

STAFF BULLETIN

ARCHIVES

July 21-27, 1969

Published weekly by University news service, 110 North Foundation
(ext. 2219). Deadline for submitting material is 5 p.m. Thursday.

MAJOR GRANTS TO OU TOTAL $232,588

Major gifts and grants to OU, accepted last week by the MSU Board of Trustees, totaled almost a quarter of a million dollars. The largest gift was $100,000 from the Kresge Foundation as the initial payment on construction work to add dressing rooms to the Baldwin Pavilion.

Other grants, totaling $132,588, included $13,000 from the American Chemical Society for far-infrared studies of rotational-vibrational-torsional interactions in polyatomic molecules, under the direction of Joel Russell (chemistry); $20,109 from the U. S. Office of Education to enhance the language and area center for East Asia through faculty development and training, under S. Bernard Thomas (history/area studies); $39,479 from Oklahoma University to provide training of school administrators and university teacher trainers dealing with economically disadvantaged pupils, under Roderic E. Righter (education); grants of $11,500 and $21,000 from the National Science Foundation to buy instructional scientific equipment, under the direction of Richard E. Haskell and David E. Boddy (engineering), respectively; and $27,500 from the National Foundation of the Arts to continue support of the Meadow Brook audience development project, under the direction of Lowell Eklund (continuing education).

3 ON FOOD PANEL

Three Oakland University faculty members participated last week in a conference at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee campus on "The Persistence of Food Habits: Problem in Combatting Malnutrition," arranged by the State Department's Agency for International Development. Philip Singer, a new faculty member who will be a member of Allport College and associate professor of sociology and anthropology, chaired one session and gave a paper on "Manipulating Your Own Culture." He has been with the United Nations in a post dealing with nutritional needs of underdeveloped countries. Carl Vann, faculty chairman of Allport College, gave a paper on "Public Policy Implications of Introduction of New Food Products," and William C. Forbes of biology spoke on "Science Education for New Food Acceptance."

LEAVES APPROVED

Leaves of absence were approved last week by the MSU Board of Trustees for Floyd M. Cammack (linguistics) and Carleton W. Smith (sociology and anthropology), both for the 1969-70 year. Cammack, who has been on leave since the fall of 1966, is serving as administrative secretary with the Committee for Cooperation on English in Japan, located in Tokyo. Smith will spend next year teaching and studying at Wayne State University.

13 NEW APPOINTMENTS TO OU FACULTY ARE APPROVED

Appointment of 13 new faculty members for OU was among items approved by the MSU Board of Trustees at its July meeting, held Thursday and Friday in East Lansing. The appointments, by department, are as follows:

Biological science--Michael V. Riley, associate professor; now with the University of London, he holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Cambridge University and a doctorate from Liverpool University; Arun Roy, assistant professor; originally from India, he did his undergraduate and master's level work at the University of Calcutta and received a doctorate from Wayne State University; currently with the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

Chemistry--Anthony L. Van Geet, associate professor; now teaching at the State University of New York at Buffalo, he has his undergraduate work at Delft Institute of Technology and received his doctorate from the University of Southern California.

English--Brian F. Murphy, instructor; he holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Detroit and an A.M. from Harvard; currently a lecturer with the University of Maryland European Division in London, England.

History--Ira M. Solomon, instructor; now completing his doctoral work in New York City, he holds a bachelor's degree from Brandeis and a master's from Columbia.

Modern languages and literatures--John Marney, visiting assistant professor; doctoral candidate at the University of Wisconsin, holds a bachelor's degree from London University and a diploma of education from Oxford University.

Physics--Roger L. Moorehouse, visiting assistant professor; currently guest scientist with the Max Planck Institute for Medical Research in Dossenheim, Germany; holds a bachelor's degree from Wabash College and doctorate from Duke University.

Psychology--Jean S. Braun, associate professor; now associate professor at Wayne State and chief psychologist with the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit; did undergraduate work at the University of Michigan and received two master's degrees and a doctorate from Wayne; Lorna Ann Middendorf, instructor; now a psychologist with the Detroit schools, she holds degrees from Bowling Green and the University of Chicago and is completing her doctorate at Rutgers; Joseph S. Dumas, assistant professor; presently a research fellow and doctoral candidate at the State University of New York at Buffalo and did his undergraduate work at Boston College.

Sociology and anthropology--John Magney, instructor; now a temporary lecturer at Eastern Michigan University and a former research sociologist with the University of California; holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Michigan.

Education--William F. Moorhouse, associate professor; currently on the faculty of the University of Wyoming; holds bachelor's degree from Nebraska, master's degree from the University of Colorado and a doctorate from Wyoming.

Engineering--Albert F. Houchens, instructor; a teaching fellow, research-teaching assistant and doctoral candidate at the University of Illinois since 1961, received bachelor's degree from Purdue and master's degree from Illinois.

LECTURES IN TEXAS

Robert L. Donald (English/Summer School) delivered four lectures at the University of Texas at Austin recently during a teachers institute for high school and college instructors. Donald discussed language art materials which he has developed and which are almost ready to be published. His presentations were video-taped for later showing on National Educational Television some time this fall.

CALENDAR

Tuesday July 22	12 noon	"Adventures in Art" luncheon, Trumbull Terrace; Mary Fink in a lecture-demonstration on fused glass at 1:30 p.m.
	8:30 p.m.	Meadow Brook Summer School of Music concert; Roger Wagner and the Meadow Brook Chorus, Baldwin Pavilion
Wednesday July 23	12 noon	"Adventures in Art" luncheon, Trumbull Terrace; Masako Kondo in a floral arrangement demonstration at 1:30 p.m.
	12 noon	Student Activities concert; John Guthery Quartet; mall at University's main entrance (runs to 2 p.m.)
Thursday July 24	8:00 p.m.	Cinema Guild film, "The Mouse That Roared" with Peter Sellers, 201 Dodge Hall (shown again at 9:45)
	8:30 p.m.	Meadow Brook Festival concert; soprano Marilyn Horne, soloist (Haydn's Symphony No. 104, "London"; Mahler's Kindertotenlieder, and Wagner's excerpts from "Gotterdammerung")
Friday July 25	8:30 p.m.	Meadow Brook Festival concert; soprano Marilyn Horne, soloist (program as on Thursday)
	8:30 p.m.	Meadow Brook Chamber Ensemble concert, Meadow Brook Theatre ("The Creation of the World")
Saturday July 26	8:30 p.m.	Meadow Brook Festival concert; Roger Wagner, the Meadow Brook Chorus and guest artists (Verdi's Requiem Mass)
Sunday July 27	6:30 p.m.	Meadow Brook Festival concert; Roger Wagner, the Meadow Brook Chorus and guest artists (Verdi's Requiem Mass)