atomic bill to a final vote within a couple of days had been "close."

All Knowland had to do to end the filibuster, Anderson said, was to keep quiet on Morse's amendment, recess the Senate overnight and then let a few amendments be discussed and voted on.

Anderson said the opposition group—composed of 18 Democrats, one Republican and one Independent had agreed at a meeting late Monday to exercise "self discipline" to bring the debate to an end after votes had been obtained on three key amendments.

The opposition group, Anderson said, conferred with Senate Minority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, and Johnson in turn conferred with Knowland.

But Anderson said Knowland "would not accept the suggestions" for limiting the debate made by the opposition group.

Anderson said it now appears "hopeless" to close off the debate, in its 14th day, through an agreement between the opposition group and the Republican leadership.

* * *

"The only way to stop it now is through cloture (gag rule)," Anderson said.

Knowland failed Monday to "gag" the filibuster through the seldom used cloture rule. The vote was 44 to 42 in favor of cloture, 20 votes short of the required two-thirds (64 votes) majority.

When a reporter suggested jokingly that "we'll be around here until Thanksgiving" Anderson replied with no trace of a smile:

"It is quite possible."

* * *

Morse, who was taking codeine tablets to ease a painful toothache, was still in good voice as he surpassed his own previous record for the current filibuster. That record was eight hours and four minutes, a speech he delivered July 24.

Morse once spoke 22 hours and 26 minutes against the Tidelands bill, and is recognized by his colleagues as a man of formidable oratorical endurance.

Anderson said Knowland was forewarned that he "would start the fur flying again" if he did any one of three things. Anderson listed these moves as: Cloture, laying an amendment on the table without debate and holding all-night sessions.

Police Charge 2 With Burglary

Pair Frightened From Drug Store Breakin, Claim Officers

Two Pontiac men are in police custody today awaiting charges on a drug store breakin last night.

The suspects, Richard W. Hubner, 27, who gave his address as 111 Draper Ave., and Robert Evans, 28, of 445 E. Pike St., were arrested shortly after a breakin at the Furtney Drug Store, 450 E. Pike, Pontiac Police said.

Rene LaRiviere, caretaker at the apartment where Evans lives, told Detective Sgts. William Hanger and John DePauw that he saw a man run from the store at about midnight and enter the apartment building.

Police found Hubner in apartment 103 and they said he implicated Evans under questioning. Hubner said they planned to rob the store but were frightened off by the caretaker who came to investigate.

Evans, who refused to answer questions, was arrested sleeping in his car in a filling station at Woodward Ave. and 15 Mile Rd., on a tip from Birmingham Police.

Hubner said Evans was waiting outside the store but drove off when the caretaker came to investigate.

Hanger said the pair will be charged later today with breaking and entering in the nighttime.

GOP Candidates Blast Williams on Past Record

By United Press

Michigan's four Republican governorship hopefuls "zeroed in" their verbal guns on Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams today as they headed into the home stretch of primary election campaigning. Election is next Tuesday.

Owen J. Cleary blasted Williams on the school issue. D. Hale Brake accused him of wasting state police manpower. Donald S. Leonard charged he ignored teen-age rowdyism.

Dr. Eugene C. Keyes teed off on both Williams and Cleary.

Keyes, the doctor-lawyer from Dearborn, criticized the Cleary-Williams plan for borrowing huge sums of money for freeways. He accused Cleary of "out-new dealing" Williams.

Cleary, present secretary of state, said Williams "doesn't seem to be aware" that $400,000,000 is needed for school construction in Michigan. He said figures showed that nearly a quarter-million Michigan school children had inadequate classroom facilities last year.

"In between baby kissing and hoedown calling which keeps him (Williams) constantly on tour, he has no time to think of the school problem," Cleary said.

Brake, present state treasurer, criticized Williams for using an expensive state police car and as many as five troopers for escorts on pleasure trips to Mackinac Island.

"If I become governor an ordinary car and one trooper will be enough for me," he said.

Leonard, former Detroit and state police commissioner, accused Williams of failing to support the youth guidance program.

Leonard said the program reached "a high point of effectiveness" under former Gov. Harry F. Kelly, a Republican. But under Williams, he said, it was "allowed to wither and die." Leonard promised to reactivate Michigan's youth guidance program as one of his first acts if elected.

4 Republicans Battle to Oppose Williams

21 and now operates his own hospital there.

After being defeated for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket in 1940, Keyes was elected in 1942 and then was "purged" in 1944 by the forces of former Gov. Harry F. Kelly. He was elected to the same post again in 1946 and defeated in 1948. In 1950, he unsuccessfully sought the governorship nomination and in 1952 lost a bid to be the Republican U. S. senatorial candidate.

Keyes is a graduate of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, the Wayne University Medical School and the Detroit college of Law. He has served as Dearborn city councilman and Wayne County supervisor.

Keyes boasts he is an "independent" Republican and has frequently been at odds with the party's ruling powers. He is the only one of the four candidates this year who refused to pledge support to the winner if he lost the nomination. He is unmarried.

Leonard is 51 and a native of Detroit. He has been in police organizations all his adult life, starting as a state trooper and rising through the ranks to become commissioner of the state police in 1947.

Leonard retired from that post two years ago to seek the Republican nomination for governor and ran second. He then was named commissioner of the Detroit City Police and resigned from that office this spring to make the governorship race again.

Leonard was graduated from Wayne University and obtained his law degree at that school working nights while he was a state trooper. He has also taken advanced legal work at the University of Michigan. He is married and has three children.

Leonard was sent to England in 1941 as a member of the United States team to study civil defense measures and became a nationally-known authority on that subject. He was special assistant to the U. S. director of civil defense and headed the state civil defense system under several governors.

He also served as state fuel administrator during the war and in postwar fuel strikes and shortages. He has been prominent in state and national police associations and movements to improve law enforcement methods.

On the Democratic side, Williams is completing his third term as governor and if he wins again this year will be the first in Michigan history to be elected four times. He is 43.

A native of Detroit and son of a wealthy family, Williams was graduated from Salisbury Preparatory School in Connecticut, Princeton University and the University of Michigan Law School.

He started his career as attorney for the federal Social Security Board in Washington in 1936. Successively, he was assistant U. S. district attorney, special assistant to the U. S. attorney general, deputy director of the Office of Price Administration for Michigan and member of the State Liquor Control Commission.

He saw active combat in World War II as an air combat intelligence officer serving on aircraft carriers. He won 10 battle stars, the legion of merit and three presidential citations. He left the Navy as a lieutenant commander. He is married and has three children.

Indochina Truce Placed in Effect

Vietminh Keep Firing Right Up to Deadline in North Viet Nam

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French and the Vietminh ordered firing stopped in part of Indochina today — 7 years, 7 months and 8 days after Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's rebel legions attacked Hanoi.

The truce negotiated at the Geneva conference became effective in North Viet Nam and its rich Red River delta at 8 a.m. (8 p.m., EST, yesterday).

The armistice is scheduled to spread gradually over the four other sectors of the war-ravaged Southeast Asia land, becoming effective on Aug. 1 in Central Viet Nam, Aug. 6 in Laos, Aug. 7 in Cambodia and Aug. 11 in South Viet Nam.

Hanoi's big guns roared sporadically throughout the night before the cease-fire became effective and the Vietminh kept up pressure on outlying posts manned by Vietnamese units. In recent days the Reds have concentrated on such posts in an apparent effort to encourage desertions and prevent the native troops from moving south with the departing French.

There were no early reports, however, of any large-scale fights in the last hours before the truce time.

There was no certainty that the killing and wounding had stopped in North Viet Nam.

This was a cease-fire, not a signed peace.

Mines sowed along the roads and paths and in the rice fields may take their toll for months.

No one could be certain that all the thousands of Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas or all the irregulars loyal to the French-supported Viet Nam government had received the stop-fighting word or would obey it.

Many observers believe it will be a matter of only two to four years before communism engulfs all of Viet Nam and perhaps Laos and Cambodia as well.

Former Woman Diplomat Dies

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rohde Was First of Sex to Join U.S. Diplomatic Ranks

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rohde, America's first woman diplomat, died yesterday after a heart attack. She was 68.

Mrs. Rohde, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan and a former U. S. congresswoman, served as U.S. minister to Denmark from 1933 to 1936.

She returned to Copenhagen early this month to thank King Frederik for the Medal of Merit which he bestowed upon her earlier this year. Stricken with heart trouble, she was admitted to a hospital last week. Doctors said death was due to coronary thrombosis.

* * *

Mrs. Rohde's appointment as a U.S. envoy by President Roosevelt capped a distinguished career as a member of Congress, lecturer, author, war nurse and university teacher. The appointment also marked a milestone in the emergence of women into diplomacy. Only one other woman in the world previously had been a ranking envoy—Alexandra Kollontray, named Soviet Minister to Norway in 1923.

* * *

Mrs. Rohde was born in Jacksonville, Ill., in 1885. Her father renowned orator and three times Diplomatic party candidate contender for president, moved his family to Lincoln, Neb., when she was a child. She went to public schools there and later attended a girls school at Godfrey, Ill., and the University of Nebraska.

She taught public speaking at the University of Miami from 1926-28, when she ran successfully for a Florida seat in the U.S. Congress. She served in the House from 1929 to 1933.

Her defeat in 1932 was followed shortly by her appointment as minister to Denmark.

Bride's Brothers Wind Up Unsuitable

CHICAGO (AP)—Two Cedar Lake, Ind., brothers came to Chicago yesterday to buy new suits and haircuts for their sister's wedding, but they ended up with half a haircut each and only one suit—dirty.

Lawrence Mitchell, 23, and his brother James, 17, told police they had purchased new suits and were getting haircuts when they spotted thieves taking their new suits out of their automobile parked in front of the barbershop.

The brothers chased the thieves. One of the thieves dropped Lawrence's suit down an elevator shaft and the other robber got away. Lawrence recovered the suit but it was dirty and he said he wouldn't have time to get it cleaned before the wedding of his sister Mary today.

LOST 42 POUNDS
Never Left The Table Hungry

"When I returned from Florida and noted that my sister-in-law had lost over one hundred lbs. in the course of a year with the help of Rennel Concentrate I decided to try it for myself," writes Gladys Burris, R. No. 1, Bloomingdale, Mich. "I am so pleased with the results Rennel is giving me for in seven months I have reduced my weight by 42 lbs. Best of all I can truthfully say that I never left the table hungry."

The Caine Mutiny

Copyright

Synopsis: Willie is a naval officer on board a dirty, old, converted minesweeper called the Caine. He is a college man, and he left a girl named Mae Wynn behind him in New York. He doubts his feelings toward her, because of her lower standards. Capt. Queeg, the commanding officer of the Caine, is a queer person. The men dislike him, feel he is incompetent. His latest order is to strip the men, find any hidden keys, to test who stole some strawberries. Lt. Maryk, the first officer, keeps a record of the captain's actions, and reads up on Navy Regulations. He finds that a subordinate officer, under certain conditions, can take over a ship. The order comes through to steam south to avoid a typhoon near Guam. But the storm catches them and Capt. Queeg, frightened, gives orders that Lt. Maryk disagrees with. Lt. Maryk, to save the ship, takes over, tells the captain that he is being relieved under Article 184. Queeg turns whiny and complaining, but the men obey Lt. Maryk.

CHAPTER 24

Maryk said, "Willie, think you can grab a look at the barometer without being blown over the side?

"Sure, Steve." He went out on the port wing, clinging carefully to the bridge structure.

As he crept up to the chart-house door it came open, and Harding, Keefer, and Jorgensen emerged, clasping each other's hands. "What's the dope, Willie? What goes on?" yelled Keefer.

"Steve relieved the captain!"

"WHAT?"

"Steve relieved the captain! He's got the conn! He's put the captain on the sick list!"

The officers looked at each other and lunged for the wheelhouse. Willie edged to the rear bulkhead and peered around at the blurry barometer. He dropped to his hands and knees and crawled back to the pilothouse.

"Steve, it's up," he cried, jumping to his feet as he came to the doorway. "It's up! Twenty-eight ninty-nine, almost 29.00!"

"Good, maybe we'll be through the worst of it in a while." Maryk stook beside the wheel, facing aft. All the officers except Paynter were grouped, driping, against the bulkhead. Queeg was hanging to the telegraph again, glaring at the exec.

"Well, that's the story, gentlemen," Maryk said, his voice pitched high over the roar of the wind and the rattle of spray on the windows. "The responsibility is entirely mine. Capt. Queeg will continue to be treated with utmost courtesy, but I will give all command orders—"

"Don't kid yourself that the responsibility is all yours," Queeg interposed sulkily. "Young Mr. Keith here supported you in your mutinous conduct from the start and he'll pay just as you will.

"And you officers"—he turned, shaking his finger at them—"if you know what's good for you, will advise Maryk and Keith to put themselves under arrest and restore command to me while the restoring is good. I may be induced to overlook what's happened in view of the circumstances, but—"

"It's out of the question, Captain," said Maryk. "You're sick, sir—"

"I'm no sicker than you are," exclaimed Queeg with all his old irritation. "You'll all hang for collusion in mutiny—"

"Nobody will hang but me," said Maryk to the officers. "This is my act, taken without anybody's advice, under Article 184, and if I've misapplied Article 184, I'll get hung for it.

"Meantime all of you take my orders. There's nothing else you can do. I've taken command, I've ballasted on my own responsibility, the ship is on the course I ordered—"

"Mr. Maryk!" Stilwell shouted. "Something up ahead, a ship or something, close aboard, sir!"

Mark whirled, squinted out through the windows, and grabed at the telegraph handles, hurling Queeg roughly aside. The captain staggered and grasped a window handle.

"Hard right rudder!" the exec shouted, ringing up full astern on both engines.

Visibility had improved so that the sea was in sight through the driving spray some fifty yards beyond the bows. A vast dim red shape bobbed on the black swells, slightly to port.

The Caine veered quickly, shoved sideways by the wind as soon as it turned a little. The thing drifted closer. It was immense, long and narrow, longer than the Caine itself, bright red. Waves were breaking over it in showers of foam.

"Holy Mother of God," said Keefer. "It's the bottom of a ship."

Everybody stared in awe at the horror. It slipped slowly down the port side, endlessly long and red, rolling gently under the breaking waves. "Destroyer," Harding said in a choked voice.

The Caine was moving well clear of it. Part of the wreck was already gone in the gloom. "We'll circle," said Maryk. "All engines ahead full, Willie."

It took forty minutes for the Caine to maneuver through a full circle around the lost ship against wind and waves, and all the time it wallowed and thrashed as badly as it had been doing since morning, and took several terrible rolls to leeward.

The exec was out on the wing, shielding his eyes from the hurtling spray with both hands, peering around at the heaving spires of black water, as the Caine steadied on north again.

He came into the wheelhouse, trailing streams from his clothes. "We'll come around once more and then quit," he said. "I think it's gone under. I can't see it—left standard rudder."

The door of the radar shack pushed open, and the telephone talker, Grubnecker, poked out his whiskered face. "Something that looks like a raft on the starboard quarter, sir. Chief Bellison reports."

At first they saw nothing but peaks and troughs of water veiled by spray; then, broad on the beam, as the Caine rose to the top of a swell, they both spied a black dot sliding down the slant of a wave.

"I think there's three guys on it!" shrieked Willie. He danced aft to the flagbag rails for a better look.

Queeg stood in the dorway, face to face with the executive officer. "Well, Mr. Maryk, what are you waiting for? How about rigging your cargo net to starboard and having your deck force stand by with life buoys?"

"Thank you, sir. I was about to give those orders, if you'll let me pass."

Queeg stepped aside. The exec went into the pilothouse, and passed the instructions over the loudspeaker. He began to maneuver the lurching ship toward the object.

You'll be interested to know, gentlemen," Queeg said to the officers while Maryk manipulated engines and rudder, "that I was about to issue orders to ballast and head into the wind when Mr. Maryk committed his panic-stricken criminal act.

"I had previously determined in my own mind that, if the fleet guide had given no orders by 1000 I would act at my own discretion . . ."

Maryk said, "All right, Stilwell, head over to the right some more. Hard right . . ."

Queeg went on, "And I saw no reason for confiding my command decisions to Mr. Maryk, who seemed to be treating me like a feeble-minded idiot, and I'll say as much over the green table, and there'll be plenty of witnesses to. . ."

"Don't run 'em down, Stilwell! Rudder amidships!" Maryk stopped the engines and went to the loudspeaker. "Now throw over your buoys!"

The George Black had been thrown broadside to the wind and all combinations of engines and rudder had failed to bring it around. The survivors, streaked with broad smears of oil, some of them bleeding, were pulled aboard and taken to sick bay.

"We'll keep circling," said Maryk. He peered out at the sea, visible now for several hundred yards. "I think it's letting up some. Take him below, Bellison."

"I am resuming the conn, Mr. Maryk," said Queeg, "and we will drop the matter entirely until the storm has abated. . ."

Maryk turned wearily to the captain. "No, sir, I've got it. I respectfully ask you to lay below to your cabin. Contradictory orders will endanger the ship. . ."

"Are you putting me off my bridge, sir?"

"Yes, Captain."

Queeg looked to the officers. Their faces were scared and somber. "Do all you gentlemen concur in this act? . . . Do you, Mr. Keefer?"

The novelist gnawed at his lips, and turned his glance to Maryk. "Nobody is concurring. Nobody has to concur," the exec said quickly. "Please leave the bridge, Captain, or at least refrain from giving orders . . ."

"I shall remain on the bridge," said Queeg. "The ship is still my responsibility. Mutiny doesn't relieve me of it. I shall not speak unless your acts appear to me to be endangering my ship. In that case I shall speak even at pistol point."

"Nobody's pulling pistols on you, sir. What you say suits me." The exec nodded to the officers. "Okay, no need for you to hang around. We'll have a meeting as soon as weather permits.

The officers began straggling out of the wheelhouse. Keefer went up to Willie, saluted, and said with a pallid grin, "I am ready to relieve you, sir."

Willie looked at the clock in astonishment. Time had stopped running in his mind. It was a quarter to twelve. "Okay," he said. The formulas of the relieving ceremony came mechanically to his lips.

"Steaming on various courses and speeds to look for survivors of the George Black. Steaming on boilers one, two, and three. Depth charges set on safe. Condition Able set throughout the ship. Last time I saw the barometer it had risen to 29.10.

"Fleet course is 180, but we've lost contact with formation due to jammed radars, and I don't know where we are. About one hundred and fifty miles east of Ulithi, I'd say.

"You can check our 0800 dead reckoning position. We're in the same place, more or less. The captain has been relieved under Article 184, and is still on the bridge. The executive officer has command and is at the conn. I guess that's all."

"Just a routine watch," said Keefer. Willie smiled ruefully.

Keefer saluted. "Okay, I've got it." He grasped Willie's hand, pressed it warmly, and whispered, "Good work."

"God help us all," murmured Willie.

Welfare, Play Groups Plan Pet Shows

A series of pet shows designed to make youngsters conscious of the proper handling of pets and give them a chance to display their "animal friends" are now under way as part of the summer playground program in Pontiac.

The shows are sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department and the Oakland County Animal Welfare Society, Inc.

Eight shows have been held. Two are scheduled this afternoon at McConnell and Milkb schools, with 9 more to follow this week and next, according to Leonard T. Buzz, Parks and Recreation Department activities supervisor.

"All playground participants can enter any pets, such as dogs, cats, mice, snakes, fish and snails," said Buzz, "All entrants will win prizes," he added.

The animal welfare group is providing the awards, judges and ring stewards to handle the animals and run the shows.

Parents are invited to accompany their children to the shows. The events are scheduled for:

July 28 at Emerson and Lincoln Schools. July 29 at Jefferson and Longfellow Schools, Aug. 2 at Wever School, Aug. 3 at Bailey and Webster Schools and Aug. 4 at Owen School and Lakeside Community Center.

Reluctant Reptile Gits When Heat Is Applied

SHELBY, N. C. (AP)—J. B. Jolley looked up yesterday to see a snake's head protruding from the back of his radio.

He took the set out back where he shook and tapped on the cabinet. The stubborn snake refused to budge.

All else failing, Jolley hooked up an extension cord and turned on the set. The heat from the tubes proved too much and the foot-long snake slithered out.

Bright Spot in the Truce

At his press conference President Eisenhower pointed to what, from the American standpoint, may prove to be the one bright spot in the Indochina truce agreements.

After saying that some of the terms were not acceptable to our Government, the President told correspondents what he believed to be the one good in the settlement. It's the possibility that the free world will be persuaded to look facts in the face and decide what may be done to save the rest of Southeast Asia.

★ ★ ★

It already has been reported that Britain and France will join the U. S. in organizing an anti-Communist coalition. Among those said to be in line for invitations are India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon. Secretary Dulles, on his return from Geneva, made it clear that efforts to organize such a coalition would be pressed.

★ ★ ★

The contrast between U. S. and Allied reaction to the truce terms emphasizes the complexities of international life. Here the terms were viewed as a victory for Communism. But in London and Paris, Anthony Eden and Pierre Mendes-France were cheered on their return from Geneva.

A principal American objection to the terms is based on partition of Indochina along the 17th Parallel. This hands over to Communist control 12,000,000 people of Viet Nam and leaves only 9,000,000 below the boundary.

British critics of our reaction to the truce seem to forget two things. France, despite the fact that our aid long has amounted to one-third the war's cost, never has made an all out effort to win. Also, there is no guarantee that Communist aggression is ended in Southeast Asia.

The truce ended all armed strife in the world for the first time since Mussolini launched his savage invasion of Ethiopia. It ended a war lasting nearly eight years in which 92,000 French soldiers and three times as many Vietnamese died or disappeared.

But make no mistake, it was won at a heavy price in French and free world prestige.

73.3% Want High Parity

In a far lighter vote than last year and by a much narrower margin, wheat growers of the country have voted for high price support and rigid Government controls.

Although the exact figures won't be known for weeks, the unofficial total showed 195,081 voting "yes" and 71,303 against. Those favoring high support represented 73.3 per cent of the total vote, with 66.7 required for approval. Until North Dakota's whopping majority of 46,206 to 2,073 votes were reported, the issue nationally was in doubt.

Oakland County farmers voted 50 to 35 for high support. But the vote in Michigan was 4,359 to 3,685 against. In other words, statewide sentiment among wheat farmers was opposed to accepting the "toughest Government controls" ever for 1955 to get high price support.

What that price support will be remains in doubt. It will depend on the fate of the pending Eisenhower farm legislation with the prospect that parity could be anywhere between 75 and 90 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Our belief is that the Administration's flexible program should get Congressional approval. If it does, according to a Republican pronouncement, parity would not be below 82.5 per cent.

Wise Overseas Farm Aid

Over in Wisconsin an inspiring interfaith movement is gaining wide support for its program of giving high grade livestock to needy farmers overseas.

The name, Heifer Project Inc. chosen by its organizers, falls far short of describing the fine work already accomplished. Actually this operation amounts to a private variation of Point Four assistance.

★ ★ ★

Since 1944 HP has sent more than 6,500 young cattle, 5,000 goats, 40 horses, 100 pigs, 216,000 hatching eggs and 165,000 chicks to 29 different countries. An especially effective feature of the plan, for example, is that each recipient of a heifer is pledged to give the first calf to a needy neighbor.

★ ★ ★

Besides multiplying its contributions by such provisions, HP is working to improve the quality of recipients' livestock. For this reason it has shipped more young bulls than heifers. Some of this livestock was donated to the organization and much of it was bought at bargain prices.

This program strikes us as unusally practical and worthy of support. The fact that it is made possible by individual donations lends a friendly and personal quality which could not be duplicated by any government program.

Vernice A. McVean Suggests a Big Sign Stating Location of the New Parking Lot

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Just thought that I would like to write a few lines about the new city parking lot. Another dream has come true and our Mayor Wm. Donaldson deserves a big "Thank you" for it.

What we need now is a big sign to let people know where it is, especially our out-state visitors, and if they should overpark be given the courtesy of a "no ticket" like many of our other states do. It encourages them to stop by again and gives our nice city a boost to their many friends.

Having been born in Pontiac, it makes me feel good to see these fine improvements and I hope I will see many more of them.

I agree with Claude McCallum's recent letter in Voice of the People on telephone manners, to a certain extent.

Some of our younger generation, as anyone can see by the disregard of property, speech and the number of petty crimes committed, have ignored all the teachings of their parents and our forefathers.

I blame the largest part of this telephone party line situation on the telephone company. There is a limit in long distance calls for a certain price rate. Why not limit other calls unless of a business or emergency nature?

Just last week a prominent doctor made a complaint to the telephone company. He had had his nurse try intermittently for four hours to reach a party on my line. He became very angry for which he had reason.

Some folks will say, "get a private phone." If they will take time to find out they'll find that in certain districts within the city you have to have a rural route of eight parties on a line.

Miss America, 1953, Is a Good Example of Clean Living Versus Liquor, Tobacco

Neva deserves a salute from all intelligent folks who sincerely want America to be a better place for teen-agers. For she fought a dozen duels with John Barleycorn in Houston. More power to her and all other young people who stand up boldly against the subversive interests in American life.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-368: Neva Jane Langley, aged about 20, won the Miss America award for 1953.

But many other pretty girls in previous years have obtained that coveted crown who don't merit the praise that I want to offer Neva.

Last winter Rev. David K. Switzer, a popular clergyman in Houston, in connection with the Texas Interdenominational Alcohol Education Association, decided a strong positive example would greatly aid their campaign against liquor.

So they invited Neva Langley to visit the Lone Star State. And while Neva was in Houston, she spoke to packed houses.

"Dr. Crane, we felt that it was better to hold up in front of youth a real exponent of clean living," he informed me.

"So we picked Neva Langley, knowing that with her beauty and natural charm, she would make a terrific impact against the use of alcoholic beverages.

"I had charge of setting up the high school programs where she was to appear.

"She spoke to the teen-agers and also played novelty numbers on the piano.

"Then she subjected herself to the ordeal of being questioned by a panel of high schoolers who asked her pointed questions concerning how to avoid being stampeded into drinking liquor at parties.

"Neva was in every high school in Houston and also some in the surrounding area. She never objected to our overworking her!

"She also was interviewed on TV. She addressed our Rotary Club. And she appeared before the students at the University of Houston, as well as Rice Institute.

"Then she spoke before the medical students at Baylor. With her sincerity and charm she captured her audiences everywhere."

Well, I salute you, Neva, for young people often have more influence with other young folks than do oldsters, despite the scientific prestige of the latter.

That is why it is so tragic and so reprehensible for the liquor interests to hold up famous athletes and movie stars before teen-agers, to make paid endorsements of liquor.

"Fight fire with fire" is thus the maxim which these smart leaders in Texas have demonstrated by inviting Neva Langley into their great state.

Thomas Macauley once said that if it ever were to the financial advantage of any entrenched commerical interests to disprove the Law of Gravity, then we'd soon have "anti-gravity" doctrines taught in our schools!

Well, the tobacco firms now try to ignore and actually deny the definite medical evidence that smoking leads to cancer, as well as heart and blood vessel damage, because they make money out of tobacco sales.

The liquor interests also degrade religion by concocting Christmas baskets and even Mother's Day boxes with colorful liquor flasks therein!

Such behavior is revolting for John Barleycorn (whisky) has caused more heartache for mothers than anything else on earth, not even excepting war!

So be glad that courageous young folks with beauty and brains will stand out, like Horatius at the Bridge, to combat the entrenched commercial interests still trying to sell civilization down the river. Bravo, Neva!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.)

Unions and nations are like married folks. The only time to patch up a quarrel is before either side has made its brag or threats in public.

David Lawrence Says:

Syngman Rhee Listens, Learns to Trust America

WASHINGTON—Syngman Rhee, President of the Republic of Korea, has come back "home"—for in this country he spent 33 years of his exile after seven years in a Japanese prison.

He is a world figure today, but few of us knew him as we sat on the same platform to receive degrees at Princeton University in June 1910.

He had studied there for a doctorate and had majored in international law and American history. Previously he had received a master of arts degree at Harvard and his first academic degree at George Washington University.

Curiously enough, while studying at Princeton, young Rhee became acquainted with Woodrow Wilson, then the head of the university, who often introduced him to friends as "the future redeemer of Korea's independence."

* * *

Few men in modern history have fought so long and so bravely for the independence of their native land. Associated as he was with the work of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in Korea, the youthful patriot strove constantly as a speaker and as a writer to interest the people of this and other countries in the future of Korea.

* * *

To hear Syngman Rhee, the gentle-mannered man of intellectual attainment and deep-seated belief in the doctrines of representative government, characterized as a "dictator" or as a man who brushes aside constitutionalism—as critics abroad have pictured him—is to accept the propaganda attempts to discredit him which have been made by the Communists and "left wing" in Europe and to some extent in this country.

Syngman Rhee has had some tough decisions to make in wartime, and he has had to deal severely with attempts to infiltrate his government by subversives, but his record as constitutional President—and particularly the reforms which he has championed—bear out the faith and trust that Americans who have known him have placed in him.

Many times, in the dark days while the Japanese held an iron hand over Korea, Syngman Rhee sat at the home of a friend in nearby Virginia and chatted with this writer about his hopes for Korean independence.

* * *

It has been a long and melancholy struggle for him, and now that he has returned here to address a joint session of Congress and to receive the plaudits of the American people for his brave stand in leading his countrymen against the Communist aggressor, it is indeed historic vindication of a man with a moral principle.

* * *

Syngman Rhee is nearly 80, but he has a strong and vigorous mind which has not forgotten the trials and tribulations of the Far Eastern history in which he has so long played a vital part.

He fears the Japanese still but knows that sooner or later the Japanese and Koreans must work together against their common enemy — the Red Chinese and Soviets. He is deeply interested in reconstructing his country, which has suffered the awful ravages of many years of war.

The average American little realizes the fact that the Koreans killed during the period of the fighting number in the millions and that the Koreans are a race entirely separate from the Chinese, quite capable of developing its autonomy in the world.

Indeed, the time may come when a standing army of Koreans numbering 1,000,000 trained soldiers may prove the counterbalancing force in a military way in the Far East holding at bay the aggressor armies of the Communist Chinese.

The key to American policy in the Far East is a recognition that things will not soon change in that area and that strong allies are indispensable. It is essential, therefore, that friendly relations between Japan and Korea be established and this may prove possible if a regional defense pact is some day developed in which Japan can play an important military part.

But the emphasis of the hour is on ways and means of reconstructing Korea. The visit of the President of the republic is opportune because the Geneva Conference revealed all too clearly that the Communists have no intention of agreeing to the unification of Korea.

More than two-thirds of the population is in South Korea and, if the republic is strengthened, it may in due time exercise a big influence on the people of North Korea, who silently watch the Red Chinese take steps virtually to annex the northern territory.

Since patriotism runs deep among the Korean people, the Red China government cannot be relieved of the burden of policing that area and keeping large bodies of troops there—a circumstance which some day will be of vast importance if the people of China rise up in a liberation movement. At that moment will come also the chance for North Koreans to regain their liberty, too.

Syngman Rhee comes here to work out a program of economic reconstruction on which the United States has promised to help. The emphasis of his mission is on peaceful effort—a change from the days when it was being predicted that Syngman Rhee would "go it alone."

For he has learned to put his faith in the sincerity and wisdom of the American government and in the conviction that it will never let him or his country down.

Baering Down

(International News Service)

Last decision of Supreme Court on counter-espionage makes a woodpecker on a telephone pole a bird of prey.

The decision of the appistratic division was reversed by the upper court of waits and delays. The man was charged with having a one-track mind with a rail missing.

The mechanic inside the boiler is not supposed to hear his apprentice hammering outside. These methods would be considered irregular by twelve men in square hats with round heels and pointy heads.

It was after mature deliberation in 1934 that this stack of razor-edged ignorance said, "only a cat going through a picket fence can be on both sides at once."

Yet in 1953 a sub-committee headed by a Maryland Democrat okayed the man. While an equally sub-committee topped by a Nevada Democrat kayoed him.

There's a difference of opinion wider than the subject.

And a Federal jury spotted him thusly, "like a female impersonator imitating Mae West he's operating under a false front."

What happened? The man was given a certificate of reasonable doubt by a Republican trial judge from Minnesota. The government packed the hassel to the court of last squawks. And was informed its case was as vague as yesterday's sky-writing blowing out to sea.

Indicating the justice of the high, the low and the middle is a bad judge of distance. Let's case the arid baccalaureate for specific content. It was the dignified guess of the legal concessionaire that the federal thought police could not separate moonbeams from attic dust.

Pipe Smoking Offers Real Enjoyment, Is Better Because One Seldom Inhales

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

In the preceding talk about smoking I said (1) nobody knows the cause of cancer.

(2) Physicians generally believe long continued or constant slight irritation may contribute to development of cancer.

(3) Cigarette smokers who inhale seem to be more likely to develop cancer of the lung than cigar smokers of pipe smokers.

I said also that in my observation cigar smokers may, but seldon do inhale, and pipe smokers rarely if ever inhale. Once or twice I have accidentally inhaled pipe smoke and it was . . . uyrhrhrh!

Since the American Medical Association nobly stopped selling cigarettes it has become fashionable for research workers and assorted specialists to dwell on the tars in tobacco smoke as the probable cause of cancer.

I cannot pretend to be an expert, but I can tell you what I don't believe. I don't believe my moderate pipe smoking has done me any harm the past 40-odd years.

By moderate I mean I don't smoke at all when I'm working, until after dinner in the evening. I find smoking more enjoyable this way than it was when I lighted my pipe right after breakfast and smoked more or less through the day.

I have followed the literature on smoking for many years and it is my conviction that the serious ill effects are due to anoxia, cell or tissue asphyxia, oxygen deficiency, chronic carbon monoxide damage; not carbon monoxide "poisoning," for this gas, always present in small quantity in tobacco smoke, damages or kills not by poisoning the victim but only by crowding oxygen out of blood and tissue.

Many crapulent smokers, or those who still have enough character to assert themselves, ask how long it takes to get all the nicotine out of one's system.

The answer is a few hours; perhaps, if there's any nicotine in the system, but a more cogent question for a very young light smoker or an older heavy smoker, is, how long will it take to correct or repair the damage done by carbon monoxide anoxia—if regeneration of damaged cells is still possible?

* * *

Remember what the Michigan man told me? He was goaded into laying off for 10 weeks, after many years of incessant cigarette smoking, by my statement that it would take at least that long to restore circulation in the legs . . . that was a year ago and he has had no desire to resume smoking since. No sissy, he.

* * *

Don't ask me how to quit smoking, for all I can tell you is quit. Formerly I had a pamphlet on the subject, and there may be a thousand or two left, but probably the suggestions in the pamphlet are not worth the 25 cents more or less it costs.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

O-JIB-WA HAS

REAL MERIT

"I am a grateful user of O-JIB-WA BITTERS as before using your wonderful medicine, my arms were so painful I couldn't lift a tea kettle or comb my own hair."

Mrs. Louise Easterline
402 E. Prospect
Jackson, Michigan

"I could vision a gloomy future, as dreadful arthritis had settled in my arms, fingers, back and left knee. For 12 years, I anxiously tried everything, hopeful of ridding my system of such constant suffering . . but all in vain. My fingers and knuckles were swollen and knotted up; my back hurt so bad it was hard to walk, and my arms pained so greatly that Mrs. Easterline I couldn't pick up the tea kettle or even lift my arm to comb my hair. I tried many things in my search for relief, but nothing helped me. Some tablets I took, even made me worse, so I was awful discouraged. I often read in our newspaper about the good results that O-JIB-WA BITTERS was bringing to other sufferers, but as all else had failed to help me, I had put off trying it until a friend of mine highly recommended that I try it. Well, I started, and in just three weeks I was so much better that I was truly amazed. I feel wonderful now, and can work all day without any trouble or pain. O-JIB-WA BITTERS did for me what I thought impossible. I certainly recommend it every chance I get, so make sure that you get the genuine O-JIB-WA BITTERS if you suffer from rheumatism or arthritis." Bob Considine Says:

Hitler, Unlike Reds, Said He Was Happy at Times

NEW YORK (INS)—One menacing difference between Hitler's brand of aggression and that of the Kremlin is Hitler occasionally expressed himself as satisfied.

He proved to be one of the more atrocious liars in history, of course. But now and then as he expanded his control he'd say, in effect, "Das ist alles." Even got people like Neville Chamberlain to believe him. Not Stalin, or Malenkov, and those who do their bidding! They never pay even lip service to such pledges. The defeated free world diplomats had hardly rolled their umbrellas and left Geneva before the Red radio in Vietminh territory was telling the free peoples to the south of the truce line, "We will soon liberate you."

French Premier Mendes-France won thunderous applause when he appeared in the Assembly upon his return. The French approved the settlement 462-13. Now let's see what the chamber was applauding and approving:

1—The death knell of French colonialism.

2—Impending Communist rule over all of Indochina.

3—A clear-cut Communist diplomatic victory at Geneva, one bound to entrench further the Red control over 800,000,000 souls and give Red representatives the confidence they need at future conferences.

4—An admission that Communist-led Indochinese fight better than Indochinese backed by France and the United States.

Anthony Eden, also fresh back, won bravos in Parliament for his job at Geneva, which consisted chiefly of agreeing with the desperate Mendes-France. The settlement, Eden said, was the best "that could be contrived in the circumstances."

Time out while we help dig up that sign again, the one which faces the Kremlin and reads, "Take one more step and we'll knock your brains out."

In one of his last talks with Stalin before he had to flee Poland for his life, Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczk protested that the Polish Reds were "fixing" the "free and unfettered" post-war elections promised to Poland by Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt.

How, Mikolajczk asked, would Stalin answer the great Western leaders?

Stalin shrugged. "They will protest, but only on paper," he said.

One thinks of that whenever we send "a stiff note" to this or that offending power. Our latest stiff note is to Peiping, a couple of whose Russian-contributed MIGs shot down a defenseless British airliner the other day, killing Americans among others.

St. Paul himself must have had more replies to his letters to the Thessalonians than we've had from war-like leaders who have received our stiff notes.

I think we're still asking Tito to pay proper reparations for those two Air Force DC-3s his people shot down shortly after the big war. We hear from him a lot, asking for more goods, but he treats our "stiff notes" about as you would treat a letter beginning, "Dear bird-lover . . ."

Royal Oak Moves to Restrict Use of Water

Van Atta Supporters Map Plans to Fight Dismissal

WATERFORD TOWNSHUP — Approximately 300 residents met outside the township hall last night to map strategy in seeking the return of dismissed Police Chief Frank Van Atta.

The meeting followed an official session of the township board earlier, when board members refused to reconsider the firing of Van Atta.

The group asked Township Supervisor Lloyd Anderson to tell them what happened at the 9 a.m. meeting. He explained that trustees Helen Reese, Robert L. Bliss, Oscar Loomis and Louis G. Barry refused to support his motion to reinstate the ousted Chief.

Van Atta was fired a week ago, charged with "dereliction of duty" by a majority of the board. He countered that his firing was the result of the fact he favored candidate Frank Irons for Oakland County sheriff in the Aug. 3 primary, and not incumbent Clare L. Hubbell.

Residents yesterday presented the board with more than 1,000 signatures on petitions asking for the return of Van Atta, but the board said the group was not representative of the entire township.

Van Atta was charged with insubordination, disloyalty, incompetence and disregard for instructions in a statement released by the board yesterday.

It said that he ignored an ultimatum to stop campaigning, that he was disloyal by losing the cooperation of the sheriff's department, and that he violated rules that purchases of over $50 had to be approved by the township board.

Shelton Pearsall Jr. of 4150 Athens St., Drayton Plains, volunteered to serve as chairman of a group dedicated to circulating reinstatement petitions throughout the township.

Fifty volunteers joined him in splitting the township into definite districts to be canvassed.

They plan to present the additional signatures to the township board at its next regular meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Avon Township House Damaged, Garage Razed

Fire razed the garage of Ray Callahan at 303 Eastwood Ave., Avon Township and damaged the rear of his two story frame home this morning. Rochester, Pontiac Township and Avondale firemen battled the blaze.

The garage caught fire about 8:30 a.m. It was discovered by a neighbor, Mike Sebaskey of 3535 Auburn Rd., who backed the Callahan car out of the flaming garage, while the family slept. Flames spread to the house.

Jail 36 More in Phenix City

Prosecutor Promises a Thorough Crackdown in Alabama Vice Town

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (INS) — Heavy fines and stiff jail sentences were demanded today for suspected gambling lords of crime-ridden Phenix City by a prosecutor who promised to make things tough for the racketeers.

Acting Solicitor George Johnson urged Judge Harry Randall to crack down on the purported crime bosses, permitting none of them to plead guilty and thus become eligible for lighter sentences.

Some three dozen persons were arrested over the weekend in the continuing drive to ferret out vice in the wake of the gang-style murder of Albert Patterson, nominee for attorney general of Alabama.

In launching the prosecution of men rounded up by guardsmen on gambling charges over the weekend, Acting Solicitor Johnson declared:

"We want to make it as tough as we can on these, racketeers."

The once-flourishing gambling center, just across the Chattahoochee river from the army's huge infantry post at Fort Benning, Ga., looked like a ghost town tonight.

Alabama national guardsmen, now in command of the city under martial rule, maintained a virtual hammerlock on the formerly gay cabarets and gaming halls which had an estimated annual "take" of 100 million dollars.

Moody Estate Work Continues

Business Enterprises Go On Under Direction of Ex-Senator's Son

DETROIT (UP) — The many business enterprises with which the late Blair Moody was associated will continue, Blair Moody Jr. said Monday.

Any adjustments necessary will await the settling of the estate, according to Arthur Fleischman, a business associate of the former senator.

Blair Jr. is due to leave today for Washington and the probating of the estate will follow after his father's will is located, probably in a safety deposit box in Washington.

He will then go to New York where the future of the television show "Meet Your Congress" will be decided. The former senator was the founder of the program and also acted as moderator and producer.

Among the other positions Mr. Moody held were the presidency of the Michigan Rotary Press, a vice presidency in Independent Television, Inc., and he was the directing head of the Leader Publishing Co.

Junta Announces Land Reform Act for Guatemala

GUATEMALA (UP)—Guatemala's military government has decreed a new land reform law. The junta said it will continue to split large land holdings among peasants but will directly control the process.

The government of Col. Carlos Castillo Armas announced last night that the new measure will open the way for reform of the agrarian law instituted under the regime of ex-President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

* * *

The decree called a halt to further land expropriations until the new land is promulgated. It also said that workers who took over lands during the revolt against Arbenz must return them after harvesting the present crop.

The U.S.-owned United Fruit Co. claims the Arbenz government seized 234,000 acres of its banana plantations for distribution to small farmers. U.S. government demands that the company be compensated are still pending. The present government has not indicated whether the claims will be paid.

Bans Sprinkling Despite Protests

Lawn Watering Allowed Alternate Nights Only, After 10 P.M.

ROYAL OAK—Water pressures hit new lows Sunday in South Oakland County, and new restrictions on water use will go into effect today.

The Royal Oak City Commission approved an emergency resolution last night banning all lawn sprinkling from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m. Residents of odd and even house numbers will be allowed to sprinkle on odd and even calendar days.

Previous restrictions on water use allowed sprinkling on the calendar day matching resident's odd or even house number, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Residents of the northwest area of the city, just south of 14 Mile Road, stormed the meeting to register protests.

Sanitary and fire protection facilities were affected Sunday, they said. City commissioners were reminded that Michigan's slogan is "Water Wonderland," and the lawmakers received hoots from the audience when the purchase of additional water meters was discussed.

Mayor Howard K. Kelley told residents that everything in the power of the city will be done to aid them in the emergency.

Real relief will come when a large main is installed up Greenfield Road, to serve the northwest area, he said. This new main, under construction by the South Oakland County Water Authority, is currently at 9 Mile Road, and will continue to 14 Mile Road when legal snags have been overcome.

A referendum to permit cities to enter into the proposed project will be voted on at the Aug. 3 primary.

Kelley said that Royal Oak proposed in 1950 that water be brought from Lake Huron, but got little cooperation from other cities.

"Enabling legislation should be passed permitting an authority to include several counties to participate in financing the project—it can't be done by any one municipality," he stated.

Pressure in Huntington Woods was reported at 2.5 pounds Monday morning. The city council also passed emergency sprinkling measures, limiting lawn spraying to from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Narcotics Suspect Trapped by Police

A man suspected of being a narcotics peddler, who has been under investigation for two months, was picked up yesterday by Pontiac Police, a federal narcotics agent, and an Inkster policeman who posed as a buyer of drugs.

Calvin Waugh, 28, of 459 Howard McNeill St. was arrested by the federal agent and Pontiac Police Det. Sgt. Ray E. Meggett and Det. Herbert C. Cooley, shortly after Waugh sold 2 ounces of marijuana to Inkster Police Lt. Richard Humphrey.

Waugh later appeared in court before Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum and waived examination on a charge of violating the narcotics law. A $1,500 bond freed Waugh, who is scheduled for arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court Aug. 9.

A search of Waugh's home turned up some small amounts of marijuana, in addition to the drug he sold to Humphrey for $34 and a single cigarette found on Waugh's person when he was arrested, according to Meggett.

Peron Seeks Press Organization Plan

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan Peron says his aim is to place all newspaper enterprises exclusively in the hands of a single organization of newspapermen pledged to the service of the Argentine people.

His views were expressed at a luncheon when he spoke to newsmen who cover Government House.

"It has been said we seek a monopoly over newspapers," the President said. "I would like a monopoly over newspapers in order to place it in the service of the country."

Batter's Long Blast Puts Three Fielders to Flight

New Way to Stop Bleeding Piles Without Surgery

New York, N. Y.—(Special)—Medical research has developed a harmless, pleasant, quick-acting wonder drug called RECTORAL that is taken internally and goes right to the seat of the trouble. It does away with the old-fashioned messy, disagreeable-to-use ointments, suppositories, etc., that give little or no relief. Usually in just a few days, bleeding with any accompanying irritation and soreness begins to disappear and in a few days more is completely gone. It has been tested in thousands of cases without any return of bleeding, even years afterwards.

RECTORAL can now be obtained without prescription at Simms; J-V; Hallman Drug; Luttrell Pharmacy; Walgreen's; Thrifty; Slankster & Jones; Dunseith; Cole's; Furtney's; Rule; Quality; Keego Drug, Keego Harbor; Drayton Plains; Auburn Heights.

WORTH A MILLION — Evelyn Ay, or "Miss America," displays the kind of jewelry almost any girl would like—a 60-carat round stone valued at $1,000,000. A guest of the Southern Jewelry Buyers Convention in Atlanta, Ga., EVelyn was allowed to wear the sparkler—briefly.

Tories Take Over London's Civil Defense

COVENTRY, England, (UP)—The Churchill government takes over the civil defense reins of this war-battered city this week. Socialist city councilors washed their hands of the whole business months ago, contending civil defense is useless against an H-bomb.

Civil defense work will go on just the same, with the city's 3,000 volunteer workers putting in two or three hours a week at first aid lectures and rescue drill—and the national government will continue to foot the bill.

* * *

The Council voted last April to disband its preparedness machinery. One H-bomb on the city, they said, and there wouldn't be anybody left to rescue anybody else anyway.

Personal appeals by Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe failed to move the Council, so last week the government stepped in and appointed three outside officials to form a commission and run the show.

It has all worked out nice and smoothly. The government keeps civil defense going in Coventry—and the Council has registered its protest.

* * *

The only people likely to be not so pleased about the whole business are the local taxpayers. Getting three top officials in from London is going to add a penny or two to the local taxes.

Under a 1948 act of Parliament, local authorities have to foot the bill for any outside help sent in to carry out duties they refuse to accept.

U.N. Moves to Admit Communist Romania

VENICE, Italy (UP)—The executive council of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization voted 11 to 2 last night, with 5 abstentions, to recommend that Communist Romania be admitted to the organization.

The recommendation will be placed before the next UNESCO general assembly.

The United States opposes Romania's application.

Furnaces Shut Down

DETROIT (UP)—The Great Lakes Steel Corp., of suburban Ecorse, shut down operations Monday of five of its 17 open hearth furnaces. The company also announced plans to drop to a four-day work week to lessen unemployment of 10,500 workers. Blaming a decline in steel orders by the auto industry, spokesmen said the firm hopes to resume the five-day work week within two months when orders are expecte dto pick up again.

Woman's Vacation Fun Depends on Right Clothes

Clothes can make or break a woman's vacation.

How can you really have a wonderful time after you've opened your suitcase away from home and found you've packed the wrong costume jewelry or forgotten important items such as a belt or a half-slip for your strapless, or left out your dancing shoes?

The right clothes at the right time give you a feeling of confidence that helps you meet people—much of the fun of vacation. The wrong clothes make you "wish you were not here."

So take enough time and care to plan your vacation wardrobe before you leave. You'll find that you can travel light and still be attractive at all times.

Lillian Lusk, who is in charge of the transportation desk for Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Co. and affiliated Kemper companies, told fellow women employes in a company magazine the secrets she learned about living out of a suitcase during her more than 30 months as an airlines hostess. Her suggestions may help you, too:

1. Select a basic color or scheme for your entire wardrobe and build around it with accessory colors.

2. Choose skirts, sweaters, blouses and jackets that are interchangeable.

3. Remember, dark colors travel best. They don't show soil or wrinkles so plainly.

4. Pick fabrics that don't muss readily and require little or no ironing.

5. Plan each outfit completely from hat, gloves, shoes and jewelry.

6. Take basic dresses and separates that can be used for many occasions and can be dressed up or down.

7. Include three pairs of shoes—one for dress, one for walking and an extra pair.

8. Take only quick-drying lingerie in threes—one on, one washing and one clean.

9. Remember that most clothes will shed wrinkles when left in a steamy bathroom for a few minutes.

10. Don't take more than you need.

After your travel wardrobe has been planned, here is the correct way to pack it:

1. Make a list of everything you're taking. Assemble every article on your list and double-check.

2. Place heavy things at the bottom of the suitcase.

3. Next put in lingerie, scarves, gloves, sweaters.

4. Last, pack your suits, dresses, blouses.

Fill sleeves with tissue paper and insert sheets of tissue where there is a fold.

Doris E. Spencer Will Become Bride

Coming Events

White Shrine will hold its annual picnic Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Cass-Dodge Park.

Wednesday meeting of Sunshine Group Dames of Malta is postponed until further notice.

Sunset Club will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. in Oakland Park for a cooperative dinner. Howard Estes of the Oakland County Convalescent Home will speak. All members and friends over 60 are invited.

Pellon permanently shapes all silhouettes in all fabrics from the thickest wool to the most delicate lace. The tunic skirt of this brown Chantilly lace dress by Miss America is completely lined with crease-resistant Pellon.

Non-woven, crease-resistant Pellon permanently shapes the tulip skirt with the new long-shaped torso in this soft black tissue faille dress by Nathan and Strong. Pellon is guaranteed not to lose its shape or body, nor will it discolor when washed or dry-cleaned.

Pellon Puts New Shape in Fall Styles

Pellon, the sensational non-woven "background" material that stepped into the fashion foreground less than two years ago and has held the spotlight happily ever since, will be the reason the new fall 1954 clothes spread wide at the top, flare out in pretty arched lines at the back and hug close and "long" in the middle without the clutching effect of bones.

* * *

One of Jane Derby's unusual tweed and satin evening costumes shows the use of pellon in the semi-fitted silhouette of a pink lined black coat and its matching pink satin dress. The fitted bodice of the dress has a wide circular neckline and small cap sleeves and its full back-flaring skirt is permanently shaped with pellon.

A striking Turk red sheath with long, fitted sleeves by Suzy Perette illustrates the cushioning, crease-resistant effect of pellon when combined with velvet.

* * *

Pellon, as the unseen companion and supporter of the most delicate fabrics, appears again in a tunic dinner dress of imported Chantilly lace by Miss America. The topaz lace tunic has a high round collar and long sleeves and is flared out over a soft-folding skirt. The matching satin underslip is shaped with pellon.

In the same soft light fabric group is Nathan and Strong's long, fitted torso dress of black tissue faille. The flounce hemline, shaped with pellon, starts below the hipline to form a trumpet skirt.

* * *

A slim red wool dress by Samuel Winston emphasizes the remarkable way pellon discreetly "shapes out" the new silhouette on top. Two large flap pockets are interfaced with pellon.

Creating a Spanish mood are Jane Derby's black evening separates. Exotic black lace and silk fringe trim the black jersey blouse and the full-length silk skirt. The backflaring pellon-shaped skirt has a lace apron.

* * *

Last is a white satin statuesque gown by Ceil Chapman. The full-length bouffant skirt has a large pouf in back with pellon shaping the entire skirt.

PATRICIA REAUME

Mrs. Charlotte Reaume of Blaine avenue is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Patricia, to John G. Brewer, son of the J. R. Brewers of North Saginaw street. An October wedding is planned.

Bath, Shower Combination Peps You Up

During the summer, a fragrant bath followed by a cool shower each day will help to keep you fresh as a daisy.

Your bath water should be warm, but not hot. Add to it bath salts or whatever softener you use. And a bubble bath is sure to take your mind off the weather.

If you have a favorite perfume, try matching your bathroom accessories to that fragrance. You could include bath oil, salts, soap, cologne and talcum powder.

Then, have a generous dusting with your bath powder. You'll find that your girdle slips on easily if you use the powder. Pay special attention to powdering your feet and legs. It acts as as a soother for hot, tired feet, so pamper them with it.

Dusting your legs with bath powder will help you save on nylons. They'll require less twisting and pulling if you can put them on over smooth legs.

If you suffer from those all too common "heat" rashes, a twice-weekly epsom salts bath will help you to restore your skin to its healthy condition.

Make Baby's Bath Fun Not Frightening

It's worth all the effort you'll put into it to make Baby's first bath a pleasant one. Don't allow him to be frightened by the water; lower him into it slowly. In fact, it's a good idea to begin with a very little water.

The next day, increase the amount of water only slightly and if he then shows no fear, it's a good bet that you can give him a regular bath. Thereafter, he'll regard his bath as a pleasant experience.

ANITA COLBY

Date at 8? Be Sparkling When He Arrives

By ANITA COLBY

Date Night—Are you getting all the good you should out of Saturdays? If you're home from work—out of school—use Saturday to collect yourself, to restore order to your mind and your body and your belongings.

Remember what I told you about getting rid of bad habits and establishing good ones. Later today I want you to do some reading and resolving about bad habits—but right now you've just one thing on your mind: You've got a date at 8 and you're exhausted.

Your feet ache, your hair is stringy, you're tired all over, and there's just an hour to go. Let's start at the foot of your troubles — nothing makes a woman look or feel older.

Do what June Havoc learned to do for her feet in her marathon dancing days. She softened up calluses and sore spots by rubbing, massaging deeply with olive oil. So do that, and then a quick shower or tub.

Now, Betty Grable's secret to keep those wonderful feet and legs of hers dancing—her "contrast" bath; stinging hot and then icy cold spray, scrubbing with a brush and massaging meanwhile.

If a bump comes out on your face—forget it. It doesn't really stand out like a searchlight. Don't stir it up—use a cover stick, then foundation. NOW:

1. Set Your Hair in Cologne—It's a quick drier, and makes your hair smell lovely to the man you're dancing with.

2. Cream-Clean Your Face—Long and thoroughly, smoothing away the tired lines. Now astringent or skin freshener, then lubricating cream, well spread.

3. Now to the Hollywood Slant. Get those feet up, and massage them, if they're still giving you trouble, with a menthol foot cream—so cooling, relaxing, soothing. Before you put your shoes on, sprinkle feet and shoes with powder.

Make eye-lotion pads and lay them on your lids. Now go limp, see black, lie there a drowsy blank 15 minutes, with blood flowing up to recharge your face.

Now, up, and take five minutes to read about getting rid of bad habits, getting hold of good ones. You know, if you can break a bad habit these four weeks—it's broken for good.

Your Personal Habits

All the things you do, from the moment you wake up till you shut your eyes at night, form a pattern of your life, your self-portrait for the world.

You are simply the sum of the million little things you do every day . . . So-o-o . . . you can change yourself. Check off bad habits as you break them.

Analyze yourself. Study your face for its special assets. Learn to make up to your good points, make down your bad. Find out how to look like nobody but yourself—but your very best self. Polish yourself from shining head to shined toe.

Coordinate yourself—keep your body in such poised and perfect alignment that it takes you beautifully through this world.

And keep your mind proud and high, too—in balance, in order. Plan your life; plan your time, your budget, your pleasure and your duties, so that you make things happen as you want them to.

If you're an oil type, you can look greasy and dirty fearfully fast. Scrub with soap and water three times a day if you can—if noonday is impossible, use astringent—and after you've lathered and rinsed, go over your skin with a clean cotton astringent pad. If it shows a trace of soil, wash again. Dry skins also—cream-clean, then lotion.

Eat With Sense

Do Eat With Sense. Follow your diet. Aside from your fruits and vegetables, lean meats and dairy products, remember to get enough roughage into your system. This helps elimination—it's your waste removal agent. Count your calories.

Try to establish regular daily hours for your body's elimination habits. Drink enough water if you're not regular—6 to 8 glasses between meals—but no more. It weighs in your diet, and besides you get some in foods if you're eating sensibly.

Do you have dry, wrinkled claws? Keep them laved in oils and lotions. Keep a bottle in your bathroom — on your kitchen sink.

After carefully drying every finger, every inch of palm and back, always use lotion; and at night oil richly and wear thin cotton gloves. A daytime glove habit keeps you protected—summer or winter.

Do you have armadillo elbows? Oil a lot at night, and before baths. In the tub take a scrubbing brush and soap to work off tough outer skin. One of my starlets used to rub her elbows in halves of lemons after she'd pumiced and oiled them.

Use Your Toothbrush

Do your proper toothbrushing after every meal if you can to avoid you-know-what. If you must skip the lunch one, finish your meals with hard fruits, raw vegetables and the like—to clean off the teeth.

Have a mouthwash at work with you. Keep elimination habits regular — see dentist regularly to guard against decaying teeth, and don't specialize in high-smelling food or drink.

As for BO — There are deodorants, which simply remove the smell from perspiration. Don't expect them to stop your perspiring. That requires an anti-perspirant.

And if you're an excessive case you may need both, especially in summer. Both come in cream or liquid form. Some last a few hours, some a day, some three or even more days, depending on your own chemistry.

Get into the habit of using a long-term type before you go to bed. But keep a short-term one around too, in case you forget. This will keep you always fresh as a daisy.

Every night, a quick rinse of your lingerie in some of the fine soap powders or detergents now on the market will also get your hands ready to cream your face.

Nylon underthings and blouses are rapidly doing away with the iron, but cotton and rayon collars, cuffs, hankies must be beautifully pressed — and clean.

That 20 minutes of blushing downhills should give you a New Look, and a New Outlook. Now then, refreshed and bright-eyed, you remove all the cream, put on your makeup, and perfume the pulse spots of your body.

Brush out your hair, get into your date dress, now comb your hair into shape—one last blot at your lipstick . . .

Ready—lights—camera! Bzz-zz-zz—There's his ring. He's here!

Wool Rugs Best

Compactness of weave and the thickness and density of the pile as well as the materials used by the manufacturer determine the wearability of rugs. The best buy generally is a wool rug of simple twist weave.

Tones High Color

If your skin is red and flushed and your color is "high" you can tone down its color by using a beige powder and foundation. Avoid any make-up having pink tones.

Custom-Look From California

Embroidery Sparks Sports Shirts

This sport shirt combines the comfort of a sweater with all the style of a sport shirt. It is of silk and worsted wool knit, with collar and sleeves of rib-knit. This plus a monogram makes an unusual and interesting item, and it is one of the many imaginative stylings that have helped to make California the men's wear fashion center of the country.

Never before have sport shirts taken on such a custom-like individuality as they do in new advance men's fall styles from California. The reason?

Embroidered motifs—once limited to the few who could afford monogrammed detail on their shirts—are sweeping the sport shirt lines of California designers.

You'll see dragons, color-on-color circles, arrowheads, darts, leaves, and even lips on the pockets and collars and chests of classic sport shirts in your own store this fall.

You'll notice that while the area of the design is miniature—often an inch or less—the important point it makes is in color contrast. The result is a smart sparked effect without the sometimes dubious blatancy of a large print.

Best of all, California's men's wear designers have taken this male plumage with a practical point of view.

Washable fabrics—colorfast embroidery—are musts with all these new fall shirt styles. And to adapt them for wear with ties and sport jackets, the designs are so placed that they frequently disappear when worn with a jacket—always do not intrude on the neat effect of a sport ensemble.

Stored-Away Toys Seem New to Tots

Taking Baby to the doctor can become an ordeal. He may fuss, become bored with his toys, want only those of the other children. To prevent this, excite his interest by offering him "new" toys during each visit.

These toys, of course, will only seem new to him. Actually, they'll be one he has tired of and which you have stored away for such occasions. Babies' memories are short, so he'll be as delighted with them as with brand new ones.

Guild 4 Luncheon Fetes Mrs. Crane

Mrs. George Eaton of Pine Lake entertained 21 members of Guild Four, All Saints Episcopal Church, at a luncheon Saturday in honor of Mrs. F. C. Crane of Flint. Mrs. Crane is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Baker of Birmingham.

Wise Advice Prevents Woman From Opening Home for Elderly People

Three Friends All Date the Same Boy and Compare Notes About Romances

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Three of us girls run around together—and we all like and go with the same boy. He doesn't even know we know each other, but we compare notes all the time. I'm sure if he found out, he'd drop us all flat.

"The thing is that I like him much more than the other two girls do, and I'd like to know how I can make him stop going with them.

"I know one of the girls necks pretty heavily with him, and for that reason he has been taking her out more. Should I do the same thing so I can see him more often?"

This very popular boy friend of yours would have to live in a private little vacuum not to be aware of the fact that you three girls know one another.

Other people could have told him. Or one of you could have made some very casual, but careless remark that might have given the truth away.

If he really isn't aware of your friendship, you girls are aware enough of his talent for playing the field. If he does know, it apparently doesn't make the slightest difference to him. He just isn't going to get stuck with any one girl.

You know how you feel about him, but really you can't judge the other girls' affections. Even if they protest that they just "like" him, you can't be sure how deep it goes.

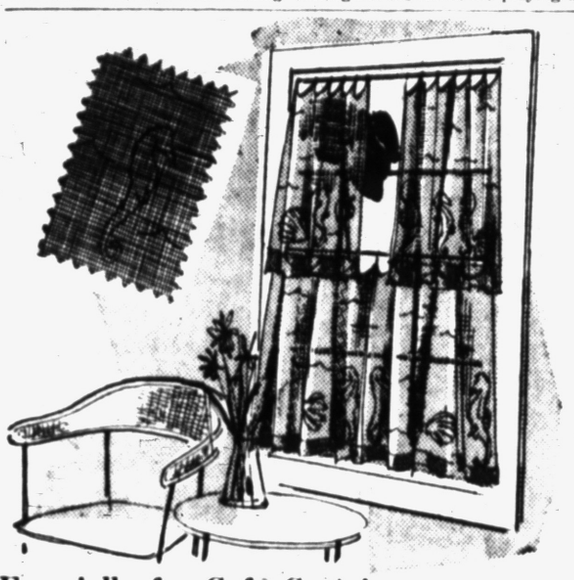
Nor should you believe too much of the stories they tell about their dates with him—necking included. Comparing notes doesn't give you the whole story. Three girls interested in one boy are likely to keep things back, tell only what they want to tell, make it sound the way they want it to.

The relationship of your friends with the boy you like is beyond your control. So also is his interest in them.

You can hope that two other boys will come along to occupy the attention of the competition. That might give you more of his time.

You can work hard at making your own relationship with him mean something to him — as much as it does to you. Careful attention to your looks and manner and attitude will attract him.

Real interest in him, in his work, his activities, his thoughts and opinions—plus appreciation and approval—may make him think of you as the most attractive girl of your trio.



Especially for Cafe Curtains

Fishnet Popularity Grows

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Lace curtains of many types find their way into today's fashion picture, many with the elegance of traditional lace curtain days.

And a favorite is fishnet, which caught on in such a big way, first plain, then in colors, and now patterns on fishnet start a new style. Fishnet can be had in panels, tailored pairs, their curtains, cafe curtains, and curtaining by the yard.

Today's big favorite, the cafe curtain, is fresh and idea-full in a variety of fishnet weaves, from a fine square mesh to coarse, heavily constructed rounded squares.

Most are of sturdy cotton with a special finish which requires no starching or stretching. Others are of nylon or orlon.

In cotton and nylon they are very trend-wise in color, with coral, hot chocolate, avocado green, cherry, grays, gold, carnation pink, blue, black and lemon among the eye-catching shades.

Patterns are delicate and imaginative, such as the sea horse design sketched, and all the cafe curtains come with their own loops, so hanging requires only the simple threading of the loops onto rods.

Look Your Best by Colette

IF tired of light colors—

Choose blackest gray cotton, black shoes, bag and gloves, white hat, and one of the new fox stoles from now right into fall.

Miss L. C.—Deep gray called "abthracite," a cold steel shade to alternate for hotter-looking black, aims to carry cottons right into fall. This deep gray appears most significantly in men's wear type weaves, and accents the new gray furs.

Ideal Proportions

A woman's figure is ideally proportioned when her bust and hips measure the same and her waist, 10 inches less. However, if you are tall, you can look well proportioned when your hips are as much as 12 inches larger than your waist.

Sprinkle On Cool, Sweet Talc to Stay

You don't have to be a woman wrestler to get into your girdle in the hot, humid summer weather if you use talc. Talcum powder is so moisture-absorbing and skin-smoothing that it does away with tussle and that annoying "stuck" feeling.

Simply sprinkle talc on your body after showering, bathing or changing clothes, and your foundation garment, bathing suit, bra and stockings will slide on easily. Chafing will be eliminated, too.

If your feet are hot, burning or swollen in humid weather, try using talc on your feet and in your shoes. It will protect them against the irritating acids of perspiration, thereby making them feel cool and comfortable.

This is especially true if you walk or stand a great deal. Housewives who wear loafers and glamour girls who go stockingless in the summer also will find this an effective cooling aid.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

The hostess who invites guests for a late supper after an evening of planned entertainment should make sure when inviting her guests that they know when she plans to serve the supper.

It's an unhappy guest who thinks his hostess means to serve at the dinner hour, only to find out that the "supper" she mentioned isn't to be served until the evening's end.

Guard Against Travel Sickness, Heat, Infections

Ailments Turn Vacation Into Nightmare

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK (NEA) — Weekends in the country and summer vacations provide fun, rest and relaxation, but if you and your family are to get the most from them, make sure to guard against travel sickness, heat, noxious plants, insects and minor accidents. For these are the things that turn a vacation into a nightmare.

Feeling tired on a hot day, for just one instance, is due in part to losses of water and salt from the body through perspiration.

So be sure to offset these losses by drinking water on schedule and by salting food to replace the lost salt in your body.

Best preventative for prickly heat rash is talcum powder or calamine lotion. Powder can be applied liberally several times a day to soothe and dry the rash.

That bane of all vacationers, poison ivy, will give many families a bad time again this summer. There is no remedy that consistently cures poison ivy in less than two weeks.

But some skin specialists say now that cortisone and hydrocortisone halt the itching within hours and clear severe cases of poison ivy within a few days.

For motion sickness, there's a new drug, bonamine, that's said to protect most people against such sickness for at least 24 hours.

The U. S. armed forces have found it most effective in tests aboard Army transports crossing the North Atlantic during the rough winter months.

Summer athletics bring on a rush of muscle injuries generally called by such gay names as "tennis elbow," "checkrein shoulder" and "Charley horse." They are characterized by severe pain.

But many doctors are now relieving these muscular inflammations by a single injection of hydrocortisone, which is equally effective in injuries to the joints.

Practically everyone has suffered athlete's foot at sometime during warm weather, since perspiring feet provide the ideal conditions for the fungus responsible for this disease.

No truly reliable way has been found to eliminate athlete's foot from bathhouses and shower rooms.

Best means of prevention is to keep the feet dry, with particular care to the area between the toes. Dusting talc is a help.

Be sure to carry a first-aid kit on your summer auto trips. A bare minimum is:

Six 1-inch adhesive bandages, two 3-inch bandage compresses, one square yard of sterile gauze, a triangular bandage that can double as tourniquet and a tube of burn ointment.

But don't attempt to be your own doctor in case of serious accident. Get to a doctor as fast as possible and let him take over.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Gypsies Use Novel Rules for Sizing Up Character

Watching an old Douglas Fairbanks Jr. film the other night, I suddenly realized, as a swart-woman in the flickering shadow of a campfire predicted a dark future for the hero, that it has been a long time since I've heard anything about Gypsies, those romantic folk who have fascinated me from childhood.

Miss McBride

Before World War II, a thousand or so would move into cold-water flats or empty stores in New York's Bowery for the winter and once in a while you'd hear they were in minor difficulties for telling fortunes or the like.

Then in the spring they'd be on the move again. They have been roving for 2,000 years and I doubt if they've stopped now.

When I was little, they used to travel through our part of the country in big covered wagons, always going on. I guess that was why we called them movers. And although Papa let them camp in our far meadow by the river, Tommy and I were forbidden to go near them.

Other children frightened me by saying that they kidnaped little boys and girls, but one brave spring when I was lonely for a playmate of my own sex I defied my father and my fears and took some eggs from my own chickens and a few radishes I pulled from my patch to an encampment where there was a little girl just my size.

It would be nice to report that, in exchange for my gifts, the Gypsy mother looked at my hand and predicted I'd grow up rich and famous. She did no more than accept my offerings politely.

The little girl hid behind her mother's skirts and wouldn't even look at me, so home I went, with lasting memories of the dark, dirty wagon and a strong-smelling brew cooking in a black kettle over a fire in front.

From city Gypsies in my newspaper days I heard of the courts of arbitration by which they settled tribal difficulties, and also the unwritten laws that made hospitality a must and decreed ostracism for any who violated it.

Once I got to know fairly well, considering that they did not warmly welcome outsiders, a family living out the winter in a dreary tenement off Houston street in lower Manhatan.

The parents and three children occupied two rooms. A round-bellied stove in the center of one room was the only furniture and the mistress of the house usually lounged in regal splendor on a pile of red and yellow spreads.

Nobody talked much but I learned, from the man a little bit about the way his people size up Gorgios, which is whaty the call all who are not Gypsies. They regard a sleek, well-fed cat as the sign of a friendly home but deduce that an over-fed animal will be owned by self-indulgent persons who will show cold hearts to outsiders.

A garden with beautiful flowers but not too much design indicates friendly dwellers, but the Gypsies will pass a calculated garden, too prim and neat.

Window shades slightly crooked presage a pleasantly impetuous and generous, if untidy, housekeeper within, but the peddler never goes near a house with windows ruler-neat.

I've watched for those signs myself and I believe maybe the Gypsies have something.

A total of 55,700,000 turkeys were raised in the United States in 1953.

Too Many Costly Complications

Field Seldom Profitable

By ANNE HEYWOOD

One interesting thing about my work is that you see both sides of every job.

As one woman is thinking happily of entering a field, another woman is scrambling madly to get out of it. And sometimes this is a useful thing.

Emma R. came to me one day with what she considered a wonderful idea.

"I'm going to turn my home into a boarding house for elderly people," she announced with determination.

"I am a widow with time on my hands, and I like old people. Also, I'm a good homemaker and cook.

"Since I'd be housekeeping for myself anyway, why not take in, say, six old people as boarders? I could charge a fair fee, and I know the field for this kind of thing is huge.

"I'm not a nurse, so I'd just take healthy aged persons. It would be such fun, and I know I could make a nice profit."

But it just so happened that the day before, a woman whom I shall call Madeline had been in to see me.

Madeline had just gone through bankruptcy from operating a boarding house for elderly people, and had come to me to get a salaried job.

I introduced the two, and here is what Madeline was able to tell Emma:

1. Cooking and keeping house for yourself is not the same as doing it for six elderly people. Elderly people are frequently terribly fussy about their food; they have so little else to think of.

Each of the six will want the breakfast egg done a different way, and each will complain. You'll be at least three hours getting breakfast over.

2. Even if you take only healthy people, illness is apt to strike any elderly person overnight, and you will find yourself up all night doing the nursing.

3. You'll have to allow a lot of time for dealing with relatives. In many cases, the relatives have palmed off their older parents, and their consciences hurt.

This, in turn, makes them call you all the time to see if you're doing everything right. You'll spend several hours a day on the telephone.

4. Because they know they've been palmed off and neglected by their children, the older people are apt to develop all kinds of complaints and illnesses, just to get the children to come and take them away.

5. Unless you are a nurse, with several in help, a doctor in attendance and unlimited capital, you probably cannot make a living out of boarding old people.

Guests Stay Long Past Dinner Hour

Cocktail Gatherings Fail to Break Up at Appointed Time

By EMILY POST

A reader asks for my help on the following problem: "Several times in the past when I have given large cocktail parties (the invitations reading from 5 to 7 o'clock), many of the guests have stayed on and on and were there long past 7 o'clock.

"I was not prepared to ask them to stay to dinner and as a result my husband and I didn't have our dinner until long past 9 o'clock. When guests make no attempt to leave, must we invite them to dinner, or just how can we get them to go when the party is over?"

Answer: You do not invite them to dinner, and you cannot suggest they leave, so the only solution left is for you and your husband to go one by one into the dining room or kitchen and eat (as quickly as possible) enough dinner to sustain you.

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine has been separated from her husband for several years, although they did see each other occasionally because of the children.

Her husband died suddenly this past week and I am at a loss to know what to do. Would it be proper to send her a message of sympathy, or some flowers, or would it be best to do nothing?

Answer: If the children are at least half grown, you would write to the child you know best and express your sympathy for them, but you would certainly say nothing to the wife.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to introduce oneself to a new neighbor by saying, "I am Mrs. John Smith"—or is it a must to say, "I am Mary Smith?"

Personally, I prefer to go slowly with new neighbors, and use first names only after a friendship has developed.

Answer: You are quite right in saying, "I am Mrs. John Smith, I live in the house with the green roof." Only a young girl would say, "I'm Mary Smith."

Sourdough Cake Tasty Alaska Fare

Recipe Is Standby for Family Picnics in Far North

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

All the way from Anchorage, Alaska comes this recipe. And the amazing thing about it is that a woman I met on my recent trip gave me the same recipe. It always is interesting to see how recipes travel.

Mrs. Orley Hill who is visiting her daughter and family in Alaska was nice enough to send this recipe for Sourdough Cake to be used in this column. She says, "This cake is delicious when hot, unfrosted, or may be cooled and frosted with chocolate or white frosting. Keeps very well." It is a standby of her daughter's, Mrs. Douglas Campbell, for all their Alaskan picnics. It's easy to prepare and there are no dishes to wash!

SOURDOUGH CAKE

By Mrs. Douglas Campbell

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt

Sift the above ingredients into an 8x8 ungreased cake pan. Make three holes in the dry ingredients.

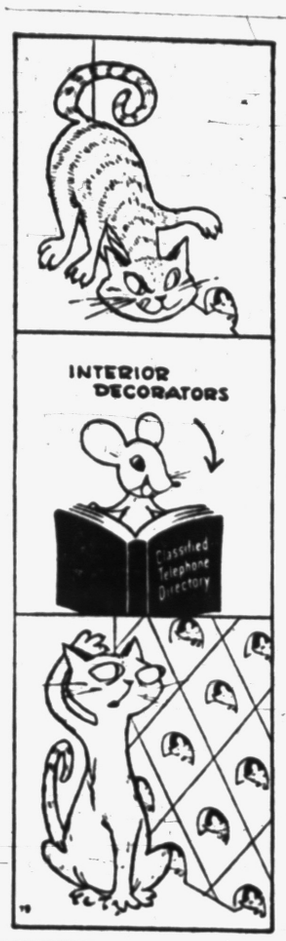
Into first hole put 6 tablespoons salad oil.

Into second hole put 2 teaspoons vanilla

Into third hole put 1 tablespoon vinegar. Over all pour 1 cup cold water. Mix thoroughly with a fork. Bake in a 350 oven for 30 minutes.

Bathe in Boric Acid

The eye cleans itself by blinking. In the eyelids are glands which secrete tears and oily material, to keep the eye from drying out. This secretion washes out tiny particles through the nose. If the eyes are exposed to dirt, bathe them with 4 per cent boric acid solution.



Officers' Wives Are Bane of Master Sergeant's Life

By LAURA Z. HOBSON
International News Service

FT. RILEY, Kan.—"It's officers' wives drive you crazy," said M. Sgt. Paul Carpenter of Roanoke, Va., and he ought to know.

With a year of high school in Hillsville, Va., and a bit of experimenting with jobs, he enlisted nearly 20 years ago and is retiring this December—which possibly accounts for the decisive way he dished out his opinions.

Now 39, he's been a drill sergeant, first sergeant, mess sergeant, supply sergeant, and for the last three years a general's orderly.

"I guess I've had every job an enlisted man can have in this Army," he said. "And I tell you, it's not the officers drive you nuts, it's their wives."

"How?" I asked. "In what way?"

Sgt. Carpenter now is the orderly of Gen. P. D. Ginder, our friend and host, and the sergeant made a vigorous exception about Mrs. Ginder. "She's a real sweet lady," he stated emphatically, "and anyway, she don't live on the post steadily, what with producing shows on Broadway and all."

It was the master sergeant my sons and I turned to for anything and everything we needed—or that he figured we needed—on our visit to Ft. Riley.

My breakfast at 7 a.m.? A phone call brought him—and it—on the double, and didn't I think iced coffee around 11 a.m. would be fine?

Were the boys ready for swimming? He had a jeep outside; he could take them over to the cafeteria for breakfast, then to the pool, and fetch them later. After he'd put our rooms to rights.

And about laundry — didn't we have a stack of it after all that touring? Anyway, here was another load of cokes and canned juices on ice—Kansas wasn't what you could call cool.

"The officers' wives," I prompted him. "What about them?"

"Well, they're sassier, more overbearing," he said. "Act like they're movie stars. Some of them start right in when their husbands are lieutenants — the more rank the husbands get, the sassier those wives get.

"A while back, there was this general's lady. I was running the officers' mess, and she had a luncheon for 30 girls. She wanted a big spread, but it had to come to a buck each, no more.

"I figured every leaf of lettuce, and that luncheon came out at 99 cents for each girl. I felt real good about it, when I told her about staying a penny under that buck price."

" 'Making a profit, sergeant?' she said, all her feathers ruffling up. 'Ma'am,' I said, cold-like, 'one cent profit on 30 girls comes to 30 cents. I'll be right glad to pay that 30 cents back right now.' "

Sgt. Carpenter snorted like one of Ft. Riley's famed old cavalry horses, and I spurred him on with more questions.

"She reported me to a major," he said. "The major reported me to my general, this lady's own husband. The general sent for me.

" 'I want to congratulate you, sergeant,' the general said to me. 'You're the only enlisted man ever talked back to my wife.' "

M. Sgt. Carpenter, however, is not down on all women. He's getting married when he retires, to live on a 109-acre farm he's bought in the southwest part of Virginia, planting it to wheat and corn. I asked his fiancee's name.

"Just say 'Sadie,' " he answered. "I been engaged to Sadie 15 years; next January we'll be man and wife. She's a Kentucky girl, from near Lexington. Real smart—taught school for seven years."

He showed me a snapshot, in color. Sadie had brown hair and eyes, and looked pretty sassy herself. Here's hoping that in civilian life, Paul Carpenter will never get a mad on against any ex-master sergeants' wives.

McClellan Fate Up to the Voters

Sid McMath, 2 Other Dems Battle Senator in Arkansas Primary

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. UP—Sen. John L. McClellan, who two years ago participated in the defeat of Sid McMath for a third term as Arkansas governor, today meets the challenge of McMath for his own job.

McMath and another candidate, Paul Chambers, Arkansas' Democratic national committeeman, are attempting to oust McClellan from the Senate seat he has held for nearly 12 years. A fourth candidate, Leonard Ellis, did not campaign.

* * *

If no candidate gets a majority of the total vote cast in today's Democratic primary, the two top men will meet again in a second primary two weeks hence.

In Arkansas, Democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

McClellan, senior Democrat on Sen. Joseph McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee and in that role familiar to television audiences during the recent McCarthy-Army hearings, campaigned mainly on his 12-year record and the prestige he said his seniority gave.

McMath attacked him as a "Democrat in name only," a Republican and an errand boy for "Texas oil millionaires" and "the power trust."

* * *

Chambers declared both his opponents represent special interests —McClellan "big business" and McMath, organized labor—and that only he could represent "all the people."

U.S. Counterspy in West Berlin Commits Suicide

BERLIN UP —An American counterintelligence agent, known to be a friend of missing West German security chief Otto John, has committed suicide in his Berlin quarters, it was learned today.

Fellow officers found the man, a naturalized American with the rank of captain in the Counterintelligence Corps, mortally wounded in his billet near the American Army hospital last Friday. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The Army has withheld announcement of his identity until the family is notified.

* * *

Rumors that the agent was being questioned and that he was suspected of disloyalty were flatly denied by U.S. authorities today. A senior officer said a complete inquiry shows the man to be above suspicion.

Officers said the agent had known Dr. John, former chief of the West German Federal Office for Protection of the Constitution, for some time. The agent shot himself the day after John's disappearance in the Soviet sector was made public.

New City Hall Layout Planned

Bill for Furniture and Equipment Will Total $56,000, Planner Says

Office layout and a list of new furniture and appliances needed is now complete for Pontiac's $1,100,000 city hall scheduled for completion early in 1955, according to City Planner William L. Collins.

Some $56,000 worth of new office outfitting equipment is planned, said Collins, plus using present equipment with an estimated replacement value of $29,000.

City departments to be housed in the new building's basement will be Parks and Recreation, Electric, Purchasing and Health.

Located on the main floor will be the city clerk's office, the treasurer's office, water billing, the city assessor, inspections departments and the employe credit union.

Pontiac City Commission will meet in a 40x60 foot room on the second floor directly above the building's main entrance.

Office space will be provided on the top floor for the city manager, finance director and attorney plus the accounting section, Personnel, Planning, Engineering and Public Works Departments.

The building will include a pneumatic tube system to carry license fees and other money received direct to the treasurer's office.

The top two floors will be air-conditioned. The heating plant will be a gas-fueled unit to heat water for circulation throughout the structure.

There will be two public restrooms in the basement and one on each of the other floors for employes.

Proposed new equipment includes 60 desks, 368 chairs, 55 filing units, 150 lineal feet of counter space to be set up in ten offices doing business with the public, 19 cabinets, 89 tables and 28 bookcases.

Several new refrigerating and sterilizing machines are planned for the Health Department and a modern blueprint reproducing machine for the Engineering Department.

Funds for purchasing the new equipment are included in the $1,100,000 building-cost figure, said Collins.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A gigantic brush fire, roaring through 5,000 to 6,000 acres of pine and post oak southeast of here, burned into its second week today.

But a fire that cut a 2,000-acre swath out of cedar brake and brush country 20 miles northwest of the state capital was believed "generally under control" after destroying three homes in the Lake Travis area last night.

Most States Report Radar Is Cutting Down Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Radar, a wartime developed detection device, has been aimed at the highway speeder and most of the 29 states using it say it's cutting down accidents.

The device provides precise evidence against the driver who violates speed laws, and signs warning motorists that radar is in use serve as a deterrent.

The latest state to install it and the state which pioneered radar's use in patrolling the highways are equally enthusiastic, an Associated Press survey found.

Virginia State Police credit radar for the Fourth of July traffic death toll reduction — seven this year, compared to 21 last year. Virginia installed radar July 1.

Connecticut State Police Lt. Albert H. Kimball says there is "no question about the effectiveness of radar patrol." Kimball, a traffic specialist, cited fewer accidents and no fatalities in 10 months since radar was installed on a heavily traveled five mile stretch of New York to Boston highway where once there were many serious accidents and fatalities.

The highway patrol in Kansas, which has been using radar for a year, notes a 12 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities and says radar "may have played some part."

Missouri and Oregon officials are uncertain whether radar should get sole credit for fewer accidents or whether other factors figured.

Mississippi credits radar with a 77 per cent reduction in traffic accidents.

The radar speed detector beams a radio microwave at the back of a car. The time it takes the wave to travel to the car and bounce back to the receiving and recording set in the police patrol car is electronically timed and the car's speed computed. The reading appears on a dial and on a roll of graph paper. A synchronized camera photographs the car and the license number — and the speeder is hooked.

Courts generally have radar evidence. California, however, does not use radar because "speed traps" are specifically prohibited by state law. In other states, courts have declared radar is not a speed trap if signs are posted warning that the highway is radar-patrolled.

The Center for Safety Education at New York University reports radar has these advantages over other speed detective devices and motorcycle or squad car patrols:

Radar can operate in any kind of weather, day or night; its signals are almost impossible to "jam," it is light in weight, easily handled and quickly installed, easy to operate and has a margin of error of less than two miles an hour.

Many Industries Await Ike's Decision on Tariff Increase for Foreign Watches

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heavy pressure to protect a key industry in the production of delicate wartime instruments bore down on President Eisenhower today as he considered whether to order his first major tariff increase—on imported watch movements.

The Tariff Commission has recommended a 50 per cent increase in tariff rates to protect the highly skilled domestic watchmaking trade.

* * *

Scores of other industries, interested in their own protection from lower-cost foreign imports, waited with interest. Lead and zinc producers also have a tariff increase bid pending on Eisenhower's desk.

Foreign governments were concerned whether the movement for free world trade — already jarred by Congress' inaction on Eisenhower's three-year plan of gradual tariff reduction—might receive another setback.

Although the U.S. watch industry is comparatively small, consumers have a stake too. Importers estimated the tariff boost, if approved in full, would increase the cost of an imported watch by $3.50 to $5.

* * *

Since he took office Eisenhower has turned down Tariff Commission proposals for higher duties on briar pipes, shears and scissors and groundfish fillets. He approved in part a recommendation for increasing the duty of alsike clover-seed.

But the pressure for higher tariffs on Swiss watch movements has been built mainly on claims the domestic watchmaking craft is essential to national defense. The industry was the major wartime producer of precision instruments and timing devices.

A Senate Armed Services subcommittee, after hearing military officials testify to the "unique" skills of the watch and clock trade, reported on Saturday that the industry must be kept "alive and vital."

* * *

Domestic companies have complained that rising imports from Switzerland, where watchmakers are paid less, are damaging the market for American watchworks and causing layoffs which are scattering the trained working force.

Importers contend the watch industry is not the sole maker of instruments and timers, noting that camera producers furnished them in World War II. They also argue that if Switzerland's dollar-earning exports are reduced by the higher tariff wall, the Swiss will be able to buy fewer American farm products and manufactured items.

Solon Dismayed by GOP Critics

Defends the Procedure Followed by His Senate Subcommittee

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today he uses "almost an ideal set of rules" to run his investigations, and he voiced "dismay" at the attitude of some of his Republican senatorial critics.

McCarthy's statements were in testimony prepared for a hearing before a Senate Rules subcommittee studying a variety of proposals for revision of the rules for Senate investigations. No action is foreseen this year.

* * *

The inquiry got a boost from—but is not based upon—the recent 36-day hearings into McCarthy's row with Army officials.

In a 3,500-word statement defending himself and the Senate Investigations subcommittee of which he is chairman, McCarthy said:

"I do not believe that any of the allegations aimed at me or at our committee, calculated to prove that we are in effect demanding equal time in (Sic) the White House, is grounded in reason."

* * *

McCarthy continued:

"On the other hand, I do believe that Washington is crowded with men and women who look upon Congress as a constitutional nuisance.

"I do believe that the exercise of those (investigative) powers that are inherent in Congress is a plague to those who have a vested interest in concealing their improper activities."

* * *

McCarthy told the Rules subcommittee headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) that he is proud of opposition Republican senators raised against former President Truman's executive order in 1948 denying congressional investigating groups access to loyalty-security information from the executive agencies without White House approval.

"And it is with dismay," he said, "that I see so many of the same men now disposed to concede to the executive the permanent right to withhold such vital information from congressional committees—in fact, to interpret any demurrer against what they used to call the censorship code as a frontal attack on the executive branch of the government."

* * *

Escapade First to Finish in 2nd Mackinac Race

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The yawl Escapade, fresh from her Port Huron to Mackinac victory, was first across the line today in the 47th annual Chicago to Mackinac 333-mile cruising race.

A double victory for the big Detroit craft awaits the judges decision on corrected times. The Escapade was forced to give handicaps to all other boats in the race.

Escapade slid across the finish line at 7:02 a.m. (ET).

She was followed, at 7:21 a.m., by the Chicago yawl Manitou.

Affirm Success of New Cancer Treatments

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Two highly encouraging new successes in the treatment of some kinds of human cancer were reported today at the sixth International Cancer Congress.

One is a surgery-plus-X-ray treatment of cancer of the breast, the most common form of the disease among women. The technique is saving about half the patients who get treatment reasonably early, the congress was told. The second is a new drug giving—at least temporarily—normal life to a number of sufferers from several forms of cancer.

* * *

The surgery-plus-X-ray method was described by Dr. Robert McWhirter, radiologist and surgeon of the Royal Infirmary at Edinburgh, Scotland.

This method, used since 1941, surgically removes only the infected breast but avoids cutting out a part of the chest wall, armpit and neck to remove lymph nodes to which the cancer probably already has spread.

Those affected areas are treated by X-rays daily for three weeks, beginning 10 days after the surgery. This method thus avoids severe mutilation of the body and some complications from surgery or X-rays.

* * *

McWhirter said 60 per cent of the women treated by the conservative combined method had survived for at least five years. A five-year survival is usually regarded as evidence of a cancer cure. He said 48 per cent had survived 10 years. All were women who breast cancers were regarded at the time as suitable for operation.

Even on cases considered unsuitable for help by extensive surgery, McWhirter said 32 per cent were alive five years after the combined treatment and 16 per cent were living normal active lives after 10 years.

Encouraging success through use of the new drug thiotepa was described by Dr. Jeanne Bateman of George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

She said a high percentage of patients with cancers of the ovaries, breasts and the worst form of brain cancer had achieved good results, enabling them to return to months of useful, active life so far. The drug often produces temporarily good results in other forms of cancer, she added.

Describing results with the first 94 patients tested, Dr. Bateman said the drug works best if injected directly into the cancer. The drug even then manages to go to work on cancers in distant parts of the body.

The drug is not a cure, Dr. Bateman cautioned, but it has succeeded in keeping some patients on their feet and useful until nearly the end of their lives.

Wally, Chick Battle Today for National Crown

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Chick Harbert and Wally Burkemo, two golfers who thrive on the kind of competition where you face the other fellow and try to beat him down, met today in the final match of what may be the best-played PGA championship in the post-war era.

It was the second man-to-man clash between these two, who live and work scarcely 10 miles apart in suburban Detroit, and the third PGA final for each. That should be enough to prove their qualifications for match play, a kind of rugged competition the top pros seldom encounter except in the PGA tournament.

Burkemo is the professional at Franklin Hills Country club, a few miles south of Pontiac, Mich. Harbert is the Meadowbrook club's pro, from Northville, Mich., where the recent Motor City Open was won by Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Burkemo's victim yesterday.

It would be merely belaboring the point to cite their performances in yesterday's gruelling 36-hole semifinals.

Burkemo, the defending champion, almost crushed Cary Middlecoff with one brief string of birdie-shooting, let him get away and then came back to win on the 37th. Harbert, twice runnerup but never a winner in this tournament, had to go clear to the 36th green to down Tommy Bolt, 1-up.

Burkemo and Harbert clashed in the second round of the 1951 PGA at Oakmont and the blond, bright blue-eyed Burkemo won on the 19th hole. That was when Wally, playing in his first championship, went all the way to the final before he took a 7 and 6 drubbing from Sam Snead.

Burkemo only lasted until the third round the next year, when it was Harbert's turn to go to the final, but he took the title last year at Birmingham, Mich., beating Felice Torza, 2 and 1 in the final.

Harbert, the one-time boy wonder of Michigan golf, now greying and growing portly, attained his first final at Detroit's Plum Hollow Club in 1947. Then Jim Ferrier's great putting cut him down, 2 and 1.

Bukemo, son of Norwegian immigrants, didn't become a golf professional until after his Army service. He was wounded twice while serving in France and spent a year in hospitals. He has the build of a middleweight and his bold game marks him as a fighter.

Harbert, vice president of a golf club manufacturig concern, also plays a bold game. That's been his trouble in the past. Noted for his long hitting, Chick couldn't resist the temptation to try to hit farther and the result usually was trouble.

Although he was wild at times yesterday, he managed to restrain his walloping at the important times. Against Bolt, an intense competitor himself, Chick gained a two-up lead at the 27-hole-mark and then started to shoot steady pars until the holes ran out.

Bolt matched the pars for seven holes, then, when it was a case of win or quit, he sank an almost unbelievable 40-foot putt for a birdie on the 35th. Both hit the final green in two shots and Harbert, the pressure now on him, ended the match by ramming a 12-footer into the cup.

Burkemo could have won easily by shooting the kind of golf Harbert did. Starting the afternoon round, he went from one down at the 20th to three up at the 25th by shooting birdies on four of five holes. That was almost too much for Middlecoff, who was hitting his shots badly and was bothered by a pain in his hip.

Burkemo still was three up at the 30th, but he seemed to be tiring. His iron shots began to wander off to the left instead of hitting the greens. And when the 1949 Open champion rammed an approach stiff on the 36th green the match was square.

On the extra hole, however, Burkemo, outdriven by some 30 yards, laid his approach within nine inches of the cup for a sure birdie. Middlecoff couldn't match that.

Another 'Dream' Mile

Landy-Bannister Race May Produce Record

VANCOUVER (AP)—John Michael Landy, Australia's sensational miler, served notice today that the Aug. 7 British Empire Games mile classic may produce the third under-four-minute mile in history.

The shy 24-year-old runner, who holds the world record of 3:58.0 for the distance, covered three-quarters of a mile in 2:59.4 yesterday and talk in Empire Villages, home of athletes for the games' 24 competing countries, was that the Landy-Roger Bannister race might break the four-minute barrier.

* * *

Landy's clocking came at a time when a great wave of optimism affected all ranks, from top men of the games organization to the 700 or so competitors from Australia to Uganda. With the games only three days away, General Chairman Stan Smith of the Vancouver organizing committee said in an interview that "These games will be the greatest in history from every standpoint—calibre of competition and even to finances." He could be right.

The 500 spectators at the stadium yesterday didn't realize that Landy was being clocked by Australian team officials. He was swinging along at what appeared to be a leisurely gait and covered only the three-quarter distance.

His time was given to a few sportswriters on the scene. Word spread quickly through Empire Village and the talk was that the Aug. 7 classic won't be the "cat and mouse" race most people expect it to be.

Landy and Bannister have said they would be out to win and that the time would be a secondary importance.

Mantle, Mays Top Sluggers in Big Leagues

Home Runs Are Largely Responsible for Leads; Willie Has 34

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, two of baseball's outstanding center fielders, topped the major leagues in slugging today with home runs largely responsible for their leads.

* * *

Slugging averages—based on total bases in times at bat—compiled by the Associated Press showed Mays has hit for 244 total bases in 353 trips to the plate for a pace-setting National League mark of .691.

* * *

Willie, who heads both circuits in homers with 34, also has produced 16 doubles and six triples among his 114 safeties.

* * *

Mantle's record shows 201 total bases in 340 at bats for a .591 average, the leading American League figure. Mickey numbers 12 doubles, 10 triples and 20 home runs among his 109 hits. He shares the lead in circuit blows with Larry Doby of Cleveland.

* * *

Brooklyn's Duke Snider, another brilliant center fielder, is right behind Mays in the National League slugging competition with a .686 percentage.

Mickey Vernon of Washington is runnerup in the American League with a .545 slugging average, resulting from 195 total bases in 358 at bats.

All-Stars' Coach Barring Visitors

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Declaring that his All-Star College football squad is "vulnerable to scouting" Head Coach Jim Tatum has barred visitors from the Stars' practice field at Purdue.

"We appreciate spectator interest," said Tatum, "but this will be one squad whose plans will not be reported to the pros."

The All-Stars meet the pro champion Detroit Lions Aug. 13 in Soldier Field, Chicago.

The ban apparently will apply for the rest of the training schedule.

They play in finale today to determine championship which Burkemo, the 1953 winner, will hold until the end of their match—maybe longer. Harbert has twice before been runnerup for the title.

Giant Fans Alarmed as Dodgers Win, 9-1

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press sportswriter

The possibility of a Giant collapse was pooh-poohed by Manager Leo Durocher today but New York fans had cause for alarm.

A humiliating 9-1 loss to Brooklyn last night stretched the slump-ridden Giants' losing streak to five straight and chiseled their once handsome seven-game first place lead over the Dodgers to three lengths.

"I'm not worried about a thing," Durocher said after last night's loss. "We're still in a great spot. They've still got to catch us.

"Sure, we're in a little slump. But I think the worst is over. We were due to level off a bit the way we were going before the All-Star game. Now we're back home for a long spell and everything will be all right."

* * *

Durocher obviously was trying to give his team a spiritual lift, something it sorely needed today after the Dodgers belabored Sal Maglie and three hapless relievers with a 15-hit attack.

* * *

Milwaukee's Braves, whose dimmed pennant chances began to flicker anew after their three-game sweep from the Giants over the past weekend, made it five in a row with a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh. Gene Conley, Milwaukee's rookie righthander, doled out four hits while Billy Bruton and Eddie Mathews were providing the offensive spark to move the third place Braves to within 10½ games of the Giants.

The Bruton-Mathews combination gave the Braves their first two runs, all Conley needed to post his ninth victory against five defeats. Bruton opened the game with a triple off loser Bob Purkey and scored on a single by Mathews. In the third, Bruton singled, stole second and scored on Mathews second single. Doubles by Joe Adcock and Andy Parko in the sixth accounted for Milwaukee's third run.

All other clubs had an off day as they girded themselves for the full schedule this afternoon and tonight.

Santee Predicts He'll Run 3:55 Mile in Near Future

By ERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Wes Santee, trim and slender in his Marine khaki, predicted today that a 3:55 mile is not far in the future and he let it be known he figures he is just the fellow to run it.

There was nothing brash or cocky in the way Santee deported himself at a luncheon gathering of the Touchdown Club of Washington. Instead, there was the air of quiet confidence that comes naturally to a man who knows he is a great track star.

* * *

"I'm going to concentrate on track, train as hard as I can and sacrifice everything I have to bring the mile record back to the United States," Santee affirmed.

* * *

He said he knows quite well that Australia's John Landy and England's Roger Bannister, both of whom have run the mile in less than four minutes this year, are tough competitors and that he has his work cut out for him.

But Santee was certain the mile standard would get down to 3:55 in the very near future. And, he added, "Who knows? Maybe a 100 years from now, they may think of that as slow time."

Young Carmelo Costa Beats Ex-Bantam King

NEW YORK (AP)—Vic Towee looks like you would expect an ex-champion to look at 26 and young Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn has all the earmarks of a real comer.

Towee at 133 pounds was over the weight he held when he lost his world bantam crown to Jimmy Carruthers in '52. He was slow in contrast to the clever 2-year-old hit and run artist who is unbeaten in 25 pro fights.

But Towee showed the willing style of a mauler despite his loss to Costa on a unanimous decision in a 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway last night. It was Towee's first fight out of his native South Africa.

Unexpected Audience

A study of the New York baseball Giants' radio listening audience revealed that about 50 per cent of those tabulated were women, youngsters in their teens, and smaller children.

Bob Feller Is Nominated for 'Comeback of Year'

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—When the time comes to pick a "Comeback of the Year" for 1954, here is a motion that the secretary cast a unanimous ballot for Bobby Feller, one of the greatest pitchers of all time.

Bobby won't like it for he is a proud man who insists he never was away. Yet, he must know the Cleveland club all but gave up on him in '52 and '53 and took him off the regular starting rotation for a stretch.

* * *

Time glides by in this business—or any other—and the 17-year-old Iowa plowboy of 1936 becomes, at 35, a veteran, "in the twilight of his career," as the boys dearly love to write.

* * *

Because Feller and fireball always have been synonymous in a sports writer's vocabulary, it comes as somewhat of a surprise to hear that Bobby has come up with a knuckleball. It's almost like Rocky Marciano turning fancy Dan.

How about that fast ball? Is it as good as ever?

"It's a different kind of fast ball. In the old days it used to take off every time. Now it may sink or jump sideways. But it still moves.

"Pitching is a lot easier for me now with a changeup and slider to go with the fast ball and curve. I don't use up so much energy. But then I used to have a lot more energy too."

OCSC Members to See Hunting Film

July membership gathering of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, set for Wednesday evening at the Club House, Waterford, has been designated as "Guest Night" with each member inviting a friend, or hunting and fishing partner as guest.

The featured entertainment will be the all-color motion picture, Hunting In Newfoundland with Boyd Williams of Davison, one of the brothers of the Williams Gun Shop family.

Williams flew to Newfoundland last September where he pictured moose, woodland caribou, and a variety of ducks and geese.

Special reports will be heard from the picnic, 4-H Fair, national skeet shoot, and membership drive committees.

Meeting is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Lion Fullback Out of Action

Sprained Ankle Puts Smith on Crutches for Indefinite Time

YPSILANTI (AP)—Coach Buddy Parker's potential answer to the Detroit Lions' fullback problem was hobbling around on crutches today.

Bob Smith, 205-pound veteran from Texas A & M, ticketed for the No. 1 fullback spot, sprained an ankle yesterday while trotting around the training field.

Parker said he would be sidelined for an indefinite period.

Smith first joined the defending National Football League champions in 1952. But he was called into military service almost immediately and did not rejoin the club until middle of the 1953 season.

In addition to his fullback problems, Parker is hunting for some rookie tackle talent to bolster his veteran linemen.

He sent the linemen through a contact drill yesterday in an effort to spot some professional tackle material.

Tribe Catcher Finds Feller Is Still Fast

Lopez Scoffs at Tales Intimating That Ace is Washed Up

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — A major league bullpen catcher usually is as anonymous as the No. 6 man in a college crew.

If you doubt this, just try to name the man in the Cleveland bullpen. To save you embarrassment we hasten to tell you he is Bill Lobe who has been connected with the Indian organization in one way or another for 26 years.

Bill's hands are not much tougher than a rhinocerous' hide so Al Lopez, the Indians' smart little manager, was greatly surprised when Bill called for a big sponge to put in his mitt while warming up Bob Feller the other day.

"What's the matter Bill, getting soft?" Al kidded.

"No," said Bill, "but Bob is really firing bullets today. He's faster than I've seen him in two or three years."

We asked Bill if Feller was as fast as he once was and Bill replied, "No, I wouldn't go so far as to say that because he used to be about the fastest pitcher who ever threw a ball.

"But Bob's plenty fast still and he's cutting the corners with his curve and, of course, his control is better."

Lopez got many a laugh from tall tales which intimated that Feller was all washed up.

Al expects Bob to play a major part in the Indians' drive for the pennant which, he affirms, may not be settled until the last day of the season.

Munn on Fishing Trip; Keeps Location Secret

EAST LANSING (UP)—Clarence (Biggie) Munn, Michigan State athletic director, is scheduled to arrive in Canada today to spend three weeks at his favorite fishing spot—but like most fishermen, he's cagey about the location.

"He didn't even tell me," said Munn's secretary, Dorothy Miller.

Favored Junior Netter Tested in 1st Action

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Mike Franks, battered by pneumonia less than a month ago, will test his recuperative powers today in the 2nd round of the National Junior and Boy's Tennis championships.

The Los Angeles youth is the top-seeded junior singles player but hasn't lifted a raquet in competition in more than two weeks.

Today Franks, who was a junior finalist in 1953, will step on the red clay courts here for the first time when he plays Karl Hirshman of Malverene, N. Y. The match should be an indication as to whether or not he will be able to endure future competition.

The stocky, dark-haired Franks was awarded a 1st round victory over John Egan of Manitowoc, Wis., by default.

Leading players in both divisions were expected to advance today without too much trouble.

Aussie Netters Issue Warning

NEW YORK (AP)—The Australians, who have made a habit of beating the United States in the Davis Cup tennis finals, passed along a friendly word of advice today—there's a tough road ahead.

Sir Norman Brookes, president of the Australian Lawn Tennis Assn. arrived in town from Europe full of praise for the Swedish team which won the European Zone cup finals yesterday.

"The Americans will have to be playing their best to beat the Swedes," Sir Norman declared.

The United States has two more hurdles before thinking about Sweden but Sir Norman said he expected the Americans to experience no difficulty on this side of the Atlantic.

The Unied States faces Cuba at St. Petersburg, Fla., starting Friday in the American Zone semifinal. In the other semifinal Mexico will entertain Cuba Aug. 20-22.

Sweden climaxed its European comeback by sweeping past France in the finals, 5-0.

Waterford Leaders Defeat Drug Squad

Waterford Men's Softball League leader Dick & Wes tumbled Drayton Plains into 3rd place last night by edging the Druggists, 2-1.

D-W nine pushed across its winning run in the last of the 7th inning, when Bob Thatcher singled, advanced on a base on balls and scored on an infield error. Victory was pitcher Don Herr's 4th in five starts.

A 2-run single by Jim Stevenson in the 4th inning gave Union Lake a 7-6 victory over Drug as the Little League playoffs got under way.

Majors Okeh Ruling to Bar Signing of College Players Before 2nd Year; Ignore Hank's Plan

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — The major leagues have dropped Hank Greenberg's idea of an inter-league schedule, at least for 1955, and have agreed on a new rule to ban signing of college baseball players who have started their second academic year.

Milwaukee gets the 1955 All-Star game, at a date to be determined later, and the problems of Caribbean winter baseball are to be solved at a final conference today between the Latin delegates and Commissioner Ford Frick.

* * *

The Caribbean leagues agreed to end their seasons and playoffs by Feb. 15 in return for permission to use no more than five players from each major league team. At least two of these will be rookies who have appeared in less than 45 big league games.

* * *

All is set except the actual final agreement between Frick and the delegates. Player requests to deal directly with the Caribbean teams were rejected.

Greenberg's idea of inter-league games probably will come up again, and again. The Cleveland general manager expected defeat but said, "You have to bring these things up for several years before you get them through." Frick said the proposal was withdrawn by Greenberg at the joint meeting after being discussed at each separate league meeting.

The college rule represents a victory for Everett (Eppie) Barnes, Colgate athletic director, who fought for many years to get some protection for college players.

It's Time Out!

"Pardon my curiosity, Sir, but just what did he call the umpire?"

Chicagoan Slated to Battle Hughes

DETROIT (AP) — Chicago's Lou King will face Bobby Hughes, world's 10th ranking light heavyweight, tonight in the feature eight-round bout at Motor City Arena.

King agreed to the bout, promoter Julius Piazza said yesterday, after two other opponents dropped out.

Hughes, of Warren, Ohio, was unbeaten in eight bouts last year and has won nine of his last 11 fights by knockouts.

Sox Hope for 3 Straight Against Yanks

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox dared to hope for three straight victories in a pressure-packed series starting tonight against the New York Yankees—the team that has been smashing Sox hopes all season.

"It wouldn't surprise me if we sweep the series," said Manager Paul Richards as he prepared to send three top pitchers against the New Yorkers.

* * *

Virgil Trucks, a 13-game winner who has lost only 5 decisions, was Richards' choice for tonight's opener. The Yanks' Casey Stengel indicated he will counter with Harry Byrd, who has won six of 11. Trucks was to be followed by Billy Pierce and Sandy Consuegra. Byrd will be followed by Ed Lopat and either Allie Reynolds or Whitey Ford.

* * *

It was the Yanks who were responsible for shoving the Sox back down the ladder as they were reaching for the top in New York just last week.

The Yanks took three out of four in that series—something they've been accustomed to in past entanglements with the Comiskeys. They now hold 11 wins over the Sox against only five losses this year.

That means they're mainly responsible for the White Sox being in third place, six games off the pace of the leading Cleveland Indians and 4½ back of the Yanks, instead of at or near the peak.

The White Sox hold an edge over all other American League rivals, including a 9-7 bulge over the Indians.

Two or three losses in Chicago to the Yanks wouldn't quench Sox pennant ambitions finally but it would take weeks of desperate—and successful—scrambling for them to recover. This would be especially true if the Indians continue their winning pace in their current series with Boston at home.

* * *

Richards, who claims his boys "have been outlucked in several of those games" with the Yankees, points out from here on the schedule is definitely in the Sox' favor.

After this week's series, they play the Yanks only three more times and the Indians only six more. Meantime, the Yanks and Indians must meet each other eight times.

If the Sox can continue beating the league's unfortunates and do somewhat better against the two top dogs, they still have a chance.

26-Week Program Set

College Basketball and Track to Join Football on Big-Time TV This Year

NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball and track are going to join football on big time television this winter.

* * *

The American Broadcasting Co. lifted the wraps a little from the plan they used to lure the NCAA's big football program from the National Broadcasting Co. and it showed a 26-week winter and spring schedule of college sports.

* * *

The joint announcement by ABC and the NCAA came yesterday, including the list of football games to be shown for free on home screens this fall.

The football list originally was learned last Friday, four days before the official announcement was due. There were no changes from the unofficial list although it was pointed out that some late-season substituting might be done if certain games become suddenly attractive and others decrease in interest.

Robert H. O'Brien, executive vice president of ABC, and Les Arries, the network's sports director, said plans for the additional sports shows were not yet complete. But Arries said it probably would begin with the LaSalle-Niagara basketball game of Dec 11.

Other possibilities for the Saturday telecasts, Arries said, include the Dartmouth Winter Carnival, the Penn and Drake Relays, the IRA Regatta at Syracuse, the Big Ten-Pacific Coast track meet ad the Intercollegiate Rodeo at Colorado A&M.

ABC televised a college basketball game each week during last season over a network that covered the East and Midwest.

Trade circles said ABC paid about two million dollars for the football TV rights and speculated that the extra college shows probably swung the deal away from NBC. NBC has countered with a Saturday schedule of Canadian pro football.

In a reference to the competition, O'Brien said:

"I don't believe anything in the field of sports has the draw of good college football. Of course, there may be some dial twirling."

Roy Mack Says A's Franchise Not for Sale

Eldest Son Is Seeking to Obtain Complete Control of Team

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Roy Mack emerged in his own light today as the current strong man of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The normally quiet, unassuming executive vice president of the America League club stuck his jaw out a country mile at the mid-summer baseball meetings in New York yesterday and announced the A's are not for sale, a half a hundred rumors notwithstanding.

And if that wasn't plain enough talk, the eldest son of Connie Mack declared he was in the throes of a family squable with his younger brother, Earle, to obtain complete control of the club and change the downtrodden Athletics into a pennant contender.

* * *

Admitting that he had discussed the future of the A's with a syndicate headed by Arnold Johnson of Chicago, who has been pushing Kansas City for a major league franchise, as well as several groups from points West, Roy said:

"When I say we are definitely not selling, I mean that. It's easy enough to kick a guy when he's down, but I'm not going to stay down.

"I'm going to battle for full control of this club, especially since the 'Save The A's' has got going."

This last was a reference to a effort by local civic and business leaders to retain the club in Philadelphia. The campaign has not as yet produced outstanding results. But its backers are hopeful the tide is turning although the club's present seventh place spot isn't helping much.

'Skying' Shot Is Traced to Swaying During Swing

By SAM SNEAD

Skying Trouble

Perhaps some of you have special golf problems. Today we will consider those who have trouble skying shots. Remember two things if you have this fault: 1, Keep your body in position and turn—don't sway—on the backswing; 2, On the follow-through, merely shift your hips and whole body laterally forward without making an effort to turn the hips.

One way to keep from swaying is to get out of the notion of putting weight on your right foot on the backswing. If you turn properly, enough of this will come naturally without specifically trying to do so.

And on the downswing, don't consciously turn your hips—they'll turn automatically after you've passed the ball. Today's player has reached the top of his backswing. Notice that his head (A) has not moved laterally and that he is looking at the ball over his right shoulder. His weight has moved to his right foot (B), but it has done so only because he has turned properly.

I wouldn't make the mistake of teeing the ball low if you are in the habit of skying the ball. Bobby Jones always teed up very high and caught the ball on the upswing.

Has Double-Trouble

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron of the Braves doubled into a double play in a game against the Phillies here. After Johnny Logan had singled, Aaron blasted one into the right field corner for two bases. Both runners, however, wound up at third and both were trapped for a double play.

Illinois Sets Down Arcaro

Jockey Is Suspended for 10 Days; 'Rough Riding' Charged

CHICAGO, July 27 (AP)—The Illinois Racing Board today suspended jockey Eddie Arcaro for 10 days for "rough riding" aboard Royal Note in Saturday's $149,785 Arlington Futurity at Arlington Park.

* * *

The board acted on the recommendation of the track's stewards, who said the veteran pilot interfered with several horses on the far turn before driving to victory.

* * *

Arcaro said he lost a stirrup coming out of the gate and was trying to regain it when he accidentally bumped others in the field.

The suspension means Arcaro won't be permitted to ride Iceberg Kmhii in Saturday's $160,000 handicap at Arlington, a mile and three-sixteenths over the grass course. He was scheduled to return for the handicap from the Saratoga meet at Jamaica, where he currently is riding.

Links Owned by Cities

Every state has at least one city-owned golf course. Texas leads with 55 and Illinois is second with 52. They were followed by California with 43, New York with 42, and Minnesota with a 1953 count of 36.

Women's Medal Play Tourney Slated Saturday

Annual City Women's Medal Play golf tournament is scheduled for Saturday at the Municipal Course.

Entry deadline for the test, which is sponsored by the City Parks & Recreation Department, is Thursday at 6 p.m. Trophies will go to the winner and runnerup in the 18-hole tourney.

Among entries filed thus far are defending champion Edith Wright, 1952 titlist Zadah DeBolt and Betty Sue Syron, one of the city's top women golfers.

GMC Qualifying Test Set Saturday

A 36-hole qualifying tournament to choose a 4-man team to represent General Motors Truck & Coach Division in the annual Midwest Industrial golf tourney this year will be held Saturday at Bald Mountian.

Already named to the team is Mike Andonian, who qualified automatically as GMC's low man in last year's tournament. His teammates will be the three low golfers in Saturday's test.

Midwest Industrial meet is set for Aug. 21-22 at Chicago.

Had Good Pitching

North Carolina university's pitchers went the full route in the first nine baseball games on the varsity's 1954 schedule.

Second Ace Scored

Second hole-in-one of the season on the 155-yard par 3 11th hole at Bald Mountain Golf Course was scored Thursday by Detroiter Roy D. Elliott. He used a No. 5 iron. Elliott was playing with James V. Barrow and Clarence Wagner, both of Detroit.

Darkness Halts Doubles Finals in OL Tourney

Darkness halted the final match in the Orchard Lake Country Club invitational doubles tennis tournament last weekend. Fred Otto and Don McKay of Detroit will meet Bob Dixon and Dick Lincoln of Ann Arbor Thursday at 4:30 p.m. to complete the match.

Otto-McKay defeated Dixon and Lincoln, last year's champions, 6-4 in the 1st set of the finals and the 2nd set was tied at eight games each when darkness forced a postponement.

A total of 25 teams entered the tournament, directed by Jean Hoxie.

Medalist Fires WWGA Record

Pat Lesser Registers 71 in Qualifying for Amateur Test

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Pat Lesser, 20-year-old former women's intercollegiate golf champion, carried the medal into today's 1st round of the Women's Western Amateur tournament and it represented the best qualifying performance in the 54-year-old event.

She scored two eagles yesterday in the course of a 3-under-par 72 round that was a stroke under the WWGA amateur record shared by several players.

It also was a new women's mark for Broadmoor Country Club, although the field of 144 played from the back of the men's tees.

Luck of the pairing formula matched Miss Lesser today with another Washington girl, Anne Quast of Everett, who qualified with 81.

A's in Detroit for Twin Bill; Reds Tie Tigers

Hutch Tries Hand at Mound Job, With Sad Results

DETROIT (AP)—Regardless how his starting pitchers fare tonight in a twi-night doubleheader against the Philadelphia Athletics Tiger skipper Fred Hutchinson will be glad to sit in the Bengal dugout.

Fiery Freddy, who at one time had a pretty good curve and control in his pitching days for the Tigers, found out last night the hard way about the fate of a rusty arm.

Hutch took the mound in relief in an exhibition game at Cincinnati against the Red Legs of the National League.

The game was called at the end of the 9th inning with the score knotted 13-13. Bengals had to catch a train for Briggs Stadium.

Hutch replaced starter Ray Herbert in the 7th inning holding a 13-6 lead. And in the final frames Hutchinson was tagged for seven runs on 11 hits.

Bengals were trailing 5-2 when they scored their remaining runs in the 6th inning off lefty Moe Savransky. But along came the boss and the lead disappeared.

But Hutchinson wasn't the only managerial failure.

Birdie Tebbetts, former Detroit catcher now managing the Redlegs, tried his hand as a pinch hitter in the 9th inning and went hitless. But Hutchinson's pitching efforts far "outclassed" his former batery-mate's hitting effort.

So if either Steve Gromek (11-9) or Ned Garver (7-6), who are slated to pitch for Detroit tonight, get into trouble their boss may come out on the mound to talk to them. But you can bet he won't be taking over the pitching duties himself.

How $1,236,736 Was Spent by Burt Lancaster

By HUBBARD KEAVY
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie "Apache," made by the independent Harold Hecht-Burt Lancaster company, cost $1,236,736.21. Here's how the money was spent:

Lancaster, as star, and Hecht, as producer, receive no salaries. Their take comes from the profits.

An independent makes pictures much less expensively than a major studio because overhead is so much less. The overhead charged against "Apache" is less than 4 per cent of the total cost. Major studios, with so many more and greater continuing costs, charge from 25 to 50 per cent for overhead. The average is 40.

For the usual picture, cost of prints and distribution charges equal the negative cost, i.e., actual cost of filming. Thus "Apache" will have to gross nearly 2½ million before Hecht and Lancaster start getting their cut.

Tony Pastor Scheduled at Walled Lake Casino

Tony Pastor and his orchestra will play for dancing at the Walled Lake Casino Ballroom this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

LOVE LOCKED OUT—Kathleen Hughes, currently in "Dawn at Soccoro," Technicolor western, with Rory Calhoun nad David Brian, has her own philosophy about love. Quote: "Two people divinely in love is the greatest prescription for jealousy. Show me affection without passon and I'll show you a marriage that has better than a 50-50 chance."

New Boeing Jet Hits 550 Miles Per Hour

SEATTLE (AP)—Speeds of 550 miles per hour, four fifths the speed of sound, have been attained by America's first jet transport-tanker, the Boeing firm announced.

The company said testing of the big four-jet plane, the 707, is progressing "extremely well" and ahead of schedule.

The 15-million-dollar plane climbed to 42,000 feet and reached a maximum speed of 550 miles per hour on its third flight, July 19.

The sun moves 175 to 185 miles per second around its orbit.

The chief exports of the island of Socotra in the Indian Ocean are ghee, aloes and dragon's blood.

Hal Boyle Says:

Most Women Like Caviar Just Because It's Costly

NEW YORK (AP)—Random reflections by a pavement Plato:

Old bachelors are usually more fussy and set in their ways than old maids—probable because they don't keep pet cats.

Nobody I know ever made a lifelong friend at a cocktail party.

Did you ever meet a life insurance salesman who didn't carry a pocket calendar in his wallet?

* * *

Anybody who doesn't appreciate what he has now will never be made happy by what he gets later.

Nine out of 10 men brag they are hard-headed can be put down as intolerant bores.

The ordinary cop has to get in a gun battle to get his picture in the papers. But he performs more little unnoticed acts of real philanthropy in a week than the average millionaire does in a year.

Whenever I see a guy tip a hat-check girl more than two bits, I can't help feeling he is a showoff and probably stingy with his own wife.

* * *

On the other hand when a woman breaks into tears at a restaurant table, why does everyone on the place leap to the conclusion she must be wonderful and the guy sitting with her is a lousy bum? It could just as easily be the other way around.

I never yet met a middle-aged man who admitted he owned a raccoon coat in college.

Half the women who claim they like caviar are prestige liars, and if the stuff sold for a dollar a pound they wouldn't be caught eating it. The most popular food with women today is tuna fish and weary lettuce, but they get their greatest satisfaction gnawing on old steak bones at home, when nobody can see them. A woman doesn't fool a waiter when she tells him to wrap up the remnants of a big restaurant steak "so I can take it to my dog." He knows that, even if she does have a dog, the dog won't get any of the steak unless it is willing to fight her for it.

* * *

Nothing cheers the heard of a bald-headed man more than seeing another fellow in an ill-fitting toupee.

Whatever happened to "Wrong Way" Corrigan, technocracy and canasta?

Some people confuse mechanization with civilization. I feel sorry for a man who doesn't bother to watch a sunset from his back porch because he knows that in a year or two he can see it in his living room on a color television screen.

Has anybody noticed, since Dr. Kinsey's last book came out, that women are getting any easier to undertand?

Detroiters Get Probation on Automobile Charge

Two Detroiters were placed on two years probation and assessed $200 costs each yesterday by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick for unlawfully taking and using a motor vehicle.

Howard R. Jarvis, 22, of 20024 Berg Rd. and William Rogers, 27, of 20046 Five Point Rd., pleaded guilty to the charge July 19 admitting the theft of an auto in Southfield Township July 14.

Assessed for Breakin, Man Admits 2 Others

Harry Pate, 19, of 164 Dresden St. received three years probation and was assessed $200 costs yesterday by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick for breaking into a grocery store May 2.

Pate pleaded guilty July 12 to stealing beer and cigarettes from the store at 6891 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford, and also admitted a gas station and used car lot breakin.

Frogmen Find Safe in Waters of Walters Lake

A safe was found by two frogmen of the Pontiac Submariners' Club, who were swimming in 30 feet of water at Walter's Lake in Independence Township yesterday.

Charles Walter, 19, of 44 Cherokee, Rd., and William Imboden, 17, of 457 Lowell St., located the safe. They called Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Thurman Sanvage, who had them attach a line on the safe. A car was used to pull it from the lake.

Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell said Detective Elmer McQuern has been assigned to investigate the recovered safe, whose owner had not yet been identified.

Weather, War Hit Grain Mart

CHICAGO (UP)—Hot weather and war jitters still were present in grains on the Board of Trade and soybeans jumped 10 cents, the daily limit, before enough selling entered the market to reduce the advance.

Corn also was up several cents and oats showed a firm tone in early dealings. However, they both fell back from their best levels. In wheat the retreat sufficed to send all contracts below the previous close. This cereal at no time showed the strength apparent in other grains.

Birds Flock Together

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Maury Pierce, a sky-writing pilot, became concerned with a nest of five baby robins found in the engine cowl of his plane at Meramec Airport. He called off all smoke ads until the nestlings were feathered up for flight.

Steel Demand Carries Others

NEW YORK (UP)—Heavy demand for steels at higher prices today encouraged a rise in the stock market.

In the early afternoon, advances between 1 and 3 points were frequent. There were scattered losses, but only in special instances did they go past a point.

Going up with the steels were most motors, rubbers, aircrafts, distillers, coppers, tobaccos, railroads, oils, building materials, and a sizable contingent of low-priced issues.

Among higher stocks were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Schenley Industries, Westinghouse Electric, Vanadium, General Dynamics, Climax Molybdenum, Leggett & Meyers, Santa Fe, Texas Pacific Land Trust, and U.S. Gypsum.

U. S. Steel, which reported earnings and dividends after the close, started the day on a block of 14,000 shares up ⅝ at 54⅞, and then it added to that gain almost immediately.

Bethlehem Steel came to life about mid-day and raced ahead more than 2 points. It reports earnings and dividends Thursday.

Vanadium got up a little better than three points after directors proposed a two-for-one split. It was up a point yesterday. The company is in the uranium business.

CLEANING UP—Armed National Guardsmen stand before the Russell County courthouse as the vice-infested border city of Phenix, Ala., is placed under "qualified martial law." Tubeless Tires to Be Standard on 1955 Models

The tubeless automobile tire probably will be offered by most car makers as standard equipment next year.

Ward's Automotive Reports said today that besides Packard at least a half dozen other car makers are expected to offer them with their initial 1955 models. Others, it added, will probably offer them before the year is through.

Meanwhile, it reported, B. F. Goodrich Co. has filed suits charging patent infringement in the tubeless tire production against Firestone and U. S. Rubber.

Ward's added:

"Socony-Vacuum Oil is believed to be the first petroleum chain to bring out its own brand of a tubeless tire. It is called the Mocil Premier. Other tubeless casings are expected to be introduced in the weeks and months ahead as the tire without a tube gains increasing support."

Senate Cuts Taxes on UHF TV Sets

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Finance Committee has voted special tax treatment for ultra-high frequency television sets and moved to wipe out the 10 per cent excise rate on all commercial TV, radio and phonograph machines, except on tubes and cabinets.

The committee on Monday also included phonograph records purchased for commercial purposes among items which would not carry any excise tax.

There have been a long series of complaints that the main reason ultra-high-frequency (UHF) television networks have not been expanded is lack of receiving sets.

The revenue loss on the $7 tax credit for UHF TV sets is estimated at 50 million a year.

No Smoking Sign Evidently Means What It Says

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—The bus sign said "No smoking." But Russell A. LaPlaca, 26, smoked.

When the man behind pointed to the sign, Russell replied, "Who says?"

The man was Police Inspector William G. Martin and he showed his badge.

"Anyone can have a tin badge," Russell said.

In back of Martin was Police Inspector J.C.R. McDonald, who also showed his badge. Then all three got off and went to Southern Station, where Russell posted $25 bail for smoking on a public conveyance and snuffed out his cigarette.

TV Makeup Man Uses New Plastic Mask

Young Actors Can Look Old

Harry Burkhardt Tells of Tricks Used Before Various Shows

By SYD KRONISH

NEW YORK (AP)—That little old lady who ambled across your television screen last night could be the same woman who played a college girl a couple of weeks ago.

She is the creation of the makeup man—one of the most important TV operatives.

Lining colors, carefully brushed into place can make a person almost any age desired. Crows feet, pouches under the eyes and wrinkled foreheads are quickly applied for the necessary effects. White or gray powders and creams can age the hair.

Every makeup man has a wide assortment of beards, mustaches, eyebrows, and hair pieces.

Harry Burkhardt, makeup man, likes to talk about the special plastic mask now used.

"The actor sits in a barber chair and has a rubber compound applied to his face. When the compound hardens it's removed and we have a mask. The actor leaves and we go to work.

We try out various combinations of false hair, coloring materials, false chins, twisted noses, widened cheekbones, etc.

"When we have the face we want we let the materials harden remove them from the mask and have the necessary false pieces of face custom-tailored.

"On show day the actor gets his foundation makeup and the various parts of his false face. These false pieces are plastic and do not harden to an extreme. As the face moves naturally so will these false items."

Makeup men like Burkhardt get help from the camera and the creams in different shades accentuate good features and reduce bad ones.

Special "pin spots" mounted in front of the camera provide a flat light which reduces wrinkles, lines and pouches.

Of course, makeup, lights and camera angles go for naught sometimes.

A classic example would be the time a pretty, young girl rushed into the makeup room just in time to receive her makeup. She was very patient as the artist went to work and finally emerged from the room a woman of 80.

Somebody, however, got his signals crossed.

Blind Motorcyclist Steers Into Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ronald Carlos Taylor, 25, always wanted a motorcycle.

He had an opportunity to buy one from a friend last week, one that could do 100 miles an hour. The fact he has been drawing the full state pension for the blind eight years didn't deter him. He bought it.

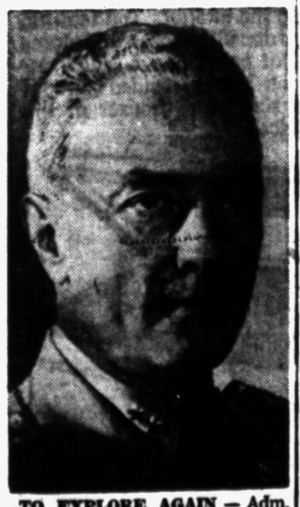
He rode several interesting blocks before he made a left turn and ran into Miss Barbara Murphy, 25-year-old pedestrian.

Yesterday, Municipal Judge Charles Peery gave Taylor a 30-day suspended sentence for driving without a license, 30 days suspended for violating a pedestrian's right of way, and six months on probation.

Taylor sold the motorcycle.

Suntan Cools Runner

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Police thought Robert Lee Highsaw was a marathon runner when they first spotted him dashing along the street in shoes and "track shorts." The officers arrested Highsaw, however, when they discovered the "track shorts" were suntan marks left by a bathing suit.



TO EXPLORE AGAIN — Adm. Richard E. Byrd, noted polar explorer, is planning another expedition to the Antarctic. He made the announcement at the annual breakfast of the Poultry and Egg National Board in Cleveland, Ohio. Adm. Byrd pointed out the strategic importance of the 6,000,000 square-mile Antarctic continent and said that there is still an area there as large as the United States that has never been seen by a human being.

Woman Killed on Dixie

SAGINAW (UP) — Lilie Mae Brown, 48, of St. Louis, Mo., was killed Monday in a car-truck collision on the Dixie Highway 18 miles south of here. The victim's brother, Emmanuel Betts, 38, of Flint, was among the three persons injured in the crash.

Dems Canvass Primary Returns

Texas Runoff Election to Pit Yarborough and Shivers Aug. 28

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—County Democratic executive committees meet today to canvass the primary election returns that indicate runoff elections for governor and other Texas offices.

The runoff will come Aug. 28 after the State Democratic Executive Committee in turn makes a canvass Aug. 9 of all primary returns, district and state.

* * *

Meanwhile, Gov. Allan Shivers led Atty. Ralph Yarborough by 650,919 votes to 632,040 in latest returns announced last night by the unofficial Texas Election Bureau. Two lesser candidates—Arlon B. Davis of Dallas, with 16,062 votes, and J. J. Holmes of Austin, with 19,538—combined to force the runoff.

* * *

Candidates must have a clear majority of all votes to win.

The campaign for governor, now narrowed to Yarborough and Shivers, promised to be a bare-knuckled, dog-eat-dog fight.

Shivers led the Texas Democratic party organization into the Republican camp in 1952 and was the moving force that put Texas in the Republican presidential election column. Yarborough supported Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

Embezzlement Trial Begins for Ex-Banker

CLAYTON, Ala. (AP) — Ex-banker Royall Reynolds, whose disappearance last March brought sleepy Clio, Ala., awake with a start, goes on trial today on embezzlement charges.

Reynolds' disappearance tied up funds in the now-defunct unchartered Merchant's Money Exchange at the critical spring planting period. He returned two weeks later. An audit showed a $75,000 deficit in the bank's funds.

A citizens' committee agreed to accept a settlement under which depositors would get back all except about 10 to 15 per cent of their money. Reynolds liquidated all his personal holdings and his relatives chipped in to make up all except about $9,000 of the deficit.

Lady Senator Draws Whistle From Gallery

WASHINGTON (AP)—A gallery spectator whistled at a senator last night. He got away with it, although Senate rules forbid audible demonstrations.

The senator was Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me), who showed up in an evening gown, with a scarf draped about her neck. The whistler, a spectator in the gallery, was neither identified nor ejected.

Mrs. Smith was one of four senators who showed up in evening clothes at last night's session. All had been guests at a White House dinner for South Korean President Syngman Rhee.
