

State Generals Hit Reserve Reorganization

ONE. COLOR

By The Associated Press Plans to reorganize the nation's Army Reserve and National Guard forces — eliminating Michigan's 46th Infantry — drew sharp criticism and only reluctant acceptance from military leaders yesterday.

The National Guard division probably will be replaced by a brigade, but the total shift apparently will trim Michigan's Guard structure by only 300 or 400 men.

visions also would be abolished by the reorganization. "In light of the present world situation, it doesn't seem this is the best thing to do," said Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, commander of the 46th Division.

He called the plan "an unfortunate thing for the defense of our nation," and said it doesn't allow for rapid expansion we have had in the past. He noted, however, that the Defense Department had studied reorganization since 1962, and said, "Who am I to argue with the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Maj. Gen. Clarence G. Schnipke, adjutant general of the division, said Congress had early knowledge of the plan and probably will agree to it. Schnipke and Simmons were in Indianapolis for a conference of adjutants general of the nation's Guard divisions. They were deciding, Schnipke said, which units the Michigan National Guard will retain.

Simmons said that if the reorganization is carried through, all Michigan National Guard officers and enlisted men who want positions in the reorganized guard will get them.

Area Bank Robber Is Killed by Police

By MEL NEWMAN Police shot and killed an armed hold-up man yesterday after chasing him into a field in the Bald Mountain area following the robbery of a Pontiac Township bank.

The chase began at the bank about 2:40 when a teller at the branch told a telephone caller from the bank's Pontiac office a robbery was in progress.

Some 15 police cars surrounded the area. Hazen said he drove into the field and spotted a man in a gully with a gun.

He was dead on arrival at Pontiac St. Joseph Mercy Hospital about 3 p.m. Oakland County sheriff's deputies said he had been shot once above the left ear.

ALARM RELAYED The alarm was relayed to the sheriff's department and deputies, along with patrol cars from Pontiac, Waterford and the State Police sped toward the scene.

on foot into a field near a wooded area. "He pointed it at me and I wheeled the car sideways and called Robinson (Deputy Ted Robinson) for aid," Hazen said.

Alphonse (Andy) Anderson, a sheriff's detective, was in his car only a block from the robbery when he received the call, according to Hazen, and confronted the gunman outside the bank.

WARNING SHOT He said he called for Davis to halt, fired a warning shot, then yelled halt again, but Davis kept moving.

When Davis refused to obey an order to halt and got into his car, Anderson fired pumped three shots into a tire, flattening it, then shot out the rear window as Davis sped away, police said.

Both he and Robinson then fired, according to Hazen, and Davis fell.

Anderson then checked for injuries in the bank and gave instructions to pursuing officers.

Deputies said Davis' gun — a single-shot — was empty, but it was undetermined whether it had been fired. They said he had a box nearly full of ammunition stuffed in his pockets.

FLED ON FOOT Hazen said Davis drove to Dutton, then north on Bald Mountain into a gravel pit where he parked and fled

Four persons — three women tellers and Manager Ted Wharry — were in the bank branch, which operates from a trailer, at the time of the holdup, according to police. (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 3)

New Mexico Police Eye Land Grab Plot

COVOTE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico state police have begun moving in on an armed Spanish-American group which indicates it would resort to force in staging a land grab in north New Mexico.

The group contends its members are heirs to millions of acres of the Southwest as a result of old Spanish land grants. Their leaders said the grab of 600,000 acres around this tiny community is to force a showdown with police on these claims.

Reinforced police contingents sought to nip the take-over in the bud, making at least 11 arrests during the night.

Officers said two of the men arrested were driving cars containing small arms, a high-powered rifle, eight gas masks, a sleeping roll.

Doctor: Speck Near-Insane

Testifies at Hearing on Death Sentence

CHICAGO (UPI) — While the doctor testified, Richard Speck leaned forward in his chair as if straining to hear better. His usually glazed eyes were alive with undisguised interest.

Dr. Ner Litterer described Speck, convicted of killing eight nurses in a single night of slaughter, as a person who had teetered on the brink of insanity for most of his life.

Litterer, a Chicago psychiatrist, was the defense's star witness yesterday at a hearing in Circuit Court to air arguments on whether mitigating circumstances must be present to spare Speck from a death sentence.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen has scheduled Monday as the date he will sentence Speck, 25, convicted on April 15 by a Peoria, Ill., jury which recommended death in the electric chair.

But Paschen is empowered to decree a lighter penalty if he so desires. Yesterday was the last chance the prosecution and defense would have to sway Paschen's decision.

"PRESSURE COOKER" Litterer said Speck lived "with a pressure cooker in his mind" the night he is accused of committing the massacre that sent shivers around the world.

"If we kill Mr. Speck, we obtain nothing, we have solved nothing, we gain nothing," Litterer said.

"If he is confined and given intensive psychiatric treatment, we may learn a little more about the Richard Specks of tomorrow."

By CHIE NISHIO

PEKING (AP) — On the surface it looks as if the people of mainland China are learning to live with Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution purge.

Before they pick up their chopsticks in city restaurants they recite from the red plastic-covered booklets of Mao sayings.

When they window-shop, they must peer between the frayed edges of wall newspapers plastered over store windows.

At night, in their dimly lit cities, they get more cultural revolution, in movies, ballets and discussion groups.

In our tour of China we saw no sign of the violence often reported in the wall newspapers although we noted an undercurrent of tension at one commune.

The people went about their daily work, amid the trappings of the cultural revolution, seemingly unimpaired of the struggle of titans going on between Mao and President Liu Shao-chi.

Housewives, only a few hanging onto tots, crowded the Canton city market, standing in line twice a day to buy fresh foods for the midday meal and again for the evening.

The stalls were filled with beef, chicken, fish, cleaned fresh vegetables. Most of it hung from overhead frames. It looked good, and prices seemed cheap.

PRICE CHECK

Special counters were manned by government inspectors to check prices and weights.

In Peking and Shanghai there was the traffic of a big city, but it was mostly bicycles.

Factories were busy. One, at Fatshan, specialized in enamelware. It employed 500 persons and concentrated on making time soldiers didn't mind the busts of Mao for government

Normally there are few gay lights in China cities, but for May Day red and yellow lights sparkled on buildings like Christmas tree lights.

Early May Day morning we walked through the Peking parks. It was a big, big festival, just like a carnival. Everybody was smiling. Everybody was in good humor. It was the only time soldiers didn't mind me taking pictures of them.

Family Pleas at Coppolino Bail Hearing Fail

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — fied that she wanted him home "because he advises me on little love things and homework." Four weeks to the day after Coppolino was sent to the Florida Penitentiary at Raiford, he rejoined his second wife, Mary, 39, and their four daughters at the hearing Friday after which they hoped to take him home.

The 35-year-old anesthesiologist had sought freedom pending an appeal of the April 28 verdict of a Naples, Fla., jury. The jury found out of the Sarasota County jail in which he was held his first wife, Carmela, with a fatal dosage of succinylcholine, a drug used by anesthesiologists to relax muscles during surgery.

'DADDY POWER'

Mary Coppolino told Judge Lynn Silvertooth that Coppolino should be at home. Her youngest child, Lisa, 4, "runs on daddy power," she said.

Mrs. Coppolino, a wealthy divorcee, said she would have to put up the bail money and added, "I'm not letting him run away with my money."

Silvertooth set out several reasons for denying bail, among them the fact that after the conviction Coppolino had attempted to smuggle a letter out of the Sarasota County jail in which he was held to commit suicide rather than go to Raiford.

The judge, who presided at the four-week trial, also listed "the character of the accused" in his decision without amplifying.

He mentioned the fact that Coppolino was under life sentence for murder.

Defense lawyers argued that Coppolino's appeal was based upon at least six errors of the trial court, including the allegation that the state failed to show which itself implies premeditation and hence first-degree murder.

Defense attorney James Russ of Orlando repeated the claim of chief defender F. Lee Bailey that the verdict, second degree, was illegal in a charge of poisoning which itself implies premeditation and hence first-degree murder.

Coppolino, who has completed a 30-day orientation period, reportedly has been assigned to the state penitentiary chaplain to help process new inmates.

U.S. Adds 38 Categories to Red Trade List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department yesterday lifted export restrictions on 38 more categories of nonstrategic products for shipment behind the Iron Curtain. The action is in line with administration policy to build peaceful bridges between East and West.

Yesterday's move also affects East Germany for the first time in the current program, which began last fall with the easing of restrictions on 400 categories of goods.

Restrictions on another 24 classes were eased earlier this year.

The easing means that exporters can ship these products to Eastern Europe without a special validated export license. They can now be shipped under what is known as a general license.

The easing reduces red tape and the waiting period involved in processing special licenses.

Validated export licenses will no longer be required for shipments to Eastern Europe of many dairy products; cereal flours, meal, groats, grain starches and preparations of flour, starch or meal; tobacco; raw cotton excluding lint, cotton waste and carded or combed cotton; some types of crude and manufactured fertilizers; and linseed oil, coconut oil and soft vegetable oils.

Also eased were restrictions for shipments to East Germany of bakery goods, sugar, cereal foods, sauces and salad dressings; neoprene, miscellaneous organic chemicals and urea fertilizer; and corsets, brassieres and girdles.

The department said special licenses were not required

previously for shipments of these commodities to other European countries.

AUTO EQUIPMENT

Restrictions were also eased for shipments of some automotive equipment and other goods to Eastern Europe, Hong Kong and Macao.

Included are passenger cars with single-axis drives; batteries; automotive vehicle fuel pumps; speedometers; tachometers; some measuring and checking instruments for auto maintenance; springs and spring leaves for cars and small trucks; sealed beam lamps; and ignition equipment.

The new regulations are effective immediately.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODY ISHMAEL

Victor Hugo, French literary giant in the Nineteenth Century, was not only a man of many thousands of words in his poems, plays, novels and essays, but he was a dedicated man of action based on faith. Strongly influenced by his mother, a devout Catholic both in his writings and in political action, he dedicated his life to man's liberty. Because of that dedication, he was exiled for 19 years.

In France his name stood as a symbol of the Republic and he said, "When liberty returns, I shall return!"

Later he became intensely absorbed with the soul of man. He jotted down many notes, including the following which is helpful even today.

"You say the soul is nothing but the resultant of the bodily powers. Why, then is my soul more luminous when my bodily powers begin to fail? Winter is on my head, but eternal spring is in my heart."

Confident Living:

Anger Can Rob You of Success

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

According to tradition a man approached Mohammed and asked of the prophet a suggestion for spiritual benefit. "Do not get angry," Mohammed replied.

Thinking the prophet had misunderstood the question the man repeated it. Again Mohammed answered, "Do not get angry."

Anger of the slow-burning variety, commonly known as resentment, sometimes does more damage than do fits of violent temper. Easier to conceal, oftentimes hiding in the unconscious, it is harder to come to grips with and difficult to cure.

George had become quite a problem to his wife. He was irritable, irascible, critical of everybody, always out of sorts. His state of mind affected his health, and he suffered from nervous tension — got so he took a dozen kinds of pills.

George was not doing well in business, either, and others were being advanced ahead of him. George's boss, also concerned, told Sara that her husband was contented, hard to get along with, downright cranky. He said, "I hope you can do something with him."

So Sara tried to get a few thoughts across to her husband. But he responded, "Get off my neck! Everybody else is on my neck. Now you've climbed on. Is that the way a wife is supposed to act?"

The troubled woman then went to see Dr. Large. "I'm in trouble. I have a real problem — my husband." And she told him how things were.

"Stop talking to him about himself," Dr. Large advised her. "Don't nag him, don't pester him. Lay off. Just love him. But that won't be enough. Your husband's trouble is deep-seated. We must try to reach the disorder in his basic attitudes."

Sara was then given what seemed strange advice. She was told to awaken at the time her husband went to deep sleep, and to work mentally and prayerfully to project creative thoughts into George's deep unconscious.

In thought she was to picture this man as peaceful and free of tension; she was to visualize him as affable and friendly in his relationships. This procedure was to be followed daily until a change in the man's attitudes was noted.

Then one day he said, "Wonder how come everybody at the office is so much nicer than they used to be? They must have begun to realize how badly they'd been treating me."

Some weeks later the boss called George in and informed him, "I'm making you a division manager."

George was astonished. "But why?" he involuntarily blurted out.

"Because of the way you've changed," the boss said. "I've never seen a more remarkable change in a man. You're cooperative and agreeable. You act happy and you even seem enthusiastic. You are no longer so tense and on edge."

That evening when George told his wife the good news he added wonderingly, "God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform."

Sara merely said, "And how!"

An angry, irritable disposition can operate to rob a person of success and happiness. You cannot overcome anger by merely telling yourself that you won't be angry. Nor is it necessarily required that someone else project serene thoughts into your subconscious.

You can build such thoughts into your own consciousness by affirming your ability to exercise emotional control until your mind accepts the fact that you are no longer going to let anger harm you.

It's bad to get mad. Bad for whom? You!

Submits Opinion on Changing State Clocks

I agree with the editorial "Double Daylight Time." Michigan has had daylight time (so-called) for years and now a few golf players try to disrupt the whole state by trying to make the time two hours faster than it should be. When we lived in Michigan our kids had to catch the school bus before daylight during fall and winter months. Factory workers have to go to work in the dark while the golfers sleep. Farmers can't do anything in the fields until the dew is off, no matter what the clock says. Let's be reasonable and leave the clocks alone.

Question and Answer

I just finished a story about a family hit by a locust plague. Are they really as bad as they sound, or is that just another case of the story improving with each telling?

J. L.

REPLY

We can't speak for all locusts, but one swarm is recorded to have covered about 2,000 square miles. The weight of that swarm is estimated at about 450,000 tons, so you'd probably be safe in believing they can get pretty bad at times.

Washington Notebook:

Most Capital Graffiti Is Brutal

By DAVE BURGIN
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Graffiti — you know, slogans and wise cracks scribbled on walls — is probably the crudest of the seat-of-the-pants American politics (or something like that) and politics do at times tend toward the bitter.

Anyway, trying to keep tabs on the graffiti explosion, we've taken notes on Washington graffiti. Some of it is funny, but mostly it's brutal.

"LBJ wears a false nose." Now what kind of mind came up with that one!

On a Capitol wall: "The Crime Committee is on the take." "Bobby Kennedy uses waxes." "Dr. Spock wears rubber pants." "George Hamilton is alive and well, and if he isn't in Argentina, he should be."

In Lafayette Park, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House: "J. Edgar Hoover bakes brownies." "Vietnam isn't a good war, but it's the only one we've got."

Also in Lafayette Park, a crayon-carrying child defended the art: "They stamp out graffiti. They're merely short editorials by private citizens."

No one here is quite sure whether there is, in fact, a war between members of the press and politicians, but most will concede that relations aren't "normal."

It has always been a situation in which the politician has to tell himself, "Be careful what you say"; and the reporter tells himself, "Be careful what you ask."

Then came the "back-ground" rebellion a few weeks ago. Some reporters got tired of quoting "a high source" or "a party spokesman" — which is what the press was asked to do out of a "background" session.

Politicians here reiterated, generally, by not saying anything, though that may be hard to believe. Anyway, there was a sudden decrease in the number of background sessions. Reporters seeking "background" really had to dig.

So then it came out that Senate restaurants were being operated in deficit, and, in no small part to $21,276 in checks unpaid by senators. Press notices sent some senators to digging — where it hurts — because the next day that unpaid balance dropped to $9,492.

"My, this is a fun game we play," one high Senate source told us.

From Californians on the hill, word comes that television-movie actor and former baseball player Chuck Connors is seriously considering running next year for the Senate seat occupied by Republican Thomas Kuchel.

California GOP Sen. George Murphy was asked if he knew of other actors like himself or Gov. Ronald Reagan, and now Connors, who might be contemplating a career in politics.

"Well," Murphy replied, "I hear now that Lassie is barking out of both sides of her mouth."

Taxation: Unseen Boss of Americans

Taxes have always been linked with death as two implacable facts of life with which man must contend.

Another dimension of taxes — a statistical factor — has now evolved. It is time — the time you spend getting up the dough to feed the maws of the Federal, state and local tax monsters.

To satisfy their insatiable appetite for taxpayers' dollars, Americans today work 2 hours and 25 minutes of every 8-hour working day. This represents a "gain" of six minutes over the tax-work equation of a year ago.

In comparison with the time-bite taxation takes out of the average daily wage, but 1 hour and 26 minutes is needed to meet housing and household operating costs, while 1 hour and 14 minutes is consumed by food and tobacco expenses.

If you think there's something wrong with this picture, you're right — there is. It's soaring taxation.

Supervisors Appoint Committee to Rule Airports

The Press heartily approves the action of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors in establishing an agency to operate the two county-owned airports.

To be known as the County Airport Committee, the three-man board will provide legal status and operational responsibility for facilities that may soon grow into a major County activity.

There looms, however, a legal cloud in the sky that casts a shadow on the newly-created body.

A Michigan law stipulates that the operation of airports in counties of one million or more population comes under jurisdiction of the county road commission. The law was undoubtedly tailored to fit Wayne, the only county then meeting the population criterion.

But with Oakland County, the State's second largest, zooming toward the million population mark (it currently numbers 850,000), it could at no distant date find itself in the same position as Wayne with direction of its airports vested in the road commission.

While casting no reflection on the recognized merit of the Oakland County Road Commission, we don't think that such an agency is the proper one for supervision of airports. Indeed, some little of the dissatisfaction currently heard about Detroit's Metropolitan Airport is related to its management by the Wayne County Road Commission.

No time should be lost in initiating revision or nullification of a State law that could within a few years adversely affect Oakland County's airports.

Indianapolis, New Delhi Stage Auto Classics

While the United States was watching the running of the 51st Indianapolis "500" with its avant-garde field of spectacular speedsters, a motor meet quite different took place in New Delhi.

It was made up of the vintage vehicles left behind by India's galaxy of free-wheeling, lush-living maharajas, none of whom would have been caught dead with fewer than four or five Rolls Royces plus several sporting models in his motor stable.

Forty-four of these beautiful if antiquated autos were rolled out for competition in an annual rally of aged autos.

Winner of the 80-mile chase was a 1912 Rolls Royce while a 1914 Model-T Ford won double recognition — for having come the greatest distance under its own power to participate (879 1/2 miles) and for evidencing the best state of maintenance and attractiveness.

The many dissimilarities between the American and Indian auto classics is topped by that of the winner's prize. At Indianapolis, it was worth $171,227; at New Delhi, a trophy.

What Was That You Didn't Say, Mr. President?

Asked at a recent news conference, if he sensed a rising pace in the Vietnam war from five or six months ago, President Johnson replied:

"I believe our objectives are the same... and our determination just as strong as it has ever been."

Rhetoricians and logicians, like the Greeks, may have a word for that kind of reply to a specific question. The man in the street assuredly does. It is "double talk."

Citizen Debates Self-Protection

By DICK SAUNDERS
There's a citizen in the Pontiac area who has found — in two short weeks of despair — that men's never ending war against crime is fraught with complexities.

Our citizen, who owns an area business establishment, prefers to re-SAUNDERS main anonymous.

He called me a couple weeks back with a problem and a suggestion.

"Burglars have broken in to my business place twice now," he said. "I'm going to get myself a gun and wait for them."

His suggestion concerned the current state police vehicle safety check lanes.

"Why don't they have them at night," he said. "They might spot some burglars with loot in their car, or persons with concealed weapons."

"In any case, if criminals knew they might be pulled over at night they might think twice before burglarizing a place."

"Our citizen was irked by the fact that police couldn't put his business place under nightly surveillance."

Checking with state police we found that they feel nighttime safety check lanes are dangerous; that they pose a traffic hazard of sorts. Also, it's more difficult for officers to inspect cars in the dark than it is in daylight, which in part destroys the purpose of the safety check program.

Most police agencies agree, too, that an all-night stakeout on a previously burglarized store rarely turns out to be fruitful. If the burglars do return, they usually wait until the stakeout has been lifted. A day or two later our citizen called again.

He was ready and willing to take law enforcement into his own hands.

"I've got my gun and I'm ready. I'm watching the place every day. The next time they get in, they won't get out," he declared.

He continued his vigil for five nights. Then, badly in need of a good night's sleep, he stayed home one night.

You guessed it. That was the night they hit his business place again.

He called again the next day.

He wasn't hopping mad, as you'd expect. He was developing some keen insight.

"You know, I sat there for five nights and the first night I missed, they hit me again," he stated.

Our citizen was beginning to see the frustrations faced every day by law enforcement agencies.

"They stole $1,200 worth of merchandise this time," he continued. "And you should see the hole in the window they gained access through. It's so small."

"And the footprints. I can almost cover a footprint with one hand. Whoever gets in here has to be an awful small man. Or maybe a kid... or... a woman."

He paused.

Then he repeated slowly, "A kid or a woman."

"My God, I might have shot a kid or a woman," he said. "I don't think I could do that."

Our citizen hasn't called again.

According to tradition a man approached Mohammed and asked of the prophet a suggestion for spiritual benefit. "Do not get angry," Mohammed replied.

Thinking the prophet had misunderstood the question the man repeated it. Again Mohammed answered, "Do not get angry."

Anger of the slow-burning variety, commonly known as resentment, sometimes does more damage than do fits of violent temper. Easier to conceal, oftentimes hiding in the unconscious, it is harder to come to grips with and difficult to cure.

George had become quite a problem to his wife. He was irritable, irascible, critical of everybody, always out of sorts. His state of mind affected his health, and he suffered from nervous tension — got so he took a dozen kinds of pills.

George was not doing well in business, either, and others were being advanced ahead of him. George's boss, also concerned, told Sara that her husband was contented, hard to get along with, downright cranky. He said, "I hope you can do something with him."

So Sara tried to get a few thoughts across to her husband. But he responded, "Get off my neck! Everybody else is on my neck. Now you've climbed on. Is that the way a wife is supposed to act?"

The troubled woman then went to see Dr. Large. "I'm in trouble. I have a real problem — my husband." And she told him how things were.

"Stop talking to him about himself," Dr. Large advised her. "Don't nag him, don't pester him. Lay off. Just love him. But that won't be enough. Your husband's trouble is deep-seated. We must try to reach the disorder in his basic attitudes."

Sara was then given what seemed strange advice. She was told to awaken at the time her husband went to deep sleep, and to work mentally and prayerfully to project creative thoughts into George's deep unconscious.

In thought she was to picture this man as peaceful and free of tension; she was to visualize him as affable and friendly in his relationships. This procedure was to be followed daily until a change in the man's attitudes was noted.

Then one day he said, "Wonder how come everybody at the office is so much nicer than they used to be? They must have begun to realize how badly they'd been treating me."

Some weeks later the boss called George in and informed him, "I'm making you a division manager."

George was astonished. "But why?" he involuntarily blurted out.

"Because of the way you've changed," the boss said. "I've never seen a more remarkable change in a man. You're cooperative and agreeable. You act happy and you even seem enthusiastic. You are no longer so tense and on edge."

That evening when George told his wife the good news he added wonderingly, "God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform."

Sara merely said, "And how!"

An angry, irritable disposition can operate to rob a person of success and happiness. You cannot overcome anger by merely telling yourself that you won't be angry. Nor is it necessarily required that someone else project serene thoughts into your subconscious.

You can build such thoughts into your own consciousness by affirming your ability to exercise emotional control until your mind accepts the fact that you are no longer going to let anger harm you.

It's bad to get mad. Bad for whom? You!

New Sewer System Is at Fisher Body

Construction of a new storm sewer system at the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac was announced yesterday by local plant officials. The planned system will separate storm water and sanitary waste water presently being handled by a combination sewer system.

In announcing the construction Fisher Body plant manager Thomas F. Wiethorn said the system is needed to more effectively handle the plant's discharge during heavy rainfall periods.

He went on to add that the project parallels the recently announced city wide sewer separation program.

The three-year program is under the direction of Fisher's facility planning and works engineering section located in Warren and the plant Engineering department at the Fisher Body Pontiac plant.

The plant is currently using a system of combination sewers which carry the storm and sanitary water to the city's waste treatment plant.

SEPARATE SYSTEMS

The treatment plant is able to handle the water discharge most of the time, but during periods of heavy rainfall, the treatment plant cannot keep up with the water flow.

Using separate systems, the plant will be able to divert millions of gallons of clean water into a single storm sewer removing the load from the city's sanitary sewer and carrying it directly to a clean water source.

A unique aspect of the project is the technique being used to install some of the 42-inch sewer lines so as not to disrupt production.

The pipes are laid adjacent to the plant and then forced into position by use of hydraulic jacks. After the jacking project is completed, other pipes of smaller size will be lowered into position by tunneling or trenching out under parts of the plant.

The program is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1970.

Insurance Tip for Expo Trip

Americans planning to drive to Expo 67 in Montreal are warned by auto insurance firms to get liability insurance proof.

Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District, issued the warning on behalf of the insurance companies.

"Those intending to visit Expo 67 should request their auto liability insurer to provide them with a yellow non-resident interprovincial motor vehicle liability insurance card."

"This card will provide proof of compliance with the Canadian financial responsibility laws and help to avoid undue delay should you have the misfortune to be involved in an accident."

"Most Canadian provinces require that vehicles be insured in the amount of $35,000 to cover public liability and property damage. To be sure your insurance limits are high enough and to obtain proof contact your auto insurance company or agent," McDonald said.

Other hints: Take along a birth certificate to speed border crossings; have your pet vaccinated against rabies and obtain a vet's certificate to that effect if you plan to take your pet along; keep a list of all purchases and your sales slips for easier customs inspection upon re-entry into the United States.

Movie Star Sees Stunt Men as Waste of Time and Effort

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "It's not a death-wish or anything," handsome young Roger Moore of NBC's "The Saint" TV series said, in his suite at the Regency, as he busily packed papers into a brown attache case he was going to carry on the plane.

"But for speed and efficiency, it's quicker to do that stunt stuff myself without stunt men," various female people had urged the good-looking Roger to save himself and allow others to die instead.

"The worst experiences I've had have been with actors who don't know how to judge distance and don't have coordination. The only one who gets hurt is you," Roger Moore said. "They just don't know how to fight for the screen. They can kill you."

Roger Moore laughed and added that the first and worst experience he'd had in a screen fight was with actress Kate O'Mara.

WILSON

"She gave me the worst punishment," Roger said. "I could see it coming when she charged at me! She hit me so hard my head was rolling across the floor. I found out next day that she'd had a fight with her boy friend and was taking it out on me!"

Free Air Time for Antismokers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight cigarette manufacturers who advertise their brands with radio and television commercials may in the future be assuring free air time to groups opposing smoking.

The Federal Communications Commission ordered Friday that stations broadcasting cigarette ads must provide an unspecified amount of time to antismoking programs.

The order said stations could try to sell time for the antismoking programming. But it said if no sponsor could be found, the time would have to be provided free of charge.

The commission didn't spell out specific amounts of time it expects stations to give antismoking programs. It left to the stations "the type of programming and the amount and nature of time to be afforded," saying it relied on the "good faith and reasonable judgment" of each broadcaster.

State Senate Approves Isolated Pension Extensions

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Senate amended a law requiring Circuit Court judges to forfeit their pension rights if they serve after the age of 70. The Senate also made a gallant bow in the direction of the two new women troopers recently sworn in by State Police—Michigan's first ladies on the force.

Only one man, Robert L. Drake of Lansing, the present administrator and a former Ingham County probate judge, will benefit.

Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, said he believed the extension was worthwhile since otherwise it would be difficult to attract a former judge familiar with the workings of the court to take the post.

"Wonderful Person"
Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, objected this might be setting a precedent.

"If you make an exception here, it will grow," he said. In another pension exception,

He amended the bill to provide that the widows of two state troopers killed during the line of duty near Flint in 1966 should receive pensions.

Lane said it was his understanding that the widows of two troopers, George Lappi and Bert Pozza, were not eligible. The troopers were killed when a husband went berserk, hit his wife with a shovel and then stood off a State Police siege for more than an hour with a rifle. State Police said the widows already were receiving a pension since their husbands were killed in the line of duty.

"I didn't know that," Lane commented. "But I did want to do right by the widows since everyone else in the state seems to be getting pensions." Several bills of interest to outdoormen were passed by the Senate.

Should Try to Mingle With Rest

ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it bad manners for several guests at a party to form their own little group and sit talking to each other to the exclusion of the others?

I have noticed this at several parties I attended and I think it is very rude. —Annoyed

Dear "Annoyed": One of the advantages of a big party is that the guests may meet a variety of people and everyone should try to mingle with the others. Inevitably small groups will form, but they should be broken up frequently and soon, before appearing to be exclusive.

PAPER DOLLIES

Dear Mrs. Post: For dessert at a dinner party I served sherbert. I placed a pretty paper dolly between the sherbert and the serving plate, mainly because it made it easy for me to serve and prevented the sherbert from slipping off the plate. It looked pretty, but was it incorrect? —Marge C.

Dear Marge: It was incorrect because the sherbert melts the paper dolly becomes soggy and tends to shred. No one enjoys bits of paper in his sherbert.

CORSAGES

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct way to wear a corsage? Do you wear it with the stems pointing upward or downward? —Judy Martin

Dear Judy: Corsages are worn with stems down as the flowers would naturally grow. If there are no stems, arrange them whichever way looks best.

From time to time, everyone encounters situations which are outside of his experience. For the right answer on any problem you face concerning Etiquette, write to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

New members attending the meetings were Mesdames Thomas Combias, Robert Kudner, Eugene Ryson, Sam Gabriel, John Pappas, Steven Socrates and Stephen Sergiou.

LAST MEETING

Mrs. Peter Metropole of Detroit was a visitor at the meeting that concluded activities for the current year.

The group will meet again in September.

Members on the decorating committee were: Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. Thomas Nicholas and Mrs. William Kolochos.

Bum Steer From Judge Friend Could Get Son in Bull Pen

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old, six-foot, 200-pound son got a girl from a neighboring farm into trouble. She is also 15. We gave him strict orders to stay away from her, but it seems he didn't. Her people claim it's our fault. I talked with the city, and he said there is a law that says if a man owns a bull he is responsible for keeping the bull locked up. And if the bull gets loose and goes into a neighbor's pasture and breeds his dairy heifers, the owners of the heifers can't sue for damages because they should have kept their heifers locked up. My friend, the judge, says the law applies to people. Have we a case?

OHIO FARMER

DEAR FARMER: A man's son is not a bull, neither is his neighbor's daughter a heifer. I can't practice law, but I think your friend, the judge, gave you a bum steer.

DEAR ABBY: I am only the grandmother, but I want to know if I have to sit around and keep my mouth shut when my son-in-law abuses my four-year-old grandson until it about tears my heart out?

I wouldn't mind if the kid had it coming, but his father watches him like a hawk, just waiting to pounce on him for any little thing.

I have seen that man knock the boy right off his chair with one slap in the face for "reaching" at the table. And he has raised welts half an inch high on the boy's back with a leather belt for leaving the bathroom water running. I am so afraid he will cripple the child for life. My daughter is afraid to say

Sorority Groups Meet to Arrange Future Events

Mrs. Wallace Williams of Voorheis Road hosted the final meeting of the season for Gamma Nu chapter, Sigma Beta sorority Thursday evening. Assisting here was Mrs. Wilson Allen.

Plans were discussed to attend a talk by a representative of the National Kidney Foundation on June 21. The setting for this is the Oakland County Supervisor's Auditorium at 8 p.m. Guests may attend.

PLAN PICNIC

Another event coming up for the group is a picnic July 22 at the home of Mrs. Albert Kiss-hauer of Shakey Godshon, the chapter's delegate, reported on the Province 1 confab held recently in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PSI CHAPTER

Psi chapter of Sigma Beta heard reports on the Province 1 meeting in Fort Wayne, Ind. May 20 and 21 at their Thursday meeting.

Mrs. Ezio Besogni and Mrs. James DeFiorio presented the reports. Mrs. Besogni is the new secretary treasurer of Province 1.

New officers were also elected at the evening gathering in the home of Mrs. Homer McMahon of Preston Street.

They are Mrs. George Baril, president; Mrs. Thomas Thornberry, vice president; Mrs. Joe Mooney, treasurer; Mrs. Gustave Frizzell, recording secretary and Mrs. Michael Clever, corresponding secretary.

Others taking office at the June 15 installation in the Elks Temple are: Mrs. Carmen Tosto, Mrs. Charles Bradshaw, Mrs. Jerry McKay. Mrs. Eddie O'Brien was presented with a gift marking her 20th anniversary as a member of Psi chapter.

anything to him. He reads your column. Please say something. Maybe he will take the hint.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Him? The big bully should be hauled into court. They will order him to submit to a mental examination because no healthy, normal man behaves this way. If he refuses to voluntarily see a doctor, you should report him to your local police or sheriff.

He needs desperately to have his head examined. And so should your daughter if she puts up with it.

Court Stops Use of Name

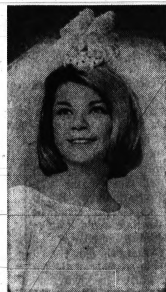

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The divorced fifth wife of millionaire Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. is now prohibited by court order from using his name or claiming they are still married.

Superior court commissioner James P. Natoli issued the order Friday at the request of Vanderbilt, 69, who contended his name has "connotations of fame and fortune."

Natoli ruled that the former Mrs. Patricia Murphy Wallace Vanderbilt could not use her ex-husband's name in "any form, shape or manner, directly or indirectly."

Vanderbilt, of Reno, Nev., also received a $9,262 judgment representing the money spent to bring the action and to defend himself against her separation complaint filed in New York.

The woman, who lives in Beverly Hills, Calif., did not contest the suit.

MRS. T. E. HANSZES

Gunfire Punctuates Music

Arab Radio Comes On Strong

By HANNS NEUBOURG
AMMAN, Jordan (AP)— Martial music followed by a burst of machine-gun fire
seems to be the new station
identification signal of Jordan's Jerusalem radio.

We were driving along the desert highway in 104 degrees
heat, returning from the Red Sea port of Aqaba.

"All people of good will now
feel the hour has come to liquidate this Fascist-Zionist threat," the announcer said in almost unaccented English.

There was another brief burst of firing before shrill bagpipe music
came out of the car radio, turned to full volume by the young driver.

"News about war?" he asked.
FAMILY FLED
"Nothing new," I told him.
"Everything quiet."
"Good," he said pensively. He told me he was from Beersheba
now in Israel and that his family fled in 1948.

"I was little boy," he went on in broken English. "Beersheba
many gardens, good place."
After a while he added:
"Maybe not war."

HEADING WEST
We passed a row of trucks, all loaded with sleepers for the He-jaz railway extending from Amman to the south. A herd of camels was striding away from a shallow pool of water. They were headed for the west, for the desert border with Israel.
British Hunter jet fighters of the Jordanian air force flew overhead later while I was having a chat with a Jordanian government official.

He favorably referred to France's "impartial" stand in the Middle East crisis. I asked him about the French Mirage fighters in Israel's air force.
"That was a commercial deal," he said. I mentioned the conversation I had with a driver who had apparently approved of the Nazi murders of Jews.

"Arab intellectuals condemn the Nazi massacres," he replied. "But that has nothing to do with the fact that Israel illegally took away Arab land."

In Jerusalem, I met Suleyman Abdallah, a 32-year-old New Yorker of Austrian descent, turned Muslim, who is the managing editor of the Palestine
News. It is an English-language paper that usually refers to Israel as "the vermin of Tel Aviv."

"If America stays out of this
there will be no third world war," he said. "Let the Arabs
and the Israelis fight it out.
Russia supplied arms to Egypt and Syria, the Americans shipped them to Israel and Jerusalem. Let them stay out of this and there will be only a local war."

Under the starry skies just after a blackout practice a stout Arab shipping agent invited me for a drink and asked me about the situation at Aqaba and at Elath, the Israeli Red Sea outlet
blockaded by the Egyptians.

COULD DO WITHOUT
"The Jews could do without Elath," he said. "They could get all supplies via Haifa. If they don't get their oil from Iran anymore, the Italians would be glad to help out."
"Perhaps with gasoline made from Soviet oil," another partner in the nighttime chat interjected.
The shipping agent laughed, slapping his thighs. "It's a crazy time, ha, ha, ha."

Junior Editors Quiz on SALAMANDERS

QUESTION: How do salamanders and lizards differ?

ANSWER: In a recent article about frogs and loads, we pointed out that both of these were amphibians, animals with soft skins, which usually spend part of their time on land and part in the water.

A salamander is another kind of amphibian. It can't hop away from danger the way toads and frogs can. But its very small legs and long tubular body allow it to hide under leaves, stones or fallen trees.

Needing moisture, salamanders are usually found near water.

Lizards resemble salamanders in shape but are very different. They are reptiles, more advanced animals than the amphibians.

Lizards have five toes on the front foot to the salamander's four. And their bodies are encased in hard scales which prevent the inner moisture from escaping. This enables such lizards as the 'desert swift' to live in a dry, scorching desert.

Amphibians and reptiles resemble each other in that they are both cold-blooded—that is, their bodies must be warmed up from outside. Higher animals, such as birds and mammals, are warm-blooded, with bodies which maintain the right heat inside.

Emmy Awards to Honor
Winners in 33 Areas

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The
television academy pours forth
Sunday its 19th annual cornucopia of honors and heartbreaks.

The Emmy awards, at hotel ceremonies in Los Angeles and New York, will be telecast in color by ABC—9-11 p.m., EDT.

Winners in 23 categories will receive about 50 gold-plated statuettes for excellent the past TV season.

Nominees for outstanding comedy series are the Andy Griffith show, "Beverly Hills
Cop," "Get Smart," "Hogan's
Heroes" and "The Monkees."

For outstanding variety series: the Andy Williams show,
the Dean Martin show, "Hollywood Palace," the Jackie Gleason show, the Smothers Brothers
comedy hour and Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show.

Other categories include dramatic series, children's programs, musicals, one-time acting performances, etc. Besides the 23 categories, there are 10
"craft and programming areas":
documentaries, daytime
shows, sports, art direction,
cinematography, editing.

The academy, formed in Hollywood, once was criticized as an upstart. What business did it have, some Easterners asked, giving awards to Eastern shows?

Later it became the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. The present 6,000 members are in nine chapters from New York to San Francisco.

On postcards throughout the year, members suggest achievements for Emmy consideration.
Separate groups—actors,
directors, etc.—pick their nominees by ballot. "Blue ribbon"
panels select the final winners.

Some oddities from Emmy's past:

"The Beverly Hillbillies" never has won. "The people love it, but when pros are awarding pros, somehow it misses," says
an academy aide. Yet Jane Wyatt and Robert Young won in
"Father Knows Best," a show not considered ivory-tower but popular in the parlors.

Andy Griffith never has won an Emmy, but Don Knotts, his former TV sidekick, has won four, including one last year for a single guest appearance.

PCH Wins Meet 'for Mr. Wilson'

Hasn't Reached Peak in Mile

Ryun's 'Experiment' Produces 3:53.2

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Kansas' fabulous Jim Ryun ran the second fastest mile in history—3:53.2—but the personable young sophomore said Saturday he is still "experimenting."

Ryun, who of course holds the first fastest time, the world record 3:51.3, turned in his brilliant performance in the Coliseum Compton Invitational Friday night before 27,765.

And he did it with virtually no opposition. Closest to Ryun at the finish was a former Kansan, John Lawson, some 50 yards back in 4:01.1.

The mile shared honors with several other events.

Australia's distance champion, Ron Clarke, eased up in the final strides, took the 5,000 meters in 13:39.8 which hardly challenged his world record 13:16.6.

Texas' Southern Jimmy Hines defeated the world record holder, Tommie Smith of San Jose

State, in their 220 battle, 20.5 and 20.6.

Smith's record is 20 flat.

DOUBLE WIN
Earlier Hines won the 100 meters in 10.2. His double won him Athlete of the Meet honors.

"I'm quite satisfied with the race, especially the time," said Ryun. "But I feel I am working on a better over-all season schedule this year. In other words, my goal is to hit a peak later in the season."

Ryun will run at Albuquerque, N.M., next week in the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet.

"This was sort of an experimental race," he continued. "I've been doubling up practically all season so I didn't know what I could do in a single race."

"This was my slowest finish all year," Hines said, adding he felt he beat Smith on the turn. He said he thinks he can run 20 flat or under before the season is over.

NO EXCUSES
"I have no excuses," Smith said. "I just got beat. My start wasn't especially good but not that bad. Hines did get away from me on the turn. Don't forget Hines is quite a runner. No matter how good you are, we're all beatable."

Bob Beamon of the El Paso Track Club for the third time this year defeated long jump record holder Ralph Boston, 26-3 1/2 to 25-1.

Northern 3rd in All County Track Event

Seven Records Fall; Two by Tipton; Cole Leading Scorer

By JERE CRAIG

"I'm glad we could win this one for Mr. Wilson," the Pontiac Central runner said.

"We'll have to show that to Mark," bragged the Pontiac Northern jumper.

These were the reactions Friday night as PCH captured the All Oakland County Track and Field Meet title for the third straight year, and PNH's Huskies finished a surprising third.

"We didn't think we could come in third," an elated PNH runner exclaimed as top pointman Mel Cole displayed the handsome team trophy.

PCH tallied 51 points and Northern 26. Others claiming team trophies were Royal Oak Dondero, 32 points for second; Hazel Park, 25; Royal Oak K1 m b a 11, 22; and Ortonville Brandon — tied for 11th overall with 11 points — winner of the Class C-D crown.

The triumph was Central's sixth in the eight county meets. The Chiefs won four events. PNH's only first was Cole's record setting long jump but the Huskies nonetheless completed their finest track season with third place, their best showing in the annual competition.

BIG BABY—A 2-week-old moose calf gets a pat on the back from game warden Gordon Ebel of Orr, Minn., after it was brought to the St. Paul Como Park Zoo this week. Fishermen spotted the calf near the Moose River in northern Minnesota. Its mother had died. Ebel and another warden tracked down the hungry animal and brought it to the zoo in the back seat of their car.

Students at Berkley High Mob, Harass Patrolman

BERKLEY (AP)—A police officer in this Detroit suburb was besieged with rocks, belittled with words and bewilderment by the actions of several hundred Berkley High School students Friday.

The incident occurred after the officer pulled over a speeding car near the high school's parking lot.

GM Antitrust Suit Dismissed

CHICAGO (AP)—The government Friday gave up its legal fight to compel General Motors Corp. to divest itself of its diesel locomotive manufacturing division.

Judge William J. Lynch of U.S. District Court dismissed the civil antitrust suit, brought by the department of justice in 1963, at the request of government attorneys.

The order for dismissal stated the government had concluded it lacked sufficient evidence to prove GM had engaged in monopolistic practices.

The civil suit charged that GM had monopolized locomotive production illegally with help of its vast economic power.

It sought an order that would have compelled GM to divest itself of its Electro-Motive division at LaGrange, Ill., and take such other steps that would enable the locomotive division to operate independently.

The government claimed Electro-Motive division manufactures more than 80 per cent of all new and rebuilt diesel locomotives throughout the nation.

Patrolman Frank W. Stubblefield said he received a call about 8 a.m. that several cars were driving at a fast rate of speed near the high school.

After arriving at the scene he signalled a driver of a fast-moving car to pull over, but then found himself surrounded by hundreds of apparently angry students. Stubblefield said he was "disgusted and ashamed" that any police officer "has to put up with a situation like this."

CALLED FOR HELP

Stubblefield had to call for additional help from police officers in two other Detroit suburbs. He said he was pelted with rocks, pennies and lit cigarettes but was not injured.

No arrests were made.

Berkley High School Principal Loren Disbrow said that he does not know exactly what happened. He said the first he heard of the incident was when the police came to see him. No disciplinary action was taken against the students.

No Shaw Probe, U.S. Admits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark says he was in error in stating an FBI investigation cleared Clay Shaw of involvement in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Actually, the Justice Department said Friday, the FBI had not even investigated Shaw, a retired businessman under indictment in New Orleans on a charge of conspiring to assassinate Kennedy.

A department spokesman issued a statement he said aimed at clearing up an erroneous statement last March 2 by Clark at an impromptu news conference.

At that time, Clark was quoted as saying Shaw had been cleared by the FBI of involvement in the slaying during the bureau's investigation in the New Orleans area in November and December 1963.

CLARIFICATION SOUGHT

The Justice Department statement said, "The attorney general has since determined that this was erroneous. Nothing arose indicating a need to investigate Mr. Shaw."

The department said the clarification was requested by Edward F. Wegmann, Shaw's lawyer. Shaw, 54, a decorated World War II Army major, is free on $10,000 bail. No date for his trial has been set.

New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison has said Shaw, the late David W. Ferrie and Lee Harvey Oswald conspired to assassinate Kennedy.

The Justice Department said the FBI probe did cover allegations by Dean A. Andrews Jr. which included a reference to Clay Bertrand, a name Garrison maintains Shaw also used.

Andrews, a New Orleans attorney who once handled minor legal matters for Oswald, since has been indicted for perjury. The department said, "Clay Bertrand was not identified as a real person. No evidence was found that Clay Shaw was ever called Clay Bertrand."

The Warren Commission, which investigated the assassination, said Oswald acted alone. The department said Friday it "is convinced that Lee Harvey Oswald alone assassinated President Kennedy."

MODERNIZATION

Modified Mediterranean Against A Wall Background Of White Sets Decorating Pace In Living Room

Dining Area Colors Derived From Textured Oil By Joyce Miller

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

Decorator Favors Style Blend

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
Shoemakers' children go barefoot, according to the old saying, but decorators' children live in up-to-date fashion if their decorator father is Marvin Grappin of Clayton's Furniture, 2133 Orchard Lake, Bloomfield Township.

In his three-bedroom ranch, Mr. Grappin chose a Mediterranean motif for the living and dining rooms.

Accenting the living room's white walls and martini sculptured carpeting are the red velvet corduroy sofa and the red-on-martini linen chairs.

To insure privacy a Roman shade of white antique satin trimmed in red ball fringe was selected for the side window. The red ball trim is repeated in the picture window's white antique satin draperies which draw back over white dacton glass curtains.

Flanking the sofa are distressed oak pieces with brass appointments. A hanging antique brass fixture with black shade lights the double-doored commode and an antique brass table lamp, the hexagon piece.

Before the sofa are matching filled travertine marble cigarette tables on black wrought bases.

The storm scene, an original oil by G. Siepl, on the sofa wall stresses black, grays, blue, gold and earth tones.

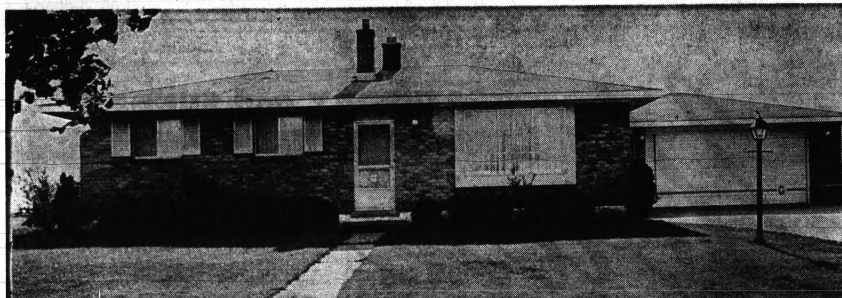

Centering the red carpeting of the adjoining dining room is a martini-clothed round table. Black fringe edges the floor-length cloth. The chairs serving the table feature black leather seats.

A black wrought iron candleabrum with orange candles balances the still life by Joyce Miller which hangs above the room's oak credenza. The still life, contemporary in color approach, emphasizes the red of the carpeting, the orange of the candles, the black of the chairs and introduces a hint of lavender and blue.

Departing completely from the Mediterranean, the nearby family room reflects a colonial theme with the focal point, casual comfort.

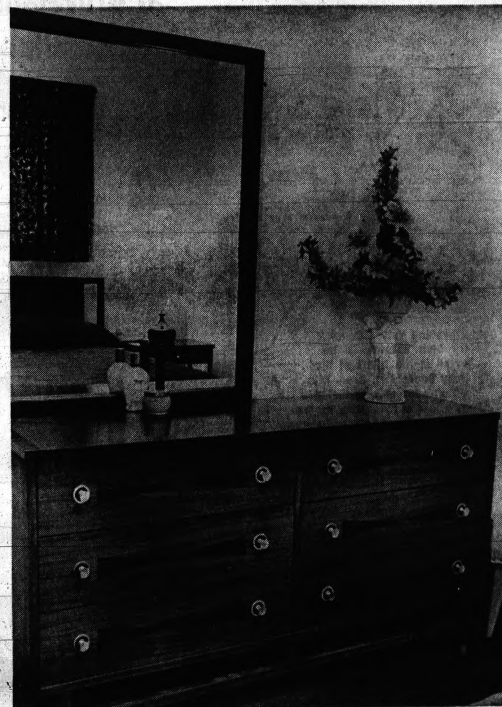

Maple sconces with green candles, a maple sugar bucket and crystal goblets dress the ledge-rock fireplace.

Rich Blue Plush Dramatizes Color Theme Of Master Bedroom

Use Doors as Headboard

Dramatize a King-Size Bed

Today's trend toward use of a king-size bed in the master suite is sensible in terms of sleeping comfort. But the big beds have created big problems in space arrangement and decorating.

The bed almost always becomes the focal point of any bedroom, and the larger the bed, the more it demands the eye.

Yet decorators say it's a mistake to try to disguise the king-size. Better by far, they contend, is to play it up, to make the most of its dramatic size by using an equally dramatic headboard-wall treatment and a truly outstanding spread.

Interesting effects can come from elimination of the standard headboard, using, instead, a wall treatment resembling a headboard.

An exciting look is achieved by paneling the wall area directly behind the bed's head with stock panel doors, for example.

PROPER PROPORTIONS

Since solid fir and hemlock panel doors are available in a variety of widths and heights, the proper proportions for any given room and bed are easily achieved.

The doors can be attached side by side on the wall to cover completely the headboard area.

Or they can be sawn apart vertically, down the center stile, to make narrower panels which are mounted on the wall leaving a three or four inch spacing between. Just two doors are needed for this treatment.

The cost is low, $10 to $20 per door for stock patterns which offer a surprising variety of styles.

The headboard-wall of doors can be finished to match bedroom furniture. But since this is an accent area, something different might be done.

A black-brown stain could be applied to "age" the wood and the wall behind painted a vivid color picking up the bedspread's principal shade.

Another fascinating headboard can be made by dovetailing together lengths of stock spindles or balusters, available at lumber yards and woodworking shops.

DOWELING

Some horizontal doweling also is necessary for rigidity, and it's best, again, to mount this headboard directly against the wall.

A third idea sure to pack dramatic punch is to panel the full headboard wall with resawn cedar siding boards.

To supply the needed vertical line, either tall, matching table lamps or dropped-ceiling lamps are needed on either side of the bed.

While spindle and door headboards may be painted or antiqued with superb effect, a wall of resawn cedar paneling is most effectively finished clear or with a dark stain.

Knotty grades of ponderosa pine and sugar pine are most interesting when finished with dark stain.

Can Openers Lose Ground

Things are getting easier all the time.

Remote control TV sets, push-button telephones and now beverage cans that require no can opener are all helping to make each man's home a castle of convenience.

The new cans are a case in point. Who would have thought that the simple can opener could be improved on? But it has been.

In days past the cries of "Where's the can opener?" and "Who forgot the can opener?" were heard across the land.

With the development of cans with aluminum tear tops, it would seem that those frustrating days are numbered.

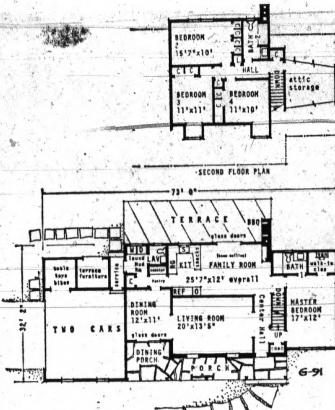

TEAR TABS

About 75 per cent of all beer cans today have aluminum tabs that pull off with the flick of a wrist as do increasing numbers of soft drink cans.

Several major brands of beer and soft drinks have gone even further by packaging their products in cans made completely of aluminum, a trend that helped increase the metal's use in cans by about 30 per cent in 1966.

All-aluminum cans are gaining in popularity because, in addition to the easy open feature, they are also lighter than other cans and cool more quickly.

The difference can usually be felt in the reduced weight of a six-pack as it's pulled off a market shelf.

FLOOR PLANS — Good circulation pattern here, with placement of the master bedroom on the first floor, with four entrances to the house. Unusual aspect of design is three other bedrooms on the second floor.

Two-Story Features First Floor Bedroom

The upper floor of this two-story house is divided into three bedrooms and a bath — but will do major storage duty on this floor.

Since this house has four bedrooms, it must be assumed that it would be used by a family of five or six persons, which means that the area for living must be good-sized.

But, in a two-story house, this can be accomplished without an oversized or overly-expensive structure. The first floor, for example, has a modest 1,207 square feet, excluding the service center and the garage.

Yet thoughtful planning is evident in the floor layout. The living room is well-proportioned with plenty of wall space. Just off the center hall, it produces a fine first impression to visitors, yet it need not be entered for informal entertaining, since the family room is straight ahead.

The dining room has sliding glass doors leading to a sheltered flagstone porch that can be used for dining or relaxing.

As well as being directly off the porch, it is straight ahead.

REAR TERRACE

An outdoor rear terrace runs the full width of the family room, kitchen and service area. The fireplace chimney accommodates the built-in cook-out.

All kitchen appliances are spaced within a compact counter area. The snack bar can serve as a layout counter. To the side is a pantry with an alcove counter, fire for keeping dishes and cutlery for dining room use.

The service hall, directly to the left of a laundry-mud room and lavatory, permits entry into the house as well as the two-car garage.

At the rear of the garage is a large storage area for toys and bikes, with its opening inside the garage.

Another large storage area, which could be used for terrace furniture — or anything else, for that matter — has its opening on the outside.

On the outside, Design G-91 has a dignified combination of brick and siding. The house has a pleasant New England look.

G-91 STATISTICS

Design G-91 has a living room, dining room, family room, lavatory, master bedroom and full bathroom on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1297 square feet. This figure does not include the service center and garage. There are 685 square feet on the second floor, where three bedrooms and a bathroom are located. The two-car garage includes two large storage compartments. There is a large porch area in the front of the house and a terrace in the rear.

Booklet Gives Flooring Tips

Homeowners who are in the market for a new resilient floor can get valuable shopping help from a new information-packed brochure just published by the Armstrong Cork Co.

Called "Before You Buy a Floor," the new 24-page booklet is a comprehensive consumer's guide to all types of residential resilient flooring, including vinyl, linoleum, vinyl-asbestos tile, and the new cushioned vinyl sheet materials.

Each type of flooring is described in detail with the aid of charts comparing product performance, ease of maintenance and approximate installed cost. The book also explains how to select the proper resilient flooring for each area of the home.

According to Armstrong, many homeowners are confused by the wide variety of flooring products on the market and the conflicting claims as to their advantages. The new buyer's guide is designed to end the confusion by providing an objective, easy-to-understand analysis of each product type.

Included in the brochure are numerous color illustrations showing the latest styling trends in resilient flooring and floor covering. The book also contains a special section dealing with correct maintenance procedures for resilient floors.

For a free copy of "Before You Buy a Floor," write to Armstrong Information Service, c/o The Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster, Pa. 17604.

Expo 67 Cost $5 Million to Landscape Site

Landscape the site for Montreal's Expo 67—estimated officially to cost $5 million. The fair opened late in April.

Landscape architect R.G. Calvert reported that plans for the site included:

• One million square yards of turf, 200,000 cubic yards of top soil, 40,000 cubic yards of peat moss and 10,000 trees.

Roots of many of the trees, brought from scattered representative areas of the dominion, were planted not too long ago.

The major landscaping projects for Expo 67 concerned the park area on Cite du Havre (Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster, Pa. 17604).

There also is general landscaping and planting throughout the exhibition site.

On Cite du Havre alone, were planted 1,400 trees, 30,000 ornamental shrubs, 200,000 annual flowering plants, 50,000 bulbs, 140,000 feet of rough seeding, 750,000 square feet of assorted paving, and 7,500 lineal feet of steps and ramps.

Also employed there were 700,000 square feet of turf and are ideal if you want 33,000 cubic yards of top soil, clean under the telephone dial.

Pipe Cleaners Are Versatile

The hard-to-get-at spots in your percolator are easily reached with pipe cleaners. In fact they can clean many other items such as the sewing machine, family typewriter, model railroad equipment, slot car racing equipment and more tracks, costume or fine jewelry.

Also employed there were 700,000 square feet of turf and are ideal if you want 33,000 cubic yards of top soil, clean under the telephone dial.

Homeowners are advised to have residual water drained quickly after a flood. The water may contain disease germs, so avoid contact. If you get wet with polluted water, change your clothing and wash yourself thoroughly.

2 Days of Isolation in Bathroom

Junior Spacemen Put to Test

PACOLET, S.C. (AP) — Next stop: the moon. Would you believe the attic?

At 8 a.m. on Friday, June 2, 1967, a significant experiment in spacecraft survival was successfully completed at 26 Victor Park, Pacolet, S.C. — in the downstairs bathroom.

The two-man space team: Randy, 10, and Mark Edwards, 8.

The project: 48 hours in a simulated spacecraft.

PHYSICAL ABILITIES

The purpose: To prove their mental and physical abilities to withstand the rigors of space travel.

That's not the question now. After one look at the bathroom, mom is wondering whether she can stand it.

Intensive preparation preceded the undertaking. The junior spacemen watched every televised flight. They read every printed word they could find on the subject of space travel. They wrote to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for more information. When a NASA representative supplied a list of educational information centers and advised they contact the nearest one, the boys wrote to every one on the list!

They then assembled a survival kit.

INSURMOUNTABLE

Only one problem proved insurmountable — so they conducted the experiment in the downstairs bathroom.

They made one request of their father, Herb Edwards, door by a younger sister and personnel manager at Pacolet brother.

Mills, before they entered the isolation chamber. "Please take our picture when we come out, with our beads."

Although their public, not to mention their family, was hungry for word from the team, no contact was made during the 48-hour experiment — except for the few notes slipped under the peanut butter sandwiches, candy bars and apples and two canned soups.

It was later learned the young astronauts spent most of their waking hours giving each other astronomy and rocketry quizzes, and grading them.

In a postflight interview, their mother, Lorraine, revealed that the young spacemen shrewdly scheduled the test for the time between the closing of Pacolet Elementary School and the opening of the neighborhood swimming pool.

THEY SURVIVED — These junior spacemen—Mark Edwards, 8, (left, top) and his brother, Randy, 10—emerge yesterday after a significant experiment in spacecraft survival—48 hours of isolation in the family's downstairs bathroom. At right, the pair take a close look at a spacecraft. Looked up for two full days, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Edwards of Pacolet, S.C., showed they've got what it takes to be real spacemen.

21 Phony State Checks Passed in Lansing, Detroit

LANSING (UPI) — Bad-check paper once used for driver's artists using phony names and licenses before the new picture addresses have passed 21 fake state checks worth more than $2,300 in Lansing and Detroit in the last six weeks.

State Treasurer Allison Green disclosed the case yesterday after a dozen fake checks were kicked out of Treasury Department data processing equipment yesterday morning.

State Police, who are handling the cases, said they didn't know if the same people were involved in passing the bun checks in both cities.

According to Green, the first four fake checks—interfered to look like state payroll checks—turned up April 21. Each was worth about $150 and was made out to a Lansing man at a non-existent address. An Oldsmobile employee with the same name has been cleared of any connection with the case through handwriting analysis.

Green said those checks were printed on the same kind of

Three Bodies Found in Lake

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — The bodies of three men missing since boating mishaps last month have been found in Lake St. Clair, the Coast Guard said today.

Spokesmen said the bodies of James Allen LaCross, 19, and Dennis DeWaele, 19, both of Hazel Park, were found near where their boat capsized.

Officials also reported finding the body of Leonard J. Czarnicki, 26, Warren, near a local yacht club. He had been missing since a fishing trip May 12.

your whole aim as declarer is to try to get a better result than that declarers get at the other table.

East's double of three no-trump asked his partner to open his own bid suit. Unfortunately, East it seems that West thought it called for a club lead.

"I would have called for a club lead (dummy's bid suit) if West had not bid when your partner has bid your no-trump double says, 'Partner, don't look around. Just lead your suit.'" abled West to be just as sure as a loss as down three doubled. South's no-trump bid with no diamond stopper had been judgment. His gamble to make the contract was even worse. It seems that West did not overcall at the other table and South also reached three no-trump. West did open a diamond and South was down three undoubled. This would have lost the board against down one doubled.

Tree Rustlers

Work in Daylight

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP) — Walnut tree rustlers fed a prized 17-year-old walnut tree and hauled away its yield of two prime 18-foot logs, valued at several thousand dollars in the present inflated market.

The thieves operated boldly in broad daylight while owner James E. Johnson was at work. They left stumps and debris in his front lawn in place of the tree.

to the Point

BELGRADE (AP) — Twenty-seven years ago, Yugoslav Radi-voje Momirski won a prize here for writing what was described as the shortest book in the world.

Its title was "Who Rules the World?" Inside was a single page with just one word: "Money."

It was reprinted in several languages, but now another Yugoslav, Isio Stefanovic, is publishing a book he insists is even shorter.

The title is "War." Inside is just one word, "No."

Machine Wins
Contest Against
Live Opponents

NEW YORK (AP) — Automation has triumphed over humans at Columbia University, where a computer predicted more correct football game winners during the past season than did human guessers.

The machine was fed such data as team records, individual statistics and comparative scoring against each opponent. Out of 80 games it picked 57 right.

The nearest humans, senior Mark Schlesinger of Plainsboro, N.Y., and Bridget Leiber, a University secretary, tied for second place, correctly predicting 54 contest results.

The competition is an annual event conducted by the Columbia Daily Spectator, the student newspaper of Columbia University's undergraduate Columbia College.

'Global Law Makes Aqaba Blockade Illegal'

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department lawyers maintain international law amply supports the U.S. position that the Gulf of Aqaba should be open to ships of all nations.

The gulf is Israel's link to the Red Sea—and Egypt's proclaimed anti-Israel blockade of for a maritime nations declaration in behalf of international passage through the gulf.

President Johnson has branded such a blockade illegal and the U.S. government is pushing on its shores—Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Israel.

Also, part of the gulf is what's known in maritime law as "high seas" because it is 15 miles wide at its broadest point, National territorial waters, according to the U.S. position, extend only three miles from the shore line.

One important portion of the waterway does come under Egypt's territorial jurisdiction. This is the Strait of Tiran, 23 which must be used by ships entering the gulf. This strait is about four miles wide at the narrowest point.

During 1950-60 the U.S. population increased by a record 28 million.

Effective June 5, 1967 the route for THE OAKLAND BUS will be extended to Ingleside and Monticello and back to Oakland.

Plans to reorganize the nation's Army Reserve and National Guard forces — eliminating Michigan's 46th Infantry — drew sharp criticism and only reluctant acceptance from military leaders yesterday.

The National Guard division probably will be replaced by a brigade, but the total shift apparently will trim Michigan's Guard structure by only 300 or 400 men.

Fourteen of the nation's Guard divisions also would be abolished by the reorganization.

"In light of the present world situation, it doesn't seem this is the best thing to do," said Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, commander of the 46th Division.

U.N. Split on Crisis Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A sharp split among members of the U.N. Security Council over the course it should take in the Middle East crisis cast doubt that effective action would emerge from today's scheduled council meeting.

The key stumbling block appeared to be Egypt's announced determination, as yet untested, to bar Israeli shipping from the Gulf of Aqaba.

Ambassador Hans R. Tabor of Denmark, council president for June, called the 15-nation council into session after two days of inconclusive private consultations, principally among the 10 non-permanent members.

Representatives of Britain, Argentina, Israel, Bulgaria, Syria and Morocco were listed to speak.

The council had before it two resolutions — one by the United States urging a cooling-off period and a search for a solution through diplomatic means.

The other, presented by Egypt, blames Israel for the trouble and calls for reactivation of the Egyptian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission.

The belief was widespread that the Soviet Union would veto the U.S. Resolution because of Arab objections if the United States were able to muster the necessary nine votes needed for adoption.

There was also doubt that nine council members would support the U.S. plan.

The Egyptian resolution was given no chance of approval.

With India taking a leading role, the non-permanent council members were attempting to work out a compromise along the lines of the U.S. proposal.

UAW Workers Will Earn $35,000 a Year -- Reuther

Fatal Bombing of Russian Ship by U.S. Claimed

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers union members will be paid $35,000 to $40,000 annually in 20 years or so, UAW President Walter P. Reuther told the union's Chrysler Council yesterday.

At the same time, he indicated the UAW firmly intends for Canadian auto plant workers to share in the gains the American UAW members make.

Reuther, at a news conference, declined to be specific about when he expects auto workers to be paid $35,000 a year, but he said, "we're on that road."

Workers on both sides of the border make identical parts for identical cars, "and there should be equal pay for equal work," Reuther told the news conference.

He called the U.S.-Canadian trade agreement situation a common market, and said Canadian and American industry "needs to understand that it can't get all the advantage of a common market."

Reuther repeatedly told the 175 delegates to the Chrysler Council meeting that the union would drive this year for "our measure of justice."

"NOT EASY"

"It is not going to be easy," he told the union men. "We were in a much more favorable position in 1964 when current contracts were negotiated than in 1967. Be prepared to pay the price."

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet charge that two U.S. jets bombed a Russian ship off North Vietnam, killing one crewman and injuring six, heightened chances today of a showdown with Moscow over raids by American planes in areas of Soviet shipping.

Shortly after Moscow received a report yesterday from the captain of the Soviet ship Turkistan, Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko handed a sharp protest to the U.S. Embassy's minister-counselor, John C. Guthrie.

"In the event of a recurrence of such actions on the part of U.S. armed forces," Gromyko's note reportedly said, "the Soviet Union will be compelled to take appropriate measures to ensure the safety of its ships."

Pontiac Sets May Sales Mark

A sales record for May was established by Pontiac Motor Division with the sale of 84,717 cars last month.

John Z. DeLoe, the division's general manager, said today the new total erased the old May record of 75,828 cars set in 1965.

The new mark is a 40 per cent increase over the 60,425 cars sold in May last year.

Generally, most U.S. auto makers showed strong gains during the month of May.

Preliminary reports yesterday showed that last month's sales were 8 per cent — 47,600 cars — above sales in May 1966.

The 823,797 vehicles that rolled out of dealer showrooms in May outnumbered those sold in any month back to March 1966, when buyers bought 853,978.

General Motors, with all five of its divisions showing sharp upswings, led the surge with 471,530 vehicles sold, up 18 per cent — 70,401 — from May 1966.

Chrysler sales hit 121,547, up 6 per cent from May 1966 and American Motors had sales of 22,602, a 5.4 per cent increase.

Only Ford Motor Co., second largest of the U.S. auto builders, had sales still lagging behind last year's May rate. Ford sales of 208,117 were down 18 per cent, or 28,828 cars, compared to May 1966.

STEADY DECLINE

From the high point reached 14 months ago, U.S. auto sales began a steady decline to a low point of 501,431 last September.

The 1967 models boosted October sales to 793,630, but sales skidded again to 564,000 in January and 509,000 in February.

Despite the dark sales picture, which the industry blamed on fear of war, inflation, taxes and claims that cars weren't safe enough, auto makers predicted a spring upturn.

"March sales climbed to 600,000 then April had sales of 710,206, and the boom came fully alive in May. For the first time in eight months, a 10-day sales reported exceeded 1966 sales."

UNDER THE GUN—Blindfolded and bound, Vietcong guerrillas sit in a field as a South Vietnamese soldier stands guard. They are waiting for transportation to a rear area for questioning and confinement. The guerrillas were captured 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

He called the plan "an unfortunate thing for the defense of our nation," and said it doesn't allow for rapid expansion we have had in the past."

He noted, however, that the Defense Department had studied reorganization since 1962, and said, "Who am I to argue with the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Maj. Gen. Clarence G. Schnipke, adjutant general of the division, said Congress had early knowledge of the plan and probably will agree to it.

Schnipke and Simmons were in Indianapolis for a conference of adjutants general of the nation's Guard divisions. They were deciding, Schnipke said, which units the Michigan National Guard will retain.

Simmons said that if the reorganization is carried through, all Michigan National Guard officers and enlisted men who want positions in the reorganized guard will get them.

Area Bank Robber Is Killed by Police

By MEL NEWMAN

Police shot and killed an armed hold-up man yesterday after chasing him into a field in the Bald Mountain area following the robbery of a Pontiac Township bank.

Killed was Gerald Keith Davis, 40, of Waterford Township, identified as the man who robbed the Community National Bank branch at 3420 Squirrel shortly before he was surrounded by officers near Bald Mountain Road.

He was dead on arrival at Pontiac St. Joseph Mercy Hospital about 3 p.m. Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said he had been shot once above the left ear.

Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives, said Davis died with a bank bag containing $6,986 clutched in one hand and a 22-caliber sawed-off rifle in the other.

The chase began at the bank about 2:40 when a teller at the branch told a telephone caller from the bank's Pontiac office a robbery was in progress.

ALARM RELAYED

The alarm was relayed to the sheriff's department and deputies, along with patrol cars from Pontiac, Waterford and the State Police sped toward the scene.

Alphonse (Andy) Anderson, a sheriff's detective, was in his car only a block from the robbery when he received the call, according to Hazen, and confronted the gunman outside the bank.

When Davis refused to obey an order to halt and got into his car, Anderson first pumped three shots into a tire, flattening it, then shot out the rear window as Davis sped away, police said.

Anderson then checked for injuries in the bank and gave instructions to pursuing officers.

FLED ON FOOT

Hazen said Davis drove to Dutton, then north on Bald Mountain into a gravel pit where he parked and fled on foot into a field near a wooded area.

Some 15 police cars surrounded the area.

Hazen said he drove into the field and spotted a man in a gully with a gun.

"He pointed it at me and I wheeled the car sideways and called Robinson (Deputy Ted Robinson) for aid," Hazen said.

WARNING SHOT

He said he called for Davis to halt, fired a warning shot, then yelled halt again, but Davis kept moving.

Both he and Robinson then fired, according to Hazen, and Davis fell.

Deputies said Davis' gun — a single-shot — was empty, but it was undetermined whether it had been fired. They said he had a box nearly full of ammunition stuffed in his pockets.

Four persons — three women tellers and Manager Ted Wharry — were in the bank branch, which operates from a trailer, at the time of the holdup, according to police.

BANDIT'S WEAPON — Capt. Leo Hazen (left), chief of Oakland County Sheriff's Department detectives, and Deputy Keith Davis, killed by police after he robbed a Pontiac Township bank branch yesterday. The weapon was described as a 22-caliber sawed-off rifle.

He Rides High on Lawn Mower

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — Keith Williams, 56, of Kinston has been fined $100 and has lost his driver's license after he was convicted of driving drunk on a lawn mower.

State Highway Patrolman V. H. Heath testified yesterday that he saw Williams driving his riding mower along U.S. 258 Saturday night with no lights in heavy traffic.

House Unit Clears GOP Tax Plan; It's Given 'No Chance' in Senate

LANSING (AP) — The House Republicans' new temporary tax plan was reported from committee yesterday and faces the possibility of floor action next week.

House Speaker Robert Waldron said there is a good chance it will pass in the House.

The top House Democrat, Rep. William Ryan, said there is no chance it would be accepted by the Senate.

The Republican-dominated Taxation Committee voted to change the 1969 expiration date of the proposed temporary package from June 30 to Dec. 31.

House GOP plans call for passage of both the 2½ year tax program and another series of bills with identical provisions which would take effect beginning in 1970 if voters approve them in 1968.

INCOME TAXES

Included in the House GOP plans would be income taxes of 2½ per cent on persons, 5 per cent on corporations and 7 per cent on financial institutions, a three-cent cigarette tax increase, repeal of the business activities tax and cuts in the intangibles and property taxes.

One-tenth of the revenue collected under the individual income tax would go to county governments. Another tenth would be distributed among Michigan's cities, villages and townships.

Democrats in the House denounced the package as too easy on business and unfair to individual taxpayers.

Ryan said it stood little chance of getting through the House, and added: "If we can't hold the line and defeat it, the Senate Democrats certainly can."

WILL 'HOLD OUT'

"Any Democrat who considers voting for this package should realize that if we hold out long enough we can get something which would be more equitable," the Democratic leader said.

New Mexico Police Eye Land Grab Plot

COYOTE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico state police have begun moving in on an armed Spanish-American group which indicates it would resort to force in staging a land grab in north New Mexico.

The group contends its members are heirs to millions of acres of the Southwest as a result of old Spanish land grants. Their leaders said the grab of 600,000 acres around this tiny community is to force a showdown with police on these claims.

Reinforced police contingents sought to nip the take-over in the bud, making at least 11 arrests during the night.

Officers said two of the men arrested were driving cars containing small arms, a high-powered rifle, eight gas masks, a sleeping roll.

Driving one of the cars was Cristobal Tijerina, brother of the group leader, Reyes Tijerina.

The men arrested were charged with unlawful assembly, extortion, killing a deer and killing a cow. The warrants stemmed from past activities of the group, which until last week was known as the Federal Alliance of Land Grants.

They were taken to Santa Fe, 65 miles southeast of Coyote, and jailed under $6,000 bond each.

Also found in the cars were the membership records of the alliance, including receipts for payment of dues in 1965 and 1966. A federal judge in Albuquerque had ordered these records produced, but the alliance disbanded and took the new name of Confederation of Free City States. The judge then ordered Reyes Tijerina to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

EFFECT OF ARRESTS

Police were uncertain what effect the arrests would have on the confederations scheduled meeting in Coyote today, billed as a national conference.

Dist. Atty. Alfonso Sanchez of Santa Fe, who issued the warrant, was charged if they attended the meeting.

"I want these people to know that every single person in the confederations will be met with a warrant, Sanchez said. "And anyone who takes anything unlawfully will be charged with extortion."

The arrests were made by 26 to 28 state policemen who picked up the alliance members at their homes throughout northern New Mexico or where they could be found.

DENIES JAMMING GIs' CALLS — A Los Angeles amateur radio operator, James L. Brantley, 39, denies jamming calls to the U.S. from wounded servicemen on the hospital ship Sanctuary off Vietnam. Yesterday, he accused other hams of deliberately trying to link him to the jamming because he is a Negro. He told of operators breaking into his transmissions and saying, "Get off the band, nigger."

Doctor: Speck Near-Insane

Testifies at Hearing on Death Sentence

CHICAGO (UPI) — While the doctor testified, Richard Speck lay in his chair as if straining to hear better. His usually glazed eyes were alive with undisguised interest.

Dr. Ner Litterer described Speck, convicted of killing eight nurses in a single night of slaughter, as a person who had teetered on the brink of insanity for most of his life.

Litterer, a Chicago psychiatrist, was the defense's star witness yesterday at a hearing in Circuit Court on arguments on whatever mitigating circumstances might be present to spare Speck from a death sentence.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen has scheduled Monday as the date he will sentence Speck, 25, convicted on April 15 by a Peoria, Ill., jury which recommended death in the electric chair.

But Paschen is empowered to decree a lighter penalty if he so desires. Yesterday was the last chance the prosecution and defense would have to sway Paschen's decision.

'PRESSURE COOKER'

Litterer said Speck lived "with a pressure cooker in his mind" the night he is accused of committing the massacre that sent shivers around the world.

"If we kill Mr. Speck, we obtain nothing, we have solved nothing, we gain nothing," Litterer said.

"If he is confined and given intensive psychiatric treatment, we may learn a little more about the Richard Specks of tomorrow."

Litterer told the court that Speck "could not control his behavior on the night of July 13-14, 1966, when the nurses were herded together in their dormitory town house, tied up, strangled and stabbed."

RECALLS FINDINGS

But William Martin, the chief prosecutor, recalled that a panel of eminent psychiatrists and psychologists had examined Speck prior to his trial and found him responsible for his behavior the night of the murders.

"He takes what he wants when he wants to and does what he wants when he wants to," Martin said.

On the night of the murders, Speck "took what he wanted without thinking of the consequences," Martin said.

MODERNIZATION

Dining Area Colors Derived From Textured Oil By Joyce Miller

Modified Mediterranean Against A Wall Background Of White Sets Decorating Pace In Living Room

Neat Brick Ranch Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Marvin Grappin Located On Irwin Drive

Decorator Favors Style Blend

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
Shoemakers' children go barefoot, according to the old saying, but decorators' children live in up-to-date fashion if their decorator father is Marvin Grappin of Clayton's Furniture, 2133 Orchard Lake, Bloomfield Township.

In his three-bedroom ranch, Mr. Grappin chose a Mediterranean motif for the living and dining rooms.

Accenting the living room's white walls and martini sculptured carpeting are the red velvet corduroy sofa and the red-on-martini linen chairs.

To insure privacy a Roman shade of white antique satin trimmed in red ball fringe was selected for the side window. The red ball trim is repeated in the picture window's white antique satin draperies which draw back over white daron glass curtains.

Flanking the sofa are distressed oak pieces with brass appointments. A hanging antique brass fixture with black shade lights the double-doored commode and an antiqued brass table lamp, the hexagon piece.

Before the sofa are matching filled travertine marble cigarette tables on black wrought bases.

The storm scene, an original oil by G. Siepi, on the sofa wall stresses black, grays, blue, gold and earth tones.

Centering the red carpeting of the adjoining dining room is a martini-clothed round

table. Black fringe edges the floor-length cloth. The chairs serving the table feature black leather seats.

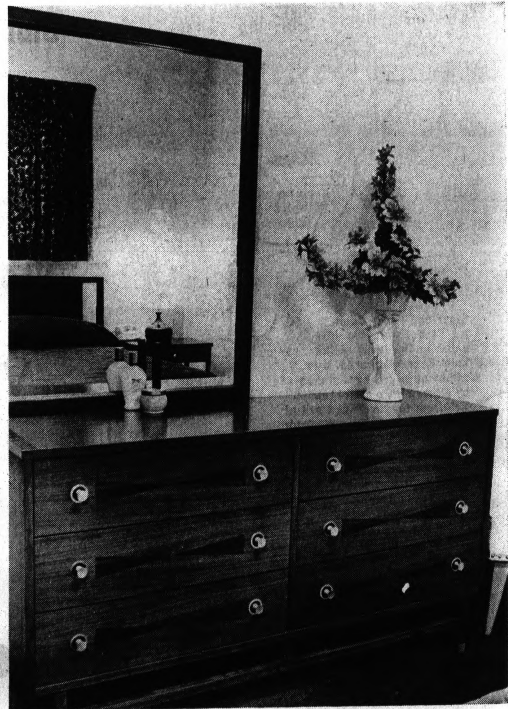

A black wrought iron candleabra with orange candles balances the still life by Joyce Miller which hangs above the room's oak credenza. The still life, contemporary in color approach, emphasizes the red of the carpeting, the orange of the candles, the black of the chairs and introduces a hint of lavender and blue.

Departing completely from the Mediterranean, the nearby family room reflects a colonial theme with the focal point, casual comfort.

Maple sconces with green candles, a maple sugar bucket and crystal goblets dress the ledge-rock fireplace.
