German Reds Free U.S. Pilot and GIs

HERLESHAUSEN, Germany (AP)—Communist East Germany today released U.S. Army Pilot Richard Mackin and four other American soldiers held in East Germany for several weeks.

Mackin, a 27-year-old American from Washington, D.C., parachuted into East Germany Dec. 3 after he got lost and his small plane ran out of gas.

The other four soldiers were Pvt. Elwyn Bell of Hill City, Kan., Sp. Kenneth G. Carlson of San Leandro, Calif., Pvt. James W. Hayes, of Baltimore, and Pvt. Melvin Hampton Jr. of Cleburne, Tex.

The four disappeared in Berlin during November and December last year.

The release of the American soldiers was negotiated between the American Red Cross and the East German Red Cross, after the U.S. State Department stuck to its policy of refusing to negotiate with the East German regime.

The five crossed into West Germany at this frontier post on the border of Communist East Germany shortly after noon. Mackin looked pale. He wore army fatigues and a felt cap. He said he felt fine.

"Anything you want to tell your wife in Frankfurt," a reporter asked him.

"No," he replied, "I will see her before you do."

Release of the men followed by less than a day the freeing of a U.S. Army convoy held by the Russians at the Marienborn checkpoint for more than 50 hours. Drivers reported today they got the impression the Russians had deliberately set up the incident in advance.

Dulles Winds Up Talks in London

Leaves for Paris Today to Discuss Allied Plans on Berlin Issue

From Our News Wires

LONDON — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles scheduled a second round of talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd today before flying to Paris for conferences with French leaders on "cold war" problems.

★ ★ ★

Dulles leaves by plane for Paris this afternoon. He arrived in London yesterday from Washington on a mission designed at working out a united Allied policy on Germany, Berlin and other East-West issues.

★ ★ ★

French diplomatic sources said President Charles de Gaulle intended to make a strong bid for a bigger role by France in international affairs.

Dulles said in London he brought "no new proposals," that he had come to listen rather than talk during his visit.

He met yesterday with Macmillan and Lloyd and other top British officials. Informed sources said there was complete agreement on a flexible but tough policy on Germany and the Berlin crisis.

Dulles was moving swiftly to set up a Big Four foreign ministers' conference with the Soviets before May 27, the target date initially set by the Russians.

Torrential Rains Give Ike Rough Flight to Georgia

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower hoped to go gunning for South Georgia quail today with an end to the monsoon-like weather that marred his arrival late yesterday.

Torrential rains forced the President's plane into an alternate landing field after a bumpy ride from Washington. Eisenhower then had to motor 67 miles through the rain to reach the Milestone plantation of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey outside Thomasville.

An Eisenhower aide aboard the plane said the latter part of the flight from the capital was the roughest in six years of traveling with the President.

Eisenhower, however, was in a cheerful mood on stepping from his plane.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

That was putting it mildly. Despite a big blue and white umbrella raised to protect him, the President was rain-whipped by the time he got to his closed car.

U.S. Charges Reds Shot Plane

Bares Tape Recording of Soviet Pilots' Talk as Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today publicly confronted the Soviet Union with evidence that two Soviet jets shot down an unarmed U.S. transport plane last September in a warlike attack. Six—and possibly 17-American airmen were killed.

The C130 U.S. transport disappeared Sept. 2 on a flight along the Turkey-Armenia border.

Ten days later the Soviets reported it had crashed in Armenia. The bodies of six of the 17 Americans who were in the plane were returned to U.S. officials. Under persistent U.S. inquiries, Soviet officials insisted they knew nothing about the 11 other Americans.

The summary disclosed that Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had pressed Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, on his recent visit here, for information about the missing U.S. airmen.

It said Miknoyan "denied that the plane had been shot down, asserting it had crashed."

The department's document also disclosed that Dep. Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy tried to play the recording of the Soviet airmen's conversation for Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov. Menshikov refused to listen, it said, and Murphy then gave him a transcript of the recording.

For the first time, publicly, in today's documents, the United States accused the Soviet Union of shooting down the U.S. plane. Heretofore, publicly, the United States has said only that the plane burned and crashed in Soviet Armenia after being "intercepted" by Soviet fighters.

Jury Looks Into Results of Long Inquiry on GM

Subpoena Auto Firm to Supplement Findings of Justice Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury in New York is now hearing the results of an extended Justice Department inquiry into affairs of General Motors Corp., the department said today.

A spokesman, responding to inquiries, declined to pinpoint the direction action may take. He denied that the grand jury study signifies that decisions on that point have been made.

The spokesman said the grand jury is getting "evidence that has been obtained by the antitrust division in the course of an investigation that has been under way for some time." He added:

"A subpoena has been served on General Motors to produce additional records and information.

"This is a continuation of the investigation and does not signify that any special decisions as to future action have been reached. Only if the investigation now under way discloses violations of the antitrust laws will appropriate relief be sought."

The grand jury phase recalled frequent expressions of concern by justice officials in recent years over possible "undue concentration" in the automobile manufacturing field. The latest such expression came only yesterday.

★ ★ ★

General Motors, sometimes called the world's largest single manufacturing enterprise, produces five makes of automobiles: Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac; operates its own auto-financing company, General Motors Acceptance Corp.; and has a wide variety of other products including Diesel railroad locomotives, earth moving machinery and household appliances.

★ ★ ★

A former Justice Department antitrust chief, Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley N. Barnes, suggested publicly about four years ago that GM might someday have to "spin off" one or more of its automobile makes, which Barnes said could easily stand alone as an independent business. GM officials at the time called this suggestion "Nonsense."

IN COURT NOW

The Justice Department now has General Motors in Federal District Court at Detroit on a civil complaint charging the corporation with monopolizing the manufacture and sale of transit and intercity buses.

★ ★ ★

This case, filed in 1956 by former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, alleged such monopoly was achieved through conspiracy

They Didn't Like Being Sold

Pair Jailed for Selling Twins

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A former airman from Michigan and his British-born wife tried to sell their 8-year-old twin boys for $500, but the prospective buyers were probing juvenile officers.

Police Wednesday filed charges against Clark Dean Stillion of Brighton, Mich., and his wife, Rosemarie, both 24. Two juvenile officers posing as a married couple, purchased the boys, complete with bill of sale, with marked money.

Stillion said he had been unable to get a job since his release from the Air Force. Both he and his wife were jailed.

"We were doing it for the good of the children," sobbed Mrs. Stillion after her arrest Wednesday. "It would have torn my heart completely, but it would have meant giving the kids a home and the things they needed."

The twins are Thomas James and George Frederick Lewins, children of Mrs. Stillion by a former marriage.

"We never wanted to leave our mommy," Thomas told reporters. "But mommy and daddy said we had to, that we would have a better life."

Detective R. G. Brumley and Policewoman Lanny Dixon began an investigation after receiving a tip a couple was trying to give the twins away.

At their second meeting with the Stillions Wednesday the two police officers counted out $300 and promised to pick up the boys after a trip to the bank to obtain another $200.

"When Stillion picked up the $300, we bagged them," Mrs. Dixon said.

"I was desperate," Stillion told newsmen. "We hoped we could come back and reclaim them because we knew the bill of sale had no legal standing."

The Stillions' two daughters, Nancy, 4, and Tina, 3, were not offered for sale. They have been turned over to juvenile authorities.

The couple and the four children had been living in a two-room apartment with the help of $25 weekly from the Travelers Aid Society.

Stillion had grown up in rural Livingston County southeast of Brighten and northwest of South Lyon, said his uncle, Lyle Forsyth, of 11045 Lake Rd., Lyon Township.

He married his wife while overseas with the Air Force and moved west with her shortly before his November, 1955 discharge, said Forsyth.

Sets 11th-Hour Meet to Settle Police Dispute

Attempt to Stave Off Civil Service Hearing Due Next Week

A 15-member citizens committee will make an eleventh-hour attempt tomorrow to settle differences between Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and George D. Eastman, public safety director.

If the attempt fails, charges against Straley probably will be brought out into the open before the Civil Service Commission next week.

The two police officials have agreed to appear at the reconciliation session, scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. in the second-floor conference room at City Hall, next to the City Commission chambers.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston announced the names of the 15 committee members, including himself.

Louis H. Schimmel, former president of the Pontiac Board of Education; Rabbi Israel Goodman, spiritual leader of Congregation B'Nai Israel; Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor of Central Methodist Church; Everett C. Spurlock, president of the Urban League; Dr. Roy V. Cooley Jr., a former city commissioner; M. H. Doerr, a real estate salesman; Andrew Montgomery, first vice president of the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council.

Emil Jaworski, a contractor; William J. Hart, general manager of Radio Station WPON; Maurice J. Croteau, Pontiac representative on the Board of Supervisors; James F. Spence, former Pontiac mayor; John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; Commissioner William W. Donaldson; and Clare Utley, a businessman.

The meeting will not be open to the public or the press, Rowston decided.

A private meeting, he believed, would encourage committee members "to express their private feelings."

Rowston said that each police official will be asked to explain his position briefly, then the meeting would be thrown open for questions and comment.

The mayor denied that the purpose of the meeting is to encourage Straley to resign quietly

Girl Reporter Dazed by Strength of Atlas

By SYLVIA COLE

Most men either look anemic, weak, suffering from malnutrition, or are carrying an oversized tummy.

Well, maybe this is an unfair appraisal of current American men. But this was how I felt yesterday afternoon.

I probably was still in a womanly daze. I had just felt the 17-inch biceps of the world's most renowned muscle-man, Angelo Siciliano.

This name might not ring a bell. But if I told you he is really Charles Atlas, you'd know what I mean.

The legend of strength, health and the perfect male body visited the Natural Health Food store in Pontiac yesterday during a one-week promotional tour of similar businesses.

Before the interview, I too, like many others, was surprised to hear this specimen of perfection was still living.

You can be assured that, at the age of 66, the idol of every man who hesitates to wear a bathing suit is still very much alive, healthy and in tip-top shape.

Realizing everyone doesn't have the opportunity to meet this man, it didn't take long to request he remove his suit coat, roll up his sleeve and perform.

Strength is something attached to the remembrance of our forefathers. Thus, it is appropriate that the physique of the statues of Alexander Hamilton in front of the Washington Treasury Building and George Washington in Washington Square in New York City is actually that of Mr. Atlas. He posed for them in the early 1920s.

But this Italian-born grandfather

Nikita Invites Ike to Russia

Says Eisenhower Can 'Go Anywhere,' Repeats Offer on Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev, urging an end to the cold war, today offered Soviet guarantees of western access to West Berlin if his plan for settling the crisis is accepted.

The Western Powers so far have declined to consider the plan, which calls for making West Berlin a United Nations responsibility.

To applause, Khrushchev in his final address coupled new warnings to the United States with an invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union.

The Soviet premier said Eisenhower could bring anyone he chose and go anywhere. He said the visit should prove useful.

This invitation came after the premier repeated his warning that the Soviet Union "now has the means to deliver a blow to aggressors in any part of the world."

Addressing himself to Secretary of State Dulles, Khrushchev remarked "Mr. Dulles, if you so desire, then for the sake of ending the cold war we are even prepared to admit your victory in this war that is unwanted by the peoples.

Eisenhower Aide Mum on Moscow Invitation

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters today declined comment on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal that Eisenhower visit Russia.

James Hagerty, White House press secretary, replied, "No, not as yet" when asked whether the Soviet Union had extended a formal invitation to Eisenhower.

Bar Gets Trombly Letter Announcing Retirement

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Probate Judge Joseph V. Trombly, involved in a dispute with the Macomb County Bar Assn., announced plans to retire yesterday.

The Macomb County judge's announcement came at a bar association meeting at which a resolution was passed calling for an investigation of Trombly's capacity to conduct court.

Trombly arose as discussion on the resolution started and asked to read his resignation application to Gov. Williams to the association.

The letter said in part:

"It seems that a very serious question exists in the minds of several members of the Macomb County Bar Assn. that I am totally and permanently incapacitated to perform my official duties as probate judge."

Trombly's letter went on to say he had suffered a serious hearing impediment for the last few years. It said Trombly is applying for retirement and requested an examination by or under the direction of the medical director of the probate judges retirement system.

Trombly then turned the letter over to Frank E. Jeannette, bar association president, for immediate mailing to the governor.

Disclosure of the letter brought a motion to table the investigation resolution. The motion was defeated and the 100 lawyers at the meeting passed the resolution. Some of the lawyers said they were afraid Trombly might write a second letter rescinding his retirement application.

Trombly said he had driven to the meeting from Monroe, where he went Tuesday. He reportedly went there to be examined by two out-of-state doctors. But Monroe County Probate Judge Vallie E. Dussia said yesterday Trombly was not examined.

Trombly fired James P. Rosso, superintendent of the county youth home, Sunday. But he reinstated Rosso Tuesday.

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams' plan for a 146-million-dollar bonding program for new construction got a cool reception in the legislature today.

Most GOP lawmakers said they wanted to wait until the tax picture jells before obligating the state to a bonding program.

Williams asked for more than 200 million dollars for capital outlay, with most of it coming from the bond program.

LANSING (AP)—The long-awaited Republican proposal for adding a penny to the state sales tax, making it four per cent, came into the House today.

Signed by Rep. James F. Warner of Ypsilanti and nine other Republicans, the proposed constitutional amendment would dump all 100 million dollars a year of additional sales tax proceeds into the state general fund.

Form Organization to Push Bond Issue

Formation of a working organization to support two proposals on the ballot at the Bloomfield Hills school election on March 5 was announced today.

John McBride has been selected as chairman of a group of about 275 residents who have organized "Your Educational Security Committee."

Earl Gibbons will serve the "YES" Committee as campaign director. William S. Bachman has been named chairman of the group's public education activity.

Serving as precinct captains will be Douglas Booth, precinct 1; Richard Fricke, precinct 2; Robert Nelson, precinct 3; Dr. and Mrs. Mark Dale, precinct 4; Elmer Plaxton, precinct 5; Richard Grooves, precinct 6; and William Robbins, precinct 7.

The two proposals on the ballot are for an increase in operating millage to meet a deficit in school funds, and an $800,000 bond issue to cover elementary and junior high classroom shortages.

McBride said the proposal to increase operating millage calls for an additional 4.6 mills, bringing the total to 22.29 mills.

"School income for 1959 will be $1,119,000 under present millage, while 1959 operating budget requirements are $1,385,000," McBride said. "The schools are thus faced with a deficit of $266,000 this year.

"This has resulted from the reduction of the county allocation board's school millage allotment from 8.81 mills to 7.98 mills, a step made to divert funds to the higher welfare load. It has also resulted from the sharp decrease in state funds for school transportation," McBride added.

He said the millage increase is for three years. It would then be reduced to 3.6 mills for another three years, when it would terminate.

The bond issue, he said, would provide for a necessary 12-room addition to the junior high school, and a single-unit elementary school building to be erected on school property adjacent to the junior high school.

Education chairman Bachman, commented today on the Dec. 8 rejection of a school bond issue by voters in the school district

"For some five years now I have lived in the Bloomfield Hills School District. Since I have two boys in school, the 5th and 7th grades now, I have more than a passing interest in our school system.

"Recently voters of our school district turned down a proposal for a new bond issue and new taxes for our school system. Certainly no one likes to pay taxes. But this is where I'm confused: Mr. Opposition's reasons for voting against the issue . . . 'The buildings are too fancy and costly.'

"Just about 30 years ago I was in the 7th grade in a Detroit public school. And I want to tell you about some real frills. We had not one but two swimming pools, one for boys and one for girls. That was only junior high.

"Today we don't have a single swimming pool in the whole school district! And you should have seen the auditorium! Orchestra pit, balcony, permanent seats, projection booth and more wings, drops, spotlights and ropes than any Player could dream about.

"Or take the cafeteria. Two food lines, lots of room and a choice of foods that Greenfield's would envy. In our new Junior High the auditorium and the cafeteria are one and the same . . . and in between times, it's used for classes,

"'Too many frills in the courses and activities,' says Mr. Opposition. Say, I can remember going to Junior High and being offered a choice of three kinds of shop: woodworking, machine and printing. This 'spoiled' seventh grader of mine has one.

"So, Mr. Opposition, what frills do we cut out? Do we give our children less education than our parents gave us?

"The clear call is for more and better education. From a practical standpoint, I've found out (the hard way) that 'more and better' anything is going to cost more. I note that my school taxes are less than Birmingham, Avondale, Waterford, Oak Park, Clarkston, Walled Lake or Farmington.

"There is one other sacrifice that perhaps we should face. Because we don't have a lot of industry and commerce out here, the home owner has to pay higher taxes. What we want in the way of schools we will have to pay for from our own pocket.

"I'm told that the additional taxes asked for amount to about $70.00 a year on the average house. How many of us haven't gone out and spent that on a dress, a suit, a night out or a weekend of skiing?

"As businessmen, which most of us are out here, we should know that to be competitive we have to have a good product — as good as, and, we hope better-than competition's.

"If we are in competition with the Russia's, China's and the rest of the world (and perhaps the universe) we'd better darn well see that our product can stand the competition.

"What our homes, our businesses, our investments, our life insurance is worth twenty years from now absolutely depends on these boys and girls in school today."

Worst Storm Yet Hammers Over Rockies

By The Associated Press

Wintry weather hammered northern and central parts of the country today, with the season's worst storm in the central Colorado Rockies and a fresh blast of icy air moving into the Midwest.

Snow swirled across the northern and central Rockies, from Montana into Colorado except for the northeast corner.

It was near or below zero in most areas from sections of the Rockies through parts of the Dakotas, the Upper Mississippi Valley into the northern Great Lakes region.

Gusty northwesterly winds powered the cold air into the north central region. The snow and cold headed into the northeast part of the country.

The heavy rains which hit the Southeast yesterday appeared tapering off and was confined mainly to areas from northern Florida and southern Georgia to southeastern Pennsylvania. Gusty winds of 50 miles per hour snapped 25 utility poles at Jacksonville, Fla., Wednesday night, and strong winds also buffeted western sections of the Florida Panhandle.

EVERETT S. TODD

City Resident Dies at Age 93

Everett S. Todd Saw Pontiac Change From Buggies to Cars

Everett S. Todd, who came to Pontiac in 1889 during the "horse and buggy" era, died yesterday at his home, 99 Norton Ave. He was 93.

Born in Pulteyville, N.Y., he came here as purchaser and bookkeeper with R. D. Scott and Co., cart and buggy makers whose shops lined the north side of W. Lawrence street from Wayne street to the alley.

By a strange coincidence, many years later Mr. Todd was engaged as a bookkeeper at the same location in the Floyd Kent real estate firm. He served the firm 20 years before he retired.

Pontiac had been on the stage route from Detroit to Flint, and Scott's first shop was a barn for the Boss Stage Coach Co. Todd worked with Scott until 1906 when the buildings burned down.

During those 17 years, local wagon and buggy makers were absorbed into automobile companies, among them O. J. Beaudette.

Two of Scott's competitors, Edward Murphy and S. E. Beach of Pontiac Buggy Co., joined with L. L. Dunlap, the Crescent Vehicle Co., and J. S. Stockwell Jr. to form Dunlap Vehicle Co. They made spring and road wagons. The firm later was absorbed into the Oakland Motor Car Co.

For several years Mr. Todd worked at a carriage company in Elkhart, Ind., where he was vice president in charge of accounts. In 1925 the company went out of business and Todd returned to Pontiac to enter real estate.

He was a member of Temple Lodge F&AM of Elkhart.

Surviving is a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary A. Todd of Pontiac.

Service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday from the Farmer-Snover Funeral Home, with Dr. Milton H. Marbach of First Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Lodge Criticizes Way Williams 'Operates'

L. Harvey Lodge, Oakland County's state senator, doesn't think much of the way Gov. G. Mennen Williams handles his car or state finances.

"This poor car is being handled by the governor the same way he handles the business of the state," Lodge remarked.

C. of C. Banquet Planned

The Michigan State University Men's Glee Club will be an added attraction at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet Feb. 18 at Elks Temple.

Main speaker will be D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland, who will discuss the impact of the new college on Pontiac.

About 400 to 500 persons are expected to attend, said Edward A. Maier C. of C. president.

The 62-voice glee club is considered one of the foremost college vocal groups, having made more than 60 public appearances last year, including a nationally televised performance.

Franco's Police Free Three of His Critics

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Generalissimo Franco's police let three leading monarchist critics of his regime go home Wednesday night after grilling them for five hours.

The three men are leaders of the growing Spanish Union, whose members last week stepped up their agitation for restoration of the monarchy and an end to Franco's regime.

The director of public security said the three had been questioned at police headquarters but not formally arrested. No charges were placed against them. Upon being released, the men went directly to their homes.

★ ★ ★

One of the three, Joaquin Satrustegui Fernandez, 46, a wealthy industrialist, attacked the Franco regime at a banquet sponsored by the union a week ago. He charged the generalissimo had seized power illegally and was maintaining his regime by force.

Exhibits Rain or Shine

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP)—You can see the exhibit of John R. Alexander's paintings regardless of the weather. The exhibit is on his lawn. He uses automobile enamel paints and coats them with varnish. Most popular of his paintings, says the 70-year-old Alexander, is one of the home of the mother of President Eisenhower at Fort Defiance, Va.

Porcupine Mts. Park Popular the Year 'Round

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Porcupine Mountains State Park, 58,000 acres of natural splendor, lures tourists to the Upper Peninsula regardless of the season.

That was one of the reasons University of Michigan faculty members, in a recent poll, voted the park eighth among the state's top tourist attractions.

The Porcupines were acquired by the State Department of Conservation 12 years ago. The park is located in the western end of the Upper Peninsula along the shores of Lake Superior. It contains many trails and fishing and camp sites.

But perhaps its most scenic spot is in the center — the Lake of the Clouds, a fishing and water sports paradise.

In winter, cold weather sportsmen have their day in the park. There's plenty of room for skiing and tobogganing plus frozen streams available for ice fishing.

And the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge — No. 1 on the faculty landmark poll — has made the Porcupines more accessible to the Lower Peninsula.

Weighs Most at Show

COLDHARBOR, England (AP) — Heaviest vegetable marrow at a horticultural show in this Surrey village weighed 16 pounds six ounces.

Waterford Building Drops in January

Building in Waterford Township dropped almost 75 per cent more last month than in January 1958, according to Building Department reports.

There also was a decrease in construction work last month as compared to December figures.

"There is no doubt that the extremely cold weather has been responsible for the construction slow-down," Building Inspector Carl Walton said. "This is only a temporary halt, however, and we look for unprecedented building in early spring."

There was only $123,000 in total building permits issued last month, compared to $330,000 in January 1958. The usually low-building month of December totaled approximately $300,000.

Sam Browne's Gone

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Sam Browne belt is a thing of the past as far as Denver patrolmen are concerned. Used by patrolmen here for more than a quarter of a century, the Sam Brownes were ordered removed by Safety Manager Ed Geer. Instead, a single strap now holds up the patrolmen's pants and pistols.

Another Virginia City to Integrate Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Another Virginia community was ordered by a federal court to admit Negro children to its white public schools.

Unless a stay is granted, nine Negro students will enter thre white schools in Alexandria next Tuesday. This will raise to 30 the number of Negroes attending integrated classes in public schools since the state's segregation barrier was cracked Monday for the first time.

Judge Albert V. Bryan issued the Alexandria desegregation order Wednesday as integrated classes proceded for the third day in Arlington and Norfolk with no signs of disorder.

Alexandria school authorities announced they would appeal Judge Bryan's desegregation ruling and ask for a stay. If that fails, the school board said it is ready to enroll the Negro pupils in white schools.

Concentrating on New Product

Hoop Is Dead, Long Live Spinner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The manufacturers who started the hula hoop craze are saddened to announce its demise at an early age — but they're skipping the funeral to concentrate on starting a new boom.

A spokesman for the first hula hoopmaker said there is almost no demand for his stuff on the manufacturing level, although some sales are being reported by jobbers and dealers.

His firm, the Whamo Manufacturing Co., of San Gabriel, Calif., holds a trademark on the name "Hula Hoop."

The spokesman said there's still "some demand" for the hoops in Europe "and some demand domestically. We're putting out a four-foot hoop for adults — it's easier for them. Some people have had trouble trying to do it as well as their kids."

The Whamo man brightened up when he looked ahead. "We think that there will be some activity this year and also that people are looking for a new item. We have something coming out which we'll call 'Wingding.'"

COAT HANGERS?

Meanwhile, though, an indication of what's happening to the hula hoop craze overseas came from Japan, where a TV network suggested that the hoops be cut up into segments and, by inserting a wire, be tprned into coathangers.

As for here at home, where millions of hoops had been sold, Rubin Klamer, head of another hoop firm, said his firm quit making hoops last September.

He believes the whole thing was a fad and that any resurgence will demand a stable kind of product.

"Of course, we'll have to modify and refine this new kind of hoop," Klamer said. "Right now we're emphasizing a new product called 'Spin-a-Ball.'"

"We stopped making hoops, because it was obvious the market had become saturated. Sales were blank — probably because nearly every kid had one."

The Moore Manufacturing Co., of San Francisco, a third firm, was turning out 100,000 hoops a week at the peak of the craze. The firm's regular product is plastic garden hose, so it was relatively easy to convert.

Miss Ann Ramsey, an administrative assistant to the company president, said hoop production had been cut to a trickle of its former deluge — some of it going to Army bases overseas.

"We're convinced the demand hasn't died out completely," Miss Ramsey said. "There are a lot of repeat orders by youngsters whose hoops wear out or are run over when left in driveways.

"We also think kids can always enjoy the hoops and that there are other uses for them — such as buying them for physical education classes in high schools."

Leaves $850,000 Estate

DETROIT (AP)—William T. Henry, 56, a Detroit financier who died in Bradford, Vt., last Saturday, left an estate valued at $850,000. Value was estimated by Harold R. Smith, attorney for the estate, in a Probate Court petition for administration Wednesday.

Johnson Asks Limousines for Senate Whips

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson apparently believes that Senate whips should ride—not run—to the nearest exits.

The popular Texan who vehemently denies President Eisenhower's charge that Democrats are "spenders," nevertheless has been doing some missionary work to provide chauffeured limousines for Democratic whip Mike Mansfield and GOP whip Thomas H. Kuchel.

The response to date among bipartisan leaders approached by the usually persuasive Johnson has been an irate thumbs-down.

None of Johnson's colleagues begrudges him the chauffeured limousine which is a normal emolument of high office, even though Lyndon and his wife, Lady Bird, are rich enough to provide their own fleet of cars.

By tradition, limousines are furnished to the majority and minority leaders of both houses, and also to the speaker and the Senate president pro-tem. There are largesse ends, for elective members of Congress.

Recently, Johnson has been feeling a little sad because Mike Mansfield—with no private fortune—has been forced to drive his own car. But even Lyndon, who has designated to himself more power than any senator in memory, realized that he could not get Mike a free car without also taking care of the Republican whip.

He therefore began button-holing the leaders of both parties, along with ranking members of the appropriations committee, to see if they would go along with tax-paid limousines for Mike and Tom.

For support, he cited the fact that the normally close-fisted House recently voted an $11,000 limousine, plus chauffeur, for "good ol' Joe," after former Speaker Joseph W. Martin had been deposed as minority leader.

Senate big-wigs, however, turned out to be a different kettle of fish. Appropriations Chairman Carl Hayden, even though a Democrat, bravely said "no." So did Republican Sen. Everett Dirksen, but Lyndon was not too disheartened.

After all both of these solons already have free chauffeured limousines, thanks to the fact that Hayden is president pro tempore and Dirksen is minority leader.

Still confident, Johnson next approached his great good friend, Styles Bridges, dean of all Senate Republicans, but there again he met rebuff.

Bridges — let's face it — knows better than most the comforts of a chauffeured limousine, as opposed to a drive-it-yourself job at one's own expense. Currently he is in the latter class, although for many years he enjoyed the former privilege as Senate president pro-tem and Republican leader.

Styles, as fond of Lyndon as Lyndon is of Styles, nevertheless told his friend that he believed the move would set a bad precedent. This is his considered reasoning:

If the whips—both of whom are far down the seniority protocol list—should get limousines, the chairmen of both the policy committees and party conferences would expect similar privileges.

Next, the chairmen of all committees would request cars, and so would the ranking minority members of the groups. Since nearly all of these men have served many more years in the Senate than either Mansfield or Kuchel, they would probably win the battle.

By that time so few solons would be left without chauffeurs that the August body might vote to make it unanimous. This would require a fleet of 98 cars, and inasmuch as the two bodies of Congress are traditionally jealous of each other's prerogatives, the 36 members of the House would naturally file similar claims.

The limousine makers and chauffeurs' union would receive a shot in the arm, but John Q. Public would pay through the nose.

Bridges, as a matter of fact, must find it a little strange that Joe Martin—now without rank—has been voted unprecedented largesse as the only living ex-speaker, while he himself—as the only living ex-president pro tempore and the undisputed leader of the Senate—walks, or drives himself.

That's politics, however, which brings to mind the dry wit of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, who for many years found himself in similar straits.

Leaving an embassy party where chauffeured limousines were busily picking up scores of ambassadors and government leaders, the doorman once asked Taft if he should call for his car. Grinning, the Senate powerhouse replied:

"You can try, but it's such a little thing that I doubt if it can come by itself."

In Russia, at Least the Glaciers Shrink

LONDON (AP)—The cold war may or may not be thawing, but Soviet glaciers are shrinking.

Moscow radio said today maps of the Pamir Mountains, in the Soviet Union's Asian regions, are out of date because of glacier shrinkage. Scientists are drawing new maps.

The broadcast said the Fedchenko glacier's length is dwindling by about 10 yards a year. Now about 43 miles long, it once was 90 miles long.

Philippines Could Try an Austerity Program

Irritation in the Philippines over alleged United States neglect has led our good friend Ambassador ROMULO to make the statement that "Philippine friendship is being taken for granted by the U.S."

At the time President GARCIA visited Washington last year he was promised $125 million from the Export-Import Bank and the Development Loan Fund on condition that sound projects be submitted. Only one loan of $5 million has been approved.

Furthermore, Filipinos claim more than $1 billion from the U.S. for additional war damage compensation. Another claim, rather farfetched, is for $24 million in currency depreciation when the U.S. went off the gold standard in 1934.

They also want a revision of the agreement covering American bases. Filipinos are asking for more local jurisdiction over servicemen who break Philippine laws than is granted any country where the U.S. has troops. But, above all, President GARCIA feels affronted because he was not given a completely unjustified $350 million stabilization fund.

It is two years since the death of President Magsaysay when Garcia moved up from the vice-presidency and in November, 1957, was elected President. In that time the economy of the islands has gone steadily down due to a costly industrialization program, crop failures, corruption and poor administration. The nation's deficit last year was $120 million.

★ ★ ★

Widespread corruption is alleged in the customs and internal revenue services, tariffs on U.S. imports have been raised and Time reports that "the fat cats of the GARCIA administration whoop it up at posh Manila gambling joints."

Against this background the U.S. and the Philippines will talk over their differences. There is no question of serious discord but our friends there could make good use of a do-it-yourself program. Leaders in that government should set an example of the austerity the country needs.

Burdens of Statehood Shouldered by Alaska

Alaska's first state legislature is meeting in Juneau to take up problems arising out of its transition from a territory to a state.

This organization of a new commonwealth will be watched with interest because its leaders have had the advice of many trained, experienced consultants from institutions devoted to improving public administration. They have had the good sense to take advantage of the help.

The constitution provides a short ballot (for Governor and Secretary of State only), a strong executive and a unified court system. Wisely, we think, because of a scattered population of 215,000, only two classes of local government are designated, boroughs and cities, "to guard against the creation of unnecessary local units and taxing authorities or anything like the typical county with its tight unchangeable boundaries, its heavy overhead of elected officials and independent boards, its inadequate powers and finances."

Because of the serious illness of Alaska's Gov. WILLIAM E. EGAN, in a Seattle hospital, the Secretary of State, HUGH J. WADE, is the acting governor, as provided in the constitution. It is interesting and fitting that the next in the chain of command is Senate President WILLIAM E. BELTZ, an Eskimo and former territorial legislator.

Among many other things, the unforeseen absence of the Governor is handicapping legislators in the politically unpleasant task of putting theories into practice. They expect to reduce 60 territorial boards, councils, agencies, etc. to 11 or 13 state departments with consequent sacrifice of jobs to economy and efficiency. New laws for civil aeronautics, roads, schools and police are also on the agenda.

The first legislature has a tremendous job in this land of ancient Eskimo and Indian cultures with its walrus skin boats (now propelled by outboard motors) and its ultramodern canneries, mining dredges, jet planes, fast rising cities and even traffic jams.

The Man About Town

They Don't Agree

Older Residents Say that We Now Are Far Too Soft

Skiing: Like having your portrait painted — requires a lot of sitting.

Several of my older readers are mad and several more just laugh at my effort to compare this winter with those of long ago. They admit there's a strong resemblance in temperature and snow, but the big difference is in the way the residents take it.

Modern highways and snow and ice clearing methods, coupled with modern transportation, take most of the inconvenience out of the situation. In the old days the hand snow shovel and horse drawn snow plow didn't give much relief —and the people didn't expect any more.

Most everybody was content to be quarantined by the snow. They prepared for it in food, fuel and otherwise. Every farmer had killed a hog or two for home consumption and had a barrel of salt pork and plenty of smoked hams and bacon for the winter.

The cellar had ample potatoes and other vegetables and fruit. The season was looked upon as one of relaxation.

Perhaps the matter is best summed up in a letter from

Marshall Delaven

of Waterford. He asserts that now we're all in too much of a hurry. We don't know how to relax. We're mad if the highways are not immediately cleaned, even if we don't use them. He concludes with: "It seems that radio and TV should make it easier to stay at home—but they don't."

Top devotion to their work, according to who's in a position to know, was shown by the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra at Tuesday evening's concert. In spite of the horrible weather, there was only one absentee among the members who come from 16 different communities.

A native of Oakland County, born at Ortonville in 1923,

M. L. Petoskey

Entitled, "Fun is the meat of the hunt," it shows why the author has made good in his work. Mr. Petoskey and wife, Jean, have two sons and a daughter and live at Holt, near Lansing.

Having a good reason for an exceptional interest in the printed page is

Well, One of the Others Made It

World War Now Is Highly Unlikely

WASHINGTON — Despite a concerted effort to scare Congress into appropriating more money for intercontinental missiles, and the apparent attempt to play politics with national defense, the truth is that a world war is less likely today than it has been at any time since the close of World War II.

LAWRENCE

The outstanding fact is that the United States has sufficient military power today to deter the Soviet Union from making an attack. The price of such an attack is too big for the Kremlin to pay—for this would bring in retaliation the almost total destruction of all its major cities and the death of millions of people from one end of the Soviet Union to the other.

★ ★ ★

The average man is a bit confused by the persistent propaganda that tells him, "The Russians are ahead." But it is important to keep in mind these points:

1. The Soviets must go great distances across oceans with their missiles to hit us.

2. The Soviets, in delivering their "first blow," must simultaneously knock out every missile base and every air base in this country and in the territory of our Allies in Europe and North Africa as well as in the Far East. It must be a 100 per cent score.

3. The Soviets must also knock out every United States submarine that is armed with missiles and every American or allied aircraft carrier at sea that can launch bombers carrying nuclear weapons. This, too, must be a 100 per cent score.

4. The Soviets boast they can strike at targets with "pinpoint accuracy," but one wonders how at a given moment a missile is going to find the exact spot that each submarine happens to be or the exact location in the air of each plane of America's fleet of heavy bombers. The unknown location of American warships is a deterrent, no matter how many missiles Russia has. The United States Air Force, moreover, here and overseas, keeps in the air in periods of crisis a certain number of nuclear bombers.

5. The Soviets not only must time their attack so it will knock out every allied base in Pakistan, Turkey, Italy, Spain, North Africa, as well as in Britain and France, but must make sure at the same time that all bases in this country are completely destroyed.

6. If the Soviets should miss any of these targets, they would promptly receive in reprisal a sweeping attack with H-bombs that would cause incredible devastation. It probably would take only 50 missiles or bombs to knock out 50 of their cities.

All these points, summed up, merely mean that the United States and her allies today still have the deterrent power they have been depending on for several years now. President Eisenhower at his press conference Wednesday emphasized that the United States has a "balanced" defense. But the words "equivalent" or "balanced" do not convey the total significance of America's power to deter an enemy from attacking.

The military situation is truly a stalemate in the sense that both sides have enough power to deter the other from initiating a war. Under the circumstances, there is little point in adding lethal weapons on a quantity basis merely to make sure that the rubble and masses of dead people in cities destroyed in the Soviet Union are pounded to smaller pieces by more missiles.

America's position is secure primarily because the Soviet leaders are never expected to favor the suicide of their nation. Meanwhile, improvements in technology can add little to the security of either side—for the power to destroy another nation now is as efficient as it ever needs to be.

Smiles

Dr. William Brady Says:

No Colitis in This Column — Sorry If You're Upset!

A correspondent is upset because the subject of colitis is so diligently excluded from discussion here. He asserts that he seeks neither diagnosis nor treatment, but having suffered for several years and having tried (a number of weird treatments) without result, he merely wishes to ask the alleged physician who writes the medical articles for the paper whether there is a cure and where to obtain it.

DR. BRADY

It is not just out of the meanness of my heart that I dodge consideration of colitis here. It is because I don't know anything about it, and the subject does not seem to me to fit in a health column.

Now I hope readers who imagine they have colitis will not quit —just as soon as anything turns up that seems worthy of passing along, I'll pass it along.

Class B neurotics tell me I'm singularly lacking in the attributes one expects in the good physician, notably sympathy and patience. And this is corroborated by all my relatives and acquaintances who have attempted to come at me with symptoms—and, fellows, I hope you'll never know what I have suffered for your sake, ducking one curbstone consultation after another.

BRADY INNOCENT!

Conscience or not, I don't think I could sleep so well if everybody well or ill were exposed to colitis and other maladies in this column. On the contrary it is a comforting reflection, as I drift off to innocent slumber, that very few victims of autointoxication, nervous breakdown, run down condition, neurasthenia, torpid liver, catarrh, obstinate cold or chronic rheumatism can say they got it from Brady.

An occasional reader may get a pain in the neck—but the column is intended for regular readers, and I know a lot of them enjoy excellent health, for they tell me so.

Colitis can happen, I frankly admit. Yet I believe the real cause of the trouble many of these amateur students of medicine ascribe to "colitis" is artificial interference with the alimentary function, particularly the abuse of physics, enemas and so-called bowel washes.

This unhealthful habit can be corrected in most instances if only the victim's prodigious conceit can be restrained long enough for the doctor to disabuse his complacent mind of a few of the morbid ideas implanted there by a long line of charlatans and nostrum vendors.

Slaves of the habit who may resolve to win back to freedom should (1) lay in a supply of a pound of whole flaxseeds, and (2) learn the elementary physiology of digestion, the autonomous regulation of intestinal motility.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Agrees It's Unjust to Boy in the Case

I agree it isn't right for the Waterford boy to be detained while the teacher is roaming the streets. What kind of judges and probation officers do we have? It took me two days after the hearing to get in touch with the probation officer and when I tried to reach the judge, his secretary had me call the Children's Home. After talking to him, I still wasn't satisfied so I tried to get the judge again. The next day the probation officer almost demanded to know what I wanted to talk to the judge about.

The probation officer was supposed to go to the school to get the books for the boy so he could finish his exams for the semester, and as of Dec. 22 the books still weren't there.

Contradicts Gripe on City Streets

Through the worst winter in years, Pontiac's street cleaning division has done a wonderful job. Occasionally I heard the full time griper who complains about everything, but you can discount him.

If you live on a small, short street, you'll have to wait until the main streets are cleaned first. The city has to serve the most people first and that's the only way the city can do. I say three cheers for Pontiac and the street cleaning.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Concentrate on Rule, Not Exception

Mr. March shows the wisdom of combating emotionalism with calmness and the simple facts. But note this preacher's dilemma. Dr. Travis performed the wedding ceremony when Mrs. Crane and I got married. And he was a saintly parson if there ever was one. But in today's case his friends thought he told a fib and he said he never could convince them differently.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

CRANE

He introduced me to a vivacious woman buyer from one of the leading department stores back in his city.

"She was hesitant about coming out to Chicago," he added, with a smile, "because of the gangster reputation which Chicago has developed.

"But I told her it was perfectly safe and a splendid city. Moreover, I agreed to chaperone her, so she finally decided to make the trip."

CHICAGO PUBLICITY

Isn't it surprising what a few headlines will do toward building up a reputation?

For example, I was located at Smith College for two years back in the era of Al Capone.

There I met a middle-aged couple who had a sister in Iowa. The latter had been begging this couple to drive out by auto and visit her.

They had planned to do so on several occasions, but always lost their nerve each time, for they figured they'd be driving through Chicago and they feared the gangsters!

At last, this man purchased a couple of revolvers and was trying to screw up his courage to make the trip!

Yet I had lived in Chicago and taught night classes down in the Loop for years without ever having seen even a petty crime committed.

But to this day I suppose millions of people are afraid they'll meet gangsters on the street if they ever visit Chicago.

GANGSTER BULLETS

However, I must admit there might be an exception to the rule, for the clergymah who performed my wedding ceremony was the late Dr. Claude Travis.

He was the pastor of the Englewood Methodist Church for many years. And he had some close friends whom he had often invited to come to Chicago for a visit.

They always declined, fearing the horrible gangsters they had imagined roamed our Chicago streets.

But Dr. Travis told them he had traveled over those streets by day and night for 10 years without ever witnessing the slightest form of crime.

So they reluctantly decided to accept his invitation. They attended his church that Sunday morning.

"After the service," added Dr. Travis, "my wife and I decided to take them out for dinner.

"As we were driving down the street to a restaurant, all of a sudden a black sedan swerved around us.

"Immediately the bullets began to whistle over our heads, so I curbed the car and we ducked as a running machine gun battle developed between this fleeing auto and another black sedan that was in pursuit.

"Actually, we hadn't been on the street three minutes when this fusillade occurred.

"It was all over in a few seconds. Then I apologized profusely and tried to convince my guests that this was the first time I had ever been in such a dangerous spot.

"But I am afraid they thought I was telling a fib," he added with a grin, "for they couldn't get out of town fast enough and they never came back."

But isolated acts of violence may occur in all large cities. Just don't let one freakish example delude you.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Cities of West and East Berlin Joined Together Like Siamese Twins

BERLIN (UPI)—Every great city, it is said, has a pulse that can be felt by those who love it. Berlin is like that.

But it has two pulses. One beats in time with Hamburg, London, Paris, New York. The other echoes the rhythm of Moscow.

Berlin has been this way since the summer of 1948, when the city administration divided, leaving:

—Two million Berliners living in the western sectors of the city, under a freely-elected municipal administration and a firm military guarantee by the U. S., and —One million Berliners living in the eastern sectors, under a government of German-born Communists who spent the war in Moscow, were flown here by the Soviet Army in 1945, and were kept in power by the Soviet Army itself when the East Germans attempted to cast off their shackles in June 1953.

Since then, the two halves of the city have lived somewhat as Siamese twins whom the surgeons want to separate but cannot.

Berlin remains linked by common elevated and underground railroad systems.

Anyone can walk or drive through the control points set up along the lines dividing the sectors. But the telephone systems have been separated.

The newspapers printed in one half of the city do not have general circulation in the other. Each side has its own radio and television stations, which wage ceaseless war on one another.

All in all, it's as if the Siamese twins—to continue the simile—were joined at the base of the spine, facing in opposite directions.

West Berlin is pointed west. Restaurant menus are printed in German and either French or English. The wines are German or French. Foreign books are either French or English, foreign plays are imported from Paris, London or New York.

In East Berlin, restaurant menus are printed in German and perhaps Hungarian or Polish.

Wines are usually Hungarian or Soviet Crimean. Book stores are full of translations from Russian, Polish, Hungarian or Chinese.

West Berlin, in the years since the war, has grown steadily more prosperous. Unemployment has dropped from far above 200,000 to only about 65,000.

Streets are jammed with new cars, stores filled with goodies, theaters booming, cafes bursting with elegant women and handsome men drinking exotic liquers or eating mounds of whipped cream.

East Berlin, by comparison, seems dreary. But make no mistake, conditions have improved a great deal there, too.

The imposing Stalin Allee, with its rows of stores and tall apartment buildings, has been extended. Food rationing ended some months ago. Store windows are filled with goods.

But there is a difference. West Berlin store windows display some of the finest, most stylish goods in the world. East Berlin windows show pre-war styles.

Dummies in West Berlin dress shops are size 12 or 14, considered the ideal figure here.

EITHER 16 OR 18

In East Berlin, there are little signs beneath the price tags which disclose the sizes to be either 16 or 18. The ideal woman in a Communist state is heavier than her Western sister.

West Berlin women's shops display airy, sharp-toed, spike-heeled shoes which show a rounded calf to perfection. East Berlin shoe stores sell low-heeled, sturdy women's shoes.

But try as they will, no one can really separate the two halves of this great city. Movies and theaters in West Berlin are filled with East Berliners who, by showing their passes, buy tickets with East marks at a rate of one for one, although actually on West mark is worth four East marks.

And there are plenty of Western visitors in East Berlin. They have to produce their passes, too.

★ ★ ★

But they also either must pay in West marks—which means paying four times the list price—or produce a bank receipt showing they bought their East marks at a rate of one for one—which means the same thing.

One of the city's favorite songs is sung nightly by a slender girl at Willi Schaeffer's "Tingel Tangel" cabaret in West Berlin.

It's all about the West Berlin boy courting the East Berlin girl. Came the Sunday when the boy decided he would take his camera on his date and make a picture of the girl to carry in his wallet.

The boy took the underground to East Berlin. But when he got off the train, the Communist police found his camera, said he was a Western spy, put him in the lockup and threw away the key.

And the little East Berlin girl still waits for him.

Potato Calories Low

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Just because you're getting a little bit fat don't cut out potatoes. That's the advice of Adelia M. Beeuwkes, associate professor of nutrition at the University of Michigan School of Public Health. One medium-sized baked potato has about the same number of calories as a large apple or orange, half a grapefruit or a serving of peas, she said. And that same spud, she added, has one-third of a person's daily requirement for vitamin C.

Wayne Has 23 Cities

DETROIT (UPI)—Wayne County now has 23 cities. Riverview in the downriver area became a city when residents of the village and a small unincorporated area of Monguagon Twp. voted to consolidate under a city government.

Rochester, N. Y. claims to be the world's leading producer of mail chutes.

Welfare of Indian Tribes Is Oldest Social Problem Facing America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What to do about the Indians is America's oldest problem of public policy.

It confronted Capt. John Smith soon after he led the first band of white settlers ashore at Jamestown. Today, after 351 years of experiment with all sorts of possible solutions, including wars of extermination, the problem remains unsolved.

Glenn L. Emmons, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, estimates there are about 450,000 Indians, on and off reservations, who are still under the "trusteeship" of the Federal government.

A few of them are rich from the proceeds of oil, timber or other valuable resources found on their tribal property. But for every Indian who drives around in a limousine, there are at least 100 others whose living standard is as low as that of any undeveloped country of Asia or Africa.

Emmons says, and most other authorities on Indian affairs agree, that the immediate cause of Indian poverty is clear:

There are too many Indians living on too little land.

It may come as a surprise to devotees of TV westerns, but there are a lot more Indians in America today than there were when the wagon trains rolled west a century ago.

2 OPPOSING VIEWS

There are two sharply opposing schools of thought about what should be done to solve the Indians' dilemma.

One holds that it is increasingly impracticable for large groups of Indians to "live off the land" as their ancestors did; that the only long-range solution is to prepare them as rapidly as possible for assimilation into an urban, industrialized white civilization.

Commissioner Emmons is a chief spokesman for this viewpoint, which has been embodied in official government policy since he took office in 1953.

The opposing school holds that Indians have a right to continue living like Indians: that it would be possible for them to do so if the selling off of their lands was halted and the government undertook a "domestic point four program" to develop economic resources on the reservations.

This viewpoint is shared by several groups working for Indian welfare, including the National Congress of American Indians and the Association on American Indian Affairs.

The controversy has centered in recent years around the "termination" program undertaken by Emmons' Bureau of Indian Affairs, a branch of the Interior Department. Under this program, the government is seeking to terminate its trusteeship responsibilities over Indian tribes that are considered ready to go it alone.

DOUBLE MEANING

For the affected Indians, "termination" has a double meaning. On one hand, it means they are free to manage their own property and affairs, like other citizens. On the other hand, it means that they lose the exemption from taxes and the special federal health, education and welfare services which they receive while they are wards of the government.

Although the Eisenhower administration is still committed to trusteeship termination as a long-range goal, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton has recently assured Indians that it will not be pressed as a quick and easy solution to Indian problems.

In a statement that has been widely circulated by Indian organizations, Seaton said it is "absolutely unthinkable" that any Indian tribe be "forced" into a termination program without its full understanding and consent.

He also said it would be "incredible, even criminal, to send any Indian tribe out into the stream of American life until and unless the educational level of that tribe was one which was equal to the responsibilities it was shouldering."

While Indian leaders have cheered Seaton's stand, they recognize that it does not of itself solve any of the basic problems. There are still "too many Indians on too little land" and most of them are desperately poor.

Turkey Gobbler Sets on Guinea Hen Eggs

CONWAY, S. C. (AP) — A turkey gobbler belonging to Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Parker of near here has maternal instincts.

The gobbler found a nest of guinea hen eggs, decided they needed attention, set four weeks and hatched four. The family is doing fine, too, with its foster father-mother.

Woman Facing Life by Making Face Masks

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Karl Hunt makes faces—for a living.

The faces are paper and paste masks which the young housewife turns out for as much as $250 each for television and movies. She began making them—mostly of public or fictional figures—after studying Greek and Roman theatrical masks in school.

Tells Weight in Gold

UTICA, N. Y. —It's easy to find out what your weight in gold is if you use a scale specially made for a Utica bank. It weighs up to 300 pounds (or $153,125 in gold, figuring $35 per troy ounce) and shows the weight both in pounds and in gold. The bank will rotate the scale among its branches, leaving it at each branch a month.

NICE SQUEEZINS — Because some publicity man dubbed her the "Champagne Blonde," Cindy Robbins is shown getting down to the business of wine making by trampling a vat of grapes. Record Business Has Gone Crazy

More Than 1,500 Labels Vie in Mushrooming Platter Market

By The Associated Press

A handful of years ago, there were four record companies in the United States. Today, there are more than 1,500.

No wonder record veterans exclaim the business has gone crazy!

Says one: "Any guy with a thousand dollars can start a record company. All he's got to do is pick up a foursome in a bar, take 'em to a recording studio, make a couple of sides, think up a name for his label and he's in business."

Then he takes his record to a distributor in one or more of the major cities. If the distributor thinks the record might sell, he takes it on. It is sent to the local disc jockeys. If they take a shine to it, they play it over and over on the air, and the teenagers start asking for the number in the music stores.

If this situation is repeated in city after city, the man who started with a shoestring can end up with a shoe store.

As might be expected, the established record firms are upset by this trend. They complain that distributors favor the shoestringers, who demand less royalty because they have no overhead. There are even dark hints that hits are created not by teenage demand, but by greasing the palms of disc jockeys and other hitmakers.

The arguments fly. Meanwhile, the record industry continues in its erratic manner. New singers on new labels make a terrific hit. Then both singer and label disappear.

"Few of the performers seem to have any staying power," says Capitol's Glenn Wallichs. "The kids buy records for voice and performance alone, not out of loyalty."

What has the teenage revolution done to the record business?

The industry boomed from 7½ million dollars in 1939 to 400 million in 1957. Indications are that the record firms may have dropped in sales volume in 1958.

The reason is that teenagers have virtually taken over the single-record market. Their kind of music is largely unappealing to adults, who buy the albums. For that reason, the major firms are putting more and more emphasis on the packaging of albums while the newcomers scramble to sell the singles to the kids.

She Believes in Getting Divorce and More, Too

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Better Business Bureau reports it turned down investigating this complaint:

A woman said she hired a lawyer to represent her in a divorce suit and wanted a refund of his fee, but couldn't get it. The husband, she said, died three days after the decree was granted.

Traffic Toll Down by 4 Pct.

Accidental Death Rate Is Lowest on Record

CHICAGO (UP)—Accidents killed 91,000 persons and injured more than nine million others in the United States in 1958 but the death rate was the lowest on record.

The National Safety Council said the accident death toll of 91,000 compared with 95,307 in 1957, a drop of five per cent. It was the lowest toll since 1954 when accidents claimed the lives of 90,032 persons.

One of every 19 persons in the nation suffered a disabling injury last year, the council said, for a total of 9,100,000 persons injured.

The death rate from accidents dropped to an all-time low of 52.5 deaths per 100,000 population. The previous low was 55.9, set in 1954. The 1957 rate was 56.

The financial loss, including both fatal and non-fatal accidents, was 11 billion 900 million dollars in 1958, the NCS said. This figure covered wage losses, insurance and medical expenses, production delays, damage to equipment and damage to property in traffic mishaps and fires.

The traffic death toll of 37,000 kept the highway the leading spot for killing accidents. But this figure declined 1,702 from the 38,702 total in 1957. It was a 4 per cent decrease.

In 1958, deaths per 100 million miles of travel by motor vehicles hit a new low of 5.6 per cent. The previous low of 6 per cent was in 1957.

The new record was set despite a 3 per cent travel increase.

The council estimated there were drops last year in such other major categories as the 27,000 killed in homes, 13,300 in the job and 16,500 in public clear of motor vehicle fatalities.

Falls caused 18,500 deaths, burns 6,500, drownings 6,300 and firearms 2,450.

About 18 per cent of all Americans do not brush their teeth—but these include babies and people with false teeth.

Detroit Judge Is Baffled

Which Gal Is This Fellow's Legal Wife?

DETROIT (UPI)—Traffic Judge George T. Murphy turned hands down when asked to solve the marital problems of Raleigh Hoggard Jr.

Hoggard, 24, was arrested for blowing his car horn too loud and too often in front of the home of Dorothy Jones. He was hauled into court when it was discovered he owed $85 in traffic tickets.

Murphy told Hoggard to pay the tickets or spend 10 days in jail.

Hoggard beamed.

"My wife has the money," he said.

Murphy asked Mrs. Hoggard to step forward. Two women approached the bench.

One, Dorothy Jones, explained she married Hoggard at Toledo in May 1956.

The other, Venette Reasonover, said she and Hoggard were wed last Dec. 24.

Hoggard told Murphy he learned that his first wife never had been divorced from her previous husband and hence, their marriage was not legal.

But Wife No. 1 pointed out that her first husband had never obtained a divorce from his first wife. Hence, that marriage wasn't legal but the marriage to Hoggard was legal.

Both women told Murphy they would be happy to pay Hoggard's tickets if the judge would decide which of them was his legal wife.

"I'm sorry," Murphy said. "This is a traffic court."

The two wives said in that case they wouldn't pay the tickets. Hoggard was taken to jail to start his 10-day term.

He Asks for Trouble!

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — After getting a ticket for speeding at 45 miles an hour, Demetrio H. Rivera, 26, roared off in his car at over 50 miles an hour. He got another ticket as soon as the motorcycle patrolman could catch up with him.

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI) — Policemen were finally able to catch up with a driverless runaway horse from the Yonkers Raceway when he stopped for a traffic light.

The Green Empress

CHAPTER XLV

"Neither do I. For God's sake, let's go on and get to the end of this accursed journey. I'm ready to go now, if you are."

"I'll make the arrangements," said Angus.

He went to consult Ferdy, and found him not only willing, but anxious to go on.

"We'll arrive a bit ahead of schedule, sir, but that won't worry the Company. It's being late they'd object to."

"You don't mind the night drive?"

"I'll enjoy it, sir. This has been an unlucky trip, and I'll feel happier when it's over."

The hotel staff were only too eager to see them set off, a runaway couple, a pursuit. It was in the best romantic tradition. Ferdy, his own apprehensions for the future drowned in a rush of sympathy for Angus, tried to assemble some words of sympathy, failed, shook his head mournfully and set about his preparations for departure.

Angus, going mechanically through the usual formalities, fought again and again with the waves of panic that swept into his mind. He had failed her, and she had gone away. He had looked at the situation from one point of view and he had acted for what he felt was the best. But she . . . she saw his silence as betrayal and she had gone away.

He finished his preparations and went downstairs. Ferdy departed to bring round the Empress, and a message was sent to Lord Lorrimer that all was ready.

Angus walked out of the hotel and stood on the drive, his eyes following the road that wound among the hills, searching for a sign of the car in which was the girl who only last night had rested in his arms, whose lips had warmed beneath his own.

He moved restlessly across the drive and mounted a grassy slope to get a better view of the valley. Below him, the drive made a steep upward curve, dropping as steeply to the hotel entrance. He saw a break in the trees opposite, and stepped onto the drive to get a better view.

SHE WAS HURT

She was there . . . somewhere. She had gone, and he and her father, without wasting time on discussion, had known that it was no use going after her.

She was hurt, and she was angry. She had gone—where? She could go back to Spain, or she could go to Lisbon. She would recover, soon, from the first effects of the news, and then she would begin to think, and begin to judge. She would not judge her father—but she would judge the man to whom she had given her generous, impulsive heart.

She had given liberally—and she felt that he had given nothing in return.

Searching miserably among the ruins of the past few days, he wondered whether there was any moment at which he could have staved off disaster. He could have made a better estimate of Tarrant's capacity for mischief. He could have shown more active sympathy with Miss Seton, and drawn from her the story which she had unwisely told Tarrant. But having learned the cause of her distress, would he have told Angela?

He thought not. He was still certain that he had had no right to speak before her father spoke. He would not have told her. If the past few days could be reenacted he would do again what he had done before. And in the end, she would have gone . . . gone away.

For a few moments, apprehension, misery, fear rushed together in his mind and made him insensible to his surroundings.

A brief vision of the future rose before him, a future without Angela. He closed his eyes and fought to conquer the panic that threatened to overwhelm him—and at that moment, Ferdy brought the Green Empress down the steep curve of the drive.

EVENTS WERE MOVING

Events, for the next twenty seconds, moved swiftly, drastically and inevitably. Angus heard a shout, and turned to find the coach almost on him. He had only to leap—and he leaped. But in springing aside, he acted instinctively and with no remembrance of the precautions which since his accident had been necessary. He sprang — and then he knew that his injured knee was not going to take his weight.

He heard other shouts, and had a second's glimpse of Ferdy's wide, staring eyes. The coach swerved, lurched—and then there was a sound of crashing branches, followed by a long, peaceful silence.

Lying in the ditch, Angus felt that his mind was working with remarkable clarity. It was comfortable down there, he mused. Interesting, too, it was obvious that Ferdy kept the underside of the Empress as impeccable as he kept the bodywork. Good old Ferdy. No sign of him; perhaps he was looking for him and hadn't thought of looking in the ditch. One should yell . . . in a moment or two.

Ditch . . . There was something, after all, in this psychic business. The Admiral's sister had seen it all. She seen a Spanish ditch, of course, and this was a Portuguese ditch — and it wasn't the Admiral who was under the coach; it was himself. Apart from those little details, it was an amazingly accurate forecast.

Delicate Heart Operation Opens New World for Pamela

Don't Have to Worry Anymore

A new and brighter world has opened up for a pretty little Pontiac girl.

Pamela Sue Schultz, who will be five years old on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, came home last week after undergoing a delicate heart operation.

This means that neither Pamela, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Schultz, of 369 S. Edith St., nor her brother Gregory, 2½, will have to live in fear that she might get a cold or sore throat.

Before, this could have been fatal, doctors had told them.

Pamela was born with a hole in her heart, in the left ventricle.

WORK 3 HOURS

Jan. 14 a team of surgeons at Detroit's Ford Hospital, all specialists, worked over little Pamela for three hours.

While their hands worked carefully and methodically, mending the ill-formed heart wall, one of the great scientific advances of our time—the mechanical heart — pumped life blood through Pamela's body.

Pamela, the doctors and the intricate man-made heart survived the ordeal with flying colors. But it was possibly only the hand of God that kept Pamela alive for nearly five years, for not until the recent perfection of the mechanical heart was it possible to attempt such a risky operation.

"We first noticed the defect when Pamela was about nine months old," said her mother in relieved tones, expressing the joy at finally having such a heavy burden of worry lifted from her shoulders.

"We suddenly noticed a rattling or wheezing sound in her back as though she had pneumonia," Mrs. Schultz said.

"Our doctor suggested we take her to Ford Hospital for some tests. Doctors there ran a small tube through one of her veins into her heart and found the trouble."

Pamela was living on a poor mixture of blood, doctors said. The hole in her ventricle allowed blood coming into the heart and blood leaving the heart to mix.

Doctors told her parents they must be extremely wary of the slightest sign of a cold. In other respects, Pamela could indulge in the many normal activities of children her age, except for the possibility that the heart defect might affect her growth.

GROWTH NORMAL

Pamela didn't show any signs of growing at a less rapid rate than other children in the neighborhood. But twice, when she was three-years-old, she developed the dreaded sore throat.

Pamela was not just bundled up and fed cough medicines for 48 hours or so like most children are.

She was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where doctors gave her the latest drugs and their closest attention to keep her alive.

While the doctors worked, so did Pamela's brave heart. It pumped hard and fast, much faster than normally, to try and win against steep odds.

Unpurified blood coming to the heart was seeping into the ventricle and mixing with the already purified blood being pumped through her body.

On both occasions, one in the spring of the year and the other in mid-summer, Pamela successfully fought to regain her health.

All this time the machine that was to eventually spell a miracle for her was being developed and redeveloped until it could be counted on for a large degree of success in heart surgery.

In November, 1958, doctors suggested to Pamela's parents that the delicate surgery be attempted before further complications were given an opportunity to develop.

Pamela was told, in general terms, what the doctors would be doing to her and for her while she was peacefully "asleep." She entered Ford Hospital on Jan. 11 for the vital days of observation and preparation.

As children so often do, Pamela exhibited no great amount of fear for the most important moment in her life.

HIDDEN BADGE

Today she has a badge that no one can see. It's a small circular piece of plastic material where a hole used to be. In six months it will have grown into the surrounding wall of muscle to become a permanent part of the most vital organ in her body.

"It sounds unbelievable, but the doctors tell us that all that will remain will be a small, almost invisible white scar," said Pamela's mother with a smile.

And what does Pamela think about all this?

Pontiac Press Photo

HER HEART WAS MENDED—Pamela Schultz is a happier little girl these days. She's smiling because she now can play with her friends and do the things any normally healthy child can. Previously, her play had been restricted because of a serious heart defect, which was corrected through surgery.

President Maps Civil Rights Plan

Asks Congress to Make at Crime to Use Force to Obstruct Orders

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called on Congress today to strengthen civil rights laws by making it a federal crime to use force or threats of force to obstruct court orders in school desegregation cases.

As part of a seven-point legislative package, Eisenhower said this proposal would give the government a valuable enforcement power to deter mob violence and such other acts of violence or threats which seek to obstruct court decrees in desegregation cases.

The program had been tagged by the President in advance as a moderate one designed not to raise temperatures.

But it may not please either Southern segregationists or Northern liberals of both parties in all respects.

The package provides:

Additional investigative power for the FBI in crimes involving destruction or attempted destruction of schools or churches. Eisenhower would make a federal offense of flight from one state to another to avoid detention or prosecution.

Authority for the attorney general to inspect federal election records and require the preservation of such records for a reasonable time, in order to help preserve the right to vote as "the keystone of democratic self-government."

Temporary financial and technical help to state and local agencies to help them adjust to the school integration.

RHUBARB QUEEN — Eighteen-year-old Nancy Oliver of Warren was chosen from a field of 11 contestants last night to reign as queen over the Michigan Hothouse Rhubarb Festival in Utica March 7. She was presented with a bouquet of rhubarb by Master of Ceremonies Patricia McRath of Pontiac.

Nancy Oliver, 18, Begins Reign

Senior at Center Line High, She Is Selected From Field of Ten

UTICA — A Center Line High School senior, 18-year-old Nancy Oliver, begins her reign today as the 1959 Michigan Hothouse Rhubarb Queen.

Nancy was chosen over a field of 10 other contestants in competition staged last night in the auditorium of the Utica Community High School.

When the judges' decision was announced the winner's eyes filled with tears and she said, "I'm so happy, I never thought I'd see this day."

The new queen is the daughter of Mrs. Lillian Oliver of 24795 Eureka Rd., Warren and the late Francis Oliver. Her ambition is to go to college and later become an elementary school teacher.

Runners-up in the contest were Lorelei Hoxie, 18, of Armada and Judy Jambriska, 17, of Utica.

Lorelei, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hoxie of 74241 Burke Rd., is a senior at Armada High School. Judy's parents are the John Jambriskas of 8480 Canal Rd. She is a senior at Utica Community High School.

All of the girls appeared on stage in street dress first to be interviewed by Master of Ceremonies Patricia McRath of Alicia Bridal Salon of Pontiac. They reappeared later in formal attire for further questioning in front of the panel of judges and the audience.

The judges were Janice DeAnne of the American Beauty Finishing School of Detroit, Ron Serba of Kimberly Flowers, Detroit and Lee Winborn of the Pontiac Press editorial staff.

They graded each contestant on personal appearance, social poise, self-confidence, speech and knowledge of rhubarb.

Queen Nancy faces a busy schedule in the month ahead. She will make numerous television and public appearances to focus attention on the fourth annual Michigan Hothouse Rhubarb Festival to be held Mar. 7 in Utica.

The annual event is sponsored by the Wolverine State Growers Assn. and the Utica Rotary Club. Utica Rotarian Charles Bannow is general chairman of the event this year.

Other entrants in the queen's contest were: Jerry Szerwinski, Carol Cameron and Arlene Ternes, all of Utica; Janet Rinke of New Haven; Dolores Biggers of Romeo; Elaine Cickoski and Virginia Berak, both of Warren and Lois Kethe of Richmond.

Says Court Order Flouted by City

Attorney Claims Writ Requires Officers Be Put in Proper Positions

The attorney for two Pontiac police officers who sued the city to win promotions has charged that the city has not complied with a circuit court order requiring that officers be put in the positions they qualified for.

★ ★ ★

Paul W. Harty charged city officials with "flouting the dignity of the court" and "grabbing on a technicality to try and avoid the judge's writ."

★ ★ ★

Judge Clark J. Adams last October, in saying the city was violating the Civil Service law governing policemen, ordered that Sgt. Fred L. Goines be promoted to lieutenant and Detectives Herbert C. Cooley and James F. Bale to sergeant openings. Bale wasn't a party to the suit but had placed second on a sergeant eligibility list.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said the city had "complied with the court order giving the men their positions as ordered in the writ of mandamus."

He said Public Safety Director George D. Eastman had promoted Bale to a sergeant position, Goines to a lieutenant position and that "Cooley just recently was appointed sergeant."

It is Harty's contention that the men were not given the specific positions as outlined in the court order, but rather the city had elevated Goines to fill the vacancy created by Lt. Claude A. Evans' retirement. Bale in turn got Goines' old job.

It was while the city was awaiting an answer for leave to appeal Judge Adams' decision to the Supreme Court that Goines and Bale were raised to higher ranks. The high court later denied the city's petition.

Ewart said, "all the court was interested in was to give them promotions and not what jobs you put them in."

Harty yesterday filed a motion in circuit court which, in essence, will ask Judge Adams to inquire of Ewart whether his order had been complied with.

A hearing on Harty's latest motion has been set for Monday before Judge Adams.

Royal Oak Fire Costs $75,000

Believe Blaze at Market Caused by Overheated Conveyor Motor

ROYAL OAK — A fire at the Lipson and Gourwitz Market at the corner of Fifth and Main streets caused an estimated damage of $75,000 last night.

Fire Chief Wilfred Spies said it is believed the blaze started in the basement and was caused by an overheated motor on a conveyor used to carry stock from storage to the main floor.

A passerby rang the fire department from a nearby alarm box at 10:52 p.m. He was unidentified.

The flames burned a large hole through the back end of the roof by the time the firemen arrived. It took two hours to get the two-alarm fire under control.

Chief Spies estimated the damage at roughly $75,000. Most of the loss is believed to be in stock.

The store was previously owned by the B. and C. Markets chain, and was purchased less than a month ago by its present owners.

New Mexico Car Dealer to Head Association

CHICAGO (AP)—H. L. Galles Jr., Albuquerque, N. M., automobile dealer, today was installed as president of the National Automobile Dealers Assn. for 1959.

The installation concluded the organization's annual convention.

A veteran of more than 30 years in the atuomotive field, Galles was secretary of the association in 1958. He is a past president of the New Mexico Automotive Dealers Assn. and the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce.

Solon Asks the People to Advise State

LANSING (AP) — "Wanted—1,000 people in the counties of Eaton, Clinton, and Shiawassee who are interested in their state government to write their views to me on Michigan's financial plight. What do you favor as a solution?"

That's a partial text of an ad a freshman Republican senator from Grand Ledge has placed in the classified columns of all newspapers in his district.

This unusual technique to seek a solution to the state's dollar drought was originated by Sen. John W. Fitzgerald. He's the son of former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald who died in 1939 while serving a second term as Michigan's chief exectutive.

Young Fitzgerald says he turned to the classified columns because he knows of no portion of a newspaper which is read more thoroughly.

"I could have sent a questionnaire to a mailing list," he adds, "but I want ideas from everyone, not just those who might happen to appear on a list by chance."

Fitzgerald says he hopes the people who respond to his ad won't pull any punches.

"Somewhere," he continues, "is a person with a better solution (to the cash crisis) than anyone has brought forth yet."

Register of Deeds Receipts Rise $2,473 Over 1958

The Oakland County Resgister of Deeds office noted an increase of $2,473 in receipts last month as compared for the same time last year, according to Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr.

★ ★ ★

Murphy said month-end totals showed $19,762.90 was received for handling 14,941 papers in January. This compares with 12,284 papers which brought in $17,289.60 in January, 1958.

★ ★ ★

Five new land plats were also recorded in the office last month.

★ ★ ★

So were 2,620 deeds, 1,347 mortgages, 4,993 chattel mortgages, 3,731 photos, seven bills of sale and 2,243 miscellaneous papers.

Plane Missing With 12 Aboard

Scour Stormy Atlantic for Hurricane Hunter Lost Since 8:22 A.M.

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—A U.S. Superfortress weather plane and its crew of 12 were missing today and presumed down in the stormy mid-Atlantic.

The big four-engine aircraft had only enough fuel to stay aloft until 3 a.m. today.

The search centered about 300 miles northwest of Bermuda where a Japanese freighter reported it saw a burning plane crash Wednesday morning in the Atlantic.

Although the freighter said the plane appeared to be a single-engine craft, the four-engine B50 should have been in the general area at the time.

Coast Guard planes and Navy flying boats scanning the area said conditions were foul with 40 mile-an-hour winds, rough seas, and visibility down to 1½ miles.

Names of the 12 men aboard were withheld until next of kin were notified.

The B50 Hurricane Hunter, attached to the 59th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron at Bermuda's Kindley Air Base, set out at 6:45 a.m. Wednesday on a daily flight over the North Atlantic collecting weather data. It was due back at 7:38 p.m.

The Coast Guard Cutter Mackinac, based in Bermuda, was racing to the position and was due on the scene this morning. The Aircraft Carrier Tarawa and six accompanying destroyers, which were on maneuvers in the North Atlantic, were ordered to join in the search.

New President of Medical Group Holds 1st Meet

The new president of the Oakland County Medical Society, Dr. Robert Wessels of Birmingham, presided over his first meeting last night at the group's second annual dinner meeting with the society's medical auxiliary.

The dinner meeting was held at the Elks Temple in Pontiac.

Dr. Paul T. Lahti of Royal Oak, program chairman and treasurer of the society, introduced the guest speaker, newspaper columnist, Ann Landers.

Other officers of the society elected recently are Dr. James Reid, of Birmingham, secretary; and board members, Dr. Jack Geist of Rochester, Dr. Harry Arnkoff of Pontiac and Dr. Robert Bookmeier of Birmingham. Dr. Walter Zimmerman of Royal Oak is president-elect.

New York Actress Una O'Connor Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Una O'Connor, 78, prominent stage and screen character actress, died last night following a lengthy illness.

Miss O'Connor had been a patient at the Mary Manning Walsh Home, a Carmelite Sisters institution for the aged and infirm, since Jan. 10, 1957, suffering from an arteriosclerotic condition.

She was born in Belfast, Ireland. Hospital records list her birthdate as Oct. 23, 1880.

After training for the stage at the Abbey Theatre School, Dublin, and making her debut there, Miss O'Connor came to this country in 1911. Her first role was in "The Shewing-Up of Blanco Posnet."

Her last stage appearance was in 1956 with the road company of "Witness for the Prosecution."

Richard Griffin of 336 E. Third St., appeared before Justice Luther C. Green and is now being held in the county jail after failing to post a $2,000 bond.

He is scheduled to appear in the higher court at 10 a.m. Monday.

A specific policy will be established whereby children who will be 4, 7, 10 and 13 years of age by June, will receive fluoride treatments. No pre-school children will qualify this year.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The poets at the Ohio penitentiary are getting out of hand. The prison newspaper has asked its readers: "Please do not contribute poems . . . we will accept articles or items of general interest to our readers, but no poems, please."

Blast Reports Laid to Jet Aircraft

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department received a flood of telephone calls today from housewives in the area who reported hearing a shock-wave type of explosion at about 10:30 a.m.

Deputies said no source of the blast has been established yet. Nothing was seen at the time of the incident. The calls came in from people living in the area between Rochester and Auburn Heights.

One housewife claimed that her house was shaken by the blast, and another said it broke a glass in the kitchen.

The Sheriff's Department called Mount Clemens to find out if any jet planes from nearby Selfridge Air Force Base were flying in the area at the time, but has received no confirmation yet.

It was believed that a jet plane might have broken the sound barrier in the vicinity. Skies were too overcast for any craft at high altitudes to be seen.

State Treasurer Asked About 'Collapse Day'

LANSING (AP) — A new term — collapse day — joined the lexicon of legislators, state officials and others worried about Michigan's financial future.

Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron) coined it yesterday in questioning State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown about the acute money shortage in state coffers.

Loosely defined, it will be the first payless payday for state employes, or the day when the state is unable to make welfare payments or meet some financial obligation required by the state constitution.

Nobody, including Brown, has pinpointed collapse day yet. Educated guesses indicate it will arrive in April or May unless the state finds a new revenue source.

Federal Grand Jury Investigating GM

These companies, which were not made defendants, were named as the Greyhound Corp., National City Line, Public Service Coordinated, and Hertz Corp.

In confirming the grand jury investigation Wednesday night, a government source said the subpoenaed records would be presented to the jury.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, chief of the Justice Department's antitrust division, told the Senate-House Economic Committee Wednesday the problem of undue concentration "plagues autos and steel." He did not name any firms.

Hansen said the GM investigation had been under way for quite some time. However, he emphasized that no conclusions have been reached.

"No legal action is now in preparation for filing," he said.

But sources that confirmed the grand jury investigation said this did not contradict Hansen's statement because a grand jury investigation is not a legal action before a court although it could result in one.

The source, asked why the subpoena had been issued for the records Wednesday if the grand jury has been in session for several weeks, said "these things take time."

In Detroit, GM Board Chairman Frederick G. Donner said the subpoena called for a "tremendous amount of information, records and reports."

Donner said "in view of the complexity of this request, it obviously requires considerable study and analysis on our part. We have not had an opportunity to examine the subpoena in detail."

Set 11th-Hour Meet on Police Dispute and avoid the publicity of an open hearing.

"But this is a possibility, of course," he conceded.

"Principally, we want the officials to hear a sampling of the community's thinking on their problem."

The City Commission called for the committee Tuesday in an effort to have troubles in the police department patched up before the matter went to the Civil Service Commission.

Since the issue concerns the city administration, no city officials except himself and Donaldson have been named to the committee, Rowston said.

It was Donaldson who won Commission approval of the committee.

A draft of charges against Straley has been prepared by Eastman and is in the hands of the city attorney for finalizing before delivery to City Manager Walter K. Willman, who is to present them to the Civil Service Commission.

The charges reportedly accuse the chief of incompetence and insubordination.

They must be in the hands of the Civil Service Commission by next Thursday in order to meet the requirements of a 90-day statute of limitations.

It was on Nov. 12, just short of 90 days ago, that Eastman stripped Straley of powers and the chief has been chief in little other than name since.

Muscles, Eyes Bulge at Atlas Meeting

did not always bulge with muscles. The story of being a 97-pound weakling that has been advertised to the more than 1½ million subscribers of his health and muscles building mail order lessons is true, he said.

"Before I moved to America, I was a normal boy who lived on a farm, had plenty of goat's milk and did a lot of walking," he explained.

"I don't know whether it was the change in the climate or what, but I lost my appetite. Everyone complained that I was skinny and the teacher came to my mother and claimed that I was undernourished."

While he told the story of his success, he continualy rocked from toe to heel, clutched his hands and stood so erect one would think the V-shaped man was constantly holding in his stomach. Actually, his movements represented the "dynamic tension" exercises he has invented and advocated.

After taking a lot of razzing about his appearance, Atlas joined a group of boys who went to a gym provided by the manager of a settlement house near his home in Brooklyn.

"The manager used to take us on weekend trips. One time we went to the Brooklyn Museum of Art. I was amazed at those statues of Hercules and all the Greek Gods. They inspired me," he continued.

Soon Atlas began to practice the calisthenics he had seen in classes at the YMCA.

Then he went to the zoo to watch the animals stretch, roll and yawn to further develop a technique.

Before he knew it he began modeling for artists and then won the title of the "Best Built Man in the World" in 1921 and "America's Best Built Man" title in 1922.

Letters from admirers began to pour in seeking advice on how to improve their bodies.

Today, Atlas, still healthy and bulging with muscles, stands five foot 10½ inches tall, weighs in at 180, and has a chest measuring 47½ inches.

He attributes his condition to "the right kind of living, no drinking or smoking, plenty of exercise and the proper foods."

Proposes Letting Michigan Borrow Up to $50 Million

LANSING (UPI)—A proposal calling for a constitutional amendment to permit the state to borrow up to 50-million dollars was offered in the House today by Rep. E. D. O'Brien (D-Detroit).

It was the latest in a series of proposals aimed at easing the state's cash crisis. The current borrowing limit for the state is $250,000.

Reps. Harvey J. Beadle and O'Brien said if the higher debt limitation is approved in a statewide referendum April 6, it would avert the need for mortgaging the state's 50 million dollar Veterans Trust Fund.

★ ★ ★

They proposed solving the state's cash emergency by borrowing to the new limit and repaying the 50 million over a three-year period.

Acquires New York Hotel

DETROIT (UPI) — International Hotels, Inc., which has Detroit headquarters, has announced acquisition of the 350-room Beverly Hotel at Lexington avenue and 50th street in New York City. The firm also owns the Prince George and Navarro in New York, the Hayes in Jackson, Mich., the Bancroft in Saginaw, Mich., and the Wenonah in Bay City, Mich. It also operates hotels in Ohio and California.

Girl, 5, Struck by Car in Pontiac Township

Barbara Benjamin, 5, of 3028 Hill Rd., Pontiac Township, was reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after being struck by an auto yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

She was hit by a car driven by Kenneth F. Bredow while crossing Collier street east of Joslyn road and admitted to the hospital with a possible concussion.

★ ★ ★

Can't Escape Tickets

CHICAGO (UPI) — Leonard Lowenstein, 32, explained today why he fled from a policeman, only to wind up with eight tickets for reckless driving, speeding, improper turns and going through a red light. "I didn't want to get a ticket," he said.

'Class, Have a Cigar'

DELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Elementary school principal Ed Talton passed out cigars to his students on becoming a father, but asked that they be saved till after lunch. They were candy facsimiles.

BAR MOTHER FROM WEDDING — Pasadena, Calif. businessman Louis E. Purmort, 34, and his bride-to-be, Mrs. Barbara Stanley Thorndike, 26, a divorcee, tell of threats against Purmort by his mother. The son has obtained a court order barring his mother from the coming wedding. He reported the 68-year-old woman said she would kill him if he went through with marriage plans.

Hoping to Launch Balloon Aimed at Record Height

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — A group of scientists planned to release a huge balloon today in an attempt to set a world's altitude record for unmanned balloons. The present record is 142,000 feet.

★ ★ ★

Today's release of a three-million cubic foot balloon will be the second in a series of experiments to probe and measure cosmic ray intensities and composition of atmospheric particles at different phases of solar activity, Dr. Frank McDonald of the University of Iowa said.

★ ★ ★

McDonald said the first experiment Wednesday was successful. In it a balloon of 1½-million cubic feet soared to an altitude of 122,000 feet. The balloon radios back data.

Mother Banned From Wedding

Son Gets Injunction in California After Being Threatened

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wealthy Pasadena manufacturer has obtained a court order that prohibits his mother from attending his marriage next Sunday in suburban San Marino.

Louis E. Purmort, 34, got the injunction after telling the court that his mother, Mrs. Tessie Purmort, 68, had told him she would kill him rather than see him marry Mrs. Barbara Stanley Thorndike, a divorcee. Mrs. Purmort is the wife of George Purmort, 68, retired Milwaukee construction engineer.

The son informed the court that his mother had written his lawyer, blaming Mrs. Thorndike, 26, for breaking up his first marriage. The divorce became final Friday. The former wife, Mrs. Carolyn Frances Purmort, obtained custody of their two children.

"I would rather see you dead than married to Barbara," Purmort quoted his mother. "If you go ahead and get married in church, I'm going to be there and stop this marriage."

Superior Court Judge Ellsworth Meyer ordered Mrs. Purmort to stay away from the wedding, from the wedding reception, and the going-away party. The couple will leave for Hawaii on their honeymoon.

Town Officials Forced to Swallow Pride

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Because the city needs revenue, officials decided to swallow pride and honor an irate citizen's checks.

The first one read, "Pay to the order of the thieves of City Hall, $13.50 for water from a bunch of crooks."

A second one for $9.75 was made out to, "The crooks of City Hall, for a few drops of water and overcharged sewer tax."

Social Security Has Great Value

People Don't Realize Worth

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

What does being covered by Social Security mean to you?

Most people — although they've paid hundreds of dollars into the system—don't seem to have much of an idea.

Why? Your guess is as good as mine.

Maybe they don't realize how valuable Social Security is. Maybe they feel the system is so complicated they wouldn't understand it if they tried. Maybe they figure they have plenty of time to find out before they reach the point when they can start collecting.

Yet, I'm sure — no matter what a person's attitude is —he'd probably be surprised to find that Social Security can be worth as much as $126,000 in insurance right now.

At least, that's what a New York firm of tax consultants estimates would be the amount of insurance you would be paying on to get the maximum protection from Social Security.

Here, for example, is how the value of Social Security breakdown for a 35-year-old man earning $90 a week, with a wife and three young children:

—$70,000 worth of life insurance.

Should a man die, his wife would get $255 burial payment, plus nearly $70,000 in benefits for herself and children, paid over the years.

Should the man become disabled, he and his family would draw from $116 to $232 monthly beginning at age 50. At age 65, he would get retirement payments.

Should he live and retire at 65, he and his wife would be eligible for at least $160 in monthly payments as long as they live.

Although this example applies only to a $90-a-week man of 35 with a wife and three children, you could work out a similar benefit table for yourself and your family if you had a fairly complete knowledge of Social Security.

For example: You would know how much your wife and children could collect in monthly payments if you should die tomororw or any time in the near future.

With this information, you would better be able to plan how much life insurance or other financial security, if any you want your family to have should you die.

Or, with knowledge of your rights under Social Security if you're disabled, you can fill in the financial gap that being disabled would create.

The point is that you should have a fairly accurate idea of what Social Security means to you and your family.

Butcher's Reassurance Keeps Holiday Cheer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Greenwich Village butcher shop put up a special holiday window display that included two live turkeys and a tree stump with an ominous axe imbedded in it.

Neighborhood children loved the turkeys but were so disturbed by the axe that they sent a delegation of their mothers to visit the butcher, after which this reassuring sign also appeared in the window: "These birds are pets. They are NOT going to be killed."

More than half of all the automatic central heating devices in U.S. homes are oil burners.

Partners Pay Double

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Lisle Shoemaker and Bill Teawell, advertising partners, were delighted at the way the landscaping around their new office thrived. After a month, a bookkeeper discovered why: Shoemaker had hired a gardener to work Wednesdays and Fridays, and Teawell had hired one for Mondays and Thursdays.

Former Judge Dies in Detroit

Vincent Brennan Was Center of Controversy 4 Years Ago

DETROIT (AP) — Former Judge Vincent M. Brennan, who retired from the Wayne County circuit bench four years ago amid controversy, died last night. He was 68.

He was discovered slumped over on his bedroom floor by nurses at Henry Ford Hospital.

Brennan entered the hospital Tuesday, suffering from an arteriosclerosis affliction. But his son, Vincent M. Brennan Jr., said he believed the ailment had been arrested. The younger Brennan said he thought his father died from a heart attack.

Brennan served on the circuit bench for more than 30 years. When he retired, it was under fire. His personal conduct had aroused protest.

Later Brennan tried to rescind his decision. The case went to the Supreme Court which ruled he must retire.

The court, in an unprecedented action in June, 1952, rebuked Brennan for "neglect of official duties and disgraceful conduct in public places."

Brennan was born in Mount Clemens and served one term in the U.S. Congress and the state Senate.

Deaths Elsewhere

DETROIT (AP) — Funeral service will be held Friday for Alfred Loewenstein, 65, co-founder and president of a Detroit meat packing firm bearing his name. Loewenstein died Wednesday after a short illness. He started in the meat packing business in Mount Clemens and opened his first Detroit plant in 1919.

Hike Will Bolster Strike Fund

UAW Dues to Go Up $1

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union, in a move to bolster its sagging strike fund, has ordered a one-dollar increase in monthly dues, effective March 1.

UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey said yesterday the increase is necessary to build the union's strike fund back to 25 million dollars. The fund is now $16,630,806.

The UAW constitution calls for a dues hike whenever the strike fund dips below 20 million dollars. It has an automatic cutoff when the fund reaches 25 million.

Mazey said the UAW spent $22,127,402 from the strike fund last year in helping members in 279 idled plants. Expenditures were $3,337,408 last month, Mazey said.

The increase was ordered by the UAW International Executive Board last Monday. The UAW constitution provides all locals must charge at least $3 in monthly dues. Some locals collect as much as $4.

The locals currently must give the international union half of the $3 monthly. Of this $1.50, 25 cents goes into the strike fund.

Start Ward Work at Pontiac General

10 Train as Practical Nurses

Ten area women are enrolled in the latest practical nursing class beginning seven months of ward practice at Pontiac General Hospital.

After four months of classroom and laboratory training at Ann Arbor Practical Nurse Education Center, the trainees are putting their newly acquired knowledge to work.

They've begun 10 weeks of practice on the medical floors and later will receive six weeks of training in obstetrics and four in pediatrics, said Donald H. Carros, hospital personnel director.

About 90 practical nurses have been graduated from the hospital's training program since it was initiated in 1950, and most of these went on to be employed at the hospital.

The latest class will be graduated late this year and, if state board examinations are passed, they may join the hospital's large practical nursing staff, too.

However, the hospital has not employed any of the last two graduating classes, said Carros, because of cutbacks in the hospital staff.

While working at the hospital, the trainees receive a $4-a-day stipend. They get four hours of classroom instruction every week and are under daily supervision of the nursing coordinator in the area in which they are training.

In the present class are Marilyn R. Eby, 534 Second Ave., Rochester; Helen M. Farley, 5131 Westcomb St., Orchard Lake; Margaret Kinnard, 294 Raeburn St.; Claudine LaFay, 5649 Rowley Rd., Waterford Township; Atrell Riley, 22 E. Beverly Ave.

Martha Sanft, 2427 LaFay Dr., West Bloomfield Township; Bernice Switzer, 118 Westway Dr.; Gertrude M. Thomas, 90 Jackson St.; Ina Wendell, 12 Downing Court; and Jean M. Willhite, 3075 Waukegan St., Auburn Heights.

Dollars Everywhere — None to Spend

Money Walls Hurt State

That's a fair description of one aspect of the state's present cash emergency, State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown concedes.

As of Jan. 30, Brown reported balances of $99,926,711 in various funds under his control.

But nearly nine dollars out of ten had some string tied to it, preventing its transfer to hard up state universities or use for welfare and other vital purposes.

Over the years, the voters and the Legislature have erected protective walls around most state funds, rigidly limiting their use to specified purposes for which the money was taken in — no matter how critical another need may be.

Balances reported by Brown included: General fund, $13,500,000; employment security administration, $5,500,000; aeronautics, $2,200,000; motor vehicle highway, $29,000,000; school aid, $20,000,000; liquor purchase revolving, $8,200,000; trunkline bond redemption, $5,200,000 and escheats fund, $2,200,000.

Compact Autos Establish Trend

Romney Tells of Plans to Meet Competition From Big Three

DETROIT (AP)—The trend of the U.S. car market is toward the compact auto, American Motors Corp. President George Romney told his stockholders yesterday.

He said AMC plans to meet future competition from the big three auto makers in the compact car field.

The big three—Ford, Chrysler and General Motors—are expected to offer smaller built cars next year. But they have not made official announcements on their plans.

Romney told AMC stockholders at their annual meeting the success of the firm's Rambler "indicates our major competitors cannot indefinitely stay out of this growing part of the market.

"Evidence multiplies," Romney said, "that the mainstream of the U.S. automobile market is reshaping itself in line with the compact car.

"It is clear that the Rambler rise represented more fundamental trends than those resulting from the recession. Furthermore, the new 1959 models of the big three have not slowed the rate of Rambler increase. Neither has the entry of Studebaker-Packard into the compact car market."

Romney said AMC's program to expand its annual capacity to the 440,000 car level will be completed by the end of the current model year.

Nixon Breaks 2 Ribs in Fall on Icy Walk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is nursing two broken ribs, but he's not letting them get him down.

Nixon fell on his back Tuesday night when he slipped on the sleet-covered sidewalk in front of his home.

X-ray examinations Wednesday showed two ribs were broken, but he refused to have them taped.

Nixon said at a reception Wednesday night the injury was paining him. But he joked about it and said he had never before had such thoughtful treatment from his daughters, Patricia, 12, and Julie, 9.

★ ★ ★

He said they carefully helped him with his coat and performed many other tasks for him when he came home Wednesday night.

Test Ban Hinges on One Idea

GENEVA (AP)—The future of the East-West conference on suspension of nuclear weapon tests may hinge on Soviet acceptance of one simple idea—a scientific instrument knows no politics.

After three months of negotiations, the conference of delegates from the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union remains in a deadlock.

A Soviet demand for sweeping veto rights over all inspection and control arrangements designed to police a test ban never will be accepted by the United States and Britain, conference sources say. The Soviet Union fears that without a veto, the other two atomic powers would gang up on it.

The Western delegations understand this Soviet fear. They explained, however, that a veto would make any agreement to suspend tests meaningless.

A government accused of sneaking an atomic or hydrogen explosion could veto the sending of an inspection team into its territory or veto the findings resulting from an on-the-spot investigation. The country even would be able to strike an accusation against it from the records.

What avenues are left open for the conference? Can some safe way be found to give some sort of parity between East and West? Can a system be worked out whereby inspection would be automatic and uncolored by political considerations?

The American and British delegations feel it might be possible to make control of a test ban depend basically on the readings of such instruments as seismographs. Standards might be set up so that inspections would take place automatically when a specified number of instruments in control posts recorded a suspicious disturbance.

As one source explained, the instruments themselves would not lie. They would go on year after year recording disturbances in all parts of the world.

They're Digging and Hammering in Capital--to Tune of $163 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Your government has built a lot of nifty new buildings lately, including a 13-million-dollar one that may have been put in the wrong place. The Eisenhower administration wants to call a halt to voting any new projects at this time.

But the hammering and digging now going on all adds up to a sidewalk superintendent's dream—as well as a drain on the budget.

* * *

Hundreds of construction workers head for Capitol Hill every workday morning. Down on one corner, big machines are chewing out a pit on which another big office building will be built for House members. The congressmen already have two office buildings, but say they need more space. Cost of the new structure: more than 64 million dollars.

Across the street, the front of the Capitol is being ripped off to make more room. Cost: $10,100,000.

* * *

From the Capitol, you can look across the grounds to the impressive new office building for senators, now getting its finishing touches. Price tag: $25,400,000.

Workmen are busy a few blocks below Capitol Hill on a fancy new Museum of History and Technology for the Smithsonian Institution. The tab: 36 million dollars.

Down toward the Potomac River, work is coming along on a big addition to the State Department. Cost: 52 million dollars.

The Central Intelligence Agency will get a 46-million-dollar headquarters on the Virginia side of the Potomac. A government office building in Southwest Washington will cost $16,275,000.

The 13-million-dollar structure that many think may have been put in the wrong place is the Atomic Energy Commission Headquarters. It was completed a year ago at Germantown, Md. That's 28 miles from the center of federal activities here, and top officials must commute frequently for conferences. They look upon the travel distance as a nuisance and a waste of valuable time.

The administration stand on opposing any new projects at this time means some face-lifting planned for the city, including progressive elimination of temporary buildings built during World Wars I and II, is being put off again.

The administration in June 1956 outlined a proposed $386,314,000 program for the 1956-59 period to provide permanent quarters for 41,740 employes, or 63½ per cent of those then in temporary, nonconforming and leased space.

* * *

However, only about 163 million dollars worth of the buildings have been started or will be under way by the end of this year. These will accommodate only about one-fifth of the 41,740 employes.

In the face of the building already under way, the 1959-60 budget recommended that the government take a breathing spell in the initiation of new projects.

A check shows that the comparable Washington area building program under the Truman administration included:

* * *

Renovation of the White House, $5,750,648; a new General Accounting Office building, $25,349,494; a new central heating plant, $6,693,732; a new office building at Suitland, Md., $1,489,326; and a new federal court building, $11,999,758.

A Texan Advises New York How to Snag Cattle

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Note to Westchester County, N.Y., commissioners:

Those leopard dogs which Mrs. James M. Barrett suggested you use to round up some stray Angus cattle are a breed peculiar to east Texas.

The breed was originated in this area shortly after the Civil War. They are low-slung animals with white eyes that make the dogs appear blind.

And Mrs. Barrett was correct. If you can't round up five little old steers, you need a couple of leopard dogs. They handle cattle just like a shepherd handles sheep.

Woman's Claustrophobia Keeps Her Off Jury

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—It wasn't hard to understand why the woman was excused from serving on the jury being selected for a murder trial.

She said she had no objection to the death penalty but would never agree to life imprisonment because she has claustrophobia, a fear of closed-in places.

Ad Leads to Arrest

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—For 19-year-old Otis Clark, it didn't pay to advertise a movie projector for sale at $450. A police detective answered the newspaper ad and arrested Clark on charges of stealing the projector from a high school.

Record Expenses; No New Taxes

Meyner's Jersey Budget Very Unique

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—These are hard times for governors submitting their budgets — but not for New Jersey's Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

Meyner had the happy job of going before his Legislature this week and announcing his record 403-million-dollar budget would not need new or increased taxes. For an electorate braced for a request for an expected 20 million dollars in new taxes, it was a happy surprise.

It was the same day that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in neighboring New York state had to ask for 277 million dollars in new taxes.

New Jersey's Democrats were quick to draw comparisons between Meyner, their hope for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, and Rockefeller, often mentioned for the Republican nod.

On the other side, Meyner saw Pennsylvania looking for hundreds of millions of dollars in new tax income.

Pennsylvania has a sales tax and many local wage taxes. New York has a personal income tax and local sales taxes.

New Jersey has neither. Nor does it have a gross receipts tax. There are only two other states in the nation without one or the other of those taxes.

In fact it has been said that if you don't drink, smoke, gamble, drive a car or die you don't pay state taxes in New Jersey.

The answer lies in the fact that most New Jerseyans live in a house. And that does get taxed, more heavily than anywhere else in the nation.

The State Tax Policy Commission estimates the average New Jerseyan who lives in his own home pays more taxes than his counterpart in New York or Pennsylvania. Tenants have the tax passed along to them.

But he pays most of his taxes to his city and county because they get less help from New Jersey than cities and counties in most other states.

Meyner avoided any tax increase by cutting his budget 10 million dollars below most forecasts and by estimating an economic recovery that would swell returns from present taxes by 23 million dollars.

But the real estate tax — the foundation of the whole system—is being weighed down heavily. It will produce more than 700 million dollars this year. The same newspapers that announced Meyner's no-new-tax budget bore stories of local taxes rising sharply.

Most of the state's tax experts, legislators and the governor himself say the property tax has had about all it can take. They are involved in the painful, slow process of revising the whole tax base.

Skull and Crossbones Considered in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Taking his cue from South Dakota, a Utah lawmaker has come up with a bill to place the skull and crossbones on all tobacco products sold in this state.

★ ★ ★

State Rep. Wallace A. Peterson, a Salt Lake Democrat, said the measure would be formally introduced today in the State's House.

The measure would add the legend, "Contents of this package contain poisonous ingredients."

Peterson, a nonsmoker, said he had modeled the bill after one passed recently by South Dakota's Senate.

Suffers From Failure to Follow Own Advice

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill McGarry devotes much of his weekly half-hour winter sports television show on KQED to discussing ways to avoid ski injuries.

When the program goes on tonight, Bill will be there—with his right leg in a cast. He chipped a bone in his ankle skiing last weekend.

Jackson Plant Swept by $200,000 Blaze

JACKSON (AP) — A spectacular fire swept through the Jackson Upset Products Co. plant here last night, causing damage estimated at between $100,000 and $200,000.

Fire officials said the blaze, believed to have been touched off by defective wiring, started in a forge room. Within 45 minutes the walls of the 30-foot-high structure had collapsed.

Thick, oily smoke accompanied the flames, which were fanned by 15 m.p.h. winds. No one was reported injured.

Minister Tells How to Attract Unconventional

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP) —How does a minister attract the intellectual? The non-conformist? The bearded Bohemian-type?

Be somewhat unconventional is the advice of the Rev. Pierre Delattre, a somewhat unconventional congregational minister from San Francisco.

The Rev. Mr. Delattre told the annual midwinter meeting of the congregational Christian church Tuesday night that to reach the artist and the "anti-intellectual" a minister must (1) be humble (2) listen and (3) forsake traditional structure and standard procedures.

★ ★ ★

"I feel that one can give most fully at the outset by receiving the gift of another person's mind and imagination," the Rev. Mr. Delattre said. "There is no better way to preach than to listen."

Mass of People Ignores Problem

Abuse of Dollar Endangers Americans

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The clearest present danger to the people of the United States probably is the abuse and devaluation of the dollars in their pockets and their dollars in the bank.

This abuse has continued, roughly, over a period of 20 years although it could be argued that 25 or 30 years would be more on the target. However that may be, the U.S. dollar is not quite a 50 cent piece today although disguised as a valid buck with George Washington's picture on it.

WORTH 50 CENTS

Compared to its 1939 value, the dollar now will buy almost 50 cents worth of groceries or baby shoes. That is a situation which should urgently interest the mass of the population because it is the mass man, or the common man as the politicians call him, who has the most urgent stake in the cost of his groceries and shoes for his babies.

The mass man does not give a hoot, however. If he did give a hoot there would be an early end to the big-time government spending, the big-time borrowing of money to pay government bills and the big-time dollar inflation which such practices help to bring about.

The mass or common man is a mighty fellow at the polls. He could, if he would, vote the spenders out and vote some economizers in.

He could, that is, if he could find some economizers. President Eisenhower was an economy candidate in 1952. He made a campaign pact with the late Sen. Robert A. Taft that the federal budget should be hauled down to about 60 billion dollars, and the voters supported him by the multi-millions.

WILD-EYED SPENDERS

The President still was campaigning as an economizer as late as last year when he warned the people that they had better elect a Republican Congress because the Democrats were wild-eyed spenders fit to wreck the national economy. That did not scare the voters, any.

The Democrats are spenders, all right, and they probably are going to prove it when they work over Eisenhower's 1960 fiscal year budget. That budget, however, is something of a spending document on its own. It was presented as a balanced budget.

The balance depends, however, on some new taxes which are not likely to be voted and on persuading congressional Democrats to hold appropriations to the budget limits. That is not likely, either.

What is likely is another unbalanced budget, which likely, will drop the dollar down another notch or two, making the groceries and baby's shoes a little more costly next time.

Some of this big new spending is for national security and there isn't much argument about that, except that it is not enough. In eight other categories of government spending, however, there is only one reduction in the 1960 fiscal budget compared to that of 1955 which was Eisenhower's most economical. That reduction was 52 million dollars for international affairs and finance.

STILL GOING UP

Veterans' services and benefits are up in 1960 by 631 millions over 1955; labor and welfare up $1,500,000,000; agriculture and agriculture resources $1,500,000,000; natural resources 629 million; commerce and housing 621 million; general government 534 million; interest on the public debt $1,600,000,000.

Overall, the 1960 budget is for spending $12,400,000,000 more than the 1955 budget which was as close as Eisenhower ever got to that 60 billion figure he discussed with Taft. Even 1955 was not very close.

Spending that year totalled $64,500,000,000.

Twister Makes Trouble but Insurance Paid Up

RIVERTON, Wyo. (AP)—"Want some insurance on that new warehouse your putting up?" a Riverton insurance man asked Lowell Morfield, a uranium executive.

A half hour latter a freak twister leveled the framework of the steel building causing about $3,000 damage.

Fever Thermometers Imported From Japan

TOKYO—Japan now accounts for about 90 per cent of all the clinical thermometers the United States imports.

In 1957 Japan sent 3,300,000 of them, with a total value of more than $340,000 and an increase of 600,000 units over 1956. Japan exports more than half the clinical thermometers she makes, and the United States takes 40 per cent of her output.

U.S. Space Boss Promises Speed, but He Won't Mention Any Dates

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON—"We'll work like Hell—but about dates, I will not talk!"

That's the word from Dr. T. Keith Glennan, boss of the nation's civilian space agency, concerning his outfit's program for 1959 and the immediate future thereafter.

Glennan, a scientist who looks rugged enough to play pro football, thrust out a firm chin as he said in an interview:

"People have been trying to get dates on such things as when we will try to shoot a rocket toward Mars or Venus, and it just makes no sense. You don't invent on a schedule. But, at the same time, there should be no connotation that we are just sitting around debating."

"Certainly," he said, "we have a program for 1959."

"We're going to fire about a dozen satellites and space probes, including communications, meteorological and geodetic experiments . . . and we are very much interested in finding out the radiation hazards in space."

IMPROVE TRACKING

Also, "We'll be extending and improving our tracking stations, some of them abroad; we'll be doing work on high-energy propulsion and on high-energy upper stages of the rockets.

"And we'll continue in 1960 and ad infinitum."

NASA's long-range program, he said, has "two basic end-points: first, the acquistion of as much knowledge as possible about space; and secondly, development of the capability of putting a man in space and getting him back safely."

"As for the latter," Glennan said, "I don't know whether it will be 100 years—or two years."

Without saying whether he meant this year or later, he said:

"At some point in our program, we'll be using animals (in satellites), but whether it will be a pig, a primate, or mice, I don't know at the moment."

Trying to do just what the Russians do, Glennan said, "tends to put you in a strait-jacket."

"In this country," he said, "we have to compete as a world leader . . . (but) . . . I would not like to think our program is determined by what the Russians are doing."

'MAKE PROGRAM URGENT'

Instead of doing specific things just to match the Russians, he went on, "we should make the whole program ugent."

He noted that Russia started its space program in 1945, whereas this country didn't start until 1954 and "that's a very large gap to try to close."

But, he added, "I think we beat ourselves around the head unnecessarily."

"We have already seen a year of accomplishment regarding missiles and missile-space programs . . . (and) . . . out of the American satellites have come as much useful information as has been gotten out of those big things of the Russians, from what we know on a worldwide basis."

★ ★ ★

As for advance publicity about American space attempts — and a tendency he sees for the publice to expect too much speed on the part of space scientists—Glennan urges a letup. He wants his space boys to be able to do their jobs in an orderly fashion. He says:

"The glare of publicity really puts the scientists under a teriffic handicap . . . none of these things are easy. The pressure can be really great."

Franke Works Hard

Navy's New Secretary Can Manage Money

By United Press International

If approved by the Senate, William Birrell Franke of Troy, N.Y., will succeed Thomas S. Gates Jr. as the Navy's top civilian official on June 1.

Franke will be 65 on April 15. He is six feet three, stoops slightly and wears a hesitant smile. He has been a figure around the Defense Department since 1948, working quietly on problems of military financial management.

From 1948 to 1951, he helped the Army in reorganizing its financial control system and stayed on for another year as a special assistant to the then Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett.

Eisenhower named Franke assistant Navy secretary for financial management in 1954 and since then he has supervised the spending of 11 billion dollars a year on sea power. In 1957, when Gates moved up to the secretaryship, Franke became undersecretary.

Though he had not been connected previously with military service, Franke quickly learned Navy ways. He went to sea in cruisers during gunnery exercises, in submarines to observe torpedo firings and in carriers to watch air operations. He flew in jets, blimps and helicopters and found himself being hoisted by wire cable from a submarine by a helicopter for removal to a carrier deck.

Before his government service, Franke had served as director and officer of a string of companies in New Jersey, Tennessee, Virginia, Ohio and New York.

At 35, he set up his own accounting firm, Franke, Hannon and Withey, with offices in New York and Troy.

When there is time, Franke goes in for golf and reading, but is more likely to be absorbed with a briefcase full of Navy documents, day and night.

His wife is the former Bertha Reedy of Schenectady, N.Y. They have three daughters.

Franke's official biography describes him as a Republican, a Presbyterian, and a member of the Union League Club of New York, Army and Navy Club of Washington; Rutland, Vt., Country Club and Barrington, R.I., Country Club.

2 Deaths Ruled Murder-Suicide

Fisherman, 63, Shoots Mother, 95, and Self in Cheboygan

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — The shotgun-blasted bodies of a 95-year-old woman and her commercial fisherman son were found here yesterday in their three-story frame home.

Mrs. Carrie Hilborne still was sitting in her rocking chair. Jack Hilborne, her 63-year-old son, was slumped on the floor. Both bodies had been riddled by a blast from a shotgun.

Chief of Police James H. Demaray termed the deaths a murder-suicide.

He said Hilborne apparently shot his mother and then shot himself. Demaray said Hilborne evidently propped the gun against his head and pushed the trigger with a three-pronged fork.

A note and short letter was found in the home where Hilborne, a bachelor, lived with his mother.

"The letter said he didn't know what he'd do," said Demaray. "He seemed to know he was slipping."

Hilborne was a World War I veteran and had applied recently for admission to a veterans' hospital. Neighbors said he arranged for someone to care for his mother while he was gone. But they said she refused, pleading that she wanted to care for herself.

Hilborne had been depressed Demaray said. He added that Mrs. Hilborne was active for her age and seemed to be self-reliant.

Firemen Smoke Out Still Near Philadelphia

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa. (AP) — Firemen went to a blaze Wednesday in an unoccupied house in this suburban Philadelphia community.

They found it had been caused by a wood fire under a 2,500-gallon capacity still.

State liquor agents said they had been looking for a still in the area the past two months.

Talks Slated in Strike

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Representatives of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. and the United Auto Workers Union, which has struck nine shops of the heavy machinery firm's 17 plants, were scheduled to meet with federal mediators today in an attempt to settle the dispute.

Stormy Petrel Still Fights for UMW

John L. Lewis to Mark 79th Year

By United Press International

John L. Lewis—once the stormiest figure on the American labor scene—has had a relatively peaceful career the past few years.

In fact, it took a major illness to bring labor's "stormy petrel" back into the limelight. Perhaps this is because the United Mine Workers Union he heads hasn't gone out on strike against the coal industry since 1949.

Lewis will be 79 years old Feb. 12.

Age and health aren't the real explanation of Lewis' quiet period of recent years. Rather, Lewis and the coal operators have been working in consert to bring the industry out of a perilous period of slackening demand for coal.

As impressive as the recent era of peace may be, it is probable that history will remember Lewis as the labor leader who for more than a quarter of a century battled presidents, Congress, courts, industry, and the rest of labor to promote the nation's coal miners.

Born at Lucas, Iowa, Lewis was the eldest of six sons of Welsh immigrant parents.

His father was a coal miner, and Lewis himself went to work in the mines at the age of 12. He survived a miner's greatest dread—an underground explosion.

A dramatic 240-pound man whose flowing hair and bushy eyebrows became world famous, Lewis still dreams of the day when men no longer will have to go underground to dig coal. He thinks solar energy may provide the answer.

Lewis has described mining as a "morticians paradise." Life in the mines is naked and elemental. Relations are not cushioned by sophistry."

Lewis has been pleading the miners' case since 1919 when he became UMW president. He pleaded it, in his own words, "not in the quavering tones of a feeble mendicant asking for alms but in the thundering voice of the captain of a mighty host, demanding the rights to which free men are entitled."

Lewis is an eloquent phrasemaker. He quotes the Bible and Shakespeare at length and has all the marks of a scholar in his writing and use of language.

Most of his spare time is spent in reading, although he likes to take drives in the country for relaxation.

Lewis was married in 1907 to Myrta Edith Bell, a school teacher at Lucas, Iowa. She died in 1942. Lewis still lives in their historic Alexandria, Va., home only minutes away from UMW headquarters in Washington.

His social life now is confined to visiting his two children and two grandchildren. His daughter, Kathryn, is confined to a New York hospital with a heart ailment. A son, Dr. John L. Lewis Jr. is on the staff of Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Lewis runs the union's affairs from an old-fashioned office at mine workers headquarters. He is paid $50,000 a year. Until recently he drove himself to work in a Cadillac.

Those Pilgrim Fathers!

PLYMOUTH, Mass. — The Pilgrim fathers brought the first playing card game to this country from England—a polite family game called All Fours. It was subsequently carried westward and blossomed into such colorful variations as Old Sledge, High-Low-Jack, Shasta Sam, and California Jack. Today the most popular variation of All Fours is the widely played game of Pitch.

Electra Planes Just Introduced

Turbo-Prop Liners in Use by Two Domestic Lines for 1st Time

NEW YORK (AP) — The Electra turbo-prop plane has been introduced into commercial airline service within the past month.

The 104-foot long, 4-engine craft is now in use by American and Eastern airlines. A spokesman for the manufacturer, Lockheed Aircraft, said today that 163 of the Electras are now on order by 13 domestic and foreign airlines.

The plane is powered by Allison turbines, the same type of engine used for some jet aircraft. The engine operates at a single speed. Takeoff and air speed are controlled by altering the pitch of the propellors and the fuel supply. The turbines burn kerosene.

At the time American ordered the Electras, the line said that one reason it chose the craft was because the seating capacity is larger than that of another commercial turbo-prop, the English-built Vickers Viscount.

The plane cruises at 410 m.p.h. It has a range of 3,700 miles but is generally used for flights of about 1,500 miles.

The Electra as outfitted for American seats 68 passengers, two abreast. The Craft also has a lounge and a new baggage storage operation which speeds up loading and unloading.

Dahlias were named after Swedish botanist Andreas Dahl.

ORANGE AMBROSIA CUPS — Allow one orange per serving and flute orange cups by piercing a sharp knife to center of unpeeled orange with zigzag strokes which meet to make points of the scallops. Separate the two orange halves and remove the "meat" of the orange. Add peeled orange cut into bite-size pieces. Add ¼ cup coconut per orange and chill in refrigerator. Top each with green maraschino cherry, place on plates of waxy Philodendron leaves and serve.

Cherry Bread Cheery Way to Greet Day

Cherry Croissants

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 packages active dry yeast
1 cup warm (not hot) milk
½ cup softened butter or margarine
½ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries).
1 egg, beaten

Combine flour, sugar and salt; mix well. Sprinkle yeast over milk; stir until dissolved. Add milk to flour mixture. Mix well. Knead until smooth.

Roll out on lightly floured surface into 9x6-inch rectangle. Spread butter or margarine in center and fold over. Wrap in waxed paper. Chill 1 to 2 hours.

Roll out on lightly floured surface to 4x12-inch rectangle. Fold in half. Roll out into 4x12-inch rectangle and fold over. Repeat twice. Roll out to ½-inch thickness.

Cut out into 5-inch triangles. Spread with cherries. Roll up and shape into crescents. Let rise in warm place (85 degrees) 15 minutes. Place on baking sheets. Brush tops with egg.

Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Garnish with confectioners' sugar glaze and additional maraschino cherries, as desired. Makes about 12.

★ ★ ★

Cherry-Cinnamon Bread

1 package active dry yeast
2½ cups warm (not hot) milk
½ cup melted butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten
9 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries).

Sprinkle yeast over milk; stir in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 45 minutes. Makes 2 loaves.

Marinated Mushrooms Make Novel Eating

The Spanish pickle raw mushrooms by marinating them in a vinegar-olive oil mixture. Select small button mushrooms, wash but do not peel; remove stems. Cover with mixture of 1 cup white wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil, 1 clove of garlic sliced fine, teaspoon marjoram, ½ teaspoon sage and 2 teaspoons minced parsley.

Let stand from 12 to 48 hours, stirring occasionally. Drain, leave on absorbent paper until excess sauce is removed, then serve with toothpicks as cocktail appetizers.

No Need to Add Fat When Baking Fowl

Crisp Baked Chicken

1 broiler-fryer chicken (about 2½ pounds ready-to-cook weight)
1 cup corn flake crumbs
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk

Have chicken cut in 10 pieces. Mix corn flake, salt and pepper. Dip chicken in evaporated milk; roll at once in seasoned crumbs.

Line shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Place chicken pieces, skin side up, in foil-lined pan; do not crowd. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 1 hour, or until tender. Do not cover or turn chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Meatless Meals Can Be Interesting, Good

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Although we associate Easter with spring weather, Ash Wednesday is going to arrive in the middle of winter—perhaps even in a snowstorm. Next Wednesday, Feb. 11, is the beginning of Lent.

★ ★ ★

For many of our readers that means a change in their eating habits. It means Mrs. Homemaker must find ways of serving interesting and nourishing meals without meat. Of course it can be done.

Eggs are so inexpensive this year that we think you will make use of them often for meatless meals. Serve the family a puffy omelet for dinner. You can dress it up with a spicy tomato sauce or add cheese to it.

Eggs are used to enrich the following dish. You start with a Newburg sauce and add any kind of seafood. This is a good dish to prepare in quantity and freeze for future eating.

Seafood Newburg

4 tablespoons butter
½ cup all-purpose flour
6 cups homogenized milk
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon MSG
½ teaspoon paprika
4 egg yolks
½ teaspoon tabasco
6 cups canned or cooked seafood (shelled shrimp, lobster, crabmeat or tuna, cut in pieces)

Melt butter; add flour and stir to a paste. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add salt, MSG and paprika.

Quickly stir a small amount of the hot mixture into slightly beaten egg yolks; return to remaining sauce and cook 3 minutes longer. Remove from heat; stir in Tabasco. Beat thoroughly with a rotary beater. Stir in seafood. Cool quickly.

Spoon into individual aluminum foil ware containers leaving ½-inch headroom. Seal tightly with aluminum foil. Freeze. To serve, thaw slightly to release from sides of container. Place in top of double boiler over boiling water to heat.

If desired, just before serving, stir in 1 tablespoon sherry. Serve on toast points. 8 servings.

Note: Do not keep in freezer longer than one month.

Macaroni and cheese may already be a favorite around your house. But did you ever make the quick top-of-the stove version? This recipe calls for instant cream. It offers several variations for non-fast days too.

Top-of-the-Stove Macaroni and Cheese

5 cups water
2 teaspoons salt
1 7-ounce package macaroni
½ cup instant cream
4 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ pound sharp cheese, cubed paprika

Combine salt and water; bring to a boil. Add macaroni and cook over medium heat 15 minutes. Do not drain. Combine cream, flour and pepper; add to macaroni and water, stir to blend. Add cheese. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until cheese melts. Place in serving dish. Sprinkle top with paprika and serve at once. Makes six servings.

Variations:

1. Use one teaspoon salt in water that macaroni is cooked in. Add four chicken bouillon cubes in water. Add ¼ cup chopped pimento at the same time cheese is added.

2. Use only one teaspoon salt in water that macaroni is cooked in. Add 1 cup diced cooked ham and either 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce or 1 tablespoon prepared mustard at the time cheese is added. Makes six servings.

For some reason we don't get many oyster recipes. The following one which came in recently sounds like a good one to add to your Lenten repetoire. Serve it with a tart jellied salad or a fruit salad on one of these cold nights.

Easy Oyster Casserole

1 pint oysters
½ pound mushrooms
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can cream of mushroom soup
½ cup crushed oyster crackers
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup whole oyster crackers

Place oysters in colander to drain. Pick out any bits of shell. Cut stems from mushrooms and chop. Slice mushroom caps. Saute mushrooms in 2 tablespoons of the butter until soft. Add mushroom soup and heat, stirring until smooth.

Blend crushed oyster crackers and Parmesan cheese. Place a layer of the crackers in the bottom of a well buttered 1 quart casserole. Add a layer of oysters then some of the mushroom soup. Continue with remainder of cracker mixture, oysters and soup.

Melt remaining tablespoons of butter. Add whole oyster crackers and stir to blend. Top casserole with crackers. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) about 20 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Makes 4 servings.

It's Heavenly Tasting

Into softened ice cream, fold ground cinnamon mixed with chopped walnuts. Spoon into shallow paper cups buttered and lined with cookie crumbs. Sprinkle more crumbs over top and freeze until firm.

IT TASTES SO GOOD — Supper in front of a blazing fire after a session of skating or skiing tastes wonderful. Hearty food and hot drinks — plenty of both — are welcome. Jane Bigler of West Iroquois road (second from right) was hostess to three of her friends recently for just such a supper. From left to right the girls are Pam Griffin of Ogemaw road, Marilyn Morris of Ottawa drive, Jane and Sherrie Dudley of East Iroquois road.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Once long ago our Girl Scout troop went coasting when the thermometer stood at ten below zero. The best part of the whole evening was the hot cocoa and sandwiches we had after we stopped coasting.

Children may seem sophisticated these days, but they still like some of the simple pleasures. Sandwiches may have given way to pizza and sloppy joes but appetites stay the same from one generation to the next.

Have you ever tried serving mugs of hot soup when a bunch of youngsters trooped into your recreation room with cheeks scarlet with cold? Tomato is always a favorite; chicken noodle rates even higher; and vegetable pleases most folks.

The soup will take the edge off the guests' appetites and the cold out of their bones. Follow this with whatever else you have planned to serve.

You may make cocoa from a mix. You may make it from scratch with bottled milk, evaporated milk or dry skim milk. Add a dash of cinnamon for a new flavor. Kids of all ages like a marshmallow floating on the cocoa.

If you have a fireplace you can always toast wienies or grill cheese sandwiches or pop corn. Any of these things can be made on the stove, of course, but let the young people do the work.

The hostess in our picture today is young Janie Bigler. The spread she and her friends are devouring included baked beans, hamburgers, relishes and ice cream.

Sometimes Janie likes to have her mother make barbecued beef. This recipe will serve 20 and probably won't be too much for a gang of hungry teenagers.

BARBECUED BEEF
By Mrs. Elwood Bigler

3 pounds cooked and shredded beef (use a pot roast or a rump roast)
1 chopped onion
2 tablespoons fat
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 cup catsup
3 tablespoons worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup water

Saute onion, celery and green pepper in fat. Add rest of ingredients except meat. Simmer for 30 minutes, stirring often enough to keep mixture from sticking and burning. Add meat. Serve on buns. Makes 20 servings.

★ ★ ★

Janie likes to make cookies. She and other teenagers may like to make the following recipe the next time their gang comes over.

Chimney Corner Cookies

1 cup shortening
1¼ cups brown sugar, packed
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
3 eggs, unbeaten
2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons milk
2 cups seedless raisins
1 cup pecans, chopped

Combine first 9 ingredients in mixing bowl and beat thoroughly. Sift flour and soda together; add half to first mixture and blend. Add milk and mix; add remaining flour and blend. Add raisins and nuts and mix.

★ ★ ★

Measure out rounded tablespoons of dough on greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 12-15 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen.

Keep This Pudding for Lenten Menu

NEW YORK (UPI)—King crabmeat mushroom pudding crams a lot of flavor and nutrition into a one-dish meal.

Remove membrane from 2 (6½-ounce) cans crabmeat and mix well with 1 (4-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 package dehydrated onion soup, ½ cup grated raw carrots, 2 eggs, well beaten, ¼ cup milk and ⅛ teaspoon thyme.

Spoon into buttered 1 quart casserole and bake 45 minutes in 350-degree oven. Remove and let stand at room temperature 10 minutes before unmolding.

Serve garnished with spicy horseradish sauce made by blending 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish with 2 tablespoons milk and 4 ounces cottage cheese. Serves 6.

Check Grade, Size When You Buy Eggs

Egg size is determined by weight. The big jumbo eggs weigh a minimum of 30 ounces while extra-large eggs weigh 27 ounces. Large size eggs weigh 24 ounces per dozen. Mediums weigh 21 ounces and small size eggs weigh 18 ounces.

Grade tells about freshness and flavor. Grade AA and A eggs stand high and spread over a small space when broken into a pan. The yolks are well centered and the white is thick and firm. Grade B eggs will be flatter and cover a larger space when broken.

Budget minder: Some good cooks like to use two-thirds rendered beef fat and one-third bacon fat for frying or browning meat and poultry.

Bubbling Hot Casserole Tempts Hungry Skaters

Skaters gliding across the mirror-like ice . . . at dusk . . . take on a glow when they hear the clang of the dinner bell from across the pond. The menu was announced this morning so each is eager to get home!

★ ★ ★

After mugs of hot buttered tomato soup . . . in front of a warming fire . . . the hungry skaters will enjoy a flavorful combination of boned chicken and vegetables topped with buttered crisp toast. Served piping hot, from a colorful casserole, this is a dish which pleases the racer or fancy figure skater.

You make it like this:

Chicken Vegetable Casserole

2 medium potatoes, peeled and cut in 1-inch cubes (about 2 cups)
1 small onion, sliced and separated into rings
2 medium carrots, sliced (about 1 cup)
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
Dash pepper
½ teaspoon whole rosemary, crushed
½ cup liquid (from vegetables)
2 cans (5 ounces each) boned chicken or turkey
2 slices buttered bread

In saucepan, combine potatoes, carrots, onion, green pepper, parsley, salt, and water. Cover; cook 10 to 15 minutes or until vegetables are just tender crisp. Drain, reserving 1/3 cup liquid.

Combine soup, pepper, rosemary, and vegetable liquid in a buttered 1-quart casserole; blend. Fold in vegetables and chicken.

Trim crusts from bread; cut each slice into 4 triangles. Place on top of chicken mixture. Bake, uncovered, in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 20 minutes, or until bubbly. Makes 4 generous servings.

Sugar Becomes Liquid

The rule to remember when using unflavored gelatine is that one envelope will gel up to two cups of liquid . . . water, fruit or vegetable juice, bouillon or stock, or milk. If sugar has been used in the recipe, it is counted as part of the total liquid because it goes into solution when added to the gelatine-liquid base.

Spanish Omelet Like Western Sandwich

In Spain they serve an omelet-on-toast reminiscent of our popular Western sandwich, but with added tuna fish. To make four sandwiches, heat 2 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil in a large heavy skillet.

Meantime, beat 4 eggs until frothy; add contents of a 7-ounce can of tuna fish, well-drained, about ¼ cup each chopped green pepper and chopped onion, ¼ teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper.

Pour egg mixture into hot oil in skillet, cook over low heat until set, turning once or twice with spatula. Divide omelet into 4 portions, serve each on toast which has been spread with mayonnaise. If preferred, the individual portions of omelet may each be served between two slices of toast.

Is the Pan Big Enough?

Some directions for butter sponge cakes tell you to beat the eggs and sugar in the top of a double boiler over simmering water. Make absolutely sure your double boiler — regular or improvised — is really large enough to hold the mixture as it increases in volume.

Various Styles of Bacon Are Plentiful

★ ★ ★

Regular bacon comes from the underside of the pig. It may be bought by the slab or sliced and prepackaged.

The bacon square is mostly fat and comes from the jowl of the pig.

Canadian-style bacon is very lean. It is made by curing and smoking the lean meat from the pork loin.

No matter what kind of bacon you serve, supplies are plentiful at this time reports the Marketing Information Agent.

New Hot Ketchup Friendly to Seafood

Seafood recipes will be in demand for the next several months, and here just in time to make them extra attractive is a new sauce—hot ketchup. It's an extra tangy, extra tasty version of a world-famous ketchup.

Spicing is sufficient to make it a tempting topping for crab, shrimp or lobster just as it comes from the sleek 12-ounce bottle in which it is packed. Or use it as the base for a seafood specialty like Crabmeat Andalouse.

Andalusia is in the south of Spain, and there a favorite sauce for fish is tomato mixed with mayonnaise and seasoned with pimiento. It's used on all sorts of fish—baked, broiled, poached, but especially on seafoods like crab and lobster.

Here's Crabmeat Andalouse for you to try. Complement the crimson sauce with a bright green vegetable like broccoli or beans. Accompany it with a tray of crisp relishes and your favorite hot rolls.

Crab Meat Andalouse

½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ cup hot ketchup
¼ teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 cups cooked, cleaned, flaked crab meat
4 slices bacon, cooked
Diced pimiento

Blend first 4 ingredients. Pile crab meat in 4 shells or ramekins; top with bacon. Cover with sauce. Place in broiler until bubbly and glazed. Garnish with diced pimiento. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

From this side of the Atlantic comes another tomato sauced crab dish. Hot ketchup again provides the basic flavor. Chopped hard-cooked eggs and soft bread crumbs, along with the crab meat, are tossed together in a sauce of hot ketchup, lemon juice and vinegar; then the mixture is piled into shells or ramekins for baking.

Crab Biscayne

1 pound cooked, cleaned, flaked crab meat
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup grated process American cheese
2 cups soft bread crumbs
½ cup hot ketchup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
¼ teaspoon salt

Heat oven to 375 degrees (moderately hot). Combine ingredients; mix lightly with fork. Lightly pile mixture into 8 individual shells or casseroles. Bake 15 minutes or until hot. Makes 8 servings.

Franks Like Pineapple Broccoli Good in Salad

This easy dish is ideal to serve with baked beans: Cut one pound of frankfurters into one-inch lengths and combine with 1 cup of pineapple chunks or tidbits. Mix ½ cup of syrup from pineapple with 2 tablespoons brown sugar and 2 teaspoons prepared mustard. Pour over franks and pineapple and bake until heated through — about 20 minutes in 350 degree oven.

MOCHA VALENTINE PIE — For your valentine — try this heart-shaped pie with luscious mocha filling. It's both decorative and delectable.

Cottage Cheese Pastry Holds Fruit Filling

Date Turnovers

1½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter
1 cup cottage cheese (drained, if necessary)
Thick date filling (about 1 cup) or jam
Thin confectioners' sugar frosting
Fine chopped nuts

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and sift again. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. If cottage cheese has large curds, beat until smooth. Add to dry ingredients and stir until dough will hold together. Chill several hours, or overnight.

Roll dough ⅛-inch thick on a lightly floured board or pastry canvas; cut into 4-inch circles. Measure a scant tablespoon of filling onto half of each circle; fold in half and seal the edges of the dough. Make several small gashes in the top of each half circle to allow for the escape of steam.

Place on an ungreased cooky sheet. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 25 to 30 minutes. Cool slightly, then frost with uncooked confectioners' sugar frosting and sprinkle with nuts. Makes 18 turnovers.

Note: Any favorite filling or thick jam may be substituted for date filling.

Nothing Like Bowl of Good Pea Soup

Good Split Pea Soup

2 cups quick-cooking split green peas
4 cups water
2 cups tomato juice
1 ham bone (from butt end)
½ cup finely diced onion
½ cup finely diced celery
½ cup finely diced carrot
¾ cup finely diced potato
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
2 whole cloves

Put all the ingredients into a medium-sized kettle; bring to a boil; simmer, stirring occasionally, about 1½ hours or until peas are cooked through. Remove ham bone; pour broth and force vegetables through a fine strainer or food mill.

Dice any ham on bone and add. Reheat; if soup is thicker than you like dilute with water. Makes about 2 quarts.

Original Ice 'Cubes'

Make noval ice cubes by using the small frozen fruit juice cans for a decorative cylinder effect, and for an oval effect use a plastic egg container. Simply fill with water and place in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator.

This Valentine Will Please Him

A luscious mocha filling for a heart-shaped pie results in a delightful Valentine's Day surprise dessert. Incidentally, mocha is a very popular flavor with men.

For the message, use a pastry tube. Or else use heavy writing paper formed into a cone, or use a cone-shaped paper drinking cup. Snip off a little of the tip, leaving a ⅛-inch opening. Fill cone with melted semi-sweet chocolate morsels slightly cooled and force through cone to write message.

Mocha Valentine Pie

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
⅓ cup plus 2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons instant coffee
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, separated
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 8-inch baked heart-shaped pastry shell

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat; cool 10 minutes. Combine and blend in mixing bowl, cream cheese, 6 tablespoons of the sugar, instant coffee, salt and vanilla. Beat in one egg yolk at a time. Stir in melted semi-sweet morsels.

Beat egg whites until fluffy, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 4 tablespoons sugar; beat until stiff. Fold into chocolate mixture. Fold in whipped cream.

Turn into prepared shell. Chill until firm. To garnish pie, trace heart outline in center of pie with end of wooden pick. Spoon in additional whipped cream; spread evenly inside outline.

Force additional melted semi-sweet chocolate morsels through narrow opening of cake decorator or paper cornucopia to write appropriate sentiment. Note: To bake heart-shaped pastry shell, use 8x1½-inch heart-shaped layer cake pan.

Country Style Spareribs Have More Meat

A hungry fellow can easily eat a pound of spareribs. Even at featured prices when pork supplies are large, spareribs cannot be listed as the thriftiest meat buy.

If your family likes spareribs, you might try "country-style spareribs" which are cut from the rib-end loin roast. These have more lean meat in proportion to bone than regular spareribs says the Marketing Information Agent. Flavor is the same when you use your favorite barbecue sauce.

BRAZIL NUT APPETIZERS—The same good flavor which makes Brazil nuts a select item in nut bowl and salted assortments can be appreciated in appetizers. Chopped Brazil nuts are particularly delightful in cheese and egg mixtures.

Brazil Nuts Add Flavor to Dips, Spreads, Fillings

Appetizers to accompany the pre-dinner beverage or to be served at an afternoon tea take such shapes as dips, spreads, and fillings. The crisp texture and distinctive flavor of Brazil nuts in combination with cheese, with olives and celery, and with hard cooked eggs give interest to an array of appetizers.

★ ★ ★

Blue cheese, moistened with wine and blended with chopped Brazil nuts, makes a most interesting dip to serve with pastry strips. The strips are made from a packaged pastry mix with chopped Brazil nuts added.

Chopped stuffed olives, celery, and Brazil nuts when moistened with mayonnaise have a good crunch and blend of flavors in a spread for small, open-face sandwiches.

Then for on-a-stick appetizers, try a cream cheese, crushed pineapple and Brazil nut mixture. The nut-fruit balls are speared with a pretzel stick for easy service.

Stuffed, deviled egg halves can also be given a new texture interest with Brazil nuts.

Brazil Nut Cheese Dip

3 ounces Roquefort or blue cheese
2 tablespoons medium-dry white wine
¼ cup finely chopped Brazil nuts

Cheese Pastry Strips

½ package (1 cup) pastry mix
¼ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
¼ cup very finely chopped Brazil nuts

★ ★ ★

Prepare pastry as directed on package, adding cheese and Brazil nuts before stirring in water. Roll into 12x6-inch rectangle; cut into ½-inch lengthwise strips; cut each strip in half. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes. Yield: 48 strips.

★ ★ ★

Brazil Nut Sandwich Spread

½ cup finely chopped Brazil nuts
¼ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup coarsely chopped stuffed olives
1½ tablespoons mayonnaise

Combine ingredients. Spread on lightly buttered thin slices of white or whole wheat bread. Yield: About ¾ cup.

★ ★ ★

Brazil Nut Fruited Cheese Balls

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
¼ cup well-drained crushed pineapple
¼ cup finely chopped Brazil nuts
Pretzel sticks

Cream the cheese until smooth, add pineapple and blend. Form into ½-inch balls; roll in chopped Brazil nuts. Chill. Pierce each ball with a pretzel stick. Serve on hors d'oeuvre tray. Yield: 24 hors d'oeuvres. Note: Larger balls (1 inch) may be served to garnish a luncheon fruit salad.

★ ★ ★

Stuffed Eggs Brazilian

6 hard cooked eggs
½ cup very finely chopped Brazil nuts
2 teaspoons vinegar
⅛ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons mayonnaise

Cut eggs into halves. Remove yolks and put through a sieve, or mash with a fork. Combine yolks with remaining ingredients and blend. Fill egg white halves. Serve as hors d'oeuvres, or as a salad. Yield: 12 stuffed eggs.

Add a suspicion of your favorite spice — one you would use for cake or cookies — to the brown sugar, mustard and vinegar mixture you use for baked ham.

Decrease in Meat Prices Pleasing to Food Buyers

February food supplies are adequate states the Marketing Information Agent. Pork, beef, lamb and poultry supplies are larger than a year ago. Citrus is increasing, although for the next four to six weeks, fresh vegetable prices are at their "normal high" for the year, more attention will be focused on canned vegetables and frozen vegetables in largest supply.

The trend for this week will please shoppers. Pork, lamb and beef wholesale prices have shown decreases and this is being reflected in many cuts at the retail level. Roasting chicken and turkey are poultry features. Large eggs have decreased in price.

Many stores are offering vegetable shortening, oleo and lard at impressive low prices. Fortunately, recent cold weather in the south has not resulted in much damage of fresh fruit and vegetable supplies.

MEATS FOR THE CHOOSING—A new low for pork prices is related to the large 1958 fall pig crop which is up 17 per cent from a year ago.

Pork items receiving special attention this week include bacon, franks, sausage and loin cuts. If you choose a loin for the freezer or one for present use, you'll find the 10 to 12 pound size has fine textured lean and a minimum of fat.

The pork loin is usually cut into three pieces: The rib-end roast, center cut pork chops and the loin-end roast. If you prefer, you might have the entire loan cut into chops. Or you might have the rib-end cut for "country-style" spareribs, the center for chops and the loin-end for a roast.

Roast fresh pork at 350 degrees until thoroughly done. Fresh pork is done when the lean is a dull gray color all the way through.

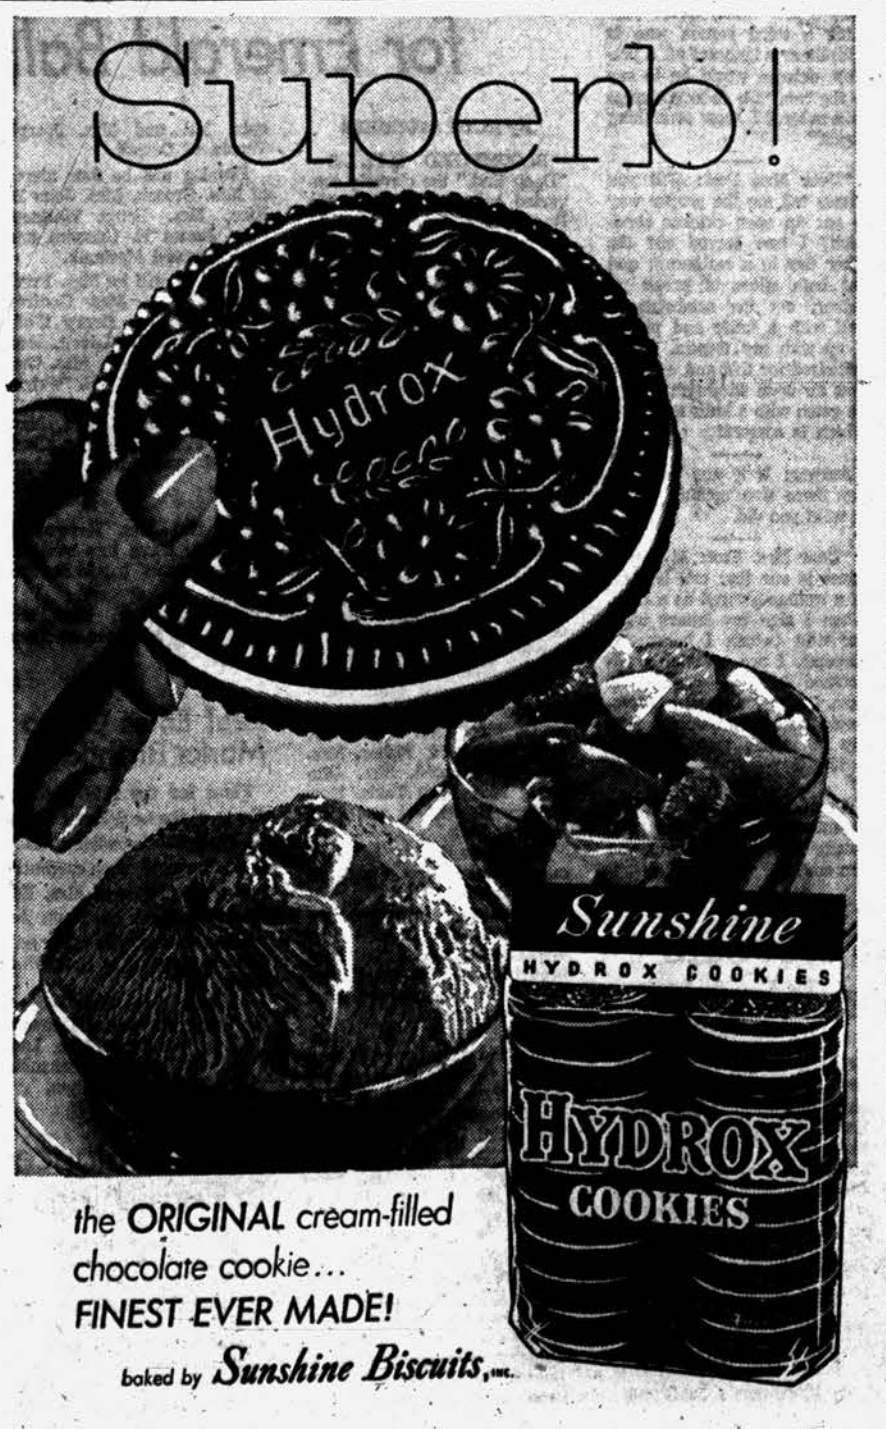
Increasing supplies of heavy beef cattle have influenced the slight decreases in beef prices. Round, sirloin and chuck roasts are receiving most emphasis in the stores.

Lamb supplies are 7 per cent larger thn a year ago and prices are at a three year low for this time. Families that like lamb and have freezers might freeze a few extra lamb cuts for future use.

Fresh fish supplies are ample, but not large. Smelt and whitefish are the more economical buys. Canned lightmeat chunk tuna and Pink or Chum salmon are easy ways to ease the meat budget.

VEGETABLES — Potatoes, carrots, parsnips and rutabagas are timely choices for winter meals. All are low to fairly low in price. All are of good quality and high in nutritive value.

Serve whipped evaporated milk shortly after it's been beaten because it does not hold up well.



Women Bowlers Rate High Score—2 Ways

Pontiac Press Photos by Eddie Vanderwarp

Mrs. Harold E. MacDonald gets ready to send her ball down the alley—for a strike. An avid bowler, she bowls at least once a week.

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

With just about everyone we know engaged in some sort of "winter sport" these days — it makes you feel better and sharper to get that old circulation going, which is always harder to do in the winter than in the summer — we decided to see what our bowling friends were up to these days.

Well — at first glance we thought the local bowling alley had been turned into a model agency — everyone looks so magnificently slim and trim — and oh so healthy. But then we discovered it wasn't a model agency — but rather the favorite bowling spot for local residents.

Seems that many of the women in the area began to bowl because their husbands did. Being deserted during a week night wasn't much fun — so off they went, and became really proficient at the game.

Well they became so enthusiastic over the sport — its a wonderful game, very exciting, one that makes you feel good all over — that not only do they go along with the husbands, but they bowl also during the day.

Somehow they always seem to find some time during their often hectic week to get in a few games at least once a week.

So not only do they have a wonderful time—but are all full of good health and—we still say—look like New York models.

Mrs. John D. Monroe had just finished a 200 game when our photographer took this picture. An excellent bowler, she has been bowling for about four years.

Keep Talk General in Threesome

Dry Sandwiches May Be Eaten Out of Hand

BY EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When three persons are in a group isn't it rude for two of them to persist in talking about persons and situations in which they alone are interested, or perhaps alone even know about? I have run into this situation many times. While I know it is thoughtlessly done, nevertheless it is very annoying to have to sit and listen to something I know nothing about and care less. What would you suggest a person do when placed for an overlong time in this predicament?

Answer: It is not only thoughtless but actually rude for two persons to say more than a few words about anything a third person who is with them is ignorant of. A possible defense would be to say to the two, "Oh do let's change to a subject I know something about."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the proper way to eat an open chicken sandwich? I was served one the other day in a restaurant and put both slices of bread together, cut the sandwich in half with a knife and picked it up with my fingers. I was criticized for this and was told that an open sandwich should be eaten with a knife and fork. Which is correct?

Answer: If it was perfectly dry there was nothing wrong in what you did.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My given name is one that can be that of a woman as well as a man. When I sign my letters without title (which I believe is correct), I am invariably addressed Miss ——— in return. Under the circumstances, would it be permissible to sign my full name with Mr. preceding it?"

Answer: To write Mr. in parenthesis before your signature is the only thing you can do.

Plan New Setting for Emerald Ball

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—"Deep End," the cleverly converted swimming pool at the Rocco di Marcos' home, will be the setting Saturday evening of the Emerald Ball. This beautifully planned affair's locale had to be changed at the 11th hour, from the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit.

This in no way upset cochairmen Mrs. Charles Kleinsmith and Mrs. John S. Mahony—or Mrs. di Marco.

The ball will benefit Saint Elizabeth's Home for the Aged, conducted by Sisters of Divine Charity at Briarbank House.

For years the Briarbank Society has given similar affairs to augment the home's slender income. Mrs. John B. Hammond is the current president.

Working with her are Mrs. T. F. MacManus Jr., Mrs. James Q. Goudie, Mrs. Rocco di Marco, Mrs. Charles Kleinsmith, Mrs. John S. Mahony, Mrs. Everell E. Fisher, Mrs. John J. Ellwood, Mrs. Otto Kern, Mrs. Fotis Takis, Mrs. Charles H. Richert and Mrs. Ralph L. Polk.

Briarbank Society has sent out invitations for a cocktail party Friday at the Wayne Club in Detroit to preview the "Crown of the Andes"—chief display of the ball, it has been brought from Popayan, Colombia, South America—the jewel of the evening.

Mrs. Ferdinand M. Broock has sent out invitations for a tea at Orchard Lake Country Club honoring her future daughter-in-law, Joy Diane Venola. Joy's engagement to Bowen Broock recently has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Venola of Detroit.

Pouring will be four nieces of Mrs. Broock, Mrs. John B. Rice, Mrs. Bengt Walgren, Mrs. James E. Grissom and Mrs. Bernard Maslanik.

Assisting will be Mrs. Frederick C. Pew, Mrs. Godfrey Strelinger, Mrs. Henry Whiting, Mrs. Robert Lovell, Mrs. Frederick E. Booth, Mrs. Carl W. Moyer, Mrs. E. Wright Yount, Mrs. Genaro Florez, Mrs. Dietrich Kohlsaat, Mrs. Robert F. Grindley, Mrs. Clark Bennett and Mrs. Rinehart Bright.

Measure Carefully

General Rules for Judging Figure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is hard for a woman to judge her own figure and decide how much she should lose or gain and just which, if any, measurements should be decreased or increased.

So many factors enter into this and it is suth an individual matter that no universal rules can be given. However, there are general guides which will help you.

There are available today height and weight charts which give you the ideal weights for the small frame, the medium frame and the large frame. There is such a chart in the Self-Improvement Marathon booklet, as those of you who are on this reducing plan know.

The best weight for you for the rest of your life is your ideal weight at the age of 25. Most women gain weight as they grow older, but this does not mean that it is best for your health or appearance.

Many women write to know how measurements should stack up. Again this is an individual matter depending to some extent upon your build. BUT as a general rule the good figure has no more or not much more than two inches difference between the bust and hips, and the waist should be 10 inches smaller than the hips.

HOW TO MEASURE

The way you measure yourself is important. When you measure your bust, do so around the largest part of your bust. It is best to measure without a bra but if you have one on be sure to wear the same one later on when you measure again.

Measure around your natural waistline. Just be certain that the tape-measure passes straight around your waist—not up and down.

When you measure your hips, measure around the largest part. The same thing holds good when measuring your abdomen.

Use Attractive Bait to Get Husband Out

By RUTH MILLETT

Home isn't a place the average husband wants to get away from every chance he gets. It's a place he has to be lured away from.

That is something the wives who complain their husbands don't want any kind of social life ought to remember. It's easy for a woman to forget that fact, because home is a place a lot of women want to get away from in the evening. Simple reason is that they've been there all day long and home is acutally their place of work.

When a woman is anxious to get away from home, she'll settle for just about anything—a second-rate movie, a second-rate dinner, an evening with a boring couple, a dull lecture, or whatever happens to come along.

But a man returning home after a day away is rarely in that frame of mind. Home looks good to him and he'll be tempted to leave it, only if something else looks better.

So the wife who wants to go out in the evening ought not to be surprised or hurt if her husband is reluctant to leave his easy chair.

Instead, she should regard his willingness to stay put as a challenge to try and find something interesting enough to do so that he will want to do it.

She may have to scratch off dull friends and seek more interesting and entertaining ones. She may have to wait for a good movie to come along before suggesting that he take her to the theater. She may have to search out concerts and lectures and exhibits that arouse some spark of interest in her husband instead of expecting him to go along just because "everybody is going."

But that shouldn't be too difficult. And it offers a rewarding premium to the wife who makes the effort.

It will make her own evenings out more than an escape from boredom at home. It will make them evenings that are worth going out for.

He's Harmless as Boa Constrictor—Abby

Keep This Snake at Desk Distance

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I have a boss who has started to ask me to work nights. I don't mind as I get paid for it. He moves his car after he locks up so nobody will know we are there. During the day he has never made a wrong move toward me, but lately in the evening he twists everything I say, to make it sound suggestive or sexy and I am not that way.

ABBY

"He's married (I am not) and his family life does not interest me, but last night he remarked: 'You don't ever have to worry about my wife walking in as she lives in the suburbs and can't drive.' In your opinion, is this man harmless?" OVERTIME

DEAR OVERTIME: Like a boa constrictor!

"DEAR ABBY: I have been going with Wendell for almost two years. We are in love and want to get married. I am 19 and he is 22. My parents don't like him because his future is unsteady. He hasn't got a job right now but he is looking.

"When I mention marrying him my parents run him down something terrible and tell me to forget him. Wendell says that if I really loved him I would stand up and tell them if they don't like it they can lump it. I do love him, Abby, but I can't talk to my folks that way. Please tell me what to do." WENDELL'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Shake the stardust out of your eyes and look at the picture clearly. A 22-year-old boy who isn't working has a lot of nerve proposing marriage. Furthermore a boy who encourages a girl to defy her parents turns into the kind of a husband who does as HE pleases—then tells his wife if she doesn't like it SHE can lump it.

"DEAR ABBY: This is for the two PING-PONG WIDOWS: Be glad your husbands come home to you after a few sets of ping-pong. There are lots of us young men in Korea who play ping-pong because that is the only company recreation we have here. When the game is over we don't have wives to go home to, either. We have to go home to a barracks and a GI hunk."

"DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with telling people who drop in on you unexpectedly that you have a previous engagement? My husband seems to think we are being insulting if we do this, and he also thinks it is insulting to ask people to please call before coming over. This happened to us last Sunday.

"The whole family sat home and had a very boring Sunday afternoon while I slipped into the other room and telephoned the people we had planned an outing with and broke the date. Please print this, Abby, it might help others with the same problem.

ANDREA

DEAR ANDREA: Your husband is 100 per cent wrong! There is nothing insultinga bout asking people to please phone before coming over, nor is it insulting to tell them when they drop in unexpectedly that you have a previous date. People who put up with intruders are a cinch to be intruded upon forever.

'Crown' Toddler With a Bowl Hat

When a toddler is learning to feed himself, he usually manages to get a couple of spoonfuls of something goo-ey in his hair. To avoid a real mess, let him wear a plastic bowl cover as a protective "hat" at mealtime.

When feeding time is over, mother can simply wash the bowl cover-hat in warm soap or detergent suds and wipe it dry.

What Young People Think

Sick-Age Humor Rocks the Teenage Crowd

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

"But Mommy, I don't want to go to Europe."

"Shut up and keep swimming."

One of our recent nationwide surveys showed clearly that the ordinary "funny" joke has given way to the new-style "sick" joke. Nearly 80 per cent of those queried said they or their friends tell such jokes.

Asked to explain the difference between the jokes they used to tell and the ones now in fashion, many gave answers similar to one given by Lois Larose, 17, of Westwego, La. Lois, who disapproves of this humor, said:

"They are called dry and cruel jokes because they make fun of something that isn't funny."

"MORBID" IS THE WORD

On the other hand, Philip Black, 15, of Dallas, Tex., put it this way:

"I guess you'd call them funny —but in a very odd way!"

It appears that while teenagers tell these jokes, no one expects to get a belly-laugh out of them.

As Dick Douglas, 14, of Salt Lake City, explained, "Instead of laughing, most people say, 'Oh, how awful,' after hearing one of them."

While cruel, sad, sadistic, horror, gory, sacrilegious and sick were used to describe the jokes, 30 per cent used the word "morbid" as their best description.

Describing them, Allen Corbett, 14, of San Francisco, said, "They are called morbid jokes, and you sure have to have an odd sense of humor to appreciate them."

* * *

Another reflection of this trend in humor was obtained by polling teenagers about their choice of greeting cards. They were asked whether they select sentimental, animal comic or the new studio type when buying greeting cards for birthdays or other events.

NEW CARDS POPULAR

More than 65 per cent expressed preference for the new studio type —such as one to be sent a fat person, which says: "Want to lose 10 ugly pounds? . . . Cut off your head."

But nearly 31 per cent said they still prefer the traditionally sentimental greeting cards.

Fifty-one per cent of those questioned about greeting cards said they had sent cards which could be taken as an insult if sent to the wrong person.

Most of these teenagers had an attitude similar to that of Nancy C. Mitchell, 18, of Washington, D.C. Her answer to the question about whether she had sent such a card, was:

* * *

"Yes — the following type: 'For the man who is going nowhere.' 'A birthday wish for someone nice. Please forward.' But one must choose carefully those to whom these cards are sent."

Kelley Hoskins, 17, of Sac City, Iowa, who also answered "yes", commented: "If they can't take a joke, tough."

The "no" group (45 per cent) had the same approach as Alice Graca, 18, of Rockville, Md., who said: "You can never tell how a person will react, so it is always better to be safe."

In the joke-telling part of the survey, we found there are three main types or groups of jokes. Here are samples in each group, as they were told to interviewers:

MORBID OR SICK:

"Mommy, why can't I go out and play like the other kids?"

"Shut up and drink your beer." (Stanley Rouk, 15, St. Louis, Mo.)

RIDDLE OR OBVIOUS ANSWER:

Answer: Two 500-pound canaries. (Don Kingfield, 17, Sac City, Iowa.)

MISCELLANEOUS:

"I don't care who you are, fat man, get those reindeer off my roof." (Claudia Moran, 18, Duluth, Minn.)

* * *

One clue to the popularity of the modern joke came from Terry Braemer, 15, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He said:

"One thing good about them — it's easy to make up your own."

Malinovsky Rattles Mighty Soviet ICBMs

NEW YORK—Khrushchev took the gag off his Defense Minister Marshal Malinovsky the other day. It was off long enough for the big lumbering man (who presumably would direct Soviet military operations in the event of World War III) to say that he now has ICBM's capable of delivering an H-bomb to any enemy target with pinpoint accuracy.

Malinovsky does not get much publicity. As far as I know he has given only one formal interview, and that to W.R. Hearst Jr., Frank Conniff and this reporter in November 1957. He had then only recently succeeded to the post held by Marshal Zhukov, and he may have put his hobnailed boot in his mouth.

Malinovsky rattled his intercontinental missiles quite noisily on that day, too. But the main weight of his monologue was that the Communist soldier is a superior fighting machine to the soldier of the free world because the Red has an ideal for which to die, and the men on our side do not.

He used the Korean war as an example and assured us that even Gen. Dean — the American commander who was captured early in that conflict—admitted as much under questioning. Gen. Dean, living in retirement on the coast, issued an indignant reply.

Malinovsky is a muscular man with a deep chest so filled with service ribbons and decorations that it resembles a direct hit on a pizza factory.

He has John L. Lewis's old eyebrows, and thick gray hair which he combs straight back like an old movie hero. His voice is resonant, his opinions come quickly and with a sure sound. Like all Russians in the hierarchy, he lards his arguments with proverbs.

He speaks no English. The interpretation was handled by a rather nervous looking major who sat on the marshal's right and had some difficulty keeping up with the flow of talk. Also in the big office (bigger than Khrushchev's, by the way) sat a general who appeared to be there not only to lend a hand, if necessary, but to make note of what his boss said—perhaps for submission elsewhere.

Promptly at noon, in the course of a talk that lasted a couple of hours, the general got up and fetched the marshal a bottle of beer. He let it sit in front of him and go flat while he propounded his theories.

Like the others, he condemned the U.S. Air Force's Strategic Air Command. Every now and then some persons of importance in the Kremlin setup will bury SAC as obsolete.

But if you talk more than ten minutes to a top Russian it becomes abundantly clear that these men have the profoundest respect for SAC, sharply fear what it could do in the way of retaliation if Russia lobbed one of its admittedly superior missiles. It is still the greatest deterrent which Churchill hailed in a day when the ICBM was but a dream.

The Russians know their SAC-lore, know the number of bases from which these huge manned bombers operate, have a pretty good idea what percentage of these planes could be shot down before reaching targets—but they also know the appalling damage that only a handful of the bombers that got through could strew about the U.S.S.R.

Khrushchev expressed the same wholesome respect for SAC, veiling that respect with a fuming cloud of indignation. He suggested that a SAC pilot might go insane while "circling our country" and head for the target long-since assigned to him, thus precipitating World War III.

The dictator added that if this ever happened, Russia was prepared to destroy our cities and overseas bases "instantly." The next day he arranged for us to see Malinovsky—handpicked by him to restore the party's control over the military. It was, as we said, the first and possibly last time Malinovsky was interviewed or even sounded off—until his boast of recent date.

We asked Malinovsky in November 1957, if he could tell us anything about his predecessor, Zhukov, a man of considerably more military acumen. "He is on vacation," he said, heavily. "When he returns he will be given duties commensurate with his capabilities."

Even he, sitting in Zhukov's old office, must sometimes wonder whatever really did happen to his old commander, for Zhukov never returned from that "vacation," and has not even sent back a postcard.

Red Rocha, head coach of the Detroit Pistons, laughs at those who say there's no defense in pro basketball.

"They say there's too much scoring in pro basketball and they also say that it's because we don't play defense," said Rocha, "but compare the pro game with college or high school basketball and you'll see the fallacy of both statements."

"To be truthful, more basketball players fail to make the pro ranks because they can't play defense," he added.

"First, you've got to remember we've got the best players in the country in our league. And that's referring to the outstanding 80 out of the thousands who come out of college."

"Secondly, you must remember we play 16 more minutes than the high schools and eight more minutes than the colleges. People think nothing of a high school score going over 70, or a college score in the 90's, but they think a pro score in three figures is fantastic, and we have the 24-second rule."

"I feel pro basketball is the best brand because the action is continuous and no one can kill the play by holding the ball for minutes. Our average for a scoring play is 20 seconds."

"Defense? Why sometimes we sit up late at night figuring out the kind of defense we will employ on certain players. It might work one game, and the next time the other team has set up that particular player differently on offense. It's a continuous merry-go-round of one team trying to outsmart the other on defense."

Right now Rocha has the problem of trying to outsmart his rivals enough to get the Pistons into the playoffs, and he's pretty sure the team will make it.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Probably the best variety of entertainment for boxing fans can be found in the Golden Gloves. You see some good fights, you see some bad fights, and there's always a couple on the card good for laughs.

The best rock and roll show we've seen, was the 114 pound novice 3-rounder last Saturday night featuring Al Wood and Stewart Faulkner of Port Huron.

There weren't too many punches, but the footwork was great for one of those guitar sessions on the "Bandstand" program.

Jordon's Goal Beats Philly in 2nd Overtime

Pistons Gain Rare Victory

DETROIT (UP) — It took two overtimes, but the slump-addicted Detroit Pistons won a basketball game last night.

The 119-117 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors was only Detroit's second in 12 games.

To win the game, the Pistons had to erase three-point deficits in each of the extra five-minute sessions. Phil Jordon finally clinched the thrilling victory with a 25-foot hook shot with five seconds left.

It was the closest game the Pistons have played all season. The score was deadlocked 84-84 after three periods. Then after leading most of the final period, the Pistons had to come from behind to tie 106-106 at the end of regulation time on Walt Dukes' two free throws.

It was knotted 112-112 when Jordon sank a hook shot and the Warriors' Andy Johnson missed one of two free throws in the final 20 seconds of the first overtime.

Paul Arizin, the National Basketball Assn.'s second leading scorer, fouled out in the first overtime. He was the top point-maker in the game with 29 points. Dukes led Detroit with 26 and Dick McGuire backed him up with 23. Jordon had 15.

A fight between Detroit rookie Shellie McMillon and veteran Warrior Joe Graboski marked the game at the end of the first half. McMillon, a former CYO boxing champion, won the decision. But he was ejected from the game.

St. Louis defeated Syracuse 113-111 and New York edged Boston 129-126 in other NBA games last night.

St. Louis almost blew its game away after leading by 18 at halftime. The score was tied seven times in the last quarter until Clyde Lovellette's layup with 49 seconds remaining decided the issue. Lovellette paced both teams with 30 points while Ed Conlin headed the losers with 23.

It was the fourth straight defeat in the 3rd losing streak of the season for Syracuse. The latest quartet have been by the combined slim spread of seven points.

The New York triumph broke a six-game Celtic victory string. The Knicks overcame a 13-point 4th period deficit to deadlock the score at 124-124 and then won out on five free throws by Willie Naulls and Frank Selvy.

Richie Guerin swished 39 to spark the Knicks all the way. Frank Ramsey and Bill Russell tallied 22 apiece for Boston.

The defeat was the 2nd bad news of the day for Celtic coach Red Auerbach. Earlier in the day he had been fined $100 for a run-in with a referee Jan. 20.

Three Busloads, Maybe More to Follow Chiefs

State's No. 1 Quintet Meets Indians Friday in Key Valley Game

By BILL CORNWELL

Chiefs are supposed to carry more authority than the ordinary run of Indians.

When the "long-feathers" are going into a hostile camp, however, it's a capital idea to take along some reinforcements—the more the merrier.

The Pontiac Central Chiefs are leaving for Flint tomorrow night on a dangerous scalping mission and their avid fans are following them in sizable numbers to furnish that little extra psychological lift.

A morale boost always is sorely needed on road trips, especially in basketball, and coach Art Van Ryzin's undefeated cagers will need more than the usual amount when they invade the Flint Central wigwam.

Three busloads of PCH students already are registered for the trip and there is a strong possibility that another bus will be required, according to Central High School Principal Francis Staley.

So many students have signed up to go that three busses may not be enough, Staley said.

The Chiefs are going to get plenty of moral support and they will need it when they tangle with the revenge-minded Indians of Joe Dowdy at the Flint Central gymnasium in a crucial Saginaw Valley Conference game.

Dowdy and his braves have been readying their teepee for the PCH visit ever since they took a 69-56 scalping in mid-December in the land of the Chiefs.

PCH has three big honors to uphold—a perfect 9-0 record, Saginaw Valley leadership and the No. 1 Class A ranking in Michigan.

Runnerup Flint Northern goes to Arthur Hill and Bay City Central plays host to Saginaw in Friday night's other Valley games and Northern can tie PCH for 1st place with a win over the Hillites and a Pontiac loss.

Pontiac stands 6-0 in the SVC while Northern has a 5-1 mark. Flint Central also is still very much in the running in 3rd spot at 4-2, but another setback will put the Indians out of the title picture.

The Chiefs must be rated a shaky favorite, but they'll have to stop the likes of Dale Lucas and Marzsellus Wilson plus Duane Bates, 6-foot-4 center who has become the most improved player on the Indian squad.

PCH goes into its rematch with the Indians without the services of guard Charlie Barge, who contributed 23 points to the 1st victory over Central. Saddled with the job of filling Barge's shoes is Amos Bailey, who has shown promise of doing an adequate job in his two roles as a starter.

Another player coming through in stellar fashion for Van Ryzin is George Fed, 6-2 sophomore center whose ability or inability to rebound tomorrow evening could be a big factor in the Chiefs' winning or losing.

Shucks! No Howe-Fontinato Rematch

Wings-Rangers Tangle Tonight on Detroit Ice

New York Defenseman Detained in Hospital With Broken Nose

DETROIT (UPI) — There'll be no fistic rematch between Gordie Howe and Lou Fontinato tonight when the Detroit Red Wings and the New York Rangers meet at Olympia.

Fontinato was taken to St. Clare's Hospital in New York and had been expected to accompany the Rangers to Detroit. But team physician Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa said Fontinato will be detained at the hospital at least another day "because he can't breathe properly."

Detroit will be trying to bounce back from a pair of 5-4 weekend losses to the Bruins at Boston and the Rangers at New York.

The losses dropped the Red Wings to fifth place in the National Hockey League standings and Detroit must stage a rally to keep from being forced out of the post-season Stanley Cup playoffs for the first time since the 1941-42 season.

Only the first four finishers in the National Hockey League regular season race qualify for the playoffs.

Howe, who scored a pair of goals in addition to his decision over Fontinato Sunday night, will be out to close the gap in the individual scoring race.

Howe has 56 points, four less than co-leaders Andy Bathgate of the Rangers and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of the Montreal Canadiens.

Lou Marcon, 21-year-old defenseman up from Edmonton of the Western Hockey League, will make his NHL debut with the Red Wings tonight. He was summoned by coach Sid Abel to help bolster Detroit's sagging defense corps.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Joanne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., and Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, clash in the feature match of the women's championship of Palm Beach today.

Both have been hot contenders on the winter golf circuit and scored identical victories in first round matches yesterday.

2 Titan Cagers Flunk

DETROIT (UP) — Tom Williamson and Bernie Traut, a pair of sophomore reservists, were off the University of Detroit basketball team today because of scholastic deficiencies.

Williams has played 12 games and scored 36 points for the Titans. Traut scored 24 points in 10 games. Both ineligible sophomores are from Chicago.

This program is co-sponsored by the Pontiac Archers Club and the Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department and is open to Archers of all ages. Scores don't count, it's what you hit and how it is hit that wins the many merchandise prizes being offered.

These Indoor Archery Fun Shoots are alternated each Sunday with an Archery Golf Shoot held on the Pontiac Municipal Golf Course between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m.

The Archery Golf Shoots are scheduled for February 15th and March 1st and 15th, and are open to everyone. Anyone with a bow and arrow can play Archery Golf.

It is played like the regular game of golf, with the archer shooting his or her first arrow from the tee and counting the number of shots necessary to hole out by hitting a 12 inch ball at the green. The game is played for a full 9 holes.

Registration is at the Clubhouse on Golf Drive.

Ram, Raven Tilt Friday Marks Windup

SCL Nears 'End of Line'

By H. GUY MOATS

End of the 1958-59 title trail for area Suburban Catholic League cagers was at hand this weekend, with Orchard Lake St. Mary traveling to Center Line St. Clement tonight.

★ ★ ★

St. Frederick will be host Friday, at Pontiac Central High, to Highland Park St. Benedict.

On Saturday night, at Pontiac Northern High's gymnasium, St. Michael will conclude the three day series of parochial windups against Detroit St. Rita.

Rams, now 7-2 in league standings, are the only club to stop Art Massucci's Ravens, this season. The Ravens have applied the only blot on St. Mary's record. St. Mary handed the Rams their first loss. Eaglets and Ravens are 8-1.

★ ★ ★

Eaglets are rated a shoo-in over Crusaders, while the Ram-Raven battle was considered a toss-up. Victory for the Eaglets, coupled with a St. Frederick win, would lift the Orchard Lakers atop the title race, all alone. St. Mary finished second last year, back of St. Benedict.

★ ★ ★

St. Michael will shoot for an even season's break, at 5-5, against the unpredictable Rita club. The Shamrocks were favored to wind up league action with a victory. However, they still have one more game against a non-league opponent.

Royal Oak St. Mary and Ferndale St. James collide in the other SCL finale, Friday, at Ferndale.

Texas Refuses to Let Archie Box Wrestler

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — A proposed fight between lightheavy champion Archie Moore and wrestler Sterling (Dizzy) Davis will not be permitted in Texas, a deputy boxing commissioner said last night.

Pat O'Dowdy, Odessa, Tex., wrestling promoter, arranged the 10-round fight for Feb. 19 and said he already was selling tickets.

★ ★ ★

But deputy boxing commissioner Sammy George told O'Dowdy by telegram that the fight would not be permitted because O'Dowdy does not have a boxing promoter's license.

★ ★ ★

George also said that if Moore wanted to fight in Texas it would have to be against a bona fide boxer.

2 Grid Recruiters Lose Jobs at USC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California has relieved two football recruiters of their duties.

The action, announced yesterday by university president Dr. Norman H. Topping, follows drastic sanctions imposed on the Trojans at Cincinnati last month by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

Nick Pappas, field secretary of the alumni assn., and Al Davis, assistant football coach, no longer will be allowed to participate in recruiting athletes.

Mantle, Musial Top Unsigned List

By The Associated Press

More than a dozen big salaried major league ballplayers, including Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford of New York, Hank Aaron and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Stan Musial of St. Louis, are among the scores still unsigned for the 1959 season.

Also among the high-priced stars who have yet to come to terms are Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, Jackie Jensen of Boston, Roy Sievers of Washington, Harvey Kuenn of Detroit, Ted Kluszewski of Pittsburgh, Lew Burdette of Milwaukee and Gil McDougald of New York.

Their annual salaries range from about $27,500 for Ashburn to $100,000 for Musial.

With only a few weeks remaining before the start of spring training, only the Cleveland Indians have all their signed '59 contracts in the bag. The total of unsigned players on the other 15 clubs exceeds 250.

Although in some instances, including Musial's, it's just a case of sitting down and talking terms, several stars have been outspokenly critical of the contracts offered them.

This is particularly true of Mantle and several other Yankees. Mantle, who received an estimated $75,000 last season, reportedly is battling a $5,000 cut. McDougald and Ford also have been asked to sign for less than last year.

The Yanks have only eight players under contract. Included are Bob Turley, Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer.

Braves Joe Adcock, Bob Buhl and Andy Pafko, Luis Aparicio and Billy Goodman of the White Sox, Tiger pitchers Frank Lary and Jim Bunning, prominent Boston stars Frank Malzone and Frank Sullivans, Bob Cerv and Roger Maris of Kansas City, Baltimore's Gus Triandos, Gene Woodling and Bob Nieman, Curt Simmons of the Phillies and the complete Cincinnati outfield of Gus Bell, Frank Robinson and newly acquired Frank Thomas are among others still unsigned.

The Phillies yesterday received inked pacts from veteran pitcher Jim Hearn, utility infielder Johnny O'Brien and three rookies. The club also announced the sale of relief pitcher Bob Miller to St. Louis.

Power-hitting rookies of last season, Leon Wagner and Willie Kirkland, and veteran Ray Jablonski agreed to terms with the Giants as did rookie chucker Gary Blaylock with the Cards.

Enos Slaughter, who will be 43 April 27, has signed with the Yanks.

Crosby, Martin Star at Phoenix

Crooner, Coach Fire Aces

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Two amateur golfers were the talk of the tournament today as top-billed professional stars teed off in the first round of the $20,000 Phoenix Open.

Crooner Bing Crosby and football coach Ben Martin both shot a hole-in-one during the pro-am phase of the tourney yesterday.

Crosby used a 3 iron to sink his ace on the par-3 197-yard ninth hole. It was his fourth hole in one, but first in competition.

Martin, who coached the Air Force Academy to an undefeated season last year, dropped a 3 wood shot into the cup on the 208-yard eleventh hole. It was the first ace for Martin, who was using a set of borrowed clubs.

★ ★ ★

Veterans of the professional tour said they could not recall another pro-am event when two amateurs sank aces in the same round.

Tank-like Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., and young Tony Lema, San Leandro, Calif., cornered a share of the spotlight by posting five under par 65s and pocketing the first payoff of the 72-hole tournament — $225 each as low professionals in the pro-am.

ACE FOR BING — Crooner Bing Crosby keeps this ball as a souvenir. He dropped it for an ace in the pro-am tourney at Phoenix yesterday. He used a 3-iron on the 197 yard 9th hole while playing with pro Jim Demaret. Abe Martin, Air Force football coach, also had a hole-in-one.

Pontiac Glovers Aim for State Meet

Local Regional Fights Decide Final Entries

Saturday Night Card at PCH Includes Open and Novice Classes

Depending on their performance Saturday night in the Golden Gloves regional finals at Pontiac Central, Pontiac could have its largest representation in the state championships in 12 years.

Open class fighters from Pontiac and Port Huron will join the novice winners of last week in Saturday's program at PCH, and the winners will earn themselves a trip to Grand Rapids for the Feb. 14th state championships.

Five open class boxers from Pontiac and five in the novice division from the city will see action this week along with 10 or 12 fighters from Port Huron.

Fighters in the open classes will be the heavier weights.

Heavyweight Noble Willard of Port Huron has no opposition in his class, but he may be matched against a lightheavy.

Best chances for Pontiac's representation to Grand Rapids lie with welterweight novice Dick Compton, lightweight novice Bob Regland and middleweight in the open class Dave Blower.

Compton was the most impressive in the preliminaries last week as he won two matches, one by decision and another on a TKO.

Regland was also a TKO winner, while Blower did not appear on the card.

There is a possibility that Blower could meet Mel Beach of Port Huron. This would be a fight of ex-champs.

Blower won the novice title in Grand Rapids two years ago, while Beach was open champion at Flint last year.

Larry Salz, who scored the line kayo on the program last Saturday, will be in the welterweight novice finals and there is chance he might have to face Compton.

The fights will start at 8:00 p.m. and tickets are available at numerous locations around the city.

College Cager Saves Skin With Cross-Country Dash

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (AP) — A basketball game turned into a cross-country run for Steve Estes, a bespectacled reserve player for Glendale College.

Glendale was playing Pierce College here Tuesday night. It was about the last second of the game and Estes tried for a field goal. Apparently Pierce players and rooters thought he fouled one of their boys.

Players and fans swarmed toward him. He was forced through the gym door. His glasses were shattered.

Estes started running, with players and Pierce fans chasing him. He ran to a house and pounded on the door. The householder, startled to see a perspiring, thinclad basketball player on his doorstep, didn't want to let him in. Estes pleaded. The crowd was thundering up.

Finally Estes got through the door of the house and slammed it. Then coaches and other cooler heads arrived and Estes was escorted to safety.

Asked about it Wednesday, Estes replied with a question:

"What was the final score?" It was Glendale 90, Pierce 76. The undaunted reservist, feeling he was cheated out of a shot at the basket, complained:

"I've still got two free throws coming."

Hickey Continues Success at Marquette

By The Associated Press

Eddie Hickey, the little perfectionist with the big shadow of basketball success, is headed for another tournament berth even though he's traded the Blue and White of St. Louis for Marquette's Blue and Gold.

The 5-5 bundle of basketball strategy has the Warriors zipping along at a pace no one thought possible when he took control last fall. They nailed their 14th straight and 16th in 17 games last night, 73-62 over Bowling Green. The Marquette lead was 23 points when Hickey recalled the regulars to the bench with six minutes remaining.

Hickey has handled basketball fortunes at two other schools in his 20-year career. Before World War II, he built Creighton into one of the powers of the Midwest. His first St. Louis team won the National Invitational Tournament championship in 1948, and his flashy, fast-breaking Billiken teams subsequently made six more NIT appearances and twice played in the NCAA tournament.

Hickey and Marquette took a share of last night's spotlight from Titans North Carolina and Cincinnati, both of whom fattened their national prestige.

Frank McGuire's Tar Heels, second-ranked nationally, pushed their winning streak to seven, their Atlantic Coast Conference mark to 8-0 and their overall record to 13-1 with 64-57 victory over Maryland.

Fifth-ranked Cincinnati, with All-American Oscar Robertson scoring 38 for 33.2 average, crushed Dayton 96-74. The Bearcats have won their last nine for a 15-2 ledger.

In other features, Kansas took second place in the big eight standing as Ron Loneski scored 19 points in a 71-44 whipping of Oklahoma.

Arlen Clark became a 1,000 point man for Hank Iba's low-scoring Oklahoma State. Clark bagged 24 for a career total of 1,004 in a 58-38 romp over Texas.

Ed Blair's season average dipped to 23.5 as he scored 22 in leading Western Michigan over Toledo 68-61 in a mid-American conference match. Little Adelphi beat big brother Fordham for the first time in memory, 81-69, and Tom Harrington's 50 points set a Rhode Island record in a 119-106 caper with Brandeis.

In other Michigan games Calvin got a big scoring performance from Ralph Hondred and turned back Hillsdale, 76-67, in a MIAA game. Hondred scored 31 points to give the Grand Rapids school its 10th victory against only two losses.

Alma coasted to a 63-37 victory over Ferris; Detroit Tech defeated Heidelberg for the second time this season, 73-71; Baldwin-Wallace outlasted Adrian, 87-80, and Northern Michigan downed Moorhead State, 85-72 in other games involving state colleges last night.

Only two college games are on tap involving Michigan schools tonight. Northern Michigan is at Concordia and Bluffton at Adrian.

Books Take Their Toll of 10 Athletes at 'M'

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Four coaches at Michigan were looking for replacements today for a total of 10 players lost through eligibility.

The swimming team was hardest hit by the losing battle to textbooks. Three top members of the defending NCAA championship team, divers Bruce Webster and Alvaro Gaxiola and sprinter Dick Mehl, were declared ineligible.

Tennis coach Bill Murphy lost his No. 1 player from 1958, John Erickson, in addition to two top prospects from Hamtramck, Gerry Dubie and Rudy Hernando.

Three basketball reserves were lost to Bill Perigo, including No. 1 reserve guard, Rich Miller. The other two players delared ineligible were Dick Meyer and Tom Weadock.

Booth Cagers Near 'B' Title

Booth Homes virtually clinched the regular seson Class B City League basketball title Wednesday night with a 57-54 victory over Griff's Grill at Pontiac Central.

Jim Poteet netted 18 poonts and Bernie Stafford added 14 as Booth won its 9th decision in 10 games. Chuck Graves and George Lang had 13 apiece for the Grill.

Field's Landscape moved into 2nd place in the Class B loop with a 69-54 conquest of Glenn's Motor. Field's Jim Skinner took game scoring honors with 23 points.

In Class D activity at Lincoln, the Lakeside Royals rolled to a 72-51 American League triumph over Pontiac Northern and the Pledges downed Le's Sales, 41-37, in the National division.

Rochester at Romeo, Berkley vs. Southfield

Unbeatens Tested Tomorrow

By CHUCK ABAIR

Rochester and Berkley, Oakland County's only unbeaten prep hoop teams besides powerful Pontiac Central, like the Chiefs will really be put to test tomorrow night in the top games on a big area schedule.

All three perfect-record quintets will face their big obstacles away from home.

Rochester is 9-0 and Berkley 10-0. Each will be playing a team it has beaten before.

The Falcons appear to have the more difficult task since they defeated the big Romeo contingent at home by only eight points three weeks ago. The Bulldogs of Bud Brotebeck have won four in a row since averaging 67.8 points. They are 7-3 overall and could tie Rochester for the loop lead with an upset.

Berkley walloped Southfield in a December meeting but little Bluejay skipper Bob Watts has vowed things will be different this time. The Bears lost two veterans who were mid-year grads since the 1st meeting but have kept right on rolling. Southfield is 9-3 for the season and appears to be the only I-L team with a chance of catching Berkley with a 4-2 mark as compared to 6-0.

Hard-luck Waterford, with five league defeats by nine points, will be out to repeat a previous win at Farmington while Walled Lake attempts the same feat at Van Dyke in other Inter-Lakes play. Lapeer meets L'Anse Creuse in the Tri-County.

Birmingham is host to Hazel Park, unbeaten Ferndale visits East Detroit and Port Huron travels to Royal Oak Kimball in the Eastern Michigan League. Birmingham is 4-4 overall and nipped the Parkers by one earlier. Ferndale is 6-0 in the loop.

Avondale's unpredictable cagers entertain Fitzgerald in what is expected to be the best of three Oakland B contests. The Yellowjackets, paced by Dick Smith and Walt Arnold, have won four in succession following a bad start. Clawson is at Lake Orion and 1st place Troy visits Madison in other games.

Brighton and Holly are expected to roll along 1-2 Friday. Brighton plays host to lowly Milford while Holly meets another weak sister in Bloomfield Hills. West Bloomfield will visit Clarkston and Clarenceville goes to Northville.

An interesting South Central duel will have Oxford at Ortonville with Millington meeting unbeaten Imlay City. Oxford holds a six-point verdict over the Blackhawks in December but has lost all four starts since.

AVON SPARKPLUG — Little Dick Smith has become a sparkplug in basketball just as he was in football at Avondale High. After totaling only 21 points in five games, he has tallied 48 during a current four-game win streak. The Jackets host strong Fitzgerald tomorrow.

Another local bowling "house" will take on a pro atmosphere this weekend when Huron Bowl plays host to a big Battle of Champions which will lead to deciding the state 5-man crown.

Eddie Lubanski, Joe Joseph and Tony Lindemann will be among the keg greats competing here in three sessions Saturday and Sunday. It will be Stroh's vs. Pfeiffer's.

Three-game sets will be held Saturday evening, Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening giving local fans plenty of chance to see some of the nation's best in action.

Joseph is back at Huron now giving group and private instructions free of charge four afternoons a week.

While on the subject of pros, Bill Kuklinski at Lakewood Lanes is posting top open and league the appearance of Don Carter this scores again in preparation for month in the 2nd "Beat the Pro" contest.

Motor Inn will also be a beehive of activity this weekend as the GMC Truck and Coach doubles tournament begins.

HERE 'N THERE

History was made recently at Land-O-Lakes when Jim Charlton rolled the first 700 in alley history. He hit 717 in the West Side Merchant league and has already joined the local 700 Chapter . . . Only six local women's teams known to have entered the state tourney.

Add scores: Ron Cotner 714-717, Fred Menke 278-744 (Farmington Lanes Men's House); O.Ward 255 (Pioneer A); Shirley Pointer 233 (Ladies All Star); Lil Ryeson 236 (Huron Ladies); "Doc" O'Neill 280 and Paul Lampkin 692 in different Land-O-Lakes' leagues.

Also, Pat Tinson 256, C. Tosto 244-640, Bill Bull 639 and J. Kimmerly 638 (Huron Wed. A); B. Lysinger 223 (Lakeland Ladies); Anita Campbell 152 triplicate (Hazel Park).

Red Run Golf Club Invitational keg meet ends this weekend. Dr. Tom Graat of St. Clair leads in singles and doubles . . . Frank Clause, who has 10 sanctioned 300s, will hold a free bowling school at Bloomfield Lanes Friday at 9 a.m. . . . The Central States tournament will be at Ann Arbor next year.

Elks Ladies' National Keg Event Ends Here Sunday

Four Pontiac women's bowling teams will help ring down the curtain on the 2nd annual Elks Ladies National Invitational tournament here while one other contingent travels to Grand Rapids this weekend as the first local contestant in the Michigan Women's event.

There will be no local men competing in the Elks Men's state tourney at Ann Arbor. Pontiac teams resume there Feb. 13. Keglers from Detroit, Hillsdale, Ann Arbor, Traverse City and Mt. Pleasant will participate Saturday and Sunday.

Woolliever's Fawns, Lakeland Pharmacy, Twin Yokes and Selma's of Rochester will be the final city contestants here at Lodge 810. Three doubles duos and six singles entries will complete the Pontiac delegation in the Elks Ladies.

Their competition will come from Alma, Muskegon, Hillsdale, Gary and Elkhart, Ind., and Port Clinton, Ohio.

The prize winners who will divide $3,144.60 and trophies will be determined following the end of play Sunday afternoon.

Pontiac has dominated the team event all the way and currently has nine in the top ten with Ricky's Pizza House in the lead for the 1st place award of $100 and a trophy at 2985. Amanda Zschering and Evelyn Prosser currently are ahead in doubles with 1240. That title is worth $50 and a trophy.

It will take a tremendous performance to prevent Royal Oak's Alice Havranek from sweeping at least three prizes totaling $63 and two trophies.

She has good leads in each division with such scores as 704, 273 and 1874 for singles, highest game and all-events handicap. There is a good chance she will add a 3rd trophy since she is tied with Betzi Waisanen of Pontiac in all-events actual at 1604. That title calls for a trophy award.

Ricky's also has the best team game of 1082 which may be good for an extra $15 while the Pontiac doubles pair of Madge Wilson-Bessie Dawe has the edge for the top doubles game prize of $10 with 465.

Stroh's, which has dropped from 5th to 8th in the Elks meet, will be the initial team to shoot for state honors led by Capt. Peggy Bender. Five other units will bowl at Grand Rapids March 7-8.

West Siders Roll On; 289 for Moore

There was a total of 21 series over 600 and 80 games over 200. This comprises a full one-third of the games rolled. Although there were only two 3000 series, there was 10 games over the 1000 pins mark for the night.

Other high scores were: Gerjekian 275; J. Nickell 256; F. Spadafore 247 and A. Carline 246 in games and M. Moore 671; S. Laine 662; R. Overmeyer 647 and J. Foster 643 in series.

PNH Phys Ed Teacher Skis 'Just for Fun'

By BRUNO I. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Miss Karen Violetta has the talent and the ambition, but little hope of making a career out of skiing, whether pro or amateur.

The Pontiac Northern physical education teacher has been skiing as long as she can remember, but her love for the sport has never taken precedence over her education and her teaching.

"Sure, I've had thoughts about skiing and the Olympics, but I can not work just for the sake of supporting my skiing," said Miss Violetta.

"I wanted a college education and had to give up a lot of skiing in meets," she said, "now I just want to enjoy the sport because I never figure of getting into any big competitive events."

While at Michigan State University, she won the inter-collegiate state championship and she also won the Michigan combined women's championship, which includes the downhill and slalom events.

Last week Karen got into the local skiing limelight by winning the Grampian Mt. women's races and she plans on entering the Central U. S. championships later this month at Caberfae.

"My family has never seen me ski. They've seen me play baseball and ice skate, they aren't skiing enthusiasts," she said.

* * *

The possibility that Pontiac Northern may have a couple ski slopes of its own interests Karen but does not excite her. "Skiing here has a long way to go, it needs a long range program," she advised, when questioned of the possibility that Pontiac could be the first school in this part of Michigan to put a team in the state ski prep tournament.

"Our high school kids, those on teams in upper Michigan and in the midwest are as good as any young upcoming skiers in the country," she noted.

Before coming to Pontiac Northern, Karen taught skiing, skating and physical education at Carlton College. She has never taken a ski lesson but advises that anyone taking up the sport do so with proper pro instruction.

SKI WHIZ — Miss Karen Violetta, girls' physical education instructor at Pontiac Northern, gets to the finish of the downhill slalom race she won at Grampian Mt. last week. Miss Violetta is the state combined champ.

Children's Races Set for Feb. 14th

The races will be held Saturday afternoon February 14th instead of this Saturday. The meet is open for all youngsters between seven and 18.

On the night of the 14th a slalom event for ski patrol members of area slopes will be held. Time for this event is 8:00 p.m. and all patrol skiers are invited to participate.

Squaw Valley to Hold 'Biathlon' Ski Races

Event Will Be Added to 1960 Olympic Games

Skiers to Use Rifles on 12½-Mile Course With 4 Targets

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—The United States will do no worse than sixth in this month's North American Biathlon Championships, first such ski race ever held in this country.

Such a prediction comes easy. One Russian, one Swede, one Finn, one Englishman, one Norwegian and 20 Americans are entered in this warmup Olympic ski-shoot test.

* * *

The event is something new for Olympics and should be a dilly to watch. Skiers have a 12½ mile course to cover, stopping and shooting at four targets.

They cross country for three miles, then stop and take five shots at a target 30 centimeters in diameter (10.6 inches) from a distance of 250 meters (273.4 yards).

The racer can take off his skis or leave them on. But whatever he does, the clock is running. Each time he misses, two minutes is added to his time.

* * *

The targets are not a round bullseye but the wide base type with an arched top. All the biathloner has to do is hit the target. His second target is 200 meters (218.7 yards) out at a size of 25 centimeters (9.84 inches) and the third 150 meters (164 yards) with a target measuring 20 centimeters (7.87 inches).

The last target is 100 meters (109.36 yards) from that 30 centimeter target, and has to be handled from a standing position.

The skier may choose his rifle as to ammunition or caliber but no semi-automatic weapons—or optical sights are allowed.

* * *

Biathlon director, both for the North Americans and the '60 Olympics over the same course here, is rugged Birger Torrison, a Norwegian-American who skied and shot the event as a kid.

"This is an old Scandinavian event," Torrisen explains. "And it used to be raced as a military team. But the nations didn't like that."

* * *

The men will be on the starting mark Feb. 26. They include Walter Jackson and Dick Mize, Coloradoans from Leadville and Gilman and Lt. John Armstrong, a New Hampshire product, stationed with the Air Force in Germany.

Holiday Hills' Ski Pro Hails From Innsbruck

Herb Hyna, international ski professional, who is the head instructor at Holiday Hill in Boyne Mountain, hails from Innsbruck, Austria, home of many famed world skiers.

* * *

Hyna, who last year was at Otsego Ski Club, took over the Holiday Hills job last fall, and his wife, June, assists him in ski classes.

* * *

46th Annual Carnival at Steamboat Springs

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The man who set the American record and the hill where it was set are ready for the ski-jumping event at the 46th annual Steamboat Springs Winter Carnival this weekend.

* * *

The jumping, feature event of the three-day snow sports show, gets under way Sunday afternoon. This northwestern Colorado town, where kids learn to ski almost as soon as they can walk, received 14 inches of fresh snow Wednesday.

* * *

Ansten Samuelstuen of Boulder, Colo., set the U.S. record of 316 feet on Howelsen Hill here in 1951, and is ready to try again on the jump, now modified with the aim of making longer leaps possible.

His Books Come First

CLEVELAND (AP) — David Jenkins, U.S., world and North American figure skating champion, said Wednesday night that he will not defend his title at the North American Championships at Toronto, Canada, this weekend.

He said he felt it would be taking too much time from his studies at the Western Reserve University medical school. He added, however, that he would defend his world title at Colorado Springs, Colo., his home town, later this month.

Lady Beatty Visits Palm Springs—So Does Sinatra

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Among the visitors in this desert resort is England's Lady Beatty. Among the resort's notable residents is Frank Sinatra.

But whether the singer and the 36-year-old British beauty will stage a sequel to their romantic interlude in England last fall remains to be seen.

"No comment," said Lady Beatty when she arrived here Wednesday and checked into a hotel for a week's stay. "No comment," echoed Sinatra, whose home is a short distance away.

★ ★ ★

The American-born Lady Beatty was divorced a year ago by 53-year-old Earl Beatty. She and Sinatra were constant companions at London social functions last fall.

Slurs on Salt Lake City Irk One Man Especially

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Arthur J. Mays is irked because, he says, Salt Lake motorists have "a national reputation for being discourteous."

"I hear about the city's poor courtesy reputation. . .every time I attend a national safety meeting," he said Wednesday.

"Maybe," he added, "I should start putting more people in jail."

Quest Began in Colombian Jungle

Boy Searching for Mother

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An unwanted American boy, who dared the Colombian jungle rather than live on in loneliness, is here on a wistful quest.

Carlos Telmo Lince Jr., 14, not quite an orphan, seeks the only person who can fill the void in his heart: his mother. His search could be hopeless.

He was only 7 when Mrs. Carlos T. Lince decided in 1952—one year after they had moved there from Los Angeles—that she could not go on living in Bogota, Colombia.

She disappeared. If she ever sent back word, it never reached Carlos and his sister, Lucia. Lucia, 11, lives with their father, a Colombian airline pilot who has remarried.

Carlos went to a military school in Bogota. Lonely and friendless, he tried repeatedly to get away. The third time he ran away, last July 15, he made it.

He wandered in the tropical wilds, looking for something. What he didn't know. Coconuts and wild berries and vegetables kept him going. Occasionally he shinned up a tree to elude wild animals.

Two weeks later Indians found him in the forests of San Blas Island off the coast of Panama. He lived with them more than three months. They eventually took him to a missionary who turned him over to the American consul in Panama Nov. 8.

Police were told that neither the father nor an aunt in Miami, Fla., want the boy.

"He has never had the friendship and affection he craved," says Roy Aldridge, 28, a policeman in Cristobal, Panama, who brought Carlos to this country recently. "He's intelligent. Given the chance, he could really make something of himself."

An American citizen, Mrs. Lince now 32, was traced to Lincoln, Neb., but there the trail was lost.

Carlos has a home offered him. Aldridge's stepfather, H. F. Abney of Los Angeles, plans to adopt him if possible. Abney, too, is a policeman.

Cuba Says Nye Has Confessed

Report Ex-Navy Flier Plotted Against Life of Fidel Castro

HAVANA (AP) — The National Police early today announced that a former U.S. Navy pilot had confessed he came to Cuba in December to kill Rebel Leader Fidel Castro.

A statement from National Police headquarters said Allen Robert Nye, 31, had admitted he was promised $100,000 by the chief of the Batista Air Force, Brig. Gen. Carlos Tabernilla, if he killed the rebel chieftain.

Nye, who says his home is in Whiting, Ind., but who gives Coral Gables, Fla., as his last address, was arrested in Oriente province by Castro's men Dec. 26, five days before former President Fulgencio Batista gave up the fight against the revolution and fled to the Dominican Republic.

There was no immediate indication what action the revolutionary government would take against Nye. He is being held in the Central Havana jail at National Police headquarters and has been allowed to see U.S. Consular representatives and American newsmen.

Miriani Raps State

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Louis Miriani of Detroit says Gov. G. Mennen Williams' proposed 140 million dollar state tax package contains "nothing additional for hard-pressed local governments." Miriani told 10 fellow metropolitan area mayors Wednesday "We must put up a united fight against the state shirking its responsibilities . . . if we are to balance our budgets in the future."

'Pore' Tom Dooley Snaps Kingston Trio to Success

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP). — Three fresh-faced young men stepped up to the microphone. They were dressed identically in Ivy League pants and open-necked striped shirts. They plunked two guitars and a banjo and started crooning:

"Hang down yer head, Tom Dooley. . . ."

Cheers shook the great hall. This was the signal of acceptance for three bright fellows who are riding the teenage music boom to early fortunes.

They are Dave Guard, Bob Shane and Nick Reynolds, who call themselves the Kingston Trio. The name is an accident—"We started out when the calypso craze was on, so it sounded like a good idea."

Nor, despite their hit with the backwoodsy ballad of the doomed Dooley, are they hillbillies. Dave and Bob grew up in Honolulu. Nick is from Coronado, Calif.

"Dooley" did it.

"The teenagers buy single records, and they made it a hit," explained Guard, chief Kingstonian. "So far it has sold 1,800,000 here and about the same in England. We're just as amazed as anyone."

The boys got together at Palo Alto. All were business students, Dave at Stanford University and Bob and Nick at nearby Menlo college. Dave and Bob were chums from Hawaii, where they had strummed ukeleles to island tunes. The trio began playing their guitars and banjos and chanting folk tunes in campus hangouts.

San Francisco publicist Frank Werber introduced them to San Francisco nighteries. They caught on, played other intimate clubs in Chicago and New York. A year ago, they signed with Capitol Records and made an album which became a bestseller.

"Dooley" was one of the album songs; they had picked it up from an auditioner in a San Francisco night club. Disc jockeys started playing it, prompting Capitol to issue the single. Whammo!

Being level-headed lads, they have used their business educations to devise means to spread their income, which averages $1,750 per nightly date. They know the teenagers are fickle, so they are broadening their audience with appearances all over the nation, especially at colleges. "We're in this business to stay," they declare.

Bosses Paying for Time Off

Attitude Changes on Jury Duty

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Most men and women at some time have heard a call to jury duty. And many have wondered how their bosses would take their absence and how much pay they'd lose.

The answer seems to be that today more and more employers are paying, at least in part, for the time off. And more are urging their employes to forego any attempt to shirk the civic duty. This has spread to supervisors now as well as to the rank and file.

The change is shown today in surveys taken two years apart by the National Industrial Conference Board. Some companies pay in full, others in part. Some deduct the jury pay from this sum, others don't.

The board suggests several reasons for so many companies now keeping the regular pay going and for advising employes to accept the call gracefully.

One has been union pressure. New contracts in the auto industry, for example, call for $5 a day for jury duty of up to fourteen days a year.

Another has been a growing sense of civic responsibility by businessmen. A chemical company tells its employes: "Jury service is a civic duty which should not be avoided."

A third reason suggested is that businessmen would like to see the jury system improved and think their people can help.

The board comments: "Anyone who has been a party to a lawsuit in which a jury fixed the size of the settlement can appreciate the need for jurors who are both qualified and willing to perform this important civic function."

Management has been slower to include supervisors in the trend than it has rank-and-file workers. It still often makes exceptions in the case of supervisors.

One company says "requests for exemption from jury duty (for supervisors) will be made by the management only in the case of key individuals whose absence will materially interfere with efficient plant operation."

The board's latest survey of 363 companies on how they handle the money problems of employes called for jury duty shows 302 guarding supervisors against financial loss, with 199 granting full pay plus fees.

In a survey of the policy toward rank and file employes, made two years ago, 276 allowed time off with pay for hourly workers, with 116 deducting the jury fees. For salaried employes 287 gave time off with pay, 94 deducting for jury fees.

★ ★ ★

Some companies expect employes, especially supervisors, to show up for work when not actually required to be in court. One public utility wants him to report prior to and after jury duty each day.

One airline says it allows full company pay and lets employes keep "their jury fees provided they work any part of the scheduled 40-hour work week."

But the board notes that it has been only in recent years that almost any one in the nation's working force hasn't been able to tell the court that he would lose all his pay if he served.

Parents Receive Wrong Body

Authorities Hunt for Dead Son After Mixup Following Accident

GAFFNEY, S.C. (AP) — A distraught Gaffney couple waited anxiously today while the Navy and FBI searched for the body of their son, one of three sailors killed in a Florida highway accident. The wrong body was sent home Wednesday for burial.

The FBI reported that the body received here was that of Lawrence H. Geis of Milwaukee, one of the other victims.

★ ★ ★

Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Charlotte, N.C., FBI office, said the body of the Gaffney seaman, Jerry Robert Driskill, 23, may have been sent to Wisconsin in the mix-up.

The third sailor killed in the Tuesday accident was identified as Donald L. Tullis, 19, of Racine, Wis.

Both bodies sent to Wisconsin were to arrive late today, but naval authorities indicated they would try to intercept the train carrying the bodies in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

"Identification will be verified as soon as possible," said Lt. Cmdr. B. W. Webb of the Naval Reserve in nearby Spartanburg.

The three sailors were stationed at the Pensacola, Fla., Naval Air Station. They died in a collision of two cars and a truck near the station.

Driskill was to have been buried today. After completing funeral arrangements Wednesday Driskill's mother and stepfather, J. Brunson Phillips, entered a funeral home to view the body.

"That's not my Jerry," cried the horror-stricken Mrs. Phillips as she looked down at the form.

"Someone's made a terrible mistake," said Phillips. "This certainly isn't my boy."

Mrs. Phillips collapsed moments later and had to be carried home. Phillips immediately notified naval authorities at Spartanburg, who in turn informed the FBI and Pensacola officials.

Identification of the body was established through relay of a copy of fingerprints from the Spartanburg, S.C., Herald to Washington by The Associated Press Wirephoto network.

"I don't understand how such a mistake could have been made," Phillips declared.

Father Hoping to Inspire Son With Walkathon

TURIN, Italy (UPI) — White-haired Paolo Bertino, a 68-year-old former bricklayer, is ready to attempt an unusual endurance test in the hope of lighting the spark of ambition in his 20-year-old foster son.

"I worked hard to give him a good education and also taught him to be an expert bricklayer," said Bertino, who now lives on a pension. "But he doesn't want to work. I think if I show him up a little it might help."

His plan for showing up the boy: A walking race between two points about a half-mile apart. Speed doesn't count. Endurance does. Bertino is ready to walk until his opponent gives up, but to qualify, his opponent must be at least 50 years old.

The first sale to India was 3,150,000 bushels but all except 700,000 bushels were the white varieties which are seldom traded here. Finland also bought 411,000 bushels of spring and white wheat.

Trading in December corn opened today with the first sale at $1.14½ a bushel, but the next transaction was down 3 cents.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ⅛ to ⅛ cent a bushel higher, March $1.99; corn ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, March old type contract $1.13¾; oats ⅛ to ¼ higher, March 68⅝; rye unchanged to ¼ lower, March $1.37; soybeans ⅛ to ¼ higher, March $2.18⅝.

Stocks Drift Off in Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors and steels were slightly lower as the stock market drifted off in active trading toay.

Losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among most key stocks. Quite a few were unchanged and there was a scattering of gainers.

News of anti-trust investigations of the auto manufacturing and steel businesses background-ed the market action. The key stocks in these groups showed no particular activity and whatever losses they took were slight.

General Motors, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler and Jones & Laughlin dropped fractions. Republic Steel was about unchanged. American Motors was firm.

* * *

Lukens Steel rebounded about 2 points from its loss of yesterday on word from the company that no stock split or merger was contemplated.

Raytheon advanced a couple of points following late yesterday's news that it had received a $50,731,000 contract for production of the Hawk ground-to-air missile system.

Dog Dies Due to Cancer, Master, 84, Shoots Self

Six weeks ago the 13-year-old dog, Danke Schoen, was found to be incurably ill with cancer and a veterinary put him to death.

Wednesday Craig, 84, was found dead in the cottage where he had lived alone. There was a bullet wound in his head and a revolver by his hand. No notes were found.

Senate Will Act on Housing Bill

Has Survived 2 GOP Efforts to Cut It; Only One Change Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—An omnibus housing bill, surviving two major Republican efforts to cut it, moved toward final Senate action today.

* * *

Further efforts both to increase and to decrease the bill's size lay ahead, but Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), author of the measure, predicted its passage without further change.

* * *

The only change made in the bill Wednesday cut 150 million dollars off the program of direct government home loans for veterans, halving the 300 millions the Senate Banking Committee had voted.

But Democratic leaders accepted the change, in the expressed hope it would make the measure more palatable to President Eisenhower, and it was adopted by voice vote.

* * *

The House meantime voted 310-89 on a separate bill to provide the full 300 millions for direct GI loans despite a protest from Rep. Charles Halleck (R-Ind), GOP leader, that "budget busters are on the move."

* * *

The House bill, limited to veterans' housing, also would increase the maximum interest rate from 4¾ to 5¼ per cent on home loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration. The idea is to attract more lenders' money for the program. The same provision is in the Senate bill.

* * *

Halving of the direct loan program in the Senate bill cut its total to $2,775,000,000 for a variety of programs, most of them extending for a period of several years.

Youth Innocent in Murder Trial

Found Not Guilty of Stepfather's Death on Insanity Plea

LAPEER—The jury deliberated over 1½ hours in Lapeer County Circuit Court yesterday before finding Adon Robedo, 17, "not guilty" of killing his stepfather last November.

* * *

The case was tried before Judge Timothy Quinn and reason given for the verdict was "temporary insanity," Lapeer County Sheriff's Department reported today.

The youth is back in custody today awaiting tests for the Ionia Prison for the Criminally Insane.

* * *

Adon was arrested Nov. 23 after admitting to a priest that he shot and killed his stepfather Juan Altamira, 48, with a 4-10 gauge shotgun. The youth claimed Altamira was beating his mother when he intereeded.

The shooting occurred in the tenant house the family occupied at 8265 Cade Rd., Burnside Township.

At its 1958 session, Virginia's General Assembly finally got around to repealing a law which prohibited citizens from leading bears on public highways.

Williams Comments on Plan

New Business Tax Load Would Melt After a Year

LANSING (AP)—Disputing critics, Gov. Williams says in the second year of his new tax program the added burden borne by business would be "practically nothing," thanks to a novel 30 million dollar tax credit device.

He figured the extra burden of business and industry during the year starting next July 1 at 27 millions out of a 140 million dollar new revenue yield.

* * *

The first full disclosure of the governor's state tax program came in a message to the Legislature yesterday. Six days ago, he went on television with the broad outlines of it.

* * *

Entirely new in the message to lawmakers were these two main points:

1. A proposal that would permit business to deduct 15 per cent of local personal property tax payments from amounts due the state under either the existing business activities tax or his proposed 110 million dollar corporation profits levy, or both.

2. The governor is working on recommendations to provide additional revenue sources to local governments but is not ready with them. To ignore this problem "would be leaving a task half accomplished," he said.

As he had before, Williams urged a 100 million dollar graduated personal income tax, the corporate profits levy and virtual repeal of state taxes on corporation franchises and intangible property — like stocks.

REPEATS OPPOSITION

He repeated his opposition to a four cent sales tax.

The tax credit plan for business would apply to personal property taxes paid on equipment, machinery and inventories, thereby benefiting the retail merchant as well as the manufacturer.

It would be deducted first from state liability. If the credit was not fully used in this way, the remainder then could be deducted from liability under the corporation profits tax.

The local property tax base would not be affected in any way, nor would local revenues derived from it.

Williams said the state could not afford, because of the precarious position of its finances now, to put the credit plan into effect immediately.

* * *

He also specifically urged substitution of direct state treasury grants for the 9½ million dollars a year that would be lost to local governments under intangibles tax repeal.

And he said that spokesmen for the Michigan Bankers Assn. had accepted as "fair and proper" his recommendation to apply the corporation profits tax to banks and other financial institutions at the rate of 7 per cent.

Weekly Auto Output Hits '59 Low Point

DETROIT (AP) — Passenger car output this week will total 116,780 units, lowest volume of the year, Automotive News said today. It will compare with last week's 119,678 assemblies and 109,028 in the like 1958 week.

The trade paper said the production cut will result largely from additional plant closings by Chrysler and elimination of more overtime by most other automakers.

Canadian makers will build 8,745 cars and trucks this week compared with 7,641 vehicles last week and 6,767 in the same 1958 week, Automotive News said.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CLARence Hale who passed away Feb. 4, 1958.
Loving memories never die
A years roll on and days pass by;
In my heart a memory is kept,
Of one I love and never will forget.
Sadly missed by wife Mary E. Hale.

IN MEMORY OF WALTER A. Shafer who passed away 1 year ago today.
Do not ask me how I miss him;
For there is such a vacant place;
Often I think I hear his footsteps
Or see his smiling face;
For he let me brokenhearted;
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they so little know the sorrow
That is in my heart concealed.
Sadly missed by his wife Eileen Shafer.

Lou Costello's Daughter Is Allen Billboard Girl

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The beautiful billboard girl on Steve Allen's show was Lou Costello's daughter, Carol, who's 20 and resembles both Elizabeth Taylor and Erin O'Brien.

WILSON

Asked whether her family name's ever been a problem, she said, "Yes, once I was told there was an article about my father in 'Confidential.' I rushed out to buy a copy and sure enough there was an article about Costello—Frank Costello."

Martha Wright's now rehearsing with conductor Donald Voorhees for a TV spec Feb. 10. Last time she worked with Voorhees she appeared with a famous opera star, and was complimented on making it look romantic by gripping the opera star's hand throughout the scene. "But it wasn't acting," she privately explained, "I'd been warned that he was a great pincher."

Thirty million bucks — the amount Perry Como's firm, Roncom, would get in only two years if he switches to Wednesday nights for Kraft — seemed like a lot of loot till I figured it out.

His current show costs $280,000 a week. For 104 weeks that would be $29,120,000 and Perry'd only net about $880,000. So don't do it, Per'. Ask for more. Big advantage to Perry would be weekends off, no more Perry Mason competition, options to buy stock, and all the cheese he can eat.

MARTHA

Eleanor Roosevelt can give 'em all lessons in press relations. I phoned to ask her about the deal to do a margarine commercial. She answered the phone herself, "I'm afraid it hasn't been settled yet," and thanked me for calling!

He wrote a column called 'If I'm Wrong, Sue Me!' They did. He was so popular in Hollywood, when he arrived there they wanted to give him a farewell dinner. He can tell Irish, German, Italian, Swede and French stories—all in the same dialect."

"I can't have him botherin' my batters!" said Casey . . . Singer Tommy Sands turned down an invitation to move in with Lindsay Crosby and Jimmy Boyd . . . Eli Wallach was asked to do "Othello" on London's BBC-TV.

Slate TV Show on Segregation

Protests of Huntley Views Prompts NBC to Air Both Sides

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co. has scheduled a special television program on segregation next Sunday in the wake of protests of a Chet Huntley editorial on the subject.

NBC announced it had scheduled the program for 6:30-7 p.m. (EST) to present "different points of view on the segregation issue."

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People demanded equal time to answer Huntley, who suggested that militant Negro leadership pull out of the struggle for integration.

Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations for the NAACP, said the association has not yet decided whether to accept the invitation if others are to appear.

"We feel we should have the opportunity to take over the full program. The other point of view already has been given," he said.

Huntley gave the editorial during "The Second Agony of Atlanta," a TV program dealing with the problem of school integration in Georgia. Many Georgia citizens expressed their views.

Huntley said in part: "The NAACP may have outlived itself because those white Southerners who must prevail, if anyone will, consider it an unacceptable symbol. Nor is it fair that militant Negro leadership must be abandoned while militant white leadership can continue.

★ ★ ★

"But just as the Negroes have the most to gain, it is they who must make the unfairest sacrifice to achieve it. I also suggest that if militant Negro leadership is removed, militant white leadership will in time atrophy and disappear. I hope I am right. I am not sure."

Bob Hope's Doctor Orders Him to Rest

Hope's doctor said Wednesday rest and treatment should bring quick improvement. All other tests show Hope to be in good shape, he said.

★ ★ ★

On the doctor's advice, Hope canceled a charity show appearance scheduled for tonight in Miami. His television show for next Tuesday has already been filmed. He doesn't have another coming up until March.

Bandit Almost Earns $35 Take-Home Pay

DETROIT (AP) — A well-dressed bandit took $35 from Mrs. Helen Day, led her into the back room of the dry cleaning shop where she works and tied her hands to a clothes rack yesterday.

Then a customer came into the store. The bandit untied Mrs. Day to let her wait on the customer.

Then the thug tied her up again.

State Leaders Honor Larry Farrell at Dinner for 10 Years Service

LANSING (AP)—Friends from all parts of the state and high stations and low saluted Larry Farrell at a testimonial dinner last night.

Farrell, one of the state's best known Democratic Party figures, left Jan. 1 after 10 years as Gov. Williams' executive secretary to take a like job with the state employes retirement board.

The crowd of 750 was dotted with Circuit and Supreme Court judges, business and labor leaders, state department heads and deputies, legislators, lobbyists and newsmen.

Donald O'Hara, a former Dickinson County school superintendent who gave Farrell his first job out of college, recalled that the young teacher exhibited executive ability early.

"I hired him for a job in a one-room school at $100 a month," O'Hara said. "At the same time, he held a $25 nighttime janitor's job which he sublet without much loss of revenue and with great satisfaction to the contracting party."

Former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner spoke. Former U.S. Sen. Prentiss M. Brown and U.S. Sens. Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart sent regrets, Brown because of minor illness.

Farrell was given a 1959 station wagon, a shillelagh, a picture of the Mackinac Bridge and a certificate of appreciation signed by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, for his work on behalf of the selective service system.

Mickey Cohen Has 2 Reasons for Keeping Mum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mickey Cohen has his own grounds for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury investigating his financial affairs.

"It might incriminate me, and besides I don't trust you," the former gambler told U.S. attorney's aide Robert Jensen Wednesday. Cohen had just refused to give the jury his address.

Cohen was excused with orders to return for another session in two weeks. The jury is trying to find out where the pudgy ex-convict gets his money and whether he owes any income tax on it.

It is being built by the Great Lakes Engineering Works and will be operated by the Interlake Steamship Co., of which Jackson is a vice president. Pontiac Officer Completes Half of Traffic Course

Sgt. Lawrence E. LaBair of the Pontiac Police Dept. is one of 30 students in a traffic police administration course at Northwestern University who have reached the mid-point mark in their studies.

The police officers, selected from city, state and county departments throughout the nation, have just completed the first half of their nine-month training program at Northwestern University's Traffic Institute in Evanston, Ill.

All men in the program hold supervisory and administrative ranks in police service. Together they represent departments in 16 states, Colombia, and the Philippines.

The training program began last September and will be completed June 15.

Postman Chased, Hit, Run Over by His Motorcycle

HONOLULU (AP)—If you let it, a motorcycle will walk all over you.

This was learned ruefully by postman Jerry Doi Wednesday while he dismounted to empty a curbside box. His three wheeler took off by itself, leaped the curb, chased him onto a lawn and then ran over his leg. And where did it happen?

Bette Davis Suffers Again as 'Wagon Train' Widow

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bette Davis, love her, may well be the champeen sufferer of or time.

She is an actress of skill, a magnificent manufacturer of agony, anguish and the clonic spasm who wastes herself too often on mechanical squishers. I suspect she may have been the star pupil at some early version of Actortured Studio.

Last night, Miss Davis joined Wagon Train and that NBC-TV western really strapped her to a juicy rack. A widder woman who had lost her husband rather suddenly—"one night he had a stomach ache and the next he was dead"—she was set adrift on the plains last night with seven children, several horses and Ward Bond.

This presented a handful of problems complicated to some extent by the fact that her oldest daughter was being pursued by a young man on the train and her youngest son was a deaf-mute. And as if this wasn't enough, Miss Davis was informed midway in the plot that she had an incurable disease which would pop her off the planet before the end commercial.

Well, naturally it all worked out pretty well except for Miss Davis who died, but I imagine she's pretty used to that sort of thing by now. Miss Davis, I should add, turned in a good performance.

Our leader, Elvis, spoke from West Germany yesterday via transatlantic phone on the ABC-TV American Bandstand show. Elvis accepted two awards from emcee Dick Clark—for favorite male vocalist and favorite 1958 record, "One Night"—and I guess even the good conduct medal will seem like an anti-climax now.

Elvis reported he was studying map reading, but after he gets off work he practices his music. He said he was glad to be doing his bit, but he sure is looking forward to returning home. Obviously, we can all rest easy. Western defense is in good hands.

CBS-TV's Armstrong Circle Theater dramatized the 1958 Nova Scotia mine disaster last night. "Miracle At Springhill Mine" it was called and although it was a trifle slow, it was also a painfully moving drama.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: NBC-TV's George Gobel will give way on March 31 to two new half-hour series, Pete Kelly's Blues and a Jimmie Rodgers music show. . . NBC-TV is axing Haggis Baggis in April in favor of the Court of Human Relations. Starting next Monday Dennis James will replace Fred Robbins as emcee of Haggis Baggis for the rest of its run.

NBC-TV will start the Steve Allen show a half hour earlier beginning March 15, getting a 30-minute jump on CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan. The Allen shift means the junking of NBC-TV's Buddy Bregman show. . Marge and Gower Champion and Herb Shriner are set as stars of the first CBS-TV Coca Cola spec on March 30.

Perry Como is quite close to signing a deal which would see him take over the Wednesday night NBC-TV Kraft Music Hall next fall. If Como shifts, his Saturday night slot on NBC-TV may go to either Jack Paar or Dean Martin.

Convoy Drivers Suspect Plot

Believe Reds Set Up Incident in Germany on Purpose

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—The drivers of a U.S. Army convoy held by the Russians for more than 30 hours said today they got the impression the Soviets had deliberately set up the incident in advance.

Specialist Elwood F. Johnson of Brooklyn, N.Y., acting as spokesman for the four drivers, said he couldn't explain their feeling, but "we got the impression it was prearranged."

"Within minutes of arriving at Marienborn we realized trouble was brewing up," he told a news conference at this Iron Curtain border town. The conference was held before the drivers and their four trucks resumed their interrupted journey from West Berlin to Mannheim, in West Germany.

Cpl. Richard C. Masiero of Stockbridge, Mass., the convoy commander, had returned to Berlin.

Soviet border guards halted the convoy Monday at the Marienborn checkpoint because Masiero had refused to permit an inspection of its cargo of broken-down jeeps. The convoy was released without an inspection late Wednesday after strong U.S. protests, including one from President Eisenhower.

Johnson added that it was his third convoy from Berlin and when they set off, "I had a feeling something would happen, but I didn't know the Russians would pick on my convoy."

Ava Gardner Not Worrying Trabert's Wife

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The wife of tennis star Tony Trabert says she isn't concerned over reports linking her husband with movie actress Ava Gardner.

"Tony is very upset," said Shauna Trabert, a former beauty queen here. "He just wrote another letter hoping everything was all right and hoping I would understand . . . which I do."

★ ★ ★
