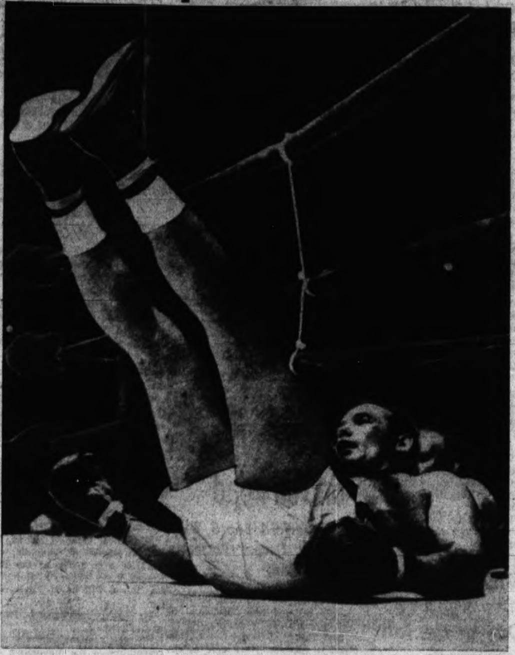
A Champion Falls — Hard



AP Photofax

"AND INGO'S DOWN!"—Ingemar Johansson shows how a champion falls — hard. This was his first trip to the canvas in the fifth round of last night's title fight at New York's Polo Grounds. Floyd Patterson saw Johansson recover from this toppling. But when the Swede got up, Patterson loosed more artillery and knocked the champ cold, to become the first boxer ever to recapture the heavyweight crown.

Ingo's Rarin' to Go, but NBA Says No

From Our News Wires

NEW YORK — Ingemar Johansson awoke refreshed to a less gloomy world today and proclaimed he wanted a rematch with Floyd Patterson — "the sooner the better."

But the National Boxing Assn. threw up a roadblock to the dethroned champion's ambitions.

NBA President Tony Maceroni said the organization wouldn't approve a third Patterson-Johansson fight because of the very definite fashion in which Patterson showed his superiority last night.

A slightly puffed eye was the only visible mark on him following the stunning fifth round knockout at New York's Polo Grounds.

"Patterson was fresher and stronger this time," Johansson said. "He caught me with a good punch and that was that.

"Maybe next time it will be different."

The new champion had done what no other heavyweight could do before, win back a crown he'd lost.

Patterson was quick to point out his willingness for a rematch within 90 days. "I'll live up to our contract for a rubber match. I always keep my word."

Jack Fugazy, promoter of last night's fight, said Feature Sports, Inc., would like to promote the bout "within 120 days" but in some other city, unless New York's police commissioner could provide better protection for the promoters and fans.

A swarm estimated at more than 5,000 rushed into the ball park free after smashing three gates.

Johansson, the stricken ex-champion, did not speak as confidently or as cockily as in the past but there was no mistaking the fact that he looked forward eagerly to a third encounter with the only man who has ever beaten him in 24 fights.

"I always said that anything can happen in a fight," Ingo said with a sad smile. "And this time it happened the better for him. The next time it can be my turn."

Nixon Predicts to Year 2,000

'We'll Stay Ahead of Reds'

Let Khrushchev Boast, He Tells Jaycee Group

Says Government Must Aid When Job Too Big for Private Capital

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today that despite Premier Nikita Khrushchev's boasts, this country should stay well ahead of the Soviet Union economically through the year 2000.

In a speech delivered at the 40th annual convention of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, Nixon said:

"Mr. Krushchev boasts that he will catch us and pass us economically in seven or 10 years. By any projection that can be applied, there is not a possibility that the Soviet economy will overtake our own at any time in this century."

Nixon said this government, to prevent lopsided growth, should help out whenever the job was too big for private industry.

"We must not hesitate," said the man who expects to be the Republican candidate for president, "to resort to government action where it provides the best road to progress."

This was billed by Nixon as a major speech on this nation's economic growth. But, typical of speeches at this stage of the presidential campaign, Nixon offered few specifics.

Mostly the vice president hit out at critics of the administration who say the Soviet Union is growing at a much faster rate than is the United States—and that the government should take steps to correct this lag.

"The critics," Nixon said, "argue that if we would just adopt their pet economic philosophy we too would grow like the Soviets. They invited us to join them in playing what is rapidly becoming the most fashionable political parlor game of our time—a game we might well call 'growthmanship'."

It's unfair, Nixon said, to compare the two systems. The Soviets he said, are rebuilding after the war. "Their economy is still primitive," he said, "in comparison with our own."

He took a dim view of those who say the nation is more interested in tail fins than in more solid economic growth.

Herter Admits 'We Misjudged' Japanese Riots

Tells Senate Group 'Didn't Expect Mobs of Such Magnitude'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said today "we misjudged" the riotous situation in Japan which led to the Tokyo government's humiliating withdrawal of its invitation for a visit from President Eisenhower.

Herter was quizzed by a Senate appropriations subcommittee as to why Eisenhower hadn't canceled his plans to visit Japan instead of letting the affair develop as it did.

To many of the questions, Herter pleaded he did not want to discuss internal Japanese affairs in public.

But he acknowledged the State Department didn't expect the rioting to be so drawn out or the mobs to be of such great magnitude.

"So your judgment was poor?" asked Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

"Yes, we misjudged that," Herter replied.

Johnson said that Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, had sounded warnings about Eisenhower's proceeding with the visit to Japan.

"Their recommendations were rejected?" asked Johnson.

"Yes," Herter said, adding he would go into it more fully in closed session.

"It is obvious our judgment was poor," Johnson said. "Was our information poor too?"

"No," Herter replied, adding that department was kept informed on a day by day basis. He said that whether the demonstrations by the rioters would increase had been anyone's guess.

POLICY EXAM

Herter was before the subcommittee to urge approval of his department's budget requests.

But it turned largely into an examination of Herter on foreign policy matters with Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, firing questions filled with implications or criticisms.

Herter also made it an occasion to plug again for quick Senate ratification of the U.S.-Japanese security pact. He said the sooner this is done, the better it will be.

The treaty was called up in the Senate today for a vote later this afternoon.

Nothing that has happened in Japan has changed the desirability of early ratification of the treaty, Herter said. Japanese ratification became effective Sunday.

Great to Be Back Home Again

ALOHA, IKE — Bearing friendly signs are a portion of the 100,000 Hawaiians who welcomed President Eisenhower back to U. S. soil. Shouts of "aloha" filled the air all along the 22-mile drive from the airport to Kaneohe. Clad in festive Hawaiian dress, the happy welcomers were a sharp contrast to the Japanese fanatics who kept the President out of their country during his trip to the Far East.

Ike 'Clubs' His Way Back From Weariness

Eisenhower was admittedly exhausted when he arrived from Korea in this new 50th state at midday Monday. Nevertheless, he lost little time in turning to his favorite outdoor recreation.

The President took a brief nap and then played nine holes of golf on a sunny, breeze-cooled course at the edge of the blue Pacific.

The temperature was in the mid-80s but there was none of the mugginess he had encountered almost everywhere on his tour to the Philippines, Nationalist China, Okinawa and Korea.

Today, Eisenhower arranged a morning round of golf, starting about 8 a.m. over the same course at the Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station where he plans to relax for perhaps the rest of the week before flying home to Washington.

Warmly applauding Hawaiians shouted the traditional welcome of the islands, "aloha," as the President stepped smilingly from his big jet airliner.

They kept it up all the way along the populated section of his 22-mile motorcade across this beautiful island to Kaneohe.

Thousands of women on streets lined with palm trees were in gay-colored muumuus. Others were in shorts or bathing suits, and a great many of the men wore gaudy sports shirts.

Eisenhower came back to his own country with fresh memories of tumultous welcomes everywhere he went in the Orient.

There was one marked touch of anti-Americanism in the countries he has visited. That came in Okinawa, under U. S. administrative control since World War II, where about 1,500 student demonstrators yelled, "Yankee go home," and demanded that the islands be returned to Japan.

That happened Sunday, the day the President originally had been scheduled to arrive in Tokyo for a three-day visit. The Japan stop was canceled when the Japanese government decided its police could not protect Eisenhower from left-wing rioters.

Gas Price Probe Nixed

Meeting Lights Fire Under Move to Revise Laws, Map

Township Clerk James E. Seeterlin started the ball rolling by telling Board members that immediate action is needed, and "We've already waited too long on one of the most essential projects in the township."

Unsuspecting residents have purchased homes on commercially zoned property and any type of business could begin operation on vacant lots between the houses, he said.

In one instance, Seeterlin cited an area on Williams Lake road from the Pontiac Lake school to Hatchery road that despite being zoned commercial, has had expensive homes built all along the area.

The question of just who would assume the responsibility of the zoning map revision was batted around between Board members. Discussed was everything from a vote of the people, a paid consultant and a planning commission to putting the task back into the laps of the Township Zoning Board.

Seeterlin said, "I don't care how we do this but I want to see some action on this right now."

Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson disagreed on moving too fast, saying:

"I feel that a planning commission should be hired to review and study this problem. I can't find time to get involved in this. We should have trained planners on the job."

City Readies 2nd Bid for Federal Urban Aid

City Hall officials today were ready to bid for a second time for federal help in redeveloping the southwest section of downtown Pontiac.

They have ready for City Commission study an application for advance federal funds to plan a second urban renewal project.

The Commission is expected to approve the application tonight. It would go to the Chicago regional offices of the Urban Renewal Administration and the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The city is asking for $76,000 to finance a 12-month plan involving extensive land clearance in the 20-acre triangle bounded by Saginaw, Pike and the Grand Trunk Railroad.

This area was once proposed as part of the city's first urban renewal project, but was trimmed by the federal government two years ago.

Only commercial frontage on the west side of Saginaw was okayed by federal agencies.

"In effect, we are trying to restore the boundaries of the original project," explained Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator.

At present, it's estimated that the gross project cost would hit around $2,775,000 — including an estimated $1,731,000 for property acquisition and $686,000 for such public improvements as the proposed downtown loop highway and Clinton River tunnel.

NET COST $1.6 MILLION

Estimating that resale of land to commercial developers would bring in about $1,094,000, planners figure that the net cost of the project would range around $1,680,000.

The federal government would pay two-thirds of the net cost (tentatively figured at $1,120,000) and the city one-third ($560,000).

The city's share would be in the form of public improvements, such as the loop highway and the tunnel.

Data for the application was put together by Geer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Birmingham, the city's planning consultants.

Some of the information came from extensive studies made by the city planning staff in 1958 for the first urban renewal project, said Stierer.

The studies showed that of the

Senate Votes for Tax Hikes

Added Levies Would Bring in $650 Million; Present 'Bites' Kept

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has ended its annual tax fight by voting to increase revenues rather than cut them as it did a year ago.

The tax bill, passed 84-0 Monday night, not only extended present rates on corporation income and excise taxes yielding 41 billion dollars, but added on an estimated 650 million of additional revenues.

President Eisenhower had asked extension of present taxes for another year.

A worsening international situation combined with recent Senate votes to increase money for defense, health research, education and federal pay led the Senate to swell the Treasury's income in the bill.

The 650 million was added through adoption of three of a series of what their sponsors called loophole-closing amendments advocated by Democrats seeking to avoid a tag of fiscal irresponsibility for their party.

The fate of these in conference with the House is dubious, since that branch had given advance notice it was not inclined to accept any tax amendments.

The House originates revenue legislation under the Constitution.

These were the loophole amendments adopted by the Senate:

By Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn), to repeal the 4 per cent tax credit on stock dividend income, bringing in 350 million a year.

By Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa), to outlaw many entertainment items now eligible as business deductions, bringing in 260 million annually.

By Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn), to provide that the percentage depletion allowance may apply only to the raw mineral value and not the finished product.

This would cut off a present 50-

Overcast Welcomes Summer

Summer officially arrived today — and with it comes a forecast of mostly cloudy skies and occasional showers late this afternoon and tonight.

A few thundershowers are possible tonight and tomorrow in the Pontiac area, the weatherman says.

The low tonight is expected to be 60 degrees. Tomorrow the mercury will climb to a fair 75.

Taking a long look ahead at this first week of summer, the weatherman predicts rain again about Saturday, with temperatures averaging near the normal high of 80 and low of 60.

Winds at 10 this morning were recorded at 10 m.p.h. from the southeast. East to southeast winds will increase to 12 to 18 m.p.h. tonight.

The thermometer read 58 at 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 2 p.m. the temperature rose to 74 degrees.

Courthouse Ceremony Monday

Plan Cornerstone Laying

Oakland County will write another chapter in its history next Monday.

As workmen continue to move ahead higher above ground on the county's new and long-awaited courthouse, four county officials will use a specially-donated trowel to seal in a 16-12-by-12-inch copper box in a cornerstone.

Officials planning the 2 p.m. ceremony hope county citizens will attend the historical ceremony.

It was 56 years ago, back in 1904, when earlier residents gathered at the corner of Saginaw and Huron streets to seal up a box in the present downtown courthouse.

For Monday's ceremony there will be bands, flags, speeches—and most of all—an historical moment or two to remember in the county's endeavors to provide governmental services for its citizens.

Scheduled speakers will be former Oakland County Congressman George A. Dondero; former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, a resident of Bloomfield Township; Chief Justice John R. Dethmers of the State Supreme Court; and Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston.

Officials are still collecting material to place in the cornerstone box, which will go in the southwest corner of the $3,000,000 building.

Reception to previous invitations extended to countywide organizations to have a list of their officers placed in the box has not been too good, according to Robert E. Lilly, secretary of the Board of Auditors. Only one has been received. That was from the Bemis-Olsen Post of the Amvets.

"We expect more before we seal up the box Friday," Lilly said.

County officials also will store in the box county directories from 1929 through the present, pictures of the present courthouse, office building and prosecutor's annex (the former jail), and the current budget and annual financial report of the county.

Police Get Misleading Tip

Fire Spurs Vain Search

A late-model car caught fire on Woodward avenue at Cranbrook road during yesterday's heavy 5 p. m. traffic. When Bloomfield Hills police arrived at the scene, the occupants were nowhere around.

An unidentified motorist who had stopped to see what was happening told police he saw three teen-agers run from the burning car.

Thinking the "three teen-agers" might be a trio sought for area burglaries, sheriff's deputies joined in the investigation.

After more than an hour of poking into shrubbery and peering around trees, they gave up the search.

At the same time, Bloomfield Hills Public Safety Director Robert Stadler received a call from an old friend, D. H. Keller, head of plant protection for Chrysler Corp.

He said his daughter and two of her teen-age girl friends were driving down Woodward avenue when hot ashes from the car's cigarette lighter fell between the upholstery.

By the time they could pull the car out of the heavy traffic, it was too late to extinguish the fire. A friend spotted them on the roadside and provided a ride home.

Bloomfield Hills firemen extinguished the blaze, but the car is probably a total loss, according to Stadler.

ship Board sent the zoning board a report on the zoning ordinances, with recommended revisions providing mainly that commercial zoning be placed in two categories.

"Even those revisions are now out of date due to the increased population," Seeterlin said.

Most of the township Board members blamed the zoning board for not making annual revisions to the zoning map, as required by law. The ordinance was set up in 1950 and has not been reviewed or changed, except through individuals requesting rezoning changes, it was pointed out.

A meeting between the township Board and the zoning board has been set for July 13.

3 May Join Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI)—Preliminary balloting for New York University's Hall of Fame for Great Americans today showed inventor Thomas Alva Edison, author Henry David Thoreau and social worker Jane Addams in the lead.

The vote was taken among members of the committee of 21, a group of prominent Americans which makes recommendations to the Hall of Fame's 147-member college of electors.

Electors are allowed to choose no more than seven winners, and elections are held just once in five years.

Any United States citizens dead at least 25 years are eligible for consideration. NYU said final results will be announced Nov. 1.

OVER HALF SUPPORT

Edison, Thoreau and Miss Addams each received the support of more than half the members of the committee of 21, which includes such persons as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, scientist Robert Oppenheimer and theologian Reinhold Niebuhr.

Loses Appeal for Ballot Note

Election Commissioners Turn Down Plea by Southfield Candidate

A Republican candidate's request that he have a special designation under his name on the Aug. 2 primary ballot to avoid a possible mixup has been denied by the Oakland County Board of Election Commissioners.

Arthur C. Becker of 25275 Kildare St., Southfield, petitioned the commissioners last week for the designation, "printing executive," so his last name wouldn't be confused by voters with another candate, Raymond L. Baker, a Berkley druggist.

Both Becker and Baker are seeking the Republican nomination for state representative from District 4.

Commissioners rejecting the plea were Daniel T. Murphy Jr., clerk-register; Charles A. Sparks, treasurer; and George F. Taylor, prosecutor.

FILLS IN FOR MOORE

Taylor was named to fill in for regular commissioner Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

"We rejected the request on the grounds that there was not enough similiarity of names," Murphy said.

Becker could not be reached immediately to learn whether he'd appeal the ruling to Circuit Court.

Suspect Held in Dixie Highway Station Robbery

An hour after the Waterford Township police discovered a break-in early today at Bud's Highway Service Station at 4450 Dixie Highway, Ferndale police advised the township officers they had picked up a suspect with two guns, stolen from the service station.

Ferndale police said Donald F. Dewey of Detroit was speeding when they stopped him. The two guns were sticking out of his coat pockets, they said. They are holding him for Waterford Township police.

Patrolmen Charles Griffiths and Merrille Finkle discovered a broken rear window in the service station at 3:30 a.m.

Wheat or Barley on Mackie's Back 40?

'Farmer' in Clear on Quota

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Highway Commissioner John Mackie and Uncle Sam, partners in road building, are at odds again over farmer Mackie's "back 40."

Mackie, who last year lost a disagreement over how much wheat he planted, appeared today to have won a disagreement on what he planted.

Official records list Mackie's 14.7 acre barley crop among the 117,668 wheat crops in Michigan — a state where Dowagiac chicken farmer Stanley Yankus Jr. defied the wheat quota before moving to Australia.

Mackie, an ex-surveyor, whose department ranks second among the states building interstate highways, plowed under eight-tenths of an acre of wheat last summer to avoid a $372 fine for exceeding the marketing quota.

Mackie insisted that federal agencies used "guesswork" in measuring his 1959 crop.

He said they guessed wrong in identifying his 1960 crop.

The boss of Michigan's largest state agency said he "got fed up" with all the red tape last summer after his first fling at farming.

"So I planted barley instead of wheat last fall," he said. "The next thing I know the ASC (Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Agency) tells me I'm growing wheat again."

"And on top of that, I keep getting all kinds of forms for wheat farmers."

The state ASC office said the matter was in the hands of the Ingham County ASC office. The county office said it got its report from an inspector who looked at Mackie's crop Nov. 24, 1959.

"It looked like wheat last fall," said the inspector, retired Okemos farmer O. J. Becker.

Mackie's wife Kay said she doubted "the government would ever admit it's wrong."

The state office, the county office and the inspector said a mistake, although unlikely, was possible.

"We can re-check," said William J. Crampton, county ASC manager. "It really doesn't make much difference. As long as it is under 15 acres he is in the clear."

Mackie lost his $5 last year when he demanded a re-measurement after the government said he planted more than 15 acres of wheat on his 80-acre farm near Holt.

"They were not accurate within 10 per cent," the rebel farmer said.

Inspector Becker said Mackie should forget about farming.

"He doesn't need these crops," he said. "He's got a job."

Pauling Is Asked Friends' Names

Scientist Hesitates to Put Any on Spot Who Were for N-Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Linus Pauling expressed concern today over a request by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to name fellow scientists who helped him campaign against nuclear weapons tests.

The world-famed scientist said he feared they "would be subpoenaed before this committee and subjected to the treatment to which I have been subjected." He did not elaborate on what treatment he had in mind.

"I don't want to hide anybody," he said, and finally agreed to decide during a lunch recess whether to comply with a request for names.

Pauling said his decision would be reached in consultation with A. L. Wiran, bearded Los Angeles attorney accompanying him.

The subcommittee is looking into propaganda campaigns against nuclear testing, particularly whether Communists are involved.

Dodd told Pauling "there is nothing hostile to you at all" in the fact he was called for questioning.

Young Milford Deer Kicks Heels at Law

With a total disregard for the law, a hard-nosed young doe dealt an estimated $250 blow to one of Milford's new police cars early today on Commerce road near Burns road, Milford Township.

The deer jumped up and vanished into the woods, said Patrolman Chester W. Hickmott, 996 Dyron Dr., Milford.

Hickmott said he was traveling east at about 30 m.p.h. when the deer suddenly jumped and bashed in the left front fender and door of the new patrol car.

China Belches Anti-U.S. Week

Calls Ike Vicious Wolf, God of Plague, Slinking Rat, Laughing Stock

TOKYO (AP)—Red China today launched an "anti-U.S. imperialist propaganda week" keyed to its furious campaign of vituperation against President Eisenhower.

Drumming put its main theme—that Eisenhower's Asian good will tour was a flop—the campaign went into high gear at mass rallies across China.

Peiping radio said millions of Chinese were screaming denunciations of the American president.

Eisenhower was described as the "chieftain of U. S. imperialism," the "god of plague" and the "vicious wolf of Western imperialism."

Newspapers, radio stations, posters on sidewalk bulletin boards and public address systems piped into every town and village square blared their message of hate against the United States in general and Eisenhower in particular.

'ENDS IN FAILURE'

The Communist New China News Agency said "everywhere he went he was like a rat scurrying down the street with the people shouting 'kill it.' "

Eisenhower, it said, "made a laughing stock of himself and was condemned everywhere."

Nixons Observe 20th Wedding Day on the Job

It isn't at all surprising that they're spending the day on the campaign trail.

The team of "Pat and Dick"—well known on the American political scene — was launched June 21, 1940 with their marriage at the Mission Inn, Riverside, Calif.

million Treasury loss. The potential cost of this loophole has been estimated at 600 million annually if the Supreme Court upholds lower court decisions and more businesses take advantage of the rulings.

The bill extends for another year the corporation income tax and excises on liquor, wine, beer, cigarettes, autos, and auto parts and accessories.

These all are Korean War rates. They have been extended each year since 1954.

The bill also continues for another year 10 per cent levies on local telephone service, telegrams and passenger fares made effective during World War II.

The Senate Finance Committee had recommended these be allowed to die June 30, at a cost of 752 million a year.

When in strange country at night you may be lucky enough to fall in behind a native who knows the road or whose slowing down and speeding up fit conditions neatly, suggesting a smart driver. If his pace is reasonably close to the speed you hope to make, stay behind him. When his stop lights go on it tips you off that you are going to have to slow down. When you see him begin to turn you know there is a curve ahead. His headlights may pick up a pedestrian you will be glad to know about.

The Day in Birmingham

Awards One-Year Pact for Ambulance Service

BIRMINGHAM — A one-year contract for ambulance service was renewed by the City Commission last night with Birmingham Ambulance Service.

The city will pay $450 a month for the service. The Birmingham company was the only one to submit bids.

Had a three-year contract been entered into, the service would have been provided for $400 a month. The ambulance company must furnish a $5,000 performance bond.

The Commission also authorized sale of equipment used at the sewage treatment plant to the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

OPERATION TO END

The sale was agreed upon since it is anticipated that the treatment plant will be taken out of operation shortly after the Evergreen interceptor goes into operation next month.

The lot is between Taunton and Emmons streets and west of Torry street.

Gare told the Commission the lot had been a problem for years, since it is not adapted for a building site, but with a small amount of fill the property could be used as a play area for neighborhood children.

Two men charged with robbing a Woodward avenue gasoline station yesterday evening were held today in Oakland County Jail.

Bloomfield Township police arrested Melvin Hatchett, 24, of Pontiac, and Stancle Pillow, 33, of Detroit, shortly after the robbery was reported at 7:15 p.m.

The station attendant told police the men stole $70 from the cash register as he was gassing up their car.

Rezones 2 Lots on Tull Road

Waterford Board Busy With License Requests and Bids

Two lots on Tull road, off M59, were rezoned from residential to commercial for a parking lot at last night's Waterford Township Board meeting. There were no objectors at the hearing.

Because of complaints from residents living in the Telegraph road, Dixie Highway area, the Board issued a temporary license to the Everette Equipment Co. to operate small cars on a blacktopped track at the corner of the two highways.

Owner of the six-car operation, Carlton Everette told the Board that his 6-cylinder cars now have special mufflers, and that the noise practically has been eliminated. The probationary license will expire in 10 days.

Township Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson was authorized to deputize veterinarians in the township so they can issue dog licenses.

The Board also approved a request of Martin Wilton to work as a probationary volunter member of the fire department.

Two bids for workmen's liability compensation insurance were opened and tabled for consideration. Alfred Pauli representing the Hartford Insurance Co. submitted a bid of $4,388 and George Scantland of Michigan Mutual submitted a bid of $5,873. Both have blanket coverage for all township workers.

44 buildings in the area, 39 were deteriorated or deteriorating.

"The majority of these would be purchased and leveled," said Stierer.

Only two residential buildings are in the area, so family relocation would not be a problem if the project goes through, Stierer said.

It's estimated the federal government would have to put up $112,000 to aid in relocation of commercial business. This wouldn't be part of the project cost.

The mayor's steering committee for downtown redevelopment and leaders of the downtown redevelopment group have expressed enthusiasm about the plan, Stierer said.

"It would definitely tie in with what we are planning on Saginaw street in our present urban renewal project."

Stierer has already made public that the city would like to acquire and clear the entire, 7½-acre block bounded by Saginaw, Pike, Cass and Patterson as the site of a big downtown shopping center.

Location of a big shopping center downtown would spur redevelopment throughout the central business district, according to leaders of the mayor's redevelopment committee.

Stierer explained that the first urban renewal project east of down town is considered a residential undertaking. The Saginaw-Pike-Grand Trunk railroad triangle was predominantly commercial he said.

Last year, however, Congress provided in the housing acts that up to 20 per cent of urban renewal funds could be used for commercial redevelopment.

The city is trying to get a slice of this 20 per cent, Stierer said.

New Dearborn City Stymied by Inkster

DEARBORN (AP)—Voters in Dearborn Township approved a proposal to incorporate the township as the City of Dearborn Heights yesterday but Inkster officials have blocked the way.

The new city would include a ⅝ square mile section of Inkster connecting its two divided sections. Inkster officials have taken the case to court.

Circuit Judge Carl Weideman ordered the ballots impounded until he rules on the Inkster petition to halt the election.

Air Line Pilots Return to Work

Union, Court Pressure Felt by Wildcatters at Eastern; Pan Am Hit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eastern Air Lines pilots were returning to work today, under pressure from their union and the courts to end a crippling, 10-day-old wildcat strike.

A National Airlines strike set for tonight was averted when the union agreed to resume contract negotiations with management with a federal mediator sitting in.

A wave of sick reports by pilots continued to hamper operations of Pan American World Airways.

Eastern said 35 of its Miami pilots telephoned for flight orders Monday night. The line said the break "sounds very encouraging."

Eastern's flights out of Miami dwindled from a normal 55 daily to none when pilots struck at midnight June 10 in protest to federal flight check inspectors' sitting in third-pilot seats. Two to seven flights took off from Miami in the past three days. A federal judge ordered all pilots back to work, but Eastern's dispatchers couldn't reach most of the fliers to give them assignments.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. (ALPA), which said it had not sanctioned the walkoff, ordered pilots back to Eastern cockpits Monday saying "anarchy is not the answer" to the pilots troubles. A U.S. Appeals Court Judge in New Orleans turned the ALPA down on a request to stay a Miami back-to-work injunction.

Jailed in Air Crash on Murder Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard E. Loomis was in jail today, charged with murdering James Keith Gibbs by sabotaging a plane they bought as partners.

Loomis was charged in the district attorney's complaint Monday with conspiring with Gibbs to crash the war surplus British Mosquito bomber three years ago and collect $50,000 in insurance. The complaint said Loomis rigged the plane so that Gibbs could not parachute to safety.

Anthony Nutting Pushing Movie

Ex-British Official Turns Press Agent

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—To the possible bewilderment of some high government dignitaries here and abroad, Anthony Nutting — the gauntly handsome ex-British minister of state—has turned into a movie press agent in New York.

Press agentry is an honorable and well-paid profession. But for Nutting, who only four year ago was number two man in the British foreign office, who made world headlines by resigning (in autumn '56) in protest against his country's attack on Egypt, it might easily be looked upon as "below his dignity."

"No, no, no," he shuddered when such an idea was suggested. 'It's a reincarnation for me, I'll admit. But I wouldn't do it if it were 'below my dignity.'

"This doesn't mean I'm going into the movie business for all time. I'm very happy with this job because of the subject matter of the movie" (which is "Lawrence of Arabia") "and I suppose that's why I was chosen to do public relations for the picture—because I've been involved with the Arabs. I know their leaders. We get along.

"You know I've spent a great deal of time in the Middle East during the last three years."

When he resigned from high office in protest against England's attack on Egypt over the Suez crisis, Nutting recalled, he was "terribly troubled."

"It was a kind of desperate moment—personal loyalties tearing against loyalty to principles. But I had to clear my own position. So what do you do next?

"Fortunately, I was given the opportunity to write." A U.S. syndicate invited him to do a series of articles on the crisis in the Middle East. "I had the decision whether to write angrily about the past or constructively about the future. Then I went into the desert and found out . . . it's a peculiar form of therapy.

"The trouble about being a writer, even a journalist with an assignment such as mine, is that—after government service with its massive support—it's a lonely life. I sought the companionship of the desert which, by its very nature, makes you feel less alone.

"You walk along and you meet a man tending a goat. He's eating a great soggy goat-meat sandwich and he will say, as you're passing by, 'Please join me.' You don't have to ask for a piece of sandwich, he offers it.

"It's unbelievable," Nutting said philosophically. "I went there with all the argument about whose bit of Berlin belongs to whom raging behind me—and I asked the sheik who was my guide which side of the border we were on: Lebanon or Syria?'

"He said, 'I'm not quite sure. Does it matter?' "

An understanding sprang up between Nutting and the desert peoples. "I realized there was no sense of writing in anger. I realized that one might ultimately escape from the past, but one cannot escape the future."

BEULAH (AP) — The Ann Arbor Railroad depot, a landmark more than 50 years at Beulah, has been sold and is being wrecked for salvage material.

Swim, Play Ball at Waterford

Plan Recreation Classes

Accenting June as National Recreation Month, the Waterford Township Recreation Board has set up a summer program filled with interesting and informative activities, according to Erwin Greer, chairman of the board.

The formulation of summer programs follows completion of the most successful winter programs ever sponsored by the board, according to Thomas Belton, director.

Eighteen major programs were conducted with an estimated 3,000 individuals taking part. Programs with the largest participation were Saturday morning gym, crafts and ballet. About 500 children participated in each class.

Thirty summer fulltime staff employes will direct five major programs.

Ten teams of men's fast pitch softball have been registered, with games played in the evenings at Drayton Ball Park. Eight teams are registered in the blooperball league designed for players over thirty years of age.

Softball for boys 12 years old and under began today. Three baseball divisions will be conducted this year and eight teams have been registered in both leagues for boys of 15 years or less. Four teams are registered in the 18-year-old and under division.

Softball and baseball games for boys will be conducted at area fields in the evenings and on Saturdays. Forty-six men and boys softball and baseball teams will be playing weekly games this summer.

Supervised playground activity will begin Monday and continue through Aug. 12. Children will participate in arts and crafts, athletics, quiet games and have special projects such as pet shows bicycle parades, hobo hikes and dramatics. Programs will be conducted at nine elementary schools in the township.

One of the most important recreation programs scheduled is the swimming instruction given by qualified Red Cross instructors, with lifeguards on duty at all times.

Separate classes will get under way at five area lakes for beginners, intermediates, junior and senior swimmers. This program will also start Monday.

A special adult class will be held at Pontiac Lake from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturdays.

"The main concern of our board is to promote the leisure time needs of Waterford Township citizens," Greer said. "It is hoped that at least one member of each family will benefit from our program this summer."

Philadelphia Mourns Loss of Grace Kelly's Father

JOHN B. KELLY SR.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thousands of persons today joined government and civic leaders in mourning the death of John B. Kelly Sr., father of Princess Grace of Monaco and a self-made man who achieved success and prominence in many ventures.

The 70-year-old businessman, noted civic leader and former Olympic champion oarsman, died Monday in his home of intestinal cancer. He received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church. His wife, two other daughters and his only son, John B. Jr., were at his bedside.

Princess Grace, the former Grace Kelly who won fame in Hollywood as a movie actress, had flown here from Monaco to be with her father when he underwent abdominal surgery for the second time within a year. After he was discharged from the hospital last week, she returned to Monaco.

FLY BACK TODAY

The princess and Prince Rainier plan to fly today to Philadelphia following a memorial mass in the private chapel of the Monaco palace.

In France where he is vacationing, Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia said: "His contributions and his sincere devotion to the life of the city in many fields have left a lasting imprint."

Kelly was president of the Atlantic City Racing Assn. and the Philadelphia Fairmount Park Commission.

Kelly also was active in politics. In 1935 he ran for mayor of Philadelphia on the Democratic ticket but lost to Mayor S. Davis Wilson.

New Flags Will Go to Home Folk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of 50-star flags will zip up and down Capitol flagpoles on July 4.

Crews will send the flags up and pull them down to meet the requests of congressmen, who want to send the new flags to their constituents.

It's a special honor to have a flag that flew over the Capitol on July 4. And there's a special demand this year because July 4 will be the day the 50-star flag becomes official.

Last Independence Day, congressmen, who pay for the flags, asked to have 1,200 new, 49-star flags flown over the Capitol. No one is sure exactly how many requests will be made this year. But it will be in the thousands.

Capitol architect J. George Stewart has assigned two crews of 30 men each to do the hoisting and lowering and has ordered the construction of 15 temporary flag poles on the Capitol roof.

Prison Inmate Insane, Psychiatrists Rule

JACKSON (AP)—A young Southern Michigan Prison inmate accused of murder in the fatal stabbing of a prison aide was ruled insane Monday by a psychiatric board.

Circuit Judge John C. Dalton ordered Percy Robertson transferred from the prison to the Ionia State Hospital for the criminally insane.

Roberson was accused of stabbing Bernard Fancher, 40, assistant prison athletic director, with a home made knife in April. Prison officials said Roberson told of a grudge against Fancher.

Roberson was serving life for murder when Fancher was killed.

Reds Are Called Guilty of Genocide in Tibet

GENEVA (UPI) — Communist China was guilty of systematic extermination or genocide in Tibet in an attempt to destroy the Tibetan people as a religious group, the International Commission of Jurists said Monday.

The commission's legal inquiry committee also found that the Communist Chinese authorities in Tibet violated most of the Rights laid down in the United Nations declaration of human rights — including the right to life itself.

Japan Torn Between U.S., Reds; East-West Position Cause of Riots

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese educator has blamed Tokyo's Leftist riots on his countrymen's position in the East-West struggle.

Dr. Masatoshi Matsushita, president of Rikkyo (St. Paul's) University, an American - supported Christian institution, said the Japanese know their postwar prosperity is based on U.S. aid but they cannot ignore geographical nearness to the Communist orbit.

"There are many people who think it may be better at this time to leave the United States, which is far away, and get closer to the neighboring and powerful Soviet Union and Communist China," he asserted.

Matsuhhita made the comments in an article for the newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun. A former law student at Johns Hopkins and Columbia universities, he served as assistant defense counsel for Gen. Hideki Tojo at the international military war crimes tribunal after World War II.

In his article Matsushita blames prime minister Nobusuke Kishi's conservative government for being too preoccupied with Japan's economic rehabilitation to sympathize with the feelings of national insecurity of many Japanese.

* * *

"Therefore, Japan's intelligentsia . . . though fully benefiting from this economic prosperity, has been instinctively antagonistic to the government, ruling party and business circles and is in a psychological state where it wants to oppose everything," he asserted.

The educator also said his countrymen seem to have an "instinctive 'call of the blood' " for Red China.

He warned that if a lack of understanding between Kishi's government and the people continues, "there is the danger of a flareup in the 'call of the blood' adding to a racial struggle."

"I think the foreign policy of the government, ruling party and financial circles is basically correct," he said.

"Japan must not leave America. At the same time (it must) get close to Communist China, which America dislikes.

"It is impossible. I don't have a solution to offer. The only thing we can do is to recognize the impossible as the impossible and to understand the truth as it is."

Sam Demotes Lawmakers to the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is the House the lower chamber and the Senate the upper chamber?

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts take a dim view of those who think so. They say they don't consider it a promotion to move from the House to the Senate.

* * *

"Speaker Rayburn and I educate Democrats in the House," McCormack says. "But we sometimes demote them to the Senate to promote stability in that body."

Three Dems Agree on Primary Funds

Editors gathered at Gaylord for the annual Michigan Associated Press Editorial Assn. had the opportunity of hearing the three Democrats and single Republican seeking the keys to the governor's mansion.

Democrats Ed Conner, James Hare, and John Swainson pleading the cause of "party togetherness" after the primary, agreed not to be disagreeable, at least on the personality-side. No mudslinging in store, they said.

"Bloodletting in a primary is political suicide," HARE ventured. "I foresee a close Democratic victory in November, and we can lose it if we get into a public hassle."

They also spelled out for the first time their agreement on spending in the primary, again looking ahead to the morning of August 3, when one of their number will take up the battle with Bagwell.

Rather than tap the party cash sources too heavily for an all out primary battle, they want plenty of financial backing available for the final struggle.

After meeting with State Chairman NEIL STAEBLER and Gov. WILLIAMS, they came out with this formula: Sec. of State HARE can spend $25,000; Lt. Gov. SWAINSON has a $30,000 ceiling on his checkbook, and Detroit Common Council member CONNOR can dip down in his jeans until he has receipts for $35,000.

This doesn't mean they will spend that much, or even raise that much. The limit only applies to newspaper ads, radio, television and billboards, and can be terminated by notification to the other candidates.

Getting in on all the cash talk, BAGWELL said his books were wide open. Recalling that he spent less than $90,000 during his primary and general election drive two years ago, BAGWELL said he had planned to seek and spend $65,000 in a primary battle before his opponent State Senator CARLTON MORRIS dropped out of the race.

The GOP standard-bearer said he's spent $11,425 out of $15,000 he has available now. He took a leave of absence from his executive post at MSU, and a trust fund raised by a testimonial pays him reuglarly as he would have received his salary.

Catholic Priest Gives Definition of a Liberal

The PRESS just came across a Catholic priest's definition of a liberal: In part he says:

"A 'liberal' is one who favors bigger government at the expense of individual freedom. Thus he views with satisfaction the Federal Government's increasing intrusion in our private affairs. He enthusiastically endorses all 'welfare' legislation, though it threatens to stifle individual incentive and paves the way to statism and socialism. He promotes the idea of world government at the expense of national sovereignty.

"He regards the Constitution as an obsolete document which should be brought up to date—by the 'liberals,' of course. He favors curtailing big business, but sees nothing wrong in union monopoly and despotism. He upholds compulsory unionism, regardless of the moral problem involved, and frowns on right-to-work laws.

"He adopts an unrealistic approach to the gravest issue confronting us today, namely, the Communist menace. Thus he champions tolerance of subversives. He congratulates the Supreme Court when it rules in favor of Communists. He decries Congressional committees and the F.B.I. when they try to expose the enemies of our country.

* * *

"He demands more handouts to so-called 'neutralist' countries and even to Communist governments. He heartily approves of more 'cultural' exchanges with the Reds."

The good man continues in much greater detail, but this gives you a fairly good idea of what he has in mind.

IF YOU'RE a fairly good-looking boy in your upper teens, and you have an effective hog-calling voice and the ability to snap your fingers and strum a chord or two on a guitar, you can pass yourself off as a singer and make hatsful of money.

The Man About Town

A Queer Reception

And Advance Welcome for Arrival of Warm Season

Summer: A season that officially arrived this morning. Do you recognize it?

Several local growers, including

of Birmingham, report that the recent wet and cold weather is causing strawberries to have center-rot as they ripen.

In spite of the late season, a harvest apple tree in the yard of

of Waterford, has ripening fruit at least two weeks before the usual time.

An echo of the late spring comes from that champion disciple of Izaak Walton, of Pontiac Lake, who says it was too cold for them to bite on the opening day of bass season. Incidentally, that man whose very name indicates his top sport, who lives out Baldwin road, has been gathering in the big ones in deep sea fishing around the Bahamas.

George A. Bass,

Strawberry and raspberry picking at the same time is something quite unusual, as reported by

Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Gidman

of Clarkston, who phone, "Don't complain about this season."

Thanks for the too many courtesies extended me in connection with my 83rd birthday. Whatever I have accomplished was because of the help I enjoyed.

"You may think this is facetious, but it also is painfully true," writes of Detroit, formerly of Pontiac, who says our big neighbor is developing a canal system in its expressways, after most every storm.

of Rochester have driven a couple of woodpeckers out of a hole they had picked in a dead tree, and are raising a family in it.

Now on a southern vacation trip,

Herbert Langston

of Drayton Plains sends me a postcard illustration of a tombstone signboard near San Antonio, Texas:

"Drive carefully. Hell ain't half full."

In response to several inquiries about the annual

Shakespearean Festival,

Private railroad cars are passing out, and an Oakland County firm, the

of New Hudson, is pioneering the making of trailer offices. They will turn out 200 in the next couple of years, a typical model with reception room and three offices to sell at about $4,500.

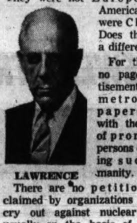
Why We'd Have Sworn He Was!

David Lawrence Asks:

Why Are Others So Soft on China?



LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Human beings were actually slaughtered. The lives of innocent persons were crushed out by artillery shells. They were not Europeans or Americans. They were Chinese. Does this make a difference?

For there are no page advertisements in the metropolitan papers signed with the names of prominent persons denouncing such inhumanity.

There are no petitions proclaimed by organizations such as cry out against nuclear tests—usually on the basis of humane considerations.

The families on the 14 tiny islands of the Quemoy group were terrorized by 174,000 shells—an all-time record in the Formosa Strait hostilities.

In fact, in three hours of the two days the Communists fired more shells than they did in the first two weeks of the 1958 crisis.

Yet the Communist government in Peiping, which undertook the bombardment solely as a gesture of hostility toward President Eisenhower and the United States, seems to be getting away with its barbaric act.

BRITISH PAPERS SILENT

Those British newspapers, for instance, which heaped coals of criticism on Eisenhower for going to the Far East, have not denounced the Red China government for its wanton behavior.

One reason perhaps is that the British have extended diplomatic recognition to the Red China government. They did so largely to protect their commercial interests in Hong Kong.

In this country, pressure for recognition of the Peiping regime comes from the so-called "liberals" led by Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) has indicated his belief that some understanding should be reached with the Red China government.

To do so means abandonment of the cause of freedom in the Far East. It means the certain collapse of Korea and Formosa.

The Nationalist government on Formosa is a symbol of freedom, yet "liberal" influence today is exerted toward breaking down this bastion of Western strength.

Recently, the Korean government has been weakened, and so has the Turkish government.

JAPAN SHAKY

And there is a chance now, too, that the Japanese government will be torn by strife from within and will be a victim more and more of Communist infiltration.

When the Red Chinese began to shell the Quemoy islands and brazenly announced that they were doing it as a gesture of "contempt and scorn" for President Eisenhower—as Peiping radio declared—it might have been supposed that the free world would react to such a maneuver with expressions of horror and disgust.

President Eisenhower referred to the shelling when he spoke in Formosa. He regarded the action as cruel and barbaric, and said that it showed the typical Communist "disregard of human lives," and added: "I would think world opinion would characterize it as a deliberate and aggressive act."

But why, it may be respectfully asked, has there not been official condemnation from the governments at Paris and London?

Curiously enough, when a few persons were killed in South Africa due to the panic that seized the police in trying to quell a so-called "non-violent" demonstration, the governments in Europe and in other countries, especially in Asia, immediately expressed their disapproval in no uncertain terms.

Will any government in southeast Asia now denounce the Red Chinese for what they have just done in Quemoy?

The Western Allies do not appear today to be united on Far Eastern policy.

The United States bore the brunt of the resistance to the Communist invasion of Korea, even though the fighting was done in the name of the United Nations.

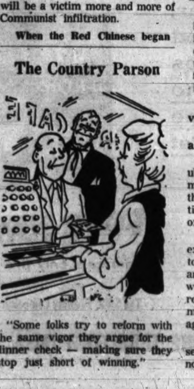
The Country Parson



"Some folks try to reform with the same vigor they argue for the dinner check — making sure they stop just short of winning."

Dr. William Brady Says:

There Is No Such Thing as a Capillary Vessel

DR. BRADY

No matter how thin you slice it, it's still baloney.

There are only two kinds of tubes or vessels that carry blood — arteries which convey blood from the heart to every part of the body, and veins which return blood from every part of the body to the heart, the right side of the heart, which pumps it to the lungs for oxygenation and decarbonation (removal of carbon dioxide, "carbonic acid gas") before it returns to the left side of the heart to be pumped again through general circulation.

Some oldtimers in medicine and related fields, observed that arteries carrying pure decarbonated and oxygenated blood to all parts of the body become smaller and smaller as they get farther and farther from the great trunk artery (aorta) and ultimately become so small that one can hardly see them at all except with magnifying glass or microscope.

When the arteries become so small that they are invisible to the naked eye, they are called arterioles.

Yahbut, we still have the problem of unloading the oxygen from the blood and reloading it with carbon dioxide to be carried back to the lungs and blown off. How does the fresh, pure arterial blood get from the arteries or arterioles into the venules or veins?

From years of research, I have concluded that "capillaries" were not invented by anyone. They got into medical literature as banshees, gremlins, and flying saucers got into popular literature.

No one has isolated a capillary vessel.

No one can demonstrate such a vessel under the microscope.

The truth is that where the ultimate, finest visible (under the microscope) arteriole terminates, the blood just oozes through the tissue where the cells pick up oxygen and give off carbon dioxide.

There are no capillary vessels, except in the imagination of doctors who still believe in "colds" and still ply their credulous clients with digitalis, as though the dropsy remedy introduced by the old woman of Shropshire were magic against heart failure.

Whether there are capillary vessels or not may be a question of no great significance. I harp on it here in the hope that intelligent laymen who realize I must be right about it may be led to wonder whether I may not be right about more important questions.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Why Couldn't Waterford Hold Graduation Inside?'

I wonder if others were as disgusted at Waterford High School for being so inconsiderate of their graduates' friends and relatives as to go on with the program outside?

They stated if it rained it would be held indoors. While they were lined up waiting to proceed to their seats on the field it started to rain, yet they marched them all out to their seats to sit two and a half hours in wet clothes.

I resent all unkind references to Mrs. Roosevelt and Adlai Stevenson. They're the hopes of the Democratic party and probably the whole nation. CASE E-492: Maude, aged 10, is a Tennessee mule. She recently took her first course in practical psychology.

For Maude developed what we psychologists call a conditioned reflex. Indeed, "conditioning" is one of the primary methods of learning.

By "conditioning" we do not mean what athletic coaches have in mind when they use that term to indicate a player is hardened or toughened for intercollegiate football.

No, we mean that a person or animal has become habituated to a specific situation.

For example, suppose a large fish is in one end of an aquarium and a small minnow in the other, with only a glass plate between. The minnow, moreover, is the natural food of the large fish.

As soon as the minnow makes a move, the big fish darts after him, but strikes the glass partition. It hurts his nose.

But the large fish soon forgets. A few moments later he again dives after the minnow and for a second time he gets a sore nose.

Ultimately he becomes "conditioned" adversely as regards that minnow. It then represents pain instead of pleasure. So even after the glass partition is removed, the big fish may actually avoid the minnow.

CONDITIONED REFLEXES

You modern farmers now use this law of "conditioning" when you employ a single strand of wire instead of the former woven fence.

You fasten the wire with porcelain spools, so it is insulated from the ground. Then you hook it to an electric battery.

Soon a horse or cow or mule approaches the single wire and either reaches over the top or tries to crawl under it.

But as soon as its skin comes in contact with that charged wire, the animal gets an electric shock, for its feet on the ground make a completed electric circuit.

So the animal rears back in pained surprise. It doesn't take more than one or two experiences of this sort until the animal is thus "conditioned" adversely to the wire. It stays away from it thereafter.

MULE PSYCHOLOGY

A Tennessee farmer used this same type of charged wire around his pasture field. But he had bought a new team of mules early in the spring. One of them was named Maude.

Mules are smart animals. They show more sense than horses in many respects, as all of you farm folks are aware. And these mules quickly learned that a single wire on a post was bad medicine.

But they generalized, and became afraid of single wires in general. The farmer didn't know this till he tried to hitch them to his corn planter last spring.

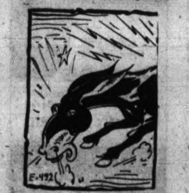
He was checking his corn, which means he used a single check wire that causes the corn to be dropped at fixed intervals, thus enabling the farmer to have straight rows both lengthwise and crosswise of the field.

But when Maude saw that check wire, she refused to go near the corn planter. For she apparently thought the wire was electrically charged.

So the farmer had to borrow another team with which to plant his corn. Maude had been too well "conditioned" to wire.



Some human parents could save a lot of time and heartache if they'd "condition" their youngster with a hairbrush when the toddlers are wantonly destructive.

'Don't Be Tough Against Soviets'

Harriman Says Hard U.S. Attitude Would Strengthen Stalinists

Harriman, who served as ambassador to Moscow during part of World War II, said such an attitude would only "strengthen the Stalinists in the Kremlin, which will drive Moscow closer to Peking, and terrify our friends and allies around the world."

In a statement for a local hearing by the Democratic National Platform Committee, Harriman said: "I recognize that it is not easy for us to remain calm—and get tough has a popular appeal in view of the insults that Khrushchev has been heaping on our country and our president. Khrushchev's proposed visit to Cuba will add to the provocation."

However, he added, "a calm attitude and considered determination at this time are the way to advance the free world's cause in the struggle against communism."

All Up to the Chickens Now

Egg Producers' Lot Looks Brighter

United Press International

LANSING (UPI) — If the chickens cooperate, Michigan egg farmers can look forward to a more stable market.

And it isn't likely they will have to unionize — with the Teamsters or any other labor group — to keep from becoming victims of a fluctuating egg market.

New Jersey egg producers moved to join the Teamsters in an effort to get a better price for their product last March.

"There's no real agitation in Michigan for this sort of thing," said Lawrence E. Dawson, Michigan State University poultry expert. "One thing that caused the move in New Jersey was low prices some time ago.

"Michigan egg producers aren't out of the woods yet, but they're better off pricewise this year," he said.

One program, operated by the Michigan Farm Bureau, has been in existence for about nine months to help the egg producers help themselves.

Under this, the farmers sign a contract with the bureau to provide eggs which the bureau sells.

"About 85 egg producers in 23 counties belong to the program at present," said Wayne Playford, Jenison, an official of the plan.

"The backbone of the thing is a quality control program that provides a means of trying to get a stable market for producers."

The director of the farm bureau egg marketing division, Peter J. Sikkema, said the program aims at strengthening prices.

"Michigan farmers have tended toward trying to work this thing out for themselves rather than joining up with any union," he said.

Other farm authorities agreed that no move to unionization was imminent in Michigan.

One reason might be that Michigan egg producers are in a better position than those in some other states. The egg market is also more competitive, Sikkema said.

Farmers Warned of Threat

Will Seaway Bring Pests to Michigan?

By ED MARKAITY
AP Farm Writer

Unwelcome visitors may be the penalty paid by Michigan farmers for the prediction of better business because of St. Lawrence Seaway operations.

State Agriculture Director George S. McIntyre cautions against overoptimism in view of possible developments.

He says introduction to the Great Lakes area of foreign shipping on a large scale exposes Michigan to serious threats of plant and animal pest invasions.

As McIntyre explains it, Michigan farmers and stock producers for years have been able to raise crops and animals relatively free of many destructive pests known to other parts of the world.

Inland isolation had provided a protective cover which the seaway may, to some extent, be flooding out.

Meanwhile, the water route to overseas outlets already is making its potential worth known to Michigan growers.

Michigan Cherry Prducers Assn. meets June 28 at Ludington where members will hear a report on opportunities for development of a western Europe market.

John Handy of Sodus, an association director and president of the five-state Great Lakes cherry producers marketing cooperative, is scheduled to detail his findings from a recent trip abroad to study market possibilities.

Handy says he was favorably impressed with the future of a market in Europe for Great Lakes-produced cherries.

The Ludington meeting will follow by one week the government forecast of 1960 cherry production, based on June 15 observation in major growing areas.

It will also tag on the heels of the announced price to processors for the harvest produced this year by member growers.

The organization is bargaining agent for more than 60 per cent of all red tart cherries grown in the nation. It obtained a price of 6¼ cents a pound last year.

Michigan Cherry Producers Secretary T. O. Stebbine says the Ludington meeting also features a discussion on inter-related problems of cherry fruit fly and removal of abandoned orchards.

C. A. Boyer, State Agricultural Department plant industry chief, is responsibile for the report along with another on the need for a cherry tree census to record numbers of trees in Michigan orchards by varieties and ages.

HE WANTS TO GO ABOARD, TOO — Clifton Truman Daniel, 3, wants to join his brother William Wallace, 1, in the arms of his grandfather, ex-President Harry Truman, and seems to be getting a helping hand from grandmother Mrs. Truman. The Trumans, minding their grandchildren, were on hand to welcome their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Daniel on their arrival in New York Monday by ship after a nine-week European tour.

Forests' Chemical Yield May Top Output of Wood

NEW YORK (UPI)—Within 10 years the nation's forests may provide us with more chemicals than wood, lumber experts predict.

Breakthroughs in the development of chemicals from lignin — the gluey substance that holds the fibers together in wood—already are considerable. The two most important are tall oil and sulphate turpentine.

From tall oil, a dark brown waste obtained as a byproduct of the Kraft Paper Industry, come fatty acids and resins that are used to make soaps, detergents, many kinds of protective coatings, drilling muds, adhesives and insecticides.

Sulphate turpentine is used by the paint and dye industry and in many chemical processes.

In addition to lignin, trees produce chemicals from wood sugars that turn up alcohols and even yeasts for baby foods and livestock foods.

St. Regis Paper Co. is pushing the production of these food yeasts from wood. Georgia-Pacific Corp. soon will start making a line of cyanide chemicals from bark and sawdust.

But sales of wood chemicals now are running only 60-million dollars a year—a small fraction of the value of the lumber from our timber harvest.

However, President David Luke of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. and firms like Rayonier, Inc., Kroehler Co., National Starch & Chemical believe the big discoveries in silvichemicals still are at least five years away.

When these discoveries are made, the experts say the chemical products likely will be worth more than the wood.

Russ to Buy Sugar

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet-Cuban communique published in the Communist party paper Pravda Monday said the Soviet Union will buy 425,000 tons of Cuban sugar the rest of this year to full its pledge to purchase a total of one million tons.

Chloroform, ether and nitrous oxide were the first anesthetics to be widely used in the medical profession.

Upper Peninsula Mystery Cat Spotted Again

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The Upper Peninsula mystery cat was sighted again Monday, this time on a runway at Kincheloe Air Force Base. It took off across the runway—running, of course.

The animal was reported seen from the control tower by Airman Willie Frederick, Master Sgt. Cecil Hush and Tech Sgt. Jack De Lille.

The airmen said the animal was about 4,000 feet down the runway from the tower and ran into nearby woods. They said it appeared larger than a wolf, had a large head, and long tail and was heavily furred.

Thief Stealing Lunches From Cars at Factory

HOLLAND (AP) — A thief with partiality for huge midnight snacks is being sought by Holland police.

About 30 employes of Crampton Manufacturing Co. have complained that someone is stealing sandwiches and lunch boxes from cars parked in the company lot.

Police say the thief apparently scavenges between midnight and 2 a.m.

But Detroit Official Has Word of Caution

Calls Pontiac Ideal for Jet Airfield

"If the area demands it," said Joseph W. Gross, Wayne County highway engineer and manager of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, "Pontiac is an ideal place for a second major jet airfield."

Gross was invited to outline the growth of the large Detroit port, which he was instrumental in developing, to a special committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors probing future air transportation needs for this area.

Gross' less than optimistic report startled some committee members into the realization that much more study and planning was needed before Pontiac could possibly duplicate the Detroit field.

"This shows that we have plenty of studying to do yet," was the brief but to-the-point comment of committee chairman Philip E. Rowston, Pontiac mayor.

The veteran Detroit official said he wasn't attempting to discourage officials here in their plans, but rather throwing out a bit of caution.

CALLS FOR PLAN

He warned that if local officials desired to avoid the mistakes encountered in the development of the Detroit airport, the first prerequisite would be drafting a master plan.

Homer D. Hoskins, manager of the Pontiac Municipal Airport, interjected, "We're working on one."

Committee member Ray W. Lahti, Wixom supervisor, expressed surprise that Gross' remarks were somewhat contradictory of the findings in the $30,000 Landrum & Brown air transportation needs study of Southeastern Michigan.

The study, which brought about the creation of the Oakland committee, pinpointed Pontiac, or a nearby site, as the possible home for a second major field.

LOOKING AHEAD

Gross brought out that the study was looking ahead to 1975. His forecast seemed to apply more to the years before this date.

"I don't wish to think of the Pontiac airport being a satellite of our field," Gross aid.

"But you must consider how many airports there are needed in a certain area to carry out all kinds of air traffic."

"I think the Pontiac airport is much needed and I think it will generate a lot of traffic, but I don't think there will be a need to develop jet aircraft there."

"Are you going to be able to get all those daily passengers that leave our field, say for Miami, Cleveland or New York?"

"You must find out what your traffic potential will be," Gross told Rowton's committee.

After the demand is established, he went on, a good "customer"—such as the Detroit field's first customer, American Airlines — must be attracted to prove to Wall Street financiers that there is envisioned a good business potential at the field.

This, he said, would help sell revenue bonds for any needed expansion.

Kennedy OK'd on Civil Rights

Michigan Dems Say They're Satisfied With His Stand

WASHINTON (AP) — A delegation of Michigan Democrats came away from a meeting with Sen. John F. Kennedy yesterday saying they were satisfied with the presidential hopeful's civil rights stand.

Kennedy (D-Mass) called the three-hour meeting "a very useful exchange of views."

Although he said he didn't try to win over supporters of other Democratic presidential candidates, at least one delegate was sold on the Massachusetts senator.

Joseph C. Coles, staff member of the Detroit Commission of Community Relations, told reporters, "I was very much against Kennedy when I came here. I'm for him now."

OPEN MIND

Damon J. Keith, president of the Detroit Housing Commission and a member of the city's Board of Supervisors, said he came here with an open mind about supporting Kennedy.

"I feel Sen. Kennedy is perhaps more sensitive now to certain areas of civil rights than had been communicated to us before," he said.

About half the 15-member delegation were Negroes.

Rep. Charles C. Diggs (D-Mich), the state's only Negro congressman, favors Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for the party nomination. Diggs was unavailable for comment.

Wayne Finally Votes to Become a City

Voters yesterday approved a charter for the new city by 1,825 to 524.

Five incumbent members of the former village council and two newcomers were elected as the new city council. The new charter calls for the city manager form of government and no mayor was to be elected.

Officials said that, after years of legal maneuvering on the matter, the vote turnout was surprisingly light, 2,490 of the 7,858 registered voters.

Given Jail Sentence on Morals Charge

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday handed down a jail sentence to a 36-year-old Pontiac man who pleaded guilty to maintaining and operating a house of prostitution.

Robert L. McNeary, 271 Raeburn St. was fined $100 and ordered to serve 30 days in the Oakland County Jail—or 60 days in jail.

McNeary was arrested in a vice squad raid at his home June 4.

Drive-In Movie Enthralls Visiting Moscow Mayor

OTTAWA (AP)—The mayor of Moscow went to his first drive-in movie Monday night, and the show made him an hour late for a reception at the Soviet Embassy.

Mayor Nikoli Bobrovnikov and his party dropped in for a 15-minute glimpse at the open-air movie en route to the reception. Then Robert Taylor and Julie London came on in "Saddle in the Wind" and Bobrovnikov stayed an hour longer, until it was apparent how the story came out.

Oppose Rochester Annexation

Residents of South Hill Form Own Association

By LEE WINBORN

ROCHESTER — In order to implement their move to block any attempt at annexation of their properties to Rochester, homeowners living directly south of town have formed the South Hill Residents Assn.

Al Bzenko has been named chairman. Serving with him are Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Stamm, Mrs. Elizabeth Case, and Miss Olga Bzenko as secretary.

The formation of the new organization stems from a request by several large commercial property owners in the South Hill area for extension of the village water and sewer lines along Rochester road to Avon road.

The request was made last November to the Village Council which promptly informed the group the only way these facilities could be extended was through annexation to Rochester.

Subsequently the larger property owners, under the name of the South Hill Development Committee, agreed to stand the cost of a survey to be made on the feasibility for bringing the two services to their area.

The development committee was formed by Avon Center Hospital, Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc., Detroit Broach and Machine Co., Dr. J. W. Eastman, Larry Jerome and Keith Crissman.

The Village Council told this group that the next move to follow was for them to circulate petitions for annexation so they could get the water and sewer facilities from the village.

To date no annexation petitions have been circulated.

Some 25 homeowners living in the South Hill section appeared at the Rochester Council meeting June 13 to protest any annexation move in their area. They also stated in their petition, signed by 50 residents, that neither did they want village water and sewers.

INVESTIGATE RIGHTS

Prior to their formal organizational meeting, the residents met with Avon Township Supervisor Cyril E. Miller and a Detroit attorney, Ronald Pawlak, to learn their rights concerning annexation.

Also present was R. F. Clark, controller of Detroit Broach and Machine Co., one of the business concerns who agreed to the study of sewer and water line extension.

Clark told the group that his company's position was to approve the study on the feasibility of bringing the two services to the South Hill area. He stated emphatically, however, that Detroit Broach was "opposed to annexation."

"Our principal reason for opposing annexation is the additional tax load it would place on us," Clark said. "The cost of water and sewer lines would be reasonable, but the additional taxes resulting from annexation would be too much."

He added, "We think it could amount to about a 25 per cent increase in taxes, using the same assessed valuation we have now."

One of the chief interests behind the water and sewer study in the South Hill area is Avon Center Hospital.

Bzenko said his group "strongly feels that the hospital is being used by people in this area who want to sell land at a profit to win public support of annexation."

"We have sewers of our own, and in order for us to have village water, it would have to be pumped up the hill. This constant agitation would make it murky unless expensive equipment were installed to clear it," he explained.

"We don't have businesses to let us take costs off our taxes. We are residents, and we don't want to become part of Rochester," Bzenko concluded.

Village officials have told those concerns that want village water and sewers that after the petitions are circulated, they would be presented to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors which in turn would set an election on the proposition. The Board's boundaries committee also would have to pass on the annexation plan before an election is set.

UTICA'S FAIREST — These three attractive June graduates of Utica Community High School last night were picked to reign over the Utica Lions 14th annual Fourth of July celebration. They are, from left, Barbara Witzke, second maid of honor; Queen Patricia Leidholdt; and Judi Fidler, third maid. All are 17.

To Be Miss Utica for '4th'

Pat Wins Second Crown

UTICA—A sparkling brunette, who already held the title of Michigan Hothouse Rhubarb Queen, won her second crown last night.

Patricia Leidholdt, 17, a June graduate of Utica Community High School, was named "Miss Utica" over a field of 12 other contestants.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Leidholdt of 8871 Suncrest Dr., Sterling Township.

Urged by her friends to enter the competition less than two hours before the contest, Pat stated she was thrilled to win because of the experience it would give her. She plans to attend Wayne State University and major in piano solo work.

Named first maid of honor was Barbara Witzke, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Witzke of 6625 Auburn Rd., Utica. She has brown hair and brown eyes.

Second maid is Judi Fidler, 17, who has hazel eyes and red hair. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fidler of 45240 Klinghammer Rd., Shelby Township.

The three judges scored each girl on poise, personality, beauty, appearance, and speaking ability as they were interviewed by Master of Cermonies Harry Magahay. The contest was held at Eppler Junior High School under the chairmanship of Richard Duncan and Gerald Moll.

The girls identities remained secret until the winners' numbers were announced. It was then that judges and the audience learned that the new "Miss Utica" was a double contest winner.

The new queen will reign over the 14th annual Utica Lions Fourth of July Celebration. She will be crowned by Gov. G. Mennen Williams just before the parade which opens the holiday festivities.

Queen Pat and her two attendants then will ride on the Utica Lions float in the parade.

Later the three girls will appear on the float in numerous other area parades throughout the summer. Also the queen will be eligible to represent Utica in the Romeo Peach Queen competition early in August.

The 10 other contestants were Carol Ann Kabacinski, Lyndee Slater, Sandra Chouinard, Patricia Tews, Carol Remer, Connie Steece, Mary Ann Dobry, Shirley Maxwell, Kathy Thomas and Darlene Kay Klein.

New Church to Be Built at Clarkston

CLARKSTON —Ground-breaking ceremonies to launch construction of a new, $300,000 First Methodist Church in the heart of town were announced yesterday by church pastor, the Rev. William J. Richards.

A New England colonial-style church has been designed for the 900-member congregation by Kingscott Architects of Kalamazoo.

A single spire will rise more than 112 feet over the structure, which is to built of brick and stone with wood trim. The church will be visible for miles from its seven-acre hill site across from M15:

Entrance to the narthex will be gained beneath a portico supported by four Doric columns. The spacious narthex will provide enery into a nave, a second-floor balcony, or into the educational wing of the building.

A side entrance will open onto a ramp for invalid members or others who cannot use the steps in front of the church.

The floor plan of the sanctuary provides for seating capacity of more than 500 worshippers, including room in the chancel for 50 choir members.

The nave with its vaulted ceiling will be done in a combination of painted plaster walls accented by wood paneled wainscot.

Slender columns at either side of the chancel and rerodos behind the altar will provide an atmosphere of simple dignity. Colonial chandeliers will be installed in the ceiling.

Lay leader of the church, Everett Butters, is working with the pastor in setting up the ground-breaking services for 10 a.m. Sunday July 24.

Dr. Chester A. McPheeters, superintendent of the Flint District of the Methodist Church, will officiate. The six choirs of the church under the direction of William Mansfield will present special music.

Teacher Tenure Fails in Recount

Avondale School Board Finds Vote Was 290-290

A recount of votes last night showed teacher tenure actually failed at the Avondale School District polls June 13, reversing previously announced results.

The canvass of votes immediately following the election had indicated that the tenure proposal squeaked through by a three-vote margin.

Last night's recount by the School Board showed the proposition tied 290-290 instead of winning 292-289 as previously reported by election officials.

A simple majority was needed for the measure to carry.

The recount, which took an hour and a half, was prompted by the Board's receipt of a petition signed by about 70 voters, stating they believed there was an error in the count.

Upon learning today of the recount and the reversal of the vote, Fred Stacks, director of field services for the Michigan Education Assn., stated it was the first time he had ever heard of a recount on tenure. It had been defeated before but never recalled, he said.

"The MEA regrets seeing the tenure proposition defeated in Avondale. Basically, tenure provides a better instructional program through more careful selection of teachers and inservice training of teachers," Stacks said.

"The Avondale situtaion once again points up the importance of citizens exercising their right of expressing their opinions in the American fashion of voting," he added.

Stacks concluded by emphasizing the one vote that could have won for the proposition was the most important vote.

The issue of tenure was presented for Board consideration early in March when 73 members of the Avondale Education Assn. asked that it be placed on the spring ballot.

Upon the request by a group of citizens, the setting of an election on the proposition was delayed so that more public information sessions on the proposal could be held.

Subsequently the regular school election date was set for the vote, with panel discussions and programs presenting both sides of the question being held right up to the final day.

In other action, the Avondale Board organized for the coming year. R. Grant Graham was reelected president.

For the first time in its history, the Board decided to create the office of vice president and elected Earl Wilson to the post.

The other two officers were retained in office, John Buday as secretary and Floyd Cobb Jr., who was just re-elected as a trustee, as treasurer.

Set Farmington Renewal Parley

35-Acre Site Subject of Public Meeting Due Late Next Month

FARMINGTON — Urban renewal of some 35 acres in the downtown business district will be discussed at a public hearing here late next month.

The City Council set the meeting last night for July 25 at 7 p.m. after receiving a study of the downtown needs from Geer and Associates Planning Consultants, Inc. of Bloomfield Hills.

The consulting firm was retained in May by the Council for $2,500 to prepare a workable program and survey necessary in making application for an urban renewal project.

The urban renewal program, set up by the federal government, is designed to help communities with rundown areas, make necessary improvements.

Should the Council decide to apply for urban renewal after the public hearing and the federal government accepts the city's application, the federal government would then pay two-thirds of the cost of renovating the blighted area. The city would pay the remaining one-third of the cost.

* * *

While the city accepted the study last night, nothing definite can be done until after the public hearing.

The Council said they will meet with representatives of the planning firm shortly before the public hearing to have the survey explained.

Richard Wolff, representing Geer and Associates, said if the Council takes any action on the redevelopment program after the public hearing it would take from one to two years before a workable urban renewal program could begin.

Projects already undertaken or planned for Farmington may reduce the city's cost for any urban renewal project approved by the federal government.

The City Council hopes that a portion of money already allocated for off-street parking, water lines and other improvements may be applied, as part of the city's one-third cost in a renewal project.

Elected governor in the Boys State election was Bill Holland of Albion. He defeated Michael Staebler, son of Democratic State Chairman Neil Staebler.

Never Too Old — Abby

If You Loved Him, Kisses Shouldn't Be Very Annoying

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby: I have been dating a man for well over a year. I admire him immensely and enjoy his companionship, but only when we are in public or with friends.

This may sound ridiculous, as we are not in our teens. We are both in our middle 40s, each previously married.

ABBY

I am certainly not "cold" but, Abby, could you stand to be kissed and hugged and told the same endearing things every time you are alone, be it 10 minutes or 10 hours?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: I could if I loved the man. And so could you.

DEAR ABBY: "Dazed parents" wrote to you and asked, "What can we do about this mess?" Wasn't it a little late?

If people were going to buy a car, they would look over dozens of makes and would drive the salesman crazy asking questions and making demands. But when their daughter decides to take a husband, she walks into a USO Club and from hundreds of strangers she picks one she thinks will do.

Who he is, where he comes from, what his religion and background are means very little. I know what I'm talking about because I have worked in USO's for years. I also know that for every scoundrel there are hundreds of decent young men. But if parents would investigate the boys their daughters go with before they start going with them, there would be fewer scoundrels making progress.

MRS. E. M.

DEAR ABBY: I have never done things behind my husband's back so I don't know what made me do it this time, but here's my problem: My husband has a large family, the visiting kind. They are very noisy and make me nervous.

One of my husband's sisters (she lives in town) called and told me another sister (this one is a real cat) and her husband planned on coming to stay with me for two weeks. So I sat down and wrote this sister a letter telling her not to plan on staying with me because I am too nervous to do all the things that go with being a good hostess. Was that so terrible?

My husband doesn't know I wrote her. I still don't want them, no matter what. I need your help. How should I handle it from now on?

TOO NERVOUS FOR COMPANY

DEAR NERVOUS: The next sound you hear will probably come from your husband's side of the family, so all you have to do now is sit back and wait for the explosion! Get your husband in a good mood and tell him about the letter. You can't be blamed for trying to protect yourself, but there are many ways to skin (and dodge) a cat. If you used diplomacy, you're safe. If you let her have it with both barrels, you've undoubtedly alienated the whole clan.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Vows Pledged in Pilgrim Church

Couple to Live in City

MRS. BOBBY C. GRIMES

Tiffany vases of white gladioli flanked the altar of Pilgrim Holiness Church Saturday evening, when Janice Marie Mize became the bride of Bobby Carl Grimes. Vows were pledged to the Rev. Melvin C. Straight in a candlelight ceremony before some 250 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard O. Mize of Dakota drive hosted their daughter's reception in the YMCA following the rites. Greeting friends and relatives with them were Mr. and Mrs. Orval Glyn Grimes of East Colgate avenue, parents of the bridegroom.

Heart-shaped streamered bouquets of feathered carnations complemented attendants' bouffant waltz-length dresses of nylon sheer worn with jeweled crowns and matching gloves and shoes.

Geraldine Sheffield, maid of honor, and flower girl Jill Shelby, niece of the bridegroom, wore aqua. Mrs. Harold Thrower and Nancy Russell appeared in coral.

Tiers of white Chantilly lace fashioned the voluminous skirt of the floor-length bridal gown styled with wrist-point sleeves. The fingertip veil was secured by a crown of sequins and pearls.

Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. Vincent Schmidt and Mrs. Jon Roberts and Kathy Jo of Camp Girardeau, Mo., aunts and cousin of the bride. The Norman Greens and family, and the Charles Grimes came from Flint.

One Youth Says: 'It's a Ridiculous Habit'

Many Teen-Agers Cut Out Their Smoking

By EUGENE GILBERT

Smoking appears to be losing ground with American teen-agers.

Three out of four of the young people we queried in our latest poll told us they do not smoke themselves and about half said they don't approve of their friends smoking either.

More than three years ago when we put the question to the teen-agers of that day only one in four of those 16 or older claimed to be a non-smoker and half of those 13-15 said they didn't smoke.

What happened in the meantime?

Undoubtedly reports linking cigarette smoking and cancer have done their bit to discourage the habit but Mom and Dad play a large role, too.

In the two cases out of five where Dad was a non-smoker, nine out of 10 boys and eight out of 10 girls told us they followed his example.

Five out of eight of the young people listed Mother as a non-smoker and fully 80 per cent of both boys and girls said her cigarette habits were good enough for them.

The teen-agers' comments on smoking varied.

GIRLS SMOKE LESS

"There is no purpose or future in smoking," opined Veva M. Olbert, 18, of Enid, Okla. "If everyone who smokes would ask themselves why, there would be fewer smokers."

John S. Irons, 17, or Burlington, Vt., said he thinks teen-agers should be permitted to smoke "if they want to squander their money, jeopardize their health and look cheap and sloppy."

"Teen-agers are said to have more problems than any other age group," said 18-year-old Gladys Allen of Jackson, Miss., voicing approval. "A person then needs to have something to keep his nerves from shattering."

It came as no surprise to find that boys are more likely than girls to smoke. About three boys in 10 told us they smoke, while the ratio was only two in 10 among the girls.

Perhaps Connie Nystrom, 15, of St. Paul, Minn., summed up the difference:

"A woman can't possibly look feminine while puffing on a cigarette. It's OK for the boys, if it's not carried to extremes."

THEY SMOKE A LITTLE

The youngsters who do use tobacco, however, told us they don't smoke very much—although about half said they think their friends smoke quite a lot.

About one out of three of the smokers—one boy in five and half the girls—said they smoke only a few cigarettes a month. Among the boys, however, another one in five said he smokes more than a pack a day.

More than three quarters of the young smokers in our poll told us they don't know whether or not their parents are aware of their smoking. Boys are more inclined than girls to tell the folks about it.

Of those who have told their parents, more than half the boys said they received approval while only two girls in five said they had the old folks' OK.

The first cigarette—traditionally composed of cornsilk and smoked behind the barn—appears no longer to be a great childhood event.

Nearly three out of five young people couldn't remember how old they were at the time they got one.

JANICE D. RABAUT

The Paul J. Rabauts of Union Lake, Waterford Township announce the engagement of their daughter Janice Diane to Wayne H. Langschied, son of the LeRoy Langschieds of Deerfield. The bride-elect attended Michigan State University where her fiance recently received his degree. An August 27 wedding is planned.

Be Smart for Dieter to Explain

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening I invited a couple to dinner and prepared what I thought was a delicious meal. However, the wife just picked at the food and ate very little of it. I thought perhaps something was wrong with the food but I found out later that she was dieting.

I was very much put out over this and thought her very rude. It seems to me that when people accept an invitation to dinner and the hostess goes to the trouble of preparing a good dinner, that guests should forget their diets that one night and eat the food that is served them, or else decline a dinner invitation.

Don't you agree, Mrs. Post, or am I taking an unreasonable attitude?

Answer: You should not expect anyone who is on a serious diet to go off it for your dinner, but I do agree that before accepting your dinner invitation the wife should have explained that she was on a diet.

Dear Mrs. Post: What should I do in return for shower parties being given for me? Do I give presents to the hostesses, or what?

Answer: Further than saying, "Thank you" and showing your appreciation, nothing is expected of you. At least, not until perhaps the occasion arises when you can do something for any one of them in return.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been corresponding with a girl friend, who is living in Europe, for a number of years and she has just recently been married. In the future, when writing to her, how should I address the envelope. Should I now address the letter to both or do I continue to write to her alone?

Answer: You continue to write to her alone, unless you know her husband and wish to include him in your letters.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is engaged to a young man who lives in another state. He will be coming here soon for a week. My daughter would like him to stay at our house.

I am a widow and work and cannot take time off at the time he will be here. I leave rather early in the morning and do not come home until late afternoon which means they will be home alone most of the day.

Under the circumstances, do you think it would be proper for him to stay here or would it be best if he stayed at a nearby hotel?

Answer: Under the circumstances you describe, in order to avoid any unpleasant gossip, it will be advisable that your daughter's fiance stay at the hotel.

And Gals Are to Blame

Modern Courtships Too 'Practical'

DAYTON (AP) — Boy meets girl, boy marries girl.

That just about summarizes the modern courtship. American-style.

If she's lucky, however, today's sweet young thing with the stars in her eyes may be swept off her feet—as the saying goes—by a round of football games, a platter of pizza and a bit of woo at a drive-in movie.

Whatever happened to the old-fashioned courtship—complete with hearts and flowers?

The girls themselves are to blame, judging from the results of an informal survey here.

"American girls are trained to face the world alone. They're so independant," muses Mexican-born Mrs. Adam Trapp. Even in Mexico, all the wonderful courtship customs are fading from the picture, Mrs. Trapp adds sadly, Reason, she says, is the presence of numerous exchange students there. The chaperone has all but disappeared.

Modern girls are too practical for romance, one young wife says, adding that hers is the voice of experience.

"I wish now I had insisted on some elegant evenings—you know theater and dancing. But I thought we should save our money. We're still trying to save," she adds wryly.

"But even the most practical girl expects candy and flowers once in a while—maybe only for special occasions," points out Mrs. Jack Ellis. "If he forgets before marriage, though, look out."

A bright-eyed girl in a gray flannel suit, however, turns down on the formal type of courtship. This working bride admits she delighted in the kind of informal fun her husband served up during "courting" days.

"No plans for me," she explains. "I like to surprised."

Little "fun" gifts rate higher with most of the young women than more costly presents.

"You can buy good costume jewelry anywhere" says one bride-to-be. "I'd rather have a single flower or some little gadget. Maybe a stuffed animal." One of her co-workers still treasures a Chinese back-scratcher from her husband.

A former small-town girl still gets dreamy-eyed about a date who brought her gardenias from a plant in his mother's garden.

"The old fashioned courtship might not be such a bad idea after all," suggests Mrs. William Blalock. "At least it would be different. Might even prevent some divorces."

"A man used to send cut roses—the symbol of love—or orchids. Today he wants a blooming plant," sighs Herb Mitchell, local florist. "It has to last for a few weeks.

OUR OWN FAULT

Mitchell blames the woman, says their own practically has nipped romance in the bud.

That's the problem, one recent bridegroom points out:

"The girls want to be sensible to prove they're good wife material, but once they catch the guy, they expect to be courted the rest of their lives."

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Toddler in the house? Then I hardly need to tell you that he's half imp, half angel. Your guidance now will play an important part in the development of your child's future behavior pattern.

- Try to identify right from wrong by using a different tone of voice.
- Use "no" sparingly, but mean it when you use it. Be lavish in praise of good behavior.
- Try to let your child know that you disapprove of the deed, not him, by letting your love show at all times.

Something new to turn any imp into an angel at mealtime: Gerber Junior Spaghetti with Beef. Tender, enriched spaghetti is artfully blended with bits of flavorful beef and brightened with savory tomato sauce. Rich in the energy-giving calories active toddlers need, plus a heaping helping of vitamin-A value. Serve it with a Gerber vegetable and dessert for a lip-smacking luncheon.

P.S. For mealtime variety, try the other 10 Gerber Dinners—vegetable and meat combinations with a flair for flavor.

Footloose and fancy free, that's the way toddlers like to be these soft summer days. If you've a nice grassy yard or play area, do let your toddler run barefoot, provided his traveling ground is free of stones and sharp objects. Feels ever so nice to little feet and strengthens 'em to boot.

More that's new...delicious and nutritious, too! Gerber Cookies with added protein are filled to the hilt with flavor. What's more, these crispy, crunchy cookies have twice as much protein as most other cookies. And the delicate icing is enriched with important B-vitamins. Yes, vitamins in the icing, so they can't be lost in baking. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

School Health Program Carries On in Summer

The Pontiac school system will continue its health services into June and July in its drive to "locate and lessen physical defects among students," said Health Services Coordinator Josephine Seeley.

She made the announcement in her annual report to the school administration.

Fluoride treatment will be given in June at Longfellow, Wilson, Herrington and Wisner schools to students whose parents have consented and whose fees have been paid.

Students from Eastern, Lincoln, Madison and Washington junior high schools will be able to receive the treatments in July. Places for treatment have not been determined yet.

Eight hundred and eighty-six students were treated during the 125 days the nine-year-old program was in effect, she reported.

"But as the number of students to be treated increases," the health coordinator said, "we have to expand our program into the summer."

DEFECTS IN 12 PER CENT

In the same 125-day period, Miss Seeley's report continued, 12,090 students were tested in the vision screening program. Defects were found in 12 per cent of the students tested. They were referred to doctors, and 86 per cent of these received glasses or other treatment.

Hearing losses, ranging from mild to severe, were found in 200 students during the year. Five hundred others, whose defects were already known, were also among the 7,861 students tested.

"Approximately 90 per cent regain hearing within normal limits after medical treatment by family doctors," Miss Seeley said.

"Through the Michigan Department of Health, four clinics were organized to give ear examinations to 77 students," she said. Examinations were made by local specialists.

A local orthopedic doctor working in an orthopedic field clinic provided by the Michigan Crippled children's Commission examined 62 cases. Twelve of these were recommended for surgery. The doctor recommended special exercises in 14 cases, and had other recommendations for 36 others.

Tuberculin testing was offered to the first, third and fifth grades by the state and local health departments. Of the 3,710 students tested, eight per cent were positive reactors, and one elementary sanatorium as a result of the x-rays given to positive reactors.

Parents as well as children are becoming more educated as the health services program grows, Miss Seeley said.

"Parents are becoming more and more cooperative," she said. "Apparently the need for this program is becoming more recognized than it once was."

"More reports from family doctors and dentists indicate that efforts are being made to bring kindergarten children into school in good physical condition," she went on.

MANY IMMUNIZED

"Immunization records on the kindergarten children show that 60 per cent have received diphtheria and lockjaw protection, 51 per cent are immunized against polio, 60 per cent against smallpox and 58 per cent against whooping cough."

The schools aren't doing this job alone, she pointed out.

PTA groups have added the assistance of about 50 volunteers to health services' staff of eight.

The Lions Club contributes money for eye examinations; the Oakland county TB Assn. provides health education material and visual aids.

The Teachers Exchange Club gives financial assistance for students whose parents are too poor to provide them with proper dental care.

The school system and the state and local health departments give mutual help in health programs and problems.

"And the list goes on for several pages," Miss Seeley added.

"During summer vacations, my concern for students' health changes slightly," she said. "Now the question of safety becomes a major one—I try to urge the children to be especially careful on bikes, in traffic, on the sidewalks and in the water."

Red China 'Spider' Lures Tibetan 'Flies'

DARJEELING, India (AP) — The Chinese Reds are trying to lure home some 19,000 Tibetan refugees in India by broadcasting promises they will be treated with justice and mercy.

Observers along the Indian border say Chinese authorities are worried about recent publicity given to refugees' stories about conditions in Red-occupied Tibet.

Tibetans fleeing across the border have told of atrocities against groups resisting communism, methodical elimination of the Buddhist religion and a severe food shortage among the Tibetan people.

In recent weeks there have been reports of an upsurge of fighting against the Reds by Tibetans made desperate by oppression.

WORLD TRAVELER — Herbert Sparks, visiting his sister near Milford, can't seem to stay put. In 1900 he was shipwrecked in a 4-masted schooner on his way to Havana. Four years later he was in a railroad wreck in the middle of the Nevada desert. His entire life has been filled with travel, and for the last 15 months he has been touring the country in his hand-made house on a half-ton pickup truck. Hawaii is his next and last stop, he says.

Man Who 'Died' in 1900 Has Done a Heap of Livin'

For an individual who should have been dead 60 years ago Herbert Sparks is doing just fine at 82.

When he was 20, doctors told him he had six months to live, because he had the then more-often-fatal disease, tuberculosis. Herb had other ideas.

He packed a few belongings on his back of his bicycle and headed out into the open desert.

He peddled that bicycle day and night, sleeping and eating in the outdoors until he finally figured the TB was licked. And it was!

ROAMER EVER SINCE

It was through that experience that he got the wanderlust in his blood, "like a bug," he said, and has been roaming all over the United States and Canada ever since.

At present he is visiting his sister Pluma Sparks of 2565 Wixom Rd., near Milford.

Pluma hadn't seen her brother in a long time, but when she looked out the window and saw a big truck with a unique house built on the back, she knew her brother was there.

Sparks, a retired painter-carpenter and Jack-of-all-trades, designed and built his unusual house on a half ton truck after a windstorm blew away a tent in which he and his wife were sleeping. Mrs. Sparks died two years ago.

The 6-foot-3 gentleman knew exactly what he wanted, and went to work to get it. Half-inch lead pipes form the trailer's foundation.

Aluminum covered plywood is insulated against both heat and cold, and the four small opened windows are water-tight.

There is a tiny pitcher pump connected to a 15-gallon water tank, and the stove, sink and lavatory are all conveniently situated along one wall.

At the end, two bunks would fold out of the way if more room were needed.

'MICHIGAN BEATS ALL'

Sparks talks of the mighty forests of California, the engineering marvel of the Coolidge dam, of the times he lumbered through the "Smokies" and of the beautiful sunrises in his favorite state, Nevada.

"But Michigan beats 'em all for wonderful state parks," he said.

When he gets tired of gabbing with his sister and other relatives, Sparks plans to drive his truck-house back to California, sell it, then go to Hawaii, "to lie in the sun for the rest of my days."

S-P Stockholders Given Car Discounts

NEW YORK (UPI)—Studebaker-Packard Corp. has announced a shareholder purchase plan which enables the firm's stockholders to purchase Studebaker cars and trucks at $100 saving.

This is believed to be the first instance that the shareholders of any auto manufacturer have been given an opportunity to purchase their company's products on a preferential basis.

Under the plan, owners of one or more shares of Studebaker-Packard common or preferred stock or of a "when issued" contract, will get a $100 refund on a 1960 Lark, Hawk or Champ truck purchased during July, August or September.

Studebaker - Packard President Harold E. Churchill stated that the refund is in addition to any special rates being offered by dealers. The offer is not transferable and the $100 is not a dividend, he said.

IDEA PAYS OFF — Pontiac Motor Division General Manager Semon E. Knudsen (right) presents $5,000 award to Earl Pence, a pipefitter in the foundry, for his suggestion of an improved method of cleaning the sand molds prior to iron pouring. Pence, of 64010 Wolcott St., Washington Township, was the third Pontiac Motor employe to attain the new GM maximum award under the corporation's suggestion program.

Gets Pontiac Motor Award

Pipefitter Wins $5,000

A pipefitter in the Pontiac Motor Division foundry has become the third Pontiac employe to achieve the new maximum $5,000 award under the General Motors Suggestion Program.

Earl Pence of 64010 Wolcott St., Washington Township, a veteran of 20 years with the division, was totally amazed as he received the amount in U. S. Savings Bonds from S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac general manager.

"This is wonderful—I had only figured on $50," he said.

Pence's suggestion, an improved method of cleaning sand molds in preparation for iron pouring, has resulted in a considerable savings in foundry operational costs.

Pontiac employes have taken home more than $85,000 in suggestion award payments during the first five months of 1960. The Divisions average award approximately $100 is one of the highest in industry.

Graham Cites 'Moral Disease'

Prescribes Christ as Only Cure in Crusade at Washington Ball Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham told 12,000 people Monday night they were morally diseased" and the only cure was to "accept Christ."

Graham told the crowd at Griffith Stadium: "You look like a carat diamond to me, flawless. But when God puts on the glasses of righteousness he sees you're full of moral defects. He pronounces you morally sick. You're sinners."

To illustrate his talk, he told of giving his wife a diamond once so small it required a microscope to see it. Years later, Graham said, at an Atlantic City auction parlor, he thought he could get her something pretty good for $65.

DEFECTS HIDDEN

After he had bought the diamond, he said, he took it to a jeweler who appraised it at $40. It was full weight but had defects invisible to the naked eye.

"There is no doubt in my humble opinion that God is speaking to the nation," Graham said. "If we repent of our sins and turn to Him at this desperate hour, there is still time. If we do not, there is only one alternative—continuing decline of America as a world power and eventually disaster and catastrophe."

Vander Veen Comes Out for Con-Con

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Richard F. Vander Veen, local attorney who is seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, Monday added his name to supporters of the move to put the constitutional convention question on the November ballot.

The candidate signed a petition here as the Jaycees and the League stepped up their campaign throughout the state to get the necessary 231,000 petition signatures for the fall ballot.

He said he was officially joining with Gov. G. Mennen Williams and U.S. Sen. Phil Hart in supporting the con-con campaign because he considered the reapportionment problem one of the major ones facing Michigan today.

"The 1908 Constitution with its patchwork of amendments," he said, ". . . needs a comprehensive revision."

Vander Veen's bid for the nomination gained endorsement two weeks ago from the state AFL-CIO, which is opposed to the con-con petition campaign started by the state Junior Chamber of Commerce and League of Women Voters.

Labor Arbiters Backed by Court

High Tribunal Rulings Hold Settlement Not Judicial Function

WASHINGTON (AP)—The widespread system of letting outside neutrals judge labor-management grievances now has been given a good deal more finality and speed.

The Supreme Court held in a series of cases Monday that courts should steer clear of reviewing merits of grievances when an employer and union have agreed such complaints should be decided by arbitration.

The high court said in effect the courts have no business assuming an arbitrator's function. Even if a complaint is frivolous, the court said, its disposition is up to the arbitrator, not the courts.

Union spokesmen said the rulings give the arbitration process the broadest possible scope and a finality largely free from time-consuming court delays.

Many contracts have clauses agreeing to send any disputes to the binding decision of some neutral. A professional group of arbitrators has grown up.

In 1957 the Supreme Court ruled the obligation to submit grievances to arbitration, once undertaken in a labor-management contract, is enforceable by the courts.

A number of cases then developed on the propriety of arbitrating certain complaints. Three such cases appealed against employers by the United Steelworkers were decided by the Supreme Court in the union's favor Monday.

Justice Douglas wrote the majority opinions. In one, decided 8-0 with Justice Black taking no part, the union sought to have the American Manufacturing Co. reinstate an employe, John B. Sparks, who had incurred a back injury at work. Suit was filed in the U. S. District Court in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Lower federal courts refused to compel the company to send the case to an arbitrator, saying it was frivolous. The Supreme Court disagreed.

Senate Hope to Publicize Expense Accounts Dims

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Senate proposal to publicize the overseas expense accounts of globe-trotting Congress members goes to a not very bright future today in the House.

The House rejected a similar proposal in April. But backers of the new effort contend that recent disclosure of night club bills to the taxpayers by traveling House members might bring a different outcome.

The amendment was hooked onto the $129,719,510 annual legislative appropriation bill by a 56-23- vote. It would require publication of the detailed expense accounts once each year in the Congressional Record.

The over-all bill carries funds to pay the salaries of Congress members and their staffs, and finance many other congressional operations in the fiscal year starting July 1.

REPLACES RIVAL

Sens. John J. Williams (R-Del) and Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) sponsored the expense account amendment. It was adopted as a substitute for a rival plan which would have required only Senate members to disclose details of their overseas expense accounts.

Sens. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz), John Stennis (D-Miss) and other backers of this proposal predicted the House never would accept any Senate move to require House members to do anything. They contended the better approach was for the Senate to set an example, and hope the House would go along.

The issue is expected to wind up in a Senate-House conference committee, assigned to work out a compromise between the two branches.

Among items in the bill is $400,000 to restore to their original form the old Supreme Court chambers on the Capitol's first and second floors.

Senators will get a $100-a-year extra postage allowance from the bill, which raises the allowance for special delivery and air mail stamps to $550 a year.

Stennis, the bill's floor manager, told members the measure carries no additional funds for the new swimming pool the Senate is building for its members. He said the pool would cost about $44,000 and is being financed by funds left over from a 1958 legislative appropriation.

Candidates are judged on an impartial, nonpartisan scale solely on the basis of the candidate of each party best qualified for the office he is seeking, according to Basil E. Brown, chairman of the candidates comittee.

Floyd Patterson has come a long way in one year.

When he fought Brian London in Indianapolis and later Ingemar Johansson in 1959, Floyd looked more like a light heavyweight who was fighting the scrubs of the heavyweight class.

There was no doubt about last night's result. Patterson connected with perfection and it was Ingemar who had to prove he could take it.

Remembering the Patterson whom we saw last year, it hardly seemed sensible to go along with Floyd in this rematch.

But, Floyd proved his point and we accept defeat as a once-victorious prognosticator.

Best thing that happened to Floyd since the first fight was the absence of Cus D'Amato from his corner last night and during his training camp.

Patterson used to sound like a walking little puppet while D'Amato pulled the strings and double-talked his way for both of them in press and radio stories.

Floyd had the air of inferiority about him thanks to D'mato.

When D'Amato gets out of clink, Patterson would be wise to get out of his grasp if he can.

You can almost feel sure that Patterson's decision to change his style for the rematch is hardly what D'Amato would have permitted.

Johansson made it known he wasn't going to change his style, and we understand he even used the same steps in doing the waltz, rhumba and cha cha while in training camp.

Besides, Ingo didn't have the support of all of Sweden like he did the year ago. The Swedes didn't like the idea of him gathering up his loot and dumping it in a Swiss bank after winning the title.

Another factor in Floyd's favor beside the absence of D'Amato from his corner was the addition of what Patterson termed "punching pounds."

The addition of seven pounds, mostly around the shoulders, arms and neck gave him the sting he needed to daze the Swede.

Johansson never really got a chance to use the right handed "sock with a shock," but he found out that Patterson had come up with a left hook that shook him good a couple times.

Well, Patterson deserved to wear the crown once again, but in 90 days there will be a new fight, some new odds and even some new punches.

This writer might even get a new pair of pants to replace the ones we lost last night.

Least Surprised Man Over Chico's Success Is Chico

DETROIT (AP) — The least surprised man in the world about the success of Chico Fernandez is Chico Fernandez.

The fans, who had a who-cares attitude when the Detroit Tigers acquired him last winter, figured on a good-field, no-hit shortstop. Chico arrived with the reputation of a slick glove man who wouldn't hit much more than his weight, and who would give 100 per cent effort when he felt like it.

Manager Jimmie Dykes was not bubbling with enthusiasm when the deal was completed. In spring training, Fernandez had his customary early trouble at the plate, and Dykes wondered how far he could go with the lithe Cuban.

Now the season is more than one-third along and Dykes can't afford to take Fernandez out of the lineup. He's the club's leading hitter and his fielding has been even better than the advance reports said it was.

"I feel at home here," said Chico. "The people have treated me wonderfully nice. They seem to like me — maybe that makes me play better."

Chico has stayed in the lineup practically every day despite a rash of minor injuries and ailments. He had a severe chest cold for weeks and has been bothered by a pulled leg muscle and a jammed finger since.

"I don't want to sit, though," said Fernandez. "I have had enough of that."

Dykes doesn't want him to sit either. Chico missed the last three games with a finger injury — and no team likes to have its leading hitter on the bench. Dykes said Chico will return to action tonight when the Tigers take on the league-leading New York Yankees in the opener of a three-game series at Briggs Stadium. Detroit lost two of the three contests Fernandez missed.

Fernandez is hitting .277 and is the team's best bunter and leading base stealer. Already he has banged out 48 hits — nearly twice as many as he collectde all of 1959 — and he has 11 extra base hits.

He Becomes First Heavyweight Boxer to Regain Crown

Patterson Win Makes Ring History

TITLE CHANGES HANDS — Two doctors enter the ring to minister to unconscious Ingemar Johansson as happy handlers lift Floyd Patterson after Patterson kayoed Ingo in the 5th round last night at the Polo Grounds in New York City to regain his heavyweight title.

Lightning Left Puts Johansson to Sleep in 5th

Floyd Changed Fighter in His Return Battle With Ingemar

The solemn-faced, 25-year-old New Yorker became the first former heavyweight champion ever to regain the title when he knocked out the handsome, hard-hitting Swede with a leaping left hook in 1:51 of the fifth round at the ancient Polo Grounds Monday night.

"I think it was the hardest blow I ever hit anyone," said the elated recrowned Patterson. "For the first time I feel I'm a real champion. I think the public finally will accept me. At least, I hope so.

"I told Ingemar he positively will get a third shot. I'd like it soon. In 90 days, if possible. I'm going to be a real champion."

"I'm going to think it over" said the downcast Johansson when asked if he wanted the third fight. Then he was whisked away. It was his first defeat in a pro career of 23 fights.

He had soared to the championship heights last June 26 by demolishing Patterson on a seven-knockdown, third-round technical knockout. Now his castles had crumbled, his invincibility had been shattered, and he found it hard to talk.

In regaining the most lucrative prize in sports, the young, broad-shouldered Negro succeeded where eight other ring greats, including Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis, had failed.

At 21, Patterson went into the record books as the youngest heavyweight champion by flattening ancient Archie Moore with a devastating left hook in the fifth round at Chicago, Nov. 30, 1956.

Never again had he demonstrated the power of that jolting hook until Monday night. First he felled the 194¾ pound champion early in the fifth round for a nine-count. Then he did it again with a leaping left that had all of his 190 pounds — the heaviest weight of his career — behind it.

The strong Swede hit the canvas flat on his back. He was out cold. Referee Artie Mercante, officiating in his first heavyweight title fight, could have counted 500 over him. It was several minutes before Ingo was propped up on a stool in the ring and several more minutes before he was able to leave the bedlam and madness for the cathedral-like stillness of his dressing room.

It could have been different if the powerful Viking had been able to follow up his best punch of the night in the second round. He nailed Floyd high on the head with the old "toonder and lightning" right early in the round. This was almost the same type of punch that started Floyd on the way out a year ago.

Patterson was stunned but he was able to retreat. Ingo went after his foe cautiously, poking with his left repeatedly. He didn't get in the followup right. And by the end of the round Patterson had regained his full senses.

That, it turned out, was Ingo's last chance. It was the only round he got from the officials.

HE'S CHAMP AGAIN — A smile appears on face of Floyd Patterson as his hand is raised in dressing room following his 5th-round knockout of Ingemar Johansson last night in New York's Polo Grounds. Patterson is the first fighter in history to regain the heavyweight crown.

Ingo's Training Revolt Bows to Spartan Style

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson threatened to revolutionize the time-honored routine of fight training, but the revolution is over.

When Floyd Patterson demolished the handsome Swede in winning back the world heavyweight title at the Polo Grounds Monday night it was a victory for Spartan training over the plush country club atmosphere.

Johansson astounded the critics with his casual, playboy approach to the first fight a year ago. When he stopped Patterson in three rounds and won the title, the general idea was that down through the years fighters had been unnecessarily punishing themselves to get into condition.

Ingemar had made believers of the fans with his easy-does-it system, and when he followed the same routine preparing for his title defense there was no criticism. He would dance. He would journey to New York from Grossinger, a trip of more than 100 miles, to appear on television. He would play golf, and ride horseback, and swim, and otherwise enjoy himself.

He lived in the family circle, and it was one big holiday for his parents, his brother and his wife, and his comely fiancee.

Patterson had been holed up in a bleak, abandoned old road house hidden away on a byroad in Connecticut. He had been there since last fall, leading the rugged life with only his trainer and sparring partners as company.

Little Charley Goldman, who trained Rocky Marciano throughout his undefeated career as champion, thinks he has at least part of the answer to Johansson's crushing defeat.

Marciano also trained at Grossinger's, but he isolated himself in an old farmhouse high up on a hilltop. There were no frills, no social life. It was early to bed and early to rise, and work and rest under the watchful eye of the canny Goldman, who had the quaint idea a fighter should train for a fight.

"Johansson was training as if he was going to do six rounds of sparring," Goldman said after watching Patterson take out the Swede in the fifth round.

"He was working on coordination, and speed, and he forgot all about leverage. He thought he was strong enough.

"He'd take his road work in the morning, and then play golf, or ride horses, or take a swim, or dance, instead of resting. When it came time for him to go through his workout he already was tired. He couldn't put much into it.

"Patterson didn't change his style much for this fight, except to be more aggressive. He just fought his fight, and was ready to fight his fight.

"It was just a case of the other fellow not being ready. He didn't have the strength.

"Patterson trained for a fight. Johansson trained for a light sparring session. That's all there was to it."

St. Paul Keeps Avon League Slate Clean

A forfeit from Avondale Baptists yesterday gave St. Paul Methodists their 4th straight Avondale Church Softball League victory, and maintained their clean slate.

In other loop contests Judah Lake Baptists won a 4-3 tilt from Lake Orion RLDS, with Dick Rathburn knocking in the winning runs with a 5th inning double. United Presbyterians defeated First Church of God 6-5 on a 6th frame "walk-in." Elmwood ME won, 5-4 over Stone Baptists when Gary Acker singled in the winner, and Emmanuel Baptists defeated Pontiac RLDS 14-12, on a triple in the 6th.

Gophers' Nine Wins 2nd Title

Trips USC, 2-1, in 10 Innings; Winning Tally 'Walked In'

OMAHA (AP)—Minnesota has joined the elite group of schools that have won two NCAA college baseball world series championships in the 14-year-old history of the event.

And in beating Southern California 2-1 Monday night in 10 innings the Big Ten kings kept the West Coast school from becoming the first to win three titles. The others with a pair of championships are the University of California and Texas.

Sharp eyes at the plate brought Minnesota its victory in the third extra inning game of the series withr Southern Cal.

After Dave Pflepson doubled and John Erickson was intentionally walked, Tom Moe and Cal Rolloff each drew walks from pitcher Ken Yaryan to force the winning run home.

Jim Ratz pitched all the way for Minnesota and limited the Trojans to four hits.

Cannon and AFL Win 1st Round in Pro-Grid War

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The count was 1-0 in favor of the American Football League today in the new league's player war with the old National League.

And All-America halfback Billy Cannon was free to play for the Houston Oilers of the AFL, instead of the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL.

Federal Judge William J. Lindberg Monday denied the Rams' injunction suit to keep Cannon from playing for the Oilers. It appeared the ruling against the Rams was a combination based on technicalities and moral issues.

The court blasted NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for conducting the Cannon contract negotiators in a "shroud of secrecy" when Rozelle was the Rams' general manager last November.

Wednesday's schedule includes classes A-B-C, USET test in the morning. Classes E-D (Class C is also a AHSA test as is D-E). Class D is medal, "E" an open event. Intermediate dressage event is set for Wednesday evening.

The "big" event gets under way Thursday, with Michigan Hunt Perpetual (junior) Challenge trophy event the opener. The spectacular knock-down-and-out event open equitation (juniors), Ladies' working hunters, the tough BOH "Big Jumping Event" (Mountain Breeze Memorial Trophy) mark the afternoon and evening show Thurday.

Among the Pointe winners, last weekend and one of the good juniors listed for the Detroit Horse Show is 13-year-old Alison Cram of Birmingham. Alison, a BOH winner a year ago, rode her favorite mount Sonnino for a repeat victory in junior hunting seat equitation. Bob Egan, Bloomfield Hills, was close to smith in points being edged by Grey Pennant's win over Egan's (and Ruth Hardin) Mr. Deliberate in the hunter conformation events.

The show runs through Sunday, including morning afternoon and evening performances.

Aaron, Jay Combination Boosts Braves to 2nd

Hank Aaron broke loose, Joey Jay finally won one and the Milwaukee Braves are up in second place in the National League for the first time since the first week of the season.

Aaron, batting a chilly .279 with only one home run in 17 games, hammered two homers and drove in three runs while Pal Joey pitched 6 2-3 innings of four-hit, shutout relief for a 4-1 victory over Los Angeles Monday night. It was Jay's first success since last September, and his first over the Dodgers in two years.

With no other games scheduled in the NL, the Braves pushed within four games of first-place Pittsburgh and jumped past San Francisco into second by seven percentage points. The Giants open a four-game series at Milwaukee with a twi-night doubleheader tonight.

Aaron, last year's bat champ with a .355 average, upped his current mark to .284 and triggered a winning, two-run second inning with a leadoff homer off Don Drysdale. Aaron walked on four pitches—three of them brushing him back—in the third inning, hit his 15th home run of the year leading off the sixth and then drove in another while grounding into a force play against reliever Ed Palmquist in the seventh.

Drysdale (4-9) now has lost five in a row and eight of his last nine. He gave up all of Milwaukee's nine hits in this one, walking one and striking out six.

Jay, whose only other decision was a losing relief job against Pittsburgh two months ago, struck months ago, struck out three and walked one. He came on in the third after starter Bob Buhl, the Dodgers killer, gave up four walks in the inning, but didn't allow a hit.

Jay, a big right-hander who had lost four in a row to the Dodgers since July 11, 1958, stopped Wally Moon's hitting streak at 15 games and allowed only two singles until the ninth. Two hits and a walk loaded the bases with two out, but Jay then got pinch-hitter Irv Noren on a foul pop.

While the Braves put away their fifth victory in the past six games, the sixth place Dodgers slipped 10½ games behind Pittsburgh, although Roger Craig did manage a return. The right-handed ace of last season's pennant push worked one perfect inning of relief—his first work since suffering a broken collarbone May 2.

The seventh-place A's beat the last-place Red Sox with a tie-breaking, three-run seventh that was capped by Harry Chiti's home run with a man on.

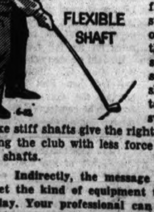
Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "I'm losing my power."

DIAGNOSIS: Not changing with the times.

TREATMENT: The message here today is addressed mostly to you golfers who are growing older and hitting the ball shorter. A man must expect to lose some swing power with advancing age, of course, but there are ways to keep the loss at the minimum.



One major way is to get equipment that suits your style of play. Softer (more flexible) shafts, for instance, will accommodate older players better than the stiffer shafts that are suitable for younger and stronger players. The shaft should give a certain amount during the swing. Strong players can make stiff shafts give the right amount, while those who swing the club with less force should have more yielding shafts.

Indirectly, the message applies to all players: get the kind of equipment that suits your style of play. Your professional can best advise you about this.

Whatever, your style of play, you are spotting the opposition strokes if you use equipment that is unsuitable.

Miss Hard Opens Play for Wimbledon Crown

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Bouncy Darlene Hard, the Montebello, Calif., pre-medical student, starts her quest for the Wimbledon women's tennis title today—one of the big ones that has eluded her.

Miss Hard had a hand in all three U.S. points in the Wightman Cup competition less than two weeks ago and appears to be at the top of her game.

"I feel good and hope I can go all the way," said the Pomona (Calif.) College coed before taking the court for her first round test against Anne Shilcock of Britain.

Two of Darlene's top rivals for the title, top-seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil and Christine Truman of Britain, also have first round matches on tap.

Miss Bueno, the U.S. women's champion last year, played Christiane Mercelis of Belgium and the tall Miss Truman tangled with Pat Hird of Britain.

Other Americans who swung into action today included Wightman Cup Captain Janet Hopps of Seattle, Mrs. Dorothy Knode of the Canal Zone, Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., and Mrs. Laura Bryan of Clearwater, Calif.

In Monday's action, the only disappointment among the U.S. men's delegation was Ron Holmberg, a big, blond from Brooklyn, who was upset in the first round by Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, 4-6, 8-6, 6-3, 10-8.

Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and Earl (Butch) Bucholz of St. Louis, the U.S. Davis Cup pair, both advanced to the second round.

MacKay dumped Jose Arilla of Spain, 6-2, 6-4, 7-5, and Buchholz eliminated Jaime Couder, also of Spain, 6-3, 9-7, 2-6, 6-2.

Top-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia, current U.S. amateur king, warmed up at the expense of Franz Hainka of Austria, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4.

Wiegand Jaycee Medalist Again

Mike Wiegand, 17-year-old St. Michael High School student, won medal honors in the Waterford Jaycee Junior tourney for the 2nd consecutive year yesterday over PCC's par 37-37—74 course.

Wiegand matched par exactly as he toured the 18-hole layout in steady fashion for a 37-37—74 scorecard to top a field of 23 teen-age golfers.

Wiegand, who will be a senior next fall at St. Mike, was three strokes better than his nearest rival, Volney Bayley Jr. of Walled Lake.

Five places were at stake for the Michigan Jaycee event scheduled in August at Ann Arbor, and joining Wiegand in the select qualifying group were Bayley, Roger Tallman of Pontiac, Tom Balkwell of Pontiac and Ron Pulleyblank of Waterford.

Pat Secoy, diminutive St. Frederick player, just missed joining the elite quintet after shooting an 87 and becomes the No. 1 alternate for the State Jaycee test.

Trophies were presented to the three leading performers — Wiegand, Bayley and Tallman — by the Waterford Jaycee Chapter.

The boys were honored at a dinner in the PCC dining room following the tourney and Charles Carter, tournament chairman, awarded the trophies to the three best shooters.

FIRST 'GILL ENTRY — Here's part of the boy, mother and dad team that brought in The Press' first official bluegill contest entry, today. The entry was a 9¼-inch, 10½-ounce fish caught by Craige Rickey Hook, 11, holding fish, at Orchard Lake. His mother took a 10-ouncer and dad, Ralph, an 8-ounce fish. The Hooks live at 2696 Mott street. The 1959 top 'gill was a 10½-inch, 1-pound, 4-ounce fish.

Sally Sets Pace as Expected

Just as everyone expected, Sally Sharp of Forest Lake forged into the first-round lead of the Women's District Golf Association 54-hole Medal Play Championship.

Miss Sharp, ready to gun for more district and state amateur honors now that her first year of school teaching is finished, bettered par by one stroke Monday in the opening round of the annual tournament.

Sally rifled a 36-41—77, one under women's par at Meadowbrook Country Club, for a commanding three-shot advantage over her nearest foe, Mrs. John Hume, who carded 39-41—80.

Eighteen holes were on the docket today and the concluding 18 holes set for tomorrow at the plush Meadowbrook course.

Mrs. Keith (Susie) LeClair of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Robert Gamble shared 3rd place entering today's 2nd round with 82s, followed by Mrs. H. G. Marquardt and Mrs. J. G. Israel at 84.

Mrs. Sam (Sue) Gawne of Bloomfield Hills came next with 43-42—85 and in close pursuit were Mrs. Bruce Hilkene and Mrs. F. L. Thompson Jr. with 86 and 87, respectively.

Mrs. C. P. Mehas of Pine Lake was further down the list with 44-47—91.

Miss Sharp is shooting for her 2nd straight WDGA 54-hold championship. She won the women's triple golfing crown two years ago. She is now an overwhelming choice to win the Meadowbrook event.

State's Golfers Running Behind

DENVER (AP)—Michigan entries were well off the pace entering today's final 18-hole qualifying round in the NCAA golf championships.

William Seanor of Stanford led the field with a 2-under-par 69 in yesterday's 18-hole round with Ohio State's Jack Nicklaus second with 70.

Michigan State's Tad Schmidt and Tim Baldwin were tied at 76. Schmidt had a 38-38 yesterday and Baldwin a 37-39. C. A. Smith of Michigan State had a 41-39—80 and his teammate Ty Caplin had a 40-41—81.

Mike Conroy of the University of Detroit had a 42-40—82 Peter Green of North Carolina, a Franklin, Mich. golfer, shot a 39-38—77.

Florida led in the team scores with a 292 while Michigan State had a 313 in 21st place.

Dalrymple and Gajda Among Five to Earn National Berths

GROSSE POINTE (AP)—Herb Marcussen, 28-year-old assistant pro at the Country Club of Detroit, turned eligible just in time to win the Michigan qualifying round for the PGA Championship on his home course yesterday.

The tall blond shot a three-under-par 71-70—141 for the 36-hole qualifying test. The other four places allowed Michigan for the PGA Championship in Akron, Ohio, July 21-24,, went to John Dalyrmple, Mike Dietz and John Barnum, 143, and Bob Gajda, 146.

Marcussen, formerly of Lansing and former assistant pro from the city of Detroit, topped a field of 45.

Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills and Chick Harbert of Livonia, both former PGA champions, were exempt from qualifying, automatically being eligible at Akron.

Like Marcussen, Dalyrmple is a little known golfer. He is pro at Lakepointe Country Club in St. Clair Shores. Dietz, formerly a pro at Paw Paw, is now a public relations man for a Phoenix, Ariz., motel. Barnum, pro at Grand Rapids' Blythefield Country Club, is one of the state's strongest hitters.

Gajda, Forest Lake Country Club pro who frequents the winter tours, sank an 18-foot putt on the 36th hole, just averting a five-way tie for fifth place.

Among the casualties in yesterday's action were Al Watrous, one of Michigan's all-time great golfers, who fired a 150, and Eldon Briggs, assistant pro at the Detroit Golf Club, who just missed a 147.

Briggs was a qualifier in the recent U.S. Open in Denver, but he failed to qualify for the final 36 holes.

Another casualty yesterday was Pontiac's Gene Bone, the 28-year-old Warick Hills pro, who just missed out with a 147 scoreboard on rounds of 72-75.

New Cars, Devices Tempting

Rail Equipment Sale Due for Rise

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—One group looking for a silver lining in the railroads' well-publicized competitive and financial plight is the makers of rail equipment.

They expect to profit, not from the standard freight cars of yesterday but the new and special equipment of today and tomorrow.

They see the railroads turning to the new in a coming do-or-die battle to get more of the nation's products back on the rails.

Already the equipment makers have reported order and output gains after a dreary time in the 1958 recession.

The Department of Commerce predicts railroads will spend more than one billion dollars for new plant and equipment this year, or 92 million dollars more than last year. The equipment builders are rolling out new devices to tempt still further spending.

The Commerce Department also is promising to try to gain them a greater share of the foreign market, which last year came to 120 million dollars. Many American builders complain of foreign tariffs and sometimes foreign specifications that bar U.S. bidders, even when—they contend—the items under U.S. specifications would be as good or better.

TO NEED EQUIPMENT

The backlot of equipment orders here is still high, although new orders are lagging of late. But some immediate help is looked for from more ordering of piggy back equipment—and if labor unions and federal agencies relax their stands, more buying of expensive automation equipment.

Modernization of freight equipment now offered the roads has gained steady ground of late.

John W. Scallan, president of the American Railway Car Institute, contends that "the railroads are entering a new era. Where once only a minimum of special equipment and service was provided, today shippers have their choice of a wide variety of equipment specifically designed to do a special freight-moving job."

One of the latest developments cited is a triple deck auto carrying car. This 85-foot car, made by Pullman-Standard, is being used by the Frisco Railroad to carry 12 full-size autos or 15 compacts.

The Pacific Fruit Express Co. is installing new insulated refrigerator car doors made from plastics developed by Koppers Co. and Borg-Warner Corp. The doors are said to save 400 to 500 pounds in weight.

American Car & Foundry has introduced a covered hopper car which can be unloaded neumatically through a hose directly into trucks. Other companies are also active in this field. General American Transportation Co. for several years has produced an air-slide flour car.

One maker of covered hoppers, Magor Car Corp., is using aluminum for increased payload, and eventually for high scrap value.

The nailable steel floor is being pushed. This can withstand high wheel loads when lift trucks are loading cargo and also allows driving nails to anchor cargo.

Taking a tip from German producers, the Greenville Steel Car Co. has a car aimed at transporting massive electric generators and transformers, with a load capacity of 250 tons. Its two parts are anchored to opposite ends of the load, making the load an actual part of the car.

Perhaps the most noticeable change is the trend toward longer freight cars. A few years ago the standard flat car was 40 to 50 feet long. Today the 85-foot car is on the way to becoming commonplace.

24 States Eye House Changes

California May Gain Eight Seats as Result of 1960 Census

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twenty-four states probably will gain or lose seats in the House of Representatives under the new census.

Preliminary figures indicate California, with its rapidly expanding population, will be the big winner. It stands to pick up eight seats, boosting its total to 38. A gain of seven had been estimated earlier.

Florida would add four, making its total 12.

New York and Pennsylvania probably will lose three each.

The House delegations from 20 other states would be increased or decreased one or two members apiece.

Final census figures could change these estimates. But it is unlikely that more than two or three states would be included in any later changes.

The Census Bureau had estimated 17 months ago that 18 states were likely to gain or lose seats under the 1960 population count.

An Associated Press computation based on the official formula for apportionment shows the preliminary figures indicate these other changes since the last official estimate:

New Jersey, Ohio and Maryland probably will gain one seat each. These gains had not been anticipated.

Texas and Michigan are likely to gain one new seat each instead of the two predicted earlier.

President Eisenhower must get the final population figures for each state, along with the Census Bureau's plan for reapportioning the House, by Dec. 1. Census officials hope to get them to him early in October.

The President will send the prospective reapportionment to Congress early in January. Congress may make changes in the plan. The revised allocation will go into effect with the 1962 congressional elections.

Dope Traffic Heavy Over California Line

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk says narcotics smuggling has reached the point where marijuana is being shipped into Southern California in half-ton lots and heroin in two-pound packages.

Dope traffic has hit disaster proportions, the attorney general said Monday night, and "if it were any other disaster, I feel that the federal government would have sent help long ago."

Mosk told the California Veterans of Foreign Wars convention there is so much marijuana and heroin on the Southern California market that an addict can get heroin caps for as little as $2 in Los Angeles.

Raps Planning for Arms Talks

Humphrey Says U. S. Not Properly Ready for Any of 4 Confabs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today the United States was not properly prepared for any of the four major international arms control conferences in the past two years.

He urged Congress to appropriate $400,000 for the State Department "to start the most important of its studies immediately"—that of preparation for arms control negotiations.

"There are signs that, either through inaction or inability, we are permitting the weapons development race to proceed much faster than the race for effective means of control," Humphrey said in testimony prepared for the Senate Appropriations Committee.

FIND COUNTER MEASURE

"As we are determining scientific means of detecting and inspecting in one area of arms control, a counter measure, such as the decoupling theory in hiding underground explosions, is discovered, or a newer and more devastating weapon is produced, thus increasing the scope of disarmament problems," Humphrey said.

* * *

Of disarmament conferences in recent years, Humphrey said, "I know of no responsible individual associated with them who will say we were prepared." Humphrey said Raymond Hare, deputy undersecretary of state, had testified before a House committee that there was a lack of sustained study in this field.

Judge Delays Date for Hoffa Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. District Judge Joseph R. Jackson has decided not to set a new trial date for Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa for the time being, attorneys for Hoffa said today.

James E. Haggerty and Jacob Kossman, Hoffa's lawyers, attended a conference today with Judge Jackson and counsel for court-appointed monitors who are charged with supervising a Teamsters corruption cleanup.

The monitors have sought Hoffa's trial on civil proceedings that he should be ousted from union office on grounds he has misused union funds for personal business ventures in alleged violation of his obligations under the monitor arrangement.

Gunaca's Application for Parole Deferred

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—The parole application of John Gunaca, convicted of beating up a striker who returned to work at the Kohler Co., Sheboygan, has been deferred for six months.

Sanger Powers, director of the correction division of the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare, said the application of the 37-year-old Detroiter will be considered again in October.

Gunaca was sentenced to a three-year prison term in June 1959 for assault to commit great bodily harm. The worker, William Birsch Sr., died about a year and a half after the beating.

Gunaca, a member of the United Auto Workers, had no prior prison record before the incident in the bitter contest between the UAW and the Sheboygan plumbing fixtures firm.

He is said to have made a good institutional adjustment, but the welfare board also noted the seriousness of the offense and the community reaction as reasons for deferring action on parole.

State Treasury Dry After Pay to Schools

LANSING (AP)—The State Treasury's hard-pressed general fund was ordered drained again today by payouts of $39,400,000, including $6,500,000 for state university operations.

Of the total, $15,100,000 was channeled by the State Administrative Board into special reserves for sales tax and intangibles tax distributions to local governments due next month.

The University of Michigan was allocated $3,000,000 of the higher education money, Michigan State University $2,300,000, and Wayne State $1,200,000, all for settlement of June installments against 1959-60 state appropriations.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown told the board there was no change in the outlook for a fiscal year end deficit of over 70 million dollars as of June 30.

Driver Fined in Lapeer, Faces Macomb Trial

A Shelby Township man, whose car smashed into another vehicle near Lapeer, then sped into more trouble Sunday night near Romeo, has been fined in one county and faces trial in the other.

Robert Van Horn, 24, of 52500 Van Dyke, pleaded guilty in a Lapeer County court today on a charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident. He paid a $40 fine plus $10 court costs.

When arraigned yesterday in Macomb County Justice Court, Van Horn stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered for him on a count of driving with a revoked license. He was released on $500 bond.

Trial was set for July 12.

The chain of events which resulted in Van Horn's double arrest started when Trooper John Bassett got the license of Van Horn's car after seeing it hit another vehicle on M21 near Lapeer.

The trooper had stayed at the scene to help the driver of the struck car rather than give chase.

A short time later, State Trooper Henry DeLooff spotted Van Horn's car speeding toward Romeo.

FENNVILLE (AP) — Two-year-old Robert Marfia strangled accidentally, police said, while attempting to climb out of a rabbit pen Monday in the barn at his farm home. The boy was one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marfia. Police said he was trapped by the neck by the wooden pen top which apparently fell on him as he clambered out.

Stocks Jumbled in Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—Profits were taken in recent favorites early this afternoon as the stock market presented a jumbled picture. Trading was active.

Some speculative favorites dipped 2 or 4 points. Here and there a stock moved ahead strongly on the basis of recommendations or other special factors.

The general list of key stocks, however, was a mixture of gains and losses kept generally within a 1-point range. A number of issues showed little or no change.

Airlines were steady to higher following recent gains on fare hike news. Chemicals was mostly lower after backing away from an assortment of early gains.

The pattern was irregular for motors, steels, oils, aircrafts, electronics and utilities. Rails were slightly ahead on balance.

Standard Kollsman, last week's most active gainer, was down 4 points as turnover continued heavy in this issue following a ban placed on "stop" orders in the stock by the New York Stock Exchange. These are orders placed in advance at specified prices and lead to "bunching" of transactions.

Collins Radio fell more than 3 and International Business Machines about 4. Other recent favorites were Commercial Solvents, down 2, and NAFI, off about 3.

Trading interest switched to Paramount Pictures, up more than 2 on top of yesterday's rise of 3¾. Brokers said the chart pattern of Paramount looked like a breakout to traders. Hammond Organ spurted about 2 following a brokerage house recommendation.

Minnesota Mining, which has made great strides in recent weeks, plummeted 6⅝ to 77 on successive blocks of 3,000 and 1,500 shares.

School Board secretary Ted Lamb said the parents of Irma Jean Routen had written a letter saying she was interested in taking band at Central High School. Lamb said the reason for the reassignment was a letter from Central's band director saying he had 85 students signed up for band this fall and could not handle more.

Grain Prices Steady Following Decline

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices steadied somewhat today on a little better demand following the fairly broad general declines of yesterday.

There was further weakness in rye but other grains were narrowly mixed and new crop soybeans moved into a firm range during the first several minutes of dealings on the Board of Trade.

Dealers said there appeared to be no new significant market factors and that commercial demand was light all around.

IMPORTANT Medical Facts For Every Man Who Has Passed His 40th Birthday
Men, too, Go Thru 'Change of Life'
DOCTORS CALL IT "MALE CLIMACTERIC"
New Safe Discovery Compounded For Counteracting Effect on Body and Blood Changes Due to Usual Deficiencies That Often Occur During Middle Age.
Doctors, employers and scientists all agree that after the first 40 years, the human body undergoes important normal changes. This change occurs in MEN as well as WOMEN! Men, if you are over 40, in good health . . . but feel nervous, physically weak in legs, back and arms, can't sleep, find it difficult to make decisions . . . are quick-tempered, always tired and suffer from that terrible "what's the use" feeling . . . chances are, you are going through "change of life," or as doctors call it, MALE CLIMACTERIC. And at this time it's more important than ever that your system isn't deficient in the very vitamins and minerals nature created to counteract and offset the distressing symptoms of these "after 40" body and blood changes. Amazing new power-packed capsules called RED ROOSTER PILLS, have been created especially for men and women over 40 . . . each hospital recognized ingredient carefully chosen and carefully compounded for its benefit on every man and woman . . . Yes, one potent RED ROOSTER PILL daily feeds your system a special and particular combination of Vitamins and Minerals to supply your blood, body organs, glands and nerves, including blood-building red Vitamin B-12, the vitamin Germ of Wheat E, stimulating B-1, Iron, Calcium, Phosphorus, Iodine and other potent Vitamins and Minerals. Don't be deprived of life's pleasures by these nutritional deficiencies when science has given you a second chance to recharge body and blood this new easy way.
Amazing New "Health in a Tablet" Discovery You've Long Heard Was Coming. Every Ingredient Works Immediately To Help Strengthen Body and Blood.
Just recently a well-known scientist perfected RED ROOSTER PILLS. He combined a group of the RECOGNIZED VITAMINS and MINERALS most often needed by men after 40. Common sense, and your doctor . . . will tell you vital organs often require the supplement of different vitamins and minerals in different amounts at maturity than they do during younger years. Amazing RED ROOSTER PILLS were created specifically to provide a rich source of these essentials, needed by mature men and women. ORDER NOW!
Don't Surrender to Old Age Until You Have Made This Test
What Is Climacteric? . . . Medical dictionaries tell us "climacteric" is the time of life when the body undergoes a radical change. The first change, when boys become men and girls become women, is usually between the ages of 13-17—another change again occurs usually between 40 and 50.
Who Does It Affect? . . . Both men and women. In women it is called "menopause" or "Change of life" . . . in men, doctors call it "male climacteric."
What Are The Common Symptoms? . . .
Because the body and blood are undergoing important changes during climacteric, the entire system may become upset and symptoms are varied. Men are usually exteremely nervous, tire easily, become irritable, feel weak in arms, legs and back and often are very "crabby." Often there are "hot flashes" accompanied by that "what's the use" feeling. And very often a special supplementary source of certain vitamins and minerals is needed such as you find in this important discovery called RED ROOSTER PILLS.
What Can Be Done? . . .
Medical science has discovered many medicines that can tide you over the difficult "change of life" period. Today RED ROOSTER PILLS supply the body with an unusual combination of vitamins and minerals so often needed during this period. Full month's supply only $5.00 . . . be absolutely delighted with results or cheerful, unquestioned refund.

West Boulevard Hearing Sought

Petition to Schedule Meeting on Vacating Road Due Tonight

The City Commission will be asked tonight to schedule a public hearing July 26 on the proposal to vacate most of West boulevard in the Oakland County Service Center. The long-awaited move could take place later the same night.

The county wants to close West boulevard and build a new service drive. West boulevard at present runs through the site chosen for future expansion of the new courthouse.

The county plans have been okayed by both the city and county planning commissioner.

Before agreeing to the plan, the City Commission elicited a promise that the county would pay for the new service drive, and maintain it, too.

In other business, cost estimates are ready for three big curb and gutter projects on the east side.

The proposal is to improve Clifford, Russell and Seward streets from Auburn avenue to Osmun street. The cost breakdown for curbs, gutters, grading, graveling and related work is: Clifford — assessed cost for curb and gutter, $18,150; assessed cost for sewer stubs, $1,800; city share, $20,310; total $40,310.

Russell — assessed cost for curb and gutter, $18,224; assessed cost for sewer stubs, $863; city share, $30978; total, $50,066.

Seward — assessed cot for curb and gutter, $18,129; assessed cost for sewer stubs, $972; city share, $11,024; total, $30,125.

Talk at Lockheed in Wage Deadlock

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed and representatives of the striking International Assn. of Machinists resumed negotiations today but there was no sign of a break in the deadlock over wages and other contract demands.

A company spokesman denied union charges Monday that the company was trying to break the strike by hiring students. He said the employment of 183 young people was part of the regular annual summer program of hiring students.

"There is nothing at all unusual about it," he said. "We had 1,500 applications for the 400 jobs in various categories."

The IAM is demanding general, across-the-board increase of seven per cent, including fringe benefits. The average wage is $2.65.

Olivier, Bergman and Stack

Three Movie Pros Win Top Emmies

Harry Belafonte became the first Negro ever to win an Emmy.

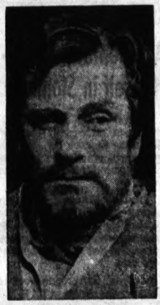
His award was accepted by Charlton Heston, this year's movie Oscar winner, who said: "I will say something that Larry would not say himself — he deserves it."



LAURENCE OLIVIER

Both Olivier and Miss Bergman, a two-time Oscar winner, were in Europe. The Swedish actress won her first TV award for the chilling "Turn of the Screw."

Stack, who plays the gang-busting Elliott Ness in "The Untouchables," would have won even if he had lost.

His boss, Desi Arnaz, had a $12,000 Mercedes Benz sports roadster waiting for him in the parking lot.

"I was going to give it to you win or lose," Arnaz told the flabbergasted Stack.

Stack won his Emmy as the best actor in a series. The award for the best actress in a series went to Jane Wyatt, the wife and mother of the Anderson family in "Father Knows Best."

Belafonte won for the best performance in a variety or musical program. He accepted his Emmy from Fred Astaire, who also was nominated for the award.

Belafonte thanked all his cast members and then turned to the smiling Astaire and said: "Sorry, Fred."

Carney, competing with such top bananas as Danny Thomas, Jack Benny and Red Skelton, won his award for the "Art Carney Special Show—VIP."

The show, staged and telecast from both Hollywood and New York, gave other Emmys to:

Playhouse 90 for the best drama show:

CBS' "Fabulous Fifties," best variety program.

The Huntley-Brinkley Report, best news program.

CBS' "20th Century," best public affairs program.

Jack Benny's four writers, best comedy writing.

"Huckleberry Hound," a cartoon series, the first syndicated show ever to win an Emmy, won for the most outstanding children's program.

Young Negroes 'Have Had It'

NAACP Attorney Says They're Fed Up With Discrimination

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Negroes in the United States are protesting against "the whole rotten system of discrimination." The chief counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said Monday night.

Marshall, who has enigneered many of the NAACP's most important legal victories, said young people of the South are serving notice on the conscience of the United States that Negroes "have had it," and are "not going to take it any more."

NOT JUST BURGER

"They're not protesting to get a hamburger," said Marshall. "They can get that in the Negro greasy spoon around the corner. They're protesting against the whole policy of too little and too late."

He said Supreme Court decisions have spelled the eventual legal end of segregation, but the "cleaning up is not moving fast enough."

Young people in the South, he said, have recognized that "there is a wave of change sweeping over Africa, there's a wave of change sweeping over Asia, there is a wave of change sweeping over Turkey, and there is a wave of change sweeping over Korea."

"What makes the United States think that we can have nothing but a little breeze here?" he asked.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, said major issues to be considered at the six-day convention include obtaining voting rights for Negroes in the South, speeding up school desegregation and broadening job opportunities for Negroes.

Borrowed Diamonds Guarded at Party

By EARL WILSON

FORT WORTH — The wife, and I eat a lot of fancy vittles around New York, but we hankered to come back to the barbecued rib country. We drove out to a place known as Jack's—which is run by Mrs. Jack and an oven. They serve you delicious main course barbecue rib dinners there, and if you ask for an appetizer, why, they give you a barbecued rib.

WILSON

Ostensibly the wife and I came down here for culture (but actually, it was for the ribs).

We love culture, especially when you can get barbecued ribs with it. It was Jule Styne Day and Jule Styne Night at the most splendiferous theater-in-the-round in the country. It was a week or two ago, but I can still taste the ribs.

As a special Texas touch, Emmeline Henry, playing the Carol Channing, or Lorelei Lee role, $5,000,000 worth—or was it $5,000,000,000 worth? — of Harry Winston diamonds instead of rhinestones.

And as another special Texas touch, they had five of the loviest showgirls in America in the cast.

ANN

At a big party afterward who should be wearing the $5,000,000 or $5,000,000,000 worth of diamonds, but the showgirls?

"But it's too much," protested Gloria Kristy to me. "They won't let us go to the ladies' room."

"Why not, for heaven's sake?" I asked Gloria.

"They're afraid we'll run away with the diamonds!" She mentioned that her date was a special deputy sheriff deputized just to watch the jewelry.

Another security officer assigned to watch the ice every minute explained to me, "You see we don't have any lady detectives, and us men can hardly follow the girls in the ladies' room."

Finally, the girls said, "We don't care what happens—we are going to the powder room!"

So they surrendered the jools and went. They came out holding their fur pieces up to their chins—because how would it look being at a Texas party without diamond necklaces?

By the way, we didn't wear any diamonds out to eat the barbecued ribs. Nor any jackets nor ties, either. Shirts, however, are definitely required out at Jack's place. "De rigueur," as the French say.

Admits Setting Home Ablaze in Waterford

Charged with the arson of his home in Waterford Township, Charles R. Shears yesterday pleaded guilty when arraigned before Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Shears, 59, of 70 Carpenter Ct., will be sentenced July 5.

Township police say Shears, unemployed and upset because his wife is suing him for divorce, set fire to their home earlier this month. Mrs. Shears and her four children were visiting friends at the time.

Shears admitted he had been drinking.

Kishi to Resign Following Pact

Reported Premier Will Announce His Intention Sometime This Week

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Nobusuke Kishi was reported to have said today he will announce his intention to resign as soon as the new U.S.-Japan security treaty comes into force.

Local newspapers in banner headlines said Kishi made his declaration to Secretary General Shojiro Kawashima of his Liberal-Democratic party, who called on the premier to discuss the selection of a successor.

One paper predicted the 64-year-old premier, who has held office for 3½ years, will make an announcement sometime this week.

Japan's ratification of the treaty automatically became final at midnight Sunday, and the pact will come into force after U.S. Senate approval—expected sometime this week—and exchange of the ratification documents by the U.S. and Japanese governments.

Britt's Contract to Be Dropped, Says Film Head

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Swedish actress Mai Britt's contract won't be renewed when the option falls due this summer, a spokesman for 20th Century-Fox said today.

He added that the decision has nothing to do with Miss Britt's engagement to Negro entertainer Sammy Davis Jr.

"It's no secret that her picture 'The Blue Angel' was unsuccessful at the box office," the spokesman said. "We don't believe we have any future work that would suit her."

State Tax Bill Doubles Others

Research Unit Shows Industry Pays Dearly in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — A report prepared by the Michigan Citizens Research Council indicates Michigan industry pays about twice the combined local and state tax bill that industry pays in seven comparable industrial states.

The report also showed:

1. Local taxes make up about two thirds of the total state-local tax burden in Michigan.

2. Between 60 and 68 per cent of the local tax burden in Michigan comes from personal property taxes on machinery and material used in manufacturing.

The report was presented at a finance seminar sponsored yesterday by the council, which draws its chief support from contributions by business, industry and foundations.

New York and Pennsylvania do not tax personal property, the report said, and in Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey and Wisconsin the personal property tax ranges from 30 to 77 per cent of the burden in Michigan.

Only Indiana approaches Michigan in taxation of personal property, the report said.

Robert Pickup, council executive director, said taxes are only one of five negative factors facing Michigan as an industrial state.

He listed as other negative factors:

1. The current trend in industry to move factories near markets.

2. Michigan is off the east-west line of goods movement, resulting in a greater distance from the state's plants to their national markets.

3. The state's labor supply is not as attractive as it once was because it is now mobile and readily trainable for other areas.

4. Michigan's tremendous water resources have not yet become a vital factor in attracting new industry.

ROME (UPI) — The Italian Actors' Union asked its members and foreign actors Monday to boycott the Venice Film Festival this year to protest the naming of a Roman Catholic film censor as festival director.

FBI Joins Police in Hunt for Plate-Cash Robbers

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Investigators were without much to work on in the robbery of a state motor vehicle license office from which an estimated $368,000 was taken sometime over the weekend.

J. Marshall Holcomb, state motor vehicles commissioner, said it would be several days before an accurate accounting of the loss could be made.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was called in to join city and state police in the investigation. City patrolmen made the rounds of taverns Monday night looking for suspects. Department employes were questioned.

The large amount of money on hand was because auto licenses expire June 30 and the department is in the middle of the rush of motorists for new plates.

A janitor discovered the theft Monday morning. The robbers had come down into the vault room through a ceiling which they had opened with a sledgehammer and pick, and through a ventilator opening. Police say the robbers may have entered the building through an unlocked window. The office is on the first floor of the eight-story state office building.

The cash was taken from lockers into which tellers had placed receipts at the end of the day. No attempt was made to crack a safe in the vault room which contained half a million dollars.

Holcomb said the stolen money was a two-day accumulation which couldn't be deposited in the state treasury Saturday in the Capitol across the street because it was closed. State Treasurer Orel J. Skeen said, however, that his office was open until noon Saturday.

County Threatens Detroit With Suit Over Sewage

Oakland County may sue the city of Detroit if it fails to abide by an agreement to accept sewage from the nearly-completed Evergreen-Farmington sanitary sewers, a county official said yesterday.

R. J. Alexander, director of the Department of Public Works, said he recieved a letter stating that the city will refuse to accept the sewage until the snagged South-Oak storm drain is completed.

Alexander said "there was no such stipulation" in the Dec. 30, 1958 contract between the city and Oakland County.

"There was much verbal discussion on this point and some correspondence," Alexander said, "but it definitely was not part of the agreement."

Detroit wants the county to get going on the storm drain project, formerly called the Eight Mile storm drain, because without it heavy rains are spilling over from Southfield and Oak Park into Detroit streets and basements.

SET DATE OF JUNE 30

Alexander last week had written to Glenn C. Richards, Detroit's DPW commissioner, informing him that Oakland County would be ready by June 30 to start flowage into the Detroit sewage treatment plant from the 12-million-dollar interceptor sewer system to serve 12 communities.

"This letter will advise you and the Board of Supervisors that it is our position not to accept this sewage until Oakland County takes some positive steps to comply with this part of your agreement," Richards wrote back.

The four-million dollar storm drain plans are presently being analyzed by a consulting engineering firm in an effort to possibly cut costs, which in the past have brought a lawsuit and complaints from citizens.

Alexander said he was trying to arrange a Thursday meeting in Detroit with Richards to talk over their differences of opinion as to what the contract spelled out.

"If that doesn't work out," he said, "I guess we'll ask for an audience with Mayor Miriani and the Detroit Common Council.

Another alternative, he added, would be a lawsuit to force the city to comply with the terms of the contract to accept the sewage.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Question: We are disturbed over our five-month-old puppy losing its teeth. Is this a natural procedure?

Answer: The five-month period is sometimes a trying one for the pup AND his owners. The little animal is going through the natural process of losing his milk teeth. His gums are red and inflamed; he may suffer minor digestive upsets and he chews on almost anything he can find. If he has not been kept in a restricted area, it often seems he can only find the leg of your fine Chippendale desk or one of your best shoes to chew on.

Along with patience, he needs calcium and vitamins in his food and hard toys and bones to help him loosen the troublesome teeth. Spare him as much stress as possible, such as rough playing with children. The front teeth, or incisors, are usually the first to change, followed by the "fang" teeth and molars. At seven months the process is usually completed and the furniture may be safely returned to the living room.

(Address your question to Dr. Moller in care of this paper. He will answer selected inquiries in his column, but cannot reply to them.)

Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, weather bureau chief, said the "spectacular operation" of Tiros I "has opened a new era in weather surveilance" and beamed back photos of storms from nearly all sectors of the world.

Nixon Punctures K's Boasts

'U. S. Economy Solid'

Week of Slurs Against U.S. Starts in China

TOKYO (AP)—Red China today launched an "anti-U.S. imperialist propaganda week" keyed to its furious campaign of vituperation against President Eisenhower.

Drumming out its main theme—that Eisenhower's Asian good will tour was a flop — the campaign went into high gear at mass rallies across China.

Peiping radio said millions of Chinese were screaming denunciations of the American president.

Eisenhower was described as the "chieftain of U. S. imperialism," the "god of plague" and the "vicious wolf of Western imperialism."

Newspapers, radio stations, posters on sidewalk bulletin boards and public address systems piped into every town and village square against the United States in general and Eisenhower in particular.

'ENDS IN FAILURE'

The official Peiping People's Daily said the President's tour ended in "ignominious failure."

The Communist New China News Agency said "everywhere he went he was like a rat scurrying down the street with the people shouting 'kill it.' "

Eisenhower, it said, "made a laughing stock of himself and was condemned everywhere."

Great to Be Back Home Again

ALOHA, IKE — Bearing friendly signs are a portion of the 100,000 Hawaiians who welcomed President Eisenhower back to U. S. soil. Shouts of "aloha" filled the air all along the 22-mile drive from the airport to Kaneohe. Clad in festive Hawaiian dress, the happy welcomers were a sharp contrast to the Japanese fanatics who kept the President out of their country during his trip to the Far East.

Ike 'Clubs' His Way Back From Weariness

Eisenhower was admittedly exhausted when he arrived from Korea in this new 50th state at midday Monday. Nevertheless, he lost little time in turning to his favorite outdoor recreation.

The President took a brief nap and then played nine holes of golf on a sunny, breeze-cooled course at the edge of the blue Pacific.

The temperature was in the mid-80s but there was none of the mugginess he had encountered almost everywhere on his tour to the Philippines, Nationalist China, Okinawa and Korea.

Today, Eisenhower arranged a morning round of golf, starting about 8 a.m. over the same course at the Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station where he plans to relax for perhaps the rest of the week before flying home to Washington.

Warmly applauding Hawaiians shouted the traditional welcome of the islands, "aloha," as the President stepped smilingly from his big jet airliner.

They kept it up all the way along the populated section of his 22-mile motorcade across this beautiful island to Kaneohe.

Thousands of women on streets lined with palm trees were in gay-colored muumuus. Others were in shorts or bathing suits, and a great many of the men wore gaudy sports shirts.

Eisenhower came back to his own country with fresh memories of tumultous welcomes everywhere he went in the Orient.

There was one marked touch of anti-Americanism is the countries he has visited. That came in Okinawa, under U. S. administrative control since World War II, where about 1,500 student demonstrators yelled, "Yankee go home," and demanded that the islands be returned to Japan.

That happened Sunday, the day the President originally had been scheduled to arrive in Tokyo for a three-day visit. The Japan stop was canceled when the Japanese government decided its police could not protect Eisenhower from left-wing rioters.

Man Is Freed: Charge Fails to Mention Shoes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Frank Davis, 51, a member of a prominent ranching family was freed of a murder charge Monday because an indictment failed to specify if he wore shoes when he allegedly stomped a man who later died.

The charge of murder with malice grew out of the death of attorney James L. Drought, 41, who died Feb. 17, two days after his car collided with one owned by Davis.

The indictment charged Davis beat and stomped the attorney.

Judge Onion said the indictment was insufficient because it "fails to charge the means employed in the commission of the offense, to wit, it does not state whether done with shoes or without shoes."

Dist. Atty. Charles Lieck Jr., said he would submit the case to the July grand jury.

Negro Reassigned; Band Class Full

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — One of eight Negroes scheduled to enter integrated high schools next year was reassigned to an all-Negro school today.

School Board secretary Ted Lamb said the parents of Irma Jean Routen had written a letter saying she was interested in taking band at Central High School. Lamb said the reason for the reassignment was a letter from Central's band director saying he had 85 students signed up for band this fall and could not handle more.

Rezoning Stirs in Waterford

A heated discussion at last night's Waterford Township Board meeting may result in complete revision of the township zoning laws and the zoning map.

Township Clerk James E. Seeterlin started the ball rolling by telling Board members that immediate action is needed, and "We've already waited too long on one of the most essential projects in the township."

Unsuspecting residents have purchased homes on commercially zoned property and any type of business could begin operation on vacant lots between the houses, he said.

In one instance, Seeterlin cited an area on Williams Lake road from the Pontiac Lake school to Hatchery road that despite being zoned commercial, has had expensive homes built all along the area.

The question of just who would assume the responsibility of the zoning map revision was batted around between Board members. Discussed was everything from a vote of the people, a paid consultant and a planning commission to putting the task back into the laps of the Township Zoning Board.

Seeterlin said, "I don't care how we do this but I want to see some action on this right now."

Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson disagreed on moving too fast, saying:

"I feel that a planning commission should be hired to review and study this problem. I can't find time to get involved in this. We should have trained planners on the job."

Two years ago the present town-

Says We'll Still Be Way Ahead by Year 2000

Tells Jaycees Help From Government OK to Keep Growth in Line

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today that despite Premier Nikita Khrushchev's boasts, this country should stay well ahead of the Soviet Union economically through the year 2,000.

In a speech delivered at the 40th annual convention of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, Nixon said:

"Mr. Krushchev boasts that he will catch us and pass us economically in seven or 10 years. By any projection that can be applied, there is not a possibility that the Soviet economy will overtake our own at any time in this century."

Nixon said this government, to prevent lopsided growth, should help out whenever the job was too big for private industry.

"We must not hesitate," said the man who expects to be the Republican candidate for president, "to resort to government action where it provides the best road to progress."

This was billed by Nixon as a major speech on this nation's economic growth. But, typically of speeches at this stage of the presidential campaign, Nixon offered few specifics.

Mostly the vice president hit out at critics of the administration who say the Soviet Union is growing at a much faster rate than is the United States—and that the government should take steps to correct this lag.

"The critics," Nixon said, "argue that if we would just adopt their pet economic philosophy we too would grow like the Soviets. They invited us to join them in playing what is rapidly becoming the most fashionable political parlor game of our time—a game we might well "growthmanship'."

It's unfair, Nixon said, to compare the two systems. The Soviets

Overcast Welcomes Summer

Sumer officially arrived today — and with it comes a forecast of mostly cloudy skies and occasional showers late this afternoon and tonight.

A few thundershowers are possible tonight and tomorrow in the Pontiac area, the weatherman says.

The low tonight is expected to be 60 degrees. Tomorrow the mercury will climb to a fair 75.

A half to three-quarters of an inch of rain should fall by Wednesday, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts.

Taking a long look ahead at this first week of summer, the weatherman predicts rain again about Saturday, with temperatures averaging near the normal high of 80 and low of 60.

Winds at 10 this morning were recorded at 10 m.p.h. from the southeast. East to southeast winds will increase to 12 to 18 m.p.h. tonight.

The thermometer read 58 at 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 1 p.m. the temperature rose to 74 degrees.

City Readies 2nd Bid for Federal Urban Aid

City Hall officials today were ready to bid for a second time for federal help in redeveloping the southwest section of downtown Pontiac.

They have ready for City Commission study an application for advance federal funds to plan a second urban renewal project.

The Commission is expected to approve the application tonight. It would go to the Chicago regional offices of the Urban Renewal Administration and the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The city is asking for $76,000 to finance a 12-month plan involving extensive land clearance in the 30-acre triangle bounded by Saginaw, Pike and the Grand Trunk Railroad.

This area was once proposed as part of the city's first urban renewal project, but was trimmed by the federal government two years ago.

Only commercial frontage on the west side of Saginaw was okayed by federal agencies.

"In effect, we are trying to restore the boundaries of the original project," explained Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator.

A present, it's estimated that the gross project cost would hit around $2,775,000 — including an estimated $1,731,000 for property acquisition and $686,000 for such public improvements as the proposed downtown loop highway and Clinton River tunnel.

NET COST $1.6 MILLION

Estimating that resale of land to commercial developers would bring in about $1,094,000, planners figure that the net cost of the project would range around $1,680,000.

The federal government would pay two-thirds of the net cost (tentatively figured at $1,120,000) and the city one-third ($560,000.)

The city's share would be in the form of public improvements, such as the loop highway and the tunnel.

Data for the application was put together by Geer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Birmingham, the city's planning consultants.

Some of the information came from extensive studies made by the city planning staff in 1958 for the first urban renewal project, said Stierer.

The studies showed that of the

"AND INGO'S DOWN!"—Ingemar Johansson shows how a champion falls — hard. This was his first trip to the canvas in the fifth round of last night's title fight at New York's Polo Grounds. Floyd Patterson saw Johansson recover from this toppling. But when the Swede got up, Patterson loosed more artillery and knocked the champ cold, to become the first boxer ever to recapture the heavyweight crown.

Historic Repeating Champ Eager but NBA Balks, Too

NEW YORK (UPI)—Floyd Patterson, who vindicated himself — heroically — by achieving the ring's first recapture of the heavyweight crown, is willing to fight Ingemar Johansson again within 90 days—but Ingemar is uncertain whether to accept.

However, the decision may be taken out of Ingo's hands by the National Boxing Assn.

Tony Maceroni of Providence, R.I., NBA president, said the organization would not approve a third fight between Patterson and Ingo because of the very definite manner in which Patterson established his superiority last night.

Promoter Jack Fugazy said Feature Sports, Inc., would like to promote the bout "within 120 days" but in some other city, unless New York police commissioner could provide better protection for the promoters and fans. It was estimated that more than 5,000 rushed into the ball park free after smashing three gates.

Ingemar, who was flat on his back for three minutes after suffering the first professional defeat in his career of 23 fights, told friends: "I don't know what I want to do. I don't want to talk about it now."

Patterson, whose explosive left hooks floored Swedish Ingemar twice in the fifth round for a knockout last night before 31,892 paid spectators in the Polo Grounds, said:

"I'll live up to our contract for a rubber match. I always keep my word."

Patterson, an underdog at 7½ to 5 because he had been called a "cheese champion" even before his first fight with Johansson last June 26 and his third-round knockout defeat, vindicated himself dramatically by beating the odds and tradition.

Although staggered by one of Johansson's stunning rights to the head in the second round, 25-year-old Floyd quickly took command of the fight again and gave Ingo a thorough battering that was climaxed by the two knockdowns from left hooks to the jaw in the final fifth session.

Patterson, who became the first man in ring history to win back the heavy crown, was estimated to have earned about $500,000 from what shaped up as the "richest fight" in history.

Johansson was estimated to have wound up with a similar sum.

Senate Votes for Tax Hikes

Added Levies Would Bring in $650 Million; Present 'Bites' Kept

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has ended its annual tax fight by voting to increase revenues rather than cut them as it did a year ago.

The tax bill, passed 84-0 Monday night, not only extended present rates on corporation income and excise taxes yielding 41 billion dollars, but added on an estimated 650 million of additional revenues.

President Eisenhower had asked extension of present taxes for another year.

A worsening international situation combined with recent Senate votes to increase money for defense, health research, education and federal pay led the Senate to swell the Treasury's income in the bill.

The 650 million was added through adoption of three of a series of what their sponsors called loophole-closing amendments advocated by Democrats seeking to avoid a tag of fiscal irresponsibility for their party.

The fate of these in conference with the House is dubious, since that branch had given advance notice it was not inclined to accept any tax amendments.

The House originates revenue legislation under the Constitution.

These were the loophole amendments adopted by the Senate:

By Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn), to repeal the 4 per cent tax credit on stock dividend income, bringing in 350 million a year.

By Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa), to outlaw many entertain-

Courthouse Ceremony Monday

Plan Cornerstone Laying

Oakland County will write another chapter in its history next Monday.

As workmen continue to get high above ground on the county's new and long-awaited courthouse, four county officials will use a specially-donated trowel to seal in a 16-12-by-12-inch copper box in a cornerstone.

Officials planning the 2 p.m. ceremony hope county citizens will attend the historical ceremony.

It was 56 years ago, back in 1904, when earlier residents gathered at the corner of Saginaw and Huron streets to seal up a box in the present downtown courthouse.

For Monday's ceremony there will be bands, flags, speeches—and most of all—an historical moment or two to remember in the county's endeavors to provide governmental services for its citizens.

Scheduled speakers will be former Oakland County Congressman George A. Dondero; former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, a resident of Bloomfield Township; Chief Justice John R. Dethmers of the State Supreme Court; and Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston.

Officials are still collecting material to place in the cornerstone box, which will go in the southwest corner of the $3,000,000 building.

(A copy of today's Pontiac Press is listed among the contents).

Reception to previous invitations extended to countywide organizations to have a list of their officers placed in the box has not been too good, according to Robert E. Lilly, secretary of the Board of Auditors. Only one has been received. That was from the Bemis-Olsen Post of the Amvets.

"We expect more before we seal up the box Friday," Lilly said.

County officials also will store in the box county directories from 1929 through the present, pictures of the present courthouse, office building and prosecutor's annex (the former jail), and the current budget and annual financial report of the county.

FBI Joins Police in Hunt for Plate-Cash Robbers

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Investigators were without much to work on in the robbery of a state motor vehicle license office from which an estimated $368,000 was taken sometime over the weekend.

* * *

J. Marshall Holcomb, state motor vehicles commissioner, said it would be several days before an accurate accounting of the loss could be made.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was called in to join city and state police in the investigation. City patrolmen made the rounds of taverns Monday night looking for suspects. Department employes were questioned.

The large amount of money on hand was because auto licenses expire June 30 and the department is in the middle of the rush of motorists for new plates.

A janitor discovered the theft Monday morning. The robbers had come down into the vault room through a ceiling which they had opened with a sledgehammer and pick, and through a ventilator opening. Police say the robbers may have entered the building through an unlocked window. The office is on the first floor of the eight-story state office building.

The cash was taken from lockers into which tellers had placed receipts at the end of the day. No attempt was made to crack a safe in the vault room which contained half a million dollars.

Holcomb said the stolen money was a two-day accumulation which couldn't be deposited in the state treasury Saturday in the Capitol across the street because it was closed. State Treasurer Orel J. Skeen said, however, that his office was open until noon Saturday.

State Tax Bill Doubles Others

Research Unit Shows Industry Pays Dearly in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — A report prepared by the Michigan Citizens Research Council indicates Michigan industry pays about twice the combined local and state tax bill that industry pays in seven comparable industrial states.

The report also showed:

1. Local taxes make up about two thirds of the total state-local tax burden in Michigan.

2. Between 60 and 68 per cent of the local tax burden in Michigan comes from personal property taxes on machinery and material used in manufacturing.

The report was presented at a finance seminar sponsored yesterday by the council, which draws its chief support from contributions by business, industry and foundations.

New York and Pennsylvania do not tax personal property, the report said, and in Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey and Wisconsin the personal property tax ranges from 30 to 77 per cent of the burden in Michigan.

Only Indiana approaches Michigan in taxation of personal property, the report said.

Robert Pickup, council executive director, said taxes are only one of five negative factors facing Michigan as an industrial state.

He listed as other negative factors:

1. The current trend in industry to move factories near markets.

* * *

2. Michigan is off the east-west line of goods movement, resulting in a greater distance from the state's plants to their national markets.

* * *

3. The state's labor supply is not as attractive as it once was because it is now mobile and readily trainable for other areas.

* * *

4. Michigan's tremendous water resources have not yet become a vital factor in attracting new industry.

3 May Join Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI)—Preliminary balloting for New York University's Hall of Fame for Great Americans today showed inventor Thomas Alva Edison, author Henry David Thoreau and social worker Jane Addams in the lead.

The vote was taken among members of the committee of 21, a group of prominent Americans which makes recommendations to the Hall of Fame's 147-member college of electors.

Electors are allowed to choose no more than seven winners, and elections are held just once in five years.

Any United States citizens dead at least 25 years are eligible for consideration. NYU said final results will be announced Nov. 1.

OVER HALF SUPPORT

Edison, Thoreau and Miss Addams each received the support of more than half the members of the committee of 21, which includes such persons as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, scientist Robert Oppenheimer and theologian Reinhold Niebuhr.

Candidates receiving seven or more votes were Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr.; Orville Wright, coinventor of the airplane; composer Edward A. MacDowell; industrialist Andrew Carnegie; philosopher William James; educator-soldier Sylvanus Thayer; naturalist Luther Burbank, and novelist Herman Melville.

ship Board sent the zoning board a report on the zoning ordinances, with recommended revisions providing mainly that commercial zoning be placed in two categories.

"Even those revisions are now out of date due to the increased population," Seeterlin said.

Most of the township Board members blamed the zoning board for not making annual revisions to the zoning map, as required by law. The ordinance was set up in 1950 and has not been reviewed or changed, except through individuals requesting rezoning changes, it was pointed out.

A meeting between the township Board and the zoning board has been set for July 13.

Wheat or Barley on Mackie's Back 40?

'Farmer' in Clear on Quota

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Highway Commissioner John Mackie and Uncle Sam, partners in road building, are at odds again over farmer Mackie's "back 40."

Mackie, who last year lost a disagreement over how much wheat he planted, appeared today to have won a disagreement on what he planted.

Official records list Mackie's 14.7 acre barley crop among the 117,668 wheat crops in Michigan — a state where Dowagiac chicken farmer Stanley Yankus Jr. defied the wheat quota before moving to Australia.

Mackie, an ex-surveyor, whose department ranks second among the states building interstate highways, plowed under eight-tenths of an acre of wheat last summer to avoid a $372 fine for exceeding the marketing quota.

Mackie insisted that federal agencies used "guesswork" in measuring his 1959 crop.

He said they guessed wrong in identifying his 1960 crop.

The boss of Michigan's largest state agency said he "got fed up" with all the red tape last summer after his first fling at farming.

"So I planted barley instead of wheat last fall," he said. "The next thing I know the ASC (Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Agency) tells me I'm growing wheat again."

"And on top of that, I keep getting all kinds of forms for wheat farmers."

The state ASC office said the matter was in the hands of the Ingham County ASC office. The county office said it got its report from an inspector who looked at Mackie's crop Nov. 24, 1959.

"It looked like wheat last fall," said the inspector, retired Okemos farmer O. J. Becker.

Mackie's wife Kay said she doubted "the government would ever admit it's wrong."

The state office, the county office and the inspector said a mistake, although unlikely, was possible.

"We can re-check," said William J. Crampton, county ASC manager. "It really doesn't make much difference. As long as it is under 15 acres he is in the clear."

Mackie lost his $5 last year when he demanded a re-measurement after the government said he planted more than 15 acres of wheat on his 80-acre farm near Holt.

"They were not accurate within 10 per cent," the rebel farmer said.

Inspector Becker said Mackie should forget about farming.

"He doesn't need these crops," he said. "He's got a job."

This would cut off a present 50-million Treasury loss. The potential cost of this loophole has been estimated at 600 million annually if the Supreme Court upholds lower court decisions and more businesses take advantage of the rulings.

The bill extends for another year the corporation income tax and excises on liquor, wine, beer, cigarettes, autos, and auto parts and accessories.

These all are Korean War rates. They have been extended each year since 1954.

The bill also continues for another year 10 per cent levies on local telephone service, telegrams and passenger fares made effective during World War II.

The Senate Finance Committee had recommended these be allowed to die June 30, at a cost of 752 million a year.

Will Breakfast With Broomfield

'Citizens' to Visit Capital

Janice Antona's Pontiac area citizenship class will entrain for Washington tomorrow evening to see for themselves how the nation's government functions.

It will be the sixth annual pilgrimage to the nation's capital for the foreign born who are learning from Miss Antona how to become naturalized citizens. They will also visit New York City and Philadelphia.

The 36 students and members of their families will have breakfast, while in Washington, with Congressman William S. Broomfield, Oakland County representative in the House.

Something new has been added to the itinerary this year, Miss Antona said. Her class has been invited to visit several foreign embassies.

Miss Antona will also take what she calls "her United Nations" to visit the U.N. in New York.

Young Milford Deer Kicks Heels at Law

With a total disregard for the law, a hard-nosed young doe dealt an estimated $250 blow to one of Milford's new police cars early today on Commerce road near Burns road, Milford Township.

The deer jumped up and vanished into the woods, said Patrolman Chester W. Hickmott, 996 Dyron Dr., Milford.

Hickmott said he was traveling east at about 30 m.p.h. when the deer suddenly jumped and bashed in the left front fender and door of the new patrol car.

Kishi to Resign Following Pact

Reported Premier Will Announce His Intention Sometime This Week

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Nobusuke Kishi was reported to have said today he will announce his intention to resign as soon as the new U.S.-Japan security treaty comes into force.

Local newspapers in banner headlines said Kishi made his declaration to Secretary General Shojiro Kawashima of his Liberal-Democratic party, who called on the premier to discuss the selection of a successor.

One paper predicted the 64-year-old premier, who has held office for 3½ years, will make an announcement sometime this week.

Japan's ratification of the treaty automatically became final at midnight Sunday, and the pact will come into force after U.S. Senate approval—expected sometime this week—and exchange of the ratification documents by the U.S. and Japanese governments.

The Day in Birmingham

Awards One-Year Pact for Ambulance Service

BIRMINGHAM — A one-year contract for ambulance service was renewed by the City Commission last night with Birmingham Ambulance Service.

The city will pay $450 a month for the service. The Birmingham company was the only one to submit bids.

Had a three-year contract been entered into, the service would have been provided for $400 a month. The ambulance company must furnish a $5,000 performance bond.

The Commission also authorized sale of equipment used at the sewage treatment plant to the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

OPERATION TO END

The sale was agreed upon since it is anticipated that the treatment plant will be taken out of operation shortly after the Evergreen interceptor goes into operation next month.

The sale includes a pickup truck, miscellaneous laboratory equipment and a small sludge truck. The equipment was sold for $1,800.

The lot is between Taunton and Emmons streets and west of Torry street.

Gare told the Commission the lot had been a problem for years, since it is not adapted for a building site, but with a small amount of fill the property could be used as a play area for neighborhood children.

Two men charged with robbing a Woodward avenue gasoline station yesterday evening were held today in Oakland County Jail.

Bloomfield Township police arrested Melvin Hatchett, 24, of Pontiac, and Stancle Pillow, 33, of Detroit, shortly after the robbery was reported at 7:15 p.m.

The station attendant told police the men stole $70 from the cash register as he was gassing up their car.

G. Fred Morris

Service for G. Fred Morris, 51, of 32575 Romsey St., Franklin, was at 11:30 a.m. today at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Fitzgerald, Ga.

Mr. Morris died Sunday after a long illness.

He was a manufacturer's representative to the automotive industry specializing in trim and upholstery material.

He is survived by his wife, Marie, two sons, Henry of Pontiac, and Frederick of Royal Oak; his mother, Mrs. W. J. Morris of Fitzgerald, Ga.; two grandchildren, three sisters and five brothers, Martin of Royal Oak, Robert of Bloomfield Township, Daniel of Rochester, Donald of Georgia, and William of Arizona.

Memorial tributes may be made to the American Cancer Society at the family's request.

Six Methodist Changes Announced for Oakland

Pastoral changes announced at the 119th session of the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church included six in Oakland County.

The Rev. Reginald Hocking will leave the Big Beaver Methodist Church in Troy to replace the Rev. I. Paul Taylor, who is retiring, at St. Matthew Church, Detroit.

The Milford church will lose the Rev. William Lovejoy, who is being transferred to the First Methodist Church at Birmingham. The Rev. Howard Short is being assigned to Milford from Genesee.

The Rev. Perry Thomas at Commerce is scheduled to leave for Asbury Methodist Church in Flint. He will be replaced by the Rev. Floyd Porter of Corunna.

Also, the Rev. Wilbur E. Courter has been assigned to Pontiac Covert Methodist Church and the Rev. Wayne Brookshear to St. Luke Church at Pontiac, coming from Lennon.

At Franklin, the Rev. Robert Searls is being transferred to Cass City.

In Genesee County, the Rev. Richard Lobb will leave the church at Grand Blanc to assume duties at Swartz Creek.

Talk at Lockheed in Wage Deadlock

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed and representatives of the striking International Assn. of Machinists resumed negotiations today but there was no sign of a break in the deadlock over wages and other contract demands.

A company spokesman denied union charges Monday that the company was trying to break the strike by hiring students. He said the employment of 183 young people was part of the regular annual summer program of hiring students.

"There is nothing at all unusual about it," he said. "We had 1,500 applications for the 400 jobs in various categories."

The IAM is demanding general, across-the-board increase of seven per cent, including fringe benefits. The average wage is $2.65.

Alpena Politico May HAVE to Run for Senate

LANSING (AP)—There's just a chance that an Alpena Republican may be headed for a seat in Michigan's Senate that he doesn't want.

Unless the State Board of Canvassers upsets Robert M. Montgomery, state elections director, John E. Pierce can't withdraw from the 29th state senatorial district primary.

Pierce, one of three Alpena competitors among six who filed for the GOP nomination in the primary Aug. 2, was too late getting his letter of withdrawal to Montgomery's office, where it was received only yesterday. The deadline for withdrawals was 4 p.m. last Friday.

North Hill Store Loses $300, Stamps to Burglar

Someone broke into the Wrigley store at North Hill Shopping Center, 1495 N. Main St., Avon Twp., over the weekend, taking $300 in coins and 400,000 gift stamps, it was reported to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department yesterday.

The thief pried open a door in the rear of the store and took the money and stamps from a safe in the manager's office.

44 buildings in the area, 39 were deteriorated or deteriorating.

"The majority of these would be purchased and leveled," said Stierer.

Only two residential buildings are in the area, so family relocation would not be a problem if the project goes through, Stierer said.

It's estimated the federal government would have to put up $112,000 to aid in relocation of commercial business. This wouldn't be part of the project cost.

The mayor's steering committee for downtown redevelopment and leaders of the downtown redevelopment group have expressed enthusiasm about the plan, Stierer said.

"It would definitely tie in with what we are planning on Saginaw street in our present urban renewal project."

Stierer has already made public that the city would like to acquire and clear the entire, 7½-acre block bounded by Saginaw, Pike, Cass and Patterson as the site of a big downtown shopping center.

Location of a big shopping center downtown would spur redevelopment throughout the central business district, according to leaders of the mayor's redevelopment committee.

Stierer explained that the first urban renewal project east of down town is considered a residential undertaking. The Saginaw-Pike-Grand Trunk railroad triangle was predominately commercial, he said.

Last year, however, Congress provided in the housing acts that up to 20 per cent of urban renewal funds could be used for commercial redevelopment.

The city is trying to get a slice of this 20 per cent, Stierer said.

New Dearborn City Stymied by Inkster

DEARBORN (AP)—Voters in Dearborn Township approved a proposal to incorporate the township as the City of Dearborn Heights yesterday but Inkster officials have blocked the way.

The new city would include a ⅝ square mile section of Inkster connecting its two divided sections. Inkster officials have taken the case to court.

Circuit Judge Carl Weideman ordered the ballots impounded until he rules on the Inkster petition to halt the election.

Three Dems Agree on Primary Funds

Editors gathered at Gaylord for the annual Michigan Associated Press Editorial Assn. had the opportunity of hearing the three Democrats and single Republican seeking the keys to the governor's mansion.

Democrats Ed Conner, James Hare, and John Swainson pleading the cause of "party togetherness" after the primary, agreed not to be disagreeable, at least on the personality-side. No mudslinging in store, they said.

"Bloodletting in a primary is political suicide," HARE ventured. "I foresee a close Democratic victory in November, and we can lose it if we get into a public hassle."

It is interesting that HARE's crystal ball indicates a "close" victory, and not a Democratic landslide.

They also spelled out for the first time their agreement on spending in the primary, again looking ahead to the morning of August 3, when one of their number will take up the battle with Bagwell.

Rather than tap the party cash sources too heavily for an all out primary battle, they want plenty of financial backing available for the final struggle.

After meeting with State Chairman NEIL STAEBLER and Gov. WILLIAMS, they came out with this formula: Sec. of State HARE can spend $25,000; Lt. Gov. SWAINSON has a $30,000 ceiling on his checkbook, and Detroit Common Council member CONNOR can dip down in his jeans until he has receipts for $35,000.

This doesn't mean they will spend that much, or even raise that much. The limit only applies to newspaper ads, radio, television and billboards, and can be terminated by notification to the other candidates.

Getting in on all the cash talk, BAGWELL said his books were wide open. Recalling that he spent less than $90,000 during his primary and general election drive two years ago, BAGWELL said he had planned to seek and spend $65,000 in a primary battle before his opponent State Senator CARLTON MORRIS dropped out of the race.

The GOP standard-bearer said he's spent $11,425 out of $15,000 he has available now. He took a leave of absence from his executive post at MSU, and a trust fund raised by a testimonial pays him reuglarly as he would have received his salary.

Catholic Priest Gives Definition of a Liberal

The PRESS just came across a Catholic priest's definition of a liberal: In part he says:

"A 'liberal' is one who favors bigger government at the expense of individual freedom. Thus he views with satisfaction the Federal Government's increasing intrusion in our private affairs. He enthusiastically endorses all 'welfare' legislation, though it threatens to stifle individual incentive and paves the way to statism and socialism. He promotes the idea of world government at the expense of national sovereignty.

"He regards the Constitution as an obsolete document which should be brought up to date—by the 'liberals,' of course. He favors curtailing big business, but sees nothing wrong in union monopoly and despotism. He upholds compulsory unionism, regardless of the moral problem involved, and frowns on right-to-work laws.

"He adopts an unrealistic approach to the gravest issue confronting us today, namely, the Communist menace. Thus he champions tolerance of subversives. He congratulates the Supreme Court when it rules in favor of Communists. He decries Congressional committees and the F.B.I. when they try to expose the enemies of our country.

"He demands more handouts to so-called 'neutralist' countries and even to Communist governments. He heartily approves of more 'cultural' exchanges with the Reds."

The good man continues in much greater detail, but this gives you a fairly good idea of what he has in mind.

IF YOU'RE a fairly good-looking boy in your upper teens, and you have an effective hog-calling voice and the ability to snap your fingers and strum a chord or two on a guitar, you can pass yourself off as a singer and make hatsful of money.

And Advance Welcome for Arrival of Warm Season

Summer: A season that officially arrived this morning. Do you recognize it?

In spite of the late season, a harvest apple tree in the yard of

An echo of the late spring comes from that champion disciple of Izaak Walton,

Strawberry and raspberry picking at the same time is something quite unusual, as reported by

Thanks for the too many courtesies extended me in connection with my 83rd birthday. Whatever I have accomplished was because of the help I enjoyed.

A pair of blue jays near the home of

Why We'd Have Sworn He Was!

David Lawrence Asks:

Why Are Others So Soft on China?

WASHINGTON — Human beings were actually slaughtered. The lives of innocent persons were crushed out by artillery shells. They were not Europeans or Americans. They were Chinese. Does this make a difference?

LAWRENCE

For there are no page advertisements in the metropolitan papers signed with the names of prominent persons denouncing such inhumanity. There are no petitions proclaimed by organizations such as cry out against nuclear tests—usually on the basis of humane considerations.

The families on the 14 tiny islands of the Quemoy group were terrorized by 174,000 shells—an all-time record in the Formosa Strait hostilities.

In fact, in three hours of the two days the Communists fired more shells than they did in the first two weeks of the 1958 crisis.

Yet the Communist government in Peiping, which undertook the bombardment solely as a gesture of hostility toward President Eisenhower and the United States, seems to be getting away with its barbaric act.

BRITISH PAPERS SILENT

Those British newspapers, for instance, which heaped coals of criticism on Eisenhower for going to the Far East, have not denounced the Red China government for its wanton behavior.

One reason perhaps is that the British have extended diplomatic recognition to the Red China government. They did so largely to protect their commercial interests in Hong Kong.

In this country, pressure for recognition of the Peiping regime comes from the so-called "liberals" led by Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) has indicated his belief that some understanding should be reached with the Red China government.

To do so means abandonment of the cause of freedom in the Far East. It means the certain collapse of Korea and Formosa.

The Nationalist government on Formosa is a symbol of freedom, yet "liberal" influence today is exerted toward breaking down this bastion of Western strength.

Recently, the Korean government has been weakened, and so has the Turkish government.

JAPAN SHAKY

And there is a chance now, too, that the Japanese government will be torn by strife from within and will be a victim more and more of Communist infiltration.

When the Red Chinese began to shell the Quemoy islands and brazenly announced that they were doing it as a gesture of "contempt and scorn" for President Eisenhower—as Peiping radio declared—it might have been supposed that the free world would react to such a maneuver with expressions of horror and disgust.

President Eisenhower referred to the shelling when he spoke in Formosa. He regarded the action as cruel and barbaric, and said that it showed the typical Communist "disregard of human lives," and added: "I would think world opinion would characterize it as a deliberate and aggressive act."

But why, it may be respectfully asked, has there not been official condemnation from the governments at Paris and London?

Curiously enough, when a few persons were killed in South Africa due to the panic that seized the police in trying to quell a so-called "non-violent" demonstration, the governments in Europe and in other countries, especially in Asia, immediately expressed their disapproval in no uncertain terms.

Will any government in southeast Asia now denounce the Red Chinese for what they have just done in Quemoy?

The Western Allies do not appear today to be united on Far Eastern policy.

The United States bore the brunt of the resistance to the Communist invasion of Korea, even though the fighting was done in the name of the United Nations.

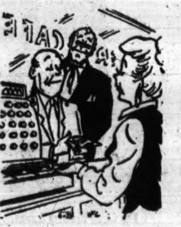
The Country Parson



"Some folks try to reform with the same vigor they argue for the dinner check — making sure they stop just short of winning."

Dr. William Brady Says:

There Is No Such Thing as a Capillary Vessel

No matter how thin you slice it, it's still baloney.

There are only two kinds of tubes or vessels that carry blood — arteries which convey blood from the heart to every part of the body, and veins which return blood from every part of the body to the heart, the right side of the heart, which pumps it to the lungs for oxygenation and decarbonation (removal of carbon dioxide, "carbonic acid gas") before it returns to the left side of the heart to be pumped again through general circulation.

DR. BRADY

Some oldtimers in medicine and related fields, observed that arteries carrying pure decarbonated and oxygenated blood to all parts of the body become smaller and smaller as they get farther and farther from the great trunk artery (aorta) and ultimately become so small that one can hardly see them at all except with magnifying glass or microscope.

When the arteries become so small that they are invisible to the naked eye, they are called arterioles.

Yahbut, we still have the problem of unloading the oxygen from the blood and reloading it with carbon dioxide to be carried back to the lungs and blown off. How does the fresh, pure arterial blood get from the arteries or arterioles into the venules or veins?

From years of research, I have concluded that "capillaries" were not invented by anyone. They got into medical literature as banshees, gremlins, and flying saucers got into popular literature.

No one has isolated a capillary vessel.

No one can demonstrate such a vessel under the microscope.

The truth is that where the ultimate, finest visible (under the microscope) arteriole terminates, the blood just oozes through the tissue where the cells pick up oxygen and give off carbon dioxide.

There are no capillary vessels, except in the imagination of doctors who still believe in "colds" and still ply their credulous clients with digitalis, as though the dropsy remedy introduced by the old woman of Shropshire were magic against heart failure.

Whether there are capillary vessels or not may be a question of no great significance. I harp on it here in the hope that intelligent laymen who realize I must be right about it may be led to wonder whether I may not be right about more important questions.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try 'Conditioning' Farm Animals

Maude is a mule who learned psychology. Mules are very smart animals, even excelling the horse in practical intelligence. But Maude learned so much psychology in so short a time, that she went on a strike and wouldn't pull her master's corn planter.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DR. CRANE

By "conditioning" we do not mean what athletic coaches have in mind when they use that term to indicate a player is hardened or toughened for intercollegiate football.

No, we mean that a person or animal has become habituated to a specific situation.

For example, suppose a large fish is in one end of an aquarium and a small minnow in the other, with only a glass plate between. The minnow, moreover, is the natural food of the large fish.

As soon as the minnow makes a move, the big fish darts after him, but strikes the glass partition. It hurts his nose.

But the large fish soon forgets. A few moments later he again dives after the minnow and for a second time he gets a sore nose.

Ultimately he becomes "conditioned" adversely as regards that minnow. It then represents pain instead of pleasure. So even after the glass partition is removed, the big fish may actually avoid the minnow.

CONDITIONED REFLEXES

You modern farmers now use this law of "conditioning" when you employ a single strand of wire instead of the former woven fence.

You fasten the wire with porcelain spools, so it is insulated from the ground. Then you hook it to an electric battery.

Soon a horse or cow or mule approaches the single wire and either reaches over the top or tries to crawl under it.

But as soon as its skin comes in contact with that charged wire, the animal gets an electric shock, for its feet on the ground make a completed electric circuit.

So the animal rears back in pained surprise. It doesn't take more than one or two experiences of this sort until the animal is thus "conditioned" adversely to the wire. It stays away from it thereafter.

MULE PSYCHOLOGY

A Tennessee farmer used this same type of charged wire around his pasture field. But he had bought a new team of mules early in the spring. One of them was named Maude.

Mules are smart animals. They show more sense than horses in many respects, as all of you farm folks are aware. And these mules quickly learned that a single wire on a post was bad medicine.

But they generalized, and became afraid of single wires in general. The farmer didn't know this till he tried to hitch them to his corn planter last spring.

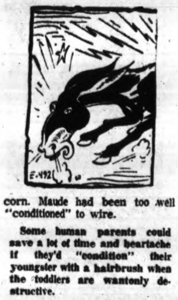
He was checking his corn, which means he used a single check wire that causes the corn to be dropped at fixed intervals, thus enabling the farmer to have straight rows both lengthwise and crosswise of the field.

But when Maude saw that check wire, she refused to go near the corn planter. For she apparently thought the wire was electrically charged.

So the farmer had to borrow another team with which to plant his corn. Maude had been too well "conditioned" to wire.



Some human parents could save a lot of time and heartache if they'd "condition" their youngster with a hairbrush when the toddlers are wantonly destructive.

Drive-In Movie Enthralls Visiting Moscow Mayor

OTTAWA (AP)—The mayor of Moscow went to his first drive-in movie Monday night, and the show made him an hour late for a reception at the Soviet Embassy.

Mayor Nikoli Bobrovnikov and his party dropped in for a 15-minute glimpse at the open-air movie en route to the reception. Then Robert Taylor and Julie London came on in "Saddle in the Wind" and Bobrovnikov stayed an hour longer, until it was apparent how the story came out.

Nixon Eyes Use of Food Surplus

America Could Feed World's Hungry Third Through U.N.

MINOT, N. D. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon wants America's food surpluses to feed the hungry people of the world.

This could be done under a program supervised by the United Nations, Nixon, the likely Republican presidential candidate, said Monday night in a speech to a party rally.

"A third of the world's population, approximately a billion people, go to bed hungry every night," he continued.

"Everybody agrees that it doesn't make sense to have huge surpluses at home and millions of hungry people abroad."

Under the proposal, other Western nations would join the United States in turning food surpluses over to the U.N.

* * *

Nixon said President Eisenhower had considered calling a conference of all surplus producing nations, including the Soviet Union, to discuss feeding the hungry world.

But, after the summit breakdown, this idea was dropped.

Nixon's speech was his first on farm problems since the 1958 congressional campaign.

He made a point of not commenting on price supports, a hot issue in the farmlands. The administration bill on supports still was before Congress, Nixon said, and it wouldn't be proper for him to comment.

Baptists Dedicate Building, Grounds at Grass Lake

CHELSEA (AP) — The Michigan Baptist Assembly grounds at Grass Lake will eventually be developed into a $500,000 year-around facility for religious education, says Dr. Arthur Farrell, executive director of the Michigan Baptist Convention.

The $250,000, 33-acre assembly grounds, complete with buildings, were dedicated Saturday. Located in the heart of the Waterloo State Recreation Area, the grounds were a gift to the Michigan Baptist Convention by the Raymond G. Firestone family of Akron, Ohio.

Thief Stealing Lunches From Cars at Factory

HOLLAND (UPI) — A thief with partiality for huge midnight snacks is being sought by Holland police.

About 30 employes of Crampton Manufacturing Co. have complained that someone is stealing sandwiches and lunch boxes from cars parked in the company lot.

Police say the thief apparently scavenges between midnight and 2 a.m.

But Detroit Official Has Word of Caution

Calls Pontiac Ideal for Jet Airfield

"If the area demands it," said Joseph W. Gross, Wayne County highway engineer and manager of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, "Pontiac is an ideal place for a second major jet airfield."

Gross was invited to outline the growth of the large Detroit port, which he was instrumental in developing, to a special committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors probing future air transportation needs for this area.

Gross' less than optimistic report startled some committee members into the realization that much more study and planning was needed before Pontiac could possibly duplicate the Detroit field.

"This shows that we have plenty of studying to do yet," was the brief but to-the-point comment of committee chairman Philip E. Rowston, Pontiac mayor.

CALLS FOR PLAN

He warned that if local officials desired to avoid the mistakes encountered in the development of the Detroit airport, the first prerequisite would be drafting a master plan.

Homer D. Hoskins, manager of the Pontiac Municipal Airport, interjected, "We're working on one."

Committee member Ray W. Lahti, Wixom supervisor, expressed surprise that Gross' remarks were somewhat contradictory of the findings in the $30,000 Landrum & Brown air transportation needs study of Southeastern Michigan.

* * *

The study, which brought about the creation of the Oakland committee, pinpointed Pontiac, or a nearby site, as the possible home for a second major field.

LOOKING AHEAD

Gross brought out that the study was looking ahead to 1975. His forecast seemed to apply more to the years before this date.

"I don't wish to think of the Pontiac airport being a satellite of our field," Gross aid.

"But you must consider how many airports there are needed in a certain area to carry out all kinds of air traffic."

"I think the Pontiac airport is much needed and I think it will generate a lot of traffic, but I don't think there will be a need to develop jet aircraft there."

"Are you going to be able to get all those daily passengers that leave our field, say for Miami, Cleveland or New York?"

"You must find out what your traffic potential will be," Gross told Rowton's committee.

After the demand is established, he went on, a good "customer"—such as the Detroit field's first customer, American Airlines — must be attracted to prove to Wall Street financiers that there is envisioned a good business potential at the field.

This, he said, would help sell revenue bonds for any needed expansion.

Rest of Good '60 Expected to Almost Match 1st Half

NEW YORK (UPI)—The current year will show continued growth, although not quite duplicating the record high pace of business during the first half of 1960, according to the Fitch survey's semiannual forecast.

The administration seems likely to do all it can to maintain "this prosperous state of affairs," Fitch says, while stock prices should continue to show vigor despite some periods of profit-taking.

In the postwar period, the advisory service notes, recoveries in the business cycle have usually lasted about three years "and that is why present recovery and prosperous business conditions appear safe until at least the middle of 1961 when it would then be a little over three years old."

Two stocks for action, according to Standard & Poor's, are American Airlines and Delta Air Lines. S&P projects American's 1960 earnings at $1.75-2.00 a share, up from last year's $1.58. Delta should rise from $1.75 to $3.25-5.75 per share in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1961 after cash flow from depreciation of around $12 a share.

"Inside Wall Street," published by Investor's Union, Inc., has "heard, but cannot confirm" that Pfizer is close to launching a new proprietary drug, an item with a sales potential of "$100 million yearly." Management is silent, the report says, which may prove a hopeful sign.

Current preferences on the International Statistical Bureau: Associated Dry Goods, Eastman Kodak, Fansteel, IBM, Motorola and Transitron.

Spear & Staff recommends buying Columbia Broadcasting System on the expectation of $3.40 a share earnings this fiscal year, up from $3.11. Although the March 1960 quarterly report was disappointing, profits apparently should recover over the balance of the year.

The Delaware Management Co., Inc. reports that it completed the liquidation of Motorola, one of the "better performers in this year's schizophrenic stock market." Long term holdings in Ampex also were eliminated, it said.

Those accepted were: James O. Shaw, 534 Auburn Ave., Armin K. Seiffert, 6040 N. Rochester Rd., Rochester, Bernhard F. Miller, 27707 Novi Rd., Novi, Jerome Carr, 23501 Scotia, Oak Park, Peter G. Begle, 4300 Orchard Lake Rd., Orchard Lake, and James V. Huebner, 3285 Albert St., Royal Oak.

Driver Fined in Lapeer, Faces Macomb Trial

A Shelby Township man, whose car smashed into another vehicle near Lapeer, then sped into more trouble Sunday night near Romeo, has been fined in one county and faces trial in the other.

Robert Van Horn, 24, of 52500 Van Dyke, pleaded guilty in a Lapeer County court today on a charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident. He paid a $40 fine plus $10 court costs.

When arraigned yesterday in Macomb County Justice Court, Van Horn stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered for him on a count of driving with a revoked license. He was released on $500 bond.

Trial was set for July 12.

* * *

The chain of events which resulted in Van Horn's double arrest started when Trooper John Bassett got the license of Van Horn's car after seeing it hit another vehicle on M21 near Lapeer.

The trooper had stayed at the scene to help the driver of the struck car rather than give chase.

A short time later, State Trooper Henry DeLooff spotted Van Horn's car speeding toward Romeo.

Profit Taking Mixes Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit taking among some recent wide gainers marked a mixed stock market early today. Trading was active.

An assortment of volatile favorites were sold on big blocks at marked-down prices.

Here and there stocks rebounded from recent losses, picking up 1 or 2 points. In general, key stocks were narrowly irregular, a number trading unchanged and most changes fractional.

The list was stemming yesterday's fairly sharp retreat and moving sidewise with no apparent trend. Airlines continued to show small plus signs after their advance of yesterday on fare boost news.

Steels and rubbers were mixed. Utilities were slightly higher on balance. Oils, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, tobaccos, and electrical equipments headed a bit lower. Chemicals produced some gainers, more than a point.

Universal Match recouped a couple of points.

Commercial Solvents, another recent wide gainer, was off ⅛ at 25⅜ on 10,000 shares. Emerson Radio rose ⅝ to 20⅝ on 20,000 shares. Collins Radio dropped 2 to 74 on an opener of 6,000 shares then extended its loss to about 3.

Grain Prices Steady Following Decline

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices steadied somewhat today on a little better demand following the fairly broad general declines of yesterday.

There was further weakness in rye but other grains were narrowly mixed and new crop soybeans moved into a firm range during the first several minutes of dealings on the Board of Trade.

* * *

Dealers said there appeared to be no new significant market factors and that commercial demand was light all around.

IMPORTANT Medical Facts For Every Man Who Has Passed His 40th Birthday
Men, too, Go Thru "Change of Life"
DOCTORS CALL IT "MALE CLIMACTERIC"
New Safe Discovery Compounded For Counteracting Effect on Body and Blood Changes Due to Usual Deficiencies That Often Occur During Middle Age.

Doctors, employers and scientists all agree that after the first 40 years, the human body undergoes important normal changes. This change occurs in MEN as well as WOMEN! Men, if you are over 40, in good health . . . but feel nervous, physically weak in legs, back and arms, can't sleep, find it difficult to make decisions . . . are quick-tempered, always tired and suffer from that terrible "what's the use" feeling . . . chances are, you are going through "change of life," or as doctors call it, MALE CLIMACTERIC. And at this time it's more important than ever that your system isn't deficient in the very vitamins and minerals nature created to counteract and offset the distressing symptoms of these "after 40" body and blood changes. Amazing new power-packed capsules called RED ROOSTER PILLS, have been created especially for men and women over 40 . . . each hospital recognized ingredient carefully chosen and carefully compounded for its benefit on every man and woman . . . Yes, one potent RED ROOSTER PILL daily feeds your system a special and particular combination of Vitamins and Minerals to supply your blood, body organs, glands and nerves, including blood-building red Vitamin B-12, the vitamin Germ of Wheat E, stimulating B-1, Iron, Calcium, Phosphorus, Iodine and other potent Vitamins and Minerals. Don't be deprived of life's pleasures by these nutritional deficiencies when science has given you a second chance to recharge body and blood this new easy way.

Amazing New "Health in a Tablet" Discovery You've Long Heard Was Coming. Every Ingredient Works Immediately To Help Strengthen Body and Blood.

Just recently a well-known scientist perfected RED ROOSTER PILLS. He combined a group of the RECOGNIZED VITAMINS and MINERALS most often needed by men after 40. Common sense, and your doctor . . . will tell you vital organs often require the supplement of different vitamins and minerals in different amounts at maturity than they do during younger years. Amazing RED ROOSTER PILLS were created specifically to provide a rich source of these essentials, needed by mature men and women. ORDER NOW!

Don't Surrender to Old Age Until You Have Made This Test

What Is Climacteric? . . .
Medical dictionaries tell us "climacteric" is the time of life when the body undergoes a radical change. The first change, when boys become men and girls become women, is usually between the ages of 12-17—another change again occurs usually between 40 and 50.

Who Does It Affect? . . .
Both men and women. In women it is called "menopause" or "Change of life" . . . in men, doctors call it "male climacteric."

What Are The Common Symptoms? . . .
Because the body and blood are undergoing important changes during climacteric, the entire system may become upset and symptoms are varied. Men are usually extremely nervous, tire easily, become irritable, feel weak in arms, legs and back and often are very "crabby." Often there are "hot flashes" accompanied by that "what's the use" feeling. And very often a special supplementary source of certain vitamins and minerals is needed such as you find in this important discovery called RED ROOSTER PILLS.

What Can Be Done? . . .
Medical science has discovered many medicines that can tide you over the difficult "change of life" period. Today RED ROOSTER PILLS supply the body with an unusual combination of vitamins and minerals so often needed during this period. Full month's supply only $5.00 . . . be absolutely delighted with results or cheerful, unquestioned refund.

Work on School Bill Pleasing to President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee took a big step today in the direction of getting to President Eisenhower a school construction bill he might sign.

It agreed to hear a House education Committee request that conferees representing the Senate and the House be allowed to try to work out a compromise measure. Without Rules Committee clearance, conflicting bills passed by the two branches could not be reconciled before Congress adjourns.

* * *

The committee's decision apparently meant that leaders of both political parties have determined that Congress should not adjourn without passing some kind of a school bill.

The springs of Bath, England, were the center of a Roman resort which was developed during the first four centuries A.D.

The Old Spanish trail connecting Pensacola, Fla., and New Orleans is about 250 miles long and originally cost about $4 million.

Three Movie Pros Win Top Emmies

Jackie Gleason's former second banana, Art Carney, won an award for the best comedy show.

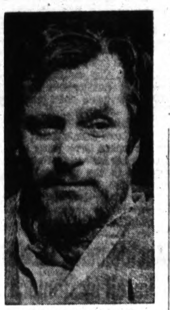
His award was accepted by Charlton Heston, this year's movie Oscar winner, who said: "I will say something that Larry would not say himself — he deserves it."



LAURENCE OLIVIER

Both Olivier and Miss Bergman, a two-time Oscar winner, were in Europe. The Swedish actress won her first TV award for the chilling "Turn of the Screw."

Stack, who plays the gang-busting Elliott Ness in "The Untouchables," would have won even if he had lost.

His boss, Desi Arnaz, had a $12,000 Mercedes Benz sports roadster waiting for him in the parking lot.

"I was going to give it to you win or lose," Arnaz told the flabbergasted Stack.

Stack won his Emmy as the best actor in a series. The award for the best actress in a series went to Jane Wyatt, the wife and mother of the Anderson family in "Father Knows Best."

Belafonte won for the best performance in a variety or musical program. He accepted his Emmy from Fred Astaire, who also was nominated for the award.

Belafonte thanked all his cast members and then turned to the smiling Astaire and said: "Sorry, Fred."

Carney, competing with such top bananas as Danny Thomas, Jack Benny and Red Skelton, won his award for the "Art Carney Special Show—VIP."

The show, staged and telecast from both Hollywood and New York, gave other Emmys to:

Playhouse 90 for the best drama show.

CBS' "Fabulous Fifties," best variety program.

The Huntley-Brinkley Report, best news program.

CBS' "20th Century," best public affairs program.

Jack Benny's four writers, best comedy writing.

GOP Hesitating on Rocky's Tour

Chairman Feels Nelson Should Build Fences in New York State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Republicans viewed with mixed feelings today Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's plans for a national tour to help elect GOP candidates in November.

The New York governor's statement Monday that he will campaign not only for the national ticket but for Senate and House candidates drew an official cheer from GOP Chairman Thruston B. Morton.

But there were also evident misgivings lest Rockefeller leave home base uncovered while he campaigns in other critical areas.

Almost without exception Republican strategists agree that if Vice President Richard M. Nixon is the party nominee he is going to need New York's 45 electoral votes to win the presidency.

Morton evidently feels that to accomplish this result an all-out effort by Rockefeller in his home state will be needed. The national chairman is likely to urge the governor to leave plenty of time for New York campaigning.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) said he thinks this is essential. He added that he assumes some extensive New York campaigning is in Rockefeller's mind.

Young Negroes 'Have Had It'

NAACP Attorney Says They're Fed Up With Discrimination

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Negroes in the United States are protesting against "the whole rotten system of discrimination." The chief counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said Monday night.

Marshall, who has enigneered many of the NAACP's most important legal victories, said young people of the South are serving notice on the conscience of the United States that Negroes "have had it," and are "not going to take it any more."

NOT JUST BURGER

"They're not protesting to get a hamburger," said Marshall. "They can get that in the Negro greasy spoon around the corner. They're protesting against the whole policy of too little and too late."

He said Supreme Court decisions have spelled the eventual legal end of segregation, but the "cleaning up is not moving fast enough."

Young people in the South, he said, have recognized that "there is a wave of change sweeping over Africa, there's a wave of change sweeping over Asia, there is a wave of change sweeping over Turkey, and there is a wave of change sweeping over Korea."

"What makes the United States think that we can have nothing but a little breeze here?" he asked.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, said major issues to be considered at the six-day convention include obtaining voting rights for Negroes in the South, speeding up school desegregation and broadening job opportunities for Negroes.

Borrowed Diamonds Guarded at Party

By EARL WILSON

FORT WORTH — The wife, and I eat a lot of fancy vittles around New York, but we hankered to come back to the barbecued rib country. We drove out to a place known as Jack's—which is run by Mrs. Jack and an oven. They serve you delicious main course barbecue rib dinners there, and if you ask for an appetizer, why, they give you a barbecued rib.

WILSON

Ostensibly the wife and I came down here for culture (but actually, it was for the ribs).

We love culture, especially when you can get barbecued ribs with it. It was Jule Styne Day and Jule Styne Night at the most splendiferous theater-in-the-round in the country. It was a week or two ago, but I can still taste the ribs.

As a special Texas touch, Emmeline Henry, playing the Carol Channing, or Lorelei Lee role, $5,000,000 worth—or was it $5,000,000,000 worth? — of Harry Winston diamonds instead of rhinestones.

And as another special Texas touch, they had five of the loviest showgirls in America in the cast.

ANN

At a big party afterward who should be wearing the $5,000,000 or $5,000,000,000 worth of diamonds, but the showgirls?

"But it's too much," protested Gloria Kristy to me. "They won't let us go to the ladies' room."

"Why not, for heaven's sake?" I asked Gloria.

"They're afraid we'll run away with the diamonds!" She mentioned that her date was a special deputy sheriff deputized just to watch the jewelry.

Another security officer assigned to watch the ice every minute explained to me, "You see we don't have any lady detectives, and us men can hardly follow the girls in the ladies' room."

Finally, the girls said, "We don't car what happens—we are going to the powder room!"

So they surrendered the jools and went. They came out holding their fur pieces up to their chins—because how would it look being at a Texas party without diamond necklaces?

By the way, we didn't wear any diamonds out to eat the barbecued ribs. Nor any jackets nor ties, either. Shirts, however, are definitely required out at Jack's place. "De rigueur," as the French say.

Boycott Rumors Worry Japanese Toy Producers

TOKYO (AP)—Worried over reports of a campaign against Japanese goods in the United States, Japanese toy makers messaged Preident Eisenhower today that most Japanese are pro-American.

The assurance was contained in a letter sent by the Federation of Export Toy Manufacturers Cooperative in Tokyo through the U.S. Embassy here, a pokesman said. The spokesman said the letter apologized for the Japanese governments decision to postpone Eisenhower's visit here, which was due to "a series of collective violence committed by some limited radical group."

Various American companies were reported canceling orders for Japanese goods because of the recent riots.

22 Emmies Handed Out Between Floyd's Lefts

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—In one corner, we had Fred Astaire; in the other, Arthur Godfrey. Two great heavyweights.

And in the center, I had the radio. I didn't want to miss the doings at the Polo Grounds, where Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson, two other heavyweights, were dishing out some awards.

Would Emmy make us forget Oscar? Would Ingo put Floyd away again? Would Raymond Burr beat Robert Stack? Or Loretta Young beat Jane Wyatt? To each question, the answer is no.

NBC-TV's 90-minute special, in which 22 Emmy awards were dispersed came across as a relaxed, friendly, polite mish-mosh that held interest if not drama.

By giving us the sounds of the victors and not the candid, instantaneous sights of them, the Emmy show failed to match the Oscar telecast in naturalness and impact.

The Emmy special also tripped itself up a few times while trying some electronic footwork between West and East coast and the commercial cut-away. At times, the switching from Astaire to Godfrey and back merely impeded the pace of the entertainment.

However, the show crowned a new champ in the field of comedy. This took place while Patterson was flattening Ingo, between a handful of awards to The Untouchables, (which Ingo wasn't last night) and one to The Fabulous Fifties, (or, for Patterson, "The Fabulous Fifth.")

I refer to Bob Newhart, who came through two fast, hilarious rounds of last night's show. Newhart made his network debut last Tuesday on The Garry Moore Show and was superb as an auto driving instructor stuck with a nutty lady driver.

Last night, he scored again as a submarine skipper addressing the crew after a two-year underwater cruise and as a TV director trying to bring Soviet Premier Khrushchev's Washington arrival to the network screen.

There was another big moment. It was Mahalia Jackson's singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," which soared out as Patterson, on ABC radio, was clobbering Ingo during the third round.

'BEN HUR' BETTER

In accepting the Emmy for Laurence Olivier ("Outstanding Single Performance by an Actor,") Charlton "Ben Hur" Heston gave us a speech that was more impassioned than his own Oscar acceptance speech on April 4. Obviously, Charlton is improving all the time.

As cohosts, Astaire and Godfrey oozed charm and friendliness, but I thought Astaire was being ill-used when he had to turn the crank of a machine to turn up the winning names. Envelope tearing seems easier.

Incidentally, Astaire's announcement of the fight's outcome seemed to confuse the audience in the theater. We've finally found his weakness — he's no sportscaster.

All in all, it was a great night for Bob Newhart, The Untouchables, Huckleberry Hound and, of course, Floyd Patterson.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Omnibus, the award-winning experimental TV series, will return to the tube next fall as a Sunday afternoon attraction on NBC-TV. Alistair Cooke returns as host of the hour-long programs, which are produced by Robert Saudek Associates.

CBS-TV's Person to Person visits actors Robert Ryan and Hugh O'Brian on Friday, July 1 . . . Jerry Lewis visits NBC-TV's "Play Your Hunch" on the same night.
