H-Bomb Fired in Nevada Packs Biggest Wallop Yet

WINNING SMILE — Nine-pound David Sutherland was born in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Monday the same day his father, above, was presented $8,333 in checks for suggestions made at Pontiac Motor Division. Mrs. Sutherland, whose timing made everyone (but David) smile, may get a new home with the help of the money.

Oh, Boy, What a Day!

Monday his boss hands him two checks totaling $8,333. The same day his wife presents him with another son.

"How lucky can one guy get?" smiled Edward D. Sutherland, the 24-year-old Pontiac Motor Division clerical worker who hit the jackpot this week both at the office and at home.

When he accepted the checks from E. M. Estes, Pontiac Motors general manager, Sutherland was picking up the largest award ever made in one day to a General Motors employe during the whole 20 years of the GM suggestion plan.

The maximum award for a suggestion is $5,000. Sutherland hit the bell with a suggestion pertaining to improvements in the manufacture of the outside mirror remote control lever on the Pontiac.

Then he picked up a $1,333 check for a similar suggestion on the Tempest.

The $5,000 award is the first made at Pontiac Motor in more than a year. Its the first in General Motors under the recently-concluded 20th anniversary drive of the suggestion program.

Sutherland, a 1955 graduate of St. Michael's High School, has submitted eight suggestions in his six years with the division. He never scored before.

A resident of 34 E. Strathmore Ave., Sutherland has two other sons at home, 2½-year-old twins Gary and Gregg.

The newest addition to the Sutherland family weighed in at nine pounds when he arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

What are Sutherland's plans for the money?

Put it aside to help buy a new home.

HITS JACKPOT — Edward D. Sutherland, 24, a clerical employe in the Pontiac Motor Division engineering department, is shown receiving $8,333 from E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac, for two suggestions he submitted recently under the GM Suggestion Award Plan.

Explosive Rio Quieted After Mob Violence

7 Dead, 600 Hurt as Workers Protest Govt. Action With Strike

From Our News Wires

RIO DE JANEIRO — Police and soldiers backed by tanks kept order today in the Rio de Janeiro area, where mob violence set off by a government political crisis brought death and destruction yesterday.

Authorities here set the death toll at seven and the injured at 600 in the rioting, shooting, looting and fighting that swept four Rio suburbs. Of those injured, 100 were reported in serious condition. Earlier, Elmo Braga Miranda, police chief of Sao Joao do Meriti Township, said 40 were killed and 1,000 injured in the riots.

The city and its surrounding areas were absolutely quiet today, with police and about 1,000 soldiers in firm control.

The government sent in tanks, troops and police reinforcements to restore order. Merchants guarded their shops with guns, clubs and iron bars.

★ ★ ★

Braga Miranda said at least 500 persons had been hospitalized. He estimated damage in the four towns of Caxias, Sao Joao do Meriti, Nova Iguacu and Nilopolis at more than $2 million.

RESENTED STRIKE

The rioting and looting by an estimated 5,000 persons was set off by resentment against a general strike called by labor unions in support of President Joao Goulart in his struggle to retain power against strong congressional opposition.

Angered, the workers marched on one store shouting "we want food." A guard drew a pistol and fired two shots, hitting a child, a witness reported. The mob became enraged, beat the guard to death, stripped the store and burned it.

Then the mob moved on down the main street with clubs and axes. Snipers fired pistols, the witness said. Police and shopkeepers fought the mob for several hours as shop after shop was sacked.

Gov. Celso Pecanha called for the federal troops, and Rio Police Chief Nilton Cruz issued a stern warning against any plundering in this city.

DEMAND ACTION

Congressional deputies demanded federal action. Guanabara State Gov. Carlos Lacerda denounced the strike in a telegram to Goulart. He called it "illegal and subversive, commanded by Communist elements which are clearly outlawed."

★ ★ ★

The violence only served to aggravate the political struggle for power. Goulart's opponents accused the president and his labor ite and leftist followers of trying to intimidate them.

"To force congress to give more powers to the president they mobilized suspicious newspapers and radio stations, they defame and plot against congress, they pressure us through union leaders who use strikes and agitation to intimidate us," said Deputy Herbert Levy, president of the National Democratic Union party and a leader of the opposition.

Ex-Oklahoma Officials Admit Receiving Money From Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two former McIntosh, Okla., County Agriculture Department employes admitted today taking money from Billie Sol Estes to help shift cotton allotments from Oklahoma to Texas.

Grim-faced, speaking in hushed tones, Louis N. Duman and Arthur Daniel Stone verified previous testimony that they had been paid $1,640.80 by an agent of Estes.

Both men have resigned, effective Monday, said their attorney, George Norris Jr. The two, employed in the Eufala, Okla., office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, were hired by their county committee, but were on the federal payroll.

A hush hung over the Senate caucus room as Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., asked Dumas if testimony by a former Estes land agent, Purnell E. Biggerstaff, was correct.

★ ★ ★

"That's right, sir," replied Dumas.

"What did you do with the money," asked McClellan.

"I gave half of it to Mr. Stone," said Dumas.

'GAVE INFORMATION'

"We gave him (Biggerstaff) the information that we thought was permissible to give to the public."

"Did you get your share of the money?" McClellan asked Stone.

"Yes sir," said Stone.

They appeared after Alphonse Calabrese, a subcommittee staff aide, testified they had denied receiving the payments but "we have information that they did receive it."

The subcommittee turned to a new phase of its investigation of the Texas financier today after hearing three days of testimony from Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. That ended Thursday with Freeman and Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., each accusing the other of playing politics in the inquiry.

★ ★ ★

Through arrangements with cotton farmers whose lands had been taken for government projects, Estes acquired more than 3,000 acres of cotton allotments. The Agriculture Department has since declared the transfers illegal.

★ ★ ★

Biggerstaff told the subcommittee that Dumas had expected $5 an acre for each acre of cotton allotments in the county transferred to Estes, and that Stone knew this.

Calabrese testified that Estes acquired cotton growing allotments for 298.1 acres in McIntosh County and that the amount reflected in the Estes books worked out to $1,640.50 at a rate of $5 an acre.

★ ★ ★

The Freeman-Mundt word battle ranged over many things.

Mundt blamed Freeman for a resolution he said had been proposed in the South Dakota Democratic State Convention urging Freeman, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the subcommittee to "reveal any correlation between Mundt's campaign contributors and grain storage allocations, and any relationship to the Billie Sol Estes case."

★ ★ ★

Mundt challenged the secretary to produce any evidence to back up what Mundt called such Democratic efforts to link his name with "Estes and improper influence."

"In midwestern language we can both understand, put up or shut up," Mundt told Freeman. "If you have evidence produce it."

Famed Author Dies in His Dixie

William Faulkner, 64, Expires in Mississippi; Held Nobel Prize

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Nobel Prize-winning author William Faulkner, who made the fictional Mississippi county of Yoknapatawpha known through the world, died today.

Death came to the 64-year-old author at a hospital in Oxford. He returned here some weeks ago from the University of Virginia where he had spent much of his recent years as a lecturer in American literature.

★ ★ ★

Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Relatives said Faulkner died about 2 a.m. today, shortly after being admitted to a hospital.

The gentle, small-statured Faulkner won the Nobel literary prize in 1950.

His sister, Dorothy Oldham, was with him when he died.

Faulkner's daughter, Mrs. Paul D. Summers Jr., of Charlottesville, Va., was flying here for the funeral, scheduled Saturday.

Faulkner's wife died last year.

The superlative storyteller always considered himself a professional farmer rather than a writer. He operated a 300-acre farm near this university town.

He wrote a series of interconnected novels and short stories dealing with the life, people and history of the fictional Yoknapatawpha County.

His latest novel, "The Reivers," was published only a short time ago and appears to be headed for the best-seller lists.

Burglar to Wife: Here, Honeybun—Have a Hot Hippo

A thief with artistic tastes was being sought by sheriff's detectives today.

He stole a 50-pound, carved marble hippopotamus valued at $300 from a sculptor's cabin in Avon Township yesterday.

The loss was reported by the sculptor, Thomas Brun of Detroit, who works in his cabin at 1036 Leonard Lane.

Also missing from the cabin, he said, were a pair of binoculars worth $25, an hourglass valued at $20, a stack of records, two axes and all the food from the refrigerator.

Announced Use Underground a 1st for U.S.

100-Kiloton Blast Tops Nation's Record; Site Still Off Limits

CAMP MERCURY, Nev. (AP)—A mighty underground blast — most powerful set off in the United States and the first announced use here of an H-bomb type device — shattered the desert calm today.

It was expected to kick up a towering column of dirt and dust, leaving a crater a third of a mile wide and 300 feet deep, but as the test site was closed to unofficial observers there was no immediate word on how it appeared.

The 100-kiloton device packed the wallop of 100,000 tons of TNT.

The previous most powerful shot here was 74.5 kilotons fired from a balloon in 1957. Today's shot was fired 650 feet under the surface of nearby Yucca Flat at the Nevada nuclear test site 65 miles north of Las Vegas.

Its purpose was to explore the possibilities of nuclear energy for large-scale earth moving for peaceful purposes such as dams and canals. All previous tests here have been for weapons development.

PROJECT SEDAN

The explosion, dubbed Project Sedan, marked the first time the Atomic Energy Commission has disclosed the nuclear composition of a shot here.

Previous tests have been presumed to be of the conventional fission type material, which uses uranium as the source material.

H-bombs employ a process known as fusion, and heavy hydrogen is the source material. H-bomb type explosions are cleaner, in that they have less radioactive fallout. A substantial part of their radioactivity comes from fission type explosives used to trigger the fusion process.

★ ★ ★

The shot also was the first to be announced in advance since testing resumed here last September, after a moratorium since 1958. There have been 41 announced underground tests in Nevada since the resumption.

Aerial testing is set to resume Saturday with the detonation of a low-power device just a few feet above ground. It will be the first above-ground test since Oct. 30, 1958.

Taxi Space Cut to Figure in Last Study, Says City

Taxes and taxis have their ups and downs and both can create headaches for city officials.

An upward swing in taxes took its toll in migraines earlier this year.

But complaints about a downward trend in taxicab stands are presently producing cranial cramps in Pontiac.

In the past month, there has been a reduction of three taxicab stands and 18 cab spaces in the downtown area.

In answer to the mounting complaints, David S. Teel, assistant city manager, said there has been no cutback in taxicab stands because of city action.

Although the city and cab companies have cooperated in a decrease of cab spaces on downtown streets, the reduction in cab locations is due entirely to the fact that one cab company has gone out of business, Teel explained.

"There's nothing we can do about a company going bankrupt," he said.

The Barton Traffic Study, sponsored for the city by a group of downtown business leaders in June, 1960, recommended a reduction of cab stands and spaces.

The problem has been under study since then in an effort to find the best way to do this without substantially hurting the companies or service to citizens.

The license year for cabs and spaces begins June 1. At that time, City Manager Robert A. Sterer, Teel and owners of cab companies held a series of meetings to discuss the cutback.

Presently operating in the city are Yellow Cab Co. and Oakland Cab Co. A third company will begin operating soon.

Pontiac Cab Co. had declared bankruptcy before June 1.

Based on the study, it was agreed the space assignments would be based on a ratio of four cabs to one space.

The operating companies lost nine spaces. Yellow Cab was reduced from 14 to eight and Oakland Cab from six to three spaces.

The new company will have three spaces in three stands.

"Since that time a number of cab drivers in the city have been $631,812 Auditorium

Start Service Center Building

Construction of the $631,812 auditorium at the Oakland County Service Center began today without ceremony.

A single steam shovel was moved onto the job of digging a round foundation hole 130 feet in diameter, just south of the new courthouse wing still under construction.

The 4,500 square-foot, hexagonal auditorium, with a 327-seat capacity, is scheduled for completion early next spring.

It will serve as the regular meeting place of the County Board of Supervisors and be used as a public meeting place for other purposes.

★ ★ ★

These will include circuit court sessions when a large crowd is anticipated, hearings by governmental agencies such as the State Highway Department and political party conventions, county officials said.

TO NAME HALL

Luther Heacock, chairman of the county board's buildings and grounds committee, said he would move at the next meeting of the board that the auditorium be officially named the Service Center Auditorium.

Until now it has been generally known as the supervisors' auditorium, since its primary function is to serve them as meeting place.

★ ★ ★

Board Chairman Delos Hamlin said members felt that a ground-breaking ceremony for the auditorium would be unnecessary.

When completed, the auditorium will be connected to the new courthouse wing by an additional wing measuring 40 by 30 feet. The connecting wing will

$36 Million, 60 Stories

Plan Detroit Skyscraper

From Our News Wires

DETROIT — Showing strong faith in downtown areas, a Chicago firm has announced plans to build a $36-million 60-story apartment motel on the downtown Detroit waterfront, near Cobo Hall.

Marina City Management Co. of Chicago said plans called for a structure of three towers, two of which would contain 500 residential apartments each. The third would be a 300-unit motel.

Dwight Hamborsky, Detroit regional director of the Federal Housing Administration, said there have been preliminary conferences with the architect.

Marina management said it has taken an option on 14 acres of New York Central Railway property along the Detroit River front.

In 1959 a Detroit real estate group announced plans for a $100 million luxury apartment and merchandise mart development in the same area but the project failed to materialize.

Surrounding the buildings would be a nine-hole par 3 golf course; swimming pool and bicycle track. A moving sidewalk would carry residents and visitors to the buildings.

According to reports, preliminary work on the Detroit project will begin in August with ground breaking due a year later.

An elevated roadway would spiral around all three of the towers. Other features would include tennis courts, an ice skating rink and a fly casting pool.

New Panic Sweeping Oran

Europeans Run From Gunfire

Report Has 100 Dead in Yesterday's Battling; Clamp On Curfew

ALGIERS (AP)—The beleaguered Algerian nationalist government announced today an invasion of its territory by Moroccan troops. A spokesman for the regime of Premier Youssef Ben Khedda said green-bereted royal Moroccan infantrymen occupied the post of SAF-SAF, 10 miles inside Algerian territory.

ALGIERS (AP)—Shooting broke out again in Oran today and panic swept the European section. Authorities promptly clamped on a curfew to prevent a renewal of Thursday's Moslem-European bloodbath which cast a pall in independence festivities of this infant nation.

* * *

A new estimate placed the toll in Thursday's conflict at more than 100 dead.

There were no immediate reports of casualties in today's shooting.

* * *

Europeans ran for cover from shouting Moslems apparently pursuing a man they described as a Secret Army Organization terrorist. There was no reply to the Moslem gunfire and it died down quickly.

The tense situation in Oran overshadowed for the moment political efforts to heal a breach between rival Moslem factions contending for the leadership of the nation. Algeria's delegate to the Arab League was flying in from Cairo for a mediation attempt.

* * *

The Nationalist information minister, in an apparent effort to bolster the prestige of the provisional government of Premier Youssef Ben Khedda, called today for prompt U.S. recognition of the regime.

The United States has welcomed Algerian independence, but made no formal recognition of any government, apparently moving cautiously in establishing normal diplomatic relations. Step-by-step setting up of diplomatic contacts would provide an opportunity to see how the split between Ben Khedda and Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, a radical leftist, will effect the transition from the present regime to a permanent one.

The information minister, Mohammed Yazid, blamed Thursday's violent battle in Oran, former stronghold of the secret army, on diehard "Fascists" who refused to go along with the abandonment of the terrorist struggle against Moslem rule.

A French source, who declined to be identified, said the dead in Thursday's affray totaled more than 100. Other informants placed the figure at nearly 100. Earlier estimates gave a casualty toll of approximately 60 dead and more than 100 wounded.

There was no clear explanation in Oran on how the shooting started. In Paris, sources said they received reports from Oran that the fight began when a group of Moslems went to the roof of a European apartment building to hoist an Algerian flag.

Waterford Twp. Enjoys Summer

Fun Program Off to Big Start

Summer recreation activities sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department are well under way with the exception of the day camp which opens Monday.

The swimming program which was launched this week at five area lakes was hampered by inclement weather Monday and Tuesday but weather conditions have been ideal since then.

Swimming instructions are available at all swim sites for youngsters 7 to 18. Qualified instructors are conducting the program and life guards are on duty at all times.

The lakes being utilized by the recreation department include Lake Oakland, Williams, Watkins, Lotus and Elizabeth lakes.

Two swimming days each week are scheduled at each of the lakes.

* * *

Tennis instruction for beginners and intermediates is also in progress. Courts at Waterford Township High School are being utilized for the tennis program.

Players in the 9 to 11 group may play Mondays and Wednesdays 9 to 10:30 a.m. or Tuesdays and Thursdays 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Tennis players age 12 to 14 take to the courts Mondays and Wednesdays 10:30 a.m. to noon or Tuesdays and Thursdays noon to 1:30 p.m.

ON 13 PLAYGROUNDS

The playground program is being conducted at 13 elementary school playgrounds this year for youngsters age 6 to 14. The only cost to participants is for arts and crafts materials.

Baseball, boys' and girls' softball and bisoperball leagues have been plenty of action already and basketball instruction for junior and senior high school boys got under way Monday.

Basketball clinics for fifth- and sixth-grade boys also are planned.

The first of these will be held July 18 at St. Benedict's outdoor court.

* * *

A second clinic is slated for July 25 at the Waterford Township High School outdoor court. The final clinic will be held Aug. 1 in the Kettering High School gymnasium.

* * *

All clinics are scheduled for 7 p.m.

Camp Tomahawk will open Monday with pupils from Adams, Cooley, Grayson and McVittie elementary schools attending the first week.

The camp, located in the Highland Recreation Area, is for youngsters 8 to 14 and it features such activities as nature study, woodcraft and fire building.

Children must enroll in the day camp during the week scheduled for their particular school.

Details on the camp or any phase of the summer recreation program may be obtained by calling the recreation department.

City Explains Taxi Space

circulating petitions regarding the assignment of cab spaces and encouraging their customers to register complaints," Teel said.

"With modern radio dispatch equipment these changes should have brought no reduction in the level of service to Pontiac citizens.

"Both taxicab company managers (Yellow and Oakland) were in agreement at the time of our meetings that these changes would not result in a reduction in service.

"Likewise, last week, both managers indicated they felt no hardship because of the reallocation of spaces."

City officials feel a major portion of the dissatisfaction comes as a result of the Pontiac Cab Co. going bankrupt.

The owners had been negotiating sale of the company with two prospective buyers before declaring bankruptcy. One of the interested buyers was Yellow Cab Co.

Pontiac Cab had eight licensed cabs, according to records in the city clerk's office, and nine spaces in three stands.

When it went bankrupt, the City Commission passed a resolution prohibiting the cab and space licenses to be renewed until court determination of the bankruptcy petition was settled.

Stierer explained that the city has complete control over issuance of cab and space licenses and, in the case of Pontiac Cab, as of June 1 there was no existing company to issue them to anyway.

WANTS THE SPACES

The determination, handed down this week, turned all assets of the now defunct company over to Yellow Cab Co., which now wants Pontiac's nine spaces, according to city officials.

"When Pontiac went out of business, we converted their spaces into more metered parking spaces downtown, or prohibited parking where traffic problems had existed," Stierer said today.

"The city merely followed recommendations of traffic experts in the Barton report."

He also pointed out that due to its going bankrupt, Pontiac Cab never had the 4 to 1-ratio applied to its space assignments. If this were done, the nine spaces would have been cut to two.

The Commission may assign several new spaces to Yellow Cab, but it is doubtful any more stands will be added to existing cab companies.

Officials point out that when the new company, owned by Louis Lineau of Pontiac, begins operation with its three stands, the total number of cab stands in Pontiac will be the same as before Pontiac Cab Co. dissolved.

Detroit Brunch Not on His Menu, Says President

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Democrats spoke softly today at their headquarters here about the man who wouldn't come to "brunch."

The man was President John F. Kennedy. The brunch was the biggest Democratic snafu of the year.

The Democrats carefully laid plans late in June for a fall appearance of President Kennedy aimed at bolstering the party bulwarks in the November general election.

Hopefully the Democrats began making plans for a $1,000 a plate, brunch which 40 state businessmen would attend and meet the President.

The money would have been used to finance the Democratic Congressional campaign.

The only catch was that no one apparently told the President. At his news conference yesterday Kennedy said he had not heard of plans for him to attend such a luncheon. If he were invited, the President said, he did not think he would be able to attend.

State Democarts, suffering from a slight case of indigestion, prepared a carefully worded statement.

47,498 Pontiacs, Tempests Sold During June

Pontiac dealers sold 47,498 Pontiacs and Tempests during June, it was announced today by E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac.

June sales — best since record-breaking 1955 — were 45 per cent ahead of last year.

Total for the final 10-day sales period in June was 17,276, an increase of 38 per cent over the 12,526 units sold in the same period a year ago.

Since the 1962 models first went on sale last September, 416,286 Pontiacs and Tempests have been sold. This is 65,104 more than were sold during the entire 1961 model run.

Awaits Trial for Abortion; Sentenced on 2nd Charge

A Bloomfield Township doctor awaiting trial on a charge of conspiracy to commit criminal abortion was sentenced Thursday to serve 2 to 10 years in prison for conviction on another charge.

Dr. Hugh H. Miley, 60 of 2720 Pandleton Road, was sentenced by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Gerald W. Gent for illegally prescribing a narcotic.

Dr. Miley, who operates an office in Detroit, was convicted after a Narcotics Bureau plainclothesman said he bought a prescription of an opium derivative from Dr. Miley without an examination or inquiry to determine need for the drug.

The officer said the prescription for 50 tablets cost $10.

Trial on the abortion charge is pending in Recorder's Court against Dr. Miley and a woman assistant for allegedly operating on two women in Detroit.

Dr. Miley was convicted of abortion in 1955. He was fined and his license was suspended for nine months.

JAMES M. McNEELY

Dems Establish County Position

J. M. McNeely, Milford, to Aid Sander Levin, Oakland Chairman

A former state legislative candidate from Milford was named today to a newlycreated top-level administrative post in the Oakland County Democratic Committee.

* * *

James M. McNeely, 32, defeated in the 1960 race for 3rd District representative by Henry Hogan Jr., will bolster the Democrat's county forces in this year's election campaign as executive assistant to county chairman Sander Levin.

McNeely's appointment follows several months of fund-raising during which Democrats aimed at collecting $10,000 to cover salary and expenses of the new full-time staff members. The party said its goal was achieved.

Until his appointment, McNeely, 1066 Prince St., Milford, was a special education teacher in the Farmington school system for seven years.

* * *

In his new post, McNeely will run party business throughout the county, coordinating membership and fund-raising drives and numerous other activities.

Democrats have never before had this county position. Republicans established a comparable post of executive secretary in 1957.

Save Boys' Lives With Help of Old Record

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A 12-year-old prescription record in Akron, Ohio, helped Phoenix doctors save the lives of two small boys.

Edward Barbee, 5, and his 4-year-old brother, Timmy, were rushed to a hospital after they began stumbling and falling. Doctors suspected the boys had taken some kind of medicine, but could not determine what it was.

Finally, Edward admitted they had eaten pills from a bottle found in a neighbor's tool shed. The mother, Mrs. George Barbee, tracked down the bottle.

It carried the name of an Akron drug store. A quick telephone call contained a hypnotic barbiturate.

With that information the doctors treated the boys for barbiturate poisoning.

The Day in Birmingham

Ex-Canterbury Prelate to Preach at St. James

BIRMINGHAM—The Most Rev. Geoffrey F. Fisher, retired archbishop of Canterbury, will visit Birmingham this fall to preach at St. James Episcopal Church.

Dr. Fisher will speak at the 9:15 a.m. service Oct. 21.

It was Dr. Fisher who officiated at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II and was the first archbishop of Canterbury to call upon a Catholic Pope in more than 400 years.

He visited Pope John XXIII in 1960.

A year later, when he retired, Dr. Fisher was elevated to the British peerage by the queen.

The 75-year-old spiritual leader will speak at the laying of the cornerstone of the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection in Ecorse and St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, during his U.S. visit.

He will speak four evenings, Oct. 22-25, at the annual McMath lecture series at the Episcopal Diocesan Center, Detroit.

Birmingham's welcome wagon—loaded with the traditional invitations and introductory offers from local merchants — will carry a new product: education.

It comes in the form of a simple mimeographed invitation from the Continuing Education Division of Michigan State University Oakland.

The letter lists a variety of study areas in daytime and evening noncredit courses for adults, "only 20 minutes from Birmingham."

The fields include liberal arts, fine and creative arts, languages, business and professional development, science and mathematics, public administration and applied and special skills.

5 Rail Unions Reject Offer

Government Bid to Arbitrate Deadlocked Dispute Is Refused

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The heads of five railroad unions rejected today a government offer to arbitrate the deadlocked dispute over the number of men to operate the nation's trains.

* * *

The head of the five unions, representing some 200,000 on-train employes, sent a letter to the National Mediation Board saying the unions did not think all areas had been fully explored in negotiations in Chicago two weeks ago, and said the board's offer of arbitration was premature. The railroads walked out of the talks in Chicago, saying further negotiations were useless.

* * *

The railroads have demanded changes to eliminate alleged featherbedding by eliminating jobs they say are not necessary.

Despite the action of the operating unions, there was no immediate threat of a strike. There is a 30-day cooling off period before the unions legally can strike.

COULD DELAY STRIKE

President Kennedy could delay a walkout by another 60 days by naming an emergency board to recommend a settlement.

* * *

A presidential commission previously recommended a settlement involving elimination of 40,000 freight train firemen and broad leeway for the railroads to make other manpower economies.

* * *

The railroads last week accepted the government proposal to arbitrate the dispute, but acceptance of both sides is needed.

* * *

Both sides have been negotiating for several months. The railroads proposed in November 1959 changing work rules that had not undergone complete revision in 40 years. Gradual changes in work rules have been made by individual carriers, however.

Hospital's 1st '62 Model Doing Fine

Cindy Lou Walker, first baby born in the Pontiac area in 1962, has reached the six month milestone and is progressing nicely, despite the measles last month.

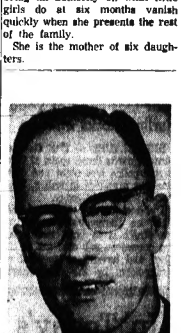
The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merril R. Walker, 940 S. Cass Lake Rd., Waterford Township, Cindy Lou now tips the scales at 14 pounds, a little more than double her weight of 6 lbs.-8 oz. at birth.

Cindy Lou was born January 1 at 12:25 a. m. in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Her closest competitor arrived on the scene at 2:31 a. m. at Pontiac General Hospital.

"She's getting along fine," said her mother. "She tries to sit up and crawl like all little girls do at six months."

Any doubts about Mrs. Walker being an authority on what little girls do at six months vanish quickly when she presents the rest of the family.

She is the mother of six daughters.



WILLIAM H. ANDERSON

School Board Elects Anderson President

William H. Anderson, who has served on the Pontiac Board of Education since 1957, last night was elected president of the board.

Anderson, owner of the Columbia Nonferrous Foundry, 145 Columbia St., succeeds Dr. Walter L. Godsell, Pontiac chiropractor, who served as president the last year and in June was re-elected to the board.

The election was held by board members at the school group's annual organizational meeting and banquet at Rotunda Inn.

Named vice president was the Rev. Dr. J. Allen Parker, board member, who last year had served as secretary. The new secretary is Glenn H. Griffin, board member.

The administration's director of financial management, Vernon L. Schiller, was reappointed as board treasurer. Schiller is not a member of the board.

Votes to Institute Lobbyist Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted today to institute a full-scale, year-long investigation into efforts by lobbyists for foreign governments to "influence United States policies."

The inquiry would take in — but also go beyond — the ground to be covered in a judiciary subcommittee study of the efforts of foreign agents in connection with this year's sugar legislation.

Congressional figures indicate sugar lobbyists were paid more than $500,000 by their foreign government clients, and President Kennedy called their activities unfortunate at his news conference yesterday.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark., of the foreign relations committee said that in addition to the sugar bill operations the new study would go into attempts to pressure Congress into increased foreign aid allotments and other activities by nondiplomatic personnel.

APPROVES RESOLUTION

By voice vote the committee unanimously approved a resolution by Fulbright calling for expenditure of up to $50,000 for the investigation.

Approval by the Senate itself would be required.

The more narrowly aimed judiciary investigation was announced yesterday.

The investigation is expected to start in a few days and will be headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. He was designated by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which handles legislation dealing with registration of foreign agents.

QUOTA ISSUE HOT

Allocation of foreign quotas was a hotly contested issue as the complicated sugar bill made its way through Congress. The compromise that finally passed the Senate and House and awaits Kennedy's signature includes specific quotas for 24 foreign countries.

* * *

The Senate Finance Committee has developed data that some lobbyists got up to $50,000 a year and fees as high as 50 cents a ton for the quotas they obtained for their foreign government clients.

* * *

Committee members did not contend there was anything illegal about the lobbying. Under the law, persons acting in behalf of foreign interests must register with the Department of Justice.

JFK COMMENTS

Asked at his news conference Thursday about the sugar lobbyists, Kennedy commented: "I think it is an unfortunate situation when men are paid large fees by foreign governments to secure quotas, and where, in some cases, there are contingency fees. For every ton of sugar they get allocated to their country they secure a payment of so much."

So We're Stuck With—Eat Less

Find Massage Only Slims Down the Wallet

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Americans spend more than $100 million a year on preparations they hope will make them thinner. And the only thing these preparations slim down is their wallet.

What is worse, a test of that costly but glorious reducing technique—the massage—indicates it, too, is worthless.

A New [illegible] massaged a number of his patients for six weeks, to see if he could reduce them in "spots."

Twice a week he massaged one arm and one leg of each patient. Without diet, the measurements showed no decrease.

Then he put the patients on a diet, and they showed an over-all loss of inches. But the unmassaged limbs lost exactly the same number of inches as the massaged ones. What a disappointment to massage-lovers.

It proves, without question, that the best things in life are ineffective.

It is a shame that, with all its advances, science has not come out with an electronic device to disintegrate some of the weight that age lathers onto a woman while she's sitting there not looking.

* * *

Or that medicine can't come up with a pill to shrink avoirdupois no oftener than four hours. Or that fashion can't come up with an edict which says, "It is smarter to look plumper."

But they can't. Science is too busy racing the Russians; medicine is too busy fighting virus; and fashion is too busy convincing women they should look like sticks.

(And why do the high-stylists want a woman to look like sticks instead of what—even knows? Somebody up there hates us.)

So we are stuck with that hideous prescription: Eat less.

Which you get by calling on that equally odious term: Will power.

But if dieting must be done, be reassured that it is not likely—in spite of sad old beliefs—to make you depressed and anxious.

Two psychiatrists, Dr. William Shipman and Marvin Piesset, of the University of Pittsburgh, studied 151 dieting patients. They discovered that among those who successfully lost weight during dieting, both anxiety and depression tended to diminish.

And long-term dieters (those who refused to give up when weight loss didn't come in a hurry)—became markedly calmer after extended dieting.

What is more remarkable—they became calmer even when they did not succeed in dropping much weight!

* * *

Just ran across some notes from an old interview I had with Richard Burton. He was talking about the bomb—the atomic kind, not the small blast he caused with Liz.

"I've been living in Geneva and talking to people who know more than I do," he said. "And I fancy we've got about 10 years before the big war."

"The War where America and Russia join hands to tackle the Chinese," he said grimly.

Burton is famous for his quick diversions. He backed up this reputation by telling me the was appearing on Broadway at the time in "Camelot") that he would quit the cast as soon as his contract allowed.

"After about six months, with me the tedium sets in. I get so bored that I find I'm going through a whole performance without remembering what the show's about. And if by some horrible chance I remember what the play's about in the middle of the performance, I dry up and forget the lines."

Haven't heard much about Burton and friend lately.

It's been about six months? Maybe he's dried up and forgotten.

India Sends Food Ships to Victims of Floods

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — India has diverted two ships loaded with foodstuffs to Chittagong to help flood victims in East Pakistan, an Indian High Commission spokesman said yesterday. The ships were en route from the United States to Madras. The Chittagong area has been flooded by heavy rains, hundreds are homeless, and several are believed to have lost their lives.

Senate Appropriations Committee Wants U. S. Check for Waste

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee has directed the Welfare Children relief program over the nation.

* * *

The committee said that, if a District of Columbia sample should hold true for the nation as a whole, waste in the program might run into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

The directive was in the committee's report on a $3.5—billion money bill carrying funds for the welfare and labor departments for the fiscal year which began last Sunday.

Included in the measure is $750 million in grants to the states for the ADC program, one of four categories of public assistance.

* * *

The report pointed out that, in a recent 5 per cent sample of ADC cases in Washington, 66 per cent of the recipients were found to be ineligible.

"This, in the committee's opinion, constitutes a shocking waste of federal and local funds," the report said.

It went on to state that "the committee will expect the department to make an all-out effort to carefully review eligibility under the ADC program throughout the country."

'Big Spenders' Hit by GOP Candidate

"Big Spenders" in state government have been blamed by Richard Kuhn for much of Michigan's financial misery.

Kuhn, a Republican for state senator from Oakland County, told the Waterford Optimist Club "big spenders" were on the move at the constitutional convention trying to raise pay for state legislators.

"We at the convention fought this," Kuhn said, "because the legislators should set their own salaries so that they would have to answer to the people, although some of the delegates felt that the legislators would not have the nerve to raise their pay at times like these.

"I said at the time that they would have the nerve and subsequent events have proven me correct."

Doctors in the House

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A guest at a Louisville hotel suffered a pain in the stomach recently and called the desk to ask if there was a doctor in the house. "Anyone in particular?" the clerk asked. "We have about 500 physicians here at the moment." He summoned one from the convention hall to take care of the ailing man.

Travelers Get Cramp (No Tan) Writing Cards

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Marco Polo, Christopher Columbus and Daniel Boone had one thing in common.

None of them had to send back post cards from their travels saying: "Having wonderful time. Sure wish you were here."

That was a tremendous advantage. It left their minds free to enjoy their journeys.

★ ★ ★

The post card today has become America's most widespread art form. It outranks even the popularity of the credit card.

In some, the mere sight of a post card brings out the mute, inglorious Milton, the hidden Shakespeare. Their hands begin to shake when they see one. They are post card addicts.

WRITERS' CRAMP

They never really get to drink in the splendors of their travels. They are too busy writing from 20 to 30 post cards a day back home. They never come back with a tan from a trip to Florida or a Caribbean cruise—but they do have a fine case of writer's cramp.

Other travelers can take post cards or let them alone. And to still others of us writing postcards is a terrible ordeal. Our minds go blank at the task of inscribing a suitable message to dear old Aunt Martha—for our favorite elevator operator. We would almost rather spend our vacation at home than face these literary chores.

★ ★ ★

Post cards generally fall into four classes—the lyrical, the obligatory, the humorous and the practical.

★ ★ ★

The lyrical writer is a frustrated author. Whatever he sees, he is stunned by the wonder of it all. He feels a compulsion to record his impressions in 1,000 words of lush prose so crowded you have to read it through a magnifying glass.

★ ★ ★

That is in itself a nuisance, but the worst trouble with getting lyrical post cards is that when you have read one amateur description of Niagara Falls or the Grand Canyon, you've read 'em all.

★ ★ ★

The obligatory post card is written through a transparent sense of duty. It usually says something immortal, such as:

"Hi, there folks! See you in two weeks."

The humorous post card demonstrates the forced labor of remembrance. It often shows a picture in color of a snake den or a cage of monkeys. On the back is waggishly inscribed:

★ ★ ★

"How's the old office gang? Everybody up to the same old tricks?"

The practical post card gets down to the bare essentials. It has a photo of a motel and a terse, hurriedly scribbled message, such as:

★ ★ ★

"Had one flat tire so far. Made 650 miles today. Should make 675 tomorrow with luck."

There is a fifth type of post card which is the most disheartening of all to get. It announces: "Lost my wallet with all my dough and identification. Stuck here. Please wire me $200 soonest. The kids and wife join me in sending you our deepest love."

WOMEN BEST

Women are usually best at writing post cards. Some families divide the work. The husband tells his wife, "Honey, you write 'em—and I'll lick the stamps. That's fair, isn't it?"

But if no member of your family is very creative, there's an even simpler way to solve the problem. When you go on a trip, you take along the post cards your friends sent you on their last vacation. Then you simply copy down the messages they sent you, and mail them back on new post cards.

It works like a charm. They never know the difference—and will be thrilled that you took the time out from your own fun to remember them.

Backs Denial of Bid to Abandon Track

LANSING (AP) — A federal hearing examiner has recommended denial of the application of the New York Central Railroad to abandon a 16-mile section of its line in Hillsdale and Lenawee counties, Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Kelley said the Interstate Commerce Commission informed him of the recommendation. The railroad has 30 days to appeal.

At issue was a segment of the Toledo-to-Elkhart, Ind., branch line, running between Osseo and Clayton, Mich.

The City of Hudson argued at an ICC hearing last March that abandonment would work a serious hardship on area customers of the railroad and damage the potential for economic growth.

★ ★ ★

Kelley contended the railroad had failed to show the move would cause any substantial financial loss.

The West Berlin equivalent of an American luncheon stand is called a schnell imbiss, literally, "quick bite."

AFL Chief Dares E. Reich to Open Red Wall 1 Month

BERLIN (UPI) — American labor leader George Meany challenged the East German Communists yesterday to open their Berlin antirefugee wall for one month.

"This proposal is practical, it will endanger no one." Meany said. "Who has any reason to fear the reunion of families or a breath of the fresh air of freedom for a trial period of one month?"

Syria May Re-Establish Relations With France

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Syria will consider re-establishing diplomatic relations with France soon, according to reliable sources here.

The two countries severed relations following the French-British-Israeli invasion of Suez in 1956. The sources said that the granting of Algerian independence has removed all obstacles to resuming Syria's ties with France, however.

U.S. Being Stupid on U.N. Voting Power

By SUSE MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — At a time when Western Europeans, realizing the folly of their nationalistic ways, are attempting political and economic union through the Common Market, the United Nations slogan for Africa seems to be, "The more the merrier."

* *

This week, besides Algeria, two more pathetic little nations were born.

Poverty-stricken and virtually barren of resources, skills and educated inhabitants, Rwanda and Burundi nevertheless split apart from each other and won separate independence from Belgium.

This brings to 28 the fantastic number of new nations carved from the body Africa and declared independent in the decade since 1951.

* * *

When the General Assembly meets this fall, the two feuding little countries will undoubtedly be voted into full membership, although each is approximately the size of one of our smaller states — Maryland.

Thenceforth they can out-vote us two-to-one if they so choose, because their ballots will count equally as much as our own, although we are the largest financial contributor to the United Nations, and they will probably be the smallest.

There is something incredibly silly about a system that hands an equal vote to each little untried tribe the moment that it declares itself free from protectorship.

Surely the sort of five-year trial period of limited U. N. membership would be in order for these fledglings while they learn about self-government.

"Burundi and Ruanda are totally unable to support themselves. To survive they must live on handouts from Belgium, the United States and others; yet they will have the voting power to bite the hand that feeds them, just as Ghana and some other recently freed nations have done to the free world.

The chief export of the two countries is coffee, and the per capita income of the 5.5-million inhabitants is only $4.86 a year.

Both nations are made up of only one tribe which shares a common language, but the people are split into three castes.

In Burundi the king and 15 per cent of the people belong to the Tutsi caste. The Mutwa pigmy caste is at the bottom of the political barrel, with the Hutu caste comprising the middle ground and sharing power with the Tutsis. In Ruanda the Hutus seized power from the Tutsis two years ago, killed thousands of them and drove 160,000 into exile.

PROMISES HELP

Until their freedom this week, Belgium had been contributing $8 million annually to the governmental budget, $9 million for economic development, and troop maintenance of $25 million a year.

New arrangements must now be worked out, although Belgium has agreed to continue some help.

The U. S. has been furnishing famine relief for the over-populated area through food-for-peace. Now that Burundi and Ruanda are free, it is expected that they will promptly apply to Washington for economic and military aid.

It is inevitable that we will acquiesce. It is also probable that the more they cross us in the United Nations, or court the Russians, the more money and equipment we will pour into their economy.

An African affairs spokesman at the State Department said there are "less than a hundred" college-trained inhabitants in the two new countries, but no one needs a university degree to discover that the easiest way to get money out of the U. S. is to kick us in the teeth.

With the addition of Burundi, Ruanda and Algeria, Africa will have 32 votes in the United Nations. North America, with a larger population, has only the three votes of the U. S., Canada and Mexico.

How can any organization succeed which so illogically stacks the votes against the founder nations?

* * *

It is time someone finds the answer to that question, because Uganda, Kenya, Northern Rhodesia, Nyassland and Southern Rhodesia will shortly be knocking for admission to the U. N., and some 20 other African nations are waiting to be born.

* * *

If the continent of Africa is eventually to have 55 votes, or even 32, and North America only three, we should have our heads examined. As a nation we obviously merit psychiatric treatment, and perhaps no vote at all.

New State Audit Group to Look for Ways to Save

LANSING (AP) — The legislature's first permanent audit commission is tuning up for a continuing program to see that state agencies spend their money the way lawmakers intended.

The commission, a carryover from a temporary House-Senate group, hired Jack L. McGregor as its auditor yesterday at $10,500 a year. From its $35,000 budget, it plans to hire two more auditors or accountants.

Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, commission chairman, said the budget is too small to finance an adequate program, but will get it started.

The commission, set up by a bill passed by the legislature this year, also will look for ways to save money in government operations and check over reports by the auditor general's office to see if changes in agency operations should be made.

ON DUPLICATION

"If we find duplication, we'll weed it out," said Green. "If we find waste or money that is being spent for unauthorized purposes, we'll take care of that, too.

"I think we have authority to move in any place where we have questions," he said.

Rep. William Romano, D-Warren, a committee member, suggested enlisting help from the Citizens Research Council, a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization which periodically surveys state government operations.

* * *

He also proposed a new study of the "Little Hoover Commission" report on state government reorganization more than 10 years ago.

* * *

The commission heard yesterday from representatives of Stevens, Jordan & Harrison, Inc., a New York management engineering and consulting firm, which proposed to help the commission with its job.

The commission also considered working with a new Senate interim committee, which was given a $25,000 appropriation to check into government spending programs.

Good City Management Encourages Industry

The return from the South of another industrial plant to our area is further evidence that many manufacturers have found that all that glittered was not gold, and the hoped-for advantages were more than offset by unforeseen disadvantages.

Bait to partake of the blessings of industrial Utopia usually consists of cheap labor, low or no taxes, or even subsidization of plant cost. But not infrequently, those who harkened to the siren's song and pulled up stakes became disillusioned and eventually set about retracing their steps.

We think that the most persuasive benefit that a city can offer prospective industry, and at the same time propitiate that already established, is stable, progressive city management with realistic fiscal policies and a tax rate reflecting them.

In short, offer the very essentials that have contributed to the success of the organization being wooed—with added inducements of residential compatibility, year-round recreational facilities and unsurpassed scholastic and cultural resources.

★ ★ ★

On all these points Pontiac can categorically give itself an A-plus. Its city manager form of government, watched over by a commission elected by the citizenry, has functioned efficiently and progressively, with the 11-year tenure of a just-retired city manager speaking for the continuity of the system.

Omitting Detroit, our tax rate is tenth lowest among the State's eleven largest cities; and the bonded indebtedness of $5.5 million is relatively inconsequential.

★ ★ ★

The multitude of golf courses, beaches, lakes and ski areas provides year-round pleasure and health insurance; the educational rating of our schools is of the highest; and the academic and cultural potential of MSUO is just beginning to have effect.

The area Chamber of Commerce is currently negotiating with a number of concerns considering locating here. To them we confidently extend the hand of welcome, knowing full well that our inducements are substantial and enduring.

Our Unions Would Give Comrade Marx a Jolt

Marx saw trade unions as "schools of communism" in which proletarians would be trained to exercise promised dictatorship. Lenin later noted that the development of the proletariat "did not, and could not, proceed anywhere in the world otherwise than through the trade unions, through their interaction with the party of the working class."

★ ★ ★

It is too bad that neither Marx nor Lenin is alive to contemplate the meeting of the seventh world congress of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, now meeting in West Berlin.

This anti-Communist confederation consists of 136 labor organizations in 106 nations with 56 million members in North and South America, Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and New Zealand. A 20-member delegation will represent the AFL-CIO from this country.

Marx and Lenin would be shocked to see working class leaders meeting in West Berlin in order to demonstrate their "solidarity with the persecuted peoples behind this wall and behind the Iron Curtain."

★ ★ ★

The two revolutionaries conceded, of course, that not all trade unions, at all times and in all countries, were good schools of communism. Lenin even penned a diatribe against certain Western trade unions, which he described as "craft union, narrow-minded, selfish, unfeeling, covetous, petty bourgeois, labor aristocracy, imperialistically-minded and bribed and corrupted by imperialism."

Certainly these men did not foresee the world trade union movement so strongly anti-Communist.

MAT Is Being Briefed on Towels Vs. Towels

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND

Not having lived in a house in a score of years, the MAT's having trouble reorienting himself to a domestic abode and the ground rules covering such establishments.

Take towels.

Living in a hotel, to him a towel was a towel. (Sounds like Gertrude Stein.) It was something you usually found four or five of fresh from the laundry in the bathroom each day. You never used one more than once, eventually wiped your shoes with it, and tossed it into a convenient corner.

But now I find that there are all ranks and grades and classes of towels, they can be used for days on end, that folding and rearranging over a towel bar is considered derigueur in bathroom proctocol, and that in wipe your shoes on one is automatically to degrade yourself to the position of Domestic Enemy No. 1.

But of all the towels that make their way in and out of bathrooms, the aristocrat, the most holy of holies, the Great Untouchable of them all is—the Guest Towel. This is usually an abbreviated bit of fabric, much given to undecipherable monograms, which makes its appearance usually in clusters of three, when people are "expected in." Where they are kept between such occasions only heaven and milady know. They are never laundered, because there has yet to live a man, woman or child crass enough even to think of touching his or her person with a guest towel.

During the time the guest towels are on display, the common or garden variety towels are relegated to obscurity. But immediately upon the departure of the guests, the guest towels vanish with Aladdin-like speed and once more the family towels are hanging dejectedly in their stead.

David Lawrence Wonders:

JFK's Talk Confuses Europeans

GENEVA—President Kennedy's address at Independence Hall on July 4 was a bit confusing to Europeans. They couldn't tell whether he was forecasting a United States of Europe along the lines of his own country or whether, despite a loose use of words, he was trying to indicate that Europe might well have a federation or alliance as each country retained its sovereignty.

LAWRENCE

Kennedy was on firm ground as he extolled the idea of independence and as he rejoiced in the recently intensified movement away from colonialism throughout the world.

★ ★ ★

He was logical, to, when he spoke of a declaration of "interdependence," for this concept means a "partnership" or strengthened alliance as between Europe and America.

The puzzlement developed, however, when Mr. Kennedy carried his analogy further, as he said:

His ANALOGY

"As apt and applicable as the Declaration of Independence is today, we would do well to honor the other historic document drafted in this hall, the Constitution of the United States.

★ ★ ★

"For it stressed not independence, but interdependence; not the individual liberty of one, but the indivisible liberty of all."

But has the Constitution—as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States in recent years—stressed the "independence" of the several states of the Union, or has it emphasized the dominance of and control of the states by the national government?

Among Europeans, moreover, this will be interpreted as a forecast by Mr. Kennedy that the "Common Market" organization is the beginning of something patterned after the American Union. For later on in the same speech, the President said:

★ ★ ★

"It would be premature at this time to do more than indicate the high regard with which we view the formation of this partnership. The first order of business is for our European friends to go forward in forming the more perfect union which will someday make this partnership possible.

"A great new edifice is not built overnight. It was 11 years from the Declaration of Independence to the writing of the Constitution. The construction of workable federal institutions required still another generation."

Is the President really predicting a United States of Europe with a constitution like that in America? Do the peoples of Europe today have any such idea in mind as they applaud, for economic purposes, the building of the "Common Market"?

★ ★ ★

Do the people of France or Britain, for example, intend respectively to give up their independence and sovereignty as the various states of the American Union have been forced to give these up through decision of the country's highest court?

★ ★ ★

Or is it contemplated that each member country will continue to run its domestic affairs and will simply give up something of its sovereignty insofar as military and foreign policies are concerned?

NO, SAYS DE GAULLE

Realistically, however, General De Gaulle, for instance, hasn't any notion whatsoever of transferring the sovereignty of France to a political union like that which prevails in America. Nor would any French president or premier dare to advocate such a course.

External confederation is all that the majority of Europeans have in mind today. Thus, the London "Times," in commenting on the Kennedy speech, emphasized the idea of an "alliance" and said that the President is seeking "a genuine partnership based on growing equality and shared responsibility."

The editorial expressed gratitude that the United States isn't trying in any way to "crab the scheme" of a "Common Market."

★ ★ ★

For, in truth, the United States doesn't regard the "Common Market" as a rival and wants it to succeed because it can become the basis for a better relationship and perhaps even for a stronger military alliance that would relieve America of some of its financial burdens of defense and, especially, the balance-of-payments deficit.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Anticoagulant Treatment Needs Constant Vigilance

Earlier I outlined the steps leading to development of the dreaded coronary attack and listed the ways in which nature and your doctor try to prevent and treat these seizures.

★ ★ ★

Of the methods for prevention and treatment, use of anticoagulant drugs alone poses a threat that, fortunately, may be lessened if not entirely prevented through your understanding and cooperation.

★ ★ ★

Here are some of the most important facts you must know if you are to help your doctor help you:

1—A sudden cessation of anticoagulation dosage may cause the clotting time to rebound and thus favor an almost immediate tendency to recurrent thrombosis.

Therefore, do not interrupt or discontinue taking your medication without your doctor's permission and under his guidance.

★ ★ ★

2—Continuation of the correct anticoagulant doses may result in abnormal bleeding when any operative procedure is attempted. So notify your doctor before you consult a surgical specialist or a dentist.

★ ★ ★

Then, when you arrive at the specialist's office, let him know that you are taking an anticoagulant so that he may consult with your doctor before he proceeds with what he plans to do.

3—Blood clotting and the dose of anticoagulant may be affected by any number of bodily and external circumstances. Therefore the preferred dose for you is a variable and not a constant.

That is why your doctor will want to see you regularly, and why he will be required to take frequent blood tests.

TELLS EXPERIENCES

To emphasize the importance of these repeated tests, a team at the Mayo Clinic has just reported their experiences with long-term use of anticoagulants.

Studying 139 separate periods of long-term treatment, they found abnormal bleeding is more than one-third of their patients, especially those who were hypertensives.

Thrombotic complications occurred in less than 10 per cent of those who continue with their drug. But, in those who stopped medication, the incidence rose to 17 per cent.

★ ★ ★

So, you see, treatment with anticoagulants has its dangers. To obtain the benefits, you must realize that the price of safety is vigilance.

The Country Parson

"Often we're willing to sacrifice everything to cure something we were not willing to give anything to prevent."

Voice of the People:

Readers' Interest Continues on Supreme Court Ruling

I agree with The Press' jeers for the Supreme Court decision which stopped a simple prayer in the schools and with Senator Hart's comment on family prayers.

But, what suggestion has the Senator for the mother when Johnny comes home from school and says, "Gee,Mother, don't you know praying is illegal?"

112 Osceola Drive

I was shocked to hear the Supreme Court's ruling forbidding official prayer in the schools in New York State. Are we coming to a Communist state? Russia doesn't allow prayer but their rulers don't believe in God.

By faith and obedience to God we put God first in everything.

Now it isn't unconstitutional for the Communists not to register. What does such a court decision mean to this nation? It widens the door to communism.

Watch, Lest We Fall

Thank you for your editorial, and also those of other papers, on the latest decision of the Supreme Court. A very few apologists, including David Lawrence, have gone to a lot of trouble to explain that it does not prohibit prayer in schools.

Maybe it doesn't but the fact remains that the U. S. Supreme Court seems to be favoring the negative side.

One of the Believers

When the Chief Justice swears in our next President, what will he use instead of a Bible — a racing form?

Abby Brandt

Your editorial writer had better read the Constitution again before he writes about it. The phrase "created equal" does not occur in the preamble or anywhere else.

And before condemning the Supreme Court's recent decision he might consider how he would like it if an atheist majority introduced anti-religious propaganda in the school. Our courts are set up to protect minorities, even those "of the worst sort."

MSUO

(Editor's Note: Of course. "Created Equal" comes from the Declaration of Independence, which incidentally, qualifies quite handily as "anywhere else."

As for the atheist majority, we suggest this won't happen in the United States. Shapiro must be thinking of Russia.)

'Is Senator Against Our Constitution?'

The following sound as though they come from one dedicated to the overthrow of our Constitution:

"The President is hobbled by the restrictions of power imposed on him by a Constitution designed for an 18th century society. . . .

"It is imperative that we break out of the confines of traditional beliefs and see that basic changes may be essential. . . .

"Public opinion must lead if it is to bolster wise and effective national policies, Only the President can provide the guidance . . . "

These are from a talk given by U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. We Americans are electing too many men who subscribe to this line of thinking.

'State Park Needs More Parking Areas'

A recent visit to Dodge Park No. 4 on Cass Lake proved very disappointing. Upon entrance with a required seasonal sticker or paying a daily fee of 50 cents, which we had, we merely drove in and to our dismay could not find a parking space. We weren't the only car to leave. If the state parks are going to charge for entrance they should provide parking space.

Sugar Trap

The Washington Post

The compromise sugar legislation that the Senate is due to take up today deserves, strictly on its merits, to be defeated. Unhappily, the question of merit is complicated by the pressure of time because existing sugar legislation expired at midnight Saturday. Once again, Chairman Harold Cooley of the House Agriculture Committee has shown the efficacy of his delaying strategy; by withholding the measure until the last possible minute, he places Congress in a tourniquet inexorably tightened by the hands of the clock.

★ ★ ★

What can be said is that the compromise bill represents an improvement over the outrageous legislation originally reported out by Mr. Cooley's committee. Thanks to Senate resistance, a far better bill was passed in the upper chamber and it was thus possible to bargain in conference for change.

The original measure would have carved up much of the old Cuban quota among 11 nations; the compromise bill adopts the Administration formula of using a "global quota" to fill the 1.64 million tons of sugar reserved for Cuba.

★ ★ ★

This is an important victory because it means that at least some of our foreign sugar purchases will be at prevailing world prices rather than the premium usually paid in order to hide the subsidies for domestic producers.

But the victory was bought at the price of rewarding domestic growers with a larger quota and bringing new countries into the bonus-price allotments. Every new country on the list, from the Fiji Islands to Paraguay, can now be expected to regard sales to the protected American market as a right instead of a benefit.

★ ★ ★

How quickly this happens is borne out by the experience in the Dominican Republic, where a temporary windfall allotment during the last year is already claimed as an enduring quota. Great care must now be taken to persuade the Dominicans that the island's competitive advantages can give it a substantial share of the global quota. And sharp questions should surely be asked in the Senate about the way the list was drawn. If quotas are awarded, available supplies — and not available lobbyists—should form the basis for choice.

Winston Churchill

The Christian Science Monitor

Whenever Sir Winston Churchill crosses that invisible line between the history he has been part of and the news from which these days he tends to absent himself, the whole world seems somehow a sprightlier place.

★ ★ ★

A photograph of him the other day, after his personal mishap, showed him giving his famous V-for-victory signal. That sign has become part of free humanity's vocabulary. It is as eloquent a thrust of silence as ever a man uttered. And it is worthy to stand beside the several verbal contributions that Sir Winston has made to the language of the twentieth century, from "iron curtain" to "summit meeting."

We are all accustomed to seeing the name Churchill in headlines about trial—and about triumph. We cherish all such reminders that what sociologists call "the mass" is really a collection of individualities. In this there is a resurgent equivalence between the one and the many, illustrated when some Churchill speaks for a nation.

★ ★ ★

We are reassured just by the memory of the power of thoughts and words — how they can build invisible fortresses when other weapons appear to be failing or lacking. Some of us may feel buoyed up by the contagion of jauntiness, the infectiousness of irrepressible humor, that we feel when the Churchillian presence is on stage.

★ ★ ★

In this chiefly the effect of a public "image"? The manner in which Churchill has conducted not only the affairs of a nation but those more ordinary challenges that other men also meet — this somehow gives the onlooker a lift for which he says, "Thank you, Sir Winston."

Teachers Told 'Fight Back' When Right Wing Attacks

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—When schools and teachers come under attack from right-wing extremists, educators should fight back, delegates to the annual convention of the National Education Association were told today.

A panel of speakers told a special session of "Thunder on the Right and Education" that education has much to lose by remaining silent in the face of attack.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Stocker of the Arizona Education Association said in a prepared address:

"At the first sign of weakness, submissiveness or appeasement, the 'ultras' only bore in more vigorously. A weak defense implies guilt, or is so interpreted by the extremists, and it even enables them to win over to their side some of the neutral elements of the community."

Forrest Rozzell of the Arkansas Education Association said in another prepared paper:

"Openly, aggressively and unrelentingly challenging the rightists will not avoid criticism or keep others from either trying to use coercion and intimidation or from impugning your motives. But true lovers of freedom have no choice."

'EX-REDS ORGANIZE'

Dr. C. O. Watkins of Sidney, Mont., said ex-Communists had been active in organizing the extreme right wing in his community.

"The only counter method to use in dealing with revolutionary strategy and tactics is that of exposure of their methods," he said in his prepared paper.

"This is the most successful strategy we have used against the Communists, and it is the method we must use again the John Birchers nad their right-wing counterparts."

In another major item of business today, the association's delegate assembly turns to resolutions.

In previous years, the great debate has centered around school desegregation and federal aid to education. But this year's convention has been so taken up with the growth of teacher unions, and their impact on the association that those topics have been pushed into the background.

A conference official said the usual resolution in favor of federal aid may be changed to include a stronger stand against any assistance to private or parochial schools.

Have to Revise Menu

HERRIN, Ill. (AP) — Burglars took 14 pounds of turkey, 38 pounds of ground beef and 40 pounds of cheese from Chittyville Elementary School. Principal Ronald Browning said the school lunch program would continue "although the menu will be revised somewhat."

'Negro Freedom Leans on Vote'

Intensified Campaign for Registration Is a Must, Says Rev. King

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes want their freedom now and one of the ways for them to get it is through intensified voter registration campaigns, says The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., integration leader and exponent of nonviolence.

"I am still convinced that one of the most significant steps that the Negro can take at this hour is that short walk to the voting booth," he told National Association for the Advancement of Colored People delegates at a dinner Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

He commended the NAACP for making voter registration a major theme of the national convention.

King, who is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), said it was significant that such major civil rights organizations as the NAACP, SCLC, Congress of Racial Equality, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the Urban League were coordinating voter registration campaigns.

"Already we are getting results," he said. "In Georgia alone we were able to register more than 30,000 Negroes in less than 90 days."

'RESULTS ALDEADY'

About 2,800 persons were registered in a month at Chattanooga, Tenn., he said.

King criticized reports in some newspapers and magazines of disunity among the various civil rights organizations.

★ ★ ★

"We can and should criticize each other in fair and free exchange," he said. "But, we must be watchful of a growing tendency to encourage and stimulate rancor within us by forces outside."

"We want freedom now and we want all of our rights," he said. "We will join neither a back-to-Africa movement nor a white citizens council-freedom ride northmovement. We want our freedom here in America."

Tonsils Stare at Surgeons After Operation

CHICAGO (AP)—Surgeons who removed Kristine Gartland's tonsils Thursday got a big surprise and so did the 6-year-old patient.

★ ★ ★

When the tonsils came out, so, too, did a blue plastic eye which stared up at the doctors from the tissue removed. A hospital spokesman said the eye was about the size of a dime.

Kristine said she couldn't remember swallowing the eye. Her mother, Mary Gartland, said that an eye was missing from one of Kristine's dolls which was discarded about three years ago.

Oscar Levant in Hospital for Several Days

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A spokesman said musician Oscar Levant is expected to remain in Mt. Sinai Hospital for several days.

★ ★ ★

Attendants would not disclose the nature of his illness. He was taken to the hospital Thursday in an ambulance. His condition was said to be fair.

★ ★ ★

Since his appearance as a television humorist and interviewer four years ago, the former concert pianist and recording artist has been in semiretirement.

He often has joked about his frequent hospital visits, calling himself a psychiatric patient.

Homemade Cannon Kills Young Builder

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dale Campbell, 17, a high school student, was killed when the breech of a cannon he built blew out and struck him in the forehead.

Police quoted Tommie Leon, 16, as saying the two youths loaded the cannon, made of discarded plumbing, with a homemade explosive Thursday and lit the fuse.

Leon hid behind a tree while Campbell watched from about 50 yards back. When the charge went off, the breech blew out and hit Campbell.

Soblen Wins Delay in Return

Spy Wins Hearing in England in Effort to Beat U. S. Jail Term

LONDON (AP)—Spy Dr. Robert Soblen, who tried to kill himself rather than go into an American prison for life, today won at least a 10-day delay in any attempt to return him to the United States.

A high court judge issued a writ of habeas corpus to give Soblen, now in a London hospital, a hearing before he can be moved out of Britain. The court hearing was fixed for July 16.

★ ★ ★

The New York psychiatrist, 62, who was convicted of spying for the Soviet Union, stabbed himself with a steak knife while being flown from Israel to the United States last weekend.

He was taken off the plane at London Airport and rushed to Hillingdon Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Two of Soblen's lawyers, Elwyn Jones and Peter Solomon, went to the home of Justice Mocatta in suburban St. John's Wood and obtained a writ to block attempts to move him.

The judge's action is believed to be unprecedented in British legal history. Officially, Soblen has not been admitted to Britain. His status is regarded by the home office as in transit, a move designed to avoid involved deportation proceedings.

★ ★ ★

Soblen jumped $100,000 bail and fled to Israel last week on a forged Canadian passport.

The Israelis expelled him and he was being escorted back to America on a plane last Sunday when he stabbed himself in the abdomen and slashed his wrists.

Move to Avert Vote Confusion

County Election Unit OKs Designations of 2 Vying for Drain Post

Oakland County's Election Commission has taken steps to eliminate potential confusion in the race for drain commissioner.

★ ★ ★

Election Clerk Mabel Child announced yesterday the commission has granted a request by Republican incumbent Daniel W. Barry for ballot designation as "drain commissioner."

Democrat Daniel T. Berry, running for nomination to the same post, will be designated as "licensed plumber." Berry asked for the designation after Barry's request was granted.

According to state election law, election commissions can approve ballot designation when "two or more candidates for the same office have the same or similar surnames."

★ ★ ★

Each candidate in such a case may ask for either his occupation or address to be listed on the ballot.

Barry made his request within three days after the June 19 filing deadline, as required by law. When the commission approved, Berry was offered a chance to make his request.

Both candidates will carry the ballot designations in the Aug. 7 primary election.

★ ★ ★

Barry is opposed for the Republican nomination by Art Becker of Southfield. Berry is running against Roy J. Russell for the Democratic nomination.

If Barry and Berry are successful in the primary, new requests will have to be made to provide ballot designation in the November general election.

Survey Finds Unusual Spots

Lions' Den a Good Shelter?

DETROIT (UPI) Do you think a lions' den would make a good fallout shelter? Or how about a bookie joint?

The goverment checked just such places as part of its fallout shelter survey in the Detroit area. "It was like playing a part in 'Candid Camera,' "one survey engineer recalled.

Jim Pfaendtner, product engineer for the architectural firm of Giffels & Rossetti which did the survey around Detroit, said that in checking the thousands of buildings his people ran into some interesting potential shelters.

There was the time when an engineer checking the lions' den at the Detroit Zoo disturbed one of the big beasts and nearly was clawed.

The shaken survey worker apologized for a poor sketch with the notation that "the reason for the erratic line was the erratic lion."

Another time an engineer followed a tunnel beneath a new high school. He stepped through a door and it locked behind him. In his report, the man said he "had a difficult time explaining my presence to the gym teacher who was in charge of the girls locker room."

A worker checked a pool hall in a northern suburb and found it apparently was a bookie joint. He said, "The owner looked me over suspiciously, then pounded a wall three times and said I could go down in the basement in five minutes. The basement was absolutely clean — and empty."

About 99 per cent of the people, let the surveyors examine their buildings. One place they didn't go, through, was Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

SURVEYED PRISON

Because of security requirements, the work was done instead by an inmate serving life plus one year. "He studied engineering in his spare time and did a beautiful job of surveying the prison. He's now quite a capable engineer," an official of the Army Corps of Engineers said.

The corps was assigned the task of supervising a national fallout shelter survey ordered by Washington. Doug Graham, in charge of the operation for Michigan, said about 50,000 buildings were considered and 35,000 examined.

He seemed to challenge the idea that people are apathetic about shelters.

"We were worried about dealing with the public in this matter," Graham said. "But insead we found that people were generally very cooperative. I have never run into so many poeple who wanted to help."

WAGON TREK — Orin and Mabel Gulbranson, both 39, packed up their eight children and drove away from St. Cloud, Minn., this week in four covered wagons. The family is headed for Utah "to make a new start" and hopes to get there in 65 days of slow jogging. Here, the family poses as they were ready to leave. Eileen, 11, (right) has job of riding behind caravan to warn motorists. Youngsters range in age from 11 months to 15 years.

Federation of the Blind Meets

DETROIT — Once a year, most Americans get a chance to think about the two words "Independence Day."

But for the Pontiac folks attending the 22nd annual convention of the National Federation for the Blind being held through Saturday in Detroit, those two words pack a lot of meaning — every day.

They are in Detroit to see how independence (or self-reliance, if you like) can best be achieved — and, while they are about it, having a mighty good time.

Several couples from the Pontiac League for the Blind did some fancy steps at the big dance Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

They had "watched" a gigantic fireworks display the evening before.

And there were still more sessions ahead.

One session was addressed by Gene Yontz, treasurer of the Pontiac group, who is sighted and another by William Countryman, field secretary for Rochester's Leader Dogs for the Blind, who is sightless.

Although this is the first time the national federation has held its convention in Detroit, the Statler Hilton Hotel has hosted state conventions for the blind before.

Waitresses, cashiers and chambermaids were briefed on the special needs of the blind since the sightless often resent well-meaning but oversolicitous assistance.

Cheery girl scouts serve as hotel guides; boy scouts take the conventioneers on shopping sprees in the downtown area.

Even regular hotel guests volunteer. (One admitted that "it stirs the better instincts in people when there's somebody who needs help.")

★ ★ ★

Inmates at Jackson State Prison printed the braille programs free of charge, and the Lions Club of Jackson drove them to Detroit.

Some 400 delegates from 35 states are attending the parley.

But Pontiac is playing no mean role here.

'SUNFLOWER DAY'

An important resolution designating a national "Sunflower Day" once a year for collection of funds to aid the blind, is being proposed by the Pontiac delegation.

Like many other local groups throughout the country, this chapter, which dreams of a building of its own, has had to rely on bake sales and other projects to augment its treasury.

If adopted, the resolution (conceived by Pontiac League member Ray McDonald) would establish the sunflower as national emblem.

★ ★ ★

And its slogan: "Put a little sunlight into the lives of the blind."

Pays to Check Working Costs

Homemaker After Job Should Look Into All Money Angles

EAST LANSING (UP) — A homemaker looking for a job to help with family finances should beware of job-necessitated costs, warn Michigan State University researchers.

Dr. Jean Schlater and Barbara Ferrar of the MSU department of home management and child development have some ideas on what to watch out for when looking for a job.

The homemaker should "learn in advance exactly what expenses are customary, and, what will be compulsory," in her prospective place of work, they say.

If the other women in the office spend a lot on clothes, the homemaker should recognize that she will feel social pressure to follow suit.

The researchers point out that the working wife may prefer to work for an employer who has no compulsory retirement plan, especially with her interest for immediate cash in hand.

WALK TO WORK

Mrs. Job-Hunter should try to find a job within walking distance of her home to reduce transportation costs. She should also compare prospective employers from the standpoint of employment benefits offered, suggest the home economists.

★ ★ ★

The MSU researchers also are exploring such questions as these: Is the woman who works half time financially wiser than the one who works full time?

How does a wife's job curb her spending activities?

Does she spend less money because she just doesn't have time to go on "shopping sprees?"

Steamboat Marked 1st

Cost of Labor Prohibitive

Japanese Frown on Factories in U.S.

TOKYO (UP) — Industrialist and government officials today greeted with pessimism the Kennedy administration proposal that Japanese industries invest in factories in the United States.

The consensus appeared to be: What would be gained by moving into a high wage labor market when we have comparatively low wages here at home?

★ ★ ★

"We could not compete with American industry because of their highly advanced situation," declared Toshiya Hiramatsu, an executive of the huge Mitsui Petrochemicals Industries, Ltd. "We would rather stress increasing exports than build factories in the States."

The U.S. government had suggested foreign investment for building U.S. factories as a means to improve America's balance of payments and to create job opportunities in certain areas.

But the Japanese pointed out that they too have an adverse balance of payment situation, a problem of more dollars going out than coming in.

The wage situation, however, appeared the major stumbling block.

Shigeru Sasaki, a spokesman for the huge Hitachi Manufacturing Co. (electrical equipment) said the lower wages paid by the Japanese was the key to their survival in international competition.

He expressed hope the United States would ease its immigration laws to permit entry of Japanese workers. U.S. Embassy sources here, however, stressed the Kennedy administration proposal includes no easing of any existing barriers.

★ ★ ★

Added Nagato Kogayashi, of the Matsushita Electrical Co., which has a sales firm in New York City:

NOT IN THE U.S.

"If the proposed areas are appropriate enough for industry, American industries would have built their factories there long ago."

Areas mentioned as possible foreign investments sites included Maine, New Jersey, North Carolina, Kansas and the West Coast.

Kazukiyo Hattori, of the Toyo Rayon Co., Ltd., said he could see his firm expanding into such underdeveloped areas as Latin America, Southeast Asia and the Middle and Near East, but not the United States.

"Higher wages, more improved techniques and a tight market situation would make such a move very difficult," Hattori said.

★ ★ ★

The administration proposal puzzled Hattori. "We' cannot understand," he said, "why the United States needs economic help from Japanese industries to promote internal development while it extends so much economic aid to underdeveloped nations."

Nobumitsu Ito, a finance ministry official, said the individual industry would have to make its own decision, but that he did not expect any one to accept the proposal soon.

Japanese foreign investments have totaled $427 million since the end of World War II.

Of the total, $80 million has gone to the United States, mostly in trading companies and joint merchandising arrangements.

Quits Job to Care for His 10 Children

CARSHALTON, England (UP) — Henry Fisher, 40, whose wife died 18 months ago, gave up his job as a stoker to stay home and take care of his 10 children.

He likes the arrangement.

His children love it.

★ ★ ★

The British government—which saves money on Henry's unique arrangement—approves.

"The change was very hard at first," said Henry. "In many ways, it would have been much easier to put the children into homes—but I didn't want that."

Had the children, whose ages now range from 3 to 17, been assigned to public institutions, it would have cost the government at least 40 pounds ($112) a week.

Now it's far less.

Henry gets 10 pounds ($28) from the National Assistance Board; he gets another three pounds 18 shillings ($10.92) in children's allowances.

ELDEST BOY WORKS

His eldest boy, Raymond, 17, works and chips in two pounds ($5.60).

Henry's day is about as busy as a man's can be. He dresses some of the children, makes their breakfasts, sees them off to school, cleans the house, washes their clothes, prepares their tea and dinner. Most have lunch at school.

"I used to take the sheets to a laundrette," said Henry, "but that was too expensive. So I bought a second-hand washing machine for three pounds ($8.40).

When it breaks down, I fix it."

His children are: Trevor, 3; Alison, 5; Gregory, 6; Merlin, 7; Kathleen, 9; Jimmy, 10; Billy, 11; Elaine, 13; Laurence, 15, and Raymond 17.

★ ★ ★

Asked if he ever thought of marrying again, Henry said:

"Never. One good wife is enough for any man. And anyway, who would want a widower with 10 young children?"

2 Hitchhiking Cousins Admit Shooting Youths Who Offered Ride

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Two teen-aged cousins faced murder charges today in the slaying of two other teen-agers who gave them a ride.

Jerry Wayne Anfinson, 18, and Kenneth Dale Woodward, 17, admitted the killings in signed statements to police. They each were charged with two counts of murder Thursday.

Examining trials were set for next Friday.

★ ★ ★

The victims were James Spencer Impellizzeri, 14, and James Benningfield, 17. They and the accused boys lived at Louisville.

Anfinson and Woodward told police they had been drinking the night of June 23 and hitched a ride with Benningfield and Impellizzeri. Anfinson said he took Benningfield's wallet containing $3 and then forced him to drive to a remote area about two miles south of the Jefferson-Bullitt County line.

DRUNK CRAZY

Anfinson admitted he shot Benningfield and Woodward admitted he shot Impellizzeri.

They said, "We were drunk, crazy."

The victims' bodies were found last Monday.

Hungry Horse Mooches Meal Off Milady' Hat

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England (AP)—Theresa Russell, chic former lady mayoress of Newcastle is now wearing only one orange on her head. A police horse ate the other one.

Mrs. Russell, 43, has a taste for cute hats.

So has Punch, the dapple gray police horse.

The two met briefly here Thursday at the Royal Agricultural Show attended by Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Mrs. Russell was standing to welcome the royal party when Punch, being ridden in the procession, bit off one of the two plastic oranges decorating her straw hat.

Charges Book Created to Sell Pills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) charged today that the best-selling health book "Calories Don't Count" was deliberately created to peddle worthless pills.

"Unfortunately, calories do count," FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick said.

He issued a sharply worded statement blasting the book and its author, Dr. Herman Taller, its publisher, and Cove Vitamin and Pharmaceutical, Inc., makers of a capsule called CDC (calories don't count).

Larrick said the book, ghost-written by a free-lance sports writer, was "full of false ideas" and that one of its "main purposes was to promote the sale of a commercial product in which Dr. Taller had a financial interest."

★ ★ ★

The FDA said that Taller, two executives of the publishing firm, Cove Vitamin and officials of a large land development firm had a financial interest in the subsidiary corporation that was set up just to push the pills.

The theme of the book, a best seller for about eight months, is that overweight persons can eat as much as they please, regardless of calories, as long as they include plenty of unsaturated fats such as safflower oil in their diet.

ISSUED ORDER

The FDA, after seizing a batch of the CDC pills and copies of the book, last January issued an order against the capsules which Cove contested.

Before hearings on the matter were finished, however, Cove withdrew its action, stopped selling the pills and began recalling them from the market.

Ed Bobley, president of the Glen Cove, N. Y., firm, issued a statement today blaming Simon and Schuster, Inc., the book's publisher, for the whole thing.

Simon and Schuster issued a long statement bitterly attacking the FDA for issuing, "without a scintilla of justification, a statement carefully conceived to give the false and misleading impression that we published a book for the purpose of promoting a food product."

★ ★ ★

Taller was not available for comment.

The U.S. attorney in New York City has filed a motion for contempt of court against Taller for refusing to answer more than 50 questions about his financial relationship "with Cove's CDC capsule promotion," the IDA said.

★ ★ ★

It said that a federal district judge in New York had issued a default decree in the CDC case ruling that the capsules "are misbranded by false and misleading health and diet claims in the book."

Larrick, in his statement, said that the theory that a person can disregard calories and lose weight by consuming safflower oil is false. Anyway, he said, the CDC capsules held an amount of safflower oil so small that it was "insignificant for any purpose."

★ ★ ★

Cove, the FDA said, claimed the pills would not only help a person lose weight, but they would help lower the cholesterol level of the blood, treat arteriosclerosis and heartburn, improve the complexion, increase resistance to colds and increase sexual drive.

Taller, Larrick said, prepared a draft of the book but Simon and Schuster "ordered it revised in more of a mail order inspirational technique—it was too scientific sounding."

So, he said, the manuscript was completely rewritten and its catchy title revised by Roger Kahn, a free lance sports writer.

Then, he said, the manuscript "went to the office of General Development Corp.," a firm largely concerned with land development, "apparently for the purpose of inserting references to Cove as a source of safflower oil capsules.

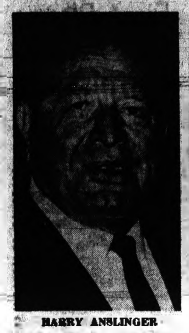
★ ★ ★

"Cove then established a closed corporation, CDC Corp., to produce the capsules for which the book would create a demand. Financial interests in the new corporation were acquired by a limited group including Cove, Dr. Taller two vice presidents of Simon and Schuster and officials of the General Developemnt Corp."

★ ★ ★

Larrick said the freedom to publish "health" books is a constitutional guarantee, "but books used to promote the commercialization of drugs become labeling under the federal food, drug and cosmetic act. False statements in the books misbrand the drugs."

He called the case "shocking." The government, he said, is taking action "against all other products that are promoted by the book."



HARRY ANSLINGER

Narcotics Chief Retiring at 70

President Picks Aide to Get Harry J. Anslinger Bureau Spot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Harry J. Anslinger, who has headed the bureau of narcotics since it was created in 1932, has submitted his resignation. President Kennedy picked Anslinger's chief, aide Henry L. Giordano, as his successor.

★ ★ ★

The White House, announcing this yesterday, said no date has been fixed for Anslinger's retirement, but the shift is expected in the near future.

★ ★ ★

Anslinger's resignation, dated May 20, noted that he had reached his 70th birthday and said he wished to retire after having been in government service since 1917.

Age 70 is the mandatory retirement age for government workers unless they are given an extension by the president.

★ ★ ★

There were reports that Anslinger had hoped to stay on the job, but White House press secretary Pierre Salinger insisted that it was his wish to retire.

Water Treatment Plant to Be Near Port Huron

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit water department will pay $121,059 for 288 acres north of Port Huron for a water treatment plant, department manager Gerald Remus said yesterday.

He said the plant will be a mile inland from Lake Huron. He said construction on the $88-million first section of the system will begin in 1964 and the whole $172-million project is expected to be completed within 18 years.

Teacher, Pupil Discover Kinship After 72 Years

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A former teacher and one of his pupils were reunited in Dallas this week after a 72-year lapse and discovered for the first time they are distant cousins.

Each man had lived in Dallas 35 years, unaware of the other's presence in the city.

In 1890 in Surrey, New Brunswick, Canada, Alonzo Dow Jonah, then 24, taught a fourth grade class which included James W. Blake, Jr. then 9 years old.

Jonah retired in 1927 and moved to Texas. Blake retired in 1946 in Dallas as general credit manager of Magnolia Petroleum Co.

They got together following a newspaper article about Jonah's 96th birthday.

★ ★ ★

Judge Discusses Senate, Fears Population Control

LANSING (UPI) — Metropolitan areas will monopolize state government completely if the State Senate is reapportioned strictly along population lines, says Circuit Judge Creighton R. Coleman.

Only in the legislature do residents of thinly populated areas have a really effective voice in government, Coleman said.

The Calhoun County judge aired his view in behalf of defendants in a suit by August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, to throw out the Senate districting system. The Supreme Court this week heard arguments for and against his move to force reapportionment on an absolute population basis.

Coleman, a former state senator, argued that metropolitan areas, through sheer force of numbers, now can elect the executive and judicial branch of state government and dominate the lower house of the legislature.

"Why do huge city areas have to have a 100 per cent monopoly of our government?" he asked.

"What about the protection of the minority rights of persons in relatively thinly populated areas? The problem actually is whether individual people outstate should be given any effective voice in state government. A nominal voice is merely a subterfuge."

The judge noted that the 1952 constitutional amendment setting up the present Senate districting system was approved overwhelmingly by the voters.

Even now, he said, the Senate is based primarily on population.

"A sparsely populated, economically weak county area has every right to be afraid of being overwhelmed by the Wayne County area," Coleman said.

"The Wayne County area is so involved in its own problems that it does not have the time or experience or desire to know and solve the problems of, let us say, a western county in the Upper Peninsula."

The Senate, formed differently from the House, is part of the checks and balance system designed to prevent a monopoly of government power in any department, Coleman said.

Big-Mouth Boxer Loses Bout With the Post Office

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The post office apparently has won its fight with Bobo, the brown Boxer who chases mailmen.

★ ★ ★

But it took an assist from neighbors of Mrs. Eugene Brinker who owns Bobo.

★ ★ ★

After the post office served notice that it was shutting off all mail deliveries to the entire block because of Bobo's attacks, the neighbors obtained an injunction restraining Mrs. Brinker from keeping the dog on her property.

★ ★ ★

Judge John A. Boyle issued the injunction June 26 and Bobo has been packed off to a kennel in New Jersey.

First Phone and Ask Permission

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My sister and her husband received an invitation to the wedding of a neighbor of theirs. When speaking to her the other day she told me that her husband would be unable to go to the wedding and that she was taking her son in his place.

I told her that I did not think it was right for her to do this, and added that if the bride had wanted her son at the wedding he would have been sent an invitation.

She said it was a perfectly acceptable thing to do. I would like your opinion on this matter.

A: You are right. She should not take her son to the wedding in the place of her husband without first telephoning and asking the bride, or her mother, if she may do so.

Q: Last year my engagement was announced in the newspaper and several months later the engagement was broken. A notice was sent to the newspaper to this effect.

After being apart we both realized that we really love each other and so we intend to become engaged again. I would like to know if it would be proper for my parents to send a second notice of our engagement to the newspapers?

A: It would be in better taste to let those who are interested, know that you are again engaged by word of mouth rather than send a second announcement of your engagement to the same man, the newspaper.

Q: I have been a widow for the past five years and have a 19-year-old son. I am planning to marry again in the very near future.

I would like to know if it would be proper for my son to give me away. I am very close to my son and would like very much to have him do so if it will not be in bad taste.

A: It will be entirely proper for your son to walk up the aisle with you and to give you away.

Q: I have been a member of our local woman's club for the past three years but now find it necessary to resign. Will you please tell me to whom I should address a letter of resignation and also how it should be worded?

A: You address a letter of resignation to the secretary and word it as follows: "It is with great regret that I find it necessary to resign from the club and to ask you, therefore, to present my resignation at the next meeting of the governors."

'But, Ma, It's OK on TV'

DEAR ABBY: Please print this because I know that other mothers are having the same problem.

As 2- and 3-year-olds watch TV commercials, they see children their own ages writing on walls and spilling ink all over only to be hugged by their mother because she knows how to clean it up in two seconds.

ABBY

Abby, children imitate what they see. One little boy was shown in his ring-bearer's suit making mud pies and his mother just smiled and went into a commercial about a detergent. What can we do about this menace?

NO MIRACLE WORKER

DEAR WORKER: The companies which advertise these products are interested in consumer reaction.

Write them that if they continue to portray such bad examples for your children, you are going to watch television less and enjoy it more.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I was raised in a family where the father did all the punishing. My mother never laid a hand on us, but we sure got it from our father when she reported that we had it coming.

Now that I'm a mother, I follow the same method, but my husband says I am wrong. He says if a child needs punishment, I should do it on the spot and not wait for him to do it when he comes home.

Do you think a mother should have this unpleasant duty added to her busy day?

OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: If you want to have "pleasant," well-mannered children, you will have to accept the "unpleasant" duty of training them.

Punishment need not always be physical. Withholding permission to go places (called "grounding") is frequently far more effective.

Raising children is a joint effort, and a mother's constant teaching usually does more to mold the child than a father's occasional strong arm.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I must beg to disagree with your advice to "get rid of Bertha" — the affectionate, devoted mule that slobbers all over.

The mule, you say, brings in $635 a year. What does the wife bring in? If they must get rid of Bertha, ship her to me. I'll pay the freight as we have no mules in this town. Only mulish women.

Goes From Concert Violin to Piano Tuning

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marlene Dietrich has said that a house without a piano is waiting for something.

Mrs. A. Pierce Grover, of Rockport, Mass., less well known in print than Miss Dietrich but more familiar with a piano's innards, feels the same way. But she would add that a house without a piano in tune is waiting for something. Say, a tuner. For tuning pianos is Hannah Randall Grover's business. . . has been for 25 years.

She is one of six women members of the Piano Technicians Guild, which is holding its annual convention this week in New York.

Mrs. Grover, once a concert violinist, is in her 60's and boasts of two firsts in piano tuning — she is the first woman admitted to membership in the guild. And, she is the first woman president of a chapter — Boston.

The guild has 1,500 members, is 5 years old, and is the result of a merger between the American Society of Piano Technicians and the National Association of Piano Tuners.

Piano tuning became Mrs. Grover's second musical career after "some bug" inflicted an illness which left her violin-holding arm not quite limber enough for concerts, she said.

She received a tuner diploma from the now - closed Faust School of Boston, ran an ad in the Boston newspapers, and has tuned pianos ever since—"to the tune of 6,000, last time I counted up," she said.

Her major territory is in the fashionable shore section north of Boston. Rockport is a famous summer resort area with family estates scattered all over.

Which brought to her mind one of her more arduous assignments when a member of the Crane plumbing manufacturing family asked her to check out a piano at an island home off Ipswich.

★ ★ ★

"I started out in my car," she recalled, "but then was transferred to a jeep to get over the dunes, then went by motor boat to the island, then by truck to the house. The drivers said he'd be back in a couple of hours. There I was alone with an upright piano in a mess . . . wasn't much I could do. So I banged a hammer (along with tuning fork, the basic tools of the tuner's trade) around a bit and waited."

She remembers being returned by truck, then by rowboat, then by jeep to her own car, and two further visits with more tools to do a thorough repair job on the piano after she told the family the state it was in.

CLEANS OUT NESTS

She has cleaned mice nests out of more pianos than she cares to count — the inside seems to be a favorite nesting place. Once when she had partially disassembled a grand piano and lay on her back to work on it, she found herself keeping company with a dog who had found a section of the musical instrument a perfect resting place.

"And cats! said Mrs. Grover. "Cats and pianos seem to have an affinity."

★ ★ ★

No kitten on keys type of thing either. They get inside to the string section.

She quit tuning the grand piano for one client cat-lover. The felines used the close layer of strings beneath the open piano top as a bed.

Mrs. Grover, widowed only a month ago, has one son, Frederick, a chemical engineer and amateur pianist. She said that sometimes her son will sit down at the piano, start out with pure Chopin, and then whip into a beat right out of New York supper club.

"I say to him, 'that is good music?'" she smiled.

★ ★ ★

"He answers, 'Mother, good music is the kind you like.'

"And that," said Mrs. Grover, "is the best definition I've heard yet."

Patricia Ann Forbes

Wins $500 Music Award

Patricia Ann Forbes, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Forbes of North Elder Road, Orchard Lake, is the recipient of a Michigan Federation of Music Clubs scholarship to the Interlochen Arts Academy.

Patricia plays violin and has attended the National Music Camp for the past two seasons.

She will receive the $500 scholarship for study at the academy which opens for the first time Sept. 9.

★ ★ ★

The Interlochen Arts Academy is a college preparatory secondary school which will provide specialized educational opportunities for gifted youths. The academy will accommodate some 350 students with superior talents in music and the creative arts.

★ ★ ★

It will use the National Music Camp facilities and is the result of over 20 years of planning by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, founder and president of the National Music Camp.

Dr. Maddy predicted a banner year at Interlochen with the opening of the academy in September and the trip to Washington, D. C., for a youth symphony concert on the White House lawn in August.

'Raincoat Week' Combines Styles

Now, a girl can have a raincoat wardrobe — something to protect her from the showers from sunup to snooze time.

A "raincoat week" in Florence, Italy, produced sports-wear raincoats from three-quarter to nine-tenths of street length; for afternoon, the rain suit which was either a combination coat and skirt or cape and skirt; and for evening, touches of mink here and there on rainwear. A cut silk velvet raincoat came with fur cuffs and hood.

Who Actually Sets Standards of Family?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Who actually sets our family's standards?

That is a question every homemaker ought to ask herself and try to answer honestly.

A searching, honest answer would surprise many women today who have drifted into the habit of playing follow the leader in first one area of family life and then another.

★ ★ ★

But to answer that one big question fairly, a woman would first have to answer a number of more specific questions:

★ ★ ★

If I am living up to or beyond my family's means and why? Just who am I trying to keep up with or impress?

If I am pushing my children into activities that keep them busy all the time, why? Am I giving them real advantages or am I just doing what other mothers are doing for their children?

If I never find any time to do the things I think I would really enjoy, why? Are all the meetings I attend, the committees I serve on, the busy work I engage in my own idea of how I want to spend my time, or just what I think is "expected" of me?

Is my home equipped and furnished to meet my family's needs and to suit our own tastes and preferences? Or have I spent more than I should to provide a "stage setting" for the family?

Do we really enjoy all the "togetherness" our family goes in for? Or have we just been sold the idea that the more a family does together the happier it will be?

Do we entertain in the ways we enjoy, or do we follow the current fad in entertaining? Are our parties planned for the enjoyment of friends, or merely to repay obligations?

An honest answer to questions such as these might surprise many a housewife.

Tears Same for Both Sexes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tears have been described as a woman's weapon — at once her shield and her spear.

Science disputes this. Women have no priority on tears — except during their youth. The tiny tear glands at each corner of the eye operate pretty much the same in both sexes, serving to provide a clean, moist, optically-excellent surface for vision.

'Spiked' Bleach Best on Fringe

Before washing a garden or beach umbrella, pre-treat any white cotton fringe trim with a solution of soap or detergent suds "spiked" with bleach.

Dip a handful of fringe at the time into this solution until all is wet. Then let the cover drip over the edge of the washtub for 10 or 15 minutes. This gives the suds-bleach a chance to loosen the dirt before washing the entire cover.

Premarital Counseling Aids Teens

Gilbert Youth Service

When couples who have married in their teens start feuding, the problems that trigger their tempers are no different from marital problems encountered by other married folk.

They're just more intense.

Says Henry Graham, director of the Family Service Association in Indianapolis, Ind., "These kids who marry in their teens don't have inner resources. They haven't had time to build themselves as people.

Problems of husband-wife communication, an area of difficulty in many homes, are greater with the very young marrieds.

Graham tells of a 19-year-old boy who was highly critical of his wife's homemaking efforts. Yet she knocked herself out to cook attractive meals for him.

When they sought assistance, the counselor asked the boy one question: "Did you ever tell your wife you liked her cooking?" He hadn't.

Children themselves, these young couples visit their own problems on their offspring. So their child-rearing difficulties are magnified.

Graham asks the rhetorical question, if the parents haven't matured, how can they cope with the very important business of bringing up a family?

The practical side of making a living is difficult for teen-age husbands, Graham comments. Because his education has probably been curtailed, the earnings of the husband are restricted.

If his wife works, there'll be more money in the bank. But again, she may be virtually untrained, and therefore can't work into a well-paying job.

Graham feels that pre-marital counseling can be of tremendous help to teen couples, primarily to make them aware of the conflicts which are in store for them. But he finds very few such couples coming to his agency.

Susan Kay Hamilton and John E. Osler were wed Friday evening in Bethany Baptist Church. Their parents are the R. Fenton Hamiltons and the Anthony B. Oslers, all of Sylvan Lake.

MRS. JOHN E. OSLER

Oslers on Honeymoon to Florida and Nassau

The John E. Oslers, who were married Friday evening in Bethany Baptist Church, left for a honeymoon in Florida and Nassau following a church reception.

Former Pastor Dr. Joseph I. Chapman performed the candlelight ceremony assisted by Dr. Emil Kontz. Palms and baskets of white gladioli decked the chancel.

Daughter of the R. Fenton Hamiltons of Oakwood Drive, Sylvan Lake, the former Susan Kay Hamilton chose white chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with bustle back and chapel train. A fingertip veil of French illusion caught by a sequined tiara and cascade of white roses, Stephanotis and carnations completed her ensemble.

Sally Ann Hamilton, her sister's maid of honor, wore yellow silk organza over taffeta with tulip overskirt and carried white and yellow shasta daisies and yellow roses arranged in a basket.

Bridesmaids Darlene Buck and Vicki McLaughlin appeared in green organza and carried baskets of Shasta daisies and roses.

David Scriven performed the duties of best man. Thomas Osler and Anthony Osler Jr. seated guests at their brother's wedding. They are the sons of the Anthony B. Oslers of Garland Avenue, Sylvan Lake.

The bride attended Central Michigan University where her husband received his degree. He will teach in Vassar this fall. His fraternity is Theta Chi.

A purse corsage of azalea pink roses complemented Mrs. Hamilton's sheath dress of pink silk organza over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom, attired in turquoise silk shantung, wore pale pink roses at her shoulder.

Barbara Anita Lecornu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ewing Lecornu of Rosedale Street, and Ralph O. Irish Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O. Irish of Lakewood Street, Drayton Plains, exchanged vows Saturday at Bethany Baptist Church.

MRS. RALPH O. IRISH JR.

Rites Solemnized at Bethany Baptist

Barbara Anita Lecornu and Ralph O. Irish Jr. exchanged vows Saturday at Bethany Baptist Church before Dr. Emil Kontz in a candlelight ceremony, with white daisies and chrysanthemums at the altar.

★ ★ ★

A reception at the church was held for 200 guests.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. W. Ewing Lecornu of Rosedale Street and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O. Irish of Lakewood Street, Drayton Plains.

The bride wore white silk organza over white tissue taffeta. Hand-embroidered organza flowers were on the floor-length skirt and a scalloped neckline was featured. The veil was shoulder-length with a pillbox crown. She carried white roses surrounded by daisies and chrysanthemums.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Uhan, cousin of the bride, wore a white nylon dotted swiss over yellow pima gown with a matching hat. Both sisters of the bridegroom, bridesmaids, Mrs. Richard Hockins and Diana Irish wore identical gowns of white over pink and white over green, respectively.

They carried baskets of shasta daisies to match their dress colors.

Best man was Mr. Hockins. Assisting with the seating were Dale and Donald Lecornu, twin brothers of the bride.

EASTERN TRIP

The new Mrs. Irish changed into a brown silk suit to leave for their honeymoon in the East. Upon their return they will reside in Utica.

★ ★ ★

The mother of the bride wore a dress of champagne linen with a yellow rose corsage. While the bridegroom's mother chose a dress of green embroidered white organza white roses. The bride is a graduate of Wayne State University.

New Gloves Just the Thing

Women who are devoted to leather gloves, and the convenience of stretchables, can now enjoy both elegance and ease at the same time.

★ ★ ★

The latest leather gloves have nylon stretch inserts, come in a fashionable long length and an assortment of neutral colors, and are safely washable. These sudsable stretches also make "just right" gifts when you're not sure of the proper size.

Solve Problem of One Bath Family

If the entire family shares a single bathroom, try scheduling the children's tub baths for bedtime. This will alleviate delays at get-up time.

An alternate suggestion to prevent early morning bickering is to supplement the bathroom facilities by installing a wall-hung wash-basin in one or more of the bedrooms.

Ruth Rapelje Is Wed by Father in First Baptist Church Rites

Five hundred guests attended the Saturday evening vows of Ruth Linnea Rapelje, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Gerald H. Rapelje, to Edward W. Bohlman in the First Baptist Church.

The bride's father, pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church, assisted by his son Ronald, a student at Nyack Missionary College, Nyack N.Y. performed the ceremony before a double bank of palms, candelabra and white gladioli.

Gowned in white silk organza with Alencon lace applique, and chapel train extending from a panniered skirt, the bride wore the bridegroom's diamond gift necklace and held a lace-covered Bible topped with an orchid and Stephanotis. Her veil of silk illusion was crowned with a crystal tiara.

ATTENDED BRIDE

Myrna Bedell was maid of honor for her senior classmate at The Grace Hospital of Nursing, Detroit. The bride's sister-in-law Mrs. Rodger Rapelje and Mrs. Ronald Rapelje Nyack, N.Y. and cousins Linda Cooper and Joy Ambler, both of Toronto were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length yellow chiffon and held white lace fans topped with yellow roses.

Linda Rapelje, and Robert Rapelje, were flower-girl and ring-bearer for their aunt.

Attending their cousin, the son of the Daniel Bohlmans of Pontiac Lake Road, were James Bohlman, best man, and ushers George Havens, Ronald, and Terry Frizzle and Clinton Harroun.

The bride's grandfather's heirloom silver tea service was used at the Church reception.

After a honeymoon in Northern Michigan, Muskoka Lakes, Toronto and eastern points, the couple will reside at Park Place. Both will attend Bible College this fall.

Orchid corsages accented a pink embroidered linen ensemble for Mrs. Rapelje and flowered blue chiffon for Mrs. Bohlman.

Carry Refreshers

Vacation sightseeing will be more pleasant if you protect your head with a pretty sun hat, and carry along midday "refreshers" — a plastic cosmetic container with soap and tissues for washing your face and hands before lunch and whenever you need a sudsy lift.

Ruth Linnea Rapelje, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Gerald H. Rapelje, Sylvan Lake, and Edward W. Bohlman, son of the Daniel Bohlmans, Pontiac Lake Road, exchanged vows Saturday in the First Baptist Church.

MRS. EDWARD W. BOHLMAN

Rev. J. Allen Parker, pastor of the Newman African Methodist Episcopal Church, officiated at the marriage of Versa Jean Montgomery to Eddie Porter, Saturday, in the Trinity Baptist Church.

Daughter of the Clarence Montgomerys of Lull Street, the bride chose a bouffant gown of white chiffon and Chantilly lace. She wore a short veil of illusion and held pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Yvonne Tucker served as matron of honor. Donna Porter and Shannon Henry were bridesmaids.

Donald Porter assisted his brother as best man. They are the sons of the Griffin Porters of Alton, Ill. Ushers were Clarence Montgomery and Kenneth Walker.

The couple, who are both graduates of the University of Southern Illinois, will be honored at a reception in Alton, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Montgomery chose blue lace for the wedding and church reception and the mother of the bridegroom appeared in yellow lace. Their carnation corsages matched their dresses.

MRS. EDDIE PORTER

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Elias of Welland Drive, Orchard Lake, and the Jack Spratts of Clarence Street.

★ ★ ★

The new Mrs. Spratt appeared in an embroidered white silk organza gown with scalloped neckline and chapel train. Pearl bows accented the bell-shaped skirt. She carried a white Phalaenopsis orchid, lilies-of-the-valley and miniature gladioli.

★ ★ ★

Wearing pink silk organza were Ilene Elias, her sister's maid of honor, who carried pink sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley, and bridesmaids, Tonya Tunny, Sharon Patterson and Patricia Burns, whose bouquets included pink and red sweetheart roses.

★ ★ ★

Serving as best man was Fred Wieshaar. Ushers were Allen Tunny, Dennis Patterson and Daniel Sobocenski of Clarkston.

★ ★ ★

Carol Ann Petroff became Mrs. John P. Eppel Saturday at St. Benedict Church. Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. George N. Petroff of Cherokee Road, the late Dr. George N. Petroff and the S. L. Eppels of Summit, N. J. The couple will live in Ann Arbor.

MRS. JOHN PATRICK EPPEL

A reception at Forest Lake Country Club followed the Saturday noon exchange of vows between Carol Ann Petroff and John Patrick Eppel in St. Benedict's Church on South Lyon Avenue.

* * *

She is the daughter of Mrs. George N. Petroff of Cherokee Road and the late Dr. George N. Petroff.

For her wedding, the bride selected a princess style silk peau de soie gown with a chapel train. Her silk illusion veiling fell from a triple bow of silk trimmed in lace applique. The gown featured a scoop neck trimmed in scalloped Alenson lace and seed pearls.

* * *

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ronald E. Covault of Dearborn, preceded her to the altar carrying a colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations. She and bridesmaid Ann Phillips wore white lace and taffeta ensembles with pink trim and flowered hats.

Another sister, Kathy Petroff, served as junior bridesmaid, wearing white organza, trimmed in pink and with matching accessories.

* * *

Brother of the bridegroom Peter Eppel was best man. Coming from Summit, New Jersey to usher was John B. Ferguson. William R. Gavey came from Ann Arbor and David R. Petroff, from Dearborn.

After their wedding trip through the state, the newlyweds will reside in Ann Arbor where Mr. Eppel attends U. of M. Law School.

His parents are the S. L. Eppels of Summit, N.J. For her son's wedding Mrs. Eppel wore a pink linen sheath with matching accessories.

Mrs. Petroff selected an eggshell silk organza ensemble with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding.

Fashionettes Guided

Tour Hospital Section

Fashionette Club members toured the new section of the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital Tuesday evening.

Jack Whitlaw, assistant administrator, guided the group explaining the history and additions to the hospital. Mr. Whitlaw invited the group back in September for the hospital's open house.

* * *

At the business meeting earlier in Adah Shelly Library, Mrs. Victor Evjen earned the weekly award for the greatest weight loss.

Highlight of the meeting was the installation of new officers in a candlelight ceremony. Outgoing President Mrs. John Reichert received a past president's pin from the new president Mrs. Edward Cook. Each new officer received a rose corsage.

Mrs. Jesse Villereal, new program chairman, announced her assistants for the next six months. They are Mrs. Charles Abair, Mrs. Daniel Naarro, Mrs. Leslie Curtis, Mrs. King Stetler and Janice Cook.

SET GYM NIGHT

Next week's program will center around Gym Night and will include a discussion on dieting and improving personal appearance.

* * *

The group is sponsored by Pontiac Parks and recreation Department for weight-conscious women. Meetings are 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays at the Adah Shelly Library. A guest speaker or planned activity is featured at each meeting.

Launder Correctly

A garment made of a foam-laminated fabric should be laundered by the same method recommended as best for the fabric without the foam backing.

There are just two special precautions: first, don't overstuff the washer and second, don't use chlorine bleach.

Westerns Again?

The cowboy handkerchief idea from Paris is done for both daytime and evening. It's even shown in white, trimmed with ostrich feathers, for evening wear.

Back From Honeymoon in Northern Michigan

Residing in Birmingham are Mr. and Mrs. David K. Middleditch (Mary Katherine Kramer) who have returned from a northern Michigan honeymoon. A church reception followed their marriage in the First Baptist Church of Birmingham.

* * *

Mrs. John F. Solann of Ferndale attended the bride as matron of honor at the June 23 wedding. Marie Rodman of Birmingham and Cathi Middleditch, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

* * *

Laos Talks Hit Bump in East-West Contest

GENEVA (UPI)—East-West differences over the projected merger of pro-Communist, neutralist and pro-Western armed forces in Laos threatened today to slow down the 14-nation Laos conference.

The Communists, spearheaded by Red China, were determined to block any international control over the envisaged merger to establish a single force for the defense of neutral Laos.

The West wants assurance that the integration of the three rival forces will be carried out effectively and with adequate demobilization of surplus forces. Laos is to have an army of between 12,000 and 15,000 men.

The West also wants these undertakings embodied in the Geneva agreements which are to proclaim Laos neutral, and guarantee the neutrality.

★ ★ ★

Sources said the Communists here were agitating heavily against any such international assurances and any form of supervision which would allow the International Control Commission, composed of India, Canada and Poland, to make sure that the merger is not going all in favor of the Communist side in Laos.

Western expectations were that the merger would be on a two-in-one ratio, namely one royalist and one neutral to one Communist, thus reflecting the composition of the country's newly formed coalition government.

The West holds that the formation of such a single force is of considerable importance for the safeguarding of the armistice until the country is settled, and for the maintainance of the Laotian neutrality which the conference members are to guarantee.

MOST TRICKY?

This issue may prove to be the most tricky among the few which still remain to be resolved before a Laos peace settlement is completed here.

The Communist argument is that the merger of the forces is an internal affair which must be left to the Laotians to settle.

The Western nations, while not contesting Laos' right to determine the composition of its future defense force, hold that some safeguards are necessary to get the merger going properly.

★ ★ ★

The Chinese are firmly backed by the Communist North Vietnamese and, to all appearances, also by the Russians who have shown on some other points a somewhat softer approach.

An estimated 10,000 Communist Vietnamese have been fighting with the several thousand strong Pathet Lao and they will have to be withdrawn after the peace settlement is signed.

Considerable haggling was expected in the face of the Communists' toughening stand.

TO END RELIANCE

On the other hand, agreement was anticipated before long on a formula which would end the South-east Asia treaty Organization (SEATO) protection for Laos once the country becomes independent and neutral.

There is already agreement in principle that the SEATO assistance pledge should lapse, at Laos' request.

Off-stage diplomacy was in full swing in an effort to settle the differences quickly and avoid a new delay.

The negotiations were being conducted by the cochairmen of the conference, Britain's Malcolm MacDonald and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Puskin, with Laotian neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma taking a leading part.

The neutral nations were being consulted at the same time.

Raul Says Blockade by U. S. Hurt a Bit

MOSCOW (UPI) — Cuban Defense Minister Raul Castro told a Moscow television audience last night that the American economic blockade of Cuba has "affected" Cuban life.

But Castro, brother of Premier Fidel Castro, said things were "not as hard as they might have been, were it not for the disinterested aid of the Soviet people."

"Were it not for the assistance of the Soviet Union," he said, "imperialists would have made us shed an ocean of blood, because we have hoisted the banner of freedom."

★ ★ ★

Castro, who is visiting here, praised the Communist revolution in Russia and said the "socialist camp is stronger than the camp of capitalism." He said Cuba is ready "to bring other Latin American countries out of their trance."

Federal funds are available to encourage American school children to drink milk at lunch time.

THIS TIME FOR REAL — Last year when 16-year-old Yvonne Parent, Avondale High School senior, dusted off her suitcase for a trip to the national convention of the Future Homemakers of America, it was in vain. It turned out she wasn't able to go and she feared she would never get another chance. This year, however, she will take it with her, well dusted and packed, when she leaves tomorrow for the convention at Salt Lake City, Utah, as an officer of the state FHA.

Happy Senior to Attend Homemaker Convention

When Yvonne Parent, a pretty 16-year-old Avondale High School senior, climbs aboard a train in Detroit about noon tomorrow, she will be embarking on a week-long trip she feared last year she had missed forever.

She will attend the national convention of the Future Homemakers of America at Salt Lake City, Utah, Monday through Thursday, and get her first chance to see the West, besides.

Not only did the turn of events wash away last year's keen disappointment and bring opportunity knocking a second time with an excitement doubly intense, it did so with a flourish.

Yvonne will attend the convention as an officer of the state FHA.

Last year she was offered a chance to go to St. Louis for the convention when the girl scheduled to represent the state FHA's Region Seven, which includes 16 high schools in the Pontiac area, was not able to go.

But Yvonne couldn't go, either. Her parents had already scheduled the family vacation for the same period and there was no money set aside to pay her way, anyway. Sure she would never get another chance, Yvonne was dejected.

A STATE OFFICER

In April of this year, however, she was elected vice president for the national committee at the state FHA convention in Grand Rapids. As a state officer, she became automatically eligible to attend the national convention and the Avondale chapter of the Future Homemakers raised enough money to send her.

And, better yet, as Yvonne points out with a sparkling smile, Salt Lake City is farther west than St. Louis.

Yvonne, the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Allen Parent, 3680 Adams Road, Avon Township, was "thrilled and flabbergasted" to win her state office against her opponent, West Bloomfield High School's Kathy Asher, president of Region Seven.

DELIVERS SPEECH

To win, Yvonne delivered a campaign speech before some 2,000 FHA members and teacher advisers, the prospect of which, beforehand, made her "very nervous" and which would have rendered her powerless with dread a couple of years earlier.

The FHA, itself, is responsible for her success in the FHA. Before joining the organization at Avondale three years ago, Yvonne was willing to flunk her English class rather than give an oral book report before her classmates.

An FHA self-improvement project involving speaking before a group until she could give a talk with confidence and without undue dread and nervousness, Yvonne credits Mrs. Gertrude Swartz, Avondale FHA adviser, with building her confidence.

Not only did her speech at the state convention win her an election, it brought her the honor of presiding over the first general session of the week-long FHA leadership workshop at Central Michigan University last month.

Yvonne's office in Region Seven this year was pianist, a position she was well qualified to fill. She plays every Wednesday and four times on Sundays at her father's church, the Apostolic Church in Lincoln Park.

She will be one of 16 FHA members from Michigan who will attend the convention accompanied by three home economics teachers and the assistant state adviser for homemaking education of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

Plan Centennial in Marlette

Gigantic Parade to Be Highlight

3-Mile March July 14 Included in Round of Festivities Next Week

MARLETTE — A three-mile-long parade at 11 a.m. July 14 will highlight a four-day centennial celebration here July 12-15.

Festivities also will include two smaller parades, professional wrestling, a rodeo, a minstrel show, a water carnival, dances, fireworks and a carnival midway.

Events will get under way Thursday with a kiddies' parade at noon and children's events and prizes in the afternoon. The evening will feature a donkey softball game, a disc jockey dance and professional wrestling.

★ ★ ★

Friday, July 13, will be Farmers' Day and will include a horseshoe tournament, farm machinery demonstration, a chicken barbecue, a horse pulling contest and a minstrel show.

Saturday's grand parade will feature scores of floats, bands and drill teams from a wide area. Following the parade there will be judging of the traditional beards grown for such an event.

At 3 p.m. the Brahma-Town Rodeo will begin, to be followed by another chicken barbecue. The Sarnia Lionettes will give a performance at 7 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. there will be a pony pulling contest.

WATER SHOW

The water show will get under way at 8:30 p.m. A half-hour fireworks display is scheduled to start at 10 p.m.

The evening will offer a choice in dancing between a free square dance sponsored by the Marlette Square Dance Club and a disc jockey dance.

The celebration will close Sunday, July 15, with a vesper service 2:30 p.m. at Community Park.

Out-of-town guests will be welcomed during the gala celebration at a registration building on Main Street.

Plan to Name King and Queen for 4-H Fair

Oakland County's 4-H king and queen will be named Tuesday.

The pair will reign over the annual 4-H Fair Aug. 7-11 at the fair grounds.

Candidates for the titles will be interviewed tomorrow by a three-member panel who will evaluate the answers of the youngsters, and announce their decision next week.

About 20 boys and girls will be questioned on their 4-H and community activities, according to Jack Worthington, cooperative extension service 4-H agent.

★ ★ ★

Poise, personality and speaking ability also will be determining factors in the selection, he said.

Each candidate has been nominated by their respective clubs. All are at least 15 years of age.

Church Takes Drive-In Fight to High Court

ROCHESTER—St. Philip's Episcopal Church has taken its fight to block construction of a drive-in restaurant across the street from the church to the Michigan Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

Attorneys for the church have filed an appeal to reverse an Oakland County Circuit Court ruling that cleared the way for construction of the restaurant, according to Rochester Village attorney Arthur R. Cox.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer lifted a temporary injunction against construction of a Big Boy drive-in on North Main Street near Romeo Road on June 4. The church was granted the injunction May 18.

The church's argument is that the village's zoning board of appeals acted improperly in approving the restaurant because its construction would create a traffic hazard. The zoning board decided the traffic problem already exists.

300-Acre Annexation to Utica Means Confusion on Commission Posts

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Besides taking from the township some 300 acres of land it hated to lose, the recent annexation of the land to the City of Utica has also raised some confusing administrative problems for the Township Board here.

Trustees have appointed Myron D. Grabske, 47480 Woodall Street, to the township's civil service commission to fill a vacancy created by the annexation, but a second vacancy is yet to be filled.

Former commission members Thomas Stewart and James Miniter live in the annexed area. Grabske replaces Stewart, while Miniter's replacement will be named by the township's fire and police departments, which also appoints a representative to the three-man commission.

★ ★ ★

The two members appointed one each by the township and the fire and police departments then select the third member. Leland Schuberg, appointed by ex-members Grabske and Miniter, will keep his post.

The commission has jurisdiction over civil service positions in the fire and police departments.

674 Die in State Traffic

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have taken 674 lives in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll on the same date last year was 714.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Eaton, 2907 Duck Lake Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Funni, 29071 Dunkirk Road, Farmington.

A floor-length gown of peau de soie featuring Chantilly lace trim outlined with sequins and pearls at the neck and waist and back tiers that tapered off to a point was chosen by the bride for her wedding.

A tiara of matching lace and sequins held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. Her bouquet was a cascade of roses with a detachable orchid corsage.

MAID OF HONOR

Barbara Eaton attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Norma Lee Lichtenberg of Detroit, cousin of the bride, Jeanne Wilson and Betty Brabo.

Serving as best man was Anthony Bischoff with the bridegroom's brothers, John, William and Joseph Funni, seating the guests.

Doctor Fined $100 for 'Bomb' Remark

DETROIT (AP) — An Oak Park physician paid a $100 fine in U.S. District Court yesterday for falsely reporting information about a bomb in his airplane luggage.

Antibiotics Have Natural Rivals

Medicines Obtained From Garden Plants Still Used Effectively

NEW YORK CITY — In these times of nuclear energy and electronics, when everything is the very latest, a glance into the physician's black bag may reveal surprising remedies that stem from hoary ancestry.

Records from antiquity and from primitive peoples furnish proof that they used many decoctions made from plant matters in relieving symptoms of disease. This is not to say that the ancients practiced effective therapeutics; although they used concoctions of all sorts, they died like flies. But, much of what is still important is unbelievably old.

The American Indian used wintergreen for rheumatism. Coca leaves were popular for untold centuries among the native of Bolivia and Peru, for they increased one's endurance on difficult journeys. Later in 1860 the alkaloid cocaine was isolated and today it is a valuable anesthetic. It is also well to recall the name of the salicylates were first obtained.

Ephedrine, or the sundry plants that contain it, has been used over the entire world for thousands of years. The Chinese called the herb MA HUANG because it was useful in relieving asthma (the name is believed to mean "wind of a horse").

In India the same material was an intoxicant; among the aborigines in North America, an antisyphilitic; in Old Mexico, a remedy for pneumonia. One curious result is that ephedrine is still widely used, notwithstanding all these improvements, and it represents one of the most ancient of all remedies.

Summer Squash, Cukes Better Pickled Young

Summer squash and cucumbers are two vegetables which suffer from being left too long on the bush or vine. Whether you grow yellow, green, or white varieties, the time to pick summer squash is when the fruits are still young, not more than three or four days after the blossoms begin to dry, while the skin is still very tender and the seeds undeveloped. The same for cucumbers, though it may take a day or two longer e warts are still firm and kn

In any case, pick them while the warts are still firm and knobby, before the fruits balloon to a diameter of 2-3 inches. According to some connoisseurs, cukes are more digestible when eaten young, skin and all.

A museum was established in 1931 on the first floor of the reconstructed Ford Theater building in Washington, D.C.

UNSPRAYED AND SPRAYED—W. I. Thomas, University of Arizona agronomist, notes the difference between a cucumber plant that did not have the benefits of a black top (left) and one in which the soil was sprayed black after the seed was planted.

Asphalt Cover Conserves Soil's Heat, Moisture

BY EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Asphalt paving and a petroleum-based mulch may boost your garden crop yields. Researchers have reported notable success with both.

Let's take the hard-top first.

The time may be coming when farmers will plant in the early spring, then cover the seeded area with asphalt paving. And the farmer who plants late may paint the ground over the seeds white.

The idea, tested at the University of Arizona, is as simple as black and white. The black asphalt holds moisture and absorbs solar heat. This keeps the soil warm after cold season planting. White paint reflects heat and protects seeds planted at midsummer for fall crops.

The thin covering of asphalt is applied to the plant row with a spray attachment hitched with a planter. The substance dries rapidly. It isn't necessary to remove the asphalt after it has served its purpose. The strip disintegrates without apparent harm to the ground.

"It has been shown that crops planted in cool weather will germinate sooner, have better stands and grow faster where such a strip is applied," explained W. I. Thomas, as associate agronomist at University of Arizona College of Agriculture.

"The results have been consistent with a variety of crops, including corn, sugar and more than a dozen commercial vegetable crops," he said. "In all cases, when weather during and after planting time was cool or cold, response has been favorable."

The black ashpalt strip absorbs heat and the film conserves moisture in the seedbed. The heat penetrates the soil several inches and some warmth will be refained in the seed zone until early morning, usualy the coldest part of the day.

At midsummer, the black asphalt strips may cause too much heat. But the soil temperature can be reduced below normal by spreading hydrated lime, Thomas said.

The principle is the same with the mulch, a water emulsion of petroleum resins which is sprayed over seed rows to form a film.

As with the hard-top, the result is hardier, more lush crops because of the moisture- retenalon, evaporation-reducing cover.

The petroleum mulch was developed by the Esso Research and Engineering Co., which has conducted a three-year research program, including field tests. The researchers reported that yields of many crops could be increased by 10 to 11 per cent.

The mulch may be applied by portable spraying equipment. From 60 to 150 gallons per acre would be needed, depending on conditions, including the three to eight inches suggested for the width of the seed row cover.

A major benefit of both the asphalt and the petroleum mulch is that they would permit earlier planting of crops.

Today's Garden Is Rarely Hoed Mulch Is Used

From time immemorial the hoe has been regarded as one of the gardener's necessary tools and "the man with the hoe" was a common expression for the hard working gardener with green on his thumb and dirt on his shoes. What was he doing with this hoe that made it so essential and him such a hard worker? Mostly he was chopping weeds to prevent their competition with his plants for food and water.

He might also be breaking surface soil crusted from rain or watering. He sweated under a hot sun in the mistaken belief that the dust mulch he created would retard evaporation from his soil.

This old-timer's garden looked neat and the weeds had no chance, but apart from that he may have done more harm than good. Nature's unsophisticated way is to let all sorts of old vegetation lie on the surface, and science has shown that she is no bad teacher.

When the surface is sufficiently covered to exclude light, weeds will not grow, moisture will be retained and plant roots can be spread through the upper soil, where most of the nutrients are. The temperature of the soil remains moderate and uniform, a great encouragement to growth.

When heavy rains come, washing and crusting are prevented; mud is not splashed on leaves, pods and fruits. The practice of covering the soil is called mulching, an easy and efficient substitute for the hoe.

Old Potted Plants Should Be Ousted

Potted plants are precious to householders but horticulturist Louis P. Politi of the New York Botanical Garden advises, "Take all those exotic types . . . and throw them in the garbage can." Further, he recommends heaving out old potted plants and replacing them with vigorous, young, new specimens.

Remember also, he says, that plants get spring fever, just like people, after all that dry heat of indoor living during the winter and should be repotted.

Of every $10 invested in planting, he said, $9 should be for proper soil. Otherwise, he explained, "it makes no difference what fertilizer you put on it, what vitamins you put into it . . ."

Steel Basket Can Hold a Plant

Many people have found that an easy and interesting way to decorate a porch or patio during the summer months is with small trees or medium-size plants which have been placed in galvanized steel utility baskets.

A few inches of crushed rock may be placed in the bottom of the basket for drainage and the unit may be carried by its side handles to any location.

When the basket is placed in the proper spot, planting soil may be added. Insert the tree or shrub and keep it watered. At the end of the summer, the plant may be removed from the tub and placed in the regular garden in the back yard.

Some people even use this system inside their homes. A steel basket or galvanized steel laundry tub is the ideal size container for lemon trees and other decorative trees.

Whether it is used inside or outside, the basket may be decorated with paint or decals to blend nicely with surrounding decorations.

Diet for a Garden

You can overfeed gardens. The Department of Agriculture recommends from 50 to 60 pounds of standard fertilizer for a 30-foot by 50-foot area.

Is Your Lawn Velvety or Is It Spotty Looking?

By WILLIAM AHO
Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept.

Summer comfort can be achieved by a well kept lawn because it tends to reduce the carry-over heat of the day. This cooling effect which we receive from grass can only be realized by continued regular maintenance.

Maintenance of grass means fertilization, proper cutting and weed control. If any of these programs of maintenance are omitted your lawn will lose that velvety green appearance. There are other maintenance jobs on lawns but the ones mentioned are the major points to consider.

Home owners are more apt to underfeed their lawn than overfeed. The amount of fertilizer you use is determined primarily by the type of grass in your lawn. Cool season grasses as we have in this area are best fertilized in the spring and fall. In problem lawns, it is a good idea to have your soil tested to determine what course of action you should take in your fertilization program.

Light application of fertilization during the summer will usually help your lawn have that green appearance. If you did not fertilize your lawn this past spring don't forget your fall application. Be careful not to fertilize too late in the season because tender growth will be susceptible to winter injury.

Weed control as part of lawn maintenance is overlooked by many home owners. Weed killers September 15th. are relatively cheap and easy to apply and pay big dividends. The weed killer known as 2, 4-D will kill unwanted broadleaf weeds without harm to the grass. If you want a lawn free of weeds plan a weed control program; you'll be surprised with the results.

In cutting your grass, make sure your mower is sharp, set your cor rect mowing height and mow frequently.

Watering of lawns can actually determine which lawn grasses or weed grasses will make up your lawn. If a person waters lightly and frequently you will find that the shallow rooted grasses will take over. If you water deeply and infrequently the deep rooted Blue grasses and fescues will be more apt to persist.

It is well to keep in mind that overwatering blue grasses often stimulates fungus diseases as does over-fertilizing during the summer. Too much watering will invite an invasion of crab grass and other undesirable weeds.

Now is the time to take a good look at your lawn and determine your course of action you should follow. If your lawn area is fair it can be improved by fertilizing, mowing properly and carrying out a weed control program. In cases where a person is fighting a losing battle in maintaining a good lawn it might be wise to start over again. Make your preparations early enough so you can apply your seed between August 15th and

Pick Vegetables at Right Time

Who among us hasn't wasted a dozen ears of corn, looking for six ripe ones? Or ruined a couple of melons, looking for a "good" one. And how many of us let our squashes and cucumbers, beans, and beets swell beyond the edible stage, under the mistaken notion that things always get better as they grow older and bigger?

The fact is, with some kinds of vegetables there is a fleeting moment when they are ready to harvest for your table.

Take peas, for example. The time to begin checking your crop is about 21 days after the blossoms appear. You have a choice in how you harvest your crop. You can make two or three pickings, starting with the pods lowest on the vines; or with shorter-veined kinds you can wait until the top pods are just a bit shy of full maturity and then harvest all the pods at once. Your decision should be determined largely by the kinds you plant and the size of your planting.

NLRB Rules Union Violated Labor Law

YPSILANTI (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board has upheld a trial examiner's findings in favor of the Ypsilanti Press in a three-year labor dispute with the International Typographical Union (AFL-CIO).

★ ★ ★

Trial examiner William F. Scharnikow ruled last Feb. 28 that Local 154 of the printer's union had violated fair labor practice laws in its picketing of the newspaper's plant in what originally had been an attempt to organize its composing room employes in 1958.

★ ★ ★

In affirming this ruling, a three-member NLRB panel instructed the union to refrain from picketing the paper.

Goldwater Hits Ike-Backed Unit

Conservative Leader Renews Attack on GOP National Citizens Body

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has renewed his attack on a new Republican group championed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Goldwater said formation of the National Citizens Committee was neither voted on nor discussed by the leadership of the Republican party and the GOP National Committee.

"If the members of this group are so avidly interested in Republican activities let them join the Republican party," Goldwater told a reporter Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Organization of the commitee was announced in New York City last Saturday. The same day the All-Republican Conference was formed by Republicans meeting at Eisenhower's farm in Gettysburg, Pa. Goldwater was invited to the meeting but said he had a previous commitment and did not attend.

'CONSULTATIVE GROUP'

The GOP National Committee describes the All-Republican Conference as a consultative group and says the Citizens Committee will have organization and money-raising duties primarily.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower defended the groups in a letter Monday to Republican National Chairman William E. Miller. He called their organization the most progressive step the party has taken in many years.

Goldwater wrote Miller the same day, but his letter was released first. Its wording was interpreted as an attack on both groups.

★ ★ ★

The Arizona conservative said Thursday he had no objection to the conference and that "President Eisenhower and I agree on that." But, Goldwater added, "We disagree on the National Citizens Committee."

He said he was told by Miller as late as last Thursday that no such group would be formed. And, Goldwater charged, he, as chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, and other party leaders were bypassed when the committee was set up.

Consider Site for New Center

Waterford Twp. Board Impressed by Location on Crescent Lake Road

Members of the Waterford Township Board reportedly were impressed with a prospective civic center they toured this week.

★ ★ ★

The 50-acre site at Crescent Lake and Tubbs Roads already is owned by the township.

About a third of the parcel is utilized as a cemetery. From 20 to 25 acres would be open for development as a future civic center.

The proposed civic center would include an administration building, police headquarters building and maintenance and administrative facilities for the water department.

The latter would be constructed in the first stage of the proposed development.

PARKING PLANS

Long range plans call for an auditorium.

Parking facilities at Pierce Junior High School, which is adjacent to the proposed site, could be utilized for auditorium parking.

★ ★ ★

Several other sites recently considered for the township development have been dropped.

Price was the stumbling block in most cases and location ruled others out.

A location near the geographic center of the township, where the present township hall is situated, is sought by the board.

An opinion on the suitability of the area as a future civic center site is expected from the Township Planning Commission when it meets Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

If the parcel is recommended, the Township Board will consider the site at its July 16 meeting.

Detroit Crime Rise Linked to Weather

DETROIT (AP) — Police Commissioner George Edwards blames the city's nice spring weather for part of an 8.2 per cent increase in major crimes in Detroit.

When the temperatures go up, so does the crime rate, he said yesterday. He released a comparison of reports of murder, rape, robbery, assault, burglary and larceny during the first half of 1962 with the first half of 1961.

He said a police campaign to encourage residents to report crimes also may have contributed to the over-all reports increase from 31,110 to 33,653.

Expect Teachers to OK Sanctions

Action Against School Districts for Conditions Seen as 'Ist' for Body

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The National Education Association will consider—and probably approve—use of sanctions against school districts which it considers to have intolerable teaching conditions.

★ ★ ★

Such an action would mark a turning point in the history of the 813,000-member organization. Never before has the association tried to put teeth into its policy of settling disputes between teachers and school boards solely through negotiation.

★ ★ ★

The association long has had a policy against teacher strikes. Sanctions, says an official of the organization, would focus public attention on unsatisfactory teaching conditions without penalizing children by going on strike.

The sanctions policy probably will be included in the proposed resolution on professional negotiations, one of the last to be taken up at the final session of the association's annual convention.

ALSO FEDERAL AID

The delegate assembly also will consider the usually thorny issues of federal aid to education and school desegregation.

The sanctions policy probably will be tailored after a similar program adopted by the California Teachers Association last April.

★ ★ ★

When sanctions are applied in California, the teachers association gives widespread publicity to the conditions which brought them on, and tries to discourage teachers from other areas taking jobs in the district involved.

★ ★ ★

No effort is made to have teachers in the district quit their jobs.

Pressure for some such weapon as sanctions has been growing with the national association in recent months because of the growing power of teacher unions.

Senate Votes on Substitute Health Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate prepared to start voting today on a rival Republican-sponsored medical plan calling for federal subsidies to provide health care for the aged.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., offered a proposal to provide up to $125 a year for persons aged 65 and over to buy private health insurance policies covering a wide range of benefits, including doctors' fees.

Democrats were confident they had the votes to defeat the Morton proposal, which differs markedly from the administration's plan to finance a basic package of health benefits through Social Security.

Eighteen Democratic and five Republican senators were sponsoring the bipartisan administration-endorsed plan, led by Sens. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M. and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

A showdown vote on the bipartisan plan, however, was put off until next week. At least 15 amendments must be disposed of first.

President Kennedy, in a nationally televised press conference yesterday sought to give a boost to his Senate backers. He also renewed his running feud with the American Medical Association (AMA), which opposes the bipartisan plan as a step towards socialized medicine.

Kennedy said the compromise version "is a strong bill. It meets the problems of those who have not been covered by Social Security. It provides participation by private insurance companies. It is an effective bill."

He said "I have found it very difficult to understand why the American Medical Association has found this legislation so unsatisfactory. It does not involve them directly."

Whether the Senate passes the plan or not, it is bound to be a prominent issue in the congressional elections this November. Despite prospects for favorable Senate action on the bipartisan plan, the House was not expected to pass it this session.

The Morton substitute plan would cost an estimated $1.2 million a year, and give the states wide latitude to set up their own programs, offering whatever benefits they wished for their aged residents.

★

The proposed federal payments ranging from a low of $25 to a high of $125 a year, would go to individuals and to insurance carriers having group contracts under a state-administered program.

Funds to finance the plan would come from government general revenues, rather than through higher payroll taxes.

Debate on the issue yesterday was desultory.

U.S. Joins in Claim on $2.4-Million Cache

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (UPI) — The federal government headed a growing list of claimants today to a $2.4-million fortune found in the trunk of a dusty, old automobile.

Bookmaker Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty, 52, refused to discuss ownership of the treasure with an FBI agent Thursday, and authorities said his girl friend, Anna Petrick, followed suit.

Questioned at State Prison in Trenton, Moriarty would give only his name and said he plans to retain a lawyer, the agent said.

Local authorities who questioned Miss Petrick said she admitted owning the car in which the money was found but for the most part would not elaborate.

'OVER 21'

Miss Petrick, who gave her age as "over 21", was quoted as having said she had known Moriarty "practically all his life."

While Moriarty and Miss Petrick would neither deny or confirm ownership of the money, others had their eye on it.

U.S. Atty. David M. Satz Jr. said the federal government, "acting on the basis of strong indications" that the money had been accumulated by Moriarty, was taking steps to claim the entire amount.

COULD CONFISCATE

Satz said the government could confiscate the money on three grounds.

He said the government already has six liens, totaling $355,000 on file against Moriarty; that concealed moneys are legally forfeited to the government, and that money obtained from illegal activities is subject to seizure by the government.

"This could well wipe out the monies found," Satz said.

Other claims were being drawn up or contemplated.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes said New Jersey might put in a claim, but he declined to speculate on what its legal basis might be. He said it is obvious the money had an illegal source.

Jersey City Mayor Thomas Gangemi, after conferences with municipal lawyers, said the city may have a legal claim, and he instructed counsel to "conduct a formal review into all the aspects of the case."

2 CARPENTERS

The two carpenters who stumbled across the cache also were reported to have filed claims and Frank Munzy, 64, owner of the garage in which the automobile and money were found Tuesday was considering a similar claim.

Moriarty, now serving a 2-to-3-year sentence in prison, was linked to the fortune by Jersey City Police Chief Austin J. Conley.

★ ★ ★

The police chief said government bonds found with the currency were registered in the name of Moriarty and his late brother, Alfred.

Hudson County Prosecutor Lawrence A. Whipple reported Miss Petrick said Moriarty had given her the car in 1947 when it was new, but that she gave it back to him in 1956 when she bought a new car.

Says Swainson Lost Contracts

GOP's Stahlin, Vying for Post, Claims State Hurt by 'Confusion'

BELDING (AP) — Sen. John H. Stahlin, R-Belding, yesterday blamed Michigan's loss in defense contracts on "incredible confusion and ineptness" in Gov. Swainson's economic development policies.

* * *

Stahlin, a candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant governor, said the state's share of defense contracts dropped form 2.3 per cent of the total 10 years ago to 2.7 per cent last year.

"The present administration was unable to grasp the implications of the changing character of defense needs," Stahlin told a women's club meeting. "Consequently, they were unable to provide effective direction in marshaling the state's resources to procure electronics and missile contracts."

* * *

Michigan has adequate scientific and technical resources, he said. "But the contracts slipped by us and went to New England and California because of the incredible confusion and ineptness in the governor's economic policies."

* * *

Stahlin advised the Democratic Governor to "spend less time berating Republican lawmakers and tend to his responsibilities in this area."

Queen Crawford Writes All About Long Hollywood Reign

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Writing of her early years in the movies, Joan Crawford comments:

"Maybe I did play harder than anyone else—I worked harder, too. Perhaps it was because I had such an inferiority complex, because I was trying to compensate for all I lacked in education, poise and background. I wanted something out of life and this was the only way I knew to acquire it."

THOMAS

* * *

This helps to explain the phenomenon of Joan Crawford, which is described in depth in her new autobiography, "Portrait of Joan" written with Jane Kesner Ardmore. It is an arresting study of the longest-lasting of all the Hollywood stars—she made her first film in 1925, is starring in three this year.

PARADOXICAL

The book is in Crawford style—realistic, down-to-earth, but with overtones of glamour and sentiment. That sounds paradoxical, I know, but Crawford is a paradox; a hard-driving woman who manages to remain feminine; a dream merchant with her eyes wide open.

She tells all, or almost all, about the ups and downs of her career and marriages.

* * *

About the husbands —

No. 1, Douglas Fairbanks Jr.: "Douglas was trying to prove something, that he was as good a man as his father, that he was a wit, a practical joker in his own right. He didn't have to prove this to me. I was his best audience, but that wasn't enough, he needed a larger audience, and entertaining constantly, he'd dispel his energy. When the guests would leave, alas, we were without communication."

'TALENT GREATER'

No. 2, Franchot Tone: "There was never a doubt in my mind that Franchot's talent was greater than mine, and I tried very hard to give him more scenes, to build his ego. It just didn't work. It was no wonder that he gradually broke away, tried to assert himself. He was working in a film. I wasn't. One afternoon I dropped by his dressing room to surprise him. I did."

No. 3, Phillip Terry: "I had never really known Phillip, I realized that. I had not really loved him. I don't like games, and this pause ended in divorce. Never marry out of loneliness. I owed him an apology from the first."

No. 4, Alfred Steele: "For the first time in my life, a man was giving me emotional stability. We attained a precious height — the ability to love each other beyond the love of self."

STEPMOTHER-IN-LAW

Joan also tells about her relations with stepmother-in - law Mary Pickford: "Mary and I became friendly after my divorce from Douglas. But during the time of that marriage we never had a word of conversation save in a group of people. Newspaper columnists harped on the fact that Mary couldn't tolerate the idea I might make her a grandmother, but I've no idea whether or not that was true."

She also tells of a love affair with Clark Gable at the time he was married to his second wife. "We talked of marriage, of course. But I dared not ruin the dreams. I'd rather live with them unfulfilled than have them broken."

* *

Joan describes Gable's sadness after the death of Carole Lombard. She asked him to drop by her house for a drink one night and he stayed and talked for hours. He visited her every day for four or five months and talked moodily. Finally she told him:

"You're living in the past. You have a guilt complex because you didn't go with Carole on that trip. You couldn't go, you were working: You've had your grief, Clark, now pull yourself out of it."

Gradually he did, she added.

Cats Digging Tonight at Jazz Festival

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — This is the night to be with it, man. The night the cats dig the Newport '62 jazz festival.

Coleman Hawkins, Gerry Mulligan, Bob Brookmeyer, Joe Williams, Carmen McRae and the Dave Brubeck quartet appear tonight.

* * *

On later programs through Sunday night are Louis Armstrong, Thelonius Monk, Oscar Peterson, J. C. Higginbotham and Count Basie.

*

Mindful of the beer-can rioting that shortened the 1960 festival, Newport's police Chief Joseph Radice will have 80 reserve officers in uniform, but no difficulty is expected. Last year's festival was relatively quiet.

* * *

However, a city council ordinance banning drinking in public places will be enforced. This does not ban drinking in licensed places such as hotels and restaurants.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara may meet with the military commanders of South Viet Nam and Thailand in Honolulu this month for another briefing. A spokesman said yesterday that no definite plans have been made, but he described the meeting as "not improbable."

Wants Tax Relief Now

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., has called on the Kennedy administration to provide businessmen immediately with a promised tax relief. Byrnes said yesterday that the repeated delays were beginning to look like another "squeeze play" to win support for the administration's tax revision bill.

Aguirre, Bunning, Colavito Named to American League Squad

Houk Completes All-Star Selections; Ducks for Cover

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Manager Ralph Houk completed selection of the American League All-Stars today and ducked for cover.

The Yankee pilot added 17 players to the front line squad of eight who will meet the National League stars in Washington next Tuesday, naming eight pitchers and nine alternate infielders, outfielders and catchers.

Houk, like his National League counterpart, Fred Hutchinson, picked only one southpaw on his pitching staff — Hank Aguirre (6-3) of Detroit. His right-handers are Dick Donovan, Cleveland (12-3), Camilo Pascual, Minnesota (12-4), Jim Bunning, Detroit (8-4), Bill Monboquette, Boston (7-8), Dave Stenhouse, Washington (6-3) Ralph "Perry," New York (10-7) and Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore (3-5).

SECOND CHOICE

Houk followed the player poll for the rest of the squad, naming the second choices at each position and adding his own catcher, Elston Howard, who finished third in the balloting.

Previously announced as starting players, selected by their fellow athletes, are outfielders Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of New York and Leon Wagner of Los Angeles, catcher Earl Battey and third baseman Rich Rollins of Minnesota, Baltimore first baseman Jim Gentile, Los Angeles second baseman Billy Moran and shortstop Luis Aparicio of Chicago.

★ ★ ★

These eight must play at least three innings, barring injury. Backing them will be outfielders Rocky Colavito of Detroit, Lee Thomas of Los Angeles and Jim Landis of Chicago; infielders Norm Siebern of Kansas City, Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh of New York and Brooks Robinson of Baltimore; and catchers John Romano of Cleveland and Howard.

Among those missing are Kansas City outfielder Manny Jimenez, the league's leading hitter; Boston first baseman Pete Runnels, the second top batter; Chicago outfielder Floyd Robinson, the second leading runs batted in man; and such star pitchers as right-hander Milt Pappas (9-4) of Baltimore, Don Mossi (7-8) of Detroit and Whitey Ford (6-4) of New York.

DEFENDS OMISSION

"I expect to be criticized," said Houk, "and maybe they'll be right. But I felt I should follow the dictates of the players and go along with those they felt were the toughest against them."

Houk defended his omission of Jimenez, declaring:

"Jimenez looks like a pretty good hitter but we found out he'll bite at anything from the letters up. He'll bite at all high pitches.

"Aguirre is having a good season and he's looked great every time he has faced us," said Houk. "I picked him because I feel he can serve the purpose for which I want him. He pitches just as effectively in relief as in a starting assignment."

★ ★ ★

Although Houk will not announce his starting lineup and batting order until Monday, he most likely will switch his two outfielders, moving Mantle from center to right field with Maris taking over at center as has been the case since Mantle returned to the Yankee lineup after an early season injury.

National League President Warren Giles has agreed to the change despite the All-Star rule which requires the starting players perform at the positions for which they are selected in the player poll.

PUTTING FOR A BIRDIE — Touring pro Ken Venturi putts for a birdie four on the 18th green Thursday as he completes his opening round in the Buick Open golf tournament at Warwick Hills Country Club. Venturi didn't get the birdie, but he parred the hole and finished with a one-under-par 71, two strokes off the pace.

Wall, Still Lead at 69; Baird Fires Hole-in-One

By BILL CORNWELL

GRAND BLANC — You know about Art Wall, naturally, but have you ever heard of Ken Still?

If you haven't, it should be pointed out that he and Wall were co-leaders here today as the 5th annual Buick Open golf tournament swung into its 2nd round at Warwick Hills Country Club.

The slender, sandy-haired Still, a native of Galveston, Tex., who registers from Tacoma, Wash., rifled a three-under-par 69 Thursday to equal Wall, the lean Pennsylvanian who was the glamour boy of the circuit in 1959.

Wall and Still were forced to share the first-round spotlight with Fred (Butch) Baird, a ruddy-faced 25-year-old pro from Galveston who fired the first hole-in-one in Buick Open history.

A brand-spanking new tax-free car worth $5,200 was Baird's reward after he knocked his 2-iron tee shot into the cup for an ace on the 203-yard 3rd hole.

CLUB DEBATE

Baird and his caddy debated between the 2 and 3-iron before Butch decided to use the former. His drive was actually off line, but the ball kicked to the right after landing near a bunker and rolled straight into the cup.

It was the 12th ace scored on the PGA circuit this year. Stan Leonard made a hole-in-one in the Western Open last week at Chicago's Medinah course and he also won an automobile.

Trigger-tempered Tommy Bolt also broke into the headlines and he did it by not appearing.

★ ★ ★

Bolt faced a fine or suspension or both when he failed to show up for the opening round after having committed himself to play in the Buick event.

ROSBURG QUITS

The other big-name golfer to makes news was chunky Bob Rosburg, who carded a 77, then announced that he was ill and would not continue. He withdrew and headed for his home in Portland, Ore.

An old injury put veteran Ted Kroll on the sidelines after nine holes. He withdrew after shooting a 41 on the front side.

Still, 27 years old, has only been a PGA tourist for two years although he has been a pro since 1953. Two Tacoma lawyers offered to sponsor him on the tour so away he went.

His score card read 36-33, featuring three birdies on the back nine and one going out. He birdied the 6th, 11th, 14th and 16th holes with putts of 3, 8, 15 and 12 feet. A sand trap at No. 2 resulted in his lone bogey.

★ ★ ★

Wall, now 38, has been hampered by injuries and illness since his banner year in '59, but he played in a healthy fashion Thursday.

Winner of the Masters and Buick titles in '59 plus two other events as he led his fellow professionals in cash earnings, the hard-luck Wall was very encouraged by his performance yesterday.

There wasn't a single bogey on his scorecard. Wall birdied No. 2 with a 7-foot putt, the 9th with a 20-footer and the 18th with an 8-footer. He missed only one green, the 2nd, and still got the par with a 5-foot putt as he posted a 34-35 round.

Altogether, 19 golfers in the field of 143 pros and 10 amateurs bettered par 36-36—72 nine knotted at even par 72. After a shaky front side 38, Bone came home in 34 blows with birdie putts of 10 and 17 on the 11th and 16th holes doing the trick. He birdied the 6th with a 16-footer, but trees and traps resulted in three outgoing bogies.

Defending Buick Open champ Jack Burke was in a precarious situation. After shooting a front-nine 36, Burke soared to 41 for a 77 total, eight strokes off the pace.

Goetz and Don Massengale accounter for the lone eagles. Both shot eagles threes on the 507-yard 13th hole.

Eleven shotmakers were tied at 71 with Dave Ragan stealing the show by a terrific job of scrambling. Ragan missed 10 greens and found seven bunkers, but got the job well done by taking only 26 putts.

Host pro Gene Bone was among

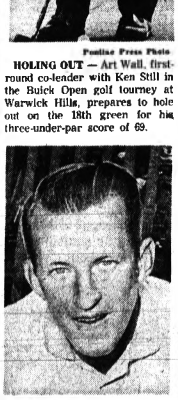
HOLING OUT — Art Wall, first-round co-leader with Ken Still in the Buick Open golf tourney at Warwick Hills, prepares to hole out on the 18th green for his three-under-par score of 69.



CO-LEADER — Ken Still of Tacoma, Wash., fired a 69 yesterday to tie Art Wall for first place after the opening round of the Buick Open.

SLUGGER — Rocky Colavito hit three consecutive home runs for the Detroit Tigers yesterday, but Cleveland won the game, 7-6.

Rookie Dillard Again Is Hero in Final Frame

Orioles Visit Detroit as Bengals Come Home Scalped by Indians

DETROIT (AP) — Cleveland knew the Rock was back in town last night.

★ ★ ★

Rocky Colavito slammed three home runs in what used to be his home stadium, vainly trying to rescue Detroit's Tigers from dropping their third straight game to the Indians.

But Cleveland's Don Dillard came through in the ninth inning with another game-winning clutch homer to win the slugfest 7-6.

It was Dillard's 13th inning grand slam Wednesday that gave Cleveland a 6-2 victory as the Indians took a double header.

Colavito batted in five runs against his former teammates and set up the 6-6 tie which Dillard broke. Colavito now has hit 20 home runs this season.

PLAY ORIOLES

The Tigers returned home to face Baltimore tonight.

June 10, 1959, Colavito hit four homers in consecutive times at bat for Cleveland at Baltimore. Until last night Chicago Cubs first baseman Ernie Banks had been the only player in the majors to hit three home runs in a game this season.

Rookie Al Luplow tagged Tiger Frank Lary, pitching in spite of an ailing shoulder, for a two-run homer in the first inning — his eighth of the year.

The Tigers scored in the second as Bubba Morton walked, stole second, advanced to third on an infield hit, and came home on Dick Brown's forceout.

But a grand slam homer in the third gave Cleveland a 6-1 edge. It was John Romano's 13th homer of the season. And it was Lary's last inning of the game.

★ ★ ★

Colavito's first homer came in the fourth. In the fifth he'd deuce in Jake Wood and Norm Cash with another homer. In the seventh another Colavito homer tied it at 6-all.

Colavito narrowly missed a fourth homer his next time at bat when he drove Billy Dalley's first pitch into the upper left field seats, but it was a foul by a few feet. Colavito then grounded out ducking away from an inside pitch.

Dalley, who was called up this week from the Indians' Salt Lake City farm club, got the victory and Ron Kline (1-3), Detroit's third pitcher, absorbed the loss.

Luplow who had returned to the lineup last night after crashing into the wall in Chicago last Sunday, bruising a knee, made a spectacular catch of a fly ball by Bill Bruton in the fifth and hurt himself again.

★ ★ ★

He was able to leave the field under his own power, apparently suffering from a pulled muscle.

Scheffing Predicts Tight AL Race

'I'm Not Homer Hitter'—Dillard

CLEVELAND (UPI) — This should come as a complete surprise to the Detroit Tigers, but utility outfielder Don Dillard of the Cleveland Indians insists he's not a home run hitter.

★ ★ ★

"I just swing and hope for a base hit," Dillard said last night after his two-out, ninth inning homer gave the Indians a 7-6 victory over the Tigers. "If they go out of the park, that's okay, too."

Dillard, who hit seven homers last season, now has four to his credit this year. He also wrecked the Tigers in the second game of a doubleheader Wednesday by hitting a grand slammer in the 13th inning.

PREDICTS CLOSE RACE

Bob Scheffing, manager of the Tigers, said the close race in the American League "is making people realize there are other good teams in the league besides New York."

Scheffing, who spoke at an Indians booster group, said he felt the American League race would continue to be tight. He listed Cleveland as a definite contender, but said he did not feel the Los Angeles Angels would hold up much longer. He said, however, the Angels would be tough for a while yet because of their momentum.

"The Yankees have been hampered a lot this year by injuries," Scheffing said. "And I don't think they're back to normal yet. Mickey Mantle isn't in good shape. When he played against us, he wasn't the Mantle we saw in May."

The Detroit manager added Minnesota was a much better club this year.

"The Twins," he said, "are the best club we've faced. We haven't beaten them yet."

Scheffing said he "wasn't about to say anything good about the Indians after they beat us twice Wednesday."

"Seriously," he added, "Cleveland is a definite contender. The Indians are a solid, hustling club, and two or three of their pitchers are as good as any in the league."

Turning to his own Tigers, Scheffing said the Detroit team would be "a threat all the way if we can get our injured players back."

He said outfielder Al Kaline would be able to start throwing July 12 and may be back in the lineup by July 17. Kaline suffered a broken collarbone May 26 in a game against the Yankees.

Pirates Aren't Buying July 4th 'Theory'

By United Press International

Don't try and sell the Pittsburgh Pirates that old theory about the Fourth of July major league pacesetters winding up in the World Series.

They're not buying.

★ ★ ★

History might be on the side of the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Los Angeles Angels because they reached the holiday milestone with half-game leads. However, the Pirates feel they're going to have a lot to say about the National League pennant race in the second half of the season.

The streaking Pirates, looking more and more like the 1960 world champions, scored their seventh straight victory by blanking the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Al McBean.

It's hard to predict toughest obstacles in the Pirates' pennant push. The Pirates, despite their streak, still are five games back of the Dodgers, who opened a 1½ game lead over San Francisco by cuffing the Giants, 11-3, yesterday.

EIGHTH TRIUMPH

McBean struck out five and issued only one walk in blanking the Phils for his eighth victory of the campaign. The Pirates scored all their runs off Jim Owens, who lasted only two innings. Dick Groat, who has hiked his average to .322 during the Bucs' winning streak, hit his first homer of the season to climax a three-run second inning.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers became the majors' first 15-game winner, scattering eight hits and striking out eight Giants. Among big Don's strikeout victims were Orlando Cepeda (three times) and Willie Mays (twice), Loser Mike McCormick, who lasted only five innings, gave up homers to Willie Davis, Ron Fairly, Tommy Davis and Frank Howard.

The Baltimore Orioles scored three runs in the eighth inning to down the Chicago White Sox, 5-4 in the only other game on Thursday's thin major league schedule.

Jackie Brandt hit his 11th homer off loser Frank Baumann in the seventh inning and singled home the Orioles' winning run in the next frame. Skinny Brown allowed only one hit during 3⅓ innings of relief work to pick up the victory.

Glowaz Hurls Another 3-Hit Masterpiece

The R. T. Clippers pushed fattering Don Nicholle deeper into the basement in the Class A City Baseball League last night with a 4-1 win at Jaycee Park.

Another dazzling mound performance by Pontiac Northern's Don Glowaz stifled the Nicholle bats.

Glowaz hurled his 2nd straight three-hitter and had a no-hit game going until the 5th inning when a misjudged fly ball resulted in a triple and led to Nicholle's lone run.

Glowaz struck out 10 and walked three. He also hit one batter.

★ ★ ★

The Clippers scored three runs in the top of the 6th inning to break a 1-1 tie. Chuck Honchell's single was the only hit in the stanza. Gene Cox made two safeties for the Clippers.

CLASS D ROMP

Brian O'Neil and Gary Kraft each made three hits to pace a 15-hit assault as Pontiac Boys Club walloped Westside Kiwanis, 16-3, in Class D Junior League activity.

★ ★ ★

On the Class E front, Dale Rowe hurled a four-hit shutout as the Pontiac Tigers downed St. Mike, 3-0; the Moose trimmed Junior Optimists, 12-2; McDonald's came up with 11 hits in a 9-7 victory over Perry Drugs; the Pontiac Optimists whipped 300 Bowl, 7-2; and Providence Bearcats tallied twice in the bottom of the 7th to ease out Eastern Hi-Y, 6-5.

The Hornets routed the Optimists, 21-1; Auburn Heights Boys Club ripped the Giants, 11-2; the Rebels were too big for the Little Shamrocks, 14-6; the Gunners gunned down the Yankees, 8-1; Fire Fighters drenched the Braves, 12-1; and the Little Falcons went eight innings for a 5-4 victory over Boys Club in Class F games.

In the Widget division, the Optimists nipped Perry Drugs, 6-5; Optimist No. 1 blasted P.B.O.A., 11-3; Moose scored at will in a 25-5 rout of Optimist No. 2; Tom Fairbanks homered twice as the Hawthorne Tigers defeated Baldwin Pharmacy, 12-5; Mike Lem was 4-for-4, including a home run, in the Blue Coats' 30-0 massacre of the Dodgers, which also featured Joe Reynolds' no-hit pitching; and Mac's Mobile scored three runs in the 5th to edge the Pontiac Township Chiefs, 7-6.

Stroh's Beer increased its lead in the Waterford Class B softball league last night by downing second place Spencer Floor Covering, 3-2.

The winners came up with three unearned runs in the first inning off loser John Herrington on a single and two errors. Ed Miller, who was relieved by Jim McClellan in the fifth, was the winner.

Stroh's now leads by 3½ games.

Bill York singled and tripled, and Norm Jennings hurled a 3-hitter, as O'Neil Realty sent Sarles Investment to its 12 loss in 13 games 5-2 in the other "B" contest.

Qualifying Date Bothers Nicklaus

Feels He May Not Play in British Event; Role of Favorite to Arnie

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, United States Open Champion, today talked about his worries that he might not even qualify for the British Open Golf Championship starting Monday—"because of some bugs in my game."

★ ★ ★

Nicklaus, of Tucson, Ariz., is among the favorites in the field of about 250 golfers from 19 countries entered for the championship.

★ ★ ★

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., who won the title last year, is the betting favorite at 2-1. Nicklaus and Gary Player of South Africa, winner in 1959, are joint second favorites at 11-2.

IRON TROUBLE

"Some of my iron shots have been 15 feet off target to the right and this kinda bugs me," the 22-year-old Nicklaus said.

"But I have had my clubs adjusted and I'm hoping things are going to get sorted out quickly.

"I played a round late yesterday afternoon with the adjusted clubs and had a 68. That's the best I've done here."

★ ★ ★

Nicklaus played with Palmer, Player and Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif. They practiced over the 6,788 yard par 37-35—72 Loch green course—one of the two qualifying layouts.

★ ★ ★

Palmer and Rodgers defeated Player and Nicklaus 2 and 1. Palmer, Rodgers and Player all shot 70s.

JOKING MOOD

Rodgers, a 24-year-old former American Marine, was the favorite with the crowd as he joked and cracked his way around the course.

On the last hole he chipped the ball into the hole from 50 yards and then did a victory march to the flag.

4 Straight Wins for Weatherly in Cup Boat Races

NEWPORT R.I. (AP) — The America's Cup trials entered their fifth day today with one boat a big winner and one a big loser, but not too much else proved.

Weatherly has won four races and Easterner has yet to show her transom to any of the three other boats.

★ ★ ★

Today, Boston's two entries, Nefertiti and Easterner, meet again as they did Tuesday when Eastern was blanked. The other race of the day is between Columbia, 1958 cup defender, and Weatherly, the four-year-old boat with a new keel and a smart, old skipper.

★ ★ ★

Yachtsmen agree it pays to have a smart skipper who wins the start. Most of the races have been won by the boat that got a commanding wind position at the starting gun.

Woodside Horse Breeding Farm Sold

Sale of the 140-acre Woodside Farm near Leonard, by Harold and Lucille Hopkins to Detroiters Sid and Maxine E. Bertin was announced today.

The price was not revealed but it was believed to be in the neighborhood of $90,000.

The Hopkins gave up the plush standardbred breeding farm and boarding spot for pacers and trotters competing in the Detroit area, because of business commitments in Cleveland, O. They will move there in a few weeks.

The Bertins will take over immediately and start work on improvements they believe will make the farm one of the harness breeding showplaces of the midwest.

Bertin, who has been a partner and now sole owner of the United Stables, is an insurance broker and manager for several companies. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Life Insurance Co. and manager of a four-state area for United Insurance Company of America.

★ ★ ★

He and his wife haven't decided on a new name for the farm but are thinking of changing it to the United Stock Farm. A decision is expected within a few weeks.

The farm, which has been operated by the Hopkins for the past eight years, has long been rated as just about the finest breeding farm in this section.

But Bertin plans to turn it into an establishment that will rank with the best in Kentucky.

★ ★ ★

The purchase includes a 10-room house, divided into two apartments; a house for the caretaker; a master barn with 18 box stalls; a training barn with nine stalls and tack rooms; and a half-mile all-weather track which will be widened to take care of six sulkies abreast within a short time.

The farm has its own water supply with pressure pumps; is interlaced with gravel roads and has 10 fenced-in paddocks ala Kentucky style.

THE PALMER METHOD

NEVER LOCK YOUR KNEES

The golfer who locks either knee at any time during his swing will suffer. His swing will be jerky, and without power.

At the top of the backswing, for instance, both knees should be flexed.

From this point, the golfer is ready to deliver the clubhead into the impact zone with smooth, graceful power. As the downswing starts, the right knee bends toward the ball and the left knee swings toward the target.

Wings Make Racer 'Fly' at Daytona

ATLANTA (AP) — Wings for a racing car? Certainly, says an aeronautical engineer. They would keep high speed racers on the ground.

★ ★ ★

Last July, Art Malone drove a strange looking vehicle owned by Bob Osiecki of Charlotte, N.C. over the International Speedway at Daytona Beach, Fla., at a record 181.561 mph.

The car looked part automobile and part airplane. It had wings and a tail fin. Osiecki, a racing equipment manufacturer, had dreamed of smashing the Daytona speed barrier. The speedway chief, Bill France, had placed a $10,000 prize for the first 180-mile lap.

Racing drivers face big hazards coming out of a turn onto the straightaway. The centrifugal drag tears at tire rubber, making control difficult and sometimes impossible.

A slight rise in the track will send a car into the air. Its speed keeps it there too long. Consequently, it sometimes goes into a spin.

INVERTED WINGS

Osiecki thought that if wings could keep an airplane up, they could be inverted so that they would keep a race car down.

He went to Prof. John F. Harper, an aeronautical engineer at the Guggenheim School of Aeronautics at Georgia Institute of Technology.

Harper designed stubby, three-foot-square wings. The wings give the car about 900 pounds of downward thrust at speeds of about 180 mph, giving the car to the track.

Harper says body design is about the only thing left that could give more speed to a racer. Modern, high-speed vehicles already have more power than they can use to advantage, he says.

★ ★ ★

Inverted wings give a racer reverse lift, or downward pull. Technically, they are called cambered inverted air foils.

Mounted near the car's center of gravity, the angle of the wings can be controlled by the driver to get the best results at varying speeds.

A tail fin acts much like a weather vane, and helps keep the car under control at the end of a turn.

Osiecki's car, "Mad Dog IV," was clocked at 226 mph in the straightaways. And Osiecki says the throttle was only half open.

Elks Pitcher Helps Himself

Pitcher Lynus Grant of Elks No. 810 won his own ball game Thursday night as the Elks rallied with three runs in the bottom of the 7th for a 5-4 triumph over Arro Realty to highlight City Softball League action.

The loss was pinned on veteran hurler Jake Masur, who relieved starter Harry Aveslan with one man aboard and two out. Masur walked Al Smith, then Grant hit safely to score Marshall Rose, who had tripled, plus Smith with the winning tally. Grant twirled six-hit ball.

UAW Local 594 scored four times in the 5th and thrice in the 6th to overcome a 6-3 deficit and defeat Hi-Way Collison, 10-6. Gerald Wedge of Hi-Way and UAW's Marv Holler each slugged home runs.

The 10-run rule was invoked after 3½ innings as Howe's lanes drubbed the Pontiac Police, 11-1. Howe's tallied eight times in the first stanza and Ralph Long coasted to victory on a three-hitter. G&M Construction scored once in the 6th to break a 5-5 tie and nip Motorcar Transport, 6-5. Jerry Byerly's single delivered the decisive run.

U.S. Could Out-Grapple the World

TOLEDO (AP) — There was little joy in Teheran or Istanbul this week; the Russians had won the world series of wrestling here and the mighty Turks and Iranians had struck out.

But the folks in Mudville didn't much care.

★ ★ ★

Russia took first place both in the freestyle and Greco-Roman contests last week — a blow to Iran, Turkey and other nations in which wrestling is the national sport.

Russia, Turkey, Iran, Bulgaria and Japan were out to win in the 30-nation contest, while the United States was just out, most American observers conceded.

Americans are the best wrestlers in the world — technically speaking, said Joe Scalzo, former wrestler, Olympic coach, and the man responsible for bringing the world tournament to Toledo.

★ ★ ★

"If the object is to demonstrate versatility and mastery of many skills — American wrestlers are without peer," he said.

But they need the concentration and discipline only Europeans seem to have, he said. They concentrate on one or two holds they can do best and use only them, he said.

COPY TECHNIQUES

Japanese coaches admit that their wrestlers compete in the United States to learn American techniques — but they carry what they learn a step further. Japanese wrestlers hold a number of American Amateur Athletic Union titles, and Masaki Hatta, a Japanese student at Oklahoma State University, holds the NCAA title.

Dean Rockwell, a Detroit manufacturers' representative and coach of the U. S. Greco-Roman team, said Americans display an even greater lack of interest in his form of wrestling. (In Greco-Roman, no holds are allowed below the waist, and the legs may not be used).

The Greco-Roman team is made up for the most part of men left over from freestyle wrestling.

Other nations have been tolerant — even sympathetic — toward the United States, realizing it is a sport "we care nothing about," he said.

Someone has to keep amateur wrestling going on a post-graduate level in the United States, he said. There is some hope, he said, in the fact that three Greco-Roman centers are being developed — the New York Athletic Club, the San Francisco Olympic club and the Detroit area, particularly Hasel Park where he does most of his work.

Jim Burke of the San Francisco Olympic Club placed third in the 154-pound weight class, becoming the first American in history to win a medal in international Greco-Roman competition.

★ ★ ★

A little more effort by college coaches could put the United States seriously into the international running, said Bill Smith, coach of the American freestyle team.

COULD DOMINATE

Scalzo went further and said:

"The United States can dominate the world in freestyle wrestling any time it chooses, if it is willing to pay the price."

The Turks and Iranians — down this year — will revise their entire sports program until they come out on top again, he predicted.

Bulgaria has been moving up fast on the inside for the past few years.

Mihail Mihailov, the Bulgarian coach, said his young, highly-trained team would continue to improve. Soviet trainers said they agreed.

Mihailov said there are 20,000 wrestlers in Bulgaria — a country of eight million. Wrestling would become the sport of the people in Bulgaria, he said.

Bulgaria came out third, after Russia and Turkey in the Greco-Roman competition.

Japan finished second behind Russia in the freestyle competition, followed by Iran, defending world champion.

Emotion ran high as the Turks, Russians and Iranians faced each other.

Crowds of Turkish students — most of them from the University of Michigan — waved flags — a red field with a white crescent moon and star — and cheered their wrestlers on with football-like chants.

"Those Turks," one Iranian student said, "we hate them more than we hate the Russians.

"They've got square brains," he said.

Cloak and Dagger Sign Stealing Denied

NEW YORK (NEA) — Birdie Tebbetts in New York bemoaned the stealing of catchers' signs by mystery men with high-powered binoculars in the center field stands.

★ ★ ★

The voluble manager of the Milwaukee Braves talked like a district attorney. He spoke of a mysterious voice on the other end of a telephone, suggested putting the culprits under oath and the use of lie-detector tests.

The interview with Tebbetts made a lot of learned baseball people wonder where they had been.

"It's a lot of bunk," said Frank Crosetti, who has practically gone with the lease at Yankee Stadium. "It's the kind of stuff you used to read in dime novels. The fellow talking about stealing signs by signals coming from the holes in a center field scoreboard and whatnot is only trying to sound like a wise guy. I've been with the Yankees for 31 years and you have my word for it that none of that kind of kookie stuff has gone on here."

For 16 years, all Yankee signs from the manager in the dugout have been transmitted through Crosetti, the eagle-eyed old shortstop coaching at third base. So, you see, The Crow is something of an authority on the subject.

"Oh, I imagine signs have been stolen through field glasses and in other tricky ways, but there has been — and is — so little of this that it is inconsequential," said Ralph Houk, the former catcher managing the champions.

"I have to say that stealing signs from a distance is greatly overrated and positively dangerous. Anyone advocating such foolishness is setting up some poor hitter to be killed. The catcher can switch signs. So can the pitcher. The catcher can have a series of signs, and how's a guy with telescopic sights 500 feet away going to know which is for real? The batter expected a curve ball on the outside and getting a fast ball inside could be hit."

"I wouldn't take a sign if they sent me one by Western Union," cut in Yogi Berra, a fair country catcher who for 16 years has been considered the most dangerous of late inning left-hand clutch hitters. "I like to read my own pitchers."

PITCHER BLAMED

"That's right, the pitch is tipped by the pitcher much oftener than the catcher's signs are stolen," said Sam Mele, the Minneapolis manager in the opposite dugout.

"Many pitchers tip their mitts like bad poker players. There are coaches and players who excel at picking up peculiarities of delivery. The way the pitcher holds the ball may tell the observer something. A change in the windup may give the tipoff. The pitcher's pattern in previous games may give the hitter a bulge. He'll remember what the pitcher threw and in what order."

"Hank Greenberg used to like to know what was coming," recalled Jerry Coleman, the former second baseman now broadcasting for CBS. "Mickey Mantle can hit the ball out of sight when tipped off. But you tell some hitters that a fast ball is coming and they'll swing at one foot above their head."

"Bill Skowron, for example," said someone.

"I didn't say that," said Jerry Coleman. "But speaking of reading pitchers, Joe Coleman would stop here on a curve and come down to here for a fast ball. And Early Wynn's hands, for another example, go back of his head on every thing but the knuckle ball. For that one, they stop at his forehead."

"Good pitchers aren't too concerned about tipping off the hitter or signs being stolen," concluded Frank Crosetti.

The consensus was that there isn't nearly as much cops and robbers stuff in baseball as there is on television.

Karen Prepares to Face 'Soft-Ball'

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)— Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, United States Wightman Cup tennis star, today started laying plans to master a loping, soft-balling Czech player who reached the Wimbledon final by upsetting four of the world's top stars.

★ ★ ★

Karen, 19, plays Mrs. Vera Sukova, 30, in the final Saturday. The two have never met before.

Karen was seeded No. 8. Nobody thought of seeding Mrs. Sukova, an ambling, heavily built baseline player who has been around the European circuit for years and never done anything spectacular.

SENT TO SIDELINES

But in the last 10 days, almost unnoticed, she has demolished Jan Lehane of Australia and three seeded stars — defending champion Angela Mortimer of Britain, U.S. Wightman Cup star Darlene Hard and 1959-1960 Wimbledon champion Maria Bueno of Brazil.

Sukova achieved her most incredible triumph Thursday. Loping about the baseline and playing a largely defensive game, she edged out Miss Bueno, 6-4, 6-3 in the semifinals.

★ ★ ★

Susman avenged a Wightman Cup defeat and crushed Ann Haydon of Britain 8-6, 6-1.

"I don't know much about Mrs. Sukova," Mrs. Susman admitted. "I've watched her play a few times, and I know she is a baseline player. I shall have to start thinking out a plan to beat her."

BRITISH HOPES END

So That's Why She Lost!

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)— Question: Can the color of a girl's panties affect her tennis?

★ ★ ★

Maria Bueno, the 22-year-old Brazilian champ, wore dazzling pink drawers at her Wimbledon semifinal Thursday.

Which, some folks say, is one reason why she lost.

CROWD LAUGHED

Maria's pants were so luminous that every time she displayed them—when she served or leaped for a shot—the center court crowd laughed.

And every time they laughed Maria fumed.

★ ★ ★

"The crowd's laughter must have affected her tennis," said Dr. Paulo da Silva Costa, president of the Brazilian Tennis Federation.

Maria, the favorite, went down 4-6, 3-6 to Czech housewife Vera Sukova who wore conservative white pants.

ANOTHER VIEW

Maria's outfit was created by Teddy Tinling, who designs most of the more unconventional Wimbledon styles. Tinling said:

"The crowd was amused, but I don't think her outfit had any affect on her play."

★ ★ ★

The All-England club committee is reported planning to consider making women wear white in future, with their club colors.

Wimbledon Referee Col. John Legg was all in favor of a change back to good old tradition.

Reds to Maintain Their Version of Freedom

China Restates Religion Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China has announced that it will maintain its version of religious freedom for a long time to come. It conceded, however, that it has been guilty of errors in its religious policy.

These declarations were made by Chang Chih-yi, deputy director of the Communist party's united work front department, in the April issue of Nationalities Issue, a translation of which has just been made available here. They were part of a restatement of the Chinese line on religion.

★

Chang noted that the principal religions in China are Catholicism, Islam, Buddhism, Taoism, and Christianity, by which he presumably meant Protestantism.

★ ★ ★

"These five different religions not only have a long history but will exist for quite a long period of time to come after the establishment of a Socialist society or even a Communist society," he said.

The Chinese Communist policy towards religion, he indicated, is to recognize its impact on the masses and seek to use it for its own ends.

To do so, it has placed religion under patriotic control and imprisoned priests and missionaries, both Chinese and foreign, who resisted this move.

SURFACE FREEDOM

The purged religions which have emerged have been given at least surface freedom. The churches, mosques and temples remain open, in some cases they have been repaired or reconstructed, and religious believers have been free to attend them.

★ ★ ★

Chang, whose department is concerned with minorities, did not specify what mistakes had been made.

He made it clear, however, that these errors did not include the imprisonment of priests and others accused of counterrevolutionary activity.

★ ★ ★

"In the past," he said, "our government has punished, in accordance with law, a group of imperialist elements and traitors who carried out counterrevolutionary activities by wearing religious cloaks.

★ ★ ★

"Here the question of religious belief did not arise. In the future (masses (including the mass of religious followers) in resolutely suppressing all elements who use religion for carrying out counterrevolutionary and other law-breaking activities."

the government will, on the one hand, continue to persist in the implementation of the policy of freedom of religious belief, and on the other, contine to rely on the

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

The habit of making your play first, then doing your thinking later is just about as bad a habit as a bridge player can acquire.

South was delighted by the opening ♠ s p a d e lead. He played low from dummy and won the trick with his jack.

Then he looked for new worlds to conquer and suddenly found that he would have no way to get to his hand for his nice diamonds.

He thought a while and made a valiant effort. He led the queen of spades and if West had covered, everything would have been hunky-dory, but West knew South held the ten spot. East had played the eight at trick one.

West ducked and now South had to go after the clubs. Unfortunately, that suit broke badly for him. So did the hearts and South had to go down.

Had South just thought a little before playing to the first trick he would have gone up with dummy's ace of spades.

Then he would have set up the diamond suit and eventually got to his hand with a spade to wind up with four diamond tricks and two in each of the other suits.

A—Bid three no-trump. A pass would not be too far out of line, but your ten of spades looks like a mighty good card and no one wants to stop one trick short of game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two no-trump your partner has gone to two spades over your two hearts. What do you do in this case?

Some Down 2 Points

Stock Dip After Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a fairly sharp loss early this afternoon after five straight sessions in which advances outnumbered declines. Trading was active.

Key stocks were down from fractions to about 2 points. The volatile "growth" stocks were down considerably more.

TAKING PROFITS

Profit-taking on the market's rebound from its 1962 lows was the reason given by brokers for the retreat.

"The market is acting true to form," said one.

* * *

Normal preweekend caution lent emphasis to the selling as traders don't like to be out on a limb with the possibility of unexpected news and with markets closed.

The retreat was general, taking in steels, motors, rails, oils, chemicals, tobaccos, electrical equipments, aerospace issues and the savings-and-loan stocks which rallied sharply yesterday.

The list declined from the start and, after making its lows late in the morning, came back a little.

* * *

Among the savings - and - loan holding companies, Financial Federation was down a couple of points while losses of around a point were shown by United Financial of California, First Charter Financial, and Trans-World Financial. Great Western Financial was a fractional loser.

* * *

International Business Machines dropped about 8 points, Xerox and Polaroid around 3 apiece.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in moderate trading. Paddington "A" fell more than 2. Losses of about a point were taken by Masco, Cinerama, Aiken Chemical, Molybdenum, Seeburg, Louisiana Land, Syntex, and Occidental Petroleum. Insurance Co. of North America and Signal Oil "A" were up about a point each. Helena Rubinstein, Hercules Gallon, and Kratter "A" rose fractionally.

Bond Trade Opens Light

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate bonds were mixed and government issues almost unchanged in light opening trading today.

Most corporate price changes were in fractions, but Northern States Power 2¾s of 1982 dropped 5½ to 83½, and American Telephone & Telegraph 2⅝s of 1980 dipped one point to 74.

There was little movement among government issues except in the more distant maturities, where some issues were off 2/32. There was no change in intermediate or short term government.

* * *

Among corporate gains in fractions were Missouri Pacific 4¼s of 2005 at 69¼, General Motors Acceptance 4s of 1979 at 94⅛ and Union Gas Corp. 4½s of 1977 at 100.

American Motors, Ford, Oldsmobile Also Moving at High Pace

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet reported a host of auto industry new car sales records today and other makes reported generally improved business for the first half of 1962.

Chevrolet said its total car sales of 1,140,427 units in the January-June period beat the all-time record which it set two years ago by 19.1 per cent.

The General Motors division also claimed a record for June sales of 218,394 cars and a record for the final 10 days of June of 90,141 cars.

American Motors reported a 21 per cent gain in calendar year sales — 223,389 cars against 185,052 last year — and a model year record of 333,789 in nine months. June sales of 45,115 were the best since the company's record in June 1960.

Lincoln Mercury division of Ford reported a first half total of 185,910 cars compared with 172,160 last year, its best since 1955. June sales for the division totaled 35,388 cars, also the best since 1955.

Ford division said its June sales roughly matched last year's 122,000 cars but that for six months the current year stands at 745,650 against 674,175 in 1961. Ford blamed a strike in June for a slowdown in retail deliveries.

Oldsmobile reported June sales of 31,615 units compared with 25,180 last year and six month totals of 223,119 compared with 155,960 cars in 1961. The first half total was the best since 1956, the GM division said.

Truck Deliveries Boosted by GMC in First 6 Months

Domestic retail deliveries of new GMC trucks in the first half of this year were 18.6 per cent higher than in the similar period of 1961, it was announced today by Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division.

He said 40,178 new trucks were delivered domestically from January through June, compared with 33,863 in the six-month period last year.

In June alone, GMC truck deliveries totaled 6,838 compared with 5,970 in June of 1961, he added.

Grain Market Off to Sluggish Start

CHICAGO (AP) — Except for a little firmness in corn, the grain futures market showed little tendency to move either direction today in quiet early dealings on the board of trade.

Corn may have derived a little support from a private crop report issued after the close of trading yesterday but many dealers said they were inclined to discount it for the present.

Price changes were small all around in the absence of any significant demand. Traders said there still appeared to be a very light volume of hedging in the wheat pit.

Canadians May Ease on Medicare

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Saskatchewan's deputy premier said the provincial government is determined to continue its compulsory medical care plan but a hint of compromise appeared as a doctors' strike went into its sixth day today.

Deputy Premier J. H. Brockelbank told a news conference here that the provincial cabinet might consider calling the legislature into session, perhaps to act on amendments which would allow doctors to practice outside the health act.

"If there was satisfactory evidence a special session would do some positive good, it would receive favorable consideration by the provincial cabinet," he said.

In another hint of conciliation, Brockelbank disclosed that Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd was in eastern Canada on a secret mission. He did not reject a possibility that Lloyd's mission might deal with mediation.

REJECTED MEDIATION

The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons has rejected mediation as unworkable now, with feelings running high.

Don McMillan, president of the Saskatchewan Hospital Association, disclosed he has talked with Canadian religious leaders about working out some kind of compromise.

Dr. Sam Landa, emergency coordinator for the Canadian Medical Commission, said in Saskatoon that emergency services have begun to shrink.

He reported 36 of the 240 doctors who volunteered service when the strike began have quit and the others are spread very thinly.

Surplus Down in City Report

Revenues Increased, Expenditures Dip, but Costs Went Up

Pontiac's annual financial report for 1961 has been submitted to the City Commission by Marvin M. Alward, finance director.

It shows that actual operating expenses were lower than budget estimates, revenues were higher than estimated and the city's unappropriated surplus dwindled.

Operating revenues for the calendar year were $5,124,944. This was some $74,250 or 1.45 per cent greater than the amount estimated when the 1961 budget was adopted.

Operating expenditures amounted to $5,439,574; some $63,120 or 1.16 per cent under the budget estimate.

The unappropriated surplus is an amount that city officials estimate will be left over at the end of each calendar year to finance operations through the first six months of the next calendar year—or until the July tax collection.

It is included in the budget estimates each year at $550,000.

In recent years, due to rising costs of operation, the actual unappropriated surplus has consistently slipped below the $550,000 mark.

As of Dec. 31, 1961 it was down to $395,202.

JFK Eyes Cut in Taxes; Key Is Economic Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he is giving very serious consideration to urgings from business and labor for an immediate tax cut. And he feels Congress should think hard about it too.

But, he told his news conference Thursday, the decision whether taxes should be reduced now or next year will depend on the economy's health as reflected by basic economic indicators.

Kennedy said he and his advisers will be watching these indicators closely "in the next months"

* * *

"If we feel that the situation in the economy warrants a tax cut then, of course, we would recommend it," he said.

For the present, said Kennedy, he will keep to his plan for tax reductions and other revisions next year.

He emphasized, however, that he and Congress should pay heed to recommendations from such diverse quarters as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for an early tax reduction.

* * *

"But the basic question will be to try to make an analysis as to the health of the economy over the next months," he added, "and whether '63 is the approriate time or now."

In the meantime, he said, the administration will press for congressional action on present economic legislation, including the bill to give tax credit for plant and machine modernization and the antidepression measures to give him standby authority to cut taxes and launch a public works program.

CALLS FOR TIES

The President reiterated his Fourth of July call for a declaration of interdependence with a united Europe—when Europe becomes one great organization, to advance all mankind.

"We would not want this to be a rich man's club while the rest of the world gets poorer," Kennedy said. "We want the benefits of this kind of union to be shared."

Would this lead to some kind of political union between the United States and Europe?

It depends on how you define political, Kennedy said. North Atlantic allies already have political commitments to each other, he said, and these may take on "a more intimate form."

Inevitably, homegrown politics and Democratic administration's relations with business came up in the half-hour conference. Kennedy said "an awful lot of businessmen" have supported the Democratic party, even though he agreed his party "is not the party of business." Asked what he thought of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's description of Republicans as the party of business, Kennedy replied with amusement:

"Well, I think, as I said, I dislike disagreeing with President Eisenhower, and so I won't in this case."

Du Pont Stock Move Upheld

Appeal Court Affirms Divestiture Order for General Motors Share

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals affirmed yesterday a federal court decision which cleared the way for E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. to begin distribution of 23 million shares of common stock of the General Motors Corp.

Chase Manhattan Bank, registrar for the GM stocks, was expected to set into motion immediately the mail distribution plan for the stock.

The distribution will be made only to the common stock holders of Du Pont. Certificates were to be mailed to the west coast today, to the midwest Friday, and to the east coast stock holders over the weekend.

The divestiture of the GM stock was opposed by two holders of $3.50 preferred Du Pont shares, David and Edward Schenker. The brothers claimed the planned distribution "discriminated" against preferred stock holders.

* * *

Late last Tuesday, Federal Court Judge Edmund L. Palmieri denied their motion for an injunction, stating that no loss would be incurred by any stockholders through the diverstitute proceeding.

The Schenkers appealed the ruling today and, after hearing brief argument on the appeal, the three-judge appeals court affirmed Judge Palmieri's action without hearing formal argument by Du Pont counsel.

The judges were Chief Judge J. Edward Lumbard, Judge Irvin R. Kaufman and Thurgood Marshall.

Iron Ore Use in U.S. Slips This May From 1961

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ore consumption at iron and steel plants in the United States in May totaled 7,973,608, compared with 8,310,273 for May 1961, the American Iron Ore Association reported yesterday.

The association noted, however, that total U.S. iron ore consumption to date is 48,229,470 tons, 13,582,961 tons higher than the total last year.

In May the ore inventory at iron and steel plants in the U.S. and Canada amounted to 44,497,206 tons, compared with 55,189,531 tons at the end of May, 1960.

* * *

Total lake shipments to U.S. ports by July 1 were 19,775,189 tons, against 13,510,651 for the same period last year, lake shipments in June to U.S. ports were 9,073,795 tons, compared with 8,383,775 in June 1960.

Holiday Holds Down Auto Output Count

DETROIT (AP) — Holiday shutdowns will hold auto production this week to 112,695 units, Automotive News said today.

The total, however, is well above the 85,962 cars built during the July 4th week last year. A week ago the industry turned out 126,521 cars.

Truck production was estimated at 17,790 units compared with 23,547 last week and 15,446 in the similar week of 1961.

The trade paper said Ford plans to run overtime at seven car assembly plants Saturday while Chevrolet will run an extra day at St. Louis. Ford plants at Wixom and St. Louis are in the first week of a two-week vacation.

The Dominion Day holiday Monday held Canadian factories to a four-day week. Production totaled 8,939 cars and 1,573 trucks against 9,744 cars and 1,946 trucks last week and 7,555 cars and 1,497 trucks last year.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks & Co. says it is his belief that the very nature of the recovery in the market we have been witnessing suggests that an important turn for the better has been made and greater stabilization of share prices will now be seen.

Analyst Jerome Peck says whether or not the ensuing recovery represents the beginnings of an extended summer rally remains to be seen, but in any event, it is confirming evidence that the panic phase of the market is over and investors can once again return to a serious look at high quality growth stocks which have demonstrated ability to continue growing despite weakness in the overall economy.

Stock Trend Service maintains that if the coming price consolidation holds above 550 in the DJYA on slow trading as expected by late this week "the best rally conditions in four months will prevail."

Goodbody & Co. says the recent strength may represent the early stage of a rally which could, with minor interruptions, extend over the next several weeks while the business outlook for this fall takes shape. Under such circumstances, the house adds, market movements and volume may be more moderate than those experienced during the past couple of months.

She was struck down on S. East Boulevard by a car driven by William Terentiak, 78, of 637 Central St.

Sherman Black, 4, of 325 Howard McNeill St. was hit in the street in front of his home while he was running toward an ice cream vendor's truck.

Surrenders in Death of Ex-Area Resident

A Tampa, Fla., man was being held today by Detroit police after he surrendered himself for questioning in the death of a former Rochester police dispatcher near Deckerville in the Thumb Area.

A muscular dystrophy victim, Lee E. Shaw, 48, the father of eight children, was beaten and strangled to death, according to State Police at the Sandusky post.

Isaac G. Heacock, 62, admitted he had a fight with Shaw "several days ago," detectives said.

Detroit police said Heacock told them he was headed home to Tampa but wanted to know first if he was sought by police because of the fight. He denied knowing Shaw was dead, they said.

Both Heacock and Shaw's wife, Ellen, 42, were held for further questioning by Sanilac County deputies.

Deputies said Mrs. Shaw, held as a material witness, told a story of the fight that contradicted Heacock's.

They said she reported she found her husband's body at the foot of the basement stairs yesterday after hearing him argue with Heacock outside the house the night before.

Heacock, a family friend, told police he went to the home "several days ago" and an argument developed, during which he said Shaw threatened him with his cane.

Heacock told police he knocked Shaw down and left the home.

Shaw worked for the Rochester police department for one year, returning to his farm in Wheatland Township about a year ago.

Service for Shaw will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Carman Funeral Home in Deckerville. Burial will be in Moore Township Cemetery.

Surviving are six sons, Gary, stationed at the Lackland Air Force Base, Charles, Arthur, Richard, William and Terry, two daughters Gayle and Karen, all at home, and his mother Mrs. Ethel Shaw of Snover.

Also surviving are four brothers, Keith of Snover, Merrill of Fairgrove, Clarence and Alvey of Rochester; and two sisters, Mrs. LaVerne Markelwitz and Mrs. William Secrist, both of Rochester.

Farmer Shows He's a Real Basketball Fan

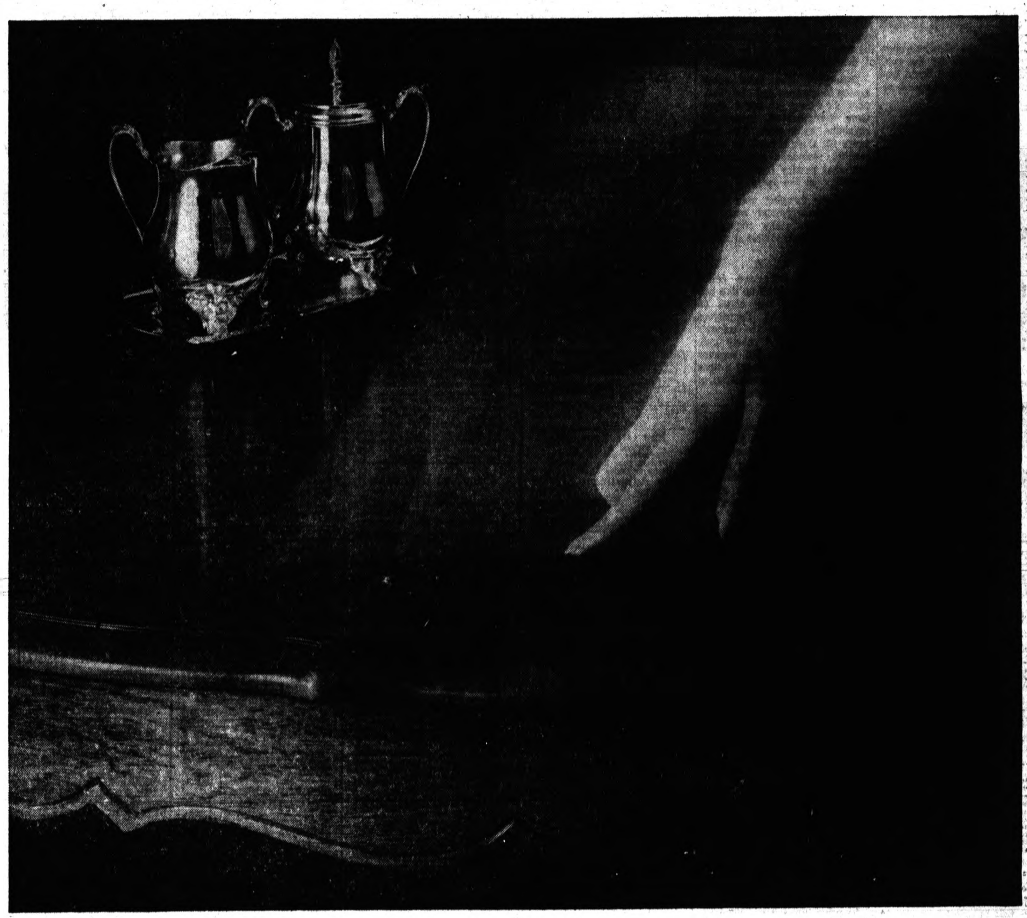
YODER, Wyo. (AP) — Douglas Eggert is a Yoder farmer and basketball fan. Or is it vice versa?

He inserted the following ad in the Scottsbluff, Nev., Star-Herald:

"Wanted, man with high school age son 6 feet or over, interested in basketball. Man must know cattle, irrigation, general farm work."

Eggert didn't land either his basketball player or farm help, so he inserted a new ad:

"Wanted, farm man with beautiful high school daughter who will attract basketball player to Yoder High. Man must know cattle, irrigation, general farm work."



"Now I Only Have to Dust Once a Week!"

"With electric heat, I don't have to wash walls or curtains as often as I used to," says Mrs. Orville Prime. "When we planned this home, we wanted a good heating system but one that didn't cost too much to have put in. We chose electric heat, saved money on installation and still got, in our opinion, the best heating system there is. It's certainly the cleanest! Another advantage is fingertip temperature control—we usually keep the heat lower in the recreation room and turn it up when we're going to use the room. It warms up in a few minutes."

Meet the Orville Prime family of Untonville, Michigan

What about your home? Do you have a hard-to-heat room? Are you adding on a room? Are you buying a new home? Is the heating system in your present home more trouble than it's worth? One of the types of electric heating units shown below may be the answer to your heating problems. One easy way to find out is to ask your electrical contractor. Another is to call your Edison office. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our free booklet "Electric Home Heating" and will answer any questions you may have about the modern, worry-free way to heat your home—electrically.

TOURIST'S NIGHTMARE — Mrs. Fred Cassetty isn't at all confused by numerous signs at rear of her Nashville, Tenn., home. Her son, Fred, makes them and places them in the yard untill he sells or rents them to construction companies.

Store Food in Bodies

Honey Ants Operating Strange 'Grocery Store'

WASHINGTON — Honey ants operate one of nature's strangest grocery stores.

A colony of the slender yellow insects survives during the cold, dry months by storing liquid food in the expandable bodies of selected ants.

"These living storage tanks, fed to the bursting point by their fellows, grow to the size and shape of amber pearls," writes Dr. Ross E. Hutchins in his article, "Living Honey Jars of the Ant World," Magazine.

HARVESTED AT NIGHT

Dr. Hutchins, who is senior entomologist of the State Plant Board of Mississippi and head of the zoology and entomology department at Mississippi State College, studied and photographed the rare honey ant in the Garden of the Gods Park, Colorado.

Throughout the brief rainy season in summer and early fall, ants scurry at night from their subterranean homes to shrublike shin oaks. The foragers fill their second, or community, stomachs with honeydew that exudes from globular swellings on the twigs.

When the foraging ants return to their underground nest, Dr. Hutchins says, they regurgitate and transfer their collected sweets to other ants.

* * *

The storage ants are called "repletes." They swell up like balloons and, using tiny claws on their feet, suspend themselves from the ceiling of the colony's underground nest. A colony may have as many as 300 repletes dangling like small, glossy grapes from the roof for the duration of their two-year life span.

HARD PLATES

The abdomen of a honey ant is covered by hard plates, joined together by a hidden membrane, says Dr. Hutchins. When storing honeydew, the ant stretches the membrane, leaving the armor plates mere islands on the globular surface.

* * *

In the dry season, hungry ants take drops of nectar from the living grocery stores. The ant may pass the honey on to baby ants or the queen. Like other ants and bees, the honey ants are organized in a matriarchal society centering about the queen. The worker ants are sterile females.

When a replete dies, it is usually dismembered and carried off to a "cemetery chamber."

Voting Machine Ends Chance of Human Error

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (UPI) — The latest thing in voting machines is a model which stamps out its returns in the same foolproof way as banks issue certified checks.

With the traditional voting machine, clerks must read off the totals at the end of election day. The new model provides a printed record — in embossed figures which cannot be altered.

The process "completely eliminates" the possibility of human error, according to the manufacturer.

July 4 Traffic Toll Record 146 Deaths

CHICAGO (UPI) — Traffic accidents claimed a record 146 deaths during the 30-hour Independence Day holiday period. The previous record for a one-day Fourth of July since World War II was 137 in 1956.

The over-all accident toll in the period from 6 p.m. Tuesday and midnight, Wednesday, was 255. In addition to traffic deaths, 16 persons died in boating accidents, 55 persons drowned and 38 persons were killed in miscellaneous accidents. The National Safety Council had estimated that between 110 and 150 persons would die during the period.

* * *

The record high traffic toll in a one-day holiday period since World War II was 253 on Christmas Day 1946.

Lack of Material No Problem to Singer Burl Ives

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — When troubadour Burl Ives arrived in Nashville recently for recording sessions he didn't know what he would sing.

But the bearded giant whose guitar strummed ballads have become part of American folklore considered it no problem.

"I listen and I listen and I listen until something sends me, something that will do the job," he explains.

How can folk music become a best selling record? Ives believes appeal is first because it is poetic. "Secondly, it quite usually has to do with the human things, and the things humans like to do."

How about the singing?

* * *

"Well, I sing as if I'm telling a story . . . there must be somebody listening, even if it's only in your imagination. Then you sing to the world."

'Man May Be Subject to Tooth Contagion'

BONN, Germany (AP)—A leading American dental research scientist says it has been proved that tooth decay may be contagious in humans—as well as animals.

Dr. Robert J. Fitzgerald, of the National Institute of Dental Research in Bethesda, Md., told a news conference tooth decay can be produced by inoculating an animal with decay-producing germs, whereupon the disease passes from animal to animal merely by close contact.

Fitzgerald is among 150 dental physicians and research workers attending an international conference on oral biology here.

Politicians in Miami to Answer Questions

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami city commission voted yesterday to ask members of Dade (Miami) County's metro commission who ran in the recent election to say under oath whether they got help from the billboard industry.

The metro commission voted earlier this week to permit billboards to be built along the county's new expressways.

The new ordinance conflicts with a city requirement that billboards be set back 600 feet from expressways.

Mayor Robert King High charged after the ordinance passed that commissioners who voted for it could not have been voting in the best interests of the people.

Named to Head Division of Detroit, Canada NYC

DETROIT (AP) — H. M. Babcock has been named superintendent of the newly consolidated Detroit-Canada Division of the New York Central Railroad, with headquarters in Detroit.

Babcock has been superintendent of the Canada Division, with headquarters at St. Thomas, Ont., for the last three years.

PICK HIT OF THE WEEK: LA BOMBA by the Tokens

'Born in Upper Peninsula'

Michigan Claims Paul Bunyan

LANSING (UPI) — Folks in Seney, are getting a lot of laughs these days from the dispute between Bangor, Maine, and Bemidji, Minn., as to where Paul Bunyan, the legendary lumberman, was born. Obviously, he's from Seney.

"There couldn't possibly be any real birth certificate for Paul," said Robert J. Furlong, director of the Michigan Tourist Council and a native of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

"They didn't keep birth records way back when Paul was was born, but everybody knows that he was born on the old McNerney farm on the east bank of the Tahquamenon River in Luce County."

Paul did a lot of traveling in his youth but when he came back home to settle down and go to work he picked Seney as his base of operation.

* * *

Some of the older residents in the Manistique Lakes region, who recall the lumbering days when Michigan's forests rebuilt the burned out city of Chicago, remember Paul's father.

"These people in Maine are trying to make you believe that Paul's parents were of French descent," said Furlong.

"Nothing could be further from the truth. Bunyan is really a Russian name and Paul's father's name was Ivan."

* * *

The story has it that Ivan climbed a Siberian elm tree during a violent windstorm and the force of the gale carried him and the tree across the Arctic to the northern Great Lakes.

"When that tree came down, with Ivan hanging on for dear life, it plowed a 50-mile long furrow along the southeast corner of Lake Superior," Furlong said. "We call it Whitefish Bay now."

Ivan fell in love with the daughter of a Western New York "appleknocker" who had moved his family to Sault Ste. Marie, and he soon got married and settled on the banks of the Tahquamenon, not far from the famed falls.

Paul was such a strapping fellow that he soon won the respect of all the loggers and was made foreman of a big camp near Seney.

If you drive north on M77 across the Fox River you can still see where he set the record for one day's production by clearing strip all the way from town to Grand Maris on the shores of Lake Superior to win a bet with his Swedish cook.

Paul has been gone from the scene for a long time but the beautiful land where he lived and worked is still there.

Missions Lure Many Tourists

They Run for 600 Miles Along California Coast; Built Centuries Ago

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Stretching some 600 miles along the California coast from San Diego north to Sonoma is a chain of 21 Franciscan missions — all still standing in part or whole — that two centuries ago were the cultural backbone of the state.

Though dimmed in their glamour as tourist and historical sites in recent years by shiny, new attractions such as Disneyland, the missions — their crumbling adobe walls weather beaten by decades of wind and rain — still draw many visitors who come to California.

Built as outposts a day's journey or about 40 miles apart from each other, the missions were connected by a traveled path known as El Camino Real — literally the Royal Road or the King's Highway.

Today the modern stretch of U.S. 101 follows approximately the same path of the Spanish priests who trudged the rugged coast country to bring religion to the Indians of "Alta (Upper) California."

ACCESSIBLE BY CAR

All the 21 missions, from the first built at San Diego to the final structure at Sonoma — some 40 miles north of San Francisco — are easily accessible by car.

Some are in the cities. Others, as San Antonio de Padua are located away from humanity — reached only by a single loop of road.

Most famous of the missions is beautiful San Juan Capistrano.

Located about 60 miles south of Los Angeles, it has drawn attention for its connection with the swallows which — according to legend — return every March 19, St. Joseph's Day, and leave Oct. 23.

Later missions were established all the way up and down El Camino Real.

Santa Barbara, in the city of the same name and known as the Queen of the Missions, is one of the most photographed of all the Franciscan chapels. Its twin bell towers are a famous sight.

Neophyte Painter Shows That He's No Imitator

ATLANTA (UPI) — Mrs. Dorothy M. Van Schleven is a seventh grade science teacher who wants her pupils to understand the relationship between the sciences and the arts.

* * *

She asked her class to create something using common objects around their homes.

Bobby Wood took his material from a biology laboratory and his technique from the avant garde.

This is how he came up with a nonrepresentational painting:

"I took some plain old fishing worms and dipped them in paint. Then I took them out with tweezers and let them wriggle across a piece of plywood that I had painted white.

"Then I dipped the tweezers in the paint and flung the paint across the board."

19 Governors Back Swainson on Rights

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. Swainson reports that 19 of the state chief executives attending the 54th annual governor's conference at Hershey, Pa., signed his resolution in support of equal opportunity for all Americans.

The seven-point resolution called for equality of access to the ballot and public offices, equality of justice and protection under law and equality of opportunity in employment, education, housing and access to public facilities and accommodations.

* * *

Swainson said a copy of the resolution will be forwarded to President Kennedy as an expression of the sentiment of the governors in the field of human rights.

Chiang's China to 'Keep Word Concerning War'

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — A foreign ministry spokesman reaffirmed today that Nationalist China will abide by the treaty with the United States concerning war with Communist China.

Spokesman Patrick Sun said "It is our duty to follow the treaty." He said the treaty calls for "an exchange of notes" prior to any nationalist attack on the Chinese mainland.

Nabbed in Pajamas

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — A desperate homeowner was nabbed here recently in a predawn binge of watering his lawn. He had sneaked out in his pajamas to splash the grass and beat the city's no-sprinkling rule that resulted from a long drought.

On the average, $14,000 worth of machines, equipment and such are needed to create one job in United States industry.

Bottle Brews Interest in Church Steeple

HAMPTON FALLS, N. H. (UPI) — Did you ever see a beer bottle on top of a church steeple? That's one of the tourist attractions here.

The late Frank Jones, a rags-to-riches New Hampshire brewer, was an extremely generous man as well as owning a puckish sense of humor — to a point of attaching unusual conditions to his gifts.

There are no church records to prove it, but some suspect there's a connection between the oldtime brewer and the bottle on the steeple.

The unusual sight is just 40 miles north of Boston on US 1, just over the New Hampshire line.

Mexican Minstrels Give Guitar to the President

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy is getting a guitar from the Mariachi Union of Mexico—the wandering minstrels who serenaded him during his visit here last weekend.

Mario Oliva Lara, secretary general of the union, turned the guitar over to President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to be forwarded to the White House.

'Most Horror-ble' Film Made by Vincent Price

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Vincent Price, "the pin-up boy of the graveyards, the Cary Grant of horror pictures," just learned he's to be cover-boy the third time on "Famous Monster" magazine—making him more horrible than any other horror.

WILSON

"I made horror pictures long before—although they weren't called that," he says.

Coffins, quicksand, bats, rats, cobwebs, ghosts, fire, claustrophobia and agoraphobia are hobbies he merrily discusses with fellow horrors Basil Rathbone, Peter Lorre and Boris Karloff in Hollywood. Price arrived here to proclaim that "Poe's Tales of Terror," released this week in 105 N.Y. theaters, is the all-time most terror-ble.

"One thing scares me—a snake," he shuddered the other midnight. "I w-w-won't handle one."

Art expert and lecturer, once co-starred with Helen Hayes, Price made 70 other movies before he got the horrors. The horrors have been his biggest—maybe because you can't see those on TV.

"And anything that's successful, you get stuck with—thank God!" he said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Sophia Loren tells the London Sunday Pic: "Oh, if you knew how much I want to bear my first child and the next and next and next" . . . Scott Carpenter saw "A Thousand Clowns" and laughed plenty when Jason Robards Jr. asks Barry Gordon, "Would you like to be the first 12-year-old to go into space?" . . . Broadway dialogue: "Doesn't hard-up 20th Century-Fox have any old movies it can sell to TV?" . . . "Only 'Cleopatra'."

William Holden will open a string of snack bars in Paris (which'll compete with BBardot's snack bars) . . . Connie Francis took her mother and aunt along to the French Riviera, where she's filming "Follow the Boys" . . . Alan Ladd's asking 200Gs for his plush Palm Springs home. . . . Robert Mitchum explains why he became an actor: "To get out of working" . . . The boss of a twist spot described his dungaree'd, T-shirted customers: "We got the very finest collection of hubcap stealers in town" . . .

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Business must be bad everywhere," notes Robert Orben. "I mean, if someone like Marilyn Monroe is out of work . . ."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Bob Hunter offers this advice to summer campers in the national parks: "Never pat a bear until it's a rug."

EARL'S PEARLS: We owe a lot to daytime TV. Think of all thewo mcawnihtnge ? all the women watching it who might otherwise be out driving.

A careful driver, according to Hank Grant, is a guy who just made the final payment on his car . . . That's earl, brother.

Is His Singing an Example of Police Brutality?

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Policeman George Olen Kent, composer of more than 50 songs, often sings to prisoners as he drives them to jail in the paddy wagon.

"Lots of times they beat on the doors and say they don't mind going to jail but they shouldn't have to listen to my singing," Kent said with a laugh.

He specializes in "country pop" music and has made several records — singing and accompanying himself on the guitar. Kent has been a policeman four years. His duties include driving the paddy wagon, dispatching and jailing.

The baritone is one singer who does not have to worry if he is off key. He has a captive audience.

Find Noise Can Destroy Powerful Space Craft

WASHINGTON — The blast from Joshua's trumpets may not have crumbled the walls of Jericho, but the roar of today's rocket engines can destroy space craft.

Since rocket noises can set off vibrations violent enough to threaten the self-destruction of a spaceship, aerospace engineers have built a giant siren for preflight tests of space equipment.

The siren, located in the Rocky Mountains near Denver, is the world's most powerful. It produces a sound level of 172 decibels—more than a million times the level that causes ear pain.

Destructive noise is nothing new for people living below air space where supersonic jets must regularly fly, says the National Geographic Society.

* * *

The sonic boom of jets passing through the sound barrier can shatter household windows. Jets have been blamed for cracking buildings and jarring church organs out of tune.

An irate woman of the state of Washington claimed that a jet fighter's thunder clap blew out all her radio tubes, frightened her baby rabbits to death, and caused her chickens to lay eggs the size of marbles.

Careful studies by the United States Air Force have shown, however, that sonic boom does not crack plaster or start earthquakes as some alarmists have claimed.

* * *

But noise was credited with amazing feats long before the supersonic age.

By tradition, Caruso could destroy glass chandeliers with his high tenor voice.

A family in Buffalo, New York, saw their television screen shatter when a violinist on a musical program held a high note playing "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

A pistol shot or even the crack of a whip can set up vibrations that will trigger a snow avalanche. Swiss legend has it that the dulcet tones of a cello once touched off a major slide.

* * *

The effect of noise on the human body is being studied. Scientists now realize that overwhelming waves of sound crashing against the ear can injure parts of the hearing apparatus.

U.S. to Empty Estes' Bins of Grains Faster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said yesterday the government probably will remove all surplus grain from Billie Sol Estes' warehouses within six months.

★ ★ ★

Original estimates were that it would take 18 months to remove the nearly 50 million bushels of grain from storage controlled either completely or partly by the 37-year-old Pecos, Tex., financier.

Federal payments for grain storage figure heavily in the battle among Estes' creditors. He had assigned all such payments to Commercial Solvents Corp., which financed his liquid fertilizer and grain storage activities.

'Tourists Get More on Michigan Roads'

LANSING (AP) — New freeways and improved highways mean that tourists get more for their money when traveling in Michigan, says the State Highway Department.

"Vacationers can now reach their destinations faster and safer than ever before," said Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie. "This means that Michigan visitors can see more, do more and have more time for rest and relaxation."

Visitors from neighboring states can now drive to the heart of Michigan's vacationland in less than six hours, the department said. The state now has more than 800 miles of freeway open to traffic and more than 1,000 miles will be open by the end of the year.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's accelerated highway construction program is "really opening the door to travel in Michigan," Mackie said.

Flood Waters Reported Lower in China Province

HONG KONG (AP) — Reports from Red China's flood-stricken Kwangtung Province indicated flood waters were receding today.

The Chinese Communists have described the floods in the province bordering Hong Kong as the worst in a century.

A Canton radio report today said flood fighters remained on 24-hour alert and that any sudden downpour would precipitate new floods because of the swollen state of the north and west rivers. But the report implied that the worst might be over.

Visitors from Canton reported the harvest had been badly damaged in several areas of Kwangtung. Many villagers have been evacuated, they said, and rail traffic has been suspended in many sections of the province, as well as between South China and the central China metropolis of Shanghai.

To Focus on West UP for Geological Survey

LANSING (AP) — A geological survey due to begin this month in the Upper Peninsula will be primarily concerned with the west end of the region, with Gogebic County the center of operations, according to the State Conservation Department.

A $25,000 appropriation by the state legislature was matched recently by the federal government to pay the costs of the survey.

WILLIAM FAULKNER

Famed Author Dies in His Dixie

William Faulkner, 64, Expires in Mississippi; Held Pulitzer Prize

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Nobel Prize-winning author William Faulkner, who made the fictional Mississippi county of Yoknapatawpha known through the world, died today.

Death came to the 64-year-old author at a hospital in Oxford. He returned here some weeks ago from the University of Virginia where he had spent much of his recent years as a lecturer in American literature.

★ ★ ★

Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Relatives said Faulkner died about 2 a.m. today, shortly after being admitted to a hospital.

The gentle, small-statured Faulkner won the Nobel literary prize in 1950.

His sister, Dorothy Oldham, was with him when he died.

Faulkner's daughter, Mrs. Paul D. Summers Jr., of Charlottesville, Va., was flying here for the funeral, scheduled Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Faulkner's wife died last year.

The superlative storyteller always considered himself a professional farmer rather than a writer. He operated a 366-acre farm near this university town.

He wrote a series of interconnected novels and short stories dealing with the life, people and history of the fictional Yoknapatawpha County.

His latest novel, "The Reivers," was published only a short time ago and appears to be headed for the best-seller lists.

First Time Tested in U.S.

H-Bomb to Rock Nevada Today

CAMP MERCURY, Nev. (AP) —The first hydrogen bomb type blast ever set off in the United States—and the most powerful of the current underground series—is all set to rock the Nevada test site today.

And that's only the beginning.

Saturday the Atomic Energy Commission will try to detonate the first above-ground weapon exploded here since 1958 — the beginning of a new series of atmospheric tests.

The new flurry of activity at this desert proving ground coincided with the recent resumption of testing in the Pacific and with announcement of plans to lob a dummy warhead 7,000 miles into the Philippine Sea from Vandenberg Air Force Base next week.

A SHOW OF FORCE

Although there has been no official announcement, military-minded observers linked the coincidences with this nation's current show of force in the Far East.

Today's blast, which the AEC described as "in the 100-kiloton range," ostensibly had a peaceful goal—demonstrating how nuclear explosions eventually can gouge out new harbors and canals at a fraction of the cost of today's best earth-moving equipment.

SHOTS PRIVATE

Saturday's detonation is frankly military in nature and shrouded in secrecy. All the AEC would say is that it will be a low-yield device of under 20 kilotons—equal to less than 20,000 tons of TNT—and that it will be exploded a few feet above the ground.

Neither shot was open to newsmen.

Because of its peaceful nature, the AEC was permitted to give more details about today's device.

Installed at the bottom of a 670-foot-deep shaft, it was designed to blast out a crater 1,200 to 1,400 feet across and 170 to 200 feet deep, depending on the effect the powerful explosive has on the surrounding soil.

The shaft was sunk in a flatland of desert alluvium, a mixture of volcanic ash, rock and sand that fills the valleys between the barren mountains of Nevada.

★ ★ ★

The research effort, known as Project Sedan, is part of the plowshare program leading to gigantic excavations not now economically feasible.

One of the prime drawbacks to large-scale nuclear excavations—radioactive fallout — was engineered out of today's shot, the AEC said.

By placing the device at the proper depth, scientists figure the crater would be wide enough so that most of the rubble would fall back into the hole to filter escaping radioactive debris.

As a result, the AEC figured, about 95 per cent of the radioactivity would be trapped underground and most of the remaining amount deposited close to the crater and within the test site.

★ ★ ★

Meteorologists figured a 12-knot wind would blow a slight amount of radioactive dust north and east of the site into a virtually uninhabited area. They said the radioactivity remaining after this dust cloud moved off the site would be too low to be a problem.

The Sedan blast is the second in the Plowshare program. The first was Gnome, a three-kiloton detonation last winter, at Carlsbad, N.M.

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States today delayed for 24 hours its third attempt to explode a high altitude nuclear device above Johnston Island.

The postponement followed two holds totaling 90 minutes.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate explanation for the delay.

Unofficial sources hinted that technical difficulties caused the one-day postponement.

JFK Eyes Cut in Taxes; Key Is Economic Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he is giving very serious consideration to urgings from business and labor for an immediate tax cut. And he feels Congress should think hard about it too.

But, he told his news conference Thursday, the decision whether taxes should be reduced now or next year will depend on the economy's health as reflected by basic economic indicators.

Kennedy said he and his advisers will be watching these indicators closely "in the next months"

★ ★ ★

"If we feel that the situation in the economy warrants a tax cut then, of course, we would recommend it," he said.

FOR NEXT YEAR

For the present, said Kennedy, he will keep to his plan for tax reductions and other revisions next year.

He emphasized, however, that he and Congress should pay heed to recommendations from such diverse quarters as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for an early tax reduction.

★ ★ ★

"But the basic question will be to try to make an analysis as to the health of the economy over the next months," he added, "and whether '63 is the approriate time or now."

In the meantime, he said, the administration will press for congressional action on present economic legislation, including the bill to give tax credit for plant and machine modernization and the antidepression measures to

Army and AF Clashing Over Guerrilla War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and Air Force headed today toward a clash over the Air Force's growing effort to move deeper into the antiguerrilla warfare business.

★ ★ ★

The crux of the issue is an Air Force proposal for $65 million to build its fledgling 850 man air commando force to about 5,000 men and develop special aircraft suited to fighting Communist guerrillas.

"The Army considers that no service should acquire counter insurgency equipment or create counter insurgency organizations which duplicate existing or planned capabilities which are the responsibility of another service," an Army spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Although this statement did not mention the Air Force, it was clearly the Army's target.

★ ★ ★

The Army staff was understood to have prepared a formal position on the issue, but the new secretary of the Army, Cyrus Vance, has not yet studied it.

7 Die, 600 Hurt in Brazilian Mob Violence

Rioting Is Set Off by Government Political Crisis Over Strike

From Our News Wires

RIO DE JANEIRO, — Police and soldiers backed by tanks kept order today in the Rio de Janeiro area, where mob violence set off by a government political crisis brought death and destruction yesterday.

Authorities here set the death toll at seven and the injured at 600 in the rioting, shooting, looting and fighting that swept four Rio suburbs. Of those injured, 100 were reported in serious condition. Earlier, Elmo Braga Miranda, police chief of Sao Joao do Marity Township, said 40 were killed and 1,000 injured in the riots.

The city and its surrounding areas were absolutely quiet today, with police and about 1,000 soldiers in firm control.

The government sent in tanks, troops and police reinforcements to restore order. Merchants guarded their shops with guns, clubs and iron bars.

★ ★ ★

Braga Miranda said at least 500 persons had been hospitalized. He estimated damage in the four towns of Caxias, Sao Joao do Meriti, Nova Iguacu and Nilopolis at more than $2 million.

RESENTED STRIKE

The rioting and looting by an estimated 5,000 persons was set off by resentment against a general strike called by labor unions in support of President Joao Goulart in his struggle to retain power against strong congressional opposition.

Angered, the workers marched on one store shouting "we want food." A guard drew a pistol and fired two shots, hitting a child, a witness reported. The mob became enraged, beat the guard to death, stripped the store and burned it.

Then the mob moved on down the main street with clubs and axes. Some rioters fired pistols, the witness said. Police and shopkeepers fought the mob for several hours as shop after shop was sacked.

Gov. Celso Pecanha called for the federal troops, and Rio Police Chief Nilton Cruz issued a stern warning against any plundering in this city.

DEMAND ACTION

Congressional deputies demanded federal action. Guanabara State Gov. Carlos Lacerda denounced the strike in a telegram to Goulart. He called it "illegal and subversive, commanded by Communist elements which are clearly outlawed."

★ ★ ★

The violence only served to aggravate the political struggle for power. Goulart's opponents accused the president and his labor-ite and leftist followers of trying to intimidate them.

"To force congress to give more powers to the president they mobilized suspicious newspapers and radio stations, they defame and plot against congress, they pressure us through union leaders who use strikes and agitation to intimidate us," said Deputy Herbert Levy, president of the National Democratic Union party and a leader of the opposition.

Oh, Boy, What a Day!

HITS JACKPOT — Edward D. Sutherland, 24, a clerical employe in the Pontiac Motor Division engineering department, is shown receiving $8,333 from E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac, for two suggestions he submitted recently under the GM Suggestion Award Plan.

Monday his boss hands him two checks totaling $8,333. The same day his wife presents him with another son.

"How lucky can one guy get?" smiled Edward D. Sutherland, the 24-year-old Pontiac Motor Division clerical worker who hit the jackpot this week both at the office and at home.

When he accepted the checks from E. M. Estes, Pontiac Motors general manager, Sutherland was picking up the largest award ever made in one day in a General Motors employe during the whole 20 years of the GM suggestion plan.

The maximum award for a suggestion is $5,000. Sutherland hit the bell with a suggestion pertaining to improvements in the manufacture of the outside mirror remote control lever on the Pontiac.

Then he picked up a $3,333 check for a similar suggestion on the Tempest.

The $5,000 award is the first made at Pontiac Motor in more than a year. He the first in General Motors under the recently-concluded 20th anniversary drive of the suggestion program.

Sutherland, a 1955 graduate of St. Michael's High School, has submitted eight suggestions in his six years with the division. He never scored before.

2 MORE AT HOME

A resident of 34 E. Strathmore Ave., Sutherland has two other sons at home, 2½-year-old twins Gary and Gregg.

The newest addition to the Sutherland family weighed in at nine pounds when he arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

What are Sutherland's plans for the money?

Put it aside to help buy a new home.

Surplus Down in City Report

Revenues Increased, Expenditures Dip, but Costs Went Up

Pontiac's annual financial report for 1961 has been submitted to the City Commission by Marvin M. Alward, finance director.

It shows that actual operating expenses were lower than budget estimates, revenues were higher than estimated and the city's unappropriated surplus dwindled.

Operating revenues for the calendar year were $5,124,944. This was some $74,250 or 1.45 per cent greater than the amount estimated when the 1961 budget was adopted.

Operating expenditures amounted to $5,439,574; some $63,120 or 1.16 per cent under the budget estimate.

The unappropriated surplus is an amount that city officials estimate will be left over at the end of each calendar year to finance operations through the first six months of the next calendar year—or until the July tax collection.

It is included in the budget estimates each year at $350,000.

In recent years, due to rising costs of operation, the actual unappropriated surplus has consistently slipped below the $350,000 mark.

As of Dec. 31, 1961 it was down to $305,202.

Taxi Space Cut to Figure in Last Study, Says City

Taxes and taxis have their ups and downs and both can create headaches for city officials.

An upward swing in taxes took its toll in migrains earlier this year.

But complaints about a downward trend in taxicab stands are presently producing cranial cramps in Pontiac.

In the past month, there has been a reduction of three taxicab stands and 18 cab spaces in the downtown area.

In answer to the mounting complaints, David S. Teel, assistant city manager, said there has been no cutback in taxicab stands because of city action.

Although the city and cab companies have cooperated in a decrease of cab spaces on downtown streets, the reduction in cab location is due entirely to the fact that one cab company has gone out of business, Teel explained.

"There's nothing we can do about a company going bankrupt," he said.

The Barton Traffic Study, sponsored for the city by a group of downtown business leaders in June 1960, recommended a reduction of cab stands and spaces.

BEING STUDIED

The problem has been under study since then in an effort to find the best way to do this without substantially hurting the companies or service to citizens.

The license year for cabs and spaces begins June 1. At that time

Canadians May Ease on Medicare

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Saskatchewan's deputy premier said the provincial government is determined to continue its compulsory medical care plan but a hint of compromise appeared as a doctors' strike went into its sixth day today.

Deputy Premier J. H. Brockelbank told a news conference here that the provincial cabinet might consider calling the legislature into session, perhaps to act on amendments which would allow doctors to practice outside the health act.

"If there was satisfactory evidence a special session would do some positive good, it would receive favorable consideration by the provincial cabinet," he said.

In another hint of conciliation, Brockelbank disclosed that Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd was in eastern Canada on a secret mission. He did not reject a possibility that Lloyd's mission might deal with mediation.

REJECTED MEDIATION

The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons has rejected mediation as unworkable now, with feelings running high.

Don McMillan, president of the Saskatchewan Hospital Association, disclosed he has talked with Canadian religious leaders about working out some kind of compromise.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Sam Landa, emergency coordinator for the Canadian Medical Commission, said in Saskatoon that emergency services have begun to shrink.

He reported 36 of the 240 doctors who volunteered service when the strike began have quit and the others are spread very thinly.

Reveal Skyscraper Plan

CHICAGO (UPI) — Showing strong faith in downtown areas, a Chicago firm has announced plans to build a $36-million "Marina City" apartment complex on the Detroit River next to Cobo Hall.

★ ★ ★

The project will be constructed by the Marina City Management Corp., which has a twin-tower apartment complex already underway along the Chicago River.

Similar projects are being planned in other cities, including Denver, Colo., the Chicago Sun-Times said.

Two of the three 60-story towers to be erected along the Detroit River would contain apartments. The third would be a motel, the Sun-Times said.

★ ★ ★

Surrounding the buildings would be a nine-hole par 3 golf course; swimming pool and bicycle track. A moving sidewalk would carry residents and visitors to the buildings.

The Sun-Times said preliminary work on the Detroit project will begin in August with ground breaking due a year later.

The newspaper said the Federal Housing Administration has granted preliminary approval for a $22 million guarantee on a loan for the project.

The project will provide about 1,000 apartments. Two of the towers would be built astride a channel of the river, along which mooring space for small boats would be erected.

An elevated roadway would spiral around all three of the towers. Other features would include ten-a fly casting pool.

New Panic Sweeping Oran

Europeans Run From Gunfire

Report Has 100 Dead in Yesterday's Battling; Clamp On Curfew

ALGIERS (AP)—Shooting broke out again in Oran today and panic swept the European section. Authorities promptly clamped on a curfew to prevent a renewal of Thursday's Moslem-European bloodbath which cast a pall in independence festivities of this infant nation.

A new estimate placed the toll in Thursday's conflict at more than 100 dead.

There were no immediate reports of casualties in today's shooting.

* * *

Europeans ran for cover from shouting Moslems apparently pursuing a man they described as a Secret Army Organization terrorist. There was no reply to the Moslem gunfire and it died down quickly.

The tense situation in Oran overshadowed for the moment political efforts to heal a breach between rival Moslem factions contending for the leadership of the nation. Algeria's delegate to the Arab League was flying in from Cairo for a mediation attempt.

* * *

The Nationalist information minister, in an apparent effort to bolster the prestige of the provisional government of Premier Youssef Ben Khedda, called today for prompt U.S. recognition of the regime.

The United States has welcomed Algerian independence, but made no formal recognition of any government, apparently moving cautiously in establishing normal diplomatic relations. Step-by-step setting up of diplomatic contacts would provide an opportunity to see how the split between Ben Khedda and Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, a radical leftist, will effect the transition from the present regime to a permanent one.

The information minister, Mohammed Yazid, blamed Thursday's violent battle in Oran, former stronghold of the secret army, on diehard "Fascists" who refused to go along with the abandonment of the terrorist struggle against Moslem rule.

A French source, who declined to be identified, said the dead in Thursday's affray totaled more than 100. Other informants placed the figure at nearly 100. Earlier estimates gave a casualty toll of approximately 60 dead and more than 100 wounded.

There was no clear explanation in Oran on how the shooting started. In Paris, sources said they received reports from Oran that the fight began when a group of Moslems went to the roof of a European apartment building to hoist an Algerian flag.

Fun Program Off to Big Start

Summer recreation activities sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department are well under way with the exception of the day camp which opens Monday.

The swimming program which was launched this week at five area lakes was hampered by inclement weather Monday and Tuesday but weather conditions have been ideal since then.

Swimming instructions are available at all swim sites for youngsters 7 to 18. Qualified instructors are conducting the program and life guards are on duty at all times.

The lakes being utilized by the recreation department include Lake Oakland, Williams, Watkins, Lotus and Elizabeth lakes.

Two swimming days each week are scheduled at each of the lakes.

Tennis instruction for beginners and intermediates is also in progress. Courts at Waterford Township High School are being utilized for the tennis program.

Players in the 9 to 11 group may play Mondays and Wednesdays 9 to 10:30 a.m. or Tuesdays and Thursdays 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Tennis players age 12 to 14 take to the courts Mondays and Wednesdays 10:30 a.m. to noon or Tuesdays and Thursdays noon to 1:30 p.m.

The playground program is being conducted at 13 elementary school playgrounds this year for youngsters age 5 to 14. The only cost to participants is for arts and crafts materials.

Baseball, boys' and girls' softball and bloopderball leagues have been plenty of action already and basketball instruction for junior and senior high school boys got underway Monday.

Basketball clinics for fifth- and sixth-grade boys also are planned.

The first of these will be held July 18 at St. Benedict's outdoor court.

A second clinic if slated for July 25 at the Waterford Township High School outdoor court. The final clinic will be held Aug. 1 in the Kettering High School bymnasium.

City Explains Taxi Space

City Manager Robert A. Stierer, Teel and owners of cab companies held a series of meetings to discuss the cutback.

Presently operating in the city are Yellow Cab Co. and Oakland Cab Co. A third company will begin operating soon.

Pontiac Cab Co. had declared bankruptcy before June 1.

Based on the study, it was agreed the space assignments would be based on a ratio of four cabs to one space.

The operating companies lost nine spaces, Yellow Cab was reduced from 14 to eight and Oakland Cab from six to three spaces.

The new company will have three spaces in three stands.

"Since that time a number of cab drivers in the city have been circulating petitions regarding the assignment of cab spaces and encouraging their customers to register complaints," Teel said.

"With modern radio dispatch equipment these changes should have brought no reduction in the level of service to Pontiac citizens.

"Both taxicab company managers (Yellow and Oakland) were in agreement at the time of our meetings that these changes would not result in a reduction in service.

'NO HARDSHIP'

"Likewise, last week, both managers indicated they felt no hardship because of the reallocation of spaces."

City officials feel a major portion of the dissatisfaction comes as a result of the Pontiac Cab Co. going bankrupt.

* * *

The owners had been negotiating sale of the company with two prospective buyers before declaring bankruptcy. One of the interested buyers was Yellow Cab Co.

Pontiac Cab had eight licensed cabs, according to records in the city clerk's office, and nine spaces in three stands.

When it went bankrupt, the City Commission passed a resolution prohibiting the cab and space licenses to be renewed until court determination of the bankruptcy petition was settled.

* * *

Stierer explained that the city has complete control over issuance of cab and space licenses and, in the case of Pontiac Cab, as of June 1 there was no existing company to issue them to anyway.

WANTS THE SPACES

The determination, handed down this week, turned all assets of the now defunct company over to Yellow Cab Co., which now wants Pontiac's nine spaces, according to city officials.

"When Pontiac went out of business, we converted their spaces into more metered parking spaces downtown, or prohibited parking where traffic problems had existed," Stierer said today.

"The city merely followed recommendations of traffic experts in the Barton report."

He also pointed out that due to its going bankrupt, Pontiac Cab never had the 4 to 1-ratio applied to its space assignments. If this were done, the nine spaces would have been cut to two.

The Commission may assign several new spaces to Yellow Cab, but it is doubtful any more stands will be added to existing cab companies.

Officials point out that when the new company, owned by Louis Lintau of Pontiac, begins operation with its three stands, the total number of cab stands in Pontiac will be the same as before Pontiac Cab Co. dissolved.

Detroit Brunch Not on His Menu, Says President

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Democrats spoke softly today at their headquarters here about the man who wouldn't come to "brunch."

The man was President John F. Kennedy. The brunch was the biggest Democratic snafu of the year.

State Democrats carefully laid plans late in June for a fall appearance of President Kennedy aimed at bolstering the party bulwarks in the November general election.

Hopefully the Democrats began making plans for a $1,000 a plate, brunch which 40 state businessmen would attend and meet the President.

The money would have been used to finance the Democratic Congressional campaign.

The only catch was that no one apparently told the President. At his news conference yesterday Kennedy said he had not heard of plans for him to attend such a luncheon. If he were invited, the President said, he did not think he would be able to attend.

State Democarts, suffering from a slight case of indigestion, prepared a carefully worded statement.

JAMES M. McNEELY

Dems Establish County Position

J. M. McNeely, Milford, to Aid Sander Levin, Oakland Chairman

A former state legislative candidate from Milford was named today to a newlycreated top-level administrative post in the Oakland County Democratic Committee.

* * *

James M. McNeely, 32, defeated in the 1960 race for 3rd District representative by Henry Hogan Jr., will bolster the Democrat's county forces in this year's election campaign as executive assistant to county chairman, Sander Levin.

McNeely's appointment follows several months of fund-raising during which Democrats aimed at collecting $18,000 to cover salary and expenses of the new full-time staff members. The party said the goal was achieved.

Until his appointment, McNeely, 1066 Prince St., Milford, was a special education teacher in the Farmington school system for seven years.

* * *

In his new post, McNeely will run party business throughout the county, coordinating membership and fund-raising drives and numerous other activities.

Democrats have never before had this county position. Republicans established a comparable post of executive secretary in 1957.

Clay Has Berlin Report

BERLIN (AP) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay went back to the United States today to tell President Kennedy West Berlin's morale and economy are "satisfactory and helpful."

New Witnesses Eyed on Estes

Senate Group Refuses to Identify Fresh Cast After Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the Billie Sol Estes case turn today from a spectacular political row to questioning of a fresh cast of witnesses.

Still edgy after the quarrel, the investigations subcommittee declined to tip off any plans for the day, or even to name major witnesses.

* * *

The bitter outburst flared Thursday between Democratic Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., each accused the other of playing politics in the inquiry.

The subcommittee is trying to determine if Estes used political influence as a stepping stone in piling up a multimillion-dollar business empire based on the government cotton allotment program and storage of surplus grain.

Freeman says he did not.

MAY RECALL FREEMAN

Subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who remained aloof from the wrangling, excused Freeman from the witness chair after three days of testifying but said he may be recalled after other witnesses have been heard.

The Freeman-Mundt word battle ranged over many things.

Mundt blamed Freeman for a resolution he said had been proposed to the South Dakota Democratic State Convention urging Freeman, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the subcommittee to "reveal any correlation between Mundt's campaign contributors and grain storage allocations, and any relationship to the Billie Sol Estes case."

* * *

Mundt challenged the secretary to produce any evidence to back up what Mundt called such Democratic efforts to link his name with "Estes and improper influence."

"In midwestern language we can both understand, put up or shut up," Mundt told Freeman. "If you have evidence produce it."

Kennedy Eyes Cut in Taxes

give him standby authority to cut taxes and launch a public works program.

CALLS FOR TIES

The President reiterated his Fourth of July call for a declaration of interdependence with a united Europe—when Europe becomes one great organization, to advance all mankind.

"We would not want this to be a rich man's club while the rest of the world gets poorer," Kennedy said. "We want the benefits of this kind of union to be shared."

Would this lead to some kind of political union between the United States and Europe?

It depends on how you define political, Kennedy said. North Atlantic allies already have political commitments to each other, he said, and these may take on "a more intimate form."

* * *

Inevitably, homegrown politics and Democratic administration's relations with business came up in the half-hour conference. Kennedy said "an awful lot of businessmen" have supported the Democratic party, even though he agreed his party "is not the party of business." Asked what he thought of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's description of Republicans as the party of business, Kennedy replied with amusement:

"Well, I think, as I said, I dislike disagreeing with President Eisenhower, and so I won't in this case."

Judges Spurn Solo, Create Beauty Duet

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Judges at the Miss Michigan contest last night solved the problem of too much talent by awarding duplicate prizes in the talent division of the second preliminary round.

Trophies and $150 scholarships went to harpist Sherrie Ann Shepard, Miss Dowagiac, and singer Jean Ann Heyer, Miss Montcalm County.

The Day in Birmingham

Ex-Canterbury Archbisho to Preach at St. James

BIRMINGHAM—The Most Rev. Geoffrey F. Fisher, retired archbishop of Canterbury, will visit Birmingham this fall to preach at St. James Episcopal Church.

Dr. Fisher will speak at the 9:15 a.m. service Oct. 21.

It was Dr. Fisher who officiated at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II and was the first archbishop of Canterbury to call upon a Catholic Pope in more than 400 years.

He visited Pope John XXIII in 1960.

A year later, when he retired, Dr. Fisher was elevated to the British peerage by the queen.

The 75-year-old spiritual leader will speak at the laying of the cornerstone of the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection in Ecorse and St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit, during his U.S. visit.

He will speak four evenings, Oct. 22-25, at the annual McMath lecture series at the Episcopal Diocesan Center, Detroit.

Birmingham's welcome wagon—loaded with the traditional invitations and introductory offers from local merchants — will carry a new product: education.

It comes in the form of a simple mimeographed invitation from the Continuing Education Division of Michigan State University, Oakland.

The letter lists a variety of study areas in daytime and evening noncredit courses for adults, "only 20 minutes from Birmingham."

The fields include liberal arts, fine and creative arts, languages, business and professional development, science and mathematics, public administration and applied and special skills.

47,498 Pontiacs, Tempests Sold During June

Pontiac dealers sold 47,498 Pontiacs and Tempests during June, it was announced today by E. M. Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac.

June sales — best since record-breaking 1955 — were 43 per cent ahead of last year.

Total for the final 10-day sales period in June was 17,276, an increase of 38 per cent over the 12,526 units sold in the same period a year ago.

Since the 1962 models first went on sale last September, 416,286 Pontaics and Tempests have been sold. This is 65,104 more than were sold during the entire 1961 model run.

Tear Gas Fired at Vopos Hurling Rocks at West

BERLIN (UPI) — East German border guards threw rocks at West Berlin police last night and drew tear gas grenades in return, West Berlin police said today.

The duel took place around midnight on Bernauerstrasse, where the street is in West Berlin but the houses on one side are in the East and have been fortified as sentry-posts by the Communists.

Hospital's 1st '62 Model Doing Fine

Cindy Lou Walker, first baby born in the Pontiac area in 1962, has reached the six month milestone and is progressing nicely, despite the measles last month.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merril R. Walker, 940 S. Cass Lake Rd., Waterford Township, Cindy Lou now tips the scales at 14 pounds, a little more than double her weight of 6 lbs.-8 oz. at birth.

Cindy Lou was born January 1 at 12:25 a. m. in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Her closest competitor arrived on the scene at 2:31 a. m. at Pontiac General Hospital.

"She's getting along fine," said her mother. "She tries to sit up and crawl like all little girls do at six months."

Any doubts about Mrs. Walker being an authority on what little girls do at six months vanish quickly when she presents the rest of the family.

She is the mother of six daughters.

Papa Walker was somewhat hopeful that New Year's Day would have been the time for a break in the all girl pattern in the family but he is reportedly 100 per cent sold on girl number 6.

WILLIAM H. ANDERSON

School Board Elects Anderson President

William H. Anderson, who has served on the Pontiac Board of Education since 1957, last night was elected president of the board.

Anderson, owner of the Columbia Nonferrous Foundry, 546 Columbia St., succeeds Dr. Walter L. Godsell, Pontiac chiropractor, who served as president the last year and in June was re-elected to the board.

The election was held by board members at the school group's annual organizational meeting and banquet at Rotunda Inn.

* * *

Named vice president was the Rev. Dr. J. Allen Parker, board member, who last year had served as secretary. The new secretary is Glenn H. Griffin, board member.

The administration's director of financial management, Vernon L. Schiller, was reappointed as board treasurer. Schiller is not a member of the board.

Senate to Probe Sugar Lobbying

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee will investigate efforts by foreign agents to influence this year's sugar legislation —lobbying tactics termed unfortunate by President Kennedy.

Congressional figures indicate the sugar lobbyists were paid a total of more than $500,000 by their foreign government clients.

* * *

The investigation is expected to start in a few days and will be headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. He was designated by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which handles legislation dealing with registration of foreign agents.

QUOTA ISSUE HOT

Allocation of foreign quotas was a hotly contested issue as the complicated sugar bill made its way through Congress. The compromise that finally passed the Senate and House and awaits Kennedy's signature includes specific quotas for 24 foreign countries.

* * *

The Senate Finance Committee has developed data that some lobbyists got up to $50,000 a year and fees as high as 50 cents a ton for the quotas they obtained for their foreign government clients.

* * *

Committee members did not contend there was anything illegal about the lobbying. Under the law, persons acting in behalf of foreign interests must register with the Department of Justice.

JFK COMMENTS

Asked at his news conference Thursday about the sugar lobbyists, Kennedy commented: "I think it is an unfortunate situation when men are paid large fees by foreign governments to secure quotas, and where, in some cases, there are contingency fees. For every ton of sugar they get allocated to their country they secure a payment of so much."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said the lobbying amounted to an effort by foreign governments to appeal to Congress to overturn an administration policy. He referred here to administration proposals to eliminate almost all quotas.

* * *

Fulbright said a parallel situation would be if foreign nations hired lobbyists to try to persuade Congress to give them more foreign aid than the President had recommended.

The Senate voted approval for Kennedy to buy 150,000 tons of sugar a year at premium prices from Western Hemisphere countries. Administration senators said the Dominican Republic, Argentina and probably Peru would benefit.

The three were among nations which protested the sugar act allotments. The Dominican Republic and Peru each were given 190,000-ton annual quotas and Argentina was cut entirely.

The premium or subsidy price is now about $36 a ton over the world price.

AFL Chief Dares E. Reich to Open Red Wall 1 Month

BERLIN (UPI) — American labor leader George Meany challenged the East German Communists yesterday to open their Berlin antirefugee wall for one month.

"This proposal is practical, it will endanger no one," Meany said. "Who has any reason to fear the reunion of families or a breath of the fresh air of freedom for a trial period of one month?"

Syria May Re-Establish Relations With France

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Syria will consider re-establishing diplomatic relations with France soon, according to reliable sources here.

North Africa Has 32, America 3

U.S. Being Stupid on U.N. Voting Power

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — At a time when Western Europeans, realizing the folly of their nationalistic ways, are attempting political and economic union through the Common Market, the United Nations slogan for Africa seems to be, "The more the merrier."

* * *

This week, besides Algeria, two more pathetic little nations were born.

Poverty-stricken and virtually barren of resources, skills and educated inhabitants, Ruanda and Burundi nevertheless split apart from each other and won separate independence from Belgium.

This brings to 28 the fantastic number of new nations carved from the body Africa and declared independent in the decade since 1951.

* * *

When the General Assembly meets this fall, the two feuding little countries will undoubtedly be voted into full membership, although each is approximately the size of one of our smaller states — Maryland.

Thenceforth they can out-vote us two-to-one if they so choose, because their ballots will count equally as much as our own, although we are the largest financial contributor to the United Nations, and they will probably be the smallest.

There is something incredibly silly about a system that hands an equal vote to each little untried tribe the moment that it declares itself free from protectorship.

Surely the sort of five-year trial period of limited U. N. membership would be in order for these fledglings while they learn about self-government.

Burundi and Ruanda are totally unable to support themselves. To survive they must live on handouts from Belgium, the United States and others; yet they will have the voting power to bite the hand that feeds them, just as Ghana and some other recently freed nations have done to the free world.

The chief export of the two countries is coffee, and the per capita income of the 5.5-million inhabitants is only $4.95 a year.

Both nations are made up of only one tribe which shares a common language, but the people are split into three castes.

In Burundi the king and 15 per cent of the people belong to the Tutsi caste. The Mutwa pigmy caste is at the bottom of the political barrel, with the Hutu caste comprising the middle ground and sharing power with the Tutsis. In Ruanda the Hutus seized power from the Tutsis two years ago, killed thousands of them and drove 160,000 into exile.

PROMISES HELP

Until their freedom this week, Belgium had been contributing $8 million annually to the governmental budget, $9 million for economic development, and troop maintenance of $25 million a year.

New arrangements must now be worked out, although Belgium has agreed to continue some help.

The U. S. has been furnishing famine relief for the over-populated area through food-for-peace. Now that Burundi and Ruanda are free, it is expected that they will promptly apply to Washington for economic and military aid.

It is inevitable that we will acquiesce. It is also probable that the more they cross us in the United Nations, or court the Russians, the more money and equipment we will pour into their economy.

An African affairs spokesman at the State Department said there are "less than a hundred" college-trained inhabitants in the two new countries, but no one needs a university degree to discover that the easiest way to get money out of the U. S. is to kick us in the teeth.

With the addition of Burundi, Ruanda and Algeria, Africa will have 32 votes in the United Nations. North America, with a larger population, has only the three votes of the U. S., Canada and Mexico.

How can any organization succeed which so illogically stacks the votes against the founder nations?

* * *

It is time someone finds the answer to that question, because Uganda, Kenya, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland and Southern Rhodesia will shortly be knocking for admission to the U. N., and some 20 other African nations are waiting to be born.

* * *

If the continent of Africa is eventually to have 55 votes, or even 32, and North America only three, we should have our heads examined. As a nation we obviously merit psychiatric treatment, and perhaps no vote at all.

New State Audit Group to Look for Ways to Save

LANSING (AP) — The legislature's first permanent audit commission is tuning up for a continuing program to see that state agencies spend their money the way lawmakers intended.

The commission, a carryover from a temporary House-Senate group, hired Jack L. McGregor as its auditor yesterday at $10,500 a year. From its $35,000 budget, it plans to hire two more auditors or accountants.

Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, commission chairman, said the budget is too small to finance an adequate program, but will get it started.

The commission, set up by a bill passed by the legislature this year, also will look for ways to save money in government operations and check over reports by the auditor general's office to see if changes in agency operations should be made.

ON DUPLICATION

"If we find duplication, we'll weed it out," said Green. "If we find waste or money that is being spent for unauthorized purposes, we'll take care of that, too.

"I think we have authority to move in any place where we have questions," he said.

Rep. William Romano, D-Warren, a committee member, suggested enlisting help from the Citizens Research Council, a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization which periodically surveys state government operations.

* * *

He also proposed a new study of the "Little Hoover Commission" report on state government reorganization more than 10 years ago.

* *

The commission heard yesterday from representatives of Stevens, Jordan & Harrison, Inc., a New York management engineering and consulting firm, which proposed to help the commission with its job.

The commission also considered working with a new Senate interim committee, which was given a $25,000 appropriation to check into government spending programs.

Charges Book Created to Sell Pills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) charged today that the best-selling health book "Calories Don't Count" was deliberately created to peddle worthless pills.

"Unfortunately, calories do count," FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick said.

He issued a sharply worded statement blasting the book and its author, Dr. Herman Taller, its publisher, and Cove Vitamin and Pharmaceutical, Inc., makers of a capsule called CDC (calories don't count).

Larrick said the book, ghost-written by a free-lance sports writer, was "full of false ideas" and that one of its "main purposes was to promote the sale of a commercial product in which Dr. Taller had a financial interest."

★ ★ ★

The FDA said that Taller, two executives of the publishing firm, Cove Vitamin and officials of a large land development firm had a financial interest in the subsidiary corporation that was set up just to push the pills.

The theme of the book, a best seller for about eight months, is that overweight persons can eat as much as they please, regardless of calories, as long as they include plenty of unsaturated fats such as safflower oil in their diet.

ISSUED ORDER

The FDA, after seizing a batch of the CDC pills and copies of the book, last January issued an order against the capsules which Cove contested.

Before hearings on the matter were finished, however, Cove withdrew its action, stopped selling the pills and began recalling them from the market.

Ed Bobley, president of the Glen Cove, N. Y., firm, issued a statement today blaming Simon and Schuster, Inc., the book's publisher, for the whole thing.

Simon and Schuster issued a long statement bitterly attacking the FDA for issuing, "without a scintilla of justification, a statement carefully conceived to give the false and misleading impression that we published a book for the purpose of promoting a food product."

★ ★ ★

Taller was not available for comment.

The U.S. attorney in New York City has filed a motion for contempt of court against Taller for refusing to answer more than 50 questions about his financial relationship "with Cove's CDC capsule promotion," the IDA said.

★ ★ ★

It said that a federal district judge in New York had issued a default decree in the CDC case ruling that the capsules "are misbranded by false and misleading heath and diet claims in the book."

Larrick, in his statement, said that the theory that a person can disregard calories and lose weight by consuming safflower oil is false. Anyway, he said, the CDC capsules held an amount of safflower oil so small that it was "insignificant for any purpose."

★ ★ ★

Cove, the FDA said, claimed the pills would not only help a person lose weight, but they would help lower the cholesterol level of the blood, treat arteriosclerosis and heartburn, improve the complexion, increase resistance to colds and increase sexual drive.

Taller, Larrick said, prepared a draft of the book but Simon and Schuster "ordered it revised in more of a mail order inspirational technique—it was too scientific sounding."

So, he said, the manuscript was completely rewritten and its catchy title revised by Roger Kahn, a free lance sports writer.

Then, he said, the manuscript "went to the office of General Development Corp.," a firm largely concerned with land development, "apparently for the purpose of inserting references to Cove as a source of safflower oil capsules.

★ ★ ★

"Cove then established a closed corporation, CDC Corp., to produce the capsules for which the book would create a demand. Financial interests in the new corporation were acquired by a limited group including Cove, Dr. Taller two vice presidents of Simon and Schuster and officials of the General Development Corp."

Larrick said the freedom to publish "health" books is a constitutional guarantee, "but books used to promote the commercialization of drugs become labeling under the federal food, drug and cosmetic act. False statements in the books misbrand the drugs."

He called the case "shocking." The government, he said, is taking action "against all other products that are promoted by the book."

HARRY ANSLINGER

Narcotics Chief Retiring at 70

President Picks Aide to Get Harry J. Anslinger Bureau Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry J. Anslinger, who has headed the bureau of narcotics since it was created in 1932, has submitted his resignation. President Kennedy picked Anslinger's chief, aide Henry L. Giordano, as his successor.

★ ★ ★

The White House, announcing this yesterday, said no date has been fixed for Anslinger's retirement, but the shift is expected in the near future.

★ ★ ★

Anslinger's resignation, dated May 20, noted that he had reached his 70th birthday and said he wished to retire after having been in government service since 1917.

Age 70 is the mandatory retirement age for government workers unless they are given an extension by the president.

★ ★ ★

There were reports that Anslinger had hoped to stay on the job but White House press secretary Pierre Salinger insisted that it was his wish to retire.

Water Treatment Plant to Be Near Port Huron

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit water department will pay $121,059 for 268 acres north of Port Huron for a water treatment plant, department manager Gerald Remus said yesterday.

He said the plant will be a mile inland from Lake Huron. He said construction on the $88-million first section of the system will begin in 1964 and the whole $172-million project is expected to be completed within 18 years.

Teacher, Pupil Discover Kinship After 72 Years

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A former teacher and one of his pupils were reunited in Dallas this week after a 72-year lapse and discovered for the first time they are distant cousins.

Each man had lived in Dallas 35 years, unaware of the other's presence in the city.

In 1890 in Surrey, New Brunswick, Canada, Alonzo Dow Jonah, then 24, taught a fourth grade class which included James W. Blake, Jr. then 9 years old.

Jonah retired in 1927 and moved to Texas. Blake retired in 1946 in Dallas as general credit manager of Magnolia Petroleum Co.

They got together following a newspaper article about Jonah's 96th birthday.

★ ★ ★

The family connection, Blake explained, came about when the two men discovered that one of Blake's aunts married one of Jonah's uncles.

Judge Discusses Senate; Fears Population Control

LANSING (AP) — Metropolitan areas will monopolize state government completely if the State Senate is reapportioned strictly along population lines, says Circuit Judge Creighton R. Coleman.

Only in the legislature do residents of thinly populated areas have a really effective voice in government, Coleman said.

The Calhoun County judge aired his view in behalf of defendants in a suit by August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, to throw out the Senate districting system. The Supreme Court this week heard arguments for and against his move to force reapportionment on an absolute population basis.

Coleman, a former state senator, argued that metropolitan areas, through sheer force of numbers, now can elect the executive and judicial branch of state government and dominate the lower house of the legislature.

"Why do huge city areas have to have a 100 per cent monopoly of our government?" he asked.

"What about the protection of the minority rights of persons in relatively thinly populated areas? The problem actually is whether individual people outstate should be given any effective voice in state government. A nominal voice is merely a subterfuge."

The judge noted that the 1952 constitutional amendment setting up the present Senate districting system was approved overwhelmingly by the voters.

Even now, he said, the Senate is based primarily on population.

"A sparsely populated, economically weak county area has every right to be afraid of being overwhelmed by the Wayne County area," Coleman said.

"The Wayne County area is so involved in its own problems that it does not have the time or experience or desire to know and solve the problems of, let us say, a western county in the Upper Peninsula."

The Senate, formed differently from the House, is part of the checks and balance system designed to prevent a monopoly of government power in any department, Coleman said.

Big-Mouth Boxer Loses Bout With the Post Office

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The post office apparently has won its fight with Bobo, the brown Boxer who chases mailmen.

★ ★ ★

But it took an assist from neighbors of Mrs. Eugene Brinker who owns Bobo.

★ ★ ★

After the post office served notice that it was shutting off all mail deliveries to the entire block because of Bobo's attacks, the neighbors obtained an injunction restraining Mrs. Brinker from keeping the dog on her property.

★ ★ ★

Judge John A. Boyle issued the injunction June 26 and Bobo has been packed off to a kennel in New Jersey.

'Raincoat Week' Combines Styles

Now, a girl can have a raincoat wardrobe — something to protect her from the showers from sunup to snooze time.

A "raincoat week" in Florence, Italy, produced sportswear raincoats from three-quarter to nine-tenths of street length; for afternoon, the rain suit which was either a combination coat and skirt or cape and skirt; and for evening, touches of mink here and there on rainwear. A cut silk velvet raincoat came with fur cuffs and hood.

Pamper Plants

To protect house plants from insect damage, wash the leaves once a week with soapy water.

Who Actually Sets Standards of Family?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Who actually sets our family's standards?

That is a question every homemaker ought to ask herself and try to answer honestly.

A searching, honest answer would surprise many women today who have drifted into the habit of playing follow the leader in first one area of family life and then another.

★ ★ ★

But to answer that one big question fairly, a woman would first have to answer a number of more specific questions:

★ ★ ★

If I am living up to or beyond my family's means and why? Just who am I trying to keep up with or impress?

If I am pushing my children into activities that keep them busy all the time, why? Am I giving them real advantages or am I just doing what other mothers are doing for their children?

If I never find any time to do the things I think I would really enjoy, why? Are all the meetings I attend, the committees I serve on, the busy work I engage in my own idea of how I want to spend my time, or just what I think is "expected" of me?

Is my home equipped and furnished to meet my family's needs and to suit our own tastes and preferences? Or have I spent more than I should to provide a "stage setting" for the family?

Do we really enjoy all the "togetherness" our family goes in for? Or have we just been sold the idea that the more a family does together the happier it will be?

Do we entertain in the ways we enjoy, or do we follow the current fad in entertaining? Are our parties planned for the enjoyment of friends, or merely to repay obligations?

An honest answer to questions such as these might surprise many a housewife.

Tears Same for Both Sexes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tears have been described as a woman's weapon — at once her shield and her spear.

Science disputes this. Women have no priority on tears — except during their youth. The tiny tear glands at each corner of the eye operate pretty much the same in both sexes, serving to provide a clean, moist, optically-excellent surface for vision.

'Spiked' Bleach Best on Fringe

Before washing a garden or beach umbrella, pre-treat any white cotton fringe trim with a solution of soap or detergent suds "spiked" with bleach.

Dip a handful of fringe at the time into this solution until all is wet. Then let the cover drip over the edge of the washtub for 10 or 15 minutes. This gives the suds-bleach a chance to loosen the dirt before washing the entire cover.

Premarital Counseling Aids Teens

Gilbert Youth Service

When couples who have married in their teens start feuding, the problems that trigger their tempers are no different from marital problems encountered by other married folk.

They're just more intense.

Says Henry Graham, director of the Family Service Association in Indianapolis, Ind., "These kids who marry in their teens don't have inner resources. They haven't had time to build themselves as people.

Problems of husband-wife communication, an area of difficulty in many homes, are greater with the very young marrieds.

Graham tells of a 19-year-old boy who was highly critical of his wife's homemaking efforts. Yet she knocked herself out to cook attractive meals for him.

When they sought assistance, the counselor asked the boy one question: "Did you ever tell your wife you liked her cooking?" He hadn't.

Children themselves, these young couples visit their own problems on their offspring. So their child-rearing difficulties are magnified.

Graham asks the rhetorical question, If the parents haven't matured, how can they cope with the very important business of bringing up a family?

The practical side of making a living is difficult for teen-age husbands, Graham comments. Because his education has probably been curtailed, the earnings of the husband are restricted.

If his wife works, there'll be more money in the bank. But again, she may be virtually untrained, and therefore can't work into a well-paying job.

Graham feels that pre-marital counseling can be of tremendous help to teen couples, primarily to make them aware of the conflicts which are in store for them. But he finds very few such couples coming to his agency.

Susan Kay Hamilton and John E. Osler were wed Friday evening in Bethany Baptist Church. Their parents are the R. Fenton Hamiltons and the Anthony B. Oslers, all of Sylvan Lake.

MRS. JOHN E. OSLER

Oslers on Honeymoon to Florida and Nassau

The John E. Oslers, who were married Friday evening in Bethany Baptist Church, left for a honeymoon in Florida and Nassau following a church reception.

Former Pastor Dr. Joseph I. Chapman performed the candlelight ceremony assisted by Dr. Emil Kontz. Palms and baskets of white gladioli decked the chancel.

Daughter of the R. Fenton Hamiltons of Oakwood Drive, Sylvan Lake, the former Susan Kay Hamilton chose white chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with bustle back and chapel train. A fingertip veil of French illusion caught by a sequined tiara and cascade of white roses, Stephanotis and carnations completed her ensemble.

Sally Ann Hamilton, her sister's maid of honor, wore yellow silk organza over taffeta with tulip overskirt and carried white and yellow shasta daisies and yellow roses arranged in a basket.

Bridesmaids Darlene Buck and Vicki McLaughlin appeared in green organza and carried baskets of Shasta daisies and roses.

★ ★ ★

David Scriven performed the duties of best man. Thomas Osler and Anthony Osler Jr. seated guests at their brother's wedding. They are the sons of the Anthony B. Oslers of Garland Avenue, Sylvan Lake.

The bride attended Central Michigan University where her husband received his degree. He will teach in Vassar this fall. His fraternity is Theta Chi.

A purse corsage of azalea pink roses complemented Mrs. Hamilton's sheath dress of pink silk organza over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom, attired in turquoise silk shantung, wore pale pink roses at her shoulder.

Cloak and Dagger Sign Stealing Denied

NEW YORK (NEA) — Birdie Tebbetts, in New York bemoaned the stealing of catchers' signs by mystery men with high-powered binoculars in the center field stands.

★ ★ ★

The voluble manager of the Milwaukee Braves talked like a district attorney. He spoke of a mysterious voice on the other end of a telephone, suggested putting the culprits under oath and the ure of lie-detector tests.

The interview with Tebbets made a lot of learned baseball people wonder where they had been.

"It's a lot of bunk," said Frank Crosetti, who has practically gone with the lease at Yankee Stadium. "It's the kind of stuff you used to read in dime novels. The fellow talking about stealing signs by signals coming from the holes in a center field scoreboard and whatnot is only trying to sound like a wise guy. I've been with the Yankees for 31 years and you have my word for it that none of that kind of kookie stuff has gone on here."

For 16 years, all Yankee signs from the manager in the dugout have been transmitted through Crosetti, the eagle-eyed old shortstop coaching at third base. So, you see, The Crow is something of an authority on the subject.

"Oh, I imagine signs have been stolen through field glasses and in other tricky ways, but there has been — and is — so little of this that it is inconsequential," said Ralph Houk, the former catcher managing the champions.

"I have to say that stealing signs from a distance is greatly overrated and positively dangerous. Anyone advocating such foolishness is setting up some poor hitter to be killed. The catcher can switch signs. So can the pitcher. The catcher can have a series of signs, and how's a guy with telescopic sights 500 feet away going to know which is for real? The batter expected a curve ball on the outside and getting a fast ball inside could be hit."

"I wouldn't take a sign if they sent me one by Western Union," cut in Yogi Berra, a fair country catcher who for 16 years has been considered the most dangerous of late inning left-hand clutch hitters. "I like to read my own pitchers."

PITCHER BLAMED

"That's right, the pitch is tipped by the pitcher much oftener than the catcher's signs are stolen," said Sam Mele, the Minneapolis manager in the opposite dugout.

"Many pitchers tip their mitts like bad poker players. There are coaches and players who excel at picking up peculiarities of delivery. The way the pitcher holds the ball may tell the observer something. A change in the windup may give the tipoff. The pitcher's pattern in previous games may give the hitter a bulge. He'll remember what the pitcher threw and in what order."

"Hank Greenberg used to like to know what was coming," recalled Jerry Coleman, the former second baseman now broadcasting for CBS. "Mickey Mantle can hit the ball out of sight when tipped off. But you tell some hitters that a fast ball is coming and they'll swing at one feet above their head."

"Bill Skowron, for example," said someone.

"I didn't say that," said Jerry Coleman. "But speaking of reading pitchers, Joe Coleman would stop here on a curve and come down to here for a fast ball. And Early Wynn's hands, for another example, go back of his head on everything but the knuckle ball. For that one, they stop at his forehead."

"Good pitchers aren't too concerned about tipping off the hitter or signs being stolen," concluded Frank Crosetti.

The consensus was that there isn't nearly as much cops and robbers stuff in baseball as there is on television.

Karen Prepares to Face 'Soft-Ball'

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)— Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, United States Wightman Cup tennis star, today started laying plans to master a loping, soft-balling Czech player who reached the Wimbledon final by upsetting four of the world's top stars.

★ ★ ★

Karen, 19, plays Mrs. Vera Sukova, 30, in the final Saturday. The two have never met before.

Karen was seeded No. 8. Nobody thought of seeding Mrs. Sukova, an ambling, heavily built baseline player who has been around the European circuit for years and never done anything spectacular.

SENT TO SIDELINES

But in the last 10 days, almost unnoticed, she has demolished Jan Lehane of Australia and three seeded stars — defending champion Angela Mortimer of Britain, U.S. Wightman Cup star Darlene Hard and 1959-1960 Wimbledon champion Maria Bueno of Brazil.

Sukova achieved her most incredible triumph Thursday. Loping about the baseline and playing a largely defensive game, she edged out Miss Bueno, 6-4, 6-3 in the semifinals.

★ ★ ★

Susman avenged a Wightman Cup defeat and crushed Ann Haydon of Britain 8-6, 6-1.

"I don't know much about Mrs. Sukova," Mrs. Susman admitted. "I've watched her play a few times, and I know she is a baseline player. I shall have to start thinking out a plan to beat her."

BRITISH HOPES END

So That's Why She Lost!

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)— Question: Can the color of a girl's panties affect her tennis?

★ ★ ★

Maria Bueno, the 22-year-old Brazilian champ, wore dazzling pink drawers at her Wimbledon semifinal Thursday.

Which, some folks say, is one reason why she lost.

CROWD LAUGHED

Maria's pants were so luminous that every time she displayed them—when she served or leaped for a shot—the center court crowd laughed.

And every time they laughed Maria fumed.

★ ★ ★

"The crowd's laughter must have affected her tennis," said Dr. Paulo da Silva Costa, president of the Brazilian Tennis Federation.

Maria, the favorite, went down 4-6, 3-6 to Czech housewife Vera Sukova who wore conservative white pants.

ANOTHER VIEW

Maria's outfit was created by Teddy Tinling, who designs most of the more unconventional Wimbledon styles. Tinling said:

"The crowd was amused, but I don't think her outfit had any affect on her play."

★ ★ ★

The All-England club committee is reported planning to consider making women wear white in future, with their club colors.

Wimbledon Referee Col. John Legg was all in favor of a change back to good old tradition.

DETROIT (AP) — Increases in both employment and unemployment in Michigan from May 15 to June 15 were attributed in part today to the graduation of thousands of high school and college seniors.

State unemployment on June 15 was 182,000, or 6.3 per cent of the labor market. This was an increase of 6,000 from May 15. Non-farm employment totaled 2,560,000.

Separate Mishaps in Area

3 Children Hit by Cars

Three children were struck down by cars in the Pontiac area yesterday in three separate traffic accidents.

One of the youngsters was reported in critical condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. The other two were listed as satisfactory at local hospitals.

In each instance the youngsters darted into the street in front of oncoming cars. One was hit by a sheriff's patrol car driven by a deputy.

Renee Denise Cavalier, 4, of 309 Seward St., was under intensive care at the hospital with a critical head injury.

She was struck down on S. East Boulevard by a car driven by William Terentiak, 78, of 637 Central St.

He told Pontiac police that he didn't see the little girl until too late. Witnesses said the child ran into the street without looking. They estimated the car's speed at 25 miles an hour.

Shorman Black, 4, of 325 Howard McNeill St. was hit in the street in front of his home while he was running toward an ice cream vendor's truck.

The boy was in satisfactory condition today with a head injury and a broken leg, nurses at Pontiac General Hospital said.

STOPS TOO LATE

He was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Catherine Provo, 32, of 437 Branch St. She said her car was traveling only 20 miles an hour but failed to stop in time.

Annette Ruth Marsh, 11, of Detroit was running an errand to the store when struck by a patrol car driven by sheriff's deputy Donald G. Bailey, 32, at Sashabaw Road near Clinton Drive in Drayton Plains.

Bailey said he glanced from the road for an instant and failed to see the girl in time.

She was reported in satisfactory condition, with a fractured pelvis and multiple bruises at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The youngster was visiting with relatives at 4350 Clinton Drive.

Footbaall Equipment Stolen at Rochester

Somebody cleaned out the Rochester High School football team.

When a custodian entered the team's equipment room at the school yesterday, he found a dozen jerseys, seven pairs of football shoes, two brand new footballs and a basketball gone.

He told sheriff's deputies that a key to the room has been missing for some time. There was no sign of a forced entry, detectives said.

The missing equipment is valued at $299.

Surrenders in Death of Ex-Area Resident

A Tampa, Fla., man was being held today by Detroit police after he surrendered himself for questioning in the death of a former Rochester police dispatcher near Deckerville in the Thumb Area.

A muscular dystrophy victim, Lee E. Shaw, 48, the father of eight children, was beaten and strangled to death, according to State Police at the Sandusky post.

Isaac G. Heacock, 42, admitted he had a fight with Shaw "several days ago," detectives said.

Detroit police said Heacock told them he was headed home to Tampa but wanted to know first if he was sought by police because of the fight. He denied knowing Shaw was dead, they said.

Both Heacock and Shaw's wife, Ellen, 42, were held for further questioning by Sanilac County deputies.

Deputies said Mrs. Shaw, held as a material witness, told a story of the fight that contradicted Heacock's.

They said she reported she found her husband's body at the foot of the basement stairs yesterday after hearing him argue with Heacock outside the house the night before.

FOUND BODY

Heacock, a family friend, told police he went to the home "several days ago" and an argument developed, during which he said Shaw threatened him with his cane.

Heacock told police he knocked Shaw down and left the home.

Shaw worked for the Rochester police department for one year, returning to his farm in Wheatland Township about a year ago.

Service for Shaw will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Carman Funeral Home in Deckerville. Burial will be in Moore Township Cemetery.

Surviving are six sons, Gary, stationed at the Lackland Air Force Base, Charles, Arthur, Richard, William and Terry; two daughters Gayle and Karen, all at home, and his mother Mrs. Ethel Shaw of Snover.

Also surviving are four brothers, Keith of Snover, Merrill of Fairgrove, Clarence and Alvey of Rochester; and two sisters, Mrs. LaVerne Markelwitz and Mrs. William Secrist, both of Rochester.

Farmer Shows He's a Real Basketball Fan

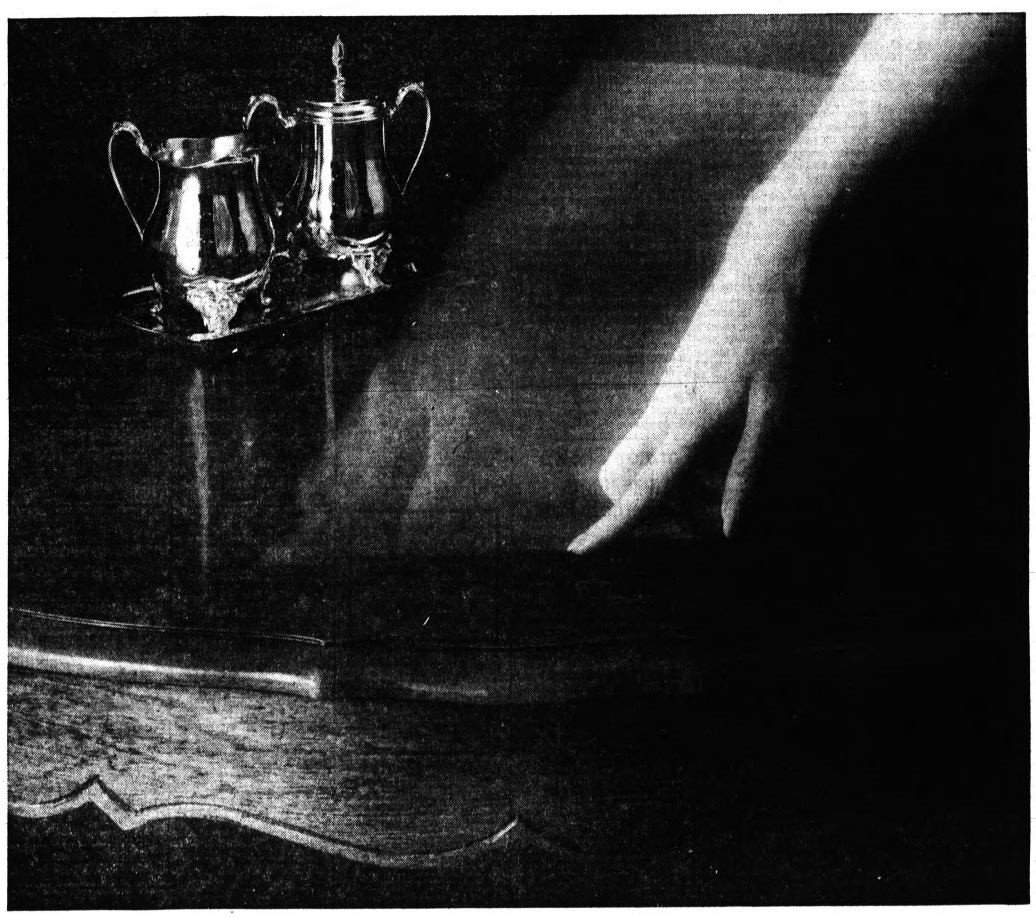
YODER, Wyo. (AP) — Douglas Essert is a Yoder farmer and basketball fan. Or is it vice versa?

He inserted the following ad in the Scottshuff, Nev., Star-Herald:

"Wanted, man with high school age son 6 feet or over, interested in basketball. Man must know cattle, irrigation, general farm work."

Essert didn't land either his basketball player or farm help, so he inserted a new ad:

"Wanted, farm man with beautiful high school daughter who will attract basketball player to Yoder High. Man must know cattle, irri-

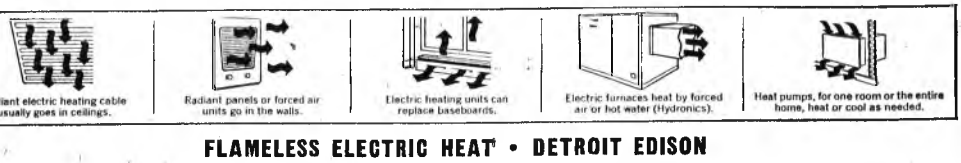


"Now I Only Have to Dust Once a Week!"

"With electric heat, I don't have to wash walls or curtains as often as I used to," says Mrs. Orville Prime. "When we planned this home, we wanted a good heating system but one that didn't cost too much to have put in. We chose electric heat, saved money on installation and still got, in our opinion, the best heating system there is. It's certainly the cleanest! Another advantage is fingertip temperature control—we usually keep the heat lower in the recreation room and turn it up when we're going to use the room. It warms up in a few minutes."

Meet the Orville Prime family of Unionville, Michigan

What about your home? Do you have a hard-to-heat room? Are you adding on a room? Are you buying a new home? Is the heating system in your present home more trouble than it's worth? One of the types of electric heating units shown below may be the answer to your heating problems. One easy way to find out is to ask your electrical contractor. Another is to call your Edison office. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our free booklet "Electric Home Heating" and will answer any questions you may have about the modern, worry-free way to heat your home—electrically.



Radiant electric heating cable usually goes in ceilings.

Radiant panels or forced air units go in the walls.

Electric heating units can replace baseboards.

Electric furnaces heat by forced air or hot water (Hydronics).

Heat pumps, for one room or the entire home, heat or cool as needed.

Store Food in Bodies

Honey Ants Operating Strange 'Grocery Store'

WASHINGTON — Honey ants operate one of nature's strangest grocery stores.

A colony of the slender yellow insects survives during the cold, dry months by storing liquid food in the expandable bodies of selected ants.

"These living storage tanks, fed to the bursting point by their fellows, grow to the size and shape of amber pearls," writes Dr. Ross E. Hutchins in his article, "Living Honey Jars of the Ant World," Magazine.

HARVESTED AT NIGHT

Dr. Hutchins, who is senior entomologist of the State Plant Board of Mississippi and head of the zoology and entomology department at Mississippi State College, studied and photographed the rare honey ant in the Garden of the Gods Park, Colorado.

Throughout the brief rainy season in summer and early fall, ants scurry at night from their subterranean homes to shrublike shin oaks. The foragers fill their second, or community, stomachs with honeydew that exudes from globular swellings on the twigs.

When the foraging ants return to their underground nest, Dr Hutchins says, they regurgitate and transfer their collected sweets to other ants.

★ ★ ★

The storage ants are called "repletes." They swell up like balloons and, using tiny claws on their feet, suspend themselves from the ceiling of the colony's underground nest. A colony may have as many as 300 repletes dangling like small, glossy grapes from the roof for the duration of their two-year life span.

HARD PLATES

The abdomen of a honey ant is covered by hard plates, joined together by a hidden membrane, says Dr. Hutchins. When storing honeydew, the ant stretches the membrane, leaving the armor plates mere islands on the globular surface.

★ ★ ★

In the dry season, hungry ants take drops of nectar from the living grocery stores. The ant may pass the honey on to baby ants or the queen. Like other ants and bees, the honey ants are organized in a matriarchal society centering about the queen. The worker ants are sterile females.

When a replete dies, it is usually dismembered and carried off to a "cemetery chamber."

Voting Machine Ends Chance of Human Error

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (UPI) — The latest thing in voting machines is a model which stamps out its returns in the same foolproof way as banks issue certified checks.

With the traditional voting machine, clerks must read off the totals at the end of election day. The new model provides a printed record — in embossed figures which cannot be altered.

The process "completely eliminates" the possibility of human error, according to the manufacturer.

July 4 Traffic Toll Record 146 Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents claimed a record 146 deaths during the 30-hour Independence Day holiday period. The previous record for a one-day Fourth of July since World War II was 137 in 1956.

The over-all accident toll in the period from 6 p.m. Tuesday and midnight, Wednesday, was 256. In addition to traffic deaths, 16 persons died in boating accidents, 55 persons drowned and 38 persons were killed in miscellaneous accidents. The National Safety Council had estimated that between 110 and 150 persons would die during the period.

Man May Be Subject to Tooth Contagion'

BONN, Germany (AP)—A leading American dental research scientist says it has been proved that tooth decay may be contagious in humans—as well as animals.

Dr. Robert J. Fitzgerald, of the National Institute of Dental Research in Bethesda, Md., told a news conference tooth decay can be produced by inoculating an animal with decay-producing germs, whereupon the disease passes from animal to animal merely by close contact.

Fitzgerald is among 150 dental physicians and research workers attending an international conference on oral biology here.

Check Checks by Electronics

New Firm Can Review Signature, Record of Customer in 4 Seconds

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 25-year-old business school graduate stands today as one of the foremost fighters against an epidemic that annually costs U.S. businessmen an estimated $1 billion and possibly more.

Some 70-80,000 persons in Los Angeles County alone are afflicted—either deliberately or negligently.

The ailment: bum check writing. Ronald Katz, youthful cofounder and vice president of Telecredit, Inc., while he was an assistant to the dean of students at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Katz parlayed his idea and $400 with Robert Goldwan, a 35-year-old engineer, and International Business Machines to come up with his electronic check approval service—a reality to him and a nightmare to would-be bad check passers.

Today Telecredit, Inc., operates out of a new building with $500,000 worth of computers and electronic equipment, a staff of 28, and 400 clients in Southern California.

What appears to be the key to the company's success is that it can virtually wipe out bad check losses for merchants within seconds by either validating or rejecting the check passer's credit.

It works on the principle that driver's licenses are the most widely accepted identification for persons paying by check.

The procedure begins at the checkstand or cash register. When the customer presents a check, the clerk then calls Telecredit for clearance.

Within four seconds, Katz said, special memory discs in computers analyze the customer's driver's license and past check record.

If negative, the check is made to see if the customer is wanted by the police.

The impact of the electronic check approval system, on which the company has a patent pending, is keenly felt in the food industry, where for each rubber check passed the market must take in 130 times the bad check amount in good business to erase the loss, Katz said.

For example, a bad $100 check requires $13,000 in sales to make up the loss.

Since November of last year, Katz said, 40 passers have been arrested and six convicted through the computer.

Lack of Material No Problem to Singer Burl Ives

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — When troubadour Burl Ives arrived in Nashville recently for recording sessions he didn't know what he would sing.

But the bearded giant whose guitar strummed ballads have become part of American folklore considered it no problem.

"I listen and I listen and I listen until something sends me, something that will do the job," he explains.

How can folk music become a best selling record? Ives believes appeal is first because it is poetic. "Secondly, it quite usually has to do with the human things, and the things humans like to do."

How about the singing?

★ ★ ★

"Well, I sing as if I'm telling a story . . . there must be somebody listening, even if it's only in your imagination. Then you sing to the world."

Politicians in Miami to Answer Questions

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami city commission voted yesterday to ask members of Dade (Miami) County's metro commission who run in the recent election to say under oath whether they got help from the billboard industry.

The metro commission voted earlier this week to permit billboards to be built along the county's new expressways.

The new ordinance conflicts with a city requirement that billboards be set back 600 feet from expressways.

Mayor Robert King High charged after the ordinance passed that commissioners who voted for it could not have been voting in the best interests of the people.
