Pair Surrender to Keego Police

Parents Who Left Children Give Up

By CHUCK ABAIR

The search for the missing parents of 10 Keego Harbor children found abandoned and hungry in their home last Thursday was over this morning when the pair gave themselves up at the Keego Harbor police station.

They had been sought throughout Michigan and in various southern states since their disappearance Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wyatt were transferred to the Oakland County Jail following their surrender to await a hearing on a cruelty charge. They are scheduled to appear before Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore Sept. 5.

"They came in on their own," Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons said today, in revealing the arrest of the wanted pair.

The couple, William 29, and Ada, 33, told authorities they had spent the weekend in a Dixie Highway cabin because Mrs. Wyatt had not been feeling well following two recent operations.

According to Det. Jack Davis, Wyatt said he knew their children had been taken from their home but did not know he and his wife were wanted by police.

Wyatt, a trucker, had been missing since Aug. 21 when he left the children alone with 13-year-old Aaron in charge as he went to Indiana to pick up a load of watermelons for a local fruit firm. Mrs. Wyatt was confined to Pontiac General Hospital at the time.

KNEW OF BEATINGS

She was released Friday afternoon and had also disappeared before county detectives could reach her for more questioning.

In earlier questioning at the hospital, she had admitted knowing of the beatings suffered by one of her children, Sherry A., seven, but denied having anything to do with the severe burns suffered by the girl.

Keego police Chief Calvin Baxter learned the man had returned to the area Friday after he called a neighbor to inquire about the children being taken away.

It was then believed the couple had left town in a borrowed car. But all checks throughout the state and in Tennessee, where they formerly lived, had failed.

Eleven of the 12 Wyatt children are still being cared for at the Oakland County Children's Home. Two of them had been there previously after running away from home.

None have expressed any desire to see their parents or return home, according to James VanLeuven of the Juvenile Court. The children range in age from seven months to 13 years.

VanLeuven told the Pontiac Press the parents had made no known attempts to contact their children over the past week end. "They either were not interested or were afraid for themselves," he remarked.

The Juvenile Court officer said there very likely would be no additional charge against the Wyatts for leaving the area and staying away after their children were found. "It will probably be used as

Residents Fight Freeway Plan

County Groups Merge to Voice Complaints Against Relocation

Associations in and around the Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills areas have merged to form a Southfield - Bloomfield Assn. to voice citizens' complaints against the freeway which will be a relocation of U.S. 10.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has called a meeting in Lansing tomorrow to review the proposed relocation.

Pontiac City Manager W. K. Willman, City Engineer Lewis Wrenn, Mayor William Donaldson and other city commissioners have accepted an invitation to attend the meeting. The plan is for the freeway to swing west of Pontiac and connect with the Fenton-Clio Expressway south of Flint.

Willman said the invitation was the first he had heard of the proposal. "I don't know a thing about it," he said, "I'm just going up to look and listen."

Franklin L. Bird, of Birmingham, temporary chairman of the three-week-old opposition group, said the route was planned five years ago and that it was "too late for it to go through now" because it would lower property values and divide school districts.

He said a permanent slate of officers would be elected this week. He added he would not attend Tuesday's session.

Highway officials in Lansing claim the freeway is only one of many tentative routes.

Bird pointed out the group was not opposed to expressways or better roads. It is opposed to having it run through, to what Bird termed one of the "fastest growing areas outside of Detroit."

Delay Grand Trunk Condemnation Bid

Attorneys for the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, the City of Pontiac and private land-owners met in Judge George B. Hartrick's Circuit courtroom this morning in a suit over the railroad's proposed $700,000 industrial switching yards on the north side.

The case was adjourned until Sept. 10 with no action taken.

It was expected that three commissioners would be appointed then at the request of the railroad to determine the need for the yards and the amount to be paid for condemned land south of Walton boulevard and west of Baldwin avenue.

The railroad has filed suit for the condemnation, but the city has asked the court to intervene, saying the 3,000-foot long yards will block the planned extension of two streets north to Walton.

Storm Flashes Over County; Hot Days Ahead

A short but severe electrical storm flashed over the Pontiac area this morning and was expected to be followed by two days of 90-degree temperature—the first time the mercury has climbed that high since Aug. 17.

Little damage was reported by city and county police as close to an inch of rain was dumped on the county. Some wires and trees were reported down in areas but work crews quickly cleared roads to make way for the morning rush hour traffic.

Lightning struck two barns on the William D. Van Dusen farm near Metamora in Lapeer County totally destroying both. No estimate of the damage was immediately known.

The temperature was expected to reach 90 this afternoon with partly cloudy skies predicted for tonight and tomorrow. Another day of 90 is in sight for Tuesday according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Sudden spurts of rain during the thunderstorm temporarily filled county roads slowing traffic to a crawl for short periods.

Detroit suburbs reported many of their streets flooded. In Allen Park, police said every street was covered with water from curb to curb and four underpasses had four feet of water.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 62 degrees. A 2 p.m. the mercury reached 83 degrees.

Mother Located, Kidnap Hunt Off

Domestic Spat Blamed for Vanishing Wife and 3 Kids in Massachusetts

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Fears that Mrs. Edwina G. Simpson and her three children had been kidnaped by a car-stealing hitchhiker ended today when police reported Mrs. Simpson simply had driven to Lowell with her children to visit her mother after a domestic disagreement.

Wendell Simpson, electrical engineer, returned home last night after assisting in a search for a "scar-faced youth" who, according to Richard Basile, 17, hitched a ride from him, forced him from his car, and wrecked it.

Because disappearance of Mrs. Simpson coincided with neighborhood quest for the reported hitchhiker, police concluded he might have burst into the Simpson home and forced her and the children to leave with him in the station wagon. But the police said today they had located Mrs. Simpson at her mother's home in Lowell.

Exiled Makarios May Face Trial as Rebel Leader

British Experts Checking Captured Papers Which Reveal Complicity

LONDON (AP) — British government legal experts today examined a mass of documents captured in Cyprus amid newspaper speculation Archbishop Makarios may be brought to trial.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told a news conference yesterday the documents showed that the Greek Cypriots' spiritual and political leader personally directed terrorism on the Mediterranean island, Britain's most important Middle East military base, and was "actually involved in the choice of individual victims for murder."

A Colonial office spokesman declined to comment on the possibility Makarios might be brought from exile in the Seychelle Islands of the Indian Ocean to stand trial.

Asked at the news conference whether charges might be brought, Lennox-Boyd had said: "I will have to give very close and immediate consideration to the Archbishop's own personal situation."

The Cabinet was expected to discuss the question of a trial, especially from the standpoint of whether new steps against the Archbishop would retard hopes of a settlement of Cyprus' political future.

* * *

Archbishop Makarios, on behalf of some 400,000 Greek-speaking Cypriots, has sought self-determination for the island to make possible union with Greece. Spokesmen for about 100,000 Turkish-speaking Cypriots have held out for further British rule or, if that ends, annexation to Turkey.

Signs of activity by the Greek Cypriot underground turned up in Nicosia, Cyprus' capital, today.

Two annonymous letters led to the discovery of two unexploded bombs. One bomb was found behind a filing cabinet in an army office, the other in an air force officer's car.

* * *

A Nicosia newspaper speaking for Turkish Cypriots today supported a British call for surrender of the underground fighters. The English-language edition of Halkin Sesi said the truce offered by EOKA extremists Aug. 16 was blackmail.

Report on GM Safety Progress

The General Motors Proving Grounds at Milford was the scene today of a report to a House of Representatives subcommittee on GM's progress toward safer autos.

Charles A. Chayne, vice president in charge of GM's engineering staff, told the Congressmen what GM has done in auto design to prevent accidents, and to reduce injuries when accidents do occur.

The subcommittee of the House committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce is here on a five-day tour and parley with auto industry officials.

Future sessions will be held with Ford and Chrysler representatives.

* * *

A safety demonstration was staged today at the proving grounds. Tomorrow the lawmakers, headed by Rep. Kenneth Roberts (D-Ala) will tour the GM Technical Center.

* * *

Two weeks ago, the subcommittee visited American Motors Corp. at Kenosha, Wis.

* * *

"We in General Motors are pleased to have this opportunity to cooperate with the subcommittee in its study of the very important problem of highway traffic safety," President Harlow H. Curtice of General Motors said in a statement.

* * *

"We have studied this problem intensively for many years. We are happy to be able to demonstrate the tremendous progress we have made in designing and building safe automobiles, and the leadership and assistance we have contributed in the vital fields of automotive maintenance, better and safer highways, and driver education."

Listed by Chayne as items of auto construction and design which have been improved for safety were headlights, acceleration, front end design, doorlocks, and driver visibility.

Ike Rests as Nixon, Dems Fly Off to Plot Campaigns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 1956 election campaign, flight-tested at conventions the last two weeks, became airborne today, as candidates of the two major parties flew in opposite directions across the nation.

Democratic nominees Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver headed toward Santa Fe, N.M., for the first of a series of daily meetings with party leaders that will take them to Vancouver, Wash., Sioux City, Iowa and Knoxville, Tenn., before they return to Chicago Friday.

Vice President Nixon, renominated by the Republicans, flew from his Whittier, Calif., home to Washington for a series of conferences on the Republican campaign in which he will take an active role.

All four top candidates went to church yesterday.

Hagerty said in a television interview recorded in San Francisco he doesn't consider Eisenhower's physical condition a bar to an active campaign.

"I would say he is no longer a convalescent" from his June 9 intestinal operation, Hagerty said. But he declined to give any details of the part Eisenhower will play in the campaign beyond saying his first major political speech probably won't be made "until the middle of September."

Hagerty said under questioning that part of the reason Eisenhower went a day earlier than planned to the San Francisco GOP convention was to add to the interest of it.

Stevenson and Kefauver were accompanied by their campaign managers and other party leaders on their series of visits with Democratic party workers in 34 states. Their grass roots conferences will give them a chance to see and be seen in various parts of the country, but they are not expected to make any major speeches.

Stevenson will open his formal campaign Sept. 3 with a Labor Day address at Detroit and a series of Democratic rallies there.

President Calls for International Controls – Again

White House Announces Small Shot in Siberia; Pinpoint Proving Area

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower's announcement the Soviet Union has resumed nuclear weapons tests — possibly including a hydrogen blast —stood today as a challenge to Russia to publicize such tests in advance to reduce danger.

Besides the challenge to strip away intended secrecy, the announcement at the President's vacation headquarters here yesterday also was seen as a move to counteract recent Russian propaganda suggesting this country's test of such weapons amount to a threat to world peace.

Eisenhower made public an Atomic Energy Commission report advising him that last Friday the Soviet Union detonated "a nuclear device with a yield less than a megaton." A megaton blast would have force equivalent to one million tons of TNT.

And the White House, amplifying the commission report, said the latest Russian explosion was "almost" of that caliber—much smaller than the biggest blast so far touched off by the United States.

In announcing Soviet resumption of tests, Eisenhower said in a statement he wanted to emphasize again "the necessity for effective international control of atomic energy and such measures of adequately safeguarded disarmament as are now feasible." He added:

"This is a goal which the United States has consistently sought and which has received the support of a large majority of the members of the U.N."

The report Eisenhower made

What's in a Number?

Puzzle workers who lean heavily upon the arm of Dame Luck will probably recoil in horror when they look at the number heading the Pot-O-Gold entry form for this week. It's 13.

But it had to come sometime—and so did the last Friday 13th and your 13th birthday, both of which ended without disaster. Remember that, park your chair under a ladder and laugh at fortune's ominous rumblings by picking the 16 words needed to win at least $100.

To help you keep an objective frame of mind, the Press offers the following list of POT-O-Gold words; somewhere among them are the ones you'll need to win—ban, blind, blond, bounce, cargo, cigar, coop, coup, dome, duel, guile, guilt, hag, helm, help, kahn, low, mode, moldy, nab, nag, owl, paint, pinto, pounce, rank, weld, welt, Whig, whip.

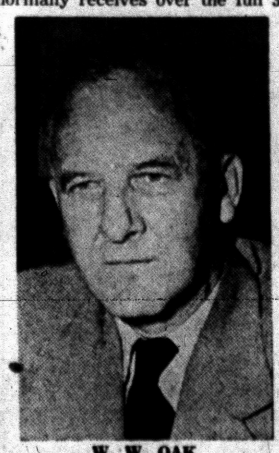

Weatherman Defends His Record of Predictions

W. W. Oak, meteorologist at the U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit, visited The Press recently and staunchly defended the U.S. Bureau forecasts.

"Conclusive records show we are correct between 85 and 87 per cent of the time," said he. "Of course we miss occasionally—once in seven times to be exact. But who doesn't?" His statement was in reply to a suggestion in The Press that the Weather Bureau in this area was missing on its predictions too often.

"Michigan happens to be a tough area for weather forecasts," he continued, "as the Great Lakes introduce new elements. Also, west of us are the Irish Hills around Jackson and they have a very definite effect to set off trigger action storms.

"On the day that we missed the very hard rain storm that hit this area, Pontiac had around three inches in a relatively few hours. This is more than Oakland County normally receives over the full 31 days of August. And yet we should like to point out that during that very same period, Flint received approximately one half an inch and slightly further north, Bay City only had two-tenths of an inch.

W. W. OAK

Weather forecasting has long been pronounced especially difficult in the Michigan area because of the Great Lakes. The prevailing southwest winds bring the weather rather uniformly across the country until it hits Lake Michigan when storms, cold, fair weather and other conditions often deviate from accepted procedures.

"People frequently tell me this is an 'unusual summer'," said Oak. "But it isn't anything of the sort in my book. It's strikingly and remarkably normal, June and July were behind in precipitation and August is bringing us back up to the average. The temperature is running seasonally and from the viewpoint of unemotional statistics, everything is on the usual schedule. The temperature variation to date has been one half of one degree.

"People are too inclined to trust their impressions. Unfortunately these aren't too reliable. The Bureau goes by what the mercury says and by what the rain fall shows in actual measurement.

"People must realize that when we say 'scattered showers' we mean showers that are 'scattered.' That doesn't imply that it has to rain on the exact spot where you happen to be standing, riding or sitting that day. The showers may be five, ten or thirty miles away and sometimes as close as a few hundred yards. We haven't missed a prediction just because it doesn't happen to rain on YOU."

* * *

Mr. Oak, you astound most of—if not all—of the good people living around here, with your characterization of the current summer, but you can back up your assertions with charts, maps and statistics. At the same time, Mr. Oak, we suspect a howl of protest will greet your statement that 1956 is a "normal" year.

Agree on Contract Points

NEW YORK (AP)—The Western Electric Co. and the Communications Workers of America are reported to have reached agreement on a number of points concerning a new contract.

Well, the weekend was normal.

It rained.

For a time, it looked as though a record of six months would be shattered. Saturday was bright, sunny and it appeared as though Sunday might follow the same splendid pattern.

Perish the thought.

Sunday was cloudy, gloomy, overcast and just another dose of the same old weekend, thank you.

Of course it rained.

Oh, indeedy.

It was spotty, erratic and shifting, but it rained all over the place at one time or another on Sunday.

Suspects Mute Over Narcotics

Enter Innocence Pleas for Three Charged With Violation of State Laws

Three suspects charged with conspiring to violate state narcotics laws stood mute this morning at arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge George B. Hartrick entered pleas of innocence for Paul Baity, 28; Eddie May Yates, 29, and William S. Tyms, 22. Baity and Miss Yates also stood mute to charges of possession of heroin and pleas of innocence were entered.

The three were bound over after charges against 12 others named in the conspiracy were dismissed by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum for lack of evidence.

It was expected that the three will stand trial next month, but no trial date was set.

Tyms, of 67 Orton St. was freed under $3,000 bond. Baity and Miss Yates, both of 520 Branch St. were remanded to jail under bonds of $5,000 each. Both are serving 30-day terms after conviction last week on other charges.

Hint Kidnaper to Reveal Pal

Police Base Optimism on Sudden Confession to Catholic Priest

MINEOLA, N. Y. (INS) — Authorities were optimistic today that Angelo John La Marca is ready to give complete details about the kidnaping of Peter Weinberger.

The optimism was based on La Marca's sudden and unexpected jail cell confession last night to a Catholic priest.

The officers said the 10-minute confession to the priest was the first sign of remorse La Marca has shown since his arrest last week.

La Marca has confessed the kidnapping, but he refused to tell authorities who sheltered him and the baby overnight after the July 4 abduction.

Authorities were hopeful now that the 31-year old taxi driver mechanic would resolve official doubts by telling in detail how he abandoned the 33-day-old infant in a wooded area a half-mile from his home.

La Marca took the infant from its carriage on July 4. He became panicky the next day, he said, and abandoned it alive. The baby's body was found Friday in the spot where La Marca said he had left it.

La Marca was scheduled to undergo a second examination today by a state-appointed psychiatrist in a prosecution move to establish his sanity at the time of the crime.

Nassau County District Attorney Frank Gulotta said he would demand a double indictment on charges of kidnapping and first degree murder. Both can bring the death penalty upon conviction.

Russians Again Test Nuclear Weapons

public also officially made known for the first time the site of the Russian proving grounds. The report to Eisenhower by AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said:

"This proving ground, where most of the Soviet tests have occurred, is located in southwest Siberia, north of India, Afghanistan and Pakistan, and west of China. The Soviets have also utilized the area of the Barents Sea — part of the Arctic Ocean — for nuclear testing."

It pointed up that under the Soviet policy of secrecy about such tests, adjacent areas get no advance warning of radioactive "fallout" danger.

Meanwhile, Sherry, who was found tied to a bed in an upstairs bedroom, continues in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with third degree burns of the right hand believed to have been caused by her mother holding her hand over a stove.

Dr. R. J. Cooper, who is treating the girl, has expressed the opinion Sherry's hand will require considerable surgery before it can be used properly.

"She can't open the hand all the way now," he said. He added that the possibility of plastic surgery on the girl's face is still being considered.

Sherry had reportedly been considered a retarded child by the Wyatts since she had never attended school. Neighbors have told police the parents always passed the girl off as a friend named Sharon Jones rather than their own child.

Egypt to Reply on Suez Talks

Expect Nasser to Agree to Meet 5-Nation Group Hear Plan for Control

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt will reply tomorrow to the request for talks on the Suez Canal crisis, an official Egyptian source said today.

President Nasser is expected to agree to meet with Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies' five-nation committee, selected last week by the London Suez conference to present an 18-nation plan for international control.

Unusually reliable sources said they understood Nasser will agree to meet the committee in Cairo with the proviso that Egypt is not obligated to accept the plan.

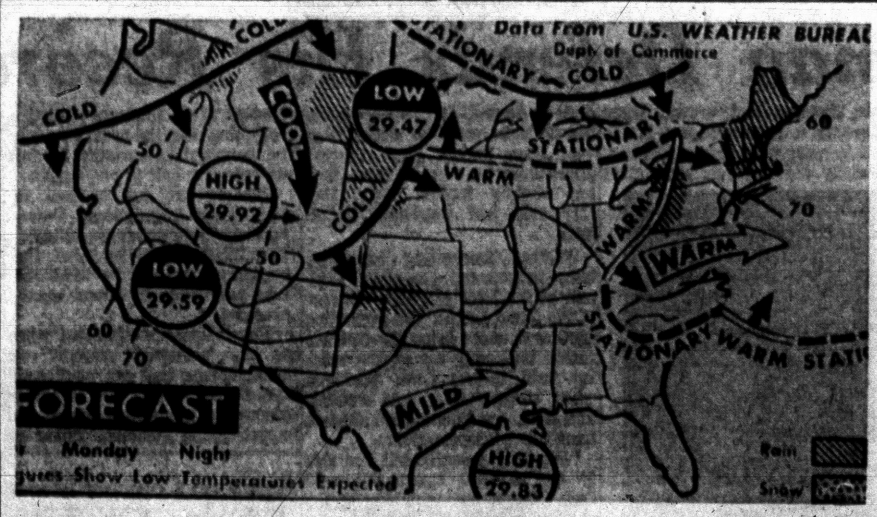

Informants here said Nasser would receive Menzies and his committee in Cairo, but would insist that the entire Suez problem be discussed, not just the majority plan.

India at the conference proposed that an international board be empowered only to advise Egypt in running the canal.

In the face of steady preparations by Britain and France for military action if negotiations fail to produce a peaceful solution, Nasser appeared to be bending his efforts to hanging onto the 103-mile waterway—which he seized for the Egyptian government July 26—without getting into a war.

Michigan Dems' Pockets Empty

Face Toughest Drive With Bare Treasury; Incumbents Renamed

* * *

Gov. Williams told delegates if they work hard the party can win top state officers, elect a majority of congressmen from Michigan and possibly gain control of the Legislature.

But to do this, party leaders conceded, Democrats will have to wage one of the hardest campaigns in their history in the face of overwhelming Republican financial superiority.

There was talk the Democrats have only $3,000 cash and $15,000 in obligations. They have a goal of $350,000, but say Republicans already have $800,000 in one account alone.

COBO MYTH

The convention gave every indication Democrats will build their state campaign around the destruction of what they call "the Cobo myth."

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart delivered the opening blast with a half hour attack on Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, Republican nominee for governor.

He said Cobo is "a manufactured statesman," loaned to the city by business 23 years ago and on loan to business ever since.

* * *

Then he tore into Cobo's record, declaring Detroit's taxes have risen while the Detroit mayor let city streets, its sewers and garbage disposal system go to pot.

Without a dissenting vote, the convention nominated Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh, Secretary of State James M. Hare and State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, to appear with Williams on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Two Democratic Supreme Court justices who will run on a nonpartisan ballot also were nominated. They are Talbot Smith of Ann Arbor and George Edwards of Detroit.

Michigan Democrats appeared to have buried much of their earlier discord over civil rights, at least for the duration of the campaign.

The only civil rights trouble to emerge on the convention floor came from a Detroit Negro delegate who claimed the wording of the "Michigan Declaration" should be stronger. The convention took no action on the complaint.

The convention resolved to look into the organization of the courts and to press for passage of Williams' legislative program.

Republicans will gather in Grand Rapids next week end for their fall nominating convention. With a full stable of candidates for state offices, it is expected to be a stormy one.

Sylvan City Sets Filing Deadline

4 Offices Up for Vote During Nov. 6 Election; Petitions Due Sept. 29

Deadline for filing nominating petitions for four Sylvan Lake City offices is Sept. 29, Ernest L. Ethier, city manager, has announced.

* * *

The election will be held Nov. 6 with national, state and county balloting.

The three-year terms of Mayor Anthony Kreps and Mayor Pro-Tem Joseph Gilson, and the two-year term of Constable Frank Stott expire in November. The term of Justice of the Peace Joseph J. Leavy expires July 3, 1957.

Nominating petition forms may be obtained from the city clerk's office. The City Charter requires not less than 25 nor more than 50 certified signatures of qualified registered voters on each petition.

TELLS OF MEETING

Ethier also announced the City Council will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. Sept. 12 on the proposed curb and gutter, blacktop and storm sewer project in the Pioneer Highlands and Pioneer Telegraph Subdivision.

A committee on property owners requested the work be done and to be paid for by a special assessment.

In other Sylvan Lake affairs, Ethier said to date 207 customers have been connected to the city's new water system.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Barbara Dempster, 97 swimmers passed tests from beginners class to Senior Lifesaving through the Sylvan Lake recreational program.

New Riesel Arrests?

NEW YORK (INS)—New arrests in the investigation of the acid attack that blinded columnist Victor Riesel April 5 were predicted today by U. S. Attorney Paul Williams, just back from a Far Eastern trip.

The Day in Birmingham

Cranbrook-Maple Area Eyed in Parking Dispute

BIRMINGHAM — Ban on Cranbrook road parking near the new Maple-Cranbrook shopping center has precipitated a discussion among State and local police and nearby residents that will culminate tonight.

City commissioners will be studying such complaints as that of F. Ward Holt Jr., 2497 Devon Lane, who points to problems of parking along the edge of his three lots bordering Cranbrook.

"With all the parking along Cranbrook road, it endangers the life of every vehicle driver using this road," he says.

"Traffic is especially increased during the school year with the heavy flow of school student traffic. Students are speedy drivers along this stretch of road," he adds.

Other county roads are also to be discussed in the conference with a state police official tonight.

When the city recently posted no-parking signs on Cranbrook, the State Police questioned it, asking the county okay the move since it is a county road.

Capt. Jack Warner of the troopers will attend, to talk of parking as well as speed limits on such roads as Cranbrook, Lincoln, parts of Maple that are under county jurisdiction, and 14 Mile and Quarton.

Whitman will be city manager, its first, of 6,000-population Newton, N. J. He expects to leave Friday.

A report from D. C. Egbert recalls that the two lots purchased by the city from the Peabody farm for well sites could be used only for a water source.

He suggests selling the land back, as the Peabody family asks, at the purchase price plus four per cent interest per year since 1947.

G. R. Serenbetz, city engineer, reports that the low bid for the Oak street Extension and Hamilton Crossover received last Wednesday was $35,414, of H. J. Brighton.

The manager's salary and car arrangements will be considered tonight, as well as the recreation director's suggestion of allowing part of his surplus funds remain in his department.

Grand opening for the high school's social year will be the coronation ball slated by the Tiara Club for Sept. 7.

It will feature music by Don Bari's band and decorations on a "paint the town pink" theme by Mary Burkman's committee. Dancing, with all students invited, will be from 9:30 to 12:30.

Seeking the crown in election that night are candidates from the school's social clubs: Alison Woodhouse from Tiara, Paula Struck, from CTA, and Ann DeHart of Emerald Key.

Typhoon Charlotte Charted in Pacific

TOKYO (AP) — Another typhoon—Charlotte this time—roared this afternoon in the Pacific Ocean 450 miles southeast of Okinawa. With winds of up to 85 m.p.h., the storm was moving west-northwest at 15 m.p.h.

The U.S. Air Force said the typhoon's present course would take it south of Okinawa and into the East China Sea. Two earlier typhoons this year brushed Okinawa.

Police report entrance was gained through an unlocked basement window. The theft is being investigated.

81 Turks Die in Floods, Fear 40 More Drowned

In addition, 40 men were missing and presumed drowned. They had taken shelter under a bridge across the Euphrates River and were believed to have been swept away by a flash flood.

Very heavy damage to crops and livestock also was reported from several villages.

Retired Cleric Found Dead in Wooded Area

BLOOMINGDALE (AP)—A six-day search for a retired congressional minister ended yesterday with the discovery of his body in a wooded area near here. State Police said Rev. Elza Karns, 73, died of a self-inflicted shotgun wound.

Rev. Karnes served pastorates in the Kalamazoo and Detroit areas before his retirement from the ministry four years ago. He had been in ill health.

His body was found by Civil Air Patrol personnel searching on foot two miles north of here. State Police and CAP members had searched the area since the elderly minister was reported missing from his Bloomingdale home last Monday.

Installation Simplified

NEW YORK—A new do-it-yourself home air-conditioning system that can be installed with basic carpenter tools has been developed. It can be placed in attics, basements, crawl spaces, under houses, or tied into existing warm-air heating systems. Fiberglas foil-covered ducts eliminate the need of expensive metal ductwork, according to the manufacturer.

Fruehauf Faces Monopoly Act

Largest Truck-Trailer Maker Charged With Buying Up Competition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's largest maker of truck-trailers faced dual charges today of buying up its competition and tending to monopolize business in the field through extension of credit.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) ordered a hearing in Detroit Oct. 30 on the charges it filed against the Fruehauf Trailer Co.

A spokesman for the firm in Detroit said the company is preparing a reply. He declined to comment immediately on the charges.

The FTC accused Fruehauf of violating the anti-merger law by acquiring five competitors or suppliers in the past nine years.

Fruehauf also was charged with wielding a "potential monopoly power to frustrate the growth or survival of its small competitors" by offering customers special credit deals which rival manufacturers could not match.

Declaring Fruehauf has violated the Clayton Anti-Trust Act, the FTC said the company's own share of a market in which there are about 100 manufacturers is 37 per cent and that the acquired companies it accounts for more than 48 per cent.

The companies whose acquisition was challenged were:

Carter Manufacturing Co., Inc., and Carter, Inc., Memphis, Tenn.; Brown Equipment and Manufacturing Co., Westfield, Mass.; Hobbs Manufacturing Co., Fort Worth, Tex., and Hoggs Trailer and Equipment Co., Dallas; Strick Plastic Corp., Perkasie, Pa., and Strick Corp., Philadelphia; Independent Metal Products, Co., Omaha, Neb. All except the Carter and Brown firms were acquired within the last year, the FTC said.

Notorious Movie Censor Dies of Flu Complications

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Death came today for Lloyd T. Binford, who retired because of ill health in 1933 but lived on to become what he called "the most notorious censor in the world."

* * *

He died in a nursing home at the age of 89, outlasting nearly all of his "healthy" contemporaries. The end came of complications from a seige of flu. He quit the censoring business last January.

Until his resignation, Binford headed the Memphis Censor Board for 28 years. During its heyday it was the nation's busiest and most controversial censor crew.

Time was the mere mention of Binford' name could bring many a Hollywood film executive to near-apoplexy. Critics called the board America's worst. Backers called it the country's best. Neutrals were scarce.

* * *

The board has mellowed since January. The personnel remains unchanged — Binford was not replaced — but bans by the three women members are few and far between.

In fact, the board has been reversing itself on a series of once-banned movies. These include "The Wild Ones," "Duel in the Sun," "Night of the Hunter" and several Ingrid Bergman films that were barred on release because Binford disapproved of her private life.

Binford, born in 1866 at Duck Hill, Miss., the son of a Confederate colonel, was president of a large insurance firm when he retired at the age of 66.

In his "golden years," the censor job that had been a sideline hobby became his fulltime concern. He laid the lash on Hollywood with remarkable vigor and enjoyed the uproar it brought.

He paid close attention to press notices, good and bad, happily noting, in a recent interview, that his picture once adorned a newspaper in Africa.

"I reckon I'm the most notorious censor in the world," he said.

Pontiac Boy, 14, Injured When Struck by Car

A 14-year-old boy was admitted for observation at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Saturday afternoon after he was struck by a car on N. Perry street.

Bernard Loughran, of 388 N. Paddock St., who turned in the middle of the street to run back to the curb, witnesses said, was listed in good condition. He suffered cuts on the head, face and arms, authorities said.

The driver, Susan G. Walsh, 23, of 614 E. Tennyson Ave. told Pontiac police that she could not swerve to avoid the boy because a companion with him had remained standing in the street in the block south of Harper street.

Officrs said the boys were waiting for traffic to clear from the other direction.

Republicans' Platform Will Aid Entire Ticket

There can be no dispute about one achievement of the GOP convention in San Francisco.

The platform unanimously adopted by the delegates in the Cow Palace is a convincing document. Unquestionably it should help the top of the ticket to keep control of the Executive Branch. It also should assist all Senate and House candidates in the campaign they expect will win control from the Democrats.

From start to finish the platform is typical Eisenhower Republican doctrine. Running strongly throughout is the party's campaign theme of "peace and prosperity."

Priority is given to balancing the Federal budget. Debt reduction, a tax cut in "the "reasonably near future" and strengthening of our military defenses also are among pledges as well as further efforts toward disarmament. The agriculture plank says the GOP will continue to seek full parity through flexible price supports and research.

A highlight of the platform is the declaration of party faith. This lists Republican purposes as the guarding of free institutions, establishing and maintaining a peaceful world and the building of a dynamic prosperity at home.

It also included President Eisenhower's list of principles. Shining through them are his and the Republicans' belief that courage in principle and cooperation in practice make freedom positive.

The platform architects and the delegates have done their work well. The result is a party declaration that looks forward—not back. It offers GOP candidates a solid foundation upon which to base with pride their individual bids for victory.

More important, it offers voters the Republican party's guarantee that support of the entire Eisenhower Administration will ensure four more years of good government.

Burmese Disillusioned by Reds' Barter Deals

For solid economic reasons government leaders of Burma are sorry they ever entered into a barter agreement with Soviet Russia.

At the time of the agreement Burma had a surplus of rice for which there was no market. Russia talked the Burmese into trading that rice for cement, among other things. The result is that Rangoon harbor is clogged with cement laden ships.

What intensifies the problem is lack of storage facilities and the fact that the cement rapidly is becoming unusable because of Monsoon rains. To make matters worse, more ship loads are on the way and Burma can't use it.

Still another complication is that rice now can be exported for cash which is badly needed. But, unfortunately, half of Burma's exportable rice is tied up by the agreements with Russia and her satellites.

Another unfortunate deal is the heavy machinery bought from East Germany under barter agreement. This can't be used for several years, says U. S. News & World Report, until industrial development catches up with plans. Similarly, electrical goods from Czechoslovakia flooding Burmese shops are unsalable because they don't fit fixtures in the homes.

Disillusioned by these Red barter deals, hard pressed Burma now is negotiating a $25,000,000 U. S. loan. Meanwhile, one of the safest of all bets is that any Communist who wants to sell Rangoon on another barter agreement will have to be a super salesman.

The prospector, lost in Utah, who kept alive for eight days, until found, on a diet of lizards and cactus must have had an unusually large number of reasons for wanting to continue living.

The last one, near Los Angeles, Calif., in 1953, was so far away that not many went from here. The next one returns to Valley Forge, where it will be held July 12 to 18, 1957. From the 10,000 scouts and their leaders in the local council, which includes most of the area of Oakland and Macomb Counties, including Pontiac and Mt. Clemens, plans already are under way to recruit 200 or more. It is none too early for parents of scouts to begin planning for the event. David Lawrence Says:

GOP Unity Hidden at Convention

EN ROUTE FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO WASHINGTON — There was a big story at the Republican national convention that seems to have been missed by many. But it was plainly revealed if one took the time to talk with representative leaders and delegates from various states who only four years ago were scowling at each other in the Taft-Eisenhower battle. For today there is effective unity such as a major party rarely enjoys.

"Tom Dewey," said a former Taft leader of national prominence, "made the finest political speech of the convention—and he looked like a new Dewey. If he had made such fighting speeches in 1948, we never would have had Truman a second time."

When a party is out of power a long time it usually splits into factions, and doesn't become an effective instrument of political action until its candidate wins the White House. The solidarity evident now has been due to the solid demonstration by President Eisenhower of what he himself calls a "dynamic conservatism" which happens to be closer to the American mood of today than any other brand of political philosophy.

TOLERANCE NOTED

The conservatives, for the most part, feel nowadays that on the things that really matter to them—the maintenance of a sound economy with a sound money system and a restraint on extravagant spending and borrowing—the President has manifested a sincere dedication to historic Republican principles. As for the things that are called "liberal" in the social welfare line, the significant thing is that among conservatives now there is a wise tolerance—a tendancy to adopt a wait-and-see attitude and let the experiments be tested without making the sort of protest that could split the party wide open. Perhaps the best reassurance which could have been given the conservatives on this point was conveyed to them by the President in his acceptance speech when he said:

"Change with principle is progress but constant change without principle becomes chaos."

The unanimous support given Vice President Nixon was not surprising to those who have followed party politics in America. A party in power doesn't choose its candidates at the last minute. Months in advance of the convention the party leaders arrive at a consensus. Stassen's mistake was that for some reason of his own he thought such a unanimity could be upset at the convention itself. He now regrets his miscalculation.

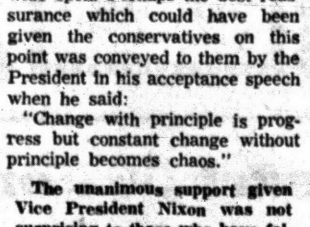

In a broad sense the renomination of Nixon was in itself striking proof of the harmony inside the Republican party. The conservatives had rallied to his support early this year when the first signs of a "dump Nixon" movement were noted.

The two conventions were not much different from those of other years. The convention system is still a cumbersome, unrepresentative conclave which is wholly without sanction of federal law. The Democrats made more noise this time and supplied the basis for more colorful stories in the newspapers but the Republican convention was a splendid example of dignity, forbearance and conspicuous avoidance of didates. The contrast between the parts played by the two ex-presidents was self evident. Harry Truman came out a political partisan attacks by the two cancasualty of diminished influence while Herbert Hoover emerged a heroic figure.

From its unspectacular beginning to the singing of "God Bless America," after a moving prayer at the close, as the President of the United States stood reverently with bowed head, the Republican convention caught the mood of the country—a satisfaction with the peace and prosperity achieved thus far and a fervent desire that they be continued. The Democrats now will have to prove that change for change's sake isn't their only issue.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Sugar Harmless to Teeth of Child on Adequate Diet

Conclusions reached, opinions expressed, or recommendations made by the National Research Council in the United States or by the Medical Research Council in England are not necessarily final and irrevocable, but they are not to be brushed aside by angry protests of pipsqueaks and stuffed shirts on either side of the Atlantic.

We doctors—all right, then, say the doctors keep telling you dumb laymen that medicine has made greater strides in the past few decades (no matter how many, just so it covers the period we have been in practice) than in the centuries before our time. And you laymen swallow the boast without question or politely ignore it. But I'm no layman and no gentleman, so whenever I hear this hackneyed hokum, I try to think what discovery or development of the twentieth century can compare with the introduction of anesthesia (1846-47)—but if ever I forget my regard for my own skin and ask such a question in open meeting, I assure you I won't wait around for the reaction.

Here a year ago I said, "Sugar does no direct harm to the teeth."

That was just my naive way of telling what I believe to be the truth—a costly way for me, to be sure, but then readers get what they deserve.

The National Research Council had drawn the same conclusion, or I should say, had reached this conclusion two years before:

"It is not known whether there is a relation between the sugar and refined carbohydrate content of an adequate diet and susceptibility to dental caries (decay of teeth, cavity formation). In any study of the relation of carbohydrates (starches and sugars) to dental caries activity, the adequacy of the diet in question must be guaranteed. This has not been done in a large number of experiments where the refined carbohydrate content of the ration has been increased."

Refined carbohydrate means white sugar, syrup, flour.

Without deigning to address me directly, a dentist evidently had me served with a "copy of letter to the editorial desk" of his home newspaper:

"As a member of the Dental Profession, I object strongly to Dr. Brady's article 'Sugar Does no Direct Harm to the Teeth' . . . Cavities, without exception, occur in the teeth of people who are on high sugar diets . . ."

In 1955 a Medical Research Council Special Report Series 228, Her Britannic Majesty's Stationery Office, London, stated:

"It is clear, therefore, that the high refined-sugar content of our 'civilized' diets, provided they are otherwise nutritionally good . . . is not necessarily harmful to the teeth . . . Certainly points to the practical conclusion that, provided a child is fed on a diet as good as that of the average children's residential institution in England, a substantial increase in the amount of sugar in the diet will not affect the child's liability to dental caries within a period of at least two years."

How much longer will the dentists of Yankeeland continue objecting strongly to my teaching what the best dental, medical, and nutrition authorities of the United States and Great Britain find to be true?

A diet which is "adequate," that is nutritionally good, for a growing child must provide at least 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk; a serving of cheese; one or two eggs, or some meat or some fish or fowl; one or two vegetables such as fresh or dried peas or beans, coleslaw, salad greens; nuts or peanuts; plain wheat cracked and cooked as preferred, or rolled oats, or brown rice as cereal; or cakes, rolls, muffins, bread or toast made of freshly ground whole wheat flour; and for vitamin C in addition to that green leafy vegetables, fresh fruit in season.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Believer in Flying Saucers Disagrees With Editorial

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In answer to the recent editorial descrediting flying saucers, it seems to me that not just this paper but just about all our national papers cater to the wishes of the Air Force.

I probably have to go along with your info on our new plane that will do over 1900 mph., but that's as far as I'll go. To think that people would confuse a saucer with a plane is absurd. Flying saucers have been recorded for centuries. They have been clocked at doing more than 10 times the speed of ours. They have been seen by some of our most reliable Air Force and commercial pilots. Are you going to discredit them for imagining things?

What I would like to know is where you got your information explaining away 99 per cent of sightings? The latest Air Force report was that 75 per cent were caused by natural causes, hallucinations and hoaxs. But they even go so far as to admit that the remaining 25 per cent are unexplained and filed as such.

And where do we lowly humans get the idea that we are the only privileged creatures in this universe? With millions of planets, even our well-known astronomers admit the possibility of inhabited worlds is great. If that is so, why couldn't they be more intelligent than the people of this planet and therefore more advanced?

Of the over 200 reports in 1955, only about 10 per cent were watered and reported by our national newspapers. Can't you publish flying saucers reports for the sake of your ardent readers? I've never been to the moon, but I know there is one. But maybe if the Air Force had its way, all of us UFOlogists would be deported to the universe of the moon people.

'Golden Youth' of Russia Cause Plenty of Trouble

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The Russian version of juvenile delinquency must be serious, otherwise it would not appear in the controlled press.

Komsomolskaya Pravda, the Communist youth organ, has told a story of the sons of two Soviet cabinet ministers being implicated in a case involving three girls, daughters of Soviet officers. The girls have been arrested on charges of thievery and debauchery.

For some years now it is evident, from glimpses through the Soviet press, that the authorities in Moscow have been fighting against "golden youth."

In their phraseology this means the adolescent sons and daughters of high officials. This includes the Russian version of "zoot suiters."

DRUNKEN ORGIES

The girls in this latest case were accused of "drunken orgies" with the sons of Foreign Trade Minister Kabanov and Heavy Engineering Minister Serpukhov.

* * *

The newspaper complained that the girls were spoiled children who never had worked in the Soviet Socialist dream of paradise, who spent much time reading cheap Western mystery stories, and who indulged in Western-style clothing.

An earlier article in the same newspaper described Western-style clothing for girls as:

* * *

Another newspaper, Sovietskaya Kultura, complains of the dress habits of certain young girls, and says that they "wear dresses stretched tight on their figures to the point of indecency." It continues:

"The skirts are slit. Their lips are bright with lipstick. In summer they are shod in 'Roman sandals.' Their hair is done in the style of 'fashionable' foreign film actresses."

STRANGE MIXTURE

Izvestia, the government official newspaper, and Komsomolskaya Pravda both describe the dress of the Moscow zoot-suiters as a strange mixture.

* * *

Some dress in tight green trousers that tuck into their boots. There are yellow jackets and "foreign" ties with parrots painted on them.

Shoes are narrow but at least two sizes large in length so that the toes turn up.

Fight Ghost of Hubby's Old Flame

Opal is a very lovely bride, but devastated in morale because she finds her husband still dreams of his former sweetheart. Can she win him away from this romantic memory? You bet she can, if she will follow the strategy outlined below! For a real wife can beat the most glamorous ghost if she just plays her cards seductively.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-349: Opal G., aged 22, has been married for six months.

"But I am terribly unhappy about one thing," she confessed.

* * *

"My husband had been in love with another girl. She eloped with another fellow. Then I came along.

"We dated for a year. Oh, I knew that Frank didn't love me, at least as much as he did the other girl.

"However, I thought everything would turn out right in the long run. He had told me all the facts, so I entered marriage with my eyes wide open.

"But he still grieves about the other girl and once he even told me he thought we made a mistake by getting married. So I feel simply terrible.

"Dr. Crane, will he always love this other girl?"

LOVE CHANGES

But don't let that worry you unduly. You can make a man fall in love with you, just by going through the proper motions.

Frank's pride is hurt because the other girl eloped and left him. In his imagination, he thinks about her because she also represents the mass of youthful romantic ideals he had woven around her.

But Opal is pretty and a fine girl who makes him an excellent wife. So if she will just continue to play her cards seductively, she can banish all jealousy of Frank's former fiancee.

For love can be developed. In fact, we psychologists can take any man a girl may mention, even including somebody she dislikes intensely, and soon have them ardently in love with each other.

All we demand is that they shall do and say our prescribed list of items. They must simply act devoted. Soon they will really become that way.

* * *

"Act the way you'd like to be," runs a truism of psychology, "and soon you'll be the way you act."

HOW TO CREATE LOVE

A man must respect and admire a girl in order to love her truly, so she must stand out for her idealism and defend her moral principles with spunk.

"Oh, but Dr. Crane," girls will protest, "I know a lot of girls who are no good but men seem attracted to them."

Yes, that is sexual attraction. A man may be sexually interested in many women even though he hates them, so a smart girl must learn the difference between male interest in sex versus his true love.

Men regard women as being custodians of culture and morality and religion, so females who smoke and drink and tell risque stories, may pal around with men but they seldom get engagement rings.

Even then, it is usually because the male has been fooled temporarily by their clever camouflage.

* * *

So maintain your idealism; then share as many happy experiences as possible with your husband.

These include delicious meals, and mutual attendance at ball games and parties, as well as physical love.

Pay him daily compliments, for on his chest is that universal motto, "I Want to Feel Important." Smile and be jolly, and kiss him with fervor.

Then time will play into your hands. And for further specific advice, send for the 200-point "Tests for Husbands & Wives," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological carts and pamphlets.

Women Survive 175-Foot Slide

Avalanche in California Carries Card Players to Highway Below

* * *

Two of the four were injured and are under treatment for spinal fractures in California Hospital, Los Angeles.

The seriousness of their injuries has not been determined, but both are expected to recover.

At the foot of the bluff two youths in a car escaped death because the driver noticed the landslide in time to veer to the far side of Pacific highway and avoid being buried under tons of earth.

The women were playing cards near the edge of the palisades overlooking the ocean when the earth gave way under them.

Still seated in their chairs, they went down with the falling earth and, somehow missed being buried as the avalanche catapulted across the highway.

* * *

The women are Mrs. Lucille Glenn, 48; Mrs. Eugene Baughman, 72; Mrs. Norah Hayward, 63, and Mrs. Maude Hankerman, 64. All work at a department store in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Glenn and Mrs. Hankerman were injured.

The loosened earth roared down just as Bobby Sullivan of Los Angeles drove by in his convertible. His car was partly buried. Neither he nor his passenger, Jim Loftus, 22, of San Jose, Calif., was hurt.

Penny Ante Present

CIUDAD REAL, Spain (INS) — A newly-wed couple was thrilled when a wedding present from a group of friends arrived in a large crate. But their excitement died when they found it contained 20,000 coins each worth the equivalent of one-tenth of a U. S. cent.

Educators Urge:

Finish High School Then Seek Employment

Top local and national educators are urging teenagers not to forsake the classrooms come fall, in search for employment.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent of schools, has joined with James P. Mitchell, secretary of labor, and Herold C. Hunt, acting secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, in making the plea.

* * *

They have also asked industrial and educational leaders to steer all young people who have not graduated from high school back to the books.

They stressed the value of a high school diploma and the basic education it represents to citizens called upon to make important decisions daily in the home, in the community and at work.

Dr. Whitmer said a high school education benefits a person both personally and socially.

First of all, a student who finishes high school will be "better able to live a useful, self sufficient life and be happier and more successful in every way."

He continued, "Secondly, society profits from a citzenry that is well educated and profits more from students who are graduated from high school."

Secretary Mitchell said, "Education provides the knowledge and skills which our nation's expanding work force requires.

"A high school diploma not only provides easier access to a worthwhile job, but also helps on the road to advancement and higher income," he added.

* * *

"Young people in entering the armed services or employment, or in taking on new responsibilities as citizens or parents can succeed better in their endeavors if they have completed a high school course of study," Acting Secretary Hunt said.

"The expression, 'To earn a living is to learn a living,' is very important today," he added.

Daniel Leads in Texas Runoff

DALLAS (INS)—U.S. Sen. Price Daniel appeared today to have edged out attorney Ralph Yarbrough in the Democratic runoff election for governor of Texas.

With only about 600 votes to be counted, the Texas Election Bureau's last Sunday report gave Daniel a lead of 2,533.

Daniel, a conservative from Liberty, piled up 697,732 votes to 695,209 for Yarbrough, liberal-loyalist candidate from Austin, in the unofficial tally from all 254 counties with 236 complete.

Yarbrough refused to concede, saying the official canvass tomorrow could change the outcome.

WAITING AWHILE

Daniel said he will not resign his Senate seat until "we get the official count."

Daniel bolted the Democratic party with Gov. Allan Shivers over the tidelands oil issue in 1952 and supported the Republican presidential ticket.

Fights Bad Publicity

SEATTLE (AP)—Mrs. M. R. Andreassen was impressed by the teenage boy who stopped and changed a flat tire for her and a woman companion. "He wouldn't take any pay," she explained. "He said he wanted to combat some of the bad publicity teenagers get."

Gal Groundhog Wakes Family Promptly at 5 A.M.

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Oscar, the female groundhog, is as smart as an alarm clock. Promptly at 5 a.m., she jumps into the bed of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crochett and awakens them.

Oscar has been a lovable groundhog, learning to whistle for a nursing bottle when she was cared for while a baby.

But her plush apartment residency is coming to an end. She chews on the furniture. She just can't stay away from the chair legs.

Ex-Ecorse Police Chief, Retired 11 Years, Dies

ECORSE (INS) — George A. Moore, police chief in Ecorse for 15 years before his retirement in 1945, died yesterday at his home following a six-months illness.

Moore, a lifelong resident of Ecorse, had also served as fire chief, police marshal and village president. Since retirement, he had been working in a barber shop he owned since 1931.

Baby Sitting Pool Solves Family Woes

Eleven families here with a total of 20 children have done just that. Mothers take turns baby-sitting for one another.

Each sitter has a certain number of hours credited to her account. If a mother has four hours of sitting time accumulated, she's entitled to at least four hours of baby watching from other members of the pool.

Ezio Pinza Hit by Mild Stroke

64-Year-Old Singer Hopes to Work Again After Recovering

CERVIA, Italy (AP)—Singer Ezio Pinza has suffered a slight paralytic stroke and canceled his contract to appear in a new Broadway play. But his wife indicates he hopes to be able to return to the stage.

The 64-year-old operatic basso and musical comedy star is under the care of physicians at his summer villa in this seaside resort, 15 miles from his childhood home —Ravenna.

He was reported resting comfortably and able to sit in an armchair. His wife said Pinza "suffered no permanent injury" from the attack Friday and there was "no reason to say he will not be able to work again."

Pinza, who starred in the hit musical comedies "South Pacific" and "Fanny" after a long career in opera, had been scheduled to begin rehearsals for his first non singing role in "A Very Special Baby" Sept. 17 in New York.

Mrs. Pinza said Pinza's doctors yet did not know when he will be able to return to the stage, but she called the stroke "a light one."

The star's attorney in New York, Harold H. Stern, said Mrs. Pinza had advised him one of her husband's legs was partially paralyzed.

Pinza joined New York's Metropolitan Opera Co. in 1926, winning critical acclaim and a big following for his rich basso and acting ability. For two decades he was a leading member also of the San Francisco and Chicago Opera Assns.

He took Broadway by storm as the romantic Emile de Becque in "South Pacific" in 1949. Later he starred in three Hollywood films, "Mr. Imperium," "Tonight We Sing" and "Strictly Dishonorable."

Texas Spoon Too Big for Any Mouth in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cowboy star Roy Rogers told a grandstand crowd at the Ohio State Fair last night that Ohio's Gov. Frank J. Lausche had received a "Texas teaspoon" from Gov. Allan Shivers of the Longhorn State.

Rogers said Lausche told about the gift at a press luncheon recently.

The "Texas teaspoon," Lausche was quoted, was as big as a soup ladle.

The Ohio governor reportedly wrote Shivers, thanking him for the teaspoon, but added that he "couldn't find a mouth in Ohio big enough to fit it in."

New Convention Badge Declares 'I've Had It'

By EARL WILSON

And I have. Bring the aspirin.

I should have known we were on the Gold Coast when I arrived here a couple of years ago—no, it was last week—and was met by a Cadillac.

Another reporter was also met by a Cadillac.

"Hey, my chauffeur can beat your chauffeur," we yelled at each other.

A gent named Stear Hopps gave a party in his two bedroom house. The two bedroom house cost $700,000. That's $350,000 a bedroom.

Everybody was sort of embarrassed speaking about money (except me). Art Linkletter was quelled into accepting $50 to m. c. the Governors ball though he wanted to work for nothing.

"The union wouldn't let me," he said. "I used to work in this town 20 years ago and I also got $50 then. Guess I haven't got any better since."

Randolph Churchill is poor relations here.

"When we come to America, we're allowed 10 pounds or $28 a day," he told me. "At the St. Regis in New York, my room costs $29 a day so I'm $1 behind in the daily battle of life before I have breakfast, but I make out better here by doing a bit of television."

Seems when she mentions her name over the phone, people confuse her with Muntz television, founded by ex-used car dealer Madman Muntz.

"I phoned one senator here to accept an invitation," she said, "and when I told his secretary my name, she said, 'I'm sure the senator's too busy to talk to you—he already has a television set.' "

Eating, Comics Interest Boy After Rescue

SEATTLE (AP) — Snatched from almost certain death after a week in a mountain wilderness, plucky Richard Mizuhata rested in a hospital today and his main concern was catching up on the meals and the comics he missed in his lonely wanderings.

Doctors said Richard, 13-year-old Japanese-American Boy Scout, was showing an "amazing comeback" from his seven days and six nights with little food or water on the slopes of Mt. Rainier, 50 miles southeast of here.

$349 Ain't Hay — Not for This Farmer

SCOTTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Moda G. Taylor will tell you $349 ain't hay.

But he lost the money in the hay baler just the same. His wallet fell out of his pocket and into the machine.

Yesterday, the 44-year-old farmer was notified the Federal Reserve Bank in Washington would redeem the loss since serial numbers were still visible on the chewed-up money.

"But from now on," said Taylor, "I will leave my pocketbook at home while baling hay."

Voting Amendment Is 36 Years Old

Women Make Fine Record in Political Life

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Thirty-six years ago today Washington finally decreed, in a posthumous move, that old Susie B. Anthony had not lived and died and cursed the male sex in vain.

* * *

The 19th Amendment was passed, awarding women the right to vote.

Ah, what fear must have prevailed in Washington that day!

Who knew but what these homemakers and Wednesday bridge-clubbers would snafu the entire political system and turn caucuses into tea parties? Who knew but what Francis X. Bushman would be the next president of the United States on a landslide ladies' vote?

Who knew but what there would shortly be so many women in Congress that organdy curtains would drape the great Senate gallery, and babies would outblast senators from the balcony?

More than one gentleman must have gone home that night, in 1920, and berated his wife on the dangers of becoming a politician and the wonders of remaining a woman.

SMOKING, BOBBING

Women were already smoking cigarettes and bobbing their hair and contributing in other startling ways to the public madness.

Now this . . .

* * *

Well, it all turned out pretty fine, mainly because women refused to get all het up about the idea. Somehow in those days they were too busy having children to take serious advantage of their equal rights and privileges.

Love was bigger than politics. So was mah jong.

It was to be expected, naturally, that the interest of ladies in voting and politicking would grow gradually. Like the use of frozen foods and the building of Rome, these things don't happen in a day.

The idea caught on in a big way only in the last decade, after women had lived and matured and slaved their way through World War II.

* * *

It has built up to the biggest pitch in history now, and not only do more American women vote in national elections than men, but they actively participate in politics to the point where some states now sent 50 per cent women delegates to national conventions.

HALF AND HALF

Florida and Montana each sent delegations that were half and half, male and female; and from several other states came more than 40 per cent femininity in the delegation.

Many caucus rooms in San Francisco last week, in fact, more closely resembled orderly and fashionable garden club meets than the traditional smokey hassle.

The Republicans polled their girls and discovered that the composite woman delegate is 52 years old, has one child and anywhere from 1 to 25 grandchildren, and still considers homemaking her first and foremost career.

Thirty-six years ago we bet the most optimistic amendment makers didn't dream women could be this hard-working and sound-thinking.

That they have managed to help manage the country so willingly, without losing their grip on the family, is—as President Eisenhower and his friends will tell you—admirable.

* * *

Blessed be the 19th Amendment, the men who passed it, and the ladies who made it a success.

Unknowing Policemen Open 'Bombed' Suitcase

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A whirring noise from an unclaimed suitcase brought firemen, police and a bomb expert to Union passenger terminal last night.

The expert diagnosed the sound as a time bomb and ordered the container soaked in water overnight.

Two unidentified policemen, who had missed the feverish activity, saw the wet container, opened it and found a battery-operated phonograph whirring merrily inside.

Hal Boyle Says:

Vice-Presidency Becomes Two-Fisted Job

NEW YORK (AP)—A new figure of heroic stature looms on the American political horizon — the two-fisted vice president.

In the past it hasn't made much difference whether the president's harness mate had 2 heads or 10 thumbs, as he didn't count much anyway. His main problem was to make the appropriate noises while presiding over the U.S. Senate.

Only one man in history has made a really memorable utterance while serving as stall mouse for the occupant of the White House. He was Thomas Riley Marshall, vice president under Woodrow Wilson. Marshall escaped oblivion as the result of his daring remark, "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar."

But the situation has now changed. The voters seem sold on the idea that what this country needs is not a vice preident who merely yearns for a good five-cent cigar, but one who will get in there with bare knuckles and fight for it.

Perhaps the biggest result of the 1956 national political conventions is that both Republicans and Democrats now agree on this—running the executive branch of the federal government has become a four-fisted job.

* * *

The president's two fists are no longer enough. His veep must have fists, too.

Considering the proven political pugnacity of the two present rival candidates for vice president — Estes Kefauver and Dick Nixon—the nation may even wind up with a veep who gives the appearance of having triple fists.

Commenting on the new trend, a television pundit pontificated: "There will be no more Throttlebottoms." He was refferring to Alexander Throttlebottom, the amiable, bumbling, vice presidential nonentity in the Broadway musical, "Of Thee I Sing."

But what about the mother of a little boy who doesn't want to get in there and slug? Can she no longer hope her son will grow up and become a vice president?

* * *

Perhaps not in national politics. But the little lad still has a future in industry.

There must be several hundred thousand vice presidents in the business world. Many are harmless souls who dwell in upholstered swivel chairs and spend the day scribbling memos to their private secretary to be sure that no one without proper authorization uses the office pencil sharpener.

* * *

Aggressive heads of business organizations sometimes like to surround themselves with these Throttlebottoms on the reasonable assumption. "With guys like that around me I have to look good—if only by contrast."

The president of the United States doesn't have to worry about having his job taken away from him by a two-fisted vice president.

* * *

But the president of a business firm has no such guarantee. If all the Throttlebottoms in industry suddenly start flexing their muscles and doubling up their fists, no business president or board chairman in the land will sleep easily.

Do tycoons want a situation like that? Not if we know tycoons.

* * *

The moral is, if you want to be a Throttlebottom in life, get out of politics.

The business world depends on its Throttlebottoms, almost as much as it does on paper clips, to keep things together.

Gusher in Iran Indicates Rich New Oil Field

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A tremendous gusher spouting oil 150 feet into the air and flooding nearby fields today marked the discovery of what apparently is a rich new oil field south of Tehran.

* * *

The state-owned National Iranian Oil Co., called in British and American experts to help control the well throwing 80,000 barrels of oil a day into the air near Qum, about 80 miles south of the capital.

Troops and police patrolled oil-covered meadows along the main highway linking Tehran with the Persian Gulf. Their main task was to enforce precautions against fire. Rope-soled shoes were issued to soldiers and technicians.

Oilmen hoped to cap the well in about a fortnight and stop the loss, but the task may take longer.

Exploratory drilling in the Qum area was carried out by Iranians, with the help of Swiss and American technicians.

Shigemitsu to Spend 4 or 5 Days in U. S.

LONDON (AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu will fly to the United States tomorrow to spend "four or five days" in Washington and New York, a Japanese embassy spokesman announced.

The United States has been reported extremely concerned by reports that Japan might agree to recognize Soviet sovereignty over the southern Kurile Islands in order to get a peace treaty with Moscow. The Russians have refused to give up the islands, which they occupied at the end of World War II.

One Dead, One Critical in Election Bet Fight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—One man was shot to death and another knifed critically late last night in a fight over a 25-cent election bet.

A 19-year-old man, stabbed in the chest, told officers he shot Hilton Campbell, 21, to death in a street fight. He told officers he and Campbell bet several weeks ago on which date voters would go to the polls.

They voted Saturday in the Democratic runoff primary.

No charges had been filed early today.

Before TCP... The car above was bought brand new and driven about 3000 miles on a competitive premium gasoline. Then its rate of acceleration was checked by radar. The pick-up was poor because of engine deposits, which caused the spark plugs to "miss."

After TCP... The same car now performs after it has been run on a few tankfuls of Shell Premium with TCP*, which overcomes engine deposits. Radar checks on this and other cars showed in most cases a 6 to 18% increase in pick-up after TCP additive had overcome pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

Within about 3500 miles these deposits can short-circuit your spark plugs—causing them to "miss." The result: power loss. Your almost new engine has lost its fine edge.

The picture above of a radar-clocked acceleration test shows how TCP additive restores this lost power, delivering up to 18% faster acceleration—"pick-up" that even the most careful driver sometimes needs for safety.

Try Shell Premium with TCP and re-power your car while you drive. See your Shell Dealer.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drugstores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

P.S. DOCTORS PRESCRIBE SPECIAL LAXATIVE TO EASE PAINFUL ELIMINATION WHILE SHRINKING PILES

The makers of Preparation H also make Petro-Syllium®, a special type laxative prescribed by doctors for hemorrhoid sufferers. Softens hard dry stool and assures easy elimination without pain. Ask for Petro-Syllium.

CROSSING THE COUNTRY — 1

The Covered Wagon

Americans have always traveled. In fact, the American nation was formed by travelers, and they and their descendents have kept right on traveling.

As they moved across the country to rich lands in the West, families often set out in huge covered wagons, which they called "prairie schooners." One type was the Conestoga wagon, with high rear wheels and a canvas-covered top. The family's possessions was piled into the wagon, which was pulled by a team of oxen.

This week we are going to show you some of the many ways Americans traveled this big country in the past. Then you can set up your own travel museum. Here is your first exhibit — the prairie schooner.

Expect Living Costs to Level Off Soon

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government said today it expects consumer prices will begin to level off within a few months. They hit an all-time high in July.

Commissioner of Labor Statistics Ewan Clague, predicting a further rise in August, said prices should stabilize soon because of crops now moving to market.

The .7 per cent advance in July boosted the consumer price index to 117 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The increase will bring a 4-cent an hour pay raise Sept. 1 to some 1,250,000 auto, aircraft, electrical and farm equipment workers whose contracts are tied to the cost of living index.

Living costs are 2 per cent higher than a year ago. Increases since May have been the most rapid since 1952 when the Korean War was on.

President James B. Carey of the AFL-CIO Electrical Workers expressed satisfaction with the pay boost, but said he is disturbed by rising living costs. Some 90,000 of his members will receive more pay.

Will-O-Way Set to Open Final Play

Curtain Will Go Up Tuesday on Comedy 'King of Hearts'

"King of Hearts," the last play of the season at Will-O-Way Playhouse, will open Tuesday evening and will run through Sept. 16.

Jean Kerr—who wrote "Jenny Kissed Me" and collaborated with her critic husband, Walter F. Kerr, on play adaptations of "The Song of Bernadette" and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" — has teamed with Eleanor Brooke for this satiric farce which pokes fun at phonies and their cliche-ridden world.

"King of Hearts" deals with an egotistical comic-strip artist whose cartoons have taken on a 'social significance.' With this in mind, the artist's head begins to swell and he starts sprouting prose with a biting wit.

Paul Caplan stars as the egomaniac cartoonist. He is supported by Danny Simpson as the ghost writer, Janet Simpson as his secretary and Merrill Sikorski as the small boy. Others in the cast are Joe Van, Lee Mahoney and Doug Turek.

Plan Wardrobe; Make Grooming a Routine

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Bargains have a fatal attraction for most people. Too often folks fail to stop and think whether or not they need what they are buying. Nothing is a bargain if you do not need it or want it badly.

What good is a stunning hairbrush to a bald headed man even if it is marked down from $10 to 10 cents? What benefit is it to a woman to get one of the big name creations for half the original price if she does not have any place to wear it?

While it is fun to go a bit haywire sometimes in the purchase of a luxury item in clothing or some other category, the woman who is well dressed on a small or medium budget has certain rules she follows.

THINKS IT OUT

She takes into consideration the kind of life she leads and this dictates the type clothes she buys. She also thinks of the amount of money she has to spend and the type figure she has.

She learns to correlate so that one group of accessories can be worn with several outfits. I know one woman who has had a pair of lizard skin shoes and bag for 10 years and they are still first rate. She takes good care of them and sometimes puts them away for a year or so when they do not match any of her clothes.

I know another who buys very expensive hats but uses them for years, sometimes with a year or so in between. She buys the classic type, either the cartwheel or the small behind-the-hair hat.

If you have the money to invest originally, I believe that you would be wise to buy more expensive clothes and wear them for many years. Many women cannot afford this, however, and many of them would tire even of lovely and costly garments.

The woman on the fairly small clothes budget should take many factors into consideration. In the first place some materials show wear more quickly while others stand up under hard wear.

There is little room for brightly colored dresses or suits on the small budget because they are so easily remembered and may become tiring. On the other hand you can change a basic color like black or brown or navy blue into a new appearance with new accessories.

Remember your figure! If you are overweight avoid large prints, shiny material, design or cut or buttons which run around instead of up and down, and do not have your clothes fitted too tightly.

If you would like my short routine of exercise especially planned for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

BEING WELL-GROOMED IS NO ACCIDENT—HAVE A ROUTINE

At least half the battle for attractiveness is won when a woman becomes well groomed. Even a sparkling personality loses its bang when it is packaged in wispy hair, a muddy complexion or poorly cared for fingernails.

* * *

The appearance of being beautifully groomed doesn't just happen. It is impossible to achieve if you just give yourself a little hurried attention at the last minute.

The shining hair, the glowing skin, the lovely figure and attractive nails reflect constant attention. You are certain to be deficient in grooming and to be caught unaware sometime unless you have a plan.

No one routine would fit the lives of all women but there are certain essentials which every woman should observe and must fit into her daily schedule at the time most convenient for her.

WHEN TO DO IT

For instance, if you live alone you may want to do your exercise in the morning before you go to work and you may wish to apply an oily cream at night.

* * *

If you are married you may find it much more convenient to exercise after the family leaves in the morning for work and school. You will not want to wear cold cream at night, and probably will wish to let it soak into your skin, if it is dry, during the daytime while you go about your household duties. You can leave the cream on until after you have had your bath in the afternoon.

There are so very many things we are told we should do for health and good looks that it is sometimes discouraging or at least bewildering. For that reason I have planned a daily routine in which I have placed only the things which seem to me to be essential.

It may appear almost impossible to fit this care of yourself into your busy life. However, if you will work out a routine and stick with it whenever possible you will not miss the lost minutes which are used in this way. You soon will take your rest period for granted just as you do the knowledge that you will eat three meals a day.

Each woman's routine must differ as her life does, but a few minutes a day invested in you will actually ward off the aging process for you.

If you would like to have the leaflet "Essential Daily Routine" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

If you live alone, you may want to do your exercise in the morning before you go to work. It is impossible to achieve the appearance of being beautifully groomed if you just give yourself a little hurried attention at the last minute. A few minutes a day invested in YOU will ward off the aging process for you.

Biscuits Are Very Sure to Please

By JANET ODELL

North-south-east-west — homemade biscuits ARE the best. That is the consensus of opinion of most people and definitely of some recent guests of Mrs. George Quine. She is happy to share her recipe for baking powder biscuits with you readers.

Mrs. Quine is an enthusiastic homemaker. She loves to cook, to sew and to garden. She is a member of an Extension group. A college-age son, a married daughter and two grandchildren make up her family — which she "enjoys immensely."

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS
By Mrs. George Quine

2 cups flour, sifted after measuring
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup shortening
⅔ cup milk

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Add milk and mix well. Knead two or three times. Pat out and cut into biscuits. Bake about 12 minutes in a 400-degree oven, or until brown.

If drop biscuits are desired, increased the milk to 1 cup. Makes one dozen biscuits.

Helpfulness Is Attribute of Success

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Helpfulness is a quality that we think of as being virtuous but we very rarely connect it in our minds with success.

Yet my experience has been that the more successful people are, the more helpful they tend to be.

When women write telling me of a successful home business, they almost invariably end their letter as did Dorothy Stripp of East Orange, New Jersey:

If any of your readers need help, I will be glad to give them whatever advice I can."

MOTHER OF FOUR

Mrs. Stripp is the mother of four young boys, ages eight, six, four and two. Before her marriage, and while her husband was overseas during the war, she did secretarial work.

Then, in 1948, she resigned from the business world to begin her family and, subsequently, a secretarial service.

I asked Mrs. Stripp to comment on the pro's and con's of a home secretarial service since so many readers ask about it. Here is what she had to say:

"Working at home, particularly if you have pre-school children, is not easy. You must like the work you are doing, because it is much more difficult than working in an office where the interruptions are different from the demands of children.

ENDLESS DEADLINES

"In an office, at the end of the day, you pack up and go home. When you work at home, there is an endless series of deadlines.

"When I'm busy, I am often typing until midnight and then up at 6:00 a.m. to type until 7:30 when the family wakens.

* * *

"Then I must deliver the work and get back home with the car before my husband goes to the office.

"Your friends will sometimes not realize that your "business" is a serious one and that you have to forego the social side of life if a large job comes in.

"It would, I think, be unusual for anyone immediately to pick up enough work to warrant standing still on your laurels.

TAKES TIME

"Good accounts take a long time to build up and are frequently not consistent in the amount of work.

"Then, too, when you get a new client, and an old one calls and wants a rush job done, you must do your best to accommodate both."

Mrs. Stripp's attitude of helpfulness extends not only to her business associates but to other women as well.

As I said, this is a faculty worth developing, not just for stars in your crown but as a real business plus.

If you are interested in a home business, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope and I will send you my list of books on making money at home.

Unmarried Couple Asks Trip Advice

One Hotel Stop on Visit to Boy's Home Calls for Decorum

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been going with a young man for about a year, and we are planning to be married the beginning of next year, although our official engagement has not been announced. My fiance's family live out West — about a distance of 900 miles from here.

* * *

"When I get my vacation we plan to drive to his home town so that I may meet his family. We would like to take about three days to drive out there in order that we might stop and see friends of his along the way and to enjoy the country, much of which I have never seen.

"While we will stay with friends possibly two nights, we will have to spend at least one night at a hotel. Could this be considered accepted conduct under the circumstances, and if not, are there any circumstances under which we could travel together?

"I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: It would be best to announce your engagement before you go and if you stay in a first-class hotel with rooms on different floors I don't think you will be criticized.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is going to be married soon and we have had a discussion on the wearing of eye glasses with a wedding dress. It seems very incongruous to me for a bride in white satin (or lace) and a bridal veil to wear horn-rimmed glasses suitable for an office or a schoolroom.

* * *

"Perhaps I am wrong. I would very much appreciate your opinion."

Answer: It would certainly be much better to wear them and be able to see and walk with grace and ease than to stumble up the aisle.

* * *

If she can afford to get clear plastic ones for the occasion it would be well to do so—otherwise she should wear the ones she always does.

Ball to Spark President's Cup Regatta

WASHINGTON — Now that the politicians are off stumping the countryside, local socialites are linking themselves with the sports world in their first big wingding of the fall season.

They are deep in plans for a gala ball to be held on the eve of the colorful President's Cup Regatta opening Sept. 15. Often called "the world's series of speedboat racing," the three-day program is expected to draw more than 100,000 spectators.

President Eisenhower has accepted an invitation to present the $30,000 solid gold trophy, first offered in competition 30 years ago when Calvin Coolidge was president.

Climax of the social will come when the queen of the regatta is introduced with her court of eight princesses, drawn from official, diplomatic and residential capital families.

'IMPORTANT' PAIR

Among the royal court will be Susan Hull, daughter of Rep. William R. Hull, Jr. (D-Mo), and debutante Frances Snowden Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hill.

Frances, who enters Vassar this year, is a descendant of Lord Baltimore. Her sister, Daviette, was a royal regatta princess in 1951. Her father is a former president of the District of Columbia Bar Assn. and a member of the exclusive Society of the Cincinnati.

Bazaar Chairmen Named

Mrs. Edward Huttala and Mrs. Hector McClellan will serve as co-chairmen for the annual Fall Bazaar to be held Nov. 1 at St. John's Lutheran Church.

The announcement was made at the cooperative luncheon meeting held Thursday in the church parlors.

A cafeteria style luncheon will be served the day of the bazaar with Mrs. Kenneth Anderson and Mrs. Claude Kittner in charge. The baked goods booth will be in charge of Mrs. Ruth Olson and Mrs. Oren Clauson.

Mrs. Ercel Kohlhaas, Mrs. Emma Hornblad and Mrs. Edwin Carlson are arranging the fancy work booth, while Mrs. Hans Mickhelsen and Mrs. William Parks will be in charge of the rug booth.

Others who are serving include Mrs. Lillian Perkio and Mrs. Edward May who will take care of the parcel post booth, and Mrs. Dallas Folsom and Mrs. Sam McMurray who will handle publicity.

Teachers' Comments Hold Lesson for Parents, Pupils

By RUTH MILLETT

"She has a smile for everybody." That is about the nicest compliment ever paid to any woman. And yet it is one of the easiest to earn.

For the paper boy who comes to collect.

FOR CHILDREN, TOO

For any child who crosses her path.

For her own children, especially when she is asking them NOT to do something.

For the people whose faces she knows but whom she has never met, such as occupants of the same office building or apartment house.

For the person to whom it is necessary for her to make a complaint.

For the person who interrupts or asks a troublesome favor.

Parents' United Front Not Needed

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

"Dominated by marital friction" was how the reformatory's psychological clinic described Saul's home.

The clinic meant that his parents disagreed—with hate. It meant that Saul's father retorted to his mother's nagging with curses, threats, alcoholic blows. It meant that she nagged on, unchecked. It meant that these married people were so soaked in mutual resentment that they could not disagree over breakfast cereal without splashing each other with bitter reproach.

So the very first thing the clinic did for Saul was to introduce him to two married people who could disagree—with love.

It called them his "cottage parents." Ostensibly in charge of Saul's domestic arrangements, the real work of this pair was the demonstration of happy opposite-ness.

COUNTERS ACCUSATION

If Saul's cottage mother wrongfully accused him of leaving the shower dripping, her husband might say, "She's usually more fair than that. She had some bad news about her only sister last night. That's why who left the shower dripping didn't matter very much to her this morning."

* * *

If his cottage father canceled a picnic, his wife might say, "If he's got a quick temper, he always notices things. Maybe if you stop complaining and just go and start mowing that lawn . . . "

* * *

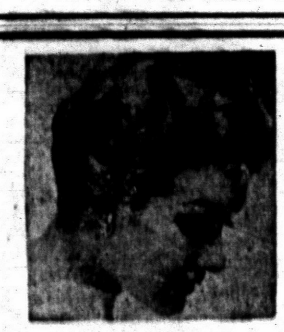

These people's staunch appreciation of each other's worth underlying their surface weaknesses was a chief stabilizer in Saul's recovery from delinquent confusion. Where he'd once seen man-woman oppositeness evoking rage, he now saw it evoking understanding and loyalty.

Inevitably, as he grew used to his cottage parents' unruffled acceptance of oppositeness, he began to feel, "Perhaps I too can expect acceptance when I oppose others. Perhaps I can learn to give it when others differ from me."

D. H. Lawrence, the English poet, had the final word on the value of loving oppositeness between the parents.

* * *

"The child's soul was put at peace between them," he wrote. "She was no longer called to uphold with her childish might the broken end of the arch. Her parents now met to the span of the heavens and she, the child, was free to play in the space beneath, between."

Martha's Fund Still Growing

Lake Orion Lions Club Assigns 3-Man Group to Select Tombstone

Plans are under way for the selection of a tombstone to be placed on the Lake Orion grave of three-year-old Martha Little, who was found murdered in an Independence Township hayfield last July 28.

A three-man committee, representing the sponsoring Lake Orion Lions Club, has been assigned to the project of selecting a stone. Club officials hope to acquire a 24-inch monument for the grave.

Funds for the stone will be taken from donations to the Martha Little Memorial Fund which has been in existence since the child's funeral.

A total of $1,150 has been received by the Lions thus far while several hundred dollars have also been given directly to the girl's family. The donations have enabled the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Little, to pay several bills and purchase needed clothing for their other children.

The Lions Club is continuing the ing able to build a new home or at least come up with a down payment on one for the Littles.

Money now in the treasury which is not used for the tombstone purchase will be turned over to fund.

Hubby Flies to U. S., Police Guard Marilyn

LONDON (INS)—Marilyn Monroe was alone in England today as her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, flew to the U. S. to attend to personal business. But he left his buxom wife well under guard.

The voluptuous movie queen, who has captivated the British public, was escorted by uniformed police to a control tower where she made her private farewells with Miller.

Miller then was driven in a police car to the Customs Department. But in the last-minute confusion he boarded the wrong plane and had to be taken to another ramp for his scheduled flight.

U. S. Films in Britain

LONDON—There are some 800 United States companies operating in Great Britain, in dozens of lines of business, ranging from automobiles and oil refining to cosmetics and chewing gum.

LINDA VISTA SCHOOL OPENS—One of the school system's pet projects because of its beauty and low cost is the Linda Vista School above, which opens Sept. 6 to serve 420 pupils in the N. Perry street area. A special feature is the orthopedic center in one wing for handicapped children. It can give specialized instruction to about 85 pupils. The school cost about $399,600.

Pontiac Press Photos by Eddie Vanderwerp

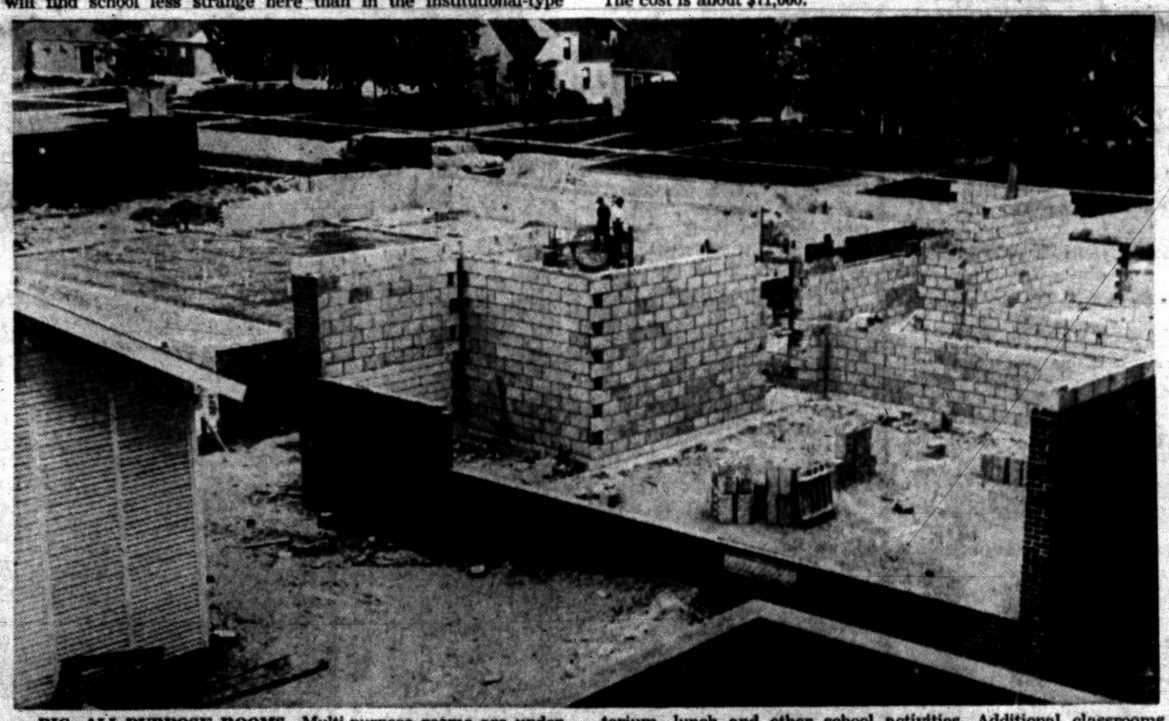

MODERN NORTHSIDE CLASSROOMS—The Walton Boulevard School, above, will open for the first time this fall for pupils from kindergarten to the sixth grade. Costing about $416,960, it will have eight classrooms in one wing and multi-purpose facilities at the other end. The classrooms will be ready by mid-September and the multi-purpose room about a month later. The school is located in the Pontiac Township area included within the city school district, and is designed to serve the large increase in population there.

JUST LIKE HOME—Four ranch-type buildings like the one above will be finished next month to replace the old Cora Bailey School at 81 Florence St. Kindergarteners, first and second graders will find school less strange here than in the institutional-type building. Each frame structure will handle about 30 pupils under the guidance of one teacher. The school rooms are about 32 feet square with fixtures such as water fountains at children's height. The cost is about $71,000.

BIG, ALL-PURPOSE ROOMS—Multi-purpose rooms are under construction at three of the older schools, Crofoot, McCarroll and LeBaron, above. About 7,000 square feet and of standard gymnasium height, the buildings will house facilities for athletics, auditorium, lunch and other school activities. Additional classrooms also are being added to the schools. Above, the new classrooms are taking shape in the center and the multi-purpose room at the left.

REPLACE 'TEMPORARIES'—The first new construction in many years at Crofoot School is shown above. Two new classrooms will be open next semester to replace the old, wooden temporary structures. The temporaries have already been removed and six classes will be on half-day sessions this semester. A multi-purpose room, at the left, also is being constructed and will be ready next spring.

Mental Hospital Waiting Lists Grow

Although the waiting list for the admission of the mentally retarded to state hospitals continued to decrease the first seven months of this year, committments piled up at the State Department of Mental Health in even greater numbers.

In a special report prepared by Charles F. Wagg, department director, for Pontiac State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, statistics showed 1,315 on the waiting list in January.

This dropped to 942 by July 30, a net decrease of 373. At the same time 483 patients were added to the list.

Wagg told Rep. Hudson rapid progress has been made toward the new Legislature-approved mental hospital for southeastern Michigan to be built in Northville.

The state official said approximately 160 patients are housed at the Farmington Children's Home, with the total expected to reach 250.

At Frt Custer there are 400 patients with the maximum load of 800 expected to occupy the hospital by the end of October.

It will house 130 patients, Wagg said, while additional buildings are being acquired to house 448 custodial patients. These are expected to be taken over by next summer.

"At Mt. Pleasant, since the time of the Legislature's emergency session, we have activated buildings which house an additional 220 patients, and we have under construction at that location another 440 beds which will be finished in late winter or early spring," Wagg reported.

He estimated that the state would need 10,300 beds for the mentally retarded in 1960 and 13,300 by 1975. With this in mind, Wagg told Hudson, the Department of Mental Health would request a new hospital be authorized for Western Central Michigan.

Wagg said with the successful program of child clinics and adult psychiatric clinics, which number 21 in the state, the progress toward solving mental health problems in Michigan was moving satisfactorily.

New Buildings Being Erected

$2¼ Million to Be Spent for Construction and Rehabilitation Projects

School planners and construction workers have been busy at "summer school" ever since Pontiac children put away their books in June.

* * *

Over $2¼ million worth of construction and rehabilitation projects have been under way, and many of them will be finished by the time books are re-opened next week.

* * *

Some of the construction won't be ready for the children until next semester or even a year from now. But the Pontiac School System's building program by January will cut the number of sub-standard facilities for children by one-half.

* * *

Right now, 18 projects are under way, from new fire-escapes at the Bagley School to the completion of the $1,200,000 Walton Boulevard Elementary School by mid-September.

* * *

The Linda Vista Elementary School, costing about $339,613, will open Sept. 6 for 420 pupils. Gymnasium, cafeteria and other facilities are ready to open at the $1,200,000 Madison Junior High School.

POOR FACILITIES TO GO

The new buildings mean that 1,350 more, up-to-date pupil stations are ready this fall. When additional classrooms are opened in January, the 800 sub-standard pupil stations left in the school system will be cut to 400, authorities figure.

* * *

In two years, all of the substandard facilities are expected to be gone, meaning that the temporary wooden buildings, which have been a Pontiac eyesore for many years, all will be a thing of the past.

The construction is part of the Board of Education's 10-year $9 million building program to provide modern facilities for the growing school population. The main emphasis so far has been on the elementary school level where statistics show the greatest need.

* * *

Where no schools existed in areas with musrhooming populations, this involved construction of new schools. In other areas, it involved expanding existing classroom space and adding such facilities as multi-purpose rooms for gymnasium, cafeteria, auditorium and other school and community activities.

* * *

The oldest of the schools are also being torn down to make room for modern buildings. Cora Bailey School was razed this summer and in its place are novel ranch house structures designed to make the newcomer to school feel "right at home."

LAST YEARS OF USE

Some of the other old, outdated schools are seeing their last few years of use, if the Board of Education has its way.

* * *

The Board already has okayed two more elementary schools—on Kennett road and in the Herrington Hills subdivision—costing $450,000 and $425,000. They are expected to open next fall.

The older students are not forgotten. The Board plans to begin a new high school this spring next to the Madison junior high, and hopes it will be ready by September, 1958.

Besides the new high school and two new elementary schools, multi-purpose room and classroom additions are planned at Bethune and Malkim Schools. The whole bill will run about $4,100,000, planners think.

* * *

Multi-purpose rooms will be ready at Crofoot, McCarroll and LeBaron Schools sometime after the February semester opens. Additional classrooms at the three schools will be ready in January.

* * *

Other multi-purpose rooms have been contracted for at Central, Emerson, Hawthorne and Willis Schools. These will cost about $621,000.

* * *

* * *

Pupils slated to attend the Walton Boulevard School will have bus transportation to temporary classes at other schools until the new building opens; six classes at Crofoot School will attend half-day sessions until new classrooms are completed there; the opening of the new Cora Bailey School will be delayed one week; two elementary classes at Whittier School will be transported by bus to McConnell School all semester.

Press Gold Pot Grows Heavier; Winner Sought

The summer wanes, but not the excitement in the Press word game POT-O-GOLD. The clues are just as demanding and the words as hard to track down—and with fall fast approaching, the dollar bills (at least 100 of them everytime we have a winner) are getting even crisper. Readers can share in them all by reading the rules carefully, analyzing the clues below and sending in their solutions before the Tuesday deadline next week. Good luck!

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

Virginia to Chart Segregation Line

State Legislators Meet to Map Plan Preventing Integration in Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia's legislature meets in special session today to chart a definitive course for the state in its effort to maintain racially segregated public schools.

* * *

As the legislators gathered, there no longer was any question that their sole concern would be to find a path of escape from the anti-segregation decision of the Supreme Court. The only question was to what legal extremes they might go.

* * *

Little more than an hour after the assembly convenes at noon, Gov. Thomas B. Stanley will offer his own plan for warding off any semblance of integration in elementary and high schools. The governor's program would deny state education funds to any locality which to any degree whatsoever mixes the races in its schools.

* * *

The state financial contribution to schools, largely for teacher pay, amounts to about one third of the total operating cost. Without this contribution, most schools would be forced to close.

* * *

The governor's plan has been approved 19-12 by his all-legislator study commission. At his urging, the commission has abandoned one of its earlier recommendations—a pupil assignment plan under which students could be assigned to schools on various grounds other than race.

* * *

Though the governor's program seemed certain to run into stiff opposition, it has gained the vastly important support of Sen. Byrd (D-Va), head of the state's conservative Democratic organization. Byrd over the past weekend counseled the assembly to "hold fast" the South's line against racial integration by adopting the Stanley proposal.

Cadillac

The Right Decision–at the Right Time!

He has just decided to make the move to Cadillac!

This, to be sure, is cause for great satisfaction in itself. For the wisdom of selecting Cadillac is undeniable. In beauty, in luxury, in performance, in everything that makes a motor car good and wonderful—Cadillac stands uniquely alone.

But not only does this gentleman know he has made the wisest possible choice of a motor car—he knows that he has made it at the wisest possible time.

For coming, as he did, at this season of the year, he was able to take advantage of some very favorable circumstances.

To begin with, he will be able to obtain delivery of his Cadillac after only the shortest waiting period. In fact, it is entirely possible that he will actually be able to drive home the model of his choice.

And, even more importantly, he discovered that Cadillac ownership has become more attractive and economical than ever before. Because of low used-car inventory—and as a result of an effort to broaden the base of Cadillac ownership—it is currently possible to receive an unusually generous trade-in allowance.

Little wonder, then, that this gentleman looks so pleased and happy—just as we know you will when you get the full, wonderful facts about Cadillac today!

In fact, we should like to suggest that you come in and hear them for yourself.

Medical Team Reports Success Against Killer With New Method

BOSTON (AP)—Radiation treatment "tailored" more carefully than a new suit of clothes can boost human chances against chronic leukemia, a medical team reported today.

* * *

The rdiation is either X-rays or injections of radioactive phosphorus but the doses are tailored to each individual patient, and given regularly even when the person appears doing well.

Leukemia is a form of cancer of the blood, marked by an excess of white blood cells. The chronic form does not progress as fast as acute leukemia.

* * *

The measured doses of radiation promise to double the survival time in chronic leukemia, compared with using a generalized average dose of radiation, said Drs. E. E. Osgood, A. J. Seaman and R.D. Koler of Portland, Ore.

Dr. Osgood spoke at the opening of the Congress of the International Society of Hematology, attended by hundreds of blood specialists from 40 nations.

* * *

Among 100 patients started on this treatment, half have survived more than five years after their disease began. Many have continued regular jobs and recreation, including such strenuous activities as logging and elk-hunting, Dr. Osgood said.

The radiation dose and timing are set by observing each individual's reaction. Then patients take the treatments once every 4 to 12 weeks. The goal is to get them in ideal condition and keep them there, like maintaining a diabetic on insulin, Dr. Osgood said.

Democrats Appoint Public Affairs Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel C. Brightman, director of publicity for the Democratic National Committee since 1952, was named today to serve also as director of public affairs.

In the latter post, Brightman will take over duties formerly handled by Deputy Chairman Clayton W. Fritchey, who is serving as press secretary to Adlai Stevenson, the party's presidential nominee.

National Chairman Paul M. Butler, announcing Brightman's appointment, said he will continue in the publicity post in addition to his new duties. Brightman is a former Washington correspondent for the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Bob Considine Says:

Cleaning Out the Convention Waste Basket

Tom Dewey had such an impact on delegates that one approached him at a little private reception given by Vice President Nixon, wrung his hand, and said, "Gosh, I wish you'd come back to politics."

"Not on your life," he said. "I'm making too much money."

Nevertheless, Dewey will be asked to handle some of the heavy bombardment during the campaign. Nixon will carry the brunt of that job and take most of the beating the Democrats dish out. The "new Dewey" will be called upon to help him out from time to time. The retired defeated champion of the party still packs a wallop. He is much more relaxed than when he was in the thick of political things. There's no telling how far he would have gone if in 1944 and 1948 he had what he's got today.

It was the President's idea to attend the mayor's reception during the convention. Several aides tried to talk him out of it but the President said, "It seems to me that somebody has to get around to thanking the people of San Francisco for being so nice to us, and that somebody is me."

The convention lasted until nine that night, instead of the scheduled seven. Hundreds of guests at the mayor's reception either couldn't get downtown in time, or, once there, couldn't dine and dress in time. Fifteen minutes before the President's arrival, Jim Hagerty's phone rang at the St. Francis. It was a call from a distressed friend at the reception.

Jim said, "Wait a minute, I'll tell the boss."

He went into the President's suite and emerged almost at once.

"The President will be there in 15 minutes," Jim said into the phone.

A wonderfully good-natured souse, hanging precariously from the runningboard of a cable car, livened up the scene in front of the St. Francis just before Ike arrived. The street was so jammed the cable car had to stop right in front of the hotel. A path had been hacked in anticipation of the arrival of the President.

The drunk, teetering back and forth on the cable car's step, suddenly bawled, "All the way with Adlai . . . good old Adlai Washishname."

A group of elderly Republicans, dressed like Uncle Sam and led by three gaffers depicting the "Spirit of '76," fife-and-drummed around the lobby of the Fairmont Hotel one day during the convention.

"Here comes the progressive wing of the Grand Old Party," a dedicated Democrat observed. Then, as the old fellows marched by, he yelled, "Beat Cleveland! He was a bad mayor and he'll make a worse president."

The convention's tenderest moment came as the balloon barrage was cleared away from smothered reporters, the last acclaim had been sounded, the lost hand clasped or waved, and Ike stepped up to accept. Suddenly, tears filled Mamie Eisenhower's eyes. Her fellow had come a long way to reach this point—all the way from last September and the little bedroom in her mother's home in Denver; all the way from last June and the brightly lighted operating room at Walter Reed. The mist in Mamie's eyes was a measure of that mileage.

Peron Mansion to Fall, Hint Same for New Regime

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The revolutionaries who helped oust Juan D. Peron are going to tear down the presidential mansion where he lived in splendor.

Determined Dick Nixon, Easy-Going Estes Kefauver Have Many Things in Common

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Staff Writer

If Vice President Nixon and his Democratic opponent, Sen. Estes Kefauver, were to meet in a public debate, you would see two apparently very different men.

Nixon is dark, carefully dressed, carefully groomed, an effortless speaker, obviously intelligent.

Kefauver is big, sandy-haired, often rumpled, slow of speech, with the expression of an absent-minded owl.

* * *

By contrast, Kefauver seems perpetually relaxed, easy-moving, a man taking little more than a neighborly interest in the proceedings.

* * *

But looks are deceiving.

* * *

Kefauver has a political background. His father, Robert Cooke Kefauver, 86, was four times mayor of Madisonville, Tenn., the senator's birthplace.

Nixon's father was a streetcar conductor and citrus grower in Yorba Linda, Calif., but the vice president, while he was studying law at Duke University, already was interested in a political career and getting advice about it.

* * *

To a considerable degree, each is a one-man operator, making his own decisions without a brain trust or intimate advisors.

Each has an attractive wife and family—Kefauver three daughters, Nixon two—and the invaluable advantages that accrue from this.

"In her way," said a man who knows the Nixons well, "Pat Nixon is as smart as her husband."

Pretty, Scottish-born Nancy Kefauver speaks fluent French and used it effectively when her husband was campaigning in the New England mill towns.

* * *

On the campaign trail, both Nixon and Kefauver are careful to observe the tribal rites and customs of politics.

They call on the right people—as Nixon called on the powerful New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey delegations soon after he reached San Francisco the other day.

* * *

And they say the right things—as for example, Kefauver's graceful compliments to New Jersey's Gov. Robert Meyner at a Democratic dinner in Asbury Park after Meyner had beaten him in the state primary election.

They both keep posted on the smallest details of local politics. Chances are if either man came to your city tonight he could tell you who is what in local politics and why.

With the press, both men are affable but guarded. Neither is likely to take a reporter into his confidence very far.

Each has the priceless ability to "think on his feet," that is, to turn the unexpected to his advantage.

In 1952, for example, a heckler in Oregon suddenly bellowed during a Nixon speech: "Tell us about the fund, Dick." He was referring to the $18,235 donations from Nixon's friends in California, which came to light during the presidential campaign.

People nearby grabbed the heckler and started to heave him out of the hall. Nixon stopped them.

He digressed neatly to the topic of freedom of speech, said the man had a right to question him—and then went on to say he had not spent a penny of the fund for his personal use.

Similarly, in New Hampshire—where a French name can be a genuine political asset — a reporter asked Kefauver if he was circulating reports claiming he is of French ancestry.

The senator looked pained. He said, "Why, I just don't believe in emphasizing nationality or race, or trying to win votes by appealing to minority groups." But he added that he would like to think his family name had French connections.

And both Nixon and Kefauver have taken long political gambles.

The senator roused the wrath of the Southern states some years ago by voting affirmatively on cloture, — a rule that would limit debate in the Senate and thus prevent filibustering.

He has fashioned a record as a liberal and this risky move fitted in with the record.

* * *

He also took a chance in 1952 when he entered several presidential primaries before President Truman announced that he was not a candidate for re-election.

An even longer gamble than those, however, was Nixon's television appearance, during the 1952 campaign, to tell a national audience what he had been telling local audiences about that $18,000 fund.

He talked with immense earnestness, again asserting he had not used the money for himself. Meanwhile, the cameras showed his pretty wife sitting nearby. And there was a sad-eyed spaniel, Checkers, on the floor. Nixon tied in his own story with a top campaign issue then — the GOP jibes about mink coats and corruption in Washington.

* * *

He said his wife had only "a Republican cloth coat."

It was all highly charged with emotion, and it could easily have back fired. But it didn't. Nixon staked everything on a dangerous maneuver and won.

Kefauver, 53, is 10 years older than Nixon. He came to Congress in 1939. Nixon was elected in 1946. Both soon went after seats in the Senate and won.

Kefauver has a dry, natural humor. Nixon's little sallies, when he tries them, are planned.

* * *

Kefauver is, too — but he doesn't show it.

Ike Most Popular Man in World — Summerfield

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — A 27-year-old bank teller and part-time minister charged with illegally drawing $21,000 from a customer's bank account is quoted by arresting officers as declaring he spent it on his family and to help a few friends in need.

* * *

Drodge was employed by the First National Bank of Morgantown, W.Va. Fisher claims Drodge tapped his account several times and that it now is short $21,000.

Justice of the Peace Earl H. Fulton said Drodge admitted taking some money and declared: "I don't know how it happened. I was handling so much money in the bank. I was one man there—then, when I got home, I was another."

* * *

Sheriff Thomas Boyd said Drodge told him he didn't spend the money on "wine, women or song." The sheriff said Drodge added:

"I gave some of it to people I knew needed it badly. I always figured I'd pay it back. I spent some money on improving our home."

Drodge is married and has a 4-year-old child. His wife, who is expecting, has a six-year-old child by a previous marriage.

Boyd said Drodge told him he took the money "little by little" in the past two years. He was employed by the bank about 2½ years ago.

Drodge, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, has been an assistant pastor at a Morgantown Methodist Church. Prior to his bank employment he served three small churches in this area as a regular pastor.

Shanty Out to Clinch Harmsworth Today

DETROIT (AP) — A powerful, low-riding speedboat, probably the fastest ever to compete on American waters, was favored today to take a second and deciding heat in defense of the historic Harmsworth Trophy.

The craft, Shanty I, owned by William T. Waggoner of Vernon, Tex., and piloted by Lt. Col. Russell Schleeh of the U.S. Air Force, had speed to spare when she took the first 35-mile heat Saturday. Two miles astern at the finish was the Canadian challenger Miss Supertest, owned by J. Gordon Thompson, of London, Ont., and driven by Bill Braden, a Hamilton, Ont., traction company executive.

Miss Supertest enters today's race with a new propeller and major changes in her balance. Braden complained he had trouble "staying on the throttle" Saturday because the more than 7,000-pound craft "was out of the water too much."

The defender, entered from the Seattle Yacht Club, has topped 150 miles an hour in straightaway runs. The Canadian boat is credited with having done nearly 155 miles per hour in Canadian waters.

* * *

Experts who saw her perform Saturday said Miss Supertest undoubtedly was handicapped by frequent replacement of her engine. This was necessitated by a series of mishaps.

Her 3,000 horsepower Rolls Royce engine had been removed several times during a week of preliminary testing before the first heat. The power plant in Saturday's initial heat had been in the boat less than 24 hours.

Despite this and the lack of shakedown trials, Braden shot Miss Supertest across the staring line six seconds ahead of the defender. He quickly lost this advantage, however, as the engine sputtered briefly.

Shanty overtook the challenger within the first mile of the race and remained in front thereafter. Her average speed for the 35 miles was 94.882 M.P.H. Her fastest lap was 98.784 M.P.H. during the first time around. The Canadian boat covered the course at the rate of 89.313 M.P.H. Her best lap, the seventh and last, was at 91.976 M.P.H.

* * *

The record for the Harmsworth was set on the Detroit River six years ago by Lou Fageol of Kent, Ohio. He drove another west coast boat, Stanley Sayres' Slo-Mo-Shun IV to a lap mark of 102.676 M.P.H. and a race mark of 100.181.

Today's second heat is scheduled to start at 5:30 p.m. (EST). The trophy symbolizes the world championship for unlimited class boats.

* * *

Should Miss Supertest win the second heat—either by outracing the defender or because of Shanty's inability to finish—a third heat will be scheduled for tomorrow at the same hour.

Buhl Handcuffs Brooks; Wynn Wins for Indians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sometime last winter or last spring, Bob Buhl added something to his pitching habits. Maybe it was better control. Or a luck charm. Whatever it was, it may mean a long-sought pennant for Milwaukee's Braves.

* * *

The 28-year-old righthander never had won more than 13 games in any of his three seasons in the majors, and in eight decisions against Brooklyn he won only three in the three years. Now he has 16 successes packed away this season—and seven of 'em have been over the world champion Dodgers.

* * *

Buhl nailed the Brooks for the seventh time without defeat 6-2 yesterday, hoisting the Braves into a three-game National League lead over the Dodgers. It also gave Milwaukee a 4½-game spread over third-place Cincinnati, which defeated Philadelphia 10-5, then lost 11-4 for a doubleheader split.

Fourth-place St. Louis and New York also split, the Cards breaking the Giants' winning streak at five games 4-3, then losing their own five-game streak by the same score. Pittsburgh took two from the Chicago Cubs as Bob Friend won his 15th with a four-hitter 2-0, then came back for 1 1-3 innings of hitless relief to save a 2-1 nightcap decision.

* * *

In the American, Tom Sturdivant gave Detroit just six hits and the Tigers chipped in with five errors as the New York Yankees won 7-0, but the Bengals then took the nightcap 5-4. The split left the Yankees with a 7½-game lead over Cleveland, which defeated Washington 4-1 on Early Wynn's 15th-victory four-hitter. The Chicago White Sox split with Baltimore, losing 8-1 and winning 5-1. And Boston split with Kansas City, losing 7-6 in 10 innings after winning 2-1.

* * *

Buhl, who gave seven hits and six walks but didn't lose his shutout until Sandy Amoros slugged a pinch two-run homer in the ninth was backed up by Hank Aaron's 20th homer and Johnny Logan's 12th. Roger Craig lost it for a 12-9 record.

Beat Yanks, 5-4; Lose 7-0

Tigers Split Twinbill

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Tigers may be in 5th place but they are evidently a big attraction for New York baseball fans.

A throng of 52,808, the biggest crowd to watch the Bengals perform this year, saw the Yankees take a 7-0 count from Detroit in an opener and drop the nightcap, 5-4, yesterday.

* * *

If they came to watch home runs by Mickey Mantle, they were disappointed. Mantle had a double and single in each game—a performance which didn't make the Tigers unhappy.

The Detroiters don't play today. They move into Boston tomorrow for a two-game stand against the Red Sox.

* * *

The split with New York yesterday gave the Tigers an 11-9 record against the American League leaders, an average unmatched by any other club in the circuit.

Detroit scored all five runs in the 3rd inning of the final game and then sweated out the power-packed Yankees for six innings. Steve Gromek got the victory although he was pulled in the 9th after giving up 11 hits.

The 3rd inning breakaway got started on a single by Bob Wilson, a walk to Gromek and an RBI double by Harvey Kuenn. When Don Larsen came in to relieve starter Maury McDermott, the Tigers continued with singles by Jack Phillips and Ray Boone.

* * *

An error and a walk netted three more runs and Bill Tuttle's sacrifice fly scored the final tally before Bob Grim, the 3rd of five Yankee pitchers, retired the side.

Tommy Byrne, the final Yankee pitcher, homered in the eighth. New York had scored twice in the second inning and once in the third.

The first tiger setback was charged to Paul Foytack, now 10-11. New York righthander Tom Sturdivant scattered six hits and struck out eight in picking up his 13th win.

Quarterback Question

'Skins Bow to 49ers, 20-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Washington Redskins, if they hadn't realized it before, today became acutely aware of the value of an experienced quarterback like Eddie Le Baron.

Until they went up against the San Francisco 49ers yesterday in a National Football League exhibition game, the 'Skins hadn't been shut out in three years. In fact, their last whitewashing was at the hands of the same Frisco team.

* * *

Both Le Baron and Al Dorow, the other seasoned Washington quarterback, are nursing injuries and rookie Don Bailey wasn't up to the task of directing the attack. The result was a 20-0 victory for the 49ers.

* * *

Joe Perry, starting his ninth season in professional football, scored 14 points on a pair of field goals, a touchdown and two conversions. Joe Arenas scored the other Frisco touchdown.

Three exhibitions were played Saturday night. The Chicago Cardinals downed the Detroit Lions, 20-17; the Green Bay Packers whipped the New York Giants, 17-13, and the Baltimore Colts coasted to a 37-16 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

* * *

The Cards-Lions game was close and it wasn't until two minutes before the end that Ollie Matson bucked over for the winning score.

Although the Packers had offensive aces Howie Ferguson and Billy Howton sidelined with injuries, they uncovered a talented replacement in rookie Bart Starr of Alabama, who scored what proved to be the winning touchdown and connected with a 31-yard pass during a scoring drive.

Drug Nine Wins Regional Crown

Keith's 6-0 Shutout Makes Up for Club's Earlier Loss

A very happy Drayton Drug softball club returned home last night from Owosso where it had earlier staged a come-from-behind battle to win the MSA regional title in Class C.

Drayton was edged, 2-1, by Flint Jay-Jey Bar in an afternoon game. The suburban club then returned to action at 7 p.m. for the finale. With Harlan (Fat) Keith hurling a near no-hitter Drug shut out the Flint crew 6-0 for the title. Drug now goes to Coldwater on Friday night to try for a state crown.

Keith had a no-hit no-run game going up to the 7th, when Flint put over a single blow.

Drug collected its winning runs in the 2nd and 3rd frames. Keith got a single, Stu Hutchinson a triple, Cecil Hanes a double and Marsh Rose a triple in the hitting blast that accounted for four runs.

In the afternoon contest Flint got its runs early, while Drug also counted its lone run in the 1st. Hutchinson beat out a bunt and scored on Jerry Hesse's single.

Foote Is Victor in WJGA Finale

ANN ARBOR—Playing even par to the end of the finals match, Saturday, for Western Golf Association's junior title, Dick Foote of Santa Ana, Calif., defeated Deane Beman of Minneapolis, Minn. 3 and 1.

Match ended on the 35th hole where Beman conceded after a poor recovery from a shaky tee shot. Beman had hung on doggedly until the fourth hole of the second round, when Foote broke the ice and retained the edge rest of the way in.

Just a Spectator

Release Shocks Rizzuto

HILLSIDE, N.J. (AP) — For 16 years nimble shortstop Phil Rizzuto was a center of attraction wherever the New York Yankees played. But today he was just another spectator, watching his former teammates on television.

* * *

The Scooter, at his Hillside home, watched on the TV screen as the Yankees split a doubleheader with Detroit Sunday. He told newsmen he was "shocked" when his unconditional release was announced by team management Saturday.

* * *

He said it would be "foolish" for him to rejoin the Yankees after Sept. 1 when the 25-player limit ends, as officials offered.

However, the 1950 American League's most valuable player said he would "consider" a job with another club if it was the right offer."

But first he's going to meet with television representatives tomorrow to discuss a possible job as announcer of the Baltimore Orioles games.

And after that, Rizzuto, 38, said he's going to do something he hasn't done in 20 years—take a summer vacation.

Ned Lilly Breaks 98 of 100 in Twin Event

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Ned Lilly of Stanton, Mich., has repeated the doubles victory he won nearly 20 years ago in the Grand American Trapshoot.

Hamtramck Pony Team Is Close to Elimination

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Evanston's defending champions moved into the finals of the Colt League World Series yesterday and waited today to see what team would provide the opposition.

Evanston defeated Key West, Fla., 10-1.

Hamtramck, Mich., beat Riverside, Calif., 10-2, and Austin, Tex., bounced Marion, Ohio, 16-2. Greenville, S.C., held a 4-2 lead over Hamtramck in a game that was called because of darkness after 5½ innings. The curtailed game will be completed today.

Non-Pro Champs Sidelined by Midland, Pa. 9

WICHITA (AP)—The long National Non-Pro baseball tournament went into its 11th day today with the defending champions on the sidelines.

The upstart Midland, Pa., Crucible Steels rattled across eight runs in the ninth inning for an 11-8 win that knocked the Wichita Boeing Bombers, 1955 titlists, out of the double-elimination affair yesterday.

The Richmond, Va., Glendales eliminated the Albuquerque, N.M., Rio Grandes 7-5. The Huntsville, Ala., Parkers eliminated the Jasper, Tex., Steers 8-7.

225-Pound Housewife Leads Trials

Record Seen for Women's Shotput

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Earlene Brown, the new American women's record holder in both the shotput and the discus, blandly predicted today that she will toss the shot 60 feet.

This, to the gals, is akin to a 70-footer for men. It has been called impossible and even the Moscow musclewomen haven't dared dream of it. One Galina Zybina, pride and joy of the Kremlin, has a record throw of 54-8½ pending.

"Oh, I don't say I'll do it this year," said Mrs. Brown, a 226-pound mother of a 9-month-old son. "But give me a year or two, and I think I can get off a 60-footer."

The women's shot, incidentally, weighs 8 pounds, 15 ounces compared to the standard men's iron ball of 16 pounds.

That doesn't detract from Mrs. Brown's new American record of 46-9½, which she set in the Olympic Trials here Saturday, though. Only four girls have done better than 50 feet and they all are Russians. To be exact, Mrs. Brown's toss was the 15th best ever in women's competition.

In the qualifying round of the Olympic Tryouts, she saw Lois Testa of Providence, R.I., break the mark with a 45-6¾ heave. At that time, though, she was concentrating on the discus and proceeded to shatter the American record, just a week old, with a 145-4½ effort. World record here is 187-1½, so she's way down.

* * *

Miss Faggs Selected

Mrs. Brown, of course, was chosen for both the shot and discus for the Olympics. Mae Faggs, a veteran of the '48 and '52 games, was the only other competitor picked for two events, the 100-the 200 in 24.2 and was second to Isabelle Daniels in the 100. Miss Daniels was caught in 12 seconds flat.

Jaycee Meet Won in Playoff Round

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Jack Rule of Waterloo, Iowa, displayed a spectacular touch with his irons yesterday to defeat Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, by two strokes in an 18-hole playoff for the Jaycee Junior International golf tournament championship.

Rule, 17, holed out a 30-yard chip shot for an eagle-three on the 490-yard 14th and his first lead in the medal play extra round.

On the game hole, Nicklaus, winner of the Ohio Open championship three weeks ago, put his second shot near Rule's, but then chipped short and two-putted for par.

GMC Girls Sidelined, 8-7

A valiant five-run rally in the 7th inning was not enough as GMC bowed to Ford of Port Huron, 8-7, in the finals of the girls' Class C regional softball tournament Saturday afternoon at Owosso.

The GMC girls smacked a total of 14 hits, twice as many as Port Huron, and lashed out with half a dozen safeties during their desperate last-ditch uprising, but still fell one run short of catching the opposition. Maxine DeLorge pitched all the way for the Pontiac team.

GMC collected 51 hits in 110 times at bat and scored 44 runs in the Owosso tourney, yet dropped two of three decisions. Five home runs were clouted by the local squad, three of them with the bases full.

Ohioan Wins 15-Mile National Bike Race

Jack Gholson of Houston was 2nd, Babe Demay of Rock Island, Ill., 3rd, Bob Zwarka of Dearborn, Mich., 4th, and Pat McHenry of Harvey, Ill., 5th.

Boros Listed Top Contender in Motor City

Detroit Tourney Gets Started Thursday With Purse of $20,000

DETROIT (INS) — One of the top contenders in the $20,000 Motor City Open, which opens Thursday at the Western Golf and Country Club, will be Julius Boros.

Boros, a soft-spoken New Englander, is a solid and consistent shotmaker who never wavers under the tension of tournament competition. He has that rare knack of overcoming the toughest obstacles.

Boros is a true professional in that he ranks with the highest money-winners every year. In 1955, he led the PGA's money winners with a whopping $63,000.

When the chips were down, Boros came through for the big prize—which included the $50,000 world championship at Tam O'Shanter and an additional $50,000 for exhibitions.

This was Boros' second triumph in the world championship meet. He won the title in 1952, when he beat Cary Middlecoff in a playoff, 68-70. The top prize then was worth $25,000.

Boros also won the National Open and was acclaimed as the PGA golfer of the year in 1952. He was also the PGA's leading money-winner in 1952.

* * *

Although Julius hasn't done too well in past Motor City Opens, he may become attracted to the winner's share of the $20,000 purse—the biggest in the history of this event.

Takes Hefty Bluegill

Biggest bluegill of the season for J. H. Ashton, new resident of Elizabeth Lake (4400 Cass-Elizabeth Lake road) was the 9-incher he landed Saturday morning on the southwest part of Elizabeth Lake. Mrs. (Esther) Ashton was with Ashton when he hooked the big 'gill. She took one a half inch smaller. "I'm going right back and get a bigger one," Ashton said when he found his prize was too light to qualify for The Pontiac Press "big fish derby."

Lions Not Upset Over 20-17 Setback

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Coach Buddy Parker isn't too upset by the 20-17 setback his Detroit Lions took Saturday night from the Chicago Cardinals.

"We used a lot of players and some of them made mistakes," he explained. "If we had stuck to the veterans and really wanted to win the game, I think we could have done it easily."

Although the Lions outgained the Cardinals by nearly 100 yards Saturday at Mobile, Parker said his biggest satisfaction of the losing contest was the passing of Bobby Layne.

* * *

The Mobile game put four Cards out of action, one of them indefinitely. Most seriously hurt was rookie tackle Bob Lovely, who suffered a spinal injury.

Veteran ends Max Boydston and Gern Nagler were sidelined with knee and ankle injuries. Rookie tackle Gordon Brown also hurt an ankle.

* * *

The Cards came from behind to score the winning touchdown with less than two minutes to play. A 36-yard pass play brought the ball into position and Ollie Matson carried three yards for the winning TD.

* * *

The Lions, trailing 13-0 at the half, put all their scoring punch into the final periods. McIlhenny tallied the first with a six-yard drive and in the third quarter Howard (Hopalong) Cassady roamed 11 yards for the other touchdown in the fourth.

Jim Martin, who had kicked both extra points, put Detroit ahead 17-13 with a 12-yard field goal in the final period.

The pass play which put Chicago in position for the winning score was from Lamar McHan to Johnny Olszewski, who lateralled to Dick McPhee. McPhee was run out of bounds on the Detroit three-yard line.

Player Carries Out Assignment as Father Dies

He led his team to the town Little League championship, striking out five and collecting three hits in a 13-3 victory.

Allen's father died yesterday morning. He had told his son to carry out his baseball assignment.

Hungarian Joins Elite Mile List With 3:59 Dash

BUDAPEST (INS)—Hungary's Istvan Rozsavoelgyi is the tenth man to join the growing list of runners who have broken the once invincible four-minute-mile barrier.

Rozsavoelgyi made a special attempt to crack Australian John Landy's world record Sunday but his 3:59 clocking fell one second short of Landy's mark. It equalled the Hungarian mile record, however, of Laszlo Tabori.

Coachers Dump Durand Twice, 8-0, 4-2

Unbeaten General Motors, which rolled unchallenged through a 24-game slate to win the city Class A baseball championship, gave Durand the same harsh treatment Sunday afternoon.

Durand, Tri-County League champion, was rudely brushed aside yesterday as GMC qualified for the Michigan baseball tournament. The Coachers swept both ends of a doubleheader on the Durand diamond, 8-0 and 4-2.

Nearly everyone got into the act in the opening game. Pitcher Warren Hagyard hurled a sparkling three-hit shutout while receiving lusty support from his mates. The Coachers pounded out 16 hits, three apiece by Judge Booker and Terry Thomas, Jerry Dorr, Gene Cox, Wes Roberts, Dave Kringe and Bob Swindell each made two.

Dick Goldsworthy was credited with the victory in the nightcap, although he was relieved by Steve Kebler in the 8th inning. The two hurlers gave up six blows.

Catcher George Gary cracked two safeties and drove in two runs for GMC and Cox picked up three hits. Durand's two counters came in the 6th stanza when Tom Bammel blasted a home run with one man aboard.

The state tourney, sponsored by the American Amateur Baseball Congress, opens Friday and continues through Labor Day at Battle Creek.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Trap trouble

DIAGNOSIS: Hitting too far ahead

TREATMENT: Getting the ball out of sand requires an explosion shot that must be exactly what the term implies. In order to explode the ball, three factors must be emphasized. They are proper address of ball, left arm control, and hitting behind the ball.

That's the three-point package. If you follow the formula, you'll soon be getting out of the sand excellently. Actually the shot isn't difficult because it gives more room for error than others in that it is necessary only to hit the sand, not the ball.

It's a matter of getting properly positioned, first of all, and the sketch shows the address for an ordinary shot. Notice that the ball is approximately in line with the left heel, the club face is slightly opened so that the cutting blade (sole) will knife easily into and through the sand. Notice also that the hands are a little ahead of the clubhead, and this is important, because in this way you'll feel the left arm in complete control.

The grip must be firm. Feel that the middle, third, and little fingers of the left hand are especially firm, and don't release them a mite during the swing. The left arm pulls downward into the sand, anywhere from an inch to three inches behind the ball, depending on how much distance is needed. Use an open stance, the right foot nearer the ball. And swing through all the way. Checking at the ball is fatal. It'll be a sure fizzle.

Mike's Birdies Bring Victory

Souchak Corrects Flaw in Putting to Capture St. Paul Open

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The nation's touring golf pros headed for Detroit today with Mike Souchak's sensational sixth straight birdie finish in the St. Paul Open still a topic of conversation.

Souchak, on the putting green trying to find the trouble after three rounds of 70, 69, 70 in which he was missing putts all over Keller's greens, found he had opened his stance, and immediately closed it. He went out and knocked in 11 birdies, six on the last six holes, to win.

He finished one shot in front of Jerry Barber of Los Angeles.

Aussies Win Doubles

Davis Cup Hopes Sagging

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—United States' hopes to regain the coveted Davis Cup from Australia sagged today as Aussies Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall returned the National doubles tennis title to the country "down under" for the fifth time since 1949.

* * *

Hoad and Rosewall, 21-year-old aces of the Australian team, jolted even the most optimistic U.S. tennis followers by their easy triumph over Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson, America's top players, in the finals of the 75th national doubles tournament yesterday at Longwood.

The United States is expected to sweep past Italy and India for the right to challenge Australia for the Davis Cup in December.

Even Harry Hopman, captain of the Australian Davis Cup team who is reserved in praise for his players, was greatly impressed by Hoad and Rosewall's 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, triumph.

Rangers Win, 8-4

Initiate Cooley Polo Site

Young Jack Stefani, now in the U.S. Army, showed the Ivory Polo Rangers he hasn't lost the knack of playing the game yesterday when he fired four goals to lead the Rangers to an 8-4 win over the Pontiac Chiefs at the new Cooley Lake polo field.

* * *

Stefani, who teamed with Jack Ivory, Mac Stefani and Mike Wacker for the Rangers, scored in the first chukker and got three straight goals in the third period including a long 70-yarder.

It was 7-1 at the half. Davey Williams of Bloomfield Hills scored two quick goals within a minute in the fifth chukker and Roy Pulver added the final goal in the last stanza for the Chiefs.

Barbers Clip Age Limit for State Tourney

Even before they start play in the first annual Michigan Barbers' Golf Championship, the tonsorial boys are doing some clipping. Today, for instance, says Perc Secord, "we're cutting down the age limits in hopes of boosting the size of the field. Instead of limiting senior championship play to a 50 year mark, it now has been moved down to 40."

Change in the limit permits the entrance of Royal Oak's Jack Devereaus, 46, reputedly a sharp performer, says Secord. "But the fellow all Oakland County shooters are aiming at is Jack Gundry of Birmingham, former county champion. He's the big target." Everett Arthurs is defending titlist.

Secord put the field for this first state event at Glen Oaks, on Aug. 29, at about 20. The 18-hole medal play test was originally set for Aug. 1.

School Officials Reveal Schedules for Students

Brandon Township Leads for School Opening Date

With the first county schools opening Wednesday, Aug. 29, in Brandon Township, area school officials are giving last minute reminders of opening dates, conferences and bus schedules.

Rochester

Supt. of Rochester Community Schools, Donald C. Baldwin, has announced that the staff of teachers for the school system will be complete within a few days. The staff will report for a pre-opening conference Sept. 4.

Among changes made in the staff is the promotion of Roger Seager who has been with the school system seven years. Seager will be the principal of the Junior High School with offices in the former high school. Harlan Johnson who had offices in the Central High School building will be principal of the new high school building at Walton and Livernois roads.

Charles Shoch who has been a sixth grade teacher in Brooklands has been promoted to principal for Harrison-Central School. Shoch is a graduate of Western Michigan College. He and his wife and two children live at 145 Nevada St.

Class rooms are practically complete at the new high school and the furnishings are being delivered this week. It is expected that everything will be in readiness for the opening of school on Sept. 10, according to Supt. D. C. Baldwin.

Lake Orion

Schools of the Lake Orion Community Consolidation will begin a first full day on Thursday, Sept. 6, except for kindergarten which starts Sept. 10.

Seventeen buses will pick up the students on Thursday, and cafeterias at Blanche Sims, Webber, and the High School will be in operation.

Starting times for the five schools are as follows: Blanche Sims, Carpenter, and Proper Elementary schools, 9 a.m.; Webber Elementary 8:45 a.m.; and the high school at 8:30 a.m.

Vandals Destroy $30,000 Home

Smash Windows, Hack Walls in 16-Room Southfield House

Oakland County detectives and police from Southfield Township were tracing all clues and checking fingerprints today after learning of the complete destruction of a $30,000 vacant house by vandals in that Township.

The 16-room, two-story house was called a complete loss by Mrs. Fred F. Riedel of Southhfield Township after discovering the destruction Sunday. The vandalism was believed to have taken place early last week.

"It cannot be fixed, it will have to be torn down," said Mrs. Riedel after finding the home destroyed. She said windows had been smashed, doors and walls hacked to pieces, and everything wrecked.

The house is located at 20500 10½ Mile Rd., near Northwestern. The Riedels purchased the structure in April with the intention of moving it to 12-Mile road as an addition to a children's home they operate there.

The movement of the home had been held up due to a mixup in the ownership of the land, according to Mrs. Riedel.

GROWS SCHOOL DECOR — Ralph Tracy, shown transplanting some small "dime store" plants into a large jardiniere, grows his plants for students to view. Busy now readying the Daniel Whitfield School on Orchard Lake road, he takes time out to do replanting and arranging of the plants as his son, Larry, an Isaac E. Crary school student, watches.

Grows School Hall Decoration

When school opens soon, a strip of gay red plants will edge the gabled building's entrance, and much-varied arrangements of plants will break expanses of space within the building.

Using inexpensive plants which he or the principal, Margaret Luther purchases, he grows plants that would sell at sometimes ten times the original cost.

Pointing to a huge white jardiniere filled with wide-leafed plants, he says, "I bought those four plants at the five and ten cent store for thirty cents apiece and ones large as those are now would cost about a dollar each."

"It's a hobby with me," he says. "I learned a lot of it at a Michigan State University course three years ago, and a lot more just trying out new ways."

As several other engineers do in the Pontiac school system, he grows the plants for entrance ways, landings, or window boxes to relieve the cold lines of the modern schools.

A lemon tree that grew from small slips is one of his prizes. In front of the school that overlooks Orchard Lake Road at the borderline between Pontiac and Sylvan Lake, grows a row of brilliant red blooms. "They'll welcome the kids back to school," he says.

He heads the janitorial staff that includes a full-time night man, and a part-time bus driver and maintenance man. In his ninth year in the work, he has held the engineers post for two years.

Remodeling Old Schools Erases Signs of Country

METAMORA — The day of the little country schoolhouse is really passing, as is evidenced in Metamora township by the sale of schoolhouses.

Some time ago the Blood schoolhouse was sold and the present owner, E. F. Lamb, has painted it red, so that it may not be forgotten that it was once a school building.

However, in the days when it was in use for education it was white. Lamb uses it as rental property.

Latest schoolhouse to be sold is the Rock Valley building which has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bedford Jr. of 5444 Barber Road, Metamora.

They plan moving it to their nearby country estate and making it into a playhouse and guest house.

School had been discontinued in both of these districts, with students being sent to larger nearby schools.

Also there is the Kingbury School southeast of Metamora, now a fine private school founded by the late Carlton M. Higbie and Mrs. Higbie.

This was an old abandoned building, which has been remodeled into a fine modern structure serving those of the community wishing private instruction for their children, rather than our public schools.

A new addition is to be built at once which will provide for handling up to 48 students.

New Curfew Finds Trouble Abating

TROY — With a new stick to shake at troublesome teenagers, Troy city officials suddenly found this week that their youth seemingly had straightened out.

City Clerk Lawson Lockhardt said yesterday afternoon that the police had earlier been reporting many high school and junior high youngsters on the streets at night.

But with the newly-effective curfew, very few were in evidence, he said.

He said that trouble earlier had caused passage of the new ordinance, which was approved in final hearing Monday.

He did not believe the curfew was cause of the let-up of nighttime youth delinquency, but indicated that police would enforce it closely.

The new law calls for youngsters under 17 to not be on streets, unless with parents or guardians, from 10:30 p.m. to 5 a.m.

Heart Toll Up in Women Over 50

WASHINGTON (INS) — Medical researchers say women now are making up a large share of the nation's death toll from heart disease.

* * *

While the female death rate doesn't yet approach the male rate, its upward curve after age 50 has given science a tip on answering two important questions:

Why do females live longer than males?

For some time now, it has been known women are hardier than men. Latest figures of the National Office of Vital statistics show 210,000 more men die each year than women.

Dr. I. M. Moriyama of the office cites two main factors to account for this discrepancy—male deaths due to violence (accidents, suicides, homicides) and male deaths due to heart disease.

HEARTS TAKE HALF

Almost half the 210,000 male deaths can be accounted for by arteriosclerotic heart disease — some 104,000 cases in 1955 according to Moriyama.

This suggests a fundamental, inborn biological difference rather than childhood training. A simple explanation of arteriosclerosis and what a heart attack is makes this clear.

Arteriosclerosis means the hardening or clogging of the arteries. This goes on slowly and progressively, until the normally elastic channels are so narrowed that a blood clot blocks the passage. When this happens in the heart's arteries it is called a coronary thrombosis—or a heart attack.

* * *

Many researchers — among them Dr. Ancel Keyes of the Unisity of Minnesota—have implicated a fatty body substance called cholesterol as the cause of this arterial clogging.

It is now believed by other responsible scientists that certain female hormones act to lower the body's cholesterol levels.

ESTROGEN PROTECTS

Dr. Louis Katz of Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, and his associates have demonstrated how the female hormone estrogen can give "protection" against high cholesterol levels—and hence against coronary disease.

This explains why heart disease among women is relatively low under the age of 50; it also explains the rise after 50. Following the female menopause, women lose their hormonal "protection" against heart attacks.

Add to this fact that medical advances have eliminated many killers—which means that more women are living past the menopause than ever before—and the female heart disease increase puzzle falls into place.

* * *

However, scientists say there are possible "reversing factors" which might work to lower the female heart disease rate.

Felix Moore, chief of biometrics research at the U. S. Public Health Service's National Heart Institute, Bethesda, Md., explains these favorable factors:

"Today's woman has two things in her favor in the past-menopause period. She ususally has had fewer children than her grandmother (although more on the average than her mother) and she is more figure-conscious than ever before. Less child-bearing and less weight may mean less heart strain.

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — With one man in jail and police standing by for unexpected trouble, Clinton High School was prepared today to be the first state-supported secondary school in Tennessee to integrate.

Mrs. Tydings in Senate Race

Seeks Nod From Party to Fill Vacancy Created by Husband's Illness

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Millard E. Tydings, daughter and wife of the politically prominent, yesterday waded into a party struggle for the Democratic senatorial nomination vacated by her ill husband.

She said she had agreed to seek appointment as the nominee "to carry on the name of Tydings in November."

Mrs. Tydings, 52, is a daughter of Joseph E. Davies, former U.S. Ambassador to Russia and Belgium.

* * *

Her ex-senator husband won the senatorial nomination in primary balloting last May. He was to oppose Sen. John Marshall Butler, the Republican who ousted him from 24 years service in the Senate in 1950. It was a bitter campaign and resulted in a special Senate investigation and censure of the campaign tactics on behalf of Butler, who was strongly backed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Stricken with shingles shortly after the primary, Tydings withdrew a week ago yesterday. Mrs. Tydings announced her candidacy at the convention in Ocean City, Md., of the United Democratic Clubs of Maryland "after much prayerful consideration."

* * *

Seated on the platform was George P. Mahoney, who lost the May primary by only 6,000 votes. The Baltimore contractor has claimed the vacated nomination as his "moral right."

The 152-member state Democratic committee will meet here tonight to choose a replacement for Tydings.

Mrs. Tydings was born into politics in Watertown, Wis. Her father and grandfather made unsuccessful senatorial campaigns.

Mailman Uses Same Automobile for 22 Years

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Rural mail carrier Goston F. Dixon figures he has put more than 350,000 miles on his little 1934 model Ford coupe. He has used it for 22 of the 31 years he carried the rural mail.

* * *

Besides seven motors and many sets of tires, the car has had several new rear ends and several new transmissions.

He prefers the old model Ford for his 43-mile Rural Route 1 delivery, which he figures takes 450 starts and stops, because it is light and easy to handle. It requires only a short reach to a mailbox from the driver's seat and besides, two or three men can push it out of a mud hole or a snow drift.

New Process Makes Photoengravings Fast

NEW YORK — A method of making photoengraving plates, said to be thousands of times faster than conventional methods, has been developed by a New York concern.

* * *

It says that by employing electrostatic photography a complete lithographic plate can be made in less than a minute and a printing plate can be prepared for etching in a few minutes.

The process involves coating metal or other surfaces with inexpensive pigment for direct exposures.

Aluminum Once Rated More Costly Than Gold

BOSTON — Aluminum was once considered a precious metal, more valuable than gold. It remained that way until the French scientist, Deville, found a low-cost production method that dropped the price from $545 a pound to $17.

* * *

Commercial possibilities opened up when the price fell to $8, but even at this price the material was so valuable its American producers locked up each day's production in a safe.

Many Paintings Back in Berlin Once More

BERLIN—One of West Berlin's popular tourist attractions is the Dahlem Museum, which contains more than 500 works of art from the prewar collections of the former German capital.

Two hundred paintings, mostly Italian works from the 13th to the 18th century, and the Dutch school were returned to Berlin recently from a long exile in Wiesbaden. A new 9-room annex houses the Italian paintings.

Spreading Rumors Can Be Dangerous

Back in 1942 the Church of Christ preacher was holding a revival meeting in Bristol, Tenn.-Va. when the rumor got around that his watch was a personal gift from Adolf Hitler with code instructions engraved on the back telling how to blow up TVA dams.

Ridiculous? Well, the rumor got the Rev. Mr. Medearis arrested, anyhow. He speedily proved his innocence. The watch was a graduation present from his grandmother.

Tent Town Grew Fast

ANCHORAGE — Forty years ago, when construction of the Alaska Railroad began, a tent town sprang up between Seward and Fairbanks. Named Anchorage, this settlement now has a population of 28,500—almost three times more than any other Alaskan city, the National Geographic Society says.

Blind Children Lose Their Fear in Swim Pool

* * *

That's the fear of bumping into things, which disappears for the youngsters shouting and splashing in an indoor pool once a week.

But even more important things are accomplished in the first swimming classes ever held for blind children in Detroit. Their teacher says the classes give the youngsters "a chance for free movement to let off steam."

They move as freely as fish in the water, knowing sudden motion won't mean a bruised knee or bumped elbow from some unexpected hard object. They're learning to swim and even dive.

* * *

To appreciate the difference, teachers say you should see the blind children in school—"they are quiet and subdued and always a little afraid. But they lose that fear once they are in the water."

Kentucky Motorists Faced Snakes Alive

HYDEN, Ky. (AP)—Snakes alive, that was the trouble at Greasy Creek.

* * *

Sheriff Carl Farmer got a report a man was poking a big rattlesnake in the faces of pedestrians and motorists—reaching inside the car to wave it in the drivers face.

* * *

"People were running to the mountain, through the river, and some were leaving their cars on the road," a newspaper account said.

* * *

The sheriff said he arrested the gent—who had been drinking considerably and had parted ways with the snake.

Gecko Is Versatile

WASHINGTON — The gecko, like many other lizards, can change the color of its skin. It can also walk upside down on a smooth ceiling and climb a pane of glass, the National Geographic Society says. Its feet have catlike, retractable claws that cling to rough surfaces as well as soft pads, covered with many tiny hooks, that will grab even glass.

Paris Police Unearth Dope Ring Center

PARIS (INS) — A thriving opium sales network and two smoky opium dens were uncovered by police work in the heart of Paris.

* * *

One of the dens was in a chic section near the Champs-Elysees and the other was more modestly located in the workers' district that Maurice Chevalier used to call home. Police said they arrested some six opium dealers and runners.

The actual "smokers" were smelly, dirty rooms, very different from the romantic description of Oriental chambers of dissipation.

Leone Gille, a woman who admitted acting as hostess in the "chic" den, said she charged 85 cents for one opium pipeful. Police narcotic experts saidher customers got an opium mixture of very poor quality.

Most of the customers were Orientals, but there were also some Parisians, particularly entertainers, police said.

Police traced the traffic to Marseilles, where they arrested an Indochinese named N'Guyen Van Con, whom they accused of importing opium wholesale and selling it retail.

114 Million Spending Proposed by U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A 114 million dollar spending program over the next five years has been proposed by the University of Michigan.

* * *

The program asks the State Legislature for additional funds to finance planning or continued construction on last year's projected 5-year capital outlay totaling 111 million dollars.

It includes $99,296,200 for educational facilities and $14,665,000 on medical facilities.

* * *

The outline of university spending is submitted to the Legislature for guidance in making appropriations in the next state budget. Most of the projects listed have been previously announced and several are already under construction.

The average American work week in nonagricultural pursuits is expected to fall to 36½ hours by 1960.

HALF ACRE CASTLE By John Morris

Market Dips; Trading Light

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went into a gentle decline in the early afternoon today in listless trading.

* * *

Prices were higher at the start, then backed off as the session progressed. Changes were narrow.

Volume was estimated at 1,500,000 shares for the day, compared with Friday's 1,530,000.

Investors, although encouraged by a forecast of good business in the second half of the year by the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents, were cautiously awaiting results of the Suez crisis.

* * *

In the early afternoon, aircrafts and building materials were the only higher groups. Steels and metals were mixed, and motors lower.

Gulf Oil, International Paper and United Aircraft were ahead around a point. Smaller gainers included International Harvester, Douglas, Boeing, Union Carbide, U. S. Gypsum and Johns Manville.

* * *

Fruehauf Trailer dipped a major fraction after the Federal Trade Commission accused the company of violating the antimerger law by buying out some competitors.

Deere & Co. was a shade lower following a report of sharply reduced earnings. Studebaker-Packard held fairly steady after announcing a first half loss of more than 35 million dollars.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at $185.60. Industrials were up 10 cents, rails off 20 cents and utilities unchanged.

Also higher on the American were British Americal Oil, Consolidated Mining, Creole Petroleum, U. S. Foil and Superior Tool. Lower were Atlas Plywood, Bailey Selburn, General Industries and Webb & Knapp.

Grains Sell Off in Active Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains sold off in moderately active dealings on the Board of Trade today. Soybeans losing a couple of cents to pace the downturn.

* * *

Favorable crop growing weather in much of the midwest was in part responsible for the selling in soybeans and corn. Temperatures were rising in this area and it was felt this would hasten the crop to maturity.

* * *

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ¼ lower, September $2.17¾; corn ⅝ to ⅝ lower, September $1.47¼; oats ¼ to ½ lower, September 72¾; rye unchanged to ¾ higher, September $1.42½; soybeans one to two cents lower, September $2.36¾; and lard 30 to 40 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $10.75.

* * *

In addition to the weather soybeans had to contend with an unconfirmed report Japan was considering reestablishing an import duty on soybeans, effective Oct. 1 This duty has been suspended over the past few years.

* * *

Large supplies of cash wheat at Chicago acted as a drag on wheat futures, and particularly the September contract. It was felt deliveries on September wheat might be quite heavy.

Arrest Drunk, Spark Giant Teenage Riot

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — A large group of teenagers, angered over the arrest of one of them, staged a mammoth riot in the Colonia district last night.

It took nearly 50 officers an hour and a half to quell the outbreak. A 16-year-old girl was hospitalized with head injuries received in the fighting. A number of officers were struck by beer cans and the windows of several police cars were smashed.

The riot was touched off, police reported, when an attempt was made to arrest a drunken youth at an outdoor festival. When the protests of his friends proved of no avail, the officers said, someone threw a beer bottle and the melee began.

Finally, the officers said, tear gas was successful in dispersing the crowd. No arrests were made, but tonight an additional 25 policemen from Ventura will be deployed to round up juveniles violating the curfew.

LAPEER—Lewis E. Burt and Mrs. Anna Carpenter of Memphis were married recently in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Everett A. Smith at Monroe Street Methodist Church.

Go Ahead, Shoot —but Watch That Direction

FORT RILEY, Kan. (INS)—It was all right to shoot buffalo on the Fort Riley parade ground back in 1842, but soldiers who fired their weapons in the direction of the post commander's quarters were asking for trouble.

* * *

That, at least, is the substance of a document just received by the Historical custodian of the First Infantry Division's 18th Infantry Regiment at Fort Riley.

* * *

The "order," which army men stationed at Fort Riley are inclined to think may have been the product of an imaginative old Cavalry soldier's efforts to brighten up a full day, also enjoins student officers "to discontinue the practice of roping and riding buffalo."

* * *

The document, dated at Fort Riley Oct 22, 1842, was sent to the 18th Infanrty Historical room by H. M. Jennings, Topeka, Kan., a 72-year-old veteran of the Vanguard regiment. Jennings visited his old unit, Company F, recently and later sent the old order to Pvt. Vincent Mazzarella, the Vanguard regiment's historical custodian.

* * *

After noting the admonitions about shooting, riding or roping buffalo, together with the 1842 announcement that all officers of the command would be required to cultivate beards and that short buffalo overcoats would be issued, Mazzarella filed the "order" among his historical documents.

S-P Loss in '56 Hits $35 Million

Auto Builders' Sales Fall Off $106 Million in 1st Half of '56

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Studebaker-Packard Corp. says sales for the first six months of 1956 were more than 106 million dollars below sales in the same period last year.

The auto firm said its loss for the six-month period totaled $35,465,456 "plus a special charge of 28 million dollars as a provision for estimated cancellation costs, inventories, obsolescence and other costs."

The loss for the period last year was $9,638,399.

The S-P statement listed a deficit in the surplus account of $39,511,685 after the losses. Also listed was a 32 million dollar reserve approved by the board of directors for "general obsolescence and possible loss on disposal of high operating costs and surplus plants and properties."

President Harold E. Churchill disclosed in a letter to stockholders that models for the 1957 Studebaker line have been completed and presented to the Studebaker Dealer Council.

He said a program for a 1957 Packard will be presented to the Packard Dealer Council in the next few days.

Discussing the agreement under which Curtiss-Wright Corp. will furnish advisory management services to S-P, Churchill said the manufacture of trucks and automobiles is being concentrated at the South Bend plant as part of a program to reduce losses.

Parts Theft Attempt Costs Robbers Car

A three-block chase began when a neighbor observed the man and two companions approach a car on Exchange street about 2 a.m., apparently to steal parts.

Joe D. Hastings ran out of his home at 11 Exchange and two men fled on foot while the third jumped in the car and drove off. Hastings followed in his car, he said, and was joined in the chase a block away by Patrolman John Felts, who was on routine patrol.

Two blocks later, the thief abandoned his car on Elizabeth street and escaped on foot into some fields, Felts said. Police towed the car away.

Wisconsin Leads U. S. Universities in Doctorates

MADISON, Wis. (INS) — The University of Wisconsin leads over American universities in the number of doctorates granted during an academic year.

Wisconsin granted 399 doctor of philosophy degrees during the 1954-55 period—more than any other university for the second straight school year.

In issuing the report, the Association of Research Libraries said the number of doctoral degrees granted annually by an institution is considered an unofficial test of academic strength.

The association makes the compilation of doctorates when it records the titles of theses submitted by Ph. D. recipients.

Cobo Fires Back at Democratic Barbs

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo says he could not have "sabotaged" Gov. Williams' highway program because "it's news to me that he ever had one."

* * *

Replying to criticism leveled at him during the State Democratic Convention, Cobo, the Republican gubernatorial nominee said yesterday the "bookeeping record" will speak for his administration.

Cobo said the Democratic attack indicates to him "they must be rather scared."

* * *

Democratic leaders at Grand Rapids served notice Saturday Cobo will be the prime target in their campaign for November votes. They said they are out to destroy "the Cobo myth."

Javits in Race for Lehman's Seat

NEW YORK (INS)—New York Attorney General Jacob K. Javits will seek Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate seat vacated by Democrat Herbert H. Lehman.

The seat had been thought safe for the Democrats since Lehman was a strong favorite for re-election until his announced retirement from the race last week.

In a televised interview yesterday Javits announced he will be nominated at the Republican State Committee meeting at Albany Sept. 10.

Grape Press Is Large

SYDNEY—A 1,000-gallon horizontal mechanical press made by a firm in Bordeaux, France, is being installed in the plant of a wine-making company in southern Australia. The 6-ton press automatically separates the grape juice from the pulp and removes the pulp and seeds on conveyors. The press' yield will be 20 per cent greater than that of comparable presses in Australia.

Discrimination End in Fraternities Urged

CHICAGO (AP) — A University of Michigan student has called for removal of what he says are discriminatory practies by college fraternities.

Lunn said the dropping of discriminatory clauses from the by-laws of campus organizations would be a major step toward "a greater educational contribution to members and the campus in general."

A-Bomb Exercise on TV

NEW YORK (AP) — On Sunday, Sept. 9, at 5:30 p.m. EDT NBC-TV will pick up a special training program designed to show the American public what to do in the event of an A-bomb attack. The exercises, titled "Survival Street," will be telecast from the Civil Defense Training Center at Olney, Md.

Life of Mantle to Be Televised

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Bert Lahr, finest clown alive, signed for three Sunday appearances on "Omnibus" next season. Sunday is the only day of the week he'll have free from his star role in the impending Broadway musical, "Grand Hotel." . . .

Asked why he's taking on TV as well as the stage, Bert replied: "With taxes, you can't save enough to take Sunday off any more."

"The Life of Mickey Mantle," to be dramatized Oct. 3 on Kraft Theater, will be written and rehearsed well in advance — except for the Mick's success or failure chasing Babe Ruth's record . . . which Kraft hopes will turn out to be a heroic happy ending. . .

Sandy Wirth, baton twirler on ABC's "Super Circus," won the role of the perky baton-twirler in Warner Brothers' Elia Kazan-directed satire of TV-radio's biggest head, "A Face in the Crowd."

KALTENBORN WANTED

"What's My Line" is frankly frustrated trying to find someone, anyone, to fill the chair left open by Fred Allen's death . . . They'd like H. V. Kaltenborn, but H. V. K. belongs to NBC (didn't Fred Allen, too?)

The letters pour in insisting "The $64,000 Challenge" clearly wanted to save money last Sunday and made certain of it by posing the toughest $64,000 query in the history of thrift.

The national conventions aren't over. CBS-TV will air the acceptance speech of the Socialist Party's man-chasing-Ike, Darlington Hoopes, on Sunday.

Betty Furness wins our vote as the best-dressed, most ladylike huckster of the conventions, or the year for that matter . . .

Women's Auxiliary of the VFW chose "Circus Boy" as "the outstanding new program of the 1956-57 season," a better-than-Dunninger trick inasmuch as "Circus Boy" doesn't even get to TV until Sept. 23, NBC.

2 State Counties Slated for Federal Rural Aid

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson announced today that Delta and Mackinaw Counties in Michigan will receive special federal assistance as "pilot" counties in the new rural development program.

The two counties were among 55 counties in 24 states designated as "pilot" counties. Brown said these counties will receive assistance in the form of educational, technical, administrative and farm credit aid.

Straddler Fights Traffic Summons in Gotham Tunnel

Yet again he headed for the pavement, as dozens of lesser motorists watched and waited.

Magistrate Paul Balsam heard him plead innocent to dangerous driving and disorderly conduct in Ridgewood Felony Court and released him in $500 bail pending hearings on Wednesday and Friday.

Services for Kinsey Today in Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (INS) — Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, whose studies of sexual behavior in America shocked the world, was to be buried today in Bloomington, Ind.

The controversial Indiana University professor died Saturday in Bloomington Hospital of a heart ailment, pneumonia and kidney complications. He was 62.

Kinsey, a zoologist who gave up studies of the mating habits of insects, began research on American sexual habits in 1938 when he discovered only limited knowledge was available on the subject.

He put all of the money into a corporation he formed with five associates—The Institute for Sex Research—which plans to carry on his work.

Train Kills Detroiter

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—James L. Mull, 27, of Detroit, was killed yesterday when struck by a train at Meyersdale, near here. Police said the accident occurred in a heavy fog near a railroad station. Mull apparently was en route to catch a train.

Indian Wars on TV

Labor Backing of Dems Seen

Both Party Platforms Being Reviewed but Neutral Stand Possible

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders today were reported moving toward an outright endorsement of the Democratic ticket in the November election as they did separately in 1952.

But some among them called for a cautious approach that would avoid committing the 15-million-member labor union organization.

The 29-member AFL-CIO Executive Council gathered here at "Unity House," sumptuous summer camp in the Pocono Mountains owned by the Ladies Garment Workers' Union, to review the national slate of both major parties.

Instead, they saw a choice of endorsing the Democratic slate of Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, or simply taking no formal stand for either party in the coming campaign.

Opinion among council members as to a Democratic endorsement or no endorsement seemed closely divided, but supporters of the Democratic cause appeared to have an edge.

Meany, among others, was reported inclined to avoid a Democratic endorsement, contending it might be wiser to let individual AFL-CIO unions do what they want while the parent organization stays out of it.

Those working for a Democratic endorsement include Walter Reuther of the auto workers union, the former CIO president; David G. Dubinsky of the garment workers, and Joseph Keenan of the electrical workers.

East Germany Plagued by Labor Union Woes

BERLIN (AP)—Serious labor difficulties in Communist East Germany were reported today by leaders of the East zone's controlled labor unions.

The union's executive committee charged in special resolutions that the rights of workers were being violated constantly by Communist party members who damage factories.

Mackinac City Contrives Swap

Bids $1,800 for Docks and Roads Worth More Than $2 Million

LANSING (AP)—Canny officials in Mackinaw City have the State Highway Department scratching their heads over a lopsided swap proposal.

* * *

The city council made the proposal by altering a few paragraphs in a resolution okaying a highway department resurfacing project.

The state is abandoning certain sections of old U. S. 27 and U. S. 31 in Mackinaw City. The highways will revert to the city. Before the city takes over, the state will resurface the roads. The City will pay $1,800 as it share of the $45,000 cost.

However, when Mackinaw City sent in its check, it changed the resolution to include the Straits Ferry Docks in the abandoned section. The council decided it could find good use for the docks when ferry service ends with completion of the Mackinac Straits Bridge.

George M. Foster, chief deputy state highway commissioner, says he thinks it's a misunderstanding by city officials. But he says some high level conferences may be in order to iron the matter out.
