Clark May Demand Check on Truce Violation

Nixon Upholds Ike in Durkin Dispute

Eisenhower Promises AFL to Send Revisions to Congress in January

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vice President Nixon told the AFL convention today there may have been a "misunderstanding" regarding administration plans for amending the Taft-Hartley Law, but President Eisenhower "never broke his word."

Former Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin, AFL Plumbers Union president, told the convention yesterday he quit his Cabinet post two weeks ago because Eisenhower broke an agreement with him on T-H Law changes to be submitted to Congress.

Nixon read the AFL convention a message from Eisenhower which, while not referring specifically to the controversy raised by Durkin, promised that the administration will offer T-H amendments to Congress next January.

Eisenhower's message also described the six-year-old T-H Act as essentially sound and a statute which has made "a substantial contribution to the quest for sounder labor-management relations."

Nixon prefaced his reading of Eisenhower's message with some remarks of his own, received with polite applause by the convention delegates. He said that labor unions might differ with the administration's methods but that ultimately President Eisenhower's policies would be successful.

Speaking of the Durkin situation, Nixon said that in 40 years of public service Eisenhower "has never been guilty of breaking his solemnly given word."

Trial Date Is Set for Donald O'Brian

First degree murder trial for Donald J. O'Brian, 27, confessed rape-slayer of Mrs. Hallie O. Perkins, 55, of Pontiac, has been set for Oct. 19 by Frederick C. Ziem, Oakland County prosecutor.

O'Brian, whose attempted attack on Mrs. Mary Forgette of 50 Oriole Rd. on Sept. 9 led to his arrest, has admitted the fatal rape-attack of Mrs. Perkins early in August and the rape of a 16-year-old girl on Aug. 15, according to Ziem.

He stood mute at arrangement Friday, and a plea of not guilty was entered for him by the court.

Futile Appeal

ON WAY OUT — The exit sign over the head of Joseph P. Ryan, president of International Longshoremen's Association, was an omen in the decision of the AFL in St. Louis yesterday. Despite a last minute appeal by Ryan the AFL decided to boot out the Longshoremen and organize a new union in its place.

Wife, Spaniel Rout Assailant

Scare Off Masked Man Attacking E. H. Hoyt of Waterford

A candlestick-wielding housewife and a pet Cocker Spaniel helped rout a masked intruder who attacked a Waterford Township man early today when he answered a knock on the door.

Earnest H. Hoyt, 48, GMC Truck and Coach Division service department supervisor, suffered a black eye in the melee at his home at 2437 Silver Circle Dr.

Hoyt said a young man with a handkerchief covering part of his face was standing on the porch when he went to the door.

"He said, 'I got a gun and I'm going to count to three,' but I didn't know what he was talking about," said Hoyt. After counting three, the intruder socked Hoyt in the eye.

Hoyt said he tussled with the masked man for about three minutes and the commotion attracted his wife, Marion, and their pet dog, Radar.

Mrs. Hoyt started to beat the man over the head with a candlestick and Radar started barking and snapping at the intruder's legs. The assailant broke away and fled.

Hoyt said he had no explanation for the unprevoked attack.

Two Koreans Charged

SEOUL (AP)—Two South Koreans accused of betraying U. S. Maj. Gen. William F. Dean to the Communists for $5 each were indicted today by the Seoul District Court.

Western World, U. S. Not Ready for Atom Attack

Civil Defense Head Reports After 6-Nation European Tour

LONDON (AP) — U. S. civil defense chief Val Peterson said today, after a European tour, that he has failed to find a single country in the western world which is ready to meet an atomic attack.

"Except for the scientists and a handful of other people, the whole world is hiding from the terrible implications of atomic weapons," the former Nebraska governor said in an interview. That goes for the Russians, too, he added.

Peterson, who will report to President Eisenhower on his survey of civil defense preparations in Western Europe, described American precautions against an atomic blow as "inadequate."

"Our civil defense is quite good in some places and not in other places," Peterson explained. "From the overall point of view it is inadequate and to the extent that as a nation we simply haven't faced up to the problem.

We don't have an adequate radar screen around the U. S. as yet to give our population time enough to disperse in case of an atomic raid."

As for civil defense in the Soviet Union, Peterson said there were indications the Russian people don't know what is going on in the field of atomic weapons.

The 50-year-old Nebraskan who is a Reserve Air Force colonel left New York Aug. 26, flying first to Sweden and Norway, and then to Denmark, Belgium, Western Germany and Britain.

Chivas to Be Paroled; Was in Pontiac Case

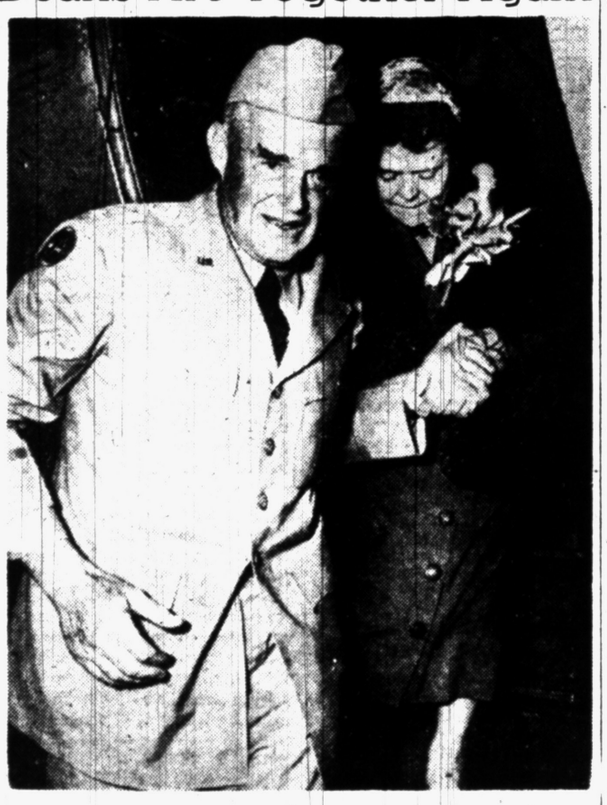

LANSING (AP)—An echo of the sensational Hooper murder case was heard today as the State Parole Board ordered the parole Thursday of 38-year-old Sammy Chivas.

Chivas obtained notoriety because he was sentenced for armed robbery in company with the men who were convicted of conspiracy to slay the late State Sen. Warren G. Hooper in 1945. Chivas was not charged with complicity in the slaying.

He and the Hooper conspirators were convicted of robbing the Aristocrat Club of Pontiac. Word of the crime leaked out during the Hooper trial at Battle Creek.

Chivas was sentenced Dec. 8, 1945, to serve 20 to 40 years. The parole board said he had a good prison record and would be paroled "to the Detroit area."

Deans Are Together Again

HERO AND WIFE LEAVE PLANE—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, Medal of Honor winner and a Communist prisoner for three years, gives his wife a helping hand as they leave the plane that brought the general to Travis Air Force Base, Calif., last night. Mrs. Dean had gone aboard the big craft into the general's waiting arms. After a hero's welcome at the base, the couple motored home to nearby Berkeley.

Gen. Dean Lands in U. S. Amidst Hero's Welcome

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean came home last night, three years of Red captivity etched in his tired face and declared:

"I want you to get it out of your heads that I'm a hero—I'm not. I'm just a dog-faced soldier," and "I feel like a million dollars. I almost sent a challenge to Rocky Marciano," heavyweight boxing champion.

The tall, erect Medal of Honor winner was given a hero's welcome as his plane landed at this huge air base 40 miles northeast of San Francisco under a brilliant moon.

Dean's part in the Korean War lasted a month in the harrowing summer of 1950 before he was captured. He was awarded the nation's highest military decoration for his valiant, last-ditch defense of Taejon—in which he battled personally with a bazooka.

An Air Force C97 Stratocruiser brought Dean, and seven other repatriated American war prisoners, into a reception of glaring television and news camera lights and the tenderness of reunion with his family.

The general had been out of the country six years, in Japan and Korea.

Near the plane Dean and his wife were joined by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dean. He held both women tightly.

A few feet further on, the general's daughter, Mrs. June Williams, flew into his open arms. Then came others—19 relatives in all.

Ike's Recognition of Ripon, Wis., Annoys Jackson

JACKSON (UP)—Civic boosters who insist the Republican Party was born here have a bone to pick with President Eisenhower.

The President gave Ripon, Wis., credit for being the birthplace of the Republican Party in his speech at Boston Monday.

"He is right as far as he goes," said David W. Kendall, Michigan's Republican national committeeman. "There is no question that meetings on the formation of a new party were held in Ripon in February and March of 1854—but the first Republican convention was held here, so the party was born at Jackson."

Jackson is planning a centennial celebration in 1954 of the party's founding. The first official convention was held in Morgan's Grove July 6, 1854, at which time candidates were named for office.

Three 'A-Bombs' Dropped During NATO Maneuvers

DELMENHORST, Germany (AP)—Three imaginery atomic bombs were dropped on north Germany during the four-nation NATO maneuvers which ended today.

Gen. Sir Richard Gale, commander in chief of the northern army group, said offensive and defensive atomic warfare was studied during the five day exercise "Grand Repulse."

4 Known Dead as Explosions Destroy Plant

N. Y. Chemical Factory Blasts May Have Taken 2 Other Lives

TONAWANDA, N. Y. (AP) — At least four and possibly six men were killed and eight or more were injured today when four tremendous explosions ripped through a small chemical plant.

Flames shot skyward, threatening nearby residences for a time, and a huge mushrooming cloud of dark smoke spread over the area. Windows in nearby buildings were shattered.

Police said the explosions were in two hydrogen storage tanks at the Lucidol Division of Novadel-Agene Corp.

As dozens of fire trucks and rescuers converged on the scene, police moved spectators and residents of neighboring homes away from the scene.

It was feared for a time that another hydrogen tank at the plant might blow up.

Police and Buffalo Fire Department officials said four were dead. An unidentified man at the scene told a newsman he had counted six bodies, but this could not be confirmed.

The victims were not immediately identified.

The first explosion tore through the building at 10:18 a.m. (EST). The others followed at intervals over 25 minutes. An area of several square miles was shaken. Debris fell on homes and yards hundreds of yards away.

Kenmore Mercy Hospital reported that six injured were received there. Columbus Hospital and Sisters Hospital in Buffalo also received victims.

Non-Dealer Car Sales Taxable

Private Auto Deals After Oct. 1 Are Subject to 3 Per Cent State Levy

Anyone buying a motor vehicle from an individual who is not an authorized dealer will be required to pay a 3 per cent state use tax on the purchase price after Oct. 1.

Roy Annett, manager of Pontiac branch of the Michigan Secretary of State's Office, said this tax must be paid when the purchaser applies for a title transfer at the branch office.

He pointed out that the tax is computed on the full purchase price of the motor vehicle with no deduction for the trade-in, and must be paid within 10 days after the vehicle is purchased.

This new tax setup also applies to persons living in Michigan who buy motor vehicles in other states, said Annett.

Every title transfer after Oct. 1 must be accompanied by a filled out Form UT-7A (statement of Michigan use tax paid). In case of an exemption, the form must be completed and an additional entry made on Line 3, stating the reason for the exemption, Annett explained.

Exemptions may be claimed when a motor vehicle is received as a gift, purchased from a public official at a public auction, inherited or repossessed.

Forgetful Parishioners Throw Birthday Party

ROMULUS, N. Y. (AP)—Members of the Presbterian Church in this central New York community arranged an elaborate birth party for their pastor, the Rev. C. F. Van Marter.

But the clergyman missed the festivities last Thursday; no one had remembered to invite him.

Society Honors Pontiac Doctor

Dr. Robert H. Baker to Be Michigan Medical Group Head in '54-'55

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Baker, a Pontiac physician and surgeon for 23 years, and an authority on tumors and some types of cancer, is the new president-elect of the Michigan Medical Society.

Dr. Baker, 61, was elected at the society's convention last night. He will take office in September 1954.

Dr. L. W. Howell of Detroit will be installed tonight as the group's new president, succeeding Dr. R. J. Hubbell of Kalamazoo. Dr. Howell was elected a year ago.

The new president-elect, a native of Bay City, received his medical degree from the University of Michigan in 1916 and served for a time as a member of the University Hospital staff and the Michigan medical faculty before beginning his practice at Pontiac. He served in World War 1.

Dr. Baker is on the staff of Pontiac General Hospital and an associate staff member at St. Joseph Hospital in Pontiac.

He is the son of a former president of the society, the late Dr. Charles Baker of Bay City who held the office in 1919.

The Pontiac physician had been speaker of the House of Delegates until his election Tuesday night.

Taking office with Dr. Baker a year from now will be Dr. J. E. Lizesay of Flint, who was named speaker of the House of Delegates.

Selected as members of the society's council were Dr. William Lefeve of Muskegon, Dr. B. C. Montgomery of Sault Ste. Marie, Dr. W. F. Jones of Menominee and Dr. W. B. Harm of Detroit.

Moving of MIGs South Over Yalu Worries Allies

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Lt. Gen. Samuel E. Anderson, Fifth Air Force commander, charged today the Reds moved planes into North Korea after Armistice Day.

Gen. Mark W. Clark quickly called a conference with his staff to discuss reports of the truce violation.

Anderson, highest ranking United Nations Air Force officer in Korea, said he knew a week ago of the Communist plane movements. A fugitive from communism confirmed the reports Tuesday.

Clark, supreme U. N. commander in the Far East, summoned staff officers to his headquarters and it was learned that he may break his silence on the alleged Communist air buildup Thursday.

Clark was expected to demand a thorough investigation by neutral inspectors of North Korean airfields to determine whether the Reds had violated the truce.

Anderson said radar screens revealed that Communist planes, which had remained near the Yalu River during the Korean War, had ventured farther south since the armistice than they had dared to go while Sabrejets were in the air to challenge them.

Young North Korean Air Force Lt. Noh Keun Suk backed up Anderson's charge by giving an eyewitness account of the Communist treachery, after turning over his Russian-made MIG to U.S. authorities.

Noh said the Communists believed fighting would break out in Korea again and were preparing for resumption of hostilities.

The MIG surrendered by the 22-year-old runaway North Korean, who will receive $100,000, tax-free, for his action, was the "first complete MIG" to fall into U.S. hands.

It was dismantled and put aboard a giant C124 transport plane which will take it to the United States for study.

(An Air Force spokesman at Dayton, Ohio, said the MIG would be tested at nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. It will be examined and then reassembled for flight tests).

Anderson said expert engineers will determine the "spin" of the MIG.

"The pilot (Noh) claimed spinning is a defensive measure, but we asked him how come so many of them crashed," Anderson said. "He merely shrugged, and said the planes just went out of control.

"We also could learn quite a lot about their armament, communications, gunsights and the improvements in the engines the Russians have made."

Light Frost, Brisk Weather Herald Arrival of Autumn

Autumn came to Pontiac today.

Heralded by last night's "harvest moon," fall stepped into the city at 3:07 a. m. today, bringing a morning low of 41 degrees in Pontiac and a day of brisk, bright weather.

Heavy dew glistened over rural areas where thermometers sank to 39 degrees this morning, and a spot-check indicated that light frost hit some low areas.

Fall begins, astronomers explain, when the sun crosses the equator on its way south.

The sun today will rise and set at exactly the east and west compass points, and hours of daylight and darkness will be about equal.

Today officially shuts the door on the summer which embraced the longest heat wave in Michigan's history.

The season included a 25-day drought that shrivelled lawns and crops, brought bans on lawn sprinkling, and fed grass fires throughout the county until rain came Sept. 4.

But storm damage, for the most part, was light.

Time after time, thunderheads skipped harmlessly over Pontiac to slam into Detroit to the south.

But one severe storm, which blew in with a mid-day darkness June 30, put out the lights for 10 minutes everywhere in Pontiac south of Mt. Clemens street and the Saginaw-Oakland intersection. This storm left 1,000 nearby rural families without electricity for two hours, threw 488 telephones out of service, and shorted out Pontiac Motor Division's switchboard. An-

Booklet Forecasts County Population Jump, Plans for Courthouse

Oakland County's 1970 census: 850,000 people.

That's the forecast in a booklet explaining the "whys" and possible "how's" of the new courthouse planned for Michigan's second largest county.

The booklet, prepared by Oakland County Planning Commission, will be given out free of charge by Oakland County Board of Auditors, 1 Lafayette St., after Oct. 1.

Chiefs of the county's various departments, squeezed into 90,000 square feet of sapce in the present courthouse and Lafayette street office building, say they will need 220,964 square feet by 1970—if population estimates are right.

These officials say they need 25,000 more square feet of space right now to do away with crowded conditions.

H. Lloyd Clawson, chairman of Oakland County Board of Supervisors' special courthouse committee, confirms that the new courthouse will be built for 1970's needs.

The new building, to be located at the county service center along West Boulevard, will be highly functional, Clawson said.

"We want it built so that additions can be built economically, without disturbing the building's lines," he added.

"Eventually, West boulevard will be vacated and new roads put in; and all county services, even the jail, will be moved to the service center."

The idea of a new office building to unify the county's facilities under one roof has been talked about by the board of supervisors longer than most members have been supervisors.

Only recently did concrete planning begin.

In 1951, county officials and Pontiac City Commission talked of planning a single building to house offices of both. They abandoned the idea after failing to agree on a site.

The county resolved to go on alone, called for a survey of space needs, saw it completed and is now ready to hire an architect to design a building.

The booklet points out that "jet propelled" Oakland County has almost doubled its population since 1930, when some 211,000 people made their homes here. Now more than 400,000 live in the countys limits, and more services are needed.

The booklet explains that present facilities are crowded, noisy, and take up valuable property in Pontiac's downtown area. People coming in from out of town must buck heavy traffic and vie for parking places.

Planners think the new building would cost about $4,500,000.

The booklet said county officials hope to raise about $1,000,000 by selling the present courthouse and Lafayette street office building.

There are two ways to raise the rest of the money, the pamphlet says.

The alternate would be appointment of several men to an independent "authority" which would issue bonds, build the building, and charge the county "rent" to pay off the debt. The law permitting this—Michigan Act 31 of 1948—is now being tested in a Muskegon County case scheduled for Michigan Supreme Court's October session.

Birmingham Plan Board Favors Closing Stub Ends of Rugby and Cambridge

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Plan Board members last night favored closing the stub ends of Rugby and Cambridge roads and will pass the recommendation on to the City Commission, which has scheduled a hearing on the matter for Oct 19.

A developer plans immediate construction on the Troy Township triangle to the North, bounded by Adams road, the Grand Trunk Western Railroad and the city of Birmingham.

Property owners in the area said a petition asking vacating of the streets had been turned in more than a year ago, but was held up because the Board of Education was negotiating with the developer for playground property.

The home owners said it was their understanding that the developer had stated he will not sell any more property to the Board of Education or Troy Township. They said he had already graded Cambridge and part of Windemere, which would send through traffic from his development through their residential areas.

Possibility of annexation of the area was brought out by City Manager Donald C. Egbert, who thought that was the solution. The city then could control development of the area, he said.

"We would face expenditures for storm drainage along the southeastern portion and share in widening Adams, but the alternates are even greater."

As it stands now, Egbert said, he understands the developer plans on using septic tanks, gravel streets, and is making no provision for storm drainage, which would flow into the city anyway.

Ike Terms T-H Act Essentially Sound

longed laughter when Nixon added: "There may have been, and there apparently was, a misunderstanding between the President and Mr. Durkin."

Nixon added that Eisenhower "never broke his word" to Durkin.

"And I don't believe that any implication that the President broke his word should be left in the record of this convention," Nixon said.

Durkin, sitting among the delegates only a few feet from the platform on which Nixon spoke, listened intently to his remarks. Afterward Durkin said only: "I will make no comment except to say my answer was in my speech yesterday."

That was the speech in which Durkin claimed he had a face-to-face agreement with Eisenhower on 19 specific changes in the T-H Act to be recommended to Congress, but that Eisenhower later said he could not go along with it.

The vice president said that if it were true, as some claim, that the administration is dominated by the "greedy few," then it would lose the next election.

But he said the administration is working for the good of all the people and will ultimately deliver more security and prosperity by the country as a whole.

The White House yesterday denied that Eisenhower had made any decision on changes in the law or any commitment.

Eisenhower said in today's message that deliberations on modifying the law are still going on and "I shall send my own suggestions to the Congress at the opening of its session in January."

He expressed the view, however, that the enactment of the law by the Republican 80th Congress "was a substantial contribution to the quest for sounder labor-management relations," and he declared:

"I believe that the experience under the act has confirmed its essential soundness."

Eisenhower said too that Durkin's participation in the talks on revision of the law had been of great value and that the secretary's resignation was "unfortunate."

AFL President George Meany, whose 10-million-member federation was stirred by the whole thing, said he sided with Durkin. Meany said:

"I've known Durkin for 30 years and I don't believe he would distort the facts. I believe what he said is true."

The convention yesterday adopted a resolution expelling the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) from the AFL for harboring criminal elements along the New York-New Jersey waterfront. The AFL said it would establish a rival union for the dock workers.

After announcement of the ILA ouster, a New York industry source who declined to be quoted said the ouster would not affect current negotiations on a new contract between the ILA and the New York Shipping Assn.

There is not time before the contract expiration date to establish a new bargaining agent, the source said.

Arthur J. Connell, national commander of the American Legion, said in an address prepared for the convention that the AFL, which traditionally has opposed universal military training, should support it.

Group Would Ban Gifts to Athletes

The educators supported Taylor's plan for an overhauling of rules and policies governing high school athletes.

Taylor said that a special committee within a week will tackle the job, the first time in 25 years.

The committee will be composed of high school administrators, coaches and others concerned with school athletics.

The schoolmen, attending the Michigan Association of School Administrators annual meeting here, supported Taylor in the controversy over nine prep athletes who have been barred from competition this year because they accepted merchandise "rewards."

Class Crowding May Ease Up

Expect School Additions to Relieve Situation in Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM—The current Birmingham school building program will provide some relief for fall school rooms swollen by an ever-increasing student population, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland said yesterday.

"Class size is not too bad at the beginning of the year," he revealed, "but if the growth that took place last year continues throughout the current year, class enrollments will be unreasonably large."

"Some relief will be sought before the end of the current year," he added. "The building program will provide some, in spite of unanticipated delays which have been experienced."

Ireland reported that the Quarton School addition will probably open after Christmas holidays, restoring a normal program of activities there.

The kindergarten room at Torry School will soon be occupied, but the remainder of new construction will not be ready before March or April.

Modified plans designed to bring the addition to Bloomfield Hills School within the budget are complete, Ireland reports, but because of the difference in cost, the Board of Education has been legally advised to re-advertise for bids.

Within approximately two weeks, this project should be under way. Modified plans for Franklin School are in the same planning stage.

Canada's Stand on Korea Told

Nation Will Fight Only in U. N. Action, Pearson Informs Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson of Canada told the U. N. General Assembly today Canadian troops would fight in Korea only in "a United Nations action." He specifically excepted military unification of Korea as a U. N. aim for which Canada would battle.

Pearson's warning was considered here to be directed at South Korean President Syngman Rhee who has demanded that the U. N. Allies help him drive the Communists from North Korea by military means.

The Canadian diplomat, making his first U. N. speech since he retired as president of the Assembly, said the projected Korean political conference could settle the problem "if there is good faith and good will on both sides."

He said the aim of the conference should be "a free and united Korea, with a government resting on the will of the Korean people freely expressed through elections held under United Nations supervision. All foreign forces should, of course, be withdrawn and Korea's security might be provided for under an international and supervised guarantee."

Pearson threw his country's support to British and American efforts to throttle any further discussion in the U. N. of who should attend the conference.

Gen. Dean Arrives in United States

Dean took the tow-headed boy in his arms, hugged him and kissed him.

Mrs. Dean was almost overcome.

"You can't talk about a thing like this," she said, tears streaming down her face. "There just aren't words."

The General went into the jammed terminal lobby.

"I am overwhelmed by this welcome. It makes me feel very humble and unworthy," he spoke firmly into a microphone.

"I want everyone to understand that I'm not a hero. I was unfortunately a prisoner of war and that is nothing to be proud of. It was an unfortunate circumstance. "Other prisoners of war had it much tougher than me, I'm sure. . . . They told me about the real heroes. . . ."

Dean named man after man, foot soldiers and fliers. He praised them highly for their unceasing resistance to Communist pressure.

"I could go on and on," he added. "They didn't break down."

Applause thundered in the hot crowded lobby.

Aswering newsmen's questions, he said his plans were indefinite.

In Tokyo he said he planned to retire from the Army, in which he has served 30 years, to keep a promise to his family.

About the chances for lasting peace in Korea. . . .

"I'm in a poor position to say—all I know is what I've read in the past few weeks."

About the war potential of the Chinese. . . .

"All I saw of their troops were peeks through cracks in a paper window."

Dean said there was one thing he would like to do.

"I'd like to get acquainted with my family. For 30 years I've neglected them. Now I've promised to make amends."

Nab Jackson Escapee After Traffic Accident

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said a motorist arrested after a minor traffic accident on the northwest side Tuesday was identified by fingerprints as an escaped convict from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Sgt. Joseph Rudnick said the man is Joseph May, who escaped from the Michigan prison Aug. 19, 1951, after serving 16 months of a two to 15-year term on a charge of breaking and entering.

Rudnick said May gave the name John Woodwich and said he is 46 years old.

Light Frost Marks Coming of Autumn

other storm July 18 caused lighter damage.

The summer began quietly enough with a high of 89 degrees June 21 after the mercury had hit 97 the day before. Tornado jitters born of twisters that whirled through Port Huron, Flint and Milford during the spring eased in continued quiet weather.

Six 90-or-over days were scattered through the first month, including June 28 with 91 degrees; June 30, 90; July 5, 92; July 15, 91; July 16, 92; and July 26, 96.

None broke records for the dates. Heat never stayed long.

So when local thermometers went to 96 degrees Aug. 26, Oakland County folks mopped their brows and mused that "it probably won't last long."

They were wrong.

As weather forecasters and sweltering citizens watched in wonder, the thermometer stayed over 90 longer than any other time in Michigan history.

Aug. 27 went by with a 95-degree high. So did Aug. 28. By Aug. 29, the heat was on to stay.

The mercury climbed to 96 degrees, outdoing a record for the date of 94 set in 1872. It stayed at 96 Aug. 30, beating a record 94 degrees set in 1932; and soared to 96 again Aug. 31.

Perspiring Pontiac, clinging to forecast of rain and cooler, saw hope go a-glimmering Sept. 1 when the mercury went up to 98, nosing out the all-time Sept. 1 record of 96 set in 1943. On Sept. 2, the thermometer braced itself and soared to 101 degrees, topping a former record of 95 set in 1913.

By Sept. 3, however, the mercury's stamina was weakening.

It only made 98 degrees—still enough to break a record of 95 set in 1898. It was not until Friday, Sept. 4, that the promised cooler weather reached Pontiac.

Thus the thermometer strung together 10 consecutive days of over-90 temperatures — two days more than any other heat siege on Michigan records.

Gilleo Murder Trial Is Oct. 12

Man and Wife Charged With Killing Caruso on Aug. 2

Oakland County Prosecutor Fred C. Ziem today announced Oct. 12 at the date for the first degree murder trial of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gilleo of Ferndale.

A warrant issued Aug. 19 charged Eugene Gilleo, 27, and his wife, Roberta, 22, with the murder of Detroit restaurateur, John Caruso, 58, on a dead-end Oak Park street on Aug. 2.

Ziem also tentatively set the trial of Alfred A. Kahner, 21, Detroit hotel manager, for Oct. 14.

Kahner was charged with involuntary manslaughter and negligent homicide in the death of George Hackett, 23, of Detroit, who was killed by a motorboat July 15 while swimming in Cass Lake.

Kahner stood mute when arraigned Aug. 21 and a plea of not guilty was entered for him.

Marijuana Plot: Let Everyone Grow It

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The elite of the city's marijuana trade, tired of spending so much time in the local pokey, put their collective heads together and came up with an ingenious plan.

The problem was this: The heat was on. An honest pusher couldn't make a dishonest buck anymore by growing the stuff.

The plan was this: Let everyone else in town grow the stuff for us!

Narcotics officers theorized in the dead of night, armed with jars of seed, the traffickers drove from garden to garden sprinkling the seeds on the lawns of unsuspecting citizenry.

After the victim cultivates it carefully all summer, the pushers slip in and harvest it.

O-JIB-WA BITTERS — THE BEST BUY I EVER MADE SAYS 81 YEAR OLD MAN

Mr. Z. S. Norton, 23 College Street, Battle Creek, recently had this to say about O-JIB-WA BITTERS. "Arthritis was drawing my fingers out of shape and shooting pains in my legs made sleeping impossible before using your wonderful medicine."

Mr. Z. Norton

"Rheumatism and arthritis first hit me about 15 years ago, but didn't become severe until the past four years. My knees, neck, shoulders and fingers got stiff and ached terribly. I didn't know there could be such pains. My knees and ankles were so puffed up that I had to use crutches to get around. I had to be helped in and out of cars as I couldn't lift my legs. My fingers were drawing out of shape and shooting pains through my legs kept me awake at night. I spent several weeks in the hospital, but I was just as bad off when I left, and wondered what in the world I was going to do. I had tried about all the remedies I heard of; even those you rub on, but with no relief, and was about ready to give up when I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS. The first bottle made me feel much better and soon all of the pains and stiffness left me, and I could sleep like a babe. I can dress myself again and get around good for a man 81 years old. I don't need aspirin for pain anymore or soda for my stomach either, as O-JIB-WA helped me in so many ways. I firmly believe that the best money I spent in my whole life was for O-JIB-WA BITTERS."

Jewish Holiday Starts at Sunset

Sukos, Hebrew Festival of Harvest, Celebrated in Synagogues, Home

Originally associated with the sukos, or booths, in which the ancient Israelites camped during their wandering through the desert, the holiday later became an occasion for expressing gratitude to the Lord for the autumn harvest.

Sukos is the model which the Pilgrims used in establishing the American festival of Thanksgiving. In the Book of Deuteronomy, of the Bible, Sukos is described as the "festival of the ingathering."

In modern times, Sukos is celebrated with special hymns and prayers of thanks. Worship services are held in homes and synagogues, which are decorated with autumn fruits and flowers.

The first service tonight announced by Jewish congregations will be at B'nai Israel at 6 o'clock. Others there are scheduled for 7:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. tomorrow and at 7:30 a.m. and 9:15 p.m. Friday.

At Temple Beth Jacob a family night service is scheduled for 7:30 tonight.

The children of the religious school will participate in the service by bringing altar baskets of food and fruit, symbolic of the ancient harvest offering. These baskets will be distributed to welfare institutions in the community. A service also is scheduled at the temple for 10 a.m. tomorrow.

There were 82,500 seamen employed on U. S. ocean-going ships in early 1953—about 25 per cent fewer than the same period in 1952.

MOTHER MEETS MEDAL WINNER—The first man to disembark from the USNS General Brewster, after it docked in San Francisco with 301 repatriated POW's aboard, was Lt. James Stone who stepped right into the arms of his mother, Mrs. Idell Walker. Jewelers Face Suit by Millard

Seeks Cancellation of Charter for May Firm of Detroit, New Haven

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard struck another blow yesterday at what he called a "racket" in Macomb County Justice Court garnishment suits.

He filed suit in the Macomb County Circuit Court to cancel the corporation charter of May Jewelers, Inc., of Detroit and New Haven.

At Millard's request, Gov. Williams previously had ordered an ouster hearing against a Macomb County justice of the peace whom the attorney general charged had conspired with a jewelry firm to start improper garnishment suits.

Millard charged the May firm formally transferred its corporation address from 15211 Houston, Detroit, on March 3, 1953, to 58657 Main St., New Haven.

He charged that the New Haven address was "false or fraudulent" and that the address was actually an election precinct booth in which a telephone had been installed by the firm.

This, he asserted, was a "fictitious address to discourage debtors from appearing in court and defending themselves against claims."

The penalty, he said, for filing false information with the State Corporations and Securities Commission is cancellation of the corporation's charter or a $10,000 fine.

Austria to Settle Claims of Jews Against Nazis

NEW YORK (AP) — Claims against Austria for material losses suffered by Jews under Nazi rule are expected to be settled shortly for something between 50 and 100 million dollars, says Dr. Nahum Goldmann, chairman of the Jewish Agency for Palestine.

Goldmann, who returned here yesterday from a meeting with Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab, said most of the claims — totaling more than $1,200,000,000 — involved individuals who lost their homes, businesses and savings.

Waterford Has Project
Over 100 Youngsters Enroll in Fun Program

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — More than 100 boys and girls are taking part in the Saturday morning fun program sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Board, according to Tom Belton, board director.

The program is being held each Saturday morning this fall at the CAI Building on Williams Lake road. Children 5 to 15 years old are invited.

Included in the program are gymnasium games such as basketball and volleyball, arts and crafts, library periods and quiet games such as checkers, darts, table tennis and shuffle board.

Saturday afternoon football clinics on the fall recreation program were scheduled to begin last Saturday but were rained out. Weather permitting, the clinic will be held this Saturday starting at 1 p.m. on the high school football field.

Al boys 7 to 17 are invited to take part in the clinics which include professionally taught fundamentals of the game and special games will be held folowing the clinics.

Also beginning Saturday will be ballet classes for girls 5 to 18 at the CAI Building. Classes will be held at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. with Mrs. Carol Wolfe as instructor.

Supreme Court Nominee Picked
Pennsylvania Attorneys Suggest State Jurist as Vinson Successor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice John C. Bell Jr. has been recommended to President Eisenhower by a group of prominent attorneys and jurists as successor to the late Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson of the U.S. Supreme Court, the Philadelphia Inquirer said today.

The Inquirer said Bell, a Philadelphian, and former governor and lieutenant governor of the state, had the endorsement of Pennsylvania's two Republican senators, Edward Martin and James H. Duff and Gov. John S. Fine.

Bell could not be reach immediately for comment.

Former U. S. Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, retired dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school, was reported by the Inquirer to be heading the movement to recommend Bell for the high court, along with Chief Justice Horace Stern and Justice T. McKeen Chidsey of the state Supreme Court, former U. S. Sen. George Wharton Pepper and Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside, of Harrisburg.

The Inquirer said a number of Philadelphia attorneys also have forwarded recommendations to the President on behalf of Bell.

The 60-year-old jurist has long been active in civic and political affairs and was active in amateur athletics for many years.

MRS. FRED G. HENRY

Julia A. Wood of Drayton Married in Pontiac Church

DRAYTON PLAINS — First Baptist Church of Pontiac was the setting Saturday of a ceremony which united in marriage Julia Anne Wood of Drayton Plains and Fred G. Henry of Auburn Heights.

Julia Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wood of 88 North Winding Dr., Drayton Plains. Fred's parents are Glenn Henry of Coleman and Mrs. John Bowman of Carinthia street, Auburn Heights.

The bride wore a gown of satin and lace with a full skirt, a cathedral train and a fingertip illusion veil. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid.

Maid of honor for the bride was Mary Lou Martin of Pontiac. Marilyn Bonham and Bonnie Greer of Pontiac and Shirley Jellison of Sturgis were the bridesmaids.

Serving as best man for his brother was Keith Henry. Ushers were Guy White and Gene Folk of Pontiac and Howard Wood, brother of the bride.

LANSING (UP)—The State Health Department said today 1,508 persons have been stricken by polio so far this year compared to 2,288 at the same time a year ago.

The department said 142 new cases were reported last week compared to 147 the previous week and 315 during the same week in 1952.

Jail 12 College Students, Seize Arms in Havana

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Military intelligence agents and police arrested 12 students and seized a large quantity of arms in a pre-dawn raid today at the University of Havana's student federation headquarters.

Police said a group of students had planned attacks on certain individuals. The raid was made after occupants of a car in front of federation headquarters fired on police.

Bright Flash Was Only Meteor, Viewers Told

MONROE (UP) — State Police said today they received numerous telephone calls from persons who thought a brilliant meteor which flashed across the southeastern Michigan skies was an airplane crashing in flames.

Troopers said the meteor, trailed by a fiery tail, appeared shortly after 10 p. m. Tuesday and was visible for about three seconds. The flash, reported seen at Detroit and Bay City, disappeared over Ohio.

WCTU Delegates Eye Signs for Prohibition

DENVER (AP)—Delegates to the 73rd annual convention of the Colorado W.C.T.U., yesterday were told by national and state officials that prohibition may return to the nation sooner than anyone expects.

Said Mrs. Fred J. Tooze, Evanston, Ill., national recording secretary:

"The huge advertising campaigns by liquor interests are beginning to boomerang. Many people are becoming terribly concerned about the effect on young people, who have liquor presented to them as desirable through both ear and eye.

"They're protesting."

6,000 Bankers Conclude Meet

Voting Today in Favor of Ike's Policies; Liked Humphrey's Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 6,000 bankers met today apparently in a mood to plump for freer trade and endorse key fiscal policies of the Eisenhower administration.

The American Bankers Assn. held the final meeting of its 79th annual convention. Resolutions cleared to the floor, and by tradition almost certain of adoption, would favor:

* * *

1. The United States "continuing to open its markets increasingly to foreign goods."

* * *

2. Federal reserve-treasury actions under a "flexible monetary policy—including flexibility of bond prices and interest rates."

3. Balancing the federal budget as a step "essential to the maintenance of a strong and stable economy."

The bankers also scheduled a talk by W. Randolph Burgess, deputy to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, on management of the 272 billion dollar federal debt.

* * *

Humphrey yesterday categorically promised the convention that tax cuts scheduled for Jan. 1—10 per cent in personal income tax and abolition of the excess profits tax on corporations, would not be postponed despite "the real possibility of an atomic Pearl Harbor hanging directly over our heads."

* * *

Additionally, Humphrey declared that the recent stock market decline does not look to him like a disaster and that there is "nothing to shiver about" in the prospect of somewhat lower business activity, in some lines.

The bankers' proposed resolution on foreign trade said in part:

"We believe that the United States should live up to its international responsibilities as the world's greatest creditor and producing nation by continuing to open its markets increasingly to foreign goods."

Uneasiness was caused in many banks in recent months as the new administration supported and abetted the Federal Reserve policy of letting interest rates and government securities find their own market levels. This resulted in the market value of billions of dollars worth of government issues held by banks falling somewhat, causing paper losses on bank books although the value of the securities at maturity remained unchanged.

Army Escapee to Be Sent Back to Korea Group

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP)—A young Army private, who escaped from a Korean stockade and said he reached the United States by boarding a troop transport, will be sent back to Korea.

Army authorities said the GI, Pvt. John Galasso of Plainfield, would be taken today to Philadelphia, where he is to leave by plane for the Far East.

Galasso, 21, surrendered here Sept. 8 and told Army officials a story of how he broke out of the stockade rather than face a court martial, hitchhiked to the Korean port of Inchon, and got aboard an Army transport by paying $250 to a South Korean mobster.

* * *

At first, Army authorities were inclined to doubt the soldier's tale. But Capt. Louis E. Allendorf, acting public information officer at Camp Kilmer, said yesterday the 45th Infantry Division has confirmed that Galasso had been missing from the stockade since Aug. 11.

* * *

Galasso told of being taken from the Korean battlefront July 10 on a charge of deserting a machine gun under enemy fire. Galasso said he left the gun to get more ammunition.

Stevenson to Lunch With Ike Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will have lunch with President Eisenhower at the White House a week from tomorrow, to summarize his observations on the trip around the world which he recently completed.

The two, rivals for the presidency last year, met in Washington shortly after Eisenhower took office and the President asked Stevenson then to make a personal report when he returned.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said yesterday that Eisenhower, while vacationing in Colorado, had written to the former Illinois governor and renewed the invitation.

Stevenson accepted, Hagerty said, and yesterday fixed the date by telephone.

Accidents Worst Enemy of Children

The State Health Department warned today that accidents, not disease, are the greatest threat to the lives of youngsters between five and 14 years of age.

Last year, the department said, 276 youngsters died in accidents.

The greatest hazard was the motor car which took the lives of 69 pedestrian children. Twenty-five others were passengers when killed.

Drownings claimed 38 lives, fires and explosions in the homes 29 lives, 19 died while riding bicycles and tricycles and 14 were killed by accidental gunfire.

Muskegon Man, 22, Killed in Collision

GRAND HAVEN (UP) — Jack Johnson, 22, Muskegon, was killed early today and two others were injured seriously in a car-truck collision on US 31 two miles north of here.

State Police said Johnson made a U-turn in front of a restaurant and his car was rammed broadside by a truck carrying a load of cherries from Traverse City to Jonesboro, Ark. Taken to Hackley Hospital at Muskegon were Johnson's two passengers, Kenneth Spira, 41, Muskegon and Miss Jenon Bisard, 19, Muskegon Heights.

Truck driver William Wilkerson, Jonesboro, was not injured. State Police said the truck carried the death car 165 feet down the highway before both vehicles skidded to a halt.

Starts Campaign to Buy Gift Car for McCarthy

HOUSTON (AP)—The head of a Houton printing firm has started a campaign to raise money for purchase of an automobile as a wedding gift to U.S. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

E. M. Biggers said he hopes to present the automobile to the senator in time for the Sept. 29 wedding in Washington. McCarthy is to marry Miss Jean Kerr, former member of his staff.

Biggers said contributions of from $1 to $100 are being accepted from Texans "who approve and appreciate the fine work being done by Sen. McCarthy."

Baby Hamsters Get the Better of Hobbyist

PITTSBURGH (AP) Seymour N. Seltman was shopping around for a hobby last January and finally decided he would like to raise hamsters.

Yesterday, about nine months and severa hundred hamsters later he called the Animal Rescue League and asked for help. He explained:

"It was a nice hobby while it lasted. I built some pens in the cellar and enjoyed watching the little animals. Pretty soon there were 16 baby hamsters. Then they grew up and—oh, it's a long story."

Seltman said he has given away or sold at least 1,000 hamsters since January and he wanted the Animal League to pick up 300 still at home because—"this could go on forever."

About one-half the inhabitants of Kentucky are engaged in agriculture.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1953

Eisenhower at Boston

It was a sober and thoughtful rather than a fighting President Eisenhower who spoke at Boston Garden.

In this first of five speeches with which he is to spearhead the 1954 Republican campaign the President obviously intended to keep aloof from pure partisanship. He dwelt at length on his party's past accomplishments, its present dedication to the welfare of all and its determination to preserve for today's youth the promise of tomorrow.

Only obliquely did he refer to recent opposition criticism at Chicago when he said:

"We aspire to proving ourselves more gifted in civics than in theatrics. We are more concerned with today's cares than tomorrow's headlines. We believe there is no cleverness of phrase that can cover shallowness of thought."

At another point the President hit at those who accuse the GOP of standpatism. Referring to the party's 100-year record he called it the "clearest answer to the feeble but persistent myth that the Republican Party is simply a conspiracy against change."

The President was unusually solemn in referring to the perilous times in which we live. Reminding the Nation that our enemies are equipped with the most terrible weapons of destruction, he said there is no labor, no tax, no service too hard for us to bear to defend our freedom.

In a clear thrust at those who charge that Big Business has taken over the Administration, Eisenhower denied that the GOP is a captive party. Insisting that the party is free he said that "each group in our Nation has special problems. None has special rights. Each has peculiar needs. None has peculiar privileges."

There may be those who feel the speech dealt too much with generalities and not enough with specific issues. It is certain to irk those who insist that the GOP was born under the oaks at Jackson. But if it lacked anything in inspiration for party workers, that was more than made up for by its wealth of sincerity, high purpose and political idealism.

In short, it was a speech one would want the President of all the people to make by a leader who can, has and no doubt later will deal at length with specific issues.

Japan's Aero Revival

There are sound reasons for State Department approval of the recently revealed interest being taken by U. S. plane makers in revival of the Japanese aircraft industry.

One Washington source says Air Force officials see such a revival as the only hope of ever being able to pull our forces out of Japan for use at other danger spots around the world.

They also are reported believing that a strong aircraft industry in the Far East, with close ties to the American industry and integrated with it, has great strategic value.

Despite heavy World War II bombing suffered by Japan, at the end of the occupation 314 usable aircraft plants were turned back to the Tokyo government. Today the four largest Nipponese plane companies' plants are practically intact.

The Korean War showed how valuable Japan's aircraft potential could be to us. Our Air Force gave out numerous maintenance contracts and found that the Japanese were excellent workers and learned quickly.

Most of the present activity of American firms interested in moving into Japan has been confined to the sale of right to produce their models or parts. Included are Beech Aviation Co., Fletcher Aviation Co., Bell Aircraft and Pratt & Whitney engines.

Because aircraft design has progressed rapidly in the last few years, Japanese industry needs technical help. Our Air Force is moving to provide that by bringing many Japanese engineers and production men to the U. S.

Under study also are other means of speeding the attempts of the Japanese plane makers to get back into business in a big way. All this is being done with the approval of the State Department and our own aircraft industry.

A Worcester, Mass., man who collapsed during the recent heat wave was wearing five coats, a vest, a heavy work shirt, heavy trousers and woolen underwear. It is invariably a mistake to try to bluff a heat wave.

The Government reports that it is two billion dollars better off than it had been thinking it was. This is somewhat comparable to old Gus Taxpayer finding some loose change under a sofa cushion.

Three-dimensional television pictures were recently shown in England. Perhaps before long we'll be crouching behind the sofa to view TV, so that we can dodge the stuff thrown at us.

Local Plant Employes Live in 133 Cities and Towns

Daffynition

Dollar: What doesn't do as much as it did—but neither does anybody else.

Pontiac Motor Division

who work here. Also coming here daily for their work at the same plant are men and women from 133 other cities and towns. Principal among these, with the number from each, are: Detroit, 622; Drayton Plains, 524; Lake Orion, 469; Clarkston, 392; Rochester, 380; Oxford, 236; Milford, 229; Keego Harbor, 228; Ortonville, 182; Auburn Heights, 169; Walled Lake, 161; Ferndale, 159; Birmingham, 153; Mt. feels that the Detroit Tigers have usually given the spectators their money's worth.

A letter just received from

professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, warns against building bird houses of metal. The birds may be fooled into using them, and the results often are fatal.

The aviation industry now claims that it is safer to travel in the air than on the ground. In the year ending Aug. 31 the combined passenger fatality rate for domestic and international carriers was one death for every 300 million passenger miles.

W. Downes Praises School Management but Warns City Needs New High School

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature).

Our school board and our superintendent of schools, Mr. Frank DuFrain deserve a lot of credit for the added class rooms they have provided and the addition to our high school.

They have been able to get the teaching personnel at a time when most schools are yelling their heads off to get a competent teaching staff.

Ever hear that remark "our PHS is a mad house?" It is because you, the citizens, are still asking your school board to cram them in. Go around to any other city of comparable size, look at their high school facilities and you will come home ashamed.

Pontiac has talked of a new high school for over 20 years. Why don't we start a drive now and give the school board some help and stick to the pay as you go plan. Give the school board 2½ more mills and let them have the proper plant to do the job of educating your sons and daughters.

Do you want to wait until some children have to go to school for a half day? It takes almost two years to get a high school built from the time the architect is selected, plans drawn and the contracts let.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

If thou shalt keep all these commandments to do them, which I command thee this day, to love the Lord thy God, and to walk ever in his ways; then shalt thou add three cities more for thee, beside these three. — Deut. 19:9.

After You

He had just bought a toothbrush. "How about two of them?" asked the druggist. "One for your wife?"

"No thanks! When I buy a new one, I always give her the old one," said the customer casually. Then, as the druggist and several others in the shop gasped, he added: "She uses it to clean her shoes!"

Soviet and West Sparring by Speeches Biggest Game of Bluff in World History

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is the biggest game of bluff in world history going on between Soviet Russia and the United States?

The maneuvers look like it — and so do the speeches emanating from Moscow and Washington through official spokesmen.

Thus Andrei Vishinsky demands not only the prohibition of atom and hydrogen bombs but the demolition of all U. S. bases abroad — which would, of course, leave the Red Army, with its vast reserve of manpower, unaffected for use in conventional warfare.

Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson makes a speech saying he thinks the use of atom and hydrogen bombs will be neutralized just as was chemical warfare and that, if war comes, it will be fought with conventional weapons.

President Eisenhower makes a speech which, in the face of demands inside America for a balanced budget and tax reduction, sounds like he is trying to offset any impression abroad that civilian pressure for economy would be allowed to reduce the program for atomic armament and the means of carrying the new weapons to their targets.

He says "No tax, no labor and no service" would be too hard to bear "to support a necessary and logical defense of our freedom."

What is the meaning of these public exchanges of viewpoint — this warfare by headlines?

The game isn't being carried on just by official spokesmen, either. There is a demand from scientists here and abroad that everything be published now — how to make atom and hydrogen bombs and the data on how many America has made already.

This crusade against further secrecy has been taken up by a school of thought which thinks that if the Russians really knew how far ahead we are today on bombs — both quantitatively and qualitatively — they wouldn't try to start any wars.

* * *

There's another school of thought, however, which thinks Soviet Russia is trying hard, through every device of propaganda and infiltration into scientific circles, to get America to disclose what her atomic program really has been and will be in order that the Soviet campaign for disarmament and equalization of strength may be carried on even more effectively by the Soviets.

* * *

Meanwhile, the Communists have succeeded in scaring some of the political parties in Europe, if not all the governments.

The mere mention by the Russians of how easy it is to drop an atom bomb on any European capital if America launches an atomic war of defense is enough to cause the Allied governments to beg for a peaceful course, even if it savors of appeasement.

The demand for admission of Red China into the U. N. is widespread in Europe because of a belief that this will immediately cause Soviet Russia to become peaceful or "reduce tension."

But, as the Vishinsky speech has already indicated, Soviet Russia isn't going to be satisfied by a settlement of Far Eastern questions. She demands also the dissolution of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the scrapping of the European Defense Army idea.

* * *

Looking at the other side of the picture, there is no doubt that Moscow knows of the power of the American air forces — both those bombers which would fly from overseas bases the moment war was declared and those that would fly from the decks of aircraft carriers whose location the Soviet cannot know, because these ships move around constantly and still keep within striking distance of the Russian heartland.

* * *

Theoretically, enemy bombs could destroy fixed land bases in Europe and, if precious bombs were to be wasted on movable targets, they could destroy aircraft carriers, too.

But defense planners aren't dissuaded by such contingencies — these become merely "calculated risks."

America's program of a quick retaliation by airplanes and missiles is still the most powerful threat ever conceived by the mind of man against an enemy power — and the Soviets know it.

This threat of retaliation, moreover, can be maintained now by a reasonable expenditure annually without breaking up the American economy.

The budget can be balanced at the same time that the game of bluff and counter-bluff goes on for years with no actual war, for the simple reason that no people anywhere will sanction an offensive war.

That's why the Soviets figure they can infiltrate America as they have Italy, France and Britain. They think they can get concessions from governments and cabinets that are bluffed by a Russian threat.

Complacency on the "infiltration front" is growing in America and in many countries also where the "cold war" is spreading through exploitation of local issues.

That's the bloodless way by which the Soviets mean to achieve domination of the governments of the "free world" — and along with it, America's disarmament, which is their real objective.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Says Limerick Contests Financially Worth While

Prize contesting is a dandy hobby for everybody. But it is especially fine for invalids and folks who have retired after passing the age of 65. This hobby helps weld husband and wife together. It offers millions in cash prizes, and is mentally quite educational. But watch for the pitfalls!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case H-393: Louise F., aged 28, is a young housewife who has recently become a prize contest fan.

"Dr. Crane, after reading your column about contesting a few months ago, I made the plunge," she said, with a smile.

"And I won an electric dishwasher on my 9th entry, so it was well worth the effort. Besides, my husband works with me, and we find that contesting serves as an ideal mutual hobby.

"It is mentally stimulating, too, for we must consult encyclopedias for information.

"But here's a new problem I haven't met before. A New York writer offers to furnish the box tops and write the contest entry for anybody, all for a $10 fee.

"In other words, he'll send me everything and all I must do is sign my name to the contest letter, after he has written it. But he wants his $10 ghost writing fee in advance. Should I do so?"

No, this sort of thing not only violates the spirit of the usual contest, but even if you were to spend $10 to have a New Yorker write your entry, you still have no guarantee that you will win anything thereon.

Moreover, you lose the mental stimulation of digging out the facts from an encyclopedia. And there is no longer any mutual hobby for yourself and your husband or wife, if the two of you have been working contests together.

Besides, if a professional ghost writer could be sure of winning the big prizes, he would submit his entries in his own name or that of his relatives.

For in many national contests nowadays, the top prize may be $10,000 in cash or even more.

So many talented writers enter prize contests, since that is big money in any man's language for just a 100-word letter.

Previously I have told you that Mrs. Crane and I devoted almost the entire first year of our marriage to prize contesting.

We won dozens of prizes, ranging from $1 up to a couple of $1,000 first prizes. But at our best, I doubt if we won more than once out of eight times.

We were bush leaguers compared to many contestants. I have met men who spend their entire time as professional contestants. They have elaborate suites of offices, filled with the latest encyclopedias, etc.

And they have two or three secretaries who do nothing but dig up material for their contest entries. For contesting is financially worth while.

But Mrs. Crane and I soon learned to stay away from any type of contest which requires you to qualify your entry with anything more than a boxtop or soap wrapper, etc.

Beware of contests which offer "run-off" series of puzzles in case of ties! Rebus puzzles often belong in this class. They drag out almost endlessly.

And their purpose is often to attract "sucker lists" of names, which can later be sold for direct mail advertising lists.

Stick to limerick contests or those that ask for 25-word to 100-word letters, or that want you to name products.

Read the rules with double care. Prepare neat entries with a little color for extra eye-appeal. And proofread your entry with diligence!

Many of you have won automobiles and big cash prizes by following the advice therein.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

International News Service

Trieste was Italian before the Venetians grabbed it around 1272. Along about 1384 the Austrians caught the Venetians with their tides down. Some people think the Venetians got a shade the worse of it.

Trieste was Austrian over five centuries until Italy hooked up with the Allies in World War One. Then she got Trieste back as a reward for immobilizing the Alps.

The screwball poet D'Annunzio invested his two cents by flying over the disputed territory on alternate Tuesdays. He dropped enough pamphlets to paper via Appian the long way.

Itally got a testimonial mandate over Trieste, 1919. Which was a vintage year for Woodrow Wilson's international gripes. Woodrow divided all Europe with mathematical impracticability.

Along about 1946 Marshal Tito put in a claim for Trieste but was blocked by Premier De Gasperi. The lads had a looking duel with daggers.

When Tito broke away from Stalin and put in another bid, we concede that Tito broke away from the main body. But so did the chunk of iceberg that sank the Titanic.

Dr. Brady Quits Fighting but Prefers Tincture of Iodine at Seven Per Cent

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

There seems to be a concerted effort to stop me recommending plain old boric acid in the family medicine cupboard.

Frankly I don't feel particularly concerned about discarding boric acid.

But the alleged discovery that this familiar old standby of hospital and domestic medicine is too "poisonous" to keep in the family medicine cupboard seems contrived when contrasted with the extraordinary silence of medical and health authorities and the druggist regarding the lethal effects of acetanilid.

This coaltar derivative is one of the fine print killers—you have to read the fine print on the container to learn what you are taking.

Through two decennial revisions of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia on the strength or form of iodin I tried earnesly to conform with these frequent and unaccountable changes.

Then the physicians, pharmacist chemists, manufacturers, professor and therapeutists revising the Pharmacopoeia abruptly threw out Mild Tincture of Iodine (delete the final e if you have no idle time to kill), a 2 per cent strength liquid introduced expressly to supply the popular demand for a first aid wound disinfectant.

They substituted a preparation of similar strength, I believe, called weak solution or something of the sort.

That tore it. The heck with it, I said. I shall no longer junk printings of pamphlets and booklets and answer hundreds of letters from people confused by these periodic changes of fashion.

For internal use I chose marigenous iodin—that is, iodin from the sea, mother source of all the iodin or iodide in the world — and this is the only iodin I recommend for internal use, as described in the pamphlet the Iodin Ration.

For external use as first aid disinfectant or as a counter-infectant or as a counter-irritant painted on the unbrowned skin over bruise, sprain or swelling I recommend only Mild Tincture of Iodine in the United States or virtually the same thing, called Weak Tincture or Surgical Tincture of Iodine Canada.

This liquid is approximately 2 per cent, whereas the Tincture of Iodine which was standard 30 years ago contained 7 per cent of iodin.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

1953 Knights Think Night Time to Joust

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Across the Biltmore Forest Country Club's golf course, deputies sheriff trailed the hoof marks of horses. Upon the greens they found the turf rent by iron shoes. From a nearby pond they fished up the bridles. In shrubbery they discovered hidden saddles. The tracks led back to the Biltmore Forest Stables, where doors stood ajar.

Deputies finally ferreted the facts: two young knights of 1953, unencumbered by warriors' mail, plumes or swords, had swiped the animals, charged across the course and jousted in the starlight, using flagstaffs of the green markers as their lances.

Coronation Cake Not to Be Eaten

APPOMATTOX, Va. (AP)—It was quite an operation — getting this piece of cake to Mrs. John C. Moore. But eat it? Not on your life.

The 4 by 6 inch slice of fruit cake topped with lemon icing is something special. Here's how Mrs. Moore happened to get it:

She received the cake from Mrs. Annie Truman of Beckley, W. Va., whose daughter married Mrs. Moore's son. Mrs. Truman has a sister who lives in London and her son is a member of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

And the cake is a slice of the one baked especially for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Each guardsman was given a slice, and this particular guardsman's mother sent it to Mrs. Truman who sent it to Mrs. Moore.

BACKED FOR U.N. JOB—Lt.-Gen. Raymon A. Wheeler seems likely to be named head of the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees. The agency is primarily concerned with improving Arab-Israeli problems. General Wheeler was chief of engineers of the U.S. Army until his retirement in 1949.

The Lewis and Clark expedition from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Coast and back again lasted from May, 1804 to September, 1806, and 31 men were in the official party. The entire trip was made on a budget of $2,500, according to the National Geographic Society.

Airliner Makes Crash Landing

All On Board Escape Injury After One Engine Bursts Into Flames

MILES CITY, Mont. (AP)—A passenger in the non-scheduled airplane that caught fire and made a belly landing here yesterday said 37 homeward bound Korean veterans should be congratulated on their calmness.

The passenger, who refused to be identified, told the Associated Press there was no panic.

None was injured. Seven crew members aboard also escaped harm.

* * *

The C46 twin-engine Caribbean-American Airlines plane was carrying the soldiers from Seattle, Wash., to Boston and Baltimore. It had landed in this eastern Montana town of 10,000 to refuel. The next stop was to have been Kansas City.

The plane was airborne before it was noticed that the right engine was afire. As it circled the city, crew members opened three escape hatches.

* * *

Passengers were told to remain in their seats until the plane came to a complete stop, then make a break for the escape hatches.

Stewardess Jan Minnick, Wabash Ind., a small blonde, said everyone ran from the plane as fast as he could after the landing.

Told that several small children at nearby Sacred Heart school saw the plane afire and prayed for their safety, the unidentified passenger exclaimed:

'Daddy' Show Starts Sept. 29

But Does Arabic Love Song Etching, 'Ataba' for Hospital

By EVE STARR

NEW YORK—Danny Thomas, whose new TV series, "Room for Daddy," premieres Sept. 29, is learning Arabic strictly for laughs.

He's preparing an independent etching of "Ataba," Arabic love song, formerly a song of mourning. (What a change of lyrics can do!)

Backed by a EVE STARR six-piece combo using Arabic instruments, benefits of the platter will go to the St. Jude Foundation Hospital in Memphis, his pet charity.

* * *

Look for a big platter soon to be released on the wonderful simple theme on the "Mr. Peepers Show."

Eleven-year-old Donna Corcoran draws the leading role in "Death Valley Days." First time a femme has taken the lead away from a guy . . . Donald O'Connor must be all well again because he plans to take his troupe to the New York Palace—and soon . . .

Last Sunday, Toots Shor threw a big party for Ezio Pinza and his 7 or 8 kids from his teleseries "Bonino." Pinza was the only one who ordered spaghetti . . .

Bob Hope says you don't get away from it all on your vacation —it gets away from you.

CRITIC'S CORNER: Since this department's recent comments on the CBS show, "Meet Mr. McNutley," which did not favorably impress me, I have learned some additional and pertinent facts, which should be relayed to readers.

At a luncheon in Hollywood I met the cast and production staff and learned that the pilot film had been made a year and a half ago—but since then the show has been vastly improved.

There is less contrived slapstick, the laugh track has been toned down, and Mr. McNutley, as played by Ray Milland, is getting more convincing lines and situations. And he no longer will play a befuddled college professor.

Best of all—boys—Phyllis Avery, who plays Mrs. McNutley, has developed a "Marilyn Monroe" walk. And that's something to see—as you will see!

POW for 33 Months Asks 'What Is TV Set'

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—"Now what is this?" inquired Capt. Millard Butler of his wife as they walked into their home here.

"It's our television set," the wife explained.

"It's all new to me," the captain said. "I've never seen a TV set before."

He was just home from 33 months in a Chinese Red prison.

DARK HORSE — Packing his car for an antelope-hunting trip in Wyoming is Federal Chief Circuit Judge Orie L. Phillips, whose court sits in Denver, Colo. Phillips, who has been mentioned as possible successor to the late Fred M. Vinson as Chief Justice of the United States, had planned to leave on the hunting trip but accepted a last-minute invitation to go fishing with President Eisenhower at Pine, Colo.

Passenger Boat Takes to the Air

Winged German Vessel Built to Fly More Than 22 Miles an Hour

BONN, Germany (UP) — A German firm has produced a passenger boat which leaves the water and starts to fly above a speed of 22 miles an hour.

A U. S. High Commission report said the first model, christened the "Brisk," was made last year for a Norwegian who hoped to use it to compete with more traditional type water-buses in Olso Fjord.

The flying boat is made of plywood, is driven like an automobile, and carries eight passengers.

An eight-cylinder, 165-horsepower, Chrysler engine drives it at a top speed of 70 kilometers (about 44 miles) per hour.

About 10 seconds after starting, the boat can achieve a speed of 35 kilometers (about 22 miles) per hour, at which point, says the High Commission report, "the boat begins to emerge from the water to ride on wings only."

The boat corners well, too. It is claimed that at a speed of 55 kilometers (about 35 miles) per hour, a full turn can be made in 50 meters.

Even Stork Has Trouble Getting to Polecat Hollow

County Road Supt. Eugene Geary said his crews had to rebuild the bridge after a physician complained he couldn't drive across it to attend an expectant mother. Geary investigated, agreed the span was unsafe and ordered repairs.

Handsome Prince Really Works Hard

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (AP)—A tall, handsome, affable and hard-working 46-year-old prince will someday be the ruler of the little mountain kingdom of Laos—one of the three Associated States of Indochina.

Administration of much of the imperial affairs of Laos already rests in the hands of Crown Prince Tiao Savang Vathana, for it often is delegated to him by his ailing father, 68-year-old King Sisavang Vong.

A lawyer and graduate of the free school of political sciences in Paris, the crown prince was named president of the council for the kingdom of Laos on November 17, 1941.

During the occupation of Laos by the Japanese and Chinese in and after World War II, the crown prince steadfastly remained at his father's side in the royal palace here and refused to have anything to do with the occupants. He did likewise when the Communist-led Viet-Minh threatened to attack Luang Prabang in April and May 1953, remaining with the king at Luang Prabang until the enemy forces suddenly withdrew from Laos.

Say Purged Red Safe in Japan

Claim Americans Aided North Korean Foreign Minister to Escape

SEOUL (AP)—A South Korean intelligence officer said today Park Hun Yung, ousted foreign minister of Red North Korea, had been spirited to safety in Japan. A U.S. Army spokesman in Tokyo denied knowledge of Park's whereabouts.

An intelligence officer for the ROK National Police said Park's flight to safety was "engineered" by American officers.

He said Park's escape was planned as early as last January.

Last August the North Korean Pyongyang radio announced a sweeping purge of about a dozen government leaders, including Park. Later it was announced that Gen. Nam Il, the chief Red truce negotiator, had taken over as foreign minister.

Park was the No. 1 Red in South Korea during the U. S. occupation. He fled to North Korea before the outbreak of war and has bitterly assailed America on numerous occasions.

Nonetheless, he was purged for allegedly spying in North Korea for the United States.

Cleveland Cars Tagged With Helpful Tickets

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police are sticking a new kind of ticket on parked cars here. It reads:

"You have not violated a traffic ordinance. But you have jeopardized your own property right by leaving valuables in plain sight in your automobile.

"If your property had been sighted by a thief instead of a policeman . . . you would probably be put to far more expense than if you received a dozen parking tickets.

"Please co-operate with the police department in protecting your property!"

Records show about 300 cases of automobile trespassing a month in Cleveland.

Hal Boyle Reports:

Lowly John Doe Has Fun, Fame Is Trouble and Bore

NEW YORK (AP)—Would you like to be world famous, recognized and admired wherever you went?

The man in the street offhand would say, "Sure. Why not? Do you think I'm crazy?" But if he thought it over, I don't think he'd want to be famous at all.

For it's a dog's life. It is living on a leash. It is being a public hermit.

Fame is too often a cage that imprisons the one within it just as surely as a lion is held by the bars of a zoo.

I have met or interviewed many famous men and women, and usually have come away feeling rather sorry for them. Their renown is a heavy and burdensome chain, and restricts their freedom.

Whatever power they gain from fame often is hardly worth the simple pleasures they lose.

The truth is that the man in the street has more real fun and freedom than the man on the pedestal.

The price of those who stand upon a public peak of prominence is to be stared at wherever they go, bowed to, endlessly admired.

The ordinary man certainly feels he could use a little more appreciation from those around him — particularly his wife, his other boss, his children, the neighbors and a few traffic cops.

When he pays his taxes, he may even think the least his Uncle Sam could do in return is mail him a "thank you" note.

But otherwise his appetite for acclaim is actually pretty limited. The fame he wistfully daydreams of would—if his dreams came true—be a living nightmare.

And in his heart he knows it. To win achievement or recognition in one's field is one thing. But to be widely famous is another thing.

To most people fame would be a nuisance and a bore. It would be frightening and kill them young. For every man likes to feel he is his own master.

But when you are famous you are the uneasy prisoner of everybody.

You become public property, whether you like it or not. Some famous folk revolt against being pawed by the people, and their reward is sometimes to be sneered at as "gettin' too big for his britches."

But they have a right to be themselves. It is said that even the gentle Gen. Robert E. Lee disliked having people touch him or walk closely behind him.

An earlier general, Cincinnatus, went back to his plow after saving Rome. Probably the other generals and politicians called him a show-off, but was he? Or is Greeta Garbo insincere when, after a tremendous career, she insists now on the right to be alone?

Recently a tall, still youthful-looking man of middle age was looking at a tray of gadgets in a five-and-ten cent store.

"Doesn't he look familiar?" one salesgirl asked another.

"Like who?"

"Well, a little like Lindbergh."

"Ye-e-es," said the second girl doubtfully, "maybe around the eyes and mouth. But can you imagine Lindbergh being in here?"

Both girls laughed at the idea.

A moment later Charles A. Lindbergh paid for his purchases, smiled shyly and walked out. No man in history ever won a greater fame overnight than he did — few wanted that kind of fame less, or paid a more terrible price for it.

Today Lindbergh is happier than he has been in more than a quarter of a century because, as he told a friend, "Now I can go into a dime store and nobody knows me."

It is one of the greatest privileges and pleasures he has known since he made his famous flight to Paris—just to be as free again as any other man in the street.

Polio in County Claims 3 Lives

17 New Cases This Week Brings Oakland Total to 145

Polio claimed the lives of three persons in south Oakland County last week, Oakland County Health Department reports showed today.

The deaths boost the county's polio toll for the year to five. County Health Department report, released by Dr. John D. Monroe, director, covers all county areas except Pontiac.

Seventeen new cases of polio were reported last week, a slight increase over the dozen cases listed the week before. Polio total for the year is now 145 cases with five deaths, about the same as in 1952.

The department's report also shows a jump in pneumonia, which climbed to 12 new cases last week as against only two the week before.

No cases of chicken pox and only one case of mumps, against 27 new mumps cases the week before, were shown on the report which reads as follows:

	Past Week	Week Ending Sept. 12, '53	Sept. 20, '52
Chicken pox	0	4	1
Measles	6	2	5
Pneumonia (all forms)	12	2	0
Poliomyelitis	17	12	25
Scarlet fever	1	2	4
Tuberculosis (all forms)	4	2	3
Whooping cough	7	10	5
Mumps	1	27	3
Rubella	4	0	0
Diarrhea	2	6	5
Hepatitis (jaundice)	3	1	0

Few cases of most communicable diseases are listed on Pontiac City Health Department report for last week, also released by Dr. Monroe.

No new cases of chicken pox, measles, mumps, scarlet fever, Rubella (German measles), and only two cases of polio are shown on the report which follows in full:

	Past Week	Week Ending Sept. 12, '53	Sept. 20, '52
Chicken pox	0	0	1
Gonorrhea	14	6	5
Measles	0	0	2
Mumps	0	1	1
Poliomyelitis	2	2	11
Scarlet fever	0	0	2
Syphilis	3	3	3
Tuberculosis	0	0	3
Rabies (in animals)	0	0	2

CLINTON CLEANS UP—A Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department crew begins cleaning banks of Clinton River from Beaudette Park to Telegraph Rd. According to David R. Ewalt, department director, the six-man crew is expected to be on the job about 10 days. Starting early Monday at the Mill Pond, seven dump loads of rubbish and trash were removed from the banks the first day.

Doctor's Rise Is State Saga

Last Advancement Caps All-Michigan Career of U-M Hospital Head

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The recent election of Dr. Albert C. Kerlikowske to the head of the American College of Hospital Administrators completes an all-Michigan success story to rival the best.

The personable 53-year-old director of University of Michigan Hospital, started as an intern 21 years ago in the big sprawling institution he has headed for the past eight years.

The St. Joseph-born physician is the first native Michigander ever to assume the office.

He was named president-elect, and as such a member of the administrator's executive committee Sept. 2 at the annual meeting of the ACHA in San Francisco.

The 2,000-member organization has no automatic membership. After three years of active work in hospital administration, a man may be, recommended for membership. After two years of membership and strict examination, a member may become a fellow. Dr. Kerlikowske has served as a member of the organization's board of regents as a fellow since 1947.

He was born Jan. 7, 1900 in St. Joseph, where his father and mother and five brothers still reside, engaged in farming and business enterprises.

His wife, Aline, is a native of Lake Linden. Both are University of Michigan graduates.

After graduating from St. Joseph High in 1917, Dr. Kerlikowske attended the Michigan Medical School and received his diploma in 1924, when he became an intern at the hospital here. After a steady climb through the ranks, he became director in 1945.

25 Dogs to Get Contest Awards

No Pedigree Needed to Win in Any of Four Class Groupings

The fourth annual "Pooch Party" sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has been set for 2 p.m. Saturday at Oakland Park.

This annual city-wide affair put on with assistance of the Pontiac Kennel Club is designed to give "just dogs" as much chance for honors as pedigreed pets.

The contest, held in conjunction with National Dog Week, will be divided into a junior and a senior division. Children between the ages of 7 and 11 are eligible to enter their pets in the junior division, while youths in the 11 through 17 age bracket will place their entries in the senior division.

There are four classes of competition and twenty-five prizes will be awarded in all. The Pontiac Kennel Club will furnish judges, trophies and prizes.

Ribbons will be presented in both divisions for first, second and third place winners in each class.

Competition for the best groom dog award will be based on the condition of the animal's hair, skin, toenails, eyes, ears and teeth.

In the best trick dog category, the number and execution of tricks will be the basis of appraisal.

To win the contest as best informed owner, participant must be able to answer successfully a number of questions related to feeding, grooming, general characteristics, first aid and general information about dogs.

For the best pet combination group there must be evidence of companionship, good fellowship and understanding between the dog and his master.

In order to participate in the best pet combination category, entrants in the senior division must also participate in the best informed owner contest.

A prize also will be given for the animal judged the best all-around dog.

Contest entry blanks are available at schools throughout the city and entrants are urged to get their applications in as soon as possible.

Ex-Red Reveals Why He Turned

MSC Professor Tells of Futility of Communist Goals, Organization

Dr. Arnold Williams, associate professor of English at Michigan State College and formerr Communist party member, here tells in his own words why he renounced Red ideology and reaffirmed his belief in American dmocratic processes.

By DR. ARNOLD WILLIAMS
Associate English Professor, Michigan State College

EAST LANSING (UP)—My brief association with the Communist Party in 1936 and 1937 served to convince me of the superiority of our American system.

Looking back, I am impressed by the complete futility and ineptness of the Communist Party, both as to its organization and goals.

I am sure that our democratic system, while it may sometimes respond slowly to the will of its citizens, still affords the most effective means of achieving the better way of life we all are seeking.

With its bulwarks of free speech and free press, our American system is better able to preserve the values of a free society than any other yet devised. I can only hope that my experience has helped me interpret these values to my students.

I entered the Communist Party on somewhat philosophical grounds, thinking that it represented ideals leading toward a better life for humanity. I guess that in the 1930s I was overly impatient with our democratic processes in achieving those goals.

I was fortunate in discovering fairly early what the Communist Party really was. I am thankful I realized that its materialistic philosophy left the individual completely out of consideration and was only concerned with advancing its own aims.

Sale of Exams Being Probed

Student Chiropractors Allegedly Offered Test Questions for Price

DETROIT (AP)—An investigation was under way today into charges that students taking the Michigan Basic Science Board's chiropractic examinations were offered test questions for a price.

Clair O'Dell, Wyandotte chiropractor and president of the Michigan Chiropractic Academy, said several students were offered a list of the questions for $600 and $700.

In most of the cases, O'Dell added, the name of a Hamtramck chiropractor was mentioned. He did not name him.

O'Dell said one student, asked to pay $700 for the test questions, refused to pay the money and didn't take the examination, but signed an affidavit in June against the doctor for Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien.

Dr. Orin E. Madison, chairman of the Basic Science Board and assistant chemistry professor at Wayne University, asked that the state attorney general's office conduct the probe.

Happy Warriors Content With Jobs, Army Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — My, my, how the Army must have changed!

For the adjutant general's office has come up with a survey which purports to show that today's soldier (A) is satisfied with his job, (B) Thinks he is doing the work for which he was trained, and (C) Believes his chores are necessary.

The survey was made of 4,000 enlisted men leaving the service. And the answers may surprise those who may have felt the Army could be divided into two classes: The eager few who are anxious to get ahead at all costs, and the majority who like to drag their heels at all costs.

But the adjutant general's questioners asked:

How satisfied were you with your army job?

The draftees answered: Very satisfied, 18 per cent; satisfied, 57 per cent; dissatisfied, 16 per cent, and very dissatisfied, 7 per cent.

The Regular Army boys voted the same, only more so. Twenty-four per cent said they were very satisfied.

And so it went.

Do you feel your job was necessary to the Army? Yes, almost all of it was necessary, said 66 per cent.

Did you spend most of your time working on the job for which you were trained? Yes, most of the time, said 61 per cent.

Tornado Towns Can Expect 2nd Twister in 6953

MILTON, Mass (UP)—An area leveled by a tornado isn't apt to get hit by another devastating one for at least 5,000 years.

And that figure for New England, where tornadoes are rare, is 20,000 years, a noted meteorolgist said today.

Dr. Charles F. Brooks, director of Harvard's Blue Hill Meteorological Observatory, said the 5,000 years applies to the tornado-belt in the midwest.

Statistics show, Brooks said, that death-dealing twisters will occur in a given area there only once in 5,000 years and, in a few cases, once in every 10,000 years

He said that tornadoes, generally speaking, don't strike twice in the same place, at least with the same fury. But there are exceptions, he said, like the three tornadoes that struck Codell, Kans., three successive years on or about the same day.

Reds Building 3 Transmitters

Complete 300,000 Watt Dresden Radio Station for Propaganda Use

BERLIN (AP)—The Russian zone has completed a powerful new transmitter and is building two more to carry radio propaganda farther West, the West Berlin newspaper Der Abend reported today.

The newspaper said a 300,000 watt transmitter recently began operating at Dresden. Another transmitter of the same power is to be inaugurated Oct. 1 at Schwerin, while a 500,000 watt transmitter will be completed in November at Burg.

The new 500,000 watt station would be the strongest in Europe after Radio Moscow. The West's most powrful station in Germany, the American-sponsored Rias in West Berlin, operates at 300,000 watts.

Speedway Driving OK, but Not on City Streets

DETROIT (AP) — For the next six months, race driver Eugene W. Krulock may drive at the Motor City Speedway but not on Detroit streets.

Traffic Judge John D. Watts slapped the no-driving probation order and a $50 fine against Krulock yesterday after the driver had been arrested for speeding for the fourth time.

Police said Krulock was driving 65 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone during busy traffic. He was convicted of reckless driving.

Propose Speed Area

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit City Parks and Recreation Commission suggested Tuesday that the city set aside a spot where hot-rodders and motorcyclists could speed as much as they wish. The commission proposed either a section of Rouge Park or the State Fairgrounds track.

State Seafarers Vote AFL Union

DETROIT (AP)—The AFL Seafarers International Union reported today it beat out a rival CIO group in an election to determine which would represent 300 unlicensed seamen on the Ann Arbor Railroad carferries.

SIU International representative David Lees said his group had 126 votes in a balloting taken by the National (Railway) Mediation Board, to 114 for the CIO National Maritime Union

The seamen have been members of the CIO union. They operate five carferries out of Frankfort.

Pacific Typhoon Winds Expected to Slacken

MANILA (AP) — The weather bureau said tonight the 110 mph winds of a Pacific typhoon 400 miles southeast of Okinawa would slacken early tomorrow as the storm heads north toward the Ryukyu Islands.

The typhoon may hit the Ryukyus late tomorrow. The big American base of Okinawa is near the southern end of the Ryukyu chain.

Foreign Students Tour Fisher Body

Fisher Body Division's Pontiac plant was visited Tuesday by a select group of engineering students from all over the world.

These students have spent three and a half months in study at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston. Now they are on a two-week tour of American industrial plants. The group included 58 men aand five women.

Akihito to See Ford Plant

DETROIT (UP) — Crown Prince Akihito of Japan will visit the Greenfield Village museum and Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant today before boarding a train for Chicago on another leg of his month-long tour of the United States.

The 19-year-old prince, a freshman at Gakushuin University in Tokyo, visited the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor Tuesday and met President Harlan H. Hatcher and numerous faculty members.

Hatcher presented Akihito with leather-bound volume of etchings of campus scenes. The prince also inspected the school's center for Japanese studies and received two volumes outlining the functions of the center.

Boat Renter Is Fined Under New State Law

MT CLEMENS (UP) — Donald Hampton, a boat livery attendant, awaited a court hearing today on charges of violating a new state law limiting the capacity of rented boats.

Hampton was charged after a rented boat carrying five persons was swamped in Lake St Clair Labor Day. Police said the boat had a capacity of three persons.

Too High Hat:

LONDON (UP)—One of Britain's most blue-blooded noblemen called on the common people to drop their only claim to a title—the lowly "mister."

He said it was "arrant snobbery" to go around calling yourself mister unless you have the right to call yourself one.

And you haven't got that right unless you are, among other things, a university graduate, he said.

The call came from Capt. Iain Moncreiffe, husband of the lord high constable of Scotland, the countess of Errol.

The countess' titles go back 800 years and those of the Moncreiffe family more than 700.

Capt. Moncreiffe took his anti-mister stand in the midst of a continuing debate on who has the right to have "Esq." after his name. In Britain, esquires officially are the sons of peers and knights and certain judges, lawyers and law officers.

But the "Esq." is being freely used in addressing practically everybody and purists in this country are demanding that it be confined to the people really entitled to it or be eliminated entirely.

You can be born an esquire, he held, "but nobody can be born a mister."

3 Pontiac Guardsmen Receive Medal Awards

Lt. Col. Robert McCall, commander of the 3rd Battalion of the 125th National Guard Infantry Regiment, awarded medals Monday night to three members of Pontiac's Guard Company M.

The three men, Sgt. Richard Huddy of Garden City; Sgt. 1 C. Charles Austin of 12 Downing Ct., Pontiac; and 2nd Lt. Robert Carland, 15 Clarence St., Pontiac, received the Broadsword Medal for serving six consecutive years in the National Guard. All three entered the National Guard in the spring of 1947.

Mr. Tod Bentzer
2117 Front Street
Providence, R. I.
My dear Tod:

This is in answer to your nine-page letter in which you tell me (a) how much you love the theater, (b) how anxious you are to break into it, and (c) how grateful you'd be if I gave you some advice on how to get started.

Well, Tod, there's only one way for a fellow without experience to break into the theater fast — and that is to start at the top. How does one do this, you ask? Easy. Become a producer.

No, I'm not kidding. The producer is the only man in this bumptious business who is nominated and elected by himself, and who can occupy office by merely paying the rent.

Believe it or not, all he has to know these days is how to dial a telephone, how to mix a Martini, and how not to blush easily.

* * *

(To be sure, there are a dozen old-line producers who came up the hard way and know the difference between a script and a plate of succotash. I'm not talking about these eccentrics. I'm referring to the 260 normal people who are listed as "producers" in the New York classified telephone directory.)

* * *

The way to do this is to send out a press release announcing a revival of "A Month in the Country" by Anton Chekov. This will immediately establish you as an electric personality, and within 24 hours you'll be in scripts up to your wishbone.

If you're a masochist, you can read some of them, but in the case of an electric personality, this is optional.

Once you've selected a script—the eenie-meenie-minie-mo method is as good as any — draw up a budget.

It costs about $60,000 these days to produce a one-set drama and better than $200,000 to put on a multi-set musical.

But don't let these lend-lease figures frighten you — none of this money has to come out of your pocket. There are 4,000 tried-and-true angels who get their kicks and tax deductions by investing in Broadway shows, and for a few dollars you can buy a mimeographed list of names and addresses.

The next thing is to assemble these angels in small groups and defeather them. This is usually accomplished at a series of gin and jabber parties known as "auditions."

And it is here that you will face the "acid test." If you make the mistake of reading more than three pages of the script the backers will conclude, reasonably enough, that you're unsure of yourself.

* * *

Standard procedure is to limit your pitch to (1) the title of the play, (2) the fact that Sam Goldwyn's nephew thinks it will make a better movie than "Gone With The Wind," and (3) the rumor that Roger L. Stevens bought the Empire State Building with the profits on a $2 investment in "South Pacific."

* * *

This technique is guaranteed to get you thousands of dollars at each audition, the exact amount depending on your sleight of tongue. A word of caution, however: When the hosiery and halvah merchants reach for their checkbooks, don't pant.

What if you put the show on and it fails? The answer to that one is that a show can't fail if you're an "astute producer."

How does one get to be an astute producer? By not producing. Yes, my dear Tod, if you want to rate high in the Times Square totem pole, I'd suggest you send the money back to the suckers after a decent interval, explaining that you're abandoning the "project" because of second aet trouble.

This gesture will stamp you forever, not only as an electric personality but as an astute one.

I can perhaps best point up the wisdom of being a nonproducing producer by telling you the heart-searing story of Mr. B. . . .

For as long as I've known him, Mr. B. frequented the tonier gin mills and was An Important Man to Know on Broadway. Male stars traded highballs and chit-chat with him, and the town's chestiest chicks fought for his telephone number.

He rated this attention, first, because he talked a heck of a good show and, second, because he announced an ambitious play each spring and let drop he was negotiating for, let's say, Laurence Olivier and Helen Hayes.

Each fall it would turn out that these talented tots weren't available, and Mr. B. would reluctantly abandon the production. Thereby assuring himself of a good season.

Last year, however, this gent got confused — some say it was due to a glandular deficiency — and actually put a show into rehearsal. Well, it opened on a Thursday, was mugged by the critics on Friday and breathed its last on Saturday.

I recently met up with Mr. B. in one of the dimmer joints on Eighth Avenue. "I don't get it," he said. "Fellows who bought me drinks for years won't pass me the salted peanuts today."

I made polite noises and walked away. There's little one can do for a producer who forgets that you get more respect on Broadway by talking a good show than producing a bad one . . .

It figures that you'll need a certain amount of capital, Tod, to be a nonproducing producer, but don't let that worry you.

The theater is essentially an afternoon and evening business, and you can always pick up a few dollars by getting yourself a part-time job in the morning. Like, for instance, sharpening scissors. For this, of course, you'll need some talent.

See you at Sardi's,
Billy Rose.

Government Seeks to Hang Mossadegh

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—An informed army source said today that Iran's government would ask a military court to sentence ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to hang on charges to be announced probably in "three or four days."

(This report from Tehran appeared to discount a dispatch from the Iranian capital to the London Daily Express today that the ex-premier had been sentenced on Tuesday to hang at the conclusion of a three-week secret trial. There was no immediate comment from Tehran on the Express report.)

The army source said the government still had not decided whether Mossadegh's trial would be held secretly or in public.

Uncle Not Joking About Money in Chickenyard

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eleven years ago, when Constance Mertens' uncle was on his deathbed, he told her there was money buried in the chickenyard.

Yesterday, a bulldozer grading the site for an automobile sales yard, turned up three glass jars containing $1,000 in silver and currency.

Miss Mertens was watching when the money was uncovered. She said she and relatives had dug "all over that chickenyard without finding the money."

Moscow Radio Reveals Death of Mongolian Chief

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio announced the death today of Gonchigin Bumatsende, titular chief of state of the Communist-ruled Mongolian People's Republic.

The broadcast, heard in London, did not give Bumatsende's age, but said he was the oldest leader of the Mongolian People's Revolutionary Party. He held the post of chairman of the presidium.

U. N. Concludes POW Turnover

Truce Is Now in New Phase; 90-Day Coaxing Period to Start

SEOUL (AP)—The U.N. Command today turned over to neutral Indian troops the last of some 22,600 prisoners who renounced communism, leaving Allied stockades empty of captives for the first time in three years.

With the final delivery came a surprise annoucement that the Allies will not send observers to watch the arrival at the neutral zone Thursday of 359 Allied soldiers the Reds say don't want to go home. They include 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans, according to a Communist newsman.

* * *

Red observers watched the two-week transfer to the demilitarized zone of Allied-held POWs refusing repatriation. But the U.N. Command said "we do not feel that the presence of UNC observers is necessary to insure a fair and successful handling of the turnover from the Communists."

* * *

The Allied announcement added "we have confidence in the ability of the CFI (Custodial Force, India) to carry out its mission."

Simultaneously, India ordered 600 reinforcements for the 5,000-man force which will guard the unrepatriated POWs. The additional Indians will be airlifted by the U.S. Air Force via Japan and are expected this weekend.

* * *

Final delivery of prisoners to the buffer zone brings the armistice to a new phase. Starting Friday or Saturday, Allied and Communist interviewers have 90 days to try to coax their former soldiers to come home.

* * *

A new source of tension in the eight-week-old truce was a statement by Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, U.S. 5th Air Force commander, that the U.N. has had "two recent indications" that the Reds moved jet warplanes into Korea after the July 27 signing in direct violation of armistice terms.

Allied radar has tracked arriving Red planes, Anderson said.

A North Korean pilot who fled to South Korea Monday reported jet and propeller planes were moved into North Korea after the truce.

Bogart, Warners End Association of 17 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Humphrey Bogart and Warner Brothers Studio have reached an amicable parting of the ways after an association of 17 years.

Bogart asked for release from a 15-year contract signed in 1946, calling for one picture a year, and the studio acceded.

Report Earthquake Hit Peninsula of Kamchatka

CLEVELAND (AP) — Earthquake shocks hit Kamchatka, a Russian Siberian peninsula extending into the Bering sea, at 10:26 (EDT) last night, according to John Carroll University's seismograph.

Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, director of the school's seismographical studies, said today the earthquake-detecting apparatus indicated the shocks were felt 5,100 miles northwest of Cleveland, placing them at the Russian Peninsula.

Ike Will Hold Stag Dinner at White House

Twenty-three businessmen and government officials have been invited to the affair, primarily to discuss the campaign of the American Heritage Foundation for the "Crusade for Freedom."

The Foundation describes itself as a non-profit group working for greater citizen participation in government affairs. It also endeavors to spread American ideals abroad operating "Radio Free Europe" and "Radio Free Asia."

The President, on his second full day back in the White House after a six weeks' vacation in Colorado, arranged to meet this morning with the National Committee for United Nations Day, and to attend a session of his Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

He had a luncheon date with Secretary of State Dulles.

Report U. S. to Try for Jet Speed Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United States is going after Britain's new world jet speed record of 727.6 miles an hour.

The Times says the Navy tentatively plans an assault on the mark next Tuesday with the Douglas F4D Skyray interceptor at the Salton Sea of Edwards Air Force Base, both in Southern California.

But, said the Times today, Lt. Col. Pete Everest of Edwards AFB flight test center is making test runs over the Salton Sea in a North American F100 super Sabre and "if his speeds top the English record they will be announced as unofficial marks just prior to the Navy's forthcoming assault."

The British record was set by RAF squadron leader Neville Duke Sept. 7.

The islands of Luzon, Panay and Cebu have the principal rail communication routes in the Philippines.

Drought Blamed on 'Empty Talk'

Peiping Daily Says Red Speechmakers Slow-up Relief Action in China

HONG KONK (UP)—There's a bad drought in four provinces of Southwest China. The Peiping Peoples Daily says so.

It looks as though local Communist cadres were too busy leading "the struggle against bureacratism, commandism and breaching of law and discipline," and slowed down anti-drought steps.

"The drought this year has seriously affected the yield of autumn crops.

"Upon occurence of the drought, party administrative leadership organs at the various places have adopted emergency measures and have energetically led the masses in fighting against the drought.

"Following the issuance of the 'urgent directive concerning anti-drought and sprout-preserving' to various party committees by the southwest bureau of the Central Committee of the CCP, leadership organs in various places have definitely prescribed that the 'anti-drought and sprout preserving work' should now be taken as the pivotal task overriding all other work.

"'Anti-drought and sprout preserving' headquarters have been set up in many hsien (counties) under the leadership of secretaries of the hsien committees and magistrates to strengthen the leadership work in the fight against drought.

"During the process of the anti-drought and sprout-preserving work carried out in various places, the erroneous mentality on the part of cadres and the masses were firstly subjected to criticism, patriotic education was linked up, the masses were mobilized for active action, the measure of on-the-spot looking for water sources was adopted, the problems in assessing and grading anti-drought work and in the rational utilization of water were tackled and the anti-drought campaign was unfolded."

Both Guilty, Both Given Own Divorce Decree

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—A judge decided that both parties had a good case and granted separate divorce decrees to Genevieve and Antonio Torrez of Calwa.

Superior Court Judge Edward J. Kellas said his decision—believed to be the first of its kind in California—was based on a supreme court decision. The high court ruled it is permissable to grant separate decrees when neither party is innocent of charges filed by the other.

The couple had been married seven years. She sued on charges of cruelty and he counterfiled on the same complaint.

Year-Old Fire Truck Makes Its First Run

TINY VICTIM—Two-year-old Genevieve Hastings lies in Chester Hospital, Chester, Pa., with a fractured leg, an injured right leg and body bruises after being run over by a fleeing bandit. The thug abducted the child and her father, Alfred, in Hastings' car in downtown Chester. Hastings later jumped from the car but dropped his daughter. Bandit seized the wheel and ran over the child as he made his getaway. The nurse tending Genevieve is Mrs. Barbara Hendrickson.

Postman Turned Lawyer Wins His First Case

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A mail carrier who practices law on the side won his first criminal case by proving his client was in jail at the time the crime he was accused of was committed.

Richard J. Brown, the lawyer, had offered to represent clients without pay just for the experience after he was licensed to practice a year ago.

The circuit attorney's office dismissed the case yesterday against his client, charged under the habitual criminal act, after Brown proved the man was in jail for routine investigation when he was accused of snatching a woman's purse.

Brown went to night school at St. Louis University eight years while working full time as a mail carrier and supporting his mother.

Korean Envoy Home

Korean Police Capture 10 Commies, Slay 16

SEOUL (AP)—National police said today they killed 16 Communist guerrillas and captured 10 the past week.

May Delay Naming New Labor Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said today the appointment of a new secretary of labor might be delayed several weeks.

Smith, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee which will consider the appointment and report it to the full Senate for confirmation or rejection, discussed the matter with President Eisenhower at the White House yesterday.

He said in an interview it was his idea the choice could well be put off until close to the time for Congress to return in January.

"If the new secretary is chosen now, he couldn't be confirmed until after Congress comes back," the senator said. "Meanwhile, he would be out in the open for everybody to shoot at—labor or other groups that might be disappointed."

The Palio, a three-lap horse race around the square of Siena, Italy, has been run almost every year since the 14th century.

Why We Stake Our REPUTATION
on Omega Watches

In all the years we have been in business, one name—Omega—has continued to dominate the quality watch field. And every year, more and more Omega watches are sold through carefully selected jewelers the world over.

We are proud to be one of the jewelers whom Omega has chosen to represent it. Actually, Omega is staking its reputation on us.

For Omega is the best-known timekeeping instrument in the world. It is an accepted fact from Calcutta to Cairo...from Rome to Rio...that you can pay more for a watch if you wish, but you can not get better value.

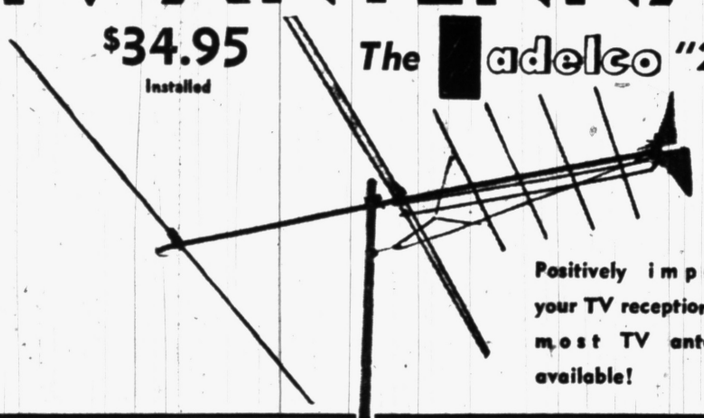

Most watches are assembled from mass-produced parts bought from other manufacturers and designed to fit nearly every type of watch. Very few are completely produced and assembled under one roof. Even those few manufacturers, however, who do control their entire production, haven't available to them the magnificent plant and advanced technological facilities of the self-contained Omega factories in Switzerland.

As a result, Omega holds the highest awards for accuracy at the three leading observatories of Geneva, Kew Teddington and Neuchatel. And Omega has been unanimously chosen to time the last four consecutive International Olympics.

When you are ready to buy a really fine watch, we suggest that you make your choice from among the many splendid examples of Omega craftsmanship in our collection. You can do so with the assurance that your Omega watch will be reliably serviced by leading jewelers in every land.

Would-Be Stars Forget Hard Facts of Broadway

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Every time a new Hollywood starlet makes a big hit and gets a huge contract—and every time an unknown actress scores a triumph on Broadway—I shudder to myself.

I shudder, because I know it will be only a matter of time before my mail is flooded with letters from girls who have decided to become actresses.

Second only to writing, it seems to me, acting appeals to all kinds of young women, with or without any ability.

They watch their savings dwindle, and they usually end up either going home and marrying the boy next door, and remaining more or less bitter, or settle for second-best in a job in some other field, feeling most of their lives that they really are "second-best."

It is almost impossible to discourage these youngsters.

You can quote the figures on the average income in the acting profession—which is much lower than a typist makes—and still they say: "But it's in my blood!"

My own personal feeling is that if you can imagine being happy doing anything else, you should stay away from acting.

However, because nobody pays much attention to such advice, here are a few rules for the girl who insists that she was born to act:

1. Start in your own school plays and in your own town's little theater. Get as much experience as you can at church fairs and in any amateur activities your community may put on.

2. When the time comes to storm New York, come with a definite plan for a paying job that will support you while you are making the rounds.

One girl I know took a job as a baby sitter evenings and weekends in exchange for room and board, so she was free in the daytime.

This gave her a couple of years without the tension of being broke and she eventually landed a bit part.

I know that this will not discourage any really enthusiastic would-be actresses and so I suggest that such girls bear one more thing in mind.

For each girl who makes the spectacular success that you read about, remember that thousands waste their youth, and in many cases their whole lives, in the unsuccessful attempt to be an actress.

The knowing touch of flowers makes any occasion a special one. She's placed her beau's gift in a cluster of curls to complement her hairdo. Who would guess that this sophisticated style is only one of the many possible with today's home permanents?

Inflatable Holder for Baby's Bottle

There'll be entertainment for baby and peace of mind for mother with a plastic bottle holder that looks like a rakish pink and blue kitten.

It's inflatable so there's a cushion of air to prevent breakage when Junior drops — or throws—his supper. It should be sudsed off after every use, of course, just like all other mealtime equipment.

For Good Grooming:

The daily use of perfume is a good grooming habit. But be sure to use the proper scent for the occasion. Light, floral scents are best for daytime, spicy, for sports, heavy, for evening.

Question 'Why Did It Happen to Me?' Implies Attitude of Self-Centeredness

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I have finally been asked "That Question."

Instead, he telephoned to say that he's found himself a furnished room and was going to continue to work this fall rather than go back to college.

He said he could see no other answer to his parents' demand that he pursue academic training he doesn't want and asked their understanding and forgiveness. From the bed to which she's retired in nervous collapse, his mother cries out "That Question."

"Why did this happen to me?"

With all sympathy, may I suggest that it's happened to her because like countless other human beings, she is subject to disappointment? It's happened because none of us is given special insurance policies against the frustration of our wishes.

We can no more control the destiny of another person than we can control the seasons of growth and decay. So the fact that we can ask such a question is intimately related to our suffering. It implies that we are a human being who denies that he has human limitations.

It is, I expect, our refusal to accept these limitations that has put us to bed with nervous collapse.

For when we regard ourselves as a special brand of critter above the disappointments lesser mortals suffer, we don't make ourselves likely prospects for trust or confidence.

Our assumption that we're entitled to special protection against frustration of our wishes makes it impossible for our grown son to say, "Mother, let's discuss my desire to go against your wishes." Rather than face the explosion, he gives up hope of understanding—and leaves home.

It's been my experience that self-centeredness is always behind "That Question." Since we can't accept our boy's limitatins until we accept our own, our attitude will continue to separate us from him unless we correct it.

So long as we insist on regarding ourselves as a unique victim of disappointment, we cannot possibly repond to his disappointment. How, then, can we expect to help him think through his discouragement over college?

So let's stop raging at life for presuming to deny us a wish. We're not the Almighty ordaining the destinies of others.

Let's get out of bed, make ourselves a bowl of hot soup—and ask our son to come over and tell us why his wish seems more important than ours.

Let Children Use Plastic Tumblers

Try letting your children use plastic tumblers. Small fingers can grip them better—and if they fall, there won't be any cut fingers.

Keeps Hair Curly

You may be able to avoid nightly hair setting if you wear a net to bed. Be sure the net is strong and fastened securely.

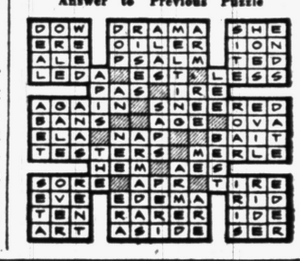

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

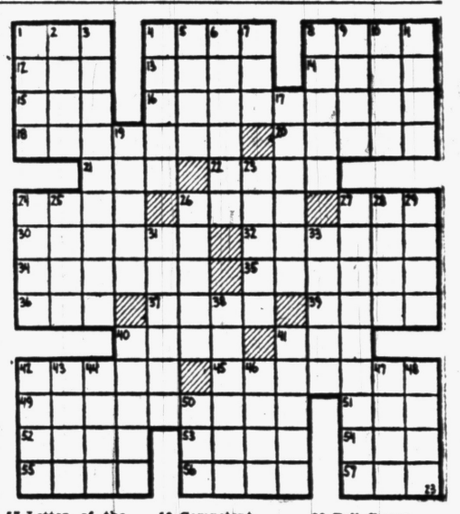

Unless she wants to seem older than she is a woman doesn't talk about her age — she ignores it. And there's another reason for not dragging one's age into the limelight. It makes a person seem self-centered.

Just be yourself and forget your age.

YOUR PERMANENT

What should we expect from a permanent wave?

The first consideration is to get the right amount of curl for the texture of your hair and to meet the requirements of your hair style. The right amount of curl gives the hair body, resembles a natural wave and makes the fingerwave more lasting. But even a good permanent has limitations. If you want your hairdo to remain attractive from one shampoo to the next, some little attention is generally necessary. Your hairdress is most likely to be ruined while sleeping. If a wave or curl is stretched out of shape and then slept on for hours it isn't surprising if it doesn't spring back into place the next morning. You wouldn't think of throwing your new dress into corner and finding it fit to wear the next day. Place bobbies in the waves you wish to keep and turn up the ends in a very few big pin curls. Do not wet, just pin. This will double the lasting qualities of your hairdo.

Mrs. Doctor Leaves Post With Scouts

New Members of Board Introduced at Meeting

The resignation of Mrs. Ivan S. Doctor as executive director of the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council was accepted when the board met Tuesday in the Girl Scout office.

Mrs. Ivan Wilcox, council president, opened the first meeting of the season and introduced new board members, Mrs. B. J. Murray, of Rochester, treasurer; Mrs. E. A. Reitmeyer, public relations; Mrs. Frank Brooks and Mrs. A. O. Hustvedt.

Resident camp chairman, Mrs. Russell Kneale, reported the largest registration in the history of Camp Sherwood. Camp improvement plans have been presented to and approved by the board.

Helen Anderson of Kansas, former waterfront director, has been named camp director for the 1954 season.

Formative plans for countywide recruitment of adult help in the scouting program was explanined by Mrs. Reitmeyer.

Board orientation is set for Oct. 5 in the scout office with a regional staff member as guest speaker. A noon recess included the showing of the Pontiac United Fund film by Jerry Shroder from the United Fund.

Says Americans Won't Tolerate Raised Hemline

NEW YORK (INS) — Big-name New York couturier Ben Zuckerman Monday offered "proof positive" that American women will not tolerate a drastic change in hem lengths.

Zuckerman said women "threw their programs in the air and virtually stampeded" a mammoth fashion charity show in St. Louis when he announced that 14 inches from the floor is "short enough for any skirt on any woman."

Pointing out that St. Louis is square in the middle of the U.S. the high-style manufacturer believed that this was probably a typical reaction of women against the recent abbreviation of skirt lengths by Parisian designer Christian Dior

Zuckerman himself is making clothes with 14-inch hemlines for what he considers the "moderate height woman" 5 feet 6. For each inch under that height, of course, the proportion from the floor should be narrowed, he explained.

He promised that his clothes would remain at this "most flattering" length for at least another year, and said he believed other U. S. designers would also look kindly on clothing budgets and resist any major changes.

Sauce Gives Zesty Flavor to Spareribs

Miss Faye Donelson Has Original Recipe for Barbecue

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When the local branch of the American Association of University Women met recently for an outdoor dinner, the highlight of the meal was an enormous pan of barbecued spareribs. The delicious sauce is an original recipe of Miss Faye Donelson who gladly shared it with the food editor.

Miss Donelson enjoys her work as an elementary teacher. She is active in her church group, in the AAUW, loves to travel and is an excellent amateur photographer. Her beautiful garden shows evidence of her skill as a gardener.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS
By Miss Faye Donelson

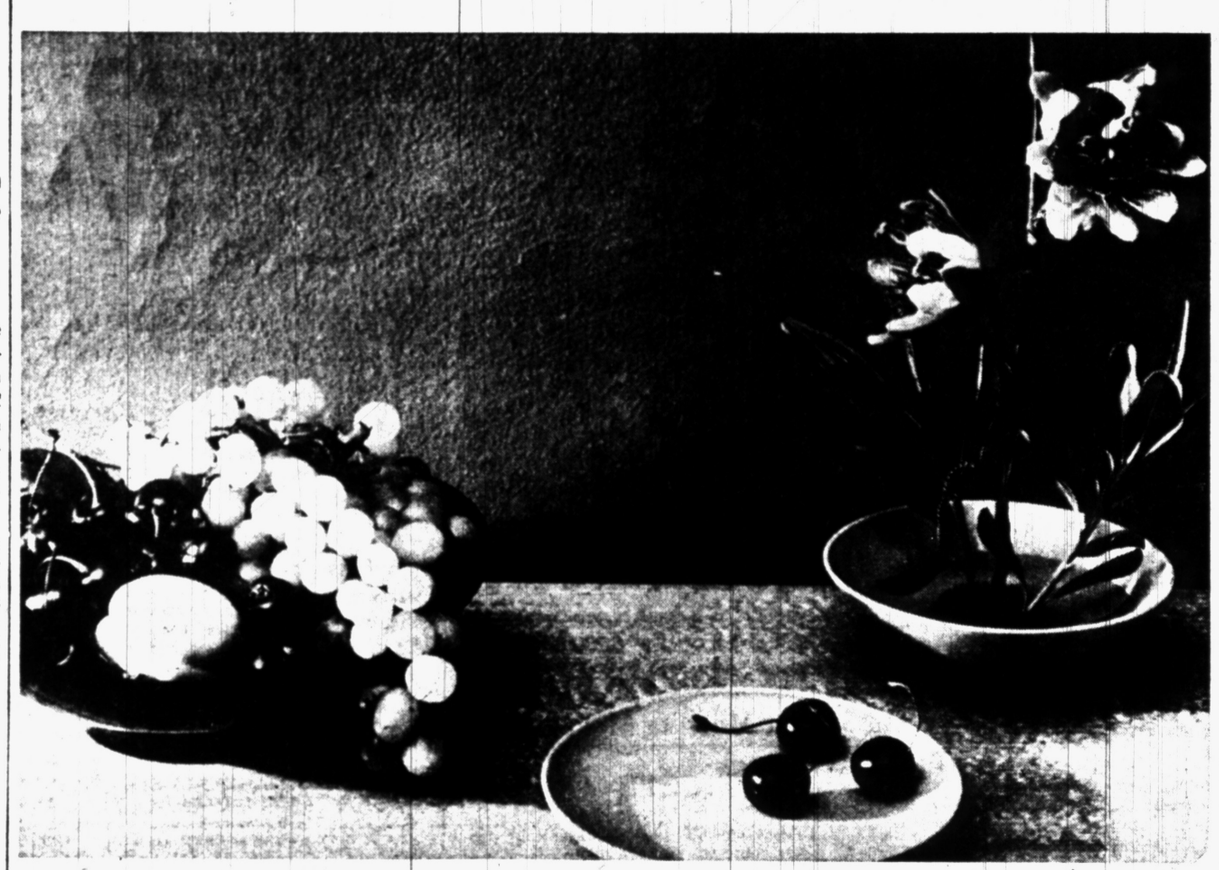

5 pounds spareribs
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup catsup
⅓ cup terragon vinegar
2 tablespoons garlic wine vinegar
2½ teaspoons tabasco sauce
1 rounded teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon red pepper

One of the secrets of the deliciousness of these ribs is the fact that they are broiled 5 to 6 minutes on each side, before being baked in the sauce. This gets rid of the excess fat that is offensive to many people.

After broiling, pour the above sauce over the meat and bake in a slow oven 3½ to 4 hours. This recipe will serve 6 to 8 people.

Rose for Secrecy

In 1526 roses were hung over confessionals or carved on stone or wooden benches as an indication of the confidential and secret nature of the act of confession.

Designed to conform with today's compact mode of living, each piece of this new melamine plastic dinnerware is uniquely functional, serving more than one purpose. It's practically unbreakable, can be popped into the dishwasher and won't stain.

Today's teen-agers know all the answers—except to the questions the teachers ask them.

Several Puzzled Girls Ask the Same Question: 'To Write or Not to Write?'

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: If a girl moves away, is it all right for her to write to a boy she used to go to school with?"

If going to the same school is the only tie that binds them together, it hardly seems enough excuse. But if they were special friends, worked together, went to the same parties, had a few dates together and got along well—heave ho.

A friendly correspondence will help to keep such a relationship alive. And since the girl's the one who went away and has lots of new things to write about in addition to asking questions about old familiar places and people, she could write first without feeling awkward about it.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm just getting settled down in college, and am already missing the guys I left behind me at home. There are two boys, from different towns, that I'd like to write to.

"I've never gone with either of them although I had the chance (I didn't feel I knew them well enough). One I'd been with several times in a group, and I talked with the other only twice after he asked me for a date.

"Do you think I could write them short notes giving them my address and asking them to write to me?"

If you thought you didn't know them well enough to go out with them, writing to those two boys might be quite a strain. Of course, it's fun to have letters from boys while you're away at college, and a short note to each of them wouldn't do any harm, really.

Since you hope to get better acquainted with them both by mail make your first letter sound as though they already know you pretty well. Recount the "perils of Pauline in a new school" in amusing, gay fashion, then ask questions about things you know they're doing.

Don't ask them to write. Make your address clear, sign your full name, then hope they'll be sufficiently intrigued to answer your questions on paper.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I met Ralph last winter and went with him off and on until June. Since then I haven't seen him and he hasn't called.

"While I was going with him I was sure he liked me and I still like him. Would it be considered chasing him if I wrote him and told him I wanted to see him or hear from him?"

That sort of letter just might get his back hair up. It might alarm him, make him wonder what you had on your mind that you wanted to see him about. Might make him tear up your letter and let "sleeping dogs lie."

An invitation from you would be a more positive and more pleasant way of reminding him that you're alive.

If getting him on the phone would involve a lot of strained and awkward explanations, write him a note inviting him to a party at your house or to one of the girl-ask-boy affairs that will pop up this fall. A bid from you is safe enough. Let the date-asking come from him after that.

Ex-Fiancee Must Return All Presents

She May Not Keep Any Engagement or Shower Gifts

By EMILY POST

A letter this morning explains: "About a year ago I became engaged to a serviceman. It was rather a hurry-up affair and now I realize that it would never work out and have broken off the engagement.

"The question is this: Just how do I go about returning shower and engagement presents? Should I return both his family's and mine, or just his?

"There were gifts for our prospective home, gifts of money and personal gifts. Just what is the proper procedure in the case of a broken engagement?"

Answer: You should return everything.

Dear Mrs. Post: I've received word from my ex-husband that his mother has just passed away. I always was very fond of her but have not seen her since my divorce.

Shall I attend the funeral, and if so, may I go with my new husband? He is willing to go. Or should I go with my children alone?

Answer: With your children alone — if you go at all. (To go with her son's successor would be very shocking!)

Dear Mrs. Post: I began working a few months ago as private secretary to a man who was transferred here from another city. He has just found a house here and his family is moving in a couple of weeks.

Would it be proper for me to call on his family, as they will be new residents here? I do not wish to be presumptuous or pushing but want to do what is right. I would appreciate your help.

Answer: When they arrive, ask him if there is anythig you can do for his family and then be guided by what he says as to whether or not you go to call on them.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a very close girl friend who always is asking to borrow my clothes. I don't mind lending her things on occasion but this is becoming a habit. Will you please tell me what I can do about this without hurting her feelings?

Answer: To refuse without hurting her feelings will be a hard thing to do.

Try having one excuse after another for not lending the particular thing she asks to borrow. If this happens often enough, she will probably get out of the habit.

Predicting when and where earthquakes will strike cannot be done with any accuracy.

IF out-of-kilter hips—

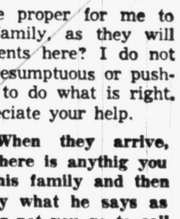

Suit jackets wrap around hips and reveal size but the coarse tweed jacket with companion dress of finer tweed is the way to minimize hips.

Total domestic wool consumption in the U. S. averages approximately 925 million pounds every 12 months.

Affair Is Being Arranged by Mrs. Morris Cucksey

Members of the executive board and homeroom mothers of Wisner School PTA met Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for the Fall Festival which will be held Oct. 30 at the school.

Mrs. Morris Cucksey was appointed festival chairman by Mrs. Leonard Saari, president.

Committees appointed by Mrs. Cucksey include Mrs. Donald North, Mrs. Wilbur Hinsberger, Mrs. Martha Robertson and Mrs. Owen Wright, fish pond, and Mrs. Walter Messer, Mrs. Louis Hadden, Jane Danton and Joyce Kimball, bakery shop.

Tearoom committee members are Mrs. Erwin Christie, Mrs. Lester Wibur, Mrs. John Sitz, Mrs. John Peterson, Flaura Owen, Aileen Reynolds and Mrs. Harold Newstead.

White elephants are under the supervision of Mrs. Stanley Palmer, Mrs. Loy Bennett, Mrs. Paul Webster, Mrs. Lester Lyons and Mrs. Anita Allen.

Mrs. Richard Young, Mrs. Kenneth Carman, Mary Mitchell and Mrs. Grant R. Carlson are in charge of the rummage sale.

On the gift shop committee are Mrs. William J. Thomas, Mrs. Fred Froede, Mrs. Roy Woods and Geraldine Gibbs. Canned foods and plants will be handled by Mrs. Thomas Reeling, Mrs. J. P. Ryan, Mrs. Arthur Price and Mrs. Lillian Paul. Makeup is under the supervision of Mrs. Irving Cocking and Evelyn Pratt.

Mrs. Russell C. Bell, Mrs. Carl Coffer, Helen Mercer and Mrs. Ralph Gardner will direct the sweet bar.

Ghost room will be directed by Mrs. James Fox, Mrs. Lewis Horner, Mrs. Charles Johnson and Mrs. Froede. Movies will be shown with Mrs. Scott Bonham and Mrs. Agnes Cox in charge.

Pony rides will be a highlight of the evening with Mrs. Charles Johnson and Mr. Saari supervising.

Barbecue Is Enjoyed by AAUW

Forty members and guests of the Pontiac Branch of American Association of University Women met at the home of Faye Donelson on Voorheis road Monday evening for a barbecue dinner around the outdoor fireplace.

Mrs. Neil Warren of Pleasant Ridge, state president of the organization, was the speaker of the evening. Speaking on the rights and privileges of belonging to the AAUW, she emphasized that it is a means of continuing further study.

Each member should be stimulated to contribute both to the group and to the community, she said. Present also was Mrs. Paul Armstrong, state secretary.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Richard Balmer, Mrs. Ray Allen, Marion Lehner, Margaret Le Cocq and Ora Hallenbeck.

Any college woman desiring to know more about AAUW may contact the president, Mrs. Clarence Huemiller of Walnut road.

Thomas Lewises Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Lewis were honored on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday evening when relatives and friends gathered at their home on South Johnson avenue.

A highlight of the evening was a mock wedding. Those participating were the Rev. Malcolm Burton of First Congregational Church, Mrs. Russell Gortner, Mrs. Steven Sauers, Janet Lee Gortner, Lewis Russell, Anthony Grimaldi and Donald Beltz.

Plans Made for Gamma Party Oct. 17

Plans for Gamma Gambol, the dance planned by Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi, were revealed when the group met Tuesday evening at the William Brace home on Voorheis road.

The dance will be held Oct. 17 at Pontiac Chieftain Hall. Committee chairmen include Mrs. Forrest Garchow as general chairman and Jerry Barnes on decorations.

Mrs. Harold St. John Jr. will take charge of refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sutter of South Anderson street will observe their 54th wedding anniversary Saturday. They moved to Pontiac 33 years ago from Elgin, Scotland.

MR. and MRS. PHILIP A. PONTIUS JR.

Saturday in Pigeon, Maxine E. Henne became the bride of Philip A. Pontius Jr. of Walnut road. Maxine is the daughter of Frank Henne of Pigeon and the Philip A. Pontiuses of Pangburn, Ark., are the bridegroom's parents.

Couple Married in Pigeon

Honeymooning in the southern states are Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Pontius Jr., who were married Saturday evening in Five Points Community Church at Pigeon.

The bride is the daughter of Frank Henne of Pigeon, and the bridegroom, who resides on Walnut road, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Pontius of Pangburn, Ark.

For the ceremony the former Maxine Elaine Henne chose a gown of nylon and lace with a panel of lace tiers and a train of lace highlighting the skirt. A headpiece of nylon lace was trimmed with pearls.

Stanley Hards was best man, and seating the guests were Clois Bailey and Earl Clark.

Navy blue was worn by Mrs. Pontius for the occasion with a corsage of pink roses.

After the reception in the church parlors, the bride changed to an aqua suit with black accessories for the honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside in Pontiac.

Three Couples Going to Parley

The National Exchange Club Convention in Colorado Springs, Colo., will be attended by Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Wilmot of East Iroquois road. Mr. and Mrs. John Cowe of Illinois avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powers of Cherokee road.

The group left Tuesday and will return Oct. 6, after spending a week in Denver. Mr. Wilmot is a state officer of the group. Mr. Cowe is past president of the Exchange Club of Pontiac and Mr. Powers is president of the Pontiac club.

Light Gas Carefully

Lighting a top burner on a gas stove can be dangerous, so do it carefully. First light the match, then turn the gas on all the way and apply match, adjusting the size of the flame after the match is blown out.

Frieda Huggett Speaks

City Women's Club Meets

A lecture by Frieda Huggett, visiting teacher in the Waterford Township schools, highlighted the Monday luncheon meeting of the Pontiac Womens Club at the Hotel Waldron.

Miss Huggett returned recently from the Holy Land and India where she attended the International Conference of Social Workers.

She said intimate contact with these struggling peoples leads to a greater appreciation of the United States

Past presidents of the club were honored at the meeting and presented with corsages.

Mrs. Elmer MacLean was luncheon chairman, assisted by Mrs. Clifford Steffey, Mrs. Aaron Fox, Mrs. Daniel Kinney and Mrs. Charles F. Smith.

The program was under the direction of Mrs Maxwell Lucas with the assistance of Mrs. Arthur G. Nicholie, Mrs. Harry G. Stowell and Mrs. Barney McKevitz.

Chapter Holds Chinese Auction

A Chinese auction was the highlight of the Thursday meeting of Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the home of Mrs. Ray Slaughter on Saunders drive.

Mrs. Robert Shorey and Mrs. Cecil Elsholz directed the sale.

Mrs. C L. Johnson and Mrs. Mable Roat were cohostesses for the occasion and guests included Mrs. William Killen, Mrs. John Whitehead, Mrs. Francis Collon and Mrs. Carol Beale.

Protects Floors

Glass or rubber protectors applied to the legs of furniture will eliminate indentations in resilient floor coverings, such as asphalt and linoleum.

Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, who is said to be "taking it easy" on the chief executive's bank account in her fall shopping this year, couldn't resist buying these new hats. The one at left is fashioned along the lines of a miniature arched doorway and is small, as are all of the First Lady's bonnets. The one at right is in Mamie's favorite color—pink. It is made of long-nap velveteen, with a pink ostrich feather and a pink rose perched in the center front of a tiny pillbox shape.

Birthdays Marked

Women having birthdays during July, August and September were honored with a birthday dinner when the Ladies Aid Society of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church met Thursday noon. A business meeting followed.

Teenage Thieves Devour Most of Loot, Police Say

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Squab anyone?

Oklahoma City police went pigeon hunting five days, and came up with six pigeons and five teenage boys.

The officers were looking for 20 pigeons reported stolen from a pen in a back yard last Friday.

What happened to the other 14? They asked the boys.

Bob Considine Says:

If Russia's Beria Is Loose, He Should Contact FBI

NEW YORK (INS)—This spinning globe and some of its inmates:

Col. Pete Amoss, the former Air Force officer and OSS cloak and dagger man who was the first to spring the story that Lavrenti Beria is seeking political asylum here, rates about two degrees below zero with the Pentagon's Air Force intelligence boys.

"The Air Force has no association with Col. Amoss," a spokesman said after Amoss appeared to have been partly instrumental in the delivery of Lt. Jarecki's MIG15 from the Polish Air Force. "And besides," the spokesman said, "the machine is obsolete."

If Beria is loose, it would seem that he'd make contact with the FBI, rather than with Sen. McCarthy's committee, or Amoss.

The FBI is especially interested in such matters. It has not been too many year ago that J. Edgar Hoover left a dinner in Washington to take a look at a man who had been brought to this country from Agrentina under the impression of several agents that he was Hitler.

Al Weill, manager of Rocky Marciano, expressed himself as pleased the other day with the way interest in quickening the Marciano - LaStarza heavyweight fight at the polo grounds Thursday night.

Two men about town rolled into Shor's bar not long ago after a formal party elsewhere. Since the proprietor of Shor's frowns on drinking, they must have come with their load already affixed, for they had a couple of beauts.

After a bit one mumbled something that the other took offense to, and the second mumbler invited the first one to step outside and settle the whole argument. They helped each other out.

Outside, it was raining cats and dogs. After a few minutes, Toots went out to see how things were doing. Not a blow had been landed. But the two stews were assuming classic boxing poses, a la John L. Sullivan and Jem Mace.

Some estimates place the number of slaves at 15,000,000—sent there through phony trials, or after "confessions," or through no trial at all.

Suggestion: Why not ask Vishinsky about this matter? Russia's N 1 U.N. spokesman was one of the architects of the purge trial.

He was the chief prosecutor of the great trials of the 1930s, when Stalin systematically murdered many of his closets associates after subjecting them to long periods of torture and trials marked by the flamboyance of the prosecutor —Vishinsky.

"You've got to give him his due; he's darn clever, this Vishinsky," a fellow said the other day after reading the text of the man's U.N. speech.

"Of course, he's clever," agreed another. "How do you think he's lived this long?"

None of the New York critics gave Myron C. Fagan's play "Red Rainbow" much of tumble. Matter of fact, most of them said it was dreadful. But Robert A. Vogeler has a good word for it. He writes.

"'Red Rainbow' is not just a good play. It combines an exciting mystery, and a timely message that at least should be heard by Americans in order that they may judge how easily totalitarianism could triumph in this free country of ours. As with all controversial themes, efforts are being made to discredit the author and thus destroy the play."

Advocated Admitting Red China to U. N.

DENVER (AP) — Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) declared here yesterday that war wouldn't have broken out in Korea if Red China had been invited to join the United Nations.

Johnson told the Denver City Club there was a time when he favored admission of the Chinese Communists into the U. N.

That time, he said, was just after the rebels had kicked out the Nationalist government. The Chinese Reds are "just as good as Russia and a lot of other nations that belong to the U. N.," he said.

But that was before the Korean War. Johnson said he now opposes entry of the Chinese Reds into the world organization — "because we can't let them shoot their way into the U. N."

New Mexico to Check Liquor-for-Indians Vote

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—An attorney for the State Liquor Division says he believes liquor sales to Indians in New Mexico will be legal after Sept. 28.

That is the day the state canvassing board goes over the results of the Sept. 15 special election in which New Mexicans approved a state constitutional amendment letting the bars down on such sales.

Chester Hunker, attorney for the liquor division, said he expected no legal snarls, but his opinion was strictly "off the cuff."

People who have had cataracts removed from their eyes can see ultraviolet light, which cannot be seen by those with ordinary vision.

MIGHT BE A RED—Joseph McNamara, above, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a former U.S. labor mediator told a House committee in Washington, he "supposed" he could be called a Communist because he attended meetings and probably paid dues. But, said McNamara, ideologically he was not a Red because he was not interested in the party but only attended meetings because of a union he was interested in forming.

Convict 30 in Sect of Nude Parading

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Thirty more Doukhobors were convicted of nude parading yesterday in trials that lasted three minutes each.

This brought to 79 men and women the number convicted under a Canadian law aimed specifically at the religious sect whose members parade unclad as a protest against government authority. There are 58, all women, still to be tried.

Magistrate Graham Ladner has not announced any sentences on the parading charges. The maximum under the law is three years in the penitentiary.

It is against the law to use portraits of living persons on U. S. Currency.

The Army's 32nd Infantry Division generally is credited with more combat time than any other World War II division. In action in the Pacific theater, the division piled up more than 600 combat days.

New word for GETAWAY
"TT" DYNAFLOW*!

WORLD'S ONLY VERTICAL VALVE V8

We'll get right to the point.

The comments we've been getting from new Buick owners about the new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow are terrific.

And the reason is—this fully automatic transmission is, in itself, terrific.

It has a new, firm, solid "take-hold"—gives you instant getaway response.

It has new quiet—you can barely hear the acceleration build-up.

It has unique and utter simplicity of operation. You just move your Selector into Drive range, press the pedal, and go. That's all.

But the sweetest thing of all about this TT Dynaflow is its smoothness.

You move from standstill to your legal speed in one progressive build-up of power delivery.

You feel a constant "carry" of forward motion, unbroken in any way—because here no gear-shifting takes place, either manually or automatically.

Even your deceleration is infinitely smooth and gradual, with the cushioned control of flowing oil slowing down.

Wouldn't you like to sample this wonderful new getaway and pleasant quiet and immaculate smoothness?

We'll be glad to seat you at the wheel of a new 1953 Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflow—and let the thrills come where they may. Drop in soon, won't you?

Mailbox to Become Vocal During Air Mail Month

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit letter writers were warned not to think they were hearing things if a certain downtown mailbox talks back next month.

The mailbox will be wired for sound from Oct. 5 to 10. When a letter is deposited a voice will remind the writer of the advantages of sending letters by air mail.

The stunt is part of air mail month. It was proposed by the Post Office Department here and approved by the Common Council.

Sword Swallower Gets Treated for Sore Throat

A new sword, he said, went down crooked or got stuck or something before he could cough it up. He was treated and released.

Parasite Flies Imported

BLUE EARTH, Minn. (AP) — To combat an infestation of corn borers, which attack and destroy the corn crop, farmers here have imported parasite flies from New Jersey. The flies are natural enemies of the borers, but do not harm human beings nor animals.

3 Children in 3 States in Twenty-one Months

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three children in three states in 21 months—that's the record of Mrs. Lucille Green, 22.

Her first child, Dianne, was born Dec. 14, 1951, in Greenley, Colo. Her second, Donna, was born Oct. 23, 1952, in Wichita, Kan. Yesterday she gave birth to William, who like Dianne was a seven-month baby.

Booklet Gives Out Facts on Alaska: (Big Cabbages)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Take it from the fish and wildlife service—big game is by no means as plentiful in Alaska as people have been led to believe.

The service says there is some big game, however, and other things grow big, too.

These statemens are contained in a new booklet—"Alaska's Fish and Wildlife"—written "to help orient the soldier, sportsman, tourist and homesteader upon arrival in Alaska."

"Giant strawberries, 50-pound cabbages, delphiniums 9 feet tall grow in parts of the country we bought from the Russians," the booklet says.

"Alaska is not the frigid land of popular concept, though it does have extremely cold weather. Average annual snowfall in West Virginia is more than that of the arctic lowlands, and greatest summer heat in Central Alaska is about on a par with that of New York City."

The booklet cites a sobering thought:

And a reassuring one:

"Alaska does not have snakes of any kind."

National PTA Building Cornerstone to Be Laid

CHICAGO (UP)—Leaders of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers will attend cornerstone laying ceremonies for the organization's new $750,000 building tomorrow. Cost of the building, to be located on the city's nea north side, is being met by contributions of PTA's throughout the country. Mrs. Newton P. Leonard, Providence, R. I., national president, said $562,583 has been raised thus far.

Pea-Growers Advised That Quality Pays

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP) — Prof. Charles B. Sayre, head of the canning crops investigation at the New Yrok State Agricultural Experiment Station here, says pea-growers stand to make more money this year by marketing their crop on a quality basis than by waiting to get maximum yields from their fields.

Sayre said contract prices for freezing and canning provide a premium for quality and are based on a graduated scale.

Success of Jet Pilots Boosted by Special Diet

WASHINGTON (UP) — Two Air Force medical officers said today that digestive gas generated by combat zone meals apparently interferred with the flying and fighting of Sabre jet pilots in Korea.

A squadron fed a special diet of non-gas-forming foods averaged 4.2 times as many claims of success against enemy planes as did pilots in two other squadrons similar in all other respects but fed regular messhall fare, the researchers reported.

* * *

The test was described by Capt. Frederich J. Hinman, a psychiatrist, and Capt. Mary C. Horak, a dietician, in the Air University Quarterly Review, an Air Force publication.

They said the difference in performance records "can be considered significant," although they were unwilling to credit it entirely to the diet.

* * *

Some pilots, flying at more than 45,000 feet with cabin pressures equivalent to altitudes as high as 35,000 feet, suffered abdominal pains so sharp and cramping they had to discontinue their missions or descend to lower altitudes.

"It is conceivable that this type of pain could be of sufficient intensity to induce shock in which the pilot would be incapable of controlling his aircraft," the medical researchers said.

* * *

They explained that low air pressure at high altitudes caused gas enclosed within the body to expand and give pain.

In the messhall experiment, one squadron was given a special high protein diet free of "excessive carbohydrates and fats, high residue foods and excessively spicy dishes."

The men had milk, fresh frozen vegetables and salads in addition and were served broiled or fried stewed or fresh fruit twice daily, to the regular foods, were fed meats only in the evening so that fly after a fried meal.

The little ruby-throated hummingbird summers in the United States but spends its winters around Central America and Yucatan. Although his wings measure just over an inch in length, he can beat them about 75 times a second and is able to make a non-stop flight of some 500 miles across the Gulf of Mexico.

No Jailbreak, Prisoner Just Wants to Smoke

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — A cord made of strips of cloth dangled from a Wake County Jail window yesterday. Passersby, wondering whether a jailbreak was planned, found this note attached:

"Please tie pack of cigarettes to this string. Thank you."

A pack about two-thirds full was tied on and the prisoner hoisted happily away.

Actress Ruth Roman Leaves Studio Without Blast

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Found: An actress who has left a studio without delivering a blast at her former employers.

This gal is Ruth Roman, a shapely brunette from Boston whose career was booming until she left it to marry Mortimer Hall and have a baby. When she returned to Warners, things weren't quite the same. She wanted out and accepted a small role ("I have three scenes and that's all") in "Blowing Wild" as part of the price for her freedom.

But our girl isn't bitter.

"I'm grateful to the studio," she commented. "They gave me a buildup I couldn't have gotten if I hadn't been under contract. I admit I worked hard. I did around eight pictures in one year. I scarcely had time to get married.

"I worked up until 7:30 on 'Strangers On a Train' the night we were flying to Las Vegas to get married. That was a Saturday night, and I had to be back at work at 9:30 Monday morning.

"But I was lucky to have made all those pictures. I got good experience. Then I was off the screen for two years while raising a family. It was fortunate that I had that backlog of pictures."

Ruth admitted that the absence was not good for her career, which lost momentum. She aims to get it back with a year and a half of hard work, then taper off. At present she's getting a good push in "The Far Country" with James Stewart. She plays a wicked woman in this one and likes it that way.

"I'm either very sweet or very bad in pictures: there seems to be no in-between," she says.

Along with a couple of other Hollywood film companies, "The Far Country" has been shooting amid the splendors of western Canada. All returned with sad tales about the weather they encountered, but Miss Roman had the topper of travails. She was caught in an avalanche.

"We almost said nothing about it, because everybody would think it was a publicity story," she said. "But we were working on a glacier and I had a scene in which I was supposed to hear an avalanche. Our guide mentioned that the ice above where we were shooting would fall at three o'clock. We thought he was merely kidding.

"When I started to do the scene, I did hear something. This was for real. I looked up and saw the ice above where we were shooting start to crack. Pieces of ice as big as a room started falling at us. They told me I should run under it. But all I could think of was that crazy ice cube and I ran in the other direction.

"After it was all over, we looked at our watches. It was 3:05. After that, everybody bowed to the guide as though he were a god."

Also contending for Jimmy Stewart in the picture is Corinne Calvet, France's gift to Hollywood. She is made up to be a 16-year-old girl, which is the neatest trick of the week.

"I suppose they need to have best sellers in the book business," she argued, "But I think they could find more suitable subjects."

42 Black Eyes Can't Blot Out Love for Husband

DETROIT (AP)—Even though Mrs. Patricia Reeves, 30, testified that her husband had given her 42 black eyes and left home 50 times during their 4 years of marriage, she still wanted him back.

She testified in Recorder's Court yesterday where her 33-year-old machinist husband, Richard, was found guilty of assault and battery. The charge developed out of the last black eye.

But when she pleaded that her husband be kept out of jail because "I want him back," the judge complied. She got him back —on a year's probation.

Rita, Dick Haymes to Marry Tomorrow

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Dick Haymes, a crooner who has had plenty of trouble with wives and Uncle Sam, takes out a marriage license today with Rita Hayworth, a gal who has had her share of husband trouble.

Haymes and the glamorous screen star pick up the wedding license at 3 p.m. (Pacific daylight time). That is just one hour after he gets a divorce from Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes.

The singer and the actress will be married tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Sands Hotel, where both have been guests for some time. It will be marriage No. 4 for both.

Rhee Rewards Admiral

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee today awarded the Taeguk Military Medal to Rear Adm. B. Hall Hanlon, U.N. deputy chief of staff for civil affairs, for his contributions to Korean relief.

Parrot Screeches Help and Saves Couple in Fire

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—A green and red parrot named Waldo is something more than just a pet to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zurita today—he's a hero.

The frantic screeches of the three-year-old talkative bird roused the sleeping Zuritas at 2:30 a.m. yesterday as smoke and flames shot through the floor of their upstairs apartment from the garage below.

The couple grabbed Waldo and a few possessions and groped their way to safety. A neighbor also heard the parrot's screams and called the Fire Department.

Fire Marshal Richard Drivon said Mr. and Mrs. Zurita would have been overcome within a short time.

Once in 30 years...

When we decided to make the best-seller "From Here To Eternity" into a motion picture, there were many in Hollywood who said, "Don't even try! You can't make a picture out of it!" It was a story of Army life, of illicit loves, of profanity, of brutality. "It's too tough," they said, "you'll never do it! Impossible!"

It took two years to do the "impossible."

It took almost a year to write the script. And what a script! Page for page, it captures all the color, the spirit, the fire of the book.

We signed Montgomery Clift to play Private Prewitt, lonesome, stubborn, wistful Prewitt. This would have been enough for an ordinary picture, but it was only the beginning for us. We needed a dynamic, virile performance for the vital part of Sergeant Warden. We wanted the best. So we went after—and signed—Burt Lancaster.

A few days later, Deborah Kerr joined the roster of stars for the role of Karen, the Captain's wife who falls in love with the Sergeant. Again, our judgment was questioned. "Deborah Kerr plays sweet, nice girls," they said. "She can't do 'that kind of woman'." Well, they're in for the surprise of their lives.

For the part of Lorene, who worked in Mrs. Kipfer's place, we tested many fine actresses. Finally, we found our Lorene in the person of lovely Donna Reed. And for the part of Maggio, we signed Frank Sinatra—another piece of off-beat casting which took Hollywood by surprise.

In Hollywood, in Hawaii, wherever we had to go in order to get the very best, we went. We were determined to make this the greatest picture in Columbia's history.

Now, FROM HERE TO ETERNITY has been completed. It has, we believe, everything that made the book and the characters so great — plus a stirring vitality all its own.

In the thirty years I have headed production at Columbia Studios, we have turned out many noteworthy pictures. To single out just a few: IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT, LOST HORIZON, THE JOLSON STORY and BORN YESTERDAY. In all those years, I have not once come to you, the movie-going public, and said, "I urge you to see this picture."

It is with no reservations, therefore, that I now say, "I urge you to see FROM HERE TO ETERNITY."

French Cut Old Red Tape, Get in Jam With Andorra

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

The French government has been the frequent target lately of charges that it fiddles while, figuratively, Rome burns.

Two bits of evidence to the contrary, accumulated in the last week, now may be reported. They are:

1. President Vincent Auriol discontinued recognition of the president and vice president of the principality of Andorra.

2. Premier Joseph Laniel approved some 50 decrees aimed at making life simpler for the average Frenchman and visitors by eliminating what the French call "paperasse," or red tape.

Not that all the red tape has been eliminated.

And goodness only knows what will happen now in French and Andorran relations.

The French retaliated by slapping on special entry fees which cut down on Andorra's tourist traffic.

Andorra has a population of just over 5,000 persons, has an area of 191 square miles and is nestled in the Pyrenees between France and Spain.

It has enjoyed undisturbed sovereignty since 1276, although it pays an annual tribute of 960 francs (about $2.50) to France and 460 pesetas (about $11) to the Spanish bishop of Urgel.

Now the French president as accused the two Andorran officials of an "evident lack of good faith."

The matter rests there, although there undoubtedly will be repercussions.

Now as to the "paperasse."

It covers all walks of life and at its lowest level is administered by a tired official who is paid approximately $75 per month and who believes the whole world is made up of discontented, complaining people.

1. That he is alive.
2. More than once that he was born.
3. That he has a roof over his head.
4. That he is a bachelor.

The decrees also provide that local prefects can act on their own if, on questions referred to Paris, the government has not acted within, two months. This gives an idea of how long it has taken to get action in the past.

The story is told of an American couple who wanted to get married in France.

They had to get residence certificates, health certificates, documentation from their home states, work cards and seals and stamps from the embassy, the foreign affairs ministry and the finance ministry.

The cost was about $70 and the time consumed, about three months.

They were lucky because it might have taken longer and then some of their original documents would have had to be renewed.

That, the experts say, is where the French got their idea that "marriage is for people who are tired of life."

There are about three million miles of roads in the U. S. or a mile of road to each square mile of area.

Government to Trim Payroll by 100,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission says the government intends to trim its payroll by 100,000 more jobs, but actually fire less than half that number of persons.

The reduction, to be made by June 30, will be accomplished for the most part by not filling vacancies that come up in the normal turnover of personnel, Young said. He spoke last night to the Washington Society for Personnel Administration.

About two million children between ages 14 and 17 are employed in the U. S.

Experts Puzzled by LaStarza's Battle Plans

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The visiting expert from the corn country shook his head and said he was more puzzled than ever about tomorrow night's championship fight after having watched the challenger, Roland LaStarza, wind up two solid months of training at Greenwood Lake.

* * *

"I went there expecting to see him practicing a left jab and generally getting ready to stay away from Marciano for 15 rounds," he said. "If he's even got a jab I never did see it. I'll swear I believe that boy thinks he can go in and fight Rocky and cut him up and beat him."

This reaction has been more or less typical of the scores of boxing authorities from every part of the country who have made the pilgrimage into the Ramapo Hills to watch the Bronx butcher's son prepare himself for his greatest test. They went there expecting to see one thing, and saw something entirely different.

You say to yourself that if you were in LaStarza's shoes you would be practicing up to be as elusive as a mountain goat. You would be devising schemes to keep from getting hit while at the same time managing to catch the eyes of the judges. That's why it has been unsettling to see the challenger doing just the opposite.

* * *

Maybe he will turn out to have been a prideful young rockhead, but LaStarza has trained with no thought in mind except to meet Marciano head-on and outbox and outslug him again, as he firmly believes he did in their other meeting exactly 3½ years ago.

* * *

No one at his camp can recall having seen LaStarza stepping about and being fancy. He does believe, as our mid-west visitor deduced, that he can hit plenty hard enough to hurt Rocky and perhaps even cut him up to stopping size. He points out, patiently, that he is younger than the champion, somewhat bigger and, in his opinion, just about as strong.

We recall that Keene Simmons, a big Negro sparring partner of LaStarza's who has fought and trained with both men, told us seriously that he would rather fight Rocky six times than Roland once.

Chief Home Opener Friday

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's football Chiefs, fresh from a 34-13 rout of Wyandotte, open their home season Friday night against Hamtramck in Wisner Memorial Stadium.

Coach Ed Graybiel's squad came out of last Friday's contest without serious injuries. End Leroy Moore is nursing a bruised hip and co-captain Bill McLarty, a guard, will play with a cast on a broken thumb, injured in practice last week, but the team is otherwise in good shape.

Graybiel's starting lineup will be unchanged Friday, with Moore and Jim Wiscombe at ends, Tom Metzdorf and Jack Hopkins at tackles, McLarty and Ed Shaw at guards and Ed Hoban at center, Dick Ayling will go at quarterback, with Bill Rose and Homer Harrison at halfbacks and Coley Gracey at full.

Hamtramck won its opening game, 12-6, over St. Stanislaus Sunday.

* * *

St. Michael plays its 1st "road" game of the season Friday night, opposing Fitzgerald at the Spartans' field at 9 -Mile and Ryan Roads.

Bob Mineweaser plans two changes in the lineup that dropped a 12-6 loss to Avondale last Friday. Bud Schwartz, 170-pound utility back, will take over fullback duties for the injured Wayne Magnan, and Bob Anderson replaces Mike Clever at left half. Anderson was the Shamrocks' top ground gainer against Avondale.

St. Frederick opens Suburban Catholic League competition here Sunday, against Highland Park St. Benedict. Bens bowed to St. Thomas, 26-7, last week, while the Rams walloped Marine City Holy Cross, 18-0.

SANDLOT TO SERIES—Peewee Reese (left) of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees have come a long way from sandlot baseball where sides are chosen with a bat. When the Yanks and Dodgers clash in the World Series, they will be the only veterans of the series between the two teams in 1941. The teams also met in 1947-49-52, the Yanks winning each time.

Boxing Show Set Saturday

Amvets' Amateur Ring Event Is Scheduled for City Armory

Bemis-Olsen Amvet's amateur boxing show, originally scheduled as an outdoor event Sept. 12 but postponed because of bad weather, will be held Saturday night in the Pontiac Armory.

A "grudge" match between Pontiac welterweights Dennis Huff and Dick Goyette highlights the 10-bout program. Goyette knocked out Huff in the 2nd round of their last meeting.

Tickets are on sale at Griff's Grill, Stadium Inn and Dobski's Bar.

110—Arthur McClellan (P) vs Bob Neal (F).
155—Bob Sykes (P) vs Dave Runyon (P).
165—Pete Romeo (P) vs Ernie Bedford (P).
126—Dick Gidcumb (P) vs George McMurphy (F).
147—Eddie Helton (F) vs Mickey McCarty (F).

Rocky Favored for Title Bout in Polo Grounds

IBC President Predicts $300,000 Gate; Tickets for Ringside Going Well

NEW YORK (AP)—The odds favoring heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano over challenger Roland LaStarza soared to 4½ to 1 today and may go even higher when the two step into the Polo Grounds Thursday night for their 15-round title fight.

Despite the long odds and the fact that there are few among the fight mob who give the 26-year-old contender a chance, interest in the fight continued to mount.

Ringside seats were selling beyond the 18th row. Ticket scalpers were demanding and getting handsome premiums for the $30 ringside seats within the first ten rows.

Jim Norris, the president of the promoting International Boxing Club, predicted that he would have at least $300,000 in the till the morning of the fight.

Dime Programs Won't Be Sold at 'M' Games

Crisler Copyrights Official Booklet for Home Contests

ANN ARBOR (AP)—If you want a football program for University of Michigan games this season, you'll have to buy the standard 50-cent university program sold inside the stadium.

The 10-cent variety sold outside the stadium won't be available because of Michigan athletic director Fritz Crisler's action in copyrighting the official Michigan game program.

For several years students have printed the names, numbers and positions of members of the Michigan squad and those of the opponents on cards and sold them before each game.

Many fans preferred the cards, and that cut into sales of the fancier book-type official university publication.

It was not made clear immediately what was the legal standing of the copyrighted program.

Dublin Gridders Begin Season With 25-0 Win

Dublin School's football team opened its 1953 season Monday by defeating Milford High School Jayvees, 25-0, at Milford. Coach at the 10-grade school is Lawton Knapp.

Burl Lee Gullett, fullback, scored three of the Dublin touchdowns, with quarterback, John Walker accounting for the other. Dublin scored once in each period.

Lions Swap Cifelli to Green Bay Club

DETROIT (AP)—Champion Detroit Lions cut their squad to the required 33-player limit today by trading tackle Gus Cifelli to the Green Bay Packers for a Packer draft choice in the next National Football League draft meeting.

Cifelli, who stands 6-feet-1 and weighs 240, was the Lions' regular offensive tackle for the last three years. He graduated from Notre Dame, where he helped the Irish to an unbeaten season in 1949.

Biggie-Evvy Rivalry Features MSC-Iowa Tilt

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—A couple of one-time buddies and bunkmates will be glaring at each other across the football field when Michigan State meets Iowa Saturday.

There's more than usual interest in this football game, of course, because Michigan State, the national champion last year, is rated No. 2 in the nation behind Notre Dame this season.

The Spartans will be playing their first official Big Ten game and will be shooting for 25 victories in a row.

But the personalities involved make this game even more interesting.

Munn was an assistant coach at Michigan when Evashevski was gaining fame as a blocking back. He grew to like the personable Evashevski and in 1946, when Munn was head coach at Syracuse, he named Evvy as his backfield coach.

When Munn made the move to Michigan State in 1947, Evashevski went along with him.

After a year or so, a coolness developed. Evashevski was becoming a spokesman for the football setup and was assuming a lot of credit for the early successes.

He made no secret of the fact he was aiming at a head coaching job somewhere. The break came in 1949.

Evashevski left after the season's end to coach Washington State. He took two of Munn's prize assistants—Al Kircher, now Washington State coach and Bob Flora, now with Evvy at Iowa.

Evashevski is known to be aiming at this one, aching to cut Michigan State down to size. Munn wouldn't enjoy being beaten by a former assistant.

MSC Stresses Defensive Play in Last Drills

Varsity Elevens Hold Up Well Against JV's Offense

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—Emphasis was on the defense in the last scrimmage session staged by Michigan State football squad before the Iowa game Saturday.

"It could be different Saturday," warned one of the coaches. "Iowans will be using those plays instead of our own fellows and they'll have a lot of new combinations."

A brief offensive scrimmage also was allowed, the last contact work scheduled for the week.

Munn also was quick to criticize players for any miscues that could mean penalties.

Lopez, Tebbetts Are Involved in Job Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Lopez will leave the second place Cleveland Indians to manage the second division Cincinnati Redlegs next year, it was learned today.

Lopez is expected to be succeeded by George Tebbetts, former Cleveland catcher who currently is manager of the Indianapolis club of the American Association. Indianapolis is a farm team of the Indians.

* * *

In Cincinnati, Gen. Manager Gabe Paul of the Redlegs said, "no comment," when asked if Lopez had been hired.

Three City Golfers on All-Star Squad

Mike Andonian of Sylvan Glen, Roy Iceberg of Edgewood, and Joe Kocsis of Twin Lakes were the localites named. Others were Jay Law and Ted Ellison of Birmingham and Wally Smith of Royal Oak.

Law, selected as captain, plays out of Sunnybrook, Ellison from Edgewood, and Smith, also of Sunnybrook. Rounding out the publinx team are Stan Bialo, Jack Gregory, Sam Lima, Chuck Nicolai, Tony Novitsky, Joe Peak, Sal Pomante, Dick Preston, C. J. Reynolds and Gene Woodard.

Swigert Wins Title

Milton Swigert, 240 Sashabaw road, Oxford, won the single division of the horseshore pitching tournament which concluded Monday at the Spirit 79 Mets Club of Gingellville. Swigert defeated Mike Furney of Waldron road in the finals. Doubles title went to Basil Wethy and Frank Cook.

Bengals Lose, 7-3, to Browns in Home Finale

Satch Paige Wins 3rd Victory of Season in 7-Inning Stint

DETROIT (AP) — One thing about the Detroit Tigers—they were consistent during the 1953 season. Consistently bad, that is.

At home, Tigers had a 30-47 record. On the road, their mark was 29-45. Not much difference.

They closed out their home season last night and the St. Louis Browns drubbed them, 7-3, Satchell Paige pitched the first seven innings to pick up his third victory of the season.

According to the record books, Paige was supposed to be 46 years old yesterday. He's probably nearer 56 but that doesn't make any difference to old Satchmo. He still burns them in like a high schooler.

Paige gave up only one hit in the first seven innings—a home run by Fred Hatfield in the opening inning. After that he chilled the Tigers until the eighth, when they knocked him out with three straight singles.

Bob Miller, bonus rookie making his first start, was the loser. The 18-year-old southpaw was literally knocked out of the box. In the fifth, when the Brownies scored three times, he was hit in the head by a line drive off the bat of Les Moss.

Miller was taken to Ford hospital for examination. He said he felt all right.

It was a chilly, damp night but 20,072 turned out to bade farewell to the Tigers. That made their home attendance 884,658.

Tigers have only three games remaining; Cleveland Indians in Cleveland Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Intimates Say Williams Has Changed Since His Return From Korean War

By JOE REICHLER

BOSTON (AP)—Those who claim to know him best insist Ted Williams is a changed man since his return from Korea.

The Williams before the war was known, of course, to express, by word or gesture, his resentment of and contempt for abusive fans. He was known to wrangle with newspapermen and photographers and could be downright rude on occasion.

The Korean War veteran of today is far less susceptible to criticism. His antagonistic attitude has given way to a live-and-let-live attitude. He has become much more tolerant of others. He has learned to accept people for what they are and not what he would like them to be.

It may be that Williams' several narrow escapes from death while flying jets over Communist lines has made him more human.

"I'm the same guy I was last year, five years ago and 10 years ago," he reminds you. "I haven't changed in the least. I still think most newspapermen are jerks—and that goes for you, too. They don't like me because I tell them what I think of them. Why not? They write what they think about me."

Williams would be surprised, however, to learn that most newspapermen like him. The fans generally, and those in Boston specifically, idolize him despite his outward indifference to them.

Very few ball players have more knowledge of things outside baseball than Williams. Although he had little formal education, he is an avid newspaper and magazine reader. He has a lively and comprehensive interest in current affairs, with emphasis on finance, domestic and foreign politics and, since his first hitch in the Marines, aviation.

Davisburg Fall Best Ball Test Slated Sunday

Post Entries Taken for 18-Hole Event; Hartz Wins Club Title

Davisburg Golf Club's annual best ball tournament will be held Sunday, with tee-off time set for 9 a.m. Thirty entries have been filed for the 18-hole affair, and post entries will be accepted.

Other winners included Chuck Nasstrom, Pontiac, 1st flight; Don Bremmer, Holly, 2nd flight; and Mrs. Val Walters, Clarkston, Women's Flight.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Undefeated Rocky Marciano won the heavyweight boxing championship as he knocked out Jersey Joe Walcott in the 13th round.

Record Shows Superior Boxer Nearly Always Gives Slugger Tough Time, So LaStarza Is Given Chance

By GRANTLAND RICE

* * *

This result was quite a shock to the American side, as Mitchell, a good boxer, was a much smaller man. The next battle of note between a boxer and a slugger developed when James J. Corbett boxed a number of rings around the same John L. in New Orleans back in 1892. Corbett won by a knockout in 21 rounds.

* * *

* * *

The meeting of Jeffries and Jack Johnson was a farce since Jeffries, fat and partly bald, was in no condition to meet anybody in the ring who could stand up 10 rounds.

Jack Dempsey, the much better boxer, took care of Jess Willard. But Jack, a first-class boxer and a terrific puncher, had a harder time with Tom Gibbons and Gene Tunney. Especially Gene Tunney. Dempsey and Joe Louis were the best combination boxers and punchers the ring game has known. It must be admitted that Gene Tunney, one of the better boxers of all time, was also a jolting, cutting, damaging puncher who knew where to hit you.

* * *

Now we come to Rocky Marciano and Roland La Starza in the latest display of Puncher vs. Boxer. If you'll look back through the records the better boxer hasn't always won but he is in the lead.

Unless he has changed almost completely, Rocky Marciano is a perfect example of the puncher. He makes no pretense of being another Corbett, another Tunney or another Billy Conn. His only idea is to walk out and sock you, preferably on the chin.

* * *

Added to this asset is his durability. He can take more than his share of punishment before anything happens. But there are two sides to every argument. The better boxer must always be given a chance. Rocky can't afford to keep presenting his frontispiece as a target as often as he did in the first Walcott fight.

* * *

Someone coming along, some better boxer, may cut him up so badly the fight will have to be stopped. This can always happen when the face is a fairly open landing spot.

Move 'Em to Detroit!

DETROIT (AP)—Since the St. Louis Browns are looking for a new home, why not Detroit? They play at their best in Motor Town.

Reynolds in Great Form, May Open Series

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

It could well be that Allie Reynolds has fastballed his way into the job of opening the World Series for the New York Yankees a week from today.

* * *

The veteran speed merchant certainly has erased all doubts as to his fitness. And last night he gave Charlie Dressen's spies an eyeful of some of the best pitching performed by any member of the Yankee mound staff this season.

* * *

Working against the admittedly weak Philadelphia Athletics Reynolds blazed his way to 11 strikeouts in seven innings while giving up two measly singles and walking four.

He struck out the side in the first inning and whiffed seven in the four innings. At the end of seven Casey Stengel decided he had seen enough of Reynolds for the evening. And what he had seen had made him very happy.

Neither Stengel nor Dressen disclosed his World Series pitching rotation. But Reynolds fine form in recent weeks has inspired considerable support for the big chief to pitch the opener.

The Oklahoman is 36 years old. He has appeared in five World Series, pitching 69 1-3 innings in 12 games and has a 6-2 record. The New York giants beat him once in 1951 and the Dodgers beat him once and lost to him twice last fall.

The Yankees beat Philadelphia 7-2 last night with both Philadelphia runs coming off Bob Kuzava who pitched the last two innings. One of them was Gus Zernial's 42nd home run, a blast which kept him one ahead of Cleveland's Al Rosen in the American League home run derby.

Rosen hit his 41st in Cleveland's 8-3 decision over Chicago. By winning the Indians virtually clinched second place. They lead the White Sox by three games with four to play.

In other action yesterday the Brooklyn Dodgers closed their Ebbets Field season by tying the National League record of 60 victories and 17 losses. They beat Pittsburgh 5-4 in the final game. Milwaukee and St. Louis split as did beat St. Louis in the first game Cincinnati and Chicago. Milwaukee 4-3 and lost the second 10-7. Cincinnati edged Chicago 1-0, then lost 4-1. Philadelphia whipped the New York Giants 9-3.

Eddie Mathews hit his 47th home run in the first game at St. Louis but he committed two errors in each game of the twin bill. Stan Musial, still fighting to keep his batting crown, collected five hits in nine times at bat. He raised his average to .333 and would need an average of three hits in every four times the rest of the season to catch the injured Carl Furillo of Brooklyn who leads with .344.

* * *

Huskies' Aerial Attack Worries Michigan Team

Washington's Fine End Could Prove Source of Trouble for 'M'

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Presence of one fine end and the absence of another may have a lot to do with the outcome of Michigan's football opener against Washington Saturday.

Absent is Lowell Perry, the Michigan end who made the Wolverine aerial game a dangerous one before he graduated. The one who will be on the field is Washington's George Black.

Black, the 6-foot-5-inch, 215-pounder with speed afoot and great receiving capabilities, should make all kinds of trouble for Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's Wolverines.

Black rated as a great professional prospect and could find Michigan's defensive backfield for good yardage gained. Tony Branoff, a performer of all-around ability, is the strong point in the Michigan backfield. Elsewhere however, there is a lack of experience that could be costly.

A year ago, Oosterbaan had Perry as a dependable safety man. But more important, he had in Perry an offensive end to match Black's speed and agility.

Perry snared 31 passes last year for 492 yards and 5 touchdowns. And more than once he put Michigan on the way to victory. Black's 1952 record was 42 catches for 637 yards and 7 touchdowns.

Oosterbaan has a good pair of starting ends Gene Knutson and Tad Stanford. But neither of them has proven exceptional. Reservewise, Bob Topp and John Veselenak would get first call. Again, its a case of good but unproven potential. Gerry Williams, a sophomore, is pribably the "comer" in the group. But he needs experience.

The lack worried Oosterbaan as he polished the Michigan defenses again Tuesday. Reserve passers covered the varsity with a shower of passes. Oosterbaan's regulars looked good defensively. But it was only a practice session. What they will do Saturday when Washington quarterback Sandy Lederman starts throwing to Black is another question.

Now He Can Retire

CASE — Fitting The Ball.

CURE—Use Pencil-Palm Method —Particular care should be used in selecting a ball. It should fit like a glove. Not tight, but snug.

For secure hold during swing, three-fingered grip is preferable. Short, stubby fingers call for greater pitch to avoid dropping ball too soon.

Better to have very little pitch on thumbhole to insure smooth release of ball. Thumb must come out of hole first, leaving fingers to apply spin or "stuff" on ball. In fitting ball, use pencil-palm method. Pencil should slide freely between palm and ball, as illustrated, when ball is lifted.

Royal Oak Is Strong Title Contender in Border-Cities; Warren Bi-C Pick

By JACK SAYLOR

Of Oakland County teams operating in miscellaneous prep leagues, Royal Oak High appears to have the best chance of bringing home a football championship this fall.

Acorns rang up seven wins in nine games last year in Jim Manilla's first season as head coach and 16 lettermen are back. Wyandotte is given little chance to repeat as Border Cities titlist.

Manilla has nearly all his 1952 backs, including Dick Nash, who gained all-state consideration. Also around are Jack Drawbaugh, Chuck Edwards, Roy Soldan and Dick Ulrich.

Shrine of Royal Oak, which competes in the Catholic First Division, has a new coach in ex-UD star Ron Horwath and only four of 11 starters from last year. They are tackle John Burkhardt, guard Dick Seerey, fullback Lloyd Syron of Pontiac, and halfback Mark Boehmer.

Cranbrook is tackling a tough schedule with a small squad, but 10 players are veterans. Dwight Davis, Doug Richmond, George Glover, Joe Braff and Sheldon Baum return in the line and George Cochran, Phil Dondero, Larry Asbury, Joe Prendergast and Howard Nash in the backfield.

Cranes play in the Inter-State Prep School league.

Elwin Murray lost 13 seniors from his good 1952 team and has only three regulars back for the Southeastern Conference race. They are end Glenn Whitney, guard Tom Costello and quarterback Ralph Garlick, transferred from the line.

South Lyon has six regulars back for its League of Lakes campaign including Arnold Byer, Roy Herald, Gene Comiskey and Ed Buatti in the line and backs Fred Pantera and Bob Gouin.

SOUTH CENTRAL — North Branch defends its title with a good line and inexperienced backs. Top challenge probably will come from Imlay City with an all-veteran backfield and three good linemen returning.

Linemen Ed Kasuba and Chuck Palshan and backs Lou Giddings and Bill McGinnis are the only regulars returning to coach Burl Glendening at Ortonville, but the Hawks won their opener.

BI-COUNTY — Warren favored to end Utica's reign, but the Chieftains are always expected to be rough under coach Barney Swinehart. Warren still has its swift 200-pound halfback, Stan Orlikowski.

Utica lost 19 men and has only eight lettermen. Two were '52 regulars, backs Ron Ewert and Ken Hilliard. Center Line and Lake Shore are likely to be in the runnerup battle.

SOUTHERN THUMB — New Haven won the first game in its title defense, 12-0, over Armada, and Brown City topped '52 runnerup Memphis, 7-0, but the big noise was Capac's 43-0 rout of a veteran Dryden team.

Hutch Signs Up for 1954, Sees Better Year Ahead

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—A season-long guessing game was at an end today with the appointment of Fred Hutchinson as manager of the Detroit Tigers for 1954.

Hutch, who pulled the Tigers out of the American League basement, agreed to a one-year contract yesterday, thereby ending all speculation as to his future with Detroit.

HUTCH

During the season one Detroit newspaper said Hutchinson would not be the Tiger manager in 1954 while another said he would. Nobody knew for sure.

Now it's definite. Hutch will be back and he says:

"We'll be a better team in 1954. We have to make a few changes but we should continue to move up. What we need most is a good relief pitcher."

Hutch agreed to only a one-year term and that ordinarily wouldn't indicate a vote of confidence. But in Hutch's case, it does. In recent years Tigers have used the policy of hiring all their help on a year-to-year basis.

Spike Briggs, president of the Detroit Tigers, said he was satisfied with the progress Hutchinson made with the team this year. The 34-year-old manager guided the Tigers from deep in the cellar to sixth place, where they stand today.

"Key to our rise," said Hutchinson, "was the acquisition of Ray Boone."

Troy and Sala Tangle on Video Bout Tonight

Fight time over the Columbia Broadcasting System is set for 9 p. m. (EST).

Invader Top-Weighted

Detroit-owned Spy Ring, Isle Sea, War Stim, Sulmari III and Senator Guy complete the field.

Ranges Draw Record Field

Fox Control Program Doesn't Help Hunters

By MORT NEFF

One of several complaints against the red fox in Michigan — complaints that have helped maintain a widely disputed bounty system—is the charge that pheasants are an important item in the fox diet.

NEFF

Consistent analysis of the stomach contents of foxes taken in for bounty has failed to prove this charge — and Michigan biologists have published reports along this line from time to time.

It remained for the State of New York to set up a conclusive experiment on this problem. They chose a 74,000 acre tract mostly surrounded by water, and with land connections closely guarded by trappers.

Most important is this fact: An adjoining area of 71,000 acres of similar type land was set up for checking, and here no fox trapping was done at all. Both areas were in the best pheasant range in the state.

In both areas, according to an accurate count, there were four or five foxes per square mile. Trappers went to work in the larger area — almost completely surrounded by water so that the animals could not shift from one section to the next, and in one season they succeeded in trapping out 75 per cent of the entire fox population.

Next, all hunters in both areas were carefully checked in and out, and, according to the New York Conservation Department report, "There was no noticeable difference in hunting success on the area where the foxes were trapped, and the area where they were left unmolested." It was obvious that factors other than the fox were responsible for variations in the pheasant population.

New York thereupon decided that a fox control program to improve pheasant hunting would not be wise even if the cost were low.

Dog Points Snake, Saves Its Master

Art Lane, of 6525 Dandison Blvd., was running his black-and-white setter, Lady, at the Proud Lake Recreation Area when the dog encountered the rattler.

Lady pointed the snake, which measured two feet in length, and Lane killed it with a club. Snake had eight rattles, Lane said.

Scouts Seeking 42 More Acres in Washtenaw

State Body Adds New Recreation Area by Use of Condemnation

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

MILFORD (AP) — A request by the Washtenaw - Livingston Boy Scout Council for 42 more acres of state land was under study by the conservation commission today.

The council asked for a 50-year lease on the additional land adjoining 37 acres on Bruin Lake, Washtenaw County, which the commission leased two years ago for a Boy Scout camp.

Rep. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor), principal spokesman for the council, said the original lease had proved too small for the needs of the 3,000 scouts and 1,000 leaders in the council.

Commission resisted pressure from Christman, Rep. Joseph E. Warner (R-Ypsilanti) and George Langford, chairman of a camp fund raising committee, to approve the lease on the spot.

Newly appointed commissioner Shirley W. Allen of Ann Arbor said he was "disturbed at the constant nibbling away of public recreation land for restricted use."

The commission, meeting at Haven Hill Lodge Monday and Tuesday, resorted to condemnation proceedings for the second time in its history to acquire land for a public recreation project.

Court action was ordered to force three property owners to sell their land and three to give flowage rights across part of their land to complete the needed state ownership for the Martiny Lake flooding project in Mecosta county.

Staff members reported that the six had refused to set "reasonable" prices on the remaining land needed. The commission has already spent more than $70,000 for some 2,100 acres in the area.

Approved was renewal of a reciprocal agreement with Wisconsin on uniform fishing regulations to govern waters lying on the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary.

Changes in the new uniform regulations, effective Jan. 1, provide for opening the black bass season on the affected waters on the last Saturday in June, removing the size limit on black bass and opening the pike, walleye and muskellunge season on the Saturday nearest May 15.

The commission approved purchase of new public fishing sites on Dodge Lake, Schoolcraft County, and Bass Lake, Grand Traverse County, and the lease of a site on Big Star lake, Lake County.

Purchase of three platted lots still in private ownership, although surrounded by the Higgins Lake state Park, was also approved.

The staff was authorized to purchase 50 acres of new land for $22,953 to add to existing state game areas.

Angler Reports Biggest Catch Late in Season

May, who lives at 8588 Cooley Beach drive, Pontiac, took a five-pound, 13-ounce rainbow trout fro Union Lake early Sunday morning with a flat fish lure on a spinning reel.

Guaranteed Lure Assures Limit Catches for Anglers

By JACK PATTERSON

Hard as we try to get on to the all-important consideration of the forthcoming powder burning season, we can't quite seem to shake loose from fishing—a situation which will probably obtain until somebody clamps down a closed season on fishermen. We've all run into "irresistable" bass lures at one time or another, but a new gimmick—to this writer at least—is a fancy priced job which is sold on a money-back guarantee. No fishee, no payee, like the Chinaman said.

PATTERSON

Frank Green has such a device, said to assure a limit catch in half an hour or so unde. any normal fishing circumstances, if properly used. Those last three words speak volumes, because a 28 page instruction book comes along with the lure.

• • •

Architect Bob Swanson was relating the other night that all is not beer and skittles in Alaska, the fisherman's paradise. Bob was in the territory during the summer just past for purposes other than fishing, but had a few days to kill so decided to wet a line. Couldn't find any fishable water in his area and couldn't find anyone interested enough in the problem to offer useful advice, found it all but impossible to get a plane to aid in the search for greener pastures.

• • •

Perseverance paid off, though, and Bob finally coopered onto a Widgeon, flew down to the Kenai Peninsula, and after much experimentation arrived at a Colorado spinner-salmon egg combination that filled a boat with husky rainbows and Dolly Vardens in jig time.

Now then, about this hunting business. Prospects look good in every department. Partridge seem to be holding their own at the rather unnaturally high level of abundance that has made shooting good for the last few seasons. There is evidence of a cyclical decline in some areas, but widespread reports of double nestings this year would tend to make the outlook bullish. One word of caution: in years of a major cyclical decline the birds can be very plentiful during the summer, then virtually disappear overnight by opening time. But the abundance of birds in check areas at the time of writing makes this possibility unlikely.

• • •

Pheasants are definitely up in nearby counties. So many immature cocks are in evidence it raises the suspicion that maybe there has been some double brooding among the pheasant clan, too. Although the conservation department is rather cautious about predicting pheasant increases in the thumb area, there are indications that the '53 season will be the best in several years.

• • •

The continent-wide duck picture shows a little slippage from last year, but in our own fly-way there shouldn't be much change. Redheads are already showing up in numbers at Wildfowl bay. There is some difference of opinion as to abundance of local ducks in the large marsh areas, but in the writer's opinion, the local hatch will prove to have beat last year's all hollow.

RO Kiwanis Horse Show Slated Sunday

Fifth annual Royal Oak Kiwanis Horse Show will be held Sunday at 1 p. m., at Ivory Field, 8-Mile and Lahser. Event is expected to be the club's biggest and best show in its history.

Net proceeds of the Show will go to Camp Oakland — a new kind of farm estate financed by local businessmen for Oakland County underprivileged youngsters.

An action-packed program is planned for the show, complete with judging entries, riding exhibitions, trick acts, and big league polo game. Oakland County Sheriff's Posse is working with the club on this event.

Grains Bounce After Retreat

CHICAGO (UP)—Grains retreated at the start and then bounced back on the Board of Trade today.

In neither the initial slump nor the recovery was there much of a change from previous closing prices. And it was all accomplished on a very light volume of trade.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ½ higher. December $1.90⅝, corn was unchanged to ⅜ higher, December $1.47½, oats were ⅜ lower to ¼ higher, December 74¼; soybeans were 1 to 1½ higher, November $2.59¼, and lard was 5 to 35 cents a hundred pounds lower. October $13.97.

Price Index to Boost Pay of Rail Workers

WASHINGTON (UP) — Higher food prices and rents pushed the government's cost of living index up three-tenths of one per cent between July 15 and Aug. 15. The index figure announced today recorded living costs as of Aug. 15.

The rise to 115 per cent of the 1947-1949 average means a three-cent hourly wage boost, effective next month, for 1,300,000 rail workers.

Market Climbs at Good Pace

NEW YORK (UP)—The Stock Market continued climbing today on the heels of yesterday's sharp gains.

There were few large individual gainers, but almost all key stocks were higher by as much as major fractions. Losses were infrequent.

Among the better acting major groups were railroads, steels, motors, oils, coppers, radio-televisions and chemicals.

Higher stocks included Pennsylvania Railroad, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Standard Oil (NJ), Kennecott Copper, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, and Radio Corp.

THINGS A'POPPIN' — When W. L. Niederhise rolls out his ancient steam powered popcorn popper in Kalamazoo, business pops all over the place. Built in 1912, his popper is mounted on four buggy wheels and has a handle at the front so it can be hauled through the streets. A small steam engine operates the corn popper and a little clown whirls a peanut display on top of the roaster. There's a shrill steam whistle, too. Niederhiser found the popper a few years ago and has restored it completely.

Antrim Official Named in Probe

Former Welfare Head to Answer Charge of Mishandling $83

BELLAIRE (UP) — Robert J. Helms, 58, former Antrim County welfare director, will answer in Circuit Court Oct. 5 charges that he mishandled funds of his office.

Helms, a Bellaire grocer, was arraigned before Justice Raymond W. Sexton Tuesday and waived preliminary examination. He is accused of converting to the use of another, funds turned over to him in his official capacity as welare director. The specific amount involved is $83.

Helms resigned his post earlier this year and requested an investigation into the handling of county welfare funds. Gov. Williams ordered the probe a month ago.

The warrant under which Helms was arrested Tuesday was issued on request of Prosecutor Harry T. Cook.

Since Helms' resignation petitions signed by more than 300 Antrim County residents were filed with the attorney general asking investigation of the offices of Probate Judge William Severance and Register of Deeds Laurence O. Isamen.

Both officials have said they had no idea why the probe was requested. Preliminary hearings in the case have been held by representatives of the attorney general.

Sanatoriums to Get Segregation Probe

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams has handed the state health commissioner a touchy problem — the segregation of persons by race in Michigan tuberculosis hospitals.

The governor acted after the civil liberties committee of the state bar charged that certain sanatoria, mainly county institutions segregate their patients in wards on the basis of color.

Williams asked Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner and chairman of the state tuberculosis sanatorium commission, to look into the charge and do what he could to stop the practice.

The trouble is, said Dr. Heustis, that at least some state and county institutions "try to put persons together in a ward who will be congenial and companionable. That is a major item in obtaining the mental relaxation and quiet which is necessary to a cure for tubercular patients."

"Thus," he said, "these institutions try to group patients of a similar type, regardless of whether the common factor is education or color or something else."

Health Policies Hit Peak in 1952

Cash Benefits Totaled More Than $2 Billion During Year

More Americans were covered by voluntary health insurance last year than ever before, according to a report released today by the Health Insurance Council.

Cash benefits to subscribers were more than $2 billion during the year, the council estimated in its first public disclosure of insurance payment figures.

In the nation as a whole, medical expense policies showed the greatest gain in subscriptions — 29 per cent — over all other health insurance categories.

Pin-pointing Michigan, the report said that over 5 million persons in the state carried hospitalization insurance at the end of 1952; 4,773,000 held surgical policies and more than 2,000,000 had insurance covering medical expenses.

The year likewise saw increasing public acceptance of major medical expense coverage, the newest form of voluntary health protection designed to help meet catastrophic costs of serious illnesses.

Almost 700,000 persons had laid out money for this type of protection by last December, according to the report.

Smart Fighting Suspension

'Curly' Won't Drive for Jug Despite Court Restraining Order

COLUMBUS, O. (UP) — Wayne (Curly) Smart, veteran harness horse trainer and driver, is fighting his battle against suspension in the courts of both Ohio and Michigan.

Because of temporary court orders in both states, Smart is free to drive for the time being. However, he withdrew last night from the $63,000 Little Brown Jug at the Delaware County Fair Grand Circuit meeting tomorrow "because of the confusion surrounding my status."

In both states, the Delaware, Ohio, driver still has a legal fight on his hands to be entirely out from under the suspensions, based on charges that he administered a mericant to the Casteleton farms horse Abbasong at the Wolverine Raceway at Detroit last month.

Smart first was supspended by the Michigan Racing commissiion, and last week obtained a temporary injunction in a Detroit court, keeping the suspension from taking effect until a hearing Oct. 2.

On Monday came a suspension handed down by U. S. Trotting Association president Lawrence B. Sheppard, barring Smart from further harness activity until Sept. 7, 1954.

Yesterday he carried his case to the Franklin County common pleas court and the ban was lifted with a temporary restrainer by Judge William C. Bryant.

The USTA said it would request that the temporary restrainer be dissolved and would ask an immediate hearing.

Driver's License Fee Hike Effective Friday

LANSING (UP)—The first time you get a driver's license in Michigan after Oct. 2 you must pay a $3 fee.

That was the ruling today of Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard.

The new law calls for a $3 fee for an "original" license, $1.50 for a regular adult license, $2 for a chauffeur license and $1 for a restricted minor's license.

But, since the law is confused, Millard said that a minor's restricted license is an "original" license and will cost $3.

When a holder of a restricted minor's license applies for a regular adult license he pays $1.50, not $3, Millard said. Regular licenses may be renewed for $1.50.

Anyone moving to Michigan and obtaining a license for the first time must also pay $3.

Says Salesmen Are Key to Expanding Economy

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Walker A. Williams, Ford Motor Co. vice-president in charge of sales and advertising, said today American industry will continue to produce at a high rate if its salesmen "sell hard and well."

Williams told a meeting of the Wisconsin Automotive Trades Association that it was up to salesmen to "stimulate new demand so that the tremendous productive power of our economy can be maintained and expanded."

U. S.'s Net Debt at $553 Billions

Figure for Individual $3,500 at End of 1952; Slowly Growing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's public and private net debt increased 31½ billion dollars last year, to a total of 553 billions, the Commerce Department said today.

That was a net debt of $3,500 for each American at the end of 1952. Total net private debt, placed by the department at nearly 303 billion dollars, overshadowed net public debt (federal, state and local) of 250 billions. The federal share was $224,169,000,000.

Net private debt of $302,700,000,000 was made up of $167,400,000,000 owed by corporations and debts of individuals and new corporate businesses amounting to $135,300,000,000.

The increase in debt during 1952, the Commerce Department said, was about the same as in 1951. The department estimated that indebtedness is continuing to increase at the same, or perhaps a faster, rate in this year.

About 75 per cent of the increase of debt in 1952 was private, individuals and business added 23½ billion dollars to their net debt last year, while federal, state and local governments increased net public debt by 8 billions.

The department arrived at its net debt figures by counting only once the debts that were listed in more than one category.

Total federal debt at the end of 1952, for instance, amounted to $280,715,000,000, including some funds not subject to the legal debt limit.

But various federal agencies held $56,546,000,000 worth of U. S. securities—that amount being listed both with the treasury and with the agencies in reaching the total debt figure.

By eliminating this duplicated debt, the Commerce Department calculated the net federal debt at $224,169,000,000.

Says Firm No Fire Risk; Not After Big Blaze

WAYNESBORO, aV. (AP)—A day after a fire destroyed four buildings and damaged six others, city council cited a lumber company building as an apparently dangerous fire risk.

The company owner replied in an advertisement in the city's daily newspaper. He assured the public his building wasn't a fire hazard. It wasn't after that night. It burned down.

Extra-Nuclear Physics Rivals Atomic Energy

KYOTO, JAPAN (AP)—Atomic scientists are the glamor boys today with their awesome progress on H-bomb destruction and the unfolding potential of almost unlimited power for peaceful work.

But there is glitter too in the field of extra-nuclear physicists—scientists who explore outside the hearts of atoms in the mysterious spaces where electrons zoom in crzy patterns at fantastic speeds.

In fact, some of the 54 scientists from 14 nations meeting in this ancient capital of Japan with their Japanese hosts say that in the long run extra-nuclear physics may be more valuable to mankind than atomic energy.

"Looking into the future, we may someday be able to put all of chemistry on a prescription basis," said Prof. C. A. Coulson of the Oxford University, England.

"We could decide just what we want the chemical to do—

As a mathematician, Coulson made long and complicated chemical calculations predicting the quantities of a half dozen hitherto unsuspected anesthetics. They were made and performed exactly as predicted.

Prof. John Bardeen of the University of Illinois said:

"We have now discovered something we call super-conductivity—or electricity without friction.

"When we get temperatures down as low as we can get them, close to absolute at 273 degrees below zero centigrade, we can start an electrical current flowing in a ring of wire.

"Then we take the original electrical impulse away—and the current keeps going around and around.

"If we could keep our power lines chilled close to absolute zero, what an advantage that would be! It is like starting water flowing with a pump, stopping the pump and having the water keep right on flowing."

Ship to Film Sea Monsters

Galapagos Island Near Scene of Underwater Science Movie

HAMBURG, Germany (UP — Young Austrian deep-sea explorer Hans Hass sails from here for the Galapagos Islands in August to study and photograph sea plants and animals.

Fifteen of his 34 years spent investigating the mysteries of the deep, Hass says his eight-month trip to the Pacific isles off Ecuador will crown his earlier achievements.

Besides a complete, modern laboratory and comfortable living quarters, the schooner will carry a crew of ten — Hass; his pretty blonde wife, Lotta, also an accomplished explorer; and eight technical assistants.

Hass plans to travel in waters never before explored scientifically, and to shoot a full-length undersea color film documentary. The waters surrounding the famed "Turtle Islands" are particularly rich in strange flora and fauna.

"I've been working and waiting since the late 1930's for a chance to pilot a really adequately equipped ship into these waters," said Hass, a tall sun-bronzed man with a small goatee.

Hass expects to have some ultra-modern "secret" weapons handy. These gadgets, he hopes, will allow the expedition to study the habits of some large, monster-like creatures who live near the ocean floor and are known to man mostly by the fables built around them.

Hass and his wife want to get on intimate terms — scientifically speaking—with sharks, mammoth octopus, swordfish, devil fish and other man-eating cold-blooded creatures. The 24-year old Lotta, has won more than a few bouts with hungry sharks. Her advice; Sneer at them, and they'll swim away.

Enroute to the Pacific, the Hasses will anchor in the Caribbean Sea. Armed with oxygen masks and cameras, they will research among the coral reef formations there.

Unlike the "Kon Tiki" raft the "Karifa" is designed for comfort. Hass said that the 140-foot luxury ship once belonged to two "kings": Sir Thomas Lipton, the tea king; and Singer, the sewing machine king.

The schooner was built in England in 1929, and saw service as a coastal cutter during the war. Hass bought it at an auction in Copenhagen.

Asks FHA Leniency for Livonia Workers

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams says he wants the Federal Housing Administrator to go easy on men who can't keep up home mortgage payments because they were laid off after the General Motors transmission plant fire at Livonia.

He wrote to Albert M. Cole, the administrator, urging the federal agency go as far as it could legally ot permit mortgage holders to deal generously with the unemployed factory workers.

The governor said he was informed certain mortgage firms and banks which hold the federally-insured mortgages are willing to be lenient but cannot because of federal rules.

Missionaries Meet Tonight in Pontiac

A missionary homecoming has been planned at First Baptist Church tonight. The meeting in the church auditorium at 7:30 will be followed by a reception in the lower auditorium.

Seven missionary families will be greeted at this service. They include the Revs. D. L. Martins from Curacao, Netherland West Indies; Fred Ludwigs, George Kennedys, Ione Reed McMillan and Pearl Hiles from Africa and the James Savages from South America.

Also expected to be present will be Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gould who expect to be leaving for China soon, and Dr. and Mrs. George Westcott, from Ypsilanti, who were the first missionaries to be sent out from the local church.

Money Worries? Like Onions? Go to Panajachel

WASHINGTON (UP) — If money problems have you down and if you like onions, maybe the Guatemalan township of Panajachel is the place for you.

You can get by there on $160 a year, Dr. Sol Tax, a University of Chicago anthropologist, said in a study published today by the Smithsonian Institution.

Tax isn't selling Panajachel real estate. He studied the economy of the little area and wrote in his report that "a penny is still money in Panajachel." He added:

"In this community a man who had accumulated $1,000 would be a very rich Indian indeed. He probably would not have to work any more and he could enjoy about all the luxuries afforded within his cultural horizon."

And you'd live in a rather poor, whitewashed adobe house which often is filled with smoke and has little or no furniture.

"According to either American or Guatemalan standards, these people are poor," Tax said, "but not oppressively so."

For instance: They take part in elaborate rituals which require the expenditure of time and money—"especially to buy liquor. Men and women can take days off to go to festivals. Young men and women even indulge in fripperies of fashion."

Government Study Shows Individuals Own Biggest Share of Total Farm Land

WASHINGTON (UP) — There's a lot of farm land in the United States. Who owns it?

Two government experts checked into the matter and came up with this answer: Individuals own most of it but corporations and the federal and state governments hold sizable chunks.

Buid T. Inman, of the bureau of Agricultural Economics, and H. E. Robison, of the Bureau of Census, made a sampling of 1950 agriculture census figures on land ownership and concluded that of the 1,158,566,000 acres of farm land in the country:

1. Individuals, partnerships and estates own 1,017 million acres or 87.8 per cent;

3. Corporations hold title to 51 million acres or 4.4 per cent;

3. Federal, state and local governments own 4.2 per cent with the remaining 3.6 per cent Indian land.

These percentages, the two report, show no great change from 1945 when individuals owned 87.9 per cent of the farm land, corporations 4.5 per cent, Indians 3.1 and public bodies 4.5.

In the 17 western states, which contain about 60 per cent of the nation's farm land, individual holdings constitute only 81 per cent while in the states east of the Great Plains individuals own 98 per cent of the farm land.

Florida is the only eastern state where individuals hold less than 90 per cent. In that state individuals own 82.1 per cent and corporations 14.5 per cent. This represented a considerable shift from 1945 when individuals owned 89.2 per cent of Florida farm land and corporations 10.6 per cent.

"Much of this land, where it was used for ranching or for fruit and vegetable production, was operated for the owner by a hired manager. Farming and ranching half of the corporate-held farmland."

The study said that outside the western states and in Florida the corporate lands in farms were held mainly by profit corporations such as real estate businesses and timber, mineral and railroad companies, which seldom farmed the land.

In addition to the 51 million acres of farm land corporations also own some 90 million acres of nonfarm land. Individuals hold 1,017 million acres of farm land and 174 million acres of nonfarm land.

East North Central — Ohio 20,969, 99.1 and .5; Indiana 19,659, 98.6 and .0; Illinois 30,979, 98.5 and 1.2; Michigan 17,270, 99 and .6; Wisonsin 23,221, 98.9 and .9.

2 Children Die in Old Ice Box

Georgia 4-Year-Olds Suffocate While Playing Inside Refrigerator

BAINBRIDGE, Ga. (AP)—The nation's current series of suffocations in discarded ice boxes had added two Georgia children to its death list.

The bodies of Susan Hinchcliff and John Frank Moran, both 4, were found in an old refrigerator yesterday. A small dog lay between them.

The ice box had been stored in the family garage at Susan's home. Police said the children and the dog apparently crawled into the box to play and were smothered after the door slammed shut and trapped them.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hinchcliff, Susan's parents, were away at work.

A series of multiple ice box deaths in other states began during August. Five children were smothered at Proctor, Ark., Aug. 12. Four others were victims of a similar tragedy about the same time at Richmond, Va., and two died in the same manner at Haverhill, Mass.

The Bainbridge tragedy occurred despite a campaign conducted by the fire department against abandoned ice boxes soon after such deaths began occurring elsewhere. The fatal box was overlooked in the safety drive.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today demanded a bigger role for Asia in the United Nations.

Opening a debate on foreign affairs in the upper house of Parliament, he called for inclusion of neutral countries in the Korean political conference and asserted:

"It does not seem proper that problems intimately affecting Asia, problems which are in fact of Asia, should be disposed of largely by ignoring Asia."

Nehru also pointed out that Pakistan's term on the U. N. Security Council will expire Dec. 31 and that "Asia will then be represented solely by the government of Formosa (Nationalist China) and Lebanon."

"Leave out Formosa because that does not represent any part of Asia but itself, if it does represent that. Now, Lebanon is an excellent country, but it is rather a big burden on Lebanon," he commented.

Nehru declared that "it is going to be less and less feasible for any world organization to function in this way or to consider Asia only as a playground for their politics or their conflicts."

Report on Institute for Palsied Children

Parents who attended the summer Rackham Institute for cerebral palsied children in Ypsilanti reported at Tuesday night's meeting of FAITH at Stevens Hall.

FAITH, an organization "For the Aid and Instruction of The Handicapped," is sponsored by Oakland County Society for Crippled Children.

Members, who will meet again Oct. 6, were told of a Michigan Associaton for Retarded Children conference at Michigan State College this Friday and Saturday.

Three Face Death in Western Murder

After 5½ hours of deliberating, a jury yesterday found the much married Mrs. Graham and her two gangster pals guilty of the first degree murder of 62-year-old widow, Mrs. Mabel Monahan.

There was no recommendation for clemency, and California law thus makes the death penalty mandatory.

Mrs. Graham, 30, and the two men face sentencing at 9 a. m. Friday, but a defense counsel move for a new trial may delay it.

The brutal beating and garroting of crippled Mrs. Monahan in her Burbank home last March 9 will make Mrs. Graham the third woman to go to California's gas chamber, barring a successful appeal.

Every state has a law requiring the registration of births.

Quiet Youth Sobs Story of Murder

UPPER SANDUSY, Ohio (AP)—A quiet youth who planned to become a minister is in Wyandot County jail today accused of viciously murdering his teen-age college sweetheart.

The sheriff and prosecutor of Wyandot County say 19-year-old Roy Roger Schinagle Jr. of Mayfield Heights, confessed killing Cynthia Pfeil, 19, White Plains, N. Y.

They say he sobbed a story last night of brutality that spun a bloody web from Delaware, in central Ohio, to a desolate patch of woods near here.

They say Schinagle — described by neighbors in his Cleveland suburb as a "nice, quiet, youngster," —tore 17 gashes in Cynthia's face with a lead pipe. They say that he strangled her and bruised her body.

Schinagle signed a confession covering nine typewritten pages, Sheriff Dean McAllister said. But the sandy-haired Ohio Wesleyan University sophomore insisted he had trouble remembering what happened.

Rumor Claims Beria Escaped Into Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Madrid morning newspaper ABC today published a story that Lavrenty Beria parachuted into Spain several days ago — but admitted it did not know whether the story was true.

The Spanish national police chief said officially he knew nothing about the report. Unofficially, he said it was laughable.

"It looks as though Beria will now be replacing the flying saucers," he said.

The ABC story said that Beria and a number of other Russians parachuted into the Mancha region of Spain,—the region made famous by Don Quixote's tilt with windmills.

The newspaper explained it assumed no responsibility for the story and only published it because of the bare possibility that it might be true.

Wilson Thinks Danger 'Is Somewhat Reduced'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson professes the personal opinion that the hazard of war "is somewhat reduced."

Wilson said the country was in "a much stronger military position" than it was a year ago and that he hoped this would deter Russia from any plan to start another war.

His hope, he said, is that more and more people on both sides of the Iron Curtain will realize that "no one can really win a war."

It's Not the Tire—It's the Tread

On your own casings or we can furnish first grade casings.

Tires Expertly Capped With SKID RID Will Reduce Skidding On:

1. Wet Concrete
2. Wet Brick
3. Wet Black Top
4. Snow and Ice Covered Roads

In fact, tests carried on before newsmen, have proved that cars equipped with SKID-RID can readily be stopped on steep down grades, or stopped and started on even the most treacherous snow and ice covered hills without the use of chains.
