Best Profit Since '55 for New Car Dealers

DETROIT (AP) — Record new car sales helped dealers post their biggest profit margin in 10 years in the opening quarter of 1965.

So reported the Nation Automobile Dealers Association today in its quarterly assessment of how the nation's auto dealers are faring.

Auto Makers Pledge Refund

Will Cover Any Cuts
in Car Excise Taxes

DETROIT (AP) — All four auto manufacturers assured new car buyers today they would be given refunds covering any reductions in car excise taxes.

General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and American Motors all pledged refunds.

The auto makers' moves were intended to remove any hesitancy on the part of potential buyers who might hold up on new car purchases until Congress approves the tax cut.

President Johnson proposed last Saturday that the 10 per cent auto excise tax should be cut to seven per cent, retroactive to last Saturday.

The auto firms sent letters to their dealers for relay to the public. The letters assured retroactive to persons buying cars on and after last Saturday.

Letters from all five GM passenger divisions to their dealers told specifically how GM would make the refunds.

"General Motors would be permitted to make application to the federal government for a refund of the federal excise tax on behalf of each eligible retail purchaser who accepts delivery of a new GM car on and after the date of retroactivity and until the date the reduced rate is applicable to sales by manufacturers," the letter said.

Excise Tax Cut on Autos Logical—Ford

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II said today that a proposed cut in auto excise taxes is a logical follow-up to last year's reduction in income taxes.

The chairman of the board of Ford Motor Co. told the annual Ford stockholders meeting that the "company is now enjoying the most successful operations in its long history."

Ford repeated his conviction that the U.S. auto industry will chalk up its first nine million new car sales year in 1965.

Backing up his faith in the sales outlook, he disclosed that Ford has added about $800 million to the expansion plans outlined to stockholders a year ago.

Ford said: "Last May, I told you that we expected to spend $1.6 billion worldwide for new and improved facilities in 1964, 1965 and 1966. In order to meet the demand for Ford products we are projecting in the next few years, we have now added $800 million to the plans I reported to you a year ago."

"About $200 million of this additional money will be spent before the close of 1966 and we plan to spend the balance, about $600 million, in 1967."

"For the four-year period from 1964 through 1967, then, the worldwide total will be about $2.4 billion."

"Of this amount, roughly, 55 per cent will be spent for expansion of domestic operations."

Suspects Face U. S. Charges

Confiscated by Police

Agents of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and police yesterday raided 13 locations, including 10 houses in Pontiac, and crushed an alleged $2 million per-year numbers racket.

Eleven persons were arrested, including the alleged ringleader, Angelo (Barrels) Lombardi of Detroit, who in October 1963 was named by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards as a section leader in the Mafia, an international crime syndicate.

Nine of the 11 persons arrested are Pontiac residents.

The raids were conducted simultaneously at 4:15 p.m. yesterday by 62 IRS agents, State Troopers and members of the Detroit, Pontiac and Oak Park police departments.

In addition to the arrests, agents and officers confiscated gambling apparatus and records, eight pistols, $1,500 in bills and 80 pounds of coins.

Lombardi, 37, was arrested at his home in Detroit, one of the alleged main offices of the operation, according to John Olzewski, chief of the intelligence division of the IRS.

Another leader in the ring, Mrs. Geraldine Winderman, 47, was arrested at her home at 23250 Berkley, Oak Park, also described as a main office by IRS agents.

Those arrested in Pontiac were Vennie Wright, 39, of 470 S. Edith, Vernon Reynolds, 31, of 173 Green; Walter McKinney, 65, of 40 Bagley; Della Gaston, 45, of 587 Colorado; and Mrs. Randolph Crump, 41, of 486 Kuhn.

Randolph Crump, 43, and Robert Chennault, 59, of 276 Howard McNeil, were both arrested at Hazel Park Race Track.

DURING RAIDS

W. C. Wilson, 41, of 313 Fisher, was arrested at a service station in Wright, James W. Ward, 49, of 267 S. Marshall, was also arrested during the raids.

Lombardi has served two years in prison, according to Olzewski, for violation of state gambling laws.

McKinney, Randolph Crump, Wilson and Chennault have all been previously arrested in Pontiac on gambling charges.

Pakistani Jet Crash 100 U.S. Craft Kills 120 Near Cairo Blast N. Viet

CAIRO (AP) — A Pakistani jetliner inaugurating Karachi to London service crashed in desolate desert sands near Cairo airport today, killing 120 of the 126 persons aboard.

Airline officials said one or more Americans perished in the flaming crash. Identification was not immediately available.

The airline said that of the 115 passengers, 93 were listed as Pakistanis, 12 Chinese and 10 other foreigners, whose nationality were listed as U.S., Canadian, Lebanese and Egyptian.

The attack was carried out in a thunderstorm.

The spokesman said U.S. Air Force planes, acting as distributing agents for the Saigon Information Ministry, flew within 55 miles of Hanoi and dropped a bill million leaflets warning the Communists to halt aggression in South Viet Nam or "bear more disastrous consequences."

He said this was the closest approach yet made to the North Vietnamese capital.

On the ground, the Viet Cong fired a short mortar barrage into a U.S. Marine patrol 15 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one Marine and wounding two others.

The Marines reported their return fire killed at least two guerrillas.

Governor Finds Both Guilty in Land Scandal

Ousted General Gets
Choice of Demotion,
Loss of Federal Status

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney fired Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, but reinstated Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert today, although finding both guilty of gross neglect of duty.

Romney removed McDonald as state adjutant general.

Neifert, who was quartermaster general under McDonald, was given a seven-month suspension.

But Romney said the suspension would be retroactive to last November and Neifert would be reinstated as of June 8.

McDonald and his attorney, Thomas McAllister, declined specific comment, but said they would have a statement later.

Romney gave McDonald 10 days to choose between accepting the rank of colonel and reassignment in the Michigan Guard or losing his federal status altogether.

Neifert attempted to shake hands with McDonald after Romney announced his decision, but did not succeed.

Neifert said perhaps McDonald did not see him.

Romney read a half-hour statement reviewing testimony from his 90-hour hearing for the two.

The governor emphasized, "No one stands here charged with any criminal action."

He added "I find nothing that would indicate either profited personally from these activities."

Romney said, however, the conclusion was inescapable that McDonald and Neifert were guilty of gross neglect of duty and misfeasance. He added malfeasance for McDonald.

The charges, stemming from an auditor general's investigation, involved land transactions at Camp Grayling and use of local army funds to buy items for the camp and Lansing headquarters.

ILLEGAL DEALS

In the case of the land transactions, Romney said McDonald acted in spite of an attorney general's opinion that the deals were illegal.

The governor said McDonald failed to bring the opinion to the attention of the State Military Board, which approved the deals.

He added that neither general presented the deals accurately to the board.

Romney fired both McDonald and Neifert last Oct. 8, but on advice of Atty. Gen. Frank (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Insist Yanks Still Neutral in Latin Strife

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today American troops in the Dominican Republic remain under orders from President Johnson to observe neutrality between contending junta and rebel forces.

Press secretary George E. Reedy made the statement when asked about published reports that American troops have been aiding the junta cause.

Insistence that U.S. troops are remaining neutral came also from Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. representative to the Organization of American States.

Reedy referred to the published reports as involving "operational matters" and said that all questions on the subject would be answered by Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance, who is in Santo Domingo.

Reedy said he thought Vance "would make himself available to the press at an early time."

LBJ INSTRUCTIONS

"The President's instructions to the troops when they were sent in were to observe neutrality," Reedy said when asked about the published reports of American intervention on behalf of the junta.

The New York Times reported today that junta troops won "a smashing victory against the rebel regime in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Earthy Avon Theft Dug Into by Sheriff

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department is conducting a down-to-earth investigation today.

The purpose is to weed out a thief who cut and stole 700 yards of sod from a sod farm at 2601 Crooks, Avon Township, sometime before dawn yesterday.

Farm owner Glen Hadfield, 1598 Auburn, Avon Township, said he had no idea who stole the sod or how the thief escaped with such a large haul.

Physician Dispels Fears Ex-TB Facility Dangerous

Fears that the health of students who will attend the Oakland Community College branch in the former TB sanatorium would be in danger were dispelled yesterday by two county physicians.

College officials said that reports are being widely circulated that the facility is contaminated.

"Naturally these are old wives' tales but they certainly are not doing us any good," said a college spokesman.

Purchased from the county for $27,000 the former TB facility is presently undergoing extensive remodeling. Classrooms are expected to be ready for occupancy this fall.

Dr. Frank J. Condon, deputy director of the Oakland County Health Department, and Dr. William F. Fidler, TB control officer for the county, dismissed the rumors after a visit to the campus.

"The idea and theory that transmission of tuberculosis would occur through contact with buildings has been discredited for many years," said Condon.

"Diseases such as this used to be thought as communicable by air but that idea went out with the model T," he added.

"There should not be a moment's hesitation under any considerations as far as people being reluctant to walk right in and conduct a college or school."

Fidler, who supervised the conversion of a 375-bed tuberculosis hospital at Howell to a home for retarded children, said: "People transmit tuberculosis, not inanimate sources."

Warmer Forecast Through Tomorrow

The weatherman will behave himself tonight and tomorrow, but watch out for Saturday. Partly cloudy skies with warmer temperatures are planned for us through tomorrow. Scattered showers or thundershowers are predicted Saturday.

Tonight, a low of 45 to 54 is expected. Tomorrow, the mercury will move up to 70 to 78.

Today in Pontiac and the surrounding area, winds are from the southeast at light velocities, usually between 6 and 14 miles an hour.

Today's early low was 45, recorded downtown. The thermometer noted a high of 72 at 2 p.m.

23 Injured as Market Roof Falls

NEW YORK (AP) — "All of a sudden, it was like a bomb fell down," says the meat section manager who was serving customers when the roof of a Brooklyn supermarket collapsed and rained tons of concrete slabs and plaster debris onto customers and clerks.

The manager, Sam Kinker, 61, and his four women customers fled through one of the broken windows.

Twenty-three persons — mostly women shoppers — were injured. Most of them were treated at hospitals. Four were admitted.

Police, firemen and residents of the neighborhood pulled several victims out from under chunks of concrete.

INSPECTORS RUINS
"It's a miracle no one was killed," Fire Commissioner Martin Scott said after inspecting the ruins of the Food Queen Supermarket in the Bessborough section Wednesday.

Mary Rossi, a shopkeeper on the other side of the street, said, "My God, it was awful. I was standing in front of my store when the roof seemed to blow up right in front of me."

The windows blew into the street and women and children ran out.

Other witnesses told of seeing hysterical women and children running from the store.

About 50 customers — mostly women and children — and 12 employees were in the store when the roof collapsed.

SEARCH THROUGH RUINS
Although police and fire officials thought no one was buried under the rubble, scores of men searched through the night with the aid of flood lights.

Two firemen working in the wreckage suffered minor injuries when hit by a falling girder.

Harold Birns, city commissioner of buildings, sent inspectors to investigate. Dist. Atty. Aaron Kovata promised an investigation.

A disaster may have been averted by the fact that the building had two stories, and the force of the falling concrete and other debris was cushioned by the ceiling of the store. The roof was being waterproofed by workmen at the time. A small piece of the roof where the men were working did not collapse. They were not injured.

PRESSURE OF COLLAPSE
The pressure of the collapse blew out three of the supermarket's show windows with such force that many persons in the area thought there had been an explosion.

The building had been converted from a movie theater 12 years ago. The second floor housed offices.

Training Grant Will Aid 1,000

A federal grant of $271,200 to be used to improve the employability of 300 Oakland County welfare families was announced today by Rep. Hulse S. Farnum.

The grant released by the welfare administration department of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare was earmarked for the State Department of Social Welfare.

It will be administered by the Oakland County Bureau of Social Aid.

Some 1,000 family members are included in the 300 cases benefiting from the grant.

The grant will finance training in various skills supplemented by job experience.

It will begin June 15 and continue for a year.

The idea behind the employability improvement program is to help unemployed persons compete in the labor market, according to Ora L. Hinkley, director of the Bureau of Social Aid.

They then were suspended without pay by Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, National Guard commander.

McAllister previously indicated he would appeal Romney's decision if it were unfavorable.

Neifert's attorney, Russell Noble, on the other hand, said he would consider Romney's ruling final.

MIXED REACTIONS
Neifert said he had "mixed reactions" to the verdict but said he had "been prepared for anything."

Neifert said he wanted at least a short time to collect his thoughts and decide if he would return to duty. But he said he had no other job possibilities in mind.

McDonald said, "I need time to think before I can make any final decision on so grave a matter," either on accepting one of the alternatives or appealing. "I'm stunned by the governor's decision."

McDonald's attorney, Thomas McAllister, called Romney's decision "most irregular as it in effect offered an inducement to keep (McDonald) from appealing the decision, a choice of two positions which would partially preserve his status with the National Guard."

USW Leader to Quit Quietly

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald will step down as president of the United Steelworkers Union next month without the fight he promised.

McDonald announced Wednesday that he was withdrawing his bid to succeed the union's Feb. 9 election in which he was narrowly defeated by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

Although associates said he still believes he won, McDonald told newsmen he was bowing out to avoid a lengthy legal wrangle that could weaken the union in its current contract talks with basic steel.

The negotiations, now facing a possible Sept. 1 strike date, were twice interrupted by the bitter Abel-McDonald struggle.

GUIDED UNION
McDonald, 62, who once ruled for 22 cents an hour in mills where steelworkers now make more than $3.60 an hour, guided his union to some of its best contracts and through its longest strike in 1959-1960.

During his 12-year reign he negotiated the first comprehensive profit-sharing plan and won extended 13-week vacations for senior workers in the first aluminum, then the can and steel industries.

Abel praised McDonald Wednesday at their joint news conference.

"Under your leadership we have made outstanding progress. I want you to know that these contributions are not only appreciated today but will be down through the years."

Tenth Victim Found
Under Avalanche Snow

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP) — The tenth victim of last Saturday's avalanche on Mt. Zugspitze was found today under 30 feet of snow.

The body of Raimund Meisch, 27, a German, was discovered near the station of the cable car line that takes tourists from the Schneefarnhaus Hotel to the summit of the 9,917-foot mountain.

"We have absolute control of the Dominican Republic," the junta president, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imper Barrera, told a rally of about 1,000 cheering middle- and upper-class followers inside the U.S.-occupied international zone of Santo Domingo.

"We don't want a truce. Out with communism," the crowd shouted.

Imbert spoke from a balcony at his headquarters in the Congressional Palace shortly after junta troops overran the rebel radio station and rebel resistance in northern Santo Domingo collapsed.

Imbert told an interviewer he would not consider any compromise with the rebel force of Col. Francisco Caamaño Deras. He said his five-man junta would only discuss unconditional surrender of the insurgents, whose main force is holed up in downtown Santo Domingo inside the U.S.-controlled areas.

'Shoot Me!' Beggars Convict

A former mental patient begged to be shot yesterday when he tried to escape only minutes after being convicted of an armed robbery in Pontiac.

Captured immediately after jumping from a patrol car yesterday, Jerry L. Barnes, 23, of Pontiac.

Barnes was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury of holding up the Ferry Food Market, 1220 N. Fairway, on Halloween night 1963. He will be sentenced June 8.

Sheriff's Deputy Jack Davis was escorting Barnes back to the county jail when he leaped from the car in the courthouse parking lot.

"He ran about 30 feet, then turned around and pleaded with me to shoot him," said Davis.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE
Barnes admitted the $207 robbery after being arrested the following day by Pontiac Detective Thomas Mitchell. Barnes was sent to Pontiac State Hospital and then later after he attempted suicide in jail while awaiting a court hearing.

In December he walked away from Pontiac and turned up in Detroit, where he was extradited and ordered to stand trial.

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem will sentence Barnes.

Volunteer for Safety By Having Car Check

Area Chambers of Commerce and civic and service clubs have joined in a two-day campaign to make driving safer.

Vehicle safety inspection will be offered tomorrow and Saturday at five checkpoints in Pontiac and three in Waterford Township, and stickers issued to those whose cars are approved.

Last year some 6,000 cars were tested, and campaign sponsors hope to up it this year to 10,000.

Although a sizable number of highway casualties are traceable to defective parts and accessories of older cars, it goes without saying that subjection of all autos to a safety check could be an act not only of car-saving but of life-saving — perhaps your own.

The Press warmly commends the public-spirited agencies and volunteers for their contribution to public welfare in a vital area.

way Act held a provision for small monetary incentive to states meeting certain Federal standards for billboard control, only seven states availed themselves of it, and but 147 of the 41,000 miles of Interstate highways are thus protected.

With expiration of the assistance provision imminent, a Senate bill has been introduced to appropriate $10 million a year for grants to states on a 50-50 matching basis for purchase of scenic easements along Federal and highways. Such easements would prevent detracting views across privately owned land abutting the highways.

Since the U.S. citizenry spends an appreciable part of its waking hours on the Nation's highways and byways, they offer tangible approach to making meaningful our moving anthem, "America the Beautiful."

Foreign Affairs Are Still Foggy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

George A. Cram

In the death of GEORGE A. CRAM the community loses a highly respected citizen and for half a century an outstanding member of the legal profession.

An active participant in many phases of public and organizational affairs, he played a leading part in drafting revision of the City's government structure in 1911 and again in 1921.

He was prominent in fraternal circles, being honored with high local and state offices, and was the Pontiac Lions Club first president.

Mr. CRAM, a native of Illinois, graduated from the University of Michigan law school in 1913, and soon thereafter began the practice of law in Pontiac.

Those who have found enjoyment and inspiration in his warm and outgoing personality deeply mourn the passing of this fine man.

U.S. Face Lifting Aims at Roadside Ugliness

A major area of attack in President Johnson's "Beautiful America" campaign is the contiguous vistas of the Nation's highways, although creation of more parks and recreational sites also fit into the over-all concept.

Highway beautification is by no means a new concern, but interest in it has been heightened by the increase in automobile ownership and by the spurt given highway building by the Federal government's 90 per cent participation in the cost of roads included in the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways.

Paved automobile roads always have drawn unattractive accompaniments to their borders. Nondescript billboards early became jarring figments of adjacent scenery. Even more distasteful was the jumble of roadside signs, dilapidated gasoline stations, ill-kept diners, honky-tonks and other low-grade establishments which tend to cluster around intersections of main highways or on approaches to cities.

Construction of limited-access highways has reduced clutter of this kind along major routes, but the problem remains elsewhere.

Although the Federal Aid Highway Act held a provision for small monetary incentive to states meeting certain Federal standards for billboard control, only seven states availed themselves of it, and but 147 of the 41,000 miles of Interstate highways are thus protected.

With expiration of the assistance provision imminent, a Senate bill has been introduced to appropriate $10 million a year for grants to states on a 50-50 matching basis for purchase of scenic easements along Federal and highways. Such easements would prevent detracting views across privately owned land abutting the highways.

Since the U.S. citizenry spends an appreciable part of its waking hours on the Nation's highways and byways, they offer tangible approach to making meaningful our moving anthem, "America the Beautiful."

He seemed decisive, although at this time it is MARLOW not known whether he was more impulsive than decisive, in ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam and in sending Marines into the Dominican Republic.

He ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam Feb. 7 and it continued without letup for more than three months, during which he called on the North Vietnamese Communists to discuss the war and how to end it. They ignored him.

Then suddenly seven days ago the bombing stopped. Reports indicate that Johnson through emissaries sought to get the North Vietnamese to talk business during the bombing lull. They still ignored him.

Tuesday the bombing was resumed. There is no evidence all the bombing has put even a small dent in the determination of the North Vietnamese to continue the war.

WHAT IS LBJ'S HOPE? The question is: What does Johnson hope to accomplish with more bombing if after three months he can produce only silence from the Communists?

When Johnson sent the Marines into the Dominican Republic it gradually became clear — since Johnson made several speeches before getting to the point — they were there to stop a Communist take-over.

The Communists had to be among the rebels, not among the conservative army people and civilians which ran the country through an unelected junta after throwing out President Juan Bosch in 1963. Last weekend Johnson sent a team of top advisers to the republic and then it became known they had sought to get the junta to resign in order to reach a truce and understanding with the rebels. The junta said no.

SOUGHT TO PUT PRESSURE

Tuesday the administration sought to put pressure on the military leaders supporting the junta to cut loose. The military men, reportedly, also said no.

The administration — so the thinking goes — apparently felt that if the junta stepped aside, a coalition government, acceptable to all sides, might be created.

But — if the Communists are such a menace as Johnson said they were among the rebels, how could the Reds be kept out of a coalition government?

This has not been explained by the Johnson administration. So, in both Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, the administration's position, hopes and strategy are all foggy.

Critics Hamper U.S. Stand in Viet

WASHINGTON How can the United States government convince Red China that there will be no retreat or withdrawal of America's armed forces from South Viet Nam until the people of that country are assured of an uninhibited opportunity for self-determination?

President Johnson has said many times that the United States is in earnest and will patiently pursue its objectives, even though this may require several years. But is he getting his message across?

Despite what the President says, however, there are, here and abroad, captious critics and conscientious opponents of his policies whose objections are given a prominence that is out of proportion to their true significance.

This encourages the Communist Chinese to believe that if they stick to their present strategy long enough and hold on indefinitely, the United States government will grow tired and will eventually find a face-saving device, by means of negotiation, which will be actually equivalent to withdrawal.

The argument being made by the isolationists and the neo-isolationists is that the United States cannot possibly win in Asia and that hence the best thing to do is to surrender through "negotiations."

OFTEN FAILED But the American government has found that the signing of peace treaties, cease-fire agreements and negotiated settlements has often failed.

If the Red Chinese could be really convinced that the United States will stay in Viet Nam indefinitely — that its military forces will continue to protect the people of South Viet Nam even if it takes five or 10 years — there might be a different story to tell.

The path of the Johnson administration is being made more and more difficult by the obvious attitude of appeasement displayed by some important newspapers as well as by various members of Congress. This handicaps the President of the United States and gives aid and comfort to the Red Chinese.

American public opinion has not been fully informed as to the reason why a war in Viet Nam is directly related to the safety of the United States itself.

PREVENTATIVE MEASURE Any war is unpopular, but a relatively small war in Viet Nam today can save the American people from a big war in years to come.

What is being done in Viet Nam by American troops and by American policies is to emphasize the resoluteness and firmness of this country's intention to defend the weaker peoples of the world against aggressors and invaders, against infiltrators and subversive agencies.

The failure of the United Nations to keep the peace has placed upon the shoulders of the United States government a tremendous burden.

But thus far the President of the United States has not faltered. He is determined to deter the Red Chinese from committing further aggressions.

It is unfortunate that the Viet Nam war is being prolonged by the encouragement unwittingly given the Red Chinese by American critics of their own government's policy.

Bob Considine Says:

It's Relief to Know Russia Having Space Flops, Too

NEW YORK — The $44 satellite-tracking set my wife gave me for Christmas has not fared as well as I had hoped.

Friendly Shark Loans, Ltd. So it's a relief to have the Russians suddenly telling us about their flops as well as their triumphs in space. Saves spying.

IN a sense their acknowledgment that sometimes they strike out confirms what has long been in the minds of many Americans, that there have been a lot of Soviet misfires and mishaps — perhaps even to cosmonauts — which were never revealed, not even to the Russian people. But it is encouraging to hear them say it aloud.

We don't have to "reveal" our own space flops, or "leak" the information. The flops are all there for all the world to see in the papers and on TV.

Within the past week the Russians have told the world that: • Their Mars-bound vehicle is dead;

• Their attempt to soft-land a sophisticated instrument package on the moon ended up as a splintering collision;

• A Russian missile general chewed out his troops for spending more time polishing the ICBM's than seeing to it that they are kept in the proper working order they'd have to be in to reach their assigned targets in the U.S.

There were expressions of regret here that the Russian experiment was not a complete success.

POLITE APPLAUSE There was also polite applause over the feat the Russians achieved before the actual failure: takeoff from earth, parking orbit, refire, midcourse correction, and a bulls-eye in the moon's Sea of Clouds. These are all great achievements.

Our Projects Surveyor and Apollo would have benefited if Luna V had been a complete success.

If it had been, it would now be sending back to earth certain primary information about the place that we're spending $10 million a day in an attempt to reach with a manned capsule by 1970.

Luna V was equipped to report by radio on moon temperatures, moonquakes, seismic ray exposure and the incidence of meteor showers.

At the same time, there must have been a few sighs of relief that the Russians failed to make it all the way.

It means that Surveyor's chances of getting there first and doing all those things and many more have brightened.

The first of 10 Surveyors won't be ready for launching until sometime this fall. Each cost $33 million, by the way. They will not be manned, of course. Their mission is to land softly on three spindly legs, send back the type of information Luna V was designed to, plus panoramic TV views, plus take samples of the moon's crust, assess the stuff, and let the earthbound astronauts know if the moon's surface is strong enough to support them and their Lunar Excursion Module.

Guevara Disappeared After Fight

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—A letter from a contact in Cuba with relatives in high Castro circles says relations between Fidel Castro and his top Red theoretician Che Guevara are bad.

Guevara is a b a d; don't be surprised if Che leaves Cuba "forever."

This letter was written in CROMLEY February when Guevara was on his worldwide trip which emphasized visits to Red China and Algeria. When Guevara left, his house was boarded up.

A short time back a cartoon in one of Havana's controlled papers made a play on the words Argentina (Guevara is from Argentina) and stupid.

A paper in Paris recently ran what was purported to be a statement by Guevara slapping at Fidel.

Between March 14 and this writing (two months) there has been no word of Guevara. After returning from his trip he disappeared into silence.

The U.S. government is known to be attempting to find out where he is and what he is doing. Guevara's child was with Fi-

'Teachers Lead Children Toward Higher Levels'

Thanks to Mr. Bill Graham's letter to try and clarify the difference between teachers and machines. Our teachers are supposed to have a three-month vacation, but most of them are going to colleges trying for higher degrees. They constantly work harder to be better teachers, to teach a better standard of living and constantly move forward with a higher degree of learning with each new class.

One cannot put a price tag on education. We parents better start with the knowledge that unless teachers are paid a better salary, we will see the best teachers leaving. Without good teachers we will regress to the dark ages. Teachers lead the destiny of civilization. Let's give a standing ovation to our teachers who lead our children on to higher and better levels.

It seems a sad shame to waste good space on an editorial page. I refer to the column entitled "And in Conclusion" which held a rather prominent spot on that all-important opinion page. Wouldn't it be more appropriate to relegate this bit of unimportant facts to the television section, someplace near Earl Wilson. That might have been good in a high school paper, but it hardly seems proper to place among the impressive by-lines of Lawrence or Considine. Why not use this space for the printing of more letters from the people (such as this one)?

'Finder Should Return Valuable Papers'

It seems a shame that when someone finds a hillfold he won't spend a dime of the money in it to return the valuable papers that are so hard to duplicate.

del Castro at Cuba's May Day Celebration. But Guevara was not seen.

There have been rumors he was in the Dominican Republic masterminding the attempted coup. But at this writing there has been no confirmation of these reports.

He has been rumored dead, but no facts back this up.

He is rumored to have been at a meeting in Montevideo, Uruguay, in April at which Red agents from Latin countries met with Communist underground directors from Czechoslovakia, Poland and the Soviet Union.

The meeting, held in the basement of the Czech embassy, had two Cubans present and representatives from a number of Latin lands, including Argentina and Brazil. An armistist and other activists were at these sessions.

Che Guevara differs from Castro on a number of key issues. He's openly for Red China and Mao's way of doing things. For politico-monetary reasons, Castro keeps his ties with the Soviet Union.

Wherever he is, Cuba or elsewhere, Guevara's personal fight with Castro is expected to continue. The likely result: more Red activity in the hemisphere.

May Solve 'Whole' Problem

Keep Eye on the Doughnut

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON—Earlier this month, in one of my penetrating lectures on foreign affairs, I undertook to analyze Franco-American relations in terms of the stomach.

The message I attempted to convey was that gastronomy may have more to do with diplomacy than the State Department seems to realize. France, I pointed out, has long prided itself on its fine cuisine, which has made it the spiritual home of gourmets the world over.

But recently its leadership in the taste bud department has been challenged by the growing acceptance in Europe of such American products as char-broiled steaks and peanut butter.

This, I concluded, may explain in part why the U.S. government hasn't been getting along too well with President Charles de Gaulle lately.

Assuming there is some validity in the palate theory of diplomacy which is not an assumption I am prepared to underwrite with my life's savings, then I fear there may soon be a turn for the worse.

DONUT UNIVERSITY

It has just come to my attention that plans are under way to open a European branch of Dunkin' Donut University.

Dunkin' Donut U., whose main campus is located in Quincy, Mass., is the oldest educational institution of its type in the United States. In fact, the only one.

Its curriculum is exclusively devoted to the study of doughnuts.

CONTEMPLATE HOLE

Under the guiding hand of its beloved dean, Robert Birdwell, its students spend long hours immersed in the cultural and esthetic aspects of doughnuts, and in contemplation of the hole.

Those who graduate leave their alma mater secure in the knowledge that they have a well-rounded background in both the academic and commercial side of fried pastry.

I am told that as soon as a faculty of distinguished professors has been recruited, DDU will open a branch in London. There it will seek to educate Europeans in the higher elements of doughnology.

"We hope soon to have Europeans consuming coffee and doughnuts rather than tea and crumpets, strudel, smoked eel and the like," a spokesman for Dean Birdwell reported.

ULTIMATE GOAL

The ultimate goal is to span the continent with a chain of roadside doughnut shops similar to those now gracing the American landscape.

When President de Gaulle gets wind of this, look out!

Welfare Recipients

Warned on Cab Riding

DETROIT (AP) — Welfare recipients who pick up their relief checks by taxicab were put on notice today to desist. Welfare Supt. Daniel J. Rayn said such persons would be dropped from the rolls unless they could give good explanations. He conceded they numbered "very few" among the 4,000 families on welfare.

The mortality rate in the U.S. during 1964 was at its lowest level since 1961, 9.4 deaths per 1,000 of population.

Project Head Start—2

Volunteers Needed to Augment Staffs

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Thousands of volunteers have offered to help in Project Head Start, the program to educate underprivileged children. UPI reporter Louis Cassels reports in the second dispatch of a three-part series on what you can do to help.)

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In Asheville, N.C., a group of senior citizens called on the director of a child development center which is being established under "Project Head Start."

"What can we do to help?" asked the senior citizens.

"We could use some retired men to talk to the children, tell them stories and take them on outings," said the director. "Many of these kids have never known a father. That's one reason they have great difficulty relating to any male authority figure, such as a school principal or a policeman. You can show them there are men whom they can trust."

The senior citizens talked it over. Within a few days, they notified the center that it could rely on them to provide a daily staff of "visiting grandfathers."

Things like that are happening all over America, as communities gear up for the unique adventure in creative compassion known as "Project Head Start."

OVERCOME HANDICAPS

Its purpose is to help a million children of poverty overcome some of their handicaps before they enter school next fall.

Ten thousand Head Start centers will be in operation this summer. They will be staffed by full time salaried employees, including more than 40,000 teachers and other professionals. But they will also need the part-time help of some 500,000 unpaid volunteers.

"We've already had a tremendous response from volunteers," said Mrs. Walter Ridder, who is so excited about Project Head Start that she took leave of any senior from her job as Washington editor of Conde Nast publications to help get it launched.

Mrs. Ridder said many of the volunteers are offering free professional services to the desperately underprivileged children who'll be enrolled in Head Start centers.

"We've had calls from doctors, dentists, optometrists, hearing specialists, psychologists and many other types of professional people who are willing to donate several hours a week to Head Start centers," she said.

"We've also heard from a large number of artists and sculptors — including some quite famous ones — who want to teach these children how to use finger paints and modeling clay."

"The Girl Scouts are mobilizing thousands of teachers' helpers. Women's clubs are forming motor pools to chauffeur the children to and from medical appointments, or escort them on trips to zoos, museums, farms and parks."

"It is wonderful the way people are lining up to help. I've never seen Americans take a project to their hearts so quickly and thoroughly."

PREPARED LIST

In reply to thousands of inquiries, the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) has prepared a list of things that volunteers can do at Head Start centers. Besides the activities suggested above, the list includes:

- Supervise outdoor play activities.
- Take part in indoor creative play, for example, building with blocks, dress-up games, dolls and table games.
- Supervise suitable arts and crafts activities.
- Lead musical activities.
- Tell or read stories.
- Talk with the children about everything they do in a way which will help them learn, understand and use more words with ease.
- Show the parents of the children how they can buy and prepare food which is cheap, nutritious and appetizing.
- Cook meals or do the marketing for the center.
- Collect clothing, toys or equipment for the children.
- Keep records and handle other secretarial and office work.

If you don't feel qualified to do any of those things, but still want to help, Mrs. Ridder advises that you get in touch with your community center and ask them what they need in the way of manpower.

You may wind up as a visiting grandfather.

Rodeo Queen's Reign Is Short One as Judges Discover Wrong Girl Was Crowned

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For four days Lyn Anderson reigned as queen of this gambling city's annual Helderado celebration. Then she learned it was all a mistake.

The 19-year-old brunette ruled over a rodeo last Thursday night.

In the Helderado parade Saturday she proudly sat astride Princess, her dad's mare. Lyn wore a new western outfit her father had promised her if she won.

"It's a great honor," she said, as have countless other queens before her.

But Wednesday the great honor proved to be a "tragic mistake."

Lyn was not the one the judges selected as queen, said Keith Ashworth, the celebration chairman.

The real queen was supposed to be Stephanie Anne Sertie, an 18-year-old Western High School student.

Ashworth said the switch happened this way:

The judges graded the eight contestants, referring only to their numbers.

The winner's number (No. 1) was handed to the rodeo an nouncer last Thursday night. The announcer, who had only a list of names in alphabetical order, said the winner was Lyn Anderson, the first name on his roster.

When she was crowned, said Ashworth, the judges wondered why, but did not voice their question until Tuesday.

REAL UPSETTING

"This has been real upsetting to the whole family," Lyn's mother said. "We wish they would have found the mistake earlier and cleared it up."

"We don't know what we're going to do but we are going to talk about it with a lawyer," she said.

Lyn stayed home Wednesday, deciding not to attend a luncheon where Ashworth explained the mixup to the other candidates.

Ashworth says he is sorry about the entire affair, but added: "I don't think two wrongs make a right. In my business (accounting) if we make a mistake we correct it."

UNFAIR TO LYN

"I think this whole thing is unfair to Lyn," Miss Sertie said. "But I'll abide by whatever the Helderado officials say."

The final ruling of the committee: Miss Sertie is queen. Miss Anderson is coqueen because of the error.

Relinquishes Post as Hospital Chief

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Samuel D. Jacobson relinquished his post as superintendent Wednesday to step down to physician-in-chief at Wayne County General Hospital.

Dr. Herschel J. Wells was promoted from infirmary director to superintendent. In his new post, Jacobson will be responsible for medical activities only, with Wells having administrative responsibility.

Jacobson's administration has been in dispute in recent months. Some members of the medical staff accused the administration of failure to control labor union pressure.

'Hello; I Just Pulled Down Your House'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Irving Steinman picked up the telephone and heard a man say: "Say, do you own the house at 142 S. St. Andrews?"

"Yes, I do," Steinman replied.

"Well," David D. Davis responded, "I just tore it down."

Davis explained he was supposed to tear down a similar house — two doors away. Steinman said Wednesday his house was worth about $5,000, adding "I'm sure I can't get it out of the wrecker's liability insurance. This wasn't an act of God, it was an act of mortal man."

S. African Crimes on Increase

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Two policemen and 10 gangsters have died in gun battles during a spreading crime wave in South Africa.

Police have announced formation of special undercover squads to deal with armed robberies, which have become an almost daily occurrence in the large cities. These heavily armed squads have unofficial orders to shoot first and ask questions afterward.

According to Brig. Gideon Joubert, head of the country's Criminal Investigation Division, there were 1,699 robberies with violence in the eight months preceding this one. Police investigations have so far resulted in 485 arrests.

Payroll bandits have been particularly active. A teller at a Johannesburg suburban bank was held up and robbed twice within two weeks.

ARMED SENTRY

Police spokesmen say they are now promoting a plan to have armed sentries posted in many banks, especially in the Johannesburg area, where heists take place many of the most daring rob-

While most armed holdups are carried out by nonwhites, police have evidence that whites are frequently the brains behind them. A Hungarian immigrant shot dead by police was called the mastermind of several of this country's biggest payroll robberies.

A brisk black market trade in stolen firearms is carried out in the larger cities. South Africa's whites — an estimated four of every 10 adult whites own guns — are careless with their firearms. Last year, a record 2,830 weapons were reported stolen.

Open House for Pigeons

KEANSBURG, N. J. (UPI)

— Mrs. Margaret McCan doesn't mind birds of a feather flocking together, but she would rather they didn't do it in her house.

She had just settled down for a cup of coffee yesterday when 25 pigeons flew through her living room window and up the stairs to the second floor.

She called police and, within minutes, officers were in her bedroom routing the birds back outside through a window.

Murder Trial Witnesses Tell of Violence Between Brothers

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Jurors at the trial of Timothy Nicholson, accused of slaying his twin brother, Todd, have heard testimony from two young women about a violent fight between the wealthy brothers in Phoenix, Ariz., last summer.

Wednesday that she was in Todd's Phoenix apartment after she and Timothy drove to Arizona from Los Angeles to visit Todd.

She related that Todd was away when they arrived. Because she was tired, she lay down to rest.

Anita Day, 22, a part-time Hollywood model, testified

When Todd came home, the blonde witness said, he became enraged and ordered them out of the apartment. She said Todd grabbed a pistol and tried to pull it from his holster, shouting to Timothy, "I'm going to kill you."

LEFT ROOM

Todd then left the room and Miss Day said Timothy came in to tell her to get ready to leave. "Then Todd came back and started hitting Tim with his fists," she said. "I was backed into a corner. Todd knuckled Tim into a corner and kicked him."

The witness said she asked Timothy, "Why don't you hit him?" and he replied, "I love him — I don't want to hurt him."

Timothy's trial is now in its third week.

He is charged with murder in the Dec. 7 gunshot death of Todd in a 45-unit apartment house the brothers owned in nearby Temple City. The twins, who prospered as real estate developers, were heirs to the Cudahy meat packing and Pullman sleeping car fortunes.

Additional testimony about the Phoenix fight was offered by Rita Musgrave, 25, a brunette divorcee who said she was engaged to Todd. She said she didn't see the fight but that Todd told her later he tried to shoot his 22-year-old brother that night but his gun jammed.

Race drivers at Indianapolis got about four miles to the gallon, using special fuels at $1 a gallon.

Oklahoma Court Image Hurt

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Staggered by charges of corruption, Oklahoma's Supreme Court is attempting to shore up its battered public image before elections roll around next year.

The seven justices who survived the many-sided investigations of alleged bribery are acutely aware four court posts will be filled in 1966 elections and another three in 1968.

Even before Justice Napoleon Bonaparte Johnson was ousted from office last week for accepting bribes, the court had given the Oklahoma Bar Association broad power for a continuing investigation of justices' activities.

This was the first step by the remaining judges to restore confidence in the state's highest court.

FUTURE ELECTIONS

Justice Floyd Jackson, up for reelection in 1966, conceded there has been speculation voters "might just throw us all out" in future elections.

Justice William Berry, one of three justices reelected without opposition last year, predicted an uphill climb now but said, "I think we have been doing a good job and the people will realize it."

Chief Justice Harry L. S. Haley described the court's ordeal as a "nightmare" but said he plans to seek reelection next year. "The investigations cleared the atmosphere," Haley said.

"I'm glad we had the investigations," said Justice Denver Davison, now senior member of the court with 28 years service. "It was necessary to clear things up. Those investigations were thorough and should restore confidence in the court."

RENEWED DEMANDS

Johnson's conviction by the State Senate brought renewed demands for court reforms, with Gov. Henry Bellmon declaring the scandal is "positive proof of the immediate necessity for judicial reforms." Bellmon, a Republican, called for selection of judges "on a nonpartisan and nonpolitical basis."

Chances appear slim the Democratic-controlled legislature will adopt any major court reforms before adjourning this summer until 1967.

A few weeks before Johnson's impeachment trial, the House of Representatives defeated a plan to appoint, instead of elect, state judges.

The legislature is expected to resubmit to state voters a constitutional amendment creating a Court on the Judiciary with power to remove or force retirement of errant or disabled judges. The "super-court" proposal was narrowly defeated in the 1964 general election.

WATCHDOG COMMITTEE

A move also is under way to establish a legislative watchdog committee armed with subpoena power to continue investigations after the legislature adjourns.

The bar association made its own investigation of the court and cleared the seven remaining justices of any wrongdoing. The association's house of delegates repeatedly has endorsed a Court on the Judiciary and a plan to appoint judges.

"I just don't know why we aren't able to get something along that line," the bar association president, T. D. Nicklas, said of the reform measures.

A former justice who retired in 1959 after 24 years on the court was key prosecution witness in Johnson's impeachment trial.

N. S. Corn, now 81, related in matter-of-fact tones — almost as if he were discussing a real-estate transaction — how he took $157,500 in bribes in 1957 and Earl Welch $10,000 each for their votes in two pending appeals.

Welch, then senior member of the court with 32 years service, resigned in March a few hours before a legislative investigating committee recommended his impeachment for the alleged bribery.

Both Corn and Welch were convicted of federal income tax evasion last year in cases that broke open the court scandal.

Still more trouble may lie ahead for Johnson, 74, a Cherokee Indian who served on the court 16 years.

BRIBERY CHARGES

Oklahoma County Atty. Curtis Harris said he plans to bring state bribery charges against the ousted judge.

Testimony disclosed the Internal Revenue Service has questioned Johnson's income tax returns.

At Least Month Left for Dr. Sam

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — For the next four or five weeks Sam Sheppard and his wife, Ariane, can live without fear of sudden separation by his return to Ohio Penitentiary.

His attorneys Wednesday were allowed until June 14 to petition the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati for a rehearing of that court's May 5 ruling ordering him back to prison.

"I feel relieved. It gives us more time to be together until we see what happens next," said Sheppard, who has been free on $10,000 bond since last July. "Right now we're just living from hour to hour and happy to be together."

Sheppard was serving a life sentence after conviction by a common pleas court jury on a second-degree murder charge. He was accused of bludgeoning his pregnant wife, Marilyn, in a bedroom of their home in Bay Village on July 4, 1954.

A U.S. District Court judge in Dayton freed Sheppard last July on grounds he did not receive a fair trial, but his ruling was reversed by the May 5 decision of three appellate court judges.

'JAW' ENFORCEMENT — A bulldog in Wichita, Kan., is pretty stubborn about not wanting motorcycles on his street and decided to clamp down. When a cyclist halted for a stop sign, the dog got hold of the wheel and wouldn't let go until getting "tired."

Oxford Heats Up for Debate on Fighting

OXFORD, England (UPI) — Authorities today assigned policemen to mingle with the audience during tonight's controversial debate on whether members of the Oxford University Union would go to war for "queen and country."

Thirty years ago, union students decreed that "under no circumstances" would they fight for "king and country."

Critics claimed passage of the motion encouraged Hitler and Mussolini to launch World War II.

The same resolution will be debated tonight despite bitter protests from university officials and criticism from many of those who supported the original motion.

Police took extra precautions because of threats received by Tariq Ali, a young Pakistani who serves as president of the union.

Sir Richard Acland, a 58-year-old former Labor member of Parliament who will propose the motion, has also been the target of threats.

Strife With Wife

Hits Snoring Hubby

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Lather G. Davis told the court this sequence of events took place when he arrived home around midnight after attending a lodge meeting. His wife, Edith, was in bed snoring.

He got into bed without disturbing her and fell asleep — only to be awakened a short time later when she kicked him in the leg.

She got up, jerked a sheet and blanket from him and said: "I'm not going to sleep with anybody who snores like that" and struck him on the head with a billy club.

This led to his obtaining a warrant and charging her with assault and battery.

At this point in her trial before Judge Ralph Miller, Mrs. Davis, a school bus driver, testified.

Davis smelled of beer when he came home at 2:30 a.m., slammed a door, dropped his shoes, "made all kinds of noise," went to bed and started to snore.

"I asked him three times to turn over," she said.

After her husband slapped her she tapped him with the billy club, which he seized. He threatened her, pinched her and threw "my little pug dog clear across the living room."

The judge ruled that, although Davis slapped her, she "could just as easily have walked away" instead of picking up the billy club.

He found her guilty as charged, suspended sentence and commented:

"Apparently neither you nor your husband should have gotten married in the first place."

Close Indian Ties With Russia Could Cut Into U.S. Influence

By CONRAD FINK
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India has opened what it hopes will be a new era of friendly and profitable cooperation with the Soviet Union. It could bring a steep decline in American influence and prestige in this nation of 400 million.

Already, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has toed the Soviet line by criticizing U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam without his recent balancing condemnation of all foreign interference in Viet Nam.

Shastri returned today from an eight-day visit to the Soviet Union proclaiming that India has been in trouble since President Johnson said last month he was going to be busy with the Viet Nam crisis and domestic affairs and asked Shastri to postpone a visit to Washington in June.

The U.S. image in India has been in trouble since President Johnson said last month he was going to be busy with the Viet Nam crisis and domestic affairs and asked Shastri to postpone a visit to Washington in June.

HUMILIATING REBUKE
Many in New Delhi took this as humiliating, heavy-handed rebuke for Shastri's attitude toward the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Before American diplomats here could put things right, another dispute developed. India charged Pakistan was using American military aid equipment against Indian soldiers in the Ham of Kutch.

Pakistan made the same charges against India. Washington reminded both governments that American military aid was to be used against communism, not against each other.

Being put in the same boat with their Pakistani enemies made the Indians angrier.

RED CARPET

Indian newspapers reported in great detail how the Soviets laid out the red carpet. President Johnson was too busy, the newspapers pointed out, but Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin interrupted his schedule to accompany Shastri from Moscow to Leningrad.

Indian officials who returned home before Shastri reported the Soviets were planning to double trade with India in the next five years to about $400 million a year.

The Soviets were also said to have promised to double aid for the next five-year development plan to $400 million.

There were broad hints of long-term credits and military aid — perhaps tanks to match those America gave Pakistan, ships to strengthen India's rusting navy or even supersonic jet fighters which the United States refused to provide.

EASY TO OVERLOOK

With such a package dangling before their eyes, many Indians found it easy to overlook the fact that Soviet aid so far is only one-sixth of the more than $6 billion the United States has poured into India.

No criticism was heard because the Soviets gave no public backing to India on two crucial issues.

One is India's quarrels with Pakistan over the disputed Rann of Kutch area and the Himalayan state of Kashmir.

The other is Indian criticism of Communist China's entry into the nuclear club.

Shastri on his return said the Kutch dispute was not mentioned in the joint communique at the end of his visit because the Soviet leaders thought British peace proposals now being discussed with India and Pakistan might yield results. Shastri said the Soviets considered it inadvisable to say anything openly.

Shastri said he also discussed Peking's attitude toward India "fully," but it was felt that it was better not to say anything publicly about this either.

The Soviets are even more replying to Peking's severe criticisms of Soviet policies. Shastri said the aid that the Soviet Union has adopted "a neutral attitude" toward China's nuclear program, as part of the Soviet alliance on many things the Communist Chinese did and said.

There are nearly 30 species of lady's slippers, sometimes called mosses (flower). About 10 varieties grow in North America.

MAN WITH PROBLEMS — Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has the difficult task of attempting to run a nation beset with mounting problems in the shadow of the late Jawaharlal Nehru. Shastri scored a moderate success this week when Moscow pledged to double its economic aid and agreed to support India in its so-called nonaligned policy.

Praises Report Asking for Imported Mexican Labor for State Pickle Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report of the Michigan farm labor by Rep. Paul H. Todd, D-Mich., justified by the facts "and which will prevent much hardship for the pickle growers."

The panel's report, presented to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, estimates a shortage of 5,000 foreign farm laborers, depending on the acreage of pickles actually planted and the availability of domestic farm labor.

"Secretary Wirtz, in a conversation Wednesday, assured me he accepted the panel's report," Todd said.

"At this date, which is in the middle of planting time, it is very important the pickle growers receive assurance there will be enough labor to harvest their crops."

Todd said the panel has estimated a labor shortage which probably will require Labor Department certification for importing Mexican farm workers.

A former program, under which Mexican farm workers were used to harvest crops in the United States, expired at the end of 1964. Wirtz has been opposed to the use of Mexicans unless a real need is shown.

Todd said he is confident Wirtz will certify use of Mexican farm workers for harvesting the Michigan crop in time to meet the harvest needs.

Viet Nam covers 127,242 square miles and had an estimated population of 32.1 million in 1962.

Artist Raps Policy Critic

Doesn't Agree With Chief of Academy

NEW YORK (AP) — Artist Thomas Hart Benton has threatened to resign from the American Academy of Arts and Letters because of an attack by Lewis Mumford, academy president, on U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Benton, of Kansas City, said he has sent a "Dear Lewis" telegram to Mumford saying the academy's Wednesday would undoubtedly be construed as representing the academy's point of view.

He said in the telegram that "unless the academy publicly repudiates Mumford's views on my expressed views I feel that I must resign from the academy."

Mumford attacked the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam as a "moral outrage," in an address opening the academy's annual festival of the arts. He said that he was speaking only for himself.

ON SAME STAGE

Benton, who was sitting on the stage with other members and artists to be honored, tried to interrupt Mumford to take issue with him.

"They pulled me down," he said. "I couldn't be heard. I left because I was afraid of what I'd say if I stayed. I was so damn mad. That was a politically irresponsible speech. I left a note for the academy in general, told them it was ill-informed and inappropriate."

"I feel that the president of the academy was missing his office by airing his point of view at a public function."

Benton is a staunch Democrat and a friend of presidents.

SPECIAL DUTY

In his address, Mumford said: "We have a special duty to speak out openly in protest on every occasion when human beings are threatened by arbitrary power: not only as with the oppressed Negroes in Alabama and Mississippi, but the peoples of both North and South Viet Nam who must now confront our government's cold-blooded blackmail and calculated violence."

"Obviously, we have no more reason to have our will prevail in Viet Nam than Soviet Russia had to establish rocket bases in Cuba."

Picks Jail Over Whip

TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Judge Sam Poole Wednesday gave George Stout the choice of whipping his son, Steve, 18, on the courthouse steps or letting him go to jail. Stout, a mill worker and a farmer, decided against the public whipping. Steve is now serving two 12-month terms for breaking and entering.

Russian Youths Dig Jazz and Rock; Authorities Don't

AP Newfeatures

American jazz, rock 'n' roll and twist music is jangling Russian nerves.

Not the nerves of its youth, who defy "music patrols," tune out some 2,000 state-approved radio programs, whom official dance classes which do not include Western dance instruction and pay as much as 3 rubles ($3.30) for black-market jazz records and tape recordings.

But the nerves of Soviet authorities, who deplore its "blatant poisoning of Soviet youth," calling jazz a "Western banality that spoils and perverts the musical taste of young people."

In a recent study by former Russian scholars at the Munich-based Institute for the Study of the U.S.S.R. for Radio Liberty, researchers found evidence that the penetration of American music, chiefly by foreign radio, is causing officials considerable pain.

Radio Liberty broadcasts 24 hours a day from 17 transmitters in West Germany, Spain and Formosa, in 17 languages spoken within the borders of the U.S.S.R.

SATELLITES

Radio Free Europe broadcasts are aimed at satellite nations. Radio Liberty is jammed by some 200 Soviet radio stations but enough jazz is swinging through to spark an aggressive "Musical Propaganda" campaign in the Soviet press.

While the U.S.S.R. does not

Toledo Dairy Strike Halts Milk Deliveries

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Milk deliveries in northwestern Ohio and southern Michigan were cut off Wednesday when 500 dairy drivers and warehousemen struck Toledo's six major dairies.

A federal mediator met with representatives of both sides in an attempt to settle the dispute over a new contract to replace one that expired April 4.

officially ban American dances, Soviet officials go far beyond indoctrination and propaganda in their efforts to suppress this "product of the decadent West."

Sometimes uniformed police watch dance halls. "The Twist has arrived at the Salykov Dance Hall in Moscow Oblast," reports a recent issue of Sovetskaya Kultura.

In Leningrad, the Komsomolskaya Pravda deplored, "Many couples danced steps from the Charleston instead of doing a fast fox trot."

GET SCOLDING

Twelve dancing couples were scolded by eight volunteer policemen. The young "morality breakers" jeered that it was most unpleasant to listen to lectures on the moral code of a builder of Communism while they were dancing.

Police control of public dance places and orchestra repertoires has created a flourishing black market in records and tape recordings.

Most customers are boys and girls under 18, who buy jazz records made from old X-ray film.

While American jazz "threatens to crack the dam of Russian youth's disenchantment with its society, the current Soviet propaganda is in the paradoxical position of speaking up in defense of the nonproletarian cultural works of the past and criticizing cultural products of the proletariat which are being created in our time," concludes the study.

Dr. Allan Nevins, historian and two-time Pulitzer Prize-winner, has endowed a chair of history at Columbia University with a gift of $500,000.

The gift was made anonymously last December. Columbia disclosed yesterday in New York that Nevins was the donor.

Nevins will be 75 tomorrow. He retired after 30 years at Columbia in 1958. He has written or edited more than 50 books. He is teaching at Oxford University in England.

Dionne Sister Leaves Convent for Visit

One of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets, Yvonne, is living temporarily with a married sister, Annette, after leaving a convent at Moncton, N.B.

Germain Allard, Annette's husband, said in Montreal yesterday that Yvonne had been at the convent for 2½ years but did not take her final vows.

Allard said "she is trying to make up her mind about what to do."

The sisters will celebrate their 31st birthday May 28.

Prince Charles May Go to German School

A London newspaper says Queen Elizabeth II reportedly is thinking of sending her eldest son, Prince Charles, 16, heir to the throne, to school in Germany.

The London Daily Sketch said today the queen is expected to decide after she returns from her state visit to Germany.

The Sketch said the school being considered is Salem, an alma mater of Prince Charles' father, Prince Philip. Prince Charles now attends Gordonstoun School in Scotland.

Recent Successes Lend Hope

May Yet Reverse Viet Record of Failure

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
SAIGON — In Viet Nam's ancient royal capital of Hue astride the Perfume River, a street banner pays tribute to a Buddhist monk who incinerated himself a year ago in an anti-government demonstration. Another banner proclaims elections at the end of this month. Both have significance.

And in Saigon, 430 miles to the south, in a quiet air-conditioned office on Thong Nhat (circumlocution) Street, an outwardly serene man labors amid the crossfire on Buddhist, Catholic and military rivalries to give to South Viet Nam the political stability it must have to win over Communist Viet Cong aggression.

He is Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat, a former foreign minister and veteran of a succession of governments which followed the fall of slain president Ngo Dinh Diem.

A more vigorous U.S. military policy against Communist aggression from the north and limited successes of the new government have given rise to a cautious optimism that a record of failure in South Viet Nam may yet be reversed.

The new government, in office since last February, has ordered elections to be held May 30 in all towns, districts and provinces that are secured from the Viet Cong.

ARE QUIET

The Buddhists, whose fiery self-destruction and violent demonstrations in the streets of Hue and Saigon toppled or helped to topple six governments after the fall of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime in November 1963, for the moment are quiet.

Both Catholic and Buddhist leaders have promised the government their cooperation.

Neutrality, on the rise during 16 months of political chaos, is receding.

Buddhist leaders once suspected of seeking a peace with Communist North Viet Nam at any price, had warned Buddhist youth against Communist-inspired peace groups and have strongly denounced Communist aggression.

GIVE SUPPORT

The two South Vietnamese generals, without whom it is said no government coup can succeed, both have declared their support for the new prime minister and say that his is a good government.

They are Maj. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, energetic commander of I Corps in the north, and Maj. Gen. Nguyen Cao Khi, commander of the Air Force.

Both declare they are weary of coups.

FACELESS WAR

The Viet Cong fights a faceless war. It may be a grenade tossed into a crowded Saigon restaurant or a sudden ambush alongside a highway.

But he is a sophisticated fighter.

This table of organization includes a government in being, ready to take over, from the hamlet, district and province to the highest level.

In the provinces which they control, the Viet Cong levy the taxes, run the schools and function as an organized government.

EXCUSE TERRORISM

They excuse terrorism as the fight against a government which is the enemy of the people.

Among a people tired of more than 20 years of war and neglected by their government, they find willing listeners.

Their battle, fought with the active support of Communist North Viet Nam under the guise of nationalism and with the more indirect support of Red China and the Soviet Union, has the same goals as that of the South Vietnamese government supported by the United States. More than geography, the fight is for control and the loyalty of a people.

DISTRIBUTE VACCINES

When a cholera epidemic threatened provinces under their control in the Mekong River Delta not long ago, they distributed anticholera vaccines.

But when persuasion fails, then terrorism also is a ready weapon.

Viet Cong kidnappings in the first 28 days of April alone totaled more than 500. In many months, kidnappings and assassinations against the civilian population run over 1,000.

Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat told this correspondent in an interview that South Viet Nam is a "final test" between communism and the free world.

FIRST ASSIGNMENT

And he regarded his own first assignment as one to convince those not already convinced of the true nature of the Viet Cong, to provide security and then to win their loyalty.

Provincial, district and local elections are a first step.

And as part of this effort the United States will pour $285 million this year into economic aid over and above the military effort.

In this effort, more than 300 American civilians risk their lives to assist the Vietnamese at the provincial level and below to set up agricultural, health, educational and other programs.

SPECIAL TARGETS

The Americans are special targets of the Viet Cong.

As result of American efforts, a thriving textile industry now employs 80,000 persons on a payroll of around $2 million per month.

Also manufactured are batteries, tires, paints, nettings and pulp paper.

It is the second prong of a U.S. effort which might clearly be called clear-and-hold.

The struggle to preserve the freedom of the South Vietnamese is one unlike any other in which the United States has been so directly involved.

COMPARISONS ARISE

Inevitably comparisons arise, some of them unfavorable to the Vietnamese. The comparisons are valid among a people to whom nationalism still is a vague term and loyalties are to family, region or religion.

In Saigon, an ugly scaffolding rising along the outside walls of the U.S. Embassy is a memorial to a blast touched off by Viet Cong terrorists that killed two Americans and injured scores of others.

The embassy is guarded now by a barricade of concrete and barbed wire.

FEAR VANDALISM

A similar barricade guards the headquarters of the U.S. Information Service, a possible future target.

In Kennedy Square, named after John F. Kennedy, a memorial to the late president has been removed to a hidden storage place to protect it against vandalism.

But despite the fact that death lurks on Saigon streets and in its darkened alleys, the war is not to be seen in Saigon with its booming economy.

Water skiers cut the waters of the Saigon River behind fast speedboats. A French cruise ship is anchored at a river pier close to a floating restaurant serving either French or Chinese foods.

Rather, the war is found in the delta or in a frightened village of the highlands or the coastal plain, or in the Da Nang hospital where an American surgical team labors to mend the wounds of the war's civilian victims.

OFTEN INFECTED

Their patients lie two and three to a bed. Since most of the patients come from the countryside, the wounds usually are two and three days old and almost always are infected.

This is the war in South Viet Nam. This, and the 80,000 casualties suffered by the South Vietnamese armed forces in 1963 and 1964 alone.

India exports about 450,000 tons of sugar a year, worth $63 million, Japan is the principal buyer.

Senior Citizens Meet at CAI

Some 312 senior citizens from Oakland, Lapeer and Genesee counties participated in a get-together yesterday at Waterford Township's Community Activities Inc. building in observance of Senior Citizens Month.

Joint hosts for the program were the Waterford Recreation Department and the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Waterford Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin and Mrs. Marion Novess, chairman of the Waterford Recreation Board, spoke to the group.

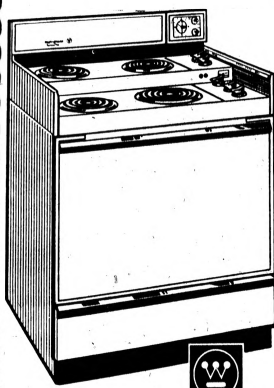

Purpose of the get-together was to allow members of various community groups to compare programs, develop ideas for new activities and for simple fraternization.

Activities included dancing, cards, shuffleboard and other games. A noon chicken dinner was served.

Money Matters Before House

Debate Slated Today on Budget, Reform

LANSING (AP)—The chief question in the House today is money—how to spend it, where to get it, and how much.

The House was scheduled to come to grips today with two of the most complex and controversial issues facing it this year or any year: the coming year's budget and fiscal reform.

Scheduled for debate today were spending bills for general government, public safety and defense, social welfare, regulatory agencies, conservation, recreation and agriculture.

The budget bills, as reported out of the House Ways and Means Committee an hour before the deadline Friday, would increase Gov. George Romney's recommended budget by a modest $5.9 million.

HOT QUESTION

The hottest question is the $544 million school aid bill.

"We will work out our differences with Senate Democrats before bringing the school aid bill up for final consideration and a vote," said Rep. J. Bob Traxler, D-Day City, majority floor leader.

The House bill would increase school aid by $112 million. The Senate bill would raise the level by $50 million—less than $30 million over Romney's recommendation.

ALMOST QUIT

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, sponsor of a series of fiscal reform bills which include an income tax, said he would move to take the bills off the table today.

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, chairman of the general taxation committee and the leading Democratic spokesman for fiscal reform, almost resigned his chairmanship in a squabble last week over who should make the move to take the bills off the table.

"If (Spencer's action) is okay with George Montgomery, it's okay with me," said Traxler. Montgomery was not immediately available for comment.

"I'd rather have a Democrat make the move," Traxler said, "but what we really want is for the entire membership to have a chance to decide this matter."

Spencer, like many other legislators, claims he is "tired of all these people talking about fiscal reform without doing anything."

"As soon as we vote to take those bills off the table, we'll know where everybody stands," he added.

CHIEF SPONSORS

He and Rep. James Folks, R-Horton, are chief sponsors of eight of the 11 reform bills now on the inactive calendar. Montgomery and Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, are chief sponsors of the others.

Montgomery also is author of a package of tax bills that would cost $129 million in new taxes without total revamping of the state's tax program.

The new revenue probably would be needed if the school aid bill were passed as is. It would eat up the surplus expected in the state treasury by June 30.

The Senate has approved its share of the budget bills and remained close to Romney's proposals in so doing.

The House Wednesday dodged decisions on a property tax bill and amendment that admittedly would force fiscal reform by cutting local revenues by $200 million. The bill was originally intended to limit property tax assessments to 50 per cent of true cash value, complying with a constitutional requirement.

The measure was moved to the foot of the giant House calendar, a virtual death blow because of time limitations.

City Manager Off for Confab in Washington

Pontiac City Manager Joseph A. Warren leaves today to attend a two-day conference in Washington, D. C.

Called by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the conference is for city managers of cities of medium-size population.

Warren will return Saturday. The conference is similar to one attended earlier this month by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

State Senate Scorecard: 7 Days to Go, 179 Bills Left

LANSING (AP)—The Senate, confronted by a slow pace and 179 bills to consider in seven days, went onto a 10-hour working schedule today.

By deliberating two hours in the morning and four each in the afternoon and evening, leaders hoped to increase the bill output.

LONGEST DEBATE

Only 15 bills were passed Wednesday.

Most important was a $60,000,228 appropriation for state building projects, unchanged from earlier committee recommendations.

LONGEST DEBATE

Bills prohibiting any new teaching of cosmetology in public schools and establishing a mandatory assigned risk pool for auto insurers were debated the longest but were postponed until today for final consideration.

By handling only six bills Tuesday and the 15 Wednesday, the Senate left itself having to handle more than 25 per day to clear its calendar by the May 28 deadline for passage of Senate measures.

PROTECTION?

"All we're doing is protecting another special interest group," said Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn.

"We shouldn't have a private group destroying the flexibility of our public schools," added Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit.

He failed 11-13 with a proposed amendment to knock the public school prohibition out of the bill. The bill also would regulate other aspects of cosmetology instruction.

PROTECTION?

Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, sponsor of the bill, said not enough time was available in public schools for an adequate cosmetology instruction program.

The insurance bill debate centered on technicalities.

Sen. Stanley Novak, D-Detroit, criticized what he said was the failure of Sen. Bernard O'Brien's insurance committee to perfect the bill before reporting it out.

It essentially would make mandatory the assigned risk pool—issuing insurance to drivers who can't get it otherwise—which insurance companies now maintain voluntarily.

PROTECTION?

With the fearful strain I have, if I did not laugh I would die—Abraham Lincoln.

Junior Editors Quiz on MUSIC

QUESTION: From what was music originally produced?
ANSWER: It would be impossible to say just how music originated or who first started it, for the scanty records of the very earliest times do not give us any details.
 Yet it is safe to say that men have enjoyed and appreciated music ever since recorded history began.

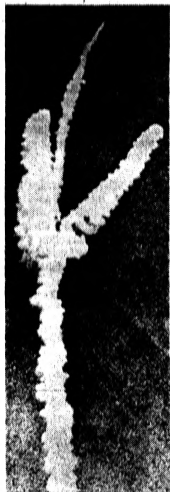

The Bible mentions many instruments and shows clearly how music was used to express the joys, as well as the sorrows, of the Hebrew people.

It seems probable to many that music originated in connection with dancing and singing. Imagine a group of healthy young cave-teen-agers, as shown in our picture. What more natural than that, after sharing a good dinner, they should start a dance step around the cheerful fire, or get a rhythmic beat going by clapping hands?

It would be natural, too, to imagine shouting or chanting as part of the celebration, and to suppose that as time went on, melody would appear and we would have music rather than just noise.

Various instruments would appear to heighten the effect—hollow logs, leading to drums, primitive zinks and pan-pipes leading to modern wind instruments. The beautiful harp was made in the city of Ur, about 5000 years ago.

FOR YOU TO DO: To realize the emphasis the writers of the Bible put on music, read that magnificent Psalm number 150, with its stirring beginning, "Praise ye the Lord."

Suitor, 75, Seeks Return of Gifts, $25,000 for Woe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 75-year-old suitor, who says he lavished gifts worth $21,000 on his betrothed, is asking return of the gifts plus $25,000 in punitive damages.

Glenn M. Stewart's Superior Court suit, filed Wednesday, alleges that he and Helen Yourkovich, a 58-year-old widow, became engaged Sept. 11, 1963. But when they separated last November, his complaint said, she failed to return any of the gifts.

Stewart said the gifts included his coin, book and old glass collections. He also paid off a $7,500 mortgage on Mrs. Yourkovich's home, Stewart said, and gave her access to a $10,000 bank account.

Mail Order Rifle Killed Brother

Bob Kennedy Will Testify on Gun Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., whose brother was assassinated with a mail order rifle, goes before a Senate subcommittee today to support legislation to ban such gun sales.

The brother of the late President John F. Kennedy was not expected to discuss the assassination, however, and subcommittee sources said they felt it would be "irrelevant to go into his private life if he chooses not to."

Kennedy was serving as attorney general in his brother's Cabinet when Lee Harvey Oswald shot and killed the president with an Italian Carcano rifle in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

A rifle like the one used by Oswald, and obtained from the same Chicago mail order dealer, was displayed in the hearing room yesterday.

The subcommittee is conducting hearings on a bill which would ban interstate mail order sales to individuals and otherwise restrict the availability of firearms.

Subcommittee sources said Kennedy was called to testify because of the familiarity he gained with the gun control problem while he served as attorney general.

In that capacity, Kennedy was a strong advocate of legislation similar to that being considered by the subcommittee. He said a gun control law was needed to curb crime and keep weapons out of the hands of juveniles, criminals and irresponsible persons.

Opponents of the pending measure say it was promoted, in part at least, by hysteria which developed after the assassination of President Kennedy.

Subcommittee Chairman Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., noted that his original gun control bill was introduced before the assassination and said it was based on three years of hearings.

WHY NEEDED — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., told the subcommittee yesterday the presidents assassination, though not the reason for the bill, was a good example of why it was needed.

California Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, in testimony prepared for delivery today, said more than 2.5 million concealable firearms are now registered with his office.

"We cannot estimate the number of unregistered concealable firearms acquired by California residents each year through mail order and out-of-state purchases," he said.

"I wish to stress that as a hunter and a former member of the National Rifle Association, I do not see that this legislation in any way will hamper legitimate sportsmen."

Senators With Majority

Fair Repays $1-Million Loan

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite this year's disappointing attendance, the World's Fair has repaid $1 million it borrowed in order to reopen April 21.

The short-term note was due June 10. The loan was made from the Marine Midland Trust Co. of New York and the Marine Trust of Western New York, both subsidiaries of the Marine Midland Corp. of Buffalo.

Robert Moses, president of the fair, also announced Wednesday that the exposition "has paid all amounts owing to creditors, excepting items in dispute or in process of being audited prior to approval for payment."

Duel Rule Is Killed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina General Assembly Wednesday abolished the death penalty for killing someone in a duel. No duels have been reported in the state since 1868.

Australia claims the largest rock in the world, Ayers Rock, which rises 1,100 feet from the desert and is 5 1/2 miles around.

Lack of Soviet Aid, Slipshod Methods Hamper China's Industry

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two dispatches by a Canadian reporter who visited industrial establishments in China. The first story described three plants he judged to be good and four that seemed indifferent today he tells of four he considered bad.

By CHARLES LYNCH

PEKING (AP) — The shortcomings of much of the new industry of China are too apparent to be concealed, and little effort is made here to conceal them, or to pretend that they are going better than they are.

Much of the industry, especially the heavy stuff, dates back less than 16 years, and was built on an economy that was bankrupt or ruined.

Another factor is that the industry of Red China owed as much to the Soviet Union as the industry of today's Canada owes to the United States. The effect of the Soviet withdrawal in the late 1950s was just as numbing as it would be for U.S. capital and technology to pull abruptly out of Canada.

The numbness still is there, though the proud Chinese try to conceal it and to convince themselves that native genius can prevail over the lack of contact with the industrial world outside.

GLOBAL TREASURE

Lacking access to the global treasure chest of 20th century technology, China has been trying to evolve her own, on the theory that if the workers put their heads together, they can come up with answers.

In many cases the answers inevitably are negative. This can be said without casting any slur on the Chinese engineers or workers who were charged with the impossible task of crowding 100 years of technological development into a decade, and who lost their teachers in the midst of the tiding-up process.

Among plants I have seen, the negative results were most apparent at an automobile factory in Changchun, a railway car factory in the same city, a heavy machinery factory in

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

SPECIAL REPORT

Shenyang, and the electrical machinery plant in Harbin.

The No. 1 automobile factory in Changchun probably is the most photographed plant in China — it was built with photography in mind, as a symbol of industry as industry should look.

FIRST FLAW

The first flaw is that the factory doesn't produce automobiles. Several years ago, it turned out limousines by a process of hand assembly. These were christened "Red Flag" and are used to this day by government dignitaries and on state occasions.

The part of the factory where the Red Flag was made is closed down — for expansion, it is explained. My interest in this motoring vehicle — it is hard to imagine a car that China needs less — was such that they wheeled one around for me to ride in. It had been assembled in 1958.

I was driven to this factory, as I have been driven everywhere I have been, in a little Polish-made sedan sometimes it is Soviet-made and I asked why the factory had not gone in for this practical type of vehicle. I received no more satisfactory answer than that such decisions are made by the state, and not to be questioned at the factory level. Besides, they said somewhat defensively, they were experimenting along those lines.

What they are actually producing, and in limited numbers, is the same truck the factory was tasked to produce nine years ago. This "Liberation" truck is khaki for the army, or green for limited use in the civilian economy. It looks like a North American truck of immediate postwar vintage, and comes in a basic four-ton model, which can be made into an eight-ton version by tacking on a trailer.

The motor is a six cylinder,

95-horsepower, I-head job, burning low-grade gasoline.

The factory uses 23,000 workers to produce this truck, and claims to turn out 50 per eight-hour shift. At two shifts a day they made 30,000 trucks a year — a drop in the bucket in relation to China's need for work vehicles.

When American author Edgar Snow visited the plant in 1960, he was told that management aimed to increase output to 150,000 in 1961-62. But production remains right where it was in 1960. The plant is doing exactly what the Russians designed and built it to do — no more, no less.

On the road outside the plant the traffic consists largely of aging, ricksha-pullers, bending to their loads. Not only are cars a rarity in China, but trucks are too — and the reason can be found at the Changchun factory.

NIGHTMARE

The assembly line is a production engineer's nightmare. Gear boxes come off faster than engines. Wheels come along in vast profusion and have to be kept circling like jets over an airport on a foggy day. At some points, the assembly line stops altogether. At no point does it move more than three feet a minute.

In 1958, 81 per cent of the materials in the truck were imported, largely from the Soviet Union. Now, the content is 100 per cent Chinese — but the truck is the same.

The Changchun railway carriage factory, with 4,300 workers, was designed to turn out 1,600 passenger cars a year. Today, the production is less than one car a day, and it is clear that this attractive plant opened six years ago has been backsliding.

Morale, according to the management, is high — and there are plans to treble the workforce. But those plans, like everything else in this factory, date back to 1959.

At the Shenyang heavy machinery factory, the methods being followed seemed slipshod in the extreme, both in the foundry and in the pressing and machining ends of the business. Again, it was a case of workers going through the motions.

More than 100 big machines, including hydraulic presses of up to 6,000 tons capacity, are said to be produced yearly. They must do it in sudden spurts.

The picture was only slightly better at the Harbin electric machinery factory, where they make hydraulic power generators, hydraulic turbines, and steam generators for both alternating and direct current.

GENERATORS EXPORTED

This, too, is a low-volume operation. Production began in 1952 with generators of 300 kilowatts capacity, and now they are up to generators of 100,000 kilowatts capacity. Generators have been exported to Korea, North Viet Nam and Albania. Some of the heavy machinery is Russian, some British.

This is a highly specialized industry, and it might be said, in view of China's limited experience in the field, that the miracle is that it is being done at all. But with the tools at hand, and with China's crying need for power, and with Chinese ingenuity manifest as it is in other directions, the factory cannot be said to be pulling its weight.

All of which is submitted, as objectively as I know how, in response to the invitation to criticize, which was put to me at every factory I visited. One is left to wonder, in an economy that is entirely state-run, how many of the facts find their way back to the administration level in Peking, where the accounts are kept and the big decisions — and most of the small ones — are made.

Of course there may be a missing part in the puzzle of Chinese industry. Somewhere, in unseen defense establishments, Chinese industrial genius may be blossoming — but I doubt it.

Hal Boyle Interviews Flier

Career Pilot on Viet Nam: 'Only War We've Got'

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG Airbase, South Viet Nam (AP) — "It's the only war we've got."

That was the laconic reply of Capt. John O. Edelblute of Crown Point, Ind., when asked why he had volunteered for a third tour of duty in the Far East.

"I'm a career officer. This is my life. I'm a fighter pilot."

At 33, the captain is the oldest of four bachelors among the 25 pilots in the 615th Tactical Fighter Squadron. The squadron commander, Maj. James A. Minish, 36, of Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., says he is "one of the very best."

Edelblute's hot seat in the sky is an F100 all-purpose fighter plane which attacks its targets at a speed ranging between 400 to 600 knots. When he winds up his present duty tour June 1, he will have completed about 100 sorties and dropped or shot up to 250 tons of bombs, rockets and bullets at the enemy.

"I hope I'll get 30 days leave," he said. "I've got a new car at England Air Force Base in Louisiana waiting for me, and I'd like to catch up on my bass fishing."

"Then, if they want me to come back here for fourth tour, I'll pack my bag and come back."

Edelblute stands an inch over 6 feet, has brown hair and blue eyes, and is sturdy handsome. He has sweated off 20 pounds under the grind of heat and long hours.

BAD BLOWS
He has had two bad blows to his spirit. His mother and father were killed in an automobile accident last April, and on a recent attack on a northern flak site his wingman disappeared.

"We don't know what happened to him. We never heard of him again."

As do most capable people, "Blute" speaks of his work with a straightforward matter-of-factness. He has flown every type of mission, day and night, and minimizes the three hits the enemy has made on his plane.

"I know I've got some flak sites," he said. "And I know I've missed at least one bridge."

SHORT TIME
"But it takes only from 30 to 50 seconds from the time you roll in toward your target until you start to pull out."

"When you're making a pass, you only have time to think about your airplane, your sight and that target. As soon as you release your bombs, you pull out and get out. Somebody else can tell you later where you've hit."

"You're likely to be knocked down if you go back for a look yourself."

Some days he flies one mission. Some days two. There always is the possibility of a sudden night air support mission to help hard pressed ground troops.

Edelblute sleeps on the base. His only relaxation is a weekly trip into town to eat at a Chinese restaurant. He likes corn soup with crab.

HIS FEELINGS
This is how he feels about what he is doing.

"I just want the people back home to know that we are really in a war. This is not just a game over here."

"The work we have done is positive. I feel it is having its effect."

"Blute" takes quite a lot of kidding about his bachelor status.

He explains it this way: "The girl who marries me will have to marry the Air Force, too. So far I haven't found one willing to do both, although last year I thought I had."

Any girl who does say "yes" to Capt. Edelblute can be sure of two things: she'll be wedded to a fine officer as well as a fine Air Force. You'd think our girls would be standing in line for a chance like that, wouldn't you now?

Clipperton Island in the Pacific southwest of Mexico was named after English pirate John Clipperton.

To Send Back Jackie's Letter

Dealer Gets Request From Mrs. Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York automobile dealer has acceded to the request of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to return a letter written to her by Mrs. John F. Kennedy during the 1960 presidential campaign.

The letter was to have been put up for sale at public auction tonight.

The dealer, Charles Hamilton, said Wednesday he was sending the letter by registered mail to the White House. He said he had received a written demand for it from Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, and had been visited by Secret Service agents.

The letter was in Mrs. Kennedy's handwriting. It was signed, "Jackie."

HIGHEST PRICE

Hamilton said it would have brought $1,000. He said he sold one of Mrs. Kennedy's letters last year for $3,000, believed to be the highest price paid for the letter of a living person.

The undated letter was an invitation to Mrs. Johnson to watch a televised debate between the late President Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon, his opponent in the 1960 presidential race.

It read:

"Dear Mrs. Johnson—
"I just heard you were going to be in town today and wondered if you would like to listen to the debate with us—
"I'm having a listening party at 1028 Connecticut Ave. and would like it if you came and brought anyone you like—
LOVED STORY

"But I expect you are exhausted from your trip (I loved your story in N.Y. Herald Tribune) and are looking forward to relaxing & watching TV at home—if so I understand perfectly!
"As always, Jackie."

The letterhead was "3367 N Street N.W., Washington, D.C."—the Georgetown home of the then Sen. John F. Kennedy. President Johnson was Kennedy's running mate as the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

An unidentified woman worker was instructed by Mrs. Johnson to answer that she would not be able to attend because of a campaign appearance for her husband.

KEPT LETTER

The campaign aide kept the letter, thinking Mrs. Johnson had given it to her. Recently, she consigned the letter to Hamilton for sale.

Mrs. Carpenter said in Washington that she learned of the auction that was told by Mrs. Johnson that she had never given it away. She quoted Mrs. Johnson as saying she made it a policy to keep all personal letters.

On Monday, Mrs. Carpenter wrote Hamilton, demanding delivery of the letter "without delay."

Hamilton accused the Secret Service of using what he termed Gestapo tactics in trying to "confiscate" the letter. He said they visited his office twice.

Hamilton said he would have returned the letter in any event, but he would have done so more quickly with a "polite and perhaps more neatly turned request from the White House."

Lack of Community Preparedness Key Factor in Tornado Toll

By TOM NOLAN
WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's the first nice Sunday of the year and it could be anywhere in the United States.
Maybe you take the family for a drive in the country, listening to some good music on the car radio.
Perhaps you bring the transistor out to the front yard while you mow the lawn or wash the car. Or maybe you just relax and catch the ball game on television.
Suddenly your program is interrupted for a bulletin. It's a tornado warning and the twister might be heading your way.
What do you do?
If you've ever been through a tornado before, you execute what the Navy calls "prompt evasive action."

WHAT TO DO
But if you've never been in one — and chances are you haven't — you probably don't have the vaguest idea what to do. As a result, you might do nothing.
In that case, you're lucky you weren't in the path of one of 37 tornadoes which ripped their way through parts of six Midwestern states last April 11 — Palm Sunday — which began as the first really nice day of the year for that part of the country.
After an exhaustive survey of the stricken areas, a U.S. Weather Bureau special tornado warning team notes that lack of community preparedness plans may well have been the single most important contributing factor to the high death toll of 274 lives.

Unofficially, several Weather Bureau officials theorize that a "good percentage" of the victims received tornado warnings with sufficient time to save themselves.
HORROR STORIES
Out of the survey team's gleanings came several "horror stories" which may indicate the lack of knowledge, preparedness and, in some cases, motivation on the part of some people in Palm Sunday's "Tornado Alley."
An Indiana man, ducking into his cellar as a twister approached, recalls he caught a glimpse of a neighbor calmly watching the nearing funnel from his living room window. When he emerged from the cellar a short time later, the window, the house and the neighbor were gone.
An Illinois man, who fortunately lived on the south side of a street, told an interviewer, "Sure I heard the warnings. But why the hell didn't somebody come along and pull me out of the house into some shelter?"
Every house on the north side of the street was leveled.
Several Michigan residents called a local television station to protest the fact that the television show, "Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color," had been interrupted by tornado warnings.
In the main, Weather Bureau stations in the states (Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin) issued "excellent forecasts and warnings," according to the survey team. The paths and performances of 33 of the 37 tornadoes were accurately predicted.

Before an official warning can be issued by the Weather Bureau, the twister must be physically "seen" — either by eye or radar — and its direction plotted.
The air turbulence of a tornado causes a characteristic "hedgehog" pattern on radar scopes. They are also more easily plotted than those reported by on-the-spot observers.
RADAR EQUIPMENT
Five cities in the six states struck on Palm Sunday have modern, long range radar equipment.
Many others — but not nearly enough, in the opinion of the survey team — have repeating scopes which can pick up beams from the live cities.

Eliminating all blind spots in tornado-prone areas would insure adequate tornado warnings, says the survey team. But this does not mean that every person in the path of the twister would receive the warning.
The Office of Civil Defense (OCD) is currently testing two devices which could improve the warning system. One of them called NEAR (National Emergency Alarm Repeater), was developed in 1959.
ANY SOCKET
It plugs into any electric socket and, when activated, emits a loud, insistent buzz. It would cost about $5 and would use about 50 cents worth of electricity a year.
The other is a device which can be attached to a radio. When activated, it would automatically turn on the radio to the Civil Defense frequency which broadcasts disaster information. This would cost about $10.
Final decision on which one OCD will adopt won't be made until the end of this year.
SAFETY RULES
This, though, is only half the battle. The other half is to drum into the minds of the country's 190 million people these few basic tornado safety rules:
In cities or towns, take shelter in a cellar — preferably in that corner toward the tornado. If there is no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center of the buildings. Stay away from windows.
In open country, move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression.

Though twisters are rare in most parts of the country, there have been at least one tornado in every state of the nation since 1963.
He Wins 2-Year Battle to Build Dream House
SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Howard H. Holmes, an engineer from nearby Goleta, has won his two-year battle with county officials to build the home he wants in Isla Vista near the ocean.
Holmes' dream house is a two-story structure measuring 16 by 112 feet.
Anting heart attacks with anticoagulants during the first four weeks after the attack reduces the mortality rate by about 50 per cent.

Train-Rig Collision Kills Man

ALPENA (AP)—A truck driver was killed when his semi-trailer rig smashed into a Detroit & Mackinaw Railroad freight train, throwing 12 of the 32 cars "end over end" near Alpena Wednesday.

Richard N. Graichen, 26, of Alpena, was the victim.

His truck left a 299-foot skid mark at the U.S. 23 crossing seven miles south of Alpena. The rig "was chewed into pieces," state police Cpl David Corey said.

Railroad workmen were called to the wreckage-strewn scene to clear and repair the tracks.

COULDN'T STOP
Engineer Alexander Novack said he saw Graichen's truck approaching but didn't have time to stop the train which was traveling 30 miles an hour.

The truck collided with the second freight car behind the diesel engine in which Novack was riding with three other railroad men.

"It's a good thing we cleared the crossing or we'd have all been killed," Novack said.

The crossing was protected by flasher lights, police said. The train whistle was blowing, Novack said.

The collision derailed many of 21 train cars loaded with cement enroute from an Alpena mill to Bay City. Trucks were called to salvage cement that spilled from the wrecked cars.

The semi-trailer was loaded with animal feed.

Ice cores dating back to the 13th century have been removed from the polar cap in Greenland, and scientists believe the dust they contain can be traced via meteorites to distant stars.

BACK ON LAND — Frank Cushing (left), 63, and his son, Frank Jr., 20, recover in Manila from the ordeal of spending 37 days adrift on the Pacific Ocean. The pair was fishing off Guam, when a storm blew them into open sea. They drifted to the Philippines and were rescued.

Father Praises Son

Studies While Lost at Sea for 37 Days

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — "I was able to achieve quite a lot," said a 28-year-old student of marine biology after 37 days adrift on a raft in the Pacific with his father. "It was extremely interesting."

"If it hadn't been for him I wouldn't be alive today," said the father, Frank Cushing, 63, a former stunt man, he lives on Guam with his wife and three of their four children.

His son, Frank Jr., is a student at the University of Guam. The two set out on their 23-foot raft April 10 to look for rare fish.

They anchored on the night outside a reef off Guam's Pito Point and went to sleep. When they awoke, a storm was blowing them westward, their anchor was gone and Guam was out of sight.

37 DAYS LATER

On Monday, 37 days later and 1,400 miles to the west of Guam, they landed their raft on Calayan Island, in the north Philippines. A few hours later the crew of the interisland steamer Jumar sighted the raft and found the two men sleeping in a cave.

They were flown to Clark Air Base Hospital Wednesday. Cushing had lost 50 pounds, his son 40, but otherwise their health was good and their spirits buoyant.

"We never lost hope," said Cushing, grinning through nearly six weeks of beard. "We were positive we would hit the Philippines. When I knew we couldn't get back to Guam, I set a course for the Philippines. I knew it would be tough but it was our best course."

"Our top speed was about three knots, but I knew we would get some place sometime. I made a homemade sextant out of a spear gun, a fishing line and some other things."

NO COMPASS

"We didn't have a compass but we had the sun. At night we had Polaris (the North Star) and the Southern Cross to navigate by."

The oil-drum raft was equipped with two outboard motors, but the Cushings improvised a sail to conserve their small supply of gas. Also aboard were a can of beans, a can of meat and a two-gallon tin of water.

"We were seasick for the first three days," said the father.

"On the third day we got under a rain cloud. It was a heavy rain, and filled our water can. On the same day we caught a dolphin. We ate the raw flesh for moisture and hung the center part and sides out to dry. It was about a 14-pounder."

MISSING SCHOOL

Frank Jr. said he worried for the first few days about missing school.

"I just look my midterm exams and wondered what my grade was," he added.

Cushing was hardly able to move much of the voyage, suffering from seasickness and exposure. But Frank Jr. looked after his father and the raft, and provided a steady supply of fish by hunting underneath with a spear gun, a rope around his waist attached to the raft. He also kept up his study of marine life.

"If the sea was calm, I would take the rope off and swim around examining the oil drum," said the youth.

"Sharks didn't bother us — fact, I bothered them. I caught a couple, one 3 feet and another 6 feet long." A second storm during the voyage refilled their water can. Otherwise they had to depend on the moisture they got from fish.

The U.S. Navy searched for them after Mrs. Cushing reported them missing but finally gave up. Cushing said planes passed over them many times.

"A military plane passed over us on the second day," he said. "I made a smoke pot — with bits of rubber hose and anything that would burn — but the plane never saw us."

Near the end of the voyage they were becalmed for seven days in sight of the distant peaks of the Philippines. They finally landed Sunday on an active volcanic island.

"There was nothing there but dead fish and birds," said Cushing. "My boy found two coconuts. One was rotten."

They shoved off and drifted north along the coast of Luzon. A stiff current carried them toward Calayan, and they used the last of their gasoline — about a gallon and a quarter — was left — to enter the cove where they were found.

More Stars May Testify in Crime Probe

CHICAGO (AP)—More show people may be subpoenaed to testify in an investigation of the Chicago crime syndicate by a federal grand jury which already has questioned singer Phyllis McGuire, an official says.

Miss McGuire of the three singing McGuire sisters testified for an hour and 15 minutes Wednesday about her friendship with Momo Salvatore (Sam) Giancana, reputed kingpin of the syndicate.

"There's a possibility more show people might be subpoenaed," the official said. "Miss McGuire may be back in the future, too."

"This is not the Giancana investigation," he said. "This is not a shot out of the blue. We on the inside know it isn't the Giancana investigation and that will become evident in the next two weeks."

Newsman were barged by court order from the grand jury room floor of the U.S. Court-house.

Outside the building, Miss McGuire, in her 30s, and Giancana, 57, reacted differently to news-men's questions.

When told that Miss McGuire had testified, Giancana stared stoically and walked past without comment.

"I testified; oh, yes, I testified," Miss McGuire told reporters. But she refused to reveal her testimony.

Giancana and Miss McGuire reportedly kept company from 1960 to 1963.

Miss McGuire told newsmen that her relationship with Giancana had damaged her professional image.

"It makes me look terrible," she said. "It makes me look terrible because I'm not a single—I'm part of a trio. If it was only me, maybe it wouldn't be so bad. But my sisters and my parents are heartbroken about this."

Asked whether she planned to halt her relationship with Giancana, she said, "No comment," but added: "It's been a terrible experience. I hope it doesn't run my career."

Federal officials have refused to reveal the nature of the investigation, but several persons whose names are connected with the crime syndicate have been subpoenaed.

There'll be more people testifying tomorrow," the official said. He declined to identify the persons sought.

Giancana and Miss McGuire reportedly met at a Nevada gambling casino in 1961.

'Computerizing Like the Devil'

Church Hits Evils of Automation Age

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The nation's biggest Presbyterian body convened today with a warning that computers may be a bigger threat to religion than the devil.

"Continuous concern with persons is the only thing that will preserve technological society from manipulating people and overriding personality," declared the Rev. John Coventry Smith of New York City. "Our lives of faith demonstrate a truth which extends beyond the areas where science speaks with authority." Smith said as the 177th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. opened here.

Dr. Edler Hawkins, the first Negro ever elected moderator, gave the opening sermon as 2,000 of the church's leaders assembled.

Election of a new moderator to replace Dr. Hawkins headed the order of business for the week-long session.

MODERN SOCIETY
In two days of preassembly meetings, speakers hammered at what they viewed as accompanying evils of modern society, signaling a prelude to challenges the church faces in both doctrine and development.

A key issue before 835 voting delegates of the three million-member denomination is modification of centuries-old doctrinal teachings. The changes: Salvation is not predestined and the Bible does not have to be interpreted literally.

The Presbyterians will also consider urging removal of legal barriers to interracial marriage.

The Rev. Mr. Smith, general secretary of the commission on ecumenical mission and relations, told a gathering Wednesday. "People are still people, but computers ignore individuality."

PUNCH HOLES
He termed a technological society as one "where people become no more than punch holes in a card."

But, he added, people, "be they scientist, scientist, operator of a computer or a grower of tulips, have problems in dealing with themselves, with God and with each other."

"We are in this world as Christians, not just as inhabitants."

The second business session of the General Assembly is scheduled tonight with a report by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, the church's stated clerk and chief executive officer.

She Raised Family; Now to Be a Nun

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Her job of raising six stepchildren done, the former Mrs. Edward A. Foy of Cincinnati will achieve a long-delayed ambition June 11 when, at age 71, she takes final vows as a nun in the religious Society of the Sacred Heart.

She is completing novitiate training in the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Albany, N.Y. On June 9, her six stepchildren, and 31 grandchildren — accompanied by a daughter, herself a member of the Sacred Heart order — will leave here by chartered bus for Albany, to witness the rites.

Most of the same group made a similar trip two years ago when the former Mrs. Foy received the habit of the sisterhood. She henceforth will be Mother Edith Foy.

The daughter, now Mother Mary Ann Foy, mistress-general of the Sacred Heart Academy in residential Clifton, explained her mother's long-delayed step:

"She was a classmate and close friend of the first Mrs. Foy," she said. "I think she felt there was a job to be done in raising six young children, and she sidestepped her inclination toward convent life. When the job was done and her husband, my father, died in June 1900, her instinct was to turn back to her first calling."

The new Mother Edith Foy studied art here and in Florence, Italy, as a young woman. For a time, she taught art in Cincinnati public and parochial schools. Of the 31 grandchildren, 12 are pupils at the Cincinnati Art Academy.

It's a Fake, Says 'Friend of Art' About Painting He Stole, Then Returned

ROME (AP) — A "friend of art," who says he stole the Dutch masterpiece "Agata Schoenhoven" from a Rome gallery and then returned it, now says the $128,000 painting is a fake.

The opinion on the small oil-on-wood painting attributed to the 16th century Dutch artist Jan Van Scorel was given in a letter to the newspaper Il Messaggero by the anonymous

"friend of art." He wrote that he took the painting only to confirm his suspicions that it was not the original.

There have been published reports before that the "Agata Schoenhoven" here was a copy. These have been denied by the Princess Orietta Doria Pamphili, owner of the painting, and by the Italian government.

The painting was stolen Sunday from a private gallery in the Doria Palace by a man dressed in monk's robes.

He left what experts said was a fairly good copy of the "Agata Schoenhoven" in place of the one he took.

After an anonymous telephone call Wednesday police recovered the painting wrapped in bakery shop paper in a church. With it was a note signed "friend of art" which said: "It was a bet. I am not a thief and we are not a gang."

In the letter to Il Messaggero, the "friend of art" said the at-

Boy, 8, Suffocates

in Wagon Load of Hay

MEWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A boy suffocated in a wagon load of hay Wednesday night.

The body of John O. Thomas, 8, was found beneath six inches of hay after he had been jumping in the wagon on the farm of his father, James, near Pewafair "cost me a week of my time between painting the copy, hand-carving the frame, and sewing a more or less convincing monk's robe."

He said the substitution had been detected quickly, "but aside from being a modest painter, the poorest sort of carpenter and a disgusting tailor, I am a man who has a good understanding of art."

MADE SURE

He said he had long thought the "Agata Schoenhoven" was false and only needed to get his hands on it for a careful inspection to make sure.

"It is false," he said.

He did not say how he made sure of that; but he said there might have been a switch in 1955 when the painting was taken to Holland for display.

"Perhaps in the trip to Holland 10 years ago a painting that was true came back false," he said.

New House GOP Leader Cites Party Progress

January, House Republicans voted to replace their veteran leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, with a relatively new face, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan. Here is an exclusive interview with the new leader on his four months in the job.

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the quiet-spoken former football player who runs the Republican party in the House, says he's making some headway in changing the picture of his party in the public mind.

"I hope I'm not too naive and idealistic, but I think if you do what is right the status of the party in the long haul will be sound," Ford said in an interview.

"I don't think the party can sit back and not be consistently in opposition and wait for some catastrophe to come along and then try to pick up the pieces," he added. "You have to go along on the basis of doing what is right and earn the respect of the citizens of the country."

As examples, he mentioned Republican support of the voting rights bill and backing President Johnson's actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. On foreign policy, he said, "we're supporting him because he's right."

EMERGENCY MEETING

Ford told of an emergency meeting at the White House in the early days of the Dominican crisis. He said the President greeted him and said jokingly, "You and Ev Dirksen (the Senate Republican leader) are supporting me on foreign policy so much you may wind up with a Republican Congress." The President has been reported upset and disturbed by criticism of his policies by some Democrats in Congress.

Ford said he replied, "Mr. President, that isn't why we're supporting you, but if that's a fringe benefit we'll accept it."

Ford said in the interview "supposing we were critical of his policies in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam? I think the public would have an adverse reaction. In the first place all during the (1964) campaign we called for action that was comparable. We can't change our position now just for the purpose of opposition."

Ford is a shirt-sleeved worker in the privacy of his ceremonial office in the Capitol. He and his aides have placed their desks so they can look up from their work and see a view down the center of the Mall that is so splendid it might be counted as another fringe benefit of his job.

REASONABLE ALTERNATIVES

When Ford took over the minority leader position in January from veteran Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, he announced that one of his goals would be to develop reasonable Republican alternatives to Democratic programs as they come up in Congress.

He thinks he has succeeded. The Republicans pushed a version of health care for the aged that was broader in some ways than the Democratic plan. The result was that the Democrats accepted part of the Republican proposal and put it in their own bill.

"I feel if they hadn't had a longstanding commitment to a payroll tax to finance it, they would have bought the whole Republican package," Ford said.

Another example of offering alternatives, he said, was a Republican plan for aid to elementary and secondary schools. Dropped by the wayide under scathing criticism by Democrats, it proposed to cut some federal taxes so local authorities could afford to raise local school taxes on a voluntary basis.

SOME GOOD POINTS

Ford acknowledged the GOP education bill "was not as sound on a broad basis as the others, but it had some good points."

A third example, he said, was the Appalachia bill, which Republicans tried to broaden to include any needy area in the country instead of just the 13-state Appalachia area. Democrats contended that would dilute the available funds so much they would be worthless. They defeated the Republican effort.

The Republicans also have proposed their own voting rights bill, which Ford said is "strictly a House Republican product."

Ford said he has not yet developed a firm position on the President's proposal to cut many federal excise taxes on goods ranging from cars to cosmetics.

TURNED BACK

But he noted that Republicans attempted on the floor of the House last year to do away with some of these taxes and were turned back by Democrats.

Ford said he thought "if we're going to take $4 billion off the revenue side, I think we ought at least to take a look at the possibility of cutting back some nondefense spending."

On a final note of optimism, Ford hailed the candidacy of Rep. John V. Lindsay for mayor of New York as "a darn good thing for the party. He's a fine candidate and he'll have a tough fight, but even if he doesn't win it will be a shot in the arm for the party."

Find $1,251 Shortage in Justice's Accounts

LANSING (AP) — Acting Aud. Gen. Allison Green Wednesday reported an audit showed a shortage of $1,251 in the accounts of Justice of the Peace Ivan Middleton of Vassar, Tuscola County.

The audit covered a period from Jan. 1, 1960 through Dec. 31, 1964. The audit report said there was use of unauthorized receipt forms by the justice and improper assessment of costs against defendants in a few instances.

Four Roses adds a Fifth Rose.

Where? Not where you can see it...where you can taste it. We've found a way to make whiskey actually taste good. Not just smoother or lighter. Not just blander or milder. But good. Many a distiller has tried. Now we've succeeded. The great new taste of Four Roses—that's the Fifth Rose. At long last, a taste you don't just say you like—but really like. This could change a lot of people's ideas about why they drink whiskey. And what whiskey they should drink. Suggestion: see for yourself how surprisingly good a whiskey can taste. And how surprisingly reasonable a good-tasting whiskey can be. Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more. So now there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy Four Roses.

Sing a Song of Spring Salads

By JANET ODELL.

Pontiac Press Food Editor.
Serve a salad and the meal is made for many people, especially women.

Remember that much of the appeal of a salad is in its looks. Even when you're serving a salad of mixed greens, you're working with various shades of green. Always introduce some bright color if possible.

And keep your salads high. A pyramid of salad is more interesting than one which spreads flat on the plate.

One of the newest salads for right now and the next few

Chef's Best Asparagus Salad

1½ cups cooked asparagus cut in tips
1 medium head cauliflower
2 medium tomatoes
2 hard cooked eggs
3 radishes
½ medium cucumber
1 small onion (red, if possible)
1 small head lettuce
3 radishes
¼ cup low calorie salad dressing

Drain asparagus. Separate raw cauliflower into eight (or more) sections. Quarter tomatoes and eggs. Trim stems of spinach and wash leaves thoroughly.

Peel cucumber and onion and slice. Leave skins on radishes and slice. Tear lettuce into bite sized pieces.

Put all ingredients except asparagus and eggs into bowl and toss well. Add asparagus and eggs and toss gently. Top each serving with your favorite salad dressing. Serves 4.

Melons are starting to appear in market now. Use them or some other fresh fruit to garnish this next salad.

The recipe is unusual, because it tells you how to make a "ring" mold without a special pan. It's a square ring, but that's all right.

Square "Ring" Molded Salad

2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons canned or bottled lemon juice
4 cups creamed cottage cheese
½ cup crumbled Roquefort, or blue cheese
½ cup diced pimiento
1 cup whipping cream
1 can (1 lb. 14 oz.) apricot halves
2 cups honeydew, or other melon balls
Crisp greens

Mix sugar, salt and gelatin in a saucepan. Drain syrup from pineapple and add water if necessary to make 1 cup liquid. Add to gelatin mixture and heat slowly until gelatin is dissolved stirring.

Add lemon juice, cottage and Roquefort cheeses, pimiento and drained pineapple; chill until partially thickened. Fold in whipped cream.

Pour into a 9" square pan and chill until firm. Unfold on serving plate.

Cut a square from center of mold and carefully remove it; cut it into cubes. Return to refrigerator until serving time.

Fill center of "ring" with cubes of mold, drained chilled apricot halves and melon balls. Garnish with crisp greens. Eight to ten servings.

NOTE: Canned pear halves or fruits for salad may be substituted for the apricot halves.

Many cooks are using safflower oil these days. They like it because it does not intrude with a flavor of its own and does not congeal under refrigeration. Here, it is used to marinate a mixed vegetable salad.

Bright Time Salad

¼ cup safflower oil
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1½ cup fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar

1 lb. can small peas, drained
1 lb. can cut wax beans, drained
1 lb. can diced carrots, drained
1 medium Italian or Bermuda onion sliced very thin
½ cup thinly sliced celery
¼ green pepper cut in strips
Combine safflower oil with seasonings. Layer canned vegetables in a large bowl. Top with onions, celery and green pepper strips. Pour dressing over vegetables. Cover and chill in refrigerator for several hours or overnight. When ready to serve, toss lightly, pouring off any excess dressing. Serve with crisp lettuce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cream Cheese Topp Cookies

White Line Almond Bars

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1½ cups brown sugar, packed
½ cup butter or margarine, softened
3 eggs
2 envelopes (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate flavored ingredient
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup roasted diced almonds

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat half of cheese with ½ cup brown sugar. Cream remaining cheese with butter; gradually beat in remaining brown sugar.

Beat in eggs, one at a time, then chocolate ingredient and vanilla. Fold in flour mixture and ¾ cup almonds.

Turn half of mixture into greased and floured 9-inch square pan. Spread cheese-sugar mixture evenly over top. Top with remaining chocolate mixture. Sprinkle with remaining almonds.

Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until toothpick inserted comes out dry. Cool; cut into 24 bars. Makes 24 cookies.

Souffle Type Dish Is Made With Greens

The word "greens" when referring to vegetables means several varieties of leaves. Some greens are at their best when used in salads; others have a better flavor when cooked.

Some greens that are used in salads raw are: Chaucery, Chives, cabbage, iceberg lettuce, parsley, watercress, romaine, escarole and endive. The leafy greens usually cooked are: beet greens, dandelion, kale, collards, mustard, spinach and turnip tops.

One characteristic in common is that soil seems magnetized to the leaf and several washings of warm water are necessary to remove the fine grit. Remove stems and midrib before cooking.

Only the water clinging to the leaves is needed to create enough steam in a covered saucepan for tenderizing the leaves in 5 minutes.

Choose greens that are bright colored with a minimum of tough stems and dirt. One pound of spinach when cooked yields 2½ cups.

Custard Style Greens

¼ cup milk
1 cup bread cubes
¼ pound fresh mushrooms, or 1½ oz. can mushroom pieces (drained)
2 green onions (chopped)
2 bunches spinach or mustard green to equal 2 cups cooked
½ cup grated Monterey or Jack cheese

Salt, pepper and nutmeg
3 eggs
¾ cup bread or cereal crumbs
In a mixing bowl soak bread cubes in milk. Saute mushrooms, onions and chives in bread and milk.

Remove stems of fresh leaves of mustard or spinach. Wash thoroughly in warm water to remove sand. Leave enough moisture on leaves and cook 5-8 minutes (until wilted).

Add the 2 cups of leaves (run a knife through the cup making an X to cut the leaves). Add the cheese. Season to taste.

Add the eggs one at a time beating thoroughly. Grease a 1½ quart casserole dish and add mixture. Dot with butter. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes, more until custard sets. Makes 4-5 servings.

Put Chocolate Pudding in Coffee Can Mold

Put the coffee back into the can for a different company dessert. The new slim cans make a perfect mold for a coffee-flavored dessert. Add 2 teaspoons instant coffee to chocolate pudding mix. Mold in coffee can.

Use the rim as a cutting guide. Slice off thick rounds, top with squares of plain coffee gelatin made in the freezer tray, and you have an elegant, different dessert.

Small fry like these: grind raisins and nutsmeats and then form into balls before dipping into melted semi-sweet chocolate.

SQUARE "RING" MOLDED SALAD

Croquettes Are Baked to Save Time

Cone-shaped croquettes are one of the most attractive ways of serving leftover meats. They offer a delightful change from hash or reheated slices of meat in gravy.

"But I don't want to spend all that time frying them," says the homemaker.

It isn't necessary to fry them, points out Reba Staggs, meat authority. They can be rolled, after shaping, in melted bacon drippings, butter or margarine and then in fine, dry bread crumbs and baked.

This recipe will work out with leftovers from any cooked roast be it beef, veal, lamb or pork. Grated raw carrots add good texture and color to the cooked, ground meat.

Oven Meat Croquettes
2 cups ground cooked beef, veal, lamb or pork
1 cup grated raw carrots
1 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Bacon drippings, butter or margarine
Dry bread crumbs

Combine ground meat, carrots, bread crumbs, onion, egg, salt and pepper. Mix well.

Divide mixture into 6 parts and shape into croquettes. Roll in melted bacon drippings, butter or margarine, then in dry bread crumbs, coating lightly.

Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Gild the Lily

Candied cherries, macaroon crumbs and toasted almonds may be folded into slightly softened vanilla ice cream. If dry this work quickly, pack the mixture into a freezing tray and refreeze.

Hearty Casserole Is Fine for Spring-Fever Days

Once again it's Spring and the garden needs digging. The house needs cleaning and meals need to be quick and easy. A hearty casserole of cheese ravioli, canned and chef seasoned, bordering a center of ham, mushrooms, and peas is family satisfying.

It's a one-dish-meal with the built-in convenience of baking in and serving from the same dish.

With this casserole, serve a crisp salad of greens, asparagus and green onions, some garlic buttered bread, and fresh strawberries to complete a menu for a decidedly delicious dinner.

Cheese Ravioli Supper Casserole

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 cup diced cooked or canned ham
3 frankfurters, sliced
¾ cup cooked or canned green peas

Touch of Thyme Fine in Beans

Served with meat loaf and baked potatoes, "Green Beans-Pepper Sauté" with their delicate herb flavor will lend real distinction to the meal. The beans are Blue Lakes, those pole beans grown in Oregon and Washington under near-perfect climatic conditions.

Green Beans-Pepper Sauté
1 can (1 lb.) cut Blue Lake green beans
1 green pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon onion salt

Drain beans. Cut pepper into 1-inch squares. Melt butter in skillet; add pepper, thyme and onion salt. Sauté until peppers are tender-crisp but not brown. Add beans; heat through. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

VEGETABLE FLOWERS — It's spring, and suddenly your table's a-bloom with the perkier, brightest bouquets your guests have seen. After they've been properly admired, serve them with two new, delicious cranberry-orange relish dips.

Edible Centerpiece Is Colorful One

Prettiest bouquets of the season come from vegetable gardens, not flower gardens!

Fashion the flowers from cucumbers, carrots and perky radishes, then add scallions and celery leaves, and set the vegetable bouquet into sturdy little green pepper "flowerpots."

These colorful conversation pieces serve two purposes. They're made to be admired — and they're also made to be eaten! Serve them as first course, salad course — or as hors d'oeuvres with the following delicious new dips.

Cranberry-orange relish lends a subtle tang and zip to these two dips that gives them out-of-the-ordinary flavor.

You'll find that new cranberry-orange relish, in the 14-ounce reusable jar, is a wonderfully handy convenience food — excellent not only in many party dips, but also as an all-seasons garnish with meats, poultry and fish.

Prune Relish Dip
1 cup prune whip yogurt
½ cup cranberry-orange relish
Grated rind and juice of ½ lemon.

Beat prune whip yogurt until smooth and well blended. Fold in cranberry-orange relish and lemon rind and juice. Chill until ready to serve. Serve as a dip with fresh raw vegetables. Makes ½ cups.

Chicken Relish Dip
1 can (4½ ounces) chicken spread
1 cup sour cream
½ cup cranberry-orange relish
Salt
Mash spread and gradually blend in sour cream. Fold in cranberry-orange relish. Add salt to taste. Chill until ready to serve. Serve as a dip with fresh raw vegetables. Makes about 2 cups.

To Make Vegetable Flowers:
Score cucumber with lines of fork and cut in slices. Cut carrot slices from small end of carrot and cut tiny wedges at intervals around edge. Cut thin slice from end of radish, then cut five thin slices around sides.

Herb-Crumb Topping Distinguishes Fish

One of the most interesting and satisfactory ways in which to become acquainted with herbs and spices is to combine them in herb butters. The butter affords a medium for blending the aromatic flavors, and makes a delicious topping for many other foods.

Herb butters do double duty as flavoring and moisturizer in fish cookery. The delicate flavor of halibut steaks is greatly enhanced by an herb butter which, at the same time, keeps the lean fish from becoming dry.

The Halibut Association of North America suggests this intriguing herb topping which combines an herb butter with bread crumbs.

Halibut Steaks With Herb-Crumb Topping
2 lbs. halibut steaks, fresh or frozen
Salt and pepper

of radish, being careful not to cut through.

Place vegetables in ice water to crisp. Cut slice from end of green pepper and remove seeds and pulp.

At serving time, pierce cucumber and carrot slice with cocktail pick or wooden dowel and place in green pepper "flowerpot." Use scallions and celery leaves as "foliage" around base of vegetable flowers.

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup dry bread crumbs
½ teaspoon thyme, rosemary, basil or oregano
¼ teaspoon garlic salt, optional

Thaw halibut on refrigerator shelf, if necessary. Sprinkle steaks with salt and pepper and broil 3 to 8 minutes on each side.

Make herb-crumb mixture by melting butter over low heat in a small frying pan and adding dry bread crumbs; toss gently with fork until butter or margarine is absorbed. Add preferred herb and garlic salt, if desired.

When halibut is cooking on second side and fish begins to flake when tested with a fork, remove from the broiler and top each steak with herb-crumb mixture. Slide under broiler again briefly to brown crumbs. Makes 6 servings.

Sardine Filling Is Interesting

Ever use this combination of ingredients for a sandwich filling?

Savory Sardine Sandwiches
1 can (3½ ounces) brisling sardines
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons green pickle relish
¼ cup finely diced celery
6 or 8 slices hot buttered toast

Mash the sardines, including the oil, with the mayonnaise; mix in the pickle relish and celery. Make sandwiches of the sardine filling and toast.

If 6 slices of toast are used to make 3 hearty sandwiches, there should be ¼ cup filling for each

Gelatin Dessert Is Airy, Pretty and Good to Eat

This refrigerated dessert can be made the day before serving.

Dorothy's Lime Snow
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup strained fresh lime juice
Green food coloring
2 egg whites, unbeaten
Grated lime rind

In a mixing bowl sprinkle the gelatin over cold water and allow to soften. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved.

Add sugar, salt, lime juice and enough green food coloring to make a pretty hue; stir to dissolve sugar. Chill until partly set.

Add egg whites; beat at high speed of electric beater until doubled — about 4 minutes. Turn into an 8-inch square pan; chill until firm — about ¼ hour.

Cut into 8 rectangles and remove with a large spatula to serving dishes. Sprinkle with grated lime rind and surround with a soft custard sauce.

Pep Up Sandwich

When your youngster requests his usual peanut butter and jelly sandwich for lunch, give it a touch of nourishment by sprinkling 2 teaspoons of ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate cereal over the jelly layer. The breakfast cereal imparts a nice crisp quality in addition to making nutritional contributions.

Dried Peas Are Good Keepers

Return to the "good old days," in a manner of speaking, by making use of economical, companionable, dried split peas. Historians say that prior to the 1700's all peas were before being eaten — fresh peas were believed poisonous.

One beauty of dried peas is their keepability, as the ancients no doubt knew. They keep almost indefinitely if put in a tightly sealed container in a cool, dry place.

Furthermore, dried peas have a natural ability to combine well with many different foods and seasonings. Well known in soups, they also make hearty additions to meat loaves, baked dishes, casseroles and similar dishes.

Split peas do not need to be soaked or cooked as long as whole peas, because the hull has been removed. U.S. Department of Agriculture home economists recommend baking split peas, as they break up easily during cooking by other methods.

Boil the peas for two minutes, allowing 1½ cups water for each cup peas. Let soak for half an hour, then bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Add hot water during baking if needed.

Add grated cheese to these cooked peas and you will have Split Peas au Gratin, a protein-rich casserole delight.

Grated lemon rind adds a world of flavor to sugar cookies.

Half Life-After-Death Plan as Test 'Victim' Improves

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI)—A plan for the first scientific effort to place a human body in a state of suspended death for a number of years was abandoned today.

The husband of a woman who had planned to have his dying wife entombed upon her death canceled the experiment.

A spokesman for city hospital said the plan was abandoned because the woman's condition had improved slightly during the night and upon the advice of her pastor.

The plan to suspend death as now known has not been tested. The plan calls for placing the body immediately after death

Driver Injured in Auto Crash

A West Bloomfield Township man is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital following an auto accident early today on Clarkston Road in Independence Township.

Charles B. Paul, 22, of 1599 Farnwall was the driver of a car which left the road and hit a tree.

A passenger, James Underwood, 6465 Barker, Waterford Township, was treated at the hospital and released.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Albin Polasek, 86, head of the sculpture department at the Art Institute of Chicago, died Wednesday.

Taxi Used in Bank Robbery

DETROIT (AP)—A handit robbed a Detroit bank by taxicab yesterday.

A taxi driver, according to the FBI, unwittingly drove the robber to the bank, waited for his return and then drove him away.

The robber paid his cabbie, alighted only a block away and disappeared.

The loot was estimated at $600, handed over after a teller was handed a note demanding money by a man whose right hand was wrapped in a sweater as if holding a gun.

The bank was a branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. The FBI described the robber as a Negro 30 to 35 years of age.

Sheriff Halts Terror Spree

Wounds Gunman, 21, Wanted for Murder

WOUNDS GUNMAN, 21, WANTED FOR MURDER

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI)—Charles G. Waldrop walked into a pawn shop yesterday, hooked his services and bought two 32-caliber pistols.

"Well, I guess I won't be seeing you anymore," Waldrop told the pawn broker. "I am going out and get in trouble."

A few hours later, police said Waldrop shot and killed his former employer. From there, he kidnapped one man, held two others hostage and then was shot himself by the sheriff of Dallas County, Bill Decker.

Waldrop, 21, was in critical condition today.

His mother, Mrs. Irene Waldrop, 57, of nearby Irving, said the young man had been depressed for the past month, since he was fired from his job as a fork lift operator.

FOOT CRUSHED

The mother, a widow, said Waldrop's foot had been crushed seven weeks ago. When he returned to work, she continued, he was told his work was unsatisfactory. She quoted him as saying, "Nobody will hire me... it always goes back over there."

Police from Arlington, Dallas and Fort Worth surrounded the apartment where Waldrop fled.

Inside were Dennis Johnson, his wife and two Arlington policemen who were forced inside when they came to search the apartment. The policemen were identified as Jim Brady and Jesse Gunn.

Many people tried to talk Waldrop into coming out of the apartment. Among them were his mother, his girl friend and the police chief of Arlington.

COLLEGE STUDENT

Johnson, a student at Arlington State College, persuaded Waldrop to let his wife leave. When she fled out the door, Decker decided to try his hand at getting Waldrop out of the apartment.

Decker knocked on the front door and was admitted. Decker told Waldrop, "You've got your pistol, can't we talk it over?" The sheriff said Waldrop fired at him from a sitting position.

"I went to work on him," said Decker. Waldrop was shot four times in the chest.

Decker is in charge of the Dallas jail where Jack Ruby, who gunned down presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald is held.

FOLLOW-UP

Police followed Waldrop's trail from the Dallas suburb of Irving, where police said he shot Lydell Lee Reese earlier in the night. Reese was found dead on the floor of the den of his home.

Officers pieced together Waldrop's flight from witnesses accounts. They said after he shot Reese, Waldrop drove to a nearby bowling alley. There he forced a man to drive him to Arlington, about 10 miles to the south.

Japan Finds Fallout

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese scientists detected radioactivity, 10 to 30 times above normal levels, today in rain in western Japan. However, they said, such radioactivity is not harmful to man.

This is the first time radioactive fallout has been recorded over a wide area since May 14, when Red China blasted its second atomic device.

CHEDDINGTON, England (UPI)—A young bull bothered by an itch rubbed his back so hard against a utility pole yesterday that he dislodged power lines and caused a blackout in four nearby villages and towns.

Listen to That Motor! Cluck, Cluck, Cluck

PIETARSAARI, Finland (UPI) There wasn't a tiger in Konrad Hatt's tank—but there was a chicken under the hood. Hatt found the bird sitting on the warm motor when he checked to see why his truck had been making odd noises for the past few days.

He said the chicken, which was reluctant to leave its comfortable perch, had probably been in the engine since it escaped from a load he carried a week ago.

Violator Really Sorry

DAVENTRY, England (UPI)—Architect Thomas Albert Davenport, fined $50 for illegal parking yesterday, wrote the court: "I am particularly sorry about this as I was one of the officials who mapped out the restricted parking areas."

100 Mail Sacks Damaged by Fire on Train in Iowa

FAIRFIELD, Iowa (AP)—About 100 sacks of fourth class mail were damaged in a fire that broke out Wednesday aboard a sealed mail car on the westbound Burlington Railroad passenger train, the Nebraska Zephyr.

The fire was discovered when the train was eight miles east of Fairfield. The Zephyr was delayed about an hour.

Fairfield postal officials said the mail car, one of several on the train, was loaded and sealed at Washington, D.C., and was carrying only fourth class mail to points west of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Firemen broke open the car to get at the fire. About one third of the total contents burned or suffered water damage.

Railroad and postal investigators sought the cause.

Worker Kills 10 Kin, Then Shoots Himself

CHAVAGNEUX, France (AP)—Authorities said today that a workman had slain 10 of his relatives and then shot himself.

Chavagneux is a village 20 miles from Lyon in southeastern France. An official at the mayor's office said first reports identified the dead as the worker's mother, his wife, his six children, his brother and a niece.

Planned in Southfield

Health Center Cost Set

Estimated cost of the proposed Oakland County health center facility in Southfield has been set at $903,000.

Preliminary cost figures and a detailed description of the planned 23,000-square-foot building were included in a report prepared by the Oakland County Health Department and the County Board of Auditor's engineering department.

The report was reviewed yesterday at a joint meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' buildings and grounds and health committees.

It will be referred to the ways and means committee.

No construction schedule has been established for the building which will occupy four to five acres of the 29-acre site at Greenfield and Calappa purchased last year by the county.

Proposed cost of the building is $903,000, with $200,000 more for landscaping and an additional $200,000 earmarked for furnishings and equipment.

Federal funds are available for 30 per cent of the total cost, or $271,000. The county would pay the balance.

Oakland County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman said the new facility would replace the present health center in Royal Oak which occupies a building constructed 21 years ago for temporary use.

Guest Has Obligation as Well

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: Much has been written about the obligations of a hostess toward her guests, but what about the guests' obligations toward their hostess?

When guests are invited to a party aren't they supposed to do their part toward making it a success by being agreeable and mixing with the other guests?

So often they gather in small cliques talking among themselves all evening instead of mixing with others.

I find this practice not only annoying but very rude as well.

I would appreciate your comments on this.

A: You are quite right.

When invited to a party, guests are expected to do their part towards its success by making themselves pleasant and agreeable, mixing and talking with other guests and joining in whatever entertainment the hostess has planned.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Teach Morality in the Home and Children Will Respond

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Something is wrong with the laws in our town. My 18-year-old boy was picked up again for "loitering."

He and some friends of his were just standing on a street corner minding their own business when this cop came along and started asking them a lot of questions.

Since when is it against the law for a person to stand on a street corner?

The reason those kids were standing around doing nothing is because there isn't anything for kids to do in this town.

Don't you think society is committing a crime against our children instead of our children committing a crime against society?

TAXPAYER

DEAR TAXPAYER: "Society" owes us nothing. But we owe society our cooperation, energy, talent and time.

Too many parents expect "society" to provide their children with "something to do."

Moral lessons are learned at home. Give your child a healthy, happy, busy home life, introduce him to church at an early age, and you won't have to worry about what he's doing when he has nothing to do.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please give me your definition of a "house guest"? A relative of mine has a 24-year-old fellow staying at her home. She introduces him as her "house guest."

This relative is crowding 30 and is living it up on the insurance money left to her by her late 76-year-old husband. Since his death two years ago, she has been taking one cruise after another, collecting these young characters.

Anyone with half an eye can see that this young man is taking her for all he can get. But she is so flattered that a young man would pay any attention to her she doesn't even notice.

It is disgusting! How can we stop her from making a fool of herself and disgracing the family name?

We are a very proud six-generation American family.

DISGRACED RELATIVES
DEAR DISGRACED: A house guest is simply a guest in one's home. There is no age limit, nor is there a time limit. Your relative doesn't need the approval of her family to keep a house guest.

And don't worry about her "disgracing" the family name. One disgraces only one's self.

New PBX Group Names Officers for Year

A newly-formed organization, The PBX Club of Pontiac met in the Pontiac General Hospital Tuesday for election of officers.

Mrs. Otis Miller will head the slate as incoming president.

Others elected were Mrs. Dale Rolfe, vice president; Mrs. Paul Nord, secretary; Mrs. Cecil Garrett, treasurer; and Mrs. Charles Burrell.

Meetings are scheduled for every Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. but there is no permanent meeting place at this time.

The PBX Club is an international organization with membership of 4,824. There are five chapters in Michigan.

Guests at this meeting included Mrs. Edna Smith, Mrs. Alex McTavish, Mrs. Muriel Carrier and Mrs. William Carrier.

Bride-Elect Feted at Recent Shower

Barbara Ann McGrady of Ft. Knox, Ky. was honored at a recent bridal shower given by Mrs. Roy Best in the Percy King Drive home of Mrs. William Slade.

The bride-elect, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Harper McGrady will wed Lt. John A. Morhet, son of the Marcel Morhets of West Walton Boulevard on July 10.

Create Designs From Old Flowers

Use left-over spring flowers from a large arrangement for miniature designs, recommends the Society of American Florists.

The left overs may be arranged in a tiny wicker basket or in a demitasse cup. A single surplus blossom could be floated in a small dish to add color to your bathroom.

A July 24 wedding in the Methodist Church, Oxford, is planned by Rosemary Audrey Linstruth and Russell Howard Valentine. Their parents are the Joseph P. Linstruths of Fredrick Drive and the Lee B. Valentines of Lakeview Boulevard. All are of Oxford Township.

Homemaker at Heart

Most women who work outside their homes are still homemakers at heart.

The distaff side of a husband - and - wife veterinary team in Delaware has placed her washer and dryer right next to their operating room so she can check on the laundry between patients.

This is just one example of woman's ingenuity when it comes to combining a busy job or profession with home-making duties!

Turn Inside Out

Washable slacks should always be turned inside out before hanging on the clothesline.

It saves the outside from fading from sunlight and from having clothespin marks.

May Yellow Linens

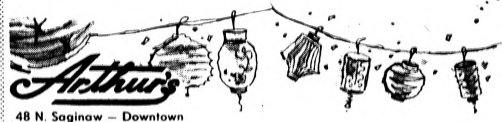

Linens stored in cedar chests or cedar-lined drawers will suffer no moth damage, but the oil fumes of the cedar sometimes have a tendency to yellow white linen.

Never overload a paint brush. Too much paint leads to splattering.

Cleaning Pointers

Drain fat and drippings from fryers and cookers, fill with water, add soap or detergent, and heat to boiling. Then drain, rinse and dry.

Give Yourself Gift of Fresh Flowers

Flowers are plentiful this spring, so why not give yourself or someone else a bouquet of beautiful fresh cut flowers, the Society of American Florists suggests.

It recommends a "Spring Glory" arrangement of purple iris blooms, yellow daffodils, red and purple anemones, red, pink, and white tulips, red snapdragons, white candy tuft, baker fern, and flowering branches of yellow forsythia.

Youths' Eating and Behavior Are Linked

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Please discuss my 6-year-old boy's eating problem in a column. His eyes are bigger than his stomach. He will finish his first helping at meals and then insist on a second big helping which he heartily touches. If he doesn't get it, he gets wild.

Could this be due to jealousy of his older brother? He seems afraid that his brother is going to get more food than he does.

ANSWER: Start serving him SMALL second helpings. Assure him that more food will be available as soon as he's ready for it. Place your serving dishes in front of him.
Make your promise of more food firm and convincing—but keep those second helpings SMALL.

It is most important for children to learn to judge their stomachs' capacity accurately.

We don't credit this learning with importance because our child guidance books isolate their chapters on children's attitudes toward food as though they had no connection with the rest of their behavior. They're intimately connected.

The 6-year-old Johnny who demands more food than he can eat may become the 12-year-old who makes promises he cannot keep.

As he has been allowed to overrate his stomach's capacity, he'll tend to overrate his other capacities. His greediness for food can become greediness for approval.

Always exaggerating what is possible for him to do, he'll involve himself in extra-curricular activities at school so that his homework begins to suffer. He will have a hard time with a career decision because those eyes of his which were "bigger than his stomach" cannot choose among all the delicious possibilities spread before him.

The limitations which reality puts upon his abilities, his energies and time will not exist for him any more than the limitations of his stomach could exist for him.

As I'm writing a book myself these days, I understand how the experts succumb to the temptation to isolate children's eating behavior from the rest of their behavior.

But understanding it doesn't alter my conviction that this isolation misleads us, suggesting as it does that Johnny's refusal to acknowledge his stomach's limitations has no connection with his refusal to admit other limitations.

Your denial of food to your child that he can't eat isn't just an effort to save money on grocery bills. It is also an effort to make his limitations acceptable to him.

Fair Time Again

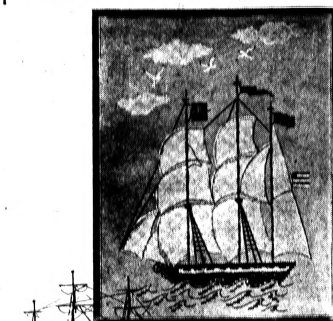

Pontiac Lake Community School PTA Fair will feature a game, booth Cherry Tree, Cake Walk, Country Store, White Elephant Sale, and others on Saturday from 2 until 6 p.m.

Working on arrangements are chairman Mrs. Stanley Nivelt and Mrs. Stephen Mula Jr. along with their committees.

After a recent nuptial Mass in St. Michael's Catholic Church and evening reception in the Knights of Columbus club rooms, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Joseph Liles (Patricia Frances Wright) left for a northern honeymoon. Their parents are the Diamond R. Wrights, North Lake Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Liles, Lexington Drive. The bride gown of white organza featured a lace bodice, draped overskirt and cathedral train worn with French illusion veil. Attendants were Mrs. Lawrence Pfeiffer, Sharon Merithew, Nancy Fetter, Mrs. Gregory Stecher and Mary Beth Liles. Michal Apeauch was best man and ushers were David Wright, Ronald Canterbury, Andrew Straka and Dale Young.

Cross-Stitch Sailing Ship Sampler Kit to Embroider

You can almost smell the salt spray and feel the stiff breeze billowing the sails of this fine ship. Anyone who loves things nautical would be proud to own this cross-stitch sampler version of the historical Constitution. Anyone who sews will enjoy making it to give to sailing friends—or to keep.

Imagine how satisfying a cross-stitch picture like this would be for any sailor! We'll bet it will appeal to many landlubbers as well.

The ship, clouds, gulls and sea are all "lashed" down on sea blue 100 per cent linen. The design comes ready-stamped and the kit includes embroidery floss and easy-to-follow instructions. Over-all size of the linen is approximately 14 by 20 inches.

The sturdy hull is black cross-stitch. White cross-stitch sails, flying gulls and gay flags of red, white, blue and aqua are placed majestically against the blue linen background.

The clouds and spanking waves are aqua. Masts and lines are black outline stitch.

This is the kind of "picture" you can use almost anywhere in the house depending on the kind of frame you use.

We suggest simple pine or maple molding frames but plain oak, mahogany or walnut will look fine, too. You might prefer to paint a frame one of the colors in the embroidery. Red would be fine (Frames are not available from Kit Service).

This would make a nice gift to present to your boat club, school or library.

Ten Area Students Receive Honors at Their Colleges

Jacqueline Patricia Title, daughter of Mrs. David Title, New York City and the late Mr. Title, and George Howard Macduff, son of the Daniel M. Macduffs of Wolfe Street were wed recently in New York City.

MRS. GEORGE H. MACDUFF

Vows Are Repeated by George Macduffs

Former Pontiac resident, George Howard Macduff and his bride Jacqueline Patricia Title left for an eastern honeymoon after recent vows in New York City.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. David Title, New York City, the late Mr. Title, and the Daniel M. Macduffs of Wolfe Street.

Mrs. Jeffrie Title of Brooklyn, N.Y. attended her sister-in-law, Homes Clay was best man.

A reception and dinner in the Tappan Hill Inn, Tarrytown, N.Y. followed the ceremony.

The bride is an alumna of Hunter College where she is presently a graduate student. Mrs. Macduff was graduated from Michigan State University and is working on his doctorate at Columbia University.

The bridegroom's mother attended the wedding along with her daughter Mrs. Robert Choiniere of Stillwater, Minn.

Mom's a Hit With the Kids

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Doyle Johnson has scored a hit with the kids with her enthusiasm for baseball.

She is the new coach and scorekeeper of Hyde Park Middle School, Little League team on which her 11-year-old son plays.

She played baseball in high school and is now a spectator at most local professional, high school and Little League games.

Instant Toppings

Combine odds and ends of dry cereals, crush and keep crisp in the freezer for use as casserole toppings or for breaded chops and cutlets.

Four area students are among more than 150 at Western Michigan University who have been recognized for their scholastic achievements in the 28th annual Honors Convocation.

Sara F. Rachiele of Kenrick Street, Keego Harbor received a business education departmental award. Carolyn E. Mavis of Mandale Court, Orchard Lake is a member of Mortar Board.

Judy K. Hillman of West Huron Street received basic studies honors and James D. Moyer of Wrenonah Drive was given the Harold Smith Patton award in economics.

WAYNE STATE

Michael A. Newhouse of Mohawk Road will be initiated into the Wayne State University Phi Beta Kappa chapter in dinner ceremonies May 27 in McGregor Memorial Conference Center.

MERCY COLLEGE

Virginia Benner and Rita Kainz of Farmington are among 22 students at Mercy College, Detroit, who were made charter members of the first Detroit-established chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, honor society in education.

GOES TO DREW

and Mrs. J. M. Allman, of Kimberley, Birmingham, will participate in a "Semester at the United Nations" at Drew University, Madison, N.J.

NEXT YEAR

Under the arrangement, Sue now a sophomore at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., will live on the campus at Madison, taking regular classwork there three days each week and spending two days each week at United Nations headquarters in New York City.

An English major, Sue was freshman representative to the Student Government Association's curriculum committee. She will be secretary of next year's junior class.

U. of DETROIT

Betty Crawford of Stanley Avenue, will assume the duties of women's editor of the University of Detroit's news paper, "Varsity News" next fall.

Betty, who has served in numerous capacities on the paper since her freshman year will be responsible for organizing the women's page and building a staff. In the past, she said, the paper has not had an established women's page.

She is also a contributing editor of the "Campus Detector," a general interest magazine at the school.

Brenda Maynard, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. H. S. Maynard of Wimbledon Drive, was among 10 women who made up the Queen's Court at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, for the traditional May Day Mother's Day ceremonies.

The senior from Birmingham was nominated by her sorority Alpha Phi.

Well suited for summer travel, this handknit costume has an open checkered texture. The yarn is a cool and crisp blend of Irish linen and orlon. Knitted banding outlines the cardigan collar and turn-back cuffs. Style 1860.

Fashioned in a lightweight blend of Irish linen and orlon yarn, this quick-to-knit dress may be worn belted or tied loosely with a self belt. Slim knitted piping traces the easy neckline and deep slash of buttons. Style 1865.

Knit or Crochet Travel Fashions

Handknit and crocheted fashions are perfect travel companions or pleasant stay-at-home wardrobe boosters. The knit suit is the delight of travel-wise trippers. Marvelous to wear en route, since they can sit for hours without the hint of a wrinkle, suits offer the traveller a perfect outfit for sight-seeing.

Likewise, a knitted dress will serve many occasions during a trip.

Keep both on classic lines and they'll be the mainstay of your wardrobe for several years, whether your travel or not.

Many women have discovered the delights of wearing a handknit coat.

No examples are shown here, but pattern books are full of them. With bulky yarn and large needles, they are quickies to make.

SWEATERS

A sweater is a must in the summer time. Not only is it needed for cool days, but it's absolutely essential in air-conditioned buildings.

Interest comes with the color you select to complement your wardrobe and the pattern stitch you choose.

Even evening dresses come from nimble fingers. One of the most exotic is a sequin covered sheath.

After you have strung sequins on the yarn you're to use, the job is simple; you just crochet or knit along.

This year you have more choice of yarns.

There's a wonderful new mixture of Irish linen and orlon that's just right for suits, dresses and fancy fashions. You might consider one of the season's fashionable shells.

INSTRUCTIONS

Instructions for all designs shown on this page are available by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope.

For designs KMN65-3 and KMN65-5, write to the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, 15 East 26th Street, New York City, Room 1806-MN.

For designs 1860 and 1865, write to Bernat, Box 384, Uxbridge, Mass. 01569.

Crocheted in a simple single crochet and chain stitch with fingering yarn and sequins, this handsome bloused cocktail dress will fill your after-five needs. It also travels well and is a hit on home territory. Style KMN65-5.

New Device a Lifesaver

If it's your job to take the family car to the garage for periodical maintenance, and tune-ups the latest gadget for automobiles could be a real life-saver for you. (The man of the house usually loses patience with the spouse who forgets.)

This ingenious device as described by Purchasing Week tells you when your car is due for service.

Installed on the dashboard it ejects a card at predetermined intervals to remind you that it's time for lubrication oil change, tune-up, etc.

Check Container

When beautifully arranged fresh flowers are delivered to you, immediately check the water in the container. If it is low, add lukewarm water and do this daily during the life of the flowers, suggests the Society of American Florists.

Mops From Old Nylons

DEAR POLLY — I keep a calendar in the garage for recording dates for flower and vegetable planting, weeding and spraying.

Old nylon hose make such good mops. Double the stockings over the metal loop at the end of the mop handle and tie each stocking up close to this mop ring.

Continue until you have a full mop head. This makes an excellent dust or floor mop and is so easy to wash and dry.—ANNA

DEAR POLLY — I always have a baby food jar in the freezer partially filled with water so that when the little ones get one of their many hard bumps I can just grab for this frozen jar instead of grappling with an ice cube and paper towel to hold on the bump.—MARY

DEAR POLLY — I always used to stuff the laundry into one big bag when taking it to the coin laundry. Now I sort the laundry and put each tubful in a separate pillowcase.

I know how many tubs I will need, the laundry is pre-sorted and my big laundry bag is clean and dry for packing the clean laundry to go home.—C. E. S.

DEAR POLLY — My 4-year-old twins insist on making their own peanut butter sandwiches. Yesterday they wanted sandwiches before I had time to thaw the bread. The frozen bread stood up beautifully and was thawed and ready to eat by the time they were finished with their work.—MRS. R. J. L.

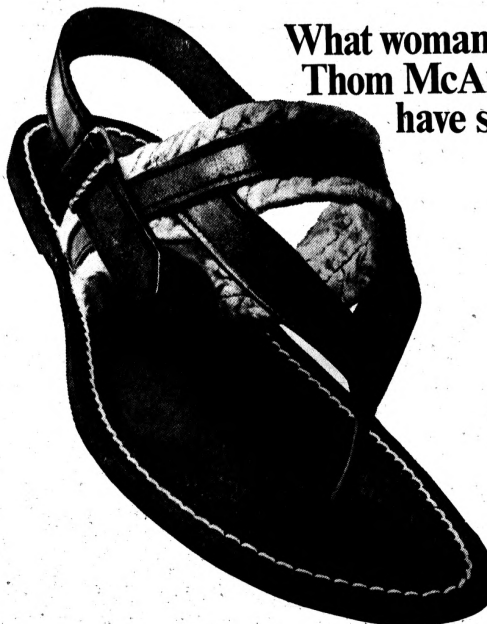

And THANK YOU for such a cute letter.—POLLY

What woman would buy these from Thom McAn—when the best shops have sandals just like them?

Frankly, any woman that loves a bargain. (And what woman doesn't?) Wild as it may seem, those so-called better stores get dollars more for sandals like ours. And for the life of us, we can't see where theirs are better.

Thom McAn sandals are $2.99—$4.99. A ridiculous price, but true.

Mostly, they're cushiony little sandals. Made in Italy of those fine Italian leathers.

You'll find slings, thongs, flats, wedgies, stacks. Plain, stitched, roped. Dippy, daffy, dizzy little things.

It's a mad mad mad mad collection. Paint your toes and come in.

Extras Don't Lessen Life of Appliances

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

When a woman buys a new washer, dryer, sewing machine, or other household treasure, she usually gets double her money's worth. She gets the machine in exchange, and she gets the chance to brag about all its new features to her friends.

The fact that the dryer has a "fluff" setting, or dispenses fragrant air, is a source of pride, pleasure, and conversation — even though she could have fluffed the clothes in the old dryer by simply turning the gauge to the Off setting and letting them air dry without heat!

But we women do love the luxury touches, and every new feature added to our household appliances gives us a big lift. Just hearing about them from other women tells us what to start wishing for.

However, a lot of my readers have raised this question: Are we making a mistake in going for these gadgets? Does it mean we'll be getting less basic service, fewer years of dependable performance, maybe more repair bills? Are we sacrificing quality for gimmicks?

I posed these questions to a spokesman for the American Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association. Here's what he said:

"Engineering is better today, so there's 50 per cent less servicing of equipment required than in the past. Washers are simpler to use — they're more automatic, allowing more to be done with push buttons, programming, etc. Women could have obtained the same results a few years ago, but they had to do it all themselves. Now it's done for them. But it hasn't altered the life-expectancy of the appliance."

Sewing machines last longer, too, according to the experts. Of course, they are generally not used as consistently as home laundrying equipment. Today's woman wants all the new attachments and gadgets even though she may not necessarily use all of them.

She likes to know she could if she wanted to. And she feels she's getting a lot more for her money.

This sort of assurance puts women in a shopping mood — in order to get all the convenience they can wring out of a dollar. And why not? Let's face it — housework and home laundrying can take all the glamour anybody can think up.

Why not a washer that will gauge its own water level? Or vary its speeds for sturdy or delicate wash? And why not a dryer that knows without you telling it when the clothes are properly dried? That airs the draperies as well as the diapers?

As long as these features don't reduce reliability and long life, they ease the work and brighten the day.

(For Mary Feeley's new book, let, "Make Every Dollar Count," send $1 to Dollar Book in care of The Pontiac Press.

Bride Has Fancy Hose This Year

Hosiery may offer the young bride the most exciting accessory in her trousseau.

With textures and new colors in her hosiery wardrobe, the bride can add great fashion dash to her apparel with very little money.

Hosiery and glove showers are very popular this year. Stockings for the wedding ceremony can be delicate white lace and one even comes with its own fancy blue-bowed garter.

Another suggestion for bridal hosiery is a sheer nylon scroll or diamond pattern in white or very pale beige. Both of these can be worn after the wedding for dancing both summer and winter.

Don't rule out the new misty floral and free form patterns for the adventurous. You can even buy a matching nylon chemise slip that coordinates with one manufacturer's floral hose.

For her going-away clothes and subsequent daytime and evening occasions, give the bride both lovely pastel textures as well as black in stripes or diamond patterns.

The fashion minded summer bride will definitely wear pattern, either bold or quiet. Afterward the same stocking is suitable for evening with summer dancing frocks. "Scroll" in off-black, very pale beige, white, navy, pale peach, pale pink and taupe retails at $1.65 and $1.95.

Weddings Are in the Future of These Six Area Girls

Craig-Morris

A September wedding is being planned by Cindy Katherine Craig and Joseph Gordon Morris, son of Mrs. Cleo Morris of Seneca Street and the Late Mr. Morris. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Albert R. Rank of Palmiro Street and Jewell E. Craig of Virginia Avenue.

Mulanix-Rogers

St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church will be the setting on Aug. 7 for the vows of Patricia Anne Mulanix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mulanix of South Cass Lake Road, and Albert T. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers of South Edith Street.

Foote-Jones

The Daniel J. Foote of Percy King Drive announce the engagement of their daughter Pamela Sue to Michael Dee Jones, son of Mrs. Alice Bolton of Keego Harbor and the late Cecil Jones. A wedding, early in 1966, is being planned.

Mutter-Walls

November vows are planned by Suzanne M. J. Mutter, University of Buffalo sophomore, and John E. Walls of West Huron Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Walls of Cincinnati, formerly of Kenmore. She is the daughter of the Harold F. Bahms of Kenmore, N. Y. and Thunderbay, Ont.

Mr. Walls will graduate in July from General Motors Institute where he is a member of Alpha Delta Fraternity.

Blacklaw-Duff

The George E. Blacklaws of West Huron Street announce the engagement of their daughter Sharon Marie to Michael Lynn Duff, son of Mrs. A. H. Duff of Michigan Avenue and the late Mr. Duff. She is an Oakland University sophomore and her fiancé is attending Flint Junior College.

Piche-Hustosky

Early October vows are planned by Darlene Frances Piche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Piche of East Rutgers Avenue, and Dana S. Hustosky, son of the Stanley Hustosky of Lakeview Street. Her fiancé is a senior at Oakland University.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer: I love your new drafting tips for those of us who would like to make simple changes on our pattern. It sounds so simple the way you do it! Please tell us how to cut a cowl neckline into a plain round neck.

Dear Miss F. K. This can usually be done, depending on the depth of the cowl. For the many of you who have written asking how to make the cowl from an ordinary pattern, I shall try to explain this at the same time.

A cowl neckline is one that has a soft draped effect very popular and flattering. The bodice front or back is always cut on the bias to achieve this draped look.

To make your own cowl neck line pattern, take your pattern and cut through the center of the lower dart of darts. Also cut your pattern from the center front or back straight across to the top of your dart. Lap the dart so that it will be eliminated. This will automatically spread the slash you cut from the center to the top dart.

Draw a straight line upwards from the lower center of the bodice and also extend a straight line from the shoulder of the neck edge. These two lines will meet, making a new shape to your pattern. When you are trying something like this for the first time, it is better to experiment on some old fabric.

The reverse of these instructions would apply to removing a cowl from your garment. Rip it apart and press flat. Recut the pattern by using a standard pattern as a guide. Of course, your bodice will still be cut on the bias and you won't be able to change that part of it.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

"I've found a wonderful way of taking care of the seams in those little nylon baby dresses we make. The seams fray out so badly that even overcasting doesn't always help. Paint the edges of the seams with clear fingernail polish. The seams will never fray out even after washing. The baby's undershirt will keep the hardness of the seam from scratching. Hope all mothers will try this and be as happy as I am."

Mrs. Doug Flohag, Aneta, North Dakota, is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

This photo of a Vietnamese soldier carrying his wounded comrade was typical of the product attained by Associated Press staff photographer Horst Faas. It portrays one of the many facets of man's war.

Impactive photos like this one showing father holding body of his child killed in a battle in South Viet Nam won a Pulitzer Prize for Horst Faas. In this dramatic scene Vietnamese Rangers peer down at the young victim, killed in battle as government forces pursued Viet Cong guerrillas into a village near Cambodian border.

Car Stocks in Sharp Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Auto stocks were selling under pressure and took sharp declines in a lower stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy. Elsewhere in the list, losses ran from fractions of a point or so but most declines were fractional. Ford opened late, depressed by plans for a six-million share offering of Ford stock by the Ford Foundation. Brokers said, however, that the Big Three auto stocks were damaged considerably by a front page article in a financial newspaper saying that the auto sales rate, though still at record levels, is decreasing and that a further drop is anticipated.

The New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Following a hot start, the New York Stock Exchange closed lower.

U.S. to Recheck Claim Against Hill Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is going to take a second look at a money feud with a Tennessee mountaineer, a farmer who wistfully wrote his troubles to Rep. James H. Quillen, R-Tenn.

If in his fight on poverty, President Johnson "has any money left over from some other place to please send it down here," it's better than no mountain folk has been used to, he wrote.

Willard Metcalf of Del Rio, Cooke County, Tenn., owed $1,712.52 for cutting timber on government land. Metcalf claimed the timber was on his ridgeland and in his letter exclaimed: "My whole farm ain't worth that much."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, who supervises the Forest Service, told Quillen the government will recheck its claim.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weather Bureau experts expect

The leading part of the fallout cloud — between 35,000 and 40,000 feet — may already have passed out over the Atlantic without depositing any detectable debris, the bureau said Wednesday. Winds travel faster at higher levels.

"The premature save" is a jump to a high contract by a player who has no expectation of making it but who would surely bid as a sacrifice if his opponents forced him there. The bid is designed to force the enemy to decide whether to double and get a moderate profit or to bid on to get a really good one.

Edgar Kaplan discusses this bid at length and gives an example of how an opponent really fished by means of the bid.

Edgar said South and hadn't had time to sort his hand when West the dealer opened with three diamonds. North passed as expected and Edgar was getting ready to cue bid at four diamonds when he saw that East was studying his hand. Finally East bid seven diamonds and it was up to Edgar.

The rest of the story is Edgar's:

East had decided, correctly, that he could not beat a slam and sacrificed in advance. The bid was with one of the best hands I had ever held, and the auction was up to the seven level before it was my turn to bid. Probably I should have doubled and taken a profit but I knew I was being robbed and I just could not stand it. So I bid seven hearts and went down one when I could have made the grand slam in spades."

Edgar deserves sympathy and also some commendation. There aren't many writers who will discuss their own tragedies at the card table.

Q—CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

You, South, hold:

AKQJ2 ♠ A104 ♠ 32 ♠ A654

A—Pass. Five clubs is out of sight and one heart stopper and more 14 points in high cards does not make a no-trump game look attractive.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two clubs your partner jumps to three clubs over your one spade. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany, asked Wednesday if he is disappointed over parts of President Johnson's labor message, said: "I didn't tell him what to put in it and what not to put in it."

Meany had selective praise for the President's recommendations to Congress. Meany's biggest applause was for Johnson's call to Congress Tuesday to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act which prohibits compulsory union membership in 19 states.

Meany predicted Congress will repeal Section 14(b) "with a few votes to spare." Such action would nullify state right-to-work laws.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and a VIP committee sailed the polluted Potomac Wednesday and discussed how to dress up the capital area.

Experts went along on the 104-foot Navy yacht Sequoia to describe the history and problems of the river, but came up with no quick answers for ridding it of refuse, silt and noxious odors.

Ambassador-Designate to Luxembourg Counts Negro Slaves Among Her Ancestry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vivacious lady — the United States' new ambassador designate to Luxembourg — adamantly refuses to state her age. "I'm not going to tell you," she told an inquiring newsmen.

"You work on the problem!"

The subject of the interview was Patricia Roberts Harris, who, the White House said in an announcement Wednesday, will be nominated to succeed William R. Riven in the Luxembourg post. She will be the first Negro woman ambassador the United States has ever had. Three of the current American male ambassadors are Negroes.

LAW PROFESSOR

The interview was held at the school of law at Howard University, where Mrs. Harris is an assistant professor of law.

Mrs. Harris counts Negro slaves among her ancestry, and is very proud of the fact. She also counts in her ancestry Delawareans, Indians, Cherokee Indians, English and Irish.

"Back home in Mattoon, Illinois," she said, "my mother used to say that if anybody, black or white, went back far enough he would find he was descended from slaves."

Her Negro ancestors, she said, migrated from Virginia to Illinois early in the 19th century, worked and bought their freedom.

SECONDING SPEECH

Thus it was that she got an education at Howard and various other places, rose to the faculty of Howard, got to make a seconding speech for President Johnson at Atlantic City last summer and now is going to fill a quiet diplomatic post once graced by Perle Mesta.

Present at the interview was Mrs. Harris' husband, William Beasley Harris, a Washington attorney who doesn't mind telling his age. He is 50.

How did he happen to meet his wife? Here Mrs. Harris, a pert woman who was wearing a blue linen dress and a strand of cultured pearls, took over the conversation.

It seems that the former dean of women at Howard came to her one day 10 years ago and said: "There is a fine man on the faculty whom you should marry."

FINE MAN

"If he's such a fine man," said the future Mrs. Harris, "why don't you latch on to him?"

"If I were 10 years younger," said the dean, "you would not have a chance."

Well, one thing led to another, and now the couple is happily married, and William Beasley Harris will chuck his Washington law practice and go to Luxembourg with his wife.

But he may have to grope his way around the embassy at night. For Mrs. Harris is a staunch supporter of Johnson's douse-the-lights program at the White House.

"I am in favor of thrift," she says. "One must save money in one place in order to be able to spend it in another."

Her age? Reportedly she is 40.

Episcopal Unit Sets Fund Goal

W. Michigan Diocese Will Seek $1 Million

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Episcopal Diocese of Western Michigan faces a new year under reshaped policy and with a $1-million objective.

The $1 million is the goal of a fund drive to start next fall for construction of a diocesan center at Kalamazoo.

Delegates to the 91st annual diocesan convention approved the fund drive by a 4-to-1 margin at the concluding session Wednesday.

The delegates, representing 28,000 diocesan members, also voted to join in the Michigan Council of Churches, reversing an action of a year ago. Last year the proposal was rejected.

BREAK PRECEDENT
Earlier, the convention broke with precedent in deciding to permit the seating of women on the diocesan executive council and the election of women as deputies to the provincial synod. Women never before have been permitted to hold the offices. Next year's convention will choose the council personnel and the synod deputies.

The Rt. Rev. Charles E. Benison, Western Michigan bishop, who supported the proposal, said approval of the fund drive will "mean greater strength in forwarding the Christian cause."

Final convention business included elections to the diocesan standing committee, provincial synod and executive council. Both clergy and laymen were chosen.

Named to the standing committee were Rev. Charles P. James of Battle Creek, Rev. George A. Seams of Grand Rapids and Very Rev. Francis J. Foley of Traverse City and Kirk J. Deal of Fremont, James P. Reagan of Dowagiac and James Ritchie of Charlevoix.

Synod deputies included the very Rev. Lester B. Thomas of Grand Rapids, Rev. Verne C. Hohl of Saugatuck and Rev. Mr. James and the Very Rev. Mr. Foley and Raymond Pinder of Grand Rapids, Carleton B. Hutchins Jr. of Saugatuck, Francis Ritchie of Hastings and David M. Eckman of Battle Creek.

Named to the executive council were the Revs. Frederick P. LaCrosse of Ludington and James Holt of Kalamazoo and Gardner Lloyd of Albion and Dr. Robert Rector of Muskegon.

School Board to Air Village Curriculum

The curriculum program at Children's Village School will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the Waterford Township Board of Education.

James W. Marshall, school principal, and Dr. Kingsley Montgomery, director of children's services for the school system, will speak.

In other business tonight, the board will consider a recommendation to start condemnation proceedings on a proposed elementary school site south of Pleasant Lake.

An appraisal of the property ordered by the board indicated that its value is much lower than the price set by the owner.

The board also will act on a recommendation to purchase a proposed elementary school site at the end of Daffodil.

Slated for discussion by the board are remaining projects to be completed under the 1963 bond issue.

College Student Volunteers Introduce Pupils to Educational Experiences

By BOB VOGES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP)—"For many of the children a bus ride is a new and exciting experience... a trip to Cobo Hall was more than a social event, requiring discipline previously foreign to them."

This was part of the report by the Student Volunteers in Higher Education at Eastern Michigan University.

The students, more than 200 of them at Eastern Michigan, tutor high school students. They show them a college campus for the first time, take them to a zoo and "attempt to introduce them to educational and cultural experiences that have not previously been available to them."

At Michigan State a similar program is under way.

VISIT SCHOOLS

They have visited schools in Pontiac, Lansing, Jackson, Pleasant Grove and Morrice helping out the high school youngsters.

If there was no music instruction, a music major would teach it. The same for physical education or art.

The MSU corps also acted as volunteer tutors — "for the very smart or the very unsmart," as one student phrased it.

The high school students, as at Eastern Michigan, are brought to the campus and given the "special guest" treatment.

They are treated just as if they were prime material for the football or basketball teams. Gov. George Romney, enthused about the programs, has called a Governor's Conference on the Student Volunteer in Higher Education, to be held next Monday at Eastern Michigan.

"I hope we can take a giant step toward establishing a statewide student volunteer program involving every college and university in Michigan," said Romney.

Invitations were sent to the presidents of Michigan's private and public colleges and universities, urging they attend along with another administrator and four students associated with present volunteer programs, student government or campus religious groups.

"I'm sure you will join me," Romney said, "in recognizing the important responsibilities our institutions of higher learning have toward the community around them..."

NY Gets New Police Chief

Says Views on Rights Same as Predecessors

NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent L. Broderick, New York City's new police commissioner, says his views "on civil rights are the same as my predecessors, which is that liberty flourishes in an atmosphere of law and order, and that law and order are essential to liberty."

Broderick, 45, a pipe-smoking Ivy League now assistant U.S. attorney, was named to the post by Mayor Robert F. Wagner Wednesday.

His predecessors were Michael J. Murphy, who resigned Tuesday to enter private investigative work, Stephen P. Kennedy and Francis W. H. Adams. Broderick, who has never walked a beat, will assume command of the 27,000-man force — largest in the nation — in three weeks.

'CONSIDERATE'

"It's a problem job, it always has been a problem job, and it always will be," he told a news conference. "But I think I have the capacity to handle it."

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in a statement that Broderick "will need luck in his difficult new assignment."

"The complex problems which plague Harlem and other minority group residential areas require an extraordinary understanding on the part of a commissioner of police," Wilkins said.

New York has a heavy Negro and Puerto Rican population.

PROBLEM JOB

Broderick, 6-foot-1, 175 pounds, is described by those who know him as being reflective, considerate and pleasant.

"Why, he's the last person in the world you'd expect to see at police headquarters," says one friend. "He has an academic atmosphere about him. If he'd been made dean of a law school somewhere, that would seem right."

A graduate of Princeton University and Harvard Law School, Broderick feels "the most important thing for the Police Department is the confidence of the public."

He declined comment on a City Council subcommittee report recommending creation of a board of councilmen to review complaints of police brutality.

BOARD DEFENDED

Two months ago, however, Broderick, at a forum defended the existing Police Department Review Board. Murphy had resisted demands of civil rights groups for a civilian review board.

The $35,000-a-year appointment means a boost of $14,000 for Broderick, who served the Police Department before as deputy commissioner in charge of legal matters from 1954 to 1956. He left the department to become general counsel of the National Association of Investment Companies. He has been chief assistant U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York since 1961.

Judy Garland Wins Divorce From Sid Luff

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — It took only four minutes of testimony by Judy Garland, plus that of supporting witnesses, to win the singer a divorce from producer Sid Luff.

The decree ended a 13-year marriage marked by legal battles and numerous separations.

"He struck me many times. He did a lot of drinking," Miss Garland, 42, told Superior Court Judge Edward R. Brand Wednesday.

It was the fourth time the singer had sued Luff for divorce. But on the other occasions — twice in California and once in Nevada — the complaints were withdrawn.

CRUELTY CHARGE

Luff did not contest the latest divorce action. It will be final in one year. The charge was cruelty.

Miss Garland, wearing dark glasses and speaking softly, told the court that Luff, 46, had tried to take their two children from her by force and used "profane language before both me and the children."

News Roundup From Around the World

India, Pakistan Troops Skirmish Along Kashmir Line

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian and Pakistani troops to day were reported skirmishing and raiding across long sections of the cease-fire line in the Himalayan state of Kashmir.

The focus of tension between the two neighboring countries appeared to have shifted to Kashmir from the desolate southwest, where large-scale Ram of Kutch, 750 miles to the southwest, where large-scale battles were fought last month.

A Pakistani government spokesman in Rawalpindi claimed India had attacked in battalion strength and suffered "over 100 casualties" in two clashes Monday near Kargil, Kashmir.

The only word from the Indian government on casualties was that four Pakistani bodies had been found.

'SIZABLE CLASH'

A spokesman for the Indian defense ministry said one "sizable clash" raged for three hours Sunday night.

A second clash developed Monday, he said, and since then there have been "little incidents and raids."

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia's military government and its labor confederation have agreed to suspend hostilities and begin negotiations to settle the four-day old strike that has shut down the nation's tin mines.

Government troops withdrew from the industrial quarters of La Paz. Workers lifted some street blockades. They had been ready for trouble since street fighting between 7,000 workers and police in La Paz Monday in which one man was killed and 20 injured.

The labor confederation called the strike to protest the deportation of leftist labor leader Juan Lechin. The walkout shut down textile plants, factories, railroads and newspapers in the La Paz area.

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan

(AP) — The toll from the devastating cyclone and tidal wave along the coast of East Pakistan rose again today. Gov. Abdul Monem Khan said latest information indicated more than 13,000 were killed.

The governor said at least $16 million was needed for relief work in the devastated areas.

The cyclone and tidal wave battered eight districts at the mouth of the Ganges River on May 12. Reports of the toll have been coming in slowly because the storm wiped out the area's primitive communications.

An estimated 7 million persons, nearly a fourth of East Pakistan's population, are without shelter.

TOKYO (AP) — A group of Formosans today disbanded an organization that for six years demanded an end to Nationalist Chinese rule of the island and its return to the Formosans.

In a statement announcing its dissolution, the Formosa Democratic Political party threw its support behind Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists.

The party said further campaigns for an independent Formosa would only play into Communist Chinese hands and hurt the people of Formosa.

Madison Nine Upsets Troy

Madison evened its record at 4-4 and made the Oakland A League title path easier for Warren Cousino Wednesday by surprising Troy, 6-4.

Wayne Oakland League leader Milford ventured outside its circuit and for the third time dropped a non-league tilt. Walled Lake scored an eighth-inning run for a 3-2 triumph.

Waterford and Kettering toured the Pontiac Country Club course for 190-295 and 214-216 victories over West Bloomfield and Pontiac North-ers, respectively.

In prep tennis yesterday, Cranbrook nipped Dearborn Edsel Ford, 4-3.

Madison's John Brown singled home the two deciding runs in the sixth inning as Troy lost for the third time in the Oakland A race. Warren Cousino has only one defeat in his bid to repeat as champ champion.

THREE HITS

Singles by Terry Lehman, Don Freeman and Ken Lewis broke up the tight pitcher's duel at Walled Lake. Jack Ward's triple and Randy Cline's double scored Milford's runs.

Waterford's linkmen broke the former school mark by three strokes. Joe Koppekin had 36 and Dale Epper 37. Gary West's 39 led West Bloomfield.

Ex-Doormat Wins 2nd in Softball

Lakeland Pharmacy continued its winning ways in the Waterford Township Men's Softball League last night, but a new name also appeared among the winning teams.

Huron Bowl—led the league's doormat—drubbed Day's Sanitary aided by 10 hits and six runs' errors for its second win in three starts.

Lakeland trimmed Dixie 12-2, for its third straight triumph. The game was called after five innings due to the 10-run lead rule.

Jerry Perna rapped a triple and two singles for Day's nine; but Huron Bowl's John Hanick had two hits to account for four runs and George Paulson and Ray White each added two safeties.

Max Jarrett needed Jim Cuthrell's relief help to nail the pitcher. Lakeland's Ken Spears hurled a two-hitter against Dixie.

Battling support was provided by Jim Attard and Monty Tip-ton who produced half of the winners' eight hits and accounted for five of the 12 runs.

The Pontiac Optimist Club will have registration for its baseball teams in the city's summer boys' recreation program Saturday morning at two locations.

Director Howard Dell announced the T-Ball and Wicket candidates (boys 7-11) will gather at 9 a.m. on the Lincoln Junior High School field.

The boys through 18 who want to play Class F, E or D ball will meet at 10 a.m. at the Columbia Avenue Boys Club.

The Optimist each year sponsor as many teams as are necessary to utilize all those who register. Numerous men, women and mature teen-agers are needed who can work with the boys as coaches and managers.

Dell requests anyone interested in such youth work who has mornings or evenings free to attend one of the registration sessions Saturday or call him at FE 4-2620.

Pitching Prevails in City Softball

The pitchers were in mid-season form last night as the Pontiac recreation softball league opened the 1965 campaign with games in two leagues.

In the American League, Harland Keith scattered four hits as 300 Bowl nipped Pontiac BEPSL, 2-1, and Jake Mazur allowed only three safeties as Spencer Floor trimmed EIKS, No. 810, 9-1.

In the National League, Jim Fisk tossed a one-hitter as Pontiac's Merchants blanked 1 & S Standard, 9-0, and tele Time Bar tumbled in a 5-2 verdict over Francis Coal & Oil.

BEPSL's Roger Reynolds pitched no-hit ball for six innings and gave up only two hits in the game, but 300 Bowl put both safeties together in the seventh to score the winning run.

300 scored its first run in the sixth on three errors. BEPSL's lone tally came in the fourth on Spencer Floor's single and an error.

Prep Mile Champion Plans Full Schedule

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The barefoot youngster in gym shorts walked like a tenderfoot, complaining about gravel as he headed for a tool shed to talk.

The same feet which carried Jim Ryan to a 3:58.3-mile, fastest ever by a school boy, last Saturday performance in the Kansas high school track meet. "It was a little off on the second and third laps but I picked up on the last one."

The national high school mark of 4:06 was set last year by Gary Lindgren of Spokane, Wash. Ryan's time must be certified by the National High School Activities Association, which meets this summer.

FEW DATES
Ryan says he doesn't have much time for dates. He attends services at a Church of Christ here three times a week.

The 6-foot, 1-inch youth plans to run in three invitational meets in California in the next month — at Modesto, Compton, and the Golden West meet at Sacramento.

"It would be nice to go to Russia for the United States-Russian dual," he said, "but you have to place in the top two spots in the National AAU to get that trip. I don't know whether I can do that."

Ryan admitted that constant training gets to be a grind in winter months, but snow and ice don't stop his morning workouts.

"In the spring and summer I'm running in competition, and I get to travel," he said. "Then I know it's worthwhile."

His school classes include physics, psychology and drafting. He hasn't thought much about the future, but said "I might study engineering or for a coaching career. I don't know yet."

"Right now I'm able to keep up with the school work. I make A's and B's in my grades, mostly B's."

He will graduate May 31 and plans to enroll at the University of Kansas where his old high school mentor, Bob Timmons, was recently named head track coach.

SOPH HURDLER — Bill Tipton, Pontian Central hurdler, will be one of the few sophomores competing in the state class A track finals Saturday at Michigan State. He qualified for the finals by winning the high hurdles in the regional in 14.9 seconds.

Football Mentors Seek More Tenders

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — The Big Ten's spring business meeting opens today with athletic directors studying a demand by football coaches for an increase in football tenders.

The conference now allows 30 football scholarships and in a joint meeting of coaches and directors' Wednesday, the coaches insisted that the maximum of 30 worked a hardship in recruit.

Track Showdown for Avon

The Oakland A track championship will be decided next Wednesday in the league meet at Fitzgerald.

Avondale set the stage for a big showdown with the Spartans by whipping Troy, 84-25, yesterday. Cranbrook took the measure of Redford Union, 61-48, in another meet.

Dan McCoskey set a new record in the pole vault and Dale Stanley established a new standard in the mile as Avondale upped its league dual meet record to 6-1.

Fitzgerald has the same record. Avondale will have to finish higher in the league meet than the Spartans to win the championship.

McCoskey cleared 115 in the vault and Stanley ran the mile in 4:34.5. Ken Heibel won both hurdles for Avondale, finished third in the long jump and ran a leg on the winning 880 relay team.

McCoskey was second in the low hurdles and third in the long jump and high hurdles.

THE BREAKER
Cranbrook and Redford Union were tied with 43 points when Dan Dowling led the Cranes in a sweep of the low hurdles and started his team to victory.

The Cranes finished the job by winning the 880 relay. Cranbrook won only five events, but nine seconds piled up the points.

The title relay team was first, Greg Dearth won the 440 in 53.0 and Tom Van Horn took the high jump.

World Record Fails to Win Pistol Title

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A world record center-fire pistol performance by a teammate failed to stop Sgt. I. C. William B. Blankenship from winning the U.S. international championship in the event.

The Richlands, Va., resident fired 592 of a possible 600 Wednesday to compile a three-day total of 1,781.

Sgt. Blankenship's U.S. Army Marksmanship Training Unit teammate, Sgt. I. C. Ralph O. Thompson of Milwaukee, Wis., surpassed the current world record by one and the course record by two in firing a 598. However, his total score was only 1,774.

ABC Bowlers From Detroit Score Well

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Detroit bowlers have made significant changes in the top standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Ontario Brugnini and Jim Rutkowski combined for a 1,274 total Wednesday to take third place in the regular division doubles. Buzz Boller and Dan Slak of Milwaukee lead the division with 1,300.

Bob Korn and Mack Anselmi tied for fifth place in the professional doubles division with 1,259.

Tony Loiacano took fifth place in the regular all-events with a nine-game total of 1,884. Loiacano shot 638 in the team event, 595 in the doubles and 651 in the singles.

NEW PARTNER

Hal Jolley who in 1964 took the classic doubles title with Bob Strampe, came in with a new partner, Bob Goike, and they combined for 1,172 pins, far down the list of leaders.

Les Zikes Jr., of Chicago, who has won three straight ABC regular all-events titles, will be trying for his fourth successive championship Thursday night.

Zikes last year posted 2,001 for nine-games and is the last of the nine 1964 ABC champions to defend a title. The other eight failed.

Influenced by Tigers?

ADRIAN (AP) — Adrian, which split its first eight doubleheaders this season, lost a twin bill to Alma Wednesday, 10-7 and 4-3.

Both MIAA games went into extra innings.

Top Aides Testifying Too Much — Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today took too much of the time of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other top officials, Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said today.

"These men have a legitimate complaint when they point out that they spend about a third of their time up here," Scott told the Joint Senate House Committee considering a reorganization of congressional machinery.

"To discharge their enormous responsibilities as national security advisers to the President when they are required to run up here so frequently."

These top officials now must appear before both House and Senate committees many times a year to report the same testimony and requests, Scott noted.

He suggested more joint sessions of such panels as those on defense and foreign relations to take needed testimony.

SEPARATE SESSIONS

The Senate and House committees could resume their separate sessions later to act on the legislation and other matters involved, he said. Scott also suggested that each senator and representative might have a staff member joining him on all major committees.

Republicans have been denied a fair representation on many committee staffs by the preponderance of Democratic majorities, Scott said.

"With the hectic schedule under which we operate now, a senator or congressman is not properly equipped to evaluate the complex legislation that comes before his committees without adequate staff," he said.

Scott said he also favored a change in Senate rules so that 51 senators — a majority — could limit debate and force a vote on major issues. Present rules require a two-thirds majority of those voting to do this, or 67 if all 100 senators are present.

Three maids, a butler, a chauffeur and a gardener sleeping in another wing of the mansion were unaware of the robbers' presence.

Royal Pair Begins Tour of Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip set off for a trip up the Rhine River today, starting a nine-day tour of West Germany and Berlin.

Crowds gathered along the roads far ahead of the time to watch and cheer the royal couple as they drove past on their way to Coblenz. There they boarded the ship Lorelei for their river excursions below the Rhine's famous high castles.

The royal motorcade left the Petersberg Hotel, where the queen had lived during her visit to the capital. Before departing the queen and Prince Philip received official officials of the town of Koenigsweier, where the queen was to be entertained by the Petersberg Hotel, and signed the town's golden book.

Coblenz citizens turned out by the tens of thousands to see the queen drive up to the Lorelei, gleaming white and festooned with flowers and greens, and waved.

WAVE TO CROWDS

The queen and Philip, in an open limousine, waved to a throng of thousands who cheered and waved back, many with paper British and German flags in their hands.

After British and German anthems, the queen was welcomed in German by Minister President Peter Altmeppen of the State of Rhineland-Palatinate. An aide whispered a running translation.

In reply, the queen, speaking in English, recalled the ties between Germany and England and particularly the fact that the first steamboat to sail the Rhine, much to the local astonishment, was built in 1816, was a British ship.

"For the past 50 years," she continued "we have heard too much of the things that have divided us. Now let us think of the things that unite us."

Wants Speed Dead-Line

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A state representative has proposed that any member of the House who speaks longer than three minutes be "shot, stuffed and displayed in a glass case in the state museum."

The order, issued yesterday by Rep. James S. Erwin, also stipulated that the legislator be hung around the neck of such executed legislators.

"Here I am, fore'er enshrined, my mouth is open, my teeth are shined; my colleagues' treatment less than kind, 'I talked them all dead, dumb and blind."

The proposal was cheerfully killed as soon as it was read.

Bolivia Strike Nears Accord

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — The tin miners' antigovernment "general strike" which precipitated this week's crisis here was reported near settlement today.

The nationalized mines were still shut down, but a delegation from the union was discussing terms for a settlement with officials of the interior ministry. It appeared probable the strike would end this week.

Bank employees, school teachers and oilworkers here, who struck in sympathy with the miners, returned to work yesterday. Troops were withdrawn from union offices and other public buildings.

The tin miners struck in protest against the handiwork last week of their extreme-left leader, former vice president Juan Lechin. The government countered by proclaiming a "state of siege" and depositing all of the nation's principal union leaders.

Ballot elections to replace the deposed leaders are to be held within 40 days.

Airman Dies, 2 Hurt as Bomber Crashes

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — A LITTLE ROCK B-58 Hustler bomber crashed and burned on landing at Little Rock Air Force Base early today, killing one crewman and injuring the other two.

The victim was Capt. Steve Kitcher Jr., 37, the navigator, of Ellerslie, Ala. Witnesses said he ejected as the plane disintegrated on the runway and the ejection capsule hit as the chute opened.

Kitcher was still in the capsule and was killed on impact.

The pilot, Capt. R. L. Semann, 33, of Grove City, Ohio, and 1st Lt. Ronald T. Smetek, 33, of Detroit, both rode out the supersonic jet as it broke up and skidded 5,000 feet down the runway.

They ran from the craft as it caught fire and suffered only minor burns.

Jane Fonda Aids French-U.S. Relations

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD With pouty face, long, lily-hued tresses and hip hugging pants, she looked like the latest movie star from France as she strolled down the steps to the Beverly Hills hotel pool. But when she spoke, the tones were not left bank but East-coast U.S. finishing school. She is Jane Fonda, daughter of that most American of film stars, Henry Fonda.

The French influence is no doubt the result of Jane's romance with the French people and, on a personal basis, with Roger Vadim, the mentor and one-time husband of Brigitte Bardot. He has been visiting Jane here.

The second generation actress, on a day off from the Marlon Brando film "The Chase," took a poolside table and talked about such things as France and being a second generation actress.

IMPROVE RELATIONS
If anything can improve our relations with France, perhaps

It can be Jane. Reports from Paris indicate that she has been well received as any American since Ben Franklin — well, Eddie Constantine, anyway. "It's very simple: my father," she replied. "I knew he was popular, but I never realized what a hold he had on Europeans. He is loved everywhere, even in Russia, where 'War and Peace' and 'Grapes of Wrath' were very popular. They love him in France and other countries because he made social pictures."

"That admiration was naturally transferred to me. And I couldn't be more grateful," Jane admitted there might be other elements as well, such as the fact that she didn't just pass through France. She stayed. She not only established herself in a Paris apartment; she bought a farm 45 minutes from the city and converted it to a home for herself. She still has both — as well as her own New York apartment and a rented house at Malibu.

NOT EXPATRIATE
"But I'm not an expatriate by any means," she added. "I still am very much American and will stay that way."

La Fonda made two pictures in France, but it remained for a basic American horse opera to shift her career into high gear. She stars in "Cat Ballou," a raucous, rip-snorting Western that has drawn as many critical huzzas as any film in 1965 so far.

NEW EXPERIENCE
"It's quite a new experience for me," said Jane. "I've been in films that made money but got poor reviews. I've been in films that got good reviews but weren't well received. This is the first time I seem to be in a picture that gets both."

"I'm still a bit amazed. None of us thought the script offered much, and we weren't sure what we had when we finished. The picture only lasted 28 days. Apparently it has a quality that will pay off."

So does Jane Fonda, apparently. She is curving her own career without fighting the fact that she is daughter of a star far from it.

"Being Henry Fonda's daughter has done me nothing but good in this business," she declared. "I couldn't be more grateful."

Pierre's Wife Seeks Divorce
Suit Filed Last Week in Arkansas Court

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — Pierre Salinger, press secretary to the late President John F. Kennedy, and his wife have taken the first step toward an expected divorce.

The divorce action was discovered in Chancery Court Wednesday by a reporter who recognized the names.

The suit was filed last week by Nancy Salinger, the former Nancy Brook Joy of Falls Church, Va. She contends that Salinger treated her with general indignities, sufficient grounds for divorce in Arkansas.

Salinger, in California, said he would not contest the suit. Mrs. Salinger could not be reached for comment.

PARIS WRITER
Salinger, 39, announced in London May 8 that he and Nicole Helene Gillman, 26, a writer for a Paris magazine, were married when the divorce from his second wife became final.

He said he met Miss Gillman during his unsuccessful race for the U.S. Senate in California, a seat won by actor George Murphy.

Salinger and his present wife had no children. He had three children — Marc, 16; Suzanne, 13; and Stephen, 12 — by a previous marriage, which also ended in divorce. The children are not subject to a custody ruling in this case since they are Salinger's by previous marriage.

Chancery Judge Sam Garrett said he expected he would hand down a routine divorce decree at the end of a 30-day period required by Arkansas law if Mrs. Salinger met the state's 60-day residency requirement. She can do this by keeping an address in her name in Arkansas for 60 days without living here.

Star of TV Series Divorces Husband
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Kathleen Nolan, star of the "Broadside" and "The Real McCoys" television series, was granted an interlocutory divorce decree yesterday from Richard Heckenkamp.

Miss Nolan, who charged Heckenkamp with mental cruelty, waived alimony. She was given custody of the couple's son, Spencer, 1.

Patricia Neal Returns Home

Film Star Admits She May Never Act Again

LONDON (AP) — Film star Patricia Neal came home today to recuperate from three near-fatal strokes and conceded "I may never act again."

The 39-year-old, American-born actress was accompanied by her husband, British writer Ronald Dahl; her three children, and two governesses.

Wearing a black patch over her left eye and a steel and leather brace on her right leg, she told newsmen at the airport.

"They expected me to die, but I am continuing to tick. I may never act again. I would like to, but I may not be able to. If I can't, I suppose I will settle down to being just a wife."

3 STROKES

The three strokes left Miss Neal—an Oscar winner for 1963 for her portrayal of the slatternly housekeeper in "Hud"—partly paralyzed and with her speech impaired.

Miss Neal predicted when she left Los Angeles Monday "I'll be back to work in a year."

"I am having to learn reading and writing all over again," Miss Neal said. "I can't read very well because things just do not seem to connect at the moment."

"I don't think I could cook, either. But I doubt it will all come back."

LEAVE BY CAR

After clearing customs, the family party left by car for their home at Missenden in nearby Buckinghamshire.

"While we have been away it has all been completely decorated and renovated," said Miss Neal. "I am looking forward tremendously to being home again. It has been a long time."

List Finances of LBJ Station

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surplus and reserves exceeding $3.5 million have been reported to the Federal Communications Commission in a license renewal application by radio-television interests principally owned by President Johnson's family.

A new subsidiary, Austin Management Co., is also listed. It "operates business equipment" and has real estate holdings," the report noted.

Johnson's wife and her two daughters own 85 per cent of the stock in Texas Broadcasting Co., which owns KTCB AM-FM-TV in Austin, Tex., and has a stock interest in six other radio and television stations.

An application for the renewal of the KTCB license, required by the FCC every three years, has been filed. The reports are part of the requirements for renewal.

The President's family placed its stock in the hands of two trustees shortly after Johnson became President.

The report submitted listed total assets as of March 31 of $4,138,422 plus capital stock of $17,000, leaving total surplus and reserves of $3,703,091.

Tentative Settlement

WHITMORE LAKE (AP) — A tentative contract settlement was reached Wednesday in a 19-day-old strike of 250 workers at Hoover Chemical Division of Hoover Ball and Bearing Co. Local 408 of the United Auto Workers voted today whether to accept the agreement and return to work.

Retired Bishop Dies

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Howard R. Brinker, 71, Episcopal bishop of Nebraska from 1940 until his retirement in 1962, died Wednesday.

2 Appointments to Planning Unit Are Approved

Two appointments to the City Planning Commission have been approved by the City Commission.

William F. Davis, 78 Bagley, was reappointed to a three-year term expiring March 27, 1968. Robert Norberg, 182 W. Chicago, was newly appointed to the planning board. Norberg, an assistant vice president at Community National Bank, will serve a similar three-year term.

Appointments to the City Planning Commission are made by the city manager, subject to confirmation by the City Commission.

Norberg succeeds Wayne Weber, 616 Third, who did not seek reappointment.

College Mud Fight Ends With 4 Hurt

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — About 300 students took part in an hour-long water and mud fight on the Washington University campus Wednesday night and four were injured.

Daniel Scheffing, 18, dislocated a shoulder when he fell. William Sample, 18, slipped after he was doused with water and broke an ankle. Lewis Stein, 18, was hit by a car while watching the battle, and Miss Donna Goldman, 18, suffered an eye injury when hit by a mud ball.

The battle began when girls started dropping water-filled balloons and pouring water from dormitory windows on men students. The men retaliated with a garden hose.

Columnist Reveals Feet Are Measure of Glamour

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — We columnists get some crazy mail . . . a mother writes plaintively that her teen-age daughter's worried about her big feet . . . and it is true that certain glamorous girls have large feet . . . and would I please say so in the papers?

WILSON

Yes, dear lady, it's true. It's chic to admit you're "over 9."

Jackie Kennedy steps chirily, delicately into a size 10 . . . Lauren Bacall into a 9½. Candy Jones, the model-authoress, remembers that her feet expanded two sizes, from 8 to 10, when she entertained troops (probably from wearing combat boots). Tina Louise of "Gulligan's Island," who's a big girl all over, wears size 10 on her left foot, and 9½ on her right.

Glamour gal Samantha Eggar, who's expecting, flew off to London with her husband Tom Stern who said to me, "I will be the father of the only child that's gone around the world before it was born. It will probably be born air sick."

Irving Berlin, who was 77 on May 11, thanked co-producer Leland Hayward for birthday greetings and added, "It's good to be 77 again. I was much older during 'Mr. President.'"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Frank Sinatra's first N.Y. stop was, as usual, Jilly's (where a huge banner hangs outside, advertising his film, "Von Ryan's Express") . . . Lou Black's, in the Hotel Tat, will give way to the "Killer Joe International Discotheque," opening June 3. It'll star "Killer Joe" Piro and a discotheque revue.

Wealthy Harry Leeb dined in one corner of Danny's, his estranged wife Maxine in another (but he paid both checks) . . . Arthur Godfrey'll make his movie debut in a Doris Day epic, "The Glass-Bottomed Boat" . . . At the Voinis: Lynda Bird Johnson and Charlotte Ford.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The owner of a midtown cafe complained about business: "Things have become so bad that I've stopped watching the bartender."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: At Sid Allen's they mentioned a tight-fisted Broadwayite: "It took him six months to discover he'd lost his Diners Club card."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Experience is the cheapest thing a person can buy—if he's smart enough to get it second-hand."

—Pie Lanyon.

EARL'S PEARLS: The entertaining DuPont show at the Fair mentions nylon: "A product that changed the lives of all of us—and the legs of half of us."

Alleged Numbers Racket Smashed; 9 City Residents Arrested

Agents of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and police yesterday raided 13 locations, including 10 in Pontiac, and crushed an alleged $2-million-per-year numbers racket.

Eleven persons were arrested, including the alleged ring leader, Angelo (Barrel) Lombardi of Detroit, who in October 1963 was named by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards as a section leader in the Mafia, an international crime syndicate.

Nine of the 11 persons arrested are Pontiac residents.

The raids were conducted simultaneously at 4:15 p.m. yesterday by 62 IRS agents, State Troopers and members of the Detroit, Pontiac and Oak Park police departments.

In addition to the arrests, agents and officers confiscated gambling apparatus and records, eight pistols, $1,500 in bills and 80 pounds of coins.

ARRESTED AT HOME

Lombardi, 37, was arrested at his home in Detroit, one of the alleged main offices of the operation, according to John Olzewski, chief of the intelligence division of the IRS.

Another leader in the ring, Mrs. Geraldine Winderman, 47, was arrested at her home at 23250 Berkley, Oak Park, also described as a main office by IRS agents.

Those arrested in Pontiac were Vennie Wright, 39, of 470 S. Edith; Vernon Reynolds, 31, of 173 Green; Walter McKinney, 45, of 40 Bagley; Della Gaston, 45, of 587 Colorado, and Mrs. Randolph Crump, 41, of 486 Kuhn.

Randolph Crump, 41, and Robert Chenault, 59, of 276 Howard McNeil, were both arrested at Hazel Park Race Track.

DURIN GRAIDS

W. C. Wilson, 41, of 313 Fisher, was arrested at a service station in Detroit. James W. Ward, 49, of 267 S. Marshall, was also arrested during the raids.

Lombardi has served two years in prison, according to Olzewski, for violation of state gambling laws.

McKinney, Randolph Crump, Wilson and Chenault have all been previously arrested in Pontiac on gambling charges.

Lombardi and Mrs. Winderman will both be charged with failing to purchase a federal gambling stamp and failing to file a monthly federal excise tax return, both misdemeanors.

The rest, who were described by Olzewski as policy slip writers and pickup men, will be charged with failing to purchase the gambling stamp.

They were all scheduled to appear in Federal District Court, in Detroit today before Judge Wade McGee.

Pakistani Jet Crashes Near Cairo; 120 Die

Six Survive Tragedy in Desert; At Least One American Killed

CAIRO (AP) — A Pakistani jetliner inaugurating Karachi to London service crashed in desolate desert sands near Cairo airport today, killing 120 of the 126 persons aboard.

Airline officials said one or more Americans perished in the flaming crash. Identification was not immediately available.

The airline said that of the 115 passengers, 93 were listed as Pakistanis, 12 Chinese and 10 other foreigners, whose nationality was listed as U.S., Canadian, Lebanese and Egyptian.

The American-built jetliner's 11 crewmen died in the crash.

All six survivors were Pakistanis. Two were employees of the Pakistan International Airline and another was a Pakistani.

Deputies Dig Up Facts in Earthly Avon Theft

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department is conducting a down-to-earth investigation today to weed out a thief who cut and stole 700 yards of sod from a sod farm at 2601 Crooks, Avon Township, sometime before dawn yesterday.

Farm owner Glen Hadfield, 1588 Auburn, Avon Township, said he had no idea who stole the sod or how the thief escaped with such a large haul.

Dominican Rebels Urged to Surrender

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican junta claimed "absolute control" of the country last night and called for unconditional surrender of the rebels.

"We have absolute control of the Dominican Republic," the junta president, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, told a rally of about 1,000 cheering middle- and upper-class followers inside the U.S.-occupied international zone of Santo Domingo.

"We don't want a truce. Out with communism," the crowd shouted.

The weatherman will behave himself tonight and tomorrow, but watch out for Saturday. Partly cloudy skies with warmer temperatures are planned for us through tomorrow. Scattered showers or thundershowers are predicted Saturday.

Tonight, a low of 45 to 54 is expected. Tomorrow, the mercury will move up to 70 to 78.

Today in Pontiac and the surrounding area, winds are from the southeast at light velocities, usually between 6 and 14 miles an hour.

Today's early low was 45, recorded downtown. The thermometer noted a high of 73 at 1 p.m.

Romney Rules Both Guilty of Gross Neglect

Governor Emphasizes No Criminal Action Involved in Case

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney fired Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert today, although finding both guilty of gross neglect of duty.

Romney removed McDonald as state adjutant general.

Neifert, who was quartermaster general under McDonald, was given a seven-month suspension.

But Romney said the suspension would be retroactive to last November and Neifert would be reinstated as of June 8.

McDonald and his attorney, Thomas McAllister, declined specific comment, but said they would have a statement later.

FACES CHOICE

Romney gave McDonald 10 days to choose between losing his federal status as a major general, or retaining that status as a colonel and being reassigned as a Michigan National Guard officer.

Neifert attempted to shake hands with McDonald after Romney announced his decision, but did not succeed.

Neifert said perhaps McDonald did not see him.

Romney read a half-hour statement reviewing testimony from his 93-hour hearing for the two.

Sales Brighten First Quarter

Car Profits Best Since 1955

DETROIT (AP) — Record new car sales helped dealers post their biggest profit margin in 10 years in the opening quarter of 1965.

So reported the Nation Automobile Dealers Association today in its quarterly assessment of how the nation's auto dealers are faring.

Profits before federal taxes in the three-month period averaged $125 per new unit sold, or 2.6 per cent of total sales, NADA said.

The figure was the highest for an opening quarter since 1955, when the industry average hit 3.1 per cent.

The healthy 1965 first quarter figures compared with $108 or 2.2 per cent in the comparable period last year.

The upswing in first quarter profits continued a trend that began in 1962, since then the climb has been uninterrupted.

NADA said one of the bright spots in the dealer picture was the fact that only 2.4 per cent of all dealers showed an operating loss in the first quarter, compared with 8 per cent in the opening quarter last year.

The used car market also showed more firmness than a year ago, NADA said. The average used car selling price climbed to $832, the highest average recorded in 15 years. It stood at $866 at this point a year ago.

Supplementing the NADA report, the trade publication Automotive News made its own survey of dealer operations for April and said over 80 per cent of those polled said their April, 1965 profits ran ahead of a year ago.

Auto Makers Vow Tax Refunds

DETROIT (AP) — All four auto manufacturers assured new car buyers today they would be given refunds covering any reductions in car excise taxes.

General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and American Motors all pledged refunds.

The auto makers' moves were intended to remove any hesitancy on the part of potential buyers who might hold up on new car purchases until Congress approves the tax cut.

President Johnson proposed last Saturday that the 10 per cent auto excise tax should be cut to seven per cent, retroactive to last Saturday.

The auto firms sent letters to their dealers for relay to the public. The letters assure refund of any tax reduction retroactive to persons buying cars on and after last Saturday.

Letters from all five GM passenger divisions to their dealers told specifically how GM would make the refunds.

"General Motors would be permitted to make application to the federal government for a refund of the federal excise tax on behalf of each eligible retail purchaser who accepts delivery of a new GM car on and after the date of retroactivity and until the date the reduced rate is applicable to sales by manufacturers," the letter said.

In a separate note to dealers, GM explained that if and when the tax cuts become effective, each customer will be asked to fill out a form certifying his purchase and requesting the refund.

VISIT COLLEGE — John E. Terrell, president of the Oakland Community College (left) yesterday escorted two county physicians around the Highland Lakes campus at the former TB sanatorium, now undergoing extensive remodeling. The doctors, Dr. Frank

J. Condon (center), deputy director of the county health department, and Dr. William F. Fidler, TB control officer of the department, were invited to the campus to dispel rumors that the building is not safe to the health of students.

Physician Dispels Fears Ex-TB Facility Dangerous

Fears that the health of students who will attend the Oakland Community College branch in the former TB sanatorium would be in danger were dispelled yesterday by two county physicians.

College officials said that reports are being widely circulated that the facility is contaminated.

"Naturally these are old wives' tales but they certainly are not doing us any good," said a college spokesman.

Purchased from the county for $327,000 the former TB facility is presently undergoing extensive remodeling. Classrooms are expected to be ready for occupancy this fall.

Dr. Frank J. Condon, deputy director of the Oakland County Health Department, and Dr. William F. Fidler, TB control officer for the county, dismissed the rumors after a visit to the campus.

"The idea and theory that transmission of tuberculosis is not inanimate sources," would occur through contact with buildings has been discredited for many years," said Condon.

"Diseases such as this used to be thought as communicable by air but that idea went out with the model T," he added.

"There should not be a moment's hesitation under any considerations as far as people being reluctant to walk right in and conduct a college or school."

Fidler, who supervised the conversion of a 375-bed tuberculosis hospital at Howell to a home for retarded children, said:

23 Injured as Market Roof Falls

NEW YORK (AP) — "All of a sudden, it was like a bomb fell down," says the meat section manager who was serving customers when the roof of a Brooklyn supermarket collapsed and rained tons of concrete slabs and plaster debris onto customers and clerks.

The manager, Sam Kinkor, 61, and his four women customers fled through one of the broken windows.

Twenty-three persons — most by women shoppers — were injured. Most of them were treated at hospitals. Four were admitted.

INSPECTS RUINS

"It's a miracle no one was killed," Fire Commissioner Martin Scott said after inspecting the ruins of the Food Queen Supermarket in the Bessborough section Wednesday.

Mary Rossi, a shopkeeper on the other side of the street, said: "My God, it was awful. I was standing in front of my store when the roof seemed to blow up right in front of me. The windows blew into the street and women and children ran out."

Other witnesses told of seeing hysterical women and children running from the store.

About 50 customers — mostly women and children — in 13 employees were in the store when the roof collapsed.

SEARCH THROUGH NIGHT

Although police and fire officials thought no one was buried under the rubble, scores of men searched through the night with the aid of flood lights.

Two firemen working in the wreckage suffered minor injuries when hit by a falling girder.

Harold Birns, city commissioner of buildings, sent inspectors to investigate. Dist. Atty. Antonio Kostka promised an investigation.

A disaster may have been averted by the fact that the building had two stories, and the force of the falling concrete and other debris was cushioned by the ceiling of the store. The roof was being waterproofed by workmen at the time. A small piece of the roof where the men were working did not collapse. They were not injured.

PRESSURE OF COLLAPSE

The pressure of the collapse blew out three of the supermarket's show windows with such force that many persons in the area thought there had been an explosion.

The building had been converted from a movie theater 12 years ago. The second floor housed offices.

Training Grant Will Aid 1,000

A federal grant of $271,200 to be used to improve the employability of 200 Oakland County welfare families was announced today by Rep. Billie S. Farnum.

The grant released by the welfare administration department of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare was earmarked for the State Department of Social Welfare.

It will be administered by the Oakland County Bureau of Social Aid.

Some 1,000 family members are included in the 200 cases benefiting from the grant.

The grant will finance training in various skills supplemented by job experience.

It will begin June 15 and continue for a year.

The idea behind the employability improvement program is to help unemployed persons compete in the labor market, according to Ora L. Hinckley, director of the Bureau of Social Aid.

Guard General Fired by Romney; 2nd Reinstated

One student here charged with any criminal act.

He added, "I find nothing that would indicate either profited personally from these activities."

Romney said, however, the conclusion was inescapable that McDonald and Neifert were guilty of gross neglect of duty and misfeasance. He added malfeasance for McDonald.

The charges, stemming from an auditor general's investigation, involved land transactions at Camp Grayling and use of local army funds to buy items for the camp and Lansing headquarters.

ILLEGAL DEALS

In the case of the land transactions, Romney said McDonald acted in spite of an attorney general's opinion that the deals were illegal.

The governor said McDonald failed to bring the opinion to the attention of the State Military Board, which approved the deals.

He added that neither general presented the deals accurately to the board.

Romney fired both McDonald and Neifert last Oct. 8, but on advice of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley reinstated them last Nov. 6.

They then were suspended without pay by Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, National Guard commander.

USW Leader to Quit Quietly

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald will step down as president of the United Steelworkers Union next month without the fight he promised.

McDonald announced Wednesday that he was withdrawing his protests to the union's Feb. 9 election in which he was narrowly defeated by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

Although associates said he still believes he won, McDonald told newsmen he was backing out to avoid a lengthy legal wrangle that could weaken the union in its current contract talks with basic steel.

The negotiations, now facing a possible Sept. 1 strike date, were twice interrupted by the bitter Abel-McDonald struggle.

GUIDED UNION

McDonald, 62, who once tolled for 22 cents an hour in mills where steelworkers now make more than $3.60 an hour, guided his union to some of its best contracts and through its longest strike in 1959-1960 days.

During his 12-year reign he negotiated the first comprehensive profit-sharing plan and won

But despite their handshake and the absence of their former bitterness, there were indications that the old order already was changing.

One of McDonald's chief contributions was continuous, year-round bargaining, conducted by the joint union-industry human relations committee. It was responsible for writing the 1963 contract without reopening the old one, a first for basic steel.

FINAL DECISION

McDonald said he made his final decision Wednesday afternoon as the international executive board was convening at his request to hear his protests.

He acknowledged that the pro-Abel board probably would have voted against him, forcing him to institute a lengthy fight by seeking help from the U. S. Labor Department.

However, close associates said the clincher was a guarantee from Abel that there would be no purge of McDonald supporters, either staffmen or top echelon advisers. In his campaign Abel criticized the "handful of lawyers and experts" who he said had taken over the union.

NO COMPROMISE

Cannano also refused to meet with Imbert, contending that any compromise with the junta would violate rebel demands for a return to the 1963 constitution.

However, a spokesman for the U.N. peace mission said both the junta and the rebels have agreed in principle to a 12-hour cease-fire tomorrow to let the Red Cross remove dead and wounded from the fighting zone. The spokesman added that detailed agreements with each side still must be worked out.

Shooting tapered off last night, but there apparently were rebel holdouts in the northern area. Imbert told a newsmen the battle would be over by the week-end.

Asked if his forces would try to storm the rebel stronghold downtown, the junta chief said, "That's next week's problem."

A junta spokesman said 800 rebel prisoners had been taken in the battle in the northern suburbs.

REPORT 30 DEAD

Hospitals reported 30 dead in the fighting, but some estimates placed the total at more than 100 including civilians.

Newsmen driving through the area said tanks had demolished some homes where rebels were believed barricaded. Many homes were scarred by machine-gun and cannon fire, they said.

extended 13-week vacations for senior workers in the first minimum, then the can and steel industries.

One of his abiding interests was the problems of older workers and those who had retired. It was an interest that came from seeing an illness kill his father who was still at work in the mills at 72.

McDonald was one of the first labor leaders to win pension increases for workers long retired. His own pension, when he steps out June 1, will be $25,000 a year. As president he was paid $50,000.

PRaises RIVAL

Abel praised McDonald Wednesday at their joint news conference.

"Under your leadership we have made outstanding progress. I want you to know that these contributions are not only appreciated today but will be down through the years."

But despite their handshake and the absence of their former bitterness, there were indications that the old order already was changing.

52 PASSENGERS

The flight was scheduled to pickup 52 additional passengers, all guests of the airline, at Cairo for the remainder of the flight to Geneva and London.

Capt. Akhtar Ali Khan, pilot of the four-engine jet, reported engine trouble and a fire in the landing gear minutes before the crash.

The plane, a Boeing 720B, was inaugurating the airline's new Karachi to London route. Among the passengers were 62 newsmen, airline officials and other invited guests. The same plane had made three previous flights over the route.

'Shoot Me!' Begs Convict

A former mental patient begged to be shot yesterday when he tried to escape only minutes after being convicted of an armed robbery in Pontiac.

Captured immediately after jumping from a patrol car was Jerry L. Barnes, 23, of Pontiac.

Barnes was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury of holding up the Ferry Food Market, 1228 N. Fairway on Halloween night 1962, in which he sentenced June 8.

Sheriff's Deputy Jack Davis was escorting Barnes back to the county jail when he leaped from the car in the courthouse parking lot.

"He ran about 30 feet, then turned around and pleaded with me to shoot him," said Davis.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Barnes admitted the $20 robbery after being arrested the following day by Pontiac Detective Thomas Mitchell. Barnes was sent to Pontiac State Hospital and then later on after an attempted suicide in jail while awaiting a court hearing.

In December he walked away from Pontiac and turned up in Decatur, Ill., where he was extradited and ordered to stand trial.

Recent Successes Lend Hope

May Yet Reverse Viet Record of Failure

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
SAIGON - In Viet Nam's ancient royal capital of Hue, the Perfume River, a street banner pays tribute to a Buddhist monk who incinerated himself a year ago in an anti-government demonstration. Another banner proclaims elections at the end of this month. Both have significance.

And in Saigon, 430 miles to the south, in a quiet air-conditioned office on Thong Nhat (reconciliation) Street, an outwardly serene man labors amid the crossfire on Buddhist, Catholic and military rivalries to give to South Viet Nam the political stability it must have to win over Communist Viet Cong aggression.

He is Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat, a former foreign minister and veteran of a succession of governments which followed the fall of slain president Ngo Dinh Diem.

A more vigorous U.S. military policy against Communist aggression from the north and limited successes of the new government have given rise to a cautious optimism that a record of failure in South Viet Nam may yet be reversed.

The new government, in office since last February, has ordered elections to be held May 30 in all towns, districts and provinces that are secured from the Viet Cong.

ARE QUIET

The Buddhists, whose fiery self-destruction and violent demonstrations in the streets of Hue and Saigon toppled or helped to topple six governments after the fall of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime in November 1963, for the moment are quiet.

Both Catholic and Buddhist leaders have promised the government their cooperation.

Neutrality, on the rise during 16 months of political chaos, is receding.

Buddhist leaders once suspected of seeking a peace with Communist North Viet Nam at any price, had warned Buddhist youth against Communist-inspired peace groups and have strongly denounced Communist aggression.

GIVE SUPPORT

The two South Vietnamese generals, without whom it is said no government coup could succeed, both have declared their support for the new prime minister and say that his is a good government.

They are Maj. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, energetic commander of I Corps in the north, and Maj. Gen. Nguyen Cao Khe, commander of the Air Force.

Both declare they are weary of coups.

And a campaign to win elections from the Viet Cong is having at least some small success.

FACELESS WAR

The Viet Cong fights a faceless war. It may be a grenade tossed into a crowded Saigon restaurant or a sudden ambush alongside a highway.

But he is a sophisticated fighter.

His table of organization includes a government in being, ready to take over, from the hamlet, district and province to the highest level.

In the provinces which they control, the Viet Cong levy the taxes, run the schools and function as an organized government.

EXCUSE TERRORISM

They excuse terrorism as the fight against a government which is the enemy of the people.

Among a people tired of more than 20 years of war and neglected by their government, they find willing listeners.

Their battle, fought with the active support of Communist North Viet Nam under the guise of nationalism and with the more indirect support of Red China and the Soviet Union, has the same goals as that of the South Vietnamese government supported by the United States.

More than geography, the fight is for control and the loyalty of a people.

DISTRIBUTE VACCINES

When a cholera epidemic threatened provinces under their control in the Mekong River Delta not long ago, they distributed anti-cholera vaccines.

But when persuasion fails, then terrorism also is a ready weapon.

Viet Cong kidnappings in the first 28 days of April alone totaled more than 500. In many months, kidnappings and assassinations against the civilian population run over 1,000.

Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat told this correspondent in an interview that South Viet Nam is a "final test" between communism and the free world.

FIRST ASSIGNMENT

And he regarded his own first assignment as one to convince those not already convinced of the true nature of the Viet Cong, to provide security and then to win their loyalty.

Provincial, district and local elections are a first step.

And as part of this effort the United States will pour $285 million this year into economic aid over and above the military effort.

In this effort, more than 300 American civilians risk their lives to assist the Vietnamese at the provincial level and below to set up agricultural, health, educational and other programs.

SPECIAL TARGETS

The Americans are special targets of the Viet Cong. As result of American efforts, a thriving textile industry now employs 80,000 persons on a payroll of around $2 million per month.

Also manufactured are batteries, tires, paints, nettings and pulp paper.

It is the second prong of a U.S. effort which might clearly be called clear-and-hold.

The struggle to preserve the freedom of the South Vietnamese is one unlike any other in which the United States has been so directly involved.

COMPARISONS ARISE

Inevitably comparisons arise, some of them unfavorable to the Vietnamese. The comparisons are valid among a people to whom nationalism still is a vague term and loyalties are to family, region or religion.

In Saigon, an ugly scaffolding rising along the outside walls of the U.S. Embassy is a memorial to a blast touched off by Viet Cong terrorists that killed two Americans and injured scores of others.

The embassy is guarded now by a barricade of concrete and barbed wire.

FEAR VANDALISM

In Kennedy Square, named after John F. Kennedy, a memorial to the late president has been removed to a hidden storage place to protect it against vandalism.

But despite the fact that death lurks on Saigon streets and in its darkened alleys, the war is not to be seen in Saigon with its booming economy.

Water skiers cut the waters of the Saigon River behind fast speedboats. A French cruise ship is anchored at a river pier close to a floating restaurant serving either French or Chinese foods.

Rather, the war is found in the delta or in a frightened village of the highlands or the coastal plain, or in the Da Nang hospital where an American surgical team labors to mend the wounds of the war's civilian victims.

OFTEN INFECTED

Their patients lie two and three to a bed. Since most of the patients come from the countryside, the wounds usually are two and three days old and almost always are infected.

This is the war in South Viet Nam. This, and the 80,000 casualties suffered by the South Vietnamese armed forces in 1963 and 1964 alone.

India exports about 450,000 tons of sugar a year, worth $63 million, Japan is the principal buyer.

Senior Citizens Meet at CAI

Some 312 senior citizens from Oakland, Lapeer and Genesee counties participated in a get-together yesterday at Waterford Township's Community Activities Inc. building in observance of Senior Citizens Month.

Joint hosts for the program were the Waterford Recreation Department and the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Waterford Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin and Mrs. Marion Novess, chairman of the Waterford Recreation Board, spoke to the group.

Purpose of the get-together was to allow members of various community groups to compare programs, develop ideas for new activities and for simple fraternization.

Activities included dancing, cards, shuffleboard and other games. A noon chicken dinner was served.

Also manufactured are batteries, tires, paints, nettings and pulp paper.

Lack of Soviet Aid, Slipshod Methods Hamper China's Industry

EDITOR'S NOTE This is the second of two dispatches by a Canadian reporter who visited 11 industrial establishments in China. The first story described three plants he judged to be good and fair. That seemed indifferent. Today he tells of four he considered bad.

By CHARLES LYNCH

PEKING (AP) The short comings of much of the new industry of China are too apparent to be concealed, and little effort is made here to conceal them, or to pretend that things are going better than they are.

Much of the industry, especially the heavy stuff, dates back less than 16 years, and was built on an economy that was bankrupt or ruined.

Another factor is that the industry of Red China owed as much to the Soviet Union as the industry of today's China owes to the United States. The effect of the Soviet withdrawal in the late 1950s was just as numbing as it would be for U.S. capital and technology to pull abruptly out of Canada.

The numbness still is there, though the proud Chinese try to conceal it and to convince themselves that native genius can prevail over the lack of contact with the industrial world outside.

GLOBAL TREASURE Lacking access to the global treasure chest of 20th century technology, China has been trying to evolve her own, on the theory that if the workers put their heads together, they can come up with answers.

In many cases the answers inevitably are negative. This can be said without casting any slur on the Chinese engineers or workers who were charged with the impossible task of crowding 100 years of technological development into a decade, and who lost their teachers in the midst of the touting up process.

Among plants I have seen, the negative results were most apparent at an automobile factory in Changchun, a railway car factory in the same city, a heavy machinery factory in

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

SPECIAL REPORT

Shenyang, and the electrical machinery plant in Harbin.

The No. 1 automobile factory in Changchun probably is the most photographed plant in China. It was built with photographs in mind, as a symbol of industry as industry should look.

FIRST FLAW

The first flaw is that the factory doesn't produce automobiles. Several years ago, it turned out limousines by a process of hand assembly. These were christened "Red Flag" and are used to this day by government dignitaries and on state occasions.

The part of the factory where the Red Flag was made is closed down — for expansion, it is explained. My interest in this incongruous vehicle — it is hard to imagine a car that China needs less — was such that they wheeled one around for me to ride in. It had been assembled in 1958.

I was driven to this factory, as I have been driven every where I have been, in a little Polish-made sedan sometimes it is Soviet-made and I asked why the factory had not gone in for this practical type of vehicle. I received no more satisfactory answer than that such decisions are made by the state, and not to be questioned at factory level. Besides, they said somewhat defensively, they were experimenting along those lines.

What they are actually producing, and in limited numbers, is the same truck the factory was tooling up to produce nine years ago. This "Liberation" truck is khaki for the army, or green for limited use in the civilian economy. It looks like a North American truck of immediate postwar vintage, and comes in a basic four-ton model, which can be made into an eight-ton version by tacking on a trailer.

The motor is a six-cylinder,

The factory uses 23,000 workers to produce this truck, and claims to turn out 50 per cent per hour shift. At two shifts a day they made 30,000 trucks a year — a drop in the bucket in relation to China's need for work vehicles.

When American author Edgar Snow visited the plant in 1960, he was told that management aimed to increase output to 150,000 in 1962. But production remains rigid where it was in 1960. The plant is doing exactly what the Russians designed and built it to do — no more, no less.

On the road outside the plant the traffic consists largely of aging rickshaws, bending to their loads. Not only are cars a rarity in China, but trucks are too — and the reason can be found at the Changchun factory.

NIGHTMARE The assembly line is a production engineer's nightmare. Gear boxes come off faster than engines. Wheels come along in vast profusion and have to be kept circling like jets over an airport on a foggy day. At some points, the assembly line stops altogether. At no point does it move more than three feet a minute.

In 1956, 81 per cent of the materials in the truck were imported, largely from the Soviet Union. Now, the content is 100 per cent Chinese — but the truck is the same.

The Changchun railway carriage factory, with 4,300 workers, was designed to turn out 1,600 passenger cars a year. To day, the production is less than one car a day, and it is clear that this attractive plant opened 61 years ago has been backsliding.

Morale, according to the management, is high — and there are plans to triple the work force. But those plans, like everything else in this factory, date back to 1959.

At the Shenyang heavy machinery factory, the methods being followed seemed slipshod in the extreme, both in the foundry and in the pressing and machining ends of the business. Again, it was a case of workers going through the motions.

More than 100 big machines, including hydraulic presses of up to 6,000 tons capacity, are said to be produced yearly. They intend to do it in sudden spurts.

The picture was only slightly better at the Harbin electric machinery factory, where they make hydraulic power generators, hydraulic turbines, and steam generators for both alternating and direct current.

GENERATORS EXPORTED

This, too, is a low-volume operation. Production began in 1952 with generators of 800 kilowatts capacity, and now they are up to generators of 100,000 kilowatts capacity. Generators have been exported to Korea, North Viet Nam and Albania.

Some of the heavy machinery is Russian, some British.

This is a highly specialized industry, and it might be said, in view of China's limited experience in the field, that the miracle is that it is being done at all. But with the tools at hand, and with China's crying need for power, and with Chinese ingenuity manifest as it is in other directions, the factory cannot be said to be pulling its weight.

All of which is submitted, as objectively as I know, in response to the invitation to criticize, which was put to me at every factory I visited.

One is left to wonder, in an economy that is entirely state-run, how many of the facts find their way back to the administration level in Peking, where the accounts are kept and the big decisions — and most of the small ones — are made.

Of course there may be a missing part in the puzzle of Chinese industry. Somewhere, in unseen defense establishments, Chinese industrial genius may be blossoming — but I doubt it.

Bride-Elect Feted at Recent Shower

Barbara Ann McGrady of Ft. Knox, Ky., was honored at a recent bridal shower given by Mrs. Roy Best in the Percy King Drive home of Mrs. William Slade.

The bride elect, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Harper McGrady will wed Lt. John A. Morbet, son of the Marcel Morhets of West Walton Boulevard on July 10.

Great New Designs From Old Flowers

Use left-over spring flowers from a large arrangement for miniature designs, recommends the Society of American Florists.

The left overs may be arranged in a tiny wicker basket or in a demitasse cup. A single surplus blossom could be floated in a small dish to add color to your bathroom.

Homemaker at Heart

Most women who work outside their homes are still homemakers at heart.

The distaff side of a bus band - and wife veterinary team in Delaware has placed her washer and dryer right next to their operating room so she can check on the laundry between patients.

This is just one example of woman's ingenuity when it comes to combining a busy job or profession with home-making duties!

Make Shelf Lining

Washable slacks should always be turned inside out before hanging on the clothesline.

It saves the outside from fading from sunlight and from having clothespin marks.

May Yellow Linens

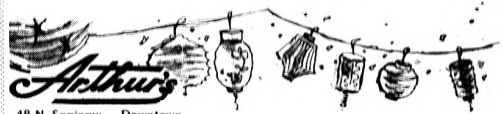

Linens stored in cedar chests or cedar lined drawers will suffer no moth damage, but the oil fumes of the cedar sometimes have a tendency to yellow white linen.

Never overload a paint brush. Too much paint leads to splattering.

Cleaning Pointers

Drain fat and drippings from fryers and cookers, fill with water, add soap or detergent, and heat to boiling. Then drain, rinse and dry.
