Fiscal Reform Bill Signed by Romney

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today signed into law a fiscal reform bill which revamps Michigan's tax structure and levies the state's first income tax.

Congratulating the Republican and Democratic lawmakers who enacted the bill, Romney described the program as one which is just for lower income groups and which will stimulate new business.

"This program gives us the major goals of fiscal reform," he said, "Greater flexibility, greater equity, more diversified sources of revenues for local governments and a higher level of state revenue to satisfy a demand of future public services."

Witnessing the signing were several Republican House members who participated in bipartisan negotiations in which the final version of the bill was hammered out.

The action followed yesterday's signing of the controversial implied consent bill, designed to provide more control over drinking drivers and 14 bills appropriating $1.101 billion for state operations in fiscal 1967-68.

DOMINATED SESSION

The designing and passage of the tax program, long sought by Romney as the answer to the state's growing fiscal needs dominated the regular session of the 1967 Legislature.

Lawmakers struggled for six months before adopting on July 1 the measure levying a 2.6 per cent tax on personal income, 5.6 per cent on corporate income and 7 per cent on financial institutions.

The tax takes effect Oct. 1. It is expected to bring in about $174 million in new revenue during the current fiscal year and $230 million in a full year's operation.

A court battle is expected over attempts by legislators to make the tax law referendum-proof by including language stipulation that it makes appropriations and is designed to meet deficiencies in state funds.

The State Constitution forbids public referendums on such laws.

Cloudburst Turned This Royal Oak Street Into A Waterway

Phone Bill 'Escalation'

By LOIS MANDIBERG

Last month's phone bill for a Waterford man included $221 for a call from Tokyo, Japan, to Flushing, Mich.

"Slightly perturbed," Ford Fitzpatrick wrote and questioned his son, Michael, who happened to be in Tokyo on leave from Vietnam at the time of the call.

His son was stationed with the 101st Airborne in Vietnam.

Sgt. Fitzpatrick, 21, confessed he had made the call. He asked his father to take money from his accumulated pay to cover the bill.

★ ★ ★

It seems the sergeant had placed a 63-minute call to his girlfriend, Kathy Gibbons, 18, in Flushing.

NOT TOO SURPRISED

Actually, his father wasn't too surprised, knowing that his son had once called Kathy from the Philippines. That bill was $64.

Fitzpatrick mentioned he had asked his son not to charge any more long distance calls to their home at 30 Pleasant Lake.

Although there was one call the parents did accept gladly: a $21 call from Tokyo to them.

Sgt. Fitzpatrick is currently at Great Lakes Naval Hospital in Illinois, recovering from wounds received in Vietnam soon after he made his phone calls.

ALMOST A YEAR

He was shot four days before his tour of duty in Vietnam was to be completed. He had been in Vietnam for almost a year.

★ ★ ★

Fitzpatrick worked at DiKar Tool Co. in Detroit before joining the Army in December 1965. He will be discharged this December.

MICHAEL FITZPATRICK

Plot in Mexico Linked to China; 13 Are Arrested

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican authorities say they have squelched a $1,680-a-month plot financed by Red China to overthrow the government and set up a Communist regime.

Acting Atty. Gen. Julio Sanchez Vargas announced the arrest of 13 men last night, but an alleged leader of the conspiracy apparently was safe in China.

Eleven Mexicans, and two reputed guerrilla experts, a Venezuelan and Salvadorean, faced a court appearance today to answer charges of planning a campaign of sabotage, terrorism and insurrection in cities and across the Mexican countryside.

The government named former Mexican Communist party leader Javier Fuentes Gutierrez as one of the chief plotters but said he had flown to Red China June 30, using a forged passport and an assumed name, in company with another leftist leader, Federico Emery Valla.

★ ★ ★

A government statement also implicated a member of Congress, Rafael Estrada Villa. But there was no mention of any charges against the legislator, who was said to be visiting Cuba.

Storm Hits Troy, Birmingham

An unusual storm broke over the southeastern Oakland County area yesterday. Some communities were crippled while, just short distances away, rain was barely noticeable.

★ ★ ★

The storm extended south into northern Detroit and closed I-75 for some time in the afternoon.

Hardest hit in the county were Troy, Birmingham and Royal Oak.

For over an hour, starting about 4 p.m., the Troy Municipal Building, containing police and fire headquarters was without power.

Most north-south streets were closed by flooding. Troy firemen from the Big Beaver station were unable to get to a truck on fire at Axtell, east of Maple.

PHONES OUT

Most phones were out for several hours.

At Big Beaver Airport a pilot-training class was interrupted when the small plane being used overturned while landing on the flooded runway.

Related Picture, Page A-4

In Royal Oak rain was estimated at five inches in a two-hour period. Water stood four feet deep at some intersections, and a bolt of lightning reportedly knocked out the police headquarters' communications system. Emergency power was used.

BASEMENTS FLOODED

In all the southeastern county area extensive flooding of basements was reported.

The storm apparently was concentrated below the northern boundary of Birmingham.

While the area was being lashed, just blocks away in Bloomfield Hills all was tranquil. Farther north in Pontiac at the height of the storm about 1 p.m., the sun was shining.

★ ★ ★

But on Woodward at Harmon in front of a string of fashionable Birmingham stores and offices water was about 2½ feet deep.

FROLICKING YOUNGSTERS

When the storm abated, about 2 p.m., children frolicked in the temporary lake.

Street Department officials said the area is often flooded and acts as a sort of catch basin during storms. "It holds the water until it can drain off gradually and stops a lot of basements from flooding," a spokesman said.

In Oak Park lightning was blamed for starting several fires. Power failures and flooding were widespread.

In Warren, Mayor Ted Bates said today he would ask Gov. Romney to declare his community a disaster area.

Residents of 50 homes in this city had to be evacuated to schools and fire stations due to deep flooding.

Navy Chief Air Crash Victim

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C. (AP) — The newly named secretary of the Navy, business executives, their wives and at least 10 children were among 82 persons killed in the flaming collision of a big jet airliner and a small private plane.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the small twin-engine private plane was about "12 miles south of where it should have been," in the crash yesterday over western North Carolina mountains.

Wreckage and bodies showered down over a wide stretch of the resort area near the city of Hendersonville in the Blue Ridge foothills.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, A-5, C-8

The main part of the airliner missed a crowded youth camp by only 50 yards.

No one on either plane survived.

There apparently was no warning before the crash, witnesses said.

The smaller craft swept out of the mountain haze and ripped a huge gash in the airliner's side.

The smaller plane blew up, some of it welded to the fuselage of the bigger craft.

The collision occurred at 12:01 p.m., just three minutes after the Piedmont Airlines 727, carrying 74 passengers and a crew of five, took off from the Asheville airport en route from Atlanta to Washington.

The smaller plane, a Cessna 310 heading for Asheville, carried two Missouri businessmen and its pilot.

John T. McNaughton, 46, who was scheduled to become secretary of the Navy in about two weeks; his wife, Sarah, and their 11-year-old son, Theodore, were aboard the airliner.

Theodore had been attending a summer camp, and his parents had come to take him back to Washington.

The passengers included about 30 food brokers from across the country.

Sunny and Warm Seen 'Til Saturday

Sunny and warm with a chance of an occasional shower, and cool nights is the forecast for the Pontiac area through Saturday.

Temperatures will register 57 to 60 tonight and skip to near 84 tomorrow. Winds will continue light and variable.

★ ★ ★

The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 58. By 2 p.m. the mercury had warmed up to 82.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 20, tonight 5. Tomorrow 10.

UAW Pay Plan Is Toned Down

DETROIT (AP) — The guaranteed annual income proposal under negotiation between the nation's auto makers and the United Auto Workers union will not be so extensive as the union first indicated it would be, it was learned today.

★ ★ ★

While details of the plan are unsettled at the bargaining table, unimpeachable sources made it plain that the union demand falls far short of what had been envisioned in prebargaining speculation.

Originally, the UAW leaders talked of guaranteeing a worker a full year's income from the point when he became laid off.

Now, UAW President Walter P. Reuther has presented the actual demand in closed conferences with the auto makers, and union insiders say the proposal does not include some of the possibilities the companies found economically fearful.

It is known that the actual proposal calls for a system that would function on this basic principle: Workers with highest seniority would be guaranteed a full 52 weeks pay. The guarantee would date from the start of production of the new models each year, normally about Sept. 1. Workers with less seniority would be guaranteed a smaller number of pay checks.

★ ★ ★

If a man were guaranteed 40 weekly pay checks and was laid off after 36 weeks of work, the company would still be required to pay him the equivalent of four more full pay checks, under the UAW proposal.

Rains Cause Fatal Crash, Doom Poisoned Child

Two deaths in the Oakland-Macomb county area were attributed to yesterday's storms.

★ ★ ★

Highways blocked by deep rainwater may have prevented saving the life of a 19-month-old girl from Midwest City, Okla., visiting in Troy.

Dawn Henson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henson, was dead from apparent poisoning after a frantic effort to get her to Children's Hospital in Detroit.

She had been visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Henson of 500 Trombley.

INTERSECTION FLOODED

Police attributed the death to a flooded intersection.

Police said her car had plowed through a flooded area on 15 Mile, but apparently lost its brakes, causing it to enter an intersection through a stop sign.

Her vehicle collided with another and Mrs. Detloff was thrown out, her own car running over her, police said.

★ ★ ★

In the effort to save the Henson child, an ambulance, police car and helicopter were employed.

DRANK WEED KILLER

She was first taken in the early afternoon to Community Medical Center in Madison Heights. It was determined she had been accidentally poisoned by weed killer she apparently drank.

With telephone lines knocked out, contact with the Poison Center at Children's Hospital was impossible and an attempt made to bring her there began.

A Madison Heights fire vehicle took her to 12 Mile and Stephenson but stalled in water. A police car and ambulance continued the trip, then the child was picked up by a Selfridge Air Base helicopter.

★ ★ ★

10 Koreans Ambush 150 Cong Soldiers, Kill 32, Capture 4

SAIGON (AP) — Ten South Korean Marines ambushed about 150 Vietcong in the jungle Wednesday night, killed 32 of the Communists and took four prisoners, Korean headquarters reported today.

The brief but successful ambush in coastal Quang Ngai Province was the heaviest ground fighting reported, but a company of American paratroopers located a Red prison camp in the jungle and freed 22 emaciated Vietnamese captives, including three women. There was no sign of any Americans in the bamboo stockade.

The Korean Marines caught the Vietcong company moving inland through the jungle about eight miles north of Quang Ngai City. The Korean squad was strung out along the trail and opened up with machine guns and a rain of grenades and mortars.

The fight lasted only a few minutes before the Communist troops plunged back into the jungle, leaving 22 weapons behind in addition to their dead and captured. The Koreans suffered no casualties, their headquarters reported.

* * *

The American paratroops acted on an intelligence tip to surprise the Communists at the jungle prison camp in Quang Ngai Province, in the northern 1st Corps area.

The Americans from the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade hacked their way through the jungle Wednesday and opened up on the guards around the camp who fled. The GI's plunged through the 10-foot bamboo wall, across a trench booby-trapped with sharp punji stakes and into the small clearing of bamboo huts.

* * *

They found a dozen men shackled in leg stocks and all the prisoners weak from hunger. They included three women, three South Vietnamese soldiers, two village chiefs who had been kidnaped and one national policeman.

Budget Section to Be Ignored

Shun Data Processing Deals, Says Romney

LANSING (AP)—State Budget Director Glenn Allen has been directed not to comply with a portion of the $81.4-million general government budget, Gov. George Romney said as he signed the document Wednesday.

The section of the budget that Allen has been ordered to ignore are deals with data processing programs.

Romney said he objects to language instructing Allen, before approving acquisition or expanded use of electronic data processing equipment, to receive approval from general government subcommittees of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees.

* * *

Such approval would deal with the nature, purpose and need of such programs, anticipated results and estimated costs.

Romney said he felt the language violated a constitutional provision that no person exercising powers of one branch of government shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch, except as expressly provided in the Constitution.

"This clearly interjects the Legislature into an executive function, and violates the separation of powers doctrine of the Michigan Constitution," Romney said.

"Those responsible for this language are hereby on notice that we have every intention of ignoring compliance with it," he added.

Romney's action drew fire from Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, who said "the selection of data processing systems to handle the work of state departments is really more a policy-making than an administrative function, and policy making is the duty of the legislative branch."

EARL A. KREPS

New Manager for the C. of C.

Has Been Working in Post for Nine Months

Earl A. Kreps was named manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber board of directors announced today. Kreps of 1781 Beverly, Sylvan Lake, has been acting manager for the past nine months.

He previously spent four years as the assistant manager of the Chamber.

Kreps said "As a life-long resident of the Pontiac area, I am very much interested in the economic and social climate of Pontiac. I will work with the board of directors and the members of the Pontiac Area Chamber to constantly improve conditions in these areas.

"There are many programs in which the Chamber of Commerce could easily become involved and I am sure the board of directors and myself will make a united effort to conduct Chamber affairs to the best interests of the community.

"The Chamber's programs in the next few months will be directed toward legislation on state, national, and local levels; continued emphasis on better business ethics; investigation of the legitimacy of various solicitations; and promoting better fire and traffic safety awareness."

ACTIVE IN CIVIC AFFAIRS

Kreps has been active in civic affairs for several years.

He is currently secretary of the West Bloomfield Board of Education, a vice president of the Downtown Kiwanis Club and a member of the Elks Lodge. He was formerly director of the Sylvan Lake weed control program.

Kreps, a Pontiac native, is married and has two children. He attended Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Romney OKs More Benefits to Auto Idled

LANSING (UPI)—A bitterly disputed bill making one more week of unemployment benefits available to more than 100,000 auto workers laid off for model changeovers was signed into law yesterday by Gov. George Romney.

On a full-year basis, it is estimated that 240,000 workers in all Michigan industries will share in the $12 million extra in benefits the bill authorizes.

When it goes into effect Aug. 27, the bill will allow temporarily idled workers to collect jobless pay benefits for the full period of their layoff by eliminating the old "waiting week" that was required before the first benefit check could be collected.

It also will boost jobless pay benefits by $3 to $4 a week, depending on the worker's classification, and allow the state to complete repayment of two outstanding federal obligations out of the Unemployment Compensation Fund.

The average weekly unemployment benefit is now about $50.

Explorer 35 Doing Well

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With its experiments beeping strong signals to earth, America's Lunar Explorer spacecraft today sped on course toward an orbit around the moon to study radiation dangers in advance of manned lunar landings.

"Everything is looking very good," said National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials as the windmill-shaped payload, officially named Explorer 35, approached the one-third mark in its 225,608-mile journey to the moon.

The $4-million craft, successfully launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, is to trigger a retro-rocket about 5:30 a.m. Saturday and swing into lunar orbit.

Bloomfield Hills Exec Named to School Board

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Donald A. Forman of 551 Whitehall has been appointed to the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education.

FORMAN

He replaces Philip C. Bartlett who resigned last month.

Forman has been active in school activities. A citizens committee he headed conducted two major opinion surveys used by the school district.

Director of the product system planning department at Chrysler Corp., Forman is a University of Michigan graduate and holds a master's degree in automotive engineering from the Chrysler Institute.

He is a trustee of the Congregational Church, Birmingham, and he and his wife have three children, Leslie, 13, Claire, 10 and Scott, 9.

BIRMINGHAM — Municipal Judge John C. Emery Jr., 45, of 132 Waterfall has been named chief defender in a private defender program set up by the Detroit Bar Association.

The private defender system is an arm of the existing Legal Aid Bureau, which represents the indigent in civil litigation.

Under the plan, the defenders will be financed in part by such sources as the United Foundation and local governments.

The bar officials said the new system will improve the quality of legal defense for the poor.

* * *

The system is also meant to cut down on patronage practices in the appointment of legal defense by some judges, they said.

$300-Million Atomic Power Plant for State

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—Plans for a $300-million nuclear generating plant near St. Joseph were announced today by the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

Donald C. Cook, president of I & M, said construction of the plant on a 650-acre site along Lake Michigan near Bridgman, nine miles south of St. Joseph, is subject to licensing by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

* * *

Cook said the plan would be capable of generating 2.2 million kilowatts of power and would be the largest of the American Electric Power system's 19 power stations existing or projected. AEP is the parent concern of I & M.

Cook said the plant is to be operational by 1972. The new plant represents the AEP system's entry into the nuclear power field after 60 years of almost exclusive reliance on coal-fired electric generation. AEP system engineers have been actively and extensively engaged in nuclear research and development for the past 15 years, Cook said.

Temporary Truces Quiet Race Tension in 2 Cities

By the Associated Press

The racial situations in Erie, Pa., and Cairo, Ill., were quiet today under the terms of truces agreed to by leaders of the Negroes seeking better economic and social standards.

Mayor Louis J. Tullio of Erie, third largest city in Pennsylvania, promised more jobs and recreational facilities in gaining the truce.

There was one shooting Wednesday night in Erie but it could not be determined immediately whether there was any racial connection.

Henry Williams, 23, a Negro, was shot following an argument at a restaurant, police said. He died in a hospital early today.

TEMPORARY TRUCE

A temporary truce was being observed in Cairo, Ill., by young Negroes who live in a housing project where snipers' activities and fire-bombing have broken out twice recently.

Demands for economic and social reform were being prepared for Mayor Lee Stetzel and city commissioners by representatives of the young Negroes.

* * *

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner had ordered a fresh company of 100 guardsmen into Cairo. And a tight curfew continued for the whole city.

Fatal Jet Had Other Mishap

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The Piedmont Airlines 727 jetliner that collided with a private plane in flight near Hendersonville Wednesday killing 82 persons had been involved in a previous collision.

The $5.5-million Boeing-built plane known as the "Manhattan Pacemaker" was struck by a car May 25 while being towed to maintenance facilities across a public road from the Smith Reynolds Airport at Winston-Salem.

* * *

The woman driving the car was hospitalized, and damage to the plane was $25,000. It was out of service a week.

The plane had landing gear trouble three times last Friday. A pilot's warning light showed the nose wheel was not down, although observers on the ground said it was in place.

The Pacemaker was a three-engine jet which cruised at 580 miles per hour.

Its capacity was 92 passengers and carried a crew of five.

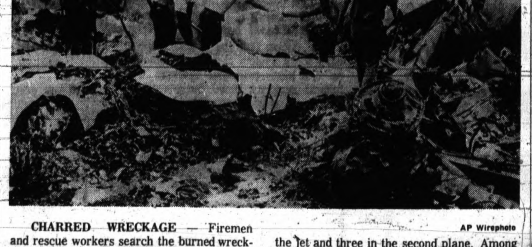

Man Found Dead in Pool

An 80-year-old man was found dead in a swimming pool at 3060 Chickering, Bloomfield Township, about noon today.

Dead is Henry J. Feriks, an employe at the home of C. W. Smith.

* * *

Police said the man had either drowned or been stricken with illness and fell into the pool.

CHARRED WRECKAGE — Firemen and rescue workers search the burned wreckage of a Piedmont Airlines jetliner that collided in air with a small plane near Hendersonville, N.C., yesterday, killing 78 aboard the jet and three in the second plane. Among the victims were newly appointed Secretary of the Navy John McNaughton and his wife and son.

Hadley Phone Company Is a Dunning Family Affair

By JEAN SAILE

AREA NEWS

HADLEY TOWNSHIP — When residents of a 25-square-mile area in southern Lapeer County dial "operator," they no longer get the neighborly "Central" response.

They do know, however, that their calls are being routed by one of the smallest telephone companies in the state of Michigan.

Still independently owned in the age of consolidated utility services, the company, billed simply as "The Telephone Co." is a closed corporation directed by the George F. Dunning family for the last 23 years.

Dunning admits the federal Rural Electrification program, godfather of small utility companies, has a proprietary interest in the business, too.

When the Dunnings first came to Hadley Township in 1943, the company serviced 137 customers. An outgrowth of a farmer's mutual, it had had its beginnings when a group of farmers purchased an unused line from Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and dragged it some 10 miles to Lapeer.

SWITCHBOARD HOURS

Switchboard hours, Mrs. Dunning recalls, were from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on holidays and Sundays when they took over the company.

She can recall the institution of night service.

"We slept on a cot underneath the switchboard and when the flasher went we sat up and connected the call and then went back to sleep. Soon the night load became too heavy for that kind of an operation and we had to staff the board in shifts."

Burton Dunning, now a student at Oakland University, can remember taking his turn at the board when he was about 12 years old and still recalls the customers calling him "Ma'am."

EYES EXPANSION

Now an officer in the corporation, he is vice-president in charge of maintenance and eyes eagerly the expansion plans foreseen for the company during the next five years.

The elder Dunning tells the story with some pride.

"We've received Washington and Lansing approval for an REA loan which will allow us to construct two new legs on the lines, and offer extended service into Lapeer. We ought to add 300 customers to our present 400," he exults.

* * *

Forward-looking for some time, the elder Dunning has led the little company away from a house-based switchboard to an electronic complex now housed in a building across the street from the Dunning's home and business office.

MODERN APPROACH

He talks knowledgeably of circle digit dialing and automatic number identification, terms that confirm his interest and his modern approach to the business.

Limited by the state to its present boundaries, the company looks to expansion only by increased population within its area, Dunning said.

"Two new housing developments have been started within the area," Dunning reported. "We should accomplish as much in the next five years as we have in the last 23."

* * *

NO FORMER RECORDS

"When we took over there were no records, no bills, no nothing," the now-gray but youthful appearing Mrs. Dunning said.

"We sent out bills and people were hurt. They wanted to know if we didn't trust them," she laughed.

Another member of the Dunning family, daughter Kay, has grown up with the telephone business.

* * *

For the most part the Dunnings run it.

'MANAGE BY OURSELVES'

"We sometimes hire people for expansion or big repairs, but we generally manage by ourselves," Dunning said.

At that point Burton came in, drenched from a summer rain that caught him while he was putting up a line in town that had been knocked down by a truck.

Drying out he noted he was happy that the rural lines run in underground cables.

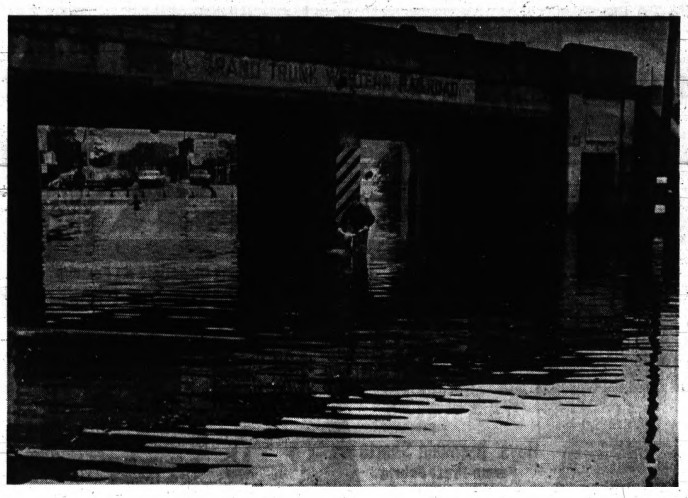

"It's just in town that we have the overhead wiring," he said.

It's obvious that the Dunnings know the business from the ground up.

STORM WATER — Sudden heavy rains yesterday flooded this railroad underpass on 11 Mile Road, east of Woodward, in Royal Oak. Traffic was detoured around the area for several hours following the storm.

40-Acre Subdivision Development Gains Approval of Wixom Council

WIXOM — A 40-acre subdivision development known as Palmer Lakes Estates on North Wixom Road near Loon Lake recently got approval of the Wixom City Council.

Ward Ross Homes of Pontiac will develop 102 lots, building $20,000—$25,000 houses on many of them, said Ward Ross, president. Lots will range from 80 to 120 feet wide, he added.

Ross Homes is now in the process of purchasing the land from Branch Corp., Birmingham, headed by Lee Keating.

Ross expects the purchase to be completed in one month. At that time, he will begin selling lots, he said.

* * *

Keating planned development of the land and received council approval in early 1960. Since then, the land has been vacant.

Some of the original subdivision requirements were relaxed. The cost of fulfilling the requirements, about $300,000, would have prohibited the development, Ross indicated. His request for requirement changes was first approved by the planning commission.

Instead of the required 27-foot-wide roads, Ross Homes will be able to build 24-foot-wide roads, because the firm will also be permitted to omit curbs. Curbs can be eliminated because the area was platted when they were not required.

In addition, gutters are not required as the city has no storm drainage system.

* * *

The subdivision, said Ross, will represent the first Wixom area to be served by the public water system.

One lot in the subdivision will remain vacant to provide access to Loon Lake, Ross said. He is planning about a dozen lots directly on the lake shore.

Ross Homes also owns the 240-acre Lakeland Estates and the 130-acre Watkins Hills subdivisions in Waterford Township.

Troy Hearing on $440,000 Sanitary Sewer

TROY — A public hearing on a $440,000 sanitary sewer project has been set by the City Commission for 7:30 p.m., Aug. 28.

The project is for the area of Big Beaver east of Livernois and was requested by the County Health Department to correct a pollution problem.

Residents of the area are to pay $356,274 of the total cost at $12.96 per front foot.

The brother of a city commissioner failed to win approval to be hired as a department of public works employe.

* * *

William Halsey, brother of Richard Halsey, needed six votes from commissioners before he could be hired.

HIRING REJECTED

This stipulation is in the city charter in an antinepotism clause.

Commissioner Wallace Hudson nixed the hiring with his vote. Five others approved it, but the sixth vote was lacking with one member on vacation.

The controversial airport question will be considered once again in a hearing at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 21.

* * *

The city recently passed an ordinance designed to halt further construction at Jim Robbins Airport, I-75 and East Maple.

The ordinance called for city permission before improvements could be made. It is now proposed to amend an ordinance to allow for small construction jobs by permit.

Road, Railway Swamped

Dam Idea All Wet

METAMORA TOWNSHIP—"It seemed like a good idea at the time," said Lewis Beattie, 2705 Tienken, Avon Township.

He was referring to the construction of a dam last winter on the former Richard Gilbert farm on Thomas Road in Metamora Township.

A portion of the farm was recently purchased by Beattie and his father-in-law, George Lyon, owner of the Lyon Gear Works in Lake Orion.

Their idea was to expand a small lake on the property by building a dam. Last winter's snow and the heavy rains this summer have turned the project into something of a nightmare.

* * *

The water has extended over half a mile, seeping through two culverts under the New York Central railroad track and flooding Thomas Road periodically in two spots.

'GOT GO AHEAD'

Though governmental red faces contend the owners failed to get a permit, Beattie insists he was referred from the county clerk to the township supervisor to the township zoning chairman, who told him to go ahead.

Now he's got problems with the road commission and the New York Central Railroad.

"I've been working on this thing for the last four months," Beattie said. "We're dropping the level, and we've still got another foot to go."

* * *

Though extensive, the lake is not very deep, according to Beattie. "It's not much more than a foot deep at the dam," he said.

The dam, he said, cost $2,000 to construct.

Boy, 2, Is in Hospital After Fall From Auto

ROCHESTER — A 2-year-old boy remained in Pontiac General Hospital today for treatment of injuries sustained when he fell out of a car driven by his mother at 11 p. m. yesterday.

Under care is Johnny Delbridge. His sister Bridget, also 2, and the mother, Mrs. Patricia Ann Delbridge, 24, of 433 Parkdale escaped serious injury.

* * *

Shelby Police Officers Robert Barber and John Pizzuti witnessed the Delbridge car leave the road on Shelby south of 24 Mile shortly after it encountered loose gravel on the roadway.

Council in Keego Resets Due Date on Summer Taxes

KEEGO HARBOR — The City Council has changed the due date for summer taxed to Sept. 1. Taxes previously were due July 31.

The council also rescheduled the proposed rezoning of lots 62 and 63, at 2089 Maddy Lane to Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall.

Owners of the lots Mr. and Mrs. P. Gessas of 2089 Maddy Lane are requesting a change from residential to commercial zoning. Mrs. Gessas plans to operate a small beauty shop on the location.

Vernon Edward accepted an appointment to the Planning Commission, reported City Manager Gary L. Dickson. Edward if employed at GMC Truck and Coach Division. He resides at 1764 Sylvan Glen.

* * *

Edward is filling the remainder of former Commissioner Robert DeLisle's term which expires in March. DeLisle resigned from the commission because of other commitments, said Dickson.

The council also approved this year's garbage collection contract of about $10,300 with the G.C.W. Disposal Co.

New Zoning Ordinance, Map Approved by White Lake Board

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has unanimously approved the new zoning ordinance and map, capping a four-months-long controversy.

The first public hearing on the zoning code and map was held March 15 and brought out about 250 residents with objections.

* * *

The new ordinance will go into effect at the end of August, if residents do not petition to have it put to a vote, said Township Supervisor James Reid.

Updating the former ordinance, adopted in 1956, is the chief reason for the new ordinance and map, explained Reid.

In response to objections, suburban estates zone was deleted from the map originally proposed. However, this classification can be used in the future. It requires a minimum dwelling size of 1,600 feet for two-acre plots.

The zoning ordinance also created three commercial and two industrial zones, and a multiple dwelling zone.

The ordinance further relaxes previous requirements for permits on remodeling or alterations.

The board also accepted the law firm of Booth and Patterson, Waterford Township, as the White Lake Township attorneys.

This firm fills the vacancy left by former Township Attorney Paul Mandel who resigned in late June.

* * *

Road Bids Accepted

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Bids for the blacktopping of Bass Lake Road and the preparation of Sleeth Road from Bass Lake to Wixom roads for future blacktopping have been accepted, according to Township Supervisor Robert H. Long.

The lowest bidder for the blacktopping was Detroit Concrete Products Corp., Detroit, with a bid of $20,281.

Mather Construction Co., Farmington, offered the lowest bid, $137,549, for the road preparation job.

The contract will be let through the Oakland County Road Commission. The commission did all of the engineering for the road improvement and will pay half the costs, said Township Harry H. Helvey.

* * *

The Bass Lake Road work of 1¼ miles will begin in late September and be completed in about three days, Helvey said.

* * *

The Sleeth preparation of 2¼ miles is to begin in late August. It will be done in one month, said Helvey.

Thomas Road In Metamora Township Gets A Soaking

Draft Law 'Sleeper' Protects a Flunker

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press News Features

WASHINGTON — The new draft law may stimulate summer school college enrollments.

That's because of a little-noticed phrase which gives an undergraduate a chance to keep his deferment even if he happens to flunk a subject or two.

The new law, as you've probably read by now, liberalizes deferments for undergraduates who "are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction."

Gone are the college qualification tests which the Selective Service system conducted periodically for prospective college students. And no longer will colleges be asked to report student standings — something never popular with either the colleges or the students.

★ ★ ★

So what does it mean, "satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction?" The revised regulations define this phrase in legal gobblygook and then conveniently explain:

25 PCT. YEARLY

"For example, a student pursuing a four-year course should have earned 25 per cent of his credits required for his baccalaureate degree at the end of his first academic year, 50 per cent at the end of his second academic year and 75 per cent at the end of his third academic year."

And here's the new bonus: Under the old rules a student had to do satisfactory work measured by the nine months of the normal school year. The new rules say a student's academic year "shall include the 12-month period following the beginning of his course of study."

That means if you're shy a credit or two come June, you can go to summer school and keep your 2-S student deferment.

★ ★ ★

And here's an important thing to remember: It's your duty to provide your draft board with evidence each year that you are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course. Your college may do this for you, or may leave it to you to get the substantiating evidence to your draft board.

NOTIFY DRAFT

If you're planning to enter college next fall it's a good idea to notify your draft board in writing and include a copy of any letter accepting you at your college. This probably will keep you out of the draft until you get your 2-S deferment after you actually enroll.

The timing of the new law leaves a question mark. What about the student who didn't get enough credits in the school year just ended but now finds it too late to sign up for summer school? Each draft board will have to decide each case. If you disagree with the board's decision you can make a personal appearance and appeal.

The new law has a change designed to keep college from being a draft-dodging haven. When you reach age 24, or get your baccalaureate degree — whichever comes first — or quit college, you'll go into the draft pool along with the "prime" age group, whatever your age.

That's if such a group has been designated. As you have read, President Johnson put off making it 19. So the draft still ranges from 26 down through age 19.

If you're in graduate school — just starting this fall or continuing study from last term — you'll have one year to get your master's degree. If you're going after a PhD you'll be allowed five years of graduate study, including any time spent so far in graduate school.

No Leads Turn Up on Missing Coed

YPSILANTI (UPI) — Pleas for information by the parents of an attractive Eastern Michigan University coed who disappeared 11 days ago when she stepped out for an evening stroll failed to turn up any leads to her whereabouts, police said today.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fleszar had waited until yesterday before making a public plea for information because they had hoped their daughter might return, police said.

★ ★ ★

Police, her parents and her roommate said Mary had no boyfriend and was not the type who would suddenly leave without telling relatives or friends.

Hit by Air Crash Debris

Summer Camp Spared

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Boys jumped from their horses and ran while several small girls hid under canoes when debris from the collision of a jet and small plane showered their summer camp.

None of the 145 children between the ages of 6 and 16 or their camp counselors were hurt by the wreckage from Wednesday's crash.

★ ★ ★

"We should fall on our knees and thank God," said Farn Meltzer of Miami Beach, Fla., a co-owner of Camp Pinewood. "We're blessed that the plane didn't hit the camp."

50 YARDS AWAY

Much of the Piedmont Airlines 727 jet's wreckage landed about 50 yards away in a patch of woods. All 74 passengers and the crew of five as well as the three occupants of the small plane died.

Dale Cutlip, 20, a camp counselor from Coral Gables, Fla., said he first heard "something like a sonic boom."

★ ★ ★

"I looked up and directly above the big plane was standing still," he said. "It looked like it was coming down on the camp, but it veered to the left and missed us."

A girls' counselor, Kitty Power, 20, of Miami, heard the explosion and put 20 girls under canoes to protect them from falling debris.

The untimely death of Dr. CLEO R. GATLEY shocked and saddened a wide circle of friends and former patients.

GATLEY

Dr. GATLEY, who had retired from active practice several years ago, had practiced medicine in Pontiac for three decades. He was a zealous member of State and national medical societies and had a sense of civic responsibility to the community.

A native of Iowa and a graduate of the University of Missouri with a degree of medicine from Washington University, Dr. Gatley saw military service in World War II as an Air Force officer and was stationed for some time at a base hospital in England.

★ ★ ★

He was an ardent hunter and fisherman, and deeply attached to his summer home in northern Michigan where, with his wife, he found relaxation and recreation.

★ ★ ★

Dr. GATLEY well fulfilled his mortal mission, the record of which will withstand the passage of time.

Congress Keeps Feet on Ground With Space Funds

The launching of Lunar Explorer 2 yesterday, sandwiched between the flights of Surveyor 4 and Lunar Orbiter 5, shows that the United States still intends to land a man on the moon by 1970.

The long series of unmanned flights, designed to photograph the moon and to explore its surface, atmosphere and radiation, is providing information that will ease the task of the first trio of Apollo astronauts.

The future of unmanned space exploration, however, is less than promising. In passing separate authorization bills for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on June 28, both the House and the Senate cut the agency's requests for funds for post-Apollo projects.

Among the programs affected was the Apollo applications project, which called for 14-day astronaut trips to the moon and for an orbiting space workshop to which astronauts would be ferried back and forth.

In the end, NASA will probably get about 90 per cent of the $5.1 billion the Administration asked for. The NASA appropriation is expected to comprise little more than 3 per cent of the fiscal 1968 Federal budget.

★ ★ ★

But, as Rep. ROGERS MORTON, R-Md., pointed out last month, there is another way of looking at the NASA budget. MORTON calculated that 89 per cent of all Federal expenditures "were absorbed by our military requirements for defense in Vietnam, interest on the debt, veterans' benefits, and other fixed charges."

That leaves only 11 cents out of each dollar for other Federal programs. And NASA takes up no less than one-fourth of that.

Summer Lake Levels Boosted by Winter Rigors

Oakland County can show concrete proof of the age-old axiom that it's an ill wind that blows no good.

Residents became weary of the wintry winds bearing snow in record quantity which assailed them during a winter that came early and stayed late.

★ ★ ★

What is the good in all of that? Well, because of the continual precipitation our lake levels are up — measurably.

The rise ranges from one to 11 inches in the County's lakes that number 400 if you count the named bodies of water; 1,650 if the new unnamed, minimum one-tenth acre definition is applied.

Moreover, the average of the Great Lakes is up over a year ago, Lake Erie's six-inch rise representing the greatest.

Not only are lake levels up, but river and ground water tables show comparable improvement, says the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

This reversal of the area's steady water-level decline comes as good news to the citizenry which has in recent years eyed with concern the receding water lines of County lakes and the growing unsightliness of their shore lines.

Ike-LBJ Technique: Easy Does It

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Dwight D. Eisenhower, with no political experience when he took office, and President Johnson, who had plenty, worked out for themselves independently a simple technique which paid off.

MARLOW

This, the only thing the two men may have had in common, might be called: Easy does it, or don't make any extra trouble if you can help it.

In private both men have been credited with explosive tempers and tart tongues toward people who annoyed them. Publicly they avoided name-calling, which can turn an opponent into an enemy, and needless arguments which Johnson once described as shouting matches.

While hot arguments stir interest, they also give everybody an excuse for choosing sides and they fill some people with distaste. If a politician can't be liked, at least he doesn't relish being disliked, which is true of Johnson.

Eisenhower had a rather placid presidency but he managed to keep dislike down so much he was elected twice overwhelmingly. Johnson got elected overwhelmingly the first time and is expected to try again in 1968.

WEAK POINT

His strong point is ability, his weak one is personality. He appeared to forget that in his first two years, if he realized it at all at the time, and couldn't stay away from the television cameras.

There is little doubt the overexposure—part of his deep-rooted desire to be liked—with his unskilled gestures and over-done facial expressions did him harm. His ratings in the public opinion polls dribbled down into the basement.

That the cause of this was his personality, and not anything he did wrong as president, seems clear enough because, while he didn't chalk up any stirring triumphs, he didn't flop into any obvious disasters, either.

★ ★ ★

And, except for Vietnam and sending troops into the Dominican Republic upheavals, he managed to stay clear of big controversies.

In his very successful Senate years he was always at his best working out solutions with his colleagues behind the scenes, not in his speeches on the Senate floor.

It took him a while to grasp this but he did, beginning late last year, when without explanation he called a halt to his public appearances for a while and thereafter abandoned dramatics for the simple, direct approach in public.

A change occurred in his popularity.

★ ★ ★

Last week the AFL-CIO said a poll of its 13.5 million members showed they greatly favored Johnson's reelection. A separate public opinion poll showed his popularity had shot up.

NIMBLE FOOTED

To some extent this could have been expected after his meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and his nimble-footed avoidance of involvement in the Arab-Israeli war. Yet, in both cases Johnson avoided dramatics.

This was quite different from the sudden surge in President John F. Kennedy's popularity after forcing the Soviets to back down in the Cuban missile crisis. That was one of the most dramatic episodes of the century.

Spare the Rod?

David Lawrence Says:

Riots Tied to Race Awareness

WASHINGTON — What basically has caused the epidemic of rioting that has swept across the country, and what can be done to cure it?

These questions go to the roots of human nature and will never be answered just by corrective laws or improvements in schools or in housing or in job opportunities, important, helpful and desirable though each may be.

LAWRENCE

For what has been happening in free America is due largely to the intensification of racial consciousness — a malady that has affected peoples throughout the world as they have felt the stigma of discrimination by reason of race or religion or color.

The existence of some racial friction has been recognized for many decades in America, but it never reached big proportions and became a national problem until the population of each race grew to unprecedented proportions.

Freedom of association is supposed to be a precious right of the individual, but throughout the United States today the power of law is being used to compel association where it has not yet been accepted voluntarily.

★ ★ ★

Likewise, large bodies of Negro citizens have responded to the inflammatory speeches of their brethren and have joined in street demonstrations that have resulted in violence and vandalism.

NO IMPROVEMENT

Human relations will never be improved solely by legal fiat. There has to be a community spirit in which persons of all races begin to realize that reasoning with each other — especially when led by educated individuals with common sense — can succeed where exhibitionism has failed.

The role of the clergy can be powerful—not by becoming partisans in these disputes, but by helping their parishioners to be guided by a sense of what is right or wrong under moral law in the controversies of the day.

Passions can, of course, be aroused by organized effort at any time, but the vexatious problems of human living will never be solved by emotionalism or by condoning the kind of demonstrations that aggravate feelings and stir up anger and resentment.

The answer to the rioting problem will not be found in more talk about slum clearance or better schooling or higher incomes. For unhappily some persons—both white and colored—are not possessed of the traits that make them either agreeable neighbors or good friends.

★ ★ ★

It is their fellow whites and fellow Negroes upon whom rests the major responsibility for establishing an equilibrium of peaceful living as the population of all races grows and grows.

Bob Considine Says:

General Fears Ignorance Is Hurting Viet Cause

NEW YORK — "We are making progress in Vietnam," Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, USMC, writes. "Anyone whose head doesn't come to a point can see it.

CONSIDINE

"The trouble is," continued the tough little Marine, "there are precious few headlines in the kind of victories we are winning. This is a fact of more than passing importance. Our whole program could founder on the rock of ignorance: unintentional ignorance, but ignorance all the same.

"If we could somehow present the facts about what this war really means, then we could have no complaints if some chose to be hawks and others doves.

"The trouble is (many) are now ostriches — or worse, mynah birds."

Gen. Krulak just completed his 50th visit to Vietnam.

The National Health Education Committee, Inc., which can prove the degree to which medical research is grinding away at the traditional diseases of mankind, clucks its tongue unhappily over the fact that Americans spend much more money on creature comforts than on curing our ills.

It reveals in its latest report that we guzzled $12,630,000,000 worth of alcoholic beverages in a recent year.

Another $7,345,870,000 literally went up in smoke — tobacco products. That's a thousand times what Alaska cost us.

★ ★ ★

We munched a billion dollars worth of boxed candy, and mailed $553,740,000 worth of greeting cards.

LEADING KILLERS

We downed $420.69 million worth of aspirin tablets and the bill for cough and cold remedies came to $406.32 million.

Heart and cancer still lead the list of causes of death in the U.S. Together, they account for 71 per cent of the total — with "heart" claiming 55 per cent of the over all.

Accidents took third place in 1965, totaling 106,900 deaths; followed by pneumonia, certain diseases of early infancy, diabetes, bronchitis, cirrhosis of the liver, and suicide.

★ ★ ★

Some 22,560 Americans took their lives during the year under study (1965), a total of 1 per cent of all deaths. Homicide accounted for another 10,340 deaths.

Students Polled on Use of Drugs

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A systemic poll of graduate and undergraduate students at one of the top dozen American colleges indicates that the use of drugs on campuses may be more widespread than heretofore imagined.

CROMLEY

The school has very high academic standards.

The poll showed that 20 per cent of the undergraduate students and 8 per cent of the graduate students had used marijuana at some time.

Apparently, about half of these undergraduates were "current users," having used the drug within seven days before the poll.

The poll was accomplished by anonymous questionnaires. Ninety per cent of the undergraduate and graduate student body answered.

★ ★ ★

Approximately a fifth of the undergraduate students expect to use marijuana in the future — at least once or twice.

★ ★ ★

Though only 9 per cent of the undergraduates say they have used LSD in the past (and only 1.1 per cent are using LSD at present), 12 per cent expect to use LSD some time or other in the future.

In their answers to the questionnaires, roughly four-fifths of the undergraduate students said they favored some legal way by which people could use marijuana.

Some favored open sale. Some favored controls of various types.

★ ★ ★

Most students favored tight controls for LSD. About half thought it should only be available for genuine research.

★ ★ ★

On their questionnaires, some students told why they use dope.

★ ★ ★

One blamed boredom "pot is sort of like the flicks — you ask yourself what to do tonight . . . if there isn't anything particularly exciting, you get stoned."

Some said their experiences were "pleasant, like alcohol."

★ ★ ★

The majority — the non-users — also commented. Said one: "My moral code requires that I maintain the maximum possible control over my mind and senses. Taking drugs . . . has the effect of removing that control. It is therefore morally wrong for me to use these drugs."

★ ★ ★

Some called drugs a "crutch." Others called drug use "debasing."

★ ★ ★

One asked: "Can actual happiness be found in a pill . . . ? Not by retreating into a mental shell but by active living and love for our fellow man will a person feel complete and satisfied."

Remember that most of the users, though a minority in this college, were among the top students in their high school classes, or they would not have been admitted to this particular school.

★ ★ ★

A study of the answers of the drug users seems to indicate that we in society have given them no strong standard on which to base their lives.

We have moved sharply ahead in our schools in pushing the intellectual approach.

★ ★ ★

We have not paralleled that advance in the schools with a strong spiritual base on our communities that give these bright young people something to live for.

'Music at Meadow Brook Most Exciting Rendition'

Music lovers, music critics, and anyone who missed the Meadow Brook orchestral and choral performances of the Beethoven Ninth last week missed the most exciting rendition of this work in their lifetime. The beauty of the melodies, so painstakingly written by a deaf Beethoven, poured fourth in shimmering harmony.

★ ★ ★

The choral finale resounded through the pavilion in glorious, joyful singing such as they've never heard. One could understand Beethoven's message even without knowing the German text. The fine solo quartet completed the beauty of the work. If only Beethoven himself could have heard it.

'Let's Reject Proposed City Income Tax'

A wholesale grab of private income seems to be popular today. It appears as if the politicians are not satisfied with what they have confiscated from us with the state income tax. Now our local politicians want to grab some more. Where is it going to end?

The Lansing politicians are even trying to keep the citizens from trying to vote on the state income tax. Pontiac overwhelmingly voted against a city income tax a few years back. It is apparent we don't want it. I hope my fellow voters of Pontiac will join in saying "No" to a local income tax if it comes up for a vote.

Before an assault in a war, the big guns are used to "soften up" the enemy. In Pontiac, the big guns of the Citizens Study Finance Committee are trying to "soften up" the voters so they will think a city income tax is inevitable.

★ ★ ★

I wonder if any of the 21 members present and voting are property owners who would benefit from a city income tax rather than an increase in the property tax. And where were the other 23 members?

Question and Answer

I know Lake Superior is the biggest Great Lake, but I read some figures that showed Lake Michigan's water surface a couple thousand square miles greater than Superior. Am I losing my memory or were the figures wrong?

VERY CONFUSED

REPLY

Probably neither. You were likely reading figures for the water surface area within the U.S. Lake Michigan has 22,400 square miles of water surface, all in the U.S. Superior has 31,800 square miles of surface, but 11,100 miles of that are in Canada.

Probe of Racial Makeup of Unions Is Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will probe the racial makeup of labor unions with an eye toward possible legal action against any which discriminate.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission said Wednesday it will mail questionnaires next month to 52,000 union locals with more than 16 million members.

★ ★ ★

The commission, responsible for policing employment discrimination, is empowered to seek court orders to require unions to provide the information it seeks. Refusal to comply could mean contempt of court proceedings against balky unionists.

★ ★ ★

A commission official said information compiled through the probe could lead to court action aimed at unions believed to discriminate racially.

ALREADY IN EFFECT

The investigation is similar to one the commission already has in effect for employers.

Although commission sources reported union opposition to the project — especially among building trades unions — they said final drafting of the survey was done in part by union representatives.

Civil rights officials long have urged federal action against the building trades unions for alleged discrimination. But union officials have said Negroes and other minority group members seldom apply for membership and seldom are qualified when they do.

Union-management apprenticeship programs — a specific target for many discrimination allegations by Negroes — will be a prime subject of the probe.

The project will require filing of annual forms by:

— Each union local with at least 100 members. Unions of government employes will be exempted.

— All locals with hiring halls, no matter what their membership size, as well as locals with contracts under which employers look to them for temporary workers.

— All joint labor-management apprenticeship committees with at least five apprentices in which sponsoring companies have 50 or more workers.

Follow-Up Grant to Detroit Schools

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Schools announced Wednesday it has been given a $15,453 planning grant for a program titled Operation Follow Through, designed to benefit 100 youngsters who participated in Operation Head Start last summer.

Head Start was a federally financed program set up to help disadvantaged children overcome problems by offering preschool training. The new program would help carry the benefits of the Head Start program into the primary grades.

The largest state in the union, Alaska, has the smallest capital city, Juneau, with a population of 7,200.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Hot Packs as Effective as Facial Sauna

BRANDSTADT

Q—What do you think of using a facial sauna unit for acne? What is the best treatment for these blemishes?

A—A sauna unit brings moist heat to the skin. The same result can be obtained with hot packs.

Moist heat by itself will not cure acne. You should cut your intake of salt. Iodized salt should be strictly avoided.

Recent reports indicate that small doses of tetracycline or erythromycin help many persons with acne.

Other doctors have found benzoyl peroxide alone or in combination with other drugs helpful.

All the drugs mentioned are obtainable only on a doctor's prescription.

Q—Is it harmful to pinch or squeeze pimples?

A—Yes, because this allows infection to enter the skin or, if the lesions are already infected, it favors spread of the infection.

Q—I am a woman, 53, and in good health. I have suddenly developed sore spots on my scalp that come and go.

What causes them and what can I do for them?

* * *

A—This may be acne necrotia—no connection with the acne so common in teen-agers.

* * *

Try rubbing a 10 per cent white ammoniated mercury ointment in your scalp at night two or three times a week and wash it out in the morning.

Q—What sort of help can be given a person with a moderately severe paranoid personality?

* * *

A—A paranoid is unduly suspicious and distrustful. As his disease progresses, he develops an elaborate, system of delusions of persecution. Such persons, if not committed to a mental institution, may go berserk.

In any event, expert psychiatric treatment is essential.

Q—Is the removal of the thyroid gland a dangerous operation?

How long would one need to recuperate in the hospital?

If I were in the early stage of pregnancy, would the operation harm the unborn child.

* * *

A—There is some danger associated with any operation but with modern surgical technique the danger has been greatly reduced.

* * *

The modern trend is to get the patient up on the day following operation and, after another day or two in the hospital, let him recuperate at home.

* * *

Far from harming the unborn child the operation, if needed to correct an overactive thyroid, would improve the chances for a healthy baby.

Firemen Get Sticky Mess

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—Firemen literally had a sticky problem to contend with when a large tank truck from the National Molasses Co. of El Paso, Tex. drove through town.

* * *

It had a broken drain line. Some 4,000 pounds of molasses covered two lanes of US 77-59 as the gooey stuff spread over a six-block area.

* * *

Two motor cars were stuck in the ankle-deep mess. It required about two hours for firemen to get the sweet stuff off the main thoroughfare.

Junior Editors Quiz on AMPHIBIAN CARS

QUESTION: How are amphibian cars able to cross water?

ANSWER: During World War II, the United States found it necessary to land supplies and soldiers on many islands and beaches. A brilliant invention made this possible. It was a 2½-ton truck, able to carry a big load, with large wheels to enable it to travel on land.

However, having boat-shaped bodies, which had been built to be watertight, these trucks could cross water as well as land, for they contained rudders and propellors under the stern.

The driver could connect the engine to wheels or propeller according to need. Pressure in the tires was also under the driver's control, so he could deflate them when traveling on soft sand.

Called the duck because ducks both walk and swim, these military vehicles were so successful that they had a big part in bringing about an Allied victory.

After World War II, the U.S. produced many amphibious landing vehicles patterned after the duck, such as the barc, which is so large it can carry entire tanks, or up to 100 tons of military equipment.

Fewer Mental Patients

By Science Service

Despite population growth, the total number of patients in U.S. mental hospitals has declined for 11 straight years. In 1966, the number of resident patients in state and county hospitals dropped by 23,000, reports the National Institute of Mental Health. It was the largest annual reduction in all 11 years, from 475,000 in 1965 to 452,000 in 1966.

This is despite the fact that hospital admissions increased by 16,000 last year; the explanation is shorter hospital stays, because of the use of tranquilizers and other new drugs. These have made it possible to treat people near home, as outpatients in new community mental health centers.

Controversial Antiriot Bill Sails Through House

WASHINGTON (AP) — An antiriot bill that won overwhelming House approval Wednesday night may become the vehicle for civil rights legislation when it reaches the Senate floor.

The bill, which would make it a federal crime to travel across state lines with the intent of starting a riot, has been condemned by civil rights groups as an anti-Negro measure.

* * *

They are expected to try to get pro-civil rights senators to offer as amendments to the riot bill at least part of the civil rights package that died in the Senate last year.

In the House, where stricter rules prevented such amendments from being offered, the bill sailed through 347 to 70.

DISAPPROVAL

The vote against the bill was larger than expected. Last year a similar measure was approved 388 to 25, but died in the Senate.

The bill would fix maximum penalties of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine for anyone convicted of using interstate facilities to incite, organize, encourage or carry on a riot.

Its author, Rep. William M. Cramer, R-Fla., said it should jail such "hatemongers" as black power advocate Stokely Carmichael, Robert Shelton of the Ku Klux Klan and George Lincoln Rockwell, the American Nazi leader.

Dissenters led by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said the bill at best was an ineffective gesture and at worst could be an unconstitutional infringement on free speech and assembly.

ARGUMENTS REJECTED

But with the recent examples of Newark and Plainfield, N.J., and other riot-torn cities fresh in its mind, the House rejected such arguments.

"The man on the corner wants to know if you're for riots or against them, and I'm against them," said a member who privately doubted the value of the bill but felt he had to vote for it.

* * *

The debate found stalwart Southern supporters of states' rights opposing the argument that the bill was an encroachment by the federal government on states and local authorities.

And two Southerners, Reps. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., and L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., embraced Abraham Lincoln, quoting with approval his words, "reverence for the law must become the political religion of our nation."

General Assembly Sends Mideast Woe to Security Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly prepared today to end its emergency session with a resolution sending the unresolved problem of peace in the Middle East back to the Security Council.

* * *

The cease-fire lines around the Arab territories conquered by Israel were quiet Wednesday. But statements and reports from all sides underlined the lack of progress toward a permanent settlement and the lack of prospects that the council can resolve the issues between Israel and the Arabs.

Israel's ambassador to the U.N., Gideon Rafael, wrote the presidents of the council and the assembly that his country could not be expected to withdraw from the occupied territories "without any simultaneous and parallel action by the Arab states to establish a situation of peace with Israel."

Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israel's defense minister, said in Tel Aviv that Israel has the forces "to hold the Arab territory occupied by her for quite a long time."

Informants in Cairo said the presidents of Egypt, Algeria, Iraq and Syria at their marathon talks in the Egyptian capital which ended Wednesday remained determined to carry on the struggle against Israel until all occupied Arab territory is regained.

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's usual mouthpiece, said Egypt would not reopen the Suez Canal until the consequences of "Israeli aggression" are removed.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said in Moscow that Israeli withdrawal from the Arab lands "must be the first step on the road to a settlement and stable peace in the Middle East."

California Eyes Queen Mary as Tourist Draw

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — You've heard of those famed California tourist attractions: Disneyland, the Golden Gate Bridge and the British liner Queen Mary?

Wot?

* * *

Well, the prestigious ocean liner isn't in California yet, but Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday he supports a plan to give the Queen Mary, scheduled for retirement in October at the age of 31, permanent harbor at Long Beach, Calif.

* * *

As a combined hotel-convention center and museum of the sea, the venerable vessel would "give California another tremendous tourist attraction," the governor said.

New Assignment May Be Next

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A patrolman here had been assigned to a special detachment given the task of reducing burglaries.

Burglars recently broke into his car and stole a list of 50 suspects and known criminals under investigation.

Custody Key in Cavanagh Breakup

DETROIT (AP) — Custody of three of their eight children appears to be the key legal issue in marital problems between Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and his estranged wife.

"The fact that the children were not with me was the breaking point," said Mary Helen Cavanagh, a 37-year-old former college beauty queen.

Mrs. Cavanagh filed Tuesday for a legal separation from her 39-year-old husband, charging extreme cruelty. They have been married 15 years.

One of four children who had been living with Cavanagh in the mayor's mansion on the Detroit River was returned to Mrs. Cavanagh. A mayor's aide Wednesday brought 5-year-old Philip Cavanagh to Mrs. Cavanagh at the family home in northwest Detroit.

THREE REMAIN

But Mark, 13; Patrick, 12; and Christopher, 7, remained under Cavanagh's care while attorneys for the couple said they were attempting to work out a custody settlement.

Cavanagh's attorney, Frederick G. Buesser Jr., was asked whether the three boys would be turned over to custody of Mrs. Cavanagh.

★ ★ ★

"The answer to that," he replied, "is the key to the whole thing."

The other children, David, 11; Marie Theresa, 8; Jerome, 4; and Elizabeth, 2, are living with Mrs. Cavanagh.

ACTION DEFERRED

In court Wednesday, Mrs. Cavanagh's attorney, Rowe Balmer, intended to seek a legal order to obtain custody of all the children.

But court action was deferred when Balmer and Buesser met with Circuit Judge Charles Farmer and agreed to attempt an out-of-court settlement.

Neither Cavanagh nor his wife were in court Wednesday.

In her suit, Mrs. Cavanagh asked for separate maintainence, but attorneys said financial aspects of her suit are less important than the question of custody.

Farmer said there was "a strong possibility that the differences between the parties can be worked out by their attorney." He appeared to mean the issues of custody and separate maintenance.

But Buesser indicated little real hope of reconciliation, calling the differences between Cavanagh and his wife "deep-seated and of long duration."

Cavanagh, who has expressed a desire for a reconciliation, has obtained permission from the Archdiocese of Detroit for a divorce. Both Cavanagh and his wife are Catholic.

The Very Rev. Msgr. Thomas Gumbleton, vice chancellor for the archdiocese, said the Catholic Church occasionally permits separate maintenance for women or divorce for men after long efforts at reconciliation have failed.

But in every case, the persons must promise not to remarry, he said.

In her suit asking for separate maintenance, Mrs. Cavanagh said she and Cavanagh had not lived together as husband and wife since January 1965.

She asked for occupancy in the family home and that Cavanagh provide her and children with full support.

Buesser said he would file an answer to her suit within the 20 days allowed by law. No court action has yet been taken.

Warning on Fires

HOUGHTON LAKE (AP) — The weather station at Houghton Lake has issued a fire danger warning for Southern Michigan with the Jackson and Muskegon areas considered the top danger spots. The warning was considered moderate for the rest of the area.

Schoolteacher Is Up in the Air

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Betty Eidson is a history teacher at Grady High School in the morning, but in the afternoon she teaches flying at the Fulton County Airport.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Eidson, with more than 2,060 hours in the air, is an instructor in the new aviation course being offered in local schools. The school board pays the instructors' salary and the students pay only for the use of the plane.

Takes Place in War

Marine Spares Brother

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — To ensure that his younger brother won't be sent to fight in the Vietnam war, a 21-year-old Marine who served there a year is on his way back to take his place.

★ ★ ★

Marine Lance Cpl. Larry G. Witman of nearby Manheim was en route today for Vietnam on a trip his brother would have taken had Larry not agreed to a six-month extension to his enlistment.

"I felt my knowledge of conditions in Vietnam will give me a edge on survival that my brother, Gary, might not have," Larry said before leaving.

Gary, 20, is stationed with the Marines on Okinawa, where he was going through special training in preparation for duty in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Larry said the government will not send the last male heir to the family name into the war zone in Vietnam.

Hare Hopeful Legislature to Eye Safety

LANSING (AP) — Describing the Legislature's work in the traffic safety field as "good but limited," Secretary of State James Hare today expressed hope that the issue will be taken up in the fall special session.

Hare praised the Legislature for doing "some strong groundwork in the safety area," but said he was disappointed over the failure of certain measures.

★ ★ ★

"I know the Legislature had its hands full with revision of the state tax structure and that several key issues were not acted upon because of the unsettled fiscal situation," he said.

Hare described the implied consent bill, designed to combat drunken driving, as the most important traffic safety measure to receive legislative approval.

HAPPY OVER BILL

"Frankly, this was the major program which I would have predicted had the least chance of passage before the session started," he said. "I was most happy to see it enacted."

He also praised passage of several amendments to the motor vehicle accident claims fund including one which will allow the fund to retain all its collections.

★ ★ ★

However, he described as "a step backward" a bill to increase driver's license fees by 50 cents with the extra money going to local examining operations.

Hare, who has asked Gov. George Romney to veto the bill, said the measure would impede implementation of a centralized licensing system.

'Cuts in Nondefense Funds Wouldn't Halt Tax Hike'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration is searching for ways to reduce nondefense spending, but is finding it impossible to cut enough to avoid a tax increase.

A top administration official in daily touch with the government's money problems confirmed persistent reports of cost-cutting efforts yesterday after a news conference by House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich.

Ford had claimed that the tax increase the President wants would not be justified if the search for ways to save money was successful.

"Ford just isn't thinking," said the official. "It is true we are reviewing all controllable nondefense spending. But that totals only about $20 billion."

* * *

It is "totally unrealistic" to talk about saving out of that total anything like the $9 billion or $10 billion that Ford seemed to be suggesting as an economy goal that would cancel out the need for a tax boost, he said.

15 PER CENT

Ford said he had information that Johnson had asked Cabinet members to tell him where their nondefense budgets could be cut by 15 per cent. He said there also were reports that the Defense Department would defer until later outlays of $10 billion.

The administration discounted both these reports, but the source said the President did recently ask his Cabinet members to look for every reasonable way to save money.

The budget bureau, Johnson's fiscal arm, suggested a master plan for the hunt. Each agency was to take its controllable outlays—those not specifically required by law, such as veterans pensions or farm price supports—and look to the 15 per cent of these in the lowest priority as a possible source of savings.

* * *

There was no suggestion that the entire 15 per cent could be lopped off," the source said.

REJECTS REPORT

As for the reported $10 billion spending deferral in the Defense Department, the source called this "completely unrealistic." Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara also rejected the report as unfounded.

"He must have different sources of information than I have," McNamara told a news conference yesterday. He declined to speculate on the amount to be trimmed from the $73-billion defense budget or to say how it would be done.

But he said he expected the economies to be big enough to offset substantially unexpected additional costs such as troop increases in Vietnam.

* * *

Ford and Rep. John J. Rhodes Ariz., chairman of the House GOP policy committee, told newsmen that a spending cut was a much better way to head off a budget deficit than a tax increase.

NO COMMITMENT

They declined to commit themselves specifically, however, as to whether they might later go along with a tax boost if spending reductions fail to narrow the deficit to a satisfactory level.

The President's latest call for more taxes reflected increasing administration concern that without it the federal deficit for the fiscal year that began July 1 might run $25 billion — or more.

Accord Rejected

SAGINAW (AP)—A proposed contract, reportedly providing pay increases ranging from $250 to $525, has been turned down by the Saginaw Firefighters Association. Firefighters President Earl DeGuise said the men voted by a 2 to 1 margin to defeat the proposal because he said the contract was not adequate.

The two best beers in the world.

We got the idea for it (or should we say them?) a few months ago, when we heard some fantastic news:

More than a hundred German brewmasters were on to a new brewing technique that makes their famous beers taste even better—Durch-fliessen.

It hit us like a ton of beer.

"If Durch-fliessen can make their beers taste even better, it can make our beer taste even better."

So we brought it home to Indiana and brewed the beer above—a traditionally light American beer, with a little something German in the taste department.

Some people who've tasted our beer think it's completely out of this world.

But frankly, we think that's going too far.

We're more than satisfied just being the two best beers on earth.

Drewrys. The American beer with a German accent.

Mary Werth of Harding Road, Avon Township is holding a card of calico buttons. It will take some more collecting to get all of the 50 different varieties of this button that were once made. The antique humidor in the foreground contains buttons that she has not yet categorized for mountings.

Button Collector's Interest Stems From Sewing Classes

By BEA SWORDS

Buttons are more than things that hold clothing together. Whose grandmother didn't have a button tin for a bored child to sort through on a rainy day? Buttons have gathered in button boxes throughout the world, added to generation by generation. Now they are collectibles.

Mary Werth of Harding Road, Avon Township has a fine collection.

What is a button collector like? Well, this one just returned from a vacation in Nassau and is dark haired, vivacious and loves swimming. She is also well versed in button history.

EARLY INTEREST

Her interest in collecting began with sewing in high school. While looking through her grandmother's button box for something different, she found a hobby.

★ ★ ★

A collector's world is a place where you can pay a dime for an opal (as she once did) or you can be cheated a little and know it.

"Sometimes," she confided, "people don't know exactly what they are selling — only that you collect it and that means you will pay."

Most of the people she buys from, though, are trying to help a collector make a worthwile purchase.

"After a while they know who you are and that you have a special interest; they set things aside for you."

Part of Mary's collection is mounted on white cardboard. "The object," she tells me, "is to get buttons that are all different but that have something in common."

★ ★ ★

The National Button Collectors Society of which Mary is a member has button competitions from time to time. Buttons are displayed on cards or in some special arrangement pertaining to their theme.

★ ★ ★

While she has a collection that would enable her to enter a competition she has not done so yet.

Because button history goes back as far as the wearing of clothes, there are thousands of different kinds. They have been made from almost every substance known to man and have an incredible range of design.

Some buttons are inlaid with tin-type photographs, lithographs or tiny figures depicting events in history, opera and literature. Buttons used to be sold at stage and opera performances as souvenirs.

★ ★ ★

Mary has several "paper weight" buttons — these are miniature glass paper weights from the art glass era.

★ ★ ★

AGES UNKNOWN

Buttons reside in Jack Benny atmosphere. Their ages are difficult to determine with accuracy. Often the pages in button publications tell what you are collecting — but discreetly leave the dates off.

★ ★ ★

Mary's prized acquisitions are four large buttons that appear at first to be figurines. They are rare Netsuke buttons from Japan — used to fasten the sashes of men's kimonos. The carving is done by hand and every line and material fold is perfect.

She bought them easily at an auction when no one else identified them.

★ ★ ★

Working on the button collection is reserved for winter — but right now she is gathering calico buttons for a new display.

This makes for many spur-of-the-moment trips to antique shops, shows and thrift shops in small Michigan towns.

★ ★ ★

While some antiquing magazines have several pages devoted to trading and buying buttons Mary emphasizes that the real fun in collecting is getting out to meet people and see places.

A Few Chosen Words to Your Son Could Stop the Silent Treatment

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I got home from work last evening my wife said to me, Buddy (our 16-year-old son) sassed me back so I am giving him the cold silent treatment, and I want you to do the same."

ABBY

Abby, I told her that if the boy sassed her back, that was HER problem. He never sasses ME back.

The wife got mad and now she is giving ME the silent treatment, too. Was I wrong, or was she?

A HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: She was wrong for demanding that you punish the boy per her prescription. And you, for letting her down. Although Buddy wasn't guilty of sassing YOU, his rudeness to his mother calls for some punishment, and since his mother appears unable to discipline him, it becomes YOUR responsibility.

A few well-chosen "hot" words from you could have accomplished more than the cold, silent treatment. Unless you are looking for a father-son team versus mother, you had better develop better communications with your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and have been married to a wonderful guy for only two months, and already I have problems. His mother. My father-in-law travels, so when he is out of town my nervy mother-in-law invites herself to sleep at our apartment, claiming she is afraid to stay home alone.

She sleeps on our sofa, which doesn't give us much privacy as we have only a pull-down bed in the same room.

She has other married children she could stay with who have been married longer than we have.

Last week she spent four nights here. My husband doesn't like it any more than I do because he complained to me about it. He is her only son, and the youngest, and it looks like she doesn't want to lose him. What can we do?

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Your husband is complaining to the wrong woman, and so are you. You should ask HIM to tell his mother. If she is as nervy as you say she is, maybe all the married children should pitch in and hire a Mother-sitter for those nights when her husband is out of town.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a person who calls you up just to "chat" at midnight? She has gotten me out of bed several times. Also she knows I work and like to sleep late on Sundays, but she has awakened me at 7:30 Sunday morning. If I don't answer, she keeps calling until I do.

★ ★ ★

My husband insists that I tell her off, but I just can't get up the nerve. She is alone and I suppose she is lonesome. I have tried not answering the phone when she calls late at night, but she keeps calling thinking we were out. I understand she does this to all her friends and relatives. How can I stop this in a nice way?

PHONE CALL NERVES

DEAR NERVES: Tell your friend (this is a "friend?") which hours she may telephone you, and if she doesn't respect your wishes, TELL HER OFF. And if you don't, I wouldn't blame your husband for telling YOU off. You owe him more than you owe this woman.

Luncheon After Hospital Gala for TB and Health Society

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Mrs. Herman E. Reichart of Long Lake Road entertained forty members of the TB and Health Society Women's Committee at a luncheon Wednesday. Co-hostess was Mrs. N. B. Carroll of Southfield.

OUTSIDE

Mrs. Reichart as patients' aid chairman had charge of this event. It was a sunny day and the many children were brought outside. The popular rock and roll teen-age band from this area "The Limited Few" with local musicians Paul Connell, David Leonard, Mike Krause, Skip Julius and John Geneovasi began the program.

One by one the children began to dance — even little tots three years old!

There was a magician, a three tier birthday cake, ice cream plus gifts and clothing.

It is an enterprising group of women who work for a much needed cause. Through their annual Cinderella Ball they raise considerable funds. Part of it is used for the annual birthday party and annual Christmas party for the children at the sanatorium.

Mrs. Joseph Risdon is president of the Women's Committee. Among the members from this area who attended were Mesdames: Lynn Townsend, James Roche, M. M. Burgess, Harold Warner, Carl Snyder, J. P. Judd and Lewis Fykse.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. J. D. Richardson Jr. who is a former president of the association and her mother-in-law, the senior Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Paul Lorenz, Mrs. William Packer Jr., Mrs. Charles L. Bricker, Mrs. Elmer W. Gerhard Jr., Mrs. David Demarest, Mrs. John L. Denman and Mrs. Leonard Meldman were also present.

Mrs. Lunbeck Returns

Mrs. O. H. Lumbeck of Chippewa Road has recently returned from a tour of the Scandinavian countries including visits to Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

★ ★ ★

While there she had the opportunity to meet, for the first time, several relatives in Denmark.

Women's

Gift Obligation Is Too Steep for This Girl

ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I work as a part-time employe in a small office, two full-time girls, myself and three men. When it comes to gifts, one of the girls takes up the collection.

In my opinion she has always gone overboard and makes each contribution a bit stiff. I have told her in the past that, as a part-time worker, my earnings are much lower than theirs.

Recently I told this woman that I was willing to donate two dollars per gift and that was all. She said that I could not have my name on the card unless I contributed an equal amount. This has caused hard feelings.

★ ★ ★

I said that I would take care of any gift giving myself and she should exclude me from further collections. Was I being cheap in not going along with her? — Marge.

Dear Marge: You were not being cheap, just sensible. She should not expect you to contribute as much as those who earn more. Stick to your guns, and give a present separately — for what you can afford.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: When a family with teen-agers receives an invitation to a relative's wedding and it is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, doesn't this mean that the children are not invited? — Ellen Kaye

Dear Mrs. Kaye: Yes. I can't emphasize strongly enough that an invitation to Mr. and Mrs. does not include children of any age. Only when "and family" is added or they receive their own invitations, may they be taken along.

Miss Korreck Plans Wedding in October

Oct. 6 vows at St. Hugo of the Hills Church are planned by Margaret Ann Korreck and Michael D. DeVar.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Korreck of Bridle Road.

Her fiance is the son of Mrs. Henry DeVar of Scottsdale, Ariz. and the late Mr. DeVar.

They attended University of Detroit and Arizona State University, respectively, where he was a member of Phi Alpha Chi fraternity.

Nancy Wold and Arthur Knight Bell are planning a wedding in November. They are graduates of Roanoke College in Salem, Va. and Adrian College, respectively. Parents are the Arthur M. Wolds of West Hartford, Conn., and the Arthur Bells of Spokane Drive.

Mother, Dad Luncheon

Mothers and dads of chapter nine, American Gold Star Mothers, Inc. were guests for luncheon in the Mount Vernon Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson Wednesday.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. James Hillman, Dorris Road on Aug. 2.

Long-Hairs Must Wear Caps in Pool

AP Wirephoto

Leslie Mills, left, joins the boys in a swimming cap demonstration at the Warren High School pool in suburban Detroit yesterday. Also in on the act are, from the top, Jim Williams, Greg Roberti and Bob Heffer.

DETROIT (AP) — Long-haired boys now must wear bathing caps at some Detroit-area swimming pools.

★ ★ ★

The rule at these pools is if your hair comes below your eyebrows, you wear a bathing cap. That goes equally for fellows.

★ ★ ★

Reason for the new ruling is that long hair carries dirt and oil into the water and may shed, clogging a pool's filter system.

★ ★ ★

Pool superintendents said the new rulings aren't popular. They said most boys seem to be getting a haircut rather than having to wear a bathing cap.

Not all, however.

★ ★ ★

RIZZI - HICKS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Rizzi (nee Sheryl Dawn Hicks) repeated vows Saturday morning at St. Michael's Church. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Hicks of Maple Street, Independence Township wore a bouffant gown of Chantilly lace over organza. Lace petals with twists of pearls and crystal held her shoulder length illusion veil. She carried a cascade of carnations, chrysanthemums and roses. Donna Banks attended the bride. Richard Figurskey was best man for the son of Mrs. Margaret M. Rizzi of Virginia Street and Joseph A. Rizzi of Mt. Clemens. Following a reception at Alban's Country Cousin, the couple is honeymooning in Niagara Falls.

Colors Riot on Stationery to Match Milady's Moods

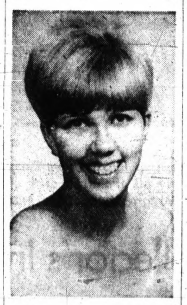

The newest writing papers are so wild that any self-respecting pen would have shunned their company even a few short weeks ago. Stationery has become fashion-conscious, it develops.

Letter papers in the most vivid colors and patterns possible are the most chic, says a leading designer. The color exlosion meets the paper revolution head-on, with a bang!

Hot pink, orange and lavender colors, predominate, and wild paisley geometric patterns are common as envelope liners, according to the Hallmark Cards people. On some papers, a colored stripe runs across the paper or down the side, matching the liner. Colored borders and decorations in such combinations as lavender-blue, orange-pink and red-green are common, too.

"Women are buying writing papers to match their moods, their home furnishings, even their apparel," said Robert L. Woodcock, Hallmark product manager. "Stationery can now be as much a form of personal expression as a dress or a drapery."

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lobb of Silver Birch Drive, announce the engagement of their daughter, Leslie Louise to Randall Ross Vaughn. He is the son of the Ross Vaughns of Crane Drive.

Mrs. Tichi Wilkerson Miles, owner-publisher of the Hollywood Reporter, and editor Frank Barron go over a copy of the Hollywood trade paper. Mrs. Miles had opportunities to become a film personality, but instead she carved herself a career as a publisher.

Film Publication Headed by a Gal

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Few newspaper publishers look as fetching in a miniskirt as does Tichi Wilkerson Miles.

She is a willowy brunette with the high cheek bones and regal beauty that would qualify her as a film personality. She had opportunities to become one—"but mother would never hear of such a thing." Instead, she has carved herself a career as owner-publisher of the Hollywood Reporter, one of the town's two daily trade papers.

★ ★ ★

For 35 years the Reporter has been as much a part of the Hollywood scene as Grauman's Chinese footprints.

Everyone from studio bosses to chorus girls scans its columns each weekday morning to learn of the latest picture deals, plus who is dating whom.

The founder of the paper was William R. Wilkerson, a dapper, tough-minded man who sometimes espoused the causes of the film giants, sometimes feuded bitterly with them.

INHERITS JOB

In 1962, Billy Wilkerson died, leaving the Reporter to his young widow, mother of his two children. The film crowd knew her only as the decorative consort of the veteran publisher, and it was expected that she would sell the paper.

"I got plenty of offers—and I still do," says Tichi, a Latin name, she is half-Spanish, born in Los Angeles, reared in Mexico.

"No one could believe that I wanted to run the Reporter myself. But I aimed to hold onto it, expecially for the children."

She explained that her children—Willie, 15, and Cindy, 14—considered the Reporter's Sunset Boulevard plant a second home. She herself had more experience on the paper than most people realized.

"Billy was in poor health during the last years of his life," she explained, "and he used me more and more to help him. Eventually he moved a desk into his office — the one I am occupying now — and I spent a great deal of time there. We had some grand fights over the paper's policies.

"When I took over after he died, it wasn't easy. The younger workers on the paper accepted me, but the older group thought I was going to be just a figurehead and they would assume the power. It was a question of decisiveness, and I had to take charge. Most people accepted this. Those who didn't — well, they are no longer with the Reporter."

Tichi, now married to Los Angeles businessman—realtor William Miles, admitted that she sometimes had to fire employes. She also has to maintain a policy of toughness toward those who would like to influence the Reporter's news and reviews.

The Hollywood Reporter has profited during Tichi's stewardship. Circulation has risen from 6,900 to over 10,000 average yearly income of subscribers is estimated at $25,000; revenues are up 40 per cent. Not only does the publisher have no intention of selling out, she is looking for other fields of expansion.

Cover Floor for Ironing

Don't be guilty of soiling your clothes after you have washed them by careless handling while ironing. So many times cuffs on a white shirt or the hem of a tablecloth or sheet touches the floor and becomes soiled.

★ ★ ★

Before starting to iron, spread a wornout sheet, tablecloth, or newspapers under the ironing board. This prevents your freshly ironed clothes from coming in contact with the floor.

Princess Is Hospitalized in Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco was reported in satisfactory condition in a Montreal hospital today after suffering a miscarriage. A spokesman for her husband, Prince Rainier, said she was expected to stay in the hospital several days.

FORMER STAR

The princess, the former movie actress Grace Kelly, became ill Tuesday night after the royal couple and two of their children attended ceremonies at Expo 67 honoring their tiny Mediterranean principality, press attache Rupert Allen said.

Prince Rainier accompanied the princess to the hospital Wednesday night but did not remain overnight. Earlier Wednesday the couple had canceled a two-day trip to Quebec City.

Princess Grace, 37, had been expecting her fourth child in January. Her pregnancy was announced June 29. Her children are Princess Caroline, 10; Prince Albert, 9, and Princess Stephanie, 2.

Allen said there was nothing to indicate that the miscarriage was caused by the princess' strenuous visit to the fair site Tuesday.

The royal entourage had plowed through a sea of admirers, toured pavilions and greeted hundreds of minor officials. The princess posed for countless photographers and made statements for reporters. That evening she and Prince Rainier gave a dinner at a Montreal hotel.

★ ★ ★

Allen said Prince Rainier and the children would remain in Montreal for the time being. The family was to have left this afternoon for Quebec City to spend two days before traveling west to Victoria, B. C.

Cashier Foils Bank Thieves

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Irene Fleming said she "just didn't want to put that money in the brown bag" a gunman was holding, so she made him wait while she served two other bank customers.

★ ★ ★

"I wasn't calm by any means," said Mrs. Fleming, 50. A man approached her walk-in window Wednesday and said he wanted to make a withdrawal. He pointed a gun at her and told her to put the money into a paper bag he was holding.

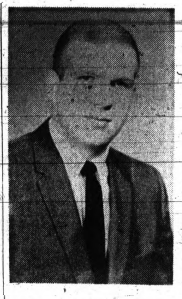

She told him to fill out a withdrawal slip.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Fleming then rushed across the room and waited on two customers at the bank's drive-in window.

PUSHED ALARM

As she waited on the second customer she pushed an alarm button which set off an automatic camera and sent the gunman and a companion scurrying.

Lapmats Aid Buffet Diners

All the awkwardness of balancing a plate, or cup, and silverware at buffet meals can be avoided when the hostess provides "lapmats."

Made of lightweight but rigid plastic covered with suds-off-able vinyl in attractive colors, this convenient aid to casual meals and to invalid food service has two fold-under sides with pockets to hold a napkin and silver.

Upgrade Zippers

Big zippers, those industrial type fasteners which came into ready-to-wear via sports clothes, now move into the glamour market. Several firms show the zippers closing elegant evening dresses in satins and brocades.

Kitchen Wares

For the kitchen, a gift box assortment of seven matched gadgets with dishwasher-proof handles is packaged into a set. The septet of kitchen helpmates includes a basting spoon, small turner, fine mesh strainer, can opener, bottle opener, peeler, serving tongs.

Job Agency's Mod-Meter

NEW YORK — A Toronto employment agency seems to have solved one of today's office girls' most difficult problems — just how high is too high for miniskirts?

According to The Insider's Newsletter, the agency has developed a "Mod-Meter" to guide girls on acceptable lengths at various offices.

The meter shows that banks are at one end of the scale, preferring "low interest" skirts no more than knee-high while at art studios mid-thigh high is the limit.

Somewhere in between, in ascending order are insurance, accounting, manufacturing, law brokerage, advertising and film producing firms.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Do you realize what wonderful things your skin does? These are a few of them. In the first place it acts as a protective covering for your body. It also regulates body temperature.

When the weather is hot or you have a fever, the surface blood vessels dilate and therefore increase the amount of blood exposed to the surface.

Do you know why you get goose pimples when you are cold? The tiny muscles in the hair follicles contract and lift the skin to form the goose pimples and close the pores and blood vessels to prevent loss of body heat.

MAIN FUNCTION

One of the main functions of the skin is the production of perspiration. This is excreted by the sweat glands located in the lower layer of the skin with ducts leading to the surface.

Some impurities and waste material are eliminated from the body in this way but regulation of body temperature is the important task of the sweat glands. That is why we perspire more in hot weather than in cold weather.

As an average a pint to a pint and a half of perspiration is produced daily. There are more sweat glands in the palms and the soles of the feet, than in any other area. However those under the armpits are the largest. We all know anti-perspirants are a great help. Today deodorants and anti-perspirants are often combined in one product.

All of us perspire more in the summertime, but many many women suffer from excessive perspiration all year long. This is usually due to nervousness but may accompany certain diseases.

If you have a real problem which you cannot control with the use of anti-perspirants there are drugs which help. Of course, your doctor would have to prescribe them for you, and you should have a physical checkup anyway.

In the great majority of cases the unpleasant odor of perspiration can be controlled by bathing and the use of a good deodorant. In a few cases the perspiration has an extremely offensive odor. In such instances a doctor should be consulted.

A Versatile Food

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Bacon is high on the list of versatile foods. Penn State University extension foods and nutrition specialists say bacon is an easy-to-cook meat and ideal for any meal of the day and for between-meal snacks and sandwiches. Bacon provides food energy and high quality protein besides other nutrients.

A diamond is Forever Beautiful
when it is properly cut

Generally, a person buying a diamond asks, "How many carats is it?" because in years gone by, only carat weight coupled with clarity and color determined worth. Much has been learned about cutting excellence into the world's hardest element to enhance its brilliance.

This drawing illustrates a diamond cut too thick, permitting light to escape.
This diamond is cut too thin, permitting light to leak through the stone.
This is the ideal Precision Gem Cut® diamond. Its fire, light, and scintillation will be reflected forever in the eyes of your beloved.

In buying a diamond, the first question should be, "How is it cut?" The answer should be, "Precision Gem Cut." This name indicates the ideally proportioned diamond cut by the hand of a genius seeking beauty, not weight. A "Precision Gem Cut" diamond is as beautiful in 1/5 carat as in four full carats, as fiery with light in marquise as oval or any other shape. A "Precision Gem Cut" diamond is forever beautiful.

Fontana's New Look

By LEONORA DODSWORTH
AP Fashion Writer

ROME — The Fontana Sisters, Italy's famous fashion trio, have surprised Rome fashion presentations with a show full of vim and vigor.

* * *

These shrewd stylists would be the first to admit that a sporty young look has not been their image. But suddenly that has been changed with the collaboration of a talented young man who calls himself "Yorn."

TAWNY CASUALS

Country casuals in tawny tweeds teamed pedal pusher pants with dashing jackets and chunky turtle-collar sweaters. The models showed them at a spanking pace which pepped up the clothes even more.

Cute little "Alice in Wonderland" boots in white patent leather were laced up to the ankle. Stockings were in white rib, with turnover cuffs.

* * *

Capes in cream-smooth gabardine swung over calf-length skirts clasped round the waist with wide leather belts. Gold ball-bearing buttons studded patch pockets, cuff tabs and martingale belts.

Funnel-necked dresses were belted well south of the waist with big, shiny oval buckles in the same shade as the dress.

Shepherds' smocks attached to brief pleated skirts gave blousing a boost. The smocks were shirred in honeycomb stitch around the neck and at the dropped waist line.

ALL YOUTH

All youth and innocence was a simple, skimming shape dress beaded in pink and white crystal with Peter Pan collar and shirt cuffs in white silk.

* * *

By night, waistlines climbed from the hips to a high Empire level. A brown velvet beauty had a deep flounced hem and sleeves. A brown satin bow prinked the scooped-out neckline in back.

* * *

Centinare cropped her hems at the knee. Petite princess dresses fanned out at the hemline. Bias cuts created shapes that slithered over the body without indenting the waist.

* * *

Coats were constructed to give a small-boned look with belts and rows of buttons filling in the details.

The Randall Thumms of Newark, Ohio, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Margaret Anne, to Richard Kent Gould of Lake Angelus Shores. The couple, who will wed December 9, are graduates of the University of Michigan.

MARGARET ANNE THUMM

They Can't Get to You Up There

By BETTY CANARY

Getting away from home for a couple of days is the stuff dreams are made of, most mothers agree, but the nightmare part is all the arrangements you have to make beforehand.

Just being sure the groceries are in, plus getting the sitter lined up, is enough to get you groaning.

Then, you realize the children's clothes haae to be ready for school days ahead because you will be gone and therefore not available with last-minute safety pins and extra socks.

I flew to Cleveland last week, and a sure sign of our impatient times is that everyone I told said, "You mean it took TWO hours to get there?" You'd think I had booked passage on a stagecoach.

Everything went fine and it was a beautiful flight. There's something so relaxing about flying — not the least of which is that you know while you are up there nobody will ask you to do the laundry.

★ ★ ★

Flying is still an adventure for me because, naturally, I don't get to do it very often, what with all those hams to bake and clothes to iron. But nothing quite takes the place of your very first venture into the blue.

Your first flight, or the white-knuckle trip as it is known in the trade, is something else.

You can't pretend it isn't your first trip, because you tip your hand the minute somebody asks, "How are you going?" If it's your first trip, you usually answer, "With foreboding."

After your first trip, you usually don't hold on so tight. And you read the card with the emergency instructions with more nonchalance. Also, after the first flight, the stewardess doesn't have to tell you to get your face out of your lap and your arms uncrossed. That's only for emergency landing and she'll let you know.

So, you merely swallow your Dramamine a half-hour before take-off, chew your gum with gusto as the plane rises (unless you like your ears to pop), loosen your grip on the man next to you and laugh gaily when he tells you, "These wings are constructed so they flap at least six to eight feet during flight," and, there you are ye olde seasoned traveler.

★ ★ ★

All you have to do is take that lovely coffee the hostess brings you and write, truthfully, "Glad I am here," on post cards to send to the kids.

Whitman's Tub

His custom of daily bath is among little known facts about the American poet, Walt Whitman. Even when bed-ridden during the final three years of his life, he insisted upon being lowered into a tin tub for daily ablutions.

★ ★ ★

This celebrated tub is now part of the memorabilia on display in the Camden, New Jersey house which Whitman devotees maintain as a shrine.

Spinach, Cabbage Mix in Cottage Cheese Salad

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

The Oakland County Extension Homemakers' cookbook yields another recipe for our readers. This is a good-sounding summer salad that serves a crowd.

Remember it when you go to a picnic or have a family reunion.

SPINACH SALAD
By Mrs. Wesley Jerue

1 small carton small curd cottage cheese
1 pound fresh spinach
2½ cups shredded red cabbage
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ cup chopped stuffed olives
Italian salad dressing

Mix cottage cheese, onion and olives and let stand in refrigerator overnight.

Wash spinach, drain, shred into one-inch pieces and drain again. Shred cabbage with grater.

Line salad bowl with spinach, then cabbage and put cottage cheese mixture in center.

Just before serving, add about ⅔ bottle of salad dressing. Toss and serve. Makes 18-20 servings.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I have a permanent knife-pleated, Dacron-polyester skirt that needs shortening. How can I do this and still have the pleats as sharp as they were originally? Mrs. M. K.

Dear Mrs. M. K.

My best advice is to shorten this type of skirt at the waistline, not at the lower edge because it would be impossible to achieve the same sharp pleated hem. Place a strip of transparent tape just below cutting line to hold the pleats in place so it will be simple to replace the waistband.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. A. R. Williams, Roanoke, Va., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for her following suggestion.

Since laminated materials won't feed through the sewing machine, I have devised a rather easy way to machine stitch seams. Get a roll of adding machine paper; fold it in half lengthwise. With your ruler, mark ¾ inch from the folded edge, slip the outer edges of your garment into this fold. You will find the machine stitching will be on the exact ⅝ inch seamline when completed, and it's so simple to pull the paper off the stitching line.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

My 15-year-old daughter has just begun sewing. Since she is such a beginner, I think she should start out with old material and try to make something for herself out of it. If she ruins it, we won't be out a lot of money.

She says if she can't make something new like the other kids are doing, she doesn't want to sew at all. I don't want to discourage her, and yet I don't agree with her. What is your advice? Mrs. S.E.R.

Dear Mrs. S.E.R.:

First, do anything you can to encourage your daughter to enjoy and love this wonderful hobby. You can get some very attractive fabric without spending a fortune. Put yourself in the same position; she is willing to work hard but wants something worthwhile when she is finished. I know I wouldn't have the same interest if I had to rip apart something old first.

I have always encouraged my students to use the best fabric they can afford. It takes the same amount of time and effort. Why not really have something when you are finished?

A little tip for all mothers of teenage girls who sew, and one that worked for me is this. I let my girls choose what they wanted; they're the ones who have to wear it (and let's face it, our taste is bound to be different because of the age difference). They had to pay for the initial purchase from their allowance. When they completed the garment, I paid them back.

In this way, it encouraged them to finish a garment, they were learning to enjoy making their own clothes, and it was less expensive than buying them. Last fall my daughter made a coat to take to college. The fabric cost about $15 per yard, but you should see the coat. It sure made the ready-made ones costing $40 look ordinary and cheap. Try these ideas; I know they'll work!

Eunice Farmer answers 20 questions most frequently asked by home sewers in her informative booklet "Twenty Questions." For your booklet send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Polly's Pointers

Braille on Cans

DEAR POLLY—We have a friend who is completely blind. She runs her household quite normally and does the cooking, washing and ironing. She had difficulty identifying canned and packaged goods until the following system was worked out.

She writes in Braille on strips of paper whatever the contents of a can or package are and leaves enough space at either side of the pin pricks to place a thumb. She then presses the word to one side of a piece of double-faced tape the same length, removes the protective tape from the other adhesive side and sticks this on the right can.

Since we worked out this system she has just about everything labeled and has much more ease and freedom with her household chores. I do hope someone similarly afflicted will find this useful.—ARLENE

DEAR POLLY—I have two lamps with parchment shades that are covered wtih red cloth and the parchment has turned so brown that the light from the lamps is very poor. How can I whiten this parchment without ruining the red covering? I would like a tried-and-proven solution.—JEAN

DEAR POLLY — So many times a paper towel is not used to its full absorbency, such as when one dries hands, so I keep a small bag taped to the trash bag. In this I place such towels to be used later for wiping up spills on the floor or for little scrub-up jobs. I get full service from my paper towels.—S. G.

DEAR POLLY—With all the school driving I have done the past few years I am surprised that I was so long in thinking of the following Pointer, which is also good for vacation trips when the children ride on the back seat.

I put a make-up mirror, about 4x6 inches, on the back side of the visor and adjust its position so I can see at a glance what is going on in the back seat with a minimum of distraction from my driving.

This really helps me to tell Mike to stop hitting Timmy on the head without having to stop and ask, or turn to see, what and who is causing the disturbance.—MRS. W. E. N.

Commons OK More Lenient Abortion Law

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons gave final approval today to a bill easing abortion restrictions. Roman Catholics and some doctor-lawmakers fought the bill in a full-fledged filibuster.

Final vote on the bill's third reading came at 11:44 a.m., at the end of an all-night session lasting 13 hours and 13 minutes. It was approved 167 to 83.

The bill, introduced by Liberal David Steel, was a so-called free bill on which party discipline was not exercised.

The labor government, however, showed its unofficial backing by allotting Steel a considerable portion of parliamentary time. Several Cabinet ministers, including Home Secretary Roy Jenkins, spoke in favor.

The opposition was led by Norman St. John Stevas, a Roman Catholic lawyer.

At the close of debate today he pointed out that the bill must now go to the House of Lords where it probably will be amended, forcing its return to the House of Commons for further debate.

Gen. Taylor to Talk With Allies on Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor will head a special mission to allied nations providing troops in Vietnam, diplomatic sources say.

The sources said Wednesday the mission would leave by the end of this week.

Taylor, twice U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, reportedly will brief the allies on Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's findings on his recent visit to the Southeast Asian battleground.

McNamara has urged an unspecified increase in U.S. fighting forces in Vietnam. The sources said they didn't know whether Taylor would urge the allies to hike their troop commitments.

OTHER OFFICIALS

Joining Taylor on the mission, they said, would be officials of the White House and State and Defense Departments. The itinerary reportedly would include South Korea, the Philippines, Thailand, Australia and New Zealand.

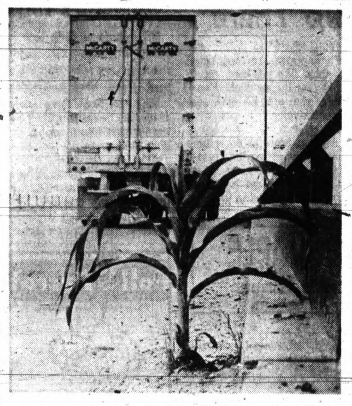

In another war-related development, a Navy admiral told newsmen North Vietnam has beefed up its coastal artillery in the wake of stepped up operations by U.S. ships.

★ ★ ★

Rear Adm. Mark W. Woods Jr., who launched the bombardment of North Vietnam's shores earlier this year, said enemy gunfire has damaged 16 American ships, killing 2 crewmen and wounding 16 others.

But he said the Navy's operations drastically have cut back enemy coastal supply operations.

Wood told questioners addition of a battleship would aid U.S. operations. But he said he personally might prefer addition of a number of smaller ships over one large one.

PERSISTENT CORN — Despite city smog and rush hour traffic, a stalk of corn has grown more than 2 feet tall on the Central Avenue viaduct in Kansas City, Kan. Heavy rains in the area last month gave the corn its start in a thin layer of curb-side dirt, and its leaves are still green and healthy.

Weekly GI Toll Drops as Fighting Quiets

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in combat in Vietnam last week was 107 less than the week before, and U.S. troops strength also decreased by 5,000 men, the U.S. Command reported today.

The number of enemy killed last week also dropped — 1,877 compared with 2,150 the week before. But the U.S. Command estimated enemy strength in South Vietnam at 297,000 an increase of 1,000 during the week.

Military spokesmen said the drop in American troops from 465,000 to 460,000 was a "bookkeeping change" reflecting a peak in the rotation of men home after a year of duty. They said the total would climb back up as their replacements are picked up on the rolls.

American combat casualties last week were 175 killed and 1,443 wounded, the latter an increase over 1,170 wounded a week earlier.

U.S. officials reported 38 American servicemen missing, compared with one the week before. However, they said some of these might have been omitted from the totals for prior weeks.

The reduction in Americans killed reflected a comparative lull in the ground fighting, while the increase in the number of wounded was attributed largely to the Communist mortar, rocket and artillery barrages against airbases and other U.S. positions.

South Vietnamese casualties showed moderate increases in all categories last week. Vietnamese headquarters reported 202 killed, 543 wounded and 39 missing last week. The week before there were 158 killed, 460 wounded and 29 missing reported.

Other allied forces reported 25 killed and 46 wounded last week, compared with 23 killed and 25 wounded the previous week.

Grandpa Frugs

GREENPORT, N.Y. (AP) Paul Zillo, celebrating his centennial by dancing the frug with his 10-year-old great-granddaughter, gave his formula for living to be 100. "I live a clean life," said the retired landscape gardener, "drink wine with my meals and until recently smoked cigars."

HHS BIG SUMMER CLEARANCE

HERE ARE JUST A FEW EXAMPLES OF THE SAVINGS YOU'LL FIND IN VERY DEPARTMENT DURING THIS ONCE-A-YEAR SALE

RIGHT NOW, YOU CAN BUY A TWO-TROUSER SUMMER SUIT IN LUXURIOUS DACRON-WOOL-MOHAIR or FINE DACRON-WOOL FOR JUST

54.90

and that's an exceptionally good buy. The fabrics are fine: crisp, cool, wrinkle-resistant blends of Dacron®-wool or Dacron®-wool mohair—the two most favored summer suitings. The tailoring is excellent: two- and three-button models, carefully cut and detailed. Add the fact that the extra pair of trousers virtually doubles the wear you'll get out of this suit, and you have a lot going for just 54.90. The selection, by the way is equally rewarding: handsome solid shades, lustrous iridescents, and neat muted patterns . . . in a wide range of proportioned sizes.

'Che' Organizer of Reds in Bolivia?

CAMIRI, Bolivia (AP) — Regis Debray, a young French writer awaiting trial in southeast Bolivia, says Ernesto (Che) Guevara organized the Bolivian guerrilla movement but is no longer in the country.

DEBRAY

Debray, 26, an admirer of Fidel Castro, told newsmen he did not see Castro's Argentine associate whose whereabouts have been a mystery since the spring of 1965. But he emphasized, that Guevara is "very much alive" and in Latin America.

Contradicting Debray, Ciro Roberto Bustos, an Argentina painter, said he and Debray met and spoke with Guevara in Bolivia earlier this year.

Bustos, 35, and Debray were arrested April 20 as they emerged from a guerrilla camp. Bustos is expected to be the government's chief witness at Debray's military trial on charges of collaborating with the Communist guerrillas.

The two men were interviewed separately at 4th Division military headquarters here where they are being held in different buildings.

OPTIMISTIC ON IDEAS

Debray said he felt "pessimistic about my own future, but optimistic as to the future of my ideas and the future of socialism."

★ ★ ★

He has written a book, "Revolution Within the Revolution?" in which he says the success of the Cuban revolution can be duplicated almost anywhere in Latin America. He stresses that guerrilla warfare is the only road to triumph.

★ ★ ★

Debray, who could get a maximum sentence of 30 years if convicted, said he entered Bolivia early in March to do a newspaper report on the Bolivian "Army of National Liberation," the Communist name for guerrilla movements in the hemisphere.

Bustos said he arrived Feb. 28 and met Debray en route to this oil town 360 miles southeast of La Paz. The first guerrilla clash with Bolivian troops occurred March 23.

'POLITICAL REUNION'?

Bustos said he was invited to Bolivia to attend "a political reunion" but on arrival was taken from one city to another until he arrived in Camiri and went deep into the mountains to the guerrillas' first camp.

★ ★

The Argentine refused to say more about the meeting to which he had been invited and also was reluctant to say how many foreigners were with the guerrillas.

"Che came with his people," he said.

★ ★ ★

Asked if he meant Cubans, he nodded affirmatively.

Debray, more talkative, said he "follows the guerrillas wherever they are—in Vietnam, in Africa, in Latin America."

Reports that Guevara has been murdered or died are not true, Debray declared.

★ ★ ★

"Che Guevara is alive, very much alive. He's in Latin America and even if he was in Bolivia at a certain moment, his mission is continentwide.

★ ★ ★

"His historic mission, in accordance with Fidel Castro, is on a continetal scale, and this is to say no to the oppression and humilitation which confront the people because of the power of the United States."

★ ★ ★

Asked why Guevara had come to Bolivia instead of to an economically and strategically more important country like Venezuela, Debray replied: "Venezuela already has a strong guerrilla movement. There are many other countries where the movement has to be constituted and perhaps this is the reason he came here, to fill the vacuum."

GMC Truck Offers 2-Way Radio Option

Retaining its leadership in Citizen's Band radio communication systems for trucks, GMC Truck and Coach Division announced today the addition of a complete line of high-quality, moderately priced CB equipment for trucks and base station usage.

★ ★ ★

The factory and dealer installed items offered in the CB "package" include two-way transmitter receivers (transceivers) for trucks, three specialized antennas to pick up CB signals, and a base station powerpack to convert regular AC power to 12-volt DC current for CB application.

GMC Truck pioneered CB systems for truckers in the spring of 1964 when it introduced a large under-dash, tube-type unit. The new transceiver is fully transistorized and more compact.

"This GM-CB Transceiver," according to Robert C. Stelter, general sales manager, "is smaller than a cigar box yet has the range of bigger units.

★ ★ ★

"It will enable truck drivers to make emergency calls in the event they become stranded, permit two-way communication between drivers and dispatchers, and enable drivers to communicate with each other in various 'caravan type' applications."

RANGE LIMITED

He said terrain governs the range of the CB signal. Over flat country, it can reach up to 25 miles, with the average from 7 to 15 miles.

"This will permit vital two-way communication in city delivery operations and in many other general and specialized trucking uses," Stelter added.

The GM-CB transceivers used for trucks and base stations are the same, thus eliminating the stocking of separate units. Truck antennas are either clamp-on or permanently mounted. Special antennas are available for base stations.

★ ★ ★

The self-contained set can be mounted in any truck. It can also be attached to school buses and other conveyances. It even has marine application.

FIVE CHANNELS

The transceiver with its built-in speaker has a full five watts of input power. It comes equipped with one crystal-controlled channel and has five additional channels available for use with any of the other 22 CB frequencies.

Its 5x7x1½-inch dimension permits it to be mounted in accordance with all local, state and federal safety standards. Due to its small size, it is normally mounted on the lower flange of the dash.

The unit may be ordered direct from GMC Truck & Coach Division on trucks being built, or from dealers for new trucks, existing vehicles or other conveyances and base stations.

In addition to the GM-CB Transceiver, the division offers slightly larger and more sophisticated units to fill out its line of CB equipment.

WHAT'S NEXT?— A modern truck driver demonstrates the latest in radio communication systems offered by GMC Truck and Coach Division. Speaking through the microphone, the driver can contact his operations base or other drivers. The new model of the Citizen's Band radio system is more compact, transistorized.

Hippies' Ranks Face Trimming

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania League of Master Barbers says it thinks it could reduce the ranks of hippiedom with cheaper haircuts.

★ ★ ★

But the only problem, says Vince Grimaldi, the league's executive secretary, is how to make them cheaper.

★ ★ ★

"We want to work out a system we can use to give an estimate when a Prince Valiant-type walks into the shop," Grimaldi says.

★ ★ ★

He says barber shops turn away would-be repentent hippies by the score because it's not profitable to cut all that hair at the current maximum rate of $2.25 a head.

★ ★ ★

"It was suggested we use scales to weigh the debris after it comes off, but that would rule out the estimate," Grimaldi said.

The U.S. Public Health Service predicts that, unless drastic preventive measures are taken soon, air pollutants will cost the nation $20 billion in damages annually by 1975.

Naming of President May End Shaky Berkeley Calm

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Even peace can be controversial in Berkeley.

Six months ago, Clark Kerr was fired as president of the nine-campus, 87,000-student University of California. It climaxed more than two years of sporadic turmoil over student rights on the Berkeley campus where 27,500 are enrolled. Berkeley has been quiet ever since.

★ ★ ★

But don't jump to quick conclusions.

There is disagreement over what it means.

There is disagreement over how it can be continued.

And there is considerable disagreement over what was left unsettled by the coming of the quiet.

WHEN IT BEGAN

There is one point of complete agreement — precisely when it began.

Spokesmen of the administration, the faculty and the students all pinpoint the first week of last December. That was more than a month before Gov. Ronald Reagan and 18 other university regents summarily ousted Kerr, one of the most widely known educators in the nation.

★ ★ ★

The "Berkeley cool" began after Chancellor Roger Heyns settled an uproar over the appearance Nov. 30 on campus of a U.S. Navy recruiter. Former student Mario Savio led a sit-in that same day and anti-Vietnam war elements tried an abortive class boycott Dec. 6 because the Navy was allowed to set up a table inside the Student Union Building.

Heyns' procedure was in striking contrast with the handling of prior disorders.

IN 1964

In 1964, Savio, then a bushy-haired junior studying philosophy, sparked disorders which led to his arrest along with nearly 800 others for a massive sit-in at Sproul Hall, across the plaza from the Student Union Building. Savio and his supporters opposed a rule banning political advocacy on campus.

President Kerr conferred with Savio, then under suspension, and later the rule was changed by the university regents. The then chancellor, Edward Strong, accused Kerr of interference.

Kerr kept hands off the Navy recruiter fuss, leaving Heyns a free hand. Heyns balked at talking with Savio, then a nonstudent living in Berkeley. Instead, Heyns conferred with student and faculty representatives, then ruled that the Navy recruiter must move his table out on the plaza where student tables of cause and protest are permitted.

★ ★ ★

Except for some picketing of the Navy table, the Berkeley campus has been on its best behavior.

"The university is not the adversary any more," Heyns said when interviewed about the current quiet.

DESPITE CHANGES

But, despite rule changes allowing students freedom to advocate and protest on campus, student leaders are far less optimistic. And critical government officials hint openly at a crackdown when the long hunt for a successor to Kerr has ended.

Reagan, asked about his view of the quiet at Berkeley, said he felt like one shoe has been dropped and the other is about to be. That apparently referred to the firing of Kerr and the choice of a new president.

★ ★ ★

Reagan, who has pressed for a full-scale investigation of the Berkeley disorders, said he was holding that in abeyance since it now "depends on what the president does who comes in."

SWEET 'N' SOUR ROOT BEER RIBS — This recipe use the popular soft drink to bring a tangy flavor to spareribs. Served indoors or out, root beer ribs give a delicious lift to warm weather suppers.

MARKET BASKET

Parmesan Cheeses Are Most Popular

Of all the Italian fromaggi, or cheeses, Parmesan has gotten the warmest welcome from Americans. It is, for one thing, a cosmopolitan touch that's easy to add. Parmesan is a versatile ingredient, too.

★ ★ ★

If your only experience with it has been a sprinkle on top of spaghetti, you have a treat in store with this Shrimp Parmesan Casserole. Developed by the Shrimp Association of the Americas, it's a delight in all sorts of ways.

★ ★ ★

Besides a whole pound of plump shrimp and three-quarters of a cup of that great grated cheese, it contains sour cream, hard-cooked egg, onion and green beans — a delicious and nutritious combination, and such a pretty mixture of pink, white and green.

Shrimp Parmesan Casserole

1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 1 (8 or 10-oz.) package frozen, peeled and deveined shrimp
3 tablespoons corn oil
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1½ cups cooked French-cut green beans
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped or sliced
⅓ pint sour cream
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons chopped onion

If necessary, shell and devein shrimp. Saute in oil mixed with parsley until lightly and evenly browned. Place green beans in bottom of greased 1½-quart casserole.

Reserve a few shrimp for garnish; place remainder on top of green beans. Cover with sliced or chopped eggs. Combine sour cream, Parmesan cheese and onion, and spoon on top of casserole. Garnish with reserved shrimp.

Cover and bake at 375 degrees (moderately hot oven) for 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Heart Mold Has Center of Meat Paste

A colorful heart-shaped mold of smooth, rich liver spread with just a touch of onion added makes a most unusual party spread for engagement or shower parties.

★ ★ ★

Bread rounds, cut into appealing little shapes, are toasted and topped with cream cheese to accompany this savory, winsome spread.

Sweetheart Spread

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 cup boiling water
Red food coloring
1 4¾-ounce can liver spread
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
48 toast rounds

Soften gelatine in cold water. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water, add gelatin, stir until dissolved, then add few drops of red coloring. Pour into a 2-cup mold and chill until firm.

Spoon out center of gelatine leaving a shell about ½ inch thick. Fill with mixture of liver spread and onion.

Heat the spooned-out gelatine until just melted, pour over spread. Return to refrigerator and chill again until firm. Unmold and garnish.

Spread cream cheese on toast rounds to accompany spread. Makes about 48 servings.

Baked Sausages Easily Prepared

When you're preparing pork sausage patties for several people, it will probably be easier to bake them rather than cooking with a frying-pan on top of the range.

To bake them, combine one pound of fresh (bulk) pork sausage with 1 slice of bread, broken in small crumbs, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt and ½ cup grated apple.

Shape into 6 patties about ½-inch thick. Place on a rack in an open pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes.

Root Beer Is Ingredient for New Sauce

The tangy flavor of these ribs, cooked with root beer is complemented by a salad of greens and tomatoes. Baked potatoes and a fresh cooked vegetable round out the meal.

And to drink — one of the imaginative root beer coolers—combining root beer, ice cream, and frozen fruit concentrates.

Sweet 'n Sour Root Beer Ribs

2 12-ounce containers root beer
4 to 5 pounds spareribs (about 6 servings)
2 teaspoons salt
1 can (1 pound) sliced peaches
½ cup (packed) brown sugar
¾ cup cornstarch
¼ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons chopped preserved ginger

Cut ribs into 3 to 4 rib portions. Place in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with 1½ teaspoons salt.

Cover with aluminum foil, crimping it securely to edges of pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 1 hour. Uncover; drain off drippings.

While ribs are baking, prepare sauce. Drain peaches; save syrup. Combine peach syrup, root beer (slowly), brown sugar, cornstarch, vinegar, preserved ginger and remaining ½ teaspoon salt; blend evenly. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and clear.

Pour 2 cups sauce over drained ribs. Return to oven; cook until ribs are tender, 30 to 45 minutes, turning several times.

Frankfurters Star in Baseball Roll

The board shows a double header. And the second game starts off with Batter's Buns.

This Hall of Fame recipe has finely chopped frankfurters, grated American cheese and zesty hamburger relish on its team. The mixture "fills in" hard rolls which are then wrapped in foil and heated until "warmed up."

Batters' Buns

½ pound frankfurters, finely chopped
¾ cup grated American cheese
½ cup hamberger relish
6-8 hard rolls, split

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Combine first 3 ingredients; mix lightly but well. Fill each roll with approximately ½ cup frankfurter mixture.

Wrap each roll securely in heavy-duty aluminum foil. Heat 20 minutes or until hot. Makes 6-8 sandwiches (approximately 2½ cups filling).

Aromatic Dill a Good Addition

Dill, the aromatic annual herb plant, was one of the favorite herbs of the ancient Greeks. It is a delightful seasoning. Become better acquainted with it by preparing this Cottage Cheese Dill Dressing.

In a mixer or blender, whip together 2 cups cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons white vinegar and 2 tablespoons lemon juice until smooth and creamy. Mix in 2 teaspoons dill weed, ¾ teaspoon celery salt, ¾ teaspoon sugar and ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Chill until ready to serve.

SWEETHEART SPREAD — This colorful heart-shaped mold is made of smooth, rich liver spread for serving savory snacks at engagement or shower parties.

COLD OLIVE CHEESE SOUFFLE — Serve an unsinkable Cold Olive Cheese Souffle the next time you want to impress guests. Made with unflavored gelatin, it's guaranteed to stand up tall, even if the guests are tardy.

Gelatin Stabilizes It

Cold Cheese Souffle, Taste Delight

If you've always avoided souffles because you have a horror of them sinking just at the crucial moment . . . cheat a little! Serve this unsinkable Cold Olive Cheese Souffle. It's guaranteed to stand up high light and handsome right down to the last spoonful.

And it's not only beautiful, but delicious, too, with its savory blend of cheese and tangy pimiento-stuffed olives.

Spanish olives are a wonderful built-in seasoning ingredient for all kinds of dishes . . . soups, salads and main dishes. They have a slightly salty tang that blends particularly well with most any savory dish and at the same time lends a nice touch of color.

Cold Olive-Cheese Souffle

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup canned chicken broth or bouillon, at room temperature
4 eggs, separated (at room temperature)
1 cup milk
1 cup finely shredded natural Gruyère or sharp Cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash Tabasco
½ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Buttered coarse cracker crumbs
Sliced pimiento-stuffed olives

Soften gelatin in broth 5 minutes. Combine softened gelatine, egg yolks, milk, cheese, Worcestershire, salt and Tabasco in top of double boiler.

Stir over boiling water until gelatine and cheese are melted, about 5 to 8 minutes. Remove from heat. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in chopped olives and onion.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into olive mixture with whipped cream. Turn into 1-quart dish, prepared with waxed paper collar*. Chill until firm.

Remove collar; gently press buttered crumbs around edge. Garnish top with sliced olives. Serve with a crisp tossed salad. Makes 4-6 servings.

*Cut a strip of waxed paper long enough to go around outside of souffle dish. Fold lengthwise to form 4 thicknesses. Secure on outside of dish with tape, allowing collar to extend about 2½ inches above top of dish.

Orange Juice Gives Pudding New Taste

No jazzed-up quickie dish here, but a delightful, slightly old-fashioned orange bread pudding with meringue. So try it, relax and enjoy yourself and forget all today's problems—at least until after dinner.

FRESH ORANGE BREAD PUDDING

3 egg yolks
1 whole egg
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk
3 cups bread cubes
1 tablespoon grated fresh orange peel
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
Meringue
½ cup fresh orange juice

Beat egg yolks and whole egg. Beat in sugar and salt. Add ½ cup of the milk. Heat remaining milk and add.

★ ★ ★

Stir in bread cubes, orange peel, orange juice and vanilla. Turn into a 9x9x2 inch pan. Place in pan of hot water.

Bake in a preheated slow oven (300 degrees) 1½ hours or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Remove from oven and spread top with meringue. Bake in preheated slow oven (300 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes or until golden-browned. Serve warm or cold. YIELD: Six to eight servings.

Meringue

1/16 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar

★ ★ ★

Add salt to egg whites and beat until soft peaks are formed. Gradually beat in sugar until stiff. Sufficient to cover 9-inch-square pudding.

Law Protects

Michigan law says that all drinks or fruit juices that are made in imitation of the natural fruit juices shall be properly and distinctly labeled as "drinks" or with the word "imitation" and the name of the beverage . . . Fruit juice drinks need only contain 50 per cent real juice, the rest water . . . you see, you really are protected from product deception, if you read those labels.

Chicken Salad Can Be Hearty

With the summer heat, the appetite is eager for a touch of gastronomical gaiety — something different, a change from the familiar routines.

★ ★ ★

Have you ever tried a dinner of soup and a substantial salad? You'll be surprised what a refreshing change of pace it is.

★ ★ ★

A good bread (buttered) and an easy-to-handle dessert and coffee complete this off-the-beaten-trail way of entertaining.

Fresh Vegetables and Chicken Salad

1 head Romaine lettuce
2 cups chilled potato balls or diced potatoes
2 cups chilled cooked fresh green peas
2 cups chilled, cooked fresh snap beans
⅓ cup French dressing
2½ cups chilled, diced, cooked chicken
½ cucumber, sliced
1 bunch fresh radishes
3 stalks fresh celery, cut into sticks
1 large tomato
Cauliflowerettes
Mayonnaise

Tear Romaine into bite-sized pieces and place in salad bowl. Marinate cooked vegetables in French dressing and arrange in clusters with cold diced chicken, sliced cucumbers, radishes and celery over salad greens.

Cut tomato into sixths to form a flower and place in center of salad. Place cauliflowerettes between wedges and in middle of tomato.

Serve in a help-yourself fashion, letting each person choose the vegetables of his choice. Serve with mayonnaise or additional French dressing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHICKEN SALAD — Some men might consider chicken salad a woman's dish. But he'll change his mind when he sees this hearty version. A trio of cooked vegetables makes the difference.

Ionia State Hospital Cleared by Sheriff

IONIA (AP) — Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey said Wednesday there appears to be "no basis in fact" for charges of mistreatment of criminal sexual psychopath patients at Ionia State Hospital.

* * *

The charges were made to Harvey recently in two letters from inmates in the hospital.

Harvey issued the disclaimer after a call for more money for treatment programs after a visit to the hospital Wednesday and talks with its superintendent, Dr. A. A. Birzgalis, and four inmates "of my own choosing.

"Dr. Birzgalis has been very cooperative," Harvey said. "While I have drawn no definite conclusions, apparently there was no basis in fact for allegations made in the letters."

'SOUR GRAPES'

Harvey added that the letters were apparently "sour grapes" on the part of some of the patients.

* * *

The first letter, signed by 100 inmates, complained about treatment programs for criminal sexual psychopaths and asked for Dr. Birzgalis' dismissal, Harvey said.

* * *

The second letter was from two inmates who said they were intimidated, threatened and beaten to force them to reveal the names of patients who signed the first letter, he said.

Harvey, who recently started a campaign to change the laws governing criminal sexual psychopaths, said he would present his findings from Wednesday's visit to Rep. Roy Smith, R Ypsilanti.

STUDYING CHANGES

Smith is chairman of a committee studying possible changes in the state's criminal sexual psychopath laws.

* * *

Harvey spent 90 minutes in private talks with Dr. Birzgalis discussing hospital procedure and treatment of inmates. Harvey said he found the talk "very enlightening."

* * *

He also toured the hospital and talked privately with four inmates "of my own choosing" but would not comment on what he discussed with them.

He also said he planned to talk with hospital staff members and Ionia County Sheriff O. Gary Newton before returning to Ann Arbor.

Harvey launched a campaign to change the laws on criminal sexual psychopaths after a patient on parole was charged with molesting a 5-year-old Washtenaw County boy. The present law provides that patients may be released from the hospital in leave or on parole.

UPI Agrees to Purchase New Wire Data System

SAN CARLOS, Calif. (UPI) — General Telephone & Electronics Corp. yesterday announced a contract agreement with United Press International for a nationwide data communications system that will enable the news service to transmit up to 22 news stories simultaneously on a single telephone line.

The system has been undergoing four months of field tests by UPI bureaus throughout New Jersey and is in regular operation between New York City and New Jersey newspaper and broadcast subscribers.

"By the end of this year we expect to have more than 4,200 newspaper and broadcast subscribers in some 1,600 cities on the network," James F. Darr, UPI general manager of communications, said.

Darr also pointed out that in addition to the simultaneous transmission, the new system will enable UPI to transmit and receive news copy at a rate of up to 100 words a minute, compared to the present generally accepted rate of 60.

Lenkurt Electric Co., Inc., a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics, was awarded the $1.6 million contract for the new system.

EXPANSION

The new system will be expanded to other UPI Divisions and is scheduled to be operational on a coast-to-coast basis by Feb. 28, 1968.

Artistic Sleuth 'Pens' Robber

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit police detective cracked a bank robbery case with a few strokes of a pencil.

James Collie of the Holdup Bureau was assigned last Friday to investigate a $150 robbery at a branch of the National Bank of Detroit.

* * *

An amateur artist, Collie drew a sketch of the bandit's face from a description given given by teller Eileen Dicken.

As he looked at the finished drawing, he thought to himself, "I know that guy."

FOUND MUG SHOT

He went to the Police Identification Bureau and pulled out a mug shot of a Detroit man who had been on parole for a year after a previous robbery conviction.

"That's the man," said Miss Dicken when she saw the photo.

* * *

Police arrested the suspect Tuesday night and turned him over Wednesday to federal authorities, who charged him with bank robbery.

* * *

It was Collie's second recent feat of artistry. He also drew the sketch which led to the arrest of Walter R. Fleming, "Michigan Avenue Slim," now awaiting sentence after conviction of robbing and shooting a Dearborn Jeweler.

HAND AID — Grasping action is given to victims of hand paralysis by means of this hand brace designed by Stanford University student Robert Beardmore of Pamona, Calif., winner of the 1967 Alcoa Student Design Merit Award. Made of aluminum, the appliance allows a patient to pick up a slip of paper or a pop bottle (as shown above) by raising his wrist, thereby activating a spring.

Legion Post Installs Head

Vincent Dennen of 360 Okemah, Waterford Township, was recently installed as commander of the American Legion Cook-Nelson Post 28.

Also installed were Ernest Ogden of 46 Oriole, senior vice commander; Wilmer Pyke of 106 State, junior vice commander and finance officer; Leo Mineweaser of 484 Montcalm, historian; Ayers Miller of 1308 University, chaplain; William Collias of 174 Auburn, sergeant at arms; and Pete Meagher of 2785 Onagon, Waterford Township, adjutant.

William Coatsworth of 31483 Sleepy Hollow, Bloomfield Hills, received a certificate of appreciation and recognition for his work as commander during the last year.

'Advised Kennedy Successfully'

Ex-British Envoy Praised in Missile Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former British ambassador Sir David Ormsby-Gore was largely responsible for the success of the late President Kennedy's confrontation of the Soviet Union during the 1962 Cuban Missile crisis, columnist Andrew Tully said yesterday.

In his book "White Tie and Dagger" to be published next October, Tully said the advice of Ormsby-Gore, who has since succeeded to the title of Baron Harlech, "might well have been the difference between war and peace." Excerpts from the book appear in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

Tully said Kennedy had known Ormsby-Gore since he was a schoolboy in London while Joseph P. Kennedy was ambassador to Britain, and they were close personal friends.

"Specifically, it was Ormsby-Gore who successfully urged Kennedy to release the aerial photographs taken of the Soviet missile sites in Cuba to counteract skepticism abroad — including speculation in Great Britain that the missiles might be a figment of the imagination of the Central Intelligence Agency.

"And it was Ormsby-Gore who advised the young president to switch his signals and order the Navy to delay intercepting the Soviet ships, with their missile cargoes, until they reached Cuban waters.

This second decision might well have been the difference between peace and war because each additional hour made it easier for former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to back down."

Insurer Fetes Retiring Exec

Ben J. Shaw, retiring assistant manager of Life of Virginia, 180 W. Huron, was honored for his past 30 years of service at a luncheon at Devon Gables this afternoon.

Shaw of 456 W. Iroquois started at Life of Virginia as an insurance agent in 1937. He spent several years with Sears Roebuck and Co. in Pontiac before 1937.

He is a past president of Pontiac Life Underwriters Association, a member of the Elks Lodge and active in Central Methodist Church.

Hare Backs State's Insured Driver Fee

LANSING (AP)—Disagreeing with two Michigan State University specialists, Secretary of State James Hare said Wednesday he thinks insured drivers should continue paying $1 a year into the uninsured motorist fund.

Both the number and average size of claims against the fund are growing, Hare said, adding it is not yet possible to tell whether the current $35 charge for uninsured drivers will be enough to keep the fund sound.

★ ★ ★

A study of insurance industry methods, Hare said, showed it will be three to five years before his department can determine whether a rate cut is practical.

MSU Associate Prof. Thomas Wenck and research assistant Raymond Stiekel Jr. said there is no financial justification for the $1 charge to insured motorists.

PREMATURE STATEMENT

"It may be premature to state with certainty that the fund is overreserved," the two said, "but it certainly appears to be." They added the fund has a surplus of about $8 million.

Replied Hare: "The reserve and surplus money in the fund may look like a great amount, but this could diminish quite rapidly under a deluge of claims."

★ ★ ★

The average claim has grown from $900 to $2,000 during the fund's 18-month life, Hare said, adding there probably are claims for the past five months which have not yet been filed. Those could total as much as $2.7 million, he said.

The earliest Ukranian immigrants came before the American Revolution. The largest numbers arrived between 1890 and 1914.

Race Tension in State—4

Negroes in High Jobs

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth in a series on the racial situation in Michigan.)

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

The social revolution has brought political emancipation for the Negro in Michigan.

The revolution started 13 years ago, when in 1954 the U.S. Supreme Court handed down its landmark school integration decision. So did the Negro's political emancipation in Michigan.

It was in 1954 that Michigan elected its first Negro to Congress — Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., who still is a member of the House.

It now has a Negro only one step removed from the U.S. Supreme Court — U.S. Circuit Judge Wade H. McCree Jr. — and Hobart Taylor Jr., a one-time Detroit Negro lawyer, now is one of five directors of the U.S. Export-Import Bank, which does some $2.5 billion in business a year.

★ ★ ★

Diggs has been joined in Congress by Rep. John Conyers Jr., making Michigan the only state with two Negro members.

NEGRO MAYORS

Saginaw, Flint and Ypsilanti all have Negro mayors, and Battle Creek's vice mayor is a Negro.

Thirteen of the delegates who drafted Michigan's new Constitution were Negroes, and Otis Smith, a former justice of the State Supreme Court, now is a member of the University of Michigan's Board of Regents.

Smith and William Patrick, now assistant general attorney for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., gained political prominence the same year — 1957, three years after Diggs' election to Congress.

Patrick won election to the Detroit City Council, becoming the first Negro member and retiring undefeated in 1964. He now has been succeeded by another Negro, the Rev. Nicholas Hood, who also won election in a city where only a fourth of the voters are Negroes.

Smith was elevated from assistant prosecutor to Genesee (Flint) County to chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission by then Gov. G. Mennen Williams, a Democrat. His appointment as a regent came from Republican Gov. George Romney.

From appointments as state auditor general and Supreme Court justice, Smith went on to win full terms in statewide elections, although 1960 census figures give Negroes only 868,000 of the state's total population of 8,199,000.

He lost in a 1966 Romney re-election sweep, but quickly was hired for its headquarters legal staff by General Motors Corp.

WINS STATEWIDE VOTE

Dr. D. T. Burton of Detroit holds a seat on the Wayne State University Board of Governors, gained in statewide election.

Three Negroes are members of the State Senate and nine are members of the State House of Representatives.

George Washington holds a top administrative post in Lansing as director of the State Board of Administration. Burton Godin is executive director, and the Rev. A. A. Banks Jr. is a member of the State Civil Rights Commission.

Forrest Green is a member of the Civil Service Commission, Willis Ward of the Public Service Commission, and Richard Austin of the Legislative Apportionment Commission.

BOARD POST

Austin, who was a Constitutional Convention delegate, also is an elected member of the Wayne County Board of Auditors, a $20,000-a-year post.

Charles S. Farmer is a Wayne (Detroit) County Circuit Court judge, as was McCree before his elevation to the U.S. courts. John Letts was promoted by voters from Grand Rapids municipal judge to the Kent County circuit bench.

Judge Letts' brother, Richard, is a member of the Michigan Athletic Board of Control (boxing commission) and is director of Lansing's Human Relations Committee, a municipal office.

★ ★ ★

Three Negroes — George W. Crockett Jr., Elvin Davenport and Geraldine Bledsoe Ford — are Recorder's Criminal Court judges in Detroit. Like circuit judges, they are paid $30,000 a year.

45 PCT. OF POPULATION

In Muskegon Heights, where municipal authorities estimate possibly 45 per cent of its 20,000 population is Negro, three councilmen are Negroes. A mayor and six councilmen govern the municipality through a city manager.

In Lansing, where less than 10 per cent of the electorate is Negro, 28-year-old Joel I. Ferguson won a council seat in an at-large election.

Two among Benton Harbor's eight councilmen are Negroes. Four are chosen by wards, four and the mayor at-large. Two of six Albion councilmen also are Negroes.

John W. Taliaferro of Lansing recently was named coordinator of volunteer services at Northville State Hospital, and there is at least one Negro on school boards in Saginaw, Albion and several other communities.

Alfred M. Pelham, who formerly held the $23,000-a-year office of comptroller in Detroit city government now is assistant vice president for finance at Wayne State University. Con-

Actor Sharif Suffers Broken Nose in Filming

KANAB, Utah (UPI) — Film star Omar Sharif suffered a broken nose yesterday in a riding accident 43 miles east of here on the location set of "MacKenna's Gold."

The actor was treated at Kane County Hospital in Kanab and released. A spokesman for Columbia Studios said Sharif expected to return to work today.

The spokesman said the accident occurred when Sharif's horse lowered its head and then snapped it back, striking the Egyptian-born actor in the face.

The film stars Sharif, Gregory Peck and John Garfield Jr.

School Teams Cross Signals

SOAP LAKE, Wash. (AP) — The high school basketball team from Leavenworth, Wash. arrived here to play a basketball game — but the home team didn't show up.

In Leavenworth, about 100 miles away, the Soap Lake team arrived at the gym only to find no team to play against.

A Rolls for Meg

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret and Lord Snowden took delivery yesterday on a new four-door Rolls Royce. The color: British racing green.

Security Rules Tightened for AF Men Around LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has tightened security regulations covering officers and enlisted men chosen to work around President Johnson.

It said in response to questions that "this change was a normal periodic revision and was not prompted by any specific security incident."

★ ★ ★

The tightening action came in an Air Force document issued July 6 over the signature of Gen. J. P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff. It requires that national agency checks on Air Force men being considered for assignment to what is called "presidential support activity" will be renewed if such a check is more than one year old.

Previously, a two-year interval was permitted.

AGENCY CHECK

A national agency check involves querying various government agencies such as the FBI, military intelligence and the CIA to determine whether there is any derogatory information of a security nature relating to the man in question.

The revised regulation also requires the wife of a man picked for assignment around the President to be a U. S. citizen. Hitherto, only the man had to be an American citizen.

★ ★ ★

The regulation covers all Air Force personnel assigned to "duties that involve their regular or frequent unescorted entry to presidential facilities, modes of transportation or activities."

★ ★ ★

Among these are aircraft technicians and crews, communications installation or repair specialists, aircraft refueling personnel and the like.

CHAPTER 34

THE CAR was a black limousine with the exaggerated tailfins of a few years ago. As it slid to a stop at the head of the alley leading to the butcher shop, Anne de Villemont caught hold of my wrist.

"That's it!" she said.

"All right. Keep down in the seat so that they can't see you."

The woman who emerged from the car, however, in no way resembled my idea of the Montecastellanis' cook. From the butcher's scathing tone, I had somehow imagined her as a witchlike, malignant little crone. This woman, although white-haired and dressed in deep mourning, was tall, slender, and attractive.

"Are you sure that's Rosanna?" I said to Anne.

"Yes, of course. I'd know her anywhere."

Rosanna departed down the alleyway. It was almost half an hour later by the dashboard clock before she returned, the butcher following her, staggering under a loaded basket which he stowed away in the car's trunk under the chauffeur's supervision. When the limousine pulled out into the traffic I had my motor idling and ready.

The size of the car and the flamboyance of those tailfins made it easy to keep in sight as it crawled through the roaring, fender-to-fender jam of traffic in the center of the city and finally, with a triumphant burst of speed, entered the Via Ostiense, the broad highway running from the outskirts of town to Ostia. With the Chateau Laennac in mind, I had conjectured that the Villa Montecastellani would be one of those rundown, isolated properties on the way to Ostia, and now, as we raced southward past the sprawling wholesale-food market which was Rome's Les Halles, past the clay-colored Gothic bulk of Saint Paul's Basilica, it looked as if I had been right.

But not for long. As we approached the E.U.R., the Universal Exhibition grounds, the Cadillac, to my surprise, swung off the highway into an exit leading to the E.U.R. itself. I was in the wrong lane to follow this abrupt move, but I had no choice. Violating every law in the book, I cut right across the oncoming traffic and sent the Fiat slewing into the exit in hot pursuit. Luckily, there was no other car ahead of me to slow me down, and a minute later I sighted the limousine again as it entered the avenue crossing the grounds. I closed the gap between us, but not too much, and then realized that Anne had swiveled around in her seat and was peering with concern through the rear window.

"What's wrong?" I said.

"We're being followed. Take a look."

I looked into the rear-view mirror. The only car reflected in it was a dusty, weatherbeaten blue Citroen which was maintaining the same distance behind me as I was maintaining behind the Cadillac. I slowed down a little, and although the Citroen had plenty of room now in which to move up and pass, it slowed too, not closing the gap at all. That was an unpleasant sight to see.

"How long has he been with us?" I asked.

"I don't know. He stopped alongside at the red light on the Via Nazionale all the way back, and then when we pulled off at the exit here he was in the wrong lane, too, and almost had an accident when he followed us. Do you think it's the police?"

"Not in a French car."

"One of Leschenhaut's men?" Anne said calmly.

If I had ever loved her, I loved her now for the control she displayed.

"Maybe," I said. "The bad part is that if Leschenhaut knows you're alive it ruins my chance of making a deal with him."

"Then we'll try something else. If we can get hold of a gun—"

"It wouldn't help, and anyway we can't. All we can do is pray the guy tailing us is interested only in me and doesn't take you into account. Did you get a good look at him?"

"Yes. He's a sort of gray man."

"Gray man?"

"That's how it struck me when I saw him. He's wearing a gray straw hat and a gray jacket, and his face is completely colorless and unhealthy-looking."

"Up to now I thought we were holding the ace of trump or king of cups or whatever that de Laennac mummy calls it. Now —" Suddenly, unreasoningly, a light burst on me. I saw a book with a garish jacket, the gaudy picture of a man beatifically dangling from a gibbet by one ankle. "Anne, listen! What was it Matilde said about that letter in code. Wasn't it something about your not being able to read it because you weren't a fortuneteller?"

"Yes. But why—"

"And at that dinner party when I met Leschenhaut, Sophie de Laennac said it was Madame Cesira who had proofread her Tarot book. And that was the book on Bernard's desk, the code book!"

"Darling, I don't know what you're talking about."

"The book on Tarot! La Mystere du Tarot. Don't you see? That's what the code is based on. If we can only get hold of a copy—"

"No." Anne shook her head. "It still wouldn't be any use unless Paul is here with us."

That brought me back to earth with a thud. She was right. The decoded membership list could blow the OEI apart, but as long as Paul might be a victim of the explosion, it couldn't be triggered.

The limousine ahead made a right turn into Via Laurentina, the perimeter of the E.U.R. and I followed, leaving the sports area behind.

I saw something new had been added to the local scene since my last visit here for a bout a few years before. A scattering of villas, modernistic in architecture, rose here and there from the slopes. And one of them, I knew, was the present stronghold of the Montecastellanis, the de Villemonts, the OEI leadership, including Leschenhaut himself. This was where he had to be right now to take charge of his forces, hold council, make decisions that needed to be made very quickly.

It was the last villa on the narrow, winding Via Altura which proved to be the car's destination. I was at the head of the street as the big car entered the driveway of the building. I made a quick note of the name of the building on its gatepost.

Anne was still keeping watch through the rear window.

"He's gone," she said suddenly as we re-entered the Via Laurentina, and the mirror told me she was right.

I made the call from a booth on the road opposite the Labor Building.

My fingers, when I dialed the number, were as clumsy to manipulate as sticks of wood.

"I'd like to speak to Signora Cesira, please. I have information about the signora's son."

"Pronto." Madame Cesira snapped out the word with venom.

"Who are you?"

"Surely you recognize my voice."

"No, I do not. Wait!" Her voice became hoarse. "But it can't be! It's impossible!"

"Not at all. Like Lazarus himself, signora, I am Reno Davis risen from the dead."

Davis makes a deal with Charles Leschenhaut. But will this save Paul? (To be continued tomorrow.)

Puerto Rico Plebiscite Campaign Is in Final Week

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — Puerto Rico is in the final week of furious campaigning for a plebiscite this Sunday which is expected to endorse the island's commonwealth link with the United States.

Statehood is expected to be the second choice, and its supporters are trying to increase its percentage of votes over past elections. Independence has little chance.

With only a few days left, the campaign has become bitter on all sides. In fact, it has developed into a debate between two powerful men — former Gov. Luis Munoz Martin for commonwealth and industrialist Luis A. Ferre for statehood.

For Puerto Ricans it is drama. Munoz, at 69, is fighting to preserve the "commonwealth" he fathered in 1952 as the island's first elected governor, and to leave it behind when he retires, solidly established for the future as Puerto Rico's form of government.

* * *

Ferre, 63, three times unsuccessful candidate for governor, is trying to put the island's feet firmly on the path toward becoming the 51st state of the union within 10 years.

Ferre insists that statehood can win or at least substantially increase its votes over the 34.7 per cent of the total he polled as the unsuccessful Statehood Republican party (PER) candidate for governor in 1964.

Private polls conducted for him among several population groups have shown statehood in the lead.

Automobile Crash Fatal to Woman

SHELDON, Ill. (AP)—A Michigan woman was killed Tuesday night in an accident on U.S. 24 east of Sheldon. The victim, Mrs. Shirley Zimmerman, 41, of Highland Park, Mich., was riding in her husband's vehicle when the car overturned into a ditch. She was thrown from the car, police said. Arthur Zimmerman, 57, was reported in fair condition.

Alaska's capital city, Juneau, is the third largest city in the state.

DSR Exec Dies

DETROIT (AP) — James E. Bostwick, a onetime streetcar conductor who became general manager of the Detroit Street Railway, died Tuesday night. He was 69. Bostwick was appointed to the top DSR post in 1961.

U.S. Eying Arms Export Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach says the administration is "taking a good hard look" at its role as a major supplier in the world's spiraling arms traffic.

But Katzenbach cautioned: "That doesn't necessarily mean it thinks it's been wrong in the past, or that anything's going to change overnight. It's an awfully complicated problem—one that involves different kinds of problems in different parts of the world."

★ ★ ★

The administration's arms export policy has come in for increasing congressional criticism, since the six-day Middle East war. Senators have talked of legislative restrictions on arms sales to potentially explosive areas. A House committee is scrutinizing the role of the Export-Import Bank in financing secret arms deals.

So far, Pentagon and State Department sources indicate, there has been no hint of a major change in the policy under which the United States has sold or given away $46.1 billion in military hardware since 1949.

OUTSIDE SOURCES

The business-as-usual atmosphere continues despite two government-financed reports by a private consulting organization that indicate:

—The weapons used in virtually every one of a dozen regional conflicts since World War II have come from outside sources—primarily the arsenals of the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain and France.

★ ★ ★

—While more nations will begin producing their own hardware in the next decade, "the majority of local conflicts will be fought primarily with imported weapons."

—The introduction of weapons into already tense regional situations has not infrequently "provoked or hastened the outbreak of fighting."

—The end of one regional conflict usually is the signal for a renewed arms buildup that leads almost inevitably to further fighting at a more dangerous level.

★ ★ ★

—Unless there is cooperation among major powers to curtail arms deliveries, arms traffic will continue to a point where, for example, strategic ballistic missiles may be deployed through the Middle East by the early 1970s.

MOST PRESSING

The reports were prepared by Browne & Shaw Research Corp., of Waltham, Mass., a regular Defense Department consultant. In "Project Diffusion," a study of the world-wide spread of combat planes and missiles, the organization concluded "the most pressing problem of U.S. military export control policy is the establishment of a more uniform view within the government.

"Some official spokesmen are urging industry to increase its export sales of military equipment. Others at a very high level have deplored the cost, particularly to developing countries, of purchasing such equipment.

★ ★ ★

"Regional arms buildups are too rapid, and the United States is one of four principal suppliers. The public announcement by high U.S. officials that the United States, out of its concern over the diffusion problem, was conducting a review of its military export policies, would attract international notice and find support among policy-makers in other countries."

At present, no such public announcement seems imminent. One disgruntled munitions control expert in the government remarked "bureaucratic inertia dictates that our policy will go on. The senior members of the administration don't know what is going on. If the President wanted to know tomorrow the quantity of munitions sold to the Middle East in the past two years, no one could tell him. Nobody knows.

NOBODY'S IN CHARGE

"We've built up a little empire here, and no one is willing to stand up and make a decision that this can't go on. Nobody's in charge."

The United States alone, since 1950, has given other nations 8,540 jet fighters, 20,279 tanks, 30,340 missiles and rockets, 29,716 mortars, 2.1 million rifles, 1.4 million carbines, 146,780 machine guns, 359,423 trucks, 3,698 personnel carriers, 3,292 training planes, 36 destroyers, 24 submarines and 33 tugs.

Hoffa, Aides Eye Appeal Strategy

CHICAGO (UPI) — Imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa huddled yesterday with his son and other attorneys, mapping strategy for his fight against a mail fraud conviction.

★ ★ ★

Maurice J. Walsh, chief defense attorney, said James P. Hoffa, 26, a Detroit lawyer, would take part in his father's appeal.

Islanders Prepare for De Gaulle Visit

ST. PIERRE (AP) — The fog-bound Frenchmen of the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, 12 miles off the Canadian province of Newfoundland, prepared a warm and festive welcome for President Charles de Gaulle today.

En route to a five-day visit to Canada, de Gaulle was to arrive at St. Pierre on the cruiser Colbert. He was scheduled to speak in the town square and visit a war memorial, a fish plant and a harbor project before sailing for Quebec tonight.

★ ★ ★

The 5,500 islanders decked the streets of this drab fishing town with flags for the first visit of a French president to France's last possession in North America. Public buildings were painted.

Flights over the island and traffic in the harbor was banned during de Gaulle's 10-hour stay.

It was de Gaulle's first visit to the islands but he is highly popular here. Many inhabitants remember Christmas Eve, 1941, when several ships, acting on orders of the leader of the Free French, took the islands from the Vichy regime of Marshal Philippe Petain without a shot being fired.

A nephew of Mme. de Gaulle, Jacques Phillipe Vendroux, was elected the islands' representative in the French Chamber of Deputies this year.

GTW Honors Area Retiree

Yardmaster Robert E. Boyd received a gold pin today honoring his recent retirement after 44 years of continuous service with the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Co. in Pontiac. Altogether Boyd of 3790 Covert, Water ford Township, has worked for Grand Trunk for 52 years.

BOYD

★ ★ ★

He joined Grand Trunk in 1915 working his way from the car department through the signal department. In 1923 he came to Pontiac as a switchman and in 1929 became yard foreman. He was promoted to yardmaster in 1943.

Savings deposits in the nation's savings and loan associations during February of this year totaled $752 million, up 43 per cent over February of 1966.

Strangely enough the best way to save time at the bridge table is to stop to think. This isn't a paradox. It merely means that you should do your thinking early and get it over. Then you can play the rest of the hand quickly.

South reversed this procedure. There was no reason to think about the first trick. South had to follow suit.

West continued with the queen of clubs and once more South didn't stop to think. He played the king from dummy. East ruffed and returned the queen of hearts and all of a sudden South had a problem.

Two tricks were gone where the woodbine twineth and there were potential losers in each red suit.

South thought awhile. Then he thought some more. Then he pondered. Then he communed with nature. Then he cogitated. Then he decided to duck in both hands. East led a second heart. This time South won in dummy.

★ ★ ★

Then he studied the hand. Then he looked at the ceiling. Then he played a couple of rounds of trumps. Then he looked at the previous trick.

Then he played a heart to his ace. Hearts failed to break and he finally gave up. The last heart could be ruffed in dummy but the defenders had three tricks and were going to get a diamond trick eventually.

Look how much time South could have saved if he had done his thinking early and led West's queen of clubs hold the second trick. West would continue with the jack of clubs.

South would play low from dummy again and ruff in his own hand. Then he would proceed to make his contract with no fuss at all.

Waterford Schools Get Additional Room

NEW LOOK—There is a new look at Four Towns School, 6370 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township, these days as construction workers near completion on the exterior of an addition to the existing building. The school is being provided with a gymnasium-multipurpose room complex, a library-instructional materials center, new classrooms and other alterations. The work at most of the district's existing schools was authorized when voters passed a $5,975,000 bond issue in June 1966.

SCHOOLCRAFT PROJECT — Another recipient of the widespread construction projects benefiting nearly all existing schools in the Waterford Township District is Schoolcraft School, 6400 Maceday Drive. Earmarked for the elementary school are a gymnasium-multipurpose room complex (shown above), four classrooms, a library-instructional materials center and other improvements.

NY Pans Modern Opera Based on a Kafka Plot

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Modern opera usually sounds just that—modern, its atonality hurting ears attuned to "La Boheme."

Despite its sound, however, modern opera usually is old-fashioned in subject matter.

★ ★ ★

For instance, the Metropolitan Opera gave two world premieres this past season, one about Cleopatra, the other the Greek Electra story as reset in New England by playwright Eugene O'Neill.

The Boston Opera premiered an opera about Moses, and the Washington Opera, one about the 16th century Count Bomarzo.

KAFKA PLOT

But in Germany the Hamburg State Opera commissioned an opera for last season from New York-born Gunthere Schuller and he went present-day all the way. He wrote modern serial music mixed with cool, antiseptic jazz and his own libretto, making his protagonist a Negro in the American South, and using Franz Kafka's plot of "The Trial."

They loved it in Hamburg at its world premiere last fall, bestowing 51 curtain calls. But at this summer's American premiere by the visiting Hamburg company, the boos were louder than the cheers. The San Francisco Opera will do the work, titled "The Visitation," in the fall.

★ ★ ★

The music in Schuller's first opera sounded exciting to critics in Hamburg; amateurish to critics in New York. But weighing heavier than the music seemed to be how "The Visitation" came across as theater. It was obviously more effective in Hamburg. The Germans have been inundated with plays about their wartime treatment of the Jews; an opera about America's treatment of Negroes was new, and something of a relief. They also understand Kafka, and generally don't understand enough English for cliches in the libretto to hit them.

In New York, where plays about Negro-white relationships abound and Kafka doesn't, "The Visitation" was viewed as an attempt to show race hatred, and it was derided as naive.

NIGHTMARISH

The New York audience laughed at unintended places, on hearing a too-obvious remark, and was not gripped by a Kafkaesque mood although events depicted were nightmarish.

★ ★ ★

White men suddenly threaten the Negro, Carter Jones, for no reason, follow him, chase him, harass him at his job, "try" him in a warehouse "court," then let him go. Like a man in shock trying to run on a treadmill, screaming but making no sound, he seeks help from a lawyer, a woman, a relative, a clergyman. He doesn't know why he is a victim; he doesn't know why nobody will help him. He is murdered by his tormentors.

★ ★ ★

The man singing Carter Jones is a tall, gentle-looking American Negro bass-baritone, born in Tenille, Ga., on a Feb. 29. He was named McHenry Rutherford Boatwright.

Boatwright has a long list of singing credits, most of them concerts, never getting into the sunshine of fame and publicity until "The Visitation." The composer knew him from a "Porgy and Bess" recording with Leontyne Price and from a "Don Carlo" performance in Zurich.

TURNED DOWN

After he arrived at the Hamburg State Opera last fall, the company also offered him a "Boris Godunov," but he turned it down because of the difficulties of learning the role of Carter Jones.

Boatwright says the opera still isn't easy. "I didn't realize that it was going to be, but it is very difficult to tune myself out to the names that are called me on the stage and the situations.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwerp

SCHOOL ADDITION — When this addition is completed, hopefully before the start of the 1967-68 school year, a gymnasium-multipurpose room complex and six new classrooms will be available for pupils of Williams Lake School, 2525 Airport, Waterford Township.

Virus 'Caught' in Cancer-Cell Test Tubes

By Science Service

Viruses are known to cause animal cancer; now the long-studied question of whether they cause human cancer seems to be nearing an answer.

A herpes-type virus, which resembles a group of viruses known to cause human disease, has been "caught in the act" of infecting and killing human cells grown in test tubes, according to Dr. James T. Grace Jr., director of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

This virus has been found in more than two-thirds of some 150 test-tube cultures of human leukemia and is "strikingly similar" from one cell line to another, Dr. Grace says.

"We now have a 'tool' for growing the virus and studying its infectious progress on cells outside the body," Dr. Grace notes. "This will permit a number of other studies.

★ ★ ★

"The tool is similar to that used in poliovirus research in which the viruses were propagated on monkey kidney cells." That research led to the development of a polio vaccine; it is too early to speculate on similar developments for cancer.

At the end of 1955 the United States had 298,076 active pilots in civil aviation while a decade later the number increased to 479,770, Federal Aviation Agency figures show.

Who Gets House? Pays Bills?

Student-CIA Split Is Troubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Student Association, which huffily divorced the Central Intelligence Agency in February, is having typical marital estrangement difficulties: Who gets the house and who pays the bills?

Both sides were embarrassed when the student-CIA tie was disclosed by former NSA officers. The NSA got brickbats from its members for accepting money from a government agency that spies and influences; the CIA blushed like an undercover agent who drops his badge at a Mafia meeting.

★ ★ ★

But the student association still has its national headquarters in two expensive interconnected town houses, and it is paying nothing for them under an agreement with the Independence Foundation of Boston.

The foundation, the NSA president says, is a CIA conduit, or way to pass things like money without revealing the real source.

'IN HOT SEAT'

W. Eugene Groves, president of the NSA, says the foundation is not trying to collect rent. It simply wants to be rid of its tenant. The students want to keep their headquarters, but they don't want the CIA to pay for it.

"They are in the hot seat and want us out of the building," says Groves. "We had one meeting with the attorney for the CIA. He was rather nasty, using a lot of bluff, threats that we punctured very easily."

What kind of threats?

★ ★ ★

"One is drying up the Independence Foundation in order that the leasor would no longer own the building."

The CIA, being in the secrecy business, won't comment one way or another. But a source familiar with CIA operations says any thoughts of threats would be ridiculous.

CONTRIBUTIONS LISTED

"How would it sound if it became known the CIA was trying to push a bunch of college kids out of their building?" he asked.

The Independence Foundation in the years 1962 through 4964 listed contributions to the NSA of $50,584.52, $55,010.15 and $48,988.09 in its income tax records. Records for later years were not on file at the Foundation Library in Washington. Efforts to reach a spokesman for the Independence Foundation were not successful.

Groves says the Independence Foundation and two other foundations now are submitting bills not connected with the rent.

"They have been pressing for payment of things they had not pressed before," Groves says. "In effect, they allowed or encouraged us to get into debt. We were $20,000 to $25,000 over our budget in the last two or three years and now that the story is broken they are trying to pull the strings out."

'NO PRESSURE'

A spokesman for the Foundation for Youth and Student Affairs in New York, one of the groups Groves says is pushing for money, said: "We are not pressuring them. There are a number of projects the association was working on in 1965-66 for which it submitted accounts earlier this year. In a number of cases the NSA underspent so a balance is due the foundation. This is not a CIA front."

The third foundation named by Groves was the San Jacinto Foundation of Houston, Tex. No spokesman could be reached.

★ ★ ★

"When we were on good terms, the CIA would pick up the deficits," Groves says. "This year's budget will balance, but we won't make up the deficit" of earlier years.

The NSA budget for its work with more than 300 member student governments is $800,000 this year. A subsidiary, Educational Travel, Inc., in New York has a budget of $500,000. The money comes through various grants, including a number from the federal government.

"What we need now is sizable money to buy the building and then we have an asset to borrow on," Groves says. "We need $75,000 so we can pick up the mortgage."

Litter Warning

JACKSON (AP)—The city of Jackson is putting up 15 new signs warning motorists of $100 fines for littering. City Commissioner Virginia Hitch urged erection of the signs and enforcement of the antilittering ordinance after seeing a motorist throw paper on the street.

Key to Pleasing Youngsters' Taste Is Serving Small Portions

Food attractively served is more important than what is being served, is stressed by Miss Margaret Schwartz, Director of Childrens Hospital Rehabilitation Center of Los Angeles. Her responsibilities include the care and feeding of 30 children-patients, of various ages, with an average stay of 27 days.

The daily question asked of Miss Schwartz is familiar to most mothers. What's to eat? Her answer to this question is variety, A variety of foods and a variety of ways to serve it.

She believes in varying the menu so the children never know what they'll be served at the next meal. Food surprises and the serving of small portions are the important keys to keep the patients happy.

Here are some of her suggestions that can be helpful to mothers with children who are finicky eaters.

• Serve small portions. A little bit of everything is put on the youngster's plate. The bite size may only be a half-teaspoon, but they must try it.

Should the unfamilar food meet with their approval, the children are encouraged to ask for seconds and thirds — but each portion remains very small.

• Make the food easy to eat, is another way to encourage children to try new foods. Foods that require arm muscle to cut up are not served to younger children, even though they may enjoy trying to use the knife.

A favorite supper is: scrambled eggs, sliced tomato, biscuits and plain strawberry jello. Hot dogs and hamburgers lead the meat list. Spaghetti, macaroni and cheese are favorite casserole dishes.

The salad category list is: apple and celery, carrot and raisin, pineapple and cottage cheese, tuna salad and potato salad.

Banana squash, baked in the rind, and flavored with brown sugar and butter; spinach seasoned with bacon and a little onion are two favorite fresh vegetables.

Children and adults will enjoy this hearty salad of cooked macaroni and raw grated carrots.

Carousel Salad

1 cup grated carrots (3-4 whole)
2 cups cooked macaroni or spaghetti
½ cup diced celery
¼ teaspoon sweet basil, crushed
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup commercial sour cream
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
Lettuce
Parsley

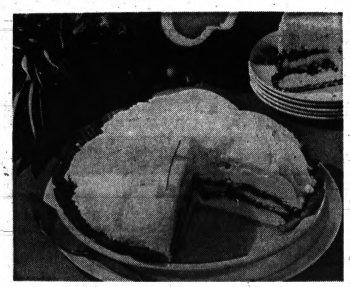

Combine carrots, macaroni, celery, basil and salt together. Stir relish into sour cream. Mix salad ingredients with dressing. Serve in Western Iceburg lettuce-lined salad bowls or separate salad plates.

Chop ½ bunch parsley leaves very fine and make a circle in center of bowl. Cut the slices of carrot diagonally and place around parsley circle to look like petals.

* * *

Makes 4-5 servings: Good to serve with fried liver, breaded cutlets or minute steaks.

Idea for children's salad: A cat or bunny face can be made on this salad. Make the ears by cutting carrot slices on the diagonal. Two round carrot slices stuck with whole cloves for eyes. The nose from a chevron slice of celery and whiskers from the carrot leaves or thin pretzel sticks.

TROPICAL ICE CREAM PIE — Ice Cream, a year round favorite dessert, is tops as a warm weather dessert that, is quickly and easily a tropical delight.

Layers of Sauce, Nuts Hidden by Ice Cream

You'll call this dessert tropical, too! From beginning to end, here's a dessert that spells cool and refreshing.

Tropical Ice Cream Pie has a coconut cookie base. Coconut bar cookies stand jauntily along the edge of the shell, while buttered crumbs form the bottom crust layer.

It's the filling between layers of creamy vanilla ice cream that really gives this pie additional tropical airs. Crushed pineapple and pecans! And then ice cream topping sauce, either caramel or butterscotch . . . both equally great.

An added plus is in an ice cream dessert . . . all the preparation is done in advance. If you have never made an ice cream pie, now is the time to try your hand at this glamorous dessert that is so easy to prepare.

Tropical Ice Cream Pie

½ cup coconut bar cookie crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter
15 to 16 coconut bar cookies
½ cup broken pecans
½ cup caramel or butterscotch ice cream topping
½ cup drained crushed pineapple
3 pints vanilla ice cream

Combine cookie crumbs and butter. Press mixture evenly over bottom of buttered 9 inch pie plate. Stand whole cookies upright around edge. (Cookies may have to be trimmed if too long). Chill.

Combine pecans and ice cream topping. Chill. Spoon 1 pint ice cream into cookie shell. Top with ½ ice cream sauce, then ½ crushed pineapple. Top with remaining ice cream.

Freeze until serving time.

These Cookies Are Extra Good

Cookies and milk are a favorite twosome — from lunchbox fillers to late-evening snacks.

These cookies go great in either role. They're called Glazed Raisin-Oatmeal Cookies, and they're made with cottage cheese for extra goodness.

Keep your cooky jar filled with these tasty treats, and don't forget to stow a handful away in your youngsters' lunch boxes to go with their noon-time milk.

Delicious for both "munchin" and "dunkin," these cookies cookies have flavor appeal for the whole family.

Glazed Raisin-Oatmeal Cookies

1 cup butter
1½ cups sugar
1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 cups quick cooking oats
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup seedless raisins
granulated sugar
milk

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in cottage cheese. Add eggs and vanilla and beat until well mixed. Sift together dry ingredients and gradually add to butter-egg mixture.

Stir in oats, nuts, and raisins. Chill dough for several hours or overnight.

Form dough into 1-inch balls. Dip one side of each ball into granulated sugar, then milk, and then again in sugar.

Arrange sugar-side up on greased cooky sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes. Makes 6 dozen.

Crumbs Give Torte Texture That's Different

This old-time dessert is still as delicious as ever.

Date Nut Torte

¼ cup unsifted regular flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup fine graham cracker crumbs
1 cup chopped pitted dates (not packed down)
1 cup coarsely broken walnuts
3 large eggs
1 cup sugar

On wax paper stir together the flour, baking powder and salt, mix in graham cracker crumbs, then dates and walnuts.

In a medium bowl beat eggs until thickened and lemon color; gradually beat in sugar so mixture is very thick and ivory color. Fold in date-nut mixture.

Turn into a buttered square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 45 minutes. Loosen sides of torte with a small spatula and turn out on wire rack; turn right side up: cool.

Torte will have meringuelike top that will crack when cut; serve squares of the dessert covered with whipped cream.

Valentine, Casanova—'Heartbreakers'

Twosome Spurs Senators Past Detroiters, 4-2

By CURT SYLVESTER

DETROIT (UPI) — The names of Valentine and Casanova may be loved by the baseball fans in Washington but there was nothing very lovely about what they did to the Tigers Wednesday night.

Fred Valentine drove in one run and scored another while Paul Casanova drove in two runs to give the Senators a 4-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The win was the ninth in the last 10 games for the surprising Senators. And for the Tigers, there was only more misery — eight losses in nine games is the way the scoreboard of disaster reads.

The Tigers, doing their best to help Mickey Lolich break his nine-game losing streak on the mound, kept the Senators close through the first seven innings and tied the game in the eighth, 2-2.

BREAK TIE

But Valentine and Casanova, who had driven in a run apiece in the first inning, were again the major contributors to the Detroit defeat.

By this time Lolich was out of the game and Fred Gladding, the eventual loser, was trying to salvage the victory.

But, with one out Ken McMullen singled. Gladding got Cap Peterson to strike out for the second out and the 2-2 tie looked secure.

★ ★ ★

But Valentine beat out a high-bounding ball to second base and Casanova singled to center, scoring McMullen with the go-ahead run. Valentine scored on the play when center-fielder Mickey Stanley made a bad throw but it was too late already.

OYLER HURT

If the Tigers didn't already have enough injury trouble, shortstop Ray Oyler was struck above and in front of the temple on the left side of his head in the second inning on a pitch by Phil Ortega.

"It hit his helmet. He's got a pretty good lump there," Manager Mayo Smith said after the game.

Lolich, whose record is now 5-11, gave up a pair of runs in the first inning to the Senators but shut them off the rest of the way until he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Tim Cullen, who is hitting .460 against Detroit this year, led off with a single and with one out Peterson, Valentine and Casanova picked up consecutive singles.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers came back on Don Wert's fourth homer of the season in the bottom of the first, cutting the margin to 2-1, but couldn't score again until the eighth.

Horse Race Endures

LONDON (AP) — The Grand National, England's horse race classic, has been saved again — for the third straight year.

★ ★ ★

The Joint Turf Authority announced Wednesday that "plans are being made to safeguard the future of the race." The classic will be run March 30.

SPORTS

Prep Thinclads Vie Saturday in Jaycee Meet

High school athletes who made names for themselves during last spring's track and field competition will converge on Waterford Kettering Saturday for the 1967 State Junior Champ meet.

Several state prep champions will be among the 300 entered. The meet is being sponsored by the Waterford Jaycees.

★ ★ ★

It is part of a state-wide Jaycee program designed to form a Michigan team for the National Junior Champ meet in Des Moine, Ia., Aug. 24-26.

All senior division (17-18 years old) winners in Saturday's meet will be eligible to compete in the national.

The Kettering meet will feature 11 events in the intermediate (15-16) division and 13 events, including the triple jump and discus, in the senior section.

Preliminaries will start at 10 a.m. and the finals will follow a 1 p.m. clinic featuring Birmingham Seaholm coach Kermit Ambrose and Pontiac Central mentor Dean Wilson. Ambrose is the meet director.

Hurdler Bill Tipton of Pontiac heads the field.

He is defending national champion in the high and low hurdles and was rated the top prep hurdler in the nation last spring.

LONG TOSSES

Shotputters Gary VanElst of Middleville and Gulio Catallo of East Detroit are both capable of tossing the 12-pound ball over 60 feet. Pole vaulter Dave Leitner of Grand Haven has consistently cleared 14 feet.

Flint's Herb Washington and LaVern Miller also will be competing. Several sub-ten second 100 sprinters have entered.

Accuracy, Long Ball Keys to PGA Crown

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Accuracy and the long hit ball appeared to be the keys to success as the 49th PGA National Championship with a field of 146 professionals prepared to swing away in the first round today for the $150,000 prize money.

Leading the assault over the Columbine Country Club's demanding par 72, 7,436-yard test were golf's current Big Three, Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper, and the young man who is the defending champion, Al Geiberger.

The field was narrowed to 146 when several candidates, among them Sam Snead, were unable to show up for one reason or another.

Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion, was generally favored on a course which fits his booming game.

ARNIE READY

Palmer apparently is finely tuned to capture the only major championship which has eluded him in the past. He registered his second straight 68 in practice Wednesday.

Arnie will have his army, of this there is no doubt. Hundreds have trooped behind him the past several days.

But power-hitting Nicklaus will have his own army on hand — his wife Barbara, two sons, Jack Jr., 5 and Steve, 4, his mother and father and several other couples from back home in Columbus, Ohio.

While the so-called Big Three may dominate gallery interest, there are others aboard who pose solid contention.

One is Frank Beard. Twice this young man from Louisville, Ky., engaged Palmer in final round, head-and-head combat and twice defeated the great man—in the rich Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas and Houston Champions in Texas.

Then there is Masters champion Gay Brewer, as well as Julius Boros, who like Beard, has won three tournaments on the tour this year.

Several other tour winners are absent under a new PGA rule which does not automatically exempt such winners from qualifying for the national championship.

Included are Art Wall, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Miller Barber and George Knudson.

Geiberger, who won the PGA at Akron, Ohio, by four strokes in 1966, expressed the thoughts of many about playing in Denver's thin, mile-high air.

"You have to change you entire thinking," he said. "You look at a distance and say this is a seven-iron shot. So you hit an eight and find out it should have been a nine."

Golfers Shrink at Shank; Shanko Shrinks at Name

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The young pro from Rye, N.Y., walked up to register for a locker at the PGA Golf Championship.

"What's the name?" the custodian asked.

"Shankland," the pro replied, almost inaudibly.

"What's that? Shank . . . Shank, what? Louder please," the custodian said.

"Shankland—Craig Shankland," the pro repeated louder, flushing.

EMBARRASSING

"I run into this all the time," Shankland said later. "It got to be a little embarrassing, but I'm used to it now.

★ ★ ★

"Yesterday I was out on the course and I heard a spectator, who saw my bag, blurt out, 'Shankland — my goodness, what a name for a golf pro'."

Somebody else said, "It looks like a guy with a name in a profession like that would spend a buck and a half to change it."

It's a revered name in England where Craig's father, Bill Shankland, was a former Ryder Cup player and a high finisher in past British Opens.

★ ★ ★

"They call him Britain's hard luck golfer," the son explained. The father is now pro at the Potter's Bar Golf Club in London, one of the swankiest.

DIRTY WORD

Craig says he and his dad both came in for some good-natured kidding also in England where the word "shank" is one of the dirtiest words in the game.

"Sure, we call it a shank there, too," Craig Shankland said. "But we have another pet name for it, we call it a Davey Crockett — that's hitting it off the socket."

A shank is a mishit ball that veers off to the right.

"Funny thing, I've never shanked a ball in my life as far as I know," young Shankland said. "But people with shanks come to me to get them fixed. At my club, they call me 'Shanko'."

CAMBRIDGE STUDENT

Shankland, a dark-eyed, handsome young man of 27, studied mathematics, English and history at Cambridge University for two years but golf became an obsession with him and he quit college to turn pro.

He came to America in 1961 as pro at the Pottawatome Club in St. Charles, Ill. Two years ago, he was named head pro at the Rye Country Club in Rye, N.Y.

"Ever since I was knee-high to a spoon, my ambition has been to play in the PGA Championship," he said. "This year I finally made it."

"I played in some tournaments in Illinois and did real well but the headlines always came out: 'Shank leads Illinois Open.' I don't anticipate any such headlines here."

Family Golf Duels on Tap in Forest Lake Invitational

The championship flight of the 5th annual Forest Lake Country Club Invitational golf tournament may turn out to be a family affair.

Pontiac Press Photo

AFTER REPEAT — The winners of the Forest Lake Invitational golf tournament five years ago, Harry Nederlander (left) and Gene Eyler are paired again and they led yesterday's FLCC qualifying with a 68. In today's first round match they face Don Mead and C. W. Casgrain.

Three members of the golfing Weyands and Jacksons were among those who qualified yesterday for the top flight, and the luck of the draw will have the Weyands facing each other today.

★ ★ ★

Rollie Weyand and son Paul are teamed to face Rich Weyand and his partner E. Norme in one of the opening matches today.

★ ★ ★

The Weyands are Birmingham Country Club members.

Paul Jackson of Red Run and his son Pete of Oakland Hills, current GAM defending champion, are teamed to face a tough pair in Bob Reynolds and Eric Goulland.

Mike Jackson, Pete's brother, is playing with Bob Gullett and they face J. Bonahoom and Jim McCormick of Lochmoore.

FAVORED TEAM

The favored team in the championship flight however is the combo of Harry Nederlander of Forest Lake and Gene Eyler of Oakland Hills.

Together, they won the first tournament at FLCC and yesterday they led all qualifiers with a 68, despite the woes of three three-putt greens.

★ ★ ★

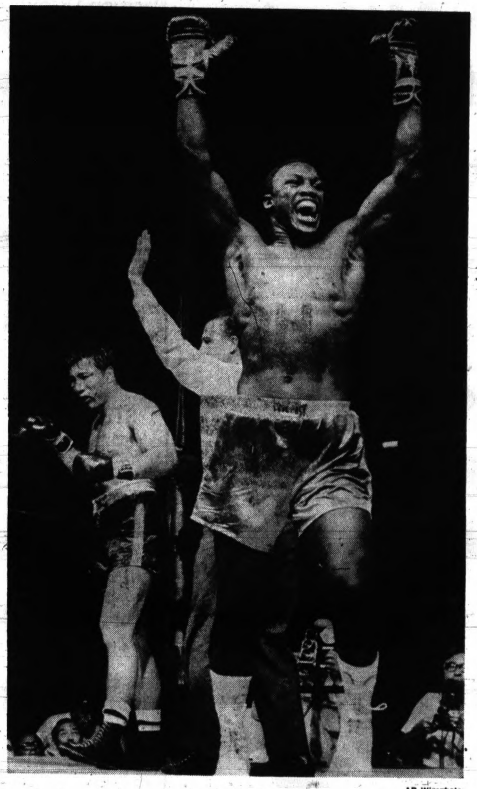

Their opponents today are Don Mead of Plum Hollow and C. W. Casgrain of Country Club of Detroit.

A strong team in the championship flight is that of Bill Adams and Don Dawson of Red Run. They posted a 71 in qualifying and today face R. Zellner and Dr R. Ramsey in their first match.

A total of 128 teams in eight flights are entered in this year's tournament.

Defending champions Walt Hagen, Jr., and Ben Alexander are missing from the field.

The tournament concludes Saturday with a double round.

Speedy Frazier Stops Chuvalo on TKO in 4th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Frazier, the unbeaten Philadelphia butcher boy, slashed open George Chuvalo's face with a deluge of blows and stopped the Canadian for the first time in his 12-year career in the fourth round Wednesday night.

Frazier never stopped throwing punches at Chuvalo, whose face was dripping with blood from the first round until referee Johnny Colan stopped the slaughter at 16 seconds of the fourth round in the scheduled 12-round bout.

The face of the 29-year-old Chuvalo was a mask of crimson and his right eye was completely closed during the second round as Frazier established himself as the man to beat for the vacant heavyweight title.

It had been Chuvalo's proudest boast that he had never been stopped or floored, and he still maintained his record of not being knocked off his feet.

Frazier did what Cassius Clay failed to do in a 15-round title bout last year by raining in punches from the opening bell to win his 17th consecutive pro bout.

Frazier had gone into the ring a 4-to-1 favorite to whip Chuvalo and take a giant step toward the vacant heavyweight throne.

Supplemental Tourneys Gain PGA Approval

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association took first steps Wednesday toward secondary — or minor league — pro golf tour.

This has been a suggestion of Arnold Palmer and other leading golfers for years.

Max Elbin, PGA president, announced that the PGA tournament committee had approved plans to schedule supplemental tournaments for those players not competing in invitation events.

Lions Like Attitude

Detroit Lions veterans are finding head coach Joe Schmidt, their old teammate, and his assistants to be conducting one of the tightest training camps in years at Cranbrook and without too many complaints.

"We're working harder in these first days of camp than at any time in the past few years," said one veteran, "but it's good, and there's a much better attitude around."

"Attitude and spirit mean a lot in pro athletics," said Schmidt, once the NFL's greatest linebacker, "and I wouldn't ask players to do anything more or less than I would do myself."

Schmidt said he intended to give every rookie in camp a strong chance to make the squad, and for this reason he has no mass player cuts in mind.

★ ★ ★

Saturday afternoon July 29, the Lions will hold their intra-squad scrimmage at Wisner Stadium. Tickets are available at all Community National Bank branches.

Tomahawks Pick Bob Duffy

Pontiac Tomahawk officials have chosen Robert J. (Bob) Duffy to coach the city's entry in the semiprofessional North American Basketball League.

In making the announcement, president-general manager Paul Parks revealed Duffy will have sole responsibility for coaching the team as well as recruiting, trying out and signing players.

The Tomahawks will begin their season Nov. 11 and have a 21-game schedule that involves opponents representing Muskegon, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Holland, Battle Creek, Chicago and Columbus, Ohio.

Duffy is a former All-America guard at Colgate University, setting all the school's scoring records and finishing fifth among National Collegiate Athletic Association scorers in his senior season (1961-62).

★ ★ ★

The 6-3 sharpshooter was the 11th pick in that spring's National Basketball Association draft — being the first backliner picked. He was with St. Louis for 1½ seasons, was sold to New York and then traded to Detroit along with present Piston coach Donnis Butcher.

NAMED COACH

Duffy returned to Colgate in 1964 as varsity coach and he spent three seasons with his alma mater before resigning this spring to join the Robert Eastman Company of Detroit as an account executive.

He and wife Sandy (a British citizen) live in Royal Oak and have two daughters — Kim, age two, and Julie, six months.

While at Colgate as a student, Duffy was a dean's list student (earning an Allis Chambers Award for academic excellence in Russian studies). He was elected class president his first three years in school.

★ ★ ★

In addition, he set Colgate scoring records for one game (48), one season (633 and 26.6 average), and three years (1620). A native of Katonah, N. Y., Duffy is currently working toward his master's degree.

Angels Whip Chicago, 5-2

Conigliaro Keeps Boston Marching

By the Associated Press

Tony Conigliaro is back in uniform—and has the Boston Red Sox marching steadily toward the front of the line in the American League.

The right-handed slugger, counting cadence with his bat, has been drilling baseballs off walls and over them since returning from two-week Army Reserve summer camp June 3.

The surprising Red Sox took another step Tuesday night as Conigliaro slammed two triples and a double, powering Boston to a 6-4 victory over Baltimore and moving the Sox 1½ games from league-leading Chicago.

CHISOX LOSE

The White Sox made it possible by losing to California 5-2, their third straight defeat.

Boston also pulled within a half-game of second-place Minnesota, which fell again to Kansas City, 9-6.

★ ★ ★

In other American League games, Washington beat Detroit 4-2 and Cleveland halted the New York Yankees 5-2.

★ ★ ★

The Red Sox have been standing far back in line watching most everybody go by since 1958, the last time they finished in first division. They were picked for the fall end again this year, but stunned everyone by keeping in step with the leaders all the way.

Private First Class Conigliaro helped the Bosox put their best foot forward Tuesday night as they won their sixth straight game.

After Mike Andrews cracked a three-run homer to get things started in the fifth inning, Conigliaro tripled home the two decisive runs after an earlier double.

He added an insurance run in the eighth with another triple, scoring on a passed ball.

His performance raised his average to .304 with 54 runs batted in, despite a 3-for-27 slump in the seven games after his return from summer camp. Since then, he has driven in 38 runs, hit 13 homers for a total of 15, and cruised along at a .343 clip.

ANGELS MOVE UP

The light-hitting White Sox, needing a bat like Conigliaro's, stumbled this time over Jack Hamilton and Minnie Rojas, who combined to pull the Angels only 2½ games back with their 30th victory in 42 games.

Hamilton hurled into the seventh inning and led 5-2 as Tom Satriano knocked out Joel Horlen, 11-3, with a two-run double in a three-run fourth inning, and Bobby Knoop and Jimmie Hall followed later with solo homers off Bruce Howard. Rojas came on to save his 14th game.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota missed a third straight chance to gain a tie for first place when the Athletics broke loose for five runs in the eighth inning, highlighted by Ozzie Chavarria's tie-breaking two-run single.

Tony Horton supplied the clincher for Cleveland, tripling home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and then scoring when Yankee third baseman Roy White failed to cover the base on the throw from the outfield. Rookie Vern Fuller, just up from Portland, followed with a home run as the Indians ended a five-game losing streak.

Women Golfers Invade Canada for 54 Holes

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — A field of 46 professional and 16 amateur women golfers tee off today in the first round of the $18,000 Women's Open Golf Tournament at Sunningdale Golf Club.

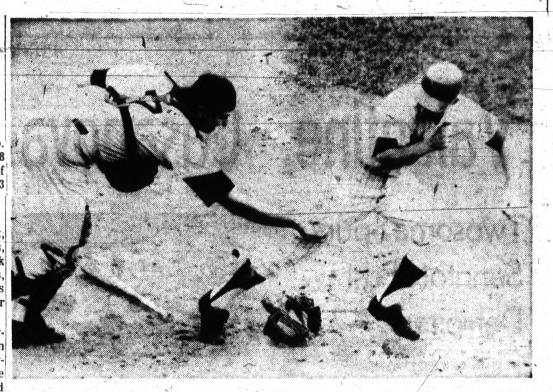

★ ★ ★

For 32 of the professionals it will be the second day of money play. Tuesday they teamed with amateurs in a $2,000 pro-am match.

The tournament, the only one in the Ladies PGA tour played in Canada, comprises three 18-hole rounds.

Decision Delayed

Cubs Down Atlanta, 7-2

Cardinals Walk Past Redlegs

By Associated Press

Cincinnati's Gary Nolan got the nod, but St. Louis walked off with the ball game.

Asked about Nolan's pitching, St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst just nooded his head.

There wasn't much he could say about the rookie right-hander's performance Tuesday night — he gave up just four hits and struck out 12 in seven innings as the Reds built up a 2-0 lead.

But then his arm tightened up and he left in the eight with Dal Maxvill on with a double and none out. St. Louis went on to tie it in the inning and win it 3-2 in the 12th when Gerry Arrigo walked in a run.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago stayed one game back of first-place St. Louis by beating Atlanta 7-2, Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 2-1 in 11 innings, Los Angeles shaded Philadelphia 3-1 in 11 and the New York Mets swept Houston 8-4 and 7-2.

After Maxvill's double, pinch hitter Alex Johnson greeted reliever Ted Abernathy with a double to drive in a run. Then after two were out Roger Maris singled home Johnson.

The Cubs' victory pointed up the importance of family unity.

Pitcher Joe Niekro said his best pitch, a slider, wasn't working and that he used mainly fast balls, with knuckle balls in the clutch.

Pittsburgh's victory, brought about by Gene Alley's bases-loaded single, snapped Mike McCormick's winning streak at eight games.

★ ★ ★

Jerry May led off the 11th with a triple and then McCormick intentionally walked the next two batters before being relieved by Frank Linzy.

Los Angeles got its victory when Philadelphia starter Chris Short walked Jeff Torborg with the bases loaded and reliever Dick Farrell followed with another bases-loaded pass to Ron Fairly.

★ ★ ★

Ron Swoboda sparked a five-run fifth inning with a two run homer in the Mets' first-game victory. Tommy Davis led the way in the second with a grand slam in the first inning.

Swoboda also homered in the second game, and Davis had a total of five hits for the day.

Davis Cuppers Fall on Clay

Ecuador's Entrants Lose in Nationals

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Ecuador's surprising Davis Cup team was on the outside looking in today as the National Clay Court Tennis Tournament reached the quarter-finals.

Francisco Guzman, hampered by a sore shoulder, was a third-round victim of U. S. Davis Cupper Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., 6-3, 6-2 Wednesday.

Guzman, 21, joined teammate Miguel Olvera, 28, on the sidelines. Olvera was beaten in the second round Tuesday by top-seeded foreigner, Ray Ruffels of Australia.

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., who lost to both Olvera and Guzman in Ecuador, advanced to the quarter-finals with a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Chile's Pat Rodriquez.

Top seeded Mrs. Billie Jean King, Long Beach, Calif., world's ranking women's player, advanced to the quarter-finals with a 6-1, 6-3 win over Marilyn Aschner, Holliswood, N.Y.

Prep Stars Choose Difficult College Majors

The first thing most college recruiters ask when told about a promising high school athlete is "what are his grades."

If the grade average is below the minimum set by the college he represents, the scout quickly loses interest. And the entrance requirements are getting more difficult each year.

* * *

Most of the better privately-supported schools require a B average or better for admission. The large, state-financed universities are fast approaching this mark.

Oakland County high schools last spring graduated some top athletes who also were academic leaders.

These recent alumni are going to leading colleges and are tackling difficult majors. A glance at the list of majors shows none are taking snap courses.

Mike Schweitzer of Clarkston and Dave Cox of Kettering are going to General Motors Institute and Brown, respectively.

COX

Dave was an outstanding basketball player and Mike lettered twice in baseball, football and basketball, but what influenced the admission boards more was the fact that both are valedictorians.

Cranbrook's impressive cage captain, Jon Pavloff earned himself a nonathletic Moorhead scholarship to North Carolina.

GOING TO PURDUE

Ortonville Brandon's state champion half-miler Wayne Wills is heading for Purdue in search of a degree in engineering. Bruce Samerian, football star at Bloomfield Hills, is going to Western Michigan and will major in either mathematics or science.

Craig Love, Groves' towering cager is enrolling at Ohio University in quest of an engineering degree. Bloomfield Hills' three-sport captain Bob Calhoun, will be going to Dartmouth where he will study engineering or political science.

Heading for scholastically-tough Michigan are Dan Fife, Ted Simmons, Mike Rafferty and Jim Ball.

Fife, all-around athlete from Clarkston, will major in social work or physical education, while Groves' nine letterman Rafferty will be working toward a business administration degree.

Simmons, who signed with the St. Louis baseball Cardinals, has a four-year scholarship included in his bonus contract. Rochester's all-state quarterback Ball is going to Bullis prep school in Maryland and hopes to attend the University of Michigan next year.

* * *

Kettering's Dick Miceli, who made honor teams in three sports, is enrolling at Hillsdale where he will go into business administration. Joe Murphy, St. Fred graduate who made the all-state football squad, is accepted at Ferris and will also go into business administration.

Trackman Marc Dutton from Royal Oak Kimball is going to Oakland University where he will major in economics. All-stater Tim Baughman, who played on the Detroit Country Day basketball team will be at Albion next fall where he will study history or English as background for a possible law degree.

MURPHY

CALHOUN

Pontiac Northern's state wrestling champ, Frank Lafferty, is going to Miami of Ohio where he will probably major in physical education. Don Golding who played basketball and football at Rochester is going to Annapolis.

A three-sport star at Walled Lake, Ron James, is going to Central Michigan on the first full athletic scholarship ever offered by that college. He is going into pre-med.

Bill Tipton, national champion hurdler from Pontiac Central is going to Eastern Michigan and will take basic courses before deciding on a major.

* * *

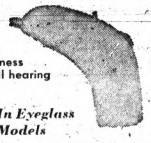

Another PCH graduate, Bruce Turpin, who made the all-county football squad, is going into the literature school at the University of Delaware. Prentice Hill, still another Pontiac Central alumnus, is going south to Hampton Institute in Virginia where he will major in mathematics.

Practically all will participate in college sports, but the real effort as indicated by their majors, will be in the academic world.

Rowing Lead Held by Philadelphians

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP) — A Philadelphia crew held a sizable lead over two Canadian crews entering the second day of the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

* * *

Don Callaghan and Leslie Edgecomb stood out Wednesday in leading their Uneine Barge Club of Philadelphia to 20 points.

Tied for second are the Toronto Argonauts and the Winnipeg Rowing Club with 5½ points. The New York Athletic Club has 3½ points while the Ecorse Boat Club and Mexico City were tied at 2½.

Collision 9 Continues Strong Bid in 'A' Play

Shutout ace Walt Miller and his first-place-minded M.G. Collision teammates needed just one inning to dispose of C.I.O.-594 Wednesday night at Jaycee Park in the city Class A baseball race.

The left-handed Miller yielded two first-inning singles to the unionmen (their only hits) then settled down to register his sixth victory of the season and his fifth shutout.

M.G., in addition, tallied four runs in the first inning and added its final four in the second in coasting to the 8-0 conquest that boosted the winners to a 12-4 mark.

Jerry Harkey and Darrell Lovell each had run-producing singles in both outbursts to drive in five of the eight tallies. Joe Agee also plated a run with a single and Willie Holliman lifted a sacrifice fly, while one marker came in on an error.

Bud Williams' lead-off single and Gene Luppino's two-out safety were the only hits off Miller who fanned 10. C.I.O. 594 slipped to 9-8 in its bid for a berth in the city title playoffs.

Winning Yachts All Have Made Honolulu Port

HONOLULU (AP) — Over-all handicap and class winners in the Transpacific yacht race were calculated unofficially Wednesday as 57 of the 71 starters were berthed at Ala Wai Yacht Harbor.

Skip Allan's Cal-40 sloop Holiday Too from Los Angeles and Newport Beach, Calif., was confirmed as the certain winner with a corrected time of 8 days, 19 hours, 46 minutes and 46 seconds.

None of the 12 yachts still at sea has enough time allowance to beat Holiday Too. She is also the Class C winner.

NCAA Champ Early Victim at Golf Meet

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament field, narrowed by half and missing one national champion, tees off today on its second of five rounds of match play.

The missing champion is Hale Irwin, the 22-year-old reigning NCAA titleholder. Irwin fell to Gregg Pitzer of Los Angeles, 2 and 1, in the only major upset of the first round on Wednesday.

Marty Fleckman, the low amateur in the U. S. Open, Bob Murphy, the Trans-Miss medalist, Ron Cerrudo, the second-place finisher in the British Amateur, and Lee McDowell, the Texas state champ, followed the form book and won their matches.

Fleckman, of Port Arthur, Tex., beat Randy Geiselman of Houston two up; Cerrudo, of San Rafael, Calif., dropped Steve Holmsley of San Antonio, 4 and 3; Murphy drifted to a 5 and 4 win over John Thornton of San Antonio, and McDowell nipped Doug Smith Jr., San Antonio, 2 and 1.

Playoff Nets Third Weekly WMGA Win

A routine par on the first hole of a playoff gave Mrs. David Mortimer of Birmingham her third win of the season yesterday in weekly Women's Metropolitan Golf Association play at Bob O'Link.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mortimer played it straight down the middle on the 500-yard, par-5 hole in downing Mrs. Henry Pramick of Dearborn, who took a bogey.

Moments earlier, Mrs. Pramick chipped in a 15-yard shot for a birdie on the 18th hole to deadlock Mrs. Mortimer 82 for the lead.

Mrs. Nick Panasiuk of Elmstead, Ont., finished third with an 83 and Phyllis Chandler of Hamtramck was fourth at 84.

The WMGA opens its 54-hole medal play tournament Monday at Partridge Creek near Mount Clemens.

U.S. Hopefuls at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The first group of the huge squad from the United States arrived Wednesday as a burning hot sun blazed over the Pan-American Village.

The 75 yanks landed in the morning, and shortly afterwards the flags of two earlier arriving teams for the Pan-American Games starting Sunday were raised in the village.

★ ★ ★

A total of six flags have been lifted so far. The colors of Argentina, Cuba, Brazil and El Salvador were hoisted previously.

Local Wrestler Eying European Trip

A trip to Bulgaria by way of Adrian and Chicago is the goal a Pontiac wrestler is shooting for as he prepares for a regional match tomorrow at Adrian High School.

The local matman is Frank Lafferty, Michigan 180-pound high school champion from Pontiac Northern, who is one of 12 state champions who are paired against Ohio champions in the competition tomorrow.

The event at Adrian is the second step in a program sponsored by the AAU and Olympic wrestling committees from which, eventually, two teams of 10 boys each will be selected to go to the Junior World Wrestling Championships in Haskova, Bulgaria, August 22.

The 12 winners tomorrow move on to sectional championships slated for July 28-29 in Chicago. From there, the top 12 will join the 12 best from each of three other sectionals in a training program and selection camp to begin at the Great Lakes Naval Training Section Aug. 6. From these 48 boys, one team each in free-style and one Greco-Roman will be selected.

Another Oakland County wrestler in the meet tomorrow is Mark Davids of Hazel Park, who will vie for the 114-pound title.

Stuart Connects

TOKYO (AP) — Dick Stuart, former Los Angeles, Boston and New York Mets' first baseman, slammed a two-run homer in leading the Taiyo Whales to a 4-2 victory over the Sankei Atoms in a Central Pro baseball game Wednesday.

Titlist Out; N.Y. Boxer on Team

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Marine heavyweight boxer Ken Norton, who won the U.S. Pan-American boxing trials, has been cut from the squad and been replaced by Forrest Ward, AAU champ from New York.

Norton returned to Camp Pendleton, San Diego, Calif., Sunday.

U. S. Pan-Am boxing team manager Lt.-Col. Ralph Mendenhall said Ward was chosen during a week of sparring following the trials.

Pro Grid Camps Bustling

Champion Packers Stick to Basics

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers staged their "nutcracker drill" Wednesday, a one-on-one blocking procedure with a back following through.

The drill, one of the most rugged in the book, was held for more than a half hour during the afternoon workout. Linemen, linebackers and ends participated.

Guard Fuzzy Thurston continued watching from the sidelines because of a knee injury suffered in Monday's practice.

The Packers announced they had cut offensive tackle Bob Ziolkowski and defensive tackle Dick Werner from the squad.

SAINT SIGNS

SAN DIEGO, Calif (AP) — The signing of veteran Steve Stonebreaker Wednesday has bolstered the New Orleans Saints' linebacking corps.

★ ★ ★

Stonebreaker worked out with the Saints at California Western University, signing his 1967 contract after a mid-afternoon meeting with club president John Mecom Jr. Terms of the pact were not revealed.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Broncos announced Wednesday that linebacker Ray Schmautz, one of three players obtained in a trade with the Oakland Raiders, announced his retirement.

Schmautz, who played college football at San Diego State, indicated he was interested in studying for the ministry. He is 24 and this would have been his second season.

The Broncos also announced they had obtained Tommy Brooker, tight end and place-kicker, from the Kansas City Chiefs on a conditional basis.

ANDOVER, Mass. (AP) — The Boston Patriots lost linebacker Dick Capp to the Green Bay Packers Wednesday.

Mike Holovak, general manager and head coach of Boston, ordered Capp's name dropped from the roster when he learned the former Boston College player will report to the Green Bay team in the National Football League when he completes his summer military duty Friday.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Riley Mattson, picked up by the New Orleans Saints in the recent expansion draft, announced Wednesday his retirement from the sport.

The 6-4 225-pound tackle played four years with the Washington Redskins and the last two with the Chicago Bears.

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — Quarterback Benjy Dial, rookie from east New Mexico University, was released by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

New York Club Extends Surge in Soccer Loop

By The Associated Press

The New York Generals, off to a poor early start, now have won six of their last eight outings in the National Professional Soccer League.

★ ★ ★

They edged the Pittsburgh Phantoms 2-1 before 5,611 in Yankee Stadium Wednesday night. Goals by Julio Alas and George Kirby gave the Generals a 2-0 lead before the Phantoms got their goal in the second half on a shot by Manfred Seissler.

Action Resumes in County Net Play

Matches Slated Friday Evening

Finals in All Events on Sunday's Calendar

Action resumes in the Oakland County Open tennis tournament on the Oakland University courts Friday evening with junior doubles and makeup matches in men's singles scheduled.

Kin Beattie and Tom Bullard of Clarkston face Doug Plant and Fred Miller in one junior semi-final, while Mike Jehle and Bob Beel go against Kirk Beattie and Mark Erickson in the other.

The matches will be played at 5:45, players who failed to complete matches because of rain this week should do so Friday.

ALL DIVISIONS

Saturday all divisions will be played through quarter-final rounds and Sunday all finals will be played.

Still in contention in senior men's play are Ralph Alee and Leon Hibbs.

In men's division, Paul Young, the defending champion, is in the favorite's role.

Young and Ray Shearer, the defending men's doubles champs, likewise rule favorites in the division.

Men's singles will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, followed with junior singles and men's doubles action through to the semi-finals.

Rally in Fifth Produces 6-3 Decision for Bar '9'

A three-run fifth inning helped Timberlanes-2 break open a close game and roll to a 6-3 win over L & S Standard last night in city National League softball action.

The triumph raised the league leader's record to 10-2. The losers are 1-12.

Pitcher Jim Fields scattered eight hits and fanned three to pick up the decision. Leading 3-2 in the last of the fifth, Timberlanes mixed three hits with an error and a couple of wild pitches to score three markers.

Rich Ewer, who singled to open the fifth, collected two hits to spark the winners. John Stoddard, Bob Gilmore and Paul Davis picked up two each for the losers.

★ ★ ★

A Slow-Pitch surprise found Artco knocking off Chalet Inn (7-5) in an upper bracket game, while Hagen Shell whipped Grubbs' Kennels, 8-4, and Moose downed Local No. 596, 10-7, in lower bracket contests.

HIT HOMERS

Don and Ray Ream clouted home runs for Artco (1-0) which jumped off to a 7-0 lead and held on for its first win of the second round. Randy Forbes led the way with three hits for Artco, while John Shanks hit two homers and teammate Mel Golosin one for the losers (0-1).

★ ★ ★

Hagen (1-0) entered the win column for the first time this season in halting Grubb's. Dick Davis belted a two-run homer for Hagen in the fifth. Bob Simmons had two of the losers five hits.

★ ★ ★

Moose scored seven times in the first two innings in rolling past the unionmen. Al Jenks hit an inside-the-park homer for Moose. Charlie Crisp had three hits for the losers.

All-Star Nine in Tournament

Walled Lake Squad Travels to Indiana

A Walled Lake Bronco League All-Star squad will journey to Woodburn, Ind., tomorrow in a bid for the loop's Midwest Sectional Tournament title.

The Walled Lake entry, winner of the Southeastern Michigan District, will compete against champions from Indiana and other Michigan districts in the three-day, double elimination tourney. The winner moves onto regional play.

On the All-Star team are Alan Bidwell, Mike Brown, Steve Brown, Glen Gilbert and Gary Johnson of the Mets; Tom Hawkins, Joe McGinley, Jeff Parrish and Marti Wilkinson of the Astros; Mike Hulslander, Kurt Kessler, Mike Mitchell, Chuck Prater and Craig Whitney of the Phillies; Dale West of the Senators; and alternates Steve Fuller (Senators) and Chris Vasileff (Mets).

Manager of the team is Neil Kessler of the Phillies and coach is Leroy Gidwell of the Mets. League director Bill West will serve as the team's business manager.

Twin Batters Hit New Low, High

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. — (NEA) — The Minnesota Twins last year had their poorest home run output (144) since moving to the Twin Cities but they set an American League record and tied the major league mark by hitting five round trippers in one inning.

The sluggers, against Kansas City, were Harmon Killebrew, Don Mincher, Tony Oliva, Zoilo Versalles and Rich Rollins.

Withstands Late Rush

NAZARETH, Pa. (AP)—Frankie Schneider of Flemington, N.J., fought off a strong challenge by Will Cagle of Tampa, Fla., to capture the 100-lap modified championship of the All-Star Stock Car Racing League at the Nazareth Speedway Wednesday night.

Junior Loop Leaders Hold Winning Ways

The Class D and Class E National league leaders both continued their winning ways, and the Widget National loop pacers extended their winning streak in Wednesday's city junior baseball.

The Pontiac Police Officers' Association made it eight straight in "D" by nipping runner-up Rochester, 4-3. The Auburn Heights Boys' Club Sportsmen dumped the Vikings, 8-4, to stay one game ahead of Russell Sundquist, a 17-5 winner over the T-Birds in Class E.

Columbia Avenue Recreation Association's Widget streak reached eight straight with a come-from-behind 5-4 conquest of the Yankees.

Among the pitching highlights was Chris Bass' 1-0, one-hit triumph for Uncle Charley's Pet Shop in Widget action; Jeff Rice's one-hitter in the AHBC Sportsmen's 3-2 Widget win; and the combined 15 strikeouts by Bill Ziem and Jerry Cox of Lakeland in a 3-1 Class F victory.

★ ★ ★

Craig Deaton and Mike Clancy each had run-producing singles in P.P.O.A.'s "D" triumph; Steve Warman had a homer, double and single to feature Sundquist's 14-hit attack; and Rick Moore had two singles and a double for the "E" AHBC Sportsmen.

Glamor Issues Dip

Stock Market Shows Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp declines in some well-known glamor stocks featured a declining stock market early this afternoon.

In early trading, gains outnumbered losses but by afternoon this situation was reversed.

Some key blue chips which have revived in recent sessions also took losses, depressing the averages.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .41 at 902.91.

Polaroid sank more than 15 points after a report of earnings which, though higher, were disappointing in Wall Street.

Xerox, which plunged 14 points Wednesday for a similar reason, slid 7 or 8 points.

Analysts saw profit taking on the market's strength of the past 2½ weeks accentuated by typical preweekend evening-up operations, to balance gains against losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 337.2 with industrials off 1.7, rails off .2 and utilities off .1.

Steels backed away from recent gains but most of their losses were fractional. Republic Steel and U.S. Steel lost about a point.

With prices irregular on the American Stock Exchange, Syntex gained a fraction in heavy trading while LTV Electrosystems sank more than 2.

APL Corp. advanced about 1½ as did Waltham Precision. Atlas Corp. warrants and Sperry Rand warrants were active fractional losers.

GOP Divides District Duties

Resident Coordinators to Direct 3 Sections

The Oakland County Republican Committee today announced it has reorganized its activities in the 60th Legislative District.

★ ★ ★

The change was made because the 60th District covers such a large area, according to John Cartwright, 19th Congressional District director.

"We have divided the district into three areas, each to be handled by a coordinator who lives in and is familiar with the specific area," explained Cartwright.

The coordinators will work with Wendell Peterson, 60th Legislative District director.

★ ★ ★

WALLED LAKE AREA

Mrs. Earle Bretz, 4866 Sundew, Commerce Township, will be responsible for the party organization activities in the City of Walled Lake, and the townships of Highland, Milford and Commerce.

★ ★ ★

The southern portion of the district, Lyon and Novi townships and the cities of Northville. South Lyon and Wixom, will be coordinated by William B. Heffner Jr. of Northville.

6 Cubans Face U.S. Charge of Bombing Plot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Six Cuban exiles have been named in federal indictments charging that they conspired to drop bombs on ships loaded with supplies for Communist Cuba.

★ ★ ★

The grand jury said Wednesday the group practiced bombing missions out of Miami and conspired to bomb British, Canadian and Spanish ships "or any others loaded with supplies for Cuba."

★ ★ ★

Names in the indictment were Orlando Bosch, Marcos Rodriguez Ramos, Barbaro Balan Garcia, Louis Bertot, Jose Antonio Mulet and Jose Diaz Morejon.

★ ★ ★

Bosch, head of the Insurrectional Recovery Movement, was found innocent last year of a charge of threatening death to other Cuban exiles unless they gave him money to fight Fidel Castro.

★ ★ ★

Asst. U.S. Atty. Donald Bierman said the arrests were made last January when two of the men attempted to board a plane loaded with three 100-pound bombs, three one-gallon jugs of an incendiary mixture and guns and ammunition.

U.S. Structure at Expo to Be Given to Montreal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will give the City of Montreal the 20-story-high geodesic dome housing the American exhibit at Canada's Expo 67, the U.S. Information Agency said today.

USIA chief Leonard H. Marks will formally present the big structure to Montreal's Mayor Jean Drapeau today as "a symbol of the warm friendship between Canada and the United States."

★ ★ ★

A USIA spokesman estimated the cost of the 200-foot-high dome — the tallest building at the site of the Canadian exposition — at about $5.6 million. He said the U.S. exhibits inside would be removed when Expo 67 closes in late October.

The dome has a spherical diameter of 250 feet, encloses a volume of 6.7 million cubic feet and is relatively lightweight because of its frame of piping covered by transparent plastic panels.

★ ★ ★

USIA said the Canadians have not yet decided how they might use the dome pavilion. It noted the Canadian government is considering turning the entire Expo 67 site into an international research and development center.

BASE CAMP MISERIES — Sandbagged bunkers, topped with canvas, are the living quarters of units of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division at a forward camp near the Cambodian border in South Vietnam's Central Highlands. Tree stumps are the only remaining vegetation left in the cleared camp area. Full battle gear is carried by soldiers within the perimeter whenever they move from bunker to bunker.

Fulbright Wants Briefings Away From White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J.W. Fulbright says he wants future foreign policy briefings for congressional leaders moved to Capitol Hill and away from the awesome atmosphere of the White House.

"One does not contradict kings in their palaces or Presidents in the White House with the freedom and facility with which one contradicts the king's ministers in Parliament or the President's Cabinet members in committee," Fulbright told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee Wednesday.

As matters stand, said the Arkansas Democrat, the Johnson administration makes "a ceremonial occasion" out of informing senators and House members of presidential decisions already made, giving them little opportunity to offer advice.

Fulbright, a Vietnam war policy critic who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thinks "meaningful consultation with Congress must take place on Congress' own grounds with the representatives of the President who can be spoken to in candor and who will speak to us in candor."

RIGHT DIRECTION

He said such a change in procedure would be a step in the direction of the Senate's reclaiming its constitutional rights to play a stronger role in the shaping of American foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

"I have the feeling—only a feeling, not yet a conviction—that constitutional change is in the making," he said. "It is too soon to tell, but there are signs in Congress, particularly in the Senate, of growing uneasiness" over the extent of executive power.

★ ★ ★

He said this is evidenced by "a growing willingness to raise questions that a year or so ago might have gone unasked, to challenge decisions that would have gone unchallenged, and to try to distinguish between real emergencies and situations which, for reasons of executive convenience, are only said to be emergencies."

He cited as an example Senate refusal to adopt a resolution on Latin American policy that President Johnson wanted to take to the Punta del Este, Uruguay, summit conference in April.

FURTHER MOVES

"I hope that it foreshadows further demonstrations on the part of Congress of a healthy skepticism about hasty responses to contrived emergencies," Fulbright said. "I hope that it foreshadows a resurrection of continuing debate and of normal deliberative processes in the Senate."

Fulbright said such resolutions and White House briefings have been used "for the purpose of creating an appearance of congressional consultation where the substance of it is lacking."

★ ★ ★

"Arranged in haste, almost always under the spur of some real or punitive emergency, those resolutions and White House briefings serve to hit Congress when it is down, getting it to sign on the dotted line at exactly the moment when, for reasons of politics or patriotism, it feels it can hardly refuse," he said.

★ ★ ★

The subcommittee is investigating the constitutional separation of government powers.

Conditional OK Is Given 3 Septic Plans

After hearing appeals, the health committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday gave conditional approval on three proposed residential septic systems.

Another appeal to a sanitarian's denial of a septic permit was reviewed by the committee, and the owners were advised to further explore their lot for location of an adequate septic field.

Septic permits were approved for Robert Harlow and Arthur Phillips for their Oakland Township properties and Armand Valente who owns a lot in Bingham Farms.

Requirements including the preparation of engineering plans for the septic systems and bringing in sand fill were among those specified in the conditional approval.

★ ★ ★

Advised to further explore his property for location of a suitable septic field was Michael Fischer who owns a 100-by-200-foot lot in the Juenge Subdivision of Avon Township.

As at all appeals hearings conducted by the committee, heavy clay soil content is the basis of the permit denial because it restricts percolation.

Area Car Club Slates Picnic for Children

For the sixth year the Birmingham Chapter of the Veterans Motor Car Club of America will sponsor a picnic Sunday for crippled children of Oakland County.

The Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club is cosponsoring the picnic to be held at Marshbanks Metropolitan Park. Some 150 crippled children and their families are expected to attend.

★ ★ ★

The car club and Rotary club are providing picnic lunches for the youngsters.

Afterward, children will be given rides in the antique cars owned by the club members.

Tax Increase to Be Pushed for Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee plans to push for a hike in the payroll tax for medicare to meet skyrocketing increases in hospital and medical costs.

That's the word from congressional sources, who indicated Wednesday government estimates of hikes in such costs were off better than 100 per cent.

The committee originally believed President Johnson's plan to extend medicare to the disabled as well as aged could be accomplished by upping the taxable base of an individual's income from $6,600 to $7,800.

But sources said the panel has found that hospital charges, expected to jump about 7 per cent a year, instead are climbing at a 15 per cent rate.

Sources said the panel informally has decided in a Social Security tax boost equivalent of four-tenths of 1 per cent on the tax base of $7,800, half paid by the employer, half by the employe.

Other planned increases in taxes I to expand Social Security coverage and benefits — could cause a jump of more than $100 a year from employes earning $7,800 or more, it's estimated.

Youth's Body Found in State

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The body of a 19-year-old Mackinac College freshman, missing since mid-February, was discovered Wednesday in a densely wooded area on this island resort.

He was identified as Craig Kriebel of Kalamazoo.

★ ★ ★

Police said the body — still clad in snow boots—bore a gunshot wound and a rifle was found alongside.

A college spokesman said students and local police began searching the island Feb. 11 when the boy was missed but that the search was called off a day or so later when another student received a letter postmarked St. Ignace in Kriebel's handwriting.

LEFT SCHOOL

The public information office said Kriebel wrote that he was leaving school and that he was on the mainland.

State Police Headquarters in East Lansing said the boy was still listed as a missing person since Feb. 11 despite the letter sent from St. Ignace shortly after his disappearance.

423 Cong Defect to S. Viet During the Past Week

SAIGON (AP) — A total of 423 Vietcong defected to the government last week under the Open Arms program.

They brought to 18,807 the number of defectors since the first of the year. During the equivalent period last year, 10,523 defectors turned themselves in.

★ ★ ★

Last week's total, which was four above the previous week's, included 313 military personnel, 97 political workers, and 13 persons from other Vietcong elements.

Court Rejects Coppolino Plea on Bail Ruling

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The 2nd District Court of Appeals has turned down a plea from Dr. Carl Coppolino to review a lower court order which denied him freedom on bond.

Coppolino's attorneys had asked that bond be set pending an appeal of his conviction for second degree murder in the death of his first wife.

Coppolino was convicted last April of murdering his wife, Carmela, 32, by injecting her with a muscle relaxing drug which caused her to suffocate while conscious.

He has been confined in the state prison at Raiford since Circuit judge Lynn Silvertooth denied a motion May 5 to throw out the conviction. The plea for review was rejected Wednesday.

Fireman's Pole Convenient for Reaching Autos

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Residents of a high-rise luxury apartment here have found that the shortest distance between two points is a fireman's type pole that extends from an outdoor service station to a subbasement where their cars are parked.

★ ★ ★

The facility was installed to enable the attendants to make speedier trips from the street level's gasoline pumps down to the third level. It wasn't long until tenants discovered that sliding down the pole to reach their cars was not only quicker than the stairs, but fun, too.

Two Found Guilty of Aiding Escapees

Two of three youths charged with aiding three escapees from Ionia State Reformatory in May were tried and found guilty yesterday by Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead.

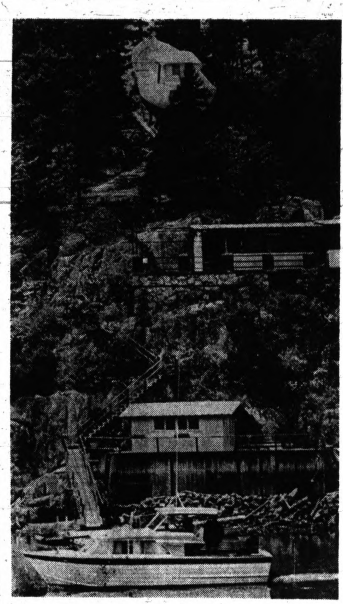

Sentencing is scheduled for Aug. 1. Maximum penalty for the misdemeanor of concealing and harboring an escaped prison felon is 90 days in jail, a $100 fine or both.

Found guilty were John J. Larson, 22, and Gerald L. Taylor, 21, both of 9351 Big Lake, Springfield Township.

Hempstead dismissed the same charge against Michael D. Taylor, 19, of 1551 Petrolia, West Bloomfield Township.

These three along with Jerry L. Harrison, 20, of 3748 Oakview, Waterford Township, and William H. Dye, 20, of 562 Cameron all were charged with concealing and harboring the convicts prior to the capture of the escapees May 29 by State Police.

Harrison previously had been found guilty by Hempstead, and Dye has demanded and is awaiting a jury trial.

OU Laborers Will Vote on New Contract

Members of Local 1418 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes at Oakland University will be asked tonight to approve a new one-year contract.

Local President James Oates said that details of the contract would not be made public until after it was presented to the membership.

"As spokesman for the bargaining unit, I can say that we feel it is a good contract, and that we will recommend that it be accepted," said Oates. "We are quite pleased with it."

The contract covers all 160 laborers at the university, according to Oates. They include skilled tradesmen, grounds keepers, food and cleaning service employes.

★ ★ ★

If ratified, the new agreement will be retroactive to July 1, Oates said. Negotiations with the university began May 1.

CONTRACT COVERAGE

The contract, covering working conditions, economic and fringe benefits, will be reviewed by the membership at a 7:30 meeting on campus in the Oakland Center building.

Tires Worth $170 Stolen

Ten tires valued at more than $170 were stolen from the Midas Muffler and Tire Shop, 435 S. Saginaw, Pontiac police were told yesterday.

Investigators said entry was made by breaking through a window in an overhead door on the side of the building.

Company officials told police the tires have been on the market only a short time and thus may be traceable.

Band Faces Clean Sweep of Members

NEW YORK (AP) — The Sanitation Department Band, which has been blaring away in New York for 53 years, may strike up its swan song today.

Sanitation Commissioner Samuel J. Kearing said Wednesday that it was necessary to reassign the band's 56 members to street-cleaning duty to alleviate a severe manpower shortage in his department.

The band, which last year played 115 concerts, 80 of them in city hospitals, is scheduled to play today at Bird S. Coler Hospital on Welfare Island.

Mayor John V. Lindsay has said he would replace the band with a 45-member marching band supported by private donations.

The sanitation band is the last of the city concert bands and is supported by public funds. Lindsay cut its $393,000 appropriation from his 1967-68 budget, but the City Council restored it.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR father Alan C. Sharrow who passed away a year ago today, July 20, 1966.

Your memory is a keepsake
With which we'll never part
Though God has you in His keeping
We have you in our hearts
Sadly missed by Robert Mable and family.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Miss Universe Not Engaged to Her Self-Styled Fiance

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A handsome well-built young man named "Skip" Hunter has been heard saying around Miami Beach that he's engaged to the new Miss Universe, Sylvia Hitchcock.

"Who do you like in the contest?" the young man asked me during the finals, not knowing I was a columnist.

When I confessed a liking for Miss U.S.A., as Sylvia Hitchcock was at the time, the young man beamed and said "Good, she's my fiancee!" And when she won, he got emotional and cried. I then mentioned it to Miss Universe who scoffed.

WILSON

★ ★ ★

"I'm not engaged to anybody," she said. "You must have been talking to 'Skip' Hunter. We've been dating but we're not engaged."

"No, sir, we're not engaged," Skip said when confronted. He might have said they were, he admitted, but he had prevaricated. He said he was always finding press people misconstruing things. When Sylvia won the Miss U.S.A. title, he said, the press quoted him as saying he had dated prettier girls than Sylvia. "They misconstrued it," he said. He's a student at Alabama, too, and is a sample of the boy friend problems that any Miss Universe has after she grabs the title.

Fair Queen Admits 'Not Up on Hippies'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kate Beyerle, crowned as queen of the "Good Old Summertime Fair," is pert and modern but admits she's not hep on one movement.

Does she like hippies and love-ins?, someone asked after she was crowned Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe I've heard them on the radio yet," replied Mrs. Beyerle, who is 95 years old.

Centaur Finally Proves Itself

Rocket Overcomes History of Failure

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Centaur rocket like the one that sent Surveyor 4 to the moon last week has outlived a history of failure and frustration to become a trustworthy workhorse in America's rocket stable.

It took hard work and far more time and money than once was anticipated, but the high-powered $10-million launcher finally has proved itself.

Last week's Surveyor moon shot was Centaur's fourth straight successful launch of the lunar landing spacecraft and gave the Atlas-Centaur combination a 4-to-4 record in operational missions.

Eight Centaurs were launched atop Atlas boosters in the project's troubled developmental phase. Of those eight test shots, three were full successes, two were partially successful and three were outright failures.

★ ★ ★

Centaur's evolution as an upper stage for an Atlas dates back to 1956 when the General Dynamics Corp. Convair Division decided that a hydrogen-fueled stage was needed to give its Atlas more space launching power.

MORE ENERGY

Although the supercold liquid hydrogen never had been used as a rocket fuel, it was selected because it packs 40 per cent more energy per pound than the kerosene used by the Atlas.

Centaur's development started in 1958 under Air Force sponsorship and a year later was switched to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

In 1960, NASA estimated it would cost $216 million to develop and test six rockets to get Centaur ready for routine work in 1962.

★ ★ ★

When the development finally was wrapped up with the eighth test flight in 1966, the United States had spent $543 million on the program.

LAGGING MATURITY

The rocket's lagging maturity cost it a number of assignments, including the launches of two Mariner spacecraft to Venus in 1962 and two to Mars in 1964.

The House Space Committee said in 1962 that the delays meant the outlay of millions of extra dollars to modify spacecraft for other launchers.

★ ★ ★

Centaur's troubles ranged from weak program management in its early days to tougher-than-expected technological problems dealing with the tricky hydrogen fuel to just plain bad luck.

Air Collision Solution Tied to a Computer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A black box concept that carries the initials "CAS" may offer U.S. aviation the hope of meeting the increased threat of collisions in flight.

★ ★ ★

The initials stand for "Collision Avoidance System" — a way of using a computer not only to warn pilots of danger, but to tell them how to avoid it.

At this point, scientists do not expect to have the device perfected until 1970 at the earliest. And even when it is installed, CAS would be designed to give pilots an extra margin of safety, not replace the current air traffic control system.

The way the device would work is this: Each plane would have its own CAS computer which would measure the rate of change in distance and altitude between it and another plane.

★ ★ ★

If the range is less than a predetermined maximum, and the two altitudes are within specified limits, the pilot would be alerted.

★ ★ ★

The computer would then tell the "time to go" before a possible collision.

Next it would flash information on whether the pilot should fly up or down to avoid an oncoming plane.

One of the big stumbling blocks to CAS even when it is put into production will be price. It is now estimated that it would cost the airlines from $30,000 to $50,000 per unit.

★ ★ ★

At this price, the device would be prohibitively expensive for light plane owners. But experts feel that a cheaper and simpler system for general aviation can be perfected eventually.

Wire to Romney on College Aid

MARQUETTE (AP)—The Michigan Association of Student Governments has urged Gov. George Romney to call a special legislative session to reconsider appropriations earmarked for higher education in the 1967-68 budget.

★ ★ ★

In a telegram to the governor, Don Keskey of Escanaba, president of the association, said that if an austerity program is pursued it "will seriously harm the cause of higher education in the state."

Barbers OK Hike

KALAMAZOO (AP) — It's going to cost a quarter more to get your hair cut in Kalamazoo today. The Barbers Union Local 169 voted to hike the price of haircuts for adults to $2.25.

Boy, 14, Drowns

MANCHESTER (AP)—Thomas W. Miller, 14, of Manchester drowned in the Raisin River Tuesday near this southeast lower Michigan community. Miller's body was found in 20 feet of water.

Sir George Darwin, son of the naturalist Charles Darwin, was one of the first to advance the theory that the moon might be originally a part of the earth.

Fiscal Reform Bill Signed by Romney

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today signed into law a fiscal reform bill which revamps Michigan's tax structure and levies the state's first income tax.

Congratulating the Republican and Democratic lawmakers who enacted the bill, Romney described the program as one which is just for lower income groups and which will stimulate new business.

"This program gives us the major goals of fiscal reform," he said, "Greater flexibility, greater equity, more diversified sources of revenues for local governments and a higher level of state revenue to satisfy a demand of future public services."

Witnessing the signing were several Republican House members who participated in bipartisan negotiations in which the final version of the bill was hammered out.

The action followed yesterday's signing of the controversial implied consent bill, designed to provide more control over drinking drivers and 14 bills appropriating $1.101 billion for state operations in fiscal 1967-68.

DOMINATED SESSION

The designing and passage of the tax program, long sought by Romney as the answer to the state's growing fiscal needs dominated the regular session of the 1967 Legislature.

Lawmakers struggled for six months before adopting on July 1 the measure levying a 2.6 per cent tax on personal income, 5.6 per cent on corporate income and 7 per cent on financial institutions.

The tax takes effect Oct. 1. It is expected to bring in about $174 million in new revenue during the current fiscal year and $239 million in a full year's operation.

A court battle is expected over attempts by legislators to make the tax law referendum-proof by including language stipulation that it makes appropriations and is designed to meet deficiencies in state funds.

The State Constitution forbids public referendums on such laws.

Storm Hits Troy, Birmingham

An unusual storm broke over the southeastern Oakland County area yesterday. Some communities were crippled while, just short distances away, rain was barely noticeable.

★ ★ ★

The storm extended south into northern Detroit and closed I-75 for some time in the afternoon.

Hardest hit in the county were Troy, Birmingham and Royal Oak.

For over an hour, starting about 4 p.m., the Troy Municipal Building, containing police and fire headquarters was without power.

Most north-south streets were closed by flooding, Troy firemen from the Big Beaver station were unable to get to a truck on fire at Axtell, east of Maple.

PHONES OUT

Most phones were out for several hours.

At Big Beaver Airport a pilot-training class was interrupted when the small plane being used overturned while landing on the flooded runway.

In Royal Oak rain was estimated at five inches in a two-hour period. Water stood four feet deep at some intersections, and a bolt of lightning reportedly knocked out the police headquarters' communications system. Emergency power was used.

BASEMENTS FLOODED

In all the southeastern county area extensive flooding of basements was reported.

The storm apparently was concentrated below the northern boundary of Birmingham.

While the area was being lashed, just blocks away in Bloomfield Hills all was tranquil. Farther north in Pontiac at the height of the storm about 1 p.m., the sun was shining.

★ ★ ★

But at Woodward at Harmon in front of a string of fashionable Birmingham stores and offices water was about 2½ feet deep.

FROLICKING YOUNGSTERS

When the storm abated, about 2 p.m., children frolicked in the temporary lake.

Street Department officials said the area is often flooded and acts as a sort of catch basin during storms. "It holds the water until it can drain off gradually and stops a lot of basements from flooding," a spokesman said.

In Oak Park lightning was blamed for starting several fires. Power failures and flooding were widespread.

In Warren, Mayor Ted Bates said today he would ask Gov. Romney to declare his community a disaster area.

More than 50 homes in his city had to be evacuated to schools and fire stations due to deep flooding.

Plot in Mexico Linked to China

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican authorities say they have squelched a $1,680-a-month plot financed by Red China to overthrow the government and set up a Communist regime.

★ ★ ★

Acting Atty. Gen. Julio Sanchez Vargas announced the arrest of 13 men last night, but an alleged leader of the conspiracy apparently was safe in China.

Eleven Mexicans, and two reputed guerrilla experts, a Venezuelan and Salvadorean, faced a court appearance today to answer charges of planning a campaign of sabotage, terrorism and insurrection in cities and across the Mexican countryside.

The government named former Mexican Communist party leader Javier Fuentes Gutierrez as one of the chief plotters but said he had flown to Red China June 30, using a forged passport and an assumed name, in company with another leftist leader, Federico Emery Valla.

★ ★ ★

A government statement also implicated a member of Congress, Rafael Estrada Villa. But there was no mention of any charges against the legislator, who was said to be visiting Cuba.

Rains Cause Fatal Crash, Doom Poisoned Child, 2

Two deaths in the Oakland-Macomb county area were attributed to yesterday's storms.

Highways blocked by deep rainwater may have prevented saving the life of a 2-year-old girl from Midwest City, Okla., visiting in Troy.

Dawn Henson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henson, was dead from apparent poisoning after a frantic effort to get her to Children's Hospital in Detroit.

She had been visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Henson of 500 Trombley.

★ ★ ★

INTERSECTION FLOODED

Police attributed the death to a flooded intersection.

Police said her car had plowed through a flooded area on 15 Mile, but apparently lost its brakes, causing it to enter an intersection through a stop sign.

Her vehicle collided with another and Mrs. Detloff was thrown out, her own car running over her, police said.

In the effort to save the Henson child, an ambulance, police car and helicopter were employed.

DRANK WEED KILLER

She was first taken in the early afternoon to Community Medical Center in Madison Heights. It was determined she had been accidentally poisoned by weed killer she apparently drank.

With telephone lines knocked out, contact with the Poison Center at Children's Hospital was impossible and an attempt made to bring her there began.

A Madison Heights fire vehicle took her to 12 Mile and Stephenson but stalled. A police car and ambulance continued the trip, then the child was picked up by a Selfridge Air Base helicopter.

She was dead on arrival at Children's Hospital, however.

Navy Chief Air Crash Victim

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C. (AP) — The newly named secretary of the Navy, business executives, their wives and at least 10 children were among 82 persons killed in the flaming collision of a big jet airliner and a small private plane.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the small twin-engine private plane was about 12 miles south of where it should have been," in the crash yesterday over western North Carolina mountains.

Wreckage and bodies showered down over a wide stretch of the resort area near the city of Hendersonville in the Blue Ridge foothills.

The main part of the airliner missed a crowded youth camp by only 50 yards.

No one on either plane survived.

There apparently was no warning before the crash, witnesses said.

The smaller craft swept out of the mountain haze and ripped a huge gash in the airliner's side.

The smaller plane blew up, some of it welded to the fuselage of the bigger craft.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, A-5, C-8

The collision occurred at 12:01 p.m., just three minutes after the Piedmont Airlines 727, carrying 74 passengers and a crew of five, took off from the Asheville airport en route from Atlanta to Washington.

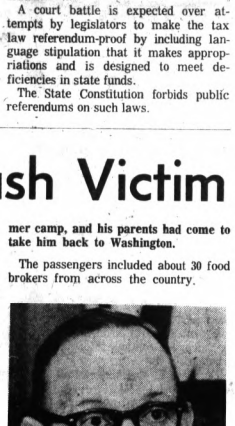

The smaller plane, a Cessna 310 heading for Asheville, carried two Missouri businessmen and its pilot.

★ ★ ★

John T. McNaughton, 46, who was scheduled to become secretary of the Navy in about two weeks; his wife, Sarah, and their 11-year-old son, Theodore, were aboard the airliner.

Theodore had been attending a summer camp, and his parents had come to take him back to Washington.

The passengers included about 30 food brokers from across the country.

Phone Bill 'Escalation'

By LOIS MANDIBERG

Last month's phone bill for a Waterford man included $221 for a call from Tokyo, Japan, to Flushing, Mich.

"Slightly perturbed," Ford Fitzpatrick wrote and questioned his son, Michael, who happened to be in Tokyo on leave from Vietnam at the time of the call.

His son was stationed with the 101st Airborne in Vietnam.

Sgt. Fitzpatrick, 21, confessed he had made the call. He asked his father to take money from his accumulated pay to cover the bill.

★ ★ ★

It seems the sergeant had placed a 63-minute call to his girlfriend, Kathy Gibbons, 18, in Flushing.

NOT TOO SURPRISED

Actually, his father wasn't too surprised, knowing that his son had once called Kathy from the Philippines. That bill was $64.

Fitzpatrick mentioned he had asked his son not to charge any more long distance calls to their home at 30 Pleasant Lake.

Although there was one call the parents did accept gladly: a $21 call from Tokyo to them.

Sgt. Fitzpatrick is currently at Great Lakes Naval Hospital in Illinois, recovering from wounds received in Vietnam soon after he made his phone calls.

ALMOST A YEAR

He was shot four days before his tour of duty in Vietnam was to be completed. He had been in Vietnam for almost a year.

★ ★ ★

Fitzpatrick worked at DiKar Tool Co. in Detroit before joining the Army in December 1965. He will be discharged this December.

UAW's Guaranteed Pay Plan Falls Short of First Indications

DETROIT (AP) — The guaranteed annual income proposal under negotiation between the nation's auto makers and the United Auto Workers union will not be so extensive as the union first indicated it would be, its was learned today.

While details of the plan are unsettled at the bargaining table, unimpeachable sources made it plain that the union demand falls far short of what had been envisioned in prebargaining speculation.

Originally, the UAW leaders talked of guaranteeing a worker a full year's income from the point when he became laid off.

Now, UAW President Walter P. Reuther has presented the actual demand in closed conferences with the auto makers, and union insiders say the proposal does not include some of the possibilities the companies found economically fearful.

It is known that the actual proposal calls for a system that would function on this basic principle: Workers with highest seniority would be guaranteed a full 52 weeks pay. The guarantee would date from the start of production of the new models each year, normally about Sept. 1. Workers with less seniority would be guaranteed a smaller number of pay checks.

★ ★ ★

If a man were guaranteed 40 weekly pay checks and was laid off after 36 weeks of work, the company would still be required to pay him the equivalent of four more full pay checks, under the UAW proposal.

The UAW thinking is that state unemployment compensation benefits, plus supplemental unemployment benefits the companies already provide, would make up the most of the cost of these four pay checks.

10 Koreans Ambush 150 Cong Soldiers, Kill 32, Capture 4

SAIGON (AP) — Ten South Korean Marines ambushed about 150 Vietcong in the jungle Wednesday night, killed 32 of the Communists and took four prisoners, Korean headquarters reported today.

The brief but successful ambush in coastal Quang Ngai Province was the heaviest ground fighting reported, but a company of American paratroopers located a Red prison camp in the jungle and freed 22 emaciated Vietnamese captives, including three women. There was no sign of any Americans in the bamboo stockade.

The Korean Marines caught the Vietcong company moving inland through the jungle about eight miles north of Quang Ngai City. The Korean squad was strung out along the trail and opened up with machine guns and a rain of grenades and mortars.

The fight lasted only a few minutes before the Communist troops plunged back into the jungle, leaving 22 weapons behind in addition to their dead and captured. The Koreans suffered no casualties, their headquarters reported.

★ ★ ★

The American paratroops acted on an intelligence tip to surprise the Communists at the jungle prison camp in Quang Ngai Province, in the northern 1st Corps area.

The Americans from the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade hacked their way through the jungle Wednesday and opened up on the guards around the camp who fled. The GI's plunged through the 10-foot bamboo wall, across a trench booby-trapped with sharp punji stakes and into the small clearing of bamboo huts.

★ ★ ★

They found a dozen men shackled in leg stocks and all the prisoners weak from hunger. They included three women, three South Vietnamese soldiers, two village chiefs who had been kidnaped and one national policeman.

Budget Section to Be Ignored

Shun Data Processing Deals, Says Romney

LANSING (AP)—State Budget Director Glenn Allen has been directed not to comply with a portion of the $81.4-million general government budget, Gov. George Romney said as he signed the document Wednesday.

The section of the budget that Allen has been ordered to ignore are deals with data processing programs.

Romney said he objects to language instructing Allen, before approving acquisition or expanded use of electronic data processing equipment, to receive approval from general government subcommittees of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees.

Such approval would deal with the nature, purpose and need of such programs, anticipated results and estimated costs.

Romney said he felt the language violated a constitutional provision that no person exercising powers of one branch of government shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch, except as expressly provided in the Constitution.

"This clearly interjects the Legislature into an executive function, and violates the separation of powers doctrine of the Michigan Constitution," Romney said.

"Those responsible for this language are hereby on notice that we have every intention of ignoring compliance with it," he added.

Romney's action drew fire from Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, who said "the selection of data processing systems to handle the work of state departments is really more a policy-making than an administrative function, and policy making is the duty of the legislative branch."

Romney OKs More Benefits to Auto Idled

LANSING (UPI)—A bitterly disputed bill making one more week of unemployment benefits available to more than 100,000 auto workers laid off for model changeovers was signed into law yesterday by Gov. George Romney.

On a full-year basis, it is estimated that 240,000 workers in all Michigan industries will share in the $12 million extra in benefits the bill authorizes.

When it goes into effect Aug. 27, the bill will allow temporarily idled workers to collect jobless pay benefits for the full period of their layoff by eliminating the old "waiting week" that was required before the first benefit check could be collected.

It also will boost jobless pay benefits by $3 to $4 a week, depending on the worker's classification, and allow the state to complete repayment of two outstanding federal obligations out of the Unemployment Compensation Fund.

The average weekly unemployment benefit is now about $50.

EARL A. KREPS

New Manager for the C. of C.

Has Been Working in Post for Nine Months

Earl A. Kreps was named manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber board of directors announced today. Kreps of 1781 Beverly, Sylvan Lake, has been acting manager for the past nine months.

He previously spent four years as the assistant manager of the Chamber.

Kreps said "As a life-long resident of the Pontiac area, I am very much interested in the economic and social climate of Pontiac. I will work with the board of directors and the members of the Pontiac Area Chamber to constantly improve conditions in these areas.

"There are many programs in which the Chamber of Commerce could easily become involved and I am sure the board of directors and myself will make a united effort to conduct Chamber affairs to the best interests of the community.

"The Chamber's programs in the next few months will be directed toward legislation on state, national, and local levels; continued emphasis on better business ethics; investigation of the legitimacy of various solicitations; and promoting better fire and traffic safety awareness."

ACTIVE IN CIVIC AFFAIRS

Kreps has been active in civic affairs for several years.

He is currently secretary of the West Bloomfield Board of Education, a vice president of the Downtown Kiwanis Club and a member of the Elks Lodge. He was formerly director of the Sylvan Lake weed control program.

Kreps, a Pontiac native, is married and has two children. He attended Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Explorer 35 Doing Well

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With its experiments beeping strong signals to earth, America's Lunar Explorer spacecraft today sped on course toward an orbit around the moon to study radiation dangers in advance of manned lunar landings.

"Everything is looking very good," said National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials as the windmill-shaped payload, officially named Explorer 35, approached the one-third mark in its 225,608-mile journey to the moon.

The $4-million craft, successfully launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, is to trigger a retro-rocket about 5:30 a.m. Saturday and swing into lunar orbit.

Bloomfield Hills Exec Named to School Board

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Donald A. Forman of 551 Whitehall has been appointed to the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education.

FORMAN

He replaces Philip C. Bartlett who resigned last month.

Forman has been active in school activities. A citizens committee he headed conducted two major opinion surveys used by the school district.

Director of the product system planning department at Chrysler Corp., Forman is a University of Michigan graduate and holds a master's degree in automotive engineering from the Chrysler Institute.

He is a trustee of the Congregational Church, Birmingham, and he and his wife have three children, Leslie, 13, Claire, 10 and Scott, 9.

BIRMINGHAM — Municipal Judge John C. Emery Jr., 45, of 132 Waterfall has been named chief defender in a private defender program set up by the Detroit Bar Association.

The private defender system is an arm of the existing Legal Aid Bureau, which represents the indigent in civil litigation.

Under the plan, the defenders will be financed in part by such sources as the United Foundation and local governments.

The bar officials said the new system will improve the quality of legal defense for the poor.

The system is also meant to cut down on patronage practices in the appointment of legal defense by some judges, they said.

$300-Million Atomic Power Plant for State

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—Plans for a $300-million nuclear generating plant near St. Joseph were announced today by the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

Donald C. Cook, president of I & M, said construction of the plant on a 650-acre site along Lake Michigan near Bridgman, nine miles south of St. Joseph, is subject to licensing by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

★ ★ ★

Cook said the plan would be capable of generating 2.2 million kilowatts of power and would be the largest of the American Electric Power system's 19 power stations existing or projected. AEP is the parent concern of I & M.

Cook said the plant is to be operational by 1972. The new plant represents the AEP system's entry into the nuclear power field after 60 years of almost exclusive reliance on coal-fired electric generation. AEP system engineers have been actively and extensively engaged in nuclear research and development for the past 15 years, Cook said.

Temporary Truces Quiet Race Tension in 2 Cities

By the Associated Press

The racial situations in Erie, Pa., and Cairo, Ill., were quiet today under the terms of truces agreed to by leaders of the Negroes seeking better economic and social standards.

Mayor Louis J. Tullio of Erie, third largest city in Pennsylvania, promised more jobs and recreational facilities in gaining the truce.

There was one shooting Wednesday night in Erie but it could not be determined immediately whether there was any racial connection.

Henry Williams, 23, a Negro, was shot following an argument at a restaurant, police said. He died in a hospital early today.

TEMPORARY TRUCE

A temporary truce was being observed in Cairo, Ill., by young Negroes who live in a housing project where snipers' activities and fire-bombing have broken out twice recently.

Demands for economic and social reform were being prepared for Mayor Lee Stenzel and city commissioners by representatives of the young Negroes.

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner had ordered a fresh company of 100 guardsmen into Cairo. And a tight curfew continued for the whole city.

Dr. Fred L. Crockett of Danville, Ill., state NAACP president, urged the Army to investigate the circumstances of the death if a 19-year-old Negro soldier Sunday in the Alexander County jail. He charged that physical evidence at the death scene had been suppressed.

In Durham, N.C., Wednesday night, a rock-throwing, window-breaking melee climaxed a march by some 150 Negroes and a few whites. The marchers met at a church in a Negro section to organize a committee to speak for the neighborhood in requesting improvements by the city.

Just what touched off the disturbance was not learned.

Fatal Jet Had Other Mishap

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The Piedmont Airlines 727 jetliner that collided with a private plane in flight near Hendersonville Wednesday killing 82 persons had been involved in a previous collision.

The $5.5-million Boeing-built plane known as the "Manhattan Pacemaker" was struck by a car May 25 while being towed to maintenance facilities across a public road from the Smith Reynolds Airport at Winston-Salem.

★ ★ ★

The woman driving the car was hospitalized, and damage to the plane was $25,000. It was out of service a week.

The plane had landing gear trouble three times last Friday. A pilot's warning light showed the nose wheel was not down, although observers on the ground said it was in place.

The Pacemaker was a three-engine jet which cruised at 580 miles per hour.

It's capacity was 92 passengers and carried a crew of five.

Mary Werth of Harding Road, Avon Township is holding a card of calico buttons. It will take some more collecting to get all of the 50 different varieties of this button that were once made. The antique humidor in the foreground contains buttons that she has not yet categorized for mountings.

Button Collector's Interest Stems From Sewing Classes

By BEA SWORDS

Buttons are more than things that hold clothing together. Whose grandmother didn't have a button tin for a bored child to sort through on a rainy day? Buttons have gathered in button boxes throughout the world, added to generation by generation. Now they are collectibles.

Mary Werth of Harding Road, Avon Township has a fine collection.

What is a button collector like? Well, this one just returned from a vacation in Nasaau and is dark haired, vivacious and loves swimming. She is also well versed in button history.

EARLY INTEREST

Her interest in collecting began with sewing in high school. While looking through her grandmother's button box for something different, she found a hobby.

★ ★ ★

A collector's world is a place where you can pay a dime for an opal (as she once did) or you can be cheated a little and know it.

"Sometimes," she confided, "people don't know exactly what they are selling — only that you collect it and that means you will pay."

★ ★ ★

Most of the people she buys from, though, are trying to help a collector make a worthwile purchase.

"After a while they know who you are and that you have a special interest; they set things aside for you."

Part of Mary's collection is mounted on white cardboard. "The object," she tells me, "is to get buttons that are all different but that have something in common."

★ ★ ★

The National Button Collectors Society of which Mary is a member has button competitions from time to time. Buttons are displayed on cards or in some special arrangement pertaining to their theme.

★ ★ ★

While she has a collection that would enable her to enter a competition she has not done so yet.

Because button history goes back as far as the wearing of clothes, there are thousands of different kinds. They have been made from almost every substance known to man and have an incredible range of design.

Some buttons are inlaid with tin-type photographs, lithographs or tiny figures depicting events in history, opera and literature. Buttons used to be sold at stage and opera performances as souvenirs.

★ ★ ★

Mary has several "paper weight" buttons — these are miniature glass paper weights from the art glass era.

★ ★ ★

AGES UNKNOWN

Buttons reside in Jack Benny atmosphere. Their ages are difficult to determine with accuracy. Often the pages in button publications tell what you are collecting — but discreetly leave the dates off.

★ ★ ★

Mary's prized acquisitions are four large buttons that appear at first to be figurines. They are rare Netsuke buttons from Japan — used to fasten the sashes of men's kimonos. The carving is done by hand and every line and material fold is perfect.

She bought them easily at an auction when no one else identified them.

★ ★ ★

Working on the button collection is reserved for winter — but right now she is gathering calico buttons for a new display.

This makes for many spur-of-the-moment trips to antique shops, shows and thrift shops in small Michigan towns.

★ ★ ★

While some antiquing magazines have several pages devoted to trading and buying buttons Mary emphasizes that the real fun in collecting is getting out to meet people and see places.

Miss Korreck Plans Wedding in October

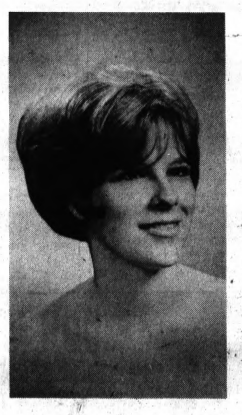

Oct. 6 vows at St. Hugo of the Hills Church are planned by Margaret Ann Korreck and Michael D. DeVar.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Korreck of Bridle Road.

Her fiance is the son of Mrs. Henry DeVar of Scottsdale, Ariz, and the late Mr. DeVar.

★ ★ ★

They attended University of Detroit and Arizona State University, respectively, where he was a member of Phi Alpha Chi fraternity.

Nancy Wold and Arthur Knight Bell are planning a wedding in November. They are graduates of Roanoke College in Salem, Va. and Adrian College, respectively. Parents are the Arthur M. Wolds of West Hartford, Conn., and the Arthur Bells of Spokane Drive.

Women's

Gift Obligation Is Too Steep for This Girl

ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I work as a part-time employe in a small office, two full-time girls, myself and three men. When it comes to gifts, one of the girls takes up the collection.

In my opinion she has always gone overboard and makes each contribution a bit stiff. I have told her in the past that, as a part-time worker, my earnings are much lower than theirs.

Recently I told this woman that I was willing to donate two dollars per gift and that was all. She said that I could not have my name on the card unless I contributed an equal amount. This has caused hard feelings.

★ ★ ★

I said that I would take care of any gift giving myself and she should exclude me from further collections. Was I being cheap in not going along with her? — Marge.

Dear Marge: You were not being cheap, just sensible. She should not expect you to contribute as much as those who earn more. Stick to your guns, and give a present separately — for what you can afford.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: When a family with teen-agers receives an invitation to a relative's wedding and it is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, doesn't this mean that the children are not invited? — Ellen Kaye

Dear Mrs. Kaye: Yes. I can't emphasize strongly enough that an invitation to Mr. and Mrs. does not include children of any age. Only when "and family" is added or they receive their own invitations, may they be taken along.

A Few Chosen Words to Your Son Could Stop the Silent Treatment

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I got home from work last evening my wife said to me, Buddy (our 16-year-old son) sassed me back so I am giving him the cold silent treatment, and I want you to do the same."

ABBY

Abby, I told her that if the boy sassed her back, that was HER problem. He never sasses ME back.

The wife got mad and now she is giving ME the silent treatment, too. Was I wrong, or was she?

A HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: She was wrong for demanding that you punish the boy per her prescription. And you, for letting her down. Although Buddy wasn't guilty of sassing YOU, his rudeness to his mother calls for some punishment, and since his mother appears unable to discipline him, it becomes YOUR responsibility.

A few well-chosen "hot" words from you could have accomplished more than the cold, silent treatment. Unless you are looking for a father-son team versus mother, you had better develop better communications with your wife.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and have been married to a wonderful guy for only two months, and already I have problems. His mother. My father-in-law travels, so when he is out of town my nervy mother-in-law invites herself to sleep at our apartment, claiming she is afraid to stay home alone.

She sleeps on our sofa, which doesn't give us much privacy as we have only a pull-down bed in the same room.

She has other married children she could stay with who have been married longer than we have.

Last week she spent four nights here. My husband doesn't like it any more than I do because he complained to me about it. He is her only son, and the youngest, and it looks like she doesn't want to lose him. What can we do?

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Your husband is complaining to the wrong woman, and so are you. You should ask HIM to tell his mother. If she is as nervy as you say she is, maybe all the married children should pitch in and hire a Mother-sitter for those nights when her husband is out of town.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a person who calls you up just to "chat" at midnight? She has gotten me out of bed several times. Also she knows I work and like to sleep late on Sundays, but she has awakened me at 7:30 Sunday morning. If I don't answer, she keeps calling until I do.

★ ★ ★

My husband insists that I tell her off, but I just can't get up the nerve. She is alone and I suppose she is lonesome.

I have tried not answering the phone when she calls late at night, but she keeps calling thinking we were out. I understand she does this to all her friends and relatives. How can I stop this in a nice way?

PHONE CALL NERVES

DEAR NERVES: Tell your friend (this is a "friend?") which hours she may telephone you, and if she doesn't respect your wishes, TELL HER OFF. And if you don't, I wouldn't blame your husband for telling YOU off. You owe him more than you owe this woman.

Luncheon After Hospital Gala for TB and Health Society

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Mrs. Herman E. Reichart of Long Lake Road entertained forty members of the TB and Health Society Women's Committee at a luncheon Wednesday. Co-hostess was Mrs. N. B. Carroll of Southfield.

OUTSIDE

Mrs. Reichart as patients' aid chairman had charge of this event. It was a sunny day and the many children were brought outside. The popular rock and roll teen-age band from this area "The Limited Few" with local musicians Paul Connell, David Leonard, Mike Krause, Skip Julius and John Geneovasi began the program.

One by one the children began to dance — even little tots three years old!

There was a magician, a three tier birthday cake, ice cream plus gifts and clothing.

★ ★ ★

It is an enterprising group of women who work for a much needed cause. Through their annual Cinderella Ball they raise considerable funds. Part of it is used for the annual birthday party and annual Christmas party for the children at the sanatorium.

Mrs. Joseph Risdon is president of the Women's Committee. Among the members from this area who attended were Mesdames: Lynn Townsend, James Roche, M. M. Burgess, Harold Warner, Carl Snyder, J. P. Judd and Lewis Fykse.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. J. D. Richardson Jr. who is a former president of the association and her mother-in-law, the senior Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Paul Lorenz, Mrs. William Packer Jr., Mrs. Charles L. Bricker, Mrs. Elmer W. Gerhard Jr., Mrs. David Demarest, Mrs. John L. Denman and Mrs. Leonard Meldman were also present.

Mrs. Lunbeck Returns

Mrs. O. H. Lunbeck of Chippewa Road has recently returned from a tour of the Scandinavian countries including visits to Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

★ ★ ★

While there she had the opportunity to meet, for the first time, several relatives in Denmark.

150 Said Killed in Yemen

Egyptian Gas Attack Charged

ADEN (AP) — Usually reliable sources charged today that 150 persons were killed and more than 350 injured in an Egyptian poison-gas attack last Saturday on Hajjah, a Yemeni royalist religious center 40 miles northwest of Sana.

The sources sided greenish-brown phosgene, a form of mustard gas, had been used.

★ ★ ★

Yemeni royalists say Egyptian pilots aiding the republican regime in Yemen's civil war repeatedly have gas-bombed royalist villages. The royalists have reported hundreds killed and injured in the attacks.

★ ★ ★

The International Red Cross Committee confirmed in Geneva last month that one village in northern Yemen had been hit with gas bombs. It did not identify the village or the attacking planes, but the Egyptians are believed to have the only planes on the Yemeni republican side.

Travelers arriving in Aden from Yemen said today that Egyptian officials in Sana, Yemen's capital, have warned that every royalist town may be gas-bombed if the royalists continue ground attacks on Egyptian troops.

Egyptian units were reported last Saturday fleeing before royalist forces and hurriedly withdrawing from Yemen by sea and air, apparently as a result of Egypt's defeat by Israel last month. But the sources in Aden said a counterattack by two Egyptian brigades had retaken the port of Maidi and the coastal town of Haradh.

GOP Divides District Duties

Resident Coordinators to Direct 3 Sections

The Oakland County Republican Committee today announced it has reorganized its activities in the 60th Legislative District.

★ ★ ★

The change was made because the 60th District covers such a large area, according to John Cartwright, 19th Congressional District director.

"We have divided the district into three areas, each to be handled by a coordinator who lives in and is familiar with the specific area," explained Cartwright.

The coordinators will work with Wendell Peterson, 60th Legislative District director.

★ ★ ★

WALLED LAKE AREA

Mrs. Earle Bretz, 4866 Sundew, Commerce Township, will be responsible for the party organization activities in the City of Walled Lake, and the townships of Highland, Milford and Commerce.

★ ★ ★

The southern portion of the district, Lyon and Novi townships and the cities of Northville. South Lyon and Wixom, will be coordinated by William B. Heffner Jr. of Northville.

BASE CAMP MISERIES — Sandbagged bunkers, topped with canvas, are the living quarters of units of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division at a forward camp near the Cambodian border in South Vietnam's Central Highlands. Tree stumps are the only remaining vegetation left in the cleared camp area. Full battle gear is carried by soldiers within the perimeter whenever they move from bunker to bunker.

Fulbright Wants Briefings Away From White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J.W. Fulbright says he wants future foreign policy briefings for congressional leaders moved to Capitol Hill and away from the awesome atmosphere of the White House.

"One does not contradict kings in their palaces or Presidents in the White House with the freedom and facility with which one contradicts the king's ministers in Parliament or the President's Cabinet members in committee," Fulbright told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee Wednesday.

As matters stand, said the Arkansas Democrat, the Johnson administration makes "a ceremonial occasion" out of informing senators and House members of presidential decisions already made, giving them little opportunity to offer advice.

Fulbright, a Vietnam war policy critic who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thinks "meaningful consultation with Congress must take place on Congress' own grounds with the representatives of the President who can be spoken to in candor and who will speak to us in candor."

RIGHT DIRECTION

He said such a change in procedure would be a step in the direction of the Senate's reclaiming its constitutional rights to play a stronger role in the shaping of American foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

"I have the feeling—only a feeling, not yet a conviction—that constitutional change is in the making," he said. "It is too soon to tell, but there are signs in Congress, particularly in the Senate, of growing uneasiness" over the extent of executive power.

★ ★ ★

He said this is evidenced by "a growing willingness to raise questions that a year or so ago might have gone unasked, to challenge decisions that would have gone unchallenged, and to try to distinguish between real emergencies and situations which, for reasons of executive convenience, are only said to be emergencies."

He cited as an example Senate refusal to adopt a resolution on Latin American policy that President Johnson wanted to take to the Punta del Este, Uruguay, summit conference in April.

FURTHER MOVES

"I hope that it foreshadows further demonstrations on the part of Congress of a healthy skepticism about hasty responses to contrived emergencies," Fulbright said. "I hope that it foreshadows a resurrection of continuing debate and of normal deliberative processes in the Senate."

Fulbright said such resolutions and White House briefings have been used "for the purpose of creating an appearance of congressional consultation where the substance of it is lacking."

★ ★ ★

"Arranged in haste, almost always under the spur of some real or punitive emergency, those resolutions and White House briefings serve to hit Congress when it is down, getting it to sign on the dotted line at exactly the moment when, for reasons of politics or patriotism, it feels it can hardly refuse," he said.

6 Cubans Face U.S. Charge of Bombing Plot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Six Cuban exiles have been named in federal indictments charging that they conspired to drop bombs on ships loaded with supplies for Communist Cuba.

★ ★ ★

The grand jury said Wednesday the group practiced bombing missions out of Miami and conspired to bomb British, Canadian and Spanish ships "or any others loaded with supplies for Cuba."

★ ★ ★

Names in the indictment were Orlando Bosch, Marcos Rodriguez Ramos, Barbaro Balan Garcia, Louis Bertot, Jose Antonio Mulet and Jose Diaz Morejon.

★ ★ ★

Bosch, head of the Insurrectional Recovery Movement, was found innocent last year of a charge of threatening death to other Cuban exiles unless they gave him money to fight Fidel Castro.

★ ★ ★

Asst. U.S. Atty. Donald Bierman said the arrests were made last January when two of the men attempted to board a plane loaded with three 100-pound bombs, three one-gallon jugs of an incendiary mixture and guns and ammunition.

Conditional OK Is Given 3 Septic Plans

After hearing appeals, the health committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday gave conditional approval on three proposed residential septic systems.

Another appeal to a sanitarian's denial of a septic permit was reviewed by the committee and the owners were advised to further explore their lot for location of an adequate septic field.

Septic permits were approved for Robert Harlow and Arthur Phillips for their Oakland Township properties and Armand Valente who owns a lot in Bingham Farms.

Requirements including the preparation of engineering plans for the septic systems and bringing in sand fill were among those specified in the conditional approval.

★ ★ ★

Advised to further explore his property for location of a suitable septic field was Michael Fischer who owns a 100-by-200-foot lot in the Juengel Subdivision of Avon Township.

As at all appeals hearings conducted by the committee, heavy clay soil content is the basis of the permit denial because it restricts percolation.

423 Cong Defect to S. Viet During the Past Week

SAIGON (AP) — A total of 423 Vietcong defected to the government last week under the Open Arms program.

They brought to 18,807 the number of defectors since the first of the year. During the equivalent period last year, 10,523 defectors turned themselves in.

★ ★ ★

Last week's total, which was four above the previous week's, included 313 military personnel, 97 political workers, and 13 persons from other Vietcong elements.

Fireman's Pole Convenient for Reaching Autos

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Residents of a high-rise luxury apartment here have found that the shortest distance between two points is a fireman's type pole that extends from an outdoor service station to a subbasement where their cars are parked.

★ ★ ★

The facility was installed to enable the attendants to make speedier trips from the street level's gasoline pumps down to the third level. It wasn't long until tenants discovered that sliding down the pole to reach their cars was not only quicker than the stairs, but fun, too.

U.S. Structure at Expo to Be Given to Montreal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will give the City of Montreal the 20-story-high geodesic dome housing the American exhibit at Canada's Expo 67, the U.S. Information Agency said today.

USIA chief Leonard H. Marks will formally present the big structure to Montreal's Mayor Jean Drapeau today as "a symbol of the warm friendship between Canada and the United States."

★ ★ ★

A USIA spokesman estimated the cost of the 200-foot-high dome — the tallest building at the site of the Canadian exposition — at about $5.6 million. He said the U.S. exhibits inside would be removed when Expo 67 closes in late October.

The dome has a spherical diameter of 250 feet, encloses a volume of 6.7 million cubic feet and is relatively lightweight because of its frame of piping covered by transparent plastic panels.

★ ★ ★

USIA said the Canadians have not yet decided how they might use the dome pavilion. It noted the Canadian government is considering turning the entire Expo 67 site into an international research and development center.

The car club and Rotary club are providing picnic lunches for the youngsters.

Afterward children will be given rides in the antique cars owned by the club members.

Tax Increase to Be Pushed for Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee plans to push for a hike in the payroll tax for medicare to meet skyrocketing increases in hospital and medical costs.

That's the word from congressional sources, who indicated Wednesday government estimates of hikes in such costs were off better than 100 per cent.

The committee originally believed President Johnson's plan to extend medicare to the disabled as well as aged could be accomplished by upping the taxable base of an individual's income from $6,600 to $7,800.

But sources said the panel has found that hospital charges, expected to jump about 7 per cent a year, instead are climbing at a 15 per cent rate.

Sources said the panel informally has decided in a Social Security tax boost equivalent of four-tenths of 1 per cent or the tax base of $7,800, half paid by the employer, half by the employe.

Other planned increases in taxes I to expand Social Security coverage and benefits — could cause a jump of more than $100 a year from employes earning $7,800 or more, it's estimated.

Youth's Body Found in State

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The body of a 19-year-old Mackinac College freshman, missing since mid-February, was discovered Wednesday in a densely wooded area on this island resort.

He was identified as Craig Kriebel of Kalamazoo.

★ ★ ★

Police said the body — still clad in snow boots—bore a gunshot wound and a rifle was found alongside.

A college spokesman said students and local police began searching the island Feb. 11 when the boy was missed but that the search was called off a day or so later when another student received a letter postmarked St. Ignace in Kriebel's handwriting.

LEFT SCHOOL

The public information office said Kriebel wrote that he was leaving school and that he was on the mainland.

State Police Headquarters in East Lansing said the boy was still listed as a missing person since Feb. 11 despite the letter sent from St. Ignace shortly after his disappearance.

Court Rejects Coppolino Plea on Bail Ruling

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The 2nd District Court of Appeals has turned down a plea from Dr. Carl Coppolino to review a lower court order which denied him freedom on bond.

Coppolino's attorneys had asked that bond be set pending an appeal of his conviction for second degree murder in the death of his first wife.

Coppolino was convicted last April of murdering his wife, Carmela, 32, by injecting her with a muscle relaxing drug which caused her to suffocate while conscious.

He has been confined in the state prison at Raiford since Circuit judge Lynn Silvertooth denied a motion May 5 to throw out the conviction. The plea for review was rejected Wednesday.

Two Found Guilty of Aiding Escapees

Two of three youths charged with aiding three escapees from Ionia State Reformatory in May were tried and found guilty yesterday by Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead.

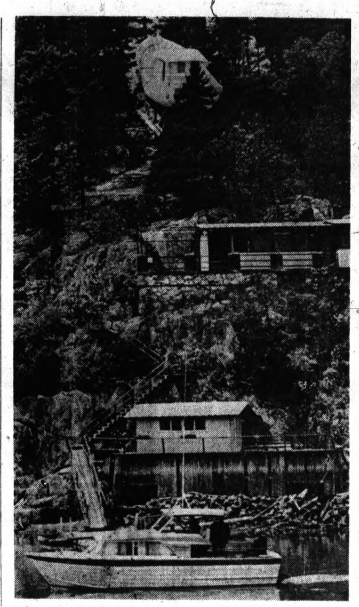

Sentencing is scheduled for Aug. 1. Maximum penalty for the misdemeanor of concealing and harboring an escaped prison felon is 90 days in jail, a $100 fine or both.

Found guilty were John J. Larson, 22, and Gerald L. Taylor, 21, both of 9351 Big Lake, Springfield Township.

Hempstead dismissed the same charge against Michael D. Taylor, 19, of 1551 Petrolia, West Bloomfield Township.

These three along with Jerry L. Harrison, 20, of 3748 Oakview, Waterford Township, and William H. Dye, 20, of 662 Cameron all were charged with concealing and harboring the convicts prior to the capture of the escapees May 29 by State Police.

Harrison previously had been found guilty by Hempstead, and Dye has demanded and is awaiting a jury trial.

OU Laborers Will Vote on New Contract

Members of Local 1418 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes at Oakland University will be asked tonight to approve a new one-year contract.

Local President James Oates said that details of the contract would not be made public until after it was presented to the membership.

"As spokesman for the bargaining unit, I can say that we feel it is a good contract, and that we will recommend that it be accepted," said Oates. "We are quite pleased with it."

The contract covers all 160 laborers at the university, according to Oates. They include skilled tradesmen, grounds keepers, food and cleaning service employes.

★ ★ ★

If ratified, the new agreement will be retroactive to July 1, Oates said. Negotiations with the university began May 1.

CONTRACT COVERAGE

The contract, covering working conditions, economic and fringe benefits, will be reviewed by the membership at a 7:30 meeting on campus in the Oakland Center building.

Tires Worth $170 Stolen

Ten tires valued at more than $170 were stolen from the Midas Muffler and Tire Shop, 435 S. Saginaw, Pontiac police were told yesterday.

Investigators said entry was made by breaking through a window in an overhead door on the side of the building.

Company officials told police the tires have been on the market only a short time and thus may be traceable.

Band Faces Clean Sweep of Members

NEW YORK (AP) — The Sanitation Department Band, which has been blaring away in New York for 53 years, may strike up its swan song today.

Sanitation Commissioner Samuel J. Kearing said Wednesday that it was necessary to reassign the band's 56 members to street-cleaning duty to alleviate a severe manpower shortage in his department.

The band, which last year played 115 concerts, 80 of them in city hospitals, is scheduled to play today at Bird S. Coler Hospital on Welfare Island.

Mayor John V. Lindsay has said he would replace the band with a 45-member marching band supported by private donations.

The sanitation band is the last of the city concert bands and is supported by public funds. Lindsay cut its $393,000 appropriation from his 1967-68 budget, but the City Council restored it.
