U.S. Will Close State Nike Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today the Army will shut down 23 antibomber missile batteries in 12 states to save money. One is at Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan.

The action is the latest in a series of economy measures being taken by the Pentagon to cut fiscal 1969 spending by as much as $3 billion.

The Pentagon said deactivation of the 23 Nike-Hercules firing sites and seven headquarters installations will save $18.8 million in the current budget year, $54 million in succeeding years.

The Pentagon is expected to bear the brunt of a demand for spending reductions totaling $6 billion which the Congress made in return for passing President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

STRENGTH DROP

Closing the sites also will drop active Army strength by 4,200 men. Eight of the missile units are operated by the National Guard.

"After careful study, these sites, in 12 states, were found to contribute least to the effectiveness of the defense of the continental United States," the announcement said. "It was originally planned to close some of these sites by the summer of 1970."

The first batteries became operational only 10 years ago, but the entire air-defense system has been undergoing considerable streamlining in recent months.

FLOATING SAUCER — A Newport Beach, Calif., yachtman, C. M. Christensen, walks on top of the sailing saucer he built for a planned trip around the world. The craft is propelled by four hydrofoils and rides on an air cushion when under way.

It's made of laminated fiber glass and cost about $15,000. Christensen, who won't let anybody see the inside, has named it Top Secret.

Legislators Adjourn Today

LANSING (AP) — Gathering for possibly the last time this year, legislators yesterday approved a measure allowing them to seek higher offices and voted to set up a commission expected to raise their pay.

A bill which would have legalized police wiretapping with court approval was killed in the House, meanwhile, and attempts to overturn two of Gov. George Romney's vetoes also were defeated.

Then, except for formal adjournment ceremonies at noon today, legislators rang down the curtain on their 1968 regular session—bringing their work to a close unless Romney calls them back this fall.

Skimming through both houses of the Legislature with unusual speed yesterday were the proposal allowing lawmakers to seek other offices — which requires voter approval in November—and the pay raise bill — which received voter approval Aug. 6.

RESERVED VETO

Passed 21-7 by the Senate and 63-25 by the House on the same day was a bill giving legal implementation to a State

Officers' Compensation Commission, which voters wrote into the constitution in the Aug. 6 primary.

To ensure that the commission would not cut their pay, lawmakers reserved to themselves the right to veto its determination and provided that in the case of a veto they would retain their current $12,500 salary and $2,500 expense allowance.

Also clearing both houses in one day, and with two-thirds majorities in each, was a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit lawmakers to seek other state offices before their terms expired.

The resolution—which will be one of five statewide proposals on the Nov. 5 ballot — is designed to overturn a ruling of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley which apparently was recently upheld by the State Supreme Court.

Kelley held that the constitutional ban on legislators accepting "civil appointment" from "any state authority" means they cannot be elected by the voters to other state offices.

In the Senate, an attempt urged by some grocers to overturn Romney's veto of a bill allowing them to sell alcoholic beverages to take out within 500 feet of a school or church drew 13 votes—half the number needed.

In the House, backers of a measure authorizing local authorities to declare states of emergency in actual or threatened riots failed 40-42 to suspend the rules and allow a second vote on overriding Romney's veto.

Showers Expected to Return Tonight

Showers and thundershowers ending this morning are expected to return tonight.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts the following day-by-day official report:

TODAY—Variable cloudiness, warmer and humid with showers and thundershowers ending this morning but more developing late this afternoon and tonight. High today 83 to 88. Low tonight 67 to 74.

TOMORROW—Partly cloudy with chance of showers and not so warm.

SUNDAY—Partly cloudy and a little cooler.

A humid 71 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. By 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 85.

HHH Is Losing Ground Among State Delegates

LANSING (AP)—Vice President Hubert Humphrey has lost ground in recent weeks in his bid for support among Michigan delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

An Associated Press poll of the delegation reveals that Humphrey could expect only 61 of Michigan's 96 votes if the convention were held today. Humphrey received 83 votes in the last AP poll conducted Aug. 2.

McCarthy picked up one vote from a former Humphrey supporter.

Here is how the tabulation breaks down: Hubert Humphrey 61 Uncommitted 27 Eugene McCarthy 7 George McGovern 1

The lone vote cast for Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the latest Democrat to declare his candidacy, was cast by a former supporter of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York. McGovern, a former Kennedy supporter, has stated that he holds the same beliefs as the late senator.

LITTLE CONCERN

Few delegates, however, expressed concern over McGovern's entry into the race.

"McGovern's entry will serve only to make things a little stickier," said one delegate, who asked not to be named. "I mean, what does South Dakota have, 26 votes? Now if he came from Illinois or a large state with a big delegation, he'd have to be considered a formidable candidate."

"I think McGovern's just playing politics," added Lewis Carter of Detroit. Carter, a former Kennedy supporter, said he now supports Humphrey.

Of the two delegates who drifted away from Humphrey, only one cited his reasons for defecting from Humphrey's camp.

'WAR THING'

"This war thing has really gotten to me," the delegate, who asked to be unnamed, said. "I'm not for unilateral withdrawal, but neither is McCarthy when you read what he's said. He's much more balanced than that."

He added that he now supports McCarthy.

U.S. Pressures N. Vietnam: Why the Lull on Battlefield?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is putting the onus on North Vietnam to say directly or indirectly whether the current battlefield lull in South Vietnam is a sign of de-escalation.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford gave that word yesterday while making clear he believes the lull merely reflects a time of preparation for new enemy attacks.

Some critics have accused the administration of a hard-line interpretation of the recent decline in enemy military operations.

Their argument is that the lull should be viewed as Hanoi's response to President Johnson's bombing limitation, ordered March 31, and that the administration ought to follow through with another step of de-escalation: Stopping all the bombing.

MAJOR PUSH LIKELY

Clifford contended in a Pentagon news conference that all signs point to the likelihood of a major new offensive, and that Hanoi could easily dispel the notion.

"Obviously, what I would regard as a clear signal would be the kind of signal that would be so easy for them to give," the defense chief said.

"All they have to do," he added, "is get word to us that they have reduced the level of combat and that they will continue to reduce the level of combat, and that constitutes a de-escalatory step, and that we could then get on with substantive negotiations in Paris."

Clifford suggested as an alternative Hanoi could get its message across indirectly by further lowering the combat level "for a lengthy period of time, with some word even through third parties that this constituted a recognition on their part of the need to get on with the Paris peace talks."

DROP IN ACTIVITY

The drop in enemy activity has been noted by defense officials the past seven weeks, in terms of both large-unit and small scale attacks.

U.S. combat deaths have declined, too, since the Tet offensive when as many as 400 to 500 Americans were killed in a peak week. They now average about 181 a week.

Clifford acknowledged the North Vietnamese have been withdrawing troops to border areas of their own territory as well as to Laos and Cambodia but he did not interpret this as de-escalation.

"This is a pattern that he has followed in the past," he said. "He moves the troops out of the battle areas so that he can start the regrouping and the refitting, and institute other preparations for attack."

Nursing Home Rate Dispute Near Solution---Romney

LANSING (AP) — State officials today worked quietly to solve a dispute with the Michigan Nursing Homes Association over the amount of money the homes will be reimbursed for care of Medicaid patients.

Gov. George Romney yesterday issued a terse, vague statement in which he said:

"On the basis of personal discussions with state officials and members of the Michigan Legislature and of staff discussions with representatives of the State Nursing Homes Association, I believe an acceptable arrangement has been found for state reimbursement to nursing homes for care of public patients."

"Details of this plan are being worked out and will be announced when finalized."

In the meantime, I strongly urge the nursing home operators of Michigan to refrain from any further action which will work personal hardship on their patients."

GOOD NEWS

Raeil Boyce, president of the Nursing Homes Association immediately responded, saying he was "delighted" that the governor had been working on the dispute over reimbursement payments.

"I will immediately ask all of our member homes to reconsider any decision to stop serving Medicaid patients pending the resolution of our problems," Boyce said.

Homes in the Wayne County area especially have been moving state-supported patients out of their institutions to general hospitals, apparently because of the dispute. At latest count, some 60 elderly patients had been moved.

The Associated Press learned that state officials had been meeting throughout the week, trying to find a reimbursement rate that would be acceptable to both the state and the association.

LAST OFFER

The last state offer was for $11 and $14 payments for state-supported patients, providing each participating nursing home would agree to several conditions. One of the provisions called for a promise from the home to accept all patients and not change their status or transfer them.

David Lebonbom, association legal counsel, said the provision was "an abrogation of power" to the state. Members reportedly were urged to reject the proposal.

McGovern Is Due at County Confab

Presidential aspirant Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota is scheduled to address members of the Oakland County Democratic Party at the group's county convention tonight at the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Auditorium.

George Googasian, chairman of the county Dems, said McGovern is expected to appear about 10 p.m. State Sen. Sanford M. Levin of Berkeley, state chairman of the Democratic party, will open the convention with an address at 8 p.m.

McGovern is to arrive in Detroit this afternoon and spend the day in meetings with party officials and government leaders in an attempt to line up delegate support at the national Democratic convention.

New OCC Trustee Raps Plan

Take care of Oakland County students first, then those from Detroit in Wayne County, a new Oakland Community College trustee argued last night.

Trustee Dr. Douglas J. Collins of Farmington Township criticized a college program to subsidize the education of 50 high school graduates from Detroit's inner city. The program is to start Sept. 4.

"In two years this program will have 500 students," Collins, a veterinarian who was elected in June, told the board of trustees.

"It should reach our own people. I feel it should be aimed at residents of Oakland County, not Detroit."

BUSED TO CAMPUS

The students have been located by a Detroit citizens group and are to be bused to the college's Farmington Township campus to take vocational or college courses and to work at a campus job.

OCC has waived their tuition, will give them $300 for expenses and has arranged their admission to Michigan State University if they maintain at least a "C" average for two years.

College officials reiterated it was necessary to use the established Detroit group to get an immediate federal grant. They said efforts are being made to include Oakland County students.

Acting Provost Dr. Donald Goldbold of the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township reported that he had met with Oakland County leaders to establish a group to locate students for the program.

College officials said they are still looking for bus transportation to be donated to bring the students to the multimillion dollar campus.

Fair-Housing Vote Is Barred in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — A federal judge issued an injunction today prohibiting a referendum in the November election on Detroit's new open-housing ordinance.

The permanent injunction was issued by U.S. District Judge Talbot Smith at the request of Arthur Bowman, an attorney for Neighborhood Legal Services.

The open-housing ordinance was passed by Detroit's Common Council last November. Opponents of the measure circulated petitions in an effort to put the issue before the voters in November.

Solution to Road Flood Seen

TROUBLE SPOT

A two-year-old flooded-road problem in Waterford Township may be en route to a solution so far as motorists are concerned, but residents of the area will likely still have a water problem, according to officials.

The State Highway Commission has awarded a $22,234 contract to an Ann Arbor firm to repair Dixie Highway south of Walton.

Construction work along a 400-foot stretch of the road will involve raising the grade of the busy highway 14 feet, according to highway officials.

A township official said he didn't see how raising the road would help the area's drainage problem.

ON OTHER SIDE

"The water will just pond deeper on the other side of the road," commented

Township utilities manager Kenneth Squires, indicating the east side of the highway.

Ann Arbor Construction Co. was awarded the contract when it undertook the only other bidder on the job, Detroit Asphalt Paving Co., by about $400.

Highway officials say raising the grade of the road should stop flooding of the roadway that has plagued traffic through the area in the past. There is still no assurance though, that the surrounding land won't flood.

The area is easily flooded because of an apparent drain collapse along the west side of the street of the Drayton Plains Extension Drain.

The drain, which runs under Dixie, has been the subject of controversy since its collapse two years ago. The controversy

Poseidon Launch Called a Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest missile, the Navy's Poseidon, shot to the launch right on schedule today on its maiden flight. The Navy called it a complete success.

Carrying a dummy warhead, the bright silver bird sent a brilliant flame from its dryland launch pad as it left Cape Kennedy at 6:30 a.m. Two minutes later, Poseidon spun a pinwheel pattern as it soared out of sight.

The terse Navy announcement five minutes after launch said the test moved the Poseidon forward on its schedule to become part of the submarine fleet by the early 1970s. One test goal was covering a distance of 1,000 miles into the Atlantic Ocean.

Poseidon was one of two new, powerful missiles scheduled for testing here today. Both were designed to improve chances of penetrating enemy defenses.

Slated to blast off later today was the Air Force's Minuteman.

COMPUTER-AIDED BOMBS

Both Poseidon and Minuteman 3 have specially designed warheads that can contain computers to aim them at targets hundreds of miles apart.

The launchings were prepared amid controversy over whether the timing would interfere with efforts of the United States and the Soviet Union to reach some form of agreement on the curbing of armaments.

One argument has been that the new weapons are of such importance in increasing the level of possible destruction that the testing of them should be delayed until U.S.-Soviet talks can be held.

Another view is that the new weapons would give the United States greater bargaining power in reaching an arms-limitation agreement.

RADAR CONFUSION

The new missiles are known as MIRVs, or multiple-independently targetable-reentry vehicles.

Poseidon at full development may carry as many as 10 bombs in the warhead along with metal chaff and decoys to confuse enemy radar. Its range exceeds 2,500 miles although a goal of about 1,000 miles was set for the initial flight.

Thirty-one of the 41 U.S. ballistic missile submarines eventually will be converted for the larger weapons at a cost of about $104 million a ship. The Navy already has contracted for the first conversion, the USS Daniel Boone.

Explosion Rips Ammo Plant; 10 Are Injured

MINDEN, La. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a bombloading section of the Louisiana Army Ammunition Plant near here early today, and authorities said 10 persons were injured.

Three hours after the explosion, plant officials said the resulting fire was still burning but under control.

Dr. T. A. Richardson, Webster Parish coroner, said two persons were seriously injured, one with burns over 90 per cent of his body and another with a fractured skull. The two seriously injured workers were transferred to a hospital at nearby Shreveport.

Plant spokesmen said the explosion occurred at 7:12 a.m. in the melt-pour operation on a bomb loading line where explosives are mixed.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

"There was an undetermined amount of explosives involved in the explosion," the spokesman said. There was no immediate estimate of damage and the cause of the explosion was unknown. Plant officials sealed off the area.

Lt. Col. James W. Donald, commanding officer at the plant, said there are about 7,500 contract personnel plus Army personnel employed at the plant.

The plant is located some six miles west of Minden, which is in northwestern Louisiana about 30 miles south of the Arkansas border. Residents in the Minden area reported the blast shattered windows in their homes.

Fair Purchase Price at Issue

Sale of Webster School Is Shelved

Waterford Township Board of Education members last night failed to reach agreement on a fair purchase price for the Webster School, and tabled sale of the building until a fair price could be determined.

The school board is trying to sell the small school building and property. After notifying more than 30 area realtors and advertising sale of the land, only one bid was opened at last night's meeting.

The Good Shepherd Assembly of God proposed to buy the school building and property for $30,000, but since it was the only bid received, board members tabled consideration of the offer until an appraiser could determine the real value of the land.

The building, located on Pontiac Lake Road just west of Williams Lake Road, was annexed to the Waterford school system in the mid-50s. Since that time it has seen a variety of uses, including, most recently, housing offices for God.

EXPANSION PLANS

The board also agreed to purchase property at 2575 Buck in the township. The $500 purchase will be implemented in long-range expansion plans for nearby Covert School, according to schools superintendent Dr. Don O. Tatroe.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of Community School Director Richard Korpi. Korpi tendered his resignation after accepting a leadership position in Georgia under a federal program, Tatroe said.

Accepted a bid for comprehensive motor vehicle insurance from the Nationwide Insurance Co. The premium of $7,847 is about $400 less than the premium presently paid to State Farm Insurance. Coverage will be almost identical, according to school officials.

Rapid-Transit Car Unveiled

Sundberg-Ferar Inc., a Southfield designing firm in collaboration with Louis T. Klaunder & Associates of Pennsylvania has completed an ultramodern concept in a rapid-transit vehicle for the Washington, D.C., Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA).

A prototype of the first rapid-transit cars to serve the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area was accepted yesterday by the capital authority at a preview at the design studio.

SOON TO ZOOM — Standing by a new rapid-transit vehicle designed by a Southfield firm is Richard A. Heck, of 2495 Comfort, West Bloomfield Township, chief designer of the vehicle for Sundberg-Ferar, Inc., of 2500 Telegraph. Some 811 of the vehicles are expected to be placed in service for a rapid transit system in Washington, D.C., starting in about four years.

West Bloomfield Schools Name 2

WEST BLOOMFIELD — Two appointments recently have been approved by the West Bloomfield Board of Education.

Norman C. Katner, former principal of Roosevelt Elementary School in Keego Harbor, has been appointed to the newly established position of assistant superintendent for business affairs.

Katner's appointment to the $16,500-a-year position became effective Aug. 5. Last summer he served as director of a special summer education program under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965 to improve the educational level of economically-disadvantaged children by raising their self-concept.

Carl T. Childress was appointed the principal of the new Doherty Elementary School, scheduled to open in January.

Childress's appointment to the $12,000-a-year post will be effective Monday. He will serve as an administrative intern until the new school opens.

Loans Are Available for Barley, Oats, Rye

Commodity price support loans are available to all producers of 1968-crop barley, oats and rye, Alfred Haack, chairman of the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has informed producers.

He added that producers of these crops do not have to participate in other farm programs to be eligible for price support loans, as is the case with wheat and corn.

Any farmer, he stated, who produced barley, oats or rye this year can obtain a price support loan on the crop by contacting the local county ASCS office.

Richard A. Heck, chief designer, said the 75-foot-long car will accommodate 82 seated passengers plus standees.

He said the design criteria called for the movement of enormous numbers of passengers as comfortably as possible.

ONE-YEAR CELEBRITY — Renay Rollman was a year old yesterday at exactly 5:48 p.m. She was the first baby born exactly a year ago yesterday. With her is her mother, Mrs. Earl Rollman of 330 Teelin, Oxford Township.

Avon Board OKs Zoning Change for Mobile Homes

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Avon Township Board has approved a change in its mobile home ordinance that would allow mobile home parks to be constructed in areas zoned for multiple dwellings.

The amendment, allowing parks to be built in areas zoned RM-1 for multiple dwellings, previously read that the parks were limited to various light industry districts.

The amendment was adopted and given immediate effect at the recent meeting, according to board secretary Doris Unger.

In other action the board approved the final plat for Stratford Knolls subdivision number eight west of Old Perch and south of Walton.

GM Parley Draws Pontiac Teacher

Legislators Hit Trooper-Recruiting Plan

LANSING (AP)—A resolution opposing a reduction in standards for State Police recruits, and by implication criticizing a recent move to add more Negroes to the force, won legislative approval Thursday.

State Civil Service Director Franklin K. DeWald denied, meanwhile, that a reduction in standards is planned.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. Gustave Groat, R-Battle Creek, urged the Civil Service Commission and State Police to be adamant in maintaining the present high standard of State Police Officers' qualifications for the Michigan State Police.

At issue is a commission plan to allow State Police applicants who fail the existing written test to continue their testing program on probation.

DeWald said the program is intended to "test the testing procedure" — to see whether candidates who fail the written examination can do well before an examining board, in the 12-week trooper recruit schools and as probationary officers.

The legislative resolution, which is not binding on the state agencies, but only exerts pressure on the agencies, did not refer to the proposed program specifically.

But Groat, a former Battle Creek detective, said he introduced it after members of the press' legislative association complained to him about the civil service proposals.

A major reason for the commission's decision to evaluate the written test was the possibility that it now eliminates Negro applicants who otherwise could become qualified troopers.

There is only one Negro now on the state force.

The men of the Michigan State Police are recognized nationwide as masters of their profession," Groat said. "I believe it extremely unwise for the Civil Service Commission to reduce, or even think of reducing, the standards which must be met to become a trooper or achieve a higher position in the State Police."

Asked Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit: "Who is more qualified to enforce the law in a community — someone who knows a date in history that someone else may not know, or someone who is likely to be reasonably well-received in that community?"

"We are giving these people life and death power over our citizenry as soon as we hand them guns," said Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township, and surely we can't have too high a quality of men."

Rep. James Del Rio, D-Detroit, charged: "This is another racist form of resolution. What it says is, Let's not change anything, boys. Let's keep them (Negroes) out."

DeWald, in a letter to legislators, said "most of the top command officers in the State Police today never took a written test, as they entered the service when the state did not use such a test."

He added that "other major police departments in Michigan and the nation have reduced reliance on written tests."

Detroit Youths Work at OCC

Group of 35 disadvantaged high school students from inner-city Detroit are working at part-time jobs at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Township.

The students are part of an In-School Youth Work Training Project funded by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and coordinated by the Detroit public school system.

Students started working six hours a day Monday and will finish Aug. 30, according to Dr. Donald H. Godbold, acting provost of Orchard Ridge. He was formerly affiliated with the In-School Youth Work Training Project when he was on the staff of the Detroit public schools.

The students are employed in such positions as typing, filing, book processing in the Learning Resources Center, assisting in the print shop and maintenance work. They are paid $1.25 per hour with the funds provided by the project.

According to Dr. Godbold, the intent of the project is not only to provide needed employment, but to expose the students to life on a college campus and to acquaint them with various occupational possibilities for the future.

Ghetto Housing Moves Hopeful Signs

Some real signs of progress are becoming evident on Pontiac's South Side. They show a concern on the part of the City and the residents of involved areas.

This week, after many months of red tape, relocation and planning, the City began initial demolition of the structures at the Crystal Beach housing project next to Crystal Lake. This has long been a sore in the side of Pontiac. They are, beyond a doubt, this city's most blighted slum housing units.

Here is a case where private enterprise was incapable, or unwilling, to do something about renovating or removing slum conditions, so the City had to step in earlier this year and buy the project. Since then, the City has been working to relocate persons living in this World War II housing development.

There are 72 living units in the project. Eight have been vacated and were torn down this week. The City has indicated it does not want the relocation and demolition program to lag. Our hats are off to all those involved in this undertaking which is finally beginning to bear fruit.

On another front, noteworthy progress is being made on efforts to develop new housing in the southwest section of the City.

Some construction of new housing could take place there this year, according to recent reports by the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MDCDA) and Harnabee, Inc., an all-Negro nonprofit corporation formed in March in an attempt to initiate new housing and rehabilitate existing housing in the predominantly Negro southwest section of the City.

To date, MDCDA has allocated some $200,000 in seed money for Harnabee to get started. Preliminary concept plans for redevelopment of this section have been prepared.

The positive aspects of this are obvious. It is a material need being answered. But further, it is a social need being answered. This is an excellent example of self-determination in a ghetto area. The people of that area are playing the major role in shaping their own destiny.

All this is good. But one danger lurks. That danger is false hope. In all such comprehensive programs, there is a considerable time gap between the moment when construction actually begins.

People in the southwest section of Pontiac must not expect miracles overnight. It will take time.

The people should not allow their hopes to fade to distrust during that time gap when it appears on the surface that nothing is being accomplished.

America Is New Home for Middle-East Temple

A 2,000-year-old, 750-ton temple has arrived at the port of New York. Its destination is the Metropolitan Museum.

The Dendur temple is the gift of the United Arab Republic as a gesture of thanks for the $16 million contributed by the United States toward the preservation of the twin temples of Abu Simbel and other treasures located in the territory to be inundated by the Aswan Dam.

The site where the temple was built in the days of Caesar Augustus in 25 B.C., about 50 miles north of Aswan, is now covered by the waters of Lake Nasser, which are impounded by the high dam.

Egyptian and American archaeologists will undertake the massive task of reassembling the 660 great stones, which were unloaded from a freighter. The temple will be erected as a huge monument in the Metropolitan, in a glass showcase, with the entrance toward the Egyptian Wing of the museum.

The United States will reimburse Egypt for dismantling costs. Together with crating and shipping charges, these will run to about $200,000. The glass showcase will cost another $1.8 million.

When restoration is completed, the great temple will face east, as it always has.

Youthful Impulse Stronger, Second Time Around?

Teen-agers bent on early engagements are continually being cautioned by their elders to "slow down and take it easy; you've got plenty of time for romance."

Then along comes a guy like Joseph Yedlicka of St. Louis, Mo., who meets Viola Foster. Barely a week after their initial meeting, JOSEPH runs off with VIOLA and marries her, against the objections of relatives.

Sound like another case of irresponsible youth?

Nope. This one's an example of "You just can't trust anyone over 30." Joe is 84; his bride, 70.

Justice First—Then Law and Order

By DICK SAUNDERS

All the politicians are talking about "law and order."

No great Democracy was ever built on law and order alone.

Communist regimes have been built on law and order. Usually, any act against the state is illegal. Law and order prevails.

SAUNDERS... swiftly. The Communist state is sustained.

A little more with a dictator put together a dictatorship he called the Third Reich on law and order in its strictest form.

Any public unrest about his political philosophies was quickly settled with machine guns. Again, my friend, law and order prevailed.

Last week we heard all about how we need law and order from the Republicans. We will probably hear more about our need for law and order from the Democrats in a few weeks.

Will somebody tell me, whatever happened to justice? It is justice upon which a great democracy is built. Law and order without justice is like a stillborn child.

It's justice which gives democracy life and meaning. Nobody's talking much about justice nowadays.

Except maybe former U.S. Supreme Court Justice and American ambassador to the United Nations Arthur J. Goldberg.

Speaking before the American Judicature Society's annual meeting in Philadelphia last week, Goldberg pointed to some parts of the recently enacted Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act as being of "dubious constitutionality."

He allowed that in times of stress there is a tendency "to put bad laws into effect. This is true throughout our history, dating back to the Sedition Act of 1798."

Then he got around to justice:

POWER MUST FAIL.

"All the police power in creation could not long uphold a system of law that did not meet the reasonable expectations and legitimate needs of people and correct their legitimate grievances.

"It is imperative that we recognize that if the law is really to come to grips with the problems of racial discrimination and poverty, it must make itself felt not at the end of the policeman's night stick, it must manifest itself in just and equitable provisions for the righting of wrong."

The Nation should strengthen law enforcement to curb crime and violence. Goldberg said, but it should also intensify its efforts to "cure the evil and sickness of racial discrimination and the blight of poverty—the root causes of crime and violence."

Here he makes the distinction which seems to be carefully skirted in so much political oratory.

Law and order can only treat the symptoms.

Justice does more. It helps cure the illness.

The Man Who Wasn't There

David Lawrence Says:

Economic Ills May Defeat Dems

WASHINGTON — Economic discontent, if it is large enough, could alone bring about an electoral majority for the Republicans in the coming presidential election.

The nature and extent of the dissatisfaction among voters in all parts of the country today, however, can hardly be measured politically by studying only the economic statistics. For in many states, farm areas are Republican and the cities are usually Democratic.

Today the low unemployment rate is a factor in favor of the Democrats. A nation that has full employment is presumably prosperous and satisfied. Net farm income is running higher than in 1967. And the average weekly earnings of factory workers was $123.30 in June, or about a dollar more than in May.

The real trouble is that consumer prices have been rising sharply. The cost-of-living index in the second quarter of 1968 was 4.2 per cent above the same period in 1967. This year, prices in June rose at an annual rate of 6 per cent from May.

RECORD LEVELS

It is true that personal income, spread over the entire country, has gone up to record levels, which is natural, of course, with the increased population and increased output. But, with the new tax surcharge going into effect in mid-July, the estimated increase of $14 billion in the third quarter will amount to only $5 billion in disposable personal income.

But, while there is a certain amount of discontent due to the high cost of living and the fact that taxes have taken away much of the benefits from the increases in wages, the principal causes of dissatisfaction are not on the economic side.

The disturbances in the cities, which are largely governed by officeholders of the Democratic party, have produced a disillusionment and a resentment.

And the war in Vietnam is, of course, a major cause of a shift in sentiment from the Democratic party, which won an overwhelming victory in 1964.

Bob Considine Says:

Reuse of Bikini Atoll Recalls '44 Injustice

NEW YORK — There was this little item that the natives who had been moved off Bikini 22 years ago, to make way for the A-bomb tests, were being returned at long last.

There hasn't been any nuclear testing around the island since the Ralik chain of the Marshalls in a dozen years. One assumes that the fish and the birds are "clean" again so far as radiation contamination is concerned, that the water is potable, and Geiger counters are no longer precautionary equipment.

So the long exile of the simple and uncomprehending Micronesians is ended, and I wonder what the older ones think of us.

Perhaps they think of us as the Chinese around Chen Tu did in 1944 when we took over their 2,000 year old paddies and impressed or conscripted them to drain the rice fields and help us build the two longest airstrips then known to man. From that remote area inside China we would launch the first B29 raids on Japan.

MAMMOTH PROJECT

As many as 300,000 Chinese would be working on this mammoth project at the same time.

Well, sir, we destroyed their ancient ways of living and their ageless system of barter. We paid them cash with which to buy rice and clothing elsewhere, and the paper money was meaningless to many of them.

AT END OF RUNWAY

Then to top off everything, we had them relocate in a ramshackle village not far beyond the end of one of the runways. The first B29 that took off, fully loaded, lost power and plunged into the village, killing a lot of them and burning their new shacks.

For a long time after that we had GI's taking signs on trees and fences in the area stating, in Chinese, that we were really their friends; that we had come halfway across the world to protect them against the Japanese.

There was one flaw in the plan.

None of them had ever seen a Japanese.

Anyway, the Marines took Waipana and then Tinian not long after the airstrips and maintenance shops and housing had been completed, and those islands surprised Chen Tu as a launching pad for the bombers.

When I saw it in the summer of 1945, the airstrips were fissured and wavy, and the weeds had grown up from the dried-up paddies below.

Wonder what we'll be saying of Vietnam 10 or 20 years hence?

A Victim's View

Philadelphia Sun Bulletin

Every day I hear about people's rights—the right to do this or the right to do that. The right to march; to sit down in the middle of the street; to parade around with dirty words on cards; even the right to call the President of the United States or his wife filthy names.

I've learned a lot about laws now—and it seems to me that as long as a criminal remains silent, he has a good chance to make crime pay.

I wonder: why not a Constitution for us victims? The hoodlum has his. It's the big one, the one that five of the nine Supreme Court Justices in Washington are always talking about. It's got a 4th Amendment, a 5th Amendment, a 6th, a 14th, a Due Process Clause, the Right to Counsel Clause, and a whole lot of other things like that.

But where, I ask—is my Constitution?

I was held up, beaten, and when my wife came to my assistance, she was beaten also.

I remembered something about citizens being permitted to live in peace and tranquility or something like that. What peace?

The State—that's supposed to be the one on my side—has to prove a case, and they don't get any help from the defendant. That's what the defendant's Constitution says—he doesn't have to open his mouth.

But, how about me? Do you think I can keep my mouth shut if I want to? If I did, they would throw the case out.

Says American Indians 'Abandoned by Society'

The one race of people I've always thought cheated, mistreated and abandoned by society is our American Indians. They are the real American natives.

We came and exploited them, taking their land and shoving them onto reservations where many have remained. If anyone has the right to protest, it is these people.

Yet they remain proud. Think about it, would you?

My two sons, a daughter-in-law, four-year-old grandson and myself (four adults, one child) would like to locate a farm where we might be welcome to spend a few days during the week of Aug. 18. If meals could be included, that would be excellent. We are not noisy and do not drink. We only require that the accommodations be clean and that it be a real farm. We are prepared to pay a reasonable sum. We are all curious to learn about farm life.

Writer Points to Foreign Policy Paradoxes

General Douglas MacArthur said: "In war there is no substitute for victory."

Never in the history of the U.S.A. has foreign policy been so riddled with inconsistencies. While our soldiers are fighting in Vietnam, the following acts of appeasement and accommodation have taken place in the past year:

- The Government of this Nation cooperates with Great Britain in imposing economic blockade against anti-Communist Rhodesia.
- U.S. and Canadian farmers send wheat and grain to Russia.
- The Import-Export Bank trades with Communist countries.
- The Supreme Court rules that members of the Communist Party need not register with the U.S. Government.
- Billions of dollars of taxpayers' money is sent to socialist and pro-communist countries.
- Ships of friends of America trade with North Vietnam.

Language Art Program Gets Federal Fund

Oakland Schools will share $55,000 with seven districts to build model language arts programs into their curriculums.

The Elementary and Secondary Education Act funds a portion of the salaries of teachers and costs of materials to operate programs in Clareneville, Ferndale, Oak Park, Pontiac, Southfield, Troy and Waterford.

"The funded programs," said Mrs. Enora Higginbottom, "represent many of the best features of 41 programs that were developed last year and will maintain those features for demonstration to educators and the public."

This year, the program teachers will spend much of their time working with other teachers in their buildings or school districts to extend the program to greater numbers of children."

LOCAL DIRECTOR

Mrs. Higginbottom is the Oakland Schools director of the federal language arts projects.

In Pontiac's Lincoln Junior High School, Mrs. Jacqueline Milow will be half of several teacher-teams throughout the school year to extend reading assistance to students in science and social studies as well as English classes.

Mrs. Elaine Bauer will head a developmental reading program in Troy's Niles Elementary School. In both schools the project teachers will work intensively with beginning teachers.

Waterford's program, under the direction of Mrs. Carol Repka, will extend the features of an expressive language program developed last year to all of the Carl Sandburg Elementary School.

CREATIVE WRITING

Clareneville's unique program in stimulating creative writing among elementary students will be concentrated on third and fourth graders in the entire district.

Mrs. Martha Sage, who developed the program last year with fourth and sixth grade students, found that younger children respond more eagerly to the opportunity to write. She will spend one day a week at each of the district's elementary schools.

Riot Powers Valid--Kelley

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley today held that ordinances granting emergency powers to local officials are valid, but warned that local reactions to emergencies "could result in a crazy-quilt response, which could prove disastrous."

Kelley said that where ordinances are enacted by home rule cities and other communities in accordance with their police powers, and where such ordinances validly confer emergency functions upon officials such as mayors, "such ordinances are valid."

They may be enforced, Kelley said, to the extent "and only to the extent that such emergency powers are harmonious with powers exercised by the governor."

"Where conflicting orders are issued," Kelley said, "those of the governor will, of course, prevail."

improve themselves," Mansfield Samples told them, "but you have to help provide the skills to make useful citizens out of them."

Trustees said they were concerned about the problem, and then college President Dr. John E. Tirrell agreed to help work out the problem of city ghettos.

The college trustees lived up to their promise. "Satellite learning labs" in the ghettos of Pontiac and Royal Oak Township are scheduled to open some time next month.

LEARNING CENTER

Hayes Jones Community Center and Lakeside House in the city's public housing sector and Carver Elementary School in Royal Oak Township will serve as the learning centers.

Mrs. Betty D. Setz, OCC assistant director of community services and head of this project, explains one of the community problems this way:

"The ghetto, with its preponderance of youth, unemployed and unemployable, alienated not only from the outer community, but from the control of the older members of the ghetto, provides fertile soil for hate mongers."

"The majority of youth on the borderline of delinquency would respond if given immediate training and access to jobs."

"The ghetto is an armed camp with raw emotions and hatred bred by frustration building up to violence."

"Denied visible evidence of real access to training and jobs, this group will slip beyond reach and join the hard core as a permanent lesson on society."

The story quoted a high State Department official as having said the Lansdale report was not much different from dispatches received every day from the U.S. Embassy in Saigon.

7,550 FAMILIES

She says there are 7,550 families in Pontiac and Royal Oak Township who have incomes of $3,000 or less per year.

"Low educational levels, lack of stable home environment, and encourage self-help through total community involvement.

"The primary function of the team would be to alert ghetto residents to educational and vocational opportunities, check on the progress of those taking training programs, encouraging them to 'stick it out' and help them solve personal problems," she said.

OCC officials have organized a project called Continuing Opportunities Program for Education (COPE) for these people.

Mrs. Setz said the pilot project will:

- Establish a comprehensive community education and vocational counseling operations to serve as a one-stop referral to community resources.

- Provide multi-faceted cultural and educational enrichment program. Mrs. Setz said the college will offer a number of noncredit short courses such as how to get a job, driver training, basic police

- Create a satellite operation in the ghettos. They will be administered by grass-roots leaders and serve as a hub of college, cultural and community activities.

- Provide learning labs with programmed and multimedia materials. They will give basic skills essential for entry to job training programs or college entrance. "This would enable the adult student to gain admission to the Oakland Community College upon demonstration of a level of competency without completing high school," Mrs. Setz explained.

- Offer remedial and job-oriented programs to prepare ghetto students for success in college and in work.

- Form a community student action corps. Natural community leaders will recruit job applicants, assist in satisfactory adjustment on job and in school

Food Dealers Lose Veto Override Bid

LANSING (AP) — Michigan food dealers failed Thursday in an attempt to override Gov. George Romney's veto of a liquor sale bill.

Some 30 members of the Associated Food Dealers (AFD), which represents 1,900 retailers throughout the state, met for about an hour with Romney to discuss the bill that would allow take-out sale of alcoholic beverages within 500 feet of a church or school.

As the retailers were meeting with Romney, the Senate voted 13-7 against overriding the veto. A two-thirds vote was needed.

"This bill is gone now," said AFDD Director Edward Deeb, and industry people to study the state's laws on liquor sale.

The group had hoped to convince the governor to "reevaluate his position and pass on his sentiments to his colleagues in the Legislature," he said.

"But we're not giving up," he added. "We're going to formally ask the governor to name a committee of business and industry people to study away with the 500 foot rule as it concerned take-out liquor sale."

Deeb said Romney had indicated "he wouldn't be in opposition" to such a committee, "but he didn't say he would name one."

In his veto message of the bill, Romney had said he saw the centers, to expand their operations to better serve their customers.

University of Southern California

Many carefree boys have graduated from high school, entered the Army and left for Vietnam.

They return as men. Suddenly they are adults and recognize the importance of education. The GI Bill makes entry into college possible for thousands who would not be able to go otherwise. The discipline they have learned in the service will make them better students than they were in high school.

After World War II, hundreds of returning GIs were in my classes. It was easy to make good students out of these men.

PERFECT SCORES
For example: Twenty-eight out of 31 made perfect scores on a long computational examination in spherical trigonometry. This was the only time in my teaching career that I was able to bring a class to this level of perfection.

The reason was that these men followed instructions. They wrote out the solutions called for in homework neatly and completely. They studied the solution of spherical triangles until they understood how to select the proper formula in each type of problem. They mastered the mechanics.

Consequently they undertook their examination with a definite plan of procedure. They would analyze a problem carefully, write out the solution, step by step, and as a final check read through the problem, thinking only of arithmetic and algebraic signs.

Since their minds were filled with plans, worry regarding failure was pushed into the background of their thinking. They were relaxed, yet they worked fast enough to keep their attention centered on the work at hand.

The Ever-Changing Moods of Mlle. Catherine Lacoste

Golf Champion Reflects a Different Kind of France

By JEANNE NELSON

LaBelle France isn't all Haute Couture houses along the tree-framed boulevards of Paris. Nor are all her Made-moiselles the sleek, sunken-cheeked models who parade those famous name creations of its leading city.

Catherine Lacoste, here at Birmingham Country Club competing this week in the United States Women's Amateur Golf championship is far removed from that particular scene.

Miss Lacoste, who won her match Thursday with California's Jane Bastanchury, represents a picture few Americans have of the French woman.

Softness is replaced by determination; gay coquettishness by competitive zeal and frail beauty by a sound athletic build. Watching the noted golfer play, spectators could readily feel her obvious delight at being placed in a close competitive situation.

When she emerged from the 18th green, the smile of victory was a signal to followers to converge upon the winner seeking autographs and offering congratulatory messages.

During a brief interview, this much

Alicia Diane Is Here

Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell (nee Lillian Strong) of West Ypsilanti Street, announce the birth of a daughter, Alicia Diane, on Aug. 3.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strong also of West Ypsilanti Street and Mrs. Bill Campbell of Lobelville, Tenn.

was learned about Miss Lacoste: she prefers to wear shorts or slacks for playing to the golf dress her famous tennis champion father manufactures. The dress, not sold in France, is worn by her off the links.

In Thursday's match, she wore a yellow sleeveless shirt with the now familiar alligator emblem (another item of M. Lacoste's golfing apparel that bears his name) with soft green slacks and white shoes.

She may have been wearing lipstick when she teed off, but by the 18th green it has completely disappeared. In contrast, her fingernails were ablaze with a vivid shade of polish.

INTERESTS

Speaking with a pronounced British accent, the noted French golfer told of one day becoming an interpreter when her tournament days are over. When talk of the recent student uprising in her country came about, the 23-year-old Mlle. at first said "she wasn't here to talk politics." After some urging, she did remark that the students had her sympathies although she did not take any part in the demonstration, by her own choice.

On this, her third visit to the United States, she hasn't limited herself to golf alone. Dancing, parties and meeting new friends appear to be important in her life too. Although she started to play golf at eight years old, she had found other interests along the way. Painting is one of them as well as learning to play the guitar.

Her family's wealth (she talks to her father by phone every day from here) and her own skill and competitive spirit take her out of the typical young French woman category. Just ten minutes after her arrival at an area motel, a week ago, she was ready to leave for the Club to begin practice.

Miss Lacoste's own words seem to sum up the young lady's personality. "When I'm winning, I'm very happy." Vive la France.

She Jeopardizes Her Health

Husband Adores Chubby Spouse

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This probably won't make your column, but for the sake of all men who have fat wives, I hope it does.

My wife is 5 feet 3 and tips the scale at 200 pounds, but as long as she is happy, so am I.

Our children adore her, I worship her and friends love her. She is a wonderful cook and housekeeper and she always dresses neat and smells fresh and clean. She's never nervous and grouchy like most women who are always on some crazy starvation diet.

To me, she is perfect and I tell her so. I couldn't be more anxious to get home to her every evening if she looked like Sophia Loren. Sign me

SATISFIED

DEAR SATISFIED: If you are satisfied, fine. But is your wife's Doctor satisfied? Ask any insurance expert how many years of life one can deduct from each 10 pounds of overweight. Vanity isn't everything, I agree. But if you want that wonderful wife around to "worship" in your old age, give her some food — for thought.

***

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for parents who believe their son is window peeping:

My fiancé has been in that sort of trouble for the past 10 years. He said he did it at first for kicks. Then it became a habit. There followed a series of arrests and jail sentences. He is presently awaiting action on a more serious but directly related offense.

***

For the two years I've known him I had assumed he was "cured" and had not been in trouble. I was wrong. You cannot imagine the heartbreak and shock I suffered when they arrested him the last time.

He's not a bum. He is a well-educated young man from a good family.

I beg you, please see that your son consults a doctor, clergyman, school guidance counselor, or any mental health center, but do it now. Later may be too late.

NO NAME, NO CITY, PLEASE.

Violinist 'Captures Her Audience

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

Last night at Meadow Brook, Edith Peinemann, young German violinist, was heard as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Sixteen Ehrlich conducting. It was a meaty, melodic concert from the opening of a declamatory strains of Schubert's "Rosamunde" Overture, through Dvorak's graphic Seventh Symphony, and ending with Khachaturian's colorful and emotional Violin Concerto.

***

***

The work itself is Armenian in style, full of syncope, Middle Eastern cadences, brightness and unrestrained tempestuousness. The first and third movements proceed at a break-neck pace, with a thundering rhythmic beat that has a heated, spell-binding effect on the audience.

TOUCHING

The second movement, a slow waltz, is a touching recitation of soul-searching proportions, which touches the base of human emotions.

Miss Peinemann portrayed the many facets of the concerto intensely, dynamically and profoundly. Her technique was clean and uncluttered, her interpretation bold and strong, her dynamics clean and controlled.

The accompaniment, which is of symphonic proportions, was achieved beautifully and colorfully by Mr. Ehrlich and the orchestra.

In contrast to the fiery concerto, the orchestra opened the concert with Schubert's "Rosamunde" Overture. After an unsure and scratchy episode in the violin section, the overture soon got under way with a neat and more than adequate performance.

Dvorak's Seventh Symphony in D Minor was the major orchestral work of the program. Mr. Ehrlich and the orchestra caught the varying moods, from serious and grave, in the first movement, to religious and spiritual in the second, to robust yet lighthearted, in the third, to sweeping and dramatic, in the fourth, and he wove them into the fabric of a great, imaginative performance.

Mr. Ehrlich is at his best in symphonies of the Romantic and Modern periods; his imagination captured the creativity, the restrained sentimentality, the breadth and spirit of the symphony with candor, freshness and true inspiration.

CELLIST

Saturday's concert features famed cellist, Gregor Piatigorsky in Haydn's "cello Concerto, Strauss, "Serenade for 13 Wind Instruments" and Strauss' "Don Quixote," with Nathan Gordon as viola soloist.

Sunday's concert marks the final performance of the summer, and the last concert in which Mischa Mishakoff, retiring concertmaster will be heard. He will perform, with Mr. Piatigorsky, Brahms' Double Concerto for violin, cello and orchestra.

Ask Autograph Discreetly to Be Correct

By ELIZABETH POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my husband and I and another couple went to a well-known supper club. Seated at the table next to ours was one of my favorite movie stars. Very quietly I leaned over and asked her if she would give me her autograph.

She did so willingly. The wife of the other couple reprimanded me for this and said that I had no right to infringe on her privacy. Was I wrong? — Mrs. E. Potter

Dear Mrs. Potter: No, as long as you didn't attract a lot of attention. Most movie stars look upon requests for autographs not as infringements on their privacy, but as evidence of their popularity.

UNUSED DRESS

Dear Mrs. Post: I've cancelled my plans to be married and this leaves my maid of honor with a fairly expensive dress. I feel terrible and want to do whatever I can about her expense. Have you any suggestions? — Eleanor Connor

Dear Miss Connor: If it is a dress that she will have no further use for, and you can afford it, you should pay for it. If it will be useful to her, you should share the expense insofar as you are able, or as far as she will allow you.

Linda Lou Ingall Weds William R. Weeks Jr.

Linda Lou Ingall became the bride of William R. Weeks Jr. at Franklin Community Church recently. Attending the daughter of the Hubert E. Ingalls as maid of honor was Diane Flajole.

White daisies were chosen for the bride's bouquet. Her floor length gown was of silk organza and Venetian lace with matching lace appliques. A petal headpiece secured her elbow length veil of illusion.

Bridesmaids, Deborah Weeks, Lori Ingall and Mrs. Al Shelton assisted. Craig and Jeffrey Ingall performed the duties of usher.

The son of the senior Mr. and Mrs. William R. Weeks of Ann Arbor was attended by best man, Douglas Weeks.

Following a reception in the church parlor and an open house at the Franklin home of the bride's parents, the couple departed on a honeymoon trip to Denver, Colo.

Care Provides Top Efficiency in Air Conditioning

To assure the best cooling from any air conditioning unit, it must be installed correctly. Window-mounted units require a good, tight seal between the cabinet and the window frame to keep out hot air and increase cooling efficiency.

Since free circulation of air is essential, filters should be cleaned periodically to take out air-borne pollen, dust and particles that clog their cells. Avoid blocking free flow of air with furniture, lest the furnace is cooled at the expense of the atmosphere of the room. Conservation Training School.

Makeup Tricks Will Help Nose

If your nose is clearly out of proportion to the rest of your face, try these tricks. For a short nose, draw a full upper lip to minimize the space between mouth and nose.

For a long nose, use a lip brush to extend and widen the corners of your upper lip. For a broad nose, shading is the answer. Experiment by blending brown shading cream down the side of your nose and nostrils.

Trend Is to More Desexualization

By BETTY CANARY

When that commercial for a popular deodorant flashes on your television screen — it shows the entire family using one spray — don't you wonder why a woman doesn't object to using the same scent as a man?

I think this commercial is indicative of the "beiging" and blurring of the sexes Dr. Charles E. Winick is talking about in his book, "The New People." Winick, an anthropologist and sociologist, says everything today definitely points toward "Desexualization of American Life," from blandly decorated homes to the clothes we wear.

Society will not turn back to earlier times with its more distinct role differences where father killed the bears and mother was the one at the spinning wheel. We have gone too far and then, who wants really to make a complete return?

Today we do not consider it unfeminine for mother to cut the grass or build a set of book cases. We do not snicker if father diapers the baby occasionally or turns out to be a better cook than mother. This, so far, is good. It is a sharing of the family work and, after all, there aren't many wild animals any more and the spinning wheel has been converted into a lamp or planter.

It is disconcerting, of course, to see two youngsters walking arm-in-arm down the sidewalk and not be sure which is the girl and which is the boy. The frightening thing is wondering if they CARE, which is the girl's or the boy's, and which is the boy. Winick sums us up with: "People can't cope any more. They've lost their identity and don't know who they are." Obviously, we cannot stave off the neutral life by forcing boys to cut their curls or by a "poor boy" shirt, can't she heaping ruffles on the girls. We are not going to solve sex problems by deporting homosexuals to shoot and skin or by having women bake more pies. But, as the title old saying goes, little things mean a lot. Does, for example, our daughter need to dress the same as her brother? Instead of a "poor boy" shirt, can't she wear a simple but pretty blouse?

Couple Departs for Honeymoon Following Vows

Pfc. James Rodney Drake, USA, and his bride (nee Aelene Judy Davis) departed for a honeymoon trip to Texas recently, following their wedding. The afternoon ceremony in St. Michael's Catholic Church preceded a reception in the Pontiac Metropolitan Club.

Carrying a bouquet of white roses, carnations and Stephanotis, the former Miss Davis was attired in a bridal ensemble of silk organza. Peau d'ange lace and seed pearls highlighted the A-line style gown. An elbow length bouffant veil was secured by her petal headpiece of lace and seed pearls.

Mrs. Thomas Taylor attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Leonard Gaches and Mrs. James Cox. Groomsmen were Ted Santa and Russell Davis. # Smokers—Here's Advice

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE G-543: Leon D., aged 38, is a pediatrician.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you have often warned young people about the medical evils of smoking."

"And last term my teenage daughter told me you had her high school convocation almost rolling in the aisles with laughter at my mimicry of the usual smoker's jittery behavior."

"But maybe it would be more fun to dramatize the many virtues in cigarette addiction."

"For example, wives who now complain about the excessive order of their husbands might thus encourage their men to become chain smokers."

"Then those formerly erotic males would become relatively demasculinized."

"For isn't it the heavy smokers who sit around taverns, cuddling their beer stein instead of their wives?"

"Besides, Dr. E. Cuyler

Hammond told our scientific conference recently that those husbands will also die eight years earlier than the non-smoking men.

"So their wives would thus get rid of those amorous mates just that much sooner."

"Which means they would also inherit their husband's fortune, plus his life insurance!"

"And with the population explosion threatening our land, cigarettes can be a great boon."

"For wives who smoke have a much higher percentage of miscarriages and thus lose millions of babies before their nine-months' pregnancy is completed."

"And those babies who are finally born alive, will be stunted!"

"For both the German and the American Medical Association agree that smoking wives bear babies that are below par."

"Such infants are smaller in weight and actually shorter in length."

"And thousands of such infants will also have birth defects, such as absence of an arm or leg, or an eye or with heart damage."

"A few years ago you will recall the great excitement caused by thalidomide."

"Belatedly, the head of our Food and Drug Administration vetoed thalidomide and claimed it had caused 4,000 deformed babies in one year!"

"Yet 76,000 defective babies were born that same year right here in the U.S.A."

"So why didn't he explain why those other 72,000 deformed infants occurred?"

CALDWELL-GRAVES

First United Pentecostal Church was chosen by Lar-enda Graves and Harold Caldwell for their wedding recently. The parents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Graves of Monterey Street and the Ernest Caldwells of Harlan, Ky., joined the newlyweds at their reception in the church parlor. The bride chose a gown of peau de soie and lace with pearl and sequin accents on the bodice. A petal headpiece of pearls and sequins held her veiling and she carried red roses and white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts attended the couple as honor attendants. A honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls followed the evening vows and reception.

Shortcuts Aid Mom

DEAR GIRLS — Before you read the following letter I want you to know it is from a young mother, only 24, who has three children, ages five and four baby gets old enough to drop or years and nine months. What a lot of good common sense she has acquired in her short life-time. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I use a rubber teether the right shape or hard enough. I finally found a substitute that worked.

I now have a glorious color picture of my little boy chewing happily on a rubber dog bone (sterilized, of course) which I bought at a pet store.

In case I sound like I think I am a big authority on babies, I am not, although I have created a few systems to ease the many burdens of motherhood and am convinced there still must be easier ways to do things. — J. L. P.

If you wish you had bought prefolded diapers but didn't, wait until baby is as big as he probably will get while in diapers. Then fold regular diapers to the right size and sew them on the sewing machine. Saves money and time wasted in folding diapers.

If you are going on a short trip, put baby's bottles and formula straight from the refrigerator into an insulated diaper bag. Carry along a thermos of boiling water and a container large enough to hold a bottle. I use a plastic juice container.

Just pour the hot water into the container and float bottle in it until warm. Put hot water back in the thermos to be ready for the next "warm-up."

When feeding a baby solid food, just touch baby's cheek near his mouth with your finger and his mouth will usually pop right open. When he is older, and this no longer works, give him a spoon at feeding time. When he opens his mouth for D'Esta Louise Winslow became the bride of Paul Raymond Rietheimer following vows recently in St. John's Lutheran Church. A reception in the church parlors followed the afternoon rite.

The daughter of the William Winslows of Birmingham chose a floor length gown of silk organza with Venetian lace. It featured a bateau neckline, bracelet sleeves and Chapel train. She carried yellow and white carnations with white daisies.

Carolyn S. Winslow attended the bride as maid of honor with bridesmaids, Suzanne Smith and Peggy Webster.

The son of the Raymond Rietheimers of Rochester, was assisted by best man, Larr Johnson. The usher corps was comprised of Thomas Krauth and Mark Rietheimer.

Day Center Offers Children 'a Home Away From Home'

With the hope of "strengthening the family unit by promoting the physical, mental, emotional and social well-being of the children," Birmingham Day Care Center, Inc., will provide "a home away from home" when it opens its doors Sept. 9.

SERVICES

A prime goal of this community service, being piloted by the Junior League of Birmingham, is to aid widowers of mothers who must work, attend school or who are unable to take care of their children during the day.

Work began in June of '67 after the League's project study committee, which interviewed agencies and school contacts throughout the metropolitan area, determined the need for such a center.

With $22,500 allocated by the League, the 12 member board, composed of League members and community leaders, began its search for suitable facilities and a qualified director.

Now, some 14 months later, the fruits of their labor have ripened. The Center, located in the west wing of Embury Methodist Church on east 34 Mile Road, Birmingham, will open its doors to 35 children.

Children attending the Center, which is open year round from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. five days a week, will range in age from two-and-a-half to five years old and must be toilet-trained.

The cost of $4.50 per day includes all supplies, a morning and an afternoon snack and a hot meal for lunch.

If a need arises for kindergarten to have a place to spend a morning or an afternoon, a hot lunch and an interesting program will be available, provided the child is within walking distance of the Center.

Mrs. W. E. Givens, graduate of Chevy Chase Junior College, Wash., D.C., is director. She also attended George Washington University and Corcoran Art School, both in Wash., D.C.

Her previous experience includes work at Echo Park Day Camp, Bloomfield Hills, and St. James Episcopal Nursery, Birmingham.

Last year, Mrs. Givens studied at the Waldorf Teaching Institute of Mercy College.

FILL NEEDS

"I hope the Center will fill the needs of the children as well as of the parents," Mrs. Givens states. "Our program will be flexible but have a note of order."

She adds that "this Center can be a melting pot where the child can become socially aware."

Facilities are situated on two floors. On the upper level is the center's office and a large room for active play.

The kitchen, nap room, dining area and room for quiet play, comprise the lower level.

There is also a fenced-in play area which features a tree, a paved area for riding bicycles, a play house (which will double as a storage unit) and the traditional swings and slides.

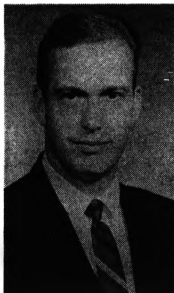

During the day, music and meals will be the only community projects. Youngsters may paint, build with blocks, help in the kitchen or look at books at their own leisure.

Two experienced, trained assistants and community volunteers will comprise the remainder of the staff.

Individuals interested in donating some of their free hours may call the Center or come in between 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Applications are also being accepted at this time for prospective students. An open house is slated for early September.

The board is confident and is pleased with the results thus far.

Richard Perry Tison of Orrick Street, Commerce Township was recently awarded a Bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering from General Motors Institute, Flint. He is the son of the P. H. Tisons of Pontiac Road, Pontiac Township.

Inexperienced Girl Needs a Budget

By MARY FEELEY Consultant
in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

My daughter has just received her college degree and has a teaching position which will pay $5,900 a year plus $500 car allowance. I feel that, while she is fortunate to finish college without debt, she has had no experience handling money.

She has not yet rented an apartment, but I'm told the rent will be around $180 a month. She will have a roommate to share this expense.

How much can she afford to pay out in car payments? Her school clothes are unsuitable for working and this item will be high at the start of her career.

Please set up a budget for her with these items in mind.
Mrs. R. E., Ohio, Ill.

Dear Mrs. E.:
If your daughter receives her salary on a 10-month basis, as many teachers do, she should have approximately $472 to work with for each of those months. This figure represents her spendable income, after withholding including the new 10 per cent surcharge and Social Security. Of course, if there's a medical or life insurance plan involved, her take-home pay could be a bit less.

I'm assuming that, again like many teachers, she probably plans to work some part of the two summer months next year, or perhaps live at home for those two months in order to cut down on expenses. So this suggested budget is set up on a 10-month basis — and with a roommate.

Her share of rent, $90; household operating costs, $15; clothing, $55; food, $50; personal allowance, including lunches and personal grooming expenses, $35; church gifts, miscellaneous, $20; recreation and entertainment, $30; medical costs, $15; savings, $30; car payment, $70. That's a total of $410.

The monthly car payment of $70 is assuming she can make a down payment of, say about $500 on a $2,000 car, with 24 months to pay off. The $500 car allowance she'll receive will be needed for car operation. And the $60-plus leftover in this monthly budget will have to cover the cost of car license and repairs — and a basic life insurance policy which she should take out as soon as she can.

SAVINGS GOOD

Impress on her how good those savings of $30 a month will look, come next summer — when there's no salary check coming in but a payment on the car due each month, regardless!

And stop worrying about her inexperience in handling money. "I'll wager you'll discover what a lot of other parents have — that young people are a lot lighter-fisted with their own earnings than they ever were with mom's or dad's income. Anyway, with a $90 rental, she'll have to learn fast."

Carolyn Cederleaf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertil Cederleaf of Orchard Lake, received departmental honors in Biology when she was awarded her BA degree from Oakland University, recently. She will continue her studies under a pre-doctoral fellowship at Eastern Michigan University.

Linseed Oil Finish Is Chosen Often

Linseed oil finish is the popular choice of many homeowners. This finish may be applied to unfinished wood and tends to darken the color. Though not highly water resistant, a linseed oil finish will withstand hot dishes.

It is also less apt to show scratches than a varnish finish. This type of finish is more time consuming to apply, but it leaves the wood with a beautiful, mellow lustre.

Heywood-Wakefield adds to its Publick House Collection a new "tavern look" with a group of closed wood-arm seating pieces. Shown here is the high back lounge chair with matching ottoman. Chair has framed panel sides, contoured arms and sculptured front posts, is constructed of solid northern hard-rock maple in a spicy ginger, also a cinnamon finish. Line available locally.

New from Taylor, Smith & Taylor's "Designer Series" Collection comes this colorful portfolio of flamenco motifs. Inspired by the flavor of Mediterranean handicrafts, these beautiful patterns reflect the artisan's devotion to individuality. No two pieces are identical, each a precious artifact inherited from the potter's wheel.

Bobby's Widow Unnoticed Among Music Fair Audience

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Very few people in the big audience knew she was there, but Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, widow of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, attended Andy Williams' smashing opening at the Westbury Music Fair—practically in private.

Wearing white lace cotton, she was looking well, indeed vibrant, but was so discreetly and unostentatiously protected by Secret Service men that the audience didn't spot her—sitting about the fourth row—and even the autograph fans, who have their own pipeline, didn't discover her when she went backstage.

Her visit was a surprise to the management which didn't want to discuss it. It was believed that Mrs. Kennedy attended because Andy Williams was a close friend of her husband and sang at his funeral.

WILSON

A reader, Theresa Lyons, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., protests that from the woman's viewpoint, the Presidential candidates who remain have no sex appeal, and the campaign will be dish-water dull to the dames who would have liked to see John Lindsay running for most anything.

* * *

"Nancy Sinatra Sr. is beautiful — in the way she meets and gets along with people" — and so was Eleanor Roosevelt — and both should have been included on my "Most Beautiful Girls in the World" selection, says Hugh O'Brian, who adds, "Beauty isn't only physical."

"When are going to select the most beautiful men in the world?" demands Helene Chan. "Get some women judges — how about me?" (Possible candidates: Paul Newman, Rock Hudson, Tiny Tim . . .)

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The Nixon headquarters has a new campaign gimmick: A worker is stationed in Mexico City greeting and assisting American tourists with translation and transportation, telling them "the ride is on" with Nixon and urging them to join up. Johnny Carson agreed to go on Jerry Lewis' Muscular Dystrophy telethon Labor Day and engage him in a pizza-tossing duel. (Johnny gave a party at Danny's for his brother Dick, leaving to direct the Don Rickles TV series.)

Bob Bernstein, president of Random House, arrived at the office with a great idea for a book: "The Sherman Plunkett Diet Manual." (For the unathletic, Plunkett's the NY Jets guard who got fired for fattening up to 300 pounds.) "We almost killed him," reports Bennett Cerf.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "It's true that two can live as cheaply as one," writes Art Paul. "My wife and I are living as cheaply as our daughter in college."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Instead of loving your enemies, treat your friends a little better."

EARL'S PEARLS: Nowadays TV commercials are so long that on one show the announcer, "And now, a brief pause for our program!" — Elliot Saltman.

There's a Broadway bookie who's called "Baseball Joe" when he takes baseball bets in the summer season. "Football Joe" in the fall, and "Basketball Joe" in the winter season. Frank Garzaniti, the wit of the Stage Barbershop, says, "Joe is 'A Man For All Seasons.'" . . . That's earl, brother.

2 Dems Wage Star-Studded Campaign

SING ALONG WITH HUMBERT — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey (center of left picture) joins Metropolitan Opera star Robert Merrill in a chorus of the Whiffenpoof Song at a fund-raising dinner in Newark yesterday. In right picture, Humphrey and Merrill applaud their efforts.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Zsa Zsa and Eva Gabor came out for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Sen. Eugene McCarthy counters with a pair of well-known Allens—Steve and Woody.

Leonard Bernstein backs McCarthy. Humphrey has Robert Merrill.

After the scramble for delegates, recruiting big names from the entertainment world appears to have a high priority in the Humphrey-McCarthy competition for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A third candidate, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, entered the race only last Saturday and apparently hasn't had either the time or inclination to comb the dwindling ranks of stage, movie, television and concert performers still uncommitted.

SHARED BILLING

The McCarthy camp fielded scores of performers in a series of rallies across the nation Thursday night, with Harry Belafonte sharing billing with the candidate at the main one in

New York's Madison Square Garden.

The Humphrey headquarters jumped in shortly before those performances with an announcement—"for immediate release"—that the Fifth Dimension musical group had joined the Entertainers for Humphrey Committee.

With Simon and Garfunkel already enlisted on McCarthy's behalf, his forces managed to survive the opposition maneuver.

The McCarthy camp includes performers under the broad heading of Arts and Letters.

The approach brings together Brooks Atkinson, Polly Bergen, Red Buttons, Betty Friedan, John Kenneth Galbraith, Robert Goulet, Jean Kerr, Bob Newhart and Igor Stravinsky, among many others.

In his more compartmented approach, Humphrey has an entertainers committee (Danny Thomas, Jerry Lewis, Soupy Sales, Al Hirt, Jane Morgan and Peter Duchin, to name a few) and a separate Arts and Letters listing.

Lawn and Garden News

REST AWHILE — All the ingredients for pleasure outdoors are in this small area: a concrete floor for dryness underfoot, walls for privacy, comfortable, weatherproof furniture for relaxing and for that final touch, the sweet scent and color of annual blooms.

Outdoor Living Room Plan

The whole idea of an outdoor indoors at every hint of a fort, the umbrella shade and the living room, a terrace, a patio shower. Redwood, treated (call it what you will) is to be metal, plastic — all are excellent for outdoor use. Certain ingredients are, therefore, absolutely necessary.

The first is a floor which will dry readily, for otherwise you would lose much pleasure-time because of standing water after rains. A concrete floor is ideal if drains have been installed so that water runs off quickly.

Gravel flooring drains easily in one direction your relaxing area and so does random stone paving. Only sun worshippers ing when stones are installed a want to relax with its rays bit above surrounding grass or beating down on them.

Next necessity is comfortable furniture to rest your weary bones and offer absolute relaxation. This furniture should be practical as well as comfortable. The retaining walls furnish privacy, the concrete floor dry so that it need not be moved.

A Party Luncheon Fruit Cup

You know how cool and in the heat of summer. It is delicious a fruit cup of cantaloupe and watermelon can be prepared for eating and frozen while the crop of these two melons is at its height, then used for a special treat during winter.

Tomatoes Pale? Probably Too Hot

Having trouble getting bright red tomatoes? Maybe it's just been too hot where you live.

When tomatoes, especially those growing in full sun, are exposed to temperatures over 86 degrees only the yellow pigment

Pick the melons when fully ripe, pare them, remove the seeds and either make balls with a special cup-shaped tool or slice of cube the meat.

Then add a syrup made of 2 cups of sugar dissolved in 1 quart of water. It is necessary to heat the syrup to dissolve the sugar but it should be thoroughly chilled before mixing with melons. Fill containers and freeze.

Semishade Proves Best

Iceland poppies are perennials that will bloom next year from seeds sown this fall.

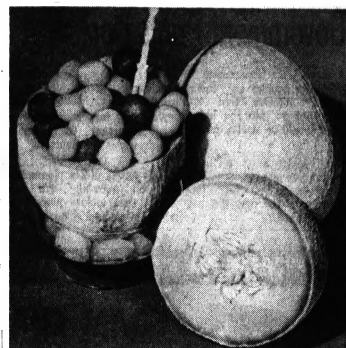

Slender stems one to two feet long, bright 3-inch blooms of white, yellow, orange, pink, rose or rose-red, single and double forms make this flower a desirable addition to any garden.

Plant seeds in a lightly shaded place where soil is cool. Keep moist by watering with a fine spray as often as is needed. Seeds will sprout in 1 to 2 weeks.

While seedlings can be transplanted when several inches high, plants that are left where they grew will bloom sooner and will tend to be sturdier.

Government Prints Booklet

A new U.S. Department of Agriculture booklet on "Indoor your garden periodically and to outdoors" advises that "all use seasonal or holiday plants that go into the indoor garden should be in clay pots."

The booklet says plants should not be planted directly in the indoor garden soil; they should be potted and the pots set in the garden.

Crabgrass Control Tip

If crabgrass has reared its ugly head in your lawn it's important to keep it from going to seed.

For crabgrass is an annual and the plants will not live over winter.

Only the seeds survive — to come up and annoy you next year.

Nature's Own Fruit Bowl

Wendy is making a bowl for across the melon and took off all the seeds out of these and cut the pieces into cubes to mix with other fruits for the salad.

Now, however, she is decorating the melon bowl. On its surface she has fastened maple leaves to form a design, using pins to attach the leaves.

MORE LEAVES

She has more leaves to add when she finishes outlining these or she can use these two leaves over and over, moving them along after she has traced around them.

For outlining leaves she uses the tip of an ice pick and she is careful to trace, not cut. She wants each maple leaf shape to appear in the light green of the flesh of the melon which is just underneath the dark green outer rind.

Sometimes Wendy outlines a wreath of maple leaves all the way around the top of the melon bowl. Sometimes she groups 3 leaves in two places and makes a design of these.

And, of course, she often uses other leaves than maple but always chooses leaves with pretty shapes.

MIXTURE

All sorts of fruits can be mixed together for the salad to be put in the bowl.

In addition to cubes of watermelon, cantaloupe, cherries, strawberries, apples, oranges, bananas and other fruits all add to the delicious taste of a summer fruit salad — particularly pretty when served in a decorated watermelon salad bowl.

SALAD BOWL—Wendy is outlining a design of maple leaves so that it will show in the light green of the flesh just under the dark green rind of the watermelon. She will use the melon as a salad bowl.

Bromeliads Are a Girl's Best Friend

Some people have a fondness for diamonds or horses. Others collect stamps. Develop an exciting collection of bromeliads, and you can outshine them all!

And what, pray tell, are bromeliads?

"They don't sparkle. They don't trot or walk. And quite unlike stamps, they wouldn't take too well to glue. But they dazzle the eye of the beholder with their fascinating variety of coloring, texture, and design."

Perhaps you've guessed it. Bromeliads are proud aristocrats in the world of house plants. Their leaves are tidy and endlessly varied in texture and design. Their flowers are flamboyant and spiky, like flaming words.

EXPLORERS RISK LIVES

Plant explorers have risked their lives to acquire new species of bromeliads in South and Central American jungles. Whole chapters expound their beauty in horticulture books. Yet it is very difficult to capture a true picture of this remarkable plant in words. It must be seen to be believed.

Colors range from bright shades of shocking pink, electric blue, brilliant orange, purple, and green to quieter tones of pastel pink, sky blue, and lime green — in bizarre combinations that contradict all rules of color harmony. Incredible as it may seem, some remain in fresh and brilliant indoor bloom for three to five months at a time.

If you are selecting your first bromeliad, possible choices far outnumber the various cuts of diamonds. There are 1,400 known species! Commercial growers have more than 100 varieties in cultivation in the U.S., all available on order from your florist if not actually in the shop.

Create a showplace for your favorites in living room, front hall, kitchen, bedroom, or den and you will find that these botanical gems quickly star as a homemaker's best friend.

PINEAPPLE

The pineapple, incidentally, is a member of the bromeliad family, and most of the plants are of the same general pattern — a rosette of leaves in a graceful whorl. The variety of colors, designs, and markings, however, is nothing short of a fantasy.

One of the plant's interesting peculiarities is its ability to store water in the natural vase-like cups formed by its durable leaves. These cups should be kept filled with water at all times. If you like, use the cups as vases for cut blooms when the bromeliad itself is not flowering.

Keep the soil in the pot moist, but if it is not possible to water your plants for a week or more, water in the cups will keep them in good condition.

Dr. H. Marc Cathey, Leader of Ornamentals Investigations for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Research Service, Beltsville Md., calls an encounter with bromeliads "an unforgettable adventure in horticulture."

"Do not worry about this plant's special requirements," he says. "Bromeliads have been called 'foolproof' once every three months, and at half the normally recommended dosage. Over-fertilized plants, with adequate water and even develop long, sloping leaves, and they will quickly grow."

"They grow very slowly and will not require repotting. They should receive plant fertilizer once every three months, and at half the normally recommended dosage. Over-fertilized plants, with adequate water and even develop long, sloping leaves, and they will quickly grow."

"Bromeliads are foolproof for propagation, too," Dr. Cathey adds. "Cut off side shoots, insert in a pot containing a normal mixture of potting soil, give them the same care received by the parent plant, and they will quickly grow."

Most bromeliads, Dr. Cathey points out, are inexpensive to buy. Other rarer species, however, are quite costly. But then, so are diamonds!

Remove Salts by Soap-Water

Accumulated salts that have leached out of porous walls of clay pots may be removed by washing them in warm soapy water with a stiff brush.

The cleaning also will remove accumulations of insects or bacteria, improving plant growth.

Garden Look for Windows

African violets in hanging planters suspended from curtain rods can give your windows the garden look all summer.

These living curtains can be achieved by using hanging clay pot planters with matching red clay saucers attached to brass chains.

Two-inch to four-inch pots fit snugly into their saucers, which are treated to catch excess water.

Gardener's Pals

Ladybugs devour as many as 50 aphids a day. They are considered one of the best friends of the gardener.

Put to Use Extra Land With Orchard

If you have an acre of two of fertile land you're really using, why not start a small orchard? Most of us enjoy fruit and you can grow it with good care and management.

According to a Pennsylvania State University correspondence course on orchard fruits, approved varieties of apples, pears, peaches, sweet and sour cherries will be good to start with.

Choose apple varieties to ripen in late summer, early autumn and late fall. Pears do well in temperate climates but fireblight may attack them and it's a disease hard to control. Sweet and sour cherries should both do well.

You'll probably want to grow peaches, too, but severe winter weather does them damage. Fifteen degrees below zero will kill fruit buds and about twenty below kills leaf buds. But peaches do need some winter weather. The flowers won't open normally without a few weeks cooling period between zero and forty degrees.

To learn more about the care of home orchards — including soil management, disease and insect control, and marketing — study the Penn State correspondence course. Send your name and address with one dollar and seventy-five cents to Home Orchards, Box 5000, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802. A course copy will come to you by mail.

New Kind of Angel Opens Its Purse

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK—A new kind of angel is about to spend $150,000 on Broadway and Off-Broadway.

The aim of the project is to boost shows of merit that are not geared to the easy box-office success formula of gals, gags, stars and songs.

"We're going to get answers to a lot of worthwhile questions," says Hugh Southern, executive director of the Theater Development Fund.

In the six weeks since TDF—created and financed by a group of public and private arts-oriented agencies—announced its office success formula of gals, gags, stars and songs.

DOZEN TO SHARE

About a dozen shows are expected to share in the largesse, in assorted ways.

"The odds against a serious play on Broadway have gone up alarmingly," says Southern, a management specialist since 1958 with enterprises ranging from the Theater Guild to the San Francisco Opera. He stresses that productions will be selected on both artistic and business grounds.

Requests are considered only from sponsors of specific projects: playwrights or agents needn't apply.

A script is first studied by one of a half dozen readers whose names aren't being divulged by TDF; then goes to Harold Clur-man, veteran critic and director, who makes the vital decision. His verdicts are subject to review by a trio of executive board members.

FAIR HEARING

"We'll be leaning over backwards to give a project a fair hearing," declares Southern.

"At the same time we desire to cover as wide a spectrum of theatricals as possible—and include both avant-garde and more traditional works."

Having passed all tests, the production gets assistance in any of three ways: Through loans for such pivotal "front money" needs as purchase of foreign rights; through outright grants; through purchase of large blocs of tickets.

Main reliance is to be on ticket-buying, mostly for the first three or four weeks of a run.

"That's the crucial period, particularly Off-Broadway," says

Sign at HQ in Viet Belies Army's Intent

LAI KHE, Vietnam (UPI) — Forest. Swaths have been cut. The knee-high wooden sign along the borders of Highway 13 pounded into barren earth which stretches from Cambodia outside an Army tent seemed like a misplaced touch of America.

"Stay off the grass," its stencil-painted letters ordered. "Help keep Vietnam green."

A paradoxical message indeed. First, because grass is scarce prairie on this idle rubber plantation where the U.S. 1st Infantry Division is headquartered. And second, the 19,000-man division has no intention of keeping Vietnam green.

Huge patches of jungle have been torn up and destroyed within the division's 50,000-square-mile area of tactical in-

Drug Firm Picks Ex-FDA Aide

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Robert M. Hodges, 44, who has served with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration in Washington, has been named director of clinical investigation for Parke, Davis & Co.

Hodges, who will take his new post Sept. 3, will succeed Dr. P. F. deCaires, who asked to be relieved of the position for health reasons. Hodges will work at the pharmaceutical firm's research laboratories in Ann Arbor.

"You may not see Charlie (the Vietcong), but you know he is out there," one soldier said. "You can feel it like cats' eyes staring at you in the night."

But the darkness, like the jungle foliage, no longer offers the Vietcong an undisturbed sanctuary. Since the TET offensive in February, the division has doubled its average number of night operations to 1,350, increased its unit strength in night ambushes from squads to platoons and companies and sent its night patrols probing more deeply into enemy territory.

"We've turned the night against the VC," said an army officer in an underground operations center.

Comedienne Frets Over Kin

Lucy's 2 Kids Join the Cast

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

HOLLYWOOD — The boy is 15½, very handsome and serious. The girl is 17, pretty and a natural comedienne. They are a pair of nice kids having lunch in their mother's office and mother is just not a good enough actress to keep the maternal glow of pride out of her blue eyes.

Spending some time with you and hear mother-children conversations such as go on all over the world. The boy sneezes. The mother rises from her chair, walks around the table and feels his forehead.

"Are you getting a cold?" she asks. He says he isn't. "Are you telling me the truth?" she wonders. "I don't think he is, zoom," the girl says. "I'm all right, really," the boy says.

Temporarily, the concern is eased. But you know the next time the boy sneezes the mother will worry again.

A GOOD MOTHER

And that is the kind of mother Lucille Ball is, a good one, a careful one, a protective one and a very proud one. Her children, Lucie and Desi Arnaz, are joining her when she returns to CBS-TV in September in a new format, Here's Lucy.

The change was necessitated when Lucy sold Desilu Studios and its programs to Gulf and Western Industries. Rather than work for another producer, Lucille Ball Productions created Here's Lucy, retained Gale Gordon and added Lucy's own youngsters to the cast.

Lucie, who acted in high school plays and who appeared in a small role with her mother last season, and Desi, who performs with the Dinos, Desi and Billy trio, were basically unknown talents.

"At first we were not sure we were doing the right thing," Lucy said. "They didn't want to discourage me or I them, so we all worried quietly. I didn't want to put any unfounded worries in their minds. I didn't have to worry. I am delighted to say they have both gotten every laugh we wrote into the script, plus about 18 or 20 others. And the audience which watches us do the show has caught their enthusiasm."

PRIVATELY TUTORED

Both youngsters are being privately tutored while appearing on their mother's show, because Lucy thinks this is a good chance for them to learn about show business. "They don't need schools for social life or to see what is out there in the great world. I think it's a good idea for all kids to get a chance to try careers while they are young."

Lucie, whose natural sense of comedy and delivery is reminiscent not of her mother, but of Carol Burnett, is pretty certain she wants to remain an actress.

"I would live to win an Academy Award," she said. "An Emmy would be nice, too."

"I want to be a dramatic actor," Desi added. "At 15½, I'm getting laughs, but wait until I'm 20. I'd like a western movie, too, but everybody wants to do a western."

DEAR SANTA

Lucy interrupted, "This is letter-to-Santa-Claus time." Ask Lucie and Desi if anything surprised them about their new careers and they are pretty much in agreement. "When we just watched the show," Desi said, "we didn't know that much work went into it."

"It's the attention to detail, and the make-up and those time-consuming things I hadn't thought about," Lucie said. Lucy, a perfectionist, added, "She is learning that, for instance, her bangs must be just right. One week she wouldn't listen and she found out. I want them to see the rushes. It's another way to learn."

NAME PROBLEM

In the series, Lucie will play a character named Kim Carter and Desi will play her brother, Craig Carter. Will this cause problems for their mother, trying to remember to call her offspring by different names?

"No. I always have trouble with names anyway. I call Desi Gary and Lucie De De and twice I have called De De (my mother) Cleo, which is my sister's name."

Radical Reform Set for House of Lords

LONDON (UPI) — Lords are Lords mainly a revisionary not as loved as they used to be but on complicated bills.

Peers by inheritance will not lose their titles. So Prince Charles, the 19-year-old heir to the throne, will retain his of being handed with a silken lengthy list of subsidiary titles as Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron Renfrew.

Now their greatest stronghold, the House of Lords, is due to be radically reformed and taken away from the belted earls and barons whose ancestors came along with William the Conqueror and saw King John seal the Magna Carta.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson has announced his intention of introducing legislation to end the 700-year-old hereditary system whereby a man who inherits his title from his father has the automatic right to a seat in the House of Lords.

Wilson has every reason to want the cobbles blown out of the Lords because most of them are Conservative, giving the present opposition party an in-built majority over his Labor party.

But a fair number of Conservative peers like Lord Harlech, friends of Jacqueline Kennedy, agree a change is long overdue.

The reconstituted House will be composed of life peers — men and women who get their titles just for their lifetime in recognition of their achievements, not their birth.

BY CHRISTMAS?

The reform bill, once penned in legal language, may be put before the House of Commons by Christmas or shortly thereafter and then sent up to the House of Lords, which cannot save itself by rejecting the legislation because its powers are limited to delaying tactics.

At present the Lords can delay a bill by up to 12 months, a process which angered Wilson into pushing for early reform when Conservative peers delayed an order for stricter economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

He may cut the delaying powers to three months, making as, "If the Noble Lord will for the purpose of the House of

TO LOSE VOTE
But these 1,000-plus peers will lose their vote in the House of Lords.

FAIR REMOVED
They are far removed from the image of castles, coronets and cucumber sandwiches for tea.

Lord Blyton ("My friends call me Bill") spent 32 years down in the coal mines from the age of 14 and lives to this day in low-rent public housing.

Wilson made him a baron for life in 1964 in recognition of his years as a trade unionist member of parliament. He speaks with a strong Northern English accent — "canna" for cannot, "nowt" for one.

"What we're abolishing is the right to sit in the House of Lords because in the dim and distant past your forebears had titles," said Lord Blyton, 69.

NOT JUSTIFIED
"I've always been against the hereditary principle. It is not justified in the modern age because you're the son of a peer to take a seat in the council of the country."

Reform will put more life into the leisurely procedure and debates which putter along for SECOND GENERATION — Lucie and Desi Arnaz are likely to become very well-known after they debut next month in "Here's Lucy," their mother, Lucille Ball's, latest TV series.

Fund Cuts Threaten Role of the Saturn 1B

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Space Administration (NASA) had been planning on using the surplus Saturn 1Bs as workhorse earth orbital man-in-space project known as the Apollo Applications Program (AAP).

And because of continuing slashes in the space agency's funding, the rocket is in danger of losing any job it might have had.

The eight-engine booster is now scheduled to join six others in storage at their immense, partially mothballed, assembly plant in New Orleans. None is expected to fly this decade.

The two-stage Saturn 1B was designed for stogap service in the drive to land men on the moon before 1970. The idea was to use the cheaper and available Saturn 1Bs to give the Apollo spacecraft the testing they needed in earth orbit so that when the mighty Saturn 5 moon rocket came along, Apollo would be able to proceed to a lunar landing.

The Saturn 1B was ready to do its job, but the spacecraft was not and, as a result, only four unmanned Saturn 1Bs have been launched. The fifth is now here being readied to orbit the first manned Apollo spacecraft in October.

After that flight, Project Apollo is scheduled to turn to the Saturn 5 and the Saturn 1B is expected to be retired from further use in the main-line moon program.

The $200-million Saturn 5 is the only rocket with enough power to send a fully equipped, 98-ton spaceship to the moon. The $42-million Saturn 1B can lift a two-section Apollo command ship or a lunar module landing craft into earth orbit, but not both at the same time.

Two Ex-Champs Face Golf's Young Challenge

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A couple of old pros found themselves at odds with a pair of the rising stars among the younger set today as the semifinals opened in the 68th U.S. Women's Amateur golf championship at Birmingham Country Club.

The oldtimers in the event are four-time winner Mrs. JoAnne Gunderson Carter of Seekonk, Mass., and three-time titlist Mrs. Anne Quast Wells, 28, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., and they'll face a pair of 23-year-olds in Joyce Kazmierski of Grosse Ile and Catherine Lacoste of France.

All but Miss Lacoste breezed to victories in the quarter-finals yesterday, with the French lass again pressed before outsting Jane Bastanchury of Whittier, Calif., the 1968 Broadmoor Invitational titlist and reigning Trans-Mississippi champion.

The bubbly Miss Lacoste, easily the favorite of the crowd and the pre-tournament favorite to take the title, was expected to have her hands full today against Mrs. Carter, one of the longest hitters among the women's ranks.

"I'm ready," said the blue-eyed Mrs. Carter, indicating she was looking forward to the meeting with Miss Lacoste.

The two have never met in competition. "I saw her once in Ireland about five years ago," said Miss Lacoste, adding, "but she wasn't playing very well then."

SEASONED PLAYER

Times have changed. Mrs. Carter is an old hand at this tournament game and that was expected to give her a slight edge as she and Miss Lacoste tangled this afternoon.

The winners today move into the 36-hole finals tomorrow, with rounds slated for 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Miss Kazmierski, a 1968 graduate of Michigan State University, is having her first year in golfing circles and she has had her game finely tuned at Birmingham.

A teacher at Livonia Stevenson High, Miss Kazmierski, who celebrated her 23rd birthday Wednesday, polished off England's Vivien Saunders yesterday, 4 and 3, but the sledding against Mrs. Wells was expected to be a bit tougher today.

Mrs. Wells hammered Phyllis Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., 5 and 4, in the quarter-finals, while Mrs. Carter ousted Mrs. Paul Dye Jr. of Indianapolis, 4 and 3, and Miss Lacoste squeezed past Miss Bastanchury, 1 up.

Miss Kazmierski, winner of the Women's District match play title along with the Michigan championship, is in the semifinals for the first time.

She beat 1967 champion Lou Dill of Texas in the first round of the 1966 event and then lost to Mrs. Carter in the second round. Last year, he suffered a muscle injury and defaulted in her first match.

"I hit only four greens today, but I'm pleased with the way I played. I was getting it up and down," she said of the round, meaning her chipping and putting game was on the superb side.

BAGS EAGLE

Miss Kazmierski, three up at the turn, lost No. 11 when Miss Saunders banged home a 12-footer for a birdie, but the Michigan hopeful locked the door on the 13th when she holed a 50-footer for an eagle. Miss Saunders blasted out of a trap and made her putt but lost with a birdie.

Miss Lacoste, who has been playing just well enough to win, is seeking to become the first foreign golfer to win the title since Pamela Barton turned the trick back in 1966.

With her match seemingly well in hand after nine holes, Miss Lacoste saw a four-up lead melt to one as Miss Bastanchury won Nos. 11, 14 and 17 with pars, and the slight Californian almost tied the match on the par-5, 18th. Her 65-foot chip for a birdie stopped just inches short of the cup.

Mrs. Wells was never in trouble as she hit the ball straight and true to dispose of Miss Preuss, a semifinalist last year.

Mrs. Wells, who won the title in 1958, 1961 and 1963 and placed second in 1965, has been blanked in the title column the past few years after dominating play in the late 1950's and early 1960's.

Quarter-Final Results

Upper Bracket
Catherine Lacoste, France, def. Jane Bastanchury, Whittier, Calif., 4 and 3.
Mrs. Ann Gunderson Carter, Seekonk, Mass., def. Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., 4 and 3.
Joyce Kazmierski, Detroit, def. Vivien Saunders, England, 5 and 4.
Mrs. Ann Quast Wells, Mount Vernon, Wash., def. Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla., 5 and 4.

U.S. Net Squad Hopeful as Cup Activity Nears

CLEVELAND (AP) — "This is the big one for us—if we can defeat Spain, we should go on to take the Davis Cup from Australia," says Don Dell, rookie captain of the U.S. team.

That's the way it looks on paper anyway," he added as the inter-zone matches with Spain opened today on the flat Harold T. Clark courts.

Spain's Manuel Santana, 30-year-old super-star, met hometown product, Clark Graebner, 24, a husky powerhouse player, in the first singles contest.

Juan Gisbert, 26, faced U.S. ace Arthur Ashe, winner of seven tournaments this year, in the second singles battle.

DOUBLE MATCH

A doubles match will fill Saturday's session, with another pair of singles winding up the series Sunday.

The winning team will take on the West Germany-India winner this fall. That winner will play in Adelaide, Australia, Dec. 26-28 for possession of the Cup.

The Americans have advanced through the inter-zone challenge series by downing teams from the Caribbean, Mexico and Ecuador.

Miss Kazmierski won the match, 4-3, to move into today's semifinals of the U.S. Women's Amateur.

Detroit Opens 3-Game Series Against Bosox

BOSTON (AP)—The odds-on favorite to win the American League's Cy Young Award this season faces last season's winner tonight as the Detroit Tigers take on the Boston Red Sox in the first of a three-game series.

Denny McLain (24-3) will take the mound for the Tigers, looking for his 25th victory and his sixth in a row. His longest personal winning streak of the season is eight games.

Jim Loberg, who won 23 games for the pennant-winning Red Sox and was voted the top pitcher in the league last season, is scheduled to start for the Red Sox. Loberg suffered a knee injury in a skiing accident last winter, missed spring training and part of the season and has a record of only six decisions—three victories and three losses.

HELD GROUND

The idle Tigers held their ground in the American League pennant race Thursday night as the second-place Baltimore Orioles split a doubleheader with the Minnesota Twins.

The Tigers now lead the league by seven games with 43 games left in the season. They could wrap up the American League flag with 37 more victories.

Following the Red Sox series, the Tigers have Monday off, then return home for a three-game stand with the ninth-place Chicago White Sox.

One man who has come to mean a lot to the Tigers in their pennant drive is veteran first baseman Eddie Mathews, at $50,000, the highest-paid batting practice pitcher and bench-warmer in major league baseball.

He reported to the Tigers this spring with back trouble and underwent surgery for a ruptured spinal disc July 5.

ON BENCH

On July 26, he rejoined the club as a "courtesy player," the 26th man on the regulation 25-man squad. He is allowed to sit up for games and sit on the bench although on the disabled list.

"You can't put a finger on what Mathews means to this team," said Al Kaline. "I guess it's just that he is respected as an old hand. He's been through it all before—the pressure of the pennant race—and everybody sort of turns to him. For what? I can't really say. Just some intangible things."

The return of Mathews in July was a morale boost for the league-leading Tigers. "The club picked right up when he got back," Kaline said. "We won two of three games with Eddie just being there."

The Tigers hope to get Mathews back on the active list by Sept. 1. Players must be on the active roster by that date to be eligible for the World Series. At any rate, if the Tigers win the pennant, Mathews could be in for up to $10,000 series money.

And if Mathews isn't ready manager Mayo Smith plans to ask permission to have his morale booster suited up and on the bench.

In a Detroit reported story, pitcher Joe Sparrma was supposed to have blasted manager Mayo Smith for removing him from the game Wednesday.

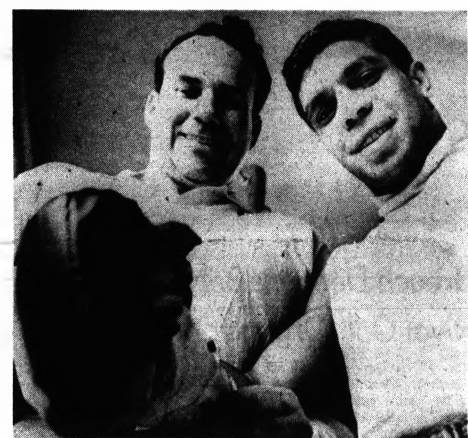

Sparrma was quoted as saying, "He humiliated me, by taking me out." The Tigers were leading 1-0 against the Indians at the time and Sparrma had permitted two runners to reach base when he was removed.

Thes Tigers defeated the Indians 3-0 and reliever Mickey Lolich was credited with the victory.

Injury Plagued Nick Eddy Under Knife Again Today

Nick Eddy took an ill-fated step down from a train at East Lansing in November, 1966. His football career has been plunging in the same direction ever since.

Eddy, one of the glamor boys of college football in 1966 when he helped Notre Dame to a national championship, sustained a freak injury to his shoulder descending from the train which carried the Fighting Irish to East Lansing and their now famous 10-10 tie with Michigan State.

The incident set a pattern which has plagued the 6-foot-1, 210-pounder ever since.

Eddy was drafted by Detroit and signed a three-year, $200,000 contract. He damaged his knee, however, in the Lions' third pre-season game and eventually missed the entire 1967 season.

He underwent surgery last Oct. 12, to remedy damage to the outside of the knee and seemed well on the road to recovery when he aggravated the injury in the Lions' 13-9 loss to Buffalo on Aug. 5.

Dr. Richard A. Thompson, the team physician, announced Thursday he will operate today to remove cartilage damage from the former All America's knee.

Eddy, an explosive runner, was to have teamed with Mel Parr to form one of football's most potent backfields, but the hard luck halfback has yet to play a regular season game for the Lions.

BREAKS DOWN

Another of pro football's most celebrated knees, one belonging to Joe Namath of the New York Jets, broke down again Thursday.

Namath, who caused a major controversy when he refused to suit up last Monday night's pre-season test against Houston when he insisted his knees hurt, limped off the practice field, clutching his left knee.

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets immediately announced Namath was a definitely out of Saturday night's game against Boston in Richmond, Va. Team physician Dr. James A. Nicholas diagnosed the injury as tendinitis.

Scheduling Conflicts Keep Tennis Stars Out of East Tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The 68th U.S. National Tennis Championships were set to get under way at Longwood today with several top stars missing because of conflicting play.

Arthur Ashe, Clark Graebner and other U.S. Davis Cup stars were in Cleveland for the start of inter-zone matches with Spain.

The two top seeded foreign players in the women's division also had other commitments before moving to Longwood's grass courts: Margaret Smith Court of Australia and Maria Bueno of Brazil had semifinal matches scheduled in the Essex Invitational at Manchester, Mass.

The National Championships will combine singles and doubles play after a long lapse. They were put together with the mixed doubles after Forest Hills elected to sponsor the first U.S. Open next month.

Limping Twin Runner Saves Twinbill Split

By the Associated Press

Rod Carew might be the American League's top hitter, but to the Baltimore Orioles he looks more like the league's leading runner — bad knee and all.

Minnesota's All-Star second baseman ran the Orioles out of a ball game Thursday night and left them standing still in their chase after league-leading Detroit, which was idle.

sore left knee after Baltimore scored three fifth-inning runs for a 4-3 victory, entered the second contest of a two-light doubleheader as a pinch hitter for Bob Allison in the eighth inning.

The score was tied 1-1 and hits by Rich Reese and Tony Oliva put runners on first and third with one out. Carew grounded to shortstop Mark Bellanger, whose throw to second baseman Dave Johnson forced Oliva. But Carew, shaking off his leg miseries, barely beat the return throw to first base as Reese scored the winning run for a 2-1 triumph and a split.

OTHER GAMES

In the only other games, Boston blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0, California beat Washington 3-1 and Oakland splitted with the New York Yankees 4-3.

Carew, hitting .305, helped the Twins to a 3-0 lead in the first game against Jim Hardin when he singled in the first of three runs in the opening inning. Frank Quilici later doubled in the other two.

After that burst, the Twins and Carew folded. While Hardin, 15-4, held them scoreless the rest of the way and completed a six-hitter, the Orioles jumped on Dean Chance, 11-11.

Pontiac Medal Qualifying to Start Saturday

The scramble for Pontiac's Medal Play Championship opens with an 18-hole qualifying round tomorrow at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course.

Nearly 100 players have signed for the event and late entries are expected to swell the total far above the 177 who entered the event last season.

At stake tomorrow will be 32 spots in the 36-hole finals slated for next Saturday and Sunday (Aug. 24-25), 18 holes each day.

CHAMPS PLAYING

A state champion and a former state champion are expected to be on hand for the qualifying tomorrow.

Gary Balliet, 18, who is enrolling at Oakland University this fall, won the Michigan Publix championship earlier this month and he'll be among those trying to take the city championship from his father, Tom.

A former champ expected to enter is Terry Hoy, 27, who won the 1967 Publix title.

LINEUP IN FINALS

Those qualifying tomorrow will join the low five scorers from last year plus all former champions in the 36-hole finals.

Tom Balliet, 43, a foreman at Pontiac Motor, won the title last year with an even-par 138.

Ken McClintock, medalist in the qualifying last year, was eight shots off the pace with a 146. Runner-up in 1967 was Avery Burton with a 139.

Fishermen Angling to Learn Techniques in Freshwater School

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State University is going to conduct a five-day school for fishermen — no kidding.

MSU announced it will offer the nation's first freshwater angling school, Aug. 25-29, at Alpena in the heart of Northern Michigan's lake country.

Angler students will learn the tested methods of fly fishing, bait and spin casting, and spinning. The teachers will be four "Specialists" from the MSU faculty and representatives of major tackle equipment manufacturers.

MSU said the school "will not be all study and no recreation." Training includes "Actual fishing on nearby lakes and streams."

Faced with two unbeaten teams in the next two weeks on the road, the Pontiac Firebirds travel to Dayton Saturday night where they face the always tough Dayton Colts.

13 IN ROW

The Pontiac winning streak, which has reached 11 straight in regular season, plus two in exhibition, will definitely be threatened in Dayton or the following weekend in Lackawanna, N.Y.

With several of his linemen still hobbled with injuries, head coach Tom Tracy of the Firebirds must make several adjustments in both offensive and defensive units.

Ed Gillespie is latest player out with a leg injury but he is the third defensive lineman to be lost in as many weeks.

Tackles Bob Minton and Ron Clark were sidelined in successive weeks and now Gillespie joins the disabled list after his injury in the rough Flint game last week.

AFTER REVENGE

Dayton will be looking for revenge for the two losses suffered to Pontiac last year when the Colts had injury problems. Now the shoe is on the other foot as the Firebirds have the injuries and the Colts are healthy and keyed up for the game.

The Firebirds leave by bus early Saturday morning and the game will be played at Wayne High School field in Huber Heights near Dayton.

Losing hurts, but sometimes it can be better than the alternative.

At any rate, that's the way Mrs. Mary Redmond, 64, of Farmington figured it as she surveyed a putt on the 18th green during the Western Open a few years back in Chicago.

From a spectator standpoint nothing was missed. There was no one around. She and her opponent, the name now forgotten, were playing for the top spot in the fourth or fifth flight.

"I was one down as we started No. 18," Mrs. Redmond was saying and laughing as she recalled the incident where she decided it would be better to give up than to continue play.

"It was a short hole and was on in two. She had beat the ball down the fairway and was on in three but a long way from the cup. All I needed to do was two-putt and that would tie the match."

"But I looked up at the No. 1 tee and there must have been 5,000 people there waiting to watch the championship flight tee off."

FORCE PLAYOFF
"I'm laying two and she'll be four after the putt. I was thinking, Oh, my gosh, I'd win and then we'd play off and that would hold up that championship match."

Mrs. Millie Osplack won her fourth ladies club championship last week at Plum Hollow with a 54-hole total of 263. She won other titles in 1963, 1965 and 1966.

Breach Deepens Between Rival Golf Organizations

The chasm between the Professional Golfers Association and the touring players, who have set up a rival organization, deepened today.

Max Elbin, president of the PGA, said he would ask the special meeting of the PGA Executive Committee at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. today for permission to pull each player and "ask him whether he is a PGA member or a member of the other group."

"If he wants to join the other group," Elbin said. "Then I would pull his card immediately."

Such an action would mean that the player would be suspended and ineligible to compete in further tournaments such as the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic next week at the Whitemarsh Country Club.

Sam Gates, attorney for the rebel players who have formed a new organization called the International Professional Golfers Association, termed the threat of a "coercion" and "dictatorial."

"I am advising the players, if this move is taken, not to respond to such a pull," Gates continued. "The players cannot be intimidated by this kind of dictatorial action."

Elbin made his comment in Washington before leaving for New York City to attend the New York Jets of the American Football League, was charged from the Army Thursday because of a knee injury.

Regionals Next Stop for Softball Winners

Teams from Pontiac and Waterford now head for regional action following victories last night in the district phase of the state recreation softball tournament.

Ron's Root of Pontiac blanked Holly Carrigan Realty in a twinbill to win the Class D crown, while Spencer Floor of Waterford took the Class C title with an 8-2 nod over Jameison Insurance of Holly.

The two champions now move to Owosso for the regionals next week. On tap tonight is the Class B finals with Waterford's Day's Sanitary taking on Ferndale at the Drayton Plains park.

A Day's win in the opener ends it, but if Ferndale takes the first game, they'll play a second to determine the champ. The winner goes to the Port Huron regional.

TWO-HIT JOBS
Ralph Long set down Holly on two hits in the opener as Ron's won, 5-0, and Jim Smith flipped a two-hitter to give Ron's a 2-0 win in the nightcap.

Bud Hayward rapped out a couple of hits in the opener and drove in the second run in the nightcap. Bill Buck, who scored the first run in the first inning of the second game on a single by Al Hayward, picked up two safeties to take the attack.

Maurice Stack's three-run home run sparked a five-run outburst in the fourth and led Spencer to the easy victory. Stack finished with three hits, while Jim Long and Louis Seay checked in with two apiece.

The Pontiac fastpitch title will be decided Sunday at 7 p.m. when Town & Country and Timberlane Lounge collide at Northside Park.

The two are tied at 1-1 in their playoff series.

Dog Show on Tap

French Breed Stirring Interest

By DON VOGEL

Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press
"They are kooky, but I wouldn't have anything else," Mrs. Kenneth Wells of Detroit was expressing her feelings about Briards, a little known but much sought after French sheepdog.

"I've never become so hung up on one breed so fast," she continued, "they have very definite, marvelous personalities."

Mrs. Wells was visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carl Ruby, 312 Woodland Ridge, West Bloomfield Township. Mrs. Ruby is treasurer of the Briard Club of America.

"There are about 400 Briards in the United States," Mrs. Ruby pointed out. "I believe there are only 15 in Michigan." She and Mrs. Wells have five of them.

Mrs. Wells purchased two puppies in France last spring. Both will be shown in the Detroit Kennel Club show Sunday as part of the Briard club's national specialty show. Twenty-three of the bushy-eyed dogs are entered.

RECORD NUMBER
The PKC all-breed bench and obedience show has attracted a record 1,186 dogs and will be at Wanser field with the first judging scheduled to get under way at 9 a.m. The Briards will be shown at 12:30 p.m.

The picture above best describes a Briard. Height at the shoulder runs from 22 1/2 to 28 inches. The goat-like hair sheds water and dried mud easily. Colors shade from black to fawn.

"They shed very little," said Mrs. Ruby who keeps her female in the house. "The hair over the eyes causes some problems with vision when they are inside, but not to the extent that they can't see where they are going."

"When outside, the hair blows away from the eyes."

The hair provides protection for members of the sheepdog breeds against brush and weeds while tending flocks. Some Briards are still used for this purpose in France.

At one time there were thousands of this breed in France. But Mrs. Wells found the population has greatly diminished during her recent visit to Europe.

"I spent three days phoning places in France from London before I finally located a woman who had Briards," she said. The woman lived in a small community and 27 dogs lived under the same roof with her.

"I've never seen so many Briards in one place," said Mrs. Wells.

TWO REASONS
She was searching for European stock for two reasons. (1) Her dog, Ch. Kibbutz Chien Viliu died of a virus two weeks after finishing, and (2) she wants to provide some out-cross breeding stock.

"There are only about six breeders in the United States," explained Mrs. Ruby, "and we want to avoid any problems that might come from too much in-cross breeding."

While the number of dogs in this country is small, the demand is high, according to the two women.

Rochester Net Ace Seeks State Honors

Rick Watson, the hard-hitting youngster from Rochester, will lead Pontiac's delegation to the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association state tennis tournament, beginning today at Roseville High School.

Watson repeated this summer at the Oakland County Open Tennis Tournament singles champion and teamed with Jim Hawkins of Hazel Park to win the doubles title, too, at Oakland University's courts.

The county annual tournament is cosponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department and The Press.

Thus, Watson and Hawkins qualified to represent Pontiac in the state recreation tourney.

JUNIORS
Joining them on the Pontiac squad are junior netters Mike Yambrach and Dan Tate of Bloomfield Hills. The county singles champ John Pollick is committed to represent Huntington Woods in the state activity.

Junior play began at 10 a.m. this morning. Tate is playing singles and will join Yambrach for the doubles. Their alternatives are Fritz Yambrach and Carter Ryan (Birmingham).

ALTERNATES
The alternates for Watson and Hawkins are Pontiac's Leon Hibbs and Ralph Alee. Men's play will begin 10 a.m. tomorrow.

There are also girls' women's and mixed events but Pontiac can't send anyone for those events since it doesn't sponsor any such competition locally.

Team points are awarded for each singles (two points) and doubles (three) victory. The tournament will conclude Sunday with the presentation of trophies.

Murphy Leads at Westchester

Floridian Fires Blistering 64

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Murphy is a cocky, confident young man, built along the lines of a miniature Jack Nicklaus, who holds a one-stroke lead going into today's second round of the $250,000 Westchester Classic Golf Tournament.

"Cocky," he repeated the question after firing a blistering, eight-under-par 64 in Thursday's opening round over the sun-splashed Westchester Country Club course, a 6,648 yards, par 72 layout.

Enthusiasm High in Little League

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — While major league experts argue over baseball's lack of hitting, slump at the turnstiles and nonexistent pennant races this year, enthusiasm is at its traditional high in this Little League headquarters city which hosts its 22nd World Series beginning Tuesday.

Five of the eight berths in the series, which has become the highest dream of thousands of youngsters, will be filled in regional playoffs Saturday. The competition takes place in the North, South, East and West United States and Canada.

Teams from Chindagoga, Nicaragua; Wakayama, Japan; and a U.S. Air Force team from Weisbaden, Germany already have won regional playoffs, and will complete the series field.

Veteran Dan Sikes who finished second in last year's inaugural of this richest of the tournaments, had a 65 for second place. A former Masters champion Art Wall, Jr., had a 66 and defending champion Jack Nicklaus 67.

"Fine," said Sikes, when Murphy's 64 had put the veteran golfer's lawyer in second place in the run for the $50,000 first prize.

"There's a theory on the tour," he said, "and almost all the players believe in it, that it's better to be just a little off the pace, not be the leader. The baseball pitcher.

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — day when he shot an opening Young Tom Weiskopf has won $142,551 so far this year on the pro golf tour, more than any other player, and he should be stacking greenbacks instead of worrying about his image.

"I don't know why, but everybody's got me tabbed as a terrible tempered blow up," the tall, 25-year-old stylist from Columbus, Ohio, said today.

"Maybe it's because of my friendship with Tommy Bolt, who has helped me a great deal. Maybe people just misunderstand. But I've never been disciplined in my life for throwing a club or being offensive to a gal."

Weiskopf's reputation as a firebrand was escalated Thursday when he shot an opening idea is to stay close and not lead. All the pressure is on the leader.

It's all psychological. Murphy, a stocky, 210-pound redhead, agreed.

"Most of the tournaments I've won, I've come from off the pace," he said. "But I'm not sorry to be last."

Murphy, 25, a former amateur and national collegiate champion, is in his rookie year as a professional. He didn't take up golf until he was 18, and that because of a football injury. He had hoped to make a career for himself as a baseball pitcher. So far this season, he's made $23,828 on the tour.

His blistering assault which included an eagle, when he chipped in from 25 yards, down birdies and one bogey—on the 13th when he was in the deep rough twice—was the biggest battering given the course as far took a terrible beating.

NINE BIRDES Sikes had nine birdies—half his holes—in his round, on putts ranging from 6 to 30 feet. He had bogeys on Nos. 2 and 3, each time in a trap.

"I'm just looking at the weather," said Sikes. "I don't want this one rained out."

St. Louis 14 Games Ahead

Cards Turn Back Cubs' Challenge

By The Associated Press

The duel for the batting lead between Matty Alou and Pete Rose seems to be the last remnant of competition for a National League top position now that St. Louis has turned back the late challenge of the Chicago Cubs.

Only three points separate Alou and Rose today while the first-place Cardinals are 14 games in front of the runner-up Cubs.

Alou, 1966 NL batting king, cracked two hits in four tries Thursday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked San Francisco 2-0 behind Steve Blass' four-hitter. The Cardinals' four-hitter, Steve Blass, walloped the Cubs 4-0 and Houston edged Philadelphia 3-2 in the only other National League game.

Alou's safeties raised his average to .330. Rose leads with .333 while another Cincinnati Red, Alex Johnson is third at .321.

San Francisco's Willie McCovey has a commanding lead in homers, and runs batted in with 30 and 77, respectively, while Juan Marichal, another Giant, is a solid front runner in most pitching victories with 21.

Alou triggered a two-run first inning that carried Blass to his 10th victory against five defeats. Matty singled and later scored on Donn Clendenon's one-bagger. The second run came home when the third baseman Jim Hart erred on Manny Mota's grounder.

Doug Rader's eighth inning run-scoring double broke a tie and gave the Astros their victory over the Phillies. Houston trailed 2-0 in the sixth, but Jim Wynn's 18th homer tied it.

The Phils had taken a 1-0 lead in the opening on Tony Taylor's double, an infield out and John Briggs' double. They added their second run in the fourth on singles by Briggs and Richie Allen, a walk to Tony Gonzalez and Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly.

Rojas had a chance to win the game for Philadelphia in the Carew pulled up lame two innings later and rested his knee until the eighth of the nightcap when he turned on the speed.

Jim McGlothlin, 8-10, stopped the Senators on four hits in California's victory. After he gave up an unearned run in the first on two hits, an error and a double play, Tom Satriano put the Angels ahead with a two-run single in the second against loser Frank Bernaja, 4-12.

People in the News

By the Associated Press

George Hart of Wichita, Kan., came out $28.47 ahead in his latest political race.

His financial statement showed he spent $616.74 in the Kansas primary campaign for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor but he listed contributions at $891. He also released these figures on the governor's race — how he withdrew: expenses $640.79; contributions $556.

Hart runs for something almost every time there is an election in Kansas. He has been a candidate — sometimes twice — for governor, lieutenant governor, U.S. senator and state treasurer.

He was elected treasurer once.

Nearly Blind Since Birth, Now He Can See

Billy Gibson, 16, who has been almost totally blind since birth, was able to really see for the first time yesterday with a pair of telescopic glasses.

"I could see my mother . . . then I could see that painting on the wall, and then I looked and I saw my father," he said after trying on the glasses.

Billy, a gangling, friendly and articulate boy from Ogden, Utah, was born with eyes too small to see with. He had been told his case was hopeless.

Then his mother read an article about Dr. William Feinbom of Manhattan, noted for his work with the special glasses, and brought her only child to him.

Police Group Elects Officers

Members of the Waterford Township Police Officers' Association last night elected as their new president a detective who has been with the force about four years.

Detective Gerald L. Smith of 5874 Dvorak, Waterford Township, will assume the duties of president as Patrolman Glen Phelps, Smith's term of office began immediately following the election.

Other elected officers were Patrolman Carl Soldeen, vice president; Detective James Webb, secretary; and Detective Philip Bowser, treasurer.

Elected directors were patrolmen Gary Root and Donald Bailey.

Two Men Drown in Lake Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — Two men drowned in Lake Michigan off the 31st Street Pier Tuesday, one in a vain attempt to rescue the other. A third man was pulled to safety with a rope fashioned from beach towels.

Police identified the dead as Alanzo Lowry, 30, of South Bond, Ind., and Herman Lawrence, 25, Chicago.

Officers reported Lawrence fell from the pier into rough water and Lowry and Cleveland Jenkins of Chicago jumped in to rescue him. Jenkins was rescued.

The first successful diving suit was invented by Augustus Siebe in 1819.

FACTS ABOUT COLOR TV ANTENNAS
Experience has proven that the following facts apply to most locations in this area regarding Color TV Antenna installation.
• Modern, broad-band antennas are definitely superior for color reception.
• One continuous lead-in to ant. is best without couplers or series outlets.

A Look at TV

One Actor Not Worried

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD - This is the time of the year when worrying is a way of life for the inhabitants of televisionland. If you are connected with an established show that has gone merrily along for two years or more, you worry about the competition and whether the viewers will love you in September as they seemed to last March.
If you are involved in a new series, you worry about everything—the competition, particularly if part of it consists of feature movie reruns; the time period; the scripts; the format; and—most of all—the reaction of the fickle, inscrutable public. The only relatively carefree crowd is found working in a series that was tossed into a mid-season vacancy in a network schedule and, somehow, caught on.
One of these last season was ABC's "It Takes a Thief," which not only proved a popular winner, but attracted an audience that saved the show that followed it, "N.Y.P.D.," which had been slated for extinction. The public liked the character, too. Wagner plays a jaunty, debonaire thief using his skills as a superagent. What makes it all sort of a mystery, however, is that at the time the show made its debut, jaunty, debonaire superagents had become a drug on the market—"Laugh-in," in fact, had replaced the jaunty, most debonaire of them all, "The Man From U.N.C.L.E."
"Ours just took off," said Wagner.

HHH Losing Ground in State Delegation

LANSING (AP)—Vice President Hubert Humphrey has lost ground in recent weeks in his bid for support among Michigan delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

An Associated Press poll of the delegation reveals that Humphrey could expect only 61 of Michigan's 96 votes if the convention were held today.

Humphrey received 63 votes in the last AP poll conducted Aug. 2.

McGovern picked up one vote from a former Humphrey supporter.

Here is how the tabulation breaks down:

Hubert Humphrey 61
Uncommitted 27
Eugene McCarthy 7
George McGovern 1

The lone vote cast for Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the latest Democrat to declare his candidacy, was cast by a former supporter of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York. McGovern, a former Kennedy supporter, has stated that he holds the same beliefs as the late senator.

LITTLE CONCERN

Few delegates, however, expressed concern over McGovern's entry into the race.

"McGovern's entry will serve only to make things a little stickier," said one delegate, who asked not to be named. "I mean, what does South Dakota have, 26 votes? Now if he came from Illinois or a large state with a big delegation, he'd have to be considered a formidable candidate."

"I think McGovern's just playing politics," added Lewis Carter of Detroit, Carter, a former Kennedy supporter, said he now supports Humphrey.

'WAR THING'

"This war thing has really gotten to me," the delegate, who asked to be unnamed, said. "I'm not for unilateral withdrawal, but neither is McCarthy when you read what he's said. He's much more balanced than that."

He added that he now supports McGovern.

Nursing Home Rift Near End—Romney

LANSING (AP)—State officials today worked quietly to solve a dispute with the Michigan Nursing Homes Association over the amount of money the homes will be reimbursed for care of Medicaid patients.

Gov. George Romney Thursday issued a terse, vague statement in which he said:

"On the basis of personal discussions with state officials and members of the Michigan Legislature and of staff discussions with representatives of the State Nursing Homes Association, I believe an acceptable arrangement has been found for state reimbursement to nursing homes for care of public patients."

"Details of this plan are being worked out and will be announced when finalized."

"In the meantime, I strongly urge the nursing home operators of Michigan to refrain from any further action which will work personal hardship on their patients."

GOOD NEWS

Basil Boyce, president of the Nursing Homes Association immediately responded, saying he was "delighted" that the governor had been working on the dispute over reimbursement payments.

"I will immediately ask all of our member homes to reconsider any decision to stop serving Medicaid patients pending the resolution of our problems," Boyce said.

Homes in the Wayne County area especially have been moving state-supported patients out of their institutions to general hospitals, apparently because of the dispute. At latest count, some 60 elderly patients had been moved.

The Associated Press learned that state officials had been meeting throughout the week, trying to find a reimbursement rate that would be acceptable to both the state and the association.

LAST OFFER

The last state offer was for $11 and $14 payments for statesupported patients, providing each participating nursing home would agree to several conditions. One of the provisions called for a promise from the home to accept all patients and not change their status or transfer them.

David Lebonhom, association legal counsel, said the provision was "an abrogation of power" to the state. Members reportedly were urged to reject the proposal.

Contract for Raising Road Is Awarded

Flooding on Dixie May Be Solved Soon

TROUBLE SPOT

A two-year-old flooded road problem in Waterford Township may be on route to a solution so far as motorists are concerned, but residents of the area will likely still have a water problem, according to officials.

The State Highway Commission has awarded a $22,234 contract to an Ann Arbor firm to repair Dixie Highway south of Walton.

Construction work along a 400-foot stretch of the road will involve raising the grade of the busy highway 1½ feet, according to highway officials.

A township official said he didn't see how raising the road would help the area's drainage problem.

ON OTHER SIDE

"The water will just pond deeper on the other side of the road," commented

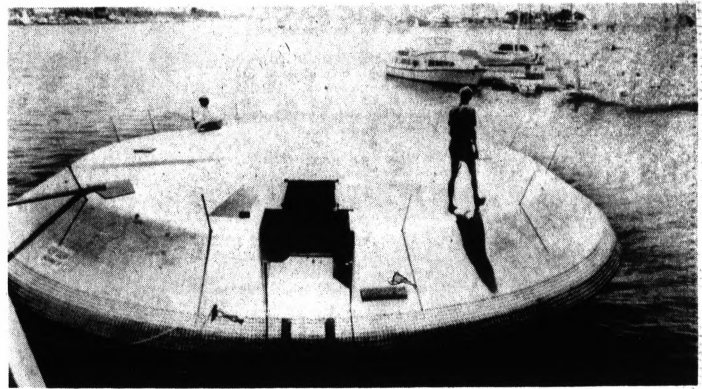

Township utilities manager Kenneth Squires, indicating the east side of the highway.

Ann Arbor Construction Co. was awarded the contract when it undercut the only other bidder on the job, Detroit Asphalt Paving Co., by about $400.

Highway officials say raising the grade of the road should stop flooding of the roadway that has plagued traffic through the area in the past. There is still no assurance though, that the surrounding land won't flood.

The area is easily flooded because of an apparent drain collapse along the west side of the street of the Dryden Plains Extension Drain.

Legislators Adjourn Today

LANSING (AP)—Gathering for possibly the last time this year, legislators yesterday approved a measure allowing them to seek higher offices and voted to set up a commission expected to raise their pay.

A bill which would have legalized police wiretapping with court approval was killed in the House, meanwhile, and attempts to overturn two of Gov. George Romney's vetoes also were defeated.

Then, except for formal adjournment ceremonies at noon today, legislators rang down the curtain on their 1968 regular session—bringing their work to a close unless Romney calls them back this fall.

Skimming through both houses of the Legislature with unusual speed yesterday were the proposal allowing lawmakers to seek other offices—which requires voter approval in November—and the pay raise bill—which received voter approval Aug. 6.

RESERVED VETO

Passed 21-7 by the Senate and 63-25 by the House on the same day was a bill giving legal implementation to a State

Officers' Compensation Commission, which voters wrote into the constitution in the Aug. 6 primary.

To ensure that the commission would not cut their pay, lawmakers reserved to themselves the right to veto its determination and provided that in the case of a veto they would retain their current $12,500 salary and $2,500 expense allowance.

Also clearing both houses in one day, and with two-thirds majorities in each, was a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit lawmakers to seek other state offices before their terms expired.

The resolution—which will be one of five statewide proposals on the Nov. 5 ballot—is designed to overturn a ruling of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley which apparently was recently upheld by the State Supreme Court.

CIVIL APPOINTMENT

Kelley held that the constitutional ban on legislators accepting "civil appointment" from "any state authority" means they cannot be elected by the voters to other state offices.

The ruling stopped Rep. Melvin DeSiger, R-Hudsonville, from running for the State Senate last year, and this year forced Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, to withdraw as a candidate for circuit judge.

Richardson sponsored the resolution which, if approved by the voters, overturn Kelley's ruling. The Supreme Court ruled against Richardson's candidacy, but has not yet explained its reasoning.

In the Senate, an attempt urged by some grocers to overturn Romney's veto of a bill allowing them to sell alcoholic beverages to take out within 500 feet of a school or church drew 13 votes—half the number needed.

In the House, backers of a measure authorizing local authorities to declare states of emergency in actual or threatened riots failed 40-42 to suspend the rules and allow a second vote on overriding Romney's veto.

Kelley, however, had ruled earlier yesterday that home-rule cities already have such power.

A compromise measure rewriting state regulation of barbers was given last-minute legislative approval after the House withdrew all three amendments it had made to the Senate version.

Sent to the governor for approval or veto was a measure increasing from $100,000 to $250,000 the ceiling on the total value of contracts which a municipality may enter for purchase or lease of property without approval of the State Municipal Finance Commission.

McGovern Is Due at County Confab

Presidential aspirant Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota is scheduled to address members of the Oakland County Democratic Party at the group's county convention tonight at the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Auditorium.

George Googasian, chairman of the county Dems, said McGovern is expected to appear about 10 p.m., State Sen. Sanford M. Levin of Berkley, state chairman of the Democratic party, will open the convention with an address at 8 p.m.

McGovern is to arrive in Detroit this afternoon and spend the day in meetings with party officials and government leaders in an attempt to line up delegate support at the national Democratic convention.

New OCC Trustee Critical of Program

Take care of Oakland County students first, then those from Detroit in Wayne County, a new Oakland Community College trustee argued last night.

Trustee Dr. Douglas J. Collins of Farmington Township criticized a college program to subsidize the education of 50 high school graduates from Detroit's inner city. The program is to start Sept. 4.

"In two years this program will have 500 students," Collins, a veterinarian who was elected in June, told the board of trustees.

"It should reach our own people. I feel it should be aimed at residents of Oakland County, not Detroit."

BUSED TO CAMPUS

The students have been located by a Detroit citizens group and are to be bused to the college's Farmington Township campus to take vocational or college courses and to work at a campus job.

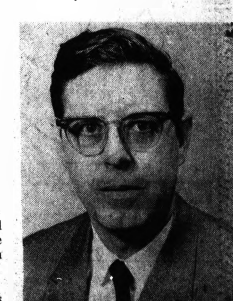

OCC has waived their tuition, will give them $300 for expenses and has arranged their admission to Michigan State University if they maintain at least a "C" average for two years.

College officials reiterated it was necessary to use the established Detroit group to get an immediate federal grant.

They said efforts are being made to include Oakland County students.

Acting Provost Dr. Donald Godbold of the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township reported that he had met with Oakland County leaders to establish a group to locate students for the program.

College officials said they are still looking for bus transportation to be donated to bring the students to the multimillion dollar campus.

U.S. Presses Hanoi: Why Lull?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is putting the onus on North Vietnam to say directly or indirectly whether the current battlefield lull in South Vietnam is a sign of de-escalation.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford gave that word yesterday while making clear he believes the lull merely reflects a time of preparation for new enemy attacks.

Some critics have accused the ad-

"Obviously, what I would regard as a clear signal would be the kind of signal that would be so easy for them to give," the defense chief said.

"All they have to do," he added, "is get word to us that they have reduced the level of combat and that they will continue to reduce the level of combat, and that constitutes a deescalation."

The drop in enemy activity has been noted by defense officials the past seven weeks, in terms of both large-unit and small scale actions.

U.S. combat deaths have declined, too, since the Tet offensive when as many as 400 to 500 Americans were killed in a peak week. They now average about 181 a week.

Clifford acknowledged the North Vietnamese have been withdrawing troops to border areas of their own territory as well as to Laos and Cambodia but he did not interpret this as de-escalation.

"This is a pattern that he has followed in the past," he said. "He moves the troops out of the battle areas so that he can start the regrouping and the refitting, and institute other preparations for attack."

ministration of a hard-line interpretation of the recent decline in enemy military operations.

Their argument is that the lull should be viewed as Hanoi's response to President Johnson's bombing limitation, ordered March 31, and that the administration ought to follow through with another step of de-escalation: Stopping all the bombing.

Clifford contended in a Pentagon news conference that all signs point to the likelihood of a major new offensive, and that Hanoi could easily dispel the notion

Poseidon Launch Called a Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest missile, the Navy's Poseidon, shot into the dawn light on schedule today on its maiden flight. The Navy called it a complete success.

Carrying a dummy warhead, the bright silver bird sent a brilliant flame from its dryland launch pad as it left Cape Kennedy at 6:30 a.m. Two minutes later, Poseidon spun a pinwheel pattern as it soared out of sight.

The terse Navy announcement five minutes after launch said the test moved the Poseidon forward on its schedule to become part of the submarine fleet by

This Shoot-Out Is Real McCoy

By BOB WISLER

Two Pontiac families became embroiled in a shoot-out yesterday which was reminiscent of the legendary Hatfield-McCoy feud.

The results: A man and two youths wounded by shotgun blasts. One of those wounded, a 17-year-old youth and his 34-year-old neighbor, are expected to be charged with attempted murder or felonious assault, police indicate.

Various accounts of the incident are conflicting, but police believe that bad feelings simmering between the Metoyer and Williams families reached a fever pitch yesterday afternoon and evening.

James Metoyer, 34, of 115 Center called police yesterday afternoon complaining that Mrs. Lucy B. Williams, 45, of 114 Center had pointed a shotgun at him and threatened to kill him and his family.

Later, about 8 p.m., serious trouble ensued. According to statements of McClain Williams, 17, of 114 Center and his sister, Dorothy, 22, one of the Metoyers, Alphonse, 28, a brother of James Metoyer, was ordered out of the Williams house by McClain.

The youth said "Pee Wee" refused to leave and he, Williams, got a shotgun. Metoyer outside of the house, then aimed at and shot William Metoyer, 18, the son of James, who was standing in the doorway of his house at 115 Center across the street.

Alphonse, who lives at 248 Rockwell was wounded in the chest, left leg and right arm and is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital. William Metoyer was treated at the hospital and released.

McClain Williams was wounded by a shotgun blast in the arm, allegedly shot by James Metoyer, who police suspect got a shotgun, came out and fired across the street at Williams after Williams shot the young Metoyer.

Williams, a police prisoner in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, in a satisfactory condition, will be charged along with James Metoyer, police said.

CITY-SIZE LUMPS BELOW MOON'S SURFACE — Below the crust of the moon are mass concentrations of dense material as large as a city, say two scientists, William L. Sjogren (left) and Paul M. Muller of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif. The lumps' location is circled on a lunar globe.

The mass concentrations, which indicate the moon is a "raisin bread" structure of varying densities rather than a homogenous unit, were discovered by analyzing spacecraft acceleration data from Lunar Orbiter V, a model of which hangs in front of the globe.

U.S. Panelists Ask Antismoking Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national task force today recommended stepped-up federal and private efforts to combat use of cigarettes and "stem the rising tide of early deaths and disabilities associated with smoking."

The report was immediately attacked by the Tobacco Institute as a "shockingly intemperate defamation of an industry which has led the way in medical research to seek answers in the cigarette controversy."

Among the recommendations of the task force report to the U.S. Surgeon General:

- Tighter restrictions on cigarette advertising and promotion.
- Better instruction in schools to influence youngsters to refrain from smoking.
- Greater antismoking efforts by doctors and other health professionals.
- Use of group approaches to prevent or reduce smoking.
- More insurance plans which give reduced rates to nonsmokers.
- Development and promotion of safer cigarettes.

LIKES RESULTS

The task force, which was appointed in 1967, said it is encouraged with early results of antismoking efforts.

It noted that cigarette consumption per capita declined sharply after the surgeon general's 1964 report on smoking and health, that it rose again in 1965 and 1966 and again is declining.

But the task force said "The problem remains, still, bigger than the efforts to combat it. Cigarette smoking is one of the foremost preventable causes of death in the United States as well as in other parts of the world."

On cigarette advertising the task force said it "is unable to see how, in the long run, a product involving the health hazards of cigarettes can continue to be advertised."

URGES WARNING

In the meantime, the group said, "higher standards for cigarette advertising should be demanded." It called on the administration to press for legislation to require that tar and nicotine contents be listed on cigarette packages and in advertising. And the task force urged a stronger warning about the health hazards on cigarettes, to be placed in advertising as well as on cigarette packages.

County Asked to Establish Water System

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — In passing a resolution this week, the City Commission took formal action to bring "city water" to all of Bloomfield Hills.

The commission resolution asked Oakland County to establish a county water system or district in and for the city of Bloomfield Hills.

According to City Manager Robert Stadler, the county will sell bonds, supervise construction and operate the proposed system, which will carry Detroit water to Bloomfield Hills.

"We've been talking about city water here for a number of years," Stadler said. "In order to get it, a two-thirds majority of the city's voters had to approve it. It took four elections before we finally got it," he added.

CITYWIDE TAX

In order to pay for the $3 million project, a citywide, at large tax will be levied. Stadler said. Preliminary plans for the project are almost completed, he pointed out and construction will begin within six months.

"The whole project will be completed by the end of 1969, so that every platted piece of property throughout the city will have city water," Stadler said.

Presently, all residents of the city are served by local wells. The new system is served by local wells. The new system is expected to offer a more economical and efficient public water service, he indicated.

At the commission meeting Mayor William Shaw appointed a seven-member citizen advisory committee to work with planners of the project. Stadler will act as a liaison between the committee and the commission.

CITY HALL HEATING

In other business, the commission approved the expenditure of $3,300 for the installation of new heating system in the city hall. The Automatic Heating Co. of Pontiac was awarded the contract for the project.

Road Flooding May Be Solved

has involved officials of Waterford Township, the County Drain Commission and the State Highway Department. Each apparently had been waiting for the other to act.

Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson told a recent meeting of officials that he was reluctant to proceed with forming a new drainage assessment district and subsequently raise taxes at this time.

An attempt to get the drain working late this spring was effective only briefly.

After a rain about 10 days ago one of the nearby residents placed a darning board out over the flooded area as a sort of a frustration symbol.

Hard-Core Job Drive Finds Work for 140,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An executive of the National Alliance of Businessmen has told President Johnson that 140,000 jobs have been found for the hard-core unemployed.

But the report from Leo C. Beebe, NAB executive vice chairman, indicated the campaign met difficulties from both right-wing and left-wing elements and from politicians. Beebe was cautiously optimistic concerning the long-range effects of the program.

"We are under no illusions about the difficulty of closing the gap between the jobs and the jobless," said Beebe, a Ford Motor Co. vice president. "Success hinges on our ability to change human habits, those of the hard-core and our own."

"Nothing could be more difficult. There is no formula for success. Progress is obstructed from the right by those who resist change and from the left by those who expect change to occur overnight."

JOB COMMITMENTS

In a report to the President on the first six months of the NAB's job campaign, Beebe said the alliance had obtained 310,000 job commitments and placed 140,000 people on the job.

He said pledges for the hard-core unemployed totaled 165,000 and 46,000 were already working.

The NAB, launched last January, hopes to put 100,000 unemployed in jobs by next June and 500,000 by the summer of 1971. In June the President asked the alliance to find 200,000 jobs for needy youth this summer.

Beebe said summer job pledges totaled only 145,000 and although the hard-core pledge campaign "cannot be called anything but a resounding success," the youth program should be a year-around effort and not just a "summer thrust."

COMMUTING PROBLEM

"A job for a dropout certainly is as welcome in the off-season as in the summer, and placing dropouts on a year-round basis — as an integral part of the hard-core program — should simplify the task of providing summer jobs for needy school youths," the report added.

Beebe said the employer who pledges a job for a hard-core worker in a suburban plant will be confronted with the problem of transportation from the city center to the suburb.

"In time, commuting will prove to be impractical and the employer will see that the only solution to the dilemma is either to set up shop in the city or move the worker and his family to the suburb," Beebe said.

Hospitalized in serious condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today is Guy Thomas Spadafore, 16, of 1705 Windrop, Bloomfield Township.

According to Bloomfield Hills police, the accident occurred at 12:30 a.m. on southbound Woodward, south of Long Lake Road.

Police said the car, driven by Spadafore, apparently swerved left across the roadway and then right, off the pavement.

OTHERS HOSPITALIZED

Three passengers in the car were also taken to the hospital.

Richard Coleman, 15, of 2210 Hunt Club, Bloomfield Hills and Michael Bowman, 17, of 2375 Hunt Club, Bloomfield Hills, are both reported in fair condition this morning.

West Bloomfield Schools Name 2

WEST BLOOMFIELD — Two appointments recently have been approved by the West Bloomfield Board of Education.

Norman C. Katner, former principal of Roosevelt Elementary School in Kooze Harbor, has been appointed to the newly established position of assistant superintendent for business affairs.

Katner's appointment to the $16,500-a-year position became effective Aug. 5.

Last summer he served as director of a special summer education program under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965 to improve the educational level of economically-disadvantaged children by raising their self-concept.

NEW YORK POSTS

Prior to joining the West Bloomfield Schools, Katner served in a directoral capacity for economic opportunity programs in New York and taught at the elementary and secondary levels for 8 years in that state.

Carl T. Childress was appointed the principal of the new Doherty Elementary School, scheduled to open in January.

Childress's appointment to the $12,000-a-year post will be effective Monday. He will serve as an administrative intern until the new school opens.

Loans Are Available for Barley, Oats, Rye

Commodity price support loans are available to all producers of 1968-crop barley, oats and rye, Alfred Haack, chairman of the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has informed producers.

He added that producers of these crops do not have to participate in other farm programs to be eligible for price support loans, as is the case with wheat and corn.

Any farmer, he stated, who produced barley, oats or rye this year can obtain a price support loan on the crop by contacting the local county ASCS office.

The amendment was adopted and given immediate effect at the recent meeting, according to board secretary Doris Unger.

In other action the board approved the final plat for Stratford Knolls subdivision number eight west of Old Perch and south of Walton.

The project includes approximately 83 lots.

Golf Champion Reflects a Different Kind of France

By JEANNE NELSON

LaBelle France isn't all Haute Couture houses along the tree-framed boulevards of Paris. Nor are all her Made-moiselles the sleek, sunken-cheeked models who parade those famous name creations of its leading city.

Catherine Lacoste, here at Birmingham Country Club competing this week in the United States Women's Amateur Golf championship is far removed from that particular scene.

Miss Lacoste, who won her match Thursday with California's Jane Bastanchury, represents a picture few Americans have of the French woman.

Softness is replaced by determination; gay coquettishness by competitive zeal and frail beauty by a sound athletic build. Watching the noted golfer play, spectators could readily feel her obvious delight at being placed in a close competitive situation.

When she emerged from the 18th green, the smile of victory was a signal to followers to converge upon the winner seeking autographs and offering congratulatory messages.

During a brief interview, this much was learned about Miss Lacoste: she prefers to wear shorts or slacks for playing to the golf dress her famous tennis champion father manufactures. The dress, not sold in France, is worn by her off the links.

In Thursday's match, she wore a yellow sleeveless shirt with the now familiar alligator emblem (another item of Msgr. Lacoste's golfing apparel that bears his name) with soft green slacks and white shoes.

She may have been wearing lipstick when she tied off, but by the 18th green it has completely disappeared. In contrast, her fingernails were ablaze with a vivid shade of polish.

INTERESTS

Speaking with a pronounced British accent, the noted French golfer told of one day becoming an interpreter when her tournament days are over. When talk of the recent student uprising in her country came about, the 23-year-old Mlle. at first said "she wasn't here to talk politics." After some urging, she did remark that the students had her sympathies although she did not take any part in the demonstration by her own choice.

On this, her third visit to the United States, she hasn't limited herself to golf alone. Dancing, parties and meeting new friends appear to be important in her life too. Although she started to play golf at eight years old, she had found other interests along the way. Painting is one of them as well as learning to play the guitar.

Her family's wealth (she talks to her father by phone every day from here) and her own skill and competitive spirit take her out of the typical young French woman category. Just ten minutes after her arrival at an area motel, a week ago, she was ready to leave for the Club to begin practice.

Miss Lacoste's own words seem to sum up the young lady's personality. "When I'm winning, I'm very happy." Vive la France.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This probably won't make your column, but for the sake of all men who have fat wives, I hope it does.

My wife is 5 feet 3 and tips the scale at 200 pounds, but as long as she is happy, so am I.

Our children adore her, I worship her and friends love her. She is a wonderful cook and housekeeper and she always dresses neat and smells fresh and clean. She's never nervous and grouchy like most women who are always on some crazy starvation diet.

To me, she is perfect and I tell her so. I couldn't be more anxious to get home to her every evening if she looked like Sophia Loren. Sign me . . .

SATISFIED If you are satisfied, fine. But is your wife's Doctor satisfied? Ask any insurance expert how many years of life one can deduct from each 10 pounds of overweight. Vanity isn't everything, I agree. But if you want that wonderful wife around to "worship" in your old age, give her some food — for thought.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for parents who believe their son is window peeping.

My fiancé has been in that sort of trouble for the past 10 years. He said he did it at first for kicks. Then it became a habit. There followed a series of arrests and jail sentences. He is presently awaiting action on a more serious but directly related offense.

For the two years I've known him I had assumed he was "cured" and had not been in trouble. I was wrong. You cannot imagine the heartbreak and shock I suffered when they arrested him the last time.

He's not a bum. He is a well-educated young man from a good family.

I beg you, please see that your son consults a doctor, clergyman, school guidance counselor or any mental health center, but do it now. Later may be too late.

NO NAME, NO CITY, PLEASE.

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

Last night at Meadow Brook, Edith Peinemann, young German violinist, was heard as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Sixteen Ehrling conducting. It was a meaty, melodic concert from the opening of a declamatory strains of Schubert's "Rosamunde" Overture, through Dvorak's graphic Seventh Symphony, and ending with Khatchaturian's colorful and emotional Violin Concerto.

Strength, assurance, vibrant tonality and confidence mark Miss Peinemann's violin style. Her tiny, youthful appearance belies her broad, deep tone, her mastery of her instrument, her mature interpretation of the difficult concerto.

The work itself is Armenian in style, full of syncopation, Middle Eastern cadences, brightness and unrestrained tempestuousness. The first and third movements proceed at a break-neck pace, with a thundering rhythmic beat that has a heated, spell-binding effect on the audience.

TOUCHING

The second movement, a slow waltz, is a touching recitation of soul-searching proportions, which touches the base of human emotions.

Miss Peinemann portrayed the many facets of the concerto intensely, dynamically and profoundly. Her technique was clean and uncluttered, her interpretation bold and strong, her dynamics clean and controlled.

The accompaniment, which is of symphonic proportions, was achieved beautifully and colorfully by Mr. Ehrling and the orchestra.

In contrast to the fiery concerto, the orchestra opened the concert with Schubert's "Rosamunde" Overture. After an unsure and scratchy episode in the violin section, the overture soon got under way with a neat and more than adequate performance.

Dvorak's Seventh Symphony in D Minor was the major orchestral work of the program. Mr. Ehrling and the orchestra caught the varying moods, from serious and grave, in the first movement, to religious and spiritual in the second, to robust yet lighthearted, in the third, to sweeping and dramatic, in the fourth, and he wove them into the fabric of a great, imaginative performance.

Mr. Ehrling is at his best in symphonies of the Romantic and Modern periods; his imagination captured the creativity, the restrained sentimentality, the breadth and spirit of the symphony with candor, freshness and true inspiration.

CELLIST

Saturday's concert features famed 'cellist, Gregor Piatigorsky in Haydn's "Cello Concerto, Strauss' "Serenade for 13 Wind Instruments" and Strauss' "Don Quixote," with Nathan Gordon as viola soloist.

Sunday's concert marks the final performance of the summer, and the last concert in which Misha Minkoff, retiring concertmaster will be heard. He will perform, with Mr. Piatigorsky, Brahms' Double Concerto for violin, 'cello and orchestra.

Russian Composer's Note Stirring

INTERLOCHEN — A warm personal letter from Moscow has given added meaning to Interlochen's rehearsals for a rare American performance of Kabalevsky's "Requiem" here Saturday.

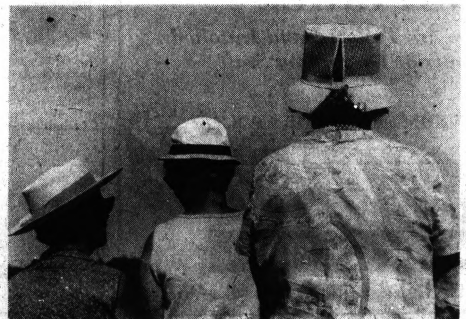

A bond of friendship between Interlochen and Dmitri Kabalevsky was established when the contemporary Russian composer visited the National Music Camp in August, 1966, during the International Society for Music Education conference.

The 400-voice Festival Choir—an all-camp choir open to campers, faculty and staff—will sing the "Requiem" in English translation Saturday night at 8:00 in the Interlochen Bowl under the direction of Allen C. Lannom of Boston University. The University Orchestra will accompany. Members of the Intermediate Chorus will sing parts designated for children's chorus.

Learning of the Interlochen performance from chore manager Arthur Schneider, Kabalevsky responded that he was "delighted" and the "thought that this composition will sound in a performance of young singers and musicians is, giving me a special pleasure."

Ask Autograph Discreetly to Be Correct

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my husband and I and another couple went to a well-known supper club. Seated at the table next to ours was one of my favorite movie stars. Very quietly I leaned over and asked her if she would give me her autograph.

She did so willingly. The wife of the other couple reprimanded me for that and said that I had no right to infringe on her privacy. Was I wrong? — Mrs. E. Potter

Dear Mrs. Potter: No, as long as you didn't start a lot of attention. Most movie stars look upon requests for autographs not as infringements on their privacy, but as evidence of their popularity.

UNUSED DRESS

Dear Mrs. Post: I've cancelled my plans to be married and this leaves my maid of honor with a fairly expensive dress. I feel terrible and want to do whatever I can about her expense. Have you any suggestions? — Eleanor Connors

Dear Miss Connors: If it is a dress that she will have no further use for, and you can afford it, you should pay for it. If it will be useful to her, you should share the expense insofar as you are able, or as far as she will allow you.

WHAT'S MY MOVE? — Mrs. David Wells, the former 3-time champion Ann Quast, surveys her next shot in her quarter-final match of the U.S. Women's Amateur at Birmingham against her opponent Phyllis Preuss. Mrs. Wells, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., won, 5-4.

Two Ex-Champs Face Golf's Young Challenge

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A couple of old pros found themselves at odds with a pair of the rising stars among the younger set today as the semifinals opened in the 68th U.S. Women's Amateur golf championship at Birmingham Country Club.

The oldtimers in the event are four-time winner Mrs. JoAnne Gunderson Carner of Seekonk, Mass., and three-time titlist Mrs. Anne Quast Wells, 28, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., and they'll face a pair of 23-year-olds in Joyce Kazmierski of Grosse Ile and Catherine Lacoste of France.

All but Miss Lacoste breezed to victories in the quarter-finals yesterday, with the French lass again pressed before outslug Miss Bastanchury of Whittier, Calif., the 1968 Broadmoor Invitational titlist and reigning Trans-Mississippi champion.

The bubbly Miss Lacoste, easily the favorite of the crowd and the pre-tournament favorite to take the title, was expected to have her hands full today against Mrs. Carner, one of the longest hitters among the women's ranks.

"I'm ready," said the blue-eyed Mrs. Carner, indicating she was looking forward to the meeting with Miss Lacoste.

The two have never met in competition. "I saw her once in Ireland about five years ago," said Miss Lacoste, adding, "but she wasn't playing very well then."

SEASONED PLAYER

Times have changed. Mrs. Carner is an old hand at this tournament game and that was expected to give her a slight edge as she and Miss Lacoste tangled this afternoon.

The winners today move into the 36-hole finals tomorrow, with rounds slated for 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Miss Kazmierski, a 1968 graduate of Michigan State University, is having her finest year in golfing circles and she has had her game finely tuned at Birmingham.

A teacher at Livonia Stevenson High, Miss Kazmierski, who celebrated her 23rd birthday Wednesday, polished off England's Vivien Saunders yesterday, 4 and 3, but the sledding against Mrs. Wells was expected to be a bit tougher today.

Mrs. Wells hammered Phyllis Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., 5 and 4, in the quarter-finals, while Mrs. Carner ousted Mrs. Paul Dye Jr. of Indianapolis, 4 and 3, and Miss Lacoste squeezed past Miss Bastanchury, 1 up.

Miss Kazmierski, winner of the Women's District match play title along with the Michigan championship, is in the semifinals for the first time.

She beat 1967 champion Lou Dill of Texas in the first round of the 1968 event and then lost to Mrs. Carner in the second round. Last year, he suffered a muscle injury and defaulted in her first match.

"I hit only four greens today, but I'm pleased with the way I played. I was getting it up and down," she said of the round, meaning her chipping and putting game was on the superb side.

BAGS EAGLE

Miss Kazmierski, three up at the turn, lost No. 11 when Miss Saunders banged home a 12-footer for a birdie, but the Michigan hopeful locked the door on the 13th when she held a 50-footer for an eagle. Miss Saunders blasted out of a trap and made her putt but lost with a birdie.

Miss Lacoste, who has been playing just well enough to win, is seeking to become the first foreign golfer to win the title since Pamela Barton turned the trick back in 1936.

With her match seemingly well in hand after nine holes, Miss Lacoste saw a four-up lead melt to one as Miss Bastanchury won Nos. 11, 14 and 17 with pars, and the slight Californian almost tied the match on the par-5, 18th. Her 65-foot chip for a birdie stopped just inches short of the cup.

Mrs. Wells was never in trouble as she hit the ball straight and true to dispose of Miss Preuss, a semifinalist last year. Mrs. Wells, who won the title in 1958, 1961 and 1963 and placed second in 1965, has been blanked in the win column the past few years after dominating play in the late 1950's and early 1960's.

Quarter-Final Results
Upper Bracket
Catherine Lacoste, France, def. Jane Bastanchury, Whittier, Calif., 1 up.
Mrs. JoAnne Gunderson Carner, Seekonk, Mass., def. Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., 4 and 3.
Joyce Kazmierski, Detroit, def. Vivien Saunders, England, 4 and 3.
Mrs. Anne Quast Wells, Mount Vernon, Wash., def. Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla., 5 and 4.

U.S. Net Squad Hopeful as Cup Activity Nears

CLEVELAND (AP) — "This is the big one for us—if we can defeat Spain, we should go on to take the Davis Cup over Australia," says Don Dell, rookie captain of the U.S. team.

"That's the way it looks on paper anyway," he added as the inter-zone matches with Spain opened today on the fast Harold T. Clark courts.

Spain's Manuel Santana, 36-year-old super-star, met hometown product, Clark Graebner, 24, a husky powerhouse player, in the first singles contest.

Juan Gisbert, 28, faced U.S. ace Arthur Ashe, winner of seven tournaments this year, in the second singles battle.

DOUBLE MATCH

A doubles match will fill Saturday's session, with another pair of singles winding up the series Sunday.

The winning team will take on the West Germany-India winner this fall. That winner will play in Adelaide, Australia, Dec. 26-28 for possession of the Cup.

The Americans have advanced through the inter-zone challenge series by downing teams from the Caribbean, Mexico and Ecuador.

Detroit Opens 3-Game Series Against Bosox

BOSTON (AP)—The odds-on favorite to win the American League's Cy Young Award this season faces last season's winner tonight as the Detroit Tigers take on the Boston Red Sox in the first of a three-game series.

Denny McLain (24-5) will take the mound for the Tigers, looking for his 25th victory and his sixth in a row. His longest personal winning streak of the season is eight games.

Jim Loberg, who won 23 games for the pennant-winning Red Sox and was voted the top pitcher in the league last season, is scheduled to start for the Red Sox. Loberg suffered a knee injury in a skiing accident last winter, missed spring training and part of the season and has a record of only six decisions, three victories and three losses.

HELD GROUND

The idle Tigers held their ground in the American League pennant race Thursday night as the second-place Baltimore Orioles split a doubleheader with the Minnesota Twins.

The Tigers now lead the league by seven games with 43 games left in the season. They could wrap up the American League flag with 37 more victories.

Following the Red Sox series, the Tigers have Monday off, then return home for a three-game stand with the ninth-place Chicago White Sox.

One man who has come to mean a lot to the Tigers in their pennant drive is veteran first baseman Eddie Mathews, at $50,000, the highest-paid batting practice pitcher and bench-warmer in major league baseball.

He reported to the Tigers this spring with back trouble and underwent surgery for a ruptured spinal disc July 5.

ON BENCH

On July 28, he rejoined the club as a "courtesy player," the 26th man on the regulation 25-man squad. He is allowed to suit up for games and sit on the bench although on the disabled list.

"You can't put a finger on what Mathews means to this team," said Al Kaline. "I guess it's just that he is respected as an old hand. He's been through it all before—the pressure of the pennant race—and everybody sort of turns to him. For what? I can't really say. Just some intangible things."

The return of Mathews in July was a morale boost for the league-leading Tigers. "The club picked right up when he got back," Kaline said. "We won two of three games with Eddie just being there."

The Tigers hope to get Mathews back on the active list by Sept. 1. Players must be on the active roster by that date to be eligible for the World Series. At any rate, if the Tigers win the pennant, Mathews could be in for up to $100,000 series money.

And if Mathews isn't ready manager Mayo Smith plans to ask permission to have his morale booster suited up and on the bench.

In a Detroit reported story, pitcher Joe Sparrma was supposed to have blasted manager Mayo Smith for removing him from the game Wednesday.

Sparrma was quoted as saying, "He humiliated me, by taking me out." The Tigers were leading 1-0 against the Indians at the time and Sparrma had permitted two runners to reach base when he was removed.

The Tigers defeated the Indians 3-0 and reliever Mickey Lolich was credited with the victory.

Injury Plagued Nick Eddy Under Knife Again Today

Nick Eddy took an ill-fated step down from a train at East Lansing in November, 1966. His football career has been plunging in the same direction ever since.

Eddy, one of the glamor boys of college football in 1966 when he helped Notre Dame to a national championship, sustained a freak injury to his shoulder descending from the train which carried the Fighting Irish to East Lansing and their now famous 10-10 tie with Michigan State.

The incident set a pattern which has plagued the 6-foot-1, 210-pounder ever since.

Eddy was drafted by Detroit and signed a three-year, $200,000 contract. He damaged his knee, however, in the Lions' third pre-season game and eventually missed the entire 1967 season.

He underwent surgery last Oct. 12, to remedy damage to the outside of the knee and seemed well on the road to recovery when he aggravated the injury in the Lions' 13-9 loss to Buffalo on Aug. 5.

Dr. Richard A. Thompson, the team physician, announced Thursday he will operate today to remove cartilage damage from the former All America's knee.

Eddy, an explosive runner, was to have teamed with Mel Farr to form one of football's most potent backfields, but the hard luck halfback has yet to play a regular season game for the Lions.

BREAKS DOWN

Another of pro football's most celebrated knees, one belonging to Joe Namath of the New York Jets, broke down again Thursday.

Namath, who caused a major controversy when he refused to suit up last Monday night's pre-season test against Houston when he insisted his knees hurt, limped off the practice field, clutching his left knee.

Coach Webb Ewbank of the Jets immediately announced Namath was definitely out of Saturday night's game against Boston in Richmond, Va. Team physician Dr. James A. Nicholas diagnosed the injury as tendinitis.

MOPPING OF THE BROW — Vivien Saunders of Sutton Surrey, England, wipes her brow at the 13th green at Birmingham Country Club after she blasted out of a trap and hit the cup for a birdie. She still lost the hole, however, as her opponent, Joyce Kazmierski of Detroit, dropped in a 50-foot eagle putt on the par-5 hole. Miss Kazmierski won the match, 4-3, to move into today's semifinals of the U.S. Women's Amateur.

Limping Twin Runner Saves Twinbill Split

By the Associated Press

Rod Carew might be the American League's top hitter, but to the Baltimore Orioles he looks more like the league's leading runner — bad knee and all.

Minnesota's All-Star second baseman ran the Orioles out of a ball game Thursday night and left them standing still in their chase after league-leading Detroit, which was idle.

sore left knee after Baltimore scored three fifth-inning runs for a 4-3 victory, entered the second contest of a twilight doubleheader as a pinch hitter for Bob Allison in the eighth inning.

The score was tied 1-1 and hits by Rich Reese and Tony Oliva put runners on first and third with one out. Carew grounded to shortstop Mark Bellanger, whose throw to second baseman Dave Johnson forced Oliva. But Carew, shaking off his leg miseries, barely beat the return throw to first base as Reese scored the winning run for a 2-1 triumph and a split.

OTHER GAMES

In the only other games, Boston blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0, California beat Washington 3-1 and Oakland slipped by the New York Yankees 4-3.

Carew, hitting .305, helped the Twins to a 2-0 lead in the first game against Jim Hardin when he singled in the first of three runs in the opening inning. Frank Quilici later doubled in the other two.

After that burst, the Twins and Carew folded. While Hardin, 15-3, held them scoreless the rest of the way and completed a six-hit day, the Orioles jumped on Dean Chance, 11-11.

Pontiac Medal Qualifying to Start Saturday

The scramble for Pontiac's Medal Play Championship opens with an 18-hole qualifying round tomorrow at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course.

Nearly 100 players have signed for the event and late entries are expected to swell the total far above the 117 who entered the event last season.

At stake tomorrow will be 32 spots in the 36-hole finals slated for next Saturday and Sunday (Aug. 24-25), 18 holes each day.

CHAMPS PLAYING

A state championship and a former state champ are expected to be on hand for the qualifying tomorrow.

Gary Balliet, 18, who is enrolling at Oakland University this fall, won the Michigan Publix championship earlier this month and he'll be among those trying to take the city championship from his father, Tom.

A former champ expected to enter is Terry Hoy, 27, who won the 1967 Publix title.

LINEUP IN FINALS

Those qualifying tomorrow will join the low five scorers from last year plus all former champions in the 36-hole finals.

Tom Balliet, 43, a foreman at Pontiac Motor, won the title last year with an even-par 138.

Fishermen Angling to Learn Techniques in Freshwater School

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State University is going to conduct a five-day school for fishermen — no kidding.

MSU announced it will offer the nation's first freshwater angling school, Aug. 25-29, at Alpena in the heart of Northern Michigan's lake country.

Angler students will learn the tested methods of fly fishing, bait and spin casting, and spinning. The teachers will be four "Specialists" from the MSU faculty and representatives of major tackle equipment manufacturers.

MSU said the school "will not be all study and no recreation." Training includes "Actual fishing on nearby lakes and streams."

Philippine Five Wins

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine Olympic aspirants basketball team rallied in the second half to defeat the touring Western Washington College Vikings 61-50 Thursday.

Firebirds Put Streak on Line Against Dayton

The Pontiac Firebirds put a streak on the line today as they face the always tough Dayton Colts.

The big Dayton team, with Pistol Pete Mikolajewski at quarterback, whitewashed Ypsilanti 24-0 last week, as Pete threw for four touchdown passes.

The Colts have one of the top pass receivers in the league in Chuck McElligott, and he has been the favorite target in Rome for several years.

The Pontiac winning streak, which has reached 11 straight in regular season, plus two in exhibition, will definitely be threatened in Dayton or the following weekend in Lackawanna, N.Y.

With several of its linemen still hobbled with injuries, head coach Tom Tracy of the Firebirds must make several adjustments in both offensive and defensive units.

Ed Gillespie is latest player out with a leg injury and he is the third defensive lineman to be lost in as many weeks.

Tackles Bob Minton and Ron Clark were sidelined in successive weeks and now Gillespie joins the disabled list after his injury in the rough Flint game last week.

AFTER REVENGE

Dayton will be looking for revenge for the two losses suffered to Pontiac last Saturday morning and the game will be played at Wayne High School field in Huber Heights near Dayton.
