JFK Wants Farmers to Draft Own Program

Ex-Mental Patient Erupts

Pontiac Press Photo

UNDER INVESTIGATION — Seated beside his daughter's dog, Flint factory worker Alton C. Reeves, a 40-year-old former mental patient, reiterates how he went on a two-hour spree yesterday in which he terrorized attendants at Pontiac State Hospital and nearly took his own life when his car was halted north of Clarkston.

Fires at Painting in State Hospital

Policeman Talks Man Into Giving Up After Wild Chase

A former mental patient became violent and fired a pistol shot in the lobby of Pontiac State Hospital yesterday, then led police on a dangerous 15-mile auto chase climaxed by officers persuading him finally not to take his own life.

Alton C. Reeves, 40, of Flint was enraged when he thought attendants were locking him inside the mental hospital for the night after informing him it was past visiting hours and he could not see his 21-year-old sister, a patient at the hospital.

After waving two pistols wildly, Reeves spotted a painting of a former hospital superintendent. He shouted, "I'll get that guy" and fired once, striking the wall up in the corner of the hospital lobby, some 20 feet away from his announced target. He then ordered an attendant to open the door and fled the grounds in his car.

Notified by the hospital switchboard operator, who witnessed Reeves' wild actions, along with several others, city and state police and county sheriff's deputies took off in pursuit.

First in the stream of patrol cars chasing Reeves north on Dixie Highway and then on M15, state troopers attempted to force Reeves to the side of the road. Each time they drew abreast of his car, he waved them back with one of the pistols.

Then, unexpectedly, Reeves stopped for a red light at Andersonville Road in Waterford. Police didn't dare to provoke him at this point. Too many pedestrians and other motorists would be endangered.

Police cars waited in line behind Reeves' car for the light to change and then resumed the chase.

They raced after him in 5 o'clock traffic through Drayton Plains and Clarkston. Three miles north of Clarkston, Trooper Harold Wade punctured Reeves' rear tires with shotgun blasts fired from the lead pursuit car, forcing him to the side of the road.

When the officers got out of their cars they found Reeves still behind the wheel, pointing a revolver at his own head.

Wade and fellow trooper Marvin Anderson waved the other officers back. The two state policemen then edged cautiously up to Reeves'

WEARIN' O' THE GRIN — Rep. Michael J. Kirwin, D-Ohio (left), host annually at a St. Patrick's Day party, welcomes President John F. Gives Congress Sweeping Plan, Power of Veto

Doesn't Estimate Cost; Solons Had Rejected a Similar Measure in '60

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy today proposed a write-it-yourself program for American farmers.

Under the plan, farmers themselves would be authorized to draft and adopt, subject to congressional veto, a sweeping new series of crop-by-crop farm marketing control programs to cut surpluses and boost farm income.

Congress, which rejected a similar plan last year, would be relieved of the chore of writing farm law.

The plan, presented in a 6,800-word message to Congress, is aimed at carrying out Kennedy's campaign promise to seek to lift farmers' income to equality with the income of city dwellers.

The President also outlined plans to greatly expand distribution of food to the needy at home and abroad.

'ACTION ESSENTIAL'

Kennedy said effective action to bolster the farm economy is essential if the nation itself is not to be threatened.

Painting a picture of low incomes and dwindling rural buying power, the President said it is "deeply in the interest of all Americans that our agriculture be not only progressive but prosperous."

Broadened use of food supplies for the needy, he said, would help solve the pressing problems of low farm incomes and the costly government purchase and storage of surpluses, which now total about $9.5 billion.

The idea of letting farmers themselves draft their programs was proposed in several farm bills introduced in the last Congress.

Under the Kennedy proposals,

Sen. Hart Can't See It

U.S. Parochial Loans Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said today he doubts Congress will enact a program of federal loans for private and church-related schools.

Hart, a Roman Catholic, told a news conference he believes such a program would be constitutional and favors adding it to President Kennedy's $2.3-billion measure for aid to public schools—if that would not lead to defeat of the entire program.

But Hart questioned that the Senate would approve loans for private and parochial schools.

"I doubt if there are votes to do it, either by an amendment or a separate bill," he said.

At these hearings of a House education subcommittee Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., spoke of tax deductions for parochial school expenses as getting study in place of loans.

Thompson, sponsor of the administration's bill, is presiding over the hearings.

He said he and others in the legislative and executive branches are considering what he called three alternatives designed to meet the argument that Catholic schools should have some form of federal aid.

He said one way would be to include it in the bill now under consideration, another to put it in a separate bill, and a third approach would be to offer tax deductions to parents for parochial school expenses.

The subcommittee heard arguments on both sides of the loan question.

Pontiac Sales High in March

Car Turnover 11,185 1st 10 Days This Month; Best in 1961

Retail sales by Pontiac dealers during the first 10 days of March totaled 11,185 new cars, representing the division's best 10-day sales performance of 1961 and a 17 per cent increase over the previous 10 days, it was announced today by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager.

The sales total also shows a 5 per cent increase over the same period in 1960, Knudsen pointed out.

"This substantiates our confidence that the automobile business is now on the upturn and that 1961 will be a good year for Pontiac."

Included in the 11,185 total were 7,980 Pontiacs, Knudsen said, indicating a 19 per cent advance in the division's medium-priced car sales.

Soviet Demands Congo Talk Start

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today demanded that the U.N. General Assembly begin full debate on the Congo problem before the end of the week. The Soviet demand was contained in a letter from Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to Assembly President Frederick H. Boland of Ireland.

The vote on today's resolution was 74-0 with nine abstentions. The South African delegation did not vote.

In London, Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd offered to maintain financial and trade ties with Britain even after breaking away from the commonwealth.

His statement was promptly welcomed by Prime Minister Macmillan.

Macmillan said that circumstances "make it inevitable" that South Africa withdraw from the British Commonwealth.

'ONLY WAY OUT'

But Macmillan, while calling the South African action "the only dignified way out," left the door open for possible South African Commonwealth membership in the future.

"We intend to co-operate fully in matters of common interest," Macmillan told the House of Commons. He also expressed hope that in the future South Africa could "once more play her part in the Commonwealth."

Macmillan had led the fight to try to keep South Africa in the British family of nations in spite of the antagonism of all the 11 other Commonwealth members to Verwoerd's white supremacy policies.

The approved U.N. resolution asserted that the South African

300 Utica Students Flee as Steam Boiler Explodes

Some 300 persons, most of them students rehearsing for a school play, stampeded to safety last night after a boiler in Utica High School exploded with a roar that was heard two miles away.

A 16-year-old girl was hurt in the rush for the exits when the blast shook the brick and steel school building in Shelby Township.

Marsha Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foster of 46031 Waco St., Shelby Township, tripped and struck her head on a locker.

She was reported in fair condition today at Mount Clemens General Hospital. Nurses at the hospital said the extent of her injuries was still unknown this morning.

Shelby Township Fire Chief Clyde Schmidt was investigating the accident today. He said the cause of the explosion was still undetermined.

One of the gas-fired steam boilers was badly damaged, he said, and glass windows forming the exterior of the furnace room were blown out in the blast.

The windows were designed to divert the force of any boiler explosion away from the school, the fire chief explained.

It was the second major mishap of the day covered by the township fire department, which was called out at 3 p.m. to help fight a $25,000 fire at two coal and straw storage sheds in Utica at 3 p.m.

Damage caused by the explosion was estimated at $5,000.

The Utica High School Chorus was staging a dress rehearsal for the musical, "Carousel," in the school auditorium when the blast shook the building.

The boiler room is on the same floor as the auditorium in which the students were rehearsing. However, no one was near the furnace room at the time of the explosion shortly after 10:45 p.m.

The room where the blast occurred is about 200 to 300 yards away from the auditorium, according to Shelby Township police. The high school is at 47255 Shelby Road.

Classes were held on regular schedules today at the high school. The explosion also will cause no change in plans for presentation of the school play. It will be held at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow.

EXPLOSION SCENE — A special "pop'out" window section, shown here after it was blown out in a boiler explosion at Utica High School, probably saved many students from serious injury when the blast rocked the school building last night. About 200 students were rehearsing for a play in the auditorium of the school when the boiler exploded. The building is designed so any explosion in the furnace room is diverted away from the school and through the special windows.

Snow Flurries Only Bluffing; Nice on Friday

Don't let the north wind frighten you when he blows in with blustery snow flurries. He's only bluffing.

The weatherman tells us the forecast is fair through Friday with temperatures somewhat warmer. The low will hit 25 tonight. The high will climb to near 44 Friday. Saturday will be partly cloudy and warmer.

Diminishing morning northwesterly winds at 15 miles per hour will become variable tonight and southwesterly at 8 to 12 m.p.h. Friday.

Twenty-one was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury reading at 2 p.m. was 27.

PCH Has Easy Win but St. Fred Tumbles

Pontiac Central advanced with ease, but St. Frederick took it on the chin in high school tournament basketball action Wednesday.

The Chiefs of PCH hardly worked up a sweat as they crushed outclassed Rochester, 75-34, in the Class A regional tourney at Southfield. Victory moved PCH into Friday's finals against powerful Detroit Catholic Central.

A third-quarter letdown was fatal to St. Fred as the Rams were eliminated by Ann Arbor University High, 61-52, in the Class C regional at Ypsilanti.

Clarkston reached the Class B title round at Birmingham with a 54-49 conquest of Redford St. Mary; Ortonville was a 35-34 winner over Millington in Class C at Bay City; and Class A Ferndale barely stayed alive at home by edging Royal Oak Dondero in overtime, 55-54, in other feature games.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church today announced plans to build a $6-million junior college on a 216-acre site in Ann Arbor Township. The synod said construction of the campus, two miles east of the Ann Arbor city limits, would begin late this year or early next year.

South Africa Hit by U.N. for Acts

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The U.N. General Assembly today censured the Union of South Africa for its actions in Southwest Africa.

The action came less than 24 hours after the South African government announced it was withdrawing from the British Commonwealth because of attacks on South Africa's racial policies.

Later an informant quoted Boland as saying: "There will not be a meeting this week on the Congo. It is impossible."

Gromyko said the situation in the Congo "is steadily deteriorating."

In an apparent reference to the recent agreement of Congolese leaders in the Malagasy Republic to form a Congo confederation, he declared:

"Attempts have been undertaken of late to dismember the Republic of the Congo, due to which the threat to the independence and territorial integrity of that country has grown."

Gromyko also declared that resolutions of the U.N. Security Council on the Congo problem "are being ignored and not carried out."

He said that in view of these circumstances the Soviet Union feels it is necessary to take up the Congo issue in the Assembly without delay.

He told Boland the Soviet Union expects "that you will convene a plenary meeting of the General Assembly for this purpose even before the end of this week."

It has been generally agreed a Congo debate would take place early in the current session of the Assembly, but no formal move had been made. Several African countries have been pressing for a discussion, especially since the developments on Madagascar.

PARIS (AP) — Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd today canceled visits to France and West Germany. Verwoerd was to have come here from London Sunday after the British Commonwealth Conference. He then was to have gone to Bonn next week.

Americans Held by Congo Troops

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese soldiers are holding 23 American missionaries and seven other white persons under arrest at Kasongo, in the anarchy-torn province of Kivu, the United Nations reported today.

A U.N. spokesman said the Americans—believed to be Protestant missionaries of the World Grace Testimony or the Evangelization Society African Mission—succeeded in getting out a message saying they were held under guard and were without food.

The Americans are believed held under house arrest, the spokesman added.

Malayan U.N. patrols were reported advancing to rescue the Americans from their base at Kindu, more than 100 miles from Kasongo. The Malayans have been ordered to take them to Kindu so they can be flown to Leopoldville.

BRING INDIANS

Giant U. S. Air Force Globe-

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (Katanga government announced today an attack by troops of the Stanleyville government on the village of Tambo had been repelled. A communique said Gizengist troops stationed in Manono and armed with automatic weapons reached Tambo, about 70 miles southwest of Manono, on a reconnaissance mission, probably trying to discover the positions of the Katanga forces poised for attack on Manono.

masters roared into Leopoldville's tightly guarded airport today, bringing the crack Gurkha vanguard of a 4,700-strong combat brigade of Indian troops ordered to U.N. duty in the Congo.

U.N. troops ringed the airport and five armored cars stood by the landing strip to stave off any Congolese attack on the arrivals. All U.N. military personnel in Leopoldville were on the alert throughout the night.

But despite the Congo government's bitter condemnation of the U.N. reinforcement by Indians, there was no trouble.

By early morning 200 soldiers and 28 tons of jeeps, weapons, ammunition and equipment had arrived.

MANY VETERANS

Many of the first Gurkha arrivals are veterans of the World War II campaign against the Japanese in Burma. A score of them wore medals for gallantry.

U.N. officers said the Indians would be stationed temporarily in Leopoldville, Congolese sources in Elisabethville Wednesday said they are expected to be assigned eventually to North Katanga, where President Moise Tshombe's troops have been trying to crush tribesmen supporting the rebel Stanleyville regime.

Sources in Elisabethville claimed the Indians would be used primarily to enforce the Security Council resolution demanding that Belgian and other non-U.N. foreign military personnel and advisers of the Congo governments leave. There was no confirmation of this from U.N. sources.

car. They found the doors locked, but were able to converse with Reeves through a partially opened window on the driver's side.

"Put the gun away and come along quietly," Wade told Reeves. With one of his guns still pointed at his temple, Reeves yelled a challenge for state policemen. "I've got three bullets in this gun, and only one of them is for me," he said.

A plainclothesman, Sgt. Earl Skrobeck of the Pontiac Police was summoned to the car. He too moved cautiously. By this time there were police guns, partially concealed, pointed at Reeves from almost every direction.

He did not seem to notice the guns. Traffic was backed up both ways for a couple of miles. The minutes ticked by as Reeves repeated threats to end his life with a bullet.

Police did not move for fear of causing Reeves to pull the trigger. Sgt. Skrobeck began to talk quietly with Reeves.

"Everybody makes mistakes sometimes in life . . . You've got to have faith in others . . . Why don't you roll the window down some more and give me the guns?"

FINALLY SURRENDERS

Finally, three quarters of an hour later, he did, scooping up in his arms a little brown dog and a small case from the front seat.

Reeves, the little dog, and the small case were loaded into a police car and hustled down to the station where he was questioned.

Assistant Prosecutor Anthony Renne said a commitment order was being sought for Reeves from Genesee County authorities. If not granted, the prosecutor's office will press for a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Attendants on duty at Pontiac State Hospital said they first became suspicious of Reeves when he signed the visitor's card "Bloody Brother," in red ink and left his thumb print on the card in red ink.

They recalled that he had been a patient there for two months last year, until he ran away in June.

Inside the small case Reeves removed from his car was a clarinet. It belongs to one of his two young sons at home, he said. The dog is his 8-year-old daughter's.

Reeves said he has been working in the Buick Motor Division plant at Flint.

farmer advisory committees would be created to work with the secretary of agriculture in formulating programs for individual crops and livestock.

Once such a proposed program involving controls was drafted, it would be submitted to affected producers.

If approved by at least two-thirds of those voting in a referendum, the program would be submitted to Congress. It would go into full effect in 60 days unless rejected by either house within that period.

MOMENT OF WITHDRAWAL — Dr. Hendrik Verwoerd, South African prime minister, leaves London's Lancaster House Wednesday after the announcement that South Africa had decided to quit the British Commonwealth. The decision carried tremendous implications.

Nation Tragic and Lonely

South Africa Faces Peril

(Editor's Note — Associated Press Correspondent Arthur L. Gavshon is a South African who for 15 years has covered the international scene from London.)

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — With hardly a friend in the world, South Africa's white supremacy government today faced a future loaded with loneliness and packed with the peril of deepening black-white enmity.

Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's decision to quit the British Commonwealth carried tremendous implications, both for his own apartheid state and for Britain's alliance of nations.

To the tragic land at the southernmost tip of Africa it signaled an explosive new phase in the white man's struggle to preserve mastery over the dark majority.

To Britain's wordwide association it marked a stunning shift in the power balance for the mother country to fledgling states of Africa and Asia whose people outnumber white commonwealth citizens 5 to 1.

PATTERN CLOUDY

Several questions remain to be answered before a clear pattern emerges for South Africa's future. But several definite developments can be foreseen in the wake of the Lancaster House conference of Commonwealth prime ministers this week.

The question: Will the white South Africans of British descent join Verwoerd's Boers in rallying unrepentant behind the prime minister to reinforce the application of his strict race laws?

Will the Commonwealth nations keep the door open in an implied invitation to the South African people to set up a new government with moderate race policies that could return to the fold?

Will Britain try to ease the rupture of South Africa's Commonwealth ties by offering special new trading, political and even military arrangements?

The certainties: Verwoerd's break will fan the flames of controversy in South Africa over his racial policies and the almost total isolation he has chosen.

Drinking Buddy Faces Warrant

Floyd Rowley, 44, Dies After Fight With Pal, Robert Young

Death today of an Independence Township man turned the prosecutor's office attention toward the possibility of a murder warrant against the dead man's drinking buddy.

Succumbing at Pontiac General Hospital to head blows he received in a fight Sunday at his home was Floyd Rowley, 44, of 7035 Andersonville Road.

Still being held in the county jail for investigation was 22-year-old Robert Young, 4174 Lotus Drive, Waterford Township, who police said had been drinking with Rowley Saturday night.

Later when Mrs. Young called police because her husband went berserk, they arrived to find both Young and Rowley unconscious on the floor.

Assistant Prosecutor Richard P. Condit said Rowley's death this morning "has thrown a new light on this case."

He said state police detectives were analyzing evidence taken at the scene for a possible connection of Young with the fatal beating.

The body will be at the Pixley Funeral Home in Rochester.

Avon Twp. Boy Hurt When Struck by Car

An Avon Township boy injured when struck by a car on Auburn Road at Martell Avenue yesterday was reported in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today.

Ralph J. Beebe, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Beebe, 2910 Leach Road, suffered abdominal injuries when hit by a car driven by Maximillian J. Sempowski, 23, 5638 W. Maple Road, Birmingham.

Sempowski told sheriff's deputies he was unable to stop in time to avoid the accident. He was not held.

Kennedy May Spend Easter in Florida

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy and his family are contemplating a trip to Palm Beach, Fla., for a few days over the Easter holidays, the White House said today.

He must be back in Washington by April 5 for the visit of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Except for weekends at his country estate at Middleburg, Va., Kennedy has remained in Washington since his inauguration.

Will Fight Idle Bill Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration forces in the Senate decided today to wage a stiff floor fight in an attempt to delete drastic committee changes in President Kennedy's bill to extend unemployment benefits.

The decision came as the Senate prepared to open debate on the measure, approved Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee tacked on an amendment proposed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., which would limit the scope of the program as already passed by the House.

Under terms of the amendment, states would receive only the amount of unemployment benefit money that they collected in the form of higher payroll taxes.

The administration—and house—bill called for states with long-term unemployment to get larger benefits.

Tax Collections for Cars, Trucks Fall $1.3 Million

LANSING — More than 50,000 fewer vehicles have been registered in Michigan this year than last year, and revenue from motor vehicle weight taxes has fallen one and one-third million dollars.

James M. Hare, Secretary of State, reveals that tax collections on cars, trucks and trailers fell $1,330,303 from $30,185,881 in the first four months of the 1960 license year to $28,865,577 in the comparable period in the 1961 plate year.

During the four months of the 1960 license year 1,550,092 vehicles were registered compared with 1,500,003 licensed during the same time in 1961.

"There is little doubt that this is an indication of current unemployment and poor business conditions in Michigan," Hare said.

"It is not unlikely that at year's end, with improved economic conditions, our total registration for 1961 will exceed that of 1960.

France produces 60 million plus tons of coal a year. The U.S. produces the same amount in about two months.

BIRMINGHAM — School Supt. Otis M. Dickey announced today that a planning conference involving 200 members of the community, the board of education, school staff and outside resource people will be held the week of April 3-7.

Planning for the conference is currently under way with the assistance of the administrative council of the school district, Dickey said.

"We have organized the planning conference as one means of encouraging and promoting an exchange of ideas among representatives of the several groups having mutual concerns and interests for the total welfare of the school system."

Dickey explained that the council feels that such an exchange of ideas is essential in making the sound decisions and recommendations for which it is responsible.

While final plans for the conference are not yet complete, the scope of the program was outlined by Dickey.

The opening session, April 3, is based on the theme, "The Challenge to Educational Leadership." Mrs. Kathryn Loomis, board of education president, will preside.

This will be followed by a presentation of the board of education's goals by Malcolm R. Lovell, vice president of the school board.

Where's the Money for Interstate Highways?

Predict Rough Going for JFK's Road Plan

By United Press International

State highway officials throughout the nation agreed today the federal government must speed up the interstate highway program but they were divided on how it should be done.

Most either supported President Kennedy's financing proposal or ducked the question by saying that finding the money was up to Congress. Some blamed lagging highway construction on poor planning, and one predicted rough going for the President's plan.

Kennedy sent to Congress this week a detailed bill providing for completion of a $40 billion, 41,000-mile super highway system by 1972.

It would be paid for by extension of the four-cent federal gasoline tax and higher taxes on automobile tires and diesel fuel used by heavy trucks.

Charles Dawson, one of three Indiana highway commissioners, said the government would have a hard time raising taxes paid by trucks because of a powerful trucking and petroleum lobby.

Dawson said a big step toward saving the interstate program would be taken if Congress would "stop the diversion" of using highway money for general purposes and channel it all into highway construction.

Highway spokesmen in Nebraska and New Mexico warned that any delay in completing the highway system would be more expensive than the President's 10-year plan.

Nebraska state engineer John Hossack said the 1972 deadline would mean a great demand on the public for funds, but highway construction costs would be higher after 1972.

In New Mexico, highway official Dava Thornburg also said that stretching the program out was "not the answer". Maintenance costs would still go on."

Georgia highway officials blamed the current shortage of federal highway funds on lack of preparation during the early stages of the interstate program.

Spokesmen said states were uninformed on specifications and other qualifications.

They urged that states be provided the same amount of funds each year instead of varying amounts as at present.

China Menace Upsets SEATO

Rising Military Threat Posed by Reds to Be Main Topic at Meeting

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The military menace to the free world posed increasingly by Red China provides not only deep concern for the current U.N. assembly but will be the major topic at the meeting next week in Bangkok of the Southeast Asia Treaty Council (SEATO).

The big worry of both the assembly and SEATO is the arrogant threat of Premier Khrushchev together with that of Peiping's Mao Tse-tung, to turn the almost helpless state of Laos into a replica of the Congo, with the difference that where Moscow penetration failed in Africa it will succeed in coordination with Peiping in Asia.

Thus Moscow on Khrushchev's orders is airdropping about 50 tons of arms a day to the Laotian "rebels", back of whom stands in active participation none other than Red China.

We learned from experience that the Communist warlords, whether they sit in Moscow or Peiping, probe for soft spots in the free world at points most inconvenient to defend by military help from the outside.

If that venture misfires, be it Berlin or Lebanon, the heat and the bloodspilling is switched elsewhere.

The Congo is boomeranging on Khrushchev. Mao tested out India last year, and found too much resistance to risk an aggression showdown.

But Mao's probing of Laos showed Western vulnerability, and indicated that well equipped "rebels" could turn the trick.

So Khrushchev agreed to supply the needed arms, and Mao is getting ready to pounce, and carve out a beachhead for Communist conquest.

SEATO, which has displayed weakness and division within itself, had better make up its mind in Bangkok to stand up and fight if Southeast Asia is to remain free of the Communist iron heel.

Oak Parker Named to Democratic Post

John J. Collins, chairma of the Democratic State Central Committee, today announced the appointment of Sherwood Colburn of Oak Park, as a regional vice chairman of the DSCC.

"In his new capacity as a volunteer regional vice chairman for the 18th Congressional District, Colburn will work to improve communication and liaison between the State Central Committee and Democratic organizations in Oakland County," Collins said.

He was one of 10 regional vice chairmen appointed today by Collins. The others are: Mrs. Grace Marckwardt of Ann Arbor, Dr. Sam Clark of Kalamazoo, Lloyd LaChapelle of Lansing, Mrs. Betty Moskowitz and Mrs. Mary Lou Colburn, both of Mount Pleasant, Thomas Jernstad of Marquette, David Lebesbom of Detroit, Mrs. Lillian Barrett of Mt. Clemens and Charles Rosetta of Port Huron.

Succumbs to Injuries

MONROE (AP)—Mrs. Louise Blanton, 36, of Taylor Township died yesterday in Monroe General Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday in an auto accident.

Gasoline Dealers to Hear Speaker

J. W. Nerlinger Jr. will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Association of Oakland County Gasoline Dealers, Inc., tonight at 9 at the IAC building which is located at 60 N. Tilden Street, one block north of the Huron Street Branch of the Community National Bank of Pontiac.

Nerlinger has just returned from a week in Washington, being affiliated with the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers. Gasoline dealers in the area are urged to attend as Nerlinger's talk should be of importance to all dealers, according to Joe Haskell, president of the association.

Fined for Killing Deer

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Richard Pearson and Lavon Doremire, both of Mackinaw City, and Harry Ball of Levering were fined $127.50 each and ordered to pay $42.50 court costs by Justice Irene Curley for killing deer out of season.

Plan for Child Guidance Offered by Judge Moore

Out of all the turmoil that seems to have surrounded the Birmingham Branch of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic finances, Judge ARTHUR E. MOORE has proposed a plan that seems worthy of consideration.

Up to this time various pressure groups have been meeting throughout the County discussing means to meet the apparent deficit at the Birmingham Branch to keep it operating through 1961.

We have great admiration for all the Oakland County people who have worked ceaselessly to help solve this problem for the children's clinic in Birmingham.

However, to our knowledge the first concrete over-all plan to be submitted is the one Judge Moore outlined in Tuesday's Pontiac Press. It seems reasonable to believe that actually there is more at stake than the $27,000 needed to keep the Birmingham office open for the rest of this year.

The idea for a permanent five-year plan makes sense. It would afford an opportunity for a complete appraisal of the entire operation which obviously is called for. Also, it would help establish the clinic on a businesslike basis so that they would know where they were going without this everlasting financing problem which is not suitable for efficient operation.

The three-point plan offered by Judge Moore seems fair in that it does not put the entire burden of financial expense in any one place. Instead, Moore has asked financial support from school districts, local municipalities and families served.

To derive the money from the areas suggested it could be worked out on a referral basis. The number of children using the clinic from the various sources would determine who would pay, and how much.

Perhaps there are other plans that would satisfactorily do the job. If there are, at least they have not been publicly spelled out.

Instead of the continual "digs" at the Oakland County Board of Supervisors this appears to be a step in the right direction.

Peace Corps Designed to Use Skills for Peace

Unofficial pilot projects are testing out ideas for the Administration proposed American Youth Corps. Some university volunteers are already teaching in African villages.

A peace corps to serve with assistance programs abroad was originally suggested by Sen. Humphrey and Rep. Reuss. Extensive preliminary studies made by Colorado State University Research Foundation at the request of Congress, led to President Kennedy's establishing the Peace Corps on a temporary pilot basis with a request to Congress for permanent legislation.

These trained men and women drawn from universities, voluntary agencies, industry, labor and the like, will do special jobs through established agencies in underdeveloped countries seeking aid. They will assist in every way "against the common enemies of man—tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself."

The work calls for missionary zeal and little pay. Volunteers will be required to live in accordance with local standards and to learn the language. They will be furnished medical care and pin money and are not exempted from the draft.

At the present time hundreds of older persons from many nations have come out of retirement and are serving the United Nations in overseas jobs such as engineers, medical and farming specialists and financial and industrial experts. They have been free to take on assignments as so many others are not, and are doing an outstanding job.

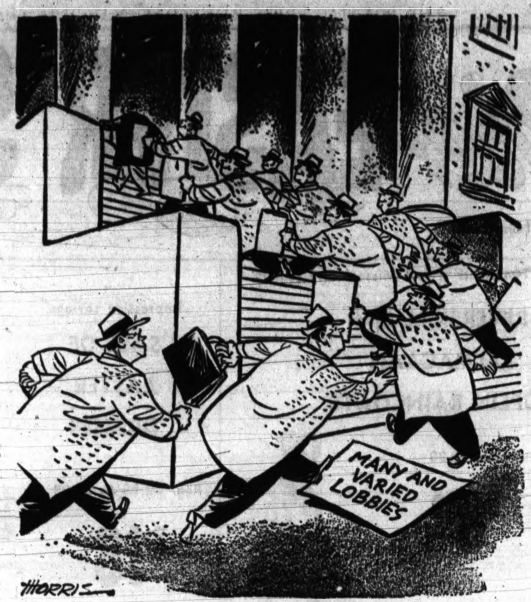
The proposed Peace Corps, small at first, offers an outlet for qualified and idealistic young Americans to distribute the benefits of technological advances more equitably throughout the world. They will, as President Kennedy says, "be enriched by the experience of living and working in foreign lands" and will perform real services to people less fortunate than our own.



No Unemployment Problem Here

The Man About Town

Doings of Century

Was Not Much of a World When Pontiac Became City

Necessity: What really is the mother of invention—see below.

of Birmingham, show that Pontiac's hundred years as a city has witnessed more innovations in our manner of living than in nearly all of previous world history.

Mrs. Fosser writes: "You don't have to go back 100 years to learn of the biggest changes. Quite prophetic are the statements in a book published 65 years ago. It names ten things that should be invented in order to facilitate a complete life, and predicts that they will soon be forthcoming."

These ten items, which the book says should be the basis for the building of immense fortunes for their inventors, now are in common daily use. And immense fortunes have been made in them, but not always by the actual inventors.

They are: horseless carriage that can be depended upon; floor covering to take the place of carpet; washing machine for the housewife; something to regulate the heat in buildings; cold handle for cooking utensils; noiseless clock; machine to make ice; device to open tin cans; cheaper fountain pen, and rubber tire that is dependable.

Quite positive that our robin population is increasing is of Rochester, who phones that anybody who thinks otherwise hasn't any cherry trees.

Mrs. Harriett Wynford

Some authentic hints on what Pontiac women were wearing when our city was incorporated are found in a style book of around 100 years ago, which of Union Lake now has in her possession.

Two Pontiac druggists tell me that they noticed an increase in the sale of hair fertilizers since our Centennial Whisker Contest got under way.

David Lawrence Says:

It's Time Business Got a Tax Break

WASHINGTON—The current recession is supposed to be "touching bottom," and "signs of an upturn" are being noted even as antirecession measures of various kinds have yet to be considered by Congress.

LAWRENCE

But the real question before the country is what is going to be done to prevent the recession that seems sure to come after the brief period of economic recovery which lies ahead.

This is but another way of saying that the Kennedy administration, despite its large number of economic advisers, has failed to come to grips with the basic cause of the present recession and the certain cause of more recessions to come.

Experience, it would appear, should have taught a lesson. The United States was in the midst of a worldwide depression in the 1930s but failed to emerge—as did the rest of the world—until the outbreak of World War II.

This created a demand for capital goods in America and finally cut down the unemployment.

"Pump-priming" for seven years had cost the taxpayers of America billions of dollars, but it was in vain, as the number of unemployed throughout the New Deal remained higher than at any other time in American history—in fact, much higher than it is today.

SAME FAILURE

The same failure to recognize the importance of encouraging the capital-goods industries is manifest under the Kennedy administration.

While members of the President's cabinet are going around the country making speeches lamenting the unemployment problems they inherited from the preceding administration, they are not doing anything themselves to cure the fundamental trouble.

The Eisenhower administration was blocked again and again by the Democratic majority in Congress, especially on the very vital question of meeting the competition of high interest rates abroad.

Today, the Federal Reserve Board is being permitted to buy long-term bonds at a discount, and this is supposed to be another way of achieving the same objective sought two years ago. But it really is a questionable device.

Actually, if the Democratic Congress had permitted the Treasury to sell long-term bonds at higher interest rates, this would have avoided excessive borrowing on short term with inflationary effects.

In the longer run this would have helped to stabilize prices, increase investor confidence in long-term bonds and thereby promote lower interest rates.

SPENDING HELD UP

While tens of billions of dollars could be borrowed this year by business for industrial projects in this country—for replacement of plant and modernization of machinery—such spending is being held up.

The two main reasons for this are that long-term interest rates are too high and the administration and Congress have failed to do anything about laws covering the tax-depreciation allowances.

Meanwhile, vast sums that could be put to work in creating jobs are not being invested in new plants or equipment. This means that a start is not being made toward the efficiency necessary to bring about lower prices.

Steel, coal, railroads and other forms of transportation, machine tools and the heavy-goods industries generally would be aided, and "structural unemployment" would be greatly reduced.

The Kennedy administration has been in office nearly two months but nothing has been done to assure a change in tax-depreciation allowances.

It takes a lot of time for businessmen to draw up plans and arrange financing. Valuable time has been lost already through the dilatory way the Kennedy administration has been dealing with the problem of "growth."

A look at what has happened in recent years is enlightening. In postwar years, the figures show that, when capital spending has been high, unemployment has been low.

What is needed is not just more capacity in industry, but better capacity, especially to offset high labor costs.

Dr. William Brady Says:

You Who Are 'Nervous' Better See Your Doctor

A reader thinks I used poor judgment when I suggested here that a young man who complained of being nervous should get out and play three old cat or other games which give both exercise and diversion.

DR. BRADY

"I had a friend" the reader goes on to say "who was given that advice and he died a few months later of tuberculosis. I al- so had a 'nervous breakdown' and am now in a sanatorium. If that nervous young man is in the early stages of TB, he should find it out as soon as possible, and since your advice may put him on the wrong track I think you should inform him of the possibility."

In the last piece printed here on the subject (Yankee Hustle and Nerve) I said at the outset:

"Two fairly common serious illnesses masquerade as 'nervous exhaustion' in many instances. These are incipient pulmonary tuberculosis and exophthalmic goitre. Quite frequently minor ills of diverse character are neglected, or maltreated as "weak nerves or some such thing."

Numberless times I have asserted here, in my well known arbitrary fashion, that there is no such thing as "nervous exhaustion" or "nervous breakdown." But this positive assertion always seems to provoke and offend a good many readers who are practicing nervous imposition — on themselves or on the rest of the world.

So, times being bad, I compromised with 'em. Revised the whole chapter, dividing the nervous and near-nervous into two great classes: Class A neurotics have something really the matter, as suggested above, but ascribe everything to nerves. Class B neurotics are the real moochers, the imposters who use "nerves" or "nervous exhaustion" as an alibi and an excuse. With that I wash my hands of it. Every neurotic may decide for himself to which class he belongs.

I print the reader's suggestion because it is good advice. Let every one whose nerves are shattered, worn out, weakened, run down or exhausted cop it well, and consider once more the wisdom of going to a physician for an examination and a diagnosis, regardless of the silly old nerves.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 500 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

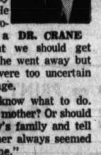
Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Let Emotions Control Brain

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE H—434: Flora M., aged 17, is in love with a young soldier of 18.

"Dr. Crane, we are crazy about each other," she blurted out. "Besides all his friends tell me that he loves me more than anybody else.



DR. CRANE

"But we did something we shouldn't, so I am going to have a baby. I haven't told my mother yet, though it's been three months.

"My boy friend left for the army yesterday. He knows we are going to have a baby. I thought we should get married before he went away but he said times were too uncertain now for marriage.

"So, I don't know what to do. Should I tell my mother? Or should I go to this boy's family and tell them? His mother always seemed very fond of me."

SEX FOLLY

Please notice Flora's first two sentences. She is like the boy who whistles in the dark to keep up his courage.

For she really isn't so sure that her boy friend loves her. She is trying to convince herself.

Thus, her protest about their great love for each other, is partially wishful thinking. She "hopes" he truly loves her!

But his actions speak louder than words: He glibly pushed aside her suggestion of matrimony with the inane reply that conditions are too uncertain to warrant marriage!

By such a callous remark, he has simply made things far more terrifying for his young sweetheart, who already doesn't know where to turn or what to do.

After a girl is in Flora's dilemma, it only adds further to her unhappiness to remind her that I have repeatedly warned you young people against letting your emotions run away with your brain.

So I simply suggest that she tell her mother and the boy's mother at once. Thus she can let them take over part of the load which she is now carrying alone.

Perhaps they can plan a wedding for the young couple and thus relieve this girl of the additional worry which she faces at the thought of unwed motherhood.

I reassured her regarding childbirth and gave her my bulletin on "Facts About Pregnancy."

She seemed much encouraged when I sent her home, but I am not so encouraged. This boy has run away from an unsolved dilemma at home.

Apparently his love for the girl was not very deep and abiding. If his mother's apparent fondness for Flora is as shallow as her son's, then Flora is going to pay the full price of her sex folly.

SUN VS. MOON

Girls, regardless of how much a boy protests his love for you in the moonlight, and regardless of how emotionally intoxicated you may feel under the spell of darkness, wait for the sunshine before you make serious decisions!

For men have a so-called "line" which they can turn on or off, just like the water faucet.

They can protest their devotion to you tonight, but say it just as fervently tomorrow night to another girl. For men can love more than one girl.

To be sure of their honorable intentions, you must know them for a long time. And you need "objective" evidences of their real devotion and consideration.

So make it a rule to wait until daylight before you submit to any man's proposition.

For sunlight has a magical effect in showing up the fallacies in a boy's sales talk.

Send for my bulletin "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for the psychological charts and pamphlets.

Asks Pertinent Questions About Courthouse Corner

What is going to be done with the whole courthouse corner in the next few months?

The new building is nearing completion and will soon be occupied by judges and the courts. What is going to happen to the old courthouse? Can the county sell it and deliver a clear title? How much is it? Will they sell part of it? These questions are of utmost importance to every property owner and merchant in downtown Pontiac. This main corner should become a major commercial center.

If nothing is done it could become a shattered old wreck with windows broken and merely a pigeon roost and rats' nest. A price should be set on this property and it should be offered for immediate disposition.

'Poisonous Spraying Needs Controlling'

People who live in sprayed areas should not have winter feeders. It isn't fair to the birds. It may be the reason for the decline in the beautiful cardinal even in suburban areas.

Spray literally goes down the drains and into the rivers and underground aquifers and into the wells—this we are warned by authorities of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Maybe it would be wise if we wrote our Rep. Arthur J. Law and Sen. Farrell E. Roberts and asked them to press legislation to give some control over spraying before it's too late. There are biological controls available in place of poisonous sprays.

'Socialized Medicine Very Advantageous'

Socialized medicine is good. So many people have benefited greatly from it, especially when it comes to having families. Of course, there are abusers, but these people are gradually weeded out.

To come to the United States our family of six needed thorough medical examinations, vaccinations, etc., all of which would have cost us a pretty penny here, but cost us nothing in England. It is possible to be a private patient if one so wishes. It isn't a law that people use socialized medicine.

America is a good and a great country with so much that Americans seem to take for granted. There is so much offered to be seen and enjoyed, but I still maintain that socialized medicine would be of great benefit here.

As usual, the labor leaders are yelling "foul" because Ford is sharing the profits with the men who make them possible—the top executives.

These men work many years to reach this position, they are not the ones who keep one eye on the clock to be sure they won't put in a minute overtime. If the work is there to be done they do it though it means many extra hours. They attend classes and meetings on their own time. If at the end of the year their efforts produce a profit it is fair that they get a share.

Tax Tips . . .

QUESTION:

In 1946, I purchased our residence for $5,000.00, and in 1960 I sold it for $10,000.00, and I plan to purchase a new home in 1961 for about $15,000.00. Do I have a taxable gain of $5,000.00?

ANSWER:

If you sell your residence at a gain, and within one year before or after the sale, you purchase and occupy another residence, none of the gain is taxable at the time, if the cost of the new residence equals or exceeds the sales price of the old residence. You must report the sale on Schedule D but do not include the gain in taxable income.

Lines Are Drawn Over Future of Latin America

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Two events, widely separated but almost simultaneous, vividly illustrated this week both the challenge and the promise for the future of Latin America.

With Castro beaming approval, nearby, the Cuban ambassador to Moscow set forth the challenge in a speech at Havana University.

The Castro revolution, he said, is "loyal to communism." And he added:

"The students of tomorrow will recall how the people of Cuba became Communist, and they will see how all the peoples of Latin America will become Communist."

At almost the same moment, in the more restrained atmosphere of the White House, President Kennedy was outlining a 10-point, 10-year economic and social program for Latin America to meet a "future full of peril but bright with hope."

At the outset, the President intends to utilize the $500 million originally earmarked by the Eisenhower administration for a similar program.

FOOD FOR HUNGRY

But also to be brought into play are other resources.

"We will immediately step up our food for peace emergency program . . . Hungry men and women cannot wait for economic discussions or diplomatic meetings."

* * *

". . . We must rapidly expand the training of those needed to man the economies of rapidly developing countries . . . the Peace Corps will be available."

* * *

This was the United States' reply to Communist Cuba's boast that it is to serve as the springboard for the communization of all of Latin America.

The President's announcement scarcely could have been more timely.

He has witnessed the imbalance of wealth which plagues Latin American nations, has seen the poverty which invites communism and the disaster which can befall nations dependent on a single crop or mineral for their economy.

MUST DEFINE LIMITS

He also noted the boundless hope placed in the new administration by these peoples — hope which if allowed to grow without a clear United States definition of its limits only could lead to disappointments and new bitterness.

In Colombia, there is a desperate need for doctors to halt the tragedy which now sees six out of every 10 children die before reaching the age of 10 years.

In Venezuela there is a need for loans to help a nation which has an income of $1 million a day from oil but which needs help to restore democracy after more than 10 years of dictatorship.

South America is a vast continent of 200 million persons about whom the people of the United States traditionally know little.

But it is the next great target of international communism, from the drought and poverty-stricken plains of Northern Brazil to the southern tip of Chile.

To Convert North San for Elderly Patients

ESCANABA (AP) — State approval of Pinecrest Sanatorium at Powers as a medical care facility effective April 1 was announced today.

The tuberculosis hospital, owned by Delta, Menominee, Dickinson and Iron counties, is being converted to a hospital for care of elderly and chronic disease patients.

Approval was granted by the state fire marshal, the State Department of Health and the State Department of Social Welfare.

Yet Boasts of Alaska's Tallest Apartment

Town Lacks Outside Road Link

WHITTIER, Alaska (UPI) — With the possible exception of Disneyland, this town of Whittier is just about the most fantastic 435 acres of land ever populated by man.

It is a town without any road link to the rest of Alaska, yet it boasts the tallest apartment building in the state.

The two railroad tunnels leading into Whittier have doors which can be bolted shut "just to keep things sort of private here."

Whittier, whose main business is serving as a port run by the U.S. Army, is buried deep in the glacial mountains at the head of a 600-foot-deep fiord 62 miles south of Anchorage.

There are three ways of entering or leaving Whittier, by railroad, boat or foot. And if the trip is made afoot, the most popular route is over Portage Glacier, a moving mountain of blue ice.

Whittier has snowmobiles, cars, trucks and tractors but none of them arrived under their own power, since the community has no road link with the outside world.

And yet, more new vehicles pass through it than any other town in Alaska. For, in addition to its military port activities, Whittier handles considerable civilian freight as a terminus for the Alaska Railroad.

Whittier was a war baby. When Japan struck in 1941, there was an immediate need for additional ice-free port facilities to supply the Alaskan Defense Command's vast string of Air Force and Army bases.

There were two objections to Whittier, both of them mountains. They separated Whittier from the main arteries of supply, and there was no way to go over them or around them.

So the Alaska Railroad went through them, drilling one tunnel nine-tenths of a mile long, and a second nearly three miles long.

HUGE DOORS

Huge doors had to be fitted to both ends of the two tunnels to prevent them from being clogged with ice during the 50-below-zero winter weather.

Sourdoughs remind the Cheechakos (newcomers) that Whittier is the only place in the world where they shut and bolt the doors of the only overland route to town "just to keep things sort of private here."

Whittier has one of the heaviest snowfalls in Alaska. In 1955, the total was 45 feet. The average for a "normal" winter is 22 feet.

The 14-story Hodge apartment building — tallest in Alaska — houses both military and civilian families and has more than 600 residents.

A school, connected to the building by a tunnel, enables 267 children to attend classes regardless of the weather.

The six-story Buckner Building is a city within a building. This heavily insulated structure is built into the side of a mountain.

It contains bowling alleys, a newspaper, television studio, restaurants, rifle range, theater, post office, library, bakery, barber shop, medical facilities, a dentist office, bank, department store and grocery as well as accommodations for all the Army troops.

Whittier's biggest civic problem is its moose.

PERSONAL HIGHWAY

The hundreds of moose in the area consider the snow-plowed railroad tracks their personal highway in winter, and the bulls are ready to fight anybody — including diesel locomotives — to prove it.

The running time of the train between Anchorage and Whittier depends mostly on two things: The moose traffic using the same right of way, and the ability of the train crews to clear the tracks.

About 800 U. S. homes are damaged by fire every day.

Civil Rights Fight Rumored

State Affairs Group Faced With Demands to Put Teeth in Laws

LANSING (AP) — Rumblings of a possible civil rights fight are stirring the legislature and the nine men on the House State Affairs Committee are confronted with their annual dilemma:

What to do about bills to put new teeth into Michigan's civil rights laws.

Backers of legislation to broaden the scope and power of the Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) made their yearly trek to the capitol Wednesday in an attempt to pry the bills out of the committee.

In equal number, spokesmen for real estate groups and home owners associations appealed to the committee to do as they have done before and bottle them up in a committee pigeonhole.

The bills, sponsored by 12 Democrats, would change the name of the FEPC to the Human Rights Commission and extend its authority to cover housing, schools and public accomodations as well as employment.

It would prohibit discrimination in real estate deals unless an individual is selling or renting his own home or housing containing less than five units which he occupies in part himself.

Similar legislation is pending in the Senate.

Wednesday, a group of Republicans headed by Rep. Thomas J. Whinery, R-Grand Rapids, submitted a bill that would accomplish the same objectives. However, the commission's authority in the housing area would be limited to structures built with public assistance.

Most of the arguments, pro and con, have been aired before the House State Affairs Committee each year for several years. The same spokesmen usually appear for both sides.

Lawmakers were slightly bored with Wednesday's hearing. One dozed periodically and another studied a Spanish grammar book throughout.

During the first year of the gold rush days, it is believed more than 100,000 persons came to Colorado.

Put in Seven Weeks at Panmunjon

Negotiator Dean an Old Hand at Haggling With Reds

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur Hobson Dean, who will head the U. S. negotiating team in Geneva next week, is an old hand at bargaining with Communists.

He has haggled with them in a seemingly endless struggle to find a middle ground. He has stalked off when he thought the talks were getting nowhere and the Communists were getting insulting.

Dean, 61, a lawyer, did both in late 1953 in Panmunjom, Korea. He served seven weeks there as U. S. ambassador to planning discussions on a Korean peace conference.

THEY INSULT YOU

He came away with this impression of the Communist North Korean and Chinese negotiators: "The Communists have been using the negotiations as a forum for their propaganda. It's all part of their psychological war. They insult you all day long."

When the long drawn out talks on a nuclear test ban resume Tuesday, Dean will be dealing this time with Soviet Communists. He has been instructed to keep talking as long as the negotiations show the progress needed to reach an agreement.

To arrive at one, Dean said, "We are going to use all of our powers of ingenuity and persuasion."

Dean has dealt not only with Communists in negotiating on behalf of the United States. He is not new to Geneva.

In 1958, and again last year this specialist in international and corporate law headed U. S. delegations to Geneva conferences on the law of the sea. Each conference was attended by 80-odd nations.

"Associates found Dean a forceful speaker whose statements were cast in popular phrases rather than in legalistic terminology.

A man who was to travel far afield in his later years, Dean went to school and worked at his first jobs in his hometown, Ithaca, N.Y., where he was born Oct. 16, 1898. He studied at the Ithaca High School and then at Cornell University, in Ithaca, helping to meet college expenses by working as a night clerk at a hotel and as a bookkeeper in a bank.

He interrupted his studies with Navy service in World War I, returning to the university after the armistice for his bachelor's and law degree.

Admitted to the New York bar in 1923, he joined Sullivan & Cromwell, a New York City firm of which the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was a partner. When Dulles became a U.S. senator in 1949, Dean succeeded him as the senior partner.

Dean was married to the former Mary Talbott Clark Marden on June 25, 1932. They have two children, Nicholas B. Dean and Patricia Campbell.

An associate of Dean has said, "His only hobby so far as I know is the law." He showed his dedication to it at Geneva, putting in long hours seven days a week and evidently enjoying it. He also spent quite a bit of his own money to entertain delegates in a manner he thought befitting the United States.

Swainson Sets Tax Plan Entry

12 of 16 Bills Ready —Others Are Due This Week, He Says

LANSING (AP) — After weeks of needling by Republican lawmakers and party officials, Gov. Swainson is ready to introduce his tax program to the legislature.

The governor said Wednesday that 12 of the bills in his 16-bill tax package are ready and the others, including his proposal for a three per cent personal and corporate income tax, will be tossed into the hopper this week.

Four Democrats and three Republicans teamed up to introduce the governor's plan for a greater Michigan authority in the House today.

It calls for a $1.5-million appropriation to get the program under way.

The Swainson plan, modeled after one operating in Pennsylvania, would extend the state's credit for up to 30 per cent of the cost of an industrial or municipal development project.

Private and local governments would need to finance the rest of the loan.

Pontiac Ex-Convict Faces Kidnap, Assault Charges

An ex-convict who told authorities he was to be married today faces prosecution on charges of kidnaping and assault with intent to rape.

Held in the Oakland County Jail is Keith D. Francisco, 36, 160½ Oakland Ave., on parole after serving time in Jackson Prison for armed robbery.

Orders for warrants were issued this morning by Asst. Prosecutor Anthony J. Renne. Francisco will be arraigned sometime today in Springfield Township.

He was arrested by sheriff's deputies at 3:45 a.m. in the driveway of the Davisburg home where his fiance, Mrs. Bessie J. Sekulich, 13115 Rattlee Lake Road, lives. Deputies reported finding Mrs. Darla Bair, 19, 435 Harden St., lying in a ditch near the driveway.

Her husband, John, 23, had reported her kidnaped earlier to Holly police.

He said that he and his wife met Francisco in a Holly tavern. He invited them to go for coffee later, Bair said, but sped off with the woman before she could get out of the car to join her husband.

Mrs. Bair, mother of three small children, said Francisco slapped her several times and made repeated advances. Twice she fled from the car owned by Mrs. Sekulich only to be caught by Francisco, she told deputies.

Francisco denied the charges, according to Renne.

Parents Out of Names for New Quads

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI)— Quadruplet girls were born to a former beauty contest winner Wednesday night and the parents began a frantic search today for a new set of names because they had counted on having boys.

William Cutaiar 3rd, 26, the father, who maintains a fleet of trucks, said the premature birth of the girls was "like a dream" and he still couldn't believe it.

Dr. J. Vernon Ellson, who predicted pretty Arlene Cutaiar, 24, would give birth to quadruplets was reported "all shook up" himself but able to pronounce the girls in satisfactory condition. They weighed from 2¾ to 3½ pounds.

Mrs. Cutaiar, a 5-foot-6 blue-eyed blonde who won the Miss Delaware County beauty title in 1955 and was chosen as a high school beauty, was the calmest person in the County Memorial Hospital in suburban Upper Darby. She has two other children.

Baking Soda Handy Item for Hunters

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — One of the handiest items a hunter can have in his knapsack is a box of ordinary baking soda, reports Austin American outdoors columnist Russell Tinsley.

Tinsley said the soda can be used in a soothing foot bath, as a rinse for woolen socks to prevent them from stiffening from fall moisture, as a balm for itching or stinging from scratches, to relieve digestive distress and to clean campfire cooking equipment.

Even the camp fire benefits from the soda, Tinsley said, pointing out that a little poured on the fire will make it burn at an even pace, and a generous amount dumped into the embers will act as an extinguisher.

Says JFK Plan Would Put Trucks Out of Business

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The dean of House Republicans said today that President Kennedy's proposed highway program would "tax America's truckers out of business."

Rep. John Taber of New York told the House Ways & Means Committee that if there is danger the road program will fall behind schedule without more money, then the federal gasoline tax should be continued at the present four cents a gallon. It is scheduled to drop to three cents on July 1.

But no new taxes are needed, the 20-term GOP congressman declared. Kennedy, in addition to keeping the four-cent rate, wants to boost taxes on trucks, diesel fuel, tires, tubes and other items.

Galbraith Named as Ambassador to India

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Wednesday nominated noted Harvard economist J. Kenneth Galbraith as the new U.S. ambassador to India.

Galbraith, 52, was one of Kennedy's top economic advisers during the presidential campaign.

Since the inauguration, he has worked closely with the White House as a consultant.

In addition to being one of the nation's better known economists, Galbraith is regarded as an authority on Asia, having served as an adviser to the governments of India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

Wants Overhaul of Foreign Aid

Kennedy Plans to Merge Units, Place Project in State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy plans to ask Congress soon for a massive overhaul of the U.S. foreign aid machinery aimed at gearing it more effectively to the needs of the 1960s.

Informed sources said that under the new setup:

Various federal units now engaged in overseas assistance would be merged into a single aid organization, under foreign policy direction of the State Department.

Long term authority would be sought to administer aid on a long range basis, rather than on appropriations requested from Congress year by year.

ON NEW BASIS

U.S. help would be given on the basis of over-all economic programs for each country, rather than for unrelated projects, and aid-receiving nations would draw up plans for advancing their economies.

As in Kennedy's Latin-American aid program, American dollars would be aimed at supporting social progress and reform, and avoiding making a few rich richer while the poor reap little benefit.

Congress' okay will be needed because legislation is required to perform the surgery Kennedy wants on the present system.

Prospects for assent from Congressmen, who are never overjoyed by foreign aid pleas, are clouded further this year by the recession at home and the flow of U.S. gold abroad.

However, informants said the Kennedy administration plans for the next fiscal year to stick approximately with the foreign aid spending level proposed by the Eisenhower administration.

A successful man is one who makes his mistakes when nobody's looking . . . . In England they play a game called rugby, in which there is a lot of shin-kicking. It's played here, too, but it's called bridge. — Earl Wilson.

French Ready to Talk Politics

Algerian Rebels Hail Move to Spur Nation's Self-Determination

PARIS (AP)—The French government announced Wednesday night it is ready to start political talks with the Algerian rebel government-in-exile on self-determination for the war-ravaged North African territory.

The cabinet communique said nothing about a cease-fire, apparently an official retreat from the previous French insistence that political negotiations could be held only after the fighting ended.

The Algerian rebel cabinet, now meeting in Tunis, welcomed the French statement as a "new element" and particularly the absence of the cease-fire condition.

"The provisional (rebel) government will certainly consider it during its examination of the political situation," a spokesman said, adding that the rebel regime "has always clearly advocated" starting peace talks on the political issue rather than the military issue.

Observers in the Tunisian capital believed rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas and his ministers would accept the French bid for formal talks.

Says He Found 'Missing Link' in Tanganyika

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika (UPI) — A British anthropologist has discovered another "missing link"—the real one this time, he claims.

Dr. Louis Leakey, a 56-year-old Briton, bases his claim on what he calls "the nutcracker man"—a skull estimated at about 600,000 years of age, found in the Olduvai Gorge in Tanganyika. Leakey has been digging in the gorge off and on for 30 years.

A few months ago he discovered pieces of a skull on the side of the gorge. The skull was that of a 16-to 18-year-old youth.

Leakey named the skull "the nutcracker man" because of its tremendously developed teeth.

When the size of the teeth and the depth of the palate were measured, he became certain that this was the connecting link between South African ape men and true men.

The British scientist still has more than 100 fragments to fit into the skull. Eventually it will go to the British Museum in London.

"Yes," replied Levesque.

Judge Day asked if Levesque meant that.

"I was in the service," Levesque said, "and you were guilty until proven innocent."

"Well, its' not so in the courts," Judge Day said when the laughter subsided, "and I don't believe it's so in the service. I'm going to excuse you."

Elephants Gave Tusks to the World of Music

IVORYTON, Conn. (UPI)—Tens of thousands of elephants once parted with their ivory tusks to provide keyboards for the family piano.

The yellowing pages of an old "Ivory Purchase Book" uncovered by Pratt, Read & Co., Inc., of Ivoryton, reveal that its parent company purchased the tusks of 47,752 elephants between the years 1860 and 1935, before plastics came on the scene.

Forgotten Texas Bounty Is Still Worth Money

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—For the first time in more than four years, Farrant County (Fort Worth) has paid a $2.50 bounty for a slain coyote.

Van W. Thomas bagged the animal and the county auditor had to look up the law to see if there was still a reward for killing the once-plentiful coyotes. There was.

Why is one of these whiskies insured for One Million Dollars?

$4.36 4/5 Qt.

$2.75 Pint

Answer: To insure that every bottle of Calvert Reserve is the most rewarding whiskey you ever tasted.

SOLID-GOLD BARS COURTESY OF HANDY & HARMAN, A U.S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT LICENSEE

Both the whiskies pictured above have exactly the same exceptional flavor, smoothness and aroma.

Why then is one—the whiskey on the right—insured for one million dollars? Because it is drawn from Calvert Reserve's "Standard of Excellence"—the whiskey that sets the standards for today's superb Calvert Reserve. This insures that the bottle on the left—and every bottle of Calvert Reserve you buy—is the most rewarding whiskey you ever tasted.

Uniform quality like this means skillfully blending at least 18 selected straight whiskies, uniting them perfectly, through use of rare grain neutral spirits. Reason: All straight whiskies vary with each new distillation.

But thanks to Calvert Reserve's "Standard of Excellence," the taste of Calvert Reserve never varies—always Good as Gold. Shouldn't you enjoy it tonight?

Dog Wrecks Owner, but Eases Charge

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP)— Leonard Griewank's dog got him into trouble but saved him from a drunk driving charge.

Griewank was charged with driving while intoxicated after his car crashed into a utility pole.

A witness, however, backed up Griewank's story that his dog jumped into his lap, causing him to lose control of his car.

Grand Rapids Is Designated All-American

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Grand Rapids has been named one of 11 All-America cities.

The award was made by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine.

The 11 All-America cities were selected from a total of more than 100 contestants by a jury headed by Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion.

Grand Rapids was the only Michigan city getting the All-American designation. Traverse City was given a citation in the honorable mention category.

Grand Rapids was cited for civic enterprise for an industrial park, new airport and over-all redevelopment of the downtown district.

City Limits Line Makes Councilman Ineligible

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—Councilman Jack Stangler told the City Council he had heard reports he lived outside the city limits and thus was not eligible to be a member of the council.

The council ordered a survey, found the city limits ran through his living room and said that Stangler, indeed, was not eligible to be a member.

Current Names to Be Used on New Buildings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Memo for archivists: New post office buildings started under the previous administration and dedicated under this one will be inscribed for posterity with the names of the present regime.

The Post Office Department announced this policy Tuesday. "We are not apologizing for it," it said.

The matter came up in connection with the recent removal of a plaque from the new post office at Monmouth, Ill., which is awaiting dedication. The plaque bore the names of former President Dwight. D. Eisenhower and former Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

RICHARD E. SPEESE

Foundation Gets Administrator

Richard E. Speese of Kalamazoo Will Head County Chapter

Rev. G. Burton Hodgson, chairman of the Oakland County Chapter of the National Foundation announced today that Richard E. Speese of Kalamazoo has assumed the position of administrator of the chapter.

Speese succeeds former administrator Stanley C. Colby, who resigned Feb. 15.

Colby, of 4128 Lakewood St., Waterford Township, had been administrator for about a year and active in March of Dimes work here since 1957.

Speese is a native of Kalamazoo. He has directed three March of Dimes campaigns in Kalamazoo County and presently is vice chapter chairman. He was slated to become chapter chairman in the spring.

Speese will be responsible for formulating and directing the March of Dimes program in Oakland County, administrating the patient aid program, and related public relations activities.

Speese attended Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo and was formerly employed by Michigan Bell Teelphone Co. as a public relations coordinator in Kalamazoo. He also was a manufacturers representative.

Mrs. Speese and their five children plan to move to the Pontiac area after school recesses for the summer. The county office is located at 75 W. Huron St.

Mrs. Speese contracted polio in 1957 and was the Michigan Polio Mother of the Year in 1958. She has taken an active part in March of Dimes work, presently heading the Kalamazoo County Chapter Patient Care Committee.

To Erect Monument at Airline Crash Site

TELL CITY, Ind. (UPI) — A $5,000 granite monument will be erected in a farm field near here soon in memory of 63 persons who died in a Northwest Airlines Electra plane crash on St. Patrick's Day 1960, the sponsors said today.

The Kiwanis Club in nearby Cannelton, sponsor of the monument, said the monument will be dedicated May 28.

Relatives of many of the victims, who helped contribute to the monument fund, have sent word they will attend.

Ready to Train Volunteers

Peace Corps Office 'in Business'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peace Corps volunteers will be instructed on Cold War issues but only as "part of their equipment" for service overseas, Corps Director R. Sargent Shriver said today.

Asked at a meeting of the American Society for Public Administration whether the volunteers will be indoctrinated regarding communism and anti-communism, Shriver replied:

"We intend to give such background instruction, but not as an essential part of the mission. It will be part of their equipment, but it is not the purpose of their going overseas."

Shriver, brother-in-law of President Kennedy, told the group that the Peace Corps, though temporary and experimental, is "organized and in business." A staff of 60 is at work and is growing each day.

Application forms for those wanting to go to underdeveloped countries to assist in such fields as education, health, agriculture and industrial construction will be ready late this week, Shriver said. Those wishing to serve in the corps will be asked 30 or 40 questions.

The minimum age limit will be 18, Shriver said, because the British have discovered that persons between high school and college age have been the most successful in similar work.

There is no upper age limit, and married couples will be welcomed to serve in some countries such as India, Shriver said.

Shriver said Lawrence Dennis, vice president of Penn State, has been at work a week supervising the training program. Volunteers will be instructed three or four months in the United States and an additional two weeks to a month in the country to which they are assigned.

"These volunteers are not going abroad to sell Americanism or oppose communism," Shriver said. "All they are going to do is serve, with a skill they already have, the human needs of the people they visit."

Road Mishaps Down in Pontiac

Accidents Off Second Straight Month; One Fatality Recorded

There were 204 traffic accidents in Pontiac during February, a drop from 252 the previous month, according to the Pontiac Police Department's monthend statistics.

It was the second straight month in which accidents fell off sharply. Traffic mishaps in December numbered 345.

There was one fatality in February, raising the year's traffic death toll to three. Through the same period last year, there had been no traffic deaths in the city.

In 33 of the accidents persons suffered injuries, while the remaining 170 involved property damage only.

The report showed 84 injured in mishaps, three less than in January.

The 204 traffic accidents in February was a drop from the like month in 1960 when 275 accidents were counted.

At the beginning of this century the average newborn child in the United States could be expected to live only 47 years.

COMPARING CRUSADE NOTES — Regional and area chairmen for the forthcoming Cancer Crusade have their plans well organized and now the planning is at the district chairmen stage. Some 40 volunteer district chairmen are currently mapping strategy for the 1961 Crusade in Pontiac, slated for April 10-11. Among those who will be busy seeing that area residents learn the facts about cancer and the Michigan Cancer Foundation are (from left) Mrs. Leonard Cotter of 706 Second Ave., Mrs. Lyle Henretty of 411 Third Ave., Mrs. Carl Reynolds of 455 Jordan Road, and Mrs. Jerome Vaverek of 1235 Dufraine St. All are chairmen in their respective districts. The door-to-door crusaders won't be asking for a penny. They will try to show you what your United Fund contributions are doing.

Extent of Work Limited by Gas Tax Share

County Maps 21-Project Road Plan

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL Jr.

Not everyone can benefit from the Oakland County Road Commission's money-skimped road improvement program for this year.

Many persons inquire of road officials why their road isn't maintained as their neighbor's. Money is the answer, Hiland M. Thatcher, commission chairman, will tell you.

"We barely get enough in staff has mapped out a 21-project program for this year, for local and 600 miles of primary roads," Thatcher said.

For the upkeep of county roads the commission must rely entirely from receipts received by the state from collections from gas and weight taxes. Thatcher said it is expected that 1961 receipts will come to about $4.2 million.

Last year they totaled $4,267,003.

"We guide ourselves on the traffic counts and where the majority will benefit," said Commissioner Robert O. Felt in explaining how roads are selected.

The commission's engineering staff has mapped out a 21-project program for this year, for which $1,462,888 will be spent by the commission from gas and weight tax receipts for projects totaling nearly $2 million. Federal aid on some state roads in the county makes up the balance.

Two of the biggest projects in the program — as far as costs are concerned — include the repaving of 1.8 miles of Eight Mile Road from Northville, to Haggerty roads, and 2.8 miles of widening and resurfacing of Middlebelt Road in Farmington Township from Grand River Avenue (U.S. 16) to tie into where the proposed Interstate 696 freeway will eventually be built.

Maintenance costs — figured at about $614 per mile for local and $2,205 for primary — soak up the biggest chunk of funds available, Thatcher said.

Another obstacle confronting commissioners is that state allotments are restricted to 75 per cent for primary roads and 35 per cent for lower traveled local or back roads.

Thatcher said of the six of the 21 projects already let for contracts the resurfacing of nearly 1½ miles of Maybee Road from Sashabaw to Clintonville Roads, in Independence Township has begun.

NEW ASPHALT COAT

More than six miles of Andersonville Road from White Lake to Davisburg roads will get a new asphalt coating in a $225,000 project.

In Pontiac Township, just over a mile stretch of Joslyn Road from the Pontiac city limits north to Lake Angelus Road will be reconstructed with 24-foot concrete in a $300,000 job.

Residents in the vicinity of Quarton Road, widened last year but unpaved, will be glad to know that on the commission's 1961 program is a $100,000 project to asphalt pave 1.59 miles of Quarton from Woodward Avenue to Lahser roads.

Less than a mile of Quarton Road from Wing Lake to Franklin roads is included in this year's program.

Some of the other major paving projects include:

Thirteen Mile Road one-half mile west of Orchard Lake to Drake Roads. This contract has been let for $24,928.

Fourteen Mile Road from Telegraph to Franklin roads, a $19,406 contract.

Other work will be on Adams Road from the railroad to Long Lake road; Bogie Lake road from Commerce to Cooley Lake roads; Campbell Road from 11 Mile to 12 Mile roads; Dequindre Road from Hamlin to Avon roads; and East Long Lake Road from Dequindre to Rochester roads.

Hoffa Is Winner . . . Temporarily

Judge Lieb to 'Consider' Briefs Which Will Stall Government Case

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Government attempts to bring James R. Hoffa to trial on a 12-count federal mail fraud indictment apparently have been stalled at least until next fall.

Some who attended this week's three-day hearing on defense motions for dismissal predicted that the president of the Teamsters Union will never face trial in the case.

U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Lieb turned down a government plea at the close of the hearing Wednesday which would have set a trial date for May 15.

* * *

"I'm not going to do that at all," Lieb told James T. Dowd of Washington, a Justice Department attorney. "I'm going to consider these briefs and, when that is done, we'll go on."

He gave both sides until May 1 to submit written briefs. An additional seven days was allowed for counsel to reply to each other's briefs.

State Insurance Plans Go to 2 Big Companies

LANSING (UPI)—Health and life insurance programs for state employes will be negotiated with two national firms, the Civil Service Commission said today.

The commission authorized state personnel director Franklin K. De Wald to negotiate the programs, estimated to cost about $4 million, with the Aetna Life Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn., and United Benefit Life Insurance Co. of Omaha, Neb.

The commission authorized the health-life insurance programs last winter. Under the program the state would pay half the cost of the insurance premiums.

WOULD JOIN CORPS—Arnold Toynbee, 72, British historian, said Tuesday night that he would join the Kennedy Peace Corps if he were younger. At a lecture to Franklin and Marshall College students in Lancaster, Pa., he said, "Time will tell what you do with it, and I have faith in American courage."

Never Mind, Dr. Green, Easy to Find Another

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Dr. Joseph Green of Madison told police someone picked up his parked small foreign car and deposited it on a lawn near a curb on Madison's west side.

Police said they get lots of complaints in this category.

His Feelings Are Hurt

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) —A member of the City Council resigned the day after the general election.

His council seat was not at stake —he'd run for the county commission and was beaten. He said this showed the voters didn't have sufficient confidence in him.

House Hikes Office Payrolls

Members Vote Money for Staffs but Ignore Own Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP)—House members Wednesday voted themselves extra money for their office payrolls but did nothing about a suggestion that they hike their own salaries.

They voted for the additional money after being told by Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts that the action really was "for the benefit of the people of America."

McCormack made the suggestion that salaries of members of Congress ought to be raised from the present $22,500 to $25,000 annually.

There was no provision for members' salaries in a resolution passed by voice vote after a parliamentary maneuver blocked a roll-call.

The resolution requires no further action, since it affects only the House.

It allows each member an extra $3,000 in the base payroll of his office, boosting the total to $20,500.

Under the complicated base pay structure used by the House, this could mean about $6,700 extra in gross salaries, depending on whether the additional money is used to hire one extra employe or is spread around in pay boosts for present employes.

Each member could hire one extra office worker if he wanted to. The ceiling on employes now is nine for members from big districts and eight for others.

The resolution retains the present limit of about $14,300 top gross salary for one employe.

There are 55 separate American Indian languages and many more dialects.

Compacts Cut Average Car Price by 5.4 Pct.

DETROIT (UPI) — The average price of the 1961 model cars is about 4.5 per cent lower than the average for the 1960 makes.

This has resulted from lower prices for some of the compact models, the addition of smaller and cheaper cars to the medium-price lines and elimination of more expensive models in that price range.

FTC Breaks Through 'That Invisible Screen'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today ordered the Colgate-Palmolive Co. to discontinue advertising which claimed that Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol provides complete protection against tooth decay.

The commission particularly objected to commercials which claim that the toothpaste forms a "protective shield" around teeth.

Will Sell Bonds to Finance Extension of Evergreen

More than half a million dollars of general obligation bonds will be sold March 28 to build an extension of the Evergreen sanitary sewer to serve Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township.

The State Municipal Finance Commission this week approved the sale.

R. J. Alexander, director of the department of public works, said that the construction firm of Ernest Centofanti of St. Clair Shores will "probably start digging immediately" after bids are open on the bonds on March 28.

The firm won the contract for the work, one of two extension arms running off the larger Evergreen interceptor sewer, in January, but work could not begin then as the low bid ran some $46,000 more than the engineer's estimate of $402,000.

The DPW had to repetition the finance commission, which previously had approved a bond issue for $490,000, for permission to issue the larger number of bonds.

The first Evergreen extension, slated to serve some 13,000 residents in the city and township, runs from near Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills and branches west along the Rouge River, with one branch going to Telegraph road and the other southwest to the vicinity of Quarton and Lahser roads.

Alexander also announced that the Detroit investment firm of Kenower MacArthur & Co. purchased $169,000 worth of general obligation bonds to finance Evergreen extension No. 2 to serve an ultimate 7,000 residents of Bloomfield Township and Troy.

Construction of this two-mile arm will begin in about two weeks by the firm of Chris Nelsen & Son, Inc., of Royal Oak, he said.

Alexander said the two extensions are the extent of the arms to be built by his department off the trunk sewer. Municipalities must build internal systems to connect to the extensions, he said. Work already has begun in some areas.

Burmese Premier Quits as Party Head

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) — Premier U Nu resigned today as president of the governing Union party as a protest against growing factionalism in its ranks.

Political sources said Nu's resignation might lead to the collapse of the party, which is deeply divided by the rival ambitions of various factional leaders.

What Justice Should Prevail When Eichmann Is Tried?

By BOB CONSIDINE

TEL AVIV — "Myself, I would not like to see Eichmann hanged by us," the Israeli driver said as we tooled toward Haifa.

"If we spare his life, though he ordered so many millions of our people killed, we will say to the whole world that we are a good people, a people big enough to forgive and forget."

He paused, weighing his words. "Of course, I did not suffer at the Nazis' hands. I'm a Sabra (native born) and do not have the hatred. Still there are many friends who feel as I did.

"A man I know, who went through Belsen, Buchenwald and Auschwitz — think of it! — keeps saying of Eichmann 'Poor man, the poor man.'"

But of course there is the other side of the picture here. A letter to the editor of a leading newspaper reads in part, "Since the day our security services caught the murderer Eichmann I've had no peace."

WHERE WAS THE PITY?

"I can't sleep at nights, everything I passed through in the ghettoes and concentration camps comes back to me again. And now along come the men of the law from various countries and cry that we shouldn't try Eichmann.

"I want to ask these men a question or two. Where were they when Fuches or some other murderer from the old Ghetto was walking in the street and he saw a child running and he called to the child and the child had to go up to him and kiss his boots and wail 'Let me live! Don't hurt me! I want to go home.'

"And that murderer took out his revolver and shot the child through the head. Who was responsible for that?

"Eichman brought about conditions like that. Where were the humanitarian lawyers when that was happening?

"In 1944 they sent my little family to Auschwitz. When we arrived they threw us out of the trucks and pulled my son away from me. He was eleven.

"I cried and begged that he should stay with me, that we would work for them no matter how hard. But the murderer answered with kicks and blows and I was pushed aside.

"The last I saw of my boy he was walking away with his hands up. Where were the lawyers of all the world then? Where was all the pity?

WHO SHOULD JUDGE?

"Now that the murderer Eichmann is in the hands of Israeli men of law, they still speak and write about who should judge him.

"Eichmann, they should be told, is in the hands of those who best know how to judge. I only wish that I and others who suffered and saw our people killed could give him what he deserves.

"What Eichmann deserves cannot be atoned by his one death."

Prime Minister Ben-Gurion has made his own position crystal clear: "I know of no one in Israel who wants to suppress the trial. But if there were any such we should not listen to them.

"If Eichmann tries to use the platform we offer him to launch false accusations, Israeli justice will confute him.

"If on the other hand he is able to submit proof of unpleasant rumors, so be it! Let there be light, let the entire truth about that dark period be revealed to all.

"Eichmann will be tried by a purely Israeli court under Israeli law passed in 1950 for the specific case of Nazi butchers. We shall give this war criminal every possible guarantee of a fair trial.

"Investigation will be meticulously carried out and the trial will most probably not be completed before three months."

Reporters on hand for next month's trial were invited the other day to search the room in the auditorium where the proceedings will take place and attempt to find where TV cameras have been planted.

The most diligent frisking of the room failed to flush a single camera. When the contest ended they were invited to step into a neighboring room and were shown video tape showing them milling aimlessly about the place.

A feature of the tape was the full screen shot of one reporter poking his nose right into a small ventilator behind which was the camera. He never saw it.

The trial will be videotaped on a nonprofit basis by the company owned partly by Lowell Thomas. It will be shown nightly to about 5,000 residents of Jerusalem by means of large screen projection. There is no television in Israel. The people here have suffered enough.

Small-Town Stuff: An acquaintance is someone you know well enough to borrow from, but not well enough to lend to . . . . As any husband can tell you, marriage isn't the cheapest way to get your laundry done free.

CONSTANCE FOSTER

Clearwater Beach, Fla.

My uncle Bill flew an old crate in World War I, and loved every moment in the air over France. In his pocket he carried pictures of his wife and the baby son he had never seen; at night he dreamed about going home to them.

He had other dreams, too, about making this world safe for democracy. He remembered how MRS. FOSTER Jane had said of him on their honeymoon, "Always a dreamer . . ." and smiled.

Anyway, they were fine dreams he had of freeing people and making the world a better place to live in. The trouble was, when he'd been back home for a while, Jane protested; he didn't do anything about making a better place for his own little fellow, Chuck to live in.

"Just look at that backyard," she groaned, "a regular pigsty; Chuck doesn't have a decent place to play."

MAKE-BELIEVE PLANES

But my uncle Bill and my cousin Chuck thought that the yard was a wonderful place. It was full of old wooden packing boxes they could use for make-believe airplanes to fly around the world together. Bill had placed a small one for a cockpit on top of a large one and rigged up two boards for wings.

Sometimes Bill let Chuck take the stick alone. At four, Chuck was a rather timid little boy, clamoring earnestly, "You won't let me crack up, will you, Daddy?"

"Of course I won't let you crack up, Son," his father assured him gravely. "You can always count on me no matter when or where."

Chuck believed it with all his heart, but nobody else figured that Bill was a man to be counted on. He held half a dozen jobs briefly and dreamed his way right out of them. Jane had to go back to teaching school in order to support the family.

A WANDERER

"Chuck thinks you're a hero now," she said to Bill one day. "But what will he think of you later when he finds that you can't hold even a mediocre job without fluffing it?"

That bothered Bill, for he knew it was true. So one day Bill put his toothbrush in his pocket and left town.

Now and then a postcard would come from South America or the Orient. Chuck saved every one of them; he loved the strange foreign stamps, and the adventure his father represented.

It wasn't until Chuck enlisted in the Air Force after Pearl Harbor that Bill came home to stay. The boy wanted it that way. Jane was older now; so was Bill. The old complaints no longer mattered so much. Her teacher's pension would take care of their simple needs.

A ROUTINE MISSION

She and Bill lived for the boy's letters after he left to fly a bomber in the South Pacific. They enjoyed a new closeness that next year.

Chuck told me later about the thing that happened out there on a blazing hot day. He said he was thinking about the folks at home when he took off from the carrier on a routine bombing mission.

"It's yesterday—May 5—back there in Centerville," he figured as he glanced at his wrist watch. Dad's watering the lawn while Mom cleans up in the kitchen."

It was on the return trip that he ran into trouble. Three enemy planes jumped him. Their bullets killed his gunner and crippled his plane. Chuck felt his right arm go dead, and blood poured from a wound in his shoulder. Suddenly he began to black out.

SAW HIS FATHER

The last thing he remembered was that his father suddenly seemed to be sitting right there beside him in the cockpit, telling him just what to do.

"I won't let you crack up, Son. I promised, remember? You're going to make it back to the carrier, just hold on. Ease back on your stick—a little more altitude. I have my hand on that artery. And God is here with us, too, Chuck. He's always with us wherever we are."

Chuck heard it all through a black haze. But he was doing what Bill said, holding the plane on course.

Somehow Chuck got the plane down on the carrier. He was unconscious from loss of blood. It was several weeks before mail from the States reached him in his hospital bed. His mother had written the letter. Chuck still has it.

CHUCK NEEDS ME

"Dad had seemed so much better lately," she told him. "He'd had a heart attack, but the doctor said he was going to get over it. I went upstairs to give him his medicine at 3 p.m., but he was asleep.

"I wasn't going to rouse him, but just as I was tip-toeing out of the room he sat bolt upright in bed and said, 'Chuck needs me. I've got to go to him, Jane, I promised.'

"I gave him his pill and told him he'd been dreaming. 'Always a dreamer, eh?' he smiled as I tucked him in. When I came back an hour later he was lying there still smiling. But he was dead."

Bill had slipped away between 8 and 9 p.m., on the evening of May 5 when it was already tomorrow out on the South Pacific, out where Chuck was in such dire need of a good flyer like his Dad.

Says State Majority Against Federal Aid

LANSING (AP)—A lot of people in Michigan don't agree with the stand by Democratic spokesmen in favor of federal aid for education, says Hugh H. Holloway of Sault Ste. Marie, Republican candidate for state superintendent of public instruction.

Holloway wired the Senate committee that heard Gov. Swainson and Lynn M. Bartlett, Democratic state school chief, testify for the bill this week. He asked an equal opportunity to be heard.

"The position taken before your committee by the governor and state superintendent of public instruction of Michigan in regard to federal aid to education does not reflect the opinion of a measurable majority of Michigan citizens," Holloway said.

Cousin Finds Reunion Touching—Even in Jail

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—"It was touching to find a loved one after so many years," said James J. Lancaster of Raleigh after a reunion with a cousin he hadn't seen in 41 years.

Lancaster and the cousin, Luther Williford of Rt. 1, Willow Springs, were reunited in the Wake County jail. Lancaster was charged with public drunkenness and Williford with public drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UPI)—Picked up by police for driving while his license was suspended, Dennis Priddle, 24, pointed out that he was only steering the wheel of a car while another motorist pushed it.

But magistrate H. R. Howitt found Priddle guilty anyway. He was sent to jail for seven days when he couldn't pay a $105 fine.

Things Have Improved in Israel – Even Food

By EARL WILSON

TEL AVIV — Ten years ago when I came to Israel the first time, a woman told me she'd waited on queue two hours to get four tomatoes.

WILSON

Today, in Diezengoff Square, which seems to have as many sidewalk cafes as Paris, you can find every food imaginable.

"If you want a kosher pickle," a New York friend had warned me, when I was starting on this trip, "take it with you."

And Max Asnas of the Stage Delicatessen was eager to pack a big box of pastrami.

But progress has come to Israel, and now it does have delicatessen. We even had herring for breakfast; yes, even lox and kosher pickles are available to tourists— as poet Robert Frost and author Harry Golden can tell you from personal experience. You can't keep Israel down.

Sitting around the Cafe Noga, an open-air Lindy's the comedians quote a line used back home by Leo Fuld at the Cafe Sahbra:

"The food's become so good in Israel, we should send food packages to America."

Father's Football Fan Even During Wedding

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The father of a Des Moines girl who chose to be married on the afternoon of a regionally important football game took a transistor radio to the church and kept it tuned to the report of the game until he was interrupted by the wedding march.

After the ceremony, he took his position in the reception line — with the radio bringing him the remainder of the play-by-play report of the game.

Defendant Remembers Debt for 10 Years

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Arthur Anderson, deputy clerk of Minneapolis Municipal Court, recently had his faith in humanity renewed.

A defendant to whom he loaned 25 cents 10 years ago so the man could meet a fine and avoid a workhouse term showed up to repay the debt.

Senate OKs Key Part of Plan, 63-27—House Passage Likely Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has handed President Kennedy a resounding victory in its 63-27 vote to pass a key part of his economic program—the $394 million depressed areas bill.

The more than 2-1 margin in Wednesday night's roll call compared with the slim 49-46 tally by which almost an identical measure squeaked through the Senate two years ago this month.

The measure now goes to the they expect to be able to pass it before the Easter recess late this month.

A House Banking subcommittee Wednesday approved a bill almost identical to the Senate version. In the past, the House has trimmed such legislation, but it appears to have more support there this year.

The bill carries $300 million in federal loan funds and $94 million in grants designed to bring new jobs to communities long suffering from high unemployment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Hart and McNamara of Michigan, both Democrats, voted to approve Wednesday night when the Senate passed and sent to the house a $394-million federal program for aid to depressed areas.

More than 100 industrial areas in 27 states qualify for assistance. Eligible areas in Michigan are Detroit, Flint, Adrian, Bay City, Marquette, Monroe, Port Huron.

100 Foreign Firms Finding Tax Haven

Happy Irish Can Brag of Building Up Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Millions of Americans will be celebrating on Friday the tradition of the carefree Irish. Most of those in the parades and various extra curricular shenanigans will even boast a family tree showing roots in the land of St. Patrick.

But spare a thought, too, for the some three million souls in the Republic of Ireland itself. They are busily working on a new image far from just carefree laughter and song—and an occasional spirit-rewarding Donnybrook.

It's an economic development program that any Irishman will tell you is dynamic. In Yankee business terms: The Irish Gross National Product—total output of goods and services—was up 5 per cent last year, about twice the growth in the United States, and exports in the last two years rose by nearly a fourth.

You can hear all this in New York, because the Irish Industrial Development Authority has an office in this big haven of the Irish. All hands are alive with eagerness to get American firms to put money and factories and skills into this grand scheme for changing the old-fashioned concept of Ireland. The stress is all on producing goods, not for the Irish themselves, but for their export trade.

In the last three years more than 100 new industries have found a home in Ireland, producing everying from ships to chewing gum.

Exports this year are expected to reach $476 million, or about $155 for every man, woman and child in the land. Between 1956 and 1959 export gains ranged from 57 per cent for printed matter to 900 per cent for garments.

IRISH CAN BOAST

The Irish, who have been known to boast a bit now and then, doubt that any other country can top those gains, or the Irish record for attracting foreign capital.

And how do they do it? With tax exemptions, cash grants, nearness to growing markets, and a manpower surplus on which to draw at wage rates considerably less than in the United States.

So the Americans and the British are producing a variety of products ranging from fully fashioned knitwear to chewing gum and dry milk powder. The Japanese are marking transistor radios at at Shannon. The Germans are making cheese at Wexford, sweaters at Tralee, and building cranes at Killarney. The Dutch are turning out pianos at Shannon, plastic pipe in Dublin, and ships near Cork.

Compare the incentives the Irish government offers with manufacturing conditions here. The foreign firm in Ireland gets 10 years tax exemption from income tax on export profits—or 22 years if he locates at Shannon Free Airport.

There is no sales or purchases or turnover tax, no capital gains tax and no extra tax on distributed profits.

The foreign manufacturer may receive outright cash grants up to 100 per cent on factory building costs, up to 50 per cent on machinery costs, and up to 100 per cent on worker-training costs.

The Irish also guarantee free transfer of the foreign firm's dividends, interest and profits into its own currency. And capital and appreciations can be repatriated at any time.

To Honor Willy Brandt

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, will be guest of honor Friday when the sons of Erin smart-step up Fifth Avenue in the St. Patrick's Day parade. Brandt, former president of the West German Bundesrat, will share the reviewing stand with Mayor Robert Wagner.

Police Use Clubs, Gas

MARSALA, Italy (AP)—Police used clubs and tear gas Wednesday in skirmishes with 1,500 strikers who work in the famous vineyards of this western Sicilian town. About a dozen persons were injured, half of them police.

The use of farm fertilizers is estimated to result in a crop increase that runs to 25 or more per cent.

Spray Painting Requires Skill

Must Be Handled With Care Not to Do Messy, Miserable Job

NEW YORK (UPI) — The self-spraying paint can is a boon to the do-it-yourself householder, but it can be a downright nuisance if used improperly.

Executives of one paint concern which recently has added a varnish to its spray paint line, warned that the spray is handiest for use on portable articles, which can be set in the backyard or a "messable" workroom for the job.

If the object is stationary, they suggest you weigh the nuisance of masking surrounding areas against the effort of doing the job with a tidy old-fashioned paint brush.

For a good job, they advised: Follow directions on the can. Be sure the paint is shaken thoroughly and shaken occasionally during a long job.

Hold the can upright, or at an angle of about 15 degrees, and spray from a distance of at least 12 inches.

Keep the can moving, leaving a light surface covering only. Two light applications are preferable to one heavy one.

When a job is finished, hold the can upside down and spray onto a newspaper until paint no longer comes from the nozzle — it is now clean for later use.

Spring Touches Europe

LONDON (AP) — Spring came early to most of Europe today. Except for an overcast in Holland and France, the sun melted away clouds from Rome to Stockholm. Springs flowers and sidewalk-cafe sitters turned out early in Italy. The temperature in London rose to 71, a record for the date.

A "ship's husband" is an agent when it is in port.

Man in Space

Planets, Stars Leave Mercury in Dust

By BILL WILKS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—America's astronauts may set some speed records, but they'll have to go some to beat the 720,000 miles an hour at which mankind already is plunging through space.

That's the speed of our local star group as it turns with the galaxy, which makes the 18,000-mile-an-hour orbital speed of the project Mercury capsule look like a drop in the cosmic bucket.

Still, the astronauts' speed will be respectable when compared with the moon, which crawls around the earth at 2,287 miles an hour—only a bit faster than the 2,905 miles per hour world record set last week by the X15 rocketship.

While the sun plunges madly through the galaxy, the earth ambles around the sun at a comfortable 66,600 miles per hour.

And while this is going on, the sun—dragging its planets with it—pokes along within its local star group at 46,800 miles an hour.

The galaxy as a whole moves with respect to other nearby galaxies at around 360,000 miles per hour.

MOVING AWAY

But this is barely getting around. Our galactic speed with respect to the most distant galaxies found to date is about 335 million miles an hour. Astronomers usually say the farthermost galaxies are moving away from us. But it could be that we are moving from them. More likely, both are moving away from each other.

So who's moving where, in what direction and how fast? And where does this leave man in his attempts to work up enough speed to do some exploring on his own?

The 18,000-mile-an-hour orbital velocity of the Mercury capsule is only 7,000 miles per hour short of the speed necessary to "escape" from earth for travel to other solar system planets, a speed which scientists agree is entirely feasible for manned craft today.

Scientists generally believe that in the immediate future man will be doing well to reach speeds of 36,000 miles an hour and that this should be adequate for preliminary exploration of the solar system.

Looking a little further into the future, experts believe 250,000 miles per hour may be within reason. This, while good enough for getting around the solar system, still would not allow trips to other stars within a man's lifetime. At this speed it would take more than 10,000 years to reach even the nearest star.

New Bill Bans Cemeteries on Refusing Burial

A bill was set for introduction in the Senate today which would ban cemeteries from refusing burial to Indians such as George V. Nash, a Ferndale man who had to be buried in Pontiac last August, after White Chapel Memorial Cemetery in Troy rejected his remains.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. George C. Steeh, D-Mount Clemens, also declares null and void "any contract, agreement, deed, covenant, restriction or charter authorizing, permitting, or requiring any organization to deny the privilege of interment because of race or color."

Six organizations representing North American Indian groups have been circulating petitions urging such legislation.

The Troy cemetery refused to bury the World War I veteran because he was not white.

We have no quarrel with the man who has lower prices. He knows better than anyone else what his services are worth.

U.S. Lawyer Won't Fight Delay in Goldfine Trial

BOSTON (AP)—U. S. Atty. Elliot L. Richardson has indicated he will not oppose a motion to delay the tax evasion trial of industrialist Bernard Goldfine for at least 60 days.

U. S. District Judge George C. Sweeney will hear Friday a motion by Goldfine's counsel, E. Bennett Williams, to put off the trial.

Lansing Measure Hits Billboards on Highways

LANSING (UPI)—Billboards will be banned along interstate highways in Michigan if a bill filed for introduction in the Senate today is adopted.

Principal sponsors of the measure are Sens. William G. Milliken, R-Traverse City, and George C. Steeh, D-Mount Clemens. Fourteen others also signed it.

"This may be Michigan's last chance to enact billboard legislation which will qualify the state under the federal-aid Highway Act," said Milliken and Steeh in a joint statement.

They added:

"The stakes are high. Let there be no doubt about it, we are in a race between those who would preempt the interstate system for commercial interests and those who would preserve it for the public—for the safety, convenience, health, inspiration and enjoyment of all the people."

Fine Place for Doctors

U. S. Force Sets Up Island Reactor Site

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UPI)—The U.S. Antarctic force has completed a nuclear reactor site on Ross Island, Rear Adm. David M. Tyree said Wednesday.

Tyree, commander of the Navy's support force, said all work planned for the now-ending summer is completed despite bad weather and serious communications disruptions.

The reactor plant, designed to provide power and heat for the Ross Island camp, should be ready for shipment to the Antarctic next November and is expected to be working in March 1962, the Navy said.

About 60 per cent of the world's farm tractors are in use on U. S. farms.

Latest Parlor Game: Know Your Geography?

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA) — Hey, gang. Here's a nifty new parlor trick anybody can do. And it's guaranteed — sadly — to amaze your friends.

Just hand out a blank map outlining the U. S. and ask folks (preferably high school graduates and elementary school teachers) to draw in the states and name them.

You can add a little more excitement by asking for Washington, D. C., Hawaii and the Philippine Islands.

According to James Matthai of the geography department at Columbia University, who has been trying this exercise around the country, there is a vast confusion among Americans about their nation.

And in a time when Red China is an air-day away and Europe an afternoon, our understanding of world geography is practically non-existent.

Matthai says that far, far too often the people he queries (mostly teachers who will be called on to teach geography) put Washington, D. C., in Puget Sound or call Florida California or place Oregon between Texas and Kansas.

This reporter, summing up popular opinion via Matthai's trick, is forced to conclude that Hawaii is a ferry ride from Balboa Island and the Philippines — the first big link in our western defense line — are at most an air-hour farther west.

Now, how did we get this way?

Text book publishers say it's simple. We haven't taught our children geography for about 15 years. Instead, we've been trying to sweeten the taste of down-to-earth facts with "integrated studies" like social history under titles like "Our Little Ethnic Neighbors."

A salesman in one of the world's biggest map and atlas companies reports his long career this way:

"This country goes through cycles of learning geography. Some years we're interested and some years we're not. It changes with the same kind of reasoning women use in selecting hats."

Now, if you're smirking at all this ignorance, brother, get an outline map of the world. The Worldmark Encyclopedia of the Nations lists 22 new independent countries that have been born in the past two years.

So, in a steady hand, please draw the Malagasy Republic, Gabon, Upper Volta and the members of what was supposed to be the Mali Federation.

Worldmark encyclopedialist Moshe Sachs, trying to keep up with rapidly changing geography, says you can't.

Ex-Spy Says Country Should Consider Itself Part of Europe

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The British Empire today is a pure myth and England should begin considering herself as a part of Europe instead of the head of a huge comonwealth, according to British soldier-of-fortune, author, ex-spy and explorer Alan Caillou.

Caillou was born in Surrey, England, 46 years ago — but he says British army records show him to be five years older because he lied to get into the intelligence service prior to World War II.

In 1934 he joined the Palestinian Police Force and learned to speak Arabic.

Since then his life has been getting out of one jam and into another, taking time out to write six books, appear in three motion pictures and play the role of Brutus with a Shakespearean troupe traveling Canada.

His books—the latest is "The Walls of Jolo" which has been purchased for filming next year by United Artists — are all listed as fiction. He says, however, they are based on his personal experience.

Although still traveling under a British passport, Caillou says he will file for his United States citizenship in two years.

"After all," he said, "I'm married now and have an 8-year-old daughter.

"Right now I consider myself a European, not British," Caillou said. "The British Empire is no more and the Commonwealth should take the time to re-examine itself.

England should begin playing down the Commonwealth and consider herself a part of Europe, which she never has done."

Caillou says he plans to remain in the Hollywood area. But even though he's "settled," he still plans to travel.

"I'm already working on my next book which will have a setting in a Central American country run by a dictator," he said. "So far that's one part of the world I've never been in. I've always wanted to see all of Latin America, especially Peru."

U. of M. to Do Research for March of Dimes

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The March of Dimes has made a $178,969 grant to a University of Michigan researcher to further his study of virus diseases.

The recipient is Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., chairman of the university's department of Epidemiology in the School of Public Health.

Dr. Francis will use the money to study cell-virus relationships and virus chemo-therapy among other things.

To Do TV Series on Life of FDR

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Act as Consultant and Appear on Show

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Broadcasting Co. will produce a television series of 26 episodes on the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt starting in the fall of 1962, it was announced today.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said she will act as consultant for the series and will appear on the programs, which will be similar to ABC-TV's series on Sir Winston Churchill.

The program will be produced under the auspices of James Hagerty, former press secretary to President Eisenhower and now an ABC vice president.

"I though ABC's 'The Churchill Years' was a marvelous program, and when I was approached I felt a AV series based on my husband's life could be a good thing," said Mrs. Roosevelt. "Frequently I meet people who say 'We miss your husband's voice'.

"And I think this program will be good for many young people as a supplement to what they learn in school about this period."

Material for the programs will be provided by Mrs. Roosevelt and the Franklin D. Roosevelt library at Hyde Park, N.Y. Old films, still photographs and interviews with Roosevelt associates will be used.

Ex-Laos Head Urges Action to End Conflict

HONG KONG (UPI) — Former Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos warned today that the Laotian situation would become even more serious unless an international conference took quick action to end the struggle for power between pro-Western and pro-Communist elements.

Souvanna said a 14-nation conference, proposed by Cambodia and supported by the Communist powers, is the "only solution" for restoring peace to the tiny southeast Asian kingdom.

The prince, whose leftist-supported "neutralist" regime was deposed last fall, arrived here Wednesday on the start of a six-week tour to whip up support among Asian and European countries for an international conference on Laos.

Barred Behan Still Gets Invite for St. Patrick's

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Brendan Behan is wanted—by the Jersey City St. Patrick's Day committee.

The controversial Irish playwright, barred from New York City's St. Patrick's Day parade, Wednesday was invited to attend a celebration Friday night at the Ukrainian Community Center.

The St. Patrick's Day committee, a group of 100 Irishmen, will honor Mayor Charles Stanley Witkowski, whose name for the occasion will be changed to Charles Sean O'Witkowski.

Farmer Dreams Away Fruits of His Labors

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Jessie J. Barton, 60-year-old produce trucker from Edgewood, Tex., reported to Houston police that the fruit of his labor became money for somebody else.

Barton said he parked his truck loaded with apples at the Farmers' Market and left it unattended while he took a nap.

When he returned early in the morning he discovered that some enterprising stranger had peddled about 25 bushels of the apples to unsuspecting buyers.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Meller, D.V.M.

Q. My little Yorkshire terrier scratches my furniture. How often should his nails be clipped? Mrs. J. McCreary, New Orleans.

A. All dogs toenails grow at about the same rate, but the rate at which they wear down is dependent on the amount of exercise the animal gets and the type of surface he walks on. Dogs that run over rocks and concrete all day seldom have to have their toenails cut.

The pet that never walks on anything harder than a rug will need a pedicure every four to six weeks. There are hand clippers and electrical appliances available, but most people have their veterinarian or kennel perform this service.

Many of my clients hold their dogs in their laps and use an emery board to file off the sharp edges of the nails. Some even apply nail polish in a shade matching their own.

Date of Easter Fixed by Moon and Equinox

ANN ARBOR—April Fools' Day this year will begin with a full moon—the moon that will fix the date of Easter with no fooling.

"The full moon at 12:48 a.m. April 1 is of special interest, for it is the full moon that fixes the date of Easter," Prof. Hazel M. Losh of the University of Michigan notes.

"In 325 A. D., the church fathers gathered in council at Nicaea, and among other things set the date for Easter once and for all.

"It was designated as the first Sunday following the first full moon that comes after the vernal equinox. This year the Sunday falls on April 2, a relatively early date," the U. of M. astronomer explains.

"Probably a good reason for using the full moon for reckoning Easter was to enable the pilgrims traveling to the Holy City to have the advantage of full moonlight for comparatively safe travel by night as well as by day.

"This date fluctuates over a period of 35 days between the equinox and April 25, the latest date on which Easter may occur. In 1943, it occurred on the latest date, this will not happen again until 2038 A.D. in 1951, it came as early as March 25.

"These extremely early and late dates are rare, the earliest possible one not due until 2285 A.D.," Professor Losh says.

CODFISH BALLS AND DILL KABOBS — Here's a new-fashioned way with an old-fashioned food. The tartness of dill pickles gives a flavor lift to codfish balls. And aren't they attractive served kabob style?

Lenten Kabobs Are Made With Codfish Balls

What more traditional Lenten dish can you serve than codfish balls? But following tradition doesn't mean that you necessarily have to serve them always in the same old fashion. Because fish has found a new flavor partner in pickles. This opens up the way for a lot of new recipe ideas. For example, try alternating chunks of crisp dill pickles with tender codfish balls on skewers and then broil. Fill big platter with these to make an appetite-provoking main dish.

Eggs, too, are hobnobbing with pickles these days. An omelet was never so good as this one in which the flavors of sharp cheese and sweet gherkins mingle harmoniously with the more bland flavor of eggs.

Codfish Balls and Dill Kabobs

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup cracker crumbs
2 cups flaked, cooked cod
18 dill pickle slices, about 1-inch thick
Melted butter or margarine

Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine. Add flour, paprika, salt and pepper; blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Gradually add white sauce to eggs and mix well. Add cracker crumbs and cod; mix well. Chill. Shape into 18 balls.

Arrange cod fish balls and pickles on skewers. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Broil 5-6 inches from source of heat about 7 minutes on each side, brushing occasionally with melted butter or margarine. About 6 servings.

Cheese-Pickle Omelet

6 egg yolks
6 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup chopped sweet gherkins
¾ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
6 egg whites, stiffly beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine egg yolks with water, salt and pepper; beat well. Add pickles and cheese. Fold into egg whites. Melt butter or margarine. Add egg mixture. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Shake occasionally to prevent sticking. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 10 minutes, or until set. Cut part way through the center. Fold and place on platter. Makes 4 servings.

Soup Mix Base of Spoon Bread

It seems as if every homemaker has one recipe that turns out to be a real conversation piece. It is usually something super - special and slightly out-of-the-ordinary.

In this class is marvelous Mushroom Spoon Bread. It is made in very handy fashion with a package of mushroom soup mix which accounts for its superb savory flavor.

Serve this unusual Spoon Bread right from the casserole, spooning it onto each plate. It would be particularly good on a brunch menu featuring baked sausages and scrambled eggs.

Mushroom Spoon Bread

1 quart milk
1 package mushroom soup mix
1 cup corn meal (white or yellow)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 eggs

In the top of a double broiler, heat milk; gradually stir in soup mix combined with corn meal. Cook, stirring until smooth and thick. Cover and cook until cereal consistency, about 5-10 minutes. Remove from heat; add butter or margarine.

Beat eggs until well blended then slowly stir into mixture. Pour into a well greased 1½ quart casserole. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) uncovered 50-55 minutes, until golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

VANILLA WHIPPED CREAM PIE — New family size vanilla pudding and pie filling mix makes more generous servings of pie. Vanilla Whipped Cream Pie in a chocolate cooky crumb crust, shown here, will serve six to eight lucky guests or members of the family.

New Vanilla Pie Will Earn Raves

Interest on the part of homemakers in more servings per food package to satisfy the needs of their larger families prompted the introduction of a new family size pudding and pie filling mix.

Available now in vanilla and chocolate flavors, one package of the pudding and pie filling mix makes six servings of pudding, or enough pie filling for a large 9-inch pie crust. The family size package is in addition to the regular size packages of pudding and pie filling mix available in six different flavors.

For special occasions, here is a deluxe variation of the basic family size vanilla pudding and pie filling, made richer by the addition of whipped cream. The creamy, smooth filling is then poured into a dark chocolate cooky crumb crust and given a garnish of whipped cream and cooky sections.

The pie makes six generous servings for the family—or eight smaller desserts—and will rate an encore from any group whenever it is served.

Vanilla Whipped Cream Pie

1 package (4¾-oz.) family size vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
2-⅓ cups milk
½ cup heavy cream
Chocolate Cooky Crumb Crust

Combine pie filling mix and milk in medium saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Cool about 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Whip the cream. Then fold into cooled pie filling and pour into Chocolate Cooky Crumb Crust. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and cooky sections.

Chocolate Cooky Crumb Crust

Combine 1¼ cups fine chocolate cooky crumbs and 2 tablespoons sugar. Add ¼ cup melted butter and mix well. Press firmly with back of spoon on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 5 to 8 minutes and cook before filling.

Add Wheat Germ

Wheat germ sprinkled on peanut butter sandwiches adds texture and a nuttier flavor. It may also be sprinkled on sweet dessert toppings.

Some Cuts of Beef Carry Lower Price Tags Today

Had you noticed? Some beef cuts are slightly less per pound than a week ago. Wholesale beef prices decreased slightly making it possible for retailers to lower consumer prices and still realize a normal profit. Fryers and some pork cuts are also given store emphasis this week.

If your family wishes to spend less for food, the meat department is an easy place to start says the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. The thriftier meat buys include frozen ocean perch for as little as 10 cents per serving this week; smelt at 10 to 12½ cents; ground beef (hamburger) at 12¼ to 15 cents; liver for as little as 10 to 15 cents; rib-end pork roast at 13 to 19 cents; Boston butt (pork shoulder roast) at 16 to 18 cents.

EGGS DOWN

Notice that egg prices declined this week. Large size eggs, which are in largest supply and weigh 24 ounces per dozen, dropped about six cents per dozen. This means that 7½ to 9 cents spent for two large eggs will give the same protein an average cooked 3-ounce serving of lean meat.

If you choose fresh foods in generous supply, check grapefruit, lettuce, broccoli, potatoes and spinach.

No one needs to be reminded that there are plenty of turkeys available. The larger birds are not only lower in price per pound, but they offer more meat in proportion to bone. Most large size turkeys will cost 20 to 25 cents per serving this week.

Prices vary greatly when buying fish, depending not only on the kind, but the way it is prepared for sale. For this reason, it will pay to figure cost per serving using this easy guide. Fish steaks, fillets or pieces will serve four persons per pound, or a 10-ounce frozen package will serve three people. Dressed fish will serve two persons from each pound; whole fish (undressed) will serve one person from each pound.

Retailers and packers report continued heavy grapefruit supplies. The 5 and 8 pound bags of fruit average about 7½ to 8 cents per pound.

Cabbage continues in good supply. There are slightly heavier supplies of green beans arriving from Florida.

Some of the tomato blooms were damaged by weather in Florida several weeks ago. This has resulted in a smaller supply of vine-ripe and green tomatoes at present, and prices are higher.

Scalloped Tomatoes Hold Favorite Spot in Meal

Turn to temptingly colorful TOMATO SCALLOP for Lenten meals. To make it, place 1½ cups browned, buttered bread crumbs in a greased casserole. Combine 1 (No. 2) can tomatoes, 1 tablespoon sugar, salt and pepper to taste, and ¼ cup, each, chopped onion and celery—and pour over crumbs.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until mixture boils around the edge, or about 30 minutes. Remove from oven and top with ½ cup more of browned, buttered crumbs.

Add a little pickle relish, grated onion and lemon juice to mayonnaise and serve as a sauce for fried or broiled fish.

Michigan cold-storage apples are near the clean-up stage. There is now a good supply of "CA" (controlled atmosphere storage) apples. Remember, all apples need refrigeration to keep quality. Try to use them within a week.

There are signs of spring in the food markets — more Michigan hothouse rhubarb and fresh cultivated mushrooms. And you may see strawberries shipped from sunnier places.

Lowly Frank Glorified in Fondue Recipe

NEW YORK (UPI)—Try pickle-frank fondue for a tasty economy casserole. Beat 3 eggs slightly. Add 1 cup of chicken stock or bouillon, ½ cup of milk, 1½ cups of soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon of melted butter or margarine, 1 pound of frankfurters, chopped, ¼ cup of chopped canned pimientos, ½ cup of chopped sweet fresh cucumber pickles, ½ teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. Mix well.

Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole. Set in pan of hot water and bake in a 350-degree oven to 60 minutes, or until fondue is set. Serves 6.

To Vary Cooked Rice

Need a change in the way you prepare rice? Then you might begin by cooking the rice in a flavor-enhancing liquid such as tomato juice, cranberry juice, consomme or barbecue sauce suggests the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. If you use barbecue sauce for cooking liquid, add an equal amount of water and cook as usual.

Add Chopped Ripe Olives to Your Scrambled Eggs

Fry bacon strips until crispy, then remove them to a paper towel to drain. Pour off all but a thin layer of fat from the skillet. For 4 servings, beat eggs (1 egg per person, plus 1 or 2 extra), salt, pepper and cayenne. Blend in one-third cup of milk. Pour into a hot skillet and cook over low heat, stirring constantly.

When partially set, stir in ½ cup of chopped ripe olives and a dash of chopped green onion and parsley. Cook until creamy, and serve at once with the bacon and hot buttered toast.

Nothing Like a Smorgasbord!

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Americans have taken to foreign food in ever-increasing numbers since the end of World War II. Because so many dishes found on a smorgasbord table are already favorites, this form of entertaining is popular.

Saturday evening the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will give a smorgasbord at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan. Three branches, Pontiac, Birmingham and Southern Oakland, will participate in the meal and the entertainment to follow. The dinner which starts at 7 p.m. is open to the public, but reservations must be made with Mrs. Roger Cune of Liberty Street.

Each year the League chooses a different country as the theme for its annual dinner. Mrs. Stephen Velkoff is chairman of the food for the smorgasbord.

Here is a short description we just read of what to eat at a smorgasbord:

"A time-tried ritual is prescribed for the proper enjoyment of either a small smorgasbord or the full-scale, panoramic affair. First, and always first, if one is to observe the Scandinavian spirit of the occasion, the herring!

"Then one adventures (with clean plate in hand) through dishes in which fish is combined with other ingredients, then cold meats, the delicious hot dishes, the salads and aspics and finally, for digestion's sake and to soothe a possibly jaded palate, a bit of cheese."

There will be all the above dishes at Saturday night's affair. Herring will appear in pickled form, au gratin and in salad. There will be other fish dishes, ham, beef tongue and Swedish meat balls.

On the salad table stuffed eggs, pickled beets, marinated cucumbers, green salad and fruit salad will appear.

Saffron bread, rye bread and hard tack will be available to eat with cheese, vegetables au gratin, Swedish brown beans and boiled red cabbage. If anyone is still hungry, cookies and coffee will be a fitting climax.

We asked Mrs. Velkoff for some of the recipes her committee is using. The first one she gave us is for fish is aspic.

FISH IN ASPIC

2-2½ pounds fresh or frozen salmon, mackerel or eel. Clean and cut into 1-inch slices. Per every quart of water used to cook the fish, add the following:

2 tablespoon white vinegar
½ tablespoon salt
5 peppercorns
2 whole allspice
1 bay leaf
1 sprig of dill

Cook the fish in this stock about 10 minutes. Drain, place on a platter and cool. Make the aspic:

1 pint strained fish stock
1½ tablespoons gelatin
2 egg whites
salt and white pepper

Dissolve gelatin in a little cold water. Beat up with stock and egg white. Pour into a pan. Bring slowly to a boil, stirring constantly. Take off heat, cover and let stand 15 minutes. Strain, add salt and pepper to taste and chill.

In a mold put wedges of hard cooked eggs, tomatoes and little cooked shrimp. Pour enough aspic over them to hold them in place. Chill until firm.

Arrange cold fish in mold and pour remaining aspic over it. Chill again until firm. Unmold on a plate, garnish with more egg wedges, tomatoes and shrimp, and serve with mayonnaise. Serves 4 generously.

This second recipe is for one of the cookies to be served. It is a perfect recipe for anyone allergic to wheat flour or milk, for it contains neither one.

WALNUT TORTE

3½ cups finely ground walnuts
6 egg yolks
1½ cups granulated sugar
3 teaspoons almond extract (this amount is correct)
6 egg whites

Grease, line with waxed paper and grease again a 9x9x2 pan. Beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and tripled in volume. Gradually add sugar, beating until very thick, about 10 minutes. Fold in nuts and almond extract.

Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry. Fold about ¼ of them into yolk mixture, then fold yolk mixture into whites, blending well. Turn into pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour, or until edges pull away from side of pan. Cool 10 minutes.

Turn out on rack and pull off paper. Cool. Wrap and store in freezer or refrigerator or in tightly closed tin can. When ready to serve, cut into 1x3-inch bars. Roll in confectioners sugar, if desired. Makes 27 bars.

Just Eat Less

The normal person can best eliminate excess weight, not by "cutting out everything he likes" but by reducing his daily total calorie intake. He can keep on eating — and enjoying — most of his favorite foods — but not quite as much of them.

Color in Salad Tempts Appetite

Shrimp pink and avocado green —with an accent of pimiento red. These will be your colors if you combine two popular foods in one salad, to be served with a creamy pimiento sauce.

Shrimp in Avocado Halves

Prepare the shrimp by cleaning it and cooking it three minutes in boiling water to which pickling spices have been added. (For each pound of shrimp, add 1 heaping teaspoon pickling spices to 1 quart of water.) Halve ripe avocados and carefully remove the seeds. Fill each half with three shrimp, and serve with Pimiento-Sour Cream Dressing made this way:

* * *

Pimiento-Sour Cream Dressing

1 cup commercial sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 pimiento, diced

Combine ingredients and chill. Makes 1 cup salad dressing. Garnish with extra bits of diced pimiento.

Tuna Egg Pie Is Hearty Entree to Serve in Lent

One quick and easy Lenten dish in which you can make good use of the big egg supplies in TUNA-EGG PIE that will delight your family:

Prepare a pie crust and place it in a 9-inch oven-to-table pie plate. Beat 4 eggs and ¼ cup of milk until blended. Add one 6½ to 7 oz. can of flaked tuna, ½ pound of grated Mozzarella cheese, and season gently with basil, oregano, salt and pepper. Stir well and spoon into the unbaked crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 30-35 minutes, until brown. Serve with a hot Spanish or tomato sauce, and you have a tangy, company-perfect entree.

600 MEAT BALLS — Members of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom are busy getting ready for Saturday's Smorgasbord at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan. This group making meat balls includes (left to right) Mrs. Russell Grinnell of Hatchery Road, Mrs. John Houston of Glenwood and Mrs. Stephen Velkoff of Cheltingham. Mrs. Velkoff is food chairman.

OPEN-FACED HAMBURGERS — Herbed Open-Faced Hamburger Buns, topped with a sliced tomato and a sprinkle of aromatic oregano, taste just as yummy as they smell while they are browning under the broiler.

Hearty Open Sandwiches Livened With Oregano

Sandwiches in the U. S. A. get more imposing every year: heroes, dagwoods, jaw-breakers and triple-deckers, Hamburgers, fishburgers, chickenburgers, cheeseburgers. Toasted, broiled and sauteed sandwiches. Roman banquets between two slices of rye. Combinations must run into the thousands.

The taste sensation of these hot sandwiches suggest a big round of hot pizza—chopped meat, lusty cheese, tomatoes, anchovy, etc., mingle flavors, the whole sparked by the aroma of a pinch of oregano.

Oregano is a native of the Mediterranean area—North Africa, Europe and adjoining Asia. Botanists put this plant in the mint family, although its flavor resembles marjoram rather than mint. To confuse things generally, it has also been known as "Mexican sage."

American cooks, however, know it as an intriguing seasoning for gravies, omelets, soups, beef stews, egg dishes and almost any dish starting with tomatoes. Use about ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon oregano to a batch of food serving six.

Herbed Open-Faced Hamburgers

1 pound ground chuck
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon oregano leaves
½ teaspoon powdered mustard
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ cup tomato juice
1 cup shredded cheese
3 hamburger buns
6 slices fresh tomato
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt to taste
Ground black pepper to taste

Brown meat in a skillet. Add salt, oregano, mustard, black pepper and instant minced onion. Mix well and cook 1 minute. Stir in tomato juice and shredded cheese. Serve over split hamburger buns. Top each with a slice of tomato. Dot tomatoes with pieces of butter or margarine and sprinkle with salt and ground black pepper to taste. Place under broiler to broil tomatoes. Yield: 6 servings.

Mozzarella Cheese Sandwich

12 thin slices white bread
1 teaspoon oregano leaves
½ cup softened butter or margarine
6 slices Mozzarella cheese or American cheese
¼ teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/16 teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
2 eggs

Trim crusts from bread. Mix oregano with butter or margarine and spread on one side of each slice of bread. Place on buttered side of 6 of the bread slices, slice cheese large enough to cover bread. Top with remaining bread slices, having buttered side next to cheese. Press edges together very firmly. Add salt, black pepper, garlic powder and Parmesan cheese to eggs and beat well into which dip sandwiches.

Fry on both sides until brown in hot olive or salad oil or butter or margarine. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

Open Faced Deviled Egg Sandwiches

6 hard-cooked eggs
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon oregano leaves
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
4 teaspoons salad or olive oil
6 slices toasted bread
Anchovy Bechamel Sauce
Capers
Parsley flakes

Peel hard-cooked eggs. Cut in halves lengthwise. Scoop out the yolks and mash until smooth with salt, instant minced onion, oregano, ground black pepper, lemon juice and salad or olive oil. Pile back into cavities of egg whites. Place two halves on each of 6 slices buttered toasted bread. Spoon Anchovy Bechamel Sauce over each and place under broiler until bubbly and lightly browned. Garnish with capers and parsley flakes. Yield: 6 servings.

Anchovy Bechamel Sauce

2 carrots, sliced
½ teaspoon instant minced onion
½ bay leaf
½ teaspoon parsley flakes
6 whole black peppercorns
1 cup chicken stock or 1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup light cream
1 teaspoon anchovy paste

Combine the first 6 ingredients in a saucepan. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Strain. Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Remove from heat and stir in stock and cream. Stir and cook until of medium thickness. Add anchovy paste. Serve over Deviled Eggs. Yield: Approximately 1 cup sauce.

Canned Salmon Gets Spiced Treatment

Spiced salmon makes a delightful luncheon or supper feature at any time of the year. But it is especially welcome during Lent, when homemakers exercise their imaginations to fill in restricted menus.

This tasty dish is easy to prepare. It's spicy flavor goes well with side dishes of parsley potatoes and green vegetables.

Spiced Salmon

2 cups cooked or canned salmon
1 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon whole cloves
½ teaspoon allspice berries
¼ teaspoon salt
8 peppercorns

Remove skin and bones from cooked fish. Rinse canned salmon thoroughly with hot water to remove oil. Combine vinegar, whole cloves, allspice berries, salt and peppercorns. Bring to boiling point. Pour mixture over salmon. Cover and let stand 2 hours. Drain and separate salmon into flakes. Yield: 6 servings.

Red and White Salad Is Pretty

Here is a new salad idea for year 'round enjoyment. The combination of high protein cottage cheese and the new tart-sweet jellied cherry sauce creates a colorful, low calorie salad with a brand-new look and taste. With only two basic ingredients, preparation of cottage cheese and cherry sauce salad is simplicity itself.

Cottage Cheese-Cherry Sauce Salad

1 12¼-oz. can jellied cherry sauce
1 pint cottage cheese
Greens

Cut one can cherry sauce in half lengthwise. With cut surface resting on board, cut each half diagonally in two. Arrange cherry sauce wedges around mound of one pint of cottage cheese. Trim with greens. Serves four.

If desired, garnish top with small circles of cherry sauce. Circles can be cut from thin slice of sauce which is cut before making wedges.

Don't throw away the appealing flavor found in the drippings from roasts. These drippings make delicious pan or cream gravies, and the nutrients found in gravy contribute to the food value of your meal.

Orange Sauce Glazes Chops

A mouthwatering array of goodness can be prepared in a skillet and served as a complete meat-vegetable-fruit dinner. Pork chops, slices of acorn squash and Florida oranges are the trio that combine so effectively.

Undiluted frozen orange juice concentrate combined with brown sugar and ginger makes a rich sauce for the meat and squash; the fresh orange slices are added near the end of cooking for extra flavor and good looks.

Orange Pork Chop Skillet

1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
6 pork chops, cut ½-inch thick
1 acorn squash
2 Florida oranges

Combine undiluted orange juice concentrate, brown sugar, ginger, salt and Tabasco. Brown pork chops on both sides in skillet rubbed lightly with fat trimmings from chops. Drain all fat from pan.

Wash and slice squash into rings ¼-inch thick; remove seeds and cut rings in halves. Arrange squash with chops in skillet. Pour on orange juice mixture. Cover and simmer 45 minutes or until chops are tender, spooning sauce over chops and squash several times during cooking.

Slice Florida oranges ¼-inch thick; cut each slice in half. Add orange slices to skillet last 5 minutes of cooking. Yield: 6 servings.

Fabled Queen Gives Name to Dessert

Bananas Scheherazade came straight from the Arabian Nights. Supposedly it was a favorite dish of a queen who had the unpronounceable name of Scheherazade. However, don't let the name of this dessert confuse you—for it's as easy to make as it is to eat. So give this Arabian delicacy a high-spot on the week's menu.

Bananas Scheherazade

6 bananas
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup diced dates
¼ cup diced figs
¼ cup raisins
¼ cup sliced grapes
⅓ cup coarsely chopped nutmeats

Preheat oven to 425 degrees (moderately hot oven).

Peel bananas, brush with some of the melted butter and place in greased baking dish. Combine remaining butter, lemon juice, sugar, fruits and nuts and spoon over bananas. Bake 12 to 15 minutes, or until bananas are easily pierced with a fork. Makes 6 servings.

Telephone Weapon of Conmen

Many conmen use the telephone to make contact with their intended victims, Paul L. Adams, state attorney general, points out. This puts the victim at an unfair disadvantage, he says, for several reasons.

1. It costs the conman very little.

2. It penetrates the privacy of the victim, reaching him when he is psychologically offguard. My inquiry shows, for example, that many skillful cons wait until evening to call, to catch their victims in a relaxed "at home" mood.

3. It enables the con to use innocent dupes, such as shutins or handicapped, to play on the sympathies of the listener.

4. It prevents identification and apprehension of the real con.

"I find Michigan citizens exhibit a growing resentment toward this outrageous violation of privacy," Adams added. "My staff and I have been working with officials of the telephone company to find ways of helping the telephone subscriber to protect himself against telephone-fraud artists.

He offered these suggestions:

1. Don't commit yourself until the caller identifies himself and his product, and you have checked with your Chamber of Commerce, local bank, prosecutor or this office.

2. Get the number! Tell the caller you'll call back. Once you have the number, it will be possible for law enforcement officials to check on the call, and in certain cases to establish violation of laws controlling multiple users and commercial users of telephones.

Vote Plan for Con Con Is Delayed

LANSING (UP)—A proposal setting up election machinery in case a constitutional convention is held was almost—but not quite—out of the Senate today.

Parliamentary maneuvering delayed final consideration on the House-passed bill until Monday after the Senate voted 20-11 in favor.

A move to give the measure immediate effect, once the House accepts a Senate amendment, was defeated in a show of hands Wednesday. But a demand for a record roll call was postponed over the weekend.

The measure, which sets up dates for the election of delegates in the event voters approve on April 3 the calling of a convention, would become law 10 days after the governor signed it under the immediate effect provision.

Without immediate effect, the bill would not take effect until 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

Sponsors of the measure said this would gum up the works, and create considerable confusion.

Opponents said passing the bill with immediate effect would cause some voters to feel that the legislature was approving a constitutional convention.

You Are Taxed Here, There, Everywhere . . . When You Own a Car

BY BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Congressional hearings in Washington this week on financing the nation's highway program point up the fact that the man who owns an automobile is one of the tax collector's favorite friends.

The various motorist taxes levied by federal, state and municipal governments yield a total greater than any other type except personal and corporate income taxes.

When you buy a new car a fourth of the total price represents some kind of tax, direct or indirect, according to estimates by the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

When you buy a gallon of gas to run that car, about one-third of the cost is tax.

You are taxed on toll roads when you drive and at parking meters when you stop. New tires, batteries and accessories for your car also carry special federal taxes.

The AMA figures that nation's motorists paid $10,617 billion in state and federal taxes last year, more than double what they paid 10 years ago.

The federal government's share of this was $4,487 billion of which taxes on gasoline and Diesel fuel represented almost half.

FROM 4 TO 7 CENTS

Every state has gotten into the act since Oregon levied the first penny tax on gasoline during World War I. State taxes on gasoline now range from four to seven cents a gallon. The present federal gasoline tax is four cents a gallon and the average combined tax is 10 cents.

The federal government first put an excise tax on new cars during World War II. Except for 1923-32 there has been one ever since.

During the Korean War the percentage increased "temporarily" from 7 to 10. Last year, the AMA says, this averaged to $224 on every new car sold in the United States.

The automobile industry perennially appeals for the abolition or at least the lowering of this excise tax.

So far it has gotten nowhere and there is little reason to hope for favorable action in this session of Congress although under present law the special three per cent levy expires July 1.

The petroleum industry likewise has fought increasing fuel taxes. Two years ago Congress raised the federal tax a penny to provide special funds for the interstate highway program. This increase also is due to expire July 1.

The excise tax on passenger cars goes into the treasury's general fund. Starting July 1 the law says for the next three years half of it will go into the highway trust fund.

President Kennedy wants this changed. He says the excise tax should stay in the general fund. So does the Automobile Manufacturers Association. The petroleum industry disagrees.

The AMA maintains a motorist who makes extensive use of highways should pay more in highway-user taxes than a low mileage driver. And it says this does not necessarily bear any relationship to new car purchases.

Instead the AMA favors mileage-based taxes so that you pay as you drive. And it says the gasoline tax is "not only an equitable type of tax for all classes of motorists but also makes the user-tax payment as convenient as possible for every class of vehicle owner."

B. B. Turner, president of Ethyl Corp., writing in his company publication, says "on the surface, this would seem an eminently logical way to pay for these new expressways—let the user pay the cost through taxes, such as the motor fuel tax.

"Those who take the trouble to look beneath the surface, however, are frequently amazed by what they find. This gasoline tax—to which government has turned whenever more road funds were needed—has reached truly alarming proportions . . .

"As a result we find ourselves faced with a tax rate on a basic commodity which has grown five times as high as the tax on luxuries. In other words, gasoline is taxed five times as much as diamonds and mink coats."

Turner says that if the "special automotive taxes which now are siphoned away into the general fund were turned to the highway fund where they rightfully belong, they would more than meet the so-called 'deficit' in this fund."

The debate, obviously, is far from over.

Indicted Over Threat

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted Richard P. Pavlick, 74, of Belmont, N.H., for threatening to kill President Kennedy prior to his inauguration. Pavlick was arrested in Florida and is in custody at the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners, Springfield, Mo.

Your Mom Should Take No Action

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I have been going out with a boy whom I like very much, for the past six months. We are not engaged. I have been invited to his house on quite a few occasions and his parents have always been very nice to me.

I would like my parents to meet them. Would it be proper for my mother to invite them to our house some evening for dinner?

A: Unless it is at the boy's suggestion, or his parents have expressed a wish to meet your parents, I would not advise your mother to invite his parents as this might seem to be pushing on her part.

Q. My fiance and I are having a disagreement about the following: We are to be married in about a month and we are going to have a small wedding with just the immediate families in attendance. I feel that because we are having a small wedding we should send out announcements of our marriage to friends and relatives who will not be at the wedding.

My fiance feels that we should not because it will seem as if we are asking for wedding gifts. We would appreciate your advice on this matter.

A: Your fiance is mistaken. A wedding announcement requires no gift or acknowledgement and is sent to all your friends and relatives who are not invited to the wedding.

Q: Printed in the corner of a wedding invitation that my husband and I received are the words, "Black Tie." I would like to know if it would be permissible for my husband to wear a new dark business suit with a bow tie, or does it mean "tuxedo only?" Also must I wear an evening dress or would a dressy afternoon dress be all right?

A: "Black tie" means that the men are requested to wear tuxedos and the women evening dresses. If you and your husband go to the wedding you should both accede to this request.

Abby Tells Worried Mother:

Just Leave Him Alone, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a 35-year-old son who is not interested in women. Every evening he brings home a couple of friends (fellows) and they sit around and watch television and drink beer.

ABBY

I am very much concerned because he is at an age where he should have his own home and family.

I can see no good in this present set-up. His father died when he was quite young and I have been a widow for years.

Maybe I am to blame? He seems to have a mental block when it comes to marriage. Should I insist that he see a psychiatrist?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Not everyone wants to get married. When (and if) your son regards his single status as a "problem" and feels he needs psychiatric help, encourage him to get it — but don't make a problem where perhaps none exists.

DEAR ABBY: How old do you think a girl should be before a boy can come to get her, walk her down to the show, pay her way, sit with her and walk her home? And how late do you think he should stay if she is 13?

TROUBLES

DEAR TROUBLES: All girls who live at home must abide by the "House Rules." Your parents make the "rules" in your home and you should respect their decisions.

DEAR ABBY: I have been told that wearing a wide solid copper bracelet will help arthritis.

I wonder if any of your readers have ever heard of this. It seems such a simple thing to do, but I have heard from several people who told me this has helped them. Is this a widespread bit of information or only a local tale?

ARTHRITIC

DEAR ARTHRITIC: I do not practice medicine in my column, but there are many good doctors who practice it in their offices.

I have never heard of the "copper bracelet" remedy and neither has any reputable doctor.

DEAR ABBY: I sometimes wonder if women ever count their blessings? One woman wrote to you complaining because her husband mowed the lawn in his shorts.

Another complained because her husband called her "Mama" and someone else had a husband who snored.

Other women gripe because their husbands don't pick up after themselves or don't eat nicely at the table. They don't know how lucky they are. Please print this as a gentle reminder.

Cassini Mum About Jackie

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has a choice of several Easter outfits, according to her fashion designer.

Oleg Cassini was extremely reluctant to discuss the First Lady's new spring wardrobe Tuesday but he said he took two or three costumes to the White House for fittings Monday.

"I did not come here to talk about Mrs. Kennedy," said Cassini with some exasperation. He was here to speak to a fashion group. The White House also prefers the designer to keep quiet about the First Lady's wardrobe.

Working Moms Criticized by N.Y. Authority

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Criticism of some working mothers and advice to return "the cop to the beat" came from a conference on juvenile delinquency problems Wednesday at Muskegon.

Both were offered by Ben Solomon of New York, recognized authority in the field, who led the two-way institute sponsored by the Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce and Adult Education Association.

He urged action instead of surveys in the battle against delinquency. "If delinquency could be talked to death, it would have been extinct long ago," Solomon declared.

Solomon advocated the return of "punishment" in dealing with children. "The knowledge he'll be punished for wrongdoing is more important to a child than the actual punishment," he said, advising it should be administered consistently "and with love and understanding."

The speaker also charged that placing police in cruisers has practically eliminated officers who walk their beat.

"Police in cars only ride by, waiting for something to happen," said Solomon. "Police walking a beat get so they know what is going to happen."

After Losing 15 Pounds

Oh, That Glorious Feeling!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have just received an inspiring and entertaining letter which I will pass on to you today.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I maintained my correct weight for years and then added four pounds a year for the past three years. That is a dangerous way to gain because you never actually admit to yourself that you are getting heavier unless relatives or friends mention your added girth."

"Mirrors I avoided like the plague. Occasionally I got a good look at the great profile and it was certainly discouraging. I had added weight from my ribs down, and having a sit-down job (receptionist) didn't help any. I am married and have a 6-room home to maintain in addition to my full-time job which I enjoy very much.

AT 126 NOW

"I weighed 140 pounds. Now I weigh 126 pounds. This is only a loss of 14 pounds but my weight is much better distributed. Most important, that feeling of utter exhaustion which always was present and the dull 'I don't care' attitude I had have gone with the lost weight.

"The worst ordeal I have ever gone through was purchasing a bathing suit last summer. Four stores and 20 suits later I found one which concealed my flaws somewhat and was attractive to the eye if not to the pocketbook.

"I have recently purchased three dresses in size 12 and there isn't a more glorious feeling. My husband doesn't care if I buy six he is so proud of me.

"However the best thing is the way I feel again. Everything around me has taken on a new glow and I hope I never gain those pounds again which were so shattering to my morale."

It is true that the byproducts of a reducing session often are wonderful. Fatigue disappears, stiff joints loosen up, and constipation becomes a thing of the past.

Summer will be here before we know it. Want to lose a few pounds before then? If so, you may want my Nine-Day Reducing Diet which brings you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. If you would like to have the Nine-Day Diet booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

News Bits Come In From Hills

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Early next week Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. McGinnis of Crestlake Drive will motor to New York in their compact "station bus". They will have ample time to load it and themselves aboard the SS Exeter for a casual trip to Cadiz, Spain.

Mr. McGinnis is having all sorts of clever storage space built in for his extensive photographic supplies and Mary is superintending housekeeping conveniences, in case they are unable to find those wonderful places to stay their many friends tell them to try.

They have planned four months to tour the north shore of the Mediterranean from Cadiz to Istanbul and will explore Spanish, French, Italian and Greek areas of the Riviera.

Among bon voyage parties for the McGinnises was a dinner at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club last week with Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Beatty playing host.

Mrs. William E. Chickering of North Woodward Avenue left last week for New York. She will meet three friends there who will sail with her on the SS Queen Elizabeth for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Proctor Jr. (Mary Caroline Carter) announce the birth of a son, James Walter on March 10.

Several families have waited until spring vacations begin in order to spend the fortnight with their children.

Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mills of Vaughan road who will go to Camelback Inn, at Phoenix, Ariz. with Ben Jr. and Bobby.

Leaving for Florida by plane on Wednesday, the very day vacation begins at Kingswood, will be Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fitzgerald and their two daughters Susan and Julie. They will stay at the Belleview Biltmore, Bellair, near Clearwater.

Test for Tucking

A homemaker should experiment with dress fabric before buying it. If the pattern calls for tucking it can be formed in the fabric with the fingers. If the pattern calls for pleats, crease the fabric between fingers and hold it a minute or two. If the crease remains, the fabric possibly will pleat sharply when pressed.

Age Can Be Attitude; Better Check Yours

By RUTH MILLETT

Don't — as you grow older — let yourself:

Become more critical of the younger generation than you were when your own children were young.

Dismiss as "foolhardy" the adventuresome things that no longer appeal to you personally.

Harp on how much better things were in the "old days" than they are today.

Refuse flatly to change any of your opinions or to accept any new ideas.

Dwell conversationally on the things you can no longer do, rather than on the things you can still enjoy.

Lose the art of being a good listener.

Let more and more of your conversation become "I" talk instead of "you" talk.

Get to where you take a melancholy sort of pleasure in talking about depressing subjects — instead of making a real effort to make "happy talk."

Refuse to make an effort to get along with your contemporaries and to enjoy some companionship with people in your own age group.

Let yourself be talked out of your independence by well-meaning but short-sighted children who insist on looking after you, when you are perfectly capable of looking after yourself.

Give up any kind of work, whether paid or voluntary, that gives you a sense of purpose and usefulness — until you have to.

Discuss your aches and pains with anyone except your doctor.

And don't wait too long to start checking yourself on these counts. Because you may already be older in attitudes than you are in years.

Teens Favor 14 and 15 as Ages for First Date

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

What is the ideal age to start courtship?

If you ask the young folks, as we did, you probably find that it's 14 for the girl and 15 for the boy.

The thousand that we talked to from one end of the country to the other, apparently had given considerable thought to matters such as this.

For some pretty well thought out reasons, they felt the double date should come before the single date.

The time for beginning single dating would come a year later: at 15 for the girls and 15 to 16 for the boys.

Going out in a car alone should wait, they say, until the 16 to 17-year age span.

NO CHAPERONES

And while they say that junior high school parties should be chaperoned, they see no need for adult overseers at high school and college parties.

Linda S. Lubin, 17, of Brooklyn, N.Y., gave expression to the theory that the double date should precede the single date.

Youngsters, says Linda, "will gain poise on double dates since conversation is less taxing in a group."

While most of the teen-agers — 37 per cent — believe 14 is the proper age for a girl's first double date, there are of course differences of opinion.

Age 13 is the ideal age, according to 26 per cent, and 9 per cent go as low as age 12. On the other hand, 17 per cent say age 15 is right.

GIRLS MATURE FASTER

Most of the young people seemingly accept the fact that boys mature more slowly than girls. The best age for the first double date for a boy is 15, according to 34 per cent; 14, say 29 per cent; 16, argue 10 per cent.

What is the best age for a girl's first single date? Thirty-one per cent say 14, 33 per cent say 15, and 19 per cent say 16. As for the boys, only 21 per cent say 14, while 31 per cent say 15, and 21 per cent more say 16.

"A single date requires a couple to find mutual enjoyment, and a girl must be old enough to appreciate and enjoy her date," says 17-year-old Arlene Fromchuck of Brooklyn, who favors age 16.

Most of our 973 teen-agers feel a girl should be between 15 and 17 before going out alone in a car with a boy: 29 per cent saying 15, 36 per cent 16, and 12 percent 17.

CAR DANGEROUS

"By 16 a girl should have established some type of moral and social code," says 15-year-old Ann Hege of State College, Pa.

The concensus is that the boy should be 16 or older — 22 per cent favoring 16, 28 per cent 17, and 35 per cent an even more advanced age.

The youngsters point out that in most places a boy has to be at least [illegible] to get a driver's license. And [illegible] say a boy of under 18 isn[illegible] of the responsibilities for [illegible]iving.

S[illegible]een-agers be prohibited fro[illegible] in lonely places we ask[illegible]le 61 per cent [illegible] the girl[illegible]ere should be a [illegible]hibition, [illegible]25 per cent of [illegible]oys agree.

'GREAT TEMPTATION'

"Parking is not a sigh of being immoral," argues 17-year-old Jerry Lieberman of Newark. But Judy Spalding, 18, of Louisville, believes "the temptations are too great."

Judy Burk, 16, of Waterloo, Iowa, has another reason for favoring such a ban. "In many cases the lonely places are hang-outs for gangs of teen-agers who could cause a great disturbance," she says.

Sixty-five per cent, as opposed to 34 per cent, say junior high school parties should be chaperoned.

"If they are not chaperoned," says David Schmidt, 15, of Boalsburg, Pa., "older kids will interfere and there will be trouble."

On the other hand, only 28 per cent believe that high school parties should have adults present, and only 8 per cent favor chaperones for college parties.

"Being constantly watched compels high schoolers to have secret parties on their own," says Michael Kopiec, 15, of New York.

Farm, Garden Unit Has Benefit Meal

Cranbrook Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Inc., observed its first benefit luncheon and card party Tuesday at Devon Gables.

The ways and means committee planned the affair, which featured a St. Patrick's theme with tallies in the shape of shamrocks and centerpieces of shamrock plants.

Mrs. Henry C. Botsford, committee chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Oscar Mezey, Mrs. Russell Norris, Mrs. James Tenney and Mrs. George W. McCormick Jr.

Uranium for the first atomic bomb was found in a plateau of Colorado.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., suggested today President Kennedy not try to "go too far too fast" with his Peace Corps until it is tested.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said his party is interested in the program, thinks it "imaginative," and hopes for its success, but won't fully endorse it "until we see more clearly how it unfolds."

U.S., Russia Arms Talks May Reconvene Aug. 1

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union were reported agreed today to renew disarmament negotiations next Aug. 1 provided they can also agree on basic principles for disarmament and make-up of the negotiating group.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said Wednesday night he thought he and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had "generally reached agreement" on a date for resumption of negotiations, which the Soviets broke off last June 27.

He would not give the date but other sources said it was Aug. 1.

Earlier President Kennedy said at his news conference that the United States first suggested September and then "August at the latest" as the time to start.

Stevenson had an hour's talk with Gromyko Wednesday, his third such in 10 days. He said he had arranged tentatively to see Gromyko again Friday and that they were working on a resolution to be submitted to the General Assembly.

Stevenson said the resolution was intended to cover the time and place for new negotiations, the composition of the new negotiating committee and some basic principles for disarmament.

Oakland Has Its Own Blue Angels

PRACTICAL EDUCATION — Gigi Maganus has a little fun with a plastic skull as Nathan Horgett, principal of the Hickory Grove school in Bloomfield Hills, and fourth grade teacher Mrs. Lyle C. Cole converse with public health nurse Mrs. Roy Barrett. The nurse instructs the teachers of schools on new methods of combating serious health and other problems connected with school children.

Public Health Nurses Meet a Rugged Schedule

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Seventy two of the prettiest and most efficient women in Michigan are busy helping people in Oakland County, serving as public health nurses.

These "angels" in neat navy blue uniforms travel to schools, homes, factories, churches and nursing homes, teaching a more healthful way of life and adding comfort to the unfortunate.

Eight recruits have recently joined the ranks after completing a rugged orientation program.

"Many people have a misconception of just what a public health nurse really is," said Miss Evelyn Kidneigh, director of health. She explained that a registered nurse needs three years of hospital training. Add three more years of college to this, and she may then become a bonified public health nurse.

Because of the vast shortage of this type of nurse, the new recruits have been hired, with the proviso that they continue to work toward obtaining the necessary bachelor's degree.

The recruits visited milk depots, meat packing houses, even the city dump and sewage disposal plants in field trips. This is to everyday phases of human living. acquaint them with down to earth

REGULAR ROUNDS

All public health nurses have a designated district that is covered daily, showing teachers how to instruct healthful daily habits to children. Sometimes the parents attend special classes set up by the nurses.

Bedside care in the home is taught to visiting nurses and practical nurses are also instructed in home and hospital bedside procedure by public health nurses.

Classes have been established throughout the county to teach diabetic people how to prepare more exciting new foods, and the proper administration of medical care to themselves.

Expectant parents classes, health programs in schools, and vision and hearing programs have been set up—and it's all included free of charge in the county public health service program.

ASSISTS PARENTS

After the hearing and vision screening of pupils has been completed, and possibly not followed up by the parents due to lack of funds, the public health nurse assists in finding community resources that are available.

Teachers are taught to detect a backward or subnormal child by watching his actions.

If he is lagging in vitality, does not play actively, or is losing weight the parents are informed and the public health nurse is called in for recommendations.

Tact, reserve and a natural born know-how of human nature constitutes some of the many requirements of a public health nurse and according to Miss Kidneigh, "Oakland County can be mighty proud of its conscientious group of 'wonderful ladies in blue.' "

ASSIST PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS — Not only do Oakland County public health nurses project new ideas in health to all types of organizations, but their work extends into parochial and public schools throughout the area. Above nurse Heather Teel gives Mrs. Richard Lesner and Sister Domitilla, of Our Lady of Refuge, a few pointers.

SWEET STUFF — Although this is part of a diabetic class in the Birmingham municipal building, members of the class are tasting the newest type of luscious food available, without harmful effects. Dorothy Chene (right), county public health nurse, and nutrition expert Barbara Pingley (second from right) are demonstrating diabetic procedures to two students.

Mouth-to-Mouth Resuscitation Explained

This Know-How Can Be a Lifesaver

BY DICK HANSON

Few people ever expect to be called upon to save another's life. But the unexpected happens every day. Your action could save an accident victim—if you know what to do.

One of the surest ways to aid a nonbreathing victim of drowning, asphyxiation or electric shock is to apply immediate mouth-to-mouth breathing, according to Sgt. Donald Kratt of the sheriff's department safety division.

At the same time, if possible, a doctor and an ambulance should be summoned. Otherwise they should be summoned as quickly as possible. But first apply mouth-to-mouth breathing.

The first step is to place the victim on his back, tilting the head back and having the neck fully extended.

Then elevate the victim's jaw into a jutting position by inserting your thumb between teeth, grasping lower jaw in the rest of your hand and lifting it forcefully upward. Never let the chin sag.

If the air passage is not yet cleared do so at once with several sharp blows between shoulder blades (not too hard for youngsters). Clear the mouth with your finger, making sure his tongue is in a normal position.

Open your mouth wide and cover victim's mouth completely with yours, so that the contact is airtight, at the same time pinching his nose closed with your thumb and forefinger. Do NOT put your weight on the victim.

Blow air into the victim's lungs (less forcefully for children) until you see his chest rise; remove your mouth and let him exhale. Repeat blowing air approximately 12 times a minute for adults and 20 timees a minute, very gently, for children until the victim revives. If breathing ceases again, resume mouth-to-mouth breathing as often as necessary.

It is important to continue mouth-to-mouth breathing until a victim breathes naturally, or a physician pronounces him dead, or a resuscitator is applied. Don't stop your efforts even if the victim becomes blue and starts to stiffen.

* * *

The last near-drowning victim in Oakland County, a 21-month-old boy, was already blue and rigid when his mother applied mouth-to-mouth breathing and was able to save his life.

Pontiac Press Photo

MOUTH-TO-MOUTH BREATHING — Here Sgt. Donald Kratt (left) head of the sheriff's department safety division shows how mouth-to-mouth breathing is performed with a special mouthpiece to restore breathing in drowning victims and others. The "victim" is Deputy Robert Macfarlane. While all sheriff's department patrol cars are equipped with the plastic device shown here, it is not necessary in order to save someone's life. The story describes how to perform mouth-to-mouth breathing without the device. "Only gentle puffs of air should be breathed into infants and young children," Sgt. Kratt cautions, lest their lungs burst from the pressure.

Lapeer State School Gets $1.7 Million Nursery

200-Bed Unit for Retarded

Major Section of Five Wards to Be Finished by May 1962

By DON FERMOYLE

LAPEER — The major section of a $1.7-million nursery building for mentally retarded children will be constructed immediately at the Lapeer State Home and Training School, it was announced today.

The first five wards of the proposed nine-ward facility are scheduled for completion in May 1962, according to Almon Durkee, an official of Linn Smith Associates, Inc., Birmingham.

Durkee said construction bids for the 200-bed unit totaled $838,970 — approximately $100,000 less than was appropriated for the project by the state legislature.

The general contracting bid was awarded to the Schurrer Construction Co., 2431 Pontiac Road, Pontiac Township.

BUILDING TO BE LOW

A reception area, kitchen, employes' lounge and administration offices will overlook landscaped courtyards in the interior of the low, sprawling building.

The reception area leads to a central corridor which will serve the wards in the new nursery. Each ward will be a self-contained unit, including a service area, bathroom facilities and isolation room.

Special wards and isolation rooms will be air conditioned.

Individual playrooms and yards will be immediately adjacent to each ward. All floors in the children's play areas, each containing sandboxes and pools, will be heated through a system of underground pipes.

Steam and hot water heating will be piped from a central heating unit located elsewhere on the grounds of the institution. Meals will be prepared in an existing kitchen at the State Home.

However, patients will be fed at a dining room in the nursery building which also will contain a new diet kitchen.

Kitchen equipment will be furnished by the Great Lakes Supply Co. of Detroit. Two Flint firms, the LeMire Electrical Construction Co. and the Flint Plumbing and Heating Co., were awarded the other contracts by the state.

The architects and contractors met with state officials in Lansing yesterday to coordinate plans for the new building.

Durkee said the four other wards would be added when more funds are appropriated by the state legislature.

PROPOSED NURSERY BUILDING — This is the architect's conception of how the $1.7-million nursery building at the Lapeer State Home and Training School will look when it is completed. Work is scheduled to begin immediately on the first five wards of the proposed nine-ward facility. Architects and contractors met with state officials yesterday to coordinate plans for the new structure.

Shed Fire Does $25,000 Damage

Two Storage Buildings in Utica Gutted During Half-Hour Blaze

UTICA—Flames which shot 40 feet in the air at the height of a $25,000 blaze here yesterday afternoon gutted two storage sheds containing straw and coal behind the Utica Farm Bureau building, 6961 Auburn Road.

About 20 firemen and three pieces of equipment from Utica, Shelby Township and Sterling Township departments were used to fight the fire.

Utica Fire Chief Marvin Stadler reported the blaze was brought under control in half an hour before it could spread to other buildings along the New York Central railroad tracks next to the Farm Bureau sheds.

However, Stadler said the three departments remained at the scene for nearly an hour and a half, extinguished small blazes which broke out in the piles of straw and coal after the major portion of the fire had been put out.

MAN IS INJURED

One man was hurt, but not as a direct result of the fire.

Utica fireman Joseph Swan stepped on a nail while fighting the blaze. He was released after treatment at St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

The fire apparently was touched off by sparks from a freight train which passed along the tracks next to the sheds just before the blaze broke out at 3 p.m., according to Utica police.

The walls of both one-story frame structures were damaged, but neither was completely destroyed. The loss of supplies in the two sheds was estimated at $25,000 by Utica police.

Stadler said there was no threat to the Farm Bureau offices on Auburn Road or any other occupied buildings in the area. Most of the nearby structures along the railroad tracks are used for storage only, he said.

Possible RO Twp. Dope Peddler

Killed at His Front Door

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — An alleged 26-year-old dope peddler was shot to death in his home early this morning after being awakened from his sleep to answer the front doorbell.

The dead man is Richard White of 20863 Westview St.

According to township police, he was roused from his sleep about 1 a.m. by the ringing of the doorbell. His wife Marie said she heard voices and then two shots.

She ran to the door and found her husband on the floor groaning, a bullet hole in his neck. He was dead by the time police arrived.

The second shot went astray.

Mrs. White told officers she saw two men run for their car parked in front of the house after the shooting. A neighbor, John Marshall of 29878 Westview, was awakened by the shots and gave a description of the getaway car.

Form School Fact-Finding Committee

SOUTHFIELD — A fact-finding citizens committee has been formed by the Southfield Board of Education to study both present and future needs of the Southfield School District, it was announced today.

The citizens' advisory committee, which will work under the supervision of Dr. Donald Leu of Michigan State University, will study the school district from four angles.

Separate subcommittees in the 50-member citizens' group will report on school plant facilities and enrollment, educational programs, school finance and the school community.

The Board of Education will pay some $1,500 for the survey. Its share of the cost represents about 60 per cent of the total to be spent on the study. The rest will be paid for by Michigan State University.

One section of the survey will be devoted to a study of projected school enrollment, present school facilities and their ultimate capacity.

PLAN REVIEWS

The present teaching staff in the school district and the type of educational program desired in the community also will be reviewed.

Financial resources now available to schools, costs of school construction and recommendations on expenditures for the future will be studied by another subcommittee.

A fourth group will gather facts on home ownership, population growth, zoning and other details connected with the influence of the community on the school system.

Chairmen of the subcommittees include Robert Puller, school plant facilities and enrollment; Mrs. Lester Symons, educational programs; Albert Landeck, school finance; and Mrs. Webster Owen, community.

Once completed, the reports will be compiled by Dr. Leu and his MSU staff who will organize the citizens' findings for presentation to the board of education.

A preliminary report will be ready in about 60 days. The complete study is to be presented to the school board in September.

Postmaster Out of Post at Last

Real-Estate Salesman Clark H. Jeffers Will Take Over in Milford

MILFORD—After two months of frustration in trying to be relieved of his job, acting postmaster Robert H. Gorsline learned today that his successor has been named.

The new acting postmaster is Clark H. Jeffers of 648 Canal St. Jeffers is a real estate salesman.

He is expected to take over later this week.

Republican Gorsline submitted his letter of resignation to the Post-Office Department Jan. 17. It was followed by three other resignations. Each time the authorities failed to accept it.

SAW NO HOPE

Gorsline, 65, explained he wanted to resign because he knew, as a Republican, that he would never be confirmed as postmaster under the present administration.

"So I decided to beat them to the punch and resign," Gorsline said. "It didn't work."

The former school superintendent said that with the naming of his replacement, he will be able to devote more time to his nursery business.

Gorsline, today still was waiting to meet the man who was to take over his $6,255-a-year post.

Hazard, who served for six years as an advisor to the seaway authority, said: "We still haven't realized the full impact of the seaway. Now that it is here, we still don't know what to do with it," he said.

Murder Tale Is Played Back

Joseph Peel's Lawyer Listens to Recording of Killer's Confession

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (UPI) — A deadly tale of murder on a moonlit ocean unwound from reels of tape recordings today in a closed-door listening session that has suspended the murder trial of Joseph A. Peel Jr.

Peel, handsome 37-year-old former West Palm Beach Municipal Court judge, listened with Judge D. C. Smith and defense and prosecution lawyers while the voice of Floyd (Lucky) Holzapfel recounted how he drowned Circuit Court Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth on the night of June 14, 1955 on Peel's orders.

Holzapfel has repeated his confession on the witness stand in the trial, which started March 6.

But defense attorney Carlton Welch won the right to listen to the tapes in hopes of finding discrepancies in what was said in the recordings and at the trial.

Smith has said he will rule after hearing the 40 to 50 hours of playback whether the tapes are admissible as evidence.

Property-Tax Vote Defeated in House

LANSING (AP) — A proposal for a statewide vote on limiting property tax assessments to 50 per cent of the true cash value lay in a legislative graveyard today.

After three debates stretching over three weeks, the House defeated the measure 54-49 Wednesday. It needed 74 votes to move to the Senate where two-thirds approval would be needed to send the question to voters as a proposed amendment to the state constitution.

The House vote generally followed party lines, with Republicans supporting the resolution and Democrats opposing it.

Game Judy Is Back With Shapely Gams

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Judy's back, and she's sure enough the new Garland we've been hearing about.

THOMAS

The game gal who starred for 20 years in Hollywood has returned for her first movie in almost seven years. The last one was "A Star Is Born," a handsome job that got her an Academy nomination.

Even at 38 she has the glow of legend about her. You think of the youthful triumphs, and the mature years full of troubles and disappointment. The smash comeback at the Palace, then other times of illness and problems.

The travails now seem far behind her. When I saw her on the set of "Judgment at Nuremberg," she was as cheerful as a starlet.

She was dressed in easy Garland style—long-tailed man's shirt over tight pants. Her size is often cause for comment from those who expect her to look as trim as Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz." She made the film classic 22 years ago.

She is still a looker. Her face seems slimmer than in recent years. Though she is inclined to be buxom, she tapers down to a pair of shapely gams. These were personal observations. She is bored with questions about her weight, and with good reason.

Is she mad at Hollywood?

"No, not at all," she replied. "How could I be? I've had some wonderful times here.

TO BE IN LONDON

"I am selling my house here merely because it's more convenient for me to live in London and New York. My work is centered around those places; Hollywood is actually out of the way as a place to live. You have to fly five hours just to get to New York. Then it's a matter of getting to Europe or wherever else I'm working."

She said she would keep a house in London and an apartment in New York. She'll return to England in June, after her three children get out of school.

In contrast to "A Star is Born" which took six months to film, she is working eight days in "Judgment." Like Marlene Dietrich and Montgomery Clift, she is playing a witness at the war crimes trial of German jurists. Judy plays a German girl who became involved in a Nazi racial pollution case.

"More movies? Sure, I'm interested. They can be either dramatic or musical; it doesn't matter to me. I just want to do good pictures."

Her future plans include a concert tour of the United States; she just scored a hit with her two-and-a-half hour song sessions in Texas. She also has some dates in Europe and may do the London company of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown"—if she can sew up the film rights, too.

Chiefs Bury Rochester, 75-34; Meet Shamrocks for Regional Title

Catholic Central on PCH Horizon

By BILL CORNWELL

Mighty Detroit Catholic Central towers over Pontiac Central's basketball horizon today following the Chiefs' 75-34 massacre of Rochester Wednesday night in the Class A regional tournament at Southfield.

Art Van Ryzin's PCH cagers tangle with the powerful Shamrocks Friday night at 8 o'clock on the Southfield court with a regional crown and a state quarterfinal berth at stake.

The Chiefs will be bidding for a quarter-final position for the 3rd straight year when they line up against Detroit D. C., which boasts a 16-1 record.

The Chiefs can be sure of one thing — the Detroiters will be an entirely different type of opponent than the thoroughly outclassed foe they met last night.

Rochester didn't even belong on the same floor with PCH and Falcon coach Gene Konley probably would be the first to admit it.

The Chiefs completely buried Rochester and Van Ryzin started pouring substitutes into the game in the 3rd quarter. No regular played in the 4th period, all 14 varsity boys saw action and eight of them scored.

Four PCH players broke into double figures to lead the "humane" scalping of the Falcons.

Rudy Ransom, who joined the varsity unit for the last game of the regular season schedule, took tourney scoring honors for the 2nd time in three games by bagging 15 points. It was his 2nd 15-point tournament performance.

Clarence Douglas followed with 14 points, George Fed contributed 12 in addition to collecting a dozen rebounds and Bradell Pritchett added 11.

Rochester had nobody in double figures. Phil Kwierant tallied seven points for the best Falcon effort.

The Chiefs were long overdue for a hot shooting night and they finally erupted against the outmanned Falcons. PCH shot nearly 49 per cent from the floor, netting 18 of 69 shots, and also had its top showing of the season at the foul line by sinking 18 of 28.

For the Chiefs' sake, it is to be hoped that there are still a few buckets left in the wigwam for the Shamrocks tomorrow, They'll need all they can muster.

Central scored the first six points of the game and then breezed merrily along, enjoying quarterly leads of 18-11, 35-17, and 58-27.

Despite their mauling of Rochester, the Chiefs will find themselves underdogs against Detroit C. C. The Chiefs, state finalists a year ago, now have an over-all 13-5 record.

The anticipated Highland Park-Ferndale regional showdown at Ferndale was consummated yesterday when both posted victories in semifinal activity.

Ferndale was forced to pull out all the stops to edge Royal Oak Dondero in overtime, 55-54, while the Parkers had no difficulty sailing past RO Kimball, 59-44.

Ferndale blew a 30-18 halftime margin and the score stood 50-50 at the end of regulation time. Gary Burkhart's fould shot proved to be the winning point.

Larry Tregoning paced Ferndale with 16 points while Doug Rose and Ron Gean each tallied 13 for Dondero. Bill Chilton and Craig Kirby scored 12 apiece for Kimball while Bobby Hill swished 20 for the Parkers. Ferndale and Highland Park collide Saturday evening.

Duane Soine collected 24 points, 10 from the foul stripe, to spark Roseville to a comeback 57-51 triumph over Mt. Clemens in the "A" regional at East Detroit. George Tillery netted 16 for Mt. Clemens, which led at halftime by a 44-39 count.

Roseville clashes with Harper Woods Notre Dame tomorrow night at 7:30 for the East Detroit regional crown.

Flint Central moved into the finals of the Class A regional at the Flint IMA by outscoring city rival Southwestern, 80-78, in a free-wheeling contest. Jerry Robertson bagged 21 points and Cloyce Dickerson 19 for the Indians, who meet tonight's Saginaw High-Arthur Hill winner Saturday for the title.

Rams Beaten by Ann Arbor in 'C' Regional

Cubs Size Pays Off; Ortonville Squeezes By Millington

By CHUCK ABAIR

The St. Frederick Rams joined the ranks of prep tournament spectators today following a 61-52 defeat at the hands of Ann Arbor University High at Ypsilanti last night.

It was the 3rd straight year Coach Gene Wright's charges had bowed in the regional opener.

The loss for the locals left Ortonville as the lone remaining area Class C hopeful. The Blackhawks nipped familiar rival Millington 55-54 at Bay City Wednesday.

Inconsistency plagued the Rams last night. They played in spurts all the way. Ann Arbor did the same but held command by dominating the rebounds and hitting better on free throws.

St. Fred turned in its most steady performance when it was too late. University High went from a 44-33 lead at the end of three quarters to a 20-point advantage with only four minutes to go. The Rams scored 12 successive points—7 by reserve Craig Thomson—before the victors made a foul. Three more for Pontiac made it 57-52 but Ann Arbor added insurance points in the closing seconds.

The losers trailed 13-9 at the 1st period after being ahead early. They were ahead by three when Ann Arbor hit eight straight points for a 27-22 edge at halftime.

A similar situation occured in the 3rd stanza. The Rams got behind by eight but roared back for a 33-33 deadlock. So University put together an 11-point spree.

It was an evening of frustration for the Suburban Catholic champs, especially little scoring ace Mike Reed. He was covered like a blanket all the way as the Cubs used a four-man zone and a chaser on him. He took 15 shots but was rushed all the time. He hit four and a total of 12 points as top man in the losing cause.

Pete Andrews fired in 18, Dennis Stevens 14 and Jim Beamer 11. Stevens and Beamer, both 6-5, controlled the boards giving the Ann Arbor 2nd and 3rd shots. Beamer had missed most of the season with a broken arm and was still wearing a small cast. He took six shots and made five.

University hit 43.6 per cent on field goals. St. Fred a 32.7 mark after both teams had been an even 40 per cent at the half.

Loose defensive play hurt the Rams and bad passes did damage at times but those rebounds and free throws were the big factors.

Jim Hutchings scored 23 points and made what proved to be the clinching basket for Ortonville because Mike Zink hit a goal at the final buzzer for Millington.

The Hawks got off to an 18-6 lead but it was 23-18 at halftime and then 38-33 starting the last eight minutes. Pat Barrick subbed for the ailing Doug Moore and added 12 and Bob Brosseau hit 11 for the winners. Brosseau and Hutchings worked well on rebounds. Ned Lockwood swished 20 and Zink 17.

Ortonville goes against Bay City St. Joseph Friday night at 7.

Henry Cooper Ready to Meet Floyd for Title

LONDON (AP)—Henry Cooper —"Our 'Enery" to his legion of cockney fight fans—served notice Wednesday that he is ready to meet Floyd Patterson any time the heavyweight champion is ready.

"I want this chance more than anything," the 26-year-old British titleholder said after being told he is high on the priority list for the next crack at Patterson's crown. "The way I feel about it, I know I can bring credit to the British nation."

Already Britons are dreaming of winning the most coveted honor in boxing. They haven't had a heavyweight champion since Bob Fitzsimmons back in the 1890s.

Pistons Face Two-Game Deficit in NBA Playoff

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers are zeroing in on the right to play the St. Louis Hawks for the Western Division title in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Lakers whipped the Detroit Pistons 127-118 Wednesday night to take a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-5 first round playoffs. And even if the Pistons square the series by winning the next two games at Detroit, Friday night and Saturday afternoon, they would have to play the deciding fifth game Sunday at Los Angeles.

As in Tuesday's opening game Elgin Baylor, the former All-America at Seattle, was the big gun for the Lakers. He fired in 49 points, making it 89 points in two nights against the Pistons.

The Lakers trailed 55-54 at halftime, but Baylor came through with 22 of his points in a hot third quarter as the Lakers rallied for their 11th victory in 15 games with the Pistons. Baylor got nine points in two minutes midway of the third quarter to put the Lakers ahead for good.

Jerry West, the former All-America from West Virginia, helped the Laker cause with 31 points. Gene Shue and Sheilie McMillen led the Pistons with 24 points each.

The Eastern Division first round playoffs resume tonight at Syracuse with the Philadelphia Warriors and Wilt Chamberlain trying to square the series with the Nats at 1-1. Syracuse beat the Warriors in the opening game at Philadelphia Tuesday night.

Elks Advance to Cage Finals

Defeat Highland Park, 70-57; Buckner Ousted by Garden City

One Pontiac basketball champion moved into the finals and another was eliminated in Intercity tournament action Wednesday night.

Elks No. 723, Pontiac's Class D champ, gained the finals of the Garden City tourney by trouncing Highland Park 70-57. The Elks battle for the championship tonight.

Buckner Finance, the city's Class B ruler and a pre-tournament choice to win the post-season event at Detroit's Lasky Fieldhouse, had a sour evening and was upset by Garden City 48-43.

Abie McLarahmore scored 20 points and teammate Howard Cole bagged 18 to pace the Elks' triumph. Elmer Sigmon, former Highland Park High School ace, hooped 20 in defeat.

A miserable third quarter doomed Buckner, which was ahead at halftime by a 23-18 score. Garden City moved into a 35-34 edge entering the fourth period and the local cagers never recovered.

Larry Hummel and Nick Neira starred in a losing cause with 12 and 12 points, respectively. High-scoring Jerry Paul forgot his shoes, borrowed a pair, then climaxed a bid night all around by fouling out in the third stanza. Brian Nelson scored 23 points for Garden City.

Pete Rademacher Offers Johansson 'Comeback' Bout

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Former Olympic heavyweight boxing champion Pete Rademacher has challenged Ingemar Johansson to a fight which, he thinks, would give the winner a big boost along the comback trail.

Rademacher and Johansson have one thing in common—heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has kayoed both.

Rademacher, said Wednesday he has contacted promoters Chris Dundee in Miami and Sid Flaherty in Seattle, Wash., in hopes of lining up a match with Johansson.

NCAA Hockey Event Begins

It'll Be U.S. Skaters Against Canadians in National Opener

DENVER (AP) — How well Canadian boys vs. American boys do in college hockey will get a laboratory test in the NCAA tournament in the Denver University Arena.

Two New York state teams, Rensselaer of Troy and St. Lawrence of Canton, open the nationals tonight.

The winner advances to Saturday night's championship game against either the defending champion Denver Pioneers or Minnesota, who will clash Friday night.

The Denver team, sporting a 29-1-1 record, the best ever made by a U.S. college ice outfit, is made up entirely of Canadian skaters, except for two substitutes from Massachusetts and California.

Nine of Rensselaer's 17-player squad are from Canada and St. Lawrence has 10 from across the northern boundary. Minnesota is manned entirely by Minnesotans except for Louis Nanne, sophomore defenseman from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

LAKELAND, Fla.—When snow storms and blizzards hit the northern part of the country, they usually get the headlines in Florida newspapers.

Likewise when training camps in Arizona have weather problems, the sports pages here in Florida often put plenty of emphasis on the temperature in the various camps from Lakeland to Miami.

Arizona has put a concentrated effort in getting major league teams to train there and right now four clubs hold camp in that state.

The new Los Angeles team of the American League is staying close to home, and the new Houston team of the National League has made it known it will pitch camp in Arizona in 1962.

For several years Florida weather caused concern among some of the major league teams in Florida. Two years ago, the Cincinnati Redlegs, disgusted with a long spell of rain, scheduled a few games in Cuba and Puerto Rico.

This year however many agree, and this writer as well, that the present weather has been the best in five years.

But over in Arizona a couple days of rain hampered training camp and this was all the fodder needed by Florida papers.

A Tampa paper featured the fact that Don Zimmer, who lives in St. Petersburg, missed a day of workout because of a sore throat. In an editor's note in the story the comment was made that when Zimmer left St. Pete two weeks ago he was in perfect health. It was also noted in capital letters that RAIN forced postponement of Chicago workouts in Mesa, Arizona.

Tiger manager Bob Scheffing, himself a resident of Arizona, chuckled at the implications made by the Florida papers about the weather in the western state.

★ ★ ★ ★

"They don't call off practice because of the weather too often in Arizona," Scheffing commented as he tried not to show any obvious criticism of the climate here in the Sunshine State.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Nancy Messler, ex-Waterford High school student, who appears in the Cyprus Gardens water ski show, took second place last week in the Tampa invitational ski jumping tournament. She jumped 75 feet, finishing second behind Judy Rosch, the Cyprus champion who hit 77 feet.

★ ★ ★ ★

Recent visitor at the Tigers' camp at Henley Field was Spike Briggs, who many will recall suffered a cerebral attack several months ago. Spike was looking fine. He said he was more upset over the fact that his doctor was keeping tab on him so as not to get into too much work. His winter home is in Lake Wales.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Bok and son Larry, with his Tiger cap and shirt, were visitors at Henley Field. The Boks live near Union Lake and they are making a two week tour of the baseball camps.

★ ★ ★ ★

In the intra-squad game played by the Tigers, pinch-hitter Dick Gernert came up to the plate three times, each time for a different pitcher. The Pacific Coast League has adopted such a rule, allowing a pinch hitter for the pitcher without having to remove the hurler from the game. Some of the major league teams are protesting the rule.

Encore by Narleski, Mossi Helps Tigers

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, two pitchers who the Tigers know must come through for them this season, made an impressive encore yesterday as the Bengals defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-3.

The two pitchers, who developed lame-arms in the 1960 season, have now combined to allow only one run and seven hits in 12 innings.

In the opener, Mossi gave up one hit and Narleski pitched hitless ball for three innings, Yesterday each alowed three hits with a lone run chalked up against Mossi.

The disappointment, however, was Paul Foytack who pitched his second three-inning stint with wildness. Foytack ran the count on most batters and was guilty of a couple more wild pitches.

The oddity of the game was the fact that the two veteran outfielders on respective teams, Bill Bruton and Stan Musial, were guilty of errors which allowed several runs to score.

Each dropped ordinary fly balls, Musial in the 6th when the Tigers scored four runs and Bruton in the 9th when the Cardinals got their last two runs.

The Tigers got their first two runs in the opening frame when Jake Wood started the game by beating out a scratch hit to third.

Bruton flied out and Kaline sent Wood to third with a single. But when Kaline made a try for second base Wood made a dash for home. The relay came into home and the ball struck umpire Mel Steiner in the leg, Kaline who had already reached third came home on the play.

The Cardinals came back in the bottom of the first with a single by Julian Javier and a triple by Bill White.

In the 6th inning the Tigers got four big runs on only two hits but the encouraging factor was a clutch single by Steve Boros with the bases loaded. Boros has had one hit in four games prior to yesterday.

Kaline started with a single and Rocky Colavito was safe when Musial dropped the fly ball. Norm Cash walked and then Boros came through with a clean hit to center.

Chico Fernandez, making his first starting assignment since reporting, hit a hot grounder to third. Ken Boyer let the ball get through him and two more runs scored.

The two final Cardinal runs came in the 9th when Hal Smith walked, Javier singled and Bruton dropped White's fly ball.

Manager Bob Scheffing was extremely pleased with the effectiveness of Narleski. "He was throwing hard and stayed ahead of the battes," Scheffing noted afterward.

The Tiger manager is now ready to let his young hurlers make longer stints on the mound. Bob Bruce and Phil Regan will each go 4½ innings today and then Hank Aguirre will be called on for relief duties if needed.

Bruce and Regan, who did an outstanding job in beating the Minnesota Twins, are Scheffing's prime hopes for landing starting jobs this season.

Friday, the Dodgers visit Lakeland and Frank Lary gets the starting nod.

Small College Swim Championships Open

WARREN (AP)—The battle for the vacated National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' swimming championship, symbol of small college supremacy, starts today.

There are 16 schools entered in the three-day NAIA swimming and diving championships in the Fitzgerald High School pool. Detroit, which doesn't have its own pool, is the host for the fifth annual NAIA meet.

The title was won last year by Southern Illinois, which abdicated its throne by withdrawing from the NAIA. North Central, another Illinois power and winner of two previous meet, is favored to succeed to the championship.

Five events were booked today including the 200-yard individual medley finals.

Van Dikes City 'A' Kings; as Figured, T&C Tops 'C'

Van Dikes' hustling cagers are the "Cinderella" boys of the City Basketball League today after winning the Class A recreation Championship Wednesday night at Pontiac Central with an 84-67 triumph over favored Newman AME.

Completely reversing their regular season form in the annual playoffs, the Van Dike cagers climaxed a long, uphill struggle last night with their decisive conquest of the city crown.

Class C, on the other hand, followed the form sheet all the way. Town & Country Lounge, winner of the regular season race in a breeze, annexed the city "C" title as expected by whipping the Pontiac Police, 48-33, on the PCH court yesterday.

Lanky Roosevelt Wells poured 37 points through the hoop to lead Van Dikes to the "A" throne room. Wells bucketed 17 field goals and 3 of 4 at the foul line. Amos Bailey contributed 20 points to the cause and Willie Lindsay added 10.

Fred Davis starred in defeat as he swished 27 points for the Newman quintet. Jerry Williams followed with 13.

Van Dikes forged into a 42-36 halftime advantage and wrapped up the decision with a 23-13 scoring bulge in the 3rd quarter.

The new city champs thus completed their rise from the cellar to the top of the heap. They finished the regular season race in the basement with a 3-9 record and lost an overtime game to Newman in the playoff opener.

Then they battled their way back to the top of the pile through the loser's bracket and on their way to the crown they eliminated regular season champion 300 Lounge and conquered Newman two straight in showdown fights.

Van Dikes will now enter the Michigan Recreation Association's annual state tournament at Battle Creek.

T&C wrapped up its tourney title with a 11-7 point margin in the 3rd period after trailing at halftime, 13-12. Earl Mudge fired 15 points to pace the T&C triumph while the best the Police could do was a 9-point effort by Smokey Burgess.

Memphis Ousted, 63-49

Another area high school basketball team bowed out of the tournament picture Wednesday night when Memphis of the Southern Thumb League was eliminated by Detroit St. Bernard, 63-49, in Class D regional action at Willow Run.

Weiss' 2 Salaries Are Thrown to Ford Frick

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The question of George Weiss' two baseball salaries has been tossed in the lap of Commissioner Ford Frick.

It's Frick's job to decide whether Weiss would be violating baseball law in drawing a reported $70,000 a year in his new job as president of the National League entry in New York while still getting pay from his old bosses, the New York Yankees.

Dan Topping, the Yankees' president, clarified terms of his contract with Weiss in St. Petersburg Wednesday.

Weiss, 66, Tuesday was signed to a 5-year contract as president of the New York NL team, which begins play in 1962. He still is considered an employe of the Yankees as a consultant. Baseball law forbids a man receiving payment from two sources.

Weiss insists there is no violation. He said his pay from the Yankees represented deferred compensation.

Films Prove That Ingo Was Still Down at 10

NEW YORK (AP) — Was Ingemar Johansson up before the count of 10? The films say no.

Ingo, the beaten challenger, thinks he made it. So do many others who saw the controversial knockout at Miami Beach Monday night.

Floyd Patterson, the victorious champion, has no opinion on the dispute.

Referee Billy Regan and knockdown timekeeper Scotty Land were, and are, adamant. Johansson failed to regain his feet in time after being felled by Patterson late in the sixth round, according to these two officials.

Now, two days after the fight, official films of the heavyweight title match at Convention Hall support Regan and Land—with a second and a fraction to spare.

TelePrompTer, which beamed the fight on closed circuit television and produced the official film of the bout, gave a preview of the movie and later added its pronouncement: "Johansson was not down for less than ten seconds, but for more than 11."

TelePrompTer says its filmed evidence is "mathematically and incontrovertibly accurate." E. J. Spiro, who produced the fight movie, explained that the synchronized camera used moves at a fixed rate of 24 frames a second and that by count the sixth round knockout segment went 266 frames or 11 1-12 seconds.

* * *

Spiro said the frame count started at zero, when Johansson's gloves first touched the canvas after Patterson had chopped him down with a clubbing right to the back of the head. The count continued until Johansson lifted his gloves off the floor and started to stand up.

* * *

After the preview, TelePrompTer spokesmen emphasized they were not criticizing the officiating, or trying to infer Johansson got a long count, but were acting in what they termed a "repertorial" capacity.

Clarkston Advances to Final Game

By DON VOGEL

"One of these nights we are going to put together four good quarters. It will have to be soon."

Clarkston coach Don Mauti smiled as he said those words. But he still appeared shaken by the Wolves 54-49 victory over stubborn Redford St. Mary last night in the Class B regional at Birmingham Seaholm.

The Wolves started fast and finished strong. In between they played shaky basketball, giving Mauti and the Clarkston fans several anxious moments.

"We haven't been able to play what you could call a good full game in some time," said the coach. "This game was a good example."

Clarkston will need 32 minutes of sound basketball Saturday in the regional championship game. The Wolves meet tonight's Fenton-Royal Oak Shrine winner for the trophy.

St. Mary lost the game, but the Rustics had the high scorer. And he did it from the foul line, almost wrecking Clarkston.

Mark Hardwick converted 17 of 23 free throws and hit two baskets for 21 points. The 6-foot forward scored all the Rustics 11 points in the final quarter on charity tosses.

Hardwick's foul shooting, and seven of 10 from the line by Jack Clancy, kept the Rustics in the game. They converted 27 of 37 attempts, Clarkston had a 21-11 field goal advantage.

St. Mary hit four fielders in the second half, all in the third period.

Bill Powell was the high scorer for the winners. The 6-4 senior center dropped in 18 points, 13 in the first half, and grabbed 21 rebounds.

Baskets by Hal Weston and Ron Walters moved the Wolves to a 4-0 lead in the first minute of play.

Before the opening quarter was six minutes old, Clarkston held a 18-7 lead and it looked like an easy victory.

Possibly the Wolves felt the same. The Rustics went into a full court pressing defense and Clarkston players had trouble getting their offense going.

Clancy and Hardwick gained control of the backboards from their taller opponents, and midway in the second quarter the deficit had been cut to 22-19. Then Powell started hitting and the Wolves gained an eight-point lead. But St. Mary free throws sliced the margin to 31-25 at halftime.

The Rustics' Dan Clinton popped in three fielders from the side in the third quarter to spark a rally that saw St. Mary catch the Wolves at 38-all. A layup by Ron Lundy enabled Clarkston to carry a two-point lead into the final eight minutes.

Hardwick then started his parade to the foul line. At the end of three and a half minutes of play, Clarkston had one basket by Lundy but the Rustics had six free throws by Hardwick and a 44-42 advantage.

Reserve guard Chuck Funk tied the count again by stealing the ball from Clinton at mid-court and dribbling in for a layup. A free throw seconds later by Mike Applegate put the Wolves ahead to stay.

The Rustics lost Clancy on fouls with 43 seconds left in the third quarter. This definitely hurt their offense. He had scored 15 points when ousted. Weston was waved out on fouls with three minutes left in the game.

Tax-Plagued Ingemar Basks in Florida Sun

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Instead of flying back to wintry north Europe, Ingemar Johansson apparently was resigned today to basking in Florida's sunshine until his next court round with the Internal Revenue Service.

His lawyers said also that enough of Johansson's money is in this country to pay the $1 million income tax he allegedly owes —if the government can prove he does. They said Ingo has $325,000 in escrow in a New York bank and also has about $1 million in proceeds from Monday night's Miami Beach fight, in which champion Floyd Patterson kayoed the Swede for the second time.

Johansson still was registered today at a Palm Beach resort.

A possibility of his departure was raised when an air line said Johansson and his sweetheart, Birgit Lundgren, had arranged for a flight to Amsterdam Wednesday night and another air line said Ingo had booked passage to New York.

Miss Lundgren denied these reports.

"Johansson knows he has to stay in this country for awhile," she said.

Johansson said he would spend a few days at Palm Beach and later would go to Switzerland — where much of his wealth is banked —and then to his native Sweden.

Flint JC Cagers Reach National Quarter-Finals

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Flint, Mich., headed into the quarterfinals of the National Junior College basketball tournament today after a solid 86-66 triumph over Burlington, Iowa.

Flint's well-balanced attack enabled the Michigan team to score an impressive victory yesterday despite a one-man show by Burlington's Ira Harge.

The 6-foot-8 center poured in 42 points to set a tournament high for this year.

Hit 2853 at ABC Wednesday

Buds to Try Again

DETROIT (AP) — The Budweisers have suffered one big frustration during their seven years of leadership in the bowling world. They never have won an American Bowling Congress team championship.

The star-studded St. Louis team, which loses its sponsor at the end of this season, takes to the ABC lanes for the last time tonight in an effort to nail down the one title which has eluded it.

Budweiser's chances already are tarnished. A mediocre 2853 series was its best last night in the first of its two classic division blocks.

Don Carter led the Buds with 614 after being presented his fifth "Bowler of the Year" trophy.

Great Lakes Bowling Corp. of Detroit backed into second place in the classic division with 8725. After a 2968 start Tuesday night, Great Lakes mustered 2787 last night.

Joe Paulus and Lou Sielaff, members of the Great Lakes team, combined earlier in the day for 1277 and second place in the classic doubles. They fell 18 pins short of overtaking Therm Gibson and Bob Hitt of Detroit, the doubles leaders since March 9. Paulus claimed third place in the classic all-events with 1857.

Pete Carter, another member of the Great Lakes roster, took second place in the classic singles with 654.

But Wings Are Tied by Chicago

Howe Continues Hot Scoring Streak

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gordie Howe extended his scoring streak to 18 consecutive games last night and coach Sid Abel continued his experiment of juggling the Red Wing goalies.

In the final meeting of the regular season between the two clubs, Bobby Hull's goal in the closing minutes lifted the Chicago Black Hawks into a 2-2 deadlock with Detroit.

But the game meant nothing in terms of the waning national hockey league race.

The regular campaign winds up this weekend and both teams were probably looking ahead to next week's Stanley Cup playoffs. Chicago can finish no better or worse than third in the standings while the Red Wings are safely lodged in fourth.

Howe picked up an assist on Alex Delvecchio's first-period goal to keep his scoring string alive. He broke a club record when he cleared the 14-game mark last week and has been setting a new record with each game since.

Abel, in a determined effort to discover which of his goalies is more likely to be "hot" in the playoffs, played switcheroo with the netminders again last night.

He started off with Terry Sawchuk and then at the midway mark of the second period pulled him off the ice and installed Hank Bassen in the cage. Abel started the juggling tactics last Sunday in New York.

Val Fonteyne's 40-foot sizzler put the Red Wings in front 2-1, at 4:35 of the final session. And it looked like a Detroit victory until Hull tied it up at 15:08.

The Wings take on the Canadiens in the final game of the regular season at Olympia Sunday night.

Boston whipped New York 6-2 in last night's other contest for only its 3rd victory in 14 games with the Rangers this season. Ex-Wings Charley Burns and Murray Oliver each scored twice for the Bruins.

The Leafs and Canadiens tangle tonight at Montreal. The visitors will have three goalies on hand for the big 1st place battle.

11th Frame

By CHUCK ABAIR

The 58th American Bowling Congress is well into its second week at Cobo Hall with several good scores already in the record books for the 1961 events.

Lee Putti of Pontiac is the top local performer thus far with his 645 in regular singles. He was in 8th place for a few days but soon dropped below the No. 10 position.

Calbi Music of Pontiac has been the best of the area teams to take part thus far with 2767. Men from Farmington will bowl Thursday and Clawson keglers go at it Friday. Six Pontiac teams are on the same squad March 22.

The big tournament has been going along pretty much as expected although the new classic division got off to a slow start with some of the familiar "big name" boys way below par.

The local youngsters certainly got a big thrill out of being in on the AJBC part of the meet. Diana Rigotti of Pontiac Central should have been included on the list of girl trophy victors. She ranked 7th with 573. Her name was omitted in information obtained on the girls' handicap event.

Speaking of the junior keglers, the girls part of the Mallographic tournament will be held Saturday at Sylvan Lanes. All boys will go into action March 25 at Sylvan.

The City Women's and Elks State battles are heading into homestretch. There has not been too much excitement in the latter case since the early leaders have not been threatened in several weeks.

Plans have been completed for the Howe's Lanes 10th Annual Singles tourney. Reservations close April 11 and bowling starts four days later. There will be a guaranteed 1st prize of $500 with $250 for the runnerup post plus squad and high game awards.

SKIPPING AROUND

Recent check showed 7 men averaging 190 or better and 59 from 180 up in the Huron Bowl Classic . . . National Market Equipment Co. team of Inter-Lakes Women's loop at Sylvan, a four-member unit, rolled a 760 game featuring Dorothy Chambers with 244 for league high. She also had 222. Ruth Brewster hit 173. Eunice Paulson 172, Ernie Wisner 171, Mrs. Chambers later rolled 243-607.

Montcalm Centre teammates Tony Eisele and Neil Ricketts had an interesting duel in singles at the ABC. They never were more than two pins apart. Ricketts won 168-167, then Eisele took the next two 158-156, 193-191 . . . Classic league may be formed in southern part of Oakland County.

Godhardt's Funeral Home tops close race in Lakeland Ladies with 80 points, 716 average and high game of 883. Ten of that group's 16 teams are in City Women's tourney. Errika Crowley had a 122 triplicate in meet . . . Vin Sarro's 262-267—731 headed Farmington Classic this week. Lee Putti fired 278-685, Gerry Dunkel 235-684, Jim Stewart 267-681, Jim Nycum 236-671 and John Maznio 265-644. Young Supply topped the teams with 1103-3183.

Americans Find Ski Slopes Are Difficult

VOSS, Norway (AP) — Americans Robert Wedin of Iron Mountain, Mich., and Jim Brennan of Seattle are yet to taste anything close to victory in Scandinavian ski tournaments.

Neither managed to finish in the top 20 yesterday in the opening event of the Norwegian Jubilee ski jumping week.

Northern Wins Again in NAIA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Northern Michigan's second-seeded cagers, with two victories already tucked safely away, take the floor against Winston-Salem of North Carolina in a NAIA tournament quarter-final clash tonight.

The Wildcats qualified for the quarter finals by defeating Missouri Valley College, 75-63, last night.

Northern, ranked only behind Westminster of Pennsylvania in pre-tourney estimates, had an easier go against the Missouri quintet than it had against Carson-Newman of Tennessee the previous night.

With Wayne Monson and Jerry Wright setting the pace, the Wildcats broke up a tight game midway in the second half and sauntered to an easy triumph. Wright led all scorers with 19 points.

All Saints Seeks YMCA, District Basketball Titles

All Saints Episcopal Church can wrap up the YMCA Community Basketball League championship Friday by beating Waterford Hi-Y in the final playoff game.

Should Waterford win, a second game would be necessary. The regularly scheduled encounter gets under way at 6:30. A second game, if needed, will be at 8:30.

A victory would earn a state tournament bid for unbeaten All Saints. Even if Waterford should post a pair of upsets, it is likely the church quintet would still represent Pontiac in the district YMCA Northeast tourney at Owosso, this weekend.

The Waterford Hi-Y, not being a church sponsored team, would be ineligible even if it wins the crown.

Detroit Five Tries to Redeem Itself in NIT

Holy Cross Is First Tourney Foe for Titans

U-D, Crusaders Collide Tonight in New York's Madison Garden

NEW YORK—The time has come for the University of Detroit basketball team to atone for last year's embarrassing showing in the National Invitational Tournament.

The Titans, a year older and perhaps a year wiser, square off against Holy Cross here tonight in the opening round of the 1961 NIT and they are determined to make up for their efforts of a year ago.

Last March coach Bob Calihan's cagers carried an impressive 20-6 regular season record into the tourney and were promptly bounced out in their first game by Villanova, 88-86.

But Detroit's big guns, Dave DeBusschere and Charley North, were only sophmores then and Calihan is convinced that with an added year of savvy, they will fare better in this year's event.

Their record of 18-8 is a shade under the 1959-60 mark, but the Titans have taken on stronger opposition this time around and are more accustomed to the caliber of competition that will greet them in Madison Square Garden.

In order to defeat Holy Cross tonight, Detroit must stop Jack Foley, the seventh highest scorer in the nation with a 25.8 average. Calihan is counting on DeBusschere to thwart Foley and Big Dave, of course will be primary target of the Crusader defense.

DeBusschere will take a 22.3 average into the fray while North has connected at a 17.6 clip.

A victory over the Cross, which wound up with an 18-4 record, would send the Titans against Memphis State in a second-round battle Saturday night.

St. Louis vs Miami tonight in the first game.

Hectic Tourney Play Starts for Colleges

UND COLL BKB Roundup BJT — By The Associated Press

The stage is set for a merry weekend scramble in college basketball's post-season tournaments.

Southern California, Arizona State U. and Houston beat Oregon, Seattle and Marquette, respectively, Wednesday night and became the last teams to qualify for Friday's opening play in the NCAA regionals at Charlotte, N.C. Louisville, Lawrence, Kan, and Portland, Ore.

The hectic activity starts tonight with the quarter-finals in the NCAA small college tourney at Evansville, Ind., the opening of the National Invitation Tourney at New York, and the quarter-finals in the NAIA tourney at New York, and the quarter-finals in the NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

Southern Cal, down 36-27 at the half, rallied to beat Oregon 81-79. Arizona State, behind by 11 points at halftime, also bounced back to nip Seattle 72-70 on Gerry Hahan's field goal in the last second. Houston took an early 12-2 lead and went on to wallop Marquette 77-61.

This is the picture for the opening games in the NCAA regionals:

East at Charlotte, N.C.—Princeton (18-6) vs. St. Josephs of Philadelphia (22-4) and St. Bonaventure (23-3) vs. Wake Forest (18-10).

Far West at Portland, Ore. — Utah (21-6) vs. Los Angeles Loyola (19-6) and Southern California (21-6) vs. Arizona State (22-5).

In the NIT tonight it's St. Louis (18-8) against Miami of Florida (20-6) and Holy Cross (19-4) against Detroit (18-8).

John Rudometkin sparked Southern Cal to its come-from-behind victory over Oregon. He scored 28 points, 18 of them in the second half before he fouled out with three minutes left. At the time the Trojans led by 8 points, but Oregon chopped this in the last two minutes.

Hahan wasn't the high scorer for Arizona State with his 13 points, but most came when they were most needed. He tied the score at 60-60, helped tie it again at 68-68 after Seattle had taken a 68-64 lead, put State ahead at 70-69 then, after Dave Mills had tied it for Seattle with 16 seconds left, fired his winning basket on a jump shot as the final buzzer sounded.

Marquette, which had snapped Kentucky's 10-game winning streak last Saturday night at Chicago, went without a basket against Houston for the first five minutes and 43 seconds. The Milwaukee team never caught up as Houston steadily pulled away leading, at one time, by 27 points.

Gary Phillips and Ted Luckenbill scored 50 points between them for Houston. Phillips got 27 and Luckenbill 23.

Junior Wings Champions

The puck bounded the right way for the Detroit Junior Wings at Windsor Arena last night and Dick Devine and Jack Hancock took advantage of it to give Detroit the Border Cities Hockey League playoff championship.

Detroit capped a late surge when Hancock scored at 8:08 of an overtime session to give his team a 4-3 victory.

Ironically, it was one week ago to the night that Detroit went into the final period of the fourth playoff game with a 2-0 lead and saw everything bounce against them as Windsor rallied for 6 goals.

But last night it was different. Windsor's N&D's, with single goals in the first and second period went into the final stanza with a 2-0 lead. At 7:32 of the last period, Jerry Spinolli shot from a corner scramble toward the Windosr net.

The puck bounced off a defenseman's leg and goalie Bob Sneddon's pad into the net. Then, in a wild goalmouth scramble Jimmy Peters, son of Detroit coach Jim Peters, scored to give Detroit a tie at 16:20.

The third period was marked by a scrap between Devine and Windsor defenseman and captain Doug Specht.

Kirk Scott, fiery Windsor star winger, was given a 10-minute misconduct for arguing the call and a game misconduct when he shoved the referee.

Scott nearly set off a free-for-all when he took a poke at coach Peters as he left the ice.

The overtime was just over a minute old when Devine took a pass from Don Jaeger, skated around behind the Windsor net and fired toward Sneddon from an "impossible" angle.

Specht scored unassisted at 4:49 to set the stage for Hancock's clincher.

Devine stickhandled all around the net, faking three Windsor players and passing to Hancock for the score.

The Junior Wings now move up the ladder and will battle in the Ontario Junior "B" Playoffs.

Sneddon had 40 saves to 34 for Detroit goalie Pat Rupp.

Lakeland Pharmacy and Spencer Floor Covering clash Friday night on the Crary Junior High court at 7:15 to decide the Waterford Recreation League's Class A basketball champion for the regular season schedule. Both quintets ended the campaign in a tie for 1st place with 14-2 records.

Lakeland forced the deadlock for the top Wednesday night by drubbing Tom Thumb Grill, 88-81, at Crary. Stu Thorell bagged 27 points for the Pharmacy cagers while Dick Chambers scored 20 in a losing cause.

Friday's Lakeland-Spencer playoff will be a "rubber" match. They beat each other twice during the season.

Two "B" games are slated tonight on the Crary floor. Ron's Sunoco plays Steve's Market at 8 o'clock, followed by a 9:15 duel between Frostop and the Greek Merchants.

Convocation April 11 at MSUO

Teachers: Wise Up to Needed Subjects

College students planning teaching careers are choosing "unrealistic majors" and ignoring public education's areas of greatest need, according to L. J. Hetenyi, chairman of the teacher education program at Michigan State University Oakland.

In spite of the critical shortage of elementary teachers, he said, as many as two-thirds of all students are preparing to teach in secondary schools.

And, of those planning to teach in secondary schools, about one-half are majoring in history and social sciences—fields that are currently oversupplied.

Hetenyi said that in some sections of the country last year the ratio of applicants to teach in these fields was 25 to one.

Hetenyi has called a convocation of all MSUO students planning teaching careers to guide college students away from the pitfalls of improper preparation.

SPECIALISTS TO TALK

Scheduled for April 11, the convocation will deal directly with the opportunities and difficulties in various areas of public education and will include talks by four specialists in the field.

Hetenyi said that in the secondary field the largest needs are for qualified teachers of mathematics, natural sciences, foreign languages — particularly Russian — and, to a lesser extent, English.

Russian, according to Hetenyi, is being demanded more and more by high school students but the supply of qualified teachers and persons preparing to teach the language is very small.

Speakers at the convocation will include George Peterson, assistant director of placement in charge of placement of teacher education graduates, Michigan State University, discussing "Opportunities for Teachers."

Evart Ardis, director of the bureau of appointments and occupational information, University of Michigan, will speak on "What an Administrator Looks for in Selecting a Teacher."

"What a Teacher Candidate Should Look for in Selecting a School System" will be the subject viewed by Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent of personnel, Pontiac School District.

James Covert, Royal Oak superintendent of schools, will speak on "Pitfalls in Preparing for a Teaching Career."

The talks will begin at 4 p.m. in North Foundation Hall, to be followed by a "Coffee hour" at which students will be able to ask the speakers questions and have informal discussions.

Members of the MSUO Teacher Education Association (TEA) will serve as hosts. President of the association is Beverly Anne Donato, 19, of 2124 Ostrum St., Waterford Township.

"Since about half of MSUO's sophomores and about one-third of the freshmen are planning to teach, I think we are very fortunate to have the opportunity to meet with leaders in the field and discuss problems with them," Miss Donato said.

Spy Guilt Hangs on Answers to 12 Questions

LONDON (UPI)—The prosecution at Britain's biggest spy trial in 10 years charged today that 12 questions found in the handbag of a 45-year-old spinster represented a threat to the security of Britain and NATO.

A prosecution witness said the questions had been translated from Russian.

According to crown attorneys, the answers to the questions would have given an enemy nation a complete picture of Britain's anti-submarine defense, including plans for future research.

The planning at Portland is based on the belief Russia would send 450 submarines into action in event of war.

May Study Mining in Upper Peninsula

LANSING (AP) — A resolution proposing a committee to study the deep-shaft mining industry in the western part of the Upper Peninsula has been introduced by Rep. Joseph S. Mack, D-Ironwood.

The committee of five members of the House of Representatives would receive expenses not to exceed $5,000 and report findings back to the 1962 legislative session.

"World conditions and national policies covering new sources of iron ore are such that continued operation of the deep-shaft mining industry in the western part of the Upper Peninsula is being threatened," Mack said.

Some of the mining companies, he said, have gone into foreign development which competes with their home companies.

Accepts Call to Head Church Conference

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Rev. Duane N. Vore, minister of the First Congregational Church here since 1954, has accepted a call as minister and superintendent of the Michigan Conference of Congregational Christian Churches.

Conference trustees voted to offer Dr. Vore the post. The appointment awaits final conference approval at a meeting in Kalamazoo May 17-18.

Contingent upon confirmation by the conference, Dr. Vore will begin his new duties in Lansing next Sept. 1.

Envoy Off to Geneva

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur H. Dean left Wednesday night by plane for the Geneva nuclear conference where he will head the U.S. delegation. He said he is "realistically hopeful" that an agreement to ban nuclear testing can be reached among the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

Good Car News Boosts Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Helped by brighter news from the auto industry, the stock market today launched its best advance in two weeks. Trading was heavy early this afternoon.

The basic industrials moved ahead on a wide front and were joined more conservatively by rails.

At the same time, a number of selected issues in various fields were actively traded and higher in response to speculative demand.

Gains of key stocks ranged from fractions to well over a point while more volatile secondary stocks advanced 2 or more points.

Little Trend Shown by Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—Except for a little firmness in soybeans, the grain futures market showed little trend either way today in early transactions on the board of trade.

Soybeans moved up as much as 3 cents a bushel within the first few minutes, but appeared to have been stalled at those levels by increased selling.

Corn showed a little strength in the new crop months and rye moved major fractions in spots, but other contracts hardly stirred from previous closes.

Business Notes

Deny Kennedy Behind Upturn in the Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican congressional leadership contended today the economy is taking a favorable turn, and that President Kennedy's legislative recommendations have nothing to do with it.

"The main thing we have to fear today about the recession is some of the presidents care it," said Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader of the House.

Halleck read the Republican statement at a news conference while Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Senate Republican leader, stood by under the Kleig lights of television, nodding approval.

The session followed the regular weekly conference of party leaders.

Wagonmaster Takes Over in Dramatic Fashion

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Wagon Train" can pull in the "help wanted" sign.

Left without a wagonmaster since the untimely death last December of rugged Ward Bond, NBC-TV's Wednesday night wanderers suddenly found themselves with two masters last night.

The official master, or ramrod, was a gold-plated, ruffle-shirted tyrant who was assigned to the wagons by the head company in St. Louis.

Portrayed by Lee Marvin, this rotter barked out orders in the best Captain Blight tradition, horsewhipped people who balked at his inhuman speed-up tactics and maintained a staff of sadistic gunmen to keep the pioneer men and women cowed.

By coincidence, old Christopher Hale, a kindly old ex-wagonmaster, also was aboard the train. Hale, portrayed by John McIntire, could mend damaged bones, wagons and toys with the sureness and charm of Jean Hersholt in the role of Dr. Dafoe.

Slow to arouse to anger, McIntire nevertheless was decisive, strong and just when the inevitable good-vs.-evil showdown arrived.

The showdown was a fist fight reminiscent of all the Johansson-Patterson bouts put together.

After losing, Marvin sought revenge but an onlooker shot him dead. This scene was a realistic and gripping a gunning-down as TV westerns have had.

The hour had a raw, interesting plot but was cluttered with a number of mushy, stiff-jointed, awkward scenes and lines. Still, the dramatic ingredients were there, though slightly overdone, and Mr. McIntire's debut goes down as a heartwarming, disarming success.

The new wagonmaster evokes confidence, oozes wisdom and strength. He's an excellent choice and I wish him many happy crossings. Incidentally, I thought March 15 was a fine night for McIntyre to make his debut in his new part.

In honor of the Ides of March, he possesses the lean and hungry look of Cassius.

Drop Narcotics Case Against Coogan

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Actor Jackie Coogan, just recovered from the mumps, felt even better when a court dismissed a misdemeanor narcotics charge against him.

Justice Arthur C. Miller ruled Wednesday there was insufficient evidence to prosecute.

Coogan, 46, and three others were arrested at his home Jan. 7. Two were not charged and the third, onetime exotic dancer Nina Carver, 40, of Hollywood, won a court delay because her attorney was ill.

Arresting officers said they found enough marijuana at Coogan's home to make 200 cigarettes.

EXPLOSION SCENE — A special "pop out" window section, shown here after it was blown out in a boiler explosion at Utica High School, probably saved many students from serious injury when the blast rocked the school building last night. About 200 students were rehearsing for a play in the auditorium of the school when the boiler exploded. The building is designed so any explosion in the furnace room is diverted away from the school and through the special windows.

Boiler Blast Scatters 300 at Utica School

Some 300 persons, most of them students rehearsing for a school play, stampeded to safety last night after a boiler in Utica High School exploded with a roar that was heard two miles away.

A 16-year-old girl was hurt in the rush for the exits when the blast shook the brick and steel school building in Shelby Township.

Marsha Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foster of 46031 Waco St., Shelby Township, tripped and struck her head on a locker.

She was reported in fair condition today at Mount Clemens General Hospital. Nurses at the hospital said the extent of her injuries was still unknown this morning.

Shelby Township Fire Chief Clyde Schmidt was investigating the accident today. He said the cause of the explosion was still undetermined.

One of the gas-fired steam boilers was badly damaged, he said, and glass windows forming the exterior of the furnace room were blown out in the blast.

The windows were designed to divert the force of any boiler explosion away from the school, the fire chief explained.

It was the second major mishap of the day covered by the township fire department, which was called out at 3 p.m. to help fight a $5,000 fire at two coal and straw storage sheds in Utica at 3 p.m.

Damage caused by the explosion was estimated at $5,000.

Alliance Withdrawal Shocking

U.N. Vexed at S. Africa

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — South Africa's racial policy faced more condemnation in the General Assembly today as speculation mounted that her split with the British Commonwealth foreshadowed withdrawal from the United Nations.

The 99-nation assembly was slated to act on a resolution assailing South African actions in Southwest Africa. The proposal was certain to get overwhelming support.

In London, Rhodesian Premier Sir Roy Welensky predicted that Australia would be the next member country to face expulsion from the British Commonwealth for racial policies that led South Africa to quit.

South Africa's surprise decision to withdraw divided the remaining members and threatened British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan with a political crisis at home.

Welensky said Australia's "white Australia policy" marked her down as the next target for expulsion.

Britons generally accepted Wednesday's break as inevitable.

PCH Has Easy Win but St. Fred Tumbles

Pontiac Central advanced with ease, but St. Frederick took it on the chin in high school tournament basketball action Wednesday.

The Chiefs of PCH hardly worked up a sweat as they crushed outclassed Rochester, 75-34, in the Class A regional tourney at Southfield. Victory moved PCH into Friday's finals against powerful Detroit Catholic Central.

A third-quarter letdown was fatal to St. Fred as the Rams were eliminated by Ann Arbor University High, 61-52, in the Class C regional at Ypsilanti.

Clarkston reached the Class B title round at Birmingham with a 54-49 conquest of Redford St. Mary; Ortonville was a 55-54 winner over Millington in Class C at Bay City; and Class A Ferndale barely stayed alive at home by edging Royal Oak Dondero in overtime, 55-54, in other feature games.

For details of these and other prep games, see today's sports pages (48-51).

President Proposes:

Approval of Aid to Needy Areas JFK Victory

Senate OKs Key Part of Plan, 63-27—House Passage Likely Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has handed President Kennedy a resounding victory in its 63-27 vote to pass a key part of his economic program—the $394 million depressed areas bill.

The more than 2-1 margin in Wednesday night's roll call compared with the slim 49-46 tally by which almost an identical measure squeaked through the Senate two years ago this month.

The measure now goes to the House where leaders said today they expect to be able to pass it before the Easter recess late this month.

A House Banking subcommittee Wednesday approved a bill almost identical to the Senate version. In the past, the House has trimmed such legislation, but it appears to have more support there this year.

The bill carries $300 million in federal loan funds and $94 million in grants designed to bring new jobs to communities long suffering from high unemployment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Hart and McNamara of Michigan, both Democrats, voted to approve Wednesday night when the Senate passed and sent to the house a $394-million federal program for aid to depressed areas.

More than 100 industrial areas in 27 states qualify for assistance. Eligible areas in Michigan are Detroit, Flint, Adrian, Bay City, Marquette, Monroe, Port Huron.

As it passed the Senate, the measure follows almost exactly Kennedy's recommendations including administration of the new program by the Commerce Department.

Forth-eight Democrats and 15 Republicans voted for the bill, with 11 Democrats and 16 Republicans opposed.

Could Write, Adopt Program Crop by Crop

Congress Would Have Veto Power; Similar Plan Lost in '60

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy today proposed a write-it-yourself program for American farmers.

Under the plan, farmers themselves would be authorized to draft and adopt, subject to congressional veto, a sweeping new series of crop-by-crop farm marketing control programs to cut surpluses and boost farm income.

Congress, which rejected a similar plan last year, would be relieved of the chore of writing farm law.

The plan, presented in a 6,800-word message to Congress, is aimed at carrying out Kennedy's campaign promise to seek to lift farmers' income to equality with the income of city dwellers.

The President also outlined plans to greatly expand distribution of food to the needy at home and abroad.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy suffered a cut over his left eye today when he bent down to pick up an object for his 3-year-old daughter Caroline. Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the President hit his head on a table.

'ACTION ESSENTIAL'

Kennedy said effective action to bolster the farm economy is essential if the nation itself is not to be threatened.

Painting a picture of low incomes and dwindling rural buying power, the President said it is "deeply in the interest of all Americans that our agriculture be not only progressive but prosperous."

Broadened use of food supplies for the needy, he said, would help solve the pressing problems of low farm incomes and the costly government purchase and storage of surpluses, which now total about $9.5 billion.

Pontiac Sales High in March

Car Turnover 11,185 1st 10 Days This Month; Best in 1961

Retail sales by Pontiac dealers during the first 10 days of March totaled 11,185 new cars, representing the division's best 10-day sales performance of 1961 and a 17 per cent increase over the previous 10 days, it was announced today by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager.

The sales total also shows a 5 per cent increase over the same period in 1960, Knudsen pointed out.

"This substantiates our confidence that the automobile business is now on the upturn and that 1961 will be a good year for Pontiac."

Included in the 11,185 total were 7,980 Pontiacs, Knudsen said, indicating a 19 per cent advance in the division's medium-priced car sales.

JFK Fears Face Test in School Aid Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's hopes for calm discussion of the religious issue in his school aid plan got an acid test today before a House education subcommittee.

Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday he hoped the argument over whether parochial schools should share in federal aid to education would not heighten religious prejudice in this country.

The subcommittee, which has touched briefly on the issue several times since hearings opened on Kennedy's $2.3-billion public school aid bill, scheduled testimony from Catholic and other groups active in the battle.

Msgr. Frederick G. Hochwalt of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, who gave a Senate subcommittee the church hierarchy's views only two days ago, was the leadoff witness.

Ex-Patient Erupts at State Hospital

By DICK HANSON

A former mental patient became violent and fired a pistol shot in the lobby of Pontiac State Hospital yesterday, then led police on a dangerous 15-mile auto chase climaxed by officers persuading him finally not to take his own life.

Alton C. Reeves, 40, of Flint was enraged when he thought attendants were locking him inside the mental hosptal for the night after informing him it was past visiting hours and he could not see his 37-year-old sister, a patient at the hospital.

After waving two pistols wildly, Reeves spotted a painting of a former hospital superintendent. He shouted, "I'll get that guy" and fired once, striking the wall up in the corner of the hospital lobby, some 20 feet away from his announced target. He then ordered an attendant to open the door and fled the grounds in his car.

Notified by the hospital switchboard operator, who witnessed Reeves wild actions, along with several others, city and state police and county sheriff's deputies took off in pursuit.

First in the stream of patrol cars chasing Reeves north on Dixie Highway and then on M15, state troopers attempted to force Reeves to the side of the road. Each time they drew abreast of his car, he waved them back with one of the pistols.

Then, unexpectedly, Reeves stopped for a red light at Andersonville Road in Waterford. Police didn't dare to provoke him at this point. Too many pedestrians and other motorists would be endangered.

Police cars waited in line behind Reeves' car for the light to change and then resumed the chase.

They raced after him in five o'clock traffic through Drayton Plains and Clarkston. Three miles north of Clarkston, Trooper Harold Wade punctured Reeves' rear tires with shotgun blasts fired from the lead pursuit car, forcing him to the side of the road.

UNDER INVESTIGATION — Seated beside his daughter's dog, Flint factory worker Alton C. Reeves, a 40-year-old former mental patient, recreates how he went on a two-hour spree yesterday in which he terrorized attendants at Pontiac State Hospital and nearly took his own life when his car was halted north of Clarkston.

U.S., Russia Arms Talks May Reconvene Aug. 1

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union were reported agreed today to renew disarmament negotiations next Aug. 1 provided they can also agree on basic principles for disarmament and make-up of the negotiating group.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said Wednesday night he thought he and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had "generally reached agreement" on a date for resumption of negotiations, which the Soviets broke off last June 27.

He would not give the date but other sources said it was Aug. 1.

Earlier President Kennedy said at his news conference that the United States first suggested September and then "August at the latest" as the time to start.

Stevenson had an hour's talk with Gromyko Wednesday, his third such in 10 days. He said he had arranged tentatively to see Gromyko again Friday and that they were working on a resolution to be submitted to the General Assembly.

Stevenson said the resolution was intended to cover the time and place for new negotiations, the composition of the new negotiating committee and some basic principles for disarmament.

This indicated that the United States had made a concession.

Other diplomats said privately that at early meetings with Gromyko, Stevenson had opposed mentioning principles in any resolution since the new Kennedy administration had not yet formulated its disarmament policy.

Kennedy told his news conference his experts are "working full time on developing an American position."

Americans Held by Congo Troops

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese soldiers are holding 23 American missionaries and seven other white persons under arrest at Kasongo, in the anarchy-torn province of Kivu, the United Nations reported today.

A U.N. spokesman said the Americans—believed to be Protestant missionaries of the World Grace Testimony or the Evangelization Society African Mission—succeeded in getting out a message saying they were held under guard and were without food.

The Americans are believed held under house arrest, the spokesman added.

Malayan U.N. patrols were reported advancing to rescue the Americans from their base at Kindu, more than 100 miles from Kasongo. The Malayans have been ordered to take them to Kindu so they can be flown to Leopoldville.

BRING INDIANS

Giant U. S. Air Force Globe-masters roared into Leopoldville's tightly guarded airport today, bringing the crack Gurkha vanguard of a 4,700-strong combat brigade of Indian troops ordered to U.N. duty in the Congo.

U.N. troops ringed the airport and five armored cars stood by the landing strip to stave off any Congolese attack on the arrivals. All U.N. military personnel in Leopoldville were on the alert throughout the night.

But despite the Congo government's bitter condemnation of the U.N. reinforcement by Indians, there was no trouble.

By early morning 200 soldiers and 28 tons of jeeps, weapons, ammunition and equipment had arrived.

MANY VETERANS

Many of the first Gurkha arrivals are veterans of the World War II campaign against the Japanese in Burma. A score of them wore medals for gallantry.

U.N. officers said the Indians would be stationed temporarily in Leopoldville. Congolese sources in Elisabethville Wednesday said they are expected to be assigned eventually to North Katanga, where President Moise Tshombe's troops have been trying to crush tribesmen supporting the rebel Stanleyville regime.

Sources in Elisabethville claimed the Indians would be used primarily to enforce the Security Council resolution demanding that Belgian and other non-U.N. foreign military personnel and advisers of the Congo governments leave. There was no confirmation of this from U.N. sources.

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—The Katanga army moved into position to attack leftist Stanleyville troops occupying the Katanga mining center of Manono today, reportedly with President Moise Tshombe's blessing. The Katanga government denied Tshombe had told the U.N. Command no offensive was planned.

their cars they found Reeves still behind the wheel, pointing a revolver at his own head.

Wade and fellow trooper Marvin Anderson waved the other officers back. The two state policemen then edged cautiously up to Reeves' car. They found the doors locked, but were able to converse with Reeves through a partially opened window on the driver's side.

"Put the gun away and come along quietly," Wade told Reeves. With one of his guns still pointed at his temple, Reeves voiced a dislike for state policemen. "I've got three bullets in this gun, and only one of them is for me," he said.

A plainclothesman, Sgt. Earl Skrobeck of the Pontiac Police was summoned to the car. He too moved cautiously. By this time there were police guns, partially concealed, pointed at Reeves from almost every direction.

He did not seem to notice the guns. Traffic was backed up both ways for a couple of miles. The minutes ticked by as Reeves repeated threats to end his life with a bullet.

Police did not move for fear of causing Reeves to pull the trigger. Sgt. Skrobeck began to talk quietly with Reeves.

"Everybody makes mistakes sometimes in life . . . You've got to have faith in others . . . Why don't you roll the window down some more and give me the guns?"

FINALLY SURRENDERS

Finally, three quarters of an hour later, he did, scooping up in his arms a little brown dog and a small case from the front seat.

Reeves, the little dog, and the small case were loaded into a police car and hustled down to the station where he was questioned.

Assistant Prosecutor Anthony Renne said a commitment order was being sought for Reeves from Genesee County authorities. If not granted, the prosecutor's office will press for a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Attendants on duty at Pontiac State Hospital said they first became suspicious of Reeves when he signed the visitor's card "Bloody Brother," in red ink and left his thumb print on the card in red ink.

They recalled that he had been a patient there for two months last year, until he ran away in June.

Inside the small case Reeves removed from his car was a clarinet. It belongs to one of his two young sons at home, he said. The dog is his 8-year-old daughter's.

Reeves said he has been working in the Buick Motor Division plant at Flint.

MOMENT OF WITHDRAWAL — Dr. Hendrik Verwoerd, South African prime minister, leaves London's Lancaster House Wednesday after the announcement that South Africa had decided to quit the British Commonwealth. The decision carried tremendous implications.

Nation Tragic and Lonely

South Africa Faces Peril

(Editor's Note — Associated Press Correspondent Arthur L. Gavshon is a South African who for 15 years has covered the international scene from London.)

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — With hardly a friend in the world, South Africa's white supremacy government today faced a future loaded with loneliness and packed with the peril of deepening black - white enmity.

Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's decision to quit the British Commonwealth carried tremendous implications, both for his own apartheid state and for Britain's alliance of nations.

To the tragic land at the southernmost tip of Africa it signaled an explosive new phase in the white man's struggle to preserve mastery over the dark majority.

To Britain's wordwide association it marked a stunning shift in the power balance for the mother country to fledgling states of Africa and Asia whose people outnumber white commonwealth citizens 5 to 1.

PATTERN CLOUDY

Several questions remain to be answered before a clear pattern emerges for South Africa's future. But several definite developments can be foreseen in the wake of the Lancaster House conference of Commonwealth prime ministers this week.

The question: Will the white South Africans of British descent join Verwoerd's Boers in rallying unrepentant behind the prime minister to reinforce the application of his strict race laws?

Will the Commonwealth nations keep the door open in an implied invitation to the South African people to set up a new government with moderate race policies that could return to the fold?

Will Britain try to ease the rupture of South Africa's Commonwealth ties by offering special new trading, political and even military arrangements?

The certainties: Verwoerd's break will fan the flames of controversy in South Africa over his racial policies and the almost total isolation he has chosen.

Drinking Buddy Faces Warrant

Floyd Rowley, 44, Dies After Fight With Pal, Robert Young

Death today of an Independence Township man turned the prosecutor's office attention toward the possibility of a murder warrant against the dead man's drinking buddy.

Succumbing at Pontiac General Hospital to head blows he received in a fight Sunday at his home was Floyd Rowley, 44, of 7035 Andersonville Road.

Still being held in the county jail for investigation was 22-year-old Robert Young, 4174 Lotus Drive, Waterford Township, who police said had been drinking with Rowley Saturday night.

Later when Mrs. Young called police because her husband went berserk, they arrived to find both Young and Rowley unconscious on the floor.

Assistant Prosecutor Richard P. Condit said Rowley's death this morning "has thrown a new light on this case."

* * *

He said state police detectives were analyzing evidence taken at the scene for a possible connection of Young with the fatal beating.

The body will be at the Pixley Funeral Home in Rochester.

and state, also was slated to testify.

Another House subcommittee considering the administration's $2.3-billion loan and grant program for college construction and needy student scholarships was scheduled to hear Arthur S. Flemming, former secretary of health, education and welfare.

This group was told Wednesday that Kennedy's proposal to give public and privately operated colleges $350 for each federal scholarship student they accept conflicted with the President's arguments against direct aid to parochial grade and high schools.

VERWOERD SAD

South Africa's Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd, outwardly nonchalant but reported privately saddened, remained in London, to take part in the closing sessions of the Commonwealth ministers' conference.

South Africa's membership does not officially end until the nation becomes a republic May 31.

South Africa's withdrawal from the Commonwealth brought a sharp drop today in South African gold mining shares on the London stock market.

Macmillan called a meeting of his cabinet today to discuss the South African decision which was applauded by two of the Commonwealth members, Malaya and Nigeria, and deplored by some of the other members.

Two more complaints against South Africa's white supremacist policies and her treatment of Indian nationals on her soil are scheduled to come up at this U.N. session.

Delegates wondered if Verwoerd's government, smarting over its break with the Commonwealth, might carry out repeated veiled threats to withdraw from the United Nations.

Similar speculation was reported widespread in South Africa itself.

Parents Out of Names for New Quads

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI)—Quadruplet girls were born to a former beauty contest winner Wednesday night and the parents began a frantic search today for a new set of names because they had counted on having boys.

William Cutaiar 3rd, 26, the father, who maintains a fleet of trucks, said the premature birth of the girls was "like a dream" and he still couldn't believe it.

Dr. J. Vernon Ellson, who predicted pretty Arlene Cutaiar, 24, would give birth to quadruplets was reported "all shook up" himself but able to pronounce the girls in satisfactory condition. They weighed from 2¾ to 3½ pounds.

Mrs. Cutaiar, a 5-foot-6 blue-eyed blonde who won the Miss Delaware County beauty title in 1955 and was chosen as a high school beauty, was the calmest person in the County Memorial Hospital in suburban Upper Darby. She has two other children.

Predict Rough Going for JFK's Road Plan

By United Press International

State highway officials throughout the nation agreed today the federal government must speed up the interstate highway program but they were divided on how it should be done.

Most either supported President Kennedy's financing proposal or ducked the question by saying that finding the money was up to Congress. Some blamed lagging highway construction on poor planning, and one predicted rough going for the President's plan.

Kennedy sent to Congress this week a detailed bill providing for completion of a $40 billion, 41,000-mile super highway system by 1972.

It would be paid for by extension of the four-cent federal gasoline tax and higher taxes on automobile tires and diesel fuel used by heavy trucks.

Charles Dawson, one of three Indiana highway commissioners, said the government would have a hard time raising taxes paid by trucks because of a powerful trucking and petroleum lobby.

Dawson said a big step toward saving the interstate program would be taken if Congress would "stop the diversion" of using highway money for general purposes and channel it all into highway construction.

Highway spokesmen in Nebraska and New Mexico warned that any delay in completing the highway system would be more expensive than the President's 10-year plan.

Nebraska state engineer John Hossack said the 1972 deadline would mean a great demand on the public for funds, but highway construction costs would be higher after 1972.

In New Mexico, highway official Dava Thornburg also said that stretching the program out was "not the answer". Maintenance costs would still go on."

Georgia highway officials blamed the current shortage of federal highway funds on lack of preparation during the early stages of the interstate program.

Spokesmen said states were uninformed on specifications and other qualifications.

They urged that states be provided the same amount of funds each year instead of varying amounts as at present.

China Menace Upsets SEATO

Rising Military Threat Posed by Reds to Be Main Topic at Meeting

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The military menace to the free world posed increasingly by Red China provides not only deep concern for the current U.N. assembly but will be the major topic at the meeting next week in Bangkok of the Southeast Asia Treaty Council (SEATO).

The big worry of both the assembly and SEATO is the arrogant threat of Premier Khrushchev together with that of Peiping's Mao Tse-tung to turn the almost helpless state of Laos into a replica of the Congo, with the difference that where Moscow penetration failed in Africa it will succeed in coordination with Peiping in Asia.

Thus Moscow on Khrushchev's orders is airdropping about 50 tons of arms a day to the Laotian "rebels", back of whom stands in active participation none other than Red China.

We learned from experience that the Communist warlords, whether they sit in Moscow or Peiping, probe for soft spots in the free world at points most inconvenient to defend by military help from the outside.

If that venture misfires, be it Berlin or Lebanon, the heat and the bloodspilling is switched elsewhere.

The Congo is boomeranging on Khrushchev. Mao tested out India last year, and found too much resistance to risk an aggression showdown.

But Mao's probing of Laos showed Western vulnerability, and indicated that well equipped "rebels" could turn the trick.

So Khrushchev agreed to supply the needed arms, and Mao is getting ready to pounce, and carve out a beachhead for Communist conquest.

SEATO, which has displayed weakness and division within itself, had better make up its mind in Bangkok to stand up and fight if Southeast Asia is to remain free of the Communist iron heel.

Gasoline Dealers to Hear Speaker

J. W. Nerlinger Jr. will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Association of Oakland County Gasoline Dealers, Inc., tonight at 9 at the IAC building which is located at 60 N. Tilden Street, one block north of the Huron Street Branch of the Community National Bank of Pontiac.

Nerlinger has just returned from a week in Washington, being affiliated with the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers. Gasoline dealers in the area are urged to attend as Nerlinger's talk should be of importance to all dealers, according to Joe Haskell, president of the association.

Fined for Killing Deer

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Richard Pearson and Lavon Doremire, both of Mackinaw City, and Harry Ball of Levering were fined $127.50 each and ordered to pay $42.50 court costs by Justice Irene Curley for killing deer out of season.

Yet Boasts of Alaska's Tallest Apartment

Town Lacks Outside Road Link

WHITTIER, Alaska (UPI) — With the possible exception of Disneyland, this town of Whittier is just about the most fantastic 435 acres of land ever populated by man.

It is a town without any road link to the rest of Alsaka, yet it boasts the tallest apartment building in the state.

The two railroad tunnels leading into Whittier have doors which can be bolted shut "just to keep things sort of private here."

Whittier, whose main business is serving as a port run by the U.S. Army, is buried deep in the glacial mountains at the head of a 600-foot-deep fiord 62 miles south of Anchorage.

There are three ways of entering or leaving Whittier, by railroad, boat or foot. And if the trip is made afoot, the most popular route is over Portage Glacier, a moving mountain of blue ice.

Whittier has snowmobiles, cars, trucks and tractors but none of them arrived under their own power, since the community has no road link with the outside world.

And yet, more new vehicles pass through it than any other town in Alaska. For, in addition to its military port activities, Whittier handles considerable civilian freight as a terminus for the Alaska Railroad.

Whittier was a war baby. When Japan struck in 1941, there was an immediate need for additional ice-free port facilities to supply the Alaskan Defense Command's vast string of Air Force and Army bases.

There were two objections to Whittier, both of them mountains. They separated Whittier from the main arteries of supply, and there was no way to go over them or around them.

So the Alaska Railroad went through them; drilling one tunnel nine-tenths of a mile long, and a second nearly three miles long.

HUGE DOORS

Huge doors had to be fitted to both ends of the two tunnels to prevent them from being clogged with ice during the 50-below-zero winter weather.

Sourdoughs remind the Cheechakos (newcomers) that Whittier is the only place in the world where they shut and bolt the doors of the only overland route to town "just to keep things sort of private here."

Whittier has one of the heaviest snowfalls in Alaska. In 1955, the total was 45 feet. The average for a "normal" winter is 22 feet.

The 14-story Hodge apartment building — tallest in Alaska — houses both military and civilian families and has more than 600 residents.

A school, connected to the building by a tunnel, enables 267 children to attend classes regardless of the weather.

The six-story Buckner Building is a city within a building. This heavily insulated structure is built into the side of a mountain.

It contains bowling alleys, a newspaper, television studio, restaurants, rifle range, theater, post office, library, bakery, barber shop, medical facilities, a dentist office, bank, department store and grocery as well as accommodations for all the Army troops.

Whittier's biggest civic problem is its moose.

PERSONAL HIGHWAY

The hundreds of moose in the area consider the snow-plowed railroad tracks their personal highway in winter, and the bulls are ready to fight anybody — including diesel locomotives — to prove it.

The running time of the train between Anchorage and Whittier depends mostly on two things: The moose traffic using the same right of way, and the ability of the train crews to clear the tracks.

About 800 U. S. homes are damaged by fire every day.

Banished by Napoleon in 1809

Teutonic Order Returns to Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —A religious order which once colonized the perilous eastern margins of the German Empire has come back to Germany, this time to serve refugees from the East.

Through banished from Germany by Napoleon in 1809, the Teutonic Order still boasts prominent Germans including Chancellor Konrad Adenauer among its honory knights, the "familiares."

Leading its return is the Rev. Paul Tilzer, a tough energetic man in his 40s whose first job is to supervise the rebuilding of the order's ruined priory in Frankfurt.

Father Tilzer smiles at the idea of an order once banished by a foreign conqueror returning because of another conqueror, this time a Communist one.

"That's a bit too pointed," he said, "but it's true that the expelling of so many Germans from eastern countries brought their parish priests to Germany too, and many of them are priests of the order."

This led to the strange circumstance of a steadily rising number of Teutonic Order priests in West Germany, where their order no longer existed.

Now the order has been re-established and its ruined buildings on the south bank of the Main River are being rebuilt. Its main mission will be to minister to refugees, particularly the youth.

The order was founded in 1190 as one of the three great military and religious orders, along with the Templars and the Knights of St. John, to rise out of the Crusades. It was called the Teutonic Order of the Virgin Mary of Jerusalem.

When the Crusades were over, the order was sent into the northeastern regions of Germany to fight the heathen Prussians. With their military skill and political wisdom, the knights established a thriving state on the Baltic.

POWER GROWS LESS

The height of their power passed with the 14th and 15th Centuries. In 1809, Napoleon disbanded the order in Germany, although it continued to exist in the Austro-Hungarian Empire, including present Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and South Tyrol.

Since the order's reconstitution, approved by Pope Pius XI in 1929, it consists of an order of priests and serving brethren, and a congregation of nuns. The grand master, Dr. Marian Tumler of Vienna, supervises both the order and the congregation.

Not a rich order, it has had to depend to a great extent on support from the Deutscherrenbund a society founded to aid it.

Members of the society and "honorary knights" include Chancellor Adenauer, Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab, Franz Cardinal Koenig of Vienna and Munich's Josef Cardinal Wendel, who is the order's protector.

"Provided we have the money and the chance, we want to add a hostel for students at Frankfurt University, and teaching and assembly rooms," Father Tilzer said.

"The order has had its up and downs through history," he added, "but now we are back in Germany, to take up our share of educational and welfare work and the care of souls."

Jersey Mill Saws Old Logs

Forestry Grad Makes Money From Pilings Over 40 Years Old

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — One of the world's strangest saw mills is here in Jersey City — it only saws up logs that were cut over 40 years ago.

Burma Road Lumber Co. was named by its owner, Richard J. Power, a Syracuse University forestry graduate, out of Pacific war nostalgia.

Formed 15 years ago, the firm harvests its logs from the forest of old pilings in New York and New Jersey piers.

Old pilings, broken off by storms or hauled up in dredging and rebuilding operations, used to be burned as waste. But there's a lot of well-seasoned yellow and white pine lumber or even oak in them.

They are hauled up and gone over with Army surplus mine detector to locate buried nails and spikes.

Then they are sawed into planks. The harvest runs about half-a-million boad feet a year.

It is the part of the log that has been under water that is valuable.

When wood is totally submerged in salf water it is extremely well preserved.

About 25 years ago, officials at the Brooklyn Navy Yard discovered a quantity of ship lumber that had been sunk in the East River for storage before the Civil War and forgotten.

hauled up, the timber was found to be superior to anything that could be purchased on the modern market.

Unfair Business Practices on Rise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unfair business practices are on the increase, according to a poll of 600 management and sales executives.

Forty-five per cent cited misrepresentation of merchandise, 38 percent felt demand for kickbacks had increased in recent years, and 32 percent saw more price gouging.

Only 6 per cent listed padded expense accounts among unethical practices.

Baking Soda Handy Item for Hunters

Tinsley said the soda can be used in a soothing foot bath, as a rinse for woolen socks to prevent them from stiffening from fall moisture, as a balm for itching or stinging from scratches, to relieve digestive distress and to clean campfire cooking equipment.

Even the camp fire benefits from the soda, Tinsley said, pointing out that a little poured on the fire will make it burn at an even pace, and a generous amount dumped into the embers will act as an extinguisher.

Fireman's Widow Finds Real Friends

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP — A firemen's bucket brigade came to the aid of Mrs. Ed Hoffman and painted her house in four hours.

Her husband, a fireman, died of injuries suffered in a fire early in March, so his buddies came to the aid of his widow.

WOULD JOIN CORPS—Arnold Toynbee, 72, British historian, said Tuesday night that he would join the Kennedy Peace Corps if he were younger. At a lecture to Franklin and Marshall College students in Lancaster, Pa., he said, "Time will tell what you do with it, and I have faith in American courage."

House Hikes Office Payrolls

Members Vote Money for Staffs but Ignore Own Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP)—House members Wednesday voted themselves extra money for their office payrolls but did nothing about a suggestion that they hike their own salaries.

They voted for the additional money after being told by Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts that the action really was "for the benefit of the people of America."

McCormack made the suggestion that salaries of members of Congress ought to be raised from the present $22,500 to $25,000 annually.

There was no provision for members' salaries in a resolution passed by voice vote after a parliamentary maneuver blocked a roll-call.

The resolution requires no further action, since it affects only the House.

It allows each member an extra $3,000 in the base payroll of his office, boosting the total to $20,500.

Under the complicated base pay structure used by the House, this could mean about $6,700 extra in gross salaries, depending on whether the additional money is used to hire one extra employe or is spread around in pay boosts for present employes.

Each member could hire one extra office worker if he wanted to. The ceiling on employes now is nine for members from big districts and eight for others.

The resolution retains the present limit of about $14,300 top gross salary for one employe.

Compacts Cut Average Car Price by 5.4 Pct.

DETROIT (UPI) — The average price of the 1961 model cars is about 4.5 per cent lower than the average for the 1960 makes.

This has resulted from lower prices for some of the compact models, the addition of smaller and cheaper cars to the medium-price lines and elimination of more expensive models in that price range.

FTC Breaks Through 'That Invisible Screen'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today ordered the Colgate-Palmolive Co. to discontinue advertising which claimed that Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol provides complete protection against tooth decay.

The commission particularly objected to commercials which claim that the toothpaste forms a "protective shield" around teeth.

Will Sell Bonds to Finance Extension of Evergreen

More than half-a million dollars of general obligation bonds will be sold March 28 to build an extension of the Evergreen sanitary sewer to serve Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township.

The State Municipal Finance Commission this week approved the sale.

R. J. Alexander, director of the department of public works, said that the construction firm of Ernest Centofanti of St. Clair Shores will "probably start digging immediately" after bids are open on the bonds on March 28.

The firm won the contract for the work, one of two extension arms running off the larger Evergreen interceptor sewer, in January, but work could not begin then as the low bid ran some $46,000 more than the engineer's estimate of $402,000.

The DPW had to repetition the finance commission, which previously had approved a bond issue for $490,000, for permission to issue the larger number of bonds.

The first Evergreen extension, slated to serve some 13,000 residents in the city and township, runs from near Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills and branches west along the Rouge River, with one branch going to Telegraph road and the other southwest to the vicinity of Quarton and Lahser roads.

Alexander also announced that the Detroit investment firm of Kenower MacArthur & Co. purchased $169,000 worth of general obligation bonds to finance Evergreen extension No. 2 to serve an ultimate 7,000 residents of Bloomfield Township and Troy.

Construction of this two-mile arm will begin in about two weeks by the firm of Chris Nelsen & Son, Inc., of Royal Oak, he said.

Alexander said the two extensions are the extent of the arms to be built by his department off the trunk sewer. Municipalities must build internal systems to connect to the extensions, he said. Work already has begun in some areas.

Burmese Premier Quits as Party Head

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) — Premier U Nu resigned today as president of the governing Union party as a protest against growing factionalism in its ranks.

Political sources said Nu's resignation might lead to the collapse of the party, which is deeply divided by the rival ambitions of various factional leaders.

Everything Has Impro in Israel—Including Foo

By EARL WILSON

TEL AVIV — Ten years ago when I came to Israel the first time, a woman told me she'd waited on queue two hours to get four tomatoes.

WILSON

Today, in Diezengoff Square, which seems to have as many sidewalk cafes as Paris, you can find every food imaginable.

"If you want a kosher pickle," a New York friend had warned me, when I was starting on this trip, "take it with you."

And Max Asnas of the Stage Delicatessen was eager to pack a big box of pastrami.

But progress has come to Israel, and now it does have delicatessen. We even had herring for breakfast; yes, even lox and kosher pickles are available to tourists— as poet Robert Frost and author Harry Golden can tell you from personal experience. You can't keep Israel down.

Sitting around the Cafe Noga, an open-air Lindy's the comedians quote a line used back home by Leo Fuld at the Cafe Sahbra:

"The food's become so good in Israel, we should send food packages to America."

States Get 1st Chance to Act on Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today that in all kinds of civil rights cases the states will be given a chance to act before the federal government brings enforcement suits.

He told newsmen this after a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on the nomination of Burke Marshall to head the Justice Department's civil rights division.

Marshall's nomination to be an assistant attorney general was sent to the Senate on Feb. 9. He is a 38-year-old Washington corporation lawyer.

Marshall testified it is the desire of the attorney general to work out with state officials, if possible, the enforcement of civil rights laws without bringing litigation.

Early Sketch Proves Talent as Cartoonist

WEST STAYTON, Ore. (AP)—More than 70 years ago, when Homer Davenport was a railroad engine wiper here, he left behind evidence of the talent that made him one of America's best known cartoonists of the early 20th Century.

The evidence is a sketch of his dog Duffy, revealed when boards were pulled away from a rough inside wall at what is now a Southern Pacific warehouse.

Davenport in a book of his life once said of Duffy:

"I like him more than I did some people and he preferred me to some dogs."

Davenport was a newspaper cartoonist in the early 1900s. He died in 1912 and is buried at nearby Silverton, Ore., his home town.

Spring Touches Europe

LONDON (AP) — Spring came early to most of Europe today. Except for an overcast in Holland and France, the sun melted away clouds from Rome to Stockholm. Springs flowers and sidewalk cafe sitters turned out early in Italy. The temperature in London rose to 71, a record for the date.

A "ship's husband" is an agent when it is in port.

Man in Space

Planets, Stars Leave Mercury in Dust

By BILL WILKS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—America's astronauts may set some speed records, but they'll have to go some to beat the 720,000 miles an hour at which mankind already is plunging through space.

That's the speed of our local star group as it turns with the galaxy, which makes the 18,000-mile-an-hour orbital speed of the project Mercury capsule look like a drop in the cosmic bucket.

Still, the astronauts' speed will be respectable when compared with the moon, which crawls around the earth at 3,287 miles an hour—only a bit faster than the 2,905 miles per hour world record set last week by the X15 rocketship.

While the sun plunges madly through the galaxy, the earth ambles around the sun at a comfortable 66,600 miles per hour.

And while this is going on, the sun—dragging its planets with it—pokes along within its local star group at 46,800 miles an hour.

The galaxy as a whole moves with respect to other nearby galaxies at around 360,000 miles per hour.

MOVING AWAY

But this is barely getting around. Our galactic speed with respect to the most distant galaxies found to date is about 335 million miles an hour. Astronomers usually say the farthermost galaxies are moving away from us. But it could be that we are moving from them. More likely, both are moving away from each other.

So who's moving where, in what direction and how fast? And where does this leave man in his attempts to work up enough speed to do some exploring on his own?

The 18,000-mile-an-hour orbital velocity of the Mercury capsule is only 7,000 miles per hour short of the speed necessary to "escape" from earth for travel to other solar system planets, a speed which scientists agree is entirely feasible for manned craft today.

Scientists generally believe that in the immediate future man will be doing well to reach speeds of 36,000 miles an hour and that this should be adequate for preliminary exploration of the solar system.

Looking a little further into the future, experts believe 250,000 miles per hour may be within reason. This, while good enough for getting around the solar system, still would not allow trips to other stars within a man's lifetime. At this speed it would take more than 10,000 years to reach even the nearest star.

New Bill Bans Cemeteries on Refusing Burial

A bill was set for introduction in the Senate today which would ban cemeteries from refusing burial to Indians such as George V. Nash, a Ferndale man who had to be buried in Pontiac last August, after White Chapel Memorial Cemetery in Troy rejected his remains.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. George C. Steeh, D-Mount Clemens, also declares null and void "any contract, agreement, deed, covenant, restriction or charter authorizing, permitting, or requiring any organization to deny the privilege of interment because of race or color."

Six organizations representing North American Indian groups have been circulating petitions urging such legislation.

The Troy cemetery refused to bury the World War I veteran because he was not white.

We have no quarrel with the man who has lower prices. He knows better than anyone else what his services are worth.

U.S. Lawyer Won't Fight Delay in Goldfine Trial

BOSTON (AP)—U. S. Atty. Elliot L. Richardson has indicated he will not oppose a motion to delay the tax evasion trial of industrialist Bernard Goldfine for at least 60 days.

U. S. District Judge George C. Sweeney will hear Friday a motion by Goldfine's counsel, E. Bennett Williams, to put off the trial.

CODFISH BALLS AND DILL KABOBS — Here's a new-fashioned way with an old-fashioned food. The tartness of dill pickles gives a flavor lift to codfish balls. And aren't they attractive served kabob style?

Lenten Kabobs Are Made With Codfish Balls

What more traditional Lenten dish can you serve than codfish b'a l l s? But following tradition doesn't mean that you necessarily have to serve them always in the same old fashion. Because fish has found a new flavor partner in pickles. This opens up the way for a lot of new recipe ideas. For example, try alternating chunks of crisp dill pickles with tender codfish balls on skewers and then broil. Fill big platter with these to make an appetite-provoking main dish.

Eggs, too, are hobnobbing with pickles these days. An omelet was never so good as this one in which the flavors of sharp cheese and sweet gherkins mingle harmoniously with the more bland flavor of eggs.

Codfish Balls and Dill Kabobs

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup cracker crumbs
3 cups flaked, cooked cod
18 dill pickle slices, about 1-inch thick
Melted butter or margarine

Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine. Add flour, paprika, salt and pepper; blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Gradually add white sauce to eggs and mix well. Add cracker crumbs and cod; mix well. Chill. Shape into 18 balls.

Arrange cod fish balls and pickles on skewers. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Broil 5-6 inches from source of heat about 7 minutes on each side, brushing occasionally with melted butter or margarine. About 6 servings.

Cheese-Pickle Omelet

6 eggs yolks
6 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup chopped sweet gherkins
⅝ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
6 egg whites, stiffly beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine egg yolks with water, salt and pepper; beat well. Add pickles and cheese. Fold into egg whites. Melt butter or margarine. Add egg mixture. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Shake occasionally to prevent sticking. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 10 minutes, or until set. Cut part way through the center. Fold and place on platter. Makes 4 servings.

Soup Mix Base of Spoon Bread

It seems as if every homemaker has one recipe that, turns out to be a real conversation piece. It is usually something super - special and slightly out-of-the-ordinary.

In this class is marvelous Mushroom Spoon Bread. It is made in very handy fashion with a package of mushroom soup mix which accounts for its superb savory flavor.

Serve this unusual Spoon Bread right from the casserole, spooning it onto each plate. It would be particularly good on a brunch menu featuring baked sausages and scrambled eggs.

Mushroom Spoon Bread

1 quart milk
1 package mushroom soup mix
1 cup corn meal (white or yellow)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 eggs

In the top of a double broiler, heat milk; gradually stir in soup mix combined with corn meal. Cook, stirring until smooth and thick. Cover and cook until cereal consistency, about 5-10 minutes. Remove from heat; add butter or margarine.

Beat eggs until well blended then slowly stir into mixture. Pour into a well greased 1½ quart casserole. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) uncovered 50-55 minutes, until golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

Soak onion rings in water or milk before dipping them in flour or batter for French-frying. Makes their flavor mild!

Nothing Like a Smorgasbord!

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Americans have taken to foreign food in ever-increasing numbers since the end of World War II. Because so many dishes found on a smorgasbord table are already favorites, this form of entertaining is popular.

Saturday evening the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will give a smorgasbord at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan. Three branches, Pontiac, Birmingham and Southern Oakland, will participate in the meal and the entertainment to follow. The dinner which starts at 7 p.m. is open to the public, but reservations must be made with Mrs. Roger Cunes of Liberty Street.

Each year the League chooses a different country as the theme for its annual dinner. Mrs. Stephen Velkoff is chairman of the food for the smorgasbord.

Here is a short description we just read of what to eat at a smorgasbord:

"A time-tried ritual is prescribed for the proper enjoyment of either a small smorgasbord or the full-scale, panoramic affair. First, and always first, if one is to observe the Scandinavian spirit of the occasion, the herring!

"Then one adventures (with clean plate in hand) through dishes in which fish is combined with other ingredents, then cold meats, the delicious hot dishes, the salads and aspics and finally, for digestion's sake and to soothe a possibly jaded palate, a bit of cheese."

There will be all the above dishes at Saturday night's affair. Herring will appear in pickled form, au gratin and in salad. There will be other fish dishes, ham, beef tongue and Swedish meat balls.

On the salad table stuffed eggs, pickled beets, marinated cucumbers, green salad and fruit salad will appear.

Saffron bread, rye bread and hard tack will be available to eat with cheese, vegetables au gratin, Swedish brown beans and boiled red cabbage. If anyone is still hungry, cookies and coffee will be a fitting climax.

We asked Mrs. Velkoff for some of the recipes her committee is using. The first one she gave us is for fish is aspic.

FISH IN ASPIC

2-3½ pounds fresh or frozen salmon, mackerel or eel. Clean and cut into 1-inch slices. For every quart of water used to cook the fish, add the following:
1 tablespoon white vinegar
½ tablespoon salt
5 peppercorns
5 whole allspice
1 bay leaf
plenty of dill

Cook the fish in this stock about 10 minutes. Drain, place on a platter and cool. Make the aspic:

1 pint strained fish stock
1½ tablespoons gelatin
2 egg whites
salt and white pepper

Dissolve gelatin in a little cold water. Beat up with stock and egg white. Pour into a pan. Bring slowly to a boil, stirring constantly. Take off heat, cover and let stand 15 minutes. Strain, add salt and pepper to taste and chill.

In a mold put wedges of hard cooked eggs, tomatoes and little cooked shrimp. Pour enough aspic over them to hold them in place. Chill until firm.

Arrange cold fish in mold and pour remaining aspic over it. Chill again until firm. Unmold on a plate, garnish with more egg wedges, tomatoes and shrimp, and serve with mayonnaise. Serves 4 generously.

This second recipe is for one of the cookies to be served. It is a perfect recipe for anyone allergic to wheat flour or milk, for it contains neither one.

WALNUT TORTE

3½ cups finely ground walnuts
6 egg yolks
1¼ cups granulated sugar
2 teaspoons almond extract (this amount is correct)
6 egg whites

Grease, line with waxed paper and grease again a 9x9x2 pan. Beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and tripled in volume. Gradually add sugar, beating until very thick, about 10 minutes. Fold in nuts and almond extract.

Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry. Fold about ¼ of them into yolk mixture, then fold yolk mixture into whites, blending well. Turn into pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour, or until edges pull away from side of pan. Cool 10 minutes.

Turn out on rack and pull off paper. Cool. Wrap and store in freezer or refrigerator or in tightly closed tin can. When ready to serve, cut into 1x3-inch bars. Roll in confectioners sugar, if desired. Makes 27 bars.

Just Eat Less

The normal person can best eliminate excess weight, not by "cutting out everything he likes", but by reducing his daily total calorie intake. He can keep on eating — and enjoying — most of his favorite foods — but not quite as much of them.

Color in Salad Tempts Appetite

Shrimp pink and avocado green —with an accent of pimiento red. These will be your colors if you combine two popular foods in one salad, to be served with a creamy pimiento sauce.

Shrimp in Avocado Halves

Prepare the shrimp by cleaning it and cooking it three minutes in boiling water to which pickling spices have been added. (For each pound of shrimp, add 1 heaping teaspoon pickling spices to 1 quart of water.) Halve ripe avocados and carefully remove the seeds. Fill each half with three shrimp, and serve with Pimiento-Sour Cream Dressing made this way:

Pimiento-Sour Cream Dressing

1 cup commercial sour cream
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 pimiento, diced

Combine ingredients and chill. Makes 1 cup salad dressing. Garnish with extra bits of diced pimiento.

Tuna Egg Pie Is Hearty Entree to Serve in Lent

One quick and easy Lenten dish in which you can make good use of the big egg supplies in TUNA-EGG PIE that will delight your family:

Prepare a pie crust and place it in a 9-inch oven-to-table pie plate. Beat 4 eggs and ¼ cup of milk until blended. Add one 6½ to 7 oz. can of flaked tuna, ½ pound of grated Mozzarella cheese, and season gently with basil, oregano, salt and pepper. Stir well and spoon into the unbaked crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 30-35 minutes, until brown. Serve with a hot Spanish or tomato sauce, and you have a tangy, company-perfect entree.

After Losing 15 Pounds

Oh, That Glorious Feeling!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have just received an inspiring and entertaining letter which I will pass on to you today.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I maintained my correct weight for years and then added four pounds a year for the past three years. That is a dangerous way to gain because you never actually admit to yourself that you are getting heavier unless relatives or friends mention your added girth."

"Mirrors I avoided like the plague. Occasionally I got a good look at the great profile and it was certainly discouraging. I had added weight from my ribs down, and having a sit-down job (receptionist) didn't help any. I am married and have a 6-room home to maintain in addition to my full-time job which I enjoy very much.

AT 126 NOW

"I weighed 140 pounds. Now I weigh 126 pounds. This is only a loss of 14 pounds but my weight is much better distributed. Most important, that feeling of utter exhaustion which always was present and the dull 'I don't care' attitude I had have gone with the lost weight.

"The worst ordeal I have ever gone through was purchasing a bathing suit last summer. Four stores and 20 suits later I found one which concealed my flaws somewhat and was attractive to the eye if not to the pocketbook.

"I have recently purchased three dresses in size 12 and there isn't a more glorious feeling. My husband doesn't care if I buy six he is so proud of me.

"However the best thing is the way I feel again. Everything around me has taken on a new glow and I hope I never gain those pounds again which were so shattering to my morale."

It is true that the byproducts of a reducing session often are wonderful. Fatigue disappears, stiff joints loosen up, and constipation becomes a thing of the past.

Summer will be here before we know it. Want to lose a few pounds before then? If so, you may want my Nine-Day Reducing Diet which brings you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. If you would like to have the Nine-Day Diet booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Watch Out for Those TV Hazards

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK—The way things are going, it won't be long before television-watching becomes more dangerous than bath-taking, currently the most perilous household activity.

After all, a person in the average television home devotes more than five hours a day to watching the small screen—more hours than is spent on any activity except sleeping and working. A little medical library is beginning to shape around its occupational hazards.

Recently the Journal of the American Medical Association gravely reported on an epidemic of "Dodge City sydrome," gunshot wounds in the right feet of young American males.

It is caused by practicing Western-style fast-draws with loaded revolvers and bad timing.

TELEVISION ELBOW

Now comes a University of Southern California neurologist warning about "television elbow." This, explains Dr. A. A. Marinacci, involves painful nerve injuries caused by resting the elbows on the arms of a chair for prolonged periods while TV-viewing.

If the practice continues without treatment, he warned, it can even lead to paralysis of the hands.

Actually, the most common danger of TV-watching is caloric. Frequent trips to the refrigerator have become the viewer's equivalent of the seventh-inning stretch.

Researchers last season made a study of TV snack-habits and found that the favorite nibble of the nation consists of potato chips, although nuts, candy, soft and malt drinks were all high on the list.

All these may be delicious, but they are also hellishly fattening.

The other day an automobile executive warned a group of advertising executives about a disease he called "mass psychological deafness to TV commercials." While harmless—in fact, often delightful—to the viewer, it is extremely painful to the sponsor.

There are still other hazardous areas yet to be authoritatively explored.

My mother, for instance, had her leg broken by the Garry Moore Show. Her foot went to sleep while she was watching in rapt concentration. This resulted in a nasty fall and six weeks in a plaster cast.

On the other side of the coin, there are more and more people complaining that they find TV better than a sleeping pill: "I just can't seem to keep my eyes open," is the complaint.

Caravan of Farmers Protest in Lansing

LANSING (UPI) — A caravan of more than 50 Allegan County farmers converged on the state capitol today to voice their opposition to a proposed amendment which they charged could drive them off their farms.

The farmers, representing about 100 farms in Overisel and Salem townships, hoped to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee which is considering the amendment.

Overisel and Salem townships are the centers of two large natural gas fields and Consumers Power Co. is pushing for an amendment which would greatly reduce property control provisions for private corporations to start condemnation proceedings in order to gain complete control of the fields.

Explosion Sparks Blaze at Refinery

BORGER, Tex. (AP)—Only one person was injured when fire flashed through the Phillips Petroleum Co. refinery here Wednesday night.

A small explosion preceded the fire. O. L. Tubbs, an employe, suffered a leg injury as he ran from the flames.

A Phillips spokesman said the fire was under control an hour after the blast.

Quake Hits Frisco Bay

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A slight earthquake shook the eastern part of the San Francisco Bay area Wednesday, but no damage was reported.

Must Report Interest on Bonds Cashed in '60

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service reminded taxpayers today they must report interest earned on series E savings bonds cashed in last year.

The service said taxpayers need not report interest accrued on series E bonds they held throughout the year or exchanged for series H bonds.

Utter Dismay: Infuriated Cow Cows Cowards

CREMONA, Italy (AP)—An infuriated cow broke up an animal auction here Wednesday and chased dozens of dealers and buyers out of the market.

Policeman Giacomo Rebessi stood his ground, firing with his pistol. He missed. The cow didn't. She bowled him over and kept on chasing the fleeing crowd.

* * *

Finally Carabinieri Sgt. Mario Astengo stopped her charge. He hid behind a truck and shot her as she thundered past.

Muskegon Orders Police Out of Union

MUSKEGON (UPI)—The Muskegon City Commission, by a 5-2 vote, has forbidden its policemen to belong to a labor union.

The action, taken at a commission meeting, ordered the Muskegon officers to disassociate themselves from Local 201 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes within 30 days or face dismissal.

The president of the local, Patrolman Donald Brustad, has indicated a court fight will be instituted against the new ordinance. The local was established more than seven years ago.

Lapeer State School Gets $1.7 Million Nursery

200-Bed Unit for Retarded

Major Section of Five Wards to Be Finished by May 1962

By DON FERMOYLE

LAPEER — The major section of a $1.7-million nursery building for mentally retarded children will be constructed immediately at the Lapeer State Home and Training School, it was announced today.

The first five wards of the proposed nine-ward facility are scheduled for completion in May 1962, according to Almon Durkee, an official of Linn Smith Associates, Inc., Birmingham.

Durkee said construction bids for the 200-bed unit totaled $838,970 — approximately $100,000 less than was appropriated for the project by the state legislature.

The general contracting bid was awarded to the Schurrer Construction Co., 2431 Pontiac Road, Pontiac Township.

BUILDING TO BE LOW

A reception area, kitchen, employes' lounge and administration offices will overlook landscaped courtyards in the interior of the low, sprawling building.

The reception area leads to a central corridor which will serve the wards in the new nursery. Each ward will be a self-contained unit, including a service area, bathroom facilities and isolation room.

Special wards and isolation rooms will be air conditioned.

Individual playrooms and yards will be immediately adjacent to each ward. All floors in the children's play areas, each containing sandboxes and pools, will be heated through a system of underground pipes.

Steam and hot water heating will be piped from a central heating unit located elsewhere on the grounds of the institution. Meals will be prepared in an existing kitchen at the State Home.

However, patients will be fed at a dining room in the nursery building which also will contain a new diet kitchen.

Kitchen equipment will be furnished by the Great Lakes Supply Co. of Detroit. Two Flint firms, the LeMire Electrical Construction Co. and the Flint Plumbing and Heating Co., were awarded the other contracts by the state.

The architects and contractors met with state officials in Lansing yesterday to coordinate plans for the new building.

Durkee said the four other wards would be added when more funds are appropriated by the state legislature.

PROPOSED NURSERY BUILDING — This is the architect's conception of how the $1.7-million nursery building at the Lapeer State Home and Training School will look when it is completed. Work is scheduled to begin immediately on the first five wards of the proposed nine-ward facility. Architects and contractors met with state officials yesterday to coordinate plans for the new structure.

A state "star farmer" will be named from among 214 youths receiving the state farmer degree. Tom Moran of Traverse City, state president, will conduct business sessions.

Gov. Swainson will be the speaker at the annual banquet Wednesday night.

WED 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Harlie F. Chafy of 1450 Haggerty Road, Walled Lake, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house from 3 to 6 p.m. Sunday at their home. Friends and relatives are invited to attend the affair. Wed., March 18, 1911, the Chafys have resided in the same house throughout their married life. Shed Fire Does $25,000 Damage

Two Storage Buildings in Utica Gutted During Half-Hour Blaze

UTICA—Flames which shot 40 feet in the air at the height of a $25,000 blaze here yesterday afternoon gutted two storage sheds containing straw and coal behind the Utica Farm Bureau building, 6981 Auburn Road.

About 20 firemen and three pieces of equipment from Utica, Shelby Township and Sterling Township departments were used to fight the fire.

Utica Fire Chief Marvin Stadler reported the blaze was brought under control in half an hour before it could spread to other buildings along the New York Central railroad tracks next to the Farm Bureau sheds.

However, Stadler said the three departments remained at the scene for nearly an hour and a half, extinguished small blazes which broke out in the piles of straw and coal after the major portion of the fire had been put out.

MAN IS INJURED

One man was hurt, but not as a direct result of the fire.

Utica fireman Joseph Swan stepped on a nail while fighting the blaze. He was released after treatment at St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

The fire apparently was touched off by sparks from a freight train which passed along the tracks next to the sheds just before the blaze broke out at 3 p.m., according to Utica police.

The walls of both one-story frame structures were damaged, but neither was completely destroyed. The loss of supplies in the two sheds was estimated at $25,000 by Utica police.

Stadler said there was no threat to the Farm Bureau offices on Auburn Road or any other occupied buildings in the area. Most of the nearby structures along the railroad tracks are used for storage only, he said.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Possible RO Twp. Dope Peddler

Killed at His Front Door

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — An alleged 26-year-old dope peddler was shot to death in his home early this morning after being awakened from his sleep to answer the front doorbell.

The dead man is Richard White of 20862 Westview St.

According to township police, he was roused from his sleep about 1 a.m. by the ringing of the doorbell. His wife Marie said she heard voices and then two shots.

She ran to the door and found her husband on the floor groaning, a bullet hole in his neck. He was dead by the time police arrived.

The second shot went astray.

Mrs. White told officers she saw two men run for their car parked in front of the house after the shooting. A neighbor, John Marshall of 29878 Westview, was awakened by the shots and gave a description of the getaway car.

Form School Fact-Finding Committee

SOUTHFIELD — A fact-finding citizens committee has been formed by the Southfield Board of Education to study both present and future needs of the Southfield School District, it was announced today.

The citizens' advisory committee, which will work under the supervision of Dr. Donald Leu of Michigan State University, will study the school district from four angles.

Separate subcommittees in the 50-member citizens' group will report on school plant facilities and enrollment, educational programs, school finance and the school community.

The Board of Education will pay some $1,500 for the survey. Its share of the cost represents about 60 per cent of the total to be spent on the study. The rest will be paid for by Michigan State University.

One section of the survey will be devoted to a study of projected school enrollment, present school facilities and their ultimate capacity.

PLAN REVIEWS

The present teaching staff in the school district and the type of educational program desired in the community also will be reviewed.

Financial resources now available to schools, costs of school construction and recommendations on expenditures for the future will be studied by another subcommittee.

A fourth group will gather facts on home ownership, population growth, zoning and other details connected with the influence of the community on the school system.

Chairmen of the subcommittees include Robert Puller, school plant facilities and enrollment; Mrs. Lester Symons, educational programs; Albert Landeck, school finance; and Mrs. Webster Owen, community.

Once completed, the reports will be compiled by Dr. Leu and his MSU staff who will organize the citizens' findings for presentation to the board of education.

A preliminary report will be ready in about 60 days. The complete study is to be presented to the school board in September.

Postmaster Out of Post at Last

Real-Estate Salesman Clark H. Jeffers Will Take Over in Milford

MILFORD—After two years of frustration in trying to get relieved of his job, acting postmaster Robert H. Gorsline learned today that his successor has been named.

The new acting postmaster is Clark H. Jeffers of 648 Canal St. Jeffers is a real estate salesman.

He is expected to take over later this week.

Republican Gorsline submitted his letter of resignation to the Post Office Department Jan. 17. It was followed by three other resignations. Each time the authorities failed to accept it.

SAW NO HOPE

Gorsline, 65, explained he wanted to resign because he knew, as a Republican, that he would never be confirmed as postmaster under the present administration.

"So I decided to beat them to the punch and resign," Gorsline said. "It didn't work."

The former school superintendent said that with the naming of his replacement, he will be able to devote more time to his nursery business.

Gorsline, today still was waiting to meet the man who was to take over his $6,255-a-year post.

Beans to Europe Are Boon to Midwest

EAST LANSING (AP)—Beans harvested on Michigan farms last fall are flowing into Western European markets to the advantage of the entire Midwest economy, a Michigan State University marketing expert said here yesterday.

John L. Hazard told the seventh annual MSU Agricultural Marketing Conference the St. Lawrence Seaway already has benefited the entire Midwest region "farmwise and otherwise."

Hazard, who served for six years as an advisor to the seaway authority, said: "We still haven't realized the full impact of the seaway. Now that it is here, we still don't know what to do with it," he said.

Market Booms Upward Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Basic industrials along with selected electronics and others with speculative appeal joined to push the stock market generally higher early today. Trading was heavy.

Having gone through a consolidation period of about a week, the market was once again showing signs of exuberance. The ticker tape loaded as much as four minutes behind transactions.

Motors, chemicals, coppers and some steels advanced. Gains of key stocks were moderate, mostly within a point.

Held in the Oakland County Jail is Keith D. Francisco, 36, 1601½ Oakland Ave., on parole after serving time in Jackson Prison for armed robbery.

Orders for warrants were issued this morning by Asst. Prosecutor Anthony J. Renne, Francisco will be arraigned sometime today in Springfield Township.

He was arrested by sheriff's deputies at 3:45 a.m. in the driveway of the Township home where his fiance, Mrs. Bessie J. Sekulich, 13115 Rattlee Lake Road, lives.

Deputies reported finding Mrs. Darla Bair, 19, 435 Harden St., lying in a ditch near the driveway.

Her husband, John, 23, had reported her kidnaped earlier to Holly police.

He said that he and his wife met Francisco in a Holly tavern. He invited them to go for coffee later, Bair said, but sped off with the woman before she could get out of the car to join her husband.

Mrs. Bair, mother of three small children, said Francisco slapped her several times and made repeated advances. Twice she fled from the car, she said. Mrs. Sekulich only to be caught by Francisco, she told deputies.

Francisco denied the charges, according to Renne.
